'Must Keep Up With Russia'

Asks Poison Gas Push

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Army chemical warfare expert said today the United States should push to develop chemical weapons even more potent than kill-in-a-minute "nerve gases" already possessed by America and the Soviet Union.

Hinting that some such effort may already be under way, but that an adequate program would require vigorous public support, Dr. William H. Summerson, a deputy commander of the Chemical Corps' research and development command, asserted:

"It is to our national interest to uncover as yet unrevealed toxicological secrets at least as rapidly as a potential enemy nation can do so, and preferably before he does."

Summerson made the statements at a symposium wherein he and other government scientists painted a grim picture of the "threat" to the United States and its Allies arising from possible chemical and germ warfare—and the need for assuring strong defenses and countermeasures.

And their remarks were underscored by the statement of Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, the Army's chief chemical officer, that "there is some evidence that the Communist bloc may surpass us in this field."

If the Communists succeed in attaining a superiority in new chemical and biological weapons, "which we can not match or which we can not defend against," Stubbs, "our nuclear strength could be of academic value."

He said progress is being made in developing protective masks and clothing for civilians but "more thought must be given to making fallout shelters impervious to chemical and biological agents."

It was brought out at the conference—staged at the American Chemical Society's 137th national meeting—that the United States already has germ weapons which could:

Hogan Making His Move in Masters Play

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Ben Hogan made his move in the Masters Golf Tournament today, shooting a three-under-par 33 for the first nine holes of his second round. He started the day with a 70, one shot back of the pace-setter, Arnold Palmer.

Hogan's playing companion, portly Claude Harmon, three-putted the ninth hole for a 36 which showed him a stroke better than Hogan at the 27-hole mark.

Harmon, a 43-year-old club professional who has won this event in 1945, started the day tied with Fred Hawkins, Dow Finsterwald and Jay Robert at 36.

He had the best 27-hole score of the early starters in this famed extravaganza.

Another strong comeback was launched by Ken Venturi, the hard-knuckled youngster from San Francisco, who Venturi found the front nine in 34, two under par, after shooting a weird 73 in the opening round.

Yesterday Venturi went out in a record-smashing 31 and took 42 strokes coming back after a disheartening double bogey at the 12th.

Palmer was a late starter over the 6,500-yard, par 36-36-72 Augusta National course, which for the second straight day was invaded by some 15,000 spectators.

The Soviet proposals were laid before the 19th session of the East-West disarmament conference by Russia's Valerian A. Zorin. Yesterday, he had urged that rival Communist and Western proposals be pigeonholed, and a new start made.

"As an act of good will," Zorin said, "for the purpose of creating appropriate conditions for an early conclusion of a treaty on general and complete disarmament, the states-participants in the committee that possess nuclear weapons should solemnly declare that they renounce to be the first to use such weapons."

Zorin claimed at a news conference later that this was a new Soviet proposal. But Western delegation spokesmen said they saw little difference from earlier Soviet proposals to ban nuclear weapons.

The nuclear declaration, Zorin said, was to be part of a list of "principles" of disarmament, on which he asked the West to agree as a first step toward disarmament.

Just yesterday he suggested the conference wipe the slate clean because each side had flatly turned down the other's disarmament proposals. He suggested they start working on "the basic principles of general and complete disarmament" with hope this would lead to some concrete measures.

Lansing Blaze Fatal to 2 Tots Called Arson

State Lie Test for Ex-Convict Father of Dead Children

LANSING (UPI) — The fire which killed two small children early yesterday "definitely was set," Lansing Captain of Detectives Sidney Hildebrand said today.

Police held Keith Black, 23, the unemployed father who had left all five of his children alone as he went to pick up his wife at work.

"I'm in no position to put the finger on Black or anyone else yet," Hildebrand said, but pronounced a deeper probe into the fatal fire.

"It was definitely arson in my opinion," he said.

Police and fire officials scheduled a lie detector test this afternoon for Black. The test was set for State Police headquarters in East Lansing because Lansing police did not have a polygraph operator available.

Black was held on a charge of parole violation for having driven a car during his parole period.

Dead in the fire were two-year-old Keith Allen Black and his sister Katherine, 10 months.

Heroine of the tragedy was Susan Black, 5, who led her two sisters, Linda, 4, and Beverly, 3, from the burning home when she awoke and found the house afire.

"We can't say even when we'll be able to decide whether there may be a charge against Black," said Lansing Police Detective Sgt. James Henderson.

Black was indicted for pick up his wife, Nancy, 23, where she worked at a drive-in restaurant. When the couple returned to the house, they found it in flames.

These are just three of the special features available in the 1959 annual report of the City of Pontiac, to be published as a special supplement to tomorrow's Pontiac Press.

The 16 page supplement will contain more than just the facts and figures about Pontiac. It will be jam packed with interesting photographs, lively information and valuable details you will want to peruse in full for a better understanding of your city.

Rain, Snow Make Woe

GOING NOWHERE — Big cars, little cars, foreign cars like the one above, even Oakland County Road Commission trucks are apt to fall prey to the mud hazard that has reached near emergency proportions in Oakland County. The car above got stuck in a ditch on Charns road near Milford, after its owner swung to the side of the road in order to avoid the deep ruts in the middle.

Sets Traps' for Unwary Motorists

'Mud Monster' Loose in County

Rain plus snow plus thaw plus more rain, snow and thaw equals mud, mud and more mud. That formula has gained more momentary importance to Oakland County suburban dwellers than the one that led to development of the Atomic Bomb.

The mud has only worsened to the last week, according to near-helpless Oakland County Road Commission officials.

Unimproved gravel and dirt roads "throughout the county" have been chewed up in part or in whole by ruts, chuckholes and layers of ooze of near-quick-sand consistency.

The county has prepared a long list of impassable roads and the list is growing daily, one official said.

Unimproved roads in Pontiac are suffering the same fate, according to the Department of Public Works.

"The situation was bad, very bad two weeks ago, as the result of the quick thaw," one county official said.

"The rain had snow of the past week haven't helped a bit, the roads have only worsened because of additional moisture."

The only real cure, he said, would be some warm weather and wind to dry things up.

"Only after the moisture begins to fade can our efforts be of any lasting value," he explained.

Snow and silt fill spread on chewed-up roads one day disappears within a matter of hours, he continued, leaving the road in the same shape as it was previously.

Some roads have become so impassable, he said, that road commission vehicles have become stuck on them even while crews tried to make repairs.

The city this week acquired 50 tons of clinders for fill on the damaged roads.

City commissioners have called on the administration to erect every possible effort "to stem the invasion of mud, which already has been described as "the worst in at least ten years."

City Commissioner Robert A. Landry, investigating the seriousness of mud in his district on Pontiac's east side, found out personally how bad it was. His car became mired down and Landry was stranded 45 minutes until a wrecker pulled it out.

Firm Predicts Substantial Rise in Its Rates

Locals Will Vote Over Weekend on Two-Wage, Benefit Hike

JACKSON (AP) — A 39-day strike against Consumers Power Co. was settled tentatively today when company and Utility Workers Union officials reached agreement on contract issues.

A Consumer's spokesman said a marathon bargaining session which began more than three days ago ended early today in agreement and that the negotiators had agreed to sign a contract later today.

Some 5,300 Union members struck the firm March 1 to back up their new contract demands. The old contract had expired at midnight March 1.

"The settlement involves substantial increases in the company's operating costs which can be met only through the rates paid by our customers," said H. Stanley Richmond, vice president in charge of personnel for Consumers.

Members of Local 165 of the Union, covering about 570 members from Pontiac, Royal Oak and Plymouth, will meet Saturday at 1 p.m. at UAW Local 653 Hall, 386 E. Kennett Rd., J. C. Lane, local vice president, announced today.

Richmond said the offer provided for a two-year contract. Under it, he said, the first seven labor grades would get a wage increase of 10 cents an hour the first year and another 10 cents the second.

The remaining nine labor grades would get pay raises of 11 cents an hour the first year and an additional 10 cents an hour the second.

Richmond said the package also included increased fringe benefits.

One other major issue in the strike, that of job security, Richmond said:

"As to job security it has been agreed that an employee with five years or more of service who might be laid off because of a lack of work will have the privilege of replacing any employee who leaves service in his own division or region whose job he is qualified to fill."

Waterford Area Board Asking $400,000 More Than in Past Year

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night approved a proposed budget of $4,250,000 for the 1960-61 school year. This was an increase of approximately $400,000 over last year's school budget.

The 475 teachers in the school district will receive salary improvements totaling $78,000, and smaller increases have been included for administrative, clerical, engineering, maintenance, custodial and bus driving personnel.

Reason for the large increase in the overall budget, said Sept. William Shuck, is that it is anticipated there will be an increase of at least 600 pupils next year. Three additional schools will be in operation, he said. This will bring the total number of schools to 25 in the district.

The biggest item in the budget was $3,239,625 for instruction, which includes teachers' salaries, books and miscellaneous items. It is expected that the Waterford Township school district will receive $2,655,000 in state aid, and an additional $1,500,000 from local personal and property taxes, according to Shuck he said.

"Although taxpayers are paying 25 mills in school taxes, the tax payments have been on the same level for the last three years. This situation will remain the same with the exception of where an assessed valuation has been increased."

Within the last 10 years, township taxpayers have approved more than $12 million in school bond issues, plus $5 million in millage increases for school operation.

April Showers (Frozen Variety) Due for Weekend

Light showers changing to snow flurries are forecast for the Pontiac area tonight. And it will be colder, with a low of 30, the weatherman says.

A few snow flurries and quite cool temperatures are expected Saturday. Tomorrow's high will be in the low 40s.

One to two-tenths of an inch of snow flurries will hit the area tonight.

Morning winds southerly at five miles an hour will become northwesterly at 10 to 15 miles Saturday. Thirty-three was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 1 p.m. the thermometer reading was 38.

Rhapsody Composer, 8, Can't Understand Fuss

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight-year-old Kenneth Brown, whose "An Israeli Rhapsody" will be played for the first time Saturday by the Philadelphia Orchestra, can't understand why all the fuss over such a young composer's success.

Heck, he's been writing music since he was four years old. It's a simple thing to him and he can't understand why everybody can't be a composer.

"It comes easy to him," his mother, Vera Brown, explained today. "He can't understand himself that it's a gift."

How does Kenneth go about composing a song?

"He doesn't use a piano," said Mrs. Brown. "He just sits down and starts writing out notes. He says he pictures these things in his head."

"I asked him about 'An Israeli Rhapsody' and he said he had just pictured the country in his mind. I said but how can you when you've never been there and he insisted he could. Really, there is no explanation except he's gifted."

News Flashes

CHICAGO (AP) — A Brink's Inc. driver walked off with a bag of money today but was located in a saloon a little later, apparently before he could buy drinks for everyone in sight. When he left the truck with the bag containing between $10,000 and $15,000, he scribbled a note reading: "I'm going on a good drunk."

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons unanimously condemned the South African government's racial policies and voted today to make the subject an issue at next month's meeting of the Commonwealth prime ministers.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An intercontinental range Titan missile rumbled over the Atlantic today on the start of a 3,500-mile test flight. It appeared to splash normally.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Two big Negro political organizations that have spearheaded the fight against South Africa's white supremacy laws were banned by the government today for a year. A leader of one immediately voiced defiance.

Sees 6.7 Million Cars
PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Robert J. Eggert, marketing research manager of Ford Motor Co., predicts a total market of 6,700,000 autos this year. Eggert, after taking a look at first quarter sales, was boosting his estimate by 100,000 new passenger car sales.

"How do you know what notes to play?" he asked his older brother, Stephen. Stephen explained that Kenneth immediately grasped the basic fundamentals and that started him off.

Developers to Buy Plant in Gladstone

GLADSTONE, Mo.—The Roddis Plywood Corp. of Marshfield, Wis., has accepted the $35,000 offer of the new Gladstone Industrial Development Assn. for the Gladstone plant which Roddis bought from the Atlas Plywood Corp. six months ago.

The plant comprises 27 acres of site and 188,000 square feet of industrial building. The development association plans the creation of an industrial park for smaller industries and reports negotiations under way with several.

Nevada has about 400 acres for each resident.

Civil Rights Bill at Voting Stage
Senate Eyes Saturday Session, in No Mood for Further Gobs
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has moved its civil rights bill up to the voting stage, but a Southern senator said today "there's a good deal of speaking yet to be done."
Leaders talked of a Saturday session if the bill is not passed and sent back to the House today.
The Senate Thursday choked off any opportunity for further amendment of the measure, which has consumed eight weeks of debate and maneuvering.
Before doing so it adopted an amendment designed to meet Southern protests that the bill would give Negroes an advantage over white persons in registering to vote.
As the bill was drawn, federal judges could have authorized last-minute provisional registration of Negroes whose applications had not been acted on at election time. Southern protesters said that white persons must register at least 30 days in advance. The change permits provisional registration only of those found qualified under state law.
Several of the bill's Dixie foes said privately they probably won't wage a full-scale filibuster. They said they realize that a topheavy Senate majority is determined to pass the bill without much more delay and is in no mood to stand for any filibuster.
Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the majority leader, predicted there will be fewer than 30 votes against it when the 100-member Senate finally votes.

Morris Offering 4-Point Program
In Governor Race, He Promises to Fight Any Income Tax
KALAMAZOO (UPI)—Sen. Carlton Morris (R-Kalamazoo) kicked his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination to a four-point program before the home folks last night.
Morris, whose probable opponent will be unsuccessful 1956 GOP nominee Paul D. Bergwell, pledged a return of government to the people, opposition to a state income tax of any form, opposition to the JCC-League of Women Voters plan of election delegates to a constitutional convention and strict economy in government.
"Two years ago I said a state income tax would be passed only over my dead body," Morris told Kalamazoo young Republicans. "And I'm not in the cemetery yet."
He said he opposed electing delegates to a constitutional convention by both House and Senate districts because the heavily-populated areas would control the convention. Morris favors delegates elected only by senatorial districts.
Morris said he was opposed to the income tax because it is fluctuating and said this was bad for a fluctuating economy.

Would Set Up Federal-State Insurance Aid System for Aged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven Republican senators offered Thursday a bill to set up a system of federal-state aid for health insurance protection of persons over 65.

The measure follows along the lines of legislation Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming has been developing in the administration.

However, the GOP senators did not claim administration backing for their proposal. One of them told a reporter he believed the 400-million-dollar estimated annual federal cost would be beyond what President Eisenhower would accept.

Flemming testified before a Senate subcommittee Wednesday that his plan had not yet been accepted or rejected in the administration.

He said he could not promise his plan would be ready for consideration by Congress this year.

These are major points in the Republican senators' bill. It would be administered by state agencies which would have to be set up by legislative action in the states.

The state agencies would contract with private insurance firms to provide the coverage; if they could not do so, the states could furnish it themselves.

Every man over 65 and his wife would be permitted to subscribe.

The top rate would be $15 a month. If the subscriber had income of less than $500 a year, he would pay nothing. If his income were between $500 and $1,000 he would pay 50 cents a month, and on up on a graduated scale until the person with more than $3,600 income would have to pay the full $15.

For this coverage, the sponsors said insurance firms have estimated subscribers could get 60 days of hospital or nursing home care, surgery in or out of a hospital, medical care in a hospital, visits to a doctor's office with laboratory tests, diagnostic X-rays, specialist consultation, and visiting nurse service at home.

The federal and state governments would share the extra cost based on a formula taking into account each state's wealth; the federal percentage would run between a third and three-quarters.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY), leading sponsor of the measure, said health care legislation for aged persons "ranks as a major domestic issue in the United States."

Other sponsors said they were determined to offer their proposal as an offset to wide Democratic support for the Forand bill to set up health benefits for retired persons under the Social Security system.

Officials Worry About Capitol

Suit Is Started to Kill Zoning Rule Barring Commerce Nearby

LANSING (AP)—State officials are alarmed over a suit that could open the State Capitol area to commercial development.

The State Administrative Board has adopted a resolution advising the Legislature of "critical danger of encroachment" on the 22-block Capitol development area.

Lawmakers also were asked to approve an appropriation to continue the purchase of land planned as sites for state buildings.

Leo A. Farhat, Lansing attorney, is bringing the suit in Ingham County Circuit Court. He contends a 1944 zoning agreement banning commercial structures around the Capitol is all but the downtown area is illegal and unfair to local property owners.

Farhat represents two attorneys seeking a law office in the area. If he wins the suit, Farhat said, anything from a hot dog stand to a "honky tonk" could theoretically be built near the Capitol.

The administrative board asked the Legislature to take action through resolution or legislation to safeguard the area from commercial building.

A. N. Langhus, director of the state building division, said $1,136,945 has been spent by the state since 1943 to buy land in the area.

The state owns 11½ blocks of the 22-block area. Langhus said, 6½ blocks is in private ownership and the remainder is owned either by the City of Lansing, the federal government or churches.

First 'Working' Satellite Is U.S. Accomplishment

Two important features come to our mind as we read of the success of the recent "Tiro" satellite going into orbit around the earth. This spectacular performance differs from other space probes.

This 270 pound satellite has two distinct missions:

1. It is carrying out a peaceful purpose by helping weather forecasters.
2. It is not just exploratory; it is operational. It is going about its job routinely by transmitting photographs of our planet's cloud cover.

These two missions by our laboratory in space are important for the United States' welfare. It is something definite, and true value will be received.

It should also be noted that at this time the United States has in orbit around the earth, or elsewhere, at least three times as many satellites as Soviet Russia. The silence on this point from behind the Iron Curtain is almost deafening.

What a switch from all the hollering and whooping that went on back in October, 1957, when Sputnik I started orbiting. Russia won this propaganda victory, but for obvious reasons chooses to remain quiet today on the subject.

The last two and a half years have seen tremendous advances in space work and it is difficult to tell offhand how many satellites, American or Russian, are actually orbiting on their designated courses.

Most of us today accept these remarkable performances matter-of-factly. The people of the United States should tout their horns about the achievements of this country's space experts. They are doing a bang up job.

Before "Tiro" all the satellites put into orbit were merely for exploration. This one is working. We aren't discounting the usefulness of any of the others.

It would be perfectly reasonable to state that our country is the first to place in the skies a satellite which is actually working for mankind.

The words of Chairman LYNDON B. JOHNSON of the Senate Space Committee ring true when he said, "This is one of the most important steps we have taken toward peaceful uses of our outer space technology."

Congressional Wives' Lot Isn't That Dreary

Word drifts in that Congressional wives lead such barren lives in Washington. For some reason, we are inclined to doubt this.

Social life in the nation's Capital, we're always understood, is pretty hectic. This point is generally made by members of Congress when they feel it is time for another salary hike or increased expense accounts for themselves. In fact, all too frequently they cite the high cost of living in Washington.

Recent stories point out that Congress is about all set to give a choice, United States owned park site to the Congressional Club, composed of wives and daughters of Congressmen, to build a $350,000 club house on.

The idea for the club house strikes us as fine. However, Washington real estate men estimate the value of the land in question to be around half a million dollars.

In order to justify his bill to donate this land, Congressman Wayne N. Aspinall of Colorado explains that the wives have to give up so much at home. He points out that their social life is nil, and that this donation would help compensate for leaving their friends.

Supposedly the club house and grounds would give the wives a place to do charity work as well as for relaxation and recreation.

We feel sorry for them. But not to the tune of half a million bucks.

With reference to the off-beat statement, "Hard work never killed anybody," most of us have no desire to try to prove it in error.

It is alarming to see indications that common honesty is becoming uncommon.

Is the Closing Time for Baseball Contest Entries

April: Month for showers — some white as snow.

The early entries in our baseball contest indicate that no player is an outstanding favorite. The name of the batter with the most votes changes nearly every day.

The prize of $250 in U.S. savings bonds goes to the person submitting the nearest correct answer to:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Thursday, May 5, and what will be his batting average?

Every member of your family is eligible to compete, and it costs nothing to enter. Each entry must be on a separate piece of paper, but all may be enclosed in the same envelope.

All entries must be received in The Pontiac Press office by noon on Friday, April 15.

That's only one week from today. It's time to get busy, or you may forget it. You probably have a favorite player; and should be ready to give him a chance to win that prize for you. He's ready to do his best to bring it your way.

Do not fall him by forgetting to make your entry. Make it NOW, and then you can forget it, and know that you're in the game of good sport. Preconception is said to be the thief of time. It also may steal from you $250 in the best bonds in the world.

Spring is surely welcomed by the dog of Harrison Deleahy of Keego Harbor. He's now digging up the bones he buried last autumn, and which were beyond his reach when the ground was frozen.

By giving them a start in the kitchen, Mrs. Jane Helquist of Waterford, transplants her radishes outside and beats the gun on fresh burning. But she fears that she made the change too soon this spring.

What Are the Wild Waves Saying?

David Lawrence Reports on Letter:

Do Candidates Do as They Preach?

WASHINGTON—Do the various candidates who aspire to the presidency really practice what they preach?

This is a question raised by a reader who feels that, since free speech is being rather broadly interpreted nowadays by the Supreme Court, to include the distribution of anonymous handbills, a citizen has the right to direct a few anonymous queries to the candidates.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., comes these three questions:

"Do the children of the candidates invite playmates into their homes regardless of race, creed or color?"

"Do these candidates entertain Negroes in their homes at the same time and on the same level as their white friends?"

"In other words, do they practice what they preach?"

The letter then goes on to discuss the background against which the questions are asked:

"I want to be sure that my vote will not help put a man in office who is secretly dedicated to wrecking my way of life. I resent anyone trying to tell me the person or persons I should associate with just because the courts say he is my social equal. I have always been the judge of that, and I want to go on being the judge of it. I can not vote for anyone who says I am not."

"I am enclosing an article from one of our newspapers which refers to what 'civil rights' have brought to us in Michigan. I point to the case against some motel owners who have been declared by the office of the state attorney general to be 'in violation' of the state's 'civil rights' statutes."

Under this ruling, the State Tourists Council has notified the West Michigan Tourists and Resort Assn. that it will not distribute booklets of that association or its annual guide if they carry the listing of the persons who are accused of violating the statutes."

The Michigan reader's letter continues:

"My understanding is that the only 'crime' these people commit was circulating a letter with a Negro's picture on them, the same having been ordered before the state's 'civil rights' law was passed."

HAVE NO REDRESS

"We, too, own a motel, and according to our 'civil rights' law if a Negro comes in and we are full up and cannot give him room, he can go away and report us as having refused him. We can then be held 'in violation' without any complaint being lodged against us or without our even knowing that we have been reported. We would have no opportunity to present our side. The penalty is a $10,000 fine or one year in jail, or both. So, you see, we have no 'civil rights'."

"As you will note, the court has been asked to allow any interested parties to intervene, but I am sure none will. Public opinion is so much against us that no one dares raise his voice."

"We've always held our standards high in our motel. Yet now Negroes come in and they sit outside and shout back and forth, play ball or do anything to attract attention, while 'white people drive past without stopping, and then our motel stands half empty."

