

Family Near as Dulles' Condition Gets Worse

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles' condition is worse. His family has gathered here in the city to be close to him.

In addition to his wife and brother, Allen, who heads the Central Intelligence Agency, they include his three children and three sisters.

The former secretary of state, weakened by the cancer that has spread through his body, contracted a mild case of pneumonia last weekend. Friday State Department Press officer Lincoln White said:

"Mr. Dulles' pneumonia has not completely resolved. There has been some further decline in his general condition."

Dulles, 71, entered Walter Reed Army Hospital last Feb. 12.

In 1956, an operation had removed a cancerous growth in the colon.

This February, in the course of a hernia operation, Army doctors discovered that the cancer had spread.

They gave Dulles huge radiation treatments, both with a giant X-ray machine and by injecting radioactive gold salts into his abdomen.

In April Dulles left the hospital briefly for a stay in Florida. For a time it even appeared that his tremendous powers of recuperation and will to go on would prevail.

Then on April 12 he returned to the hospital.

The doctors reported the cancer had spread to his neck.

On April 15 President Eisenhower, with great reluctance, announced Dulles' resignation as secretary of state.

Dulles reportedly forced Eisenhower's hand in the resignation, so that the way would be clear for Christian A. Herter to take over as secretary and carry on the duties Dulles had borne for six years.

It was in a voice betraying his emotion that Eisenhower told a small group of newsmen that Dulles now is "incapacitated for carrying on the administrative load" of his office, "in addition to assisting in the making of policy."

Eisenhower said at that conference that the latest medical findings on Dulles' condition "are not of the kind that make him helpless."

And he announced he was keeping Dulles on as a consultant on foreign policy.

Eisenhower frequently has conferred with Dulles during the last few weeks.

At Walter Reed Army Hospital Dulles' condition was reported unchanged this morning.

Ike Flies to Colorado for Visit of 24 Hours

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flies to Colorado today for a 24-hour visit. He plans to tour the new Air Force Academy and call on his ailing mother-in-law.

Eisenhower will greet the Air Force Academy's first graduating class and get his first on-the-ground look at the school which nestles at the eastern edge of the Rocky Mountains.

Accompanying the President from Washington for tour are Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas and Gen. James D. White, Air Force chief of staff.

Also going along are the President's son and daughter-in-law, Army Major and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and their four youngsters. The President's grandchildren are David, 11, Barbara Anne, 9, Susan, 7, and Mary Jean, 2.

Eisenhower is expected to remain at the academy for at least a couple of hours. From there the party will fly north to Denver, a 15-minute hop.

MAMIE WENT AHEAD

Denver is the home of Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, who was 81 last Wednesday. The First Lady already is at the Doud residence. She arrived earlier in the week by train.

Sen. Hart Speaks Tonight at State NAACP Fete Here

The Oakland County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, located in Pontiac, is playing host this weekend to the 23rd annual meeting of the Michigan State Conference of NAACP Branches.

Franklin Elementary School, 661 Franklin Rd., was a busy place yesterday as the 23 member chapters in Michigan began registering at 5 p.m. The school will act as headquarters for the conference.

Highlighting the affair will be an address by Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan at a semi-formal banquet tonight.

The $3-a-plate dinner will start at 7:30 at the Pontiac Local 653 Hall, UAW-CIO, 338 Kennett Rd., with Dr. Harry L. Riggs acting as master of ceremonies. A dance will follow the banquet.

More than 200 delegates from throughout the state were expected at the three-day conference. Workshops on housing, legislation, and employment were being conducted at the school this afternoon.

Directing the conference activities is Charles M. Tucker Jr., president of the Oakland County NAACP Branch. Charles J. Harrison of 370 Bagley St. is in charge of reservations for the banquet.

General Fund at Modern Low but Aid on Way

Fast Revenue Handling May Meet This Week's State Payroll on Time

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's general fund balance today was down to its lowest level in modern history. But help is on the way. Two major revenue-producing taxes fell due yesterday.

The fund was almost flat and well over 100 million dollars in current obligations were piled up against it and the nearly broke state school aid fund as the State Treasury closed its books for the weekend.

The general fund is expected to scrape bottom through next week and maybe beyond, but between 32 and 34 million dollars in franchise taxes beyond amounts already collected fell due yesterday. So did more than 25 millions in sales taxes, two-thirds of which goes to the school aid fund.

Ordinarily, the franchise collections, bound for the general fund, would slowly flow in over the next six weeks, but emergency processing measures are expected to get the bulk of them on deposit by the first week of June. Sales tax processing will take about 10 days.

It was still anybody's guess whether the machinery could turn fast enough to meet next Thursday's $5,100,000 payroll on time.

Before money can be accumulated for that purpose, the present plan is to rush out the first 13 millions taken into the general fund to complete payment of the $35,500,000 May 15 installment of primary school interest money.

At worst, Thursday's payroll was not expected to be delayed more than a few days.

After that, the next big hurdle is to catch up on past due payments to the three major state universities in time to avoid missing month-end faculty payrolls at the University of Michigan and Michigan State.

The treasury is $19,600,000 in arrears to the three schools, nine millions to the U. of M., $7,400,000 to MSU and $3,200,000 to Wayne State University.

However, an allocation of a little more than six millions by May 27 or 28 would be enough to tide them over most immediately threatening financial shoals.

Of the nearly 80 millions owed for various local school purposes, 13 millions will be taken care of within a week under present plans.

Another 37 millions or more can be met before the end of the fiscal year June 30 through (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

In British Dictionary Hepcat Makes Grade

LONDON (AP)—The cat that bent her roll-on getting hep in the espresso has at last gained official recognition in Britain.

Cat, hep, roll-on, a two-way stretch and espresso are all included in the latest supplement put out by the authoritative Chambers British Dictionary.

Ten years ago these words would have meant little to people who rely on the dictionary for their English. Had they described the cat's dilemma with words then at their command, they likely would have said:

"A young lady with an addiction for jazz music suffered a disarrangement of her clothing while performing a vigorous dance in a coffee house used by the younger set."

This is a measure of what is happening to the English language, but as a spokesman for Chambers said, "We must keep up with the times."

Chambers—despite its international distribution—is printed and published only in Britain. For 58 years, its tomes have been hauled down from bookshelves over the world to throw light wherever English is spoken.

Not until now, however, has the reader been able to get the definitive view on words like stereophonic, bebop, jive, cha cha, square and sweater girl.

Judge Jails Industrialist for Nonsupport of Children

A Detroit industrialist was behind bars at the Oakland County Jail today as Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer continued to crack the whip on fathers who refuse to pay for the support of their children.

Harvey S. Freeman, 37, of 29553 Lochmoor Ave., Farmington Township, strolled into the friend of the court's office yesterday afternoon and surrendered himself. He was dressed ready for jail and carried a kit of toilet articles.

Donald A. Tews, enforcement attorney for the office, then escorted Freeman, owner of Independent Engineering Co., 4550 W. Boston Blvd., over to the courtroom of Judge Beer.

Judge Beer immediately found Freeman, father of three young boys, guilty of being in contempt of court and ordered him committed to jail for 90 days.

In explaining the sentence, Judge Beer said: "Where I find a man is willfully disobedient of support orders I have no other recourse than to send him to jail."

Freeman appeared before Judge Beer Monday. The judge gave him until 3 p.m. yesterday to pay $550 in back support payments and $500 in attorney fees, or go to jail for 90 days.

Allied Plan as a Whole Called Not Acceptable by Russian Leader

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today Russia will not reject the Western Geneva plan out of hand because it contains some points that can be discussed.

The actual plan, however, is not acceptable to the Soviet Union, Khrushchev said.

The Soviet leader said the Western powers know their "package" plan is not acceptable to Russia but said they submitted it because they wanted to provoke sharp Soviet criticism and then blame the Soviets for the failure of the Geneva foreign ministers conference.

Khrushchev spoke at a ceremony during which he was awarded the Lenin Peace Prize today.

Delegates to the East-West foreign ministers' conference in Geneva fanned out across Europe during a weekend recess today, leaving technical experts to work on proposals for easing the deadlock that developed during the meeting's first week.

Civil Defense Chief Urges Cooperation

City Receives State Disaster Plan

Copies of Michigan's new $250,000 civil defense disaster plan were distributed in Pontiac yesterday, with Ralph H. Sheehan, state director of civil defense, encouraging "a spirit of cooperation, coordination and understanding" to make it work.

"The plan, two years in the making, provides Michigan cities and counties with a uniform civil defense preparation guide to follow for the first time in the state's history."

It breaks Michigan down into five command control areas, with Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids and Flint being pinpointed as the target areas an enemy most likely would bomb.

Pontiac was designated as a secondary target in the plan.

The plan outlines the duties of a city and county department should a bomb or missile hit.

More than 50 Oakland County civil defense officials and volunteers turned out Friday to collect copies of the plan and hear project planners, including Robert R. Boyer of Pontiac, explain the workings of the plan.

LIST CATEGORIES

The 250-page plan outlines suggestions for civil defense preparations regarding attack warning, communications, intelligence, police, welfare, engineering, transportation, radiological, fire, rescue, manpower, health, medical, and mortuary, legal, emergency information, training and schools.

Two years ago the federal government appropriated the quarter of a million dollars to finance the Michigan plan.

Boyer, who traveled the state putting together his section of the plan, said a major asset of it will be its uniformity in assuring that should an attack come all communities would be operating under the same plan.

Boyer said he discovered in his travels that one county CD director was the communications aspect of civil defense, paying little attention to other phases, while another director was placing the emphasis on first aid.

WILL WORK

"This plan will work if they want to make it work," Boyer said. Sheehan informed CD leaders that to qualify for federal funds — to be used on a matching basis in order to carry out the suggested outline — a written plan to fit into the state program must be submitted to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Sunny Skies Chase Cold From Nation

By The Associated Press
Sunny skies, blessed with a welcome rise in the mercury, hugged most of the nation today. Remnants of a midweek cold curtain that draped over vast areas of the country were still pronounced along the northern tier. Widely scattered showers also interrupted the warming trend. An invasion of warm southerly winds cut off the flow of cool Canadian air in the Rockies and Plains. Early morning temperatures were up at least 10 degrees from the previous corresponding period from Montana eastward across the Dakotas into Iowa and Minnesota. The Great Lakes was the cold spot with Grand Marais, an upper peninsula community of Michigan, locked in the freeze box with a 28.

ANCHORAGE LOW 49

Anchorage, Alaska showed an early 49 contrasted to a 45 at Detroit and 44 at Chicago. Livestock warnings were posted by the U. S. Weather Bureau as the cold lingered in the Wyoming-Utah area. A few flakes were compounded with snow at Binghamton, N. Y. And, a strange phenomena brought snow over central Philadelphia Friday in 57 degree temperatures. The flakes vanished as they touched ground. The Weather Bureau explained there was freezing temperature in the clouds and most of the snow changed to rain in its downward flight. Scattered light showers fell during the night from the lower Great Lakes eastward across New York State into New England. Isolated thunderstorms also were reported in the Plains states. Showers also dampened the Pacific Northwest.

Dealers Deny Auto Price Fix

Detroit Area Food Firms Charged With Setting Minimum Profit Figure

DETROIT (U. S. — Twenty-two Detroit area food dealers and their association today denied charges of fixing new car prices.

Arthur M. Stringari, legal counsel for Metropolitan Detroit Ford Dealers Inc. and the individual dealers, said they will battle the government charges in the courts.

The dealers and the association were charged with antitrust violations in an indictment returned in U. S. District Court here yesterday. The indictment accused them of a conspiracy to "raise, fix and stabilize" prices on Ford cars, parts and accessories and to set auto prices at a level that would guarantee a gross profit of at least $225 on each unit sold.

A previous Detroit grand jury last Jan. 23 indicted 22 Detroit area Chevrolet dealers on similar charges. They are awaiting trial. Other similar indictments were returned during the past year in New York City, San Francisco and Washington.

Stringari said Detroit area Ford dealers "intend to exhaust all legal remedies to protect their rights."

"Neither the association nor any of its individual members has engaged in any price fixing," he said.

"Over 44 Ford dealers were questioned under oath by the grand jury and their testimony strongly contradicts the indictment. Furthermore, a study of the business records definitely shows that no conspiracy existed at any time."

Arraignments are scheduled for June 1.

Woman Dem Pokes Fun at GOP Hopefuls

DENVER (AP)—A Democratic party women's leader said today the Democrats have so many presidential nomination eligibles that she's almost sorry for the Republicans having to choose between "just a well-known millionaire and a well-known cocker spaniel fancier."

This was Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, speaking to a Western states' Democratic conference and the Colorado Federation of Jane Jefferson Clubs.

Her jibe at the GOP's presidential prospects was aimed at Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a very wealthy man, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon mentioned "checkers," his family cocker spaniel, to a nationwide television audience Sept. 23, 1952, when he denied any wrongdoing in accepting an $18,000 political expense fund from a group of California businessmen.

"Checkers," a gift to the Nixon children from Texas, is still a family pet.

Sees Fantastic Discoveries

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's top scientific advisers predicted today that "numerous and fantastic" discoveries will follow construction of more powerful atom-smashers.

In a special report, they said the accelerators now planned will enable scientists to "see" distances that are to the thickness of a sheet of paper as the paper is to the distance to the moon.

The aim is to use sub-atomic "bullets" to break up even the smallest particles of matter now known.

The report asked for a boost from $5 to 135 million dollars a year in the federal outlay for atom-smashers. This would include the $100,000,000 Stanford University linear accelerator which the President said in New York Thursday would be given administration support.

"The practical results that must derive from continued exploration with larger accelerators cannot be guessed," the scientists said. "But if the past is a guide they will be numerous and fantastic. The one thing we have learned to expect from nature is to be surprised."

City Gets State Plan for Civil Defense

each Oakland city of 10,000 or more population.

Both Oakland County, Pontiac, and many other larger Oakland cities already have workable civil defense outlines, for which little revision is expected to be necessary to fit the state proposal.

With obvious reference to Ohio Sen. Stephen M. Young's suggestion that federal funds for civil defense be abolished, Sheehan told yesterday's gathering in the Supervisors' Room:

"I have little time for these people who say in this nuclear age that we should roll over and play dead."

CD IN ACTION

He referred to this week's tornado-like winds which caused considerable damage in Ann Arbor, and the part of civil defense workers play — even in peacetime.

"There's your civil defense program in action," Sheehan said.

He said where ever he has gone in the state explaining the new outline, praise has been heaped upon the State Civil Defense Department for providing guide lines for the first time from which municipalities and counties can build their plans.

"There's a sense of uniformity and belonging for the first time," the state director said.

He urged city and county directors to study the state outline "thoroughly" before suggesting any adjustments. If it is discovered that adjustments are needed, they should be made on a state-wide basis.

The state model was drafted so it can fit into national civil defense plans, Sheehan said.

The five command control areas dividing Michigan consist of (1) the Upper Peninsula; (2) the western half of the Lower Peninsula; (3) the geographical center of the state; (4) the northeast section of the state along the Thumb Area, and (5) the Detroit metropolitan area, including Oakland County.

Each of the five areas would designate an area civil defense coordinator who would join with state officials to map preparations during the pre-attack, attack, and post-attack phases.

Reds Ask Treaty; U.S. 'Disappointed'

SEE SOME HOPE

The conference's first week revealed that East and West are diametrically opposed in their positions on the key issues under discussion, but diplomatic observers said there still appears to be some hope of compromise.

Attendance at the secret meetings proposed by the Americans would be limited to the four foreign ministers, plus two advisers each. Even conference secretaries and interpreters would be excluded.

The meetings which have been held so far have been nominally closed, but press spokesmen for all parties concerned have rushed to tell newsmen what happened as soon as each session adjourned.

The Western Big Three are planning on a summit conference, probably in mid-July and possibly in San Francisco, despite the present deadlock in the foreign ministers' talks here, it was reported today.

Authoritative sources said the West believes Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is so anxious for a chance to negotiate with President Eisenhower that he is willing to pay the price of progress here which the West has set as the prerequisite for a summit conference.

Pushes 'Musts' in Message

Dems Return Fire as President Lists Critical Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower challenged the Democratic Congress this week to quit stalling and get on with its "must" legislative program. Otherwise, he said, the country will suffer.

After fuming Democrats fired their return barrage it was a guess whether either side had gained a point. But the political mills ground more furiously.

Eisenhower demanded in an extraordinary message that Congress deal promptly with higher gasoline and other highway user taxes for urgent pay-as-we-go federal highway aid; with mortgage insurance financing to keep home construction from collapsing; and with measures to ease the costly tax burden imposed by the surplus wheat program and the farm price support program in general.

"Lack of action is making the problems critical," he declared.

Then, in a fast-pounding press conference, he asserted that for the good of the nation he not only wants his fiscal 1960 budget balanced but also enough reserve revenue to start reducing the staggering public debt.

This would rule out all Democratic spending programs.

As of May 8 the debt stood at an astronomical $284,824,191,180.

It was tapping the taxpayers for more than 8 billion dollars a year.

BILL STALLED

The Democratic housing and mortgage insurance bill has been stalled for weeks in the House Rules committee by a conservative coalition comprised of the committee's four Republicans and two of its eight Democrats.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) commented tartly that he had been saying for some time "that if we could get one Republican vote on the committee, the House would be able to consider the bill."

