Area Children Will Get Salk Shots Saturday

County Health Bureau Gleans Enough Serum From Earlier Surm

Although no new shipments of Salk vaccine have arrived and the U.S. Public Health Service has announced there will be none for several days, second-round clinics in five Oakland cities will be held Saturday as scheduled.

Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director, said today that by pooling leftover shots from the first round of polio inoculations, the health department has gathered enough serum for the slated 12,784 shots.

"But after that we'll be down to rock bottom," he said.

FIVE CLINICS SCHEDULED

The shots will be administered at clinics in Royal Oak, Hazel Park, Oak Park, Berkley and Clawson. Earlier reports that Farmington was included on the weekend schedule were incorrect.

In Washington last night, Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said:

"There will be no further announcement with respect to the release of poliovirus vaccine for the next several days."

"This should not be inferred as reflecting in any way on the vaccine of the companies whose manufacturing and testing processes are under study."

CONFUSING PICTURE

Although Scheele offered no elaboration, a Public Health Service spokesman said the delay was ordered for "another look-see at this whole very confusing picture."

Still approved for use in the mass inoculation program is the relatively small portion remaining unused from the 7,850,000 cubic centimeters produced by Parke, Davis & Co. and Eli Lilly & Co. Because of the vaccine shortage, Dr. Monroe early this week called (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Partly Cloudy Skies Prediction for Area

While scattered showers and thundershowers were forecast for most of Michigan today, the prediction for the Pontiac area is for partly cloudy skies.

Rainfall in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties so far this month has been less than a tenth of an inch.

That's better than three inches less than the 31.4-inch May average based on the 84 years rainfall has been recorded, the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

Along with the clouds will come a little cooler weather tonight and tomorrow. Low tonight will be 44-48, high tomorrow 64-68. It's to be fair and cooler Friday night. At 8 a.m. today, the temperature in downtown Pontiac was 64, rising to 77 at 2 p.m.

Kidnap, Rape Trial Here May Go to Jury Today

The trial of four men accused of kidnap and rape moved into its eighth, and perhaps final day, before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland today.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem was expected to conclude his questioning of the last of the quartet to take the stand, Oscar Chavers, 26, of Gary, Ind.

Also charged are Joe Williams Jr., 23, of 38 Lake St., Chavers' brother, Richard, 23, of 38 Lake, and Winston Johnson, 25, of 312 Hughes Ave.

The defendants are accused of dragging a 21-year-old Pontiac mother of three from an auto stuck in mud on South Blvd. last March 6 while her escort was summoning a tow truck, and criminally assaulting her during an hour-long ride.

Oscar and Richard Chavers yesterday repeated statements made previously by the other two defendants. The brothers said the woman asked to enter their car and submitted willingly. Oscar denied having relations with the housewife.

The pair denied knowing the woman when they allegedly tried to help her escape. Martin Weiberg, 31, of 102 S. Merrimac St., free it from the mud.

Williams Lake Second Graders Try Commuting

"Come, Jane. See the train. Trains go chug, chug, chug..."

Today they had the real thing—an honest-to-goodness journey on a train.

Well, maybe not a journey. A trip anyway. From Birmingham to Pontiac, on a Grand Trunk and Western Railroad train.

Only seven of the 33 youngsters had ever been on a train before today.

When the experience came, it was a complete one. Each child bought his own ticket, and carried a suitcase to be checked.

Leaving school at 1 p.m. today, the group was driven to Birmingham by several mothers. After inspecting the station, they boarded the 2-12, and chugged along to Pontiac.

With the train ride comes the inevitable result. A good share of the future policemen, firemen, FBI agents and scientists have now switched their allegiance.

A new crop of conductors and engineers also is in the making.

Driver Drinking, Claims Witness

'Death Car' Passenger Testifies Yesterday in Manslaughter Trial

A witness testified yesterday that Mrs. Erlene Wagnershultz had been drinking previous to a head-on collision on M24 a mile north of Oxford which took five lives last Dec. 5.

Frances Simpson, 19, of 14 Emley, Oxford, made the statement under questioning in Circuit Court by Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue.

Miss Simpson is the only surviving passenger of the car driven by Mrs. Wagnershultz, who is on trial charged with manslaughter.

ASKS INNOCENT VERDICT

Meanwhile, defense attorney Lawrence J. Moloney moved for a directed innocent verdict. Visiting Circuit Judge Archie D. McDonald took the motion under advisement.

Miss Simpson said she was with the accused at three bars previous to the crash. She said she didn't know whether the collision took place in a non-passing zone.

Moloney is attempting to show that the crash took place in an area marked "pass with care."

YELLOW-LINE ZONE

A witness Tuesday, Robert D. Wilson, of Orion Twp., said the accused's car was passing him in a yellow-line zone when the accident happened.

Another witness, Mrs. Joanne Misenor, of Davisburg, said she was going south on M24 when the car which collided with the Wagnershultz auto passed her heading north.

It approached her on the wrong side of the road, she stated, swerved to avoid her, then appeared to be skidding sideways before the crash. Its driver was killed. The case may go to the jury today.

Ike Turns Down Postal Pay Hike of 8.6 Per Cent

President Vetoes Bill but Suggests Passage of Fairer Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill to boost the pay of 500,000 postal workers by an average 8.6 per cent.

The President told the Senate in a veto message he regretted his action and earnestly hoped and recommended that "the Congress will quickly consider and enact postal pay legislation that will be in the public interest and fair to all the half million employees who man the postal service."

He said the vetoed measure would impose "a heavier burden upon the taxpayer than is necessary."

Eisenhower listed these three reasons for his veto:

"First, the bill creates new discriminations or inequalities which would affect many thousands of postal employees."

"Second, the bill creates grave administrative problems such as of individual pay rates. It forces awkward and unfair administrative practices in a government department whose operations affect every person, every enterprise, every community in the country."

"Third, the bill imposes a heavier burden upon the taxpayer than is necessary to establish salary rates throughout the department which will compare favorably with rates for similar work elsewhere in government and in private industry."

The President has indicated an average 7.6 per cent raise is about as far as he is willing to go.

VETO FIGHT EXPECTED

A Democratic effort to overturn the veto is expected promptly in the Senate. But Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), carrying the ball for the administration, predicted flatly that Eisenhower's action will be sustained. The Senate, where the bill originated, must act first. Both houses had passed the measure by overwhelming votes.

Carlson has said he would be ready at once with a 7.6 per cent raise bill.

An effort to override would be the first such move in the two and one-half years Eisenhower has been in office.

School Aid Bill Reaches Senate

Gym, Pool Construction Provision May Stimie $1 Million Bond Issue

LANSING (AP)—The second of two bills implementing the 100-million-dollar school bond issue approved by voters last November was back in the Senate today after unanimous House approval.

The upper chamber, however, may be reluctant to accept a House amendment which would permit state loans to be used in building gyms and auditoriums.

When it passed the Senate, the bill prohibited school districts from using the money for swimming pools, gyms, auditoriums, athletic fields or stadiums.

The lower chamber went along with the ban against swimming pools, athletic fields or stadiums, but defeated a motion by Rep. John W. Fletcher (R-Centerville) to prohibit use of the money for gyms or auditoriums.

Declaring that gyms and auditoriums are a "traditional part" of the school system, Rep. John C. McCune (R-East Lansing) pushed through an amendment allowing use of the money for such projects if they are approved by the state superintendent of public instruction.

Long-sought legislation to encourage housing juvenile delinquents in foster homes instead of state institutions passed the House with little opposition.

PARTIES PRAISED

Gov. Williams hailed passage of the five-bill package, already approved by the Senate, as "a tremendous achievement after many years of effort by civic groups as well as Democrats and Republicans."

Elephants Do Mambo

Zoo in Royal Oak Opening for Summer Season; Holden Chimps Perform in New Amphitheater

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

The zoo's a wonderland you'll find. Whisks you from that daily grind. Mends your cares and clears your mind. So chuck those tasks and straightaway go. Where elephants waltz and do the mambo.

Yes, even elephants do the mambo at the Detroit zoo in Royal Oak. Chimps ride ponies and do flips off springboards.

An all-legs-and-neck baby giraffe peeks shyly around a tree while ten bear cubs roll down rock slabs like brown, black and white bowling balls.

Two young kangaroos try out their high-jumping ability while trying to tempt a couple of even-smaller "kangs" to step from man's pouch and have a go at the sport.

"Jim-Jim," the baby gorilla, clings affectionately in a trainer's arms while across the way two old-faced infant orangutans try their luck at climbing the cage bars.

TIME FOR ZOO TRIPS

All this animal-land activity means that it's the time of year again when Oakland County parents will be hearing the familiar question, "Mommy, daddy, can we go to the zoo?"

It might be smart to arrange a trip as soon as possible. Zoo antics seem to have a tonic influence on even world-hardened adults. As one elderly gentleman put it at yesterday's preview of today's opening, "Nothing puts life back into the old arteries like a trip to this institution."

The zoo officially opened this morning, replete with the new

2,600-seat Holden Amphitheater where 12 talented chimpanzees will cavort this summer to delight youthful admirers of every age.

the new great ape exhibit where Jim-Jim, the loving little gorilla,

TOO CLOSE? — "Czarina" the Siberian tiger looked harmless enough, but the photographer stayed close to her cage bars only long enough to get an unobstructed shot yesterday. The 13-month old "cat" was among the animal attractions on display when the Detroit zoo in Royal Oak opened to the public this morning.

Art Brown — Trainer Art Brown lectured "Tommy" the chimp on the evils of excessive drink yesterday after the minstrel agreed to assume a French motif for the photographer. Tommy is one of 12 stars of the Detroit zoo's expanded chimp show this year. Five new acts have been added to do justice to the large stage in the recently-completed Holden Amphitheater.

Two-Car Crash Fatal to Woman

Mrs. Genevieve Skinner of Bloomfield Township Dies in Accident

A 64-year-old Bloomfield Township woman was killed late yesterday afternoon in a 2-car collision at E. South Blvd. and Crooks Rd., Oakland County sheriff's deputies said.

The victim, Mrs. Genevieve Skinner, 64, of 3518 Franklin Rd., was pronounced dead at the scene by Deputy Coroner Dr. Leon Cobb.

Deputies Harry Jones and William Addis said her car collided with one being driven north on Crooks by Paul A. White, 41, of Dryden. He was treated for leg bruises and released. Pontiac General Hospital authorities reported.

White told officers Mrs. Skinner apparently failed to stop at a stop sign as she headed west on South Boulevard.

Mrs. Skinner, an insurance company representative, has no known survivors in this area but a sister at Alma and a niece in New York are being contacted. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Dudley H. Moore Funeral Home here.

Housing Project Tenants Must Sign Loyalty Oaths

NEW YORK (AP)—Printed loyalty oaths containing a list of more than 200 organizations designated as subversive by the U. S. attorney general were being distributed today to some 30,000 adult tenants in 28 housing projects here.

Tenants are directed to check the list carefully and sign the oath only if they are not members of any of the organizations. They face eviction proceedings unless the certificates are signed and returned by June 1.

Anyone signing falsely is subject to a perjury sentence of as much as five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The housing projects are low-rent structures financed by the federal government and administered by the New York City Housing Authority.

Instructions given with the oaths explain that tenants are subject to federal housing laws which do not permit members of the organizations tabbed subversive to occupy such dwellings.

The specific legislation was sponsored by Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn (R-N.Y.).

An earlier attempt to distribute the oath was held up by a court contest two years ago. The action, by a tenant's group, finally was thrown out.

American Loses British Amateur

Women's Crown Won by Scottish Mother 7 and 6 Today

PORTURISH, Northern Ireland (AP)—Mrs. Jessie Valentine, 40-year-old Scottish veteran, today won the British women's golf championship by crushing America's amateur champion Barbara Romack, of Sacramento, Calif., 7 and 6, in the 36-hole final.

Miss Romack, 22-year-old U.S. amateur champion, limped over the course on a swollen ankle, which she said was the result of "too much wear and tear," and her usually steady golf game collapsed.

She shot an 88 for the first 18 holes compared with 81 for Mrs. Valentine, mother of a 7-year-old son. The Scottish woman won the British amateur title 18 years ago—when Barbara was just 5—as Jessie Anderson. She was runner-up in 1950. The 6,500 Yards Portrush course, plays the equivalent of a 77 women's par.

The crestfallen American girl retired to the locker room after the morning round to receive treatment for her ailing ankle.

Brighton Youth Found in Ditch by Close Friend

$128 Taken From Cash Register; Body Dumped Out of Moving Car

BRIGHTON (AP)—Shot and killed in what State Police said was an apparent robbery-kidnaping, the body of an 18-year-old filling station attendant was found in a graveled country road three miles south of Brighton today.

He was Lawrence Jackson Jr., son of a retired Detroit policeman. He had been shot twice—in the chest and the groin—at close range, and his body apparently dumped from a moving car.

The cash register at the all-night gasoline station where he worked alone was empty. The tape showed $128 had been registered.

State Police said the holdup-kidnaping apparently occurred between 2 and 3:15 a.m., but they were unable to find any immediate clues.

In an unusual step, State Police Headquarters at Lansing asked commercial radio stations to request any motorist who saw anything suspicious in the Brighton area early today to call the nearest post.

FOUND BY FRIEND

The body was found at 5:15 a.m. by one of Jackson's closest friends, Lawrence Antieu, 23, en route with his wife to Ascension Day Mass in this Livingston County town astride U.S. 16 between Detroit and Lansing.

The body was in Rickett road, near Winans Lake road, more than three miles from the East Side station where Jackson worked.

Jackson got his filling station job only three weeks ago from owner Buel Weatherwax.

Suspicion there might have been a robbery came at 3:15 a.m., when Paul Painter, of Ore Lake, drove into the station and found no one there. Painter telephoned Weatherwax, a close friend.

Weatherwax called the Brighton State Police Post and asked to be met at the station. They found the cash register empty, but $200 in an unlocked safe untouched and Jackson's automobile at the station.

After finding and recognizing the body, Antieu sped to Brighton, where his wife called State Police while he telephoned the Rev. Leo McCann of St. Patrick Catholic Church, which the Jacksons attend.

Young Jackson was graduated a year ago from Brighton High School, where he was a popular student and member of the football team.

He lived with his widowed father, a brother, Bruce, 17, and an aunt, Mrs. Margaret Miller. His mother died several years ago.

Ward and Cherry to Open Cup Play in Walker Meet

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—America's best Walker Cup two-some, Harvey Ward of San Francisco and Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., will meet Joe Carr of Ireland and Ronnie White of England in the opening two-ball match of the 1955 Walker Cup competition tomorrow.

Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., captain of the American team, and Alec Hill, British nonplaying captain, announced their pairings today for Friday's opening round of the two-day international competition.

Campbell, the most experienced member of the American team, left himself out of the foursomes. Other matches Friday will be Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N. C., and Richard Yost, Portland, Ore., vs. Gerald Micklem, England, and John Morgan, Wales, Lieut. Joe Conrad, San Antonio, Tex., and Dale Morey, Indianapolis, Ind., vs. Ian Caldwell, England, and Ernest Millward, England, Bruce Cudd, Portland, Ore., and James G. Blair, Scotland, and Robin Cater, Scotland.

Ask $100,000 of Sigler Estate

of Children Orphaned in Ex-Governor's Crash

LANSING (AP)—Two suits seeking up to $100,000 have been filed in Ingham County Circuit Court against the estate of former Gov. Kim Sigler, killed in a plane crash near Battle Creek on Nov. 30, 1952.

The suits were filed by the Central Trust Co. of Lansing, administrators of the estate of John and Virginia Schuyler, in behalf of their three orphaned children.

The Lansing couple and Mrs. Ruth Prestice, Sigler's secretary, were killed along with the flying ex-governor when the private plane he was piloting hit a television tower guy wire.

The two suits, seeking up to $50,000 each, were brought against Victor C. Anderson, Lansing attorney and Sigler's former law partner and administrator of his estate.

Each charges Sigler with negligence in the operation of his plane and cites financial loss to the three children, Judy Ann, 12; Terry, 9, and Virginia Jean, 7, through the death of their parents. The children are now living with relatives in Barry County.

Court Delays Road Hearing Until June 8th

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A Washtenaw County Circuit Court hearing on the right of the Michigan Turnpike Authority to build toll roads through Michigan cities was postponed today until June 8.

Circuit Judge James Breakley said attorneys for the city of Dearborn, the authority and an enjoining party had agreed to postpone the case, originally scheduled for today.

Judge Breakley said both sides needed additional time to gather technical witnesses such as engineers from distant locations.

The city of Dearborn, as enjoined by others, seeks to prohibit the authority from building roads through its corporate limits, claiming that the road would deny the city control of its "streets, alleys and public places" in violation of the state constitutional provision protecting home rule.

UM Zoology Head Succumbs Tuesday

ANN ARBOR (AP)—J. Speed Rogers, 62, professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, died Tuesday night of a heart attack. He was stricken unexpectedly at home.

Rogers also was director of the university's museum of zoology and the Edwin S. George Reserve.

He joined the University of Michigan staff in 1947, coming from the University of Florida. A native of Dayton, Ind., he also had taught at Guilford College (N.C.), Grinnell College (Iowa) and the University of Toronto.

No Laughing Matter When Hyena Escapes

CHICAGO (AP)—A 100-pound hyena broke loose in a railroad baggage car today and it was no laughing matter.

Experts had to be called from the Anti-Cruelty Society to catch and cage the snarling animal which devoured a crate of frozen fish.

The animal was snared, recaptured and sent on to Lincoln Park Zoo.

off initial second-round clinics in 14 county areas.

"We felt it would be better to go ahead with the Saturday clinics because it would be harder to re-schedule them," he said today.

He explained that families participating in the weekend clinics by transporting youngsters to the centers where the shots are administered.

TRANSPORTATION BY BUSES
"In the rural clinics, transportation is by school buses, which are available five days a week," he said.

Another factor in deciding to use the shots for the Saturday clinics, he said, was the fact these clinics are in larger centers of population, where polio is usually more prevalent.

Whether the rural clinics will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday will depend on the arrival of more serum, he said.

Manufacture and distribution of vaccine was held up for a week recently at the request of the health service for a re-check of its safety.

Meanwhile, a sharp increase in new polio cases was reported by the Public Health Service. For the week ended May 14, new cases totaled 206—up 30 per cent over the previous week.

POLIO RISE NOTED
This compares with 151 for the comparable week last May and an average of 116 for the last five years.

It was noted that for the first time since the anti-polio vaccination program ran into difficulty the number of polio cases among inoculated persons remained unchanged at 77.

The health service also announced that 23 cases have now been reported among people who have come in contact with children given vaccine by Cutter Laboratories, of California. The inoculated children themselves have not contracted the disease in these cases.

ELEPHANTS PERFORM
The elephant show will function again with four behemoths slated to come as close to being prima ballerinas as elephants can.

The chimpanzee show, starring "Tarzan" and "Bobo" with 10 fellow simians accompanying, will also sport four ponies and two pigmy donkeys.

The enlarged troupe is made possible by the new circular, 44-foot stage—three times the size of the one in the old Jo Mendi Theater.

It's easier to see the animal vaudevillians too. The audience view is unhindered by bars with the actors performing behind a beautifully landscaped moat.

The show includes a "thrilling" western drama in which a chimpanzee version of Davy Crockett has it out with a flock of chimp-indians. Four other new acts have been developed, bringing the total to 20.

The great ape exhibit is the first in the park's history. Former star of the chimp show, "Jo Mendi II" is housed there along with another retired show celebrity, "Rosie."

GORILLAS EXPECTED SOON
The exhibit's complement is completed by Jim-Jim, the two orangutans and a group of white-handed gibbons, late of India. Two more gorillas are expected soon.

Flower and garden lovers will get an added kick from a zoo trip this year. "The zoo is following the modern trend toward the use of more color," explained director, Frank G. McInnis. "We hope this will create a lighter and gayer mood for our visitors."

As usual, the baboon exhibit is a hornet's nest of activity. Numerous babies can be spotted in the scurrying, squabbling and playing bunch, some clinging constantly to their mothers, others beginning to get into trouble on their own.

Other latecomers include llamas, bison and aoudads (North African wild sheep). Weekday visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sundays and holidays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"A tour through here certainly gives you a lift," remarked a bystander observing Jo Mendi II making like a jitterbug. "That's the way we all should be once in a while, no worries."

The Day in Birmingham

Irving B. Babcock to Head 3-Area UF Torch Drive

BIRMINGHAM—This year's UF Torch Drive for the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin area will be headed by Irving B. Babcock, president of Dearborn Motors Credit Corp., it was officially announced today.

Babcock will direct a campaign organization of 1,200 to 1,500 volunteer workers, according to William Breech, chairman of the area advisory committee of the United Foundation.

The fund campaign is scheduled for Oct. 18 to Nov. 10. No goals have been set, but it is expected that Babcock's team will be tackling one of the biggest single community efforts to be undertaken in this area.

Babcock, who lives on Lone Pine road in Bloomfield Hills, is a former vice president of General Motors Corp. and was general manager of the GMTC Division in Pontiac. He is a former vice president of Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co. and was president of Avoc Manufacturing Corp. in New York. He also is president of the Abrasive & Metal Products Co.

SEES WIDE SUPPORT
"We do not live on an island," Breech said. "... The mutuality of our needs, as embraced in the nationally famous once-for-all approach of the United Foundation, will continue to call forth, I believe, the same kind of record-breaking support we have had in past years."

Breech announced the appointment of Mrs. Haines P. Walsley and William B. Bachman Jr. to membership on the advisory committee.

The board of education has approved placing a $5,500,000 bond issue for school expansion on the June 13 school board ballot.

The bond issue was recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee. However the $5.5 figure exceeds the recommendation of the committee by $205,000.

Five new elementary schools and classroom additions to five others are included in the sum.

Two Birmingham church groups will hold flower sales in various parts of the city. The three-day annual St. James plant sale at the YMCA grounds on Lincoln opened today, and will continue from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. daily through Saturday. Tomorrow, the Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Detroit, was guest speaker. He credited Moxley with having done an "outstanding job" not only as Birmingham's police chief but also as a leading law enforcement officer in Michigan.

The Birmingham Business Women's Club will hold its annual mother and daughter banquet at 6:30 tonight at the Community House.

Clarkston Man Hurt as Auto Rams Tree

Albert S. Johnson Jr., 26, of Clarkston, was reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries suffered when his car rammed a tree on U.S. 10 near Davisburg road early this morning.

Johnson sustained a possible concussion and multiple cuts and bruises after his car left the highway and struck a tree near the pavement.

He was unable to tell Oakland County Sheriff's deputies how the accident happened.

Mayors Meeting Opens Today in New York City

NEW YORK (INS)—The 19th annual United States Conference of Mayors opens today on a theme of international problems and how they relate to local governments.

A message from President Eisenhower will be read to the chief executives of 250 major American and Canadian cities and guests from Germany and Israel at the first business session.

Following Eisenhower's greetings, Mayor Donald H. MacKay of Calgary, president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors, will read a message from the Prime Minister of Canada.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, is scheduled to address the conference of 600 city chief executives and officials at the morning session.

Birmingham Man Hurt

Cramer R. Wilson, 49, of 102 N. Woodward Ave., Birmingham, suffered face and leg cuts early today after he lost control of his auto on Oakland avenue about a quarter mile past the viaduct.

Pontiac Police, who said Wilson had been drinking, said the auto side-swiped two utility poles and plunged into a ditch.

Soviet Betrayal of Poles Seen as Likely Red Move

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Polish Communist leaders probably are a worried bunch of people right now.

Little mention has been made of Poland in the surge of diplomatic activity that has resulted from the ratification of the West German armament treaties.

It is true that the Iron Curtain governments met in Warsaw last week to conclude their new military set-up. That was merely a formality.

But Poland may be much more prominent in the news in months to come.

There have long been indications that Soviet Russia would be willing to betray the Polish Reds in an attempt to prevent the materialization of the German armament program.

LOGICAL MOVE
It would be a most logical move for Russia to hold out hope that if Germany made itself a neutral country, Poland would be forced to give up the rich German territory it now occupies.

It is most unlikely—in fact, it is incredible—that Germany ever will accept neutral status for good. Germany is a world power and it is certainly not the neutral type. Its men are born soldiers.

Also, Germans most likely figure privately that they will get back their territory from Poland sooner or later, one way or another.

But there is nothing to keep Russia from trying the neutrality dodge.

NATION DIVIDED
It will be remembered that Nazi Germany invaded Poland from the West on Sept. 1, 1939, to open World War II, and that the greedy Russian Reds invaded it from the East on Sept. 17. Hitler and Stalin then partitioned the whole country between them.

At the Yalta conference in February, 1945, the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union agreed that after the war Poland must be given substantial territorial concessions from Germany.

This was decided upon to compensate Poland for the 70,000 square miles of territory Russia had grabbed.

At the Potsdam conference in July-August, 1945, the Big Three agreed that, subject to a final peace settlement, Poland should administer that part of Germany lying east of a line drawn from the Baltic Sea near Swinemünde along the Oder River to the western Neisse River, and thence along the Western Neisse to Czechoslovakia. This territory totals 40,000 square miles.

NO SETTLEMENT
There has been no final German "peace settlement." But the Soviet and Polish governments have treated the German territory as if its fate had been settled irrevocably. Its people have been expelled to Germany proper.

The German population of the area totaled 8,000,000, of these, 5,000,000 fled to West Germany before the Soviet advance in the

Prisoners in Iowa Building Sports Car

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UP)—Prisoners in the automotive school at the Iowa State Penitentiary here are building a streamlined sports car from the shell of a 1940 Hudson purchased for $12.

Building the car became a spare-time project a year ago when prison officials decided there wasn't enough regular work to keep the inmates occupied.

When finished late this spring, the car will be painted pink and upholstered in imitation zebra skin. Second-hand parts from 12 different cars have gone into its make-up and prison officials said the total cost will be about $500.

Club Will Hear Brownell

DETROIT (UP)—U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Economic Club of Detroit next Monday. He will discuss tax evasion and how it adds to the burden of taxpayers.

Ionia Sheriff, Police Hit by Resignations

IONIA (UP)—Resignations for higher paying jobs continued to plague the Ionia County Sheriff's department and the Ionia City Police force.

Clarence Aldrich, chief deputy, handed his resignation to Sheriff Peter Van Vleet and City Officer John Thaison also submitted his resignation, both because they could earn more by doing other work.

Five members of the two departments have resigned during the past month, one to drive a garbage truck and another to dig ditches.

An octopus can make drastic changes in the color of his body to match its background.

Son Bests Father

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UP)—Calvin Hull Sr. came in for good-natured ribbing about his grades at Mississippi State College, even though he made the President's List. Hull's son, Calvin Jr., is in the same class as his father and made slightly better grades to top his father on the list.

Reds' Disarmament Plan Still Full of Traps

Part of Russia's effort to counter the West's admission of Germany into NATO is a modified disarmament proposal.

In some quarters this disarmament and peace plan is regarded as the Reds' program for the now assured Big Four top level conference. The language of these proposals is designed to persuade people that the Russians really want peace.

While Marshal Bulganin in Warsaw was urging an end to the cold war and settlement of all problems by peaceful means, Moscow was unveiling its modified disarmament plan. This obviously is aimed at lulling the West.

For example, the Russians again urge reunification of Germany. But they demand withdrawal of all foreign troops. This would mean that U.S. and British troops would have to withdraw from the Continent while Soviet forces would remain on the Oder, 30 miles from Berlin.

Another trap is hidden in the provision which calls for the freezing of armaments at the December 31, 1954, levels. This would block German rearmament, prevention of which is a major goal of Soviet diplomacy.

Even more objectionable, the plan calls for dismantling of all foreign, meaning chiefly American, bases. Equally unacceptable is the provision calling for the use of nuclear weapons against aggression only with the approval of the Security Council in which Russia has a veto.

Especially objectionable is the plan's inspection system. This is based on regulations which proved such a failure in Korea and which already have been ruled out by the West as wholly inadequate.

Our Army's New Chief

When President EISENHOWER nominated Gen. MAXWELL D. TAYLOR to be the Army's new Chief of Staff, he chose an unusually distinguished soldier.

TAYLOR, now 53, will succeed retiring Gen. MATTHEW B. RIDGWAY, foe of Army manpower cuts, who will leave his post June 30. Among Army men Gen. TAYLOR is rated a master of tactics, especially in the use of modern arms.

He speaks a half dozen languages fluently. For relaxation he reads Greek tragedies and is a student of philosophy. Gen. TAYLOR presently has two commands, U.S. Far Eastern and chief of the United Nations forces in Korea.

Gen. EISENHOWER paid him high tribute for his dangerous feat of spending 24 hours behind enemy lines in World War II to sound out chances of a paratroop attack on Rome. As commander of the 101st Airborne Division he parachuted into France the night before D-Day.

All signs point to early and overwhelming Senate approval of Gen. TAYLOR's nomination, a tribute his record more than justifies.

longer hours. The CONGDONS have been the Oxford Leader.

It was hard sledding at first. But when the financial balance turned in their favor it paid them well. They surely have merited their success, and are entitled to many years of happy retirement.

More Workers Retiring on Social Security Pay

One of the new developments in American life is the increased number of workers who are planning to retire on social security pay.

Back of this are the increased benefits voted by the 83rd Congress, higher social security taxes and more liberal part time employment rules.

Today workers of 65 who have paid maximum social security taxes, and their wives can draw $162.80 a month. In addition many of them can expect a lesser sum from a company pension. Besides that the husband can earn up to $1,200 a year without loss of any social security benefits.

Figures show the strength of the new trend. During the first three months of 1954 a total of 187,500 more retired workers started receiving monthly pensions. In the same period this year the number jumped to 219,000.

Five years ago only 18 persons in every 100 who were 65 or over were retired on their old age pensions. Today about 38 in every 100 depend on social security checks.

In 1950 a total of 1,300,000 persons were drawing $587,000 a year in benefits. Today there are more than 4,000,000 pensioners and they are drawing $3 billion a year.

Local Boy Scout Council Is Making Extraordinary Gains

Teenagers: Our best citizens, even if some of us oldsters hate to admit it—because they know how to have a good time better than we did.

Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts has stepped into third place in membership among Michigan's councils. It has passed Pine Tree Council whose headquarters are at Flint, and before the end of 1955 expects to take second place from Grand Rapids, leaving Detroit its only leader. Comparing most of the area of Oakland and Macomb Counties, including Pontiac and Mt. Clemens, the local council now has 6,500 boys in active scouting. This is an increase of 1,100 over a year ago. These thousands will be glad to learn that their

"Ave T'git Out 'n' Push, Guv'nor—No Gas"

David Lawrence Says:

Future of Germany Rests on Continued Prosperity

BONN—After several days of talks with cabinet members, legislators of various political parties, and veteran newsmen who know Germany intimately, this correspondent cannot but feel that it is a thin reed on which the security of the West rests nowadays.

For, although with the best intentions in the world the government spokesmen here sincerely say that Germany's future lies with the West—a feeling privately expressed even by opposition leaders—an undercurrent of anxiety is nevertheless evident.

Deep-seated convictions concerning the great value of democracy and an awareness of the dangers of a resurgent militarism crop up in all conversations.

The big unknown quantity is in the question: "What do a people do with the vote when they are in the midst of an economic depression?" The answer is that they turn to almost anybody and any policy that seems to hold out hope for an improved economic status.

BRUNING RAPID

One leader in the lower house of Germany's national Parliament philosophized a bit to me on what Chancellor Bruning might well have done in 1932 when he faced six million unemployed and six million Communists.

His comment was that, "even if it was contrary to previous orthodox policy, he should have done something for the people, and this might have prevented the rise of Hitler."

So it is the economic situation everywhere which holds the key to the future course of political parties. Such are the ambitions of political leaders that they are not reluctant to use an international issue of the highest sensitivity and twist it to suit their political aims.

This presupposes, of course, an unthinking electorate but Germany is not alone in being subjected to the whims of materialism and selfishness in the modern world.

APPEAL TO STOMACH

For one has only to examine the political speeches of the opposition parties in Britain and America to note that the appeal to the stomach is related to the voting strength of present day politicians.

