Bill on Wages Awaits Signing by Governor

House OKs Senate Changes; Needs Only Romney Signature

LANSING (AP) — The state minimum wage bill needed only Gov. George W. Romney's signature to become law after the House concurred yesterday in three amendments added by the Senate.

Acceptance of the changes cleared the last obstacle for the measure which earlier was approved in both chambers. The bill is a key part of Romney's program.

The bill sets up a wage floor scale beginning at $1 per hour next Jan. 1. The scale goes to $1.15 at the end of one year and $1.25 at the end of two.

Backers of the legislation estimate it will apply ultimately to some 250,000 persons in several fields who now earn less than the minimum.

As approved, the bill will apply to all persons between 18 and 65 who are regularly employed, all who work for employers with four or more employes, and who work for more than 13 weeks for the same employer.

★ ★ ★

Affected by the bill will be the thousands of employes of hotels and restaurants, car washes, retail merchants, farm laborers and resorts which operate for more than 13 weeks.

OTHERS DEFEATED

The bill is a product of a legislative committee's study, following the defeat of minimum wage legislation numerous times in the last 25 years.

Michigan will become the 34th state to have a minimum wage in one form or another.

In a statement issued immediately after the amendments were adopted, the Michigan Committee for a Minimum Wage said the bill "represents the middle thinking" on the subject.

House concurrence in the Senate amendments was not without arguments.

Bid to Prevent Incident Over U2 Overflights

Washington Says Flight Interference Won't Be Tolerated

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) —The United States is trying to get Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep a restraining hand on Fidel Castro's trigger finger when he gives the Cuban leader control of a modern arsenal of anti-aircraft missiles in the near future.

This is one of two motives behind an unusual series of public statements and secret diplomatic moves warning the Cubans against shooting down any of the U.S. photo-reconnaissance planes which periodically fly over their island.

The other purpose is to try to get Prime Minister Castro and his advisers to understand that, as one official here put it, "We just won't tolerate any interference with these overflights which are essential to our security."

Officials here say privately that if Castro shoots down a U.S. plane he will have to expect a quick and violent retaliation.

★ ★ ★

But so far, no one in a position of authority has been willing to say what form such retaliation would take.

SELECTIVE BOMBINGS

At the time a U.S. U2 photo reconnaissance plane was shot down over Cuba during the October 1962 missile crisis, there was widespread talk in Washington that if another such incident occurred the United States would knock out the Cuban antiaircraft missile bases by selective bombing attack.

The latest of the new warnings to Cuba came from President Johnson yesterday in

Urge Change in TB Facility

Suggest Conversion to Subacute Hospital

Conversion of Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium and nurses' home into a subacute hospital at a cost of about $400,000 was recommended yesterday by five committees of the County Board of Supervisors.

Their recommendation is to be presented the full board April 28, at which time the County Board of Auditors is hoping for authorization to advertise for contractors' bids.

The sanatorium would continue to be used for TB patients. It also would care for other subacute patients of the county such as those now in the overcrowded County Medical Care Facility.

The county also is paying for many subacute patients in convalescent homes and general hospitals.

The vacant nurses' home next to the sanatorium at Union Lake would be used for ambulatory TB patients.

COMPLETION DATE

Board of Auditors Chairman Daniel T. Murphy Jr. said the sanatorium and nurses' home renovations should be completed by the end of this year.

He said a $450,000 budget for the project would be financed with $260,000 from the county's building fund, $60,000 from the contingency fund and by earmarking $130,000 from county revenues next year.

Converting the sanatorium to a more general use will save the county $250,000 a year elsewhere in the budget, said Robert Lilly, secretary-member of the board of auditors.

This is money now being spent

Primary Preparation Stalled by Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court today ordered California to suspend preparations for its June 2 presidential primary election pending outcome of an appeal by Harold Stassen for a place on the ballot.

Counsel for Stassen appealed to the high court yesterday to review and overturn a California Supreme Court decision upholding the state secretary of state's refusal to certify Stassen's name for the Republican primary ballot.

Stassen's counsel also asked for a stay pending full Supreme Court action on the appeal.

Douglas in a brief order directed that Frank M. Jordan, California secretary of state, advise each country clerk "by the most expeditious means possible" of the pendency of the Stassen appeal.

Douglas further ordered that the county clerks be told "to suspend all action, procedures or other activities relating to the publication of presidential primary notices or printing or mailing of sample ballots, ballots, or absentee ballots for the presidential election to be held June 2 pending the action of the Supreme Court" upon Stassen's appeal.

★ ★ ★

In the appeal filed yesterday, the committee said county clerks had failed to make a complete examination of all affidavits submitted by voters and that as a result in hundreds of thousands of instances the signatures of voters had not been taken into account.

APPEAL ASSERTION

The appeal asserted that, "if the slate of delegates favorable to Stassen is not certified by the California secretary of state, irreparable prejudice will result to the exercise of federally protected rights to participate in the presidential primary."

Defense Bill Likely to Pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to pass a $46.8-billion defense appropriation bill today that would give Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara almost everything he asked.

★ ★ ★

Approval by the House may be overwhelming despite the criticism heaped upon McNamara and his policies by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., and a few other Republicans.

Laird, who will head the platform committee at the Republican National Convention, told the House Tuesday that "no new major strategic systems have been introduced by this administration."

Democrats and most other Republicans, however, stood up to voice their faith in the military superiority of the United States over any enemy.

Rights Clashes Mar Opening of NY Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—Clashes between civil rights demonstrators and police marked the rain-swept opening today of the New York World's Fair.

An intended "stall-in" to block highway traffic to the fair sputtered out, but picketing inside and outside the fairgrounds, arrests, disturbances and scattered violence were constant.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, was arrested outside the New York pavilion shortly before President Johnson arrived by helicopter from Kennedy Airport to dedicate the fair.

Police said Farmer blocked the pavilion entrance.

Demonstrators chanted civil rights demands within earshot of President Johnson as he dedicated the United States pavilion.

★ ★ ★

Arrests of Negroes and white mounted into the scores.

TRAVEL HELD DOWN

The threat of the stall-in and a steady rain held down both automobile travel and attendance at the fair.

Police fought with demonstrators outside the main entrance of the fairgrounds just as Johnson arrived.

About 150 demonstrators near the entrance halted their singing and chanting at that time and headed over a 60-foot-wide pedestrian bridge leading to a subway entrance.

★ ★ ★

They suddenly turned, joined hands and headed back to the entrance. Police rushed to the gates and stopped them.

TURNS INTO MELEE

Shoving and pushing turned the scene into a melee.

★ ★ ★

Police arrested one of the demonstrators and manacled him. The others screamed and shouted in protest.

The police dragged the man across the bridge to be taken to a police station. The demonstrators followed at their heels and two of the policemen were seen to fall in the scuffling.

★ ★ ★

Farmer was one of a number of demonstrators arrested for setting on steps outside the New York City pavilion. Others included Bayard Rustin, a CORE executive who was a leading organizer of the civil rights march on Washington.

Forecaster Calls for Cool, Cloudy

Today's partly cloudy skies will clear tonight and become partly overcast again tomorrow, with temperatures on the cool side.

For the next five days the weatherman said temperatures will average near the normal high of 61 and normal low of 43. Friday and Saturday will be a little warmer but temperatures will turn cooler late Sunday.

Precipitation will total about one inch in showers late Saturday and Sunday.

Fifty-three was the low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reading at 2 p.m. was 49.

May Change Rights Clause

First Indication of Possible Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager of the civil rights bill, expressed willingness today to meet in part the demands of Southern opponents for a provision for jury trial in civil rights contempt of court cases.

This was the first concrete sign of a compromise. It could mark a major breakthrough in the marathon Senate debate, now in its 37th day, on the House-passed measure.

In a surprise move last night, Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., called up for the Dixie forces an amendment providing for the right of trial by jury in criminal contempt of court cases.

An identical amendment was written into the 1957 civil rights act by the Senate by a 51-42 vote, but it was watered down by a Senate-House conference committee before the act was passed.

Both President Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy, then senators, voted for the Senate amendment now reoffered by Talmadge.

Humphrey told newsmen a jury trial amendment to the pending bill — although not necessarily Talmadge's — "has real merit."

He said that speaking for himself only, he feels it would be reasonable to revise the House measure to provide the same limited right to jury trials that Congress provided in the 1957 civil rights act.

The southern maneuver of bringing up the jury trial amendment could throw out of kilter the plans of Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to bring up tomorrow the first of 11 amendments he has offered for the anti-job discrimination section of the bill.

Under the 1957 compromise, a person accused of criminal contempt growing out of injunctions obtained by the attorney general to prevent discriminatory denial of voting rights was given the right to a retrial before a jury if the judge fined him more than $300 or sentenced him to more than 45 days.

In the present bill, the attorney general's power to bring injunction suits — now limited to voting rights cases — would be broadened to cover privately owned places of public accommodation, public schools and public facilities like parks and playgrounds.

Landry Eyes Recount in City Election

Mayor Robert A. Landry said last night he "is thinking seriously about asking for a city-wide recount of votes cast for District 7 candidates in Monday's election."

★ ★ ★

The mayor was defeated by Emmett S. Wellbaum, a write-in candidate, by a margin of 351 votes.

Landry said, "I'd like to see what was considered a valid write-in vote . . . what variations in spelling and so forth were accepted."

He said he would make a decision before the end of the week.

The city board of canvassers meets tonight at 7:30 at City Hall to officially canvass the vote.

★ ★ ★

Once the board certifies the vote totals in Monday's election, they are final and official, unless changed by a recount.

MACHINE TAMPERING

Landry described an incident in which someone, he said, tampered with a voting machine Monday in District 4 as one reason why he may demand a recount.

"Someone (a voter) broke the plastic seal over the strip on which candidates names

Soviet Agent Traded

British Spy Home After Russia Swap

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force plane brought Maynard Greville Wynne home from a Moscow prison today in a trade for Soviet spy Gordon Lonsdale.

★ ★ ★

The exchange was made at the Heerstrasse crossing point between the British sector of West Berlin and East Germany at 5:35 a.m.

Wynne, 45, arrived at London's Northolt Airport seven hours later.

The British Foreign Office said it agreed to the exchange because Wynne was ill.

The once-chubby Wynne, who had lost a great deal of weight, told newsmen the swap for Lonsdale came as a great surprise to him.

ESPIONAGE CHARGE

Wynne had been in Communist hands for two years and five months. He was sentenced in Moscow last May to eight years detention—three in prison and five in a labor camp—as a courier of espionage information.

Lonsdale, 40, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment in 1961 as the mastermind of a spy ring operating at the Portland naval research establishment.

The Foreign Office said the Soviet Union proposed on April 7 to pardon Wynne if the British would free Lonsdale.

Wynne was on a business trip in Budapest in November 1962, when he was arrested by Hungarian secret police. He was tried in Moscow with Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet official charged with selling atomic secrets to the West. Penkovsky was executed.

Russian Envoy, Rusk Confer on Laos Situation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin met today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a discussion on Laos. He said the situation there was "pretty bad and serious."

★ ★ ★

Dobrynin told newsmen he believes that the State Department would also have something to say about their conference, which was held at Rusk's request.

★ ★ ★

The ambassador said that during the 45-minute meeting he and Rusk touched on a number of topics but discussed Laos "first of all."

Commission Plans Drive on Substandard Housing

City commissioners last night unanimously approved a resolution aimed at weeding out substandard housing in Pontiac, and enforcing existing city and state health and housing codes.

The resolution directs city administrators, the city attorney and city inspectors to "cause any vacated dwelling unit to remain vacated until necessary work is done" to bring the structure up to minimum code standards.

The move climaxed a drive of several weeks by Commissioner Samuel J. Whiters.

Commissioners Charles H. Harmon and William H. Taylor said they would go along with the resolution if it applied to all sections of the city.

Both contend there are dwellings in every area of Pontiac which do not meet minimum building, heating, plumbing and fire codes.

ENFORCEMENT LACKING

City Attorney William A. Ewart agreed. "Code enforcement has been lacking in recent years.

★ ★ ★

"But it's simply a matter of men and money," Ewart said. "We would need more inspectors and more legal aides to take property owners into court. This costs money."

Whiters, in proposing the resolution, said it was not his intention "to see anyone put out on the street.

"The resolution would merely direct the city to prohibit a landlord from renting a dwelling where code violations exist.

"As tenants moved out, the city would then prohibit new tenants from moving in until the dwelling was brought up to minimum standards," Whiters said.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners agreed unanimously that the need for such enforcement was increasing. Taylor, in particular, has fought for more condemnation of substandard dwellings in the past several years.

Cuba Warning Directed at K

talking to a group of newsmen at the White House.

"It is essential that we maintain surveillance and know whether any missiles are being shipped into Cuba. We will have to maintain our reconnaissance and over-flights," the President said.

★ ★ ★

"Any action on their part to stop that would be a very serious action. We have so informed them and their friends."

IRONIC CRISIS

Ironically, the present uneasy fears of a new Cuban crisis arise from the apparently imminent success of the United States in achieving one of its major objectives — the withdrawal from Cuba of the last of the Soviet troops which went into the island in 1962 when the Soviet Union was installing nuclear missiles with which it could have launched a direct attack on the United States.

In preparation for their departure, as the situation is understood here, the remaining Soviet forces have been training Cuban troops in the operation and use of modern and highly efficient antiaircraft missiles which are capable of shooting down jet planes operating at very high altitudes, including the U2.

There are 24 bases for the surface-to-air missiles — SAMS — and about 500 of the missiles themselves in Cuba, according to intelligence reports.

The big question mark in official Washington is whether or not Khrushchev will let Castro have complete control of these weapons.

U.S. NOTE

The United States sent a note through Swiss diplomatic channels to the Cuban government on March 27, the State Department confirmed Tuesday, warning that it intends to keep the reconnaissance flights going.

In a statement Monday, a State Department spokesman reaffirmed a declaration a year ago by Secretary Dean Rusk that any interruptions of the over-flights "could create a highly dangerous situation."

Activity had centered earlier in subway stations where some of the demonstrators suffered bloody heads in clashes with police.

Taverns' Plea Unheeded

License Move Fails

A move to upgrade eligible tavern licenses to Class C status in Pontiac failed to gain the support of five city commissioners last night.

Instroduced by Commissioner Loy L. Ledford, the resolution was defeated 5-2. Only Ledford and Commissioner Dick M. Kirby voted for it.

The issue came up when several local tavern owners appeared to protest that they were being discriminated against by the city's refusal to tentatively approve upgrading of their licenses.

Only the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) can officially upgrade a liquor license, but the local commission must tentatively okay the upgrading before it can be taken to the LCC.

CITY LICENSES

There are about 17 tavern licenses (beer and wine by the glass) and 37 Class C (liquor by the glass) in Pontiac, along with two Class B (hotel) licenses.

Under the state formula, all are considered liquor licenses. Pontiac's total, therefore, is 56.

The quota for Pontiac is 55. According to the LCC, no more new liquor licenses — tavern or Class C — can be issued by the City Commission until two leave town or the population increases enough to raise the quota.

CAN'T MOVE IN

This has been the case for several years. Likewise, the situation prohibits anyone with a liquor license from moving the license into the city.

All that a prospective bar owner can do is buy one which already exists here.

However, the city could approve the upgrading of all tavern licenses to Class C status and this is what the tavern owners are asking for.

★ ★ ★

Opposing such a move, Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. said that "the big problem is that it always costs us more to police Class C establishments than we get from them in fees and taxes."

EQUAL RIGHTS

Appealing for equal rights, one tavern owner asked, "Why not take all the whiskey out of town then?"

★ ★ ★

"If someone will offer that in the form of a motion, I'll support it," snapped Commissioner Samuel J. Whiters, who strongly opposes additional Class C licenses.

★ ★ ★

Ledford supported the upgrading contending that "we are denying a taxpayer who is under the strictest of state controls the chance to compete with others."

Lovaas Enters State Hospital

Fifteen - year - old Daniel Lovaas of Birmingham, slayer of a 14-year-old Birmingham girl, was admitted today into Pontiac State Hospital.

Daniel was taken ahead of others on the waiting list in his age group under the urging of Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams.

"He was severely mentally ill," Judge Adams said, "and needed intense psychiatric treatment which we couldn't give him at the County Children's Center."

"Whenever we have anyone as sick as this," the judge said, "it puts a terrific burden on the people at the Children's Center."

★ ★ ★

Daniel's admittance to the hospital came less than two months after his March 3 commitment as mentally ill by Judge Adams.

YEAR-LONG WAIT

Some in Daniel's age group have had to wait up to a year. Douglas Godfrey, who at the age of 15 last year shot and killed his mother, waited four months after his commitment.

Daniel was committed to the hospital for psychiatric care and treatment on a petition by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lovaas Jr., of 1042 Smith, Birmingham.

The boy had been found guilty by Juvenile Court Judge Norman R. Barnard of fatally stabbing Nancy Jean Jones, of 1128 Emmons, Birmingham, as she walked to school on fog-shrouded Purdy Street the morning of Jan. 24.

★ ★ ★

Daniel was confined at the Children's Center a total of 88 days after his arrest at Birmingham's Seaholm High School the morning of Nancy's slaying, according to Children's Center director James Van Leuven, who took Daniel to the state hospital this morning.

were printed," he noted, "and moved the strip to the right.

"That means that everyone who pushed down the voting lever over my name, was actually casting a machine ballot for my opponent, Mr. Webb."

★ ★ ★

Curtis L. Webb was the other District 7 candidate on the ballot. He trailed both Wellbaum, whose name wasn't on the printed ballot, and Landry.

CONFIRM INCIDENT

City Clerk Olga Barkeley confirmed that the incident took place and was discovered Monday afternoon. No one knows how many people voted erroneously before the irregularity was discovered.

The machine was temporarily closed until the ballot was replaced in its proper position.

"I don't mean to be critical of election workers," Landry noted "They did a good job."

However, his campaign manager Herbert Donaldson, wasn't so kind.

READY TO HELP

"When I went in to vote, the first thing they said to me was that they'd show me how to cast a write-in vote.

"I know at least 25 people who would sign an affidavit confirming that election workers told them how to vote a write-in without them asking for such help.

"I also know of cases where election workers went into the booth after the curtains were closed and showed people how to cast write-in votes," he said.

"This is against the law," he asserted. "They are only to give information on request."

Railroad Alters Time Schedule for Coast Trips

Grand Trunk Western Railroad has announced a time change effective Sunday to provide more convenient rail connections to the West Coast from its Detroit-Chicago train.

Reelection of Romney Pushed by GOP Official

By The Associated Press

The reelection of George W. Romney as governor is imperative, said a Republican.

A Democrat complained, meanwhile, because Romney has not yet declared his official candidacy.

Republican National Committeeman John B. Martin told Young Republicans at the Community House in Birmingham Tuesday night the reelection of Romney "is imperative not only for Repubicans but for the welfare of every voter in Michigan regardless of party."

"We wandered in the political wilderness for 14 long years," said Martin. "If it hadn't been for George Romney, we would probably still be there."

FERENCY VOTE

State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency, also speaking Tuesday night, told Democrats at Holt that the Federal Communications Commission "ought to look into the present Michigan political situation where Republicans are playing fast and loose with Gov. Romney's 1964 reelection plans."

"The official Republican organization has thrown everything including Lenore Romney into high gear in preparation for Gov. Romney's reelection bid and yet the Republican governor refuses to declare his official candidacy," Ferency said.

"We Democrats are going to demand free and equal time from any radio or television station that continues to give Romney time to promote his political ambitions under the guise of a governor reporting to the people," he said.

Martin said he was sure that neither Republicans, Democrats or independents wanted to return to the "stalemate and sterile bickering" of the eras of former Govs. G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson.

'DESTROYED IMAGE'

"It destroyed the reputation of the state as a solvent, going concern," Martin said. "It created the picture throughout the nation of a broken, bankrupt economy. Now we are moving under Romney leadership in a new direction. We have entered a period of flourishing prosperity and have seen our state government restored to solvency.

"Michigan is on the move," Martin said. "I believe Michigan's voters will want George Romney as their governor for a second term."

for county patients in general hospitals while space is available at the sanatorium.

With the advent of new drugs for home treatment of tuberculosis in recent years, the number of TB patients at the sanatorium has fallen off about two-thirds.

The cost of conversion would cover remodeling and renovation that would have to be done anyway to meet State Health Department and fire marshal's requirements, noted Murphy.

Most of the money that would come from the county's general building fund already was earmarked for a new South Oakland health center.

Lilly said diverting some of these funds to do the work proposed at the TB sanatorium shouldn't delay construction of the health center.

NEW SITE

Money now in the fund was to be used for purchase of a new site in South Oakland County.

The board of auditors has since found that the proposed site can be paid for in three installments of about $100,000 over the next three years.

The 29-acre site at Greenfield and Catalpa in Southfield is being offered by the Berkley school board.

The Board of Supervisors Ways and Means and Buildings and Grounds committees authorized the county auditors to negotiate for an option on the land.

LAND OPTIONS

The auditors also were directed to seek options on 45.74 acres being offered for sale next to the County Service Center.

The property is immediately north of the Childrens Village site on the west side of Telegraph.

Other supervisors' groups participating in yesterday's recommendation regarding the TB Sanatorium and nurses' home were health, tuberculosis sanatorium and welfare committees.

They acted partly on the advice of County Engineer Joseph Joachim who assured that both the nurses' home and the sanatorium are structurally sound and worth the proposed expenditures.

Ways and Means Chairman David Levinson said it would cost over $2 million for the county to build completely new subacute hospital facilities to fill the existing needs.

Says Arms Ban Requires Strong U.N.

Just laying down our arms is not enough to end the arms race. Something must take the place of arms. That something is a strong United Nations, according to Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review.

Cousins, highly regarded political interpreter and analyst, addressed a crowd of more than 300 persons last night at Oakland University.

Cosponsored by the Rochester area and Oakland County chapters of the American Association for the United Nations, the Cousins' talk included a discourse in defense of the late General Douglas MacArthur.

In reference to recently published interviews, Cousins said, "We dishonor his memory by putting foul words in his still mouth."

★ ★ ★

The magazine editor claimed that MacArthur wanted to be remembered in history as a man having something to do for peace.

"He didn't fit the saddle of a man on horseback," Cousins said.

Cousins pointed out that MacArthur's proudest achievement was aiding in the establishment of the first constitution to ever outlaw war as an instrument of national policy.

He quoted the late general as saying, "There is no defense but an organized peace."

★ ★ ★

A member of the AAUN national board of directors, Cousins asked what security can there be with a continuing arms race.

NATIONAL DESTRUCTION

"I wonder if there will be anyone left to distinguish between a nation destroyed 736 times over one destroyed 1,401 times over."

★ ★ ★

The world traveler and backer of a "strong U.N." said that there is no man, even in American history, that Americans have put more trust in than Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He characterized the Soviet boss as the one man who could destroy 80 million Americans in two hours.

★ ★ ★

Cousins said the arms race reflects a lack of trust of Khrushchev, and yet we give him this trust not to destroy us.

CAUSE OF MANKIND

"Is the cause of mankind to be left to this?" Cousins asked.

He continued, "The fact is no country is going to get rid of its basic weapons unless something takes their place. Otherwise, it is only a matter of time before the arms will be back."

Cousins' answer is the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

"We can't expect the U.N. indefinitely to run after history with a mop," he explained.

GIVE U.N. MUSCLE

He called for a charter revision to give the U.N. muscle — police power, a judiciary and taxing power.

"The time has come when we are called upon to justify the great gift of life," the visitor concluded.

During a question and answer session, Cousins gave a qualified yes answer to whether or not the U.N. should admit Red China.

★ ★ ★

He said that opposition in the United States to the world organization comes from the extreme right — the John Birch Society.

MORE IMPORTANT

On Red China: "The more dangerous a nation is the more important it should be that that nation be admitted.

★ ★ ★

"However," he added, "the assumption that an invitation rendered is a problem solved may not be necessarily correct."

★ ★ ★

On the U.N. police power: "Yes, force is necessary, but the question is who is to use this force. When the men of the West gave up their six-shooters, they gave them to the sheriff."

Holland Paper Gets 'Best Idea' Citation

NEW YORK (AP)—The Holland, Mich., Sentinel received a citation from the American Newspaper Publishers Association Tuesday in the association's "best idea of the year" awards program.

The Sentinel was cited for its innovation of advertisements two columns wide and one inch high in a special section of the newspaper.

Says Talk Hurts Economy

Ford Denies Price Cut on Cars Under Consideration

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II emphatically denied Tuesday that Ford Motor Co. is planning any auto price cuts.

Ford, chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co., said he was "deeply disturbed" at weekend rumors of possible price cuts, including autos.

★ ★ ★

"All this talk about cutting car prices is hurting the economy," Ford said. "People hear these things and they hold off on buying. The Ford Motor Co. has no intention whatsoever of cutting prices."

Ford's statements followed a Friday speech by Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who said:

"There are some industries with exceptionally high and rising profits where price cuts will — and should be — contemplated."

The day after Heller's speech, President Johnson told his news conference that there could be price reductions in some fields.

★ ★ ★

The car price question came up Tuesday at Chrysler Corp.'s stockholders meeting at which it reported record first quarter earnings of $53.8 million. Chrysler's directors declared the regular 25 cent quarter dividend.

A stockholder asked Chrysler board chairman George Love, "Do you think the industry can expect another 8 million car year next year if it raises prices in September"?

VERY IFFY

Love replied, "As President Johnson would say, that is a very iffy question." He did not elaborate.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler president Lynn A. Townsend, asked later by newsmen about the possibility of price cuts, said, "We haven't had any discussion on prices. That would be up to the board of directors."

General Motors and American Motors had no comment on the price situation.

Chrysler's healthy earnings of $1.44 a share for the first three months of 1964 compared with net profits of $36.2 million or 99 cents a share adjusted for two stock splits last year.

OLD MARK

The old Chrysler first quarter mark was set in 1957 when the company earned $46.5 million or $1.33 a share, adjusted for the 1963 stock splits.

Townsend said it was the ninth consecutive quarter in which Chrysler dollar sales and earnings increased over the same period a year earlier.

State Man Designs World's Fair Stamp

FLUSHING, N. Y. (AP) — A five-cent New York World's Fair commemorative stamp designed by a Kalamazoo, Mich., man goes on sale here today—opening day at the fair.

The designer is Paul D. Kennedy, art director of the International Paper Co. Single Service Division, which manufactures milk cartons.

Sales for the first quarter of 1964 were $991 million, against adjusted sales in the same period last year of $796 million. Car and truck sales in the first three months of this year were 427,410 vehicles as against 332,859 units in the same period of 1963.

★ ★ ★

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union which will bargain with the auto industry this summer on new contracts, added his voice again to those urging auto price cuts.

REUTHER'S VIEW

Reuther in a television appearance repeated an earlier statement that General Motors, based on its current profits picture, could cut prices and at the same time meet union demands this year. GM had no comment.

Ford's statement marked the first time since President Johnson took office that his administration's views had been challenged publicly by the auto industry.

★ ★ ★

Auto makers reportedly are deeply concerned over the possible impact that the administration's desires for price cuts could have on the auto labor talks this summer.

Simms "PRESIDENT'S SALE" DAYS

PERSONAL MESSAGE from Mr. Meyer Simon, Pres., Simms Bros.....Simms has been in downtown Pontiac since 1934 — that's 30 years and I've seen Simms grow from a 50-foot drug store to a big 3-floor department store because of the tremendous buys we've brought to Pontiac and Oakland county folks. In the meantime, the area has grown with us. More stores, shopping centers are now in the area and I sincerely believe, because of Simms, prices in general have been lower than ever before and I sincerely believe on a day-to-day basis, item by item, SIMMS has the lower prices. All I ask of you, our friends and neighbors, is that you compare before you spend your hard- earned dollars, compare the quality as well as the price. So to show you our appreciation for past patronage and with hopes of bringing you bigger bargains, I've personally told the department managers to REDUCE PRICES even more for this 3-day event. Come in and visit — we are still locally owned and operated. Sincerely yours, MEYER SIMON — Pres. SIMMS BROS.

Round-the-Clock Talks Bring Rail Rift Closer to Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences were reported narrowing today as negotiators bargained toe-to-toe with less than 72 hours remaining before the delayed deadline for a nationwide railroad strike.

Representatives of five unions and nearly 200 railroads were closely examining each other's proposals "decimal point by decimal point," said White House press secretary George Reedy.

President Johnson voiced hope again Tuesday that the two sides in the five-year-old work rule dispute would come up with a voluntary settlement before Saturday's scheduled 12:01 a.m. strike deadline.

Johnson was reported so hopeful of an agreement by that time that he has not yet asked for any extension of the 15-day strike postponement he won April 10.

Talks with federal mediators were going virtually around the clock.

Sources close to both sides said the talks were in a highly crucial stage and that the outcome was still uncertain.

★ ★ ★

Reedy said the two sides were engaged in "very thorough, very exhaustive, discussions" based on an exchange of working papers on their respective proposals.

★ ★ ★

The dispute involves a complicated system of work rules governing wages, job classifications and working conditions.

"There is a narrowing of differences, there is a clarification of language," Reedy said. Johnson, speaking to a group of editors and broadcasters visiting the White House Tuesday, said "we think that collective bargaining is hard at work."

★ ★ ★

Johnson continued to refrain from saying what action he might take if the talks failed. He said he was proceeding on a presumption that the talks would result in a voluntary solution before the strike deadline.

N.J. GOP Slate Uncommitted

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — In one of the most placid primary elections in recent history, New Jersey has voted to send an uncommitted delegation to the Republican National Convention, at which the state will have 40 delegate votes.

A small percentage of voters who chose to write in a presidential preference gave Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge a substantial lead over Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former vice president Richard M. Nixon in yesterday's balloting.

Lodge got 2,236 write-ins in about 45 per cent of the state's districts reported. Goldwater had 1,604 and Nixon 954.

Republican voters also chose for the first time a Negro candidate to run for Congress on a major party ticket in the state. On the democratic side, in addition to endorsing an organization-backed delegation to the convention, 929 voters wrote in the name of President Johnson.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama received 191 presidential preference votes from Democrats and another 91 on Republican ballots.

A little more than half of the state's districts had reported returns by this morning from nearly 200,000 voters.

New City Hall Administration Decreed by Pontiac Voters

Pontiac voters have completed the job they started in the March primary. Pontiac is back on the track.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner WILLIAM H. TAYLOR received the highest number of votes cast in the election. The voters of Pontiac remember all too well his losing two-year fight against a city commission majority.

The voters also remembered well who led the majority. Mayor Robert A. Landry was defeated by a write-in candidate, Emmett Wellbaum.

★ ★ ★

Voters went to the trouble of writing in a candidate's name to end the commission tenure of LANDRY, who led in ousting the city manager and upsetting the police department.

So ends a tumultuous two-year period that many people who are proud of Pontiac would like to forget.

Now we can get back to the problems of the City, instead of the problems of the individuals on the commission.

★ ★ ★

There are more than enough city problems to settle. We need a new manager, and some cash. Voters approved shorter hours for firemen, which costs money, but they also turned down a millage increase which would have helped ease the City's financial strain.

With the election of T. WARREN FOWLER, ROBERT IRWIN, LESLIE HUDSON, JOHN DUGAN, WESLEY WOOD, EMMETT WELLBAUM, and the reelection of WILLIAM TAYLOR, Pontiac is once more ready to move forward.

These are good men, dedicated to helping Pontiac. They are willing to spend a large portion of their time to help their fellow citizens by setting the policy for the administration of the City.

Under the direction of the new governing body, Pontiac can be expected to resume its progress toward enlightened solution of present problems and the development of a flourishing and well-governed municipality.

Lodge Not Well Liked—Except by the People

Politics, particularly on the national level, is subject to much unpredictable phenomena. HENRY CABOT LODGE is a case in point.

Apparently no one likes him but the people.

★ ★ ★

Although LODGE ran away with the March 10 New Hampshire presidential preference primary election as an undeclared, write-in candidate, he was before that event but a 16 per cent nationwide choice of Republican voters. Since the New Hampshire sockeroo, his national popularity among GOP rank and file has zoomed to 42 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Furthermore, although Lodge is not entered in the June 2 California primary, a survey of the state's Republicans shows him leading the field of declared and undeclared candidates with almost a third of indicated voter preference.

But the largely volunteer organization that put LODGE over on a shoestring in New Hampshire, is going all-out for the May 15 Oregon primary as an opportunity to score an impressive win leading to the Republican convention in July.

All major GOP candidates including Lodge will be entered in the Oregon race, and a real test of strength should ensue. Should Lodge run as well as is now indicated, he would almost certainly be established as "the people's choice."

