Tear Gas Quells Riot at Kingston Prison

GUARDS MOVE IN—Guards at Kingston, Ont. penitentiary move into the prison yard with tear gas to quell rioting prisoners yesterday. Inmates had started a fire in the prison trade shop, then prevented firemen from entering the yard. Police and armed soldiers force their way into the area with rifles as the fire is extinguished.

Cloudy, Cooler Weather on Tap for City Tonight

Pontiac area residents will have cloudy and cooler weather tonight and Tuesday, the U. S. Weather Bureau predicts, with thundershowers this afternoon.

A low tonight of 60-64 and high Tuesday of 76-80 are forecast.

Saturday's temperatures remained cool all day with a range of only 61 to 72. Rainfall reached .37 of an inch.

Sunday the mercury ranged from 68 to 88 degrees in downtown Pontiac.

This morning at 8:00 the temperature stood at 73 and reached 76 at 2 p.m.

Forty Six Die in Plane Crash

Twin Engine Airliner Evacuating Refugees Plunges Into River

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—A twin-engine cargo plane evacuating Vietnamese refugees from Hanoi crashed in the Se Don River near Pakse in southern Laos yesterday, killing 46 persons. Most of the dead were women and children.

Three of the four French crewmen and a Vietnamese woman and child were the only survivors.

The plane had taken off from Hanoi for Saigon with the refugees, fleeing occupation of that area by the Communist-led Vietminh.

Airport authorities at Pakse said the pilot had radioed an hour before the crash that one of the engines of his Bristol plane had conked out and he was heading for the Pakse landing strip. Coming in for the landing, the plane suddenly nosed into the river a mile short of its goal.

Gov. Williams, General Review State Guardsmen

GRAYLING — Between 12,000 and 15,000 visitors to the Michigan National Guard Encampment at Camp Grayling turned out Saturday to see Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams review troops of the State's 46th Infantry Division.

Williams and the "Iron Fist's" commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Gordon A. MacDonald, landed on the field at 3 p. m. in helicopters as the artillery pounded out a 19-gun salute to the governor.

Pontiac units, Company "M," 125th Infantry Regiment, and 107th Ordnance Co., were among the troops which stood at attention as Williams and Gen. MacDonald greeted those on the reviewing stand, and later motored past the troops in jeeps.

The guardsmen then wheeled to the music of the 46th Division Band and passed the reviewing

Hare Should Quit Fair Job to Run in Fall, Says GOP

DETROIT (AP) — Republicans began firing today at James M. Hare, nominated over the weekend by Democrats as their candidate for secretary of state.

And Hare and Democratic Gov. Williams fired right back.

John Feikens, Republican state chairman, called upon Hare to resign as manager of the Michigan State Fair forthwith. Hare said he had no intention of resigning and added "there shouldn't be one rule for their candidates and another for ours."

Feikens called a meeting today of state campaign assistants to discuss what he said was "the nominations made by the CIO bosses to the administrative board."

"We are particularly interested in the selection of their candidate for secretary of state. The Democrats had quite a record of mixing politics with the Michigan State Fair."

We feel, therefore, that Hare should immediately resign his position as manager of the Michigan State Fair so that it will not be turned into a political football by the Democrats."

Hare recalled that neither Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary nor State Treasurer D. Hale Brake resigned in their recent unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for governor.

Gov. Williams recalled at least two others who had campaigned as Republican nominees without resigning state office.

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, said: "The Republicans have a way of trying to make up new rules for politics as they go along."

While saying he had no intention of resigning as fair manager, Hare declined to comment on whether he would ask a leave of absence as manager after the forthcoming fair ends Sept. 12.

"I have a commitment here as manager of the fair," Hare said. "The fair is almost upon us and it's an 18-hour-a-day job. I (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

President Happy at Big Overhaul Job on System

Claims Slash of One Billion Plus Will Benefit American Economy

WASHINGTON (A P) — President Eisenhower today signed into law the biggest tax revision program in history—what he called a "monumental" overhaul that will "benefit all Americans."

The new law, Eisenhower said in a statement, will "help millions of Americans by giving them a fairer tax treatment." At the same time, he added, it "will help our economy expand and thus add materially to the strength of our nation."

The new law brings about tax reductions of $1,363,000,000 in the first year, and more later on, for millions of individuals and nearly all corporations.

Ten members of Congress looked on as the President signed the bill. Eisenhower kept switching pens, using enough so that each of the Congress members could have one as a souvenir.

Holding up the 929-page bill, the President grinned and remarked: "I must say that represents a long, long bunch of work."

"Boy," he exclaimed, "there's a lot of work in there for lawyers."

Eisenhower said the bill is part of a comprehensive program which since last Jan. 1, "will have provided for tax cuts totaling $7,400,000,000—the largest dollar tax cut in any year in the nation's history."

"I congratulate the Congress and its leaders," Eisenhower said in his statement, "for having enacted this monumental tax revision."

In a brief analysis, the President broke the bill down into benefits for individuals, those he said will help the economy, provisions for "much needed clarification" of the tax laws, and devices for closing more than 50 loopholes through which he said some taxpayers may have tried to avoid "their fair share of the tax burden."

As examples of fairer tax treatment for individuals, Eisenhower singled out these:

Parents of dependent children can keep them as dependents regardless of how much the children earn.

Retired persons will get extra tax credits.

Taxpayers now will be able to claim some non-relatives as dependents.

Farmers will be allowed to deduct part of the cost of soil and water conservation.

Deductions for medical expenses will be more liberal.

Deductions are provided for working widows and many other mothers for child care expenses.

Says Iran Parliament to OK Oil Agreement

TEHRAN, Iran, (AP) — Premier Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi said today the Majlis, the powerful lower House of Parliament, is certain to ratify the new agreement settling the British-Iranian oil dispute.

In an interview on the first anniversary of his premiership, the royalist leader said:

"Majlis deputies are patriots and will approve the action taken by the government which serves them. There will be opposition, but it will be minor."

Representatives of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., which developed the Iranian industry, five American companies and Dutch and French firms reached a 25-year agreement with Iran early this month for operation of the nationalized properties.

'54 Dem Convention Ends, Clark J. Adams Stays Out

By ROBERT F. MAHER
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

GRAND RAPIDS—Weary Oakland County Democratic delegates trickled from Grand Rapids' Civic Auditorium Saturday after a tiring six-hour convention in which they helped nominate four running mates for Gov. Williams in November.

Harmony was the keyword throughout the convention though Oakland County's delegates became rankled when Thomas M. Kavanaugh of Carson City was unanimously nominated attorney general while they were in caucus.

The delegates admitted, however, that they had planned to back the 45-year-old Kavanaugh for the post and hesitated to protest the oversight for fear of causing dissension.

The majority of delegates was in favor of backing Kavanaugh after Clark J. Adams of Pontiac, former Supreme Court justice, refused to let himself be considered for the post.

A solid draft movement had been under way to inveigle Adams into accepting the nomination as Oakland County's favorite son, but he remained steadfast in his decision to stay in the background.

Also nominated with the solid backing of Oakland's 83 votes were: secretary of state, James (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Postpone Trial of 5 Teamsters

Officials of AFL Locals Scheduled to Appear in Court Next Monday

DETROIT (AP)—Trial of five officers and business agents of Detroit and Pontiac AFL Teamsters unions was postponed today until next Monday. They are charged with conspiracy to extort.

Today's postponement was at request of Assistant Prosecutor John W. Gilmore. The defense won a week's delay last Monday from Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis.

Indicted on four counts and being brought to trial were: Mike E. Nicoletti, 43, president and business agent of Teamsters Local 247.

Daniel J. Keating, 51, president and business agent of Local 614, Pontiac.

Frank E. Fitzsimmons, 45, vice president of Local 299.

Louis Lintea, business agent of Local 614, Pontiac.

The reported shakedown was said by police to have involved work on Detroit expressways, other civic projects, and various Detroit-area defense jobs.

Charges against Anthony J. Luzzo, 38, another business agent for Local 247, were dismissed on a prosecutor's office motion after his examination.

The assistant prosecutor said the pair would be charged today with simple larceny and also will face probation violation penalties when recaptured.

Fair Attended by Over 50,000

4-H Event Concludes With Northville Entrant Winning Horse Show

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Over 50,000 people attended this year's five-day Oakland County 4-H Fair, with Saturday's rain failing to dampen the enthusiasm of either young horsemen or spectators at the all-day horse show.

"This was the most successful 4-H Fair year in history," said John Bray, manager of the fair.

Concluding the annual fair, the horse show had over 100 young 4-H horsemen riding in both English and western saddles. They slowed their paces considerably to cope with the muddy track in the show arena at the fairgrounds, with the judges taking cover on the center stage beneath huge canvas umbrellas.

Seventeen-year-old Cynthia Gates from the Lucky Horse Shoe Club at Northville, took the top honor at the end of the afternoon when she was presented the award for the championship horse.

Ironically, Cynthia's Lady Prim was borrowed from one of her friends a few weeks ago when her own horse died of poisoning.

"I had planned all year for this, and Lady Prim certainly showed herself to be the real thoroughbred she is," said Cynthia.

A senior in Northville High School, Cynthia will take Lady Prim to Lansing soon for the state show.

Frances Spencer of Farmington, a member of the Avondale Horse Club, received a ribbon for her reserve champion horse.

In the showmanship class, representing both western and English entrants, Virginia Dudley, an Avondale club member, took the first spot, with Barbara Groom of Livonia, second; Zander Duffield, Rochester, third; Tom Leach, Avondale, fourth, and Frances Spencer, fifth.

Congressmen Will Push Plan Approved by Ike

Measure Would Make Red Setup Unlawful and Without Rights

WASHINGTON (A P) — Congressional leaders agreed at a White House conference today to try to push through Congress a new bill to outlaw the Communist party as such.

In a session with President Eisenhower, the decision was to get the House to pass a measure declaring the Communist party is unlawful and without any rights.

It would not make membership in the party by individuals unlawful. But Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said the government already can go after individual Communists, and is doing so, under the Smith Act which makes it illegal to conspire to overthrow the government.

The new approach is intended to supplant a bill that whipped through the Senate last week which would make it a crime to belong to the Communist party provided a person committed an overt act while a party member.

Ferguson explained the plan agreed upon today approaches the question from the standpoint of the Communist party as such rather than individual members.

Martin and Ferguson, the latter chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said the new plan is acceptable to the administration. They said Atty. Gen. Brownell sat in on the White House discussions this morning.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP Senate leader, told reporters he thought the House might pass the new bill today under a suspension of blue rules.

He said he also expects Senate action this week on three other anti-subversive bills that would make it easier to remove security risks who are employed in defense plants, tighten penalties for peacetime espionage, and deny pensions or other benefits to government employees who are convicted under loyalty actions or refuse to testify on such issues.

The administration had been dissatisfied with the bill passed by the Senate.

Without a dissenting vote, the Senate passed a bill providing stiff fines and jail terms for anyone holding membership in the Communist party.

Detective, Two Sergeants Named in Birmingham After Competitive Exams

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—Effective Sept. 1 the Birmingham Police Dept. will boast a new detective and two new sergeants.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley announced over the weekend the results of examinations taken last month, naming Robert Schaule, detective; Milton C. Jones, patrol sergeant; and Robert Pepperell, desk sergeant.

Seven men took the promotion exams for both the sergeants' posts, with three taking tests for detective.

Of the three men writing examinations for detective, Schaule placed first. In addition, he was top man for the jobs of patrol and desk sergeant.

With the force for the past 10 years, Schaule has done considerable extra study, Moxley said, which included attending the Institute of Applied Science in Chicago.

Jones came here from the Highland Park Police Dept. in 1917. He is a post created because of the 40-hour week. Moxley explained. Jones is a graduate of the Delahanty Police Institute, New York, and took the Northwestern University traffic institute course.

An 18-year-veteran of the force, Pepperell also will find new duties in the job of desk sergeant. Both the violations and drivers license bureaus will now come under his supervision.

"I am very pleased with the work all the men did," Moxley said. "I feel that all of us profited, even the men who didn't finish at the top of the examinations. They gained knowledge which will be of value on future exams."

After 35 years of service with the Birmingham Post Office, Mrs. Gladys Heinze will retire Aug. 31.

by employers need not pay any tax on this income, up to $100 a week.

Provisions affecting business, the President said, will "help our people produce better goods at cheaper prices." The tax law, he said, also will help create more jobs.

"This economic growth," he said, "will be fostered by such provisions as more flexible depreciation and better tax treatment of research and development costs, thus encouraging all business, large and small, to modernize and expand."

"And, partial reduction of the double taxation of income from dividends will stimulate the investment of savings by our private citizens and so make available the thousands of dollars that provide the plant, tools and power needed for each new job in America."

Seated on the President's right as he signed the tax bill was Chairman Dan Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee. On his left was Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Senate Finance Committee.

Clustered around in a semi-circle were House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and leading GOP members of the two committees.

manded by Capt. Carl G. Yarling, are enjoying a modern mess hall constructed of cinder blocks.

Something else is new in the ordinance unit's mess also, and that is the use of half a dozen mascots—boys between 12 and 16 who help with the cooking and preparation of food. The youngsters are relatives of guardsmen and are getting their first taste of kitchen police duty.

Capt. A. J. Largent's Company "M" has the highest paid cooks in camp. Master sergeants are taking the place of cooks who could not come to camp or who became ill shortly after the company's arrival. Both units put out food that tastes more like home cooking than anything the Army ever turned out.

Pontiac guardsmen, who put in a hard first week, will have more time this week for unit and specialist's training. Last week both companies were plagued with work details and recruits were absent taking their basic training in arms and drills.

Saturday the guard will break camp and return to home stations by military convoys and buses.

Youth Breaks Car Window With Fist

While four adult occupants sat in an auto at Roselawn Ave. and E. Pike St. Sunday night waiting to make a left turn, one of three teenage boys standing nearby approached the car and smashed the rear right window with his fist, Pontiac Police reported today.

Driver Mrs. Wellington Aikens, 50, of 22½ E. Huron St., told police that one of the occupants asked the youth, about 16, "what he wanted," as he neared the car.

"This is what I want," she quoted the juvenile as saying as he punched in the glass.

