Congressmen Ask Districts Be Preserved

Dems Tell Romney Changes Could Be Harmful for Michigan

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Democratic congressmen asked Gov. Romney today to support a redistricting plan that — while basing districts on population — will preserve existing boundaries as much as possible.

They stressed that extensive revamping of the present districts could result in political defeat for incumbents whose seniority in Congress is, in their view, vital to Michigan's welfare.

Six of the eight Democrats representing Michigan in Congress met with the Republican governor to discuss plans for a redistricting as required by the U.S. District Court decision.

U. S. Rep. John Dingell of Detroit told Romney it is "a consensus viewpoint of congressmen that redistricting should be done with as little interference as possible with existing boundaries."

Romney emphasized that the federal court ruling apparently established population as the basis for districts of virtually equal population — fairly arrived at.

FIRST MEETING

The meeting provided the first confrontation of Romney and potential rival in the 1964 gubernatorial race, U. S. Rep. Neil Stuebner, who served as chief spokesman for the group.

Others present besides Stuebner and Dingell were Reps. Martha Griffiths, Charles Diggs, James O'Hara, and John Leinsink.

Earlier, Secretary of State James Hare proposed at least 23 changes in state election laws and Sept. 8 as a tentative primary date to meet the apportionment crisis.

Hare's proposals were of a sweeping nature.

In a 28-page timetable for legislators, Hare said the Aug. 4 primary is virtually out of the question and "some change is mandatory" because of still-unresolved questions on congressional and legislative apportionment.

NEW PROSECUTOR — Birmingham attorney Richard P. Condit (center) was sworn in today to serve as county prosecutor for the rest of 1964 in place of George F. Taylor, who resigned.

County Clerk-Register David R. Calhoun (right) administered the oath while presiding Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn looked on.

Ex-Aide New Prosecutor

By JIM DYGERT

Hitting upon an entirely unexpected solution to a political dilemma, Oakland County's seven Circuit Court judges today appointed Birmingham attorney Richard P. Condit as county prosecutor.

Condit immediately was sworn in to serve out the term (to the end of 1964) of George F. Taylor, whose resignation to run for Congress took effect midnight yesterday.

With the surprise appointment, the judges avoided the political implications of naming any of three announced candidates, resisted pressure from the county Republican party, and brought Condit back to the office he left a year ago.

Condit, 30, a member of the Southfield Board of Education, was an assistant prosecutor for four years before entering private practice last February.

City Library to Be Open Four Nights

By DICK SAUNDERS

In response to public demand, City Manager John F. Reineck last night happily announced that Pontiac's Main Public Library, 60 E. Pike, will again be open four week nights starting next Monday.

There's just one catch. The library will be largely inaccessible, unless you get there Huckleberry Finn-style up the Clinton River.

Today, City Traffic Engineer Joseph Koren announced that East Pike will be closed to traffic between Mill and the perimeter road for an estimated five weeks — beginning Monday.

That's only one block, but the main library lies smack in the middle of it, right next to the river.

City engineers said the metered parking lots immediately north and west of the library will also be closed about 60 days.

It will be impossible for pedestrians to cross the bridge on Pike, but another at the rear of the lot north of the library will be kept open.

The barricades will go up to allow construction of the Clinton River drain under East Pike. Pike street traffic will be detoured onto the perimeter road and then west on Water to Perry or Saginaw, and vice versa.

FORCED CUTBACK

The new library hours are noon to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday. They had been noon to 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday since Jan. 2, when budget problems forced a cutback.

Hours on Friday (noon to 6) and Saturday (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) will remain unchanged. Reineck explained the new schedule is designed to give students more use of the library for reference work in the evening hours.

Condit assured the judges — as they requested — that he would not be a candidate for election as prosecutor this fall, according to Condit and presiding Judge James S. Thorburn.

Judge Thorburn announced the appointment after an impromptu meeting of the judges this morning.

The judges had been pondering the idea of appointing Chief Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long as an interim prosecutor who would not seek election. This would avoid giving an edge at the polls to the three announced candidates.

The three are Robert L. Templin, Jerome K. Barry and William E. Lang, all senior assistant prosecutors.

Having decided to defy the county GOP by rejecting the party's recommendation of Templin, the judges found late last week that Long was having second thoughts about accepting the post.

IN SPECULATION

Condit's name had been in the speculation as a possible candidate, but had not been seriously considered by the judges up to that time.

But since Long was wavering, Condit was contacted. When it was learned Monday that Long had decided he did not want the job, Condit was

Man, 90, Trapped, Killed in House Fire

A 90-year-old Farmington Township man died yesterday as flames consumed most of the house in which he lived alone.

The remains of Harry S. Smith were found two hours after the fire was reported in his two-story wooden frame home at 30530 Shiawassee.

Firemen had searched the other portions of the house, but the raging fire prevented them from entering the area where Smith was found.

Living alone, Smith confined his activities to only a bedroom and living room on the ground floor. His body was found between the two rooms. Firemen are attempting to determine the cause of the fire which started in that area.

One of his four daughters, Mrs. Charles Sills of 33719 Grand River, Farmington, told police Smith had been careless with his pipe and that she had warned him several times to keep track of it.

Funeral service will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Thayer Funeral Home, Farmington with burial following in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Redford.

DEATH SCENE — The flames which gutted the home of a 90-year-old Farmington Township man yesterday also took his life. The remains of Harry S. Smith, who lived

Bell Reveals Plans to Expand in Area

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. today revealed it has budgeted $1,399,000 for expansion and improvement of its facilities in the Pontiac area during 1964.

Largest single expenditure will be $670,000 to make new communications devices, including Bell's push-button telephone and improved switchboards, available to local subscribers.

Say MacArthur Turns Worse

Most Somber Report on General's Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur has taken a turn for the worse in the month-long ordeal which has seen him undergo three major surgical operations, a bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital indicated today.

The most somber report so far on the five-star general's condition came at 10:15 a.m. (Pontiac time) when the hospital reported that "in general, his condition has deteriorated in the past 24 hours."

In the most recent previous bulletin, late yesterday, MacArthur was reported "holding his own" although his condition was still rated critical.

Doctors were making continuous efforts to combat a decrease in kidney function, a major complication of his most recent surgical experience.

But they reported today that vital function had "diminished progressively over the past 24 hours" after earlier signs of a rally.

SLIGHT DROP

Also reported today was "a slight drop in the blood pressure and a moderate rise in the pulse rate." Those developments also represented a downturn from yesterday.

The bulletin opened with the statement:

"General MacArthur passed a peaceful night. However, his condition in general has deteriorated within the past 24 hours."

As late as last night the doctors were paying tribute to the "strength and fiber" of the 64-year-old patient and reporting he was holding his own.

HEART BEAT

They said his heartbeat and other vital signs were steady, though his condition was still critical.

MacArthur was reported still alert, and earlier this morning he had asked to see his wife. She has been in constant attendance through his rare chain of three surgical crises in 24 days.

E. Eugene Russell, Michigan Bell Pontiac district manager, said his unit's budget is part of a statewide construction program of $93.1 million, $5 million above the 1963 outlay.

"Throughout the state, more than half the company's 1964 program — $49.1 million — has been earmarked for expansion to meet growth," said Russell. "We expect to add 110,000 telephones to the more than 3,200,000 now in use."

He stated Bell plans to spend $321,000 to modernize equipment in 10 central offices in the division, including the main office at 54 E. Huron.

ADDITIONAL AMOUNT

An additional $395,000 will be spent on outside equipment such as poles and wires to serve new subdivisions, plus about $12,000 for purchasing land and building construction.

The division's budget is a continuation of its 1963 allocations, but under the $1,619,000 it received last year.

Birmingham and Farmington are among 12 communities where Michigan Bell is introducing push-button telephones which replace the conventional dial phone.

They will be available as an extra-cost option, however, Russell explained.

SYSTEMS LINKED

Statewide, the company will link 17 more communities to the direct dialing long distance system, more exchanges will receive automatic number identification to eliminate the need for an operator to ask the number being called.

Study Shows Waterford Is 'Bedroom Community'

By JOE MULLEN

(First in a series)

Waterford Township now essentially is a "bedroom community," but indications are that greater future commercial and industrial development is likely.

This was one of many points of information drawn in a year-long basic research study of the township by the planning department and the township's planning consultants, Parkins, Rogers and Associates.

The pool of data gathered in the basic study will be combined with further research and analysis to comprise a comprehensive plan for the township to aid its orderly growth.

Financed from a federal grant through the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the comprehensive plan is scheduled for completion next January.

The basic studies phase — or the first half of the total comprehensive plan effort — merely provided information. No conclusions were drawn.

The second half of the project now in progress will include an analysis of the wealth of information, a computation of future needs, recommendations to meet these needs and suggested methods to effectuate the recommendations.

A by-product of the comprehensive plan will be its ready availability for developers interested in Waterford as a building site.

Grand Jury Charges Firm With Fraud

A federal grand jury in Detroit today indicted a Pontiac home improvements firm and its owners on seven counts of conspiracy and fraud against the U.S. government on some $17,000 worth of FHA-insured loans.

Named in the indictment were the Strand Construction Co., 1519 Baldwin; owner Cecil Hollis, 4667 Sashabaw, Independence Township; owner Ronald B. Olson, 554 W. South Blvd., Avon Township and salesman Lawrence T. Tyler, no address.

One count charged conspiracy to defraud by obtaining FHA approval on loans used exclusively to pay for home improvements as represented.

The other six counts cited specific instances of false statements in applications for $3,500 loans, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney George Googasian.

Hollis said he had not been informed of the indictment and did not know any charges against him or his firm.

Googasian, a Pontiac resident, said the Strand firm filed loan applications saying the money was only for home improvements when part of the money actually was to reimburse the firm for cash advanced to its customers.

Revolt to Oust Goulart's Rule Gathers Speed

Government Soldiers Join With Columns Marching Toward Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A revolt to oust President Joao Goulart gathered speed today.

Declaring Brazil will never become another Cuba, army, navy and state political leaders deserted Goulart.

The rebels said their army columns marching on Rio de Janeiro were being joined by soldiers sent out by Goulart to repel them.

Firing was reported in Rio de Janeiro's Copacabana district, in the fashionable beach and apartment section of Rio, proclaimed their solidarity with the rebels.

Shortly afterward, firing between the force and soldiers on a nearby hill broke out, a radio station source reported. He said one officer and nine soldiers were wounded when the rebels took over the fort.

REBELS BROADCAST

In a series of broadcasts, the rebels claimed seven and possibly eight of Brazil's 27 states had rallied to their banner in a drive to "kill the Red yoke" from Brazil. Two of Brazil's four armies were counted among the rebels.

Behind the revolt is the fear that Goulart is leading this nation of 71 million people down the road to Communism by nationalizing private industry, expropriating land and demanding the legalization of the Communist party. He denies this.

The rebels announced they were sending an officer to Rio to demand that Goulart resign or face ouster by force. But he flew to the inland capital of Brasilia, where congress was in session.

Often hostile to Goulart, congress met as government troops — presumably loyal — surrounded the capital, a member said in a telephone report.

A general strike in support of Goulart was spreading slowly, paralysis throughout Rio and beginning to cripple other cities. Labor is the backbone of Goulart's support.

It appeared that the northeast state of Pernambuco was becoming the eighth state to join the revolt.

Gen. Alvaro Bastos, commander of regular troops in the state, announced he supported the rebellion and sent his soldiers to seize the palace of Gov. Miguel Arraes in the center of Recife, the capital.

The Goulart government had claimed the allegiance of Bastos' 4th Army. Adm. Augusto Roque Dias Fernandez, commander of the 3rd Naval District at Recife, previously had

Warming Trend Will Precede Weekend Rain

A warming trend is on the way.

For the next five days, temperatures are expected to average 2 to 5 degrees above normal highs of 80 and normal lows of 50. Tomorrow and Friday will be warmer, but temperatures will be a little cooler Saturday and Sunday.

Precipitation for the period will total around one-fourth of an inch in showers Friday and Saturday.

The low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 3 p.m. was 19. By 7 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 31.

Fire Kills 7 Persons in Family

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP)—Fire swept through a two-family house early today, killing a father, mother and their five children.

Killed were John Crandell, 40, a bakery employee; his wife, Barbara, 38, and their children, Kathie, John Jr., Richard, Stephen and James Crandell. The children were between 3 and 10 years old.

The children were trapped on the third floor of the three-story house. Their parents apparently died trying to rescue them. The parents occupied a bedroom on the second floor.

Firemen found the bodies on the top floor. Laura O'Connor, who occupied the first-floor apartment in the building, was awakened by the fire and escaped.

It was a general alarm blaze in a congested area of this small North Shore Massachusetts city.

Three firemen were injured, none seriously.

'Not Facing Up to Reds'

Ike: Dems Lower Prestige

By JOSEPH A. ST. AMANT

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former President Eisenhower is on record today with the opinion that America's international prestige has fallen since 1900 because the Democratic administration has not faced up strongly to Communist nations.

Eisenhower spoke yesterday at a Republican "party-to-people" forum designed to stimulate ideas for the GOP national platform to be adopted in the forthcoming presidential election.

The retired five-star general and seven other Republican leaders drew frequent applause from a crowd of 1,500 as they expressed substantial agreement on these points:

• It is "killy" and "naive" to trust the Russians even though they sign treaties.

• The best way to deal with the Russians or any Communist is to stand up to them and call their bluff.

• The United States should stay strong militarily, but the present defense budget is too high and not enough money is being spent on research of new weapons systems.

• The best way to keep peace is for a nation to let its potential enemy know in no uncertain terms that it is strong and intends to defend its interests.

Eisenhower, ruddy-faced from a winter spent under the desert sun on golf courses at his Palm Springs, was voluble and genial as he answered questions from the audience.

PERSONAL FRIEND

He was asked about Charles de Gaulle's recognition of Red China and said the French leader apparently does not feel he can discuss such subjects with his erstwhile ally "in a spirit of friendship."

Eisenhower noted that he had "many official quarrels" with de Gaulle while serving in Europe but said they have always remained personal friends.

He said perhaps the United States is sometimes "arrogant" in relations with lesser powers such as France and may cause resentment among leaders like de Gaulle.

He suggested that "mutual respect" and "mutual trust" were the main factors in keeping any alliance together.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members of the panel were: Charles S. Thomas, former secretary of the Navy; Dr. Edward Teller, so-called "father" of the H-bomb; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, rep., former chief of Naval operations; Rep. Gerald A. Ford, R-Mich.; James H. Douglas, former secretary of the Air Force; Maurice H. Stans, budget director in the Eisenhower administration; and Rep. Glen Lipscomb, R-Calif.

The theme of the forum was, "The Peace and Security of the United States."

The Republican party plans five subsequent meetings — at Miami, Fla., April 5, on Latin American affairs; at Kansas

LANSING (AP) — All firms engaged in construction in Michigan must register with the State Construction Safety Commission if they carry workmen's compensation insurance and have at least one employee, the attorney general has held. No Clear Definition of Emotionally Disturbed Child

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following is a four-part series on the plight of emotionally disturbed children. The series was written by William E. Cote, Ypsilanti Press staff writer, for the Associated Press.)

By WILLIAM E. COTE
Ypsilanti Press Staff Writer
YPSILANTI (AP) — What causes a youngster to become an uncontrollable brat who throws plates and toys, stamps his feet, screams in frequent tantrums and continually disobeys his parents?

Or, at the other extreme, what makes a child withdraw constantly into a corner—crying, silent, and afraid to face the world?
And how do you tell the difference between what may be just a child's "normal" occasional overreactions and a serious emotional disturbance?
"There is no clear-cut line to define an emotionally disturbed child because each is so different," says Miss Cora E. Shoecraft, director of the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic in Ypsilanti. "We avoid the words 'normal' or 'abnormal' for a child's actions because there is such a range of personalities and growth rates."

But David P. Weikart, school psychologist of the Ypsilanti School District, explains: "In general, there are two types of emotional disturbances in children. There's a developmental problem which builds up and up and up, and then there's the disturbance which is triggered by a specific crisis or event—a divorce, death of a baby, for example."

FAMILY PROBLEMS
"We look on children's emotional problems as coming out of the family," Miss Shoecraft said, "although they can have devastating experiences which bring serious disturbances."

In one case of the problem building up, 5-year-old Larry had unusually severe temper tantrums at schools and showed little interest in learning.

At home Larry was often stubborn, disobedient, whiny and demanding.
Clinic psychologists and social workers discovered that Larry was reacting with anger and unhappiness to his mother's intense interest in his 2-year-old sister.

In treatment, Larry talked and learned about his feelings, in sessions with a therapist and partly in activities in the playroom. His parents also were involved in weekly visits with him to the clinic.

"While not all children with Larry's difficulty become seriously handicapped as social beings when they grow up," Miss Shoecraft said, "the pattern of aggression and unhappiness persists and causes human suffering in the lives of the grown-up Larrys and the lives of their wives and children."

DISCUSSES FEELINGS

Teachers and guidance workers sometimes discover that a child's behavior is not really so unusual.
Bruce, 2, came to the clinic with his mother because of his temper tantrums and disobedience.

HAPPY BABY
"I can't understand it," his mother complained. "He used to be such a good and happy baby up until the time he began to walk. Now he resists help in feedings and other things and after we tell him repeatedly not to touch the bric-a-brac in the living room, he gets death as soon as we're out of sight."

Clinic staffers told the mother that Bruce's behavior was pretty usual for a 2-year-old. She was given suggestions on dealing with the situations, and Bruce's tantrums came less often.

"Here it was a matter of perceiving perfectly normal behavior

Problems Not on Rise, Just More Noticeable

"Acting out" is the term applied to emotionally disturbed children by Dr. Tengle M. Alatur, director of the children's psychiatry program at Pontiac State Hospital.

Dr. Alatur does not think the number of emotionally disturbed youngsters has increased, but rather that behavior problems are more noticeable.

"I think the public is more aware of the help available," he adds, "and are willing to seek it rather than hide their problem."

Pontiac State Hospital admitted its first child in 1953. It now houses 80 children.

Just under half of these (32) have their own ward. The rest share space with adult patients.

BIGGEST CONCERN

This is Dr. Alatur's biggest concern.

Almost at the slightest provocation he will explain that adults and children have different problems and must be treated accordingly.

The hospital, however, has made plans to segregate children from adults.

If the state legislature approves, construction is slated to begin next spring on an 80-bed children's unit, which would provide separate facilities.

WAITING LIST

Still a problem would exist, namely, the lengthy waiting list.

Dr. Alatur puts the waiting list at 55. He explains that the hospital is equipped to handle 80 boys and 20 girls. No provision is made to handle the number on the waiting list in the pending program.

State Halfway Houses to Fill Juvenile Need

As a move to combat the appalling rise in juvenile delinquency, Gov. GEORGE W. ROMNEY has proposed a chain of 10 halfway houses. With support indicated by both House and Senate leadership, it is hoped to have three of the facilities in operation by May 1 and the others by the end of the year.

Michigan's comprehensive intermediate concept of juvenile confinement, a pioneer development by a state, is to prepare offenders for transition from correctional institutions to freedom in society.

Sociologically, the plan would seem to hold great merit. If the remedial confinement initially meted out to delinquents has been successful, as it so frequently is, the sooner the youths are removed from the influence of incoming culprits, the better off they will be. The halfway house provides less rigorous discipline pending final redemption while making badly-needed room for new delinquents at Boys Training Schools.

The seriousness of the lack of corrective facilities for juveniles was emphasized when a Detroit juvenile court judge released 20 case-hardened delinquents because of lack of space at a detention center. And in Kent County, a probate court judge warned that he might be compelled to act similarly.

In advocating the halfway-house system, Gov. ROMNEY pointed out that the State's population increased by 45 per cent from 1942 to 1962, but the facilities for handling delinquent youths increased only 10 per cent.

He said that by the end of his first gubernatorial term, the institutional capacity will have been increased by 44 per cent and by 80 per cent by the end of 1965.

The Press strongly commends the halfway-house program now initiated as a significant undertaking in the cause of dealing effectively with the State's wayward juveniles.

Barry to Wield Power at GOP Convention

Although the GOP national convention in San Francisco is still more than three months ahead, some reasonably firm indications are taking shape.

With only a tenth of the 1,398 nominating delegates to the convention selected, Barry Goldwater has sewed up 86 of 655 needed to nominate. But Arizona's conservative Senator is a long way from having it made. His lead so far has come from five Southern and border states where he was expected to do well.

Only other delegates chosen so far are from New Hampshire and Pennsylvania. CABOT LONG took all 14 of New Hampshire's delegates while Pennsylvania Gov. WILLIAM SCRANTON, still an uncommitted candidate, has ten of his state's nominators. These were named at a Jan. 28 committee meeting with the remainder of the 64-local delegates to be elected at a primary election April 28.

Experts expect Goldwater to lead in delegates going in to San Francisco, but no one predicts with the nomination in the bag. Therein lies the hope of his opponents — that the Senator's initial convention strength can be held to 400 to 500 delegates until they can unite on another candidate more acceptable to the convention majority.

New York's Gov. NELSON ROCKEFELLER has workers out runding up delegates. He hopes to score big in California's all-or-nothing primary election June 2, and then stampede the convention with his triple threat of wealth, brains and personality.

At this point a good prognostication would be that GOLDWATER will not be nominated, but will retain control of a sufficiently large number of delegates to have a strong voice in who is.

U.S. Encouraged About Cold War

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The Sino-Soviet split is one of the major reasons why, the State Department told Congress Monday, the United States is ahead in the cold war. It listed others.

1. The big show-downs with the Soviet Union have turned out favorably.

Examples: Russia's efforts to squeeze the allies from Berlin failed; Russia's efforts to undermine the authority of the secretary-general of the United Nations; Russia's backdown on the Cuban missile crisis; the signing of the limited nuclear test-ban agreement.

2. The Sino-Soviet conflict.

Moscow's control of world communism has been weakened; with Russia help shut off, Red China has weakened economically and militarily. Russia's weakened authority has let the European satellites assert more freedom.

3. The military balance.

Russia's drive with its nuclear and space program has slowed down, the department said, while this country's has been stepped up. Said the department: "We have acquired a substantial and superior nuclear deterrent capability."

4. Communist economic setbacks.

"The department said in this field 'all the countries of the Communist camp have suffered setbacks in recent years,' particularly Red China, where farming and industry have gone downhill, slowing the military buildup."