Since the GOP pros are reportedly cool toward the Ambassador, such grass-roots popularity would likely give them some moments of deep thought.

U.S. Is Skeptical of Russian Moves

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Almost 19 years of cold war secrecy, and all that means in skepticism about Communists, has had a freezing effect on the American mind.

MARLOW

The reaction to a Communist move, even when it sounds peaceful, is almost predictable.

Suspicions of the Soviet Union popped up immediately in Congress Monday after President Johnson announced in New York and Premier Khrushchev disclosed in Moscow they were cutting production of material for nuclear weapons.

But all this overlooks the point: in this case, it doesn't matter whether Russia's playing tricks or not. Johnson said this country has more material for weapons than it needs.

Therefore, continuing to produce it without needing it is wasting money. Johnson put it this way: "We must not operate a WPA nuclear project just to provide employment when our needs have been met."

★ ★ ★

The Soviets have the same problem of overproduction of nuclear weapon material, as do the British, but Khrushchev in his announcement tried to pitch his decision on a lofty plane.

PUT BRAKE ON

He said the cutback was an "opportunity for improving mutual understanding." The British were to announce a cutback today. Actually, they put the brake on last year.

Either Johnson is right or wrong in his decision. If he is wrong, he may be jeopardizing the country. But it must be assumed he would not have made his decision without the advice of his military and atomic experts.

So, if he's right, it can make no difference what Khrushchev does about cutting back. If the Russians have more material than they need but keep on producing it, then they're wasting money.

★ ★ ★

In the case of disarmament, the consistent American position has been that inspection would be needed; and it is easy to see why it would be needed in that case, but not in Johnson's cutback decision of yesterday.

NEVER BE SURE

If the United States and the Soviet Union, for instance, agreed to destroy a certain number of missiles and nuclear warheads, this country could never be sure the Soviets were not cheating unless they permitted inspection.

Without such proof, this country would be a first class sap to destroy a single one of its weapons for, if that continued, it could wind up at the mercy of the fully armed Russians.

But any disarmament agreement is a long way off. Johnson, ever since taking office, has been communicating with Khrushchev privately, but reporters were told the two men's decisions of Monday were not a deal.

★ ★ ★

For the reasons explained above there didn't have to be a deal.

WON'T STOP SUSPICIONS

But that probably won't stop suspicions about the whole business although it would be hard to explain why this country should produce what it did not need, no matter what the Russians did.

It's possible that moves like this one by both countries may lead to better understanding, but that's for extra.

Getting Ready For Launching

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Policy Now Forgive, Forget

WASHINGTON—There seems to be a new motto that describes the trend in American foreign policy—"forgive and forget."

The new mood is reflected in developments in Cuba.

It has been revealed, for instance, that the Soviet Union is planning to turn over the operation of its anti-aircraft missiles in Cuba to the Castro government on May 1 and will withdraw about 3,000 of the 4,000 Soviet troops now in Cuba.

LAWRENCE

It is not clear yet whether Moscow will retain a veto over the firing of the missiles or whether the power of decision will be left with the Russian "technicians" who are to remain on the island.

Not a single public protest, however, has been made by the United States government to the Soviet government over the continued presence in Cuba of Soviet technicians and missiles.

The last official word on the subject, so far as the public is concerned, was spoken in October 1962, at the time of the missile crisis.

★ ★ ★

Despite efforts then to bring about an immediate withdrawal of all Soviet forces and missiles, the United States has had to be content with a long-drawn-out maneuver.

NOTHING SERIOUS

The tendency here is to assume that nothing serious will develop and that, even if the Castro government fires any of its antiaircraft missiles and damages or downs any of the U2s or other planes which are engaged in occasional air inspection of Cuba, the United States will not hesitate to take retaliatory action.

There is, moreover, a desire in Washington to "play ball," if possible, with the Soviet regime in the hope that some propaganda advantage can be obtained in the international debate over reduction of armament.

Thus, while much emphasis is placed on the agreement just made to reduce the production of uranium, this really has no military significance.

★ ★ ★

PLENTY OF STRENGTH

The truth is that both sides have plenty of nuclear strength to devastate each other's territory.

Such mutual agreements as the ban on nuclear testing in certain categories and now the curtailment of uranium production—both agreements without provisions for inspection—are, of course, part of the Soviet effort to give the impression that it has no hostile purpose toward the West.

This is designed to invite further trade with the West and perhaps even to obtain financial help from the United States by way of long-term credits.

The objective of Moscow is to produce the right atmosphere for commercial interchanges in order to help overcome some of the Communist economic difficulties.

For the next few months, not only the United States but some of its European allies are evidently going to try to "play ball" with Nikita Khrushchev and elicit from him periodically further expressions of good will and peaceful intentions.

Capital Letter:

Harry Truman's Birthday to Be a Dual Celebration

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — A spunky ex-President named Harry S. Truman turns 80 on May 8.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

For the first time since he left the White House a dozen years ago, the man from Independence will celebrate his birthday in the nation's capital.

Surrounded by President Lyndon B. Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Cabinet members and old cronies, Mr. Truman will accept $80,000 raised by his friends to complete the endowment of a Harry S. Truman chair of American history at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo.

It'll be a great day for the one-time farm boy from Jackson County, who never went to college.

An avid student of American history, he personally will deliver the first eight lectures at the small college where Sir Winston Churchill made his memorable "Iron Curtain" speech in 1946.

The Truman birthday party is to be a dual affair.

WATCHDOG UNIT

It will also celebrate the twenty-third anniversary of the Truman Committee, the Senate watchdog on World War II expenditures, over which the Missouri senator presided with such fair-mindedness that it became his springboard to the vice presidency.

Washington attorney Charles Patrick Clark, its former associate council, has been rounding up the committee alumni annually for the past eight years, to honor Mr. Truman on his spring visit to the capital.

The alumni are growing scarcer as the years take their toll.

Of the original ten members, the only three still living are Mr. Truman, Joseph Ball, and retired Supreme Court Justice Harold Burton, who is frail and ailing.

THREE DEATHS

Three others—Tom Connally, James Mead and Carl Hatch—died since the last get-together.

Although not a member, President Johnson has attended the seven previous reunions, and President Kennedy looked in on the one three years ago.

Clark is the perennial master of ceremonies for the stag event, and, since raising money for the history chair was his brainchild, he will present the check to Mr. Truman, while Westminster's President Robert L. D. Davidson looks on.

★ ★ ★

The college is contributing half of the total $250,000 endowment.

★ ★ ★

Voice of the People:

Supports Bill Permitting Added Income for Elders

By a majority of 62 per cent, the nation's independent business proprietors feel the law restricting the amount older people can earn in employment in order to receive social security benefits is unrealistic and discriminatory.

★ ★ ★

A Senate bill by Sen. Kenneth Keating would permit older people to earn in private employment as much as they are capable without forfeiting their social security benefits. At present, an older person can only earn up to $1,200 per year without forfeiting part, or all of the payments due from contributions to social security.

★ ★ ★

But older people can receive unlimited income from investments, or other sources, and still receive the full amount of social security. The present social security law is following a pattern of discrimination against those who have no income from investments or other sources, but must work at some occupation to supplement their social security payments.

Disgusted Taxpayer

Praises Location of New Swimming Pool

A letter criticized the location of the new municipal pool as "de facto segregation." I think our city officials should be praised for taking a very big step toward desegregation.

★ ★ ★

Unless whole areas of a city are to be simply abandoned, desegregation efforts have to be made in two directions: first, the Negro must be free to move into areas outside the "Negro district"; second, improvements must be made inside the "Negro district" to provide decent, attractive surroundings for the Negroes who remain and also to attract decent and responsible white people to locate there.

★ ★ ★

Such an important improvement as a swimming pool must certainly enhance property values in its neighborhood. I hope it is the first in a long line of projects that will eventually obliterate all signs of segregation.

More Offer Quotations on Churchgoing

I would like for Ruth Rhodes, who wrote on church attendance, to please read Heb. 10:25, also Acts 2:42. The word "church" appears 112 times in the New Testament, and Jesus said to Peter, "upon this rock I will build My church."

2259 Hedge — Bill Hyder

To those who say "Nowhere in the Old or New Testament are we commanded to attend church," I quote the following: "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together; as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another; and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching." (Herb. 10:25)

Machines

The Des Moines Tribune

"As a manufacturer of computers, I feel both shocked and alarmed," said Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board of International Business Machines Corp., "whenever I hear the prediction — and I hear it often — that one day the 'machines will take over' and give us the answers to everything. A computer is a machine and a machine is a tool — a means to an end — nothing more."

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that machines now do new things: "take orders, design manufacturing specifications, set rates of production, give data on purchasing, and order stock for warehouses" — and that they were beginning to do a little useful translation of foreign languages. "But whatever we teach computers to do," Watson insisted, "the machines will still be only a means."

Take the civil rights problem in the United States. If you ask a computer about rights under the Constitution, Watson noted, the machine's honest answers could add up to a conclusion that there is no civil rights problem. Ask it questions about actual practice and the problem would emerge — provided the machine had been fed the correct data first.

★ ★ ★

But the machine could still not solve the problem. That has to be done by people, Watson insists, people with judgments on right and wrong, people with a will to do the right thing after they know what is right.

★ ★ ★

Watson is the man who put up all those "Think" signs. He means it, he does it.

West Winds

The Richmond News Leader

The winds are blowing from the west today, strongly from Wisconsin, mildly from Kansas, bitterly from Cleveland. And what do the west winds say?

They bespeak a rising storm of national involvement in these "civil rights" questions. It is a storm that may yet force the United States Senate back to a course of sanity.

In Cleveland, a 27-year-old minister, Bruce W. Klunder, died what will be termed a martyr's death when a bulldozer backed over him at an East Side school construction site.

★ ★ ★

But we predict that the immediate public reaction will be to make the point that Klunder had no business being where he was. The young zealot and his companions had circumvented police lines at the site, "raced through back yards," and entered the construction site from the rear.

Two girls and a man threw themselves in front of the bulldozer; the operator lifted his shovel to clear them, and accidentally backed over the young minister.

Police already have cleared the bulldozer operator, John White, and have arrested some of the trespassers who sought to take the law into their own willful hands.

★ ★ ★

In Kansas City, a number of civic organizations threw their entire strength into support of a referendum on an expanded public accommodations ordinance.

They won, all right. But the margin of victory was precisely 50.97 per cent to 49.03 per cent. It is not the sort of triumph that would suggest massive Midwestern support for the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

The most remarkable news came from Wisconsin, where Alabama's scrappy Governor George C. Wallace entered the State's presidential primary. When he first made his intentions known, some weeks ago, a contemptuous prediction came from Milwaukee that he wouldn't get 25,000 votes.

Then it was said he wouldn't get as many as 5 per cent of the vote. Governor John W. Reynolds said it would be a "catastrophe" if Wallace got 100,000 votes. But a nearly-complete count showed Wallace with a total of 246,000.

Efforts to minimize this showing already are under way. But the fact is that in the teeth of a hostile press, and despite the united opposition of the churches of Wisconsin, Mr. Wallace polled nearly a quarter of a million votes.

And prudent Senators, unless we are vastly mistaken, would be soundly advised to wet a finger to the mutinous winds, and take heed of the storm that is blowing their way.

Critics Decry Remoteness

Brasilia: Shining Capital or Big Flop?

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Brasilia remains an unfinished controversy. Critics decry its cost and remoteness. Champions hail the grandeur of its setting.

But Brasilia has taken root, and it is dramatically changing the way of life in one corner of Brazil's vast interior.

★ ★ ★

Brasilia itself has changed little physically since Dwight D. Eisenhower helped inaugurate it four years ago this month. Its population is about 150,000 and some 75,000 more in the suburban areas. Some buildings are unfinished after four years of off-on construction.

Others long completed remain unoccupied. One of the most dramatic examples of futuristic architecture, a national cathedral, seems abandoned in a litter of red clay, empty cans and upturned scaffolding.

CHILD'S DISARRAY

In many places Brasilia wears the disarray of a child's abandoned playpen. The spectacular line of its architecture achieves a special quality on clear days when low humidity gives a razor-sharp edge to outdoor objects.

"I feel Brasilia is a miracle," says Dr. Israel Pinheiro, the silvery haired, 68-year-old president of the company that built it. "There was so much resistance to its creation it seems incredible that it was ever built."

★ ★ ★

A storm of censure swirled around Pinheiro and his company when the new capital started moving from drafting board into reality. There were cries the company was a legal drain for federal funds.

But the founders, backed by the city's chief advocate, then President Juscelino Kubitschek, pushed ahead and within three years the glass, granite and marble heart of the futuristic city was ready for inaugural day.

WASHINGTON PARALLEL

Why hasn't it caught on as the real capital of Brazil?

"Read the story of Washington, D. C.," said Pinheiro, "and you'll find that was no instantaneous success either."

★ ★ ★

One aim was to open the country's interior to a population of more than 70 million. Today surfaced highways link Brasilia to nearly all corners of the country, including the forbidding Matto Grosso jungle area.

Because of Brasilia it is now possible to drive from Santiago, Chile, to Belem, on Brazil's north coast. That is comparable to a trip from New York to Los Angeles—via Mexico City.

GOOD DEVELOPMENT

Brasilia has come a long way from October 1956, when Pinheiro moved into a wooden shack on the city's future site.

"There was only a small ranch in the area," he recalls, "and nothing else but a lovely wilderness. We selected the place for its climate, water, the spectacular topography and nearness to supply markets."

★ ★ ★

Location on a 3,500-foot-high plateau accounts for Brasilia's bracing year-around climate.

CONGRESS PALACE

The most distinguishing feature is the white Congressional Palace consisting of twin 28-story towers of green-tinted glass and granite, flanked by two white saucers, one inverted the other upright, over the senate and chamber of deputies, respectively.

Ten great rectangular buildings, five on each side of an esplanade, house the ministries and complete the government portion of the city.

CAN BE DULL

Life can be dull for the Brasilia bachelor. There are only two movie houses, hardly any recreational centers and a shortage of female company.

The confining aspect of apartment existence, exaggerated by the sense of vast empty space around it, seems the most galling bit of life in this city.

Strict zoning laws kept out private homes, and also the humble dwellings of the poorer classes.

★ ★ ★

Slums are grouped in a string of suburban communities that seem more human than Brasilia. These people helped build Brasilia. Thousands who came to find their fortunes have gone back.

BUSINESS CLIMATE

Demetrio Louizos, 33, came to Brazil from Israel and opened a shoe store in Taguatinga, a Brasilia suburb, four years ago.

"Business isn't always good," he said, "and it isn't always bad."

★ ★ ★

President Joao Goulart spent little time in Brasilia, preferring to operate from Rio De Janeiro. The new military president, Humberto Castello Branco, says "I always have lived where my command is."

This indicates he will make more use of the elaborate Presidential Palace. Congress meets here, but most congressmen don't care for Brasilia and it has often been hard to get a quorum.

21 Are Nabbed in Police Raids

DETROIT (AP)—Twenty-one persons were arrested and a reported $20,000 in cash was confiscated in raids on 16 Detroit area places by more than 100 police and federal agents Tuesday.

The raids, called the most widespread ever conducted, were at alleged gambling places in Detroit, Highland Park and Dearborn Heights.

Among those arrested was Harrison Brown, 44, of Detroit who awaits trial with Anthony Giacalone, alleged numbers operator, on charges of bribing a policeman to protest gambling operations.

All the arrested persons were arraigned in federal court on charges of wilfully failing to register as gamblers and failing to purchase tax stamps. They were released in personal bond.

Envoy Readies Canal Talks

PANAMA (AP) — Robert B. Anderson, President Johnson's special representative in the Panama Canal dispute, is expected here Monday to lay the groundwork for the coming negotiations in Washington.

Anderson, former U. S. Treasury secretary, was expected to confer with Dr. Jorge Illueca, who will represent Panama at the Washington talks.

The two countries recently agreed to resume diplomatic relations, severed after bloody rioting erupted around the Canal Zone in January.

Panama wants a new treaty to replace the 1903 pact giving the United States perpetual control of the Panama Canal Zone. The Caribbean Republic has been pushing for more sovereignty over the zone and more benefits from the canal.

The wallet contained a number of papers made out in the name of Drake. It was brought up in a fishing tug's net Monday.

George Drake of Wilton, Conn., was one of the Americans who disappeared while flying over the west end of Lake Erie. The others were James Moxon of Atlanta, Ga., and Harry E. Black and his 12-year-old son, Edward, of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich.

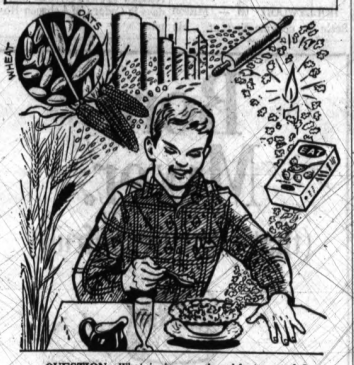
Junior Editors Quiz on CEREALS



QUESTION: What is in our breakfast cereals?

ANSWER: Cereals get their name from the Roman goddess of the harvest, Ceres. This goddess was worshipped in festivals called "Cerealia."

The word cereal means grain or grasses of such kinds as produce grain which we can eat; those grains used in breakfast cereals are mainly wheat, oats, corn, rice and barley. There are two main kinds of cereal usually served: the kind which has to be cooked at home and dry, crispy kind, coming in packages, ready to eat.

Home cooked cereal is most often made of oats. Oatmeal contains a good supply of the vital body-building element protein as well as useful vitamins and minerals.

Wheat, corn, rice and barley kernels all provide meal in various mixtures which make a tasty hot cereal cooked on the home stove.

Corn, wheat and rice, however, are most popular in the ready-to-eat dry form. To make these products, the kernels are subjected to a number of shredding and toasting processes, often including one called "puffing" in which heat suddenly applied causes the kernel to explode, becoming several times bigger than before.

Although, during manufacture, some minerals and vitamins may be lost, these are usually put back before the cereal is packaged.

Death Asked for Diem Kin

Verdict Due Tonight in Viet Murder Trial

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The prosecution demanded the death sentence today for Ngo Dinh Can, former overlord of central Viet Nam and younger brother of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

"This is the most important case in Viet Nam's history," the prosecutor, Maj. Nguyen Van Duc, declared to the tense Saigon court.

"I ask the court to consider a right and just verdict: the death penalty."

Can, 53, is charged with murder, extortion and misuse of power. He rested his head on his forearm during most of the prosecution's summing up. Occasionally, he wiped the sweat from his brow with a small towel.

A verdict is expected tonight.

★ ★ ★

The prosecutor called the Diem regime a "dictatorial government, the Mandarinal sharkskin regime." Diém, a former Mandarin, habitually wore a white sharkskin suit.

'INSULTED DEPUTIES'

"Remember Madame Nhu (wife of Diem's slain brother Ngo Dinh Nhu) who, with her stupid attitude, even insulted deputies of the National Assembly that Diem claimed represented the Vietnamese people," the prosecutor said.

"And don't forget the hidden but powerful power groups in central and southern Viet Nam and overseas who had the power to illegally arrest, torture and assassinate people during the long nine years of the Diem regime."

Probe Case of Belgium X-Ray Clinic

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)— Police have released two Brussels doctors and a laboratory technician charged with disabling an X-ray room during the 17-day strike of Belgian doctors.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said the investigation was continuing into the case of Dr. Willy Gregoire, 43, Dr. Guy Van Regenmorter, 35, and Pierre Van Obbergh, 52, who were arrested last Friday, a day before the strike ended.

They could be sentenced to three years in jail if convicted on the charge of damaging the power line in an X-ray room at a Brussels clinic.

The House of Representatives gave Premier Theo Lefevre's coalition government a 137-21 vote of confidence yesterday for its handling of the strike.

★ ★ ★

The government has agreed to negotiate a revision of the laws governing the state medical insurance system.

A recent revision, which caused the doctors' strike, cut their fees and provided for government supervision of their treatment records.

My sincere thanks to all the people who supported me in the election and friends who helped in my campaign.

Workers Moved Closer Together for U.S. Savings

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you notice federal employes inching their desks closer, the motive may be economy—not togetherness.

Bernard L. Boutin, head of the General Services Administration, the government's housekeeping agency, estimated Tuesday that "each square foot reduction GSA is able to accomplish in the average per-employe - square - foot - of - space occupied produces an annual savings to the government in rental, maintenance, and operation cost approximating $1.5 million."

★ ★ ★

Boutin told the Senate-House Economic Committee that GSA succeeded last year in reducing the average from 150.3 to 146.8 square feet, saving $5 million.

Why Women Live Longer Than Men?

White House Doctor Says Activity Longevity's Key

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House physician Dr. Janet Travell thinks women live longer than men nowadays because "a woman never retires."

★ ★ ★

"She keeps on doing the things she's been accustomed to doing all her life," Dr. Travell notes.

★ ★ ★

The ever-present chores of housekeeping, the dusting and the cleaning up, may be what's behind the longevity of the ladies, Dr. Travell said. "In the older age groups," she added, "women keep much more active than men."

★ ★ ★

Gray-haired Dr. Travell, an ex-New Yorker, came to the White House in 1961 at the request of President John F. Kennedy, who had been her patient for years for treatment of his back ailment. She was the first woman ever to hold such a job.

JOINS MRS. LBJ

This week, Dr. Travell joined Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson on a trip to Cleveland, Ohio to look at a new low-cost public housing development for the elderly.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Travell evidenced a long-time interest in the study of geriatrics. She thinks, with many other doctors, that keeping mobile and keeping going plays a large part in keeping people living longer. There's a great deal for the medical profession to learn about aging and "we need more research programs," she said.

On the Cleveland trip, Dr. Travell, who hasn't been talking much with reporters lately, pulled out some statistics about the elderly.

Armed with Census Bureau reports she called attention to these facts:

- There now are 18 million Americans 65 or over and more than a million over 85.
- 12,000 are over 100 years of age.
- In the 95 to 99 bracket, there are twice as many women as men—26,000 to 13,000.
- For every 100 men in the 65 or over population, there are 125 women.

Although Dr. Travell is 62, an age when many persons start to think about retiring, she has no such plans. She continues working daily at the White House as well as serving on the staff of George Washington Medical Center nearby.

She and her husband, John Powell, an investment counselor who have two daughters, are a familiar part of the Washington social circle.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Travell had a bit of advice, too: "never lose your enthusiasm and your drive."

Raise String Beans?

For Sale: Long, Thin Farms

GUYMON, Okla. (AP) — Need a farm 37 feet wide and 1½ miles long? Or perhaps 20 feet wide and a half-mile long?

These odd-shaped pieces of land — as well as regular tracts —in three Oklahoma Panhandle counties will be auctioned next month, the Bureau of Land Management said Wednesday. The land, amounting to 4,032 acres, is valued at $70,405.

The federal government still holds the land because it was never taken by a homesteader, or because it was lost in old surveying errors.

Peter Gutierrez, chief of the land section of the U.S. Land Office, Santa Fe, N.M., said main value of the land is to adjacent property owners who will get preferential treatment in acquiring the property, if they desire.

Laos Rebels Press New Rule Despite West's Opposition

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian revolutionary committee declared today it is determined to form a new government as diplomats worked feverishly to undo results of the right-wing coup.

Diplomats representing the United States, Britain, France, Australia and India flew to the royal capital of Luang Prabang to meet with King Savang Vathana and neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma.

* * *

Col. Ekam Singvongsa, a spokesman for the rebel junta, declared: "We are going to make an appeal to all compatriots, including the (pro-Communist) Pathet Lao, to join a workable government."

The Pathet Lao, one of Laos' three main political factions, already has charged that Sunday's coup was an imperialist plot that threatened renewal of the Laotian civil war.

Ekam indicated the revolutionary committee, as the coup group calls itself, was prepared to continue its efforts to form a new government despite the possibility that U.S. aid to Laos might be cut off.

The United States has made it clear that it wants Souvanna reinstated and it insists on a return to the neutralist coalition government that grew out of the Geneva agreements on Laos in 1962.

* * *

The neutralist premier flew to the royal capital of Luang Prabang, 120 miles north of Vientiane, Tuesday for his second meeting with the king since right-wing military leaders seized control of Vientiane Sunday and put Prince Souvanna under house arrest.

The king and Souvanna were joined in Luang Prabang today by U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger, Soviet Ambassador Sergei Affanassiev, British Charge d'Affaires John Denson, Australian Ambassador Malcolm Morris, French Ambassador Pierre Millet and Indian Ambassador Bikram Shah.

GENEVA ACCORD

All the countries except Australia were among 14 nations that signed the 1962 Geneva agreement guaranteeing Laotian neutrality and setting up the coalition government. The envoys are trying to get Prince Souvanna and his coalition of neutralists, right-wingers and pro-Communists reinstalled.

Souvanna was accompanied to Luang Prabang by several members of his Cabinet including Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, his right-wing deputy premier who insisted he is trying to get things back to normal.

* * *

In an unexplained change of plans, the coup leader, Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, and his deputy, Gen. Siho Lamphouthacoul, did not accompany the premier. They sent a lieutenant colonel.

Kouprasith and Siho had accompanied Souvanna to Luang Prabang Monday, when the king told them he did not approve of the coup and reportedly asked Souvanna to form a new coalition government.

* * *

The United States and other Western powers sought in vain Tuesday to persuade the rightists to abandon their power grab before it touched off violent counter measures. The pro-Communist Pathet Lao has warned that the coup could plunge Laos back into civil war.

William Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, departed for Washington via Bangkok to report on his apparently futile round of meetings. President Johnson sent him to Vientiane from Saigon, where he had accompanied Secretary of State Dean Rusk on an inspection trip to South Viet Nam.

* * *

Kouprasith and Siho refused to give ground despite the urgings of Bundy, Ambassador Unger and diplomats of Britain, France and Australia.

The Western envoys met first for an hour with Souvanna in his villa surrounded by rightist guards.

'NO CHANGE'

The Western diplomats then spent an hour with Kouprasith and Siho. "No change," said one diplomat.

Finally Bundy and his colleagues called on Phoumi, who seemed embarrassed by the generals' power move. Phoumi told newsmen he had assured the diplomats he would try to restore normal conditions.

* * *

Bundy had little to say after his sessions with the rightist leaders.

"I don't know whether they'll see the matter in its true light or not," he said as he left Vientiane.

PRESS RESIGNATION

A high-ranking official close to Souvanna said the revolutionary committee was pressing the premier to resign.

Vientiane's cable office reopened today after being closed since the coup, but the military regime imposed censorship on outgoing press dispatches.

* * *

Red China made its first direct comment on the coup today, accusing the United States of seeking to set up a government in Laos which would exclude the Pathet Lao and its leader, Prince Souphanouvong. Souphanouvong is also a deputy premier in Souvanna's government, though he has boycotted it for 14 months.

Peking said the only solution to the crisis was to release Souvanna and all others arrested by the rebel group and to punish the coup leaders.

Students Plan Travel Abroad

18 From Waterford on Exchange Plan

A total of 18 students from Waterford Township will travel abroad this summer as exchange students.

Kettering representatives in the summer program will be Ruth Arseneau, Sandra Bowden, Gayle Ellsworth, Pat Gracey, Jim Haviland, Kathy Largent, Linda Mathews, Sharon McQuiston, Jim Mumby, Larry Novess and Sue Windeler.

The Waterford Township High School group will be Janice Abel, Mike Bennett, Karen Hunt, Tony Kellogg, Mary Ott, Lynn Schalitt and Kay Serlin.

Some of the students will finance their own trips and others will receive aid from the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC).

* * *

The Council has established the Jon Simon Memorial Fund for the specific purpose of providing financial assistance to students accepted by the Michigan Council of Churches for the exchange program.

PRESENT FUND

Presently, the fund contains $800. This total is expected to increase substantially as the result of three fund raising campaigns.

GWCC members currently are soliciting donations from area businesses and organizations. This drive will conclude May 1.

Students are contributing to the cause now by selling shrubs. A series of fund raising activities during Student Exchange week, beginning May 1 also is planned.

* * *

Tom Hendrickson is chairman of the GWCC Exchange Student Committee. Serving with him are Mrs. Norman Pankner, Mrs. Edmund Windeler, James Amell and Howard Bennetts.

An official of the Lorton Reformatory of the District of Columbia, which recently sold its bloodhounds, said it was not uncommon for dogs to follow a scent to a mutli-lane highway and then sit around, confused.

Starts Neighborhood Nursery

JANET ODELL
Executive Womens Editor

Educational authorities agree that the better prepared a child is for school, the better his chances of succeeding in his studies.

Pontiac has a number of nursery schools. But many families cannot take advantage of them, because of the few places available each year and the fees.

But nursery school experience is important.

Mrs. William Lyle, wife of the former assistant rector at All Saints Episcopal Church became interested in this problem. About a year ago she started meeting with church, school and social work leaders in an effort to do something constructive about it.

Her enthusiasm sparked that of others and the Episcopal Church Women decided to take on the program.

In December the Lyles left Pontiac for a new assignment. But organizational work went on and All Saints Day Care center opened in March under a state license.

Pre-school children from the three schools in the neighborhood were allowed to register. There are 28 pupils in the school at this time, meeting two mornings a week for 10 weeks.

The day care center has received support from a number of Pontiac organizations.

The Pontiac Board of Education has made their resources available to the group. Mrs. Pearlina Butler, principal of Whittier School, helped with curriculum and teacher training.

Pontiac Urban League has provided the expendable material for the nursery.

Church members serve as teachers, on the board of directors, as consulting doctor and dentist and as "angels" with financial support.

Women of the Urban League Guild and church women furnish transportation for the youngsters.

The children are receiving much teacher attention. They follow a regular nursery school program with both group and individual activities.

Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, program director, is hoping that the success of this pilot program will encourage other Pontiac churches to institute the same thing.

Having more of these neighborhood projects would result in more kindergarten children being ready for school. Educators say they can spot dropouts very early in a child's career. Here is a program that can help in the beginning.

Working with Mrs. Atkinson as teachers are Mrs. David Snider, Mrs. Phillip Jacobsen and Mrs. Donald Morrison.

Teaching assistants are Mrs. Charles Cullen, Mrs. Wilmore Green, Mrs. Paul Godoshian, Mrs. Ralph Strang, Mrs. Kenneth Burr, and Mrs. Reginald Lamont.

Mrs. Robert Turpin is the visiting teacher and community contact chairman.

Don't Take Flowers Off the Table

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband and I were invited to a wedding reception. There were 10 guests at each table and in the center of each table was a very pretty centerpiece of fresh flowers.

When the reception was over several of the guests took the flowers home.

I said this was not the right thing to do but others disagreed and said it was perfectly proper since the bride's family could hardly use all these flowers and they would only be thrown away.

I would like your opinion.

★ ★ ★

A: You are absolutely right. Unless the bride's parents gave permission to the guests to take the flowers, they had no right to assume that the flowers would be thrown out and should not have taken them home.

It is more than possible that the bride's parents had intended to send them to a home or hospital for the patients to enjoy.

Q: My 13-year-old granddaughter will be graduating from grade school in June. I would like to buy her a ring with a diamond in it for a present.

I would like to know if you think it will be in good taste.

★ ★ ★

A: A diamond ring would not be in good taste for a 13-year-old.

Q: A friend was recently married and my fiance and I were invited to visit them in their new apartment. My fiance thinks we should take a small present.

He said it is customary. I don't think so. What do you say about this?

★ ★ ★

A: Taking a gift for the new house is not at all obligatory, but it is a friendly gesture and many do it.

Q. When a lady is seated and a gentleman is introduced to her, does she rise?

A: Only if she is hostess or he is a very important personage.

No Birthday Cake

Writers Berate 'Shrew'

DEAR ABBY: After reading about the woman whose birthday presents consisted of new carpeting, a sofa cover and an invitation to go out for dinner from her husband, and some charms for her bracelet from her son, but who was unhappy because she didn't get a cake, I could not resist writing to you.

ABBY

March 8th was our 19th wedding anniversary. I have never had a cake. On my last anniversary I got a kiss, an embrace and a sincere "I love you."

★ ★ ★

In 19 years we have gone out for dinner five times. My only complaint is that my husband isn't able to devote more time to our four youngsters.

But knowing that he must travel 60 miles a day to support his family, I can overlook this.

You made my day when you followed that woman's complaint with this sentence: "The most important thing a man can do for his children is to love their mother." My carpets are threadbare, I don't expect to go out for dinner in the very near future, and I don't own a charm bracelet.

★ ★ ★

But when my husband comes home at night, I feel as though I am 21 and it's our first date. Just sign me—

LUCKY IN LOVE
IN HARRISBURG

DEAR ABBY: Some women are nuts. I'm talking about that shrew who didn't get a cake for her 46th birthday, and although her husband gave her lovely gifts and invited her out for dinner, she was so mad she opened a few cans for his dinner and went straight to bed.