It was the chairman of an important committee in the Bundestag who remarked to me: "For heaven's sake, don't let any depression happen in America—we would feel it badly here."

Just the other day an important election took place in a Rhineland state and, although the candidates sought membership in the state Legislature which sends representatives to the upper house of the national Parliament here, the biggest single issue was the international policy of the Adenauer regime.

Prosperity prevails and workers are beginning to be scarce, so that all was serene economically in the area where the elections were held. Hence a discussion of international questions on their merits was possible.

NATO SUPPORTED

It must be noted that the people already had read about the signing of the Austrian treaty and the organization of a Soviet "NATO" in the East, and about the Russian propaganda advocating the possible neutralization of a unified Germany.

In almost every discussion the question of what will happen after 70-year-old Chancellor Adenauer retires is bound to come up. But, after talks with several of the leaders—among whom there are at least three who could carry on energetically and effectively—there need be no fears about the continuity of the policies of the majority coalition of today.

It is not men of leadership who are lacking but a deeper understanding by more people that they must not listen to demagogic politicians who would mislead them.

PAPERS PRAISED

The newspapers are doing a good job of keeping the people informed, but the radio is dominated by Left-Wing commentators. Television has not yet become a political factor. It is the potential harm that can be done by a selfish use of the issue of unification of West and East Germany that is most to be feared.

So far as the East Germans are concerned, there is every indication that they distrust communism and hate their oppressors.

But there are some naive men among the West Germans who think the Soviets can be trusted and that the overtures to Tito and the signing of the Austrian treaty were evidences of weakness in the Kremlin's hitherto hostile attitude toward the West.

Nobody in the government here, however, is ready to reply on that view in shaping public policy. Instead, there is a growing awareness that the future of the "cold war" may prove even more dangerous than the past.

As for a choice between a reunited Germany that must take orders from Moscow and a continuance of an independent West Germany, with the strong support of the western military and economic mechanism, the latter would be preferred.

Single Girls Too Eager to Get Married, Often Scare Off Good Prospects at Once

Theda vows that Seneca knew his stuff when he urged girls to pattern after the archer in dealing with boy friends. Seneca said pull them back; then push them away. Theda got three proposals of marriage in a few months by affecting lack of interest in matrimony. Study the strategy below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case O-334: Theda M., aged 23, is the attractive girl mentioned yesterday who was disconsolate because she had no boy friend.

One of her chief problems was the fact she was pressing too hard. Her excessive desire to win a husband and a wedding ring subconsciously showed through in even her apparent casual conversation with boys.

So I told her to forget her obsession about matrimony and take the philosophical attitude that she was going to devote herself to constructive things like the YWCA or church projects.

"Quit worshipping the idea of marriage as the all-important goal in life," I warned her.

"As an experiment in social psychology, tell yourself every morning that you haven't time for marriage because of all the other important things you should accomplish in life.

"Keep that attitude when you meet men, and you'll find a remarkable change. But don't forget to smile readily and pay men big doses of honest compliments.

"If they ask you why you aren't married, tell them you have too much to do."

So, after several visits to my office, Theda became a social actress. She smiled gaily and took a carefree attitude.

Meanwhile, she had joined the Compliment Club and memorized that "Dear Home Pals" formula for interesting conversation, each letter of which stands for a topic of conversation, as "D" for "Drama," "H" for "Hobbies," etc. The very next Sunday she attended a picnic. She played tennis

Minister Praises Pontiac Area Citizens for Making Sunday School Bus Possible

Letters will be enclosed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

We would like to express our thanks to the citizens of Pontiac and surrounding areas who made it possible, through their contributions, for us to purchase a Sunday School bus for our church.

Smiles

Quite Right

"Do I have a license? Don't be a fool, officer!" said the woman motorist who had just uprooted a telephone pole. "Who'd give me a license the way I drive?"

Cruel

A little man dashed into a drugstore and ordered: "A large ginger ale!" He looked shaken, so the clerk asked him what was wrong. "I just got home to find a strange man kissing my wife!" "And what did you do?" "I picked up my umbrella, smashed it across my knee, and said: 'There! I hope it rains!'"

The Defense

A lawyer was attending a funeral. A friend arrived and took a seat beside him, whispering: "How far has the service gone?" The lawyer nodded toward the clergyman in the pulpit and whispered back, "He just opened the defense."

Inherited

"Daddy, did grandpa spank you when you were a little boy?" "Yes, Johnny." "And did great-grandpa spank grandpa when he was a little boy?" "Yes, Johnny." "Well, don't you think that with my help you could overcome this inherited hooliganism?"

Father:

"Get up, son, the day's half gone. What do you suppose Abraham Lincoln was doing when he was your age?" Son: "Haven't the slightest idea, but I know what he was doing when he was your age."

Wait

Drunk—I live here.
Cop—Why don't you go in?
D—I lost my key.
C—Then ring the bell.
D—I rang it an hour ago.
C—Ring it again.
D—The heck with them; let 'em wait.

Hollow

A fat lady stepped on the scales, not knowing they were out of order. The indicator stopped at 75 pounds. "Holy smoke!" exclaimed a drunk who watched her. "She's hollow!"

Their interest has made it possible for people to attend services who otherwise might not have had transportation.

'Age-Old Problems Enter Anti-Communism Fight'

This is in reply to an article on Asia suggesting a new foreign policy, based on not only fighting communism, but on the ancient problems of disease, hunger and illiteracy.

The writer should have emphasized the one great weapon we hold against communism... the distribution to Asia of some of our abundant food.

The ancient problems are still in the world today. There are those who suffer from hunger of the soul and body. Some are unable to read the words of their Father in Heaven, unable to comprehend why they are suffering. They are unable to understand why the words of God should mean something to them.

They are unable to comprehend, on their uncertainty, dejection and sadness, that they will some day have peace of mind.

James Marlow Says:

Does Moscow Want Belt of Neutral Buffer States?

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is one of the latest wonderings in the present Washington guessing game about the Russians: Are they anxious for a belt of neutral nations straight down the middle of Europe?

President Eisenhower was asked about it at his news conference yesterday. He didn't add much light. He said: "There seems to be developing the thought that there might be built up a series of neutralized states..."

A look at a map of Europe shows four nations—Sweden, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia—lying in a slanting north-south line west of the Russian-dominated countries.

Two of them—Sweden and Austria—are already neutral. Last week Russia let Austria have her independence with the guarantee she would remain neutral.

That leaves Germany and Yugoslavia.

Yugoslavia was linked with Moscow from the end of the war until 1948 when Marshal Tito broke with Stalin. Since Stalin's death his successors have tried to woo Tito with soft talk.

Since his split with Stalin, Tito has received many millions of dollars of economic and military aid from the United States. And he put Yugoslavia into a military alliance with Greece and Turkey.

Both are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which makes them allies of the United States, also in NATO. Yugoslavia is not an NATO member.

And Tito insists he is neutral between East and West.

Last Friday the Russians announced Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev would go to Yugoslavia to talk with Tito. Why? They say just to establish normal relations.

But Washington wondered: Would they try to win back Tito so that he was no longer neutral but a Russian ally? And, if they couldn't do that, would they try to get a guarantee of neutrality from him?

The Russians, holding East Germany since the war, have tried by threats, propaganda and maneuvering to keep Western Germany disarmed and out of NATO. Germany isn't rearmed yet but she has just joined NATO with plans to raise 12 divisions.

Gen. Alfred Gruenther, NATO's supreme commander, has said that without the help of Germany's armed forces, he doubts a Russian attack could be stopped.

But the Russians know the long-lingering of the West Germans for unification with East Germany. On May 11 Bulganin held out bait to the West Germans. He said "unification" was possible if there was "good will."

Were the Russians going to offer reunification with this price tag: that a unified Germany would agree to remain unarmed and neutral and, therefore, not a member of NATO? Maybe.

If the Russians could keep Germany neutralized it would be, in case of war, the equivalent of a great military victory. The Russians may hope that, with the hope of unification, the Germans will not raise forces for NATO.

Pathologist Aids Surgeon by Studying Bits of Tissue

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

The branch of medical science which treats of the nature and cause of disease and the structural and functional changes that characterize disease is pathology.

The expert who does the autopsy (necropsy) for the coroner is a pathologist, although commonly called medical examiner.

Far more important is the service of the pathologist in surgical diagnosis.

In a great many instances the physician's opinion of the nature of the trouble is confirmed or negated by the pathologist's examination of material the doctor submits, and perhaps a vital decision for or against radical treatment becomes possible.

The most valuable service of the pathologist is in the performance of the biopsy. Standing by, with microscope and other equipment ready, the pathologist quickly examines a bit of tissue obtained by the surgeon, and reports what his examination reveals.

This enables the surgeon to conserve tissue which otherwise he might have removed, to do a radical operation where otherwise he might have assumed the condition to be benign.

In these days of "wonder drugs" or "miracle medicines" some doctors who use these drugs as cure-alls seem unconscious of elementary pathology. Otherwise it's hard to see how they can expect the latest miracle medicine to cure anything.

When a physician calls your chronic (a year or more in duration) joint disability "arthritis" and prescribes medicine, diet, physical therapy, change of climate etc., well, it's just too bad—and that's as far as I propose to go today.

I do wish you'd write and inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatism.

Getting right down to elementary pathology, joint disability of more than a year's standing is usually not arthritis at all (joint inflammation) if it developed insidiously or gradually without one or more attacks of inflammation, characterized by the classical signs, heat, pain, redness and swelling (color, dolor, rubor et tumor).

Much more likely the disability is due to physical degeneration of joint tissues—rheumatism. Now, then, if there have been no episodes of color-dolor-rubor-tumor in the development of your joint trouble, it might be advisable for you to quit messing with miracle medicines, funny diets and physical therapy and make believe you have just plain old rheumatism.

You poor souls with phony "arthritis" are already confused, so we'll discuss physical degeneration another day.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words (not pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment) will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Takes Him 42 Years to Receive Paycheck

BATON ROUGE, La. (U) — Forty-two years ago C. J. Smith, now a Baton Rouge oil refinery employee, worked for one day as a fireman on a Kansas City Southern Railway Co. locomotive at Shreveport, La., and didn't get paid.

Recently he wrote the company about it and soon received a check for $2.90—with "no deductions." "I just wanted to see what would happen," Smith explained before turning the money over to charity.

School Counts Assets

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — The University of Illinois values its plant and equipment at almost $124,000,000. The annual report by Comptroller Herbert O. Farber said facilities worth $9,173,548 were added at the university in the 1953-54 fiscal year. University income during the period was $53,527,269; spending totaled $51,785,670.

The highest automobile road in the United States may be that which leads to the summit of Mt. Evans, 14,260 feet.

Twins, 90, Claim Title

KENNEWICK, Wash. (UP) — James Johnston of Kennewick claims he and his brother, Frank, of Woodstock, Conn., are the oldest twins in the nation. Johnston said they were 90 years old on Jan. 22. They were born in Broughton, Canada, about the time President Lincoln was making his Gettysburg address. They parted in the 1890's when James came west. They last saw each other in 1913.

Arkansas, Missouri and West Virginia each have a town named Romance.

What Made the Coffee Taste Oily? Oil Itself!

PITTSBURGH (U) — That oily taste in the coffee was oil after all. For several days people said the water tasted a little oily. A chemical analysis was soon followed by the report that several thousand gallons of oil had leaked from a barge into the Monongahela River near the water intake.

No one was reported ill and the trouble cleared up after a few days — much to the relief of many housewives who were being joshed by their husbands — about their coffee making.

Autopsy on Bird Clears Dog, Incriminates Hunter

MILLER, E. D. (UP)—A novel autopsy proved a St. Lawrence farmer, Herman Lacey, innocent of a hunting violation. The autopsy was performed on

Monkey Is Mystery

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Twelve-year-old Dennis Summers was puzzled when he found a dead monkey wedged in the branches of a tree. It had died of exposure. The police were mystified, too. They had no reports of a missing monkey and a check of residents known to own monkey pets showed that all were safe. No one could offer an explanation.

Cocking Jail Escapee Gets Death Sentence

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UP)—Judge W. A. Leland McKeithen adjourned court and ordered an investigation of cackles coming from an air vent. A hen had escaped from a coop of chickens in the county jail kitchens atop the courthouse. When court resumed the judge called for a report.

"The death penalty, your honor," replied Jailer A. J. Brewer, "the hen will be served to the prisoners Sunday."

Negro Educator Dies in Florida

Dr. Mary Bethune, 79, Founded College in '04; Heart Attack Fatal

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, 79, who rose from a plantation background to found Bethune-Cookman College here and become one of the best known Negro women of her time, died last night of a heart attack.

Although in semiretirement and ill health for years, she remained active until the end. She spent her last day at her desk, went home for the evening and collapsed.

She headed Bethune-Cookman College from its foundation in 1904 to 1942, when she became president emerita.

She gained new national prominence in 1936 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt made her director of the Division of Negro Affairs in the National Youth Administration and his special adviser on minority affairs. In World War II she was a special assistant to the secretary of war. She held the three posts until 1944.

She was one of a family of 17 born in Mayesville, S.C. She worked at menial tasks to go to college and in 1895 was graduated from Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

She planned to become a missionary in Africa but in 1897 began teaching in Florida.

With $150 in cash she founded the Daytona Normal and Industrial School for Girls in 1889. The school's building went up on a dump heap. Later she purchased the land and in 1904 merged the girls' school with a boys' school, Cookman Institute, to create Bethune-Cookman College.

Under her leadership, the college became an institution of 800 students with a nationwide reputation and alumni throughout the world.

A son, Albert Bethune, an instructor at Hines Institute at Augusta, Ga., survives.

Crazy, Mixed-Up Thief

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A man described as "not very bashful" by his victim stole a red concrete mixer yesterday from T. C. Clawson, who said the thief came into his backyard, hitched the big mixer to a battered automobile and made a noisy escape.

U.N. Committee on Disarmament Begins Recess

LONDON (AP)—The five-power U.N. Disarmament subcommittee began a two-week recess today. The five delegations—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada—now will assess individually progress made and issues still dividing the West and the Russians.

Adjourning after 12 weeks of talks here, the group announced yesterday it would meet again June 1. Western officials said New York would be the site.

U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth said in a statement last night that "to a measurable degree the gaps between us seem added."

"Much remains to be done. In doing it, one of our major jobs will be to provide a really effective system of safeguards, to make sure that both nuclear and conventional disarmament is being carried out."

The subcommittee began meeting here Feb. 25 to consider rival East-West proposals for a cutback in armies, bans on nuclear weapons and a world agency to control and supervise disarmament.

The talks made little progress until the Soviets, on May 10, announced their revised disarmament plan. This incorporated several previous Western proposals, but left the West and the Russians still divided on the powers of the control agency.

Market, Polls Show Conservative Tide

LONDON (AP)—Two barometers of political popularity—public opinion polls and the stock market—indicated today that many Britons believe Prime Minister Eden's Conservative party will win the May 26 general elections.

Opposition Laborites remained unconvinced. The Socialist candidates and party workers pointed out that "elections are won in the ballot boxes and not by the black type of Conservative newspapers."

The public opinion polls—often remarkably accurate in the past—showed a mounting Tory tide. The pool takers predicted such a trend, if it continued and was realized on election day, would boost the Conservative margin in the House of Commons to anywhere from 30 to 100 seats.

The stock exchange reacted to the Conservative prospects with an upward surge yesterday, particularly in the industrial list.

Firemen Spectators

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Volunteer firemen from seven companies raced to a spectacular fire in nearby Wyantskill. Then they calmly stood by as flames destroyed a large frame barn, deliberately burned with the permission of fire officials to test the efficiency of Rensselaer County's mutual fire aid plan.

Millionaire's Son Will Be Arraigned

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Julian Hammer, son of a New York millionaire, will be arraigned in Los Angeles Superior Court June 1 on a charge of murdering a friend, Bruce Whitlock.

The arraignment was set yesterday at Hammer's preliminary hearing. He was released on $20,000 bail. Hammer's father Dr. Armand Hammer, manufacturer and art gallery owner, was not present in court, and the 26-year-old defendant's lawyer declined to say where the bail came from.

The district attorney said he did not oppose bail because he does not consider the death penalty warranted in case of conviction. Where the death penalty is to be asked, no bail is allowed.

Hammer said the fatal shooting occurred in an argument May 8 over an old gambling debt. Hammer is a writer on technical subjects for an engineering concern.

Soviet Architects Revising Plans to Re-Do Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Hundreds of architects' plans to make Moscow a city of skyscrapers and penthouses are being scrapped or revised. A saving of 50 million rubles (12½ million dollars officially) already is claimed, according to a progress report appearing in the magazine Ogonyok.

Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, at a national builders congress in December, declared architects put too much stress on fads and frills on the facades of buildings and paid too little attention to economy and efficiency within. He virtually put an embargo on the construction of any further skyscrapers, claiming they were wasteful. He also ordered the substitution of concrete wherever possible to save steel and timber.

Concrete, like corn, has become a big Khrushchev campaign. Ogonyok said a special meeting of architectural building councils was summoned to revise building plans to cut construction costs. "When architects started to revise some of their drafts for buildings on the embankment of the Moscow River, they were able to reduce costs by 10 per cent," Ogonyok reported.

Once Is Enough

BOMBAY, India (AP)—None of 32 Indian workers who went on a visit to Red China have returned because they found the Communist country uncongenial. One member of the group said, "There were definite attempts made to indoctrinate Indian delegates."

'Pure Hearts,' Soviets Claim

Promise No Pressure on Tito in Coming Yugoslav Talks

MOSCOW (U)—Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev says he and other Soviet leaders will stick to a principle of equal rights and mutual noninterference in their forthcoming talks with Yugoslav President Tito.

Asserting that the Soviet delegation would go to Belgrade "with open souls and pure hearts," Khrushchev told a Kremlin conference yesterday:

"All the necessary conditions exist to ensure full normalization of relations between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia."

"We adhere firmly to the point of view that normal relations between states should be based on the principle of equal rights and mutual noninterference in each others' affairs."

On this foundation, he added, firm, friendly relations and mutually profitable trade and other economic dealings could be established.

The Soviet government announced last weekend that Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and other top Kremlin officials would confer with Tito in Belgrade late this month. No specific date has been set.

Denying Western contentions that the Soviet Union wants to conquer all Europe, Khrushchev pointed to last Sunday's signing of the Austrian State Treaty, which provides for withdrawal of occupation troops from that country.

"Is there any stronger proof necessary to show that the Soviet Union does not want to seize Europe or carry on any sort of war?" he asked. "Who would evacuate troops if he had a desire to attack?"

He described recent Soviet world disarmament proposals as "a large investment in the cause of peace."

1939 Bulgarian 'Visitor' to Use Round Trip Stub

TULSA, Okla. (U)—Vasil Petroff Svilansky, who came to the United States from Bulgaria in 1939 with a round-trip ticket, will leave Saturday on the long-delayed return journey—unless fate intervenes for the fifth time.

The outbreak of World War II first prevented his return. Then four additional times arrangements were made for the trip back to Communist-dominated Bulgaria. Each time weather or sickness forced cancellation.

Svilansky, 72, says he wants to spend his remaining years with his two sons and daughter in Sofia, Bulgaria.

LIVING TOGETHER, LIKING IT—The Birnbaums and the Battersmans of Cleveland, O., have proved that two related couples can live in the same house for 37 years—and be happy. "It can be done—if you give and take." That's the formula that's kept them together for so long. They divide all the household chores, eat the same meals and get along fine. "If any disagreement comes up we immediately sit down and talk it over. After you talk about a thing it always seems to take care of itself." Above, from left, are Mrs. Louise Batterman, Christian Birnbaum, Mrs. Wilhelmina Birnbaum and Frederick Batterman, who is Mrs. Birnbaum's brother. They're admiring bread baked by Mrs. Birnbaum, who does all the baking.

Claim Envelopes Hold Race Tickets

CHICAGO (U)—Ten thousand envelopes mailed in the British West Indies to Chicago residents have been intercepted by post office inspectors because, they said, they contain tickets for the Jamaica Sweepstakes.

Inspector Jerome Williamson said yesterday addressees have been notified to appear at the post office and open the envelopes in the presence of inspectors. Any tickets for the sweepstakes, he said, will be confiscated because they were mailed into the United States in violation of federal lottery laws. He said envelopes containing legitimate mail will be turned over to the addressee.

Cats Climb Too Much

DETROIT (U)—Michigan Humane Society's report for 1954 shows it had more cases involving cats than any other animal. Dogs were next. Clifton Johnson, executive director, said one reason dogs don't get in as many jams as cats is that they can't climb trees.

'Affection Thief' Freed by Judge

Woman Held 44 Days at Rival's Request Finally Out

CHICAGO (U)—Mrs. Alma Ferguson, 52, who was kept in jail 44 days by her husband's former wife for failure to pay a $25,000 alienation of affections judgment, was freed yesterday.

Circuit Judge John E. Pavlik ordered Mrs. Ferguson released from Cook County Jail after her former attorney testified that she did not know that the alienation trial was in progress last year.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Theresa M. Pritchard, 42, who charged that Mrs. Ferguson maliciously stole the affections of her former husband Roy Ferguson, 49, a distributor for a bread company.

The Circuit Court jury returned a default verdict. It contained a malice count, permitting jailing of Mrs. Ferguson up to six months provided Mrs. Pritchard paid her board bill. Mrs. Pritchard has paid the country $3.50 a week for Mrs. Ferguson's keep since April 6.

Mrs. Ferguson's former attorney testified he was too ill to represent her at the trial. Her present counsel Sol. R. Friedman described Mrs. Pritchard as a "Shylock," and said, "All she wanted was her pound of flesh." He asked the court to set aside the verdict and Judge Pavlik set June 16 for further arguments.

Neither woman testified at yesterday's court session.

Range on the Home

DENVER (U)—Mrs. Elizabeth Riggs quietly told her husband Joseph that a herd of cattle had ambled across their lawn during a heavy rainstorm yesterday. Unbelieving, Riggs checked, and sure enough, there went the cattle—all 23 of them. Police and stockyard workers quickly rounded up the animals, which had wandered away from an Adams County pasture and into a residential area.

Heads Rolling on Ads in Arabian Papers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—Heads are rolling in Saudi Arabia. The heads belong to pictures in newspaper advertisements.

The Saudi government has banned publication of pictures in the country's one daily and handful of weekly newspapers. Editors manage to conform by looping off the heads of any human beings shown in ads. Even an American tire ad, showing a man with a body made of tires, was decapitated.

The ban is based on the traditional Moslem prohibition of images of any kind. The prohibition has been relaxed in most Moslem countries, but there has been a resurgence of puritanism in Saudi Arabia recently.

Jaywalking Gets Nod

CHADRON, Neb. (U)—City Manager Kenneth Kyle has called off a weeklong campaign against jaywalking. He said businessmen protested that customers complained when asked to stick to the intersection. So, said Kyle, "not a thing will be done in Chadron about jaywalking."

Wind Sets Off Alarm

DALLAS, Tex. (U)—Sheriff Bill Decker, a group of 10 armed deputies and a crew of private guards rushed through a rain here last night to face burglars reported at the Industrial National Bank. A gust of wind, Decker said, had rattled a boiler room door to set off an electric burglar alarm.

Set to Hand Down Segregation Ruling

WASHINGTON (INS) — Chief Justice Earl Warren has indicated the Supreme Court long-awaited decision on ending public school segregation will be handed down next Monday or on May 31.

Warren said that before the court adjourns for the summer following its next two sessions, he expects it to issue rulings on all cases in which arguments have been completed.

There has been some speculation that it might be next fall before the high tribunal comes to any conclusion on the touchy, complicated question of how its year-old segregation ban should be carried out.

ORDINANCE NO. 1272
CREATING PONTIAC HISTORICAL COMMISSION
Adopted May 17, 1955
Effective May 17, 1955

An Ordinance to create a Pontiac Historical Commission; to provide for the appointment of members of such commission; to fix their terms of office, prescribe their powers and duties and to repeal all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith.

The City of Pontiac Ordains:
Section 1.
There is hereby created a commission to be known as the Pontiac Historical Commission. Said commission shall consist of five members with the addition of the mayor, ex-officio; said five members shall be appointed by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac. No member of said commission shall receive any compensation for his services.

Section 2.
The City Commission of the City of Pontiac shall appoint the members of said commission for the following terms: One for 1 year, one for 2 years, one for 3 years, one for 4 years and one for 5 years and thereafter one member annually for a term of five years until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified.

Section 3.
As soon as practicable after this ordinance shall take effect the said Historical Commission shall meet in the City Hall of the City of Pontiac and shall organize by electing one of its members as president and one as vice president, and shall appoint a secretary and shall arrange a time and place of holding regular meetings of the commission, and for such special meetings as may be necessary. The said commission is authorized to accept gifts and bequests for the furtherance of its authorized purposes in the name of the City of Pontiac under the control of the Pontiac Historical Commission.

Section 4.
It shall be the duty of said commission to collect, arrange and preserve historical material, including books, pamphlets, manuscripts, papers, copies of domestic and foreign records and archives, paintings, statuary and other objects of historical interest and value relating to the history of the City of Pontiac; to procure and preserve narratives of the early pioneers, their exploits, perils, privations and achievement. The commission shall cooperate with and assist other Michigan historical societies of the state and country with a view to gathering historical matters pertaining to the City of Pontiac and its early pioneers.

Section 5.
The City Commission of the City of Pontiac may appropriate reasonable sums for the expenses of the Pontiac Historical Commission in connection with the work of said commission.

Section 6.
The City of Pontiac Historical Commission is hereby designated as the official agency of the City of Pontiac to receive and safely keep all the old historical records pertaining to the City of Pontiac and the early pioneers of the city.

Section 7.
All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict are hereby repealed.

Section 8.
This ordinance shall take effect ten (10) days from and after the date of its final passage by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac.

Made and passed by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac, this 17th day of May A.D. 1955.

ORDINANCE NO. 1273
Amending Taxicab Ordinance No. 1065, Requiring Badge to be worn on a visor type cap, allowing advertising and rate schedule.

Adopted May 17, 1955
Effective May 17, 1955

An Ordinance to amend Sections 11, 22 and 23 of Ordinance No. 1065 being an Ordinance to License and Regulate Taxicab Owners and Drivers in the City of Pontiac as adopted September 16, 1947.

The City of Pontiac Ordains:
Section 1.
That Section 11 of Ordinance No. 1065 be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

There shall be delivered to said licensed driver of a taxicab a metal badge of such form and style as the Police Department may prescribe which driver's license number thereon, which must, under penalty of revocation of the license be constantly and conspicuously displayed as herein provided. All taxi drivers, while engaged in their employment, shall wear a visor type cap on the front of which shall be attached the above described metal badge.

Section 2.
That Section 22 of Ordinance No. 1065 be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Commercial advertising signs may be placed on the rear of taxicabs provided such advertising material is approved by the Chief of Police and the manner of displaying the same is likewise approved by the Chief of Police and no such advertising material shall be placed on any taxicab with a view to obstruct the view of the driver or be a hazard to motor vehicle traffic.

Section 3.
That Section 23 of Ordinance No. 1065 be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

No person, firm or corporation, owning, operating or controlling any motor vehicle used as a taxicab within the limits of the City of Pontiac, shall charge any rate of fare except in accordance with the following schedule of rates, based on a meter reading:

(1). 35 cents for the first 1/5 mile or any fraction thereof 5 cents.
(2). For each additional 1/5 mile or any fraction thereof 5 cents.
(3). For each 3 minutes of waiting time 10 cents shall be charged. When any taxicab is in use transporting a passenger the meter shall be down, and shall be thrown up when the passenger is delivered to his destination. In no case shall the driver accept any payment from a passenger without first throwing up the flag on the meter. No fare in excess of nor less than the rate of fares as set forth in this section shall be charged by any cab driver. All taxicabs shall give to the passenger an exclusive right to the use and occupancy of such motor vehicle. The taximeter shall be used at all times and a printed schedule of this section of the ordinance shall be placed in each taxicab so as to be plainly visible to passengers. Drivers shall not be made for any package, bag, suitcase, or ordinary traveling baggage.

This ordinance shall take effect ten (10) days from and after the date of its final passage by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac.

Made and passed by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac, this 17th day of May A.D. 1955.

Face Reduction in Arms Buying

Japan's Manufacturers See Sharp Cutback in U.S. Orders

TOKYO (UP)—Arms manufacturers are searching for ways to keep their machines humming in the face of an almost certain sharp, if not drastic, reduction in U.S. Army buying in Japan.

In Asia, they see little possibility for sales. They discount Formosa because the coastal war there "appears unlikely to assume greater proportions at the present moment."

Looking backward to the Korean War days, they see that American Army orders totaled $75,000,000 between May 1953 and June 1954, and $65,000,000 from July 1953 to June 1954.

From July 1954 to June 1955, some industrialists say that the orders will be only $40,000,000, while the more optimistic peg them at $60,000,000.

But few believe that the U.S. Army will continue to buy arms in Japan at anything like the previous amounts.

They think it will have to consider what is best for it, and that its actions will be governed by political and economic considerations in Washington.

The arms manufacturers hope to convert to civilian production or begin to make weapons for Japan's small defense force.

The rapid change in the political picture following the rise of Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama and the post-election disorganization and lack of a clear policy on military defense makes difficult planning or even guessing on this market prospect. The manufacturers must wait this period out.

Meanwhile, a few are placing high hopes on selling war weapons to Southeast Asia.

They are particularly encouraged by the SEATO conference in Bangkok which gave the defense organization a more positive form.

But nothing at the moment is definite. The arms special procurement industry remains uneasy about its future.

Adm. Leahy Gives Diaries to Library

WASHINGTON (UP)—Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy has presented the Library of Congress with 15 diaries covering 55 years of his fabulous career.

The diaries of the former chief of staff, to be restricted in use until 25 years after his death, cover the period between 1897 and 1952. They were presented by Leahy himself to L. Quincy Mumford, librarian of Congress.

Included in the 15 volumes, besides personal notes made by Leahy, are original letters, photographs, autographs and signed documents.

The papers, all of them unofficial, trace Leahy's career from his graduation from the Naval Academy in 1897 through the turbulent years of World War II when he served as chief of staff to President Roosevelt.

Error Comedy Mars Jaycees' Big Occasion

The effort of Junior Chamber of Commerce leaders to give Buckner the red carpet treatment turned into a comedy of embarrassing errors.

Thomas O'Brien and William Wolfe were to meet Buckner's plane at 11:30 p. m. At 10:15 they telephoned the airport to see if it was on time. The plane had already arrived.

They were still apologizing to Buckner on the drive back to town when a tire went flat.

When Buckner finally reached his hotel, he indicated he was going straight to bed.

Then they discovered the reservation had been made for the wrong night and the hotel was filled. A room for Buckner was found in another hotel.

The next day, when Buckner started to read his speech at a Jaycees board meeting, he was interrupted by a loud crash.

Multi-Colored Auto Draws Many Stares

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—Joseph W. Goodwin, Jr., drives an eight-year-old car. But it draws more attention than any of the sleek 1954 models.

Motorists and pedestrians alike look—and then look again when his sedan passes by. Every inch of the car's exterior, except the window glass and headlights, is covered with a mottled-effect paint job of red, green, yellow, rust, black, orange, gray, maroon, silver, gold and blue.

Maybe Goodwin's job has something to do with this riotous color scheme. He sees black all day—paving black-top driveways.

Dr. Peale Strikes 'Vein of Gold' in Religion

By PHYLIS BATTLE

(This is the second of three articles by Miss Battle about Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.)

NEW YORK (INS)—When Dr. Norman Vincent Peale discovered that he could cure his own inferiority complexes through positive thinking about religion, he called his discovery a "vein of gold."

The "vein" has since become a veritable 18-carat quarry, though Peale says the profits have been far more spiritual than financial.

His book "The Power of Positive Thinking" topped non-fiction best-seller lists for 123 weeks before slipping recently into second place.

In 1948, his "Guide to Confident Living" sold 350,000 copies and is still in popular demand.