Mrs. Aikens said the three boys were standing on the corner of the intersection when the unprovoked incident occurred. The juveniles fled when Mrs. Aikens warned she was calling police.

Women Prefer Other Women as Paperhangers

ALDEN, N. Y. (INS)—Women prefer women paperhangers over men paperhangers, says Mrs. Earl Nehrboss, for nearly 30 of her 60-odd years a professional in the field.

Mrs. Nehrboss says that it isn't just because a woman can do a neater job of paperhanging than men. It's the extra service that the housewife gets from women paperhangers that counts.

"I can baste a roast in the oven, keep tabs on the baby when the mother is off shopping, answer the telephone or whip up lunch for home-to-school kids," Mrs. Nehrboss says. "What man paperhanger can do those things?"

Mrs. Nehrboss became a paperhanger 28 years ago to support her three children after her husband was disabled in an accident. She suggests it as a career for women who need to earn extra money.

Man Held as Suspect in Parking Lot Beating

Pontiac Police arrested William M. Shubert, 21, of 99 Parkhurst St. for investigation of assault and battery Saturday night when he allegedly attacked a 27-year-old man in a parking lot at 76 W. Huron St.

Police quoted Claude Stratton of 31 Hillside St. as saying he was about to enter his auto when Shubert struck him several times and knocked out one of his teeth. Stratton told police, who arrested Shubert in the lot, that he couldn't offer any reason for the attack.

An anonymous telephone call brought patrolmen to the scene within minutes, said Capt. Clark A. Wheaton, chief of detectives.

Efforts to haul a "sea-going" bulldozer out of Lower Straits Lake were continuing today.

The bulldozer belongs to Verne Richardson. He was cleaning up the beach for a cottage owners association at the Homestead. The bulldozer became stuck Sunday afternoon. Men worked to haul it out until 2:30 a.m. today and began again about 9 a.m.

Thus far they have uprooted one small tree and broken half a dozen cables.

Two Hospitalized for Crash Injuries

Two motorists whose autos hit head-on on Clarkson-Orion road about a mile west of Sashabaw road in Independence Township are in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Bullock, reported in good condition, has a compound skull fracture and a dislocated left hip. Mrs. Hartman is listed in left condition with a severe head injury.

Flanders in London, Suggests Big 4 Meet

LONDON (U.S. Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) today suggested a high level Big Four meeting to approve an independence treaty for Austria as "the first test of Soviet good faith."

Flanders said he thought President Eisenhower would be willing to attend such a conference "as long as the agenda was confined to Austria."

"The Austrian situation is simple and capable of solution," the senator said in an interview. "If we can't agree on that, we can't agree on anything."

Flanders, here on a vacation, blamed "pure nastiness" on the part of the Soviet rulers for failure to reach an agreement before now.

couldn't possibly campaign until the fair is over."

Gov. Williams said in Lansing that Republican demands for Hare's resignation were unadulterated political hokum and hypocrisy.

"The late Stuart B. White ran as the Republican nominee for attorney general in 1948 while a member of the Public Service Commission."

"James Hare has run an efficient and honest state fair... He was one of the prime movers in bringing about the grand jury which further helped maintain a clean state fair."

"There is no occasion in my mind for any resignation, and if the burden of campaigning weighed too heavily on state business, I am sure that Hare would be the first to ask for a leave of absence or made such other arrangements as necessary to maintain state fair operation at peak efficiency."

Progressive, Cocky Spirit Is Reflected in Vancouver

By JOE HAAS
PONTIAC PRESS Staff Writer

PRINCE RUPERT, British Columbia—At this last British port of call before the cruise ship enters Alaskan waters, a reflection on the spirit of Canada is in order.

With an area far in excess of that of the United States, and a population of only about one-fifteenth that of its southern neighbor, the Dominion of Canada is a land of extremes and contrasts.

Its total population is about that of only one of our 48 states, New York. This province of British Columbia is twice the size of Texas, but has a population less than twice that of Oakland County, with half of them living in one city, Vancouver.

That city, by the way, challenges the world for progressive-ness. It can show most any of our cities how to do things better. It claims to have more automobiles—nearly all of them Michigan-made—than any other Canadian city in proportion to its population.

The Pontiac car agency in Vancouver tells me it is ahead of its quota. The English made cars are no more numerous here than in Pontiac.

Whether in its eastern provinces, across the plains and wheat fields of its interior, among its towering Rockies, or on its west coast, the spirit of Canada is cocky.

That spirit found vent in the recent British Empire games in Vancouver. No opportunity was overlooked to give the rest of the world a subtle knock.

Following each event much was said in the newspapers and on the air about the contestant who won second place, followed by the comment, "beaten by the best the entire world has to offer."

The games were given the abbreviated title of "BEG," being their three initials. To a citizen of the United States, that word is suggestive of the inevitable next bog for the British for another "loan."

But Canada is a good neighbor—our best. It wants and is able to stand alone. It has the natural resources, the ability, yes, and the capital to expand in population and

18 Lose Lives Over Weekend

Traffic Accidents Kill 12, and 4 Drown; 1 Dies in Fire, Pilot Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eighteen persons lost their lives in accidents in Michigan over the weekend, 12 in traffic.

There were four deaths from drowning, a woman died in a farm house and a jet-fighter pilot was killed while attempting to land at Selfridge Field in bad weather Saturday.

The pilot was identified as 1st Lt. Rudy G. Koch of George Air Force Base, Calif. He was flying to the field near Mt. Clemens from Wright Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio.

Traffic fatalities included:

William H. Legue, 56, Fenton, fatally injured Sunday in a three-car crash near Fenton in Genesee County.

Joseph A. Bartley, 23, River Rouge, fatally injured Sunday when his car went out of control in Romulus Twp., Wayne County.

Saucedo S. Attilano, 42, a Mexican citizen, killed Saturday in a two-car wreck, seven miles south of Grand Haven in Ottawa County.

Leroy Williams, 20, and his half-brother, Lyle V. McCarney, 17, Howell, killed Saturday when their car struck a tree near Howell in Livingston County.

Dickie Nelmark, 15, Ewen, and Mrs. Jack Connors, 42, Topaz, killed Saturday in a car collision near Ewen, 40 miles east of Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula.

Charles E. Clark, 36, Jackson, killed Saturday when his car plunged into a ditch near Springport in Jackson County.

James Goodell, 78, Carleton, fatally injured Saturday when struck by a car while he was crossing U.S. 24-25 near Flat Rock.

Soren Andreasen, 30, Flint, fatally injured Friday night when he was struck by a car in Flint.

Mrs. Emma Harrison, 76, Detroit, killed Sunday night in a two-car crash at Eight Mile and Bufalo in Detroit.

Other weekend fatalities included:

Mrs. Winifred A. Runnells, 29, Route 2, Hillsdale, fatally burned Sunday in a fire that swept the third floor of a farmhouse.

Sherman D. Howard, 45, South Bend, Ind., drowned Saturday in Lake Manuka near Gaylord.

Two of the drowning victims were children who perished in Walled Lake Sunday when a 12-foot aluminum outboard-powered boat overturned with 11 persons. They were Ruth Couch, 13, and Wayne Numery, 6, both of Detroit.

Richard Laboda, 20, of Chicago, was killed and five others injured in a two-car collision about 12 miles east of Hart Sunday afternoon.

A 5-year-old Escanaba boy, Robert Beaudry, drowned late Sunday in the Escanaba Yacht basin, just a block from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beaudry Sr.

New Bill Drafted to Outlaw Red Party

munist party and actively carrying out its purposes.

On Saturday officials close to the President described him as opposing the Senate measure on grounds it would make "propaganda martyrs" of the Reds, and reporters were told he planned to ask the House to kill it.

To meet the administration's objections, House leaders and Justice Department officials hurriedly drafted a new bill which would strip the Communist party of its legal status, but which omitted the Senate provisions aimed at punishing individual party members.

Although Atty. Gen. Brownell and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover have opposed any ban on the Communist party, saying it would only drive the party underground, the House draft was reported to have been accepted reluctantly in preference to the Senate bill.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

'How-It's-Going-With-Me' Is Key to U.S. Prosperity

By LAURA HOBSON

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (INS)—"How are things going around here?" I've been popping that question to folks I got talking to on this coast-to-coast tour of ours—and as a conversation booster, it's a $64 gem.

I've asked it now in about a dozen states of the Union—and I'm still trying to add up the replies.

Back East where we started, Frank J. Kemp and his wife, Eva, owners of the Starlite Motel in Maple Shade, N. J., said, "Fine, fine. It's a bit early in the season of course, but it looks as big as ever."

In Culoden, W. Va., another motel owner, Warren Sovine, said "Never Better. I'm building an extra extension, and I also own a couple of supermarkets with my brothers, and they're doing fine business too."

In the farming community of Carter County, Ky., Dennis Blevins runs a grocery and general store at Olive Hill. "Things are a little off," he said. "Nothing too serious, but where folks would order a ten-pound sack of flour last summer, why this summer they'll take a five. That's not true on all my items, but my customers are just being more careful."

Further south, in Harrodsburg, Joseph A. Getzow, the new president of Kentucky's Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the Handmacher-Vogel Clothing Co., said his firm's five plants in the state had totaled $17 million worth of business last year and "this year will be nearly as big—not much under."

But in Louisville, Ky., Yellow Cab driver No. 327 mourned, "It's just terrible—way off." Was he judging by his tips? "That's one way," he said, "but there's 25,000 unemployed in this city right now." When I asked where he got his figures, he said flatly, "Why, I know 500 people myself that are out of work, and can't find a job no matter where they apply."

At a roadside cafe in southern Indiana, a long face informed me, "Tourists just ain't travellin' the way they been doin'—ain't spendin' either."

But in Bays, Kan., a cheerful radio-interviewer, Ted Haas, reported that farmers, store-owners and bankers were satisfied with the present and optimistic about the future.

At the old Navarre restaurant in Denver, Colo., a funny waiter, Tom Marino, wowed my 12-year-old son by suddenly flicking a napkin over him and saying, "Pardon me, you're crumbly, sir"—Later he told me his tips were noticeably down from 1953. "I'm high man in checks here," he said. "I've been here 6 years, and this is my smallest year ever."

"In Salt Lake City, stores and markets were having mark-downs."

Rhee Has 'Plan' to Unite Korea

But Day of Liberation Hasn't Arrived, ROK Chief Tells Celebrators

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee chose Korea's independence day to announce a "certain plan" for driving the Communists from North Korea, and Red chieftain Kim Il Sung warned his troops to guard against attack from the South.

"This is not as yet a day of liberation," Rhee told a crowd of 30,000 yesterday in ceremonies observing the ninth anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan. "It is our hope that the United Nations will cooperate with us in pushing up to the Yalu River and in driving the Communists out of Korea," the 79-year-old President added. He did not elaborate on his "certain plan."

Kim, in an order of the day from his North Korean capital at Pyongyang, declared that "conspiratorial activities of the United States imperialism and the Syngman Rhee gang to wreck the Korean armistice and provoke a new war have become more overt."

Bares Former Red Hold on Guatemala

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Guatemalan government overthrown in June was firmly in the grip of the shackles of the Kremlin and was to have been a Communist beachhead for infiltration of other Latin-American governments, Rep. Kersten (R-Wis.) said yesterday.

Kersten, chairman of the House Committee on Communist Aggression, announced that his committee had obtained secret documents which show former Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz "was in the complete control of the Communist apparatus."

He said his committee, which recently completed a study of Communist tyranny in Europe, would investigate Soviet intervention in Latin America.

Dairy Exports Up to Traders

Farm Planners Believe Private Business Ought to Handle Sales Buildup

WASHINGTON (INS) — Federal farm planners believe it primarily is the job of non-governmental groups to build up exports of U. S. dairy commodities through promotion and salesmanship.

Terrence W. McCabe, an economist in the Foreign Agricultural Service, says the government should assist private trade in meeting the dairy export problem, but adds that the brunt of the battle must be carried by commercial traders themselves.

The agricultural economist points out that the U. S. has been priced out of the world market because of high price supports on three of the five major dairy products. The three are butter, cheese and dry milk.

He says that only in canned milk and dried whole milk prices has the U. S. been on a competitive price status, McCabe explains: "The only lasting contribution that export trade can make to the dairy problem is in the field of competitively priced products. This is primarily a task for non-governmental groups."

He lists a number of ways, however, in which the government might aid private trade in recapturing export markets. These include:

1. Assist other governments in their efforts to achieve more widespread currency convertibility.
2. Provide means of allowing sales by private exporters for foreign currencies in areas where dollar trading is limited.
3. Help private traders meet the better credit terms of foreign competition through government credit or government insurance of credit for agricultural exports.
4. Continue to provide for export opportunities in surplus items by competitive pricing on a selective basis that will not preempt normal markets of other exporting nations.

McCabe says also that despite the fact America has looked to foreign markets as the solution to its surplus problems, the domestic market must not be overlooked.

3 Lapeer County Posts Hold Joint Installation

IMLAY CITY — A joint installation of officers of three Lapeer County posts of the American Legion was held recently.

Officers installed were Clifford Roy, commander; Robert Mignery, senior vice commander; Jack Schonfeld, junior vice commander; Robert E. Churchill, adjutant; Jule Dean, finance officer; and Albert Hill, sergeant-at-arms.

Also taking over new duties were Renan Barclay as service officer; Ernest Simmons, chaplain; and Howard H. Churchill, historian.

The hot springs of Arkansas, 47 in number, are government owned and operated.

LAPEER — The annual 4-H Fair will open tomorrow for two days at the Lapeer County Center. More than 500 4-H youngsters will exhibit nearly 1,000 projects at the fair.

Included in the list of activities will be food preparation displays, vegetable and garden showmanship and dairy cattle shows. Also on the agenda are talent acts, fun games and a movie.

Workers in Bavaria Strike for 2nd Week

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Oaths and catcalls replaced fists and clubs today as Bavaria's widespread metal workers' strike went into its second week.

Pickets peered nonstrikers as they filed into Bavaria's big metal factories, but there was no repetition of last week's bloody rioting in which dozens were injured. The new atmosphere was attributed to union and management appeals to end the violence.

For her marriage to George Graycheck of Pontiac, Saturday morning, Lois Joyce Miesel of Westacres selected a gown which featured a bodice of white illusion appliqued with lace. Layers of nylon over taffeta formed the skirt. The ceremony was performed in Our Lady of Refuge Church, Orchard Lake.

