Candidates for the top office, township supervisor, are unopposed in the primary.

Search Plane Spots Freighter Reds Hijacked

Ship Seen on Course to Area Where Brazil's
Navy May Seize Her

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A U.S. Navy plane located the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui churning toward Brazil today. The Brazilian navy said it would seize the vessel if she entered a Brazilian port.

The American plane sighted the ship just after dawn about 180 miles north of Surinam (Dutch Guiana), steering a south-southeasterly course at 12 knots.

A Brazilian navy source said the ship's present speed and course could bring her into the Amazon River port of Belem by tomorrow.

Another possibility for entry was the northeast Brazil port of Recife, more than 1,000 miles southeast of Belem.

Later, a Navy Ministry spokesman said that on instructions from the Brazilian Foreign Ministry it had ordered Brazilian naval units in the areas of Belem and Recife to seize the ship, commanded by gunmen who identified themselves as members of a Venezuelan Communist organization engaged in terrorist activities.

The hijacking apparently was part of a campaign to force President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela to cancel a U.S. trip.

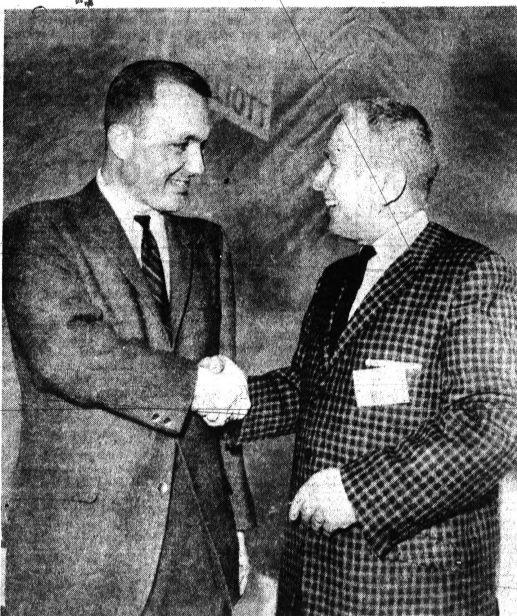

"The procedure to be followed after seizure will be determined by the Foreign Ministry in accordance with international law," the Brazilian communiqué said.

Earlier, President Joao Goulart and Foreign Minister Hermes Lima conferred at the capital of Brasilia. A high government source indicated the hijackers would be granted political asylum and that the ship would be returned to Venezuela if she steered into Brazil.

The source said the right of political asylum is a Brazilian tradition "which I do not believe will now be changed."

In Caracas, the leftist newspaper Clarin reported that the hijackers had threatened to blow up the ship if anyone tried to board her.

The newspaper said the threat was made by the hijackers in a radio message picked up by an unidentified Norwegian vessel.

ALL OVER — Candidate for state GOP chairman John Gibbs (left) shakes hands with Arthur G. Elliott Jr. after Elliott clinched the job last night. Both are from Oakland County.

County Delegation Peaceful, but Strife's Beneath Surface

GRAND RAPIDS — All was quiet and peaceful on the surface Township, said the result would active in politics, although the of the Oakland County delegation not open a rift in the county GOP, will end his full-time professional he said.

But undercurrents of remaining strife were not far beneath.

The battle for the GOP state chairmanship between Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and John A. (Jack) Gibbs, both of Oakland County, was over.

But differences dividing their supporters did not just go away. Both sides claimed early yesterday to have 110 of the county's 161 delegate votes secure in their camps.

In a straw vote of delegate preferences requested by Gov. George Romney, Elliott had 91 votes and Gibbs, 60.

Neither candidate spoke to the delegation before the vote.

County GOP chairman Charles L. Lyle predicted that party members would soon pull together and forget the contest.

SOME SCARS
But a political fight always leaves some scars.

It was quite a fight until last night.

Gibbs' campaigners — mostly from Oakland County — and Elliott's hoisters, hurried about the corridors of the Pontilind Hotel with "walkie-talkie" hand radios to coordinate their efforts.

Meanwhile, the two candidates scurried from delegation to delegation lining up votes. But they visited very few before the decisive straw vote.

Battle wounds were covered but not healed by Gibbs' withdrawal from the race last night after learning that Elliott had about the same lead among the convention's 1,553 delegates as he had in Oakland County's delegation, the convention's largest.

Lyle said there undoubtedly "will be some bitterness" among some of Gibbs' supporters. He said some of them probably would become less active in the party.

But those who lead Gibbs' campaign said they will not slow down their work for the GOP.

Unity Prevails at Convention

BY JIM DYGERT

GRAND RAPIDS — Delegates to the Republican State Convention today elected by acclamation a new state chairman, Arthur G. Elliott Jr.

Elliott's only opponent, John A. (Jack) Gibbs, his former assistant in the Oakland County GOP, last night bowed out of the race following a straw vote by state convention delegations that showed Elliott ahead.

In a show of party unity, Gibbs placed Elliott's name in nomination and urged delegates to make his election unanimous.

Gov. George Romney later told 1,553 cheering delegates that the GOP has "been handed an opportunity few political organizations have enjoyed before" because it is "a party where the people control."

Gibbs' withdrawal dispelled fears of a floor fight today at the party's state convention in the municipal auditorium here.

Republicans had hoped to avoid the kind of bitter struggle waged by Michigan Democrats over the chairmanship of their party two weeks ago.

The expected battle between Elliott, 46, of Bloomfield Hills, and Gibbs, 30, of Royal Oak, Michigan, said Republicans have a party where personal responsibility and decision is supreme.

"I feel well satisfied with the results," the governor said after it was all over. He still declined to say whom he had favored for the $21,500-a-year party leadership job.

The vote by delegations on their preferences came in response to a request by Romney.

QUALIFICATION MEETING
After meeting with party leaders for three hours yesterday to discuss chairman candidate qualifications, and possibly decide on a "consensus" choice, Romney threw the ball back to the delegates instead of naming a preference of his own.

The governor asked them to vote on whether they wished him to name a preference, and if so, to name their own preferences.

Delegates voted in favor of Romney's naming his choice by a margin about the same as Elliott's victory over Gibbs.

Although no official announcement was made on the margin of Elliott's lead, reporters indicated it was between 2-1 and 3-2.

Gibbs decided to withdraw after Romney confronted him and Elliott with the results of the tally shortly before 11 p.m.

Declaring the new constitution is not a partisan document, Romney said that no part of it was written by just Republicans or Democrats.

U.S. Fails to Break N-Deadlock

GENEVA (UPI) — U.S. Presidential Envoy William C. Foster today tried and failed in a face-to-face meeting with Kremlin trouble-shooter Vasily V. Kuznetsov to break the nuclear deadlock at the 17-nation disarmament conference, reliable sources said.

The official U.S. spokesman said the two diplomats met to set procedure for the conference of which they are co-chairmen.

The spokesman said they agreed the talks should continue with all 17 nations taking part in full plenary session.

But reliable sources said

Kuznetsov, a Soviet first deputy foreign minister, again refused to okay vital Anglo-American Soviet nuclear talks.

According to the sources, a meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev may be the only way to break the deadlock.

The sources saw no prospects for any immediate progress at the 17-nation disarmament conference here after Russia's "take-it-or-leave-it" statements yesterday. The conference resumed only last Tuesday after an eight-week recess.

Conference officials said the decisions needed to break the impasse are of such magnitude that they probably will have to come directly from Kennedy and Khrushchev.

With the conference in week-end recess, U.S. chief negotiator William C. Foster went into strategy meetings with his western colleagues to try to find a way to crack the hard Soviet position.

The Russians virtually slammed the door on worthwhile nuclear negotiations here when they told the conference yesterday the West could have a test ban only on the Kremlin's terms.

They also rejected Kennedy's plan for preventing war by accident or miscalculation.

Western delegation spokesmen branded Russia's stand "totally uncompromising."

They feared it heralded a new cold war spell in the aftermath of the Cuban crisis while the Soviet leadership ostensibly reviews its foreign policy.

Yesterday Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov-tossed the test ban initiative over to the West and said the next move is up to Washington.

He said a test ban treaty is possible only if the West accepts the Soviet position on on-site inspections and other sky points.

The United States and Britain insist that 8 to 10 on-site inspections a year in each nuclear country are necessary for foolproof policing of a test ban. Russia will permit no more than three on its territory.

In the light of the crisis developments, the United States and Britain planned fresh efforts to get the Russians back to the bargaining table in the three-nation nuclear subcommittee.

The Russians broke off negotiations in Washington Jan. 31, and have refused to resume them here.

Kuznetsov's tough approach yesterday disappointed the eight neutral delegations which have sided with the West in wanting top priority for a nuclear treaty.