Peale's down-to-earth approach to religion (he calls it "spiritual therapy") also sells well in RCA Victor phonograph records, and he owns his own publishing company near the family farm in Pawling, N.Y., where 150 employees put out the magazine "Guideposts" for 800,000 subscribers.

He also has two radio shows, one TV program, conducts a "Foundation for Religion and Psychiatry" clinic at his Marble Collegiate Church, writes a weekly newspaper and a magazine column.

NEVER LETS DOWN

Dr. Peale—robust, energetic and compact—travels about half of each week, giving speeches. As important as a neatly pressed suit of clothes to him are the two dozen sharp pencils and sheaf of paper he carries with him at all times. His heavy work schedule never lets down.

At each hotel he checks into, he transfers penciled notations onto a tape recorder and rushes these "memo tapes" back to one of his staff of secretaries who transcribes them into sermons, columns, letters or book chapters.

In New York, Peale keeps a Fifth Avenue apartment. He has two working studies, one a retreat at his church on lower Fifth Avenue, the other a two-room "hideaway" a half-block from his uptown residence. In the latter are one secretary, seven outside telephone lines and one direct wire to the apartment.

"Yes, it is quite busy here," said Miss Mary Van Buren, Peale's dry-humored uptown secretary, "because of the constant deadlines. There is sometimes a slight temptation to think a bit negatively."

ALWAYS KEEPS CALM

Peale, however, never tires nor flusters. "My wife," he explains, "says that when things get hectic,

I can retire within myself and calm myself down. That took a lot of training..."

His training in calmness through religion began in Bowersville, Ohio, where he was born the son of a Methodist minister (or "P.K.," as he put it and resented it, for "preacher's kid.") But his father's teachings were not always altogether successful, because young Norman yearned only to be "fat and tough."

In Ohio Wesleyan University, a Methodist denominational school, he scarcely ever attended church except when the family came to visit. This, he concedes, is a common independent phase that ministers' sons almost invariably go through.

Instead, Dr. Peale trained vigorously for the job he obtained easily upon his graduation in 1920—a reporter's beat on the Detroit Journal. It took him less than a year to change his mind and decide to turn to his pop's business, the ministry.

He went in to break the news to his boss, Grove Patterson, now president of the Toledo Blade.

JOB ALWAYS OPEN

"Well, if you don't like it, or if you're not successful, Norman," Dr. Peale recalls Patterson's saying, "you can come back here and your old job will always be open to you."

Recently, Patterson attended Peale's church on Fifth Avenue, stood in line with the other hundreds who weekly queue the block to hear Peale speak, and sat through his first taste of Norman's sermonizing. After the service he walked up to the preacher, looking down.

"Well, Norman," he said, "your old job's still waiting."

Peale's booming laugh resounded through the chapels of Marble Collegiate. And then, once again, he thanked Patterson for teaching him the fundamentals of good journalism—crisp, pure sentences and dramatic, simple language—all of which he carried over into the ministry.

"I would recommend," Peale says today, "that every young minister be a reporter first. It would cut an awful lot of ministerial wordiness."

(Tomorrow: Dr. Peale's career from Theological school to the present.)

South Haven Youth Hopes to Make Career as Diver

SOUTH HAVEN (U)—Jim Bradley hopes to make a career of exploring the silent, sometimes mysterious, world underwater.

The 17-year-old amateur diver already has made more than 1,000 trips below the surface of Michigan waters. He says breathing air forced through a rubber hose has become second nature to him.

Besides, he adds, diving is safer and lots more fun than riding in the family car.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley, are inclined to respect Jim's judgment and opinion. STARTED AT 11

He first became interested in diving when he was only 11 and since has approached the hobby seriously and sensibly, they say. Jim learns by observation, when possible, and reads everything available on the subject.

Jim uses professional equipment, some of which he purchased and some of which is home-built. Whatever he builds, however, Jim says he patterns it after commercial or Navy models.

He made his deep-dive helmet in the South Haven High School's metal shop. The suit he uses with the helmet is Navy surplus—a canvas outfit with attached hood and feet.

The helmet—copper with plexiglass windows—is worn free of the suit. Air pumped into the headpiece stays in much like the air remains in a glass lowered into water upside down.

SAFETY VEST

Jim's safety feature for deep dives is a "Mae West" vest. It contains two carbon dioxide cartridges which can be used to inflate the vest instantly and float the wearer to the surface.

A motor-powered pump sends a down to the youthful diver at operations in depth up to 150 or 170 feet.

Jim has two frogman outfits for warm water diving. Both are used with foot fins. One includes a lightweight mask to which air must be pumped constantly. The other has a "self contained" air supply.

A diving plane, towed behind a slow-moving motorboat, is a great help in searching for objects on lake or river bottoms, Jim says.

The plane is merely an oval board about two feet in diameter, slightly wider at the leading edge. To dive with it, when being towed behind the boat, Jim merely pushes down on the front of the board and it quickly descends to its maximum tow rope depth of 30 feet.

DAD BUILT BOAT

Jim's boat, similar to a Navy

rescue craft, was built by his father.

The youth also has built a barge for river work. The barge, which carries extra equipment and pumps, is equipped with a metal ladder for easy descent.

Jim says he prefers this method of going below much better than the quick plunge which he uses from harbor piers.

17 Oakland Area Men Finish Recruit Course

Seventeen men from Pontiac and surrounding areas have successfully completed a 12-week course for recruits conducted by Company M, 125th Infantry, National Guard.

Joining the regular ranks of the local heavy weapons unit are, Pvt. Deryl S. Beck, Gordon D. Brockman, Frank G. Conkley, George E. Davis Jr., William D. Ellis, Robert J. Walter and Steven Georgeoff, all of Pontiac.

From out-county areas are: Pvt. Harry Armstrong, Lake Orion; Lawrence I. Bannerman and Melvin E. Prince, Milford; Roger L. Frenshway, Robert D. Shoenaker, Larry D. Spencer and Kenneth E. Witherspoon, Oxford; Alvin F. Keeley, Auburn Heights; Gerald E. Thompson, Keego Harbor; and Floyd J. Fournier, Rochester.

The course, conducted once a week by Lt. Elmo Jones, S. F. C. Charles Austin and Cpl. John Zusta Jr., is designed to acquaint recruits with basic requirements of soldiers.

Until 1895 locomotive boiler pressures were limited to about 160 pounds, but much higher pressures have been developed since that time.

Argentina Near Vote on Church

House Ending Debate on Proposal Curbing Catholic Power

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (U)—Debate was expected to wind up in the Argentine Congress' lower house tonight on the government-backed proposal to end Roman Catholicism's favored position as the state church.

The Catholic faithful, meanwhile were summoned to masses tonight in the Buenos Aires Cathedral and 70 of the capital's churches.

Ostensibly the multiple services were to commemorate the Feast of the Ascension and pray for the success of the 26th International Eucharistic Congress opening July 19 in Rio de Janeiro. But the unusual number of masses made apparent they were scheduled to demonstrate support for the church in its hot controversy with President Juan Peron.

Another Latin-American controversy between church and state loomed in Guatemala. There President Carlos Castillo Armas told newsmen last night he personally opposed demands by Roman Catholic Archbishop Mariano Rosell that the new constitution now being drafted give his church pre-eminence and provide for religious education in the public schools.

The bill to write the church out of the Argentine constitution aroused only one opposing speaker in the opening round yesterday of the Argentine congressional debate. Boos and catcalls drowned out most of his speech.

With the Peronista party controlling 149 of the lower chamber's 166 seats and all 34 of the Senate seats, approval of the measure in both houses is certain.

The bill calls for a special election, probably in November, to take out of the constitution the provision establishing Catholicism as the state church. It is an outgrowth of Peron's charges last November that some clergymen were trying to undermine his regime.

Ninety per cent of the Argentines are Catholics and the constitution requires that the President be a member of the church.

PUSAN, Korea (U)—A U. S. Army gasoline pipeline blew up with a roar today and four Koreans were killed. Seven houses burned before the fire was checked by Korean and army fire fighters.

Violation-Prone Motorists Need School, Not Jail

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Traffic engineering specialists believe that habitual traffic violators should be sent to school rather than to jail. A recent study of 300 persons who averaged six violations each in a single year showed they were just as intelligent, just as normal and had the same amount of respect for law as good drivers.

But the one big difference, according to Dr. Harry Case of the University of California here, was that the bad drivers were victims of bad driving habits.

Case, who is on the staff of the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at UCLA, said that of the 300 habitual violators studied, 90 per cent of them were men, mostly skilled or semi-skilled workers or white collar workers.

The institute's study showed that intelligence and personality evaluations were normal and that "in general, their respect for the law is apparently about the same as that of the average driver," Case said.

And yet, Case said, "the group had an average of six violations each during 12 months." He added that "of these, 76 per cent were moving violations such as running a red traffic light or speeding."

Case said the study indicated that "proper training instead of punishment" would do more to eliminate bad habits.

Let's Go Sightseeing

As you steam past an Hawaiian island you may see through your porthole window a boy fishing from his outrigger canoe. But there are many fine sights on the island.

If you go sightseeing, by boat, car or bus, you see flowers and trees, people in colorful clothes, workers on the plantations. At Monaulua Gardens there is a collection of tropical plants and at Kapiolani Park are tennis courts, a polo field, a zoo and an aquarium.

Then there are the volcanoes, such as Mauna Kea, more than 13,000 feet high, and Mauna Loa, and the modern city of Honolulu.

The Hawaiian people are gay and friendly. They are of many racial origins—Japanese, Korean, Hawaiian-American, Chinese and the original natives—and they all live together peacefully. You might attend one of their feasts, called a luau, and eat poi, the Hawaiian form of bread.

There is a large public school system and a university. English is the official language, but many of the natives also speak a language similar to Polynesian.

This is the fourth of your Hawaiian scenes. Color this drawing for a scrapbook of your cruise to Hawaii.

Tomorrow: Riding on the waves.

FOR CHARITY — Actress Gloria Swanson appears at a New York City fund-raising meeting for the Hemophilia Foundation with writers Richard Stapley, left, and Richard Hughes. The writers have adapted Miss Swanson's hit movie, "Sunset Boulevard," into a musical for her. At the meeting the three of them did some scenes from the show, which is expected to open on Broadway next winter.

Veteran vs. Youngster

George, Talmadge Girding for Battle in Georgia Race

WASHINGTON (UP) — Walter F. George of Georgia, who came to the Senate when the League of Nations and prohibition were big issues, has drawn his toughest opposition in next year's election—and that's bad news for the Eisenhower administration.

It was 33 years ago that George began a span of service which finds him now the senior senator, loaded with honors and burdened with great political power.

He battled the Roosevelt and Truman administrations on many a domestic issue. FDR campaigned Georgia in 1938 to beat George in the Democratic primary, but failed. But the senator gets along fine with the Eisenhower administration on most things.

Down home in Georgia, a 41-year-old political fireball is ablaze with zeal to relieve the senior senator from his chores. And young Herman Eugene Talmadge may do it, too, if the contest actually takes place next year.

ONE MAY QUIT

The hushed word around Washington, however, is that the top political elements which would be involved in a George-Talmadge contest may have little stomach for it—that the withdrawal of one man or the other from the race might come about.

Walter George is 76 years old.

Talmadge is the son of old Gene who used to raise the red Georgia dust with his mighty political bellows. And the son has the old man's talents, refined somewhat, plus a few of his own.

Herman was nine years old when George came in 1922 to a Senate distinguished by such as Borah, Hiram W. Johnson, the elder La Follette, the elder Lodge.

HONORED BY SENATE

Of the senators who were in that 67th Congress, George alone has remained continuously in the Senate since then. In the current 84th Congress, George's colleagues accorded him the highest honor within their power by choosing him to be their president pro tempore.

George is considerably more valuable to President Eisenhower than some more likely, most—Republican members of the Senate. He's a conservative Southerner.

It was George who licked Speaker Sam Rayburn's $20-per-head income tax cut when it finally reached the Senate, a reverse which considerably shook the Democratic left wing.

MOST INFLUENTIAL

He is a former Finance Committee chairman and presides now over the committee on foreign relations where his influence in and out of the administration and in both major parties is vastly effective. George of Georgia is judged by many persons as far and away the most influential member of the Senate.

Talmadge, like his father, has been governor of his state. The young man was a good one, too. Like his dad he plows a deep and wide furrow in the back country communities which are more powerful in Georgia than in any other state.

Georgians elect their statewide officials by county units. A candidate may poll 10,000 or more votes above his opponent and yet lose a Georgia election.

Down With Elevators!

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Reporter Terence Curran, tired of climbing stairs on his City Hall beat, started campaigning back in 1940 for elevators in the structure. In 1954 they were installed. The elevator recently stalled for 15 minutes between floors. The lone occupant: Terence Curran. Now he's launched a one-man drive for escalators.

The electrolytic process of making aluminum was discovered in 1886.

Comics Not So Funny

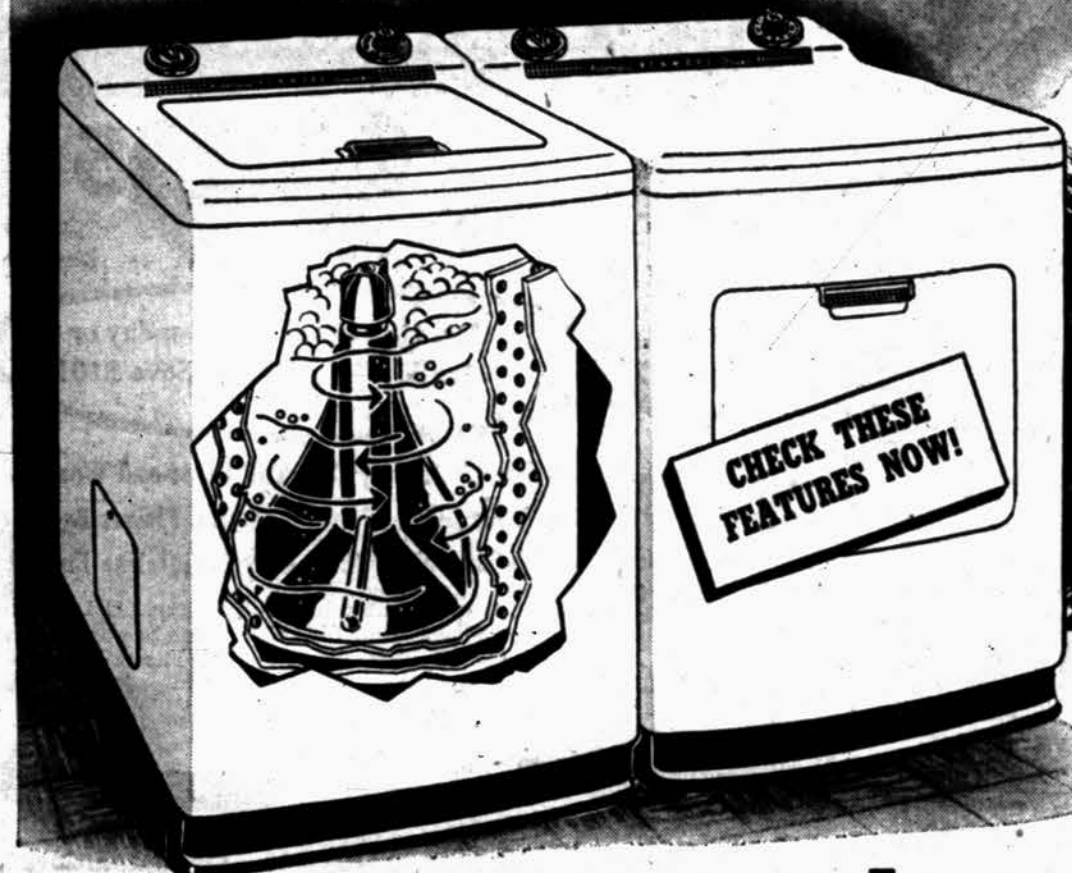

PORTLAND, Me. (UP)—High school sophomore Peter Panagakos, 16, caused consternation in his home when a comic book he was reading in bed fell to the floor. His head became wedged in the bars at the top of the bed when he leaned over to retrieve it. His parents and four brothers pushed and pulled him for half an hour to no avail. Brother Nick then extricated him by getting a hacksaw and sawing through one of the bars.

U.S. Jury Clears Ex-Dem Counsel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Welburn Mayock, former general counsel of the Democratic National Committee, has been cleared by a federal grand jury in connection with a complaint alleging evasion of income taxes.

U.S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters said the complaint, issued last April 4, would be dismissed.

Mayock, a Washington and Los Angeles attorney, signed a waiver of immunity and appeared voluntarily before the grand jury to deny that he evaded $25,716 in taxes due on income of himself and his wife for 1948.

Mayock told newsmen the government was "persecuting" him and said the case stemmed from a payment of $65,000 before the 1952 presidential campaign by New York financier William S. Lasdon. He said $30,000 of this sum went to the Democratic national campaign fund and he and two other men divided the remainder as fees for some income tax work they did for Lasdon. He said he listed the $17,000 he received in this deal in his tax return.

Graham Begins Drawing Bigger London Crowds

LONDON (AP)—Billy Graham drew 65,000 Britons to 100,000-seat Wembley Stadium last night for the fourth session of his one-week London crusade. It was the largest crowd so far in the American evangelist's second visit.

It also was the first rainless night of the current revival, but a cold north wind kept the huge audience shivering. Graham slapped his hands and stamped his feet to keep warm.

"Now that the sun has come out, we must work to make this mission the most important religious revival ever known in London," he said.

At the end of his sermon 3,226 persons streamed down to make "decisions for Christ." They brought the total for the first four London meetings to 12,030.

Passengers Graded

FORT WORTH (AP)—On a night flight from El Paso here, a passenger told the pretty blonde hostess that he didn't want any dinner.

"OK," she told him, "but you're missing breaded veal cutlets and you'll get a lower grade."

"What do you mean by a lower grade?" "Oh, we grade all you passengers," she informed him.

Geologists Test Desolate Desert for U.S. Army

MAJAVE DESERT, Calif. (UP)

A team of geologists has worked on top of blistering mountains and on the sweltering floor of this desolate southern California desert to gather new information in case American troops ever have to fight another desert war.

Headed by Dr. John F. Gaines and Dr. Richard F. Logan of the University of California in Los Angeles, the scientists experimented with living conditions in the primitive Providence Mountains for the Army's Quartermaster Corps.

The team set up 14 weather stations at various elevations and made field trips to learn everything possible about the climate, vegetation and topography of a typical desert mountain range.

They reported the psychological and physical strain of withstanding winds up to 60 miles an hour wore nerves raw and stretched tempers thin.

Some surprises received by the researchers included the discovery that desert mountain summits are warmer on winter nights than the desert floor.

Summertime humidity is considerably higher than in winter.

A NATURAL—An invitation to natural cowhide to the Soo Locks Centennial in northern Michigan this summer is presented to President Eisenhower at the White House. Looking on as the President examines the invitation are Robert Morse of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Helen Dean of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., members of the Soo Locks Centennial commission.

Beef and Lamb to Offer Weekend's Best Values

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef and lamb will offer the most for your money in the nation's food stores this weekend.

It's on cuts of these two meats that most of the weekend price-trimming is planned. Favorite features will be chuck roast and round roast.

However, one large chain plans to cut prices on sirloin steaks by from two to six cents a pound and on prime ribs by around two to four cents.

Legs of lamb will be a popular special, too, and a number of stores will have lamb shoulder roast at reduced prices. There also will be reductions on lamb chops in some areas.

PORK CHOPS HIGHER

Very few markets will be featuring pork. Prices on pork chops will be up nearly everywhere, with increases ranging from two cents a pound to around six cents.

Frying chickens will be higher by from two to four cents a pound. However, in view of the recent drop in the cost of the birds, they continue to be rated as an attractive buy for housewives with an eye on their budgets.

Auriol Urges Big 4 to Confer in Frisco

NEW YORK (AP)—Vincent Auriol, former president of France, urges that a top-level meeting of the Big Four be held next month at San Francisco—where the United Nations was born 10 years ago. Speaking last night at a dinner in his honor, Auriol said the birthplace of the U.N. would be an appropriate site for a meeting of the heads of the United States, Britain, Russia and France.

Marshall Joins Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall has accepted membership on the council of the Atlantic Union, which seeks to promote closer ties among non-Communist nations. Clarence Streit, prime mover in the organization formed in 1949, announced Marshall's acceptance yesterday.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has broilers and fryers at the top of its list of plentiful foods for this month. It comments that "now's the time to indulge the family appetite for wonderful chicken dinners. Take turns serving chicken fried, broiled, baked and barbecued."

Egg prices won't show much change this weekend, but the word is that you may expect higher prices soon.

The approaching hot weather means hens will lay fewer eggs. And by next fall, there'll be a drop in egg supplies because farmers are cutting back on their flocks.

MORE BUTTER SOLD

The government reports that housewives bought 14 per cent more butter and 8 per cent more margarine in March than in the same month a year earlier. Butter prices this weekend will be about the same as a week ago.

There has been some price cutting on frozen fish sticks, mainly because production in the first quarter was up 80 per cent over the year-yearlier period.

Lettuce has returned to the list of good buys. Produce specialists say Big Boston, Iceberg and Romaine are attractively priced. Old potatoes from Maine and Idaho offer good value, but new potatoes are considered pretty high. Sweet corn is plentiful and the quality is good.

Other good buys mentioned include peppers, radishes, spinach, beets, escarole, endive and summer squash. In the case of squash, quality is irregular.

Prices will be higher on snap beans, carrots, celery, tomatoes, cucumbers and cabbage, according to the produce men.

CITRUS PAST PEAK

Florida's citrus production has passed its peak, but prices are reasonable and quality good, men in the wholesale markets say. California oranges also are good buys and the price of lemons is lower.

More strawberries are reaching the markets, but prices are rather high.

U.S. Envoys Called Upon to Face Death and Danger

WASHINGTON (NEA) — On a bleak September day in 1949, Vice Council Douglas MacKiernan shut and locked the door of the American Consulate at Tihwa, China. Communist forces were moving in on this small city in the north-west part of the county and as the only remaining U. S. official he knew it was time to get out.

His destination was India, his objective to make it there before the Reds caught up with him. For six months he fought vicious winter storms and the Himalaya Mountains.

But on the border of Tibet, as he neared safety, an accidental bullet stopped his trek.

The names of Douglas MacKiernan and five other members of the U. S. Foreign Service who lost their lives under tragic and heroic circumstances have been added to a plaque in the marbled lobby of the State Department Building.

This honor roll now lists 71 persons. The first is William Palfrey, who was lost at sea in 1780 on the way to his post in France.

But what of the newest names which stand out in fresh gold lettering? Perhaps a review of what brought death to these men will clear American diplomats of any suspicion that their job is one for cookie-pushers.

On the morning of Oct. 9, 1937, J. Theodore Marriner pulled up to the curb in front of the American Consulate in Beirut, Lebanon. The 49-year-old consul general never had a chance.

Seconds after the vehicle stopped, six bullets exploded from the gun of a crazed murderer.

Mortally wounded, Marriner dragged himself to the sidewalk. The assassin reloaded and fired another six shots. He then tore the American flag off the car, ran up the street and jumped in a taxi. Marriner was dead.

After a brief chase, the murderer, an Armenian-American named Megotovich Parien, was caught and executed.

At his trial he claimed an official at the U. S. Consulate had torn up his passport and insulted his family. This was not true, but it led him to kill Marriner—whom he had never seen except down the barrel of his gun.

Thirteen years later, in Jerusalem, another foreign service officer lost his life. An intense sort of man, Thomas C. Wasson let nothing stand in his way when he had a job to do.

During the efforts to put an end to the Arab-Israeli War in 1948, he volunteered to act as a neutral intermediary.

"Tom fully realized the dangers of this," explained one of his colleagues at the State Department, "but his determination to help bring about a cease-fire in Jerusalem came first."

Around noon on May 23, Wasson set out on foot for the French Consulate General to attend a meeting of the truce commission. As he crossed an open street, a bullet from a sniper's rifle brought him down. He died at a hospital the next day.

Members of the American Consulate stationed in Guayaquil, Ecuador, in 1942 will always remember the now long-forgotten earthquake, which uprooted the city and took the lives of more than 100 persons.

The quake struck right after supper. Those at the consulate not injured immediately went out to see if all the Americans in the area were safe.

They found, to their shock, that the apartment building where Vice Consul John Slaughter lived had collapsed.

"It was a gruesome business," says W. C. Bardett, Jr., a State Department employee who was there at the time.

"We spent the whole night digging him and his wife out of the rubble. They were newly married and lots of fun. Just the night before we attended a square dance with them."

During the second year of the Korean War, the American Embassy was housed in several rickety buildings in the temporary capital of Pusan.

One day, late in November, some burning oil from a makeshift heater fell on the wooden floor. Before it could be stopped, a raging fire swept to other rooms.

About this time, Robert Lee, Mikels, an accounting clerk, rushed up the stairs through clouds of smoke to help his co-workers escape from the flaming building.

He located a third floor window and urged several persons to jump.

scorched body was found later in the ruins.

Natives know that the surf which rolls in on the beautiful beaches a few miles outside Tunis, Tunisia, kicks up a dangerous undertow. And late in August 1953, this current caught two children and started to carry them out into deep water.

Vice Council David LeBreton Jr. and the youngsters' father, Morris N. Hughes, who had just arrived as the new consul general of Tunis, noticed the kids were in difficulty.

LeBreton threw off his beach clothes and went in after them. He never came out. After giving the children enough help to reach shore safely, he suddenly lost consciousness and drowned.

After the tragedy, Hughes wrote back to Washington, "I feel very strongly about this heroic act of LeBreton's. He certainly sacrificed his life to save the lives of my

Hitler's Rudeness Led to Success in America

ZELIENOPLE, Pa. (P)—Nearly 30 years ago Karl Mussig was a horticultural student in Germany when Adolf Hitler came to his college to deliver an address. Mussig says he questioned some of Hitler's advice, was rudely told to "sit down and shut up" and promptly decided his future was in America.

In 1928 Mussig got a job as a chauffeur in Pittsburgh. A few years later he came here and opened a floral shop. Soon after he became a greenhouse operator. Now he has four greenhouses, a wife and three children. Last year he visited Germany but he said he has no desire to locate there permanently.

About 235,000 Americans will die of cancer during the current calendar year.

Shortages of Critical Materials Again Felt Across Nation

WASHINGTON (U) — Shortages again are plaguing prospering industry. Today — so soon after the big Korean buildup — government officials are pondering whether to push for a new expansion of basic industries.

Scarcities of aluminum, copper and nickel haven't vanished despite substantial diversions of the metals to industry instead of the national defense stockpile. Some steel products and even cement have joined the deficit list.

Earlier this year officials ascribed the heavy demand to such temporary factors as the spring spurt of auto production, fear of midyear strikes and price boosts, inventory rebuilding, and perhaps a little scare buying caused by international stresses.

But by now the order books at the mills are filling up with orders for the July-September quarter. Some officials are wondering whether the nation's industrial capacity is as well bulwarked, for war or peace, as they had supposed.

Mobilization Director Arthur S.

Fleming today told an interviewer it now seems doubtful whether autumn will bring a substantial easing of demand.

"We cannot go on diverting materials from the stockpile indefinitely," he said.

"Unless there is improvement in the fall, we will have to consider further expansion of capacity."

Fleming, who recently reopened the government's offer of federal tax benefits to electric power companies which undertake expansion, disclosed he has taken these further steps:

1. Ordered a "basic, comprehensive" study to determine whether to approve the abandoned "third round" of aluminum industry expansion.

2. Asked the Defense and Commerce departments to investigate whether any companies obtaining nickel under military priorities are diverting some of it to civilian items, thus tightening the shortage for other firms.

Meantime, Bethlehem and some other steel producers have announced informal "allocation" plans intended to assure each customer his historic share of their output. Mills began rationing nickel stainless steel early this year.

The cement shortage, reflecting record building activity, got worried attention from the National Assn. of Home Builders here this week. Some builders forecast tighter supplies if the big highway program now being considered by Congress is approved.

The cement problem developed even though Fleming's Office of Defense Mobilization boosted the official goal for cement plant expansion last year, over protests of much of the industry. That action means that a company which undertakes expansion may write off part of the cost in five years, in depreciation under the federal tax laws. The normal write off period is 20 to 25 years.

The aluminum "third round" was proposed by the Truman administration but abandoned two years ago. Two earlier expansions, during the Korean emergency, approximately doubled the nation's aluminum producing capacity.

The industry contends that today's shortage is no temporary affair but a reflection of the growing economy, increased use of the light metal, and development of new aluminum products.

Fleming said he has instructed Edwin Harris, ODM light metals director, to survey prospective demand and supply "to see whether we should take another look at a third round of expansion."

Meantime, 50 million pounds of aluminum, on order for the stockpile, have been diverted to industrial users in this quarter.

The nickel shortage has persisted since Korea, because of heavy use in jet planes and guided missiles. Recent consumption of nickel carrying the military priority has far exceeded the official estimate of military needs. This has aroused suspicion that some priority metal may be going into civilian goods.

Copper supplies have not recovered from strikes in this country, Chile and Rhodesia last year and this.

JC Road-E-O Slated Sunday

Application Blanks Now Available for Teenage Drivers' Contest

Application blanks for the annual Pontiac Jaycee Road-E-O are available to teenage drivers at various places today, according to Clyde R. Haskill, chairman of the event this year.

The forms may be picked up at Chamber of Commerce office in the Hotel Waldron, the Police Department, and all public and parochial high schools.

Eligible for the contest, scheduled Sunday at the Tel-Huron Shopping Center parking lot, are youths under 18 years of age who have not in the past received traffic violation tickets.

Highlighting this year's show at the Road-E-O, said Haskill, will be exhibitions by professional businessmen whose hobbies have led them to build custom hot-rod cars, some valued at $5,000.

Trophies will be awarded to the three top winners, who will then compete in a state and national Road-E-O contest.

Each year the Junior Chamber of Commerce awards scholarships up to $3,000 to state and national winners, said Haskill.

The contest Sunday will consist of various motoring obstacles in which teenagers will demonstrate driving skills. Fundamental techniques, parking, backing on white lines, driving between pins, turning, and "perspective" stopping will be included in the competition.

"We're not announcing some of the new obstacles," said Haskill. "This year's program, I'm sure, will prove more interesting to the young drivers than ever before. We have gone through a lengthy process to introduce more interesting obstacles in this year's contest."

The program is expected to draw about 150 participants this year, said Haskill.

Williams Raps Donation Critics

GOP Complaints About Union Contributions to Dems Called 'Claptrap'

LANSING (U) — Republican complaints to a congressional committee about union dues spending for Democratic candidates in Michigan were called "claptrap" by Gov. Williams.

The governor retorted at a press conference to statements made Tuesday by John Feikens, Michigan Republican state chairman, who testified before the committee in Washington, D. C.

Feikens charged that the CIO was exacting dues from union members regardless of their political beliefs to support only Democratic candidates.

In rebuttal, Williams quoted a newspaper article by Dale Stafford, publisher of the Greenville Daily News and defeated Republican candidate for state Board of Agriculture at the April 4 election.

QUOTES STAFFORD

Williams quoted Stafford as saying: "At least one large segment of industry" which used to contribute to the Republican Party "sat on its hands" in the April campaign because it was anxious to unseat Feikens.

"It is clear," Williams said, "that the Republican Party is the party of the fat cats. Here is a candidate who felt betrayed because the normal contributions from General Motors were lacking. This is quite the reverse of past procedures."

"In the past corporations saw to it that their candidates were well supplied. I know auto dealers, whose names I cannot mention for fear of retaliation, who were compelled to contribute to the Republican Party."

NEW FORD CORN PICKER — The new Ford two-row mounted corn picker is shown operating here in winter field conditions. Floating three-chain gathering mechanisms combined with quartz-impregnated snapping rolls operating in a near-vertical position make it possible to pick more corn with less shelled corn loss, officials claim. The picker, announced by the Tractor and Implement Division in Birmingham, is in production at Wood Bros., Inc., a Ford Motor Co. farm machinery manufacturing plant in Des Moines, Iowa.