Lois J. Miesel Repeats Vows Saturday Morning

WESTACRES — In a morning ceremony at Our Lady of Refuge Church in Orchard Lake Saturday, Lois Joyce Miesel became the bride of Clifford George Graycheck.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Miesel of Westacres and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bernice Graycheck of Pontiac.

White illusion appliqued with lace styled the bodice of Lois' gown, which featured a portrait neckline and short sleeves. Layers of nylon tulle over taffeta formed the skirt, which ended in a short train.

A matching lace and sequin headpiece secured her fingertip veil, she carried a cascade of chrysanthemums, centered with orchids.

Mrs. Jams Fitzgerald of Detroit was matron of honor for the bride, while Dorothy Ruehl of Detroit and Mrs. William Male of Walled Lake served as bridesmaids.

$650 Million Sliced Off Measure Going Before Senate - House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation trimming nearly 650 million dollars from foreign aid funds sought by President Eisenhower was headed toward a Senate-House conference today.

The Senate late Saturday voted $2,790,824,816 in new money for military and economic assistance to friendly nations. That was 105 millions under the figure approved earlier by the House. And it reflected a 200-million-dollar slash from the amount proposed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) put across the last cut. He contended a provision allowing reuse of 200 million dollars' worth of military equipment recovered because of changed world conditions made possible a corresponding reduction in cash outlay.

Much equipment that had been earmarked for Indochina may now be sent elsewhere, Maybank said. His amendment passed 41-34.

Russian Ship, Alfa, Seen Safe, Not Lost

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Swedish coast guard authorities said today the Russian training vessel Alfa, reported missing since Aug. 10, is safe.

The Russians last Saturday asked North European coast guards to keep a lookout for the 300-ton schooner, which they feared might have hit trouble during recent heavy weather in the North Sea.

The coast guard here said a Swedish fishing boat sighted the Alfa off the Danish northwest coast Aug. 11, that the Swedish freighter Bohus picked her up in the southern North Sea Saturday and that the Swedish ship Enaren sighted the schooner in the English Channel off Boulogne yesterday.

The Enaren reported she saw no evidence of any trouble aboard the Alfa, which is on a training cruise around Europe to the Black Sea.

Voters Will Discuss New Unit Formation

FRANKLIN — All members of the League of Women Voters as well as those interested in joining today were invited to attend a meeting and tea at the home of Mrs. Bernard F. Magruder, 32965 Franklin Ct. at 1 p. m. Wednesday.

At the meeting, further plans will be made to form a Franklin area unit of the Birmingham branch of the league, with Mrs. Willys P. Wagner as chairman and Mrs. Harden DeView as secretary.

Other officers will be chosen at the session and details of the year's program will be discussed, according to the league representative issuing the invitation.

Imlay City Fills Three Openings on School Staff

IMLAY CITY — Three posts have been filled in the Imlay City educational system, by the Board of Education.

John Hunter of Springfield, Mo. will teach commercial subjects at the Imlay City School. Mrs. Mary Ackerman, a veteran instructor here, will teach the second grade, and Mrs. Duncan MacRae of St. Louis, Mo., has accepted a speech and English post.

Marlette WSCS Holds Luncheon; 45 Attend

MARLETTE — WSCS of the Methodist Church held a cooperative luncheon at the church Thursday, attended by approximately 45 members and guests.

Mrs. Alex Huessner, president, was in charge of the meeting following the luncheon. Mrs. Wesley Mahaffy gave the devotion, and Mrs. Mrs. George Cooper offered the lesson.

Opens House to MOMS

ORTONVILLE — MOMs Unit No. 14 will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Joseph Becker. Installation of officers will take place.

Chinese Cordial to British Party

Visiting Labor Group Follows Busy Schedule of Sightseeing, Talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor party delegation visiting Communist China followed a busy schedule of sightseeing, talks and socializing today.
 British correspondents accompanying former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, left-wing leader Aneurin Bevan and six other leading Laborites reported the party was greeted everywhere in Peiping with cordiality and friendliness.

The Britons arrived in the Red Chinese capital by plane Saturday from Moscow. Later this week they go to Mukden for four days of inspecting industrial development in Manchuria, then return to Peiping for a meeting with the Red Chinese chief, Mao Tse-tung. Late next week the group flies on to Shanghai and then to Canton.
 Premier Chou En-lai was the visitors' host at a 5 1/2-hour lunch yesterday. Deryck Winterton, accompanying the party for the Labor party organ, the Daily Herald, reported that Chinese-British relations, including East-West trade, were discussed.
 (Efforts by The Associated Press to obtain visas for a reporter to accompany the Attlee party to Red China were unsuccessful.)

Winterton said the visitors also asked questions about the Chinese constitution and trade unions and that "answers" were given.

He said the delegation's requests to visit such Peiping points as a prison, schools, hospitals, a mine and a textile plant were all granted. He added that the Chinese people were "cheerful and friendly."

Chou's luncheon yesterday was given at one of the former imperial palaces. The menu included lotus flower roots, bamboo shoots and sharks' fins. Toasts were drunk in vodka-like maltai.

An official banquet for the Laborites was scheduled tonight.

In London, observers speculated that Chou in his talks with Attlee was pressing his new, stepped-up campaign to get Formosa from under the control of Chiang Kai-shek.

Flying Saucer Club May Ask U. S. for Facts

A group which is convinced that "flying saucers" are spacecrafts from another planet will consider a petition Thursday demanding that the government release the "actual facts" on the subject.

In calling their first meeting, officials of the Detroit Flying Saucer Club said the session will include a panel discussion of the "engineering, astronomical and spiritual aspects . . . of the Saucer picture."

Program chairman Henry Maday pointed out, however, that the most important part of the meeting would be the petition.

"In it we are expressing most emphatically that our government should come out in the open and give the public the actual facts about the Flying Saucer picture, which too long have remained hidden," he said.

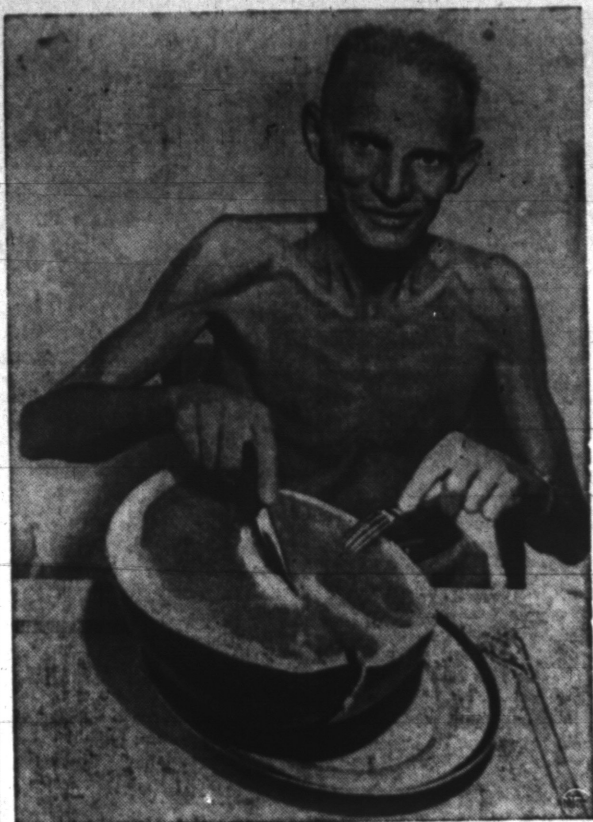

The meeting starts at 8 p.m. in the Veterans' Memorial Building, 151 W. Jefferson Ave., Maday said no admission will be charged, but voluntary contributions will be accepted.

Ike's Farm Plan Wins

Administration forces in the Senate have chalked up a significant victory in final passage of a bill embodying the principle of flexible farm price supports.

As the President said at his press conference, this shouldn't be regarded as a political victory. Instead, it was a victory for that kind of commonsense which regards enormous crop surpluses as a serious liability to agriculture and a needless burden to taxpayers.

In its final form the bill provided for flexible supports ranging from 82.5 to 90 per cent. This was a compromise from the wider spread of 75 to 90 per cent favored by the Administration. But it matched the House bill in this respect and won overwhelming final approval.

This decisive defeat for the farm bloc was not surprising after two other setbacks suffered by the advocates of rigid 90 per cent parity. In one of these the Senate authorized continuance of Secretary Benson's order reducing dairy price supports to 75 per cent of parity last Spring. The House previously had voted a return to 80 per cent effective September 1 and the Senate Agricultural Committee had approved an 85 per cent level.

The other setback came when the Senate turned down a farm bloc proposal for high price support of feed grains.

Advocates of the flexible principle, which this newspaper long has supported, don't expect it to eliminate the crop surplus problem. Nor do they accept the claims of farm State Senators that passage of this bill will result in the Administration's defeat in November.

But they do believe that the bill is a long needed step in the direction of saner agricultural economics and manageable surpluses.

State Finds Typhoid Cure

A request for special legislation reveals that the Michigan Health Department has developed medical science's first specific cure for typhoid fever.

The State Administrative Board has asked Gov. WILLIAMS to seek passage of a bill in the August 18 special Legislative session. The measure would give the State the legal right it now lacks to make loyalty agreements for commercial production of the new antibiotic.

Called synnematin, the cure was developed after more than five years research by health department laboratories. Its efficacy was proved in tests in Mexico, the nearest area in which typhoid is prevalent.

Only enough synnematin was available to treat 16 patients. But in all cases the cure was complete. In two marked by relapses, however, increased doses eliminated the disease within 72 hours.

One drug house, Pfizer Company of New York, already has asked for a royalty agreement. Health Commissioner HEUSTIS assumes that Parke-Davis and Upjohn will seek similar agreements.

The Legislature should enact this bill so that suffering humanity can have the benefit of this newest medical advance in the shortest possible time.

Union Statesmanship

A significant milestone in labor-management relations was passed when Studebaker employees overwhelmingly voted to accept a 15 per cent wage cut to avert a plant shutdown.

When the company's proposal was first advanced, it had the approval of UAW-CIO Local 5 leadership. Although this would have left their basic wages in line with others in the industry, the membership rejected the plan for abandonment of the incentive pay program.

Because of this turndown and its heavy losses this year, the company gave notice of intention to abrogate its contract with the union and to cease operations. Seeing their jobs in peril, the workers sought another vote on the proposal and it was accepted by an eight to one margin.

Local 5 officers deserve credit for the union statesmanship they displayed in endorsing the company proposal. The rank and file are to be congratulated for their wisdom in reversing a vote which periled their jobs and the pending Studebaker-Packard merger.

Charity Drives Licensed

In an effort to prevent charity drive abuses, the City Commission wisely has adopted a licensing ordinance.

It requires that non-resident professional promoters obtain one dollar licenses, if approved by the City Manager. This provision, of course, does not apply to drives held exclusively within the membership of an organization.

Heart of the new legislation is the section that limits campaign expenses to 30 per cent of the gross receipts. In certain special cases, however, the City Manager is empowered to allow greater overhead.

We believe this is a good ordinance and a long needed one. It has the backing of the Better Business Bureau of Pontiac's Chamber of Commerce, whose aim is to eliminate those promoters who take 75 to 99 per cent of proceeds for overhead.

In the words of Chamber President Milo J. Cross, this ordinance "should save the people of Pontiac thousands of dollars each year."

The Man About Town

To Honor Founder Movement to Give His Name to Site of New City Hall

Daffynition
 Writing: What's safer than speaking—you can use an eraser.

There is a growing sentiment in Pontiac for a more substantial recognition of the memory of

Colonel Stephen Mack, the founder of our city. He was the Revolutionary War veteran who organized the Pontiac Company which in 1818 established the first white settlement here. He later platted the area, established several lines of business and laid well the foundation on which our city was built. His grave is at the highest point in Oak Hill Cemetery, suitably marked by a family monument. It now is proposed to give the site of our new city hall the name of Mack Square, and such a request will soon be submitted to the city commission.

Tall weeds on property next to intersections make a traffic hazard from which Pontiac City and Oakland County in general are not entirely free.

The writer has a friend with the very abbreviated name of Al Og, which is quite a contrast to that of Paul and Ernest Riemenschneider, who agree that Al surely has a time saver when it comes to signatures.

Contrary to general belief, the present season is one of the worst in the starting of grass fires. As pointed out by Fire Chief John Schroeder, on property where the old grass has not been cut or burned off, or where old weeds still stand, they are ready to burst into a blaze at the slightest excuse.

That new traffic slogan is one of the best: "Keep your head and keep your license."

In the big drift of population from the large cities, fear of an atomic bomb attack is given as one of the reasons by several people we've contacted.

I attended the 4-H Fair last Wednesday evening and was thrilled to see what the children

The parade was as good as I have seen put on by adults and the exhibits boasted professional skill. All those in charge of 4-H projects are to be commended.

If Your Husband Said You Could Date Other Men, What Would You Think?

Esther is a model wife, so she was shocked by her husband's strange letter. What do you readers think is back of this man's suggestion that Esther start two-timing him? Save this Case Record for your scrapbook since it fits into the one tomorrow.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-385: Esther B., aged 28, is worried about her husband. "Dr. Crane, we have been very happily married for 5 years," she began.

"For the last 2 years, he has been in military service, and I lived with him in a little apartment near the base.

"But when our first baby was almost due, we felt I better come home so my mother could help me look after it.

"It has now been 3 months that I've stayed home, but I am so surprised by his letter of last week.

"For he said: 'Honey, I trust you, but if you ever feel like you want to date other fellows, go ahead. Don't hold back because of me.'

"Dr. Crane, I have never dreamed of doing such a thing, so what on earth has come over my husband to make him think such things?"

"Look for the woman" is a familiar motto of the French detective force. That means, "Seek the underlying motive." Maybe Esther has been talking about the baby's cute tricks in all her letters till she has forgotten to include her husband in each paragraph. So could his ego be seriously deflated?

In such an event, would his suggestion be a means of "fishing" for a staunch declaration from Esther that she has never even dreamed of looking at any other man.