They scheduled a meeting early next week to review their future course of action.

2-Car Collision Injures Five

A Waterford Township mother and her three children were among five persons injured in a two-car crash last night.

Mrs. Joseph Davis, 40, of 1380 Lorraine Drive, and her children Cindy, 9; Ferne, 14; and John, 11, are in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The driver of the other car, Donald H. Monro, 24, of 2421 Ethel St., Walled Lake, is listed in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

The accident occurred in Waterford Township on Cooley Lake Road west of Lorraine Drive about 10:30 p.m.

Sheriff deputies said Monro apparently lost control of his car and slid sideways into the path of the oncoming Davis car.

Mrs. Davis, her son John and Monroe suffered lacerations. Cindy sustained internal injuries and Ferne had a possible head injury.

State Dept. Rumor

New Post for Harriman?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman is expected to get a new top-level job at the State Department under shake-up plans now being considered by President Kennedy.

Harriman, a former ambassador to Russia and Britain, would take over the No. 3 spot at State—undersecretary for political affairs. This post is now held by George C. McGhee, who has asked Kennedy for a foreign assignment and is expected to get one.

There have been persistent reports in the past several weeks that the President is dissatisfied with the operation of the department. Replacement of McGhee by Harriman may be the first of a number of changes.

Kennedy, it is understood, would like to tighten up the department's operations to get faster results on foreign affairs issues as they arise. One move under study is the possible creation of a new undersecretary position to expedite work within the department.

Administration authorities said the two top men at State—Secretary Dean Rusk and Undersecretary George W. Ball—are not involved in realignment plans. Their roles are primarily advising the President on foreign policy.

Harriman, 71, is now assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs. A former governor of New York with almost 20 years of government service, he has been the President's special ambassador.

Cuban Boats Hit by Pirates

HAVANA (AP) — Counterrevolutionary pirates helped by Americans machine-gunned and seized two Cuban fishing boats 93 miles east of Havana and sailed northward with them, an Armed Forces Ministry communique said today.

It quoted victims of the attack as saying two Americans were in the attack boats. It blamed the seizure on "imperialist groups sheltered by North American imperialism."

The communique gave no date for the seizure but it was understood it took place early Friday of the Cuban coastal town of Cardenas.

Two brothers, identified as Armando and Ramon Lopez Ruiz, were wounded by the attackers' machine-gun fire, the communique said.

The Armed Forces Ministry did not say how the victims got ashore.

It said, however, the victims were in Cardenas and that the two brothers were receiving medical attention there.

Biggest Exhibit of Cars Open

55th Chicago Show Will Run Nine Days

CHICAGO (UPI) — The granddaddy and biggest of all new car exhibits, the 55th Annual Chicago Automobile Show, opened today for a nine-day run.

More than 450 U.S. cars, trucks and imports, arrayed in settings to rival a Hollywood production, greeted a horde of tie-kickers, door-slammers and prospective buyers who waited impatiently for the doors to open at 1 p.m.

For those not interested in the latest models from Detroit, the show also includes a bevy of beautiful girl models, a one-hour state presentation, continuous movies and several scientific exhibits.

Fred G. Litsinger, a Chicago auto dealer and president of the sponsoring Chicago Automobile Trade Association, predicted the show will draw around 800,000 persons.

Nearly 724,000 attended last February despite four days of snow and subzero weather. The record for a Chicago show was 789,734 in 1961.

The initial one in 1901 consisted of ten gas buggies, three steamers and five electric cars. Few people expected the gasoline-powered cars to survive.

Pontiac Man Burned While Fighting Fire

An elderly Pontiac man received first-degree face burns yesterday while attempting to put out a fire at his home.

The blaze was one of three that Pontiac firemen responded to in less than a two-hour period.

He is listed in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital. Damage to his house and contents was estimated at $2,000. The fire was blamed on faulty wiring.

Faulty wiring was also blamed for a fire an hour and 20 minutes later in a basement in a house occupied by M. M. Brown, 739 Hollister St.

Building damage was estimated at $1,500 and content damage, $300.

An overheated furnace was responsible for starting another fire in a home at 312 E. Wilson St., according to firemen.

Damage to the two-story home occupied by Albert Fraw was estimated to be $3,000. The fire department was called to the scene at 1:17 p.m.

Soviets Attack Author
for Stalin Era Silence

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia yesterday published letters attacking author Ilya Ehrenburg for remaining silent during the Communist purges of the Stalin era. Last month an Izvestia reviewer chided the 72-year-old author for not protesting while the Stalinist terror was going on.

Ehrenburg said a week ago that he knew of no one who protested in public while Josef Stalin was in power.

The population of the world increased by about 52 million last year.

U.S. Wants to Shrink
Its Lending Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The federal government would like to cut down on its lending business. It would like to emphasize chiefly its guaranteeing and insurance business. And it also is interested in doing away with legal ceilings on interest rates, both on its own borrowing and on some of the loans it backs for others.

Affected along with bankers and other private lenders would be future home mortgage seekers, urban and rural, and presumably in time the beneficiaries of many federal agencies that now put the funds in full or in part for civic and private objects.

The original and still central idea in the federal government's making the loans or insuring them against default is that government-backed loans can be made to many individuals or projects which would find it hard or impossible to get private financing, at least not at the comparatively easy terms Uncle Sam assures.

Government lending has expanded so much over the years that now a presidential committee is advising that the trend will be reversed. It holds that private lending should carry more of the load. It suggests the federal government step in only where private lenders won't, or where they can't without government insurance against defaults.

The administration has urged that in the case of rural housing Congress let the Farmers Home Administration change its insuring rather than making the necessary loans. This has aroused some opposition in Congress.

The presidential committee Thursday added a recommendation that the legal ceilings on government-backed home loans be removed. The committee—Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Council of Economic Advisers, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board, and former Budget Director David E. Bell—thinks Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration home mortgage terms should be more in step with the general money market conditions.

At present Congress has a ceiling on interest charges. This often has been got around by lenders through discounting the loans, which in effect raises their costs.

URGED IN VAIN

Previously the Treasury has urged in vain that ceiling on the interest it could pay on government securities be scrapped. It argued that the ceiling often can keep it out of long-term money markets. And too much involvement with short-term markets can feed monetary inflation.

The presidential committee would continue the government guaranteeing of FHA and VA home loans, but let the interest rates conform more to general conditions.

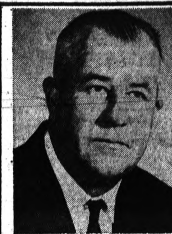

But as a general proposition it holds that direct federal loans, rather than guarantees or insurance backing private lending, should be granted only as a last resort.

A last resort might be when a project is so large that even a group of private lenders might hesitate to finance it. Or, more likely perhaps, a last resort will be when a project of whatever size, gives such slim chance of an attractive return on the loan that only the government will step in as a matter of what is deemed public interest.

The committee's suggestions will be welcomed by those who would like to see the federal government withdraw from some of its many involvements. It will run up against a lot of objectors who hold that only the government can be relied upon in many areas of social welfare.

Disguised as Policemen,
Russ Gang Robs Home

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Moscow newspaper reported Friday that an 11-man gang of Soviet robbers pulled off job after job in the northern Caucasus by masquerading as policemen. The labor newspaper Trud said gang members donned regular police uniforms, knocked on the door of a home and asked permission to search the place. During the search, they "confiscated" all valuables. All have been arrested and are to be tried.

'Children Need Both of You, Not Two Part-Time Parents'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a story like a thousand other women. I am married, have two children and keep my home together for the sake of the children. My husband stays out until all hours of the night and sometimes he doesn't come home at all. I have known for years that he has some body else.

Well, now I have somebody else, too. I want to bring it out in the open so he will confess and then I will do the same. I have thought of the children and decided they would be better off with one of us than living in a loveless home like this. If I am wrong, tell me.

FRIGHTENED
DEAR ABBY: You are wrong. Do you remember how you and your husband felt about each other when you were first married? What happened to that love? There is no lasting satisfaction in the "someone else" kind of diversion.

If you and your husband combined all the energy you spend on outside romance, yours could be a sometimes-satisfying and always-solid marriage. He has to be a marriage counselor. Children belong in a home with BOTH parents — and plenty of love.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is almost 16 and she is giving me a big headache. She has always been a very good athlete.

As far back as I can remember she has played with the boys. Baseball and football were her fun. She never played with dolls or cared for girls. The boys come around and she wrestles, boxes and roughhouses with them.

Then they tell her their troubles about liking other girls. No one ever asks her for a date. She would like to date, and I have bought her lovely feminine clothes, but no one asks her. What can I do?

