Plan 'Truth Serum' for Confessed Killer

Handyman, 34, Admits Slaying JoAnn Gillespie

Detroit Officers Report Discrepancies in Story of 1953 Rape-Murder

DETROIT (UP) — Police said today they would ask doctors to give "truth serum" to a former grave digger who says he raped and killed 18-year-old Jo Ann Gillespie while she was walking home from a mid-night movie more than two years ago.

Although police noted several discrepancies in the confession of Richard Ballingall, Inspector Edward Reilly described him as the "best suspect in over 3,000 we have questioned in the case."

Ballingall, 34, was picked up for questioning in the death of his common-law wife and confessed to the Gillespie slaying last night. Then he led detectives to within several feet of the spot where Jo Ann's ravished body was found Jan. 3, 1953.

Jo Ann, a junior college student who had considered becoming a nun, was strangled while walking home from the movie "Appointment With Danger." She had just parted company with a girl friend.

Jo Ann's body was found between two houses just 11 doors from her home in a once-fashionable East Side district. She was sprawled on her back, her head in a pool of blood. Bloody fingerprints were streaked across her throat and most of her clothing had been torn away.

Ballingall, now a handyman in a beer and wine store, said in his confession he followed Jo Ann and her companion and set upon Jo Ann shortly after the two girls separated.

Ballingall said he began striking Jo Ann with a dish she had won at the movie when she tried to break away from him. Police said overhauls the suspect claimed he was wearing at the time matched footprints found at the scene of the crime.

Detectives noted however, that Ballingall was the 16th person to "confess" the slaying. They said they hoped "truth serum" and lie detector tests would confirm or break down his story.

RICHARD BALLINGALL

Detroit police are questioning Richard Ballingall, 34, in the slaying two years ago of Jo Ann Gillespie, 18. Despite a reported confession, questioning continues because of discrepancies found in his account.

Dems Planning July Convention

Laws in Three States Prevent Later Meeting to Pick 1956 Candidates

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Democrats today set July 23 as the date for their 1956 convention to open in Chicago unless some states change their laws meantime to permit a later opening date.

National Chairman Paul M. Butler announced that a study of state election statutes showed it would be impractical to hold up the convention until Aug. 13, as tentatively planned earlier. Some states, he explained, require certification of the presidential candidates anywhere from 70 to 90 days before election day.

The national committee said states which would have to change their laws to make an Aug. 13 convention date practical include Massachusetts, South Dakota and Connecticut.

Butler said reaction to the idea of a late convention date and a shorter campaign had been favorable and that he was suggesting to Democratic leaders that they study the possibility of changes in state laws which stand as a barrier to this.

Butler also announced that members of the Democratic National Committee in a mail poll had formally approved Chicago as the site of the 1956 convention.

Plane Search Shifts to Sea West of Rome

Fear All 28 Aboard Missing Airliner Dead on Brussels-Africa Hop

ROME (UP) — Search for a missing Belgian Sabena Airliner with 29 persons swung from the snow-covered mountains north of Rome today to the storm-tossed sea off Civitavecchia, further west.

Almost 24 hours had passed without a clue to the fate of the DC6 that vanished Sunday into a fog. The ship then was only 16 minutes flying time north of Rome while en route from Brussels to the Belgian Congo.

Hope was virtually abandoned for the 21 passengers—14 Belgians, four Americans, two French, and 19-year-old Marcella Mariani, unlucky Miss Italy of 1953—and the crew of seven Belgians and a Briton.

Through most of a day of steady snowfall, hundreds of carabinieri and more than 1,000 villagers and farmers scoured the wooded mountains 27 miles north of Rome after two farmers told police they saw the plane "falling in flames" last night.

Most efforts turned back to the sea off the old Roman port of Civitavecchia when a helicopter crew reported seeing "what looked like a pretty big oil smear" 10 miles offshore.

Sabena's Rome manager, Alfred Blum, said, "I believe the plane must have fallen into the sea. I fear there are no survivors."

The four-engine aircraft had fuel to keep it in the air only three hours after its last report.

The airline identified the four Americans aboard as Paul Leroy, Lake Hiawatha, N. J., a geologist for the Bear Creek Mining Co.; Robert Singer, Brooklyn, an engineer for the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.; E. J. Suter, 48, who lives near Brussels and Mrs. G. Guerrieri, 27, of Rome, Miss Mariani's secretary.

Dutch Prince Arrives in New York on Visit

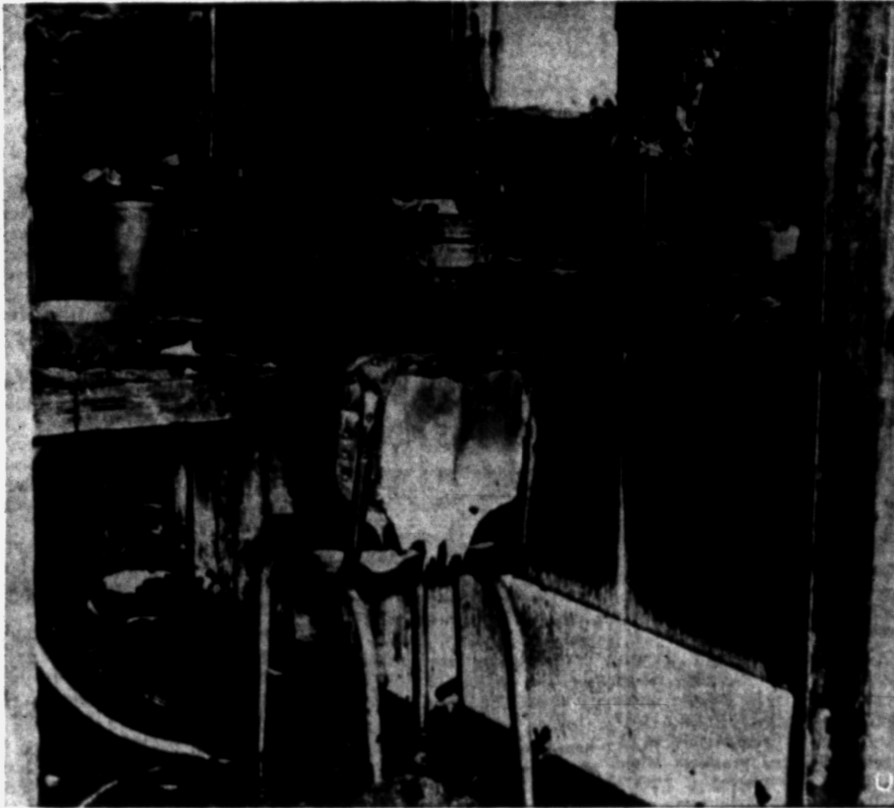

NEW YORK (UP) — Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands arrived by plane today from Amsterdam for an unofficial five-day visit.

Aides said the Prince, husband of Queen Juliana, is arranging a conference on social and economic problems of the Western democracies. The conference is to be held in a European city.

Phenix Trial Starts Today

2 Ex-Vice Bosses Are Charged With Murder of Elected Official

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP) — With their own lives in the balance, two former Phenix City bosses face trial today for the murder of a crusading crime fighter whose death smashed the once-mighty racketeering empire there.

Arch Ferrell, 37-year-old former circuit solicitor, and Albert Fuller, 35, a colorful ex-chief deputy sheriff, are charged with first-degree murder in the June 18 shooting of A. L. Patterson, Democratic nominee for state attorney general.

Murder in Alabama is punishable by death in the electric chair.

There were last-minute indications that Ferrell's attorneys might have abandoned plans to ask for continuance of his trial. No such request has yet been made. They had said they probably would seek a delay because of the absence of a third defendant, former Alabama Atty. Gen. St. Garrett.

The former state official, who would have yielded his office to Patterson last month if he lived, is undergoing mental treatment in a Galveston, Tex., hospital. No date has been set for his trial. Garrett was in Birmingham the night Patterson was slain 160 miles away, but the state alleges he took part in a murder conspiracy. Ferrell has said he was talking long-distance with Garrett at the time of the killing.

In Alabama, accessories are considered equally guilty with the person who actually does the killing. The state has never disclosed which defendant it accuses of firing the murder weapon.

Three-Inch Snowfall Halts Winter's Worst Cold Wave

Although the winter's worst cold wave was on the run today, Pontiac-area residents awoke this morning to find a fresh 3-inch blanket of snow which snarled rush-hour traffic and brought out emergency road crews.

Two dozen accidents in which six persons were injured were attributed to snow-slick roads by area law enforcement agencies.

The forecast was for cloudy skies with light snow or freezing drizzle ending this afternoon. Slightly warmer temperatures and fair skies were seen for tomorrow by the weather bureau.

Slippery road conditions were reported throughout the county as of 11 a.m. despite efforts by Oakland County Road Commission salt trucks and snow plows.

Four Pontiac DPW trucks, which worked through the night to clear thoroughfares, were joined later this morning by three more trucks and snow-clearing road graders as the snowfall increased.

Like most of the country, Pontiac enjoyed warmer temperatures today as the center of the winter's most severe frigid blast moved over the Atlantic coast.

Two-thirds of the nation reported by the cold wave reported readings in the 20s and 30s. Less than 48 hours ago temperatures had been below zero.

Today's snow, which covered most of Michigan, fell on top of three inches which accumulated late last week.

Temperatures yesterday ranged from a low of 5 to a high of 22. At 8 a.m. today, the thermometer in downtown Pontiac stood at 17, rising to 30 by 2 p.m.

Pontiac Man Killed in Coldwater Crash

Neely Cagle, 54, of 117 Lafayette St., was killed today and his wife and a nephew injured in the crash of his car and a tractor-trailer truck on U.S. 27, eight miles south of Coldwater.

His wife, Eura Mae, 50, and his nephew, Raymond Cagle, 11, were treated at a hospital and released.

Cagle's car skidded on the snow-slick highway when he attempted to stop for a car turning ahead of him. It collided with the truck, driven by Roy E. Akers, of Kokomo, Ind. Akers was unhurt.

Mrs. Briggs Dies in Florida

2nd Heart Attack Fatal to Widow of Michigan Industrialist-Sportsman

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. Walter O. Briggs, widow of the Detroit industrialist sportsman, died yesterday of a heart attack at Miami Beach, Fla. She was 72.

Mrs. Briggs was wintering at her Florida home when she suffered the attack. She died at St. Francis Hospital.

With her when she died were a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Fisher.

Her only son, Walter O. Jr., president of the Detroit Baseball Club, was preparing to leave Washington, D. C. to visit his mother when he learned of her death. He and his wife returned to Detroit.

A spokesman for the family said Mrs. Briggs suffered an earlier heart attack Dec. 29, three weeks after leaving her Detroit home for Florida.

The body was returned to Detroit today.

Service will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Blessed Sacrament Cathedral.

Mrs. Briggs' husband was chairman of the board of Briggs Manufacturing Co. He died Jan. 7, 1952, at the age of 74.

Mrs. Briggs was born Jane Elizabeth Cameron Oct. 30, 1882, at Muskoka, Ont. She was married Nov. 22, 1904.

The couple had one son and four daughters.

Mrs. Briggs was active in civic and church activities. She was a member of the Garden Club of America, Detroit Club and the Women's City Club.

Surviving, besides her son, and Mrs. Fisher, are three other daughters, Mrs. W. Dean Robinson, Mrs. C. T. Fisher Jr., and Mrs. Philip A. Hart, wife of Philip Hart, lieutenant governor of Michigan.

Also surviving are 24 grandchildren and a brother, Raymond Cameron, of Detroit.

New Hoover Study Urges Reforms in Civil Service

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Hoover Commission recommended last night that all government jobs carrying the responsibility of making or defending administration policies should be filled by political appointees.

And it urged that Congress create a new "senior civil service" of career administrators who would be "politically neutral" and who would survive a shift in White House control.

Other suggestions were for some revision of "the peculiar rights of veterans" in holding federal jobs and for salary boosts in high-level jobs.

The commission of seven Republicans and five Democrats headed by former President Herbert Hoover, in a report on "personnel and civil service," ignored a recommendation by its task force on personnel for an investigation of the government's loyalty-security program.

Mother Injured in Vain Attempt to Rescue Tots

Linda Reed, 3, Brother Ronald, 2, Are Killed; Cause Unknown

Two young children burned to death in their Pontiac Township home today despite efforts by their mother to rescue them.

The bodies of Linda Lee Reed, 3½, and her brother Ronald, 2, were found in the ruins of the home at 1529 Vinewood after firemen extinguished the blaze.

The mother, Mrs. Myrtle Reed, 24, was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with first and second degree burns covering her body. Her condition was reported as fair.

She was unable to give an account to authorities. The father, Carl, 24, was at work at Pontiac Motor Division at the time.

This is the second tragedy that has struck the family within a year. Last May, an infant son, Kenneth, suffocated in his sleep.

Mrs. Robert Kayga, 1564 Vinewood, who lives across from the Reed house said she heard Mrs. Reed screaming about 9:00 a. m.

I looked across and saw flames coming out the windows," she said. "She was screaming for someone to help get the children from the house."

"I called the fire department right away and then ran outside."

"Mrs. Reed was outside by the time I got there. She said she had jumped through a window. She was all cut up and burned."

Mrs. Kayga's sister-in-law, Mrs. C. L. Kayga, 1205 Collier Rd., said Mrs. Reed told her the children ran into the parents' bedroom and the flames jumped up between her and the children.

"She said she tried to reach them but the flames sprang up and burned her badly. Then she said she jumped out a window to get help."

Ernest Lucier, 30, of 1530 Vinewood, a next door neighbor of the Reeds, and another unidentified man also attempted a rescue, but were repelled by the flames which were spurring from all the windows (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Ike Avoids Picking City for Convention

WASHINGTON (INS) — Republican leaders talked over the choice of a 1956 convention site with President Eisenhower today and said that Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco are still in the running.

Eisenhower declined to express a personal preference in the matter, telling the party chieftains he thought the selection of the convention city should be left up to the Republican National Committee meeting here Thursday.

He again indicated, however, that the would like to have the convention held as late as possible, to shorten the length of the campaign.

Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall said there was no discussion at this morning's conference on whether Eisenhower will be the GOP candidate in 1956.

Snow Fails to Hide Significance of Feb. 14

HEARTS ARE TRUMP—Blustery weather, with additional snow makes today just another ordinary, winter day for many folk. But for the young in heart the real significance of the day cannot be hidden under a little or much snow. It's St. Valentine's Day, of course, and above Jackie Kroeplin, of 174 Chamberlin Dr., traces the symbol of the day in the snow covering a parked car.

Nixon Reported Promising Aid

Vice President Confers With Guatemala Head; More U. S. Help Hinted

GUATEMALA (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon was reported today to have promised Guatemala a $100 million loan to help it build a new republic on its feet after 10 years of pro-Communist government.

Nixon conferred more than an hour last night with President Carlos Castillo Armas, whose volunteer army toppled the Red-influenced regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman last June. Later the two dined together.

A Guatemalan source said Nixon had given the President "most encouraging assurances" that Washington would speed up its aid program to Guatemala.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) declared last fall that the U. S. Foreign Operations Administration apparently "has been dragging its feet" in aiding Guatemala since the June revolution.

An FOA spokesman denied the charge, saying his organization had increased its technical assistance programs for Guatemala "almost 1,000 per cent since last June."

Last month Guatemala and the FOA signed an agreement to give the Latin-American republic some six million dollars in aid.

Guatemalan newspapers hailed the vice president's visit as a great success. La Prensa Libre said the results would be "of tremendous importance."

The paper announced it was sponsoring a "Richard Nixon scholarship" for a ragged little boy, 12-year-old Rodolfo Gonzalez, who was photographed as he greeted the vice president while the latter was placing a wreath on Independence Monument.

After a dinner for Castillo Armas at the American Embassy tonight, Nixon and his party fly southeast to neighboring El Salvador.

Lecture Speaker Is Diver, Artist

Undersea Films Feature Kiwanis Series Here Tuesday at 8 P. M.

Lucie Palmer is an artist who, when she has the urge to paint, dons bathing suit, and 80-pound diving helmet and weighted sneakers to go undersea, where she paints realistic pictures on ordinary kitchen towels.

The diver-artist will show the films, "Coral Kingdom," and "Gold in Them Thar Hills," Tuesday, in the fifth of the Kiwanis Lecture series at Pontiac High School.

She compares two worlds in her oil paintings and color films made while painting above and below the sea.

Mrs. Palmer will show in an hour of filmed adventure, beginning at 8 p. m., the coral fairyland where her models are angelfish, seahorses, sharks and cowfish. She'll also tell tales of sunken and buried treasures which sent her on a quest leading over land and undersea.