Rep. Leo Allen (Ill.), senior Republican on the committee, said he supported the President's plea but "would not drop his opposition" to a Democratic provision to expand public housing and to other outlays going beyond Ike's budget.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, renewed his opposition to the gasoline tax hike and noted pointedly that Eisenhower had been unable to find a single House Republican willing to introduce the highway financing bill.

Mills said some other method of financing—displeasing or not to Eisenhower—would be found.

Assistant Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) bristled over the President's budget remarks. "I would state," he said, "that the President has presented six annual budgets preceding this one, and each Congress did its share, and a little more, in reducing his high requests."

Mansfield said that as for the wheat problem, Ike's Department of Agriculture has refused to cooperate with Congress in submitting a general farm bill.

The House Agriculture Committee poured fuel on the flames by approving a two-year, stop-gap bill to cut back wheat production but without substantially reducing the farmers' income. Ike doesn't like it.

To Do Autopsy on Road Victim

Berkley Man, Whose Car Hit Viaduct, May Have Had Attack First

An autopsy was to be held this morning on a Berkley man to determine if he suffered a heart attack before his auto crashed into the center section of a railroad viaduct on 14-Mile road near Woodward avenue yesterday.

Dead is Herbert Edwin Rowley, 53, of 4152 Kenmore Rd., a Detroit school teacher. He was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, at 3 p.m.

Roy Clive of Dearborn, who witnessed the accident, told Royal Oak Police Rowley was traveling at a high rate of speed and apparently lost control of the auto.

The victim had been a teacher in Detroit since 1929. After his recent transfer from Cooley High School, he taught at the Trombly Trade School.

The Day in Birmingham 'Streetcar Named Desire' Ends Play Season Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — The Village Players will close their 36th season tonight with the final performance of the Tennessee Williams hit play "A Streetcar Named Desire." The show is open to the public with curtaintime at 9 p.m.

The difficult role of Blanche DuBois is played by Gertrude Thomsen. She portrays the gradual mental collapse of a woman unable to cope with the changes of time as she sees her plantation home lost through debt.

Tom Tucker has the role of the mercurial Stanley Kowalski with Judy Tucker as his wife, Stella, who is calm and understated.

Representatives of area magazines and newspapers were shown through the renovated playhouse on Chester street by members of the 1958-59 publicity committee after last night's performance.

The stage and lobby of the playhouse have been enlarged. A new light control panel has also been completed.

The 40 channels of the control panel may be used alone or in group arrangements for unusual lighting effects.

The board is said to be equal to those of area professional theaters, according to Larry Martz, publicity chairman for the season.

The April report of Police Chief Ralph D. Moxley shows a total of 51 motor vehicle accidents with estimated damages of $10,850.

The previous month, Moxley had reported 52 mislabeled causing damages amounting to $21,750.

Moxley said again greater courtesy is needed since violation of the right of way accounted for more than one-third of the mishaps.

BLAMES PAYROLLS Freeman, according to Judge Beer, said Monday he was having difficulty making payments because he had payrolls of six employees to meet.

Tows, who emphasized this was a private petition for non-payment of support, and not initiated by the friend of the court, said Freeman surrendered to him saying, "I don't have the money and am ready."

His attractive blonde wife, Virginia, filed divorce proceedings against Freeman Jan. 16, charging mental cruelty. The Freemans were married in 1949 and have three sons, Michael, 7, David, 5, and Thomas, 3.

The divorce is still pending, according to Mrs. Freeman's attorney, John Allen.

On Feb. 9, Judge Beer ordered Freeman to pay $120 a week for the support of the children and to also pay for the education of Michael and David at City and Country School, Bloomfield Hills, where Mrs. Freeman once was a substitute teacher.

Allen said Freeman had made payments of $500, $30 and one for $40 since the support order was filed.

Judge Beer further explained his crackdown on delinquent fathers by saying, "If they have a legitimate reason for not being able to make the payments, such as unemployment or sickness, I would never send them to jail."

Army Exhibits 'Power for Peace' in West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Fifty-thousand West Berliners Saturday saw the U. S. Army garrison put on a "power for peace" parade marking Armed Forces Day.

Although the demonstration obviously was linked to the East-West dispute over the future of this isolated city, the Soviet commandant of East Berlin, Maj. Gen. Nikolai F. Zakharov, and 11 of his officers accepted invitations to attend.

The Soviet officers, some accompanied by their wives, joked with others in the grandstand, snapped photos and applauded vigorously when a crack infantry squad put on a drill exhibition.

Speaking before the 4,000-man American garrison massed on Tempelhof Airport, the U. S. Army commander-in-chief for Europe, Gen. C. D. Edlemann, declared the West would not fail to honor its commitments to defend West Berlin.

Hats Off To Michigan!

Michigan Week—May 17-23—with its emphasis on all of the things for which this great state of ours is famous, is a good time to consider the vital importance of the motor truck... Here is a servant of the people which does indeed serve everyone: the farmer, the business man, the retailer, the housewife, the vacationer, the boy or girl at school.

Everything you eat, wear, or use travels all or part of the way to you by truck. Yes, trucks are as much a part of Michigan as its vast productive capacity, its beautiful scenery, its great educational facilities, its fine people.

Choir Girl Kills Mother

Teen Guns Down Kin After Whipping Threat for Talking to Mexican

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Machinist George Rainer wept softly as he talked of his daughter, a pretty choir girl who took her mother's life with a shotgun.

"I never had a minute's trouble with that girl," he said. "She never talked back or anything."

Darlene Rainer, 14, sobbed out a story of strict family discipline Friday which she said led to the shooting of her mother, Lena Rainer, 38. The woman was struck by a gunshot blast as she cradled her 11-month-old son, feeding him. The baby, Ronald Wayne, was unhurt.

Officers turned the girl over to juvenile authorities.

Darlene told police her mother promised her a whipping for talking with a Latin-American boy friend on the telephone. She said she had never been out with him.

Rainer, 42, said he had ordered Darlene not to go to school "because I wanted to talk to her."

"I have never even suspected that she was seeing a Mexican," Rainer said. "I do not hate the Mexican race, but I do not approve of my daughter fraternizing with them."

The girl said a "voice" told her: "You know where the gun is. Go on and get it and pull the trigger." She got her father's shotgun from a closet, she said and loaded it. Her mother rested on a bed nursing her youngest child, her back to Darlene.

"I raised the gun and pointed it at her and pulled the trigger," the girl said. Police said the mother died instantly.

Postmaster Wins Biting Battle Victory

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A retired sea dog has won the first battle in his war against dogs that bite postmen.

City Postmaster George J. McMullin, a retired rear admiral, was shocked to learn that 35 mailmen had been bitten by dogs in nine months. Henceforth, he declared, any mailman bitten by a dog didn't have to deliver mail to the dog's owner unless the dog was tied up.

This earned him the nickname "One-Bite McMullin."

Joseph Polizzi, whose dog has bitten a mailman, refused to tie up his dog. Mail delivery stopped at the Polizzi household. The family had to pick up its mail at the post office. Friday McMullin got a postcard reading: "You win. The dog will be tied up."

Aside from its major products of vegetables and citrus fruits, Florida is becoming an increasingly important cattle-raising state.

A-Blast in Cave Would Produce Many Chemicals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An amazing assortment of useful everyday chemical substances could be produced on a large scale at low cost by setting off a nuclear bomb in a limestone cave, two scientists reported today.

A great burst of neutrons in the blast could build up some of the impurities in the limestone into nuclear fuels that would more than pay for the bomb, they asserted.

This would still leave an enormous amount of heat which might be recovered to produce steam-electric power or heat for homes and office buildings. And huge quantities of things like lime, acetylene, ammonia, phosphorus and industrial acids would remain for easy recovery.

This rosy picture of benefits from the peaceful atom was drawn in a paper before the Second Plowshare Symposium on Industrial Uses of Nuclear Explosions. The paper was given by John J. Grebe and L. J. Luoma of the Dow Chemical Co., Midland, Mich.

The symposium is sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California.

Coed Disfigured by Silver Nitrate

Faces Total Blindness After Youth's Prank at Texas Party

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Nature's healing power must decide whether silver nitrate dashed into the face of a rotund coed robs her of all vision, the doctor said Friday night.

The searing caustic—having the same effect as lye—left Sheila Rene Neims, 20, in a Denton hospital, blackened and disfigured on the head, neck, legs and chest. The scalding chemical was hurled as she left a party Thursday night in the apartment of a student at North Texas State College.

Slender Tommy Ray Lester, 19, said he tossed the solution on prankish impulse.

"I'd give anything if it was me instead of her," Lester told newsmen.

County attorney Robert Caldwell charged Lester with aggravated assault, a misdemeanor. Caldwell said the extent of Miss Neims' recovery will determine whether he files a more serious charge of maiming.

North Texas State authorities expelled Lester Friday. Sheriff Wylie H. Barnes released him to custody of his parents, who came here from their home in Corsicana, Tex.

The nitrate tossing happened on the lawn outside the apartment of another male student. Lester lived next door.

U.S. Attempt to Reach Venus Is Out of the Question at This Time

One of our scientists' more noble efforts has gone for naught.

I understand this country was quietly and secretly doing a little serious home work on taking a pot shot at Venus the first week of June. But the plan has been abandoned. It was too huge an undertaking too soon.

Let's compare Venus with the moon.

The moon is "only" 250,000 miles away and yet the moon has proved to be an elusive and difficult target of infinitesimal size. Now consider Venus. Venus is 25 million miles away which means she is approximately 100 times as far as the moon.

During the first week of June, Venus is the nearest to us that she will be for some appreciable time. In fact, she returns to the same proximity about two years later and then she dances madly away for the next century. Thus, one of our only two "good" opportunities to have an "easy" shot at la Venus takes place about three weeks hence. But our government has announced we have surrendered. This opportunity came too soon. We couldn't cut it. But who ever thought we could?

"We figured," said one government scientist, "that if we came within 50,000 miles it would have to be recorded as a 'near miss.' Personally, I'd be tempted to call that a direct hit at a 26 million mile range. That would be the equivalent of coming within 500 miles of the moon. These figures leave me dizzy and confused. I'm just an old abacus boy, myself.

Around the first week of June, you might keep a weather eye cocked on the pesky Russians. They're supposed to be giving Venus the full, adult treatment. From my lofty elevation of ten feet off the ground on West Huron Street, it doesn't seem as though anyone could hit Venus. But if the Russians claim they did, who'd be able to affirm or deny?

Suppose they announced they've hit Venus right plunk in the eye? Who can challenge it?

Bank Robberies Soar

Banks and bankers must apparently re-arm and strengthen their financial citadels with something more potent than alarms.

Bank robberies have been increasing at an alarming rate, clear across the country; and oddly, New York City has been hit about the hardest. You'd think the average, mine run stick-up artist would figure that Gotham was a pretty tough nut to crack, but that doesn't happen to be the fact.

Recently a meeting was held in New York to consider this problem solely and it was attended by a whole host of grave faced bankers, a goodly supply of New York police officials and a scattering of FBI men who had been imported to lend a hand.

Last year bank robberies in the United States increased 43 per cent over 1957 and reached the astounding total of more than 700—an average of about two and a half for every working day in the calendar. This was grief enough, but since the first of January, 1959, the total has soared upward once more and as one FBI agent in the New York area said: "We are leaping to new totals that we don't want to reach."

Specific proposals are offered to the harassed banks by the law enforcing agencies. For one thing, they advise banking institutions to change the system and let "bank guards" become bank guards, instead of having them fill out deposit slips for old ladies, and help the children pick up spilled pennies from the floor. Banks with mezzanines are urged to place a permanent guard behind a partition where he could shoot without fear of returning fire. Also, the FBI says studies of bank robberies indicate no cases of bandits worrying about employees who were on the floor or standing with their backs to the lobbies. "Look around more quickly and give alarms more promptly" they say.

Banks were advised to vary guards' luncheon hours, also, as more robberies occur then than at any other time. This advice isn't personal or original with me and I don't guarantee any of it. But it comes from law enforcing agencies in high positions.

Oddly, when I was in Ireland this week, I noted a news story from London which said the bank robberies there were setting an all-time high over there. This seems to be the era of the bank bandit and it's possible that the westerns and the detective stories on TV should switch to the 1959 robber with the big scene in the lobby as employe and burglar shoot it out. It might be a big improvement over the standard wild western street scene which is becoming almighty boring and tedious through repetition and over doing.

Up to the middle of May in 1958, New York City saw four bank robberies. This year the total stands at 19. On 17 occasions, notes were passed to startled tellers. This seems to be the modern variation.

It's a sobering and unpleasant contemplation and suggests the banks should "get tough"—and so should the police!

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

FAITH THAT AMERICANS LIVE BY — 7

With man on the threshold of space exploration, I cornered one of America's leading space scientists in a Buffalo hotel and asked him if faith would be significant to the first space man.

"It will be important to him," said Dr. Everett T. Welmers, who is assistant to the president of Bell Aircraft for long range planning, and director of the Research Center, "because in the loneliness of space he will know he is not alone."

There is no contradiction, he went on, between religion and science.

"One of the first commandments of the Bible is that man should take dominion over and conquer the earth. Man is expected to understand and control it. Science helps towards that end."

As for his own faith, Dr. Welmers asserted, "It's been a natural part of my life since childhood."

On Sundays, he teaches the men's Bible class in Central Presbyterian Church. He has been an elder, a Sunday school superintendent, president of the presbytery council. Also he is a vice president of the New York Synod Council of Presbyterian Men.

"I feel I'm accomplishing as much on Sunday morning," he commented, "as any other day. Accomplishments in the field of religion are as real as in the field of science."

Readers Suggest Activities for Adults, Young Mothers

For adults wishing to know what to do with spare time, the Central Volunteer Bureau at 132 Franklin Blvd. many times look for couples to work with teenagers at the YMCA, help put on parties at the State Hospital and many other worthwhile projects.

In groups of six or eight, they might plan special events for shut-ins, who are in small hospitals or rest homes in the area. Most of those patients are forgotten and in the Pontiac area there are a great many aged or middle-aged shut-ins whose families and friends seem to forget they might like a Sunday afternoon drive.

To folks who have never known this type of work, they'll soon find it isn't work at all, but entertainment as well. The first Sunday in June is National Shutin Day.

The Sunshine Lady

Have the young mothers thought of joining the YWCA? I'd like to suggest the Ladies Day program. They might find it a rewarding Wednesday or Thursday morning.

This year I've taken classes in crafts, sewing and golf. My two children are well cared for in the nursery. I've met many interesting ladies and enjoyed the programs very much. All at a nominal fee.

Just call the Y, young mothers, and they'll be glad to hear from you.

Has Suggestion for Drive-ins

Since we have two small children and can seldom afford to hire a baby sitter, the only way my husband and I can go to a movie is to go to a drive-in so we can take the children.

It's fine except it's after midnight before the show is over, because a mediocre movie is shown before the main feature. We would probably go to drive-ins quite often except for this fact and I'm sure others feel the same.

I hope some drive-in managers take the hint. Could be they would improve their business.

'Godless Leaders Will Surely Fail'

Many world leaders who are Christ-less and wicked believe a reign of peace and a warless world can be achieved by the adoption of their plans, which leave God out and repudiate the return of Christ. But according to God's infallible prophetic Word, their plans and efforts will miserably fail. Nothing but the visitations of Divine judgments can cleanse the earth from its defilements, for the nation that denies God shall be turned into Hell.

The Country Parson

"Some folks will offer to exchange ideas with you—but then refuse to let go of any of theirs."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Actions Give Away Immaturity

Prof. Wampler stopped a hostile teenager in his tracks by getting down to specific cases. The purpose of this educational column is to focus attention on cases which will show-up a lot of false notions regarding teenage problems, as well as marriage and social customs. So discuss this column in Sunday School.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE B — 436: Prof. Harry Wampler is principal of the high school at Washington, Indiana, where I recently addressed 2,000 teenagers.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I had an interesting case recently. A boy in our high school was sent to my office for misbehavior in his room."

"And before I had a chance to ask him a question, he immediately took a challenging attitude and demanded: Didn't you ever get into any trouble when you were in school?"

"To which I immediately replied, 'Yes, I did. And I got caught, too, and took my punishment like a man.'"

"Well, that stopped his hostility at once. For I used an analogy he could understand."

"I find that concrete cases go a long way toward eliminating friction between teenagers and the older generation."

CASE METHOD

Prof. Wampler is correct in advising the case method. That's why I employ actual office patients in this column.

For their cases are often dead ringers for your own, so you can see yourselves in this column, even though I may never have met you in person.

Recently I mentioned the case of the headstrong teenage girl who married during her war. She got a divorce, and then left her little boy with her parents, while she ran away and married a second time.

Now she is ready for a third divorce and wants her long-suffering parents to rear another brood of children by that third no account husband.

Her case clearly shows teenagers the lack of good sportsmanship, for this girl wanted to gamble recklessly in marriage — but then let her parents pay for her mistakes.

That girl was obviously juvenile. But what about the boys who use their dad's automobile, plus his gasoline and Country Club membership, when they want to make an impression on a new girl friend?

Again, it is dad who pays the bills and thus is doing a large share of the courting for such a son.

If the new girl is thus impressed with the car or Country Club, that means the boy's dad gets the credit, for the youth may never have contributed a red cent for gas or oil.

If you teenage "big shots" want to be regarded as men, then pay your own way! It is O.K. to borrow your dad's car, but at least pay the gas bill or give it a good wash or polishing job in lieu of rent to reimburse your family for use of the car!

PAY YOUR WAY
The mark of a child is the fact he depends on his parents, both for food, lodging and entertainment.