A MOTHER'S HEARTACHE
DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that a girl who wrestles and boxes with the boys becomes "one of the boys" . . . and forfeits her femininity. She should start now to build a feminine image, acquire a few girl friends and leave the roughhousing to the fellows.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

FACTS ABOUT PHARMACY by HOWARD L. DELL Your Neighborhood Pharmacist

IT'S A FACT
Pneumonia, influenza, tuberculosis, and gonorrhea were the greatest threats to life fifty years ago. They accounted for one of every three deaths in the United States. Today these are well under control. Since 1930 the death rate from influenza and pneumonia has dropped 68 per cent. Tuberculosis, diphtheria, and whooping cough mortalities have been cut in half during the past two decades.

Junior Editors Quiz on DIRECTIONS

QUESTION: What were the first compasses like?

ANSWER: An ancient legend of Asia Minor tells of the discovery by a shepherd that a kind of dark stone hung to the iron end of his staff as if by magic (1).

Later it was discovered that when such a stone was suspended by a string it would point north and south. Called "loadstones" because it could lead one in a certain direction (2), this name was changed to "loadstone."

When a piece of loadstone was tied to cork and floated in a bowl of water, it became the first compass, since one end would point north. We show a Chinese junk because the first use of the compass is recorded in China in 1100 A.D., but it was used in Arabia by 1220, in Scandinavia by 1250 and in Western Europe by 1187.

It is not known which of these countries used the compass first. Soon it was found that a needle or piece of metal touched by a loadstone would become magnetized and set in the same way, so metal needles began to be used.

There is such a metal magnet underneath the card of the modern compass (3). The magnet points north because it is attracted by the North Magnetic Pole, center of earth's north-pulling magnetism.

FOR YOU TO DO: — Learn how to "box the compass," that is, to name each division or "point" on the rim of the compass card as we show it. We name all the points between north and east. (N means north, E east, so NNE means north north east). Now see if you can name points on the rest of the card.

Antitax Chief Hopeful Ballot to Carry Issue

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor George Kuhn of Berkley, head of the Vigilance Tax Committee, said yesterday there is still a faint possibility that a proposal which would ban local income taxes unless approved by residents can be placed on the April 1 ballot.

The committee, founded last spring to fight Detroit's one per cent income tax on residents and nonresidents who work in the city, has been conducting a petition drive for more than six months to try to force a statutory law against local income taxes.

About 190,000 signatures have been obtained. Kuhn said committee members will be at polling areas next Monday, primary election day, to seek additional signatures on the petitions.

A total of about 225,000 signatures is needed to force the legislature to either enact a statutory law or put the matter on the ballot for voters to decide.

Kuhn said if enough signatures can be obtained by the end of February there was a possibility the question could be put on the April 1 ballot.

Weather Harms Roads

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Highway Department disclosed yesterday that rain, ice and snow have caused more than $1 million in damage to the state's roads so far this year.

Gophers have fur-lined cheek pouches which they use for carrying food.

Dems Unveil Amendments

LANSING (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders formally announced yesterday their plan for amending the state constitution on a selective basis rather than by adoption of the proposed new constitution.

The announcement came as somewhat less than a surprise, since the basic outline of the plan had been disclosed earlier by several lawmakers.

The plan, described as part three of the Democratic legislative program for 1963, was described in a joint statement issued by State Chairman Zolton Ferency, the minority leaders of both the House and the Senate and Rep. E. D. O'Brien, chairman of the joint Democratic committee on constitutional revision.

"The Democratic plan for selective amendment shows clearly that there is a simple alternative to accepting the bad with the good in the proposed document," the statement said.

Describing their program as a "tight package," the Democrats declared:

U Thant in Jamaica for Business, Pleasure

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant arrived in Jamaica by plane Friday for a four-day visit combining business with relaxation.

After two days in the North Coast resort area, Thant will begin Monday, a round of engagements that include calls on Prime Minister Sir Alexander Bustamante and other officials.

Under the civil rights protection, the Democratic amendment: — Provide language guaranteeing equal protection of the laws, with specific protection against discrimination in employment, housing accommodations, educational opportunities and public accommodations.

— Establish protection against illegal searches and seizures exactly as provided by the U.S. constitution.

— Provide for an appeal of criminal convictions to higher courts as a matter of right.

Gives Support to Acquiring of 2 Park Areas

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority has given its support to federal acquisition and development of two park and recreation areas in Michigan.

They are the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Seashore and the proposed Pictured Rocks National seashore.

Announcement of the support came from Kenneth L. Hallenback, director of the authority who spoke for its board of commissioners.

The Huron-Clinton Authority is a five-county regional park agency serving Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Oakland County's representative on the board of commissioners is R. Clare Cummings of Pontiac.

The commissioners urged that the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes National Seashore on Lake Michigan near Traverse City and the proposed Pictured Rocks National Park on Lake Superior near Munising be adopted according to recommendations of the National Park Service.

Drive to Topple Conservatives

Labor Opens Fire at Macmillan

LONDON (UPI)—Labor party leader Harold Wilson, has opened his drive to topple Prime Minister Harold Macmillan with an attack on the ruling Conservative party for allegedly following anti-American policies.

Wilson fired what looked like the opening salvo in his campaign for Macmillan's job last night in a radio and television interview.

"At the moment, all the signs of anti-Americanism are in the Conservative party," said Wilson.

He pinpointed the Conservative party's differences on defense and economic policy as aspects that clash with President Kennedy's ideas.

The newly elected Labor chief said his plans now include arranging a visit to the United States and then one to the Soviet Union.

"I believe that the way to deal with the Russians, as with most other people, is to speak frankly and bluntly to them," he said.

The 46-year-old former Oxford economics lecturer said that he would make the Atlantic Alliance with the United States the "cornerstone" of his policy if Labor reaches power.

Wilson was elected Labor party leader Thursday night to succeed the late Hugh Gaitskill, who died Jan. 13.

A general election does not have to be called until October 1964, but recent developments have led to speculation it may come this fall or in May 1964.

Mining Expert Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—William F. Boericke, 77, former mining expert for the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Philippine government, died Thursday night of a heart attack. He had been a mining engineer with a New York investment firm.

Say Reds Help to Build Roads

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Chinese Communist coolies are building roads into Northwest Laos similar to those constructed in northern India before the Chinese push into Ladhak, reliable sources say.

Intelligence reports indicate the Chinese are engaged in other surreptitious activity on their border with neutralist Laos, including stockpiling of arms and ammunition.

The Chinese Communists have been active since December 1961 in building a road from the Yunnan province town of Mouang Mang into Phong Saly in northern Laos. An estimated 10,000 coolies have been constructing a highway suitable for light trucks. Recent reports indicate they now are working on a road between the border town of Lau Ten and Mu-forests. About 200 of the population of some 800 are directly concerned with glassmaking. The Pathet Lao forces last May during first Swedish art glass blown here the push south toward Thailand. Was made in World War I.

To Perform in Two Parts

Kirk Choir to Offer 'Mass in B Minor'

The choir of Kirk in the Hills, Bloomfield Hills, will be joined by orchestra and organ tomorrow and Feb. 24 at 4 p.m. to perform the magnificent "Mass in B Minor" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Soloists for the performances are Doralene McNelly, soprano, who has just returned to the Kirk from a tour to Russia with the Robert Shaw Chorale; Alice Sienitz, contralto; Charles Winger, tenor; and Duncan Sells, bass.

The orchestra will be composed of area musicians with Philip Steinhaus, organist, choirmaster and carillonist to the Kirk, conducting.

The "Mass," composed between 1733 and 1738, stands today as one of the most sublime and profoundly religious works in all art. It combines singular perfection of design with deep and varied emotions.

Bach's masterpiece contains 15 choruses: nine of them for five voice-parts; four for four voices; the "Sanctus" for six; and the "Osanna" for eight. In addition, there are six solo arias and three duets.

The Kyrie and Gloria sections will be sung tomorrow. The Creed, Sanctus and Agnus Dei will complete the work on Feb. 24.

The public is cordially invited to hear this musical masterpiece in its entirety. Tickets are not required, but an offering will be taken, Dr. Steinhaus said.

If you want to help your play by thinking, the time to do it is before you make mistakes, not afterwards when it is too late.

Dummy's ten of clubs held the first trick. Then South led the queen of diamonds from dummy, and after East played a small diamond, South began to think. How was he going to bring home dummy's long diamond suit? After prolonged study South played a low diamond. So did West, only he didn't have to do much studying. West had noted that South might have been playing a wise pound foolish at trick one and was going to block that diamond suit if he possibly could. South continued with the jack of diamonds, went into another huddle and let the jack ride. West look his king and led a diamond. South played on slowly, but unsuccessfully. He cashed his ace and king of spades and West dropped his jack. Then he cashed the ace and king of hearts and West dropped that jack also. Eventually, South wound up with only eight top tricks.