"So, you see, the problem is economic as well as social. Again I ask where are our 'civil rights'?"

"We are elderly people. We have put our life's savings in this motel. If we lose it because of racial trouble, we are too old to start over."

The foregoing is similar to many other letters that have been received in which people express the opinion that social customs are private customs and that every business should have the right to select its own customers.

Former President Harry Truman, commenting on the "sit-in" demonstrations, has a publicly stated that "if someone came into my store and tried to stop business, I'd throw him out."

Dr. William Brady Says:

To Cure Tetany Just Double Calcium, Vitamin D Intake

Last time I cracked a book on pediatrics, infantile tetany was said a mystery, though the author mumbled about calcium metabolism.

As for tetany in adults, and especially in elderly persons, medical authorities seem to shun away from it, but I'm no medical authority, so I say, tetany is a nutritional deficiency disease, due to inadequate daily intake of calcium and vitamin D.

To prevent tetany, just see to it that the daily intake of calcium and D meets the individual's requirement. To cure it, double the intake.

"Since reading your article about adult tetany in the paper, writes a Massachusetts reader, 'I have been taking calcium and D as a supplement to my diet, and for the first time in many years I have been free of painful and frequent twinges of tetany.'"

Since I started this eight months ago, the only recurrence of cramps was when I was away from home a few days and so neglected to take my calcium and D."

"I feel very grateful for your good advice." (Signed, C.M.E.)

Tetany must not be confused with tetanus (lockjaw). The characteristic manifestation of tetanus is spasms or cramp, very painful cramp, in muscles, most frequently in muscles of the hands and wrists in infants, leg or arm muscles in older children (sometimes called "growing pains"), and in calf or foot of older persons.

Many persons subject to tetany do not stretch when they awake in the morning, because they have found that this brings on the spasms.

Tetany is commonly not recognized when it occurs in a mature adult, simply because the medical textbook authors persist in associating it with infancy. So the most effective prophylaxis and treatment is not applied.

Again, I say that so-called "growing pains" are usually due to tetany. So are dull aches or vague pains in the legs of elderly persons, who, poor souls, are so easily persuaded to attribute their pains to "arthritis," "neuritis," "pneumitis," or the cold damp weather around.

The prophylaxis (prevention) of tetany, in infant, growing child, youth, or mature adult, is so simple and cheap, that only a few sufferers, like the Massachusetts correspondent, get the benefit of it.

Most of them just can't get through their thick skulls the fact that the prevention and relief of tetany is nutritional, not medicinal. Calcium and D is like meat and potatoes or bread and milk. You don't "try" 'em for a week or two and then discontinue them.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to tetanus, tetany, cramps, twinges, aches, pains, or stiffness, will be accepted by Dr. William Brady, 1000 E. 10th St., Grand Rapids, Mich. 49506. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope in return for literature.

(Copyright 1959)

Lucy's husband may feel that she is unduly rigid but that is partly due to his fault listed below. Lucy is like millions of other good wives and mothers, so study her complaint carefully. You husbands should follow her suggestions, for tetany becomes more congenial and affectionate when you remove this indirect cause for their frigidity.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE, CASE E-429: Lucy B., aged 28, is the mother of three young mothers.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I guess I am an introvert, for I worry a lot about money matters."

"My husband is an easy going extrovert who never frets about the future even when we have unpaid bills staring us in the face."

"He is sociable and popular with everybody but I can't say a penny. So what would become of us if he should be killed in an auto accident, for our 3 children aren't yet of school age?"

"I get so anxious on this point that I often scold him and am not as affectionate as he'd like, but don't I have justification for my frigidity?"

INSURANCE TRANQUILIZES

Yes, Lucy has some justification and her case shows one of the greatest benefits of adequate life insurance, namely, a more tranquil, affectionate wife!

Husbands, please take note! Your social security will not permit your wife to live at home and rear your brood of toddlers comfortably unless you meanwhile carry adequate life insurance.

'I'll Bow to Press Rules, but Don't Cut Lawrence'

Union Answers Earlier Letter

Old Dad wants a statement from the Union regarding the strike at Consumers Power Company.

When a group of men are on strike against a company which has refused for five weeks to show any sign of good faith bargaining, where the previous year's profit is in excess of $7 million dollars, where the company has several lawyers on its negotiating team, where the men have to sit idly by while some of plumbers, heating contractors, survey contractors, construction contractors, delivery contractors, company's personnel untrained for the job, police and some in some instances remaining loyal to the "Big Business," and everything else the labor movement has fought against for the last 10 years, we're sure our union is not weak. But if it is, it's from being sick of watching this scab work going on, not from being "small boys."

The officers of this local, from the start, have stated their position against any sabotage of any sort against the Company in any instance.

We know how many people outside our union are very sympathetic and many more are converting every day. Ask any body on a pension who had their gas or electric meters estimated in the last 31 days and received the bill, and you will see how they've ever had. Ask any person who has trouble with appliances and tried to get the free service that should be available. Part of the electric and gas bills are for the service. The public isn't getting this, but is referred to private contractors.

The understated and under-trained people, that the Company has stated in the press are maintaining "normal" service, public can't convince the people who have had to call heating contractors and plumbers to light their gas burners and pay for the service, that they are maintaining this "normal" service.

The Local Union's officers cannot condone any acts of sabotage, nor does it have knowledge of any. Executive Committee UMW, AFL-CIO

Recent Jury Trials Prompt Trials

If we have to have trials by jury, let's have professional juries that sit on all the trials and become experienced.

Will someone tell me why it takes 12 votes out of 12 to convict a murderer? The whole idea is preposterous.

Recent murder trials indicate a unanimous verdict is too much to ask. Why should Finch escape and compel taxpayers to do it all over again just because two pantywaists wilted? Isn't ten to two convincing enough for anyone?

INTERNAL REVENUE SAYS:

In computing your deductions for medicines and drugs, you may not include the cost of toothpaste, toiletries, cosmetics, etc. The requirements for deductibility are that they be legally obtained and generally recognized as medicines and drugs.

Adequate Insurance Cuts Worry

Lucy's husband may feel that she is unduly rigid but that is partly due to his fault listed below. Lucy is like millions of other good wives and mothers, so study her complaint carefully. You husbands should follow her suggestions, for tetany becomes more congenial and affectionate when you remove this indirect cause for their frigidity.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE, CASE E-429: Lucy B., aged 28, is the mother of three young mothers.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I guess I am an introvert, for I worry a lot about money matters."

"My husband is an easy going extrovert who never frets about the future even when we have unpaid bills staring us in the face."

"He is sociable and popular with everybody but I can't say a penny. So what would become of us if he should be killed in an auto accident, for our 3 children aren't yet of school age?"

"I get so anxious on this point that I often scold him and am not as affectionate as he'd like, but don't I have justification for my frigidity?"

INSURANCE TRANQUILIZES

Yes, Lucy has some justification and her case shows one of the greatest benefits of adequate life insurance, namely, a more tranquil, affectionate wife!

Husbands, please take note! Your social security will not permit your wife to live at home and rear your brood of toddlers comfortably unless you meanwhile carry adequate life insurance.

And one of the most efficient types is the "Family Income" policy.

It is almost as cheap as straight life insurance, yet it banishes anxiety far more in cases like Lucy's. For example, when I first married, I took out a $10,000 "Family Income" policy.

If I had been killed shortly thereafter, Mrs. Crane would have received one per cent of the face value of the policy each month ($100 monthly) for 20 years.

And then she'd also have received the full $10,000 benefit!

Since our family ultimately involved five youngsters, I also took out two more of these $10,000 policies, thus guaranteeing my wife a total of $300 per month, plus the full $30,000 at the end of the 20 year period.

If you breadwinners wish to show your breadwinning in a most helpful manner, just present your wife with a "Family Income" policy on your wedding day.

And certainly do so by the time you have a youngster on the way. Most workers nowadays can afford at least a $10,000 policy.

And it will add far more peace of mind to your wife, who often wonders you would protect the children's future and her own, tell you so last you mistake her anxiety for mere worry.

BE SMART

Smart husbands don't try to argue with a new wife when they could get a used car at a bargain and apply the difference on an adequate insurance policy.

Wives then are more affectionate too, for they don't fret as much about what might happen if your family increased in size.

Insurance policies are also a cushion in case you need a loan, for they then have a ready cash value, against which you can borrow.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and the fee to cover return postage. Send no money for the psychological charts and pamphlets.

5th Grade Test Bill Dies in Committee

LANSING — A bill to require a statewide examination of fifth graders lay in a committee graveyard today.

The House yesterday returned the Senate-approved measure to the education committee with the obvious intention of killing it.

Sen. Stanley Rostky (D-Detroit) proposed testing fifth grade pupils in reading, writing, arithmetic and other basic subjects in a program to screen out youngsters needing special help.

city and Bishop Gallagher Council 2569, Royal Oak.

The Rosary will be recited at 5 p.m. today at C.-J. Godhardt Funeral Home, Keego Harbor, with the body to be at the funeral home until 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

York said he believes Yates "has directed more big rocket launchings than perhaps anyone in the world."

One objective apparently will be to settle disagreements between the Navy and Air Force over what portions of test programs are carried out by the Navy's facility at Point Arguello and the USAF's big missile center at Vandenberg Air Force Base, close together on the California coast, they are both involved in operations of the Pacific ocean range.

Dow announces a major  automotive development

THE WORLD'S FIRST YEAR 'ROUND COOLING SYSTEM FLUID

Fill your radiator now with this scientific formulation which eliminates the need to add water in summer, antifreeze in winter. Totally new protection against rust, corrosion, freezing and overheating. One full fill protects your cooling system for 12 full months.

No More seasonal flushing and draining. No more seasonal need to add antifreeze, rust inhibitors or even ordinary water. DOWGARD ends these worries and inconveniences while giving your car the scientific protection it deserves!

DOWGARD cooling system fluid defeats your radiator's natural enemy—ordinary water—which attacks metal, causes rust, corrosion and clogging. No matter how carefully you lubricate, tune up and check transmission, brakes, tires and wheel balance, you can still be in trouble if rust and corrosion go unchecked in your radiator!

DOWGARD cooling system fluid stops this damage. Why? It is a blend of a completely new combination of protective chemicals and specially treated de-ionized water. This formulation can't rust or corrode for one full year's service. DOWGARD protects against freezing and overheating. Your cooling system is safe from 40°F. below to 240°F. above zero while DOWGARD is on duty.

Many years of careful research resulted in DOWGARD. Dow cooling system specialists have worked continually with major automotive and oil companies. In laboratories—one near Detroit, the world's car capital—they employed painstaking methods to develop the only coolant that gives a car complete protection.

Tests under tough, atypical driving conditions backed up the laboratory results with convincing proof that DOWGARD met the highest possible standards!

Protection and convenience are the principal features of DOWGARD, but research indicates that it also maintains better heat transfer which affects heater-defroster action and engine operation. Especially beneficial in all air-conditioned cars, DOWGARD is certain to strengthen any car's resale value.

Sold only through service dealers, DOWGARD gives you the equivalent of a sealed cooling system for one full year. The serviceman will drain out the sources of trouble, service the system and refill with the finest cooling system fluid in the world. Then he'll place a special blue cap on your radiator which shows the date when your cooling system should be serviced.

DOWGARD saves you money. Its cost depends on the cooling system capacity of your car. For most American cars the suggested installation cost ranges from $8 to $12. For some smaller cars, the cost would be as little as $4.50. Your service dealer will give you the exact price for your car. Remember that a premium fill of DOWGARD cooling system fluid gives complete protection for 12 months. You'll save in the long run. Get DOWGARD now and forget car problems that go with summer heat, variable autumn temperatures and winter cold!

Rely on your service dealer for year 'round protection with DOWGARD, symbolized by this cap

STORY OF THE PONY EXPRESS

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

The Pony Express began auspiciously, but only a month later it was nearly destroyed.

More than two-thirds of the so-called "suicide" route lay through hostile Indian country. Sioux, Cheyennes, Shoshones, Arapahoes all resented this intrusion of their lands. Riders had been instructed never to stop and fight but to rely on their swifter horses.

In May, 1860, however, the Palutes (or Pah-Utes) went on the warpath in Utah and Nevada, burning many stations and stealing stock. Riders arrived at stations only to find them demolished, leaving them no alternative but to go on to the next.

One of the most famous riders, "Pony Bob" Haslam, was forced to make a round trip of 380 miles in 36 continuous hours, carrying the mail nearly on schedule. For this he was awarded a bonus of $20.

Another time, Haslam came upon a party of 30 armed Palute warriors. He headed directly toward them at full speed, revolver in hand. Startled by this daring, the Indian leader made a peace signal and let him go through.

The Palute War knocked the Pony Express out of operation for a month and cost the lives of many good men. It was also a heavy financial blow. Replacement of stations and livestock cost $75,000.

Haslam's ride was exceeded by one other. At the age of 15, William Frederick Cody covered a regular 116-mile run through Wyoming, one of the most dangerous on the route. One time, he found his relay man had been killed, so he rode 76 miles to the next station. He immediately turned around with the return mail, covering a distance of 384 miles. Cody was later to become world famous as "Buffalo Bill."

Thief Steals $4,500 From Woman in Church

DETROIT (AP)—Mary Bugalski 70, knelt quietly at the communion rail in St. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Church Thursday, her purse at her feet.

The purse contained $4,500. Someone stole it as she received communion.

Mrs. Bugalski told police she received the money on an insurance policy following the death of a relative, last year. She said she carried the money with her since that time because she distrusted banks.

Price Lower, Tensile Strength Greater

Auto Men Look to Magnesium

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT—The auto industry is hoping magnesium will be the low cost staple of its weight-reducing program.

The automakers, encouraged by reduced appetites and greater popular appeal of cars using lightweight aluminum parts, have launched an intensive program seeking to cut more weight from future models by using magnesium.

Industry sources say manufacturers are investigating nearly every part of a car to see if magnesium can replace heavier metals now in use, including aluminum in some cases.

Officials of Dow Chemical Co., the major producer of magnesium in the United States, refused to talk about the developmental work going on in the auto industry.

But one official said: "We are very optimistic about the future of magnesium in automotive applications. One reason is that we now have an excellent magnesium die casting process."

Perhaps as important to the resurgence of magnesium interest in the auto industry as anything else, however, is a hush-hush three-year agreement between Dow and the automakers which allows the manufacturers to buy magnesium at cut-rate prices.

COST DOWN

Dow officials refused to even confirm that the price agreement existed but auto industry sources say it establishes the price of one promising magnesium alloy at 1.28 times the cost of aluminum with a special 2.5 cents per pound discount for development costs.

This puts the cost of magnesium to the automakers within five cents per pound of the cost of aluminum and the greater volume in a pound of magnesium offsets this difference.

Sources said development of a few parts for die-casting may be ready by the time the 1961 model cars are introduced but the greatest increase in magnesium on cars will come in the 1962 models. One source said

"I might be able to talk more freely about this whole program in a few more months."

The primary weight savings resulting from the use of magnesium would come in engine parts.

At least three makers are giving serious consideration to magnesium engines at this time, although none are expected to make the change in 1961 models.

The first major uses of magnesium are expected to be in gearshift components, oil and fuel pumps, transmission parts, brake shoes and trim parts.

GREATER ALLOY STRENGTH

Cost and brittleness have held back the use of magnesium in cars in the past. But the new price agreement eliminates much of the cost handicap and new alloys have greater tensile strength.

Volkswagen has used magnesium in its rear engine for some time in order to reduce the weight on the rear wheels of the car.

The auto industry, particularly Chrysler, was making substantial progress with magnesium until Dow, the only supplier at the time, jumped its price by two cents a pound in 1956.

Stung by what they considered an unwarranted increase, the automakers virtually eliminated the use of magnesium in cars. Chrysler's 1960 cars have no magnesium in them.

Leftist Rockefeller and Rightist Goldwater?

Governor Moving in Like a Candidate

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Any illusion that Vice President Nixon has perfectly clear sailing for the Republican nomination can now be shattered.

It was learned today that a top backer of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has approached conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater about his "availability" to become Rocky's running mate.

The most recent approach came within the past two weeks, since Nixon began to slip in the public opinion polls. The first overture to Goldwater from the Rockefeller camp was made 15 months ago, shortly after both men won dramatic victories in a largely Democratic year.

There is no denying that the New York governor and the Arizona senator would provide excellent geographical balance. Far more importantly, they would encompass both wings of the Republican party, since it is virtually impossible to find within GOP ranks two politicians who more heartily disagree in their political philosophy.

Goldwater is a right-winger, and proud of it. In fact, he insists that this is "true liberalism." Rockefeller is so far to the left of old-line Republicans that some of his critics claim he is "little better than a New Dealer."

Rockefeller took himself out of the presidential running a few months ago, after a sampling of delegates' strength throughout the nation convinced him that Nixon had the nomination in his pocket.

The vice president was then riding the crest of popularity, thanks to his expert handling of the difficult goodwill mission to Moscow. Not only was he topping Rockefeller in the public opinion polls, but all Democratic contenders as well.

It was no time to spread the devastating rumor, which scuttled the presidential hopes of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, that "he can't win." Nixon looked like a sure victor at the time.

Since then, he has begun to slip in some rating charts. This was inevitable, as Nixon himself knew, because he has fallen.

AP Photo/Tele. NEWS — Jeremy Fry, scheduled to be best man at the May 6 marriage of Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones, has indicated he will be unable to be a member of the wedding party for reasons of health. Fry, 35, was reported confined to bed at home with rheumatism, which he suffered last November.

Chill Will Greet Chou in India

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Indian people danced in the streets with joy in late 1956 and shrieked that "Indians and Chinese are brothers." They hung garlands of flowers on their visitors from the north.

The occasion was a visit by Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai and the warm glow of friendship produced by Chou's and Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's espousal of the "five principles of peaceful coexistence."

Chou arrives on April 10 for a week of talks with Nehru and the official reception will be cordial, formal, cool—perhaps even frosty. The reception by the Indian people may be openly hostile with anti-Communist demonstrations in the street.

Two things are responsible for the change—Poing's violent suppression of the anti-Communist uprising in Tibet and Indian charges that the Chinese have occupied and still hold—thousands of miles of Indian border territory.

The Indian people have not forgotten that Chinese Communist troops opened fire and killed Indian soldiers in those border incursions and still claim huge areas long considered Indian territory.

3 Sue Trailer Firm for Heater Deaths

DETROIT (UPI)—Three suits seeking a total of $1,275,000 damages were filed in Circuit Court Wednesday by the widows of men killed by fumes from a faulty heater.

Mrs. Rosalie Zakrzewski, 36; Mrs. Adeline G. Danilowicz, 35, and Mrs. Dorothy P. Macys, 37, charged the proprietors of C. T.'s Trailer Sales and Service failed to modify the heater which was installed in a trailer used by their husbands.

Joseph Zakrzewski, 36, Stanley Danilowicz, 35, and Frank Macys, 36, died last fall after spending a night in a trailer furnished with a heater made by the Thurm Engineering Co., Elkhart, Ind.

A total of 16 persons died of fumes from the Thurm heaters late last year. Most of them were deer hunters. State police issued special warnings to firms which had purchased the heaters when the first rash of deaths occurred.

Of all drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents, approximately 4 per cent are of the hit-run variety.

AP Photo/Tele. NEWS — Arthur Davis, who resigned two weeks ago as Muskegon County Sheriff, Thursday withdrew his resignation and said he is resuming his duties. The 50-year-old Davis said he is returning because of malicious rumors concerning his personal life. His doctor had advised him to give up the post for reasons of health, he said.

Love and Kisses Your Only Pay, Dear Housewives

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The housework your wives do, men, is on the house. No pay.

Judge Loran L. Lewis made this ruling Wednesday in dismissing a $5,670 suit brought by Sheard B. Davis against her husband Benjamin.

Mrs. Davis said her husband owed her the money under terms of an oral agreement by which she would be paid one dollar an hour.

Grand Rapids College Passes House by 27-1

LANSING (UPI)—A bill to create a state-supported, four-year college for the Grand Rapids area passed the House by a 27-1 vote Thursday.

The measure was returned to the House for consideration of Senate amendments.

Return to Age-Old Vocal Tradition

Catholics Now Participating in Mass

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International

For centuries, the Mass has been celebrated in most Catholic churches, by the priest performing certain rites while the congregation looked on and listened or prayed in silence.

Today, in hundreds of Catholic parishes across the nation, the ancient service has a new look. Laymen in the pews are no longer silent. They have become active participants in corporate worship.

The kind and degree of lay participation varies from one parish to another. A typical pattern calls for the congregation to sing one or two hymns, to recite in English several prayers formerly said in Latin by the priest, and to make some of the shorter Latin responses formerly made by the altar boy.

Another innovation found in many parishes is the provision of a narrator or lector, who leads the congregation in its prayers and responses, and who reads the Scripture lesson in English, while the priest reads it in Latin.

These changes were greatly desired by the late Pope Pius XII. They are based on instructions which he approved only a few weeks before his death.

Pius XII made clear that the liturgical reforms were intended to lead Catholic laymen from a passive to an active role not only in public worship, but in all aspects of religious life. "The laity," he said, "must be given a sense—not of 'belonging' to the church—but of BEING the church."

Even with the all-out backing of the Vatican, however, parish priests have not found it easy to bring their congregations around to the new ways. Lifetime habits are strong, and many devout Catholics tend to look with suspicion and disfavor upon any "tampering" with the Mass.

BIG EXPLANATION EFFORT

To overcome this inertia, Catholic bishops in several large dioceses have instituted intensive educational programs to explain the how and why of "lay participation."

It is stressed in these programs that the reforms are not really a new departure in Catholic worship. They are essentially a return to the most ancient traditions of the church.

In the early church, it was customary for the congregation to recite all prayers along with the priest.

The concentration of the ritual in the priest was a slow process that took place very slowly between the 8th and 12th centuries. It was furthered, no doubt, by the fact that the Mass was conducted predominantly in Latin, a language understood by fewer and fewer of the worshippers as the centuries passed.

In theory, the laity continued to "assist" at the service by uniting with the priest in silent prayer and devotion. Conscientious worshippers did practice this kind of "interior participation" by following the service in a prayer book or missal. But for many laymen, the opportunities for distraction and the temptation to "sit out the service" were very great.

Lansing Woman of Year Seeks Legislature Seat

LANSING (AP)—Lansing's 1960 Woman of the Year will be a candidate for the state Legislature. Mrs. Marie L. Hager, president and general manager of the C. G. Brenner Co. here, announced her candidacy for state representative from the Ingham County first district on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Hager, long active in local GOP circles, is a member of the Lansing Traffic Commission and was legislative chairman of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

She was cited as Woman of the Year by the Lansing State Journal for her leadership in a move to put more women in policy-making posts in local, state and national government.

