Second Highest in Firm's History

GM '56 Payroll Is $2,895,000,000

General Motors employes earned a total of $2,895,768,446 in 1956, bringing the corporation's payroll for the year to the second-highest in its history, officials said today.

The worldwide figures cover an average of 599,243 workers, according to President Harlow H. Curtice and Board chairman Albert Bradley. Average hourly earnings by the firm's U. S. employes were $2.48, also a new record.

Employes working at GM plants in Pontiac earned a total of $147,252,563, final official figures revealed today. Local employment reached 27,915 during the year.

The corporation's best year was 1955 when its worldwide complement of 624,011 workers earned a total of $3,127,145,514.

The report, issued in advance of GM's annual financial statement, said an average of 371,296 wage earners in the corporation's U. S. plants had total payrolls of $1,865,720,044 during 1956; that they worked an average 39-hour week and their average weekly earnings were $96.63.

In the record year of 1955, U.S. hourly-rated employes of General Motors averaged 410,022 and payrolls $2,183,398,483. The report said that during the fourth quarter of 1956, marked by increased production schedules incident to new model assemblies, hourly earnings went even higher.

In the car, truck, body and assembly divisions, it said, wage earners had average weekly earnings of $109.33 for the quarter. This was an hourly average of $2.66. The wage earners worked an average of 41.3 hours per week during the period.

During 1956, the report added, GM made payments of $40,655,453 into supplemental unemployment benefit plans in the United States. This brought the GM total paid into such funds to $62,790,658 since their inception.

U.S. School Aid Not Necessary, Says Schimmel

State Met Own Needs, Pontiac Educator Tells House Group

Minimizing the state's need for federal aid to schools, Louis H. Schimmel, president of the Pontiac Board of Education, yesterday stated in Washington that "Michigan met and solved its school building finance problem nearly two years ago."

In testimony before the House subcommittee on general education, Schimmel credited a 1955 constitutional amendment and supplemental legislation that enabled school districts to avoid "burdensome terms of payment" for new classrooms.

Schimmel, a member of the Pontiac board 20 years and considered a municipal finance expert, was a champion in obtaining laws he believes compensated for "an outmoded constitutional limitation on tax rates that forced taxpayers to pay in seven to 10 years the entire cost of new buildings that would serve the community 30-40 years or longer."

Federal aid, Schimmel said, may be needed by "those areas of the nation that cannot do what Michigan has done."

But "lack of financial capacity" did not underlie the problem of adequately financing Michigan's public school buildings, Schimmel stated. Rather, he maintained, it was "lack of determination to marshal the 'know how' to get the job done intelligently and efficiently."

CITES FACTORS

He cited "facts, research and expert knowledge" in solving governmental problems "through informed and intelligent lay leadership."

"When Michigan public schools opened in September, 1954," Schimmel testified, "it was apparent the shortage of classrooms that had been predicted for several years was a reality.

"The emergency required that

Eisenhower Declares Withdrawal of Troops Must Be Enforced

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower stood ready to help the United Nations "pressure" Israel into withdrawing its forces from Egyptian territory today—whether or not Congress approves.

The chief executive gave his answer to the controversial sanctions question last night in a dramatic radio-television address to the American people.

He declared:

"I believe that — in the interests of peace — the United Nations has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel to comply with the withdrawal resolutions."

Eisenhower stated his position a few hours after hearing congressional leaders voice vigorous opposition to employing sanctions against Israel at a White House conference.

laration on Israel in an address tonight to the Knesset (Parliament).

The announcement was made as the Cabinet discussed the Middle East crisis with Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to the United States.

He arrived by plane at 2:30 a.m. to give a first-hand report on his negotiations with U. S. officials.

Israel so far has refused to withdraw from the Gaza and Aqaba areas without firm guarantees against renewal of Egyptian attacks.

MESSAGE FROM IKE

A Foreign Ministry spokesman in Jerusalem confirmed that Ben-Gurion had received another personal message from Eisenhower, again calling for Israel's withdrawal from Egyptian territory.

The spokesman said Ben-Gurion replied that the Cabinet meeting today would decide Israel's policy.

Eisenhower called this a "fateful moment" for the U. N. and its influence in world affairs, declaring that "the future of the United Nations and peace in the Middle East may be at stake."

After recounting a long series of efforts to get Israel to agree to withdraw its forces, Eisenhower, in last night's talk, made this assertion:

Return to Work Halted on Docks

ILA President Bradley Rescinds Own Order of Back to Job Demand

NEW YORK (INS) — Back to work orders for 45,000 east coast longshoremen were withdrawn today because of a contract dispute in Baltimore.

An end to the eight-day strike which had paralyzed North Atlantic ports was indicated last night when International Longshoremen's Association President William V. Bradley ordered all dockers back by 8 a.m. (EST) today.

This morning, however, Bradley declared:

"The men will not go back to work until the Baltimore situation is straightened out."

Although some longshoremen in Boston and other New England ports had returned, no other ports were working.

Harold Bowers, business agent of Local 824, which handles the big luxury liners at west side docks, in Manhattan, ordered his men to stay off the piers, and said:

"We have said we don't work until all ports from Maine to Virginia are back at work and we don't double cross anyone."

Beck to Extend Stay

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Dave Beck, head of the big International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said today he will be busy attending union meetings in Europe until the end of March.

Study May Solve City Water Plight

Where the city of Pontiac should seek a much-needed auxiliary water supply is expected to be contained in a study being completed by the National Sanitation Foundation for the Supervisors Inter-County Committee.

"From this survey," City Manager Walter K. Willman said, "we hope to get a determination where our best sources of supply will be for the long pull."

Willman attended a meeting in Detroit yesterday where industrial, civic, and business leaders from six counties heard a preliminary water report from the foundation's Board of Engineer Consultants.

The survey is expected to be submitted to the six-county group March 28.

The committee, composed of supervisors from Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw, and St. Clair Counties, asked for the survey in December of 1955. It was started last February.

SHOW 6 COUNTIES

It is expected to show the six counties how their water, sewage, and drainage can best be served as far ahead as 1990.

"The big deal for us out of the survey is the water," Willman said.

He said the city is in the market for additional water to serve an increasing population and industrial consumption. He stressed that the "water table" has dropped nearly five feet annually.

Willman said three alternatives exist for the city. One is the purchase of water from Detroit in its growing project to supply water to suburban communities.

An Oakland-Macomb Authority proposed merger with private capital and a joint deal with Port Huron are other alternatives.

"Regardless of where we go," he said, "we have to get industry's backing as it consumes 60 per cent of our water."

Banks, Some Offices to Close Tomorrow

Both city banks, Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., county offices, and the Post Office and its branches, will be closed tomorrow in observance of George Washington's birthday.

City offices will remain open, it was announced.

Leslie H. Dean, acting postmaster, said there would be no regular mail deliveries.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's office, said the office would remain open Friday to permit the purchase of 1957 license plates.

DETROIT (INS) — Motorists are warned against buying cheap brackets to hold the new 1957 front license plates. Detroit police say the cheap brackets fall off easily —they have found 388 lost tags. The recovered plates have been returned to the Secretary of State's office.

U.N. Will Delay Vote on Mideast

U.S. Appeals to Israel to Leave; Opposition to Sanctions Mounts

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)— The General Assembly held up its showdown Middle East debate until tomorrow afternoon to await results of renewed U. S. efforts to secure Israel's withdrawal from Egypt and the Gaza Strip.

The U. S. request for a 24-hour delay in the Assembly meeting was granted on the heels of authoritative reports that President Eisenhower had sent a new urgent appeal to Premier David Ben-Gurion to order Israeli troops back behind the 1949 armistice lines by nightfall.

Elsewhere in the Western camp, opposition to sanctions mounted. Denmark announced she would not vote for sanctions and a similar stand was expected from the other four Scandinavian countries.

France was expected to fight such penalties. Canada and Australia were also opposed.

Although U. S. support is necessary to make any sanctions resolution effective, two-thirds of the 80-nation Assembly — or 54 nations — must vote for the resolution to secure its adoption.

Minimum Speed to Start

DETROIT (AP) — Forty-mile-an-hour minimum speeds go into effect on the Ford and Lodge expressways in Detroit Monday. Police said they would allow for "sufficient indoctrination" before ticketing slow drivers. The maximum speed on the expressways is 55 miles an hour.

Many Seek Public Aid

Squeeze on Bus Lines Is Threat to Survival

From many parts of the nation comes evidence that bus operators are finding the going harder and harder, and are appealing for public assistance to remain in business. Below are three news dispatches on situations typical in many areas:

LANSING—A novel formula for continued operation of local transit service here by Inter-City Coach Line Co. is under consideration by the city council.

Developed by R. F. Mears, president and general manager of the bus company and a member of the American Transit Association's Small Operations Division Administrative Committee, the formula, among other things, provides for fare or schedule adjustments or direct payments by the city to the company when the operating ratio exceeds 93.5 per cent.

Mears said the permanency of bus transportation in Lansing hinges on the city's decision with respect to this plan.

CHICAGO — The Chicago transit authority board has proposed tax subsidies amounting to 25½ million dollars a year, which would be used to improve the rapid transit system and to help the authority meet some of its operating expenses.

The subsidies would be provided by a 1 cent increase in the gasoline tax and a special tax on real estate and personal property in the CTA area.

BOSTON — Several bills have been introduced recently in the Massachusetts Legislature to provide tax relief for transit companies.

One of the Recess Commission's proposals was "that the local board of assessors may abate in whole or in part the excise on any motor bus garaged in its municipality provided the application for abatement is accompanied by a certificate from the Department of Public Utilities showing that the 'operating ratio' of said company is 93 per cent or greater."

This tax has cost transit companies approximately $215,000 per year.

Sec. Wilson Reveals New Strong Defense

U.S. Jet Interceptors to Use Atomic Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is prepared to use atomic explosions high in the air to blast down any attacking enemy bombers.

The Defense Department disclosed last night not only that atomic rockets have been developed for that purpose, but that they have been made available to air defense forces in this country.

The present rockets are designed for firing from jet fighter-interceptors. Nuclear weapons are to be provided later for ground firing from antiaircraft defense positions.

The department sought to minimize the possible danger from the rockets, both in storage near cities and in use high in the air.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said the weapons "provide by far the most effective form of defense against air attack." He said they can "destroy aircraft within a considerable distance from the point of burst," meaning no direct hit or near miss is necessary.

GIVES ASSURANCE

The Pentagon declined, on grounds of military security, to say either just where the weapons are stored or what they are like.

In its unprecedented disclosure of a military secret, the government sought to forestall anxiety by saying that:

1. "Elaborate precautions have been taken in the design and handling" of the weapons to minimize the possibility of accident.

2. Tests made by the Atomic Energy Commission confirm that "the possibility of any nuclear explosion occurring either by impact (apparently something like a missile falling off a truck or accidentally dropping from a plane) or fire is virtually nonexistent."

3. Stored weapons don't emit dangerous radiation to persons living nearby or passing locations where weapons are located.

4. If the weapons must someday be used against enemy bombers, they would be exploded at such high altitude that people or property on the ground would not be in danger from blast, heat or radiation.

The Pentagon recalled that a high-altitude test of a nuclear explosion was made in 1955 at the Nevada Proving Grounds and that no damage or injury resulted.

In the Pentagon statement there was a hint that while the atomic rockets are now being distributed only for use in defense of the United States itself, they may be sent outside the country later for defense of perimeters or overseas bases. The announcement said that "what further deployments into other areas will be called for is still a matter for study."

There has been speculation that the rockets referred to by Wilson are true guided missiles, developed within the past two years and not generally known.

The missile presumably is somewhat the dimensions of the warhead for an atomic artillery shell, probably between 8 and 10 inches in diameter.

Waterford Township Man Gets State Driving Award

A Waterford Township truck driver who saved the life of an eighteen-month-old girl has been honored as the driver of the year by the Michigan Trucking Assn.

Eugene Sutphen, 43, of 6789 Maceday Dr., received the award last night from Gov. G. Mennen Williams at a banquet in Lansing.

Sutphen, who drives for the White Owl Express, Inc. of Pontiac, saved Sheila Kaplan of Detroit on May 8, 1956.

Her parents and a brother had been killed instantly when their car hit a viaduct on U.S. 12 near Plymouth.

The girl had been thrown from the burning car into the busy highway, and Sutphen carried her to safety, before extinguishing the fire.

Sutphen has an 18-year safe driving record, having rolled up 1,260,000 trouble-free miles.

Here's Essence of Ike's Talk on Crucial Sanctions Issue

WASHINGTON (INS) — Here are the highlights of President Eisenhower's address on the Middle East situation:

"I believe that — in the interests of peace — the United Nations has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel to comply with the withdrawal resolutions."

"If the United Nations once admits that international disputes can be settled by using force, then we will have destroyed the very foundation of the organization, and our best hope of establishing a real world order. That would be a disaster for us all."

"We should not assume that if Israel withdraws, Egypt will prevent Israeli shipping from using the Suez Canal or the Gulf of Aqaba."

"If, unhappily, Egypt does hereafter violate the armistice agreement or other international obligations, then this should be dealt with firmly by the society of nations."

"The present moment is a grave one, but we are hopeful that reason and right will prevail . . . when Israel completes its withdrawal, it will have removed a definite block to further progress."

NOT TO BE IGNORED

"I do not believe that Israel's default should be ignored because the United Nations has not been able effectively to carry out its resolutions condemning the Soviet Union for its armed suppression of the people of Hungary."

"No one deplores more than I the fact that the Soviet Union ignores the resolutions of the United Nations.

"Also no nation is more vigorous than is the United States in seeking to exert more pressure against the Soviet Union, which by reason of its size and power and by reason of its veto in the United Nations Security Council, is relatively impervious to other types of sanction."

"There needs to be respect for the right of Israel to national existence and to internal development."

"The government of Israel has not yet accepted, as adequate insurance of its own safety after withdrawal, the far-reaching United Nations resolution of Feb. 2 plus the important declaration of United States policy made by our Secretary of State on Feb. 11."

"But Israel seeks something more. It insists on firm guarantees as a condition to withdrawing its forces of invasion.

"This raises a basic question of principle. Should a nation which attacks and occupies foreign territory in the face of United Nations disapproval be allowed to impose conditions on withdrawal?"

"If we agree that armed attack can properly achieve the purposes of the assailant, then I fear we will have turned back the clock of international order. We will, in effect, have countenanced the use of force as a means of settling international differences and gaining national advantages."

"We do . . . believe that upon the suppression of the present act of aggression and breach of the peace, there should be a greater effort by the United Nations and its members to secure justice and conformity with international law."

City, Board to Meet on Hospital Finances

How to pay for equipping the new addition at Pontiac General Hospital, and the hospital's 1957 budget, will be the major topics at a joint meeting of the City Commission and the hospital's Board of Trustees tonight.

The City Commission last week postponed possible acceptance of the $3,896,477 budget, some $870,473 more than the 1956 plan. Commissioners were mum on why they deferred acceptance.

Today, Commissioner Roy V. Cooley said he had some questions relating to the "general amount of the budget and its relationship to amount of salaries."

Trustees approved the budget Jan. 17 after a long and heated debate on a proposed $2,000 raise for Director Miss Lauretta Paul.

City Manager Walter K. Willman asked that details of proposals to raise additional money for the hospital equipping, be withheld pending submission to the board.

something be done and be done quickly."

He pointed out, however, that school districts' "poverty or size of debt were not responsible for the delayed school building program." Taxpayers, he said, have demonstrated they want good schools and are willing to pay for them.

The main reason, he maintained, was the constitutional limitation payment, causing Michigan school that forced "burdensome terms of districts to fall behind in the race to provide additional classrooms for skyrocketing enrollments."

As proof, he pointed to 288 bond issues sold by school districts for a total of $179,220,000, under the provisions of the 1955 amendment.

Of these, he said, 26 school districts sold bonds totaling $22,641,000 that could not previously have been issued legally. Fifty-four other districts, he said, sold bonds totaling $46,173,000 that could legally have been issued, but would have been burdensome to taxpayers or unmarketable.

KEY TO SYSTEM

Schimmel described as key to the new system a $100,000,000 fund provided by the state. Loans are made from this to pay obligations that otherwise would have to be paid from excessive local taxes.

With the aid of loans, school districts are able to finance bonds over periods of 25-30 years, providing the opportunity, Schimmel said, "to build at this time the schools that are needed now for today's children."

The system, he said, opens up a new avenue of financing and at the same time gives "reasonable protection" against excessive taxes.

It replaced several other postwar attempts that Schimmel called "inadequate." During this period, he said, "there was frequent and careless use of the term 'distressed school district.'"

"The term carried the implication," he said, "that districts could not afford to pay for more schools, or that debt burdens were so high that school districts could not borrow money.

"Nothing was further from the truth. Responsible school leadership had failed to come to grips with the basic problem," he said.

Reuther-Beck Feud Shaping Form Speedily

WASHINGTON (INS) — A major feud apparently has developed between Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department, and President Dave Beck of the giant Teamsters' Union over cooperation with Senate committees.

Signs of the feud appeared when Reuther disclosed at a news conference Wednesday that Beck has moved to slash severely the contribution of the Teamsters to the operation of the Industrial Union department.

Although Reuther said Beck gave no explanation for his action, the general interpretation is that it is in retaliation for Reuther's crusade against union racketeering and particularly for his vehement support of full cooperation with Senate committees.

Reuther and AFL-CIO President George Meany were prime movers behind the recent action of the AFL-CIO executive council in rebuking the Teamsters for their defiance last month of the Senate investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark).

The executive council, at a meeting in Miami, favored expulsion of union officers who take refuge in the fifth amendment when questioned by Congressional committees about vital union affairs. Beck was the lone dissenter.

Reuther said Beck has informed him that, beginning in March, the Teamsters will pay monthly dues to the industrial union department on the basis of only 25,000 industrial union members instead of 400,000 members, as at present.

Since the required payment is two cents a member per month, this would mean a slash from $96,000 to $6,000 a year in the contribution of the Teamsters to the department.

Reuther said he has informed Beck that the proposed action would be in violation of the constitution of the department. He added that a union on its own cannot cut the number of members for whom it pays, and that it must justify its action or show inability to pay.

He said that if the Teamsters persist in paying on only 25,000 members for three months, they will be delinquent, and thus will automatically drop out of the department.

no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel to comply with the withdrawal resolutions."

Congressional reaction to Eisenhower's speech varied.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas expressed "regret that the administration still feels that there is no choice but to bring pressure on one side in a two-sided dispute . . ." and added.

"I agree that Israel should withdraw but I also feel that the withdrawal should be accompanied by adequate U. N. action that will not leave Israel defenseless."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader who like Johnson has strongly opposed sanctions, said he had not heard the speech. He declined comment.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said, "I think the President made it perfectly clear that the positi[on] of the United States does not permit support for any nation, large or small, that takes the law into its own hands."

FUTURE COURSE

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala). Commented that "as far as it went, it was a good speech." But he said it did not point out the future course of this government.

What Eisenhower said about exerting pressure carried the United States position beyond any point previously made by him or Secretary of State Dulles.

In London, President Eisenhower was assailed in Parliament today on the ground he failed to consult Britain before his policy statement calling on Israeli troops to withdraw from Egyptian territory.

Aneurin Bevan, Laborite foreign policy spokesman, demanded that Britain notify America "It is a very undesirable pattern that the United States should be issuing statements about policy without consulting her allies."

GOP Schedules Pontiac in Tour

Pre-election Bandwagon to Visit City March 18 With State Candidates

The state GOP's "grass-roots" bandwagon will visit Pontiac March 18 during a pre-election tour to "cement the bonds," between candidates and Republican township officials and voters, state chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer said yesterday.

Calling the April 1 election crucial to the party's chances in the years ahead, the newly-elected chairman told a joint meeting of Republican Senate and House members:

"If we lose this campaign, we go down another notch. Our handicap in 1958 will be much greater."

At stake are the last Republican elective strongholds in Lansing, outside of the legislature.

There are 10 statewide positions to be filled—seven of a partisan character and three on the non-partisan ballot for which voters, however, also will chose between Republican and Democratic nominees.

All the offices except three state supreme court seats now are held by Republicans, including the top posts of state highway commissioner and superintendent of public instruction.

Outlining plans for a series of rallies starting Feb. 28 in Kalamazoo, Lindemer said, "I hope this type of return to Republicanism on the grass roots level will revitalize the party."

The tour will visit 11 other areas by March 28, including Howell on March 6.

Symphony, Jazz Join

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Symphony, whose musicological hair is about as long as anyone's, will join jazz musicians for a Dixieland ragtime jam session here March 3. Proceeds go to the symphony's pension fund.

The Day in Birmingham

Lawmen Against Change of Courthouse Location

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners have officially put themselves on record as opposing any proposed change in the location of the county building.

A resolution presented Monday night by Clark Ingraham passed quickly, stressing the fact that commissioners wholeheartedly approve of the proposed development of three-hundred and thirty-three acres to be known as the Oakland County Service Center.

Ingraham's resolution points out that 15 buildings are already located on the site including such things as the infirmary, juvenile facilities, extension services and other departments vital to county operation. He mentioned, too, the fact that a financing program had been scheduled by the Board of Supervisors Ways and Means Committee that would result in savings to taxpayers of from 3 to 4 million dollars in interest on the completed project.

Ingraham said that since Pontiac had been the county seat for so many years and was as easily accessible as any other community he saw no reason for even considering a change.

Bloomfield Hills police are holding two high school students for further investigation in the robbery of three business stores on Long Lake road early yesterday morning.

The sixteen and seventeen year old boys were apprehended yesterday and admitted having taken over $300 from Miners Party Store, from Bells Market and the Smith Gas Station. Police said the entire amount had been recovered and returned to the merchants.

Birmingham Police Detective Lt. Merlin Holmquist again issues a warning to motorists who park their cars on the street, leaving the keys in them. The department continues its search for a two-tone Dodge convertible bearing a 1956 license DT-9942. The car was taken yesterday from a Martin street parking place in front of the Municipal Building which also houses Police Headquarters.

Monday's Blood Drive Raises Triple Amount

The Red Cross Blood Bank held Monday in Pontiac raised 170 pints—about three times the usual amount.

The public response, according to Mrs. A. H. Magnus, chairman of the community blood bank, was excellent. "For the past three months we have been getting only 50 to 75 pints," she said.

The next blood bank will be held in April, with the date to be announced later.

Nehru Warns Foreign Troops

India Off-Limits Forever

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told an election rally today, in commenting on the latest Kashmir developments in the U. N., that India will never allow foreign troops to land in India again.

"I want the whole world to know India will not allow any foreign troops to enter India whatever might happen and whatever be the consequences of this stand of ours," he told the meeting at Akola.

"If any country invades Kashmir it will not only be an invasion of Kashmir but an invasion of India. Whatever happens India will not allow foreign troops to land in India. We have heard the tramp of foreign soldiers in India for centuries. We shall not allow this to happen again."

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to help you prepare your Income Tax Return.

DEPRECIATING?

A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear, and tear of property used in the trade or business or property held for the production of income shall be allowed as a depreciation deduction. This does not apply to inventory, stock-in-trade, nor to land which is not depreciable.

Generally, the useful life of an asset is measured in years and the cost to be recovered should be charged off over the expected useful life of the property.

The most often used method of depreciation is the straight line method — which allows for the recovery of cost (less salvage) in equal annual amounts over the life of the property.

The instruction booklet you receive with your return is your best guide to your depreciation use.

Interest Hike Bid on Bonds Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)— Opposition developed in Congress today to giving the Treasury new authority to adjust interest rates on government savings bonds in line with money market conditions.

The Treasury last Thursday announced it would seek legislation to give it the same flexibility in fixing interest rates on savings bonds that it now has on other types of government securities.

It proposes to raise from 3 to 3¼ per cent the interest rate on Series E and H bonds.

The action was prompted by a marked slowdown in purchases of savings bonds. Last year, redemptions outweighed purchases by a considerable margin. Some of this situation has been attributed to a general rise in interest rates, making other types of investments more attractive.

House Democratic leaders said privately a good case could be made for higher rates on Series E and H bonds. But they contended it was a matter for congressional rather than administrative decision.

Key Democrats contend the size of the government's fiscal operations heavily influences interest rates in general.

Fire Destroys Grocery

BOYNE CITY (AP) — A fire destroyed the Russell's IGA Grocery in Boyne City Wednesday night. Mrs. Otto Russell, wife of the owner, estimated damage at $35,000. Firemen from East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City fought for more than two hours in 15-degree temperatures to bring the blaze under control. An adjacent barber shop suffered water and smoke damage.

Recall Zwicker for Testimony

McCarthy Renews Feud With General as Ike Asks His Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker will be recalled from the Far East to reply to an accusation by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that he lied during the McCarthy-Army hearings three years ago.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he could not tell when Zwicker can appear.

The committee is considering whether to approve Zwicker's promotion to temporary major general and permanent brigadier general.

In Tokyo, Zwicker said President Eisenhower's action in nominating him for promotion "indicates to me affirmation of my past service and confirmation of my ability to serve the Army and our country well in the future."

McCarthy, who once said Zwicker was "unfit to wear the uniform," spent more than two hours yesterday telling the committee why he opposes the general's promotion. The session was behind closed doors.

McCarthy has said in the past that Zwicker lied under oath in denying at the McCarthy-Army hearings that he had given McCarthy information from secret Army personnel files. McCarthy said this happened before he and Zwicker fell into dispute.

Potter Holds Names Until Judge Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said yesterday he will wait until Federal Judge Arthur Koszinski resigns before recommending the appointment of a successor.

Koszinski, a Democrat, has announced that he plans to retire around April 1.

Speculation about his successor has centered on several prominent Michigan Republicans, including former GOP state chairman John Feikens.

Potter had told newsmen he expected to make his recommendation soon — possibly today or tomorrow. It has developed, however, a spokesman for Potter said, that Koszinski has not followed up his retirement announcement with a formal resignation. Until he does so Potter will not say whom he plans to recommend, the spokesman said.

To Bury Ma Sunday Beside Evangelist

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Ma Sunday will be laid to rest beside her husband, the evangelist who spread the Gospel throughout America in the days of the old camp meetings.

The 88-year-old widow of Billy Sunday died of cancer and a heart ailment yesterday after three days in a coma. Her body will be flown from Phoenix, where she was staying with a grandson, to her home in Winona Lake, Ind., for funeral service Saturday. Burial will be in Chicago's Forest Homes Cemetery.

Accident Fatalities Useful

Life From Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lives lost by accidents are saving lives threatened by disease in an all-out campaign by Philadelphia surgeons, a heart association and the city morgue.

The program provides for taking vital blood vessels — the aorta near the heart and long arteries of the legs — from fatal accident victims and using them to repair vessels of seriously ill persons.

Improved medical techniques have created a large demand for the blood vessels. The Heart Assn. of Southeastern Pennsylvania cooperating with Dr. Joseph W. Spelman, city medical examiner, has announced they will seek to reclaim every healthy aorta and long leg artery from persons meeting accidental death in the city.

The city morgue is the only logical source of supply for the blood vessels, according to Dr. Orville Horwitz, assistant professor of clinical medicine at the University of Pennsylvania and chairman of the heart association committee for reclaiming arteries.

"Healthy people meet death only accidentally," said Dr. Horwitz. "We must have healthy grafts from women under 40 and men under 35."

"The reason for the age difference," he explained, "is that women's blood vessels retain their resiliency longer than men's."

The campaign will need the cooperation of a fourth group — the bereaved families of the accident victims.

"We have had very few refusals," said Dr. Spelman. "Families of the victims are very understanding even under the stress of their own misfortune."

Recruits Can Enlist for Duty in Europe

A new program will enable area men to enlist for direct service in Europe, MSgt. Raymond R. Barriault in charge of Army Recruiting, 53½ West Huron St., said today.

A limited number of vacancies have been allotted to the Pontiac recruiting station, according to Barriault. Those accepted will receive basic training with the Fourth Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex. The Fourth will depart for Europe in November.

Mjchigan volunteers going to Europe with the Fourth are assured of staying together during their entire tour of duty through this rotation plan, Barriault added. Additional information on the European service program can be received at the recruiting office.

Since the end of World War II, Sweden has become an immigrant country. About 75,000 foreigners have become Swedish citizens since that time.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Junketing Expenditures Should Be Made Public

Secrecy surrounding expense accounts for overseas travel of junketing Congressmen and their aides has become increasingly subject to criticism.

Traveling Congressmen are permitted to draw money from counterpart funds in whatever foreign country they happen to be. These funds are local currencies transferred to the United States as part of mutual aid transactions. The controller general can't audit these withdrawals. He merely is required to report them to the committees involved and they never are made public.

Most Congressmen, no doubt, make proper use of these funds. But reports trickling back in the wake of some Congressional junkets are anything but reassuring. Two Senate committee employes who spent three months abroad last summer on counterpart funds have been dismissed.

Speaker Sam Rayburn promises that abuses of these privileges are going to be looked into. Senator Williams, Delaware Republican, has added his voice to those who think these expense accounts should be made public. He points out that secrecy encourages lavish expenditures by Congressmen and their aides and this has served to discredit our country.

Many Congressmen who have traveled abroad on counterpart funds have told the Senator that they would like the secrecy rules abolished to free them from suspicion that they have misused funds. Until the matter is cleared up the secrecy will reflect on all Congressmen and their aides.

It is to be hoped that Speaker Rayburn and Senator Williams can rally enough support to have these overseas travel accounts made public.

Boxing Profession Hits All-Time Low on TV

The sour science has sunk to a new low.

Professional fisticuffs has degenerated into something pretty terrible to contemplate as far back as a year and a half ago. But the "battle" (the term is purely complimentary) between one Wallace Smith and a fifth rater known as Joe Brown, the Champion, plumbed the depths.

There is nothing worse ahead.

There can't be.

The valiant warriors of the past in this division, back as far as our own Ad Wolgast, and then Valentine Brown, Battling Nelson, Joe Gans and their compatriots would not have used either of Wednesday night's pair as sparring partners.

They were too inept.

They were too utterly incompetent.

Probably the insatiable demand of television is responsible for the current crop of misfits and yet it would seem that the champion himself might arise to the dignity of a passable rating, but in the lightweight division this is not true. We're aghast . . . oh, not really aghast . . . but somewhat depressed.

The ancient adage, "the show must go on" has been carried to laughable extremes in boxing. The television fight show must go on, even to the extent of foisting a Brown-Wallace fiasco on the public in the guise of a "championship match."

Often in this vale of tears when something is slipping or declining, we're advised that "it will have to get worse before it gets better." That can't be true of current fistiana.

There is no "worse."

That's here now.

Some suspect the 1957 cars were made considerably longer than preceding models so that people will wear them out driving around trying to find parking spaces long enough to accommodate them.