Michigan State Starting Second Century Today

EAST LANSING (UP)—Michigan State College started its second century today after a huge weekend party celebrating its 100th birthday.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of the teaching university which began as a tiny agricultural college, said the school must continue the work it started in 1855: Providing college education for the farmer and the working man.

But MSC and the nation's colleges must bring their courses of study up to date to fit the needs of the times, he told a banquet audience Saturday night.

"We must give our students a rounded education, combining both culture and science to produce effective citizens," he said.

Colleges and universities must accept at least partial blame for the tendency of Americans to "place too much importance on material possessions and depend too much upon science to solve all the problems of the world," he said.

He called upon the devotees of the liberal arts tradition and the leaders of the practical sciences movement to "compose their differences once and for all, each conceding that the other has something good to offer, and that education cannot be complete without both."

Godfrey Said Ready for Second Operation

BOSTON (INS)—Television star Arthur Godfrey may enter a Boston hospital soon for a second operation on his injured hip for which he underwent surgery at Massachusetts General Hospital in 1952.

The Boston American reported today that Godfrey plans to be off the air for about five months for the second operation. The TV star was not available today for comment on the report as he is on a week's vacation from his radio and TV programs.

3rd Man Asked to Form Cabinet

Christian Pineau Tries to Organize Government as Pflimlin Fails

PARIS (INS)—French President Rene Coty asked Christian Pineau today to try to form a new government and the Socialist deputy conferred for nearly an hour with ousted Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

Pineau was asked after Pierre Pflimlin, the second political leader to make the attempt, informed Coty early today that he was unable to obtain support for a cabinet.

After talking with radical Socialist (moderate) Mendes-France, Pineau said he was in "complete agreement" with the former premier who stressed the need of quickly restoring France "to the international position she lost, to a certain degree, following National Assembly elections" in voting for the accords to rearm West Germany.

Pineau said he wanted to form a government which would "not disappoint the public following the hopes raised by Mendes-France."

The Mendes-France government collapsed Feb. 5 in a non-confidence vote on his North African policy.

Pineau agreed to hold preliminary talks with leaders of the parties in the National Assembly to sound out their attitude.

His first step was to consult with members of his own party. Later he probably will meet with Pflimlin and former Premier Antoine Pinay, the first man to try to end the cabinet crisis.

Political observers believed last week that Pflimlin, a popular Republican, had a good chance to form France's 21st government since the end of the German occupation. But late last night the radicals refused to take part in the proposed cabinet and early today he abandoned the attempt.

Civil Service Jobs Would Be Revised

ter's report also was referred to Congress.

This was the first of perhaps a score of reports on various phases of the federal government which the commission, created in 1952, plans to submit to Congress by May 31. Unlike the predecessor Hoover Commission, this one has authority to propose policy as well as organizational changes.

Its recommendations can be carried out through legislation or through presidential reorganization plans which are subject to veto by Congress.

The commission's report said that government workers generally are "competent, faithful and in numerous specialties distinguished."

Proposing creation of a "senior civil service" and the filling of policy-making positions with political appointees, the commission said there could then be drawn between these groups a line of "clear division of labor" which it declared does not now exist.

The commission suggested a review of the conflict-of-interest laws, such as the requirement that a corporation officer give up his stockholdings when he enters government. The report said ways might be found "to encourage rather than discourage entry of competent men into public life."

Among the other recommendations: greater use of merit raises for federal workers; geographical variations in pay designed to bring federal workers in line with the prevailing wage in their areas; eliminating political clearance for marshals and field employees of the Customs Bureau and the Mint; bringing under civil service U. S. 32,000 rural mail carriers.

Romanian Asks Asylum for Himself and Wife

COPENHAGEN (INS)—A young Romanian legionary employee today asked Danish authorities for asylum from communism for himself and his wife and charged that his wife was being forcibly detained inside the legion in Copenhagen.

Danish detectives set up a watch outside the legion after hearing the story of 25-year-old Ion Cimpu who said he defected because they could "no longer endure" the conditions under which they lived.

Dulles Planning Visit to Canada for Talks

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State Dulles will visit Ottawa March 17 for three days of talks with Canadian government leaders. The State Department announcement today said only that Dulles would be the guest of Canada's Gen. Gen. Vincent Massey, and stay at Government House. Details of the trip will be announced later.

This will be Dulles' first official visit to Canada. The department said he will go in response to "an invitation." It did not say when the invitation was issued.

A group of Canadian leaders, headed by External Affairs Secretary Lester B. Pearson, visited here last month to talk with Dulles and other leaders about Canadian trade views and other economic questions.

Pythian Chief Slated to Address City Lodge

Pontiac Lodge No. 19, Knights of Pythias, will play host to Carl W. Huhn, grand chancellor of Michigan, and Detroit Lodge No. 11 at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the local lodge hall, 184 W. Huron St.

Representatives of Oxford Lodge No. 108 and Fellowship No. 277 will be present to hear Huhn's address. A buffet lunch and entertainment are also scheduled.

Funeral Rite Tuesday for Former Merchant

Funeral service for Michael A. Bauer, 80, 51 Parkhurst St., will be Tuesday at 10 a. m. from St. Vincent de Paul Church.

He died Saturday at his home after a three year illness. The son of John and Elizabeth Riddle Bauer, he was born in Germany and attended schools there.

A resident of Pontiac for 60 years, he came here from Detroit and married Mary Kallenbach in Pontiac Jan. 22, 1908. A merchant tailor on Saginaw St., he was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church, Holy Name Society, charter member of Knights of Columbus, and St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Surviving besides his widow is a son, Dr. Edward G. Bauer of Pontiac.

Parish rosary will be recited at his home at 8:30 tonight, with Knights of Columbus reciting a rosary at 9 p. m. Burial will be in Mount Hope Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are by Brace-Smith Funeral Home.

Tommy D. Francis

Service for Tommy David Francis, 2-month-old son of Thomas D. and Bonnie Lou Mellemoen Francis, 40 1/2 Dwight St., will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery. The Rev. Paul Havens of First Methodist Church will officiate.

Survived by his parents, Tommy died Saturday after a brief illness.

Boy Confesses Role in Shooting to Dad

DETROIT (INS)—The mystery of who wounded a woman shopper in a parking lot last week ended today.

A father marched his 11-year-old son into a police station and announced the boy and a 9-year-old friend were responsible.

Detective Lt. Harold Brownfield said the father told him the 11-year-old had confessed he and his friend stole a .22 caliber pistol in a store beside the parking lot and were playing with it when it was discharged accidentally.

Miss Lyle Heikkinen was struck in the right thigh. She is recovering.

Ignores 100th Birthday

HOBART, Ind. (INS)—John Gruel ignored his birthday today—his 100th—because he hates "all that fussing." But he gave his wife a "big smooch" because today is also St. Valentine's Day.

Ziem to Ask Clarification of Holiday Court Statutes

Changes in the state law will be proposed by Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem to clarify powers of a justice court on holidays.

The move resulted from questions raised by Springfield Township Justice Emmet J. Leib over a law which in some cases might require a person to spend two days in jail which wouldn't count on his sentence.

The law states that a justice court cannot convene on a legal holiday except to instruct a jury or receive a verdict.

"If a person is arrested on a holiday, we apparently must wait until the following day to bring him into court to plead or make bond. He would have to remain in jail," Ziem explained.

If the holiday falls on a Saturday, the person would have to remain in jail until the following Monday, he added, because the holiday restrictions also apply on Sundays.

A seemingly contradictory law states the accused must be arraigned in court "forthwith," Leib noted.

"In many cases where a minimum sentence is to be imposed no allowance can be made for time spent in jail awaiting arraignment," the justice pointed out.

Ziem said he will ask Oakland County's State Senator William S. Bloomfield (R-Royal Oak) to introduce a bill allowing justices to arraign, set bond, accept pleas and sentence on legal holidays.

"If these changes were made, a person would have opportunity to go free on bond or plead guilty and begin serving his sentence immediately," the prosecutor explained.

Traffic Deaths Fall Off Sharply

State Weekend Safer Than Usual With Only 11 Auto Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The traffic toll fell sharply in Michigan during the weekend after a record high death total of 21 a week ago.

Only 11 traffic deaths were reported. Low for the year is seven during New Year's.

In addition to the highway toll, an elderly Detroit woman burned to death in her home and a youngster died in Kalamazoo after falling into a tank of wood preservative at a lumber yard.

Arthur Mumby, 19, of Howard City was killed Sunday in a car-train collision at a railroad crossing near his Montcalm County home. Witnesses said Mumby's car apparently stalled on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

Carl F. Van Wagner, 27, of Ada was burned to death when his car burst into flames after crashing into a concrete abutment on a county road near Grand Rapids.

Gary Tabin, 14-year-old Detroit high school basketball player, died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night when he fell under the wheels of a truck while crossing a ramp on the Edsel Ford expressway.

Orville Watson, 51, of Detroit was injured fatally Friday night when hit by a car while crossing a Detroit street.

Horace Webster, 61, of Detroit was killed Friday night in a two-car collision in Highland Park.

Mrs. Mary Downey, 78, of Detroit was found dead Saturday after a fire swept her home, where she lived alone.

Robert Cooper, 3, of Kalamazoo died Saturday after he fell into a wood preserving tank at a Kalamazoo lumber company. Fire department rescue men said the boy apparently died of internal burns caused by swallowing and inhaling the preserving fluid.

He had accompanied his father, Fred H., to the lumber company to make a purchase. The boy wandered off while the father was being waited on, and fell into the 3-foot-deep vat.

Billy C. Kinsey, 31, of Detroit was injured fatally Saturday when his car skidded and hit a tree in Grosse Pointe Shores.

Barbara Benthins, 30, of Kalamazoo was killed Sunday when a car driven by her husband, Gerald, skidded off M43 and hit a utility pole in Kalamazoo County.

Ivan Tymchenko, 36, of Jackson was injured fatally Sunday night when the car he was driving skidded off a rural road and overturned in Washtenaw County.

Gerard J. Van Spronsen Sr., 46, of Greenville was killed Saturday in a two-car collision on M91 in Montcalm County.

Wallace McNeil, 19, of Millington was found dead today in a wrecked car near his Tuscola County home. McNeil's car hit a steel bridge railing, and smashed into a tree at the end of the bridge near Millington.

Mrs. Amelia Remland, 64, of Benton Harbor, choked to death Sunday on a bite of roast beef that lodged in her throat.

Hugh D. Morey, 61, of Flint died today of injuries suffered in a head-on automobile collision on M21 in Flint Saturday.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission to Discuss Sewers for School Area

BIRMINGHAM — Following up last week's joint meeting with the Board of Education, the City Commission tonight again will discuss the question of providing storm and sanitary sewer facilities for the new junior high school and an area to the north.

The new school building will be constructed on the east side of Adams road south of Derby, in Troy Township.

Also up for commission approval is a resolution authorizing fire protection for both the new school and Pembroke School, which are in Troy Township but in Birmingham's school district.

Lawmakers will receive the resignation of their fellow commissioner, Robert E. Navin, who is moving out of state.

Paving and other services for the area bounded by U. S. 10, Webster, Worth and the alley north of Webster will be considered.

Distribution of state aid to schools will be taken up at unit meetings of the League of Women Voters this month, with the program prepared by the league's state taxation committee.

Meeting times and places are: Unit III, 1 p. m. tomorrow, Franklin Community Church; Unit IV, 8 p. m. tomorrow, Mrs. Robert Stacey, Pine Hill drive Wednesday meetings, Unit I, 10 a. m., Mrs. Paul Bowers, Buckingham road and Unit V, 8 p. m., Mrs. Frank M. Allen, Maryland boulevard.

Unit VI will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday with Mrs. Charles Howell, Merritt Lane.

It's a Valentine's party for the Stewardship Class of First Baptist Church and it starts at 8 tonight. Rev. Emil Kuntz will give devotions with the program handled by the Lawrence Tangemans, the Kenneth Killbuck and the Cornell Stangers.

Audio-visual methods of teaching foreign languages will be discussed by Prof. G. P. Borglum of Wayne University, at a meeting of the Walnut Lake School PTA at 8 tonight.

Commission to Discuss Sewers for School Area

BIRMINGHAM — Following up last week's joint meeting with the Board of Education, the City Commission tonight again will discuss the question of providing storm and sanitary sewer facilities for the new junior high school and an area to the north.

The new school building will be constructed on the east side of Adams road south of Derby, in Troy Township.

Also up for commission approval is a resolution authorizing fire protection for both the new school and Pembroke School, which are in Troy Township but in Birmingham's school district.

Lawmakers will receive the resignation of their fellow commissioner, Robert E. Navin, who is moving out of state.

Paving and other services for the area bounded by U. S. 10, Webster, Worth and the alley north of Webster will be considered.

Mrs. Charles J. Shain has returned from a joint meeting of United States and Canadian Chambers of Commerce held in Washington, D. C. and also the annual meeting of the Chicago Foreign Affairs group.

She will report on both at tomorrow's 10 a. m. meeting of the Ruth Shain Class in International Affairs, at the Community House.

"Mental Hygiene in Child Development" will be the topic of Dr. Clark Moustakas at a meeting at 8 tonight of the Franklin School PTA. He is a play therapist.

Nearly Million Late After Subway Fails

NEW YORK (UP)—Nearly three-quarters of a million persons were late to work today after a succession of generator blow-outs on one Brooklyn subway line.

The BMT lines were shut down and in the dark from 5:34 a. m. to 6:30 a. m. Partial power was restored at that time, but operations remained at a crawl until full power was restored at 7:15 a. m.

By then crowds were spilling into the streets in front of subway stations and tens of thousands of Brooklyn residents were making their way to unfamiliar alternate routes to work, crowding already filled cars on two other subway lines.

The transit authority said about one-third of the line's 2,000,000 morning riders were affected by the delays. Schedules were back to near-normal by 9 a. m., with trains running only about five minutes late.

The shutdown was caused when a generator blew out in a power house throwing its load to seven other generators which were unable to carry the additional power and also failed.

Schenley Charged in Antitrust Suit

WASHINGTON (INS)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today filed an antitrust suit against Schenley Industries Inc., charging it made illegal acquisitions of stock in Park & Tilford Distillers Corp.

The civil action against Schenley, one of the "Big Four" in the whisky business, was brought in the Federal District Court at Wilmington, Del.

It asks for court orders requiring Schenley to divest itself of the Park & Tilford stock, and requests the court meanwhile enjoin Schenley from voting the stock "or in any way attempting to exercise control" of Park & Tilford.

Check Passing Crackdown Told

Prosecutor Announces Get-Tough Policy on Writers

A stiffer policy toward bad check passers was announced today by Oakland County Prosecutor Fredrick C. Ziem.

"From now on, once we have issued a warrant, restitution will not be grounds for getting the warrant dismissed," he stated.

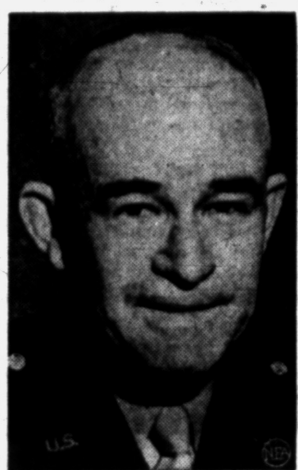

The prosecutors have had to take action on an average five illegal checks per day over the past few weeks, according to Chief Investigator Robert C. Miller.

"When a person has written a check with no bank account to back it up, we have been allowing time for them to make restitution," said Miller.

"That practice has become too time consuming and interferes with more important matters. The prosecutor's office can't act as a collections agency for bad checks."

"Now, in every case where the facts sanction it, a warrant will be issued and the person prosecuted."

Miller warned that merchants cash checks at their own risk. "We cannot and will not collect for them."

Reservists Reveal Enlisted Openings

Eight openings, some of them available to enlisted men, have been announced by Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 307th Ordnance Battalion, U. S. Army Reserve.

Any man over 18 years of age with a military or civilian background that would qualify him for the positions, may contact the unit advisor at 37 E. Lawrence St., FE 5-0111; or by calling FE 4-8106 or Midwest 6-0489.

Those interested in training for the job may also discuss the possibility of the unit's next meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Lawrence street address.

The list of vacancies and the rank each position carries includes military personnel and supply. Both these jobs can be filled by enlisted men and bear a rank of warrant officer.

Others are: communications chief or cook, both sergeant; clerk typist or personnel administrative clerk, corporal; and fire control inspector or ordnance parts specialist, sergeant first class.

Just Passing Through

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Roosevelt Dillard, 26, told police a woman came in the back door of his home, deposited a baby about 7 months old in the bedroom with a sack of diapers and a nursing bottle and ran out the front door.