Had, South only bothered to think at trick one he would have overtaken dummy's ten of clubs with the ace. Then he would have led the ace of diamonds and continued the suit until West took his king. West could have led anything but South would have a sure club entry to dummy and would have wound up with four diamonds plus two tricks in each other suit for a total of 10 instead of the eight he actually made.

LUENEBURG, Germany (UPI)—West Germany will meet its NATO obligations fully, Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel said yesterday.

"We are doing everything within our power to build up a credible defense," von Hassel said.

Reflections
GEORGE WASHINGTON

According to statistics and all the rules we should have lost the war with England. All the cards were stacked against us; no experienced leadership, no disciplined army, few guns and very little powder, but we did have a superabundance of love for home, loyalty and fierce indelible patriotism.

For eight years that army fought when they should have run, lived off the land, beat red wax and down hill, across meadows and behind rock walls with love of homeland as their motivating force. Washington loved those men as if each one was a brother; they were brothers fighting for an ideal—a freedom to determine their course of action.

As President he showed the same consideration for the people who would enjoy the land he won. We call him "Father of our Country." He was. He did the impossible, both in war and as administrator of a new loosely designated confederation and made a Nation out of it.

Observe February 22nd with all the patriotism in your heart. It's George Washington's birthday.

Broker Indicated on 14 Counts in Detroit Swindle

DETROIT (UPI)—An employee of a stock brokerage firm has been charged in a 14-count indictment by a federal grand jury in a $443,000 stock swindle.

Accused is Joseph D. Vetrano, 38, Detroit, who according to U.S. Attorney Lawrence Gubow framed the scheme over a four-year period.

The 14-count indictment charging violations of the federal securities act and mail fraud ended a nine-month investigation by Securities and Exchange Commission agents and federal officers.

Vetrano, a father of six, had been employed with the Manley, Bennett & Co. here as a cashier and salesman for 12 years.

Barton W. Morris, assistant U.S. attorney said that Vetrano converted, pledged, sold and misappropriated securities belonging to the firm's clients.

3 Die in Monroe Blast
MONROE (AP)—An explosion at a home in Monroe's East Side today killed two women and injured a child.

Iraq Searches for Opponents

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—Troops and armed civilian "national guards" pressed their search throughout Baghdad today for stray opponents of the eight-day old revolutionary government.

Unconfirmed reports said the new regime of President Abdul Salam Aref has set up detention areas outside the city to handle the large number of arrests.

Sporadic fighting has taken place almost every night since the revolt, but a dust-to-dust curfew makes it impossible for newsmen to check the areas of the gunfire exchanges.

Troops have been scouting house-to-house across the city for opponents of the Rebels who ousted straggling Premier Gen. Abdel Karim Kassam on Feb. 8. Many Communists have been arrested.

A tight censorship has been imposed on all news dispatches leaving the country.

Radio correspondents report that they have been ordered to use the word "anarchist" in place of "Communist" in their broadcasts.

Red Nation Raises Ire of Africans

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A group of Ethiopian students has filed a complaint with the United Nations against the Communist country charging racial discrimination.

Hundreds more African students were reported waiting for funds or transportation to enable them to get out.

Six Ethiopian students arrived in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Friday night and reported to their embassy there. The Ghanians flew to Amsterdam earlier Friday.

The Ethiopian ambassador in Belgrade, Petras Sahlin, said the whereabouts of another Ethiopian student was unknown since he and six other students were arrested by Bulgarian police Monday as leaders of the banned All-African Students' Union.

Police and militia beat some students when they staged a parade Tuesday protesting the arrests.

Radio Ghana quoted the Ghanaian Ambassador to Sofia as saying he believed all African students in Bulgaria—about 400—would leave. The ambassador, J. L. Appah Sampson, said in Amsterdam where he accompanied the Ghanaian group, that all would have left already if they had the money.

"We have been called black monkeys and jungle people and we were treated like dirt," one of the Ghanians, Robert Kotey, 25, said.

Enlistments, he said, will start next week in Miami. Training is due to begin in March at Army, Navy and Air Force bases.

Home Stands as Landmark background for LIVING

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Walking into the Earl Mastick's old home on Lone Tree Road near Highland is like entering a stately mansion of a century ago. Its large portico that reaches out over the driveway like a protective arm against bad weather makes today's modern car ports seem fragile. Every one of the thousands of cut stones that went into the house and overhang was hauled from fields of the 200-acre farm many years ago.

The framework timbers were cut from the farm woods. The walls, of solid stone and mortar, are two feet thick, which gives added strength against the elements. That's one of the reasons why after a hundred years, the house still stands — a proud landmark of Michigan history.

When Mrs. Mastick's great-grandfather, Squire Washington Rowe, brought his young bride from New York in 1835, the land was fiercely rugged. Indians and wild animals lurked in the dense woods.

The young bride must have shuddered at the vast wilderness, but she settled down in the squire's log cabin at Rowe Lake and helped her husband whip the land into usability.

NEEDED ROOM

When the last of the couple's eight children was born, the Rowses decided they needed more room and built the huge house on a nearby hill. The land had been good to the determined couple, and the very best workmanship and materials went into their new home.

After the Rowses were gone, there came a succession of other owners. Finally, the squire's great-granddaughter Mrs. Mastick and her husband bought and restored the mansion.

Today it is furnished as it was originally. Or maybe better.

What was once the main sitting room is now used as a sitting-dining room. Ceilings are high, and windows and doors are deep-set due to the immensely thick stone walls. Cherry wood commodes, tables and chairs are tastefully arranged throughout the entire house. Shining colored crucets are perched where sunlight pierces them like rainbow beams.

On the west side of the house is the parlor. White ruffled curtains like fluffy clouds hang at the extra-high and wide windows.

Here again is an almost huge room — just as the squire had planned all should be. Small furniture would be lost amid the rare antiques handed down from the Rowe and Mastick families.

The kitchen, although remodeled for modern-day use, retains the period atmosphere of the entire house. On the east wall, the original leaded glass doors swing open to cupboard shelves filled with dainty, hand-painted pieces, milk glass and Staffordshire china.

An Early American brown and yellow print wallpaper is set off by pale yellow wainscoting. Sunshine streams through yellow cafe curtains, and even when it's dreary outside, this room stays cheerful.

Small patterned red and white wallpaper leads the guest upstairs to two big bedrooms. Again, yellows and browns prevail, accenting the solid maple and cherry furniture and white woodwork.

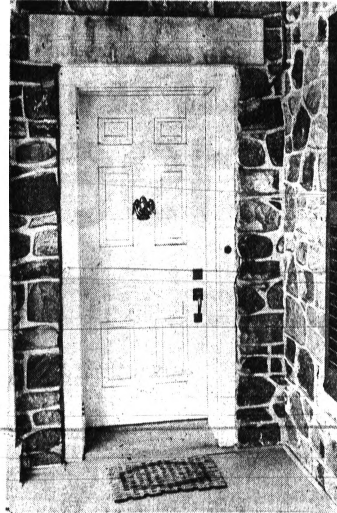

MEMENTO OF CAREER

After serving 21 terms as Highland supervisor, Squire Rowe became a representative in the legislature. In 1865, when the Emancipation Proclamation was issued for state ratification, each member of the House and Senate received a hand-made copy of the document. The squire's now-yellowed copy is framed and has an honored spot in the Mastick den.

Rare old glass, lovely heirloom furniture and tastefully decorated rooms makes this home truly one of the showplaces of Oakland County.

VICTORIAN TOUCH—Some of the refined grace and beauty of the Victorian era is felt in the white marble-topped table and two red velvet side chairs in the parlor of the great Mastick home. The old candelabrum sparkles in front of the gold-framed mirror as the western sun streams through the ruffled curtains in the deep, recessed windows. There are six such windows in this room.

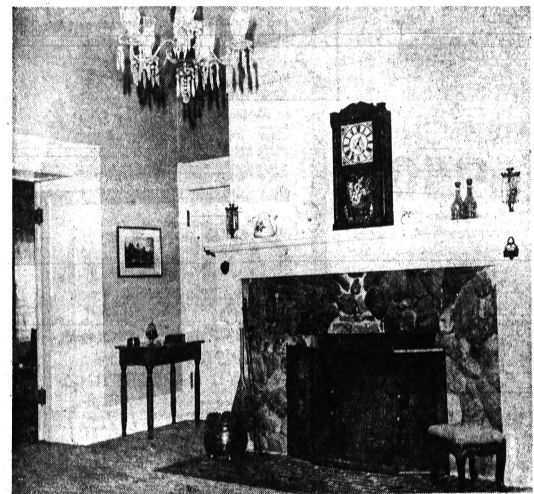

WELCOME DOORWAY—There's something about walking through a deeply recessed door that gives a feeling of warm welcome.