"The life span of the neutral meson is only one-billionth of a second," says a physicist. No wonder it's neutral—it doesn't have time to take sides.

It's strange that the closer to the ground manufacturers build cars, the higher they fly when they leave the road.

The Man About Town

Glamour in Snow

Accentuates Beauty More Than Mere Bathing Togs

Politics: What both parties agree never again will be allowed to get dull in Oakland County.

After getting all mixed up in the skiing craze that has struck the people of the Pontiac area right between the eyes (and further down), we're in absolute agreement with the international authority on glamour in the snow. He says the best way for a girl to hunt a husband is on skiis — that she can look sexier in ski togs than in a bathing suit.

Picard asserts that men find women more intriguing if something is left to the imagination. He claims that a beautiful girl is never more radiant than when her cheeks are glowing and her eyes sparkling from this healthful and invigorating outdoor exercise in the cold. And he's 110 per cent right.

The official figures show that 3,125 deer were killed by automobiles in Michigan during 1956, over twice as many as the year before. This prompts of Clarkston to phone a query as to which is getting more reckless, the drivers or the deer. He thinks it's the deer, as he has never had an accident of any other kind, but killed a deer with his auto in 1955 and two in 1956.

Latest to receive a centennial marker and award is the farm of at 3495 West Long Lake Road. These are given by the Detroit Edison Company and Michigan Historical Commission to farms that have been in the ownership of one family for a century or more.

As a sequel to this column's "Haven of Health" story,

Dr. John D. Monroe,

Health Director, suggests that we keep Oakland County that way by availing ourselves of the free X-ray chest examinations soon to be offered us.

My Metamora correspondent wonders if 19 years is an old age for a cat, the family pet of having died recently at that age. My close veterinarian friend tells me that's the same as 95 years in a human, but he has known of some felines to go well over the 20 year mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Russell

Using a spoon decoy and spear, has pulled over 25 pike through the ice this winter, some of them a yard long. One of his neighbors over at Highland suggests him for Man About Town's king of the pikers, or king of the ice fishers.

Oliver Derby

That former Pontiac sportsman,

Andrew (Pug) Lanfield,

writes me from his present home in Detroit: "Glad to see that the Pontiac area finally is waking up to its possibilities as a winter sports area. Let's put Sun Valley in the shade, and push Lake Placid off the map."

David Lawrence Says:

Ike, Congress Unite on Mideast

WASHINGTON — Moral force—the President of the United States and the Congress speaking in one voice to secure peace in the Middle East—is the only influence, for the present at least, that will be applied in order to secure the opening of the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba to the ships of Israel and all nations.

There is no intention on the part of the United States to impose any military or economic "sanctions." But it is urging the Egyptian and Israeli governments to accept the basis laid down by President Eisenhower in his memorandum of Feb. 11 made public last Sunday.

LAWRENCE

What is more important today even than the President's television speech, reiterating the fundamentals of that memorandum, is the reception given the document at the White House meeting on Wednesday. This was participated in by 27 members of both parties, constituting the leadership of the two important committees of the House and the Senate on foreign affairs and armed services.

Almost without exception the Democrats and Republicans agreed with the objectives of the President in trying to find a way to attain the withdrawal of Israel's troops from occupied areas. There was a unanimity of feeling and a manifestation of the true spirit of bipartisanship at the meeting which pleased both the President and the Secretary of State as well as the members of Congress.

It was a constructive conference because it was agreed that the Feb. 11 memorandum was sound in every respect and that the United States could go no further in giving Israel the ironclad guarantees she seeks. Instead, it was urged that Israel be persuaded to accept American assurances and rely on American support for the justice of her viewpoint.

SOLID UNITY

This very fact—that there is no disunity inside the American government but rather a solid unity—when conveyed to the authorities in Israel, will indicate that there is no use in holding out for further concessions because the maximum has already been granted.

If there had been discord, the Israeli cabinet might have felt justified in waiting for further concessions. But when the United States speaks out with one voice, it becomes necessary for Israel to accept what has been pledged, withdraw her troops and then see how the American pledges are implemented.

The Israelis can always reenter the occupied zones to protect themselves and perhaps even get military support from other powers if the Egyptians fail to heed the resolutions of the U.N. requiring free passage for all ships through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba.

It was asked specifically at the conference whether the President and the Secretary of State had determined to recommend to the United Nations that "sanctions"—coercive or punitive measures—be adopted against Israel if her troops are not withdrawn. But the answer given was that this contingency had not been reached and that the debate in the U.N. Assembly itself would probably occupy two or three days, by which time Israel's attitude will have been disclosed.

So progress toward an eventual settlement can be reported, and it is based mostly on the significant fact that there is no division in the ranks here but a united American viewpoint as to what should be done on the Israel-Egypt dispute.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?—John 5:47.

We must not only read the Scriptures, but we must make their rule of life our own.—Hosea Ballou.

LI'L ONES

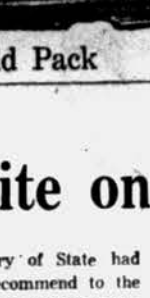
"You'll be happy to know that Dad has left you a nickel under his plate!"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Soak Up Sunshine or Take A and D, Vegetarian Told

Wisconsin reader writes:

"I am a strict vegetarian. Have not eaten meat, fish or eggs for many years and still I am in the pink. But each winter I have to take a couple bottles of cod liver oil.



BRADY

"Can you tell me what foods would take the place of cod liver oil or supply the same nutritional essentials as does cod liver oil. Please keep on hammering home your fine lessons. I believe God likes you very much."

(Signed, ——— ———)

A strict vegetarian eats no butter, milk, or cheese. You say you eat no fish, but cod liver oil is fish.

To the best of my knowledge one may get from one first-rate, multiple-vitamin capsule tablet a day plus the iodin ration, every nutritional essential supplied by a large dose of cod liver oil.

I doubt whether a strict vegetarian can get the vitamin A, vitamin D and iodin required to maintain good nutrition, from foods:

Butter, milk, cream, and some food fish or shell fish are the only foods that contain enough vitamin D for human requirements.

I hope we may hear from other vegetarians, whether they follow such diet as a principle of religion or because they believe it better than mixed diet for health or physical efficiency.

PROVED MEAT DIET

The distinguished arctic explorer, Stefansson, and his associate Andersen proved by living for a year on exclusive meat diet, under the constant study by scientific investigators, that such diet is healthful. Both men finished the year in better general health than they had at the beginning.

Anyone who can expose most of his skin to direct or indirect (in the shade or on a cloudy day) sunlight for a reasonable time every day will manufacture all the vitamin D he needs.

In fact every infant's, child's or adult's daily vitamin D requirement varies with the time spent. The more one lives indoors the greater one's vitamin D requirement.

From the paucity of observations in medical literature I must say there appears to be no convincing evidence that one may not thrive on exclusive vegetarian diet as well as Stefansson and Anderson thrived on meat exclusively and many thrive on mixed diet.

Readers kind enough to tell me their experience with vegetarian diet will make sense if they state clearly whether they follow an exclusive diet of vegetables, cereals, fruits and nuts or a lacto—vegetarian diet (including milk) or a vegetarian diet plus eggs or fish 'n' ribs or spare-ribs and ——— in short such a report can be of interest or value only if it indicates precisely what type of diet you are talking about.

'Here Is Sure-Fire Way to Win Pot-O-Gold Contest'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Here is a sure-fire way to win the Pot-O-Gold.

There are 16 blanks to fill in and The Press publishes a right and a wrong answer for each blank. To win, simply submit an entry for each possible combination of words. The unit cost is low. Each entry blank (with newspaper) costs seven cents and a penny postcard for mailing is only two cents. At nine cents per entry and only 65,536 possible combinations of the given words, the money invested is a mere $5,898.24.

With this method in use, the Pot-O-Gold will never again bulge under such a heavy load as the present $900.

I go along with Carlotta in sending any contribution to a good cause. Joe Louis lives in a plush apartment, owns a restaurant, is financially able to hire lawyers, managers, pay for divorces, has just signed a $100,000 contract, was paid for his personal appearance on the $64,000 Question show.

Enclosed please find one dollar to aid Milky with his milk bill after tax deductions.

'Critical Letter Was Unfounded'

You printed a letter signed "Band Parent" in which the writer criticizes The Press and the community for not giving the high school band more attention.

I think the letter is unfounded for the newspaper has supported the band loyally. You've carried news stories and photographs and gloried in the band's victories and honors. The people have been equally generous.

We can't expect the newspaper to follow the band around day by day and chronicle every last thing it does. There are other and more important things in the world.

We have the best band in the Middle West and The Press has cheered for it over an extended period of years. Dale Harris feels this way very strongly.

My compliments to David Ewalt, director of Parks and Recreation, who was voted boss of the year in 1955 and, in my opinion, he still is.

Taxpayers take him for granted, but remember, when you use any of the several city parks, he made all of these facilities possible for your enjoyment and is doing all he can to make them your neighborhood recreation spots the majority of the year.

Thank You

Case Records of a Psychologist:

No Need to Fear Adopting Children

Dottie's case deserves discussion in high school as well as Sunday School classes, for it brings out an obsolete viewpoint concerning youngsters. God lends children to parents for a brief interval, so don't be unduly egotistical about flesh-and-blood youngsters versus adopted progeny.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-310: Dottie M., aged 3, is a cute little girl who was adopted a year ago by friends of mine.

"Dr. Crane, we love her as if she were our own flesh-and-blood," her mother confessed.

"And she has made us so happy, that we are now adopting a second little girl who is about 15 months old.

"But neither my parents nor my husband's parents fully accept Dottie. They still regard her as an outsider.

"That grieves us and I am afraid Dottie will sense this fact as she grows older. What can we do to get out parents to accept her as their granddaughter?"

BIRTH FACTS

In ancient Rome the six Vestal virgins were responsible for keeping a constant fire burning in the temple of Vesta, goddess of the hearth.

It never went out from one century to the next. But in any given generation, the Vestal virgins didn't actually start the fire.

No, they simply kept it going. And in similar manner, we human beings don't create the germ cells from which babies evolve.

We simply pass along this germinal tissue that was apparently implanted in the original male and female on this planet Earth.

Thus, it does not behoove any of us to grow unduly egotistical about our offspring.

We don't create them, whether they are flesh-and-blood or adopted. God Almighty started the entire process.

If you young couples who can't procreate children of your own flesh, ever get a chance to adopt intelligent youngsters, never hesitate to do so.

It is the training in your home which makes them saints or sinners, and not their ancestry. For criminality is never inherited:

BLOOD EGOTISM

The first murder in the Bible occurred between blood brothers.

And David's own sons plotted against his life.

So blood kinship does not produce love and respect unless meanwhile the kinfolk have been educated to have affection for each other.

But this education is a spiritual process, and can occur between total strangers as readily as between blood kin.

We psychologists are urging parents and grandparents to take this new and proper view of foster children.

When a woman marries, she simply "adopts" a former stranger and thereafter that husband and wife feel closer together than they do to their own blood brothers and sisters.

Adopting a child is much like marriage. You simply pick your new son or daughter, as you previously did your husband or wife, and then become spiritual kinfolk.

So I suggested that Dottie's mother send this Case Record to the grandparents on both sides of the family.

For they are inhumane to debar little Dottie from the love and affection of their hearts.

Christ indicted people who place stumbling blocks in front of His little ones, so we should be very cautious about causing toddlers needless pain and unhappiness.

Even a pet dog or cat soon becomes almost like a blood member of the human family, so how much more readily can we adopt a boy or girl and feel this family kinship.

World's Biggest Free Election

Politics Pull India Princes Into Fight for Parliament

LONDON (INS) — The biggest free election in the world will feature a number of Indian princes pleading for the support of people who used to be their subjects.

Starting Feb. 25, the 193 million qualified voters of India start casting ballots in an election which involves almost three million ballot boxes and more than 200,000 polling places. The polling will last 19 days.

The picturesque princes are among the candidates seeking election to 494 seats in the lower house of the national parliament, and to 2,906 seats in the state legislative assemblies.

When India gained her independence a decade ago there were roughly 500 so-called princely states. Since then they have been merged, whittled down, or otherwise reidentified until only three are known by their former names.

The three survivors are Kashmir, Mysore and Tripura — all now centrally administered states no longer ruled by their princes. The royalty were pensioned when the government took over their lands.

Most of the candidate princes oppose candidates of the governing congress party. This, as one Indian source in London said, "is quite natural when you consider that some of them feel that the party or its predecessors did them out of their property." Also, a prince might be regarded as somewhat more conservative than the socialistic Congress Party.

PLENTITUDE OF PRINCES

In Jalore the congress candidate will be opposed by Maharajah Ajit Singh; in the Barmer area one of the most important former ruling princes of India, the Maharajah Jaisalmer, opposes the congress candidate; and in the state of Bharatpur, the congress candidate for the national parliament, who happens also to be minister of communications, is opposed by two of the princes.

His re-election is contested by Rajah Girraj Singh and by Rajah Mansingh, the latter a present member of the state assembly.

This will be the second national election since Indian independence. The 193 million qualified voters represent about half the total population.

The national election commission has recognized four all-India political parties for the election. The ruling congress party of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has such a strong hold on the nation, however, that its victory appears a certainty.

Congress Peers Back at Beck's Headquarters

Will Plush Union Lookout Tumble?

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Dave Beck(president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, prides himself on being an expert on real estate.

But the ultra-plush five million dollar headquarters which was built under his personal direction, a subpena-throw from Congress, threatens to become a major real estate turkey.

When the magnificent white marble building was dedicated in November, 1955, a teamster official remarked that its gigantic picture windows facing the Capitol gave the union a good chance to keep its eye on Congress.

Since Congress has been probing possible misuses of funds by the teamsters it appears that the glass has been on the other eye. Congress has not only been keeping a watchful eye on teamster headquarters; it has also taken a searching look at some of its accounting records.

STABLE INVESTMENT?

Congressional probers turned up an item of $8,826.96 of union funds, for example, which their questions indicated may have been spent for some union official's personal stable of horses. Union officials refused to reply to this line of questioning. Beck pleaded illness and did not show up for this part of the Congressional hearing.

Congress has more penetrating questions to ask Beck about financing the construction and furnishing of the headquarters.

This was almost inevitable because about half of the Senators can't look out of their office windows without seeing what probably hits them as the symbol of new materialism in the labor movement. A tour through the headquarters, which most of them have made, gives an even more startling eyeful.

LUXURY SUITE

Beck's office suite, matched by that of John English, secretary-treasurer of the union, is probably the most luxurious one in town. President Eisenhower's office in the White House doesn't touch it. Neither do the suites of members of the Cabinet. Certainly no Senator has anything to match it.

It has expensive deep rugs, beautiful wood paneling, an adjoining living room and bath, luxurious draw-drapes for the huge picture windows, a handmade heart-shaped conference table of fine wood, overstuffed chairs and a desk with a complex control panel which requires a co-pilot to operate.

It's reported that Beck's office has elaborate "bugging" and recording equipment installed under his specifications.

STRONG VAULT

The rest of the building includes a roof-top sun deck, several expensively-furnished coffee rooms, cafeteria, a modern theater, several plush, sound-proof conference rooms, lavishly-decorated reception rooms, an inside garage and the biggest, strongest vault in town next to the U. S. Treasury.

It has been said that if congressional pressure gets too hot it might be claimed that union records had been stolen or burned. The existence of this valut would make this excuse feeble.

Beck's personal supervision of the building's construction, it is said, added 30 per cent to its cost.

NOT SUITABLE

In addition to the headquarters failing as a look-out on Congress it apparently hasn't suited him as a place to work. Before it was opened he said he would be in town at least a week or two each month, from his Seattle offices. He has a full-time secretary and assistant here. The union also maintains a fancy furnished apartment — with full wardrobe — in the new Woodner Hotel for his exclusive use.

But it has turned out that Beck hasn't averaged more than a fairly brief visit here every two or three months. The hostile eye of Congress staring at him through his picture window might be one reason. Another reason is that he hasn't built up all of the friendly contacts in town which he thought moving here would permit him to do. The best he has done was a brief visit to the White House during the recent campaign.

The headquarters staff, which handles more or less routine union business, operates efficiently without him.

The eagerness of Congress to haul him across the street for questioning apparently is why Beck is staying out of town, although he has said that when he returned from his European travels he will be available for any questioning.

In addition to having chilly neighbors on Capitol Hill he's in the doghouse at the national headquarters of the AFL-CIO here. Other union leaders are afraid that his recent actions will be a black eye to the whole union movement.

TEAMSTERS' EYE ON CONGRESS — Beck's five-million dollar Washington headquarters may be a real estate turkey.

Lumber production in the U.S. in 1906 was 46 million board feet, but only [illegible] board feet were produced in 1954 despite a population gain.

Koopman Talks to School Heads

Discusses Functions of Community College in Educational Program

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., (AP)—A Michigan State education official described the community (junior) college today as shapeless "as a fullgrown pollywog."

But he said it "represents the only substantial method for caring for the increased enrollment" already pressing colleges.

G. Robert Koopman, Associate State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Michigan, discussed the community college in a speech prepared for the convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators.

"Like the original high school," he said,".....it was originally designed for the elite."

However, Koopman said, "there are indications that it is tending to....become an all-purpose institution of continuing education for those who do not transfer to institutions of higher education...."

"The great program issue here is whether or not there can be created in community colleges a new form of basic education, a kind of education that increases the power of young people in such areas as health management and civic participation and at the same time lays a basis for college work," he added.

Koopman said the community college should do two things if it is "truly a community institution: (1) serve as a unifying cultural center for the community, (2) Avail to counteract many forces of community disintegration."

"For instance," he said, "television may well tend to increase the isolation of families," but the community college may offset this.

Hindsight Can't Help Israelites of Negeb

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A former assistant director of Temple de Hirsch says it was easy to decide the most disgruntled group of persons he met during a summer visit to Israel.

In the Negeb community of Mordecai, Rabbi Albert Plotkin talked with Israelites who claimed they once held Egyptian Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser as a prisoner-of-war.

It was during the Israelite-Egyptian hostilities of 1948 and Nasser, then a lieutenant colonel, had been captured. However, under United Nations terms, he was released within a month.

"As you can imagine," said Rabbi Plotkin, now chief rabbi of Temple Beth Israel at Phoenix, Ariz., "the people of Mordecai are very unhappy he did not remain behind barbed wire."

Bank Guard Good—for Guards

Steeped in Tradition — Britons Stooped With It?

LONDON (AP) — The Queen's forces, the Queen's men, they march to the bank and they march back again.

They do this seven nights a week, year in, year out. They've been doing it every night since 1780.

And as far as War Minister John Hare is concerned, they are going to keep right on doing it even if members of the Labor opposition think the military guard for the Bank of England could be better employed elsewhere.

It was 177 years ago when the guard was first assigned the chore of keeping a night watch on the bank. The Colonials in America were giving the Redcoats a bad time. The people of London were in ferment. There was rioting in the streets, and it occurred to people in high places that hotheads might attack the financial citadel of the nation.

The disorders soon abated, but nobody remembered to discontinue the guard.

Week after week, month after month, and finally year after year, a lieutenant and 16 soldiers made the nightly four-mile march from Chelsea Barracks to the bank.

In time, it became the custom to pay each guardsman one shilling a night for his services. This was increased last December to three shillings. The shilling, worth many pints of beer in 1780, is now worth 14 cents and a pint costs 21 cents.

It also became the custom to provide the commander of the guard with a dinner in an apartment maintained by the bank. By custom, the dinner includes a bottle of port.

"An antiquated bit of mumbo jumbo," thundered Laborite Marcus Lipton in the House of Commons yesterday. At a time when Britain is trying to economize on its defense costs, he declared, "cannot the city police look after adequately what is left of our gold and dollar reserves?"

"No," Hare replied firmly. He explained:

"I think it would be bad to do away with an ancient practice dating from 1780. What is more, this traditional duty is popular with the men who perform it, because they receive payment from the bank."

Now over to Lt. Simon Tozer and the 16 Welsh guardsmen who defended the bank from possible riot and disorder last night.

"It makes a break from routine," said one guardsman.

"You feel you're looking after something important," said another.

Lt. Tozer sipped at a glass of port and remarked:

Collective Guidance Just Give and Take

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The men whose business it is to collect delinquent accounts don't want to be known as bill collectors. They would rather be thought of as "guidance workers" helping people who have mismanaged their budgets.

This was the opinion expressed by the collection agents attending a central states conference of the American Collectors' Assn.

"People need assistance to get out of debt and modern collectors try to help those people," said Paul A. Root, operator of a collection bureau at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Ask Play Equipment for Children's Home

An appeal for recreational and occupational equipment for the Oakland County Children's Home was made today by Gordon Morrison, assistant superintendent.

The home is in the process of revising its recreational and activities programs for the children, he said, and needs either new or good used items.

Morrison explained that present facilities do not permit the teaching of trades at the home's schools, so it has been decided to offer such training in special evening classes.

Among the items now needed are: Typewriters, sewing machines, an electric stove with a good oven, radios, toboggans, ice skates, skis, small games, bicycles and tricycles, a piano and sports equipment, of all types.

"We also need a mechanic to teach auto repair at night, if anyone can donate the time," Morrison said.

The Children's Home, for delinquent, dependent and neglected youngsters, presently has a population of 100, he added. The children are mostly in the 14 through 17 age group and will be soon called upon to support themselves.

Japanese Salvage Sub

IAWAKUNI, Japan (AP) — The Japanese today refloated an Imperial Navy submarine sunk in 1943 during a training cruise in the inland sea. Cause of the sinking has never been determined. The hull is believed to contain the bodies of 79 crewmen. The ship will be broke up for scrap after the bodies are removed.

Colorado Dems Deny Ike Thanks for Visit

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Senate has refused to thank President Eisenhower for visiting Colorado on his drought inspection trip last month.

The Senate turned down 18-16 a House-approved resolution expressing thanks to the chief executive. Both branches of the Legislature have Democratic majorities.

Eisenhower stopped at Pueblo more than an hour Jan. 15 and took a first-hand look at a dust-damaged farm area southeast of the city.

The Democrats opposing the resolution contended the President simply was doing his duty.

Heavy Fleece Is Risky

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile — On Chilean sheep farms at the Strait of Magellan, the most serious losses are caused by thick fleeces. In rainy weather the wool becomes so wet and heavy that a sheep which rolls on its back may be unable to regain its feet. There it lies, until rescue or death.

Number of persons age 65 or more has quadrupled in the United States since 1900 while the whole population has just about doubled.

Trains Lead Trucks in Freight Capacity

NEW YORK — The nation's 1,698,814 freight cars, with an average capacity of 53.7 tons each, have a combined capacity of 91,200,000 tons. This compares with about 12,000,000 tons for the country's 800,00 truck-trailers at 15 tons per trailer.

Iran is about three times larger in area than France.

Tippling Total Topped

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)— Fines for drunkenness totalled $47,800 in Vancouver in 1956, more than double last year's total. Fines for all offences reached $940,800, compared with $713,464 in 1955.

Big Problems Face U. S. in Bid for Mideast Peace

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American efforts to get some peace and quiet in the Middle East are proceeding like a man walking down a freshly tarred street on a hot day. Every time he takes a step, he's stuck.

Egyptian President Nasser is the biggest problem in the Middle East. But Israel is a problem too. Nasser can't be tackled until there is some solution in Israel. The Israeli problem shows no sign of being cleared up soon.

But when it is, if it is, the United States and the United Nations will probably have their hands full with Nasser. Meanwhile, Nasser, keeping his mouth shut, can sit back and enjoy watching the world sweat over Israel.

Until Israel attacked Egypt and seized the Gaza Strip and the Aqaba Gulf area, Nasser had used the former for raids on Israel and the latter for blockading Israeli shipping.

The United States requested, and the U.N. demanded, that Israel pull back its troops. Israel in effect says: "Nothing doing, until you guarantee us Nasser can't renew his raids and his blockades."

Neither the United States nor the U.N. has given such guarantees. For the United States there is an awkward double dilemma in handling both Israel and Nasser.

This country's two biggest allies, Britain and France, agree with Israel that Nasser is a menace. Further, this country has a Middle Eastern friend in Israel which it helped create in the first place.

So it can't afford to go too far — or at least it doesn't seem likely to — in doing anything, such as joining other U.N. members in imposing sanctions on Israel, that would hurt Israel too much or alienate the British and French.

At the same time, at this moment when the Eisenhower administration is trying to get Congress to approve its Middle Eastern plan for making the Arabs friendly, it doesn't want to offend the Moslem world by being too easy on Israel.

But the United States may find itself in a reverse dilemma the moment Israel — for whatever the reason — agrees to pull her troops out of territory claimed by Egypt.

Then Nasser has to be handled. The administration for some strange reason always seemed to have an optimistic feeling about dealing with Nasser — until he seized the Suez Canal last summer and refused to let go.

It may still have that feeling. But Nasser has never shown signs of being a man who could be depended upon to do business along a single, straight line for any length of time.

But there is a limit on how many concessions this country can make to Nasser without becoming a laughing-stock to the rest of the world.

BREATH OF LIFE — A new type of artificial respiration, designed for immediate treatment of gas casualties and resuscitation of drowning, electric shock or suffocation victims is demonstrated by medical aid men at the Army Chemical Center in Edgewood, Md. The device consists of a modified Army gas mask, an anesthetic mask, two hoses and a purification canister. As the rescuer inhales, air is drawn into the purification canister (on victim's chest), purified and trapped in the hose leading to the anesthetic mask placed over the victim's face. When the rescuer exhales, the purified air is forced into the victim's lungs.

Reds Woo Bulgaria With Credits, Trade

MOSCOW (AP) — Bulgarian and Soviet officials have wound up a "solidarity" meeting here with an agreement for a 200-million-ruble credit to Bulgaria.

The credit (50 million dollars at the official ruble-dollar rate) will go to help finance capital construction in Communist Bulgaria.

Plans call for the Soviet Union to supply Bulgaria with pig iron, metals, coke, rubber, oil products and raw materials. Bulgaria will send the Soviet Union uranium ore, nonferrous metals, ships, tobacco, shoes, furniture, fruit and vegetables.

The credit is in addition to the 370-million-ruble long-term loan Bulgaria got a year ago from Moscow.

Mexico Drought Ended

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Agriculture Minister Gilberto Flores Munoz says recent rains have ended the long drought in north Mexico and predicts good crops of cotton, corn and wheat.

Rockefeller Grants: $8,104,849 for 1956

NEW YORK (AP) — Rockefeller foundation grants in the last quarter of 1956 amounted to $8,104,849 —including $1,200,000 for aid to Hungarian refugee students and scholars.

Dean Rusk, foundation president, said yesterday the refugee grants provide largely for them to study in Austria.

Other grants for the quarter included: $1,064,709 for medical education and public health; $1,147,260 for biological and medical research; $2,568,195 for agriculture; and $1,051,310 for humanities.

Meeting of School Heads Studies Teacher Shortage

By J. C. COX
Asst. Supt., Pontiac Schools

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — Concern over the shortage of good teachers was very much in evidence at this convention of more than 19,000 school administrators.

Four of the special sectional meetings dealt with various phases of this topic. In addition, AASA President Misner spoke at some length on the problem; and the new association yearbook offers an interesting suggestion.

Special meetings were scheduled on, "What's Happening in Teacher Education," "Accreditation of Teacher Education Programs of Instruction," "Recruiting, Screening and Placing School Personnel—a Cooperative Enterprise," and "A Program of Inservice Help for Teachers."

Pontiac now has about 30 students doing practice teaching under the direction of Pontiac teachers.

Statistics compiled by the National Education Association show vividly why we are still faced with a shortage. College age young people today have come from the extremely low birth-rate period of the late 1920's and early 1930's.

Dr. Misner told us, "The slowly improving teacher supply and demand situation is resulting from a number of factors. First is the improving economic position of teachers. Second is the improved attractiveness of teaching as a profession. Enlightened administrative leadership is providing professional working conditions for teachers and is a factor of great importance in attracting and keeping competent school staffs."

We here at the convention feel that, although it is too early to make final predictions, that the downward trend in teacher preparation has been checked and that a steady improvement should become apparent in years to come.

Israeli Diplomat Eban Makes Tough Opponent

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Abba Eban is considered a tough diplomat—as tough in the diplomatic battles of Washington and the United Nations as Israel is in the shooting battles of the Middle East.

He is also versatile and vigorous. And he has to be, for he shuttles between New York, where he is chief of the Israeli delegation at the U.N., and Washington, where he is Israeli ambassador.

These exertions have cut not a pound off his chunky frame nor a quip from his easy, cordial manner. He has been left similarly unmarked by the strenuous and delicate negotiations that could determine his country's future.

Friday he went unperturbed to tell Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that Israel conditionally accepted the U.S. plan for a withdrawal from the Gulf of Aqaba and the Gaza Strip.

BORN IN CAPETOWN

The Ambassador was born Abba Solomon, son of businessman Myer Solomon in Capetown, South Africa, on Feb. 2, 1915. His father died when he was still an infant, and he was taken to England. When his mother married Dr. Isaac Eban, a radiologist, Abba took the second name Eban.

He was brought up a Zionist by his mother and his grandfather. At Cambridge, he studied the languages of the Middle East, Hebrew, Arabic and Persian. He graduated with honors and taught those subjects at Pembroke College in the University.

During World War II he served as a British officer in the Middle East, worked in Palestine to stimulate the Jewish effort and helped organize guerilla units that eventually formed the cadre for the Israeli army.

In the Middle East, he met Suzanne Ambache, a student majoring in French literature at the American University in Cairo, married her in 1945 and set up a home in Jerusalem. They now have one son, Eli.

Two years later, when Eban was appointed liaison officer with the U.N. Special Commission on Palestine, he began a rapid rise to his present posts.

As a debater, he can be eloquent or sarcastic in six languages, including English, French and German. As a diplomat he can observe all the social demands of protocol from his home in the Rock Creek area of Washington.

As a wit, he has made such remarks as this, when chastizing the British spokesman for refusing to admit Israel to the U.N.:

"When an ostrich buries its head in the ground to avoid facing unpleasant facts, it not only presents an undignified spectacle; it also constitutes an irresistible target."

Machine Sifts Sand to Clean City Beach

CHICAGO — The Chicago Park District reports success with a mechanical sand sifter that is said to make a considerable saving in the man power required to keep the city's 13 beaches clean.

The sifter device, a revolving drum 8 feet wide, housed under a metal cover and pulled over the beach by a gasoline-powered tractor, scoops up sand to a depth of 5 inches, sifts it, and drops the debris at the rate of 6 bushels every 20 to 100 feet into two metal baskets, which are removed and emptied as required.

Formerly the cleanup of Chicago's beaches, which have a water-edge length of some 20 miles, was done by crews of men using rakes. The mechanical sifter covers about 36 miles of beach in an hour.