★ ★ ★

I have been married for 17 years, and the only time my husband ever thinks about my age is when he has to fill out some papers and has to know when I was born.

And he never remembers from one time to the next.

NOT NUTS

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Brother-Sister Co-ordination

Many families find they must furnish a "coeducational" bedroom: i.e., for a young sister and brother to share. Choose colors both boy and girl will like such as blue and yellow or blue and green.

★ ★ ★

Whenever you get curtains or bedspreads for children, however, keep washings in mind and choose vat-dyed colors for rugged wear and color-fastness.

Longhorns Dance Friday

Longhorns Square Dance club will dance Friday at the CAI building on Williams Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

Bob Longe, caller, will conduct a half hour square dance workshop at 8:30 p.m. with dancing continuing until 11:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Plans will be discussed for a cooperative dinner and for the May 8 dance, which will also be held at the CAI building.

Store Blankets Without Weight

It's best to store those clean and fluffy blankets on top of the storage stack over the summer months. If crushed, the tiny air spaces in the "nap" which retain body warmth as you lie under them will disappear and the blanket will lose its warming power when needed next fall.

Son Susceptible to Female Bossiness

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Three years ago our older son got married. As he was nearly 37, we were glad to see him settle down.

But his wife is trying to come between him and me. If we are talking, she has to interrupt to get him to do something for her that can't wait.

★ ★ ★

It is the same story when I telephone. He is too busy to come to the phone but she will give him the message.

She won't give him a chance to decide if he wants to talk to me....

ANSWER: Why does he take it? Why are you blaming your daughter-in-law for your son's acceptance of her bossiness?

He exists. He takes up space, possesses weight and substance. But you don't sound as though he were alive to you at all.

You talk about him as though he were a nothing — as though the only wishes that counted in this situation were your desire to talk to him and his wife's desire to stop him from talking to you.

Why don't you ask yourself why your son is so susceptible to female bossiness?

★ ★ ★

FOR AWHILE

When by the use of charm, fear, reproach, tears and other weapons, we make a boy child ashamed of his opposing wishes, we may have a fine, easy time of it for awhile.

We rule over him, uncontested, queen of the hive. But when the time comes for him to choose a wife, our troubles begin.

Having taught him to imagine that he loves bossy women, he has no alternative but to choose Queen Bee II for his wife.

★ ★ ★

As we have made our wishes his wishes, she now makes her wishes his wishes. If she doesn't wish him to talk to us on the telephone, he defers to what she wants as meekly as he has deferred to our wants.

MAY FUSS

Oh, he may fuss a little. He may say, "Who was that on the telephone?"

★ ★ ★

He may protest the decision that has been made for him — but in the end, all Queen Bee II has to do is reproach hard enough to turn the protest into a subsiding mutter.

★ ★ ★

And we find mush in the child who should have become a man — the strength, the comfort and pride of our advancing years.

Calling All Brides

If you've said "yes" to him and haven't told us, do it now.

We want to have your engagement announcement at least two months before the wedding, if you want pictures both times. No engagements are announced within a month of the wedding date.

The Pontiac Press has printed forms for both engagement and wedding announcements. But you may send in the details, giving full names and addresses (husband's name for a married woman) and other pertinent details. Please include a telephone number so that we may check, if necessary.

We prefer to receive bridal pictures and stories before the wedding. The deadline for bridal pictures is two days after the ceremony (that is, no later than Tuesday a.m. for Saturday weddings).

If the wedding takes place out of town, this deadline is extended.

BEST PICTURES

Pictures should be black and white, preferably glossy prints. Snapshots will not reproduce well. Color and tinted pictures are not acceptable.

While The Press makes no promise to use every picture submitted, some printed mention of the event will be made.

There is no charge for editorial space, but it cannot be reserved, nor can we promise the size of a picture or its position.

Engagement and wedding pictures are kept for two months, then discarded. They may be called for any time after publication.

Lakeland Players Set Play Date

The Lakeland Players are now in rehearsal for their spring production "Five Finger Exercise," by Peter Shaffer.

A drama in two acts, it depicts a young German tutor striving to seek refuge from a past which includes a tyrannical Nazi father and life in war-torn Germany.

★ ★ ★

Absorbed into a middle class English family, he finds their inner turmoil far more complicated than his own.

Starring in the play are Chris Noordhoorn, Patti Hott, Tom Droessler, and Edwina Delbridge.

Also starring is Hy Fireman. Mr. Fireman is with the Concept-East, a professional repertory theatre in Detroit, and is a former Lakeland Player.

★ ★ ★

"Five Finger Exercise," is under the direction of Peg Kurzman who has appeared in such past productions as "The Crucible" and "The Women."

Tickets for the May 22 and 23 production at 8:30 p.m. in the CAI building are available from any member of the Lakeland Players.

Beauticians Slate Fashion Show

The Pontiac Federated Beauticians chapter 188 will present their 13th annual fashion show Sunday at Bethune School on Lake Street from 4 to 6 p.m.

La Trelle Powers models will be featured. Mrs. Ann Jones is president of the group and Mrs. William Walker, chairman of the fashion show.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I recently had a fascinating visit with Moya Devi, director of the Yoga Guild of America, at Carnegie Hall in New York City. I have seldom met such a refreshing, vibrant, alive, gay personality. If Moya Devi is an example of what Yoga can do for one, I am all for it!

Miss Moya is an American of Peruvian extraction who practically grew up with Yoga. Both her mother and father, who traveled extensively, were exposed to this ancient science at an early age.

Being a Westerner who has been actively associated with Hindu Yogi's, she knows both the Eastern and Western methods of learning.

★ ★ ★

I have an entirely new idea of Yoga and what it really is since my talk with Moya Devi. Miss Moya said, "Most people associate Yoga with those who have given up the world and gone to caves or jungles in search of God.

BASEBALL PLAYER?

"Some even think Yoga is yogurt, a food, or Yogi Berra who is a baseball player."

"Others consider the real practitioners of Yoga to be those who sit on beds of nails, eat glass or torture their bodies. Nothing could be further from the truth!"

I did not think that Yoga was a food or a baseball player, but I must admit that I did not realize that, in its simpler forms, it is so applicable to the daily lives of most men and women.

Miss Moya explained that Yoga really means to yoke or join. For instance, a man who is highly engrossed in his work can be said to be in a state of Yoga, and most persons, without realizing it, have assumed some of the postures of Yoga.

FOLLOW THROUGH

They just haven't followed through with the rest of the fundamentals of this physical approach to learn the secrets of health and spiritual understanding.

There has been a tremendous increase in the interest of Yoga during the past few years. I asked Miss Moya why she thinks this happened.

It is her opinion that this is due to the fact that so many persons in public life, and so many stars of opera and the stage are practicing this art.

★ ★ ★

Then, too, thousands of our boys in service during the war, were in countries where Yoga is a part of life. Probably, most of all, these are times of strain.

TENSE TIMES

They are tense times and more people feel the need of complete relaxation and spiritual peace.

Moya Devi instructs people of all ages. One of her pupils is 92 years old and many of them began to learn at middle age and later. This practice must be rejuvenating.

Age is not mentioned in Yoga until one is over 100 years old and Lorna Standish, a descendant of Miles Standish, is still doing headstands and is 95 years old.

Self-adhering vinylfilm can be used to rejuvenate pieces of furniture relegated to the attic. At the left is a small telephone table with fluted legs—easily covered for about a dollar. The old magazine rack at the right shows how you can transform an accent piece without all the problems of stripping and refinishing.

Searching Study of Adolescence

Teens, Experts Discuss Maturity

The baffling problems that teenagers cope with as they seek maturity will be explored by guest speakers and discussed by teenagers themselves at a May 9 conference of Y-Teens, Girl Scouts, and Horizon Girls (senior Camp Fire Girls).

★ ★ ★

Meeting in the Oakland center at Oakland University, the girls will hear Herman Resnick of the University of Michigan school of social work keynote the conference theme, "Maturity and Me."

He will cover the questions: what is maturity? what is mental health? and are you neurotic yet?

Obstacles to maturity will be outlined in five talks.

Donald Kern, administrative director of Oakland Child Guidance Clinics, will speak on "Coping With Parents."

"Coping With Studies," will be discussed by Harold J. Abrams, consultant supervisor in special education for Oakland schools.

COPING WITH PEERS

The problem of coping with peer groups — finding your group; playing different roles in different groups; techniques of group dynamics — will be explained by Ivon Echols of the Merrill Palmer Institute.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Ralph Stribe, minister of the Church of Our Saviour, West Bloomfield Township, will talk on "Coping with Boy Friends." Doris Webster, work education coordinator for the Special Youth Employment Project of Detroit, will speak on "Coping with the Law."

★ ★ ★

Beginning at 10 a.m. the conference program will be followed by luncheon.

Teenagers will discuss four topics: wanting your own way, getting your own way, what is your own way, and the way to maturity.

O U DEAN

Discussion groups will be introduced by Dr. Donald O'Dowd, dean of Oakland University.

Final address will be made by Lowell Eklund, associate dean of the division of continuing education at OU. He will discuss "The World Needs Mature People."

Conference moderator is Mrs. Priscilla Jackson of OU's division of continuing education.

★ ★ ★

Girls interested in attending the conference may register until May 1 at any branch of the YWCA, at the Girl Scout office or the Camp Fire Girls office for $2.75.

Togas, Cocktails Set for Beta Chi Installation

A Grecian motif, with members wearing togas, set the scene for the Monday evening installation of Beta Chi chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, officers.

A cocktail party given by Mrs. Harry Rhodes preceded the buffet dinner in the Avondale Road home of Mrs. Rudy Mazza.

The new president installed in the candlelight ceremony is Mrs. Edgar Plympton. Other officers are Mrs. James Vincent, vice president; Mrs. John Christoff, and Mrs. John Orosey, secretaries; and Mrs. Dale Girdler, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

After naming the new year's committee chairmen, Mrs. Plympton announced the Saturday meeting of the sorority's Pontiac City Council at Sylvan Glen Country Club. Founder's Day will be marked by a luncheon at that time.

Guests for the evening were sponsors Mrs. Ralph E. Allen and Mrs. Louella Ervin.

A research team of chemists has developed a test to find out whether a racing greyhound has been drugged. The test works within 15 minutes and can identify the drug used within 40.

For Women: Glove Trick

Memo to forgetful females: If you frequently find yourself all dressed up with no clean white gloves to go, try this grooming gimmick.

As soon as you return from a "dress-up" event, go straight to a washbasin of soap or detergent suds. While still wearing the gloves, wash, rinse, and hang them to dry. It's as easy as washing your hands, and rewards you with ever-ready clean gloves.

Clear Cover for Company

To prevent staining a "company" tablecloth, cover it with clear plastic bought by the yard. Not only does this add a lovely sheen, but a sudsy sponge will erase spills and spots right on the table!

For a seasonal touch, use a solid cloth in the traditional color, arrange appropriate cut-out pictures over the surface and then spread the plastic cover carefully. And remember to launder the cloth itself occasionally.

Special Show Slated by Area Pianist

Carol Rosenberger, noted Detroit-born pianist, will give a special recital April 29 at 8 p.m. in the gold room of Oakland University.

The program is offered free to the public.

★ ★ ★

This will be Miss Rosenberger's first appearance in the area since returning from a debut tour of Europe where she received outstanding notices.

For her OU recital Miss Rosenberger has programmed Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, Schubert's Impromptus No.'s 3 and 4, Faure's Nocturne No. 3, 12 Chopin Preludes and Beethoven's final Sonata, Op. 111.

★ ★ ★

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Rosenberger of Bloomfield Village, she began her formal training under Edward Bredshall. She gave her first solo recital at eight in the Birmingham Community Center.

Plan Room Garden

Is there a "shut-in" in your neighborhood? The Society of American Florists suggests the neighbors get together, each providing one flowering plant to form a cheerful "indoor garden" in the sick or disabled person's room.

Bake Three Vegetables With Cheese Sauce

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Cauliflower is a delicious vegetable, but it can be rather colorless. Mrs. Ralph O. Allen has a recipe that takes care of that.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Allen, the mother of five lively youngsters (including infant twins) is active in a number of civic and organizational groups. She is also an accomplished musician.

CAULIFLOWER CASSEROLE SUPREME

Cook whole cauliflower in boiling salted water. When tender, drain. Cut carrots into slices and cook until tender.

Place cauliflower in center of casserole. Arrange cooked carrots and drained onions around the cauliflower.

Cheese Sauce

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper
½ pound medium cheese, cut into small pieces

Melt butter or margarine. Blend in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring to mix. Cook over low heat until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese and stir until melted.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: I made a two-piece dress with a scooped neckline, and found out too late that the neckline isn't for me. What can I do? I would appreciate your help. I am one of your faithful followers from Canada and eagerly await your weekly hints.
Mrs. E. A. W.

Dear Mrs. E. A. W.: Before you try a neckline that is different than what you are used to, it is best to make a sample bodice out of muslin to check it out. Of course, I realize that this advice is a little late at this point.

First, may I suggest that you ease the neckline in a little by pinning it to a piece of interfacing that is cut slightly shorter than the neckline of your dress.

Next, cut a strip of bias about 4 or 5 inches wide, fold it in half and baste the raw edges to the neckline of your dress. Pull the bias slightly as you apply and it will cling closer to the neck.

After you have checked to see that it is the correct length you may finish the ends. This bias fold will roll over the neckline slightly and produce a soft effect as well as fill in the neckline for you.

Dear Eunice: Please tell us how to make arrowheads for detail interest on our skirts. Mrs. F. L.

Dear Mrs. F. L.: A handmade arrowhead is a detail that gives a custom finish to the top of pleats, ends of darts, pockets, etc., and can make a garment look twice as expensive as it really is.

These can be added to ready-made skirts also. They are most effective when used on plain fabrics and are usually made with silk buttonhole twist in a matching color.

These must be made through two layers of fabirc. Add a separate piece of matching fabric on the wrong side if necessary.

★ ★ ★

Carefully mark an even triangle one-half inch to three-fourths inch with chalk, now go over these marks with a small machine stitch. It is important to have your triangle perfectly even since this will be your guide line.

FOLLOW STEPS

1. Begin step one by bringing your needle up on the left corner.

2. Insert your needle from right to left through the upper point (b), picking up only a thread or two of your fabric to form a point.

3. Insert needle in right corner. Repeat these steps until triangle is filled, be sure that each stitch is as close as possible to the previous stitch without overlapping or leaving an empty space. Press on wrong side on a heavily-padded surface for a raised look.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Since it is almost time for Little League baseball to begin for another season, this idea might be mother's solution for the baseball suit for the bat boy. These can rarely be purchased in the right color and size for the small fry.

Buy a pattern for pullover pajamas with an applied neckband on the right side. Get your material and braid trim to match big brother's uniform. Simply extend the neckline to the bottom of the jacket and put snaps or buttons on to resemble the regulation uniform.

The pants may be cut a little shorter and gathered at the knees with elastic. There were so successful I made a pair for a neighbor on another team.

Mrs. Edward G. Ross, St. Helens, Oregon, is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this suggestion.

I have made a coat froma proportioned pattern and used the medium size by mistake, I should have used the small size. The pockets are slit into the coat and now I discover they are too low for me.

Can anything be done with them at this point? I feel like I'd have to have arms like an ape to reach down into them.
Mrs. R. D.

Dear Mrs. R.D.: The simplest way to change your pockets, would be to make patch pockets and apply them over your slit pockets, bringing them higher. The old pocket won't show and you'll have that much more experience with your sewing, so cheer up, your coat can be saved.

Simple summer and spring dresses are often self-trimmed with bias folds, cordings, etc. You'll want my leaflet "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts" for this information.

Please send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

★ ★ ★

Other officers include Mrs. P. J. Laux Jr., secretary; and Mrs. Nicholas Martin Jr., treasurer.

Clean Sweep for Tenants

Well-scrubbed kitchens and bathrooms constitute the modern version of red carpet treatment for new apartment tenants.

One metropolitan building management employs six special cleaners to wield the detergent suds, so everything will be spotless when tenants arrive.

Even the floors throughout these buildings are cleaned and dustproofed so that movers won't track up the place.

This is also a good principle to follow when preparing to move into a private home.

Clean Utensil Before Using

A new iron food chopper needs to be "conditioned" before use in order to remove an oily protective finish applied at the factory.

First wash it in hot soap or detergent suds. Then — using all the cutting attachments — grind a piece of suet followed by some crackers or dry bread.

Finally, re-wash all the parts thoroughly in clean hot suds and rinse water. Wipe dry and allow to air before reassembling the parts.

Today, only eight per cent of the men and six per cent of the women around age 40 are still single, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

Knocking on a wooden elephant is Mrs. John McGrath of Edgeorge Street, one of the committee chairmen for the 11th annual card party being held by Waterford Republican women. Helping wrap table and door prizes are Mrs. Ben Lowell of Aquarina and Mrs. Richard Kuhn of Gateway. The party is at 7:30 tonight in the CAI building.

Politicians to Table Hop

County and state Republican candidates will "table hop" at the 11th annual card party sponsored by the Waterford Republican Womens Club in the CAI building at 7:30 tonight.

Mrs. Ben Lowell is chairman of the party which will include card playing and the introduction of the primary candidates. Proceeds from the party will be donated to the candidates' campaign funds.

★

Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Byron Cole, Mrs. Glen Wolters, Mrs. Richard Kuhn and Mrs. Elmer Johnson. Completing the list are Mrs. Dora White, Mrs. John McGrath, Mrs. Leon Gregg, Mrs. Charles Campbell and Mrs. Eugene Griffin.

The first GOP womens club card party was a strictly social affair with proceeds going toward the purchase of band uniforms for Waterford Township High School.

In 1953 the Republican women decided to assist local campaigns through the card party. The party became a tradition which has been observed even after the women's club merged with the men's organization in 1962.

Said to have superior insulating properties, this new product has a paint finish which incorporates a chemical treatment similar to that used on the first U.S. missile to orbit the earth.

Swiss Dress Same Since the 1500's

APPENZELL, Switzerland (AP) — This remote part of Switzerland, Swiss since 1513, takes pride in preserving its traditional dress and jewelry.

Women wear black or white lace kerchiefs, gold-leaf bodice ornaments, a silk, smocked apron and a headdress resembling a giant black fan with a Mary Stuart peak on the forehead.

★ ★ ★

Married women warn off attentions with a wide red ribbon flowing from the back of the cap.

Men's watch chains are usually decorated with old coins and charms and they wear solid silver shoe buckles engraved with cows.

★ ★ ★

Pants are yellow or brown, stockings and shirts snow white and waistcoats crimson.

On feast days every man wears a single drop earring on the right ear in a gold or brass cream ladle motif which is a status symbol meaning, "I make my own cream and butter from the milk of my own cows."

For Arrangements

Bulb flowers — cut tulips, iris, daffodils, and hyacinths — are excellent for arrangements at this time of year. To prolong their life, the society of American Florists says to remove the white, fibrous section from the stem to allow more water to reach the bloom.

Sisters to Sing This Evening

Three young girls Faye, Janet and Joyce White from Salisbury, Md., former night club singers, and now a sacred music trio, will be at the Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene tonight through Sunday.

They will sng each evening at 7:30 and at all services on Sunday.

When in high school they won first place on Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" and traveled with the Ted Mack group on a tour to Europe.

They sang for the Statler chain including Cafe Rouge in Detroit, at the Music Box in Boston and the Flamingo in Las Vegas.

How to Sew This Fabric

For those who will be sewing on stretch fabrics at home, use a steam iron for preshrinking the fabric. When cutting the pattern make sure that the stretch goes in the desired direction and use sharp scissors to avoid any pulling.

To avoid marring the fabric, use chalk for marking and place pins in the same direction as the stretch. The best type of thread to use is nylon for elasticity and strength. Finish seams by pinking and use a dressmaker's or turned-and-stitched hem.

IN WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Faye, (left) Janet and Joyce White known as the White Sisters, will sing at evening services in Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene tonight through Sunday.

Swimming for beginners and those more advanced, life saving and diving from the one and three meter boards are taught in the Intramural building at Oakland University on Thursday morning.

New students are welcome in all classes. Telephone the YWCA for complete information.

Inspect Moisture

In transit, most floral arrangements are in containers with low water levels to prevent spillage. Therefore, notes the Society of American Florists, it is important to check gift floral arrangements to see if adequate water is available to the flowers.

Viet Bomb Blast Kills 2 U.S. Soldiers; War Toll Now 129

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two more Americans have been killed in the Vietnamese war, bringing the total U.S. deaths in action to 129.

Solon Disputes Valachi Quiz Significance

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

COSA NOSTRA: Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., disagrees with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's assessment of testimony about Cosa Nostra such as that given by ex-mobster Joseph Valachi.

★ ★ ★

In testimony given Rooney's House Appropriations subcommittee last Jan. 30 and released Tuesday, Kennedy called testimony such as Valachi's "one of the most significant developments in the field of law enforcement in recent years."

★ ★ ★

But Rooney said Valachi was "utterly cockeyed" about the death of an important witness years ago and implied that everything Valachi had said has been known for 20 or 30 years.

BRIEFINGS: Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona calls unwise a proposal by President Johnson to give intelligence briefings to "major candidates for the office of president."

But perennial GOP candidate Harold E. Stassen quickly accepted Johnson's Monday offer and said he will ask that intelligence officers come to him in Indiana, where he is campaigning in that state's GOP presidential primary.

Goldwater said the President should wait until the Republicans pick a candidate before offering any secret data. He said too much security information is already being discussed politically—especially by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, like Goldwater a candidate for the GOP nomination, said in New Orleans he wouldn't comment without knowing more about the President's proposal.

The office of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith announced: "She looks forward to receiving a formal and official invitation."

There was no immediate comment from Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon—all of whom say they are not presidential candidates.

ARRESTS: Authoritative sources say the United States and Soviet Union are close to a consular agreement after the Soviets agreed that whenever an American is arrested in the Soviet Union the American consul must be notified and permitted to visit him in prison.

The sources said Tuesday that the Soviet Union had been told that the United States would not consider a pact without this proviso.

COMMUNIST: The Justice Department has asked the Supreme Court to review a federal appeals court ruling that overturned conviction of the Communist party on a charge of failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. Court of Appeals last year threw out the Dec. 17, 1962, federal court conviction. The party was convicted of violating the Subversive Activities Control Act and given the maximum penalty of a $120,000 fine.

In its ruling the appeals court said the government had failed to prove that there was a volunteer available who would step forward and register for the party under the 1950 act.

Hungary Pair Reunited

SOMERSET, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Theodore Kovacs is safe at last with the husband and son she hadn't seen for 10 years until their airport reunion last night at Logan International Airport in Boston.

Mrs. Kovacs, 39, became separated from her husband and son, Teddy, then 7, in 1954. They escaped from Hungary, but she was captured and sentenced to five years in prison.

Her husband and son settled in Somerset, changing their name to Whitcomb.

Through the assistance of Rep. Joseph W. Martin, R-Mass., and radio station WALE of Fall River, they finally got clearance for Mrs. Kovacs to leave Hungary and come to the United States.

Three Different Party Cakes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

"Let them eat cake," was the somewhat callous response of Marie Antoinette when she was told that the French populace had no bread.

When we say, "Let them eat cake," we mean it in a hospitable manner. And give you three unusual cake recipes to prove our point.

There are two new pink angel food cake mixes on the market—Heavenly Raspberry and Heavenly Strawberry. Both have bits of fruit candy in a separate little package. This you sprinkle over the batter just before pouring it into a pan.

For an exceptionally lovely looking cake that is just right for a shower, do try Raspberry Dream Angel Cake.

Raspberry Dream Angel Cake

Prepare Heavenly Raspberry Angel Food Cake mix as directed on package in 10" tube pan. Remove from pan; cut into 3 layers.

Whip 2 cups whipping cream with ½ cup confectioners' sugar, reserving 1 cup for raspberry filling (below). Store remainder in refrigerator until ready to use on sides of cake.

Reassemble cake, spreading each layer with raspberry filling. Top with a very thin coating of 2 to 3 tablespoons raspberry jam. Spread chilled whipped cream on sides of cake. Chill cake about 3 hours. 12 to 16 servings.

Raspberry Filling

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon water
1 cup thick raspberry jam
1 cup whipped cream

Soften gelatin in water. Dissolve over hot water until clear. Stir into jam. Chill. When partially set, fold into 1 cup of the reserved whipped cream. Spread between layers.

To cut cake, mark with picks and use serrated knife.

If you're entertaining and want to get your cake ready ahead of time, Tea Cake Ring is a good choice for you. This cake has a fine pound cake texture with a unique spice-like flavor that comes from instant tea.

No frosting needed—just confectioners' sugar sprinkled over the top.

Tea Cake Ring

1 cup soft butter or margarine (½ pound)
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
6 egg yolks (½ cup)
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons instant tea
6 egg whites (¾ cup)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat butter or margarine until creamy, gradually beat in sugars until creamy. Then gradually add egg yolks and beat until very light and fluffy, about 7 minutes. Add lemon rind and vanilla extract.

In small bowl, sift together flour and baking powder. Gradually stir milk into instant tea.

At low speed, blend in flour-mixture alternately with tea-milk, in three parts, starting and ending with flour.

Now in small bowl, beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; then carefully fold into batter.

Turn into greased 3-quart bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan and bake about 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Cool on rack in pan 10 minutes, then invert cake on rack; remove pan and cool. Makes about 20 slices.

* * *

Our third recipe also starts with a mix. This time it's fudge mix which you turn into a brownie cake. Baked in a ring mold, it is served with ice cream.

Brownie Fudge-Nut Cake

⅔ cups flour, sifted
½ teaspoon baking powder
Dash of salt
1¼ cup (scant) chocolate quick fudge mix
1 egg
¼ cup shortening
⅓ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup nutmeats, chopped

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt in a small mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients and mix well on medium speed for 1 minute. Spread in greased 1-quart ring mold. Bake 25-30 minutes in a 350 degree oven or bake in a greased 8" square pan and bake 20-25 minutes.

When using the ring mold — cool cake slightly and invert on a cake plate. Just prior to serving, fill the hole in the center with scoops of ice cream.

* * *

NOTE: Individual ring molds may be used instead of the 1-quart size. Bake the individual molds 10-12 minutes. Place a scoop of ice cream in the center of each mold.

Pound Cake Finger Food

Pound cake is a pantry pal. From it you can create unique desserts in less time than the telling. Fashion 12-14 Coconut-Honey Cake Logs from a (10-12 ounce) cake.

* * *

Cut across top, squaring it off. Trim crusts and cut into 1-inch slices. Next, cut each slice lengthwise.

* * *

Cream together ¼ cup each of soft butter and honey. Spreading 3 sides of each log is easy if you insert a thin skewer into it as you go. 1½ teaspoons of butter mixture will do. Roll in flaked coconut and slide log off skewer onto a serving plate. Refrigerate until served.

Chocolate Morsels Melted in Mousse

Chocolate mousse, that magnificent classic French dessert, is si bon — "so good" — and so simple to make with this spectacular shortcut recipe using semi-sweet chocolate morsels.

Mousse Au Chocolat

Melt over hot (not boiling) water 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Remove from heat. Add 6 egg yolks, slightly beaten, with 2 tablespoons cognac. Beat until stiff but not dry 6 egg whites and a dash of salt. Fold gently into chocolate mixture. Pour into sherbet glasses. Chill. Serve with plain cream. Yield: 8 servings.

Green and Gold Color

Liven your meal with a colorful, nutritious serving of vegetables . . . and nothing can be brighter or better - to - eat than a savory dish of Corn and Brussels Sprouts Duo!

Brussels Sprouts (the Tom Thumb of the cabbage family) and sweet golden corn offer a choice blend of green and gold plus a new idea for a vegetable combination. With a partner like Brussels Sprouts, that ever popular stand by corn takes on a new taste.

Contrary to popular opinion, Brussels sprouts are not a "strong" vegetable. When properly prepared, they are a mild tasting food with a fresh green color and bring welcomed variety to the daily menu.

Once tried, this delicately seasoned combination will become a frequent "repeater."

Corn and Brussels Sprouts Duo

1 can (1 lb. 1 oz.) whole kernel corn
½ teaspoon salt
1 package (10 oz.) frozen Brussels sprouts
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup onion, finely chopped
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Drain corn, reserving liquid. Measure ½ cup corn liquid into a saucepan and add ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil; place Brussels sprouts in liquid, and bring to a second boil. Reduce heat, cover, and cook gently until tender.

Meanwhile melt butter in a skillet, add onion, and saute. Add corn, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Heat just to serving temperature. Place corn and Brussels sprouts in serving dish and toss lightly.

Oklahoma Celebrates 75th Birthday of '89 Land Rush

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Lines of men on horseback and wagons faced an invisible wall surrounding 2 million acres of unspoiled land.

★ ★ ★

It was April 22, 1889, and the cloudless morning was filled with the electricity which snaps from a man to man when big events are in the making.

Then, with boom of cannons and the blare of trumpets, the wall fell.

LAND RUSH BEGINS

Whips cracked. Men and animals plunged forward. The greatest land run in American history was on.

This year is the diamond anniversary of that great event—the opening of the unassigned lands in the heart of Indian Territory. For the first time, a virgin country was thrown open and settled by more than 50,000 persons in a single day.

★ ★ ★

President Benjamin Harrison on March 23 had signed the proclamation opening the area, which 75 years later makes up Payne, Logan, Kingfisher, Canadian, Oklahoma and Cleveland counties.

The great land rush of '89 was the first of six land openings which, by run and by lottery, opened the entire territory to white settlement by 1901. About 15.5 million acres were settled in 12 years.

PEOPLE IN RUSH

Estimates of the number of persons who rushed for their acres of free land or townsite lots those first days range from 50,000 to 100,000.

Tent cities of 10,000 pioneers rose in the middle of the prairie at Guthrie and Oklahoma City on the day of the run.

The proclamation set April 22 as the day of the opening to give everyone an equal shot at some of the rich land. Soldiers were posted to escort "Sooners" back across the boundaries.

But there were too few soldiers and too much border and when the first "boomers"—those who waited for the legal opening—arrived they found much of the choice land already held by Sooners.

HATED NAME

The name Sooner was hated by the first settlers. Later it came into more popular usage as it became identified with a pioneering spirit.

Morris Lowenstein, whose father arrived in Oklahoma City a few days after the run and whose mother followed a month later with her 16-month-old son, remembers his father's stories of what he found.

★ ★ ★

"Rough and ready, makeshift, these are the words for the law in those days," Lowenstein recalls.

When Isaac Lowenstein found the lot he wanted—in what now is in the heart of downtown Oklahoma City—he had to negotiate with a woman he found occupying the lot. he bought the land for $225 and the contract was verbal. But it was forged under the watchful eyes of two men with shotguns who had staked claims on either side of her.

WHO ARGUED?

Women couldn't legally stake claims, but then "who wanted to argue with a claim staked by a brace of shotguns?"

The lot soon became the site of the first butcher shop in town. Today a movie theater occupies the land.

★ ★ ★

Food sold at fantastic prices, and adequate food was not to be found at any price. Muddy water sold for 10 cents a bucket. Hot beer was a luxury.

Those same blocks now are in the downtown area, but that small frontier town has blossomed into a metropolitan city covering 650 square miles — the largest area of any city in the nation.

INDIAN HERITAGE

Much in Oklahoma's heritage has its roots to its first "settlers" — the Indian. Before the 1889 opening, the land was legally the property of the Indian and the few white men in Indian Territory were mostly government Indian agents, railroad workers or cattlemen.

But there were outlaws whose legendary trails and hideouts dot the state — the Daltons, Doolins, Belle Starr and the Jennings brothers. The Jennings—Al and Frank — were sons of a prominent judge and respected attorneys before turning to train robbery.

The Indians first laid claim to the land in the 1830s when Congress designated the land Indian Territory "for as long as the grass shall grow and the water flow."

The government induced members of the five civilized tribes — the Choctaw, Cherokee, Creek, Seminole and Chickawaw — to leave the south by treaty — and by force. The Indians suffered and many died of exposure, starvation and disease on the long "trail of tears" which led to their new homes in the West.

FOOD MISSING

They arrived to find little preparation was made for them by the government and promised food and supplies were missing.

The strong survived. Many Indians farmed large tracts of land and some even owned slaves. Oklahoma even draws its name from Choctaw meaning Red People.

★ ★ ★

Indians have contributed far more leaders to the state than can be accounted for by their proportion of the population. The Oklahoma legislature always has had some members with Indian blood. Two former governors, Raymond Gary and Johnston Murray, boasted of Indian blood. Will Rogers was part Cherokee and Gen. Pat Hurley, secretary of war in the Hoover Cabinet, was a Choctaw.