"Fishing" for compliments is well known to most of you. But sometimes husbands who are afraid of impotence and who then overly magnify their wives' erotic urges, will think to themselves:

"Maybe my wife would really like to date other men. Anyway, I'll suggest it to see how she reacts."

So such husbands will initiate the offer to let their wives have dates with other fellows. This, however, is often an indirect means of "fishing" for fervent protests of undying devotion.

But there is also the possibility that the husband has a guilty conscience, so he tries to even things up by offering his wife the same opportunity to stray from the straight and narrow pathway.

He may not want to admit his own faithlessness in so many words. But his conscience keeps bothering him.

So he vaguely feels that if he will tell his wife she can date other men, then this will mollify his conscience.

It is a "camouflage" technique very common in human relations. Marriage Counsellors are quite familiar with such a deceptive ruse.

In fact, that is perhaps one reason why a lot of the women who participated in the last Kinsey survey, volunteered their sexual background.

For when people carry a guilty conscience, it gnaws and disturbs their peace of mind.

Under the dignified title of a Kinsey "Scientific Survey," they feel they can kill two birds with one stone.

For they can then "air" their secret guilty experiences, yet charge it all off as a contribution to science.

Thus women who are eager to tell about their sex life are usually driven on by some goad, such as a guilty conscience.

That is one reason why the Kinsey data are considered abnormal, instead of typical of average American women.

But for the precise explanation of why Esther's young husband wrote such a surprising letter, see the follow-up case tomorrow.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped envelope, and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Mad Dog Scares Prove Very Dramatic but Dr. Brady Can't Understand Them

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Once upon a time, shotgun quarantine was established by health and police authorities around communities in the south when an outbreak of yellow fever occurred.

The health authorities meant well, of course. They just didn't know any better, for it was not until 1900 that Drs. Reed, Carroll, Lazear and Agramonte demonstrated that yellow fever is transmitted from person to person by the Aedes aegypti mosquito.

Once upon a time, too, it was standard practice to cauterize dog bites with strong or "fuming" nitric acid or other destructive agent. Again the health authorities and medical practitioners meant well. They just didn't know any better. Some of them don't know any better today.

The proper treatment of dogbite or any other flesh wound, consists of careful cleansing with soap and water, cutting away dead tissue, stitching if necessary to close the wound, a sterile dressing or covering to protect against accidental

Senate Ruling May Cause No Censure on M'Carthy

WASHINGTON — Various senators were discussing today information that has just come to light which may make "moot"—the legal term for irrelevant—any censure action on all those charges against Sen. McCarthy relating to occurrences prior to January 1953, now before a special Senate committee of six members. Three developments have occurred:

1. Revelation that the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections in its report at the end of the 82nd Congress, formally agreed that a number of the charges before it had become "moot" by reason of the 1952 election in Wisconsin.
2. Publication by the Washington Evening Star of a copyrighted article stating that agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau, after an 18-month investigation, have found nothing fraudulent in the income tax returns of the Wisconsin senator.
3. Evidence supporting in effect a statement in May 1954, by the Wisconsin senator saying that it is not unlawful to receive confidential information from employees in the executive departments.

It develops that although a federal statute prohibits the disclosure of confidential information by employees of the executive branch of the government and threatens them with jail penalties for violation, the recipient—whether it be a senator or a newspaper—may feel justified in publishing the information.

The formal report of the subcommittee headed by Sen. Hennings of Missouri, Democrat, which contained all the charges concerning Sen. McCarthy's sale of a booklet on housing of veterans to the Lustron Corporation, the attacks on General Marshall, and all the innuendoes about other alleged improprieties, was made to Congress prior to the time the new Senate of the 83rd Congress in January 1953 had an opportunity to accept or reject the Wisconsin senator's credentials after his 1952 election. In an addendum filed at the last minute early in 1953, the Senate subcommittee said:

"The foregoing report is based substantially on testimony and exhibits which were presented before the subcommittee on privileges and elections. However, because of a lack of continuity in committee membership and delays beyond the control of the present membership of the committee, its preparation has given us great concern, as a number of its aspects have become moot by reason of the 1952 election. Such facts therein as were known to the people of the states particularly affected have been passed upon by the people themselves in the election."

This refers to a well-established point of constitutional law, namely that a member of Congress just elected can be tried as to his "qualifications" only at the opening of a new term, and if his credentials are accepted without reservation he cannot be challenged again.

Sen. McCarthy's credentials for his present term were accepted in January 1953. Whatever alleged misconduct as a member of Congress took place during his preceding term, including speeches, must be questioned during that term.

This leaves the matter of income tax returns. For if the Treasury Department were to present any criminal charges during the present term it could affect the continuance in office of a member of Congress so charged.

But the Washington Evening Star last week said concerning the investigation of Sen. McCarthy's income taxes: "The case covers the tax years from 1946 through 1952. The tax agents do not contend that Sen. McCarthy acted with fraudulent intent."

The newspaper headline across the top of its front page did say that the same "revenue agents" claim that Sen. McCarthy "owes $25,000 in back taxes and interest." The Wisconsin Senator flatly denies this.

Both the newspaper and the senator could be right at different times in the proceedings—depending on the outcome of the infection and if the environment or circumstances indicate the need, an immediate dose of tetanus antitoxin or toxoid and a second dose 5 to 7 days later.

Highly improper treatment of dogbite or any other flesh wound today is cauterizing with fuming nitric acid or any other destructive agent. This is malpractice and not just because I say so—ask any reputable surgeon whether cauterization of a flesh wound is justifiable.

From answers to a questionnaire circulated four years ago it appears that some antique hospitals and 19th century medical practitioners still use the old cauterization method because, forsooth, they think the law requires them to or the public health officials prescribe it.

Read this typical bit of hokum issued by the State Department of Public Health, Central Laboratory, Nashville, Tennessee:

Form D. S. L.—16
 DANGER IN HANDLING
 RABID ANIMALS
 Rabies or hydrophobia may be produced in persons by touching case and whether the technical or colloquial use of the word "owes" was intended.

At the moment the senator does not technically "owe" anything. Nobody owes the treasury any money until a formal deficiency assessment is filed, which has evidently not been done in Sen. McCarthy's case.

Even this may be contested for months or years through various boards inside the Internal Revenue Bureau and through the U. S. Tax Court before it is finally decided whether a taxpayer actually owes anything in back taxes.

The Wisconsin senator, although displeased by what he claims is the damaging effect of the newspaper headline, can derive satisfaction from its publication, because in a sense it proves a point he has been making, namely that whatever laws may govern executive employees who take an oath not to divulge confidential or classified information, this does not necessarily affect anyone outside the government who receives such information and publishes it.

 Got to admire the way Premier Mendes-France solves his foreign problems. He moves out, lock, stock and good red herring.

He let Indochina go, like it was smoke in the wind. He has apparently no more intention of hooking up with European defense than you have of cooling your hot feet on the edge of Niagara.

He told Bey Sidi Mohammed he can have Tunisia soon as they can get Hollywood to surrender its serial rights to the Foreign Legion.

Now if he cedes the Saar, the Ruhr and Alsace-Lorraine we'll keep Whistler's mother.

The Preemo is running his government like a give-away program. The way to get rid of your out-board-diplomacy is sink the boat.

We might have suspected something when Napoleon gave away the Louisiana option, the government shook off Devil's Island and Dior of Paris came out for flat bioscope this autumn.

The French say the more it changes the more it is the same. Cinemascope and wide screen make it look different.

We compliment M. Mendes-France on dehydrating the rainbow. If he can get rid of the Sahara Desert and Madagascar the one problem will be to walk into the kitchen and fire the cook.

This is the clearest exposition of clear thinking since Simple Simon confined himself to the territorial waters of a milk pail.

The trend was indicated by Foch in 1914 when he reduced victory on the Marne to a taxi-cab ride.

To Try to Settle Farm Bill Row

Senate - House Group Meets Again Today to Discuss Dairy Props

WASHINGTON (U)—Senate-House conferees try again today to settle their differences over price support levels for dairy products—the last major obstacle to the writing of a compromise farm bill.

Argument over dairy supports led to an angry breakdown of talks Saturday but conference leaders later agreed to another meeting today after a weekend cooling-off period.

The renewal of talks was negotiated by Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) and Rep. Hope (R-Kan), who head the agriculture committees and the conferees of the two houses. This was viewed as a sign that Aiken and Hope were still optimistic about chances of a dairy dispute compromise.

Senate conferees have said this is the last major roadblock to complete agreement on a farm bill that would carry out President Eisenhower's plan for a shift to flexible price supports on five basic crops.

Aiken, with powerful backing from Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson, wants to hold price supports for butter, cheese, milk and other dairy products at the present level. Benson last April cut dairy props from 90 to 75 per cent of parity.

Parity is a price standard said by law to be fair in relation to farm costs.

The Senate, after a stiff floor battle, approved the lower dairy support level although the House had voted for an increase to 80 per cent, effective between Sept. 1 and next April. The House also inserted directives for fixing the dairy price props after that date while the Senate voted to bring under price payments now-unsupported milk and butterfat.

Aiken said the Senate group would not accept the higher House supports but might agree to several related House dairy provisions not included in the Senate bill.

These include disposal of the government's butter and cheese surpluses through military and Veterans Administration channels and a special 15-million-dollar annual fund to eradicate brucellosis, a livestock disease that has hit many dairy herds.

Los Angeles Champ Wins Famous Derby

AKRON, Ohio (U)—Dick Kemp, 14, of Los Angeles coasted his $9.40 blue racer to victory—and a $5,000 college scholarship—in the 17th All-American Soap Box Derby here yesterday.

Carrying a lucky silver dollar and wearing a favorite though weathered pair of red leather moccasins, Dick flashed down the 975.4-foot Derby Hill track in 27:80 seconds in the final heat. It was his slowest heat of the day.

The freckle-faced champ was just an inch or so ahead of Gary Miller of Long Beach, Calif., the second-place winner, who in turn was just barely ahead of the third-place John Kirtley of Evansville, Ind.

Washington Territory was created March 2, 1853.

New Tax Law to Benefit Widows, Clergy, Others

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (U)—Widows or widowers, policemen, ministers, writers, artists, inventors, business partners . . .

Taxpayers who sell their home, support a parent in another town, live in cooperative housing projects, or get income in advance for a future period . . .

All these groups may find tax benefits for them almost hidden in the hundreds of thousands of words of the new tax revision act.

Most of the changes are effective last Jan. 1, and will show up in tax returns due next April 15. Here is a rundown on possible tax cuts for these special groups:

Widows and widowers—For two years after the death of a wife or husband, you may still split your income for tax purposes as most married couples do. This often puts you in a lower tax bracket. But to claim this provision, you must be supporting a dependent son or daughter.

Single heads of households—You may now qualify for this tax status if you are single and support a parent who lives away from your own home.

Policemen—Now can deduct subsistence allowances up to $5 a day, which were counted as taxable income under the old law. This could mean a tax cut of about $364 a year for many federal, state and local officers.

Ministers—Cash payments to a minister for rental of a home were counted as income under the old law, although the rental value of a parsonage provided for the minister was exempt. Under the new law, the cash allowance also is exempt to the extent it is actually used for housing.

Inventors, writers, artists—Under the old law, income from a project which took less than three years to complete was taxed in the year in which it was received. Income from projects which took three years or more, even though received in one year, could be spread for tax purposes over three back years. Under the new law, income may be spread over a period of years if the project takes only two years or more to complete. This means income from more such work may be spread, and thus taxed at a lower rate.

Sale of homes—Profit from sale of a personal residence is taxed unless invested in another home. The new law permits you to deduct such selling expenses as real estate commissions and "fixing up" costs—painting and other improvements completed 90 days before the sale—in order to help make the house salable.

Cooperative housing—If you live in a cooperative housing project, the new law permits you to deduct your share of interest and taxes paid by the cooperative. The old law granted this deduction only to taxpayers living in cooperative apartments.

Business partners—Partners who meet a complex list of qualifications may choose to pay taxes as a corporation, rather than individual income taxes on their partnership proceeds.

Prepaid income—Under the old law, if you received a lump-sum payment for use of property or your services over a number of future years, the income was fully taxed in the year it was received. This would apply to rentals, leases, television service contracts, club dues, and so forth. Under the new law, this income may be spread for tax purposes over the years in which the income is actually earned and in which your costs are incurred. In most cases this period cannot exceed five years after receipt of the income.

House Is Slow on Senate A-Bill

Asks If Private Firms Must Have Sole Patent Rights in Atom Power

WASHINGTON (U)—The House was expected to say okay today to the Senate's request for another conference round on atomic energy legislation. But House negotiators seemed still against yielding on the issue that fouled their first attempt.

Conflict centered on whether private firms should be allowed sole patent rights on civilian nuclear power developments, as is permitted under normal patent laws.

The Senate called for a 10-year period of compulsory patent sharing. It threw out Friday, 48-41, a compromise without that provision that had been worked out in conference with the House.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) told a reporter he believes most House conferees will continue fighting the Senate proposal. And, in apparent answer to Senate criticism, he said he had acted only as representative of a House majority in insisting on exclusive patent rights.

He said his position would be determined by the majority stand, "as it always is."

Democrats charged on the Senate floor last week that one "stubborn man"—referring to Cole—was blocking agreement on the measure putting private industry into atomic energy.

The version tossed out by the Senate would have allowed exclusive patent rights to private firms in the atomic energy field for 17 years, renewable for the same length of time, provided the patents did not cover developments made under government auspices. It would also have directed the Atomic Energy Commission to give preference in granting atomic equipment licenses to companies agreeing to share patent rights for the first five years.

Senate Democrats charged—and administration supporters denied—that this did not adequately safeguard the future atomic power industry from becoming a private monopoly.

130-Pound Father Lifts 3,300-Pound Car Off Son

HARMONY, N. I. (U)—William R. Backman Sr. weighs only 130 pounds but he lifted a 3,300-pound auto off his young son's leg yesterday.

Backman said he was backing his car out of a picnic area when he felt a bump. He got out of the car and saw one wheel resting on his 4-year-old son's leg.

The son was pulled clear while Backman lifted the car.

The leg was only bruised.

Congress Hopes to Wind Up Soon

This Session Is Called 'Toughest' With Longest Debate Hours

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress goes home this week—maybe—after what one old-timer calls "the toughest Senate session" of them all.

