LANSING (AP)—Democratic leaders are not jumping with enthusiasm over Gov. George Romney's plan to renege the Mackinac Bridge and make it toll-free by raising the price of auto license tags.

The governor said yesterday that a hike in vehicle licenses averaging $1.75 per auto would enable the state to pay off the bridge without tolls.

Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-

Detroit, said new revenues should not go to pay off a bridge "that the people were told would pay for itself."

House floor leader Rep. J. Traxler, D-Bay City, said any license increase might soon be needed for highway building as the highway department nears its bonding capacity.

But Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, who is sponsoring Mackinac Bridge refinancing bills, endorsed the governor's proposal and said "we are now in a position to make Big Mac truly a bridge instead of a barrier."

Detroit to Eye Water Rates

Includes Charges to Suburbs and Pontiac

Detroit has instituted a study of its water rates, including those charged Pontiac and other suburban users, it was announced today.

General Manager Gerald J. Remus of Detroit Water Supply said Black & Veatch, Kansas City-based consulting engineers, would make an independent survey of Detroit water rates.

The review of rates adopted in 1959 is expected to take one year.

Pontiac City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the city could afford a modest increase in Detroit water rates without hiking water charges to Pontiac consumers.

Warren said the city was paying Detroit about $80,000 per month for water, although final figures have not yet been calculated for the first full year of Detroit water.

CITY'S PAYMENT

He added that charges to local residents cover not only the city's payment to Detroit, but also the cost of bonds used to build new facilities here.

Detroit charges Pontiac $1.39 per 1,000 cubic feet of water. The contract provides for a periodic review of the rate.

In announcing the rate study, Remus said the review is to determine if Detroit's rates are still fair and equitable and sufficient to finance future improvements.

However, he noted that the review would be made in light of a 1949 Michigan Supreme Court decision.

The court ruled that Detroit "could not charge adjacent municipalities a rate sufficient to pay part of the cost of furnishing service to its own residents."

Concentrate on Roads

Planes Smash Viet Communications

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force, Navy and Vietnamese planes staged at least four raids over North Viet Nam today, smashing at trucks, trains, boats, barracks and roads.

All the attacks were relatively small, fast-moving jobs at Communist communications lines. Spokesmen said all the planes returned safely. Light anti-aircraft fire was encountered in a few places. No enemy planes were sighted.

The largest of the operations, involving 35 Air Force jets, was directed against Routes 8 and 12. Route 8 runs from the coast at Vinh to the Laotian frontier. Route 12 runs from Vinh south toward the South Vietnamese border.

Briefing officers reported these details:

JET ATTACK

The Air Force F105 jets cut Route 8 at one point, destroyed two railroad boxcars and a barracks at Mugia Pass near Laos, and shot up other installations.

Four Vietnamese fighter-bombers, escorted by 10 U.S. Air Force planes, strafed and bombed along Route 1 up to 50 miles north of the 17th Parallel, destroying or damaging 10 buildings and four 75-foot-long boats.

Earlier, two flights of four Navy planes each had attacked Communist road traffic in the vicinity of Dong Hoi, 45 miles north of the border, but results of the strikes could not be immediately assessed.

Since April 13, American and Vietnamese planes have been flying sorties over North Viet Nam every few hours around the clock, and indications were this pattern will be continued.

DANGEROUS ROADS

In addition to slowing shipments of armaments to guerrillas in South Viet Nam, the raids are aimed at making North Vietnamese roads as dangerous as roads in South Viet Nam, which are constantly subject to guerrilla ambushes and attacks.

A reliable military source reported that U.S. jets have flown over Hanoi on a number of occasions and have subjected the Communist capital to occasional sonic booms.

The sonic boom, caused by a jet flying faster than the speed of sound, sounds like a huge explosion and rattles glass on the ground. No actual air attacks have been made against Hanoi itself, but the sonic booms reportedly have been intended as a warning.

Other sources said the Hanoi authorities have been moving women, children and old men from the capital in recent weeks in the expectation of raids.

Two Navy planes were downed in raids Tuesday. Spokesmen said the pilot of one was killed. The other is listed as missing.

Purse Snatcher Polite Person; Returns Papers

A Waterford Township woman told police she was robbed of $6.97 early yesterday by a "polite" youth who grabbed her purse, took the money from it and returned it to her.

Bertha Jenka of 4174 Mapleleaf said she had just driven into her garage after returning from work at 12:30 a.m. when the unarmed youth appeared and took the purse.

She called to him as he fled with the purse and told him it contained personal papers important to her, according to police.

He stopped abruptly and handed the purse back after taking the money, she said.

Move to Join Water Group

Independence Twp. Makes 2 Stipulations

Independence Township last night took steps closer to becoming the first Oakland County community to join the Genesee Valley Utilities Authority.

Four of the five township board members expressed a willingness to join the water authority at the board's May 4 meeting if two stipulations are resolved in the meantime.

First, the board wants the name of the authority changed — preferably to include the word, Oakland.

The board also wants a clause in the contract whereby Independence Township could withdraw from membership at any time.

Independence Township Clerk Howard Altman, who has been urging the board to join the authority, said he anticipates no problems in meeting the two requirements set by the board.

OFFICIALS TO CONFER

Altman said that township officials would confer with Independence Township Attorney Paul Mandel and Oliver Kribbs, supervisor of Vienna Township in Genesee County and president of the authority, to resolve these two issues.

The utilities authority was organized last year by 11 Genesee County townships interested in developing a water system which would loop Flint and serve the outlying communities, including some in Oakland County.

An opposition group, the North Oakland Water Authority, was formed to halt the move.

It suggested developing Oakland County water sources for Lake Ontario and Lake Michigan.

However, City Commissioners reportedly are seeking the clerk's cooperation for certain changes in the city clerk's office.

missiles will be introduced among the North Vietnamese. He added:

"We have ways and means to take care of them if they are."

He declined to spell out the ways and means.

McNamara met with Johnson and with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy at the White House.

The two cabinet members came out in the lobby afterward and talked with reporters.

Rusk agreed that there has been evidence of morale problems in North Viet Nam as shown by diaries and desertions.

126 DESERTIONS

McNamara said there were 126 desertions in one week, the greatest so far, and most of these were hard-core North Vietnamese.

He said he attributes the defections to both the bombing of the North and increased air support for South Viet Nam.

He said he didn't want to indicate there are defections in droves, however.

Asked about reports that the Viet Cong might be planning an all out attack on the vital Da Nang Air Base, McNamara said he didn't want to speculate.

Other sources said the Hanoi authorities have been moving women, children and old men from the capital in recent weeks in the expectation of raids.

Two Navy planes were downed in raids Tuesday. Spokesmen said the pilot of one was killed. The other is listed as missing.

Queen Observes 39th Birthday With Her Family

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II celebrated her 39th birthday today in the privacy of Windsor Castle with her family.

Public celebration of the birthday will come in June, when London's weather is more dependable for the ceremonial trooping of the colors. But flags flew from public buildings in the capital and royal salutes were fired at the Tower of London and in Hyde Park today.

The queen treated the newspaper public to a rare show for her birthday.

In Clerk, Finance Offices Changes Eyed at City Hall

Operation of Pontiac's city government may be due for a few administrative changes, including new personnel.

At least this is the indication from some City Hall sources.

Changes are due to be made in the administrative operations of the city clerk's office and the office of the city finance director.

Say 3 Bribed in Dope Case

Narcotics Agent and 2 Policemen Charged

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The chief federal narcotics agent in Miami and two of the city's police vice squad officers have been charged with accepting a bribe from a dope peddler who complained he was paying $2,000 a month in protection money.

The arrests were made Tuesday by city police and a team of Federal Narcotics Bureau agents at the home of an admitted narcotics operator after the trio was said to have accepted $120 in marked money.

The three were charged with accepting a bribe, a felony under Florida law, and released on their personal bond. They are Eugene J. Marshall, 39, head of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau for southeastern Florida, police Sgt. Frank Fountain, 39, second in command of the city's vice squad, and his assistant, Roosevelt Tremble, 34, a plainclothes detective.

Police Chief Walter Headley said the arrests climaxed a week of investigation. It started when the dope peddler complained to police about the protection money he said he was forced to pay.

WANTED TO QUIT

Headley quoted the informer as saying he wanted "to quit, but they wouldn't let me."

The police chief declined to disclose the informer's name or details of the investigation, saying they would come out in court.

A source close to the investigation said the informer was a known dope peddler — doing around a $10,000 per month business mainly in the Cuban and Negro districts of Miami — and had an extensive police record.

The source said the informer went to the police department's internal security squad last Tuesday and told his story.

ARRESTS MADE

The subsequent investigation led to the arrests at the informer's home by federal narcotics agents and police officers unaffiliated to the trio.

Marshall, a career officer in the Federal Narcotics Bureau came to Miami in 1958 when it was a one-man office. When Fidel Castro took over Cuba and refugees started pouring into Miami, the office was expanded and Marshall was put in charge.

MESSAGE CONFLICTS

Pettigrew added that through the media, the Negro is given a conflicting message.

On one hand he is told that success in life depends only on ability; on the other he is told he must learn to know his place in life.

"Which message should the student believe?" Pettigrew asked.

Testing has shown, he said, that Negro children who attend balanced schools are generally more active in extra-curricular activities and perform higher on ability tests, such as verbal comprehension.

ACTION NEEDED

The social-psychologist said the schools will have to initiate action in the area of correcting defacto segregation.

The "housing barrier" which the Negro faces, and which is the cause of the defacto segregation, will be the last barrier broken down in the civil rights struggle, he said.

In laying down ground rules for biracial schools Pettigrew listed these factors:

• A balanced school should have about 20-45 per cent Negro enrollment.

• Biracial schools should have biracial teaching staffs — and administration.

• Racial balance should begin in kindergarten or in pre-school centers.

• Staff members at biracial schools need special training — such as the program Pontiac has been conducting.

Pettigrew said that the day to day contact in schools between children of different races have a much greater effect on reducing prejudice than contacts outside of schools.

In school, he said, the children are on an equal status level and have common goals. They are not competing on a racial level and their contact is sanctioned.

These factors all play an important part in increasing the influence of the contact, Pettigrew said.

QUESTION AVOIDED

Although the U.S. Supreme Court has avoided the question of defacto segregation, Pettigrew said he believed the court would soon take a stand.

He also said he thought the lower federal court decisions which have not prohibited defacto segregation might be overturned in the near future.

"Balanced schools are not a panacea for the civil rights problem in this country, but they are the best hope and are an essential first step," Pettigrew said.

de facto segregation is lost on the young Negro students."

Consequently, damage is still incurred by the segregated children.

Supporting this social-psychologist cited several areas in which research had been done. In the area of learning and retention Pettigrew said that research has proved that retention diminishes when salient environmental characteristics change.

CANT PERFORM

If a Negro is taught in a segregated school, and then is called upon to function in an integrated world, he will not be able to perform at the standard he maintained in school.

The environmental characteristic is considered a salient factor. "The learning situation must resemble the later work situation," Pettigrew said.

The expectation of the general society creates a dual standard in unbalanced schools, Pettigrew said, citing more research.

"If the Negro is convinced that the race difference is a fixed difference he will strive only to meet the psychological expectations of his own standards," he said.

SABBATICAL LEAVES

The appointee is employed by the Detroit Gasket Co.

In other action, the board approved sabbatical leaves for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dennis.

A humanities and art teacher at the high school, Dennis has been awarded a scholarship from the Center for Cultural and Technical Interchange Between East and West, a project of the U.S. government and the University of Hawaii.

With the award, Dennis will study at the University of Hawaii for six months and in Japan for another six months.

His wife, a special education teacher, requested the leave to accompany him.

Trial Is Delayed for County Clerk in Driving Case

The trial of Oakland County Clerk John D. Murphy, scheduled to begin today in Birmingham Municipal Court, has been postponed until May 12, at the request of Murphy's attorney.

Charged with driving March 31, Murphy stood mute at his arraignment and a plea of insanity was entered in his behalf.

Murphy, 51, of 710 Catalpa, Royal Oak, was released on a $100 personal bond.

The postponement was granted because his attorney, J. Robert Sterling, has a conflicting case in Circuit Court.

The three-week delay was necessitated because Sterling plans to leave on a vacation following the Circuit Court case.

U.S. to Join in India Aid Plan Despite Strained Relationship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten nations including the United States today pledge $1 billion to India's economic development, although U.S.-Indian relations have plummeted to sub freezing levels.

Indian diplomatic sources said that Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri will be unable to come to the United States next fall and will defer the visit to Washington until it is convenient for him to do so.

This was the delayed reaction to President Johnson's sudden request last Thursday that Shastri and Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan defer their visits to this country until next fall because Johnson was so occupied with congressional affairs and the problems of Vietnam.

Indian officials have been highly critical of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

"HAD ENOUGH!"

"President Johnson apparently ly has had enough of foreigners telling him how to run the world," one diplomat remarked caustically. "The President, it seems, cannot tolerate foreign chiefs of state that he cannot handle like members of the Senate and the House of Representatives."

The Indian reaction was particularly irate because Indians felt that Johnson had asked Shastri not to come because he had been angered by actions of Ayub and felt he would have to treat the leaders of both rival nations equally.

Indian diplomatic sources here said the United States was the only country in the world that pursues a policy of doing to one country as you would do to the other.

An Indian source said the United States apparently thinks that if it gives $1 billion assistance, it is able to buy friendship, but this is not the case.

DIPLOMATIC EXPLANATION

The diplomatic explanation for President Johnson's move last week to cancel the Ayub visit was reconstructed this way:

Closely held intelligence reports indicated that there was more to the Chinese Communist-Pakistan relationship than had been believed by the United States. Part of this was said to have been disclosed in Pakistan's efforts on behalf of Peking in wooing Turkey to join with Pakistan in better relations to ward Communist China.

Also, there were reports that Pakistan had created incidents along its border with India in order to tell Johnson that this was the result of the American program of military assistance to India.

According to the diplomatic version, the White House made a sudden decision to defer both visits, catching Indians and Pakistanis by complete surprise.

The U.S. share of the aid is $435 million for the fourth year of the five-year economic program.

Other nations participating in the so-called "aid India club" are Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan, Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria and Canada.

The First World War The Dardanelles, Pathway to Constantinople: 20

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Illustrated By John Lane

There are few things sadder in war than an important campaign which fails simply because it is badly carried out.

This is what happened to the major operation of 1915 — the attempt to capture Constantinople (now Istanbul), put the Turks out of the war, and enabled the Allies to attack the Central Powers from a new direction, the southeast.

When it became obvious toward the end of 1914 that the British, French, and German armies were bogged down along the Western Front in immobile trench fighting, Winston Churchill, then the First Lord of the Admiralty, spoke bitterly about the armies chewing "barbed wire in Flanders" and indicated that there must be other alternatives.

It was first thought that the Dardanelles, a narrow seaway leading to Constantinople, might be taken by a bold naval action with little or no land support.

The steep hills on the 50-mile-long Gallipoli Peninsula on the north side of the passage were defended by Turkish batteries, but the guns were old and might be no match for the more powerful armament on British and French warships.

Appropriately enough, the south side was the site of Troy, where Homer's heroes had battled for possession of that ancient city.

SITE OF TROY

On Feb. 19, 1915, an Allied fleet with 18 capital ships began the affair by blasting away at the Turkish forts guarding the entrance to the Dardanelles.

It did unexpectedly well, although bad weather put off further action until Feb. 25. But on the 26th, marines were able to go ashore and destroy Turkish guns without much opposition.

The fleet moved up the straits, but it was not ready to force passage of the dangerous Narrows until March 18. This delay was fatal, for the Turks had used the time to plant new and unknown mine fields there.

The Queen Elizabeth silenced some of the Turkish batteries with her mighty 15-inch guns. Then the ships moved forward.

Disaster struck quickly. One after another, three battleships hit mines, blew up and sank. Three others were seriously damaged. Casualties were light, but the naval command, horrified at the loss of valuable ships, decided to call off the assault.

It had no way of knowing that ammunition supplies on the shore batteries were running low and that Turkish officers expected the next Allied attempt to run through the Narrows to be successful. But the attempt was never made.

After the naval failure, an attack on the north side of the Gallipoli Peninsula was planned.

RESEMBLED NORMANDY

In some ways, but on a much smaller scale, this combined operation resembled the invasion of Normandy in June 1944. But the later campaign was far more sophisticated and vastly greater in the number of men, ships and weapons involved.

Gallipoli was an amateurish, improvised affair in which no one on either side seemed to know what anyone else was doing. And it dragged on for months while troops sickened and died in the hot summer weather of 1915.

State Sends Books for Camp Libraries

The State Library has started shipment of 9,500 books to 50 state parks and recreation areas in Michigan for use in camp libraries this summer.

The summer library program, now in its 17th year, is sponsored jointly by the State Library and the Conservation Department.

Available in the park manager's office, the collection are keyed to the reading interests of all age groups and include many books about the outdoors and Michigan history.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — An inventory filed yesterday showed that Mrs. Margaret Vance Tchirkow, who died last August at the age of 62, left $133,247 to 30 relatives and friends and $40,000 to her former housekeeper, with this request:

"It is my hope that some of the persons to whom I have left bequests will be inclined to visit the graves of my parents and me once in a while and leave just one flower on each."

Eighth Observance

City Law Day Ceremonies April 30

Ceremonies marking the eighth annual observance of Law Day in Oakland County will be held April 30 in the courthouse auditorium.

Edward Barrett, Pontiac attorney and president of the Oakland County Bar Association, will be the principal speaker.

Among those attending the 2 p.m. program will be the county's seven circuit and two probate judges according to Rochester attorney Arthur Cox, chairman of the event.

High school winners of a county-wide essay contest on Law Day will be presented awards by presiding Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Wives of attorneys will host a reception immediately after the ceremony.

NATIONALLY

Nationally, May 1 has been proclaimed Law Day, but to insure greater participation locally the event will be celebrated on a Friday.

According to Cox, some 40 bar associations throughout the state have scheduled programs for the observance.

Christian F. Matthews of Mount Clemens, president of the State Bar, explains that Law Day has three objectives.

"First, to make more meaningful to Americans — especially the youth — their heritage of individual freedom under law; to foster increased respect for law and courts; and to emphasize the basic values of rule of law in the U.S. as contrasted with the rule of force and fear under communism."

LAW IN LIFE

"The event is not a lawyers' day," he said, "but an occasion for honoring the place of law in American life."

The theme of this year's observance is "Uphold the Law — A Citizen's First Duty."

It suggests more than obedience to the law, said Matthews.

"It is used to call attention to the duty of citizens to assist law enforcement agencies; to report violations promptly; to testify in court when called; and to serve on juries when summoned."

Gov. George Romney, in joining President Johnson in proclaiming Law Day, identified it as a day of special significance.