A mature adult is supposed to pay his way. If you teenagers are letting dad do most of your courting via the auto, etc., then you are still kiddish, though you strut and try to act like he-men. And don't think it fools the public because you meanwhile suck on a cigaret or swirl down beer by the can as you drive dad's car.

Those bad habits are typical of juveniles who want to impress the public with the fact they are grown up. Actually, grownups don't need to try to impress anybody with that fact!

So get smart. If you want to be regarded as an adult, then deliver the goods.

That means, make passing grades in school. And compete in sports, chess, debating society or other school organizations.

Cigaretts and beer cans never fool the public. They're marks of immature personalities.

Always, write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

been making a bid for more trade in Latin America.

Raul Prebisch of Argentina, who is head of the U.N. commission note speech Friday that Latin American countries must not depend on foreign aid to solve all their financial problems.

There's been a strong move for setting up a Latin America common market. Prebisch endorsed the idea but said it must be carefully planned and developed slowly.

Security for You

Farmer Can Still Work

By RAY HENRY

From Mrs. R. A. of Knoxville, Tenn.: "I was recently divorced from my husband and I plan to again use my maiden name. My present social security card is in my married name. How can I get my card changed?"

Write to or visit the nearest social security office and ask for Form OAA-7003. After you've filled out and returned the form, you'll be issued a new card with your maiden name and old social security account number.

From S. L. of Iowa City, Iowa: "I've been farming for nearly 40 years and plan to retire at 65 this fall. Of course, I'll be entitled to social security. Do I have to quit work entirely to get payments?"

No. You may work during the rush farming seasons or take a part-time job throughout the year and get all or some of your monthly benefit payments. If you earn $1,200 or less during the year, you get the payments for each month of the year. If you earn more than $1,200 you may still get payments for one or more months, depending on how many months you work and how much over $1,200 you earn.

From G. R. D. of Albany, N. Y.: "I'm thinking of going into business for myself and want to know where I can get information about social security tax setup for employees."

The nearest Internal Revenue Service office has forms and instructions which it will supply you without charge.

From H. M. of Rock Hills, S. C.: "An elderly neighbor of mine is having a very tough time making ends meet. Her husband died several years ago. He left her some insurance, but she's used nearly all of it to live. She's not eligible for social security and has no other income, except occasional baby-sitting. Is there any way she might get financial help?"

She may be entitled to some help through the old age assistance program. This is an assistance program operated jointly by the federal government and the individual states. I suggest that your neighbor visit or write to the nearest OAA office. Your post office can tell you where it's located.

Church Leader to Speak at 2 Bethany Services

Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, executive secretary of both the Detroit and Michigan Council of Churches, will speak at the two morning services Sunday at Bethany Baptist Church.

His theme will be "The Man Who Stood Up."

Dr. Lenox will speak at Bethany in the absence of Dr. Joseph I. Chapman who is representing the American Baptist Convention in Fargo, N. D. and Minneapolis, Minn.

Martha Foren will assist the pastor at the 8:45 service and at 11 a. m. Dale Green will be youth assistant.

At 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, the Guild Fellowship will present a program explaining the purpose and objective of the girls' organization.

Dr. Chapman will award the degree of roses to Patricia Gentry, Rosemary Tripp, Karen Olsen, Jill LaFountain, Gail Travis, Carol Pope, Jean Dawson, Katherine Kennedy, Susan Featherstone and Paula Williams.

The group meets each Tuesday evening under the leadership of Mrs. William Gentry and Mrs. Keith Bigger, counselors.

He Strode Right Out

HUDSON FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The word must have been "good-bye." Donald Varney, 23, Glens Falls, sentenced to serve 90 days in jail for stealing a bicycle, asked to have a last word with his wife, standing in the rear of the courtroom. He strode right past his wife and out the door. He's still missing.

200-Voice Chorus to Sing Benefit for Wilson School

The 200-voice chorus of the New Bethel Baptist Church of Detroit will present a concert Sunday at Pontiac Northern High School to benefit the Wilson School-outdoor education program.

The program, which begins at 4 p. m., will be under the direction of Thomas H. Shelby, pianist for the National Baptist Convention.

The school's Parent-Teacher Assn. and faculty are planning the program. It will consist of sacred and classical music.

Mrs. Grace Cobbs, radio and television singer, will be the featured soloist. The Rev. C. R. Franklin will narrate the program.

Also featured will be Willie Todd, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Neal, Mrs. Dorothy Roger and the Allegro Trio.

Explosion Rocks Coal Dispute Area

JELICO, Tenn. (AP)—A dynamite blast broke the quiet in the troubled east Tennessee coal fields Friday night, but the Tennessee highway patrol said it caused neither damage nor injuries.

The blast was the latest in a series of similar incidents since the United Mine Workers Union began trying to organize nonunion mines in the area. The UMW has denied any hand in the violence.

Friday night's explosion was at Habersham, 12 miles south of the Kentucky border town. The blast was 20 or 30 yards behind the home of Everett Sharp, identified as the owner of a coal tipple once used by mine operator John Deal.

It was at Habersham on May 6 that Deal and a crew of four were fired on from ambush as they moved equipment from the area. The following day, two dynamite explosions destroyed two tipples and several business buildings in downtown Jellico.

Teamster Tests Legality of Union Agent's License

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An organizer for the Teamsters Union arrested for lacking a license is counterattacking with a constitutionality suit.

Harold Gross spent four hours in custody after he continued his activities Friday despite the lifting of his union business agent's license by the Florida Cabinet. Then he filed a Circuit Court suit challenging the state law that requires state licenses for union agents.

The Cabinet canceled Gross' license on grounds he had neglected to report on his application that he had spent 2½ years in a New York jail for conspiracy to commit extortion.

Crash Victim Near Death

3rd Man in Ambulance Smashed in Lapeer on Critical List

LAPEER — The third man in the ambulance which crashed here yesterday, claiming two lives, was still in critical condition today at Lapeer County General Hospital. Lapeer Police report Robert A. Martin, 31, of Detroit, suffered the loss of his right eye and multiple fractures of his body and head. Police said he is not expected to live.

Killed in the accident were Fred T. Sloop, 59, of West Branch, and Allen J. King, 55, of Detroit.

Sloop, a heart patient, was being taken to a hospital at Detroit from his home. King was the ambulance driver, Martin, the attendant, was apparently sitting in back with the patient.

No explanation has yet been given why the ambulance veered off the opposite side of M24 and hit a tree early yesterday.

Police said doctors will perform an autopsy on the driver to determine if he suffered a heart attack.

To Hold Summer Camp for Diabetic Children

The Michigan Diabetes Association will sponsor Camp Midich from Aug. 16 to 29 for boys and girls suffering from diabetes.

A well-rounded activities program, including crafts, sports, swimming, boating, archery, nature study and cookouts, will be provided. Two physicians, four nurses and two dietitians will attend to the campers' health needs. The camp, located near Columbiaville, north of Lapeer, consists of 100 acres of beautiful forest and farmland surrounding a small lake. The cost is $70 for two weeks and $45 for one week. Parents of well-controlled diabetic children may apply by writing to the Michigan Diabetes Association, Detroit.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF LIFE UNDERWRITERS
A Declaration of Financial Independence
Founded 1895

THE PONTIAC ASSOCIATION OF LIFE UNDERWRITERS is a member of The National Association of Life Underwriters (NALU), the professional organization of life underwriters in the United States. Founded in 1890 by 11 widely-scattered local underwriter groups, NALU today comprises a far-flung network of more than 70,000 life underwriters in 732 local associations.

NALU's guiding principles, code of ethics, and program of action are designed to guarantee YOU, the client:

- Protection from misrepresentation and other unethical practices. Association members pledge to adhere to the highest standards of business and professional conduct.
- A continuing program of training and education for the life underwriter to help him become better qualified to help YOU set up adequate thrift and protection programs through life insurance for YOU and YOUR FAMILY.
- Legislative activities at local, state, and national levels that initiate and support life insurance legislation in the interest of the policy-holding public.

The professional life underwriters — members of this Association — who subscribe to, endorse, and actively participate in this program are listed below:

Dear Abby . . .

Billing and Cooing in Church Is Hardly Way to Worship God

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: At my church some of the young people meet on the outside and pair off and go in for the services only for a petting party it seems. Some hold hands, write notes, and one couple had their feet so tangled up you could hardly tell which they belonged to and, Abby, if the church had caught on fire they would probably have burned up before they could have got untangled.

I have been raised that a church is God's house and young people should go there to worship the Lord in a respectful manner and keep their hands off each other. Has respect for the Lord's house gone out of style? Please, Abby, set me straight.

OLD-FASHIONED
DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: Respect for the Lord's house has NOT gone out of style. All the world loves a lover—but not in church.

DEAR ABBY: Our eight-year-old son came home from school sobbing his little heart out. His teacher told him that they were going to sing in assembly (the whole class) and then she said, "Will Billy and Donald please not sing—just move your lips?" We know that our Donald cannot hold a tune, but we think it is terrible for a teacher to hurt a child by announcing it before the class. Should I go to school and say something to her or should I forget about it?

DONALD'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: If Donald "slobbered his little heart out" perhaps you'd better go to school and have a talk with his teacher. Humiliation is hard for 8-year-olds to bear.

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago you printed a letter from "A Mother" asking when a girl could be her own boss. I clipped it and carried it with me. I lost my purse, and the article with it. Would you please do me a favor and reprint that letter again? It might help a lot of people who missed it the first time.

Hostess Is Very Lax, Indeed

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I play cards once a week with five other women friends. When we play at one particular house, the hostess never bothers to dress. That is, she always wears a house coat and house shoes instead of a dress, and not too infrequently she has her hair up in bobby pins. She has remarked several times that as long as she is home she might as well be comfortable. "I think this is in bad taste and very unflattering to her guests in that she doesn't think them important enough to dress for. What is your opinion of this?"

Answer: I agree with you that her not taking the trouble to dress for you is in very bad taste.

"Dear Mrs. Post: During a discussion at lunch the other day I said that I thought it looked very awkward to sit with the left hand in one's lap while eating and that it was better to rest it on the table's edge. My friend said it was a must to keep the left hand in the lap regardless of looks. I would like your opinion on this."

Answer: Many people do find it awkward to sit throughout a meal with one hand lying limp in the lap and find it more natural to vary the position of the hand somewhat—sometimes holding it against the table's edge and sometimes leaving it in the lap. Actually there are very few times when the left hand is not busy holding the fork while cutting food or holding a piece of bread.

"Dear Mrs. Post: In order to settle an argument, will you please tell me when a piece of parsley is served on the plate with the food, may this be eaten, or it is merely for decoration purposes?"

Answer: It is intended for decoration, but it is not improper to eat it if you would like to.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a married woman working for a large organization. Recently one of the men who works in my department (a bachelor) was taken ill and rushed to the hospital for an operation. One evening after work I stopped at the hospital to see him. When I arrived home and told my husband where I had been, he was quite perturbed over it and said it was very improper for me to go alone to visit this man. I can't see any impropriety in this situation and think he is making a fuss over nothing. I would very much like to have your opinion on this."

Answer: Unless you have given your husband some other reason to be jealous, I do not see any reason for his objecting to your visiting a sick man in a hospital.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am known professionally as Barbara Lee. I am soon to be married and am having quite a large wedding and reception. Many of the invitations will be sent to professional friends who know me only as Barbara Lee. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded under the circumstances?"

Answer: You will have to have your engraver add (Barbara Lee) under your name in parenthesis on the certain number of invitations to be sent to those who are unlikely to know your name.

Six Glasses Daily

Facts About Water and You

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You and I are just about all wet! We are about two-thirds water.

Constantly questions about drinking water come across my desk. "Does it make one fat to drink water?" "Is it bad to drink water with meals?" "How much water should a person drink every day for best health?"

So far as I can discover the best rule seems to be a minimum of six glasses of liquid daily. This can include milk, tea, coffee and other beverages. This is a minimum. Most of us do not drink enough water.

Water cannot make you fat, no matter when you drink it, since it has no calories.

There is one theory about not drinking too much water at meals because it dilutes the digestive juices in the stomach. However, this really should not be a problem unless you have an abnormal craving for water.

I am told that the only bad thing about filling up on water at meals is that you may not forget it unless the weather is as warm as you would otherwise, and therefore may not be as well nourished as you otherwise would be.

As you all know milk is a wonderful health food, but if children are allowed to drink too much at their meals, they may be so full of milk that they fail to eat other foods which are equally important.

If you are trouble with constipation an increase in your liquid intake may be of help.

There probably is no doubt about it! Most of us do not drink as much water as we should. We forget it unless the weather is very warm.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Set at Lutheran Church

Christ Lutheran Church will be the setting for a mother-daughter banquet Wednesday, May 20. The affair will get under way at 6:30 p.m.

Corsages have been made for each mother and daughter attending. The program will include songs, prizes and a film in color entitled "Our Northern American Neighbors."

The Augustana Lutheran Church Women are in charge of the annual event. Taking reservations are Mrs. Felix Anderson, Mrs. Vernon Gatzka and Mrs. Edward McLaughlin.

Those interested in attending have been advised to purchase tickets early, as reservations are limited.

Sorority Elects Officers

Officers of Iota Eta chapter of Pi Omicron national sorority were elected at the meeting held Thursday at the Illinois road home of Mrs. Joseph Chummings. Mrs. Paul Hoskins was cohostess.

New officers are Mrs. Burt Burt, president; Mrs. Leon Skelley, vice president; Mrs. Hoskins, recording secretary; Mrs. George Reuter, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Elma Haines, treasurer.

The fourth degree initiation was given to Mrs. Lewis Egerer by Mrs. Burt with Mrs. Hoskins as chaplain and Mrs. Dunham, escort.

Mrs. Burt is delegate and Mrs. Reuter alternate delegate to the Michigan state convention being held today and Sunday at St. Clair Inn, St. Clair. Mrs. Hoskins will also attend.

The June banquet for Pontiac Council will be held June 4 at Sylvan Glenn Country Club.

Moms, Daughters to Have Banquet

The annual mother-daughter banquet of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church will be held Tuesday evening in the church parlors.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Leon Skelley, with Mrs. Walter Hubner, Mrs. James DeFlorio and Marian Koster participating in the program.

The group will honor the oldest and newest mother present. Tickets may be obtained from members of the church's missionary circles. Men of the church will serve the dinner.

Brigance

Thank heaven for Brigance, who not only knows that every woman cannot sink around in matador pants, but who has done something about it. For casual hours that call for something less than a dress, he has come up with this two-piece culotte, cut in two lengths with plenty of style and grace for figures from size 10 to 18.

The low necked, collared blouse has an upside-down side zipper to keep the midriff line sleek and clean. The culotte has deep inverted pleats both back and front, with two little released pleats on each side of the center front, that add a pleasant hip swing.

An easy to make costume, it is suggested that you choose linen, pique, chambray, chambray, gingham, or plain or printed silk for the top; the culotte is best in woven seersucker, cords, denims or worsted wools or flannels. College girls will do well to remember the wools made up in the longer length for their back-to-school wardrobes.

From this size chart select the one size best for you.

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length
10	34	24	34	36"
12	36	26	36	38"
14	38	28	38	40"
16	40	30	40	42"
18	42	32	42	44"

Size 12 requires 2 yards of 36 inch material for blouse, 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for short length culotte and 2 3/4 yards of 36 inch material for knee length culotte.

DENOMINATIONALISM AND THE BIBLE

Denominationalism is the conflicting creeds, conflicting doctrines, conflicting demands of the people, conflicting practices, conflicting systems of worship, could not possibly be endorsed by the Bible, the word of God. FOR the Bible does not only fail to use the term (denominationalism), but it is the Bible is opposed to its entire system and the Bible, when preached in its purity and handled properly, makes the very foundation of this post-apostolic contention. Friends, denominationalism is sinful before God, for if man could save himself, he would not need God's plan, nor the Bible, nor Christ, nor His redeeming blood.

Since the Bible is our guide in religious matters, we ought to follow its truth for if we are going to follow the Bible, let us do so, if not let us cast it aside for, we cannot accept it partly, for partial obedience is sin. Read the story of King Saul, he partially obeyed God and was condemned. If we learn to accept all the Bible says on any subject, if it is a command, and obey it, for Christ is the author of Eternal Salvation to all men. Heb. 5:8.

Marilyn Vernon to Give Recital

Senior Girls Ensemble, Church Senior Choir to Assist Soloist

Marilyn Vernon, vocal pupil of George Putnam of Pontiac Central High School, will give a recital at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. Friday. Proceeds will be used to help pay for her trip to Europe this summer with the Michigan Choral.

Assisting in the recital will be the Junior Choir of the Oakland Avenue Church and the Senior Girls Ensemble of Pontiac Central High School.

Miss Vernon will sing the following selection: "Down Here," "Ah Love, But a Day," "Still As the Night," "I'll Walk With God," "Ho, Mr. Piper," and "I Heard a Forest Praying."

Other numbers will be "Hello, Young Lovers," "Hard Trials," and "The Answer."

The ensemble will sing, "Drifting and Dreaming," "The Gardener," "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Let All My Life Be Music."

Numbers by the church choir will be "Boys and Girls for Jesus," "Grumblers," "Fairer Lord Jesus," and "How Great Thou Art."

The Choral is sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

Success Lodge Slates Service, Parade Sunday

The annual May service of Knights of Pythias Success Lodge 10 will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the St. John Methodist Church, Highland and Nebraska streets.