Those are the words of Sen. George, who has plenty of sessions to draw from. The Georgia Democrat tops all present senators in length of service, having first won election to the Senate Nov. 7, 1922. Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California said over the weekend Congress would finish by next Saturday "for sure."

He said prospects are "excellent" for winding up by the middle of the week—but then decided he'd better not pinpoint the day. He remembered, he said, that he'd once predicted July 31 for the windup.

When the Senate gets through determines when the House does, for the 435-man House, with its tight curbs on debate, has whisked through legislation this year just about twice as fast as the free-talking, 96-man Senate.

"I'm certain," said George in an interview today, "that this has been the most strenuous (Senate session) in lengthy hours."

"We always have long hours just before adjournment, but they have been going on for weeks now. We seem to be doing most of our legislating at the tag end of the session."

Knowland said he will call up for Senate action in the "final" few days two bills aimed against internal subversion, one to allow the death penalty for peacetime espionage and one to rid defense plants of saboteurs; a bill to expand the unemployment compensation act; and several minor measures.

Still awaiting final passage are some major "must" bills. One, the atomic energy bill which upset Knowland's timetable when it touched off 13 days of speechmaking the first time through the Senate, is headed back for Senate-House conference after the Senate threw out one compromise version Friday. There could be more delay on it.

Also in conference or headed there: a general farm bill; social security expansion; foreign aid appropriations; a catch-all supplemental appropriations bill. A Senate measure to temporarily hike the national debt limit six billion dollars to 281 billions may be accepted by the House without change.

Then there's the Senate-passed bill to outlaw the Communist Party which the House takes up today with an eye to writing a version more to the administration's liking. That may still go back to the Senate and perhaps to conference.

During the first six months of the present session, Capitol officials said, the Senate has been in session more than 921 hours, or nearly double the hours put in by the House, 478½.

Religion Taboo in Red Schools

Soviet Teachers Told to Avoid 'Prejudices, Superstitions'

MOSCOW (UP)—As a new school term approaches, Russia's teachers are being warned to stay away from religion and not to try to instill any "religious prejudices and superstitions" in the nation's youth.

The warning was published by the newspaper Teachers Gazette, which complained that some teachers have been backsliding—"getting married in church, bringing their children to baptism and having ikons in their homes."

Teachers Gazette thus carried forward a newly revived and intensified antireligious campaign that is sweeping through the Soviet press.

Teachers Gazette also assailed what it termed superstitions and the "harmful influence" of the church on children.

The paper singled out a so-called "holy lake" near the city of Gorki on the Volga River, where it said "girls go to shrines to give thanks for having passed examinations or graduated from school."

"And there are also churches in the neighborhood of this so-called holy lake where frequently children come so much under the influence of the church that they quit school."

Knickerbockers were named "plus fours" because four inches extra width was allowed in the inside seam of each leg of the ordinary knickerbocker. Plus fours originated in the British army.

CRUSHED BRITTLE PARTY CAKE

1 large sponge cake, uniced
2 cups whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla or almond extract
1½ cup slivered almonds
Crushed brittle

BRITTLE

1½ cups granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon instant coffee
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup hot water
1 tablespoon sifted soda

Mix sugar, instant coffee, corn syrup and hot water together in saucepan. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Boil to 390°-400° F. without stirring. Remove from heat. Stir in soda. Pour into ungreased 9 x 9 inch pan. Cool until hard. Crush.

The Caine Mutiny

CHAPTER II

Three weeks later, on the morning of the twenty-seventh of October, Willie left the captain's cabin for the last time.

Outside were the shabby sheds of the supply depot, and beyond them the gray muddy flats of Bayonne, knobby with oil tanks. The Caine had been tied up for three days alongside a dock, stripped of its guns, empty of ammunition and fuel. It was the end of the trail. Willie's chores were done.

He went down the abandoned gangplank, not saluting. There were no colors to salute and no officer of the deck. The Caine was junk.

Willie reached New York on the day of the Navy parade. As soon as he arrived he called Marty Rubin. The agent asked Willie to meet him in his office.

Rubin's "office" was a desk in a cluttered room that had four other desks occupied by four other agents. Rubin stood as soon as Willie came in the door, and picked up a loud plaid overcoat draped on the back of his chair. "Hi, Lieutenant. Let's go where we can talk."

He led nothing about May as he led Willie along Forty-seventh street and turned up Seventh avenue. He asked eager questions about the Kamikazes and mine-sweeping. Willie interrupted at last. "Look, Marty, I want to know—"

"I know what you want to know. Here we are." They went through a revolving door into the crowded ornate lobby of a popular tourist hotel. Willie knew it well.

Marty led him to a large glass-covered signboard in mid-lobby, and pointed. "There's your girl. She's stopping here."

There was a picture of a saxophonist named Walter Feather and May together at a microphone. "Now you know," Rubin said.

"What do I know? Why did she change her name?"

"Said the other one didn't bring her any luck. She's been with Feather since about two weeks after you left, Willie. She's—mixed up with him."

The words and the tone made Willie very sick. He stared at the saxophonist's picture. He had rimless glasses, a flat thin stage smile, and a long nose. "He doesn't look like much—"

"He caught her on the bounce, Willie. You threw her down pretty hard. He's a little god in his own crowd. May—well, she's pretty innocent, Willie, for all her wise-guy line—"

"I've got to talk to her, Marty."

"Well, let's take a look. They might be rehearsing."

Green paper palms screened the doorway of the Astor Lounge. Through them Willie saw May on the orchestra platform, singing. He was terrifically startled. Her hair was bright blond.

"Let's wait here awhile," Rubin said. He leaned against the wall with his hands in his coat pockets, peering at the stage through his thick greenish glasses. "How do you think she looks?"

"Fierce."

"Feather likes his vocalists blond."

When they had finished rehearsing one number, Feather told the musicians to break for a half hour. May threw a camel's-hair coat around her shoulders and she and Feather came toward the door, walking side by side in an automatic closeness that jarred Willie's nerves.

He stepped out from behind the palms, acutely conscious of his gold-buttoned bridge coat and white scarf and tarnished hat.

"Hello, May."

The girl staggered back a step, putting her hand on Feather's arm. Her mouth fell open. She stammered, "Good God, Willie. Did you want me to drop dead? How—how long have you been here?"

"Just came. Didn't want to interrupt—"

"I—Walter, this is Willie Keith—Capt. Keith, or Lt. Keith—I don't know, which is it? Are you still captain of that minesweeper?"

"I decommissioned" her this morning—"

Feather held out his hand. "Glad to meet you, Willie. Maries told me about you—". They shook hands.

Feather was not bad-looking; the lobby picture was unfortunate. He had a pleasant, keen expression. "Were just going to grab a bite—how about joining us?"

"I'd like to talk to you, May," Willie said.

"Well, fine, let's all drop into the grill," Feather said.

"I'd like to talk to you, May," Willie repeated dully.

The girl glanced timidly at Feather. She had a trapped look. "Whatever you want, Marie," the musician said carelessly. "There isn't a hell of a lot of time—"

Then May and Willie were alone in the vast dance room painted with Artex designs. The rows of empty tables and chairs were bleak and mournful.

Willie said, "Why the hell did you dye your hair?" His voice made a thin, hollow echo in the room.

"Don't you like it?" They were confronting each other like prize fighters.

"No, I think it's cheap and hard."

"Thank you, honey. Every night-club columnist in town has complimented me on the improvement. May clutched her coat around her. He thought she was shivering. She said, "You look all different."

"Why didn't you answer my letter?"

Her look softened. "It was a wonderful letter, Willie. I cried over it. I still have it. But you wrote it four months too late."

"Why? Are you engaged, or married? What's happened?"

May looked away.

A twist of pain crossed Willie's face. He said flatly, "Are you his—?"

She faced him. Her face was so white that her make-up looked garish. "Well, what the devil do you think? Everybody knows about us. You and your g-d-d-n stuffy, stupid questions." Tears stood in her eyes.

Willie could hardly talk. His throat was closed up. "I—all right, all right, May."

"So I guess that takes care of everything, doesn't it?"

"Not necessarily—I just—"

He leaned his head on a fist. "Give me ten seconds to get used to it—"

"Is that all it'll take?" she said bitterly. "You're broad-minded." Willie looked at her and nodded. "Okay, it's absorbed. Will you marry me?"

Students on Grants Must Stay Single

WEST SUFFOLK, Eng. (INS)—Marriage and education do not mix in West Suffolk.

The West Suffolk Education Committee has warned students receiving grants from the committee that they risk losing them if they marry.

Committee chairman Geoffrey Pocklington disclosed that the committee had "unanimously" decided it was "undesirable" for married people to receive educational grants.

"We think that homemaking might divert attention from their studies. The ratepayer and taxpayer does not pay education costs to finance matrimony," he declared.

Develop Good Grooming Habits to Add to Your New Portrait of Beauty

Keep White Accessories, Lingerie Spanking Clean

Shine Leather Shoes and Bags, Brush Clothes Nightly for Perfect Picture

By ANITA COLBY

This is Grooming Day—Think of the woman you really admire most in the world—the actress it would thrill you most to sit next to on a bus—the teacher you had the biggest crush on—the beauties in magazines you'd rather look like than anything.

What words go with all of them? Ten to one a whole lot of words that all mean much the same thing, "groomed."

You'd put down "spic and span"—"shining"—"immaculate."

You'd surely say "sweet smelling"—"vibrantly clean"—"refreshing."

You'd want "brushed" and "buffed" and "smooth."

You'd say "organized"—"uncluttered"—"composed."

And add "individual" and "different" and "rare."

All right. This very day you're going to start just such a portrait of yourself. If you have followed your course conscientiously, then part of the portrait is finished and the rest will be easy.

But now you're going to arrange your mind, and your habits, and your living, so that all those words up there will belong to YOU—and the peace and composure and sweetness of living with yourself will show in your every personal possession—and reflect in your face.

Suds Those Duds

You're going to make a habit of taking a little trouble. Right now, examine your conscience—and your bureau drawers, and your handbags, gloves, shoes, accessories.

Go get those white gloves you decided could stand another wearing. Put them in soapsuds with the white collars and cuffs from your navy wool.

And face it right now. If you're not the girl who can enjoy the upkeep of "touches of white"—don't have any. The phrase is not "touches of off-white."

Now dunk the underthings, scarfs, stockings you wore today. Keep your box of detergent right by the hand bowl, and do this just as regularly—and as quickly as you brush your teeth, but right now.

Now dump out all your handbags on the bed. Turn linings inside out, brush them, spray with cologne, and put back the essentials—not the squirrel's hoard you've been carrying—the old tissues, ticket stubs, pencil ends and leaky powder cases, the old keys and cigarette packs that haunt most handbags.

Put back suitable equipment in each bag—if you can fit out your sports bag with tailored accessories and your afternoon and evening ones with fancier glitter, fine. But keep it down—keep it clean.

Keep Leather Shining

Now your shoes. Shine them—immediately. Don't let yourself off for lack of polish. Furniture or floor wax will do until your shoe-shine box is fitted out.

Put a gloss on all your leathers—belts, bags, shoes, included. Black, brown, red, green or tan—it won't matter if you're using colorless polish or wax.

Just drop shoes at Joe's regularly for tip and heel repair and the professional shines that put color back into those leathery skins. Keep a polishing cloth and the proper polishes in your shoe headquarters.

Now needle and thread. Go through your clothes and fix up those seams you marked the day you re-did your closets. Catch the loose buttons, stitch the popped seams.

Keep needles threaded with dark and light thread at hand, ready for the quick repair job.

"Cleaning fluid! Sponges, quick!" Work on that spot on your beige dress—it does too show. Clean up the backs of necks on suits, coats, sweaters. From here on do minor spots and backs of necks when you press.

If you hang things properly they won't need so much pressing, but summer cottons must look starch-free—"little boy" shirts Sunday School pure.

Brush Clothes Nightly

Your clothes brush and suede brush are hanging there on your closet door. Use them each night as you take off your dress or suit.

Brush it, hang in open air overnight, then put away fresh and tidy next morning. Brush and Shoe-tree your suede shoes.

On the cleanliness count, your bath rituals, from toenail to top-knot, will be as regular as breathing.

You'll care about your hands—knowing that if you're a housewife it will be a sheer triumph to have nice ones; and if you're a typist or salesgirl it would be sheer agony not to have them.

And on the sweet-smelling side, if you've the slightest suspicion that your breath is not pure, take extra precautions until clean eating habits keep you blameless—as they will. Use mouthwash and toothbrush frequently.

As for deodorants, don't stint on these either. Keep in desk or handy at home. For heaven's sake and your own—be as sweet as you are meant to be.

Take Practice Run

Imagine you're going dancing. Get your finished picture lined up in your mind. Put yourself together mentally, quickly finding and donning each planned, clean, coordinated item. Go over yourself critically in a full-length mirror. Take a good back look.

Your hair: Is it that smooth, burnished coil you'd imagined or are there messy, dangling back hairs, or untrained, bushy ends?

Your shoulders: Are they brushed pure of hair, powder, threads?

Your back: Is your jacket line smooth. Does your slip show? Is your hem straight?

Your Legs: Are your seams straight. Run thumb and finger, holding seam, up dead center-back of leg as you pull up each stocking.

Your Feet: Are your heels run-over. Shoes clean—or dusty, muddy?

Really look hard at yourself all over, as others will—not just the back of your hat and the front of your face. The last checkup is your insurance policy on grooming.

Now you'd better go have a good luxury tub, put your lubricating cream on, and get on your Hollywood Slant.

Lynn Tunncliffe Speaks Nuptial Vows

Motoring to the New England states following their wedding Saturday evening in Christ Church Cranbrook are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rusch Shallberg.

The bride is the former Lynn Ann Tunncliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Browning Tunncliffe of Birmingham, and Richard's parents are the Leslie Edward Shallbergs, also of Birmingham.

The bride approached the altar wearing a gown of white silk tulle over silk taffeta. Pleats of tulle formed the sweetheart neckline and short sleeves which were edged in hand-corded Alencon lace. Pleated insets of tulle edged with matching lace formed the bouffant skirt which was fashioned with a sweep train.

A fitted cap of nylon tulle and lace secured her three-tier fingertip veil of white silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of valley lilies centered with white garnette roses and Iceland pothos vines.