"Under the Constitution and Bill of Rights," Romney said, "we are guaranteed freedom of speech, press, assembly, religious worship and equal protection of the law."

"These are priceless benefits of American citizenship which must be constantly nurtured, protected and practiced."

MEDIC AND STAFF — Army Staff Sgt. Donald Brady, a Special Forces medic, walks with his nurses and armed escort in a Viet

Medics Aid Viet Tribesmen

LONGCHIN, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American Special Forces medic is helping primitive Montagnard tribesmen in this highland village fight death and disease.

No matter what the future holds for war-torn Viet Nam, he believes the contribution he and other Special Forces medics are making will be something lasting.

Staff Sgt. Donald Brady of Lancaster, Pa., operates with 19 other medics and five nurses in an effort to adapt modern medical techniques to the backward conditions of the highlanders. Despite the danger of ambush by the Communist Viet Cong, they rove the Montagnard villages to comfort the dying and sick.

The Montagnards, who blame diseases they do not understand on the spirits, do understand the death of war. Some villagers have lost lives or limbs in fighting that has held this country in terror for 20 years.

TAKE PROTECTION

They have taken protection against shelling or bombing by building underground bunkers below their stilt-supported huts.

On a typical visit to Long Chin, Brady may treat a gunshot wound or cases of dysentery, skin ulcers and beriberi. The Montagnards submit passively to Brady's treatment.

As a precaution against ambush, Brady carries an automatic weapon on his calls. In addition, special patrols go with the medics.

Will Bring Circus to New Astrodome

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — They're going to bring the circus to the biggest big top yet, Houston's new domed stadium. To get here the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will make the longest detour in its 96-year history.

Wolcott Jenner, vice president and director of promotions, said Tuesday the show will travel from Toronto to Houston and then double back to Chicago after six performances June 10-13.

American Ideals Need New Immigration Law

Secretary of State DEAN RUSK took time out from his global desk for an appearance in Detroit to extol the Administration's Immigration Reform bill now in the congressional hopper, and incidentally to deny reports that G. MENNEN WILLIAMS was in line with our basic ideals as a nation and a people.

RUSK

Speaking before a capacity audience in Ford Auditorium Monday evening, the secretary pointed to the many inequities in the present immigration apparatus and said that the proposed bill is needed "to put the principles of our basic immigration laws in line with our basic ideals as a nation and a people."

The bill now being pushed would phase out the "national origins quota system" for admitting newcomers to the United States. Instead, it would aim at reuniting families and admitting immigrants with needed skills.

Protective features of the present law would be preserved, Rusk reassured. A prospective immigrant still would have to show that he would not likely become a public charge. Moreover, applicants who would enter the labor force could be barred if the Secretary of Labor certified that domestic wages and working conditions would be adversely affected.

Michigan with some 50 ethnic groups included in its population was praised for leadership in the field of immigration and as a truly cosmopolitan state.

Rusk's appearance was sponsored by the Michigan Committee on Immigration, which comprises 100 organizations concerned with the immigration question. Listening to his well-ordered and pungent address gave rise to the feeling that there was an able practitioner to whom America can safely entrust the conduct of her international relations.

Has Russia Dealt Card in Viet Showdown?

They do things in a big way in Texas, and the thinking and designs of LYNDON JOHNSON reflect the background of his home state.

And it could be that in his calculated display of armed muscle-flexing in North Viet Nam he has embarked on a king-sized gamble — one truly in the tradition of Texas.

The President's plan of retaliatory bombing in that country was undoubtedly aimed at softening up its Viet Cong to the point of cessation of hostilities in South Viet Nam.

This would provide the strategic face-saving that practitioners of international diplomacy hold so highly, and give the United States at least openers in a peace parley to settle the embattled climate of Southeast Asia.

But developments have not exactly followed the Administration's battle plan. The North Vietnamese have so far nixed the White House olive branch, at the same time showing little appetite for "rescue" by the Chinese Communist forces lying across their border.

However, the installation of anti-aircraft units by Red Russia not far from Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, that has come to light is a Red of a different color.

Russia's action undoubtedly is the outgrowth of the visit of Soviet Premier ALEXEI KOSYGIN to North Viet Nam last February, and revives the grim specter of another eyeball duel with the Russians, similar to the Cuban confrontation that kept the world on tenterhooks for a spell in 1962.

But should the present Russian involvement in North Viet Nam indeed become a crisis, there would be a dissimilarity between it and the Cuban threat — to the disadvantage of the U. S.

Whereas in Castroland, Russia's posture was clearly one of aggression, in North Viet Nam her anti-aircraft preparation can be viewed as defensive involvement initiated on invitation from a beleaguered country struggling against invasion by an "imperialist tyrant."

But if the Kremlin's move is merely a counterstroke against U. S. North Viet Nam airstrike strategy, intended to call Uncle Sam's bluff, the Reds will learn that draw poker is a native skill for which Texas is justly renowned.

Alliances Loosen as Danger Eases

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Danger holds people and nations together like glue. When the danger eases, the glue melts.

It's happening now, in both the Communist and Western worlds.

The Communist world was a pretty solid mass in the postwar years when East-West hostility was most intense. Red China was glued to the Soviet Union then.

As the Soviet Union began to feel more secure under Premier Khrushchev, having its own nuclear weapons, the Communist leadership there relaxed.

Gradually the Russians and their Chinese allies began to split apart. And the satellites began asserting some independence in Eastern Europe.

Now the Soviet Union has abandoned much of its former belligerence and the Russian-Chinese split is wide.

The Chinese remain the belligerent ones, perhaps not so much from ideology as from insecurity and the tension of trying to build their society.

Even the neutralist nations in the more harrowing days of the 1950s were closer than they are now.

In those days, when West Europeans knew a Russian attack could destroy them unless America backed them, the Western alliance had more unity than now.

Now, in a Europe bursting with prosperity and no longer worried about Russian devastation, France is weakening the alliance with its self-assertions.

What is happening now around the world has its counterpart in the years after World War I.

The Western powers relaxed after the war and, as a result, the League of Nations became a joke.

At that time, feeling safe again, the United States had returned to its isolation and let the rest of the world drift by.

When Hitler emerged he was a combination of several things: depression, German nationalism, and deep German resentment over World War I settlements.

The rest of Europe, not concerned about an attacker because it failed to understand Hitler's earnestness, worried about economic and stood still.

If there's a lesson to be learned from what happened after the first World War, it's not clear now. The circumstances are not all the same.

There was drift then. There's forward motion now by both the United States and the Communist world. There's action without crisis.

Unfortunately for the world, at this moment neither side can answer the question: forward motion to what?

Rearing Its Ugly Head!

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Losing War Against Crime

WASHINGTON — In the war against crime, the American people are suffering their biggest defeat in history.

There's plenty of official concern about the importance of a war against poverty or a war against ignorance or a war against racial discrimination.

But the actual figures show that, despite all the talk about improving education and public welfare, the number of murders is increasing, and the number of assaults and other serious crimes rises year after year.

While it is true that the population has increased and it might be argued that the percentages in a few of the crime categories have not risen, the total number of persons actually subjected to violence is larger than ever before. Crime as a whole is increasing at a rate five times faster than the rate of growth of the population.

The impact in almost every community is one of growing terror.

Voice of the People:

Psychological Testing Supported by Prosecutor

I am asked in a recent editorial about my obligation to the respectable element of our citizenry. It is this obligation that moved me to request a psychological test for Harry Belcher.

I believe the community at large, and more particularly law enforcement, will benefit when we gain insight and understanding into a person's personality by asking those experts in the behavior sciences to assist law enforcement. We desire to know not only whether a person committed a crime, but why. Scientific study has now approached that point in its development where trained personnel, given a certain set of behavior patterns, can predict criminal action or anti-social behavior.

This approach is not a theoretical one. In 1960 Harry Belcher was charged with indecent liberties and pleaded guilty to a much lesser offense. Had the people of Oakland County received the benefit of psychological testing in 1960, it is possible that a woman and her six children might be alive today.

To protect society at large, we could and should benefit by the results of psychological testing as a part of presentence investigation and, even in the appropriate case, psychological testing prior to trial.

Nor is this a new or novel concept. In the Recorder's Court for the City of Detroit such a program has been in use for years. Their presentence investigation staff consists of twelve clinical psychologists and psychiatrists. The Probation Department in Oakland County consists of no clinical psychologists, no psychiatrists, and no budget of its own for any testing. That is why I authorized the psychologist test.

I'm the Person With Different Skin'

I am the person who was born to live in a skin with a different color from yours. I could not choose my parents, nor your yours. Thus, the color pigments embedded in your skin by the unchangeable hands of nature are per chance white, while mine are black.

But underneath I am just like you. My muscles ripple in the same waves of power and thrill to the same thrills of joyous action. My mind has the same functions as yours. I reach out, as you do, in aspirations of the soul. I love and hate, hope and despair, rejoice and suffer along with you.

When my children lose their fair chances at life and become aware of the bitter road of prejudice they must tread, then I know what my color has cost. I offer you my hand in rebuilding an unjust world with you and I can make better than we found it. I am the person in a different skin.

'Voter Should Be Able to Read, Write'

I believe a person should be able to read and write before he can vote, and that a person should work for a living unless a physical or mental deficiency prevents it.

I believe we should only help countries that are anti-Communist. I believe that a serviceman in defense of his country should be paid more than the unemployed, unskilled drop-out youths in the job corps. We should spend billions on defense, but not one cent for tribute, as Johnson is trying to do by offering $1 billion to Southeast Asia, including Communist countries.

I used to believe that I was a moderate but under Johnson's Great Society I must be a right-wing extremist.

As We See It

The Spectator
(Southern Michigan Prison)

Currently, there is much talk about a proposal, broached by the American Bar Association. The group asks police, prosecutors and defense attorneys not to give comments, disclose evidence or discuss in any way the circumstances surrounding a case with newsmen.

Their theory is that such communication may prejudice a case because of the publicity received.

The mayor of Philadelphia has instructed his city officials to disregard the request.

So, we have two viewpoints on the matter: attorneys attempting to protect the clients and officialdom who, only naturally, want to chronicle their achievements.

The official's argument that "muzzling" the press will not assist in crime prevention is also sound.

But so far no one has sought the third, and just as important, viewpoint. That is the viewpoint of the defendant—or the criminal if you prefer.

While in some cases a large amount of publicity does make a "circus" out of a trial, these instances are very much in the minority.

It would be nice if when a person got into trouble there was no embarrassing publicity. But these are the

Humane Treatment

Erie (Pa.) Morning News

Senator Joseph Clark has introduced a bill (S. 1071) to require humane treatment of animals used in experiments and tests by the federal government and by institutions receiving grants from the government.

Emphasizing that the bill is not an anti-vivisection measure, Senator Clark cites the British experience with similar legislation which has been in effect for almost ninety years.

The proposed legislation should insure the support of all men, liberal and conservative, who are concerned about the kind of record our civilization is making in caring for "helpless, speechless, voiceless animals who can't even pressure group or lobby of their own."

Senator Clark points out that this bill must rely entirely on the compassion of those who can speak out and vote, humane Americans.

Research in the biological sciences have given millions of Americans added years of life. But needless suffering by dumb animals must not be condoned.

Viet Elephants Shot At by GIs

Believed Carriers for
Cong Guns, Supplies

SAIGON (UPI) — American Marines tried at least once—and failed—to halt pack trains of elephants believed hauling artillery and supplies for the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Well-informed sources said the incident occurred a little more than a month ago when a Marine gunner spotted an elephant pack train moving beneath the canopy of jungle-covered mountains northwest of the Marine-protected bomber and missile base at Da Nang.

U. S. Marine Corps H34 helicopters pumped more than a thousand rounds of armor-piercing 7.62mm ammunition into the pack train being led through the jungle by khaki-clad attendants but apparently to no avail.

The Marines suspected that the elephants were being used by the Communists to haul artillery. There have been recurring reports that the Communist North Vietnamese have begun infiltrating long-range mountain or pack howitzers into the South to aid the Viet Cong guerrillas.

When the Marines first spotted the pack train, they were more than mildly curious, because elephants are not normally found as far north as Da Nang.

CLOSER LOOK

However, lower for a closer look, the Marines saw the uniformed attendants scurry into the jungle.

One of the helicopter Marines reported that the men were uniforms resembling those of the Communist Chinese army.

When the pack train attendants fled into the jungle, the Marines decided that they were either Viet Cong, or allies of the Communists.

The sources said the Marines then strafed the pack train with their M60 machine guns, but failed to down any of the heavily laden beasts.

RETAINS SHAPE

The reason, they said, was that the guns were loaded with armor-piercing ammunition, which retains its pointed shape, even when it strikes hardened steel.

American forces in South Viet Nam use this type of ammunition, instead of the softer, conventional type because it does not maim the victim.

Ordinary ammunition mushrooms when it strikes even human flesh, tearing gaping holes in the person hit.

But because the Marines were using armor-piercing ammunition, it passed right through the elephants "like BB's through butter," according to one source.

RAN OFF

Because none of the bullets apparently struck vital organs, the pack-bearing elephants only staggered slightly and then ran off into the jungle.

The incident was not the first of its kind, as U. S. Army helicopters have long raided herds of water buffaloes known to be used as pack animals by the Viet Cong.

But experience has taught the Army aviators that 2.75-inch rockets are the only truly effective weapon against the large beasts, who shudder—but rarely die—when hit by armor-piercing ammo.

'Senate Ends Recess

With Brief Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ends an Easter recess today but only a brief session is to be held before adjourning out of respect to Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., who died Sunday.

Before the Senate started its recess on April 13, the Negro voting rights bill was made the pending business. The outlook now is that debate on it will get under way Thursday.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOTTLED SHIPS

QUESTION: How did old-time seamen put ships inside of bottles?

ANSWER: It looks impossible to put a ship model, with all its masts upright, inside a bottle through the narrow neck. Many people conclude the bottles were cut open at the bottom, the ship put in, and the glass plug put back.

It's true that this was sometimes done, but the true old salt had another trick up his sleeve, which we show in our picture, and which is still used.

First, the little ship is made outside the bottle. But each of the masts is hinged at the bottom to the hull: a single thread, if pulled on, will hold them all upright (1). Next, the old seaman would put a putty sea inside the bottle, using long, specially made tools. This was quite difficult.

Then the ships masts were folded down on the hull (2) when it could be slipped inside the neck of the bottle (3).

The ship was pushed down until it was in its right place. Then the putty was allowed to dry, holding the ship's hull firmly. The long thread had been left sticking out of the bottle.

When this was pulled on, the masts would all spring up. Holding the thread taut a bit of glue was touched to where it joined with the ship. When a hot wire burned off the excess thread, the little ship in a bottle was finished.

School Board Action

OK Tentative Budget

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — With revenue expected to top the $1-million mark for the first time, the West Bloomfield Board of Education has adopted a $1,116,840 tentative budget for 1965-66.

School officials estimate receipts next year will total $1,091,815.

Operating some $25,556 in the red, the board will make up the difference from this year's equity balance, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Leif Hogen.

Accounting for most of the increase over this year's $1,040,390 estimated expenditures will be an improved salary schedule and the opening of two new schools in the district.

Enrollment in the district is expected to jump from 2,247 to 2,639 next year. While this will increase state aid, additional teachers will have to be hired for the new classrooms.

NEW TEACHERS

The district will employ about 10 new teachers to fill out the staffs of the junior high school which will open in the fall and the new elementary school on Maple, to be completed by the first of next year.

"Our property valuation is going up too, but we don't know how much," Hogen said.

A breakdown of estimated receipts lists $581,324 from local taxes, $501,888 from state aid, $6,240 from Oakland County for special education and $820 in national defense funds.

School officials have allotted 74 per cent of the expenditures for instruction. Included in the $825,856 estimated figure is the new teachers' salary schedule.

PAY INCREASE

Under it, the minimum for holders of bachelors' degrees will be boosted from $5,100 to $5,200. The maximum in this category after 11 years will be $8,045, compared to the current $7,915.

Shelby Acts on Vote, Preliminary Budget

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A tentative budget for 1965-66 and a special election for Aug. 2 were approved last night by the Township Board.

The election will put two issues on the ballot.

Voters will be asked to approve a one-quarter-mill tax for the building and equipping of new fire stations, and whether township employees, excluding police and firemen, should be covered by civil service.

The fire station need is the result of rapid growth of the township, according to Clerk Mrs. Mae Stecker.

She pointed out that the township owns a fire station site in the northwest portion of the township, but has been unable to build a station due to lack of funds.

Two new categories provide a $5,400 minimum and $8,340 maximum for the holders of bachelors' degrees who have earned 20 additional credits and a $5,800 minimum and $8,835 maximum for those with 30 credits beyond a master's degree.

Other expenditures besides instruction will include plant operation, $122,852; administration, $46,872; transportation, $45,872; capital outlay, $33,490; plant maintenance, $22,320; fixed charges, $16,740; health services, $1,000; and book store, $847.

Shelby Acts on Vote, Preliminary Budget

the northwest portion of the township, but has been unable to build a station due to lack of funds.

SHOULD BE COVERED

Mrs. Stecker said the civil service proposal was put on the ballot as a result of the board's feeling that township employees should be covered by civil service.

Once the board decided to have an election on the fire station millage proposition, she said, they decided they might as well put the civil service issue up to the voters as well.

Police and firemen are already covered by Act 78 of civil service laws, and would not be affected by the approval of coverage for other township employees.

The budget approved last night allows a total of $340,800 for the general fund, including administrative department, building, planning commission, department of public works and police protection.

SEPARATE ALLOTMENTS

Fire protection and water department allotments are separate, and are estimated at about $123,255 and $13,900, respectively.

The clerk said the budget is tentative and subject to probable revision once it has been submitted to the Macomb County Tax Allocation Board.

Also included in the budget is a total of $4,800 covering raises and car allowances for the three elected township officials, approved by the voters at the annual meeting.

The officials will receive $1,000 raises each, plus a $50 monthly car allowance.

Anticipated receipts for 1965-66 are less than total expected expenditures, and Mrs. Stecker said the tax allocation board will be asked to make up the difference.

Bell Ringers Will Perform on Saturday

OXFORD — Ten Michigan State University students will arrive here Saturday, with bells in hand.

Known as the Spartan Bell Ringers of MSU, they will present an 8:15 p.m. concert in the Oxford High School auditorium.

Benefiting from proceeds will be three local high school students, who will receive scholarships from the Oxford Music Club, sponsor of the concert.

Scholarships to the National Music Camp at Interlochen and other camps, as well as for private study, are awarded each year by the club.

Competition for the scholarships has already been held, and the results will be announced Saturday.

BELL CONTROL

Each member of the Spartan Bell Ringers controls from four to 13 bells, with a total of 40 bells being played by the 10-member group.