GM Spokesman Objects to Bill

Hufstader Says Revival of Auto Group in South Would Cause Trouble

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A representative of General Motors said yesterday an Arkansas Senate bill which would regulate automobile manufacturer - dealer relations "is certain to result in continuous friction and litigation."

A Senate committee took no action, but heard representatives of both auto manufacturers and dealers.

The bill would re-establish the Arkansas Motor Vehicle Commission and give it authority to revoke the license of a manufacturer who tried to "coerce" any dealer.

William F. Hufstader, a General Motors vice president, said: "We do not believe that the current competitive conditions in the automobile industry present a reasonable justification for class legislation granting special statutory preferences which run counter to the American standard of a free, vigorous and competitive economy."

COMPOSED OF DEALERS

Hufstader said the proposed commission would be composed entirely of dealers. He implied that manufacturers would be at a disadvantage.

Don B. Robbins of Fort Smith said his General Motors franchise was not renewed in 1955 because his ideas "did not meet with the approval of certain personnel of the Buick division of General Motors."

Milton Green, formerly a franchised dealer in El Dorado, said Tennessee and Oklahoma had regulatory laws and found them workable.

Representatives of the Arkansas Automobile Dealers' Assn.—representing franchised dealers—generally favor the measure. The Arkansas Independent Automobile Dealers' Assn., composed of about 300 used car dealers, oppose the bill.

$18,000 Said Cost of Blaze in Cadillac

CADILLAC (AP)—Damages were estimated at $18,000 yesterday after two fires struck within hours at the De Clerck Auto Sales Agency and a second floor apartment above the salesrooms.

Fire Chief Robert Gilchrist said the first blaze apparently started Tuesday night from spontaneous combustion in oil-soaked rags used by the auto firm's body shop employes and stored under a stairway. He continued investigation into the cause of the second fire which broke out in the apartment at about 5:20 a.m.

No one was injured in the fires. The flames ruined the living quarters and furnishings of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Armstead, who own the building and currently are vacationing in Florida.

Railway Head to Speak

ANN ARBOR (AP) — David E. Smucker of Dearborn, president of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, has been added to the speaking program of the third Michigan Railroad Management Seminar at the University of Michigan Wednesday and Thursday.

WOODSHOP STUDENTS — Shaping a project during the Tuesday afternoon woodshop for girls at the Pontiac YMCA, 131 Mt. Clemens St. is Geraldine Clark, 11. With her is Carol Diller, 11, of 498 N. Saginaw St., another girl who has taken interest in the new program. Geraldine, of 22 Ellwood Ave. is turning a bowling pin into a table lamp, a feat which instructor Harvey Griswold says is often performed as skillfully by girls as by boys. During the rest of the week, girls attend gymnasium and swimming classes as well as special outings.

Talk or Vote, Senators Urged

Speakers Want to Face Full Chamber Before Balloting on Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leadership of both parties exhorted senators today to "start talking" or "start voting" as debate on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution all but flickered out.

For the second day in a row, the Senate ran short of speakers.

The resolution serves notice that the United States is prepared to use its armed forces and economic and military assistance in the Middle East to help nations requesting it to resist Communist aggression. Up to 200 million dollars of aid funds would be made available.

* * *

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), one of its opponents, conceded passage of the resolution, and declared that "insofar as I am concerned, I'm ready to vote now."

But Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he saw no prospect of a final vote before the end of next week or early the following week.

"There are plenty of senators waiting to speak," Johnson told reporters. "But they want to wait until next week to get a bigger audience in the chamber."

Build 20,000 Pools

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty thousand swimming pools were built in this area last year, two-thirds of the national total, says a building official. What's more, 35,000 are expected to be built this year.

Contract bridge is now taught in 20 colleges and universities in the United States.

Population of the U. S. is increasing rapidly enough to produce another city the size of Madison, Wisconsin every 10 days throughout the year.

House Refuses Liquor Tax to Finance State Buildings

LANSING (AP)—A plan to finance 150 million dollars in new state buildings with a 10 per cent tax on liquor lay on the legislative scrap heap today.

"It's dead now as far as I can see," said Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), the sponsor, after the House voted yesterday against bringing up his resolution for consideration.

A motion to reconsider the decision also was rejected, making a two-third vote necessary to get the measure before the House. That really finished it, Sallade said.

Even with House approval, the resolution would have to win a favorable vote in the Senate in time to go before the voters on the April 1 election ballot.

The plan originally called for a 200 million dollar bond issue for capital outlay, with the liquor tax going to retire the bonds.

The Republican-dominated committee on constitutional revision and amendment recommended a 150-million dollar bond issue, with a 30-million-dollar annual limit for a five year period.

It was the first proposal designed to solve state budget problems to pass the committee hurdle in either house.

"At least it served to bring attention to a bond issue plan for the state," Sallade said. "I believe the day is coming when the state is going to have to finance at least part of its building program with bond money."

A bill introduced by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) would shift the more than $1,800,000 remaining in the veterans' military pay fund to the general fund treasury.

The money is all that remains of 230 million dollars issued for bonus payments to World War II Veterans.

Only dependents of veterans who die from service-connected disabilities still are eligible.

The slate of officers: President Arlo Davis, vice president; Mrs. LaVerne Boutell, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. William Harrison. Porter Martin was named to replace Betty Neraasen to complete a two year term.

Many of the 28 local organizations were represented. A committee of four was appointed to study the need of an appropriation to the Boy and Girl Scouts in this area; those named are Gerald Shafer, Norman Williams Mrs. Mary Kessler and Mrs. B. L. Hamilton.

The association has invited all organizations of the area to participate in improvements. Already, plans are under way to install water fountains and playground equipment in Crossman Park in the spring.

Arraign Trio in Bank Holdup

2 Men, Woman Face Charges for Robbery in Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Two men and a woman indicted for the $8,220 holdup Feb. 4 of Citizens Industrial Bank faced arraignment on the charges today before Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent.

Dawaine L. Krier, 22, of Aberdeen, S. D., was transferred yesterday from Kalamazoo County to Kent County jail as one of the gunmen in the robbery.

Two others, Joseph Postelwaite, 21, of Kalamazoo, and Mrs. Minerva Goodman, 25, of Chicago, were brought to Grand Rapids Tuesday from Chicago.

Postelwaite is accused as the second gunman in the holdup and Mrs. Goodman was indicted for aiding and abetting as a getaway driver.

Each is charged on two counts. They were indicted for larceny of federally insured bank deposits and assault with a dangerous weapon on two bank employes.

Postelwaite and Mrs. Goodman were arrested Feb. 6 in Chicago and Krier was seized earlier the same day en route form Kalamazoo to Chicago. Police said most of the loot has been recovered.

A loss of about $7 billion a year to foods and crops is caused by insects and various kinds of fungi, according to the estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Crash Near Flat Rock Fatal to Truck Driver

FLAT ROCK (INS) — A truck driver was killed last night and 35 young school children narrowly escaped injury in a three-vehicle crash near Flat Rock.

State Police said a fuel oil truck driven by Melbourne C. Thibos, 65, of Detroit, rammed the rear of a steel truck which had stopped behind the bus.

Thibos was thrown from the cab of his truck and killed instantly.

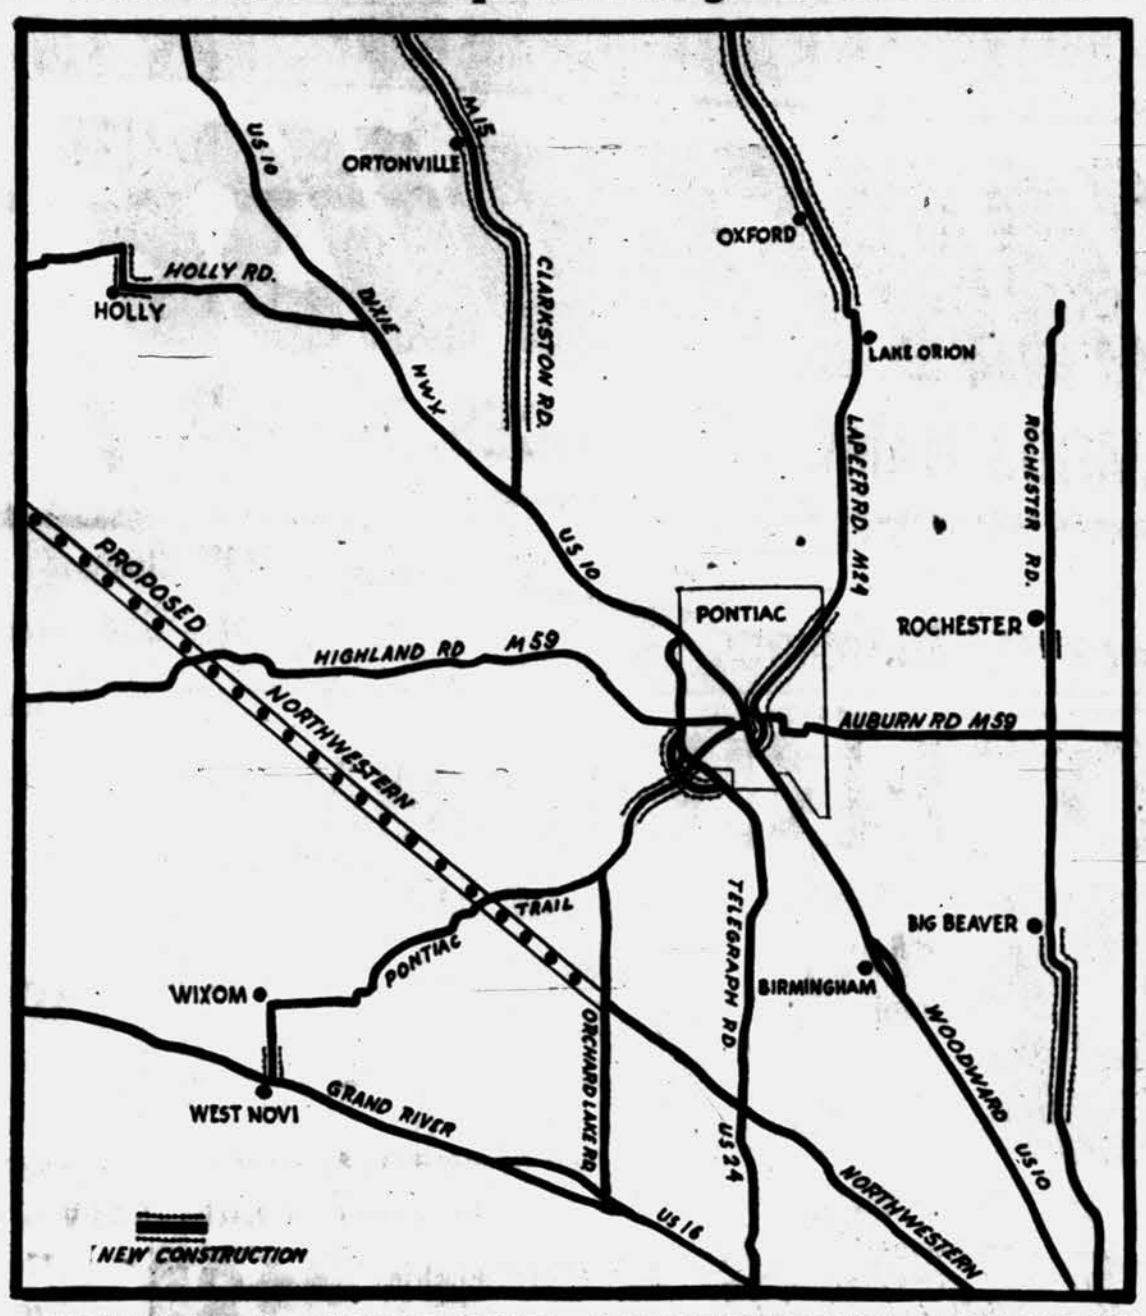
State Road Plan Spawns Huge Area Network



HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION — This map shows the Oakland County projects included in the state $560 million construction program proposed over the next three years by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. Topping the list is the extension of Northwestern Highway as a four-lane, limited-access artery to carry Detroit-Flint traffic. The sketch shows how four-lane construction would begin at Orchard Lake road, but the proposal includes improvements on the existing four-lane highway from Eight Mile Road, north. Including these improvements, Northwestern construction would total 35 miles, and the total construction planned for the county 68.5 miles. Most of the construction would be four-lane, with the exception of 11 miles of resurfacing on M15, north of Clarkston; 1.5 miles of resurfacing in Holly; and .5 miles in Rochester. The sketch shows how Orchard Lake Road would be widened to a four-lane highway from Telegraph Road, west to Keego Harbor. Also shown, but enlarged out of scale by the artist, is the four-lane re-routing of Telegraph through the Orchard Lake underpass. There were no plans announced for widening Perry Street in Pontiac. The announcement included proposals for grading and surfacing of the present four-lane road. Other projects shown include four-lane construction on Rochester Road from Eleven Mile Road to Big Beaver; four-lane construction on M24, north from Lake Orion for seven miles; and a four-lane divided highway north one mile from US23 to carry heavy traffic to the Ford Motor Co. plant in Wixom.

Findings Reveal Many Trends

Dems Up in Rural Vote, Republicans in Urban; Little Bolting of Parties

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Despite a rise in anti-Nixon sentiment, Democrats and Independents supported the Republican presidential ticket last year by about the same margin as in 1952, says the University of Michigan's survey Research Center.

Prof. Angus Campbell, director of the center, credited the personal popularity of President Eisenhower with attracting the Democratic-Independent vote over the dislike of Nixon.

The center said yesterday a preliminary report on the attitudes and votes of a nationwide sample of 2,000 adults showed Democrats evenly divided for and against the vice presidential candidate in 1952 weer four to one against him in 1956.

The center described its random sampling technique as "highly scientific."

The report also said Republicans scored heavy again last year among skilled and unskilled workers while Democrats picked up strength in farm and upper income families.

LITTLE BOLTING

Despite some regional shifts there was little bolting to opposing parties in the four-year interval, the report declared. It said there was "fairly widespread" support for present U. S. foreign policy and "apparent" backing for the federal government to play a larger role in domestic affairs, particularly school construction.

The center said the number of persons with strong opinions about either vice presidential candidate more than doubled between 1952 and 1956.

"In Nixon's case," the center said, "nearly all this increase in opinion was negative, but opinion followed quite closely the way in which people called themselves Republicans, Democrats, or Independents."

The survey did not give any figures whether Nixon hurt the presidential ticket or affected races by Republican candidates for Congress.

SOME SIGNIFICANT SHIFTS

In other conclusions the survey declared Catholics, who gave the Democrats a slim majority in 1952, returned a slightly heavier Republican majority in 1956; Democrats built up their majority from 71 to 77 per cent among Jewish voters in the four-years, and Democrats since 1948 have picked up "significant" strength among voters with a college education while Republicans have kept pace among voters with a high school education and have gained more among those who have only a grade school education.

Only 36 per cent of the negro adult population voted last year, a turnout only slightly higher than in 1952, the report said. The center said 36 per cent of the negro turnout voted Republican last year compared with 21 per cent in the previous presidential contest.

Republicans continued to pick up strength in towns and cities, while the Democrats cut the GOP lead in metropolitan-suburban and rural areas, the report said.

Faces Trial in Wife's Death

Order March Hearing for Man in Montcalm County Shooting

STANTON (AP) — Kenneth Johnson, 34, was bound over to circuit court yesterday for trial on a charge of first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of his wife.

Justice Ray King ordered Johnson held without bond in the Montcalm County jail for trial in the March term. Date was not set.

Johnson's wife, Ruth, 33, was killed by a 16-gauge shotgun blast in the kitchen of their home in rural Wyman last Dec. 12.

Johnson claimed at his examination that the weapon discharged accidentally while he was cleaning it.

The prosecution contended Johnson shot his wife to collect $25,000 in insurance.

A witness, Robert Garbow, manager of the Edmore branch of the State Farm Insurance Co., testified that Johnson and his wife took out identical $12,500 life insurance policies in Sept., 1954. Each policy contained double-indemnity clauses.

Other witnesses testified Johnson was $50,000 in debt.

A surprise witness at the hearing was Mrs. Jewel Johnson, 23, now of Tampa, Fla. She testified tearfully that Johnson had dated her over a two-year period and had posed as a single man.

She said she broke off the affair when she discovered he was married.

Johnson is the father of three children.

CD Course Scheduled

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A second civil defense health services course will be given March 4-8 at Federal Civil Defense Administration headquarters in Battle Creek. It will be conducted by the FCDA staff college in cooperation with the health office as a follow-up to the first course given last July.

Report Lauds Civic Spirit Shown by School Boards

EDITOR'S NOTE: Pontiac School Superintendent Dr. Dana P. Whitmer is returning from the 63rd annual convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators, which gathered in Atlantic City, N.J., for a convention Feb. 15 through yesterday.

By DR. DANA P. WHITMER
Pontiac Superintendent of Schools

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — The tremendous value of a good board of education was well recognized by more than 19,000 schoolmen here for the AASA's largest convention in history.

"Board members occupy strategic positions," the book prepared by a committee headed by C. C. Trillingham of Los Angeles, states. "No layman can possibly know all there is to know about schools.

"In the final analysis he is going to have to base much of his information, attitude and confidence on faith. Board members spend a tremendous amount of time working on school problems. They know far more about schools than most of the people they represent."

The new study points out that many lay citizens realize that board members, themselves businessmen and women, can effectively interpret the school program to others.

We read in the new study that, "Board of education members perform a thankless task. They sometimes get to feel like the linemen on a football team. They do the hard, dirty work and get their noses rubbed in the dirt; and too often the spectacular backfield men get the credit and applause."

All of us agree that many of the advances in schools have come about as a result of sound, solid work done by boards of education. Board of education activity is one of the highest types of public service.

The study concludes, "A good board of education is a prime requisite for better instruction. A capable and unified board can serve as a nucleus for school-community relations that promote better instruction."

PONTIAC FORTUNATE

The recognition of Board of Education Membership as a key leadership position is convincing evidence that Pontiac is indeed fortunate in having top flight citizens representing it on the Board. The favorable financial position of the Pontiac Schools, as well as the continually developing educational program reflect this leadership.

Informality and flexibility characterize the design of the many school building plans on display at the AASA Convention this year.

One major section of the exhibit hall in Atlantic City's vast Convention Hall is devoted to the theme, "New Schools for Learning," and includes models, photographs, blueprints and plans of the latest in schoolhouse construction.

The more than 19,000 of us at this convention have been impressed by the fact that the old, rigid look of box-like schools erected in the past decade is being replaced by a single story structure that is functional and friendly.

Campus-type plans with instructional units clustered around centrally-located general service areas are being constructed in all areas of the United States. Experience over the country indicates that these new attractive schools are being bought at a cost no greater than that of the more conventional design.

LARGER AND DEEPER

The newest classrooms are larger and deeper with natural light admitted through the ceiling and through large window areas. Architects seem to have leaned over backward in an effort to make every square foot of space functional.

More attention is also being given to parking space and the flow of traffic on school grounds. Handling the increasing number of automobiles has become a major consideration in school plant planning.

A high spot of the architectural exhibit is a century of progress in school building as displayed by the New York City Board of Education. This showed us how functional and architecturally pleasing school plants can be despite locations in highly congested areas.

Paul J. Misner, president of the American Assn. of School Administrators, said that the 178 plans and models of new school buildings is once again a feature of the entire convention.

Out of the constant series of informal conversations centered around these booths many communities will undoubtedly have better designed and more economical school buildings because the superintendents have the opportunity to learn of and profit from the plans from all over the country.

Postmaster General Sworn In 2nd Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur E. Summerfield of Michigan was sworn in to serve a second term as Postmaster General yesterday in a White House ceremony witnessed by his 7-year-old granddaughter, Cynthia Davison of Flint, Mich.

Chief Justice Earl Warren administered the oath. President Eisenhower handed the commission to Summerfield remarking this is "your second diploma."

Summerfield's job is the only cabinet position requiring a formal reappointment at the end of a Presidential term. Unless there is a second appointment the office ends 30 days after the President's term.

Attending the ceremony was a Michigan delegation made up of Sen. Potter (R-Mich) former Sen. Homer Ferguson, now a member of the U.S. Military Appeals Court, and Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker.

Summerfield's granddaughter is visiting Washington.

Lansing Employes Seek $800 Year Pay Hike

LANSING (AP) — Municipal Employes Union, Local 105, which represents 90 per cent of the city employes in Lansing, has asked the city for an average $800 annual wage increase.

Union spokesmen presented their proposals to the City Council last night. They also asked time and one half pay for all work over 40 hours, improved vacations and insurance plans.

The council referred the proposal to a committee for study.

The union represents, among others, the Lansing Fire and Police Departments.

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Refugee Work Wins Friends

NEW YORK (INS) — Here are the basic results of the President's committee for Hungarian refugee relief work:

1.—The U.S. gained a good press throughout the free and neutral world, including in some places where the reverse had been true.

2.—The world at large witnessed a historic movement of 24,000 refugees from Hungary to the U.S., and their resettlement, in record time.

3.—Humanitarianism on such massive scale, plus the despotism of Communist forces in Hungary, wrecked for some incalculable time to come the careful, costly efforts of Russia to pose as a friend of the oppressed.

"One of the most effective weapons for exposing Communism and countering anti-American propaganda that the U.S. Information Service in Germany has experienced in years," our embassy in Bonn reports.

HOW MUCH EFFORT

"Berliner Moregenpost" said, editorially, "The refugees were able to see with their own eyes how much effort the U.S. Air Force put into each flight and with what overwhelming friendliness the crew members tried to fulfill their every wish."

"Abendzeitung," big Munich paper, said, "What the American Army, Air Force and Navy are doing for the refugees may perhaps only be compared to the Berlin airlift. This giant, smoothly operating organization was set up within a few days. Red tape is unheard of."

The Munich correspondent of the "Journal De Geneve" told his Swiss readers, "It is an inhuman enough procedure under ordinary conditions to see that passengers are counted, photographed, examined by doctors, vaccinated, X-rayer, questioned by the police and the American Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"But here at MATS terminal and elsewhere smiles and kindness reassure the impatient and dissatisfied. Tranquility and inexhaustible goodwill — that is what one always finds in these Americans working with the refugees. One cannot imagine a cold approach from these people. The man is not hidden behind his work.

"There are no numbers replacing names. The refugees are never numbers for Lt. Col. Burns, head of the Leopold barracks camp at Munich, who has been averaging two hours of sleep a night for a long time. With a broad smile and good humor, he welcomes one and all as human beings — not statistics.

RED CROSS WORK

"They are not numbers, either, for the women of the American Red Cross, all volunteers. For hours on end, they distribute toilet articles, cigarettes and such things to the adults, toys and tidbits to the children.

"They do not wear a fixed smile. They express a sympathy, a sensitivity, which overcomes all barriers of language and engenders gestures of friendship and deepest gratitude . . ."

Sandor, the John Doe of Hungarian refugees, is single, 28 years old, has 10 years of schooling, wants a job and more schooling. It took him hardly a week to move from Budepest to Joyce Kilmer Reception Center, N.J., where a religious or some other voluntary welfare agency fended for him in respect to job, home, opportunity.

While at Kilmer he was given 4,300 calories of food a day to make up for previous privation. He had as his translator a friendly American soldier of Hungarian descent.

He learned about TV, found a shop in which he could build or putter to heart's content, had access to the wonders of the PX, could go to sleep at night knowing there would be no gunbutt battering on the door.

"What happened all added luster to the reputation of our armed forces for carrying out peaceful missions with distinction and humanity," said the President's representative in these matters, Tracy S. Voorhees. He could say it again. The world is.

No Doubt About It— They're Worry Warts

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — A psychiatrist reports that bacteria and other minute organisms find it easier to infect people who worry and fret.

"All organic diseases are influenced by psychological factors," said Dr. Leo Rangell, clinical professor of psychiatry at UCLA, at a recent postgraduate seminar on psychiatric problems in general practice. "Resistance to infection is influenced by the psychic state."

The psychiatrist said emotional irritations may be reflected in irritations of the lining of the colon or skin surface, which in turn invite bacterial invasion.

Danny Thomas Gets Expert Advice on Picking TV Mate

Comedian Searches for Second Wife

NEW YORK (INS) — Danny Thomas, a comedian who has been described as so sentimental he cries at basketball games, is about to select a TV wife — just like the less sentimental comedians do occasionally.

Only with Danny, it's tougher.

First off, Danny had the courage, "or would you call it audacity?," to allow his first TV wife to "die." He had to, he says, because every time he took out his real wife there was nasty gossip about how he was cheating. The fact the actress wanted out from the role also had a vague connection.

Anyway, now Danny's in the spot of being a 40-year-old widower whose fans remember his "late" missus and may feel squeamish about a replacement.

"Then, to add to the problem," Danny says, his voice breaking dramatically, "the ABC publicity department called in the American Institute of Family Relations to pick the kind of girl I should pick to be my second wife and mother to my two televised kids.

"You know what this Dr. Paul Popenoe decided? . . . I should have a dame in my own line of work, with the same background as me.

"Why, I wouldn't —" he was really choked up now "— give that kind of woman the time of day!"

THE BETTER HALF

It has long been a principle of Thomas's that a woman should be considerably better than her man, and that she definitely should not be involved in the fame business.

"When I got married — to the real one, that is — she was a singer," he recalled. "After we had three kids she wanted to go back to the profession, but I said no. That's when I coined a phrase, or at least I think it's mine, and told my wife: 'I want a wife to come home to; not with.'

"Furthemore, on the show I'm a guy who only got through the first grade of high school. I'm a big, good-hearted, sort of, well, slob. You think any Institute of Family Relations is going to make me marry a girl like that?"

Dr. Popenoe pointed out that the other requirements for the wife of a middle-aged widower with two children were these:

She should have mutual interests to help them occupy their leisure moments ("That's okay," conceded Dan, "just so she stays out of golf and poker"); she should not necessarily be a raving beauty ("Wha'?" remarked Danny); but should definitely be sufficiently attractive so that she will not suffer by comparison with other women he meets professionally ("A'right, that's better").

WILLING TO WORK

The family relations experts have only one more suggestion regarding selection of a second wife for the Danny Thomas show. She should be willing to work for a happy family relationship, without expecting anything in return.

"That sounds very good," said Danny. "But I don't suppose the unions would allow it."

Iran was Persia more than 2,500 years. The new name came into use in 1935.

Free Shipping of Ice by Compressed Air

STOCKHOLM—A new method of keeping shipping lanes ice-free is being studied by the industrial city of Vaesteras, on Lake Maelaren, which hopes to link its port, with the city of Soedertalje, some 60 miles away on the Baltic Sea.

Perforated plastic tubes are placed on the bottom and compressed air whirls the warmer bottom water up through them and melts the ice and prevents more from forming.

Tests conducted during a prolonged cold spell with compressor capacity of 100 gallons a minute, 50-foot-deep water, and 2-foot-thick ice, made holes in 20 hours. A day later holes 30 feet wide had formed, leaving a practically free lane of water 30 to 40 feet wide. After the plant had operated two weeks the lane was 60 to 65 feet wide. As long as the air was being fed, no new ice formed.

Disabled Vets' Savings Left to Town's Charities

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Henry Budner, disabled Navy veteran and a native of Armenia, left his estate, estimated at $24,000, to charity. He said in his will he had no knowledge of any known relatives but directed that anyone coming to Norfolk and proving relationship be given expenses from Norfolk to his or her home if in the United States.

Of Important Michigan Sites

Plates to Mark History

LANSING (AP)—Sturdy aluminum plates marking the sites of seven French and American forts of Michigan's frontier period will be erected before next summer, the Michigan Historical Commission said.

The fort markers are part of the commission's extensive program to provide permanent markers for sites most significant in Michigan history.

The fort sites are Ft. Miami at St. Joseph, built in 1679 by the French explorer Sieur de LaSalle; Ft. St. Joseph at Niles, built in 1691 by the French; Ft. De Baude at St. Ignace, built by the French in 1686; Ft. Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City, a French fort erected in 1712; Ft. Brady at Saulte Ste. Marie, built by Americans in 1822; and Ft. Wilkins at Fort Wilkins state park, built in 1844 by Americans.

Another marker is planned soon for Ft. Colyer at Drummond Island, a British fort erected in 1819.

Forst Michilimackinac and Wilkins have been reconstructed, and some remains of Ft. Colyer still are visible. The others have long since vanished.

Antarctic Men Keep Fit

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Action has been taken to see that no muscles turn flabby among the 18 Americans stationed at the South Pole during the long Antarctic winter night. A U. S. Air Force Globemaster today parachuted a set of barbells to the U.S. scientific outpost at the Pole.

Kremlin Collars College Students

Requires Hard Labor Before Giving Degrees to University Graduates

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Kremlin, in a drive to regain control over restless Soviet youth, has promulgated a scheme to bind students in a straitjacket of labor before and after their university course.

The plan is apparently intended to punish students in higher educational institutions for numerous manifestations of discontent with the Soviet system.

Last week the first deputy minister of higher education, Vsevolod N. Stoletov, announced Soviet universities will be restricted to youths who have put in two or three years of hard labor in factories or on farms.

"Under present conditions, with higher educational institutions overcrowded, we must presume that it's a law that the road to higher education lies through work in factories and farms," he said.

The deputy rector of Moscow University, G. Vovchenko, said university graduates should get their diplomas not at the time of graduation but only after they have put in two years of "practical" work in the field.

"This," he declared, "will help Soviet young people gain experience and those who fail in it should not be granted their diplomas."

This looks like an effort to prevent evasion of obligatory "work assignments" given to all Soviet graduates of higher educational institutions. These work assignments usually are in remote and desolate areas which city-bred young people find unpleasant. Thousands of graduates manage through one or another device to escape them.

An estimated five million persons in the U.S. are color blind.

Detroit Budget Asks $11 Million Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Albert E. Cobo yesterday received budget requests for the 1957-58 fiscal year totaling $186,422,542 — an increase of 11 million dollars over the 1956-57 record budget.

The budget requests were submitted by City Controller John H. Witherspoon.

Cobo, Witherspoon and city department heads will start budget hearings Monday.

State Gas Company to Ask Rate Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. yesterday said it will ask Michigan Public Service Commission to increase its rates about 6 per cent.

The firm also said it will ask the MPSC for a refund of some four million dollars to its customers. The refunds to home users would range from 70 cents to $1.90 and from $6 to $11 to commercial gas users, the company said.

Consolidated President Henry Tuttle said the rate increase was needed for "continued expansion" of facilities.

Consolidated said the refund would result from "excessive rates" charged by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., one of Consolidated's suppliers.

West Virginia is the largest producer of bituminous coal while Pennsylvania ranks in a strong second place.

