LOSING BATTLE — Steve Kadella, 6, (top) and Timothy Smith, 7, aren't sure why the hole they dug in Tim's backyard at 828 Oakley Lake Road, Union Lake, is swallowing up the garden hose, but they've offered the best theory for the strange phenomena so far. Maybe a Chinaman is pulling at the other end, they said. Three feet of the hose was sucked down the hole before Timothy's grandfather cut it off. He couldn't pull it out either. The boys had dug the hole for a pond to sail their boats on.

Democracy Dawns With Police Slip

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth installment of a 15-part series on international police cooperation. "Police Slip" is a new book by Don Whitehead. Two-page Police Slip series.

Sometimes a crime — far more than a political event — can illuminate the progress a country has made from dictatorship to democracy. In Austria, the process of rebuilding the police system along democratic lines began as soon as the war ended.

Four years later, the handling of the sensational Mandler murder case showed what an advance had been made. In it, the police made a major error, but did not try to cover up to save themselves criticism. This was a landmark of progress.

Football Fans Need Warm Coats Tonight

Topcoats may well be the fashion when football fans fill the bleachers at games tonight and Saturday.

The weatherman says temperatures will drop below 40 tonight in the city, with a chance of frost in outlying sections. Saturday will continue cloudy with a high near 64.

Temperatures the next five days will average four degrees below the normal high of 63 and several low of 42.

Precipitation will total one- to two-inches of an inch in showers Saturday night and again about Tuesday or Wednesday.

Morning northwesterly winds at 1 mile per hour will diminish to light, becoming southeasterly at 3-12 m.p.h. Saturday.

Rainfall from 10:15 a.m. yesterday until the same hour today measured .1 of an inch.

Forty-eight was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac, preceding 1 a.m. The thermometer reading at 2 p.m. was 57.

Talk Over Closed TV, Ike Boosts Dick, Who Whams at Kennedy

By The Associated Press
President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined forces by coaxial cable Thursday night to give a Republican-dominated flavor to the day's presidential campaigning.

They spoke from different cities on a closed circuit TV fund-raising promotion. Nixon praised the Republican record.

The vice president also said Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy displayed "monumental failure" in the August session of Congress.

Eisenhower praised Nixon as superbly trained for the presidency.

Kennedy, continuing a swing through usually Republican states New York, had no such forum to give aid prominence to what he had to say.

At Syracuse, N.Y., he again struck at what he called the administration's foreign policy failures.

"The spirit of Camp David has gone," Kennedy said. "The moral respect has gone. Our hopes for an end to the Cold War have gone."

He cited six areas of the world where he said crises have developed in the past year, and noted that Nixon had visited each of these areas. If Nixon had as much experience as he boasts, Kennedy said, trouble in Cuba, China, Japan, Laos, Poland and India might have been averted.

Nixon Praised at 4 State Dinners

By The Associated Press
Republican orators, speaking at fund-raising dinners in four key Michigan cities Thursday night, urged the election of Richard M. Nixon as president, calling him more mature, qualified and experienced than his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Along with the President in Chicago and other GOP luminaries in other cities, Nixon drew off the verbal gloves in his speech to 36 GOP dinners across the country.

"A monumental failure is no recommendation for success," he said, firing directly at Kennedy. He called the August session a "disaster."

U. S. Ponders Sanctions to Hit Cuba
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering the use of economic sanctions in its deepening conflict with the Cuban government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

These plans, calling for export controls on a limited number of items, may follow up a U.S. decision Thursday night to close down the $110 million nickel processing plant it owns and operates in Cuba's Oriente province.

The State Department said the operation has been harassed by the Castro regime and subjected to what it called "confiscatory taxes due to go into effect Saturday."

FUNERAL PYRE FOR FAMILY OF FIVE — Delmar Brown, his wife and three children perished in the blaze that leveled their rural home about 15 miles northeast of Battle Creek, near Marshall, about 1 a.m. today. State police from the fire marshal's office pinpointed the blaze to one of two kerosene heaters on the house's ground level. Police say the family died of suffocation, not burns. The oil tank on the left was not hooked up to the oil space heater.

Red Offensive in U.N. Spurs 2-Power Talks
Polish Boss Gomulka Says Britain Aiding 'W. German Militarists'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have agreed to meet at the White House this weekend for talks on the deepening East-West crisis in the United Nations.

Their talks are expected to concentrate on the anti-West offensive that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is waging in the U.N.

Diplomatic authorities said Macmillan would fly to Washington from the U. N. headquarters in New York tomorrow afternoon, visit with Eisenhower Sunday morning and return to New York late Sunday.

He will be accompanied here by his foreign minister Lord Home and the permanent head of the British Foreign Office, Frederick Shepherd Miles.

Macmillan at the United Nations the Communist bloc mounted a swift counterattack today against Macmillan's hard-hitting address while the U.N. still buzzed with shock over Nikita Khrushchev's clash with the Western leader.

Poland's Communist chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, unexpectedly took the stage as the General Assembly resumed its debate, and accused Macmillan of supporting a militarist West German policy which he said had designs on Poland's sovereignty.

Gomulka spoke under the Assembly's "Right of reply" procedure.

The British Prime Minister had defended West Germany Thursday against Soviet charges that it harbors militarist aims. The British speech had moved the Soviet Premier to violent outbursts of table-thumping protest.

Macmillan met later more than two hours with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders on an understanding basis. But Macmillan abruptly canceled plans to come, deciding to remain as expected. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Blast Kills Five Near Marshall
Bodies of Rural Family Found in Hot Rubble After Mystery Fire

MARSHALL, N.Y. — A mysterious fire destroyed a rural home near here early today, wiping out a family of five.

By dawn, searchers had recovered all five bodies, four inside the smoldering ruins and an 18-month-old baby just outside what was a window in the small five-room house.

Assistant State Fire Marshal Joe Terze said it appeared as though the mother had thrown the baby out of the window in a desperate attempt to save its life.

The baby, however, was already dead from suffocation and burns. Terze said. The mother was found in the ruins near the window.

Dead were Delmar Brown, 36, his wife Hilda, 24, and three children, Pamela, 5, Daniel, 3, and Sally, 18 months.

Terze and Marshall Fire Chief Shirley Too said the sudden fire may have been started by one of two portable kerosene space heaters. An oil stove in the house had not been connected.

When firemen arrived, a ruptured propane gas tank was spewing gas onto the almost leveled structure.

The same family had been burned out of a house trailer a short distance from the house in February. They moved into the house about three months ago, neighbors said.

Jews to Mark Yom Kippur
Holiest Day Commences at Sunset Throughout the World

Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the Jewish calendar, will be observed in homes and synagogues throughout the world beginning today at sunset.

Yom Kippur is Hebrew for Day of Atonement, a time devoted to self-examination and the determination to live on a higher moral plane in the future.

It marks the conclusion of the 10-day period of repentance which begins with Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year.

On the evening before Yom Kippur, prayers are recited and gifts pledged. Ritual in the homes involves blessing children at the final meal before the fast and burning memorial candles during the 24-hour fast period.

CONGREGATION B'NAI ISRAEL
Traditional Jewish services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel, 145 Oneida road at 8 p.m. today. Rabbi Israel Goodman will preach on "It All Depends on Me."

At 11:30 Saturday morning, Rabbi Goodman will speak on the topic, "Our Greatest Loss."

At 12:30 p.m. a memorial service will be held at 8:30 p.m. a children's service; and the closing service will be at 5 p.m.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB
Reform Jewish services will be held at Temple Beth Jacob, 19 Elizabeth Lake road at 8:30 p.m. today with Rabbi Marshall Harshfield speaking on "Unintended Sin."

On Saturday morning he will preach on "What We Build." A children's service will be conducted by members of the Temple Youth Group at 2 p.m. and the concluding service for the Day of Atonement will be at 5 p.m.

Tom Dewey—in Holly—Sure of a GOP Victory

By JOE HAAS
That the Nixon-Lodge ticket will be elected, possibly by a landslide, is the opinion of Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor and twice Republican candidate for president.

He spoke in this accord when interviewed at Holly Thursday afternoon, where he had stopped for a call on Mrs. Dewey's only brother, Dr. H. D. Hutt.

He was on his way from a visit to the scenes of his childhood at Owosso to the big evening at Detroit, where he was the speaker, and was accompanied by Alvin M. Bentley of Owosso, Republican candidate for U.S. senator.

However, Dewey stressed two points that should be noted by the Republicans as danger signs. The first is overconfidence among them, which will have a tendency to lessen the party's vote.

He said, "It is the plain duty of every person to vote," and added, with a grin, "especially if they support the right ticket."

The other, Dewey said, is the "untold millions" being spent by the Kennedy family, labor unions and others in the drive to get the names of Democrat voters on the registration books.

Small of stature, with a healthy brown complexion and the doggedly determined look that won him national fame as a racket buster, elevated him to the highest office in the Empire State, and enabled him to flirt with the White House, Dewey still exudes the fighting spirit.

He thinks the Nixon-Lodge ticket has New York's big electoral vote in the bag, with a possibility of carrying Kennedy's home state of Massachusetts, and sees Michigan as good fighting ground, in spite of Walter Reuther.

Whitmer Seeks Consultant

To Bolster School Program

The Pontiac Board of Education last night moved to strengthen the school district's science program, administration and guidance department research program.

Board members authorized Dr. James P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, to seek a consultant for a position as science consultant and the newly created post as an administrative assistant.

They also approved the hiring of Bennett E. Howze, a doctoral degree candidate at the University of Michigan, as director of the guidance demonstration research program on a part-time basis.

The matter of a science consultant in the school district has been under consideration for about three months.

"We feel there is a definite need for such a consultant to stimulate our science program," said Dr. Whitmer.

"In addition, a specialist in this field will enable us to take full advantage of the program offered by the National Defense Education Act and promote closer ties between schools and universities."

The new science consultant will work directly under Russell W. Curtis, secondary education coordinator.

4 MAJOR AREAS

Four major areas for the consultant would be working with teachers in the classrooms, with teacher workshops, teacher demonstrations and science curriculum supervision, and selecting scientific materials for the classroom.

The board indicated it would approve a one and one-half year contract for the position at approximately $18,000 for salary, expenses and materials.

Regarding the new position of administrative assistant, Dr. Philip J. Fyros, assistant superintendent, explained that a recent survey of school districts in 20 Michigan cities comparable in size to Pontiac, showed Pontiac last in administrative expenditure.

"The basic average budget expenditure for administration is about 4 per cent; our average is 2.5 per cent," he said.

Whitmer outlined the suggested responsibilities of such an assistant in a 24-page report.

In addition the superintendent's analysis carried a nine-page supplement listing fields not yet researched in which an assistant could play a major role.

In all there were 17 major areas of administrative responsibility that "need the attention of an assistant could provide, at least in part," said Whitmer.

"This would also give myself and Dr. Fyros more time for direct work with principals in our schools."

The proposed assistant would work on direct assignment from administrators.

The job would carry an annual salary in the neighborhood of $9,000, or about the same rate as that of an elementary school principal on a 12-month basis.

Howze, as director of the guidance demonstration research program, will give the program regular leadership.

Howze, 42, of Wayne, has taught all grades from seventh through junior college and has experience in data tabulation, analysis and interpretation in guidance research.

His salary will be paid from federal funds designated for the program.

Journey Into Crime

Mrs. Mandler was a tidy housekeeper who had the place without, emptying ashtrays.

"Did you enter Mrs. Mandler's room?"

"No," Kraus said. "I know where she hides the keys to her bedroom, but I did not want to return and find her there."

Two officers were dispatched to the Mandler apartment with Kraus who opened the bedroom door. Nothing appeared out of place.

Suddenly Kraus said: "I believe the water was running—there in the bathroom."

The officers hadn't heard anything but ripped open the bathroom door, then stood in shocked surprise.

The water was running in the bathtub—splashing over the naked body of a woman. And Kraus was standing red with the blood of the woman. Her throat had been slashed, part of her right foot cut off, and the right knee cut deeply.

THE REPAIR POT

Mrs. Mandler's clothing was lying beside the door. The underwear had been ripped from her body. There were blood stains on the upper part of the coat. On a bath-room chair were bloody knife and scissors.

"Oh, my God! Oh, my God!" Kraus repeated over and over.

In the hallway leading down to the kitchen, the officers noted blood on the wall to a height of about five feet. There was blood on the floor, and although the hall rug had no blood on it, the officers found blood stains beneath the carpet.

On the kitchen stove was a small pot containing a remnant of spinach. A blood-stained bed sheet stood in the bedroom.

In the bedroom, police found a safe containing more than 10,000 shellings and foreign currency of various kinds. Nothing had been disturbed though the key had been in plain sight.

The police theorized that Mrs. Mandler was killed as she started to leave her apartment wearing her coat. The blood on the wall could have come from a severe nose bleed while the killer was threatening her. He had then carried the body to the bathroom, torn off her clothing, and dumped her into the bathtub where she was stabbed.

Two puzzling things were the blood stains beneath the hall rug and the spinach. Why had the blood got under the carpet? Why had Mrs. Mandler left a spinach pot when the rest of the apartment was so messy?

Taken to headquarters, Kraus nervously lit a cigarette and related that Mrs. Mandler came to work as usual Monday morning carrying her lunch and seemed in good spirits.

"Did Mrs. Mandler always bring her lunch?" he was asked.

"Yes," he said. "I believe on Monday she ate a dish of spinach. After lunch, she said she had to return to her apartment to meet someone to discuss a business deal. She did not say whom she was meeting."

"I waited for her till about 6:30. Then I went to her apartment to get the cash-box keys. I knocked on her bedroom door but there was no answer."

"What did you do then?"

"I sat in the little sitting room for several minutes, and then I decided I would spend the night with my parents."

ANONYMOUS CALLS

The following day he was even more disturbed when Mrs. Mandler did not show up. He told police he received two anonymous phone calls: one at 10 a.m. when a man's voice said: "Your boss is going to the doctor, but she will be back this afternoon," and the other at 2 p.m. when the same voice said Mrs. Mandler had been given an injection and was unable to move.

"Did anyone else hear your conversation?" Kraus was asked.

He shook his head.

"I went to my room about 7:45. A few minutes later, one of the other employees dropped by and we agreed I should report Mrs. Mandler's disappearance to the police."

"What time was it when you left the apartment?"

"It was 8:30."

"Did you come directly to the police station?"

"Yes."

Kraus had come to the police station at 8:10 p.m. If he had not stopped along the way, he should have arrived there at 8:37—it was only a seven-minute walk.

The murder of Mrs. Mandler was a sensation in Vienna. Her husband was a well-known man. Neighbors claimed she was a tight-fisted employer and as thrifty as a cat. She kept the hallway rug rolled up except on Tuesday evening.

A woman who lived across the alleyway reported she had heard a woman scream about 8 o'clock on Tuesday.

Police also discovered Kraus had a violent quarrel with Mrs. Mandler over her failure to give him authority at the factory. At last she agreed, but she had hedged on her promise.

The autopsy indicated death was caused by strangulation. A stomach examination showed three hours before her death she had eaten greens.

Reviewing Kraus' movements that night, police found he had been in the city from 6:30 till 8:30, a 40-minute period, the police could not account for the time.

KRAUS PROTESTED

They theorized that Mrs. Mandler returned to her apartment, was strangled, she sat early supper of spinach, and was prepared to leave when Kraus arrived. There was a violent quarrel over her promise to give him authority, and Kraus strangled her.

After the murder, he pretended he was going directly to the police station, but instead returned to the apartment to place her body in the bathtub.

It was even possible she had

Rite Saturday for A. L. Hopkins

Retired GM Executive Died Wednesday After Brief Illness

Service for Albert L. Hopkins, retired General Motors executive, will be 1 p.m. Saturday at First Presbyterian Church in Birmingham.

Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Hopkins, 70, of 540 Bervyn Road, Birmingham, died Wednesday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, after a brief illness.

At his retirement in 1954, Hopkins was director of standards and quality for Pontiac, Buick and Oldsmobile divisions of GM.

A graduate of Iowa State College with a degree in engineering, Hopkins began his career with GM in 1924.

NEW JERSEY MANAGER

Seven years later he was made manager of the Bloomfield, N.J. assembly plant.

During World War II he supervised the building of parts for naval aircraft.

He is survived by his wife Alice, son Kent M., superintendent of the AC spark plug division of GM in Flint; daughter Mrs. William Gibb of Washington, D.C.; a brother, two sisters and three grandchildren.

Another son, James W. Hopkins, was killed in a commercial airliner crash in Ankara, Turkey, in February.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that any contributions be made to the Albert L. Hopkins Memorial Fund of First Presbyterian Church, in care of Mrs. George Weinhold, 611 Ferguson St., Birmingham.

Mr. Hopkins' body will be at the Bell Chapel of William R. Hamilton Co. until 10 a.m. Saturday.

The Day in Birmingham Voters Asked to Approve First Hills Bond Issue

BIRMINGHAM — For the first time since becoming a city in 1922, Birmingham Hills voters will be asked Monday in a special election to approve a municipal bond issue.

The proposal seeks the support of a $1.5 million general obligation bond issue for the construction of a sewer system.

Only property owners and their wives will be allowed to decide the proposal, and 60 per cent approval is needed for it to pass.

Approval of the bond issue, which would run 30 years, would mean an increase of taxes to property owners of about $7.31 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The estimated tax increase, however, is based on the bonds being issued at one cent.

Another plan, according to city engineers, that would divide the project, would reduce the tax per $1,000 to approximately 8c.

This plan would have available $1.3 million of the bond issue income for sewer construction in developed areas, and the remaining funds issued at a later date for undeveloped areas.

The city, now served by septic tanks, has more than 450 homes, but has a potential of 1,700.

In time, such a concentrated supply of tanks would create a health problem, according to Mayor Henry Woolfenden.

He said that should Monday's proposal fail, the city would have to look at one cent bonds.

The internal system, if approved, would connect to the Evergreen Interceptor. The project could be completed late in 1961.

"If they agree to do the work, then, however, we will be relieved, and probably at a higher rate than under the 30-year bond issue."

The President did not mention it, but the car he took to "set the record straight" apparently stemmed from a remark he himself made at his Aug. 24 news conference in Washington.

Eisenhower was asked then to "give us an example of a major idea of his (Nixon's) which you had adopted." The President broke in to answer shortly. "If you give me a week, I might think of one. I don't remember."

Buyers Must 'Advertise' Against Bad Merchants

On the assumption that most Americans have at least on one occasion been bothered by an offensive, misleading or even a downright dishonest advertisement, Ernest A. Jones, president of one of the country's largest advertising agencies, MacManus, Jones & Adams, Inc., in Bloomfield Hills, offered every man a weapon to slay the dragon.

A frontline fighter for sound ethics in advertising, Jones urged others to join him in the fray, when he addressed Pontiac Rotary Club Thursday afternoon in the Walton Hotel.

"It's not enough when people just don't buy a product because they've been offended by an advertisement on its behalf, he said, they should 'refuse to buy, not just not buy.'"

"Nothing turns the tap off quicker," he added, "than a supply of three-cent potatoes, perhaps a few telephone calls, as well as keeping your wallet buttoned."

Advertisers spend millions of dollars for research aimed at finding out what the public likes or dislikes, he pointed out. They will listen to the individual who will tell them more about their preferences and what actually disrupts them in advertising today, he said.

"The good advertiser is concerned and misled by your silence; the bad advertiser thrives on it," Jones added.

"Pontiac is particularly fortunate in the aggressive posture of the Business Ethics Board of the Chamber of Commerce, which since 1954 worked out a code of ethics in advertising in cooperation with the press and radio," he explained.

In defense of good advertising, Jones said, it is as the spark-plugs of prosperity.

"Advertising is a powerful economic force in this and every community. It is a catalyst between mass production and the cause of mass consumption."

"We're not for mass consumption and its stimulus — advertising — the United States would soon shatter beneath the products of its vast technical and industrial skills."

Second Finch Trial Goes Into Summation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prosecution at the second trial for murder claims Dr. R. Bernard Finch is "the biggest liar who ever sat in the witness box."

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph Powers said Thursday that the gun shot death of the doctor's wife, which Finch claims was accidental, was "an cold-blooded murder as you could ever imagine."

He pointed a finger at Dr. Finch, 42, and Carole Tregoff, 23, his codefendant.

"Let us look at the motives," said Powers. "Last and greed."

Powers, opening the state's summation, repeated the prosecution theory that the doctor and his mistress killed Barbara Ann Finch in July 1959 so they wouldn't lose community property in the divorce suit Mrs. Finch then had pending.