Dillard said he had never seen her before. The baby was taken to a nursing home.

The collapsible metal tube such as is now used for toothpaste was invented in 1841.

Split in Vote of Big Studios Favoring Bing and Judy

HOLLYWOOD — An all-important factor — a split in the big studio vote — today made Oscar favorites of Bing Crosby, Judy Garland and the picture "The Country Girl."

The nominations were witnessed Saturday night throughout the nation over NBC-TV, which will telecast the Academy Award finals March 30.

Prior to the nominations, Crosby, the tipsy, has-been actor of "The Country Girl," and Marlon Brando, the punchy pug of "On the Waterfront," were rated neck-and-neck favorites.

But the nominations presented Brando solid opposition from within his own studio, Humphrey Bogart, Capt. Queeg of "The Caine Mutiny," also was nominated. Both "Waterfront" and "Caine" are Columbia pictures.

That gives Crosby a slight edge in the top actor classification because he is Paramount's only entry. Apparently the studio is behind him to a man, which would explain the surprise absence of William Holden from the nominees. Holden costarred with Crosby in "Country Girl."

The other top actor nominees are James Mason ("A Star Is Born") and Dan O'Herlihy ("The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe").

A split studio vote, which may help Bing, could also work against Grace Kelly for the same picture. Audrey Hepburn, nominated for "Sabrina," is also a Paramount entry. Miss Kelly and Miss Garland also have been neck-and-neck favorites. Other potent contenders are Jane Wyman ("The Magnificent Obsession") and Dorothy Dandridge ("Carmen Jones").

Miss Dandridge is the first Negro ever nominated for the top feminine Oscar.

"The Caine Mutiny" and "On the Waterfront" may split the Columbia vote for the best picture award. And again "Country Girl" is the only Paramount entry. The other two nominees are "Three Coins in a Fountain" and "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers."

Columbia probably will kill itself off in the supporting acting group with four of the five nominees. "Waterfront" has three of them — Rod Steiger, Lee J. Cobb and Karl Malden. Tom Tully, first skipper of the USS Caine, is another Columbia entry. This leaves clear sailing for Edmund O'Brien, a procuring press agent of "The Barefoot Contessa."

Katy Jurado, first Mexican-born actress ever nominated, is a slight favorite among supporting actresses. She played a Spencer

Driver Gives Railroad Trouble in Detroit

DETROIT — Looking for a quiet place to take a nap, Jessie Stevenson, 36, parked his car on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks and went to sleep.

When a railroad employee suggested he move the car, Stevenson said "okay." But instead of backing off the tracks, he drove forward 30 feet and rammed a caboose. Stevenson was cited for reckless driving.

14 Killed, 165 Hurt

MEXICO CITY — Fourteen persons were reported killed and about 165 injured yesterday at Hunucma, Yucatan, when a grandstand collapsed during a bullfight in the town square.

Canadian Film Gets Oscar Nomination

HOLLYWOOD — "The Stratford Adventure," a Canadian film of the Shakespearean festival in Stratford, Ontario, has been nominated for an Oscar, filmdom's highest award.

The 40-minute feature was nominated, along with Walt Disney's

"The Vanishing Pair," for the best documentary feature of the year. The nomination was made Saturday and the award to the winner will be presented at the Hollywood Pantages Theater March 30.

The film depicts the festival on the Avon River in Stratford. Last year was the second year the festival had been held. The film was made by the National Film Board of Canada, a government agency.

Reds Rally in Dresden

BERLIN — An "anti-imperialist" rally was held in Dresden yesterday to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the giant World War II air raid on that city. East German Premier Otto Grotewohl, the chief speaker, said the raid had no military purpose but was staged to put a roadblock in the path of the Soviet army.

Soviets, Red Chinese Observe Date of Pact

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio broadcast an exchange of greetings between Soviet and Red Chinese leaders yesterday hailing the fifth anniversary of the 30-year mutual aid pact between the two countries. The Soviet telegram called the alliance signed Feb. 15, 1950, a "reliable defense of peace and international security." The message was signed by Klementi Y. Voroshilov, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

The message from the Red Chinese leaders was couched in similar terms, but blasted "aggressive circles of the United States and their followers."

In change there is opportunity

Medical research has helped double the gift of life

A baby born in the early days of America could be expected to live about 35 years. Today a baby can be expected to live about 70 years.

To medical research goes much of the credit for our opportunity to enjoy longer, healthier lives. Many diseases have been virtually eliminated in the United States.

And, in the past few years, we have seen great progress in the control of tuberculosis, pneumonia and other infectious diseases. New "wonder" drugs, new research tools—such as the electron microscope and radioactive tracers—and daring new surgical techniques are bringing tremendous advances.

There is still a growing need for more research in the diseases of middle and old age. The life insurance business is helping by taking an active part in the fight against the greatest killer of Americans today—heart disease.

Through the Life Insurance Medical Research Fund, the life insurance companies have contributed six million dollars in the last ten years for basic research on heart disease.

In addition, the life insurance business is making available to the medical profession a wealth of information about a wide variety of diseases. Based on life insurance records, these facts are providing important data to medical researchers throughout the world.

According to a distinguished medical scientist, "Never in the history of medicine has so much been changed so radically in 20 years."

Seek 2 Airmen in Wilderness

2 Others Rescued After Plane Explodes Over Saskatchewan

WINNIPEG, Man. (U.S. and Canadian planes scanned the frozen wastes of northern Saskatchewan today for two crewmen of a U.S. Stratojet bomber which crashed Saturday after exploding 35,000 feet up. Two others have been rescued.

The two survivors, Lt. Col. Kenneth G. McGrew, Yakima, Wash., and Capt. Lester E. Epton, Peareness, N.J., both 33, said they were hurled unconscious from the plane and came to while plummeting earthward. McGrew's parachute was opening as he revived and Epton pulled his ripcord at about 15,000 feet.

They were brought last night to the Canadian air force hospital here, where both were reported in "good condition" despite their ordeal in subzero temperature. Air force officials said Epton, who was marooned in the snow more than 30 hours, suffered frostbitten feet and severely bloodshot eyes.

Both will be flown back today to their Air Force base, March Field, Riverside, Calif.

McGrew, commander of the aircraft, and Epton were both spotted by RCAF rescue planes while about a mile and a half apart Saturday afternoon. Rescue teams were dropped about seven hours after the crash and a Canadian police ski plane picked up McGrew and flew him to The Pas, Man., late Saturday.

When darkness and a snowstorm halted operations, the rescuers set up a survival camp with Epton and spent the night in the bush. The temperature dropped to 15 degrees below zero. A plane picked Epton up yesterday.

Neither knew what had happened to the other two crew members—Maj. Robert R. Dowdy, 31, San Diego, Calif., and Capt. Thomas L. Pittman, 34, Fabens, Tex.

Florida Freeze Ending Today; Damage Slight

TAMPA, Fla. (U.S.)—A stinging two-day cold spell is breaking up over Florida after not doing as much damage as anticipated to the state's citrus and winter vegetable crops.

For the first time in three days most Floridians and winter visitors did not look for icicles this morning.

The break in temperatures began yesterday after thermometers got dangerously near the calamity stage for many orange and grapefruit growers.

Weatherman Warren O. Johnson said the break developed when a cold air mass striking southeastward at the heart of the central Florida citrus belt abruptly switched direction to the east.

No citrus was reported hurt yesterday and damage to vegetables was small.

Discovers Airtight Safe Not Safest Place to Be

SALT LAKE CITY (U.S.)—Water Department computer Willard Spence was in the safe at his office when the heavy door swung shut, slammed by a painter.

The secretary, who was supposed to have the combination, couldn't find it. She called a former employee who knew the combination. But he wasn't home. After more fumbling and fuming—20 minutes of it in all—the combination was found and the airtight safe opened.

"It was hot in there," said Spence as he walked out, red faced.

Electrocuted Flying Kite

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (U.S.)—Donny Dee Taylor, 12, was electrocuted yesterday when a kite he was flying with a long piece of thin wire apparently came in contact with a high-voltage wire.

Tallulah Known as 'Oola' to All Her Close Friends

By MARGARET LATROBE
This is about my friend Tallulah. What a gal! I've known her for years and here are the true facts, just the facts, ma'am.

Although she adores reading plays, she detests the footlights. Hasn't been to the theatre in years and calls mighty few actors "friends." As for producers—not a single free pass has she ever been given, so why should there be any love lost on them!

Directors—ugh! She hasn't spoken to one for as long as she can recall and that's well, Tallulah won't see 50 soon again.

Frankly, I would call her the quiet type. Not shy, certainly, for when the situation calls for batting around the verbiage, my friend Tallulah can make one adverb do the work of 10 descriptive adjectives. But essentially, this gal is not one to fall quickly into the ex-trovert classification.

She is an avid and expert cook. One whole room is full of newspaper clippings of unusual recipes, all carefully pasted in scrapbooks. When she isn't busy with the clamor of the public, she is right there over the hot stove whipping up a zucchini made with caraway seeds. Terrific!

And this may come as a side-light, showing the versatility of the southern belle—she enters contests. How can a busy woman with plays to read, countless demands on her time, still find a few quiet moments to ponder the prize-winning power of slogan, crossword or "Why I like Lily Bitty Buddy Sewing Machines—?"

Sometimes when she gets that faraway look in her eye I know she is trying to get the last line to a limerick which will bring yet another kind of fame and fortune. Oh well, they say that we can always find time for what we truly enjoy—and I guess it's true. Tallulah Falls, Georgia, was the inspiration for her haying been given the name. Her closest friends just call her "Oola." When she finishes her current play, she's going to pick up her little boy at school and take him for a tonsil checkup.

Huh? Who said anything about Bankhead? I'm talking about Tallulah Martin of Wilton, Conn. You didn't really think there was only one gal named Tallulah, surely? (Copyright, 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Want to Send Ike a Gift? Gorilla Would Be Perfect

By PHYLIS BATTLE
WASHINGTON (INS) — Ah, the U.S. presidents of today are not what they used to be, kiddies, and I don't say this in any sniping way. Just because Mr. Eisenhower seems too busy to see me, after I came all the way here from New York, you think I'm hurt?

But I have just returned from the National Zoo (where one can go and growl without being conspicuous) and it was there that I got the straight dope on presidents past and President, present.

"President Eisenhower has made a pretty fair start," said my informant, "but he's not in the same league with Cal Coolidge. Coolidge was the best, and I guess you'd have to say Teddy Roosevelt came next."

The speaker was white-haired, world-known, 68-year-old Dr. William Mann, director for three decades of National Zoological Park, the country's official animal kingdom. And what he referred to is our 20th century chiefs of state and how they stack up as zoo benefactors. In other words, who were the White House residents with the biggest pull in jungle circles?

Not even by innuendo did Dr. Mann suggest that President Ike is not doing his best. "He has presented us with a pair of Korean bears, which were a present from Syngman Rhee, and they were nice bears indeed," says the eminent zoologist.

"But some of our other presidents were well-known as great animal lovers or hunters, and of course they received fabulous gifts from all over the world."

It should be noted here that animals received by U.S. presidents are traditionally turned over to the National Zoo, after they have been properly admired (or in some cases shuddered over) by the boss and first lady.

"Coolidge, for instance, was known for his true affection for animals and he gave us some of our more spectacular gifts. He was well known, you know, for keeping a raccoon in the White House back yard," says Dr. Mann, nodding approval of Mr. Coolidge. "Among other things, he gave us a grizzly bear and our first pygmy hippopotamus, a great asset, which he called Gumdrops."

Always looking to keep his beasts comfy, Dr. Mann purchased a mate for Gumdrops, though it took a large chunk out of his meager $15,000 yearly new animal budget, and he was quite depressed when Gumdrops killed her first offspring. "But she turned into a better mother," smiles Dr. Mann. "And now, thanks largely to Mr. Coolidge, we have 16 hippos."

Teddy Roosevelt was a big game hunter so he gave several fine specimens to the zoo shortly after the turn of the century. In one shipment from the Emperor of Abyssinia, President Roosevelt got a pair of lions, some baboons, a zebra and an ostrich which lived 26 years, breaking all records for ostriches in captivity.

The zoo was not so fortunate during the long presidencies of Franklin D. Roosevelt. In spite of his renowned love for Fala, F.D.R. was not the recipient of many zoological specimens ("things were probably too hectic in those days," Dr. Mann concedes) and the gifts he did receive met with ill health.

"They were a serval—an African spotted cat—and a caracul. When they arrived they had been at sea 47 days." They couldn't stand the gaff and died shortly thereafter of a creeping paralysis.

And President Harry Truman? "Oh, Mr. Truman," says the doctor, "I believe he gave us an Australian albino kangaroo."

The elderly zoologist, who has been caring for his 800 animals and 175 acres of hilly zoological for 30 years, says he is not concerned about the downward trend in beast benefaction among presidents. "Good heavens, no," he says, "we have all the animals we really need."

But I happen to know that Dr. Mann is short a gorilla, and that is a mighty embarrassing predicament for a national zoo to be in. So if anyone wants to give a thoughtful gift to the President . . . Well, there's nothing like a gorilla for the man who has everything.

(Tomorrow: Miss Battle tells what it's like to rubberneck your way through the White House.)

To Train in Far East

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Army said today it will begin a new program of training Nationalist Chinese officers at certain Far Eastern installations rather than sending them to the United States. It's an economy measure.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

LIFE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON
His Early Childhood—1

Often called "The Father of our Country," George Washington was born February 22, 1732, at Bridges Creek, Va., the son of Augustine and Mary Ball Washington.

As a boy, George had a lot of fun. He had six brothers and three sisters. He learned to ride horseback, to row and sail, to hunt and swim. He was honest and brave. To show this, an old time author wrote a story about him that became very famous, although now we know it was just made up.

According to the story, young George used a shiny, new hatchet to cut down a cherry tree on the family estate. When his father asked him about it, George looked at him bravely and said:

"I can't tell a lie, Pa; I did it with my hatchet."

Augustine Washington was so pleased with his son's honesty that he did not punish him.

This drawing is the first of a week-long series on the life of George Washington. Color the drawings as you wish, paste them on a big sheet of paper or on paper folded like a notebook, and you will have your own picture story of our first President.

Panicky Airman Bails Out Right Through Ceiling

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—An Air Force radar observer ejected himself from a jet plane yesterday—right smack through the heavy plastic canopy.

Second Lt. Myron Farb, of St. Louis, Mo., suffered a broken leg. He explained from his hospital bed that he abandoned ship because he couldn't contact the pilot and feared something had happened to him.

"I thought this was it and I was going to get out, but fast," Farb said.

The pilot, Capt. John Meyer, didn't even know Farb was missing until he landed at Sioux Falls later and saw the hole in the canopy. Meyer said the craft's intercom system apparently had conked out for a moment while Farb was trying to contact him.

A clerk told the youngster not to interfere but the boy disregarded the plea and shouted to the robber, "You asked for it," firing point-blank at the gunman. He was still shooting as the robber ran out of the door.

Career Soldier on Trial Today

M. Sgt. Olson, in Army 20 Years, Is Charged With Collaboration

ET. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—A Ft. Bragg sergeant with 20 years Army service goes before a general court-martial here today, charged with collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner in Korea.

The Army has summoned 80 witnesses, most ex-prisoners of war, to testify in the trial of M. Sgt. William H. Olson, 40, a native of Youngville, Pa.

Olson was imprisoned in Korea for 33 months. During that time, the Army charged, he wrote a POW camp newspaper article urging prisoners to back a Chinese peace proposal in which he declared:

"Our hands are stained with blood, the blood of innocent people. I am ashamed of this. We were told by the capitalists and imperialists of our government that we were fighting to preserve peace in the Pacific. Instead we brought ruin, death and destruction to a peace-loving people."

The Army's statement of charges accused Olson of writing a surrender leaflet making statements derogatory to the United States, making pro-Communist recordings for rebroadcast, and informing enemy officials "against fellow POWs Sgt. Charles Dickerson, Chester Mathis, Charles Harrison and Albert Roberts of the U. S. Marine Corps."

Conviction on any one count could bring a maximum penalty of death.

Eagle Scout to Treasure Pocket Knife From Ike

VICKSBURG (AP)—Eagle Scout Lowell Gillem says he will keep as an exhibit the pocket knife President Eisenhower gave him.

The youth was given the knife when he and 11 other scouts representing the country's 12 regions met the President last week at White House ceremonies marking the 45th anniversary of scouting.