Soviets Veto Kashmir Plan

Reject West's Proposal to Send U.N. Delegate to Disputed Area

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Union has vetoed a Western plan to send the Security Council president to India and Pakistan in an effort to settle the Kashmir dispute.

The Russian delegate hinted that an alternate proposal by the United States would get the same treatment.

It was the 79th Russian veto in the council and their first in the nine-year-old dispute over whether Kashmir will go to India or Pakistan. The vote was 9-1, with Sweden abstaining.

India, not a council member, objected to any proposal that might lead to sending a U.N. force to Kashmir to pave the way for the plebiscite the U.N. has called for several times.

The Western plan would have sent Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, council president for February, to the Indian subcontinent to seek means of ending the Kashmir controversy, possibly by sending a U.N. force there.

This plan was sponsored by the United States, Britain, Australia and Cuba. Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev said the U.N. Charter does not authorize setting up a U.N. force except to repel aggression. He emphasized India's opposition.

After the Russian veto, U.S. Delegate James W. Barco offered a substitute resolution to send Jarring to India and Pakistan to seek a settlement on Kashmir through "any proposals." The use of a U.N. force was not mentioned.

India and Pakistan have been disputing over which will get Kashmir since Britain granted them independence in 1947. Both have troops in the Himalayan state. India recently declared formal incorporation of the portion it occupies — the wealthier eastern half.

Ike Appoints Short, Snyder

Pair Nominated to Fill Top Positions for Army and Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has named his assistant press secretary and former Rep. Dewey Short of Missouri to top positions in the departments of Defense and the Army.

Short, a Republican who was defeated for re-election last year after 28 years in the House, was nominated to be assistant secretary of the Army for civil-military activities.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, was named to be assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

Both nominations require confirmation by the Senate.

Short for many years was the senior Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, and was its chairman when the GOP controlled Congress.

His new position will put him in charge of military public works projects such as those undertaken by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Short, whose home is at Galena, Mo., in the Ozarks, will succeed Chester R. Davis, who resigned.

Snyder was chosen to replace Robert Tripp Ross, who resigned after investigating senators questioned him about contracts awarded by the military to firms in which his wife and brother-in-law hold an interest.

Snyder is a tall, slender, 45-year-old former newspaperman who joined the Eisenhower staff at the start of the present administration in 1953.

Brooklyn-born, Snyder was educated in the public schools and at San Antonio Junior College, San Antonio, Tex. He went to work as a sports writer for the San Antonio Light in 1928 and stayed through 1929.

From 1931 to 1937 he was a political writer for the Brooklyn Eagle in Albany and Washington. He wrote politics for the New York Post for several years.

Snyder enlisted in the Army as a private in 1942, served four years, and came out a captain.

After getting out of uniform, Snyder joined the New York Herald Tribune.

Korean Brainwash Effective, Says Major

NEW YORK (AP) — An Army neuro-psychiatrist says that four out of 10 Americans in Korean prisoner of war camps yielded to brainwashing techniques.

Maj. William E. Meyer told a convention of the American Paper and Pulp Assn. that the POWs "died psychologically" under the effects of shrewd and subtle influences that seldom involved torture.

Meyer, a psychiatrist with the 1st Marine Division in Korea, said weak-willed prisoners succumbed to the brainwashing within 48 hours after it began.

He said the brainwashing was designed for the physical control of prisoners and to make them distrust each other—but did not seek to make Communists of the captives. He added that fewer than 1 per cent of the Americans were subjected to torture.

Sea Level Has Risen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The sea level has risen several hundred feet during fairly recent times, the dean of the graduate school at Louisiana State University said last night.

Dr. Richard J. Russell said, however, there are signs of a recent slowing in this trend. He said the average rise in the last 18,000 years was about 450 feet, possibly concentrated in 130 centuries, or about 3½ feet per century.

A Lot of Dog Paddling

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—First Division Marines said a dog which joined up for an amphibious landing swam 1,600 yards to the Navy Transport Cavalier. He had been left behind in withdrawal from a beach. He was named Lucky and adopted as mascot of the division's fifth regiment.

Eden in Auckland to Regain Health From Fever Bouts

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Smiling but looking weak, former British Prime Minister Eden arrived with his wife in Auckland today for a rest.

Eden said in a brief news conference that this was his first full day out of bed since two bouts with fever during the trans-Pacific voyage aboard the liner Rangitata.

He said the first attack was mild, the other sharper. He said that neither lasted long but they weakened him.

The Edens were greeted by Prime Minister Sidney Holland and his wife and Sir William Jordan, New Zealand's wartime high commissioner in London.

Eden came to New Zealand to recover from the ill health which his doctors said forced his resignation as prime minister Jan. 9.

Grover Cleveland was the only U. S. President ever to serve a second term after having been defeated for re-election at the end of his first term, according to historical records.

Kohler Strike Still in Deadlock

Clergymen, Rabbi Meet as Walkout Mediators; Report No Progress

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—Spokesmen for the Kohler Co. and local 833 of the United Auto Workers met for more than four hours yesterday with two clergymen-mediators but made no announcement of progress.

Both sides agreed to meet again today.

Ysterday's session was held in the rectory of St. Clement's Roman Catholic Church. Sitting in on the talks were the Rev. John F. Cronin, Washington, D. C., and Rabbi Eugene J. Lipman of New York. The priest and the Rabbi both are nationally prominent in the field of social action.

A third clergyman, the Rev. Dr. Cameron P. Hall of New York, a Protestant leader in the social welfare field, was expected to arrive here tonight and will join in tomorrow's meeting.

The three clergymen brought the company and union together last Friday, the first time the two parties had met since March, 1956. The union has been on strike against the plumbingware firm since April 5, 1954, in a dispute over contract terms concerning wages and union security clauses. The firm returned to production several weeks later, using non-striking employes and new workers.

The union's demand and company's refusal to reinstate striking workers is reportedly the largest stumbling block to settlement.

A decision on union complaints of unfair labor practices by the firm still is pending before the National Labor Relations Board, which has sent the case back to the NLRB trial examiner George Downing for a specific recommendation.

TOILING PATRIARCH — The oldest man in the Middle East, Mohammed Khalil Abu Hawa, is 136 years old and has a birth certificate to prove it. Despite his age, the old peasant still vigorously wields a hoe in his garden, unvanquished by time except for poor eyesight and hearing. El Hawa has never in all of his 136 years ventured beyond Jerusalem. But he has outlived five wives and fathered the grand total of 26 children.

Guard Officer Raps Training Regulation

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)— The top officer of Arizona's National Guard says his outfit would need about four months intensive training to be ready for combat—even with the new six-month training regulation.

Maj. Gen. Frank E. Fraser told newsmen the burden of the new regulation requiring six months of active duty for all enlistees would fall on employers, and added: "The new act means one thousand employes per year taking six months' training. This already has caused many employers to look down their noses."

MONROE (AP)—Melbourne V. Thibos, 65, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when his truck struck the rear of a tractor-trailer and glanced off a school bus carrying 40 children on U.S. 24 six miles north of Monroe. The school children escaped injury as did the drivers of the other two vehicles.

SECURE ALL LINES — Crewmen of the U.S.S. Ashland secure all lines after submerging the landing ship dock's stern some 14½ feet to take aboard this P5M Marlin patrol bomber in Chesapeake Bay. Once the big plane is aboard, the Ashland closes her tail-gate, pumps out the ballast and steams away with her "big bird" high and dry, ready for repairs or maintenance.

Offer Sunken Doria for Sale; Get Nibble

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — You can buy the luxury liner Andrea Doria, as is, if you want to gamble on raising her.

An unidentified Rhode Islander may be interested in doing just that.

Russell Adams, an official of Gorham Mfg. Co., said yesterday he had located a person, whom he declined to identify, who says he could raise the sunken liner by "internal flotation."

The Andrea Doria sank off Nantucket last July with a loss of 50 lives after a collision with the liner Stockholm.

Adams said he had received a letter from Italy that the insurers of the liner have given up any idea of trying to raise the ship.

Adams said, however, that the letter made it clear that the insurers would continue to hold title to the liner until it can be sold as is to anyone who wants to gamble on raising it.

Prison Inmate Pair Success as Writers

JACKSON (AP)—Behind the bleak walls of Southern Michigan Prison, a convicted slaye and a forger are writing tales of the outdoors and children's stories.

They're getting about 40 per cent of their stories accepted for publication. Right now the team is working on an illustrated book for children, "Timothy, the Timid Tiger."

The inmate authors are William Morey, 22, serving life for murder, and Robert Dale, serving 5 to 14 years for forgery. They write under the pen name of Dale Morey.

The two said most of their earnings go into art supplies to illustrate the new book.

Monkeys, with one exception, are found only in regions where furnaces and furs are unnecessary. The exception is a large Langur, the "Monkey of the Snows." It lives in the cold evergreen forests of the Himalayan foothills.

Security For You

Know Your Pension Plan - Thoroughly

One out of every four persons who work are covered by some form of private pension plan, in addition to Social Security.

But, if my letters are any indication, few of them know much about the plan — at least until they're right on the brink of retirement. Then, they have a rude awakening.

Many discover that the plans do not provide them with what they thought they would; that the money they'll have to retire on will be considerably less; that they will have to work—at least, part-time—to make ends meet.

For example: Almost all private pensions have a specific formula which must be used to figure out the retirement payments. The formula may include such things as how long a person worked for his company, the size of his salary, his retirement age, the amount he and his company have put into the pension plan and whether he's eligible for Social Security.

Usually it's up to each person to use the formula to figure what his pension will pay him. And, usually they can get help from their bosses on the figuring. But, often they don't start figuring and planning their retirement until late in life. Then, it's too late if they find their private pension isn't what they thought it would be.

A recent letter is a good example. It was from a woman who reached retirement age and applied for her company pension. She'd figured on having about $185 a month to live on, including her Social Security.

Then, to her amazement she found she would only have about $145 a month.

COSTLY DIFFERENCE

"That $40 difference is nearly what it takes to run my home. I just don't see how I'm going to get along. As you know, it's very difficult to get a job at 65. My legs aren't very good any more and I couldn't take any kind of a job where I had to stand up very long."

She went on to explain that she hadn't realized her company's pension plan had a clause in it involving her Social Security payments.

All along she'd planned to collect $105 a month from the company pension and $80 a month in Social Security or a total of $185. She didn't know the amount of the company pension would be reduced automatically by half of her Social Security payment. Instead of getting $105 she would be eligible for only $65 from the company and $80 from Social Security or a total of $145 a month.

"If only I'd known 10 years sooner that the company pension works the way it does, I might have done things differently. I think the company should have given me a thorough explanation of how the plan worked.

"Still, it's water over the dam now. There isn't much I can do about this careiessness.

"Yet, I thought if I wrote to you, you might tell other people about my situation. Maybe, they would learn from it. Some might be saved the tough future I face. Perhaps, they would check their pension plan soon enough so they wouldn't make the same mistake."

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

DRIVER EDUCATION — With the full complement of 11 cars delivered, Pontiac High School's new driver education program is in full swing. Student drivers are shown negotiating the course laid out on the Wisner Football Stadium parking lot. A portable signal light, stop signs, and lane dividers are used to simulate actual traffic conditions. The cars are loaned by the Pontiac Retail Store.

Trainees Get More Experience at Wheel

Pontiac Cuts Driver Training Costs

Hundreds of Pontiac High School teenagers are learning safe driving habits and proper handling of automobiles in the new driver education course offered by the school, George Stewart, driver education instructor, told the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Chamber of Commerce recently.

The new system offers twice as much actual driving experience, while cutting the cost almost in half, he explained.

On the new controlled training course, laid out in the parking lot at Wisner Stadium, 11 new cars are available, loaned by the Pontiac Motors Retail Store. This enables the instructor to handle 60 students at a time and has brought enrollment to 420, mostly 10th graders from PHS and the parochial schools.

Cost to the board of education has been cut from $58 per pupil to $30, a saving of some $10,000 a semester.

The course is open to anyone 15 to 18 years of age. Those who complete the training are eligible for a license at 16. Youths without driver education training must wait until they are 18 to get a license, Stewart pointed out.

The course consists of 30 hours of classroom instruction, Stewart said, plus eight hours on the driving course and nearly two hours on the public streets.

Both manual and automatic shift cars are available and some have dual controls, he noted.

The special driving course, complete with a portable traffic signal, stop signs and other traffic devices, is so designed that students can practice without an experienced driver in the car at all times. This permits a few instructors to handle a much larger group than formerly, Stewart commented.

He added it was his hope that some day driver education, which is now voluntary, will be made a required course and combined with health or civics classes.

Washington's Great Decisions

4. To Give Up Personal Comfort for the Public Good

The French and Indian War was over and George Washington retired to private life at Mt. Vernon, the estate on the Potomac River he had inherited from his half brother, Laurence.

He married a wealthy widow, Martha Dandridge Custis, and settled down to develop his plantation. He lived there 15 years, a respected citizen and member of the Virginia assembly.

But war was brewing between the American colonists and the English government. The colonists were being treated unfairly and Washington realized that sooner or later they would have to resist by force.

Washington was happy and contented on his plantation but duty called him once again. He put aside his personal affairs and became a delegate to the first Continental Congress at Philadelphia.

When the Congress adjourned, Washington returned to Virginia—but not to plantation life. He concerned himself with organizing, equipping and training volunteer troops.

The greatest of Washington's many decisions was only months away.

Reds Said Planning to Use Earth's Heat

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Soviet Aviation said that Soviet science plans to harness the heat of the earth to generate electricity for homes and industry.

It said the first "geosonic" power stations would be built in Siberia's Kamchatka Peninsula and the adjacent Kurile Islands because volcanic activity there is close to the earth's surface. The report gave no details.

The preview of Soviet scientific plans for 1957 also listed completion of atomic power stations and said work is continuing on the world's first atomic icebreaker in a Leningrad shipyard.

Two Cars, One Driver —Police Solve Case

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—The city policeman blinked in amazement when he saw two cars with only one driver pass the station. They were even the same make, model and color.

The driver, when stopped, asked the officer to find out who was following him so closely. He had hooked the bumper of the second car and towed it several blocks.

Brandon Special Election to Decide Millage Hike

6-Mill Question Waits for Vote

School Money Needed for Pay, Equipment, Says Superintendent

ORTONVILLE—A special school election will be held Tuesday in Brandon Township to decide on an additional six mills to be used for operational purposes such as increases in teachers salaries and equipment for the laboratory and office furniture.

In March of 1956, the people of Brandon Township voted to build a new high school and elementary building at a cost of $650,000. At this time, Supt. E. J. Hungerford stated the amount would not cover such items as school furniture and laboratory equipment. In view of what prices were at that time, the cost was approximately $68,000, for this equipment.

Due to the bond issue of last year, a sum of 14 mills has been voted to retire bond issues of 1954 and '56. This is figured according to state equalization valuation.

Supt. Hungerford has stated that the proposed tax of six mills would be approximately an additional $3 per $1000 according to state equalization valuation. The total amount of millage for each taxpayer would be $27.85 per $1000 of state equalization valuation.

All registered voters may participate in this election, which will be held in Brandon Town Hall on Tuesday. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Pine Knob teachers hope to raise funds to furnish their lounge in the new building on Sashabaw Road.

They will have a refreshment stand and a coat check room at the High School for the evening. Adult tickets and student tickets will be on sale at the high school until Friday.

Ethel Rowley, Hilda Hedden and Charles Winters are on the planning committee, Shirley Wilson, and Greta Ortegeson are in charge of advertising; Ruth Goss, Gordon Spellbringer and Barry Breidenbaugh are planning the decorations.

Southfield Plans 9-Man Group

To Begin Establishing of 'Legal' Commission in Area Township

SOUTHFIELD — Plans are under way to establish a "legal" planning commission here.

Township Clerk Fannie Adams said the Township board has given the nod to the formation of a nine-man group to be created by ordinance.

This will take the place of Southfield's former unofficial group created in 1950 with no actual powers.

Mrs. Adams said the process of interviewing prospects for the commission is expected to be complete by the next regular meeting of the Township board Feb. 26.

Appointments to the commission will be made at that time, she added.

Unbreakable Record

Warren Justice Seals Rite With Hi-Fi Discs

WARREN (INS) — A Warren justice of the peace makes sure the marriages he performs are the high-fidelity kind by giving the bride and bridegroom a recording of the wedding ceremony.

Fred Nicholson, a former Macomb County prosecutor, said:

"Weddings are important and I try to make the date a memorable one for the couples I marry."

Just to make certain, Nicholson gives the couples unbreakable records.

He got the idea of giving records of the ceremonies to couples by accident one day when he was dictating to his secretary.

A couple who wanted to be married interrupted him and he left the dictating machine on. When his secretary began transcribing his dictation, she was puzzled by the "I do's" coming over the machine. Nicholson said: "I contacted the couple and told them they could have a recording of the ceremony. They said they enjoyed it so much I decided to make it a habit."

Fowler, president of the Board of Directors of the nearly one year old club stated Tuesday that a group of citizens interested in doing something tangible and constructive for the youth of Avon and Pontiac Township started the Boys' Club movement in Auburn Heights and patterned it after the successful program of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

The response to date has been tremendous with several thousand dollars having been pledged prior to the kickoff.

A canvas of the entire community is slated to begin immediately and people are urged to contact members of the committee or to mail their contributions to the campaign headquarters in care of Hearl Newingham, 1925 West Auburn, Rochester.

Postal Fund Bill Wins House OK

$80 Million Cut From Requested Total; Senate May Hike Allotment

WASHINGTON (AP)—House advocates of a cut in federal spending boasted a modest and hard-won initial victory today, but already there was talk that the Senate will restore some of the money.

The House, sustaining its Appropriations Committee, cut $80,364,000 or about 2 per cent from President Eisenhower's requests in passing yesterday a $3,884,927,000 money bill to finance the Treasury and Post Office departments for the year starting July 1.

The bill is the first of 13 annual money measures under which Eisenhower has asked for more than 73 billion dollars of new appropriations. Some House members are seeking to cut at least five billions.

The House passed the bill by voice vote. It allots $691,467,000 to the Treasury Department, $3,192,000,000 to the Post Office Department and $1,460,000 to the Tax Court.

Cuts included 58 million from Post Office requests and $22,364,000 from the Treasury.

Oilman Defends Price Increases

Blames Higher Costs, Reserve Development for Nationwide Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — An oil industry leader said today recent increases in oil and gasoline prices stemmed largely from higher costs and a need to encourage development of new oil reserves.

Hines H. Baker, president of the Humble Oil & Refining Co., Houston, Tex., said this in testimony prepared for a Senate investigation of the oil-for-Europe program and domestic price increases that followed its inauguration.

Baker was the first oil industry spokesman to be heard by a joint Senate Antimonopoly - Public Lands subcommittee studying the situation.

"Prices of crude oil, gasoline and petroleum products generally are relatively low," he said.

The price boosts have drawn heavy protests in and out of Congress. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) joined in the protests today as she prepared to testify before the group."

'Minute Men' Rite Causes Conflict Between Towns

BOSTON (INS) — Lexington and Concord have stood together for 182 years since the Minute Men turned back the British in 1775, but a split is appearing in the ranks today.

The two historic towns, which have marked the April 19 anniversary with virtually joint exercises for years today are in disagreement over a proposal to change the date of the observance this year to April 22—because of Good Friday and the Easter weekend.

Lexington wants the celebration on the morning of April 19, while Concord where the exercises traditionally are held later in the day wants to change the date to April 22 and give the entire day over to the Patriots' Day program.

The celebrations in both communities are timed to the arrival of riders impersonating Paul Revere and William Dawes at Lexington, where another rider takes the warning of the approach of the Redcoats to Concord. It was at Concord that the "Shot heard 'round the world" was fired in defense of the rude bridge over the Concord River.

Afternoon Service Performed

Janet Trumble Marries

ROCHESTER — Janet Christine Trumble became Mrs. Niles Bushman on February 16 at an afternoon nuptial ceremony held in the First Congregational Church in St. Clair. The Rev. Robert Burgess, formerly of Rochester, performed the rites before members of the immediate families.

The bride chose an afternoon dress of pale blue Chantilly lace with bouffant skirt and fitted bodice for her wedding. Her tiny hat, made of the same lace, had a shoulder length veil and her accessories were in the same pastel shade. She carried a bridal nosegay made of gardenias and white rosebuds.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Joann Trumble who wore a gown of cafe au lait in silk peau de soie.

Robert Paquette served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Trumble of Fifth Street, in the evening. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bushman, also of Rochester.

Following a honeymoon in St. Louis, the young couple will make their home in Rochester.

Truman Doesn't Favor Sanctions Against Israel

ISLAMORADA, Fla. (INS)—Former President Harry S. Truman took time out from his Florida vacation today to say he did not believe that sanctions should be applied against Israel.

The ex-chief executive said he did not hold with the theory, as expressed by President Eisenhower in his address to the nation last night, "that you do not interfere with the big nations but you must make the little ones obey."

Truman charged that many of the persons who are blaming Israel for the trouble in the Middle East "are anti-Semitic."

Asked specifically whether he believed that Israel was in fact the aggressor in the recent Middle East flare-up, Truman commented:

KNOW INSIDE DATA

"You can't believe everything you read. You have to know what's behind the whole thing. I didn't get my information from newspapers when I could get it from the Central Intelligence Agency . . . which I can't do now."

He wrote off the split between Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif), and President Eisenhower over the sanction issue with the comment:

"It is always helpful for the Democrats if they can stir up some trouble in the Republican Party."

The former president said the present Middle East difficulties could have been averted had "we kept Russia out of the Mediterranean Sea and prevented them from sending arms to Egypt."

REFUSES COMMENT

Truman refused to say what he would do to solve the current crisis. He said he had put forth a 10-point plan to House Committee on Resolutions last week and referred reporters to this document.

He further said he did not "want to embarrass" President Eisenhower because, although he may have different political views, the President's job is "the toughest on earth."

Truman said he had listened to "only part" of the President's speech last night and he refused to be drawn out on its contents beyond saying sanctions should not be imposed.

He also said he believed the integration trouble the South is now having will "eventually come out all right." He lashed out at the Ku Klux Klan, declaring, "anyone who has to hide behind a sheet to do his business is no-account—I don't care who he is."

Economy Bloc Cuts Request 12 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Congressional economy bloc cut 12 per cent today from the $515,187,700 President Eisenhower asked for the Interior Department and related agencies.

It is the second major money bill to be considered by the House Appropriations Committee. Yesterday, the House upheld the committee's reduction of more than 80 million dollars from the nearly four billion requested to operate the Treasury and Post Office Departments in the 12-month period beginning July 1.

Today, the committee said, it was making a heavy percentage cut because it is "essential to relieve the drain of federal expenditures on the taxpayers of the nation."

'Walled Lake Classification for Citizens to Decide'

School Board Answers Questions on March 11 Vote

A special school election is scheduled for March 11 to vote on the question, "Shall the Walled Lake Consolidated School District be reclassified from a fourth class to a third class district?"

The Walled Lake Board of Education in answer to many calls from interested citizens and groups asking the position of the board on the question, has released the following statement:

"Board of Education was required under the laws of the State of Michigan to call this election because it was presented with petitions bearing the names of 300 or more qualified school electors.

"The Board is familiar with the school laws of this state relative to the organization of Boards of Education and their powers, duties, and responsibilities in various classifications. It is aware that there are school districts in the state and in the county that are organized in one way or in another.

"Southfield, Farmington, Troy, West Bloomfield, Milford and Waterford, as example, are organized and operating as fourth class districts. Many or all of these could become third class districts if the electors so desired.

"Pontiac, Berkley, Royal Oak, Birmingham and Ferndale are operating under the provisions of the third class act. All of these districts contain from 1½ to 3 times the enrollment of Walled Lake.

"In each instance these districts have Boards of Education with certain legal powers and responsibilities, and apparently they are able to do what needs to be done to provide school facilities.

"Arguments as to which classification is the better could go on endlessly. Your Board of Education does not choose to do this. It is interested not in classification but in providing good school facilities and good programs for all of the children in this school district. Whether or not you can do better under one classification or the other brings an endless and pointless argument.

"This is a question for the citizens of this school district to decide. Regardless of the decision made on classification, we trust that the Boards elected will proceed to provide adequate educational opportunities according to the needs and the financial resources available."

Probation Salvages Human Beings

By PETE LOCHBILER

County probation officers place an inestimable value on the human dignity saved by the probation program.

But Chief Probation Officer Arthur P. McKenna can also point to cold figures showing saving for society made possible by his department last year.

"The fact probation saves people from the degradation of a prison sentence, and possibly from a career of crime, would more than justify its existence," McKenna said.

"But probation goes further," he added. "It saves the taxpayers thousands of dollars in comparison to the cost of incarceration."

He pointed out that it costs an average a $849.51 a year to keep one person in prison, while probation costs approximately $45 a person.

COSTS PILE UP

In addition, cost of confinement is merely the first burden put on the taxpayer when a person is imprisoned. Often, he said, the prisoner's wife and children are left without funds and welfare agencies have to step in and take care of them.

"In contrast," McKenna said, "probationers continue to work in the community. During last year, Oakland County probationers earned $794,125 in industry, business and professional life."

Another saving comes through the duty of the department not only to supervise probationers' activities but also to collect all costs, fines, restitutions, support and fees that are assessed by the court. In Oakland County, this amounted to $40,947 last year, McKenna said.

INCREASE SHOWN

As of Jan. 1, there were 682 persons on probation, 53 of them women. This is an increase of 66 persons more than on Jan. 1, 1956.

During 1956, there were 355 persons newly placed on probation and 289 discharged.

McKenna figures that 12.9 per cent of the probationers failed to live up to the opportunity granted by the judge.

Probation works this way:

The probation department steps in at the time when the criminal is awaiting sentence. It makes a complete investigation of the criminal's life. This is called pre-sentence reporting and the Oakland County Probation Department made 502 such reports last year.

With this report in mind, the judge passes sentence. He may imprison an offender he feels is dangerous, or liable to repeat, or whose crime is severe.

If he feeds the criminal may change his ways without a prison sentence, he may order a probationary sentence, usually of from one to three years.

During the probationary time, the probationer must report periodically to his probation officer and live up to the terms of his sentence.

Reds Plan 1st Atomic Train

BERLIN (INS)—An East Berlin nuclear scientist reported today that the Russians are building the world's first atom-driven locomotive.

The scientist, who asked to remain anonymous, recently made a trip to Moscow where he said he saw the locomotive being built.

He conceded it might be years before the locomotive goes into operation.

The scientist said that the atomic pile used to drive the 5,500-horsepower locomotive will be fueled by natural uranium enriched by 2 per cent of uranium 235.

The pile will be in the shape of a cylinder about four and a half feet in diameter and six feet high.

The scientist said the atomic locomotive is being built in two sections. The first section contains the reactor and the boiler unit, while the second section contains the steam turbine, condenser and auxiliary devices.

The scientist also said that Soviet atomic scientists are developing an atomic automobile engine working on nuclear fuel.

The atomic engine will be similar to that of the atomic reactor of a nuclear power station, he said.

He said that Soviet scientists are now working on the problem of protecting the occupants of the car from atomic radiation.

The East Berlin scientist said that Soviet nuclear scientists also are working on atomic-driven submarines and planes, and are building the world's first atom-driven ice breaker in Leningrad shipyard.

2 Years at South Pole Set 3 Firsts

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)— Operation Deep Freeze II ended today with a farewell flight to the South Pole.

A U.S. Air Force Globemaster roared off the ice runway at this antarctic base to parachute last-minute supplies to the 18 Americans manning the scientific outpost at the bottom of the world. The flight wound up man's biggest assault to date on this ice-bound continent.

Part 1 of Operation Deep Freeze, which ended last January, included the establishment of main bases at McMurdo and Little America V and exploration for other scientific stations. It was described as the "biggest base building and aerial exploratory mission ever mounted in a single antarctic expedition."

Operation Deep Freeze II saw the work fan out to set up and supply other bases in the snowy wastes. Operation Deep Freeze III, expected to start next October, will bring in supplies and fresh personnel to replace the men who will serve at the stations through the antarctic winter.

The operations are being carried out as part of the United States' role in the International Geophysical Year program.

Highlights of Operation Deep Freeze II included the first airplane landing at the South Pole, the first parachute jump to the pole and the construction of the first village there.

"This has been a very happy operation," said Rear Adm. George J. Dufek. "I couldn't be more pleased."

Dufek, the silver-haired commander of the Navy task force in the antarctic, plans to fly to New Zealand tomorrow. He is scheduled to be in Washington March 15.

The second year of Operation Deep Freeze closed with Dufek's task force steaming for home.

Left behind at six science stations and this air base were nearly 300 scientists, technicians and Navy support personnel. They will live and work in their snow-buried huts through the long antarctic winter night.

Darkness soon will cloak the continent. Temperatures will sink far below zero. Shrieking winds and stinging snow will lash the lonely outposts.

At the South Pole, antarctic explorer Paul Siple and 7 other men will attempt to be the first to survive a winter there. Siple expects temperatures of 102 degrees below zero.

Scientists at all the scattered bases will study weather conditions, movements and structure of ice and local phenomena as part of the IGY program.

Miles of snowy wastes and jagged mountains separate the bases.

Some 3,000 Navy men with a dozen ships and 30 planes battled blizzards and fought through endless ice to set up the chain of bases. A squadron of the big Air Force Globemasters pitched in to drop 1,000 tons of cargo to the South Pole and Byrd stations.

Building and supplying the stations cost five lives during the 1956-57 antarctic summer. Four men died in a Navy plane crash and one drowned when a vehicle plunged through the ice on McMurdo Sound.

Three Globemasters worth three million dollars each were damaged in crash landings on icy runways. One was a total loss, but there were no fatalities.

A half dozen ships were battered and bruised in the crushing ice that rings the continent.

Probers to Quiz Oilmen on Hike

Officials From Major Companies to Explain Jump in Prices

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), demanded today that representatives of the major oil companies explain why prices were given an industry-wide boost last month.

The chairman of the Senate anti-trust subcommittee said he would ask officials of the Humble Oil and Refining Company and the Texas Company for an explanation when they testify today before an investigation of the price boost and the oil-for-Europe operation.

Slated to appear were Hines H. Baker, president of Humble; James W. Foley, president of the Texas Company, and Neil Lilley, vice president of the Texas Company.

They were expected to defend a 35-cents-a-barrel hike in crude oil prices which spread through the industry after it was initiated by Humble on Jan. 3.

PIN BAKER DOWN

Senate investigators were especially anxious to pin Baker down on his statement that the price hike resulted from increased oil demands for the emergency European oil lift.

Assistant Attorney General Victor R. Hansen challenged this stand yesterday, and suggested that Baker used the oil lift "as an excuse rather than a justification" for the price increase.

Hansen, whose anti-trust division is attempting to determine whether the oil companies entered into collusion to boost prices, said: "What information I have indicates no relation between the price rise and the Middle East plan."