5. Eastern Europe moving a bit.

The department sees a "trend toward liberalizing political controls," a growth of nationalism, more independence. But the department cautions against expecting the satellites to cut loose from the Soviet Union.

6. Western Europe safer.

Far less danger of a Communist takeover since the 1940s, despite some allied differences.

7. Communist decline in Middle East. Since 1960, "the ability of local Communist parties to influence national affairs has been on the wane," although the Soviet Union put major effort into this area between 1955-60. But the department warns against complacency about the Middle East.

8. South Asia as a trouble spot.

The department crosses its fingers here, says "probably on balance events of past three years" show no improvement in Indian subcontinent. But...

HAVE DRAWN CLOSER

India and the United States have drawn closer while Pakistan, a U.S. ally, resents American aid to India. Communism now is no threat in either place. But Ceylon is in chaos and anything could happen.

9. The department thinks the line has been held in the Far East.

But it seems hardly more than hopeful about Viet Nam.

10. Communism is making new friends and contacts in Africa.

Here the department sees the picture mixed, with need for concern in some areas, satisfaction in others.

11. Latin America, a sudden major area of the cold war.

The department thinks, on balance, the non-Communist world is winning the cold war in Latin America, but the tide of battle seems to fluctuate. Brazil is a sore spot.

What's That Line About A Lot Of Cooks?

David Lawrence Says:

Rights Bill Would Test Courts

WASHINGTON — The civil rights bill, if enacted into law, will open up a whole series of adventures in constitutionalism. This is the first time that Congress has dealt in the matter of employment with the beliefs of an individual.

If Congress claims the constitutional right to prohibit or permit discrimination where color or race or religion or beliefs of any kind are involved, then the Supreme Court of the United States will be confronted some day with some interesting questions.

Will it, for example, decide that atheism is a religious belief?

Not long ago, in ruling on prayers in the schools, it decided in favor of defendants who professed atheistic beliefs.

The pending bill in the Senate not only recognizes the right to discriminate in employment against atheists and those holding Communist beliefs, but it also permits an employer to advertise for persons of a particular religious belief and to exclude all others wherever, as the bill states, religion is "a bona fide occupational qualification reasonably necessary to the normal operation of that particular business or enterprise."

What this amounts to is a formal recognition that religious beliefs can be a factor in employment practices.

But the Constitution does not give Congress any such broad legal power to approve or disapprove of religious beliefs.

NO LAW

In fact, it specifically says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The Supreme Court has even ruled that Congress cannot pass any law which aids one religion over another.

Certainly there is nothing to indicate that a citizen can, under the Constitution, be deprived of a job because of any beliefs.

In the new civil rights legislation the issue involved is one in which the government itself intervenes and lays down the rule that no employer can refuse to hire because of race, color, religion or national origin.

Congress now would interpret this particular principle to prohibit discrimination against as well as discrimination in favor of certain types of religious activity.

The Supreme Court will certainly have a hard time determining just how Congress gets the right to regulate employment practices on the basis of religious beliefs by citing the words "To regulate commerce."

For Congress, in effect, will not be just regulating commerce. It will be regulating religious beliefs on the basis of certain beliefs. If, therefore, the power "to regulate commerce" now does include the right of Congress to determine what association employees may or may not have with each other, the Supreme Court will have its hands full trying to justify this clause of the Constitution as covering religious beliefs.

Cavanagh Sees Johnson Doing Better Than JFK

WASHINGTON — An assessment of the President by Jerome Cavanagh, Detroit's bright young mayor:

"He won't have any trouble

In Detroit, or almost any other big city. At least, he won't have the trouble JFK would have had.

"Johnson's miracle is that although he is just as staunch a man for civil rights, he's not as emotionally involved as Kennedy was."

"Henry Ford and Lynn Townsend, president of Chrysler, have both spoken up for Johnson, and that means a lot around this part of the country."

"People will give Johnson credit, too, for pushing that tax cut through Congress."

"A lot of that fresh money will go into new cars. We'll build another 7 million units this year and break all records by going over 8 million next year."

TRUST IS HERE

"Business trusts Johnson. Period."

Detroit's mayor estimates that 65 per cent of his every working day is spent on civil rights matters.

"Fifty years ago," he told us, "the chief worry of a Detroit mayor was when to schedule the testimonial dinner for 'Ty Cobb.'"

Around the White House, the current No. 1 tag is attributed to the Republican mayor of Palm Springs.

During President Johnson's visit there with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, White House Assistant Press Secretary Malcolm Kilduff asked the mayor to name his choice for the GOP presidential nomination.

"Dick Nixon, I guess," he said.

"Why?" Kilduff asked.

NO TIME

The mayor sighed. "We don't have time to break in a new loser," he said.

Harold Stassen's perennial search for political office, in the face of one abyssal setback after another, moved a local wit to remark: "Defeat has gone to his head."

President Johnson's habit of turning off White House lights, to save money, is regarded in the fast-spending capital as the height of energy uselessly expended.

But he doesn't hold the White House record for pinching pennies. FDR used to tell about his indomitable mother's small economies.

"Mother saved string," he'd say. "But that's not all: She kept a large envelope marked 'String Too Short To Save.'"

The township board, which has done a good job of controlling drinking in Avon Park, is willing to approve a liquor license 50 feet from this property.

I have lived across from Avon Park for 15 years. The Elks should not be granted a building permit, with the knowledge that a liquor license will be needed to pay their debts and maintain their social activities.

Another Favors Return of Bingo Games

In answer to "Always a Bingo Player," it is a shame people have to travel to have an evening's relaxation, but this is what some of our citizens did for us when they voted to ban bingo.

Many organizations helped needy people from bingo money, but now they can be of little assistance. Bingo gave elderly people fun and it provided money for organizations to help others.

Some say "bingo is gambling." What isn't? Bowling could be classified as gambling—your pay to play to win something (trophy, etc.). How about factory picnics? You buy a ticket to win items. How about horse racing?

Surely if the veteran organizations worked together they could get enough petitions signed to bring this vote back again.

As long as labor has the power to call nationwide strikes, the nation's independent business proprietors will be critical of government's labor policies. The first returns of a special field survey show 85.1 per cent are favoring legislation that would prohibit nationwide strikes. Last year 87 per cent favored prohibiting unions from bargaining on an industrywide basis.

There never has been any inclination shown by the independent business proprietors to ban unions, but there is a strong conviction that labor leaders should not have their present power to paralyze the nation if they so desire.

Lansing State Journal

The traveling American had a broadening year in 1963 and judging by the demand for plane and ship reservations, it's going to take more than the New York World's Fair to keep him home in 1964.

The State Department issued more than a million passports last year, an increase of more than 16 per cent over 1962.

Britain proved the most popular attraction for the tourists, with France the second choice. And the dollars they left, well over $600 million, were a substantial boost to foreign economies.

An old tradition is that neither recurrent crises nor foreign policy complications, can stay the American tourist from his overseas rounds.

And apparently he does not intend to let British buses for Castro or French recognition of Red China deprive him of the freedom to spend in Regent Street of the Place Vendôme.

Predict Low-Cost Water From Desalting N-Plants by 1975

WASHINGTON (AP) — By 1975, large combined nuclear power-desalination plants could be pumping out low-cost water along the U.S. coasts, a government task force said today.

And, oceanographer Roger Revelle told a news conference: waste heat from the plants could be used to make unpleasantly cold ocean water comfortable for swimming.

Revelle was chairman of the task group, established by the President's office, of science and technology to evaluate proposals from the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) national laboratory that very large nuclear-electric power plants might be combined with water desalting plants to convert fresh water from sea water at relatively low cost.

Revelle said the technology now exists to produce fresh water from sea water, in such huge plants at an estimated cost of 20 to 25 cents per 1,000 gallons. The cost of sea water conversion now is $1 to $1.50 per 1,000 gallons.

He said that with a capital investment of $850 million a combination plant could be constructed by about 1975 to possibly produce power worth $25 million a year and water worth $50 million a year.

"We are talking here of a plant to produce a half billion to a billion gallons of water a year, or 500,000 to 1 million acre feet," Revelle said. "That would be enough to supply three to six million people in a city."

"There would be power to supply about 1.5 million people in a city, at a power price of 2 to 2.5 mills per kilowatt hour, which would be very low cost. The water cost would be about 22 cents a thousand gallons at the plant, or about $70 an acre-foot."

The report said a government research and development program costing $300 million to $315 million would be needed to open the way for construction of such huge plants by 1975.

The report foresaw and eventual need in U.S. coastal areas for several very large dual purpose units — one or more for the southern California area, one or more for Arizona, several for the Gulf Coast and one or more for the greater New York area.

India to Free Nationalists

Will Include Famed Sheikh of Kashmir

NEW DELHI (AP) — In a major reversal of policy, the Indian government announced today it will free Kashmiri nationalists it imprisoned because of their militant fight to separate the disputed Himalayan state from India.

Among those to be released is Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah, the Muslim "Lion of Kashmir" whom Prime Minister Nehru's government ousted from the premiership of the state 11 years ago and jailed.

Lal Bahadur Shastri, minister without portfolio and Nehru's right-hand man, told Parliament that Abdullah and his followers would be released in an effort to "stabilize" the tense political situation in Kashmir. He did not say how many would be freed.

Other sources reported they would be released in a few days.

Shastri's statement came six days before a scheduled meeting of Indian Home Minister G. L. Nanda with the home minister of neighboring Pakistan, which has long charged Abdullah's detention was an example of Hindu India's repression of the Kashmir people, most of whom are Muslims.

HELP CONFERENCE

Pakistan disputes India's claim to Kashmir, and Prime Minister Nehru's reversal on the Abdullah case was thought to be an effort to create a good atmosphere for the home ministers' conference.

It was called in an attempt to improve the rapidly-worsening relations between the two countries and to seek ways of ending the Hindu-Muslim rioting in which hundreds have died in Eastern India and East Pakistan.

Martin said he would testify in a preliminary hearing on the shooting Thursday night and then fly home.

Says War on Poverty Will Help Negroes

NEW YORK (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of President Johnson's antipoverty program, says the program "will help end second-class treatment" of Negroes, who make up a disproportionately large percentage of the nation's poor.

Shriver told a symposium sponsored by the United Negro College Fund in New York that the income gap between Negroes and whites has increased since 1947 despite more opportunities for Negroes.

The 'Tough' Peabodys of Massachusetts

Grandmother Jailed: Just Fulfilling Old Tradition

BOSTON (U)—The Peabodys of Massachusetts have always been sort of gung ho—and so have the women they married.

Take grandfather Endicott Peabody, for instance, the one who founded the famed Groton School, noted for its cold showers every morning and tough courses every day. One of his students was Franklin D. Roosevelt, 32nd president of the United States.

Peabody founded the school before the turn of the century. Before that as a young Episcopal minister, he went West to bring the Word to the rough, bawling territory of Arizona.

TOMBSTONE TERRITORY

And rough it was when he built a little church in a tiny town which bore the name of Tombstone. He knew such people as the real Wyatt Earp, Doc Holliday, and other gunmen of the era, who were little like their "good guy" television counterparts.

His son Malcolm Peabody also took to the cloth. He followed the hard road at first as an Episcopal missionary in the far off Philippines. He came back to Massachusetts for pastorate, then moved over into New York State where he became a bishop.

So it should be no surprise that his wife, Mary, 72, went to jail in old St. Augustine, Fla., Tuesday, as a trespasser in a hotel which refused service to her and several Negroes. She went to Florida with a group to demonstrate against segregation. Small wonder that her son Endicott, namesake of the Groton founder, worked at his calisthenics to overcome a scrawny physique until he could make the Harvard football team. He became the most recent (1941) All-America football player turned out by that institution of learning.

NAVY SERVICE

He carried that inherited determination over to his service in the Navy in the war. He took the hard road, too, in submarines in the Pacific, and came out of it with the Silver Star.

Still on the hard road, the current Endicott Peabody went into politics, fought an uphill fight, and won an upset victory to become governor of Massachusetts in 1962.

The governor's mother is just as determined as her son and the Peabodys who went before him.

She often has expressed her strong feelings for civil rights—for all people. She says that segregation is wrong, and so is unequal opportunity, whether it be in the South or back home in Boston.

OTHER RELATIONS

Mrs. Peabody has a daughter,

Marietta Tree, a member of the Human Rights Commission in the United Nations. Her husband, Ronald Tree, is a former member of the British Parliament.

Gov. Peabody married Toni Gibbons, whose father was a member of the Bermuda Parliament for years.

She set the Massachusetts State House on its ear when her husband took office a little more than a year ago, complaining that it was dirty and dreary. She got things done about it, too. A redecoration program was begun. Valuable portraits of former governors dating back to colonial days were dug out of storage, refinished and put up where they can be seen.

Stealing From School

Wheats His Appetite

KANSAS CITY (U)—A thief with all the symptoms of a tapeworm broke into the kitchen of the Young Elementary School overnight yesterday.

Police listed the following items missing: 45 pounds of hamburger, 16 dressed chickens, 20 pounds of sugar, 8 pounds of graham crackers, 2 pounds of canned cherries and a pound of potato chips. Total value: $39.86. Nothing else was taken.

Compass Failure Caused Jet to Stray

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

RB66: The Air Force has cited failure of a gyro compass as "the most probable cause" of a navigation error that carried an RB66 reconnaissance plane into East Germany last month.

Tuesday's brief announcement indicated investigation of the incident is continuing.

The plane was shot down but its three-man crew parachuted to safety. The men were later returned by the Communists.

NAVIGATION ERROR

The announcement, issued here and at U. S. Air Force headquarters in Wiesbaden, West Germany, said: "Facts which have been examined to date show that penetration of East Germany's air space resulted from navigational error."

"The most probable cause of this error was malfunction of navigational equipment on board the aircraft and the inability of the crew to recognize this malfunction. The specific equipment suspected of providing erroneous readings is the N-1 navigational compass."

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for information, said "I would think so" when asked if the three airmen would be made available for interviews after the inquiry ends.

JOHNSON: After six days of balmy weather at his Texas ranch, President Johnson returned to the White House Tuesday night as the Capital received its second snowfall of the week.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base at 8:10 p.m. after the 2½-hour flight from Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin, Tex. He had flown there by helicopter from his Johnson City ranch.

The First Lady received her first honorary degree earlier in the day from the Texas Woman's University at Denton in north Texas. Addressing a packed audience of more than 3,000 in the school's auditorium, Mrs. Johnson urged women to seize the "unlimited opportunities of today."

Mrs. Johnson, a graduate of the University of Texas, received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

While the President and Mrs. Johnson were returning to the capital from their Eastern vacation their daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, were hostesses at a White House musicale for some 250 young people from foreign embassies.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS: The National Park Service is delighted with the capital's second snowfall of the week: it means the cherry blossoms should bloom just in time for next week's Cherry Blossom Festival.

T. Sutton Jett, director of the Park Service's National Capital Region, said Tuesday that the snow and below-average temperatures should prevent the delicate buds from blooming prematurely.

With warming temperatures expected starting Thursday, Jett predicted most of the 2,300 cherry trees in the Tidal Basin area will bloom over the weekend and reach their peak next week.

The blossoms are expected to remain for about 10 days. The festival opens April 7.

Washtenaw Deputy

Fired and Arrested

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Ronald W. Parker, 28, was fired from his job as a Washtenaw County deputy sheriff Tuesday and was then arrested on a charge of careless use of firearms.

Parker was involved in the March 23 wounding of Nelson Willis, a 17-year-old Negro from Superior Township near Ypsilanti.

Franco Orders
All Prisoners

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish chief of state, has ordered amnesty for prisoners on the 25th anniversary of the end of Spain's civil war today.

The decree affecting both political and criminal prisoners reduces sentences by one-sixth.

Officials said this was the ninth general amnesty order by Franco since 1945.

The number of prisoners was not indicated in the decree but on Jan. 11, officials said the Spanish prison population was 11,395.

Red Cross Leader
Retires From Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, 68, retired as president of the American Red Cross Tuesday—a job he had held for seven years and three months.

At a farewell ceremony in the lobby of the Red Cross building he told his staff goodbye and was presented a certificate citing his "distinguished service."

E. Roland Harriman, national chairman, also presented a certificate to Mrs. Gruenther.

Marguz, a Libyan oasis in the Sahara, once was known as the "Paris of the Desert." An important assembly point for caravans before their decline, Marguz was famed for its wealth and beautiful women.

Manila Mayor
Retaliates on
U. S. Diplomats

MANILA (AP) — Mayor Antonio Villegas sent the police off on a ticketing spree against U.S. Embassy officials today in retaliation for alleged harassment of Philippine diplomats in Washington.

About 100 tickets for traffic violations were reported issued to drivers of American cars bearing diplomatic license plates.

One car was that of Minister Richard Service, the deputy chief of mission.

Villegas said he ordered the crackdown after receiving complaints that Philippine officials were being harassed and humiliated by Washington authorities for traffic violations.

Indians Seize
Peru AirfieldNatives on Warpath
Besiege Ranchers

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Savage Massco Indians, on the warpath in Manu Province on the Bolivian border, have seized the airstrip at Manu town and are besieging a border ranch, it was reported today.

Six of the 50 defenders of the ranch were reported in serious condition from wounds inflicted by the Indians' poisoned arrows.

Authorities in Duceo and Puerto Maldonado were flying in police reinforcements but it was uncertain immediately whether they would be able to land in view of reported Indian control of the Manu airstrip.

Manu town, the capital of the province, is 800 miles southeast of Lima. It has a population of about 1,500 persons.

The outbreak in Manu was the second instance of Indian trouble reported recently in this country.

FIRST UPRISING

Chiqui Indians recently cut off a patrol in the jungles on the Brazilian border, killing two persons and wounding four before army reinforcements arrived.

There was no immediate indication of a connection between the two incidents.

The Brazilian-border outbreak was blamed on smugglers and other criminals who were trying to keep authorities out of the border jungle.

Pontiac City Affairs

Air Housing Project Expansion

The City Commission is eyeing a move which would open the door to expansion of Pontiac's federal public housing project for the first time in nine years.

In 1955, an ordinance was adopted which prohibited any further federal public housing units in the city. The ordinance grew out of a controversy over the need and effect of more public housing here.

Pontiac's lone public housing project is Lakeside Homes, 535 Branch, built about 15 years ago.

An amendment to the 1955 ordinance was introduced at last night's commission meeting. If adopted, it would allow expansion of the present housing project.

The amendment had first been drafted to allow for both expansion of Lakeside Homes and the construction of public housing for senior citizens in the vicinity of the central business district.

PORTION DELETED
This portion, however, was deleted at the suggestion of commissioners immediately prior to last night's meeting.

Thus, the amendment, which will come up for final action at a future meeting, will only allow for an addition to the present project.

Roy B. MacAfee, executive director of the Pontiac Housing Commission, requested last week that the ban on public housing be lifted.

He said there was a long waiting list for dwellings in the Lakeside Homes project and a "critical need for additional four- and five-bedroom units."

NOT AUTOMATIC
MacAfee emphasized that the amendment would not automatically allow the housing commission to go ahead and build new units.

"It would merely allow us to plan additional units and submit those plans and proposals to the city," he noted. "The City Commission would have to formally approve any such proposals before we could build a thing."

Commissioners also approved three changes in the construction contract for Pontiac's new community recreation center on Wessen at Walnut.

The added items will cost $5,422, which will come from the contingency set up for the project.

ACOUSTICAL TILE
Involved in installation of an acoustical tile ceiling in the former water filtration plant (being used as part of the recreational facility), aluminum gutters and ceramic tile floors in the bathrooms.

All three items were included in original plans, but had been deleted or replaced by cheaper materials in an attempt to hold the cost down, according to City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling.

"The job is about 80 per cent done and there has been no emergency need for contingency funds, so we're using the contingency to put some of the original items back in the contract," Neippling said.

Commissioners also okayed a change order in the water system improvement contract. It calls for additional valve installations costing $5,580.

CONTINGENCIES
This, also, comes from contingencies already set up in the water contract.

An amendment to place tighter controls on the rental of halls and rooms for dances in Pontiac was adopted following second reading last night.

The measure was introduced a week ago by Commissioner Samuel J. Whithers. It is designed to prohibit teen-age dances without adult supervision and in locations not approved by police.

Another amendment, designed to strengthen the city's disorderly persons ordinance, was also introduced last night after being deferred for study at last week's meeting.

STRONG ODOR
It would allow police to charge a minor displaying a strong odor of alcohol on his breath with being a disorderly person.

The amendment will come up for final action at a future meeting. In other business, commissioners okayed an agreement between the city and owner of Westown Food Center on West Huron at Waldo, concerning restrictions placed on a lot at 17 Waldo.

The owners have signed the document, agreeing to provide buffer zones, pave the lot and limit the use of the property to hours specified by the city.

REZONE LOT
They have asked that the lot be rezoned from residential to commercial for an off-street parking lot behind the shopping center.

Commission action on the ordinance to rezone the lot was contingent on signing the agreement.

It will come up for final approval in two weeks. A 6-1 vote will be necessary for adoption, since a petition protesting the zoning change has been submitted by surrounding residential property owners.

Commissioners deferred action one week on a resolution authorizing the city to purchase part of Lot 148 and all of Lot 149, Lakeside Park Subdivision, from S.B.S. Builders for $1,850.

RIGHT-OF-WAY
The land is to be used for street right-of-way.

The commission also authorized City Clerk Olga Berkeley to advertise for bids on Lot 181, Perry Park Subdivision, which is city-owned property. Bids will be received up to 2 p.m. April 10.

Commissioners also okayed canceling a lease with McCafferty Aviation, Inc., for desk space in the basement of the terminal building at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

A new lease with the firm for space in the lobby concourse was approved. The basement space was leased to Pontiac Aviation, Inc.

CHEERING CROWDS — Soviet Premier Khrushchev waves to cheering crowds as he leaves the railroad station in Budapest yesterday. On Khrushchev's left is Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar. The reason for the visit is a celebration, but the latest Soviet rift with Red China is expected to dominate the conversations.

Russia Reply to Peking Expected Soon

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — There were growing signs today that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev intends to reply soon to the continuing attacks on his policies and person from Communist China.