Drovers made the first inroads into Indian Territory with huge herds of cattle moving from Texas to northern markets at Wichita, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo. The famed trail named for Col. Chisolm cuts through Oklahoma.

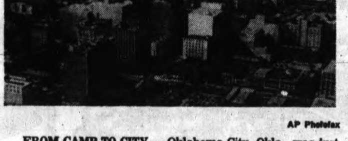
OIL BOOM COMES

The first oil boom to splash wealth in the land's economy burst through the soil in the Glen pool near Tulsa in 1905—two years before statehood. It continued with the Cushing field in 1914, the Seminole field in 1926 and one of the biggest of all time, the Oklahoma City pool in 1929.

★ ★ ★

Tulsa, founded by the Creek Indians before the Civil War, remained a village until the opening of the Glen pool. Now it is the second largest city in the state and is called the "oil capital of the world" because more than 300 oil companies are headquartered there.

Oil, agriculture and cattle still dominate the state's economy.



AP Photofax

Cyprus Talks Collapse; 'Bad Faith' Is Charged

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — The agreement to neutralize a tinderbox section of Nicosia collapsed today because of differences between the United Nations peace force and the Turkish Cypriots.

Tension over the neutralization breakdown was high. Turkish Cypriots accused U.N. officials of "bad faith."

Both the Turkish Cypriots and their rival Greek Cypriots maintained the gun positions they were supposed to dismantle within a mile-square area of downtown Nicosia.

The Greeks reinforced some of their own nests inside the Ledra Palace Hotel grounds.

★ ★ ★

A new factor entered the crisis yesterday with the disclosure that Greece had agreed to place its 950 troops on Cyprus under U.N. command.

REMOVE TROOPS

This lent weight to the demand of Greek Cypriot President Makarios that Turkey's 650 troops be removed from positions along the strategic Nicosia-Kyrenia highway.

The Turkish-controlled highway and the key Kyrenia Pass, along with Nicosia, have been major pressure points in the communal dispute and scenes of heavy fighting.

Last night shooting broke out around the Turkish Cypriot stronghold of Louroujina, southeast of the capital. There were no immediate details.

The collapse of the neutralization plan was the most serious setback yet for the U.N. force, and and it spread pessimism among U.N. officials.

REFERS PROBLEM

A spokesman said the problem had been referred to U.N. Secretary-General Thant in New York.

The plan called for withdrawal of all armed Cypriots and removal of fortifications from the city area around the Ledra Palace hotel, which serves as U.N. headquarters, and the British high commission residence. The section saw extensive fighting every day last week.

The cause of the breakdown was the insistence by Turkish Cypriots on keeping their own police stations inside the proposed neutralized area.

★ ★ ★

They accused U.N. commander Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani of "bad faith," claiming he issued details of the alleged plan which had not been discussed with them.

ACCEPT AGREEMENT

Makarios, after meeting with Gyani last night, reaffirmed his acceptance of the neutralization agreement as announced Sunday night.

High Greek Cypriot sources explained, "We refuse to recognize the Turkish Cypriot police stations anywhere on the island."

From the start of the crisis in December, the Makarios government has described the Turkish Cypriot actions as rebellious.

★ ★ ★

The Turkish Cypriots, who are outnumbered 4 to 1 by the Greek Cypriots, have been resisting proposed constitutional amendments on the ground they would lose their minority rights.

Tax Notes to Be Sold

City Reaches Critical Point in Finances

"The availability of cash for general operating purposes has reached the critical point."

With that statement, City Finance Director Marvin M. Alward, warned city officals last night that one of Pontiac's seasonal ills has arrived.

This year the city will try to make it to tax collection time by selling some $1.5-million in tax anticipation notes.

Commissioners gave 5-2 approval last night to a resolution authorizing Alward to prepare the tax anticipation notes and submit them to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) for approval.

★ ★ ★

Once the proposed notes have been passed by the MFC, the city can proceed to sell them.

MATURE IN 6 MONTHS

They will mature in six months (October), and will be retired from tax revenues to be collected in July.

Alward, in a memo to City Manager John F. Reineck, pointed out that "this is not an unusual situation."

"In past years," he said, "we have been able to borrow from balances in other funds and also have had some advance payments on taxes" to meet expenses incurred in the first half of the budget year.

★ ★ ★

The budget is run on a January-December basis, while taxes are not collected until July.

Alward said one reason for the present cash shortage was that the budget had been based on an "anticipated reduction in personnel" which never occurred.

ANOTHER REASON

Another reason he said was that "the payment from urban renewal of $409,000 expected in April will not be realized until late in May."

Opposing last night's action were Commissioners Winford E. Bottom and Samuel J. Whiters.

Bottom said he felt the action should be taken by the incoming commission.

He moved to defer action one week. The motion was defeated, 5-2.

Whiters felt that the new commission should approve the financial measure because it might otherwise blame the present commission for taking a step which is unnecessary.

SIX-MONTH GAP

Alward pointed out that the move was necessary and the basic cause was in the City Charter provisions for budget and tax collections, which leave a six-month gap between expenses and income every year.

★ ★ ★

As far as deferring action was concerned, Alward warned that "each day's delay is crucial at this point."

He estimated it will take four to six weeks to get the tax anticipation notes approved by the MFC.

Steady Wheels of Justice Grind Out a Baleful Tale

By JIM DYGERT

If anyone had taken a close look at his jury questionnaire, William Bale might not have served on the jury that convicted a man of armed robbery in Oakland County Circuit Court last September.

Bale, 32, of 2727 Royal, Berkley was sent to prison for armed robbery, himself, yesterday, and this was consistent with his record.

When his name came in as a prospective juror from Berkley's tax rolls last year, Bale already had burglary and larceny on his record.

The law requires that such information be reported on the juror's questionnaire, and Bale duly reported it.

The questionnaires are open to inspection by defense attorneys, the prosecutor's office or anyone else who's interested.

But no one noticed.

FAMILIAR FACE

During the trial at which Bale served as a juror, trial Judge Frederick C. Ziem glanced into the jury box and thought Bale looked familiar.

Judge Ziem had prosecuted a burglary charge against him in 1951 when he was in the prosecutor's office.

The judge sent his court clerk to check Bale's record, but by the time he got back the guilty verdict was in.

"The law requires jurors to be of good character," Judge Ziem said today. "When we found out about him, we would have excused him from jury duty, but we didn't have to."

NEVER RETURNED

Bale never returned for further jury duty because he was arrested that night for burglary.

The burglary charge was dropped, but Bale later was arrested for the Jan. 22 armed robbery of a patron and the manager at a Madison Heights bowling alley.

According to police, Bale fired six shots at the manager and the patron, missing with all six before he was overpowered by a porter swinging a bowling ball.

But he got up and fled while the manager called police, running right through a plate glass door and cutting his hand.

ARRESTED AT HOME

He was arrested at his home the next morning after state police remembered stopping and questioning a man with a badly cut hand.

Bale was convicted by a jury March 26 after a lengthy trial before Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn, who yesterday sentenced him to 10 to 20 years in the state prison at Jackson.

Hearing Set on Assault

A preliminary hearing in Municipal Court for Henry J. Williams, 43, of 501 Alton on an aggravated assault charge was scheduled yesterday for April 29.

Williams is accused of shooting Oliver Thompson, 46, of 235 Crystal Lake, Monday morning. Oliver suffered a superficial wound on the forehead.

Williams was returned to Oakland County Jail after he failed to post a $5,000 bond set by Judge Cecil McCallum.

Crash Injuries Kill Baby Boy

Mother's Car Hits Tree Near Lapeer

LAPEER — A four-month-old Metamora Township boy died last night in Hurley Hospital, Flint, of injuries suffered in the afternoon when his mother's car left the road and hit a tree.

Wade Hill was taken to Lapeer County General Hospital with his mother, Mrs. Virginia Hill, 25, and brother Keith, 5.

Mrs. Hill, 525 E. Sutton, and Keith were treated and released, but Wade was transferred to the Flint Hospital with severe head injuries.

Lapeer City Police said Mrs. Hill was headed into town on M24 when the accident happened. They said a car had stopped ahead of her waiting for a gravel truck to make a turn.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hill was unable to stop as she approached the two vehicles, lost control of her car, left the road and hit a tree.

Wade was thrown to the floor by the impact.

Chairman Is Named to Lead UF Unit

Duncan Laidlaw, 6360 E. Surrey, Bloomfield Township, has been named chairman of the Michigan United Fund Inter-Agency Organization.

Laidlaw is executive director of the Michigan Chapter, Arthritis and and Rheumatism Foundation. The Inter-Agency Organization consists of the MUF staff and executive directors of 36 member units, including the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Agreement Cuts Record Suit Award

Oakland County Circuit Court's record damage judgment of $150,000, which was won by a Warren man for psychological injuries suffered in an auto crash, was reduced to $85,000 yesterday by agreement with the defendant trucking company.

Attorneys for Jack Newby, 24, agreed to accept the lower figure as the Inter-City Trucking Co. of Detroit dropped its appeal of the jury verdict won by Newby Jan. 31 after a six-day trial before Judge William J. Beer.

Newby claimed that dripping sounds from among the broken bottles in his beverage truck after the accident so frightened him that they caused psychological shock.

The dripping, he said, made him think of gasoline and an accident he had once seen in which a gasoline truck exploded.

★ ★ ★

Doctors testified that Newby was hopelessly mentally ill as a result of the "psychological trauma."

Newby and his wife claimed negligence on the trucking firm's part in the accident, in which the company's 10-ton truck plowed into the rear of Newby's truck March 29, 1962, in Hazel Park.

Commission Okays Airport Betterment

The City Commission last night passed a resolution approving a proposed $81,355 improvement project at Pontiac Municipal Airport for 1965.

The city's share of the project cost is $20,338. Airport improvements are financed by federal, state and local funds.

Included in the 1965 program is construction of a building to house fire crash equipment.

Youths Jailed in Break-In Try

Two Pontiac youths were placed on three years' probation and sentenced to 60 days in jail yesterday for their attempted burglary at Sid's Grill, 67 W. Huron.

Darrel W. Garrett, 18, of 264 N. Saginaw and Robert L. Bannister, 20, of 671 Cameron also were ordered to pay $150 court costs each.

They were sentenced by Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn.

CAUGHT IN TUNNEL

They and a 16-year-old boy were arrested in the Clinton River tunnel under the Riker Building a short distance from Sid's Grill March 21. They pleaded guilty March 30 to attempted breaking and entering.

Drive Gains 4,693 New Bond Savers

A corporationwide drive to enroll employes in the U. S. Savings Bonds payroll deduction plan netted 4,693 new participants at the three General Motors plants in Pontiac.

GM President John F. Gordon today said the participation rate of the company's employes in this country now stands at 73.5 per cent, a record peace time high.

"The enthusiasm with which this year's savings bond program was conducted at 144 GM plants and offices brought 76,000 new members," said Gordon, exceeding the original goal by 14,000.

Gordon, who is chairman of the automotive and allied industries group for the Treasury Department's 1964 bond drive, said GM actively promotes the program to encourage thrift and systematic savings "while assuring the welfare of this country and its citizens."

Station Burglars Sentenced

Robert Hesselgrave, 17, was sent to prison for burglary yesterday while his two companions in the crime were placed on probation.

Hesselgrave of 9324 Applewood, Union Lake, was given a 2- to 15-year prison term by Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt.

He pleaded guilty March 26 to breaking and entering a gas station at 3495 Pontiac Trail in West Bloomfield Township four days earlier.

Placed on three years' probation each for the same offense were William J. Carnahan, 24, of 1367 Delta, Walled Lake, and Richard Petter, 19, of 2749 Bender, Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Carnahan and Petter also were ordered to serve 60 days in jail and pay $150 court costs each.

PLEADED GUILTY

They were sentenced by Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn, before whom they pleaded guilty March 30.

At the time of the offense, Hesselgrave was free on bond awaiting trial for a Nov. 20 break-in at the Detroit Gun Club in Commerce Township, a charge that was dropped when he pleaded guilty to the March burglary.

Three others arrested for the gun club burglary were placed on two years' probation each yesterday, however, and ordered to pay $150 court costs each.

★ ★ ★

They were Benjamin L. Swift, 18, of 2306 Union Lake, Union Lake; Douglas Freytag, 20, of 3573 Elder, Orchard Lake; and David S. Hargraves, 20, of 317 Charlevoix, Union Lake.

They pleaded guilty March 26 to a reduced charge of entering without permission and were sentenced by Judge Pratt.

★ ★ ★

Ford Supports Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald W. Ford, R-Mich., said in House debate on the $46.8 billion defense appropriations bill Tuesday "we have sufficient military power today to deter any rational enemy" and to "win any war."

"And the enemy knows this," said Ford.

★ ★ ★

Ford, ranking Republican on the House Subcommittee on Defense Appropriation, urged support of the bill though also cautioning against any future large cuts in defense appropriations.

"I am worried," he said, "about what could be the circumstances in the era of the 1970s if there should be a decline in the availability of funds."

N-CARRIER

Ford said he would have preferred that the bill include another $126 million for a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

Hart Reveals Confab to Air Ferry Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Tuesday a meeting will be held April 29 at Cheboygan, Mich., in an effort to hold off abandonment of car ferry service by the Mackinac Transportation Co., between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace on the Straits of Mackinac.

Efforts will be made, Hart said, to coordinate federal and state attempts to prevent the abandonment.

★ ★ ★

Those expected to attend include Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, and members of his staff; city and local officials; Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich., and Hart.

Rep. Victor Knox, R-Mich., said Tuesday that the Mackinac Transportation Co. asked the Coast Guard for an extension of its certificate to continue operations of the car ferry service.

NEEDS REPAIRS

The Coast Guard has said the company would have to make extensive repairs on its equipment if it is to continue operating, and set May 24 as the deadline for making them.

Florida Abductor Killed

LAKE PLACID, Fla. (AP)—State Sen. Hayward H. Davis killed an unidentified armed man with two shotgun blasts last night after the man had terrorized Davis' family for four hours, police said.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Sheriff Bob Barringer said the intruder had abducted Davis' wife, Carol, in the family auto, leaving Davis bound and gagged in a closet.

Davis, 35, worked free, armed himself and shot the man when he returned with Mrs. Davis to pick up her driver's license, Barringer said.

Barringer said the family was "quite shaken up" but none was injured. The deputy said the man threatened to kill Davis, his wife, their son, 2½ years old, and their 15-month-old daughter.

★ ★ ★

The slain man was driving an automobile with Georgia license tags, and an attempt was made to establish his identity through the registration.

★ ★ ★

Officers said Mrs. Davis and her children were alone in their home, 30 miles west of Lake Okeechobee in south central Florida, when the man knocked at the door yesterday afternoon and said he had car trouble and needed help. He left when Mrs. Davis told him her husband was away and she could not help him.

AWAITING RETURN

She and the children went to a nearby lake for a swim, and found the man awaiting them when they returned.

The assailant held them captive at gunpoint until Davis arrived. He, too, was taken captive.

Mrs. Davis was forced to bind and gag her husband, then ordered to accompany the gunman in the Davis auto.

"I knew somehow or other they would return," said Davis.

Shortly after he worked himself free, the Davis car pulled into the drive. Davis waited in a bedroom with his gun.

HIT IN CHEST

As his wife and her captor walked down a hallway past the bedroom, Davis fired one barrel. It struck the intruder in the chest.

★ ★ ★

Barringer said reflex action caused the gunman's finger to tighten on the trigger of his pistol. It fired twice. One bullet struck the ceiling, the other an ironing board.

Davis fired again and hit the man in the leg.

Attributed to Drive on Chemicals

Russia Growth Rate Shows Decline

MOSCOW (UPI) — New government figures showed today that Russia's current industrial growth rate is the lowest since the start of the seven-year economic plan.

Some Western economic experts here attributed the drop to vast new investments in a drive to boost the production of chemicals.

The figures also showed a decrease in labor productivity, although most of the items in the industrial sector exceeded the state quotas.

The economic trends were contained in a report from the Soviet Union's central statistical board covering the first quarter of 1964.

The massive drive for more chemicals was announced last year by Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

CONSUMER GOODS

The chemicals will be used for certain consumer goods and extensively for fertilizer to bolster the country's lagging agriculture.

The report disclosed that the Soviet industrial growth rate is "about 8 per cent."

This compares with the 8.2 per cent figure for a like period published last April.

In April 1962 the rate was listed at "more than 9 per cent."

AHEAD OF U.S.

Even so, the Soviets claim that the nation's economy is outstripping the United States.

Mineral fertilizers were up 20 per cent over last year. But animal fats slumped about 12 per cent in comparison with last year's first quarter — apparently because of the lack of fodders with which to feed cattle.

Last year's poor harvest, caused in part by inclement weather, forced the Soviet Union to contract abroad for about 10 million tons of grain, much of it from Western countries, to feed the nation.

* * *

Labor productivity was listed as growing only 4 per cent. Last year's equivalent figure was 5.4 per cent.

MOST CATEGORIES

Nevertheless, with the exception of Azerbaijan Republic, the statistics said that the majority of industrial categories were oversubscribed.

In Azerbaijan, the industrial plan was fulfilled only by 99.3 per cent.

The statistics claimed a 15 per cent increase in chemical production, a 12 per cent increase in electrical energy, and an 11 per cent increase in machine and metal work.

* * *

Notable drops occurred in harvesting combines, tractors, sewn goods, plows and other items.

Cushing Retraction Draws No Comment

HOUSTON (UPI)—The editor of the John Birch Society magazine, American Opinion, would not comment yesterday on Richard Cardinal Cushing's repudiation of support for the society.

The Roman Catholic leader, in a radio speech Monday night, withdrew a letter of endorsement he gave the society, and its founder, Robert Welch, four years ago.

"If it is true," the cardinal said in the broadcast, "that two members of this society called my nearest and dearest friend, the late John F. Kennedy, a Communist, they and all their associates owe an apology to the world."

But Stanley Long Jr., the magazine's editor, said no prominent member of the society had ever called the late president a Communist.

★ ★ ★

"We do not believe he was a Communist," he said. "He was merely a victim of his advisers and was suffering from intellectual vertigo."

EXPLOIT DEATH

Long said extreme leftists are exploiting Kennedy's death "as an instrument of sympathy to promote passage of civil rights legislation."

★ ★ ★

The cardinal withdrew a letter of 1960, in which he said "I do not know of any more dedicated anti-Communist in the country than Robert Welch. I unhesitatingly recommend him to you and endorse his John Birch Society."

★ ★ ★

In his retraction Monday night, the cardinal said "Since 1960, the John Birch Society has gone to extremes that I could never endorse."

Urge to Kill Told by Admitted Slayer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Police said a teen-age AWOL sailor has admitted using four weapons to kill the mother of a childhood friend. His reason: He had the urge to kill.

★ ★ ★

Police said Michael Matthews of Phoenix signed a statement yesterday admitting the Sunday slaying of Mrs. Priscilla Ann Zambrosky, 50.

They said he first broke a pistol over Mrs. Zambrosky's head, stabbed her with a knife, beat her over the head with a shotgun until its stock broke and then shot her in the back of the head with a skin diving harpoon gun.

Prayer Advocate Warns 'Cynics' Endanger Nation's Morale

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leader in the fight against the Supreme Court's school prayer decision said today "a fraternity of cynics" seeks to sever all national ties to religion.

Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-N.Y., sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment that would permit prayers and Bible reading in public schools, urged its speedy adoption by Congress.

Becker was the first witness at House Judiciary Committee hearings which he has been demanding ever since the June 1963 court decision outlawing official public school prayers.

At least 60 members of Congress and about 75 church and public witnesses are expected to testify at the hearings, which probably will last more than a month.

MAIL CAMPAIGN

Becker, who has traveled over the country urging support for his proposed amendment, and who helped stir up one of the most massive mail campaigns in its favor ever to hit Capitol Hill, said the issue raised is the most important Congress can face.

"The welfare and the entire future of our beloved America depend upon how we handle the most dynamic tradition in our national life—dependence upon Almighty God," he said in a prepared statement.

Those who pressed the issue that was finally resolved by the Supreme Court, he said, are determined to "create a feeling that a tribute to God in relation to the affairs of our nation is a misdemeanor, if not a crime."

Many church leaders have spoken out in opposition to Becker's proposed amendment.

'CAN'T IGNORE'

Becker did not refer to them, but noting the heavy outpouring of mail supporting his position, he said: "If we ignore the compulsion which comes from the hearts of the people concerning this matter, we will be put in the position of throwing off the switch which connects a central dynamo to the lights of a great nation."

Members of Congress will be the only witnesses called the rest of this week.

The first church spokesmen will not appear until next Wednesday, but a preview of some church opinion was given Tuesday by a group of Maryland clergymen.

GOP Leaders Serve Notice Viet Nam Policy Will Be Attacked

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson had sharp notice today that the continued presence of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in Saigon is not going to blunt Republican attacks on Viet Nam policies.

Lodge had indirect advice from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois that if he wants the Republican presidential nomination he had better come home and fight for it.

Dirksen and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana fired off a salvo at a news conference Tuesday demanding that Johnson end what they said was the fiction that Americans are not actively participating in the South Viet Nam fighting.

DECLINED TO SAY

Unlike Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a presidential aspirant, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is available for the nomination, Dirksen and Halleck declined to say whether they think the war should be extended to Communist North Viet Nam.

Dirksen said he had heard rumors that Lodge was unhappy about developments in Saigon and might be coming home soon. Pressed on this point, he said he had no information to substantiate reports of this nature.

But he added: "If I had presidential aspirations—and I want it noted that I do not—I would think very seriously of coming home. If you want something and want it badly enough, you go out and work for it."

Lodge, who won the New Hampshire GOP presidential primary and is rated a top contender in the May 15 Oregon primary, has given no indication how long he intends to stay in his diplomatic job.

At about the time Johnson was saying in a White House rose garden news conference that Republicans ought to support the President when he is right and oppose him when he is wrong, Halleck dismissed as "ridiculous" Johnson's plan to brief GOP presidential aspirants on foreign affairs.

Halleck and Dirksen said such briefings might be of value to the top presidential and vice presidential nominees. But Halleck said "trying to brief all of the candidates at this time would be ridiculous."

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Antibiotics Can Control Bone Infection

Q—How does osteomyelitis affect a person? Can it be cured without an operation?

A—Osteomyelitis is an infection in a bone. It is painful and slowly destroys the bone. In the past the condition has been treated by opening the bone and establishing drainage but, although this relieves the pain by allowing the pus to escape, it rarely cures this chronic disease.

BRANDSTADT

With the advent of antibiotics, treatment of this condition has improved, but special techniques are required to get a sufficient concentration of the antibiotic in the actual site of the infection.

This treatment is applied only after opening the bone and scraping out the devitalized parts.

Dr. Stuart Mudd, working at the Veterans Administration hospital in Philadelphia, has been using a bacteriophage which is a virus that destroys the staphylococci that cause the osteomyelitis and has reported good results.

★ ★ ★

This would be a nonsurgical form of treatment but it is still experimental.

Q—My doctor says I have porphyria. Is this an allergy? How will it affect me? What causes it?

NOT AN ALLERGY

A—Porphyria is not an allergy. It appears to run in families.

The underlying cause is an excessive production by the liver of prophyrin, a pigment.

The victim usually has recurring attacks of severe abdominal pain, constipation and extreme muscular weakness — especially of the hands and feet.

★ ★ ★

Some victims get dark pigmented spots on their skin. Exposure to sunlight may cause severe blistering.

★ ★ ★

The urine may appear normal when it is first passed but if it is allowed to stand in the sunlight it turns the color of burgundy wine or darker.

AVOID BARBITURATES

You must avoid barbiturates because they aggravate this condition. Reserpine, cortisone, dimercaptopropanol and other drugs are frequently given but it is hard to evaluate the results because even without treatment most victims have remissions.

Q—What makes me have a salty taste in my mouth all the time? How can I get rid of it?

A—Excessive smoking is a cause in some persons. In others it may be due to sleeping with the mouth open or to an acid saliva coming in contact with a metallic dental filling.

★ ★ ★

Such medicines as ammonium or calcium chloride, sodium or potassium iodide and bicarbonate of soda taken over a long period will cause a salty taste.

★ ★ ★

If any of these causes apply to you, you can get rid of it by removing the cause. You should also eliminate table salt from your diet.

NY Exchange Bares Plan for Customer Aid in Stock Frauds

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange today announced a proposal for providing up to $25 million to aid customers in case a member firm goes under the way Ira Haupt and Co. did last year.

The proposal calls for building up a $10-million primary fund over a period of five years to be supplemented by a $15-million indemnity bond or standby credit, said exchange President Keith Funston.

Final details and a vote of the membership are required before the proposal would take effect.

The board of governors has already approved the general approach, the exchange said.

Ira Haupt, an old-line brokerage firm, was swept under by the court-aired demise of Allied Crude Oil and Refining Co. last fall.

The stock exchange provided $9,500,000 to aid Haupt customers at that time and ordered studies to see how this problem could be handled in the future.

The new proposal grew out of the efforts of a special committee, headed by John L. Loeb, senior partner of Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades and Co.

The $25 million would be in addition to $10-million blanket bond the exchange maintains to cover fraud, Funston said.

The funds are to enable the exchange to act in any insolvency regardless of cause.

Funston said "The exchange had already taken steps which should substantially lessen the likelihood of a Haupt-type situation occurring again."

"However, even though the exchange had no liability for customer losses, it is certainly to be expected that, should some future insolvency of a member organization threaten customer with loss through no fault of their own, the exchange would wish to provide assistance if circumstances warranted."

The committee recommended the primary $10-million fund be created by the exchange paying its entire before-tax income for five years, subject to a ruling of the Internal Revenue Service.

Antiquing the Easy Way

Auction House Built for Comfort

PICTURE STORY
By LEE OLSON

AREA NEWS

OXFORD — Hobbyists who sit inside on a lovely, springlike Sunday afternoon are no novelty in this area.

They're just antique collectors in search of a bargain.

They descend on Prior's Auction House, 3637 Lakeville, in droves to bid on most anything from a cut-glass salt-shaker to a maple chest of drawers.

Prior's, newest auction house in northeast Oakland County, is an outgrowth of Mrs. Norris Prior's own hobby of antiquing that just grew "all out of control."

The auction house, which opened about a year ago, was built with a purpose—to provide comfort for the bidders.

HARD SEATS

"I have been to so many auctions—in old barns and converted stores that are not well ventilated or heated—and besides that, the seats were hard!" said Mrs. Prior.

"I decided I wanted a place where people could be comfortable and where articles offered for sale could be displayed to advantage."

Mrs. Prior of 5633 Sutters Lane, Bloomfield Township, started antiquing to keep pace with her husband, an avid coin and gun collector.

★ ★ ★

"My first interests were cut glass and Wedgewood china. Also I had quite an extensive collection of Dresden," she recalled.

COLORED GLASS

"My favorite of all was Mary Gregory—which is a colored or clear art glass with a girl or boy in relief (raised) on it."

"That was about 25 years ago. I sold the Wedgewood and also the cut glass—but kept the Mary Gregory."

"I couldn't keep everything because we moved around."

★ ★ ★

Then the auction house idea was born.

WHITE PILLARS

The one-story brick building with white-pillared brick and clapboard front facade was erected next door to Grampian Mountain Ski Resort.

It contains a small one-room shop and an office in front with the large auction sale room directly behind.

The shop is open Wednesday through Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. Auctions are held every other Sunday from the middle of April through the first week in December.

★ ★ ★

"We always have a full house," said Mrs. Prior, who helps run the biweekly sales along with her husband and son, N. John.

John assists auctioneer "Bud" Hickmott on the platform in front of the bidders, handing over the articles going up for bids and pointing out special markings or unusual features.

Patrons come from all over southeastern Michigan and even as far away as Missouri.

They find such things to bid on as marble-top tables, rail and hanging lamps, teakwood cabinets and china and glassware of every description.

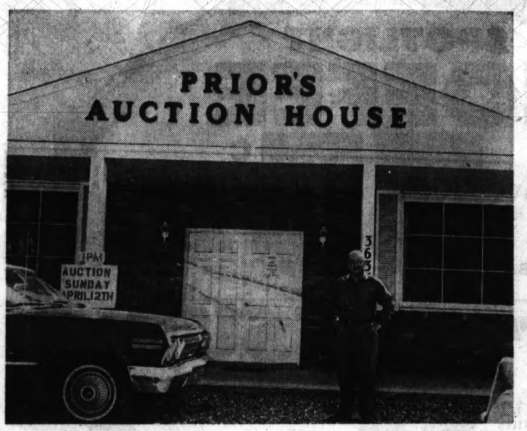
★ ★ ★

Mrs. Prior buys things for the shop but takes articles for auction on consignment.

SHE'S PARTICULAR

"But," she stipulates, "I'm fussy. I want glassware, furniture and items to sell that are attractive to collectors and are in good condition."

"After all, I'm basically a collector myself."



"C'MON INSIDE" — Norris Prior, a gun and coin collector in his own right, stands out in front of the auction house to welcome patrons to the biweekly Sunday sales. The combination antique shop and auction sale building is on Lakeville Road next door to Grampian Mountain Ski Resort, east of Oxford.

Pontiac Press Photos

"WHAT AM I BID?" — Auctioneer "Bud" Hickmott raises his gavel and asks a prospective buyer to start the bidding on this unique glass flower centerpiece. N. John Prior shows the audience that the blossoms light up when the plug wired to the arrangement is inserted into an electric outlet. The next sale will be Sunday.

ADMIRE PURCHASE — Mrs. Robert Werth of Rochester (left) and her daughter Mary examine the antique scales they have just bought. They plan to paint the scales black and use them as a decorative and unusual centerpiece.

BUYS BULLET MOLDER — An avid antique collector and auction buff, William Totten of Romeo, completes the purchase of an antique bullet molder. Collecting his money is Laverne L. Oaks of Oxford, auction clerk.

Young Talent Sought for Troy Arts Festival

TROY — Auditions for the seventh and eight grade talent portion of this year's Troy Arts Festival are just around the corner.

★ ★ ★

Festival organizers are seeking all talented seventh and eighth graders who reside in Troy, to show off their musical skill by playing an instrument, singing or dancing.

★ ★ ★

Applications for the auditions are being distributed through Troy's school systems, or can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Charles Reeder, 71 Blanche.

★ ★ ★

The youngsters' talents will be featured in a one-act play during the festival, June 19 and 20. Applications must be returned to the schools, or mailed to Box 93 by April 30.

Educators to Meet

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The 77th annual meeting of the Schoolmasters' Club May 7-8 is expected to attract about 4,000 Michigan educators.

PTSA Meeting in Lake Orion

Student Social Slate Will Be Discussed

LAKE ORION—Spring social activities of students at Lake Orion Community High School will be discussed at Monday's PTSA meeting at the school.

Of particular interest at the 8 p.m. session will be the prom and senior skip day.

Leading the discussion will be teacher J. A. Van Nocker and teacher-parent Mrs. Dorothy Bankert.

After the general meeting those attending will gather in smaller groups for further consideration of the topics presented.

New PTSA officers for the 1964-65 school year will be elected and installed during the business meeting which will precede the program. Program cochairmen are Mrs. Francis A. Miller and Roger Tyrrell.

Warns Cities Gain Farm Bills Control

Farmers were warned today that big-city consumers would have more to do with writing farm programs than their rural neighbors.

"And political leaders in urban-industrial states like Michigan may have more influence on farm policy in years ahead than farm organization leaders," warned Dale E. Hathaway, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

"Slowly but surely, the old 'farm block' has been whittled away to a mere chip," the former consultant for the Council of Economic Advisors to the President commented.

"The remainder of the farm block doesn't seem willing to impose the kind of choices on farmers that nonfarm members of Congress seem to want," the agricultural economist added.

Many recent Congress votes have seen farm-oriented congressmen and senators opposing big-city colleagues such as in the recent proposal for pay increases. The warning was then sounded by urban solons that farm legislation could be in jeopardy.

GREATER CHANGE

With redistricting inevitable in most states, and the result being more city and less rural representation in Congress, farmers face even greater change.

Farm issues have been settled in recent years more along partisanship lines. "This kind of partisanship over farm policies is likely to intensify rather than diminish," Hathaway predicted.

This makes the role of general farm organizations in determining farm policy more difficult.

A stand for or against a farm bill or other legislation thus becomes identified as a stand for or against a political party, he explained.

Some farm organizations have watched their role diminish in farm policy, Hathaway contended. In trying to keep their farm policy bipartisan, they have lost support from both sides.

Farm people, however, are still an important element in states where the vote is usually close. Michigan, like New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and some other states, is in this group where the rural vote can often swing an election.