The repertoire of the ensemble includes classical arrangements, folk songs, jazz, popular and novelty numbers and original works for handbells.

Organized in 1954, the group is one of 19 student and faculty groups performing under the auspices of the MSU Cap and Gown Series, a university educational and cultural service.

'Deputies' Manning Force

HOLLY — It's operating under improvised measures, but the Holly Police Department is providing 24-hour protection for the village.

When all but one member of the department's staff left Monday, a corps of volunteers was deputized to fill the gap until permanent appointments could be made.

The nine persons who quit did so in protest to reorganization of the department after Mayor John F. Oldani declined to reappoint Police Chief William J. Wood.

Village Supt. James K. Herrington was put in charge of the department when he was reappointed.

Leaving with Wood were two full-time officers, a part-time

Two Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, Minor Van Camy and Charles Rahn, are patrolling in village cars during their off-hours.

RADIO COVERAGE

"We're covered completely on the radio," Oldani said today.

Besides Mrs. Schimmeyer, Mrs. Jay Perry, who works for the village as a bookkeeper, is doing duty as a dispatcher. They have been joined by two former radio operators, Mrs. Jack Davis and Mrs. Yvonne Lane.

Oldani said he expects the village to have a full permanent force by May 1.

patrolman, two radio operators and four reserve officers.

Radio operator Mrs. Paul Schimmeyer remained with the department.

Since the departure of the 10 employees, the village has hired one full-time patrolman, James Franz.

FORMER OFFICER

The Waterford Township resident was a Holly police officer until 1962. He since has worked in plant protection at Pontiac Motor Division and for the Pontiac Board of Education.

Also returning to the force — but on a temporary basis — is former Police Chief Donald Bremer, a Holly attorney who headed the department a decade ago.

Russell Alexander, supervisor of public works, and Gary Combs, supervisor of the sewage disposal plant, also are handling shifts for the time being.

The mayor has interviewed a man for the chief's post and is "just about ready to make the appointment," he said.

APPLICATIONS

"We have four or five applications for patrolman and a dozen other offers for reserve help," he said. "It's surprising how many people have come to our aid and volunteered their services."

Oldani noted that Superintendent Herrington has done "the lion's share of the organizing." He lined up the help and the village council's police and personnel committees have acted on the appointments.

No action will be taken on current applications until a new chief is named, Oldani said.

Because of a "personality clash" between Herrington and Wood, the police department had been under the jurisdiction of a council committee for 18 months.

WELL-QUALIFIED

Herrington, who retired from the Detroit Police Department three years ago after 25 years of service, is "well-qualified to do the police work," Oldani said.

Herrington reported this morning that the department is operating "smoothly."

Variety Show to Aid Library

AVON TOWNSHIP — A spring variety show is planned tomorrow night at Brooklands Elementary School, 480 E. Auburn, to help stock the school's new library, now under construction.

The 7:30 p.m. show in the multipurpose room of the school will feature about 19 acts with 25 children ranging from first to sixth grade performing.

Pantomime, dancing and music will highlight the event, sponsored by the Brooklands-Avon PTA.

Free baby-sitting service will be provided at the school.

Directing the show is Mrs. Norma Goss, with the assistance of conductor Mrs. Yvonne Erickson.

State Farmers Hit by Twisters Will Receive Government Aid

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) has come to the rescue of Michigan farmers who sustained losses in the disastrous Palm Sunday tornadoes.

Frank Light, state ASCS committee chairman, said livestock feed programs are being put into action and cost-sharing assistance has been made available for repair of damage to farm buildings.

In areas which the President has declared "major disaster areas," the secretary of agriculture can donate government-owned feed grain.

The Commodity Credit Corporation is moving CCC-grain into areas where none is available at the present time. All tornado-stricken farmers who need grain will be able to obtain it through their ASCS office, Light said.

CCC-owned feed grain can also be offered farmers at reduced prices in "disaster" counties or areas designated by the secretary for periods of several months.

EMERGENCY FEATURES

Emergency features of the hayting and grazing program permit the grazing of livestock and cutting of hay on crop lands diverted or retired from production in counties or areas designated as "disaster" areas.

Officials anticipate widespread use of the emergency conservation program under which farmers in designated counties are offered cost-sharing assistance to repair or restore farm facilities, farm lands, water systems, etc., damaged or destroyed by a natural disaster.

Nationwide Controversy

Free Press, Fair Trial: Can Balance Be Reached?

(Free press and fair trial—The newspapers' case. First of two dispatches. They (newspapers) have "solved crimes that have baffled the law, they have unearthed crimes the law never knew about, and they have proved convicted persons innocent when the law has erred."—Harford Courant.)

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson, to whom every federal prosecutor in the land is responsible, has been accused of condemning in advance of trial the four men who were arrested in the death of a Detroit woman while taking part in a Negro voting-rights march in Alabama.

If Johnson had not been President, and had he not taken to television to deliver the statement to his countrywide constituency, should newspapers have felt bound morally, in fairness, and in good taste to refrain from delivering his pretrial opinion to potential jurors?

Or should they have followed their customary concept of their primary duty—to tell what's going on, including public statements of police and prosecutors? And presidents and princes?

The foregoing is a somewhat grotesque (although not to the four defendants) pointing out of a bar-versus-press issue that has been boiling all over the country in a dialogue that has at some points come dangerously close to distributive—calmer voices calling for a reasonable balance reached by reasonable heads.

It was the Chicago Tribune that made the observation about President Johnson's announcement of the arrest of four Ku Klux Klan members.

FAIR TRIAL?

"There has been a great deal of clamor about the effects of pretrial publicity on the chances of criminal defendants to get fair trial," it said in an editorial.

"... The President named the names and offered an account of an unsavory association before the four men, placed under arrest only hours before, had had an opportunity to appear in court to answer the charges against them. How can such men expect a fair and impartial trial when they have been condemned in advance on the highest authority?"

It is not the first time a president has been so taken to account. At the start of the famed nine-month "Communist trial" of 1949, that party's American pillar argued that one man's utterances had made it impossible for any Communist to get a fair trial: President Truman, who had publicly called Communist traitorous such-and-suchs.

Yet they were tried and convicted by 12 jurors who had sworn they could put aside what they had read and heard and decide the case solely on the evidence put before them and the law as Judge Harold R. Medina explained it.

SOME ACQUITTALS

But often, despite cries of "trial by publicity," the jury acquits.

Entering the arena of argument over how to reconcile those two great pillars of a free society—right of fair trial and the public's right to know through a free press—the Detroit News said:

"Primary reliance for justice must be placed on belief in the ability of jurors to do their job. That defendants do win acquittal from juries, not infrequently and at times despite heavy pretrial publicity, testifies to that ability."

"The hope of justice rests on the ultimate honor and wisdom of jurors drawn from the community. If this is too slender a reed on which to lean, then the hope of justice is illusory beyond all chance of redemption."

BASIC FREEDOMS

The two basic freedoms under discussion are part of the bill of rights of the U.S. Constitution. Article I says Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech or of the press.

Article VI provides that in criminal prosecutions the accused has the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury.

One longtime observer of journalism, however, points out:

"In any battle for freedom of the press, the newspapers almost always have to stand alone in their fight; they get little public support."

"No good newspaper goes to press daily without offending a considerable number of its readers. It comes down to human nature: I don't mind getting it with speeding, but when it comes out in the paper that I was caught speeding, I don't like it."

FREE PRESS

"The way a free press stays in business is to make its services to the mass public indispensable. So the good newspaper winds up being respected by the majority, but not necessarily loved."

Newspapermen, accordingly, have always stood up and fought at any peril to press freedom.

Their hackles begin to rise when the president of the American Bar Association is quoted thus: "The guarantee of a public trial was never intended to protect any right of the public to be entertained or even informed of current events. The purpose is to prevent secret trials."

Former Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Thomas D. McBride recently told the Pennsylvania Bar Association: "Freedom of the press is the right to print, not gather news. Newspapers have no more right to barge in on the police or district attorney than any other citizen."

At this, John S. Knight of the Knight newspapers replied:

"Newspapers have long been conscientious investigators of wrongdoing, both in criminal cases and the 'auditing' of government at all levels. Were this not so, the criminal scum and crooked office-holders would enjoy even greater 'freedom' to rob, kill and loot the public treasury."

"... It is a fact that most pretrial statements which could be considered prejudicial come from lawyers representing either the defense or the prosecution."

CONVICTION?

"When a man of Judge McBride's position says that freedom of the press does not include the right to gather news, he convicts himself and must stand adjudged as a person unfamiliar with Article I of the Bill of Rights."

"The bar associations which are presenting recommending 'guidelines' for the conduct of the press might better employ their talents to the policing of their own members. For it is the shady criminal lawyers, working in collusion with sleazy law enforcement officials, who far too often make a mockery of justice."

The assassination of President Kennedy and the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald loosed the present flood of agitation to censor police news and trials.

Fresh action followed the Warren Commission's report that police, press, television, and radio had helped convey "an undigested flood of evidence" to the public.

LIMITS ON NEWS

Several bar associations and judges have been considering limits on crime news reporting and what police and prosecutors can give out before trial starts.

But the controversy is an old one. As far back as 1878, in the territory of Utah, a defendant asked the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse his bigamy conviction because the judge took jurors who had admitted reading reports of the charges.

Denying the plea, the court said that "in these days of newspaper enterprise, every case of public interest is almost as a matter of necessity brought to the attention of all the intelligent people in the vicinity, and scarcely anyone can be found among those best fitted for jurors who has not read or heard of it."

Perhaps another spark in the present trial publicity censorship moves was the celebrated Cleveland case of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, who recently was freed after 10 years in the penitentiary on a wife-slaying conviction.

RIGHTS VIOLATED?

The federal judge who ordered him released ruled his constitutional rights had been violated in part by what the judge deemed to be unfair newspaper publicity before and during the trial.

In an article titled "head-on collision course: The law vs. the press," the magazine "Trial," published for lawyers by the American Trial Lawyers Association, noted that attorneys in many sections of the country were criticizing "trial by newspapers"—with radio and television included in the complaints.

It quoted the New Jersey Supreme Court:

"Unfair and prejudicial newspaper stories and comment both before and during trial of criminal cases are becoming more and more prevalent throughout the country..."

COURT ORDER

Last Nov. 16, Judge John F. Francis of that court ordered prosecutors, police, and defense attorneys not to make potentially prejudicial statements to reporters before and during criminal trials.

New Jersey Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Silles told the New Jersey Press Association that the order was not intended to curb news coverage.

He said he believed the order restricted police only in three pretrial factors: confessions and admissions; predictions of case outcome; defendants' prior police record.

The state press was concerned that the police would use the court order to cloak information of any kind when they so chose, and the association

FBI Searching for Sex Deviate

Seek Rapist for Flight to Avoid Prosecution

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is seeking Donald L. Payne, 46, for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of rape.

Payne, a convicted rapist, is one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives.

He allegedly raped an 18-year-old Houston, Tex., professional dancer on July 10, 1959.

Payne has also been identified as the perpetrator of a vicious sex attack on a 12-year-old Houston boy on July 5, 1959 the FBI said.

Payne has a long history of violent criminal sex attacks and parole violations, and has been described as a dangerous man "who would not hesitate to kill," according to the FBI.

DESCRIPTION

He is a white American, 5 feet-10-inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds. He has brown hair, a slender build, ruddy complexion and receding hairline.

He has held several jobs, including work as a farmhand, cook, machinist and salesman.

He has a large scar on his right index finger, a scar on his forehead and a tattoo of two hearts, a wreath and the word "Christine" on his right forearm.

FBI officials said Payne should be considered armed and dangerous.

Red China's renewed threat to send volunteers to Viet Nam appears to be a result of a contest between the two big Communist powers. The contest is bringing about the Communists' own form of escalation of the peril in Southeast Asia.

The Red Chinese have seemed to be trying to force Moscow to become more and more involved in a bellicose quarrel with the United States. Peking now indicates it believes it is on the way to achieving such a goal.

The standing committee of the National People's Congress in Peking announces it has called on Chinese organizations to "make preparations" to send their own people to fight the Americans in Viet Nam.

The question is whether this is a real threat to intervene or a signal to the Communist world that Red China is more willing and more able than the Soviet Union to call the shots in Southeast Asia. The latter seems the case.

STILL PREPARED

Peking—as before—is still "prepared" to send volunteers. It has not said it will send them. Several ifs are attached to the broadside if "U.S. imperialism continues to escalate" the war; if the Vietnamese ask such help. Peking will be the judge of the first if. As for the second, there are strong doubts that Hanoi is anxious to have a flood of Chinese volunteers.

There is strong evidence that the Moscow-Peking struggle for influence in the Communist and underdeveloped worlds is involved in Peking's threats.

As if accusing the Russians of failing in their duty to the world revolution, the Peking announcement said: "The Chinese people have always been infinitely loyal in fulfilling their proletarian internationalist obligations. They have never spared any sacrifice whatever in this respect. They always mean what they say. Both past and present struggles testify to this."

For the present, the Red Chinese are likely to leave well enough alone. In the first place, they appear to be satisfied that from their point of view the war is producing cruel attrition against South Viet Nam and equally cruel attrition on U.S. nerves and staying power.

It is extremely doubtful that Ho Chi Min, North Viet Nam's leader, wants Chinese volunteers.

OLD HEROES

It seems hardly coincidental that North Vietnamese propaganda for home consumption has recalled the heroism of the area's people centuries ago in repelling invasions. The cry of "Dien Hong," raised to stir patriotism in North Viet Nam, commemorates a victory by the ancient Tran dynasty over Chinese invaders. Historically, the Vietnamese distrust the Chinese and fear them.

Ho and his regime, by all appearances, in recent weeks have tried studiously to steer clear of the Moscow-Peking conflict and to refer to Peking and Moscow in equally respectful terms. When the Russians stepped up their promises and their denunciations of the United States, the Chinese apparently sought not only to match the Russians but go them one better.

Nevertheless, Peking has been prudent about its own involvement and the prospects of a direct showdown with American power. Volunteers might be "preparing" to go to Viet Nam, but the chances are they will not be sent unless the Chinese see a possibility that the Americans can win.

More Volunteers Are Needed at Medical Facility

An SOS is being sent out by the Oakland County Medical Care Facility for volunteers to work on various programs with the patients.

"Anyone who has a willingness to help is qualified," said Mrs. Margaret Evans, volunteer coordinator. "We can give them whatever training might be necessary."

Mrs. Evans said about 70

volunteers are now offering their services, but that about 200 are needed to provide a good program for the patients.

"It's such a simple thing," she said, "but it means so much to these people. Many of them have no friends or family to visit them and they look forward so to the volunteers' visits."

"With the small number coming in, the volunteers can't give as much time to each patient as they would like to."

VARIETY

Programs currently in operation for the patients include a beauty shop, physical therapy, occupational therapy, flower arranging, games, musical programs, movies and church services.

Mrs. Evans said some of the programs have more need for volunteers than others.

These include feeding the patients, shaving the men, a nurses aide project, occupational therapy, visiting with the patients, the beauty shop, and entertainment such as piano playing, singing and playing cards.

"We especially want people to play the piano and sing," said Mrs. Evans. "It's amazing what music can do for these people."

NEEDED

In connection with the music program, she said the hospital needs a chord organ, a portable television and some small radios.

Mrs. Evans said that in addition to the volunteers who come in, many scout troops adopt patients and remember them throughout the year.

There is also a Red Cross teenage volunteer program. About 40 take part in the program now, but about 50 more are needed.

"These teenagers are wonderful," said Mrs. Evans. "You hear so much about the trouble kids get into, that I think these kids deserve a lot of credit."

What do the volunteers think of the program?

"It's a very satisfying and meaningful program," said Mrs. Tadodit Welch of Birmingham who has been with the program for about 10 years.

"We originally started out as a group from St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham, but some have dropped out and others come in, so it is more on an individual basis now."

ORIGINAL VOLUNTEER

Mrs. Howard Estes, whose late husband was manager of the Facility, was the original volunteer.

"One day my husband asked me to visit one of the patients who was very lonely," she said. "When I did, I found so many people who were lonely that I just kept visiting and recruiting friends to come out and visit."

"This is a good program but we need so many more volunteers. These people just love to have someone visit them. And the volunteers get as much out of it as the patients."

Honored at Bridal Showers

Janet Carol Schneider of Elizabeth Lake Road was honored by Mrs. Ott Brian and Mrs. Everett Cole at a bridal supper party, Tuesday, in Highland.

Pontiac State Hospital nurses honored their co-worker at a recent tressouze shower in Farmington. Hostesses were Mary Milner and Ruth Olson.

Showers were also given by Ann Dilloway of Brighton; Eleanor Foreman of Webberville; and by Mrs. William Schneider, Sue and Sharon, also in Webberville.

Neighbors of the future bridegroom, William Gerald Irish Jr., honored Miss Schneider at a shower given by Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. Milton Miller.

The senior Mr. and Mrs. Irish of Highland will give the rehearsal dinner for their son and his fiancée, Friday at "The Caravel" in Howell. She is the daughter of the Fred Schneiders of Webberville.

Pontiac Press Photos

Slim Officer Is Looking

Plump Girls Take Lead

DEAR ABBY: Can you find me a good, true woman? I am a retired Merchant Marine officer who has been everywhere and seen everything.

I am tired of knocking around. I am pushing 60, but nobody takes me for any older than 45, or 50, tops.

I have a nice little savings account and a pension for life.

Never having been an angel myself, I wouldn't expect one, but I would like a healthy, good-looking woman who wants to settle down with one man from now on.

I am partial to plump girls. I speak both Italian and Spanish. If you will send me an address, I'll go anywhere.

DEAR SLIM: Don't start

Delegates at Meeting

Pontiac delegates, Mrs. John Buchanan, Mrs. Terry Cantrell, Mrs. William Sturgeon, Margaret Wilmot and Richard Goodwin are attending the International Conference of the Association for Childhood Education in New York, N.Y.

Mrs. Cantrell plans to visit her former home of Providence, R. I. before her return on Sunday.

packing until you've taken a good look in your own back yard.

Just let a few friends know that you are interested in meeting a good woman who wants to settle down, and you'll need police protection.

DEAR ABBY: I am the proud father of a big, handsome college freshman.

When this kid comes home for weekend vacations, he helps himself to my neckties.

Now I wouldn't mind so much if he returned my ties in the same condition that he finds them. But he knots them peculiarly and the tie is a lifeless rag by the time he's worn it once.

He has more ties than I have, but he wears mine because he says he likes my "taste."

I suppose I should be flattered and, in a way, I am. But how would you solve this problem, Abby?

POOR DAD

DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you!

Problems? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Volunteer Is Aghast at People

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I recently volunteered to take up a house-to-house collection in my neighborhood for mentally retarded children, and it was an experience I shall never forget.