The first trial ended in a jury deadlock.

Remarkable tablet can relieve female ailments of any age—both monthly cramps and "hot flashes" of change-of-life!

Just because you're a woman you don't have to suffer nasty cramps every month. Don't have to go through the change with fear and misery! Today, most women can relieve "female suffering" of any age—with Pinkham Tablets!

In doctor's tests with Pinkham Tablets, most young women no longer suffered agonizing "period pains". In middle-age, 8 out of 10 tested got remarkable relief from distress of change-of-life! No costly shots were used. Taking Pinkham Tablets alone, "hot flashes" subsided. Nervousness is calmed. Then you can start living a full, happy life again!

When simple iron-deficiency anemia robs you of energy, Pinkham Tablets are also a blessing! Rich in iron, they help strengthen blood and vitality!

So don't "give in" to female ailments. Get Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets from drugstore. Take daily, like vitamins! See if you don't find new peace-of-mind, new relief from physical discomfort's too!

'Check Delay Built Surplus'

Mack Says Issuance of Military Allotments Tilted Budget Image

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration increased its 1960 budget surplus $151.5 million by delaying for one day each month the issuance of servicemen's allotment checks, Rep. Peter F. Mack, D-Mi., said today.

A total surplus of about $1.1 billion for the year ended June 30 was announced by the Treasury in July.

Mack said a report by Comptroller General Joseph Campbell related that the Army and Air Force mailed only 11 monthly allotment payments to servicemen's dependents during the year that ended June 30.

The June payment, which would have normally been mailed June 30, wasn't sent out until July 1 and will be charged to expenses for the 1961 fiscal year which ends next June 30, Mack added.

NAVY THE SAME

The Navy, Mack said, has not changed its normal practice of issuing allotment checks the last day of each month.

Campbell, in a letter which Mack made public today, said his General Accounting Office is attempting to ascertain the reasons for the Army's action.

The Air Force said it made the change, Campbell reported in his letter, because when the mailings were on the last day of each month, many disbursement notices had been received too late to stop the checks.

Says Sleeping Pills SAVED BB's Life

NICE, France (AP) — Brigitte Bardot, out of danger Thursday night by Bardon's suicide attempt may have been foiled by the sleeping pills she took.

The film queen was found Wednesday night in a coma from an overdose of sleeping pills and with her wrists slashed. The first doctor to reach her said she apparently was so sleepy from the pills that when she tried to wield the razor blade the cuts were only superficial.

PARENTS ON WAY

"Brigitte spent a good night," he said. "She slept well and all appears for the best."

Namin said the star's parents, who were on their way from Paris, would be allowed to see her tonight. Asked about her husband, Jacques Charrier, the doctor said: "There is no news from Mr. Charrier."

Charrier also had been reported coming to Brigitte's side but was advised he would not be allowed to see her now.

Brigitte had been in seclusion at the home of friends near Mentone after marital difficulties. Recently Charrier engaged in a brawl with her current leading man, Sunny Frey, after he found his wife and Frey in a car outside a Paris night spot.

State Orders Park Stickers

Will Vend Daily Tags for 50 Cents From 80 Machines

LANSING (AP)—Orders have been placed for 1,500,000 stickers to be used in the parks fee admission program that starts next year.

The State Conservation Department also has ordered 50 vending machines to distribute them.

Starting Jan. 1, parks users will need a sticker on their car windshields to enter 54 of Michigan's 61 state parks.

The annual stickers, costing $2, will be available through hunting and fishing license dealers. The 50-cent daily stickers will be sold from vending machines at the parks.

The admission fee money will be used to retire a bond issue to finance a $3 million parks expansion and improvement program.

SS Hope in Honolulu Gets Island Welcome

HONOLULU (UPI) — The floating medical center SS Hope arrived Thursday for a two-day stay in Honolulu Harbor before starting a year-long good will mission in Southeast Asia.

The white medical ship, was extended a traditional Hawaiian welcome complete with a fire boat spraying an aquatic salute, a shower of orchids from a Navy helicopter, the royal Hawaiian band and the Aloha week king and his court.

A small crowd of 200 damped by rain was on hand to greet the ship. The rain gave personnel and crew aboard the floating medical center a taste of Indonesian weather.

'Women Lack Mental Furniture'Little Gems Collected Thither, Yon

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK—On and off the record: Danny Thomas (on his happy marriage)—"When I got married, my wife was a singer. After we had three kids she wanted to go back to the profession, but I said no. That's when I coined a phrase, or at least I think it's mine, and told my wife: 'I want a woman to come home to, not with.'"

Dr. Margaret Mead (on the housewife's plight)—"The women who mind manual work, like washing dishes, are those whose heads are empty while they're doing it. In my generation we learned poetry. We could delight ourselves, over the dishes, remembering 'The First Snowfall.'"

"But the art of memorization is, among other nice things, lost. Women tire of housework now because they have not enough furniture to mentally sit down upon."

Ray Bolger (on the possibilities of immortality)—"It is nice to be recognized but often a show business name is forgotten quickly. Ask today's kids who Al Jolson was and they have no idea. But if you kill somebody, they remember. Every kid knows the name Dillinger."

A woman Hungarian refugee, glaring at New York police in front of the Park Avenue Soviet Embassy (on Khrushchev's presence)—"If they (the cops) would only go for just five minutes . . . We would show him what Red really means. This street would be paved with blood!"

Das Hammarakjold (on the U.N.'s role in keeping peace)—"Constant attention by a good nurse may be just as important as a major operation by a surgeon."

Denmark Urges Arms Control

Tokens Move in Offer to Open Greenland for Inspection Purposes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Denmark proposed Wednesday the establishment of an international inspection and armaments control body, and offered to open up Greenland for inspection purposes as its contribution to get the system started.

Danish Foreign Minister J. O. Krag made the offer before the U.N. General Assembly in urging that partial disarmament measures be undertaken in an effort to break the East-West deadlock.

The United States has an air base at Thule, Greenland, in agreement with the Danish government. Greenland is a huge island of 877,800 square miles, most of it ice-capped.

Krag suggested that both East and West could make available "for free and reciprocal inspection definite sectors of their national territories of considerable and approximately equal geographic extent and strategic importance."

"Within the limited resources at our disposal, we would like to offer a practical contribution in this field in order to set an example and at the same time illustrate the direction in which our ideas are moving."

Veterans Will Take Disabled to Register

Free transportation for disabled and elderly persons to register for the Nov. 8 election is being given upon request by Pontiac Disabled American Veterans Chapter 16. Commander Luther Keys announced today.

The chapter also will provide free transportation to the polls on election day for such persons, he said.

Arrangements can be made by telephoning the chapter home at 159 Auburn Ave. The numbers are FE 2-2216 or FE 5-3954.

Governor Forsakes LyndonWorld Series First

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — coming into Pennsylvania again when I can campaign with him." Democratic Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania has been hoping for a World Series in Pittsburgh for 30 years, and now that the Pirates are in, politics will have to take a back seat for a few days.

Land area of Hawaii is greater than that of three of the mainland states.

Lawrence's plans to be in Pittsburgh for the opener against New York Oct. 3 apparently caused Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, to call off a campaign tour of Pennsylvania that day.

Asked for comment, Lawrence, former mayor of Pittsburgh, said: "Naturally I think Lyndon wanted me to campaign with him. This thing (the World Series) came up and, of course, I'll be there. It's something I've dreamed of for over 30 years. He (Johnson) is

The U.N. Could Benefit From Russian Hostility

The 21 nation Steering Committee of the United Nations has voted to stop the Soviet Union's drive to bring up for debate before the General Assembly what the Russians term "aggression in the Congo and the creation of a breeding ground for tensions."

Premier Khrushchev attacked Secretary General Hammarskjöld on this ground accusing him of leaning toward the West and abuse of office in the Congo crisis. Khrushchev had hoped to win support from the new African members of the U.N. but he seems to have failed.

Speaking courageously and at his own request, Mr. HAMMARSKJÖLD focused the discussion in the General Assembly on matters of principle. "This is a question not of a man, but of an institution. Independence and impartiality must describe the attitude of the secretary general." That his statement met with free word approval was shown by prolonged applause while KHRUSHCHEV and his satellite delegates pounded angrily on their desks.

Canada's Prime Minister DIXIE-BAKER was the first Western leader to take issue with KHRUSHCHEV on his proposal to replace the office of secretary general with representatives of the three power bloc, each armed with a veto. Having used the veto so often in the Security Council, the Soviet plan is clear, Mr. DIXIE-BAKER said. That is to destroy the U.N. by preventing it from taking action in emergencies through the Assembly and the secretariat.

The present setup has enabled the secretary general to act as the agent of the world majority in accordance with the Charter, and to help re-establish order in the Congo. The new African nations should see the U.N. as the protector of their countries against outside intervention.

The Russians have a way of over-playing their hands. We can hope they have done it again.

Nigerian Independence Comes Without Friction

Perhaps the most peaceful transition from a protectorate to independence in the British Commonwealth is taking place in Nigeria, West Africa.

With a population of 35.3 million and an area equal to that of Texas and Nevada combined, a federal government is ready to take over with trained men at all levels, many of whom were educated in England. The parliament will have 320 members representing three autonomous regions, Northern, Eastern and Western Nigeria.

Muslim and Christian missionary schools are responsible for the comparatively high degree of literacy. Lagos, the capital, is a clean, modern city with a highly rated university. Another is about to open in the north.

In terms of living standards, Nigeria is a poor country with the per capita annual income between $60 and $100. A few Nigerians are comparatively wealthy. The new government has long term development plans for agriculture and industry and a public school system eventually.

SMOEN O. ADEBO, finance minister for the western region and a leader of the new regime, said in Washington recently that the program would cost an estimated $100 million and that help is needed to finance part of it. He believes that the Soviet Union is making an impact in a few places because of economic aid and technicians. American aid, however, too often comes too late, he said, and seems to be in the nature of an anti-Soviet move rather than a desire to help.

So far as this part of Africa is concerned, its leaders appear to be well trained and prepared for their responsibilities.

NIXON and KENNEDY debated in the Chicago television studio used for wrestling matches, but the consensus is that, unlike some wrestling matches, the debate was on the level, although there is considerable divergence of opinion as to the attitude of said level.

The 20 years between 45, when a man is considered too old to employ, and 65, when he's old enough to draw social security benefits, might be called the Leaden Years.

"Inadequate food is the cause of much juvenile delinquency," says a physician. Another cause is inappropriate drink.

Loom's injured finger may prevent his pointing with pride, but he can still view with alarm.

The Man About Town

Covers Wide Area

Our County Production Is Shown to Have Big Spread

October: A suspense month every four years.

Figures gathered by the Oakland County Planning Commission, under the guidance of its Director, George N. Shrubbs, shows that our manufactured products go to a wide area. Our own county residents buy only 19 per cent of them. The rest of Michigan takes 17 per cent, while 63 per cent is spread over the remainder of the United States, with one per cent going foreign.

With the air saturated with politics, in response to numerous requests as to where this column stands, we'll tell you—

We're picking Michigan State on Saturday, and expect the Pirates to win World Series, and will let you fool around with Nov. 8 predictions.

Kind words come in a letter from Eleanor Perry, who writes: "Just arrived from two months' traveling. Bought a paper in each city and none of them can compare with our Pontiac Press."

As is usually the case, the Michigan Tourist Council is getting in too much of a hurry in reporting our autumn foliage display. Due notice will be given in this column when it is at its best in the Pontiac area.

The parakeet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Almond Oranson of Kego Harbor sticks its head in its food cup when the TV blares too much.

First Soviet Man in Space

West Must Get Tough With Reds

WASHINGTON — Perhaps no more pointed exhibition of governmental hypocrisy has ever been noted in the history of modern times than the recent sessions in the U.N. General Assembly.

Here is an organization whose charter specifically proclaims that its main purpose is "to reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small."

But what has the world witnessed in the proceedings of the assembly? The ostentatious speech-making and table-pounding of dictators gathered from far and wide to demonstrate their contempt for human rights and their determination to continue to maintain in bondage tens of millions of human beings.

Pitiful or more dictators have held the limelight—from the uncivilized, boorish Castro to the glib, sophisticated Khrushchev.

These tyrants have been given television and news space and all the publicity treatment which heroes are wont to receive.

Where's the "equal time"? There's nothing wrong with giving news attention to these antics, but where is the "equal time" for the champions of human liberty, for the spokesmen who can tell the other side of the controversy to the public at large in countries where the press is still free?

Where are the crusaders for moral law who give power and influence millions of people eventually to do battle for freedom?

As it is, Nikita Khrushchev makes a speech denouncing "colonialism" in the West, but relatively little is said about the cruel measures he himself has taken to maintain slave colonies in Hungary, in the Ukraine, in Poland, in East Germany, and in the other captive countries.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan made a very forceful speech Thursday but it did not go far enough.

It called for "self-determination" for the German people but did not remind the Soviets of the slavery imposed on the peoples of Eastern Europe.

The Soviet premier, on the other hand, dares to accuse the West of interference in Africa when his own henchmen have been guilty of sending military weapons and planes into the Congo to thwart the peace efforts of the United Nations itself.

He boldly denounces the U.N.'s secretary general for "aggression" while he himself is the aggressor.

In the booklet The Seven Keys to Vite there is a model health diet which, as it stands, is a corrective, protective, reduction, regeneration, rejuvenation diet. Upon this basic health diet, you can build your own everyday diet.

For either of the pamphlets, send stamped, self-addressed envelope. For the booklet enclose 35 cents in addition.

Common fatteners: Chicken, beef, veal, liquor—the alcohol is more readily utilized and the first fuel to be burned, spurring food substances so that they are stored as fat—badly, unwanted.

Anti-fat suggestion: Douse it not merely with exercise. It is to be glutted with a fat food—margarine.

On letting Khrushchev take the initiative?

Nothing has ever been lost for the cause of freedom by speaking out plainly.

Everything has been lost by being timid in the face of the aggressions of a dictator.

Even after the Soviet premier made his speech the other day and fraternized with Castro and the other dictators, did anybody except the courageous demonstrators on the streets value the sentiment of the U.N. Charter that demands that, instead of admitting a lot of nations still lacking the capacity for self-government, a public examination should be made of the society and good faith of certain governments already members of the U.N.?

It is sickening, after reading provision after provision of the U.N. Charter, to realize how flagrantly the world has been disregarded by the Communists in every conceivable kind of violation of human rights.

It's true the Soviet government made a veto in the Security Council, but who among the Western spokesmen has called for a revision of the charter so that an accused country shall not be permitted, as a matter of procedure, to vote in the council during its trial at the bar of justice?

Several public opinion polls and a sampling of voter reaction on a recent tour around the country indicate that as of now, GOP hopeful Richard M. Nixon was "luckier" in his choice of a running mate than was Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy.

The final news awaits the election day tally, but a question asked of Washington correspondents by a group of editors — "Is not every well informed — throughout the country — highly favorable reaction to Henry Cabot Lodge on the GOP ticket."

A large green salad or a dish of celery, carrots, radishes or other relatives eaten raw or tomato or one raw should be an essential part of luncheon and/or the first course of dinner.

CASE F-483: Freddy G., aged 11, has been taking piano lessons for 3 years.

By Dr. Crane, his mother began, "he now has developed a sudden inversion to the piano, despite the fact he is really talented."

"He has played in a number of recitals and has always liked the piano previously."

"So what could cause this sudden reversal?"

Freddy was not as tall as most of his male classmates, so he felt a bit sensitive on that basis.

He yearned to be looked up to by other boys. And he definitely did not want to be considered a sissy.

Unfortunately, one of his male classmates had quit his violin lessons because he said it was "sissy."

Freddy then began to feel that maybe his piano playing would also be a sissy hobby.

In fact, his mother later informed me that for several weeks the way she could get Freddy to play was to tell him that

Hazardous Driving Habits Pointed Out by Resident

Some extra good drivers seem to think they can handle a car so well that they put a child on their back behind the wheel and let them make left and right turns and go driving on down the highway.

Another driving hazard involving children is when drivers forget they have two or three doors on their automobile and neglect to close the door completely. A fast left or right turn could throw the child out so easily.

Take a minute to check your doors and don't put a child behind the wheel for any reason. Your fellow drivers and pedestrians count on you to think clearly.

Nixon Luckier in Draw of Cards Getting Lodge

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The greatest asset for any politician would be to have "insight" in advance. Since no one has yet developed this useful quality, presidential candidates must settle for their own judgment, and hope for a lucky draw with the political cards.

Offset Loss of Sales to Car Companies

Repairs at Gas Stations Aid Parts Firms

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — A growing trend among motorists to have minor repair and service work done at corner gas stations is providing new opportunities for independent auto parts makers.

The independent parts makers have been caught in a squeeze as the big auto companies have turned more and more to building their own parts, rather than buying them from outside firms.

But the materials are unwittingly offset the squeeze by turning more and more away from auto-company franchised garages to the corner filling station for minor repair work on his car.

Recent surveys show that the number of repair jobs done at filling stations increased from 20 per cent of the total to 30 per cent between 1957 and 1958.

During the same period the number of repair jobs done at an authorized car dealer's garage dropped from 23 per cent of the total to 19 per cent.

AS MUCH AT HOME

The number of repair jobs done by independent garages and the number done by the motorist himself remained almost constant during the period.

E. T. Duffy, director of replacement sales for the Electric Auto-rite Co., said his company does not prefer selling to independent gasoline stations. But he added that Autolite is aware of the trend and was willing to go along with it.

Autolite is a good example of the type of company that is benefiting from the trend toward more repair work at gas stations.

The Toledo, Ohio, company recently lost a lucrative contract with Chrysler Corp. when Chrysler started to build its own electrical parts at a plant in Indiana.

The demand from gas stations for more replacement parts is filling the gap left by the Chrysler contract withdrawal.

Duffy said he believed there were many reasons for the trend toward gas station repairs.

Probably the most important of these, he said, is the fact that the gasoline station operator sees his customer's car more than any other qualified mechanic. He can tell the driver, when he sees the need for repairs or servicing, and is likely to be asked to do the job.

Another important reason is that the customer has gotten to know his gasoline station operator better than the mechanic in the garage where he bought his car. This acquaintance gives him confidence in the station operator.

Union Weighs Strike at General Electric

NEW YORK (UPI)—Union officials gathered today to decide whether to call a strike at midnight Saturday against the General Electric Co., which rejected a government plea to end a work contract until a new one is written.

The GE Conference Board of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) already has received approval from the Union members to call a strike. A walk-out of the 70,000 GE Union members probably would force the company to close its 166 plants across the nation, idling 240,000 employees.

GE turned down a plea by federal mediators Thursday to continue negotiations for a new contract under terms of the present five year pact.

Nixon Will Dedicate Muskegon Arena

MUSKEGON — An Oct. 27 appearance by Vice President Nixon has been confirmed by John C. Beukema, chairman of the committee for dedication of the new $3.5 million L. C. Walker Sports Arena at Muskegon.

It was feared earlier that a knee injury suffered by the vice president would cut the Muskegon visit from his itinerary.

Nixon is principal speaker, with a "nonpartisan" address, at ceremony. It means he formally dedicating the all-purpose arena donated to the city by industrialist L. C. Walker.

Candidates Feel Weight of Responsibility Debates Could Revolutionize Elections

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Regardless of any faults as a first effort, Monday night's Kennedy-Nixon confrontation on television promises to put American political campaigning into a new framework and perhaps change it altogether.

Candidates are being swept away from the past in which they could make regional speeches playing on regional prejudices. That's not a new thing.

The old style campaign speech, in which a man might even get away with contradicting himself to meet his needs before differing audiences, has been going on for years. First because of fast and full nationwide newspaper coverage, and then radio. But this business of candidates meeting each other under the eyes of the whole nation adds a new factor.

It was responsible Monday night for a different bearing on the part of both men. They felt the solemnity of what they were doing.

It seems quite possible that the knowledge of that great unseen audience added considerably to their understanding of the enormous thing they were trying to do—win the leadership of a far-flung nation composed of regions and people with many varying and conflicting interests.

Detroit Bearing Firm Buys Holding of Renault

DETROIT (AP)—Federal Mogul-Bower Bearings of Detroit said Thursday its wholly-owned Swiss subsidiary, Mogul-Bower Bearings S. A., has purchased a "substantial interest" in the Societe Francaise des Cousinets Mines.