Drayton Plains Secretary, 18, Is Chosen Queen of Pontiac Naval Reserves

Beverly Jean Doud, 18-year-old secretary from Drayton Plains, was chosen queen of Pontiac's Naval Reserve division last night. The pretty, brown-haired Waterford Township High School graduate was picked from a field of 10 finalists during judging at the Reserve Training Center here.

Runners-up were Frankie Russell, 17, a Waterford Township High School senior, and Marjorie Hill, 18, of Pontiac.

Beverly, who will reign over activities at the training center during Naval Reserve Week and will be featured in the Armed Forces Day parade Saturday, was selected over a field of 91 hopefuls who entered the contest.

Finalists were selected by members of the reserve unit who judged photographs sent in by contestants and friends.

Beverly said she doesn't know who entered her picture in the contest but stated: "I'm certainly happy someone did." Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Doud.

Judging the girls were J. H. Patrick Glynn, chairman of the local Naval Advisory Board; Larry Bova, of WCAR; Ralph T. Norvell, Chamber of Commerce president; and Lt. Cmdr. Max A. Evans, commander of the reserve unit.

Beverly was presented a 17-inch gold trophy and other prizes donated by local businessmen.

The trophy, which will have Beverly's name inscribed on it, was presented by Cmdr. Evans at ceremonies following the judging. The two attendants also received cups.

MAPLE SYRUP YIELD DROPS IN MICHIGAN

LANSING (U) — Michigan's 1955 maple syrup production today was estimated at 102,000 gallons, 20 per cent less than the 1954 crop.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said sugar production was estimated at 7,000 pounds, about the same as a year ago.

Sugar bush operators tapped 469,000 trees this year, 10,000 less than a year ago. The yield per tree was 1.75 pounds of sugar equivalent, .41 pounds less than last year.

Producers in Southern and Central Michigan had a good season but the run was short in the Upper Peninsula. An average syrup price of $5.30 a gallon was reported, the same as last year.

Packard Slated to Unveil New Sports Car Today

DETROIT (UP) — A long, sleek, multi-colored sports car capable of "jack-rabbit" starts will be unveiled today by the Packard division of the Studebaker-Packard Corp.

The 1955 version of the Packard Caribbean is the latest maneuver in Packard's battle to regain its former position in the luxury car field.

Special "salon" showings of the custom-built sports convertible will take place at selected showrooms across the country.

Armed Forces Buying Probed

Witnesses Claim Coat Was Given to Woman Contract Officer

WASHINGTON (U) — Investigating senators sought to unravel today conflicting testimony about cash payoffs and costly favors in connection with large-scale buying for the armed forces.

Witnesses told yesterday of alleged gifts of a coat to a woman government contract officer, a home freezer and fine lingerie to persons not yet named, and $30 bills to a $60-a-week government inspector who denied they were bribes.

Marvin Rubin, a professional seeker of government contracts for garment makers, was called back as a witness to tell the Senate investigations subcommittee more about his activities.

"I have never paid a payoff," he testified yesterday.

Rubin had orders from Subcommittee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) to ponder overnight his sworn denial that he was an "influence peddler," and his testimony that the $30 bills were loans to Navy inspector Julius Goldman.

Goldman said he took the money as advance payment on a job he said Rubin had offered him. He testified he accepted it—$30 at most every Friday for three or four months in 1952—while inspecting raincoats manufactured for the Navy by the Ansonia (Conn.) Garment Co., for which Rubin was a business finder.

Rubin himself told of having given a coat to the woman contract officer, Robert F. Kennedy, the subcommittee counsel, said the woman is Mrs. Mella Hort, a contract administrator for military procurement at a time when Rubin was representing both the Ansonia company and Bonita Originals, Inc., of New York City in negotiations with the government.

Rubin insisted it was an innocent gift.

"I bought a coat for Mrs. Hort as a Christmas gift," he testified. "I did it with her husband's knowledge."

Mrs. Hort was not immediately reached for comment.

Mrs. Ruth Evelove Picout, of Ellenville, N.Y., former bookkeeper for the Bonita, told of having drawn checks to pay for the gift of a home freezer to someone she did not know; $30 or $75 to pay for lingerie gifts by Rubin to others she didn't know; $75 for a payment by Rubin to a government inspector she named as Jerome Schlesinger, and $285 which McClellan said was to pay some government worker's doctor bill.

Schlesinger could not be reached for comment.

Asked about the freezer, Rubin testified the company did pay for one, but he added cryptically: "I was instrumental in receiving it as a gift—I never gave any."

Melvin Carlin, a former accountant for the Bonita firm, testified that company also had issued a check for $1,000 to cover spending by Rubin "for the benefit" of armed forces purchasing agents.

Goldman was asked whether he considered the money from Rubin a bribe.

"That thought never crossed my mind," he said.

He said he still does "confidential" work for the Navy at Trenton, N.J.

Goldman testified that after he had rejected a batch of the Ansonia company's raincoats as defective, Rubin offered him a job as manager of the plant, and thrust into his coat pocket an envelope containing $50.

He said he kept right on getting similar amounts, meanwhile advising Rubin on how to operate the plant better. He swore he considered the money as "advances."

Rubin had a different version. He said he loaned Goldman money, $50 at a time and amounting to about $200, and tried in vain to collect the debt.

Goldman said he didn't know how much money he got, but did not dispute an estimate by Sen. Mundt (R-MD) that it probably totaled around $300.

TV Made Godfrey 'Prisoner of Self'

By CHARLES P. ARNOT

NEW YORK (INS) — If Arthur Godfrey had it to do over again, you'd never see that freckled wide-screen grin on television. He'd stick to radio. No TV. "It's loused up my whole life," he said. "I can't go anywhere. I'm a prisoner of myself."

This is not the lament of a bitter man. Godfrey is just being painfully honest.

He views himself as one of the world's "luckiest guys." And he's grateful to his devoted millions. He loves 'em — every one.

It's just that the worshipping fans won't let him venture out in public to do the kind of job he likes most — the job he feels must be done.

For the first time, Godfrey let down the barriers and gave an intimate glimpse of part of the price he pays for nine years of television stardom.

TRAPPED BY VIDEO

"You get trapped by your own invention. You live with a Frankenstein. If I had it to do over, I would stick to radio and never allow a photo of myself to be published."

"I could do a better job if I remained anonymous. I could get the feel of the people again. I could go into the stores and get among the people as I used to do. Now that I'm on TV, all this is gone."

Godfrey says the crowds have become so vigorous in their devotion that he has to keep his hand in front of his face whenever he makes a stop while driving or riding in a cab. He has no desire for a public mailing — even a worshipful one.

Years ago, when he was on the radio in Washington, Godfrey said, he'd come to New York once in a while and go to some of the restaurants. That's how he casually met Sherman Billingsley, now his fast friend and owner of the plush Stork Club. In those days he was treated as an ordinary "Joe Blow" — and loved it.

"But not any more. I rarely go anywhere any more. I'd give anything to go into a restaurant and sit down and eat quietly."

RETREATS TO FARM

It's because of this constant mob-threat that Godfrey decided to develop his out-of-the-way Virginia farm into a permanent home and retreat.

"That's why I keep my family out of town — out of the press as much as possible. Otherwise children can't lead normal lives."

The Virginia Godfreys — not to be confused with the radio-TV Godfreys — include Arthur's blonde wife, Mary, their son, Mike, 15, and daughter, Pat, 13. He also has a son by a previous marriage, 25-year-old Richard, who is married and has a 2-year-old daughter, Diane.

For the color photo of his wife, the former Mary Bourke, Godfrey has reserved a special place of honor on the crowded glass top of his ordinary bird's-eye maple desk in his ordinary furniture-jammed office on the sixth floor of the CBS building (corner of Madison Avenue and 52nd Street).

"She's a honey," the redhead beams. "And beautiful."

The Godfrey gallery also prominently displays photos of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson; Gen. Curtis Lemay, head of the Air Force Strategic Air Command; and elder statesman Bernard Baruch.

They are "social friends," Godfrey makes a point never to consult them on his personal or business matters — even when he's in the headlines over one of those "things" — as he calls the flare-ups of the past 18 months.

AVOIDS HIS FRIENDS

"When one of these things happens, I run from all these guys so there isn't a chance to embarrass them," Godfrey says. "I won't even answer the phone when they call, because I don't know who is listening."

He said he doubled his precautions during what he calls "that Teterboro thing."

That one resulted in a six-month suspension of his pilot's license by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) early last year. The CAB said the redhead deliberately "buzzed" the control tower at Teterboro, N. J., airport after taking off for Miami in his private DC3.

"The less said about that the better," Godfrey reflected. "They claimed I buzzed the tower, which I did not. But I suppose I must have deserved it, or the board wouldn't have given it to me."

"Well, anyway, it showed a lot of those 'wiseheims' who were betting I'd buy my way out through influential friends."

Redhead Lowers Barriers

These Godfrey friends have been chided for their "plush" hunting junkies, but the redhead says they rough it "plenty." They call themselves the "cashmere club" — named after the suits of brown cashmere underwear Godfrey gave each member five years ago. They need it, he says. It's warm.

"You know," Godfrey broke in, "if there are two guys I'd like to be cast adrift with — if I had to be — they would be Curt Lemay and Dick Boutelle. What guys!"

Next to big bomber man Lemay ("Him I admire almost to the point of worship"), the name that comes out more than any other when Godfrey talks is Winchell.

"It's been 21 years since I ever had to consider the cost of anything — ever since Walter Winchell showed me how to make money," he reminisces.

"Sure, I'm making it now, but people forget I didn't make any money until 1934 when Winchell gave me the break. Those years from 1929 to 1934 were lean."

NEEDS WINCHELL TIPS

"When I met Winchell in 1934, I was making $75 a week. In less than three months I was making $750 a week; I took his advice and made people listen to me."

Godfrey says his first move was to prove that he was worth more.

"So I just didn't show up at the studio one morning. That was in Washington. I made them put someone else in my spot. They wanted to know if I was sick. When I said 'no' they didn't understand."

"Look," I said. "For this money I should get up so early?" They caught on. A very clever friend, Winchell. He had learned. He gave me some tips."

Godfrey doesn't give this formula a blanket recommendation. He says it's more important to "improve the product, improve the show."

The redhead has improved his own show to the point where he's making an estimated $35,000 a week, but only 6 per cent of it is his to take home.

PAYS HUGE TAX

"I pay 94 cents out of every dollar in taxes, but I don't mind — if I only knew it was going in the right places. I can still remember when I didn't even have the other six cents."

The Godfrey closet today holds "somewhere around 12 to 14 suits." "I have that many because it seems I wear them so long," he explains. "Some of my friends keep telling me: 'Arthur, you shouldn't wear that suit any more. It's too tight.' But I just seem to keep putting it on."

Godfrey has found that as the years have gone by and his income has gone up, his own personal needs, wants and desires have become simpler and simpler. He doesn't keep a nickel-and-dime check, but he estimates he spends less than $30 a week on his personal needs.

Anyway, he can't go out much because of those mob scenes.

"For a movie star, I suppose it's okay. They rather expect it. But for me, it's a helluva thing to have happen."

British Hunt Airliner Carrying 20 in Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (U) — Five British air force bombers searched bush country today for an East African Airways Dakota missing with 20 people aboard.

A search aircraft last night reported sighting a flashing light near snow-capped Mt. Kilimanjaro, 125 miles from Nairobi. An all-night search by civil and military aircraft brought no trace of the missing plane.

Hal Boyle Says:

Baby-Watching Underlines Time's Passage

NEW YORK (AP)—Every adult in the world ought to spend at least an hour a day baby watching.

Can't think of a better way to learn human nature. Seeing a child struggle so desperately to become a grownup, you begin dimly to understand why grown-ups so often act like desperate children.

There is no industry, pastime, or hobby—call it what you will—that kindles the spirit more than baby watching. But nothing else gives you quite such a frightening insight into the passage of time.

"Why, it seems only yesterday that—" This is the phrase you find yourself using most often in baby watching. You leave a baby for a day or two, and when you come back it seems to have sprung up with the speed of a flower racing the turning sun.

So it has been with Tracy Ann, a small stranger who came into our lives as a month-old mite in a bundle nearly two years ago.

Why, it seems only yesterday that I held her to my shoulder to burp her. So soft and frail and helpless she felt then so utterly dependent, that I was afraid she'd bend and break.

What happens to a baby? Where do they vanish so swiftly? Right while you're watching, right before your eyes, the baby fades and disappears. Suddenly you no longer are watching a baby but a small sturdy human being running on its own legs, pushing your helping hands away impatiently, and trying to seize the whole wide world in its two little hands.

When did it happen? You can't quite remember. All you know is that the baby you loved is gone. A child you love has taken its place.

There is a big difference between a baby and a child. Take reading, for example. As a baby, Tracy Ann loved nothing better than to digest newspaper editorials. She did this literally, by tearing out the editorial, stuffing it in her mouth, and gumming it until it had been thoroughly absorbed. Finally had to take newspapers away from her altogether. Afraid she might ruin her eyes.

Now, as a child, she is on a Mother Goose jag. We read these jingles together practically every morning. But I may have to halt this, too. It seems to make her melancholy. Her favorite picture shows Little Boy Blue, fast asleep under the haystack. He is barefooted, and this distresses Tracy no end.

"No shoes," she says sadly, shaking her head. Never mind the sheep in the meadow, the cows in the corn, isn't that sleepy little boy ever going to get a pair of bright new shoes?

My wife, Frances, and I believe

Tracy must be a genius because, although her second birthday is still a month away, she can count up to five and tell the primary colors.

That is, she can do these things when she isn't in her dotage or trying to tease me. A child's dotage comes just before its nap or bedtime, when its wits wander like those of some very old people. At such moments Tracy insists four comes after two and there is no such number as three at all.

But a child loves nothing better than pulling a grownup's leg. Thus it is that on some days, although she knows the grass is green and the sky is blue, Tracy will stoutly argue both are red. In fact, when she is in her scarlet mood, she even upholds the theory her feet are red.

"Tracy, do you want to grow up to be a real fat girl or a real pretty girl?" I ask her.

"Real fat!" she answers, looking up with a leer that only childhood knows.

She has such a tremendous thirst for knowledge—she seems to be trying to learn everything under the sun each moment—it sometimes appalls me.

Watching Tracy as a baby was tremendous fun. So is it now to watch her spritlike child's mind unfold. But I have an uneasy feeling now that she is studying me as much as I am studying her. This is a real crossroads in life for any parent, the time when it is perhaps wise if he went into a closed room, stared at himself in the mirror, and started pondering over what he wants his child to see in him.

What, No Soda Pop?

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—The Connecticut Milk Producers Association office has a vending machine that provides free drinks for employees and guests. Milk, of course.

But What's He Called if He's Just Hiccupping!

ELKIN, N. C. (AP)—Policeman S. M. Bullin, testifying in Recorder's Court, was asked whether the defendant was drunk when arrested. "No," the officer replied, "he was highly intoxicated."

The court wanted to know the difference. "A man is highly intoxicated when he's staggering," Bullin explained. "When he's down on the ground, he's drunk."

Wants to Admit Women Clergy

Presbyterian Leader Also Calls for Practice for Nongregation

LOS ANGELES (U)—A proposal that women be admitted to the Presbyterian ministry was endorsed today by the national head of the church.

Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, president of Maryville (Tenn.) College and moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., also called for churchwide practice of nongregation.

His views were contained in a sermon prepared for delivery at today's opening session of the 167th general assembly.

The sermon was Dr. Lloyd's last official function as moderator. His successor will be elected later today to serve during the weeklong meetings and through the coming year.

Admission of women as ministers and the nongregation issue are expected to come before the general assembly for action later in this session.

Dr. Lloyd said: "As one thinks of the tremendous part which women play in the spiritual life and in the ministry of our church around the world, he cannot but hope that the church will possess enough of understanding and of the spirit of the pioneer to open all of the possibilities of service to women."

"A quarter of a century ago the eldership was opened to them and more than 3,000 women are serving in that distinctive Presbyterian office."

"The life of the church will be enriched further by opening of the office of minister also to women."

On nongregation, he said: "Our official pronouncements calling for a nongregated society and a nongregated church are strong and right. But our practice is weaker than our pronouncements. It is time for every congregation to become a true Christian pioneer. There should be no church whose doors and hearts are closed to any sincere seeker after Christ."

Sells Gas in High Style

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Motorist driving into John Joffe's service station to get gasoline did a double-take, Joffe waited on his customer while in full formal dress, including top hat. He explained that he dressed up to celebrate the sale of his millionth gallon of gas.

Feeds Fish Metal in Poison Research

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—A University of Texas researcher is feeding metal to fish in an effort to check a possible short-cut method in determining the toxic qualities of certain substances used in industry.

Dr. W. H. R. Shaw, university chemist, says that finding a means to classify and measure toxic substances is vital in solving acute problems facing food and drug industries as well as manufacturers of utensils and other equipment.

He explained use of metals in the project should save considerable time and money since more is known about chemical properties of metal ions—atoms which have either an excess or deficiency of electrons—than those of other substances.

Soviet Planes Equal to Ours

Air Force General Says Russian Aircraft More Plentiful

DETROIT (U)—A high-ranking Air Force intelligence officer says the Russians have fighters and bombers equal in performance to the best U.S. planes, and more of them.

Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess, deputy chief of staff for intelligence of the Continental Air Defense Command, said in a speech last night, "The Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

Speaking to an American Legion post at Selridge Field, Burgess said he also feared "the Russians are ahead of us in the effort to perfect the guided missile."

"One of our troubles," he said, "is that we have been underestimating the Russians."

He said the Russians have two new bombers equal in size and performance to the Air Force's new eight-jet B52, but that the Russian aircraft only have four engines.

A medium bomber comparable to the U.S. six-jet B47 and yet having only two engines is being flown by the Russians, he said.

He said the Russians also have more supersonic fighters, similar to the U.S. F100, than this country has.

Burgess departed from a prepared speech in giving this information. He said the Defense Department had authorized its release only yesterday.

He reported that Russia's new aircraft were shown in strength near Moscow during April as they practiced for the annual May Day show of military strength. The air show was called off because of bad weather, but reports of the aircraft have been forwarded to Washington from observers in Russia.

The big intercontinental bombers similar to U.S. B52s were seen in two versions, he said. One was powered by four jet engines, and the other by four turboprop engines.

The turboprop model, in which a jet engine turns propellers, has no equal in this country, he said. He said each of the four engines turned two counterrotating four-bladed propellers.

No Buses for Ike

DENVER (U)—The Public Utilities Commission doesn't want President Eisenhower to be disturbed during his visit here this summer. They've postponed until Oct. 11 a bus line change that would route vehicles past the home of the President's mother-in-law Mrs. John Sheldon Doud.

Admits Robbery of Wrong House to Collect Debt

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U)— The strange case of how a man broke into the wrong house was told yesterday in Superior Court.

Anthony R. Volpe, 29, related through his attorney that he and a friend borrowed $150 from a finance company.

The friend didn't pay his share so Volpe had to meet the whole debt.

To get even, the story continued, Volpe decided to break into what he thought was his friend's house in West Warwick and take out some articles.

Volpe took out a chair and a radio, then went back into the house and woke his "friend."

But it wasn't his friend. It was a stranger.

Because he has no previous record, Volpe was put on good behavior and deferred sentence.

Portuguese Break Up Goa Demonstration

BOMBAY, India (U)—Portuguese police reportedly fired on 54 Indian citizens who marched into Goa colony yesterday for a civil disobedience campaign against Portugal's rule there.

Portuguese nationalists said four demonstrators were wounded and seven others beaten by the police.

The report was circulated here as a military court in Nova Goa sentenced five men to prison terms ranging from 1 to 15 years for advocating the union of Portugal's colonies in India with the Indian Republic.

Portugal has refused to discuss India's demand that it withdraw from its settlements on the Indian subcontinent.

Thirteen of the Indian participating in yesterday's march were released, but the rest were reported held by Portuguese authorities.

Reports said the marchers either gave Indian border police the slip or ignored them in entering Goa.

Turnabout Tally

DETROIT (U)—Bert Merritt, Republican, and Frank B. Landowski, Democrat, tied in the Sumpter Township supervisor election 475-475. They drew lots to decide the winner. Merritt won. Landowski asked a recount. In the recount, one ballot was thrown out because the registration number has not been torn off and Landowski was declared the winner 475-474.

Weakness Hits Pope After Seeing Crowd

VATICAN CITY (U)—Vatican sources reported today that Pope Pius XII suffered a 15-minute spell of weakness and dizziness after a general audience of more than an hour yesterday for 35,000 Italian farmers.

The sources said the 79-year-old pontiff had recovered and today showed no signs of weakness.

The audience yesterday was the biggest the head of the Roman Catholic Church has held since his grave collapse with a stomach disorder last December. The subsequent weakness was blamed on his unusual exertion.

About 750 gallons of water are needed to produce one ton of Portland cement.

Arms Are Key to Peace, New Chief of Staff Says

TOKYO (U)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, newly appointed Army chief of staff, today said peace in the present world "can be assured only by adequate military power."

The outgoing Far East commander said he hoped Americans at home realized the need for maintaining continuous military strength "for an indefinite period."

Taylor recorded his remarks for broadcast to U. S. armed forces in the Far East on Armed Forces Day Saturday.

Elopement All Off Today; He Already Has One Wife

BILLESDON, England—The 43-year-old Irish farmhand who ran away with the pretty sister of England's hereditary royal champion turned out today to be a married man with two children.

"I have wronged the girl terribly," said James Webb, who slipped away 10 weeks ago with Susan Dymoke, 23-year-old daughter of one of Britain's oldest families. The two told friends they planned to wed.

"I have deceived her and her family into thinking I was free to marry her," Webb told newsmen, "but I am not."

Mrs. Mary Webb, 46, an Ashford, England, riding instructor, produced a wedding certificate yesterday showing she had married the farmhand Nov. 16, 1937. She said her husband had left her and their two sons more than a year ago.

Police said they had "no further interest in the matter at this stage."

Webb, who looks younger than his years, said he had "taken Susan away to friends who will look after her. I can tell you she is not going back to her family." He met the girl when he was hired to milk cows on the Dymokes' ancestral estate near Grantham.

Susan's 23-year-old brother Capt. John Dymoke holds the title of "Queen's Champion," an honor which has been in his family since medieval days, and carried the royal standard at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953.

Susan's mother Mrs. Lionel Dymoke tearfully told reporters: "My daughter's life has been ruined."

Second Atomic Sub Ready in Mid-July

WASHINGTON—Launching ceremonies "about mid-July" were being arranged today for the Seawolf, the nation's second atomic submarine now under construction at Groton, Conn.

The Navy, still giving no definite date for the ceremonies, said yesterday the sponsor for the new vessel will be the wife of Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. The first atomic sub, the Nautilus, is now on a shakedown cruise in the Atlantic.

Meets Handicapped Tots

HONG KONG—Sixty blind, deaf and dumb Chinese children presented flowers and gifts at Hong Kong today to Helen Keller. The blind and deaf American woman is making her sixth world tour. She arrived here from Burma and flew on later today to Manila.

Ask Egypt, Israel to Resume Talks for Border Peace

JERUSALEM—The U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission called last night for resumption of Israeli-Egyptian border negotiations. Coincident with the appeal, an Israeli reprisal attack heightened tension along the troubled Gaza Strip frontier.

The commission issued its communique after Israel refused to attend a scheduled border meeting yesterday. Israeli representatives said the boycott protested a land mine explosion Tuesday near Kissufim in which three Israeli soldiers were killed and two injured.

Israeli troops last night attacked an Egyptian position near the site of the explosion, an army spokesman announced. He said the force suffered no casualties, adding that the "Egyptians and those in an adjacent position fled when the Israeli unit approached."

The U.N. commission warned Israel that the border situation is likely to "deteriorate still further" unless both parties resume negotiations soon for "an arrangement aimed at maintaining peaceful conditions in the Gaza area."

Just Any Old Official Will Be Satisfactory

WASHINGTON—Rep. Staggers (D-WV) wonders if there isn't a word missing in a letter from a constituent which read: "Sir: 'Would you please be so kind as to send my son a official of the U.S.A. for his school work? 'I thank you very much.'"

85 Die in Movie

WARSAW, Poland—A Warsaw paper reported yesterday that 58 persons were burned to death and more than 200 others injured in a fire which broke out in a movie auditorium designed to hold 90 persons. The newspaper Trybuna Ludu said the disaster occurred last week at Wielopole, a village in southern Poland, in a school-room converted for film showings.

Rats and Bats 'See' in Dark Via Own Radar

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Rats can be as blind as bats, but both can find their way around in total darkness by a method similar to radar.

Three psychologists at the University of California have obtained the first positive evidence that rats, like bats, can produce ultrasonic cries and can hear sounds too high for humans to distinguish.

The scientists, carrying research a step further, showed that rats use the ability to get around in the dark.

The ultrasonic noises bounce back to the animals off solid objects, thereby revealing the location of the obstacles.

The scientists used blind rats in their experiments, teaching the animals to find their way through a maze to a feed box.

The three psychologists next plan to test other animals to learn just how common "animal radar" is.

Drs. Donald A. Riley, Mark R. Rosenzweig and David Krech will report their findings in a forthcoming issue of a technical journal.

Scientists Learn That Feathered Friends Are Disease Source

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—A team of scientists in California has found that wild birds are an important link in the spread of encephalitis, the "sleeping sickness" that affects humans and horses.

The medical sleuths who spent six years tracking the virus in the laboratory and in the field were from the University of California, California's Fish and Game Department, and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Scientists have known for years that humans and horses get the disease from the bite of the mosquito, Culex tarsalis. The question was: Where do the mosquitoes get it?

Wild birds were under suspicion because Culex tarsalis bites them, too.

To verify their suspicions the scientists scoured some 500 square miles of California's Kern County, trapping nearly 9,000 birds of 73 species and 3,000 mosquitoes of eight species.

Working directly on the transmission of encephalitis was impractical, because the feathered carriers only harbor it for a few days at a time, and the virus is extremely difficult to detect.

Instead, the disease detectives built a chain of circumstantial evidence, using an easily detected and fairly common bird disease—bird malaria.

They did this by taking blood samples from birds, and sampling the stomachs and salivary glands of mosquitoes.

And they found that one species fed most readily on birds and carried bird malaria. That one was Culex tarsalis—the encephalitis carrier.

The researchers concluded that the only way to fight encephalitis is to break the link by more intensive mosquito control.

Career of GM Official Parallels Auto's Rise

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of General Motors, will observe his 80th birthday Monday, May 23.

The life story of Mr. Sloan parallels in interesting manner the span of years during which the automobile has enjoyed its spectacular development. His rise to high position in the industrial world represents a progressive and logically developed career unique of its kind.

Born in New Haven, Conn., his family had a background of learning and culture but was in no sense one of wealth. His father, Alfred Pritchard Sloan Sr., came from an old upstate New York family. His father's father had been a schoolmaster. His mother was Katharine Mead, daughter of a Methodist minister. Mr. Sloan Sr. was an importer and distributor of tea and coffee.

The family moved from New Haven to Brooklyn, N.Y., when Alfred, the eldest of five children, was 10. There he grew up, prepared himself for college.

4 YEAR COURSE IN 3

He graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1895 with the degree of Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering. Age 20, he was youngest in his class, completing his course in three years.

Despite considerable discouragement in first efforts at obtaining a job, which came in the period immediately following the depression of the early nineties, he located a position before too long as a draftsman with the Hyatt Roller Bearing Co., then located at Newark, N.J., a company later to become a division of General Motors.

At this time the motor industry was becoming more active. The increased speed of the motor vehicle put an end to the assumption of the early makers that the new machine could operate with a single greased axle, like a wagon. Experience proved that a steel bearing of the roller type was needed.

The Hyatt bearings would do such jobs, Sloan was convinced, but the company was in rather poor financial condition for a venture into a new field.

Finally, after more work on the product and demonstration, it was agreed by an associate of the backer and Sloan's father that they would provide additional financing between them to the amount of $5,000, to be spread over a trial period of six months, and that young Alfred Sloan was to have the responsibility of determining the issue by being given the direction and control of the business.

He was named general manager of the Hyatt Roller Bearing Co. in 1899.

In the first six months of operation the company made a profit of $12,000. At the time of his first association with the company a gross business of $2,000 a month was large.

One of the first automotive inquiries on the Hyatt roller bearing came from Elwood Haynes, who was getting into the field with the vehicle known later as the Haynes-Apperson, and both that car and the early Olds first took the road with Hyatt bearings. Henry Ford and others picked the Hyatt product when they came into the field.

From the start Mr. Sloan's activities brought him into direct contact with automobile leaders. In the period of his active direction of Hyatt, about 17 years, the company's business passed the $10,000,000-a-year mark.

In 1916 W. C. Durant proposed a combination of a number of accessory companies, in which Hyatt was wanted. As a result the United Motors Corporation was formed, with Sloan as president, to supply certain parts and accessories for General Motors.

In 1918 United Motors Corporation became a part of General Motors Corporation.

Sloan was named a director and vice president of General Motors in charge of accessories, and was made a member of the executive committee.

On May 10, 1923, he was elected president to succeed Pierre du Pont, who remained as chairman of the board.

General Motors went on to become one of the greatest industrial enterprises of all time, building on the principles that Sloan established soon after becoming president. These he summed up as follows:

"Get the facts. Recognize the equities of all concerned. Realize the necessity of doing a better job every day. Keep an open mind and work hard. The last is most important of all. There is no short cut."

In later years he has restated the principle of equity, thus: "We must respect the equities of others in all our relationships both inside and outside General Motors. In this we have made great strides. All our people are, I believe, more equitably dealt with as a result of the development of thoughtfully worked out programs. Higher standards have been developed in our relations with our employees, our stockholders and our suppliers."

"Our relations with our dealers—and they are very important—have been developed to a high standard of equity and opportunity. Our dealers are taken into our councils on matters of broad distribution policy."

Sloan served as president of General Motors nearly 14 years, until May 3, 1937, through the crucial depression years when many large business enterprises tottered and fell. It is noteworthy that in every one of those years, not even excepting 1933 when the automotive industry lost 75 per cent of its 1929 volume, General Motors made a profit and paid dividends to stockholders, both common and preferred.

Sloan was elected chairman of General Motors in 1937.

An indomitable worker himself Sloan does not believe in too great a burden on the individual. He holds that one man's mind and body are too fragile for all of the loads of modern business. When the world learns this, he thinks, men will live longer.

PLANNED FOR DEFENSE

Before the actual date of the United States' entrance into World War II, when the need for armament became apparent, Sloan was a leader in planning conversion for defense production.

The strength and effectiveness of the General Motors organization became apparent to the nation in the war years as never before, through the part it played in winning "the battle of production" that was so necessary to victory.

Sloan has repeatedly emphasized his belief that technological progress, through research, is the only way to expand employment. He has said:

"Modern science is the real source of economic progress. It has brought within the reach of more and more people more comforts and conveniences, more leisure and more and better job opportunities. There can be no ceiling on opportunity if science continues to move forward."

Of future opportunities Sloan declared:

"What the industrialists of the past 100 years have done is a mere beginning. The greatest opportunity for enterprise still lies beyond the horizon. That will always be so as long as our scientific knowledge continues to expand. The future world belongs to the young, the adventurous. But they must have the courage and initiative to reach out and grasp it, and then the willingness to work to retain it."

On Dec. 13, 1937, Sloan announced a personal endowment of $10,000,000 to the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, which he had established some time earlier "for the purpose of promoting a wider knowledge of basic economic truths."

CAREER RESEARCH

In 1945 an undertaking somewhat different in basic purpose from others was made possible by the foundation. This was the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, established by provision of $2,560,000 for a research building erected in New York as a component of the Memorial Cancer Center. The foundation also undertook to help finance the research project by grants of $300,000 annually for an indefinite period.

Mr. Sloan was married Sept. 28, 1898, to Irene Jackson of Roxbury, Mass., with whom he had become acquainted while attending M.I.T. The Sloans have a home at Great Neck, N.Y., and an apartment in New York. Mr. Sloan's three brothers, Harold S. Sloan, Clifford A. Sloan and Raymond P. Sloan, also live in New York. His sister, Mrs. Katherine Sloan Pratt, lives in Syosset, N.Y.