Diplomats here said Khrushchev, who arrived yesterday for a 10-day visit, will have difficulty remaining silent in the face of Chinese charges that he is selling out to capitalism.

In Moscow, well-informed sources said the Kremlin's reply to Peking may be published this weekend.

In Paris, Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, the editor of the government newspaper Izvestia, said yesterday "It is possible our passive attitude will not last forever." He compared the ideological quarrel to a boxing match and said China soon may be "wide open for a counterattack."

Khrushchev's schedule today combined a visit to a factory outside Budapest with a further round of ideological talks with Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar, his firm supporter in the Chinese quarrel.

Kadar and most other east-

European Communist leaders agree with Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence, which seeks to extend Communism through economic competition with the West instead of war.

Twice since Khrushchev left Moscow this week, Peking has broadcast denunciations of this policy, charging that it will mean victory for the capitalist world, and demanding Khrushchev's immediate expulsion from the Communist ranks.

The Moscow sources said the Soviet response to the attacks may be publication of a speech made last December by Soviet theoretician Mikhail Suslov.

The speech was kept secret, apparently in the hope that relations with Peking would improve if Moscow toned down the propaganda war. But such was not the case.

TIMED SPEECH

The sources said release of the speech might be timed to coincide with Khrushchev's own speech Saturday at the anniversary celebrations of Hungary's 1945 liberation by Soviet troops.

Khrushchev was believed under considerable pressure from foreign Communist parties to call a summit meeting to discuss the ideological dispute, and possibly to expel Peking from the Soviet-led Communist ranks.

Western observers in Moscow viewed China's latest attacks as an effort to goad the Soviet Union into making the break. But the Russians are believed to be reluctant to make such a move under the present circumstances, since China then would be able to blame the final rupture on Moscow.

Diplomats in Budapest said editorialists published in the party press since Khrushchev's arrival have stressed that the Soviet party is one which can face its own faults as well as its external enemies.

They said this was a possible hint to other east European Communist parties that Moscow was prepared to take into consideration their national interests to a greater degree than previously.

Their concessions could be a move toward gaining more support for the Russian position, the diplomats said.

Doctor, Wife Sentenced for Hurting Child

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Hunt Tuesday were sentenced to from one to two years in state prison for the mistreatment of their adopted 5-year-old daughter, Tina.

Superior Court Judge Lee Garrett meted the sentence on a charge of aggravated assault.

The medical doctor and his nurse-wife also drew a one-year term in county jail on a misdemeanor charge of contributing to the delinquency or the dependency of a minor child.

The terms run concurrently. On hearing the sentence, Mrs. Hunt, 41, collapsed backward into a chair. Hunt, 45, seated himself beside his wife and sobbed.

The Hunts were convicted March 23 of the felony assault and three misdemeanor counts.

No sentence was pronounced on two of the three misdemeanors.

Athletic Director Gets a Bit Tired

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — John A. Johnson is director of health, physical education and athletics for the Des Moines Public Schools.

He had been asked to appear before a meeting of the school board.

His first words before he presented a report on the progress of the physical fitness program in the schools were:

"You folks don't mind if I sit down, do you?"

Of Wild British Teens

Isle of Man Set for Invasion

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — This resort island in the Irish Sea challenged Britain's teen-age "wild ones" today to come over, cause trouble and get a thrashing.

"We still have the birch here for people up to 21," warned William Quayle, chairman of the island's Juvenile Court.

"It is the greatest deterrent against hooligans. If they try to invade and terrorize our island this summer their activities will be slapped in the bud."

Gangs of teen-agers terrorized the English east coast resorts of Clacton and Margate over Easter weekend.

The Isle of Man, midway between England and Ireland, is part of the United Kingdom but has its own laws. Birching has been abolished in the rest of Britain.

Ghana Asks Aid Program for Have-Nots

GENEVA (UPI)—The West African republic of Ghana today called for a joint East-West "Marshall Plan" to mobilize help for the have-not nations of the world.

The plea was presented by Ghana's Foreign Minister Kojo Botsio to the delegates of 122 nations attending the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development.

"An international plan similar to the Marshall Plan now is needed, organized on a truly international basis and this time for the benefit of the less developed countries," he told the delegates.

Today there is no room for distinction between the East and West in the mobilization of international assistance," he said.

Warning that scattered individual measures have proved to be inadequate to promote the economic emancipation of the emerging nations he urged a "departure from old modes of thinking and form traditional at-itudes toward international trade and development."

END DISCRIMINATION

Earlier Japan had called for the speedy removal of discrimination by other nations against goods marked "Made in Japan."

Kiichi Miyazawa, Japanese minister of state and director general of economic agency planning, told the conference that speedy removal of discriminatory practices against Japan would enable it to contribute more fully to the expansion of trade of developing nations.

He pledged Japan's willingness to help developing countries and to continue with "as much economic and technical assistance as her economic resources permit."

The major policy outline emphasized that developing countries must also try to help themselves because "the role played by international cooperation can only be supplementary to their own efforts."

also scheduled policy statements for today's conference session.

Miyazawa cautioned against "the contraction of world trade through the practice of regionalism."

A number of speakers at the conference have advocated the formation of regional economic blocs as a means of furthering their economic development.

The Japanese minister said a worldwide solution to the problem of developing countries will have to be sought "on the basis of the principals of free trade."

Probe Eyes Activities in Hoffa Case

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal grand jury resumes its investigation today of activities during James R. Hoffa's jury-tampering trial here.

The grand jury has been in a five-day recess.

Professional wiretapper Bernard Spindel returned here Tuesday, presumably for further questioning by grand jurors. He testified for 45 minutes last Thursday.

The New York electronics expert, once acquitted with Hoffa on an illegal wire tap charge, was hired by defense lawyers to try to prove FBI agents spied on Hoffa and other defendants during the trial.

Spindel testified he monitored radio conversations between FBI agents near Hoffa's hotel.

NASHVILLE JURY

Hoffa and three others were convicted March 4 of trying to fix the Nashville jury which heard Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial.

Hoffa was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000. He is free on bond, pending trial, as are the other defendants, who were sentenced to three years each.

They're Slum Pickings

New Styles Are (Dead) End

By DICK WEST

United Press International
WASHINGTON — It used to be that a woman would feel insulted if you told her the dress she was wearing looked like it had been designed by one of the Dead End Kids.

I said that to my wife one time, and if she had had a gun handy she would have become a do-it-yourself widow.

This reaction, however, has changed. Make that comment to a woman nowadays and she probably will exclaim "How clever of you to notice!"

There are two reasons why the erstwhile insult has turned into a compliment. One is the so-called "little boy look" that has crept into female fashions.

The wardrobe of a depression era street gang would now be considered high style.

The other reason may be old hat to some people, but it is new to me. I didn't learn until just a few days ago that one of the Dead End Kids actually did grow up to be a fashion designer.

The slum-to-salon move was made by Richard Blackwell, now known in couturier circles as, you should pardon the expression, "Mr. Blackwell."

DEAD END KID
Blackwell as an adolescent in the East Side slums of New York when he was picked to appear in a stage production of the play "Dead End." Later he became one of the celebrated "Dead End Kids" of the movies.

After he finally outgrew the part, he switched from acting to designing.

Blackwell came to my attention in connection with the annual dinner of the White House News Photographers Association, which will be held here this week.

The program for this event, the highlight of the White House News Photographers Association's social season, will feature a vocal trio made up of Jane Russell, Connie Haines and Beryl Davis.

SPECIAL DESIGN

This toothsome threesome will appear in identical "Ladybird" gowns designed especially for the occasion by the aforementioned "Mr. Blackwell."

The gowns are made of pink curried feathers. The material, however, doesn't interest me as much as the logistics.

The dresses of Miss Haines and Miss Davis have 1,000 feathers each.

But in order for Miss Russell to conform to the standards of demureness befitting a ladybird, Blackwell found it necessary to equip her gown with 2,000 feathers.

I can't say with certainty that Miss Russell's dress will look like it was designed by one of the Dead End Kids. It's a good bet, however, that she won't have a little boy look.

New Phone Books Distributed in Area

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has begun distribution of 687,000 north area directories used by subscribers in greater Oakland County.

Michigan Bell says this is an increase of 21,000 directories from a year ago. The new book contains 622 pages, 24 more than last year.

The front pages contains information about new dialing procedures, one of which is the need to dial "1" before placing a long distance call. This affects the Royal Oak, Birmingham, Mayfair, Southfield, Troy, Walled Lake, Auburn Heights, Rochester, and Pontiac 682 exchanges.

Dry Is Not So Dry

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) Charles W. Dry, 41, Salt Lake City, was fined $150 in city court Tuesday for drunken driving. The fine was imposed by Judge M. H. Morris after Dry pleaded guilty.

Electricity, Gas Sales Up, Consumers Says

Consumers Power Co. reports kilowatt-hour sales of electricity in Michigan rose 7 per cent and natural gas sales 5 per cent during the 12-month period ending in February.

The board of directors has declared a 37 1/2-cent-a-share dividend on common stock, payable May 20 to stockholders of record April 17. Earnings per share during the 12-month period of common shares outstanding during the 12 months were $2.21 as compared with $2.17 a year ago.

Fancy Female Foolishness in High Fashion

Man-tailored Suit

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

Each year The Pontiac Press women's department receives thousands of photographs from the world's top fashion designers.

Many we publish because they are available locally or show the latest fashion trends. Some we publish for those who want to dream a little of $800 ball gowns.

But many are so bizarre that they are filed and saved for one special occasion. They are strictly far out — so far out that we wouldn't consider buying or wearing them.

We show them to you, appropriately enough, on April Fool's Day.

Included in the collection is a knicker suit, pairing knee pants with a long, boxy man-tailored jacket. For a mere $350 the little woman can fool others into believing she is the man of the house.

"A splendid pouf of silk" is how the designer describes one of his high fashion hats. You too can wear this hat of "dramatic proportions" controlled and shaped by the merest touch of the hand" for only $89.50.

TIME MARCHES BACK

"Just about where grandma left off" was how one Paris designer saw the 1964 beach crowd attired. He didn't give a price, but it's almost a sure thing it won't be what grandma paid for her beach ensemble.

A "Boule" in white Icelandic lamb was created by an American designer to be worn with ski pants. The abominable snow man would probably look better in this than most skiers.

A white satin "Marlene Dietrich" suit with a white crepe cowl neck blouse is what one designer claims to be the latest fashion trend. For only $200 you can look like a reincarnation of the 1920s.

Sinners, Go to Church

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you please give a couple of paper saps some information? I believe there must be hundreds of people in our shoes.

We have been living together since 1941. We do not belong to a church because we do not feel we are worthy of going to church.

Yes, we do have children. Abby, we want to get married and live right and, after all these years, we don't know where to turn except to you. Is there a state that doesn't require a three-day waiting period? We couldn't be married too near here as we are very well-known.

God bless you, Abby, if you can help us.

are very old-fashioned. I am 12 years old and I have a paper route.

I earn my own money and think I should be able to do what I want with it. I want a motor scooter but my parents are against it.

I could buy one for $90 and I already have most of the money saved, but they won't let me buy one because I am not old enough to get a license yet.

Don't you think I should be able to buy one just to ride around the dirt roads?

WANTS A MOTOR SCOOTER

DEAR WANTS: It doesn't matter, if you can afford a Cadillac.

Your parents' permission is more important than the money.

Listen to them, son, and you'll never regret it.

DEAR ABBY: When our son got off the chartered bus from Fort Leonard Wood to start his first leave since enlisting in the Army, I smelled spirits on his breath for the first time.

While home, he casually remarked, "The new recruits go over to the PX at night, have a few beers and get kicked out of shape."

Is it just big talk, or is this what Uncle Sam offers our 17-year-old sons whom we have given permission to join the service?

Had we known this could happen, we would not have signed for him.

What is the truth about this situation, Miss Abby?

ONE BOYS' MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I am advised that malt beverages above 3.2 per cent alcohol are NOT sold on the military reservation and that 3.2 beer is NOT sold to anyone under 18½ years of age.

In doubtful cases I.D. cards are required.

Modern Woman's War Paint Becoming a Bit Preposterous

By MIRIAM NEAL

Perhaps it's time women of today stopped snickering at grandmother's bustle and baggy bathing suits.

For an April Fool's day look in our own mirror here's some advice Gay Pauley, UPI Women's Editor, gleaned from makeup manufacturers.

Supposedly the trend is to fragile, softer tones with the eyes as the most important feature to accent.

However, one manufacturer recommends the following method for to achieve what he calls a "twice over lightly, French porcelain look."

● Apply two shades of coordinated foundation, two shades of rouge, two of lipstick. A foundation a shade lighter than the skin goes on first. The second is the same tone as the skin.

● A cream rouge should be used followed by powder in the same shade as the second foundation. This, in turn, should be followed by a liquid rouge.

● The last step is lipstick. First a pale one then a darker shade.

"The result," says the manufacturer, "is much like the effect you get from two layers of chiffon in coordinated colors."

If the eye is indeed supposed to be THE fashion accent, it's difficult to understand the following advice on how to apply cosmetics to the forehead exposed by plunging necklines.

● It begins with a half hour

Pontiac YWCA Bursts Into Spring With Myriad of Classes, Activities

Spring term classes at Pontiac Young Women's Christian Association will start the week of April 6.

Swimming classes Thursday mornings in Oakland University's pool will be an innovation this term. Mrs. John Street, Young Adult chairman and cofounder of the YW's swim program hopes that this location will be more accessible to members in the Rochester and Auburn Heights area.

Pattern alteration will take the place of sewing on Tuesday mornings, unless demand proves sewing is still more popular according to Mrs. Clare Agnew, instructor.

Night sewing classes will be the latter part of April, if there is sufficient demand, with Mrs. Florence Cremer, instructor.

BATON TWIRLING Saturday morning baton twirling for junior high age girls will be taught by teenager, Gwen Baker, newcomer from Missouri.

Silversmithing will continue on a week-to-week basis as long as Miss Amy Kreuger is available to teach. Miss Amy and her sister, Miss Cora, are preparing to move to their girlhood home in Iowa.

NEW ART CLASS

A new class being offered is art for adults, to be taught by Mrs. Robert Porter, instructor at the Macomb Branch of the Metropolitan Detroit YWCA.

Creative dancing will be offered on Wednesday mornings, alone, or in combination with swimming at the YWCA pool. Mrs. David Markey is the teacher.

Spanish, bridge, china-painting, children's art and bowling continue to hold interest among the "spring fancies" listed in gay yellow folders available upon request from the YWCA.

Nursery will again be available for preschoolers, four days a week, five hours a day, under the capable direction of Mrs. Hazel Beutler and her staff.

JOB CLINIC

Under special announcements in the folder, is a job-training clinic for teen-agers, to be held the week of May 4. Cosponsors will be the Youth Training for Employment committee of United Community Services, and the YWCA. Similar clinics are being given in various parts of the country.

An International Club has been launched by the YWCA with the next meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. April 12.

Delegates to the 23rd Triennial National Convention of the YWCA of the USA, April 20-25, in Cleveland, Ohio are announced.

They include Miss Alice D. Serrell, immediate past president of the association, Mrs. Streil, Mrs. Reba Ross Netzer, executive director, and Beverly Galligan of Clarkson, Y-teen delegate.

The Birmingham Junior League members will present the annual puppet show for nursery children, May 21 at one o'clock.

When golf appears on the YW program, can spring be far behind? Beginning date for the perennially popular class taught by George Zannoth depends on the whim of the weather man and the condition of the City Golf Course greens.

15 Minutes Proper Wait for Hostess

By The Emily Post Institute Q: Last Sunday my husband and I were invited to a friend's house for dinner at 1:30.

We left our house in plenty of time but there was an accident on the parkway and traffic was held up for miles.

As a consequence, we arrived about 1:55. We found the family and another couple halfway through dinner.

I was hurt and angry. I wouldn't think of doing such a thing to a guest in my house and in my opinion she was extremely rude. What do you think about this?

A: Fifteen minutes is the conventional length of time that a hostess is expected to wait for a delayed guest, and as you were more than 15 minutes late she was quite right in not holding up dinner for you.

She had other guests to consider and it would have been lacking in courtesy to have kept them waiting any longer.

Q: When the repairman finished servicing our oil burner yesterday, he asked me to sign the required repair slip. I signed it Mrs. John Smith.

Wasn't this correct? My daughter insists that I should have signed it Mary Smith.

A: Signing your name Mrs. John Smith was entirely correct in the situation you describe.

Q: I am at present working in another city and my fiancée will be coming here soon for a long weekend. I have arranged for her to stay with friends. Should I send her a train ticket?

A: She pays her own transportation. The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

The suit jacket I am making has a sleeve that has been gathered onto a sleeve-band. Now that I am putting the lining in, I don't know how to finish the gathered part of the lining without too much thickness in the sleeve-band. Should I eliminate the lining from the sleeve?

Mrs. M. M. T.

Dear Mrs. M. M. T.:

The trick here is to insert the lining into the lower edge of the sleeve before you have done the gathering. Now you can gather the two layers of fabric at once and it will be very simple to attach to the sleeve-band.

Dear Eunice:

I am a beginner at sewing and it's hard to narrow this down to just one question because I have so many. The thing that is bugging me at the moment, is how to finish those neck and armhole facings when they are cut in one piece.

Somehow I can't get them to turn after they are stitched.

One pattern I had told me to cut bias strips for facings, but I don't know what that means either, so please help me.

"A Would-Be Sewer"

Dear Beginner:

As the old saying goes, "You have to learn to walk before you can run," and so I am going to tell you the easiest way to work out your facings.

If you check the sketch, you will see the large facing can be divided into a neck facing and an armhole facing by cutting through the facing approximately at the center of the shoulder.

Shape the lower edge of the facing as you have seen on many other patterns and proceed as if they were cut separately from the beginning.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

"To avoid bulkiness in finishing the pleat in a straight skirt, put the hem in before stitching the lower part of your seam. Next, stitch seam through pleat. You may finish the raw edges of the seam with a zig-zag stitch, or overcast by hand."

Mrs. Worth B. Umberger, Radford, Va., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this clever suggestion.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I have noticed that on skirts that have three panels in the back, the slide fastener is often placed on the side back seam rather than the side seam. What could possibly be the advantage of this?

Mrs. R. A.

Dear Mrs. R. A.:

The slide fastener closing is often eliminated from the side seams of a garment because it tends to add extra bulk and width to the figure (and who needs that!). Place the slide fastener in your side back seam just as if it were the side seam, using the same directional opening.

In a recent issue of a French fashion magazine, there was a sketch of an original Chanel suit, and the slide fastener was on the side front panel. This looked strange to me, but designers will do almost anything to be different.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I seem to get my skirts too loose or too tight. Is there any 'rule of thumb' to go by when fitting skirts?"

Mrs. V. G.

Dear Mrs. V. G.:

When you are fitting your skirt, be sure you can "pinch" the skirt at the hipline and have two extra inches. This is the least amount of ease you can have and still be able to sit down comfortably. This slight amount of ease will still give you a slim-fitting skirt.

Dear Mrs. J. C.:

There are tricks to every trade, and I'll tell you in on this one which I learned from a professional model. Cross the scarf at the neckline, and tuck the ends tightly into your bra. The scarf won't pull out and will look neat for many hours.

Scarves in coats may be tucked down into the sleeves of your coat and this, too, is a neat solution.

Build Right to Preserve Cleanliness

Keeping the kitchen clean can be one of the most annoying and time-consuming household chores. Ask anyone who has ever tried to paint or wallpaper over greasy kitchen walls. Or anyone who has ever tackled the job of washing down those walls.

However, the kitchen can be one of the easiest rooms to maintain, if it's properly equipped. For example, painting and vigorous scrubbing can be forgotten forever if the walls are surfaced with a durable material such as ceramic tile. An occasional quick wipe with a damp cloth is all that's necessary to keep tile clean.

Tile is also ideal for kitchen counters because unlike many substitute surfacing materials, it can't be scratched or burned. You can carve away on a tile counter — or place a stalling pot or pan atop it — with no fear of damage.

Ceramic tile, now available in more than 250 fadeproof colors and shades, plus a wide variety of decorator shapes and patterns, also can add to the beauty of your kitchen.

Another step you can take to keep your kitchen clean is to see that it's properly ventilated. This can only be done if you have the right fan system. With nothing more than a flick of the switch, you can remove food odors and protect walls and cabinets from grease, smoke, heat, and moisture.

'Purr'poseful Felines

Have you ever tried to imitate a cat's purr? It can't be done with human vocal equipment, and even experts on feline anatomy can't agree on exactly how Puss does it.

They know that a cat has a soft, palate much longer than most other animals. The conclusion is that the purr is made by vibrating the edge of the palate as the cat breathes. However, the cat breathes constantly, but he doesn't purr all the time. He can even purr while he eats.

Cats seldom purr at other cats. Except for the deep, self-satisfied rumble a mother cat will purr forth as she cuddles her kittens, the purr is reserved for communicating with people.

CAT STRATEGY

Smart animal that he is, the cat figured out that a simple meow couldn't really express sentiments like "Please scratch my chin" or "What's for supper tonight?" so he uses his exceptionally long soft palate to produce a sound unique in the animal world and guaranteed to tug at human heartstrings.

History attests to the power of the purr. Cats were first domesticated by the Egyptians to catch mice and protect the grain supply. In just a few generations, they were being worshipped as goddess. The word "Puss" comes from the name of the Egyptian goddess Pashit.

Cats were given royal status in Siam and Burma. Sailors adopted them as their special good luck charm. Whenever civilization advanced, the cat went along as a household pet.

FIRST CITIZENS

The Pilgrims brought them to America's shores and the covered wagon pioneers carried pet cats across the country. The cat by the fireside was a symbol of an established home.

Today, the cat enjoys a solid spot in the pet world. According to the Pet Food Institute, the cat population is shifting from the country to the city. His quiet, easy-going nature, plus that comfortable purr, make the cat an ideal companion for people living in small homes or apartments.

Contrary to popular fable, most cats don't lavish their purrs on lonely maiden ladies. Eighty-one per cent of the pet cats live in homes with children. Pet shops owners warn that more men buy cats than do women.

Girls Rise to Occasion

The Tall Girls' Council, celebrating its 15th anniversary this year, reports over a quarter of a million members.

These girls — who are at least 5 feet 7 — are actively helping in problems pertaining to height.