The Detroit firm said the interest in France's largest sleeve bearing company was acquired from the Renault automotive firm for an undisclosed price.

The French firm produces bearings, bushings and thrust washers in its plant at Orleans.

The power of public judgment was close upon them.

A great many people think it would have been better if the two men had used the old form of debate all the way through, with pretension and rebuttal without the intervention of interrogators.

There is a good possibility, however, that if the interrogation system becomes standard on such occasions, candidates will be forced to discuss questions in the public interest which they might prefer to duck if left to their own devices.

There is a possibility, of course, that some day a complete ritual, would be able to sweep popular opinion without having to submit himself to the country in person. But the American people can usually see through the gimmicks, and have a tradition of good sense when the chips are down.

Through an increasing use of television the same voters will be able to follow a campaign from beginning to end. They will be able to watch the changing reactions of candidates as the campaign progresses, instead of just depending on a one-time or even wholly second-hand impression.

The public's opportunity to make repeated face-to-face comparison, with the resulting forces which will then go to work on the candidates themselves, could revolutionize the whole election process.

Shaking Hands Hours Before Victory

R. I. Winner Campaigns to Wire

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A few own home in Newport. He smokes four children, all under 15, were shocked two po a pipe. The whole Pell family waited her grandparents, an aunt, her out the election returns in a Providence hotel, Mrs. Pell and the keeper.

"I wanted to shake some more hands," explained the Newport blueblood who started campaigning nine months ago and didn't stop until the polls closed at 9 Wednesday night.

A political novice, Pell overwheeled two former governors to win nomination for the Senate seat being vacated by Theodore Francis Green, D.

It was his first try for elective office but Pell contended the voters would welcome a fresh approach and a new face. He linked his campaign appeal with the youth and new frontiers theme of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee.

He beat four-time governor Dennis J. Roberts by 38,000 votes. J. Howard McGrath, former governor, U.S. senator and attorney general, polled only 7,525 to Pell's more than 63,000.

Both former governors had criticized Pell during the campaign as an inexperienced amateur. Pell replied that "youth, vigor, freshness of approach" and seven years with the Foreign Service qualified him for the Senate.

Pell was a special assistant at the United Nations conference in San Francisco in 1945, before joining the Foreign Service. He is now vice president of the International Rescue Committee.

Long an active Democrat, he is a wealthy businessman and socialite in fashionable Newport.

A tall, slim man with black, wavy hair, Pell is the heir of a political family. His father, Herbert Pell, was a congressman and served as a diplomat under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. came to Rhode Island during the campaign to give Pell a boost.

Pell's forebears include five earlier congressmen and a Rhode Island lieutenant governor.

His business affairs include vice presidency of the North American Newspaper Alliance and positions with two investment firms.

Pell, a Princeton graduate with an Ivy League air, is a man of many interests. He speaks French and Italian and says he is familiar with Portuguese. He designed his WINS SENATE PRIMA — Clairborne de Borda Pell, 41, Thursday beat out two former Rhode Island governors for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate seat vacated by old-timer Theodore F. Green, 92. Pell, a Newport blueblood and a newcomer to politics with experience in the foreign service, identified himself with Sen. John F. Northern Students Work on 'Pirates of Penzance'

By DIANE M. WALTER
Long rehearsals after school, hard work, excitement, and fun are all part of the activities of Pontiac Northern's Choir.

Melvin Larimer, music director, Anthony Chiarilli, dramatics supervisor, and students are looking forward to the Gilbert and Sullivan production, "Pirates of Penzance," scheduled for Oct. 27 and 28.

The satire will be performed in the auditorium of Pontiac Northern High School with music furnished by a 20-piece orchestra. John Silvenheim heads the art department, while Russell Butler is publicity chairman.

"We are going all out to make this the biggest production that Pontiac Northern has yet produced musically and dramatically," says Larimer.

Jerry Meeter plays Major General Stanley, and Bill Ramsey is the pirate king, Samuel. He is played by Mike Plourde, and Jerry Ball takes the role of the sergeant of police.

Pam Hurst plays the sophisticated Mabel, but maintains a restrained attitude unlike the cheerful, sophisticated characters played by Pat Wampler, as Edith; Sandra Lockwood, as Kate; and Karlene Walton, as Isabella.

While the music department sings, others serve the student body by working part time in the cafeteria.

Ruth Van Wert, Pat Rodgers, Charles Lambert, David Fox and Eddy Murray work under Allos Houts, cafeteria manager. Also assisting are Ronald Brown, Norman Moore, Peggy Cone, Sandy Simon and Philip Bridge.

Several student teachers from Michigan State University are striving at Northern for their teaching certificates. Mrs. Mary Lee Jennings aids Bill De Guello, student teacher in business education.

Bruce Fillmore works and learns from Wallace Schoerke in the social studies dept., and John Silvenheim, art teacher, advises Jim Backlund in teaching techniques.

Northern band students are proud of their new band uniforms of red, white and navy blue. Eldon Housagard, director, selected the uniforms purchased by the board of education.

The band has already played two football games and boosted Northern's school spirit today at a pep assembly. They hope to play with other selected bands at the Lion's football game and for the first prevention week parade.

Much is planned for their school year. Included, too, are fall and spring concerts.

Northern welcomes visiting specialists who frequently assist our faculty and students.

Ralph Rotzel, supervisor and coordinator for business education and cooperative business training students, is at Northern Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 12:30 and Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 8 to 10.

Students desirous of correcting speech impediments are urged by teachers, counselors and parents to have Paul Gehring help them on Wednesday and Friday mornings from 10:15-11:30 at Northern.

Frances Priest and Francis McDowell are visiting teachers at Northern, Fridays from 1 to 3 p.m. They act as personal counselors for pupils.

Often students are encouraged by teachers and guidance counselors to seek help especially concerning personal problems.

All work as a team making Pontiac Northern a desirable place where students can learn and have fun too.

Some of that fun will come tonight for fans at Walled Lake Stadium, and for our footballers it will be work as they meet a highly regarded Walled Lake team.

The band, the cheerleaders, and Northern supporters will be there giving all their backing will you! Let's get out and cheer our Huskies to victory.

These newly-elected officers will be the helm of the senior class for the fall semester at St. Michael's High School. Planning class activities are: from left) Michael Wyganski, president; Tanya Hurst, secretary; Robert Sabourin, vice president; and Margaret Worden, treasurer. They were elected by classmates each week and are already digging in on their first big job, tonight's "Freshmen Welcome Dance."

Royalty Reigns at Clarkston

By JANET TISH
As the Clarkston High School Senior Band plays the melodic strains of "Gigi," Bobo Christides will officially become Clarkston's 1960 Homecoming Queen tonight.

Queen Bobo will be attended by five girls chosen from grades 9-12.

They are: Patsy Golembeske and Nancy Stangulius, freshmen; Joan Mansfield, sophomore; Janet Spangier, junior; and Sandy Asker, senior. Queen Bobo and her court will reign at the sixth annual Homecoming Game and Dance to night.

An exciting half-time performance will be presented by the senior band under the direction of Barton J. Conners. Majorette Judy Fife will highlight the performance with spectacular twirling of a fire-balon.

This is the first time such an act has been presented on the Clarkston football field.

Past Homecoming Queens will also be honored along with the 1960 Queen and her court.

Records will furnish the music for the Homecoming Dance which is being sponsored by the student government.

During the dance there will be an alumni coffee hour giving all past graduates a chance to get together.

In the midst of homecoming preparations, student council officers were elected and the sophomore class named its officers.

The high school marching band now consists of 54 members from grades 8 through 12. The junior high band will also play tonight.

Diane Bruckish, the band soprano, and Marilyn Dwyer, who has studied with the band for the last three years, will be joined by Ann White and Sue Amacher.

The West Bloomfield Township Board of Education purchased the uniforms and other equipment for the band.

Last Saturday the band marched in the Kwanza Club parade in Birkley for New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, and were called the third best band there.

Child's Play Means Hard Work at Central

By BARBARA GRIFFIN
This year's Children's Theatre play to be presented by the Pontiac Central Players will be "The Princess and the Pea."

The play is about a prince disguised as a swineherd who comes to the palace of a princess. He wishes to marry the beautiful but vain princess and puts her through different trials to test her character.

New dramatics instructor Stuart Packard required that all those trying out for the play do a pantomime and read a selection from children's literature.

The cast includes Nancy Walker as Princess Rosalie; Dave Austin, King Charlie; Jim Baker, Swineherd; Mark Kern, Nimble; Carl Nichols, King Rosalie; and Doug Dugan, ladies in waiting.

Heading the off stage activity will be committee chairmen Willie Prentiss, props; Sue Costantino and Pat Rahja, tickets and publicity; Nadine Morris and Betty Boone, costumes; Dave Hunt, lighting; and Kaye Gaddes, makeup. Student director is Judy Whitmer.

Five matinee performances of the play will be given during the week of Oct. 24-29 for the elementary schools.

An evening performance will be given October 28 at 8 in the Pontiac Central auditorium.

Fifteen students working in the chemistry lab during the day give valuable assistance to Forest Brown and Duane Steele, chemistry instructors.

Some of the varied jobs performed by the lab assistants are taking roll, correcting desks, giving solutions, cleaning up, preparing experiments, setting up demonstrations, and typing.

Dave Blank, Ed Christie, Char Johnson, Ruth Nurenbeg, John Harbaugh, Sara Wood and Kathy O'Brien also assist in the lab.

Eagerly awaiting the completion of Central's new pool are members of the Dolphin Club.

As soon as the pool is filled with water, clinics will begin to teach swimming members the requirements for becoming a Dolphin.

These include the front crawl, back crawl, over-arm side stroke, breast stroke, front and back tuck somersaults, back dolphin, a surface dive, and underwater swimming.

Tuesday after school in the girls' gym a "dryland" meeting will be held for all girls interested in Dolphin membership. At this time, try-out requirements will be explained by the present members, and sponsor Nelma Wood.

New Dolphin officers are Carolyn Rouse, president; Judy West, vice president; Carol Riley, secretary; Barb Griffin, treasurer; and Joan Monteith, historian.

Excitement Still High at Christian

Students at Emmanuel Christian High School are now comfortably settled in their brand new school building at 825 Golf Dr., but the excitement of something new isn't worn off.

The school's first varsity football team has been welcomed with great excitement and backed with plenty of spirit from the student body.

The same spirit was evident during recent class elections and is expected to remain strong during student council election campaigns next week.

Heading the committees are: Margaret Worden, general chairman; Tanya Hurst, secretary; Sharon Bustin, treasurer; and Halpa, chairman of the special freshmen committee.

Senior Ralph Lane will spin the records as the student disc jockey.

At St. Michael's High

By PAT BURNS
Tonight's "Freshmen Welcome Dance" was the main topic of discussion in the senior class at St. Michael's High School this week as preparations got into full swing.

A royal welcome will be given to the new Class of '61, including the awarding of honorary freshmen diplomas.

The welcome dance will be held from 9:30 to 11:30.

Heading the committees are: Margaret Worden, general chairman; Tanya Hurst, secretary; Sharon Bustin, treasurer; and Halpa, chairman of the special freshmen committee.

Big Concert, Road Trip on Tap for Waterford

By BARBARA KECAN
Vocalists at Waterford Township High are hard at work rehearsing for a big concert and a chance for an even bigger event next summer.

The choral music department will have its second annual fall festival on Thursday, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. This event is open free to all Waterford high school students with activity cards.

On the heels of this announcement comes news that the school's A Cappella Boys Ensemble has been invited by the American Consulate in Mexico to audition for a tour of Mexico in the summer of 1961.

The ten boys would perform in five cities from Aug. 10-25 after being flown to Monterey.

Featured in the October program will be the tenor section of the A Cappella Boys Ensemble, the tenor choir in the choral section of Bach's Cantata No. 140.

Others participating are Senior Girls Ensemble, Girls Glee Club, Boys Glee Club, the Interloches Quartet and the A Cappella Boys Ensemble. Also featured will be the director, Father Olaszewski, who is starting a new section under the direction of Sister Emily Joseph.

France May Be Sorry

De Gaulle Shows Contempt for U. N.

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle aloofly carried on with business as usual today while other leaders of other nations fired blasts in the United Nations or busied themselves with personal diplomacy in New York.

If De Gaulle was worried about what might be decided in his absence, he showed no sign at all.

No public speeches were scheduled until he goes on a provincial tour of southeastern France next month.

When British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan decided to go to New York for the U. N. General Assembly, there was speculation in Paris that De Gaulle might be forced to revise his plans and cross the Atlantic after all. But he gave no sign he had even noticed Macmillan was going.

Wednesday was the second anniversary of the massive referendum that gave a 79 per cent vote favoring De Gaulle's new constitution for a Fifth French Republic. There was no observance to mark the day.

The French president's undisguised contempt for what he recently called "this thing, the so-called United Nations" seems to have grown during those two years.

He sent his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, to the General Assembly for only a token appearance and has already brought him back to Paris. He has threatened repeatedly to ignore any resolutions the U. N. may pass about the six-year nationalist war in Algeria. While most Frenchmen agree heartily that the U. N. should keep its hands off Algeria, considering territory French private business, De Gaulle's general disdain for the U. N. is causing some anxiety. Many fear that his staff attitude toward the international body may drive France into virtual isolation.

Musical Workshop Gathers

Mrs. Arthur Dodge of Lake Angeles was hostess for the first meeting of the season for Tuesday Musicales Workshop.

After Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks, chairman, outlined the study program, Mrs. Walter Schmitz was welcomed as a new member. For her audition Mrs. Schmitz played "No Nothings" by Rhine-Baton for piano.

Featured in the informal program were vocal selections by Mrs. Marshbanks, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Schmitz; and a song by Mrs. Geraldine Snapp, accompanied by Mrs. Ferdinand Gaebler.

Mrs. Dodge played two organ numbers.

The program was closed with vocal and instrumental selections by Mrs. James Rosenthal.

Mrs. O. L. Smith was luncheon chairman, assisted by Mrs. Donald Hogue, Mrs. Audrey Roberts, Mrs. Jack Wignall, Mrs. Paul Elison, Mrs. H. V. Heldenbrand and Mrs. Snapp.

He Should Take Girl Back Again

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother insists that the average American girl of today is killing the little gallantry that still remains from her day. She'd expect a man to brave the commuting rush out of the city after office hours to fetch a girl right back to town, rather than permit the girl to meet him in his own home.

She is rule-bound, however, on his letting her go home alone afterward, even when it means that he has to ride equally as far out of town in the opposite direction. I feel sure that today's etiquette is not as inflexible as my mother's.

Answer: It is quite proper for her to meet him at the restaurant or in the lobby of the theater to which they are going. But after their evening, seeing her home safely is a very different matter.

To leave her at her train may, quite truthfully, be safe enough, but it is not according to the code of a gentleman to permit any young woman to go home alone late in the evening.

Dear Mrs. Post: What should I do in our case? My son became engaged and soon after, his fiancée visited us. However, her home is 500 miles from ours and there's no possibility of my meeting her family before the wedding. We saw the girl personally but I have anything I should write the mother.

Answer: Merely write how much you like her daughter and that you are looking forward to meeting them. This should be a natural impulse of friendliness surely easy to follow.

Mrs. Maxwell Doerr of Ottawa Drive, chairman of Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall's Finance Committee, presents a check to Dr. Ted Ward of Oneida Road, president of the Pontiac Symphony. Incorporated to support the symphony and bring platform personalities of note to the Pontiac area, Town Hall will open its season Oct. 19 with flamenco guitarist Charles Montoya.

Sylvan Shores Club Has Tea

Sylvan Shores Women's Club members held their annual get acquainted tea Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Hugh Hale, president, on Sylvan Shores Drive.

Co-officers Mrs. Doane Le-maux, Mrs. Lloyd Wagner, Mrs. Byron Cole and Mrs. Howard Grossman were co-hostesses honoring new club members.

Sorority to Bestow Degrees

Mrs. Reginald McNichol of Maurer Street will be among pledges receiving their first degree from Lambda Tau Delta Sorority Tuesday.

Mrs. Arthur Doane of Royal Oak and Mrs. Raymond Welch of Farmington also are scheduled to receive first degrees at the sorority's 6:30 p. m. annual pledge dinner in Detroit's Harlan House Motel.

Hostesses will include Mrs. Bernard Dodd, Mrs. Manuel Barris and Mrs. Bliss French of Birmingham and Mrs. John Hooks and Mrs. Charles Harris, both of Pontiac.

Mrs. Richard Pernalis, pledge chairman, will welcome the initiates.

Hills News Notes

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The Junior League of Birmingham announced the completion of its latest project Wednesday at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Richard B. Wallace on Lowell Court.

With true junior league nerve and efficiency, many hours of effort, the assistance of the Oakland County Bar Association and the Ford Foundation, announcement is made of the opening of offices of the Oakland County Legal Aid Society in the Community National Bank Building, Pontiac.

Representing the league on the board of directors are Mrs. Maxwell Matthews and Mrs. Sidney Smith Jr. Mrs. Matthews has also organized the Junior League Speakers Bureau, a service without charge.

Welcoming the press guests were Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. William B. Bachman Jr., league president, Mrs. John Kohl, Mrs. Richard C. Kern and Mrs. Robert K. Schaffer, who reported progress of another junior league project the Young Peoples Art Center-Croftbrook Academy of Art, organized by the league two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Henderson will give a dinner Wednesday for bride-elect Susan Van Hook, and her fiancé Robert A. Cunningham.

Mrs. Louis L. Banks arrived

the first of the week from her home in Mamaroneck, N. Y., for a visit with her mother, Mrs. William W. Campbell.

Mrs. Campbell has recently moved from Redding Road to her new apartment on Patterson Square.

Mrs. Walter Zimmer entertained at a beautifully appointed tea Tuesday afternoon. She was assisted by her daughter Mrs. Jess D. Chamberlin.

Birmingham Wellesley Club met at an evening dessert Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. A. Riegelman.

Mrs. Robert Knight of Wing Lake, chairman of the Wellesley Development Fund, is being assisted by Mrs. John M. Campbell.

Mrs. H. A. Thurston has returned from a motor trip in New England. Her sister Mrs. Norman Reinecker of Allentown, Pa., returned with her for a visit.

Checking their scores before luncheon following the final day of play at Pine Lake Country Club are flight winners (from left) Mrs. C. L. Sloman and Mrs. N. F. Gehring of Birmingham and Mrs. Norman Moysey of Royal Oak.

Abby, Reader Wants to Know

Anyone Know Why Cocks Were Stopped at Death?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am elderly now, but when I was a child all the cocks were stopped in the house when a person died. No one thought it peculiar. Why was this done? Do you, or perhaps any of your readers, recall anything like this? Or was it a local superstition?

ABBY

This has bothered me for years.

OBERLIN
DEAR OBERLIN: I recall the same "superstition" but I have no idea where originated, or why. Now, I, too, am curious. Does anyone know?

DEAR ABBY: My mother is a seamstress and she sews for the public. She is making a dress for a woman who is very hard to please because she can't make up her mind about what she wants. The dress is for a wedding, (her son is getting married) and it is all taffeta and lace and very fancy.

This woman has changed her mind eight times, and my mother has spent days on that one dress and she's not finished yet. My mother is a wonderful seamstress. If I have to say so myself, and every one of her other customers is very satisfied with her work. I am wondering just what my mother should charge a person like that?

DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Your mother should keep track of the hours she spends on that dress, and charge accordingly. A good seamstress will hardly pick up a needle for less than $2.00 an hour these days.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who is so disappointed because his first child was a girl that he won't lift a finger to help? He is also mad because the baby doesn't look like him. And I might as well tell you that he acts more single now than he did when he was single.

DISGUSTED WIFE

DEAR DISGUSTED: You have a baby girl AND a disappointed husband. Raising a husband takes patience, understanding and humility. I hope you are equal to the task.

DEAR ABBY: Today would be my ninth wedding anniversary if my husband were alive. I lost him ten months ago at the age of 20.

I have read your column for years and am amazed at the petty things married people fight about. Our marriage wasn't perfect either, but since I lost my husband I have become a very wiser person. My advice to married couples is to live each day as though it were going to be the last. Because sometimes it is.

Fabric Reactions Differ

Abrasion Key to Clothes' Demise

EAST LANSING—Abrasion is one big reason why clothes wear out.

Barbara Spilker Stowe, textile researcher at Michigan State University, says abrasion occurs anywhere a fabric contacts another surface and there is motion.

There is abrasion at the arms of garments, at the hems of coats, along the edges of collars and cuffs, across the backs of coats and suits and at the knees of slacks and elbows of sweaters.