German Boys Take Up 'Do It Yourself' and Construct Their Own Schoolhouse

SOLTAU, Germany (U)—For more than six months there were no lessons in drawing and design in Soltau's secondary school — instead, the pupils constructed an additional school building.

The 107-foot-long bungalow, which contains four modern classrooms and a central heating room, did not cost a single pfennig of public funds.

The project is unique in West German states which, without exception, are troubled by a severe school building shortage.

Under the direction of a few skilled workers—all of them volunteers—three or four dozen boys built up the walls, fixed the roof and laid the floor.

Today, a small oak sign is nailed above the entrance: "We Helped Ourselves."

"And it was great fun doing it," says Klaus Leven, 12, youngest of the bricklaying students. "We spent many evenings and spare hours on the building site, and there wasn't a single accident."

"But the whole thing wouldn't have come off without Herr Bartos—he is our drawing teacher. He is grand."

Florian Bartos, 46, initiated the project in 1953 and in May last year started excavation work with his boys — only to get entangled with local red tape.

Solttau authorities were skeptical, for the plan, if carried out by a private contractor, would cost $18,500.

Nazi Barracks House Refugees

Former SS Camp Now Shelters Those Who Fled Commies

GLASENBACH, Austria (UP)—Chintz curtains, potted geraniums and children's toys, now brighten the infamous Glaserbach barracks where Adolf Hitler's SS killers once trained for terror.

The Glaserbach camp is the newest home established in Austria by the United States Escapee Program (USEP) for families that have emerged from behind the Iron Curtain.

Nearly 300 men, women and children from eight Red nations live in barracks rebuilt to resemble normal private homes. Their quarters are separate units complete with cooking and washing facilities.

There is a kindergarten, library, central laundry, recreation rooms and shops where refugees learn skills to fit them for a new life—carpentry, cobbling, tool making, plumbing, cooking and more than half a dozen others.

Since 1948, more than 100,000 East Europeans have braved Communist secret police, barbed wire, bullets and landmines to escape to the West. They continue to slip through the Iron Curtain "at a rate of several hundred a month," officials say.

USEP was set up two years ago to help them bridge the gap between tyranny and freedom.

The camp here at Glaserbach, where the Germans built elaborate barracks during World War II to house SS "elite" troops, is a typical USEP layout—12 single-story wooden buildings nestled at the foot of Salzburg's hills.

The refugee families are free to decorate their lodgings as they wish, and it is hard to realize when you step into one of the homey apartments that the buildings once echoed with the clank of guns and the clatter of Nazi boots.

The chief objective of the center is rehabilitation and resettlement of the escapees in one of the free European nations or overseas.

USEP and the Austrian government provide for the bare daily needs of the inmates, while at the same time training them to earn a western living.

With the help of the YMCA, the International Social Services, the World Council of Churches and other voluntary agencies, the refugees are given a chance to learn new languages and take their pick of trades.

Newly arrived refugees must be processed by American intelligence officers before becoming eligible for residence in Glaserbach.

Once arrived in the camp, the new inmate is assigned a room in one of the large barracks. Married couples usually receive a room for themselves. Bachelors share their living quarters with two or three others.

Stan Milus, USEP's assistant director in Austria, estimates that about half of the 6,000 escapees now in Austria will emigrate to overseas nations. The other half will be absorbed by the Austrian economy or find new homes in other West European countries.

The program, with $1,500,000 at its disposal yearly, not only pays the basic subsistence of the refugees and their passage overseas but also will assist them in getting started in Austria, Milus said.

There's little chance of the Communists slipping a spy into Glaserbach, Milus said. Even if a Communist agent got past the intelligence screening, the fiercely anti-Communist inmates would soon find out his leanings and report him to camp authorities, he added.

Fearing that the project would fail and they would have to pay to finish it, city authorities even threatened to take disciplinary action against Bartos. But the stout, balding teacher convinced them that:

1—Actual building costs would, at a maximum, reach $7,140.

2—This amount would be guaranteed by the pupils' parents.

3—Hundreds of citizens would share the burden once construction started.

Bartos was right. Soon after the boys set to work, local businessmen and artisans gave a hand.

"One evening, a 70-year-old pensioner carpenter appeared on the scene, took his coat off and showed us how to raft the ceiling. We didn't even know his name," says Hermann Mennenga, 17, the oldest of the pupils.

Friedhelm Menke, 15, brought his father Wilhelm, 54, along to install two flower windows.

Wilhelm Renken, the school's beadle, did most of the plumbing after regular working hours.

Local businessmen delivered gratis window glass, wood, water pipes and loudspeakers to be installed in the classrooms.

Friedrich Roden, 44, a local architect and alumnus of the school, supervised the construction work as a hobby.

Only $4,280 was spent, mainly for raw materials. This will be repaid by the pupils' parents over a period of several years.

Won't Wreck TVA, Ike Tells Newsmen

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower said today his administration will never wreck the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Eisenhower was asked at his news conference about reports that the Hoover Commission is about ready to recommend that the steam plant facilities of the TVA be turned over to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The President said he couldn't say about that. He said he has discussed TVA many times but he doesn't know all the details of the authority's organization.

He said the Hoover Commission has served a very great purpose. Since it was reorganized, he said, it has had to grapple not only with reorganization matters but functional problems as well. What is proper in that field, the President said he couldn't say just now.

Evidence Weighed

HIGH POINT, N. C. (U)—A Superior Court jury here acquitted a man charged with being drunk

despite a policeman's testimony that he watched the defendant insert a penny into a candy vending machine and remark, "I've lost some weight."

Supervisors Learn Human Relations

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Shop foremen and supervisors went back to school to learn how to get along with their employees.

For the second year in a row the University of California held a five-day seminar on human relations for foremen and supervisors.

Dr. Arthur M. Ross, director of the School of Business Administration's Institute of Industrial Relations, said the seminar aimed at developing more satisfactory human relations between supervisors and other employees.

"This seminar," Ross said, "is designed to aid management in achieving its goal of increased efficiency and more cooperative effort among its personnel."

Lousy Place to Work

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (U)—It was a lousy day at the state auditing department.

The weather was warm, so someone turned on the air conditioning, only to find that lice-infested birds had built a nest in the intake. Lice were blown all over the office.

Quick baths were in order for all hands.

Pilgrim's Vessel Serves as Barn

UPSIDE DOWN SKELETON of hull of famous ship Mayflower holds up the roof of 300-year-old barn 20 miles from London.

Mayflower Hull on British Farm

Cracked Beam Tallies Perfectly With Settler's Description of Craft

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent

LONDON (NEA) — Unknown to most Americans, the Mayflower, the most famous ship in American history, still exists — as a barn in the tiny English village of Jordans, Buckinghamshire.

For the past 300 years this precious relic has lain upside down on a brick floor, its hull serving as the roof of a barn which is now owned by the Society of Friends in England.

The sturdy oak timbers which brought the Pilgrim Fathers to Plymouth, Mass., in 1620 now play host only to the death watch beetle.

The original red coat of paint has long since disappeared, leaving the curved beams bleached like the ribs of an enormous whale. One of the beams has a crack which tallies perfectly with that described in the diary of William Bradford, leader of the Pilgrim expedition.

There are other relics of interest: A cabin-door with a floral design of mayflowers carved on the cross-pieces, and part of the stern on which one can barely discern lettering which may have spelt "Mayflower Harwich."

When the Mayflower sailed from Cape Cod Bay in the spring of 1621 leaving 40 Pilgrims, all who survived that first bitter winter of the original band of 102, it dropped out of sight as far as the New World was concerned.

Even today the Mayflower barn doesn't figure in any of the tourist guide books, although it lies only 20 miles from London.

How did the famous ship find its way inland as a barn? A yellowed bill of sale shows that it was bought as salvage in 1624 by a Buckingham farmer named William Russell.

Although the ship today would be worth millions to Americans, it brought only $384 at the auction sale. Its five great anchors went for less than $100. A set of sails "more than half worn" were knocked down for $45, while "ye pitch pot and kettle" brought $1.90. Having reassembled the Mayflower as a livestock shelter, Russell later sold it and the adjoining farmhouse to the Society of Friends, then a persecuted sect.

It was in the farmhouse kitchen that the Friends held their first meetings, and it was from one of these meetings that William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, was dragged off to prison for worshipping according to the dictates of his conscience. Penn lies buried in the shadow of the new Friends Meeting Place at Jordans.

Although local tradition has long recognized the barn as the remains of the Mayflower, it was at one time the subject of bitter controversy among historians. Some historians contended that Mayflower was a common name for ships in the 17th Century.

The question was resolved by reference to the diary of William Bradford, who recorded every detail of the Mayflower trip. In his diary Bradford tells how the Mayflower nearly turned back for England after encountering a heavy storm which cracked one of its beams amidship.

Then someone remembered the iron press in the hold — probably the property of the printer Bruster. With the great iron screw from this press, the crew was able to bolster the sagging beam, and the Mayflower continued her course without further mishap.

In the Mayflower barn at Jordans there is a 15-foot crack in the barn roof corresponding exactly to that noted in Bradford's journal.

Molotov Kisses No Peace Sign, Pearson Warns

OTTAWA (AP) — "Peace is not assured because Molotov has been throwing kisses from a balcony in Vienna," Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said today. But he added that diplomatically "The world is out of the trenches and in the open."

He made the statement to newsmen upon his return from Europe.

Referring to such developments as the signing of the Austrian independence treaty in Vienna attended by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Pearson declared:

"There is no doubt that recent developments give us ground for satisfaction and some optimism. But it wouldn't be wise to go overboard with exultation yet. There is danger that we might jump to conclusions that more progress has been made than is the case."

"It would be tempting to relax our (defense) efforts, which in themselves may be largely responsible for the advances which have been made."

Music Education Will Be Promoted

WEST HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP) — A music education program that doesn't cost the taxpayers a penny is taking shape here. The West Hempstead Symphonic Society will give instructions in the reading and performing of symphony music to interested students and give concerts to raise funds for music scholarships.

Joseph Emonts, cello soloist of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, is credited with being the father of the society. Other prime movers are Archie Bleyer of radio and television; Samuel Gardner, a former teacher of strings in the Julliard Schools; and Lt. Herman Vincent, conductor of the 1st Air Force Band at Mitchell Air Force Base.

All concerned contribute their services free.

Model Gets Divorce From Tobacco Heir

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Former model Marian Sloan has obtained a divorce from tobacco heir James Sloan Jr. on the testimony that she had been beaten on two continents.

The default divorce was granted to Mrs. Sloan yesterday after she told the court "in Europe he struck me several times" and that "in our Westwood apartment last December, he hit me with his fists, as though he was fighting a man." Mrs. Sloan, 34, waived alimony. Sloan Jr., 28, gave her a $28,715 cash settlement and shares of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and U. S. Steel stock, valued at $100,000, in a property settlement.

2 Sets of Sisters Killed in Smashup

SMITHFIELD, Va. (AP)—Two sets of sisters were killed last night in a traffic accident which also claimed a fifth victim.

A truck loaded with 115 hogs crashed into the rear of a car stopped along State Route 10. Fire enveloped the two vehicles and a second truck parked in front of the car.

Killed were Olive Branch, 58, and her sister May, 63, of Smithfield, and Gerline Copeland, 10, and her sister Plassie, 9, of Winfall, N. C. The Copeland girls were riding in the cab of the truck with their father William M. Copeland, 40, who also was killed. The Branch sisters were passengers in the car.

MOWER FUN — That's what Jerome and Mary Weiss of Cleveland, Ohio, say about the remote-control lawn mower they demonstrate to handicapped friends. Crippled by polio since babyhood, the Weisses actually don't even need the mower, as they can afford to hire a gardener. But they use the "magic" mower to boost the morale and general interest of other handicapped persons. "I don't even own the mower. I borrowed it," Weiss confesses.

Mom Plunges Into River to Save 3-Year-Old Son

DETROIT (UP)—A young mother plunged into a St. Clair Shores canal yesterday to rescue her 3-year-old son who had fallen into 12 feet of water.

The mother, Mrs. Patricia Standard, was called to the canal by a neighbor boy who said her son, Charles, had fallen into the water.

Mrs. Standard pulled the child to safety and took him to a nearby clinic for treatment.

William Howard Taft was the first President of all the 48 states of the Union.

Problems of POW Conduct, Punishment Under Study by Defense Department

WASHINGTON (INS)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson appointed a top level committee yesterday to solve the knotty questions of how American prisoners of war should conduct themselves and how they should be treated after they are freed.

The committee, headed by Assistant Defense Secretary for Manpower Carter L. Burgess with Gen. John E. Hull as vice chairman, has the twofold task of devising answers to these criticisms:

1. That the more than 3,500 American POWs in the Korean War were not properly indoctrinated as to what information they could give the enemy or the amount of mental or physical torture they were expected to endure.

2. That for identical "offenses," they subsequently received treatment varying from no prosecutions

DEEPLY CONCERNED

Wilson said: "I am deeply concerned with the importance to our national security of providing Americans who serve their country in battle with every means we can devise to defeat the enemy's techniques."

"This requires that each member of the armed forces be thoroughly indoctrinated with a simple, easily understood code to govern his conduct while a prisoner of war. Enforcement must be accomplished with justice and understanding."

Wilson said at his last news conference that "we are trying to make real progress toward clarifying the responsibilities of a man when he has been captured."

The secretary added: "I am conscious that the public is critical that we haven't processed the people the same way in the three services."

The committee must determine whether a prisoner will be restricted to telling the enemy his "name, rank and serial number," or whether, under conditions of torture, he would be justified in signing a false "confession" to taking part in germ warfare, as was done in several cases.

Blame Crash on Game

Bob Considine Says:

Video Sends Sickening Scene Across U.S.

NEW YORK (INS) — The popcorn chompers, bums without a flop, and the sleepy children had just been broomed out of the big Broadway movie house.

The place had been aired, and now the fight mob was slouching in, bringing with it a new smell that was a blend of rubbing alcohol, cigars and cheap hair tonic.

Rocky Marciano, 3-to-1 and not a taker in sight, was going to fight Don Cockell at 11 o'clock New York time. The mob had come to see a closed-circuit telecast of the battle, at prices up to $4.50.

It came early, out of habit, as if hopeful the gadget that produced the picture would start working ahead of time and show a couple of preliminaries.

The cathedral-like lobby of the place swarmed with faces last seen at Madison Square Garden, the cheaper clubs, and at Stillman's Gym. The men dressed differently than the moving picture squares who had just been sho'd out. They wore the Broadway type of sports jacket, with the wide-brimmed hat turned up all the way around.

They mumbled and looked uncomfortable standing on a rug.

Now and then a toff in dinner clothes joined the procession to the seats, as aloof of the mob as the mob was of him.

HOPE NOTHING GOOFS

Eleven o'clock came to the brightly lighted theater but the red curtains over the screen remained drawn. At 11:04 Bill Corum's voice was recognized . . . a fragmentary account of how Max Baer was being introduced in the ring in San Francisco. But the curtains remained closed.

"Gosh, I hope nothing goofs," prayed a man in the next seat. He's connected with the organization that had arranged this extraordinary evening in the history of the theater and sports.

He explained that this was one of 33 theaters showing the fight to a total patronage which contributed about half a million dollars. There's nothing extraordinary about the commercial aspects of this electronic marvel, he said. "Just a case of the buying the rights to the fight instead of the beer or razor people buying it," he pointed out, nervously watching the closed curtains.

He would have said more but just then the theater lights dimmed, the screen was unveiled and a shaft of light pierced the gloom and formed on the screen the information that Rocky Marciano was about to fight Don Cockell for the heavyweight championship of the world.

We saw the gladiators brought to the center of the ring. Marciano all wound up hard like a copper spring. Cockell like a flabby father lured on to a beach by children who don't know the pangs the stout and palid suffer by thus exposing themselves.

In a moment they were squared away and ready, and then the picture did what all TV pictures must do from time to time. It just went all to pieces . . . 45-degree lines, really, that dance like the cigarettes in the commercials. There came an instantaneous guttural growl from the fight mob. "I pay $4.50 and they gimme lines," a guy said.

WAITING FOR THE KILL

But the picture pulled itself together like a drunk in a shipwreck. The mob leaned back and waited for Marciano to kill the Englishman dead with one punch.

After a couple of rounds, during which Rocky missed enough rights to kick up a Kansas dust storm, it became apparent that Cockell was 1) game as London in the blitz, and 2) didn't read the stories about what a bum he is.

By the seventh there were cheers here and there in the house for Cockell . . . strange cries in a hall of this nature. When his handlers let the Briton come out for the ninth, after the pitiless slaughter of the eighth, the theater shook with misgivings.

There was gusty wheeze of relief when the referee stopped it. The lights came on and we eddied out into Broadway contemplating the extraordinary ingenuity and technological learning that had successfully brought us, across 3,000 miles, a scene that would have sickened Neanderthal man.

Scientists have only recently learned to make rubber that is a duplicate of nature's product.

Scientists Tabulate Meteoritic Material

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Here's a bit of "important" information you may be able to use sometime on a quiz program. It's the answer to the question: "How many tons of solid material from outer space have been identified on earth?"

Answer: Approximately 500 metric tons (a metric ton is 2,205 pounds).

The men who give this answer are Dr. Frederick C. Leonard, professor of astronomy, and Bernard J. Finnegan, graduate research meteoritist, on the University of California campus here.

For the first time, they have compiled the figure from all of the known meteoritic material on earth and report that it corresponds to 1,495 recorded meteoritic falls.

Artificial Kidneys Cited in Saving of Hundreds

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A University of Maryland doctor says that artificial kidney machines have saved hundreds of lives in this country in the past two years, especially in persons who have taken overdoses of sleeping pills and poison victims.

Dr. Albert Goldstein, attending the annual meeting of the American Urological Association in Los Angeles, said:

"The artificial kidney is unexcelled at the task of clearing barbiturates and poisons from the blood stream."

He said he has used an artificial kidney machine in 17 persons whose kidneys have been damaged by poison or accident.

On an average work day the output of coal in the United States is equivalent to about 20 pounds for every man, woman and child in the nation.

Oregon Showing Nation How to Clean Up Rivers

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — Oregon is showing the nation how to clean up polluted rivers.

Already, water skiers are disappearing in Portland harbor, which less than 10 years ago was virtually an open sewer.

Oregon voters started the clean-up by establishing a state sanitary authority. They armed it with the right to enforce its orders and then put up the money to build sewage treatment plants.

A striking example is the Willamette River, which forms Portland harbor. During and after World War I, swimming meets were held in the harbor. Early in the century, both Portland and Salem got their water supplies from the river.

But all the towns on the Willamette — including Portland and Salem — also dumped their sewage into the stream. Health authorities had to counsel against swimming in the '30's due to river filth.

Even earlier, Portland, Salem and Oregon City were forced to build expensive water projects high in the mountains.

Industry was growing, too. By 1936 pollution had wiped out the yearly fall run of salmon, worth thousands of dollars. There was no oxygen in the water in Portland harbor. Fish died when they reached it.

Shortly before the United States entered World War II, the State Game Commission dramatized the situation by lowering a cage of lively fish into the harbor while newsmen and photographers watched. Within a few minutes the fish were dead — suffocated by lack of oxygen.

During World War II a group of men sat on a raft in the river at Portland for several days as a stunt to spur the city to meet its bond quota. Their only complaint was, "The stench of the river makes us feel sick."

But advocates of clean rivers had begun showing their fellow citizens the disgrace of the Willamette. One colored moving picture showed sewage pouring out of sewer mouths in the Willamette, as well as sludge banks, grease and rats.

It was shown to some luncheon clubs with dramatic and nauseating effect.

Several attempts were made to get an anti-pollution law through the State Legislature. All failed.

In 1938, supporters of clean rivers put an initiative on the ballot to set up the sanitary authority. The voters passed it by a 3 to 1 margin.

In 1944, Portland voters approved a 12 million dollar bond issue and a charge for the use of the sewers. Other cities followed suit.

At the end of the war, only 4 1/2 per cent of the sewage that entered the Willamette had any kind of treatment.

No treatment was given to any industrial waste.

By the end of 1954, 50 treatment plants served 79.9 per cent of the people.

Now, 96 per cent of the industrial plants on the Willamette also provide some treatment.

Airport Manager Builds Own Plane

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (UP)—Charley Davis, local airport manager, is carrying the "do-it-yourself" craze a little farther than most men who like to tinker—he's building his own airplane.

Davis has designed a midjet plane 13 1/2 feet long and weighing about as much as three average-sized men. He calls his pet "Little Monster."

The project is a result of three years of spare time work.

Davis said he can roll his tiny plane around with one hand and it rolls right under the wing of an average light plane. Its wing span is 17 feet and it is powered by a 75-horsepower engine.

"I've been building things all my life," the genial manager said. "When I got into this flying business, I decided I would build an airplane."

Veal Supreme Hides Leftovers

Leftover is a witty word. However as some resigned cook remarked, "Leftovers are always."

Take leftover veal, for instance, or on second thought, who would take it deliberately on a restaurant menu?

But consider "Supreme of Veal." Doesn't that start the taste buds working?

Supreme of Veal sounds like a fresh triumph, and lives up to its inviting title. Only a clod, or someone who had snooped in the kitchen, would associate it with the remnants of the Sunday roast.

LEFTOVERS CONCEALED

Yet folded into the rich and fragrant sauce of this "guest night" main dish are 2 cups of cooked veal.

No single ingredient can claim all the applause for Supreme of Veal.

Into this tested recipe go the goodness of plump mushrooms, bright green pepper and pimiento, nourishing meat stock and light cream... all bound together with that subtle seasoning, Rhine wine.

Supreme of Veal

4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 lb. mushrooms, sliced or one 3-ounce can sliced, broiled-in-butter mushrooms
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/2 cup light cream or evaporated milk
1 cup veal stock or chicken bouillon
Salt and pepper, to taste
2 cups diced, cooked veal
2 tablespoons minced pimiento
1/2 teaspoon oregano or marjoram
1/2 cup Rhine wine
Melt butter in a chafing dish or electric frying pan. Add fresh mushrooms or drained, canned mushrooms and green pepper; cook about five minutes, or until mushrooms are golden brown and tender.

Sprinkle with flour, stir and mix. Add cream or milk, and stock or bouillon. Stir until thickened.

Add salt and pepper if needed. Add veal, pimiento, oregano or marjoram, and Rhine wine. Cook five minutes longer.

Serve on parsleyed, freshly cooked macaroni. Makes six servings.

*Two instant chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 1 cup hot water.

WINE ADDED LAST

Tip: To make the most of its bouquet and flavor dividend, the wine is added in the last minutes of cooking. Try this method with other casseroles, in stews and sauces, too.

Serve Sausage Links in Biscuit Blankets

Serve sausage links in biscuit blankets. Cook sausage with 3 tablespoons of water in a covered fryingpan for five minutes. Remove the cover and lightly brown the sausage links.

In the meantime, make a soft biscuit dough and roll to one-half inch thickness. Cut the dough into 1-inch strips and wrap around sausage links.

Bake in a 425 oven for 10 minutes and serve with gravy made from the sausage drippings.

Want a pretty garnish for that platter of sliced cold meats? Slip sprigs of watercress through carrot rings, scallions through radish rings.

SUPREME OF VEAL—If you are the proud owner of an electric skillet, here is a complete dinner for you. Diced, cooked veal is heated in a wine and mushroom sauce and served over parsleyed cooked macaroni. A fresh garden salad and hot rolls round out the menu. Dessert is optional.

Government's Thrift Cookbook Will Help You

An inexpensive cookbook, which every budget-minded housewife will find a valuable addition to her cookbook library, is the government's revised "Money-Saving Main Dishes," for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., 20 cents a copy.

The authors, members of the staff of the Human Nutrition Research Branch of the Department of Agriculture, wrote it after replying to the familiar question, "What shall we have for dinner?" with "This is easy to answer after you have decided on the main dish."

Each main dish they have included furnishes about a fourth of a person's daily protein need. Because fish is generously endowed with this important nutrient, a good-sized chapter is devoted to it.

And some of the most attractive features of this little book are the casserole dishes, such as this recipe for Fish and Noodles, highly recommended by the National Fisheries Institute. With the recipe is the suggestion that the menu be completed with snap beans or asparagus, a green salad with a tangy horseradish dressing, cupcakes for dessert.

Fish and Noodles

3 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon cooking fat or oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 1/2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes or 3 cups raw tomatoes cut in pieces
1 1/2 cups cooked noodles
2 cups flaked cooked fish
Crumbs mixed with melted butter or margarine

Cook onion and celery in fat or oil a few minutes. Add salt, pepper and tomatoes and heat to boiling. Put alternate layers of noodles, fish and hot tomato mixture into a greased baking dish. Top with crumbs.

Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) 20 minutes or until mixture is heated through and the crumbs are browned.

Try This Menu Magic

Put two and two together for this menu magic. Make an instant vanilla pudding from one package of pudding mix, but use only 1 1/4 cup milk. Fold in one cup of whipped cream, and crushed peppermint candy. Spoon the peppermint pudding sauce over generous slices of angel food cake.

You Must Catch It First

Prepare to Spend the Day When You Cook a Turtle

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

"Good well-dressed turtle beats them hollow!"

To keep our promise to The Man About Town we are discussing the cooking of turtles.

You would be amazed at the number of people who catch turtles for eating purposes. Out in the country where we live we often encounter turtle hunters. Some even sell their catch in the city.

If you live in the Pontiac area you will probably have a snapping turtle to cook. After he has been killed (by having his head chopped off like a chicken), he must be thoroughly scrubbed with a brush. Then put the head and body in unsalted water that is boiling rapidly. Continue to boil until the skin of the head and feet becomes white.

Now put the turtle in fresh unsalted water or in a pressure cooker. Our authority on this matter says three-quarters of an hour should be about right for an ordinary sized turtle of good quality. The turtle is cooked when the feet are soft under pressure of the fingers.

Set aside to cool. Pull the nails from the feet. Cut loose the under shell from the upper one and carefully remove the flesh. Cut the feet in small pieces. Empty the upper shell and remove the gall bladder, also the sandbag, heart, tail and intestines.

Sprinkle the eggs, the feet and the liver with salt and coarse black pepper. Place in a kettle with the turtle meat, a few slices of carrot and onion, a bay leaf and 2 whole slightly bruised cloves. Cover with cold salted water. Cover and boil rapidly 20 minutes. Then transfer to a 350-degree oven for 20-25 minutes.

Any leftover meat must be refrigerated tightly covered.

Turtle meat may be eaten without any further preparation after the last cooking process. Or you may make Turtle a la King just like Chicken a la King.

Turtle soup is a very complex dish, says our cookbook. It goes on to give a simplified version of this gourmet soup, one that uses prepared turtle meat.

Turtle Soup
1-quart brown stock
2 eggs whites, slightly beaten
Shredded ring of lemon
1 pound sliced turtle meat
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup sherry

Combine the stock, liquid from the turtle, egg whites and lemon rind, and bring to boiling point, beating continuously with a wire whisk. Simmer 5 minutes, then leave 15 minutes to settle. Strain through a jelly bag or doubled cheesecloth. Just before serving, add the diced turtle meat and reheat without boiling. Season and stir in the wine at the moment of serving. Serves 4.

ORANGE ROLL CAKE—Here's a cousin of the jelly roll, only this one has a delightful orange filling. Made somewhat like lemon pie filling, this orange mixture has just enough tang to go well with the sweeter taste of the cake.

Tantalizing Orange Cake Belongs to Jelly Roll Clan

There was excitement galore when 80 contestants lined up in front of new ranges to compete in the world's largest bake-off at the National Orange Show. This event consisted of 40 finalists baking lemon pies and 40 competing for orange cake awards.

They were selected from hundreds of hopefuls who brought in their cakes and pies on a previous day. One of the top winners was this sponge cake with a delightful orange filling—rolled to resemble a traditional jelly roll, and garnished with fresh orange blossoms and leaves.

ORANGE ROLL CAKE Filling

1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated orange peel
1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter

Mix ingredients together in sauce pan. Bring to rolling boil and boil one minute, stirring constantly. Chill before using.

Apple Nut Cake

1 1/2 cups sugar
4 well-beaten eggs
2-3 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups peeled, chopped Winesap apples
1 cup chopped walnuts

Add sugar to well beaten eggs and beat with electric mixer until thick and light, about five minutes, at high speed. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Fold into egg mixture. Lightly mix in apples and nuts.

Grease bottom of 13x9 1/2 x 2-inch pan. Pour in batter and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes.

Cool. Cut into squares and serve with whipped cream. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Fresh Fruit, Sherbet Make Tasty Dessert

A mixture of fresh fruit and fruit sherbet, like this fresh pear and orange cup, makes a tasty dessert:

Core three unpeeled fresh pears and cut them into sixths. Sprinkle with fresh lemon juice to retard darkening. Peel and section two large oranges.

Arrange the pears and the oranges in sherbet cups and top with lemon or orange sherbet. Garnish with a spoonful of fresh cranberry relish.

This makes an interesting, simple, light way to finish a hearty meal.

Broil Mashed Potato

Pile mashed potato into a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with bits of bacon. Broil until potato is heated through and bacon bits are browned.

THEY'RE HERE! Sunkist Summer Oranges

Summer's best refresher and energy builder... fresh Sunkist Valencia Oranges from California and Arizona... are in your market today!

FOR SUMMER ENERGY... WE NEED... LOTS OF... FRESH ORANGES!

When your family eats them or drinks them (with healthful solids left in the juice) they get vitamin C, vitamin A, the remarkable protopectins, the bioflavonoids that have been front page news recently, and all sorts of other good things they need to keep happy and peppy in warm weather.

Insist on the fresh fruit because strained, processed juice just can't give you all the wonderful health nature put into oranges. And insist on Sunkist... they're always good because they have to be the best to get the Sunkist name.

Sunkist Oranges from California and Arizona

CARROUSEL PICKLE SALAD — Tiny whole sweet gherkins play ring-around-the-rosy in the clear gelatin of this salad mold. Celebrate National Pickle Week, May 19-28, by serving this tart salad ring with cottage cheese mounded in the center.

Arrange Salad Like Carrousel

Take advantage of warm spring days by serving your guests informally on the lawn or patio. Keep last-minute preparation at a minimum by featuring Carrousel Pickle Salad, one of the prettiest salads that ever graced a patio table.

Hamburgers and a cola beverage are the perfect complement for this salad.

Carrousel Pickle Salad

2 cups hot water
13-ounce package lemon flavored gelatin
1 3-ounce package lime flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups cold water
Dash salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
13 small whole sweet gherkins
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped sweet gherkins
2 canned pineapples, chopped
2 cups creamed cottage cheese

Combine hot water and gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add cold water, salt and lemon juice; mix well. Pour three-fourths cup gelatin mixture in 8-inch ring mold.

Chill until slightly thickened. Arrange whole gherkins around ring by pressing into gelatin. Chill until firm.

Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Fold in horseradish, celery, chopped gherkins and pineapples. Turn into ring mold over other ingredients and chill until firm.

Unmold and fill center with cheese. Garnish with additional pickles and pineapple, as desired. Makes four-six servings.

Menus Improved by Dairy Products

Do you know that... Ice cream whipped to a froth with milk and flavoring makes a delightful and nutritious milk shake. It is enjoyed by young and old alike.

Many nutritious sandwiches can be made with creamy cottage cheese. Mix cottage cheese with green onions, radishes, celery, green pepper, pickle relish or dried fruit. Serve on buttered slices of whole wheat bread with a little salad dressing.

Cream soups made with fresh vegetables are appetizing and contain important milk nutrients. A soup of this kind makes an ideal accompaniment for a light summer salad.

Fresh vegetables are better than ever when served with butter. Add parsley, chives, mushrooms or your favorite herbs to butter and use as a sauce with vegetables. Excellent flavor and variety make the vegetables more tempting.

Pep Up Shrimp, Peas

Creamed shrimp and green peas always taste good; they taste even better when you add sliced water chestnuts and flavor the cream sauce with a little garlic. Serve on rice.