REVVED UP—Not since the years before the horsepower race has the six cylinder engine enjoyed such popularity in American cars. Predictions are that 36 per cent of 1961 U.S. cars will be powered by a modern-day version of the economy "six." Newchart traces the fortunes of the "six." Data from Ward's Automotive.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wisconsin primary proved little or nothing, in the opinion of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"It didn't sound very decisive for anyone," the Republican governor said yesterday as he returned from a vacation in Venezuela. "I wouldn't draw any conclusions from it, I don't think any."

major trends can be drawn." However, he said, the heavy Democratic vote affirmed that "the Republicans are a minority party in terms of registration."

Plane With TV Set for 1961 6-State Teaching

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The "Flying Classroom," to be used in an educational program for six midwestern states, arrived here last night.

The four-engine DC6B is the first of two such aircraft which will serve in the midwest program on airborne television instruction, headquartered at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Beginning in February 1961, the aircraft will beam televised instructional courses to schools and colleges within a 300-mile wide circle covering parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin. About 13,000 schools and five million students are within the six-state telecast circle. The plane was flying nonstop from Ontario, Calif., where it was delivered by Slick Airways, Inc., to staff members of the MPATL.

FURY OVER FANNY — "Fanny the Flame," near-made 14-foot figure to hold the Olympic torch in front of the new Sports Palace at the 1960 Rome games, is attracting catcalls. Somehow, with her well-rounded tummy, curvy hips and lack of upper development, she seems out of proportion. Her bosom is a bust, detractors say. Sculptor Emilio Greco, who stands beside her, says the shoeing bra covers not even a hidden meaning.

Cuba Set to Kick Out Judges Who Think...

HAVANA (UPI)—Revolutionary Cuba appeared planning to "pack" its eight-man Supreme Court after bitter criticism of the nation's highest tribunal by a top government official.

Capt. Antonio Nunez-Jimenez, head of the National Institute of Agrarian Reform, Friday told a television audience that any laws on the statute books which interfered with the "advance of the revolution" must be voided or re-written.

Any judges whose verdicts were not in accord with revolutionary principles also must go, he indicated.

Exceptional importance was attached to the ex-university professor's remarks because of his status as administrative head of a government agency which has almost unlimited powers.

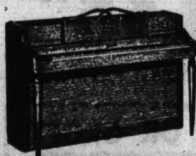

Editor, 91, Sells Paper Received as Wedding Gift

COMMERCIAL, Ga. (AP)—A 91-year-old editor has sold the newspaper he received as a wedding present 68 years ago.

John N. Holder conveyed the Jackson County Herald, a weekly, to a group of local businessmen. The blind newspaperman expected to continue his occasional column, which he dictates on a tape recorder.

His father bought the paper and presented it to him on his wedding day. Mrs. Holder died last year.

Central Juniors Set Prom Date

Committees Organize
May 7 Event; Theme
Is Illusion in Lavender

By BARBARA GRIFFIN
"Illusion in Lavender" is the theme of this year's Pontiac Central High School Junior Prom to be held May 7 in the Girls Gym. Supervising the various committees needed for a successful prom are Donna Douglas and Jackie Mullen, co-chairmen.

Kathy Calhoun is in charge of tickets. They are being sold for $1.50 in the ticket booth before and after school and during the three lunch hours.

Creating the "Illusion in Lavender" theme with decorations is the job of decorations chairman Loree Nounchuck. Darlene Woodhull and her publicity committee have been busy putting up posters advertising the event to all juniors. The music committee, under the direction of Juanita Graham, has engaged Jerry Libby's Band for the J-Hop.

BURY HEADS

Other busy committee heads working toward the May 7 deadline are Peggy Warren, refreshments; Dick Dorr, patrons; and Bob Aubert, cleanup.

The Pontiac Central chapter of Theta Psi, a national honorary drama society, has awarded partial scholarships to a summer workshop at Michigan State University to 13 members of Play-crafters and Thespians.

These junior and sophomore drama students will be attending the communicative arts session for high school students. They will study acting, directing, makeup and other skills necessary to good productions.

The 13 students to represent Central for either two or four weeks were chosen on the basis of interest and contribution in the Central dramatics department this year.

Students to attend the workshop are Jim Bank, Kay Gadsden, Deborah Wilkins, Nancy Walker, Judy Frevette and Mark Berg. Others will be Jim Baker, Janet Livingstone, Sue Constantine, Karen Kessing, Connie Crocker, Kay Cline and Peggy Warren.

Thespians, Judy Frevette and Peggy Warren were chosen recently to represent Pontiac Central at the National Thespian Society's annual convention in Indiana this summer.

BOWLING CONTEST

Fred Zittel's senior home-room and Dick Ayling's junior home-room challenged each other to a bowling contest Monday night. The losing home-room will treat the winners to a party. Five boys from Zittel's home-room bowled against the junior boys, and Ayling's girls rivaled the seniors.

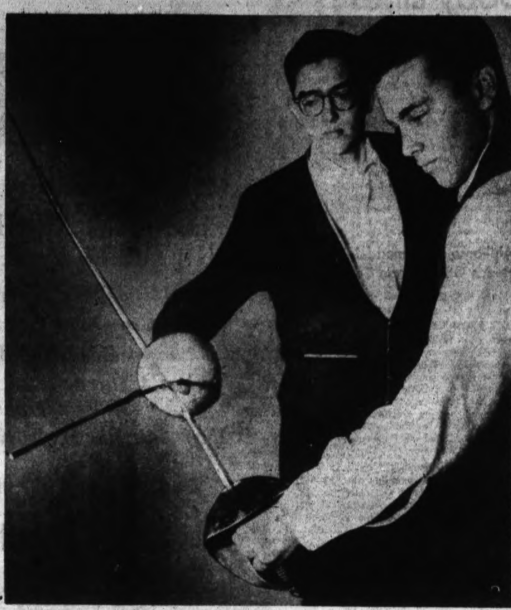

When the total number of pins was totaled after two games, Zittel's home-room had a 60-pin advantage and consequently will be treated by the losing juniors.

Winning bowlers from Zittel's home-room were Sue Beyer, Judy Kenney, Sheila Goldberg, Andrea Eas, Gary Bowes, Greg Ullian, Dick Goodwin, Bill Lincich and Steve Tien.

Donna Douglas, Connie Crocker, Barb Griffin, Janet Livingstone, Janice Huff, Bruce Nevell, Pete Blank and Art Bell represented Ayling's home-room.

Nellie Smith, Carolyn Anderson and Maryann Waring are delegates to the state meeting of the Future Homemakers of America at the Pontiac Hotel and Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids.

Chapter advisor is Mrs. Marjorie Harkness.

SWORDS RING — Swords will ring at 8 tonight when the Waterford Township High School curtain rises on "Cyrano de Bergerac." The romance-comedy-tragedy promises to be a real

The Night of January 16th

Clarkston Stages Drama

By JANET TISCH

"The Night of January 16th" is a live courtroom drama of suspense, comedy and excitement. The play is being presented by the Clarkston High School Junior Class tonight and tomorrow night in the high school gym.

Oxford High Represented at FHA Convention

By BEATRICE KRIG

Karen Kelly, Joyce Wood and Janet Radloff, along with regional reporter Nancy Radloff, have been Oxford High delegates to the 1960 state meeting of the Future Homemakers of America.

The conference, which began Wednesday, ends today at the Pontiac Hotel and Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids.

"About 1,500 delegates and advisors are attending the meeting," Nancy reports from Grand Rapids. "The theme of the session is 'F.H.A. for Our World Today.'"

"Delegates have been electing new officers, voting on revisions of the constitution, awarding scholarships, honorary memberships and state homemaker degrees of achievement."

"Joyce Wood and Karen Kelly are the voting delegates of the Oxford chapter. We are on the hostess committee of the state meeting, also."

Chapter advisor is Mrs. Marjorie Harkness.

As the curtain rises, Lee Pike, district attorney, and Ron Walters, defense attorney, are debating the issue of whether Karen Andre, played by Sally Moore, is guilty of murder in the first degree.

The play continues and many witnesses are called to testify, some of which include a private detective, played by Ron Jyleen; cleaning woman, Mary Robbins; policeman, Fred Warrick; "dancer," Gay Ann Huffman; and many others.

A jury chosen from the audience will consist of students in each grade.

SCHOLAR DIRECTS
The play is being directed by Eugene Scheller and his assistant, Linda Jean Chapman.

Many weeks of hard work and planning have gone into this production and it should prove to be one of the finest Clarkston High School has ever presented.

A group of Clarkston High School seniors rode in three buses to Michigan Central Railroad Station on Wednesday where they boarded B & O passenger cars bound for the Nation's Capital.

While in Washington, the students are staying at the Ambassador Hotel, where they are undoubtedly making use of the hotel's fine swimming pool. Planned tours will take the seniors to Arlington Cemetery, site of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

They will also tour Annapolis, the famed Naval Academy.

Each year for the past five years, this trophy has been awarded to a school in the Wayne-Oakland League which has shown outstanding sportsmanship during basketball and football seasons.

Clarkston High School receives this trophy for the third year.

"FOOLS DANCE"
"Fools Dance" was the theme of the Clarkston High Science and Varsity Club event held April 1 in the school cafeteria.

Two basketball games preceded the dance making the night a "triple attraction." The Men's faculty defeated the senior boys in one game and the junior girls defeated the freshman and sophomore girls in another game.

There was an error on our part in last week's paper regarding the medal winners of the Science Fair in the junior high and elementary division. The list should have read:

Junior High: Roger Beauchamp, communications; Teddy Hollis, demonstration of distillation, and David Densgate, phonograph.

Elementary Division: Linda McCracken, volcano erupts; Patricia Lewis, electrical car, and Mark Witherup, periscope.

Waterford's 'Cyrano' Takes Stage Tonight

By JOHN TEEUWISSEN

Ringing swords will herald the entrance of Cyrano de Bergerac at 8 tonight on the Waterford Township High School stage.

A second performance of the romance-comedy-tragedy will be presented tomorrow night.

Edmond Rostand's play, set in 17th century France, is the story of Cyrano and his love.

In love with the fair Roxane, Cyrano is afraid to approach her for fear that she will laugh at the large protruberance. Roxane, however, loves Christian and Cyrano pledges his wit, bravery and expert swordsmanship to helping Christian win his love.

Practice for the play has included not only coaching on acting, but numerous trips to fencing class for the swordsmen.

FEATURED PLAYERS

Featured in "Cyrano" are Sandy MacAbee, Clark LeFurgy, Mike Mansour, Ben Bayma and John Teeuwissen. Admission will be 60 cents with activities cards.

Waterford's annual Easter Assembly will take place next Wednesday under the sponsorship of the H-Y. Besides a featured speaker, the program will include numbers by Waterford's award winning A Cappella Choir.

Most students at Waterford High are looking forward to spring vacation. This year there will be six days off from school, Thursday through Tuesday.

A number of parties have been planned for the long weekend, but most students will either be taking the day off or spending their time preparing term papers for fast approaching deadlines.

Sooner or later everyone will see "Mama," the advertisement reads, and many of Waterford's students have attended the musical in Detroit.

A group of students from several English classes attended the performance last Saturday and GAA is also sponsoring a trip to see the production.

Government classes visited the state capitol this week. They attended sessions of the Legislature and talked with several of the state officials.

Northern High Begins Magazine Drive

By JEAN ISBELL

Pontiac Northern High School began its annual magazine drive with a kickoff assembly hosted by the amiable Joe Shields. Students were urged to sell their quota and thus be eligible for the multitude of prizes such as trophies, stuffed animals, wristwatches and cash.

Competition between home-rooms is keen. Members of Wallace Schloerke's home-room, B-1, have adopted the motto, "Be One and Buy One."

A friendly rivalry between Northern and Central has developed with Philip Wargella and Francis Staley, principals of Northern and Central, respectively, betting a pair of shoes on the outcome of the contest.

Northern hopes to reach a goal of $5,000 for total magazine sales. The Student Council, which is supervising the contest by the use of captains and co-captains in each home-room, will use the funds derived for a worthy cause.

The magazine campaign, which started Tuesday, is scheduled to end April 20.

JUNIOR PROM

Barbara Berryman and Ruth Benner are acting co-chairmen of the Junior Prom. In order to choose a theme for the dance, set a date and discuss money-making projects, a meeting of the entire junior class will be held after the Easter vacation.

Sue Anderson and Madeline McConnell, faculty members, are sponsoring the dance. Parents and other faculty members will be acting as patrons or chaperones.

Among the committee chairmen are Lynda Hogg, refreshments; Sandy Barrie, patrons; Shirley Parent and Carolyn Mills, decorations; Carolyn Davis, tickets and program; Tom Hill, music; Jan Sapelak, coat check; and Jerry Minevasser and Dennis Harbert, cleanup.

CANCER FILM
Dr. D. W. W. Oliphant, a physician from Lake Orion, came to Northern recently to speak to the third-hour American Problems class. He showed a film on smoking entitled "Cancer by the Cigarette" and stressed that the tobacco habit often leads to lung cancer. Following the movie, an informal discussion took place.

The following day, students in Wallace Schloerke and John MacVioletta's classes viewed the film "One in 20,000," dealing with the same subject, and featuring the removal of a lung.

An innovation took place recently in the social studies department. Schloerke, chairman of the department, talked to all students enrolled in U.S. History classes. The purpose of his address was to provide information about events leading up to World War I not supplied by text books.

Miss Jacobs has been giving her U.S. History classes an opportunity to hear most of the tunes popular during the World War I period. Ardelle Beckman brought a long playing record which featured such melodies as "My Riddle," "Over There" and "K-K-Katy."

Brigades of limping girls can be seen emerging painfully from Northern's gym. A modern dance course, being offered by gym teachers Madeline McConnell and Karen Violette, is the cause of stiff muscles for many girls.

The course features rigorous exercises and intricate rhythmic leaps which are called "techniques." Each student must perform a solo as well as a group dance.

Tickets for tonight's water show, "Datalinas in Newport," are on sale for $1 and may be purchased at the door tonight. The show, sponsored by teacher Madeline McConnell, represents the total of much hard work and planning. An evening replete with stimulating entertainment is promised to those who attend.

Students Cherish Science Fair Ribbons at St. Mike's

By BARBARA ARDELAN

Many students at St. Michael's were honored with red and blue ribbons for the exceptional quality of their exhibits at the Science Fair held last week in the school auditorium.

Winning blue ribbons for math and biology exhibits were Rodney Campbell, Stuart Bindhu, Jim Ferguson, Jim Harren, Anna Rita Massaccesi, Russell Greenlees and Bob Shindorf, whose exhibit was shown at the Detroit Science Fair this week.

Those receiving red ribbons in these categories were Sharon Saxon, Mike Petrusha, Mike Wygowski, Bruce Brown, Bob Linsenauer, Kathy Myrse and Regina Gibbons.

Others were Richard Stevens, John Schlicht, Charlie Daul, Tom

Chenhalls, Tom McDonald and Rita Clinton.

Winning blue ribbons for extraordinary physics and chemistry exhibits were Dave Baumgartner, Jean Cassaban, Russell Greenlees, Phil Goveia, Brad Maddox and Judy Miller.

RED RIBBONS
Winning red-ribbon winners were Pat Burns, Rita Halpin, Gary Sonnenberg, Tom Laing, George Drake, Bill Flanagan, Joe Heitjan and Pat Campbell.

Others were Ken Brown, Fred Lainger, Kathy Henricks, Sue Heiser, Linda Smith, Carol DeJager, Pat Donahue and Barb Gottschalk.

The high school math, chemistry and biology classes attended the Detroit Science Fair at the Light-Guard Armory this afternoon.

W. Bloomfield High '60 Class Honored

By SAILE ERWIN

The class of 1960 of West Bloomfield High School will be honored at a Junior-Senior Banquet at 7 p.m. today in the Elks Temple.

Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Chuck Richardson. The presentation of the gavel will be made by Don Cole, senior class president, to Sandra Kuyper, junior class president.

The gittatory and will be two highlights of the evening. Following the dinner and program, a dance will be held by the juniors to the latest hit records.

Northern Principal Back

Much interest has been shown by Northern students in the return of Principal Wargella from his two-month trip abroad. Northern's top administrator received a Fulbright Grant recently and returned from his studies in Europe last Friday night. He was met at the airport and photographed by two Northern students, Ruth Yarbrough and Carmen Gavette.

Tourist Council Needs Money—'an Investment'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has called for more money to promote Michigan's tourist industry. He said money spent to promote tourism is more an investment than an expenditure.

Williams spoke Wednesday at the annual tourist and resort institute on the Michigan State University campus.

He recalled that the Mackinac Island State Park Commission borrowed $50,000 a few years ago to restore old Fort Mackinac. An admission charge was set up for visitors of the historic site.

"The first year after completion of the work, receipts exceeded the cost," Williams said. "In 1958, there were 118,263 paid admissions and in 1959 this figure rose to 163,380."

Despite the success of such ventures, the governor said, the Legislature is on the point of giving the Michigan Tourist Council virtually the same appropriation (about $422,000) it received last year.

First expeditions reached the South Pole and the North Pole within a space of only two years.

Only Minor Changes Being Planned

Compacts Holding to Body Lines

By JACK VANDENBERG
DETROIT — American automakers, who pushed sales of their big cars for many years with "planned obsolescence," are abandoning the technique in the compact car field.

In planning for the 1961 models of the compact American cars, the American manufacturers have taken a leaf from the book of foreign carmakers who forced an economy trend in this country.

DUE FOR CHANGE

Only one of the compact car lines plans any extensive styling changes in its 1961 models. The lone exception is the Rambler American, a pioneer in the compact car field, which made only gradual year-to-year changes since its introduction and is about due for a major change.

The American will make important styling changes in its grille and roof line to make it look more like its big brother, the Rambler, which has more modern angular styling.

The Rambler made the biggest styling change of its lifetime this year and will make only minor changes in 1961 models.

The auto companies are not willing to talk about their plans for styling the 1961 compacts yet but industry sources who have seen advance work on them say the American is the only one with any great styling changes in the works.

Ford's highly successful Falcon will have some changes in its grille area but the basic styling of the rest of the car will remain virtually unchanged.

The most obvious change planned in Chrysler Corp.'s stylish Valiant at this time is elimination of the fake spare tire well in the rear trunk lid, sources say.

Aside from the American, the biggest changes are expected in Chevrolet's Corvair but these will not be changes for the sake of change alone as is done in "planned obsolescence."

JUST ROOF LINE

Sources say Chevrolet plans some changes in the Corvair roof line to accommodate inclusion of a rear engine, station wagon in the line next year. A higher roof is needed to allow adequate space in the rear of a rear-engine station wagon, they say.

One of the biggest factors in the success of the original American compact car, the Rambler, was the fact that it did not practice "planned obsolescence" and maintained competency in its styling from year to year.

This feature particularly appealed to the economy-minded car buyers because it increased the resale value of the Rambler. Even today used Ramblers sell at prices equal to or above those of cars whose original cost is higher.

Another factor is fairly consistent styling in economy type cars, however, is the fact that they sell in volumes which make it costly to make frequent changes in styling. "As the economy car market grows, the volume could pay for more frequent model changes but at present at least, the car manufacturers have decided to maintain fairly consistent styling from year to year in the compact lines."

Alphonse H. Aymond Jr.
Heads Gas Storage Co.

JACKSON (AP)—Alphonse H. Aymond Jr. was elected president of the Michigan Gas Storage Co. at a meeting of the board of directors.

He succeeds Dan E. Karn. The company is a subsidiary of Consumers Power Co. Karn is retiring April 30 as president of Consumers. Aymond, now an executive vice president, will become chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Consumers.

James H. Campbell, senior vice president of Consumers who will become president and chief operating officer of the parent company May 1, was elected a vice president of Michigan Gas Storage Co.

The storage company operates storage fields in which gas brought to Michigan from the South and Southwest in warm weather is stored for use in meeting the winter needs of Consumers Power gas customers.

Newly Created Togo Will Raise an Army

LOME, Togo (UPI)—The new African nation of Togo will raise an army with French backing to defend its borders after receiving independence April 27, Premier Sylvanus Olympio said today.

Neighboring Ghana has threatened to integrate Togo as its seventh region when the country becomes independent. London-educated Olympio discounted the border threat, but said defense was called for.

"We cannot be an independent nation without an army of some sort, although the army will not be big," he said. "We must start by replacing the French unit now stationed here."

Lakes Channels Need Dredging

Group Asks Congress for Cash to Deepen Seaway Harbors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Assn. called on Congress to approve a $31,423,400 appropriation for deepening Great Lakes harbors and connecting channels during the fiscal year which begins July 1.

"Time is of the essence in this matter," N. R. Danielian, association president, told a House appropriations subcommittee.

He said there is not one harbor in the lakes deep enough to handle ships loaded to the full St. Lawrence Seaway draft of 27 feet.

Unless they are deepened, he said, "it will not be possible for the great Middle West to derive the full advantages and benefits from the seaway and the connecting channels in which our country will have invested over a quarter of a billion dollars."

The money Danielian requested is included in President Eisenhower's budget. Congress last year, however, sliced the President's money request for each project 5 percent to make way for 67 new projects.

Thirty million dollars would be used to deepen and widen channels connecting the Great Lakes during the year beginning July 1. An additional $1,423,400 was requested for design and engineering costs at 10 Great Lakes harbors.

Danielian urged the subcommittee to approve this latter request on condition Congress authorizes the projects this year.

A bill before the Senate Public Works Committee would authorize these design and engineering funds:

Indiana Harbor, Ind., $26,000; Marquette, Mich., $10,000; Presque Isle, Mich., $9,100; Sandusky, Ohio, $4,500; Toledo, Ohio, $32,000; Trenton Channel, Mich., $230,000; Menominee, Mich., and Wis., $19,400; and Keweenaw, Wis., $2,100.

2 Power Commission Men Will Talk About Gas Rate 'Influence'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators will conduct an inquiry next Thursday into off-the-record contacts made by lawyer Thomas G. Corcoran to members of the Federal Power Commission (FPC) in a gas rate case.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Okla.) of the House Commerce Committee who made the announcement, said Corcoran would be asked to testify. Corcoran, a member of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "brain trust," was not available for comment. His office said he was out of town.

Harris said two of the three FPC commissioners contacted by Corcoran — Arthur Kline and William K. Connole — already have accepted invitations to testify. The other commissioner contacted was FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall.

Kuykendall testified March 23 that Corcoran got in touch with him privately last fall about a rate case involving Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., a Corcoran client, and its subsidiary, Midwestern Gas Transmission Co.

Kuykendall, as well as Commissioners Kline and Connole, said their conversations with Corcoran had no effect on their ultimate decision in the case. Some industry sources regarded the decision as favorable to Corcoran's client. Kuykendall's testimony led to a demand by Rep. John D. Dingell Jr. (D-Mich.), a committee member, for a "thorough and searching" investigation into FPC operations. He said Congress could not afford to ignore the situation.

Granny Benedict Gives Up Fight

Quoted as Washing Her Hands of Gamble and Andre at Last

NEW YORK (AP) — Runaway heiress Gamble Benedict Forum-beau's 75-year-old grandmother apparently won't attempt to have her North Carolina marriage to ex-chef Andre Forumbeau annulled.