You can see abrasive effects when the nap or pile of a fabric wears away. Knees of pants fade in color. Suits wear loose their luster and gabardines begin to shine.

OTHER RESULTS UNSEEN

Mrs. Stowe says there are other results you can't see, such as weakening of the fibers and loss of insulating properties.

Results of abrasion depend on the two surfaces which rub together. When the abrasive material is finer than the fiber diameter, it will grind the fiber.

When the abrasive is larger than the fiber diameter, it will pluck fibers and yarns and dislocate them.

The softer surface of the two shows the wear.

For instance, when a wool coat brushes against a woven plastic seat cover, the wool fibers wear.

When nylon stockings rub against the hem of a coat lining, the lining shows the wear.

RESULTS IN RESISTANCE

Resistance to abrasion can be built into a fabric. First, the fiber should have good elasticity. Nylon, dacron and wool fibers are best.

Acrylics, cotton and linen are quite good, while acetate, low strength rayon and glass fibers are poor in elasticity.

Blending of fibers can add greatly to abrasion resistance. Small amounts of nylon blended with rayon improves wearing qualities.

Long fibers should be wound together into yarns—tightly enough so they won't pull easily, yet not so tightly that wear is always localized.

For best wearing qualities, the same size and number of yarns should be woven in both lengthwise and crosswise directions.

Close fabric weaves distribute wear over a larger surface and may outwear those more loosely woven.

MOBILITY IN SOME

Some fabrics which are loosely woven, however, may be able to withstand abrasion because the fibers and yarns can slip against one another and thus have mobility.

This usually means the yarns have long or high quality fibers and a fairly high twist.

Fabrics without floats, naps or pile have fewer surface threads to wear away.

You would look for hard-wearing jeans, possibly selecting a fabric with some nylon added in the cotton for improved wear.

However, you would place less emphasis on the tough wearing quality of a velvet dress for special occasions.

'Mixers' to Dance

Merry Mixers Square Dance Club members will attend their kickoff dance from 8 to 12 this evening at Waterford Community Center.

Callers will be Hal Brown, Lee Kalnes and Norman Hill. Mrs. Brown will teach the dance of the month "It's True."

Mrs. Mehas Honored by Eighteeners

Pine Lake "Eighteeners" ended their golf season at a luncheon Thursday honoring Mrs. C. P. Mehas as Women's Club Champion. Mrs. Mehas is retiring as chairman of the Women's golf committee.

Chairmanship for the coming season will be assumed by Mrs. C. L. Sloman, with Mrs. G. C. Vane co-chairman. Secretary will be Mrs. G. K. House and treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell.

Mrs. Mehas won the championship in a three-day medal play. Debby Arnoldi was runner-up.

Flights were in match play with Mrs. N. F. Gehring first, Mrs. B. J. Bergeson second and Mrs. Norman Moysey third.

Championship trophy of the Pine Lake Eighteeners was awarded to Mrs. C. P. Mehas of Bloomfield Hills (left) Thursday at a luncheon honoring her retirement as chairman of the women's golf committee. With her is Debby Arnoldi of Bloomfield Hills, runner-up in the three-day medal play.

Waterford Man Weds in Italy

Jack L. Bergstrom Takes Livorno Girl as His Bride

Camp Darby Chapel in Livorno, Italy, was the setting for the marriage of Vicki Ann Triplett, formerly of Sacramento, Calif., and Navy RM 3.C. Jack L. Bergstrom. Capt. J. R. Roman performed the double-ring ceremony Saturday morning, assisted by the Rev. Father Pietro.

The bride is the daughter of the Alfred H. Triplett of Livorno formerly of Sacramento. The late C. Bergstrom of Silver Lake Road, Waterford Township, are parents of the bridegroom.

Styled along princess lines, the sleeveless bridal gown of white Italian silk was worn with a white lace jacket which featured an Elizabethan collar and fingertip sleeves. The short net veil was secured by a crown of net and lace. White carnations and pink roses comprised the bridal cascade.

Pink carnations complemented bouffant green silk taffeta for honor maid Barbara Lee, of Livorno, formerly of Washington, D. C. Her high-neck bodice was designed with bell sleeves.

Mrs. Norman O. Webb, bridesmaid, in yellow taffeta, carried yellow carnations.

On the couple's side were William McCarty, USAF, best man, and ushers Jack Munson, Raymond Pace, William Devine, Ralph Cook and Norman O. Webb.

For a motor trip through France, Germany and Sweden, the new couple will live at Leghorn, Italy.

At the reception in the Camp Darby Officers' Club, Mrs. Triplett appeared in green silk and wool brocade, matching hat and black accessories.

The bride attended University of Maryland, Munich branch.

During his 26 years with the department, Mr. Sahli has held positions as district director in Chicago and San Antonio.

Guild Sews for Infants

Queen Mary Section of the Needlework Guild met at the Miami Road home of Mrs. Walter Galbraith Thursday afternoon.

Discussing plans for the annual ingathering, members displayed handmade garments. The afternoon was spent sewing infants' apparel.

Mrs. Charles Clarke invited the group to her home on Park Place for the Oct. 13 meeting.

"He finally went but since camp has ended he seems to resent what we did. Didn't we do the right thing?"

ANSWER

No. Your son did the right thing.

You only ordered the right thing done. But he is the person who did it. He is the one who lived through the gloomy trip back to camp, its cold and critical punishment, the loneliness of his rejection.

No the courageous rightness of his action must be credited to him, not to you. If he helped to elude it, his resentment of your order may lessen.

Without knowing it, we parents often claim the credit for the "right" things children do at our order. We tell Jimmy to save part of his allowance — then brag of his savings account — though we had controlled his impulse to spend it on candy and ice cream cones.

SHE'S COURAGEOUS

We order Marilyn to return an overdue library book — and congratulate ourselves, for our fine training, quite forgetting that the embarrassing business of confronting the angry librarian has been Marilyn's experience — not ours.

We behave as though speaking "right" words were more important than executing them in right action, despite the fact that the finest words in the world have no substance until action gives it to them.

Because of this confusion in us, children lose the self-respect they should gain from performing the right actions we order them to perform.

I am not belittling your share in helping to produce your boy's brave action in returning to camp. But I am suggesting that the major part of the credit for it belongs to him, and that sensing your awareness of the difference between ordering a brave thing done and doing it, he may resent your secret assumption of the credit for it.

Children are not puppets whose strings we pull to make them do "right" things. They find doing "right" things as difficult as we do. We need to remember this if they are to emerge from obedient action with increased respect for themselves instead of with resentful awe of us.

Interlakes Club Gets Consumer's Market Report

Interlakes Extension Club opened its season at an all-day meeting Wednesday in the Cooley Lake Road home of Mrs. Charles Furber.

Chairman Mrs. Carl Weber presented Mrs. William Hurlburt, project leader, who gave a consumer's market report and a lesson on the use of herbs in cooking. After a luncheon, the group was instructed in the art of making beeswax candles.

Mrs. Mason Rich was admitted to membership. Mrs. Leland Martin of South Shore Drive will be hostess for the Oct. 26 meeting.

Don't Make Mountain of It

Defect Only a Molehill

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am just under 15 years of age. Don't you think that I should have some shape by now? My girl friend, who is five months younger than I am, has shapely legs. I have stayed at home all summer and worn slacks. I have been too ashamed to go anywhere because of my skinny, shapely legs."

"I love to skate but I have been thinking of not going any more because most of the kids wear shorts and I have to wear an old, hot dress because of my awful legs."

"My legs are so skinny that my high measures 18 inches and my calf 12 inches. I am 5 feet 2 inches tall and weigh 105 pounds. Please help me because this is an awful problem."

A. You signed your letter "Desperate" and you really sound that way. This is too bad because you have no reason to be worried.

Your thighs and calves are in perfect ratio and they are not really small for your age and weight. You are on the slim side and a gain of five or six pounds would help fill out all of your contours. Skating will build up your calf muscles and increase the lower leg measurement.

Your letter is a good example of how girls and women magnify any physical defect they may have. Sometimes they even worry when they have none.

Even when there is a real beauty handicap of some sort, others are much less aware of it than the person who has it. Others may not even notice it! I hope all of my readers will take this to heart. Don't make a mountain out of a molehill!

By all means do all you can to overcome any defect in beauty and then forget it and have fun. Remember that others are not as concerned with every detail of your appearance as you are. Do they look at you under a microscope as you look at yourself.

They will, however, immediately feel the impact of defects in your personality which may come from self-consciousness which you create in yourself by imagining or exaggerating to yourself some physical defect.

Q. "I am a short, stout man and would like you to give me exercises for reducing my abdomen, neck and face."

A. In order to reduce your face you must lose weight. You should lose it anyway, you know. You need to do so for abdominal reduction, too, although abdominal exercises will speed the loss in that measurement.

Write for my exercise routine, especially planned for men. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 23. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Up on your toes for lovely legs. Doing this 40 times in the morning and 40 times at night is splendid for firming the legs all over.

Men: Here're Ruses of Husband Hunters

By RUTH MILLET

Memo to young men who aren't in a hurry to get married: The girls are the ones who are pushing early marriages. If you don't want to be caught for a few years, you'll have to learn the signs that indicate a girl has marriage on her mind.

Believe it or not, it isn't unusual for a girl to plan to be married within a year and then start looking for a likely candidate.

So beware of:

The girl whose mother knocks herself out to make you feel welcome. That's usually a tip-off that mama is eggging daughter on in her grab-husband campaign.

The girl who keeps talking about the future or any particular interest in classes. That girl is husband hunting — and she may have you looking at them in a few months.

The girl who patters around in college with no definite plans for the future or any particular interest in classes. That girl is husband hunting — and she may have her sights on you.

The girl who wants you to go with her to see some young couple's "daring" apartment. She may be wanting you to picture yourself in a darling little apartment, too.

The girl who is anxious to go to hang around her house all the time, or who is possessive or jealous, or who never seems to spend any time with other girls. She's almost sure to be husband hunting and chances are has already begun to think you may be it.

Of course, if you are ready to settle down, you don't need to steer clear of girls with marriage on their minds.

But if you aren't, and don't steer clear of them, don't be surprised if a year from now you are a married man who sometimes wonders just how it all happened so suddenly.

On Special Education

Club Hears Dr. Thams

Dr. Paul Thams, director of special education of Oakland County, was guest speaker before 27 members and three guests of the Newcomers Club Wednesday evening.

Dr. Thams outlined the special education program in the county as it relates to exceptional children or to those who deviate physically, mentally or socially from what is considered the normal child.

Concluding his talk, Dr. Thams showed pictures of teachers and pupils in special rooms provided for the mentally handicapped, hard of hearing, blind, orthopedic and speech correction.

Mrs. Sam Miller and Mrs. Robert Larson were assistant hostesses. Guests were Mrs. Edward Malonen, Margaret Miller of Perthshire, Scotland and Mrs. Lewis Peck. Mrs. Stanton Evans was admitted to membership.

The next meeting will be a 1 p.m. bridge session Oct. 12 at the Delaware Drive home of Mrs. Harry Hahn.

Troy, which was captured by the Greeks, who conceded soldiers in a wooden horse they gave to the Trojans, was a massive walled city in what is now Turkey.

Gourmet Dinner Arranged

The annual gourmet dinner for members of the Bloomfield Hills Branch, Woman's National Fund and Garden Association Inc., and their husbands is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Monday, at Bloomfield Hills High School.

Joseph V. Brady, well-known lecturer and entertainer with a weekly television program, will speak. An orchestra will provide dinner music.

Mrs. William G. Ferguson and her hospitality committee are completing arrangements for the cooperative dinner.

Mrs. Charles L. Chubbuck and her committee are planning the decorations around a harvest theme.

Chidester - Thacker Pledges Exchanged
in Candlelight

The Rev. Frank M. Brannon Jr. officiated at the candlelight vows of Karen Diane Chidester of Thorpe Street and Jack D. Thacker Saturday evening in Aldersgate Methodist Church.

Daughter of Mrs. Harriett Dennis of Argyle Avenue and the late Robert Chidester, the bride appeared in floor-length white silk tulle and Chantilly lace.

Flowering wedding was caught by a pearl tiara. An orchid centered her arm cascade of white roses.

Honor-maid Sheryl Reynolds of Drayton Plains wore cotton blue nylon organza over tulle and carried pink carnations.

Bridesmaids Charlotte Neal and Carol Thacker, in horizon blue, and Kay Lynne Chidester, her sister's junior attendant, in orchid, held yellow carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thacker of Auburn Avenue, had the bride's brother Larry Robert Chidester as best man. Usherers were Joel Brown of Drayton Plains and Russell Bridges.

After a reception in the Drayton Plains home of the Von Reynolds, the newlyweds left for the Upper Peninsula. They will reside in Pontiac.

Mrs. Dennis chose a sheath dress of sapphire blue silk crepe and corsage of red sweetheart roses for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Thacker planned yellow sweetheart roses to her navy blue and white silk print.

Sorority Meets at Doerr Home

Mrs. Louis Colombo of the Foundation for Emotionally Disturbed Children spoke to Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi Sorority Tuesday. Members met at the Long Lake Shores home of Mrs. William Doerr.

Mrs. Joshua Madden, Mrs. Paul VanRoekel and Mrs. Jerry Martin assisted the hostess.

Guests were Mrs. John Murray and Mrs. Dan Roper.

Hillsdale College Has

725 for Fall Semester

HILLSDALE (UPI) — Hillsdale College has an enrollment of 725 full-time students for the fall semester, registrar Florence L. Kreiter reported today.

This is a gain of six and one-half per cent over the 690 enrolling last year.

Hillsdale still is short of its all-time high enrollment of 750 students in the 1970s, Miss Kreiter said.

Argentina Nearly Sure

By BRIAN BELL

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP) — Argentine investigators were about convinced today that the German-born laborer who looks like Martin Bormann is not Hitler's missing deputy, but there was still mystery about the suspect's background.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, in a post-midnight news conference, said the explanations given by the captured suspect, known as Walter Fiegl, were not satisfactory.

"But there are signs which indicate he is definitely not Bormann," Vitolo said.

Interpol, the international police organization with headquarters in Europe, is sending Bormann's fingerprints and other data about the Nazi leader last seen fleeing from Hitler's death-bunker in the last hours of the battle of Berlin.

SOME OTHER LEADER?
Vitolo declined to declare officially that the suspect was not Bormann until this information is checked. Informed sources said the government had established that the man being held was not Bormann. Some sources said that Fiegl was being investigated on the possibility that he might be another Nazi leader who slipped into Argentina illegally after World War II.

Fiegl's Argentine wife, Haydee Collinet, 30, said her husband bore "a strange resemblance" to Bormann when she was shown a picture of the Nazi leader. Hitler had named as one of his successors.

She said Fiegl told her he lost his arm in a Berlin bombing raid but otherwise had been secretive about his past. She suggested his reluctance to disclose his background may be because he entered Argentina illegally. The Fiegels have three daughters, 5, 8 and 12.

In Mannheim, Germany, Gertrude Wiens told police that the man being held here is her brother, Walter Fiegl, who emigrated to Argentina 30 years ago.

Set Plans for Red to Speak at WSU

DETROIT (UPI) — Wayne State University announced today that plans have been completed for the appearance of a Moscow University chemistry professor at Wayne on Oct. 5 despite a petition drive seeking to reinstate a ban on Communist speakers at the school.

The University said the Russian professor would appear at 8 p.m. Oct. 5 "as the first Russian to speak at Wayne under the university's new policy on outside speakers."

A new "compensating diode" is claimed to improve the reception of transistor radios and extend the life of their batteries.

VISITS MOM'S GRAVE — Thomas E. Dewey came back home Thursday and visited his mother's grave in Oak Hill Cemetery at Owosso before speaking at the Republican fund-raising dinner in Detroit that evening. This return was far different than one in 1948 when he was Republican candidate for president. This time he was just another home town boy who had made good in the big city.

Comet Production to Rise 20 Per Cent

DETROIT (UPI) — Production of the Comet-Ford Motor Co.'s luxury compact car — will be increased about 20 per cent in October, says Ben D. Mills, general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

Mills said three assembly plants would average 1,200 cars per working day next month compared with about 1,000 a day in September. Total October production will be about 31,000 cars, Mills said, indicating continued six-day work weeks.

A meter is equal to 1.0936 yards.

Freed From Prison

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Pete Licavoli, Detroit hoodlum who traveled under the alias Peter Moore and whose long career included charges ranging from armed robbery to murder and federal prison here Thursday.

Licavoli, 38, has been in prison at Atlanta and Milan, Mich., since Sept. 29, 1958, serving a 30-month income tax evasion sentence. He was convicted at Detroit of failing to pay $14,875 in income taxes for the year 1950. He also was fined $10,000.

Licavoli, who maintained homes in both the exclusive Detroit suburb of Grosse Pointe and at Tucson, Ariz., was sentenced to an additional six months in jail while serving his evasion sentence for ignoring a subpoena to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee in Detroit in 1958.

All Nonunion
Salaries Cut
by Pennsy RR

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad, operating in the red and finding business slow on the rebound since the 13-day strike shutdown, today made still cuts in the salaries of officers, supervisors and employees not covered by union agreements.

James M. Symes, board chairman of America's biggest railroad, whose salary was cut 30 per cent, said the pay slashes were necessary because "there is a heavy drain on cash from which payrolls must be met."

Last week the railroad furloughed over 3,000 employees as part of the economy move.

This week the Pennsy reported a deficit of $4,904,200 for the first eight months of 1960, compared with a profit of $1,832,448 for the same period last year. The August loss was $3,083,300.

The decimal system of currency, replacing pounds, shillings and pence, was adopted in Canada in 1959, compared with 1960 in the U.S.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. What do you think should be done for a dog so nearly blind, he goes around bumping into things? Mrs. L. M. J., Louisville.

A. I think the first thing to do is find out if the dog's eyesight can be restored. But even if this is medically impossible, the animal may not be as miserable as you think.

The afflicted pet should be designated a special part of the house or yard, where furniture and other obstacles are never moved.

Most blind dogs seem humanly perceptive about avoiding table legs and other pitfalls when they are kept in familiar surroundings. Sight is not the most important sense of this pet, and the older dog who is loved and well cared for can adjust to this handicap in a short while.

Often, the addition of a second dog is the answer. There have been a number of cases where the new pet cheerfully took over the job of guiding his blind companion.

Wolverine Shoe Co.
to Be Saluted Oct. 12

ROCKFORD (AP) — One of the state's oldest industries will be saluted Oct. 12 when the Michigan Week "Product of the Year" award is presented to the Wolverine Shoe and Tanning Corp.

The award will be presented at a civic luncheon here. Special ceremonies also will be held at the Wolverine factory at Rockford and in five other Michigan communities, Greenville, Reed City, Big Rapids, Ithaca and Howard City. The firm manufactures "Hush Puppies," a casual shoe manufactured at plants in the five cities, and employs more than 1,300 persons.

A new shaft has been dug 6,253 feet below the surface of the earth to open up new gold ore bodies for the Homestake Mine at Lead, S.D.

MSU, 'M' Renew Historic Grid Feud Saturday

From the Press Box

BY HENRY L. SHAWNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The big battle at East Lansing tomorrow gives Biggie Munn many fond memories, some he enjoys talking about and others he passes over quickly.

"I've always considered the Michigan-Michigan State game one of the biggest highlights of my coaching career and there's no other sports event in Michigan that captures the interest of the state than this game," Munn said.

Munn's debut into Michigan State coaching was a near disaster. He had served for seven years as assistant-coach at Michigan and in 1947 in his first game against the Maize and Blue, he was given a 55-0 drubbing.

Did Michigan pour it on? Munn says yes.

"I took it and grinned, but I was angry. I felt there was no need for keeping the first string in there in the fourth quarter," he commented, "but I vowed someday it would be my day."

"When I got home that night, my wife, my little boy and my dog met me at the door. At first I was dumfounded. I was sick inside. But then my wife started laughing. I started laughing. It was so ridiculous we laughed until our boy thought we were losing our senses," he said.

"The next year we cut the margin to 13-7 and then it was 7-3. In 1950 we broke the ice and beat Michigan 14-7. When I got home that night, my wife met me at the door. My boy was a few inches taller and my dog was still wagging his tail."

"There were a few moments of silence then my wife broke out in tears. I'm pretty sentimental and tears started to roll down my face. We were happy, but my boy in amazement commented, 'Gee whiz, when you lose you laugh and when you win you cry,' and off he went to bed," Munn remembered.

