FOUR-ALARM FIRE — Six persons, including 10-year-old twins, were rescued by ladders and another dozen were driven to the street in near-zero temperatures early yesterday morning when a four-alarm fire swept a five-story Boston building. Famed Commander of WW II Fleet Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The late James V. Forrestal, while secretary of the Navy, once asked his chief of naval operations whether an officer convinced by a court-martial ever had risen to flag rank.

"You're looking at one," replied Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded the most powerful fleet in history during World War II.

As a young officer, the soft-spoken Texan had indeed been found guilty and reprimanded by a Navy court — for running a destroyer aground in Manila Bay.

The admiral, who died yesterday at 80, commanded a thousand ships and two million men during the battles leading to the surrender of Japan. He was the last of the five-star admirals.

Despite his awesome power, the admiral disliked pomp. On his 75th birthday the Navy staged a big party for him and he remarked:

"Am I looking forward to this? I'm looking forward to the end of it. I feel the same about it as the man who bought himself a small boat: His two happiest days were when he bought it and when he sold it."

2 WORLD WAR

Nimitz, whose career at sea spanned two world wars and the birth of the atomic age, died of what a Navy spokesman called "complications" following a "stroke" suffered Jan. 3.

4 From County Traffic Victims

Four Oakland County residents died in weekend traffic accidents, three of them in county mishaps and a fourth in a tractor-car collision near Grayling.

Dead are Lottie L. Carper, 31, of 18 Terrace, Northville; Marvin Newstead, 25, of 3155 Beaumont, Highland Township; Joanne Woods, 18, of 5091 Eastview; Independence Township, and J. Wesley Smith, 58, of 1999 Alpha, West Bloomfield Township.

Labor Leaders to Grill Wirtz

Wage Guidelines of LBJ to Be Viewed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is due for a grilling by the nation's top labor leaders on President Johnson's efforts to force high-wage construction unions into moderating pay increases.

"AFL-CIO officials, who have long denounced White House wage guidelines, reportedly will charge that the Johnson administration used a racial discrimination suit in an effort to pressure high-wage construction unions into moderating pay increases."

Wirtz, who has had no known preliminary talks here about growing labor complaints against Johnson, told a newsman he would talk about anything the AFL-CIO Executive Council wants to bring up.

Wirtz appears today before the opening session of the council, the policy-making body of the politically potent labor federation which has more than 13 million members in 129 affiliated unions.

Wirtz said his closed-door discussions with the 29-member Executive Council will be informal.

MINIMUM WAGE

AFL-CIO President George Meany and other council members also will discuss with Wirtz his demands for an increase in the federal minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.40 this year, $1.60 next year, and $1.75 in 1968. This is one subject on which the labor leaders feel Wirtz agrees with them.

Federation officials fear Johnson may follow the recommendations of his Council of Economic Advisers for raises to $1.40 this year and $1.70 in 1970, which AFL-CIO sources said would kick off a major war between labor and the Johnson administration.

New Term to Alert Public to Watch for Tornadoes

A new term—"tornado watch"—is being used this year to alert the public to the possible development of tornadoes.

This terminology replaces the "tornado forecast" designation previously used by the Weather Bureau of the Department of Commerce's Environmental Services Administration.

The bureau is substituting the word "watch" for "forecast" because "watch" is exactly what people should do, according to Michigan State Police Capt. Jack M. Nemrava said.

"A tornado watch notifies the public to be alert and to be ready to take precautionary action if a tornado forms," Nemrava said.

When weather conditions favor tornado formation, the bureau's severe local storms forecast center in Kansas City informs local weather offices in the affected area and a "tornado watch" is announced to the public.

Newstead was killed just after dark last night when a snow plow he was driving collided head-on with a car on McKeachie Road.

White Lake Township police said the vehicles met as each came over a rise in the road.

VEHICLES HIT

Joanne Woods was killed yesterday on US27 south of Grayling when a bulldozer collided with the car which she was riding in.

Houghton Lake Post State Police said the driver of the bulldozer entered the highway from a rural road and ripped into the side of the car with the tractor's blade.

John Drabik, 20, of 6334 Andersonville, Waterford Township, driver of the car, was not seriously injured.

Police said a warrant for manslaughter or negligent homicide would be sought against the driver of the bulldozer.

DIES AT HOSPITAL

Smith, president of the Rochester Elevator Co., died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Saturday some two hours after his stake truck collided with an automobile at the intersection of Lawrence and W. Wide Trunk.

Pontiac police said Smith was thrown from the truck's cab by the impact and then run over by his vehicle's left rear wheel.

John A. Bedunak, 23, of Charlotte, driver of the car, was treated for injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

He was not held pending further investigation.

No Cars Could Pass Test in New Safety Bill—GM

LANSING (AP)—General Motors Corp. said today that no auto built in the past 65 years could pass road safety tests provided under a bill pending in the Legislature.

GM spokesman told the Senate Highway Committee that, if the bill were enacted into law, "state highways would be bare of all cars built to date because none of the passenger cars made in the world would qualify."

7,500-Foot Plunge Fatal to Sky Diver

MONROE (AP) — A young father who loved sky diving plunged 7,500 feet to his death yesterday from an airplane.

Witnesses said he never pulled the ripcord of his parachute after possibly blacking out on his way down toward earth.

Rudy Bulko, 23, of Ecorse, near Detroit, made the fatal plunge from a plane of the Midwest Sport Parachuting Center south of here.

Two other men made successful jumps from the same plane members of the parachute group said.

FELL MOTIONLESS

"He looked like he was trying to come out of the spin before trying to open his chute," Reimer said, "and then he must have blacked out because he was motionless during the rest of his fall."

The plane, a Cessna 185 piloted by Robert McTaggart, president of the parachuting group, was flying over a drop zone at the time.

Bulko's body bounced about 10 feet when he hit the ground and at that moment his parachute opened, witnesses said.

Bulko, an apprentice crane operator at the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge plant in Dearborn, had made about 20 parachute jumps, friends said.

AN ONLY SON

The young man left his wife, Joyce, 19, and widower father, Rudolph Bulko, 51, grief-stricken. Rudy was an only son.

The Bulko couple and their daughter, Julie Ann, 8 months, lived with the elder Bulko.

"I used to ask him why do you want to do this? Why do you want to jump out of an airplane?" the father said. The father said Rudy had been getting "reckless" on recent jumps, waiting longer and longer to pull his ripcord.

Bobby Hit for His View on Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam have assailed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's view that the Viet Cong should be offered a share of power in the Saigon government.

They said Kennedy's proposals that the United States express willingness to accept a coalition South Vietnamese government which would include Communists would not be an acceptable solution and would lead to peace — and if adopted — could impose on the people of South Viet Nam the very forces trying to destroy them.

Humphrey said history has demonstrated that when Fascist or Communist regimes are included in a coalition government, there is either paralysis or takeover.

Speaking to newsmen at Wellington, New Zealand, during one of his many stops on a tour of Southeast Asia and the Pacific, the vice president said Kennedy's proposals would be like putting a fox in a chicken coop.

There wouldn't be too many chickens left, he said.

DOSE OF ARSENIC
"I do not believe in writing a prescription for the ills of South Viet Nam that includes a dose of arsenic," Humphrey said. Sicking to analogies, he said further that Kennedy's suggestion would be like having an arsonist in the fire department.

Ky, queried about Kennedy's suggestion in Saigon, snapped:

"The so-called National Liberation Front does not liberate anybody. They killed 11,000 of our troops last year and 22,000 of the innocent (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Premier Puts New Members in His Cabinet

Denies Discord With U.S.; Political Parties Are to Be Revived

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, striving for progress on the battlefield and on the political front, reshuffled his war Cabinet today and pledged national elections next year.

The 35-year-old premier and air force commander brushed aside all talk of differences with the United States over the possibility of peace talks with the Communists.

He declared his government and the United States were marching forward "with absolutely the identical purpose" to free South Viet Nam from Communist aggression, build a peaceful society and introduce social justice.

In a shake-up growing out of his meetings with President Johnson two weeks ago and the pledge of more American aid at the Honolulu conference, Ky told a news conference:

Political action teams are being trained to revive political parties and a constitution will be ready by November.

Popular elections will be held next year.

A new high court had been established to deal swiftly and efficiently with black marketers in South Viet Nam's inflationary economy.

Ky, who still piloted his own helicopter to work each day, said he would not be a candidate for office in the elections. "I do not like politics," he said.

NEW APPOINTMENT

The cabinet changes include the appointment of a deputy minister of foreign affairs to assist in an increasingly big government department entrusted with the job of rounding up support for the Saigon regime.

Most of the other changes will use men already in the government, although some will be added to take on a variety of new tasks.

Ky said special commissions had been created to deal with the flood of refugees into government-held areas and the sometimes distant but anti-Communist Montagnard, primitive tribesmen in the central highlands.

Other commissions were established to run South Viet Nam's overworked ports and concentrate on supply bottlenecks.

SPECIAL COURT

Ky said the special court would be empowered to deal with any corruption, graft or speculation involving more than 50,000 piasters or $685. Ordinary legal procedures against profiteers "take too long and this court will act in a matter of days when a case arises," he said.

people in the countryside. They murdered them.

"They are 100 per cent Communist and they are illegal," the prime minister added. "So let's not talk about the National Liberation Front any more."

Kennedy suggested Saturday that the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, must be brought to the bargaining table. To "admit them to a share of power and responsibility," the New York Democrat said, "is at the heart of a negotiated settlement."

FRIEND DISAGREES

McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Johnson for security affairs and an old Kennedy family friend, disagreed.

Appearing yesterday on a radio-television program, Bundy said he did not want to comment directly on the proposals, but then added:

"I can say that the administration does not take the view that admitting the Communists to a share of the power and responsibility would be a useful or helpful step — one that would really lead to peace."

"I think our view is rather that what is needed is a sufficient degree of peace in that country and of absence of subversion and terror so there can be reasonable expression of the political feeling of the people in Viet Nam."

MOVE FAVORED

"We are in favor of that. We are prepared to abide by the result."

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball described the Kennedy proposal as "not a thoroughly new idea." He added that it "doesn't seem to us to be an acceptable solution."

In other top developments: —Newsweek magazine reported that President Johnson has issued secret orders forbidding U.S. bombers to fly over the northern half of North Viet Nam.

One Hurt in Arizona

Guard Crew Fires Live Shell Into School

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—An Arizona Army National Guard crew accidentally fired a live anti-tank shell while practicing "aiming" in a neighborhood school ground yesterday.

The projectile ripped through an empty classroom at the school, tore a gaping hole in a garage and lodged in a church a few feet from a room where the pastor was meeting with 14 women.

Only one person was injured, Diane Beneshofer, 18, suffered facial cuts from window glass shattered by the backblast from the 106-millimeter cannon.

The gun crew from Company C, 3rd Battalion of the guard's 18th Infantry was practicing "dry-firing" on the grounds of Capitol School in West-Phoenix. The weapon was mounted on a jeep.

Second Lt. Donald Kersey, in charge of the crew, said the shell was taken from a bag near the jeep.

Several residents in the area reported a "crack" and windows broken by the backblast from the cannon. Fred Beneshofer, father of the injured girl, said he was in another room when he heard the explosion.

Guardmen kept spectators away and a time prevented reporters and photographers from entering the area. The order later was rescinded, and other members of the guard crew were told not to discuss the incident.

Leader Plans Slow Pullout

Refrains From Attack on U. S. Viet Policy

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle served notice today that after April 4, 1969, any foreign troops on French soil would have to be under command of Frenchmen. He also declared that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization no longer suits present-day needs.

He told a packed news conference that therefore France intends to slowly continue withdrawal of units from NATO. De Gaulle chose April 4, 1969, for that is the date when any of the 15 member nations can leave.

The French president also emphasized his conviction that the settlement of the Vietnamese conflict requires consultation of those nations involved in the Geneva accords of 1954, ending the Indochinese war. But he refrained from an attack on U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

De Gaulle reached his disclosure on NATO after a long discourse on the recent presidential election in France and a review of international questions. Then he startled his listeners with his broad swipe at NATO, and in particular the United States.

20,000 TROOPS — The United States now has about 20,000 troops in France, running supply and other bases. In addition, the French president's statement that foreign troops would have to come under French command threw into question the status of such big headquarters as NATO, Allied installations as NATO, and the rambling Versailles headquarters of Supreme Headquarters of Allied Powers in Europe.

De Gaulle told nearly 1,000 newsmen and officials in Elysee Palace: "It is the will of France to dispose of her own fate."

He said this in connection with the announcement on French command of foreign troops on her soil after April 4, 1969.

He declared the United States has been in conflicts such as Korea, Cuba and Viet Nam, and that such conflicts could be escalated into general conflagration. He said France, of necessity, would be involved because her territory is used for communications facilities, airbases and other military installations.

De Gaulle declared the United States has established a protectorate in Europe under cover of NATO.

Auto Plate Sites Open Tomorrow

Pontiac area motorists will be able to obtain 1966 license plates tomorrow, even though banks, post offices and most state facilities are closed in observing of Washington's Birthday.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the branch office of the Michigan Secretary of State, said the office at 86 Bankers Building will be open.

Bids are to be presented tonight on the sale of $2 million in tax anticipation notes.

The loan notes will give the city monies to finance day-to-day operations until tax receipts are received after July 1.

The special decree was issued by the President of the Soviet Union, Tass said. It did not give the date.

Tarsis, the author of several books attacking the Soviet system, arrived in Britain Feb. 8 to give literary lectures at Leicester University. Calling communism "police fascism," he told London newsmen later that he was the head of a new liberal underground movement in the Soviet Union.

A heavily built man, Tarsis first gained attention abroad last year with the publication of "Ward 7," his book about life in Soviet mental hospital.

It was a fictional account based on his own eight months' stay at a hospital. It pictured the only sane persons in the Soviet Union as those locked up in asylums.

Tarsis has contended that Soviet authorities drew him into the mental hospital for criticizing the government.

The action reported today by Tass and the Communist party press Pravda indicated that Tarsis could not return to the Soviet Union.

Citizens Unit Compiles Bond Issue Information

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The citizens committee which was organized to inform the public about the impending school bond election this spring has been hard at work the past three weeks.

The bond issue, an $11 million building program proposal, was officially placed on a special April 4 school ballot earlier this month.

At the same time, a citizens committee was formed, headed by PTO Council president Daniel C. DeGraff Jr., to arrange for board of education members and school administrators to speak to groups in the community.

The committee has developed a series of slides concerning classrooms and school growth, to be shown at various schools in the district by committee members.

In addition to slides, many brochures on the building program and the election itself have been prepared and will soon be available to the public.

7 PRECINCTS — Eugene L. Johnson, schools superintendent, announced the district will be divided into seven precincts for the election.

The election will be held April 4 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at seven district schools.

The schools are Bloomfield Hills Junior High School, Vaughan Elementary School, Wing Lake Elementary School, Eastover Elementary School, Hickory Grove Elementary School and Pine Lake Elementary School.

Johnson said the last day of registration for the election is March 7. Absentee voter ballots are now being prepared and will be available at the election.

Craig said in advance of today's hearing: "My legislation does not name any cars. It sets minimum standards and I am the first to admit that a lot of cars would not meet those standards."

"What I hope to do now is to have the auto company experts tell us what standards might be reasonable in the area of directional stability."

Representatives from the other three major auto firms—Ford, Chrysler and American Motors also were scheduled to testify.

Candidate Seeking Third Probate Post

A member of the Oakland County legal staff, Hayward Whitlock, announced today that he will be a candidate for the newly created third probate judge post in the fall election.

Whitlock, 48, of 496 S. Squirrel, Pontiac Township has practiced law in Pontiac for the last 16 years, and is a former special assistant city attorney for the City of Pontiac.

A graduate of Southern Illinois Normal University and the Detroit College of Law, Whitlock has been an assistant corporate counsel for the county since 1962.

Russians Revoke Citizenship of Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has revoked the citizenship of Valery Tarsis, a Russian writer bitterly critical of the Communist regime, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

The action came a week after the government gave two other writers stiff prison sentences for smuggling anti-Soviet books abroad.

Tarsis, who was allowed to visit Britain two weeks ago, has not returned since. He is discrediting a Soviet citizen, the official news agency said.

After hearing the news Tarsis issued a statement through his publishers in London saying he hoped Western authorities would grant him asylum.

"NO SURPRISE" — "The news concerning the deprivation of Soviet citizenship by the Soviet government was no surprise to me," he said. "Before my departure I was told by authoritative sources that I would not be allowed to return."

"I hope that the public and the state authorities in the West who have given me so much sympathy and support through these years will grant me asylum now that I am an exile from my motherland."

"Although I am not a young man I hope one day to return as a citizen to a free Russia."

Key Rice Bowl Protected

Allies Crimp Cong Supply System

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Big U.S. and allied military operations are beginning to crimp the Viet Cong supply system for the first time.

The most notable success came during Operation Van Buren, which threw nearly a division of American, Korean and Vietnamese troops into the Tuy Hoa rice bowl. Their job was to make certain the fertile coastal valley's 48,000 tons of rice wound up in government stores, houses instead of Viet Cong caches.

In the past, large Viet Cong units moved into the 200-square-mile valley during the harvest and controlled more than half of it. Now, for the first time in several years, Phu Yen Province will export rice instead of importing it.

U.S. military officials said this year three regiments — one Viet Cong and one of North Vietnamese regulars — began converging on the valley 230 miles northeast of Saigon just before the harvest began a month ago.

CLEAR OF ENEMY

The American 101st Airborne Brigade, the Korean marine brigade and two battalions of government troops swept the valley clear of the enemy. By the official count more than 500 Communist troops were killed. "If any army marches on its stomach," old Charlie is in the hurt locker," a U.S. adviser in Phu Yen Province said. Charlie is an American nickname for the Viet Cong.

"The Viet Cong supply system is too good to strangle with what we have now, but taking that much rice away means real trouble for the Viet Cong highland units," said a U.S. source concerned with trying to block supplies to the enemy. U.S. Marines near Da Nang and U.S. and government troops operating in Binh Thuy Province carried out smaller operations earlier that brought in nearly 10,000 tons of rice.