Blame Broken Axle in Train Derailment

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Railroad officials blamed a broken axle on a passenger car for the derailment yesterday of the Milwaukee Road's Pioneer Limited in which five passengers were slightly hurt.

The Chicago to Minneapolis train was traveling 85 miles an hour when 8 of the 12 cars left the rails five miles northwest of Waukegan. A dining car fire was quickly extinguished.

The 200 passengers, including the injured, resumed the trip in the four cars left.

Couple United in Jan. 29 Rite

First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer J. Asa, on Jan. 29 at 11:00 a.m. The bride is the former Shirley Ann Pilkinton, daughter of the Allen J. Pilkinton of East Hopkins avenue. He is the son of Mrs. Charles Asa of Dexter, Mo. The couple is residing on Murphy street.

Be Sure It's Clean

Don't treat a foreign object in the eye with either a dirty finger or a dirty handkerchief unless you wish to risk the possibility of infection.

Permanent Party Now on Way Out

Permanent parties used to be the horror of dormitories and large homes. A gang of girls would descend, each with her permanent kit. Because there was always one gal who was good at giving them, it was generally her room or home that was elected.

For an evening there would be ceaseless chatter, dunkings, complaints to the "operator" and comparisons when it was over.

And for three days, the talented permanent-giver would pay for her ability with a reeking smell that settled in the curtains, rugs and bedding. She sometimes had to exile herself until it went.

Perhaps a dorm mother or just a mother complained, for there is now an alternate kind of home permanent.

It's not as permanent as the still-popular early version, but it's more socially acceptable and best of all, a gal can give it to herself.

It's this easy, the way a leading manufacturer has produced the technique. Trim off permanent ends, then shampoo. Set your hair just as you always do, and no one can do it better than you. Then dip a wad of cotton into the waving lotion and saturate the damp pin curls.

Wait fifteen minutes, rinse with warm water and blot. Then let it dry while still up.

What you get is a nicely set look that lasts weeks, and weeks.

The Ivan K. Bahms of Hatchery road announce the engagement of their daughter, Sally Marie, to John Wickstrom, son of the Carl Wickstroms of Drayton Plains. She attends Michigan State College and he attends Highland Park Junior College.

Parish Has Card Party on Saturday

Annual Reports Are Heard at NCCW Meeting

The Guild of the St. Vincent de Paul Parish sponsored a card party Saturday evening in the Parish Hall.

Annual reports were given by Mrs. Delmo Chapdelaine, Mrs. Charles Phipps, Mrs. Marshall Sprague, Mrs. William B. Dean and Mrs. Clare Seery when members of the Rosary Altar Society of St. Vincent de Paul Church met recently at the Parish Hall.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Joseph Spadafore. Plans were made for a money making project to be held March 5 at the hall.

Following the meeting the National Council of Catholic Women read their annual reports, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Brady, newly elected president of the council. Margaret A. Conner and Mrs. W. J. Hinds reported on cancer pads made by the group.

Mrs. Arthur Crawford reported for the Big Sister Committee on monthly visits to the Oakland County Infirmary. Mrs. L. W. Humphreys spoke on spiritual development, Mrs. Chapdelaine on USO work and Mrs. Frank Zwicker on volunteer service.

Mrs. Harold Brady was elected as a delegate to the day convention to be held at Hotel Statler in Detroit.

Antique Show Dates Revealed

Guild 11 of All Saints Episcopal Church met Thursday in Rose Kneale room of Stevens Hall for a luncheon. Mrs. Clarence Smith was chairman for the event.

The date for the guild's annual antique show was announced by general chairman, Mrs. G. Stanley Warne. April 19-21 are the dates. Mrs. C. R. Gately is publicity chairman for the show.

Mrs. Frank Vydick and Mrs. N. E. Durocher are new members of the group.

Colonial Group Meets Friday

Mrs. William Knudsen was in charge of the luncheon held by Colonial Group of First Congregational Church Friday in the Illinois avenue home of Mrs. V. H. Hancock.

Assisting Mrs. Knudsen were Mrs. Robert B. Tarr, Mrs. George Waserberger, Mrs. Robert Armstrong and Mrs. L. F. Hine.

Mrs. P. J. Vieriech gave devotions and coming activities were discussed at the meeting opened by Mrs. Fred Voelker. Friendly service plans were announced.

Berean Fellowship Plans Banquet

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson were hosts in their Preston street home Friday evening for a meeting of Berean Fellowship Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

William Coffing led devotions. Plans were made for a father and son banquet to be held on March 25.

Serving on the program committee for the evening were the Omar McNutts and the Donald Norths. Group project chairmen for the year appointed at this meeting were Mr. and Mrs. George Marlen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tanner and the Walter Naperskys.

MARLENE MAYO

The engagement of their daughter, Marlene, to Albert Nosler is announced by her parents, the Felix Mayos of James street. He is the son of the Joseph Noslers of Danville, Ill. A May wedding is planned.

DONNA MENZ

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Menz of East Fairmont street announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna, and Richard Barcome. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Barcome of Auburn Heights. She was graduated from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital School of Nursing.

Council Explains Work

Members of the Willis School Council conducted a meeting for members of the Willis School PTA to observe, Thursday afternoon.

The Willis School Council was organized in 1951 and has members from kindergarten through the sixth grade with local boys' and girls' community clubs, school service clubs and the PTA represented.

The president is always a sixth grade child who served as vice president while in the fifth grade. This year the president is Ronnie

St. Amant; Diane Call is vice president and Dorothy Bishop was appointed secretary by the president.

Some current projects have been decided where to plant a small white pine tree to be given to the council by MSC as part of their centennial celebration this year.

The idea of flooding the playground was discarded when they considered the source of water supply and having so much playground taken up during unfavorable skating weather.

Members of Willis School favor has built up school spirit and given the children a real opportunity to participate in democratic living on their own level.

Mrs. Vida Walker, a sixth grade teacher, is the sponsor. Past presidents were honored and Boyd Braidwood spoke on organizing cub scouts.

There's A Way to Teach Children to Face Criticism Instead of Running

Here's How to Talk Dad Into Getting New Chair

It happens in so many families. Dad makes one chair his own and loves it too long.

It's so hard to talk him out of it, whether he fights or behaves as though you were a monster about to devour a martyr's dearest earthly possession.

Dull Sheen on Varnish Is Possible

By HUBBARD COBB

Every day hundreds of people set forth to refinish a piece of furniture with varnish.

They do everything up to and including the application of the varnish fine but when the final coat of varnish is dry they aren't too happy with the result.

The result is usually a very glossy finish containing some very obvious brush marks. Now, if you don't mind doing a little extra work, you can eliminate those brush marks and change that glossy effect into a nice dull sheen. Here's how it's done.

After the varnish is good and dry, go over it lightly with fine steel wool. This will remove the brush marks and other small flaws. Now get hold of some powdered pumice stone, some linseed oil, some turpentine and a piece of felt.

Put some of the pumice stone into a saucer and fill another saucer with the linseed oil. Dip your felt into the powdered pumice stone. Now start rubbing the finish with the pad.

Don't use too much pressure and work in the direction of the wood grain. Use the turpentine to wipe off the linseed oil and pumice stone from the work so you can see your progress.

Try to do the rubbing as evenly as possible over the entire surface. When the gloss has been dulled to your satisfaction, wipe the surface clean with the linseed oil and then apply a coat of paste wax. You should be quite happy with the final result.

Girl Advised to Stay Out of Corners

Three Admirers Complicate Things, Should Play Field

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

So you think you have to choose between them? It's just plain out of the question to have two or three boys like you very much all at the same time?

It's not fair, maybe, to let them go on being serious about you while you divide your interest? You figure you have to get serious about one of them—and the big problem is choosing?

A girl isn't obligated to fall hard for a boy just because he's smitten with her. It's costly and nice if it happens to turn out that way. But it doesn't have to happen. She can like him and enjoy his company and his friendship without taking the whole thing to heart. And she can feel just that friendly about more than one boy at a time.

Being forced to choose between boys you like just that much and no more is letting yourself get pushed around. A girl with spunk won't stand for that.

Here's a girl, for example, who can let herself be maneuvered into a corner—or she can do the thing her way and make them like it. But she writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: Bill and Dick both like me, and though that may not seem like much of a problem, I don't know what to do about it. We're all in the same class, so they know each other, of course. I don't want to make a choice between them, yet I don't see how I can avoid it sooner or later.

To complicate things even further there's a third boy, Jack. He goes to another school, but he likes me, too. How can I suggest to him that he stop calling me? And how can I keep Bill and Dick from getting mad at me?"

You figure that the only way to a smooth, easy existence is to set yourself up as the girl friend of one of these three boys. Life wouldn't then be complicated by phone calls and attentions from the other two. Having chosen, your status would protect them from jealousy, and prevent all scenes and furies.

But making an arbitrary choice between three boys you don't know too well is complicated, too. You might so easily pick the wrong one, and live to wish you could have a loser back. They might get mad at each other and that would be your responsibility. Your status would prevent your being even friendly with any other boy.

I'd say it's wiser to be grateful and pleased that boys (plural) like you. Insist that you don't want to get serious about anybody, you just want to get to know them all and have lots of friends. Divide your interest and your attention, so none of the boys who like you will feel he's being left out. And stick to it. Playing the field gracefully pays off!

She Believes War Can Be Eliminated

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Every mail, it seems brings news of the establishment of some great new foundation of vital importance to humanity. But I keep watching for word of the most imperatively needed of all and the word never comes.

Yet it must and soon if we are to be saved. Only a certain number of us will die of cancer or heart disease. But all of us will certainly die of war if it continues.

A while ago we read the shocking tidings that a foreign minister of a great country could think no better way to settle a trifling difference with another citizen than by physical conflict.

Here was a man whose job was to work with representatives of all nations toward a peaceful world. Yet he challenged another to a duel, a war in miniature. Two men go at each other with swords or pistols; a million men organized into two armies toss bombs at one another. Only the scale is different.

Man, we have all heard, instinctively fights when he feels himself threatened. War, say its advocates, can never be eliminated because the need for it is built into man as the instinct to construct a nest in the spring is built into a robin or the instinct to catch mice is built into a cat.

Some scientists who have studied animals and humans in an effort to get at the roots of behavior believe that many activities traditionally shunned off as instinctive aren't that at all.

For instance, 20 kittens were kept in individual cages. Members of this group never saw a rat or mouse. Other kittens were caged with their mothers and permitted to watch their parents catching rats and mice. In a third group, each kitten shared its cage with a rodent. Later, rats and mice were put in all the kittens' cages.

Of the 20 kittens that had never seen a rat or mouse until one was put into their cages, nine killed the visitors. Of 21 that had seen their mothers dispose of rodents, 18 did likewise. And — most significant to me — of the 18 kittens that had lived in cages with either rats or mice, only three killed. And not one of these harmed the species of rodent it had lived with.

Maybe none of this evidence is conclusive. But at least it would seem that even in the case of kittens who kill for food, warfare is primarily something the young learn from the old. Psychologists call this "learned behavior" as opposed to instinctive behavior.

Could it not be that the reason we are having such a frustrating time getting rid of war among humans is that most of us learn from birth are taught by example about the clenched fist? Is it too much to hope that if kittens can be taught gentler ways, human beings might be, too?

If a whole generation could be brought up peacefully and understandingly with alien fellow beings, never learning that guns and atoms could be used as persuaders, might there not be a chance for the peace we all say we want?

I have no idea how this kind of foundation could be set up to be practical and effective, but if it ever is, I believe it will not be too much to expect every man and woman to devote to it all that he has or is.

Toby's Lie Is His Naive Hope of Staving Off Ire

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The ball was of red and white striped rubber, the size of a grapefruit. When Toby, who was three, bounced it on a hard surface, it rebounded to more than twice his height. It was the bounciest, most satisfactory of balls and Toby loved it beyond all his other possessions.

One morning he was playing with it while he waited for his mother to get ready to go to the store. She startled him by calling something out to him.

The ball slipped from his hands. It rolled down the porch steps, down the front walk, across the sidewalk and on to the street. The fact that a laundry truck was rapidly approaching did not deter Toby from going after his ball. He got it. He also escaped severe injury by a very small margin.

He did not understand why his mother and the laundryman were so angry with him.

For Toby, his action had been inevitable. He wanted his ball. Space separated him from it. He had moved on the straight line which is the shortest distance between two points. The rest was growing nonsense to him.

Now seven instead of three, Toby still regards many adult points of view as nonsense. Yesterday, for example, he could not understand the fuss his mother made when he lied about knocking down a certain picture from the staircase wall.

Again, he chose the shortest distance between two points. He had knocked down a picture. His mother would scold him for knocking it down. As that would be uncomfortable, he said that he had not done what he did.

He was not a bad child when he rescued his ball. He is not a bad child when he lies. He is just a little boy serving his own comfort in an inexperienced manner.

So we do not fuss when he lies. Knowing that he's protecting himself against our anger, we say, "Toby, do I get too mad when you do things I don't like?"

If we can get him to say "Yes," it is an admission five million times more important than the truth about the picture.

For it enables us to teach him the right way to protect himself against our anger. It gives our chance to say, "After this, when you see me getting too mad about something you've done, say so. Instead of saying you haven't done it, say, 'Mother, stop being so mad. How do you expect me to tell you what I've done of you're going to be so mad at me?'"

Lies are opportunities, not disasters to parents who are sincerely interested in teaching little boys and girls to face up to criticism instead of running away from it.

Lost Note Should Be Explained

Enclose Old Letter With Apology for Oversight

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter tells me: "I was married about three months ago and in going through my things the other day I happened to find a thank-you note which I had written the day before my wedding. It evidently had been mislaid in the confusion and had never been mailed."

I feel terribly about this and I am sure the person who sent the gift must think me very lax. Will you please advise me what to do in this situation. My husband thinks the best thing to do is to forget about it since so much time has elapsed. Do you agree?"

No, I do not agree. You should enclose your old letter in with a new one to the person who sent you the gift and say how distressed you are to find it was never mailed.

Dear Mrs. Post: When dining in a restaurant, is it suitable for a woman to check her wrap, or should she always take it with her to the dining table. I notice that a majority of women do this. If she does check it, does she tip the hat-check girl, or does the man she is with do this for her?

She may do whichever she prefers. If there is a separate cloak room for ladies she should tip the attendant herself, but if it is checked along with the hat of the man she is with, he would do the tipping.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's brother died two weeks ago and many of our friends sent messages of sympathy addressed to my husband alone. I would like to know if that was the right thing to do. Shouldn't they have been addressed to us both as I was concerned too?

If any were friends of yours and only acquaintances of your husband they should have written to you asking you to tell him how sorry they were to learn of his loss, but the others were correct in writing to him.

Part-Time Sitter Solved Problem

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I am a very fast stenographer," a young mother writes, "and I have had an interesting experience trying to supplement the family income, now that Bill and I have a small daughter."

"Bill's salary is enough to cover basic necessities, but we saw immediately that if we wanted any luxuries, and any savings, we'd need extra money."

Before marriage, I was a top executive secretary, making a good salary. So we decided that I would go back to work, and hire somebody to take care of little Abigail.

"It was awful! I had to pay exactly half of my salary to the woman who took care of the baby. But that was just the beginning. "She was good with children, and, therefore, she felt she could run the house and us, too. She did the marketing, at just about double what it cost when I was doing it."

She did no cleaning at all, so I had to do it after work, along with the cooking for Bill and me, since this dream baby nurse was willing to fix food only for the baby.

"At the end of a terribly strenuous three months, we had just a few pennies left over from my own salary. So I stopped, then and there, since we were making no profit and I was getting exhausted and edgy."

"Next, I took a try at working at home, but that was no good, either. We have no car, since we live in the city and don't need one, as well as not being able to afford one."

I found that, almost without exception, the people who wanted stenography done, wanted it done on their premises or at least picked up and delivered.

"So all I could get was plain typing, and, fast though I am, it paid so badly that I couldn't make any profit at it either."

"Finally, I decided that a part-time job and a part-time baby sitter just had to be the solution. Part-time baby sitters are much nicer than the full-time 'gems' as a rule."

They are usually nice older women who want a part-time job to augment their income, who love children and who do not expect to do marketing.

"Getting a part-time job was very difficult, but I kept plugging, and finally landed one. And I want to tell you readers that this is by far the best way to make money, and well worth the trouble in finding it."

"My advice is—advertise! I inserted an ad in my local paper, offering top secretarial services on a part-time basis, hours arranged."

"I said: 'My skills are so fast, I can do a day's work in half a day,' which is true, really. Got the perfect job after running the ad one week."

Two PTAs Celebrate Event

Founders' Day celebrations continue to head the PTA news in Pontiac schools.