MUSICAL SPOT—In days gone by, this old rosewood piano tinkled out tunes that are still familiar today. Its tone matches the rich beauty of its hand-carved exterior. Once this area was a tiny bedroom, but the Masticks didn't need another bedroom downstairs so tore out the wall to make a perfect setting for the piano. Cane-backed chairs, velvet and crystal abound in this lovely parlor.

OLD WITH NEW—The chandelier is a reproduction of an elegant lighting fixture of other years, but everything else in this sitting room is authentic. The clock ticks away the minutes and chimes out the hours.

COZY CORNER—When the cold wind howls outside the big farmhouse kitchen, it's always cheery inside. The pale yellow of the wainscoting matches the background of the Early American brown and white print on the walls.

SERENE READING AREA—Mr. Mastick, just home from his position as an employee of the South Lyon bank, relaxes in an old Lincoln rocker in the sitting room.

The British, who drive on the left side of the road, list assets on the right side of a financial balance sheet, contrary to American custom.

Ceiling Boards Lend Drama

'Suspended' System Transforms a Room

If you are like many Americans today, you're actively engaged in home improvement projects or are having a contractor update your home. The trend to modernization in older homes has transformed countless kitchens and bathrooms into bright modern areas and has created family rooms where dirty basements or out-moded living areas once stood. Among the dramatic new products available to the home handyman or the professional contractor is a suspended ceiling system. Now designed with a new patterned acoustical boards, flat luminous panels, and a steel grid network, these high-fashion ceilings give even greater opportunities for custom tailoring to home owners' individual tastes and room requirements.

Patterned Sonocor ceiling boards feature beige mist and gold swirl designs. Beige mist is a subtle small-scale beige tone over a white background. Gold swirl offers a graceful swirl on white background. Acoustical boards with white facing are also available as well as ribbed luminous ceiling panels and an aluminum grid network.

Applications include glamorous all-luminous bathroom ceilings and acoustical/luminous treatments in kitchens and family rooms. The suspended ceiling system offers many advantages for home remodeling and is especially suited for lowering the height of ceilings in older homes and for concealing pipes, ducts, wiring and other obstructions while still retaining accessibility.

Sonocor is made of light, warp-free acoustical insulation—an ideal material for sound absorption because noise is trapped by millions of dead air cells formed by the maze of glass fibers. The boards are faced with a textured plastic film which can easily be wiped clean and never needs repainting.

Fiberglass luminous ceiling panels are composed of glass fibers-reinforced acrylic resin. They provide maximum light diffusion, eliminate most shadows and soften direct and reflected glare when used for an entire ceiling or in combination with the acoustical panels.

Enjoy Summer Greenery With Winter Planters

You can enjoy the freshness and greenery of summer 'til the year around with a charming greenhouse kitchen featuring an herb garden. Planters made of colorful, waterproof ceramic tile and placed at various places in the kitchen will grow many things—rose and lemon geraniums, parsley, chives, mint and all sorts of fascinating herbs. Such a kitchen provides not only an interesting decorative scheme, but also an opportunity for the homemaker to use her green thumb throughout the winter.

The largest reserves of uranium ore so far discovered in the nation are in New Mexico.

YOU CAN MAKE—The lamp pictured here with NBC's television actress Kathryn Harrow was designed to harmonize with practically all interiors. It may be used for reading or for atmosphere and what is more, it's very inexpensive when you build it yourself. A small piece of wood is all that you need for the frame. The shade may be made from parchment, fibre glass or any one of dozens of materials available at your local variety store. For example, you might wish to make the shade from your favorite map, if you do, the pattern tells you how. The possibilities for this project are endless. Furthermore, it's an easy project when you use the full size pattern. Just trace, saw and assemble. To obtain the full size lamp pattern number 304 send 50 cents by coin, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

Matchboxes to the Sky

Raps Today's Buildings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Architect Edward Durell Stone says he is getting tired and impatient with the symbols of our modern culture — the matchbox-shaped steel and glass building that seems to be reaching for the sky.

He questioned whether it adds beauty to a city's outline. He even suggests that these office and apartment buildings are based on engineering principles contrary to the laws of nature.

The famous architect brought up the subject when he was here to discuss a new "town center" which he designed for a site in nearby suburban Maryland.

Stone said he was concerned about the fact that the "glass box" building spree seems to be spreading from New York to other cities, including Washington.

"It seems to me these all-glass and metal buildings are very poorly adapted to the traditions of this city," he said. "It is now possible to see the idea of the glass and metal buildings has become very stereotyped indeed. It is possible just to buy the buildings right out of the catalog."

"I call it Sweet's catalog architecture — practically unnecessary to do any work."

Stone said that if this trend isn't checked, the nation's cities are going to start to look pretty dismal. He pointed out that all of these new structures have to be heated and cooled, and illuminated with lights that burn all day.

"In other words," he added, "they are built in absolute violation of all the laws of nature."

NEW SWING
Stone thinks the pendulum of architectural fashion is starting to swing in the other direction, in favor of a "realistic appraisal" of wall and window relationship.

Right now, he said, the only reasons windows are built in these structures are to permit inhabitants to look out occasionally to relieve possible pangs of claustrophobia.

He said the younger generation probably already has forgotten these windows were used for ventilating and natural light.

He said the office building which he planned for the town center here tries to bring back some of this fashion by designing windows for "vision balance."

Among other new features, it reverses the proportion of masonry to glass that seems to be the fashion these days.

Stone said that a person standing or working at a desk will be looking out of a window. He said this helps reduce that hemmed-in feeling.

Sneaky Auto Steals Space

A sneak thief is stealing at least 200 square feet of potential living and storage space right from under the noses of many home owners.

The culprit is the family automobile (and the garage it is housed in), based on a width of 10 feet and length of 20 feet for garages. If yours is a two-car family, then the larceny is twice as grand.

The enormity of the crime becomes clear when you realize that the shelter lavished on the car could house space for at least four household needs.

For example, the car could be backed out, the garage floor surfaced with waterproof and dent-proof ceramic tile, laundry appliances shifted from bathroom or kitchen — and voila! a laundry room.

Another prospective beneficiary of the liberated space is the family's junior division. What better place for rounding up miniature cowboys and girls on rainy, broiling or freezing days?

The family with a budding machinist or cabinetmaker also is a family that needs space for hand saws, lathes and chisels.

Most garages are wired for at least one lighting fixture, and can be converted to handle power requirements of most power tools.

Last but not least, the new-found space holds promise of storing such staple family items as bicycles, fishing tackle, porch and lawn furniture, baby carriages and garden equipment.

Building Extra Room? Try Electric Heating

Building an extra room on your present house? Many homeowners who have added a new bedroom, bathroom or den to an existing residence have taken advantage of electricity as a source of heat.

When electric heat is used, there are no pipes nor ducts to run to the new area, only an electric wire. Electric baseboard, heating cable embedded in the ceiling or electric wall insert heaters all make good methods of providing warmth to new rooms added to a house.

PCH Breezes to 8th Straight by Whipping Flint Central, 69-50

Chiefs Leave Little Doubt About Ability

Henry Nets 21 Points, Hodge 20 in Lopsided Victory at Flint

By DON VOGEL
FLINT — Any doubts other members of the Saginaw Valley Conference may have had about Pontiac Central's basketball team were erased here last night.

The Chiefs made believers even out of their severest critics by breezing past Flint Central 69-50.

It was the eighth straight win for the Chiefs and left them in sole possession of second place in the SVC standings. The lopsided outcome:

- 1. Bounced Flint Central out of a tie for second place and eliminated the Indians from title contention.
- 2. Was the first defeat suffered by the Tribe in Bellenger Field House this season.
- 3. Corrected one of the setbacks on PCH's 9-4 overall record.

Flint Central had defeated PCH 45-44 at Pontiac earlier in the season.

Probably knocked 7th ranked FC out of the top 10 in Class A and moved PCH up from 11th.

TITLE CHANCE

The Chiefs still have a mathematical chance of tying Arthur Hill for the championship. But the Lumberjacks would have to lose to both Flint Southwestern and Central in the remaining SVC games while the Chiefs were winding up with wins over Midland and Flint Northern.

Unless Flint Central shows vast improvement over its performance last night, the Indians will not be able to knock off Arthur Hill at Saginaw.

"Our boys just love to play in Flint," chortled PCH manager Art Van Ryzin. "They always play well in this gym."

The Chiefs gunned down the Tribe much the same way they routed Saginaw earlier in the season — with deadly outside shooting.