CONSUMERS' SIDE

The committee was also scheduled to hear the consumers' side of the price increase question from Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine).

O'Mahoney, planning the course of questioning to be followed, told newsmen: "We have been told that the big oil companies are doing a splendid job in the oil lift. That is not the issue. The issue is: What extent of immunity in the anti-trust department must be given the big oil operators who have holdings here and abroad."

The 16 major oil companies involved in emergency shipments for Europe were granted anti-trust immunity for their voluntary participation in the operation.

Australia Protests Destruction in Egypt

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Australia has protested to the Egyptian government against destruction of the Australian-New Zealand war memorial in Port Said and damage to the British cemeteries in Port Said and Suez.

Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey said Australia reserved the right to appropriate redress. He said the memorial in Port Said had been dismantled either manually or by dynamiting while headstones were damaged and trees uprooted in the cemeteries.

The damage came as an aftermath of the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt last fall.

Berlin Plans Future Governmental Center

BERLIN — Architects and city planners all over the world are being invited to take part in an architectural contest entitled "National Capital Berlin." The purpose is to get the best ideas for the reconstruction of Berlin's governmental center as the future German capital. A special contest is being held for ideas on rebuilding the ruins of the Reichstag for use as a parliamentary library.

London Court to Decide Suit on Validity of Shaw Bequest

LONDON (INS)—A London high court judge was scheduled to decide whether some $2,000,000 left by the late George Bernard Shaw can be used in an attempt to revolutionize the English language.

Supporters of the Irish-born playwright's idea that he could "simplify" spelling by adding 14 letters to the alphabet are ready to begin an immediate campaign to reform English if the judge rules that Shaw's will, establishing trusts for such action, is valid.

A legal wrangle since Shaw's death in November 1950, finally resulted in a lawsuit to decide the validity of the bequests.

The British Museum, one of the beneficiaries if the alphabet trusts were ruled illegal, disputed the will, and the long legal battle followed. Lawyers for the museum claimed the trusts were invalid because they were "unenforceable."

Shaw's supporters insisted the task could be completed in five years.

Conservative member of Parliament, Isaac J. Pitman, a close friend of the Shaw alphabet reform, said plans to carry out the playwright's wishes are ready to be put into action.

1 SOUND, 1 LETTER

Explaining Shaw's ideas, Pitman said:

"Shaw did not have any particular alphabet in mind. He just said: 'The rule should be one sound, one letter, with every letter unmistakably different from the others.'

"For most of his life Shaw rebelled against the complicated form of English spelling and campaigned for drastic revisions.

"He once wrote that 'If the introduction of an English alphabet costs a civil war . . . I shall not grudge it. The waste of war is negligible in comparison to the daily waste of trying to communicate with one another in English through an alphabet with some 14 letters missing. That must be remedied, come what may.' "

Shaw's proposed alphabet, a sort of phonetic half-way house between longhand and shorthand, has horrified some English purists but won many supporters who claim that the conflicting structure of English words is infuriating and urgently needs reform.

Neutrals in the wordy battle over the plan view the pixyish playwright's proposals as a "typical Shavian prank."

They point out that Shaw, probably with tongue in cheek, made the public trustee his executor—and the public trustee is always a most educated gentleman and an exponent of precise English.

May Call Halt to Plane Project

Air Force Might Junk Present Plans for Giant Cargo Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force—backing down from a Feb. 14 announcement—now says it is "considering the possibility of terminating" the development of a giant new transport, the C132.

Six days ago, the Air Force issued a press release saying it was building "the new giant of the airways." The service was rushing the announcement to the national magazine had an article forthcoming on the C132 project.

Tuesday, however the Air Force said Douglas Aircraft Co. has only a "development" contract for the cargo carrier and planned to build two models. Thus far, it added, one wooden "mock-up" has been built.

"While no final decision has been reached, as to whether the prototype aircraft will be built," the announcement yesterday said; "the Air Force is considering the possibility of terminating the C132 project."

The initial statement Feb. 14 said the huge plane would have a top speed of more than 460 miles per hour, and that it could carry a maximum payload of almost 200,000 pounds.

Air Force sources say the budget for the next fiscal year beginning July 1 contains a request for funds to continue the project. But, they said, the project has a low priority and the Air Force is not expected to fight for the funds before Congress.

Takes On Live Film, TV, Park

Disney Expands to Survive

(This is the last of four articles on Walt Disney, whose imagination, ambition and daring have made him one of the giants of the entertainment world.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Walt Disney, father of the motion picture cartoon, had to adopt three stepchildren to make his entertainment family flourish.

And oddly, the adoptees — live-action films, television and the world's most spectacular amusement park — have outgrown Disney's original brainchild in stature and in the affections of the father.

After World War II, with money scarce and his best artists still in the army, Disney found it impossible to produce feature-length cartoon. He began experimenting with a mixture of "live" actors and his more familiar drawn thespians.

His initial efforts, "Make Mine Music," "Song of the South," "Fun and Fancy Free' and "Melody Time" had something less than sensational impact upon an entertainment market.

An all-cartoon venture, "Cinderella," returned Disney to his former stature, but his next, "Alice in Wonderland" was a miss.

He hit again with "Peter Pan," but raising costs and increasing amounts of time consumed in making such films badly diluted the profits.

Walt Disney's ever-percolating mind began seeking new sources of revenue. With cartoon profits frozen in Britain he produced four feature pictures, "Treasure Island," "Rob Roy," "The Sword and the Rose" and "Robin Hood." They exuded enough of Disney's familiar light-heartedness and romanticism to score heavily at the box-office.

At the same time, he barged into the nation's theaters with something almost as unique as his animated features, the true-life adventure films.

Meantime, a long cherished dream was cooking on the back burner of Disney's mind, an amusement park combining everything that exists in children's storybooks and men's minds.

For this 60 acres of pure fantasy at Anaheim, Calif., 19 million dollars worth of financing was needed. It was this need that propelled Walt Disney into television.

The American Broadcasting Company agreed to put up one-third of the money for the amusement party, aptly named Disneyland, in return for Disney's television services.

The results, of course, were the "Disneyland" TV show. The show was an immediate success. Now in its third year, it has squelched its competition and helped boost ABC into hot competition with the other two major TV networks.

Walt's next stride in television grew out of a deep-seated desire to do something he insists he never had done before — produce entertainment just for children.

That wish materialized in "The Mickey Mouse Club," a kiddie romp that today is the top program on TV for youngsters.

In the midst of all this, the medium that made Walt Disney and Mickey Mouse internationally known figures is slipping into the background.

"We won't make so many pictures like 'Sleeping Beauty' from now on," Walt admits with a whisper of regret. "It takes a special touch to do them, and to try to push them through is hard on everybody."

A chameleon changes its colors because of temperature, variations in light and, also, how the lizard feels when it wakes up in the morning.

Man Finds Ceiling Zero to the Tune of $20,000

PAYETTE, Idaho (AP)—Food store manager Jack Bainbridge blamed the weather when he tossed out $20,000 worth of unusable groceries.

The food was permeated with the odor of gas odorizer fluid spilled at a neighboring warehouse.

Bainbridge says the fumes normally would dissipate into the atmosphere, but low clouds and hanging fog kept them close to the ground this time.

Astride 2 Continents

ISTANBUL, Turkey — Ancient Byzantium, called Constantinople by the Romans and Istanbul by the moderns, sits astride two continents, says the National Geographic Society. It is a bridge between East and West, and was long the center of the Roman Empire of the East. This period lasted from A.D. 330, when Emperor Constantine made the city his capital, until 1453, when the Turks seized control.

Versatile Treat Keeps for Days

Looking for a versatile new family treat that's easy to make and will keep oven fresh for days and days after baking?

You'll find "Honey Graham Nut Loaf"—made with packaged graham cracker crumbs that are already pre-ground to a fine even consistency—a welcome addition to any wintertime menu, from school lunch to afternoon tea or dessert bridge.

This delicious version of a popular food favorite can be made well ahead of time; wrapped in foil or waxed paper and put in the refrigerator. It will keep its crunchy freshness for a week or even longer.

You can delight both grownups and children in the family by serving it often. Here's how to make it:

Honey Graham Nut Loaf

2 cups packaged graham cracker crumbs
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons soft shortening or salad oil
⅔ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 egg, unbeaten

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease, and then line with waxed paper, the bottom and sides of one 9-inch by 5-inch by 3-inch loaf pan. Measure the packaged graham cracker crumbs into a bowl.

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt in a sifter; sift into the crumbs. Add chopped nuts. Stir to blend. Drop in shortening. Pour in milk and vanilla extract.

Beat, scraping sides of bowl, until mixture is thoroughly blended. Break in egg; beat for 1 minute longer. Turn into lined pan; bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes.

Remove loaf from pan; peel off paper, and cool thoroughly before slicing. Makes 12 to 16 generous slices.

HONEY GRAHAM NUT LOAF — This loaf of graham-nut bread is made with graham cracker crumbs. You can buy them now in a package, or you can make your own crumbs. Make the bread to serve with salads or as an after school snack with fruit and milk.

Roll Sausage Patties in Crisp Corn Flakes

These breaded sausage patties provide a real stick-to-the-ribs lunch for the children on frosty days. Shape 1 pound bulk pork sausage into 6 patties about ¾ inch thick. Dip patties in a mixture of 1 beaten egg and 2 tablespoons milk. Roll patties in ¾ cup crushed corn flakes. Brown in 1 tablespoon lard or drippings. Cover and cook for 20 minutes.

Baby Fruits Glaze Angel Food Cakes

Strained fruits for baby often have been used to glaze a ham or pork chops. Recently they were featured by a food editor in a fine-flavored glaze for individual angel food cakes, prepared from a mix. Here's how:

Simply combine ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, ¼ cup strained applesauce and apricots and ½ cup sugar. Stir together in saucepan over low heat until sugar melts, then boil gently 5 minutes.

Brush this warm fruit glaze over individual or large cakes, letting it run down over the sides. Try other strained fruits, such as golden peaches, in this way.

Don't Wash Eggs

Don't wash the shells of eggs until just before using them. The "bloom" on the egg shell is a protective film that keeps out odor from other foods in the refrigerator.

Making mayonnaise? Add oil extremely slowly and beat each addition is thoroughly to prevent separation.

Food Can Sizes All Standardized by U. S. Canners

Cans some in different sizes and until 1940 can sizes were not standardized. Representative of the canners and the government then prepared a list of can sizes most often used. Since, several of these sizes have also been discarded.

Families are smaller than they used to be and family choices greater, so the trend in the past several years has been to smaller sizes.

Older can sizes are identified by simple numbers—No. 1, 2, 2½, 3 and 10. Newer sizes are numbered according to their dimensions: A No. 303 can has a diameter of three and 3-16 inches, for example.

Baby food comes in appropriate baby sizes which contain about 5 ounces. Sizes for fish and meats tend toward angular shapes or divisible units of a pound.

The vacuum can, used for vegetables such as corn, must be shorter and squatter to accommodate the pressure involved in the vacuum sealing procedure.

Quick breads may be frozen either before or after baking, but the latter process is preferable.

Zippy Molded Salad to Serve With Meat

Zippy Salads are individually molded salads, served on the dinner plate as the meat accompaniment.

Zippy Salads

1 package lemon gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons prepared horseradish
½ teaspoon salt
1 chopped cabbage

Dissolve gelatin in water. Chill. When almost firm, add remaining ingredients and stir. Chill in individual molds and serve as a garnish with meat.

Research Shows Honey Improves Baked Goods

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department says honey may be found in, as well as on, more baked goods in the future, as a result of Kansas State College research.

The work at Manhattan, Kan., aimed at expanding the use of honey in commercial bakery products, shows that substituting honey for all or part of the sugar in some baked goods adds to their color and flavor, and improves their texture.

Poultry Still in Limelight as Bargain Buy of Week

Washington's birthday will call for a celebration, especially in families with children familiar with the story of the cherry tree. There are plenty of foods to fit into the February food scheme at costs that are kind to the food budget, reports the Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

MEATS

Does poultry sound like a good choice? Price-wise it is, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Both wholesale and retail figures on fryers are lower. Fryers, stewers, roasters, and 4 to 14 pound turkeys can be found at about the same price per pound this week.

Stewers average from about 12 to 18 months of age and weigh from 2½ to 5½ pounds. They will simmer to fork-tender doneness in 2½ to 4 hours depending upon the size. While cooking add a small carrot, onion, or 2 or 3 sticks of celery for extra flavor.

Convenience in the way fryers are marketed is just one reason why Americans are eating seven times as many as they did in 1940. Small whole chickens for broiling, cut-up fryers, and chicken pieces will satisfy the needs of most families.

Pork loin is in the limelight again with some stores featuring the first 7-rib cut of 10 to 12 pound loins. Picnics continue to wear rather low price tags. At about 50 cents a pound, the Boston butt is a good value because there are 3 to 4 servings per pound from this lean shoulder cut.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

In keeping with the holiday, cherry pie will be a big item on the market list. It is up to the homemaker to decide which is most valuable — the time she saves by selecting a frozen pie, or the money she may save by making one.

Small size grapefruit is one of the better fruit values at this time. The small size averages about 6½ to 9½ cents a pound.

Think back to a year ago, and be reminded that tomatoes are more plentiful, less expensive, and of better quality than last winter. The Florida tomato crop is estimated at about 40 per cent more than last year.

Salad bowls can be colorful as well as flavor-packed with the good supplies of lettuce.

Prices vary according to the size of the heads and their crisp compact quality.

A few new potatoes are now arriving from Florida. Naturally, they will cost more than the still generous quantities of Michigan's last crop. Some old potatoes dipped in vegetable dyes may be mistaken for new potatoes. Remember, new potatoes have thin feathery skins.

EGGS

Eggs are retailing at about 50 cents a dozen for large size, Grade A. The extra large size weighs 3 ounces more per dozen and may cost just a few pennies more. A dozen of the jumbo size weighs 6 more ounces per dozen then the large size. It will pay to compare prices before deciding which is the best egg value.

Most cookies need to be removed from pans as soon as they come out of the oven.

At 81 Years She Bakes Regularly

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

She's small, white-haired and slightly stooped with age. After all, she was eighty-one years old in December. Mrs. John Cervenka, for forty years a Pontiac resident, is our special, special cook of the day.

Some weeks ago we had a telephone conversation with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Cervenka (Marie). Somehow, the conversation got around to baking. The younger Mrs. Cervenka gave us a good recipe for rye bread which we used in the daily recipe column (did you try it?)

We asked her what else she baked, and she said the senior Mrs. Cervenka did all the "white baking" and makes "the best white cake in the world."

That term "white" baking intrigued us, and we made arrangements to visit this octogenarian cook when next she baked. Mrs. Cervanka is one of those cooks who has always cooked more or less by feel. She hasn't written down many of her recipes. But we got one written down the day we saw her.

Pontiac Press Photo

OCTOGENARIAN COOK — Mrs. John Cervenka of Orchard Lake avenue is still a fabulous cook at the age of eighty-one. Here she turns out a pan of Kolache, little fruit-filled rolls. Next to her is a utensil many readers may not recognize. To others it will bring back nostalgic memories. It's an old-fashioned bread mixer and is still used in the Cervenka household.

"White" baking, of course, if baking done with white flour.

The Cervenkas are Czechoslovakians. Cooks of that nationality are often experts at pastry and sweet bread making. Mrs. Cervenka was finishing a batch of Kolache the day we visited. It smelled wonderful — and tasted just as good.

Because her mother was ill, Mrs. Cervenka started baking at the age of eleven. She said she had to take all the ingredients to her mother's bedside and follow her instructions for making bread. Now, seventy years later, she scarcely thinks about the process as she works.

The Kolache Mrs. Cervenka made are little sweet rolls filled with fruit. She had used prunes and bosenberries that day for the filling. Sometimes she adds coconut or nuts. Occasionally she'll make a poppyseed filling. Adding raisins and forming the dough into a loaf makes raisin bread. At Christmas time, candied fruit is used.

With a new refrigerator that has a large freezer compartment, the Cervenkas now freeze any rolls left after baking day. That way they have fresh rolls all the time.

Here is Mrs. John Cervanka's recipe for Kolache:

1 quart milk
2 or 4 packages yeast
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter or ¾ cup lard
Rind of 1 lemon
1 teaspoon mace
5 eggs
5-6 cups sifted flour (more needed to knead dough)

Dissolve yeast in warm water with a little sugar. Heat milk to lukewarm. Add other ingredients in order given. Mrs. Cervenka used chicken fat for shortening in these rolls. Use as much flour as necessary to make a soft dough that can be handled. Knead until smooth.

Place in greased bowl and let rise until dough has doubled in size. Roll out ½-inch thick and cut into three 4-inch squares. Place a spoonful of desired filling in center. Bring opposite corners to center. Let rise in grease pan until half doubled in size.

Bake 20 to 25 minutes in 375-degree oven. Makes 4-5 dozen rolls.

Prune Filling

2 pounds dried prunes
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
Sugar to taste

Cook, pit and grind prunes. Add other ingredients and use to fill Kolache.

Local Markets Host Cooking Schools

Pontiac will have a series of cooking schools, starting Monday afternoon, February 25, at the Bethany Baptist Church. Sponsored by local Shop-Rite Markets, the demonstrations on cookery will be presented by Mrs. Katherine Stafford, a noted home economist lecturer.

The daily sessions, planned for two-hour periods from 1:30 to 3:30, will be devoted to showing housewives how to save time, money and energy in the preparation of their daily food. Latest methods in modern meal planning, thrifty dishes and nutritious ideas will be shown each day.

In the following two weeks further schools are planned in new locations.

Thrives in Humid Soil

"Tabasco" is an Indian word meaning "land where the earth is humid." Today the Tabasco peppers grown in the rich humid soil of Avery Island, Louisiana, produce that most famous of liquid seasonings.

Sanitize for PROTECTION

During the "cold" season, it's important to disinfect children's hankies, towels, undergarments. Use Roman Bleach, triple-action bleach which makes clothes sanitary as it whitens them. You get extra health-protecting benefits when you use Roman Bleach.

EGGS BENEDICTINE — Spanish elegance is reflected in Eggs Benedictine, a light supper using codfish, olive oil and various spices. A perfectly poached egg is placed on top of creamed codfish. It can be also a breakfast or luncheon dish.

Perk Up Jaded Appetites With Eggs Benedictine

Benedictine eggs, Spanish style, are slightly different from what we ordinarily serve in America. A cream sauce made with olive oil and egg yolks is combined with cooked codfish. This is placed on toasted bread and topped with a poached egg. A delightful change.

Use this recipe as the basis for a simple luncheon or light supper menu. Accompany it with lettuce and tomato salad dressed with olive oil and vinegar.

Ice cream with fresh or frozen strawberries and tea would make a nice finish to the meal.

Benedictine Eggs

¾ pound codfish frozen or fresh
1 cup salted water
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons water
¼ cup Spanish olive oil
Dash of pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
4 eggs
4 slices toast
Paprika

Poach cod in 1 cup salted water for 10 minutes or until tender. Drain and flake. Combine egg yolks and 2 tablespoons water in top of double boiler. Place over hot but not boiling water.

Add oil slowly, beating constantly with whisk or beater, and cook until mixture thickens and becomes creamy.

Remove from double boiler and add codfish, pepper and nutmeg. Poach 4 eggs. Serve cod on toast and top with a poached egg.

Garnish with a dash of paprika and lemon, if desired.

Foil-Wrap 'Hobo Supper', Serve With Tossed Salad

HENRY, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska Cow-Belles want people to eat more beef.

This group of 1,000 ranchers' wives and daughters is a branch of the American National Cow-Belles and an auxiliary of the Nebraska Stockgrowers Assn.

To stimulate interest among beefeaters, the organization has published its own cookbook, entitled "Beef Cookery."

Recipes have been gathered from various parts of the country. Here are samples:

Hobo Supper

Ground beef, seasoned with salt and pepper
Carrots, split lengthwise
Irish potatoes, cut for French fries
Onions sliced ¼-inch thick
Celery cut in 3-inch lengths

Take a square of aluminum foil, place in center a large hamburger of the ground beef. On this place a slice of onion, 4 to 6 strips of potato, 4 to 6 pieces of carrot and 2 pieces of celery.

Pull the foil up to form a cup and over each dip a tablespoon of sauce, then twist the foil edges tightly.

Place in a baking dish and bake in 325-degree oven for 45 minutes. Serve with tossed salad and hot rolls.

Sauce: Mix together ½ cup vinegar, ½ cup tomato catsup, 2 tablespoons Worchestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, juice of 1 lemon, salt and pepper to taste. Heat until blended.

Arizona Round Steak

To cook thick round steak, brown on both sides in heavy skillet into which meat drippings have been added. Salt steak and pour on top of steak 1 can Ortega chili sauce.

Cover tightly and let simmer until well done, about 40 minutes.

Whip Evaporated Milk for Delectable Topping

Evaporated milk whips easily for delectable sherbets and chiffon pies. Use it as a topping, too, flavored with a bit of lemon juice and sugar, or spices. Evaporated milk will whip to three times its volume.

The secret is to chill it well in a freezer tray from your refrigerator — until ice crystals form around the edges. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater or high speed electric mixer until milk is stiff. Flavor and sweeten to taste.

The SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

GEORGE WASHINGTON ICE CREAM PIE

This is an appropriate dessert for this time of year. Mrs. Frederick W. Holmes, Worcester (Mass.) Gazette Chapter, says "This serves 6 to 8 lucky people!"

24 marshmallows
1 cup milk
½ cup coarsely cut maraschino cherries
½ cup crushed or ground bittersweet chocolate
1 cup cream, whipped
Cherry halves and bits of green jelly sticks or citron slices for garnish

Heat the marshmallows with ¼ cup of milk in a saucepan over low heat, folding until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat, add remaining milk and cut cherries.

Cool and add crushed chocolate. Gently fold in stiffly whipped cream. Freeze until mushy, then stir to blend, then freeze firm.

Mrs. Holmes recommends that after stirring you pack the mixture into fluted paper party cups to freeze solid, then garnish with the cherry halves and greenery for attractive individual servings.

PAPRIKA POTATOES WITH HAM STEAK

Mrs. John Bistersky, Chicago Daily News Chapter, gave us this excellent item, which has a distinct mid-European flavor.

1 large ham steak, ¾-inch thick
Fat from ham
1 medium onion, chopped
Paprika
3 cups raw cubed potatoes
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup water

Use a skillet with a tight-fitting cover. First, remove most of the fat from the ham and render it down in the skillet to provide fat for the cooking. Remove the brown bits of fat.

We like to just cut through, or score, the edge of the ham at 1-inch intervals clear 'round to prevent curling up. Brown the ham nicely on each side and remove.

In the same fat, brown the onion to a nice golden color, sprinkle paprika lavishly over it. When onion is golden, stir in the raw potatoes, sprinkly very lightly with salt and pepper and mix well with the browned onion.

Add ½ cup water, stir, then replace the ham atop the mixture, cover, and simmer about 30 minutes. The amount of potatoes may be varied to individual taste without affecting the excellent outcome.

We like with this asparagus or broccoli. Applesauce or broiled apple rings go well.

And then, there's . . .

CORN BREAD A LA ERNEST GADY

. . . of Chicago. "If you're lucky," vouchsafes Mr. Gady, "this will turn out to be old-fashioned corn bread." Guess we're lucky—it did.

In one bowl, combine 4 cups yellow corn meal with 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2 teaspoons soda, and 2 teaspoons salt.

In a second bowl, combine 2 eggs, well beaten, with 4 cups buttermilk and then 4 tablespoons melted butter. Combine the two mixtures and mix well.

Pour into a well-greased cake pan and bake about 30 minutes at 400 degrees, until it tests done with a steel knife.

Dem Wives Study Issues Via Forum

Gather Monthly for All-Day Discussion of National Affairs

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — While their husbands are minding the nation's business on Capitol Hill, many congressional wives are taking time out from homemaking and social chores to keep themselves thoroughly informed on national affairs.

They want to be able to discuss intelligiently the issues about which they are most frequently asked. To achieve this, some 55 Democratic wives gather once a month for an all-day forum, barely taking time out for a bite of lunch.

The "workshop," as they call it, is open to all Democratic wives. There are no dues. So that members may speak frankly, sessions are off the record.

Organized in 1954 by Mrs. Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the Democratic Committee, the Democratic National Congressional Wives Forum breaks up into three groups, each with its own study subject and discussion leader and perhaps a guest speaker.

The groups join for the afternoon meeting. Campaign techniques, the cost of living, the H-bomb, reciprocal trade, TV makeup and how to make a speech are representative of the subjects taken up.

FORUM LEADERS

Mrs. Hubert Humphrey, wife of the Minnesota senator, is new chairman of the forum. Mrs. John Sparkman, wife of the Alabama senator, is vice chairman.

Petite, blue-eyed Muriel Humphrey, who wears her prematurely silvered hair in a becoming pageboy, is one of the town's most popular official wives and the mother of four.

Nancy, 18, interested in a nursing career, graduates from high school in Bethesda, Md., this June and plans to enter the University of Minnesota.

Hubert Jr., 14, better known as "Skipper," attends junior high and is the one most interested in politics. The others are Bobby, 12, and Douglas, 9.

"I think the wives' forum is one of the most interesting activities in which I have taken part in Washington," Mrs. Humphrey told me.

MANY BENEFITS

"We've all gained many benefits. We've become better acquainted with each other and with the problems of each other's districts, as well as gaining a better understanding of what our husbands are trying to do."

The wives of Reps. W. F. Norrell (Ark) and Vlarence Cannon (Mo) are treasurer and assistant treasurer.

The wives of Reps. Omar Burleson (Tex), Aime Forand (RI), Clair Engle (Calif), Lee Metcalf (Mont), Frank M. Clark (Pa), John D. Dingell (Mich) and D. R. Mathews (Fla) and the wife of Sen. Strom Thurmond (SC) are committee members.

Trabajamas Has Initiation

Sponge Raincoat in Suds for Wear

Will it take the sleet? Will it take the suds? If so, then your raincoat is a good investment. For it must be able to take both, if it's to look well and give real service. You just can't keep rainwear looking its best unless you swab off the splashes after each wearing.

A sudsy sponge and a quick rinse add up to life insurance for storm-weather clothes. Never put that raincoat or hat in the closet without a sudsy rub-down to remove mud and soil. Since it takes the hardest wear at cuffs, collar, and hem, give these special attention.

Is Fabric Washable?

Day by day, there is an increasing quantity and variety of beautiful fabrics for home decorating that need only suds-and-water care. The washable purchase is a great budget saver, especially if you have children or must contend with a dusty, grime-laden atmosphere. So: if it washes, your purchase is wiser.

The hats that are blossoming in Paris this spring are pretty, as hats should be. These from the collection of designer Claude St. Cyr are small and flattering. The cap (left) is pearl-colored tulle covered with spring flowers and leaves. A little toque (center) in light straw gets elegant trim of black organza foliage. And a sophisticated small hat (right) has twisted embroidery trimming on stiffened sheer material.

Bead Ropes Are Revived by Designer

NEW YORK (INS)—Credit designer Coco Chanel of Paris with the newest U. S. jewelry style revival—lots and lots of glittering "ropes" of beads round the neck.

Chanel's little jersey suits, accompanied by the masses of fake jewels she also made famous, are the new rage for spring. As a result, the ropes you bought two years ago are right back in style, with a few '57 twists.

First of all, the most stylish rope this year is the one made up of different beads—perhaps pearls spaced by colored stones of multi-facet crystals in different color combinations.

Second, you can anchor them with great big pins—and the pins don't have to match the pearls. A good example of this is the technique used by top fashion models. They wear one-inch jewelry rope, usually pearls with colored dangles, looped just once around the neck.

That one loop is kept tight to the throat, like a dog collar. The rest of the rope, which will lap over your bosom, is anchored at the left shoulder only wth a big pin, something like fake turquoise or large colored stones.

Nutrition in Milk Better Bargain Today Than Ever

LARAMIE, Wyo. (INS) — A milk industry spokesman says the American housewife is buying more milk today than before World War II because it is a bargain at current prices.

Ernest B. Kellogg, secretary of the Milk Industry Foundation, said the ingredients of good nutrition in one quart of milk would cost 42 cents if purchased in other foods.

Kellogg said Bureau of Labor Statistics' figures show "at today's wages, the average working man works seven minutes to earn the price of a quart of milk. In 1954 he worked eight minutes. In 1947 it took ten minutes of work. And in the prosperous year of 1929 a working man labored 15 minutes to earn the 14 cents required to buy a quart of milk."

Kellogg said the demand for milk is the greatest in history. He credited the change in the American diet—reduced intake of starches and increased intake of proteins—as well as improvements in milk production and distribution as benefitting the milk industry.

Apply Makeup Quick as a Wink

When you have learned to apply make-up expertly, it shouldn't take you more than five minutes, start to finish. This includes penciling in your eyebrows.

Most fashion models can apply professional make-up in five minutes simply because they've acquired skill and speed at it. But so should you, over a period of years.

So—when you're going out for the evening, be sure to remove your stale daytime make-up and apply fresh no matter how rushed you may be. You'll look and feel better and your skin won't suffer from grime and two coats of make-up.

Male Styles to Accent Slenderness

CHICAGO (INS) — Men are bound to look trimmer and taller, judging from a forecast of styles for spring.

According to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, the latest suits and jackets emphasize natural lines and re-emphasize the trend toward narrower coats and trousers.

And to be true "Ivy Leaguer" in 1957, men will sport seven-inch jacket slits, raised or welt seams, and cuffs on suit jackets.

The flattop hat, which was so popular in 1956, is on its way out, say Institute style experts. Spring hats are narrow of brim with higher crowns.

COOL TONES FAVORED

The most favored suiting colors, the Institute reported, will be gr and blues in a range of shades; the old standby navy, and then browns and tan.

Household Hint

To keep celery fresh and crisp, store it in a cool, moist temperature. Carefully wash the separated stalks, and cut away bruised or damaged spots. Cut off and save the leaves for flavoring soups, gravies, and stews or to use as a garnish. Pat off the excess moisture and store, covered, in the refrigerator.

Jeannie Carson Believes Accent Is Girl's Best Pal

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The well-equipped glamor girl, out to get her man, would do well to have a wardrobe of accents for judicious use in various localities, says pert Jeannie Carson, who has been doing all right on American TV lately with her crisp Scottish accent.

Oh, no, I'm not really Scottish," says Jeannie, "My mother was born in Scotland, but I grew up in England. I was born on tour." Her parents were theater people.

"Their act was called 'Pop Hardy and His Two Pips.' Mother was one pip, and her partner was the other," Jeannie said.