In other states, which are normally one-party states, the farmer can expect to have a diminishing role in farm policy, and in fact total political influence.

"Farm people and their farm organizations may have to learn a new set of rules on how to participate in farm policy making," Hathaway concluded.

★ ★ ★

"They are going to have to learn once again to listen and judge carefully what kind of programs will be acceptable to their city consumers — something that farmers have not had to do most times in the past."

Ham Network Speeds Eyes to Blind

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Twice a day, a retired Ann Arbor man sits in front of a microphone and a console of dials and switches and waits for word of a special emergency in which he is a vital pivot man.

★ ★ ★

For Robert V. Austin, that message could be—as it was recently—that someone had suddenly gone blind in Omaha, Neb. His job is to quickly relay information that will result in a pair of good eyes being speeded to the stricken patient.

Austin, whose interest in blindness goes back to earlier years as a Lions Club member, performs his relay job voluntarily, as do others like him across the country.

Austin and his 49 colleagues man the Eye Bank Network, a ham radio operation which links dedicated men in U.S. cities.

★ ★ ★

"This is not just blabbing over the radio," Austin pointed out. "This gives us a sense of accomplishment."

Using Austin's recent experience as an example, this is how the network functions:

FLASHED MESSAGE

Omaha urgently needed a pair of eyes. Austin, aware of a surplus at the Michigan Eye Collection Center at University Hospital in Ann Arbor, flashed the relay message. The eyes were sped to Omaha for the delicate operation.

"Work is completed within 10 or 15 minutes," Austin explained."

Emergency calls get top priority, then "the stations announce whether any surplus eyes are available, this information being pooled to the network control station."

★ ★ ★

Austin, a retired Detroit Edison Co. worker, calls the network "one of the most efficient I've ever seen. The speed and success of the operation is the ability to pool the knowledge of 50 sources."

NETWORK BOOSTER

An Austin — and network — booster is Mrs. Mary F. Hubbell, executive secretary of the Michigan Eye Collection Center. She said that without Eye Bank Network, "we would have no contact with other eye banks."

"It's going to be quite a wonderful means of getting eyes," she added.

In the Ann Arbor-Omaha case which Austin handled, Mrs. Hubbell said it was "amazing how fast the eyes were on their way to Omaha."

Before the netork began operations about a year ago, hospitals had to rely on telephone contact which often was too slow. The ham radio operators have since handled 76 emergencies and, like Austin, are ready for that urgent message which could spell the difference between sight and blindness for someone in their home towns.

Long-Truck Bill Goes to Romney

LANSING (AP) — The House gave final approval Tuesday to the so-called "long truck" bill which allows auto haulaways up to 60 feet long to use state highways.

The measure failed several times in the past. Railroad interests opposed it. The Michigan trucking industry and the Teamsters Union backed the bill.

The bill previously cleared by the Senate, goes to Gov. George W. Romney for signature into law. House passage came on a 66-36 vote.

MORE ON TRUCK

The measure will permit auto transports to carry seven cars instead of six on Michigan roads. The present 55-foot-long haulaways can carry only six cars. The 60-footers can transport one additional auto.

The trucking industry said the legislation is necessary to put the auto transport business back on a competitive level with railroads.

All of Michigan's neighboring states permit the use of 60-foot haulaways and some 20 states have similar laws on the books.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Kent Lundgren, R-Menominee, and had bipartisan support.

Opponents in the legislature contended the extra length of the transport trucks would pose a highway safety hazard.

CONVERSATION PIECE — Mrs. Norris Prior holds a chalice of bronze metal over amber-colored glass in her shop that is in the front of the auction house. The chalice, which is about 75-100 years old, is a conversation piece because of the question about which was made first — the metal or the glass.

A Sept. 5 wedding is being planned by Susan Parkins and Joseph Mullen, whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Parkins, 2104 Eastman, West Bloomfield Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Mullen of Owego, N.Y.

Goldwater Clan Stumps Up Support for Dad's Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — At hootenannies and rallies, ribbon cuttings and tea parties, Sen. Barry Goldwater's two sons and two daughters are pitching into a family crusade aimed at making the Arizonan the Republican presidential nominee.

"It's almost like running a pair of candidates ourselves," the man who is handling the political travels of hard-running Barry Jr., 25, and Michael, 24, said today.

The two Goldwater sons are doing more traveling than their father these days.

"We have a full-time man assigned to scheduling and to traveling with the boys," said James Harff, national director of Youth for Goldwater. "They're good campaigners.

LEARN A LOT

"They learned a lot in New Hampshire," Harff added. "Of course, we all did." Goldwater trailed Henry Cabot Lodge in New Hampshire's leadoff presidential primary.

The Goldwater girls, Peggy, 19, and Mrs. Thomas Ross, 27, have pitched in at tea parties and receptions, headquarters ribbon cuttings, and often on campaign platforms with their father.

★ ★ ★

Peggy, who will be married in June, often turns up with the senator on Eastern campaign swings. As a student at Mt. Vernon Junior College, she sticks pretty close to Washington, but she has been representing the family at ladies gatherings around the capital.

Mrs. Ross—Jo Anne—lives in Torrance, Calif. She has been busy opening headquarters and shaking hands in Southern California. And she made one transcontinental trip to stand in for her mother at a Garden City, N.Y., luncheon.

Mike and Barry Jr. have traveled from Missoula, Mont., to the ski slopes of New Hampshire, to the primary battlefields of California, drumming up support for Goldwater among young Republicans—and sometimes among their elders.

They've been representing their father at colleges, gatherings of campaign workers, and in handshaking person-to-person tours. Barry Jr. did one Oregon campaign stint in a helicopter.

★ ★ ★

Both boys were active in Illinois, where Goldwater made only one major campaign appearance before winning the April 14 primary.

"My father always taught us children to cherish a philosophy which promoted individual freedom," Mike told a crowd at Rockford, Ill.

OPEN INVITATION

"You all have an invitation to drop into the White House any time next year and say hello," he added.

Harff said Mike is at his best in off-the-cuff talks. Barry Jr. uses prepared speeches at many of his campaign stops.

NO MATCH

The Goldwater boys have done some campaigning their elders couldn't match. Barry Jr. shook some New Hampshire hands on the slopes at the Mt. Gunstock ski area in Belknap. The boys teamed up—with Mike at the guitar—to sing "I'm for Barry" at a hootenanny rally in New York.

★ ★ ★

Both of them will devote most of their time to campaigning in Oregon early next month, then head for California to hunt Goldwater votes in the June 2 primary.

Michael, who works for a Phoenix bank, and Barry Jr., a Los Angeles investment broker, are on leaves of absence for the campaign.

Right now Barry Jr. is stumping the South and Mike is at work in the northern Plains.

DIXIE TO PLAINS

Barry Jr. campaigns in Little Rock, Ark., Tuscaloosa and Birmingham, Ala. today. Mike is hitting Dickinson, Bismarck, Jamestown and Fargo, N.D.

How does Goldwater feel about the family campaign drive?

★ ★ ★

His sons at his side, the beaming senator told a rally in San Francisco that "it makes a father proud to have a family that will get out and work for him like this."

You May Get Wrong Conclusion

Facts Are Sure, but Watch Reasoning

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 18th article in a 20-part series designed to improve your reading. Time your reading of this column and compare your speed with that indicated at the end. The expected speed assumes a daily 5 per cent improvement.)

BY THE READING LABORATORY, INC.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

When a writer explains his views, he uses two pieces of equipment: facts and reasoning. Facts are easily checked and only fourth-rate writers or special pleaders will distort them.

The thing you have to be on guard against is the writer's reasoning. You can take two truths—it's done every day in the week—and get a wrong conclusion.

Here are two truths, but watch the trickery. 1. All criminal actions should be punished by law. 2. Prosecution for murder is a criminal action. So—look out!—prosecution for murder should be punished by law.

The trick? "Criminal action" has two separate meanings. There is no real basis for comparison there. It is something like saying that someone has four equal sides and four equal angles because he's a "square."

FREE TICKETS

Or like saying that the free tickets that I have for the movies are intelligent because only intelligent beings are free. You get it?

It might be fun to tease your weight-conscious friends with the following and see if they can spot the bad logic: "All weight-conscious people are fish because fish don't eat sugar."

This is how the mind arrived at this conclusion: 1. No weight-conscious people eat sugar. 2. No fish eat sugar. 3. Weight-conscious people are fish. The fallacy? You can't get any conclusion at all from two negative statements.

★ ★ ★

Try this one. "Show me someone who claims to be interested in a balanced budget, and I'll show you an opponent of the United Nations. There have been entirely too many voices attacking us on the score of the budget and too many outcries against our remaining in the U.N."

WHAT'S REASONING?

What that fellow is trying to prove is that all opponents of the present budget also oppose the U.N., but what's in his mind to lead him to this?

1. Too many administration critics oppose the present budget. 2. Too many administration critics oppose the U.N. 3. Those who oppose the budget oppose the U.N.

If that last statement is true, it's true in spite of the reasoning. In all deduction there must be one general, universal statement. There is none in the above.

★ ★ ★

Here's one you really have to watch. Both statements will be general. "All liberals believe in civil rights. All Communists believe in civil rights. All liberals are Communists."

NO BASIS

Here's the fallacy. There is no basis of comparison. Take all the people who believe in civil rights, and there are more in that class than liberals and Communists.

The first statement refers only to the liberal portion of the believers in civil rights; the second statement refers only to the Communist population of the "believe in civil rights class."

Two different segments, so there is no basis of real comparison at all.

★ ★ ★

To go back and pick up some of the tricks in reasoning you have to watch: Make sure that the term on which two things are compared means the same thing both times; make sure that that term is once used to take in the whole class to which it refers; make sure the writer is not arguing from two negative statements; make sure that at least one of his statements is universal.

Construction Highlights City Economy

Pontiac's economy closed the first quarter of 1964 on an optimistic note, with new construction making an especially strong comeback.

Of 180 building permits issued by the city last month, 75, representing the bulk of $1,604,458 in construction valuation, were for residential purposes.

This is the greatest investment in new housing in Pontiac since last summer. The over-all construction total is the greatest since nearly $4 million last November.

Bank debits to customer accounts reached $111,797,557 during March, over $4 million higher than February and well above the $99,922,524 level of the same period a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Detracting from the otherwise bright monthly outlook was a slip in industrial payrolls. The $11,577,821 pay total is over $1 million below the previous month and over $2 million under March, 1963.

MAIL VOLUME

Volume of mail passing through the city increased as indicated by a rise in postal receipts to $171,922.

Utility consumption was mixed, with both water and gas below usage of a year ago.

Pontiac Transit Corp. carried 75,468 passengers during March, reversing a rider downtrend that continued through February. The total is still 4,000 fewer than the previous March, however.

North Central Airlines flights from Pontiac Municipal Airport had 17 outbound passengers, just two more than the previous month but barely half the 31 carried out last March.

Governor Romney Signs Minor Legislation

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney signed two minor bills into law Tuesday. One would permit members of county and district boards of health and health committees to accept pay for attending meetings.

The other would correct the description of the Oshtemo Fractional School District, Kalamazoo County, as included in a local act adopted in 1963.

Paper Strikes to Be Curbed?

NEW YORK (AP) — Cautious optimism that newspaper management and labor will find a way to settle disputes without costly strikes was expressed today by Irwin Maier, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Maier, president and publisher of the Milwaukee Journal and the Milwaukee Sentinel, told the ANPA annual convention:

"We may be on the threshold of a new era of labor-management relations that will be marked more by enlightenment than by passions, by understanding rather than emotion, and a mutual search for common ground rather than a frantic struggle for strategic ground."

Maier, speaking in a city that had a 114-day newspaper strike little more than a year ago, told of two off-the-record meetings since then between some newspaper publishers and "a number of international newspaper union presidents."

One session was held at Santa Barbara, Calif., last September and the other in Tampa, Fla., in January. No transcripts were made and "frankness and candor were the order of the day," Maier said.

CORRECT VIEWS

"As a result of these two meetings, we have been able to correct some mutual misunderstandings," he said. "Also as a result, we have agreed to explore the field of technological improvements in the newspaper business and the possibility of developing better methods for collective bargaining.

"It is my hope that there will be an over-all development of a better understanding of some of the problems labor and management face together."

Maier sounded the note of optimism despite a report Monday by the ANPA Labor Relations Committee that "it is a fair assumption that unions will continue to think in a militant way in terms of striking to achieve their ends."

Connally Testifies on JFK Death

WASHINGTON(UPI) — Gov. John Connally says he has "no information or evidence" to indicate that the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was other than the act of a "demented individual."

Connally made the statement yesterday after testifying for about three hours before the Warren Commission investigating the assassination.

The governor, who was wounded in the assassination, later visited President Johnson at the White House.

During his appearance before the commission, Connally viewed films and slides taken of the assassination and looked over "other evidence."

He said it was the first time he had seen all of the pictures.

The governor said he was impressed by the "workmanlike way in which the commission tried to check every bit of evidence."

He said it was difficult for him and his wife "to relive the incidents leading up to the fatal tragedy."

The commission planned to hear Lt. Carl Day, Capt. J. W. Fritz and Chief J. E. Curry of the Dallas Police Department at a closed session today.

Civil Rights Board to Air Job Training

The committee, under chairmanship of Mrs. Dorothy L. Judd, expects to interview 20 Grand Rapids civic leaders. Results of the survey plus similar sessions in Lansing, Flint and Detroit will be sent to the U.S. commission for a report to Congress.

Troy Commission to Meet on 1964-65 City Budget

TROY—City Commission will meet in executive session tonight to discuss the administrative salaries portion of a proposed record 1964-65 budget of $1,460,995.

City Manager David E. Firestone has completed preparation of the tentative financial statement and turned it over to the commission.

The budget compares with a total of $1,230,070 expected expenditures for this year.

Although most spending categories are substantially higher, it is expected that none of the increases will have to be financed by increased direct costs to the taxpayers.

One of the major cost hikes is for higher salaries and additional help in the police department. The budget calls for 1964-65 spendings of $196,835 compared to this year's allotment of $155,275 in this category.

FORCE ADDITIONS

Cost of two more patrolmen and a clerk are included in the proposed police department spendings.

Additional clerks are also planned in the city clerk's and city treasurer's offices.

Some $14,000 is proposed for the salary of a city planner, who would be hired to handle many services now provided by city planning consultants Vilican-Leman & Associates of Southfield.

★ ★ ★

On the income side of the fence, the largest category of additional revenue will stem from property taxes, due to the higher valuation of the city as a whole.

GENERAL FUND

Currently $299,775 is expected to come in to the general fund from property taxes. This figure is upped to $385,000 in the proposed 1964-65 budget, due to building projects now in progress and others expected to begin.

The new budget also calls for conversion from a city assessed valuation to a state equalized valuation.

Troy can still levy only $5 for general operation and $2 per $1,000 for capital improvements. However a state equalized factor in effect, would raise the assessed valuation of the average home from $5,000 to $6,044.

★ ★ ★

This will result in a tax bill similar to this year's, but will allow the city to budget more in a general operating fund and less for capital improvements.

In Village of Rochester

$500,000 Apartment Planned

ROCHESTER — A building permit for a $500,000 project, the largest dollar-volume undertaking in village history, has been issued for construction of an apartment complex at 500 Romeo.

★ ★ ★

"Village Apartments of Rochester" is the name of the 49-unit development, planned by Malcolm Heber and Edward W. Pratt, both of Royal Oak, and James Eastin of Southfield.

Initial occupancy is scheduled for Aug. 1.

Three buildings will house the units, 25 of which will be two-bedroom and the balance single-bedroom. The structures will be identified as the Surrey House, Carriage House and Coach House.

★ ★ ★

As the names imply, the new dwellings will be designed in a modified early American architecture. Antique brick used on the exterior will be predominant in the lobbies.

WROUGHT IRON

Wrought iron railings and special lighting will add to the colonial mood of the entrances.

Developers decided to follow the Early American pattern to "conform to the village atmosphere of Rochester."

Architects for the project are Lorenz & Paski of Detroit. Although following the colonial motif, modern materials and features have been incorporated into the plans.

★ ★ ★

Aluminum will be used on the exterior wherever practical. Windows are dual sealed pane, insulating type, and all apartments are to be air conditioned.

BASEBOARD HEAT

Hot water baseboard heat will have individual controls.

General contractor for the work is the Wake-Pratt Construction Co. of Royal Oak.

Each of the three two-story buildings will have apartments confined to one floor.

★ ★ ★

Special sound abating measures have been provided, in the form of conventional insulating materials, plus resilient attached to the first floor ceiling and carpeting on the second floor units.

'NEED APPARENT'

Developers are making the investment in the belief that "the need for this type housing in the expanding Rochester area has become very apparent . . ."

★ ★ ★

The Romeo Road property was rezoned from residential to multifamily in December, to accommodate the apartments.

Commission Chairman Peter Spivak congratulated the railroad for the decision and said he hoped "the success of this venture will encourage more commuter service in the Detroit metropolitan area."

★ ★ ★

Inbound service will leave Plymouth at 6:55 a.m. and arrive at Detroit at 7:30 a.m. Two evening trains will leave Detroit at 5:20 and 5:30 p.m. and arrive at Plymouth at 5:54 and 6:03 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Residents of Northville, Livonia, Farmington and Novi also will benefit from the service, Spivak said.

Romeo High Sets Pupil Work Show

ROMEO—A spring exhibition of students' works in seven departments will be held at Romeo Senior High School Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. and again Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

On exhibit will be displays from the mathematics, chemistry, biology, art, homemaking and industrial arts departments.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to winners in the fields of science and industrial arts.

The high school Math and Science Club is in charge of the math and science displays.

Concert Set by Students in Southfield

SOUTHFIELD—The 70 members of the Southfield Junior Symphony will present their spring concert Sunday in the Southfield High School auditorium.

The 3 p.m. program will feature Sylvia Davis, 15-year-old Royal Oak violinist, and Alyce LeBlanc, 12-year-old pianist from Detroit.

Although several of the symphony members are from Southfield, teen-agers travel from Pontiac, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Oak Park, Royal Oak and Lathrup Village to practice with the group every Saturday during the school year.

Conductor is Richard Brown, instrumental music teacher in Southfield schools.

Tickets for Sunday's performance can be obtained from student symphony members, Mrs. Armen Sherkerjian of 27840 Morningside, Lathrup Village, or at the door.

For Southfield District

School Bond Election Is June 8

SOUTHFIELD — Like many of their neighbors, Southfield School District voters are facing a June 8 building bond issue — the only difference is the size of the price tag, $10.25 million.

Building proposals also are on ballots in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills. School boards asking for more operational money include those of Troy and Oak Park.

The problem in Southfield is the same as in most of the districts: overcrowded conditions and shortage of present facilities because of rapidly expanding enrollments.

Southfield school officials say taxpayers would add about $2.70 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to their levies by accepting the proposed program.

The current debt retirement levy is 5.24 mills. This includes a $7.2 million building program approved three years ago and now nearly complete.

30-YEAR BONDS

The bond issue now being sought would expire within 30 years.

Needs it would cover were outlined by a citizens advisory committee to the school board.

Its plan is designed to carry the district through 1970. Enrollment projections indicate school population will jump from 11,000 to 18,000 in the next five years.

Listed in the tentative program are construction of the district's second high school, a 600-student addition to the present high school and housing for 1,800 more elementary pupils.

The committee also favors providing the district with its fourth junior high school and converting two others to complete junior-high operation.

★ ★ ★

Concern was with Birney and Lederle schools, where some elementary classes now are being held.

Report Tornado Hit Farm in Flint Area

FLINT (UPI) — An unconfirmed tornado struck early today near the community of Clio, ripping the roof off a barn and demolishing a small shed.

No injuries were reported by Mrs. Phyllis Vanover of Clio.

She told police she heard a "roar" early this morning and looked out her window and spotted the black funnel.

She said the funnel ripped off the roof of her barn, demolished a small aluminum shed and cut a wide swath through her backyard.

Mrs. Vanover told United Press International that she was in her home when the tornado struck.

"I saw it in the sky and it was funnel-shaped and it appeared to be skipping over the tree tops. At first I thought it was an airplane, by the noise it made.

STOPPED RAINING

"I looked out the window and all of a sudden it stopped raining, and then I heard the roar. It came through the front yard, swung around and cut off at an angle.

"My husband had already gone to bed and my son, who lives at the back of our house in a home of his own, had already gone to his wife," Mrs. Vanover said.

"With all the thunder and rumbling, I really couldn't tell what it was until I saw the funnel, I just thank God no one got hurt," she said.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Flint was scheduled to send a man out to the Vanover farm to assess the damage.

Winds of 39 miles per hour were reported by the bureau earlier in the day.

BARBARA ROMEO

The engagement of Barbara Romeo to Raymond W. Hall is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Romeo, 1480 Merkle, Ortonville. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hall of Flint. An early fall wedding is planned.

ALLAKAZAM! — Limbering up for the harem dance they will perform in Holly High School's annual senior variety show are (from left) Gail Herrington, Karen MacKenzie and Pam Hayes. "Flight 1964" will carry the class around the world, with stops in England, France, Italy, Egypt, Africa, Spain and Cuba. The show, directed by Ginger Hubble with Jerry Miller as her assistant, will be presented at 8 p.m. tomorrow and Friday in the school's student center. Tickets will be available at the door.

Lapeer Home Plans Program

LAPEER — A public information program will be held at Lapeer State Home and Training School Sunday as the institution observes the beginning of Mental Health Week.

Leading the 1:30 p.m. forum on the institutional care and treatment of the mentally retarded will be Dr. Anthony Abruzzo, medical superintendent.

Brief comments on their departments will be given by representatives of nursing, psychology, recreation, school, medicine, social service, patient affairs, domestic services and patient training.

DISCUSSION BOOTHS

Other staff members will be available for individual discussion booths after the opening meeting in Woodside School on the institution grounds.

Memorials Abroad Perpetuate John Kennedy's Name

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The name of John F. Kennedy —assassinated five months ago today — lives on in memorial projects on every continent.

A survey by the Associated Press shows that schools, scholarships, forests, streets, bridges and parks have been named in his honor abroad.

★ ★ ★

More than two dozen West German cities have acted. Three days after his assassination, a quarter of a million persons jammed a plaza in front of West Berlin's City Hall for its rededication as John F. Kennedy Square.

Britain is turning over an acre of Runnymede Meadow for a Kennedy memorial. On this cherished plot in 1215, King John signed the Magna Carta, cornerstone of English political and civil liberties.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Public subscriptions are under way for a scholarship fund to send British students to Harvard, Kennedy's alma mater, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and for a statue in London.

Nowhere abroad was the impact of Kennedy's death stronger than in Ireland, home of Kennedy's forebearers. In Dublin, a concert hall will be built as a state memorial and a main street, Westmoreland, will be named in his honor.

★ ★ ★

A bridge will bear the Kennedy name in Skibbereen, County Cork, home of Kennedy's maternal grandmother. Irish-American organizations are raising $100,000 for a memorial park in a wood near Duganstown, County Wexford, where he visited relatives on his trip to Ireland in June 1963.

Another rechristened span is Vienna's Hietzinger Bridge, which Kennedy crossed during his meetings with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in 1961.

STREETS, SQUARES

Paris and nine other French cities remember Kennedy with streets and squares. Monte Carlo also has named an important avenue after Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Besides schools, streets and squares already renamed in Italy, the government is considering changing 6,000-foot Emmele Alto Peak in the Dolomites to Kennedy Peak.

★ ★ ★

The Netherlands has invited Mrs. Kennedy to unveil a bronze bust at the head of Amsterdam's Kennedy Avenue next Nov. 22, anniversary of the assassination. Denmark has raised $45,000 for a Kennedy home for mentally retarded children.

★ ★ ★

Communist Yugoslavia has renamed a boulevard in Belgrade and a square in Zagreb and plans honors in Skopje, which received U.S. aid after a devastating earthquake last July.

CANADA FUND

Canadians have contributed $77,000 to a fund for retarded children. A Kennedy monument —a triangular public shelter — will go up in Fredericton, N.B.

★ ★ ★

A 90-mile highway from Quebec to Maine's Route 201 has been designated Route du President Kennedy. Quebec and Montreal have Kennedy streets and Montreal has a new Roman Catholic school named after him.

★ ★ ★

Housing projects aided by Kennedy's Alliance for Progress have been renamed in Latin America. A 14-mile road linking Quito, Ecuador, with a monument at the equator has been renamed, and a bust of Kennedy will be placed at the equator.

★ ★ ★

Lima, Peru, erected a bust a month after Kennedy's assassination. Colombia issued a stamp. Numerous schools, parks and streets were rededicated elsewhere in Latin America. Venezuela has given $100,000 for the Kennedy library.

SCIENCE FELLOWSHIPS

Israel's Weizmann Institute of Science is raising $5 million to establish 46 annual science fellowships—one for each year of Kennedy's life. Israel also plans a memorial forest near Jerusalem, a university chair in American civilization, a center for retarded children near Jaffa, and a cultural center in Galilee financed by a Boston garment workers union.

Four streets and squares have been renamed in Greece; in Lebanon, Beirut's Rue Clemenceau has been changed to Ru Kennedy and the American University is setting up a scholarship.

★ ★ ★

Turkish Boy Scouts planted 4 million trees in Istanbul's Kennedy Forest. Middle East University in eastern Turkey established a scholarship fund, and streets and a highway were renamed.

Iran is building a $3-million Kennedy Boulevard through downtown Tehran.

In Africa, a street has been renamed in ancient Carthage, outside Tunis, and a square in downtown Algiers. Senegal has renamed a girls' school in Dakar, and Nigeria has opened a Kennedy library in Zaria.

★ ★ ★

Japanese workers at the U.S. Yokota air base raised money for a granite monument. Thailand set up a Kennedy educational foundation. In South Viet Nam, Saigon's school for U.S. dependents was renamed for the late president.

★ ★ ★

Other memorials have been authorized or are pending.

There are now some 159,200,000 telephones in the world.

ASTHMA & SMOG

Air poisoned by smog, gas, dust and pollen aggravates recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. At the first sign of difficult breathing, wheezing, coughing and mucus congestion from such causes, start taking MENDACO to combat allergy, loosen and help remove choking phlegm, and thus promote freer breathing and more restful sleep. Most druggists keep and recommend MENDACO.

Senate Passes Weapons Bill

Tighter Restrictions Voted in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Tuesday voted to tighten Michigan's concealed weapons laws to ban guns built to look like cigarette lighters or harmless tools.

* * *

It unanimously passed two bills introduced by Rep. James Farnsworth, R-Allegan, which he said were a result of the assassination of President Kennedy.

TRICK WEAPONS

After a review of the state firearms statutes, state police asked for new laws against the trick weapons.

Also unanimously passed by the Senate was a bill to allow school districts to raise millage, by referendum vote, to finance area vocational-technical programs.

* * *

This measure, sponsored by Rep. Charles Davis, R-Onondaga, and the weapons bills were returned to the House, which has approved them in basic form, for agreement in minor Senate changes.

* * *

The Senate passed, 24-8, and sent to the governor for his signature into law, a measure bringing policemen and firemen under workmen's compensation coverage in some cases.

AILMENTS DEVELOP

The House-approved measure declares that heart and lung ailments which develop while a policeman is employed by a township or village department are deemed to arise from his job in absence of evidence to the contrary.

* * *

These were among 37 House-approved measures passed by the Senate Tuesday, leaving 61 measures awaiting final disposition Wednesday.

Calvin College to Host 100 State Educators

GRAN DRAPIDS (AP) — Approximately 100 educators from Christian schools in Michigan are expected here Friday for the spring meeting of District 2, National Union of Christian Schools. Calvin College is the meeting site. Consolidation of Christian schools in areas where several exist is among topics to be discussed.

Not Anti-Shakespeare, but . . .

Ustinov Discusses the Bard

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Thursday is William Shakespeare's 400th birthday and Peter Ustinov plans to make a quiet, sane day of it.

THOMAS

No lifting of flagons. No gamboling on the green. Ustinov will have none of the celebrations that are taking place throughout the English-speaking world.

* * *

It's not that he is anti-Shakespeare. Nay, sire. He even defends the Bard against those who claim his works were penned by Francis Bacon.

"Bacon couldn't have written the plays," says Ustinov. "He was too much the gentleman, too much the educated man. Those are the chaps who become critics. It's the less educated writers who create the real works of art. They haven't the assurance to be parasites."

DELIVERS THOUGHTS

Ustinov was delivering some thoughts about his fellow actor-playwright while wrapped in a bright yellow bathrobe on the set of "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home."

"Shakespeare is England's most reliable export," he observed. "Whenever the cultural ministry is in doubt about what to send abroad, it always relies on Shakespeare. He's safe.

* * *

"I've made it my business to elude playing Shakespeare. I've done some on radio, but never on a stage. Stratford—the No. 1 Stratford—wanted me to play Falstaff this year, but I wasn't able to arrange it. I should like to play 'Lear' some day.

"Scholars generally consider Shakespeare the greatest English playwright, but not the best. That is, his construction was a bit untidy at times.

A FARMER

"I always think of him as a farmer, which he apparently was. I have visions of actors asking him to rewrite the last act so it will play better and of him answering, 'Sorry, but I've got to go buy a cow.' He seems to have had other things on his mind.

* * *

"Shakespeare is inclined to be dirty, but I resent those with dirtier minds who insist on expurgating the plays so they may be read by school children. It's utter nonsense.

"It's too bad that Shakespeare has so overshadowed the other Elizabethan playwrights who did some great plays, too.

"Actors make the best playwrights. Shakespeare was an actor, so was Moliere, so was O'Neill. Shaw? He was acting all the time.

What would Shakespeare be doing if he were alive today? I think he'd be writing very successful movies, sort of a Dalton Trumbo type."

Tigers Face Bo Belinsky After 6-4 Triumph

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Commissioner of baseball Ford Frick gave out with a loud "nay" when the proposal was made by a national television company to have the Major Leagues cut their schedule to 60 games.

From 162 to 60 games would be somewhat drastic, but a cut of 60 games from the overall schedule certainly would make sense.

It seems, however, that anything that does make sense to help baseball is rebuffed by the old guard of the Major Leagues.

Look at the opening day baseball crowds in most cities and one would wonder why some of the stadium gates were even opened.

Watch the attendance figures at the end of the season and some games don't draw enough people to pay the salaries of the ushers.

This time of the year and along about early October are the most overlapping seasons in sports.

TOO LONG

Pro hockey and pro basketball are still going through playoffs which should have ended April Fool's day, and these are blanket and thermal days for baseball.

Horse race fans are letting the moths out of wagering wallets; golfers are searching for golf balls imbedded in ankle deep mud; tennis players, trackmen, boaters, auto racers, bowlers and spring football teams are all clamoring for their share of the sportlight.

Baseball is the biggest offender of trespassing into other seasons. Hockey and basketball are likewise guilty.

★ ★ ★

One could condone those who participate in individual sports, but when baseball tries to stuff the throats of the spectating public from early February into mid-October, which will now carry later dates for the World Series, the rebellion of partisan sports fans is bound to continue.

Right now, pro football teams already are three weeks behind in announcing their 1964 schedules, primarily due to the fact that the later baseball schedule has presented many problems in the use of stadia during September and October.

"Baseball deliberately lengthened its season to start a fight with pro football for sports attention," said one pro football official, "but they are just cutting their own throats because they'll eventually lose a good chunk of revenue which they got for rental from pro football teams."

WARN OF JAM

If it's any kind of hint for baseball people, The Associated Press has already warned all newspapers about the October crush in sports and many papers voiced their opinions in a survey where cuts will have to be made.

There will be a head-on collision in October of baseball, college, high school and pro football, Olympic games in Tokyo plus many other national and local sports events and seasons of note.

It may not be considered too important in the minds of the big league brass, but the AP survey shows that the first cut in sports space to help alleviate the October jam will be eliminating some phases of game box scores and the play by play of innings from the World Series.

★ ★ ★

To sports page readers this may not mean much, but to the sports departments it means trying to get every bit of sports news in the fastest time alloted and anything considered "dead wood" matter will have to be pushed a side to do this.

It should be indicative to those who make up the baseball schedules as to where the first cut will be to ease the conflict for sports page space. Other sports would do well to take heed.

Warriors Home Facing Battle in NBA Playoffs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Boston's Celtics and the San Francisco Warriors meet again tonight at the Cow Palace with the Warriors battling to stay in the National Basketball Association playoffs and avoid a white-washing.

Not since 1959 when the Celtics beat the Lakers of Minneapolis four straight has the final playoff been determined in the minimum number of games.