Flint Central used a sinking man-to-man defense early in the game in an attempt to shut out Les Hardiman who went into the pivot as McKinley Jones became the No. 6 player.

The strategy backfired when Jesse Hodge banged in three straight 30-footers and Ray San added one from the quarter for an 8-3 Pontiac lead.

Hodge continued his deadly shooting during the first half, hitting 6 of 9 long-tosses for 18 points as the Chiefs sprinted to an insurmountable 49-21 at halftime lead.

The Flint defenders finally moved out on Hodge late in the second quarter, but this opened the channel for Gerald Henry to ram in three layup shots.

The Chiefs hit 10 of 15 shots in the first quarter and wound up with 17 for 32 for the half. They had 27 for 55 in the game for 49.8 per cent.

BOTTLED UP

The Pontiac defense kept the Indians so effectively bottled up that the five Flint Central scorers scored only four field goals and coach Joe Dowdy finally banished them to the bench with two minutes gone in the third period.

Hodge was held in check during the second half and wound up with 20 points. Henry continued to rip through the Tribe and ended with 21 markers.

The Chiefs were outbounced 35-33, but it made slight difference. Hardiman led PCH on the board with 13 rebounds. He also hit 12 points.

PCH's Junior varsity lost a three point lead with 20 seconds to play in overtime and Flint Central closed a 59-57 win.

NO BASKET — Dan Greig (31) didn't score a field goal on this play Friday for West Bloomfield, but he may have drawn a foul shot or two. Bloomfield Hills' Roger Stewart (15) has blocked off the basket very neatly while teammate Brian Bish (11) trails the play. Greig did score 11 markers in the two-point triumph for the Lakers.

Farmington Has Hope in Inter-Lakes Race look easy by trouncing Berkley 54-41.

With Neal Watkins cleaning the boards for 17 rebounds and connecting for 17 points, Walled Lake led all the way. The Vikings made a 52-20 edge in rebounds and clinched the contest with a 29-point final period.

Doug Walters helped the cause with 13 points. The Vikings and Berkley are now in a third place tie, 4-4, and Walled Lake is 5-9 for the season.

Farmington's big front line controlled the boards and the bucket in defeating Southfield, 71-58.

Chuck Gaddie hit for 31 points and picked off 12 rebounds, while big Walt Grimalda grabbed 24 rebounds and added 16 points. Dale Pitcock scored 11.

Southfield received good scoring balance with four in double figures, but it wasn't enough. Harry Glass has 19, Joe Considine 14, Jerry Hough 13 and Dennis Lamb 13.

Fate, in the form of the Oxford Wildcats, played a cruel trick on Millington High School's basketball squad last night.

Losers of 27 consecutive games, the Cardinals stayed with Oxford all the way only to lose 57-55 in overtime when Bob Claycomb sank the winning basket as time ran out in the extra session.

Oxford trailed by three points entering the final quarter but came back to knot the score, 51-51, in regulation time.

The Wildcats jumped into a 55-1 margin but Millington stormed back to knot the count on two free throws by Norm Stange with five seconds remaining. Claycomb then sank his jump shot and the game ended before the Cardinals could fire off another shot.

Seven-Point Dan Marlowe took 12 points for Oxford while Claycomb's winning basket gave him a total of 14. The halftime score was 26-25, Oxford.

Lakers Hand Bloomfield Hills Big Setback, 52-50

West Bloomfield in Driver's Seat

By JERE CRAIG

field Hills last night and now is in the driver's seat in the title fight in the Wayne-Oakland League and it couldn't be at a better time.

The Lakers started slow but the victory moved West Bloomfield into a full game ahead of the most to grab a 53-50 tense pack with two games remaining in the struggle from arch rival Bloom on the schedule. The losing Barons fell a half-game behind victorious Holly into third place but could move into a runnerup tie by defeating Milford tonight at home.

Additional loop action Friday saw Holly win at Northville 39-31; Milford beat Clarenceville, 62-40; and Clarkson slipped past Brighton, 44-37.

The game at Keego Harbor was a tense struggle that saw a full house arrive early and roar at every play in both the varsity and reserve games. (The Barons reserves lost, 51-50, for the first time in a game that was every bit as exciting as the varsity contest.)

In the main event, Bloomfield Hills rolled to a 16-9 advantage in the first quarter but couldn't maintain its momentum in the next stanza.

FIVE STRAIGHT POINTS

The home team hit a string of five straight points early in the second quarter and then hit eight more in a row in the period's later stages to hold a 28-26 half-time advantage.

West Bloomfield built up its biggest lead midway through the third quarter at 37-30 but the Barons fought back and trailed by two when Roger Stewart hit a corner shot just before the buzzer.

The action slowed down considerably at the beginning of the last period. The visitors regained the lead at 6:07 on a foul shot by Stewart, relinquished it to a Charlie Robinson bucket 26 seconds later and led for the last time, 42-41, when center Bill Calhoun hit a shot with 3:38 left.

Bill Ellison tipped in the go-ahead rebound for the Lakers five seconds later and added two more crucial baskets in the final two minutes as the winners staved off the final rallying efforts of Bloomfield Hills.

The final two (and winning) points were scored by Robinson and Dan Greig on foul shots with 32 and 15 seconds left to play.

Strong rebounding work by substitute Bob Aumacher and Ellison helped the winners' cause immensely in the closing minutes. Aumacher was an offensive hero as he scored 15 points to lead all Lakers.

Calhoun was the game's outstanding player hitting eight very crucial last period points for the Lakers and 19 in all. He teamed with Jay Debandt to give West Bloomfield's front line a lot of trouble on the backboards.

Foul shots played a big role in the game. Both scored points for the Lakers with 12 out of 20 field goals but 12 out of 26 for the Lakers from the charity stripe were better than Bloomfield Hills' 10 out of 14.

But again Hook committed a brazen theft and went all the way for the layup in part of a three-point play. Rochester pressed within two, 49-47, with a minute to play before Bill Graham shot the door with a final bucket.

Graham, a six-foot sophomore forward, led the Captains with 15 points. Hook accounted for 13 and Bob Rogers scored 11, nine in the decisive third period.

Rochester's Ed Wright was top scorer with 21 points and Chuck Lepore added 15.

ERA Champ Is Worried

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The American League's stingiest pitcher, its earned run champion, Hank Aguirre reported to the Tigers' early camp five days before schedule today with a haunting doubt.

"Who knows? We're going to find out. This is the first time I ever came here with a spot on the staff."

Aguirre enjoyed his only successful major league season last year at 30. His 2.21 era was the major league's best. And his 16 victories more than doubled his total accomplishment in seven previous major league seasons. He even had two base hits—his only hits in three years.

"I'm not satisfied because I got a big raise, I'm not in orbit because I had a good season," said the Detroit left hander. "I'm not a star, I'm just a guy trying to win a job."

"And if my arm is fine and I'm healthy, I don't see why there should be any difference from last year."

Aguirre and 19 game winner Jim Bunning are the only pitchers all set this early in manager Bob Scheffing's starting rotation.

Jones Eyes Indoor Hurdle Mark

Pontiac Ace Seeks No. 41 at Louisville

Beatty, Brumel Set World Marks During New York Games

From Our News Wires

Pontiac's Hayes Jones goes after another record tonight in the Louisville Mason-Dixon Games.

The Olympics hurdler tied Harrison Dillard's record of 40 straight indoor victories last night at San Francisco.

Jones won his specialty, the 60-yard high hurdles, with ease.

Jim Beatty, America's mighty mile of the mile, and Russian high jumper Valery Brumel, who matched world record performances, both set new world record targets for themselves today.

For the pin-sized Beatty, whose 3:58.5 race set an indoor mark for the mile in the New York A. C. meet last night, the target is the world outdoor mile record of 3:54.4.

For Brumel, whose 7 foot, 4 inch jump surpassed his own indoor record of 7-3 1/2, the aim is to top his own pending world outdoor mark of 7-5 1/2.

But Beatty and Brumel picked different dates for their targets. Beatty admits that the rest of the indoor season "is not as important to me as last year," and he wants to break New Zealander Peter Snell's mile record outdoors "sometime" this year.

Brumel, however, figures he can top his 7-5 1/2 best-ever, indoors or outdoors, before his current U.S. indoor tour ends.

The two world record performances highlighted a brilliant meet that also saw five meet records before the near-capacity crowd of 15,176.

Brumel, after flipping over 7-4 on his first try, tried 7-5 1/2 three times, narrowly missing twice and knocking it off on the way up the other time.

Most brilliant of the meet records was an 8:39.0 two-mile by Bruce Kidd of Toronto, Ont., the second fastest indoor 2-mile in history and his career best. Only the world indoor mark of 8:34.4 by Murray Halberg of New Zealand is better.