I had doors slammed in my face with a very curt, "Not interested." I never thought people could be so rude.

I can understand people not being able to contribute or being wary about letting strangers into their houses, but I do think they can at least be courteous.

This is strictly volunteer work and I'm afraid if this rudeness is encountered too often there will be very few volunteers to do this work.

Will you please comment on this?

A: To slam the door on anyone's face is inexcusably rude and uncalled for behavior.

To say simply and politely, "I'm sorry, but I can't contribute," or "I've already contributed," is all one need do and certainly those who volunteer their time and energy for charity should be accorded at least this much courtesy.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Q: I am having a very small wedding with just the immediate families attending.

No invitations will be issued but I plan to send wedding announcements to out-of-town relatives and friends.

I had not intended to send them to relatives and friends living here as they all know of my forthcoming marriage.

My mother thinks announcements should be sent to everyone regardless of whether they know of my marriage or not.

It seems silly to me. What is your opinion?

A: Your mother is right. Announcements are properly sent to all those not invited to the wedding.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in later columns.

Polly's Pointers

Surprise Dinners

DEAR POLLY — Saturday night is always "New Recipe Night" at our house. Each Saturday I try out a new idea that I have cut out of a newspaper or magazine.

My family always looks forward to these Saturday night surprise dinners.—MRS. S.

DEAR POLLY — I sometimes forget to take my lunch to school. This has made it necessary for me to go to the school office to borrow money for lunch so instead of pennies in each of my "penny loafers" I put in a dime.

Now when I forget my lunch, I have enough money to buy at least a bowl of soup and ice cream or milk which will tide me over until I get home.—WINIFRED

DEAR POLLY—I do not have a narrow deep bowl such as is needed for whipping cream, etc. So I use a clean, tall, one-pound coffee can that has a plastic top.

My electric hand mixer fits into it and the tall sides keep the cream or whatever is being whipped from being splattered all over me and the kitchen counter.

To store, just snap the plastic lid back on.—BONNIE

GIRLS — This I really like. Not only does the electric hand mixer, with two beaters, fit in just right but also a rotary hand beater.

What did we do before the day of coffee cans with plastic lids?—POLLY

Want some help with your homemaking? More than 200 chore-software are featured in Polly's 32-page booklet.

To order, send your name, address and 50¢ to: Polly's Pointers, in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

It Sounds Reasonable

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Little Lisa Golob came home from kindergarten and handed her mother a piece of paper on which she had made a "painting."

Running from side to side of the sheet were wide lines of violet, blue, green, yellow and red. She explained that it was a rainbow. Her mother admired the art work but asked why it was not curved like a rainbow.

The youngster looked up quickly and replied, "Well, all we had was straight paper."

Neighborhood Youth Corps Program One of Major Concepts

Washington's Antipoverty Drive in High Gear, May Be National Preview

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thanks to a head start over the rest of the country, Washington's antipoverty drive is in high gear. It could be a preview of what happens nationally.

Even before Congress approved what President Johnson describes as a "war on poverty," programs were under way here to combat illiteracy, delinquency and unemployment.

One of the program's major concepts, the neighborhood youth corps program to reduce school dropouts and improve economic opportunities for teenagers, first was tried out here on a pilot basis last year.

When a congressional task force checked recently into the local effort, its chairman, Rep. Hugh L. Carey, D-N.Y., said:

"I could not be more delighted, nor surprised, than I was to see how far you've gone. I just hope as we go around the country, we see as many good evidences of good progress."

$5 MILLION INTO PROGRAMS

Since the Office of Economic Opportunity began to dispense antipoverty grants last November, it has poured almost $5 million into programs here.

Besides these funds, the United Planning Organization which is coordinating Washington's antipoverty program has received more than $3 million from other sources with another $5 million on the way.

This includes two grants from the Ford Foundation, totaling $3.36 million, to reduce poverty, dependency and delinquency, and $5 million voted by Congress last year.

A large portion of this money is being used in the capital's Cardozo district — a predominantly Negro slum area with high unemployment and illiteracy.

An experimental model school program is under way in Cardozo's 14 elementary and three junior high schools, supported by a $604,368 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and other grants which bring the total available to $1.1 million.

Paul P. Cooke, director of the model school division, estimates that 6,200 of the 18,000 in Cardozo schools are participating in some aspects of the program.

But he expressed concern that too few children living in what he called "the hard core of poverty" — families on welfare or with incomes under $3,000 a year — were participating.

The Cardozo district also is being helped by the neighborhood development program in which some people are being used to teach their neighbors how to spend their money and how to use community health education and cultural facilities.

CUT OFF FUNDS

A suit designed to cut off funds to the United Planning Organization until more people participate in its decision-making is pending in U.S. District Court. It was filed by Julius Hobson, head of a civil rights group called Associated Community Teams.

The largest grants in the Washington program so far have gone for the neighborhood youth corps.

The first grant of $2.25 million was to provide part-time jobs with government, school and social agencies for 1,500 boys and 1,754 girls so they can afford to stay in school.

A second grant of $800,000 will finance a youth opportunity center and a network of neighborhood job planning centers to provide youths 16 to 21 with testing, counseling and job referral services.

These other programs are either under way or on the planning boards.

A job training program for unemployed heads of households. An enrollment of 700 is planned for launching of the program this summer.

A program to teach adolescent school dropouts and potential dropouts to read. A grant of $151,000 is expected to help 500 persons from 15 to 22 with hopes some will later become teachers.

An adult education program to increase chances for jobs.

Development of family foster homes in Cardozo and other areas.

Improved legal services for the poor.

Emergency assistance to provide newcomers to Washington with food, shelter, employment opportunities and bus fare to seek jobs.

Some neighborhood workers contend that the lack of any emergency funds to bail selected families out of spot trouble is crippling the effort.

"You can't talk to a hungry person about long-range programs until he has overcome his hunger," said John Staggers, director of the program's community service project.

Although there has been some criticism of salaries of top officials, they generally are in line with those of other top city officials.

James G. Bank receives $35,000 a year — $1,000 below the top city salaries for President Walter N. Tobin of the D.C. Board of Commissioners and School Supt. Carl Hansen.

Officials say that Washington's program is relatively more advanced than those in other cities because the city had a head start, and relatively larger because additional government and Ford Foundation grants are available.

The program is also helped, the officials say, because it is all being channeled through a single group — the United Planning Organization.

They cite Detroit as having a similar advantage, whereas other cities, such as New York, have a number of different agencies handling the program.

Camera Angles

Choice in Film Loading

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures

An interesting sidelight of the International Photographic Exposition in New York City's Coliseum from May 1-9, is the introduction of a European fast film-load system.

This brings to American amateur photographers a choice of two different systems.

For the past two years, U.S. camera fans have become familiar with the fast and fumble-free film loading of Kodak's Instamatic camera line.

Its success was instantaneous for its drop-in film cartridge eliminated the only troublesome aspect of camera handling which had not changed while everything else was being modernized.

But in Europe an entirely different method of easy film loading was developed by the West German photographic industry.

RAPID SYSTEM

Led by Agfa, the world's second leading film manufacturer, the "Rapid System" was launched last July in England and on the continent.

Having achieved success on its home grounds, the Rapid system of cameras and film is now coming to America.

Let's go over the features of each system.

Instamatic-type cameras require a special 126 Kodapak film cartridge which fits no other type of camera.

FOUR TYPES

There are presently four different types of Kodapak films but each has the same ASA 64 film speed: a 12-exposure black and white film; a 12-exposure color negative film for color prints principally; and two kinds of 20-exposure color transparency films.

The same film speed makes for simpler camera automation.

The films are widely available in this country and to a lesser extent abroad.

THROUGH WINDOW

Each one can be seen through a window in the camera revealing the type of film being used, the maximum number of exposures and the number of the picture which will be taken next.

When finished, the cartridge drops out and a new one drops in place with no further fuss.

A Rapid film cassette looks at first glance like the present regular 35mm cassette. However, though it uses regular 35mm film, the cassette is different and can be used only in Rapid cameras.

When dropped into a Rapid camera, the length of film leader emerging from the cassette falls over spoked wheels.

PRESS TWICE

Without handling the film, the back of the camera is closed and the button is pressed twice to advance two frames. The film is automatically fed into the take-up spool.

When all the exposures are finished, the film is not re-wound but remains in the take-up spool which is removed for processing.

However, the now - empty starting cassette must be removed and placed in the take-up position for it now becomes the take-up spool. Then a fresh film cassette can be inserted.

A variety of Rapid film types will be available when proper distribution in the United States is arranged.

COLOR NEGATIVES

There are color negative, color or transparency and black and white films in slow, medium and fast emulsion speeds.

However, they are presently in the European "weekend" short length which produces 12 full-frame 35mm pictures or 24 half-frame size or 16 exposures in the square 24x22mm format, depending on the format of the Rapid camera being used.

Each cassette cues the camera mechanism automatically with the speed of the film it contains from ASA 25 to ASA 400.

Backers of the Rapid system claim it offers more precise film plane alignment than is possible in a Kodapak cartridge and that the use of standard 35mm film necessitates no change in present industry processing equipment or procedures.

HAVE CHOICE

The major camera and film makers in Europe, America and Japan have made their choices between the Kodak and the Rapid systems and the showcase in America for their new cameras and films is the 1965 International Photographic Exposition.

But Rendezvous, a Hoax

The 'Spirit' Was Willing

DETROIT (AP)—Despite evidence to the contrary, the bronze "Spirit of Detroit" did not attend a nocturnal rendezvous with his Italian neighbor, "Passo di Danza," a girl and also of bronze.

Detroit's gawked Tuesday at giant footprints leading from "Spirit" through flower beds across a street, and through a pool surrounding the nude young lady. Some wondered if spring had pervaded even a heart of bronze.

But, alas, the magnetic attraction of spring and the lady hadn't brought the two together over the weekend.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh received a letter of apology from two youthful "matchmakers" who admitted painting what appeared to be evidence of "Spirit's" journey. They also sent a check for $30.

GREEN PAINT

Two gigantic sponge feet had been soaked in green paint and used to mark steps from the 25-foot giant to the Manzu nude.

But there was a happy ending. Tuesday was a bright spring day, so Cavanagh accepted the check and the apology, and told police:

"It was intended as a prank, and they learned their lesson and apologized. This shows them to be very fine young men."

Find Detroit Mother Strangled at Home

DETROIT (AP) —Mrs. Carol Jean Paul, 25, was found strangled in her apartment here Tuesday.

Police said the woman had been bound with strips torn from a sheet, and it appeared she had been strangled with another strip.

Mrs. Paul's two children, Carmen, 8, and Erwin, 7, told police they tried to wake their mother and became frightened when she didn't answer their calls. They told officers they heard Mrs. Paul cry out in the night and a man's voice say "shut up."

Pontiac City Affairs

Plans, Cost for Sewer Asked

Detailed plans and cost estimates were ordered last night for a combined sewer in a one-block section along Walton, New York to Richard.

The City Commission ordered the plans in approving a public necessity resolution for the sewer.

In other action, a pair of urban renewal bills were ordered paid by the commission.

The bills, submitted by Anderson & Ruzzin, Inc., were for water main and sanitary sewer construction in the R20 and R44 projects.

Totaling $5,574, the bills will

CONTRACT EXTENDED

Also last night, a 30-day extension was granted an urban renewal contractor on a demolition contract. The extension was necessary because of a delay in work last February due to a snowstorm.

A request from a projected Bloomfield Township firm for water service was tabled one week by the commission.

Albert C. Fisch, who is erecting a building for a tool and die business on Golf Drive immediately adjacent to the city limits, made the request for water.

Bloomfield Township has already agreed to the request, but both Pontiac and the Detroit Water Board must also give consent.

The request was held up a week for a report on what the tap-in fee might be for outside water customers.

The commission last night referred to the City Planning Commission a request for rezoning of land near Auburn and East way.

Economy Welding and Fabricating Co. asked for commercial rezoning of the land for future expansion of their building.

U.S. Official Benefited From Stock Tip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Commerce Herbert W. Klotz, mentioned as one of a dozen persons who benefited from a tip on Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. stock, says his quick paper profit amounted to about $14,500.

Klotz was mentioned Monday in connection with a Securities and Exchange Commission suit that charged some officials of the company with concealing information about valuable copper and zinc discoveries in Canada. Although he was listed as receiving a tip, the SEC did not charge he acted improperly. The Commerce Department official did not say if he had sold the 2,000 shares of stock.

He bought them at $29.70 a share, he said, after receiving a tip from Miss Nancy Atkinson, now Mrs. Francis Brown, who was then working at the federal pavilion of the New York World's Fair.

Klotz said she stated that a long-time family friend, Kenneth H. Darke, who was employed by the company had told her family that the company had very good immediate and future prospects.

The stock closed at $37 a share on April 16, 1964, the day on which announcement of the ore discovery was made. It is now selling for $68 a share.

"In my official capacity with the Department of Commerce I have never had nor could be expected to have any dealings with the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co."

Seriously Injured Tornado Victim Has Baby Boy

HILLSDALE (UPI) — A seriously injured tornado victim gave birth Tuesday to an 8½-pound boy just as her husband arrived on special leave from Korea.

Doctors said Mrs. Robert McCready, Bear Lake, was seriously injured in a tornado which destroyed her home Palm Sunday. The Red Cross requested a special leave for her husband from Army duty in Korea.

Time-Action N-Bomb in Works

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

SANDIA BASE, Albuquerque, N.M. — The United States has developed nuclear bombs which will, when dropped by low-flying planes, survive impact and explode by delayed fuse.

The time lapse allows the planes time to escape the blast area.

These so-called "lay-down" weapons, designed for hit-and-run attacks, are girded in armor tough enough to smash against rock or concrete without damaging the nuclear explosive.

Testing the hide of these new weapons is an assignment being carried out at heavily guarded laboratories and areas in the foothills of the rolling Sandia Mountains. The site is a key atomic support base of the Atomic Energy Commission and the armed forces.

Technicians use every means to wreck, burn and freeze the nonnuclear hardware that goes into U.S. nuclear bombs, missiles, land mines, artillery shells and other arms.

Each component is designed to withstand temperatures from 90 degrees below zero to 5,400 degrees above, and possibly even enemy sprays of radiation.

A weird arsenal is employed in the testing.

Rocket-powered sleds traveling twice the speed of sound against barriers.

The world's largest centrifuge spins weapons assemblies at speeds that subject them to forces 45 times the pull of gravity, simulating a missile launch.

CONCRETE SLABS
Devices weighing 1.5 tons are dropped from towers onto concrete slabs.

Nuclear reactors subject hardware to bursts of radiation.

U.N. Disarmament Debate May Turn Into Red Anti-U.S. Blast

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Seldom has a U.N. disarmament debate offered less promise than the one beginning today in the 114-nation disarmament commission.

As arms experts gathered at U.N. headquarters for the opening session, some Western diplomats feared the public debate might serve only to emphasize current East-West differences. Unless the Soviet Union intends to use the commission as a platform for raising the Viet Nam issue and the use of non-lethal gas there, they ask, why did the Russians seek a public debate rather than the usual private negotiations in Geneva?

U.S. officials are braced for a Communist attack similar to recent blasts in other U.N. meetings. Although they have not said so publicly, they suspect Soviet motives and are skeptical about the chances of any good coming from the public discussions.

MORE POLEMICS

In a speech in Boston Tuesday, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said the commission's debate "may result in more polemics than progress."

The debate by the full U.N. membership is not expected to take the place of the 17-nation negotiations in Geneva but to serve as a prelude. In the past the United Nations has had such debates in the General Assembly, but they have rarely done anything more than provide a sounding board for the sponsors of rival disarmament plans.

Western diplomats feel that, in view of the Viet Nam conflict, the less public debate there is, the better the chances for results in Geneva.

Before the Soviet Union made its surprise request for a full public discussion, U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster and Soviet expert Semyon K. Tsarapkin had been working on plans for new Geneva talks. Both had indicated they attached top importance to halting the spread of nuclear weapons.

MAJOR TOPIC

This undoubtedly will be a major topic in the discussions here. But Western officials are concerned that the issue may get mixed up with Viet Nam and other controversial East-

West questions. The situation not only has become more urgent, but also more complicated since Red China exploded its first nuclear device last October.

Some U.N. diplomats are looking for a move by Albania or another ally of Peking to try to bring the Chinese Communists into the arms discussions.

While there is no chance that such an attempt would succeed at this time, it could touch off a long debate. It also could provide a test vote that never took place last fall because of the no-vote trace in the General Assembly.

What can be expected from the commission's arms debate?

SMALL COUNTRIES

It will give the small countries a chance to state their views. It will give the full U.N. membership a chance to state its preferences on priorities for the Geneva talks. It may generate some public pressure on the big powers.

There is a possibility that the Communists may seek some U.N. condemnation of the use of gas — including nonlethal kinds in war. The introduction and debate of such a proposal would create a chilling political atmosphere which would hamper future negotiations. The debate might become so acrimonious that the Geneva talks would have to be postponed.

FLANK VISITING PREMIER — President and Mrs. Johnson stand beside Italian Prime Minister Aldo Moro during a ceremonial welcome on the White House grounds yesterday. Moro is in Washington for two days of talks with the President.

Johnson Reiterates Viet Stand at Fete for Italy's Prime Minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says "more than a nation dies" if efforts to allow South Viet Nam to choose its own path fail.

In an exchange of toasts Tuesday night at a White House state dinner honoring Prime Minister Aldo Moro of Italy, Johnson said in part:

"It is very hard at my desk to sift out each day's business, what will last and what will perish, but the leader of each country must try to do that or he must pay the consequences before the judgment seat of history."

LASTING VALUES

"So, the aim of my country now in the struggle in Southeast Asia is to defend universal and lasting values. That is why we were so deeply grateful to the good people of Italy for their unwavering support of our efforts."

Moro to Honor Two Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Italian Premier Aldo Moro holds a second round of conferences today with top U.S. officials. First, he plans to pay tribute to two American presidents — George Washington and John F. Kennedy.

The Italian leader, on his first visit here, has scheduled visits to Arlington National Cemetery, where he will lay wreaths on the Tomb of the Unknowns and the grave of Kennedy. Then his party goes to Mount Vernon to visit Washington's grave.

Moro's first scheduled meeting was with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, just back from a trip to Hawaii to map U.S. plans for the war in Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk war to honor Moro at a luncheon. Then the 48-year-old premier was to hold a second White House talk with President Johnson before issuance of a joint U.S.-Italian communique.

Tuesday Johnson welcomed Moro to the White House and the two held a morning conference. After the premier attended a luncheon given by Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, he returned to the executive mansion at Johnson's invitation and sat in on a meeting of the President's Cabinet.

Moro and Rusk conferred for almost two hours during the afternoon.