★ ★ ★

Alex Hannum of San Francisco vows it won't happen this time although his club trails two games to none. He also said they'll win in seven even though no NBA club has won a playoff after losing the opening pair.

Hannum said his club was roughly handled in Boston and added:

HOME COURT

"At the Cow Palace, the Celtics are going to get back what they gave us — all the elbowing, pushing and grabbing. It's going to be a very aggressive game."

Red Auerbach of Boston has warned the Warriors against fisticuffs such as marked the second game in the Boston Garden when Wilt Chamberlain decked Clyde Lovellette with a right to the nose.

★ ★ ★

Auerbach had to be calmed by his star, Bill Russell, during that flare-up but he observed, "I trust this is a basketball playoff."

Whatever it becomes, a crowd of 12,000 is expected to be watching.

Early Tryouts, Practices Set in Waterford

Pre-season practices and tryouts will be staged this week and next as the teams prepare for the May 5 opening of the Waterford Township Recreation men's softball program.

Ten teams have thus far indicated a desire to participate in the two leagues—Class B and Class C. The deadline for entering the league is set for this Friday, April 24, at 4:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Players looking for a team are welcome to attend the pre-season practices under the lights at the Drayton Plains Softball Park, Dixie Highway and Sashabaw Road.

The practice schedule (with team-managers' names in parenthesis):

Thursday, 7 p.m.: Team managed by Bob Casteel—B; 8:30: Huron Bowl—C (Glenn and Floyd Reynolds).
Friday, 7 p.m.: Spencer Floors—B (Tom Pearsall); 8:30: Howe's Lanes—B (Reggie Shaw).
April 29, 7 p.m.: UAW—C (Hugh Remley); 8:30: Lakeland Pharmacy—B (Paul Atkins).
April 30, 7 p.m.: Primrose Lanes—C (Ed Erickson); 8:30: Dixie Bar—C (George Emmans and Ron Kasher).
May 1, 7 p.m.: Team managed by John Stephens and Landon Morris—C; 8:30: Lakeland Pharmacy—C (Paul Emerson).

ABC Masters Reduces Field to Final Six

Harry Smith Defends Against Billy Welu in Crucial Match

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Defending champion Harry Smith of Baltimore and red-hot Billy Welu of St. Louis meet in a battle of unbeatens in Masters competition at the American Bowling Congress tournament today.

★ ★ ★

The field in the double elimination tournament was cut to six Tuesday as six more kegler stars were eliminated.

In semifinal action among the unbeatens, Smith defeated Glen Allison of St. Louis, 836-814, and Welu downed Norm Meyers of Los Angeles with a sizzling 951-847 win.

Welu is rewriting the record book in the 14-year-old tournament.

He rolled his 16th consecutive game of 200 or better in Masters play to break the old mark of 14 set in 1962 by Jim Miller of Milwaukee. His four 900 series in the 1964 competition ties another Masters mark.

CLASSIC MATCH

In losers competition, where the action is more desperate, Dick Weber and Don Carter had a classic match Tuesday night in a battle of St. Louis greats. Weber prevailed 978-975 in the second highest scoring match in tourney history.

★ ★ ★

Weber rolled games of 225-254-267-232 and Carter hit 238-234-258-245.

But Weber was then ousted by Robbie Robinson of Wilmington, Del., 899-867.

The sixth survivor from the original 64-man field is Pete Tountas of Chicago, who downed Earl Johnson of Minneapolis, 906-826.

In losers' quarter-finals, Tountas ousted Bill Tucker of Los Angeles, 874-800, Johnson defeated Tom Hennessy of St. Louis, 906-826, Weber ousted Carter and Robinson defeated Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., 885-881.

★ ★ ★

Losers' semifinals matches then saw Tountas oust Johnson and Robinson bounce Weber. They join Allison and Meyers as once-beaten survivors while Smith, who won last year's tourney without losing a match, and Welu have yet to taste defeat.

Russian Cagers Score First Win Over U. S. Men

MOSCOW (AP) — An American men's basketball team has been beaten on Soviet soil for he first time in seven years of U.S.-U.S.S.R. competition.

★ ★ ★

The Russian national team accomplished the feat Tuesday night, trimming a touring AAU club 82-65 before a turnaway crowd of 16,000, including two Soviet spacemen, at the Sports Palace.

★ ★ ★

It took a well-drilled zone defense and — the Americans complained — an East German referee to turn the trick.

FOILED BY SAWCHUK—Toronto's Dave Koen (14) had several good shots at Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk (1) last night but the Maple Leaf center was foiled each time by the brilliant Red Wing netminder. Ed Joyal (21) follows this first period play to clear the loose puck. Detroit defeated the home team, 2-1.

Wings' Abel Sees Cup for Detroit

TORONTO (AP) — Manager-Coach Sid Abel expressed new confidence that his Detroit Red Wings would go all the way after scoring a 2-1 victory over Toronto in the Stanley Cup National Hockey League playoff finals Tuesday night.

The triumph gave the Red Wings a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series which returns to Detroit Thursday night. A seventh and deciding game, if necessary, will be played at Toronto Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

"For perhaps the first time in the series I feel rally confident we can take them," Abel said. "We came out fast in the first period and beat them to the puck all the way except for the final period."

The eventual winning goal was scored early in the third period by Eddie Joyal. He took a perfect pass from Andre Pronovost and rammed the puck through Toronto goalie Johnny Bower's legs.

REBOUND SHOT

Gordie Howe opened the scoring near the 11-minute mark of the opening period when he slapped in his own rebound. It was Howe's eighth goal of the playoffs and tied him with teammate Norm Ullman for the Stanley Cup scoring lead at 17 points.

Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk appeared on his way to his second shutout of the playoffs until the Red Wings were two men short with 14 minutes gone in the final period.

Then, George Armstrong lifted the puck over Sawchuk for Toronto's only score.

"Sawchuk was as good in goal as he has been at any time this season for us," Abel said. "And the entire defense was terrific.

NEED ONE WIN

"The Leafs are on the spot now. They've got to win twice while we need only one and get two chances if needed," Abel said.

Toronto Manager-Coach Punch Imlach said referee Frank Udvari "is blind." He was particularly annoyed over Udvari's failure to call a penalty on Howe in the third period when Udvari nullified a play by Red Kelly in front of the Detroit net. Kelly appeared to have beaten the defenders.

Imlach said he was not disturbed at being a game down again in the series with only two contests, at most, remaining.

★ ★ ★

"We were in the same position with the Montreal Canadiens in the semifinals," he said. "I think the Canadiens are a lot better hockey club than the Red Wings, so we just have to go back and prove again we can win two big ones in a row."

Toronto lost left winger Don McKenney in the first period. He suffered torn ligaments in his right knee after being tripped by Detroit's Al Langlois.

McKenney is a doubtful starter for Thursday's game. Ed Litzenberger will dress if McKenney is unavailable, Imlach said.

Big 10 Race Wide Open

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten opens its conference baseball race Friday with little indication of a favorite.

Practically every team has a chance for the title, according to conference coaches. However, Indiana, Minnesota, Michigan State, Purdue and Ohio State fared the best on the spring training circuit.

★ ★ ★

Indiana piled up a 13-3 record and had a nine-game winning streak which was matched by Minnesota.

Michigan State turned in a 12-3 record. Purdue was 7-2 and Ohio State 10-4. Iowa, an early favorite for the crown, ran into injury troubles and the Hawkeye outlook has been dimmed considerably.

Illinois, the defending champion, must develop a top pitching staff in order to repeat. The Illini appear solid in hitting again with outfielder Rich Callaghan and Ron Mauer leading the way.

BOAST POWER

The Hoosiers boast pitching, power and defense off their spring showing.

Iowa, graced with pitching, hitting and fielding, has suffered too many injuries to be considered for the title.

Michigan is rebuilding. The Wolverines are led by Ron Tate in hitting but have little more to offer. They lack pitching and defense.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State has powerful hitting but little pitching and defense. Outfielder Joe Porrevecchio and first baseman Jerry Sutton still carry big sticks but problems will develop after these two finish batting.

Minnesota is a developing club. Northwestern has a solid club but lacks depth.

Arnie Chonko is back with Ohio State and the Buckeyes figure to have a stronger team than last year.

Angel Hurlers Wild in LA Home Opener

LOS ANGELES (AP)—About all the Detroit Tigers know of Bo Belinsky is what they've read, which means they are doubtless more familiar with his inclination to behave like a screwball than with his ability to throw one.

The Los Angeles left-hander proposes to exploit their ignorance tonight when he makes his first start of the season.

"I just might catch them by surprise," Bo said. "They've only seen me 1⅓ innings, and that was in 1962. So, if I can get my stuff over, I think I've got 'em."

Getting their stuff over was an unmanageable problem for seven pitchers employed by the Angels Tuesday night in the First American League game played here this season.

They gave up 10 walks and 10 hits and the Tigers won 6-4 before a surprisingly small crowd of 13,640.

The city's two major league teams now have played eight games at Chaves Ravine this season, and lost seven. The Dodgers blew six before the Angels moved in.

★ ★ ★

The Angels, rained out of a doubleheader at Cleveland Sunday, played only four games the first eight days of the season.

"We might have to suffer through a little wildness," said Manager Bill Rigney. "Our pitchers just haven't had much work."

FIRST WIN

Frank Lary, Larry Sherry and Phil Regan held the Angels to a half dozen hits Tuesday night. Sherry, recently acquired by the Tigers from the Dodgers, pitched three hitless innings and picked up his first American League victory.

Dan Osinski, the fourth Angel pitcher, was the loser.

He came on in the sixth, with the score tied 3-3. Ex-Angel George Thomas singled with one out and Bill Bruton reached base on an error by third baseman Billy Moran.

A single by Jerry Lumpe scored Thomas and Bruton came in with the deciding run when Norm Cash grounded out.

★ ★ ★

Lumpe, Cash and Dick McAuliffe each had two hits for the Tigers.

Bob Rodgers, Dick Simpson and Bobby Knoop batted in a run apiece for the Angels. The other Los Angeles run scored on a wild pitch by Sherry.

Yankees' Yogi Not Worried

First-Year Manager Shrugs Off 1-4 Log

CHICAGO (AP) — Yogi Berra chomped on a big black cigar and with Chicago's wind blowing the few remaining strands of his hair he philosophically remarked:

"So we're in last place. So what. If this were the last week of the season, I might be worried. But this is the first week of the season."

★ ★ ★

With that the freshman manager of the New York Yankees predicted his club will repeat for the American League pennant.

"Look at this way," said Berra. "How would you like to have my starting line-up? Would you trade it for any other club in the league?"

NOT CONCERNED

Berra was unconcerned over the fact that the Yankees were in last place in the American League with a 1-4 record.

"Remember," said Berra, "we could just as easily have been 4-1. We lost three games in extra innings."

Despite the Yankees' bad start Berra said he loved managing.

★ ★ ★

"The only bad point of managing is losing extra inning games," remarked Berra. "We have had good pitching and I know my guys will hit. If they don't, then I'll know it's just a bad year."

Berra said the fact that he had inherited a league champion club had put no undue pressure on him.

Cleveland Unimpressed With Finley's Pennant Porch

By The Associated Press

Charles Finley doesn't need a pennant porch. He needs a right fielder on stilts.

★ ★ ★

Finley's right fielder, Rocky Colavito, had all the other equipment, a glove, spikes and a wedding gown white uniform, but without the stilts he just couldn't handle Leon Wagner's high, towering homer that triggered Cleveland to a 5-3 victory over Kansas City Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

The Indians' victory ruined the A's home debut and spoiled the coming out party for the porch, but in no way dimmed the festivities. A few more innovations from Finley and Kansas City could have held its own World's Fair.

There were these attractions provided by the A's owner for the 28,165 on hand in multi-hued Municipal Stadium:

★ ★ ★

—The A's, dressed in their alternate uniforms of wedding gown white, trimmed in Ft. Knox gold with Kelly green sleeves.

—A battery of 60 green and gold lights and three loud horns, set to go off for every A's homer in place of the fireworks the city has banned Finley from using.

—The outfield walls, painted green and gold and splotched with question marks where white lettering compared fence distances with New York's Yankee Stadium.

—The porch, an area in right field that reduces the dimensions of Municipal Stadium, bringing them more in line with the distances at Yankee Stadium.

PORCH FAILED

The A's looked sharp. The outfield walls were informative. And the lights worked. But the porch didn't.

Finley built the porch to catch the A's homers. It was bigger originally, but didn't conform to baseball rules and was whittled down in size. It stood there beckoning Tuesday night —but all three homers hit eluded it.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, homers were hit all over Wrigley Field in Chicago, Pittsburgh defeating the Cubs 8-5 on Gene Freese's pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning — the ninth homer of the game.

In the only other games, Cincinnati walloped Houston 10-5 with a 16-hit attack.

The Philadelphia at New York and Washington and Minnesota games were rained out.

Wagner came up in the eighth with the Indians trailing 2-1 and slammed his homer, far over Finley's porch. Diego Segui, the losing pitcher, had shot Kansas City into the lead with a homer in the seventh.

LIGHTS FLASHED

In the ninth, the lights flashed again when Bill Bryan homered for the A's, but Ted Abernathy came on to preserve Jim Grant's triumph.

Freese's three - run shot capped a homer derby that left the two teams one shy of the National League single game record. Roberto Clemente, Dick Schofield and Jim Pagliaroni also homered for the Pirates while Jimmy Stewart, Andre Rodgers, Ron Santo, Billy Cowan and Billy Williams connected for the Cubs.

★ ★ ★

Four of Chicago's homers were off Vern Law. Roy Face got the victory while Fred Norman lost it.

Vada Pinson cracked two singles and a triple, Pete Rose collected a double and two singles and Chico Ruiz hit an inside-the-park homer as the Reds belted the Colts.

HEADED FOR INDIANAPOLIS — Auto builder Mickey Thompson, (left), chats with driver Dave MacDonald, seated in one of the three Thompson-designed streamliner racers that are entered in the 500-mile Memorial Day Classic at Indianapolis, Ind. Thompson invited newsmen to his plant in Long Beach, Calif., yesterday to view the auto. The three rear-engine cars are being entered by Sears, Roebuck and Co. Ford overhead camshaft engines are used to power the streamliners.

Bosox Ask $1 Waivers on Conley

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Conley, the longtime multiple job major leaguer, is unemployed.

★ ★ ★

The Boston Red Sox have waived for $1 the 6-foot-8 giant with an ailing pitching arm and an estimated $28,000 price tag.

"Conley no longer figures in our pitching plans," Manager Johnny Pesky said Tuesday night in making the announcement. "We are going with the younger pitchers. Conley said his arm was okay but we knew it wasn't."

"I still think I can do some club a lot of good," Conley said from his Foxboro, Mass., home in obvious disappointment. "I am not ready to quit yet."

ON WAIVERS

"We have put Conley up for waivers for $1 for the purpose of giving him his outright release," Vice President Mike Higgins of the Red Sox said.

If no one claims Conley by 1 p.m., EST, Saturday, he will be a free agent and can make his own deal. If a team does claim him prior to that time Conley can turn it down as a 10-year veteran.

Because of the price tag, no claims are expected.

★ ★ ★

The 'iron man' who bounced from pro basketball to baseball and back again with only a week or two off a year had severed his ties with the NBA several months ago when he resigned from the New York Knickerbockers.

Conley said he wanted to concentrate on baseball. He had spent much of the 1963 season on the disabled list due to the after-effects of torn ligaments in the right ankle and a chipped bone in his right index finger—both acquired in basketball—and a sore right shoulder.

★ ★ ★

Conley wound up the campaign with a 3-4 record and 6.59 earned run average after a successful 15-14 season in '62.

OLSM, Oxford, Vikings Win

3 Prep Track Teams Enjoy Weather

Rain washed out many of the events on Tuesday's prep sports calendar, but Orchard Lake St. Mary, Oxford and Walled Lake ignored the weather in turning in victories on soggy tracks.

OLSM romped to a 91 to 18 decision over Wayne St. Mary; Oxford trimmed L'Anse Creuse 60½ to 48½; and Walled Lake trimmed Cranbrook, 62 to 47.

OLSM's Eaglets raced to their fifth straight dual victory, winning 11 of 13 events.

Frank Rompel was the lone double winner in the meet. He covered the 100-yard dash in :11.2 and turned in a 19-9½ leap in the broad jump.

Oxford won only five of 13 events, but the Wildcats collected enough points with second-place finishes to trim L'Anse.

The victory offset a sparkling performance by the losers' Ron Arscheene and Gary Christman. The two won three events each and ran with the 880-yard relay team. They combined for 32½ points.

BREAKS RECORD

Mike Lantry, a sophomore, cracked his own Oxford record in winning the shot put with a heave of 46 feet 6 inches.

★ ★ ★

Senior Steve Pitcher staged a one-man show in leading Walled Lake to victory in its first dual meet of the season.

Pitcher grabbed firsts in the pole vault (13 feet), broad jump (20-5⅞) and 100 - yard dash (:10.6).

Mike Garrels gave the Vikings more first - place points with a 5-foot-6 leap in the high jump and a :22.1 clocking in the low hurdles.

John Coburn (mile), Arch Copeland (440-yard dash) and Jeff Hipps (220-yard dash) paced Cranbrook's squad.

In golf action, Kettering set a new school record for a nine-hole match yesterday in handing Rochester its first defeat in dual competition in two years, 158-167.

Mike Kimmerer fired a one-under-par 36 over the Pontiac Country Club course to capture medalist honors for the Captains. Sophomore Rick Hurd trailed with a 39.

Chuck Storm turned in a 39 for Rochester.

He plans to have 25 horses for riding. The area contains 11 miles of established bridle trails.

Annual Fish Derby Starts on Saturday

"If fishermen could see the size of some of the fish in area lakes they would never grumble about lakes being fished out."

This statement was made last year by veteran diver Bill Periord of Pine Lake.

★ ★ ★

"I've seen at least one bass in this lake (Pine) that will go 10 pounds or better. The same holds true for other lakes around here. Just ask some of the divers."

All this leads up to the fact that an Oakland County angler should catch some of these large pike, walleyes, muskies, bass and rainbows and enter them in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

The 29th annual derby starts Saturday and will have four divisions as in the past.

Pike (northern pike, walleyes or muskies), rainbow trout, bluegill and black bass (large or smallmouth).

The heaviest fish in each division wins.

Pike and bass division winners will each receive $50 savings bonds with the other two class winners getting $25 bonds.

COUNT RESIDENTS

The contest is open to all residents of Oakland County. The fish must be caught in Oakland County waters. No fish taken from private or commercial waters or Lakes Angelus or Sherwood can be entered.

Bass will not become eligible until the season opens June 1.

Each entry must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing during the following times:

Monday through Friday, 7 a. m. to 3 p. m.; Saturday, 7 a. m. to noon. The building is not open on Sunday. Pictures will be taken of all new leaders.

The contest closes Sept. 7, at noon. No angler can win more than one division.

Northern pike have dominated the pike division, winning all but one year when a walleye took the honors. There are a few muskies in the 20-pound class lurking in Valley and Wildwood lakes, but they are difficult to catch.

★ ★ ★

Some of the records fishermen can shoot at are a 20-pound pike, 7-pound, 15-ounce bass, 6¼-pound rainbow and a 2-pound bluegill. Any fish entered reaching these dimensions will stand a very good chance of winning.

The big ones are in the lakes —skin divers say so.

FLIES ONLY — Over 500 miles of Michigan trout streams will be restricted to fishing with flies only when the regular trout season gets under way Saturday. Signs, such as the one above, are located at each access point along these stretches of water. A bill before the legislature would increase the restricted waters to about 100 miles.

More Oakland Waters Stocked With Trout

The list of Oakland County lakes stocked with rainbows grows longer as Saturday's trout opening draws nearer.

Pine Lake south of Keego Harbor, Cooley Lake in Commerce Township and Chamberlain Lakes in the Bald Mountain recreation area's north unit have been stocked for the first time.

Conservation department crews released rainbows nine to 13 inches long in these lakes. Another 20 lakes in the county received a new supply of rainbows too along with the carryovers from recent years.

Among the better known waters are Maceday, Deer, Cemetery, Orchard, Square, Oxbow, Crotched, Union, Cedar Island, Schoolhouse, Stoney and Bridge Lakes.

Several county streams are being stocked this week.

They are the Clinton and Huron Rivers, Kearsley Creek, outlet of Wildwood Lake, Spring, Trout Creeks and Paint Creeks.

The Fenton, Davisburg and Bald Mountain trout ponds were poisoned out last fall and legal rainbows, browns and brookies have been stocked for the opener. Only flies can be used and the limit is two trout per day per pond.

HEAD NORTH

Five trout can be taken from area lakes and 10 from streams.

Many anglers, of course, will head for favorite streams and lakes in northern Michigan. They will find few hatchery reared trout available.

The Conservation Department does not plan to start stocking northern waters until the middle of May.

Stream conditions are very low — unless heavy rains occur later this week — and fly fishermen should enjoy the first weekend. Low water and warm days could very easily bring on good hatches.

Pike, Walleyes and Muskies become legal on inland waters Saturday. Black bass season opens June 1.

'Flies Only' Increase Sought

LANSING (AP) — The trout fisherman who uses only flies is about to get official recognition from the Conservation Department, provided the legislature agrees.

★ ★ ★

A bill that at the moment appears to be rolling through the legislature would allow just this, and move flies-only fishing from an experimental thing to a management judgment decision.

Senate Bill 1343, an amendment, provides that:

"The director of conservation may designate not more than 100 miles of trout streams wherein only such lures or baits as he prescribes may be used in fishing and may prescribe the size and number of fish which may be taken therefrom."

CLEARS SENATE

The measure, introduced by Sens. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey; Harold Hughes, R-Clare, and Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, Senate minority leader, already has passed the upper chamber.

Meanwhile, the flies only and size limit regulations presently in effect will continue. They cover more than 55 miles of streams.

The streams now open for flies-only fishing include:

The north branch of the Au Sable, from Dam 2 to county line, some 4.2 miles; Eamans Kellogg branch, 8.7 miles; Kellogg branch to mouth, 6.2 miles. All trout taken out of this area must be nine inches.

South branch of the Au Sable, Deer Hart Valley Rd., to mouth, 16.1 miles. Size is 10 inches.

Main branch of the Au Sable, Burton's to Wakeley, 8.7 miles. Size is 10 inches.

Little branch of the South Pere Marquette, Carlson's branch to county line, 4.7 miles. Size is 10 inches.

Boardman, Forks, Forest camp to Scheck's branch, 3.9 miles. Size is 10 inches.

Pigeon River, sections C and D, 2.3 miles. Size is nine inches.

In addition, Ford Lake, a 10.7 acre lake in the Pigeon River State Forest area, is open only to fly fishermen.

Indoor Sectional Meet

Top Shooters at OCSC

National champions and record holders will compete in the Open Sectional-National indoor pistol shoot Saturday and Sunday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

National women's champion Gertrude Schlernitzaur will lead the Lowell, Mich., national women's titleholder team in the shoot.

Other top shooters entered in the National Rifle Association shoot include John Foreman of the Border Patrol, Michigan champion and national record holder; state championship teams from the Detroit Police and Michigan State Police.

All competitors and teams entered in the sectional will be automatically entered in the national championships.

Scores fired in all sectionals throughout the country will be consolidated by the NRA to determine the national standings.

The course of fire, according to Ted Villela of OCSC, will be over the standard indoor distance of 50 feet.

Only 22 caliber pistols and revolvers will be used. Firing will start at 8 a.m. each day. There will be a new group of 16 shooters, in two relays, every three hours.

The shooting will include slow, timed and rapid fire of 20 rounds each, 30 shots on a national match gallery course and aggregate matches.

Someday, someone may learn how to make a better whiskey than this. But, as of today, nobody has.

Despite Strike Possibility

Rails Nudge Up in Mixed Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails nudged ahead in a mixed stock market today despite a renewal of concern over the possibility of a railroad strike. Trading was fairly active.

The market was mixed from the start, with some of yesterday's wide losers recovering.

★ ★ ★

With the Saturday deadline for a possible rail walkout approaching, investors in rail stocks seemed unconcerned. Leading carriers posted a string of fractional gains.

Airlines and cigarette stocks, however, continued generally soft. Steels were very narrowly mixed. Motors were irregular, with Chrysler rebounding from yesterday's loss.

OTHERS GAINERS

Texas Gulf Sulphur and Curtis Publishing also recouped some of the ground they lost in yesterday's profit taking.

Office equipments and drugs were higher.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 306.4 with industrials off .5, rails up .7 and utilities unchanged.

Chrysler, which declined 1⅛ yesterday in disappointment over dividend action, more than made up the loss. American Motors yielded a fraction.

AMERICAN TRADE

Prices were mixed in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. Government bonds were steady in quiet dealings over the counter.

'Rights Units Contain Reds'

FBI Chief: Influence Exists in Movement

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told a congressional subcommittee that "Communist influence does exist in the Negro movement."

The transcript of his Jan. 29 testimony, made public yesterday, does not show whether he cited any specific examples.

The Communist party, he said in his appearance before a House Appropriations subcommittee, tries to expand its influence among Negroes and particularly has "sought ways and means to exploit the militant forces of the Negro civil rights movement."

The Communists, Hoover said, try to use "what are often legitimate Negro complaints and grievances for the advancement of Communist objectives."

The number of Negroes who may be attracted to Communist party membership "is not the important thing" Hoover said. He cited an old Communist principle that "communism must be built with non-Communist hands."

★ ★ ★

"We do know," he added, "that Communist influence does exist in the Negro movement and it is this influence which is vitally important.

LOSE PERSPECTIVE

"It can be the means through which large masses are caused to lose perspective on the issues involved and, without realizing it, succumb to the party's propaganda lures."

At this point in the testimony Hoover asked to speak off the record, so the hearing transcript does not show whether he was asked for, or gave, any specific instances of Communist influence among Negroes.

Hoover, reporting on the FBI's activities, also described efforts by Communists to recruit American students to their views.

The Communists, he said, have shown "considerable patience" in these efforts and sometimes finance students' college education provided they would seek government employment after graduation and cooperate with Soviet intelligence.

Grain Prices Show Only Small Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices showed only small gains in slow early grain futures transactions on the Board of Trade.

Most contracts held within a small fraction from previous closes and none varied as much as a cent and brokers reported the market still was without any significant new trade factors.

Wheat was unchanged to ¾ cent higher after about an hour, May $2.01⅞; soybeans ¼ lower to ¼ higher, May $2.57¼; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, May $1.23⅞; oats ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, May 65 cents; rye ⅛ lower to ½ higher, May $1.29⅞.

COMPLETE EXPANSION — Nephler-Kingsbury Co., independent stock brokerage, has announced the doubling of its office area in Community National Bank Bldg. with the completion of an expansion and modernization program begun last December. The increased space has been utilized in library, sales and conference room facilities.

NAACP Opposes Move to Expand Public Housing

A recent move by city commissioners to allow further expansion of Pontiac's existing public housing project was vigorously opposed last night by the Oakland County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Charles E. Billings of 236 Gage presented commissioners with a written request to rescind an amendment which would allow for the expansion of Lakeside Homes on the south side.

He was supported my many Negroes from the community who attended last night's meeting.

Both Billings and Sam Baker of 576 Granada said they felt the measure would foster segregated housing.

★ ★ ★

The Lakeside Homes project is located in the heart of Pontiac's Negro community and is inhabited almost exclusively by Negroes.

ORDINANCE FORBIDS

An ordinance was passed here in 1955 which prohibited any further construction of federal public housing in Pontiac.

It was amended April 7 to allow for the addition of four- and five-bedroom units to the Lakeside project only.

The amendment was requested by Roy MacAfee, executive director of Lakeside Homes, and the Pontiac Housing Commission.

★ ★ ★

Actually, MacAfee had asked that the ban be lifted entirely, allowing public housing in all parts of the city.

MADE COMPROMISE

The commission agreed to compromise, limiting expansion to the existing project alone.

"It wasn't what we'd asked for," said MacAfee, "but it was better than nothing."

Speaking for the majority attending last night's meeting, Baker said he felt that in the long run, "nothing is better."

★ ★ ★

"We know that housing integration will take time," said Baker. "We are willing to accept that and are appreciative of your effort here to provide more public housing.

NO PERPETUATION

"At the same time, we don't want something done that actually perpetuates segregation and we feel this amendment will do that.

"We are simply willing to sacrifice this project intended for us, so that our children might have something greater."

Rev. Amos Johnson, who identified himself as a member of the housing commission, said he thought city officials "would find there is a difference of opinion over this on the housing commission."

★ ★ ★

MacAfee today said that the Rev. Mr. Johnson "did not speak for the commission as a whole."

NOT TOTAL REPORT

The NAACP chapter didn't ask for a total repeal of the ban on public housing; only that the ordinance be returned to its original form rather than the amended form. MacAfee today indicated the housing commission would oppose this.

After an hour of discussion, commissioners decided to have a new ordinance drafted which reverts back to the total ban.

They will act on it at a special meeting slated for 8 p.m. tomorrow at which time commissioners plan to canvass the results in Monday's general election.

★ ★ ★

The official canvass is to be held tonight at 7:30 when the board of canvassers meets.

Trunked-Up Case Ain't Got No Body

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — An alert citizen reported seeing a body clad in a blueish-gray uniform pushed into the trunk of a car by another man, who then jumped into the front seat and drove off.

★ ★ ★

Police sent out a general alarm.

Sgt. Leo Davenport located the car three blocks away from a local automobile sales firm, with Alex Reissis in the trunk and James Reissis at the steering wheel.

They are mechanics employed by the motor company and by the time police found the "body" Alex had found the squeak in the trunk he was looking for.

Finish Expansion, Remodeling at Brokerage Firm

An extensive remodeling and expansion has been completed at the offices of Nephler-Kingsbury Co., 818 Community National Bank Bldg.

★ ★ ★

The expansion has doubled the firm's office area to 1,400 square feet, said Clarence J. Nephler Jr., and provided increased space for a library, sales area and private conference room.

In addition to new furnishings, the remodeling includes an acoustical ceiling with polarized lighting and built-in air conditioning.

★ ★ ★

The independent stock brokerage firm has been located in the Community National Bank Bldg. since the 1920's. Owners are Nephler and Robert S. Kingsbury, both lifetime Pontiac area residents.

Some Can Teach Themselves

School Not Essential to True Education

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

No one is barred from getting an education!

Attendance at high school and college naturally gives the student the opportunity to learn under the best possible conditions. Libraries, teachers and fellow classmates are all engaged in the same endeavors.

DR. NASON

Certainly this is the most efficient way to get an education, and everyone who has the opportunity should grasp it.

But in some cases, where formal schooling was impossible, a very few individuals have made the achievement through their own efforts. These rare persons deserve the plaudits of all and should recognize their own accomplishments.

Unfortunately, people who have been prevented from finishing their formal education and were forced to strive for the goals of this education by themselves, often carry unwarranted feelings of inferiority.

They picture themselves as lacking the very things they have in abundance, and do not realize that, as necessary as a diploma is, what you learn is more important than where you learn it.

A letter from a lady stating that she was a dropout years ago and did not finish high school asks how she can overcome the constant feeling that she has missed so much.

Her correctly written letter, with its excellent handwriting, would elicit envy from some of our present-day high school graduates. She has certainly achieved the goal of written communication.

Her report of the books she enjoys evidences success in this field. Her place in the life of her family shows worthy home membership. She has reached the goals of a high school education.

This woman should recognize that what others achieve only with the help of teachers and classmates, she has achieved through her individual efforts.

Among the best politically informed persons of my acquaintance are men and women with less than college degrees. They read their daily newspapers — not only the current events, but the columns written by news analysts and commentators. Their political discussions are factual and to the point.

Whether we talk about ability in art or music, the ability to earn a living, to maintain a happy family, or to make worthy use of leisure time, there are outstanding examples of individuals who have succeeded without formal schooling.

★ ★ ★

It is certainly difficult to overcome the lack caused by incomplete education. And no one today should throw away his chance for a free high school education, since no amount of individual study will duplicate the experience.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. He will answer questions of widest interest in his column.)

By OSWALD JACOBY

J. S. Weller of Los Angeles entitled an article in the American Bridge Teachers Assn. Quarterly "Six Cards is Half a Slam."

JACOBY

The point of the article is that a comparatively weak six card suit will be six tricks if partner can fit it.

His example hand is from a duplicate game in which most North players chose to respond three no-trump to their partner's diamond opening. In every instance, South passed and North proceeded to take his 12 top tricks.

One North player took a far different view of the hand. He saw the extra trick possibilities inherent in his four card support for South's diamond suit and responded one spade.

When South rebid to two diamonds, North was off and running. He assumed that South had a six card diamond suit and went right into a Blackwood routine.