On the London musical comedy stage, where she is a top star, Jeannie brings down the house with an American Southern accent — or an Irish brogue. In America she finds audiences vulnerable to the charm of a Scottish burr or a Cockney turn of speech.

Whatever accent she chooses, Jeannie's personal charm and wide-eyed innocence seem to lend it authenticity. You just couldn't imagine that she hadn't been raised on the moors when she is doing her Scottish act.

"Accents are a great asset to a girl," says this young actress, who made her first American TV appearance two years ago and now is a regular fixture on the living room screen. "Actually an American Southern accent is much like a British accent — only done with a drawl. Now a Boston accent isn't at all like a British accent, as so many people believe.

"Anyway, if your accent is different from that which is familiar in any region, you're bound to be noticed. It's a thing to remember."

If suits or dresses chafe at the collar or cuff, treat the irritated skin with an application of witch hazel. Safe and soothing.

Trick to Rechill Wine Correctly

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y. (INS) —It's okay to rechill champagne, provided you take the proper precautions.

A wine company reports that champagne can be rechilled two or three times without losing its bubbly effervescence. However, the trick is to avoid abrupt temperature changes in handling the wine. If the bottles are extremely cold, move them to a more moderate spot before returning them to room temperature.

Household Hint

A damp sponge can prove to be a handy thing to have next to the ironing board, ready to use when areas of sprinkled clothes get too dry.

Weary Lawmaker Hits Washington Party Whirl

WASHINGTON (INS) — A salty-tongued Midwestern House member has blamed Washington's incessant social hurdy-gurdy for the fact that many a Congressman seems to be in a stupid stupor.

Rep. Usher Burdick (R-ND), wrote his constituents that because of night-after-night of partygoing, the average House and Senate member is just too tired to look any brighter.

Burdick has made it plain in the past he doesn't believe that he is the world's best social lion. A year ago, he wrote a weekly news letter back home complaining about the agonies he went through while wearing white tie and tails.

The rotund, bearish-looking Republican from North Dakota was anxious about the complaint — sometimes uttered by Burdick himself — that "congressmen do not think and proceed with public business while in a daze."

He admitted "that can very well happen" because the members are "stuffed with dinners and go around without sleep" as a result of trying to live up to the social demands of Washington hostesses.

Burdick commented: "The public insists that they make the rounds of entertainment offered and present themselves at these continuous dinners.

"No sleep, or not enough, tells on anyone in a few days, and finally we travel around in a stupor. Fresh entertainers keep coming up, but the members of Congress remain the same ones upon which some other hosts or hostesses have worked.

"They are always fresh and rested, while the congressmen are worn out with trying to keep up with the dinner invitations."

Burdick, who reportedly once made a two-week test of the cocktail-and-canape circuit and decided that it wasn't worth the trouble, said that for himself:

"I admit I am a little old fashioned, but what slight mental power I have works best when I get my sleep and keep from over-eating; and that isn't due to old age, for I have always been that way."

78TH BIRTHDAY

Burdick, who celebrated his 78th birthday today, gave this blow-by-blow account of Washington's social treadmill:

"First, from 7 to 8 p.m. is the get-acquainted' hour, with all kinds of refreshments designed to loosen up the starch in a congressman's shirt and add more loquaciousness to his natural conversation.

"As soon as he can see two lamp posts where there is only one, he is said to be thawed out and ready to be seated at a sumptuous dinner.

"And having been worked up to a friendly feeling, the congressman sits down and devours the delicious food, regardless of doctors' orders or the orders of anybody else. At the conclusion of the repast, he is full—in more ways than one.

"Then, of course, it would be a breach of good manners to eat and run so he sticks around for an indefinite period, thoroughly enjoying his surroundings.

"He finally lands back at his stopping place early in the morning, and only has time to snatch a few hours of restless sleep when his secretary calls up and announces another party for the coming night.

"When this is kept up for several weeks the members move around in a dream. In this condition, no one can think, and congressmen should not be blamed for being dumb."

More than 11,000 mature, college-educated women have completed special training courses qualifying them to become school teachers.

Such training programs, which were begun only recently, serve a two-fold purpose. They create employment opportunities for women who no longer have home responsibilities requiring their full time and at the same time qualified newcomers are being added to the nation's understaffed classrooms.

Opera Will Tour Country After Debut in New York

Rudolph Bing Shooting the Works on Sets, Direction, Costumes, Cast

NEW YORK (INS)—The Metropolitan Opera unveils tonight a new production of "La Traviata" which Met Manager Rudolph Bing promises will be the first opera to put real Met spectacle on tour.

"This Traviata has everything we can give it," Bing enthused about the production which will highlight the Met's spring tour.

"We'll do it 11 times in 11 cities — more than any other opera—and when the curtain goes up in those other cities, it'll be a spectacle identical to what we're showing tonight in New York."

Tonight's "Traviata," first new Met production of this opera in 22 years, is expected to be a highlight of the season.

Soprano Renata Tebaldi heads a cast which Bing claims "can't be matched anywhere in the world," and the Met also is shooting the works on sets, direction, costumes and cast.

The scenery, which Bing calls "sumptuous," is by Oliver Smith, the designer who did the sets for "My Fair Lady," the Broadway hit. The costumes are by Rolf Gerard; Tyrone Guthrie is directing, and Fausto Cleva is conducting.

The same cast, sets and costumes will be seen on tour, and Miss Tebaldi, Leonard Warren and Guiseppe Campora will head a full cast of 125 persons when they repeat tonight's performances on the road.

NEVER FAILS

Bing, who admits he picked "Traviata" to get the full Met new production treatment because "in any form it never fails with the public," pulled out all stops in the new show.

It's estimated the Met put $50,000 into costumes alone — giving everybody from the chorus up complete new outfits, including hoopskirts, petticoats, and even lace pantaloons for the women.

Miss Tebaldi, saying she was as "thrilled with her new clothes as if they were her own," will appear in four glittering outfits, including a white ball gown completely stitched in camellias.

Scenery matches the costumes in spectacle. A three-story staircase will be on stage for one act alone, and Miss Tebaldi sings her final aria in an 8-foot bed covered with pink and blue chiffon sheeting.

This "Traviata" starts its U.S. — Canadian tour in Boston April 13. After a week's return to New York, the tour will cover Cleveland, April 23; Richmond, April 30; Atlanta, May 3; Memphis, May 8; Dallas, May 11; Minneapolis, May 18; Bloomington, Ind., May 21; Chicago, May 25; Toronto, May 28, and Montreal, June 3.

Straw Skimmer in Spring Picture

If you see a straw skimmer go walking by this spring, it isn't necessarily Grandpa's.

However, the institute said it has been restyled to be adopted by modern men.

Expression Counts

Beauty lies in many things and one of them is facial expression. Even without true physical beauty you can pass for a lovely woman if your facial expressions are attractive.

Pillow Under Feet Makes You Lovelier

For beauty's sake your pillow longs under your feet rather than under your head. It's a matter of circulation.

If you can sleep without a pillow fine. If you can't accustom yourself to the notion, try to rest at some period during the day with your head lower than your feet. It's the same principal as those reclining boards that prop your feet into the air and send the blood rusing to your head.

Diary Shows Teenagers of 1857 Led Busy Lives

ANN ARBOR (INS) — A diary in the possession of the University of Michigan historical collections shows teenagers were just as busy 100 years ago as they are today.

Here is a typical day in the life of 17-year-old Elizabeth Gurney who wrote in her diary on Dec. 7, 1857, when she was living with her parents and sister, Clara, on a farm in Centreville, St. Joseph County:

"This morning 5 o'clock sent me out of bed and about building the fire. Studied nearly an hour before time to get breakfast on my piece that I am to recite at the next elocution class. Was paid for early rising. If not in studying, in viewing the clouds and their various changes from early in the morning until after sunrise.

"After breakfast, Ma put a fire in the kitchen stove and in a short time she and Clara were washing. They would not let me help so I concluded to do the next best, which was to wash dishes (which usually falls to my lot at such times), and sweep the bedrooms, back parlor, stairs and partly sweep the chambers, which occupied my time till noon."

"Had the washing all out on the line by half-past 11 and dinner before 12. By 2 we had the kitchen cleaned out, the bedrooms dusted, the butter churned and the oilcloth washed. Were some tired when we got through.

"Rested a while, then I went down to Mrs. Benson's to see about a bertha pattern, took down their copy of Bellow's magazine, some buttermilk and a roll of dutch cheese, came home around by the post office, got some papers and a letter.

"Set up a stocking this afternoon and this evening composed music for more than an hour. I think that we have done a pretty good day's work."

However, the entry for the following day makes it clear that Lizzie was only human after all. She wrote:

"This morning I was not up so early as yesterday as the bed acted as a center of gravitation."

Fortunately, a farm girl's life is not all work. She concluded the day by writing:

"The singers stayed after school this afternoon to see about singing for the elocution class. They have got their pieces all selected and the singers all appointed for each piece.

"At 8 o'clock the bell rang and soon after we all went over to the schoolhouse and had a lecture from Mr. Chadwick of Three Rivers on the subject of music. Had a melodeon there and some singing. They have raised $30 toward getting up a singing school."

Choose High Necklines, Gain Weight

How to Hide Prominent Collarbone

This exercise, swinging the arms toward one another, will develop the muscles of the neck and chest. Proper development of these muscles will minimize a too prominent collarbone.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women write to ask if there is anything that can be done to correct a collarbone which is too prominent. Usually this defect is due to bone structure and is an inherited characteristic with which you arrived in this world.

If this is the case there is nothing to do about it but forget it and dress so that it is least noticeable. However, there are other factors which can be corrected.

For instance, a prominent collarbone may come from poor posture. If your shoulders slump forward, this will be the case. Try pulling your shoulders forward and you will see what I mean. If this is your trouble an improvement in posture will solve the problem.

Perhaps underweight contributes to your difficulty. All bones are more prominent when a woman is very thin. A gain of weight will make a big difference. There also are exercises which develop the muscles of the neck and chest which are helpful.

Try this one: Lie across your bed on your back with your head and shoulders hanging off of the bed. Lift your head and touch your chin to your chest. Lower head backward and continue slowly.

CLENCH FISTS

Another—Stand tall and raise your arms sideward shoulder height. Clench your fists hard as you swing your arms toward one another, still shoulder height. Swing the arms sideward and relax hands. Continue, swinging together and clenching fists and swinging apart and relaxing hands.

As to clothes, use the stylish high necklines often. When selecting evening clothes keep in mind a lace or net or nylon stole.

Care in the choice of clothes, a gain of weight if you are underweight, improvement in posture and exercises will minimize or completely overcome a prominent collarbone.

If you would like to have my exercises for round shoulders, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Girls' Garb Enlivened by Cutouts

Junior Miss Attire Highlights Demure Peepholes

NEW YORK (INS) — What the junior miss needs to add interest to a summer dress is a peephole here and there, according to designer Shannon Rodgers.

He's cutting out keyholes on bodices, teardrops on shoulders and crescents on necklines in his summer collection for Jack Horwitz.

The cutouts are unexpectedly demure; not one of them shows anything more than skin you'd see in a strapless anyhow. But because the cutouts are surrounded by fabric, they're as eye-attracting as a penny peepshow.

One full-skirted black cotton dress, for instance, has teardrops cut from each shoulder. A neat beige sheath, with a line of white piping running straight up the middle, ends in a keyhole just below the neck.

Rodgers' most interesting cutout is the bloused back that ties at the throat. The fabric of the back bodice is brought over the shoulders in front and tied prettily. The front bodice, meanwhile, is cut low in a scoop. Between that big bow on top and the scoop neckline below is an open stretch of skin.

Shoe Bag on Wall Will Hold Tot's Toys

If you have a shoe bag you are not using plus youngsters who have to be encouraged to pick their toys up off the floor and put them away, this idea is for you.

Hang a shoe bag at tot height on the wall of the child's room.

Dolls, toy airplanes, comic books, pull toys or any small playthings slip easily into the pockets of the shoebag. It's easy to reach so the youngster is encouraged to put the toys away.

Trick for Sweaters

Fold a clean, absorbent bath towel lengthwise in thirds and slip it through the armholes of a just-sudsed nylon or orlon sweater. Then pin the free towel-ends to the line. The garment hangs free to dry quickly without stretching. Furthermore, there will be no clothespin marks.

List Do's, Don't's for TV Watching

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS) — Myrtle Carter, home furnishings specialist, has issued a list of "do's" and "don'ts" for television viewers which she believes will increase their pleasure.

She recommends soft, over-all lighting, a seat which permits the viewer to look slightly down toward the screen, viewing from a distance of six feet to 15 feet from a 21-inch screen.

She warns against the sharp contrast of a bright screen and dark room, against a set where reflections from a window hit the screen and against driving immediately after watching a TV show.

DONNA JOAN SHELL

Way to Clean Wax From Table Top

If wax was spilled on your table top recently don't give up.

First, with a dull knife, scrape off the excess wax, being careful not to mar the finish.

Next, apply a warm, not hot, iron over a blotter or wipe the wax with a heated cloth.

If any remains, it can be taken off with cleaning fluid applied with a soft cloth.

Honor Maid Disillusions Bride-to-Be

Girl Would Like to Ask Someone Else to Fill Position

By EMILY POST

The following letter explains: "I am planning to be married in two months and am afraid that I have made a mistake in choosing my maid of honor. I have known this girl many years and when I became engaged I asked her to be my maid of honor. She accepted willingly.

"However, I have recently found out that she is not the friend I thought she was and would rather not have her take part in my wedding. Could I possibly get out of having her and ask someone else to fill this possition?"

Answer: If she has done something to you which is so serious that it has caused a rift in your friendship you could frankly give this as your reason for asking someone else to fill this position. But otherwise you cannot.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I was invited to a large reception recently and at that time was introduced to a very distinguished person. I instinctively put out my hand to shake hands with him.

"After doing so, I got the feeling that was not the right thing to do. Will you please tell me if I was right to extend my hand, or should I have waited for him to offer me his hand?"

Answer: Unless he was a really important personage, you were quite right. A lady always offers her hand to a man.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate it very much if you would settle a question that has been bothering me for some time. It concerns party debts.

"When invited to a dinner party in honor of an anniversary, birthday, confirmation, etc., and the receiver of the invitation takes a present, is the debt for the dinner canceled, or is she obliged to return the dinner invitation?"

Answer: The present would definitely cancel any obligation.

Wash Stuffed Toy, Then Use Dryer

It takes forever to dry a stuffed toy by hanging it up, and when you're all through it doesn't look or feel the same. So far as Junior is concerned, it has lost its original appeal entirely. The usual solution is to throw the toy away when it gets too grimy to ignore, rather than wash it and wind up drying Junior's tears.

But with a dryer you can avoid that unsatisfactory hard, matted finish after it's dry. Just place the toy in your dryer with a few towels as a buffer, set the dial at "high" for about 20 minutes, depending upon the size, and forget about it. When you pull it out it will be soft, fluffy and "sniffing-sweet."

Strip New Dress of Cheap Ornaments

The first thing to do with any dress you buy is to note any artificial flowers or paste jewelry attached. And when you get the dress home, strip it of these oddments. They only cheapen a dress.

Then add a piece of really good costume jewelry and see how much richer and more expensive your purchase looks.

U. S. Students Dress Up

In place of the "unkempt look", a well-groomed look is appearing on school and college campuses across the nation. Though credit for this must be given to school authorities and parents, the students themselves have taken matters into their own hands in many cases. Student governing bodies have sent up minimum dress standards and they are enforcing them. Marked improvements in decorum and study have been reported as effects of the new trend toward more conventional dress.

A high school principal was quoted by a New York paper as commenting: "It may sound hard to believe, but behavior depends a good deal on dress. I have noted a terrific improvement in what happens in the school since we outlawed dungarees."

When teen-agers abandon their sloppy costumes, their clothes tend to come into line with adult fashion trends. The marked trend to Ivy styling in men's wear, for instance, has become a prominent part of the boys' style picture.

Widow Should Alter Life to Lessen Lonely Feeling

Choose New Home in Neighborhood That Meets Basic Requirements

By RUTH MILLETT

A widow who has done a fine job of making a satisfactory life for herself has this advice for widows who are physically and financially able to completely reorganize their lives when they are left alone.

"If the house you are living in is too large for you or if it is in an inconvenient or lonely location, choose your new neighborhood carefully.

Take into consideration such facts as whether or not there are other older persons in the neighborhood. A neighborhood consisting entirely of young couples with young children, busy with the many demands upon their time, could be a rather lonely place for the older person, living alone.

"Also, try to pick a neighborhood that is convenient to town or within easy walking distance of a shopping center. It will make life easier for you, a fact that will become increasingly important the longer you live.

"Once you have moved into your new neighborhood, make every effort to become a real part of it. Be quick to invite the casual caller in for a cup of coffee. Have treats on hand for the children.

BE TOLERANT

"Overlook small annoyances, like an occasional late party, children running through your yard, a neighbor's cat or dog. You gain good neighbors by being a tolerant, understanding neighbor, yourself.

"Take every opportunity to do little kindnesses for your neighbors. You'll soon find that you can count on them to keep a friendly, protective eye on you.

"Above all, don't be critical or gossipy. That will merely build a wall between you and your neighbors. A wall is what you do not want, if you aren't to be lonely, living alone."

That is good advice and sorely needed, since each year there are so many widows faced with the problem of trying to live alone and not be too lonely.

Teen Skirts Billow Out for Spring

PARIS (INS) — The latest junior fashions for spring are full-skirted, hippy and swinging.

Paris designer Carven wants teenagers to wear three net petticoats under party and dance dresses. The full skirts, she says, make the waistline appear slimmer by contrast.

When shopping for a party dress, Carven advises girls to start by looking at the white dresses available. White, in her opinion, is flattering to any young girl. It also is tops for charm and a fresh appearance.

Carven's prettiest white party dress for teenagers is of white Swiss organdy with embroidered white dots. It has a fitted corselet top with 2-inch-wide straps and a full, semi-long skirt billowing over three net petticoats.

The trimming is a cabbage-sized rose at the left side of the waist. The rose is made of the same dotted organdy.

Carven's junior daytime dresses for spring also have bell skirts contrasting with fitted midriffs and waists. Royal blue, often with white trimmings, is her favorite spring shade for teenagers.

It will be fashionable for girls to wear spring coats with deep shoulder yokes. Carven likes to line all junior coats with taffeta for a ladylike rustle effect.

Don't Talk About Writing—Write

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Have you ever secretly thought you could become famous as a writer if you just took the time and settled down to it? If you haven't, you're a most unusual person.

Year in, year out, I am deluged with people who think they want to write and who ask my advice on verything from courses to books to how to sell their work.

Sometimes they have ability, but mostly they are just wishful thinkers.

They think that writing is something you can do anywhere, even at home with the children, and that it will bring easy money, fast. Also, they like the idea of having their names in print.

The saddest thing of all is that they tend to spend all their time thinking and talking about writing, and none of it actually doing any writing!

That's why a letter like this one from Mrs. L. pleases me so:

"I have always like to write light verse. I did it through school and have since always written verses for people's birthdays and for parties. I studied all the books on versification and got a good rhyming dictionary.

"After I was married and had the babies, I continued to keep up this interest—and still do.

While I was sterilizing bottles or changing diapers, I'd get all kinds of ideas. Then I'd jot them down later, when the babies were napping.

"I never expected much to become of it, but it made life more fun and gave me a better appreciation of other people's verse and poetry.

"But one day, I had a good idea for a greeting card verse. I typed it up and sent it to a big company. They couldn't use it, but they indicated they'd be interested in seeing some others.

"I'd like to say that I've become rich and famous," Mrs. L. concludes, "but that would be an exaggeration. However, I do sell an occasional greeting card and, once in a while, a magazine buys one of my verses. But the big thing is, it's such fun and it adds some excitement to my life."

RIGHT APPROACH

That is the right approach to writing—doing it for its own sake, practicing and working hard through the years, expecting little if any monetary reward but a lot of personal satisfaction.

If you're willing to approach it that way, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my list of good books on writing.

Elegance Keynotes Shirts —in Pleats, Lace, Stripes

Italian Shoes, Bright Tyrolean Hats, Colored Straws, Are Spring Fashions

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—It used to be pretty hard to tell a man's shirt from a woman's blouse, since the gals began wearing man-tailored shirts.

But things are getting easier, now that the shirt companies have introduced pleated and lace-trimmed shirts for men. What's more, the men seem to like the fancy fronts—they lend a certain elegance, in this season when elegance is the keynote of men's fashions.

You have to be careful about wearing the new style. Best to wear the fancy fronts with a plain, dark suit and with carefully selected ties that complement the shirt—no hand-painted jobs or wild stripes.

Most of the big shirt manufacturers have hopped on the pleated bandwagon with whites, white with pleats sewn with blue thread and blue collars and cuffs, blue with alternate blue and white pleats, blue with a cut-out white bosom revealing blue underneath, shirts with polka dots or slim stripes on the bosom.

One company has several models, featuring pleats and lace. The lace, much more dressy, is only available in white, but the pleated models come in white, blue or gray.

Meanwhile, the ladies are going for plain old button-down shirts, like men once wore.

The foreign influence on American fashions keeps growing. Now, for the first time, one of the largest chains of popular priced men's shoe stores will import shoes from Italy.

Heretofore, the unusual Italian-styled shoes have been strictly an upper income item. But now they'll be available to the pizza set.

Hat forecast for spring—in a 7⅛-size nutshell, the word is "color." Hat makers see this summer as the most colorful in the hat industry in years. Tyroleans, with gay colors and fancy feathers, are expected to be big.

Straws in different colors and combinations, decked out in big, bold and beautiful bands, will be top sellers. Caps will continue their comeback, and this spring and summer will be available in a bigger variety of fabrics.

For the conservative head, of course, the usual line of lightweight felts and simple straws will be readily available.

If you figure your man won't go for such frills, he'd probably like a nice, non-heart-adorned item—if you picked it out.

Don't Talk About Writing—Write

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Have you ever secretly thought you could become famous as a writer if you just took the time and settled down to it? If you haven't, you're a most unusual person.

Year in, year out, I am deluged with people who think they want to write and who ask my advice on verything from courses to books to how to sell their work.

Sometimes they have ability, but mostly they are just wishful thinkers.

They think that writing is something you can do anywhere, even at home with the children, and that it will bring easy money, fast. Also, they like the idea of having their names in print.

The saddest thing of all is that they tend to spend all their time thinking and talking about writing, and none of it actually doing any writing!

That's why a letter like this one from Mrs. L. pleases me so:

"I have always like to write light verse. I did it through school and have since always written verses for people's birthdays and for parties. I studied all the books on versification and got a good rhyming dictionary.

"After I was married and had the babies, I continued to keep up this interest—and still do.

While I was sterilizing bottles or changing diapers, I'd get all kinds of ideas. Then I'd jot them down later, when the babies were napping.

"I never expected much to become of it, but it made life more fun and gave me a better appreciation of other people's verse and poetry.

"But one day, I had a good idea for a greeting card verse. I typed it up and sent it to a big company. They couldn't use it, but they indicated they'd be interested in seeing some others.

"I'd like to say that I've become rich and famous," Mrs. L. concludes, "but that would be an exaggeration. However, I do sell an occasional greeting card and, once in a while, a magazine buys one of my verses. But the big thing is, it's such fun and it adds some excitement to my life."

RIGHT APPROACH

That is the right approach to writing—doing it for its own sake, practicing and working hard through the years, expecting little if any monetary reward but a lot of personal satisfaction.

If you're willing to approach it that way, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my list of good books on writing.

Elegance Keynotes Shirts —in Pleats, Lace, Stripes

Italian Shoes, Bright Tyrolean Hats, Colored Straws, Are Spring Fashions

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—It used to be pretty hard to tell a man's shirt from a woman's blouse, since the gals began wearing man-tailored shirts.

But things are getting easier, now that the shirt companies have introduced pleated and lace-trimmed shirts for men. What's more, the men seem to like the fancy fronts—they lend a certain elegance, in this season when elegance is the keynote of men's fashions.

You have to be careful about wearing the new style. Best to wear the fancy fronts with a plain, dark suit and with carefully selected ties that complement the shirt—no hand-painted jobs or wild stripes.

Most of the big shirt manufacturers have hopped on the pleated bandwagon with whites, white with pleats sewn with blue thread and blue collars and cuffs, blue with alternate blue and white pleats, blue with a cut-out white bosom revealing blue underneath, shirts with polka dots or slim stripes on the bosom.

One company has several models, featuring pleats and lace. The lace, much more dressy, is only available in white, but the pleated models come in white, blue or gray.

Meanwhile, the ladies are going for plain old button-down shirts, like men once wore.

The foreign influence on American fashions keeps growing. Now, for the first time, one of the largest chains of popular priced men's shoe stores will import shoes from Italy.

Heretofore, the unusual Italian-styled shoes have been strictly an upper income item. But now they'll be available to the pizza set.

Hat forecast for spring—in a 7⅛-size nutshell, the word is "color." Hat makers see this summer as the most colorful in the hat industry in years. Tyroleans, with gay colors and fancy feathers, are expected to be big.

Straws in different colors and combinations, decked out in big, bold and beautiful bands, will be top sellers. Caps will continue their comeback, and this spring and summer will be available in a bigger variety of fabrics.

For the conservative head, of course, the usual line of lightweight felts and simple straws will be readily available.

Products a Barometer of Industry

Paper Production Declines

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The health of the paper and pulp industry often gives a quick clue to how industry in general is faring. And paper leaders report today that demand has leveled off to the point they now have overcapacity to produce.

Paper's role as an indicator of general industrial activity rises from the fact that so many of its various products are used to package the output of other industries. Any drop in general industrial output is quickly reflected in the activity of the paper industry.

The nation's paper industry produced a record 31½ million tons last year, an increase of 5 per cent over 1955. This by coincidence was the same percentage by which the gross national product — the dollar total of the nation's goods and services — increased.

Most paper companies did well in the profit department. The first 21 companies to report their net profit after taxes in 1956 showed combined earnings of $159,272,280. This is a 22.7 per cent increase over the $129,778,449 the same companies made in 1955.

Although reporting overcapacity for the moment, many leaders in the industry consider this but a temporary thing.

They lay the leveling off in demand to disturbed world conditions, which have affected European production notably, and in some extent to the tight money situation in this country.

They contend that a search for new markets for paper will shortly take up the slack here.

And despite temporary overcapacity the industry plans further expansion to meet increased demand which the companies foresee in the years ahead. Industry leaders say that paper companies plan to spend a record 900 million dollars this year, which would be 100 million more than was spent an expansion last year.

Dog Won't Answer Call Simply 'Cause He's Deaf

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Phoning the Raleigh Register to report the loss of his female cocker spaniel, a 12-year-old family pet, Dr. R. G. Broaddus offered a reward, but refrained from providing the customary line, "Answers to the name of . . . ."

"The dog is blind and deaf," he explained.

A Beckleyan who read the notice spotted the dog on a street and returned her.

City-wide curiosity was appeased by Mrs. Broaddus, who disclosed the cocker's name is "Tucky."

The time draws near for the long awaited name who will take over the coaching reins at Pontiac High School, presumably with a three year contract.

Applications are all in and no more are being accepted, and the screening has begun from among the 48 who have applied for the position of head football coach.

Interest for the job in Michigan's best schoolboy conference, the Saginaw Valley, has been drawn from 10 states including Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Tennessee, West Virginia, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Twenty-five of the applicants are currently in Michigan circles, many are from coaches from the state who are presently employed in other states.

Recommendations for some of the prospects have been made by such prominent coaches as Bud Wilkinson, Stu Holcomb, Ray Eliot, Duffy Daugherty, Leonard Roffensberger, Howard Hobson and Benny Oosterbaan.

The process of screening and interviewing now rests in the hands of a four-man committee composed of Dana P. Whitmer, Superintendent of Schools; Francis Staley, PHS Principal; Cecil Cox, Assistant Superintendent in charge of personnel and Tom Dodson, Director of Athletics.

"From now until March 15th when we expect to have the man for the job, every applicant will be given utmost consideration," said Dodson.

The committee will make its recommendation to the school board for final approval, which will also determine the length of contract.

With a three-year pact, the new coach will probably operate under the present setup of drawing material from the entire school district for two years even though the new high school is expected to open its doors in 1958.

Football competition is not expected for the new school until 1959, and this should be in Class "B" to start.

With the new football coach, a new era on the gridiron is expected. Coordination of junior high athletics to correspond more closely to that of the high school will have to be the primary step in bringing about a well-rounded, integrated program from the junior to the senior high levels.

This is the answer to the future success of Pontiac High athletics.

CHAMP—Boy's Club boxer Dave Blower (above) last night won his 1st ring title, the 175-pound novice crown in the Detroit Golden Gloves. He knocked out his opponent, Reg Farmer of Detroit, in the 2nd round. Bout was Dave's 1st, after three consecutive byes in the tourney.

MOVES UP — Jerry Burns, 29, former prep coach at Redford St. Mary's, who then became freshman coach under Forest Evashevski at Iowa, was advanced as assistant coach of Hawkeyes to fill the vacancy left by Chalmers "Bump" Elliott who became backfield coach at Michigan yesterday.

Big Ten Rules Would Prevent Lions' Games

Crisler Doubts That Conference Will Amend Its Regulations

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Massive Michigan stadium, largest college-owned bowl in the United States, never has been used for professional sports and it's doubtful if it ever will be.

That's the University of Michigan's answer to Detroit Lions president Edwin J. Anderson, who wants to switch his team's home games to the 100,161-seat structure here.

Michigan athletic director Fritz Crisler said no one connected with the Lions ever approached him about becoming a tenant. If they did, it couldn't be done because of Western Conference regulations.

"Our rules forbid use by outsiders of our facilities, except for education," Crisler said. "It's a board rule but it's there primarily for keeping pro teams out. And I don't think the Big Ten rules can be changed."

Anderson said he was interested in increasing the Lions' revenue by moving from Detroit's Briggs Stadium, where they averaged about 56,000 fans last season.

He hopes to get the Big Ten to amend its rules and admitted speaking to one conference athletic director about the possibility of amending the rules.

Crisler said he wasn't the one who talked the matter over with Anderson, but he declined to comment if he would welcome the Lions as tenants.

There have been previous attempts by professionals to rent Michigan athletic facilities. The Harlem Globetrotters professional basketball team tried several times to play games in Yost Fieldhouse but were turned down.

Local sports fans last week speculated that the Fort Wayne Pistons of the National Basketball Assn. would play a couple of games in the Michigan fieldhouse next year when they moved to Detroit. But the Pistons apparently would get the same answer from Crisler.

The only professional athletes ever to use the Michigan fieldhouse were those playing in Jack Kramer's tennis troupe.

Tiger Rookie Opening Postponed by Weather

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers says its a "good thing I'm not superstitious."