A source close to the family quoted 75-year-old Katherine Geddes Benedict as saying Thursday: "I wash my hands of them. I want nothing further to do with them or their escapades."

Mrs. Benedict, Gamble's multi-millionaire guardian, had fought hard and long to break up the romance between the girl and her Romanian-born sweetheart. The grandmother pulled the strings last Christmas season in getting Gamble back from Paris where she had skipped with Forumbeau — then married. Court orders were issued here to keep them apart.

But the 35-year-old Forumbeau recently got a Mexican divorce and he and Gamble, 19, were married Wednesday near Hendersonville, N.C. They are now honeymooning at an undisclosed spot.

DEAR ABBY: As I sit here in the County Jail waiting to be transferred to the State Prison for a $500 fine and a $1000 charge, I am terribly troubled.
You see, Miss Abby, I must leave my 17-year-old sister behind and she will be all alone because we have no ABBY.
My young sister is also addicted to the drug and I know that when I go to prison she will have to get money for the habit and when you need money for the habit you do anything to get it. Please advise me what to do. Thank you.
Sincerely yours, W.F.

DEAR W.F.: Tell the sheriff that you must talk to a clergyman. Then tell the clergyman your story. He will arrange for treatment to cure your sister of the drug habit. He will also offer her spiritual guidance to help her to a life of peace. Bless you, and your sister. And good night.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and my boyfriend is 19. He is as sweet and thoughtful as a boy can be. He is the greatest as far as personality goes. The only thing wrong with him is that he leaves me home every Saturday night.

I guess it may sound strange to you, but he dates me every Friday night and Sunday night, but Saturday night is his night with the guys. No girls, but that doesn't help me. How can I make him see that I want to go out on Saturday night without sounding like an ungrateful girl?

DEAR BEV: If you don't want to sound like a "ungrateful girl"—stop acting like one. Keep your lip stuck or you'll be staying home every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my boss' wife (I am his new secretary) sent me one of her potato plants. My boss is very proud of his wife's "green thumb."

I am not very handy with plants, and to be perfectly honest, I didn't pay much attention to it, so it died. Well, what does anybody do with a dead plant like that?

His wife came to the office yesterday and said she wanted to see how the plant was doing. Personally, I think she came to ask me about it. Instead of telling her the plant died, I lied to her and told her I had taken it home.

Now she tells me it would be nice if I'd bring the plant back to the office in case his wife drops in again to see it. What do I do now?

DEAR TRAPPED: I have a 12-year-old daughter. I have told her the plant died. I have told her the plant died. I have told her the plant died.

DEAR ABBY: The people in the apartment next to ours have a 12-year-old daughter. She comes home right after school but she saves up all her plans practicing until 9:30 and 10 o'clock at night. Then she bangs on the piano for an hour straight.

We sometimes like to go to sleep at 9:30 or 10 because my husband isn't too well, but the noise keeps us up.

I have hinted to the mother several times, but she hasn't taken the hint. We're not the kind of folks who fight with our neighbors. Should I talk to the girl herself? Or should I drop the landlord a note?

DEAR DISTURBED: Just come right out and tell the girl's mother what is on your mind. If that doesn't work, ask the landlord to speak to the family. That might strike a responsive chord!

The C. W. Olivers of Waterford Township announce the engagement of their daughter Nancy Ruth to Gary Franklin Nugent, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Nugent of Alpena and William Nugent of Long Beach, Calif. The couple attends Michigan State University.

For 'Michigan Mother' Title

13 Vie in State Contest

Thirteen women throughout the state have been nominated for the title Michigan Mother, in connection with the American Mothers Committee's nationwide search for the American Mother of the Year.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will proclaim the week of April 17-April 23 as Michigan Mothers Week.

Michigan's Mother of 1960 will vie with nominees from all the other states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico for the coveted title.

Announcement of the 1960 American Mother will be made May 3, opening day of the annual Mothers Conference at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York. The conference will run through May 6.

According to Mrs. Charles Kuhn of North Lake Angeles road, Michigan chairman of the committee, the objectives of the group are: "... To develop and strengthen the moral and spiritual foundations of the American home; to give the observance of National Mother's Day a spiritual quality highlighting ideal motherhood and the importance of the career of motherhood."

Oakland County nominees are Mrs. Myrtle T. Cline of Royal Oak and Mrs. Sidney Hill of Ferndale.

Mrs. Jane Pritchard of Detroit, American Mother of the Year in 1956, was the first Michigan mother to receive the national honor.

Closing event of the New York conference will be a luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria's Grand Ballroom at which time the winner and all State Mothers will be honored individually.

Correct Sweaters

(NEA) — Full-fashioned sweaters are knit, rather than sewn, under arms, at shoulders and neck. These cost a bit more, fit better than the usual cut and sewn sweaters.

Winners of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicals' All-State Interlochen scholarships look over the National Music

Camp's brochure. They are Pamela Griffin of Ogema road and Larry Reynolds of North Johnson street.

Tuesday Unit Awaits Artists

Mezzo soprano Muriel Greenspan, winner of the 1960 Detroit Grand Opera-Grimm Scholarship award, will be guest artist at Pontiac Tuesday Musicals' meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

Accompanying her will be Irvin Gage of the University of Michigan School of Music.

A pupil of former opera star Chase Borromeo, Miss Greenspan is a graduate student at the university. She has appeared professionally in summer stock in Flint and Detroit and has been in many university operas.

Miss Greenspan was heard earlier this season with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra under Paul Paray in a concert version of "Carmen."

Next year, she will study in New York, with her $2,500 award.

menza di Tito") by Mozart. El Amor Puro by De Falla. MURIEL GREENSPAN. Berceuse, Opus 57 by Chopin. Ballade in G Minor, Opus 23 No. 1 by Chopin.

Der Erlkonig by Schubert. MURIEL GREENSPAN

Announcement has been made of Tuesday Musicals' visit to a house guest, should Members of Junior Clubs who have auditioned successfully, they are Pamela Griffin, pianist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Griffin of Ogema road and Larry Reynolds, vocalist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Reynolds of North Johnson street. They will attend All-State sessions at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Education Group Hosts County Historical Unit

Oakland County Historical Foundation board members were special guests of Pontiac Branch, Assn. for Childhood Education, at Historical Night Wednesday in LeBaron School.

J. L. VanWagoner narrated slides showing the city's growth from a village to its present status. Of special interest was a view of the first courthouse and an explanation of the taxpayers' concern over the $30,000 bond issue voted for construction of the present courthouse at Huron and North Saginaw streets.

Recalled also was the late President Howard Taft's visit at the Hodge House, reputed to be one of the finest hotels west of Buffalo. Now known as the Chapman Hotel, it is one of the last of early mid-century hotels still in operation.

Margaret Harth presented songs from recent Broadway productions.

Appointed as delegates to the International ACE conference April 18-21 in Cleveland were Margaret Wilmet, Barbara Borgan, Ophelia Harmon and Cleo Wiley.

Among the guests were Mrs. Harry Goin, Dr. Sarah Van-Hoising Jones, Mrs. Allan Moore, Emma Howard, Adah Shelby, Dr. and Mrs. William Gordon, former Judge Frank L. Doty, Mrs. L. L. Dunlap, Richard Poole, Mrs. Wendell Green, Mrs. Van Wagener and Mrs. Irma Johnson.

Mrs. G. E. Miller and Mrs. C. W. Miller served on the hospitality committee. In charge of refreshments were Mrs. Daniel Peterson, Mrs. Marion Holmes, Mrs. William Koggenhoff, Mrs. Leo Perkins and Mrs. Waring.

Mrs. H. E. Miller and Mrs. C. W. Miller served on the hospitality committee. In charge of refreshments were Mrs. Daniel Peterson, Mrs. Marion Holmes, Mrs. William Koggenhoff, Mrs. Leo Perkins and Mrs. Waring.

Arrangements for the evening were completed by Mrs. Marvin Andrews, Mrs. David Zavis, Mrs. C. W. Salton, Faye Davis, Marilyn Kaestner and several Eastern colleges.

Mrs. Albert Rogers and her daughters Martha and Catherine flew from their home in Boulder, Colo., for a two-week visit with Mrs. Rogers' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Noland, Needless to say the little girls are enriched with their first acquaintance with their year-old cousin Tommy Noland.

By EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: Yesterday I went into our neighborhood supermarket and bought a container of milk and a loaf of bread. When I got to the check-out counter, I noticed that most of the people had very large orders.

As I was in rather a hurry, I asked the woman ahead of me if I could go before her as I had only two items and it would take but a minute to check out. She turned and in a loud clear voice, "No, you cannot go ahead of me. You just wait your turn like everyone else." Everyone turned and looked and I was so embarrassed I could have fallen through the floor.

I have often asked to do this, and the person ahead has readily complied. Don't you think she was very discourteous, or was I wrong in asking if I might go ahead of her?

Answer: As she did not offer to let you go ahead of her, you should not have asked to do so. This does not, however, excuse her unnecessarily rude and loud refusal.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to remove olive pits, fish bones and other unseemly items from the mouth at the dinner table?

Answer: Fish bones or a bit of gristle are taken between finger and thumb and removed between compressed lips. Olive or cherry pits or grape seeds must be eaten quite bare and clean in the mouth and dropped into the cupped hand to be to the lips, and then into the plate.

Dear Mrs. Post: After returning home from a 10-day visit to a house guest, should I write a thank-you letter to each of those friends of my hostesses whose houses I was invited to for a meal?

Answer: If you were invited only once to go with your hosts, no thank-you note is necessary, or expected. But if any party was given, especially for you, then you should of course write a letter of appreciation.

Hills Travelers Arrive Home Daily

By RUTH SAUNDERS
BLOOMFIELD HILLS—"Apple Tower" was the setting for the unique birthday party of the Hills Travelers.

Mostly the 40 guests portrayed famous paintings.

Easter visitors began to arrive this week and lingering Southern travelers are returning to their homes almost daily. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore O. Fluffy Pineapple Whip Light Springtime Treat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Spring calls for light desserts like this Pineapple Whip. It is inexpensive to make because it uses whipped evaporated milk instead of whipped cream. You could use the powdered dessert topping if you like.

Mrs. John Carroll is today's cook. She likes to travel, camp and fish with her husband. A granddaughter is a frequent source of joy to her.

PINEAPPLE WHIP
By Mrs. John Carroll
1½ packages lemon gelatin
1 can (16 oz.) crushed pineapple

Drained
1 can pineapple juice
1 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 cup evaporated milk
Chilled 1 hour. 1 serving

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add pineapple, sugar and pineapple juice.

Line the bottom of an 8x8x1 pan with crushed graham crackers. Add a teaspoon of lemon juice to milk and whip until stiff. Fold in pineapple mixture.

Pour into crumb lined pan and sprinkle more crumbs on top when mixture is almost set. May press cherries or nuts into dessert at this time also. Chill thoroughly. Serves 8.

Retailing Is Glamorous Job Today

Positions Open to the Qualified With Top Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Do you enjoy competition, like people, and use your imagination, initiative and resourcefulness? If so, retailing may be the career for you.

Retailing, the second largest industry in the country, employed an average of more than eight million persons in 1958, reported Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, assistant to the Secretary of Labor. Many of these persons are women.

BIG SALARY

In department and specialty stores, about a tenth of the merchandise managers are women, who can earn as much as $20,000 a year.

There are positions open for women as buyers or department heads, assistant buyers, central buyers, and room buyers. Fashion coordinators or stylists, often considered to hold the most glamorous job in retailing, frequently earn more than $10,000 a year.

OTHER JOBS

Other opportunities include advertising, sales promotion, publicity, personnel work, and positions as sales managers in branch stores.

Girls interested in retailing should plan to complete high school and, if possible, college. A liberal arts program is recommended. Special training can be obtained in high school in marketing courses. Universities often have schools of retailing.

College graduates can enter the field through executive training programs conducted by department and specialty stores.

Further information on retailing is contained in a booklet, "Careers for Women in Retailing," prepared by the Department of Labor's Women's Bureau.

Literary Group Meets

The Woman's Literary Club met this week at the Berwick street home of Mrs. Don Green.

Richard C. Poole spoke of the early history of Michigan and Pontiac's role in the times. Plans were made to attend the May 8 Oakland County Federation meeting in Royal Oak. An explanation of the reading course recommended by the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs was given by Mrs. Harry Vernon.

Contributions were made to the Oakland County Michigan Indian Scholarship project, to the General Federation of Women's Clubs CARE kit to Vietnam and to the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs Nursing Scholarship.

Assisting Mrs. Green as hostesses at the Monday afternoon meeting were Mrs. Ma-belle Wilson and Mrs. Robert McNeil. Mrs. Helen Weber presided at the tea table.

Europeans Like U.S. Ready-to-Wear Idea

Designer Urges End to Paris Myth

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
It's high time American women stopped being intimidated by European fashion moguls and stood on their own beautifully shod two feet.

It's high time to end the long-standing legend that anything is good, just so long as it's imported.
It's time American designers ended the myth of Paris super-macy, and dared to wear their own laurels with pride.

The fact is American fashions, manners and way of life are setting the pace for the world, says
Leonard Fischer, a young fashion designer who cut his teeth in New York's Seventh Avenue and now is trying to help the Italian ready-to-wear business get on its feet.
Back for a brother after designing his first line of foreign fashions for a wholesale dress manufacturer in Italy, Fischer observes:

"European girls all want to look like Americans. They want to dress the same way, use the same kind of make-up, have the same kind of jobs and develop the same carefree pulse. They see American tourists all over Europe these days, in always greater numbers, and they're determined to achieve the American look.

"They see our beautifully dressed and groomed American women sight-seeing around Italy and France, and they admire everything about them. One of their greatest desires is to have access to the same kind of smart, well-fitting and moderately-priced clothes that Americans take as a matter of course."

Fischer started his new Italian assignment under a large handicap. There is no standard sizing for Italian ready-to-wear, he ex-ments of Italian women. Their figures are entirely different from Americans.

"They have natural hourglass figures, with the hip-curve starting right at the waistline. And there's little restraint from the available foundation garments there. Elastic is scarce and girdles and bras are ill-fitting."

Up to now there has been practically no ready-to-wear business in Italy, says Fischer, and the enterprise is relatively new in France. European women are accustomed to buying couture clothes if they can afford it and either making their own or hiring a dressmaker if they can't.

"There's a new generation of career girls in Italy, however," he says. "There are the ones who want the luxury of buying ready-made clothes."

"And they are the ones who will be our best customers. They earn salaries comparable to those in America, they have their own jobs and apartments in the cities, and they want to live like Americans."

So the fashion tide is turning, and Fischer believes that in the future more and more European manufacturers will be soliciting the help of American designers to launch a new era of ready-to-wear — giving girls across the sea a chance to achieve that greatly desired American look.

He Wants to Help Out Homeless Teeners

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (U.S.)—Homeless adolescents are one of society's peculiar problems, and Norman Herstein wants to give them a home.

He has a program planned that would enable groups of eight teenagers to live in a home under the care and protection of a house mother.

"We want to get it going by next summer," he says. "Our plan of care for these children would enable them to care for themselves."

"They are from family court problems in which the parents are unable to care for them, after they have broken up marriages."

Herstein, director of a home program of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, says adults hesitate to take adolescents into their homes.

"They are at a stage where they are rebelling. So what we want to do is develop other kinds of resources and make use of community facilities. It would be a sort of 'half-way house'—a combination of a resident and treatment center," he says.

Many of them are graduates of children's institutions and have nowhere to go. Other institutions are closed to them.

It would take a special kind of mother to handle them. Some of the kids have trouble adjusting to school and getting along with kids or grownups.

The children would be housed and fed in the home while they attend high school or vocational school.

The aim is to help them develop into good neighbors, achieve socially acceptable manners, develop good standards of conduct and become wage earners, citizens and parents.

So far, Herstein's program is without a home. Financing the project will require public contributions unless someone donates a home as a gift.

Newlywed Smiths Live in E. Lansing

At home in Spartan Village, East Lansing, are Mr. and Mrs. Kent Waldron Smith (Gerdie Elizabeth Kyhlberg) who were married recently in St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham.

The bride is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Titus Wickstrom of Stockholm, Sweden. The bridegroom, son of the C. Radcliff Smiths of Birmingham, is the grandson of the late Tracy Scott Smith of Pontiac.

Mr. Smith, who has been studying architecture at Tulane University, will receive his degree in urban planning from Michigan State University in June.

Opti-Mrs. Club Meets

The Opti-Mrs. Club members met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Debie Wilson of Dick avenue. Mrs. Leo Metz assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Edward Williams, professor of English literature in the children's field, spoke on the "Green and Pleasant Land of Books."

New officers to be installed May 4 at Fox and Hounds Inn will be: Mrs. Roland Smith, president; Mrs. Orrin Hutton, first vice president; Mrs. Raymond Beach, second vice president; Mrs. Julian Galan, secretary and Mrs. Robert Bradley, treasurer. Betty Anderson of Cadillac was a guest at the meeting.

She stressed the enjoyment derived from reading and told why great books never diminish in stature. Three stories presented were based on folklore, fantasy and legend.

Exercise is a great help in bringing the measurements into ratio. When you trim your hips with exercise your bust will appear to be larger.

Exercise Needed in This Case

Her Hips Still Are a Bust

Q. "I cannot decide to diet even though I am about 30 pounds overweight, because for the first time I have a nice bustline. It seems that practically all of my weight is in my lower hipline."

A. Of course, with as much as 30 pounds to lose, you will have to diet. However, if you do not cut calories too drastically and reduce slowly, taking special slimming exercises daily, I think you will remain in good proportion although your bust will become smaller. Nevertheless, exercise is a great help in bringing the measurements into ratio. When your hips are slimmer your bust will appear to be larger.

Q. "I don't feel that I could ask anyone else this. I am 16 years old and fair about a week before my periods my breasts become twice their size and are so sore that I could scream. Is this normal? I am afraid that there is really something wrong with me. I wish you would give me an answer in your column because I am so worried."

A. Most women notice that their breasts become larger and are tender for a few days before their periods. This is normal. However, your condition is as extreme as you indicate I suggest that you see your family physician. I feel sure that there is nothing serious but he can give you any medication he feels you need.

Q. "No deodorant seems to check perspiration, just the odor. I perspire very freely even in fairly cool weather. What can I do?"

A. There are different types for underarm use. Be sure that you

Church Group Has Luncheon

A luncheon at the Franklin road home of Mrs. Arno Hulet preceded the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Mayflower Group of the First Congregational Church.

Program chairman Mrs. Hulet introduced Mrs. George Gashen who spoke on "An Easter Thought."

Guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Malcolm Burton, and Mrs. John Salaman.

The group will meet May 12 at the home of Mrs. Dexter Craig.

State Bench Scheduled to Hear Racing Issue Today

High Court Has Shelby Track Case

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Litigation involving the proposed establishment of an auto race track on the Curtis-Wright Corp. property here is scheduled for hearing in the State Supreme Court today.

A group of Shelby Township home owners initiated the court action in January 1959 seeking to block construction and operation of the big-time track at the former Packard Proving Grounds.

The home owners have charged that the township acted illegally in rezoning the Curtis-Wright property to permit racing.

They also contend that the proposed track would create a nuisance because of noise, vibrations, crowds, litter, dust and traffic.

In addition, they have charged that it would cause an increase in taxation and depreciate property values.

Shortly after the suit was filed, Curtis-Wright entered the action as a "party defendant" with the township. The case subsequently was dismissed July 23 by Macomb Circuit Judge Howard R. Carroll.

The judge then refused to enjoin the township from leasing the permits needed by the company to proceed with construction. Before the bill of complaint was filed, company officials had announced that the proposed track would be designed for major, sanctioned national and international races of Indianapolis "300"-type cars.

There already is a 2 1/2-mile oval on the 65-acre tract. The company planned to construct permanent bleachers to seat 20,000 spectators, temporary bleachers for 20,000 more, comfort stations and a track inside the larger oval for sports and stock car races.

The ordinance, under which the track would operate if the township's action is amended, would limit races to six a year. It also would prohibit night racing, bettor, motorcycle and mid-gate car races, Curtis-Wright officials said.

They contend that the track is located on a site which has been used for 30 years by their company and its predecessor, Studebaker-Packard Corp. for "high speed operation and testing of autos."

Company spokesmen say that the township's action in amending the ordinance to permit the track resulted from "careful planning and preparation."

While the case has been in the courts, Curtis-Wright has been actively tabling its plans for the track located on a site which has been

Says U.S. Moons Top Russia's

SOUTHFIELD — United States satellites are superior to Russian moons, a Southfield mathematician said yesterday at a Michigan State University Computer Laboratory Seminar in East Lansing.

Donald J. Ritchie of 28333 Red Leaf Lane, supervisory mathematician at Bendix Research Laboratories Division in Southfield, said the latest U.S. satellite has features no Russian satellite has.

He explained that this country's television taping process is far ahead of anything Russia has been able to develop, permitting a better process of taping pictures of cloud formations for later transmission to be used for weather information.

Garden Consultant to Talk in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Alice Wessell Burlingame, dirt garden consultant and lecturer, will speak at Tuesday's meeting of the Rochester branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn. at 2:30 p.m. in the Avon Public Library. Mrs. Burlingame's topic will be new developments in the plant realm.

Her informal discussion will include developments in horticulture which are related to the local branch's garden program. Horticultural therapy will be explained and suggestions given for its use in the community.

$1.6 Million to Be Spent Modernizing M38

LANSING — The State Highway Department has announced it will begin a $1,600,000 modernization job on M38 in Tuscola, LaPeere and Sanilac counties this summer, prior to turning the highway over to county jurisdiction.

The 40-mile highway will be rebuilt from the Saginaw-Tuscola line east to Marlette. The counties and municipalities affected by the project have agreed to be responsible for the highway if it is resurfaced, and drainage and grading work is done.

HONOR 50TH STATE—Fourth grade pupils at Elmwood School in Avon Township presented a program on Hawaii yesterday afternoon. It featured stories, legends, songs and dances about the 50th state. Shown here with the two large cakes baked and decorated especially for the occasion are Mrs. Kenneth E. Evans and Mrs. Kenneth J. Supernault, from left, John Fowler, 10; the two mothers who baked the cakes; and Bob Dobson, 11. The two fourth graders at the school combined to present the program to which families of the pupils were invited to attend.

Mayor to Get Shelby Opinions

Questionnaire to Show How Subdivision Feels on Annexation to Utica

UTICA — A questionnaire circulated to determine public opinion among members of the Shelby Manor Homeowners Assn. on their proposed annexation to Utica was turned over to Mayor Edward R. Church within the next few days.

Shelby Manor is one of the subdivisions included in the mayor's plan to expand Utica to cover eight square miles and include 10,000 residents.

The homeowners unit sponsored the recent public hearing on the plan.

Mayor Church favors annexation of Shelby subdivisions between Hall road and 21-Mile road and has offered city sewer and water facilities as inducements.