When South showed three aces and no kings, North decided that the diamond grand slam would be cold provided that South had the expected six card diamond suit and at least three clubs and that some nasty opponent did not hold all missing diamonds. North bid seven diamonds and South wrapped it up.

The North was really enterprising. He would have gathered in the same top score for the more conservative bid of six diamonds.

On the other hand, it seems to me that all other South players were a trifle timid. Perhaps, at least one might have realized the combination of a six card diamond suit and three aces was worth some further bid after his partner jumped right to three no-trump.

What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. Your partner did not have to bid over your two clubs and your two trumps have become sufficient support.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two spades your partner raises you to three clubs. What do you do?

Gang Attacks School Pupils

15 Students, 2 Rabbis Hurt in NY Melee

NEW YORK (AP) — About 50 youths, shouting anti-Semitic epithets, attacked a group of Hebrew school pupils in Brooklyn yesterday, injuring at least 15 of them, police said. Two rabbis who went to the aid of their pupils were beaten also.

With 1½ hours after the melee broke out, and calm had been restored, 10 youths beat up 10-year-old Samuel Lipsker outside the school and fled, police said.

The first outbreak occurred during noon recess at the United Lubavitcher Yeshivoth, a Hebrew grammar-high school in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

The youths, boys and girls, some carrying sticks, bottles, chains and switchblade knives, began to push and hit pupils on the school grounds. The pupils, ranging in age from 9 to 12, fought back with their fists, witnesses said.

Rabbi Abraham Barnetsky, 46, took on a boy he supposed to be a leader cf the youths. "Two of my fingers were cut by this garbage can lid," the Rabbi said.

PUNCHED IN ABDOMEN

Another teacher, Rabbi Isidore Kolodny, was punched in the abdomen during the 10-minute fight.

It ended when Leo Berkman, 43, a city building inspector, stopped his car and made a citizen's arrest of a 15-year-old Negro boy.

Berkman said the youth clouted him with a belt buckle when he identified himself. The other attackers fled upon hearing police sirens.

Rabbi Barnetsky, who had charge of 150 boys in the school yard, said the first indication of trouble came when two Hebrew students complained that several boys had demanded a nickel from them, and hit them when they refused.

CHASED BOYS

The rabbi said he chased the boys from the school yard, but a few minutes later the large group showed up and began the attack, shouting, "You don't belong in this country."

Rabbi Samuel Schrage said about 50 passengers got off a bus and watched the fight, but none intervened.

Blame Bee for Bang-Up

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—An automobile accident in which six persons were injured was blamed on a bee.

Traffic Investigator J. N. Anderson said a driver had stopped on Atlanta's expressway when a bee flew into the vehicle. He said another car had swerved to miss the first car and crashed head-on into a third automobile.

* * *

Anderson said the first driver said she had stopped because she did not want to cause an accident.

Engle Will Withdraw, Paper Says

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Friends of U.S. Sen. Clair Engle say he will withdraw his candidacy for reelection "within a matter of hours or days," the Long Beach Independent reported in a copyrighted story today.

The Independent's source, who declined use of his name, said Engle will withdraw because new medical reports on his progress since he underwent brain surgery last August allegedly cannot match the demands of his campaign backers in California.

As reported in the story by political editor Bob Houser, the source said the senator's campaign "is actually at a standstill."

"He and his advisers are awaiting a decision on the possible transfer of his support to whatever candidate he may or may not espouse when he withdraws," the friend said.

* * *

The paper quoted the friend as saying:

" . . . At least six persons in the Engle campaign have gone back to Washington in the past three weeks, bound and determined to get his withdrawal or a medical report that would put him in the race. All of them failed."

ENGLE'S WIFE

He said Engle's wife, Lucretia, has become "resigned to the necessity for the withdrawal announcement."

* * *

Engle faces State Controller Alan Cranston and former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger as major opponents in the Democratic nomination race.

Counselors Support College for County

Some 255 junior and senior high school counselors have announced collective support for the proposed Oakland County community college.

The Oakland area counselors association, according to chairman Merrill Miller, Birmingham Seaholm High School counselor, voted unanimous endorsement of the two-year college.

The members of the association deal directly with 76,000 secondary students, helping them make educational and career choices, said Miller.

Germany Flies 1st Jet for Civilians Since War

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The first civilian jet plane built in Germany since World War II has made a successful maiden flight.

The small, twin-jet passenger plane, known as the HFB320 Hansa, made a 73-minute flight yesterday in the Hamburg area. The plane is designed to carry four to twelve persons, and has a range of 1,500 miles at a cruising speed of 500 miles an hour.

Asks Special Penny to Honor State Copper

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, has proposed Congress introduce a resolution calling for a special copper penny to honor Michigan and the Copper Country.

Issuance of a special copper penny, he said, would suitably salute Michigan and the Copper Country for its contributions to the copper industry.

Rocky Wants Plan on Cuba

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller wants inter-American defense conference called to lay plans for dealing with "the Soviet Communist occupation of Cuba."

The New York governor, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said in a New Orleans speech Tuesday that such a conference should also work to halt "Communist subversion and sabotage throughout the hemisphere."

* * *

Rockefeller's appearance at the Pan-American press seminar was billed as nonpolitical but much of his talk was devoted to sniping at the Johnson administration's Latin-American policy, which he called patronizing and haphazard.

No Louisiana Republican leaders conferred with Rockefeller. The state GOP convention last Saturday endorsed Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidential nomination and instructed the 20 national convention delegates to vote for Goldwater.

MEETS CAMPAIGNERS

However, Rockefeller met with his campaign leaders in other Southern states, including Charles Wilson of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Clyde Pearson of Roanoke, Va.

"I don't want to mix politics with Latin America," Rockefeller told newsmen before his speech.

* * *

He received the International House 1963 Thomas E. Cunningham award for advancing inter-American harmony and then blasted the Democratic administration in his speech.

Rockefeller said the Alliance for Progress "has been an almost complete failure to develop a truly joint effort" in the Americas because "goals for the program have been set for our allies rather than developed with them."

New Star, '2-Ton Tessie,' Is Worth Weight in Gold

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

NEW YORK — "Two-Ton Tessie from Tennessee"—Tessie O'Shea from Wales who weighs much less than 4,000 pounds—is the newest success in the Broadway boites—and her triumph at the Embers midnight show seems to be evidence that fat women are coming back, if they've ever been away.

Plump but graceful Tessie is the kind of a star who can find Hermione Gingold at the bar and address her as Hermione Baddeley, and get away with it.

Two-ton Tessie, with her skillful way of calling everybody "Love," captivated every female with her searching for the right thing to say. It developed that fatgirl Tessie had some competition in Jan Murray who opened very smashingly at the Copacabana with an American gal star, pretty Pat Woodell, from Boston, who is Bobbi Jo of "Petticoat Junction." All the middleaged women in the audience were wondrously nice about these two: guess they thought Pat Woodell too young to be figured as a competitor, and Tessie O'Shea too fat.

★ ★ ★

Earle Wilson, a realtor, in Champaign, Ill., says, "My wife can put her feet in her mouth pretty good: We were at a picnic. Each couple brought food. One woman, putting food out on the picnic table, turned to my wife, who was doing the same, and said, 'I feel like I haven't brought very much.' Innocently, my wife replied, 'I was thinking the same thing.' "

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Stanley Adams, prez of ASCAP, was guest of honor when the Bedside Network of the Veterans Hospital Radio & TV Guild celebrated its 16th anniversary with a ball at the NY Hilton. The Bedside Network extends recreation and rehabilitation services to 100 hospitals . . . Sybil Burton's niece, Helen Greenford, is an usherette at The Strollers where "The Establishment" satirizes the world. Just 21, she's studying ballet; she's the daughter of Sybil's older sister, Linda.

Lee Segall, who recently sold Dallas radio station KIXL for almost $1 million, was asked by a friend visiting his home, "Why did you sell it?" Segall took the visitor to look at a 160-foot stream bed wth five waterfalls, just completed. "To pay for these waterfalls," said Segall.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Worries are like thunder clouds. In the distance they look black; overhead they are hardly gray."

EARL'S PEARLS: Description of a hangover: The bad time a good time gives you. That's earl, brother.

Nikita Thanks World for Birthday Greetings

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev expressed thanks today for the greetings he received from around the world on his 70th birthday last Friday, and said he would work for communism, and for world peace.

In a letter published in leading Soviet newspapers, Khrushchev said "I will spare no efforts" for communism, then added: "I assure all people of good will that I will tirelessly fight to strengthen peace in the world and friendship of peoples."

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The International Moulders and Allied Workers Union, Local 388, struck Riverside Foundry Division of Kalamazoo Tank and Silo Co. Tuesday in a new contract dispute.

★ ★ ★

The old contract expired April 1 and 63 Local 388 members decided Monday to strike. Wages were reported to be the major issue in negotiations which broke off Friday after a company offer.

Leaves Land and House to His Kindly Postman

VILLEFRANCHE - SUR - SAONE, France (AP)—Pierre Rabut, who died recently at the age of 84, left 2,100 square yards of land, his house and its furnishings to postman Jean Vitry, 44.

Rabut's will, made public today, said the postman took care of Rabut's dog when Rabut was in the hospital last December.

FDR Son's Ex-Wife Draws $250 Fine

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Mrs. Minnewa Bell Roosevelt was fined $250 yesterday for falsely reporting a bomb aboard an airliner.

Mrs. Roosevelt, 52, is the former wife of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, and sister of Rep. Alphonzo E. Bell Jr., R-Calif.

She told police she missed the plane last Jan. 27 and hoped the bomb report would bring it back.

Mrs. Roosevelt didn't appear in federal court, where her attorney entered a guilty plea.

★ ★ ★

He explained that the incident had so unnerved her that she was receiving treatment in a sanitarium.

FILL 'EM UP? — Residents of Sidney, Ill., population 700, switch to horses and boats to get around town yesterday. Businesses such as the gasoline station in the background were isolated when a nearby creek flooded from three days of steady rain. Sidney is located 12 miles southeast of Champaign.

Boy Flies First Time

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— Jimmy C. Willis, 16, loves airplanes.

Shortly after midnight yesterday officers said, Jimmy took a plane from a hangar, got it started and — although he had never flown a plane — took off.

Authorities said he flew for some three hours, almost crashed twice, and finally landed after clipping several trees and badly damaging the plane.

He escaped injury.

U.S. Warns on Missiles

K Urged to Restrain Castro

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is trying to get Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep a restraining hand on Fidel Castro's trigger finger when he gives the Cuban leader control of a modern arsenal of anti-aircraft missiles in the near future.

This is one of two motives behind an unusual series of public statements and secret diplomatic moves warning the Cubans against shooting down any of the U.S. photo-reconnaissance planes which periodically fly over their island.

The other purpose is to try to get Prime Minister Castro and his advisers to understand that, as one official here put it, "We just won't tolerate any interference with these overflights which are essential to our security."

Officials here say privately that if Castro shoots down a U.S. plane he will have to ex-

Bill on Wages Awaits Signing by Governor

House OKs Senate Changes; Needs Only Romney Signature

LANSING (AP) — The state minimum wage bill needed only Gov. George W. Romney's signature to become law after the House concurred yesterday in three amendments added by the Senate.

Acceptance of the changes cleared the last obstacle for the measure which earlier was approved in both chambers. The bill is a key part of Romney's program.

★ ★ ★

The bill sets up a wage floor scale beginning at $1 per hour next Jan. 1. The scale goes to $1.15 at the end of one year and $1.25 at the end of two.

Backers of the legislation estimate it will apply ultimately to some 250,000 persons in several fields who now earn less than the minimum.

As approved, the bill will apply to all persons between 18 and 65 who are regularly employed, all who work for employers with four or more employes, and who work for more than 13 weeks for the same employer.

★ ★ ★

Affected by the bill will be the thousands of employes of hotels and restaurants, car washes, retail merchants, farm laborers and resorts which operate for more than 13 weeks.

OTHERS DEFEATED

The bill is a product of a legislative committee's study, following the defeat of minimum wage legislation numerous times in the last 25 years.

Michigan will become the 34th state to have a minimum wage in one form or another.

In a statement issued immediately after the amendments were adopted, the Michigan Committee for a Minimum Wage said the bill "represents the middle thinking" on the subject.

★ ★ ★

More Furay, an official of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Union (AFL-CIO), is chairman of the committee.

APPLAUDS WORK

The committee said it "applauds the work" of the legislative committee, Romney "whose leadership certainly contributed to victory," and others who backed the bill.

House concurrence in the Senate amendments was not without arguments.

The stiffest opposition came to the elimination of language which would have permitted employers to consider as part of the basic wage gratuities from which he deducts for taxes and social security.

FOR FAIR TROUBLEMAKERS — A workman puts finishing touches to a large 'pen' designed to hold up to 300 persons at the New York World's Fair. The stockade was built in case it becomes necessary to detain demonstrators at today's opening or later.

Police Arrest Over 2 Dozen Demonstrators

Lighter - Than - Usual Traffic Attributed to Warnings of Tie-Ups

NEW YORK (AP) — A "stall-in" by militant civil rights demonstrators which was intended to block highway traffic fizzled today and failed to block the opening of the New York World's Fair.

Activity centered in subway stations where some demonstrators suffered bloody heads in clashes with police.

Police arrested more than two dozen of the demonstrators.

Leaders of the demonstration had promised that hundreds of automobiles would be stalled on approaches to the fair but police found only a handful to tow away.

★ ★ ★

However, traffic was much lighter than on a normal day, evidently because of advance stall-in threats.

AVOID COMING

"People apparently have avoided coming into the area," said Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes.

Rain through the night and morning also contributed to cutting down highway travel and attendance at the fair.

The traffic situation was eased further when a Mets baseball game, scheduled for this afternoon in Shea Stadium adjacent to the fairgrounds, was called off because of the weather.

★ ★ ★

Demonstrators could renew their efforts to tie up traffic later when Long Islanders who commute to New York City by automobile start the homebound

Ousted Mayor Eying Recount—To Make Decision Before Week's End

Mayor Robert A. Landry said last night he "is thinking seriously about asking for a city-wide recount of votes cast for District 7 candidates in Monday's election."

The mayor was defeated by Emmett S. Wellbaum, a write-in candidate, by a margin of 351 votes.

Landry said, "I'd like to see what was considered a valid write-in vote . . . what variations in spelling and so forth were accepted."

He said he would make a decision before the end of the week.

The city board of canvassers meets tonight at 7:30 at City Hall to officially canvass the vote.

★ ★ ★

Once the board certifies the vote totals in Monday's election, they are final and official, unless changed by a recount.

MACHINE TAMPERING

Landry described an incident in which someone, he said, tampered with a voting machine Monday in Precinct 4 (District 2) as one reason why he may demand a recount.

"Someone (a voter) broke the plastic seal over the strip on which candidates' names

Protest and Weather Fail to Dim Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — The multimillion dollar World's Fair opened today with its international glitter undimmed by the threatening dark clouds of rain and racial protest.

The turnstiles, 95 of them at eight gateways, began spinning at 8:45 a.m., almost two hours before the official opening program which featured President Johnson.

Referring to the displays of "the achievements of industry, the wealth of nations, the creations of man" about him, the President said:

"This fair shows us what man — at his most creative and constructive — is capable of. But unless we can achieve the theme of this fair — 'peace through understanding' — unless we can use our skill and wisdom to conquer conflict as we have conquered science — then our hopes of today — these proud achievements— will go under the devastation of tomorrow.

"I prophesy peace is not only possible, I predict it is coming nearer."

★ ★ ★

An 18-year-old St. Peter's College freshman from New Jersey, Bill Turchyn of Jersey City was named the No. 1 fair-goer, leading a throng expected to number a half-million before the day is over and 70 million by the time the fair ends its two 180-day runs.

Flags of the United States and the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, the latter a blue and orange banner depicting the unisphere, were raised at 9:15 a.m.

Bandsmen began testing their instruments for the 88-unit parade preceding the formal opening program.

All but 17 of the 139 pavilions were ready for visitors.

★ ★ ★

Among the displays were those of 66 countries, including 24 African nations which did not exist 25 years ago when President Franklin D. Roosevelt opened the 1939 World's Fair in the same section of Queens.

Former President Harry S. Truman drove from Manhattan to Flushing Meadow to take part in the program and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent a message to be read.

★ ★ ★

Other speakers included Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and India's Mrs. Indira Gandhi.

Forecaster Calls for Cool, Cloudy

FBI Director: Reds in Negro Movement

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told a congressional subcommittee that "Communist influence does exist in the Negro movement."

The transcript of his Jan. 29 testimony, made public yesterday, does not show whether he cited any specific examples.

The Communist party, he said in his appearance before a House Appropriations subcommittee, tries to expand its influence among Negroes and particularly has "sought ways and means to exploit the militant forces of the Negro civil rights movement."

The Communists, Hoover said, try to use "what are often legitimate Negro complaints and grievances for the advancement of Communist objectives."

The number of Negroes who may be attracted to Communist party membership "is not the important thing" Hoover said. He cited an old Communist principle that 'communism must be built with non-Communist hands.'

★ ★ ★

'We do know," he added, "that Communist influence does exist in the Negro movement and it is this influence which is vitally important.

LOSE PERSPECTIVE

It can be the means through which large masses are caused to lose perspective on the issues involved and, without realizing it, succumb to the party's propaganda lures."

At this point in the testimony Hoover asked to speak off the record, so the hearing transcript does not show whether he was asked for, or gave, any specific instances of Communist influence among Negroes.

Hoover, reporting on the FBI's activities, also described efforts by Communists to recruit American students to their views.

Urge Change in TB Facility

Suggest Conversion to Subacute Hospital

Conversion of Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium and nurses' home into a subacute hospital at a cost of about $400,000 was recommended yesterday by five committees of the County Board of Supervisors.

Their recommendation is to be presented the full board April 28, at which time the County Board of Auditors is hoping for authorization to advertise for contractors' bids.

The sanatorium would continue to be used for TB patients. It also would care for other subacute patients of the county such as those now in the overcrowded County Medical Care Facility.

The county also is paying for many subacute patients in convalescent homes and general hospitals.

★ ★ ★

The vacant nurses' home next to the sanatorium at Union Lake would be used for ambulatory TB patients.

Board of Auditors Chairman Daniel T. Murphy Jr. said the sanatorium and nurses' home renovations should be completed by the end of this year.

Russian Envoy, Rusk Confer on Laos Situation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin met today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a discussion on Laos. He said the situation there was "pretty bad and serious."

Dobrynin told newsmen he believes that the State Department would also have something to say about their conference, which was held at Rusk's request.

The ambassador said that during the 45-minute meeting he and Rusk touched on a number of topics but discussed Laos "first of all."

Soviet Agent Traded

British Spy Home After Russia Swap

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force plane brought Maynard Greville Wynne home from a Moscow prison today in a trade for Soviet spy Gordon Lonsdale.

★ ★ ★

The exchange was made at the Heerstrasse crossing point between the British sector of West Berlin and East Germany at 5:35 a.m.

Wynne, 45, arrived at London's Northolt Airport seven hours later.

The British Foreign Office said it agreed to the exchange because Wynne was ill.

The once-chubby Wynne, who had lost a great deal of weight, told newsmen the swap for Lonsdale came as a great surprise to him.

ESPIONAGE CHARGE

Wynne had been in Communist hands for two years and five months. He was sentenced in Moscow last May to eight years detention—three in prison and five in a labor camp—as a courier of espionage information.

Lonsdale, 40, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment in 1961 as the mastermind of a spy ring operating at the Portland naval research establishment.

The Foreign Office said the Soviet Union proposed on April 7 to pardon Wynne if the British would free Lonsdale.

Wynne was on a business trip in Budapest in November 1962, when he was arrested by Hungarian secret police. He was tried in Moscow with Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet official charged with selling atomic secrets to the West. Penkovsky was executed.

Defense Bill Expected to Clear House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to pass a $46.8-billion defense appropriation bill today that would give Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara almost everything he asked.

★ ★ ★

Approval by the House may be overwhelming despite the criticism heaped upon McNamara and his policies by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., and a few other Republicans.

Laird, who will head the platform committee at the Republican National Convention, told the House Tuesday that "no new major strategic systems have been introduced by this administration."

Democrats and most other Republicans, however, stood up to voice their faith in the military superiority of the United States over any enemy.

★ ★ ★

While some members like Laird criticized defense policies in general, there was little specific criticism of the bill.

Laird, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., and several others suggested that $126 million be added so that a new aircraft carrier can be powered by nuclear energy.

★ ★ ★

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House subcommittee on defense appropriations, said this could not be done because Congress never has authorized such a carrier.

The bill would provide $11.3 billion for the Army, $14.3 billion for the Navy, $18.5 billion for the Air Force, and $2.7 billion for defense agencies.

Commission Plans Drive on Substandard Housing

City commissioners unanimously approved a resolution aimed at weeding out substandard housing in Pontiac, and enforcing existing city and state health and housing codes.

The resolution directs city administrators, the city attorney and city inspectors to "cause any vacated dwelling unit to remain vacated until necessary work is done" to bring the structure up to minimum code standards.

The move climaxed a drive of several weeks by Commissioner Samuel J. Whiters.

Commissioners Charles H. Harmon and William H. Taylor said they would go along with the resolution if it applied to all sections of the city.

Both contend there are dwellings in every area of Pontiac which do not meet minimum building, heating, plumbing and fire codes.

ENFORCEMENT LACKING

City Attorney William A. Ewart agreed. "Code enforcement has been lacking in recent years.

"But it's simply a matter of men and money," Ewart said. "We would need more inspectors and more legal aides to take property owners into court. This costs money."

Whiters, in proposing the resolution, said it was not his intention "to see anyone put out on the street.

"The resolution would merely direct the city to prohibit a landlord from renting a dwelling where code violations exist.

"As tenants moved out, the city would then prohibit new tenants from moving in until the dwelling was brought up to minimum standards," Whiters said.

Commissioners agreed unanimously that the need for such enforcement was increasing. Taylor, in particular, has fought for more condemnation of substandard dwellings in the past several years.

Cuba Warning Directed at K

pect a quick and violent retaliation.

* * *

But so far, no one in a position of authority has been willing to say what form such retaliation would take.

SELECTIVE BOMBINGS

At the time a U.S. U2 photo reconnaissance plane was shot down over Cuba during the October 1962 missile crisis, there was widespread talk in Washington that if another such incident occurred the United States would knock out the Cuban antiaircraft missile bases by selective bombing attack.

The latest of the new warnings to Cuba came from President Johnson yesterday in talking to a group of newsmen at the White House.

"It is essential that we maintain surveillance and know whether any missiles are being shipped into Cuba. We will have to maintain our reconnaissance and over-flights," the President said.

"Any action on their part to stop that would be a very serious action. We have so informed them and their friends."

IRONIC CRISIS

Ironically, the present uneasy fears of a new Cuban crisis arise from the apparently imminent success of the United States in achieving one of its major objectives — the withdrawal from Cuba of the last of the Soviet troops which went into the island in 1962 when the Soviet Union was installing nuclear missiles with which it could have launched a direct attack on the United States.

In preparation for their departure, as the situation is understood here, the remaining Soviet forces have been training Cuban troops in the operation and use of modern and highly efficient antiaircraft missiles which are capable of shooting down jet planes operating at very high altitudes, including the U2.

There are 24 bases for the surface-to-air missiles — SAMS — and about 500 of the missiles themselves in Cuba, according to intelligence reports.

Violence broke out in two subway stations in Queens.

In one, some demonstrators jumped to the tracks in the city's first subway "lie-in." Twenty-one were arrested. Three pickets were arrested at another station in a clash with polic.

The larger demonstration started when somebody, presumably a demonstrator, pulled an emergency cord that brought a train to a jarring halt.

While some demonstrators leaped to the tracks, others tried to obstruct doors of the train.

Taverns' Plea Unheeded

License Move Fails

A move to upgrade eligible tavern licenses to Class C status in Pontiac failed to gain the support of five city commissioners last night.

Instroduced by Commissioner Loy L. Ledford, the resolution was defeated 5-2. Only Ledford and Commissioner Dick M. Kirby voted for it.

The issue came up when several local tavern owners appeared to protest that they were being discriminated against by the city's refusal to tentatively approve upgrading of their licenses.

Only the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) can officially upgrade a liquor license, but the local commission must tentatively okay the upgrading before it can be taken to the LCC.

CITY LICENSES

There are about 17 tavern licenses (beer and wine by the glass) and 37 Class C (liquor by the glass) in Pontiac, along with two Class B (hotel) licenses.

Under the state formula, all are considered liquor licenses. Pontiac's total, therefore, is 56.

The quota for Pontiac is 55. According to the LCC, no more new liquor licenses — tavern or Class C — can be issued by the City Commission until two leave town or the population increases enough to raise the quota.

CAN'T MOVE IN

This has been the case for several years. Likewise, the situation prohibits anyone with a liquor license from moving the license into the city.

All that a prospective bar owner can do is buy one which already exists here.

However, the city could approve the upgrading of all tavern licenses to Class C status and this is what the tavern owners are asking for.

* * *

Opposing such a move, Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. said that "the big problem is that it always costs us more to police Class C establishments than we get from them in fees and taxes."

EQUAL RIGHTS

Appealing for equal rights, one tavern owner asked, "Why not take all the whiskey out of town then?"

* * *

"If someone will offer that in the form of a motion, I'll support it," snapped Commissioner Samuel J. Whiters, who strongly opposes additional Class C licenses.

* * *

Ledford supported the upgrading contending that "we are denying a taxpayer who is under the strictest of state controls the chance to compete with others."

Lovaas Enters State Hospital

Fifteen-year-old Daniel Lovaas of Birmingham, slayer of a 14-year-old Birmingham girl, was admitted today into Pontiac State Hospital.

Daniel was taken ahead of others on the waiting list in his age group under the urging of Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams.

"He was severely mentally ill," Judge Adams said, "and needed intense psychiatric treatment which we couldn't give him at the County Children's Center."

"Whenever we have anyone as sick as this," the judge said, "it puts a terrific burden on the people at the Children's Center."

* * *

YEAR-LONG WAIT

Some in Daniel's age group have had to wait up to a year. Douglas Godfrey, who at the age of 15 last year shot and killed his mother, waited four months after his commitment.

Daniel was committed to the hospital for psychiatric care and treatment on a petition by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lovaas Jr., of 1042 Smith, Birmingham.

The boy had been found guilty by Juvenile Court Judge Norman R. Barnard of fatally stabbing Nancy Jean Jones, of 1128 Emmons, Birmingham, as she walked to school on fog-shrouded Purdy Street the morning of Jan. 24.

* * *

Daniel was confined at the Children's Center a total of 88 days after his arrest at Birmingham's Seaholm High School the morning of Nancy's slaying, according to Children's Center director James Van Leuven, who took Daniel to the state hospital this morning.

were printed," he noted, "and moved the strip to the right.

"That means that everyone who pushed down the voting lever over my name, was actually casting a machine ballot for my opponent, Mr. Webb."

* * *

Curtis L. Webb was the other District 7 candidate on the ballot. He trailed both Wellbaum, whose name wasn't on the printed ballot, and Landry.

CONFIRM INCIDENT

City Clerk Olga Barkeley confirmed that the incident took place and was discovered Monday afternoon. No one knows how many people voted erroneously before the irregularity was discovered.

The machine was temporarily closed until the ballot was replaced in its proper position.

"I don't mean to be critical of election workers," Landry noted. "They did a good job."

However, his campaign manager Herbert Donaldson, wasn't so kind.

READY TO HELP

"When I went in to vote, the first thing they said to me was that they'd show me how to cast a write-in vote.

"I know at least 25 people who would sign an affidavit confirming that election workers told them how to vote a write-in without them asking for such help.

"I also know of cases where election workers went into the booth after the curtains were closed and showed people how to cast write-in votes," he said.

"This is against the law," he asserted. "They are only to give information on request."

Noted Editor Speaks at OU

Says Arms Ban Requires Strong U.N.

Just laying down our arms is not enough to end the arms race. Something must take the place of arms. That something is a strong United Nations, according to Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review.

Cousins, highly regarded political interpreter and analyst, addressed a crowd of more than 300 persons last night at Oakland University.

Cosponsored by the Rochester area and Oakland County chapters of the American Association for the United Nations, the Cousins' talk included a discourse in defense of the late General Douglas MacArthur.

In reference to recently published interviews, Cousins said, "We dishonor his memory by putting foul words in his still mouth."

* * *

The magazine editor claimed that MacArthur wanted to be remembered in history as a man having something to do for peace.

"He didn't fit the saddle of a man on horseback," Cousins said.

Cousins pointed out that MacArthur's proudest achievement was aiding in the establishment of the first constitution to ever outlaw war as an instrument of national policy.

He quoted the late general as saying, "There is no defense but an organized peace."

* * *

A member of the AAUN national board of directors, Cousins asked what security can there be with a continuing arms race.

NATIONAL DESTRUCTION

"I wonder if there will be anyone left to distinguish between a nation destroyed 736 times over one destroyed 1,401 times over."

* * *

The world traveler and backer of a "strong U.N." said that there is no man, even in American history, that Americans have put more trust in than Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He characterized the Soviet boss as the one man who could destroy 80 million Americans in two hours.

* * *

Cousins said the arms race reflects a lack of trust of Khrushchev, and yet we give him this trust not to destroy us.

CAUSE OF MANKIND

"Is the cause of mankind to be left to this?" Cousins asked.

He continued, "The fact is no country is going to get rid of its basic weapons unless something takes their place. Otherwise, it is only a matter of time before the arms will be back."

Cousins' answer is the United Nations.

* * *

"We can't expect the U.N. indefinitely to run after history with a mop," he explained.

GIVE U.N. MUSCLE

He called for a charter revision to give the U.N. muscle — police power, a judiciary and taxing power.

"The time has come when we are called upon to justify the great gift of life," the visitor concluded.

During a question and answer session, Cousins gave a qualified yes answer to whether or not the U.N. should admit Red China.

* * *

He said that opposition in the United States to the world organization comes from the extreme right — the John Birch Society.

MORE IMPORTANT

On Red China: "The more dangerous a nation is the more important it should be that that nation be admitted.

* * *

"However," he added, "the assumption that an invitation rendered is a problem solved may not be necessarily correct."

* * *

On the U.N. police power: "Yes, force is necessary, but the question is who is to use this force. When the men of the West gave up their six-shooters, they gave them to the sheriff."

Hard at Work on Centennial

BIRMINGHAM — Committee members throughout the city are hard at work getting "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" together in time for the Centennial Celebration.

The 100th anniversary of the city's founding, to be marked in conjunction with Michigan Week, is just 25 days away.

Plans now are being firmed and a tentative schedule of activities announced.

Week-long centennial events will include exhibits and tours at the Birmingham offices of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Detroit Edison Co. and Consumers Power Co.

* * *

These will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 18-22.

PARK ATTRACTIONS

Installed at Shain Park will be new playground equipment, a children's barnyard with live animals, heritage out-buildings, a chuck wagon and horse-drawn popcorn wagon.

Other exhibits will appear at the Community House, Baldwin Public Library and in merchants' windows.

Centennial tie-ins will be featured during most of the Michigan Week activities on the specially designated days — spiritual foundations, government, hospitality, livelihood, education, heritage and youth days.

* * *

Climax of the city's celebration will be May 22 and 23.

HISTORIC TOUR

On the former, Heritage Day activities will begin with a morning tour of historic sites and heritage homes.

A noon luncheon is planned at the Community House with members of the Senior Men's Club and Senior Women's Club.

An old grindstone will be dedicated at the site of Birmingham's original grist mill during the afternoon.

CENTENNIAL PARADE

The Centennial parade, sponsored by the Jaycees, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. May 23.

Units planning to participate include American Legion Post No. 14 color guard and locomotive, Ponies of America, Oakland County Sheriff's patrols, Michigan State Police, Army Mobility Command and the City of Birmingham's rolling stock.

Also entered, are the Redford Highlanders, a Southern Oakland County Girl Scout float and marchers and junior and senior high school floats.

At 2:30 p.m. the Chamber of Commerce will hold a fashion show in Shain Park.

SPEECH, CONCERT

Tentatively scheduled are a speech by Gov. George W. Romney and concert by Michigan State University's band.

A student king and queen of the centennial are to be crowned at this ceremony.

* * *

Other plans are being made for special activities during the weeks immediately preceding and following Michigan Week.

Railroad Alters Time Schedule for Coast Trips

Grand Trunk Western Railroad has announced a time change effective Sunday to provide more convenient rail connections to the West Coast from its Detroit-Chicago train.

Train No. 21 will now leave Detroit at 11:35 a.m. instead of 1:15 p.m., and depart from Royal Oak at noon, Birmingham at 12:06 p.m. and Pontiac at 12:20 p.m. before heading southwest from Durand.