In 1951, Munn had his chance to get even for that 1947 game. MSU whipped Michigan 25-0. "At first I thought I would really lay it on," Munn said, "I had the big lead early, but then I thought how senseless it was, so I pulled my boys."

Munn's record against Michigan was 4-3 and in the last 10 years MSU has won seven lost two and tied one against the Wolverines.

"The Saturday game against Michigan should be another great one. This is the 13th year in a row that it has been sold out. People know we have our schedule made up for the next five years so they might as well order their tickets for this game through 1965 now," he jested.

Speaking at the Elks quarterback series last night, Munn concluded his commentary on football by saying, "I have never changed my attitude toward football. My goal was always to build men and try to win."

"This is a pretty good combination, a boy has to develop backbone and leadership in either case."

Tigers to 'Die' Officially in Weekend Series at KC

KANSAS CITY (U-P)—The Detroit Tigers — who actually rolled over and died weeks ago — officially expire this weekend.

The Tigers, buried in sixth-place in the American League for months, close out a lockstep season with a three-game series at Kansas City.

Detroit meets the Athletics to night, tomorrow night and then writes final to the 1960 season in a day game Sunday.

Frank Lary (14-18) was slated to start for Detroit tonight against Dick Hall (9-13).

Results of the final three games won't mean a thing. New York Yankees, Chicago and Cleveland have had the top four spots in the league sewn up for quite a while now and Washington is entrenched firmly in fifth place.

Predict Good Bear Hunting During Month

CADILLAC (UPI)—The Michigan Bear Hunters Association said today October should be a much better month for hunting bears than September.

The association reported that the Upper Peninsula bear population is at a new high.

The National Bear Hunt will be held at Lake City tomorrow and Sunday, bow and arrow hunt Oct. 20-21 at Brimley, Michigan Bear Hunt Oct. 22-23 at Brimley, and the Fall hunt at Brimley Oct. 29-30.

EAST LANSING — One of the collegiate football's oldest and most bitterly contested rivalries, packed with 53 years of thrills and tradition, holds its 1960 showing here tomorrow when Michigan opposes Michigan State.

This backyard feud had its beginning back in 1898 and the modern-day rivalry has been so exciting and unpredictable that records mean nothing. Upsets are almost commonplace.

Even the professional oddsmakers are stymied by this slam-bang affair that has drawn sell-out audiences for 13 straight years.

This time the game will be played in Michigan State's Spartan Stadium before a capacity throng of more than 75,000. Millions more will tune the game over nearby radio stations or see it on local television.

Fans unable to get tickets to the game — a sellout since early summer — will be crowded into a 70-mile radius of East Lansing for television reception of the renewal of this great clash.

Michigan State went eight years before it could gain its first victory over Michigan.

But the trend in recent seasons has gone the other way.

During the Biggie Munn-Duffy Daugherty era at Michigan State, the Spartans have had a decisive edge over their neighbors from Ann Arbor. Seven of State's 15 victories have come in the last 10 years. Michigan has won 11. Four games resulted in ties.

Michigan State has been inducted as a seven-point favorite in this one, and rabid Michigan fans who believe that the Wolverines are on their way back to Big Ten gridiron supremacy under coach Chalmers (Bump) Elliott are gobbling up those odds.

Both coaches have been busy with psychological warfare.

Months ago Elliott began by saying simply "I understand they're loaded up at State."

He's been saying much the same thing since — describing his Wolverines much like Bo McMillin used to refer to his "Po' Li'l Boys." Elliott is mostly like correct when he says he really doesn't know whether Michigan's a basically sound football team.

The Wolverines defeated Oregon 21-0 in their opening last Saturday while Michigan State was tying Pitt 7-3.

Daugherty has learned to respect any Michigan team and this year he claims it's time for Michigan to quit trying to hide what Daugherty claims is a good football team "in the bushes."

There'll be no hiding anything on Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

It will be a Michigan defense that yielded only 135 yards, versus a Michigan State offense that gave up only 171.

The battle likely will be decided by the defenses and by the quarterbacks. It is an uncertain position at both schools.

Tom Wilson completed 16 of 24 passes for 174 yards and a touchdown against Pitt but even Spartan partisans are not certain Wilson possesses all the requirements of a top-flight quarterback.

On the other hand, Michigan will be led by a well-built young man whose college experience is restricted to one game — the opening victory over Oregon. Dave Glinka is not a sophomore, and it is true the sophomores don't often blossom quickly as efficient leaders of a contending Big Ten team.

His first game pole and marksmanship — he had five completions in 11 tries for 73 yards and a pair of touchdowns — might be a clear indication that he is an outstanding signal caller thoroughly prepared to lead Michigan out of the football wilderness. But it might have been better luck and Oregon might have been a very weak football team.

Tough I-L Starters for PNH, Skippers

By BILL CORNWELL
Pontiac Normal and Waterford are faced with mighty rugged in-august tonight in the 1960 Inter-Lakes Conference football race.

Northern, which made an all-out bid for the I-L crown a year ago in its first season of gridiron warfare, meets Walled Lake, to whom it lost the title, at Wineson Stadium.

Waterford, struggling to rise from the depths in I-L grid competition, tangles with a victory-hungry Southfield squad at Southfield.

Berkley, also trying to rebound after several lean seasons in the Inter-Lakes circuit, plays at home against an inexperienced Farmington team as the loop campaign officially gets under way.

Defending champion Walled Lake, Southfield and Berkley are favorites for tonight's head-buttling.

Walled Lake, unbeaten and undefeated in two non-league slates, will confront Northern with both speed and power when the two schools line up for the 8 o'clock kickoff.

The Huakies, rebuilding this fall following a creditable 5-4 record last season, do not appear to have the overall know-how to stop the bone-crunching Viking attack.

Deliberately, the Huakies have been sold a 12-7 victory over Lake Orion and a 7-0 loss to Hazel Park, but it's doubtful they're not an offense to compare with that of the Vikings.

In addition, the Huakies have been unable to mount an effective attack of their own and the world's best defense won't save them forever if they can't move the ball themselves.

Walled Lake, sleeking almost entirely to the ground so far, has rolled to 32-0 triumphs over Redford Union and Dearborn Lowrey.

Southfield is favored to turn back Waterford, despite the fact the Jays have yet to taste victory in two starts. The Jays lost to a pair of "toughies," Royal Oak Kimball and Ferndale.

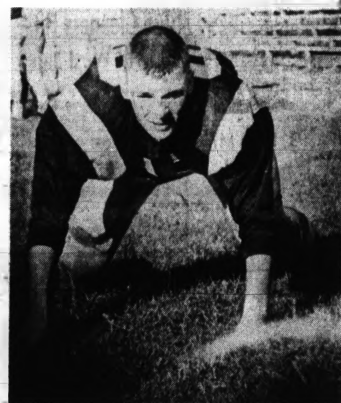

The Skippers, showing definite signs of a revival this year after losing to the gutters since 1956, carry a 1-1 record into tonight's game.

They gave Pontiac Central all it could handle in their opener before losing 13-6, then last week they scuttled Lapeer, 12-7.

Both Berkley and Farmington are still looking for their 1st triumph.

Berkley has dropped decisions to Royal Oak Dondoro and Ferndale while the Falcons took it on the chin from Livonia Berkley and Rochester.

Coaches calling The Press Sports Department with scores please use night number, PE 2-1018.

SOUTHFIELD INVADER — Bruce Marti, 190-pounder of the Southfield gridiron tonight in an important Inter-Lakes opener.

Michigan Duck Hunters Await Sunrise, Oct. 7th

By TOM SHAWVER
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (U-P)—Sunrise of Oct. 7 will see herds of Michigan hunters, shotgun in the ready, waiting to blast away at flights of ducks winging southward to their wintering grounds.

Surveys by state game men indicate the outlook for native Michigan ducks, which furnish the bulk of early season shooting, is better than some had anticipated.

"Generally, I'd say the situation is very favorable," said Herbert G. Miller, waterfowl authority with the state conservation department.

Duck production was above average in most sections of the state and weather conditions were favorable except in parts of the upper peninsula where heavy precipitation last spring made trouble for ducks looking for nesting places.

Road sides averaged 8 1/2 birds, largest in 10 years, partly courtesy the loss of nests to rains and snow.

For the average hunter, the resulting high waters in Great Lakes marshes and inland lakes will make for good shooting conditions. As usual, mallards, black ducks and blue-winged teal, all dabblers, will furnish most of the early October targets.

Hunter success as great flights of Canadian-hatched birds year over year will make for good shooting conditions. As usual, mallards, black ducks and blue-winged teal, all dabblers, will furnish most of the early October targets.

Last of Colorful Fleet

GRAND HAVEN (U-P)—This Lake Michigan port city of 11,000 has seen its colorful fishing fleet dwindle to one tug, the Johanna.

"Capt. Walter Fritz sails his sturdy 43-footer four times weekly to set and lift club nets in the 'big lake'."

For two years, the Johanna has been the flagging of the fleet of one.

"Club fishing is about all there is left," explained Capt. Fritz who has been on the lake as a commercial fisherman since 1939.

His brother, William, a partner, died four years ago.

Most of the time catches are light with 200 to 300 pounds of clubs the usual lift. Fritz nets six boxes of nets — or about two miles. The nets run 1,800 feet to a box.

The biggest catches Fritz has made in recent years run 1,200 to 1,400 pounds a haul. Prices have ranged from 14 to 25 cents a pound.

When catches are light, the price is best, the veteran fisherman pointed out.

Capt. Fritz said he hasn't seen a trout in his nets "in five or six years."

Dallas Gets Pro Weekend Started

By United Press International
The Dallas Cowboys, a grab-bag team that made an impressive showing losing debut in the National Football League, shoot for their first victory Friday night against the Philadelphia Eagles in the opener of a nine-game weekend program for the two pro leagues.

By nightfall Sunday, it's likely they will be only three undefeated teams left in the N.F.L. after only two weeks of competition.

Six of the clubs which won their opening last weekend are poised against one another Sunday. The champions Baltimore Colts are at home against the Chicago Bears in the league's top game; the St. Louis Cardinals entertain the New York Giants and the Cleveland Browns are at home against the Los Angeles Chargers.

Here is how the odds-makers rate the weekend schedule:

Key Big Ten Games This Weekend

CHICAGO (UPI)—Big Ten football teams, after the second most successful opening day in history, six wins and two ties, turn to conference warfare tomorrow with two league contests and a third pseudo-league game slated.

Minnesota, a surprise victor over Nebraska in its opener, entertains Indiana in the "no count" game which could be one of the closest clashes of the day. But it doesn't rate in Big Ten standings due to a conference penalty imposed on the Hoosiers for recruiting violations.

The legitimate conference matches move Iowa to Northwestern and Michigan to Michigan State. All three of the games involving conference clubs were close to even in odds. Minnesota was a touchdown favorite.

Northwestern opened as a four point choice over Iowa, but due to the loss of quarterback Dick Thornton, the game probably will be even by the kickoff. Coach Ara Parseghian plans to start little Bob Eckhoff to replace his No. 1 signal calling star, and with Eckhoff, he can run the same versatile offense he planned to use with Thornton.

If Eckhoff needs a rest, then sophomore Fred Quinn will be ready for action, and Parseghian will change his offense, putting more pressure on Iowa's already overloaded defense.

After Iowa's 29-13 opening day win over Oregon State, there was no question of the strength of the Hawkeye offense, sparked by junior quarterback Wilbur Hall, but coach Forest Evershed wasn't pleased with his defense, and proclaimed that inexperience might be harmful against Northwestern.

The University of Miami opens one of the toughest seasons in its football history as a slight favorite over North Carolina Friday night, touching off a big weekend of collegiate activity which includes Saturday's long-awaited clash between defending National champion Syracuse and Kansas.

Miami, which later must play Syracuse, Notre Dame, Air Force, Auburn, Pittsburgh and Florida, is tabbed by four-and-one-half points over the once-beaten Tar Heels. The Hurricanes are heavy and experienced, their only possible weak spot being at quarterback where coach Andy Gustafson must start an untested sophomore, Eddie Johns.

Syracuse is an eight-point choice to beat Kansas in their nationally televised (ABC) game at Lawrence.

The arrangement of an explosive backfield, featuring the running of Ernie Davis and Art Baker and the passing of Dave Savette, and they also boast an experienced and rugged line. Kansas, fifth-ranked in ratings, has a potentially strong passer in Johnny Had and good break-away runners in Bert Coan and Curtis McClinton.

Finishing order of the Walled Lake-Berkley meet: Steve Myers (B), Denny Gilbert (B), Paul Lawson (WL), Mike Waddell (WL), Glen Underwood (WL), Dave Jansiewicz (WL).

Pontiac Central absorbed an 18-43 lacing from Flint Central over the PCH course for its 2nd loss in as many starts. Shaw and Deen finished 1-2 for Flint with 10-18.5 the winning time.

Jim Nelson of the Chiefs placed

The Jayhawkers are 2-0 on the home their second straight set-back with victories over Texas Christian and Kansas State.

Pittsburgh, also faced with a schedule that affords no respite, is a slim one-point favorite to hand the once-powerful sooners of Oklahoma lost to Northwestern, 29-3.

Walled Lake Takes Squeaker

PCH, PNH Harriers Lose

Pontiac Central and Pontiac Harriers both suffered cross-country defeats last night while Walled Lake sneaked a 28-29 win over Berkley.

The PNH thinclads have suffered their second loss of the season by a 15-50 score. Farmington placed the first seven men shutting out Northern.

Walled Lake, victorious in four out of four meets, saw Steve Myers of Berkley win the 3-mile event in 10:43. Walled Lake will meet Hamtramck Monday on the Vikings home course.

Anticipated entries are Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body, Baldwin Barber, American Fergs, Bell Telephone and General Motors Truck & Coach.

Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body divided the title in last year's City Industrial event, also at Pontiac C.C.

Teams wishing to enter the 1960 tourney should register with promoter Frank Syron at PCC on Elizabeth Lake Road. Deadline for entries is Thursday, Oct. 1.

Jim Hanes is the tournament chairman. The tourney starts at 11 a.m.

Blue Cleaners Hit 3067 at West Side

Blue Cleaners hit a new season high this week when they rolled a very good 3067 series on games of 1,047-887-1,033, and a three game win over Calbi. This set removed the Calbi boys from a first place tie and dropped them to fourth place. Al Papazian was the big gun for the Cleaners when he shot a healthy 647 series followed by Charlie Palsian at 695. George Chacovsky was top man for Calbi's at 592.

Other sets for this week included a three game win for Triple X Lunch over Sparks Griffin, and West Side Mobil swept three from Slater's Concrete. Pansquale's took two from Lake Center Drugs, Hazelton Lettering won two from Judah Lake Shopping Mart, Coca Cola took two from Bicman Inn, Oakland Club was a two time winner over West Side Lanes, and Tony's Rental took two from Pizzuti's.

This was one of the lowest scoring nights in the Classic when only eleven series over 600 and only 40 games over 200 were rolled.

Bob Smith Rolls 1st League 700 at Auburn

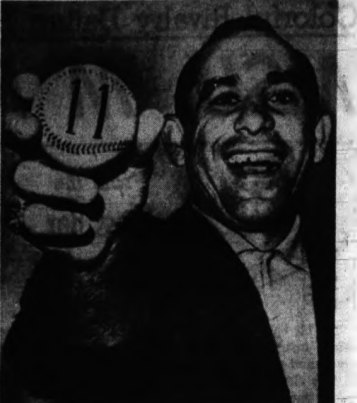

History was made at Auburn Lanes this week when the first 700 was rolled there in league play.

Bob Smith of Pontiac turned the trick with a 701 in the Auburn Lanes Invitational Classic. He was bowling for Tom's Bar of Mt. Clemens.

Vere Hodges Shoots Ace

Vere Hodges, 324 Ottawa, Pontiac, became the first Pine Lake Country Club member to shoot a hole-in-one at Pine Lake this year.

Hodges, accompanied by his wife Vere and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hickman, and the 180-yard 8th hole with a 7-iron. It was Pine Lake's 4th ace of the season.

Head Injury Kills Gridder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Frank Shannon Jr., 15, a sophomore on the Willis High School football team in Delaware, Ohio, died Thursday night in White Cross Hospital here of a brain injury received in football practice Wednesday evening.

He was the son of Frank Shannon Sr., 15, a head basketball coach at Ohio Wesleyan University. The father was at the hospital when his son died.

Young Shannon was tackled during practice and, after coming out of a pileup of players, complained of being dizzy. A few minutes later he lapsed into a coma.

He was taken to Jane M. Case Hospital in Delaware and later that night was transferred to White Cross where a brain surgeon operated on him.

The 190-pound, 6-foot-1 Shannon, a three-sport athlete, was the oldest of four brothers, one of whom, George, 14, plays football for the Willis Junior High School team.

Waterford Loses

Despite a second place finish by Larry Harms, Waterford finished on the short end of a 19 to 44 cross country score at Southfield yesterday. Vern LaBenne of the Bluejays won in 11:24 as Southfield took 7 of 8 places.

Chrysler Probe Nears Finish

Dewey Says Conflict of Interest Investigation Fullest He's Ever Seen

DETROIT — An investigation by Thomas E. Dewey's New York law firm into charges of conflict of interest among Chrysler Corp. executives may be completed in a few weeks.

Dewey, in Detroit Thursday to attend a Republican fund-raising dinner, said "We still have some things to do."

The former New York governor told newsmen "This is the most thorough investigation I've ever seen."

Dewey is directing his law firm's investigation for a four-member committee of nonmanagement Chrysler directors.

Chrysler is making its own investigation.

The probe was started by Chrysler last April after charges of outside interests on the part of executives were made at the company's stockholder meeting.

William C. Newberg, who resigned as Chrysler president after only two months, has agreed to pay Chrysler $50,000 he got in profits from two firms which sold parts to Chrysler from 1952 to 1958.

Waterford Board Opens Bids for 2 New Schools

Combined bids for construction of two more Waterford Township elementary school buildings were opened at a special meeting of the board of education last night.

The new schools will be at Williams Lake and Elizabeth Lake Roads, and on Harper Drive north of the present Schoolcraft Township.

The low base bid of $295,291 for architectural trades was submitted by the Schurer Construction Co. of 2431 Pontiac Lake Road, Waterford Township.

All seven combined bids were set up for construction of 10-room buildings, with an option for two additional rooms.

WINN MECHANICAL JOB
Of the six mechanical bids, the Harrison & Williams Plumbing & Heating Co. at 440 Highland Road, Waterford Township, was low with $153,778.

Six electrical bids were submitted and the Packard & Prope Co. of 12350 Fenkel Ave., Detroit, was low bidder at $45,096.

All the bids submitted were referred to the school board's architects, Smith & Smith, for study and recommendations to be presented at the Oct. 20 board meeting.

Open proposals for filling the large hole on the Schoolcraft School grounds were reviewed, and Cecil Bell of 3329 Sashabaw Road was awarded the contract for 3,000 yards of dirt at a low bid of $1,750.

An underground drain pipe has been installed leading from the hole to the storm drain in the Lotus Lake Subdivision to eliminate accumulative water.

School Official Reports Surplus

Pontiac Finds $93,524 Over From 1959-60 Operational Budget

Financially speaking, Pontiac school administrators are looking at the world through rose-colored glasses today.

In his financial report at last night's Board of Education meeting, Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent, revealed a surplus of $93,524 in the 1959-60 operational budget.

Hufziger also announced the estimated income and expenditures for operation during the 1960-61 fiscal year and an analysis of building and site spending.

His figures call for an excess of $23,769 in the operational budget at the end of the current fiscal year.

In his report on last year's operational surplus, Hufziger said estimated expenditures were $5,253,253 but that actual expenses amounted to only $5,229,591.

The estimated total income for 1959-60 was set at $5,279,375. But our actual income amounted to $5,265,824, the assistant superintendent explained.

"More simply we originally estimated we would have an excess of revenues over expenditures of $46,650."

"What we actually ended up with was an excess of $26,569, but that excess contains $10,445 levied for capital improvement which must be transferred to the building and site fund."

Operational income for the 1960-61 fiscal year is estimated to total $9,712,445, and expenditures are estimated at $9,618,920.

Of the expected income, $5,424,146 will come from taxes, $3,218,614 from state and federal aid and $167,685 from miscellaneous sources.

The school district started the year with a total of $69,759 in unallocated funds, which last year's surplus was part.