DEEPLY COMMITTED

"The people of Italy and the people of the United States are deeply committed to this unchanging principle. Together we believe in, together we work for the right of other people to decide for themselves."

Urge to Flee Jail Costly for Inmate

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An unquenchable desire to escape turned a 30-day jail sentence into several years behind bars for Douglas Neal.

Neal, 32, drew the minor sentence as a prowler in 1960 in Atlanta. Today, five years and four months later, he is still in jail because he can't resist the urge to break out.

Neal served 20 days of his original sentence before escaping. An Atlanta judge sentenced him to one year after his capture.

He fled again and this time was sentenced in an Atlanta court to five years.

5-YEAR TERM

Last summer, Neal had less than a year to serve on his five-year term when he and two other prisoners escaped a work gang in a stolen dump truck. They were recaptured and that led to his latest sentencing by Judge C. Wesley Killebrew in Richmond County Superior Court.

"Why in the world did you escape again when your time was so near?" the judge asked.

"I just got that old liquor in my head, judge," Neal replied. The startled judge asked where Neal had acquired liquor.

BOUGHT LIQUOR

Neal said he and two other prisoners had bought two pints of liquor at a service station. He said they were wearing their prison uniforms.

"I didn't pursue this line of questioning," said the judge Tuesday night. "I figure it wasn't up to me to find out how they got it wearing prison uniforms."

"I told Neal, 'You just can't seem to sit still, can you?'" Killebrew said. "He didn't have an answer for that one."

Teen Morals Reflect Parents' Attitude

(Editor's Note — A mother in Tacoma, Wash., criticized permissiveness. Another in El Paso cited the lack of parental discipline. Parents discuss the increase in sexual activity, and the causes, among the nation's youth in this dispatch, third of five.)

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International

A girle calendar hung on the bedroom wall of an 11-year-old boy was his "advanced thinking" parents' way of helping to teach him that sex is not dirty.

The calendar episode was cited during a Child Study Association of America workshop on sex.

The experts participating could only agree that the act reflected the parents' views of sex. They could not agree on the approach.

A mother ordered her teenage son out of the house when she caught him and discovered him in bed with a girl. He has not returned.

That parents have different ways of handling the sex problem among youth was further noted by a psychiatrist participating in a workshop at the annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association.

PREGNANT DAUGHTERS

He told of two middle-age women who are near suicide because their teen-age daughters are pregnant. The boys involved want to marry the girls — but they aren't the types the mothers approve of or desire as husbands for their daughters.

Other parents take a hohum attitude.

Police Chief Donald K. Pearson, of Half Moon Bay, Calif., told a group of parents that a patrolling officer can find eight or 10 teen-age couples engaged in sexual activity any time of day or night along the beach.

"We'll call parents," he said,

"and say we have this or that minor in custody. Many just say — 'Oh, send him on home.' They just can't be bothered."

EMOTIONAL GAMUT

Concern and attitudes of parents, fun the gamut of emotion, according to a survey by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The survey, conducted by the PTA magazine, drew responses on morals of teenagers from presidents of PTA units nationwide.

Said a mother from Tacoma, Wash.:

"The easy way to raise a kid is to let him decide for himself. This permissiveness that dominated our child psychology for so many years has allowed parents to abdicate their authority. Thank heaven, the pendulum is swinging back."

DISAGREEMENT

There was disagreement on the extent of teen-age immorality.

A North Miami, Fla., mother said basically the contemporary teen-ager is the same as the teenager of 40 years ago — "except that he has a little more freedom and a little less responsibility."

A Rochester, N.Y., mother blamed the adults who don't have the courage to say "no" or "wait" to their babies as well as to their teen-agers.

ADULT DOLLS

She also scolded parents who encourage a market for cosmetic sets and "adult" dolls for 6-year-olds.

Also criticized were parents whose "supreme discipline is directed toward playing the game of getting something for nothing, whose supreme delight is in some form of self-indulgence, who foist more and more responsibility for their children's welfare onto the schools and community agencies."

"Teen-age immorality spreads by young people wanting too much, too soon," said a Louisville, Ky., mother.

"Parents foster this notion when they say — My kids are going to have it better than I did."

PRICE TO PAY

The price of parents not caring or exercising enough discipline is reflected by the statistics of unwed mothers, teenage marriages and venereal disease.

A letter in the files of the national headquarters of the Young Women's Christian Association tells of the heart-break.

The writer describes how pregnancy forced her into an early marriage and out of school. Her husband also was a dropout.

She expected high adventure and romance. Instead, she experienced poverty, hunger, physical pain, anguish and spiritual suffering.

WARNING LETTER

She said she wrote the letter in an attempt to caution other teen-agers against "making my mistake."

In a subsequent letter, the teen-ager reported she had gone through a divorce and was once again living with her parents.

"If only the others would listen to me," she said.

PINEAPPLE CHEESE PIE — Crowned with a glaze of pineapple, this tangy Pineapple Cheese Pie may look like any other cheese pie, but one taste will reveal a difference in texture and flavor. The secret lies in a versatile new whipped dessert mix, used as a base in the preparation of the creamy filling.

New Dessert Mix Has Many Uses

A new whipped dessert mix is on sale in Pontiac area grocery stores. It was formally introduced to food editors at a special party in Detroit.

This truly different dessert needs no cooking. All you do is add milk and water or fruit juice or carbonated beverage. Whip it for a few minutes and the result is a glamorous creamy creation.

It makes marvelous mousses, smooth Bavarians, elegant tortes, delicate souffles and superb frozen pies.

It comes in four flavors — chocolate, vanilla, strawberry and lemon.

Here are two uses for the new dessert mix.

Pineapple Cheese Pie
1 package lemon whipped dessert mix
½ cup sugar
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 unbaked 9-inch graham cracker crust
1 cup canned pineapple pie filling
Prepare dessert mix as directed on package.
Add sugar to cream cheese and beat until smooth. Blend in the prepared dessert mix. Spoon into crust. Chill 3 hours or more. Spread pie filling over top for a glaze. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Strawberry Sour Dessert
Fresh or thawed frozen strawberry halves
1 package strawberry whipped dessert mix
1 cup (½ pt.) sour cream

Set aside 6 strawberry halves for garnish; then spoon additional berries into 6 sherbet glasses or dessert dishes.

Prepare dessert mix as directed on package. Fold in sour cream. Spoon over berries in dishes. Chill 2 hours or more. Garnish with reserved berries. Makes 3 cups or 6 servings.

Good Salad for Fowl

Orange and onion salad is great with roast chicken, turkey or duck. Serve the fruit and vegetable combination (sliced thin) on mixed greens and top with ripe olives, pimiento or capers. At the table mix the salad with French dressing, salt (if needed) and freshly-ground pepper.

Pork Butt Is Good for Boiled Dinner

You can use boneless smoked pork butt (such as a "daisy" or "cottage" roll) for a New England Boiled Dinner. For two pounds of the butt add six small potatoes, six small onions and six small carrots.

Toward the end of the cooking time, cut a small green cabbage into sixths and add these.

Everyone Enjoys Puffy Popovers

Popovers are a delightful addition to spring luncheon menus, and they're surprisingly easy to make, too.

For 6 large or 11 small popovers, first grease 6 custard cups or a popover pan with 11 cups. Preheat oven to 425 degrees.

Blend 2 beaten eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted shortening or oil and ¼ teaspoon salt. Blend in 1 cup sifted enriched flour until smooth; beat 1 minute on electric mixer or 3 minutes with rotary beater.

Fill custard cups or popover pan half full. Bake 40 to 45 minutes, or until brown and firm to touch.

Broiled Jam Toast a Breakfast Treat

To add extra sparkle to breakfast with little effort, try this idea. Under a preheated broiler lightly toast both sides of enriched white bread slices.

Then spread one side with butter or margarine and a favorite jam (strawberry and raspberry are especially good). Broil again briefly until the jam is bubbly.

New Cookbooks

Have Entertaining Recipes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
Since we have become a nation of more discriminating eaters, there have been many cookbooks of foreign recipes published.

Some are inclusive, others treat of one country. Many are expensive.

The Meredith Press which puts out Better Homes and Gardens magazine is now publishing a series of what they aptly describe as "low-cost, high quality" cookbooks.

Each sells for 99 cents. All have a good number of illustrations, many of which are in color.

The titles speak for themselves: Best Buffets; Birthdays and Family Celebrations; So-Good Meals; Snacks and Refreshments; Meals In Minutes; Lunches and Brunches; Barbecues and Picnics; Meals with a Foreign Flair.

It is of the latter we would speak.

Twenty-four countries are represented by recipes that cover the entire range of menus.

Whole dinners are suggested with recipes for all dishes. Other sections of the book list such tempting foods as Canneloni Noodles, Indian Puris (sort of a bread) or Crepes Frangipane.

Here's one of the recipes from the Oriental section.

Ginger Fruit Oriental

1 can (1 pound) sliced peaches drained
1 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons finely chopped candied ginger
2 bananas

Combine peach slices, orange juice and candied ginger. Chill several hours to blend flavors.

Peel bananas and run fork down sides to flute. Slice on bias. Add to peach mixture. Heap in serving dishes. Garnish with kumquats and sprigs of green leaves.

Another new cookbook that came recently to our desk is the latest in the series from the Favorite Recipes Press.

This one, entitled "Salute to Cooking — Entertaining with Ease" is a book of party recipes. The cooks are all wives of men in military service.

The section on patio and picnic favorites will have special appeal in the warm months ahead.

Copies of this book may be obtained by sending $3.45 per book to Favorite Recipes Press, Inc., Box 3396, Montgomery, Ala., 36109.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. A Delmonico (rib eye) roast.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the rib section of beef, the same section as is used for the beef standing rib. In a Delmonico or rib eye roast, the back and rib bones, fat and muscle covering over the rib eye are removed.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. Since the diameter of this roast is comparatively small, it's roasted at a slightly higher temperature than a regular beef standing rib. The temperature used is moderate (350 degrees F.).

Q. How is roasting done?

A. The Delmonico (rib eye) roast is placed, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. It's seasoned with salt and pepper. A roast meat thermometer is inserted so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, making sure it does not rest in fat. Do not add water. Do not cover.

Touch of Mint Hints of Spring

In the spring the fancy turns to lighter and lovelier-to-look-at foods.

That's not exactly the way the poet puts it, but any poet worth the supper he sings for will agree that this combination of peaches, mint and creamed cottage cheese is worth a cheerful song.

Minted Cheese-Peach Salad

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves
Iceberg lettuce
1 pint creamed cottage cheese
1/4 cup chopped fresh mint
OR 2 to 3 teaspoons mint flakes
2/3 cup mayonnaise

Drain peaches well, reserving about 1/4 cup syrup. Cut 2 1/2-inch hole in the center of each peach half; save centers.

Arrange lettuce leaves on 6 or 7 salad plates. Blend cheese with 3 tablespoons mint; scoop all but 1/4 cup mixture onto lettuce.

Place peach halves cup-sides down over cheese; top each with dollop remaining cheese and crown with cut-out peach center.

Blend mayonnaise with remaining mint and enough reserved syrup to make desired consistency; serve as dressing with salad. Makes 6 servings.

AMA Plans to Battle House-Approved Health Care Bill Right Up to the Final Bell

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association, victor in all its previous battles against compulsory health insurance, plans to carry its fight to the final bell against the Johnson administration's health care for the aged bill.

"We will testify before the Senate Finance Committee against the medicare bill," Dr. E. B. Howard, assistant executive vice president of the AMA said today. "We still feel the eldercare bill is superior to this one."

The health care bill backed by the Johnson administration passed the House earlier this month by a 313-115 vote. It is now before the Senate. The House Ways and Means Committee, which approved the medicare bill, did not consider the rival AMA-backed eldercare bill.

Dr. Donovan F. Ward, AMA president, criticized the House committee for tying in what he termed a "justified increase" in Social Security cash retirement benefits with the health care legislation. He also criticized the committee for failing to consider the eldercare program.

CENTRALIZED CONTROL

He said that the health care program would "centralize control over many aspects of the practice of medicine in a federal bureaucracy" and result in poorer health care for all American people.

"We are opposed to increasing taxes on wage-earners to pay hospital bills for everyone over 65, regardless of their income," Ward said.

"We hope the Senate will proceed with caution, and will conduct full and fair public hearings so that this bill can be thoroughly understood by everyone. We hope that the legislation which finally emerges will be sound and just and will reflect the desires of a majority of the people."

The AMA spent nearly $1 million earlier this year in a whirlwind campaign aimed at winning public support for the eldercare program. That plan would provide hospital and medical care for persons over 65 who need financial help to meet such expenses.

TAX INCREASE

The health care bill would raise Social Security taxes, boost cash retirement benefits and provide retirement health care benefits to all eligible persons. It also would extend the present Kerr-Mills medical assistance for the needy aged program to all indigents.

During its campaign, the AMA distributed more than 21 million pamphlets comparing the rival medical plans. The AMA also purchased advertising in newspapers, magazines and farm publications and on television and radio.

Commenting on the campaign, an AMA spokesman said: "Its primary purpose was to acquaint people with the eldercare program and it apparently fulfilled the purpose. Polls and the volume of mail received have shown that the majority of persons favor eldercare over medicare."

The spokesman said letters seeking more information about the eldercare program reached a peak of more than 1,000 a day last month and still are coming in.

Outside Doctors Called in Ionia Probe

LANSING (AP)—A legislative committee investigating two recent suicides at the Ionia State Hospital planned to call in outside psychologists today to advise members on how to evaluate the facts they uncover.

The committee met Tuesday with Mental Health Director Dr. Robert Kimmich and his assistant, Dr. James Peel, for their report on two suicides within five days at the hospital for the criminal insane.

Rep. F. Charles Raap, D-Muskegon, committee chairman, said the committee would visit the hospital later this week.

Kimmich said he presented some over-all figures on suicides in Michigan.

"We have been getting (in state mental hospitals) somewhere between 12 and 14 suicides a year," he said. "But in the 10 months I've been here we have had five."

He said Ionia, which has been having four suicides a year, has had three during this fiscal year.

"From the hullabaloo, it would seem there's a huge rash of suicides when in actuality we've had about one-half the normal suicides and Ionia has had one less than what it has been having in recent years," Kimmich added.

"Naturally, even one death we don't like, and we do all we can to prevent it, even though we have a high concentration of suicide risks, especially at Ionia been looking at our entire operation among persons who tend toward violence," he said.

A Belt for His 'Belts'

COLUMBUS, OHIO (UPI)—Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson today reported a new, but not recommended, use for automobile seat belts.

He said the highway patrol in a routine traffic check found a motorist who had put the safety belt around a case of whisky on the front seat to keep it from sliding in case of a quick stop.

But he had neglected to buckle his own safety belt.

Race Talks Halted for Survey

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr. has called a halt to civil rights negotiations here until a white citizens group completes a survey to determine the leadership of Bogalusa's Negro community.

Leaders of the all-Negro Bogalusa Civic and Voters League and the Congress of Racial Equality were expected to protest Cutrer's decision at a morning news conference today.

"CORE and the voters league are a small group of self-styled leaders who do not represent the Negro community," Cutrer told a news conference Tuesday following a 1½-mile march by some 500 persons — most of them Negroes — on City Hall.

"They do not want to negotiate," the mayor said. "They want to demonstrate."

CLAIMS INSULT

Wilfred Ussery of San Francisco, national vice chairman of CORE, called Cutrer's proposal

"an insult to the entire Negro community."

Voters League president A. Z. Young said the proposal would be studied.

Cutrer said the survey was suggested by the Federal Community Relations Service. The mayor quoted CRS director LeRoy Collins as saying accurate determination of local Negro leadership was essential to racial progress.

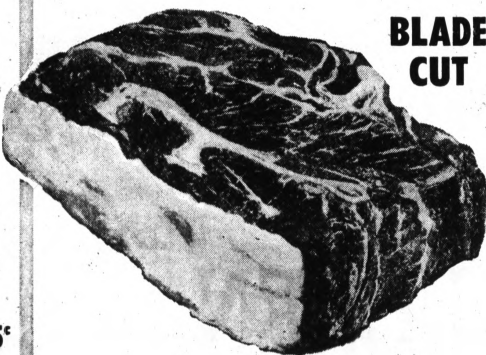

Cutrer said a six-man subcommittee of the 25-man Civic Affairs Committee would ask a broad segment of the Negro population of 9,000, including ministers, teachers and professional people, to fill out forms identifying themselves and saying whom they considered the Negro leaders of Bogalusa.

COMPLETE SURVEY

The survey, Mayor Cutrer said, will be completed next Monday.

SHOULDER BURDEN — When seepage under a dike on Highway 53 in Wisconsin cut off access to truck delivery, young volunteers shouldered the bags for a quarter-mile hike along the dike to deliver them to the trouble spot at La Crosse yesterday.

New Youth 'Program' — Flood Fighting

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — Eugene Fry is directing the most successful youth program of his career. Instead of fun or frolic the lure is backaches and blisters.

The mighty Mississippi River, churning to a record crest at La Crosse, provides the challenge.

Students from as far away as Milwaukee are helping to provide the dike sandbags to meet it.

"There were 600 out today, the most we've had, and in the 18 hours from midnight to 6 o'clock tonight we loaded 51,000 bags," Fry said Tuesday.

MANPOWER COORDINATOR

A former La Crosse State University football player, Fry, 42, is city parks and recreation director. His flood-fighting title is voluntary manpower coordinator.

Sandbags weigh 40 to 45 pounds. At dike points where trucks cannot reach the tote often is a quarter-mile long.

"The girls pitched right in too and some of them surprise you," Fry said. "We had a cute coed from La Crosse State who could toss up a 40-pound sandbag in one hand and grab another sandbag with the other. There were two other girls who loaded 105 sandbags in two hours."

"None of the crew seems to sleep too much and they don't come back too tired," Fry said. "One Milwaukee College student, hearing we needed help, got on a bus at 2 o'clock in the morning and has been working here the last three days."

GRATEFUL RESIDENTS

Overnight accommodations are provided by grateful residents and emergency stations but some just seek out a sheltered place in a park. The food comes from Red Cross and Salvation Army units. Fry said it has been good enough to boost his weight a couple of pounds to 195.

"There are a lot of blisters but we haven't had one accident, that's the wonderful thing," said Fry.

In drier times, Fry would be supervising the opening of city parks and playgrounds. That will have to wait now until May 1.

"I even have the zoo keeper on this thing. If we win it'll be tremendous," said Fry.

Operating Levy OK'd

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP)—A proposed two-mill school operating levy for one year has been approved 345-302 by voters of the Houghton Lake School District. The levy aims primarily at increasing teacher salaries.

Adults Heap Praise on Young Helpers

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — Grown-ups who have been battling angry floods in the Midwest for nearly a month are quick to give credit for the help of schoolchildren.