The total area being considered for annexation includes Dresden Village, Grant Park, and National Machine Products Co. on Utica Road besides Shelby Manor subdivision. These are in sections of both Shelby and Sterling townships.

Excluded is the proposed City of Moravian Hills.

Mediowile Shelby and Sterling townships officials have agreed that the problem of expansion is all Utica's.

According to them, Utica has been told by the state to abandon the present water system and outside help will be needed to solve that problem.

DISINCORPORATE? "After studying the proposal and Utica's budget, we would say the best thing the city could do is disincorporate and go back to the townships," said Shelby Township Clerk William Pepper.

He pointed out that people living south of 20-Mile road would have a "beastful" tax structure in Sterling Township, and Shelby's taxes also are lower than Utica's.

The Utica expansion plan now is only in the talking stage. No petitions have been circulated to date.

Mayor Church has said that if any group will circulate petitions the City Commission will go ahead with the expansion plan.

He added that the Macomb County Board of Supervisors will schedule an election on the proposed incorporation to take place within 90 days after the petitions are filed.

Materials for the exhibit, including minerals, charts and photographs, have been supplied by Kenneth Ewell of the Michigan Mineralogical Society.

The exhibit is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays and Sunday and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Exhibit to Illustrate Detroit Salt Mining

MILFORD — The mining of salt under the city of Detroit will be illustrated in a Special exhibit at the Nature Center of Renaissance Metropolitan Park beginning Sunday.

Materials for the exhibit, including minerals, charts and photographs, have been supplied by Kenneth Ewell of the Michigan Mineralogical Society.

The exhibit is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays and Sunday and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Early Signups Sought for Troy Blood Bank

TROY — Donors who wish to give blood at the blood bank April 18 at Troy High School should make appointments as soon as possible.

The appointments are being accepted by Chairman Mrs. Lawrence Longore, of 3073 Talbot St., and Mrs. Donald Bujold, of 127 Florence St.

Coffee and refreshments will be provided for the donors, and a supervised nursery will be open to care for their children.

Transportation also may be arranged through the cochairmen.

The blood bank will be open from 2:45 to 8:45 p.m., and dinner for the volunteer workers will be served between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. at the school.

Commerce PTA Slates Mental Health Panel

COMMERCIAL — A panel discussion on mental health will be sponsored Monday at 8 p.m. by the Commerce Elementary School PTA at the school. The public is invited.

A State Health Department film on mental disorders "Preface to Life" will also be shown.

They are Mrs. Walter Barnhart, moderator, Mrs. Clarence Poon, Mrs. Elvin Green and Robert Boggs.

Plan Post-Lenten Fete at St. Patrick Church

COMMERCIAL — Reservations are being taken for a festive post-Lenten luncheon and card party April 20 at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Hutchins and Union Lake roads. A finger-food-type buffet lunch is being planned by cochairmen Mrs. Rhea DesLauriers and Mrs. Gilbert Gauthier.

Affects School Construction

Troy Sewage Problem Being Studied Today

TROY — A meeting of all agencies concerned with solving Troy's sewer problem to allow the local school district to proceed with its $2,300,000 construction program is being held today.

Expected to be present are members of the Board of Education and Troy City Commission, plus officials of the State Department of Public Instruction and the state and county health department.

The awarding of bids for new school construction was held up Tuesday night because the DPI would not give its final approval of the plan in view of the city's sewer plight.

The DPI will not give the school construction program the go-ahead without approval by the State Health Department. The latter in turn is not satisfied with the City Commission's resolution on sewer plans and schedule.

On the other hand, the Commission cannot be more specific without an assured sewer outlet to the Dequindre Interceptor or possibly Warren's system.

The Dequindre tie-in is stalled by delay on the 12-Town Drain which is in court on a suit brought by Madison Heights.

The State Attorney General has declined to enter the case because he says no menace to health is involved.

In the meantime nearly all the projects including the high school additions are threatened with indefinite delay, says Schools Supt. Rex Smith.

At the end of 1958, it was estimated there were 50,300 telephone sets in use in the United States. In 1948, the number was 8,000.

Holstein Breeders Invite 4-H Members

The Oakland County Holstein Breeders Assn. will hold a fitting and showing school for 4-H members and their parents tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Devon Acres Farms, 4317 Seymour Lake Rd., near Oxford.

Several phases of dairy breeding and genetics and showing of livestock will be discussed, with Russ Miller, national Holstein field man, directing the program.

Those attending have been asked to bring hens. Five milk will be furnished by the association, Lee Hunt of Devon Acres Farms is chairman of the event.

Volunteers to Aid in Supervision of Probationers

ROYAL OAK — A unique probation system proposed here, whereby volunteers help supervise probationers, was approved yesterday by the State Corrections Commission at Lansing.

As suggested by Royal Oak Municipal Court, the system calls for a part-time, paid probation officer plus volunteer officers who will work under him without pay.

"The Commission is interested in seeing how the unusual plan will work out," said State Corrections Director Gus Harrison.

Illini Prof Urged Premarital Sex

He'll Fight 'Morals' Ouster

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—A biology professor, fired from his University of Illinois post because he advocated premarital sexual relations, may be will fight for reinstatement.

Asst. Prof. Leo F. Koch, 44, was relieved of all duties Thursday by the university which called his published views "a grave breach of academic responsibility."

The controversy grew out of Koch's letter published March 18 by the Daily Illini, the student newspaper. The letter concluded: "A mutually satisfactory sexual experience would eliminate the need for many hours of frustrating petting and lead to much happier and longer-lasting marriages among our younger men and women."

Koch, married and the father of a teen-age daughter and two young sons, declared: "I believe I have been discharged on grounds that violate the traditional academic freedom of universities in this country."

Koch termed his dismissal unfair and said he will fight to regain his job by appealing through university channels to the American Assn. of University Professors and the Faculty Committee on Academic Freedom.

Koch's letter also said that students who limit themselves to petting may indicate "an extreme degree of brainwashing by our religious and civil authorities in the name of virtue and purity."

Dr. David D. Henry, president of the university, in a letter to Lyle H. Lanier, dean of the division of general studies, said: "With you, I consider Prof. Koch's letter a grave breach of academic responsibility. The views expressed are offensive and repugnant, contrary to commonly accepted standards of morality, and their public espousal is more than they do, then this

Colored Chicks, Ducks Illegal in Michigan

LANSING (UPI) — George S. McIntyre, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, has warned that colored chicks or ducklings for Easter are illegal in Michigan.

He said the department receives complaints of sale of artificially colored chicks, ducks or rabbits every Easter time.

Need License to Install Electrical Heating Unit

LANSING (UPI)—Attorney General Paul L. Adams has ruled electrical heating units must be installed by licensed electricians.

In an opinion requested by Ray Rider, director of the Electrical Administrative Board, Adams said lawmakers intended to regulate installation of any electrical appliance not specifically exempted in the statute.

"It follows that any person, firm or corporation installing such an (electrical heating) appliance is required to have an appropriate license," Adams said.

Bond Interest Hike Asked as Issue Plods

WASHINGTON (AP)—A limited response to a new long-term bond issue provided new ammunition today for administration arguments that the bond interest ceiling should be raised or removed.

The Treasury Department announced Thursday it sold only 370 million dollars of the new 25-year securities which pay 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Officials had said they expected sales would run about 500 million dollars and they were willing to issue up to 1 1/2 billion dollars worth. The bond was the first offered in a year.

The administration has been trying without success for the past year to get Congress to remove the ceiling of 4 1/2 per cent interest on bonds running five years or longer. The Treasury said there was little or no market for bonds at that rate and contended long-term bonds must be issued to handle the debt.

By BILL CORNWELL

A desire for more education has prompted Pontiac's youthful Fred Shadrick to give up his summer job as head golf professional at the Rochester and Sunnybrook courses after a one-year stint.

The boyish-faced Shadrick, an Elizabeth Lake Road resident who teaches and coaches at Royal Oak Dondero High School, decided to quit his summer post in order to work on his Master's Degree at the University of Detroit.

Through no fault of his own, Shadrick also is out of a golf job at Dondero this spring. He was golf coach for the Acorns last spring, but now finds himself labeled a tennis tutor—at least for the coming season.

Dondero, like its city rival Kimball on the other side of town, has dropped golf as a competitive sport this season because the Royal Oak Board of Education saw fit to slash the athletic budget.

Despite the financial setback and temporary abandonment of golf, Shadrick still hopes to assemble a five-man team and enter the 9th annual Pontiac Press Prep Invitational golf tournament, which is slated Monday, May 23, at Pontiac Country Club.

"Officially, we're not having a golf team this year," said Shadrick, "but we still want to enter The Press tourney if we possibly can and I'm trying to get permission from school authorities to do so."

"We've entered The Press tourney in past years, it's a fine event, and we'd hate to pull out now," Shadrick said.

Fred may have an ulterior motive for seeking Dondero's entry. He won the faculty portion of The Press event last May to pick up some new clothes as prizes and his wardrobe might need restocking by this time.

We're only joking, Fred. We hope Dondero enters, too.

ODDS AND ENDS

Speaking of The Press golf tournament, unofficially there are 15 entries at the moment. A starting field of 18 is preferred, but more will be accommodated if interest warrants.

County schools receiving invitations but making no commitments to this office as yet include Watford Lake, Millard, Holly, Clarkston and Avondale, Birmingham, Seaboard, with all of last year's personnel coming back, will return to defend its title.

With the resignation of Bill Doolittle as head football coach at Flint Central High School, the state of Michigan loses one of its most talented gridiron experts.

Every member of the Saginaw Valley Conference wishes him the best of luck in his new position as grid mentor and athletic director at Mansfield, Ohio, a hot-bed of prep football activity.

Former Detroit Tiger pitcher Stubby Overmire is managing the Durham Bulls of the Class B Carolina League.

Miss Hamilton is presently the current Michigan junior girls' champion, a title which Miss Ryan held for three straight years before going into the woman's division.

In the other final match, the boys' division was won by Fred Rohrer who defeated Bob Powers, 21-9 and 21-18.

In the mixed doubles final, Miss Ryan and Perc Secord defeated Howard Heckman and Gloria Hartman, 21-18, 17-21 and 21-17, to retain the title.

In the mixed doubles final, defending champion Floyd Finkle relinquished his singles title by losing to Paul Colla, 21-18, 22-20.

Colla in turn lost to Jerry Kruskie, 21-18, 16-21 and 21-15. In the final tonight Kruskie will play the winner of the Glenn Whitcomb-Howard Heckman match for the title.

In the junior's division, the final tonight will be between Marvin Barnhart and Bill Cashin. Last night Barnhart defeated Allen Travis, 21-17, 20-22 and 21-17. Cashin won over Bill Latimer, 21-17, 21-18.

In the novice division, the final will be between Richard Kuhn and Vic Corpron. Kuhn won over Don Waterman and Corpron won over Martin Kabcenell last night.

AIMING AT RECORD - Bill Nieder, who made a 65-foot, 1 inch record-breaking shot put effort in the Texas Relays last Saturday, will compete against Perry O'Brien and Dallas Long, two outstanding shot putters, in a relay meet in Los Angeles, April 23. All three will be aiming for 65 feet.

Conley Anxious to Start Baseball

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Big Gene Conley plans to put aside basketball Saturday and head for Leesburg, Fla., to get reacquainted with baseball.

The 6-foot-8, 225-pound pitcher-rebounder discussed his summer-time work Thursday night after the Hawks beat the Celtics 105-102.

And he forced the National Basketball Association playoffs to a seventh game at Boston Saturday afternoon.

Conley, like the rest of the Celtics, is confident of beating the Hawks. In fact, he's anxious to get the job over with so he can shift his thoughts and talents to the Philadelphia Phillies, his employer from April to October.

"I want to get down there and start throwing," he said. "The Phils have a minor league camp at Leesburg and the fellows are in good shape when I get there."

"It's ideal for me, because I can throw harder faster. Since they're all ready, I can't afford to baby myself."

Conley, whose dual role of pro basketball player and pro baseball pitcher is unique, figures he's in good condition from the rigors of the Celtics' long season.

"The conditioning is different, though," he said. "I need time to get used to the outdoors and tune up muscles I don't use in basketball. I'm in good shape generally and I haven't been hurt."

Conley, who posted a 3.00 earned run average and 102 strikeouts last year in his finest season since 1954 with Milwaukee, will rejoin the Phillies in Philadelphia toward the end of this month.

Wichita Vickers Industrial Five to Leave NIBL

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Vickers Petroleum Co., is giving up its team in the National Industrial Basketball League.

James W. Vickers, executive vice president, acknowledged one of the reasons is six top players are retiring and it would be hard to replace them.

"Professional salaries have increased to the extent that we could not anticipate competing teams for the top talent necessary to continue having a first-rate team in the NIBL," he said.

Retiring from the team are Dick Bonshka, Lester Lane, Don Bolden, Lionel Smith, Chuck Schramm and Jerry Mullin. Vickers said he expected most of them to keep their regular jobs with the oil company.

Face SVC Foes in CMU Meet

25 on PCH Squad

Final trials yesterday determined the makeup of Pontiac Central High's track squad for tonight's important Central Michigan University indoor meet at Mt. Pleasant. Chiefs will have 25 boys competing in the 12-event affair which shapes up as a preview of Saginaw Valley competition with eight SVC teams listed, PCU and Flint Northern are favorites.

Waterford Skippers opened their season yesterday with a thrilling win, 88-50, over Dearborn Fordson, in a meet that was not decided at Dearborn, until the last event, Skippers won the 880 relay, and the meet.

On the somber side, yesterday, came the announcement that St. Michael would not field a track team this spring. Coach Jim Niebauer said lack of a track, and practice site, made the decision necessary. This will be the first time in many years the Shamrocks have not had a team.

Coach Dean Wilson named the following Chiefs to make the jump to Mt. Pleasant: (PCI is the only area team listed among the 300 or more pre athletes expected).

Low hurdles — Howze, Terry; Prentiss (also high hurdles); 60-yard dash—Ratcliff, Dick and Joe McCauley; 440 — Lindsay; mile — Joe Anderson, Nelson, Rex Smith; medley relay — Bill Lee, Ken R. Byrd, LaCore, Youm; sprint relay — Ratcliff, Howze, Dick McCauley, Walker; shotput — Brown, Rash, Pritchett; high jump — Harper, Lee, Walker; pole vault —

Shorter; broad jump — Hall (sophomore), Trotter (4 times over 21 feet), Joe McCauley (bettered 21 feet).

Waterford's victory was achieved on a slow, wet field, says coach Al Cathrell, Skippers won seven firsts, six seconds and seven thirds. Leading performers included Tim Underwood (won 100, broad jump, 800 relay, 880-relay team) for 11½ points.

Dave Yarbber had 10½ (won 220, 2nd in 100, 3rd broad jump and on relay), Eddie Stigers had 9½ points without a first. Mike Kaim won the mile in fast time (4:42.7) despite the slow track.

Only area meet set for today pits Hazel Park against Southfield at the Bluejays' field.

Badgers Ring Leaders

Associated Press Sports Writer MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The University of Wisconsin, campaigning on home grounds for its first NCAA boxing title since 1956, heads into the semifinals tonight with a 16-member delegation still intact after giving visiting boxers from 15 schools a jolting welcome.

The Badgers swept to seven straight victories in the opening bouts of the 23rd annual tournament Thursday night and gained at least one finalist berth. Three members of the team drew quarter-final byes.

San Jose State, the NCAA team champion the past two years, advanced six into the semifinals, but suffered a crippling blow when welterweight Charlie Brown, the Pacific Coast Interscholastic champion, was eliminated by Dale Trumbo of Idaho State.

With flyweight Jim Mack capturing the only opening day semifinal in the small 112-pound division and six others wading through quarter-final tests, Wisconsin piled up nine points. San Jose State and Idaho State had three each and Sacramento State and Stanford two apiece.

Only two defending champions, Terry Smith, a 156-pound entry from Sacramento State, and Charlie Mohr, a clever 165-pound Wisconsin southpaw, had to engage in quarter-final bouts. Both passed with flying colors.

Archie Milton of San Jose State, the 1958 heavyweight king, throne last year by Harold Eddy of Idaho State, opened his drive for the title by pounding John White of Syracuse for a TKO at 22 seconds of the second round.

Five other 1959 titlists drew quarter-final byes and four are to see action for the first time tonight. The fifth is flyweight Itzi Shimabukuro of College of the Idaho, who sailed right into the finals.

The four set to begin battling in the semifinals are Ron Nichols of San Jose State at 119 pounds, Bob Cornwell of Washington State at 125 pounds, John Horne of Michigan State at 178 pounds and 139 pound champ who has Joe Eiling of Nevada, last year's dropped down to the 132-pound class.

The championships finals are set for Tuesday night. Winners will make up the NCAA team which will compete in the U. S. Olympic trials May 18-20 at San Francisco.

$100,000 Bid for Title Test

Rodriguez Wins Over Mexican; Wants Shot at Jordan or Parot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Matchmaker George Parnassus again posted an offer today of $100,000 for the winner of the welter title fight between champion Don Jordan and Benny (Kid) Parot to meet Luis Rodriguez.

Rodriguez retained his No. 1 rating in the welterweight division Thursday night when he slashed up Alvaro Gutierrez of Mexico City after four rounds of typhoid fighting. A crowd of 8,130 paid $29.30 to see the scheduled 12-rounder.

Rodriguez, the 22-year-old Cuban who now is unbeaten in his 29 professional fights, made such a bloody sight of the game Mexican's left eye that the fight was stopped just before the bell sounded for the fifth round.

Rodriguez was unmarked and was ahead on all cards after the finish. Referee Charley Randolph called it a knockout.

"We're ready. We'll meet anyone and that goes for Jordan or Parot," said Angelo Dundee, the Cuban's American representative. Jordan and Parot — also a Cuban — are scheduled to meet for the title May 27 in Las Vegas.

Montreal Pushed Hard in 4-2 Victory

Young Richard Sparks Opening Cup Triumph

Canadian Coach Far From Confident; 2nd Contest Saturday

MONTREAL, Apr. — Montreal Coach Toe Blake is far from confident his Canadiens will go on and win their fifth straight Stanley Cup after taking a 1-0 lead in the best-of-7 final hockey playoff series against Toronto.

The Canadiens scored three times in the first period Thursday night and made the goals stand up for a 4-2 victory in the National Hockey League's world series.

"They're going to be tough," Blake said afterwards.

"Think so?" someone asked. "We didn't take it easy, did we?" Blake replied.

Blake thought his players tired after a lean closed-jump to 3-2 with two second period goals. Henri Richard got the last Montreal goal in the final period after getting an assist on each of the first period scores.

Toronto Coach Punch Imlach was far from discouraged for the second game Saturday night at the Forum.

"They got the breaks," he said. "Sooner or later we're going to get them too."

He thought that Richard's goal broke Toronto's spirit, particularly since the puck went in after it was deflected off the skate of Leaf defenseman Tim Horton.

"We just appear to be coming back when that happened," Imlach said.

Montreal's Dickie Moore scored at 2:27 of the opening period with Toronto a man short. Six and a half minutes later Doug Harvey scored with both teams a man down. Jean Beliveau added the third goal three minutes later.

Bob Baun and Bert Olmstead scored for the Leafs. Jacques Plante, Montreal's goalie, had 21 saves and Johnny Bower 38 for Toronto.

Five Unbeaten as Olympic Mat Trials Near End

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Five grapplers who threw their first two opponents were the only ones with unmarked records as the State Midwest Olympic wrestling tryouts moved through two rounds Thursday night.

They are Dave Jensen of Iowa Teachers College and Jackie Coffey of the Minneapolis Wrestling Club, both entered at 136½ pounds; Lee Grubbs, 147½, St. Louis YMCA; Roy Conrad, 174, Northern Illinois University; Fred Wright, of Cornell (Iowa) College, in the unlimited class.

Finals will be held Friday night with the winner and runner-up in each weight class going to the national tryouts at Iowa State University where the Olympic team will be selected April 26-30.

Don McElie, a member of the Army pistol team, hails from Rifle, Colo.

Waterford Plans Busy Year Organize Softball Program

Softball and baseball will be sponsored at four levels this spring and summer by the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

An elementary school softball program for both boys and girls will begin in April and a softball league for boys under 12 years of age will begin in June. Boys' baseball in three divisions — 13 and under, 15 and under, and 18 and under — also begins in June.

Men's softball in three divisions — advanced players, intermediate players, and blueblood for 30 years old and over — is scheduled to start in May.

An organizational meeting for elementary school softball is scheduled Thursday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m., at the recreation department office. Fathers and mothers interested in coaching a school team should call the recreation office.

The first men's softball meeting for both advanced and intermediate players is scheduled next Monday night at 7:30 at the recreation department office. Interested managers and coaches are invited to attend.

The dates of organizational meetings for boys' softball and baseball and men's blueblood will be announced later by the department.

Games will be played at school and park fields in Waterford Township. A total of 102 teams competed in the four divisions last year.

Matty Alou, Mincher Show Power; Burdette Hurt

2 Youngsters Homer Twice

By The Associated Press
San Francisco's Matty Alou, Felipe's classy kid brother, and Washington's Don Mincher, the other guy in the Severs-Battery trade, can be added to the list of potential power hitters.

Each homered twice Thursday as the Giants and Senators won spring training games. And it may not be too long before their names turn up frequently in major league baseball boxscores.

Both spent last season with Class A minor league teams.

The Giants, who defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-2 at Phoenix, already have a solid starting outfield in Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays and Willie Kirkland. And behind them is big brother Felipe and utility man Jim Marshall. So Matty's immediate chances are remote.

The Senators, who whipped Kansas City 10-3 at Orlando, have a definite need for first baseman Mincher. When they sent Roy Sievers to the Chicago White Sox for Earl Battey, Mincher and $150,000, Julio Becquer, a pesky but light hitter, inherited the first base job.

Mincher could take it away from him with sure fielding and more of the slugging he displayed at Charleston, S.C. last year. In 137 games with the South Atlantic League team, Mincher hit 22 homers and batted in 32 runs.

If both Becquer and Mincher fail, the Senators may end up with Jim Lemon or Bob Allison, regular outfielders, on first.

Alou, square name Mateo, is on the roster of the Rio Grande Valley Giants in the Texas League and probably will be sent down. But only Kirkland among the Giants' regular outfielders bats left-handed, and an injury to, or slump by, Kirkland could give Matty a look.

Marshall could fill in at the plate, but the outfield at Candlestick Park needs a speedy, sharp fielder who can throw like Matty.

The 25-year-old 165-pounder hit .282 at Springfield, Mass. in the Eastern League in 1959. That included 11 homers and 57 RBI, but even more impressive he stole 23 bases and led the league's outfielders with 23 assists.

Matty's second consecutive homer Thursday capped a three-run seventh that made a winner of Giant starter Mike McCormick.

Both were off Tom Brewer. Mincher batted in five runs with a two-run blast off A's starter John Tsitouris and a three-run shot off Bob Trowbridge. Allison also homered for the Senators.