Of expenditures, the largest slice, some $6 million, will go toward instruction and the next largest outlay, over $1 million, will go into operation.

The estimated $23,769 surplus is earmarked as income to meet the operational needs of the 1961-62 and 1962-63 fiscal years.

City Tops 40,000 Mark on Voters

Pontiac's registered voter strength has topped 40,000.

But the city is still about 5,000 below the mark of 45,000 set in the 1960 presidential election.

New registrations since the Aug. 3 primary totaled 3,177 through Wednesday, City Clerk Ada H. Evans reported today.

Changes of address were recorded for 1,119 persons who had moved within the city since they last voted.

DEADLINE OCT. 10
Deadline for registering for the Nov. 3 election is Oct. 10.

There'll be a big effort for registrations downtown tomorrow.

The voter registration booth at Saginaw and Huron streets will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. So will the registration trailer, on the east side of North Saginaw Street at Warren Street.

The booth will remain open until 3 tonight and so will the trailer, located today on the parking lot of Wanda Recreation on Orchard Lake Avenue.

City Hall will be open tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The final drive for registrations will begin Monday.

OPEN TILL 3 P.M.
All next week, City Hall will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The booth and trailer will operate from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Monday, the trailer will be on Peggy Street, south of Voorhees Road. Tuesday, on Murphy Street between Newberry and Huron streets.

Wednesday, on North Johnson Avenue, north of Huron Street. The rest of the week is not yet scheduled.

Theft Goes Undiscovered Till It's Solved

The manager of a Pontiac music store had reason to believe in police efficiency today.

Warren Dull, manager of Grinnell Bros., 27 S. Saginaw St., yesterday received a phone call from officers at Detroit's Central Station.

They had in their possession a flute valued at $100 which they'd found in the store.

Dull checked a display window.

Sure enough, a flute was missing. The disappearance of the stolen instrument hadn't been discovered before Detroit police called to report the theft had been solved.

Commerce Methodists Serve Supper Friday

An early American sideboard supper will be served Friday between 5:30 and 7:30 at Commerce Methodist Church in Commerce Township.

The event is being sponsored by the Sunday School staff in an effort to raise money for church school equipment.

The smorgasbord-type meal will feature turkey and ham as main dishes.

Fans Put Flowers on His Grave

Jimmy Dean Is Not Forgotten

FAIRMONT, Ind. (UPI) — Admirers of actor James Dean, whose bustling sports car carried him to death five years ago today, still keep his grave, covered with fresh flowers.

Dean, who was born and spent most of his youth in the vicinity of Fairmont and Marion, is buried in a Quaker cemetery at Fairmont. The accident in which he died at the age of 24 and which ended his dramatic success story, occurred Sept. 30, 1955, when Dean's white sports car collided with another auto in Northern California.

His aunt and uncle, Orlesse and Marvins Winslow, who helped rear him after the death of his mother, said the passage of five years has not brought about a dwindling of fan interest in Dean. "There's hardly a time you can go by the cemetery but what somebody is standing by his grave," Mrs. Winslow said. "Many of these people bring flowers."

The Winslows live north of the cemetery in a farm house which young Dean considered home. "There's a fan club in New York and a few others I can't recall at the moment who send money for flowers regularly," Mrs. Winslow said. "Sometimes we get a money order for flowers from France and once in a while from Canada."

Many of the admirers of the young star of "East of Eden," "Rebel Without a Cause," and "Giant" take something away with them, Mrs. Winslow said. "People have been chiseling letters from his name out of the grave stone for about a year and a half now," she said. "The monument is beginning to look pretty bad, but we don't know what we can do about it."

The Winslows have carefully applied all funds designated for flowers for that purpose, although some backers of the Jimmy Dean Foundation have a s o m e t i m e s wished the money could be channeled into plans for a permanent summer drama school and theater.

Williams to Represent Kennedy on Pulaski Day

LANSING — Gov. Williams has been designated by Sen. John F. Kennedy to represent the Democratic presidential nominee at a review of the Pulaski Day parade in New York Sunday.

Williams also will address a banquet honoring the Polish hero of the American Revolution at the night.

The Michigan governor is chairman of the nationalities division of the Democratic Committee and made a trip to Poland to study conditions there last year.

YMCA Unit in Rochester Gets Executive Director

Appointment of Jack P. Zahn as executive director of the Rochester branch of the Pontiac YMCA was announced today by Ted Slossen, general secretary of the Pontiac "Y."

Zahn, executive director of the University - Community Branch of the Lansing YMCA, will assume his duties in the Pontiac area Oct. 1.

For the remainder of this year, he will divide his duties between the Pontiac "Y" as community secretary and the Rochester branch as executive director.

He will begin his full-time duties in Rochester Jan. 1. Zahn has been associated with the Lansing YMCA since Dec. 1, 1951, when named secretary of the Town & Country Dept. there. During his administration, the department developed into a branch of the association.

On Feb. 1, 1959, when the new University - Community branch was created, Zahn was appointed executive director.

JACK P. ZAHN

While in Lansing, he was active in community programs and PTA and church activities, and was a member of the Kiwanis clubs of Holt and East Lansing. He arranged for the Lansing

YMCA to take over and operate a community swimming pool as part of its aquatic program, and in 1958 Camp Swampy, a Lansing "Y" day camp was formed under his supervision.

Zahn, his wife, Eleanor and their four sons will reside at 55210 Shelby road, Shelby Township.

White Motor May Buy Oliver Machinery Firm

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Directors of the White Motor Co. are scheduled to meet today for final action on the proposed acquisition of Oliver Motor Corp., manufacturer of farm equipment.

J. N. Baumann, White Motor president, said a move to acquire the Oliver business would involve the issuance of "White Motor stock and some long-term financing to protect existing White Motor stock."

Baumann said a stockholders meeting has been called for Oct. 31 for a vote on the Oliver proposition. He predicted a fourth quarter upturn in truck buying which, he said, would boost White's earnings to about $5 per common share for 1960.

AAA Director to Retire

Harvard Prof. Gives Nixon 'F,' Sen. Kennedy an 'A'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Prof. J. Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard last night gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon a big "F" for flunking the professor's course in national leadership.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, on the other hand, got an "A" for ability from his economic adviser.

The towering 6-foot-8 director of his university's economics department skipped his usual lecture on the nation's economy and instead stood the Republican presidential candidate in the corner for being a "minimal inert" Eisenhower administration for the past eight years.

The professor's "students" for his special 30-minute class at the Fox and Hounds Inn in Bloomfield Hills were members and guests of the new Oakland County chapter of the Democratic Business and Professional Group. The dinner was attended by 58.

The professor, author and economist was on the campaign trail for Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate who echoes what Galbraith says, and vice versa. The professor writes Kennedy's speeches on economy.

Saying he was only a floor worker at the convention, Galbraith declared writing "F" is economic plank in the Democratic platform. "I might have helped," he said coyly.

Despite some who claim they can't distinguish between the two parties, Galbraith said the dividing line is as sharp as it was in the past.

1961 Chevrolets Hold Price Line

But Corvair Is Cut $35 Across Board; All Go on Sale Thursday

DETROIT (AP)—The 1961 Chevrolets will carry the same factory list prices as 1960 models, but Chevy's compact Corvair is cut $35 across the board.

Ford Motor Co. announced Thursday night it suggested dealer prices for 1961 Fords "will average essentially the same as in 1960," but said some lines will cost more and others less.

Ford has not yet set 1961 list prices for its compact Falcons or sports Thunderbirds, Chevrolet lists its sports Corvette at $3,619, the same as for 1960.

The new Chevrolets and Corvairs go on sale Thursday. New Fords are on sale now, Falcons and Thunderbirds also go on sale Thursday.

The lowest priced Corvair, the two-door 500 coupe, will list at $2,700, compared with $1,785 for a similarly equipped 1960 model. Corvair's new station wagon will list at $2,075 in the 500 series; $2,135 in the 700 series and $2,435 in the Greenbrier 85 series. Corvair had no wagons in its 1960 line.

The lowest priced Chevy, a 2-door Bicentennial model, will have a $2,056 list with a six-cylinder engine and a $2,156 price with an eight-cylinder engine. This model and all others offered in 1960 bear exactly the same suggested retail price.

Chevy suggests $2,515 for its six-cylinder Brookwood station wagon, $2,515 for its Impala two-door, and $2,835 for its Impala nine-passenger station wagon eight. These were not offered in 1960 models.

campaigns of 1952 and 1956, but not necessarily anymore along the lines of which party is the conservative element and which one is liberal.

"Their attitude toward change is the big difference," he said.

"You've got the Republicans believing the present is something to be protected for what it is, and the Democrats that say that the present is but a step forward with innovation."

"Otherwise, those who face reality and those who don't," the speaker said.

RAPS FOREIGN POLICY

Nixon is seeking to perpetuate the eight years of a "contented and unexcited" administration, Galbraith said. "He offers a busy superficial foreign policy designed to cover up the kind of initiative that had been our source of power during the years of FDR and Truman," he said.

"Saying Nixon has the experience is exactly like the experience of a man who applies for a driver's license and cites his magnificent record of accidents," he said.

Questioned later as to how Democrats propose to carry out their "move ahead" program, Galbraith said higher taxes might be inevitable.

"If the program cannot be financed out of present revenues at a good rate of growth, then there is no choice but higher taxes," he said.

Asked to comment on Nixon's statement that the platform will cost some 14 billion dollars more than what the deficit is spending today, the professor dodged an answer.

"I would consider Mr. Nixon's mathematics no more reliable than his other performances."

Concluding with a good word for Kennedy, Prof. Galbraith said he had inherited the presidential qualities he once saw in the late Joseph Kennedy Jr., Kennedy's older brother and cited the candidate's legislative accomplishments in foreign policy, aid to education, and help for the aged.

Gen. Lemnitzer JCS Chairman

Takes Over Today as Top Military Man With Twining Stepping Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, a qualified anti-aircraftman, a qualified as a paratrooper, at the age of 51, takes over today as the nation's top military officer.

Lemnitzer, 51, is stepping up after a 14-month stint as Army chief of staff to become chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He succeeds Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

Leaders of the various military services arranged to attend a Pentagon ceremony today for the swearing-in of Lemnitzer. His successor as Army chief of staff, Gen. George H. Decker, was to be sworn in a few minutes later.

Associates and subordinates who are asked to evaluate Lemnitzer mention traits such as: a first rate diplomat... a brilliant mind... an expert planner... a stickler for top organizational work by his staff... a man of moderation... tremendous dignity.

Lemnitzer also rates high with brother officers in the other services—a factor that can be of great value during any outbreaks of interservice rivalry.

Lemnitzer left his hometown of Honesdale, Pa. to enter the military academy in 1918. He was graduated 86th out of 271 in the West Point class of 1920.

In October 1942, he accompanied Gen. Mark W. Clark on a secret submarine mission to North Africa to negotiate with French army officers. They met at a beach house and had to make an abrupt exit when the police came to search. But the Allied landing which followed was virtually unopposed.

Italy Hunts Airliner

Towns of dried mud huts have been destroyed in rainstorms in the virtually waterless Sahara Desert.

Army Attempts to Store Diesel Fuel in Arctic Ice

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is experimenting with ice reservoirs on Greenland as a possible solution to fuel storage problems in the Arctic. The Defense Department said Wednesday Army engineers had week completed pumping 30,000 gallons of diesel oil to a huge reservoir 100 feet beneath the surface of the ice cap.

Three Reasons for Fall Planting

There are three good reasons why autumn planting is advised:

THE WEATHER is more favorable over a longer period of time and the ground is more suitable for digging.

PLANTS are dormant and, with few exceptions, can be safely transplanted.

ATTEMPT rain condition the soil and help the plants become settled before freezing weather sets in.

So take advantage of the good planting days for the next four or five weeks.

Evergreens, because they are dug with earth-balled roots and then protected with burlap, have been available at roadside nursery sales grounds for some time.

Watering immediately after transplanting is highly desirable, particularly if the soil is a bit dry. The roots, even on balled and burlapped evergreens, have been wounded in the moving operation and need moist soil. Even a bucketful of water around the roots puddles up the sand.

As that water disappears, soil settle into immediate contact with the surface of the roots and then the plant is able to draw upon the soil for the moisture it needs.

The belief that moss indicates a sour soil and that the remedy is found in the use of lime is widespread. Tests often prove that such soil is sour but the presence of moss is due more likely to packing of the soil and to the lack of plant food than to insufficient drainage. Too much shade frequently is to blame.

In the opinion of the old gardener, deeper, the real remedy is to aerate the soil by spading and to apply a balanced plant food, one with a 5-10-5, 5-10-8, 5-10-8 or similar mixture that is strong in phosphorus.

Do not apply sulphate of ammonia or similar nitrogenous material. Moss thrives even where grass will not grow, but as soon as the grass begins to come thickly the moss will disappear.

Dig Gladioli, Dahlias and Store for Winter

Dig up the gladioli corms as the foliage starts to wither. If you are interested in the plants, leave the tiny corms that cluster around the adult plant and next spring plant them—like peas—in a sunny section of the vegetable garden as they can develop into mature bulbs. After curing the corms, treat them all with DDT against strips and store in an airy, cool place over winter.

Dig dahlias, too, and store these in moist peat or expanded mica, making sure they don't dry out in storage.

Sweep Up and Separate Leaves as They Fall

As leaves fall, sweep them frequently instead of waiting for all of them to drop. A leaf sweeper which also chews leaves into small, comfortable bits is a wonderful garden tool, but even if you don't have one, don't burn the leaves. Pile them in an out-of-the-way, shady moist corner to turn into rich leafmold.

Try to make separate piles of the strongly acid leaves, such as oak, and more alkaline ones. Use the acid leafmold around evergreen plantings as food and mulch.

Head all directions, cautions, and warnings when using insecticides.

Get That Pruning Done Now or Wait 'til Spring

By EARL ARONSON

AP News Service
If you have any urgent pruning of trees to do, we suggest you get to it quickly especially if you live in the northern states. Otherwise let it go until winter or spring when the trees are dormant. Late pruning is apt to force late growth which might not harden sufficiently before severe cold or frost damage. If fresh wounds are subject to winter injury. Late summer is a good time for pruning, up to early June, however, trees have produced so much of the previous season, so pruning such plants after they have finished flowering, shrubs have lost their leaves and the dormant buds show their blossoms on new wood, so prune them while they are dormant.

Raspberries canes that produced fruit this season should be cut in the fall. Two-year old canes are more likely to spread disease. They are of no use to the plant.

After pruning raspberries canes, a feeding of 5-10-5 between the rows is recommended. Soil specialists also suggest seeding rufflet or ryan grass or some other clover crop between rows to maintain the soil organic matter. This is regarded as especially important in the case of black raspberries.

Keep your rows in control by removing sucker plants.

Raspberries like fertile, well-drained soil away from the foundation of tree roots. Mulching also is a boon to these shallow-rooted plants.

In the spring, don't be reluctant to eliminate the weaker new canes.

Autumn Is Ideal Time to Establish New Lawn

Fall's long season of good grass growing weather makes it an ideal time to start a new lawn.

At this time of year, annual weeds, such as crabgrass, knotweeds and many others, are no longer germinating in competition with young, tender grass shoots. Also, insects and diseases that may attack lawns are usually less destructive during the fall period of cooler weather.

When starting a new lawn, it is well to remember that almost all soils lack adequate amounts of plant food required for proper plant growth, according to agronomists with the Armour Agricultural Chemical Company. To encourage this growth, it is necessary to add these missing nutrients to the soil by regular feedings of the proper fertilizer before and after the lawn has been established.

When the intended lawn area has been cleared for planting, the Armour agronomists recommend that an initial feeding of plant food high in phosphate, such as a 5-10-5 analysis, be broadcast over the plot at the rate of two to three pounds for each 100 square feet of space. Then the soil should be spaded and pulverized to a depth of eight to 10 inches.

An additional two pounds of fertilizer for lawns and gardens should be applied after this at the same rate and raked into the top two inches of the soil.

Weet down the entire area and let it stand for 24 hours, allowing the plant food to blend thoroughly with the soil. This will aid rapid, uniform seed germination later on.

When the soil has settled, rake the area and roll with a light-weight roller. Follow with another er raking to fill in the low spots. This develops a good seed bed that is well-firmed with the plant food the young lawn will need for instant and continuous growth.

After the seeds are broadcast, roll the area lightly and water thoroughly to a depth of several inches. Use a fine spray of water to avoid washing the seed away. Daily watering during seed germination encourages maximum growth of the young grass shoots. Continued watering thereafter helps the fertilizer to develop a deep root system.

Once the lawn has been established, the Armour agronomists recommend that, starting in early spring, feedings of fertilizer for turf and trees be applied every six weeks at the rate of one to one-half pounds for each 100 square feet of space to keep the grass growing vigorously.

The lawn should be watered after each application.

These simple planting and feeding instructions, followed during fall's long season of good grass-growing weather, will reward home owners with a thick healthy weed-free turf—a growing thing that surrounds the home with nature's beauty.

Tobacco Plant Apes Jack's Beanstalk

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Although pretty Theresa Rolfe of Waterford Township has no intention of acquiring the smoking habit, she has all the makings to roll her own fine, ripe, mellow cigar.

The 11-year-old daughter of the Rolfe family of 224 Oakdale Dr., has raised a huge Michigan-ripened tobacco plant from a stubby one-inch shoot, and now doesn't have any idea what to do with it.

"Jack-and-the-beanstalk" had nothing on Theresa's tobacco plant. When her uncle brought it from North Carolina last spring, more as a joke than anything else — Theresa told the gift sequence.

Every day, with the girl's help, ing rare, the tiny sprout would shoot up a little more in the sun all day long and which was placed in a kitchen window. Soon it was necessary to transplant it to a larger pot. Finally the plant became so big that it was pushing the window sideways above the window.

Even though the weather was still a bit cold outside in early June, Theresa carefully removed the plant from the window ledge and planted it just under the kitchen window in soft, rich earth.

TOWERING

The warm spring sun on the south side of the house began to have tremendous growing effects on the tobacco plant. It grew higher than the window ledge and on up towards the valance on the inside, until now it has nearly reached the roof of the Rolfe's one-story brick home.

Almost seven feet high went the plant. Then, as a climax to the growing process, it burst forth in beautiful bell-shaped pink-orchid colored blooms. Five sturdy stalks held clusters of ten or more of the dainty yellow-centered flowers.

Huge shiny leaves measuring almost three feet in length and a foot across, spread out at the bottom of the tobacco stalk. The leaves get smaller (and mellower) on up to the top of the plant.

Theresa who loves biology has finally decided to use the plant as a class project this year. After the flowers are through blooming (they do not have a smoky smell), the junior high school student plans on saving the seeds for next year.

The tobacco leaves? They will hang near the Rolfe's furnace for drying, and after that Theresa doesn't know what will happen.

"The whole project just may go up in smoke," said the little girl's father — eyeing his pipe.

Black and red raspberries should be planted 300 feet apart because of the spread of virus diseases from red to black varieties.

County Board Hunting for Courthouse Funds

Authorization was given the Oakland County Board of Auditors yesterday to closely scrutinize county budget funds in order to refresh a nearly bone-dry courthouse building fund.

Meeting for the third time since voters Aug. 2 rejected a $4 million tax levy package to finish the courthouse project, a special committee of the Board of Supervisors

Auto Output Up This Month

Outstrips August by 100,000 Units; Many Plants Work 6 Days

DETROIT (U)—Automotive production schedules shot up and September output topped August's production by more than 100,000 vehicles, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

An estimated 408,000 cars were built during the month, Ward's said, compared to 305,527 in August and 258,157 in September 1959.

Eleven of the 17 Ford Motor Co. plants, American Motors, and Buick Division of General Motors all went into a six-day work week during the last week of the month, the statistical agency said.

Production increased 16 per cent last week over the previous week, from 120,722 to 137,133 units. The year's 5 millionth auto will be produced sometime this week, Ward's said.

The week's output by company was:

General Motors, 38.9 per cent; Ford, 34.4 per cent; Chrysler, 17.3 per cent; American, 6.3 per cent, and Studebaker-Packard 1.3 per cent.

Truck production continued at a steady pace, with 15,715 units produced last week, compared with 15,822 the previous week and 21,815 last year's comparable week. Mack and Autocar were doing for inventory adjustment and Studebaker was still making trucks on a limited schedule.