Arrival time at Chicago's Dearborn Station will be 5:20 p.m. (CST) to match with well-known passenger train departures to West Coast cities.

A second time change will see Train No. 56 leave Durand 5 minutes earlier, at 3:30 p.m. daily. It will leave Pontiac at 4:18 p.m., Birmingham at 4:32 p.m., and arrive in Detroit at 5 p.m.

Reelection of Romney Pushed by GOP Official

By The Associated Press

The reelection of George W. Romney as governor is imperative, said a Republican.

A Democrat complained, meanwhile, because Romney has not yet declared his official candidacy.

Republican National Committeeman John B. Martin told Young Republicans at the Community House in Birmingham Tuesday night the reelection of Romney "is imperative not only for Repubicans but for the welfare of every voter in Michigan regardless of party."

"We wandered in the political wilderness for 14 long years," said Martin. "If it hadn't been for George Romney, we would probably still be there."

FERENCY VOTE

State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency, also speaking Tuesday night, told Democrats at Holt that the Federal Communications Commission "ought to look into the present Michigan political situation where Republicans are playing fast and loose with Gov. Romney's 1964 reelection plans."

"The official Republican organization has thrown everything including Lenore Romney into high gear in preparation for Gov. Romney's reelection bid and yet the Republican governor refuses to declare his official candidacy," Ferency said.

"We Democrats are going to demand free and equal time from any radio or television station that continues to give Romney time to promote his political ambitions under the guise of a governor reporting to the people," he said.

Martin said he was sure that neither Republicans, Democrats or independents wanted to return to the "stalemate and sterile bickering" of the eras of former Govs. G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson.

'DESTROYED IMAGE'

"It destroyed the reputation of the state as a solvent, going concern," Martin said. "It created the picture throughout the nation of a broken, bankrupt economy. Now we are moving under Romney leadership in a new direction. We have entered a period of flourishing prosperity and have seen our state government restored to solvency.

"Michigan is on the move," Martin said. "I believe Michigan's voters will want George Romney as their governor for a second term."

Ferency said it was interesting to note the Republican State Central Committee will furnish circulators for Romney's petitions, but not for George Higgins, Ferndale auto dealer, also expected to announce for the GOP nomination for governor.

Urge Change in TB Facility

the project would be financed with $260,000 from the county's building fund, $60,000 from the contingency fund and by earmarking $130,000 from county revenues next year.

Converting the sanatorium to a more general use will save the county $250,000 a year elsewhere in the budget, said Robert Lilly, secretary-member of the board of auditors.

This is money now being spent for county patients in general hospitals while space is available at the sanatorium.

FEWER PATIENTS

With the advent of new drugs for home treatment of tuberculosis in recent years, the number of TB patients at the sanatorium has fallen off about two-thirds.

The cost of conversion would cover remodeling and renovation that would have to be done anyway to meet State Health Department and fire marshal's requirements, noted Murphy.

Most of the money that would come from the county's general building fund already was earmarked for a new South Oakland health center.

Lilly said diverting some of these funds to do the work proposed at the TB sanatorium shouldn't delay construction of the health center.

NEW SITE

Money now in the fund was to be used for purchase of a new site in South Oakland County.

The board of auditors has since found that the proposed site can be paid for in three installments of about $100,000 over the next three years.

The 29-acre site at Greenfield and Catalpa in Southfield is being offered by the Berkley school board.

The Board of Supervisors Ways and Means and Buildings and Grounds committees authorized the county auditors to negotiate for an option on the land.

LAND OPTIONS

The auditors also were directed to seek options on 45.74 acres being offered for sale next to the County Service Center.

The property is immediately north of the Childrens Village site on the west side of Telegraph.

Other supervisors' groups participating in yesterday's recommendation regarding the TB Sanatorium and nurses' home were health, tuberculosis sanatorium and welfare committees.

* * *

They acted partly on the advice of County Engineer Joseph Joachim who assured that both the nurses' home and the sanatorium are structurally sound and worth the proposed expenditures.

Ways and Means Chairman David Levinson said it would cost over $2 million for the county to build completely new subacute hospital facilities to fill the existing needs.

Round-the-Clock Talks Bring Rail Rift Closer to Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences were reported narrowing today as negotiators bargained toe-to-toe with less than 72 hours remaining before the delayed deadline for a nationwide railroad strike.

Representatives of five unions and nearly 200 railroads were closely examining each other's proposals "decimal point by decimal point," said White House press secretary George Reedy.

President Johnson voiced hope again Tuesday that the two sides in the five-year-old work rule dispute would come up with a voluntary settlement before Saturday's scheduled 12:01 a.m. strike deadline.

Johnson was reported so hopeful of an agreement by that time that he has not yet asked for any extension of the 15-day strike postponement he won April 10.

Talks with federal mediators were going virtually around the clock.

Sources close to both sides said the talks were in a highly crucial stage and that the outcome was still uncertain.

★ ★ ★

Reedy said the two sides were engaged in "very thorough, very exhaustive, discussions" based on an exchange of working papers on their respective proposals.

★ ★ ★

The dispute involves a complicated system of work rules governing wages, job classifications and working conditions.

"There is a narrowing of differences, there is a clarification of language," Reedy said. Johnson, speaking to a group of editors and broadcasters visiting the White House Tuesday, said "we think that collective bargaining is hard at work."

★ ★ ★

Johnson continued to refrain from saying what action he might take if the talks failed. He said he was proceeding on a presumption that the talks would result in a voluntary solution before the strike deadline.

Record Sales for Store Chain

★ ★

Theodore Schlesinger, Allied president, said net earnings rose approximately 10 per cent to $13,600,000 or $4.40 per share of common stock. Earnings the previous year were $12,468,000 or $4.01 per share.

He said sales totaled 7.7 per cent — or $59,003,000 — above fiscal 1962. The firm's fiscal year ends Jan. 31.

The nation's second largest department store chain, Allied has operated the downtown Pontiac store since 1939. Clifford G. Grovogel is Waite's store manager.

★ ★ ★

The corporation's annual report cited expansions in Houston and Seattle, listed several more planned for the East and Midwest, and a growth program for the Almart discount store subsidiaries.

New City Hall Administration Decreed by Pontiac Voters

Pontiac voters have completed the job they started in the March primary. Pontiac is back on the track.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner WILLIAM H. TAYLOR received the highest number of votes cast in the election. The voters of Pontiac remember all too well his losing two-year fight against a city commission majority.

The voters also remembered well who led the majority. Mayor Robert A. Landry was defeated by a write-in candidate, Emmett Wellbaum.

★ ★ ★

Voters went to the trouble of writing in a candidate's name to end the commission tenure of LANDRY, who led in ousting the city manager and upsetting the police department.

So ends a tumultuous two-year period that many people who are proud of Pontiac would like to forget.

Now we can get back to the problems of the City, instead of the problems of the individuals on the commission.

★ ★ ★

There are more than enough city problems to settle. We need a new manager, and some cash. Voters approved shorter hours for firemen, which costs money, but they also turned down a millage increase which would have helped ease the City's financial strain.

With the election of T. WARREN FOWLER, ROBERT IRWIN, LESLIE HUDSON, JOHN DUGAN, WESLEY WOOD, EMMETT WELLBAUM, and the reelection of WILLIAM TAYLOR, Pontiac is once more ready to move forward.

These are good men, dedicated to helping Pontiac. They are willing to spend a large portion of their time to help their fellow citizens by setting the policy for the administration of the City.

Under the direction of the new governing body, Pontiac can be expected to resume its progress toward enlightened solution of present problems and the development of a flourishing and well-governed municipality.

Lodge Not Well Liked—Except by the People

Politics, particularly on the national level, is subject to much unpredictable phenomena. HENRY CABOT LODGE is a case in point.

Apparently no one likes him but the people.

★ ★ ★

Although LODGE ran away with the March 10 New Hampshire presidential preference primary election as an undeclared, write-in candidate, he was before that event but a 16 per cent nationwide choice of Republican voters. Since the New Hampshire sockeroo, his national popularity among GOP rank and file has zoomed to 42 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Furthermore, although Lodge is not entered in the June 2 California primary, a survey of the state's Republicans shows him leading the field of declared and undeclared candidates with almost a third of indicated voter preference.

But the largely volunteer organization that put LODGE over on a shoestring in New Hampshire, is going all-out for the May 15 Oregon primary as an opportunity to score an impressive win leading to the Republican convention in July.

All major GOP candidates including Lodge will be entered in the Oregon race, and a real test of strength should ensue. Should Lodge run as well as is now indicated, he would almost certainly be established as "the people's choice."

Since the GOP pros are reportedly cool toward the Ambassador, such grass-roots popularity would likely give them some moments of deep thought.

U.S. Is Skeptical of Russian Moves

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Almost 19 years of cold war secrecy, and all that means in skepticism about Communists, has had a freezing effect on the American mind.

MARLOW

The reaction to a Communist move, even when it sounds peaceful, is almost predictable.

Suspicions of the Soviet Union popped up immediately in Congress Monday after President Johnson announced in New York and Premier Khrushchev disclosed in Moscow they were cutting production of material for nuclear weapons.

But all this overlooks the point; in this case, it doesn't matter whether Russia's playing tricks or not. Johnson said this country has more material for weapons than it needs.

Therefore, continuing to produce it without needing it is wasting money. Johnson put it this way: "We must not operate a WPA nuclear project just to provide employment when our needs have been met."

★ ★ ★

The Soviets have the same problem of overproduction of nuclear weapon material, as do the British, but Khrushchev in his announcement tried to pitch his decision on a lofty plane.

PUT BRAKE ON

He said the cutback was an "opportunity for improving mutual understanding." The British were to announce a cutback today. Actually, they put the brake on last year.

Either Johnson is right or wrong in his decision. If he is wrong, he may be jeopardizing the country. But it must be assumed he would not have made his decision without the advice of his military and atomic experts.

So, if he's right, it can make no difference what Khrushchev does about cutting back. If the Russians have more material than they need but keep on producing it, then they're wasting money.

★ ★ ★

In the case of disarmament, the consistent American position has been that inspection would be needed; and it is easy to see why it would be needed in that case, but not in Johnson's cutback decision of yesterday.

NEVER BE SURE

If the United States and the Soviet Union, for instance, agreed to destroy a certain number of missiles and nuclear warheads, this country could never be sure the Soviets were not cheating unless they permitted inspection.

Without such proof, this country would be a first class sap to destroy a single one of its weapons for, if that continued, it could wind up at the mercy of the fully armed Russians.

But any disarmament agreement is a long way off. Johnson, ever since taking office, has been communicating with Khrushchev privately, but reporters were told the two men's decisions of Monday were not a deal.

★ ★ ★

For the reasons explained above there didn't have to be a deal.

WON'T STOP SUSPICIONS

But that probably won't stop suspicions about the whole business although it would be hard to explain why this country should produce what it did not need, no matter what the Russians did.

It's possible that moves like this one by both countries may lead to better understanding, but that's for extra.

Getting Ready For Launching

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Policy Now Forgive, Forget

WASHINGTON—There seems to be a new motto that describes the trend in American foreign policy—"forgive and forget."

The new mood is reflected in developments in Cuba.

It has been revealed, for instance, that the Soviet Union is planning to turn over the operation of its anti-aircraft missiles in Cuba to the Castro government on May 1 and will withdraw about 3,000 of the 4,000 Soviet troops now in Cuba.

CONSIDINE

It is not clear yet whether Moscow will retain a veto over the firing of the missiles or whether the power of decision will be left with the Russian "technicians" who are to remain on the island.

Not a single public protest, however, has been made by the United States government to the Soviet government over the continued presence in Cuba of Soviet technicians and missiles.

The last official word on the the subject, so far as the public is concerned, was spoken in October 1962, at the time of the missile crisis.

★ ★ ★

Despite efforts then to bring about an immediate withdrawal of all Soviet forces and missiles, the United States has had to be content with a long-drawn-out maneuver.

NOTHING SERIOUS

The tendency here is to assume that nothing serious will develop and that, even if the Castro government fires any of its antiaircraft missiles and damages or downs any of the U2s or other planes which are engaged in occasional air inspection of Cuba, the United States will not hesitate to take retaliatory action.

There is, moreover, a desire in Washington to "play ball," if possible, with the Soviet regime in the hope that some propaganda advantage can be obtained in the international debate over reduction of armament.

Thus, while much emphasis is placed on the agreement just made to reduce the production of uranium, this really has no military significance.

★ ★ ★

PLENTY OF STRENGTH

The truth is that both sides have plenty of nuclear strength to devastate each other's territory.

Such mutual agreements as the ban on nuclear testing in certain categories and now the curtailment of uranium production—both agreements without provisions for inspection—are, of course, part of the Soviet effort to give the impression that it has no hostile purpose toward the West.

This is designed to invite further trade with the West and perhaps even to obtain financial help from the United States by way of long-term credits.

The objective of Moscow is to produce the right atmosphere for commercial interchanges in order to help overcome some of the Communist economic difficulties.

For the next few months, not only the United States but some of its European allies are evidently going to try to "play ball" with Nikita Khrushchev and elicit from him periodically further expressions of good will and peaceful intentions.

Capital Letter:

Harry Truman's Birthday to Be a Dual Celebration

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — A spunky ex-President named Harry S. Truman turns 80 on May 8.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

For the first time since he left the White House a dozen years ago, the man from Independence will celebrate his birthday in the nation's capital.

Surrounded by President Lyndon B. Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Cabinet members and old cronies, Mr. Truman will accept $80,000 raised by his friends to complete the endowment of a Harry S. Truman chair of American history at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo.

It'll be a great day for the one-time farm boy from Jackson County, who never went to college.

An avid student of American history, he personally will deliver the first eight lectures at the small college where Sir Winston Churchill made his memorable "Iron Curtain" speech in 1946.

The Truman birthday party is to be a dual affair.

WATCHDOG UNIT

It will also celebrate the twenty-third anniversary of the Truman Committee, the Senate watchdog on World War II expenditures, over which the Missouri senator presided with such fair-mindedness that it became his springboard to the vice presidency.

Washington attorney Charles Patrick Clark, its former associate council, has been rounding up the committee alumni annually for the past eight years, to honor Mr. Truman on his spring visit to the capital.

The alumni are growing scarcer as the years take their toll.

Of the original ten members, the only three still living are Mr. Truman, Joseph Ball, and retired Supreme Court Justice Harold Burton, who is frail and ailing.

THREE DEATHS

Three others—Tom Connally, James Mead and Carl Hatch—died since the last get-together.

Although not a member, President Johnson has attended the seven previous reunions, and President Kennedy looked in on the one three years ago.

Clark is the perennial master of ceremonies for the stag event, and, since raising money for the history chair was his brainchild, he will present the check to Mr. Truman, while Westminster's President Robert L. D. Davidson looks on.

★ ★ ★

The college is contributing half of the total $250,000 endowment.

★ ★ ★

Among the money-raisers who will pay homage to their old party chief on his 80th birthday are Averell Harriman, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Burton K. Wheeler, James Farley, Angier Biddle Duke, Dean Acheson, John Snyder and Oscar Chapman.

Voice of the People:

Supports Bill Permitting Added Income for Elders

By a majority of 62 per cent, the nation's independent business proprietors feel the law restricting the amount older people can earn in employment in order to receive social security benefits is unrealistic and discriminatory.

★ ★ ★

A Senate bill by Sen. Kenneth Keating would permit older people to earn in private employment as much as they are capable without forfeiting their social security benefits. At present, an older person can only earn up to $1,200 per year without forfeiting part, or all of the payments due from contributions to social security.

★ ★ ★

But older people can receive unlimited income from investments, or other sources, and still receive the full amount of social security. The present social security law is following a pattern of discrimination against those who have no income from investments or other sources, but must work at some occupation to supplement their social security payments.

A letter criticized the location of the new municipal pool as "de facto segregation." I think our city officials should be praised for taking a very big step toward desegregation.

★ ★ ★

Unless whole areas of a city are to be simply abandoned, desegregation efforts have to be made in two directions: first, the Negro must be free to move into areas outside the "Negro district"; second, improvements must be made inside the "Negro district" to provide decent, attractive surroundings for the Negroes who remain and also to attract decent and responsible white people to locate there.

★ ★ ★

Such an important improvement as a swimming pool must certainly enhance property values in its neighborhood. I hope it is the first in a long line of projects that will eventually obliterate all signs of segregation.

More Offer Quotations on Churchgoing

I would like for Ruth Rhodes, who wrote on church attendance, to please read Heb. 10:25, also Acts 2:42. The word "church" appears 112 times in the New Testament, and Jesus said to Peter, "upon this rock I will build My church."

2259 Hedge — Bill Hyder

To those who say "Nowhere in the Old or New Testament are we commanded to attend church," I quote the following: "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together; as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another; and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching." (Herb. 10:25)

Sap or Saphead?

The Columbus Dispatch

Warm days accelerate the flow of maple sap, as well as the kind that goes around you at 90 miles an hour on the freeway.

Machines

The Des Moines Tribune

"As a manufacturer of computers, I feel both shocked and alarmed," said Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board of International Business Machines Corp., "whenever I hear the prediction — and I hear it often — that one day the 'machines will take over' and give us the answers to everything. A computer is a machine and a machine is a tool — a means to an end — nothing more."

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that machines now do new things: "take orders, design manufacturing specifications, set rates of production, give data on purchasing, and order stock for warehouses" — and that they were beginning to do a little useful translation of foreign languages. "But whatever we teach computers to do," Watson insisted, "the machines will still be only a means."

Take the civil rights problem in the United States. If you ask a computer about rights under the Constitution, Watson noted, the machine's honest answers could add up to a conclusion that there is no civil rights problem. Ask it questions about actual practice and the problem would emerge — provided the machine had been fed the correct data first.

★ ★ ★

But the machine could still not solve the problem. That has to be done by people, Watson insists, people with judgments on right and wrong, people with a will to do the right thing after they know what is right.

★ ★ ★

Watson is the man who put up all those "Think" signs. He means it, he does it.

West Winds

The Richmond News Leader

The winds are blowing from the west today, strongly from Wisconsin, mildly from Kansas, bitterly from Cleveland. And what do the west winds say?

They bespeak a rising storm of national involvement in these "civil rights" questions. It is a storm that may yet force the United States Senate back to a course of sanity.

In Cleveland, a 27-year-old minister, Bruce W. Klunder, died what will be termed a martyr's death when a bulldozer backed over him at an East Side school construction site.

★ ★ ★

But we predict that the immediate public reaction will be to make the point that Klunder had no business being where he was. The young zealot and his companions had circumvented police lines at the site, "raced through back yards," and entered the construction site from the rear.

Two girls and a man threw themselves in front of the bulldozer; the operator lifted his shovel to clear them, and accidentally backed over the young minister.

Police already have cleared the bulldozer operator, John White, and have arrested some of the trespassers who sought to take the law into their own willful hands.

★ ★ ★

In Kansas City, a number of civic organizations threw their entire strength into support of a referendum on an expanded public accommodations ordinance.

They won, all right. But the margin of victory was precisely 50.97 per cent to 49.03 per cent. It is not the sort of triumph that would suggest massive Midwestern support for the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

The most remarkable news came from Wisconsin, where Alabama's scrappy Governor George C. Wallace entered the State's presidential primary. When he first made his intentions known, some weeks ago, a contemptuous prediction came from Milwaukee that he wouldn't get 25,000 votes.

Then it was said he wouldn't get as many as 5 per cent of the vote. Governor John W. Reynolds said it would be a "catastrophe" if Wallace got 100,000 votes. But a nearly-complete count showed Wallace with a total of 246,000.

Efforts to minimize this showing already are under way. But the fact is that in the teeth of a hostile press, and despite the united opposition of the churches of Wisconsin, Mr. Wallace polled nearly a quarter of a million votes.

And prudent Senators, unless we are vastly mistaken, would be soundly advised to wet a finger to the mutinous winds, and take heed of the storm that is blowing their way.

Three Different Party Cakes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

"Let them eat cake," was the somewhat callous response of Marie Antoinette when she was told that the French populace had no bread.

When we say, "Let them eat cake," we mean it in a hospitable manner. And give you three unusual cake recipes to prove our point.

There are two new pink angel food cake mixes on the market—Heavenly Raspberry and Heavenly Strawberry. Both have bits of fruit candy in a separate little package. This you sprinkle over the batter just before pouring it into a pan.

For an exceptionally lovely looking cake that is just right for a shower, do try Raspberry Dream Angel Cake.

Raspberry Dream Angel Cake

Prepare Heavenly Raspberry Angel Food Cake mix as directed on package in 10" tube pan. Remove from pan; cut into 3 layers.

Whip 2 cups whipping cream with ½ cup confectioners' sugar, reserving 1 cup for raspberry filling (below). Store remainder in refrigerator until ready to use on sides of cake.

Reassemble cake, spreading each layer with raspberry filling. Top with a very thin coating of 2 to 3 tablespoons raspberry jam. Spread chilled whipped cream on sides of cake. Chill cake about 3 hours. 12 to 16 servings.

Raspberry Filling

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon water
1 cup thick raspberry jam
1 cup whipped cream

Soften gelatin in water. Dissolve over hot water until clear. Stir into jam. Chill. When partially set, fold into 1 cup of the reserved whipped cream. Spread between layers.

To cut cake, mark with picks and use serrated knife.

If you're entertaining and want to get your cake ready ahead of time, Tea Cake Ring is a good choice for you. This cake has a fine pound cake texture with a unique spice-like flavor that comes from instant tea.

No frosting needed—just confectioners' sugar sprinkled over the top.

Tea Cake Ring

1 cup soft butter or margarine (½ pound)
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
6 egg yolks (½ cup)
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons instant tea
6 egg whites (¾ cup)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat butter or margarine until creamy, gradually beat in sugars until creamy. Then gradually add egg yolks and beat until very light and fluffy, about 7 minutes. Add lemon rind and vanilla extract.

In small bowl, sift together flour and baking powder. Gradually stir milk into instant tea.

At low speed, blend in flour-mixture alternately with tea-milk, in three parts, starting and ending with flour.

Now in small bowl, beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; then carefully fold into batter. Turn into greased 3-quart bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan and bake about 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Cool on rack in pan 10 minutes, then invert cake on rack; remove pan and cool. Makes about 20 slices.

* * *

Our third recipe also starts with a mix. This time it's fudge mix which you turn into a brownie cake. Baked in a ring mold, it is served with ice cream.

Brownie Fudge-Nut Cake

⅔ cups flour, sifted
½ teaspoon baking powder
Dash of salt
1¼ cup (scant) chocolate quick fudge mix
1 egg
¼ cup shortening
⅓ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla
⅔ cup nutmeats, chopped

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt in a small mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients and mix well on medium speed for 1 minute. Spread in greased 1-quart ring mold. Bake 25-30 minutes in a 350 degree oven or bake in a greased 8" square pan and bake 20-25 minutes.

When using the ring mold — cool cake slightly and invert on a cake plate. Just prior to serving, fill the hole in the center with scoops of ice cream.

* * *

NOTE: Individual ring molds may be used instead of the 1-quart size. Bake the individual molds 10-12 minutes. Place a scoop of ice cream in the center of each mold.

Pound Cake Finger Food

Pound cake is a pantry pal. From it you can create unique desserts in less time than the telling. Fashion 12-14 Coconut-Honey Cake Logs from a (10-12 ounce) cake.

* * *

Cut across top, squaring it off. Trim crusts and cut into 1-inch slices. Next, cut each slice lengthwise.

* * *

Cream together ¼ cup each of soft butter and honey. Spreading 3 sides of each log is easy if you insert a thin skewer into it as you go. 1½ teaspoons of butter mixture will do. Roll in flaked coconut and slide log off skewer onto a serving plate. Refrigerate until served.

Chocolate Morsels Melted in Mousse

Chocolate mousse, that magnificent classic French dessert, is si bon — "so good" — and so simple to make with this spectacular shortcut recipe using semi-sweet chocolate morsels.

Mousse Au Chocolat

Melt over hot (not boiling) water 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Remove from heat. Add 6 egg yolks, slightly beaten, with 2 tablespoons cognac. Beat until stiff but not dry 6 egg whites and a dash of salt. Fold gently into chocolate mixture. Pour into sherbet glasses. Chill. Serve with plain cream. Yield: 8 servings.

Jolly Clown Salad Tempts Youngsters

If salads are on the list of foods your youngster must be coaxed to eat, here's a tip for you. Borrow an idea from his world of make-believe with an imaginative yet easy - to - fix Clown Salad. The name alone would appeal to him, but one look at the clown's happy smile will win him over completely.

Clown Salad

2 cups (1 lb.) cottage cheese
4 canned cling peach halves
Lettuce
2 maraschino cherries
8 raisins
1 green pepper
8 crisp rye wafers

Put cottage cheese into a strainer and drain well. Place peach halves pit side down, on a paper towel to drain. Arrange lettuce on 4 salad plates.

Place a mound of cheese (about ½ cup) on lettuce. Top each mound with a peach half, pit side down. Make a face on each peach.

For the mouth, cut a slit about 1½-inches long and ½-inch wide in the peach half. Fill opening with cottage cheese. For the nose, use ½ maraschino cherry, pressing cut side against peach half; for each eye, use a raisin.

* * *

For clown hats, cut green pepper into 4 triangles. Serve with crisp rye wafers. Makes 4 salads.

Telescope Aids U.S. Space Probe

WASHINGTON—From a lonely outpost in Puerto Rico's rugged limestone hill country, scientists are probing deeper into space than ever before.

★ ★ ★

A new radio telescope — believed to be the largest of its kind, built by the United States government and operated by Cornell University — is making possible this study of the far reaches of space.

The deep-dish, 18½-acre reflector can pick up radio emissions from stars 12 million light-years away.

It can bounce radar beams off the moon and planets for an unprecedented closeup view of earth's neighbors in the solar system.

★ ★ ★

The primary mission of the telescope, however, is to study the ionosphere.

ABOVE SURFACE

This portion of the atmosphere extends 50 to 400 miles above the earth's surface and makes possible radio communications, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

The unique instrument is a steel - mesh bowl 1,000 feet across with a 550-ton feed platform suspended 435 feet above it by cables.

Gains, Losses Fractional

Mart Mixed in Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed in active trading today.

Gains and losses of key stocks ranged generally from fractions to a point.

★ ★ ★

Concern was beginning to mount again as to whether a rail strike could be averted before the Saturday morning deadline. The leading rail stocks, however, put on a fairly steady performance. Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad and New York Central were among fractional gainers.

Some of the issues which fell sharply Tuesday staged moderate recoveries.

CHRYSLER GAINS

Among them, Chrysler gained a fraction. Texas Gulf Sulphur recouped ⅜ at 40½ on an opening block of 12,000 shares. Curtis Publishing made a similar fractional gain.

Tuesday, the Associated Press aaverage of 60 stocks was unchanged at 306.4.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included Aurora Plastics, Brown Co. and Syntex.

Senators Ask Trial Clause

Opponents Surprise Civil Rights Backers

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a surprise move, Southern senators battling the House-passed civil rights bill have called up an amendment to provide for jury trials in criminal contempt-of-court cases.

With the Senate debate now in its 37th day, this maneuver could throw out of kilter the plans of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to bring up Thursday the first of 11 amendments he has offered to the antijob - discrimination section of the measure.

★ ★ ★

However, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie forces, indicated they probably would not object to letting the Senate act first on the Dirksen amendments.

"If Sen. Dirksen wanted to get to his amendments first, we might by unanimous consent agree to lay ours aside temporarily," Russell told newsmen.

TACTICAL BENEFIT

One immediate, tactical benefit for the Dixie forces was to clear the way for them to make a new round of speeches without running afoul of the Senate's two-speech rule.

Asst. Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, floor manager of the bill, had threatened to enforce the rule to cut down the flow of Southern oratory. But now each senator is free to make two speeches on Talmadge's amendment since it is new business before the Senate.

★ ★ ★

Russell said there will be "a number of speeches" on it. Humphrey could move to table the amendment and thus shut off debate on it; but Russell said he did not think this tactic would be employed at this stage.

The jury-trial amendment was introduced Tuesday night by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., with several of his Southern colleagues as cosponsors.

N.J. Votes Unpledged GOP Slate

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — In one of the most placid primary elections in recent history, New Jersey has voted to send an uncommitted delegation to the Republican National Convention, at which the state will have 40 delegate votes.

★ ★ ★

A small percentage of voters who chose to write in a presidential preference gave Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge a substantial lead over Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former vice president Richard M. Nixon in yesterday's balloting.

Lodge got 2,236 write-ins in about 45 per cent of the state's districts reported. Goldwater had 1,604 and Nixon 954.

Republican voters also chose for the first time a Negro candidate to run for Congress on a major party ticket in the state. On the democratic side, in addition to endorsing an organization-backed delegation to the convention, 929 voters wrote in the name of President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama received 191 presidential preference votes from Democrats and another 91 on Republican ballots.

A little more than half of the state's districts had reported returns by this morning from nearly 200,000 voters.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "My husband can work until he is 70, but I'm afraid he will never make 65, for his health seems to be rapidly declining. I also am in poor health and will not be able to continue work. We will both get good pensions on retirement. We have a home with a $10,000 mortgage. I have $16,000 in savings. Would you advise me to pay off the mortgage and invest the balance in good stocks for income?" J.V.

A. In your particular circumstances, I do not believe that it would be wise for you to buy stocks. These securities have only one thing in common, namely that they fluctuate — sometimes quite severely. All shares must be constantly watched, and I don't feel that you are in a position to do this.

By all means, pay off your $10,000 mortgage. The balance, in my opinion, belongs in a savings account where your principal would always be intact, if you need it.

★ ★ ★

Q. "In about 15 years, I will be ready to quit. I want to start building a portfolio of common stocks that should grow rapidly. At present I own oil, utility, steel, and chemical stocks. I would like to add some General Motors and some medium - priced insurance stocks. What is your opinion of Commonwealth Life Insurance, and can you name another insurance stock which should have good growth over the next 15 years?" M.L.

A. I should like to point out, if I may, that steels are not growth issues but are highly cyclical. Right now, there is a cloud over the industry because of the recent wholesale indictments on charges of antitrust violations.

I would switch steels into such consumer - type issues as Corn Products and Procter & Gamble.

I like Commonwealth Life. As an additional insurance stock I suggest Travelers, selling around 50.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

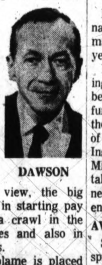
Grads Could Find Job Market Slack

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Business is still giving top students in college graduation classes a rush. But this year there's a difference.

The ardent wooing of any and all college engineering seniors by aerospace and electronics companies which followed the Soviet orbiting of its first Sputnik has slumped, especially on the Pacific coast.



DAWSON

Even worse, from the student's point of view, the big annual increase in starting pay has slowed to a crawl in the jet-age specialties and also in most other fields.

Much of the blame is placed on defense contract losses by some companies. But also the post-Sputnik efforts of both government and private business to encourage youth to study engineering have been bearing fruit. The supply of recruits is catching up with the lessening demand.

STILL SOUGHT

Top students are still sought even by the defense industries. And college placement offices report the demand heavy for good students in accounting, mathematics, chemistry and physics. If anything, there's been an increase in job opportunities in banking, insurance, retailing and sales.

★ ★ ★

But almost all sections of the nation report the summer job market growing poorer each year.

Many in this year's graduating classes aren't affected yet because they are going on to further studies. A survey by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., shows graduate schools taking nearly half of the business majors and a third of the engineers.

AVERAGING MORE

Seniors being signed up this spring are reported averaging about 2 per cent more than year than last, much less of a rise than formerly. The survey gives as average starting pay: engineers $610 a month; mathematicians, chemists, physicists $600; accountants $525; other business majors and graduates in the humanities and social sciences $500.

A master's degree usually rates $100 more a month than a bachelor's. A doctorate in engineering and the sciences can command from $10,000 to $13,000 a year.

To interest U.S. youngsters in elementary and high schools, Science Service, a nonprofit Washington organization, promoted science fairs, attended last year by more than a million youths. Among firms sponsoring such fairs are General Dynamics, California Standard Oil, Montgomery Ward and General Electric.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Westinghouse Electric has an extensive scholarship program for the education of youth in sciences needed for defense, space and electronics jobs. Bausch & Lomb offers such a scholarship at the University of Rochester. Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Co. is sponsoring a network television series aimed at interesting teen-agers in science as a career.

★ ★ ★

A number of corporate officials regard as a temporary thing this year's loss of the lush job opportunities in the aerospace and defense companies currently plagued by cutbacks and cancelations of government contracts. And they note that some consumer products companies are hiring more science graduates this spring.