In other games, Milwaukee defeated Cincinnati 7-5 at Columbia, S.C.; Baltimore beat Pittsburgh 5-4 at Fort Myers; New York shamed Detroit 5-1 at St. Petersburg; St. Louis defeated Cleveland 10-7 at Tucson, and Los Angeles outlasted the Chicago Cubs 14-12 at Mesa. The Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia were idle.

The Braves got a scare when Lew Burdette, cruising along with a 5-2 lead, was hit on the left hand by a ball batted by Reds' rookie Tony Gonzales in the sixth inning. The ace right-hander will be OK, however, X-rays showed. With the National League season opening next week, the Braves already have right-hander Joey Jay on the shelf with an ailing back.

The Pirates were jolted by a poor performance by Bob Friend, their opening day nominee. Friend went the route, but gave up 12 hits, including homers by

Albert Amerson Free on Bond in Negligent Homicide Charge

The driver of a car in which two passengers were killed in a Saturday night auto accident today demanded examination on a negligent homicide charge.

Albert Amerson Jr., 26, of 69 Clove St., was freed under $500 bond by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum pending the pretrial hearing April 20.

Amerson was arrested by Pontiac Police this morning.

Sadie Mae Higgins, 18, of 412 S. Jessie St., and Cecil Reeves, 22, of 12 Utah St., were killed late Saturday night when Amerson's car went out of control on Wilson avenue east of S. Saginaw street and struck a pole.

Witnesses said the car was moving at 65 m.p.h., according to Pontiac police.

In a statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, Amerson said when he tried to apply his brakes, the car speeded up.

He admitted he had been drinking shortly before the accident.

Young Democrat at MSUO Wins State Post

Although their university is new, Michigan State University Oakland freshmen are acting like old hands at politics.

Timothy E. Agar, 18, of 274 Auburn Ave., has been elected chairman of the executive board of Michigan's Young Democrats College Clubs.

Ten universities in the state have Young Democrat Clubs on campus.

He was elected to the chairmanship of the state group by a 35-11 vote at a recent convention of the college groups in East Lansing. His opponent was from Michigan State University.

MSUO was represented by six voting delegates, one for every 10 members belonging to the campus political party.

Women's Jail Plan Assailed

Dehoco Officials Don't Want Inmates Sent to Brighton Facility

LANSING (AP) — The plan for a new women's prison camp at Brighton, the first of its kind in the nation, was under strong attack today by officials of the Detroit House of Correction (Dehoco).

The sudden storm of opposition threatened a proposed $175,000 appropriation of state funds to build the facility and get in operation, probably about the end of this year.

An attempt was expected to extract it from a pending bill.

The state, with no women's unit in its penal system, always has sent female felons to Dehoco and reimbursed the City of Detroit for the expense of keeping them.

There have been talks in late years about state purchase of the Dehoco women's division but inability to agree on a price has blocked a sale.

Albert Shapiro, Dehoco superintendent, assailed the plan at a hastily called luncheon meeting of legislators in a downtown hotel yesterday. It was arranged by a lobbyist for the Teamsters Union, Otto E. Wendel Jr.

Some state authorities say privately that Detroit officials want no impairment of the laundry operation run by the women's division which supplies city hospitals with five million pounds a year.

Predicts Low Week of Year for Autos

DETROIT (AP)—Automotive News said auto production this week will drop to a low for the year of 134,624 passenger cars, only 1,381 units ahead of the comparable week of 1959.

Production has been running well ahead of year-ago figures. The trade paper said strikes and short work weeks throughout the industry are responsible for the drop from last week's 148,032 assemblies.

Compact cars, however, continue to purr steadily ahead with 39,979 units scheduled for this week, almost 30 per cent of the industry's total production. Last week compact output totaled 46,673 units. Automotive News estimated truck production this week at 26,488 units compared with 29,015 last week and 25,303 in the similar week of last year.

The federal government spends more in a year on the purchase of paper towels than it did on the whole annual federal budget in George Washington's day.

Can't Photo Russia Due to Tiros Defect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Space Agency disclosed today that a mechanical failure aboard the Tiros I weather satellite is preventing it from taking detailed cloud pictures over Russia.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said at a news conference that the weather satellite "is working successfully and well." But he added that since Saturday evening, the satellite's clock timer governing operation of one of the cameras has not been working properly.

The camera involved was a narrow angle, "high resolution" device designed to obtain the clearest pictures.

As a result of the timer's failure, Glennan said, this camera has been able to take pictures only on direct command over Hawaii and adjacent Pacific areas and over New Jersey and the surrounding region of the Atlantic seaboard.

This means that only the larger of the two television cameras, the so-called low resolution device, has been instructed since Saturday evening to take cloud cover pictures at the satellite passed over Russia, China and elsewhere in the Far East. Tiros was successfully launched last Friday morning.

70 Different Viruses Cause Common Cold

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The common cold may be caused by any of more than 70 different viruses, according to a scientist at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Robert Gee Jackson, a professor of medicine, reported new findings on the common cold at the first annual convention of the American College of Physicians.

He said his experiments were aided by 2,500 students who volunteer regularly to catch cold from virus infections.

The research group found that some of the 70 viruses catalogued caused influenza most of the time and colds only rarely. Others caused colds most of the time, and rarely caused influenza.

Jackson said wintry weather may have little to do with the common cold.

Half of the volunteers were exposed to chilly temperatures while the others stayed in normal room temperatures. He found that 35 of the chilled group caught colds and 38 per cent of the warm group was infected.

Western World Could Set Pace

President of Colombia Asks Study of Defense in Atomic Age

WASHINGTON (U-P) — The American nations could set a disarmament example for the world, Colombian President Alberto Lleras Camargo said Thursday.

In an address prepared for the Organization of American States Council, Lleras said a careful study of the new situation raised by the atomic age would be well worthwhile.

He told the 11-nation council that the conclusion of such a study "must be that far too much money is spent and far too many sacrifices are made for absolute means of defense."

Lleras' speech to a special session of the council came only a day after Chile formally had proposed that the OAS call a special conference on arms limitation.

The Colombian leader repeated his government's belief that technical advice on the arms needs of the hemisphere should be given by the Inter-American Defense Board, a military group already in existence.

Lleras stressed that the inter-American system, while well developed in certain fields, still has some shortcomings.

The American peoples, he said, "have been depositing more and more of their sovereignty in the organization. They hope thus to endow it with a power-up to now chiefly moral and judicial—which will drastically reduce the capacity for adventure, disorder and imperialism in our hemisphere." But he added:

"We have not yet perfected a multilateral agreement wherein all the methods of peaceful settlement are organized. And we still must have recourse to more or less unpremeditated expedients when a perplexing or dangerous situation occurs. . . . We have pending the urgent and under-standable task of regulating, codifying and extending our law."

Saginaw Woman Runs for Vacant DAR Post

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Mrs. Chester F. Miller of Saginaw, Mich., is among the candidates for the two vacancies as honorary vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She will be running against Miss Helen McMackin of Salem, Ill., and Mrs. Reuben E. Knight of Alliance, Neb., for the two vacancies.

The 66th Continental Congress of the DAR opens at Washington April 18.

Two Are Seeking Langer Senate Seat

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP) — Rep. Quentin Burdick, a Democratic trailblazer in the stronghold of Republicanism, will battle Gov. John E. Davis for the remaining 7 1/2 years of the late Sen. William Langer's Senate seat.

State Democrats and Nonpartisan Leaguers, meeting in joint convention Thursday unanimously designated the 51-year-old attorney as their nominee.

Burdick and Davis are matched in the June 23 special election to name a successor to Langer, the longtime political firebrand, who died in office last November.

FIELD IN INTERIM

The seat now is held by Republican Norman Brundage, appointed by Davis on an interim basis. Burdick rode a North Dakota Democratic upsurge into the House of Representatives in 1958, the first of his party ever to gain House seat from North Dakota. If he wins in June he will be the state's second Democratic senator. John Mues, a three-term governor, was elected in 1944 but served only a short time before he died.

Teen Patio Parties Gain Popularity

Real cool? That's the way some suburban teen-agers feel about "patio parties," according to the American Assn. of Nurserymen. Small groups of friends in seasonal weather go to one home or another as the spirit moves them and dance on the grass in their bare feet, like to the tune of favorite records.

Refreshments are more formally served than in the small fry cookout and it all appears to be wholesome fun, a welcome change from indoor dancing.

Garden living rooms, terraces and patios serve equally well for serving the refreshments, but the dancing apparently is on the grass. Parents seem to like patio parties because the teen-agers either are at home or at the home of a friend, while the cost is low. Perhaps this started the dancing-on-the-grass innovation in the first place—it stretches teen-age allowances.

World rice production is about eight billion bushels.

Expert Claims Mowing Can Be Fun—Oh, Yeah!

LANSING—James Schiller, Reo power mower service manager says mowing grass can be a pleasure. But, he cautions, don't expect the yard mauling to be fun, unless you follow the "rules of the yard" in preparing your power mower for the seasons ahead.

The Reo service manager has 10 steps in his rule book he wishes to share with mower owners.

Right now, Schiller suggests, the "winter coat" (cover) should be removed from your mower in order to begin checks leading up to starting the motor.

Oil is important to keep the mower parts moving, so he says it should be checked and raised to the level suggested in the operational guide given you when the mower was bought.

Next, the gasoline tank should be filled and the shut-off valve which was turned off late last fall, should be opened to allow the fuel to reach the carburetor. The spark plug should be inspected. If dirty, it should be cleaned or replaced.

Don't connect that wire to the spark plug yet. You're now ready to inspect the cutter blade, Schiller stipulates. The blade must be tight on the shaft (rotary type) before the engine will start.

Good housekeeping is important, too. Your next check point should be the mower base. The mower will operate best if the housing in which the blades whirl is secured, getting rid of old grass cuttings and dirt.

Proper adjustment of the blade will give your lawn a carpet look. The Reo service specialist says, he next suggests placing the mower on the ground, then adjust wheels so the blade attains its proper cutting height.

So that the engine will be in a "proper mood" to start and all the mowing parts quench their dryness with oil, Schiller says the re-wind or electric starter should be used slowly, turning the engine over several times. This is just before you connect the spark plug wires.

Finally, you've reached the starting point: (1) Connect the spark plug wire, (2) Set your choke, (3) Turn ignition switch on, and (4) Start the mower's engine.

"As the engine starts, move the choke lever slowly back to normal 'off' position and adjust throttle to normal engine speed," Schiller said. "Allow the engine to run a few minutes for proper warm-up." At this point you're ready to enjoy your mowing.

Buy Best Seeds for Best Results

That the best is the cheapest in the long run applies to the purchase of seed supplies the same as other items in the opinion of John E. Garver, chief of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's seed section. He advises seed purchasers to read the tag or label before buying.

Garver said that surveys conducted by several neighboring states disclosed that most poor seed that was planted was by farmers using untested seed of their own production or purchased from a neighbor.

Michigan's seed law permits a farmer to sell seed he has produced to his neighbors, but it requires that it be tested and tagged if he advertises in papers.

The seed section of the Michigan Department of Agriculture at Lansing makes purity and germination tests for farmers, local elevators and seedsmen for a nominal fee. In the course of a year hundreds of such analyses are run by the seed section's skilled analysts.

"Farmers," advised Garver "should read the seed tags and seek high purity and germination together with low percentage of inert matter and weed content in the seed they buy. Never gamble on untagged and untested seeds."

Make sure the seed bears a recent test date, never more than nine months old. Always buy the best seed you can lay hands on and then farm it well."

You Can Grow Giant Mums

Looking ahead to a brilliant show of color in the fall garden, the lover of new plants will want to try Harvest Giant Mums, introduced this spring by George J. Ball, Inc. For the first time a garden mum variety is available with the large, football-type blossoms previously possible only under greenhouse conditions.

Harvest Giants can be used effectively in several ways. They are magnificent when massed in borders against the side of a house. For colorful accent, plant them in beds along walks or driveways. Where a patio or porch setting can be provided, by all means set several specimens in redwood tubs for that decorative touch. Harvest Giant Mums also make excellent cut flowers—for arrangements in the home and for corsage wear.

Harvest Giants are easy to grow, but as with any garden mum, a special seed should be observed. Growing experience has proved that they do best in full sun.

To obtain the short, stocky plants that are desirable in garden mums, plants must be pinched (which means cutting shoots back). This will result in many more stems and flowers. This should be done several times in early summer as soon as plants have become established, but pinching should be stopped by July 1st.

For the very large blooms (as large as 6½ inches in diameter) plants should be disbudded as you would your hybrid tea roses. This is done by removing flower buds as they form, leaving one central bud to a stem. If plants are not disbudded, you will get more flowers per stem, but they will be somewhat smaller.

In other ways, Harvest Giants should be treated as any summer annual providing the same good soil and spraying practices. Straw or other loose materials will help them winter over, although they are as hardy as the average garden mum.

If snow from roofs has tumbled disastrously down on foundation plantings, make a note to transplant them out of harm's way this spring or next fall.

It's impractical to sow old seed with a low percentage of germination next year.

Landscape Architect Can Save You Money, Grief

Robert Malkin is convinced — and not just because he is one — that a landscape architect is well worth his fee to anyone who plans to spend $1,500 or more on landscaping.

"That's not a great amount," he says, "counting lawn, trees, shrubs, perennials, annuals and patio."

"Often a landscape architect makes up the amount of his fee with what he saves in getting competitive bids from nurserymen. He also gives insurance by picking the best plants for the location and climate."

In any event, Malkin strongly advises against having the same person who sells plants draw the plan for where and how many are to be used. For the customer, he says, "It works out to how much the traffic will bear."

However, he urges do-it-yourself landscapers to consult nurserymen for expert advice in how plants will behave in specific locations.

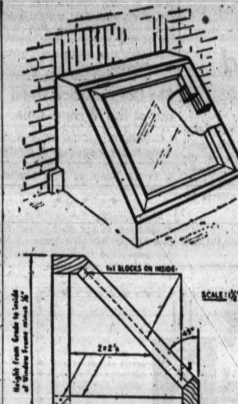

Beforehand, Malkin advises above all, "Stop and think."

"Figure out first what the garden is to be used for. Then work out a plan without thinking about specific plants."

"Vary space to give a different view in each area. This can be done no matter how small the lot."

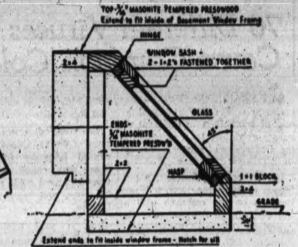

"Malkin's own preference in landscaping these days is for a more rugged woodland feeling through the use of rocks and naturalistic edgings."

"Natural woods are being wiped out," he says. "But you can still get a backyard resemblance to them with good landscape design."

WINDOW HOTBED — There's still time to build a small basement window hotbed for getting plants started. Choose a southern exposure. This is so constructed that you can have access to the plants from the basement or outside. Inexpensive hardboard is used for the framing; Thermoglass for the glazing.

Gardener-Handyman Can Build Small Hotbed

For the flower gardener who occasionally turns to his home workshop as a hobby, an ideal project is a basement window hotbed. It's a case of one hobby nicely supplementing another.

Selecting a southern exposure, the home craftsman will determine the dimensions by the size of the window to be covered. The hotbed is designed to fit within and be nailed to the window frame. Heat for the seedlings, of course, comes from the basement through the window, which is opened as required to keep the hotbed at the proper temperature, and from the sun shining through the slatted glass.

An inexpensive thermometer should be fastened inside the hotbed so that it is visible from either inside or outside. Access to the plants may be had through the basement window or from outside.

Required for the construction are two 2x4-inch and one 2x3-inch pieces of lumber for longitudinal framing members; three 2x4-inch pieces for the framework at each end; four 1x2's and four 1x1's to form the window sash; glass to fit (Thermoglass recommended); Masonite 3/16-inch Tempered Freshwood for the front, top and sides of lumber and casing nails; hump with which to fasten window from inside; a lift for attachment to the outside; patty and triangular fasteners to secure the glass in place; priming and finishing paint; two hinges and screws.

It's easy to cut the hardboard with a fine tooth or jig saw to fit around the window edge. In cutting the splinter-free hardboard, allow sufficient depth in the end and front pieces so that the material may be imbedded in the soil a depth of 1½ inches to form a seal for the structure. Moisture won't rot or rust the tempered "Masonite."

Common nails are used to assemble the framework. Casing nails should be used to fasten the hardboard panels.

After priming, the structure should receive two coats of paint to match the exterior of the house. Hardboard's smooth, grainless surface takes and holds paint very well to assure a good-looking window hotbed.

Lumber dealers will have the materials with the possible exception of the glass.

Leaving Plant in Pot Is Preferred Method

When bringing garden plants indoors in the fall, or putting them outdoors in the spring, two methods of transplanting may be used.

A plant can be removed from the soil with a trowel and brought indoors for placement in a chry pot or planter. This procedure is then reversed when winter is past.

The alternative — and preferable — method allows the plant to remain in its clay pot at all times. When spring comes, the pot is simply taken to the garden and plunged (buried) in the ground. The natural porosity of the clay pot lets moisture and nutrients from the soil around it pass freely through the pot walls.

When the time comes to move the potted plant indoors, it can be unscrewed quickly. More importantly, however, the plant's root system will not be disturbed or damaged, and it will not be mixed with the roots of weeds or other garden plants.

Arrange Flower Beds by Plant Habits

To help in arranging the flower bed let's set down here an assortment of different flowers which fall into general groups according to plant habit. First, the ones that have a spiky appearance. They include such favorites as delphinium, hollyhock, foxglove, larkspur, lupin, trillium and snapdragon. Of these the snapdragon and larkspur are annuals, and the others are either biennials, or perennials, except for lupin, which can be obtained in either annual or perennial type.

Then there are the bushy ones, more open in growth, generally, than the mound-shaped plants, and with flowers borne on branches. Many familiar kinds belong in this group — sinia, aster, scabiosa, calendula, bachelor button, cosmos, tall marigolds, salvia, scabiosa, and thibola.

Among the neatest appearing flowers are those that have a mound shape that resembles a distinct without pruning or special attention. The group includes the Salvia patula, agrostis, some dianthus, bellis, California poppy, the dwarf gypsophila Buddy and Clay, dwarf marigolds, dwarf nasturtiums, nierembergia, dwarf phlox, and verbena.

Extremely dwarf flowers offer a further form, that of a regular carpet. They have an important place in filling narrow spaces, such as between sidewalk and curb, where any height at all is inconvenient. For this kind of flower you are pretty well limited to portulaca (moss rose), and the alyssums.

One last class: vines. These useful plants can form a solid wall on a fence to make a beautiful backdrop for your garden. You can have morning glories, gourds, dolichos, sweet peas, thunbergia, or cardiospermum readily from seed.

Dutch Elm Disease

Dutch elm disease is spread by the elm bark beetle, an unwanted alien that jumped ship. Another enemy of the harassed American elm is the foliage-devouring elm leaf beetle, which also sneaked into the country. Still another infamous alien is the Japanese beetle, which will chew up virtually any greenery on which it lights.

Pre-Seeded Mat for Lazybones

If you haven't the time, patience and inclination to spend long hours choosing flower seeds, preparing soil and putting in the seeds in nice straight furrows, you can still have a garden that will match anybody's in color, variety and hardiness.

How? All you do is roll out your garden in the form of a pre-seeded mat which contains not only carefully selected seed varieties, but has built-in fertilizers, soil nutrients and moisture absorbents. That means you have far less soil preparation work, for as the seeds germinate the mat actually becomes part of the soil which feeds your garden.

Actually, this new guaranteed mat comes in two varieties. One is a border mat, ideal for use along driveways, low walls, or as an edging anywhere. Each mat will produce hundreds of low-blooming plants, carefully planned to produce a beautiful effect of color and shape.

The other Flowerama mat is made of higher "cut flower" varieties, again spaced to give the pleasing effect of a carefully planned garden.

One of the real beauties of the Flowerama mat is that you can roll it out as is, and transplant the blooms to other sections of your garden, or, if you're the creative type gardener, you can cut the mat into rows and space them out, or arrange them any way you want.

You can also cut them into short sections for little patches here and there which simply demand a touch of flowers for that extra bit of beauty.

The Road to Faith

Mankind Can't Kill Off Strong Need for Belief

By WILL OURSLER
Chapter Thirty-Three
The drive of men to reach a purity of religious faith, devoid of the violence and insensibility and paradoxical contradictions of many orthodoxes, has been an impelling force all through history.

Despite defeat, false roads and misuse, it rises and keeps on. The urge, the intuition, the need for faith is too strong for mankind itself to overcome.

crossing to an unknown land. The Quakers sought it even amid persecution. The Mormons sought it by trekking across the wilderness of America.

The Navajo Indians of New Mexico and Arizona were called primitive. Anthropologists studied them and their tribal rites as specimens of a well-developed but still primitive culture. Yet read from one of their prayers:

Oh, male-divinity! With your mecasins of dark cloud, come to us... In beauty I walk. With beauty before me, I walk. With beauty behind me, I walk. With beauty below me, I walk. With beauty above me, I walk. With beauty all around me, I walk. It is finished in beauty.

But there are other aspects of the Navajo and his culture. Sculptress Malvina Hoffman, in her book, Heads and Tails, describes a Navajo Indian ritual:

"In San Felipe we witnessed the rain and rain dance... Two groups... kept up a continual rhythmic intonation and invocation for rain, hour after hour, until sunset. A leader carried a long pole, ending in a bunch of corn leaves. This he waved over the heads of the dancers, shaking out the sacred pollen and calling the rain to shed its benediction on the seeded earth. On our way home the heavens darkened and a thunderstorm came."

An answer from Heaven in response to a savage dance—or a coincidence? We cannot know or guess. Yet we may assume that purity of spirit, on a level high above mere primitive superstition in ritual only, was in their prayer.

BACK TO CAVES
Here is mankind, reaching back to Eden, reaching back to the primeval caves and jungles.

Mistaken, and misguided and misdirected, greedy for plunder and power, for self-glorification, marching to kill and to maim, judging in rashness and punishing in vengeance.

We are part of the timeless cavalcade, we are a part of this species. Beyond us and around us the army of humanity surges forward toward its goal. We stumble along and falter and fall back and push on.

Professor Guilty in Boy's Death

Jury Convicts Him of Manslaughter; He Had Thrown Lad Down

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (U.P.) — A University of Rochester professor was convicted Thursday of manslaughter in the death of a six-year-old boy he threw, to the ground.

Dr. Charles J. Goebel, 29, faces a maximum sentence of 7½ to 15 years in prison and a $1,000 fine for causing the death of Michael Sorce, a neighbor's son.

Goebel picked up the boy last May while Michael was arguing with Goebel's three-year-old son, George. Goebel flung Michael down and a stick punched the boy's eye and brain, the prosecution said.

Goebel's attorney said he would appeal the verdict, returned by a Monroe County jury of 11 men and one woman.

Michael's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sorce, said: "Justice has been done."