Dr. Guy H. Hill of Michigan State College spoke on "Parents Are Teachers" for the Thursday evening dinner meeting of McCarrall PTA.

He said, "Our best investment today is in our youth." Dr. Hill made known his belief that now we are facing a group of youngsters that are different from those of 58 years ago when PTA was founded.

"Today's world is more complex," he said. "There is greater need to educate the child toward adjustment of a new social pattern."

"In days gone by," the speaker continued, "Education was the acquisition of knowledge. Today, youth must be taught self-respect, ability to self appraise, willingness to give of his time and to act on his own conclusions."

Mrs. LeRoy McCartney and Mrs. William Hudson were co-chairmen for the dinner.

McConnell A playlet entitled, "Suppose It Hadn't Happened" was given at McConnell School's Founders' Day celebration Thursday evening.

It portrayed the work of the founders in breaking down the separation between home and school as it existed some 58 years ago.

Past presidents of the organization were honored. Each told of the outstanding events of her term in office.

Dr. Leonard F. Klausmeyer and Dr. D. P. Wise led a discussion on fluoridation of city water.

Presbyterian Unit Is Entertained

July-August Group of First Presbyterian Church met Friday in the East Iroquois road home of Mrs. Robert Oliver. She was assisted by Mrs. Carroll Osmun, Mrs. Ted Koella and Mrs. Earl Bartlett.

Oxford Woman, 81 Years Young Begins New Vocation

By WILMA GREENWAY

A plucky little lady, 81 years young, doesn't believe life begins at 40. She says it begins at 20—or 60—or even 81.

To prove it, she started out from scratch last year at the age of 80 to learn the art of ceramics. Now she is not only teaching her neighborhood, but she's making plans to have, someday, a "shop of my own."

Mrs. Eric Barnett has turned one corner of her upstairs "workroom" into a miniature studio in her home at 14 Broadway St., Oxford. There she passes on all she has learned about working in clay to her four pupils, who range in age from 8 to 22.

Once a week she travels from Oxford all the way to Covent road in Waterford Township to take her lesson from ceramist Mrs. John Rowe, carefully carrying her painted "greenware" for baking in Mrs. Rowe's kiln, and bringing back with her the finished glazed pieces she left the week before.

The trip isn't an easy one, but Birdella, who is as quick as her name, dismisses transportation difficulties with a pert toss of her head.

"I get there the long way," she says, "leaving home at 7 in the morning. First I must take the Oxford bus to Pontiac, where I wait one and a quarter hours for a second bus to take me to Waterford.

"I arrive at Waterford at about 10 a.m.—spend four hours at my lesson—and catch the bus back to Pontiac, where I wait another hour and a half for the Oxford bus.

"But it's worth the long trip. I learn a great deal, and now I am even able to teach others.

"Too, I hope some day my hobby will become a profitable one, so that if my husband's serious heart condition forces his complete retirement, we may still be independent."

Mrs. Barnett started doing ceramic work as a release from nervous tension after her husband suffered a heart attack a year ago and spent some time in the hospital.

Handcraft has always interested her—previously she had done crocheting, china painting, made beaded purses and fashioned jewelry from shells and beads—but working with the clay figures and pottery proved to be the most absorbing of all.

Although she fashions some pieces from the soft clay, Mrs. Barnett confines her artistry mainly to the application of glazes, preferring to purchase the basic figures in molded greenware and achieve unusual effects with glazing.

Band Concert Scheduled Today at Clarenceville

CLARENCEVILLE—The Wayne-Oakland League Band Concert will be held at 8 p.m. today in the high school gymnasium.

Local band members participating include Dorothy Phillips and Loraine Hawley, clarinet section; Barbara Schmidt and Gretchen Van Camp, flutes; Don Melton, baritone saxophone; Tom Wilson, cornet; Mike Keller, trumpet; Jerry Rogers, trombone; Roger Rapelje and Max Ashmore, tuba.

Life Begins at 80—That's what Mrs. Eric Barnett, 15 Broadway St., Oxford, seemed to be trying to prove when she started out last year to study ceramics. Now 81, Mrs. Barnett is teaching her new-found art to four neighborhood pupils, and planning for a shop of her own. She continues with her lessons, despite transportation difficulties which force her to spend five hours "travel time" en route to her weekly ceramic class. Above, she applies the glaze to a molded piece in her home workshop, preparing it for firing in the kiln.

Although she has done fine handwork all her life, the spry artist continues to have good eyesight, and wears no glasses despite her fourscore years. She goes to bed "when curfew rings," about 10 o'clock, and is up at 5 a.m. to make her husband's breakfast.

"I keep busy all day, and I seldom get tired although I don't take a nap," Mrs. Barnett said.

"My hearing isn't as good as it used to be—but that's all right, too, because I have 'Midget,' our tiny Chihuahua, and she is my ears. She never fails to hear the door bell, or warn me of a visitor.

Next step in her new vocation, she says, is to acquire her own kiln.

"When I can fire my own pieces, I can accomplish ever so much more," says the little lady who, at 81, isn't ready to settle down at all, but instead is looking forward to a bright future in her brand new profession.

Plastics Open New Horizons

Milk Bottles, Hot Water Piping May Soon Be Made of Polyethylene

NEW YORK (UP)—Chemical engineers have succeeded in both raising the "softening point" and increasing the rigidity of polyethylene.

If you don't think that will mean changes in our commonplace world, you haven't been noticing what squeezable bottles, flexible refrigerator dishes, plastic-wrapped chickens, and "silent" pork chops have been doing to it.

Polyethylene is the plastic responsible for those and hundreds of other changes in commonplace articles in recent years. It would have changed hundreds of other articles if it's "softening" point had been higher and if it could have been molded in more rigid forms.

But engineers of the Union Carbide and Carbon Corp., one of the principal producers of polyethylene resins, have succeeded in raising its "softening point" to well above the temperature of boiling water, which is 212 degrees (Fahrenheit) at sea level. They have also increased its rigidity and wrought some technical changes which make it even easier to produce.

This dispatch probably will initiate an official announcement in a few days that a pilot plant now is turning out the new resin which will be offered to plastic fabricators in "experimental amounts."

Present polyethylene will "soften" at around the boiling temperature of water. It has come into widespread use in hoses and pipes, since its near chemical inertness and resistance to corrosion have given it an advantage over older materials, but these uses have been limited by its comparatively low "softening" point.

By lifting that point by 20 to 30 Fahrenheit degrees to around 240 degrees, it will be possible to use it in the hot water systems of buildings and homes. Or milk bottles and other containers requiring sterilization could be made of it. These are examples of what the fabricators will be working on, now that they get the new resin for experimentation.

The present polyethylene resins are made at very high temperatures and under enormous pressures, such as 30,000 pounds to the square inch. The new resin is made at around normal temperature and pressure, that is, the temperature and pressure of the atmosphere.

Chicagoans Tip Big, New Yorkers Bolt

CHICAGO (INS)—A survey shows that Chicagoans are the biggest tipsters in the land, sometimes leaving as much as 75 per cent of the tab as a tip.

The same survey shows that in Los Angeles, persons who dine out are the most picky when it comes to ordering and that in Dallas, diners are extravagant almost to the point of wastefulness, leaving large portions untouched on their plates.

New Yorkers are the quickest and most nervous eaters and their table manners rank low. Bostonians are quick to send food back if it's overdone or underdone.

New Orleans diners think it's an old Southern custom to try to date the waitress.

May Be Greek to Them, but Still Illegal to Cops

DETROIT (UP)—State Police raiders early yesterday arrested 36 persons on charges of playing "barbut," a dice game of Greek origin.

Police said five of the persons, accused of operating a "barbut house" in River Rouge, would be charged with operating a gaming place. They said the others would be charged with frequenting a gambling establishment.

A LONG WAIL—Limits of the sound waves emitted from the city's new air raid siren atop the Pontiac State Bank Building are pointed out to William C. Collins (left) by Walter K. Willman. Collins, city personnel director, is assistant civil defense head for Pontiac.

Part 1: What's Being Done Here

Pontiac, Prime Bomb Target, Works at Civil Defense

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles about civil defense activities in Pontiac.

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

Industrial Pontiac, lush target for enemy bombers should war break out, is moving slowly but steadily ahead with a program to counteract any such attack.

Known as civil defense, the program is less a blueprint for home-front defense than one of preparation for the aftermath of disaster.

Civil defense, of course, is not new. It functioned during World War II with the same general organization and purpose as it does today—but with more manpower.

Nowadays, it is difficult to work up interest in civil defense—either from city officials or the public—although the danger is vastly greater, say CD officials.

The apathy is not difficult to understand.

During World War II, Americans were slugging it out with the enemy on foreign battlefronts. Those at home wanted to do their part. They flocked to civil defense volunteer posts.

In 1955, we are involved only in sometimes hot—sometimes cold battles with an elusive enemy. The U.S. and its potential opponents are not engaged in world struggle—yet.

But with Russia as the most powerful of our potential adversaries, Pontiac, Detroit and this entire area are within striking distance of long-range Soviet bombers which could easily sweep over the North Pole.

And the nuclear, biological and chemical weapons which can be used today are thousands of times more deadly than any used by any enemy in history.

Realizing the interest of CD volunteers flags quickly unless war or an attack seems imminent, the Federal Civil Defense Administration in Battle Creek has drawn up a new plan, now in use.

Under it, local government units across the nation are responsible for establishing a civil defense organization within the governmental framework.

In Pontiac, the city manager, Walter K. Willman, is civil defense head. The assistant CD chief is William L. Collins, city personnel director.

Others in high municipal posts, while taking a less active part in CD now, have been briefed on duties they would be expected to carry out in time of emergency.

As the plan is designed, hundreds of volunteers are not counted on as they were in Second World War days. Instead, city employees are being trained to do disaster work related to their peacetime activities.

For instance, 27 men from the Parks and Recreation Dept. and city cemetery crew have just completed a first aid course and are now learning rescue methods, including the removal of persons—dead and alive—from wrecked buildings.

Plans call for DPW crews to get specialized instruction in removal of debris and clearing wreckage—clogged streets.

(In addition, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Consumers Power Co. and Detroit Edison Co. will soon be called upon to list the part their work crews would play in a disaster, Collins said.)

But volunteers are still an important part of the program.

They are used in beefing up police and fire department rosters for disaster duty. Each Tuesday night, three dozen police and fire auxiliary members meet to learn techniques used by the regulars, along with CD first aid methods.

Other volunteer elements of Pontiac's CD program are:

The Ground Observer Corps (working closely with the Air Force in tracking aircraft which slip below the radar screen).

The local American Red Cross chapter;

The amateur radio operators of the Oakland County Radio Club.

In addition, there are stored at No. 2 fire station on West Wilson two complete mobile first aid stations.

Pontiac General Hospital, in wartime emergency, can squeeze in 200 injured persons by sending home nearly well patients and jamming cots into all vacant spaces, such as dining areas.

In storage at the Oakland County Service Center on Telegraph road are 100 cots which can be used where needed. Also stockpiled are 125,000 paper cups, dishes and containers donated by the Paper Cup & Container Institute.

Warning-wise, the city has just installed a $5,500 air raid siren downtown. It will probably be tied in with the bell and lights system which links city offices, hospitals, schools and main industrial plants by telephone line.

Every day at noon, the lights on the devices flash on and the bells are sounded to make sure they are in perfect working—and warning—order. Plans call for siren tests Saturday afternoons.

In daily use by the fire department are three fire trucks purchased for civil defense purposes. The federal government paid half the cost of the units, as it does for all CD equipment.

"Our biggest liability in civil defense now," says Willman, "is lack of a complete mobilization plan for the city in time of disaster."

Collins sums up the feeling of CD officials here thusly:

"We've probably done as much as we can with the public support we have had. It's something you can't do full-speed ahead unless you have everybody's support."

"We're making progress, but we still have a long way to go... If an attack occurred today or in the very near future we wouldn't be able to do much."

"There is much more to be done to get people prepared and able to function smoothly in case of disaster."

Mad Bronco Injures 15

BAGDAD (INS)—A 2,600-year-old "war communique" has been discovered on the site of the ancient city of Nineveh, center of the vast Assyrian empire which fell 600 years before the birth of Christ. Experts believe that a foot-long tablet unearthed recently contains an account of wars waged by King Esar-Haddon, who defeated Palestine and led two armies into Egypt.

Meeting Slated for Wednesday

10-Man Group Attempts to Head Off Reduction in City Strength

A 10-member joint committee of Oakland County city and township supervisors will meet Wednesday to begin formulating a measure to provide a more equal township-city balance on the county's governing body.

The meeting has been called in an attempt to head off an automatic 60 per cent cut in strength of city supervisors on the board when their total reaches 75, as expected sometime this year, according to Oak Park City Manager Harold K. Schone.

The committee will discuss the problem at noon in the Northwood Inn, Berkley.

An amendment to the supervisors apportionment law, passed in 1943 to accommodate Wayne County, brings the threat to city strength.

The amendment states that when the strength of city representatives reaches 75 an automatic reduction in their number will take place, but it requires no cutback in number of township supervisors.

Currently there are 64 city and 25 township supervisors.

Recent and planned incorporations of areas as cities will soon bring the city total to 75 which would immediately be cut back to include only 30 city members.

This would leave a five-man city majority on the board, compared with the present 39.

The city men have said they feel the law would reduce their size out of proportion to the amount of county population they represent.

They first advanced a stop-gap plan which would prevent any reduction in their strength until Oakland reaches 750,000 population. It now is slightly over 500,000. A permanent formula could be worked out later, they stated.

The measure encountered opposition from township supervisors and was not presented to the State Legislature as planned.

"We thought a more thorough job should be done, rather than advancing a temporary plan," explained Troy Township Supervisor Norman E. Barnard who is chairman of the County Supervisors' Assn.

"There are an increasing number of people in the townships and we feel representation on the board should be based on as equal a population ratio as possible."

Under the state constitution, said Barnard, townships are allowed only one supervisor. Cities, governed by legislative enactments, are allotted members on a population basis.

"We feel cities are probably entitled to a majority on the board, because they have a majority of county population," Barnard said. "The supervisor pointed out that a constitutional amendment requiring a public vote is necessary to change the number of members townships are granted."

Therefore, he stated, legislation changing the population ratio under which city members are apportioned is the logical solution.

"We want a careful study to formulate a bill which will assure a proper balance between the two types of units based on their respective portions of the whole county population."

The present setup legalizes some "ridiculous" situations, said Barnard. "Southfield Township with over 30,000 persons has one member, while the City of Lathrup Village has two supervisors with only about 2,500 people."

If the law is not changed, Pontiac's delegation would be cut from ten to three, Royal Oak from seven to three and Birmingham from five to two.

Supervisors representing the cities at the meeting will be: Orph C. Holmes, Ferndale; Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Huntington Woods; Delos Hamlin, Farmington; Clare R. Cummings, Pontiac; and Schone.

Township men will be Lloyd L. Anderson, Waterford; Hiland M. Thatcher, West Bloomfield; David E. Anderson, Bloomfield; Floyd Anderson, Independence, and Barnard.

United Labor Eyes Politics, Organization

Editor's Note: The nation's two biggest labor organizations agreed last week to unite their forces. What led to this historic decision? What effect will the unified "stronger organization" have in politics? Maurine Cochran, United Press labor writer, answers these and other questions in the following dispatch.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The AFL-CIO merger agreement is largely the product of frustrations in politics and in union organization. It is in these fields that the big new house of labor will push for power.

The political frustrations of the two federations have centered in the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act and, more recently, in the labor and economic policies of the Republican administration.

Also, since World War II, their membership has not grown beyond the 15,000,000 mark, while the civilian labor force has risen by 5,500,000 to about 65,000,000.

But, as in any far-reaching agreement, the force of personalities was required to make the merger possible. With the death in 1952 of both long-time union leaders—AFL president William Green and CIO president Philip Murray—their successors brought new attitudes toward labor unity.

AFL president George Meany was willing to negotiate with the CIO on the terms under which the CIO would return to the original house of labor after an absence of 20 years. And CIO president Walter Reuther believed that his organization and all of labor would be better off in partnership rather than in rivalry with the AFL.

Henry G. Ritzer, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, greeted the merger agreement last week as a danger of "union monopoly" of labor. Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn (R-N.Y.), of the House Labor Committee, raised the same question.

Meany's reply was that the new organization could hardly be called a monopoly since it will represent only 25 per cent of the civilian labor force.

Both Meany, who will head the new federation, and Reuther, who may head its political arm, are opposed to the formation of a labor political party.

But union officials foresee the possibility that a united labor movement may become the biggest power in the Democratic Party.