Jane Dickenson of Beaver Falls, Pa., attended the bride as maid of honor and other attendants were Mrs. John Gould and Miriam Baxter of Grosse Pointe, Sally Collins of Birmingham, Mrs. John Zinger of Long Beach, Calif., and Marjorie Beenen of Grand Rapids.

All the attendants wore waltz-length gowns of ice blue chiffon. The tucked bodices were fashioned with square necklines and the skirts were pleated. Ice blue cummerbunds and blue net mitts were worn with the gowns and tiny hats of ice blue braided straw held their face veils.

The maid of honor carried tiny nosegays of garnette roses with ivory strands, centered with pink sweetheart roses. The other attendants carried bouquets of garnette roses.

William Shallberg served as best man for his brother and Charles Shallberg, also a brother of the bridegroom, Guy Tunncliffe, brother of the bride, Sinclair Boynton and Ward Abbott, all of Birmingham, and Carson Dalton of Verona, N. J., served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a waltz-length gown of pale pink lace over pink taffeta with matching accessories. White album lilies and demure roses formed her corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a waltz-length gown of French blue peau de sole with beige accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies and garnette roses.

The garden of the Tunncliffe home on Cranbrook road was the setting for the reception. Dancing was enjoyed by the guests.

The new Mrs. Shallberg was wearing a gray cotton dress with bolero jacket trimmed in white and a matching hat when she left on the wedding trip. Black patent shoes and a bag accented her ensemble and she wore a corsage of yellow cypripedium orchids.

The couple will spend some time at Deer Isle, Maine, before traveling to Boston. In September Mr. Shallberg will report for duty at Ft. Sill, Okla., having been commissioned a second lieutenant in June.

MRS. RICHARD R. SHALLBERG

A double-ring ceremony Saturday evening in Christ Church Cranbrook united Lynn Ann Tunncliffe and Richard Rusch Shallberg in marriage. The Max Browning Tunncliffes and the Leslie Edward Shallbergs of Birmingham are their parents.

Give Child Clear-Cut Decisions

Don't Let Financial Limitations Put You on the Defensive

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Most of the children on Don's street have rubber splash pools in their back yards. Don has been teasing his mother for one of his own, and up to now she has said, "Maybe—we'll see."

For she and Don's father are still strained by the heavy expenses involved in buying, furnishing and moving to their new ranch house.

Yesterday she settled the splash pool question. She found that Don had tracked tar into the house on his shoes. As she scrubbed angrily at her new stair carpet, she cried:

"Don't ask me for that splash pool again! I had intended to buy one for you this week. Now I won't. After what you've done to buy him a splash pool. She can't afford one. But ashamed of her financial limitations in a community of splash pools, she has been unable to say so.

"Don't ask me for that splash pool again! I had intended to buy one for you this week. Now I won't. After what you've done to buy him a splash pool. She can't afford one. But ashamed of her financial limitations in a community of splash pools, she has been unable to say so.

Rather than confess to Don that his parents are not as currently prosperous as his friends' parents, she has made him responsible for losing the splash pool. Defensive herself, she has waited to find Don in a defensive position to say "no" to him demand.

She has treated him unjustly. As he was never made responsible for earning the splash pool, he is not responsible for losing it.

He was never informed that tar on the carpet would result in its denial. So he had no way of protecting himself against loss of the splash pool by checking his shoes for tar before entering the house.

Shame of financial limitation often develops teasing, demanding children. If Don feels apology in us when he pleads for his splash pool, he naturally concludes we think we owe it to him.

If Alice feels defensiveness in our "No" to a new nylon crinoline, she naturally concludes she can change our mind.

Soon these youngsters' respect for our judgments is so subverted that they undertake to make all the judgments for us. They press their own upon us until we turn on them in anger and injustice like Don's mother.

It is very pleasant to be able to provide splash pools, expensive clothes and other advantages to children.

But it is even better to give them the advantage of clear-cut decision. Otherwise they suffer loss of moral strength in chronic resentment at the begrudging, hesitating people they have to live with.

Girl Can't Understand His Attitude

Despite Enjoyable Date, Boy Acts Cool

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Try It
Game Makes Miles Fly

Are you and your family planning on taking a trip sometime between now and the time school starts? It is fun to ride in a car, but I know that you often get tired of riding when you must be in an automobile hour after hour.

I wonder if you have any games which you play when you and your family ride in a car. If you do, will you send them in for the Try It collection? I have about 100 on file, but I am sure that you may have some which are original with you and your family.

Here is one sent in by Lou Ann Rich of Sooner, Wis. She suggests the game of naming all cars that you meet on the road. You will need a scratch pad and a pencil. Choose one of the family to act as scorekeeper.

The first one to name an approaching car wins a point, passing cars count too. The miles will fly by when you keep busy and happy.

You may have 21 points as a game, or you may want to keep score by the trip when you are taking a short one. Don't forget, the next time you start on a trip to take pencil and paper.

IF not perfect features—

Emphasize irregularity of line. Faith does it in the deeper cloche. Dior in the soft, rippled brim of black velvet.

Mrs. P. F.—While there is much talk about deeper hats, we seem to want to show off our well-groomed coiffures in the small shallow hats. Velvet assumes bigger importance, particularly in black. Beret and cloche types predominate.

"Dear Miss Woodward: Two weeks ago I had my first date with Ronny. When he brought me home, he said he'd had a very nice time—but he hasn't called me since."

"When I see him on the street I have to speak first before he'll talk to me—sometimes he even snubs me."

"I thought he behaved that way because he hadn't enjoyed our date, but when I talked to his brother, he said Ronny had raved about how nice I was and what a good time he'd had."

He added that Ronny thought more of me than of any other girl. I like him very much, so what should I do? What can be the reason for his behavior?"

Ronny could have thoroughly enjoyed that one date with you without wanting to get involved in coming around to see you regularly. You, on the other hand, consider the success of a first date to be sure insurance of more to follow.

Certainly Ronny's behavior belies his brother's words. You might normally consider that raving about a girl is a sign that a boy is really interested. But that was the brother speaking. He may have said what he thought you wanted to hear.

You should go right on speaking to Ronny, showing him your friendliness and interest. When he's in the mood to have another date with you, he'll give you a call. But there's no point in withering on the vine while you wait for him.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm very much in love with him, and he is with me, but my parents won't let me go with him because he has gone with the girl next door who has a bad reputation."

Since they have refused to let me have dates with him, I've met him a few times secretly. He's a very nice boy who has made a mistake and knows it, though it wasn't entirely his fault since he was pushed into going with this girl.

"My parents can't see that and refuse to see my point of view. Other boys I don't consider as nice are all right to them. Please help me!"

I have a feeling that your parents' opposition to this boy was not fully expressed. You might understand what they have against the boy if they'd elaborate. They may know more about him than you realize.

They certainly know that no boy will go with any girl for very long unless he wants to. He may be pushed into having one or two dates with her, but he can't be pushed into sticking with her.

If he found the girl next door congenial, it may be that his tastes are quite different from yours and that his influence on you would be one your parents don't want.

In which case, instead of championing him blindly and meeting him in secret, you'd be wise to keep yourself from getting involved in something that will cause you nothing but trouble at home.

Grind Stale Cheese

To turn stale, dried-up cheese into a delicious spread, place it in the meat grinder along with chunks of raw onion.

Versatile waist-length cardigan sweaters make news for fall. Fully-fashioned of pure wool, this one is knit in the bulky Shaker stitch. Sparked with a jaunty roll collar, it also has gold buttons parading down the front.

Knits Are Always Right

Heading the list of garments in school and college wardrobes is the sweater . . . the versatile yet staple garment that's always ready to go, always right for so many occasions.

(This article is based on a recent survey by Women's Wear in which they found that every college girl had from 10 to 20 sweaters in her wardrobe . . . that Bermuda shorts were a classroom fashion . . . that she liked separate skirts with sweater tops for dress.)

This year, Joseph Guttman has designed a variety of sweaters to tempt the fashion-conscious school and college gal. Let's look at a few of the more popular sweaters that make a wardrobe work around the clock.

Heading the list of musts are the classic cardigan and sweater set that are perfect classroom and campus "uniforms." Teamed with a slim tweed skirt, they go hither and yon in good taste. And what could be more perfect for lounging than the sweater set with velvet slacks for study and dormitory use?

Guttman went all out for decorated sweaters and among the conversation pieces is the Schaparelli cardigan that glitters with dress forms, needles, spools of thread.

For really dressy occasions black jet is sprinkled over the front of a bright red cardigan . . . neckbands of coral and rhinestone trim another. For fun there is a sweater with hand-knit angora collars and cuffs, looking for all the world like pieces of black fox.

Perfectly right for evening is the low-scooped and tiny-sleeved top that's knitted of finest wool. For after-five parties these pair with the new, fluted tweed skirts or the rustling circles.

High-throated sweaters in the chunky Shaker knit look so right for skiing or other active sports. These come as pullovers or the latest jackets that halt with elasticized bands at the beltline.

To make them look as if they came from your own flying needles, Guttman makes them full-fashioned, and uses hand-set cables down the front. In others, he simulates handsome tweeds with the use of multi-colored yarns.

Sweaters for college fashions follow the current demand for wool Bermuda shorts, or the latest fad of khaki. Long slacks, tapering and slim, head the list in velvet or wool for wonderful lounging. Striking, too, with jeweled sweaters.

The collection of knitted dresses augments a school wardrobe. Thoughtfully fashioned with youth in mind, they come with attractive fringed yokes, demountable collars and cuffs, detachable sailor collars in two-piece versions.

The classic and fashion-revived shirtmaker looks 1934 in wool knits. And to fill the gap from morning till night there is a

Bridegroom Put Under Obligation

Friends Invited to Bachelor Dinner, Then Asked to Pay

By EMILY POST

Today a bridegroom writes: "Two weeks ago the young man who is to be best man at my wedding called and said that he was going to give a bachelor dinner for me—on such and such a date and asked me if I had any friends I wanted to invite in addition to those he was inviting."

"I said that if it was all right with him I would like to ask three of the young men in my office with whom I am quite friendly. He said I should go right ahead and ask them, which I did."

"Much to my surprise, after the party was over, the host asked these three men for seven dollars apiece, which was their share of the party. They paid it quite willingly but I am sure they were just as surprised at this as I was."

"I would never have asked them if I had known they were going to be asked to contribute and I am very embarrassed over the whole thing. Could I possibly reimburse them for this expense? All three are married and I know every penny counts."

Answer: I agree with you that your friend has put you under an unfair obligation, and I think you should repay these friends if you can.

Dear Mrs. Post: A shower invitation was delayed in the mail and I received it just this morning—a week after the shower had taken place. I am very much upset about this as the bride is a very dear friend of mine, and I don't want her to think I stayed away from the shower deliberately.

"I certainly would have gone, had I known about it, and taken her a nice present. Would it be in order to send her a present now and explain what happened? Answer: Yes, it is the only thing for you to do."

Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally I am driven home from a friend's house by her chauffeur. I would like to know if I am supposed to give him a tip.

Answer: Not for an occasional ride, but if this happens often, you might remember him at Christmas.

Nancy C. Wolfner Becomes Bride at Buckner Home

A Sunday afternoon ceremony in the garden of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Buckner, of James K boulevard, united Nancy Carol Wolfner and E. Steven Bauer in marriage. Dr. Richard C. Hertz performed the ceremony.

Nancy is the daughter of Mrs. Julian Greenfield Wolfner of Detroit and the late Mr. Wolfner and Steven is the son of Mrs. Morris Bauer of New York City and the late Mr. Bauer.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Buckner, wore a gown of white mousseline de sole over white Italian silk taffeta. Tiny folds of mousseline de sole formed a portrait neckline and cap sleeves. The sleeves were embroidered with a leaf motif of hand-corded lace accented by iridescent paillettes.

Cascades of the same lace formed the front of the bouffant floor-length skirt. A two-tiered silk illusion fingertip veil fell from a cap made of the silk illusion with matching applied trim. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Buckner as matron of honor was her sister's only attendant. She wore a princess-style gown of white organza embroidered with touches of minute coral sprays. She carried a matching bouquet of saturen carnations in crescent design. Royal Dean was best man.

MRS. E. STEVEN BAUER

The bride's mother wore a cocktail-length dress of shaded blue accordion-pleated chiffon complemented by a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Bauer's mother was gown in soft blue lace. She wore purple orchids.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Banff and Lake Louise. The new Mrs. Bauer's traveling costume was a navy raw silk dress with white

Threatened 'Liberation March' in Goa Peters Out

REGISTER DONORS—Mrs. Robert Sutton of 143 Lincoln Ave. (seated) and Mrs. Lucile Dennison of the United Fund register donors who made appointments for today's bloodmobile visit. The United Fund hopes its efforts will stimulate interest in future bloodmobile visits plus upping today's total donations.

DISTRIBUTE BLOOD-APPEAL POSTERS—The Pontiac Boys Club took on the job of distributing posters appealing for blood donors today and at future bloodmobile visits to this vicinity. Bob McIlraith (at left) of 11 N. Shirley Ave. and Jerry Sanderson of 181 W. Hopkins Ave. receive posters for distribution from Michael Florillo, Boys Club physical director.

Police Stymie Indian Invasion

Ouster of Portuguese Fizzles After Order to Halt Demonstration

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Goan nationalist drive to oust the Portuguese from India appeared temporarily stymied today. Indian and Portuguese police combined to keep yesterday's much-heralded "liberation" invasion down to a mere trickle. There were no reports of any injured.

But one Goan nationalist leader vowed his group would march again—without warning.

Reports reaching New Delhi yesterday's demonstration for the merger with India of Goa and Portugal's other 400-year-old holdings on the subcontinent gave this picture:

Indian police, apparently acting on government orders, banned Indian nationalists from taking part in the demonstration timed to coincide with this country's independence day celebration.

As a result, only small groups—mostly teen-agers—out of Goa's total population of 600,000 actually demonstrated.

At the main Portuguese settlement of Goa, south of Bombay, only about 30 demonstrators crossed the border at three points. The Portuguese police arrested all of them.