The judge said he would set a date today for sentencing. Goebel testified that he was angered, though "not in a rage," because he had seen the Sorce boy push his son. The professor admitted shaking Michael and dropping him to the ground but said he had not noticed the fatal stick.

The university has indicated it would stand by Goebel until final disposition of the case. He has remained at his teaching post, free on $2,500 bail.

Detroit River Sewage Killed 12,000 Ducks?

LANSING (UPI) — Sewage dumped into the Detroit River may have caused the death of some 12,000 ducks since early last month, the Conservation Department said.

The ducks' feathers were found to be coated with a glycerine-based oil commonly found in sewage, the department said.

The Water Resources Commission reported McDougal Steel Co., Trenton, had been guilty of dumping oil into the river in violation of commission orders. But it was not determined that this oil caused the ducks' death.

Physicians Work 60 Hours Weekly, Says Analyst

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fifty percent more doctors would be needed in the United States if the nation's present physicians each worked only 40 hours a week.

Dr. Mark S. Blumberg, a Stanford research analyst, told delegates at the annual conference of Blue Cross medical insurance plans that the average U.S. doctor now works 60 hours each week.

This is partly because the average doctor "is a poor businessman who doesn't budget his time very efficiently," said Blumberg.

Also, the long work-week for physicians is brought about by the tradition which says doctors must treat all patients who seek their services.

He suggested as a practical method of cutting down the doctors' work-week the hiring of more assistants by doctors to care for patients and a better budgeting of their time.

Eight states produce most of America's coal.

Wheel-Horse Suburban Tractor
Garden Tractor... Riding Mower... Snow Plow...
A YEAR 'ROUND WORK HORSE

a multi-gear-pull of proven efficiency with transmission, synchronized differential and torque power reduction built in one compact, self-sealed unit.
Hook-up to 23 optional attachments including popular 22" rotary mower, 3-gang reel mower with 5 foot cutting swath, dump trailer, snow plow and all garden tools. Geared like an auto, Wheel-Horse shifts into three speeds forward and reverse. At 4 mph, you discover its big tractor "look" is more than skin deep. Tremendous gear reduction produces pull power to spare. Tractor-type rear tires plus weight of the bulky steel body assure top Wheel-Horse traction on hills and terrain.

Racketeer Dio Faces 20 Years

Income Tax Evasion
and Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — Racketeer Johnny Dio has been convicted of Federal income tax evasion. U.S. Judge Edward Weinfeld announced the decision Thursday against Dio and his bodyguard, Teddy Ray.

The two had asked Weinfeld to hear the case without a jury. They were continued from on hall until sentencing April 28.

Dio, 46, faces a possible maximum 20 years in prison and $40,000 in fines on a count of conspiracy and three counts of income tax evasion.

Ray, also 46, was convicted of a single tax evasion count plus conspiracy. He can draw 10 years and $20,000 in fines.

It was the second time the federal government had moved against Dio, whose real name is John Dioguardi. The notorious strong-arm man was indicted in 1956 in the Victor Riesel blinding case.

Someone hurled acid in the face of the syndicated newspaper labor columnist on a mid-Manhattan street in the early morning dark.

A federal conspiracy case against Dio collapsed for lack of witnesses and he never went to trial.

In 1937 Dio was sent to state prison for three to five years for shaking down garment district truckers.

He also got two years in 1957 in a $30,000 union extortion conspiracy.

Clarence, the Rat, Gets His Name Changed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A group of Monrovia Junior High School students presented Clarence the rat as their exhibition at a science fair.

Purpose of the exhibit was to show the effects of dope. However, Clarence became healthier and the day before the show opened "Clarence" gave birth to six rats.

Clarence went on display, but the kids changed his name to Clarence.

Two Bow Out of Jail as Rest Were Praying

STATESBORO, Ga. (AP) — "Let us bow our heads and pray," said the prison chaplain.

The prisoners and guards bowed their heads, all except Pat Patterson, 30, and Joseph Grisson, 32, who slipped out of the prison and fled in a truck.

Patterson was serving a life term and Grisson three to five years.

Hoping Auto Sales Spurt Will Be Contagious

Spring Delighting Businessmen

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The first runnings of spring are delighting winter-weary and somewhat disillusioned businessmen.

How eager they are for any signs of a turn in business activity is shown by the quick reaction to news that auto sales spurted at the end of March.

This report from the industry that probably is being the most closely watched of all was credited with being enough to set off an almost general climb in stock prices.

Whether the spurt in auto sales was set off by special promotion schemes or by spring-inspired consumer interest is yet to be seen. All hands would like to think that it's a real spring sales climb that will whittle down fairly top-heavy inventories of new cars in dealers' hands.

HEAVY GAS SALES

Another thing that may be more seasonal than significant but is none the less heartening is the report that gasoline stocks have dropped, implying that sales are on the upswing after the long winter. Motorists on the road help many industries that service and entertain them, as well as the gasoline stations themselves.

The oil industry also is taking heart in word that as the peak sales period draws to a close the carry-over stocks of light fuel oil are the lowest in two years. The final blasts of winter, whatever plans they upset for many others, at least seem to have helped the fuel men dispose of their stocks.

Another sector of the oil industry also is profiting now from the bad weather in March. Heavy fuel oil stocks were depleted largely because of distribution problems, plus increased consumption. So the price of this oil which is used by factories, ships and utility power plants.

Spring has its lovely aspects for many all companies.

Merchants, especially clothing retailers, are pushing hard now to recapture some of the business they may have lost in the delayed arrival of spring weather. For once a late Easter is being eased more than formerly expected.

And now the Federal Housing Administration says it is considering relaxing the down payment requirements on medium- and higher-priced homes. This isn't billed as a deliberate move to stimulate building—and thus offset in part any sagging in some other parts of the economy. But it could help would-be home buyers to reverse the decline in the industry that turns out the development of new homes in March. General credit conditions have opened homes.

Texas Congressman Sounds Off

Scores Polaris Step-Up at Attack Subs' Expense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy plans to step up the Polaris missile-firing submarine program while cutting back construction of attack submarines brought criticism today from Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.).

Mahon is chairman of the House Appropriations Defense subcommittee, which is considering the defense budget revisions approved Wednesday by President Eisenhower.

"It looks like a compromise package," Mahon commented.

He said he favored expansion of the Polaris submarine program but "I wouldn't give any serious consideration to eliminating the attack submarines, which are major antisubmarine weapons."

He said he believed most members of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee feel the same way.

Senators of both parties generally applauded the missile program changes announced Wednesday. The Defense Department said Congress for 39 million dollars to start building six more Polaris submarines. This was a policy reversal on the part of the Pentagon. And Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. told Congress the Navy is willing to put off getting funds for two of three planned nuclear attack submarines already included in the new budget.

Earlier in the day, President Eisenhower also gave formal approval to increasing the size of six Atlas intercontinental missile squadrons and improving the ballistic warning system. The Pentagon disclosed the last six of the 13 planned Atlas squadrons each would have a total of 13 missiles—three more than under present plans. Earlier it had been thought that the squadrons which will be in place by the end of next year might get as many as 15 missiles and pads.

Both the attack and the Polaris submarines are nuclear-powered. Mahon voiced preliminary approval of the revised Atlas program.

Detroit's Gen. Weber Shifted to Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Md. (U-P) — Brig. Gen. John H. Weber, a native of Philadelphia, Pa., will assume command of the Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground on May 1 succeeding Maj. Gen. H. N. Toddy, recently retired.

Gen. Weber is presently commanding general, Ordnance Tank-Automotive Command, Detroit, Mich., a post he has held since last June.

Weber is a 1932 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy and has served with the Army Ordnance Corps since 1934, principally in engineering development and field service activities.

Perry May Reclaim Writer Goodman Ace

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — The TV lineups for 1960-61 are being rounded up and it's possible that Perry Como will reclaim his ex-head writer, Goodman Ace, who left him last year to produce "The Big Party," which flopped. Perry'll start "The Big Party" again, but he'll start with a new scripter, Hattie Baker, who took over the show after he returns from the London filming trip he takes over Easter. He'll go on this one without his wife Roselle, 'cause she won't fly.

Despite predictions that Edith Piaf will never work again, Agent Eddie Elkart files to Paris soon to wrap up a $200,000 deal. "Those rumor-mongers are wrong," he insists.

Lena Horne does the sexiest singing ever heard at the Waldorf in her new show. Every syllable of a pump in it. In one of her kinsing songs, Lena says she likes Tony (Tony Anybody) because Tony spelled backwards spells "Y-not!" Ali Khan and his usual nameless thin blonde were among those who yelled "More, more!"

Frank Sinatra's yummymyum, Juliet Prowse, who was with him in Miami, was due here to exploit "Can Can" but canceled because she said she had to see her doctor. Studio folks'll bet the "doctor" is F.S.

Actress Margo Moore, who lives in the Village, bought herself a racoon coat for $30 at a thrift shop (because she's thrifty). Not knowing she's in pictures, including "Wake Me When It's Over," Village kids refer to it as a horseblanket and ask her "Is the horse cold?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...
The Bob Crosby's are second-honeymooning in Florida. Jan Murray'll play summer stock for the first time... Comic Marty Allen's bachelor party gift: a sports car—but he can't drive... Drummer Buddy Rich, recovered from his heart attack, will reform his big band... Manhattan Latins, who chipped in to help Castro whip Batista, now are financing anti-Fidel units... Alfred Hitchcock allied off 50 pounds to make a trailer for his film, "Psycho."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: All a divorcee press is whose mother was right in the first place... That's earl, brother.

Visiting the Home Show

UMMM-YUM! — A hungry visitor to the Home Improvement Show, Mrs. Carl Hoard, 1155 Fairfax Rd., Bloomfield Township, enjoys a hot dog cooked in less than a minute in an electronic oven, featured in one of the many exhibits viewed by the public on opening day at the Pontiac Army. The show runs through Sunday.

'Must Keep Up With Russia'

Asks Poison Gas Push

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Army chemical warfare expert said today the United States should push to develop chemical weapons even more potent than kill-in-a-minute "nerve gases" already possessed by America and the Soviet Union.

Hinting that some such effort may already be underway, but that an adequate program would require vigorous public support, Dr. William H. Summerson, a deputy commander of the Chemical Corps' research and development command, asserted:

Summerson made the statements at a symposium wherein he and other government scientists painted a grim picture of the "threat" to the United States and its Allies arising from possible chemical and germ warfare—and the need for assuring strong defenses and countermeasures.

And their remarks were underscored by the statement of Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, the Army's chief chemical officer, that "there is some evidence that the Communist bloc may surpass us in this field."

If the Communists succeed in attaining a superiority in new chemical and biological weapons, "which we can not match or which we can not defend against," said Stubbs, "our nuclear strength could be of academic value."

He said progress is being made in developing protective masks and clothing for civilians but "more thought must be given to making fallout shelters impervious to chemical and biological agents."

It was brought out at the conference—staged at the American Chemical Society's 137th national meeting—that the United States of the body.

Reasons for the large increase in the overall budget, said Supl. William Shuck, is that it is anticipated there will be an increase of at least one pupil next year. Three additional schools will be in operation, he said. This will bring the total number of schools to 23 in the district.

The biggest item in the budget was $3,239,625 for instruction, which includes teachers' salaries, books and miscellaneous items. It is expected that the Waterford Township school district will receive $2,625,000 in state aid, and an additional $1,500,000 from local personal and property taxes, according to Shuck. He said.

"Although taxpayers are paying 25 mills in school taxes, the tax payments have been on the same level for the last three years. This situation will remain the same with the exception of where an assessed valuation has been increased."

Within the last 10 years, township taxpayers have approved more than $12 million in school bond issues, plus $8 million in millage increases for school operation.

Special Features
in Annual Report

A full-color picture of the new Pontiac Public Library, a trip through the newly-completed Pontiac General Hospital, a double-page spread on Civil Defense precautions.

These are just three of the special features awaiting you in the 1960 annual report of the City of Pontiac, to be published as a special supplement to tomorrow's Pontiac Press.

The 14-page supplement will contain more than just the facts and figures about Pontiac. It will be jam packed with interesting photographs, lively information and valuable details you will want to peruse in full for a better understanding of your city.

Sicken up to 75 percent of the population in a 34,000 square mile area with only 450 pounds of virus or bacterial material dropped from a B52 bomber, provided there was no medical defense.

In this connection, Dr. Summerson told reporters with sufficient planes and proper meteorological conditions it would be possible to "blanket" the entire Soviet Union.

Seventeen Democrats joined a solid block of 53 Republicans to give the GOP proposal a 70-34 vote. Seventy-four votes — two-thirds of the membership in the evenly divided House — are required for approval of a ballot proposition to amend the state Constitution.

So far, House action on the resolution has gone according to a forecast by Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit), "Democratic floor leader. He predicted it would miss adoption on the first try but squeeze through on the second vote."

Kowalski denied Democrats were using it as trading material to force Senate approval of a pay raise for lawmakers.

All but two House Democrats voted for a $2,500 boost in the $5,000 yearly salary plus expenses of the 144 legislators. The Republican-controlled Senate turned down the raise, then reconsidered the decision for another vote next week.

Unimproved gravel and dirt roads "throughout the county" have been chewed up in part or in whole by ruts, chuckholes and layers of ooze of near-quicksand consistency.

The county has prepared a long list of impassable roads and the list is growing daily, one official said.

Unimproved roads in Pontiac are suffering the same fate, according to the Department of Public Works.

"The situation was bad, very bad two weeks ago," one county official said.

"The rain and snow of the past week haven't helped a bit, the roads have only worsened because of additional moisture."

The only real cure, he said, would be some warm weather and wind to dry things up.

"Only after the moisture begins to fade can our efforts be of any lasting value," he explained.

Sand and slag fill spread on chewed-up roads one day disappeared within a matter of hours, he continued, leaving the road in the same shape as it was previously.

World War I
Mustard Gas
Fights Cancer

CHICAGO (AP)—A poison gas from World War I is becoming a big gun in the modern war against cancer.

It has helped patients suffering from cancers of the lung, breast and colon.

The gas is nitrogen mustard, an agent that attacks and destroys white cells in the blood. It has shown promising results in temporarily prolonging the lives of some sufferers from leukemia, a cancer-like disease of the blood marked by an overproduction of white cells.

Researchers have sought to extend use of the substance to prolong life and ease pain in patients with solid tumors, cancers that attack the various internal organs of the body.

Red Disarmament Plan
'Uses New Russian Oil'

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union called today on the other nuclear powers to join in a solemn declaration that they would not be the first to use atomic and hydrogen weapons.

At the same time, the Russian delegate handed the West what he claimed was a new-look disarmament program designed to break the month-long deadlock in the 10-nation Geneva Conference. But Western delegation spokesmen said the nuclear proposal was not new.

Sales Tax-Vote
Due on Tuesday

Defeated Thursday by 4 Count; Predict Okay for Fall Ballot

LANSING (AP) — After failing its first test, the proposed statewide vote on raising the sales tax ceiling is slated for a final show down Tuesday.

The Senate-approved resolution clearing four votes short yesterday of clearing the House, the final step toward a November vote on boosting the ceiling from three to four cents.

Another vote was scheduled for Tuesday and Democratic leaders predicted approval.

Seventeen Democrats joined a solid block of 53 Republicans to give the GOP proposal a 70-34 vote. Seventy-four votes — two-thirds of the membership in the evenly divided House — are required for approval of a ballot proposition to amend the state Constitution.

Due to Tiros Defect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Space Agency disclosed today that a mechanical failure aboard the Tiros I weather satellite is preventing it from taking detailed cloud pictures over Russia.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said at a news conference that the weather satellite "is working successfully and well." But he added that since Saturday evening, the satellite's clock timer governing operation of one of the cameras has not been working properly.

The camera involved was a narrow angle, "high resolution" device designed to obtain the clearest pictures.

As a result of the timer's failure, Glennan said, this camera has been able to take pictures only on direct command over Hawaii and adjacent Pacific areas and over New Jersey and the surrounding region of the Atlantic seaboard.

This means that only the larger of the two television cameras, the so-called low resolution device, has been instructed since Saturday evening to take cloud cover pictures as the satellite passed over Russia, China and elsewhere in the Far East. Tiros was successfully launched last Friday morning.

Pictures taken by the large TV camera are too diffuse to show any details of objects on the ground.

Since its launching, Tiros has made 101 trips around the world at an altitude of about 450 miles and has taken hundreds of photographs which have been transmitted electronically to ground stations at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., and Kona Point, Hawaii.

Glennan said the experiment "has performed exceedingly well."

"We have in fact been embarrassed by the wealth of photographic material which has been received," Glennan said.

Package Said to Have 20-Cent Wage Rise and More Fringe Benefits

JACKSON (AP)—A 39-day strike against Consumers Power Co. was settled tentatively today when company and Utility Workers Union officials reached agreement on contract issues.

A Consumer spokesman said a marathon bargaining session which began more than three days ago ended early today in agreement and that the negotiators had agreed to sign a contract later today.

Some 5,100 Union members struck the firm March 1 to back up their new contract demands. The old contract had expired at midnight March 1.

Members of Local 116 of the Union, covering about 270 members from Pontiac, Royal Oak and Plymouth, will meet Saturday at 1 p.m. at UAW Local 623 Hall, 286 E. Roosevelt Rd., J. C. Lane, local vice president, announced today.

H. S. Richmond, Consumers vice president, said the agreement provided for a two-year contract. Under it, he said, the first seven labor grades would get a wage increase of 10 cents an hour the first year and another 10 cents the second. The remaining nine labor grades would get pay raises of 11 cents an hour the first year and an additional 10 cents an hour the second.

Richmond said the package also included increased fringe benefits.

TALKS ON SECURITY

One other major issue in the strike, that of job security, Richmond said.

"As to job security it has been agreed that an employee with five years or more of service who might be laid off because of a lack of work will have the privilege of replacing any employee with less service in his own division or region whose job he is qualified to fill."

"The issue regarding the use of contractors by the company has resolved by an agreement that the interpretations arrived at in certain previous arbitrations."

Rhapsody Composer, 8, Can't Understand Fuss

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight-year-old Kenneth Brown, whose "An Israeli Rhapsody" will be played for the first time Saturday by the Philadelphia Orchestra, can't understand why all the fuss over such a young composer's success.

Heck, he's been writing music since he was four years old. It's a simple thing to him and he can't understand why everybody can't be a composer.

"It comes easy to him," his mother, Vera Brown, explained today. "He can't understand himself what it's a gift."

How does Kenneth go about composing a song?

"He doesn't use a piano," said Mrs. Brown. "He just sits down and starts writing out notes. He says he pictures these things in his head."

"I asked him about 'An Israeli Rhapsody' and he said he had just pictured the country in his mind. I said but how can you when you've never been there and he insisted he could. Really, there is no explanation except he's gifted."

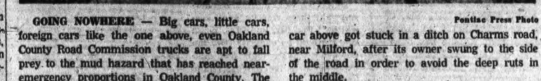

Ken, a third grader, wrote "An Israeli Rhapsody" last January. It impressed his parents, piano teacher and William Smith, assistant conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Smith selected it as the best composition submitted in a competition open to boys and girls in the Philadelphia area.

It will be played Saturday at the annual children's concert in the Academy of Music.

Ken started writing music four years ago. One day he found his older brother's accordion lying on its side with sheet music nearby.

"How do you know what notes to play?" he asked his older brother, Stephen. Stephen explained the basic fundamentals and that Ken started writing music four years ago.

Nelle, Watson Innocent, Says Life-Termer Nash

DETROIT (U) — Charles Nash, 44, says he is unhappy with the life sentence he got in the slaying of auto dealer Parvin "Bill" Lassiter and his wife, Nellie, 36, of 19806 Beverly Hills, Beverly Hills, and Gordon Watson, 44-year-old former business associate of Lassiter, have been accused of first degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder in Lassiter's death.

The state claims Nelle and Watson engineered the killing for "sex and greed." It bases much of its case on what it says Nash and two others, who also drew life terms, told police and prosecutors.

Nash, who admits shooting Lassiter, said he had expected what he termed a light sentence — "something like 15 to 20 years."

Nash said in a Wayne County Jail interview:

"I let police think I knew something about them (Nelle and Watson). They (police) put words in my mouth."

"But I didn't know anything. And if the state police come to Jackson (State Prison) to get me to testify against them, I'll tell them just where they can go."

"The police and the prosecutor said the judge would go easy on me. They tricked me and the others."

"You tell Nelle's lawyer that if he wants a good lawyer for her to call me. She and Watson didn't do nothing at all."

The others to whom Nash referred are Roy C. Hicks, 31, and Richard Jones, 28. All three are from Chattanooga, Tenn., and at

Ariz. Police Captain Airs Views Here

Eight of every 100 juveniles in the United States will be arrested this year — and judges said police have no magic wand which they can wave to make the growing problem of juvenile delinquency disappear.

Only communitywide crime prevention programs can meet the challenge posed by the increasing number of youthful lawbreakers, said Capt. Frank Popello of the Phoenix, Ariz., Sheriff's Department.

Popello, president-elect of the International Juvenile Officers Assn., visited Pontiac yesterday for a first-hand inspection of Pontiac's youth program.

He was the guest of Juvenile Court Director James W. Hunt and Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, whom he met at the recent White House Conference on Children and Youth.

The association of which he is currently vice president consists of 100 juvenile police officers in the United States and 16 other countries.

Popello told state police officers at a luncheon at the Oakland County Children's Home that "police are not social service case workers or recreation leaders."

He also criticized the practice of police acting as probation officers for youthful criminals.

"The offender's attitude is 'who's he kidding—he arrests me then lets me out,'" Popello said.

He stressed that was dangerous to have a strong crime prevention program than to wait until kids become involved in serious crime.

He said most communities were in a state of shock.

Auto Strikes Culvert, Area Resident Dies

A White Lake Township resident of three was killed Thursday evening when his car smashed into a cement culvert on M-59, in White Lake Township.

Edna J. Johnson, 55, of 9470 Pontiac Lake Rd., was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Johnson, who was alone in the car, was driving at a "high rate of speed" and lost control on a curve near Eggertson road, a witness told Pontiac state police.

Galina Ulanova, Noted Russian Ballerina, Retires

MOSCOW (UPI) — Galina Ulanova, hailed in the Soviet Union as the top ballerina dancer of the world, has retired as prima ballerina of the Bolshoi Theatre at the age of 50.

Still little and blonde after 30 years on the ballet stage, Ulanova retains the power to thrill audiences only to her regular appearances with the Bolshoi group.

Competent ball sources said her retirement was effective April 1, after she had been in the company for 25 years.

The floods along the two big rivers in the last two weeks have caused an estimated 18 million dollars damage.

The Day in Birmingham

If Ireland Should Leave, Colleagues May Follow

BIRMINGHAM — Should School Superintendent Dwight B. Ireland confirm his pending resignation in the near future, it is expected that some of his school personnel will follow him.

Ireland, head of the Birmingham school system for 18 years, submitted his resignation to the Board of Education following a special meeting the day after a proposed millage increase was defeated at the polls.