RICE CACHES

U.S. troops operating north of Saigon have run into hundreds of Viet Cong rice caches, big and small. Hundreds of tons of rice were destroyed or brought back and placed under government control.

Last year, the national police seized nearly 3,000 tons of rice at checkpoints set up to control the flow of goods from government to Viet Cong areas. They are doing even better this year.

Although Viet Nam has been fighting a civil war for years, there is no food rationing and no control over the sale of such key items as medicine and light machinery which can be used in Viet Cong arms factories.

Anyone can buy penicillin without a prescription on the open market. Huge quantities have found their way to Viet Cong jungle hospitals.

STRATEGIC GOODS

The first tentative effort at resources control did not come until October 1964 when the national police were ordered to stop the flow of strategic goods into Viet Cong hands.

At the time there were only about 20,000 police in the country. They were still suffering from bad morale and lost reputation from the days of ex-President Ngo Dinh Diem. Today the police are 54,000 strong and their ranks are expected to swell to 72,000 by the end of the year. A major share of the new men will be thrown into the resources control program. This type of program aided the British in crushing a Communist guerrilla uprising in Malaya.

The effectiveness of the police has increased in past months, and apparently the Viet Cong are worried. They have increased attacks on police posts and checkpoints, some on the outskirts of Saigon.

RED CAMPS

Tens of thousands of tons of rice are gathered yearly by the Viet Cong in the lush Mekong Delta. This is shipped to Cambodia, moved northward along the border and then brought back into Viet Nam for Communist base camps.

Another problem is that over the years many influential businessmen have built up a flourishing trade in goods that wind up in Communist areas. These men, having enough influence in the government to cause the police serious political trouble if a real crackdown went into effect overnight, compete seriously.

The police efforts have begun to take hold, however. Once the Viet Cong shipped penicillin by the truckload from Saigon. Now it is smuggled out points.

13 Lives Lost in State Traffic

Four County Residents
Killed Over Weekend

By the Associated Press
Weekend traffic took 13 lives in Michigan, including four Oakland County persons.

The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Killed on U.S. 27 south of Grayling was Joanne Woods, 18, of Independence Township, passenger in an auto driven by John Drabik, 20, of Waterford Township. Drabik was not seriously hurt.

Also killed:
Donald Jerome McCauley, 34, Ann Arbor, Sunday in a head-on collision as he attempted to pass another car on a Washtenaw County road.

LOST CONTROL
John Franklin Bookmeyer, 45, Hastings, when he lost control on a curve in Odessa Township, Ionia County, Sunday and skidded into the path of an approaching vehicle.

Clarence J. Tolloff, 63, of Saginaw, when his car struck a tree along M53 south of Marlette in Lapeer County Sunday.

George Stanton, 23, of Stanton, in a two-car, rear-end crash Sunday on M66 in Ionia County.

Arnold Loucks, 37, of Ithaca, when his car failed to make a curve in Osceola County Saturday, crashed through a bridge railing and landed in the Middle Branch River.

SNOWMOBILE CRASH
Marvin Newstead, 25, of Milford, Saturday, in a crash involving two snowmobiles in White Lake Township, Oakland County.

Jerry L. Walter, 18, of Mount Morris, Saturday when a car in which he was a passenger ran off M76, a mile south of West Branch and crashed into a mailbox post.

J. Wesley Smith, 58, of Union Lake, Saturday when his truck collided with a car in Pontiac.

Melanie Clements, 3, of Lincoln Park, Friday when a car in which she was riding and two others collided on icy U.S. 24 near Flint.

2-CAR WRECK
Harvey Bondy, 45, of Windsor, Ont., Friday night in a two-car smashup near Northville.
Mrs. Esther Harrower, 61, of Holly, and Mrs. Anna Fetting, 56, of Mount Morris, in a three-car crash on icy pavement 11 miles north of Pontiac Friday.

Cooperative Nursery Meeting Rescheduled

ROCHESTER — The general meeting of the Rochester Cooperative Nursery, originally planned for Jan. 27, has been rescheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m. at St. Luke's Methodist Church.

Guest speaker, Dr. J. Frank Campbell, will speak on "The Three P's for Preschoolers: Patience, Pacing and Perceiving."

Lent Discussions Set on Family, Marriage

TROY — Northminster Presbyterian Church, 3633 W. Big Beaver, will hold a series of three evening discussions relating to the family and marriage, as part of its adult Lenten program.

The first program will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Following a coffee hour, Dr. Armin Grams, head of the human development program for Merrill-Palmer Institute, will speak His topic will be, "Preparing Your Child for a More Meaningful Marriage."

On March 2 at 8 p.m., Dr. Arthur Riewald, director of the Marriage and Family Consultation Program for Oakland County, will talk on "Preparing Your Adolescent for a More Meaningful Marriage."

Prior to his talk, a dinner will be held in the fellowship hall.

Dr. William Nichols, a member of the counseling and psychotherapy supervisory staff of Merrill-Palmer will conduct the series at a 7:30 p.m. meeting March 23. His theme will be "Producing a More Open Marriage."

Reservations for the series or for individual programs may be made by calling Mrs. Don Postma, 8555 Upton, or Mrs. Fred Lange, 3740 Millspring, Bloomfield Hills.

LISTEN AND LEARN — Edward Walker, Farmington High School 10th grader, dons a headset to demonstrate a painless method of assimilating information as teacher Robert Prior introduces him to equipment in the school's new world history center. The room is one of several in the Farmington School District now being equipped through a federal grant to add more "oomph" to learning.

Walled Lake Meetings Due for Teachers

WALLED LAKE — Local schools will be dismissed for an afternoon in the near future to enable district teachers to attend a series of released-time meetings.

High school and elementary teachers will meet Wednesday at 12:45 p.m. on Feb. 22. The junior high schools will dismiss at 1 p.m. on March 9.

The high school and junior high school cafeterias will be open on the meeting dates but the elementary school cafeterias will be closed.

Speakers at the elementary meetings, which will be held at Keith and Wixom Elementary Schools, will be Dr. J. Clayton Lafferty, educational and psychological consultant, and Ted Cunio, director of elementary testing and guidance for the Birmingham public schools.

The high school faculty will hold departmental meetings to study curriculum and course content, to review new equipment and instructional aids, and to revise and update courses.

The faculties of Walled Lake and Clifford H. Smart junior high schools will meet to discuss common problems in their departments and to select textbooks.

This is the second released-time meeting held by the Walled Lake schools this year and another half day will be scheduled before the end of the semester.

Rochester Students to Exhibit Art Works at Northland Center

ROCHESTER — The community schools will again be represented in the Oakland Art and Education Association annual Student Show at Northland Shopping Center.

This year marks the seventh year for the exhibit located in the Northland Special Events Center. The show opens Friday with a reception from 4 to 7 p.m. It will remain open to the public during store hours until March 8.

Rochester art teachers Mrs.

Boys' Club to Hold Membership Drive

The Auburn Heights Boys' Club will hold its annual Spring Membership Roundup between March 1 and March 19.

Any Auburn Heights area boy who will be 9 years old by that time may pick up an application at the club, 220 S. Squirrel. He may become a member by returning the application to the club during the roundup.

Club Director Sam R. Sheehy stresses that this is the only opportunity that boys will have to enroll in the club activities. Present members must re-register during the roundup.

Men's Club to Sponsor Supper Tomorrow

ROCHESTER — The first activity of the recently organized Men of St. Philip's Episcopal Church will be a Shrove Tuesday pancake supper from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

The church will observe Ash Wednesday with three services, the Holy Communion at 7 and 10 a.m. and Litany and prayer service at 7:30 p.m.

Will Help 'Educationally Deprived'

Farmington School Plan Set

By PAT McCARTY
FARMINGTON — Educators are trying to smooth out some wrinkled noses in Farmington classrooms this Spring.

A $113,925 federal grant is aimed at doing something about a classroom situation which occurs all too frequently.

A teacher explains a topic and then glances around the room to see if it's sunk in.

Invariably she'll see that one youngster with a wrinkled nose, or a scowl across his brow.

FACES DILEMMA

She then faces the dilemma of deciding whether to hold up the whole class while she goes over it again for the sake of one youngster. Or should she continue with the lesson and leave him there, dangling.

The youngster who consistently wrinkles his nose at hard-to-grasp concepts is not necessarily stupid, and to dismiss him as such is an injustice.

Frequently such children come from low-income families in which parents de-emphasize book-learning in their concern with the more basic problem of supplying food, shelter and clothing.

The federal government has classified youngsters from families with annual incomes less than $2,500 as "educationally deprived."

DISBURSING FUNDS

On the basis of the number of such families in a school district, the government is disbursing funds made available by the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Farmington is among a handful of Oakland County school districts making use of the money to help "educationally deprived" youngsters and to develop ideas which eventually will be adapted in all classrooms.

Local school administrators were told by state authorities that there was one of the most ingenious plans submitted in Michigan.

The outline for the program was devised by an eight-member citizens committee

News of the Area

INTO EFFECT

Hahn has been retained to continue coordination of the program, which went into effect last week.

"We are going to introduce new instructional practices" at all levels," Hahn said.

A committee of junior high school teachers is studying in-service training programs which will help them give direct assistance to pupils with reading and writing difficulties.

At Farmington High School, teacher Robert Prior is setting up equipment in a world history center.

REMODELED

There, in a carpeted room being remodeled for the purpose, classes of 10 students each will delve into history with the aid of films, tape recordings and reading material geared to capturing and maintaining interest.

Perhaps the most startling program is that at the elementary level, calling for the development of learning centers at Shawneese, Gill and William C. Graves schools.

At each, an outstanding teacher was chosen to direct the project, with the help of a professional assistant and a clerical aide.

The emphasis is on inspiring pupils to take a greater in-

BASED ON THEORY

The program is based on the theory that the key to knowledge lies in the ability to read and to write.

These skills, in turn, depend on verbal communication and, ultimately, on the child's ability to organize his thoughts.

"These youngsters will have many opportunities to grapple with their thoughts," Hahn said.

One such opportunity is provided by "personal secretaries" who record the youngsters' experiences.

A child tells a teacher a story which she types up, allowing him to illustrate it with a drawing.

Carrying the idea a step further, the teacher will tell the pupil he can write a whole book.

"The teacher will even ask him how many pages he needs," Hahn said. "It's amazing to see the reaction when a child learns he doesn't need to confine himself to one page."

Other books will be made with the help of a camera which prints photographs in a few seconds.

'WHAT IS AIR?'

Hahn suggested that a science book might be entitled

"What Is Air?" and depict a pupil performing the experiments which answer the question.

Also among the many aids being developed are "talking" textbooks. Learning center directors now are preparing the tape recordings which will add another dimension to the learning process.

All of these innovations are designed to give the youngster a background of accomplishments rather than frustrations.

He will be allowed to progress in steps geared to his individual abilities.

"He can be successful," Hahn said. "He can be successful every day."

Utica School Is Site for Project Study

UTICA — Sixty members of the Elementary School Improvement Committee of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies will spend Thursday at Plumbrook Elementary School studying an international understanding project.

The day is planned as the culmination of a study of foreign countries and international understanding. Activities will consist of displays, skits and speakers.

Guest speakers will be Col. Marjorie O. Hunt of the Mount Clemens Chamber of Commerce who will speak on the "People to People Movement," and Lyle Robertson of Macomb County Community College who will discuss "The American Way is the Only Way."

LEAVE FOR MOSCOW — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his wife leave 10 Downing Street in London this morning for the London airport and a trip to Moscow. Britain's Labor government is expected to unveil a new defense policy tomorrow showing increased reliance on nuclear weapons.

Britain Due to Stress N-Arms

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Britain's study — Defense Minister Denis Healey called it "a fundamental new look at the whole of British policy overseas" — the Wilson government will reveal its conclusions to Parliament in a defense white paper tomorrow.

By CHARLES W. CORDROY WASHINGTON (UPI) — An increasing reliance on nuclear weapons and a consequent scaling-down or leveling-off of other arms — especially naval — is the key to the new defense plan Britain is due to announce tomorrow.

By these means — and by purchasing U.S. F111 fighter-bombers instead of developing its own at greater cost — the Labor government aims to achieve by 1969 the sharply reduced defense spending goal fixed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Wilson directed that 1969 spending be held to the $5.6-billion level of 1964.

The 1969 defense plan the Conservatives had envisaged before they left office in late 1964 called for expenditure of $6.72 billion. After a year of anguish

Ted Kennedy Made Point; Overcame 'Age Liability'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Satisfaction I receive is from the fact that the voters feel happy with me. I feel I have been responsive to the trust placed in me by Massachusetts and by the Senate."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who will be 34 on Washington's birthday tomorrow is in his fourth year in the Senate after two successful campaigns.

Still the youngest member of the upper chamber he entered just over the legal minimum age of 30, Kennedy rises to the position of senior senator from Massachusetts next January on the retirement of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.

He recalled with a laugh to-day those who had protested his age would be a liability when he first sought to fill the unexpired Senate term of his brother John, the late President.

Sitting in his shirt sleeves, the loosened, a shock of hair threatening to fall over his forehead, the younger Kennedy conveys the unmistakable impression that here is a man who might some day be president himself.

IN NO HURRY But he is in no hurry. Since the assassination of his brother and his own brush with death in a plane accident, Ted Kennedy has proceeded with extreme caution and careful deliberation.

Rather than join in the hot congressional debate on Viet Nam, Kennedy has concentrated on the Vietnamese refugees.

His only real criticism of the administration's policies had been indirectly through a call for more aid to the people of South Viet Nam, most particularly the refugees.

"The declaration from the Honolulu conference was helpful," he said. "And the South Vietnamese budget has for the first time identified the refugees as a problem."

SATISFACTION Looking back on his Senate years, he said, "The greatest

Pontiac Downtown Renewal Moves Ahead to Big Things

Pontiac's downtown urban renewal activities end a long but understandable period of silence.

Big things are moving. Nothing final has been announced but the indications suggest an overall picture that is definitely greater than anyone could have possibly anticipated or dreamed.

Over the past two years, not less than eight different plans of various sizes and designs have been under consideration by the City Commission for rebuilding the center of Pontiac. During most of this period, the Commission has been under pledges of silence. Each organization wanted to investigate unhampered.

And this is merely par for the course. The plan now envisioned is far and away bigger than anything yet proposed. The Taubman people were contacted by interested downtown individuals last summer and when they unfolded the breadth and scope of their outline, everyone concerned was breathless. The Taubman company not only proposed to take over every single foot available, but even declared it needed more to fulfill the complete dimensions of their magnificent picture.

However, they insisted on absolute secrecy and made plain that otherwise they would have to abandon the plan, for their development was so huge it required months of figuring out blueprints, maps, diagrams, rights, determination of foot and vehicular traffic and other things too numerous to mention that fit into the general scheme.

The Taubman company has not signed an agreement even now, but the plans are sufficiently advanced to warrant a reasonable disclosure of intent and hopes. The Press congratulates the Commission and property owners on holding the interest and attention of this major plan by providing information as rapidly as humanly possible, and revealing nothing. Further, they took time during these months to consider and review additional plans while the Taubman concept was in the process.

Hours and hours of mathematics and additional negotiations are still pending. But the future looks brighter than it has at any time since the first shovelfull of dirt was loosened at the very beginning. The entire community can take a special pride in the fact that the Taubman organization is headed by a man who once was a local resident and attended school here.

Worth Complimenting . . .

Possibly you have never heard of HANS SCHAFFNER, but he was just "elected to office." In fact, he's the President—of Switzerland.

There was no rioting.

No loud voices were raised.

Surrounded by France, Germany, Austria and Italy, these people kept out of World War I and II. They owe U.S.—nothing. They are one of the few peoples in the whole world that have never had a penny of our $100 billion foreign aid. They haven't had a treasury deficit in 13 years.

What a country!
Let's take off our hats.

Political Turnabout . . .

Here's an interesting factor in the current political scene. Listed are the fortunes (in millions) of leading political figures today:

Rockefeller . . . 325
A. Harriman . . . 250
Bobby Kennedy . . . 50
Teddy Kennedy . . . 50
L. B. Johnson . . . 15
W. Scranton . . . 8

Harry Byrd . . . 6
George Romney . . . 5
B. Goldwater . . . 5
Mennen Williams . . . 3

Six of the ten are Democrats who used to accuse the GOP of standing as the party of wealth and riches.

Don't forget that phrase: "This Changing World."

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

JANET LYNN, 12 years old, is a serious threat for the U.S. Olympic figure skating team in '68. She won the junior ladies' title and all of her opponents were over fifteen. She finished with a triple Salchow, the only one in the contest. (P. S. JANET took her teddy bear to the meet—the only one of those seen, also.)

Overheard: The President objects to changing the words of that song to: "Deep In the Heart of Taxes."

Trusted scouts advise me Russi Cherry deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . Overheard: "People that claim they never make the same mistake twice certainly miss a lot of fun." . . . West Berlin

Who's Responsible For High Prices?

David Lawrence Says:

Life of GM's Sloan Is a Lesson

WASHINGTON—In the realm of communism—whether in the Soviet Union or Red China or in other parts of the world—the constant cry is that capitalism is selfish and inhumane and that social welfare can be achieved in every country only by giving arbitrary power to a small group of men.

But today the people of the Communist world could learn a lesson if they read the obituaries being printed about the life of Alfred P. Sloan Jr., who died last Thursday at the age of 90.

For here was a man who amassed a fortune of more than $300 million, but gave virtually all of it away for the cause of human welfare.

There have been others like Mr. Sloan in American history, but the stories of their altruism are too often lost in the maze of other happenings in a busy world.

Mr. Sloan was one of the ablest businessmen this country has produced. Men engaged in "big business" are sometimes pictured as heartless or as materialistic to the extreme.

It may come as a surprise to many of the younger generation who lean toward the Communist philosophy to discover that there are far more philanthropists among the successful businessmen of America than there are selfish human beings.