The Rev. Joseph W. Moore of Trinity Baptist Church will be guest preacher.

Starting at 2 p.m. at the Wilson Avenue School, all departments will form a parade and march on Wilson avenue to Going street; then to E. South boulevard where the group will turn west and proceed to Highland avenue and to the St. John Church.

Grady E. McFee, Chancellor Commander, said a large group is expected from Detroit. The Rev. J. Allen Parker, pastor of Newman AME Church, is Grand Chancellor of Michigan.

And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and confidence forever.

Confident Living

Double-Talk Is for the Man Who Crawls Through Life

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

That great historian James Truslow Adams once made a suggestion that is worth consideration: "Perhaps it would be a good idea, fantastic as it sounds, to muffle every telephone, stop every motor, and halt all activity for an hour some day, to give people a chance to ponder for a few minutes on what it is all about, why they are living, and what they really want."

PEALE

I think this is an interesting suggestion and, even if you can't muffle your telephone or turn off the motors all around you, it's very well worth following.

It is a sad fact that all too few of us know that it is all about, why we are living and what we really want—where we want to go and where we are headed.

The Bible tells us one vital truth which it would be well to stress: "No good thing will He (the Lord) withhold from them that walk uprightly."

How does that truth work out in life in a practical sense? Well, let me tell you about a man who came to see me about getting a job. He sat down and told me at length about his abilities and how good he was.

Then he told me about all the influential people he knew. And I thought, "If he knows all these people, why does he need me?"

But, as he talked, the reason for his failure became obvious. He was dealing in vague half-truths. So I stopped him and told him just that.

Laid it on line

"You'll never get to first base until you begin to be honest with yourself and with other people," I said. I rather laid it on the line, and, with considerably humbled attitude, he said: "OK, what can I do about it?"

I wrote out the following five-point program for him. "This will help you to walk uprightly like a man with something on the ball," I said.

1. I will be honest with myself.
2. I will be honest with other people.
3. I will say nothing derogatory about anyone.
4. I will be morally straight and eliminate all double-talk and double-dealing.
5. I will visualize my goal, pray for guidance and really go to work.

I guess I must have shocked him into being honest by my bluntness because he took my program and actually tried it. He got a job and he's doing quite well in it. He learned the Bible's lesson that no good thing will be withheld from the man who walks uprightly.

If that word "uprightly" bothers you, don't let it. It means, of course, to walk in right ways.

It means to walk strong, the way God intended us to walk when He made us in His image. It means to stand up to problems like a man and not crawl through life on your hands and knees letting everything lick you.

First of all, know what you want out of life, and be sure that it is a worthy objective. Hold that objective before you at all times even when the going is hard. Strive for it with everything you have, always believing that God is helping you.

All Saints Church Choirs to Give 'Mass in B Minor'

The great Mass in B Minor by presented by the adult choirs of Johann Sebastian Bach will be All Saints Church at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Performing with the choirs will be an orchestra composed of musicians from Pontiac and Grosse Pointe. Richard Roecklein of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe will be at the organ and Philip Steinhaus, organist and choirmaster at All Saints will conduct the performance.

Soloists will include Dorlene McNelly, Mary Lewis, Mary Lindquist, Marilyn Rodgers and Lovell Tomlinson, sopranos; Muriel Grenspon and Rebecca Gould, contraltos; Donald Nelson, tenor; and Robert Kerns, baritone.

The Mass, composed between 1733 and 1738, stands today as one of the most sublime and profound religious works in all art.

Because of the length of the work, it will be necessary to have an intermission at 6:30 during which a light supper will be served. The performance will resume at 7:30 p.m. No reservations are necessary for the performance or supper, Mr. Steinhaus said.

For God gave us not a spirit of fearfulness; but of power and love and discipline.

"The Real Purpose of the Church" will be the subject of the Rev. Moore's sermon at Trinity Baptist at 11 a.m. Sunday.

At 7:30 p.m. the pastor will preach on "Launch Out Into the Deep."

22 New Members to Join St. Trinity

The Rev. Ralph C. Claus will receive 22 new members into St. Trinity Church at the morning service Sunday.

He will speak on "Personal Responsibility and Individual Action."

The following persons will pledge or renew their Christian faith: Cheryl K. Grulke, Gary S. Grulke, Karen S. Farrell, Wallace L. Hoop, Marilyn J. Ott, Kames M. Burwell, Donald K. Durnen and Karen M. Schulz.

Others will be Mildred Bredow, Linda Gaylock, Enid Mar, Gayle A. Reas, Michael Hubbard, Joyce Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Paulsen, Jeannie Gonzales, Judy Kusk, Mrs. Barbara Miller, Mrs. Julia Hansen, Donald Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Putnam.

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.

Banquet to Fete Enterprise Unit

Progress Report Dinner Will Honor Members of Christian Organization

Some 370 men and women will be honored at the annual Progress Report Banquet of Christian Enterprise to be held Wednesday at Mt. Olivet Methodist Church, 5067 Hoger, Dearborn.

All the men and women, most of whom are former alcoholics and parolees, are clothed, fed, housed and employed by Christian Enterprise, a four-year-old non-profit institution dedicated to rehabilitating the "unwanted."

Special speaker for the occasion will be Rev. John L. Maes of the Counseling Center, Michigan State University. The program will include music and short testimonials of some of the outstanding individuals who have come back along the road to recovery.

The organization is supported by the public through discards. Twenty-five trucks continually call from house to house in the metropolitan Detroit area, including Pontiac, Wayne, Romulus, Garden City, Livonia, Belleville and Carleton.

Eight retail stores which handle everything from remade and rebuilt bicycles to TV sets are open to the public. The money made from purchases goes toward the support of the rehabilitation program.

An invitation to attend the banquet has been extended to individuals or groups by Charles W. Smith, Director of Christian Enterprise.

If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land.

NEW SANCTUARY — The recently constructed sanctuary and Sunday School rooms of the United Presbyterian Church of Auburn Heights will be dedicated at 3:30 p. m. Sunday. The Rev. Harvey McCann, a former minister, will preach the sermon. The new addition will seat 365. Fir paneling frames the window of deep blue glass with white wooden cross behind the choir and pulpit area.

Area Church Plans Dedication

The Rev. Harvey McCann of Frazeysburg, Ohio, former minister of United Presbyterian Church in Auburn Heights, will deliver the sermon at 3:30 p. m. Sunday when the new addition to that church is dedicated.

The Rev. Donald Hoenshell of Auburn Heights Free Methodist Church will bring greetings from the community churches.

Speaking for Detroit Presbytery will be the Rev. Robert Herrmann of the University United Presbyterian Church.

Keith Gibbs will sing "Bless This House" and the Chancel Choir will be heard in "How Holy Is This Place." "O Come Let Us Sing" will be the selection by the Junior Choir.

The Rev. F. William Palmer, present pastor, will preside. An open house with refreshments will follow.

The addition consists of the sanctuary, which seats 225 on the first floor, 110 on the balcony and 30 in the choir area; a study for the pastor; parlor; kitchen; and educational unit.

The cathedral windows are multi-colored, walls are sandalwood with laminated wood beams, and floors are of corkstone tile.

Serving on the building committee were Robert Lowery, chairman; Opal Leonard, secretary; Wayne Rose, Herman Douglas, Paul Vancil, Milton Patrick, Helen Schlie and Grant Graham.

Eldon P. Erub of Pontiac was the architect. The construction cost was $70,000.

For many years the little village of Amy, now Auburn Heights, was served by one church, the Free Methodist. The village grew and the Community Methodist Church was organized on Oct. 19, 1924, with William Harrison of Central Methodist Church of Pontiac taking charge of the service.

The first services were held in an old school building on the site of the present church. The school had been built in 1831 and first used as a military academy. It stood on ground which was ceded to the Territory of Michigan by Aaron Webster, a pioneer land owner, to be used for school purposes. It was ceded back to the village by Michigan's first governor, Lewis Cass.

AT FIRST SERVICE
The first service of the Community Church, with 51 present, was held with John Rossman, Sunday School superintendent. But attendance gradually dropped and the Methodists discontinued their services.

By fall of 1928, many people felt the need of another church. A petition was circulated and presented to the Rev. Andrew Creswell of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church of Pontiac, who presented it to the American Board of Missions. The petition was favorably received, with the result that the church was organized.

Miss Janet O'Kerr of Wellsville, Ohio, was placed in the field as the missionary in charge, and the old school came into use again.

As the congregation and Sunday School grew, it was decided to move to the elementary school on Squirrel road. The first Community service was held on April 13, 1930.

The church continued to grow. The congregation purchased the property of the old school and drew plans for a building. The church was dedicated on June 14, 1934.

Later, lots were bought adjacent to the church and in 1953 work began on the basement of the new addition. Dedication was on Oct. 24, 1954. The Rev. Harvey McCann, who had served the church for 16 years, retired in April 1958.

The Rev. F. William Palmer, a newly ordained minister, came to fill the pulpit in June 1958. The church membership numbers 360 and the Sunday School has an enrollment of over 400.

Temperance Leader to Speak at Baldwin

The Rev. James Kavanagh will speak at the 11 a. m. service Sunday at Baldwin Evangelical United Brethren Church as a representative of Michigan Temperance Foundation.

A graduate of Taylor University, he entered the ministry after several years in industry as a factory official.

The guest speaker is a graduate of the National Training School of the National Temperance League of Louisville, Ky. and has held pastorates in the Methodist Church in Indiana and Michigan.

'Ascension Day' Topic of Morning Message

"Ascension Day" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Amos G. Johnson, minister of New Bethel Baptist Church, at the 11 a. m. service Sunday.

At 7 p. m. the Worthwhile Club will sponsor the Good-Will Singers of Detroit, a chorus of 85 voices.

Pastors Prepare Pentecost Talks

Roy Alexander to Speak on MSUO at Men's Dinner Wednesday

Pentecost Sunday will be celebrated at both the 8:30 and 11 a. m. services tomorrow at First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will preach on "Strengthened for Service" at the early hour and "The Spirit-Filled Life" will be the subject of Dr. William H. Marbach's sermon at 11 a. m.

Leading the Senior High Tuxis Society in the work-night program Sunday evening will be Sally Hutton, Susan Coleman and Diane Hillman. The junior highs will elect officers Sunday.

Speaker for the monthly Men's Dinner Wednesday will be Roy Alexander of Michigan State University Oakland. Robert Mohlberg will preside at the dinner and Bradley Scott will be in charge of the kitchen.

Members of First Presbyterian will participate in the Protestant Blood Bank Monday at Christian Temple.

Reginald Shaw will be manager of the softball team sponsored by the Men's Club. The team is entered in the Church League of Pontiac.

'Greatness of God,' Subject of Sermon

"The Greatness of God" will be the topic of the Rev. Loyal H. Howison's message at the 11 a. m. service Sunday at the First Free Methodist Church.

The Senior Chorus will sing "The Spacious Firmament on High" and "How Great Thou Art." The 7:30 evening service will feature congregational singing, personal testimony, and a message by the pastor. The sermon will concern the return of Christ to earth, the signs of the times, and the need for individual preparation.

Meaning of Ephesians Theme of New Book

CHICAGO (U)—The central message of the Book of Ephesians is that Jesus Christ has broken down all "divisions" between races and nations, between science and morals, between natural and legislative laws. This is the theme of a new book, "The Broken Wall," published by the American Baptist Convention for use in evangelistic courses to be conducted in churches across the country this year.

Henry Fonda Struggled but He Didn't Know It

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It was while Henry Fonda was sitting with his chin in his hand, lean and tanned from a vacation in Mexico, talking about his daughter, Jane, 21, becoming an actress, that I happened to ask how he had come to the Broadway stage from that great beef city, Omaha.

WILSON

"Bud Brando's mother gave the push!" he said instantly.

"Yes, Marion's mother, Doe Brando . . . and all this was 30-odd years ago . . .

"It was after school"—he had gone to the University of Wisconsin for two years—"I hadn't any ambition, I didn't know what I was going to be.

"I got a message. 'Tell Henry to go down to the Studio.' The Omaha Community Playhouse had been formed while I was away.

"I said to the director, 'I'm Henry Fonda. Doe Brando sent me."

"He said 'Read Ricky!'"

"He handed me a Philip Barry script. I was too shy to know how to get out of it."

"I remember relaxing enough to look around and see they weren't all looking at me. They had their own problems. I was discovering the theater—not acting, backstage. Ropes going up and down. Looking out into the dark house where there were empty seats. The smell of backstage.

"I fooled around . . . I ushered . . . the second year he let me act . . . by the third year I heard New York was the place where you got paid for this.

"People said I had guts to come to New York.

"Guts! I didn't have guts. I was stupid.

"I had a pretty rough 10 years, but I didn't know it was rough . . .

Josh Logan was an actor then—young Fonda was taken into the University Players . . . roomed with Jimmy Stewart and Myron McCormick, equally green at the time . . . they presented five plays a summer for 10 summers . . . and suddenly Henry Fonda was doing very well playing all the leads at the Westchester Playhouse . . . had done "New Faces"—of 1934.

Another young man, Leland Hayward, had become his agent.

"Leland persuaded me to go to Hollywood on spec. I did go out for four days. He had me meet Walter Wanger—and sold me to him for two pictures a year at $1,000 a week. And I'm the guy who made at the most $60 a week.

"Two weeks later I was signed to do 'Farmer Takes a Wife' on Broadway for $200 a week. It doesn't seem so long to me, either," Henry Fonda said, "but it was 1934 . . . 25 years ago."

So, perhaps, it was to have been expected that his daughter Jane, after two years at Vassar, "got the message" last October.

Her father hadn't urged her, hadn't interceded. But after she'd studied a few months with Lee Strasberg, Fonda one day recently got rave reports from Josh Logan that his daughter had done a sensational screen test and was going to do "Tall Story."

"And I paint. I have a studio on the top floor of my apartment. I'd love to do oils. I know, though, that I won't ever sit down long enough to learn anything.

"Too much acting to do!" The man who in this writer's opinion is the greatest male actor living walked leanly up 44th St., seeming very happy that "Bud Brando's mother started the whole thing." . . . That's Carl, brother.

FAMILIAR TOURIST SCENE — World famous among Michigan's many vacation islands is Mackinac. Standing majestically within the shadows of the world's greatest bridge, the picturesque island annually attracts a quarter of a million visitors. In this scene of the island's yacht harbor are some of the more than 400,000 boats which are owned by Michigan people.

Fraught With Adventure for Visitors

Michigan's Islands Exhibit Rugged Beauty

(This is the 20th in a series of articles on Michigan's industrial and cultural achievements written by Michigan newsmen as introduction to Michigan Week, May 17-23.)

By JOHN GRAY

Editor, Michigan Conservation VACATION ISLANDS—An aged, rugged commercial fisherman, attending a meeting of his fellow professionals in Chicago some time ago, spoke at length to several delegates of "The Island."

"On the Island," he declared, "we get perch like you don't find any place else. The bay on the north end of The Island is as good a harbor to fish as any you can find. You come up to The Island, I'll show you myself."

When some poor ignoramus asked what island the old man was speaking of, all the summed-up disdain for mainlanders came in the answer:

"What Island? What you mean, 'What Island?' Beaver Island, of course. What other island is there?"

This comment is worthy of certain considerations. In the first place, the old fisherman exhibited the fierce loyalty and love of homeland that for some odd reason seems to claim all island dwellers. They are a breed apart, and while this is going to be a discussion of all of Michigan's islands, the inhabitants of each of those islands will probably take gross exception.

It is simply, after all, a geographical accident that the islands around the Wolverine state must allow themselves to be considered a part of Michigan.

In the second place, the old fisherman was taking liberties with fact in saying Michigan has only one island. Michigan actually has several dozen islands, each of which, however, considers itself the only island, each of which has proud and individual characteristics.

Michigan's most interesting island from the spectacular standpoint is Mackinac Island, a national tourist center, graced by a hotel which boasts the longest porch in the world; a fort and scenic drives. Here the horse is king.

Fire-fighting apparatus and an ambulance are the only motor vehicles permitted.

Beaver Island in Lake Michigan has the most romantic background, since it was—in the mid 1800's—the abode of "King" Strang and his colony of Mormons. After Strang was assassinated, the Mormons were driven away by Irish fishermen. Their descendants still populate the outpost.

Nearby are Garden, Hat and High islands, the last named a one-time penal colony of the House of David. Today it is occupied only by several "wild" horses. Drummond Island, reached by a ferry from Detour, is a rapidly expanding center for those who seek a rugged outdoors. Much of it is primeval. Its principal landmark is the ruins of a fort built by the British.

Les Cheneaux, or "The Snags," islands off Cedarville in the Upper Peninsula, contain many excellent summer resorts accessible by automobile from the mainland. "The Snags," among other things, are famed for their perch fishing.

Isle Royale, a national park far out in Lake Superior, is Michigan's largest and "wildest" island. It is about as far from Detroit as Washington, D.C., and an ideal retreat for those who wish to escape crowds and confusion. It contains several resorts in surroundings suggestive of Norway's fjords.

Isle Royale is a segment of Michigan from the pre-Columbian era. Its inland lakes and streams teem with fish. Archeologists find much to study in copper mines worked by the Indians, and naturalists and outdoor photographers are challenged by such elusive subjects as ravens, pileated woodpeckers and a herd of moose.

Grand Island off Munising is a popular summer resort situated near some of the best lake trout fishing to be found.