At the Portuguese settlement of Damão, north of Bombay, Indian police detained 1,200 Indians who tried to march into the enclave. The demonstrators—members of the Praja Socialist party—were herded into trucks after they refused to disband and carried off to Vapi, where they were turned loose several hours later.

Indian police at collection points for the Goan demonstrators also searched them to insure that they carried no weapons. In a previous attack on a Portuguese settlement, the invaders killed four Goan policemen.

Associated Press Correspondent Harold Mils reported from the little Goan frontier town of Polem that Indian and foreign newsmen stilling about the border outnumbered the 15 marchers at that point.

Some of those who crossed the northern border briefly occupied the small fortress of Terekhol, but reports reaching here said Portuguese police rounded them up quickly.

Ishwaril Desai, Socialist leader of the 1,200 would-be marchers on Damão, fired off a telegram to Prime Minister Nehru asking him to rescind his order forbidding non-Goans to take part in the demonstration. He received no reply and officials in New Delhi refused to comment.

Nehru gave the go-ahead Friday to the liberation march but he stipulated that the marchers must be Goans and must adhere to the Gandhian principle of nonviolence.

Nehru told 100,000 cheering listeners at an independence day celebration here in New Delhi that the freedom India won from Britain seven years ago would not be complete until foreign enclaves have been eliminated from India.

India is negotiating with France for the latter's withdrawal from her two areas on the east Indian coast, Pondicherry and Karikal. But Portugal refuses to discuss Indian claims for cession of Goa, Damão and the island of Diu.

Talks Follow Party Lines

Chairmen of Dem, GOP Groups Offer Differing Views on U. S. Policies

CHICAGO (AP) — The chairmen of the two major political parties drew widely different appraisals of the Eisenhower administration today.

Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, discussed GOP farm policies, foreign policy and the 83rd Congress at a meeting of the insurance section of the American Bar Assn., now holding its 15th annual meeting in Chicago.

Mitchell, in his prepared address, said "America's farmers are making four billion dollars a year less than they were in 1952," and added:

"They have lost one dollar of income out of every four. All the new Republican farm program offers is still lower prices and lower income."

Hall, in a similar prepared address, said of the administration's farm program:

"The Eisenhower administration, with commendable courage and farsightedness, has obtained an improved farm bill.

Its aim is a better balance in agricultural production. And, any support level adjustments will be gradual—in line with the President's recommendations."

DWINDLING SUPPLY—Dr. John J. Marra, pathologist in charge of the blood bank at Pontiac General Hospital, shows a near-empty blood storage locker. Dr. Marra said only 35 to 40 per cent of needed blood is on hand.

TELEPHONE REQUESTS—Miss Barbara Bobout, of the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic was one of agencies affiliated with the United Fund here in the volunteer workers who contacted possible donors by phone. The clinic staff joined with other agencies in an effort to boost the blood-donors total.

Students Investigate Yucatan Channel, Sill

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP) — Members of the department of oceanography of Texas A. & M. College embarked in July on a month-long cruise to study the Yucatan Channel and the sill below it that links Cuba and the Yucatan Peninsula.

George Austin of the department said that "as far as we know, the floor of this shallow region between the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea has not been defined clearly before."

The group, on the department's research vessel, the A. A. Jakkula, also studied water movements in the Caribbean Sea as the ship went from the peninsula to Honduras and to Jamaica.

United Fund Agencies in Area Rallying to Help Recruit Donors for Blood Bank

The Pontiac Area United Fund agencies are rallying today to help the American Red Cross overcome a local blood-reserve shortage, according to Mrs. N. E. Durocher, chairman of the Pontiac vicinity blood program.

A bloodmobile will be at the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave., today from 2 to 8 p.m.

This area fell short of its 720-pint quota by 523 pints last month, said Mrs. Durocher.

Dr. John J. Marra, pathologist in charge of the blood bank at Pontiac General Hospital, said, "We have only 35 to 40 per cent of needed blood on hand right now. Blood is being issued only when there is no alternative."

Several UF agencies have been recruiting donors by telephone including the YMCA staff and "Y-Teen" group, the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic and Pontiac Urban League.

Affiliates of the UF sending donors from their staff include the Campfire Girls, Michigan Children's Aid, Boys Club, United Fund and Family Service of Oakland County.

Posters have been distributed by the Boys' Club.

Donors can make appointments today by calling the Red Cross at FE 4-3575. Refreshments will be served to donors by Girl Scouts.

Three other area bloodmobile visits will follow this month at the West Bloomfield Township Hall Aug. 19, Pontiac State Hospital Aug. 20 and St. John's Church in Royal Oak on Aug. 23.

Appointments for the West Bloomfield visit can be made by calling Mrs. O. A. Koskinen at MAYfair 6-2601.

Beginning: The Audrey Hepburn Story

She's Hailed as Most Promising Actress

By DICK KLEINER (First of Five Articles)

NEW YORK (NEA) — This is Audrey Hepburn: She came out of the theater and there was the usual crowd of autograph seekers pushing around her. She noticed one crippled lady, holding a camera. The woman obviously wanted to take her picture, and just as obviously didn't stand a chance in the crush.

Audrey Hepburn turned to a tall man in the crowd and commanded, "Take a picture of me with that woman's camera, please." And she posed carefully and smiled. There was a tear in her eye as she smiled.

And this is Audrey Hepburn, too:

The night "Ondine" closed, she and her co-star, Mel Ferrer, announced they were having a party for the cast and crew at Dinty Moore's. Before the party began, they told the Dinty Moore management to be sure to close the bar and announce curfew by 12:30.

And they arranged that the show would end 10 minutes later than usual, so the party actually ran only about an hour. The guests were somewhat miffed.

These two stories illustrate one basic part of Audrey Hepburn's makeup that many people nowadays overlook—she's a human being, with good features and bad just like anybody else.

Since her smashing triumphs on stage and screen, many of her fans have somehow reached the conclusion that she is something super-human, half sprite, half woman. She isn't.

She's very real. She has her likes and dislikes, her love affairs, her weak points, her strong points. Those who know her best say she's about the most normal person around. That is probably just prejudiced talk; if Audrey Hepburn is normal, nobody else is.

For Audrey Hepburn is being hailed by critics as the most promising actress of this era.

Some day she may be classed with Sarah Bernhardt and Eleonore Duse. Actually, she's at the HALF WOMAN—Audrey Hepburn's fans have come to believe she's almost super-human—half sprite, half woman. But she isn't.

ized roles on the stage, yet Broadway is at her feet.

She's won awards—top awards—in both. She's packed them in at the box-office. She's had fabulous offers in dozens of different fields. She could have her pick of suitors. She is just now reaching the large money and ahead of her loom years of fat checks. She's a lucky girl.

When you talk to Audrey Hepburn's friends and associates, it isn't easy to form a good picture of her. There are contradictions. But, basically, they all say the same thing: she is a nice, normal, ambitious, hard-working young actress.

That's the skeleton of Audrey Hepburn. The backbone is that word "ambitious." She pours everything she has into her work—so much so, in fact, that she is constantly under doctor's care. She is anemic and she aggravates it by her unrelenting drive.

Here's an example of the way she works. She was making a 10-minute recording for the U. N. They were to send it for rebroadcast in her native Belgium. Lots of people have made them, just reading the script and listening to it played back and then leaving. Average time: 15 minutes.

Not Audrey Hepburn. She memorized the script. She wasn't satisfied with the first recording. Or the second. Or the third. It took her an hour and a half to get it so that she was satisfied.

She is the same way with her acting. She works days on a single scene, and keeps working at home after rehearsal. She is a perfectionist, rarely pleased with her own performances.

"I should have done that scene better," she'll say as she watches rushes from her films. Or she'll study a scene that had

Jury May Get Evidence in Sheppard Murder Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Evidence in the six-week-old Marilyn Sheppard murder case goes to the grand jury today — if County Prosecutor Frank T. Callahan has his way.

Also scheduled for today is a preliminary hearing on the first-degree murder charge against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death.

The prosecutor, seeking to prevent disclosure of evidence to defense attorneys, hopes to obtain a continuance of the preliminary hearing from Common Pleas Judge William K. Thomas.

Then he could present his case to the grand jury secretly. If no continuance is granted, the prosecutor will make his presentation after the hearing, and expects to do so by tomorrow at the latest.

A preliminary hearing determines whether sufficient evidence exists to hold a prisoner for grand jury action. However, in Ohio, a prosecutor may submit evidence without waiting for the preliminary hearing.

As homicide detectives continued their investigation into the July 4 murder, quarterback Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns professional football team appeared at police headquarters yesterday with his wife.

The Grahams, friends of the Sheppards, said they knew little about the relationship existing between the osteopath and his wife.

Homicide Capt. David E. Kerr said the questioning had been purely of a routine nature and was done simply because of the friendship between the two couples.

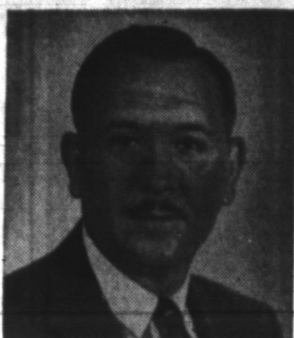

Also questioned by police was Bay Village Mayor J. Spencer Houk, who was given two lie detector tests.

Police said the tests backed up Houk's denial of a suggestion by Dr. Stephen Sheppard, the accused man's brother, that the mayor might have had a romantic interest in the murdered woman.

Eddie Fisher Chats With Cantor, Is a Little Slow on the Trigger

By EDDIE CANTOR

What Marilyn Monroe is to the men of America, Eddie Fisher is to the women, only more so—but certainly not because of his torso. Eddie is just a slim, average kid with black curly hair and warm brown eyes.

I first met him in 1949, while doing a benefit at the famous Catskill Mountain hotel resort, Grossinger's. I was impressed with the way the audience received this unknown singer. His was a real, show-stopping performance!

I put my arm around his shoulder and told him he was going to open with me the next night at Philadelphia's Convention Hall—the start of a six-week tour.

Eddie stammered, "Gee, Mr. Cantor, that's wonderful, but does it have to be tomorrow?" I said, "Why, did you have something planned?"

Eddie replied, "Yessir—tomorrow I'm auditioning for a job!"

Fisher not only killed 'em in Philadelphia, but in Chicago, Omaha, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and everywhere else we appeared.

Even in those days, girls would scream, stamp their feet, and yell when he appeared, and one of the biggest laughs we got in our show was when I'd say to him, "Eddie, how does it feel to have all these girls cooing and aahing and swooning over you?"

Fisher would reply, "You should know, Mr. Cantor—it must have happened to you when you were young."

I'd answer: "Yes, come to think of it, they did gasp and sigh, and a few even fainted—but not because of my voice—tight corsets!"

It was during the Korean war that I became very proud of this kid's character, as well as his ability as a performer. Reports came to me constantly about the fine job he did entertaining overseas.

A major, who made the trip home from Korea with Eddie, told me their plane took the northern route and they ran into a lot of trouble.

One engine conked out, and when ice formed on the wings, one boy commented they'd soon be wearing wings!

I said to Eddie, "When all this was going on, what were you thinking about?" He answered, "I was wondering if the orchestra was to loud for me when I recorded 'Lady of Spain!'—"

Britons Await Donkeys

LONDON (INS) — So many Britons are anxious to have a donkey that the famed Ada Cole Memorial Stables at South Mimms near London has had to compile a waiting list. The cost of keeping a donkey is less than half that for a big horse.

Navy Reserve Offered Advice

Special Board Calls for the Adoption of Single, Unified Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three admirals and a businessman today advised the Navy to adopt a single Naval Reserve policy and stick to it.

The men, members of a special reserve evaluation board, said the Navy has presented six different "authoritative" statements on the mission of the reserve and that the six were "incompatible" with each other.

Some of these statements were classified "secret," making it impossible for reservists to learn what their real mission is, the board complained. It blamed Washington for "error, ambiguity, duplication and conflict."

The board, which has been studying the reserve program since last October, listed its recommendations and criticisms in a report to the secretary of the Navy.

Vice Adm. Felix Johnson, retired, became chairman of the board after the death last January of Adm. W. H. P. Blandy.

The board found that the Naval Reserve program is generally good and that the air reserve system is "outstanding." It recommended, however, that the Navy make it easier for airmen to get into the reserve program but harder for them to stay in unless they continued active flying.

An intense public information program, keynoted by the President, was urged to overcome the feeling of "bitterness and resentment" among reservists who might believe one tour of active duty should discharge their service obligations.

Reservists also need to be told that participation in active training programs will not automatically make them more liable to immediate recall in time of emergency than if they stayed inactive, the board said.

Cadillac Dentist Dies

CADILLAC (AP)—Dr. Fred E. Heath, a practicing dentist at Cadillac for nearly 50 years and son of a pioneer area physician, died Sunday at his home following a long illness. He was 69. Dr. Heath is survived by his widow, Lillian, a son, Mott, of Dearborn, and three grandchildren.

WAR DANCE PERFORMER—Catherine Shewchuck, 19, is one of 24 fair-skinned beauties from the Cheboygan area who are adding a touch of glamour to the dances that real Indian braves and maidens once performed around council fires in the wilderness that became Michigan. The girls call themselves the Chick-a-ga-mi tribe, and they perform at festivals and fairs throughout the northland. Requests for appearances are coming in so fast the girls find they cannot begin to fill them.

Hillsdale Woman Found Dead From Attic Fire

HILLSDALE (UP)—Hillsdale County Coroner Harley Brandon returned a suicide verdict today in the death of a 29-year-old farm woman whose body was found in her smoke-filled attic near here. Brandon said Mrs. Winifred Runnels took her own life Sunday by setting fire to the attic of the farm home, owned jointly by her and her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Bishop.

California Polio Victim to Start Niagara Blast

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A 4-year-old polio victim in California today was scheduled to touch off a dynamite blast that will send an 800-ton chunk of Niagara Falls crashing into the gorge of the Niagara River.

Debie Stone, an iron lung patient 3,000 miles distant in the Rancho Los Amigos Hospital at Hondo, Calif., will press her nose against a remote control button to set off a 100-pound dynamite charge embedded in an overhanging section of Prospect Point.

The blast will signal the opening of the 20-million-dollar emergency March of Dimes drive for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

It will also complete the blasting operations made necessary at the American Falls by the thunderous rockfall of July 28.