Mr. Sloan's case is a significant example of how money is made and how it can be spent.

GM BUILDER

It was his genius in building up General Motors to one of the largest businesses in the world that made it possible not only for him, but for others who invested in that enterprise, to earn large sums as the stock of that company appreciated steadily in value over the years.

In 1937 Mr. Sloan founded the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, with an initial grant of $10 million to help studies in science and economics and broadened later to aid in medical care and research, particularly in cancer. He said at the time he gave away the $10 million:

"Having been connected with industry during my entire life, it seems eminently proper that I should turn back, in part, the proceeds of that activity with the hope of promoting a broader as well as a better understanding of the economic principles and national policies which have characterized American enterprise down through the years."

Under the American system of free enterprise, individual initiative is encouraged. The same cannot be said of the Communist system.

Indeed, the American standard of living is the highest in the world, and so are its philanthropies.

Private contributions for charitable programs of various kinds in the United States totaled $10.6 billion in 1964. The large figures in every city are usually businessmen.

Many of Mr. Sloan's associates, for instance, have followed his example and have donated much of their earnings to philanthropic projects.

Mr. Sloan's life emphasizes the great advantages of the American system of individual freedom, as contrasted with the oppressive and truly selfish system of communism by which a few men achieve power and impose their will on hundreds of millions of their countrymen.

There are many unjust heroes in the commercial world, but the impact of their "redistribution of wealth" has certainly been felt in America by universities and colleges, churches, hospitals and other institutions supported by philanthropy.

NEW YORK—You meet such interesting people . . .

Mayor John Lindsay (at the end of a 14 hour day): "At the Detectives' Dinner at Toots Shor's the other night one of the men came up to me and said his wife voted for me but that he didn't."

"I didn't know which one to thank."

One night and he seemed to be all for it. He wanted to sleep on it, however.

"In the morning, well, it wasn't as attractive to him as the night before. He said he'd think it over, but we never heard from him."

"It would have been the all-time trade, I guess; bigger than McGraw-Sunderland Frisch to the Cardinals for Hornsby. It would have helped both players. Yankee Stadium was made for Ted; Fenway Park for Joe."

Perry Como (upon receiving the Gold Medal of the Catholic Youth Organization): "I don't usually make speeches. But I figured I'd have to say something tonight, so I came prepared."

He took his script out of his pocket and placed it on the lectern. Then he began fumbling through his pockets.

He had forgotten his glasses.

Tony Barclay (legendary Battle of Britain ace): "It's a bit upsetting to read that we're buying your TFX variable wing fighter-bomber. Fine aircraft and all that sort of thing."

"But we had the prototype of a similar aircraft that could maintain mach 2 at 50 feet, compensate for trees, buildings, hills without the pilot's touching the controls. Fly."

"But I'm happy to learn that your air force is about to buy perhaps a dozen of our VC-10's. (It is in the Boeing 707 and Douglas DC8 class, but with its four engines mounted in the rear, where Marlene Dietrich sits.)"

George Weiss: "After the war, Dan Topping and I seriously considered trading Joe DiMaggio for Ted Williams, even up."

Voice of the People:

Readers' Opinions Differ on Selection of Winners

I enjoyed the art show at the Mall, and some of the paintings were exquisite. Was I horrified when I saw who had won top honors. This conglomeration of blue and purple paint looked as though someone had thrown it on the canvas. The only other time I ever saw such a mess was when my three-year-old grandson spilled two cans of paint on the floor and smeared it all over the place. (He got spanked.)

It's not too many years ago that artists tried to capture on canvas a landscape, still life, or whatever, the way God had created it, and I thank God some still do.

Where do those judges come from?
574 W. Huron MRS. EDNA TORREY

A change is needed in the art shows. The judges have been 100 per cent biased in favor of modern art for many years. This causes many of the good artists to quit showing. As the Fine Art Show brought out again, the public does not vote for the choices of the judges. And it is the public that buys art.

Being an art show judge is a most difficult assignment. It is an universal rule of art shows that copies of paintings are not eligible for awards. At the Mall show were a great many beautiful done paintings which I recognized as copies. A judge cannot be familiar with all of the original works in existence. In self-defense he passes by many very well done paintings.

In some areas of this country the visiting public votes for the winners. They could well vote for copies without being aware of it. This would not be a desirable situation. In some southern states the committee separates the modern art from the rest and are hung in a separate area, preferably another room. This seems to work out quite well.

Reply to Letter on Drag Racing Association

In answer to the "Drag Race for Five Years," the Drag-car Racing Association folded because it takes a lot of cooperation to establish it. A very few actually worked and the rest of the members sat back and waited. If we had had the cooperation of all instead of the ten or twelve perhaps Pontiac would have a drag strip.

* Many ask "What happened to the sports car that was to be given away?" Also, how about the money from the tickets and membership fees? The car was repossessed because the club could not meet the note as many did not turn in money they had collected. The money collected made a substantial down payment which was not refunded. Money also was used up on expenses and other things. Receipts and books account for just about everything and nobody absconded with any funds. There was nothing left to steal.

Probe of Klan in Final Week State Senate Due to Eye Bills on Elderly Rent, Veterans' Tax Exemptions

House Unit May End Study by Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sweeping investigation of the Ku Klux Klan by the House Committee on Un-American Activities entered its final week today with a look at the "invisible empire's" operation in Florida.

The committee hoped to wind up its inquiry by Wednesday, then begin considering development of legislation designed to curb the Klan and groups like it.

About this time last year, Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., first directed the committee's staff to make a preliminary study to determine whether a formal investigation of the Klan should be undertaken.

Another committee member, Rep. Charles L. Welter, D-Ga., had proposed such an inquiry even earlier.

The proposed investigation catapulted to national attention last March when Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit mother of five, was shot from ambush as she drove along an Alabama highway, returning from the Selma-to-Montgomery march.

'HOODED BIGOTS'

When three klansmen were accused of the killing, President Johnson, labeling the organization a group of "hooded bigots," urged Congress to investigate the KKK and the violence and terror tactics it was charged with fomenting.

The House committee began its public hearings in October after the staff investigators spent more than six months roaming sections of the South and the North tracking down Klan activities.

So far, the committee has examined the Klan organizations and activities in North and South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and a scattering of Northern states, most notably Ohio.

The farther South the committee went, the more violence it found linked with the Klan.

SEVEN LEADERS

The principal result of the investigation thus far has been the vote of the House, on the committee's recommendation, to cite seven national Klan leaders for contempt of Congress.

The seven cited, all members of the United Klans of America, Inc., the nation's largest sheet band, were accused of refusing to turn over the committee Klan records which had been subpoenaed.

David Bress, U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia, is expected to admit the contempt citations to a grand jury shortly. If indictments are returned, the seven klansmen, including Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., will be tried here. Should they be convicted, they face up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Defies Beer Gravity

LONDON (UPI)—A member of Parliament, Geoffrey Rhodes, has complained that Britons are being short-changed on beer.

"Some brewers," he said, sell "low-gravity beer at high prices. The government should insist that the gravity is printed on bottles, cans and draught ale pumps."

"BACKACHE"

Back strain according to the National Safety Council, accounts for nearly 10% of all lost time injuries. This represents approximately one million back cases caused by industrial accidents each year... or $333 cases each work day.

Research in the files of compensation boards and insurance companies proves conclusively that Chiropractic care of low back injuries has no equal among the healing arts... that it can be of tremendous benefit in reducing the amount of wages lost by employees afflicted with this painful condition.

Today's acute pain may be tomorrow's chronic illness. If a bad back forces you to retire at 52 instead of 62... you've lost $70,000 in wages. See your Chiropractor tomorrow.

LANSING (AP) — The Senate is ready to consider three direct or indirect property tax benefit bills this week.

The controversial two would increase veterans' homestead tax exemptions by 75 per cent and provide rent reimbursement to senior citizen renters.

The third would clarify last year's senior citizen property tax-relief bill by allowing such benefits to oldsters who own their home but lease the land on which it is situated.

* * *

The House, returning tonight to its normal schedule, at this point has a light calendar of work for general consideration.

Gov. George Romney vetoed both the veterans' and renters' bills last year.

* * *

The veterans' measure is almost identical to last year's bill, increasing the tax exemption from $2,000 of state - equalized value of the homestead to $3,500.

Romney favors a sliding scale exemption based on the extent of a veterans' disability. Disabled veterans and widows of all veterans are eligible for the benefits.

* * *

The renters' bill would provide a cash payment to qualified persons equal to the property taxes paid on the first $2,500 state - equalized value of the rental unit. It's designed as a comparison to the senior citizen property owners' relief bill.

'UNWORKABLE'

Romney vetoed the bill because, he said, it was administratively unworkable and no revenue was found to pay for it. Sponsors say administrative details have been cleared up this year.

* * *

The State Revenue Department estimates the bill would cost $4.5 million to $5.5 million.

State Mediation Board Has Hands Full

DETROIT (AP) — In seven months since the Legislature authorized collective bargaining for public employees, the State Mediation Board has had to beef up its staff and budget. And it may need more personnel and money next year.

To date, the board has received 515 requests to supervise representative elections and 65 complaints of unfair labor practices. These are the two fields opened to public employees by companion bills that passed the Legislature last July.

"We got $45,000 to start with when the law was passed. Then we had to go back for $31,000 last fall. We're hoping for more money next year," said Robert Blackwell, executive director of the board.

The board added eight new employees to its staff, including two trial examiners.

The collective bargaining elections are about equally divided between teachers' groups and municipal employees, Blackwell said.

Schoolteachers, affiliated with either the independent Michigan Education Association or the AFL-CIO Federation of Teachers, are seeking the right to act as sole bargaining agent for teachers in each school district.

"There's about 1,600 school districts in Michigan," said Blackwell. "So far, we've had 40 or so elections."

He said the elections often involve not only teachers, but separate ballots for clerical and custodial unions or associations.

The municipal elections are about the same, but more complicated.

816 PROBLEMS

"There are tremendous jurisdictional problems in the City of Detroit and Wayne County," he said, with numerous unions representing workers in various categories.

Blackwell said the increase in new cases is about what the board expected, but he added that complaints about unfair labor practices are constantly rising.

The state's 34,000 civil service employees and elected officials are exempt from the new laws, but legislators estimate some 250,000 public employees at the local level are covered.

In concurrence with Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, the board recently concluded that University of Michigan employees should be included.

FIGHT INTERFERENCE

The university claims its constitutional status gives it exclusive authority to deal with its employees without interference from the board or bargaining elections.

Philip Weiss, a veteran board member, said his agency normally handles 3,000 to 4,000 cases yearly involving private employers and their workers. The vast majority of these involve mediation only.

Weiss estimated less than 10 per cent of the requests for representation elections and charges of unfair labor practices since last July had come from employees in private industry.

The two new bills softened the 1947 Hutchinson Act, but did not remove a ban on strikes by public employees.

APPEAL RIGHT

A misdemeanor charge for inciting a strike was abolished and employees given the right to appeal disciplinary actions to Circuit Court.

Under the new law, a public employer, such as a sheriff or school board, is required to negotiate with chosen representatives of employees. Failure is specified an unfair labor practice.

The new law also prescribes procedure similar to that of the National Labor Relations Act dealing with elections and determinations of exclusive bargaining representative.

Hospital Dedication

WARREN (AP) — The $5.7 million South Macomb Hospital will be dedicated Sunday. The new hospital has a capacity of 202 beds and was designed for possible expansion to 500 beds.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN DISCOVERS MERCURY!

After his first ride in a new Mercury Monterey, Ben says, "It was an electrifying experience, from the instant I touched the key."

Former army sports reporter and Cotton Bowl player Benjamin Franklin, 43, thought he knew all about Mercurys. He's owned four and driven a lot of others while covering national conventions and pro football for a major TV network.

But when he drove the new

Benjamin Franklin

Mercury Monterey, even he made a lot of discoveries!

"Those safety features we used to pay extra for!"

"The room in that amazingly quiet Marauder 390 V-8!"

"Wonderful comfort of the 6-way power seat*, even for a big guy like me!"

"The stopping power of those power brakes*—like the defensive line of Texas U!" (Ben's Randolph Field team stopped them 6-6 at the Cotton Bowl in '44.)

Ben's final score on the Mercury Monterey? "Smooth and roomy as my cabin cruiser... beautiful looks outside... I should have known my long affair with Mercurys was due for a fresh spark," said Benjamin Franklin, diplomatically.

*Optional

Here are more things Benjamin Franklin discovered...

- Mercury's silk-on-satin ride—the way Mercury moves is unique. Smooth, substantial, hushed.
- Full power choice—ranging up to the Super Marauder 428 cu. in. V-8* with 4-barrel carburetor. Three transmission choices: 3- and 4-speed manual*, and the butter-smooth Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic*.
- 17 models to choose from—in 4 distinguished series, the Park Lane, Montclair, Monterey and S-55. Plus the Colony Park and the Commuter station wagons.
- 7-position tilt steering wheel*—available with optional power steering and automatic transmission.
- Luxurious convertible interiors—the leather-like vinyls of the Monterey below, the wall-to-wall carpeting, the fine hardware—the full treatment!
- Special convertible news—the sleek, thin-line configuration of the roof; the fast, smooth top operation; the plant glass rear window that doesn't scratch or yellow.

Color Him Paisley for 1966 Spring Fashion

NEW YORK (NEA) — The necktie has long been one of the only ways a man could express his individualism, taste and creativity.

But, sad to say, too few men have been willing to exercise their tie-wearing prerogatives, often deciding in favor of propriety, conservatism and dullness.

Admittedly, it's a lot safer to wear a blue tie with a blue suit and a brown tie with a brown suit.

And a lot of lazy types prefer not to be bothered with making a knot and have resorted to the factory-made knots in ties and bows.

But a man seldom receives a compliment for a pre-tied tie or a gloomy, uninteresting cravat.

FIRST TIE

Ties have been with us for more than 300 years. In 1660 the first cravat, made of lengths of material, was introduced.

It was wrapped around the neck, lapped and drawn up under the chin, sort of like a cowboy neckerchief.

In 1890 the four-in-hand (today's most popular tie style) was first seen on the neck of an imaginative gent and in 1897 the Duke of Windsor surprised the world by using a large knot in his tie and the world named the knot after him.

In 1939 the 4½-inch-wide "belly warmer" was the rage. The tie, in those days, was the thing. Nobody ever noticed the shirt because it was hardly seen.

During the war years, color flowed freely. Hand-painted ties dominated the scene and a man's hobbies, college colors, his car, boat or his baseball team were colorfully portrayed on his neckwear.

WIDTH VARIES

Despite wartime economies, ties were fat. The width of ties, incidentally, appear not to be connected with prevailing economic conditions. One year ties are skinny, the next year they're wide.

In the past year there has been a pronounced change in neckwear. A gentleman with ultra-conservative tastes is having a hard time finding ultracon-servative ties at his neighborhood haberdasher.

Stripes, while still popular, are about to take a back seat to viciously bold patterns — paisleys, medallions, club figures and slightly bolder neats.

This means of course, that a man had better plan his suit-shirt tie combinations carefully.

Generally speaking, a tie's ground color should complement the suit color. The basic pattern need not match any other color.

CHOICE IS LARGE

The size of the pattern and the colors run from sedate to wild. The prints are traditional challs or foulard, but some interesting effects also are available on textured fabrics.

Once the basic color and size of the tie (wider ties are becoming more popular) are settled, the way the tie will be worn should be considered.

As a general rule, a spread or semispread collar takes a Windsor or half-Windsor knot. The traditional four-in-hand is more appropriate with button-down and tab collars.

Even the best quality tie can spoil the total look of a man if it's not tied properly. For example, the end of the tie should hit the stomach about a half-inch above the belt line and its back part should never be seen.

Also: It may be quicker if you merely loosen, but don't untie your cravat at night and loop it over the bedpost, but the result the next morning is just plain sloppy.

Hart Schaffner and Marx show these two new spring fashions for men on the go. Left is the official blazer of the Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament that comes in a variety of colors for summer comfort and relaxation. The fabric is a smart blend of Dacron polyester and worsted that's lightweight, easy to wear and wrinkle-resistant as well. Illustrated at the right is the Racquet Club styled suit in lightweight wool or blends of Dacron polyester and worsted. Both on order locally.

The bold tie is back again. Challs, Indian prints, paisleys and brilliant foulards are returning in force. And they look smart.

Young Women's Group Plans Annual Meeting

The Pontiac Young Women's Christian Association will gather in the new building on West Huron Street at 1:00 p.m., Saturday, for the 21st annual meeting.

The birthday cake decorated by Mrs. Robert Hines' class will carry out the coming of age theme for the occasion.

Mrs. Josephine H. Kyles, guest speaker, has chosen for her topic "The Mature Point of View."

She is the new director of religious education for the Detroit Council of Churches and chairman of religious emphasis for the Metropolitan Detroit YWCA.

Music for the luncheon meeting will be provided by "The Sophisticates," a girls' trio from Oakland University, and by Serwind Netzel, bass soloist, also from Oakland. Linda Schimmelman will be the accompanist.

Mrs. Lynn Allen will serve as chairman with Mrs. Everett C. Russell in charge of music. Mrs. Percy Jones will give devotions and Mrs. Carni Odell will be toastmistress.

Reservations for the meeting which is open to the public close on Wednesday.

Plans to Marry Luci's Bridesmaid

GROSSE POINTE — Engagement of Peter Alandt of Grosse Pointe to Beth Jenkins of Washington, credited by his mother with introducing Luci Baines Johnson to Patrick J. Nugent, was announced by Alandt's parents Friday.

Miss Jenkins, daughter of former White House aide Walter W. Jenkins, is scheduled to be a bridesmaid next summer at the wedding of President Johnson's daughter and Nugent.

Miss Jenkins 19, and Alandt, 21 both are students at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis.

NO DATE

No wedding date has been set, said Mr. and Mrs. Clayton P. Alandt in announcing the engagement.

"It was Beth," said Mrs. Alandt "who introduced Luci and Pat. Both Peter and Beth think the world of Pat."