The federations hope, by combining their political organizations, to be more effective in influencing the votes of individual members.

CIO Political Action Committee officials for instance, estimate that only half of the CIO's 5,000,000 members voted in the 1954 elections and that, at best, perhaps three-fourths of those voters followed their leaders in their ballot selections.

The federations also hope, by combining their forces, to carry more weight in matters of state and federal legislation, administrative policy and in political campaigns.

One important political factor in the merger is the elimination of the opportunity for politicians to play the two federations against each other, and, on the other hand, for one federation to vie with the other for political favor.

The merger is designed to eliminate the costly and bitter rivalry for unorganized workers.

These jurisdictional fights, as well as the resistance of employers, have hampered organization in the South.

The new federation also will go after at least some of the independent unions which represent some 2,000,000 workers. The heads of two of the four independent railroad brotherhoods already have expressed interest.

But John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers seem likely to stay on the outside, at least for some time, because of Lewis' bad relationships with both Meany and Reuther.

Romeo Cubs, Scouts Plan Two Events

ROMEO—Boy Scouts of Romeo's Troop 87 and Cub Scouts of local Pack 87 will join more than 3,000,000 other scouts throughout the nation in the observance of the 45th birthday of the national organization this week.

The Boy Scouts will celebrate at 7:30 p.m. today in the basement of the First Congregational Church. Following the entrance of the colors and members of the Court of Honor an impressive candle ceremony is scheduled. At the close of the award presentation rites, refreshments will be served to all the scouts their parents and friends.

The Cub Scouts will mark the anniversary with a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday. Rev. E. G. Appel of St. John Lutheran Church where the banquet will be staged will deliver the invocation. Robert Bennett and John Vargas of the Clinton Valley Council have been invited to address the gathering and to lead community singing.

Den chief cords will be presented during the award ceremony and den mothers will receive their books as part of the Leo R. Larson award.

Milford PTA Cancels Founders Day Dinner

MILFORD — Due to lack of public response, the Milford PTA Founders Day Banquet, scheduled for tonight at the Presbyterian Church, has been canceled.

Only 15 parents signed up for the affair, so the executive board decided to give up the plan.

Panel members are Mrs. James DenHerdner, Mrs. Gordon Bennett, and Gerald Rusten, George Trammontin will moderate the discussion, centered around questionnaires filled out by the group's children.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. with a cooperative dinner. Husbands of members will be special guests.

Dinner Parties Slated by Two Romeo Clubs

ROMEO — Two Romeo Federated Women's Clubs are planning mid-winter celebrations this week.

A cooperative dinner is planned as part of the Monday Club's special program tonight at the South Grade School. Members, their husbands and special guests will be served at 7 p.m. A film of a local couple's recent trip to Europe will be shown after the dinner.

The Book Club is also planning a dinner party. It will be staged Tuesday at 6:40 p.m. at St. John Lutheran Church.

Donald M. Blundon, representative of the Leader Dogs for the Blind School in Rochester, will be the principal speaker. All Book Club members and their friends have been invited to attend.

First Public Library Sets 'Open House' at Clarkston

Clarkston's first public library—achieved with a minimum of money, a maximum of effort, and not one cent of public funds—will become a reality Wednesday when the former one-room stucco schoolhouse on Main street opens its doors for a silver tea under the imposing title of Independence Township Library.

The open house celebration, to be held from 1-4 p.m., will demonstrate in concrete fashion just what an alert group can accomplish when it starts out with a program for civic improvement.

The free public library was originated, paid for and will be maintained by the Clarkston group of 30 women who met for the first time last August.

Besides starting a library, the club also has organized monthly dances for 6th, 7th and 8th grade students, and its next project will be to acquire a recreation center for the community and organize a comprehensive program of youth activities.

Currently the women have their eye on the township hall annex, an old powerhouse owned by the township, located in a spot overlooking Parke Lake in the center of town.

To make the library a reality, a Women's Club committee under the direction of Mrs. Don Stackable has worked with head, heart and hands. Men of the community were commandeered into the job of renovating the old schoolhouse.

Scrub brushes and soap, paint and varnish, hammer and nails—plus an unstinted amount of "elbow grease" combined to bring a new look to the spacious 30x40 foot main room.

Walls were painted a light green. Floors were re-finished. Local lumbermen were contacted for donations of lumber, and shelves were built and installed.

Interested residents came through with donations of desks and tables, and the Clarkston school system also promised additional library tables.

A book drive netted over 500 volumes, with many more books constantly being donated. These include a set of encyclopedias, dictionaries, adult and children's fiction, and sections on gardening, cooking, antiques, home decorating and other classifications.

The tremendous job of cataloging the books and setting up a card file system to meet state standards, is being handled by Mrs. Philip Smith during the "free time" she finds after caring for the needs of her five young children.

With no tax funds to fall back on, getting the money to make the library a going concern is a major problem. Outside of a single $30 donation, most of the cash outlay has been derived from bake sales, home card parties and similar projects.

"We need about $1,000 to put the community library into clear sailing," chairman Phyllis Stackable said.

"We're planning to keep working hard to get the money needed for essentials, too. An all-community birthdate calendar is one fund-raising project we have in mind."

Staffing the library is the next big task before the committee. Current plans are to keep it open three afternoons and one evening a week. If sufficient volunteers can be found to make this feasible.

"We have five or six people with college training or experience in library work," Mrs. Stackable said, "and we hope to use these people as a nucleus to train volunteers."

"Perhaps some of the teenage students will volunteer. And we're hoping the Pioneer Club will ask for volunteers among the older people of the community to assist in this valuable work."

Among plans for the future, Mrs. Stackable said, are projects of building up a record collection and a film library.

The silver tea this Wednesday, open to the public, will include book displays and a special exhibit of pictures, maps and books relating to the history of old Clarkston.

The library, located at 90 N. Main St. next door to the Township Hall, is situated in a scenic spot, with a view of Parke Lake in the back and, in front, spacious grounds shaded with maples, evergreens and elm trees.

4 PTA Groups Plan Program

Roosevelt, Scotch and Green Units to Meet at West Bloomfield High

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — PTA groups from Roosevelt, Scotch and Green Schools will celebrate Founders Day with a combined meeting at the new West Bloomfield High School, to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Principal speaker will be Mrs. Lola B. King, secretary of the Pontiac Board of Education and immediate past president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers Associations.

Dr. Leif A. Hougren, superintendent of schools, will be master of ceremonies. Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, instructional consultant, will give the PTA prayer, and Mrs. Alice Sand will lead the community singing.

A skit, "Suppose It Hadn't Happened," has been organized by Mrs. Robert Hollister, and the Tripple Trio will present a group of songs, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Seavey, vocal instructor.

Refreshments will follow the program, with Mrs. Charles Leaf, Mrs. Harry Wareham and Mrs. John Warren, presidents of the groups, presiding at the tables.

THEY HAVE A HEART—And a few to spare on St. Valentine's Day today. Future Nurses of the Highland Junior High School have created 200 Valentine favors for children in the Farmington Convalescent Home and the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, as one of their community projects. Six boys who plan to enter medicine upon graduation are active in the 36 member club. Shown here are (l-r) Fred Coxen, Barbara Ashley, Sherry Lawrence, and Jan Williams, who tries a large favor on for size.

Future Nurses Prepare Valentines for Children

MILFORD — Young Future Nurses of the junior high school at Highland have made almost 200 Valentine favors for the children at the Farmington Convalescent home and the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Cited as one of the few schools in Michigan preparing junior high students for future nursing careers, the Highland group has worked on community projects since it formed last year.

There are 36 students enrolled in this year's class, including six boys who plan on entering some branch of medicine upon their graduation from high school.

"It is not unusual for boys to enroll in these classes," Mrs. Elda LaVey, sponsor for the group said. "Because of the great demand from hospitals for male nurses, and particularly in the industrial field, more and more boys are becoming interested in this course."

Mrs. LaVey explained that the object of the early eighth grade start in the Future Nurses Club, is to help prepare students for selecting subjects in high school.

Student Winners Listed in Southfield Contest

New A-Trigger May Be Tested

Fifth Series of Nuclear Explosions Scheduled to Begin Tomorrow

LAS VEGAS Nev. (AP) — An improved atomic trigger for America's H-bomb may be the first device tested in the Atomic Energy Commission's new series scheduled to start tomorrow.

The predawn shot, 32nd at the AEC's Nevada test site, will be "a major effort" for the AEC Livermore, Calif., laboratory, which specializes in hydrogen weapons planning.

The disclosure was made by Dr. Alvin C. Graves, veteran U. S. nuclear weapons tester, on the eve of Operation Teapot, fifth and most exacting series the AEC has held here in four years.

The opening test also is scheduled to include Army participation. Several hundred troops will take trench positions about 4,000 yards from ground zero.

The device probably will be detonated from one of the AEC's higher towers, in line with the new official concern for radiation fallout in surrounding communities. The higher the atomic fireball, the less dust sucked off the desert floor and less danger of contamination within the immediate area.

Despite the smaller nature of the devices to be tested here this time, there is no underestimating their importance. Every test in this series, AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss declared yesterday, has been deemed necessary from the standpoint of our national security.

NOMINATED—Julius C. Holmes has been nominated as U. S. ambassador to Iran. A career State Department officer, he will succeed Loy Henderson.

A New Face On Main Street

Keeping in time with modern identity and to capitalize on the high volume of circulation passing the Main Office location of the Community National Bank of Pontiac, they have inaugurated this new identification display designed, manufactured and installed by Walker & Co. It has given Pontiac's Saginaw Street an added attraction of light, color and eye-catching appeal with the use of interior illuminated Raised Plastic Letters and an interior illuminated modern clock dial.

The overall height of this display is 10'-9". It is 10' wide and weighs approximately 1300 lbs. The 36" illuminated dial sets on top of the sign proper and is designed in keeping with the modern design used on clock faces today.

This display will not only serve the people of Pontiac in readily identifying the location of Pontiac's outstanding Banking House, but will also afford the good citizens of Pontiac a landmark by which to time themselves in our ever-increasing busy daily life and to remind them that "NOW IS THE TIME TO OPEN A NEW SAVINGS ACCOUNT."

News of the Men in Service

Cpl. Elmer Miller, son of Mrs. Isadora L. Miller of Clifford, is now participating in "Exercise Snow Bird," a joint Army-Air Force training maneuver in Alaska.

Airborne units, ground troops and equipment are being tested in the exercise for operation in temperatures as low as 50 below zero. Miller, a gunner in Battery C of the 71st Infantry Division's 607th Armored Field Artillery Battalion, entered the Army in April, 1953, and has been in Alaska 11 months.

Now assigned to Amarillo Air Force Base, Tex., as a student of medium jet bombers is A3C Robert D. Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Burke, 843 Sarasota Ave. Burke attended Pontiac High School before entering basic training at Sampson Air Force Base, New York, six months ago.

BURKE

Cpl. Harold H. Hall Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall of Auburn Heights, recently went to Hawaii with the Marine Corps Drum and Bugle Corps.

He was previously stationed at El Toro, Santa Ana, Calif., and with the Marine Recruit Depot at Camp Pendleton, San Diego, Calif. Entering the service in 1953, he was recently home on a 26 day leave.

HALL

Home recently on a 21-day furlough following basic training in California was Pvt. Ronald Mutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mutter of Auburn Heights.

Mutter has returned for advanced training to Camp Pendleton, Calif., where he took boot training. He attended Avondale High School before entering service in October. His address is: Pvt. Ronald L. Mutter 1519519 "I" Co. 2nd Bn. 2nd Inf. Trng. Rgt. M.C.B. Camp Pendleton, Calif.

MUTTER

Before entering the Navy in September, Leland Richard Hagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hagner of 125 Waterly St., was a member of the Navy Reserve for two and a half years.

He took his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill., and is now in San Diego, Calif.

Formosa Peace Move Awaited

Diplomats Eye Session of U. N. Security Council Amid Invasion Threats

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U. N. — Diplomats looked to a U. N. Security Council meeting today for an indication whether the world organization can make a signal contribution toward peace in the Formosa Strait.

Delegates to the 11-nation council assembled to a background of Peking radio boasts that the U. S.-protected evacuation of the Tachen Islands had put Red China's soldiers in position "for liberating Formosa and other islands off the China coast."

The council's first order of business was a statement from its Peruvian president Victor Andres Belaunde that Communist China had refused to send representatives to the U. N. for a cease-fire debate unless Nationalist China was ousted and a Soviet resolution charging the United States with aggression was taken up first.

The invitation was voted by the council at its only meeting on the Formosa issue, two weeks ago.

The same council meeting rejected Soviet demands for Nationalist China's ouster and refused to give the Soviet charges priority. Instead the group agreed to take up first New Zealand's proposal to discuss the situation as the first step toward a cease-fire agreement. Observers considered, however, that any cease-fire resolution which did not have Red Chinese concurrence would have the force only of a moral censure.

There was wide expectation that Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev's would restate the Russian proposal for a Formosa settlement conference in Shanghai or New Delhi from which Nationalist China would be excluded.

Three Proposals by Ike Seen Getting Approval

HOUSTON (U. N. — Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.), House minority leader, predicts congressional approval of three major proposals submitted by President Eisenhower: the once-defeated health reinsurance bill, a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade loans for school construction.

Martin made his remarks during a press conference yesterday at the mansion of oilman-philanthropist Hugh Roy Cullen. He stopped here en route to Dallas, where he speaks tonight.

2 Kingdoms Recognized

JERUSALEM (U. N. — Israel announced today that it has recognized the Indochinese kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia.

WORLD CALENDAR—Sue Feit, of Philadelphia, Pa., shows a new world calendar which is being considered by the U. N. The calendar would divide the year into four quarters of 91 days each. An extra day called Worldday would be added at the end of December, and during leap year, an additional day called Leapyear Day would be added to the end of June. The extra days, lettered "W," would be world holidays. In her left hand, Sue holds a month of a 1582 calendar and a month of a 1752 calendar.

Student Has 2 Cents Left for Trip Home

CHICAGO (U. N. — Leo Torpey spent the weekend in Chicago wondering how he was going to make it the rest of the way home to Toronto on 2 cents.

The 24-year-old student must do it to collect a bet that he could make a 6,000-mile trip to the warmest and coldest places in the United States with only $1.98 starting capital.

Torpey hitchhiked, baby-sat and dishwashed his way to Miami (80 degrees) and Peilston, Mich. (22 below). If he makes it back to Toronto without getting money from home he says he'll collect $100.

Fare Orders 6 Eggs, Cabbie Calls Police

OKLAHOMA CITY (U. N. — A mental patient who escaped from Central State Hospital in Norman took a cab driver for a ride but was trapped when the driver decided his appetite was too large.

The cabbie told police he picked up the escapee in a Norman tavern and drove him the 20 miles to Oklahoma City. The bill came to $8. The patient said he wanted to stop at a restaurant. He ordered six eggs. With that, the cab driver called police. The hospital was notified when the man told officers, "I'm crazy and don't have any money."

Furman Given 'Deep Freeze' by Citadel 5

Nation's Leading Point Makers Held to 26-24 Victory

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Lyles Alley, coach of Furman University's high-scoring basketball team, had some chilly words today for backers of deep freeze cage tactics.

Alley's thoughts were crystallized with the memory of Furman's 26-24 victory over The Citadel at Charleston, S.C., Saturday. Furman went into the game the nation's highest scoring team with a 94.1 per-game average.

In their previous meeting at Greenville, Furman walloped The Citadel, 154-67, setting a new high for major college scoring.

After the Paladins had a 23-15 lead Saturday, Alley said The Citadel began playing possession-type basketball. The halftime score was 25-20. In the second half Furman tried no floor shots, scoring its only point on a free throw.

"It was as silly a game as I guess you can see," Alley said of the game. "But I told my boys at the half, if they hold the ball out on the offense, we'll do the same thing."

Furman got the second half tip-off. Guard Fred Fraley held the ball at midcourt 14½ minutes.

'Y' Swimmers Take Victories

Vernon Joseph Double Winner Here Saturday in Tank Tests

Pontiac YMCA swimmers posted a double-victory in meets held here Saturday.

Junior division squad defeated Saginaw "Y" 31-28 in dual competition, while the preps scored 47 points to edge Saginaw (37) and Ann Arbor (17) in a triangular test.

Vernon Joseph won both the 40-yard freestyle and back stroke events to pace the juniors. Stroke relay teams of James Pugliese-Gleason, Robarge-Romulo, Sias and Bob Hewitt-Charles Stallions Rommie Sias-Dennis Roberts won the 150 and 300 yard events, respectively.