Lemon Chiffon Pie Boasts Fluffy Buttermilk Filling

A lemon pie that's as fresh as springtime! Want to try it? The pie is delicate, fluffy, of the chiffon type, but the recipe has a new twist. Buttermilk goes into the filling.

How to Improve the Preparation of Vegetables

How vegetables can be used to create atmosphere for the meal is described in a recent issue of Institutions Magazine of Mass-Feeding and Mass-Housing. It states, "With a little imagination you can save the price of a bouquet of flowers by visiting the refrigerator."

Tips offered by the publication for better vegetable preparation include:

Cut vegetables to uniform sizes for uniform cooking. Replace the natural sugar cooked out of vegetables to restore natural flavor.

Season with 1 ounce of butter for each pound of vegetables. Scoring stalks of broccoli and asparagus insures even cooking.

Have salted water boiling before adding vegetables so that they will be exposed to heat, acid and alkali for the shortest time.

Free-running types of frozen vegetables such as peas and beans do not need to be thawed for cooking. However, types such as broccoli should be separated into stalks and spinach should be cut into cubes.

New Tidbit Devised

U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers have come up with a fat-free, pillow-shaped, puffed potato tidbit that can be flavored and has a crunchy texture and toasted color. It's good for out-of-hand eating, in soups and stuffings.

Make your pie look pretty! Circle it with green leaves and twists of lemon centered with maraschino cherry.

Or try this trick from a friend of ours: Garnish the pie filling with some of those jellied candy fruit slices that are widely available. Choose lemon flavor, of course, for this pie.

Or roll a few extra graham crackers when you are preparing the crust for the pie, and sprinkle the crumbs over the filling. And here's a tip to bear in mind when you are preparing the crust: Put your graham cracker crumb mixture into your pie plate (you'll need a 9-inch size plate for this dessert.) Then set an 8-inch pie plate on top of the crumbs and press them firmly into an even layer on the bottom and sides of the pan.

Buttermilk Lemon Chiffon Pie
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs (separated)
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1-1/2 cup sugar
1 8-inch baked graham-cracker crust

Mix together the gelatin, one-half cup sugar and salt in top of the double boiler. Beat egg yolks and buttermilk until combined; add to gelatin mixture.

Cook over boiling water, stirring until gelatin is dissolved and mixture thickens — about eight minutes. Remove from heat; cool. Stir in lemon juice and rind.

Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add one-third cup sugar and beat until very stiff.

Fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm.

Their Cooking's 'Hot Stuff,' Men Say Cooks Get Warm Praise From Firemen Buddies

Pontiac Press Food Editor

"If you complain about the food, you have to do the cooking the next time the cook has his day off." That's the way Pontiac firemen at the downtown station deal with faultfinders.

We have found a new reason for doffing our hats to the firemen. Not only are they continually available for fire fighting, but they do a commendable job of housekeeping and cooking.

Over a cup of very good coffee from the huge pot that also sees almost continual duty, we watched cook-of-the-day LaVerne Milliken, make preparations for the stouffed meal. The regular cook, Rudy Larson was on his Kelly day—his day off—but we heard about him from the men. He's been chief cook for more than fifteen years.

"We love our Swede's cooking," one of them said. In fact, it came out that many of the men go home and tell their wives how Rudy does it! (We wouldn't recommend that as a way to peaceful family relations.)

Cook Milliken is a young man who learned his trade in the army. He was turning out blueberry pies with efficiency. He uses lard in his pie crust which he makes "by feel." He said he wouldn't know how to use pie crust mix. Potatoes were peeled, ready to cook, and a savory beef roast was simmering on the big iron, six-burner stove. Sliced cucumbers were chilling in the refrigerator.

The men buy their own food, each one contributing to the "kitty" for the days he works. Breakfast is coffee and doughnuts except for those who want more. Those who eat eggs chip in extra to buy them. It costs approximately a dollar a day to feed the fifteen or sixteen men always on duty, and the men are quick to praise the cooks for the excellent meals they serve.

Working under conditions that would discourage any woman who had to endure them, these men prepare appetizing meals day in and day out. Once the hayloft of the old fire barn, the kitchen is dark and hot. The working space is small and low for the men who use it. The sink is an old one; the floor is wood, uncovered by any linoleum. Cupboard and refrigerator space are at a premium; the cooks must shop daily.

Give Asparagus Quick Freezing

Don't let any grass grow under your feet after you come home from the asparagus patch. Start processing what you plan to freeze right away.

Asparagus tends to get tough, warns Roberta Hershey, extension specialist in foods and nutrition, when it stands after being harvested.

She suggests that May is a good month to freeze asparagus because it is locally plentiful. It's a good investment this time of year and you get your money's worth of nutrition as well as a treat which the family can enjoy any time of year.

Miss Hershey suggests avoiding small and woody stalks. Trim off the tough portions at the base of the stalks and wash them thoroughly and make sure you remove all the sand from under the scales.

Cut the stalks or leave them whole depending on how you want to serve them and what size containers you have.

SHOULD BE SCALDED
Asparagus, like most other vegetables, should be scalded in boiling water. Use at least 1 gallon for each pound of asparagus.

Put the asparagus in a wire basket, or similar utensil. Start timing it when the basket is lowered into the boiling water.

Small stalks should be in the water two minutes and large stalks four minutes. Remove the asparagus immediately from the water and chill in cold water or ice cube water.

It will probably take as long to cool as it did to scald. The pieces must be cold inside and out.

Package the asparagus in moisture-vapor-proof containers, label them and freeze as fast as possible.

Miss Hershey adds that asparagus should be snapped at the peak of its growing perfection—when it's young and tender. She suggests harvesting it in the cool of the day and freezing it right away.

Sausage Peach Balls Perfect for Luncheon

How long has it been since you added that perfect touch to a meat dish—the right fruit accompaniment. One of the best of such luncheon dishes is Sausage Peach Balls.

Make your favorite sausage balls, being certain to use soft bread crumbs for a light, fluffy ball. Arrange peach halves, cut side up, in a shallow baking dish. Stick several cloves around the outer edge of the peaches and place a sausage ball in center of each.

Bake in a moderate oven (350) for 45 minutes. Drain off fat and pour peach juice over Sausage Peach Balls.

Serve Exotic Snack*

Mix chopped water chestnuts with Stilton cheese and spread on top of beaten biscuit halves (these may be purchased in packages in most delicatessens). Top with a dollop of jelly.

Arrange Utensils in 'Baking Center'

The creation of a "baking center" in the kitchen is a must for the homemaker who bakes frequently.

The ideal "center" has a pastry board for rolling out pies. It's built right into a clay tile work counter. Clay tile is recommended because it is stainproof, heatproof and easy to keep clean.

The cupboard above the pastry board houses all the staples needed in baking, such as cake flour, baking powder, flavoring extracts, cocoa, vegetable dyes, etc.

Directly beneath the cupboard on a swing-out shelf is the mixer, while attractive canisters kept permanently on the clay tile counter contain sugar and all-purpose flour.

Below is the flour cabinet with a drawer for measuring cups and spoons, rolling pin and miscellaneous paraphernalia, while the bottom section holds baking pans.

bowls and flour sifter. In short, all your baking equipment is in a vertical line in one section of the kitchen to save you time and footsteps when you're "in the mood."

Punch Cools and Refreshes

If you keep your freezer and pantry shelves stocked with frozen and canned fruit juices, you'll be ready to serve Memorial Day weekend guests refreshing warm-weather beverages, quickly and delightfully, without kitchen fuss. Here's a suggestion from southern California. We think you'll welcome it.

THIRST QUENCHER—This refreshing frozen lemonade and apricot nectar cooler is best described as just wonderful. Serve it at the beginning of the outdoor season—Memorial Day—and continue serving it all summer long.

Lemonade-Apricot Cooler

1 (8-ounce) can frozen concentrate for lemonade
1/2 cup apricot nectar
1 pint lemon sherbet or lemon ice
1 quart gingerale

Combine concentrate for lemonade and apricot nectar. Put about 3 ounces of this mixture in the bottom of each of four tall glasses.

Add scoop of lemon sherbet or ice. Fill glass with gingerale. Serve immediately. Makes about 2 quarts.

Fruit-flavored soft drink powders make refreshing coolers, too. Very inexpensive, they combine well with fruit juices.

Summer Holiday Punch

1 package cherry soft drink powder
1 cup sugar
1 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
Water and ice cubes to make 2 quarts
Red and green maraschino cherries
Pineapple chunks

Combine soft drink powder, sugar, fruit juices, water and ice cubes. Stir until soft drink powder and sugar are dissolved.

Make "shish-kebab" stirrers by alternating red and green cherries with pineapple chunks on skewers or wooden sticks. Place a stirrer in each glass of punch. Makes 20 servings.

Favorite Fruit Punch

1 package orange soft drink powder
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 1/2 cups apricot nectar
Water and ice cubes to make 2 quarts
20 licorice candy sticks

Combine soft drink powder, sugar, lemon juice, apricot nectar, and water and ice cubes. Stir until soft drink powder and sugar are dissolved.

Place a licorice stick in each glass of punch for a stirrer. Twenty servings.

Strawberries Top Lemon Pie

Luscious bright red strawberries will soon be at their peak. They happily combine bright pretty color with almost universal flavor appeal.

While they're at economy prices, plan to use them in a variety of ways. This lemon pie is both creamy and tart and with its crunchy bread crumb crust it is a natural for a bright berry topping.

Lemon-Berry Pie

1 1/2 cups fine bread crumbs
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
6 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 package prepared lemon pie filling
1 pint strawberries, sliced
Sugar

Combine bread crumbs, confectioners' sugar, butter and cinnamon. Place in a 9-inch pie plate; pat it firmly against the bottom and sides of the pan to form a pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees (moderately hot oven) for 15 minutes. Cool.

Follow directions on package to make lemon pie filling. When cool, spoon into pie shell. Top with sliced berries. Sprinkle with sugar. Chill until serving time.

Cook Ground Beef in Zesty Scramble

Here's a quick, zesty way to use ground beef.

Beef Scramble on Toast
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 small onions (cut in thin strips)
1 pound ground chuck beef
1 small garlic clove (crushed)
One 8 1/2-ounce can cream style corn
Salt and pepper

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add onions and cook slowly until wilted and yellowed, stirring often.

Add beef and garlic; mash with long-handled two-tined kitchen fork until beef loses its red color and is in small crumbles.

Add corn and tomato sauce; mix well and heat. Stir in salt and pepper to taste. Serve over crisp buttered toast. Makes four servings.

Serve Scramble of Beef, Limas Right in Skillet

Serve this tasty main dish from the big skillet in which you cook it.

Beef and Lima Bean Scramble

2 tablespoons olive oil or bacon drippings
1 medium-sized onion (finely chopped)
1 green pepper (finely chopped)
1 clove garlic (minced)
1/2 pound ground chuck beef
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon (or more) chili powder
1 No. 2 can (16 or 17 ounces) whole kernel corn (drained)
1 No. 2 can (1 pound and 3 ounces) tomatoes
2 to 3 cups drained cooked large dry lima beans

Heat oil in 12-inch skillet. Cook onion, green pepper and garlic in oil over low heat, stirring often until onion softens.

Add beef; mix with long-handled fork until meat is crumbled and has lost its red color. Stir in salt, chili powder, and drained corn.

Drain tomatoes, reserving liquid; add tomatoes to skillet, stirring to break up. Mix in lima beans.

Cover and simmer about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add reserved tomato liquid, a little at a time, if needed for moistening. Pass cheese to be sprinkled over dish after it is served. Makes six servings.

Note: You will need to cook 1 cup of dry limas to make the 2 to 2 1/2 cups called for.

Vegetable salads can be garnished with watercress, mint, parsley, pimiento, grated raw carrot or sliced olives.

Fresh Vegetables Are Rich Vitamin Source

Fresh vegetables are the richest and cheapest source of supply of precious vitamins and minerals... with potatoes among the most reasonably priced.

Restaurants use 25 per cent of potatoes grown for food each year. Potatoes are often used to clean valuable old oil paintings. The cut surface of the potato is rubbed gently over the picture. When the potato slice becomes covered with dust and dirt from the painting, a fresh surface is cut in the potato and the process continues until the picture is clean.

Orange juice can be substituted for the vinegar in Harvard beets to give a tangy, different flavor.

Acerola juice, newest source of vitamin C, has been teamed with apple juice and packed in small cans in a line of baby foods. Other juices, packed for baby—pineapple juice, tomato and pear—will soon be enriched with the vitamin C rich acerola juice.

HONEY GRAHAM BLONDIES — These pale "brownies" are an entirely new version of one of America's favorite cookies. Made with very fine graham cracker crumbs instead of flour, the cookies are bound to appeal to small fry and grownups.

Honey Graham Blondies
 3 cups finely crushed sugar honey graham cracker crumbs
 1 egg, separated
 1 cup chopped nuts
 1 16-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
 1 tablespoon milk
 4 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate, grated

Roll sugar honey graham crackers into very fine crumbs with rolling pin. Beat egg yolk until thick and lemon-colored. Beat egg white stiff.

In medium-sized bowl, combine

Leftover meat loaf heated in gravy and served over freshly baked biscuits makes a "quicke" lunch for hungry youngsters.

Cubed leftover beef roast combined with diced cooked carrots, peas, celery and onion, in a well-seasoned gravy, are all the filling needed for a hearty meat pie. Simply top with a flaky pie crust and bake until it is heated through and lightly browned.

Now add 2 cups biscuit mix to egg mixture; beat until flour particles are moistened but not until smooth; batter will be lumpy. Turn into prepared pan.

Sprinkle reserved nut topping over batter. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 20 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean.

Cut in squares in pan and serve hot. Makes eight servings.

Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove from the heat but leave lid on 10 minutes.

Just before serving fill each tart with fresh fruit, sweetened to taste. Add a spoon of ice cream.

Slice French bread, diagonally, not cutting quite through the lower crust. Spread slices with herb butter. Wrap loaf in metal foil and heat in a (400) hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve piping hot.

Ever try this casserole? Layer browned hamburger, condensed cream of tomato soup and drained canned kidney beans in a baking little chopped onion. Bake in a dish. Sprinkle each layer with a

"SUDS HANGOVER" test!

 Next time your automatic washer finishes a load—so for yourself why sudsy detergents can spoil your wash! Just dip a small garment in clear water. Unrinsed suds will still come floating out! That's "Suds Hangover." Too many suds are what give your wash that dull, drab look—that stiff feel.

And that's why Lever Brothers developed Blue VIM with the lowest suds made. VIM gets out all the dirt — and VIM's lowest suds rinse away completely! Everything comes out soft, fluffy, really clean. And VIM's remarkable built-in whitener gives you whiter washes, too — even when your hot water runs low. Blue VIM with the lowest suds made lets your automatic washer do its best. That's unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers, or your money refunded.

MINCEMEAT MOCK CHERRY PIE—Cherries won't be ripe for a long, long time, but in the meantime a new kind of mock cherry pie, made with condensed mincemeat and canned cranberry sauce, is yours for the making. It's sure to be a family favorite.

Try This Appealing Pie

Mincemeat, Cranberries Masquerade as Cherries

If you never tried a mincemeat-cranberry pie, try one now, in the long wait between fruit blossoms on the trees and the time when cherries, ripe and red, are in the market.

This pie is an extra special mock cherry pie, with a flavor all its own. The cranberries contribute their characteristic tang and add a bright touch of color to the filling.

Use canned whole cranberry sauce and a 9-ounce condensed package of mincemeat for a 9-inch pie, one that is delicious in flavor, beautiful in appearance.

A criss-cross crust, with its appetizing glimpses of the filling, adds beauty to the pie. It is fun to arrange. The pie will taste as good if the strips of crust running in one direction are put on first, and those at right angles put on next. You will have a real criss-cross crust.

But a little practice at weaving the strips basketwise will give the pie maker an expert touch and the pie a greater beauty.

Make the pie in the morning. Serve it cold if the mercury decides to climb. But if a chill wind is in the air, pop the pie in the oven long enough before dinner to heat it thoroughly.

Mincemeat Mock Cherry Pie
1 9-ounce package condensed mincemeat
1 1/2 cups water
3 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 cups whole cranberry sauce for 1 1/2 cups cranberries sweetened with 1/2 cup sugar
1 recipe pastry

Break condensed mincemeat into small pieces. Add water and sugar. Place over heat and stir until lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil briskly for one minute. Cool.

Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Fill with mincemeat combined with cranberry. Moisten edge of pastry.

Cover pie with criss-cross strips, adding a rolled strip of pastry around edge, if desired. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

Avoid Mineral Oil

It is not wise for weight-watchers to use mineral oil in salad dressings because the oil absorbs vitamins A and K and so they are not available for body use. Yogurt tastes good with salad greens, or dressings may be concocted from buttermilk or tomato juice.

Kansas Wheat Lends Its Delicate Flavor to Candy

DODGE CITY, Kan. (NEA)—as long as wheat has been harvested in the golden fields of the West there has been a typical treat for the workers. It is a common sight to see a harvest worker dip his hand into the combine bin for a handful of wheat to chew.

Thanks to the ingenuity of a housewife, this delicate taste treat is now being passed on to the public.

With the idea of a wheat candy in mind, Mrs. A. G. Schroeder-meier spent several years studying cookbooks, reading every available candy recipe, talking to anyone who knew about candy-making, writing companies that process candy ingredients and plain trial and error.

After all that study, she decided the only way to achieve her goal was experimentation. Her kitchen became her laboratory.

TYPICALLY WESTERN

For two years Mrs. Schroeder-meier labored in her kitchen. She was hunting something typically Western in the food line to present to visitors and to send as gifts to relatives.

Her modest project got so far out of hand that she now finds herself a manufacturer of a new candy, WheatSweets.

Her kitchen is now a "plant" and if her product gets much more popular she will have to expand.

Wheat is the main ingredient of the candy, glamorized to the point it is unrecognized as the relative of bread and breakfast cereals.

While the formula is secret, the inventor says that marshmallows, syrup, butter and nuts are parts of it.

KANSAS PRODUCTS

Since she wanted a Western sweetmeat she sticks to Kansas products as closely as she can.

Her best sugar and the milk products come from her locality as well as the wheat.

Standards Given for Best Cooking of Vegetables

Standards for properly cooked vegetables, as outlined by Institutions Magazine of Mass-Feeding and Mass-Housing:

Appearance: Color as close to natural as possible, retaining of shape, uniform pieces if cut.

Texture: Tender, yet having some of the crispness of the raw vegetable.

Flavor: Natural flavor developed, well seasoned, avoid development of off flavors.

Nutrition: Lose as little nutritive value as possible.

Service: If to be served hot, do not allow to cool.

The letters K-A which adorn the boxes in which her candy is marketed are the first letters of the names of Mrs. Schroeder-meier and her husband—Kathryn and Alvin.

Her husband, former superintendent of Dodge City schools, hasn't had much of a part in the project. Just a few suggestions. One of them, a "gun" he discovered, pops out bite-sized portions of candy mix and cuts down his wife's work.

Mrs. Schroeder-meier is considerably surprised that her search for a souvenir has developed into a business for her. She finds herself consulting with an attorney so that her WheatSweets can be marketed elsewhere.

Everywhere her wheat flavor gains followers. Even her lawyer and many of his friends have become regular customers. State legislators got some samples and put in standing orders.

Put Pickles in Patties

Cut small sweet pickles into thin lengthwise slices. Sandwich the pickle between two flat patties of ground beef, pressing edges of meat together well. Fry in skillet and serve on hamburger buns for a pleasant surprise.

Italy Promotes Mideast Growth

Hopes to Be Industrial Big Brother to Arabian Neighbors

ROME (UP)—Italy hopes to become the industrial big brother of under-developed Arab neighbors around the southern Mediterranean and the Middle East.

Giuseppe Vedovato, top government economist, has completed a mission through the Arab countries and has promised to send at least 100 Italian technicians to advise on a number of projects the Arabs hope to launch.

Vedovato visited such Arabian capitals as Damascus, Amman, Baghdad, Beirut, Kuwait, Gadda, Kartoum, Cairo and Tripoli, as well as industrial or commercial centers like Alexandria and Aqaba.

He reported friendliness toward expanded Italian commerce and said the Arabs want Italian technical aid.

No agreements were actually signed, but members of his mission who represented Italian banking or industrial groups made direct contacts with interested persons in the various countries.

Vedovato pointed out that Arab countries are primarily interested in Italian aid for construction of hydroelectric plants, naval installations, mechanical and industrial facilities, railroads, highways and public buildings.

He also pointed out that Italians could work on a proposed giant dam on Jordan's River Jarmuk, and on the irrigation program for the fertile but arid Jordan Valley.

He also mentioned the possibility of Italian mining engineers going to Jordan to develop the rich potassium and manganese deposits located there.

Such developments of Arab natural resources would benefit Italian industry, which in turn would sell back to the Arabs many manufactured projects, Vedovato explained.

Italy herself is investing millions of lire in self-improvement with her eye on the eventual Mediterranean and Middle Eastern market.

Chicken Radio Fans Have No Squawks

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (UP)—Sixteen thousand broilers at Earl Woodrell's chicken ranch listen to radio programs from dawn to 11 p.m.—not to make them happy but to keep them alive.

In the pre-radio days, when a dog barked outside or any sudden noise came, the chickens would go into a panic, pile up, and smother by hundreds. Now the chicks are so accustomed to broadcast excitement that they don't notice barnyard noises.

Woodrell is so convinced of radio's benefit to 66,000 chickens marketed yearly that he has rigged up an automobile battery to take over automatically in case the main power supply is interrupted.

Mississippi Jail Bears Likeness to Swiss Cheese

COLUMBUS, Miss. (UP)—People who feel they can't stand confined places would be at ease if tossed into the Lowndes County Jail here.

The jail is so full of holes that prisoners remain strictly at their own risk.

"Any prisoner who wishes freedom can merely step through one of a number of holes in the floor and walk away," said Sheriff C. E. Farmer.

The sheriff quit plugging up the escape routes in the century-old jail months ago. It was a losing battle.

"As fast as I filled in one hole, they dug some place else," he explained.

Farmer said the prisoners are on the "honor system," promising to stay in jail before he'll lock them up.

At least seven inmates have gone back on their word and skipped out. Several others with a touch of wanderlust were thwarted only because of the alertness of farmer and jailer Russell Scofield.

It's so easy to dig an escape route that one prisoner made it using only a fork handle and a shattered chair leg.

"Our more dangerous prisoners are placed in city jail for safe-keeping," Farmer said.

King Cotton Still Reigns Despite Synthetics Boom

COLUMBIA, S. C. (NEA)—Despite the continuing upsurge of such wonder fibers as rayon, acrylics and the rest of their test-tube sisters, a look at the South's new 1954-55 model cotton mills shows that cotton is still the old pro of the textile industry.

And it's no contest. Today's figures show America consumes more cotton than it ever did—to the tune of a whopping 80 per cent of the nation's 12.6 billion yards of domestic mill fiber produced annually, exclusive of wool.

This comes as a considerable surprise to garment-conscious America and its modern assumptions that anything not made of a wood, chemical or seaweed derivative doesn't even rate an un-bent closet hanger.

The surest barometer of any industry—expansion—backs these figures up. In an era when most supposed King Cotton was a shaky guy, five new mills have been built in South Carolina to handle his business.

And in Sevierville, Tenn., a multi-million-dollar bale-to-bolt mill is scheduled for completion early next year.

Despite current adjustment to normal peacetime needs and a drastic decline in U.S. export of textile goods, the cotton industry has been clearing the decks for a full-fledged modernization of its business.

An old industry, cotton is moving forward on the strength of another basic thing—the birth rate.

Over 12,000 babies are born daily in this nation and the Census Bureau forecasts a population of over 200 million by 1975. All of which brightens the future for the crop which has been more important to the South than its drawl.

This expansion—outside of complete new plants—is taking place in modernization of what the industry already has.

One-story, windowless, air-conditioned plants are sprouting up throughout South Carolina's cotton country.

This is a surprising trend, because with the exception of some postwar bleacheries and finishing plants in the Southeast, cotton plant construction had been at a standstill since the mid-1920s.

In that period, mills reached a peak spindleage of about 38 million. It now is at 23 million, but the drop has been brought about by modern production methods, rather than a loss of business.

Here's how one mill operator sums up cotton's condition: "With the population increase, there'll always be a demand for quality textiles. And a well-managed mill nearly always makes a profit."

They Ought to Beef

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Harry Levine tucked a package under his arm and closed his butcher shop. Two thugs grabbed him and snatched the bundle. It consisted of a couple of pounds of hamburger, not the day's receipts.

Warns Against Frequent Baths

Doctor Says Oldsters Should Take Care Not to Dry Out Skin

NEW YORK (UP)—One of the troubles of growing older is that it may cause increasing attention to personal cleanliness, and it is sometimes necessary to tell aging people "bacteria may be less harmful than baths."

Dr. Walter B. Shelley was lecturing members of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania on the "aging skin," and he meant the skin of people of 35 and older—and, in some cases, younger. The aging skin is a "fabric which is generally thinning."

Skin which is past 35 years in age is likely to be dry. This is due to sebaceous and sweat glands secreting less, and to changes in skin chemistry. When confronted by dry skin, "it is wise to inquire in detail regarding bathing habits," he told the doctors.

"Increasing attention to cleanliness" can produce an eczema that defies efforts to cure it. "Bathing must be limited as to duration and frequency. The patient should be brought to the realization that bacteria may be less harmful than baths."

"Sun-bathing" can be overdone as much as water bathing, he said. Too much sun over a long period of time, ages the skin prematurely.

Indeed, "the skin may show disproportionately early aging as a result of the rigors of an unkind environment." By that he meant wind and rain as well as the sun.

"Preventive medicine, of cardinal importance in geriatrics, has long supported a program of sound public instruction concerning the advantages of protecting the skin from unnecessary environmental trauma," he said.

7th District of PTA Has Conference

All-Day Gathering Presided Over by Mrs. Goddard

"Our PTA Orchards" was the subject chosen by Gorton Riethmiller, administrative assistant, Highland Park Schools, Tuesday when he spoke to the 450 PTA representatives attending District Seven Conference of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers. The all-day session was held at the First Methodist Church in Pontiac.

"The structure and fruits of our PTA orchard will depend on the care and nourishment we give it. A good root structure of competent officers and committees; effective publicity; purposeful programming, not merely entertainment; participation by all members, using their energies and enthusiasm to work and study together to promote the PTA objects, will strengthen each unit of PTA," the speaker noted.

"The fruits of their efforts will be well-informed parents and teachers, improved communities, better schools, improved youth services, and increased cooperation and understanding," said Mr. Riethmiller.

The Rev. Paul Havens, pastor of the First Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

DIRECTOR PRESIDES

Mrs. Mark Goddard, director of District Seven presided. She pointed out growth of the PTA movement, stating that in District Seven alone the increase in membership was nearly 3,000, with 18 new units and one new council. There are now 185 local units and 12 councils in this district, with a total membership of 41,765.

Mrs. William Wright, president of Pontiac P.T.A. Council, welcomed the group, and greetings and best wishes were extended by Dr. Dana Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac Public Schools, Mrs. Kenneth Otto, director of district services and Mrs. Charles Neldrett, first vice president, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The remainder of the morning was spent in workshop conferences.

Presidents and vice presidents met with Mrs. Neldrett and council delegates with Mrs. Otto. Conferences on budgets and finance, and treasurers had Mrs. Edward Johnson, president of Oakland County PTA Council and Mrs. Jesse Weaver, president of Madison Lamphrey Council, as leaders.

Mrs. Clayton Sadler, president of Royal Oak Council, and Mrs. Wayne Grimm, first vice president of the Royal Oak Council, represented the by laws and nominating committees.

MORE CONFERENCES

Character education and juvenile protection chairmen met with Mrs. Charles Saunders, president of the Hazel Park Council, and hospitality and social chairmen met with Mrs. Charles Cox, president of the Ferndale Council.

Mrs. Goddard and Mrs. Holley P. Taggart conducted a conference on secondary PTA and PTSA with Francis Staley, principal of Eastern Junior High School of Pontiac, and Mrs. Donald North, president of the Pontiac High School PTA, as resource people.

A conference on legislation was conducted by Clifford Smart, legislative chairman, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, and J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools, Pontiac.

Lay leadership and adult education chairmen met with Mrs. Stewart Schweizer, consultant for the Parent-Teacher Leadership Training, MCPT.

Membership chairmen met with Mrs. Perry Merchant, president of the Berkley Council.

Mrs. Serge Foeller, chairman of the National Parent-Teacher, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Mrs. Edward Lloyd, president of the Southfield Area council, represented the PTA magazine and congress publications.

DISCUSS PROJECTS

Pre-School chairmen met with Mrs. Delbert Parry, past president of Berkley Council, and Mrs. Joseph Chayka, pre-school chairman of Ferndale.

Mrs. George McCardell, Founders Day chairman, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, conducted a conference on program and Founders Day.

Publicity chairmen and historians met with Mrs. Lyle Dusenbury, publicity chairman of the Pontiac Council, and Mrs. Martin Riopelle, historian of the Royal Oak Council. Safety and civil defense chairmen met with Mrs. John Warren, civil defense chairman of the Oakland County Council. Secretaries and parliamentarians met with Mrs. Robert Morrison, secretary of the Royal Oak Council, and Mrs. H. Eugene Field, parliamentarian, Royal Oak Council. Room representatives met with Mrs. Walter Huff, president of the East Oakland County Council.

Committee chairmen for the district meeting of the Michigan Congress of PTA were (left to right) Mrs. Beryl Sherman of Prall street, Mrs. Paul Gorman of North Genesee avenue, Mrs. William Anderson of Spence street, Mrs. Merlin Sanderson of West Hopkins street and Mrs. Lyle Cox of North Perry street.

Hospital Alumnae Hear Psychiatrist

Business Women Hold Annual Boss Night at Oakland Hills Country Club

Bartlet Wager of the State Hospital grounds escorts his secretary, Catherine McCrindle of Elizabeth Lake road, to the dinner held Wednesday evening at Oakland Hills Country Club.

"Boss Night" was held Wednesday evening at Oakland Hills Country Club. It was the second such event sponsored by Tipacon Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. Among those attending were (left to right) Lillian Laska of South Shore drive, Watkins Lake; T. R. Nellis of Chippewa road, Mrs. Ossie Gates of Lapeer road, Dr. W. O. Roeser of Neome drive and Kay Sumpter of Porter street.

Secretaries Ask Bosses to Dinner

Bosses got a break last night. They were invited—some 40 or so of them—to forget all their business worries and relax for an evening as guests of their secretaries.

The occasion was the annual Boss Night dinner of Tipacon Chapter of the American Business Women's Assn. It was held at Oakland Hills Country Club.

Mrs. Ossie Gates was general chairman of the affair.

Guest speaker for last night's dinner was an Oakland County woman who is making a career of helping girls who are most in need of help: Mrs. Barbara Hall Watt, superintendent of the State Girls' Training School at Adrian. Her topic was "The Three B's."

OUTLINES 3 B'S

The B's stood for bifocals, bridgework and bicarbonate.

She urged that we look ahead with the double vision of the bifocal lenses: Long distance vision for proper evaluations over the years ahead; stronger vision for a closer look and proper appreciation of things close at hand.

She recalled that bridgework after defective teeth have been removed often creates more strength than before. Citing some of her work with friendless girls at the school, she likened the activity to bridgework to repair earlier damage, and urged appreciation of home and friends by those of us more fortunate.

Declaring the world is suffering from "spiritual indigestion" she urged more relaxation from the pressing problems and tensions of the day as a start toward real solutions.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Ossie Gates, general chairman for the event.

QUARTET ENTERTAINS

Members and guests were entertained with singing by the "Treblemakers" quartet, comprised of Edward Reddick, William Rowell, Glen VanTassel and Victor VanYorx. A skit, directed by Mary Parrish, was presented by Marlene Crocker, Anne Coomb and Carol Ann Messer.