The Council was organized by a manufacturer of outfitting for women and girls. It has campaigned effectively for better sitting in beds, sheets, clothing, shoes, travel berths, cars and furniture. More difficult projects, such as higher ceilings, longer bathtubs and roomier phone booths remain on the agenda.

The Oyster Is Sheltered for Profits

Temperamental oysters make pearls, and pearls make money for man. So man cultivates oysters.

But oysters refuse to be exploited, and unless man keeps their living conditions near perfect, they retaliate, either by producing inferior stones or by dying.

Japanese pearl farmers, whose oysters produce most of the world's cultured pearls, have become experts at oyster-pampering.

Sometimes the pampering is not enough. Masayasu Kato, United States representative for Japan's cultured pearl industry, reports that some sizes of cultured pearls will be in short supply this year after four years of unfavorable weather which lowered production.

Everything possible is done to insure peace and quiet for the oyster while he works. The oyster creates a pearl by depositing a nacre around a piece of polished shell placed in his flesh by the farmer.

While the pearl grows—a process that takes years—the oyster is kept happy, healthy, clean and in quiet water of the proper temperature and salinity.

Vitamins, complex pipe systems which keep underwater beds clean and supply food, and hospitals where the implant operation is performed are standard equipment on modern oyster farms.

Despite the care oysters receive, only about five per cent of the pearls harvested in a typical year are good enough to be called gems. And in bad years, the crop falls off sharply as the oysters refuse to produce.

An October wedding is being planned by Carol J. Aldrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Aldrich of Keego Harbor and Robert A. Machiela, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Machiela of Sylvan Lake.

Do Job Now While Cool

There's nothing like doing a tedious job in the cool of spring to save wear, and tear on nerves and system when the temperature hits the nineties. Get out those cumbersome slip covers right now and give them an extra washing—let them dry in pale spring sunlight and put them on in the cool of the evening.

If you use liquid chlorine bleach in the washing, you'll see how clean they are, how sweet they smell—no musty storage odor is left.

Protect the Fabric

Slip one finger of an old glove over a curtain rod, and it will go through a curtain top more easily without tearing the fabric.

Don't Get Caught Napping on Mattress

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

A friend of mine went into a store the other day to buy a mattress. She told the salesman she wanted a good mattress but didn't know just what to look for.

The salesman shrugged. "All you need to know about a mattress," he said, "is how much you want to pay."

MARY FEELEY

My reaction to that kind of attitude is, "How silly can you get?" That's not all you need to know about any purchase you make—especially a mattress.

Since we spend one-third of our lives in bed, we ought to know what we're buying in the way of comfort and long wear. Price, of course, is one guide to quality—or should be.

But when you lie down to rest, it's not the price tag that's going to relax you, it's what's inside that mattress.

Which brings up the question: "What does make a good mattress?"

If it's an innerspring mattress: the type of springs, the way they're tied together, the gauge of the steel they're made of.

The ticking: is it sturdy, of good weight material?

CERTAIN FIRMNESS

Firmness: whether you like a soft, medium, or hard mattress, it should have a certain firmness, as a pledge that it will hold up comfortably over the years.

The padding: it should be fleecy and lumpless.

Reinforced edges: this is done with special springs of spring construction that extends to the edges of the mattress, to keep the proper shape and comfort.

If it's a foam mattress: the fewer the airholes, the better service it will give.

It is generally supposed that the more coils in box springs, the better they are. However, manufacturers and retailers say this isn't necessarily so. The quality of the steel used can also be a deciding factor.

HOW TO JUDGE

Now—how can you, as a customer, judge a mattress before you spend your money?

There are four ways. By what you can feel, what you can see, by the questions you ask and the answers you get, and by the reputation of the maker.

The first test, of course, is to sit down and lie down on the mattress. If you're not invited to do so, go right ahead anyway. You can tell whether the mattress is soft, even or hard enough to suit your own tastes. Bounce around a bit, to judge its resiliency.

If you can look inside the mattress, so much the better. Some stores provide a display mattress with part of the ticking turned back to expose the springs, how they're tied and what type of padding is used.

Or the manufacturer may supply a small sample showing the construction, as a visual aid for the customer's benefit.

See if the springs extend to the mattress edges. If it's a latex or polyurethane mattress, examine the texture of the foam. Lift the mattress if you want, since you'll be doing that regularly once you get it home.

Be sure to read labels that give you "inside information"—about the features you can't feel or see while you're in the store. Ask the salesman specific questions. In your final decision, weigh the maker's own faith in his mattress or box springs.

How many years is he willing to guarantee it for? Keep the price in mind, of course, since you can hardly expect the same service from every mattress in a price range from $40 to $200.

WHERE TO SHOP

Another point to keep in mind is this: the best place to shop for a mattress is in the mattress department. Many young couples are thinking in terms of a bedroom suite when they go shopping.

They concentrate on the type of furniture they want, note that mattress and box springs are included in the price—and that's that. These items are just taken for granted without further to do.

However, one big company that sells this type of "package deal," as well as offering mattresses in a separate mattress department, says it's wisest to buy a mattress as an individual purchase—in its own department.

The first cocoa beans were from the Spanish island of Fernandina in what is now Ghana in nando Po, off Africa's west coast. They were smuggled in 1879. They were smuggled in coast.

For 3 Macomb Communities

Merger Into City Proposed

The top officials of Ulica and neighboring Shelby and Sterling townships want to get together — within the boundaries of one large home rule city.

Proposing the merger are Ulica Mayor Fred H. Beck, Shelby Township Supervisor Lorin E. Evans and Sterling Township Supervisor Anthony Dobry.

In a statement issued by the trio, they said "We have reached a conclusion that the interests of all three areas can best be served through incorporation as a single home rule city."

The combined area of the three municipalities totals some 72 square miles and presently has a population of about 45,000.

Should the drive which the three officials are initiating be successful, the resulting city would be the second largest in Michigan, in terms of area. Detroit, Michigan's largest city, covers an area of 137.69 square miles.

FAST-GROWING AREA

The three communities comprise one of Michigan's fastest growing areas. Projected population trends show that by 1980, the number of people in the proposed city would be about 250,000, more than five times the present.

The three communities have a combined tax base of some $175 million, on the basis of state equalized property assessment. This will be increased by a huge Chrysler stamping plant under construction in Sterling Township.

Although many ideas have been exchanged between various civic organizations about unification, this is the first time the three leaders have formally endorsed the proposal.

The Greater Ulica Chamber of Commerce, one of the area's most active organizations, endorsed a merger plan in February, after two years of study.

Its proposal called for merging "in some sort and in at least some degree, if not in all respects."

Already residents of the three communities are served by combined water, sewage and storm drain facilities.

Last year Evans called Shelby Township home owners' representatives together to determine what new form of government we should adopt.

Study groups had also been organized in Ulica and Sterling Township prior to yesterday's announcement by the three officials.

Township, inseminator Gerald Brooks of Addison Township, directors Ray Alt and Stuart Braid and Vice President Adolph Engler, all of Oakland Township; and Jay Poffenberger, county agriculture agent. Middleton recently was elected a state director of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative.

Party Set for Jaycees From Area

OXFORD — All eight Junior Chamber of Commerce Chapters in District 10 will convene Saturday night for a district-wide membership party at the Knights of Pythias hall here.

The party will begin at 7 p.m. with a floor show slated for 8 p.m. and games from 9 p.m. to midnight. The Four Dukes will entertain.

Each chapter will have a booth at the hall where newspaper clippings and other documentation of community accomplishments will be displayed.

Oxford was selected as the party site to familiarize area young men with Jaycee activities. A chapter is planned in Oxford.

The party is open to all Jaycees and prospective members in North Oakland County and their wives or dates.

OFFICIAL GUEST

Merritt Martin, president of the Michigan Jaycees, is expected to attend.

Presently, District 10 is comprised of the following chapters: Pontiac, Waterford, Clarkston, Davisburg, Orionville, Holly, Lake Orion and Rochester.

Game Menu Set by Avon Players

ROCHESTER — A wild game dinner will be offered to the Rochester community by the Avon Players Saturday evening to raise funds for their proposed playhouse.

The menu will feature board member Worth Malley's hard-won moose, and some buffalo meat. There will also be roast beef for those who prefer tamer game.

Setting for the feast will be the Rochester High School cafeteria. Doors will be open from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

A sound motion picture on wild game hunting also can be viewed by diners either before or after they eat.

OK Farmington District Bond Sale

FARMINGTON — The Municipal Finance Commission has approved sale of bonds for a $2.5-million building program in the Farmington Public School District.

The commission's announcement coincides with board of education plans to open bids on the first portion of the program tonight.

The program now being undertaken will account for half of a $5-million bond issue accepted by taxpayers in November. The school board will hold the other half in reserve until it is needed, probably in the fall of 1965.

Enrollment projections indicate the entire building program should carry the district through the fall of 1967.

First plans to be approved were those for Gill Road Elementary School.

OPEN BIDS

Bids of education members will meet at 8 tonight to open bids on the work which will add six classrooms and an all-purpose room to the building at 21185 Gill.

Total cost for the expansion has been estimated at $194,140. The figure includes construction, equipment and architect's fees.

Novi to Host MEA Confab for Area Educators

NOVI — Over 100 area educators will attend the April 9 meeting of the Region 7 Council of the Michigan Education Association at Orchard Hills School here.

Herbert R. Hengst, MEA director of higher education, will be the featured speaker at the 5 p.m. meeting.

Hengst will discuss professional practices legislation.

Region President Charles Lemke, principal of Bloomfield Hills' Conant Elementary School, said the agenda would also include nomination of region officers and a summary of the recent MEA Representative Assembly.

Don Giese is the MEA field representative to Region 7 which corresponds in area to Oakland County.

Now in various stages of planning are 10 other projects to be included in the $2.5-million program.

The capacity of 3-year-old North Farmington High School is to be increased from 970 to 1,600 students through the addition of 24 classrooms and expansion of present facilities.

SIMILAR WORK

Similar work is scheduled for East Junior High to increase the present capacity of 810 students to 1,330.

Also on the drawing board is a new 14-classroom elementary school.

Others in line for remodeling or expansion are Farmington High, Duncle Junior High, Farmington Junior High, Middlebelt Elementary and Bood Elementary schools.

The school board has included in its plans an administration building, a maintenance building and purchase of new sites.

Among other borrowings approved by the Municipal Finance Commission was $1.25 million in tax anticipation notes for operating expenses in the Southfield Public School System.

Tax Unit to Hear Cavanagh Testify

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh said today he planned to offer testimony at a meeting of the State Senate Taxation Committee urging rejection of proposed legislation curtailing the city's power to levy income taxes.

The bills passed the House last Thursday and would limit city income taxes to 1 per cent on residents and half of 1 per cent on nonresidents who work in the city.

Cavanagh has said this would cut Detroit's income by as much as $5 million annually.

No date was scheduled for Cavanagh's appearance before the committee.

MEA Confab Set Thursday

Negotiation Policy Among 'Hot' Topics

LANSING (UPI) — More than 500 educator delegates will discuss important issues to Michigan public school teachers at the annual Michigan Education Association Representative Assembly here tomorrow through Saturday.

"Hot" topics for discussion will include professional negotiations, teacher institutes, personnel policies and the structure and organization of the MEA.

MEA President Octavius Townsend, Ipsenham teacher, will address the group tomorrow night, and Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary will give his annual report.

Other features of the three-day meeting include the election of a new MEA president-elect and a state director of the National Education Association by delegates.

A series of hearings on the MEA's principal concerns for the coming year will be held.

RESOLUTIONS

These include budget, the platform and resolutions for the coming year, proposed amendments to the MEA constitution and professional priorities. The hearings are slated for Friday.

Final decisions on proposals made during the assembly will be made Saturday.

Distinguished service awards will be presented at a Friday banquet and Dr. J. Donald Phillips, president of Hillsdale College, will be the featured speaker.

The awards annually go to persons who have distinguished themselves for their "outstanding service to education," MEA officials said.

MASS MEDIA

Twelve school bell awards will be given to members of the mass media for their exceptional works in interpreting education at a luncheon on Friday.

The current president-elect, Russell Jones, Principal of Grand Rapids Burton School, will take over the president's office July 1 and serve until July of 1965.

Art Exhibition Slated by Clarkston Group

CLARKSTON — Irene Cotcher, member of the Pontiac Society of Artists, will present an audience participation exhibition of the "Art of College" at Friday's meeting of the Village Friends of Art.

The session is slated for 8 p.m. at the Independence Township hall.

Housewives to Hear How to Save Hearts

ORTONVILLE — Housewives in the Ortonville area will have a chance to learn how to save their hearts at a series of labor-saving homemaking classes.

Directed primarily at those with an ailment of the heart or circulatory system, the two-session course will be jointly sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association and the Seymour Lake, East Ortonville and Groveland Hills Home Economics Extension Study Clubs.

Both classes will be held in the Brandon Township Hall, corner of Mill and Church streets. They are scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. April 7 and 14.

Instructor will be Mrs. Ruth C. Kettunen of East Lansing, heart association consultant in homemaker rehabilitation.

Mrs. Kettunen will demonstrate practical ways of saving time and energy while preparing meals, cleaning and carrying out other household tasks.

Reservations for the classes can be made by contacting Mrs. Carl Kennaday, 4010 Oakwood, Brandon Township.

Revival Set in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Revival services will be held nightly beginning tomorrow at Rochester Church of the Nazarene, 228 Walnut.

Rev. Grim is an elder in the Church of the Nazarene, Oklahoma City, Okla.

An Army chaplain during World War II, he received his religious training in Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla.

The evangelist has traveled around the world on missionary work and will present a series of colored pictures of the Holy Land.

ROYAL OAK TWP. Officials Keep Jobs in Narrow Vote

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Three township officials received narrow margin votes of confidence yesterday in an ill-fated recall election.

Residents supported Supervisor Edward L. Kennedy 496 to 441. They also retained Treasurer Frank Miles, 464 to 443 and Trustee Samuel Woodard, 494 to 430.

Yesterday's election resulted from a controversy which started Dec. 13 with the firing of former Urban Renewal Director Jeffrey Teamer.

Opposing the three on the township board were Clerk Mrs. Arlie Gray and Trustee Aubrey Dunn.

"I guess we're going to keep on operating," Mrs. Gray said today, "as long as the people didn't take them out."

NO FINAL DECISION

She said a final decision has not been made on her next move.

Dunn and Mrs. Gray have not attended a township board meeting since Teamer was fired.

Their absence plus two vacancies on the board has left

Kennedy, Miles and Woodard without a quorum of four to conduct business.

The three last week saw their move to block the recall election defeated in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge James S. Thornburn Thursday dismissed their request that the petitions for the election be nullified and the election canceled.

NO COURT ORDER

The judge also declined to issue a court order requiring Mrs. Gray and Dunn to return to township board meetings.

Speaking privately, however, he did urge them to attend the meetings and fulfill their duties as elected officials.

Both Hight and Flumerfelt tallied 159 votes in the election. Flumerfelt won the two-year term in the drawing.

Village Manager Michael M. Kilgore, Clerk Mrs. Patricia Tyrrell and Attorney Robert V. Parenti also were given additional one-year terms in office last night.

Girl Is Doing Well With Twin's Kidney

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Doctors at University Hospital said yesterday there was an "excellent" chance of complete success of a kidney transplant performed between 15-year-old identical twin sisters Monday.

Janice Ottenbacher, who received a healthy kidney from her sister Joan, was reported in good condition and "coming along fine."

Joan, the donor, doctors said, has shown no ill effects from the loss of one kidney, and was up and around for a brief time yesterday.

A hospital spokesman said between 20 and 30 doctors took part in the six-hour operation or its preparation, on Monday.

Janice had been admitted to the hospital Feb. 16 in critical condition after complete kidney failure. She was suffering from a chronic kidney disease which doctors did not identify.

THREE MORE DAYS

Although doctors were optimistic about the chances for success of the operation, they said it would be at least three more days before it would be known definitely whether the kidney could survive and enable Janice to resume a normal life.

Doctors said it was the first human kidney transplant in Michigan history.

Early Opening for Soo Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—One of earliest openings of the Soo Locks in shipping season history was scheduled today with six vessels lined up to pass through.

The six Canadian ships waited for ceremonies at 6 a.m.

First in line was the T. R. McLagan. Behind it were sister ships from the Canadian Steamship Lines, the Black Bay, Bay St. Paul, Nitigon Bay and Timmer Bay and the Upper Lakes Steamship Co. vessel Hilda Marjane.

Last year, the locks opened April 10 and the lower St. Marys River was opened to navigation March 23, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Packaging Hides Low Value of Contents

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—

Half the packages a person gets today are hardly worth the effort required to unwrap them. This is a civilization which seems to prize the art of packaging over the value of the contents.

California Democratic Split Widens in Senate Primary Battle

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Old friends, parted company, and the Democratic split over the party's contest for the U.S. Senate widened on all fronts today.

Don Bradley, executive director of the Democratic State Central Committee, broke off with Gov. Edmund G. Brown to become campaign manager for Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, who leaped into the race March 20.

Brown, backing State Controller Alan Cranston for Sen. Clair Engle's seat, was obviously displeased. He said Bradley, who managed his 1962 reelection effort, acted without his approval.

Living Index Drop Rate Is Higher in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's drop in the cost of living index during February was six times greater than the drop in the national index—the first national index drop since December, 1962, the Labor Department said Tuesday.

The governor fired off a letter to "friends and supporters" to let them know that he is still behind Cranston for the Democratic nomination. He urged them to back his choice.

Cranston, in a speech Tuesday night, declared Salinger is "riding for the same fall as Richard Nixon." He alluded to the fact that Salinger, like Nixon, came home after a long absence to run for office.

Tom C. Carvey, president of the 70,000-member California Democratic Council, charged that Salinger's last-minute entry was a "brazen power play by Big Daddy Jesse Unruh." The CDC has endorsed Cranston.

Carvey accused Assembly Speaker Unruh of engaging in "a cynical double game"—publicly sympathetic to Sen. Engle but working behind the scenes to line up his own candidate.

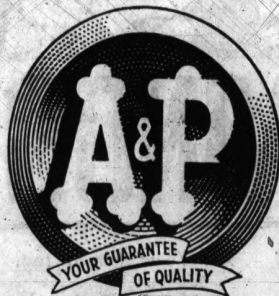

Engle's Northern California chairman, Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, D-Antioch, pooh-poohed talk that the Democratic incumbent would pull out of the June 2 primary.

He called it wishful thinking by "some who thought they could huff and puff and blow the man down." Engle filed for reelection in the face of assertions by state party leaders, including the governor, that he is too ill to run.

The 53-year-old senator underwent brain surgery last August but he says he's recovering. In getting Bradley to steer his bid for the nomination, Salinger brought the party's acknowledged "old pro" into his camp. Bradley has had a hand in all major Democratic campaigns in recent years. He managed Engle's successful first try for the Senate in 1958, and has worked closely with Brown on party affairs.

Would-Prefer More Positive Approach

Hart Calls Rights Bill Voting Section Modest Step Forward

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate backers of the civil rights bill argue today that its voting rights section is a modest step toward winning the ballot for more Negroes in the South.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., gave this description of the section in a prepared speech, explaining that he personally "would prefer a more direct and positive approach to the problem."

"I would prefer, in fact, that postmasters or other local federal officials be made registrars whenever it is found that state or local election machinery is supporting voting discrimination."

But he conceded that "at the moment, it appears that a majority of the Congress is not prepared to take this step."

Hart was to be joined by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., in a bipartisan presentation of the voting rights section, Title I of the House-passed bill.

Tuesday, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., delivered the only major speech on the bill, centering his attack on the voting rights section. He held the floor 6 hours and 35 minutes, longest stint in the 18 days of debate so far.

Thurmond assailed the provision which would make a sixth grade education the basis for a presumption of literacy, denouncing this as an unconstitutional invasion of the rights of the states.

Thurmond said more than 100,000 Negroes are registered to vote in his state and that he knew of no discrimination.

HULLABALOO

"It's a lot of hullabaloo over nothing," he said.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., indicated he expected more weeks of debate before any floor action develops on the bill.

He discussed at a luncheon of GOP senators the dozen amendments he is advocating to the fair employment practices section of the measure, but said more such sessions would be needed over the next two weeks before he is ready to introduce them.

He said he was not seeking to "emasculate or water down" the section, only to assure it was not made unduly harassing to businessmen.

NEGRO PATIENCE

Hart said "It is the patience of the American Negro which in many respects is the most remarkable fact of all as we look at the civil rights revolution of the 1960s."

The Michigan senator said that, despite some new powers to enforce voting rights in the 1957 and 1960 civil rights acts, the results have been highly disappointing.

The Justice Department has pursued the matter vigorously but in 100 countries in 8 Southern states, only 8.3 per cent of all Negroes of voting age were registered by 1962, he said.

In 1956, the figure was about 5 per cent so that "if the pace of the last seven years is not accelerated, it will take over 100 years to get even a majority of Negroes in the 100 counties registered," Hart declared.

The decay of tenant farming in northern Tennessee is driving young people to cities.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOWLING

QUESTION: Who thought up bowling?

ANSWER: In the grave of an Egyptian child who had died in 3200 B. C., or 7164 years ago, a British Egyptologist, Sir Flinders Petrie, found implements for playing a game which turned out to be very much like bowling as played today.

Various forms of bowling became popular in European countries during the Middle Ages. The English bowled in the 1180's and the sport became popular in Germany about 1200.

In the 1500's Martin Luther set the number of pins in the game at nine. The Dutch, who called the game skittles, brought it with them to New Amsterdam (New York City) in the 1600's.

It spread to New England in the 1800's and there was much gambling on the game, bringing charges of dishonesty. The Connecticut legislature banned "bowling at nine pins." To get around this law, bowlers added a tenth pin and started the 10-pin game known today.

Our illustration shows the approved position of the ball during the four steps most bowlers take before they start the ball across the "foul line" on its way toward the pins.

A right handed bowler aims for the "pocket" or space between the first and third pins on the right side, while a left hander goes for the space between pins 1 and 2. Marge has knocked down all ten pins in the bottom picture, making a "strike."

FOR YOU TO DO: We forgot to explain what a "turkey" is, so you tell your friends. You don't know? A turkey is a strike repeated for three consecutive times.