MRS. HERBERT H. PINNER

Miss Westphal Speaks Vows in Port Huron

A four o'clock ceremony and reception, Saturday, in St. John's United Church of Christ in Port Huron, marked the vows of Ardith Elaine Westphal and Herbert H. Pinner.

Rev. Keith Westphal of Detroit and Rev. Donald Pinner of Lennon, brothers of the bridal couple, officiated.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Arthur C. Westphals of Port Huron and the L. Ward Pinner of East Longfellow Avenue.

With her sheath gown of white Italian velvet, the bride wore a matching pillbox and carried long-stemmed white carnations. Mrs. Robert Peterson of Rochester was her sister's honor attendant, with bridesmaids, Ruth Henkelmann, and Mrs. Robert Parkin, Lori Smith and Paula Pfaff were flower girls.

On the acquire side, were Carl Fifelet, best man, and ushers Donald Broom, E. Paul Pinner and Robert Parkin.

The bride is an alumna of Eastern Michigan University where her husband earned his master's degree.

Texas 'U' Alums Set Annual Spring Meet

Area alumni of the University of Texas have been notified of the school's annual Independence Day Roundup, March 5, at Topinka's Country House, Detroit. The affair begins at 7 p.m.

AAUW Hears Ralph Strahm on Juveniles

Ralph Strahm spoke concerning "Juveniles and the Law" before Waterford branch, American Association of University Women, recently in the John D. Pierce Junior High School.

The viewing of a film "Youth and the Law" was also shown as part of the group's continuing study of "Law and the Citizen."

Differences between events depicted in the film and the cases as they would be handled in Oakland County Juvenile Court were pointed out by Mr. Strahm who heads the Waterford Youth Assistance Program.

The Waterford Township Police Department was praised for the successful handling of juvenile cases, also its work with youngsters at school camp.

Mrs. Herbert Allen and Mrs. Crea M. Clark were coffee hour hostesses.

Information on membership may be received by contacting Mrs. Gerald Irish.

WOMEN'S SECTION

It's 'No Sweat' for Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I felt so sorry for that poor man who couldn't keep his trousers on in the house because the heat bothered him. My son had the same problem. He is allergic to heat and high humidity.

That man should see an allergist or his trousers worn in his house will be worn by his wife — to work, because her husband won't be able to wear anything on his lower extremities. And there are very few jobs to which a man can wear a sarong.

My son took his military in the National Guard. The six months in winter and fall were fine, but the two weeks in summer were intolerable. He couldn't keep his pants on.

The Army doctor gave his

C.O. a written statement saying he was not to assign my son to any duties that would make him perspire. Now he works in an air-conditioned office and goes home to an air-conditioned house.

HIS MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: I would like to know what kind of duty a guy can draw in the service that would guarantee him no sweat.

DEAR ABBY: This friend of mine has been going around with a married man for the past two years, off and on. The only time it was really "off" was when his wife and her parents found out about it.

Hosts Nurses' Tea

The Nurses Guild of Trinity Baptist Church will have a tea Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Victory Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Rolie L. Jones.

Now that things have cooled off, she has started to see him again. My problem is that she tells her parents that she is with me when she is really with him. I have asked her not to involve me in this because I do not approve of this sort of thing, but it doesn't do any good. Should I tell her parents or the man's wife?

JUNIPER DEAR JUNIPER: Skip the parents and the wife, but do tell your friend that you won't cover for her anymore. So she'd better either straighten up and fly right or find herself another party.

Mother, Now Is the Time for Backbone

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:
My 4 1/2-year-old boy is very stubborn. As I have nobody to leave him with while I go shopping, I have to take him with me. The problem is he wants something in every store we go into. Even in a drugstore he runs to a candy rack and won't leave until
I buy him some.

It is no use to explain that he has candy, toys, pencils, cake or other things at home. He doesn't listen but just says over and over, "Buy it for me, buy it for me."

ANSWER: He doesn't want all this stuff he asks for. What he wants to is know how much power he has to make you give it to him.

In children, as in grownups who've been allowed to dominate us, there is always a underlying suspicion of their power to control us. It's this suspicion that not only makes them so stubbornly insistent but defeats them to all our explanations of why we can't give them what they want.

Thus, if we tell a dominating mother-in-law that we can't

Need to Communicate

Talks of Knowledge Gap

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Continuing education for adults is necessary so that people can keep up with the changing world, believes a former college president who is now executive director of the National Commission of Accrediting.

"We will be impediments to our civilization if we don't keep on learning — not just in the field of our professions but also and especially in general education," Dr. Frank G.
Dickey, who headed the University of Kentucky for seven years, told The Citadel corps of cadets.

The gap between the knowledge of specialists and the knowledge of people in general poses a constant threat to communications between men, the educator pointed out.

NO UNDERSTANDING
Nine-tenths of the people today don't know what the other tenth is talking about and it's getting harder and harder to understand one another, he told his audience in a Greater Issues series address.

Countdown Begins for 1st Apollo Test

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The long countdown for the first test flight in America's Apollo manned lunar landing program got under way early today and aimed at a Wednesday launch for the 23-ton moonship.

For the initial flight, the Apollo will be unmanned and will soar 310 miles high before landing in the south Atlantic Ocean.

A success will be a major step in the $21-billion effort to use the same type craft to send three men to the moon by 1969.

If the 524-hour string of final checks and preparations proceeds without a hitch, the Saturn IB rocket's eight first stage engines will burst into life at 7:45 a.m. EST Wednesday.

The federal space agency said the weather outlook for launch day at both the Cape and recovery areas was "reasonably good" with broken clouds expected over the launch site and scattered clouds over the landing zone 5,500 miles away.

BUSY WEEK

The shot will kick off a busy week in the U.S. space program. The world's largest solid-fueled rocket motor will be test-fired Wednesday night south of Miami; the first Saturn 5 moon rocket will be tested at Huntsville, Ala., Friday and a Tiro's attitude control rockets on the Saturn's second stage.

At launch, the heavily instrumented Apollo will stand 83 feet tall and weigh a record 45,500 pounds. But all but the 11,000-pound cabin section will be discarded for the 18,750-mile Apollo flight could come as an-hour drive back to earth.

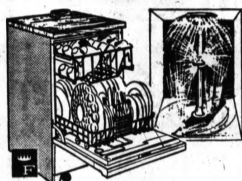

The aircraft carrier Boxer, four destroyers and a fleet oiler are steaming into position across the Atlantic to be on hand to retrieve the cone-shaped ship when three parachutes ease it into the sea 39½ minutes after the weekend pumping 41,000 gallons of kerosene into the 1.6-million-pound thrust booster and fueling the spacecraft and the Apollo before the vehicle is declared ready to orbit three men in the first of a series of practiced Apollo will stand 83 feet tall and weigh a record 45,500 pounds. The father of the bridegroom chartered a DC8 jet to fly 144 American relatives and friends to his son's wedding yesterday in London.

Steven Meltzer, 23, of New York, married Judie Pasha, 22, dark-haired daughter of London real estate man Jack Pasha at the Great Portland Street synagogue.

Afterward, they and the guests went by limousine to the Hilton Hotel for a reception.

Steven's father is American sportswear manufacturer Sam Meltzer.

The newlyweds left last night for a Caribbean honeymoon. Their American guests return to New York today aboard the chartered plane.

New Zealanders Toast Mrs. Humphrey

Forty-five male guests rose at a special dinner in New Zealand's Parliament House in Wellington yesterday and toasted the sole lady present — Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake proposed a special toast, saying that to the best of his knowledge it was Mrs. Humphrey's 42nd birthday. Actually it was her 54th.

The gentlemen then sang "Happy Birthday, dear Muriel" and Vice President Humphrey commented to his wife, "You are spoiled."

LBJ Says Dog 'Natural-Born Democrat'

President Johnson straightened out Courtenay McPherson, 7, concerning "Lady B," a female beagle puppy he gave her.

The President and Mrs. Johnson stopped to talk with Courtenay following 11 o'clock Sunday services at Washington's St. Mark's Episcopal church.

Johnson asked the girl whether the baby beagle is a Republican or a Democrat, and Courtenay replied, "I don't know."

Johnson assured her that the puppy it a Democrat Courtenay and her friend, Janice Diggs, 10, rode back to the White House with the Johnsons.

Courtenay's father is Harry C. McPherson Jr., a presidential assistant slated to become White House special counsel.

1,000 Noisy Demonstrators Await Humphrey's Arrival in Philippines

MANILA (AP) — About 1,000 noisy demonstrators paraded in front of the U.S. Embassy today awaiting the arrival of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as he neared the end of his Asian tour.

"Humphrey, go home!" chanted hundreds of students massed in front of the embassy.

The vice president is flying here from New Zealand. He plans to meet Tuesday with President Ferdinand E. Marcos and fill him in on decisions made at the recent Honolulu summit conference of President Johnson and South Vietnamese leaders.

PROTEST POLICY

Demonstrators awaiting Humphrey's arrival protested against U.S. policies in Vietnam as well as the vice president's visit.

The demonstrations by students, civil servants and farmers were called to oppose a $4-million bill in the Philippine Congress that would finance the sending of 2,000 combat engineers to Vietnam.

Earlier today, Humphrey conferred with Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand at Parliament House in Wellington. A handful of demonstrators stood silently outside with signs denouncing the Vietnam war.

During his arrival in Wellington Sunday from Canberra, Australia, he said the United States could "attach whatever conditions they wish to the grant of a visit there last week."

"I would not accept any limitation on its independence or order its foreign policy in accordance with the dictates of its own national interest."

Humphrey announced a $50-million loan to Pakistan during terms for sending more Korean troops to Vietnam.

It would be his second visit to Korea in two months. Unconfirmed reports in Seoul said Korea planned to send another army division and a brigade, or about 24,000 men. It now has 20,000 men there.

NEAR DECISION

During the vice president's Australian visit, Prime Minister Harold Holt said his government would soon announce a decision whether to send more Australian soldiers to Vietnam. There are now 1,500 Australians supporting U.S., South Vietnamese, Korean and New Zealand troops.

Pakistan Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto disagreed with a statement attributed to Humphrey that both Pakistan and India consider Communist China the major threat in Asia.

"Communist China does not pose any threat to the Indo-Pakistan subcontinent," Bhutto said in a statement.

He also said the United States

Interrupts Protest Meeting With a Protest of His Own

NEW YORK (AP)—A man, reportedly a city detective, walked on the stage of Town Hall last night where a protest against war in Vietnam was being held, and started to sing "God Bless America."

The man told the gathering: "I'm probably going to lose my job for this, but I have to do it."

He broke into song, but was stopped by poet Joel Oppenheimer, then on stage, who said to the stranger, "Get off. What do you think we are here for? We've been hearing that song too long."

"Can I be heard?" the unidentified man shouted. "Are you going to let me be heard?"

Cries of "No, no" came from the audience taking part in a "read-in for peace in Vietnam."

NO NAME GIVEN

The unidentified man left. Later, a police sergeant, not identified, said the man is a detective but he declined to give a name.

About 30 writers, poets, playwrights and actors read their own poems, excerpts from plays or books, or specially prepared material.

The chairman for the read-in was Stanley Kauffman, drama critic of the New York Times.

PLAYWRIGHT ILL

Playwright Arthur Miller, scheduled to appear, was ill, Kauffman said.

In a tape-recording from a talk he gave at the University of Michigan, Miller said: "I think we are in the wrong war. I listen to what our leaders tell us and it doesn't ring."

Yugoslav Efforts to Upgrade Railroads Are Hampered by Ancient Modes

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia's efforts to modernize its railroads in the space age are hampered by a 19th century system that is inefficient, slow and — dangerous. First to go, if plans to revamp the entire system by 1970 work out, will be the vintage rolling stock — little, steam engines that look like locomotives in children's books, and quaint wooden cars with arched roofs and dainty dimensions.

These cars and engines are deadly as well as picturesque. In 1964, two passenger trains collided outside Belgrade, killing 61 persons and injuring 300 others in the worst rail disaster in Yugoslav history. The cars were mostly of the old wooden kind.

Last week, near the coastal city of Split, the brakes on a coal train locomotive failed and it smashed into an oncoming passenger train. The toll was 29 dead and 27 injured, mostly from the train's two passenger coaches.

SLOW PROCESS

Despite considerable assistance from abroad, particularly by the United States which has helped the government buy 99 diesel locomotives on easy terms, modernization has been slow.

The diesels have not served much purpose up to now because of weak road beds, archaic routing schedules and no foreign currency to buy spare parts. Also, the rail changerover must compete with other economic commitments, many of which carry higher government priority.

But in the next four years, planners hope to achieve electrification of 16 per cent of the lines that carry almost two-thirds of the system's traffic. The government is anxious to make the railways efficient enough to cut their own losses, which last year amounted to $24.8 million.

The greenish film that often coats a statue is called patina.

Soviet Sleepers Get English

MOSCOW (AP) — Partial success in a mass experiment with teaching English to sleeping students is reported from the Soviet scientific city of Dubna.

The program of giving lessons just before students went to sleep and repeating them while they slept was especially effective for those who had never studied foreign languages.

But some students failed to finish the course and others began to lag in memorizing after the first 10 or 15 nights.

These results were given by the youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda.

LIGHT MUSIC

Students had to be in bed by 10:30 p.m. Light music was played until 10:45 and then a five-minute lesson began. It gave 25 or 30 new words and expressions to learn.

The students sat in bed, following the words from a lesson book and repeating them. The lesson was repeated three times. Then at 11 p.m. lights had to be turned out.

The lesson was repeated in softer tones until midnight. At 6:15 a.m., it began again and was repeated until 6:55. At 7 a.m., students were awakened and at 7:30 they took a new lesson to fix in their minds the overnight vocabulary and related grammar.

SERIOUSNESS

The 364-lesson program taught about 1,000 words and expressions.

Vladimir P. Zukhar, who ran the experiment, said some students confidently answered questions in English, but some were not serious enough. They had failed to realize that the experiment would require a very serious attitude. That knowledge of the language would not come by itself and that much work would be needed," Zukhar said.

The report said results were checked on 136 men.

Ailing Hearts Kill Couple

SOUTH WHITLEY, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Earl Shaffer, 65, went out to the barn to call her husband to supper and found him dead of a heart attack.

The distraught woman hurried back to the house to telephone for help but died before she could make the call.

Police said Shaffer, 73, and his wife were both victims of heart ailments.

Red Chinese Add to Units in N. Laos

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Reports received in Hong Kong indicate more Communist Chinese military personnel have been moved in to parts of northern Laos, mainly in Nua Province.

Some high-way construction units and accompanying security forces have been in northern Laos (Phongsaly Province) for the past few years, as well as adviser-type personnel, mostly for anti-aircraft operations.

Little information is available on the apparent increase, but reports indicate the number is limited and probably does not include combat units.

WILSON VISIT — Soviet sources are openly doubtful about the possible usefulness of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's visit to Moscow this week. They refer to his latest utterance on Viet Nam which, according to one qualified source, "was a restatement of the American position down to the last comma."

There is no agenda for the prime minister's talks with Soviet leaders and the press has shown little enthusiasm for the event.

Wilson will get the cold shoulder if he asks for a new Soviet initiative on Viet Nam.

The Kremlin's position remains adamant — full support of Ho Chi Minh's demands that Americans cease bombing North Viet Nam.

BRITISH ELECTION — Regardless of how Wilson makes out in Moscow, British book-makers are giving two-to-one odds that Wilson soon will call for a British general election, with March 31 the favored date.

The feeling is the Labor party is riding the crest of a wave of public popularity just now, and polls show them with a 13 per cent edge over the Conservatives.

So this would be the time to strike, Wilson only has a majority of three in Parliament at the moment, and the guessing is he could get perhaps 100 or more in a new election.

TROUBLE IN BURMA — Rangoon sources say new trouble is brewing between the Burmese government and the Communists and tribal rebels, after a year and a half of relative peace.

Part of it may stem from the inefficiency of the Socialist-minded "revolutionary" government's attempts to reorganize agriculture and the food distribution industries.

A new outbreak of violence has left dozens of dead on both the government and rebel sides in a three-month rebel offensive that began after the monsoons.

If the economy isn't patched up soon, real trouble may be in the wind for Gen. Ne Win and his council of leftist colonels.

Warm Spell Needed to Uncork Plug of Ice

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — Corked by a plug of ice, the Mississippi River continued to flow into populated areas today because it had nowhere else to go.

Authorities said the only hope would be a spell of warmer weather to melt the ice and let the water move downstream.

The river was rising and falling slightly above the 14-foot mark today, the level reached in floods of 1961 and 1952. The river is considered to be flooding when the water level exceeds 15 feet. Last year it crested at a record 22.5 feet.

Last year's flood was blamed on runoff from upstream — a conventional flood with a predictable crest.

NARROW BEND
This year ice jammed into a narrow bend eight miles south of Davenport was causing the water to back up. As it did, more ice piled into the jam.

Neither the U.S. Army Engineers nor the Weather Bureau was predicting what the river might do next.

State authorities in Des Moines authorized 50 National Guardsmen and three helicopters to aid flood-threatened residents.

On Davenport's waterfront, about 80 girls were evacuated from the Lend-A-Hand Club, which serves as a residence for single girls.

FAMILIES REMOVED
Red Cross officials said 10 more families were removed from their homes Sunday, bringing the total to about 150. Residents of the Garden Addition, a development in West Davenport, were urged to leave their homes or be prepared to depart on short notice.

Water backed into the Garden Addition through sewers and threatened to slip around a levee.

Pumps were used to move water from the development back into the river.

High Quebec Official Dies in Home Fire

QUEBEC (AP) — Quebec's Lt. Gov. Paul Comtois died today in a fire which swept his home, police said.

Authorities said his daughter, Murielle, suffered arm burns trying to rescue her father. His wife was uninjured.

Bois de Coulogne, the official residence of the lieutenant governor, is located a mile from Laurier Boulevard in the Quebec suburb of Silery.

Comtois' chauffeur said the fire might have started in the basement.