Saginaw Bay presents a group of islands with charm and a distinct "personality." Although within a few hours' drive from Detroit, their charm is not dimmed by civilization.

Heistermann's Island, a few miles out from Bay Port in Huron County, stands as a monument to a German officer who landed there after the Civil War. Heistermann built a proud empire on the island, which seemed destined to greatness, but the buildings tumbled into decay.

North Island, just across a spar, lying off the tourist and resort kling arm of water, is the home of center of Caseville are the Charity "Old Steve" Gillingham, wealthy Islands. Big Charity contains a recluse, who lives alone in a lonely lake, where wild geese find weatherbeaten cabin in the win-sanctuary in the fall, an odder. Abstaining from tobacco, tea, abandoned lighthouse and a de-coffee and alcohol, milk and but-tered fish-house, its bunks still ter, he lives a monastic life. linct.

4 Killed as Truck and Train Collide

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A Frisco Railroad passenger train collided with a pickup truck Friday night, turning a family out into tragedy.

Killed when their truck collided with the train at a crossing in suburban Jones, Okla., were Thomas W. Burrows, 33, of Near Jones; his sons Tom, 10, and Rodney, 4; and his nephew, James Blackburn, 7.

The Frisco "Meteor", east-bound for Tulsa and St. Louis had just left Oklahoma City. The highway patrol said it went through the little community at about 60 m.p.h. The crossing is marked but has no flashing warning signal.

The widow, Mary, told officers Burrows and the boys were en route to a Little League baseball game and that her youngest son "had begged for three nights to come to the game."

Red's Goal Does It

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — The New York Rangers came from behind three times before Red Sullivan connected at 12:03 of the third period to give them a 4-3 exhibition hockey victory over the Boston Bruins Friday night.

Noise Found Unhealthy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Workers in noisy factories and offices often develop sore throats, hoarseness and a cough, Dr. David W.

Brewer of Syracuse told the State Medical Society. Dr. Daniel C. Baker of New York said women who spend lots of time at cocktail parties have similar symptoms.

Yankus, Family Off for Aussie Home

CHICAGO (AP) — Stanley Yankus and his family were Australia-bound today following the sale of his Dowagiac, Mich., poultry farm because of a government fine for growing too much wheat.

"It's not pleasant to leave," Yankus said Friday as he transferred to a train for San Francisco. "The thing that hurts me most is that I spent 16 years working for a farm and now it's gone. I don't think I should have been fined for trying to make my own living." Yankus was fined $5,070. The Yankus' and their three children will board a ship in San Francisco Monday.

Acting Awards System Continues Full of Holes

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The awards season has come and gone, sprinkling gold statuettes all over the horizon. The winners can exult over their gleaming hardware. The losers can sigh and mutter "next year." And we reporters can carp and caution, but our comments will be ignored, as usual.

It's useless to point out the fallacies of the awards system. The most pointed remarks were once made by Humphrey Bogart, himself an Oscar winner. He realized the folly of trying to pick a winner from performances given in widely divergent vehicles under differing conditions. The Bogart formula for fool-proof awarding: let each actor have a try at the same role, say Hamlet, in a single year.

Impossible? Of course. But no sillier than some of the awards that are given. Can you compare a great musical with a great drama? They are made under different conditions and appeal to different emotions. Yet they must compete against each other.

At least with the Oscars you are considering the same medium: motion pictures. Logic goes out the window with the Emmies. There you've got live shows, which are done like stage plays, competing with filmed shows, which are made like movies. Then you've got shows that are partly live and partly filmed (or taped). Example: the big winner, "An Evening with Fred Astaire."

Astaire's award as best actor in a single performance has evoked much comment, and his own offer to return the Emmy. He was playing himself, a role as he has perfected in six decades. Is it fair for him to be pitted against actors like Paul Muni, Rod Steiger and Mickey Rooney, who had to create new roles for their nominations?

I'll probably be carping and cautioning again at this time next year. The competitive urge is strong, and America loves a winner—even 42 of them. But let's hope that next year the TV minds will come up with some more showmanly way of giving the awards. The year-in, year-out repetition of envelope-opening and thank-yous has gone about as far as it can go.

Wins Divorce From Wife Who Didn't Stop Acting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Contractor Joseph H. Collins won a divorce from his wife after testifying: "She continued to be an actress after we were married." Collins, 38, said Friday his wife, actress Georgia Peilham, 31, refused to cook and insisted they move from Beverly Hills, near Collins' business, to the San Fernando Valley.

U.S. Seizing Indochina?

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's official newspaper Peiping Peoples Daily charged today the United States has "stepped up conspiratorial efforts to seize the whole of Indochina." A Peiping radio broadcast quoted the paper as urging Southeast Asia to be vigilant against what was described as a U.S. plan to threaten Communist North Viet Nam, "encircle Cambodia from three sides and turn Laos virtually into a Manila military bloc (SEATO) country."

Talk at St. Andrew on Foreign Missions

ROCHESTER — Foreign missionary work of the Catholic Church and particularly of the Jesuits will be the topic for sermons by the Rev. Cecil H. Chamberlain, S. J., at all Masses Sunday at St. Andrew Church.

Father Chamberlain is associate editor of the periodical, "Jesuit Missions" and a staff member of the national information center maintained by American Jesuits in New York.

He has spent more than 19 years doing mission work in India.

Sunday Services Listed for Pontiac Churches

The Rev. Walter Young, chaplain at Cranbrook School, will preach at the 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. "Founders' Day" services Sunday at Christ Church Cranbrook.

At the second service, representatives of Cranbrook institutions will be in the procession.

Included will be heads of Brookside School, Kingswood School, Cranbrook School, the Academy of Art, and the Institute of Science together with Cranbrook Church.

Newly-elected officers of the Women's Association of the Sabbath United Presbyterian Church in Waterford Township have been installed by pastor of the church, the Rev. Clifford Haskins.

Mrs. Thomas Jackson will be the new president; Mrs. Charles Smalley, secretary; and Mrs. Ray Roberts, treasurer.

Mrs. Delray Hall was chosen fellowship chairman; Mrs. Clifford Haskins, program chairman; and Mrs. Robert Cameron, world service chairman.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

"The Power of Pentecost" will be the subject of the Rev. Gerald W. Gibson's sermon at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Central Christian Church where he is pastor.

The sermon topic at 7 p.m. will be "After Revival, What?"

At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, a lecture and film entitled "The Dead Sea Scroll" is scheduled.

FIRST METHODIST

The Rev. Paul T. Hart, pastor of First Methodist Church, will preach on "Baptism of the Spirit" as the congregation observes Pentecost Sunday tomorrow.

As a special event the nine circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service will celebrate the work with meetings in members' homes Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The pastor will continue the study session on The Apostles Creed at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

SUNNY VALE CHAPEL

Mrs. Lora L. Parrot of Flint will be the speaker for the Mother and Daughter banquet at 6:30 p.m. Friday at Sunny Vale Chapel.

The wife of a minister, Mrs. Parrott is the author of "How to Be a Preacher's Wife and Like It."

She also has written several cook books.

Train Rams Car, 6 Teenagers Die

2 Others Injured by Swift Passenger Liner at Unguarded Crossing

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—A crack Illinois Central passenger train bowled over a car packed with teenagers returning from a high school prom early today at an unguarded crossing. Six students were killed, and two others were critically injured.

The 20-car Louisiana bound from Chicago to New Orleans dragged the badly mangled wreckage of the car along the tracks nearly a quarter mile.

An I-C spokesman at Champaign said normal train speed was 70 to 75 m.p.h. in the Mattoon area in east central Illinois.

The Coles County coroner's office identified five of the dead as Jerry Hill, 18; Eileen Moon, 16; Judy Keen, 18; and Loraine, 17, and Lisle Pfeiffer, 18. All are residents of nearby Shelbyville, a community of 4,600.

The other victim was identified as Jerry Hays, 19, of Woodlawn, about 100 miles south of Shelbyville.

Authorities at Mattoon Memorial Hospital identified the injured as Dorothy Thomas, 18, and Alvin Moon, 17, also of Shelbyville. Alvin and Eileen were brother and sister.

The collision occurred at a dirt road crossing two miles north of Mattoon. The tracks run adjacent to U.S. Highway 45 where police said the students, returning from the Shelbyville High prom, had turned off into the dirt road.

Parents Pray for Recovery of Stricken Sons

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A young mother and father, holding tragedy at arm's length, are praying for two miracles.

Their two sons, stricken with granulomatosis, a rare glandular disease, are not expected to live very long doctors have told them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey E. Payne said doctors say it is incredible that two cases have occurred in one family.

The boys, Bailey Jr., 4, and Christopher, 2½, were stricken about two years ago. The father is a factory worker.

"We know that doctors don't believe these children will live very long," the mother said Friday. "But we believe they will. We are praying that they will somehow recover."

At 72, He's Truthful

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia-born actor-comedian day for a premier of his movie "The Diary of Anne Frank" and States.

prefaced an interview on assorted topics by commenting: "I don't lie any more. At my age (72) what's there to lie about?"

There are about 18,700 motion picture theaters in the United States.

Freak Crash Fatal

HUDSON FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Williams, 74, jumped from her car Thursday night after it had swerved on a turn and run up the guy wire of a utility pole.

But she didn't move quickly enough. The car tipped over and crashed her to death.

Striking Bank Staffs Battle in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Striking bank workers and police fought in the heart of the capital Friday night amid rising agitation against President Arturo Frondizi's austerity program.

The clash came a few hours after almost all of Argentina's heavy industry was forced to shut down by a one-day antigovernment strike called by leftist and Peronist unions.

Several hundred bank employees, who have been out a month in pressing demands for more money marched into Corrientes Avenue and set up barricades of street cars and trolley buses.

A hail of stones met police trying to break up the demonstrations. Riot squads armed with tear gas finally dispersed the crowd after a half-hour battle.

Last Civil War Veteran to Ride in Military Parade

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams, the sole survivor of Civil War forces, planned a rare outing today.

Williams, 116, planned to ride in an ambulance—with a physician along—in today's Armed Forces Day parade.

He is a one-time Confederate forage master.

READ Before You Sign and Keep a Copy

The Better Business Board receives many complaints from buyers who claimed they were promised certain guarantees which were not stipulated in the sales contract:

Mihays Have Lake Home on Middlebelt

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When one drives along Middle Belt road, south of Orchard Lake road, it is hard to remember when that area was all open fields and swamps. It has become a choice residential district.

The Nate Mihays have a coral brick home on the west shore of Upper Long Lake. When we arrived to take pictures, the family was watching a pair of Canadian geese just off shore. The big birds came up on the lawn and stayed for a few minutes, then sailed majestically out of sight.

The Mihays used a stock plan with slight alterations for their home. Ed Johns of Detroit did the building. The house is placed on a lot 150 by 293 feet.

Janet, aged 16; Jim, aged 13; and John, aged 4 are the younger members of the Mihay family. There's a big friendly collie who greets all visitors at the walk leading to the house from the driveway.

As you enter the front (or is it the back?) door, you are in a small vestibule with a coat closet directly ahead in the chimney wall. At the right is Mr. Mihay's den. This has oak paneled walls with one wall devoted to built-in bookcases. The floor is brown tile.

TWO WINDOW WALLS

The living room runs through from front to back with windows on both sides. In fact, the entire wall on the lake side is made up of windows with floor length white draperies to cover them when necessary.

The fireplace takes up the entire center of this part of the house. It acts also as a dividing wall. The dining room is merely an extension of the living room. Behind the fireplace is a built-in birch buffet. The upper part has sliding glass doors.

Yellow and brown tweed carpeting covers the floor. The walls are sandalwood. The cathedral type ceiling is painted cream. Knotty pine paneling is used on the upper portion of the fireplace which itself is ledgerrock. A redwood tub holding two philodendron plants is set at one end of the stone hearth. The leafy vine goes up the fireplace, across to the corner, around it and on into the dining room where it stops halfway to the windows.

In the front corner there's a large iridescent brown section of sofa. In front of it is a petal shaped coffee table with a glass top. Plants grow out of a planter below. Bright throw pillows decorate the sofa.

In the other window there is a pair of pale green chairs. Near the fireplace is a rust colored platform rocker. Another chair is brown with a silver thread in the material. All tables are blonde.

In the dining room area the chairs, table and server are elm. Chair seats and back rests are nubby material in a mixture of green, black and brown.

The kitchen has pale yellow walls. There are green lines inserted in the pale brown tile floor. Counter tops and splash backs are green. The breakfast table is metal with a green top. Chairs are gray.

Birch cabinets divide the work area from the eating area. The upper ones are suspended on birch poles. Across the room there is a small pass-through to the back porch. This allows easy serving of warm weather meals.

FULL BASEMENT

The large basement has full length windows and a door to the patio outside. It is divided into four rooms. One, of course, is the utility room.

The room at the north is a play room that can be closed off from the rest of the area with bamboo shades. There are bamboo shades at all the windows.

There is a red brick fireplace in the middle room which is a second living room. Here the floor is gray, mottled in yellow and black.

LOWER LEVEL—There are four large rooms on the lower level. This view, taken from the playroom shows in the foreground the family room and in the background the kitchen and eating area. A red brick fireplace in the middle room makes it a cozy spot at any season of the year. A door in the kitchen area opens out onto the patio. Swimmers can change clothes without dirtying the upstairs.

ON MIDDLEBELT—The Nate Mihay home on the west shore of Upper Long Lake is set down from Middlebelt road. The exterior is coral brick with green trim. The two levels are not visible from this side. Ed Johns of Detroit did the building from a stock plan. The Mihays formerly lived in Farmington.

background for LIVING

TRAVELING VINE—Two philodendron plants in the redwood tub on the hearth have gone traveling. You can see the top of one on the dining room wall at the left. Meanwhile, it has circled the chimney and crossed two walls of the dining room. This fireplace is ledgerrock with knotty pine on the upper part. The fire opening is visible from both living room and dining room. Behind the stone, at the right, is a coat closet.

DINING VIEW—There is always an interesting view to watch when the Mihays eat at the drop leaf table in the bay window. This area is merely an extension of the living room and has the same wall coloring, draperies and carpeting. Furniture is elm. The nubby upholstery on the chairs combines green, black and brown.

CORNER SOFA—Mr. and Mrs. Mihay willingly posed for the Press photographer, but four-year-old John refused. The two older children were in school. Mr. Mihay painted the group of water colors hanging over the sofa. The brown upholstery of the large corner sectional sofa blends well with the sandalwood walls. Draperies are white. The carpeting is brown and yellow tweed.

Right Pitch to Roof Saves on Building

If you plan to build a home, you can save considerably on overall construction costs by careful selection of the roof style, says the University of Illinois Small Homes Council.

The Council's research shows that the most economical roof has a 2-in-12 pitch—that is, a slope of two inches for every foot of width—on a house either 28 or 40 feet wide.

In its annual Short Course for Builders, the university research group explained that only a few years ago houses 24 feet wide with higher pitched roofs were the most economical to build. The main reasons this has changed are:

1. Trusses with joints nailed and glued together are available today. These are less costly than the older method of joining members with bolts.

2. Today asphalt shingles can be applied to roofs with slopes as low as two inches per foot. This insures a top quality roof that is economical and will give years of trouble-free service.

A further advantage of asphalt shingles on a small, low house is that a light color can be chosen for the roof. This makes the house appear taller and larger.

3. Labor costs have gone up faster than material costs. Although a 28-foot house needs more material than a 24-foot house, it needs little more labor.

The Council points out that the most expensive house to build is one with a flat roof. Research shows that at average, nation-wide costs of labor and materials it would cost $254 per 100 square feet of floor area to build a house 24 feet wide with a flat roof. The same house with a 2-in-12 roof would cost $234 per 100 square feet.

Similarly, a house 28 feet wide with a roof pitched at 2-in-12 could be built for $228 per 100 square feet, while the same house with a flat roof would cost $242 per 100 square feet.

A house 40 feet wide with a flat roof would cost $237 per 100 square feet, while the same house with a roof pitched 2-in-12 could be built for $227 per 100 square feet.

Read Labels Carefully to Avoid Paint Errors

Look on ever can of paint, lacquer or enamel you use, and you will observe that the manufacturer has provided you with fool-proof instructions on the proper use of the product. If you do as instructed, your results will be all you desire and as good as the maker intended. If you do not follow instructions, and your experiment is a failure, the burden is on your own shoulders.

One example of this is a white enamel a householder used for the inside of a refrigerator. He had concocted his own thinning formula, with the result that the refrigerator was filled with an unpleasant odor, which ruined the food. Repairing this damage was a long drawn-out process of airing out the box, removing the paint, and starting again from scratch.

The telegraph and telephone systems in New Zealand are owned and operated by the government.

Dry Wall Wins

Chances are the walls of your next home will be built by gypsum board. More than half of the new homes built today are of dry-wall construction in contrast to 20 years ago, when nine out of 10 homes were finished off with several coats of wet plaster. Dry-wall construction invariably means gypsum board.

Terms Differ in England

It's called baseboard heating in the United States, but the English call it "skirting."

In some respects the English term is more accurately descriptive than the American name, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

A properly installed baseboard heating system "skirts" the outer walls of a room, the Bureau explains. In fact, one of the chief advantages of baseboard heating is due to its strategic location around the perimeter of the room where it delivers the heat where the cold comes in.

If you are discussing heating systems with an Englishman and he starts talking about his "accelerator," don't think he has suddenly changed the subject to automobiles.