The first time a President left the country while in office was in 1907 when Theodore Roosevelt visited the Panama Canal for five days.

Total expenditures on all levels for health purposes in the nation last year were estimated at $34 billion, six per cent of the gross national product.

DETROIT (AP) — Michelle Wallace, 6 months, suffocated under a plastic cleaner's bag in her crib Tuesday. Her mother, Mrs. Julia Wallace, who has

Diplomats Threaten Retaliation

Traffic Ticket Crisis Flares in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—On top of crises from Cyprus to South-east Asia, the State Department is battling a local blaze over foreign diplomats' traffic tickets.

The department's grand design is to cut down on scofflaw parking by Washington's diplomatic colony and thus assuage irate District of Columbia citizens.

It is driving ahead gingerly, though, for diplomatic tempers have flared and the department wants to snuff out the blaze before it spreads far in retaliation against American envoys abroad.

ALREADY SINGED
Some U.S. emissaries have been singled already. They are the 30 at the U.S. Embassy in Manila. A squad of city motorcycle policemen specially assigned to the job wrote about 100 traffic tickets for U.S. diplomats Tuesday.

Manila Mayor Antonio Vilgas hinted that in "reciprocity" for the Washington traffic ticket policy he might even turn off the water for the U.S. Embassy swimming pool and tear down the facade of the embassy office building in Manila.

No tickets have been issued to Philippine diplomats here since the ruling went into effect March 16. Forty-six offenders from other embassies paid traffic tickets in this period—100 ignored tickets.

There are about 2,000 cars with diplomatic license tags in Washington. No figure has been given out on the total of U.S. autos with diplomatic tags abroad, but some 14,000 U.S. government civilians and military attaches are assigned around the world. Many have cars. Some have swimming pools, too.

VIOLATIONS DOUBLE

The ruckus began in Washington after the State Department found the number of diplomatic auto violations here had jumped to 9,000 in 1963, more than double the 1962 crop.

The offending diplomats had been given only warnings because of diplomatic immunity.

Early last month the department sent to the approximately 100 ambassadors here a note, etc. would be issued for parking with this shocker: Regular tickets would be issued for parking violations and anyone not paying his fines would get no new diplomatic license plates—D.C. plates with "DPL" lettering and a low number.

The diplomats reacted quickly and unhappily. They vowed that most are law-abiding, complained to the department of lack of parking space and protested about the publicity.

RETALIATION THREAT

Some predicted widespread retaliation against American envoys overseas if the department stayed tough.

After meeting with representatives of the Washington diplomatic colony last week, the department retreated a bit. It promised to work hard to increase "diplomatic" parking spaces and said no tickets would be enforced on violations if the diplomatic offender said he was on official business.

The department stresses that American diplomats abroad are under orders to obey local traffic rules and promptly pay any parking fines—out of their own pockets.

A stethoscope device has been developed in Britain to find leaks in gas or air pipes. Listening workers have been able to easily hear low-pressure air escaping through a hole of .011 inch diameter.

4 Teen-Agers Found in Cave

Boys Saved in Ozarks After 12-Hour Search

By TOM BERNEGAST
JEHOE, Mo. (AP) — Four teen-age boys, missing almost 12 hours in a partially explored cave in the Ozarks country of south central Missouri, were brought out safely early today, smiling, tired and caked with mud. Kenny Lewis, 15; Gerald Cook; Eddie Ousley and Teddy Miller, 16, all of the Rolla, Mo., area, emerged from the cave with their rescuers at 2:30 a.m.

DOZEN VOLUNTEERS

The rescue team, four students from the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla and another volunteer, entered Bruce Cave late Tuesday night. The youths were found shortly before 2 a.m. about a half mile or so inside the narrow cavern.

"We were lost about an hour after we entered the cave," said young Lewis. "We were pretty scared for awhile but we didn't panic."

The other boys agreed there were some scary moments. All appeared in good condition. Volunteers at the scene said it was considerably warmer inside the cave than outside.

DOZEN OFFICIALS

Relatives and about a dozen law enforcement officials greeted the boys.

Gary Edman, 16, told police he went into the cave with the other boys about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. Edman said he came out after about 15 minutes and waited at the mouth for the others. When they failed to return after about two hours, he notified police.

Dr. James Maxwell, adviser for a cave explorers club at the School of Mines, directed the rescue operation. Members of the rescue team were Russ Adams, 20, Neptune, N.J.; Harry Dunn, 20, Bourbon, Mo.; Nick Tibber, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Bob Kassy, 20, Rolla, and John Gebhardt, 23, Rock Port, Mo.

Good Behavior Earns City Man Jail Suspension

A Pontiac man yesterday reaped the fruits of staying out of trouble while his sentence on a larceny charge was being deferred for a year.

Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer granted Albert J. Mills, 30, of 377 E. Tennyson an indefinite suspension of sentence after reviewing a probation department report that Mills had no brushes with the law during that year.

The sentence suspension amounted to closing the case.

Judge Beer delayed Mills' sentencing last April under a state law permitting such delays up to a year.

Mills had pleaded guilty to larceny in a building. He originally had been charged with burglary.

CAUGHT IN OFFICE

Police said he was arrested while ransacking the office of People's Supermarket, 700 Auburn, in September, 1962.

The Female Medical College of Pennsylvania, incorporated in 1880 and opened in 1881, was the first such institution recognized in the United States. Its name was changed in 1967 to the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

To Alter Payment Schedule

Tap-In Ordinance Amended

"How can you charge me $150 for something I'm not getting?" That question caused a change in the city ordinance establishing sewer tap-in fees last night.

The tap-in ordinance was changed by a unanimous vote of the Pontiac City Commission.

Fees will now be due when a plumbing permit is issued for the actual sewer connection, rather than when a building permit is issued as was specified in the original ordinance.

The tap-in ordinance, designed to produce funds for the

Robber of Station Gets Prison Term

A 22-year-old Madison Heights man was given a 2½-to-15-year prison term yesterday for armed robbery of an attendant at an Avon Township gas station.

Jack A. Hewitt, of 26622 John R. was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge James S. Thornburn.

Hewitt pleaded guilty March 16.

He was accused of taking about $100 from the Oak gas station at Auburn and Rochester roads March 6 after overpowering the attendant with a beer bottle and an oil can.

The wallets of the two customers were taken while Combs' was emptied and left on the bar.

The gunman, according to the victims, wore a black stocking over his head and appeared to be wearing glasses under the mask. His companion was wearing red gloves.

The two were sentenced by Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn.

Charles L. Langs, the developer, got his building permit before the original ordinance became effective.

However, he doesn't have a plumbing permit yet, so he will now have to pay the fee.

City Attorney William A. Ewart agreed that she had a right. He drafted an emergency amendment to the ordinance. It goes into effect immediately.

MAJOR PROJECT

The amendment will affect at least one major building project in the city—a proposed 65-unit town house development on East Pike at Douglas.

Pleads Guilty at Murder Trial

A former Farmington Township man yesterday pleaded guilty to murder in the Dec. 10 slaying of Mrs. Carroll Westerman, 27, a mother of four, in the trailer he was renting.

William H. Hoskins, 32, entered the plea as his trial was about to begin.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt will set the degree of guilt after hearing testimony in the case.

Several witnesses were heard yesterday and more were to testify today.

Hoskins was charged with first-degree murder, which carries a mandatory life sentence.

Mrs. Westerman, of 21312 St. Francis, Farmington Township, was found dead of bullet and stab wounds in the house trailer at 21355 Rensselaer, Farmington Township.

Hoskins was arrested the next day in Kentucky where he had fled with his 12-year-old daughter. Police said he admitted killing the woman so she wouldn't have to "suffer anymore."

Hoskins and his daughter had stayed at the home of Mrs. Westerman and her husband for a few weeks previously.

VP of Ford Foundation Dies After Hemorrhage

NEW YORK (AP) — William H. Ford, chairman of the Ford Foundation since 1953, died Tuesday after a cerebral hemorrhage. Earlier he had worked for the Association for Aid of Crippled Children, the American Heart Association and the Ford Motor Co.

He was born in Sparta, Tenn.

Records of the quake showed on the seismograph of the Boston College seismograph station at Weston, Mass.

"A very small earthquake occurred this morning at approximately 6:21 a.m.," said the Rev. John F. Devane, chairman of the Department of Geophysics at Boston College.

The actual earthquake was so small that the records do not permit an exact determination of the epicenter.

"The best estimate of the epicenter is that it was in the Lake Wipmussaukee area, probably near the town of Meredith."

The seismograph record failed closely with reports from Bellows Falls, around the 20-mile-long New Hampshire lake.

Two Bandits Rob Bar in Pontiac; $1,000 Is Taken

A Pontiac bar was robbed of $1,000 by two bandits early this morning.

An additional $135 was taken from the bartender and two customers in the holdup of Harold's Bar, 505 South Boulevard, at 1:30 a.m.

The bartender, Robert Combs, 26, of 8856 Charboneau Lane, said the two men entered the bar by the side entrance just before closing time. One was armed with a nickel-plated revolver.

Combs and the two customers, Frank L. Zuzula, 42, of 8300 Pontiac Lake and Lee C. Stephens, 43, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were ordered to lie on the floor while the cash register and a cash box under the bar were emptied.

The wallets of the two customers were taken while Combs' was emptied and left on the bar.

Fast Man in a Car

LBJ 'Ahead' of Press Corps

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Memo from the White House press corps to the man in the White House: Please ease up on the throttle; it's a tough job trailing a president and an impossible one at 75 miles an hour.

Besides, with the traffic casualty figures what they are, we'd all breathe a little easier if you'd confine your hard-driving to your White House desk.

Not that anyone can exactly prove Lyndon B. Johnson is a bit heavy-footed when he gets behind the wheel of his big, luxury car.

But newsmen found over the Easter holiday that when they trailed him at 90 to 65 miles an hour they were only doing exactly that — trailing.

If this weren't cause enough for dismay, a reporter who tried to trail Mrs. Johnson from the LBJ Ranch to the hairdresser one day estimated her driver was zipping along at 75 to 80.

The word around these parts is that you can tell a car the President has driven by its bunched-up back end.

But everyone rates Johnson an excellent driver and everyone knows he is a rancher.

LOOK AT CATTLE

This means he has to shoot into a pasture to look over his cattle, and the bumps and rocks are hard on a car's back end.

Still, the reports continue that the 70-mile-an-hour speed limits around these parts is no restriction for the President.

In New York, the World-Telegram and the Sun, in a story from Johnson City, quoted an unidentified veteran White House photographer as saying his own speedometer read 90 as he "was keeping up" with Johnson's car after church Sunday.

The newspaper also said that on a drive Saturday the President was reported to have covered his speedometer with his broad-brimmed hat when a passenger remarked that the needle was pointing to 85.

SUNDAY DRIVE

Johnson went out to look over some ranchland Sunday, pursued by newsmen in a 70-mile zone.

One reported that a Secret Service car held him back to 60 to 65 miles an hour while the President sped away at 75 to 80.

In any event, all this is old hat to the White House press corps.

They used to hit 100 at times trying to stay up with President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And once when they tried to keep up with him as he sailed along the highway to Gettysburg, Pa., they were flagged down by state police for speeding.

Viets Can Fight Cong Inside Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam has reached an understanding with the leader of rightwing forces in Laos that will enable Vietnamese troops to strike inside Laos against Communist Viet Cong bases and supply routes, informed sources reported today.

This development was said to have resulted from a recent meeting in Dalat, the South Vietnamese hill station, between the rightist Laotian vice premier Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, and South Viet Nam's strongman premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Khanh reportedly won Phoumi's approval to a plan under which Vietnamese raiding parties can strike into Laos against predesignated Communist targets.

Elements of Phoumi's 50,000-man rightist army operate along the Vietnamese border. His 33rd Infantry Battalion is at an outpost a stone's throw from the Vietnamese outpost of Lao Bao.

Informed sources said Khanh argued that his plan to root the Viet Cong out of South Viet Nam can succeed only if Communist bases and supply routes in Laos are put out of action.

These include the Ho Chi Minh trail, an ill-defined maze of jungle trails which has long been a supply route from North Viet Nam to the Communist guerrillas.

Fire Destroys Home in Waterford Twp.

Fire yesterday at 4:14 p.m. totally destroyed a $5,000 one-story frame house in Waterford Township.

Additional damage of $1,000 to contents of the building at 2901 Peerless was estimated.

The house was owned by Isidra Aguilera and occupied by Frank Maron.

Firemen said the blaze which started in a rear bedroom may have been caused by a child playing with matches. An investigation is being conducted.

Soviets Firm on Not Paying U.N. Bill

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union will not compromise on its unpaid assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East or even discuss its refusal to pay them, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said today.

Commentator Viktor Mayevsky wrote that the American effort to collect the assessments was "an overt line toward liquidation of the United Nations, toward undermining international cooperation."

The article recalled a Soviet statement to U.N. delegates on March 21 that continued efforts to collect the assessments might force Moscow "to reconsider our attitude toward the United Nations activity."

VOTING RIGHTS

Under Article 19 of the U.N. charter, nations owing the equivalent of two years' debt to the organization can be deprived of voting rights.

The Soviet Union owes $52.6 million. Unless at least $9 million is paid by the time the General Assembly opens next autumn, it could lose its vote in the assembly.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Wang Ping-nan, Red Chinese ambassador to Poland, is expected to leave for Peking after April 4, the date for his 122nd

There was speculation that the April 8 meeting with U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot may be the last such session in Warsaw although a U.S. Embassy spokesman said "there is no information at this time to indicate that the talks will not continue here."

Both sides have maintained strict secrecy on the prolonged talks, which Wang began in Geneva in 1955.

Nation's Clock Is Set Back; Earth Slowing

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—The nation's official clock was set back 1-10 of a second today.

The National Bureau of Standards took the action because the earth is slowing down. Drag of the tides, the moon and other braking factors were listed as reasons.

A spokesman said earthquakes and volcanic eruptions also account for deceleration and, "Don't forget the kick every satellite gives the earth when boosted off and when it breaks out of the atmosphere."

The last time U.S. time was changed officially was Nov. 1, 1963.

SUPERSONIC PROPOSALS—Three aircraft companies have submitted initial design proposals to the Federal Aviation Agency for supersonic transport planes which will be able to reach speeds in excess of 1,800 m.p.h. Lockheed's double delta design (top photo) is capable of carrying up to 218 passengers across the continent in two hours. The North American proposal (bottom) has a range of 4,010 miles. The third, a Boeing transport, is not shown.

Official Said In on Scheme

Cohn Trial Witness Names Prosecutor

NEW YORK (AP)—The government's star witness in the trial of Roy M. Cohn on perjury and conspiracy charges has testified that a second federal prosecutor was in on the alleged scheme to save four men from indictment in a 1959 stock fraud case.

The witness, Samuel S. Garfield, also testified Tuesday he arranged—but did not carry out—a $100,000 payoff to the late Sen. George H. Bender, R-Ohio. He said he planned for Bender to try to quash the government's probe of the $5-million stock fraud.

Garfield was one of four men involved in the fraud. All four were indicted and all pleaded guilty.

Garfield told the U.S. District Court jury that Leonard Glass, who in 1959 was an assistant U.S. attorney here handling the stock fraud investigation, "told me he thought he'd be able to help us (Garfield and friends) out of the indictment." But Glass never got a penny of payoff money, Garfield said.

GET PAYOFF

On Monday, Garfield testified that Cohn, a former aide of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and former Chief Asst. U.S. Atty. Morton S. Robson split a $50,000 payoff to keep the four men out of the indictment.

Robson, now in private practice, has denied doing anything improper. No charges have been filed against him. He says he has been subpoenaed as a defense witness in the Cohn trial.

Glass, who was Robson's subordinate during the 1959 stock fraud probe, was not immediately available for comment.

Cohn, 37, and another New York attorney, Murray E. Gottesman, 57, have not been charged with bribery. They are on trial together accused of lying to a grand jury about the alleged $50,000 payoff and other matters relating to the United Dry & Chemical Corp. stock fraud.

The conspiracy counts against them charge that they attempted to obstruct justice in the fraud case.

Italy's cement production last year was 22,043,000 tons, an increase of nine per cent over 1962.

Old Car Part in Demand

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—In demand because so great here that a Model A Ford fender changed hands four times in less than 30 minutes.

It occurred during a regional meeting of old car lovers. Cars on display ranged from 1915 models to the latest thing in 1961 Cabriolets.

Nixon to Speak at Fete

MUSKOGEE (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, has been invited by Muskogee County Republican leaders to address a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner here sometime this spring.

Why Actors Do Commercials? Money

By BOB THOMAS
Hollywood-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—"Why do they do it?" Many a television viewer asks the question on seeing distinguished actors making a pitch on a commercial.

The answer appears to be elemental. They do it for money.

How else could an actor earn $50,000 for one day's work? Advertisers will pay that much for top names.

Take the example of Edward G. Robinson. He remains one of Hollywood's most employed actors. Yet he can be seen all over the television channels savor and praisng an instant coffee. Two other noted stars, Barbara Stanwyck and Claudette Colbert, are also promoting the same product.

Robinson explains: "I hesitated about accepting the offer at first. I had never done anything that commercial, not even when I had my own radio show, 'Big Town.' But I saw nothing wrong in it—as long as the ad was in good taste and I believed in the article that was being sold."

PLEASANT EXPERIENCE

"The remuneration was very good, and that is always a consideration. Everything was done with taste. Three or four men came out from New York to supervise the filming. A replica of my den was made at a studio complete with some of my paintings. The shooting required a full day. All in all, it was a pleasant experience."

The use of well-known actors in commercials has been increasing. Some performers with instantly recognizable faces—Joe E. Brown, Buster Keaton, etc.—do their selling unaided. Others get credit for their names and, as added incentive, the movie or television series they are appearing in.

Some stars are paid a flat fee for their work, others receive a payment for each play. This can amount to big money, even for unknown performers. One actress, who has failed to make a name for herself in the dramatic realm, has earned $20,000 a year from a soap commercial. June Lockhart and her two daughters will be seen on the Academy Awards telecast April 13 making a pitch for a toothpaste.

DONE AT HOME

"It's really easy," says the actress. "The film is shot on a Saturday in our own garden and the girls don't even miss school. I get a very nice fee. The girls get union scale (about $200), but with the replays last year they earned $1,000 apiece."

There are some who believe that it is undignified for stars to sell products. Spencer Tracy, Cary Grant and others have turned down fabulous offers for commercials.

Miss Lockhart admits there are arguments against stars in ads, but she offers this rebuttal: Once she was on a panel show with H. V. Kaltenborn, who stormed over seeing Henry Fonda on a beer commercial and fired off a letter of protest to the star.

Fonda's reply: "Dear Mr. Kaltenborn, Thank you for your most interesting letter and for your interest and concern about my career. I had some taxes to pay. Sincerely, Henry Fonda."

Missile Contractor Profits Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators who studied Nike, Bomarc and Atlas missile costs disagree strongly on the profits involved. Five of them say profits ranged up to 178 per cent, two others challenge these figures.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee made its 5-2 split report yesterday on weeks of hearings which ended May 25, 1962.

The probe covered contracts over the years 1950 to 1962. The majority report, filed with the Senate by Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., figured that some of the contractors who developed and produced the missiles received profits as big as 178 per cent by "pyramiding" practices.

DISSENTING REPORTS
Dissenting reports by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., and Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., challenged these figures.

Ervin said the evidence did not sustain them.

Curtis said the committee was ignoring established methods of computing profits, and employing "retrogressive" accounting methods which gave a distorted picture.

Signing the majority report along with McClellan were Sens. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine; Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md.; and Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

NO PART
Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., were not members of the subcommittee at the time of the stormy hearings and took no part in writing the report.

The majority report voiced sharper criticism of the Pentagon for failing to hold down the profits than for the companies which got the profits.

There was no immediate Pentagon comment on the report.

The report urged President Johnson to create a "high-level study group" to devise better controls.

The majority acknowledged that the missile program was a start-from scratch pioneering effort, in which the government had to negotiate with prime contractors for over-all successful development of sophisticated new weapons systems in the shortest possible time.

It agreed this, and the fact no one could know what success would cost, ruled out cost-saving competitive bidding.

But the majority said the Pentagon should have done a better economy job.

"Methods must be devised to protect the government from the profiteering which quite naturally results when it is forced to do business with one company to the exclusion of others," the report said.

The majority alleged that prime contractors had "pyramided" profits for themselves on top of profits charged by their various "tiers" of subcontractors.

In New Resolution

Planners May Charge

It may cost property owners or developers $25 to ask for a zoning change or get an alley vacated before long. Planning Commissioners will be asked tonight to recommend a resolution proposing a system of procedures to be followed by the public and by city officials in handling matters which come before the planning commission.

One of the procedures is a $25 fee which must be paid by the person requesting any change that requires planning commission action.

Requests for vacating alleys or rezoning land, for example, would not be placed on the planning commission agenda until the $25 had been received by the city clerk.

The fee and other procedures were proposed by the city planning staff.

ADVISORY BODY

The planning commission, which is strictly an advisory body, is expected to recommend them tonight. The recommendation will then go to the City Commission, which has the final word in such matters.

Other procedures involve monthly deadlines for submitting requests and information which may be required of applicants before their requests can be heard.

"The fees," according to Henry Smith, planning commission secretary, "are standard procedure in most other cities. The proposed $25 fee is considerably lower than that required elsewhere."

He said the fee would help offset the cost of mapping and photographing areas where zoning changes are requested, legal advertisements of proposed zoning changes, the mailing of notices, and paper work involved in drafting resolutions and ordinances.

Gaiety Returns to Budapest

Hungarian Spirit of '56 Has Faded

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
BUDAPEST, Hungary — In a cemetery outside Budapest, a headstone reads: "My Big Boy, age 18, 1956."

It was a mother's final word of endearment for an only son, one of thousands who died in the holocaust of 1956 when the Hungarians rose up against Communist rule and fell beneath the tanks of Russian tanks.

NEWSOM
Yet, even a lightning visit to Budapest confirms that times have changed and that a measure of gaiety has returned to this ancient city astride the Danube.

Atop Castle Hill close by the one-time seat of Hungarian royalty is a building which in the 19th Century housed Budapest's first printing firm. Today it is a coffee house.

And there, over a dish of chocolate cake smothered in whipped cream, a non-Communist young woman is asked if under the new relaxation, freedom of political discussion is permitted.