If the youngsters sometimes seem to get underfoot filling and hauling sandbags it can be laid to eagerness. But officials concede that without their help many a levee couldn't have been raised in time.

Among the thousands of high school and junior high pupils who have enlisted in the fight against the Mississippi River were the children on the job here Tuesday.

Fifteen of nearly 1,300 who had been excused from school for the day were at the spot where sandbags had been placed on top of a cinder block wall behind the Clinton baseball stadium.

WALL COLLAPSED

A section of the wall collapsed without warning, and 15 boys and girls were injured.

Danny Waters, 12, and Barbara Hodges, 16, with leg fractures, and Tim Leonard, 13, with back injuries were hospitalized. The others were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

The Rev. James Coonroy, chaplain at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, said: "The kids were all in the hallway, either sitting on chairs or lying on litters. They were terrific. They were trying to comfort each other and keep their spirits up."

Some of the youngsters were on Easter vacation but not those at Clinton High School. School Supt. R.T. Grau said before the accident that those excused for work on the flood project had to bring written consent from their parents.

Gov. Harold Hughes was in the area conferring with officials on steps taken to hold back the river. He saw schoolchildren at work with their elders. "People are quick to criticize our kids," he said. "Here on the river they have worked longer and harder than some of the adults. They deserve a lot of credit."

In Clinton, all school absences were canceled today. City authorities said there was no further need for student volunteers.

STILL IN STEP — Miss Rosaline Dunn, 10, cuts a figure while skating at the Rockefeller Center outdoor rink in New York City. She says ice skating keeps you young. She was national figure skating waltz champion from 1924-28, partners first with Frederick Gabel and later with Joe Savage.

Threatens Cities With Fund Loss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell wants to shut off federal antipoverty funds to New York, Chicago and Cleveland because he claims those cities are not allowing the poor to help plan projects. The New York Democrat's request, disclosed last night by sources here, was made to the comptroller general's office. He charged that local officials in the three cities were violating the law.

Powell is chairman of a special House Education and Labor subcommittee which is conducting an investigation of the first six months of President Johnson's antipoverty campaign.

The Harlem congressman threatened during hearings earlier this month to go to the comptroller general to block funds. Powell's panel also is considering the administration's request to double the present antipoverty spending authorization to $1.5 billion.

Powell was spending the Easter congressional recess in Puerto Rico and was unavailable for comment on his request to the comptroller general. His office announced today, however, that hearings in the inquiry will continue on April 28 and 29.

Hearings were originally set to resume April 28, with the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as the first witness. But then Powell postponed the hearings without explanation, although it was understood that Dr. King would have been unable to appear.

No witness list for the hearings restarting April 28 was announced.

Last week Powell clashed sharply with New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner and City Council President Paul Screvane over the city's proposed $16-million "community action program."

The Office of Economic Opportunity, federal overseers of anti-poverty activities, has had the New York proposal for about a month. A spokesman said it still was "under study."

Earlier this year, Powell cut off committee action on the President's $1.3-billion school aid bill, also without public explanation. However, after the House acted favorably on the education and labor committee's request for funds to pay its clerical staff, Powell resumed work on the bill and guided it to passage.

Dry Ice Pellets Dropped From Plane in Winter Fogs Can Open Corridor for Airlines

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A commercial airline says there is a way to get through the winter fogs which tie up many airports.

For this you need a small plane with a hole in it and some ground-up dry ice.

When fog stops the airlines, up goes the small plane. Once over the airport, the pilot begins shoving the dry ice pellets through a hole in the side or bottom of the plane.

United Air Lines says that more than 80 per cent of the time a corridor opens in the fog, big enough to allow liners to land and take off. Sometimes the corridor lasts all day.

20 YEARS

It took nearly 20 years to convince United Air Lines officials. Last winter United tried it 74 times at 6 airports and it worked 60 times. Some 5,500 passengers got through, including 2,000 on rival lines.

The procedure has been used at Medford, Ore., for 15 years.

United has used it successfully on a small scale for two winters. The airline thinks it should be extended to at least 12 other airports, including Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

NO RELIEF

It will not work every place. Los Angeles, for example, probably can expect no fog relief. Northern airports will benefit because their fog occurs at colder temperatures.

What makes it work is the dry ice, which is frozen carbon dioxide. It is 110 degrees below zero Fahrenheit when solidified.

United officials say it works best when the fog occurs at

First Foreign Vessel

CHICAGO (AP) — The Prins Mauritz out of Rotterdam tied up in Chicago Tuesday, the first foreign vessel to reach this port in the 1965 navigation season. Her cargo consisted of tulip bulbs, Holland beers and other imports.

temperatures between 24 and 28 degrees. This is called super-cooled fog.

This is what they believe happens:

When dry ice pellets are released, they begin to turn to gas. This takes heat from the air. In this intense cooling, moisture begins to collect into ice particles and to descend. They pick up other particles and eventually turn into a light snow. No fog remains.

GLASS CHAMBER

A General Electric scientist in Massachusetts discovered the effect in a glass chamber in 1946.

Would it work outdoors?

A couple of fliers in Medford, Harvey Brandau and Gene Kooser, decided to find out. They used a chemical spray with some success, and as early as 1950 United contracted with them for experiments.

Another Medford flier, George Milligan took over from Brandau and Kooser and developed what now is the accepted way to disperse fog. He used it for years to clear the path for hospital plane flights at Medford.

OTHER AIRPORTS

United would like to see Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Seattle, Wash., Des Moines, Iowa, Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio, Charleston, W.Va., Sacramento, Calif., Vancouver, B.C., Asheville, N.C., and three other Oregon cities — Salem, Eugene and Pendleton — try it. Other cities, including some in the South, may be included some day. They do not have as much cold fog, but it may be feasible to eliminate what they do have.

Tentative Accord at Two Rubber Firms

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers and two of the rubber industry's big three — Firestone and Goodrich — reached tentative agreements on new contracts early today, a few hours after old contracts expired.

The union and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the third member of the big three, also held a negotiating session that went past the midnight expiration time. The two sides were to resume talks later today.

No work stoppages were reported at the companies' plants across the country. The union's executive committee has strike vote authorization.

A union source in Dayton, Ohio, where the Goodrich talks are being held, estimated the new two-year contract would provide the company's URW workers with a 28-cent hourly wage-benefit package.

SITE OF TALKS

tiations are taking place in Cleveland.

Firestone presented an offer just before midnight, and the union announced a few hours later that it deemed the new terms acceptable as a tentative agreement, subject to signing and write-up. All contracts will have to be ratified by local memberships.

The three companies employ some 51,500 URW members.

Report Dem Cost for Copter Use in '64 Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee paid $2,019.38 for the use of military helicopters by President Johnson during the 1964 presidential campaign.

The Defense Department said this today on response to an inquiry.

Last week, the Pentagon said that the national committee had paid more than $149,000 for the President's use of Air Force planes in the campaign.

Steel Talks at Urgent Stage

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The basic steel industry and the United Steelworkers — reported still far apart — resume contract bargaining today under the pressure of an upcoming union meeting that could produce some decisive action.

Informed sources said the industry rejected Tuesday as too costly a union offer to extend the present contract beyond the May 1 deadline for an 18-cent-an-hour pay hike. The union last week turned down an industry offer of a five-cent hourly raise.

"The disagreement is of such magnitude the parties aren't even in speaking distance of each other," said a source close to the negotiations.

Lending urgency to today's negotiations is a meeting Thursday of the USW's wage policy committee, which has the final word on contract matters. The committee can authorize a strike or an extension of the present pact.

One source said, "my guess is that if there's no change the committee will be given a review and asked to give strike authorization."

The union several times has rejected industry proposals for an extension of the bargaining — suspended for two months because of the union's still unsettled presidential election.

The union is said to want an increase of about 14 cents an hour in wages or benefits plus 4 cents an hour in "catch up" money, which the USW feels steelworkers missed in the last two contracts.

The union demand is based on a 3.2 per cent annual productivity guideline recommended by the President's Council of Economic Advisors, which takes into account all American industries in making its recommendation.

Fewer High School Pupils Take Physics

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Flying directly in the face of the so-called law of supply and demand, the percentage of students taking physics in high school shows a decline.

This decline is taking place while the demand for physicists increases. And never before have the prestige and salaries of physicists been as high as at present!

At the turn of the century, one-fifth of all students enrolled in high school were enrolled in a physics course. At present, only one-twentieth of the students enrolled in high school are enrolled in a physics course.

This downward trend has not been reversed by the introduction of general science in junior high schools. The percentage of students adequately prepared to undertake the study of physics in their junior or senior year in high school continues to decline.

High school counselors recommend physics only to those students who seem to have an unusual talent for the subject. As long as educators blame their failure on the pupils' lack of talent, they will not solve the problem of providing the nation with an adequate number of physicists.

As long as we take the attitude that thinking accurately and understanding completely is an unusual talent about which we can do nothing, no progress will be made.

The thinking skills and study skills necessary for the mastery of problem-solving is not left to chance.

Educators should encourage and, in some cases, even insist that students develop these habits of thought.

The first-grade too often is satisfied with a rather slipshod understanding of what he reads. A wise teacher will insist that he read for precise and complete understanding.

The word problems of arithmetic offer another opportunity for training in this kind of thinking. It is not the problems the pupils solve, but the kind of training they get while solving them that is important.

General science at the junior high level must not be taught as a purely informational subject. It and high school mathematics are ideal courses for the training and development of the thinking and learning skills required for mastery of physics and for chemistry and other problem-solving courses as well.

With so many opportunities all through the first 11 or 12 years of a child's schooling to give him training in precise and complete understanding, it is surprising that so few develop these skills.

Even though a student reaches his senior year in high school unprepared to study physics, it is still not too late. He can learn to consciously control his thinking in such a way as to succeed in studying physics.

It may be starting to him to discover that by giving complete and persistent attention to a principle of physics, it can be thoroughly understood and, once understood, will seem simple.

Here is another father and son discussion started by Oswald.

Oswald: "What do you think of North's bidding?"

Jim: "He used all the delicacy of a bulldozer. I can't criticize him for getting to a slam but for all he knew seven might be there without a finesse and his bidding stopped South from making any move at all. What do you think of West's two spade bid?"

Oswald: "It was a weak jump overall to end all weak jump overcalls and very pointless. His hand was so weak that all his bid could possibly do would be to help the opposition. How do you think North should have bid?"

Jim: "North might have bid the same way except that after South showed one ace North could have bid five no-trump. This bid not only asks for kings but also informs South that North holds the rest of the aces and is interested in seven."

Oswald: "That is a very important feature of Blackwood that many people don't know. You should never follow a Blackwood four no-trump with five no-trump unless you know that your side holds all four aces."

Jim: "Did South make the slam?"

Oswald: "Yes he did. He played out four rounds of trumps and continued by cashing all his aces and kings. Then he led a club and East was end played. He had to lead a club or a diamond, which gave declarer a ruff and discard. It was well for him that he threw East in. If he had thrown West in with a spade West would have been able to give his partner a club trick."

To Arraign Girl in Auto Death

A 17-year-old Waterford Township girl faces arraignment in circuit court next Wednesday on a negligent homicide charge stemming from a March 28 auto accident in Waterford Township.

Lora G. Maguire of 4496 Meigs was bound over to the higher court yesterday after an examination on the charge before Waterford Township Justice John E. McGrath. She is free on $1,000 personal bond.

Miss Maguire's car struck and killed Gail Marchand, 11, of 6455 Adamson, Waterford Township, when it went out of control while rounding a curve. The car also hit the girl's brother, Joseph, 10, who was hospitalized with a head injury.

Say Hundreds Give to Hubbard Defense

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI)—Nearly 1,200 persons in this predominantly white industrial city have clipped in nickles, dimes and dollars to defend Mayor Orville Hubbard in a civil rights case.

Hubbard, along with Police Chief Garrison Clayton and Safety Director George W. Lewis, are awaiting trial on charges of conspiring to withhold police protection to a man whose house was attacked by a mob in a racial demonstration on Labor Day, 1963.

A mob stoned the home of Giuseppe Stanzione because they thought he had rented or sold it to a Negro.

A spokesman for Hubbard said contributions for Hubbard's defense fund have come in ranging from small change to hundred-dollar bills and checks. There was no estimate of the total contributions.

"I'm very appreciative of the attention of these people to dip into their pockets and help out," Hubbard said. The mayor has an annual salary of $17,500.

WEEK LATER

Hubbard was indicted Feb. 9, but it was not until one week later and a five-day search by federal marshals to bring him into court that he appeared for arraignment.

The fiery mayor said he was on a cultural visit to New England when a bench warrant was issued for his "summary arrest."

Dearborn, the home of the Ford Motor Co., has a population of 112,000. A 1960 census showed there were only 15 Negroes living in the city.

Alex Plich, Hubbard's press secretary who also heads up the city's public information bureau, said most of the money for the defense fund was accompanied by a letter supporting the mayor.

"THEIR FIGHT"

"They say this fight is our fight, too," and the "federal charges against the mayor are unjustified," he said.

He said the contributions were spontaneous.

Hubbard, 61, has had a colorful career during his 23-years in office, including once setting up a government in exile across the border from Detroit in Windsor, Ont.

Several months ago he was involved in a scrape with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission over what were called racially derogatory newspaper and magazine clippings posted on a bulletin board outside his office. The commission ordered him to take the clippings down or face contempt of court action.

Man Hospitalized Following Collision

Frank Stormer, 40, 758 Tyrone, was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for observation yesterday following an auto accident at Woodward and South Boulevard.

Stormer's car, which was westbound on South Boulevard, collided with a vehicle driven by Ernest R. Wilder, 53, of 401 S. Jessie.

Wilder, who was driving south on Woodward, was treated at the hospital and released.

Pleads Guilty in Auto Death

A 51-year-old Holly man pleaded guilty yesterday to manslaughter in a fatal traffic accident in Holly Township on Feb. 6.

Wilbur J. Niles, 306 LeGrande, entered the plea at his arraignment before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem. Niles will be sentenced May 11.

He was charged with the death of Mrs. Waldo Ramsdell, 52, of 254 Draper, in a head-on crash on Grange Hall.

Niles and Mrs. Ramsdell's husband were hospitalized after the accident.

Boyle's 'Foybles' — Secretaries With Big Bosoms Put Up a Good Front

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: It may be true that women with small bosoms generally have a higher I.Q., as Dr. Erwin O. Strassmann of Houston, Tex., reported in a medical journal. But typists with large bosoms must be better spellers. Why else would so many business executives prefer to hire them?

Most shoplifters are lazy, selfish women. The articles they purloin are for themselves or items they can convert into cash. They rarely steal things for their children or to give to their boyfriends.
Our nut-huggers cling to the tradition that baseball is still the national pastime. Actually, the game today probably bores more people than it pleases. The only thing about professional baseball that remains intact is the flavor of the mustard they put on the hot dogs.

World's Fair Opens Final Season Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York World's Fair opens its second and final season today with a fireworks display, a big parade and ceremonial speeches by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and West German Mayor Willy Brandt.
After six months in cold storage, the billion-dollar exposition blossoms forth with some 30,000 employees manning the 168 pavilions.

Fair skies and moderate temperatures were predicted. Last year's opening, when a disappointing crowd of 89,137 showed up, was marred by a chill rain and arrests of more than 300 civil rights demonstrators.
PREDICTION
Robert Moses, the fair's president, predicts 37.5 million persons will pay to see the fair in its final 180 days. In 1964, when 40 million were expected, the attendance was 27 million and losses mounted to $17.5 million. Operating costs have been cut and the admission price raised 50 cents to $2.50 for adults. Children still are admitted for $1.

First on line at the main gate was Gary Schuster, 17, of Orangeburg, N.Y., who had been camped there with a sleeping bag since Monday morning.

Fluorides, which harden tooth enamel, are believed to have a pain relieving effect on a destructive bone disease of old age called osteoporosis.

A natural inventor has less need of formal education than most people. College is as likely to curb or destroy his peculiar initiative as it is to help it.
A good safecracker usually is a more interesting conversationalist than the presidents of the banks he robs.
If I ever had to dwell elsewhere than in Manhattan, the thing I'd miss most would not be skyscrapers but the sight of old ladies leaning pump arms on pillows as they look out at life from tenement windows. They know more about what's going on in the neighborhood than the cop on the beat.

AT THEIR BEST
A woman always feels best after buying a new hat, a man after getting a haircut.
Fashion models never order anything so crass as corn on the cob in a restaurant. They feel it would destroy their image of daintiness, fastidiousness. But many of them are binge eaters, and in the privacy of their apartments cook meals for themselves that would fatten a longshoreman or give insomnia to an ananaco.

Modern novels are so naughty nowadays that about the only place left where a fellow can still find decent fiction is on the tombstones of old-fashioned cemeteries.

Blonde cigarette girls in a nightclub get bigger tips than brunettes, but a freckle-faced, red-haired girl will do better than either.

The equal rights movement in America will never be a triumph until some comedian's mother-in-law is given a television program on which she can tell jokes about her dumb son-in-law.

It's a safe bet that any woman who describes something as "yummy" is at least 10 years older than she pretends to be. Even teen-agers dropped that word long ago.

You can't help feeling sorry for the husband who takes you into the kitchen to brag about the new automatic dishwasher his wife bought him for his birthday.

Table Tennis Tourney Has Reds in Hiding

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP) — Among the 500 players here for the 28th World Table Tennis Championships, the Red Chinese live a unique and mysterious life.

The Chinese took both men's and women's world team titles Monday, and are favored to make a large haul in the singles and doubles starting today.

They have no contacts with the other players except on the floor of the Sports Hall — when there is a tennis table between them. The only direct contact with others is when they shake hands with the referees.

Wherever the players go they are escorted by team "officials."

While players from other nations took up residence in the various public hotels and rooming houses, the Chinese took pains to shut themselves off.

When they first arrived before the championships started April 15 they moved into a schoolhouse in a village outside town. But they didn't like the floors there for practicing.

DOORS GUARDED

They ended up at a private building on the outskirts of Ljubljana, far from the crowds and always with several Chinese stationed at the door.

The players are not available for interviews. Team officials, always with a polite smile, tell newsmen to submit all questions in writing. Up to now, not a single reply has been sighted.

The Chinese, say the Yugoslavs, are trying to keep their players "uncontaminated." The Chinese have even brought their own food, but they have made at least one concession — they use Yugoslav water to cook their tea.

Country Day Hosts Meet

One of the most ambitious invitational track meets in Oakland County history will be run Saturday in Birmingham at Detroit Country Day School's new oval on 13 Mile Road.

Some 160 competitors from 16 schools in a six-state area will vie for the team trophy, relay event trophies and individual medals.