Next 'Great Debate' Oct. 7 in Washington

CLEVELAND (U)—The Oct. 7 debate between the two presidential candidates will be moved to Washington, an official of KYW-TV said today. Space limitations were blamed for the shift.

The second meeting of Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon originally was set for New York. It was planned to transfer it here for the convenience of the candidates, who will be in Ohio on Oct. 6.

The first debate was in Chicago Monday night, with the arrangements in the hands of the Columbia Broadcasting System. The second is being arranged by the National Broadcasting Co., whose outlet here is KYW-TV.

Liz Taylor Diets, Gets Herself to Lovely 38-22-36

LONDON (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor, after being at the cinema, has greatly reduced back to a trim and lovely 38-22-36, her studio announced today.

As a result, the film beauty has started fitting the 38 one-piece swimsuits she wore in Cleopatra in a new film about to start shooting, perhaps the most challenging role of her career.

Liz has been on a long vacation in Italy and the Greek Islands with her husband, singer Eddie Fisher. She is a healthy eater, and the wonderful food of Italy and Greece is craved with enthusiasm. The studio expanded on how much her figure expanded.

UAW Local 212 Votes to Strike Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Members of United Auto Workers Local 212 have voted overwhelmingly to strike five Chrysler Corp. plants in the Detroit area.

The vote was 3,000 to 433. Such a strike would virtually halt all area Chrysler production. It still must be approved by the Union's executive board.

Earle Bruce, Local 212 president, said company and union negotiators had failed to settle some 200 grievances. The strike would affect Chrysler's Eight Mile, Mack Avenue, Oshkosh Drive, North Verner and South Verner plants.

Why there's no heat like flameless ELECTRIC HEAT WHEN YOU'RE ADDING ROOM

ADD MORE ROOM WITHOUT STRAINING YOUR PRESENT HEATING SYSTEM. Planning to enclose a porch or breezeway? Adding a bedroom or family room? Then be sure of cold-weather comfort by installing electric heat! It's easy and practical to do because electric heat is installed and operates independently of the existing heating system, no matter what type you now have.

EVEN HEAT, HEAD TO FEET. In an electrically heated room, the temperature seldom varies more than two or three degrees from floor to ceiling. There are no strong drafts—just even, cozy warmth.

INSTANT HEAT. Electric home heating is fast because the heat source is right there, in the room. And independent operation makes it ideal in spring and fall when one or two rooms need heating while others are warmed by the sun. Individual thermostats in each room make it possible to keep rooms at different temperatures automatically.

Meg, Tony Plan to Wait at Least Year Before Baby

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Margaret and her husband Antony Armstrong-Jones, have decided to wait at least a year before they begin having children, an authoritative royal source reports.

The source said Margaret recently told her family, including Queen Elizabeth II, that her married life has been everything she hoped for.

The 36-year-old princess and her husband have been alone only for the five months since their wedding last May.

Even after their official betrothal, members of the royal family always have been chaperoned firmly but discreetly.

DENIES RUMOR STORIES

The source denied recent reports that Margaret is expecting a child.

"Her family has certainly not heard anything like this," he said.

"The princess gave the impression she and her husband wanted some time to themselves first and also wanted to resolve the question of his future before they really settled down to family life."

"They will have to find a job for him soon," the source said. "It isn't good for an active man to have to sit around doing nothing."

"It would be unfair competition to other photographers if he went back to that this old photography studio."

"Every debutante in town would be competing on his doorstep to get her picture taken."

"The favored suggestions at the moment are that he devote himself to stage decor."

The source also said royal circles do not expect Armstrong-Jones to get a title — at least not for a long while.

There had been some talk that he would receive a title following the birth of Margaret's first child.

Australian High Official Hoping to Meet Nikita

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, preparing to leave for the U.N. General Assembly, said he hopes to see, hear and perhaps meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. "I am looking forward with fascinated interest to discovering what is behind this somewhat stormy facade," Menzies said.

Many historians believe the Vikings spent the winter of 999-1,000 somewhere along the Maine coast.

POLITICIAN AND ACTRESS — Republican vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge talks with former actress Mary Pickford at a reception preceding his address at a $100-a-plate GOP rally in Los Angeles Thursday night. He seems delighted to meet "America's Sweetheart."

N.Y. Police Finally Get Days Off

NEW YORK (AP)—A third of New York's police force had days off yesterday, in the first relaxation of an emergency mobilization for the United Nations General Assembly.

Chief concern of the security force now is Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. But he plans to spend the weekend on Long Island, where he will be the responsibility of Nassau County police.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy said the department yesterday of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro released 200 cops assigned to him and thus also aided in the restoration of days off.

Some 3,000 policemen had been on a seven-day week since Sept. 18, two days before the General Assembly opened with the greatest galaxy of heads of the state ever assembled in one spot.

State Bar With Court on Info Suppression

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—The State Bar of Michigan was on record today in favor of a rule by the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan which permits suppression of pleadings in advance of a trial.

Delegates to the bar's 25th annual convention here adopted a recommendation from its civil liberties committee late Thursday to support the controversial rule.

The recommendation was discussed at length but passed with only a 10-9 vote.

The ruling made by the Federal District Court Judge in Detroit earlier this year has been the subject of criticism by the press, which had argued that court records should be made public.

PROSECUTION NOTICE FOR OPEN
To the qualified electors of the City of Pontiac, Michigan:

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the Michigan Election Code, the undersigned, Clerk of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, will hold a special election on Monday, October 3, 1960, at 10:00 a.m. for the purpose of revising the city charter.

The names of no person but an actual resident of the city at the time of registration, and who is qualified to vote at the next election, shall be entered on the registration book.

News in Brief
Eva Park, 110 State St., reported to Pontiac police yesterday that her purse containing 34 and miscellaneous papers was stolen from her car, parked by her home.

Bernadine Alvarez, 778 Duane St., reported to Pontiac police yesterday that burglars entered her home and stole a $25 ring.

The theft of a door key valued at $70 from his unlocked home was reported to sheriff's deputies today by Charles Wendt of 238 Saunders Road, Oxford Township.

Downward Trend Continues in Grains

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market resumed today its slow downward trend on the Board of Trade.

During the first several minutes of dealings all contracts were slightly up.

Though selling pressure was not specially heavy demand appeared to be thin and prices reacted easily.

The reports of freezing weather last night in the Dakotas, parts of Minnesota and Nebraska had little or no effect in the pits. Trades said advice had indicated most of the corn and soybean crop had reached a safe margin of maturity.

Wheat was unchanged to 1/4 cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour.

Chicago's futures commodity has long since been relegated to a third rate spot in activity on the board of trade. As the surplus has mounted futures activity has declined.

President, Nixon Get In Punches, Aid Party Purse

Talk Over Closed TV, like Boosts Dick, Who Whams at Kennedy

By The Associated Press
President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined forces by coaxial cable Thursday night to give a Republican-dominated flavor to the day's presidential campaigning.

They spoke from different cities on a closed circuit TV fund-raising promotion. Nixon praised the Republican record.

The vice president also said Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy displayed "monumental failure" in the August session of Congress.

Eisenhower praised Nixon as superbly trained for the presidency.

Kennedy, continuing a swing through usually Republican upstate New York, had no such forum to give added prominence to what he had to say.

At Syracuse, N.Y., he again struck at what he called the administration's foreign policy failures.

"The spirit of Camp David has gone," Kennedy said. "The mutual respect has gone. Our hopes for an end to the Cold War have gone."

He cited six areas of the world where he said crises have developed in the past year, and noted that Nixon had visited each of these areas. If Nixon had as much experience as he boasts, Kennedy said, trouble in Cuba, Ghana, Japan, Laos, Poland and India might have been averted.

NIXON DELIGHTED
Nixon got a roaring welcome from an estimated 250,000 persons in the heart of Boston, Kennedy's hometown. Delighted, Nixon said, "Nobody dreamed, I least of all, that we would come into the home state of our opponent and break the record."

Along with the President in Chicago and other GOP luminaries in other cities, Nixon drew off the verbal gloves in his speech to 36 GOP members across the country.

"A monumental failure is no recommendation for success," he said, firing directly at Kennedy. He called the August session a "Continued on Page 2, Col. 1."

U.S. Ponders Sanctions to Hit Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is considering the use of economic sanctions in its deepening conflict with the Cuban government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

These plans, calling for export controls on a limited number of items, may follow up a U.S. decision Thursday night to close down the $110 million nickel processing plant it owns and operates in Cuba's Oriente province.

The World War II plant, operated steadily since the Korean War, now employs or contributes to employment of 1,500 Cubans, who presumably will lose their jobs.

The State Department said the operation has been harassed by the Castro regime and subjected to what it called confiscatory taxes due to go into effect Saturday.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

There were these other developments indicative of the tightening of the Cuban situation:

1. The State Department said all American men in Cuba are being advised to send their wives and children back to the United States to avoid harassment by Cuban authorities.

2. The Castro government, in a new diplomatic rebuff, refused to accept a U.S. note protesting nationalization of American-owned banks in Cuba.

GOP Stresses Maturity

By The Associated Press

Republican orators, speaking at fund-raising dinners in four key Michigan cities Thursday night, urged the election of Richard M. Nixon as president, calling him more mature, qualified and experienced than his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

In Detroit, former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey described Kennedy as an ill-advised, naive young man. Dewey's associate thrust at Kennedy were applauded by 1,500 at a $100-a-plate dinner in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Dewey, twice unsuccessful Republican nominee for president, accused Kennedy of echoing Communist propaganda in saying "the Russian economy is growing three times as fast as ours."

MASSACRE THE FACTS

Dewey declared, "This eager young man really began to massacre the facts" by making such a statement in Detroit on Labor Day.

In Flint, more than 3,000 turned out for a $25-a-plate dinner addressed by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, who also attacked Kennedy's associates.

Summerfield declared that with the coming retirement of Gov. G. Mennen Williams, United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther "has found himself another boy."

In Grand Rapids, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell was the main speaker at a $100-a-plate dinner attended by 630. Mitchell praised President Eisenhower for "doing more to stop the tide of Communism than any other in the world."

He said, "We must trust our country's leadership to a man of experience."

In Lansing, former Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall told a rally, "The Democrats will say anything to get elected. He addressed 300 party members who paid $10 for single admission and $100 for couple at the fund-raising dinner.

Tom Dewey—in Holly—Sure of a GOP Victory

By JOE HAAS

That the Nixon-Lodge ticket will be elected, possibly by a landslide, is the opinion of Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor and twice Republican candidate for president.

He spoke in this accord when interviewed at Holly Thursday afternoon, where he had stopped for a call on Mrs. Dewey's only brother, Dr. H. D. Hutt.

He was on his way from a visit to the scenes of his childhood at Owosso to the big evening at Detroit, where he was the speaker, and was accompanied by Alvin M. Bentley of Owosso, Republican candidate for U.S. senator.

However, Dewey stressed two points that should be noted by the Republicans as danger signals. The first is over-confidence among them, which will have a tendency to lessen the party's vote.

He said, "It is the plain duty of every person to vote," and added, with a grin, "especially if they support the right ticket."

The other, Dewey said, is the "untold millions" being spent by the Kennedy family, labor unions and others in the drive to get the names of Democrat voters on the registration books.

Small of stature, with a healthy brown complexion and the doggedly determined look that won him national fame as a racketeer buster, Dewey climbed to the highest office in the Empire State, and enabled him to flirt with the White House. Dewey still exhibits the fighting spirit.

He thinks the Nixon-Lodge ticket has New York's big electoral vote in the bag, with a possibility of carrying Kennedy's home state of Massachusetts, and sees Michigan as good fighting ground, in spite of Walter Reuther.

Reds Mounting Counterattack at U.N. Hall

Delegates Still Dazed With Shock Over K's Ranting at Briton

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Communist bloc mounted a swift counter-attack today against British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's hard-hitting address while the U.N. still buzzed with shock over Nikita Khrushchev's clash with the Western leader.

Poland's Communist chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, unexpectedly took the stage as the General Assembly resumed its debate, and accused Macmillan of supporting a militarist West German policy which he said had designs on Poland's territory. Gomulka spoke under the assembly's "Right of reply" procedure.

Macmillan will fly to Washington for a weekend conference with President Eisenhower on the rough-house tactics of Khrushchev at the United Nations, it was disclosed today.

The British Prime Minister had defended West Germany Thursday against Soviet charges that it harbors militarist aims. The British speech had moved the Soviet Premier to violent outbursts of table-thumping protest.

Macmillan met later more than two hours with Khrushchev and neither leader budged on outstanding issues. But Macmillan abruptly canceled plans to go home, deciding to remain an extra week to await a possible repeat call from Khrushchev. He is expected also to report to President Eisenhower on his talks.

Neutralist leaders at the U.N. today urged Eisenhower and Khrushchev to get together as a "first urgent step" toward easing world tensions.

The formal piece was laid before the U.N. jointly by India's Premier Nehru, Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic, Yugoslav President Tito, Indonesian President Sukarno and Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah.

The appeal was in the form of a resolution drafted for action at the 15th general session.

Khrushchev kept busy at his personal diplomacy, arranging a luncheon for 20 heads of government but leaving out Macmillan. The Soviet leader was expected to pick up some important support for his proposal to revamp the U.N.'s peace-making structure.

There was growing steam, too, behind a neutralist drive to bring about a new meeting of President Eisenhower and Khrushchev at the summit.

President Sukarno of Indonesia, the first speaker of the afternoon, said the fire was at first some sort of U.N. administrative (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7.)

Jews to Mark Yom Kippur

Holiest Day Commences at Sunset Throughout the World

Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the Jewish calendar, will be observed in homes and synagogues throughout the world beginning today at sunset.

Yom Kippur is Hebrew for Day of Atonement, a time devoted to self-examination and the determination to live on a higher moral plane in the future.

It marks the conclusion of the 10-day period of repentance which begins with Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year. On the evening before Yom Kippur, prayers are recited and gifts pledged. Ritual in the homes involves blessing children at the final meal before the fast and burning memorial candles during the 24-hour fast period.

CONGREGATION B'NAI ISRAEL

Traditional Jewish services will be held at Congregation B'nei Israel, 143 Oneida road at 6 p. m. today. Rabbi Israel Goodman will preach on "It All Depends on Me."

At 11:30 Saturday morning, Rabbi Goodman will speak on the topic, "Our Greatest Loss."

At 12:30 p. m. a memorial service will be held; at 2:30 p. m. a children's service; and the closing service will be at 5 p. m.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB

Reform Jewish services will be held at Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake road at 8:30 this evening with Rabbi Nathan Herashfeld speaking on "Unintended Sin."

On Saturday morning he will preach on "What We Build." A children's service will be conducted by members of the Temple Youth Group at 2 p. m. and the concluding service for the Day of Atonement will be at 5 p. m.

Democracy Dawns With Police Slip

Sometimes a crime—far more than a political event—can illuminate the progress a country has made from dictatorship to democracy. In Austria, the process of rebuilding the police system along democratic lines began as soon as the war ended.

Four years later, the handling of the sensational Mandler murder case showed what an advance had been made. In it, the police made a major error, but did not try to cover up to save themselves criticism. This was a landmark of progress.

Blast Kills 5 Near Marshall

Sleeping Rural Family Suddenly Snuffed Out by Mystery Explosion

MARSHALL, Mich. (AP)—A mysterious explosion and fire destroyed a rural home near here today, wiping out a sleeping family of five. Searchers recovered all five bodies.

Officers said the bodies were distributed throughout the ruins of the 1½-story frame home in Convis Township, about nine miles northwest of here.

Robert Lane, assistant fire chief, said the fire was at first believed touched off by an oil stove explosion. He said, however, the oil stove was not connected, and "now we don't have any idea what started it."

The blaze destroyed the home of Delmar Brown, 25; his wife, Hilma, 24; and three children, Pamela, 5, Daniel, 3 and Sally, a year old.

Officers said Sally was blown completely out of the home by the explosion. The others died in the flames. Brown, said the chimney was the only thing left standing. The house burned to the ground.

He said the nearest home was about a quarter of a mile away. He said a passing motorist saw the fire and turned in the alarm.

Football Fans, Get Out Those Warm Coats

Topcats may well be the fashion when football fans fill the bleachers at games tonight and Saturday.

The weatherman says temperatures will drop below 40 tonight in the city, with a chance of frost in outlying sections. Saturday will continue cloudy with a high near 64.

Temperatures the next five days will average four degrees below the normal high of 61-65 and normal low of 42-45.

Precipitation will total one to two-tenths of an inch in showers Saturday night and again about Tuesday or Wednesday.

Morning northeasterly winds at 1 mile per hour will diminish tonight, becoming southeasterly at 8-12 m.p.h. Saturday.

Rainfall from 10:15 a.m. yesterday until the same hour today measured 1.1 of an inch.

Forty-eight was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 1 p.m. was 36.

To Bolster School Program

The Pontiac Board of Education last night moved to strengthen the school district's science program, administration and guidance demonstration research program.

Board members authorized Dr. Thelma F. Whitner, superintendent of schools, to seek applicants for a position as science consultant and the newly created post of an administrative assistant.

They also approved the hiring of Bennett K. Howe, a doctoral candidate at the University of Michigan, as director of the guidance demonstration research program on a part-time basis.

The matter of the science consultant in the school district has been under consideration for about three months.

"We feel there is a definite need for such a consultant to stimulate our science program," said Dr. Whitner.

"In addition, a specialist in this field will enable us to take full advantage of the program offered by the National Defense Education Act and promote closer ties between schools and universities."

The new science consultant will work directly under Russell W. Curtis, secondary education coordinator.

MAJOR AREAS

Four major areas for the consultant would be working with teachers in the classrooms, with teacher workshops, teacher demonstrations and science curriculum supervision, and selecting scientific materials for the classroom.

The board indicated it would approve a one and one-half year contract for the position at approximately $18,000 for salary, expenses and materials.

Regarding the new position of administrative assistant, Dr. F. Whitner said that a recent survey of Dr. Proud more time for direct work with principals in our schools.

The proposed assistant would work on direct assignment from administrators.

The job would carry an annual salary in the neighborhood of $9,000, or about the same rate as that of an elementary school principal on a 12-month basis.

Howe, 42, Wayne, has taught all grades from seven through junior college and has experience in data tabulation, analysis and interpretation in guidance research.

His salary will be paid from federal funds designated for the program.

Harvard Prof. Gives Nixon 'F,' Sen. Kennedy an 'A'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Prof. J. Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard last night gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon a big "F" for fumbling the professor's course in national leadership.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, on the other hand, got an "A" for ability from his economic adviser.

The lowering of 6-foot-8 director of his university's economics department adopted the usual lecture on the nation's economy and instead told the Republican presidential candidate in the course of being a part of a "mainstream" administration for the past eight years.

The professor's "students" at the Fox and Hounds Inn in Bloomfield Hills were members and guests of the new Oakland County chapter of the Democratic Business and Professional Group. The dinner was attended by 50.

The professor, author and economist was on the campaign trail for Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate who echoes what Galbraith says, and vice versa.

Saying he was only a floor worker at the convention, Galbraith declared writing the Democratic plan in the Democratic platform, "I might have helped," he said.

Despite some who claim they can't distinguish between the two parties, Galbraith said the dividing line is as sharp as it was in the 1930s and 1940s, but not necessarily among the lines of which party is the conservative element and which one is liberal.

"The present attitude toward change is the big difference," he said.

"You've got the Republicans believing the present is something to be protected for what it is, and the Democrats who say the present is but a step forward with innovation."

"Otherwise, those who face reality and those who don't," the speaker said.

RAPS FOREIGN POLICY

Nixon is seeking to perpetuate the eight years of a "contented and unconcerned" administration, Galbraith said. "He offers a baby and a bathwater policy designed to cover up the kind of initiative that had been our source of power during the years of FOR an Truman," he said.

"Saying Nixon has the experience, exactly like the experience of a man who applies for a driver's license and cites his magnificent record of accidents," he said.

Questioned later as to how Democrats would move ahead in the "move ahead" program, Galbraith said higher taxes might be inevitable.

If the program cannot be financed out of present revenues at a good rate of growth, then there would be a need for higher taxes.

Girl, 15, Hurt Playing Game With Traffic

Fifteen-year-old Barbara Lee Weeks played "chicken" on city streets yesterday and the game nearly ended tragically.

Barbara, who lives at 1569 Lakeview, was struck by a car at Navajo Drive and Navajo Avenue.

Police explained that the girl's game consisted of standing in the path of an oncoming car and waiting until the last possible moment before moving.

The car, which struck her, was driven by James L. George, 39, of 24 Fremont Ave., Bloomfield Township.