INDOOR RECORD — Valery Brumel of Russia clears the bar at 7 feet 4 inches to establish a world indoor high jump record in the New York Athletic Club games last night. He broke his own mark of 7 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Minnesota Six Rallies

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota moved into second place in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association race last night by crushing Michigan State 7-1 in a ragged game before 5,115.

Indiana Beats 'M' Swimmers

28th Straight Win for Hoosiers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana University's swimmers made Michigan their 28th straight dual meet victim Friday night, 81-42, and set one American indoor record and four NCAA records in the process.

Ted Stickle took the 400-yard individual medley in 4:18.6 against his own U.S. and national collegiate record of 4:20.4.

Fred Schmidt won the 200 butterfly in 1:55.3, erasing the 1:57.3 NCAA mark set two years ago by Mike Troy, another Indiana swimmer.

Larry Schulhof of Indiana finished second to Schmidt in 1:55.9.

Schmidt, Schulhof as a freestyler, backstroke Tom Stock and breaststroke Ken Nakasone won the 400-yard medley relay in 3:38.9 against Ohio State's year-old NCAA record of 3:37.6.

Schmidt also was on the winning 400 relay team.

Chet Jastremski won the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:12.7. Ron Clark of Michigan set the NCAA record of 3:13.4 in 1961.

TEACHER

Have you ever stopped to consider the role teachers have played in your life—how they have figured in the shaping of your ideas, interests, and convictions? Next to parents, no one deals more intimately than teachers with a youngster's talents and deficiencies, failures and achievements during the crucial, formative, early years.

How well our children will do tomorrow, what kind of a living and life they will make for themselves, will depend largely upon how often and how much each citizen pitches in to help improve our schools and to make teaching more effective. Parents who insist on nothing less than the best education for their children and their neighbor's children must be willing to pay for high-quality professional leadership. Equally important, they must donate their efforts—willingly, eager, and often—to help publicize school progress and problems in every community in this nation.

The American teacher is a highly trained professional worker and a member of one of the most important professions. He understands children, is competent in his subject area, and he knows how to teach.

This is one of a series of Michigan Press Association Education features published as a public service by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Education Association.

Search Plane Spots Freighter Brazil-Bound

Ship Apparently Has Abandoned Hopes of Sailing to Cuba

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The Brazilian Navy announced today it would seize the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui if she entered a Brazilian port.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A U.S. Navy search plane spotted the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui steaming down the coast of South America today. The hijackers, who have identified themselves as members of a Communist terrorist organization, appeared to be on a course toward Brazil.

A Navy P-2V based at Jacksonville, Fla., reported to Washington it sighted the ship about 180 miles north of Dutch Guiana steering a south-southeasterly course at 12 knots.

The plane was attempting to make contact with the ship by blinker light and radio, the U.S. defense department reported.

The terrorists, who seized the ship Tuesday, apparently gave up any chance of trying to sail past the coast of Brazil.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government had offered the nine Communist gunmen asylum if the ship could reach Cuba.

STATE PURPOSE

The Venezuelan Communist members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), announced their purpose in seizing the Anzoategui on its trip to the United States was to bring their cause against President Romulo Betancourt to the attention of the world.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the Anzoategui's course was 150 degrees and its location at the time of the sighting 9 degrees, 9 minutes north latitude and 54 degrees, 14 minutes west longitude.

When seized, the government shipping company, owners of Anzoategui, said she had enough fuel for a 15-day journey. It said her top speed was 15 knots.

ALL OVER — Candidate for state GOP chairman John Gibbs (left) shakes hands with Arthur G. Elliott Jr. after Elliott clinched the job last night. Both are from Oakland County.

County Delegation Peaceful, but Strife's Beneath Surface

GRAND RAPIDS — All was quiet and peaceful on the surface Tuesday, said the result would active in politics, although he of the Oakland County delegation not open a rift in the county GOP, said end his full-time professional life here today.

But undercurrents of remaining strife were not far beneath.

The battle for the GOP state chairmanship between Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and John A. (Jack) Gibbs, both of Oakland County, was over.

But differences dividing their supporters did not just go away. Both sides claimed early yesterday to have 110 of the county's 161 delegate votes secure in their camps.

In a straw vote of delegate preferences requested by Gov. George Romney, Elliott had 91 votes and Gibbs, 60.

Neither candidate spoke to the delegation before the vote. County GOP chairman Charles La Lye predicted that party members would soon pull together and forget the contest.

SOME SCARS

But a political fight always leaves some scars. It was quite a fight until last night.

Gibbs' campaigners — mostly from Oakland County — and Elliott's boosters, hurried about the corridors of the Pontilind Hotel with "walkie-talkie" hand radios to coordinate their efforts.

Meanwhile, the two candidates scurried from delegation to delegation lining up votes. But they visited very few before the decisive straw vote.

Battle-wounds were covered but not healed by Gibbs' with-hitting Michigan, but the State withdrawal from the race last night Health Department still is cautious after learning that Elliott had been about calling it Asian flu.

Two cases of the true Asian flu have been found in Ann Arbor. Both were students who picked up the germ on an Eastern holiday.

The flu is sweeping rapidly from east to west carried by victims who "see it among others," a health department expert explained.

But those who lead Gibbs' campaign said they will not show down their work for the GOP. The loser's campaign manager

Victory Comes in Straw Vote

Delegates to the Republican State Convention today elected Arthur G. Elliott Jr. by acclamation as new state chairman.

BY JIM DYGERT

GRAND RAPIDS — Arthur G. Elliott Jr., manager of Gov. George Romney's triumphant campaign last fall, had a clear path today to a victory of his own as Republican state chairman.

Elliott's only opponent, John A. (Jack) Gibbs, his former assistant in the Oakland County GOP, bowed out of the race last night following a straw vote by state convention delegations that showed Elliott ahead.

Although no official announcement was made on the margin of Elliott's lead, reports indicated it was between 2-1 and 3-2.

Gibbs' withdrawal dispelled fears of a floor fight today at the party's state convention in the municipal auditorium here.

Republicans had hoped to avoid the kind of bitter struggle waged by Michigan Democrats over the chairmanship of their party two weeks ago.

The expected battle between Elliott, 46, of Bloomfield Hills, and Gibbs, 30, of Royal Oak, fizzled without Romney's indicating a preference for either candidate.

"I feel well satisfied with the results," the governor said after it was all over. He still declined to say whom he had favored for the $21,500 - a year party leadership job.

Gibbs, in a show of party unity, said he would place Elliott's name in nomination today and urged the delegates "to make his selection unanimous."

The vote by delegations on their preferences came in response to a request by Romney.

QUALIFICATION MEETING
After meeting with party leaders for three hours yesterday to discuss chairman candidate qualifications, and possibly decide on a "consensus" choice, Romney threw the ball back to the delegates instead of naming a preference of his own.

The governor asked them to vote on whether they wished him to name a preference, and if so, to name their own preferences.

Delegates voted in favor of Romney's naming his choice by a margin about the same as Elliott's victory over Gibbs.

Gibbs decided to withdraw after Romney confronted him and Elliott with the results of the tally shortly before 11 p.m.

Elliott, Oakland County GOP chairman from 1957-61, said: "Knowing the fine gentleman that Jack is, I knew he wouldn't take (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

New Position for Harriman?

Expected to Get High State Dept. Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman is expected to get a new top-level job at the State Department under shake-up plans now being considered by President Kennedy.

Harriman, a former ambassador to Russia and Britain, would take over the no. 3 spot at State — undersecretary for political affairs. This post is now held by George C. McGhee, who has asked Kennedy for a foreign assignment and is expected to get one.

There have been persistent reports in the past several weeks that the President is dissatisfied with the operation of the department. Replacement of McGhee by Harriman may be the first of a number of changes.

SEEKS FASTER RESULTS

Kennedy, it is understood, would like to tighten up the department's operations to get faster results on foreign affairs issues as they arise.

One move under study is the possible creation of a new undersecretary position to expedite work within the department.

Administration authorities said the two top men at State — Secretary Dean Rusk and Undersecretary George W. Ball — are not involved in realignment plans. Their roles are primarily advising the President on foreign policy.

Harriman, 71, is now assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs. A former governor of New York with almost 20 years of government service, he has been the President's special roving ambassador.

Other state departments reported more than normal but not unusual absenteeism.

Gordon Eadie, Wayne County health officer, reported growing absenteeism in the Detroit city job area.

N-Ban Hinging on Summit of Ks?

GENEVA (UPI)—A Kennedy-Khrushchev summit meeting may be the only way to break the lightning East-West deadlock on disarmament and nuclear war, tests, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources saw no prospects for any immediate progress at the 17-nation disarmament conference here after Russia's "take-it-or-leave-it" statements yesterday. The conference resumed only last Tuesday after an eight-week recess.