POLICE GUARD

A score of police guarded the entrance to the home as the fire raged. Flames were visible for more than a mile and smoke filled the surrounding area.

Comtois, 70, became lieutenant governor Oct. 6, 1961, after four years as minister of mines and technical surveys in the federal Cabinet.

An agronomist who graduated from the University of Montreal and the Agricultural Institute of Oka, Que., he entered the House of Commons in 1957.

Jobless Farm Workers to Receive Basic Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 7,500 unemployed Mississippi farm workers will be given a basic education course under a $3,698,000 federal grant.

The grant includes $1,698,000 from the Office of Economic Opportunity and $2 million from the Department of Labor.

Under the OEO grant Coahoma Opportunities Inc. will conduct a seven-month full-time education program for 1,000 workers from Coahoma County and a part-time program for 500 adults from other counties.

The Labor Department money will finance a job-training program for graduates of the literacy project. This will be administered by two state agencies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For $5 the Government Printing Office will send you the 1966-67 edition of the Labor Department's occupational outlook handbook — including salaries, working conditions and qualifications for more than 700 occupations.

The jobs included, the book says, account for about 90 per cent of all workers in professional and related fields and in sales occupations; nearly as high a proportion in skilled occupations; but half in clerical and about 40 per cent in service occupations.

The publication, released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, says unskilled and semiskilled jobs will continue to diminish and farm workers will continue a long-term decline.

The best jobs, it reports, will require the best possible education in the next decade. The most jobs will be available for professional, technical, service and clerical workers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newest weather satellite — ESSA 2 — to be launched Friday, is designed to be used by anybody, the Weather Bureau reports.

The bureau says that while it may cost $30,000 or more for commercial construction of a ground station to receive pictures from the satellite, a new Jersey man has done the job at home for about $250.

The bureau says Wendell Anderson, a Moorestown, N.J., engineer, built the station around a 1938 ham radio receiver. So far he has received satisfactory pictures from the Nimbus satellite launched in 1964.

To build a Tiro ground station for a few hundred dollars... shows that any country that wants Tiro weather data can get it," Anderson explained.

He works for Radio Corporation of America, which builds Tiro satellites.

ESSA 2 will be the second Tiro to be placed in orbit by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the Environmental Science Services Administration — ESSA — which includes the Weather Bureau.

Screen Writer Dies

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — James Edward Grant, 60, veteran screen writer, died Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital after a long illness. Grant left a sports-writing job in Chicago to come to Hollywood in 1935. He worked on numerous Western films with actor John Wayne.

The publication, released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, says unskilled and semiskilled jobs will continue to diminish and farm workers will continue a long-term decline.

The best jobs, it reports, will require the best possible education in the next decade. The most jobs will be available for professional, technical, service and clerical workers.

Trooper at Pontiac Post Finishes Medical Course

Trooper Richard Weeks of the Pontiac Post recently completed a training program designed to give State Police officers better skills in basic emergency treatment.

Held in Lansing, the program was sponsored by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Weeks will relay the instruction to other personnel stationed at the Pontiac Post during a training session.

According to Robert Laraway of the special medical services division of the health department, the State Police is the first Michigan governmental agency to undertake training all personnel in the program.

"Medical Self-Help is not the same as usual first aid," Laraway explained. "First aid is valuable when professional medical help is expected in a short time."

BASED ON PREMISE

"However, the self-help program is based on the premise that a doctor will not be available for days or even weeks."

Among subjects covered in the program are radioactive fallout and shelters, emergency childbirth and beautiful living in emergencies.

The program is available at the local level to any group requesting instructors, noted Laraway. Requests should be sent to the local health department or civil defense office.

"Our goal is to train at least one person in every Michigan family in Medical Self-Help," said Laraway.

'One Man's Family' ... Almost Exclusively

ST. JOSEPH (M) — When the Burlington passenger train arrived at the St. Joseph depot on a run from Omaha it was a family matter. Dave Padden was the conductor.

A son, W. N. Padden, was the brakeman. Another son, D. V. Padden, was the flagman while still another son, F. D. Padden, was the fireman. The only "outsider" was I. E. Cregar, the engineer.

FOUND INNOCENT—Joseph Shea, 26, found innocent Saturday by a jury of a murder he confessed to six years ago, looks over pictures of his leaving the courtroom with his mother, Mrs. Adeline Shea, in Miami, Fla. Shea received a second trial after a Miami Herald reporter turned up new evidence in the slaying of Mrs. Mary Meslener, 23.

Classroom Drifter Eyed by Uncle Sam

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

When a student drops out of high school, he is calling attention to the fact that as far as he is concerned, our educational system is not meeting his needs. But what of the stay-in who quietly drifts out to graduation without really learning? Because he does not make a fuss about it, his plight goes unnoticed and uncorrected. But now the finger is pointed in his direction.

DR. NASON

The National Selective Service Board recently announced the reexamination of high school graduates who have failed the literacy test.

Are students with high school diplomas — certifying the successful completion of 12 years of education — unable to read and write well enough to meet the minimum standards of the military?

To whatever extent this is true, the high school diploma has become a meaningless scrap of paper.

TAKE ACTION

It is time that legislative committees, boards of education, school superintendents and parents investigate the status of this problem in their community.

It is high time that more attention be focused on the pupil who stays in school, causes no one any trouble, but ceases to learn.

No child should be allowed to continue in school and to receive a diploma without his parents being made fully aware that he is not learning to read and write satisfactorily.

While I have observed this situation more frequently among children coming from disadvantaged homes, it is not restricted to this type of environment.

ENTERS COLLEGE

Jack was an 11th-grade student in an advantageously located high school. The majority of students from this school enter college upon graduation.

Jack's grades were low, but he was passing. Asked to show a sample of his written work, he presented a report which he had prepared in the ninth grade.

Pertaining to livestock production in California, it consisted of pictures cut from magazines and newspapers. The only writing in the entire report was his scrawled signature.

It turned out that he had been able to avoid writing for years. Yet within six months, he became proficient at it and so improved his grades that, upon graduation from high school, he was accepted as a freshman in college.

13 States Remain in Throes of Cold Wave; Roads Blocked

By The Associated Press

Thirteen states from Maine to Montana remained in the grip of a bitter arctic cold wave today. For International Falls, Minn., it is the seventh consecutive day the thermometer has not risen above zero.

The subfreezing temperatures pushed into the Deep South while snow spread through the Ozarks.

Bitter cold temperatures and wind-blown snow resulted in both flooding and blocked highways Sunday.

SNOW SQUALLS

Winds up to 50 miles an hour whipped snow squalls down the Mohawk Valley, cutting visibility to zero in some places and forcing the closing of a 150-mile section of the New York Thruway between Westport, west of Syracuse, and Albany.

The storm forced at least three other New York highways to close.

In Philadelphia, tow trucks removed at least 60 cars abandoned on the Schuylkill Expressway because of the heavy snow.

A sharp increase in auto accidents was reported in states where snow combined with the wind and cold temperatures.

Hazardous driving warnings were posted for most of Missouri, where snow began falling early today.

Gulf Coast cities and Florida were protected from the cold wave by warm winds from the ocean.

Heavy snow continued to swirl in off the eastern Great Lakes as brisk northwesterly winds moved the subzero temperatures over their relatively warm waters.

Another day of sunny skies and warm temperatures were forecast for most of the Pacific Coast region and the desert Southwest where temperatures were expected to soar into the 70s.

GOP's 'Preferred Backing' Starts Griffin's Senate Campaign

GO WITH GRIFFIN—U.S. Rep. Robert Griffin, R-9th District is interviewed by a reporter shortly after leaders of the Michigan GOP picked him as their preferred candidate for the United States Senate. He allegedly polled over 75 per cent of the vote over Dr. Leroy Augenstein, Michigan State University professor, and Deane Baker, Grand Rapids construction firm executive.

LANSING (AP)—Backed by an overwhelming majority of his party's leaders, U. S. Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., launched his campaign for the seat of U.S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara.

The 42-year-old five-term Congressman received what Gov. George Romney described as the "substantially unanimous" support of 170 party leaders at a Saturday meeting.

Romney would say only that Griffin received more than 75 per cent of the secret ballot. A source close to Griffin claimed that the vote was close to 95 per cent in his favor. Other party sources indicated it was over 90 per cent.

Griffin apparently clinched the party's "preferred candidate" nomination when his one-time protégé, State Sen. Guy VanderJagt, R-Cadillac, withdrew from the race and threw his support behind the Congressman.

CONTENDERS

Griffin, however, faces primary opposition from at least two contenders—Dr. Leroy Au-genstein, 37-year-old chairman of the Michigan State University biophysics department, and Dean Baker, vice president of a Grand Rapids pipeline construction company.

The party took the unusual, if not unique, position of endorsing one candidate, while backing an open primary and promising equal support to all candidates.

Under state law, it cannot prevent anyone from getting on the primary ballot.

Romney said party leaders had the "preferred candidate plus open primary" decision. He added that he had "not expressed any personal preference" in the candidate race, and would maintain a "hands off" policy until after the Aug. 2 primary.

The selection of the youthful Traverse City attorney climaxed two busy weeks of intraparty campaigning and politicking.

LABOR ATTORNEY

The Traverse City labor attorney has been in the race less than two weeks. He made his first announcement after party leaders narrowed the field to three potential candidates at a Feb. 4 meeting. The others were VanderJagt and Augenstein.

Griffin had launched VanderJagt, a former student for the Presbyterian ministry and former television newsmen, on his law and political careers.

VanderJagt, who plans to run for Griffin's 9th district seat, said in pulling out of the Senate race that the party could hope to win "only if we unite 100 per cent behind one candidate."

He had been in the race less than three weeks—but managed to build up a strong base of support in the party. He asked his new-found backers to support Griffin — which they did.

MORE SCIENTISTS

Augenstein's campaign so far has been based on what he feels is the need for more scientists in government as the two fields become increasingly intermingled.

"If I can't be in a position to make laws, then I should devote my efforts to advising government agencies. I already have the latter," he told the group.

He serves as an adviser to several government agencies and does some work for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"I worked hard to get in this position, and I wouldn't want to jeopardize it by running for some other political office."

RANK AND FILE

"Oh, a few union leaders might complain, but the rank and file members are protected by it, and support it," Griffin said, adding:

"We will be setting up campaign headquarters in Wayne County soon," he added.

"Our major emphasis will be on and in urban areas," he said, pointing out that he has carried the Democratic stronghold of Muskegon County three times.

"We have great reason to hope for lots of support in the labor and Negro communities," he said.

Wouldn't his coauthorship of the controversial Landrum-Griffin Labor Act hurt his chances with the labor vote?

"The campaign starts today," Griffin said after the voting Saturday. A Lincoln Day speech at Three Rivers Saturday became his first campaign speech.

"In the 1960 election, it was made an issue—and I became the first Republican to carry Muskegon County in 14 years."

Although cancer of the breast in persons less than 20 years old is considered unusual, parents and doctors are warned to have any unusual masses in the breasts of either boys or girls examined under the microscope.

Soapy Expects Support of Young Voters

DETROIT (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams says he expects support from the younger set if he runs for political office from Michigan again.

"I'm confident I have as much chance as the next man to win the 18-year-old vote," Williams said Saturday.

Williams spoke in an interview before testifying in a hearing on the vote to 18-year-olds.

at a legislative hearing, Michigan's legal voting age is 21. Williams, 54, and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, 37, are possible candidates for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate if Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, the incumbent, decides against trying for a third term.

Williams got applause from young people attending the legislative hearing. The hearing was conducted by Rep. Daisy Elliott, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Committee on Revision and Amendment of the Constitution.

Students Crowd Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The draft card set moved on in the French Quarter today as Carnival staggered into its final hours.

Carnival is the month-long prelude to Mardi Gras, the annual city-sized crazy costume ball coming on Tuesday.

The pre-Lenten celebration of Mardi Gras, French for Fat Tuesday, draws thousands of tourists. Hotels and motels were packed for miles around.

The nightclub and strip joint sector of the Quarter, a favorite tourist stomping ground, took a brief breather this morning as crews shoveled up mounds of beer cans and liquor bottles.

STUDENT SWARM
Bourbon and Royal streets were awash along an eight-block stretch all night. Most of them were relatively penniless youths, with college students predominating.

After an early flush of prosperity, which eased off before midnight, strip joint barkers watched glumly as the late-late crowd surged back and forth — with bottles, beers or glasses in hand but spending relatively little cash.

Beer is sold from sidewalk stands to anyone who can prove he is over 18. For many it means digging in pockets for draft cards and drivers' licenses.

The college student with the most social status, President Johnson's oldest daughter, Lyndon B. Johnson, was not in view.

CAUGHT NAPPING—No doubt 17-month-old Craig Gordon is a sound sleeper as he is caught napping while his mother yells for trinkets from a passing carnival parade in New Orleans. It was the first carnival visit for the tot who may have been dreaming about an even bigger parade scheduled for Mardi Gras Day tomorrow.

Orchestras Galore

Batons Flourish in America

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Who says Americans are uncultured? We now have 1,401 symphony orchestras — and what nation can boast more?

High heels weren't invented to please modern fashion-conscious dolls. They were developed long ago by the Persians to keep their feet off the hot desert sands.

Do you complain about your doctor's fees? The American Medical Association claims that in the last 20 years physicians' charges have gone up only 113 per cent, but the pay of factory workers has increased 150 per cent.

LONG FOOTPATH
Feel like taking a walk? The California State Trail is said to be the longest—3,000 miles—footpath in the world.

Getting there first sometimes makes all the difference. On Feb. 14, 1876, Alexander Graham Bell filed an application for a patent on the telephone. We all remember him. Surely you remember Elisha Gray, too. No? Well, Gray was the fellow who applied for a telephone patent just two hours after Bell did.

Quotable notables: "America never lost a war or won a conference," Will Rogers.

Here's another worry off your mind: Amy Vanderbilt, the etiquette lady, says it is quite proper to pick up celery, asparagus, bacon and artichokes and eat them from your fingers. But how about country-fried chicken?

Better give up any plans you had to live to be 150. Even if the Ferdinand and Queen Isabella problems of cancer and hard-of-hearing are solved, Christopher Columbus for his discovery of the New World. It's age life span of man can be extended much beyond 80 years. Do you hate to wear neckties?

Well, they were first popularized in Britain in 1660 by King Charles II, whose father was beheaded 11 years earlier for far lesser crimes. Considering what a nuisance the necktie has been, it looks like the English executed the wrong monarch.

No matter how many equal rights women win, they seem unable to change men's basic attitude toward them. For example, if a man makes a stupid mistake, men say, "What a fool that fellow is." But if a woman makes a mistake, men say, "What fools women are!"

Worth remembering: Egotism is that certain something that enables a man in a rut to think he's in the groove."

BUNDLE OF DEBRIS
Want something fresh to fret about? Some researchers think that if there is ever a nuclear war the debris thrown into the atmosphere would blot out so much solar heat that the world would enter a new Ice Age.

Is this trip necessary? King had to live to be 150. Even if the Ferdinand and Queen Isabella problems of cancer and hard-of-hearing are solved, Christopher Columbus for his discovery of the New World. It's age life span of man can be extended much beyond 80 years. Do you hate to wear neckties?

N-Bomb Controversy Subsides in Spain

The arrival of two midsize submarines in early February gave the searchers the tools they needed to recover wreckage on the sea bottom. More than 100 objects previously identified by sophisticated detection devices were picked up. No one would say if any of these was the missing nuclear weapon — unofficially described as a 20-megaton H-bomb.

Offshore, the Navy's Task Force 65 continued its search in deep water, the pocket subs bobbing to the surface regularly. But there was an air about the whole project that recovery

NO CONFIRMATION

No official would confirm that the feeling was fact.

After the first reaction to the nuclear accident — the first of its kind outside the United States — Spanish and U.S. official relations appeared to resume their usual harmony. The Spanish minister of information praised the thoroughness of the U.S. recovery program.

Officials said the accident was likely to have a favorable effect on the Spanish tourist trade in the coming year.

"We have seen how the Americans work here," said one village officer. "Not only have they done a great job, but they have publicized this part of the Spanish coast as a fine vacation spot."

TOURIST HOTEL

The Spanish government opened a new tourist hotel with in view of the Tank Force 65

"It's already full to capacity, and if there ever was a nuclear scare to frighten away tourists, it's long since gone," said one

Negroes, so long barred from the sources of capital needed to establish their own businesses are now making great strides in that field. Negro-operated banks like Harlem's Carver Federal Savings and Loan Association and the Freedom National Bank are providing needed funds to help Negro businessmen.

These businessmen are also taking advantage of Federal loans. Their success is seen in the growing numbers of business establishments run by Negroes.

A Look Into the Lives of 2 Viet Heroes

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Danny Fernandez, of Los Lunas, N.M., and Stephen Laier, of Fort Wayne, Ind., died heroically in the war in Viet Nam. What were they like?)

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — A Purple Heart for wounds received in one tour of duty in Viet Nam was not enough for Spec. 4 Daniel Fernandez of Los Lunas. He had to go back. Then a heroic gesture cost him his life.

Fernandez, 21, has been nominated for his country's highest decoration for bravery, the Medal of Honor, for giving his life to save his buddies.

Danny Fernandez died Friday in a fierce battle with the Viet Cong about 25 miles west of Saigon.

When a grenade was tossed into the midst of Danny's unit, he threw himself on it to shield others from the blast.

NO HESITATION
"When he spotted the grenade, he lunged on top of it without hesitation. He hollered, 'move out, you people,' and then it went off," said Spec. 4 James McKeown, Willingboro, N. J.

"Who's going to take care of you now?"
Platoon buddies said he was a friend to everyone, generous with his money when others had run out.

TWO MEDALS

Fernandez said his son was wounded in Viet Nam in March 1965 after volunteering to go there. The soldier was awarded the Air Medal and Purple Heart, sent home on furlough and transferred to Hawaii.

He volunteered to return to Viet Nam in January.

"I feel humble to know that my son did such a fine thing," his father said.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — "He probably was hesitant to write because he knew it would hurt us," said the father of Stephen Laier.