However, the board did not accept his resignation, asking that he reconsider. Ireland said he would stay and make his final decision following the Easter holidays.

Ireland, 60, has denied that his pending resignation is a result of the vote.

Faculty members are reported to be dissatisfied with the vote last week that would have increased the salaries of school personnel.

A meeting between teachers and educational union representatives was held following the vote.

Ireland's resignation was submitted to the president of the school board, Mrs. Kathryn Loomis, who called a meeting Sunday to discuss the situation.

She said that members of the board voted unanimously to reject Ireland's resignation.

Ireland, who has a five-year contract with the school board, has completed only one year.

Since Ireland arrived in Birmingham in 1942 from a teaching position at the University of Rochester in New York, the school system has increased in size nearly five times.

In 1942, there were 2,300 students enrolled. Today there are more than 17,000.

While he has been superintendent more than 205 million dollars in bond issues have been approved for voters for new construction to pace with increasing enrollment.

The defeated millage request last week was the first in the school system since Ireland took office.

Commemorating its 10th anniversary, Birmingham's Little Caesars will present an exhibit of 10 noted artists' work Sunday through June 4.

Included will be water colors by Harry Glascock and Robert McLaren, oils by Richard Lovell, sculpture by Gertrude and Otto Nattler, weaving by Maria Klipp and sculpture by William Krueger.

Also to be shown are works in a variety of mediums by Glen M. Smith, Kenneth Wynne and Karl Stahler.

Sunday's preview showing will be from 4 to 8 p.m. The exhibit will be open regular hours.

Changes in the 25 coaches involved will be made during the next few years. This will not affect touring teams.

But commuters need not worry about excessive third — or a very other discomfiter, according to Hufferd.

"These trains make at least six trips in the trip from Pontiac to Detroit," he explained.

Albert Amerson, Free on Bond in Negligent Homicide Charge

The driver of a car in which two passengers were killed in a Saturday night auto accident today was released on bond in a negligent homicide charge.

Albert Amerson Jr., 26, of 60 Cove St., was freed under $500 bond by Municipal Judge Cecil McCullough pending the pretrial hearing April 20.

Sadie Mae Higgins, 28, of 423 S. Jessie St., and Cecil Reeves, 22, of 12 Utah St., were killed Saturday night when Amerson's car went out of control on Wilson avenue east of S. Saginaw street and struck a pole.

Witnesses said the car was moving at 65 m.p.h., according to Pontiac police.

In a statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, Amerson said when he tried to apply his brakes, the car speeded up.

He admitted he had been drinking shortly before the accident.

Probe Lansing Blaze That Claimed 2 Tots

LANSING (U) — Police and firemen are pushing an investigation of a house fire which claimed the lives of two small children yesterday.

Detective Sgt. James Henderson said there was "a good possibility" that Mr. and Mrs. Keith Black would be charged with neglect for leaving their five children alone in the modern frame house.

Black's wife, Mrs. Black, was found dead in the kitchen.

The fire broke out at 11:30 p.m. at 1111 E. Grand St. in the 11th ward.

The fire was caused by a gas leak from a gas furnace.

Water Main Breaks, Floods Detroit Area

DETROIT (UPI) — A break in a water main early today sent between five and ten million gallons of water gushing into Detroit streets and cut off water to thousands of homes and businesses.

Water shot eight feet into the air from the break in a 48-inch water main under Vernor street between Montclair and Lemay on the east side.

Streets were flooded hip-deep and traffic had to be re-routed. Some homes were without water for two hours until the water main was turned off and water routed through parallel mains.

The force of the escaping water tore a hole 10-feet wide and 30-feet long in the pavement of Vernor highway.

5th Grade Test Bill Dies in Committee

LANSING — A bill to require a statewide examination of fifth graders lay in a committee graveyard today.

The House yesterday returned the Senate-approved measure to the education committee with the obvious intention of killing it.

Sen. Stanley Rzycki (D-Detroit) proposed testing fifth grade pupils in reading, writing, arithmetic and other basic subjects in a program to screen out youngsters needing special help.

Building Slips This March in Waterford Area

Building was down in Waterford Township in March this year compared to the same period last year, according to township building inspector Carl Walton.

Total permits issued this March were $45,041 as compared to $731,971 for March of 1959. Only 11 house permits for construction valued at $106,000 were issued. A year ago there were 44 for $204,760.

A commercial permit for construction valued at $23,350 was issued to the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for construction of an equipment building near Telegraph road. Another was for a two-family $13,800 apartment building on Sashabow road.

Move to Centralize Missile, Space Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department moved Thursday to bring its far-flung system of missile and space vehicle test programs and facilities under tight central direction.

The boss of the new set-up is Dr. Herbert F. York, director of defense research and engineering, who already holds broad control of most of the military space and missile projects.

Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, who for more than five years has directed operations at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., missile testing center, will be brought to Washington within a few weeks to become deputy director of research and engineering for the

York said he believes Yates "has directed more big rocket launchings than perhaps anyone in the world."

One objective apparently will be to settle disagreements between the Navy and Air Force over what portions of test programs are carried out by the Navy's facility at Point Arguello and the USAF's big missile center at Vandenberg Air Force Base. Close together on the California coast, they are both involved in operations of the Pacific ocean range.

Success works in many directions. It can make a man's hat too tight for his head or his belt too tight for his pants... The Orientals have always seemed most concerned with saving face, but it took American beauty parlors to put it on a paying basis. —Earl Wilton.

THE WORLD'S FIRST YEAR 'ROUND COOLING SYSTEM FLUID

DOWGARD

Fill your radiator now with this scientific formulation which eliminates the need to add water in summer, antifreeze in winter. Totally new protection against rust, corrosion, freezing and overheating. One full fill protects your cooling system for 12 full months.

*No More seasonal flushing and draining.
No more seasonal need to add antifreeze, rust inhibitors or even ordinary water.
DOWGARD ends these worries and inconveniences while giving your car the scientific protection it deserves!*

DOWGARD cooling system fluid defeats your radiator's natural enemy—ordinary water—which attacks metal, causes rust, corrosion and clogging. No matter how carefully you lubricate, tune up and check transmission, brakes, tires and wheel balance, you can still be in trouble if rust and corrosion go unchecked in your radiator!

DOWGARD cooling system fluid stops this damage. Why? It is a blend of a completely new combination of protective chemicals and specially treated de-ionized water. This formulation can't rust or corrode for one full year's service. DOWGARD protects against freezing and overheating. Your cooling system is safe from 40°F. below to 240°F. above zero while DOWGARD is on duty.

Many years of careful research resulted in DOWGARD. Dow cooling system specialists have worked continually with major automotive and oil companies. In laboratories—one near Detroit, the world's car capital—they employed painstaking methods to develop the only coolant that gives a car complete protection.

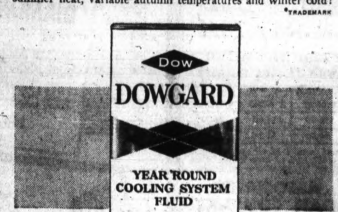

Tests under tougher-than-usual driving conditions backed up the laboratory results with convincing proof that DOWGARD met the highest possible standards!

Protection and convenience are the principal features of DOWGARD, but research indicates that it also maintains better heat transfer which affects heater-defroster action and engine operation. Especially beneficial in all air-conditioned cars, DOWGARD is certain to strengthen any car's resale value.

Sold only through service dealers, DOWGARD gives you the equivalent of a sealed cooling system for one full year. The serviceman will drain out the sources of trouble, service the system and refill with the finest cooling system fluid in the world. Then he'll place a special blue cap on your radiator which shows the date when your cooling system should be resealed.

DOWGARD saves you money. Its cost depends on the cooling system capacity of your car. For most American cars the suggested installation cost ranges from $8 to $12. For some smaller cars, the cost would be as little as $4.50. Your service dealer will give you the exact price for your car. Remember that a premium fill of DOWGARD cooling system fluid gives complete protection for 12 months. You'll save in the long run. Get DOWGARD now and forget car problems that go with summer heat, variable autumn temperatures and winter cold!

Rely on your service dealer for year 'round protection with DOWGARD, symbolized by this cap—

"A very romantic notion," said a French Embassy spokesman, "but that suit would hardly do today, since then the president has put on 30 pounds."

Tells of Possible Missile Defense

Method Analyzes Light Instantly; Could Also Aid Peaceful A-Use

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientist today described a method for almost instantaneous analysis of light which could make possible a successful atomic defense against missiles.

He said it also is a step toward automatic control of thermonuclear power plants of the future in which light reactions would generate electrical power. It could be used to study atomic explosions at the instant of detonation.

The new method, if the time intervals involved can be reduced from one millionth to one hundredth-millionth of a second, eventually may give scientists a glimpse of what goes on inside an atom.

The light analysis system, involving use of television techniques, was reported to the Optical Society of America by Dr. D. J. Lovell of the Bendix Aviation Corp., South Bend, Ind.

By breaking light down into its various wavelengths (colors), as with a prism, scientists can glean a wealth of information from the material emitting it. This information includes elemental and chemical makeup, temperature, speed and direction of motion, and chemical and physical reactions.

The conventional way of spreading light out into its various component colors is to photograph it on film with a spectrograph. Lovell's method bypasses the film, thus saving time.

By use of a television camera and cathode ray tube, Lovell is able to observe spectral changes occurring in about a millionth of a second. This, with the help of electronic computers, makes it possible to act almost instantly on the information provided by the spectrograph.

Defense against missiles is impractical now because they move so fast that advance warning is practically nonexistent. But the new light analysis system, Lovell said, provides a means of giving information about an event "as it is happening and during a period when we can still do something about it."

Farmers Protest Plastic Eggs for Easter Hunt

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (U-P)—This resort plans to use plastic eggs for its beachfront Easter egg hunt, and egg farmers have protested. "With prices the way they are today, we have to give our eggs away anyway," said Eugene Goetz, owner of an egg hatchery in Whitesville.

"I'll donate the eggs if they won't buy them, just to see real eggs used."

A sponsor of the April 16 egg hunt pointed out another problem. "We have to think of the summer visitors," he said, "and all the eggs are found. Some stay buried in the sand until summer. Finding an egg in July that's been buried since Easter is not the world's most pleasant experience, although it might assure you a private section of beach."

The State Poultry Assn. suggested hardboiling the 1,000 eggs needed.

Ionio Father and Son Enter Politics Together

IONIA (U-P)—A father and his son entered politics simultaneously today. Jay C. Bowne, 59, and his son, Warren, 28, announced their candidacies for office in the Aug. 2 state primary elections. Both are political newcomers.

The younger Bowne is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Eighth District, the post being vacated by Rep. Alvin Bentley from Owosso. Bentley is running for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

The elder Bowne aspires to the State Legislature. He is a candidate for state representative from Ionia County as a Republican.

The Bownes own and operate a chemical supply company here.

Engineer Eyes Inflatable Rubber Space Station

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—An engineer has proposed building an inflatable rubber space station capable of supporting at least two men.

Enmanuel Schintzer, an aeronautical research engineer employed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said such a space station could be deflated like a balloon and blasted into space in the nose cone of a rocket.

Once in space, a signal from earth could release the station and cause it to unfold like an umbrella into a complete inverted hemisphere, he told a conference here on the structural design of space vehicles.

Oratorical Triumph for De Gaulle

LONDON (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle won the crowning ovation of his triumphant visit to Britain Thursday with a call for an end to the nuclear arms race. France, he said, desires above all that nuclear weapons be destroyed and the "vehicles of death" that carry them be placed under surveillance. And she believes that east and west can live in peace together.

De Gaulle's speech combined the stuff of history with oratory perhaps unmatched since Winston Churchill roused the free world to action 20 years ago. Churchill, 85, and techie now was there to honor his wartime ally.

De Gaulle, tall and vigorous in sober morning dress, stood before a silk covered throne on the gray stone steps that fill one end of Westminster Hall. Scarlet-robed beefeaters from the Tower of London flanked him as an honor guard. A fanfare from trumpeters in medieval dress introduced his speech.

ENDED IN DRAMA
The soldier-president spoke with hardly a glance at his notes for 30 minutes. By an oratorical tour de force he contrived to end just as the 80-year-old hall vibrated the last stroke of noon from the great bell of Big Ben.

The audience—members of both houses of Britain's Parliament—sat in a moment of silence as Churchill announced. Then they burst into a roar of applause that lasted a full four minutes.

De Gaulle's theme was that Britain and France have a common destiny to work for silence as Churchill announced. Then they burst into a roar of applause that lasted a full four minutes.

France believes that this peace can be attained only if the sword of sudden annihilation is first removed. "This involves the limitation and control of armaments by both camps."

France (France) wishes above all that stocks of nuclear weapons be destroyed, that installations where they are made be used for other purposes, that rockets and aircraft capable of carrying them, as well as the fixed or floating bases from which these vehicles of death can be launched, be placed under surveillance.

"France would for her part be very happy to give up the tests and the capital expenditure she has undertaken in order to provide herself with the means possessed by others, as soon as these others cease to have them available."

He foresaw a lessening of enmity between the rival blocs of West and East, France, he said, hopes it will be achieved "in a peaceful atmosphere, through evolution conditioned on the one hand by the aspiration of human nature for liberty, and on the other by the pursuit of progress which demands efficiency."

After a tribute to the perseverance of Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan in working to bring the heads of state together in Paris next month De Gaulle asserted:

"You may believe that he (Macmillan), President Eisenhower, Mr. Khrushchev and I will come to grips with this summit with a certain satisfaction at finding ourselves together."

"For all four of us know and respect each other already."

After referring to his last visit to Britain, in wartime, 16 years ago, he agreed wryly that he and Churchill had had their differences.

"But see," he cried, "how time works to display what matters and wipe out what counts for little."

Churchill, hunched in his chair with Lady Churchill beside him, was near tears. When De Gaulle finished and after the applause ended, he slowly descended to the floor of the hall, bowed to Sir Winston, and strode slowly out into the spring sunshine. Churchill followed. No one moved until both had gone.

Round and Round It Goes

WASHINGTON—In the northern hemisphere a cyclone rotates in a counterclockwise direction and in the southern hemisphere it turns in a clockwise direction.

DE GAULLE AND CHURCHILL—President de Gaulle calls on Sir Winston Churchill, his old wartime friend and sometimes adversary, in London Wednesday. Their beaming faces, during the 25-minute visit, indicated their differences were forgotten long ago. De Gaulle's Free French headquarters were in London during World War II.

Predicts Low Week of Year for Autos

DETROIT (AP)—Automotive News said auto production this week will drop to a low for the year of 134,624 passenger cars, only 1,381 units ahead of the comparable week of 1959.

Production has been running well ahead of year-ago figures.

The trade paper said strikes and short work weeks throughout the industry are responsible for the drop from last week's 148,632 assemblies.

Compact cars, however, continue to pour steadily ahead with 39,979 units scheduled for this week, almost 30 per cent of the industry's total production. Last week compact output totaled 40,573 units.

Automotive News' estimated truck production this week at 26,488 units compared with 29,015 last week and 25,903 in the similar week of last year.

OK Capitol Committee

LANSING (AP)—Appointment of a special committee to map plans for restoring and refurbishing Michigan's 51-year-old Capitol Building has been approved by the House. The committee of House members will start its work after the Legislature adjourns.

Michigan Oil Reserves Seen

MSU Geologist Doing Research on Best Way to Locate Fields

EAST LANSING (AP)—There are still substantial untapped oil deposits in this state, a Michigan State University geology professor maintains. "That seems to be the opinion of many geologists who have made extensive studies of the Michigan basin," reported Prof. William J. Hinz.

But he said Michigan is prevented from realizing its potential as an oil producer by obstacles to locating the fields. Chief among these are subsurface structures, the great depth of some producing areas and glacial drifts of up to 1,000 feet covering potential oil basins.

Hinz is doing research to produce information to aid in exploration for potential oil strikes.

One aspect is a field study leading to a complete magnetic map of Michigan and adjoining areas.

Also planned is an extensive study of the physical properties of the rock layers that compose the Michigan basin.

Other research will seek to learn more about fracture zones, known to serve as oil reservoirs.

The program, Hinz said, also will train geology graduate students.

"We hope to increase the effectiveness of currently applied methods of exploration," he said, "and in particular develop new methods especially adapted to Michigan."

British to Ask About Schooling in '61 Census

LONDON (AP)—Britons are going to count themselves for the first time in 10 years, this time to find out among other things how many of them know about Sputniks and such things.

Plans for a nationwide census on April 23, 1961, were announced today. High on the list of new questions is one seeking qualifications in science and technology. The last official census in 1951 revealed 30,225,224 people in the United Kingdom. In 1956 an unofficial estimate was 31,208,000.

It will be the 26th census in Britain's history. The earliest in 1700 received a population of roughly seven million.

Jackie Takes Spill on Broadway Stage

NEW YORK (UPI)—Comedian Jackie Gleason slipped and pulled a ligament in his left leg during a matinee of his Broadway show, "Take Me Along."

Gleason is expected to be out of the show for about two weeks. He was finishing up a soft shoe number when he slipped on the slick stage and had to limp off.

70 Different Viruses Cause Common Cold

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The common cold may be caused by any of more than 70 different viruses, according to a scientist at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Robert G. Jackson, a professor of medicine, reported new findings on the common cold at the first annual convention of the American College of Physicians.

He said his experiments were aided by 2,500 students who volunteered regularly to catch cold from virus infections.

The research group found that some of the 70 viruses catalogued caused influenza most of the time and colds only rarely. Others caused colds most of the time, and rarely caused influenza.

Jackson said wintry weather may have little to do with the common cold.

Half of the volunteers were exposed to chilly temperatures while the others stayed in normal room temperatures. He found that 35 of the chilled group caught colds and 28 per cent of the warm group was infected.

Western World Could Set Pace

President of Colombia Asks Study of Defense in Atomic Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American nations could set a disarmament example for the world, Colombian President Alberto Lleras Camargo said Thursday.

In an address prepared for the Organization of American States Council, Lleras said a careful study of the new situation raised by the atomic age would be well worthwhile.

He told the 31-nation council that the conclusion of such a study "must be that far too much money is spent and far too many sacrifices are made for obsolete means of defense."

Lleras' speech to a special session of the council came only a day after Chile formally had proposed that the OAS call a special conference on arms limitation.

The Colombian leader repeated his government's belief that technical advice on the arms needs of the hemisphere should be given by the Inter-American Defense Board, a military group already in existence.

Lleras stressed that the inter-American system, while well developed in certain fields, still has some shortcomings.

The American peoples, he said, "have been depositing more and more of their sovereignty in the organization. They hope thus to endow it with a power-up to now chiefly moral and judicial—which will drastically reduce the capacity for adventure, disorder and imperialism in our hemisphere." But he added:

"We have not yet perfected a multilateral agreement wherein all the methods of peaceful settlement are organized. And we still must have recourse to more or less unpremeditated expedients when a perplexing or dangerous situation occurs. . . . We have pending the urgent and undervalued task of regulating, codifying and extending our law."

Saginaw Woman Runs for Vacant DAR Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Chester F. Miller of Saginaw, Mich., is among the candidates for the two vacancies as honorary vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She will be running against Miss Helen MacKinnon of Salem, Ill., and Mrs. Reuben E. Knight of Alliance, Neb., for the two vacancies.

The 60th Continental Congress of the DAR opens at Washington April 12.

Two Are Seeking Langer Senate Seat

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP) — Rep. Quentin Burdick, a Democratic trailblazer in the stronghold of Republicanism, will battle Gov. John E. Davis for the remaining 4½ years of the late Sen. William Langer's Senate seat.

State Democrats and Nonpartisan Leaguers, meeting in joint convention Thursday unanimously designated the 51-year-old attorney as their nominee.

Burdick and Davis are matched in the June 28 special election to name a successor to Langer, the longtime political firebrand, who died in office last November.

HELD IN INTERIM
The seat now is held by Republican Norman Brunsdale, appointed by Davis on an interim basis.

Burdick rode a North Dakota Democratic upsurge into the House of Representatives in 1958, the first of his party ever to gain a House seat from North Dakota.

If he wins in June he will be the state's second Democratic senator. John Moses, a three-term governor, was elected in 1944 but served only a short time before he died.

One of four American families moves during a year.

Williams Signs Law for Aging

After 10-Year Struggle, Commission Is Formed to Help Oldsters

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday signed into law a bill creating a state commission on aging to cap a 10-year struggle to get the plan through the Legislature.

"This commission will not be a 'talk group' but will strive for and promote programs which will ease the later years of our people," Williams said.

He said many groups had been working for the bill for 10 years or more, and the commission was "only the beginning of an active program to provide a better life for our senior citizens."

"The commission represents a giant step forward in securing psychological and economic needs for our older people," Williams said. Named to the commission:

James E. Brophy, Detroit; Dan Connell, Muskegon; Mgr. John Stewey, Lansing; John B. Martin, Grand Rapids; Dr. Wilma Dunn, Ann Arbor; and Charles O'Hea, Detroit.

The commission members will be members of a commission on aging created by Williams for temporary service until a law was passed setting up the present commission. Five state officials were also named to ex-officio posts on the commission.

Charged With Receiving 24 Tons of Stolen Steel

A Southfield teacher, Joel Berkowitz, 44, was arraigned in Federal Court, Detroit, yesterday on charges of receiving stolen steel.

Berkowitz, who operates the Northwest Truck and Sales Co. at 19250 W. Eighth Mile Rd., was freed on $3,000 bond pending examination April 28.

He has been charged with illegally receiving 49,000 pounds of coil steel taken from a semi-trailer parked in Melvindale.

Market Rally Comes to Halt

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's four-day rally stalled today as prices declined in moderate trading.

Key stocks declined from fractions to about a point. A minority of issues posted gains in about the same range.

The rally was spurring yesterday and the list managed to end higher by only a slight margin. Prices reached resistance near the late February peak, brokers said.

The major steels and -motors, pacemakers in the rally, declined unanimously. Rails, oils and utilities, the latter of a 1960 peak yesterday, also retraced.

Rubbers and chemicals were irregular. Aircrafts produced a few small gains.

Enthusiasm over the big boost in March auto sales gave way before news of declining car production in this week, a drop in rail freight carloadings and cutbacks in steel production.

Youngstown Sheet dipped more than a point. U.S. Steel was around a point lower. Other leading steelmakers dropped fractions.

Ford was off around a point. Others of the big three automakers were off less than that. American Motors and Studebaker-Packard edged up.

DuPont gained about a point. Up moderately were Goodyear, Boeing, General Dynamics, Anacosta, International Nickel, American Cyanamid and Merck.

General Electric and Goodrich were around a point lower.

Convict Angry at Help Refusal

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The attorney for Ann Arbor industrialist Charles Baird said today Baird twice gave money to a federal prison convict who accused him of plotting to assassinate Washington, D.C., Mayor Walter P. Reuther.

Baird, 44, said he gave the convict, who was serving a 10-year term for armed robbery, $500 to help him escape from prison