Mrs. H. C. Brooks, president of Tipacon Chapter, introduced other officers at the dinner. They include Mrs. Walter Asher, vice president; Mrs. Carroll Welsh, recording secretary; Mrs. Ruby Brusha, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Steven Gibbs, treasurer.

Mrs. Barbara Watts, (left) superintendent of the Girls' Training School at Adrian was speaker for the second "Boss Night" dinner held by ABWA Wednesday at Oakland Hills Country Club. Photographed with Mrs. Watts are Mrs. H. C. Brooks, president of Tipacon Chapter (of South Johnson avenue) and Harry Pearce of Oneida road.

Happily, Enjoying Life to the Hilt Is Infectious

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Dear A: Yesterday I was trying to describe you to a woman who came to ask my advice.

"I am so depressed that I just feel like jumping out the window," she kept saying. "Nobody and nothing interests me any more."

That was when I thought of you and it seemed to me that hearing about you might help the woman who is sick and tired of her life.

I began with your 10th birthday, for I've always been fond of the story your mother used to tell. Seems you got up that morning at 4 (because you'd heard that you were born at 4 a. m.) and went bounding down stairs, waking everybody on the way.

You said you had waited so long to have an age with two figures that you didn't want to miss a single minute of it. I know just what happened, too. At first the family, drowsy and cross at being waked up so early, would have been inclined to scold.

But then they would have caught the infection of your joyous spirit and begun to help you celebrate.

That 10th birthday is typical of you, my dear. You have such a tremendous zest for life that you carry other people along with you when you begin to enjoy.

The day I met you, I remember, it had most disappointingly rained. I was visiting a friend in your home town and she had planned a picnic.

Everybody gathered at her house and we were all as gloomy as the day. Until you came.

I can still see you—hurrying in as if you still didn't want to miss a minute of what was going to happen.

"Oh good," you said happily to the hostess. "You've got the fire going. Isn't it wonderful? Now we can all sit around on the floor, toast sandwiches and tell fortunes in the fire!"

I can't remember how the fortune-telling turned out but I know we had a perfectly lovely time on the picnic that we had thought was spoiled by rain.

Somebody told me the other day about the father of poet Emily Dickinson, who once rang the fire bell to get people out to see a particularly beautiful purple and gold sunset.

That's what you're always doing—finding beauty in a garden, a view or a human being and then ringing a bell to call everybody out to see.

I hope the woman to whom I described you didn't get the idea that you are one of those irritating Pollyanna-creatures who struggle and strain over being cheerful.

The charm of you is that you are so busy having fun you haven't time to magnify trifles the way the rest of us do.

Even when you went to the hospital for that had operation, you never talked about your pains or fears, only about the camping trip you were planning for your Girl Scout troop and the new baby your sister was expecting.

After the operation you somehow got to know nearly everybody

Animal Welfare Unit to Hold Thrift Sale

Members of the Oakland County Animal Welfare Society are holding a benefit thrift sale from 10 a. m. until 5 tonight at Knights of Columbus Hall on South Saginaw street.

Proceeds will be used toward the support of the humane officer and upkeep of the animal ambulance.

The society does not receive county appropriations or funds from any community chest. Membership contributions and bequests are the society's only source of income.

Tricks With Wallpaper Create Room Airiness

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

A white background wallpaper, lightly patterned in one color or two, so often is the answer to what's best for a bedroom.

It's a good solution to Mrs. C. T.'s problem.

She writes, "Wall and woodwork the same color makes a room look larger, I know, but my tiny bedroom has white woodwork which can't be changed, and the walls are no condition to paint."

"They must be papered. Can you help me to make this room look larger and as attractive as I can?" Wallpaper that shows plenty of white background, and to match the woodwork, is the next best thing to make the room look larger.

And it can decorate the kind of room you might choose anyway, without the restrictions you name.

Two shades of blue, for example, on white create an effect that's as fresh and crisp as a party china plate.

Or you might like pink, brisk and smart, or dainty. Clear leaf greens on white are delightful to live with, too.

You're in luck, because papers of this type are now easy to find.

'Nasty' Job Gives Couple Pin Money

By ANNE HEYWOOD

If you are looking for a project, for your spare time, which will add a little extra to your income, here is a suggestion:

From now on, collect a list of "nuisances."

Whenever you hear somebody say, "Gosh, what a nuisance it is to do this!" make a note of it.

Maybe you could take on a nuisance-activity, which other people would pay you for doing.

THE LIST GREW

Several years ago, I made this suggestion of a middle-aged couple who were planning for the day when the husband would be retired.

They latched on to the suggestion and, from time to time, would write me very amusing letters about how the list was growing.

And now the final letter has come, announcing the outcome. Here is what they say:

COMMON COMPLAINT

"About a year ago, we found another 'nuisance'-wrapping and crating things.

The complaints came from all kinds of people: Neighbors who had to send packages to children in far-away schools; friends with big or small packages to wrap and send by mail, freight or express; other friends, owners of small shops, who have to send out mail orders and the like.

"They all said, 'What a nuisance.'"

"So we decided to go into the packing business. The initial expense was not high.

"We have a good, big table, good wrapping paper, twine, labels, corrugated paper, excelsior and we collect wooden crates from local stores.

We sent postcards to announce our service, have already had many takers. Since we have a car, we can pick up merchandise to be wrapped.

Ohioans Announce Recent Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grills of Cincinnati, Ohio, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, the former Christine Grills of Dwight avenue, on April 23.

She spoke her marriage vows to Paul F. Bays, son of Mrs. Ferie Bays of Keego Harbor and the late Mr. Bays, at Central Methodist Church.

Dr. Milton Bank officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Men Take Over KP for Banquet

Husbands and fathers of Donelson Baptist Church took over KP duties when the church held its mother and daughter banquet Tuesday evening at the CAI Building in Waterford.

After the kitchen parade, when they marched around the dining room, the men served a family-style ham dinner to 200. They added a Parisienne hat style show to the merriment, modeling their own creations.

Mrs. H. H. Savage of First Baptist Church was guest speaker, taking the theme of her message from the Book of Ruth. Mrs. Albert Langdon sang "When Jesus Came."

"Fuss on a Bus" was the title of a reading given by Mrs. Albert Leighton, and Mrs. Hilda Nye of Wayne Baptist Church was toastmistress.

Wise Men Discover the Mechanical Way to Win Feminine Hearts

NEW YORK (UP)—Women long to learn something about the inner workings of the family car, but until recently wise men foolishly overlooked this mechanical way to feminine hearts.

Now the oversight is being remedied on a national scale. The following scene can be duplicated in major cities all over the country. Place: Maintenance department of automobile dealer. Center of the floor is cleared of cars and filled with folding chairs. These, in turn, filled with women, some young, some white haired.

Time: Evening (male instructor speaks as scene opens). Instructor: Now that you've seen the film on internal combustion, are there any questions?

ON ALL CYLINDERS Woman in back row: What does it mean when they say the car isn't hitting on all cylinders? Young girl on right: What makes a car stall?

Three women in rapid succession: How do you keep that green stuff from forming on the battery? Where is the carburetor? What makes my car use so much oil?

Instructor (looking alarmed): Now, ladies, you can't learn all about a car in one lesson. We'll take a 15-minute break now. We have coffee and cookies for you, and our mechanics are

Wants Justice of Peace to Untie Wedding Knot

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—A Canadian has written to the Great Falls justice of the peace who performed his marriage ceremony in 1944 that he wants the justice to untie the knot.

The man wrote from Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., that his wife is living with another man. Justice John A. Isaacson wrote back that he could not untie the marital knot and advised that an attorney be consulted.

the bottom of a car on the grease rack. Another leaned over a stripped-down chassis and peered at the motor as a mechanic explained it. And a third group watched while a second mechanic demonstrated the use of spark plugs.

This particular scene took place this week at the James F. Waters, Inc., automobile company in Long Island City, one of three dealers in this area to open courses called "Gas, Gaskets and Glamour."

These courses were launched nationally just over a year ago by the Alenite Division of the Stewart-Warner Corp., and already 18,000 women have graduated from the six-lesson course.

"I feel stupid when I take the car into a garage and say it isn't working right," one woman said. "When the mechanic asks what's wrong I just have to say I don't know."

HUSBANDS NO HELP

Most of the women to sign up here were married. Either their husbands didn't know anything about cars either, they said, or they did know but wouldn't take the time to tell their wives.

NEW YORK (AP)—Police searched the 24-story Cofit on Exchange Building for two hours yesterday after receiving a telephoned bomb warning. They found nothing. Exchange business was not interrupted.

Reds Fight Religion With Star-Gazing

MOSCOW (AP)—To give the Russian peasants the thrill of star-gazing—and, also, to propagandize them on the theme of natural sciences vs. religion—the Soviet Astronomy Societies are sending mobile observatories to tour the countryside.

The blue bus of the planetarium is becoming an increasingly familiar sight. In it are mounted powerful telescopes and then the farmers are invited to come and look.

First they are given a lecture on astronomy in which the lecturer invites the farmers to "become imaginary passengers on a space ship . . . This is what you will see."

Also they get considerable atheistic propaganda in these lectures which dispute the Bible story of the creation of the world.

Score Worried That Fans May Ask Too Much of Him

BOSTON (U)—Herb Score, Cleveland's rookie southpaw pitching sensation, is worried that fans may expect too much of him, but so far he's more than lived up to advance notices.

The 21-year-old fast-ball artist tossed a three-hit shutout at Boston Wednesday while his teammates went on a batting spree for a 19-0 victory including an 11-run fifth inning.

Score, with the confidence of a veteran on the mound, showed control (he allowed only three walks) and a fine curve ball to the 11,400 Fenway Park customers who came out to watch the kid his teammates call "the phenom."

"This was probably my best game this year," said Score in the Indians' clubhouse after his performance. "Of course, the guys got a lot of runs and that makes it easier, you know."

In winning his fourth game against two setbacks, Score struck out 9 batters to boost his total to 66 in 56 innings. He's given 34 hits, 36 walks and 17 earned runs.

"He's a smart kid," said Cleveland Manager Al Lopez of Score whose pitching job lost some of its luster in the midst of all the slugging. "He came to me when we got a good lead and he said he was going to practice on his curve and his changeup. Naturally, I told him to go ahead."

"His fast ball reminds me of Lefty Grove's. You know, you can see it coming when it leaves his hand, but as it approaches the momentum increases and it's by you before you realize it."

Heralded as a fast-ball specialist who set an American Assn. record of 330 strikeouts with Indianapolis last year, Score drew praise for his snapping curve ball.

"He's just as good as everybody told me he was," commented Ted Williams, the greatest student of pitchers and styles in the game. "He has an easy motion, but the thing that surprised me was that he threw so many curve balls."

Frick Seeking Details of NL 'Turtle' Race

Wagering Is Reported on 'Speed' Test for Brook, Card Catchers

ST. LOUIS (U)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has asked Managers Walter Alton of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals for details of a match race between Rube Walker and Del Rice, catchers for the two clubs.

The race was run before Tuesday night's game here. Frick, among other things, wanted to know who bet and how much.

Stanky sent his explanation to Frick Wednesday but declined to say what he told the commissioner except "I wouldn't sleep if I didn't tell the truth."

Alton said he would talk with Club President Walter O'Malley before answering the query. He said he didn't know of any betting and knew nothing of the race until he saw lines drawn in the outfield.

Rice won the race by about a yard. It was billed "featuring the two slowest men in the league." Goggles on the amount wagered placed it at about $45. Veteran players were surprised by Frick's interest. Such races are not unusual and neither is friendly betting.

Jeffs, Lincs Are Junior High Track Victors

Hawkins Breaks Hurdle Mark; Skinner Tops Old Shot Put Record

Powerful Jefferson Junior High won its 4th straight dual meet victory and Lincoln's Railsplitters won their 1st of the season in Wednesday's program at Winer Field.

The Jeffs whipped Eastern, 64-13, to 12-3-3, while Lincoln downed Weber, 32-2-3 to 24-1-3.

Bray won both the 100-yard low hurdles and the broad jump. Seyler took the pole vault and 100-yard dash.

Two records were broken in the Jefferson-Eastern meet. Jim Hawkins, the Jeffs' versatile star, shattered his own 100-yard low hurdle record of 11.5 seconds with a fine clocking of 11.3. He also leaped 20 feet, 2 1/2 inches to win the broad jump.

Eastern's Jim Skinner broke the 6-year-old field record in the shot with a toss of 50 feet, 11 inches. Annual league meet is scheduled next Wednesday at Winer with Jefferson a solid favorite for title honors.

MHSAA Revises Its Class Method

LANSING (U)—Because of increased enrollments, the representative council of the state high school athletic association has reshuffled its method of determining high school classes.

Class A schools now will be those with an enrollment of 900 or more instead of the present 800. Class B schools will be those with enrollments between 375 and 899 instead of the present 325 to 799.

Class C has been upped from 175 to 374 inclusive instead of 150 to 325. Class D will be 174 pupils or less instead of the present 150 or less.

The association agreed that the 9th grade and above would be considered in counting enrollments except when a city has separate junior high schools.

That was the 1st time any woman had broken 80 on the layout, officials say. Peggy had 35-42-77.

Right behind Peggy was Bonnie Randolph, another St. Clair female, who carded a 78 within a half hour after Mrs. Bell finished. Willy Smith, also from St. Clair, puffed with Mrs. Bell, had 79. Bonnie had 36-42-78 and Willy 37-42-79.

All are entered for the 72-hole Wolverine, in which the country's top feminine shotmakers are expected to compete for shares of sizeable purse.

Cranes Victors for 8th Time

The worm has turned for Cranbrook's baseball team. The Cranes marked up their 8th victory of the season Wednesday by beating Dearborn, 9-1, and now boast a 3-game winning streak.

Cranbrook has 6 losses on its record—all by one run. Cranbrook broke a 1-1 tie in the 4th inning with 5 runs to sail away the game for Dave Campbell and Pete Bedford, who relieved in the 6th.

Pete Dawkins singled with the bases loaded to start the run production in the 4th. Jim Grube, Joe Prendergast and Marc Cunningham followed with singles and George Gary followed with a triple.

Cranbrook added 3 more tallies in the 6th on successive line drive hits by Cunningham, Dawkins, Grube (triple), Gary and Dave Cooper. Grube knocked in 5 runs with a triple and 2 singles, while Gary sent home 3 with his triple and single.

Women Stars Now Have Mark to Shoot for

St. Clair Pro, Peggy Bell Hangs Up 77 Over Forest Lake Layout

Shotmakers in the May 26-29 Wolverine Ladies Open golf tournament at Forest Lake Country Club now has something at which to shoot, besides the greens, on the revamped, tricky layout.

First formal course record was set up yesterday afternoon, when Peggy Kird Bell, the personable St. Clair CC women's professional, made the circuit in 77 in a practice round. Peggy shot from men's tees, which will be used in the forthcoming Wolverine test. Par is 72 for the 6,418 yard course.

That was the 1st time any woman had broken 80 on the layout, officials say. Peggy had 35-42-77.

Right behind Peggy was Bonnie Randolph, another St. Clair female, who carded a 78 within a half hour after Mrs. Bell finished. Willy Smith, also from St. Clair, puffed with Mrs. Bell, had 79. Bonnie had 36-42-78 and Willy 37-42-79.

All are entered for the 72-hole Wolverine, in which the country's top feminine shotmakers are expected to compete for shares of sizeable purse.

Research Set for Big Leagues

NEW YORK (U)—Major league baseball, figuring it may be too close to the woods to see the trees, has turned to a private research firm to get the low down on what's going on in its own backyard.

Commissioner Ford Frick announced a plan Monday which will survey baseball's current problems for the purpose of "keeping up with the times and getting our house in order."

The survey is to begin next week the commissioner said, and probably will take all season to complete. Frick added, however, that a preliminary report may be ready for the club owners' summer meeting sometime in July.

Stanky Happy as Cards Sweep Brooklyn Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the St. Louis Cardinals are winning, you'll never find a pair of twinkling eyes to match Eddie Stanky's eyes. And the little guy's peepers are flashing blue flames right now.

The Cardinals have won five straight and six of their last seven. But more important, their 3-2 success last night swept a series from Brooklyn—something the Cards have managed just four other times since Stanky took over as manager in 1952.

Brooklyn is dragging a three-game losing streak as it heads home from a dismal Western trip on which it lost five of nine. But the Dodgers still hold a 7 1/2-game lead in the National League.

Chicago is second with the Cardinals third. The Cubs moved up by taking a double-header from the failing Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and 7-5. Milwaukee stumbled from the runner-up spot by losing to New York's Giants 4-2, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-1.

That left the stadings jammed behind the Brooks. The Cards are nine percentage points behind the Cubs and three points up on the Giants. And the New Yorkers are just two points ahead of the Braves.

In the American, Cleveland leads by 1 1/2 after smearing Boston 19-0.

New York swept its series from Chicago's White Sox 11-6, while Detroit beat Baltimore 6-3 in 10 innings and Washington defeated Kansas City 7-2.

Not only have the Cardinals apparently found themselves, but Stanky's finally getting the pitching he's missed for so long. His guys have allowed just three runs in their last five games and he dumped Brooklyn with only one call to the bullpen.

The hail for help brought in Barney Schitz last night and the 6-2 right-hander got the final two outs with the tying run on second to protect Harv Haddix's second victory. With two of their runs unearned, the Cards jammed all their scoring into the first two innings. From there on, loser Johnny Podres and Clem Labine permitted only one other base runner while holding the Cards to four hits for the game.

At Milwaukee, Hank Thompson's two-run single got the Giants rolling in a three-run sixth. Warren Spahn was the loser while Johnny Antonelli spun a six-hitter.

The Cubs smacked the Phils with the help of poor fielding in the opener and three home runs in the nightcap. Sad Sam Jones, making his first start since no-hitting Pittsburgh, fanned 10 for the victory, but gave way to Hal Jeffcoat in the ninth. Jeffcoat also came on in the nightcap, relieving John Andre in the fourth, for the decision.

Cleveland waltzed behind Herb Score's three-hitter. The rookie fanned nine. Willard Nixon was knocked out in an 11-run fifth inning that saw Vic Wertz drive in five runs on a grand-slammer and a single.

At Yankee stadium, Mickey Mantle powered a bases-loaded homer after a controversial interference play that might have ended the inning except for Umpire Ed Hurley's ruling. The Sox had four homers, two by Vern Stephens, but they weren't enough. Bob Grim, the winner with help from Bobby Morgan, hit Minnie Minoso in the head with a pitch but after X-ray examination it was reported the Sox outfielder won't miss any action.

Al Kaline's single scored the tie-breaking run for Detroit, giving Frank Lary his third victory after no-hitting the Orioles through the first five innings.

At Washington, the Senators scored four in the first, with Tommy Umphlett and Pete Runnels driving in two each, and coasted past the A's.

Rookie Rudy Minarcin won his first major league start for the Redlegs behind Tex Kluszwski's two-run homer and Wally Post's bases-loaded double.

Those Were the Days

Writer Corum Recalls Memories of Past in Boxing, Liked Rocky, Cockell Scrap

By BILL CORUM

CHICAGO (INS)—First of all, let me say that it's pleasant to be back at the old stand. Likely more pleasant for me than for you readers. But a fellow can hope.

A phoned a friend in N.Y. from San Francisco and the lady said to me: "It's a coincidence that you should call right now because I was reading an interesting column about Jack Kearns and Mickey Walker when they were in London."

That must have been the time that "the doctor" and Michael the painter donned topers and striped trousers for their afternoon strolls in Piccadilly Circus, when the "Toy Bulldog" went over there to fight a bloke named Milligan.

Those were great days in the fast-fighting business. But may I say that there was nothing wrong with being at San Francisco's last heavyweight championship in 40 years during the last few days.

Stanky sent his explanation to Frick Wednesday but declined to say what he told the commissioner except "I wouldn't sleep if I didn't tell the truth."

Alton said he would talk with Club President Walter O'Malley before answering the query. He said he didn't know of any betting and knew nothing of the race until he saw lines drawn in the outfield.

It would be difficult for me to tell you what a warm feeling it gave me to go out to Fisherman's Wharf with a friend down the years, Tom Laird, and have the minestrone and spaghetti at the place where they have the three big pictures of the DiMaggios, Joe and Dom and Vince, on the wall as you enter the door.

Even if the soup hadn't been so good, even if "the Clipper," the peerless Joe, wasn't one of your all-time idols in sports, the graciousness of Reno, who looks enough like Joe to give you a doubletake, made you glad that you hadn't missed out on going there.

And it was nice to see, and be with again, Jimmy McLarnin and a blown-up "Henney" Armstrong, two fair fist fighters they were, and the ineffable Max Baer, if that means what I think and if it doesn't it won't matter, because Max won't know the difference.

As for promoter Jim Norris' fight, it was better than most anticipated. Game men come in all sizes and shapes, and Don Cockell, the Englishman, is a true game one.

Ted's Freedom Costly

Williams Finds Divorce Can Be Expensive Deal

MIAMI (U)—The Florida Supreme Court will be asked to set aside a circuit court ruling giving Ted Williams' wife $50,000 in lump sum alimony and $125 a week until it is paid.

Notice of appeal from Judge George E. Holt's ruling, handed down a week ago and granting the Boston Red Sox baseball star's wife a divorce settlement, was filed here Wednesday.

The divorce, which paved the way for Williams to return to baseball after a temporary retirement, was handed down May 9. The $125 would insure Ted's wife an income until the $50,000 is paid, which must be done within two years, the judge ruled.

Mrs. Doris S. Williams, whom Ted married at Pensacola, Fla., in 1944, also was awarded the $42,000 family home in South Miami and the family Cadillac. Williams was ordered to pay $12,000 court costs and attorneys fees.

In addition, Williams was ordered to pay $100 a month for support of their daughter, Barbara Joyce, 7, until she is 18 years old.

Mrs. Williams testified that she and the baseball star "just could not get along" and told the court Ted said "he didn't think he wanted to be married." Williams did not contest the divorce and did not take the stand.

Sons of Golf Pros Entered in Annual Press Tourney

It is only natural that sons of professional golfers should become outstanding performers on the links themselves.

The Pontiac Press Prep tournament will hold its 4th annual renewal at Pontiac's Municipal golf course Monday and as has been the case each year, names already famous in area golfing circles will be among the entries.

In the first tournament in 1952, Lloyd Syron, son of Pontiac Country Club owner-pro Frank Syron, and Tommy Watrous, son of veteran Oakland Hills Country Club pro Al Watrous, both were members of the Shrine High team.

Watrous was the winner of the Class B medalist honors. In 1953, both returned and Syron won both tournament and Class B medals. He outlasted Joe Glass of Birmingham in a playoff after each had shot 73 for the regulation 18 holes.

Last year, the professional sons' banner was carried by Mike Conroy, son of North Hills Golf Club pro Leo Conroy. Though only a 14-year-old freshman at the time, Conroy posted a 77 to help his Birmingham High team to its 2nd straight team title.

Conroy returns this year as a sophomore on the Maples' entry. Another "professional's" son in the field will be George Catto of Troy High. Catto's father is Bill Catto, genial professional at Sylvan Glen Golf Club.

Another Syron may pop into the lineup since Frank Syron, Jr. is listed as an alternate for the 5 regular members of the Shrine team. Young Frank is a 15-year-old freshman.

Playoffs have been necessary to determine medalists in 2 of the three Press tourneys to date. As previously mentioned, Syron defeated Glass for 1953 honors, and Tim Baldwin of Birmingham had to go an extra hole to beat Bob Turner of Southfield last year after each had posted 76s.

John Rogers of Pontiac was medalist in the original tourney in 1952 with a brilliant 1-under par 68. At that he only was 2 strokes better than teammates Bill Pembroke and Bob Runyon.

Watrous (Class B) and Curt Dempster of Bloomfield Hills (C) were tops in their respective classes in '53. Syron won tourney and Class B medals in 1953, while Glass was low in Class A and Dempster repeated in Class C.

Last year, Baldwin's "sudden death" victory was good for both tourney and Class A medals, while Bob Stallsmith of Milford led the Class B golfers. Another Bloomfield Hills player, Dave Van Every, won the Class C medal.

This year, Class C has been included with "B" because of the lack of schools of "C" classification. Medals will be awarded to winning team members, the tournament medalist and runnerup. Low-scoring players in both Class A and B-C also will be honored. Pairings and exact tee-off times will be listed in Friday's Press, but the tourney will begin at approximately 10 a.m. The Pontiac Parks and Recreation department annually co-operates in the sponsorship of the tourney by donating the use of the golf course.

DETROIT (U)—Wily Willie Pep, the former feather weight champion of the world, was vindicated of a galling defeat today, but the taste of revenge left him anything but thrilled.

The aging Willie danced and jabbed his way to one of the most one-sided victories of his long career last night, gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over an inept Gil Cadilli.

It was a rematch of their March 30 fight at Parks Air Force Base in California, taken by Cadilli in a much disputed decision that led to the suspension of the two judges.

Pep, who in his day has performed before some of the biggest crowds ever to watch a featherweight bout, moaned his disappointment when he noted the attendance in Olympia Stadium—744.

It was the smallest crowd a boxing show ever attracted in the 25-year history of the stadium, which can accommodate 20,000. Gross gate was $883.

"How long has it been since I fought before such a small crowd?" Pep pondered in his dressing room. "Never—never in my 16 years. This is it. Why, I drew more people than this even when I was rained out of a fight."

Detroit fans apparently didn't expect much of a battle between the 32-year-old ex-champ from Hartford, Conn., and his 23-year-old opponent from Los Angeles.

The fight was all Willie Pep. He took command at the opening bell and hardly gave Cadilli a chance to land a solid blow from that point on.

Willie was far from the Pep of old, when he and champion Sandy Saddler staged their famous braves for the title, but he boxed a clever fight. In the closing rounds he connected consistently with flashing flurries of lefts and rights that left Cadilli bewildered.

Detroit Gives $85,000 for Olympic Fund

DETROIT (U) — A nationwide drive to send United States athletes to the 1956 Olympics in Australia is $85,000 richer today, thanks to Detroit contributions.

Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, chairman of the U.S. Olympic committee, who came to the Motor City yesterday to accept the check, said "This is a new high."

"It proves again that Detroit is behind the move to bring the 1960 games to this community," he said.

Detroit will make an effort to get the 1960 games at an international Olympic meeting in Paris in June.

The duck decoy was originated in America early in the 1800's.

Mickey Grasso Signed

INDIANAPOLIS (U) — Mickey Grasso, 33-year-old catcher recently released by the New York Giants, was signed today as a free agent by the Indianapolis Indians of the American Assn.

Grasso was with Cleveland last year but was injured and appeared in only four regular season games and one inning of the first World Series game.

Frank Kellert of the Dodgers was a basketball and football star at Oklahoma A&M from 1946 to 1949.

DALLAS (U) — The Southwest Conference wanted it known today that it considered the coaching staff guilty along with the Texas A&M alumni of violating the athletic recruiting rules and the coaches shouldn't shift the blame. Football Coach Paul Bryant of

'Bear' as Guilty as Alumni, Says SW Loop

Texas A&M said if that was so he'd like for the specific charges, on which the conference based his school's 2-year probation, to be given a public airing.

Dr. Edwin D. Mouzon of Southern Methodist University, president of the conference, gave out with the implication that he figured Bryant was just throwing up a smoke screen when he retorted: "While Mr. Bryant has done a fine job of trying to tell the public he is not aware of the charges he is just as aware of them as I am."

indicated there would be no change in the attitude of his group that the specific charges would not be publicized.

The faculty committee, governing body of the conference, in its meeting at Houston Saturday placed A&M on probation, suspended its letters of intent (contracts that insure a boy attending one of the schools) and forbade A&M participating in post-season contests. It merely said A & M alumni and coaches were being disciplined for violation of the recruiting rules.

Bryant commented that if any rules were violated by the coaches it was without their knowledge and it certainly would cease. W. T. Doherty, president of the A&M board of directors, said: "It is extremely difficult to control actions of an enthusiastic alumnus which was the case in this instance."

So the conference, in a telegraphic poll, released a statement Wednesday that it had observed news reports which attributed the disciplinary action almost exclusively to the activities of the alumni and that these reports "have been encouraged by or originated with Coach Paul Bryant." It pointed out that at the meeting Saturday, it cited both the coaching staff and alumni as violating the recruiting rules.

Bryant's reply was that he had requested the A&M athletic council to ask the conference to "put in there what we were supposed to have done. We'd like to see it. We'd like for the public to know what it is."

Dr. Mouzon's comment implied that Bryant could get the charges if he asked A&M's conference representative.

After your backswing is well under way you should start slowly cocking your wrists until at the top of the backswing hands and wrists are in the position pictured. Now the wrists are cocked. Most beginning golfers have trouble getting that left wrist bent in as pictured at the top. And by IN, I mean the back of your hand tilts toward the back of your wrist.

If the wrist does not reach this position your hand is in a weak hitting position. When your wrist is correctly positioned, as pictured, the shaft of the club is parallel to the direction line you want the ball to follow and the toe of the club points down at the ground. This is important in order that when the wrist throw is delivered, in the last third of the downstroke, the clubface will smack squarely against the ball at right angles to the direction line. Have your wrists as pictured at the top of your backswing. Then both hands operate as one powerful tool.

Orioles' Marsh Hurts Elbow During Practice

BALTIMORE (UP) — Infielder Fred Marsh of the Baltimore Orioles suffered a fractured right elbow before last night's game with the Detroit Tigers.

Marsh, who was shagging flies in the outfield during pregame batting practice, ran into the concrete outfield wall and was taken to Union Memorial Hospital for examination. Oriole club physician Dr. Erwin Mayer estimated that Marsh will be out of action for six weeks.

Dairy Club Is Blanked in Waterford Softball League Tilt, 10-0

Harian (Fat) Keith hurled a 3-hit shutout Wednesday night as the Waterford Lions Club blanked Richardson Dairy, 10-0, in a Waterford Recreation Softball League game at Drayton's Township Park.

Keith struck out 7 and didn't issue a pass, as the Lions collected only 6 hits, but got the aid of 6 Dairyman errors. Jack Nelson finished up pitching chores for the Lions.

The Lions scored 5 runs in the 1st inning, featured by Dean Parmenter's triple with the bases loaded.

A double header is slated for the Drayton Park tonight with sylvan Center meeting Drayton Drug at 7 p.m. and Day's Sanitary opposing Gidley Electric at 8:30.

Bengals Hoping Young Players Form Keystone

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit Tigers officials said today they hoped they had a new keystone combination in the making.

The Tigers announced yesterday that they signed Thomas O'Brien, Cambria Heights, N.Y., a 2nd baseman, and James Hughes, Prosper, Tex., a shortstop, to minor league contracts. They said they hoped the two youngsters would furnish the Tigers with a new double play unit after a few years in the minors.

O'Brien, 22, is attending New Britain (Conn.) Teachers College and will be assigned to a Detroit farm club this summer.

Hughes, 21, played three years at Sam Houston State College and will report to Durham, N. C.

Cranbrook Site for Regional Tennis Tourney

Six 'A' Teams, 8 in Class B Are Listed for Two-Day Test

Pontiac High School's tennis team will find the going rough this week-end in the MHSAA regional tournament at Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills on Friday and Saturday, May 20-21.

Classes A and B will compete for regional titles. Class A schools entered are Royal Oak, Port Huron, Birmingham, Mt. Clemens, Berkley and Pontiac.

Chiefs' netters, winner of only one meet this spring in nine attempts, are not conceding much chance at Cranbrook. Art Van Ryzin, coaching PHS during Vic Lindquist's absence, will rely on the same boys who have carried the burden thus far.

Singles players Eddie Macadaeg, Kent Mills, Ted Wiersema, Gary Thomas and Kurt Lauchner are slated for duty, while Bill Bonner, Bob Erb, Gary Wylie, Paul Kamper and John Harrington will play in doubles.

Class B teams are Livonia Bentley, Van Dyke Fitzgerald, Northville, St. Clair, Port Huron, St. Stephens, Clareville and the host school, Cranbrook.

Regional winners move on to the state championships in Kalamazoo, June 3-4.