Joseph G. Laier was talking about his 18-year-old son who lost both legs in a Viet Cong mine blast. Laier and his wife didn't learn of their son's injuries until eight days before the young infantryman died.

Husky Stephen Laier was

THE ONLY ONE

"It was the only man who could operate it," he told doctors before he died.

Laier tied rough tourniquets around the stumps of his legs and began calling his company headquarters to tell them of the ambush which killed three men of his unit and injured the remaining 11.

Laier, given 60 blood transfusions, lived 15 days. The doctors did everything to save him.

His father, a foreman at a meat packing plant in this northeast Indiana city of 182,000, said his son was "not one to complain."

A RARE YOUTH

"You could not want a better boy than Steve," he said, "he was one in a million."

Fellow soldiers agreed. He was presented a Bronze Star with "V" for valor.

School. Laier won several trophies for archery. He also played football and had attended North Side High School before enlisting in the Army.

Part-time jobs kept him busy after school and during the summer. He had worked as a stock boy in a discount department store and later behind the counter in a restaurant.

OWNED A DOG

He and his father owned a registered beagle pup, "Carli." Steve had hoped to enter him in field trial competition.

Laier's letters home inquired about the dog, his father said. Nurse Marguerite Giroux helped the spunky soldier write some of these notes from the hospital at Bien Hoa.

"He was so brave that he didn't even want to tell his girlfriend that he was so sick," the nurse recalled. "He said she should not have to worry about him."

His family later received a tribute to the young radioman written by his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Jonathan Seaman of the 1st Infantry Division. It read: "With men like Laier, our division, our army, our country will always be great."

Dem Unit Backs Gov. Brown; Intraparty Row Flares

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown asked the convention of the nation's largest volunteer political group to back his bid for a third term. Most delegates remained, and their cheers of "We want Brown" echoed through the convention hall.

The protesters, a minority of the 1,800 present, were objecting to the Democratic governor's support of a successful move to force the resignation of council president Simon Casady, a critic of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policy.

Hard feelings, touched off by debate over the Viet Nam war, were evident Sunday as about 200 delegates left the hall when hasn't even declared his candidacy, received 289 votes. Officials said 630 delegates abstained.

The battle showed the unpredictability of the 14-year-old grass roots group, with a membership of more than 30,000.

After denying Casady a vote of confidence Saturday, members replaced him with a San Francisco attorney, Gerald Hill, 36, who favors negotiations in name.

There is no person in the National Liberation Front "united States who wants peace" more than President Johnson," the convention shouted against Brown said.

The governor also faced pickets, about 30 persons protesting television series "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." Vaughn, 41, nearby grape-field strike. They addressed a convention lunch-marched down the center of the aisle as he talked and crowded around him as he walked to his car.

There was another walkout during the hectic final day's session. Pro-Casady delegates, about 200 of them, left when he had lost the vote of confidence Saturday.

Democratic State Controller Alvin Cranston, a founder of the group, asked for endorsement. He also opposed Casady. Casady called the vote "definitely a victory for the governor."

Diane Varsi Walkout as Career Bloomed Remains a Puzzler

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — She has a vivid memory of the date: March 19, 1959. "I believe it was about 10 o'clock in the morning," she adds.

THOMAS

That was the time at which Diane Varsi walked out on one of the most promising acting careers in recent Hollywood history.

She has returned briefly to the town for which she has no fondness; she appeared last week in four films, "Dr. Kildare" drama at MGM. As soon as she finished, she hurried back to her home in Brooklyn.

The Diane Varsi saga has long puzzled the movie town. In two short years she starred in four films, won an Academy nomination and critical acclaim, then vanished from Hollywood in search of an acting career.

QUALITY SOUGHT
Producer Jerry Wald recognized in her the evanescent quality he was seeking for the role of Allison McKenzie in "Peyton Place." Under Mark Robson's sensitive direction, she created a wondrous portrait of Allison and received Academy recognition.

While appearing as Gary Cooper's daughter in "10 North Frederick," she suffered a nervous collapse. Then she announced she was leaving her contract with 20th Century-Fox to live in Bennington, Vt. Why did she leave?

"I can't tell you," she says today. "I could, if it only concerned myself. But it concerns other people as well, and that is why I can't talk about it."

Her co-workers at Fox recall her as a frightened, birdlike girl who was bewildered by her sudden success. They say she was also disillusioned by the way certain studio officials treated her, and she vowed never to return to acting until her seven-year contract ended. It is now terminated.

WITHDRAWN
She is now 28, tall and willowy, with brown hair extending to her waist. She remains withdrawn, although those who witnessed her "Dr. Kildare" performance report it was emotional.

Where has she been in the past seven years?

"In San Francisco mostly, but also in Vermont and the state of Washington," she remarked. "And now Brooklyn. I went to New York last spring to make a picture there and in Philadelphia with Dick Gregory and Don Murray. I had a place in the country, but now I want to work, so I'm living in Brooklyn. No particular reason."

COUPLE OF PLAYS
Besides the film, she performed in a couple of plays in San Francisco, "but nothing anyone would have heard about." During her absence, Miss Varsi married artist Michael Hausman, by whom she had a daughter. The marriage is now reported at an end. She has a son by a previous marriage.

Will she return to Hollywood? "If I have to," she sighs. "I want to act now, and I'll go anywhere, even Hollywood."

Youth Opportunity Unit
Due Flint, Dixie City

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced Sunday approval of new Youth Opportunity Centers for Flint, Mich., and Greenville, S.C.

The centers, with staffs of 16 at Flint and 12 at Greenville, will seek to help youths, ages 16 to 21 inclusive, prepare for and find jobs. The youths will get counseling and testing, with emphasis on getting them into youth and job Corps.

New Mexico Dem Sticks to His Boots

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Speaker Bruce King of New Mexico's House of Representatives is going to stick by his boots. In fact, a number of his supporters seem to prefer it. King is Democratic candidate for governor.

King of Santa Fe said he had received a considerable amount of mail from New Mexicans asking him not to try to change his cowboy image.

About a month ago he had said that he would stop wearing boots and attend a charm school if a sufficient number of his supporters found his rough edges objectionable.

"The West was built by men wearing boots. Wear your boots," was the comment from a Raton woman.

"I wore my boots through most of the legislative session," King said today. "I'll probably wear them into the governor's office."

Needs a Doctor

New Hospital Gathers Dust

CELINA, Tenn. (AP) — A brand-new $340,000 hospital, gathering dust since last November, is awaiting any qualified doctor who wants to settle in this upper Cumberland community.

Clay County's only physician, Dr. Champ E. Clark of Celina, has a heavy caseload and doesn't want to operate the 40-bed hospital. Officials say they have conducted an unsuccessful search for another doctor.

The empty Clay County hospital includes a surgical suite, obstetrical wing, X-ray laboratory and kitchen. Officials have promised to install all necessary equipment "if a qualified doctor wants the building." The rental is $1 a year.

"The welcome mat is out," said W. D. Terry, who heads the county's hospital committee.

City Cagers Battling for Berth in 'A' Finals

A ruling announced early this morning by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department leaves the city Class A men's basketball championship still wide open.

The Amigo's Club opening win over White's Unbeatables was forfeited to the latter due to the use of an ineligible player.

Thus, a win tonight for Booth Home's against the Unbeatables would leave all three teams with one loss since the Amigos tripped Booth's last week without the ineligible man.

However, should the Unbeatables triumph tonight, then they would meet the Amigo's Wednesday for the title. The playoffs are double elimination.

The city's Class C tourney begins tonight at 7 o'clock on the Lincoln JHS court with P.O.H. meeting Autohahn Motors.

YMCA Quintet Posts 8th Win in League Play

Two high-scoring individual efforts in Friday night's Pontiac YMCA Senior Boys' Basketball League were overshadowed by Trinity Baptist's team accomplishment.

The unbeaten league leaders posted in 112 points to Oakland Park Methodist's 43 for their eighth straight victory. Darryl Mitchell had 37 points in the triumph.

Bruce Bigler, though, took the night's scoring honors with 38 in runner-up First Congregational's 75-48 win over Macedonia Baptist.

Central Methodist whipped First Nazarene, 49-24, for its second win of the season.

North Farmington Ends Losing Streak at Three

North Farmington ended a three-game losing streak Saturday for Clarenceville and Chris Hawkins added 10.

Birmingham Brother Rice ran its record to 4-12 with a 58-44 decision over Redford St. Mary.

The triumph raised the winner's record to 3-12, while the loss, Clarenceville's fourth in a row, left the team with an identical mark.

Bill Bowles paced North Farmington with 18 points, followed by Rick Schultz (17), Rick Lorenz (12) and Curt Schumacher (12).

Miss Smith 3rd in Meet

Bloomfield Hills' Cheryl Smith was the only individual and the philosophy this year and a warner were the teams from Oakland County to place Saturday at Traverse City in the annual Pasarell was selected to be the girls' slalom race. Smith was third with a 8-studied United States combined time of 66.4 seconds in the girls' slalom race. The Skippers finished ninth (394.6) and Southfield 10th (396.4) in the girls' over-all team standings. Traverse City said Pasarell, the fifth-ranked Central swept the boys' and girls' team crowns for the fifth year in a row.

Eaglets Drop 58-56 Verdict to St. Hedwig

OLSM's Krogulecki Captures Tourney's MVP Award

Orchard Lake St. Mary lost its bid for the Second Division championship of the Detroit Catholic League, 58-56, Sunday night in the finals at the University of Detroit.

A hustling, smooth-working Detroit St. Hedwig quintet made the Eagles their second straight victim in the finals and handed coach Frank Chikowski his 35th straight victory in Catholic League play.

The Knights threatened to chase St. Mary out of the game in the second quarter when they built a 28-20 lead by riddling the OLSM zone defense with sharp shooting and passing.

But the Eagles fought back to a 28-20 deficit at halftime. All-County prospect Connie Krogulecki—the most valuable player in the second division playoffs—then sparked an OL St. Mary third-quarter drive that almost upset St. Hedwig's repeat title effort.

With Krogulecki hitting on long jump shots, OLSM pulled into a 41-34 lead—outscoring the Knights 13-2 in the first 4:15 of the final half.

The Eagles' senior guard had 12 points in the period, topping his first-half output by one. Pete Sobush's gunning from the corner in the final session and alert offensive rebounding drew the Knights within one point of a tie. Then Ray Hamilton sank a long one-hander with 2:10 remaining for a 55-54 lead.

St. Mary's John Stepien connected from the side to make it 56-55 at the 1:35 mark but Sobush changed the lead for the final time with a corner basket 15 seconds later.

Rich Opalinski padded the lead to 58-56 with 27 seconds to play by making one of two free throws.

The winners had an 82-54 field-goal attempt supremacy on the OLSM live. The losers' Joe Wojtyls led all rebounders with 17, but had little help.

Our Merchant Marine-1

U.S. Ships Too Slow and Expensive

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a three-part series on the dilemma of the U.S. Merchant Marine which is threatening to founder in the face of foreign competition. The fleet is caught between those who favor dropping supports and subsidies and those who favor increasing them.)

Using that foreign ship operators charge less to ship certain goods from Europe to the United States than from the United States to Europe.

SUMMING UP

Why the maritime industry is in its present plight can be summed up in a couple of sentences:

It costs, roughly, twice as much to operate a U.S. flag-ship as it does to operate an identical ship under foreign registry.

It costs twice as much to build a ship in an American yard as it does in, say, Japan.

MUCH HIGHER

An American able-bodied seaman often earns $10,000 a year with overtime. That is three or four times the annual earnings of a seaman on a foreign ship.

For all practical purposes, ships built in U.S. yards are hand-crafted by men earning an average of $3 an hour, compared to an hourly wage in Swedish yards of $1.70 and 73 cents in Japan.

As for other aspects: There are those within the Maritime Administration who

The danger signals were there before the Vietnamese shipping needs became acute.

The crisis was caused by labor disputes, cases of indifference in management and a lackluster application of federal maritime policies.

THE QUESTION

Fundamentally what it all boils down to is this: should the United States maintain a Merchant Marine and a commercial shipbuilding industry, and if so, what should be the size of each?

How the question is answered will affect the jobs of 80,000 men now manning or building U.S. flagships.

Further, the answer will have a vital effect on the nation's export-import trade, especially the ultimate decision is to let foreign ships, carry the bulk of the U.S. trade, now valued at around $30 billion annually.

The Joint Economic Committee of Congress has already asserted that such a course contains the seeds of disaster, not-

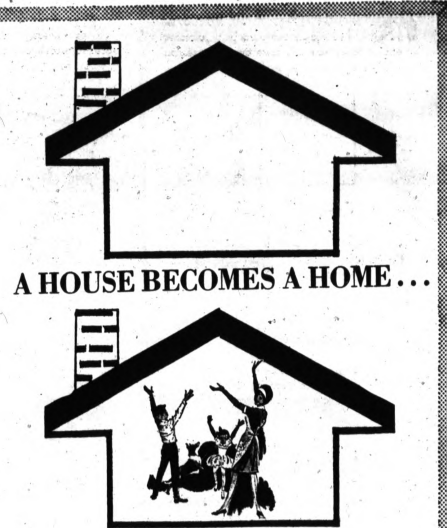

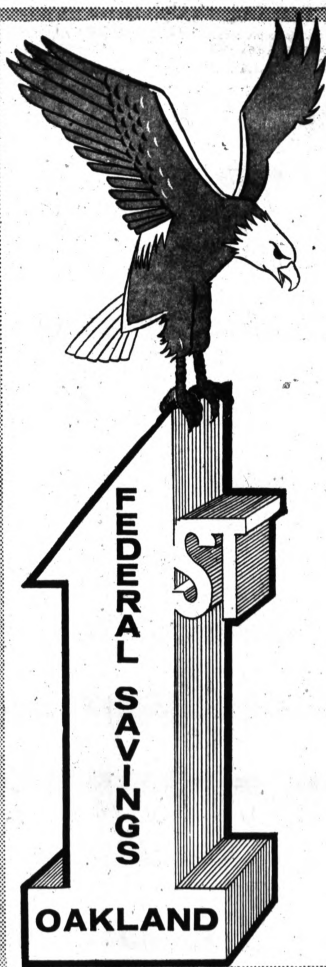

Postal Cats off Payroll

WELLINGTON (AP)—The New Zealand Post Office has struck cats off its payroll.

Cats, introduced into the country's post offices in 1942 to hunt mailbag gnawing rats were paid a weekly food allowance of 2 shillings 6 pence New Zealand (35 cents).

Now they are no longer officially recognized, but, unofficially, they continue to wage anti-rat war.

When you put PEOPLE in it!

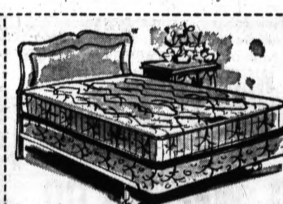

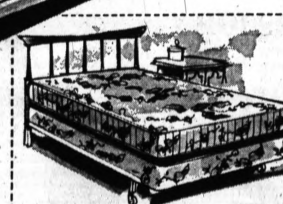

Houses are put together with wood and brick and steel and concrete. They're full of nails and wires and pipes... all these things create a "house."

The metamorphosis occurs the moment you put people inside... it is with a warm feeling of satisfaction we are able to put "people"... like you and the neighbors around you, into houses to make them "homes."

Vote Vowed in Viet Shift

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, striving for progress on the battlefield and on the political front, reshuffled his war Cabinet today and pledged national elections next year.

The 35-year-old premier and air force commander brushed aside all talk of differences with the United States over the possibility of peace talks with the Communists.

He declared his government and the United States were marching forward "with absolutely the identical purpose" to free South Viet Nam from Communist aggression, build a peaceful society and introduce social justice.

In a shake-up growing out of his meetings with President Johnson two weeks ago and the pledge of more American aid at the Honolulu conference, Ky told a news conference:

- Political action teams are being trained to revive political parties and a constitution will be ready by November.
- Popular elections will be held next year.
- A new high court had been established to deal swiftly and efficiently with black marketers in South Viet Nam's inflationary economy.

Ky, who still pilots his own helicopter to work each day, said he would not be a candidate for office in the elections.

"I do not like politics," he said.

NEW APPOINTMENT

The Cabinet changes include the appointment of a deputy minister of foreign affairs to assist in an increasingly big government department, entrusted with the job of rounding up support for the Saigon regime.

Most of the other changes will be men already in the government, although some will be added to take on a variety of new tasks.

Ky said special commissions had been created to deal with the flood of refugees into government-held areas and the sometimes dissent but anti-Communist Montagnards, primitive tribesmen in the central highlands.

Other commissions were established to run South Viet (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

FOUR-ALARM FIRE — Six persons, including 10-year-old twins, were rescued by ladders and another dozen were driven to the street in near-zero temperatures early yesterday morning when a four-alarm fire swept a five-story Boston building. Accidents Kill 3 From County

Three Oakland County residents died in weekend traffic accidents, two of them in county mishaps and a third in a tractor-car collision near Grayling.

In addition, an unidentified woman died early today in an automobile accident on Napier near the intersection of Eight Mile in Lyon Township.

Dead are Marvin Newstead, 25, of 3155 Beaumont, Highland Township; Joanne Woods, 18, of 5091 Eastview, In dependence Township; and J. Wesley Smith, 58, of 1999 Alpha, West Bloomfield Township.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said the fourth victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford Memorial Hospital in Farmington this morning but she was as yet unidentified.

White Lake Township police said the scooter met as each came over a rise in the road.

VEHICLES HIT

Joanne Woods was killed yesterday on US27 south of Grayling when a bull dozer collided with the car which she was riding in.

John Drabik, 20, of 6334 Andersonville, Waterford Township, driver of the car, was not seriously injured.

DIES AT HOSPITAL

4 Area Villages Holding Primary Elections Today

Primary elections are being held today in four area villages — Holly, Lake Orion, Milford and Romeo.

Lake Orion has the largest field of candidates, with 21 persons seeking nomination for several vacancies.