The meet has been developed by Country Day officials to help celebrate the school's Golden Anniversary season. The officials expect to make the event an annual affair.

In addition to the host Yellow Jackets, Grosse Pointe University School and Leelanau School are state teams entered in the competition.

OTHER TEAMS

Others entered range from Milwaukee (Wis.) University School, to Elgin (Ill.) Academy, to Park School (Indianapolis, Ind.) to Cincinnati (Ohio) Country Day School, to Lakemont Academy (Seneca Lake, N.Y.). Most of the teams will arrive Friday and be boarded by the Birmingham school through Sunday morning.

The preliminaries for the 13 events will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. Finals are scheduled to start at 1 p.m. Dick Pearson will be the official starter and referee for the meet.

The director is John Hammett, Country Day's athletic director, who is being assisted by school track coach George Browne.

Expect Good Trout Start Saturday

Above average catches are expected on Oakland County waters when the regular trout season gets under way Saturday.

The weather, of course, will play in key role. Rain will put a damper on activity, but the fish should be co-operative. A clear day will bring out the anglers in force.

The Conservation Department gave the county's 35 known trout bearing lakes a fresh stocking last winter. The area's trout streams, and ponds also were planted with legal fish this spring.

A large number of sub-legal rainbows and browns were stocked last fall in all waters. These fish are expected to be the legal seven inches or more come opening day.

An exception to the seven-inch minimum will be the county's special trout ponds — Fenton 1 and 2, Bald Mountain, Davisburg and Pettibone — where artificial flies are the only legal lures.

The size limit has been boosted to 12 inches. It formerly was 10. The creel limit remains at two per day on these special waters and the fishing hours have been changed to 5 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Five trout in any combination is the daily limit on lakes. Ten trout may be taken on streams. A trout stamp is needed.

HEAVY PRESSURE

Fishing pressure is expected to be heaviest on Orchard, Elizabeth, Maceday, Deer and Oxbow lakes. The special trout ponds will be crowded as usual, and so will the Huron River below Proud Lake, Kearsley Creek near Ortonville and the Clinton River above Cass Lake.

Point Creek, along an opening weekend favorite, probably will not have as many fishermen because the catch has been down in recent years. Department plantings were light on this stream because the water quality has been poor.

Two new lakes have been added to the county's trout waters. And these are true trout lakes — even in name.

Upper and Lower trout lakes in the Bald Mountain recreation area will open for fishing Saturday. These are located south of Greenshield Road between Bald Mountain and Kern roads.

The special flies only trout pond is off Kern, north of Greenshield.

NO MOTORS

Boats can be used on the two Trout lakes, but there can be no motors. The lakes were formed by two dams along Trout Creek.

Streams will be slightly above normal. Unless it rains Friday or Saturday, the water should be clear.

The late spring could present some problems to lake fishermen. Trout may not be where they were found on opening days in the past.

Water temperature is a major factor and both lakes and streams are colder than normal.

Bill Perriard, veteran Pine Lake skin diver, reports the rainbows on Pine are in 18 to 22 feet of water and in eight to 12 feet on Square.

Generally, rainbows are found in shallow water opening weekend.

Nightcrawlers will be the favored bait on lakes and streams. Fly fishermen will try to get in some good catches using wet flies, streamers and nymphs on lakes.

A small wobbling spoon trolled behind a slow moving boat is another good producer. So is corn.

Best bets for opening day are the Huron River, Hartwig, Pine, Elizabeth, Oxbow, Union, Cedar Island and Cemetery lakes.

Following is a list of lakes and streams containing trout in Oakland and Lapeer counties.

OAKLAND COUNTY LAKES
Alderman, Cedar Island, Cemetery, Chamberlain, Crofted, Deer, Elizabeth, Graham, Hartwig, Horseshoe, Maceday, Orchard, Oxbow, Pine, Reed, Schoolhouse, Shaw, Little Algon, Little Silver, Square, Sugden, Upper and Lower Trout, and Union were stocked in 1964.
Other lakes containing rainbows are Cass, Worman, Mohawks, Lotus, Upper Silver, Silver, Ligon, Cooley, Commerce, Storey, Green, Greens, Cass also contain splake and lake trout. Maceday and Lotus have lake trout. Browns are in Little Algon.

Hollywood Success: Busboy to Restaurant Owner

By JAMES BACON
AP Writer-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Jean Leon, a personable young fellow from Bayonne, France, is what this town calls a terrific success story.

In a decade, he has progressed from busboy to the owner of one of the movie colony's favorite hangouts.

And to make a French Horatio Alger dream come true, he now owns a castle in Spain — with its own vineyards.

Jean came to the United States in 1951 and immediately was drafted into the Army where he served a two-year hitch as a secretary to a psychiatrist — good training for running a movie star restaurant.

He started in the restaurant business as a busboy at the Villa Capri where he became a favorite of Frank Sinatra, Natalie Wood, Jackie Gleason and others who frequented the Italian restaurant. A busboy by day, Jean drove a cab at night.

Patsy D'Amore, owner of the Villa Capri, promoted Jean to waiter, then captain. His Gallic charm and friendliness soon won him a host of friends in the movie crowd.

In 1957, he had no trouble borrowing money to open La Scala in a Beverly Hills location where seven other restaurants had gone broke in 11 years.

"Our first-day receipts were $85," Jean recalls. Now La Scala and its subsidiary, La Scala Boutique, gross a million a year.

Arthur Loew Jr., scion of the theatrical family, was his first name customer — and he has been there almost nightly since. Sinatra, David Janssen, Danny Thomas, and every big name town started making La Scala their home away from home.

INTERNATIONAL FAME

A few years ago, Leon gained international fame when the late President John F. Kennedy, on visits to this area, always had Jean and his chefs prepare his meals.

"Only in America," sighs Jean, recalling his friendship with the young president.

In July 1963, Jean purchased a 500-year-old vineyard of more than 320 acres, along with a 30-room castle at Plat de Panades, Spain, near Barcelona.

He spent two months there last summer to supervise the harvesting of the grapes from which he expects to produce a half million bottles of wine.

LABEL ON WINE

The wine will bear the label Chateau Leon.

Patsy D'Amore is not the least bit surprised at Jean's success.

"Even when he was a busboy," recalls Patsy, "he took pride in his work and always smiled at the customers. That's why I promoted him."

Leon's secret of success: "Food alone does not make a successful restaurant. It takes good food plus the ability to make a guest welcome."

Another secret: "Don't enlarge. Never get too big for the personal touch."

Old Films a Hit

'Bogey' Fad in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The "Bogey mystique" is spreading.

The mystique, a combination of hysteria and adulation brought on by the old Hollywood films of the late Humphrey Bogart, has long been a substitute for spring fever in the Ivy League.

The fad is now a fixture at the University of Chicago, where tastes often run to Aristotle.

Hundreds of students crammed into a social science lecture hall Tuesday night to cheer, whistle and roar as Bogart clutched his toothy or lit a cigarette in the 1947 movie, "Dark Passage," also starring Lauren Bacall and Agnes Moorehead.

The movie was sponsored by Doc Films, a campus group.

EXPLAINS FAD

Rick Thompson, 20, director of the group, explains the new Chicago fad this way:

"He represents the little guy, the guy versus the institution — the man who doesn't knuckle under to police or society or whatever organized force he's up against.

"So many students here anyway are neurotic. They're crazy about the forces they can't control."

"He's all blood and guts," sighed Sandra Sciacchitano, 24, a graduate student in political science. "But he kids the parts he plays and therefore you can laugh at him."

NOTICES TREND

"I think there's a tendency to read too much into the movies," she added.

Bernard Munk, 26, who teaches economics at the University of Illinois, thinks Bogart "is so enormously cool."

"It's this kind of very honesty that wins out," Munk said. "It's the only way a guy can win out these days."

Bigamy Trial Faced by Sophia Loren

ROME (AP) — Actress Sophia Loren and movie producer Carlo Ponti were ordered today to stand trial in a Rome court July 6 on bigamy charges.

They were originally charged in June 1962, but no trial date was set pending the outcome of other legal action on their tangled marriage case.

Ponti, who was married previously, was charged with bigamy. Miss Loren, not previously married, was charged with complicity in bigamy.

Find No Motive in Strangling of Four Children

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Police said today they have been unable to determine a reason for the strangling yesterday of the four children of a woman whose husband was away much of the time on business trips.

The mother, Mrs. Deanna Hanbey 28, was in Memorial Hospital with her wrists a and heels slashed.

Police said she begged a hospital aide to "let her die." She was placed under constant guard.

Police Capt. Floyd Zellers said it was murder and a attempted suicide.

Neighbors said Mrs. Hanbey was friendly and that they knew of no family trouble.

Pipe Crushes Worker

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — L. G. Vincent, 35, of Coopersville, a yard worker for a suburban Wyoming construction pipe firm, was killed Tuesday when a 10-in. section of water intake pipe crushed him in an operation of stockpiling sections.

THE EYES HAVE IT — Douglas Howard, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Howard of 124 W. New York, tries out his new glasses on a best-seller, Douglas, who is near-sighted, now has no trouble scouting about the house in his walker, spotting obstacles well in advance.

Budget Director to Resign; Ex-Aide Named Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kermit Gordon, director of the Bureau of the Budget since December 1962, is resigning about June 1 to become vice president of the Brookings Institution, a private research center.

He will be succeeded by Charles L. Schultze, who quit less than 10 weeks ago as assistant budget director and was told by President Johnson: "I hope that I may call on you for help in the future because we have much unfinished business to see to."

The shift was announced yesterday by the White House.

Gordon, 48, a former Rhodes Scholar and economics professor, first came to Washington in 1961 as a member of President John F. Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers.

Schultze, 40, left the government Feb. 12 to resume his teaching career as a professor of economics at the University of Maryland.

Scrap Yard President Testifies

The Sam Allen & Sons, Inc., scrap yard trial entered its third day yesterday with the firm's president, Harold Allen, taking the stand.

He traced the development of the company at 22 Congress and explained that basic operation has been the same over the years but that improvements have been made.

The firm was taken to court by the City of Pontiac and 15 residents who claim it is a nuisance and is in violation of zoning because it expanded its nonconforming operation.

Allen testified that he was told by city officials to apply for rezoning of the property, but that authorities have taken no action.

The major issue in the court fight is over the operation of a scrap baler, which cuts and rolls loose metal into a solid state for transportation.

ONLY MACHINE
According to Allen, it is the only machine of its kind in Oakland County.

He said he has never felt any effects from vapor or smoke, nor has he experienced any vibrations, which complainants testified about earlier in the trial.

'Soviets Interfered With Berlin Radar'

BERLIN (UPI) — The Russians have endangered Western allied aircraft in the Berlin air lanes by dropping chaff designed to interfere with radar, a Western spokesman said today.

The Soviet harassment of Berlin's vital air traffic took place Monday and the Western allies protested it that night, a Western allied spokesman said.

The chaff — metal strips that "jam" radar — floated across the three 20-mile wide air corridors above East Germany that connect the isolated city with the West.

Infiltration of S. Viet on Rise — McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, returning today from a strategy meeting in Hawaii, said infiltration of men and arms from the North into South Viet Nam has increased "at a high rate" in recent months.

Thus the secretary, in a plane side exchange, provided background information on the statement he made to newsmen last night in Honolulu that American air and sea action against North Viet Nam will be stepped up.

He made that forecast at the close of two days of conferences with top military leaders from Saigon and Washington.

In answer to a question about reasons for such stepped-up action, McNamara said: "We sometimes fail to understand the importance of the action in South Viet Nam."

Asked about the Red Chinese threat to send troops into Viet Nam, McNamara replied: "I don't want to forecast action on Red China's part."

See Stories, Pages A-7, A-12, B-10

To another question about the threat of Soviet anti-aircraft missiles in North Viet Nam, McNamara said he thinks "we should anticipate that eventually" but there is no information yet that the missiles are on the site.

RECENT ENGAGEMENT

McNamara said that in a recent engagement with two Viet Cong units, 90 per cent of small arms captured and 100 per cent of larger weapons were of Chinese or Communist-bloc manufacture.

In the Hawaii conference, McNamara said, the discussion (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

'Must Rid Viet of Imperialism'

Peking Attacks LBJ Talk on Guarantees

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the republic of South Viet Nam must be destroyed as a "product of U.S. imperialism" so that all Viet Nam can be reunified.

"There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question," said the Chinese Communist party paper, the Peking People's Daily.

Attacking President Johnson's April 17 statement that the United States insists that the independence of South Viet Nam be guaranteed, Peking said:

"The very purpose for which the South Vietnamese people are fighting at great sacrifice to themselves is to destroy completely this so-called 'independent country,' a product of U.S. imperialism, and to realize the reunification and complete liberation of their fatherland."

"So long as this so-called 'independent country' created by the U.S. exists, there can be no complete reunification nor a completely independent country for the Vietnamese people themselves."

'MILITARY BASE'

The People's Daily charged that the United States "has gradually turned South Viet Nam into its colony and military base and has clamped a most brutal fascist rule on the region."

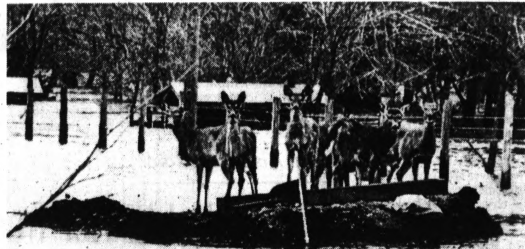

The paper said Johnson's statement "amounts to a declaration that the aim of the U.S. aggression in South Viet Nam is unalterable and that the U.S. is determined to hang on in South Viet Nam and carry on its war of aggression against Viet Nam."

By DON PEMBER
De facto segregation and the neighborhood school concept soon will be one of the major fronts in the continuing civil rights battle.

The outcome of this fight could result in school districts busing students out of their living area to create racially balanced schools within the educational systems.

Pontiac teachers recently heard a Harvard social-psychologist explain the problems caused by de facto segregation.

The speech was a climax to an in-service training program undertaken by the school district.

FLOOD SURROUNDS DEER — Deer at the Winona, Minn., Deer Farm huddle together on a small piece of high ground as they are surrounded by floodwaters of the Mississippi River. Feed is taken to them daily by boat.

River May Have Crested at Stricken Wisconsin City

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — The rampaging Mississippi River apparently has crested at 17.7 feet here but the city was prepared to continue its struggle to hold back the water which now is 5.7 feet above flood stage.

Weatherman Carl Peterson said today "I think the river has crested at three-tenths of a foot under the mark we expected."

Peterson said that the crest of 17.7 feet was reached at 5 p.m. yesterday and had held at that mark for 14 hours, with the reading still at 17.7 feet at 7 a.m. today.

After 48 hours of frenzied labor on the dikes, flood fighters had won a standoff.

CLAIMED VICTORIES

The river already had claimed some victories. Water raged the city's north side and had swept over two of three runways at the municipal airport on French Island. Phone service was cut to both locations.

A guard remained posted at a 15-million-gallon gasoline tank farm where one tank, holding 107,000 gallons, was tipped at a 10-degree angle when a dike crumbled Monday.

Water swirled eight feet deep around the self-sealing tanks and the potential fire danger added to the city's uneasiness.

MILE-LONG DIKE

The five-foot-high dike is part of a mile-long dike officials hope will prevent major flood damage.

The wall buckled under the weight of sandbags piled on top and the pressure of sand dumped against one side.

The rising waters still were some distance from the break, and flood fighters immediately began to plug the hole.

At Marquette, Iowa, the river reached 23 feet yesterday on the way to a crest of 24.5 feet expected Friday.

NOBODY'S LAUGHING

Mrs. Delbert Jenkins of Marquette said the tavern operated by her police chief husband had closed. The Riverview tavern normally rings with laughter, but Mrs. Jenkins said, "Nobody's laughing now."

Warren directed his remarks toward de jure segregation. His statement was supported by volumes of scientific research.

Believe Agent Acting in Slaying's Car When Detroit Woman Shot

NEW YORK (AP)—Gary T. Rowe, one of the four men originally arrested by federal officers in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo in Alabama, has emerged as an undercover agent for the FBI, the New York Times said today.

The Times said in a dispatch from Hayneville that although the details of Rowe's story are now known, the circumstances indicate he was in the assailants' car when Mrs. Liuzzo was killed, but could not prevent the shooting.

Rowe, 34, of Birmingham testified yesterday at Hayneville, Ala., before the Lowndes County grand jury investigating the fatal shooting of Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, Detroit mother of five.

The government later dropped charges against Rowe and he was freed.

Mrs. Liuzzo was slain in a car shortly after she participated in the March 25 Selma to Montgomery civil rights march.

The three other men taken into custody the same day Rowe was arrested—March 26—have been indicted in Montgomery on federal charges of conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of demonstrators.

KLAN MEMBERS

President Johnson, in announcing their arrests, described them as members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Times said that after Rowe left the courthouse at Hayneville in an auto under FBI guard yesterday, that he has been a paid informant of the FBI for the past six years.

An FBI agent was with Rowe when he slipped into the jury room through a side door of the courthouse and later escorted him out a back door. A number of other agents were in the area.

Another who testified before the grand jury yesterday was Leroy Moton, 19, a Selma Negro who was with Mrs. Liuzzo when she was killed.

Officials, Fans Set for Tigers' Home Opener

DETROIT — With the hope of sunshine by midafternoon, the battery of Gov. George Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh was in the "bullpen" at noon today ready to get the Detroit Tigers started in their 1965 home opener.

A Dixieland band, honor guard, other public officials and Charley O, the 1,300-pound mule mascot of the Kansas City Athletics, were also on hand for the pregame ceremonies.

With the call to "play ball" by the head umpire at 1:30 p.m., the starting assignments went to left-handers Hank Aguirre of the Athletics and John O'Donoghue of the Athletics. Both pitchers have 14-0 records.

A crowd of 25,000 in the stands for the pregame ceremonies was expected to be in excess of 35,000 by game time. The outfield grass at Tiger Stadium was wet and slick after the cold morning rain but the infield, covered by the heavy canvas, was in good condition.

What is de facto segregation? In reference to schools it is simply segregation which occurs because of racial unbalance in neighborhoods.

De facto segregation is in contrast to de jure segregation — or segregation which is caused by sending all white students to one school and all Negro to another, with no regard to where the students live.

De facto segregation is generated by a racially sectioned housing pattern within a school district.

When this sectioning occurs, Negro children will go to the schools in their own section, the white children attend the schools in their district.

Includes Charges to Suburbs and Pontiac

Detroit has instituted a study of its water rates, including those charged Pontiac and other suburban users, it was announced today.

General Manager Gerald J. Remus of Detroit Water Supply said Black & Veatch, Kansas City-based consulting engineers, would make an independent survey of Detroit water rates.

The review of rates adopted in 1959 is expected to take one year.