Pontiac 1st places were taken in the prep meet by Bruce Norvall, in the 20-yard breast stroke, medley relay team of Norvall-Bob Newman-Tom McKimmin and freestyle relay team of Davis Sias-Eric McClelland-Duane Richards-Dale Fox.

Racing Fans Mull Upset, Await Santa Anita Derby

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The racing spotlight shifts to the 3-year-old division at Santa Anita this week, with the best in the West competing in the $100,000 added Santa Anita Derby Saturday.

There were still echoes of "where was Determine, where was Poma II?" This dated back to Saturday's $60,000 San Antonio Handicap when these two elegant headliners ran out of the money and a 41-1 shot, Gigantic, upset the handicappers with a decisive victory.

The race track people have all of next week to mull over the prospects of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, to try to unscramble the status of Gigantic, Determine, Poma II, Rejected and the other older horses.

The upcoming derby at a mile and one-eighth figures to have a fine field of sophomores, and no less than three strong entries. They are the Murcin Stable's Blue Ruler and Jean's Joe; Calumet Farm's Trentonian and Tollesboro, and Rex Ellsworth's Swaps and Bequest.

Battle Dance, Beau Busher and perhaps a half dozen other 3-year-olds are derby possibilities.

Snap Deadlock by 29-26 Win in Sunday Game

Mikes Wipe Out Foe's Half-Time Margin in 3rd Period Rush

St. Michael's Suburban Catholic League co-champions battled their way into the Second Division playoffs yesterday, edging St. Benedict 29-26 in a special tie-breaking game at Highland Park.

Pontiac parochials and St. Benedict tied for the SCL's regular-season title with identical 11-1 marks to force an extra game.

Mikes, who now have an 11-game winning streak and a 12-1 season record, took on St. Andrew Tuesday night at Cathedral Central's gymnasium. Winner of that contest faces St. Florian for the divisional crown Sunday at the University of Detroit Fieldhouse.

St. Andrew's twice-beaten Flyers won the West Side playoff berth Sunday by trouncing Cathedral Central 62-52. St. Florian posted its 16th consecutive victory in dumping undefeated St. Benedict 57-45 for the East Side championship.

St. Michael jumped into an 8-3, 1st-period lead against the Ravens, and made it 10-3 early in the following quarter. St. Benedict then rallied to tie the score at 10-10 and then moved into a 13-12 intermission advantage.

Bud Schwartz, John Keller, Joe Wilhelm and Bob Anderson all hit for baskets in the 3rd stanza as the Shamrocks regained their lead and moved in front 26-19.

Mikes connected on only two of 12 chances at the free throw line in the final period but still retained their advantage. Wilhelm and John Keller led scorers with nine points apiece, while Don Philion was high for the losers with eight.

'M' Thinclads Beat Notre Dame, 80-34, in Dual Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
University of Michigan's track team, led by record-breaking miler John Moule, defeated Notre Dame 80-34 in a dual meet at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Moule, a Hamilton, Ont., product, won the mile in four minutes 9.9 seconds—the best time turned in this year by a collegian.

Moule's time surpassed the Yost Fieldhouse record of 4:10.7 set by Ohio State's Len Truxen in 1950. A total of four meet records and one fieldhouse mark were broken and one meet and two fieldhouse records tied during the test.

At East Lansing, Michigan State's thinclads finished 3rd in the quadrangular meet. Missouri won the test with 54 points, followed by Penn State with 45½, MSC with 37 and Ohio State with 30½.

Prior to the meet, MSC's All-American high-jumping star Doug Stuart was ruled ineligible. Big 10 Commissioner Tug Wilson said that Stuart is believed to have completed his collegiate eligibility in Australia. He warned MSC officials to sideline him until a conference committee can hand down a ruling next month.

Bribe Offer Told by Former Champion

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Former welterweight champion Fritz Zivic, in a story appearing under his byline in Sunday's Pittsburgh Press, said he rejected offers of $15,000 and $25,000 to throw title fights against Henry Armstrong.

In the story, told by Zivic to press sports writer Roy McHugh, the former champion said the bribes were offered him in 1940 and 1941 by the late Eddie Meade, then Armstrong's manager.

In each case, Zivic said he spurned the offer and went on to defeat Armstrong.

Crane Rally Too Late

Cranbrook's Inter-State Prep School League basketball record was evened at 1-1 Saturday as the Cranes dropped a 63-60 decision to Cleveland University School at Cleveland.

Cranbrook trailed by 13 points in the 4th quarter, then staged a rally that fell three points short of the Ohioans. Owen Fett of the Cranes took point honors with 25. Cranbrook's season record is 6-4.

Outlook Brighter Alston Sees Key Men Regaining Hitting Form

NINTH OF A-SERIES BY WALTER ALSTON BROOKLYN DODGERS

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — The 1955 National League season should be a more interesting one for the Dodger fans, the players and for myself. I think the club will give a better account of itself.

Our biggest weakness last year seemed to be in the pitching plus the failure of some of our key hitters to live up to their expectations. I look for these fellows to regain their batting form in 1955.

I expect the club to be stronger than last year for several reasons. First of all, Roy Campanella has assured me his hand will be all right. That's a great relief. I don't have to remind you how much his loss hurt us last year. A sound Campanella could mean anything between 10 and 15 more victories.

Also, a healthy Johnny Podres should mean several added victories. Johnny was one of our most consistent winners until he was sidelined because of an appendicitis operation. He should be one of the best young pitchers in the league in '55. Karl Spooner, who broke in so sensationally with 27 strikeouts in his first two major league starts, both shutouts, last September, should help.

I believe even with Podres healthy and Spooner, we would still need more pitching help unless Don Newcombe can come back with a good year. That's something we won't know until next summer.

It's difficult for anyone to predict a pennant in a league where so many teams have a good chance to win. However, I believe Dodgers, Giants and Braves have the best chance with Cincinnati, Philadelphia and St. Louis having outside chances.

Wolverine Ace Turns in Top College Mile

'M' Thinclads Beat Notre Dame, 80-34, in Dual Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
University of Michigan's track team, led by record-breaking miler John Moule, defeated Notre Dame 80-34 in a dual meet at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Moule, a Hamilton, Ont., product, won the mile in four minutes 9.9 seconds—the best time turned in this year by a collegian.

Moule's time surpassed the Yost Fieldhouse record of 4:10.7 set by Ohio State's Len Truxen in 1950. A total of four meet records and one fieldhouse mark were broken and one meet and two fieldhouse records tied during the test.

At East Lansing, Michigan State's thinclads finished 3rd in the quadrangular meet. Missouri won the test with 54 points, followed by Penn State with 45½, MSC with 37 and Ohio State with 30½.

Prior to the meet, MSC's All-American high-jumping star Doug Stuart was ruled ineligible. Big 10 Commissioner Tug Wilson said that Stuart is believed to have completed his collegiate eligibility in Australia. He warned MSC officials to sideline him until a conference committee can hand down a ruling next month.

Cold Doesn't Hinder Berg

Links Ace Sniffles, but Holds 1-Stroke Lead at St. Pete's

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — If Patty Berg hangs onto her cold she might protect her slim lead and win the $5,000 St. Petersburg Women's Golf tournament which ends today.

Nursing a cold since the tournament started, Patty held a 1-stroke lead over defending titlist Beverly Hanson of Mindio, Calif.

Miss Berg shot a 71 the first day, then after a 74's rest came back with a 74 to go into the lead while scores of most of the healthier girls went sky high.

She shot a 73 Sunday for a 54-hole total of 218 on the 6,116-yard par-74 Sunset Country Club course.

Jones, Norkus Have Big Ring Dates This Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones and Charley Norkus get the "once in a lifetime" chance this week to muscle into the big money in boxing.

Jones, an upset winner over Sugar Ray Robinson after losing five in a row, gets a non-title shot at middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson Wednesday at Chicago in the same ring where he whipped Sugar Ray. If Jones should win, or even make it close in an exciting bout, he might get a crack at the crown next summer.

Norkus' big chance comes Friday at Madison Square Garden against Ezzard Charles, the former heavyweight champion. On the strength of a knockout over Charley Powell, highly touted former football star, and a decision over Roland LaStarza, Norkus is No. 9 among the contenders.

Scramble for Leading Quintets Under Way

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The annual scramble between the National Invitation Tournament and the NCAA for good basketball teams moved into high gear today with the NIT expected to announce three more clubs for its Madison Square Garden event.

In recent years, the NCAA appeared to get the better of the crop because the 15 conference winners across the nation are required to play in its tournament. The NIT has had to take the leftovers, some of whom had poor records.

This season — a crazy, mixed-up one for the collegians — the NIT could come up with the better team. The Garden already has lured Dayton, Duquesne and Cincinnati and is on the prowl for as many more of the top independents.

ents as it can grab off before the NCAA gets down to serious business.

Marquette, which boasts a winning streak of 18 games — longest in the country, is the only school in the NCAA field of 24 so far and it appeared that the NCAA might be getting somewhat worried over the NIT. It rarely selects any of its nine at-large teams so early.

All other things being equal, the NIT is at an advantage where the independents are concerned. Rather than wait for an at-large bid to the NCAA which may never come, many schools prefer to take the gravy while it's there if the NIT comes through with an offer.

Weekend Wins Put Wings in Reach of Top

Now Only One Point Back of Canadiens in NHL Title Race

DETROIT (AP) — A pair of weekend road victories has brought the National Hockey League Championship back within the reach of the Detroit Red Wings.

Wings pulled to within one point of league-leading Montreal last night with a 5-1 runaway over the Black Hawks. The Canadiens were upset 4-1 by the New York Rangers.

Saturday night the Wings beat Toronto, 4-1.

The Wings can take over 1st place when they meet Chicago here tomorrow while Montreal is idle.

Capt. Ted Lindsay touched off last night's rout with an opening goal in the 2nd period. Lindsay also assisted on Gordie Howe's marker at 14:50 of the 2nd period. Dutch Reibel's goal at 10:56 of the 3rd and Marcel Pronovost's tally at 16:48 of the last stanza.

Marty Pavelich added the other counter for Detroit at 16:43 of the 2nd period.

Larry Wilson scored Chicago's lone marked in the 1st minute of the final period.

Glenn Hall, subbing for Terry Sawchuk in the net, held off 28 attempts last night—three less than he faced Saturday night against Toronto.

Hank Bassen, Chicago's rookie goalie, stopped 42.

Westminster Show Opens

'Blue-Blood Pooches' Take Over NY Garden for Annual Event

NEW YORK (AP) — The blue blood pooches of the nation—2,537 of them—took over Madison Square Garden today for the venerable Westminster Kennel Club dog show—the 79th edition of the event.

All day today, and far into the night, the breeds were down for judging. Then, tomorrow afternoon, three group winners will be selected. During the evening session the other three finalists will be sent before Albert E. Van Court of Los Angeles, who has the task of picking out the top canine in the land. He will decide at about 11 p.m. (EST).

The defending champion, Ch. Carmor's Rise and Shine, a bull terrier, was not on hand, so the competition figured to be wide open.

Ted Young Jr., who handled Rise and Shine last year, instead went with Ch. Taylor's Dark Knight, another Cocker, belonging to Dr. Gilbert Taylor of Glen Head, N. Y. Young is high on Dark Knight. He did not give any reason for not bringing Shiny back.

Charles, making his first start since his two losing fights with Rocky Marciano last year, is No. 3 among the challengers.

Gene Fullmer, one of the bright new stars in the middleweight division with 27 straight victories, bumps up against clever Paul Pender, of Boston, in an interesting match tonight at Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn.

ABC will telecast.

Jackie Blair, Dallas veteran of 111 fights, visits New York for the second time of his career to box Kenny Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

the weekly Associated Press poll, but the Dons have agreed to play in the NCAA as an at-large representative if they win their loosely organized California Conference title.

The three teams the NIT will announce today probably will come from among the Eastern powers. Manhattan, which appears to be about the best of the New York schools, probably will get a call to inject some local talent in the event. The Jaspers have a 14-3 record.

Second could be Holy Cross (15-1 last year). The third could come from a large group which includes St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., Niagara, Connecticut and Canisius. The guess is Connecticut, which boasts an impressive 17-3 mark.

St. George 5 Falls in Annual GOYA Cage Tournament Here

Pontiac St. George, host team in the 3rd annual Greek Orthodox Youth Association basketball tournament here, was eliminated 79-42 yesterday by Detroit Assumption.

Defending champion Flint Assumption clinched a spot in next Sunday's finals by ousting Detroit Annunciation 60-49. Yeotis paced Flint with 19 points. Saginaw St. Demetrius edged Flint St. Nicholas 60-34 in a losers' bracket contest.

Championship game, set for next Sunday at the Pontiac Boy's Club, will follow a consolation tilt between Saginaw St. Demetrius and Detroit St. Constantine and Helene at 6:30 p.m.

No date was set for the wedding.

Santee, Nielsen 'Burn Out' in First Half, Dwyer Paces Self to Easy Mile Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Out of all the furor accompanying Fred Dwyer's mile victory over the two "invincibles"—Wes Santee and Gunnar Nielsen—came an inescapable conclusion today:

The four-minute mile indoors is a long way off.

If Santee runs himself out with a 1:50 half, as he did in the Baxter Mile of the New York A.C. Games Saturday night, there isn't much hope. A miler has to come close to two minutes for the half if he is going to cross the finish in four minutes.

Titans Facing Another 'Skid'

Bow to St. Louis on Saturday; Chances Slim Against Marquette

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The University of Detroit Titans appear to have little chance of halting their five-game basketball skid tonight when they meet Marquette—currently one of the hottest teams in the nation.

St. Louis University capped the Titans' decline Saturday night and all but nailed Detroit to last place in the Missouri Valley Conference with an 80-68 decision.

The defeat—Detroit's 6th in eight MVC games—followed a familiar pattern. Titans took an early 17-2 commanding lead, dropped into a 34-34 halftime deadlock and crumbled under a 2nd half Billiken rush. Guy Sparrow, Titan ace, had 22 points.

'Vote of Confidence' Given LLRA Group

A special meeting of the Land O'Lakes Racing Association was held Sunday morning at which time it was decided unanimously to continue the organization under the same leadership.

Gene Chidester of Dayton Plains, president of the Land O'Lakes Association, stated that the group expected to maintain its working agreement with Michigan Modified Stock Car Racing Association, which in the past has had the racing sanction at Motor City and Flat Rock Speedways.

Land O'Lakes also was represented at an afternoon meeting of CARS, at which president Ed Jones outlined that organization's rules and regulations.

Wiggly Business

Students Work Way Through Medical School by Raising, Selling Earthworms

WASHINGTON (UP)—A lot of doctors have worked their way through college. But name me a lady doctor who has turned the trick by selling oligochaetous of the genus lumbricus.

(Translated, those two tongue-twisters add up to the lowly earthworm, referred to on the waterfront as the fish or wiggle worm, and sometimes as night crawlers.)

I know two lovely young ladies who are in the business of producing better worms, and the wigglers are helping to further their education.

Pamela Leech of Chevy Chase, Md., and Margaret Lucille Lambert, of Arlington, Va., both are juniors at the George Washington University Medical School here. The two friends are not in partnership, exactly. The whole thing began like this:

Pamela heard that a couple in the area had a basement full of worms and planned to go out of business. She also learned the entire stock had a potential income of $12,000 a year—a sum which would buy a lot of medical books and "X" number of scalpels. She couldn't afford the whole lot, but she bought 1,000 for $10.

At first she bedded her investment down in a barrelful of the good earth in her mother's basement.

Soon, with little worms coming along at a mad rate, as little worms do, the family outgrew its "home," so Pamela had a 5-foot square aluminum pit planted in the back yard. She filled this with equal parts of clay, grass clippings and waste.

"Before I knew it," she said, "the word got around and orders started coming in. I charge a penny a worm."

Pamela told her friend, Margaret, what had happened and that gave Margaret an idea. She started a wiggle farm of her own.

Who on earth would pay money for an earthworm?

Well, Margaret and Pamela have learned that a lot of people will. Fishing lodges buy a lot, but the best business is with gardeners.

"The small farmer has learned the value of having worms around the place," Margaret said.

A worm is bound to turn, and while turning he perforates the soil, giving the earth a needed breath of air. Worms, of the wiggle type, also fertilize the soil, hasten decay and turn the ground over.

Freeman Wins Tourney Honor

Waterford Schoolman Skier Wins Class A Event on Form

Form overcame distance as Dave Freeman, Waterford High coach, won the Class A division of the Kendhar Ski-Club's tournament at Pontiac Lake Sunday.

Freeman's form earned him 146.4 points, while Earl Hill of Iron Mountain and Detroit finished 3rd although he had the day's longest jump. Paul Jacobs of Iron Mountain was 2nd with 145.3 points. Hill's total was 145.