In Holly, 16 hopefuls are out after seven offices, Romeo, with nine vacancies, also has 16 primary candidates.

The two council vacancies in Milford have attracted eight primary candidates.

DASH TO BATTLE — U.S. Marines in battle array dash across the flight deck of the USS Valley Forge to helicopters that will take them to a battle area about 35 miles south of Da Nang in South Viet Nam in phase two of "Operation Double Eagle."

One assault battalion flew from the carrier last weekend to join other Marine battalions moving against the Viet Cong in the area. (See story, page A-2.)

On Wage Demands

Labor Leaders Will Grill Wirtz

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is due for a grilling by the nation's top labor leaders on President Johnson's efforts to hold down wage demands which the White House considers inflationary.

AFL-CIO officials, who have long denounced White House wage guidelines, reportedly will charge that the Johnson administration used a racial discrimination suit in an effort to pressure high-wage construction unions into moderating pay increases.

Wirtz, who has had no known preliminary talks here about growing labor complaints against Johnson, told a newsman he would talk about anything the AFL-CIO Executive Council wants to bring up.

Wirtz appears today before the opening session of the council, the policy-making body of the politically potent labor federation which has more than 13 million members in 129 affiliated unions.

Wirtz said his closed-door discussions with the 29-member Executive Council will be informal.

MINIMUM WAGE

AFL-CIO President George Meany and other council members also will discuss with Wirtz their demands for an increase in the federal minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.40 this year, $1.60 next year, and $1.75 in 1968. This is one subject on which the labor leaders fear Wirtz agrees with them.

Federation officials fear Johnson may follow the recommendations of his Council of Economic Advisors for raises to $1.40 this year and $1.70 in 1970, which AFL-CIO sources said would kick off a major war between labor and the Johnson administration.

The toughest questioning Wirtz will face is the construction unions' charge that a federal civil rights suit filed against several building trades unions in St. Louis was part of a move to force them into a formula proposed by Wirtz to limit wage increases.

The presidents of 18 construction unions finally rejected it last week.

DOSE OF ARSENIC

"I do not believe in writing a prescription for the ills of South Viet Nam that includes a dose of arsenic," Humphrey said. Slicking to analogies, he said further that Kennedy's suggestion would be like having an arsonist in the fire department.

Ky, queried about Kennedy's suggestion in Saigon, snapped: "The so-called National Liberation Front does not liberate anybody. They killed 11,000 of our troops last year and 22,000 of the innocent people in the countryside. They murdered them."

Humphrey, Ky Rap Bobby on Coalition View

Say Allowing Reds in Saigon Regime Would Be a Mistake

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam have assailed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's view that the Viet Cong should be offered a share of power in the Saigon government.

They said Kennedy's proposals that the United States express willingness to accept a coalition South Vietnamese government which would include Communists would not be an acceptable solution, would not lead to peace and — if adopted — could impose on the people of South Viet Nam the very forces trying to destroy them.

Humphrey said history has demonstrated that when Fascists or Communists are included in a coalition government, there is either paralysis or takeover.

Speaking to newsmen at Wellington, New Zealand, during one of his many stops on a tour of Southeast Asia and the Pacific, the vice president said to adopt Kennedy's proposals would be like putting a fox in a chicken coop.

There would be too many chiefs left, he said.

A gradual warming trend is the forecast for tonight and tomorrow in the Pontiac area, after a weekend of biting three-below zero mercury readings.

Scattered snow flurries are possible today and early this evening. The low tonight will be from 10 to 17 degrees. Tomorrow's high should average 25 to 32.

West to northwest winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour today will diminish to eight to 15 miles tonight.

Partly cloudy and warmer is Wednesday's outlook.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 7. At 1 p.m. the mercury stood at 20 degrees.

Famed Commander of WW II Fleet Dies

SAFETY (AP) — The late James V. Forrestal, while secretary of the Navy, once asked his chief of naval operations whether an officer convicted by a court-martial ever had risen to flag rank.

"You're looking at one," replied Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded the most powerful fleet in history during World War II.

As a young officer, the soft-spoken Texan had indeed been found guilty and reprimanded by a Navy court — for running a destroyer aground in Manila Bay.

The admiral, who died yesterday at 80, commanded a thousand ships and two million men during the battles leading to the surrender of Japan. He was the last of the five-star admirals.

Despite holding awesome power, the admiral disliked pomp. On his 75th birthday the Navy staged a big party for him and he remarked:

"Am I looking forward to this? I'm looking forward to the end of it. I feel the same about it as the man who bought himself a small boat: His two happiest days were when he bought it and when he sold it."

2 WORLD WARS

Nimitz, whose career at sea spanned two world wars and the birth of the atomic age, died of what a Navy spokesman called "complications following a stroke" suffered Jan. 3.

With him at his home on Verba Buena Island Naval Base in San Francisco Bay were his wife, Catherine, one of his daughters and a grandson.

Burial will be Thursday in Golden Gate National Cemetery just south of San Francisco.

Rabbi Adler Sinks Into Deeper Coma

DETROIT (UPI) — Rabbi Morris Adler, 59, was shot during a Bar Mitzvah service Feb. 12 before a congregation of nearly 1,000. His assailant, Richard Wisnietzky, 23, then shot himself in the head. Wisnietzky died Wednesday.

'65 News Highlights in Book

The year 1965 was a wonderful year, an astonishing year and in many ways a frightening year. Wars, riots and natural catastrophes were balanced by brilliant space achievements, advancements in medicine and individual acts of heroism.

The Associated Press was present at all these events and kept a faithful chronicle in words and pictures that is available to the public in book form, "The World in 1965."

The volume is the second annual in a continuing series and this edition has 238 pages crammed with photos and articles with 36 pages in full color.

This valuable research tool and memorabilia is available for your bookshelf by sending the attached form with $3 for each volume requested.

the bargaining table. To "admit, them to a share of power and responsibility," the New York Democrat said, "is at the heart of a negotiated settlement."

FRIEND DISAGREES

McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Johnson for security affairs and an old Kennedy family friend, disagreed.

Appearing yesterday on a radio-television program, Bundy said he did not want to comment directly on the proposals, but then added:

"I can say that the administration does not take the view that admitting the Communists to a share of the power and responsibility would be a useful or helpful step — one that would really lead to peace."

"I think our view is rather that what is needed is a sufficient degree of peace in that country and of absence of subversion and terror so there can be reasonable expression of the political feeling of the people in Viet Nam."

MOVE FAVORED

"We are in favor of that. We are prepared to abide by the result."

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball described the Kennedy proposal as "not a thoroughly new idea." He added that it "doesn't seem to us to be an acceptable solution."

In other top developments:

— Newsweek magazine reported that President Johnson has issued secret orders forbidding U.S. bombers to fly over the northern half of North Viet Nam.

The new restraint "represents a severe tightening of restrictions on U.S. pilots compared with those which were in effect before the bombing pause began last Christmas," the magazine said in its current Feb. 28 issue. There was no immediate comment from the White House.

— Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Arizona, urged the elimination of target restrictions in North Viet Nam which he said were making the bombings largely ineffective. U.S. pilots, Symington said, should be permitted to bomb power plants, oil stores, docks and the like.

— Red China accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of threatening the Vietnamese and Chinese people with "a big war" during his testimony Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

STOPPED SHORT

The New China News Agency said the Chinese would fight if the war is extended to the China mainland, but stopped short of saying Chinese troops would be sent to fight in the Vietnamese war.

— Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., called today for a show-down in Congress to determine if it supports the President's conduct of the Viet Nam war.

Jackson said the Senate ought to accept the suggestion made to Russ Friday that "if there is any doubt" whether it backs the President's course, it should vote on the issue.

Guard Crew Fires Live Shell Into School

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — An "inert" shell fired by a guard crew accidentally fired a live antitank shell while practicing "aiming" in a neighborhood school ground yesterday.

The projectile ripped through an empty classroom at the school, tore a gaping hole in a garage and lodged in a church a few feet from a room where the pastor was meeting with 11 women.

Only one person was injured, Diane Besenhofer, 16, suffered facial cuts from window glass shattered by the backblast from the 106-millimeter cannon.

The gun crew from Company C, 3rd Battalion of the guard's 158th Infantry was practicing "dry firing" on the grounds of Capitol School in West Phoenix. The weapon was mounted on a jeep.

Second Lt. Donald Kersey, in charge of the crew, said the shell was taken from a bag of shells.

Several residents in the area reported plaster was cracked and windows broken by the backblast from the cannon. Fred Besenhofer, father of the injured girl, said he was in another room when he heard the guardsmen.

JEFFREY TEAMOR

Renewal Aide Named for City

A 45-year-old urban renewal rehabilitation specialist has been appointed Pontiac's assistant urban renewal director.

Jeffrey Teamor, 21369 Bethlawn, Royal Oak Township, succeeds George H. Wilhelm, who resigned last month to join the staff of the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity.

Teamor assumes his duties immediately at an annual salary of $8,385.

He joined the city's urban renewal staff in February 1964.

He had been housing director, public housing director and urban renewal director of Royal Oak Township from 1959-63.

DETROIT NATIVE

A 1951 graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology, Teamor is a native of Detroit. He worked as a planner with Giffels, Vallette, & Rossetti of Detroit, in 1957-58.

Teamor has worked as a rehabilitation specialist while with the City of Pontiac. He is married and has two children.

Jet Bomber, 2 Copters Lost

U. S. Ship Bombed Communist Position

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American and South Vietnamese troops moved on two fronts against a hard-core regiment of 900 to 1,000 Viet Cong today after the guerrillas rained mortar shells on U.S. Marine and Vietnamese positions during the night.

In the air, the United States lost a jet bomber and two helicopters.

The U.S. 7th Fleet destroyer Orick joined the ground assault by blasting the coast of Quang Ngai Province with 200 rounds of five-inch shells, either wrecking or damaging more than 100 buildings in an area the Viet Cong have used for rest camps.

The air war continued in North and South Viet Nam.

BOMBERS HIT

Below the 17th Parallel frontier, Communist ground forces struck two B-57 Canberra tactical bombers flying tight support of South Vietnamese troops closing in on 40 to 50 Viet Cong in an open area.

One of the five American jets crashed with its rear fuel tank ablaze but the pilot and navigator were picked up and injured by an Army helicopter after bailing out. The other Canberra limped back to Da Nang, 45 miles south of Hue.

Two U.S. Army helicopters collided Sunday about 100 feet off the ground at Bien Hoa, 20 miles northeast of Saigon, killing five Americans. Twelve were injured, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots returned from missions over North Viet Nam Sunday with reports they hit bridges, roads, storage areas, two radar sites and some staging areas.

The U.S. Marines reactivated Operation Double Eagle, while the U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division continued with Operation White Wing to the west in an effort to trap the Communist regiment. The destroyer was called in to make a Viet Cong retreat to the coast as costly as possible.

In an offshoot of Operation White Wing, the 1st Cavalry reported it had killed 34 Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son, headquarters for the allied coalition campaign 300 miles north of Saigon. Since White Wing began, the cavalrymen report they have killed 1,072 Viet Cong, captured 246 and seized 202 weapons.

Previously, the commission had agreed to a review of Pontiac's traffic problems because of the unpredictable things that have occurred since 1957.

In other business, an agreement with Consumers Power Co. to purchase its facilities on Wessan for $520,000 is also slated for commission consideration.

The commission is meeting tonight instead of the regular Tuesday because tomorrow is a holiday.

TAX NOTES

Bids are to be presented tonight on the sale of $2 million in tax anticipation notes.

The loan notes will give the city money to finance day-to-day operations until tax receipts are received after July 1.

Before my departure I was told by authoritative sources that I would not be allowed to return.

"I hope that the public and the state authorities in the West who have given me so much sympathy and support throughout these years will grant me asylum now that I am an exile from my motherland."

"Although I am not a young man I hope one day to return as a citizen to a free Russia."

SPECIAL DECREE

The special decree was issued by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, Tass added. It did not give the date.

Citizens Unit Compiles Bond Issue Information

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The citizens committee which was organized to inform the public about the impending school bond election this spring has been hard at work the past three weeks.

The bond issue, an $11 million building program proposal, was officially placed on a special April 4 school ballot earlier this month.

At the same time, a citizens committee was formed, headed by PTO Council president Daniel C. DeGraff, Jr., to arrange for board of education members and school administrators to speak to groups in the community.

The committee has developed a series of slides concerning classrooms and school growth, to be shown at various schools in the district by committee members.

In addition to slides, many brochures on the building program and the election itself have been prepared and will soon be available to the public.

PRECINCTS

Eugene L. Johnson, schools superintendent, announced the district will be divided into seven precincts for the election.

The election will be held April 4 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at seven district schools.

The schools are Bloomfield Hills Junior High School, Vaughan Elementary School, Wing Lake Elementary School, Hickory Grove Elementary School and Pine Lake Elementary School.

Johnson said the last day of registration for the election is March 7. Absentee voter ballots are now being prepared and will be available at his office about March 18.

A graduate of Southern Illinois Normal University and the Detroit College of Law, Whitlock has been an assistant corporation counsel for the county since 1962.

He is a member of the Oakland County and State Bar Associations.

During World War II Whitlock served for more than three years in the Army Air Force. He married and has three children.

He said that the experience he gained during his many years of practice in Probate Court will be "invaluable" in carrying out the duties of a probate judge.

Sponsored by the legislative committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, the 8 a.m. breakfast meeting will be held at the Pontiac Elks Temple.

Four state Chamber of Commerce officials will discuss proposed legislation affecting the business community.

The speakers will include Harry R. Hall, state chamber president; Ralph W. Consey, state director; William A. Wickham, the chamber's general and legislative counsel; and Donald A. Booth, manager of the state chamber's public affairs department.

Engene Russell, district manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., is chairman of the local chamber's legislative committee.

Anti-Red Official

Ousted by Sukarno

SINGAPORE (AP)—President Sukarno ousted the armed forces chief, Abdul Haris Nasution, as Indonesia's defense minister today, Radio Jakarta reported.

It was Nasution who led the Indonesian army in crushing the Communist uprising last October. His 5-year-old daughter was one of the casualties of the coup attempt, shot by rebels.

He is known as an implacable foe of communism, long having kept Communists out of Indonesia's Cabinet.

Tarsis said he had a married daughter and a 3-month-old granddaughter in the U.S.S.R., "but I don't think anything will happen to them because they live separately from me and relatives aren't persecuted any more like they were in Stalin's time."

TWO CONVICTED

Two other Soviet writers were convicted Feb. 14 of smuggling anti-Soviet writings to the West under pen names. Andrei D. Sinayev was sentenced to seven years at hard labor and Yuli M. Daniel was given five years at hard labor.

FICTITIOUS ACCOUNT

It was a fictional account based on his own eight months in such a hospital. It pictured the only sane persons in the Soviet Union as those locked up in asylums.

Tarsis has contended that Soviet authorities threw him into the mental hospital for criticizing the government.

The action reported today by Tass and the Communist party Pravda indicated that Tarsis could not return to the Soviet Union.

Candidate Seeking Third Probate Post

A member of the Oakland County legal staff, Hayward Whitlock, announced today that he will be a candidate for the newly created third probate judge post in the fall election.

Whitlock, 48, of 496 S. Squirrel, Pontiac Township has practiced law in Pontiac for the last 16 years, and is a former special assistant city attorney for the City of Pontiac.

A graduate of Southern Illinois Normal University and the Detroit College of Law, Whitlock has been an assistant corporation counsel for the county since 1962.

He is a member of the Oakland County and State Bar Associations.

Ky said the special court would be empowered to deal with any corruption, graft of speculation involving more than $50,000 proceeds or $665. Ordinary legal procedures against courts "take too long and this court will act in a matter of days when a case arises," he said.

He said the larger dose of American aid would not mean an abandonment of the austerity policy he promised when he took over nine months ago as leader of a faction of "Young Turk" military chiefs.

Of the U.S. aid, Ky said: "We cannot afford to waste it. An opportunity like this comes seldom. Austerity does not mean the poor will get poorer but it does mean the rich will share the burden."

Key Rice Bowl Protected

Allies Crimp Cong Supply System

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Big U.S. and allied military operations are beginning to crimp the Viet Cong supply system for the first time.

The most notable success came during Operation Van Buren, which threw nearly a division of American, Korean and Vietnamese troops into the Tuy Hoa rice bowl. Their job was to make certain the fertile coastal valley's 48,000 tons of storehouse instead of Viet Cong caches.

In the past, large Viet Cong units moved into the 200-square-mile valley during the harvest and controlled more than half of it. Now, for the first time in several years, Phu Yen Province will export rice instead of importing it.

U.S. military officials said this year three regiments — two Viet Cong and one of North Vietnamese regulars — began converging on the valley 230 miles northeast of Saigon just before the harvest began a month ago.

CLEAR OF ENEMY

The American 101st Airborne Brigade, the Korean marine brigade and two battalions of government troops swept the valley clear of the enemy. By the official count more than 500 Communist troops were killed. "If any army marches on its stomach, old Charlie is in the hurt locker," a U.S. adviser in Phu Yen Province said. Charlie is an American nickname for the Viet Cong.

"The Viet Cong supply system is too good to strangle with what we have now, but taking that much rice away means real trouble for the Viet Cong high command in the government to cause the police serious political trouble if a real crackdown went into effect overnight, competent sources say."

U.S. Marines near Da Nang and U.S. and government troops operating in Binh Thuan Province carried out smaller operations earlier this year, bringing in nearly 10,000 tons of rice.

RICE CACHES

U.S. troops operating north of Saigon have run into hundreds of Viet Cong rice caches, big and small. Hundreds of tons of rice were destroyed or brought back and placed under government control.

Last year, the national police seized nearly 3,000 tons of rice at checkpoints set up to control the flow of goods from government to Viet Cong areas. They are doing even better this year.

Although Viet Nam has been fighting a civil war for years, there is no food rationing and no control over the sale of such key items as medicine and light machinery which can be used in Viet Cong arms factories.