A day-long heavy rain washed out the opening of the Tigers' rookie baseball school yesterday. It was the first workout scheduled under Tighe since he took over the Detroit management after Bucky Harris left the club.

"Sort of a dismal start," Tighe said.

Tighe used the day talking over with his aides the problem of filling the third-base vacancy created by the planned transfer of Ray Boone to first base.

Three players seek the job. They are Jim Finigan, Reno Bertoia and Jack Dittmer. Bertoia is the former bonus baby from Windsor, Ont. Finigan and Dittmer came to Detroit on trades.

None of the trio played third base with any regularity last season.

If Tighe can't find a third-baseman from among the three he says he'll alternate Boone and Eddie Robinson at first. When Robinson is playing, Boone will cover third.

"I figure Robinson should be able to do some heavy hitting in Briggs Stadium and Yankee Stadium where that rightfield fence is real inviting," Tighe said. "I want to play him as much as I can. When I do, I'll put Boone back at third and have two strong hitters in there at the same time."

Boone says he's "ready for anything." "Looks like I'd better be," Boone added.

Paul Foytack, who had a 15-13 pitching record with the Tigers last season, put in an appearance yesterday. He plans to get in some extra days before the regulars start drills.

In another development, Joe Presko, right hander with Charleston of the American Assn., last year, signed his Detroit contract. He had a 9-7 record with Charleston.

Pastrano Jabs Way to Victory

Given Unanimous Nod Over Holman in Fight at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Willie Pastrano, Chicago, fourth-ranked heavyweight from Miami and New Orleans, tied up Chicago's big Johnny Holman with lightning hooks and jabs last night to win a unanimous decision in a 10-round nationally televised bout.

The 6-3, 200-pound, hard-hitting Holman, who has kayoed opponents for 13 of his 20 victories, just couldn't land a big one. Pastrano, 6 feet and 187¼ pounds, was in and out with telling jabs that raised a welt over Holmans' left eye. The eye was closed from the eighth round on.

Referee Dan Leslie and Judges Frank De Camillis and Tom Nuckles marked Pastrano down for his 21st straight win with room to spare. Leslie scored 7 rounds for Pastrano, 3 for Holman; De Camillis had it 7-2-1, and Nuckles 6-3-1. The Associated Press card read eight rounds for Pastrano

No Huzzahs From AL Clubs Over Yank-Athletics Deal

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The men who try to find a way to beat the Yankees, American League managers and their bosses, aren't elated over the 13-player swap the New Yorkers made with the Kansas City Athletics.

They don't like the idea of the Yanks coming up with another first line pitcher — Art Ditmar. And wily Casey Stengel may have fallen heir to another if the once great Bobby Shantz comes through for him.

Even if the A's made a good deal for themselves, they may have assured the New Yorkers of another pennant — their eighth in nine years.

For the record, the Yanks got Ditmar, Shantz, pitcher Jack McMahan, first baseman Wayne Belardi, and another player to be named in place of infielder Cletis Boyer, who first was included in the deal. The league blocked Boyer's transfer because he is a bonus player who hasn't served his two year stretch with the A's.

The Athletics got pitchers Mickey McDermott, Rip Coleman and Tom Morgan, outfielder Irv Noren and infielder Milt Graff, up from Birmingham. Each club will throw in a young player at a later date.

Ditmar was the man most of the managers talked about.

"The Yanks got the A's best pitcher in Ditmar," said Jack Tighe, manager of the Detroit Tigers. "And they didn't give up a single player who helped them win the title last year. In addition the Yanks got another one who really could help if his arm continues to get better—Shantz."

Paul Richards, who made a mammoth deal with the Yankees two years ago, wouldn't comment. Sources in Baltimore reported Richards had toyed with a similar deal involving pitcher Ray Moore of the Orioles but backed away from it.

Boston's general manager, Joe Cronin, said sadly:

"We wanted both Ditmar and Shantz. We've been trying to get together with the Athletics on a deal. I guess they like the Yankee players better. Ditmar and Shantz both should help the Yankees."

Aragon Awaits Jury's Verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Welterweight Art Aragon continued to wait today for the most important decision of his career.

In a locked jury room on the eighth floor of the Hall of Justice six women and six men were deliberating whether Aragon offered Dick Goldstein $500 to throw a fight in Texas last December.

Quite probably the jurors also were deciding whether the colorful Golden Boy will ever fight again. The state athletic commission has indicated that Aragon's 1957 boxing license depends on an acquittal.

Aragon is charged with corrupt sporting practices, a felony. If convicted, he faces up to five years in prison.

The jurors began deliberating Tuesday morning after a seven-day trial. Twice they returned to the courtroom to have testimony read to them.

TRYING OUT NEW MITTS — Detroit's regular third baseman since 1953, Ray Boone, tries out a few first base mitts with the possibility that he will be at the position when training camp officially opens March 1st. He is working out at Tigertown with the advance crew of the Tigers.

'Eel' Sparks Rangers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"The Eel" has finally made the varsity with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

"The Eel"—that's Camille Henry—earned his letter by scoring his sixth goal in the last seven Ranger games when New York belted the visiting Boston Bruins 5-2 last night in the league's only action.

Camille, a 150-pound native of Quebec, assisted on another Ranger goal to run his point total to 14 over the past two weeks. That's four points more than NHL scoring leader Gordie Howe of Detroit has been able to amass over the same period.

The Rangers recalled Henry from Providence, their American Hockey League farm, 16 games ago. At first, it appeared Henry was destined to hold down the bench. Then left winger Parker McDonald hurt his shoulder. Coach Phil Watson inserted Henry in McDonald's spot, and Camille caught fire.

The Eel was rookie of the year in the NHL for 1953-54, but lasted only 21 games with New York the following season. He spent all of last season with Providence, played the first seven games of the current season with the Rangers, and then it was back to Providence again.

Adding goals to the Ranger cause last night were Dave Creighton, Andy Hebenton, Dean Prentice and Danny Lewicki. Fleming Mackell and Real Chevrefils scored second-period goals for the Bruins.

Angler Catches Pike That Ate Lampreys

A six-pound northern pike ate three seven-inch lampreys shortly before being taken from Claybank Lake, Manistee County, recently.

John Keith, Manistee, caught the pike on a tip-up. He reported to the Conservation Department's Traverse City district office after finding the lampreys in the fish's stomach.

Though not identifiable, they were probably native Michigan brook lampreys, although sea lampreys also are present in Claybank Creek, a tributary of Lake Michigan, which drains Claybank Lake.

Manhattan Quint Accepts NIT Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—Six more basketball teams remain to be selected for the National Invitation Tournament beginning March 1 at Madison Square Garden following the selection of Manhattan.

Manhattan accepted a bid yesterday to appear in the 12-team classic, bringing the total now in the fold to six teams.

Manhattan, holding a record of 15-5 with five games to play and winner of the Holiday Festival at the Garden, will be competing in its sixth NIT.

Previous picks were Seattle, Dayton, Cincinnati, Memphis State and St. Bonaventure.

Shooting for 5,000th Winner Hectic Business

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—If Jockey Johnny Longden is feeling the strain in quest of his 5,000th race winner, he doesn't show it. But the pressure is telling on his family and friends.

"I can't sleep, I can't eat. It's terrific," said his pretty blonde wife, Hazel, summing up things around the Longden household.

Longden went into today's card at Santa Anita Park still four wins away from the 5,000 mark. He has had one winner in the last four racing days.

Middlecoff, Thomson, Hebert Favorites

HOUSTON (AP) — A 72-hole score of 277 and three veterans — Cary Middlecoff, Peter Thomson, and Jay Hebert — were the favorites today as the $36,000 Houston Open began on the long, tree-lined Memorial Park Course.

Six of nine previous Houston tournaments have been won with scores of 11-under-par 277. Middlecoff is the only two-time champion here. Hebert, a former Houston resident, has won two of the winter titles this year, while Thomson, the British Open champion, has impressed his galleries in practice rounds.

Middlecoff admits he likes to play on a rain-soaked course. Memorial's 7,200-yard, par 72 layout has had rain the last five days. None was forecast today but the temperature was not expected to climb above 55 degrees.

Rain plagued the 1950 and 1953 tournaments won by Middlecoff. He also was runner-up in the rain in 1949 and 1954. In his nine previous appearances here, the Memphis dentist has picked up prizes totaling $11,467.43.

Middlecoff won his title here with a 277, as did the current defending champion, Ted Kroll, Golf's leading money winner last year. Kroll's sub-par rounds of 70, 67, 71 and 69 won him $6,000 a year ago in a $30,000 tournament. Sunday's top prize will be $7,500, largest on the winter tour.

Hebert turned professional here in 1949 but the Bing Crosby Invitational last month was his first tournament championship, the Texas Open last week at San Antonio his first PGA-sponsored title. In seven 1957 tournaments he has won $7,415, more than half his 1956 total.

Thomson did not keep score on a practice round yesterday but said he was under par on four or five holes. He had a five-under-par 66 Tuesday at the Houston Golf Club to win $450 top money in a pro-amateur event.

Today's field of 160 included all the 1957 champions and all the former Houston winners except South Africa's Bobby Locke, who won a $2,000 first prize in 1947.

Kroll and Thomson were among those starting their first tournament of the year.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Ken Boyer, an All-Star Game selection at third base last season, makes his debut as a centerfielder today in the first intra-squad game of the St. Louis Cardinals early spring training camp.

Four Orioles Yet Unsigned

BALTIMORE (AP)—Carl Powis, a hard-hitting rookie who will be one of a dozen candidates for the Baltimore Orioles' outfield, has returned his signed contract, Assistant General Manager Jack Dunn III announced today.

Only four Orioles remained unsigned, said Dunn. They are pitcher George Zuverink, infielders George Kell and Willy Miranda and outfielder Bob Nieman.

This Fish 'Took Walk'

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Herb Charboneau thought he had a fish story to end all fish stories.

He was driving along Orchard Beach road near Cheboygan yesterday when he spotted a 140-pound sturgeon in the center of the road.

Charboneau, who lives at Alverno, took the fish to the nearby residence of Bud White.

The two men were talking it over when Ed Laduc of Cheboygan drove up and asked, "Have you seen a sturgeon?"

It was his fish. He had speared it in Lake Mullet and it had slid out of the trunk of his car.

TEST YOUR BASEBALL KNOW-HOW

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

By BEN OLAN

Righthander Johnny Klippstein had his best of seven major league seasons in 1956. He won 12 games for the surprising Cincinnati Redlegs.

With the Chicago Cubs for five years, Klippstein showed promise but little else. They finally gave up and, on Oct. 1, 1954, traded him to the Redlegs in a five-player deal.

In a game against his old Chicago mates late last season, Klippstein was one of the key figures. Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts had to make a quick decision. He called it correctly. What would you have done in the same situation?

(Key: (R) righthanded; (L) lefthanded.)

The Redlegs and Cubs are tied 3-3 in the last of the 14th at Chicago with Klippstein (R) on the mound for Cincinnati. Jerry Kindall starts off the inning with a triple. With a runner on third base and none out, Hobie Landrith (L) is sent in to pinch hit for pitcher Turk Lown. Eddie Miksis (R), Don Hoak (R) and Dee Fondy (L) are scheduled to follow.

Would you:

a. Have Klippstein intentionally walk Landrith and Miksis?

b. Have Klippstein intentionally walk Landrith and pitch to Miksis?

c. Let Klippstein pitch to Landrith?

Result: C—Klippstein pitches to Landrith and gets him on strikes. Johnny then retires Miksis on a grounder and Hoak on strikes to get out of the inning. (Cincinnati wins 4-3 in the 15th on Frank Robinson's single (Answer 15.)

Grid Cards Sign End

OSU Fieldhouse Site

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS) — Champions of the Ohio Valley and Mid-American Conferences will meet at-large teams in the Ohio State Fieldhouse at Columbus, O., March 12 in a first round doubleheader of the NCAA National Basketball Championships.

Winners will take on the Big Ten and Southeast Conference champions in the quarter-final round at Lexington, Ky., March 15.

New York already has been selected as the first-round site for the eastern section.

Chiefs Aim to Pad SVC Record

Next to the last conference basketball game of the season, Friday night in Wildanger fieldhouse, Flint Northern's home floor, will find Pontiac's Valley champs shooting to expand their league victory string to nine in a row. Chiefs and the Vikings tangle for the 2nd time and Art Van Ryzin's club is the top-heavy favorite.

However, one never takes chances with a Viking team on its own court, and PHS Coach Van Ryzin will start his "regulars," just about the same crew that dumped Bay City last weekend. Big Jim Skinner adds rebounding and pivotal strength, returning to action after a three weeks injury-dictated layoff.

Starters for the Chiefs will be John Bandy, Dick Whitmer at forwards, Dave Diehm and Larry Peet at the guards with Hudson Ray at center.

For Northern Coach Jack Marlette, relaying his information through his wife, announced another shuffle in lineup, for this game. The Northern mentor was home with "the shivers and shakes," resting in bed. "He'll be ready, however, for Friday night," Mrs. Marlette reported.

So far this season the Northern coach has shuffled his players around trying to get a combination that could win. Apparently he found a pretty good one last week against Central, winning 61-36. He has switched his 15-man squad many times. The last lineup, which will be the starters against Pontiac, included Carr and Tillman at forwards, Reg Gillard and Phil Gaines at guards with Jim Reese at center. Neither Carr nor Tillman got in against the Chiefs in the first encounter which PHS won 54-41.

Led by Dave Diehm's 130 points and Hudson Ray's 128 in SVC play, Pontiac has compiled a Valley scoring total of 473. Opponents have collected 365. Barring an upheavel, Chiefs will hit a better than 500 points in league action for the 5th time during Van Ryzin's tenure as coach. Twice during the last 10 years Van Ryzin's team went over the 600 mark. Diehm trails Saginaw's Deb Blondon (154) for 2nd place in SVC scoring. Ray is 3rd.

Fans contemplating the trip to Flint Friday, should proceed into Flint on Saginaw street, drive to McClellan, then turn left (on McClellan) two blocks. Wildanger Fieldhouse is adjacent to Northern High School.

Belardi in Accident

Wife, Daughters Also Hurt as Car Hits Bridge

INDIO, Calif. (AP)—Highway patrolmen said baseball player Wayne Belardi and his family were "very lucky" in a desert highway accident yesterday.

Their car hit a bridge railing, a heavy 6 x 6 timber smashed through the windshield and the auto dropped 12 feet into a dry wash, landing on its side but turning upright as it stopped.

Attendants at Coachella Valley Hospital here said Belardi, 26, suffered a broken nose, face lacerations and a deep gash on his neck which required several stitches to close. His condition was listed as good.

His wife, Elaine, also 26 suffered a shoulder injury and bruises and their three daughters, Christine, 5; Pamela Ann, 4, and Teresa Ann, 19 months, suffered bumps and bruises but none was hurt seriously.

Patrolman John Walters said the car was wrecked beyond salvage.

"We've had many fatal accidents at these flood control bridges and culverts and the Belardis were very lucky," he said.

First baseman Belardi was traded by the Kansas City Athletics to the New York Yankees in a big swap Tuesday. He was to be assigned to the Yankee farm club at Denver of the American Assn.

The Belardis were en route from their home in San Jose, Calif., to the Yankee spring training camp in Florida. The accident was on U.S. Highway 60-70 about 60 miles east of here near a little desert community called Hell, Calif. The patrolman said Mrs. Belardi was driving and lost control after glancing down at a road map held by her husband.

* * *

Walters said he talked to Belardi after the accident and there was no indication he was injured seriously enough to prevent him from playing ball. He said Belardi plans to continue to Florida as soon as possible.

Drayton Handed 87-76 Thumping

A big 3rd quarter propelled Matthews-Hargreaves to a convincing 87-76 upset victory over Drayton Drug in a Waterford League basketball game last night at Isaac Crary Junior High.

The winners held only a 44-42 halftime lead, but a 28-14 bulge in the 3rd period put the Druggists out of contention. Matthews-Hargreaves aided its cause by sinking 13 foul shots in 16 attempts.

Jerry Bradley led Matthews-Hargreaves with 24 points while Drayton's Joe Umphrey made 27 for scoring honors.

The setback dropped the Drug cagers into a 2nd place tie with Davis Machinery on a 9-3 record, followed by Matthews-Hargreaves with 8-4. Philgas now leads alone with a 10-2 mark.

In yesterday's other league game, Davis Machinery trounced Johnson & Anderson, 57-35, behind a 12 point effort by Bob Mills. Stu Hutchinson scored 17 for J & A.

Trojans Lead Jets in BC Playoff Test

Trojans had a one game edge in the playoff series for Boys' Club Biddy Basketball league title today. They took a 49-46 win over Jets yesterday in a game that saw the lead change hands at least a dozen times. Victory came only in the final seconds when Sam Christokya and Frank Ketonen dunked goals to wipe out a one-point lead Jets got on Eddie Thaxton's two gift shots.

Eight players hit double figures, paced by Ketonen's 18 on nine goals. Dick Henry had 14 for losers.

Teams meet again Friday in the 2nd of the best-of-three test.

Lou Kretlow, Kansas City Athletics, finished second with 225. John Gray of Cleveland was next with 234 and after that there was an even bigger gap to Al Lopez, Chicago White Sox, who had 249.

Trotters Get Support in Comedy Sunday

The Harlem Globetrotters will have support in the comedy department when they perform at Pontiac High School Sunday night.

There's only one difference. The Trotters will present a comedy of perfection. The support will be a comedy of errors.

Radio stations WPON and WCAR and The Pontiac Press, rivals at the Trotter show last year, will merge to play a group of Pontiac business and professional people in a preliminary basketball game that promises to be a dilly.

These two teams will be known henceforth as the PRM's (press and radio men) and the VIP's (very important persons).

The VIP's formidable array of hardcourt talent reads like a Pontiac Who's Who. Coaching the squad will be Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

Thirteen illustrious names comprise the player roster. They include Dr. Otto Hufziger, Tom Dodson, Frederick C. Ziem, John Witherup, Dan Murphy, John Hirlinger, Howard O. Powers, Art Van Ryzin, Steve Navarre, Bob Flynn, Ben Jerome, Bruce Welch and Bruce Annet..

The PRM's will counter with a 10-man squad. Included are Chuck Lewis, Brian Connelly and Gib Shanley of WPON; Bruce Martyn and Bob Allen of WCAR; Bill Cornwell and Chuck Abair of The Press sports staff, and Joe Singleton, Larry Sowter and Al Crawford, other Press employes.

As you can see, the PRM's will be outmanned for the struggle so the VIP's will probably attempt to use the platoon system. Besides, they'll be needing all those reserves to survive.

Tickets for the Globetrotter show and the aforementioned marathon are available from any Lions Club member and at the Calbi Music Co., 119 N. Saginaw St.

Griff's Throttles Calgon to Regain National Lead

Coming through in the clutch as usual, defending Class C champion Griff's Grill regained 1st place in the National division of the adult City Basketball League by turning back its stiffest opposition for the title—the Calgon Kids.

Ron Woodhull's 13 points and a dozen apiece by Don Harding and Chuck Franklin paced Griff's to a 54-50 victory over the Kids last night at Pontiac High. Griff's led at halftime, 32-23.

It was the 7th triumph in 10 games for the Grill cagers. Calgon's Roger Reynolds took scoring honors with 27 points. Calgon now has a 7-4 record.

Jerry Nosek poured 32 points through the hoop in a losing cause as the Boys Club bowed to Walled Lake Super Market, 78-68, in American League action. Jim Bates sparked Walled Lake with 21. The win gave Walled Lake 2nd place.

In Class D play at Lincoln, unbeaten Green's P & H walloped the Elks, 54-39; the Celtics trimmed the Blackhalks, 49-38, and Central Christian defeated the Northerns, 35-31. Lou Waterfield of the Blackhawks led all 'D' scorers with 25 points.

Flaherty Will Coach at '500'

Injured in 1956 Race, Champ Has New Role at Indianapolis

LA CRESCENTA, Calif. (AP)—Pat Flaherty, 1956 Indianapolis 500-mile auto race champion, will be at the Memorial Day classic again this year — but this time as a coach and spectator.

Flaherty, banged up in a dirt track race at Springfield, Ill., last August, told of his plans here yesterday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Hazel Flaherty.

Pat, 31-year-old racing champion and Chicato tavern owner, is currently supervising construction of a new car to be driven May 30 by Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner. The car is being built by A. J. Watson, Glendale, Calif., mechanic who put together the last two winning Indianapolis cars.

Flaherty said his role at Indianapolis will be to coach the team of Ruttman and Jud Larson. Larson, a Kansas City dirt track driver, will be piloting Pat's 1956 car. It will be Larson's first try at the 500.

Since his accident last August, Flaherty has undergone five operations—three on his broken right arm, one on his jaw and another on his left shoulder. Still ahead is more surgery on the arm.

Find 1st Starved Deer

First known deer starvation of the current winter was confirmed by autopsy in Baraga county a few days ago. Winter conditions restricted deer to yarding areas during the last week in most of the Upper Peninsula.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, whitetails ranged rather freely in the western part of the Gaylord district where yarding was reported.

In the U. P., maximum snow depths reached 2½ feet except in the Crystal Falls district, where maximum depths of about 16 inches were reported. Snow was not deep enough to be of any consequence to deer in the northern Lower Peninsula except in the Gaylord district and in Kalkaska county, where maximum depths of 1-1½ feet were recorded.

Win, Lose, Share Picture for Preps

Championships will be won, lost or shared Friday night in three Oakland County area leagues.

It's still a two-way race for title honors in the Wayne-Oakland, Oakland B and Southern Thumb circuits as the 1956-57 basketball season nears an end.

Clarkston, tied with Northville for 1st place in the Wayne-Oakland loop, can clinch a share of the crown by beating visiting Holly.

This may prove more difficult than it seems. Holly, a dangerous team at all times, started Northville on its downward spiral before the Wolves completed the job.

The Mustangs, who entertain Thurston tomorrow in a non-league tilt, have cellar-dwelling West Bloomfield remaining in their path to a co-title.

An interesting situation has developed in the Oakland B league. After a long, uphill fight, Avondale tied Troy for the lead, then stumbled at Lake Orion and permitted the Colts to move back into command.

Now the Yellow Jackets are seeking help from the same team which derailed them. Lake Orion plays host to Troy Friday while Avon invades Clawson.

A victory for the unpredictable Dragons coupled with a Jacket triumph would give Avondale a co-championship with the Colts.

New Haven, which guaranteed itself a share of the Southern Thumb crown by downing Almont Tuesday, can win the diadem outright with a triumph at Armada. Almont is idle.

The Inter-Lakes Conference has two more rounds to go and Walled Lake and Berkley appear headed for a split of honors.

Walled Lake faces the greatest danger. The Vikings meet strong Farmington on the Falcon court in their last major hurdle to the throne. Berkley encounters weak Van Dyke at home.

Pontiac has the Saginaw Valley title in the bag, the Eastern Michigan League crown belongs to East Detroit, Imlay City has wrapped up the South Central Conference title and Suburban Catholic laurels went to Highland Park St. Benedict.

Titans Still Lose

Ebben Sets Point Mark

new scoring record was the best the University of Detroit could salvage from a 99-88 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame's basketball team last night.

Titan forward Bill Ebben put on a one-man show late in the second half to total 29 points for the game and crack the all-time Detroit scoring record for one season.

Ebben's performance lifted his season total to 620 points for 23 games. The old record of 600 was set by Guy Sparrow in 26 games during the 1954-55 season.

Sparrow, former Pontiac High cager, who helped the Chiefs to one of their best seasons in 1951, set 18 different scoring marks at the U. of D., and most of these have fallen to Ebben.

The loss was Detroit's 13th of the season against 10 victories. It was the ninth straight road defeat for the Titans.

Detroit had a better shooting average—35 of 71 shots against 41 out of 93 for Notre Dame, but Bob Devine's ball handling and ball-stealing and superior height gave the Irish the extra shots they needed to win. Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame matched Ebben's output.

The Titans led through most of the first half, but Notre Dame was on top at the intermission, 45-43. Detroit tied the score at 45-all and 47-all but never regained the lead.

Mike Walsh added 24 points for Detroit. The Irish had two other 20-plus shooters.

Blower Takes Novice Crown

Believed to be the first Golden Gloves champion from Pontiac since the days of Gene Linscott, husky Dave Blower, last night battered his way to the novice 175-pound crown at the Fairgrounds.

Blower, Boys' Club boxer, developed by coach Jack Kudray, flattened Reg Farmer of Detroit at 53 seconds of the 2nd round in the Detroit gloves finals. A terrific right hook to the head flattened Farmer. Dave won his title in his first fight in the tourney. He had three straight byes to the big one.

Dave swarmed all over his foe at the start and never let Farmer get set. He is 19 years old, has been boxing only three years. All his ring experience has been at Boys' Club. He is the oldest boy in a large family.

Tribe Southpaw 'Beans' Rizzuto With Golf Club

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (INS) — Herb Score, the Cleveland Indians' star southpaw hurler, had a "beaning" to his credit — a full month before he is due to don a baseball uniform for spring training.

Herb lost patience when he drove three balls into the rough in the Cascade of Champions golf tourney at Lake Worth.

He swung his club at the ground in anger and in so doing clobbered former New York Yankee shortstop Phil Rizzuto.

The Scooter apparently was not riously hurt, but a doctor benched seriously hurt, bua a doctor benched him for the rest of the day.

NBA Tries Something New

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Basketball Assn., which has pioneered changes in the rules and tried various other innovations in its successful efforts to attract more fans, goes in for something different again today—a midweek afternoon doubleheader at Boston.

With the Boston Garden tied up at night by an ice show, Fort Wayne, Boston, St. Louis and New York will see what they can do about pulling the fans through the turnstiles at the unusual starting time of 2:15 p.m., EST.

Fort Wayne, leading the Western Division by 1½ games, and New York, striving to get out of the Eastern Division cellar and a place in the playoffs, open the double bill. Boston, holding a six-game lead in the Eastern Division, then takes the floor against St. Louis, second to Fort Wayne in the Western.

Only one game was played last night. Minneapolis defeated Rochester 111-103 to move into a tie with the Royals for third place in the West.

Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves led the major leagues in shutouts in 1956 with six. Three players had five.

Three Reappointed to State Commission

Reappointments of three state Conservation Commission members received senate confirmation Feb. 13.

Reappointed commissioners are Peter J. Calcatera, Norway; Lawrence J. Gotschall, Baldwin; and George A. Griffith, Grayling. All three were reappointed to the Commission in 1955 by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Current six-year terms, which expire in April, 1961, are the second on the Comsion for Calcatera, Gotschall and Griffith.