She shrugs and replies: "We do not discuss it anymore. Instead we make jokes."

And it is a fact that in Budapest there is a nightclub featuring an act devoted to political satire, not all of it directed against the West.

WHERE ARE THEY?

"How about the young intellectuals who sparked the 1956 revolt?"

"Oh, they still complain, but now it is because they cannot get Italian shoes." And the young woman laughs.

The relaxation brought about by the regime of Janos Kadar, for whatever its reasons, evidences itself in other ways, including such touches of capitalism as the tip for services rendered.

The taxicab driver smiles a little more pleasantly when a tip is added to his fare.

IMPROVES SPIRIT

The Gypsy violin player in a state-owned restaurant plays with a bit more spirit when a 100-forin note is slipped into his pocket.

These things the regime looks upon with tolerance. Hungary's trade at the moment is almost wholly within the East Communist bloc. But for certain of its amusements and its holidays it continued to look to the West.

In the shops, better stocked than most Eastern countries, are French perfumes and English woolsens. A few still are privately owned.

BAND SINGER

In the Budapest Tancsolata, a dancing palace, also state-owned, a slender, dark-haired girl with a gamine face belts out the words to "Alexander's Rag Time Band."

When she is finished, the band swings into action for the dancing.

And on the dance floor, smartly dressed young dancers, the girls with upswep teased hair-do's go into... Twist... Twist... Twist.

Western observers credit the change in Hungary in part to the 1956 revolt which frightened Communist rulers into the knowledge that a relaxation of iron rule was necessary to prevent widespread revolt, and to a desire for the hard currency brought in by tourists.

Certainly the Kadar regime is no less Communist than the one which preceded it and in the leadery minds there must be a question as to how far this relaxation can be permitted to go. But for the Hungarians it is a welcome change.

"Before 1956," she said, "we could not have Gypsy music or coffee houses. We could not even be Hungarian."

K Sends Sympathy

Over Alaska Quake

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has sent a condolence message to President Johnson over the earthquake "in neighboring Alaska," close to Siberia.

The message, made public here today asked Johnson "to accept our profound sympathy and to convey the Soviet people's sincere condolences to the population of the affected state."

Night Drunks
Big Cause of Road Deaths

EAST LANSING (AP) — Drinking was involved in more than half the fatalities during Michigan's two worst periods for such accidents, state police report.

The conclusion was reached after a study of such accidents last year.

The worst period was from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. on Sundays with 84 fatal accidents. Of the 111 drivers involved, 56 had been drinking and six were under the influence of alcohol, police reported. The drinking status of 32 drivers was not known. The second worst period was from midnight to 3 a.m. on Saturdays with 68 fatal accidents. Of the 94 drivers involved, 49 had been drinking and nine were under the influence of alcohol, police said. The drinking status of 23 drivers was not known.

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's economy as reflected by sales and use tax collections, is continuing to boom, reports the State Revenue Department. At Planners' Meeting

Rezoning May Start Hassle

The proposed rezoning of a 15-acre parcel bounded by Michigan, Tansania, M59 freeway right-of-way and Anderson, won't be up for a public hearing tonight, but may still create some discussion when the City Planning Commission convenes at 8 p.m.

Charles L. Langs, a major developer in Pontiac's urban renewal area, requested that the land be rezoned from Residential-1 (R-1) to Residential-3 (R-3) last month so that he could build a proposed 200-unit town house-type development on the site.

The planning staff recommended the rezoning be approved contingent on Langs meeting several specifications. The planning commission disagreed, and recommended that city commissioners deny the request.

Residents of the affected area submitted a protest petition and vigorously protested the rezoning.

City commissioners eventually rejected the planning commission recommendation and an ordinance to rezone the land has been drafted.

TECHNICAL ERRORS

All zoning ordinances must be checked for technical errors and okayed by the planning commission prior to a public hearing and final action before city commissioners.

The ordinance will be up for technical approval by planning commissioners tonight. It will be subject to a public hearing and final approval at the April 14 City Commission meeting.

Notices sent to residents a few weeks ago informing them of a rehearing of Langs' request tonight should be disregarded, said Henry Smith, planning commission secretary.

A public hearing, begun last month on another rezoning request from Langs, is slated to be concluded tonight.

HOUSING PROJECT

This request is for a R-3 zoning on R-1 land south of Lake Shore School at the end of Lake Street. Langs proposes a similar 175-unit housing project there.

Last month's hearing was recessed so planners could study possible traffic problems which a housing project of that size might create in that area.

Langs has an option to buy the 15-acre parcel from the Pontiac School District if it is rezoned to allow the construction of multifamily dwellings.

In other business on tonight's agenda, planning commissioners have slated public hearings on requests for a commercial zoning on a block bounded by Mansfield, Hollywood and Kennebec, and the vacating of an alley on the property.

PARKING USE

The requests were made by Universal Oil Seal Co., which wants to use the land for off-street parking. The company is currently expanding and building on part of its present parking lot.

The new lot would replace parking area being taken for the building addition.

Hearings are also scheduled on requests for an R-3 zoning on property at 456 Mt. Clemens, and commercial zoning on parcels at 522 Oakland and 707 W. Huron.

Planning commissioners are also slated to okay an ordinance to rezone a lot at 17 Waldo from residential to commercial for use as a parking lot.

The ordinance is slated for a public hearing and final action at the April 14 city commission meeting.

Detroit Official Has Operation

DETROIT (UPI)—Alfred M. Pelham, 63, the first Negro city controller of Detroit, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis last night.

Doctors at Central Unit Grace Hospital said after the operation that Pelham was in good condition and resting comfortably.

Pelham had complained of abdominal pains for about two days, and his physician, Dr. Thomas M. Batchelor, president of the Detroit Board of Health, ordered him to the hospital early last evening for X rays.

He was operated on two hours later.

Dr. Waldo Cain, an old friend of Pelham, performed the surgery.

Pelham has resigned as city controller, effective July 1, to return to a post at Wayne State University.

Traffic on the St. Lawrence Seaway last year increased about 6 million tons.

Hike Is No Mere Feat

HELL (AP)—Boldly they hiked and well—the seven of 58 Adrian High School seniors who covered the 50 miles to Hell yesterday through snow, wind and cold.

The seven boys were the only ones who could last long enough.

All the others, including girls, dropped out.

Justice of the Peace Mel Reinhard declared, "it was really something for these kids to do."

The stunt was the second annual Easter Hike to Hell of the Adrian graduating class.

A few girls and boys arrived in late afternoon in this Livingston County town famed for its name.

Reinhard said he suspected they got rides because they showed up so soon.

Woman Fined for Kick at Ionia Prosecutor

IONIA (AP)—Accused of kicking the Ionia County prosecutor, Mrs. Alice Moore, 50, of Orleans, pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge Tuesday. She paid a fine of $19.30 and costs.

Prosecutor Walter Marks said he was kicked Monday when he sought to assist Sheriff Peter Van Vleck in arresting the woman for creating a disturbance at the prosecutor's office.

Rice, rubber, copra and cinnamon are important crops in South Viet Nam.

Woman Gets GOP Post

The Oakland County Republican party's detail work in connection with the 1964 GOP national convention is under the management of Mrs. Allen A. Strom of 1130 Wakefield, Birmingham.

County GOP chairman Charles L. Lyle said he had appointed Mrs. Strom as county coordinator for the convention.

This means, Lyle said, that Mrs. Strom will take care of requests and information on lodging, transportation, tickets and jobs for the July 13 convention in San Francisco.

Mrs. Strom said that positions as pages, assistant sergeants-at-arms and door-keepers will be assigned equally throughout the state and persons desiring consideration for them should contact her at once.

She also said that persons planning to attend the convention should contact her so that their names will be placed on the Michigan mailing list.

Shopping Center
Open Daily 8:30 A.M. to 9 P.M.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Some Molds May Cause Skin Disease

Q — What causes atopic dermatitis and how can I get rid of it?

A — It is frequently caused by the inhalation of various molds, including the very common penicillium from which penicillin is made.

They are found in the soil and are less prevalent when the ground is covered with snow and most widespread in the fall when the ground is covered with rotting vegetation.

The exact cause in your case can be determined by the usual skin tests. Desensitizing treatment is effective in most victims and is well worth trying.

Q — I have been taking Deprol tablets daily for my nerves for more than two years. Is it harmful to keep taking them?

A — You are taking a combination that contains two different kinds of tranquilizer. Two years is a long time to have to use such a crutch.

Isn't it about time you got to the root of your problem and weaned yourself away from these potentially harmful drugs?

Q — What causes cerebral ischemia? What are the symptoms and the remedy?

A — Cerebral ischemia is a lack of blood supply to the brain and the chief symptom is fainting.

It may occur as a result of getting up suddenly from lying down, from a sudden emotional shock or following a severe hemorrhage.

It may also occur in early pregnancy or as a result of an overdose of various drugs, especially insulin, and from many other causes.

No single remedy would benefit all these causes.

Q — My husband, 53, has amyotrophic lateral sclerosis and has been unable to work for the past four months. Is there any hope for his recovery?

A — This is a disease of the motor nerves of the spinal cord.

It causes muscular wasting or atrophy.

There is a slow paralysis which is progressive. The cause is unknown and as yet no cure has been found.

Q — You recently recommended giving brewer's yeast to children as a source of vitamin B. Isn't there a danger that one could get thrush by eating yeast?

A — There is a remote possibility that a person who works with yeast daily might after many years, develop a thrush-like infection, largely through inhaling the yeast spores.

True thrush is caused by an entirely different fungus. Taking brewer's yeast by mouth in the prescribed amount has not been shown to cause any type of illness.

Q — I recently had an electroencephalogram. My doctor said it showed a mild dysrhythmia. What does that mean?

A — Dysrhythmia is an abnormal alteration of the rhythmic brain waves. Persons whose dysrhythmia is mild may have petit mal attacks of epilepsy. This is epilepsy in its mildest form and in some persons the dysrhythmia may be so mild that no attacks occur or occur very rarely.

Ideas for Students to Help Themselves

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
How is school going? Grades need improvement? If so, who's to blame?

Before piling blame on the teacher, check the kind of effort the pupil is making.

Most teachers try hard to help students understand their course. They even devise homework assignments which should "force" students to master the subject.

But there is more to getting an education than just following the directions of the teacher. Success in learning is more dependent upon the student's attitude and procedures than upon the teacher's.

From the letters I receive it is evident that parents and students in all parts of the country are looking for suggestions that will help students out of the doldrums.

Here are ideas that get results. These things, the student can do without waiting for directions from the teacher.

- Occasionally review each course from the beginning.

- Think back over the previous work for a few minutes before studying new material.
- Frequently re-organize the main ideas of each course.
- After working a set of problems ask yourself what principles were used and how you can recognize this kind of a problem in a test.
- In learning a new vocabulary, train your ears to hear the words and your mind to bring up the proper pictures by saying the words aloud.
- In studying life science, biology, or anatomy, picture the meaning of all words in your mind.
- Try to determine what sort of things you are going to find out before you read.
- Read first for main ideas, then re-read for details.
- Keep your writing muscles in trim through practice.
- Revise your plan of study for each course not going well.
- Talk with more successful students than yourself regarding their study procedures.
- Make a heroic effort to salvage a low course using these steps:

beginning. Make a record of your work in a new notebook, including problems, sketches, maps or outlines. Make an appointment with your instructor. Lead through the notebook with him. Ask him specific questions. Get his suggestions as to what else you might do.

(You can obtain Prof. Nason's helpful booklet by sending $1 to Better Grades, Box 2160, General Post Office, New York City.)

Says 59ers Safe in Alaska Quake

DETROIT (AP) — The 59ers, a band of Detroiters who moved to Alaska in 1959, sent word to Detroit yesterday that Friday's devastating earthquake "made the ground roll like the sea" but caused no damage or injuries to us.

The message was from Mari-on Silk, 32, leader of the 59er colony at Talkeetna, 100 miles north of hard-hit Anchorage, to his father-in-law Robert Guy. It was relayed by telephone by a friend of Silk's.

The letters in Arch stand for Analyze the lead; Review the bidding. Count winners and losers. How can the contract be made?

West opens the ten of diamonds against your six no-trump contract and your first analysis of the lead is that it is top of a doubleton. In that case, you can win with your ace or queen, go over to dummy and finesse your nine spot.

If this finesse works you can count 12 winners consisting of the aces and kings of spades and hearts plus four tricks in each minor suit.

Further analysis reminds you that if good players is not likely to make a normal lead against a no-trump slam. Hence, you decide that West might have led the ten from a jack-ten combination.

You go back to counting winners and you see only 11 for sure. You can get the twelfth in any one of three suits.

You might as well play some clubs and three club leads leave you in dummy. You note that both opponents have followed to those three club leads and that you now have a sure thing play for your contract.

You lead dummy's ten of spades. If East plays an honor, you have three sure spade tricks, but East plays low and you do the same.

West wins the trick and at this point West is end-played in three suits. A spade lead gives you three heart tricks and a diamond gives you three diamond tricks plus the one you already have gathered in.

Q—The bidding has been:
Q—South, hold:
♠ A Q 7 6 5 ♥ A K 8 7 5 4 ♦ 4 2 ♣ A 2
What do you do?
A—Bid four no-trump. You intend to bid six hearts if your partner shows you an ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid four no-trump and your partner bids five hearts to show two aces. What do you do now?

Meet Unveils New Red Star in Shot Put

LENINGRAD (AP)—The powerful Russian track team has developed another outstanding Olympic prospect—a jazz enthusiast named Viktor Lipsnis. Lipsnis, a shot putter, got off the longest heave ever made by a Soviet athlete, an even 63 feet in the Winter Track and Field Championships of the USSR at Leningrad Indoor Stadium Tuesday.

Gavril Korobkov, the leading trainer of Soviet athletes, predicted that Lipsnis will exceed 65 feet in the shot put this season and possibly will be a contender for the gold medal in the Tokyo Olympics.

A 65-foot throw would put Lipsnis in a class with America's top shot putters, Dallas Long and Gary Gubner.

NEAR 7 FEET

One of the meet's top performances was turned in by Valery Skvortsov, a 19-year-old Olympic prospect. He won the high jump title with a leap of 6-11, defeating Olympic champion Robert Shavlakadze. Valery Brumel, Russia's world record-holder, did not compete.

Skvortsov's mark was a personal high. He made the leap on his first try, beating Andrei Khmarov, who cleared the height on his second try. Shavlakadze failed at 6-8 3/4.

Besides Lipsnis' record, two other Soviet marks were set. Gennady Blimmetov pole vaulted 15 feet, 9 inches and Davim Arkhipchuk shaved one-tenth of a second off the 300-meter record with a time of 34.6 seconds.

Dodgers' Pitching Staff Under Fire

By The Associated Press

No immediate call for reinforcements is being considered, but cause for concern may be building at Los Angeles Dodgers' headquarters over another shelling administered to the Untouchables.

For two straight days, the weak sisters of the National League Mob have fired a fusillade of hits and further shredded the Untouchable label attached to the Dodgers' four key pitchers—Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Ron Perranoski.

It was Podres' turn Tuesday as the Houston Colts roared to 11 hits around their Cocoa, Fla., base, came up with six runs in five innings and went on to a 6-3 exhibition baseball victory.

The day before, Drysdale had been subjected to a similar attack by the New York Mets, who belted the right-handed ace of the Los Angeles staff for eight hits and four earned runs in six innings.

ROUGHED UP

In all, the Big Four—credited with 74 of the Dodgers' 99 victories en route to the National League pennant last season—has been tagged for 64 hits in 59 innings.

Even Koufax has not been safe. The brilliant left-handed strikeout artist who posted a 25-5 record, pitched 11 shutouts and had a 1.88 earned run average last year has given up 21 hits in 22 innings this spring and has a 3.27 ERA.

Here's a breakdown of the Big Four's work:

IP	ER	H	B	SO	ERA
Drysdale	22	7	20	7	2.95
Koufax	22	8	21	8	3.27
Podres	9	7	17	1	7.00
Perranoski	6	2	6	2	5.00

The hitting stars for the day were three light-hitting shortstops—Ron Hansen of the Chicago White Sox, Washington's Ed Brinkman and Philadelphia's Bobby Wine.

Hansen, who hit 226 last year, slammed two homers and drove in six runs as the White Sox edged St. Louis 7-4. Brinkman, a 228 batter, stroked two doubles and three singles in the Senators' 11-5 walloping of Baltimore.

WINNING SINGLE

Wine, a .215 hitter, had been hitless in 18 previous trips to the plate when he came up in the 11th inning with the bases loaded and slashed a single that gave the Phillies a 4-3 decision over Cincinnati.

Ron Santo hit a homer and two singles in the Chicago Cubs' 6-3 triumph over Cleveland. Willie Stargell batted a two-run homer as Pittsburgh belted the New York Mets 8-4 and Milwaukee's Hank Aaron homered for Milwaukee in a 6-3 victory over Detroit.

In other games, San Francisco walloped Boston 8-1, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 5-4 in 10 innings, Minnesota shut out the Philadelphia B team 6-0 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League 5-3.

Prediction Holding True

USC Swimming Star Blossoms

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Roy Saari blossomed today as America's top Olympic prospect—and a good bet to shatter some world records.

That prophetic paragraph was written two years ago. But, except for Saari's age—he's 19 now—it's still correct.

Saari is perhaps the outstanding individual performer in the Men's National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships beginning here Thursday.

TRIPLE WINNER

For the past two years he has won three events in the AAU indoor. Last week he was the only triple winner at the National Collegiate Championships. Now he'll be trying for a third straight AAU triple.

Saari, who first burst into Olympic prominence at the AAU indoor here two years ago, holds the world's record in the 1,500-meter freestyle. He has set American records in freestyle events from 200 yards to 1,650 yards and also has set American marks in the 200 and 400-yard individual medleys.

Saari, son of an El Segundo, Calif., swimming coach and a sophomore at the University of Southern California, will be after his first victory in this meet Thursday. He's entered in both the 400-yard individual medley and 1,650-yard freestyle, both of which he won in record time last year, but is expected to choose only the longer race.

The opening-day 400-yard individual medley will feature Germany's Gerhard Hetz, holder of the world's record in the 400-meter medley.

MORE CHAMPS

Other national collegiate champions here include double winners Steve Clark of Yale in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle and Southern Cal's Bill Craig in the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke. Other college record-setters here include backstrokers Bob Bennett and Rich McGee of Southern Cal and Jed Graef of Princeton and butterfly swimmer Walt Richardson of Minnesota.

The top six Americans in each event here qualify for the Olympic trials in New York in August.

Palmer, Ex-Coach Team in Pro-Am

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer and his old college coach, Bones McKinney of Wake Forest, were to team up today for the $5,200 pro-am prelude to the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open GGO.

Palmer starred at Wake Forest during the mid 1950s and captured the Atlantic Coast Conference golf championship in 1964. McKinney coached the golf team during Palmer's heyday before devoting all his time to the basketball team.

A total of 72 professionals and their amateur partners were to tee off at 8 a.m. EST. The GGO begins Thursday and ends Sunday.

Ring Champ May Return Home if ...

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Willie the Wisp says he's ready to come home to his native New Orleans if he can line up "something good" for the future.

Actually, Willie Pastrano is back home now—training for the April 10 bout with Argentina's Gregorio Peralta, in the first defense of the light heavyweight championship he won last June 1 from Harold Johnson.

After the bout, Pastrano, born 28 years ago in the French Quarter, will go back to his wife and five children in Miami, Fla. now his legal residence.

But Pastrano, in an interview, said he's "looking for something" to enable him to come back to New Orleans.

TWIN KILLING—Philadelphia Phillies' Cookie Rojas starts a successful doubleplay against the Minnesota Twins at Orlando, Fla., yesterday. Rojas stepped on second to force Twins' Bernie Allen and tossed to first in time to nail Zoilo Versalles who is beating a fuzzy path toward first. The 'B' game attracted 485 customers. Twins won, 6-0.

Future 'Dim' for Boxing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee says boxing's future is "dim" unless it is put under a national boxing commissioner.

The subcommittee is studying whether to recommend passage of the Kefauver bill which would set up the boxing commissioner. The measure is named for the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., who headed the subcommittee until his death last year. "Anyone who has sat through the hearings can depart with only one conclusion: that if the Kefauver bill is not passed the future of boxing is a dim one indeed," Hart said.

MUST MOVE

Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., also urged passage of the Kefauver bill. He said the federal government must move in until "the fight game is rid of the leeches."

Edward Lassman, president of the World Boxing Association, said that without federal backing his organization is "hamstrung" in its efforts to clean up boxing.

Lassman said his effort to remove Clay's title, was not based on the champion's affiliation with the Black Muslim movement or because Clay is a Negro.

U-M Gridders Lose Contest on First Day

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The weather Tuesday may have made skating, or skiing, possible, but it wasn't a day on which to practice football.

And, so, the University of Michigan didn't.

Chalmers "Bump" Elliott was scheduled to greet some 90 varsity prospects at Ferry Field. But, he arose Tuesday morning, looked out his bedroom window, saw snow covering the ground, heard that the day's "high" would be 30 and promptly called off the opening "spring practice" session.

"We probably won't get started until Thursday," Elliott, said starting his sixth season at U-M, moaned. "We might try to work indoors until the weather breaks, but I doubt it."

Whitney Drain Opened to Trout Full Length

Early Season for Rainbows Set Saturday

Browns Also Legal in Certain Waters; Smelt Runs Due

Correction of an error by the Conservation Department will benefit southern Michigan steelhead fishermen when the season opens Saturday.

The department announced this week that the list of designated streams open to rainbow and brown trout fishing beginning April 4 contained an error regarding the Whitney Drain south of Tawas.

The original list showed only one section open.

This has been corrected to include the entire length of the drain from the East Branch of the Au Gres River to Lake Huron.

The mouth of the drain is a hot smelt dipping spot each spring, known to many as the Singing Bridge.

The early Rainbow season is tied in with the hoped-for peak of the trout spawning runs from the Great Lakes. The spawners generally move back into the lakes before the start of the regular season.

The regular trout season opens April 25.

COMING BACK
The rainbow runs aren't what they were before the sea lamprey nearly cleaned the Great Lakes out of trout.

The trout are coming back, however, with the chemical killings of the sea lamprey. It is hoped they eventually will make a complete recovery.