Anyone can buy penicillin without a prescription on the open market. Huge quantities have found their way to Viet Cong jungle hospitals.

STRATEGIC GOODS

The first tentative effort at resources control did not come until October 1964 when the national police were ordered to stop the flow of strategic goods into Viet Cong hands.

At the time there were only about 20,000 police in the country. They were still suffering from bad morale and lost reputation from the days of ex-President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Today the police are 54,000 strong and their ranks are expected to swell to 72,000 by the end of the year. A major share of the new men will be thrown into the resources control program. This type of program aided the British in crushing a Communist guerrilla uprising in Malaya.

The effectiveness of the police has increased in past months, and apparently the Viet Cong are worried. They have increased attacks on police posts and checkpoints, some on the outskirts of Saigon.

rice are gathered yearly by the Viet Cong in the lush Mekong Delta. This is shipped to Cambodia, moved northward along the border and then brought back into Viet Nam for Communist base camps.

Another problem is that over the years many influential businessmen have built up a flourishing trade in goods that wind up in Communist areas. These men have enough influence in the government to cause the police serious political trouble if a real crackdown went into effect overnight, competent sources say.

The police efforts have begun to take hold, however. Once the Viet Cong shipped penicillin by the truckload from Saigon. Now it is smuggled out points.

Police lack control over military activities, and this hinders some of their efforts. The Viet Cong easily can obtain government troop uniforms and vehicles. Disguised in these, the guerrillas have been able to sneak large amounts of strategic goods through police checkpoints.

It Seems to Me....

Pontiac Downtown Renewal Moves Ahead to Big Things

Pontiac's downtown urban renewal activities end a long but understandable period of silence. Big things are moving. Nothing final has been announced but the indications suggest an overall picture that is definitely greater than anyone could have possibly anticipated or dreamed.

Over the past two years, not less than eight different plans of various sizes and designs have been under consideration by the City Commission for rebuilding the center of Pontiac. During most of this period, the Commission has been under pledges of silence. Each organization wanted to investigate unhampered. And this is merely par for the course. The plan now envisioned is far and away bigger than anything yet proposed. The Taubman people were contacted by interested downtown individuals last summer and when they unfolded the breadth and scope of their outline, everyone concerned was breathless. The Taubman company not only proposed to take over every single foot available, but even declared it needed more to fulfill the complete dimensions of their magnificent picture.

However, they insisted on absolute secrecy and made plain that otherwise they would have to abandon the plan, for their development was so huge it required months of figuring on blueprints, maps, diagrams, rights, determination of foot and vehicular traffic and other things too numerous to mention that fit into the general scheme.

The Taubman company has not signed an agreement even now, but the plans are sufficiently advanced to warrant a reasonable disclosure of intent and hopes. The Press congratulates the Commission and property owners on holding the interest and attention of this major plan by providing information as rapidly as humanly possible, and revealing nothing. Further, they took time during these months to consider and review additional plans while the Taubman concept was in the process.

Hours and hours of mathematics and additional negotiations are still pending. But the future looks brighter than it has at any time since the first shovelful of dirt was loosened at the very beginning. The entire community can take a special pride in the fact that the Taubman organization is headed by a man who once was a local resident and attended school here.

Worth Complimenting...

Possibly you have never heard of HANS SCHAFFNER, but he was just "elected to office." In fact, he's the President—of Switzerland. There was no rioting. No loud voices were raised. Surrounded by France, Germany, Austria and Italy, these people kept out of World War I and II. They owe U.S.—nothing. They are one of the few peoples in the whole world that have never had a penny of our $100 billion foreign aid. They haven't had a treasury deficit in 13 years. What a country! What a record! Let's take off our hats.

Political Turnabout...

Here's an interesting factor in the current political scene. Listed are the fortunes (in millions) of leading political figures today:

Rockefeller	 325
A. Harriman	 350
Bobby Kennedy	 50
Teddy Kennedy	 50
L. B. Johnson	 15
W. Scranton	 8

Eight of the ten are Democrats who used to accuse the GOP of standing as the party of wealth and riches. Don't forget that phrase: "This Changing World."

And in Conclusion...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter: JANEY LYNN, 12 years old, is a serious threat for the U.S. Olympic figure skating team in '68. She won the junior ladies' title and all of her opponents were over fifteen. She finished with a triple Salchow, the only one in the contest. (P. S. JANET took her teddy bear to the meet—the only one of those seen, also.) The President objects to changing the words of that song to: "Deep In the Heart of Taxes."

reduced the pigeon population 100,000 by introducing contraceptive pills with regular feeding. London is using ammonia on Trafalgar Square Windows. The junk mail gets junkier. We receive three and four duplicates of these pests time after time after time. A movement is afoot to jack up the third class privilege and cut down the $700 million postal loss per year.

The greatest college basketball player of the year is CAZZIE RUSSELL of Michigan; the greatest freshman prospect is UCLA's ALCINDOR and the outstanding high schooler is RICK MOUNT of Lebanon, Indiana. Who's Responsible For High Prices?

David Lawrence Says:

Life of GM's Sloan Is a Lesson

WASHINGTON—In the realm of communism—whether in the Soviet Union or Red China or in other parts of the world—the constant cry is that capitalism is selfish and inhuman and that social welfare can be achieved in each country only by giving arbitrary power to a small group of men. But today the people of the Communist world could learn a lesson if they read the obituaries being printed about the life of Alfred P. Sloan Jr., who died last Thursday at the age of 90.

LAWRENCE

For here was a man who amassed a fortune of more than $300 million, but gave virtually all of it away for the cause of human welfare.

There have been others like Mr. Sloan in American history, but the stories of their altruism are too often lost in the maze of other happenings in a busy world.

Mr. Sloan was one of the ablest businessmen this country has produced. Men engaged in "big business" are sometimes pictured as heartless or as materialistic to the extreme.

It may come as a surprise to many of the younger generation who lean toward the Communist philosophy to discover that there are far more philanthropists among the successful businessmen of America than there are selfish human beings.

Mr. Sloan's case is a significant example of how money is made and how it can be spent.

GM BUILDER It was his genius in building up General Motors to one of the largest businesses in the world that made it possible not only for him, but for others who invested in that enterprise, to earn large sums as the stock of that company appreciated steadily in value over the years.

1937 Mr. Sloan founded the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, with an initial grant of $10 million to help studies in science and economics and broadened later to aid in medical care and research, particularly in cancer. He said at the time he gave away the $10 million:

Private contributions for charitable programs of various kinds in the United States totaled $18.6 billion in 1964. The large givers in every city are usually businessmen.

Many of Mr. Sloan's associates, for instance, have followed his example and have donated much of their earnings to philanthropic projects.

Mr. Sloan's life emphasizes the great advantages of the American system of individual freedom, as contrasted with the oppressive and truly selfish system of communism by which a few men achieve power and impose their will on hundreds of millions of their countrymen.

There are many unsung heroes in the commercial world, but the impact of their "redistribution of wealth" has certainly been felt in America by universities and colleges, churches, hospitals and other institutions supported by philanthropy.

To Establish Culture!

The News From Israel

The Middle East may be an area of tension between Israel and the Arab world. Nevertheless Arab-Jewish meeting places exist in Israel where ways are sought to achieve social and cultural co-existence, friendly communication and mutual respect between Arabs and Jews.

One such establishment is Beit Hagefen in the heart of Haifa, Israel's major Mediterranean port. A bulletin board announces the opening of courses in Hebrew, Arabic, drama, music, painting, judo, ceramics and modern dance; social get-togethers; discussions. In every corner, boys and girls are engaged in animated conversation. A trio composed of a Druze soldier, a Jewish girl and a young Muslim Arab

Voice of the People:

Readers' Opinions Differ on Selection of Winners

I enjoyed the art show at the Mall, and some of the paintings were exquisite. Was I horrified when I saw who had won top honors. This conglomeration of blue and purple paint looked as though someone had thrown it on the canvas. The only other time I ever saw such a mess in my three-year-old grandson spilled two cans of paint on the floor and smeared it all over the place. (He got spanked.)

It's not too many years ago that artists tried to capture on canvas a landscape, still life, or whatever, the way God had created it, and I thank God some still do.

Where do those judges come from?
574 W. Huron MRS. EDNA TORREY

A change is needed in the art shows. The judges have been 100 per cent biased in favor of modern art for many years. This causes many of the good artists to quit showing. As the Pontiac Mail Art Show brought out again, the public does not vote for the choices of the judges. And it is the public that buys art.

Being an art show judge is a most difficult assignment. It is a universal rule of art shows that copies of paintings are not eligible for awards. At the Mall show were a great many beautiful done paintings which I recognized as copies. A judge cannot be familiar with all of the original works in existence. In self-defense he passes by many very well done paintings.

In some areas of this country the visiting public votes for the winners. They could well vote for copies without being aware of it. This would not be a desirable situation. In some southern states the committee separates the modern art from the rest and are hung in a separate area, preferably another room. This seems to work out quite well.

Reply to Letter on Drag Racing Association

In answer to the "Drag Race for Five Years," the Drag Racing Association folded because it takes a lot of cooperation to establish it. A very few actually worked and the rest of the members sat back and waited. If we had had the cooperation of all instead of the ten or twelve perhaps Pontiac would have a drag strip.

Many ask "What happened to the sports car that was to be given away?" Also, how about the money from the tickets and membership fees? The car was repossessed because the club could not meet the note as many did not turn in money they had collected. The money collected made a substantial down payment which was not refunded. Money was also used up for expenses and other things. Receipts and books account for just about everything and nobody absconded with any funds. There was nothing left to steal.

Advertisers are allowed so much time per hour and are limited as to the number of times they can break in by the Federal Communications Commission and vary with types of programs. Content is determined by the sponsor, a advertiser is given frequency and broadcast code. Letters to the sponsor will probably bring quickest results.

Can broadcasting laws correct the length and number of commercials? They're getting more frequent and ridiculous.

Mother, Now Is the Time for Backbone

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
 DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:
 My 4½-year-old boy is very stubhim with while I go shopping, I have to take him with me. The problem is he wants something in every store we go into. Even in a drugstore he runs to a candy rack and won't leave until

 I buy him some.

It is no use to explain that he has candy, toys, pencils, cake
 or other things at home. He doesn't listen but just says over and over, "Buy it for me, buy it
 for me."

ANSWER: He doesn't want all this stuff he asks for. What he wants to is know how much power he has to make you give it to him.

8,000-Mile Superhighway in Sahara Eyed

ALGIERS (AP) — The camel, survival equipment have been historic desert cruiser, may venturing across the Sahara for some time. The trip is hazardous and uneconomical for large-scale freight movement.

An asphalt highway exists from Algiers to the oil fields around Hassi Messaoud, a distance of 500 miles. Beyond that, an ill-defined track winds for 1,500 miles across the virtually uninhabited, sand-blown wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt span from the Mediterranean coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

Trucks with special tires and communications scheme trucks and passenger vehicles would use the road every year. The cost of freight movements from Algiers to the Niger would be cut by more than half and the time for the trip reduced by 80 per cent.

SAHARA FIELDS

Oil companies exploiting the Sahara fields are particularly interested. They envisage huge tanker trucks that would carry petroleum to the Niger River to be used to supply large parts of West Africa. For the return journey, collapsible tanks would be folded on the trucks to carry a wide strip of desert on both tropical products back to North Africa.

Technical difficulties remain to be overcome. Foremost is how to prevent the road being buried under wind-blown sand. One suggested solution: dredge up a wide strip of desert on both sides with nonburning oil which mixes with the sand to form a windproof surface.

It is estimated that 25,000

Soviet Sleepers Get English

MOSCOW (AP) — Partial success in a mass experiment with teaching English to sleeping students is reported from the Soviet scientific city of Dubna.

The program of giving lessons just before students went to sleep and repeating them while they slept was especially effective for those who had never studied foreign languages.

But some students failed to finish the course and others began to lag in memorizing after the first 10 or 15 nights.

These results were given by the youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda.

LIGHT MUSIC:

Students had to be in bed by 10:30 p.m. Light music was played until 10:45 and then a five-minute lesson began. It gave 25 or 30 new words and expressions to learn.

The students sat in bed, following the words from a lesson book and repeating them. The lesson was repeated three times. Then at 11 p.m. lights had to be turned out.

The lesson was repeated in softer tones until midnight. At 6:15 a.m., it began again and was repeated until 6:55. At 7 a.m., students were awakened and at 7:30 they took a new lesson to fix in their minds the overnight vocabulary and related grammar.

SERIOUSNESS

The 364-lesson program taught Vladimir P. Zukhar, who ran the experiment, said some students 'confidently' answered questions in English, but some were not serious enough.

They had failed to realize "that the experiment would require a very serious attitude, that knowledge of the language would not come by itself and that much work would be needed," Zukhar said.

The report said results were checked on 135 men.

Ailing Hearts Kill Couple

SOUTH WHITLEY, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Earl Shaffer, 65, went out to the barn to call her husband to supper and found him dead of a heart attack.

The distraught woman hurried back to the house to telephone for help but died before she could make the call.

Police said Shaffer, 73, and his wife were both victims of heart ailments.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — She has a vivid memory of the date: March 19, 1959. "I believe it was about 10 o'clock in the morning," she adds.

That was the time at which Diane Varsi walked out on one of the most promising acting careers in recent Hollywood history.

She has returned briefly to the town for which she has no fondness; she appeared last week in a two-part "Dr. Kildare" drama at MGM. As soon as she finished, she hurried back to her home in Brooklyn.

The Diane Varsi saga has long puzzled the movie town. In two short years she starred in four films, won an Academy nomination and critical acclaim, then vanished from Hollywood in search of an acting career.

She had dropped out of high school in San Mateo, Calif. After working as a model and restaurant hostess, she hitchhiked to Hollywood in search of an acting career.

Producer Jerry Wald recognized in her the evanescent quality he was seeking for the role of Althea McKenzie in "Peyton Place." Under Mark Robson's sensitive direction, she created a wondrous portrait of Allison and received Academy recognition. While appearing as Gary Cooper's daughter in "10 North Frederick," she suffered a nervous collapse. Then she announced she was leaving her contract with 20th Century-Fox to live in Bennington, Vt.

Why did she leave?

"I can't tell you," she says today. "I could, if it only concerned myself. But it concerned other people as well, and that is why I can't talk about it."

Her co-workers at Fox recall her as a frightened, birdlike girl who was bewildered by her sudden success. They say she was also disillusioned by the way certain studio officials treated her, and she vowed never to return to acting until her seven-year contract ended. It is now terminated.

WITHDRAWN

She is now 28, tall and willowy, with brown hair extending to her waist. She remains withdrawn, although those who witnessed her "Dr. Kildare" performance report it was emotion-charged.

Where has she been in the past seven years?

"In San Francisco mostly, but also in Vermont and the state of Washington," she remarked. "And now Brooklyn. I went to New York last spring to make a picture there and in Philadelphia with Dick Gregory and Don Murray. I had a place in the city, but now I want to work, so I'm living in Brooklyn. No particular reason."

COUPLE OF PLAYS

Besides the film, she performed in a couple of plays in San Francisco, "but nothing anyone would have heard about." During her absence, Miss Varsi married artist Michael Hausman, by whom she has a daughter. The marriage is now reported at an end. She has a son by a previous marriage.

Will she return to Hollywood? "If I have to," she sighed. "I want to act now, and I'll go anywhere, even Hollywood."

Youth Opportunity Unit

Due Flint, Dixie City
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced today approval of new Youth Opportunity Centers for Flint, Mich., and Greenville, S.C.

The centers, with staffs of 16 at Flint and 12 at Greenville, will seek to help youths, ages 16 to 21 inclusive, prepare for training, employment, and find jobs. The youths will receive counseling and testing, with emphasis on getting them into youth and Job Corps.

Needs a Doctor

New Hospital Gathers Dust

CELINA, Tenn. (AP) — A brand-new $300,000 hospital, gathering dust since last November, is awaiting any qualified doctor who wants to settle in this upper Cumberland community. Clay County's only physician, Dr. Champ E. Clark of Celina, has a heavy caseload and doesn't want to operate the 40-bed hospital. Officials say they have conducted an unsuccessful search for another doctor.

In neighboring Byrdstown, Tenn., a similar situation exists. Pickett County's 4,400 inhabitants have been without a doctor for five years.

Pickett officials have offered to build a $75,000 to $100,000 clinic and provide office space and living quarters free for six months to any physician willing to come to the county.

NO INVESTMENT

"We've done everything we can think of to get a doctor here, short of kidnapping one," said on Byrdstown resident. "The doctor, when he comes, needs a capital investment of exactly zero. He can hitchhike into town and leave a million."

Patients in either county need to travel at least 20 miles. To consult a specialist, they must go to Nashville — more than 100 miles away.

New Mexico Dem Sticks to His Boots

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Speaker Bruce King of New Mexico's House of Representatives is going to stick by his boots. In fact, a number of his supporters seem to prefer it. King is Democratic candidate for governor.

King said he had received a considerable amount of mail from New Mexicans asking him not to try to change his cowboy image.

About a month ago he had said that he would stop wearing boots and attend a charm school if a sufficient number of his supporters found his rough edges objectionable.

"The West was built by men wearing boots. Wear your boots," was the comment from a Raton woman.

France to End Ties to NATO

De Gaulle Reveals Gradual Pullout Plan

PARIS (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle announced today he will pull France out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "progressively" by April 1966.

But he told a news conference this would not mean abandoning the Atlantic Alliance too.

"Without going back on her membership of the Atlantic pact," he said, "France will continue to modify the dispositions now in practice, in so far as they concern her."

MORE POWER—Boasting peppy engines this year, GMC Truck & Coach Division wheel-drive trucks are ideal for sand, mud or off-road conditions where rugged terrain demands chassis strength and engine power.

GMC offers four-wheel drive, truck station wagons, and cab and chassis units.

Three refined V6 engines—bailing from the same family of V6 gasoline engines that GMC pioneered especially for trucks six years ago—are offered in the division's three big lines of four-wheel-drive trucks.