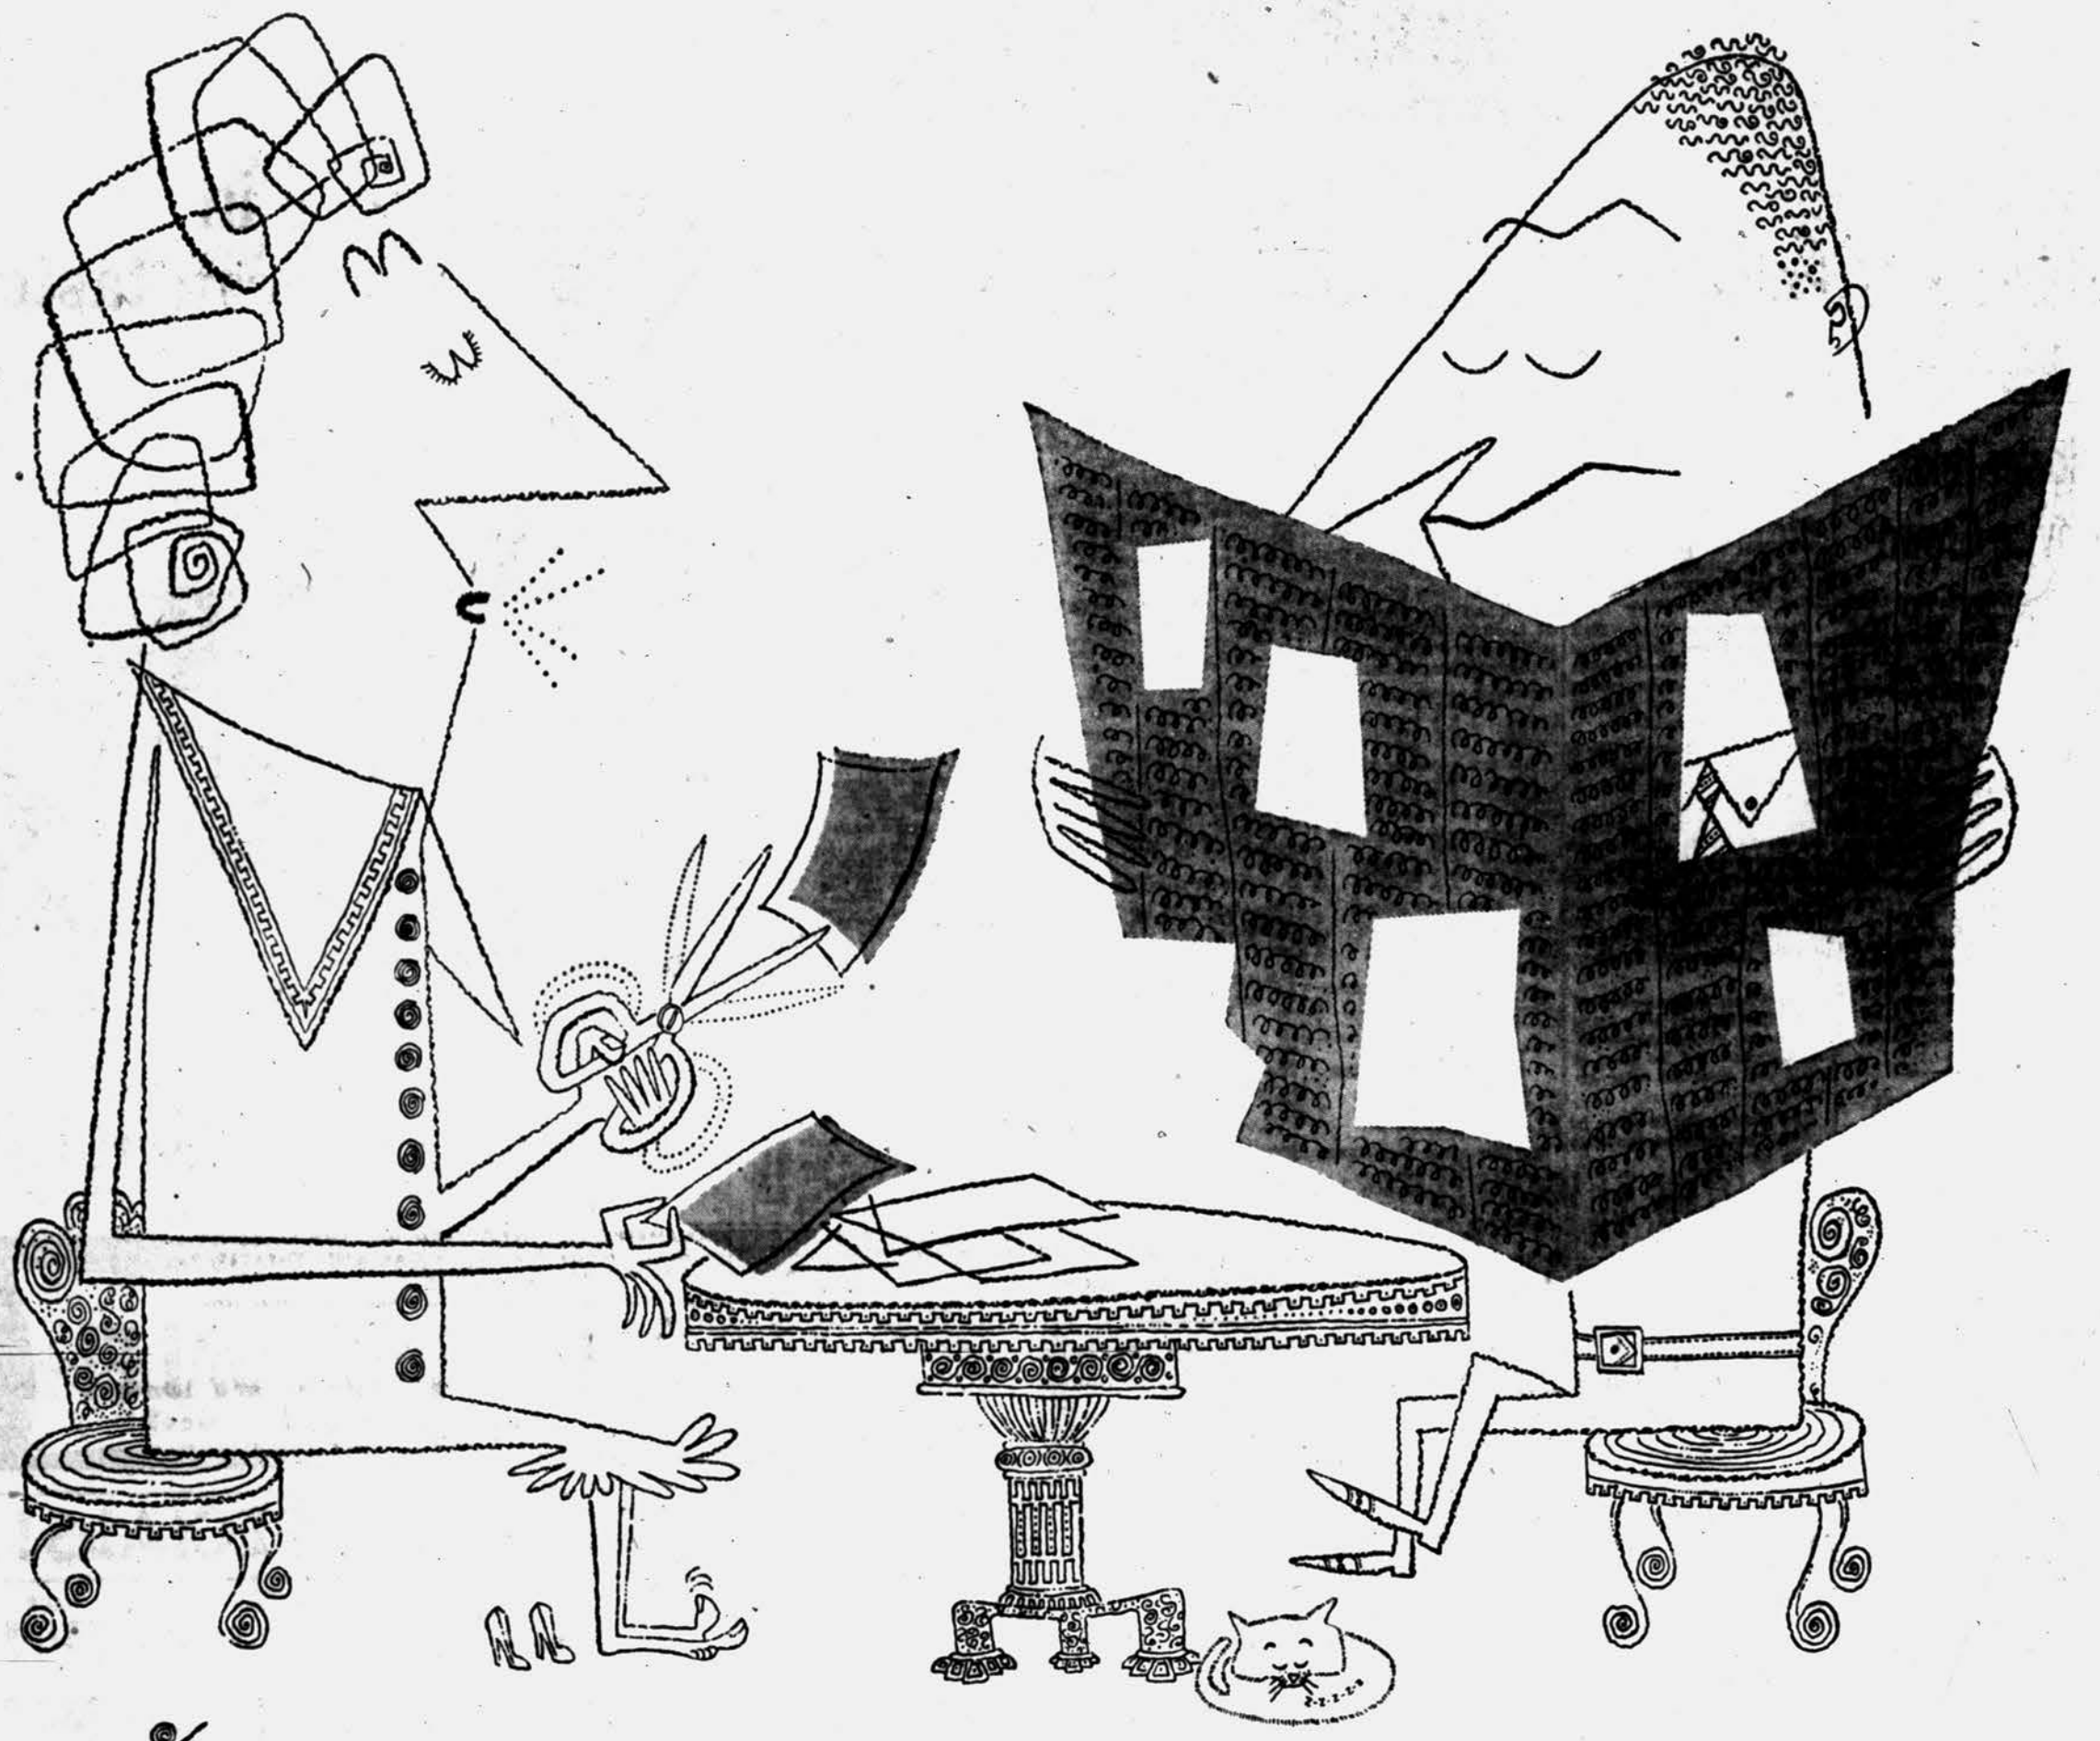
WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER?

COPYRIGHT 1957, BUREAU OF ADVERTISING OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, INC.



"I go over the ads every day...it's part of reading the newspaper"*

Ask ten different people why they read the daily newspaper and you'll probably get ten different answers. That's because the newspaper offers so much under one roof to interest people —local and world-wide news, sports, comics, fashions, gardening, home planning, business news, teen-age columns, human interest pictures, entertainment news, and much more.

Newspaper reading is a local habit done on a national scale. And one habit common to almost all newspaper readers is shopping the paper. As the lady in our illustration says, "It's part of reading the newspaper." That is one of the fundamental reasons why an all time high of almost 57,000,000 newspapers are eagerly bought—and read—every day.

The newspaper is a basic need in peoples' lives and is naturally a basic selling tool for all advertisers—national, regional, local—from big manufacturers to merchants on Main Street.

Is it your basic advertising medium?

* One of hundreds of statements from "The Functions of Newspapers for Their Readers", a study conducted by Social Research, Inc., for the entire newspaper industry.

Army Supplies Romantic Frills for Wedding Rite

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pfc. and Mrs. Howard Brenner were off on their honeymoon today after a wedding ceremony that turned out better than they'd dreamed of.

The young couple from Akron, Ohio, were married yesterday at the Camp Leroy Johnson post chapel by Chaplain William Smith. The ceremony was replete with music, a flower girl and attendants after the 22-year-old groom's officers learned he faced the prospect of a lonely ceremony without friends or trimmings.

They took a hand and his commanding officer, Lt. Roscoe Hope, gave away the bride, 19-year-old Daun Merchant of Akron. Other officers were ushers. Lt. Hope permitted the whole 156th Transport Company to attend the ceremoney.

Williams to Mail Revenue Plan

State Solons Expecting Corporation Profits Tax as Main Proposal

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' long awaited answer to state revenue problems will be unveiled tomorrow, with the expectation that once again he will call for a corporation profits tax.

Speculation centered on a profits tax of about 6 per cent as the cornerstone of the governor's proposed tax structure.

This would be coupled with a recommendation for repeal of the existing corporation franchise tax, with which it would conflict, and necessary revisions to the business activities tax.

On this basis, lawmakers look for Williams to say, enough new state revenue can be raked in to support his recommended 1957-58 general fund spending of 411 million dollars.

FORESAW SHORTAGE

In his budget message delivered in late January, the governor estimated that revenues in sight from existing tax sources would fall about 75 million dollars short of providing enough money to meet suggested expenditures.

State spending for the fiscal year ending June 30 has been calculated at the rate of 330 million dollars annually, although some Republicans say the figure will wind up higher.

Every year since Williams took office in 1949, he has urged the corporation profits tax—always without success.

However, because of changes that gradually have been written into the state tax structure, resistance appears to have weakened somewhat the past couple of years.

Williams said yesterday the special message containing his tax recommendations will be mailed to lawmakers at their homes, since the Legislature will not be in session Friday because of Washington's Birthday.

Form Citizens Group to Up School Taxes

DETROIT (INS) — A meeting of Detroit PTA, labor and civic groups has resulted in formation of a citizens committee aimed at winning voter approval of a $3 school tax rate increase for two years.

The organization, named the Citizens' Committee for Proposition D, is modeled after the group which helped put over a 1953 school tax boost.

The proposed increase would bring in $33 million over the two-year period. It would be earmarked for additional classrooms for present enrollments and the 22,000 increase in students expected by 1960.

Disney Feature Moves From Strand to Oakland

Oakland Theater's manager Arthur Sanford announced today that the Strand and Oakland are making history here this week, when the picture now at the Strand switches over to the Oakland.

Sanford says Walt Disney's "Westward Ho the Wagons" and "A Trip to Disneyland, U.S.A." will be moved to the Oakland Friday where it will be held over for an extended run. This was due he said, to a capacity attendance, and the many more persons waiting to see the film.

"FLYING LAMP SHADE" — That's what this looks like, but it's the framework of James West's version of a flying saucer that he calls a "paraplane." The Hapeville, Ga., inventor expects it to climb straight up, hover or fly in any direction, with a top speed of 35-40 miles per hour. It will get its lift from a pair of bulky, helium-filled wings. It will have a six-foot propeller at top and rudders at the bottom.

Hollywood Headlines

New Films Use Restraint in Picturing Dope Addicts

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dope addiction is portrayed in three movies now filming, but the moralists will be pleased to know that restraint is being used.

The recent easing of the Production Code allows narcotics to be mentioned in films. But Hollywood is not going overboard. The industry has learned that controversies such as that over "Baby Doll" may help an individual picture sell tickets, but the uproar loses friends for the film business as a whole.

"Jeanne Eagles" will show Kim Novak as the gifted actress who brought herself an early death because of drink and dope. Her use of narcotics will only be an incidental point in her downfall, say the film's creators.

Nor will dope be dwelled upon in "The Barney Ross Story." The film will show how Ross became addicted in the service and eventually shook the habit, but it will be subordinate to the theme of a man trying to find himself after ring fame.

About "A Hatful of Rain," director Fred Zinnemar said: "We are not aiming for an expose. The characters of the dope pushers, who were pretty frightening in the play, have been toned down. We're concentrating more on the interfamily relationships, rather than the picture of a man who is addicted."

Incidentally, one unconvincing element of "Hatful" on the stage was the point that the wife wasn't aware of her husband's addiction. But Don Murray, who plays the addict, said he did research on dope victims before the filming and "I found in all cases the wife didn't know of her husband's condition for at least three months."

Barney Ross confirms this. "I was on dope for five years and my wife never suspected," he told me.

Seek Clue to Blast in Ypsilanti Market

YPSILANTI (INS) — The state fire marshal's office today was investigating a mysterious explosion and fire which destroyed an Ypsilanti market.

No source can be found for the blast which ripped Hermanson's Market last night. The floor was heaved up, canned goods and other stock was hurled through the front window and part of the roof was torn away.

The store owner, Oscar Hermanson, and his wife, who lived in the rear of the building, escaped injury. They said no natural gas was used in the building and no explosives were stored in the structure.

Facing Trial on Charge of Failing to Yield Phone

LANSING (AP) — Frank A. Miller, 23, Michigan State University senior from Grosse Pointe, pleaded innocent in Lansing Municipal Court Wednesday to a charge of failing to yield a telephone party line for an emergency call.

Miller was released on bond pending trial Feb. 26.

Clear Port Huron Man of Willow Run Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — State Police said today a lie detector test has cleared Detroiter Carlton Jones, 23, of the Dec. 23rd slaying of Laverne Wegener of Port Huron in a strong-arm robbery at Willow Run Airport.

Jordan pleaded guilty Monday to larceny by conversion in abandonment at the airport of an automobile he had rented.

Police said his choice of a place to leave the car was the only reason he was questioned in the Wegener slaying, which happened in the airport parking lot.

Duplicity Rears Up Head —at Least on License

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Patrolman John O'Brien thought he was seeing double—and he was.

Parked one in front of the other he saw two cars with identical 1956 license plates —8DK89.

A spokesman for the Motor Vehicles Bureau acknowledged the error. He said the chances of such a thing happening are about one in 4 million.

It's done by a telephone intercom hook-up which conveys voices to and from her class at the Friends School, eight blocks away.

Oil Well Discovered at Lime City, Ohio

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Geologists have reported that a new oil well drilled on the property of the Lime City Stone Co. at nearby Lime City has a potential capacity of 30 to 50 gallons a day.

Hilliard & Co. of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., plans to begin installation of pumping machinery immediately. The property is owned by John Bayer and three brothers.

Bayer said the geologists also told him they believe there may be a sizable oil pocket near the Lime City property and that Hilliard & Co. are considering sinking a second well in the area.

Visitors See Missiles

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N.M. (AP) — The British and Canadian ambassadors to the United States visited this desert rocket test base and watched firings of the highly vaunted Talos and Nike-Hercules rockets. They also saw the firing of a Corporal rocket, with which British servicemen have been trained at Ft. Bliss, a few miles south, in Texas.

Pivotal Stocks Gain Slight Bit

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market became quietly mixed in early trading after an active and higher opening.

Gains and losses running from fractions to around a point were registered for pivotal stocks.

Steels were mainly higher but not by much. Motors were easy. Leading rails showed small losses. Selected issues in various groups made moderate gains.

The Middle East situation brought a note of uncertainty into the market both here and in London. At the same time, the normal reluctance of traders to extend positions prior to a long week end was evidenced. All domestic stock exchanges will be closed tomorrow for the Washington's birthday observance.

Youngstown Sheet rose more than a point and Bethlehem gained a major fraction but U. S. Steel backed down a bit.

The oils seemed to have ended their rally which lasted for two sessions. Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch were each down about a point. Both are international oils deeply affected by the Middle East conditions. Sinclair eased but Standard Oil (New Jersey) was firm.

Mystery Sniper Still at Large in Port Huron

PORT HURON (INS) — Another "phantom sniping" was reported in Port Huron today.

Dr. Frank K. Beck, a prominent Port Huron physician, said he and his wife, Emily, were watching television last night when they heard a noise.

The doctor said he thought it was part of the TV program while his wife believed a car had backfired.

They investigated, he told police, and found the glass in their library window was cracked. Officers said other marks indicated the bullet had hit a steel frame and ricocheted away.

Mysterious shots were fired yesterday and Tuesday night at two autos, a high school, two shops and another home.

One suspect has been released after producing an alibi. A double police shift has been ordered to patrol the streets after dark until the snipings are solved.

Grains Score Moderate Gains

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat and soybeans scored moderate gains while feed grains and rye eased in routine dealings on the board of trade today.

Brokers thought part of the early demand for wheat and soybeans may have been based on official ending of the Atlantic Coast dock strike. But workers at most ports did not return to their jobs, because of an impasse at Baltimore and Hampton Roads.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ¼ higher, March $2.32¼, corn ⅜ to ⅝ lower, March $1.30, oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, March 75⅛, rye unchanged to ¾ lower, March $1.32¼, soybeans ⅞ to 1 cent higher, March $2.41¼, and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $15.10.

Prospects were for an early settlement of the Baltimore dock dispute, according to news dispatches. Baltimore is the leading Atlantic Coast port for the export of grain.

Safety Council Waits Revision

Ask Group's By-Laws Be Clarified, Simplified Before Adoption

Adoption of the proposed bylaws of the Oakland County Safety Council was halted Wednesday night after the one and one half hour meeting and discussion period ended in the decision to "start from scratch" and draw up a new set of rules to clear up misinterpretations and omissions.

Twenty eight persons representing Oakland County units of government, corporations and associations attended the meeting called by Howard K. Kelley, chairman. Those attending were from Waterford Township, Ferndale, South Lyon, Bloomfield Hills, Royal Oak, Huntington Woods, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Birmingham, Pontiac and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Juvenile Home.

Temporary Chairman Frank Van Atta, Waterford township chief of police, conducted the meeting held to discuss the organization of the council. He said he would recommend that Mayor Kelley, of Royal Oak, appoint a new committee to draw up a new constitution.

Loopholes were found in the dues, membership and authority to vote, when the group discussed the bylaws.

The object of the council will be to promote and assist in community safety activities designed to decrease the number and cost of public, home, industrial and traffic accidents.

'Walk' Signals to Be Flashier Without Flashing

Members of the city's electrical department today began switching the "don't walk" pedestrian signals to a steady signal instead of a flashing one, Jack W. Emerson, department superintendent, announced.

The change, in some 30 signals, was recommended by the State Highway Dept. to "conform with national standards."

"The pedestrians will still have time to complete a crossing," Emerson said. The change will not affect the timing of the signals, he emphasized.

The switch will bring both the "walk" and "don't walk" into a non-flashing pattern.

During the changeover, workers will replace the tubing in the "walk" signs to make them brighter to the pedestrian, Emerson said.

Delegate From India Reported 'Serious'

NEW YORK (AP) — The condition of India's roving ambassador, V. K. Krishna Menon, was described today by his physician as "dangerous — it could lead to anything."

Dr. William M. Hitzig, who has cared for Menon for five years, said he could not predict "what will happen" if the ambassador carries out his intention to be on the U.N. Security Council floor when a resolution on the Kashmir question comes up again, perhaps today.

The 59-year-old Menon collapsed during the Security Council session yesterday and spent the two-hour lunch recess under sedatives. But he returned to the afternoon session and remained until the Council voted on a resolution on the Kashmir dispute.

Predict Boost in Auto Sales

Finance Experts Say Spring Boom Will Aid State Revenues

LANSING (AP) — Two state finance experts said today they are betting that automobile sales will pick up substantially in the spring, with a resultant boost in state sales tax revenues.

"We frankly are counting on the auto industry coming through," said State Controller James W. Miller, in an appearance before the house taxation committee.

Largely for that reason, he said, the state budget department is sticking with its original prediction that Michigan will collect 328 million dollars from the sales tax during the current fiscal year.

Officials of the State Revenue Department took a dimmer view of the sales tax outlook at a committee hearing last week, forecasting a top of 315 million dollars.

STUDY PROSPECTS

Representatives of the two state agencies were summoned by Committee Chairman Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) to a series of hearings to study prospects for state revenues in 1957-58.

State budget director Frank M. Landers backed up Miller's forecast, saying sales tax collections always have picked up in the last two quarters of the fiscal year.

Except for the auto and furniture industries, he said, collections showed increases during January throughout the state.

"This is a very pessimistic time of year," he said. "Everybody is depressed in January. When the weather warms up, the whole revenue picture will pick up too."

Miller said revenue forecasts of the budget department have been accurate to within four-tenths of one per cent in four of the last eight years.

"We base our forecasts on a long range, 18-month basis and a short range six-month basis," he said. "It's a dangerous practice to revise estimates month by month."

Miller said what he described as his "conscious optimism" is based on consultations with business, economic and industrial experts.

Fisher Body Expands Engineering Program

DETROIT (INS) — General Motors today announced an expanded engineering program for its Fisher Body division.

James E. Goodman, GM vice president and Fisher Body General Manager, said James H. Wernig, division chief engineer, has been appointed to head the enlarged activity.

Wernig has been named general director of product engineering, die engineering, process development, production engineering and related activities.

Goodman said the new engineering program coordinates the several related fields of product design, manufacturing processes, production engineering, forward planning, tools and methods, product analysis, experimental and development work.

Sears Employes Share in Profits

201 Workers Build Security by Investing Savings in Company

Local employe investments in Sears, Robuck & Co.'s savings and profit sharing pension fund have reached $1,418,910, local Store Manager Frank S. Lyndall said today.

Lyndall made the announcement at a meeting of the 201 employes who have investments in the plan.

As of Dec. 31, 1956, local fund members had 35,874 shares of Sears stock and additional securities and cash amounting to $1,031,380 to their credit, Lyndall said. Taking the year-end market value of $28.75 per share for the Sears stock and adding the cash and miscellaneous investments brings the group's total investment to $1,418,910.

All regular employes with one year of service are eligible for membership in the fund. Nearly 130,000 Sears employes are members.

Total assets of the fund now exceed $738 million. Of this amount about $114 million represents deposits from the wages and salaries of members.

The fund is also the largest single stockholder, owning slightly more than 25 per cent of the company's outstanding stock at year's end.

The fund was created in 1916. Its purpose is to encourage regular saving, permit employes to share in the profits of their company and to aid members in establishing financial reserves for retirement.

Under the provisions of the fund, employe-members deposit 5 per cent of their wages and salaries, up to a maximum deposit of $500 each year. Sears makes an annual contribution to the fund based upon an established percentage of the company's net profit before deductions for Federal income taxes.

This company contribution is credited to members' accounts on a basis determined by their length of service and their annual contribution.

REGISTRATION NOTICE FOR BIENNIAL Spring Election Monday, April 1, 1957

To the Qualified Electors of the City of Sylvan Lake, County of Oakland, State of Michigan.

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Thirtieth day before any regular, special or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby given that I will be at my office Monday, March 4, 1957—last day the Thirtieth day preceding said Election as provided by Section 486, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954, from 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m. on said day for the purpose of reviewing the registration and registering such of the qualified electors in said Township, City or Village as shall properly apply therefor.

The name of no person but an actual resident of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Elector unable to make personal application, procedure:

Sec. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for signature of registration officer and designate his title.

Unregistered persons not entitled to vote:

Sec. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P. A. 1954.)

Transfer of registration, application, time:

Sec. 506. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made within the (30) days next preceding any election or primary election, (unless such 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working day), provided that no such transfer shall permit any person to vote in any Township, City or Village in which he had not resided (30) days next preceding any election or primary election.

Sec. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village shall have the right to make application to have his registration transferred on any election or primary election day by executing a request over his or her signature for such transfer and presenting the same to the election board in the precinct in which he is registered. Gisele MacKenzie May Star in Musical on Broadway

Gene Kelly Set for Video Debut

Ethel Merman Signs as Como's Guest Star on March 9th

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Gisele MacKenzie may do a Broadway musical (by Dorothy and Herbert Fields) next season . . . She won't be back on the Hit Parade next year; nor, probably, will Snooky Lanson . . .

Gene Kelly makes his TV debut March 1 on Schlitz Playhouse as a one-armed tramp in love with a deaf mute . . .

Perry Como's March 9 show should be a merry event: Ethel Merman will guest star, along with the Mills Brothers . . .

Anne Jeffreys and Bob Sterling of TV's "Topper" try their night-club routine again—the Waldorf-Astoria in May. First they share stardom in a Du Pont Theater TV film and Anne solos in "City in Flames," new movie version of "In Old Chicago," in the Alice Faye role, but not singing.

Network bidding for the "Mrs. America" finals is spirited, but ABC-TV seems to have the in.

MONKEY BUSINESS

Egad, J. Fred Muggs isn't even off the Garroway show yet (he leaves next month) but they already are showing Muggs' successor—Kokomo Jr., another chimp . . . J. Fred got $1,000 a week . . .

"Monganga," March of Medicine's fine NBC-TV documentary of a medical missionary in the Belgian Congo, will be repeated March 5—in color . . . "Monganga" means white doctor . . .

Kraft Theater signed Elvis-type singer Tommy Sands for straight acting in three more shows on the basis of his fine impact in "The Singing Idol," a Presley-like play . . .

Olympic star Jesse Owens will become a Midwest deejay (discus jockey?) . . .

Good summer news early: The Goodyear-Alcoa dramas will stay on through the warm months with the same high budget . . .

$75,000 FOR MARY

Mary Martin's personal take-home from NBC's $400,000 "Annie Get Your Gun" spectacular next season will be $75,000 . . .

Oscar Homolka and Joan Tetzel, man and wife in real life, play father and daughter March 4 in NBC Matinee Theater's "You Touched Me" . . .

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH—I have a few sad words for my friends in California. The Florida weather for three weeks has been so beautiful, the Chamber of Commerce didn't even have to lie about it.

Rocky Marciano—who's over at Clearwater with his wife Barbara—now weighs 240, or 53 pounds above his fighting weight, further evidence that he won't try to come back. When urged to diet, he refuses. Says he: "I gave 12 years to fighting. Now I'm finding out about the other side of life—and I like it."

Cecil Wolfson was asked how Anita Ekberg looked on TV. The financier replied, "Her hair looked straggly, she seemed heavier, some of the women didn't care for her dress, but to answer your question—WONDERFUL!"

Grace Kelly's father, John B. Kelly, got a call from an English newspaperman asking whether there was a rift between Grace and Prince Rainer.

"I'm afraid," he replied tartly and a little pointedly, "you've got the rift in the wrong country!"

(Actually, Princess Grace is quite happy — and her father'll go to Monaco for the christening.)

Shelley Winters, in a most moving speech at Eddie Cantor's 65th birthday party, said she'd saved $1500 to buy a sheared beaver coat—"but I'm not going to buy it now. I'm going to buy an Israel bond instead." Shelley declared also that when she visited Israel she felt a "oneness" — then she realized why. "For the first time," she explained, "I was part of a majority instead of a minority."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Margaret Phillips of "The Lady's Not for Burning" made the producers change the ads — (looked too busty). Pres. Eisenhower may name ex-Gov. Shivers of Texas an ambassador.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Grandma may have had her troubles, but at least she never got frost-bitten fingers while preparing dinner.—Grit.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: George Gobel likes the title of his film, "I Married A Woman": "I figure a title like that can't offend anybody."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Some families can trace their ancestry back 300 years. But can't tell you where their children were last night."—Changing Times.

Anita Ekberg's planning to become an American citizen, and says, "It will be the first questionnaire I've had that doesn't ask for my measurements." That's earl, brother.

Writer Learns So Much From Reading His Mail!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That the phrase "red tape"—meaning the annoying delays of officialdom — arose in the 19th Century in England, where government and legal documents were tied with a pink-red tape.

That Maine is the only state in the union which adjoins only one other state.

That a honeybee can vibrate its wings 440 times a second, and that's some buzzin', cousin!

That the Black Sea isn't black. It gets its name because of the dense fogs and violent storms that darken the area.

MONCKE'S MONKEY

That the "monkey wrench" got its name from its inventor, Charles Moncke, a London blacksmith.

That Arthur Murray says to learn to dance the cha-cha all you have to do is wave goodby—without using your hands.

That sportscaster Mel Allen was so studious as a lad he entered the University of Alabama at 15.

That actor Walter Slezak gives this appraisal of most modern art: "It can't be as bad as it's painted."

That you are a born poet if, offhand, you can think up words that rhyme with office, or coba, or award.

REALLY COUNTS 'EM

That some sleepless fellow in Australia has figured out his country now has 139 million sheep.

That one can get a divorce in only seven states on the grounds a mate is a drug addict.

That "dungarees" comes from the Indian word, dungri, the name of a Bombay suburb where a coarse blue cotton cloth was first manufactured.

That the Danish flag, which has a large white cross on a red field, is the oldest unchanged national flag in existence. It originated in the 13th Century.

DOUBLE PRIZES

That every time pop singer Teresa Brewer comes out with a million-seller hit record she also has had a child. Her present score: three hits, three children.

That it was Sophie Tucker who observed:

"From birth to age 18, a girl needs good parents. From 18 to 35, she needs good looks. From 35 to 55, she needs a good personality. From 55 on, she needs good cash."

Insulated Steel Doors Now Made for Home

ROSSMOYNE, Ohio—Steel doors, used for a long time in commercial and industrial buildings, are being designed for home use by a Rossmoyne manufacturer, who says the steel offers weather resistance that is better than normal. The new doors are treated for rust and are completely insulated, with a prime coat of baked-on enamel. They are available in a choice of colors or grains.

First Woman Tailor Appointed for Navy

BROOKLYN—The first woman in history has been appointed as a tailor at the naval-uniform shop of the Brooklyn Naval Yard supply-activities section. This shop has assembled some of the finest naval uniforms made in the world. At one time a special cape for President Franklin D. Roosevelt was designed at this shop.

New Use for Waste From Sugar Industry

HAVANA—Work has begun on a $3,670,000 factory on Cuba's southern coast that will use sugar-cane bagasse, a sugar-industry waste product, in the production of building boards of all grades. Included will be hardboard, tileboard, and decorative panels.

The boards will be marketed in the Caribbean area. In the new process to be used, the pith is separated from the bagasse fibers, making possible a board of high tensile strength without the use of artificial binders. It can be treated to resemble grained wood, marble, and other textures. It is more resistant to wear and tear than natural wood.

Medals Into Money

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's Finance Ministry decided today to make money out of 1,140,000 unused silver medals left over from World War II. They will be minted into 15 tons of 100-yen coins, worth 27.8 cents each.