In England, the accelerator is the pump or circulator which forces the hot water from the boiler to the heat distributors in a hydronic heating system.

Another difference between the American and the English hydronic heating system is the use of towel warmers as part of the heating system in England.

Towel warmers are installed in English bathrooms. Hot water from the boiler is circulated through them for the purpose of warming towels. Because English rooms normally have a lower temperature than American rooms, towel warmers are regarded as necessary in Merrie Old England.

Lumber Terms

Matched lumber is what is more popularly known as tongue-and-groove lumber; that is, a tongue along one edge fits into a groove along the edge of another piece of wood. Ship lap lumber has a lap joint (usually a rabbit) so that two pieces of wood fit together snugly.

Do-It-Yourself Craze Still on Upward Move

Smashed fingers, broken nails, paint-smeared hands and clothes and that wonderful feeling of "I did it myself" will be with us for a long time. That is, if the present trend in do-it-yourself continues.

Rather than declining, amateur home projects are on the upswing. This is the discovery of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association reports. As more people move to the suburbs, more homes are built and more leisure time is available, the legion of do-it-yourselfers increases.

Lumber dealers report sales to the home handy man are growing. A survey of 500 such dealers taken by the American Lumberman compares do-it-yourself sales in 1957 with those in 1954. In this three-year period 49 per cent increased their sales, 37 per cent remained the same and 14 per cent dropped.

Sales for 1958 are expected to show an even greater increase. Homeowners will find relaxation in doing odd jobs around the house, making their own odd pieces of furniture, paneling their own rooms and repairing and modernizing their homes.

Remodeling and repair work head the list of do-it-yourself projects. The extra room that needs to be finished for the teenager in the family, the den that father has so often wanted for himself, the recreation room where the growing youngsters can have their parties and do their entertaining — these are the projects to which the family handy man — and the family handy woman — are turning.

Most of the jobs involve carpentry and require some form of lumber from paneling material to shelving boards. Built-ins are a popular project. The handy man usually begins by making shelves and winds up building cabinets. Or frequently builds a complete wall of nooks and crannies for the lady of the house to use.

The urge to do-it-yourself is strongest in the springtime when it is estimated that about two out of every five home projects are begun. In the winter after a slow summer and fall a handy man's interest perks up again. He turns to his home workshop and turns out small projects.

Roof Deck Can Be Built Cheaply in Side Yard

Just about the cheapest living space available these days is the yard area adjacent to your house which can be paved and roofed for the phenomenally low cost of $1 a square foot and less.

This is one of the best arguments for a wood roof deck, the Southern Pine Association declares. The roof deck, a 2" layer of lumber that provides the roof structure in contemporary plank-and-beam homes, can be extended beyond the walls of the house at negligible cost. The extension can be developed in any desired dimension to provide an exposed wood canopy over your outdoor patio.

NEW INSULATION — Norm Miller (left) of Dearborn puts a new type of insulation into the basement walls of Arnold Raglin's home in Lakewood Village. Raglin (right) has electric heat in his home and thinks this new type of masonry fill will save on fuel bills. The insulation which fills the open spaces in cement blocks not only insulates, but also waterproofs walls.

Divide Cottage Into Rooms With Half Wall Storage

How many young housewives have wished for a cottage stretch to give them more room and more privacy?

Even a one-room cottage can afford a degree of privacy, some separation of kitchen, dining, living and sleeping quarters.

The secret is in design and in use of space dividers.

For instance, space is at a premium in a small home and there are several problems involved in dividing up this space. One is to avoid creating several small rooms which are confining and hard to decorate. So room separators, or dividers, only slightly higher than your head, are used in lieu of full walls to define various use areas.

To conserve space, put these dividers to work. Make them serve as storage walls and save valuable floor space which cabinets, buffets, and other furniture would take. They can be built of wood to match the ceiling and wall paneling—either Douglas fir or west coast hemlock are easily worked and respond beautifully to finishing.

One intriguing cottage design calls for kitchen, dining room and living room to be in an area of twelve or fourteen feet wide by any desired length, and a beamed ceiling over this area gives it a feeling of spaciousness. Here, some division between dining space and kitchen can be made, and the feeling of size retained through the use of a divider.

This divider comes only part way out from one wall, say far enough to leave a four- or five-foot-wide hallway along one wall. Even though the divider is only seven or eight feet wide, it still forms a clear line of demarcation between kitchen and dining room.

You may not even wish to have a separator between the living and dining areas, for the two are fairly easy to integrate as far as furnishings and decor are concerned.

Obviously, you are going to put the divider between the kitchen and dining room to work. You will want to have it deep enough to accommodate dish cupboards and, in a tiny kitchen, it may have to serve as storage for much of your kitchen ware and perhaps even cereals and breakfast foods.

You can save steps by having the dish cupboards open on either side so that contents can be reached from both dining room and kitchen. They can be glass enclosed, or you may want to have the doors cut right out of the panel boards so that they will form a part of the storage wall when closed.

Sliding doors for the lower storage cabinets are good in a small home because they do not take up floor space when open.

Room Seems Restful When Paneled in Wood

In a house seen recently, which was imaginatively painted throughout, it was restful to find one room done entirely in walnut type paneling. The rich tone of the wood with its dull warm glow made an especially appealing interior.

Paneling goes up quickly with today's ready-cut boards or plywood, and with the easy-to-use wood finishes, it can be tuned to the period you want, in either light or dark tones. Furniture and floors take on additional beauty with wax care. They can be maintained with liquid or paste wax, without the need for scraping or refinishing.

The first shaken cocktail is believed to have been made in the tavern of Increase Arnold in Providence, R. I., during Colonial times. It consisted of "rum, milk, sugar, finely cracked ice from the ice house." It was shaken in a silver coffee pot "until the frost was on the pot."

Marigolds Good Borders

If you want low borders around your garden, try the tiny-sized marigolds. The plants are compact and hold their shape. Yet, they will not spread.

Coral Brick Home Has Green Trim

turn this area over to the children for their parties, but have been known to use it themselves in summer and on special occasions.

In the upstairs bathroom
there is a Mexican tile picture set into the wall above the bathtub. The vanity in this room extends across one whole wall and around the corner to continue on half of another wall. Colors are yellow, brown and tan.

Janet's room has a corkstone tile floor. Her walls are pale green. Draperies and bedspread are brown. The bed ruffle is striped.
Janet is artistic and has a number of her pictures and pieces of handcraft displayed in her room.
The maple rocker is made more comfortable with a yellow cushion. The rug beside the bed is a furry beige one.

In the boys' room the walls are yellow; curtains are deep coral. Trundle bunk beds take up little wall space. Each boy has his own birch chest and desk.

Mr. and Mrs. Mihay have a pink and gray tile floor in their bedroom. Their draperies are white with a pink and gold design. Walls are green.

The furniture is cherry. On the bed is a pink and gray spread.
These colors are repeated in the aria chair near the windows which show a magnificent sweep of the lake.

QUESTION BOX

Q—We need a new roof, but I'd rather economize and patch up the old one for now. How can I find the leaks without waiting for a rainstorm?

A—Don't patch it. It would be a waste of time and money since it is false economy to patch up an old roof. Here's why: a roof wears out uniformly and new leaks are bound to spring up soon after you patch the old ones.

Besides, walking on the old roof may open up new leaks in the age-weakened material. If you really want to economize, apply an entire new roof of asphalt shingles in a color your family likes. This will give you years of trouble-free protection, add to the appearance of the house, increase its value, and save the cost and time of making futile repairs.

Q—Can electric heating be in-

A—Yes. In fact, this is one of the advantages of electric heating. Equipment is designed to take up as little space as possible. There's no duct work or elaborate piping to install. It's simply a matter of running electrical cables to heating units in various rooms.

Q—Why do many items for the home, such as unfinished furniture and toys, come unassembled.

A—To save you money. Unassembled, the piece costs less to store and ship. This savings is passed on to the buyer.

Q—My blacktop driveway is full of pot holes. I hesitate to go to the expense of having it repaved professionally with a hot mix. Is a cold mix satisfactory?

A—Cold mix works just as well and will stand up as long as hot mix when it is used to repair blacktop.

Q—I want to hang an outdoor floodlight on my house. Will it be safe from weather?

A—Most fixtures for outdoor lights are waterproof. It's a good idea, though, to hang the light under the eaves if you can. This extra protection will double its life.

Select Proper Grade of Lumber for Project

In selecting lumber for your remodeling project, the important thing is to know the right grade and quality for the right job. Generally speaking, the use of a good grade and good quality will reward you handsomely. Lumber is basically economical and the cost differential between grades, proportionately small. The use of high quality lumber makes your work easier and more economical, while the final product will be long lasting in character and low cost to maintain.

Here is the Southern Pine Association's listing of various likely projects the home handyman might undertake, together with the recommended grades for each use. While the grade numbers or letters are for Southern Pine lumber, they also would apply in the case of most other wood species:

FRAMING: Any ambitious remodeling job, such as enclosing a porch or adding a room, is apt to require some structural material, for example, 2 x 4's for the studs or wall uprights. Floor joists and ceiling joists belong in same category. Recommended:

grades: No. 1 or No. 2, moisture content maximum, 19 per cent.

SHEATHING: To brace your 2 x 4's and tie them together with the rest of the structure, you should apply a flat layer of boards called sheathing. For best results nail sheathing diagonally to studs, use grades No. 2 or No. 3, with moisture content same as for framing.

PANELING: Paneling the room walls with lumber can be the most satisfying of experiences for the home handyman. Choice of the right grade plus a good job assures him of an attractive room whose maintenance will be virtually nil for all the years to come. For fine paneling, recommended grades are "C" or "B and Better." These and other grades of Southern Pine paneling carry 12 per cent maximum moisture content limit.

SIDING: For enclosure of a porch or addition of a room, lumber siding makes excellent outer surfacing, easy to apply and blending well with whatever material surfaces original house. For finest results, grades "C" or "B and Better" are recommended plus the use of properly seasoned material.

ROOF DECKING: An increasingly popular practice is to use a flat 2" thickness of lumber for the roof structure exposed on the underside as a finished ceiling. Recommended grade is No. 1, with moisture content maximum, 15 per cent.

Readers will note the emphasis on proper seasoning—a factor of tremendous importance in dimensional stability, permanence and paint retention. Lumber seasoned to the desired moisture content is easy to obtain. When Southern Pine framing, siding, or paneling is grade-marked, the buyer is assured of proper seasoning. In the case of other species, retail lumber dealers can readily furnish "dry" material to buyers who ask for it.

Best Screen for Fireplace May Be Costly

As anyone who has a fireplace knows, when you start to equip it you can spend a little or a lot and, sometimes, the difference is not readily apparent to the eye.

A screen, for example, consists of a frame and the mesh curtain, or screen. Most frequently seen are frames of wrought iron, solid brass, brass plate or brass finish. Brass-plated or brass-finished frames should cost less than solid brass, but most experts tell us that where a polished brass surface is desired, solid brass is a better value.

Solid brass can take wear and unlimited polishing, if necessary, although a good screen frame will probably be treated with a protection coating to prevent tarnish.

A good quality iron or steel frame finished in black is also considered a long-wearing and serviceable frame.

Do-It-Yourself Rules Listed

The big idea to keep in mind when remodeling a home is Don't Kill Yourself. Other ideas that might be helpful include these:

1. Take time out from the project occasionally, so you don't feel you are pinned to it.
2. As long as it is going to take three months, don't worry that it may take four. If you can enjoy life while you do it, the other month won't matter.
3. When doing over your house do not get up earlier or go to bed later than usual. That is how amateur handymen get fed up with a job.
4. Figure out the cost of everything before you begin the project. Don't start getting nervous when the bills pour in, and you haven't even begun the big tasks.
5. If you can avoid it, do not enter the room that is being remodeled. If the kitchen is being done over, move a small stove and refrigerator into another room, and try to keep things going without stumbling over rubble.
6. It's a good idea not to invite kibitzers in to get your teeth on edge. People who carry suggestion boxes in their wallets always manage to put a crimp in other people's plans.
7. When doing any home project try to treat it as a hobby, relaxing when you've had your fill, rather than going on doggedly to see the end of it.

Ready Your Patio for Barbecue Time

Barbecue season coming up! Once again families will be dining "out." However, porch and patio tile floors frequently present a tough cleaning-up problem—especially for those living in sections of the country where the long winter months have let streets and yard dust hold unrestricted domain.

To restore the lost lustre and original beauty of tile floors in outdoor locations try using an asphalt tile cleaner—the same one manufactured for use on kitchen floors.

Afterwards, frequent hosing or soap-and-water scrubbing will help keep normal dust and dirt in check.

Special Masonry Paint Checks Stone Crumbling

Deterioration of masonry which has resulted in collapse of cornices and ledges, bringing death and injury to passersby, can be checked by painting the ledges with cement-based masonry paint.

H. W. Cairns, president of Rox Products Co., manufacturer of Rox masonry paint, an authority on concrete and masonry waterproofing, made this statement as work went forward on the facades of old Detroit buildings.

"In many instances deterioration has advanced too far to save the masonry now, but if cement-based masonry paint... had been applied early, there would have been no break-down of the material due to moisture penetration, frost and erosion," Cairns says.

"Cement-based paint seals the masonry against the ravages of weather and stops deterioration before it starts, because no moisture can penetrate the masonry even in the severest wind-driven rain."

In many other cities the building code makes the owner of every structure responsible for its safety.

"We have found the biggest single factor in the premature deterioration of concrete and masonry in exposed portions of buildings to be moisture penetration," one municipal building inspector said recently.

"Adequate preventive maintenance that included waterproofing and periodic inspection would eliminate structure failures caused by moisture penetration," he added.

Cairns points out that cement-based paint should be applied early, because, under some conditions, deterioration is rapid.

Chimneys and basements of frame homes and the entire exposed surface of brick and other masonry homes need cement-based masonry paint as a protection against deterioration caused by moisture, but it also stops efflorescence, a flaking caused by minerals in the masonry, particularly brick.

Electric Heater Is Versatile Appliance

Although most portable electric heaters originally are purchased for bathroom use, owners have found them to be among the most versatile of household appliances. This is especially true during the spring and fall months when individual areas must be heated but it's uneconomical to use the furnace to heat the entire house.

Portable electric heaters are specially designed to provide economical personalized comfort. However, as with most products, they have been adapted by buyers to a multitude of other uses.

Amateur photographers, for instance, have found that heaters equipped with fans perform excellently in darkrooms, speeding the drying of film as well as providing warmth. Thousands are used to warm entire home workshop areas.

This same situation is true in attics or garages where a person occasionally must work even in cold weather. During the winter many persons have even used their heaters to help thaw out frozen water pipes.

Some of the more normal uses are to warm up a bathroom in the morning, keep a nursery comfortable for small children, or provide additional warmth on a sun porch or in an office. In some of these cases, Arvin engineers point out, forced air type heaters are most suitable, while in others a radiant heater works best.

Concrete blocks of standard sizes are used for this easy-to-build barbecue. It is lined with fire brick. Pattern 435, which shows every step, outlines amounts of materials required, is 25c. Packet 30 contains five patterns for home-made improvements including this barbecue for $1. Orders under $1 add 10c service charge.

All Grade Usable

There are three grades of cedar shingles. No. 1 is the best and used for extra-fine installations. No. 2, generally used for sidewalls, has no blemishes on any parts of the exposed shingles. No. 3 is considered satisfactory for garages and small buildings but often is used for sidewalls on larger buildings where economy is the prime consideration.

Found—An Extra Closet Under Basement Stairs

Storage space being at a premium in compact, modern-day homes, the only way to gain it is to make use of every square inch of waste space.

One place you may have overlooked is under the basement stairway. Here you can provide a good many square feet of storage space simply by enclosing the area and installing voluminous shelves.

An understairs closet is a rainy-day project that can improve the appearance of your basement, as well. It can be built with a minimum of additional framing, since the stairway itself provides a starting framework.

While over-all dimensions will vary with the height of the basement, the length of the stairs, and the position of the stair landing frame, this is the recommended construction method:

Outline the closet area by fastening 2x4 boards to the floor. The outside edges of the boards should be exactly plumb with the outside edges of the stair stringers (the framework on which the steps are mounted).

Secure the boards to the floor by first making holes in the concrete using a 3/4-inch star drill and hammer. Insert 3/4-inch screw anchors covering material. As further protection from dust, caulk any opening through which you can see daylight from inside the closet.

At the lower end of the stairs, close off the closet at about the fifth step, which should make this closet wall about 30 inches in height. The space between the short end of the closet and the bottom step may then be used as a separate but smaller closet, with or without a door.

At the tall end of the closet there is ample space for a number of shelves, floor to ceiling. Shelves can also be installed along the side opposite the door.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: We have aluminum gutters around our house. One of them was out of line and I re-adjusted the brackets that hold it to the house. But in doing so, I made a hole in the bottom of the gutter with a screw driver. How can this hole be patched?

ANSWER: Spread asbestos cement over the damaged area on the inside of the gutter. Place a piece of heavy aluminum foil over the hole and several inches around it, pressing it down into the cement.

Add a little more cement to cover the edges of the aluminum foil and you will have a good patch. Before you spread the cement, file down any rough edges around the opening on the inside of the gutter. This will prevent the aluminum from making a tear in the foil.