There still are some big hunks to be caught. Rainbows up to 15 pounds have been taken during the runs. Five and 10-pounders aren't uncommon but most rainbow taken during a run averages one, two and three pounds.

All is quiet along the smelt-dipping front, but it won't stay that way for long, according to the Conservation Department.

In fact, if warm rains come along shortly, water temperatures may be raised enough to trigger an early smelt rush in the state's Great Lakes tributaries and small inland streams.

Usually, these tiny little fish start moving up the Lower Peninsula's streams around May 1. Peak runs occur between and May 10 above the Straits.

Rifle Shoot at OCSC

Shooters from Michigan, Indiana and Ohio will be gunning for the Michigan State Open Rifle Championship when the firing starts at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club Saturday morning.

The two-day 22 rifle indoor event will open at 8 a. m. Saturday followed by a second session at 3 p. m. Contestants will follow the same schedule on Sunday.

Waterfowl at Sanctuary

SPECIAL TO THE PRESS
KINGSVILLE, Ont. — The spring migration of Canada geese is reaching its peak at the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary near here.

The sanctuary is open to the public every day, but Sunday and no admission is charged. The best time to see the arriving evening flights of ducks and geese is 5:30 p. m.

The ducks and geese are expected to begin moving out for northern breeding grounds in about two weeks.

At stake will be individual and team championships. Denny Wu, 28, of Ann Arbor, defending men's champion, will be on hand to try and retain the crown.

Women's champion Jill Ann Brunett of Grand Rapids, a junior at Michigan Institute of Technology, Houghton, indicated that a scheduling problem may prevent her from defending the title.

WILL NOT DEFEND
Last year's junior winner, Richard Fuhrman of Grand Rapids, is serving with the U. S. Army and will miss the event.

Three team titles are also up for grabs — men's and juniors' A and B. Robert Gubbins of Birmingham, chairman of the match, said a team from Oakland County Sportsmen's Club will be in a favorite's role in the junior B competition.

On the team are Greg Fallon of Detroit; Ken Netchey of Walled Lake; and Art Perry and Greg Walter of Pontiac. The four are entering the competition for the first time.

Gubbins said each of the 80 contestants will fire 160 rounds. Using iron sights, they will fire 20 each from the prone, kneeling, sitting and offhand positions and repeat the procedure using telescopic sights.

The championship matches are sponsored by the Sportsmen's Club and sanctioned by the Michigan State Rifle and Pistol Association.

The Sportsmen's Club is located on Waterford Road, one-quarter mile east of U. S. 10.

Walker Takes Command of Conservation Dept.

Gaylord A. Walker, deputy director of services, becomes acting head of the Conservation Department Friday.

He was appointed by the Conservation Commission to serve as interim director while a nationwide effort is made to fill the department's top post which will be vacated by Gerald E. Eddy.

Eddy is leaving the director's office after 13 years to return to his former duties as chief of the department's geological survey section.

In permanent organizational changes, six new sections will be established April 6 to strengthen the department's over-all operations.

The sections and their newly-appointed chiefs are:

Administrative services, Robert D. Burke; engineering, Harold C. MacSwain; forest fire, Milton M. Bergman; law enforcement, Everett E. Tucker; personnel, M. E. Southworth; research and development, Justin W. Leonard.

This will bring to 13 the number of sections functioning within the department. Others are fish, forestry, game, information and education, parks and recreation, geological survey and lands.

No changes will be made in the field organization of forest fire or law enforcement personnel until the fire season is over.

'Handy' Angler Wins Reversal of Conviction

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — The Alabama Supreme Court has agreed that it was perfectly all right for a man to catch fish with his bare hands.

T. H. Scott of Phil Campbell was convicted and fined $20 after state conservation officers said he was plunging his hands into Big Bear Creek and grabbing the fish.

The conviction was thrown out by the Court of Appeals. In upholding this ruling Thursday, the state Supreme Court gave no opinion but a similar case was dismissed recently on grounds that the court called "frivolous prosecution."

Smelt Dippers Eye Tiny Stream

LANSING (UPI) — The eyes and ears of thousands of Michigan smelt dippers are turned northward toward tiny Grass Creek in Antrim County.

The creek, which extends one short mile into Lake Bellaire, is considered by Conservation Department experts to be the bellweather of state smelt dipping.

Latest word from Antrim County indicates 11 inches of snow on the ground may delay the migratory spawning runs of the delicacy. The temperature has to reach about 42 degrees before the 7-9 inch, 2-and 3-year old fish begin their runs.

However, other indications across the state indicate the tradition of smelt runs starting first in Grass Creek may be broken.

MILD WEATHER

Conservation officials said, "In fact, if warm rains, come along shortly to go with March's generally mild weather, water temperatures may be raised enough to trigger an early smelt rush in the state's Great Lakes tributaries and small inland streams."

Ordinarily the fish start moving up streams in the Lower Peninsula around April 10 with the run hitting its full stride about April 20. The first major runs in the Upper Peninsula are about 10 days later with the peak occurring about May 10 above the Straits.

Tax Tips

EDITOR'S NOTE —
The following income tax information is furnished by the Internal Revenue Service as a public service.

Q: During the year, my only income was $3,000 from rent. After deducting depreciation and expenses only $500 remained from the receipts. I am single and less than 65 years old—Am I required to file an income tax return?

A: You are required to file an income tax return. Any person under 65 years of age must file a tax return, if his gross income is $600 or more. When income is from rents, the amount of gross receipts determines, if the gross income test is met, and the gross receipts were $3,000 in this case.

GM Is Sued in Auto Crash

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A Bay City man who claims a jammed motor steering unit caused his auto to crash has filed suit seeking $150,000 damages from General Motors Corp. and one of its dealers.

In a suit filed in Kalamazoo County Circuit Court against GM and Garber Buick of Bay City, Elwin L. Hulce contends he was permanently disabled and disfigured in a head-on auto crash in Kalamazoo in June, 1953.

His wife, Thelma, seeks $10,000 for loss of Hulce's companionship.

CLAIMS NEGLIGENCE

Hulce contends General Motors "carelessly and negligently designed, manufactured, tested or assembled" the power steering unit.

He also contends that after sale of the car, General Motors discovered some parts were "latently defective" but "negligently and carelessly failed to notify the owner."

Substitute Plane Returns Press to Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A substitute White House press plane brought 71 passengers—including newsmen and presidential aides—back to the capital early today.

American Airlines flew the special plane into Dallas from Tulsa, Okla., Tuesday night after the regular press plane was forced to make an emergency landing at Dallas' Love Field when a broken turbine blade knocked out one of its engines.

The malfunction was discovered shortly after the four-engine turboprop Electra took off from Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin, Tex. The newsmen had been covering President Johnson's Easter vacation at his Johnson City ranch.

Powell's Son Pulled From Sea

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell III, 17-year-old son of the Democratic congressman from New York City, alternately treaded water and floated in the Atlantic Ocean for two hours when an offshore current cut him off from the beach.

Young Powell said he was trapped by the current while skin diving with a snorkel device yesterday. He was picked up by two family friends in a boat.

Rep. Powell and the friends began searching for the boy when he failed to return to the family's ocean-front home for lunch. Young Powell's mother is pianist Hazel Scott, former wife of the congressman.

Business Failures Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Business failures rose to 299 in the week ended March 26 from 289 the previous week but were below the 329 of a year earlier, Dun & Bradstreet Inc., reported.

McCarthy Sees Self in Good Spot for VP Nomination

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota sees himself in a highly strategic position as "practically everybody's second choice" for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

The tall, handsome intellectual reasons RUTH this way: MONTGOMERY

• "Most of those who want Bobby Kennedy for vice president would favor me if he can't make it." (Like the attorney general, McCarthy is a Roman Catholic of Irish descent.)

• "The Hubert Humphrey people would not likely go to Bobby in the event Hubert loses out. They would more likely go for me, because he and I are in the same orbit." (Both McCarthy and Humphrey are liberal Democratic senators from Minnesota.)

• "It is almost certain that supporters of Adlai Stevenson would go neither for Hubert nor Bobby. I would be the most acceptable to him, because there's an identification there." (McCarthy made the presidential nominating speech for Stevenson at the 1960 convention which chose John F. Kennedy.)

• "Sargent Shriver is a liberal, Midwestern Catholic like myself, but there is not much original Shriver support for the vice presidency."

McCarthy, fully aware that President Johnson will probably designate his own running mate after conferring with party leaders, points out that his relations with LBJ are excellent.

"At the Los Angeles convention," he reminded, "Lyndon Johnson was my publicly stated second choice for the presidency, after Adlai Stevenson."

With a flash of humor, McCarthy added: "And my wife is one of Lady Bird's best friends. Everything else being equal, that may be the best reason of all."

As a matter of fact, President Johnson in a recent interview with this correspondent remarked on Lady Bird's close friendship with Abigail McCarthy, and her especial fondness for McCarthy as well.

Many political "pros" believe that when the chips are down, LBJ will feel the necessity of choosing a vice president of the Catholic faith, to retain the support of that large segment which switched from the Republican party to help elect our first Catholic president.

Of the five leading contenders for the vice presidency, McCarthy is the only one other than Robert Kennedy and his brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, who fits in that category.

One of former President Eisenhower's top White House assistants, who frankly belongs to the conservative wing of the GOP, is actively plugging McCarthy as the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

BEST RUNNING MATE
Although he plans to vote Republican, he explains his position in these terms:

"With the odds favoring Johnson's reelection, it is important to see that he has the best possible running mate in the event of another tragedy. I think McCarthy is the best qualified of the Democratic front-runners."

Reminded that McCarthy enjoys all labor support and is definitely considered a liberal, the right-of-center Republican replied calmly: "He would be highly acceptable to business as well."

He pointed out that two years ago McCarthy led the Senate fight in behalf of 42 corporations who had banded together to fight the taxation of unremitted earnings of their foreign subsidiaries at domestic tax rates.

McCarthy has also voted in favor of the depletion allowance on oil; in favor of having a private company operate our communications satellite instead of a government corporation; and in support of the position of business in the famed DuPont case concerning the divestment of General Motors stock.

McCarthy is at the same time a darling of the labor unions.

He has staunchly championed such controversial measures as medicare, minimum wage laws, increased Social Security benefits, and national unemployment compensation standards.

Asked about his occasional pro-business votes, the Minnesota senator explains: "I don't consider myself a conservative, but it's necessary to leave American industry relatively free to compete with foreign competitors and cartels. Even domestically, ours is a free enterprise system."

Like President Johnson, McCarthy may somehow have developed the knack for seeming to be all things to all men.

Lady Churchill Celebrates Her 79th Birthday

WESTERHAM, England (AP) — Lady Churchill, Sir Winston's darling Clementine, celebrated her 79th birthday at a family party today.

Her secretary said: "Lady Churchill is extremely well. She and Sir Winston have been spending the Easter holidays at Chartwell and they're both very much in the holiday mood."

The secretary said the party at the Churchill's country home was strictly a family affair.

Kowalski Hits Romney Plans

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney is doing only a halfway job on Highway Houses, says House Minority Leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit.

"He will not get eight of them in operation this year," said Kowalski in a statement. "And the ones he does get in operation will not be equipped or staffed properly."

ASKS FUNDS

Romney March 20 asked the House and Senate appropriations committees for $285,500 to put the eight units into operation before Dec. 31 in Detroit, Flint, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Traverse City and Marquette.

Of this, $135,500 is to be reimbursed to the state by committing counties, Romney said. Kowalski said the end result will be that only $143,000 in state funds will go for the eight proposed institutions, designed as an intermediate step between incarceration and freedom for youthful lawbreakers. "The governor is attempting to fleece county government by an accounting procedure whereby the counties will be paying for the capital improvement costs of setting them up for the first year as well as operation costs," Kowalski said. He said it would take at least $250,000 in state funds, plus operational costs, to set up only six Highway Houses. "Romney states that he will set up eight of them for $143,000 in state funds and also operate them," says Kowalski. "This is nonsense."

Streisand Is a 'Natural' in Her Fanny Brice Role

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Very few of the evening-gowned and dinner-jacketed celebrities who raised champagne glasses to new star Barbra Streisand when she swung into the Rainbow Room the other morning knew that she was a waitress not long ago in a Brooklyn Chinese restaurant. "Yes, it was at Chey's Orient on Nostrand Avenue in Flatbush," Barbra told me up in the Winter Garden's quite plush star's dressing room after "Fanny Girl" opened. "It was a part-time job between my 12th and 16th birthdays. I started out baby-sitting for them and worked up to waitress and cashier. "You want to hear me order? Well, there's humba—that's Chinese hamburger. And char si bow, and sill mao, and ha gow..."

WILSON

"And I used to be an usherette so I could see the show. I saw 'Sound of Music' four times. That was only four years ago. "I used to put my hand up my face and turn aside when I led people down the aisle. I was thinking, 'This could be embarrassing. One day I'll be a star and people will be remembering, 'This girl once showed me to my seat.' "Exactly that has now happened—Edith Merzian, Lauren Bacall, Jason Robards and others pronounced her the greatest gal to hit Broadway since the Fanny Brice she portrays. And Sophie Tucker even said: "She's exactly like Fanny Brice... She has the mannerisms... she even looks like her... and she never saw her... she's a natural... she can also make you laugh and cry just like Fanny could. What a star!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Carol Channing of "Hello, Dolly!" will lend her name to a Camel-shaped lollipop called a "Dollipop." Joan Shawlee, movie-mag in the Philippines, writes that the top TV show there is—"The Beverly Hillsbillies." The fishing's too good to leave, so Bing Crosby's holding his TV conferences in Mexico. Christina Paolozzi, "the bare-chested confessa," is job-hunting; she wants to be a press agent. Producer Joe Levine posed for pictures at Sam Bronston's "Roman Empire" premiere, and a viewer cracked, "He's made so many movies he doesn't remember which ones aren't his!" Dick Van Dyke explained when an actor works the hardest: "When he's negotiating a contract." Steve Lawrence helped conduct Passover's services backstage at "What Makes Sammy Run?"

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Merely going to church doesn't make you a Christian any more than going to a garage makes you an automobile." EARL'S PEARLS: If it's true, as they say, that the best things in life are free, then it must be the second-best things that are ruining our budgets. An engineer boasted that the automated machines in his office are almost human: "The computers even have their own keys to the washroom." That's earl, brother. (The Mail Syndicate, Inc.)

And Lower Blinds

Pentagon to Cut Light Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon workers have been told to lower their office window blinds before leaving for the day—apparently so passing citizens won't notice lights that are left burning.

One aim, judging from a new memo, is to help "project a favorable public image of government buildings."

The memo, circulated by the office of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, also is intended to get the Pentagon into line with President Johnson's save-on-lights campaign.

Anybody driving by the Pentagon at night had been able to see light streaming from many of its 7,000 windows.

Some of this light, of course, came from the offices of people on duty. Some came from offices being cleaned by a small army of charwomen and maintenance men.

Some obviously came from lights left burning carelessly—and the memorandum is aimed at trying to cure this.

Early today it was a different story, indicating the new order was being observed. From nearby highways, no lighted windows could be spotted.

Dated March 30, the memoranda says: "The General Services Administration is making a concerted effort to achieve economies in its building management program and to project a favorable image of government buildings."

"To this end, they have requested that defense employees 'turn out lights and lower and tilt the blinds of venetian blinds on exterior windows before leaving their offices at the end of each day.'"

SATURDAY WORK

"For those working evenings, weekends and holidays is a particularly important since the chair forces are not available to turn off lights which have been overlooked."

Asked about this, a GSA spokesman said the reason for the admonition about lowering and tilting venetian blinds was to conserve heat and thus save on heat-bills.

Why mention only "exterior windows"—the ones facing the highways? What about the thousands of windows which look out on courts from the Pentagon's inner rings, away from public view?

The mention of outside windows, wasn't GSA's idea, that agency's spokesman said.

The Pentagon has 65,000 light fixtures. They require 1,000 replacement electric bulbs each day.

So, questions of public image aside, a campaign to get thousands of windows which is bound to save money.

Barry Calls U.S. Policy 'Path Toward Suicide'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Laboring Democratic foreign policy path to suicide, campaigning Sen. Barry Goldwater insisted Tuesday night that President Johnson cannot disown the cold war course advocated by Sen. J. William Fulbright.

He said another absentee victory by Henry Cabot Lodge in the Oregon presidential primary would be "a very sad commentary on the American political mind."

BACK CHOICE

But the Arizona conservative urged his followers to band behind the Republican presidential choice next November because "whether I'm the nominee or somebody else is the nominee, anybody we nominate is better than what we have."

Without too much trouble you've managed to work up a solid distaste for world history. Your grades are poor.

Or maybe you do honestly like it, but your grades are poor anyway.

There's no point in blaming the teacher or the text; you'll change neither. The problem is that you couldn't care less. You are failing to concentrate.

Notice we didn't say you are incapable of concentrating because you can surely pay attention when you like what you're doing.

The only cure for "I couldn't care less about world history" is to care more for Number One—YOU.

GOP Pair Out to End Solon's Reign

LANSING (AP) — Two insurance men are out to put an end to the longest State Senate tenure in Michigan history, that of Sen. Elmer Porter, R-Blissfield.

Rep. Milton Knabusch, R-Monroe, today added his name to that of Virgil Eisenman of Blissfield as candidates for the Republican nomination for State Senate from the two-county 19th District.

NOT YIELDING

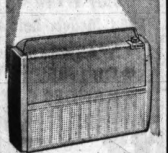

But the 75-year-old Porter, the senior and oldest member of the Senate, shows no sign of yielding to his younger challengers.

"I've got to wait and see if it's still the same district," said the white-haired farmer who represents Monroe and Lenawee counties, in a reference to the state's confusion over possible legislative reapportionment.

"But I presume my name will be on the ballot if the district is anything like it is now," Porter said.

Porter has served continuously since 1936 in the Senate. "I couldn't begin to guess how many opponents — Republicans and Democrats — I've beaten since then," says Porter.

control of ourselves, let's make a study-room check.

CHAIR. Not too comfortable, not too uncomfortable. Set your lower back firmly against the chair's back.

LIGHT. Natural light is best. If you don't have that, be sure the bulb is no less than 100 watts and that there's another nearby light source of about the same power.

NOISES. You'll enjoy that disc jockey a lot more before or after world history, not during. And vice versa.

BOOK. Don't lay it flat on the desk. Prop up the top so every part of the page is an equal distance from your eyes.

You're all set, except something's bothering you. Your girl friend or boy friend has been giving you grief lately. Or you're in some sort of trouble.

If there is anything you can do about it now, do it. Can't do it right now?

Then figure out the best thing to do and the best time to do it, and resolve to do just that. No point in worrying any more right now.

There must be someone who likes world history. The fellow who wrote the text book does. He's happy and making money from the book; you're miserable and piling up aggravation.

Do what the author did; find the good in world history for you.

TURN AROUND.
One motive would be to turn around and get the better of it, to remove one more itch from your life. Don't worry about five years from now; find motives for right now.

Maybe the prospect of shock on the teacher's face when you show up prepared tomorrow; certainly getting rid of a failure on your record should motivate you to discover some good.

Look at it this way. World history was assigned to you. The faculty had some advantage for you in mind. Ask one of them, if you have to.

Chances are you skip one of the best parts of your newspaper — world affairs. Why? Because you have no world history background to bring to your reading. There's a motive.

Solid advice, you say, but it's too late in the course. No. Take 15 minutes before you read tonight's assignment. Look at the title page. Get all you can.

Now read the table of contents and see what the book plans to cover. Read the opening and close of the preface; there the author tells you his plans. Already you've learned a good bit.

Now go through the chapters preceding tonight's homework. Study the title, the first two paragraphs, the divisions, the boldface sections; check pictures and illustrations; read the conclusions.

Do that with all the chapters till you get to your assignment. This will show you where you're going, why you're going and the things you don't know.

NOW INVOLVED

The big thing is that you have involved yourself. You've tackled world history for your own good reasons. You're beginning now to concentrate.

LBJ Cuts Communication With GOP Leaders

MAKE OVER PAGES

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has cut off direct communications with Republican Congressional leaders in possible muted reaction to their criticisms of his foreign policy course.

Not since he asked them to the White House Jan. 29 to participate with Democratic colleagues in a discussion of the Panama crisis has the President talked to either Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois or House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

This provides sharp contrast with Johnson's demonstrated desire in the first critical weeks of his presidency to court Republican support for his actions.

In that period, the President often called Dirksen on the phone a half dozen times a day, summoned him to the White House frequently and talked over with him many of the legislative and other problems that were arising.

Now, however, the phones have gone silent and the White House invitations, informal and otherwise, have ceased.

Dirksen and Halleck are inclined to attribute the two months' hiatus in communications to the fact that it is a presidential election year. Their attitude is that they can get along very well without being consulted by a Democratic chief executive.

Highly-placed Democrats are convinced that developments at and since the Jan. 29 meeting have convinced Johnson that the Republicans intend to try to make political capital out of his troubles in Panama and elsewhere.

The meeting was described by participants as disappointing, so far as it concerned development of any unity of opinion on the Panama situation. Subsequently, Dirksen and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Revolt Grows to Oust Brazil Leader

Pick Ex-Prosecutor's Aide to Serve Out Taylor's Term

By JIM DYGERT
Hitting upon an entirely unexpected solution to a political dilemma, Oklahoma County's seven Circuit Court judges today appointed Birmingham attorney Richard P. Condit as county prosecutor.

Condit immediately was sworn in to serve out the term (to the end of 1964) of George F. Taylor, whose resignation to run for Congress took effect midnight yesterday.

With the surprise appointment, the judges avoided the political implications of naming any of three announced candidates.

Southfield Board of Education, was an assistant prosecutor for four years before entering private practice last February. Condit assumed the judges—as they requested—has he would not be a candidate for election as prosecutor this fall, according to Condit and presiding Judge James S. Thornburn.

Judge Thornburn announced the appointment after an impromptu meeting of the judges this morning.

The judges had been pondering the idea of appointing Chief Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long as an interim prosecutor who would not seek election. This would avoid giving an edge at the polls to the three announced candidates.

Hare Proposes 23 Changes in Vote Laws

Considers Election on Aug. 4 Impossible; He Suggests Sept. 8

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of States James Hare is proposing at least 23 changes in state election laws and considers the Aug. 4 primary as virtually done for. He proposes a tentative Sept. 8 date.