Hill twice hit 112 feet, which equalled the Kandahar record, and he was the winner of the long standing jump with his second 112-foot effort.

Freeman's two competitive jumps were 108 and 107 feet, Jacobs' were 107 and 105, but he also bettered Hill in form points. A total of 22 jumpers participated in three classes before a large turnout of spectators (3,000). William Hyvonen of Ferndale won the senior class with 125.2 points and Walter Hyry of Clawson topped a large Class B field with 143.3 points.

John Tessmer of Rochester was 2nd among the seniors and Eldon Hyry of Detroit was runnerup to his brother in Class B.

Judges for the meet, sanctioned by the Central U. S. Ski Association, were E. C. Drowdahl and Ed Newman of Detroit.

The results:

Class A—1-Dave Freeman, Waterford and Iron Mountain, 146.4 points; 2-Paul Jacobs, Iron Mountain, 145.3; 3-Earl Hill, Detroit and Iron Mountain, 145.3. Senior Class—1-William Hyvonen, Ferndale, 125.2; 2-Dan Gutierrez, Briar Hill, 123.4; 3-John Tessmer, Rochester, 123.3. 4-Andrew Baisch, Kandahar, 117.7.

Class B—1-Walter Hyry, Clawson, 143.3; 2-Eldon Hyry, Detroit, 138.1; 3-John Tessmer, Briar Hill, 138.1; 4-Lester Orsquo, 128.3; 5-Bank Jusimien, Briar Hill, 127.5; 6-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2; 7-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2; 8-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2; 9-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2; 10-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2; 11-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2; 12-Mel Cook, Briar Hill, 127.2.

Texan Shoots 65 in Final Round to Grab Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP)—He plain outdistanced me."

That's the way Bud Holscher, Santa Monica, Calif., saw it when Tommy Bolt, Houston, Tex., came from behind to clip four strokes off par yesterday in the final four holes to win the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Bolt's 65 yesterday gave him a 72-hole total of 268 for the 6,400-yard, par-70 El Rio course and the tourney's top prize of $2,000 for the second time in a row.

Holscher and Art Wall Jr., Pocomo Manor, Pa., collected $1,200 each by finishing in a two-way tie for second with 11-under-par 269s. Little Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, finished with a 64 for a total of 272 to earn $800.

Bolt credited Tucson's 80-degree temperature yesterday with an assist in his victory. A cold had bothered him earlier in the week.

Holscher started the final round leading Bolt by a stroke and Wall by four. The trip drew into a three-way tie with a birdie on the 12th. All parred the 13th. A birdie 3 on the 14th gave Holscher back a one-stroke lead.

Bolt called the 15th and 16th the "payoff holes."

A 20-foot putt netted him a birdie on the 15th, pulling him even with Holscher, who settled for par, along with Wall.

Bolt got a birdie and Wall a par 4 on the comparatively simple 16th. For the third time in four days Holscher went over par on the same hole. His second shot was trapped.

Bolt now had a two-stroke lead. All had par 4s on the 17th.

"I knew I had the tournament won when I left the 18th tee," Bolt said later. "The 15th and 16th had done it."

Just to make sure, Bolt sank a 30-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the last hole. Wall's chip shot from 70 feet away on the same hole placed him in position for a birdie. Holscher had to birdie the hole to tie Wall.

Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., the big money winner on the winter tour so far, was well back with 289 and out of the money.

Pontiac Woman Bowler Leads in State Tourney

Pontiac entries gave a good account of themselves over the weekend in the 29th annual Michigan Women's bowling tournament at Jackson.

Mildred Motter posted a 660 total to take over the lead in the singles handicap event. Her 549 actual score gave her 4th place in that event.

In doubles, Doris Lanktree-Viola Cargill placed 2nd with 984. Joanne Padar-Lee Nolan were 3rd with 970 and Genevieve Bradley-Eva Bull were 4th with 961. Eva Miller-Olive Bogard were 4th in doubles handicap standings with 1165, followed by Eleanor Strawn-Anne Bower, 1148.

Service Window placed 3rd in team actual event with 2378 and 2nd in handicap with 2756. Ackerman's was 5th in actual with 2325 and Alexander Engineering was 4th in handicap with 2734.

Tourney will run through June 4.

Qualifying Held Today for Mixed 4-Some Test

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—More than 90 teams of golfers, including some of the nation's top amateur titleholders, shot qualifying rounds Monday for the annual mixed foursome tournament held at the Everglades Club.

They were competing for 80 berths in five flights that will make up the tournament.

Bob Considine Says:

Balloons by Thousands Float Across Iron Curtain

NEW YORK (INS)—One of the most devastating weapons in the world today is a plastic balloon about as big and harmless looking as your Aunt Emma. Filled with helium it rises to a great height, is borne along with the prevailing wind and by various means drops that which it is carrying—leaflets saying, in effect, "Arise, slaves, you have friends on the free side of the Iron Curtain."

The Fraternal Order of Eagles has lent its good offices to the group that bankrolls the balloon leaflet program—the Crusade for Freedom, the organization that can do and say things that the Voice of America doesn't feel it can.

Sen. Alexander Wiley officiated the other day when the Eagles launched 2,000 of the freedom gas bags from the steps of the Fraternity's Grand Aerie in Milwaukee.

This was the highlight of the 187 community demonstration sponsored by the Eagles to raise "truth dollars" for the Crusade and to let people in general know that such psychological warfare is being waged overseas.

Some of the satellite countries have become so upset over the blizzards of balloons which float their way that they've sent up fighter planes to shoot them down (which serves only to distribute the free world's propaganda that much more extensively.)

If you want to invest a buck in this work of lobbying messages of good cheer to the millions of slaves beyond the curtain, send it to Crusade for Freedom, 345 East 46th St., New York 17, N.Y.

Dennis Day tells the story of the man who had terrible difficulty making up his mind. He dreamed an "either-or" decision but found himself confronted with some beauty. He was left $4,000,000 but had to accept it in either Chile or Brazil. After long deliberation he chose Brazil.

Turned out that if he had chosen Chile he would have invested his inheritance in land, on which uranium, gold and silver was immediately discovered. In Brazil he was told that one of the provisions of the will was that he invest the fortune either in coffee or nuts. He chose nuts. The bottom fell out of the nut market and coffee promptly went up 80 cents a pound.

He sold his watch, walked to the airport, put the money through the ticket window and said, "Gimme a one way passage back to the U.S." To his dismay the ticket-seller said, "For that money you can fly either to New York or Los Angeles." After some torment of soul, the poor stiff said, "Los Angeles."

Immediately, the New York plane taxied up. It was a brand-new super-duper job with red carpets, chic people and hot and cold running hostesses. The Los Angeles plane followed. It was a Ford trimotor with a sway back, filled with shawled women, crying children and tethered goats. It took a day for it to become airborne. Over the Andes it's nose engine fell off.

Our man crawled up to the cockpit and said, "I'm the Jonah on this ship. Let me out, if you want to save your lives." The pilot agreed, but added, "On this airline, anybody who bails out must wear two chutes."

So he jumped with the two chutes and fell free for some time, trying to make up his mind which ripcord to pull. Finally he chose the one on the left. Only the wire pulled loose. Desperately he pulled the other handle. The chute opened but its shroud lines snapped. Now he was falling through space and in his anguish cried out, "Dear St. Francis, save me."

A great hand reached down from Heaven, seized the hapless fellow by the wrist and let him dangle in mid-air. And then a gentle but inquisitive voice asked, "St. Francis Xavier or St. Francis of Assisi?"

Retirement income should equal at least 50 per cent of the pre-retirement income.

He's Not So Dead

WIPPERFUERTH, Germany (INS) — A West German applied for government compensation and discovered he had been officially dead for more than ten years. According to government records, he had been shot in 1944 while trying to escape from a Nazi concentration camp.

'Lee' Just Took Long Rest Cure

Denies He Will Take Any of Many Offers for Jobs on His Own

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Despite his own recent solo performances, George Liberace says he and his piano-playing brother intend to continue as a team.

The candelabra king, who uses only the family name Liberace but is called "Lee" by his family and friends, recently took an enforced rest of several weeks to recuperate from overstrain.

Admittedly annoyed by speculation that a splitup is in the offing, George explains that his own appearances on the George Gobel show, Masquerade Party and other programs were occasioned by his brother's trip to the sidelines.

"It's true I've had a lot of offers to go out on my own but I don't want to," George declares.

The speculation has been heightened by George's recording of a number of his own records for Columbia and his guest appearances on disk jockey shows to plug them. But he says there's no such significance in those activities either.

"Lee is fine now," said George. "We have completed two more television shows and one radio show. The rest of him a world of good and it's well he had it because we have a busy year ahead."

The 1955 schedule will include a Warner Brothers feature movie starring Liberace, due to go into production in May.

George was a successful violinist playing with name bands when he decided to team up with his brother in 1947.

Consider Move in Race Incident

Miami GOP May Take Legal Action Against Hotel in Negro Ouster

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Officers of the Dade County GOP Executive Committee meet today to consider whether legal action will be taken against a Miami hotel owner who refused to permit Negroes in the hotel dining room for a Lincoln Day dinner.

The meeting was called after 24 Negroes, most of them members of the county Republican organization, were asked to leave the Urmy dining room Saturday night by Hotel President E. M. Cloughton.

Mark Casper, attorney for the county GOP committee, said he would ask for a damage suit of "between $250,000 and $500,000," charging the hotel owner with a partial breach of contract which the GOP committee had with the hotel restaurant.

The attorney said he was also checking to see "if action might be brought for violation of the civil rights of the Negroes."

The Negroes were invited to the meeting by Wesley Garrison, Republican state committeeman and a co-chairman of the Lincoln Day dinner. When they left the dining room at Cloughton's request, Garrison and some 150 of the 425 white guests followed them.

A scuffle ensued between several banquet officials and hotel officials. Casper said he was also considering filing a personal assault and battery charge against Cloughton, his son E. N. Cloughton Jr. and A. W. Corbett, secretary of the hotel.

Cloughton told reporters later. "It was unfortunate that the Negroes should have to be subjected to the incident. I had told the dinner officials last Wednesday that they could not be served and I was surprised to see them there."

Paris has a population of almost 6½ million.

Their selection is based on returns from ballots mailed to 3500 disc jockeys who are currently urging the nation to "turn the tables on heart disease." Eddie and Patti will receive their crowns at the highlight of a nationwide TV program, "Here's to Your Heart," on Feb. 19.

Dead Playgirl to Be Autopsied

'Tommye' Adams, 31, Fiancee of Jessel, May Be Suicide

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—An autopsy is to be performed tomorrow to determine the cause of death of Abigail (Tommye) Adams, actress and Hollywood playgirl who was engaged for years to George Jessel, famed comedian and master of ceremonies.

The striking brunette, 31, was found dead in bed in her Beverly Hills apartment after a night of nightclubbing with Max Marks, a Calabasas drug store owner.

Police Sgt. A. J. Gebhard said the beauty appeared to have taken a suicidal overdose of sedatives.

However, it was not definite that she did. There were no suicide notes and there were no pill bottles in her apartment.

Miss Adams' death ended a life that had been marked by numerous stormy episodes during eight years in Hollywood. She and Jessel engaged in repeated spats, broke up and then made up again.

They were not engaged when she died and he said he had seen little of her during the last year and a half because he spent much of his time in New York, working in television. He was last out with her last Friday, when he took her to the horse races.

The actress appeared on the Hollywood scene in 1947, when she was signed by Columbia pictures after a Broadway appearance with Olsen and Johnson in "Sons of Fun."

Her publicity described her as a descendant of the early-day American presidents, John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

She never achieved any prominence in pictures, but she was widely known in Hollywood, both as Jessel's fiancée and for the clashes and incidents she was involved in.

Man Takes Bus Home, Then Brings It Back

DETROIT (AP)—Monroe Reeves, 24, Detroit, took a bus home yesterday—but his conscience bothered him so he brought it back.

Reeves fell asleep on a downtown bus and found himself alone in the bus at the terminal when he awoke. He drove the bus home. But he returned 15 minutes later because "my conscience hurt."

Still May Hold Formosa Talks

Nehru Reveals Plans for Conference on China Not Scrapped Yet

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India said today an international conference on the Formosa question is still under consideration.

He told reporters at London Airport that any such conference "obviously cannot exclude any party concerned."

Nehru made his remarks when asked for comment on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's proposal for a 10-power conference without Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists attending.

The United States and Britain have made it clear they will not participate in a Formosa conference from which the Chinese Nationalists are barred, Nehru said, however, that "I am not aware that Britain has rejected" the Molotov proposal. He did not elaborate.

The British Foreign Office, in a statement Saturday night, said a conference such as Molotov proposed "does not appear to be representative."

"A conference that did not include both of the two parties most directly concerned (Nationalist as well as Communist China) could not have a useful result," the statement said.

Nehru came to London two weeks ago for the meeting of Commonwealth prime ministers. During his stay the neutralist Indian Premier was busy in behind-the-scenes negotiations on the Formosa question.

Money Motive in Bomb Slaying

Wealthy Texan Says Pair Who Killed Wife Meant to Get Him

DALLAS (AP)—A wealthy Texas architect whose wife was killed by a car-bomb says "money, money and more money" was the motive and "I was the one they were trying to get."

Harry E. Weaver, 60, talked freely but nervously yesterday on an airline flight from San Angelo to Dallas.

His attractive, socially prominent wife, Helen, 31, got into her husband's car last Jan. 19, turned the key to start it and died when a bomb hidden under the hood exploded. It happened in San Angelo, their home.

Their former son-in-law, Harry L. Washburn, 38, of Houston, and Andrew H. Nelson, 45, a jail-breaking ex-convict, were indicted for murder Saturday by a grand jury at San Angelo. The indictments alleged the bomb trap was set for Weaver, not his wife. The panel named Nelson as an accomplice who showed Washburn how to rig a dynamite bomb to the electrical system of a car. Both are held at San Angelo.

Weaver, a stout, well-dressed man, was en route yesterday to San Francisco to continue his work as a nonsalaried civilian consultant for the Navy public works program.

"I've got to find something to do, to keep from thinking what happened to Momma," he told The Associated Press. "I guess I haven't gotten more than three or four hours of sleep a night since this thing happened."

Actor Dies Quipping About Death Scene

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Tom Moore, 71, a star of the stage and silent films, died Saturday of cancer with a quip as his last words.

His wife, stage and television actress Eleanor Merry, said Moore's final words were: "I certainly will know how to play a death scene from now on."

Moore who had played opposite most of the top feminine stars during his heyday as a silent screen idol had been ill about a year. His last appearance was with Doris Kenyon on a TV show.

Sees Full-Scale Ransom Inquiry

Paper Claims at Least 12 to Testify in Probe of Greenlease Payoff

ST. LOUIS (U)—The Globe-Democrat reported today that a dozen or more witnesses are expected to be called in a "full-fledged" federal grand jury investigation into the missing $300,000 Greenlease ransom money.

The newspaper, which did not give the source of its information nor disclose names of the witnesses, said the inquiry is scheduled to begin today.

A federal grand jury at Kansas City investigated the kidnap-slitting case more than a year ago and indicted Louis Shoulders and Elmer Dolan, former St. Louis police officers who broke the case, for perjury.

Both Shoulders and Dolan were convicted on charges they lied to the Kansas City jury about the way they handled suitcases found to contain about half the $600,000 ransom after Carl Austin Hall's arrest in a St. Louis hotel in October 1953. The rest of the money is still missing.

Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Heady, later were executed for the kidnap-killing of Bobby Greenlease, 6-year-old son of a wealthy Kansas City auto dealer.

Gen. Somervell, 62, Expires in Florida

OCALA, Fla. (U)—Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, 62, who commanded the Army Service Forces in World War II, died of a heart attack yesterday at his Florida home.

Since retiring from the Army in 1946, he had been president and chairman of the board of Koppers Co. Inc., manufacturer of industrial machinery and industrial by-products at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Somervell, a native of Little Rock, Ark., graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1914. His experience with the Corps of Engineers won him a variety of assignments in and out of government.

Funeral services will be held in the chapel at Ft. Myer, Va., Thursday. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Atom Expert Urges Nations Seek Peace

HAMBURG, Germany (U)—Otto Hahn, German Nobel Prize winner and the first scientist to split uranium, urged the big powers last night to seek peaceful coexistence lest mankind "extinguish itself."

Describing the horrors of future war, Hahn said the explosion of 10 cobalt-coated hydrogen bombs could endanger continuation of human life, "no matter where they are dropped."