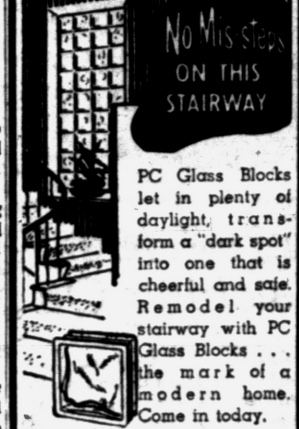

QUESTION: I plan on making an extra room soon and will have a lot of nailing to do. I have heard about a new hammer which supplies and drives its own nails upwards as well as downwards. Such a hammer would ease my task. Can you tell me where to buy such a hammer?

ANSWER: I, too, have heard about such a hammer... which can drive as many as 100 nails a minute. But unless you have a money tree in your backyard, you'd better forget about it. This type of hammer is made for the building industry and costs about $1,000.

QUESTION: To finish an unfinished pine cabinet with black lacquer, must I apply a sealer first?

ANSWER: You should apply a coat of lacquer sealer first, then follow with at least two coats of black lacquer. Have you ever used lacquer? And are you using a brush or a sprayer.

If you have never used lacquer, and you are using a brush, better

Homer in Bunt Situation Beats Tigers

Nieman's Blast Spoils Excellent Mossi Job, 2-1

Loes Oriole Winner; Berberet Hits Seats for Detroit Run

BALTIMORE (AP) — A home run in a clearcut bunt situation spoiled the Detroit Tigers' sharpest pitching performance of the season last night.

Baseball tradition decreed that Bob Nieman lay one down when he came to bat in the ninth inning for the Baltimore Orioles. Nieman scoffed at tradition and sliced a two-run homer for a 2-1 Oriole victory.

He scored behind Bob Boyd, who had led off the Oriole ninth with a single.

"The home team always goes for the tying run in the late innings," says an old baseball axiom. "Bunt a runner on first along with none out."

A bunt would have pushed Boyd to second and into scoring position.

"I never even considered a bunt," said Oriole manager Paul Richards, the man who violated baseball's unwritten law and won.

Don Mossi was sailing along with a neat three-hitter when Boyd touched him for the lead-off single. The southpaw had permitted only one runner beyond second. He retired 11 Orioles in order at one stage.

Mossi deserved a larger lead than Lou Berberet's solo homer in the seventh provided him. But the Tigers old bugaboo — runners left on base came back to haunt them. Nine Tiger runners died on base, three of them at third.

Berberet's homer was the first score in a brilliant pitchers' duel between Mossi and Oriole rookie Jerry Walker. Walker worked out of jams in the third, fourth and sixth innings.

But the young right hander wasn't around at the end to claim the victory. That was awarded to Billy Loes, who came in when Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn hit successive singles with two out in the eighth.

Loes walked pinch hitter Neil Chrishley, filling the bases. But then he settled down and struck out Berberet for the final out.

It turned out to be the Tigers' last gasp. Loes, who won his third game, set Detroit down in order in the ninth.

The defeat prevented the Tigers from gaining ground in their bid to escape the American League basement. They remained two games behind New York and Boston, who also lost.

DETROIT (AP) — Billy Pierce, twice a 20-game winner and one of the best left-handers now pitching, finally is catching up with the New York Yankees.

At 32, Pierce has only a 21-30 lifetime record against the Yankees, but he gained his fifth victory in his last six decisions against them last night, blanking New York on six singles for a 6-0 Chicago victory that gave the suddenly hot White Sox a seven-game streak.

It was Chicago's second victory in three games against the Yankees.

The seven-game streak—longest in the majors this season—kept the second-place White Sox within a half game of the American League leading Cleveland Indians, who won 4-3 at Boston. Baltimore clung to third with a 2-1 victory over Detroit. Kansas City edged within .003 percentage points of fourth-place Washington by beating the Senators 4-2.

Pierce, who has managed only two winning seasons against New York since he started in 1948 (4-2 in 1953, 3-2 last season), now has a 5-2 record for the year and has allowed just one run in his last 16 innings. He also has shut out the Yankees for 13 consecutive innings.

It was Pierce's second shutout of the season and the 33rd of his career, a total topped only by teammate Easy Wynn's 39 among active American League pitchers.

The White Sox, matching their longest streak since 1956, when they won nine straight, collected six of their nine hits off Whitey Ford (3-2). The stubby southpaw has a 24-11 edge over the Sox, but has lost three in a row to them.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The White Sox pitcher Billy Pierce, right, is congratulated by teammates who helped him with their bats in last night's 6-0 triumph over the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium. The Sox victory stretched their winning streak to seven games. From left, with Pierce, are catcher Sherman Lollar, Bubba Phillips and Luis Aparicio. They each contributed two hits.

Today, 35-year old Coe from Oklahoma City played British champion Joe Carr of Ireland in the final singles match of this year's competition. Coe is the U.S. Amateur champion.

Coe paired with Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C. in a 9 and 8 victory yesterday over Arthur Perowne and Michael Bonalick.

That was the only runaway match. Harvie Ward, San Francisco, and Dr. Frank Taylor, Pomona, Calif., defeated Reid Jack Hyndman, Philadelphia, and Tommy Aaron, Gainesville, Ga., beat Carr and Guy Wolstenholme, 1 up.

Ward Wettlaufer, Buffalo, N.Y., and Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, downed Michael Lunt and Alex Shepperson 2 and 1 completing the rout.

Ward, former U.S. and British amateur champion who had been off form in practice, once again proved himself a great competitor. He sank putts of 45 and 24 feet on the last nine just when they were needed. Then he sank one from 15 feet on the home green for the victory he posted with Dr. Taylor.

Nicklaus and Wettlaufer, two of the American team's "babies," rallied after being four down to Lunt and Shepperson.

Don Newcombe was Big Newk again last night.

The large right-hander of late has known two of the big days he used to have with regularity. But last night was one of them as he backed up his sharp control pitching by driving in three runs, homering for the clincher, while winning a big game for Cincinnati.

San Francisco (AP) — The Cardinals won their only other game scheduled in the NL.

Newcombe, 32, who has won only 20 games since being named baseball's top pitcher in 1956 with 27 victories for the Dodgers, gave up but seven hits, walked none, and struck out seven. He lost his shutout bid in the sixth when Leon Wagner's third homer in three days was good for both Giants runs.

Newk was 3-for-4 in the Reds' 14-hit attack. He doubled home a second-inning run, then put it out of reach with a two-run homer in the fourth off loser Jack Sanford (5-3). It was Newk's first 1959 homer, and only his fifth since 1955, when he set the one-season NL record for pitchers with seven.

The Reds, never beaten by Sanford in five decisions against the right-hander, ended a scoreless-inning streak by Giant pitching at

The Cardinals swung for a dozen hits against loser Robin Roberts (2-2) and three relievers with George Crowe, Ken Boyer and Bill White hitting solo home runs. It was all over in the second inning when the Cards scored four, two on a triple by Mizell.

Vinegar Bend (4-1) had a two-hit shutout until the fifth, when his own error gave the Phils a pair of unearned runs. Mizell muffed Sparky Anderson's pop up and Richie Ashburn and Gran Hamner then singled with two out as the Phillies (victims of two shutouts at San Francisco) ended their scoreless slump at 23 innings. Mizell then retired the last 13 in order.

Vinegar Bend (4-1) had a two-hit shutout until the fifth, when his own error gave the Phils a pair of unearned runs. Mizell muffed Sparky Anderson's pop up and Richie Ashburn and Gran Hamner then singled with two out as the Phillies (victims of two shutouts at San Francisco) ended their scoreless slump at 23 innings. Mizell then retired the last 13 in order.

Newk was 3-for-4 in the Reds' 14-hit attack. He doubled home a second-inning run, then put it out of reach with a two-run homer in the fourth off loser Jack Sanford (5-3). It was Newk's first 1959 homer, and only his fifth since 1955, when he set the one-season NL record for pitchers with seven.

The Reds, never beaten by Sanford in five decisions against the right-hander, ended a scoreless-inning streak by Giant pitching at 18 when leadoff man Johnny Temple got a bunt single and Vada Pinson, No. 2 in the Red batting order, brought him home with a double.

The Cardinals swung for a dozen hits against loser Robin Roberts (2-2) and three relievers with George Crowe, Ken Boyer and Bill White hitting solo home runs. It was all over in the second inning when the Cards scored four, two on a triple by Mizell.

Michigan Medal Play Tourney Next Weekend

By BILL CORNWELL

Michigan's first major amateur golf tournament of the year drops in at plush Red Run Golf Club next weekend for a three-day run.

The fifth annual Michigan Medal Play Championship, formerly known as the Detroit Medal Play tourney, boasts a glittering array of stars for the 72-hole event scheduled Friday through Sunday, May 22-24.

Virtually every top-flight amateur golfer in the state, with the Oakland County area leading the way, is entered in the grueling medal test which has been won three of the previous four years by peerless Chuck Kocsis.

The entry list reads like a "Who's Who" in Michigan amateur golfing circles.

Among the 85 players given invitations to compete in the tourney who have already signed up are Glenn Johnson, four-time State Amateur champion; Sam Kocsis, ex-National Public Links champ, and Pontiac's Mike Andonian, State Public Links titleholder for the last three summers.

Other members of the standout field include former State Amateur winner Tom Draper of Birmingham, Bob Babbish, Harold Brink, Ben Smith, Detroit District titlist Mel (Bud) Stevens, ex-Canadian Amateur King Nick Westlock of Windsor, and Talbot Smith from Fremont, past California Amateur champ.

Pontiac's Wally Smith, the Royal Oak policeman who reached the semifinals of the Michigan Public Links tournament last year, is another entry, along with veterans like Perry Byard, Ralph Ellstrom, Jack Zinn and Dick and Bob Whiting.

Representing the younger set will be Bud Badger, 19-year-old Michigan State freshman who used to sock pars at Bloomfield Hills High School. Jack Geiss of Birmingham, a newcomer to state golf ranks who once was Missouri-Amateur ruler, is an additional title threat.

The inimitable Kocsis, of course, will again be the favorite as well as the target of every golfer in the field. Kocsis, five-time Michigan Amateur champ, has consistently been the state's best non-pure player for many seasons. He won this tourney last year at sprawling Indianwood.

Friday's opening action will feature 36 holes with the field being slashed in half for the remainder of the event. Eighteen holes are slated Saturday and another 18 Sunday.

Shotgun Weekend!

Multi-Lakers have planned an interesting "shotgun weekend," tomorrow, at the Reeds lake clubhouse. Beginning at noon, there will be a merchandise shoot at the trap and skeet fields, with prizes of hams and bacon and other awards. Shoot will run until 5 p.m.

A special turkey and chicken dinner will be served all during the afternoon. Guns and ammunition are available for those who do not have their own weapons.

REALLY MOVING — Taking a breather after Thursday's record-smashing run on Lake Coniston in England is British speedboat driver Donald Campbell, who set an unofficial new world mark of just over 260 miles per hour in his jet-powered craft Bluebird. If confirmed, Campbell will have broken his old record of 248.6 miles an hour.

Keego, Farmington and Maples Qualify

PCH, St. Fred in Golf Finals

Pontiac Central, St. Fredrick, Farmington, West Bloomfield and Birmingham headed a list of nine area schools which qualified for next week's state golf finals in regionals at three sites Friday.

The others were Southfield, Brighton, St. Mary and Shrine of Royal Oak.

It was an all-local windup at Farmington Country Club where Farmington upset defending state Class A champ Birmingham 349-345 while the Keego boys were firing a 339 to take "B" honors. Southfield also made the grade at Farmington by finishing 4th.

Pontiac Central and St. Fred both advanced competing at Flint Brookwood. The Chiefs finished 3rd in Class A with 337. The Rams were runnerup in C-D with 372.

Shrine was 2nd in Class B at Farmington and St. Mary held the same ranking in C-D at Brighton. Brightons took No. 2 honors in "B" there.

Walled Lake just missed being the 10th team in the Oakland County sector to reach the championship round. The Vikings were eliminated in a one-hole playoff after finishing tied for 3rd with Plymouth at Brighton.

St. Michael was short of a qualifying chance by 5 strokes ending up 4th at Flint as Mike Wiegand matched Ram Pat Secoy for 2nd low medalist at 86.

Tom Deaton paced PCH with 80. Chuck Canterbury shot 81 for Waterford and Don Davis had 92 for Pontiac Northern as those schools shared 9th with 393 behind Mt. Clemens' 385. Rochester had 395 featuring an 88 for Larry Beaupre.

Holly was 4th and Clarkston 5th at Brookwood with 370 and 406, respectively. Don Mackenzie had 87 for the Broncos and Jim Gunter 93 for the Wolves.

Shrine and Birmingham had the top individuals at Farmington as Gary Mow toured the course in 79 for the Maples and Parochial John Howling had 78. Ken Cobb and John Anderson matched 84 to spark Farmington. Steady Jon Shaw totaled 82 for Keego.

Great relief pitching by Jack Delveaux kept Illinois in the running. Delveaux took over in the fifth inning and kept Michigan hitting the rest of the way. Jim Cyk led Illinois with three hits including a home run.

Non-Derby starters in the Preknackness are Emil Dolce's Manassa Mauler, Robert S. Lytle's Sundown II, and Lester G. Robinson's Marauder.

National Open Qualifying Is Slated Monday

Blytheville, Lochmoor, C.C. of Detroit Hosts to Sectional Trials

A crack at the U.S. Open golf championship — the world's most coveted golfing crown — will be the aim of 126 players Monday at three different Michigan links.

The National Open qualifying trials, operating this year under a new and expanded program by the USGA, are scheduled for a 36-hole dawn-to-dusk grind at Lochmoor and the Country Club of Detroit in this area and Blytheville at Grand Rapids.

Michigan's three sectional qualifiers are a small segment of the vast network of trials being held throughout the nation on the same day.

A total of 126 golfers will compete in Michigan's sectional trials, 100 at Lochmoor and the C.C. of Detroit and the balance at Blytheville.

Of this king-sized delegation, only 23 will advance to the 2nd sectional qualifier, which is slated June 1 at Grosse Ile Golf and Country Club.

The Detroit-area trial will send 18 into the 2nd round. Grand Rapids will furnish the remaining five.

Dick Radats chipped up 14 strikeouts in pitching Michigan State back into contention. Bob Muncie led MSU's attack with four singles.

Reno Masotti's two-run homer and clutch relief pitching by Al Otto aided Northwestern and halted Indiana's five-game winning streak.

In other games Friday, Michigan State climbed into a third place tie with Indiana by defeating Purdue 6-3; Wisconsin downed Ohio State 6-3; and Northwestern clipped Indiana 4-3.

Minnesota (8-1) plays a doubleheader at Iowa (3-7) today and Illinois (7-3) takes on Michigan State (6-4) in a twin bill. Other doubleheader action finds Indiana (6-4) at Wisconsin (5-5), Ohio State (4-6) at Northwestern (3-6) and Michigan (5-5) at Purdue (1-7).

Minnesota broke a 1-1 tie in the ninth when John Erickson walked. Neil Junker doubled and Dick Alford singled both men home. Fred Bruckbauer went all the way and limited Iowa to four hits.

Great relief pitching by Jack Delveaux kept Illinois in the running. Delveaux took over in the fifth inning and kept Michigan hitting the rest of the way. Jim Cyk led Illinois with three hits including a home run.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—The old guard of golf represented by 49-year-old Dutch Harrison and 47-year-old Sam Snead were leading it over the new crop again today swinging into the third round of the 12th annual festival at Snead's domain.

The easy-going Harrison ambled into the halfway lead of the 72-hole Snead Festival yesterday with his second workmanlike two under par 68.

Snead fell a stroke off his opening 68, but his 137 total still kept him in the threatening runnerup spot.

Local Skate Queen Contest Sunday Night

A local queen of roller skating who will be eligible to compete for a chance to reign over the state championships May 28 at Flint will be determined at a beauty contest Sunday at 9 p.m. at the Rolladium.

Contestants must be over 16 and single. There will be no skating involved although all will be judged wearing skates and a suitable costume. No professional models or girls who have ever been married are allowed to take part.

The contest winner will represent the Rolladium Skating Club and Pontiac in the state queen voting just prior to the skate skating finals.

Ball Hits Tree, Rolls Into Cup

Joseph R. Gillis, a teacher at the University of Detroit, isn't the least bit fussy how he makes his holes-in-one. He'll take them any way he can get them.

Gillis, who lives at 13501 Dexter in Detroit, scored the second hole-in-one of his golfing career yesterday at Sylvan Glen Golf Club by bouncing the ball against a tree.

His 9-iron shot on the 115-yard, 17th hole caromed off a tree, landed on the green and rolled into the cup for an ace.

Mid-east Worries U.S. Firms Abroad

Outlook Good in Britain

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
LONDON (AP)—American firms making their products in plants here are confident today about their local sales outlook. Britain's recovery from its brief and mild industrial dip secures their home market.

But most of the firms in the oil, rubber, appliance and auto fields are closely tied with operations elsewhere. And they have their worries in the Middle East and their doubts about the European common market.

Officials at the Treasury say that Britain welcomes American firms and that their products made here gain all the advantages of commonwealth preferences—a system that can penalize goods made elsewhere. This is one reason that British manufacturers, unlike Americans, have shown little interest in building plants in the common market area on the continent.

Many American corporation officials here say that the Board of Trade is reasonable about granting licenses for imports when the need for such products or materials is shown.

Most Americans agree that the best way to do business in Britain is to build a plant here, not try to import. They go along with British officials in saying labor-management relations are usually good. The cost of living has held steady for 12 months.