Conference officials said the decisions made to break the impasse are of such magnitude plan for preventing war by action they probably will have to deal or miscalculation.

come directly from Kennedy and Khrushchev.

With the conference in week-end recess, U.S. chief negotiator William C. Foster went into strategy meetings with his western colleagues to try to find a way to crack the hard Soviet position.

The Russians visibly slammed the door on worthwhile nuclear negotiations here when they told the conference yesterday the West could have a test ban only on the Kremlin's terms.

They also rejected Kennedy's proposals for preventing war by action they probably will have to deal or miscalculation.

Western delegation spokesmen branded Russia's stand "totally uncompromising."

They feared it heralded a new cold war spell in the aftermath of the Cuban crisis while the Soviet leadership ostensibly reviews its foreign policy.

Yesterday Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov tossed the test ban initiative over to the West and said the next move is up to Washington.

He said a test ban treaty is possible only if the West accepts the Soviet position on on-site inspections and other sky points.

The United States and Britain insist that the 10 on-site inspections a year in each nuclear country are necessary for foolproof policing of a test ban. Russia will permit no more than three on its territory.

In the light of the crisis developments, the United States and Britain planned fresh efforts to get the Russians back to the bargaining table in the three-nation nuclear subcommittee.

The Russians broke off negotiations in Washington Jan. 31, and have refused to resume them here.

Foster hoped to meet face-to-face with Kuznetsov before leaving Wednesday for Washington to receive an honorary degree at George Washington University.

The U.S. negotiator was expected to confer with President Kennedy before returning here Feb. 25.

There appeared to be no doubt that the Russians, echoed by their east European satellites, intended to drag out their speech-making tactics for a further propaganda drive.

Kuznetsov's tough approach yesterday disappointed the eight neutral delegations which have sided with the West in wanting top priority for a nuclear treaty. They scheduled a meeting early next week to review their future course of action.

The Soviet negotiator made clear in his speech yesterday that Moscow would not budge from the quota of three on-site inspections and three unmanned "black box" tremor-monitored devices.

Spain Detains Frenchmen

From Our News Wires

MADRID — At least four members of the French Secret Army Organization have been detained in Spain, government sources said today. The move followed the fourth attempt to assassinate French President Charles de Gaulle in 17 months.

Names of those held were not released. Earlier, government sources confirmed that former Col. Jean Gardes, one of the leaders of the Secret Army, had been arrested in Spain.

The moves appeared to be part of a general roundup of elements opposing de Gaulle.

Military and police forces in Paris said Friday they broke up a plot to shoot de Gaulle, arrested at least three military officers and a woman, and launched a hunt across France for others.

The would-be assassins "planned to shoot the 72-year-old

Cuban Boats Hit by Pirates

HAVANA (AP) — Counterrevolutionary pirates helped by Americans machine-gunned and seized two Cuban fishing boats 93 miles east of Havana and sailed northward with them, an Armed Forces Ministry communiqué said today.

It quoted victims of the attack as saying two Americans were in the attack boats. It blamed the seizure on "mercenary groups sheltered by North American imperialism."

The communiqué gave no date for the seizure but it was understood it took place early Friday of the Cuban coastal town of Cardenas.

Two brothers, identified as Armando and Ramon Lopez Ruiz, were wounded by the attackers' machinegun fire, the communiqué said.

The Armed Forces Ministry did not say how the victims got ashore.

It said, however, the victims were in Cardenas and that the two brothers were receiving medical attention there.

Studebaker Will Begin to Install Seat Belts

CHICAGO (AP) — Studebaker Corp. has announced that starting March 1 all of its cars will be equipped with seat belts.

While all auto manufacturers have installed seat belt anchors for the past two model years, Studebaker is the first passenger car maker to equip all cars with the belts.

Sherwood Egbert, company president, said if customers don't want the belts, dealers could remove them, thus resulting in a saving of $9.

He had said he would depart from professional politics if his bid for chairmanship failed.

Gibbs' efforts toward unity in party ranks failed, however, to conceal the disappointment of his supporters.

Many of them claimed the straw vote came before Gibbs had a chance to campaign in person to a few delegates.

They also grumbled that Romney's promise of an open convention was not strictly kept because the issue was resolved without going to the convention floor.

Gibbs entered the race after receiving assurances from the governor that he had no preference, and wanted an open convention.

There was little doubt that association with politics after the April 1 election.

He is currently executive assistant to retiring state GOP chairman George F. Van Peer, and the party's statewide campaign coordinator.

Criticism of Lyle was brewing among some of Gibbs' backers who charged the county chairman did not stay neutral, but actively worked for Elliott.

Lyle said, however, that he did not attempt to influence anyone for Elliott. He only expressed his personal opinion in favor of his predecessor when asked, he said.

Lyle became county chairman in 1961, after Elliott had held the post for four years. Gibbs was executive secretary of the county GOP while Elliott was chairman.

Opinions differ among county

Republicans as to whether Elliott or Gibbs deserves more credit for building the county GOP organization into one of the state's most powerful during the 1967-68 period.

Also at the caucus, delegates elected four representatives to the Republican State Central Committee from the 18th Congressional District (Oakland County).

The four were James Dickerson, 720 Westwood St., Birmingham; Palmer Bundy, 6261 Eaton Road, Davisburg; Mrs. Robert Lowry, 1420 Ashover Drive, Bloomfield Township; incumbent, and Mrs. Charles Campbell, 4294 South Shore Drive, Waterford Township.

James L. Ockerman

Select, Honor Officer of Year

Patrolman James Lewis Ockerman Sr. of the Pontiac police department was honored yesterday as "Officer of the Year" at an Exchange Club luncheon in the Waldron Hotel.

A veteran of 19 years with the department, Ockerman received a trophy at the noon event held annually as a climax to National Crime Prevention Week.

Ockerman, 39, was selected for the award by fellow officers in a departmental vote. He holds five citations and two interdepartmental awards.

A World War II Navy veteran, Ockerman and his wife, Betty, have two children; a daughter, Peggy Ann, 20; and a son, James Jr., 18. They live at 179 Oneida Road.

Biggest Exhibit of Cars Open

55th Chicago Show Will Run Nine Days

CHICAGO (UPI) — The granddaddy and biggest of all new car exhibits, the 55th Annual Chicago Automobile Show, opened today for a nine-day run.

More than 450 U.S. cars, trucks and imports, arrayed in settings to rival a Hollywood production, greeted a horde of tire-kickers, door-slammers and prospective buyers who waited impatiently for the doors to open at 1 p.m.

For those not interested in the latest models from Detroit, the show also includes a bevy of beautiful girl models, a one-hour state presentation, continuous movies and several scientific exhibits.

Fred G. Litsinger, a Chicago auto dealer and president of the sponsoring Chicago Automobile Trade Association, predicted the show will draw around 800,000 persons.

Nearly 724,000 attended last February despite four days of snow and subzero weather. The record for a Chicago show was 789,734 in 1961.

The initial one in 1901 consisted of two gas buggies, three steamers and five electric cars. Few people expected the gasoline-powered cars to survive.

'Children Need Both of You, Not Two Part-Time Parents'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a story like a thousand other women. I am married, have two children and keeping my home together for the sake of the children.

My husband stays out until all hours of the night and sometimes he doesn't come home at all. I have known for years that he has somebody else.

Well, now I have somebody else, too. I want to bring it out in the open so he will confess and then I will do the same. I have thought of the children and decided they would be better off with one of us than living in a loveless home like this. If I am wrong, tell me.

DEAR FRIGHTENED: You are wrong. Do you remember how you and your husband felt about each other when you were first married? What happened to that love? There is no lasting satisfaction in the "someone else" kind of diversion.

If you and your husband combined all the energy you spend on outside romance, yours could be a sometimes-satisfying and always-solid marriage. He thee to a marriage counselor. Children belong in a home with BOTH parents — and plenty of love.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is almost 16 and she is giving me a big heartache. She has always been a very good athlete.

As far back as I can remember she has played with the boys. Baseball and football were her fun. She never played with dolls or cared for girls. The boys come around and she wrestles, boxes and roughhouses with them.

Then they tell her their troubles about liking other girls. No one ever asks her for a date. She would like to date, and I have bought her lovely feminine clothes, but no one asks her. What can I do?

A MOTHER'S HEARTACHE

DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that a girl who wrestles and boxes with the boys becomes "one of the boys" . . . and forfeits her femininity. She should start now to build a feminine image, acquire a few girl friends and leave the roughhousing to the fellows.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

and the sending of medicine to the missions.

Tuberculosis, diphtheria, and whooping cough mortalities have been cut in half during the past two decades.