The 15-year-old girl was driving north on Navajo and his brakes failed when he sought to avoid the accident.

Barbara was taken to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises and released.

MERCURY DESCENDING — A downtown Pontiac landmark for half a century, the statue of Mercury at East Lawrence and Perry Streets is lowered to the ground. Pooled on one foot above the building at 30 E. Lawrence since 1906, the statue was removed yesterday as part of a $3,000 remodeling program undertaken by Community Loan Co. and Pontiac Community Finance Co. Mercury will be stored in the basement until they decide what to do with him.

He is survived by his wife Alice, son Kent M., superintendent of the AC spark plug division of GM in Flint; daughter Mrs. William Gibb III of Washington, D. C.; a brother and two sisters and three grandchildren.

Another son, James W. Hopkins, was killed in a commercial airplane crash in Ankara, Turkey, in February.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that any contributions be made to the Albert L. Hopkins Memorial Fund of First Presbyterian Church, in care of Mrs. George Wehndt, 611 Pittsford, Birmingham.

Mrs. Hopkins' body will be at the Bell Chapel of William R. Hamilton Co. until 10 a.m. Saturday.

Confronted with the evidence, Lutz finally confessed.

He had made a deal with Mrs. Mandler in foreign currencies. A month before the murder, he convinced her that the two of them could turn a profit in another one.

"I visited her several times to discuss it. She was to invest $6 thousand schillings," he said.

Lutz admitted the telegram was part of the murder plan, to confuse the police.

"I went to her apartment about 2 p.m. Monday. We talked over the deal. . . . Finally she went into the kitchen. When she came out she had on less than a towel and was carrying a brief case. I knew she had the money. . . . I grabbed her by the throat."

He slashed the body and put it in the bathtub to leave the appearance that the murder was a crime of passion. When he left, he noticed the hallway carpet was rolled up. He carefully rolled it into place, covering the blood on the floor.

THE FALSE CLUE

It was apparently evident to Dr. Heger that false assumptions had led the police astray from the beginning. A preliminary medical report, which indicated the body had been in the bathtub only three hours, had been the false clue.

The investigation was at a dead end when police made a routine check on a certain Rudolf Lutz, who was a witness said had talked with Dr. Boscard. He was in jail on suspicion of burglary.

Lutz denied knowing anything of the matter but police found he had spent the night of Nov. 7 and 8 in Vienna. Handwriting experts reported the original of the telegram signed Dr. Boscard was in handwriting identical with that of Lutz.

Retired GM Executive Died Wednesday After Brief Illness

Service for Albert L. Hopkins, retired General Motors executive, will be 1 p.m. Saturday at First Presbyterian Church in Birmingham.

Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Hopkins, 70, of 509 Beryon Road, Birmingham, died Wednesday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, after a brief illness.

At his retirement in 1955, Hopkins was director of standards and quality for Pontiac, Buick and Oldsmobile divisions of GM.

A graduate of Iowa State College with a degree in engineering, Hopkins began his career with GM in 1928 at the corporation's battery plant in Muncie, Ind.

Seven years later he was made manager of the Bloomfield, N. J. assembly plant.

During World War II he supervised the building of parts for several aircraft.

He is survived by his wife Alice, son Kent M., superintendent of the AC spark plug division of GM in Flint; daughter Mrs. William Gibb III of Washington, D. C.; a brother and two sisters and three grandchildren.

Another son, James W. Hopkins, was killed in a commercial airplane crash in Ankara, Turkey, in February.

The Day in Birmingham

Voters Asked to Approve First Hills Bond Issue

BIRMINGHAM — For the first time since becoming a city in 1952, Bloomfield Hills voters will be asked Monday in a special election to approve a municipal bond issue.

The proposal seeks the support of a $1.5 million general obligation bond issue for the construction of an internal sewer system.

Only property owners and their wives will be allowed to decide the proposal, and 60 per cent approval is needed for it to pass.

Approval of the bond issue, which would run 30 years, would mean an increase of taxes to property owners of about $7.31 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The estimated tax increase, however, is based on the bonds being issued all at one time.

Another plan, according to city engineers, that would divide the project, would reduce the tax per dollar of assessed valuation.

This plan would have available $1.3 million of the bond issue immediately for sewer construction in developed areas, and the remaining funds issued at a later date for undeveloped areas.

The city, now served by septic tanks, has more than 450 homes, but has a potential of 1,700.

In time, such a concentrated supply of tanks would create a health problem, according to Mayor Henry Woolfenden.

He said that should Monday's proposal fail, the city would eventually be forced into building a sewer system.

One alternative that could be provided if the bond proposal were turned down, he said, would be to have the Oakland County Department of Public Works construct the sewer.

"If they agreed to do the work, taxes, however, would still be raised, and probably at a higher rate than under the 30-year bond issue."

The internal system, if approved, would connect to the Evergreen interceptor. The project could be completed late in 1961.

The president spoke to the Polish American Congress.

The 58-nation assembly, meanwhile, called a special Saturday session for the purpose of approving the 15th session's agenda, and bitter debate on the outstanding issues is in prospect.

It is possible a test vote will be taken on the Soviet proposal to admit Red China, which will indicate how much support the two sides in the cold war have picked up or lost.

Nixon heads northward for a visit to the state New York to say, while Kennedy arranged a year's rest at his home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

President Eisenhower told his partisan audience that Nixon had been and was taking good preparation for the presidency than anyone he knows.

Eisenhower, in a sort of introduction to Nixon's visit in Boston, said no one is in a better position than he to set the record straight as to what Nixon has contributed to the Eisenhower administration.

The President did not mention it, but he did say that the record straight" apparently stemmed from a remark he himself made at his Aug. 24 news conference in Washington.

Eisenhower was asked today to "give us an example of a major idea of his (Nixon's) which you had adopted. . . ."

The President broke in to answer shortly. "You give me a week, I might think of one. I don't remember."

Debate Could Revolutionize Elections

By J. M. ROBERTS

AP News Analysis

Revelations of any fault in a first effort, Monday night's Kennedy-Nixon confrontation on television promises to put American political campaigning into a new framework and perhaps change it altogether.

Candidates are being swept away from the past in which they could make regional speeches playing on regional prejudices. That's not a new thing.

The old style campaign speech, in which a man might even get away with contradicting himself to meet his needs before differing audiences, has been going out for years. First because of fast and full nationwide newspaper coverage, and then radio. But this business of candidates meeting each other under the eyes of the whole nation adds a new factor.

It was responsible Monday night for a different bearing on the part of both men. They felt the solemnity of what they were doing.

It seems quite possible that the knowledge of that great unseen audience added considerably to their understanding of the enormous thing they were trying to do—win the leadership of a far-flung nation composed of regions and people with many varying and conflicting interests.

Detroit Bearing Firm Buys Holding of Renault

DETROIT (U.P.)—Federal Mogul Bearings of Detroit said Thursday its wholly-owned Swiss subsidiary, Mogul-Bower Bearings S. A., has purchased a "substantial interest" in the Societe Francaise des Roulements Mines.

The Detroit firm said the interest in France's largest sleeve bearing company was acquired from the Renault automotive firm for an undisclosed price.

The French firm produces bearings, bushings and thrust washers in its plant at Orleans.

The power of public judgment was close upon them.

A great many people think it would have been better if the two men had used the old form of debate all the way through, with pretension and rebuttal without the intervention of interrogators.

There is a good possibility, however, that if the interrogations system becomes standard on such occasions, candidates will be forced to discuss questions to the public interest which they might prefer to duck if left to their own devices.

There is a possibility, of course, that some day a complete novice would be able to sweep popular opinion without having to submit himself to the country in person. But the American people can usually see through the gimmicks and have a tradition of good sense when the chips are down.

Through an increasing use of television the same voters will be able to follow a campaign from beginning to end. They will be able to watch the changing reactions of candidates as the campaign progresses, instead of just depending on a one-time or even wholly second-hand impression.

Friendly Foe Gov. Rockefeller Pulls Sly One

When Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy came to Albany, N. Y., Thursday, State of New York employees had little hope of attending his address from the steps of the Capitol Building—after all, the governor is a Republican.

But the search for votes can take many peculiar turns. The battle for New York's 46 electoral votes is not over. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is taking flight.

So, much to their surprise, state workers were authorized to leave their jobs long enough to attend the Democratic rally.

Offset Loss of Sales to Car Companies

Repairs at Gas Stations Aid Parts Firms

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — A growing trend among motorists to have minor repair and service work done at corner gas stations is providing new opportunities for independent auto parts makers.

The independent parts makers have been caught in a squeeze as the big auto companies have turned more and more to building their own parts, rather than buying them from outside firms.

But the motorist has unwittingly offset the squeeze by turning more and more away from auto-company franchised garages to the corner filling station for minor repair work on his car.

Recent surveys show that the number of repair jobs done at a filling station increased from 25 per cent of the total to 30 per cent between 1957 and 1959.

During the same period the number of repair jobs done at an authorized car dealer's garage dropped from 35 per cent of the total to 25 per cent.

AS MUCH AT HOME
The number of repair jobs done by independent garages and the number done by the motorist himself remained almost constant during the period.

E. T. Duffy, director of replacement sales for the Electric Autolite Co., said his company does not prefer selling to independent gasoline stations. But he added that Autolite is aware of the trend and was willing to go along with it.

Autolite is a good example of the type of company that is benefiting from the trend toward more repair work at gas stations.

The Toledo, Ohio, company recently lost a lucrative contract with Chrysler Corp. when Chrysler started to build its own electrical parts at a plant in Indiana.

The demand from gas stations for more replacement parts is filling the gap left by the Chrysler contract withdrawal.

Duffy said he believed there were many reasons for the trend toward gas station repairs.

Probably the most important of these, he said, is the fact that the gasoline station operator sees five year pact.

his customer's cars more than any other qualified mechanic. He can tell the driver when he sees the need for repairs or servicing and is likely to be asked to do the job.

Another important reason is that the customer has gotten to know his gasoline station operator better than the mechanic in the garage where he bought his car. This acquaintance gives him confidence in the station operator.

Other reasons, Duffy said, include the fact that the gas station is more accessible to the motorist, open longer hours and more eager for the work. And gasoline station operators are becoming more skilled at repair work, he said.

"We feel increased service work also will enhance the stature of service stations and increase their sales of gas and oil," he said. "For the motorist, it means he can take better care of his car more easily."

Union Weighs Strike at General Electric
NEW YORK (UPI)—Union officials gathered today to decide whether to call a strike at midnight Saturday against the General Electric Co., which rejected a government plea to extend a work contract until a new one is written.

The GE Conference Board of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) already has received approval from the Union members to call a strike. A walk-out of the 70,000 GE Union members probably would force the company to close its 166 plants across the nation, idling 240,000 employees.

GE turned down a plea by federal mediators Thursday to continue negotiations for a new contract under terms of the present five year pact.

Nixon Will Dedicate Muskegon Arena

MUSKEGON (AP)—An Oct. 27 appearance by Vice President Nixon has been confirmed by John C. Beukema, chairman of the committee for dedication of the new $13 million L. C. Walker Sports Arena at Muskegon.

It was feared earlier that a knee injury suffered by the vice president would cut the Muskegon visit from his itinerary.

Nixon is principal speaker, with a "nonpartisan" address, at ceremonies formally dedicating the all-purpose arena donated to the city by industrialist L. C. Walker.

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Department of Agriculture reports that housewives should be able to find all the blue Concord grapes they want in retail stores.

The harvest is in full swing, and promises to be the third largest in the nation. Grape growers are expected to bring in 58,000 tons of Michigan this fall.

Union Gathers at Tokyo

Parliamentarians Meet,
Start Fighting Cold War

TOKYO (AP)—The Inter-Parliamentary Union opened its 40th annual conference here Thursday and immediately erupted into cold war and Arab-Israeli disputes. Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako, the latter dressed in a cream and white kimono, inaugurated the nine-day session of lawmakers from 50 nations—six of them Communist bloc.

President Eisenhower sent greetings but the Soviet message was an attack on the United States. Eisenhower told the 277 delegates "better understanding is essential if the nations of the world are to live in peace and freedom." He said the United States fully backs the IPU because it believes in "a free and democratic nation where human values are held in highest regard."

A message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev charged that the U. S. government by sending atomic and hydrogen bombs through the world's air space creates an appalling danger for everyone.

The Soviet delegate, Justus Paletskis, who read the message, added that the American bases overseas are "nothing but bleeding wounds on earth which may cause war."

Then turning on the United States again he asked: "Do you want the planet turned into an Hiroshima by a handful of sabre-rattling adventurers?" The American speaker in the policy debate, U. S. Rep. Daniel

K. Inouye of Hawaii, did not reply to the Soviet charges.

The Japanese-American congressman, who lost one arm fighting with the famous Hawaiian Nihei Brigade in Europe during World War II, said he was shocked when a distinguished Asian parliamentarian asked him recently "whether the people of Hawaii were ready to revolt against the United States."

"I proceeded to inform this gentleman that we in Hawaii were not only happy but privileged to live under the American flag," Inouye declared.

Polish Group Backs
Bentley for Senate

DETROIT (UPI)—Republican Rep. Alvin M. Bentley won the support of the powerful Polish-American Congress Wednesday, while his opponent, Democratic incumbent Sen. Patrick V. McNamara said domestic weaknesses can be just as fatal to national survival as breakdowns in foreign relations.

The PAC, which backed the Orono Republican in his primary fight, said it was supporting Bentley "because he is a proven friend of Poland and the Polish people."

Bentley is the first Republican to win the endorsement of the Michigan PAC, which has chapters in Detroit, Flint, Lansing, Jackson, Bay City and Kalamazoo.

Commerce Methodists Serve Supper Friday

An early American sideboard supper will be served Friday between 5:20 and 7:30 at Commerce Methodist Church in Commerce Township.

The event is being sponsored by the Sunday School staff in an effort to raise money for church school equipment.

The smorgasbord-type meal will feature turkey and ham as main dishes.

Louisiana State Officials Protest Negroes' Claims

By DAVID ZIMMAN
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A strong wave of protest from state and parish officials surged through Louisiana today in the wake of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission's two-day hearing on voter discrimination.

In my opinion, this hearing is nothing but a national publicity stunt," State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion told newsmen. "We have investigated these stories and found no merit."

The six-member commission, a fact-finding body that reports to Congress and the President, said Louisiana Negroes from 17 parishes filed more than 130 complaints of vote denials. The vast majority came from rural northern parishes.

"None of these people have ever complained to any state official," said Gremlion, an observer at the hearing. "All this testimony is ancient history."

Most of the 35 Negroes testified the wide latitude given parish registrars in applying voter qualification tests has helped hold Negro registration down to 28 per cent. Eighty-two per cent of eligible white voters are registered, the commission said.

Negroes also testified threats of violence have been made to keep Negroes from the polls. In St. Helena Parish, segregated voting machines "create an opportunity for votes to be shoved aside and not counted," one Negro witness testified.

The commission Wednesday invited registrars to present rebuttal testimony. But Gremlion told the commission it was "physically impossible" to get registrars from distant northern parishes to New Orleans on such short notice.

Edmore Begins Drive to Construct Hospital
EDMORE (AP) — A civic drive, including a benefit chicken supper, aims to help obtain $50,000 in cash and pledges for a new hospital at Edmore.

The present hospital operated by Dr. Myron Becker faces an Oct. 4 deadline for accepting recommendations from the state health and fire marshal's offices.

Money obtained in the drive which follows a civic meeting last Thursday, spokesmen said, will be used toward construction of a new hospital estimated at a minimum cost of $500,000.

It costs $25 million for the U.S. to maintain drunks in jail each year.

Khrushchev Marks Time Keeping Name Up Front

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—After a week of spectacular deeds involving the world's most powerful leaders, a vastly important question is still to be answered.

Just what does Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev want this historic 15th session of the U.N. General Assembly to accomplish?

Khrushchev's activities indicate he wants it to accomplish nothing. More and more, the doings of the Russians and their allies on the scene take on the look of a gigantic holding action, a means of marking time until the way can be prepared for a relatively safe advance of Communist domination.

What Khrushchev has proposed to the Assembly delegates might sound attractive to the unwary. Why not outlaw all armaments immediately? Why not outlaw all colonies immediately? Few suspect Khrushchev of believing in such overnight miracles. He might just as well ask the United Nations: Why not outlaw sin?

HE'S NOT SINCERE
Examination of Khrushchev's performance during this session turns up no indication that he wants to meet the West halfway on any of the world's most pressing problems.

On disarmament talks, for example, Khrushchev has shown himself adept at conjuring up formidable preconditions. A short time ago, the precondition was his demand for a humble apology from President Eisenhower for the U2 plane incident. Now it is a demand that the U.N.'s system of policing crises be nullified.

Under such circumstances, the West justifiably can doubt that Khrushchev wants to talk seriously about disarmament at all.

On virtually all other stubborn questions, the Soviet leader displays a knack for producing insurmountable obstacles to impede real progress. This U.N. session might well be studied against the background of an important meeting of Communist leaders earlier this year in Rome. In what seemed a compromise with the Red Chinese, the meeting called the attention of the world's Communists to the possibilities of advancing world revolution both by violent and nonviolent means.

At this moment, violent means can be dangerous to the survival of both sides. Nonviolent means, espoused by the cautious Khrushchev, require at the least a slow and painful process of infiltration, subversion and confusion in key strategic areas, such as Africa.

Is there any other choice for the Communists, according to their lights, but to stage a holding action and mark time?

Khrushchev is expert at it. He has suffered diplomatic setbacks in this session, but the world soon forgets the complex mechanics of diplomatic quarrels. He helps the world to forget by constantly dominating the headlines. Khrushchev's strategy for his holding action seems to include a precedent-setting court suit against the city of St. Joseph, Mo., to compel the community to clean up water pollution in the Missouri River.

Drug Dividend Paid

DETROIT (AP)—Parke, Davis & Co. Wednesday declared a regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, payable Oct. 31 to stockholders of record Oct. 7.

Missouri City Sued by U.S.

First Time Pollution Act of '56 Has Been Tested by HEW

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government Thursday filed a precedent-setting court suit against the city of St. Joseph, Mo., to compel the community to clean up water pollution in the Missouri River.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said the suit was filed in Federal District Court at Kansas City.

The action was taken at the request of Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) when the city refused to comply with his order to construct sewage and waste treatment facilities to end pollution of the river.

The suit will be the first court test of the enforcement provisions of the 1956 Federal Water Pollution Act.

The law gives the federal government authority to move against a city permitting pollution of rivers which contaminates the water of communities in neighboring states.

On Burroughs' Board

DETROIT (UPI)—James R. Bradburn, vice president of manufacturing and engineering for Burroughs Corp., has been elected to the company's board of directors. He has been a vice president of the firm since 1956.

There are 209 licensed airports and five seaplane bases in Michigan.

Why there's no heat like flameless
ELECTRIC HEAT
WHEN YOU'RE ADDING ROOM

ADD MORE ROOM WITHOUT STRAINING YOUR PRESENT HEATING SYSTEM. Planning to enclose a porch or breezeway? Adding a bedroom or family room? Then be sure of cold-weather comfort by installing electric heat! It's easy and practical to do because electric heat is installed and operates independently of the existing heating system, no matter what type you now have.

EVEN HEAT, HEAD TO FEET. In an electrically heated room, the temperature seldom varies more than two or three degrees from floor to ceiling. There are no strong drafts—just even, cozy warmth.

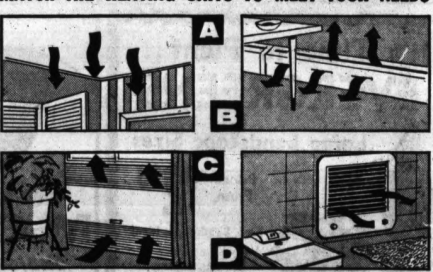

INSTANT HEAT. Electric home heating is fast because the heat source is right there, in the room. And independent operation makes it ideal in spring and fall when one or two rooms need heating while others are warmed by the sun. Individual thermostats in each room make it possible to keep rooms at different temperatures automatically.

CLEAN HEAT. Electric heat is heat by wire instead of fire—it never creates smoke or soot. Walls and furniture, draperies and carpets will require less frequent cleaning.

MATCH THE HEATING UNITS TO MEET YOUR NEEDS

Popular built-in electric heat systems use (A) cable embedded in ceilings, (B) baseboards, (C) forced air units or (D) radiant panels set into the walls.