Hare's proposals, made yesterday were the latest turn in Michigan's apportionment crisis.

Meanwhile, the state Democratic leadership, including Neil Stachler, scheduled a meeting with Gov. George W. Romney today and promised a statement on its position.

Stachler, congressman-at-large and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, held a strategy meeting with other party heads in Detroit yesterday. The group made no announcement afterward.

Hare's proposals were of a sweeping nature.

In a 28-page timetable for legislators, Hare said the Aug. 4 primary is virtually out of the question and "some change is mandatory" because of still-unresolved questions on congressional and legislative apportionment.

NOT FIXED DATE

He said Sept. 8 need not be regarded as a fixed date for the primary but might be the most logical choice. In all, Hare said, 23 changes are necessary and 14 other dates would be affected by the changes.

As Hare issued his outline, House Republicans — saying they fear the Senate may be off on the wrong foot — announced plans to introduce a congressional redistricting bill of their own.

Bell Tells Area Plans to Expand

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. today revealed it has budgeted $1,300,000 for expansion and improvement of its facilities in the Pontiac area during 1964.

Largest single expenditure will be $670,000 to make new communications devices, including Bell's push-button telephone and improved switchboards, available to local subscribers.

E. Eugene Russell, Michigan Bell Pontiac district manager, said his unit's budget is part of a statewide construction program of $83.1 million, $5 million above the 1963 outlay.

"Throughout the state, more than half the company's 1964 program — $49.1 million — has been earmarked for expansion to meet growth," said Russell. "We expect to add 110,000 telephones to the more than 3,200,000 now in use."

He stated Bell plans to spend $21,000 to modernize equipment in 19 central offices in the division, including the main office at 54 E. Huron.

ADDITIONAL AMOUNT

An additional $306,000 will be spent on outside equipment such as poles and wires to serve new subdivisions, plus about $12,000 for purchasing land and building construction.

The division's budget is a continuation of its 1963 allocations, but under the $1,319,000 it received last year.

Birmingham and Farmington are among 12 communities where Michigan Bell is introducing push-button telephones which replace the conventional dial phone.

They will be available as an extra-cost option, however, Russell explained.

SYSTEMS LINKED

Statewide, the company will link 17 more communities to the direct dialing long distance system and more exchanges will receive automatic number identification to eliminate the need for an operator to ask the number being called.

Study Shows Waterford Is 'Bedroom Community'

By JOE MULLEN
(First in a series)
Waterford Township now essentially is a "bedroom community," but indications are that greater future commercial and industrial development is likely.

This was one of many points of information drawn in a year-long basic research study of the township by the planning department and the township's planning consultants, Parkins, Rogers and Associates.

The pool of data gathered in the basic study will be combined with further research and analysis to comprise a comprehensive plan for the township to aid its orderly growth.

Financed from a federal grant through the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the comprehensive plan is scheduled for completion next January.

The basic studies phase — or the first half of the total comprehensive plan effort — merely provided information. No conclusions were drawn.

The second half of the project now in progress will include an analysis of the wealth of information, a computation of future needs, recommendations to meet these needs and suggested methods to effectuate the recommendations.

PROTECT RIO PALACE — State police man on a machine gun emplacement on the government palace grounds in Rio de Janeiro last night following a revolt which flared against left-leaning President Joao Goulart in Juiz de Fora, 80 miles to the north.

Rebel Armies Head Toward Rio de Janeiro

Goulart Still Claims Power; Sends Forces to Meet Attacker

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A revolt aimed at ousting President Joao Goulart was growing today.

Rebel leaders, declaring Brazil will not become a Cuba, reported their drive is snowballing, with armies marching toward Rio de Janeiro.

They said they are sending a general to demand the left-leaning president quit his job.

In a series of broadcasts, the rebels claimed seven of Brazil's 27 states had rallied to their banner in a drive to "lift the Red yoke" from Brazil.

His foes charge Goulart is leading the country of 71 million inhabitants to Communism by nationalization of private industry, expropriation of land and his demand to legalize the Communist party.

WORK FOR BETTERMENT

Goulart says he is only working to improve the lot of 30 million illiterate peasants.

A spokesman for the 2nd army said its commander, Gen. Amaury Kruel, would enter Rio at 1 p.m. (Pontiac time) to deliver a personal ultimatum to Goulart that he resign or be deposed.

The spokesman said troops of the 2nd army, whose headquarters are in Sao Paulo, 230 miles southwest of Rio, already were near their objective.

Another force attached to the 4th army was reported heading south from Juiz de Fora, 80 miles north of Rio, proclaimed the "Revolutionary Capital."

MEET REBELS

The government announced it was sending loyal forces out of Rio to meet the rebel columns.

The government-controlled national radio network kept up a continuous broadcast saying Goulart still held control of the armed forces throughout the country except in the state of Minas Gerais, where Juiz de Fora and Belo Horizonte are located.

It was in those cities that the uprising began yesterday.

The Goulart government asserted it controlled the 1st army based in Rio, the 3rd army at Porto Alegre and the 4th army at Recife.

SOUTHERN FORCE

The force heading south to meet Kruel's rebels was headed by Gen. Sizenio Sarmento.

The latest area to join the revolt, a rebel spokesman said, was the 5th military region which includes all the state of Parana southwest of Rio.

Sao Paulo, with 13 million population, is the country's largest state. Minas Gerais, with about 10 million, is the second largest. Parana is the fifth largest, with about 4 million.

The three states alone constitute more than one-third of the nation's population.

Say MacArthur Deteriorating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's condition has in general "deteriorated in the past 24 hours," Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today. But it said the general passed a "peaceful night."

A medical bulletin at 10:15 a.m. added that there has been a "slight drop in the blood pressure and a moderate rise in the pulse rate" of the general and that his kidney function — a complicating factor in his present condition — has "diminished progressively over the past 24 hours."

The bulletin said pressure in the tube inserted in the general's esophagus and stomach "will be released this morning."

This tube is used to control intermittent bleeding from the esophagus.

Viets Can Pursue Guerrillas Into Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam has reached an understanding with the leader of right-wing forces in Laos that will enable Vietnamese troops to strike inside Laos against Communist Viet Cong bases and supply routes, informed sources reported today.

This development was said to have resulted from a recent meeting in Dalat, the South Vietnamese hill station, between the rightist Laotian vice premier, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, and South Viet Nam's strongman premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Khanh reportedly won Phoumi's approval to a plan under which Vietnamese raiding parties can strike into Laos against predesignated Communist targets.

Elements of Phoumi's 50,000-man rightist army operate along the Vietnamese border. His 33rd Infantry Battalion is at an outpost a stone's throw from the Vietnamese outpost of Lao Bao.

Informed sources said Khanh argued that his plan to root the Viet Cong out of South Viet Nam can succeed only if Communist bases and supply routes in Laos are put out of action.

These include the Ho Chi Minh trail, an ill-defined maze of jungle trails which has long been a supply route from North Viet Nam to the Communist guerrillas.

House Fire Traps, Kills Elderly Man

A 90-year-old Farmington Township man died yesterday trapped as flames consumed most of the house in which he lived alone.

The remains of Harry S. Smith were found two hours after the fire was reported in his two-story wooden frame home at 30530 Shiawassee.

Firemen had searched the other portions of the house, but the raging fire prevented them from entering the area where Smith was found.

The large building had once been a farmhouse but is now in the center of developing subdivisions. Living alone, Smith confined his activities to only a bedroom and living room on the ground floor. His body was found between the two rooms.

Firemen are attempting to destroy the remains of the house.

The Oyster Is Sheltered for Profits

Temperamental oysters make pearls, and pearls make money for man. So man cultivates oysters.

But oysters refuse to be exploited, and unless man keeps their living conditions near-perfect, they retaliate, either by producing inferior stones or by dying.

Japanese pearl farmers, whose oysters produce most of the world's cultured pearls, have become experts at oyster-pampering.

But sometimes the pampering is not enough. Masayasu Kato, United States representative for Japan's cultured pearl industry, reports that some sizes of cultured pearls will be in short supply this year after four years of unfavorable weather which lowered production.

Everything possible is done to insure peace and quiet for the oyster while he works. The oyster creates a pearl by depositing nacre around a piece of polished shell placed in his flesh by the farmer.

While the pearl grows — a process that takes years — the oyster is kept happy, healthy, clean and in quiet water of the proper temperature and salinity.

Vitamins, complex pipe systems which keep underwater beds clean and supply food, and hospitals where the implant operation is performed are standard equipment on modern oyster farms.

Despite the care oysters receive, only about five per cent of the pearls harvested in a typical year are good enough to be called gems. And in bad years, the crop falls off sharply as the oysters refuse to produce.

An October wedding is being planned by Carol J. Aldrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Aldrich of Keego Harbor and Robert A. Machiela, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Machiela of Sylvan Lake.

Get out those cumbersome slip covers right now and give them an extra washing — let them dry in pale spring sunlight and put them on in the cool of the evening.

If you use liquid chlorine bleach in the washing, you'll see how clean they are, how sweet they smell — no musty storage odor is left.

After tasting this pie, we doubt many people will be really fooled that they're eating apples. But it's fun to try.

Mrs. Herschel Sansom, our cook, loves to experiment with recipes. She is active in church work and belongs to the Eastern Star.

Don't Get Caught Napping on Mattress

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

A friend of mine went into a store the other day to buy a mattress. She told the salesman she wanted a good mattress but didn't know just what to look for.

The salesman shrugged. "All you need to know about a mattress," he said, "is how much you want to pay."

My reaction to that kind of attitude is, "How silly can you get?" That's not all you need to know about any purchase you make — especially a mattress.

Since we spend one-third of our lives in bed, we ought to know what we're buying in the way of comfort and long wear. Price, of course, is one guide to quality — or should be. But when you lie down to rest, it's not the price tag that's going to relax you, it's what's inside that mattress.

Which brings up the question: "What does make a good mattress?"

If it's an innerspring mattress: the type of springs, the way they're tied together, the gauge of the steel they're made of.

The ticking: is it sturdy, of good weight material?

CERTAIN FIRMNESS
Firmness: whether you like a soft, medium, or hard mattress, it should have a certain firmness, as a pledge that it will hold up comfortably over the years.

The padding: it should be fleecy and lumpy.

Reinforced edges: this is done with special springs of spring construction that extends to the edges of the mattress, to keep the proper shape and comfort.

If it's a foam mattress: the fewer the airholes, the better service it will give.

It is generally supposed that the more coils in box springs, the better they are. However, manufacturers and retailers say this isn't necessarily so. The quality of the steel used can also be a deciding factor.

HOW TO JUDGE

Now — how can you, as a customer, judge a mattress before you spend your money?

There are four ways. By what you can feel, what you can see, by the questions you ask and the answers you get, and by the reputation of the maker.

The first test, of course, is to sit down and lie down on the mattress. If you're not invited to do so, go right ahead anyway. You can tell whether the mattress is soft enough or hard enough to suit your own tastes. Bounce around a bit, to judge its resiliency.

If you can look inside the mattress, so much the better. Some stores provide a display mattress with part of the ticking turned back to expose the springs, how they're tied and what type of padding is used.

SAMPLE

Or the manufacturer may supply a small sample showing the construction, as a visual aid for the customer's benefit.

See if the springs extend to the mattress edges. If it's a latex or polyurethane mattress, examine the texture of the foam. Lift the mattress if you want, since you'll be doing that regularly once you get it home.

Be sure to read labels that give you "inside information" — about the features you can't feel or see while you're in the store. Ask the salesman specific questions. In your final decision, weigh the maker's own faith in his mattress or box springs.

How many years is he willing to guarantee it for? Keep the price in mind, of course, since you can hardly expect the same service from every mattress in a price range from $40 to $200.

WHERE TO SHOP

Another point to keep in mind is this: the best place to shop for a mattress is in the mattress department. Many young couples are thinking in terms of a bedroom suite when they go shopping.

They concentrate on the type of furniture they want, note that mattress and box springs are included in the price — and that's that. These items are just taken for granted without further to do.

However, one big company that sells this type of "package deal," as well as offering mattress in a separate mattress department, says it's wisest to buy a mattress as an individual purchase — in its own department.

The first cocoa beans were from the Spanish island of Fernandopo, off Africa's west coast 1879. They were smuggled in.

Would Prefer More Positive Approach

Hart Calls Rights Bill Voting Section Modest Step Forward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of the civil rights bill argue today that its voting rights section is a modest step toward winning the ballot for more Negroes in the South.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., gave this description of the section in a prepared speech, explaining "that he personally 'would prefer a more direct and positive approach to the problem.'"

"I would prefer, in fact, that postmasters or other local federal officials be made registrars whenever it is found that state or local election machinery is supporting voting discrimination."

But he conceded that "at the moment, it appears that a majority of the Congress is not prepared to take this step."

Hart was to be joined by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., in a bipartisan presentation of the voting rights section, Title I of the House-passed bill.

Tuesday, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., delivered the only major speech on the bill, centering his attack on the voting rights section. He held the floor 6 hours and 25 minutes, longest stint in the 18 days of debate so far.

Thurmond assailed the provision which would make a sixth grade education the basis for a presumption of literacy, denouncing this as an unconstitutional invasion of the rights of the states.

Thurmond said more than 100,000 Negroes are registered to vote in his state and that he knew of no discrimination.

HULLABALOO

"It's a lot of hullabaloo over nothing," he said.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., indicated he expected more weeks of debate before any floor action develops on the bill.

He discussed at a luncheon of GOP senators the dozen amendments he is advocating to the fair employment practices section of the measure, but said more such sessions would be needed over the next two weeks before he is ready to introduce them.

He said he was not seeking to "emasculate or water down" the section, only to assure it was not made unduly harassing to businessmen.

NEGRO PATIENCE

Hart said "It is the patience of the American Negro which in many respects is the most remarkable fact of all as we look at the civil rights revolution of the 1960s."

The Michigan senator said that, despite some new powers to enforce voting rights in the 1967 and 1960 civil rights acts, the results have been highly disappointing.

The Justice Department has pursued the matter vigorously but in 100 countries in 8 Southern states, only 8.3 per cent of all Negroes of voting age were registered by 1962, he said.

In 1962, the figure was about 5 per cent so that "if the pace of the last seven years is not accelerated, it will take over 100 years to get even a majority of Negroes in the 100 counties registered," Hart declared.

The decay of tenant farming in northern Scotland is driving young people to cities.

4 Teen-Agers Found in Cave

Boys Saved in Ozarks After 12-Hour Search

By TOM PENDERGAST
JEROME, Mo. (AP) — Four teen-age boys, missing almost 12 hours in a partially explored cave in the Ozarks country of south central Missouri, were brought out safely early today.

Smiling, tired and caked with mud, Kenny Lewis, 15; Gerald Cook, Eddie Ousley and Teddy Miller, 18, all of the Rolla, Mo., area, emerged from the cave with their rescuers at 2:30 a.m.

5 VOLUNTEERS
The rescue team, four students from the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla and another volunteer, entered Bruce Cave late Tuesday night. The youths were found shortly before 2 a.m. about a half mile or so inside the narrow cavern.

"We were lost about an hour after we entered the cave," said young Lewis. "We were pretty scared for awhile but we didn't panic."

The other boys agreed there were some jittery moments. All appeared in good condition. Authorities at the scene said it was considerably warmer inside the cave than outside.

DOZEN OFFICIALS
Relatives and about a dozen law enforcement officials greeted the boys.

Gary Edgman, 16, told police he went into the cave with the other boys about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. Edgman said he came out after about 15 minutes and waited at the mouth for the others.

When they failed to return after about two hours, he notified police.

Dr. James Maxwell, adviser for a cave explorers club at the School of Mines, directed the rescue operation. Members of the rescue team were Russ Adams, 20, Neptune, N.J.; Harry Dunn, 20, Bourbon, Mo.; Nick Tibber, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Bob Kassay, 26, Rolla, and John Gebhardt, 23, Rock Port, Mo.

Good Behavior Earns City Man Jail Suspension

A Pontiac man yesterday reaped the fruits of staying out of trouble while his sentence on a larceny charge was being deferred for a year.

Circuit Court Judge William Beer granted Albert N. Mills, 30, of 377 E. Tenneyson an indefinite suspension of sentence after reviewing a probation department report that Mills had no brushes with the law during that year.

The sentence suspension amounted to closing the case. Judge Beer delayed Mills' sentencing last April under a state law permitting such delays up to a year.

Mills had pleaded guilty to larceny in a building. He originally had been charged with burglary.

CAUGHT IN OFFICE
Police said he was arrested while ransacking the office of People's Superintendent, 700 Auburn, in September, 1962.

The Female Medical College of Pennsylvania, incorporated in 1850 and opened in 1851, was the first such institution recognized in the United States. Its name was changed in 1867 to the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

To Alter Payment Schedule

Tap-In Ordinance Amended

"How can you charge me $150 for something I'm not getting?" That question caused a change in the city ordinance establishing sewer tap-in fees last night.

The tap-in ordinance was changed by a unanimous vote of the Pontiac City Commission.

Fees will now be due when a plumbing permit is issued for the actual sewer connection, rather than when a building permit is issued as was specified in the original ordinance.

The tap-in ordinance, designed to produce funds for the

Small Quake in East State

Note Tiny Tremor in New Hampshire

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — New England had an earthquake today, apparently centered in the Lake Winnepesaukee area.

Residents in the sector awakened to sounds variously described as an airplane's sonic boom, a dynamite explosion, or a long rumble like thunder.

There were no reports of damage.

Records of the quake showed on the seismograph of the Boston College seismograph station at Weston, Mass.

"A very small earthquake occurred this morning at approximately 6:31 a.m.," said the Rev. John F. Devane, chairman of the Department of Geophysics at Boston College.

"The actual earthquake was so small that the records do not permit an exact determination of the epicenter."

"The best estimate of the epicenter is that it was in the Lake Winnepesaukee area, probably near the town of Meredith."

The seismograph record tallied closely with reports from Belknap County, around the 20-mile-long New Hampshire lake.

$1,000 Stolen From City Bar by Two Bandits

A Pontiac bar was robbed of $1,000 by two bandits early this morning. An additional $135 was taken from the bartender and two customers in the holdup of Harold's Bar, 505 South Boulevard, at 1:30 a.m.

The bartender, Robert Combs, 26, of 8558 Charabane, Union Lake, said the two men entered the bar by a side entrance just before closing time. One was armed with a nickel plated revolver.

Combs and the two customers, Frank L. Zuzula, 42, of 8300 Pontiac Lake, and Les C. Stephens, 42, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were ordered to lie on the floor while the cash register and a cash box under the bar were emptied.

The wallets of the two customers were taken while Combs was emptied and left on the bar. The gunman, according to the victims, wore a black stocking over his head and appeared to be wearing glasses under the mask. His companion was wearing red gloves.

The two were sentenced by Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn.

Hewitt pleaded guilty March 16.

He was accused of taking about $100 from the Oak gas station at Auburn and Rochester roads March 6 after overpowering the attendant with a beer bottle and an oil can.

Charles L. Long, the developer, got his building permit before the original ordinance became effective and thus avoided paying a tap-in fee of several thousand dollars.

However, he doesn't have a plumbing permit yet, so he will now have to pay the fee.

MAJOR PROJECT
The amendment will effect at least one major building project in the city—a proposed 66-unit town house development on East Pike at Douglas.

Charles L. Long, the developer, got his building permit before the original ordinance became effective and thus avoided paying a tap-in fee of several thousand dollars.

However, he doesn't have a plumbing permit yet, so he will now have to pay the fee.

Pleads Guilty at Murder Trial

A former Farmington Township man yesterday pleaded guilty to murder in the Dec. 10 slaying of Mrs. Carroll Westerman, 27, a mother of four, in the trailer he was renting.

William H. Hoskins, 32, entered the plea as his trial was about to begin.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt will set the degree of guilt after hearing testimony in the case. Several witnesses were heard yesterday and more were to testify today.

Hoskins was charged with first-degree murder, which carries a mandatory life sentence.

Mrs. Westerman, of 2132 St. Francis, Farmington Township, was found dead of bullet and stab wounds in the house trailer at 21335 Rensselaer, Farmington Township.

Hoskins was arrested the next day in Kentucky where he had fled with his 12-year-old daughter. Police said he admitted killing the woman so she wouldn't have to "suffer anymore."

Hoskins and his daughter had stayed at the home of Mrs. Westerman and her husband for a few weeks previously.

Soviets Firm on Not Paying U.N. Bill

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union will not compromise on its unpaid assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East or even discuss the refusal to pay them, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said today.

Commentator Viktor Mayevsky wrote that the American-led effort to collect the assessments was "an overt line toward liquidation of the United Nations, toward undermining international cooperation."

The article recalled a Soviet statement to U.N. delegates on March 21 that continued efforts to collect the assessments might force Moscow "to reconsider our attitude toward the United Nations activity."

VOYING RIGHTS

Under Article 19 of the U.N. charter, nations owning the equivalent of two years' debts to the organization can be deprived of voting rights.

The Soviet Union owes $52.6 million. Unless at least $9 million is paid by the time the General Assembly opens next autumn, it could lose its vote in the assembly.

City Library to Be Open Four Nights

In response to public demand, City Manager John F. Reineck tonight happily announced that Pontiac's Main Public Library, 60 E. Pike, will again be open weeknights starting next Monday.

There's just one catch. The library will be largely inaccessible, unless you get there. Huckleberry Finn style up the Clinton River.

Today, City Traffic Engineer Joseph Koren announced that E. Pike will be closed to traffic between Mill and the Perimeter Road for an estimated five weeks — beginning Monday.

That's only one block, but the main library lies smack in the middle of it.

The Clinton River flows quietly along, just a few feet from the west wall of the library. The barricades will go up to allow construction of the Clinton River Drain under E. Pike.

Pike street traffic will be detoured onto the Perimeter Road and then west on Water to Perry or Saginaw, and vice versa.

FORCED CUTBACK

The new library hours are noon to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday. They had been noon to 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday since Jan. 2 when budget problems forced a cut-back.

Hours on Friday (noon to 6) and Saturday (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) will remain unchanged.

Reineck explained the new schedule is designed to give students more use of the library for reference work in the evening hours.

Two others are awaiting trial in the case.