Oil companies are under pressure at the moment because of unemployment in the coal fields. Oil imports are increasing steadily. There is political clamor for a curb so that coal may regain some of its lost markets. This embarrasses the Conservative government at a time when general elections are in the wind.

Tire factories look for sales gains because Britons have more money now to buy cars, because employment is on the rise again, and because it's uneconomic to import tires and pay the duty.

But a spokesman for Goodyear's British subsidiary complains that tires last too long in England. There are no long distances to drive as in the United States and average speeds on narrow, winding roads are lower, so that tires don't wear out as fast. When they do, the British go in heavily for retreading, and the replacement market is small, in contrast to the United States.

American auto firms manufacturing here are prospering. Ford Motors says output is at a record high. So is it with General Motor's Vauxhall.

London is headquarters for many oil companies operating in the troubled Middle East, often with American firms teaming up with British, Dutch or French.

But a spokesman for the Iraq Petroleum Co. thinks the danger of American oil interests in that Communist-pressured land may have been overstated. He says that negotiations with the new government are continuing along the same lines they were taking with the monarchy.

He denies that the new government has suggested changing the 50-50 split of profits between the company and the government. What is at issue are methods of figuring the costs of production. There has been only a little unrest among the workers. A few Iraqi employees at the management level have had some political difficulties.

But in the main the outlook isn't dark. The company is going ahead with its expansion plans—including discussions of a new pipe line to the Mediterranean through Arab-held terrain.

He adds "we have to learn, there as elsewhere, to live with the risks in a politically unstable world."

A spokesman for the consortium of American and European oil firms working with the Iranian government in the production and marketing of Iran's oil foresees no political difficulties for the oil industry there—so long as nothing happens to the shah.

Getting nine companies from several nations to act together has its protocol problems, the spokesman says, but these are working out.

The oil industry's main problem worldwide has been the weakening of crude oil prices and the overcapacity to produce and to refine which is being tackled in various ways—in many countries from political angles, involving production and import curbs.

LONG LIVE THE QUEEN!

A woman may be articulate and be unpopular. She may have superlative talent as an executive, or organizer, or teacher, or in finance, and claim few friends. This person can add one grace and acquire popularity—femininity, be a woman first. Feminine charm is the strongest force on earth; with it she may win all the laurels on earth.

The woman who is more interested in style of clothes, in the preparation of delicious food, in sparkling windows, in keeping her family happy than she is in securities, or power, is the Queen we love.

Our wives give everything, ask for nothing and get everything and love is the medium of exchange. Long Live the Queen in our homes. Her friends are legion. Her strength is her charm. But her wealth is staunch, abiding love. She, indeed, is the Queen we cherish.

Senate Group OKs Bill to Hike Wheat Supports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Agricultural Committee yesterday approved a wheat bill designed to offer higher price supports to farmers who plant less.

There is now a tremendous surplus of wheat. Congressional committees and the administration have been wrestling for months with various plans to try to keep the surplus from growing still bigger.

With absentees still to be polled, the vote for the bill was 8 to 1. Three committee members voted present.

Sen. Milton Young (R-ND), cast the lone dissenting vote. He told newsmen that no wheat farmer could exist under the terms of the bill.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), who voted for the bill, called it "a step in the right direction." He told newsmen, however, that the measure faces "rough sledding" in the Senate.

The Senate group acted after President Eisenhower again had prodded Congress to pass "realistic and constructive" legislation to deal with the problem.

Used Poor Judgment

TAIPEI (AP)—Judge Hu Tao-hui, 51, of the Quemoy District Court has been demoted for granting a woman a divorce then marrying her himself before the decree became final. The woman's husband Hung Tien-pei had not been notified of the divorce action.

Vignettes of History

The site of Muskegon, on a river that penetrated to the heart of densely forested fur country, was a natural point for a fur trading post. However, while for a hundred years or more some fur trade had been carried on in the area, it was not until 1812 that a permanent trading post was established here. In that year, the French trader Baptiste Recollet set up a post on Bear Lake. The fur trade in Michigan reached its peak around 1830. Beaver, a standard of exchange, made up a large portion of the fur exports.

Retiring AP Auto Editor Predicts:

1979 Will Still See Gas Engine

(Since 1939 David J. Wilkie has specialized exclusively in automotive reporting for the Associated Press. He begins a vacation today, prior to his official retirement July 1. In the last of his AP columns he draws upon his vast background and comes up with some predictions.)

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—The automobile 20 years hence in all probability will be a gasoline-propelled vehicle. The engine will be an internal combustion unit much like that in today's cars.

This is the studied opinion of this industry chronicler, today writing the last of a long series of these reports about auto industry activities.

It is an opinion unshaken by intensive research into automotive potentialities of nuclear energy, gas turbine engines, new types of long-life electric batteries, the phenomena of electro-magnetic energy and numerous other power possibilities.

Production costs are major obstacles in some instances; in others technical problems have been encountered that will not be solved overnight. And continuing refinements are coming in today's conventional engines.

ALUMINUM IN OFFING

Before any of the newer forms of power have been successfully adapted to volume production cars, an all-aluminum engine will appear. Experimental work has been going on with this type of power plant along with research into the various types of other possible engines. A small version of the aluminum engine already reportedly is in production on a pilot model basis for use in General Motors' forthcoming compact automobile.

The 1979 cars will offer broad styling changes, achieved through year-to-year alterations. They will be no lower but many of them will have wider wheel treads, taking their cue from the successful 1959 Pontiac line.

Long before the 1979 car goes into production the problem created by the transmission tunnel through the center of the vehicle will have been solved. Some car-makers currently are working on the elimination of the tunnel by moving the major elements of the transmission to the rear axle area. Some of the manufacturers have been aiming at a 1960 introduction of cars without the transmission tunnel.

The place of the compact, smaller wheelbase car in the industry's future is the subject of broad speculation. Proponents of the smaller vehicle are predicting that perhaps half of all the cars sold in 1965 will be of the compact type.

They cite the forthcoming entry of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler into the smaller car field as supporting an industry-wide conviction that there is a growing trend toward the compact units.

All industry experts do not agree with that view. This writer believes growing demand for smaller, imported models and the compact American-made vehicles results from a rebellion against the disappearance of the traditional truly lower priced field.

He believes that within five years after their introduction the forthcoming smaller American-made cars will be in the price area of the present low-priced Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth cars.

There is considerable speculation about how big a share of the car market the smaller vehicles may take in the years immediately ahead. Price undoubtedly will be a determining factor, but the demand for more luxury will not disappear.

Many persons believe the recession gave substantial stimulus to the market for the lower priced, smaller cars. Whether the demand can be sustained through a more prosperous overall economy is yet to be determined.

But the overall market for automobiles will continue to expand. The demand through the coming decade probably will average 6½ to 7 million cars annually.

The late great William S. Knudsen visualized it in this succinct observation:

U.S. Army Unfit in 1942—Monty

Reveals Britain Vetoes '2nd Front' in Europe Due to Green Gl

OXFORD, England (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery declared today Britain vetoed a U. S. plan to invade Europe in 1942 on the ground that available American troops were unfit to face the Germans.

Montgomery said any such invasion that year would have been an Allied disaster.

Addressing Oxford University students, Montgomery revived one of the great controversies of World War II — whether the West should have staged a second front in 1942 as the Soviet Union was demanding.

Montgomery recalled that early in 1942, military planners in Washington, among them Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, prepared for a cross-Channel operation.

"In my opinion, the American plan would have involved the Allies in a disaster which would have prolonged the war for years. Churchill and the British chiefs of staff knew better, and they were right," Montgomery said.

"When the American army went into battle for the first time in the European theater—in North Africa in 1942, one year after they had entered the war — the troops were found to be very green.

NOT BATTLEWORTHY
"Churchill and his advisers knew they could never be sufficiently battleworthy to play their part in Europe against the full might of the German army in 1942, or even in 1943."

Since retiring last year as NATO's deputy commander, Montgomery has spent his new leisure saying whatever he thinks; and sometimes, people say, before he thinks. His last major statement was an apology to the United States for calling its leadership suspect and its people chicken-hearted.

Montgomery, delivering the first of a series of Oxford lectures, returned to a favorite theme — that the West could have saved Eastern Europe from Communism if only the Americans had listened to the British in World War II. Prime Minister Winston Churchill, he said, tried but failed to get President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the American wartime government to realize that the Soviet Union had become a mortal danger to the free world.

"The Western nations could have ended the war with their forces further to the east than actually happened. They would then have been in a better position to achieve a political balance in Europe more favorable to themselves than that which has actually emerged."

White House Is Urged to Cut Down Expenses

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) says the White House should set an example for economy by cutting down presidential expenses.

Douglas, speaking Friday night at the 12th annual convention of the American Veterans Committee, claimed White House expenses under President Eisenhower are twice what they were under President Truman. Douglas specifically cited expenditures for personal limousines, helicopters and personnel.

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Katherine M. Jeffers, 52, dean of Jackson College and professor of biology at Tufts University, died Friday night while visiting in Cleveland.

Bentley was picked up by Ypsilanti State Police Tuesday during a routine check after a traffic violation. When troopers found a gun in the trunk of Bentley's auto, they charged him with carrying a concealed weapon.

The accused told police he was an informant for the FBI but following a check, he was quizzed on the holdup.

The teller at the Ferndale Branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. identified Bentley as the man who held her up and took $200 March 11.

A Pontiac woman, Eulice Mottisner, 53, was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released last night after being involved in an auto accident.

Mrs. Mottisner, of 3750 Delevan St., said she was driving south on Baldwin road near Lake Angelus when she lost control of the car, running off the road and overturning.

Highway Workers Continue Talks

DETROIT (UPI) — Negotiations were scheduled to resume today in an effort to avert a strike which would idle 5,000 workers on state highway projects totaling 100 million dollars.

Talks between representatives of the Michigan Road Builders Association and the Michigan Conference of Teamsters continued until late yesterday after a union official said 1,500 teamsters would strike if no progress was reported by noon yesterday.

Frank Fitzsimmons, the Teamsters' chief negotiator, said the union members would walk off their jobs Monday if no progress was forthcoming.

A spokesman for the association said the walkout would affect an additional 3,500 men working on highway projects under contract to the group across the state.

Church Will Begin Evangelistic Series

DAVISBURG — An evangelistic series titled "New Life Campaign," will begin at 7:45 p.m. this Sunday at First Baptist Church (formerly Community Bible Church), the Rev. Jack A. McCurry, pastor, announced today.

Guest preacher will be the Rev. Rudy Schuerman, evangelist from Keego Harbor. He will be assisted in his sermon delivery by his wife who will portray Bible "themes" with chalk and special lighting effects.

A youth rally is planned for tonight's service.

Purse Stolen, Man Held

Crash Injures 2 Women

A two-car collision on Auburn road near Opdyke road early this morning resulted in injuries to two women, the theft of a purse and the arrest of a Drayton Plains man, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Deputy Stephen Navarre arrived at the scene to find one of the drivers, Donna M. Stansell, 26, of 3277 Waukegan St., Pontiac Township, and her passenger, Jerry Ann Dick, 22, 435 Raeburn St., suffering from cuts and bruises.

Both were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. The driver told Navarre the driver of the auto which had struck her from behind had left the scene of the wreck.

She also reported her purse stolen at the scene. Moments later, deputies apprehended the missing motorist nearby and booked him at the Oakland County Jail on a charge of drunk driving.

He was identified by deputies as Piercy W. McLaughlin, 24, of 4542 Sashabaw Rd., Drayton Plains. Detectives said they plan to question him today about the missing purse.

Sound Waves Now Clean the Scalpels

WESTBURY, N. Y. (UPI)—Ultrasonic equipment is enabling hospitals to eliminate completely manual handling of surgical instruments during cleaning.
According to its manufacturer, the new equipment supplements steam sterilizing and removes the danger of cross-infection from human hands.

Sound waves so high that they are audible to the human ear have been found effective in removing even the tiniest bits of dirt from the most tenacious surfaces, which are left not only clean but sterile as well.

Angelo Better Man, Romeo Confesses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A janitor sweeping up after a grammar school science fair found a crumpled note which proves that the ancient art of writing class-room notes is still alive.

The note said, "To Paul. Paul I'm ashamed of you. You had a nice girl like Sue and then turn around and took Beth. Don't ever ask anything of me. If the rest of the class is wise they won't ask anything of you. Be smart, go back to Sue. Sue and Nancy is the best girls in this room."

The answer: "I still like Sue. But Angelo took her from me. She hates me. Angelo is a better man than I am."

Disagree With Proposal for One Military Uniform

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The commander of the 6th Army Disagrees with Rear Adm. Hyman C. Rickover's suggestion that the military services all wear the same uniform.

"The services gain by friendly competition," Gen. Charles D. Palmer told an Armed Forces Day luncheon Friday. "That competition is achieved by identifying the services in their own right."

Rickover suggested in Washington Thursday that identical uniforms would curtail interservice

Student Admits He Started Late

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nominee for the frankest high school graduate of the year: Charles Bostian of Baltimore City College High.

Named "Most likely to succeed" by his classmates, his farewell message to the school said: "Content many times to take the easy way out, I was satisfied during my earlier years with work that could have been done much better. I managed to make fairly good grades but it was not until my senior year that I began to work in earnest."

Palace Guards Need New Shakos

TIMMINS, Ont. (AP) — Forty hunters plunged into north Ontario bush today looking for bears with which to re-hat the guard at Buckingham Palace.

The hunters, led by Mayor Leo Del Villano, carried weapons that included old army rifles and German 8-MM specimens.

It was Del Villano who organized the hunt, after reading that the bearskin shakos worn by the guards at Buckingham looked ragged and moth-eaten, not at all Imperial. The War Office in London accepted the mayor's offer and said it would take as many bearskins as he could supply.

The hunters will go out every weekend until June 13, when Ontario bear hunting licenses expire.

Steel Talks Recess; Will Resume Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel contract negotiations recessed Friday until Tuesday, with both labor and management indicating they disposed of a great deal of preliminary maneuvers.

United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said "we're really in basic discussions now."

The union has not spelled out its demands. It announced at beginning of talks May 5 that it would seek substantial raises and shorter working hours among other benefits. The steel industry has been insisting on a one-year freeze on wages to halt inflation.

The current contract expires June 30. A strike would involve 500,000 steelworkers, whose current base pay averages $3.03 an hour.

Population Center of U.S. Shifts 17 Miles to West

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has moved the nation's center of population 17 miles from its old location in Illinois to reflect the granting of statehood to Alaska and Hawaii.

The Census Bureau said the new center, based on figures collected in the 1950 census, is about three miles northeast of Louisville, Ill. The old center was eight miles north-northeast of Olney, Ill.

This is 16 $\frac{1}{4}$ miles west and 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of the 1950 center for the 48 states.

Atlas Launching Fails as Troubles Continue

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The powerful engines of an intercontinental-range Atlas missile ignited Friday night, but the rocket failed to fly on its 24th launching attempt.

The 80-foot Atlas, a streamline new model being developed for troop training use next month, remained locked on the pad engulfed in billows of black smoke.

The misfire was the latest in a series of troubles that have plagued Convair crewmen. On its last three firings the Atlas blew up twice and the third time fizzled out far short of its 4,500-mile target.

The total inland water area of the United States amounts to 45,259 square miles.

One Group Stayed; Another Went to Utah Latter Day Saints Split in 1840's

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—The dominant landmark in Harry Truman's home town is the oval copper dome of a still unfinished building.

It's the world headquarters of the 170,000-member Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The Reorganized Latter Day Saints are related to, but are not to be confused with—the 1,400,000-member Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons).

The near completion of the building marks another milestone in the story of a denomination that is growing and thriving in an area from which it was once driven by mobs.

The site was dedicated in 1831 by Joseph Smith Jr., founding prophet and first president of the Mormon Church, which he had organized only the year before in Fayette, N.Y.

Independence was to have been the Zion of the Mormons, the City of God. But the promises of a bright future in what was then a frontier outpost did not last.

Two years after its dedication almost all evidences of the early settlement were obliterated by an angry mob.

CHASED BY MOB
The mob chased the Mormons across the Missouri River and burned more than 200 homes belonging to church members. Through the years, the property was lost to squatters and back taxes.

The Mormons scattered with many of them settling in Nauvoo, Ill. The Prophet Joseph Smith and his brother, Hyrum, were slain by a mob in Carthage, Ill., in 1844.

A critical division of authority followed the slaying of the leader. A quorum of 12 took over the leadership and it was this group that migrated to Utah in 1846 to establish the headquarters of the Mormon Church.

But some members did not go—among them the men instrumental in setting up the Reorganized Latter Day Saints in 1852.

They took the position that the Utah group had departed from the teachings of Joseph Smith and, therefore, was an apostate group.

GROUPS DIFFER
There are many points of doctrine on which the two groups differ. Scholars say the principal ones are:

—The authorized successor to Joseph Smith. The Reorganized Church rejected Brigham Young.

—Marriage. The Reorganized Church does not believe in "celestial marriage, one that is made forever."

—The nature of God and man's relation to him and certain temple ordinances. The Reorganized Church rejects the doctrine of the baptism of the dead.

At a general conference of the Reorganized group in 1860, Joseph Smith III, oldest son of the founder, was called to the presidency. His sons, Frederick and Israel, later headed the church and last October, William Wallace Smith, a half-brother, became the fifth president.

It was not until 1906 that headquarters of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints was returned to Independence, the original choice of the founder, from which they had been driven three-quarters of a century before.