Five 'Seeds' in 1st Round Wins

Birmingham Girl Also Advances in Kingswood Net Test

Five seeded netters came through unscathed in Wednesday's opening round of the Michigan State Girls' Open tennis championships for 18-year-olds at Kingswood School, Cranbrook, in Bloomfield Hills.

Joyce Pniewski, Gwen McEvans, Darnella Everson and Virginia Hesse, all Hamtramck girls, were winners, as was Judy Hagan, from Middletown, Ohio. Remaining seeded stars will see action today.

One Oakland County player, Birmingham's Jane Collier, survived, but three other area entrants were casualties. Nancy Buxton, Katherine Sherby and Susan Webb, all of Rochester, dropped 1st round decisions.

Wednesday's results: Virginia Dyes defeated Judy Knudsen, 6-2, 6-4; Eleanor Hasser def. Nancy Butson, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1; Darnella Everson def. Marilyn Burkhart, 6-0, 6-0; Gwen McEvans def. Jill Arnold, 6-0, 6-2; Virginia Hesse def. Jane McKenzie, 6-0, 6-0; Barbara Cossin def. Mary Pestrall, 6-2, 6-0; Carolyn Wolf def. Sally Roman, default; Mary Pestrall def. Solons Reject Senate Ice Fishing Measure LANSING (AP)—The House has dealt a serious blow to a Senate-approved bill to repeal an old ban against non-resident ice fishing in six southwestern Michigan counties.

Led by Rep. John W. Fletcher (R-Contreville), the lower chamber amended the bill to permit ice fishing by only those out-of-state anglers who own property in the state.

The fishing ban applies to Berrien, Branch, Cass, Hillsdale, St. Joseph and Van Buren counties.

Tartar Stars Honored

DETROIT (UP)—Walter Jenkins, a senior tackle, and Clarence Straughn, a freshman guard, were named the "most valuable" players on Wayne University's football and basketball squads at the Wayne All-Sports Day banquet last night.

VIKINGS BEST — Walled Lake High School track captain Don Pounds has been named the school's outstanding athlete for 1954-55.

Selection was announced by athletic director Tom Evans. Pounds has set school and conference records in cross country, and he has been named to the all state cross country team in both 1953 and 1954. He also is an outstanding member of the Viking Track Team.

Pre-Game Fears Wrong, Hurler Tosses No-Hitter

GRACEVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Despite a pre-game premonition that he was in for a bad night, Panama City pitcher Bill McNeil hung up an Alabama-Florida League no-hitter Tuesday night with a 9-0 victory over Graceville.

The curve ball artist faced only 29 men in the Class D contest. He struck out six and walked two. In the dressing room before the game, McNeil complained of a sore arm. He predicted a rough time on the mound because "I just don't feel like pitching."

Baptists, Christians Win League Openers

Marion Baptist outslugged First Presbyterian, 19-17, at Weaver Junior High, and Central Christian defeated Memorial Baptist, 7-2, on Emerson's field, in Tuesday's opening games of the Pontiac Church softball league.

Action will resume tonight with another pair of games. First Baptist faces Church of the Brethren, at Weaver, and First Presbyterian meets Memorial Baptist, at LaBaron. Starting times are 6 p.m.

Chiefs and limited the Skippers to two safe blows, a double in the 3rd inning and a single in the 5th.

Oddly enough, Waterford's lone run came in the 1st frame when Larsen had a streak of wildness. Two walks and a hit batsman plus an infield error accounted for the tally. Larsen struck out six, walked two and hit two.

Pontiac garnered only four hits off Waterford southpaw Chuck Gillis, but bunched them properly.

Don Daniel's triple scored the Chiefs' 1st run in the 1st inning, and late knocks by Ted Wharry and Larsen tallied the winning runs in the 4th. Daniel collected another hit in the 5th frame, but was the victim of a double play.

Daniel led the Chiefs at the plate with his two hits in two official trips. Jerry Kruskie's two for three paced the Skippers.

Only Dale Long Hitting Well for Pirates' Nine

CINCINNATI (AP)—Pittsburgh Manager Fred Haney may be high on Long, but he's short on runs. That's another way of saying that the Pirates have scored only four runs in their last six games and Dale Long has driven in two of them, including the lone tally Pittsburgh managed Wednesday while losing 5-1 to the Redlegs.

Detroit Track Set for Racing Season

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit Race Course will open the thoroughbred racing season in Michigan tomorrow with a total of 1,300 horses expected to participate and 700,000 fans to watch before the 56-day season ends at the track. Track President Dale Shaffer predicted the opening day crowd would exceed 16,000. Track's opening day record of 15,050 was set in 1952.

Hose Threaten Reprisals Against Bauer

NEW YORK (U)—Angry Chicago White Sox players, bitter at New York's Hank Bauer for the use of what they termed "dirty tactics," threatened today to retaliate against the bruising Yankee outfielder the next time the teams meet.

Umpire Ed Hurley ruled interference against Bauer for a play during yesterday's game, which the Yankees won 11-6.

New York, leading 7-6, was at bat in the seventh inning. They had filled the bases with one out. Andy Carey hit a grounder to second baseman Nellie Fox, who turned to tag Bauer, the base runner from first.

Bauer charged into Fox and sent him sprawling. Fox, from a supine position, threw to first too late to double up Carey as Gil McDougald crossed the plate.

When Manager Marty Marion charged out of the White Sox dugout to protest, Hurley ruled interference on Bauer and sent McDougald back to third. Bauer was called out and the bases remained full.

Marion argued for a double play but got nowhere.

Mickey Mantle then hit a grand slam homer to put the Yankees beyond reach.

Baseball rule 7.09F seemed to uphold Marion. It states:

"If any base runner who had just been retired hinders or impedes any following play being made on a runner, such a runner should be declared out for the interference of his teammate."

Hurley, however, had a different version. Reached in the umpires' dressing room after the game, he said:

"Bauer pushed him while Fox was in the act of fielding the ball. He did not have complete control of the ball. That's why I called Bauer out for interference."

"If Fox had full possession, I would have ruled it a double play."

Press box observers were unanimous in the opinion that Fox not only had fielded the ball, but was in the act of tagging Bauer when the husky outfielder came barreling into him.

"Maybe he calls it aggressive baseball," Fox said angrily, "but I call it dirty playing. If he wants to play football instead of baseball I'll get some football pads the next time and we'll go at it."

Bauer told it this way: "Sure he had the ball, but he was standing in my way. I'm entitled to the baseline. So I hit him with my chest."

"It's high time we did something about this guy," a White Sox player said. "In Chicago he nearly cut off Chico Carrasquel's leg, sliding in with his spikes high.

This time he deliberately charged into Nellie to break up a sure double play. It's high time our pitchers got even by brushing him back with a couple of high hard ones."

Marion said an official protest was useless because "it's not a matter of rule interpretation, but one of judgment."

Pro Baseball Scouts Eye Spartans' Fine Ball Club

EAST LANSING (U)—Pro scouts have been sitting in on every Michigan state baseball game this spring—as with most Big Ten games.

Baseball men report the majors are doing a much more comprehensive job of scouting college baseball in recent years.

Ted to Make 1st Showing on Monday

BOSTON (INS)—Ted Williams will make his 1st game appearance of the season next Monday night in the Red Sox-Giants exhibition game at Fenway Park for the benefit of the hospitalized veterans fund.

The big slugger, whose conditioning has been hampered by blisters on his hands, said today he thought the game would provide a good lineup and hit against top-flight pitching.

Clutch Hitting Payoff in Win for Spartan Nine

They always hope, of course, that they'll come up with another Robin Roberts—the MSC pitcher who made good in a big way with the Phillies.

The Tigers have had four men, including farm manager John McHale, scouting Spartan players. Others eyeing the talent have included Mickey Cochrane of the Yankees, Clair Whippley of the Phillies, Pete Mellito of the White Sox and Red Carr of the Baltimore Orioles.

The scouts appear mainly interested in four Spartan players.

Considered top prospects are pitcher Dick Izkowski of Detroit, who has a 6-1 record; 1st baseman Chuck Matthews of Rosebush, two-time MSC batting champion; centerfielder Bob Powell of Flint and shortstop Johnny Matscock of Detroit.

Birmingham 'Y' Softball Loop Starts Monday

Birmingham's YMCA Softball League will get under way next Monday night, May 23, with two games at Booth Park and St. James No. 2 field. All games will start at 6:30 p.m.

Heading the list of this year's teams is Detroit Edison, the defending titlist. Other league teams are Birmingham Merchants, Varsity Shop, Sam Reeves' Service, Michigan Bell Telephone, and First National Bank.

All young men interested in playing softball in this league may contact the YMCA for a list of team managers seeking players.

Schedule for the next two weeks:

May 23—Birmingham Merchants vs. Michigan Bell, St. James No. 2 field; Detroit Edison vs. Varsity Shop, Booth Park.
May 24—First National Bank vs. Sam Reeves, St. James; Merchants vs. Edison, Booth Park.
May 25—National Bank vs. Michigan Bell, St. James; Sam Reeves vs. Varsity Shop, Booth Park.
May 31—Merchants vs. National Bank, St. James; Sam Reeves vs. Edison, Booth Park.
June 1—Michigan Bell vs. Detroit Edison, Booth Park.
June 3—Varsity Shop vs. Michigan Bell, St. James; Merchants vs. Sam Reeves, Booth Park.

Earl Morrell Drives in Big Run in 10th for 5-4 Edge on Irish

EAST LANSING (U)—Michigan State used some clutch hitting—the kind it will need in Western Conference play this weekend—to win an extra inning baseball game 5-4 from Notre Dame yesterday.

Earl Morrell, who also doubles as quarterback for the football team, knocked in the winning run to break the deadlock in the 10th inning.

The run was scored by Bob Powell, who got on first on an error and was advanced to second by a walk.

Michigan State used four pitchers in the game as coaches experimented with the hurling staff. Mike Wallace, who relieved in the 9th inning after Bud Roller issued two walks, was credited with the win.

Alan Luce had three singles in a double in five times at bat to lead the MSC hitters.

All the runs were singles. Michigan State scored in the 2nd, 8th, 9th and 10th innings and the Irish brought in runs in the 4th, 6th, 7th and 9th.

Jockey Adams Hurt, Mount Dies in Spill

NEW YORK (U)—The nation's leading steeplechase jockey, Frank (Dooley) Adams, suffered a slight concussion and his mount, Errolford, was killed in a third race spill at Belmont Park Wednesday.

The 28-year-old jockey from Port Chester, N. Y., was knocked out but regained consciousness after being sent to a hospital.

Errolford, an 8-year-old gelding owned by Mrs. Clara E. Adams, mother of the jockey, died of a broken neck.

6 Rated Tops at Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (U)—At least six pros moved into the opening round of the $20,000 Kansas City Open Golf Tournament today labeled favorites.

But if the 4-day event over the 6,965-yard par-72 Hillcrest Country Club course follows last year's pattern, a little-regarded player will come up with top money.

In the 1954 tourney Wally Ulich, former National Intercollegiate champion from Rochester, Minn., wound up first. He wasn't even mentioned in pre-tourney ratings.

In 33 runnings of Laurel's Chesapeake Stakes, four of its winners have captured the Kentucky Derby—Whiskery, Cavalcade, War Admiral and Citation.

Dempsey Advises British to Quit Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Dempsey, who wasn't called the Manassa Mauler for nothing, defended Rocky Marciano's questionable fighting tactics and suggested the English forsake the ring and "stick to their tea and crumpets."

"Sure, Rocky is a rough fighter," said the beetle-browed Broadway restaurant owner, "but he's not a dirty fighter. He never does anything deliberately—and these things have to be judged on intent."

"Marciano, it so happens, is just not a finished fighter. He is a wild swinger who, when he misses with a left, is liable to hit you with his head. He is always pouring in with head, elbows and anything else he has handy."

"I think if he had been a straight hitting, finished puncher he could have got rid of Don Cockell in the first round."

The former heavyweight champion, who saw the fight on a screen in Chicago, said Marciano's tactics looked tame beside some of the old fights he has seen and even in which he had been engaged.

"I remember the Firpo fight," said the thick-necked Mauler. "It was a brawl, I must have done everything but kick him and he did the same to me."

Dempsey said the howls of the British stemmed from their own misconception of the fight game, as Americans know it.

"It's a different sport in England, entirely," the ex-champ added. "The fans like to see their boxers stand off and peck away at each other like fencers. It's a classic sport with them. They hate the brutality of it."

"Years ago I remember the referee would be stationed outside the ring. He would clap his hands and say, 'Break it there, old fellows, break it, please.'

"The first 15 rows of fans would be dressed in evening clothes, white tie and tails. If one of them should applaud or raise his voice he would be ejected from the arena."

"If a fighter knocked another down the fans would boo the aggressor. Between rounds, everybody had a dash of tea and crumpets. The British, I think, should stick to cricket."

One More Win Can Clinch Tie for Loop Title

St. Mary's Nine Holds Top Spot in Current SCL League Race

Orchard Lake St. Mary's baseball team is title-bound in the Suburban Catholic League race unless someone can derail the Eaglet express.

Eaglets boast a 5-1 won-lost record for undisputed possession of 1st place and need only one victory in two remaining games to clinch at least a tie for the crown. Friday afternoon they entertain Hazel Park St. Rita, a stubborn foe they edged, 7-4, in an earlier season meeting.

Three other schools still have a chance in the hectic chase. St. James of Ferndale, Pontiac St. Michael, and Center Line St. Clement are threatening, but any setback means mathematical elimination. One of them will bow out Friday when Mikes and St. James collide at Ferndale.

St. Clement will try to stay in contention Friday at Pontiac by beating St. Frederick, a feat which has not been difficult for six other teams this season. Winless Rams appear destined for the loop cellar. Friday's contests mark the end of the regular season schedule. Only rain-out games remain to be played.

Present maximum bag of four ducks a day for each hunter would be retained.

If the government should agree to the Ohio Proposal, such a change in regulations could affect a number of other states, including Michigan.

Bossard Reveals Little Tricks of Groundskeepers

Infield Is 'Altered' for Various Pitchers and Opposing Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball fans of Kansas City, who led sheltered lives until recently, have been shocked to learn of the depths to which big league clubs will stoop to win games.

One of their number writes that if what he reads is true, "these methods seem outside the bounds of decency." What aroused him was an attached article by Ernie Mehl, who as sports editor of the Kansas City Star had much to do with the transfer of the Athletics to that city.

Mehl recently interviewed at some length the veteran and highly skilled groundskeeper of the Cleveland Indians, Emil Bossard. With pride in his handwork, he told in detail of the devilish tricks he employs to handicap visiting clubs.

"It's all part of the business," he assured Mehl. "We do a lot of things here in Cleveland calculated to help our club and make it a little tougher for the visitors. We work over the field every day according to who is pitching, what sort of speed the other team has and what kind of hitters they are."

For example, Bossard explained, when sinkerballer Bob Lemon is due to pitch for the Indians, making it certain the opposing club will hit many balls on the ground, he leaves the infield nice and soft so that the tribe defenders will have more time to reach grounders. When a set of speed boys come to town, Emil has an antidote for them too.

"Take the White Sox," he said. "They have a lot of luck running bases until they get here. I fix the dirt around first base so it's very loose. A player can't get a start for second base. You don't see those guys stealing many bases here. We stop that. . . ."

Miss Romack Bids for Title

Seeks to Become Third American to Capture British, U.S. Crowns

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (AP)—Little Barbara Romack, who makes her living selling insurance and plays golf for the fun of it, bid today to become the third American to win both the British and U.S. Women's Amateur golf titles. Babe Zaharias did it in 1947 and Louise Suggs in 1948.

The attractive 22-year-old Sacramento, Calif., girl, who also holds the Canadian Amateur title, met Mrs. George Valentine of Perth, Scotland, in the 36-hole final of the British Women's championship.

Miss Romack rallied to defeat Scotland's 20-year-old Jeannette Robertson, 2-up in Wednesday's semifinals. Earlier, in the quarter-finals, she defeated Mrs. Zara Bolton of England, 3 and 1.

Wild Duck Problem

Ohioans Would Legalize Feeding on Club Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some north-west Ohio marsh owners have asked the government to make it legal to feed wild ducks on their hunting properties.

In return, they said, they would more than replace the ducks they kill.

The unusual proposal was presented to director John L. Farley of the Fish and Wildlife Service by the Ohio Waterfowl Assn. Farley said he would study the request, which would require a change in hunting regulations.

Some 70 northwest Ohio hunters have been arrested in the last year for shooting ducks with the aid of grain.

Several weeks ago, Rep. Ashley (D-Ohio) accused Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) of "bullying" Farley because enforcement in Ohio was too strict, Bricker said Ashley was just trying to make a lot out of nothing.

Under the association's plan, regulations would be changed in this manner:

A marsh owner would apply for a license to feed ducks. If it were granted, he then would release into the marshes as many ducklings as the law would permit to be killed on his tract during the season.

The law now permits an unlimited number of hunters to use any property. Under the Ohio proposals, however, no more than four hunters could hunt on 40 acres of marsh and no more than seven on 80 acres.

Present maximum bag of four ducks a day for each hunter would be retained.

If the government should agree to the Ohio Proposal, such a change in regulations could affect a number of other states, including Michigan.

Judith Anderson Farms on Time Off From Stage

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U)—It's Medea among the melons and Lady Macbeth in the lettuce patch when Judith Anderson is not doing her high-powdered emoting before audiences.

The Australian-born actress gets away from it all at her 38-acre ranch in Carpinteria, just south of Santa Barbara, Calif. And friends say that she really escapes from her classical roles up yonder. Instead of flowing robes, she sports blue jeans, old shirts and straw hats.

When viewed on the set of "The Ten Commandments," she was in more typical attire. She plays the slave of the Pharaoh's daughter, Nina Foch, and the scene showed them fishing the infant Moses out of the bullrushes. But her mind was on other matters too, such as Paris and avocados.

The Paris matter concerns "Medea," which she is going to do next month as part of the "Salute to France." This is the artistic gesture sponsored by the State Department. Besides "Medea," French art treasures, symphony orchestras and "Oklahoma!" are going to Paris.

But to get to the avocados—"I am expecting them to take care of me in my old age."

So far the temperamental trees haven't come through for her. When she bought the ranch a few years ago, it was a fairly run-down place with lemon groves. She had the place spruced up and 500 avocado trees planted.

"There are so many things that can go wrong," she said. "The wind can blow the blossoms away or the bees might not appear to carry the pollen. So far we haven't had any fruit. In another year we'll find out whether these trees will produce or if we'll have to graft new buds on them."

The actress said she completely escapes from the show business grind when she's at the ranch. Her trouble is that she gets there all too seldom. One year she was absent all but five weeks. Yet she harbors no yen to retire from performing.

"Even if the place should become a money-maker," she said, "I don't think I'd ever quit. Not as long as I can find jobs."

Dems to Unite for '56—Adlai

Stevenson in Favor of Taking Back Few Who Strayed

CHICAGO (U)—The Democrats, says Adlai Stevenson, will be a united party in 1956 and he believes "those who have strayed and returned in good faith should be welcomed back to the Democratic fold."

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee told newsmen yesterday that for the last two years he had done "all I could to assure a united Democratic party in 1956."

"I am sure," he said, "that is the wish and intention of all good Democrats and I firmly believe this is what we're going to have."

The former Illinois governor, returning from a monthlong business trip to Africa, was interviewed by reporters at Midway Airport.

Stephen A. Mitchell, the party's former national chairman, recently said a floor fight would be made in the 1956 convention, if necessary, to prevent seating of any or all three Southern Democratic leaders who, after serving as delegates to the 1952 convention which nominated Stevenson, supported Dwight Eisenhower for president.

Mitchell, advised of Stevenson's statement yesterday, said he still would predict the convention credentials committee will reject Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas, Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, James F. Byrnes, former governor of South Carolina, and other 1952 "apostates."

"UNTAMED"—With the appearance of Twentieth Century-Fox's CinemaScope production "Untamed," opening at the Oakland Theater here, the CinemaScope cameras will have completed a grand global tour. The tour was begun with the making of "The Robe" in the Holy Land, ending with "Untamed" in Africa. The film stars Tyrone Power, (above) Susan Hayward and Richard Egan.

MOMENT AT MINDY'S—Frank Sinatra and Vivian Blaine, two of the stars in Samuel Goldwyn's $5,500,000 CinemaScope production of "Guys and Dolls," are caught by the camera in off-stage moment at Mindy's Restaurant. Joseph Mankiewicz offers a bit of direction on the side.

Van Johnson left El Morocco's Mambo Night early. Gary Crosby was there, too and I got a scoop for you: His socks are monogrammed, with a "G" yet!

"Ty and I had a wonderful time," Eva Gabor said concerning her dates with Mr. Power from Zinnzinnati. Vell, vy not?

As soon as he heard about Joan Crawford's marrying Al Steele, prez of Pepsi-Cola, Groucho Marx sent the bride a wedding present: a case of Coca-Cola. An accompanying note said: "Please return the empties."

Betty George, the shapely Greek, sang Thelma Carpenter's song when Decca recorded the "Ankles Aweigh" album because Miss Carpenter just had an appendectomy. Producer Tony Farrell has nicknamed Betty George "Gorgeous George."

A good friend of mine, Elmer Leterman, the insurance-selling genius and author, specializes in "Mental Judo" and urges folks to learn to remember. "Take a lesson from the elephant," he writes. "Sharpen up your memory." Elmer proved he's human at the Algonquin the other day by introducing Bert Parks as Larry Parks and Horace McMahon as Horace Maloney.

BETTY GEORGE
"Well, well," said actor Eddie Hanley to a fellow with the front name of David who staggered up to him in a midtown bar, "if it isn't Davy Crockett!"

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the U. S., was asked by CBS' Helen Stoussart why only men have their faces on our folding money. "I don't mind them having their faces on it," Mrs. Priest replied, "as long as they don't get their hands on it."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH:
"I know a Hollywood actress who says it's easy to have both a career and a husband," says Herb Shriner. "She oughta know—she's had four husbands herself."
That's earl, brother.

Reds Delay Deadline for Indo Refugees

LONDON (U)—The Foreign Office said today Russia has accepted in part a British request to give refugees more time to quit Communist-controlled North Viet Nam.

A spokesman said a Soviet note delivered to Britain yesterday "has come some way" toward meeting a series of British proposals for extending the May 18 deadline set by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina. After that date, by the terms of the Geneva settlement, refugees were to be barred from crossing the border separating North from South Viet Nam. He indicated the movement had not yet been halted.

Britain's ambassador in Moscow, Sir William Hayter, was called in yesterday by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to discuss the whole situation further.

The government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem has invited Britain, the United States and France to join in a conference in Saigon soon to discuss the general problems of South Viet Nam's future.

Berber women of the Alt Hadidu tribe in the High Atlas Mountains of Morocco enjoy amazing freedom, says the National Geographic Society. A wife can legally divorce an unwanted husband for 15 cents. Some tribeswomen have had more than 20 husbands.

Filibuster Sets National Record

Texas Senator Speaks 28 Hours, 15 Minutes Against Bond Issue

AUSTIN, Tex. (U)—Sen. Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock pood-pood his cracking the national filibuster record yesterday but said he thought he had achieved his purpose.

That purpose, Corbin said at the end of his 28-hour, 15-minute speaking effort, was to make Texans aware of what he considers a poor plan for financing water conservation.

"That champ business is silly, but that's one way you can call attention to what I consider one of the sorriest things I ever saw happen," Corbin told reporters after ending his filibuster.

The old filibuster record was 28 hours, 6 minutes, set by Senator Wayne Wagonseller of Bowie March 31.

Despite extreme weariness, Corbin planned to be on hand for today's session in case the target of his wrath came to a vote.

The measure—drafted by a joint conference committee after House and Senate passed conflicting bills—calls for a 100-million-dollar bond program under which the state would guarantee up to 50 per cent of the cost of local water projects.

The conference report calls for a statewide property tax of 3 cents per $100 valuation to guarantee the bonds, with a six-man appointive board to administer the bond program.

Corbin ridiculed proponents' claims that this is the key measure in plans for a long-range water conservation program.

One Seal Still Sporting in Lake; Pal in Custody

NEWARK, Ohio (U)—Junior the seal is still sporting through the billows of Buckeye Lake, but his pal Smokey is back in custody.

A bucket of salt-water fish led to Smokey's downfall late yesterday, luring him into a chicken wire net trap.

The two seals, imported from California, escaped from an enclosure at Buckeye Lake Park earlier in the week.

Membership in 4-H clubs in the U.S. has increased to about two million this year.

Officers Pay Visit to Quemoy Island

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—Top Nationalist Chinese and American officers visited the offshore island of Quemoy yesterday, it was announced today.

The group included Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group; Rear Adm. Frederick N. Kivette, commander of the Formosa Strait patrol; Defense Minister Yu Ta-wei; and Lt. Gen. Yu Pak-chuen, deputy chief of the general staff.

Nationalist press reports said they were highly impressed with the care and maintenance of newly arrived American weapons.

Experiments reveal that if a car with a white top and a car with a black top are parked side by side in the sun, the lighter topped car will remain 15 degrees cooler inside.

HONORED FOR SERVICE—The Drayton Plains PTA last night honored the school's safety patrol, service squad, and crossing guard Herbert A. Sweet for service. Here Frances Young, captain of the girl students' service squad, Sweet, and Daniel Schultz, safety patrol boy captain, examine a certificate of service. A retired Grand Trunk and Western Railroad employe, Sweet guarded the Huron Street crossing for 17 years. In his new post, he has not missed a day all year. In addition, if any of his young charges are out of school for more than a day, he pays them a cheer-up visit to see how they are coming along.

Airline, Shipping Subsidies Cut

Appropriations Slashed 18 Per Cent by House Committee

WASHINGTON (U)—The House Appropriations Committee slashed deeply into administration requests for airline and ship subsidies today in cutting the Commerce Department's new budget 18 per cent.

It also trimmed sharply funds for ship construction, federal aid highways and the Inter-American Highway while upping the amount for federal airport aid.

It recommended $1,121,435,000 in new funds for the Commerce Department and related agencies for the bookkeeping year starting July 1.

This is $234,308,000 less than President Eisenhower requested. The reduction is the largest, percentage-wise, to be recommended by the committee this year.

All but $17,875,000 of the total was allotted to the Commerce Department, whose request for $1,347,800,000 was shaved to $1,103,560,000. The committee's recommendations are subject to approval by the House and subsequent action by the Senate.

Hudson Covert Girl Scouts Set Court of Awards

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Brownie and Intermediate Girl Scouts of Hudson Covert School will hold a court of awards at 6 p.m. Friday at Haven Hill Lodge.

Presentation of awards and entertainment will follow a picnic supper and a Flyup ceremony for Brownie troop 338. Mrs. Harmon Gillen is general chairman for the event.

Families and friends of the girls have been asked to bring a picnic supper for their own group. In case of rain, the meeting will be held Saturday.

CAROL WAHL

WANDA HOLLAND

Graduating Class Leaders Named at Auburn Heights

AUBURN HEIGHTS—Carol Wahl and Wanda Holland have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of the Avondale High School graduating class of 1953.

The deciding margin of grade averages was the slight edge of three-hundredths. Carol received a 3.81 average, while Wanda attained a 3.78 record.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wahl of 3138 Margaret St.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Holland of 43 Cherryland are the parents of Wanda.

Active in her class and school organizations, Carol was junior class secretary, a member of the National Honor Society, member of the Future Homemakers Assn., a cheerleader, and also a member of the glee club.

She plans to attend Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti.

Wanda was a member of this student council for two years, the National Honor Society, a cheerleader, and was also busy in the band, debating, choir and dramatics. She plans to attend Central Michigan College of Education.

Teenage Gangs 'Rule' District

Detroit Police Claim East Side Suffering 'Reign of Terror'

DETROIT (UP)—Police said today a group of teenaged toughs are ruling their East Side neighborhood with a "reign of terror."

They made the statement in announcing a rigid crackdown against teenaged hoodlums after 21 youths seized at the scene of a scheduled gang fight were released from custody "because witnesses were afraid to testify against them."

Six of the youths had been charged with carrying concealed weapons but were released because Recorder's Judge John P. Scallen said he did not have enough evidence against them.

Police said they found homemade bombs, pieces of chain, cutting tools, straight razors attached to broom handles and other improvised weapons on the youths when they were arrested.

REFUSE TO TESTIFY

"We asked several witnesses to come to court. They wouldn't come. These gangs of kids have them terrorized," Police Sgt. Walter Majewski said.

"These so-called citizens forced me to dismiss this case for lack of evidence," Scallen said.

Majewski said the gang battle was scheduled between 200 youths and climaxed a series of skirmishes between high school pupils and a street gang.

The battle would have been "the biggest gang fight in Detroit's history" if it had developed, police said.

"Despite the collapse of this case, we'll keep after it and break up the gangs as often as we find them," Scallen promised.

Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins ordered his top aides to instruct officers to use "whatever force necessary" to quell the uprisings caused by the youths.

Youth and Juveniles Held for Breakins

A rash of Avon Township break-ins was believed cleared up today with the arrest of an 18-year-old youth and two juvenile boys, Oakland County Sheriff's detectives said.

Charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime was Gerald Sandusky, of 3534 Samuel St., Avon Township. He is scheduled for arraignment before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green later today.

The two juveniles, whose names were withheld because of their age, were scheduled for a hearing today.

Detectives Leo Hazen and Mahlon France said the trio admitted several school break-ins, a lumber company entry and a filling station break-in after they were arrested at their homes yesterday.

Grill Owner Charges Malicious Destruction

One of two men who fell through a restaurant window, after fighting in front of the place, was booked by Pontiac Police for malicious destruction of property last night.

William Been of 208 Oak St. Rochester, owner of Bill's Grill at 264 E. Pike St., complained to police that the shattered plate glass represented $150 damage.

Detectives Richard Evans and James LaPonsie later arrested Joseph J. Doyle, 30, of 56 Michigan Ave., at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he had gone for treatment. The second man is being sought, by police.

Been signed a complaint, naming Doyle and William F. Frick, 33, of 254 Edison St.

Doctors Urged to Use Care in Talking With Patients

NEW YORK (UP)—There is as well as science in the practice of medicine, and doctors are forever telling one another to be more artistic, even if it may mean being a little less scientific.

The latest to admonish his fellows is Dr. William Asher. The art he advocates is "lucidity," or crystal-like clarity in telling patients what ails them and what is being done for their ailments.

"One lady told me she had taken her boy to a hospital where the doctor looked down his throat and told her the ear drum had grown right into the throat and was hanging out like a sausage," remarked Dr. Asher.

The patient's mother went on to say that the doctor said he had cut it off and if he had cut it off five minutes later, it would have done no good because the boy would have been dead.

"I often wonder what the doctor really said," continued Dr. Asher. "I feel it cannot have been very clearly put."

Another patient told him that her doctor had given her rubber dissolved in orangeade for her gastric ulcer—the idea was that the rubber would fill up the cracks in the ulcer and set.

Both these patients were deluded but delighted," Dr. Asher admitted.

Just the same, misinterpretations of doctors' remarks can be harmful, and, therefore, doctors ought to express themselves as clearly as possible.

"It is a difficult art to cut one's explanatory coat according to the intellectual cloth provided by the patient," he said, "and it must be especially hard for psychiatrists to word their interpretations without ambiguity, because the mind is even harder to explain than the body."

But doctors must master the art. And they must learn the art of tolerance — indeed, they should "try to achieve a level of tolerance and placidity nearing that of a saint." In short, doctors must not "let the patient or his relatives irritate" them. He admitted that he himself was irritated by patients who arrived chewing gum and who called him, "Doc."

He said the impression the doctor makes on the patient is as important as the drugs he prescribes. The proper impression benefits the patient by giving him confidence, first in the doctor, and then in the treatment. The doctor's manner of speaking, his gestures, his smile, all play a part.

"There are also accessory aids — a book written by the doctor himself lying carefully on the desk, the use of a large shiny motor car and chauffeur, or (less expensive but quite effective) the skilful manipulation of a really thick pair of horn-rimmed glasses."

But "before using these adjuncts the doctor must consider whether