Pontiac City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the city could absorb a modest increase in Detroit water rates without hiking water charges to Pontiac consumers.

Warren said the city was paying Detroit about $90,000 per month for water, although final figures have not yet been calculated for the first full year of Detroit water.

CITY'S PAYMENT

He added that charges to local residents cover not only the city's payment to Detroit, but also the cost of bonds used to build new facilities here.

Detroit charges Pontiac $1.39 per 1,000 cubic feet of water. The contract provides for a periodic review of the rate.

In announcing the rate study, Remus said the review is to determine if Detroit's rates are still fair and equitable and sufficient to finance future improvements.

However, he noted that the review would be made in light of a 1949 Michigan Supreme Court decision.

The court ruled that Detroit "could not charge adjacent municipalities a rate sufficient to pay part of the cost of furnishing service to its own residents."

Planes Blast N. Viet Trucks at Night

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy planes struck tonight the night at Communist truck convoys in North Viet Nam. One plane was lost. Results of the strikes were not known.

Other U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes flew a number of missions against suspected Viet Cong concentrations inside

South Viet Nam. Some of the heaviest strikes were in Quang Tin Province where Vietnamese forces were mauled Sunday and Monday by Viet Cong guerrillas. Two A4 Skyhawks from the 7th Fleet carrier Hancock prowled Highway 1 north from the north-south border early today. They made passes at two trucks south of Dong Hoi, firing 20mm cannon. The pilots said they were unable to assess the damage, if any.

About an hour later, four more Skyhawks flew the same route and reported sighting more trucks, closer to the border. They strafed the vehicles with rockets and cannon fire and reported seeing a bright flash after one pass, possibly caused by a secondary explosion.

RETURN SAFELY

All of these planes returned safely to the Hancock. They reported light, sporadic anti-aircraft fire at several places.

Five A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Midway were the first group of raiders out after dark Tuesday night. Supported by five F4 Phantom jets and F3 Crusaders, the Skyhawks struck at a truck convoy about 120 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

One of the planes was downed and the pilot was listed as missing.

A Navy spokesman said the Skyhawks carried out what is officially known as an armed route reconnaissance along Highway 12, north of the city of Vinh to the 20th Parallel. Vinh is near the Gulf of Tonkin coast.

HEAVY FIRE

The spokesman said the planes were over the target area from 9 to 10 p.m. and that they encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire over some sections. No enemy planes were sighted.

Spotting a truck convoy five miles north of Cum Lam, the planes made strafing passes, firing 5-inch "Zuni" rockets.

A propeller-driven A1 Skyraider was downed and its pilot killed in the first strike of the day Tuesday, a pre-dawn raid which smashed another truck convoy on Highway 1 just north of the border with South Viet Nam.

U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes hit at road and bridge targets throughout the day. One of the strikes loosened a large landslide across Highway 1 about 140 miles south of Hanoi.

North Viet Nam claimed it downed eight U.S. aircraft Tuesday.

McNamara said the basis for greater use of the American Navy is the use of sea routes by North Viet Nam to infiltrate men and equipment.

Specifically, he said more helicopter and close air support is required. He would not say whether more American combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

First, the board wants the name of the authority changed — preferably to include the word, Oakland.

The board also wants a clause in the contract whereby Independence Township could withdraw from membership at any time.

Independence Township Clerk Howard Altman, who has been urging the board to join the authority, said he anticipates no problems in meeting the two requirements set by the board.

OFFICIALS TO CONFER

Altman said that township officials would confer with Independence Township Attorney Paul Mandel and Oliver Kribbs, supervisor of Vienna Township in Genesee County and president of the authority, to resolve these two issues.

The utilities authority was organized last year by 11 Genesee County townships interested in developing a water system which would loop Flint and serve the outlying communities, including some in Oakland County.

An opposition group, the North Oakland Water Authority, was formed to halt the move.

It suggested developing Oakland County water sources for Oakland County residents.

Say 3 Bribed in Dope Case

Narcotics Agent and 2 Policemen Charged

MIAMI, Fla., (AP) — The chief federal narcotics agent in Miami and two of the city's police vice squad officers have been charged with accepting a bribe from a dope peddler who complained he was paying $2,000 a month in protection money.

The arrests were made Tuesday by city police and a team of Federal Narcotics Bureau agents at the home of an admitted narcotics operator after the trio was said to have accepted $130 in marked money.

The three were charged with accepting a bribe, a felony under Florida law, and released on their personal bond. They are Eugene J. Marshall, 38, head of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau for southeastern Florida, police Sgt. Frank Fountain, 39, second in command of the city's vice squad, and his assistant, Roosevelt Tremble, 34, a plainclothes detective.

Police Chief Walter Headley said the arrests climaxed a week of investigation. It started when the dope peddler complained to police about the protection money he said he was forced to pay.

WANTED TO QUIT

Headley quoted the informer as saying he wanted "to quit, but they wouldn't let me."

The police chief declined to disclose the informer's name or details of the investigation, saying they would come out in court.

A source close to the investigation said the informer was a known dope peddler — doing around a $100,000 per month business mainly in the Cuban and Negro districts of Miami and had an extensive police record.

The source said the informer went to the police department's internal security squad last Tuesday and told his story.

ARRESTS MADE

The subsequent investigation led to the arrests at the informer's home by federal narcotics agents and police officers unknown to the trio.

Marshall, a career officer in the Federal Narcotics Bureau came to Miami in 1958 when it was a one-man office. When Fidel Castro took over Cuba and refugees started pouring into Miami, the office was expanded and Marshall was put in charge.

Queen Observes 39th Birthday With Her Family

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II celebrated her 39th birthday today in the privacy of Windsor Castle with her family.

Public celebration of the birthday will come in June, when London's weather is more dependable for the ceremonial trooping of the colors. But flags flew from public buildings in the capital and royal salutes were fired at the Tower of London and in Hyde Park today.

The queen treated the newspaper public to a rare show for her birthday.

Proposed by City Manager Warren, the changes would include:

- Appointment of a deputy city clerk.
- Tighter enforcement on city licenses and permits.

TO ASSIGN POLICE

The latter change would include, it's suggested, assignment of policemen part-time to an enforcement program on city licenses.

City Commissioners have expressed concern that the city had no real effective means of policing expired city permits and licenses.

Likewise, there is no one designated to assume Mrs. Barkley's duties in the event of her absence.

Other changes also may be due at City Hall. The commission, after meeting with Mrs. Barkley and Warren in private session, was slated to hold similar talks with finance director Marvin W. Alward.

DIDN'T KNOW

Asked what the meeting was about, Alward said that he did not know.

However, it would appear that Alward's office may also be scheduled for some administrative changes.

de facto segregation is lost on the young Negro students."

Consequently, damage is still incurred by the segregated children.

Supporting this the social-psychologist cited several areas in which research had been done. In the area of learning and retention Pettigrew said that research has proved that retention diminishes when salient environmental characteristics change.

CANT PERFORM

If a Negro is taught in a segregated school, and then is integrated into a function in an integrated world, he will not be able to perform at the standard he maintained in school.

The environmental characteristic is considered a salient factor. "The learning situation must resemble the later work situation," Pettigrew said.

The expectation of the general society creates a dual standard in unbalanced schools, Pettigrew said, citing more research.

"If the Negro is convinced that the race difference is a fixed difference he will strive only to meet the psychological expectations of his own standards," he said.

MESSAGE CONFLICTS

Pettigrew added that through the media, the Negro is given a conflicting message.

On one hand he is told that success in life depends only on ability; on the other he is told he must learn to know his place in life.

"Which message should the student believe?" Pettigrew asked.

Testing has shown, he said, that Negro children who attend balanced schools are generally more active in extra-curricular activities and perform higher on ability tests, such as verbal comprehension.

ACTION NEEDED

The social-psychologist said the schools will have to initiate action in the area of correcting de facto segregation.

The "housing barrier" which the Negro faces, and which is the cause of the de facto segregation, will be the last barrier broken down in the civil rights struggle, he said.

In laying down ground rules for biracial schools Pettigrew listed these factors:

- A balanced school should have about 20-45 per cent Negro enrollment.
- Biracial schools should have biracial teaching staffs — and administrators.
- Racial balance should be given in kindergarten or in pre-school centers.
- Staff members at biracial schools need special training — such as the program Pontiac has been conducting.

Pettigrew said that the day to day contact in schools between children can have a much greater effect on reducing prejudice than contacts outside of schools.

In school, he said, the children are on an equal status level and have common goals. They are not competing on a racial level and their contact is sanctioned.

These factors all play an important part in increasing the influence of the contact, Pettigrew said.

QUESTION AVOIDED

Although the U.S. Supreme Court has avoided the question of de facto segregation, Pettigrew said he believed the court would soon take a stand.

He also said he thought the lower federal court decisions which have not prohibited de facto segregation might be overturned in the near future.

"Balanced schools are not a panacea for the civil rights problems in this country, but they offer the best hope and are an essential first step," Pettigrew said.

EDUCATION, MENTAL HEALTH

Denzel said any revenue increase could better be used in such areas as education and mental health.

He added that he did not think the bridge toll should be entirely removed.

Traxler said the toll probably could be lowered this year — perhaps by the amount of interest which would be saved by replacing revenue bonds with a general obligation issue.

Viet Elephants Shot At by GIs

Believed Carriers for
Cong Guns, Supplies

SAIGON (UPI) — American Marines tried at least once—and failed—to halt pack trains of elephants believed hauling artillery and supplies for the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Well-informed sources said the incident occurred a little more than a month ago when a Marine gunner spotted an elephant pack train moving beneath the canopy of jungle-covered mountains northwest of the Marine-protected bomber and missile base at Da Nang.

U. S. Marine Corps H94 helicopters pumped more than a thousand rounds of armor-piercing 7.62mm ammunition into the pack train being led through the jungle by khaki-clad attendants but apparently to no avail.

The Marines suspected that the elephants were being used by the Communists to haul artillery. There have been recurring reports that the Communist North Vietnamese have begun infiltrating long-range mountain or pack howitzers into the South to aid the Viet Cong guerrillas.

When the Marines first spotted the pack train, they were more than mildly curious, because elephants are not normally found as far north as Da Nang.

CLOSER LOOK

However, lower for a closer look, the Marines saw the uniformed attendants scurry into the jungle.

One of the helicopter Marines reported that the men wore uniforms resembling those of the Communist Chinese army.

When the pack train attendants fled into the jungle, the Marines decided this was enough evidence that they were either Viet Cong, or allies of the Communists.

The sources said the Marines then strafed the pack train with their M60 machine guns, but failed to down any of the heavily laden beasts.

RETAINS SHAPE

The reason, they said, was that the guns were loaded with armor-piercing ammunition, which retains its pointed shape, even when it strikes hardened steel.

American forces in South Viet Nam use this type of ammunition, instead of the softer, conventional type because it does not maim the victim.

Ordinary ammunition mushrooms when it strikes even human flesh, tearing gaping holes in the person hit.

But because the Marines were using armor-piercing ammunition, it passed right through the elephants' "like BB's through butter," according to one source.

RAN OFF

Because none of the bullets apparently struck vital organs, the pack-bearing elephants only staggered slightly and then ran off into the jungle.

The incident was not the first of its kind, as U. S. Army helicopters have long raided herds of water buffaloes known to be used as pack animals by the Viet Cong.

But experience has taught the Army aviators that 2.75-inch rockets are the only truly effective weapon against the large beasts, who shudder—but rarely die—when hit by armor-piercing ammo.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOTTLED SHIPS

QUESTION: How did old-time seamen put ships inside of bottles?

ANSWER: It looks impossible to put a ship model, with all its masts upright, inside a bottle through the narrow neck. Many people conclude the bottles were cut open at the bottom, the ship put in, and the glass plug put back.

It's true that this was sometimes done, but the true old salt had another trick up his sleeve, which we show in our picture, and which is still used.

First, the little ship is made outside the bottle. But each of the masts is hinged at the bottom to the hull; a single thread, if pulled on, will hold them all upright (1). Next, the old seaman would put a putty sea inside the bottle, using long, specially made tools. This was quite difficult.

Then the ships masts were folded down on the hull (2) when it could be slipped inside the neck of the bottle (3).

The ship was pushed down until it was in its right place. Then the putty was allowed to dry, holding the ship's hull firmly. The long thread had been left sticking out of the bottle.

When this was pulled on, the masts would all spring up. Holding the thread taut a bit of glue was touched to where it joined with the ship. When a hot wire burned off the excess thread, the little ship in a bottle was finished.

More Volunteers Are Needed at Medical Facility

An SOS is being sent out by the Oakland County Medical Care Facility for volunteers to work on various programs with the patients.

"Anyone who has a willingness to help is qualified," said Mrs. Margaret Evans, volunteer coordinator. "We can give them whatever training might be necessary."

Mrs. Evans said about 70

volunteers are now offering their services, but that about 200 are needed to provide a good program for the patients.

"It's such a simple thing," she said, "but it means so much to these people. Many of them have no friends or family to visit them and they look forward so to the volunteers' visits."

"With the small number coming in, the volunteers can't give as much time to each patient as they would like to."

VARIETY

Programs currently in operation for the patients include a beauty shop, physical therapy, occupational therapy, flower arranging, games, musical programs, movies and church services.

Mrs. Evans said some of the programs have more need for volunteers than others.

These include feeding the patients, shaving the men, a nurses aide project, occupational therapy, visiting with the patients, the beauty shop, and entertainment such as piano playing, singing and playing cards.

"We especially want people to play the piano and sing," said Mrs. Evans. "It's amazing what music can do for these people."

NEEDED

In connection with the music program, she said the hospital needs a chord organ, a portable television and some small radios.

Mrs. Evans said that in addition to the volunteers who come in, many scout troops adopt patients and remember them throughout the year.

There is also a Red Cross teenage volunteer program. About 40 take part in the program now, but about 50 more are needed.

"These teenagers are wonderful," said Mrs. Evans. "You hear so much about the trouble kids get into, that I think these kids deserve a lot of credit."

What do the volunteers think of the program?

"It's a very satisfying and meaningful program," said Mrs. Radcliff Welch of Birmingham who has been with the program for about 10 years.

"We originally started out as a group from St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham, but some have dropped out and others come in, so it is more on an individual basis now."

ORIGINAL VOLUNTEER

Mrs. Howard Estes, whose late husband was manager of the Facility, was the original volunteer.

"One day my husband asked me to visit one of the patients who was very lonely," she said. "When I did, I found so many people who were lonely that I just kept visiting and recruiting friends to come out and visit."

"This is a good program but we need so many more volunteers. These people just love to have someone visit them. And the volunteers get as much out of it as the patients."

Honored at Bridal Showers

Janet Carol Schneider of Elizabeth Lake Road was honored by Mrs. Ott Brian and Mrs. Everett Cole at a bridal supper party, Tuesday, in Highland.

Neighbors of the future bridegroom, William Gerald Irish Jr., honored Miss Schneider at a shower given by Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. Milton Miller.

The senior Mr. and Mrs. Irish of Highland will give the rehearsal dinner for their son and his fiancé, Friday at "The Caravel" in Howell. She is the daughter of the Fred Schneiders of Webberville.

Slim Officer Is Looking

Plump Girls Take Lead

DEAR ABBY: Can you find me a good, retired Merchant Marine officer who has been everywhere and seen everything.

I am tired of knocking around. I am pushing 60, but nobody takes me for any older than 45, or 50, tops.

I have a nice little savings account and a pension for life.

Never having been an angel myself, I wouldn't expect one, but I would like a healthy, good-looking woman who wants to settle down with one man from now on.

I am partial to plump girls. I speak both Italian and Spanish. If you will send me an address, I'll go anywhere.

packing until you've taken a good look in your own back yard.

Just let a few friends know that you are interested in meeting a good woman who wants to settle down, and you'll need police protection.

DEAR ABBY: I am the proud father of a big, handsome college freshman.

When this kid comes home for weekend vacations, he helps himself to my neckties.

Now I wouldn't mind so much if he returned my ties in the same condition that he finds them. But he knots them peculiarly and the tie is a lifeless rag by the time he's worn it once.

He has more ties than I have, but he wears mine because he says he likes my "taste."

I suppose I should be flattered and, in a way, I am. But how would YOU solve this problem, Abby?

DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you!

Fewer High School Pupils Take Physics

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Flying directly in the face of the so-called law of supply and demand, the percentage of students taking physics in high schools shows a decline.

This decline is taking place while the demand for physicists increases. And never before have the prestige and salaries of physicists been as high as at present!

At the turn of the century, one-fifth of all students enrolled in high school were enrolled in a physics course. At present, only one-twentieth of the students enrolled in high school are enrolled in a physics course.

This downward trend has not been reversed by the introduction of general science in junior high schools. The percentage of students adequately prepared to undertake the study of physics in their junior or senior year in high school continues to decline.

High school counselors recommend physics only to those students who seem to have an unusual talent for the subject. As long as educators blame their failure on the pupils' lack of talent, they will not solve the problem of providing the nation with an adequate number of physicists.

As long as we take the attitude that thinking accurately and understanding completely is an unusual talent about which we can do nothing, no progress will be made.

The thinking skills and study skills necessary for the mastery of problem-solving is not left to chance.

Educators should encourage and, in some cases, even insist that students develop these habits of thought.

The first-grader too often is satisfied with a rather slipshod understanding of what he reads. A wise teacher will insist that he read for precise and complete understanding.

The word problems of arithmetic offer another opportunity for training in this kind of thinking. It is not the problems the pupils solve, but the kind of training they get while solving them that is important.

General science at the junior high level must not be taught as a purely informational subject. It is high school mathematics are ideal courses to the training and development of the thinking and learning skills required for mastery of physics and for chemistry and other problem-solving courses as well.

With so many opportunities all through the first 11 or 12 years of a child's schooling to give him training in precise and complete understanding, it is surprising that so few develop these skills.

Even though a student reaches his senior year in high school unprepared to study physics, it is still not too late. He can learn to consciously control his thinking in such a way as to succeed in studying physics.

It may be startling to him to discover that by giving complete and persistent attention to a principle of physics, it can be thoroughly understood and, once understood, will seem simple.

Here is another father and son discussion started by Oswald.

Oswald: "What do you think of North's bidding?"

Jim: "He used all the delicacy of a bulldozer. I can't criticize him for getting to a slam but for all he knew seven might be there without a finesse and his bidding stopped South from making any move at all. What do you think of West's two spade bid?"

Oswald: "It was a weak jump overall to end all weak jump overalls and very pointless. His hand was so weak that all his bid could possibly do would be to help the opposition. How do you think North should have bid?"

Jim: "North might have bid the same way except that after South showed one ace North could have bid five no-trump. This bid not only asks for kings but also informs South that North holds the rest of the aces and is interested in seven."