Re-Armed India Said Necessary

Speaker of Assembly Believes Her Country Is to Unite East, West

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Moral re-armament of India is necessary to preserve her independence from pressures from outside her borders and forces of division within, an Indian representative told the moral Re-armament Assembly here Sunday.

The seventh anniversary of India's independence was celebrated at the assembly with the traditional garlanding of two Indian educators and representatives from 10 nations joining together in the words, "jai hind"—"Victory for India."

Miss Edith Dellina, headmistress of a girls' school in Hyderabad, said it was India's destiny to bridge differences between East and West. But this can be done, she said, only as India finds solution to "the many conflicts, clashes and competition" now dividing her own people. The victory for India, she said,

"would be the translation into our national life of MRA's four absolutes—honesty, purity, unselfishness and love."

A. R. Roy, headmaster of a Calcutta boys' school, mentioned the $100,000 bridge now in construction across the Mackinac Straits. He said he hopes that through the efforts of MRA "we will be able to build the biggest bridge in the world that can close all the gaps between us and make the world one family."

Penguins, contrary to popular impression, do not all live in regions of ice and snow. However, penguins are not found north of the Equator.

One-Stroke Margin Gives Toski 'World' Golf Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—On a course where par meant nothing, Bob Toski used one stroke to win the equivalent of $100,000.

His final round of 72—put together in probably the weirdest fashion in tournament history—gave the splinter of a pro the "world's" title at Tam O'Shanter and $50,000 in cash plus an exhibition contract worth just as much.

The 37-year-old, slim as a reed cowboy and at 27 the youngest player ever to cash in at Tam, settled for a 72-hole score of 274. This was 14 strokes under par and was hampered with brilliant rounds of 67-65-70 and the final of 72.

By one stroke, he beat out Earl Stewart Jr., the money-hungry 54-hole leader from Dallas, who blew to a closing 74, and Jack Burke Jr., also a Texan. Each of the runners-up, who locked with 275, collected $7,500 as shares of a $150,000 purse distribution.

The wiry Toski, registering from Livingston, N. J., never will forget that closing 72 as long as he lives.

He started out the last round with birdies on four of the first five holes. Then suddenly, he began to look like you and me. The roof fell in with a triple bogey 7.

Toski parred the next three for a 35 against standard 36 for the front nine.

At this point—63 holes—he totaled 237, Stewart 236 and Burke 240 with a front nine of 34.

After salvaging a par five on the long 64th from a trap, Toski bogied four holes in a row by wandering into sand and missing short putts.

At this time—68 holes, he had used up 261 strokes in all while Burke and Stewart were deadlocked at 258.

While Stewart went for a birdie 4 on the 69th, Burke drove out of bounds and took a 6. Toski hit a perfect drive, stuck a No. 4 wood 12 feet from the cup and holed the putt for an eagle 3. This tied him with Burke at 264, while Stewart jockeyed ahead with 262.

On the 215-yard 70th, Stewart overshot the green, stubbed a chip shot and finally took a 5. Burke and Toski parred in 3's.

On the final hole Burke parred with 4, two-putting from 20 feet. Toski planted his approach eight feet from the pin. He rammed in the putt for a birdie 3—and it was all over.

For the last 18, Toski's card showed one eagle, five birdies, four bogies, one triple bogey, and the rest pars.

Toski said his future plans include golf in Brazil and Australia before he returns to the U. S. in November to start thinking about the exhibitions lined up by Tam Promoter George S. May.

"What am I going to do with the money?" he grinned. "Build a dream house for my new wife. (He was married last December to Lynn, who seldom left his side at all on the course). We don't know where yet."

Lloyd Mangrum took fourth place with 277 and Walter Burkemo fifth with 278.

Other "World" champions crowned were:

Women pros—(worth $5,000)—Patty Berg with a six-under-par 258, three strokes ahead of Louise Suggs.

Women amateurs—Mickey Wright of San Diego with 309, two ahead of defending champion "Wiffi" Smith.

Men amateurs—Frank Stranahan for the fifth straight time, with 284, one stroke ahead of Arnold Palmer of Cleveland.

ROUGH WORK!—Pontiac Press clinic, Aug. 24, at Pontiac Country Club, will afford area links enthusiasts opportunity to see just how the top professionals do it—like Wally Burkemo is demonstrating, above. Burkemo was snapped during the recent PGA nationals at St. Paul, Minn., pitching out of deep rough (note ball at right). The effort was successful, Wally's ball hitting the 6th green on the try.

305-Yard Drive Wins Prelim in Jaycee Tourney

Nearly 200 Youngsters Begin Play Today for National Honors

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Albuquerque's mile-high altitude is proving a boon to 190 teen-agers golfers starting qualifying play today for the ninth annual International Jaycee Junior golf tournament.

Tournament activities officially started yesterday with a driving contest which saw 16-year-old Lee McGuire of Leavenworth, Kan., knock a ball 305 yards, two feet. The distance was a record for the contest, a regular pre-tournament feature.

The 287 yards John Garrett of Houston, Tex., posted last year was the best previous effort. A dozen shotmakers bettered that yesterday.

Most of the players figured the thin air here added 20 or 25 yards to their drives.

The boys shoot 36 holes of qualifying today and tomorrow with the top 100 and ties entering the tournament proper. Those who failed to qualify will take part in a Class B tournament at the Albuquerque Country Club.

Olson Is 'Sharp' for Title Bout

Champion Is Reported in Perfect Shape for Castellani Match

NICE, Calif. (AP)—Carl (Bob) Olson is "sharp as a razor" for his title fight with middleweight challenger Rocky Castellani in San Francisco this Friday.

State Boxing Commission Dr. Don Lastre reported this after looking the champion over yesterday.

Olson is in perfect shape. His bloodcheck and heart are excellent," Lastre said.

Olson backed up the doctor's findings with a boxing exhibition that pleased some 5,000 spectators. The champion went two rounds with Benny Walker, attacking the Oakland middleweight with vicious two-handed brawls that had the crowd applauding. Against Bill Halsey, also of Oakland, Olson concentrated on left hooks, and once staggered his opponent with a vicious right cross.

In his San Rafael training camp, Castellani went five rounds, raising his total to 143.

Tribe Boosts AL Lead to 3 Full Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Brooklyn's glee over dumping "them Giants" three in a row is tempered by the knowledge that giddy Milwaukee, on a nine-game spree, shows no signs of running out of firewater.

The Giants' lead, once a bulging seven games, now measures only a half game over the Dodgers. The Braves are 3½ games off the pace, rushing down the stretch like Native Dancer. If Brooklyn beats the Phillies tonight in the only game scheduled, they'll trail New York by only .002.

Cleveland moved three full games in front of New York in the American League race. The Indians ran their winning streak to six by downing Baltimore 5-3 and 3-1. The Yanks scored eight in the first inning on the way to a 14-9 decision over Boston, their seventh-straight. Chicago was practically eliminated by losing twice to Detroit 2-1 and 8-7, dropping 9½ games behind Cleveland. Johnny Schmitz pitched Washington to a 4-1 victory over Philadelphia in the "Little League" division of the American.

Perhaps the state of the two pennant races can best be shown by a comparison of the contenders' performances since the All-Star break.

The reason for the Giants' precarious position is easily seen by these figures, covering play since the All-Star Game.

Won Lost Pct.
Milwaukee 25 5 .833
Brooklyn 19 13 .594
New York 13 17 .433
The story behind the Yanks' failure to catch the Indians, despite their brilliant performance in the last month, also is easily seen from a similar table, covering play since July 13.

Won Lost Pct.
Cleveland 26 6 .813
New York 24 9 .727
Chicago 20 13 .606
The Yanks still play five with Cleveland and three with Chicago while Cleveland has the five with New York and six with the White Sox.

Billy Loes' pitching was a most important factor in Brooklyn's success against New York yesterday. The young righthander calmly set down the Giants with seven hits for his sixth straight triumph.

Larry Doby and Bobby Avila slammed homers in Cleveland's sweep over Baltimore. Doby hit No. 27 with two on in the sixth inning of the first game after Baltimore scored twice on winner Art Houtteman. Avila's 12th homer got the Indians off on top in the second game, won by Mike Garcia over Lou Kretlow.

Neither the Orioles, nor their predecessors, the St. Louis Browns, have won a game in Cleveland since Aug. 13, 1952, losing 27 in a row.

Rookie Bob Grim won his 16th for the Yanks although Boston made it a little uncomfortable after trailing at one stage, 11-0. Art Schallack and Tom Morgan finally subdued the rallying Red Sox. Harry Agganis homered with three on and Sam White with one on for the Sox. Mickey Mantle smashed No. 26 for the Yanks.

Double Winners

Jerry Miller and Don McCubbin of Berkeley were double winners at the Lake Angelus Speedway Sunday.

Miller won a heat race and the feature, while McCubbin won a pair of heats. Jim Bemis was the victor in the pursuit and Bill Zant took the 4-car dash. Bob Chester was the other heat winner.

McCubbin joined the "Upside Down" club and the feature was re-started due to collisions.

Top U. S. Stars Eye Canadian Amateur Title

Crooner Don Cherry Defends Crown Against Strong Field

By JOE FALLS
LONDON, Ont. (AP)—International pride and prestige, as well as personal accomplishment, is at stake in the 50th Canadian Amateur golf championship opening today at the London Hunt and Country Club.

Top stars from the United States, Canada and Mexico are among the field of almost 200 entered in the six-day match play event over the historic par-70, 6,480-yard layout.

The defending champion is crooner Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex. He will be up against some of the best amateurs on the North American continent.

But perhaps more important than the individual championship is the pride and prestige that goes to the nation which will boast the winner.

From the tournament's inception in 1885, through 1923, it was strictly an all-Canadian affair.

In 1929 Eddie Held of New York crashed through and became the first American to win the title.

Since then the U. S. and Canada have been staging an international tug of war for the golf championship.

When Cherry beat Don Doe of Gramby, Quebec for the crown last summer, he became the ninth American winner since 1929. Canada has had 10 champions in that period but the U. S. is expected to square matters at 10-10 this year.

A crack U. S. field is headed by the victorious Americas Cup team of Bill Campbell, Huntington, W. Va.; Dale Morey, Indianapolis; Harvie Ward, San Francisco; Cherry; Charlie Coe, Oklahoma City, and Joe Conrad, San Antonio, Tex.

360 Invited to Opening Drill

By BILL MARTIN
Letters were mailed out today to 360 Pontiac High School football team candidates, inviting them to report to the opening practice session Aug. 30, according to Robert F. Beauchamp, PHS faculty manager of Athletics.

Invitations were extended to all returning members of last year's varsity and junior varsity teams and all junior high school graduates expressing interest in trying out for the squad.

Letters also were mailed to candidates for the Chiefs' cross country, basketball and swimming teams.

Football equipment will be issued at 9 a.m. on Aug. 27 and 28 at Wanser Stadium. Practice will start the following Monday in preparation for the opening game Sept. 17 at Wyandotte.

Only seven lettermen will return from last year's varsity squad that won 4 of 9 games. They are quarterback Marvin Caswell, halfback Walt Poe, fullback Coley Gracey, and Willie Wilson, tackles George Thrasher and Colle Hunt and guard Dick Navis. Twenty-six letter winners were lost through graduation.

PHS coaching staff is unchanged this year. Ed Graybiel is head coach, Dean Wilson is backfield coach and Arnold Wilson is line mentor. Tony Pizsa and Ed Heikkinen will handle the jayvees, and Ralph Waterman will act as trainer.

Season ticket applications went out today to stadium bondholders and previous holders of season tickets. Books will contain tickets for the five home games—Waterford, Sept. 24; Flint Central, Oct. 8; Bay City Central, Oct. 15; Royal Oak, Oct. 29; and Saginaw, Nov. 12.

Road games on the schedule are Wyandotte, Sept. 17; Ferndale, Oct. 1; Arthur Hill, Oct. 22; and Flint Northern, Nov. 5.

Telephone and mail orders for tickets will be accepted at the Pontiac High School athletic office, Federal 4-3547. Sales will be restricted to previous ticket holders until Sept. 1, after which they will go on sale at Osmun's, and Griff's Grill. No single game tickets will be sold for the opening home game against Waterford.

Stagg Turns 92

CHAMPIONSHIP ROW—A row of champions and near-champions from the recent national roller skating tourney at Denver, Colo., shows what Pontiac's entries did in the big event. From left they are: Sylvia Ritchie, juvenile girls figure champion, 2nd in juvenile dance with Ricky Martins (not in picture); Nita Steward, Cecilia Darimont and Charles Parker, 2nd junior fours (Jerry Hamlin, 4th member, not in picture); Laurene Anselmy, perennial national women's champion in senior ladies' figures and senior ladies' free style; William Pate Jr., champion men's senior figure, 3rd in free style; Richard Pozniak, 2nd in intermediate men's free style; Gary Meeker, 2nd intermediate men's figure and 2nd, with Martha Rogers (not in picture) in intermediate pairs. A protest in the women's singles title event that held up the decision for a time involved an improper costume by another entrant, but did not, in any way, affect Laurene Anselmy, the winner. Awards for the entire event were delayed by the protest.

Looks Like Birmingham 9 Has Legion Title Clinched

Birmingham's Reds virtually sewed up the 2nd half championship of the American Legion 18th District baseball league Sunday by routing 1st half winner Berkley, 11-0.

In the day's other game, Huron Valley Boys Club retained a slim title chance by nipping Birmingham Blues, 1-0, in a 10-inning thriller. Larry Millford pitched the Reds to their shutout on a 4-hitter. A 5-run rally in the 5th put the Birmingham term in a commanding lead.

Meanwhile, Jim Huber was the big hero for the Huron Valley club as he pitched and batted his team to its triumph. He hurled the 10-inning shutout, yielded only 4 hits and striking out 17 batters.

Then in the home half of the 10th with one out, Emory doubled and scored on Huber's game-winning single.

Don Picmann, who came in for the Blues in the 1st inning, hurled 4-hit shutout ball and fanned 11 before getting in trouble in the 10th. He gave way to Dick Covera who pitched the single to Huber.

Which low-priced car is lowest priced?

The actual cost of a car to you is the difference between what you pay for it and what it brings you when you sell it.

The real cost of a car to you is the difference between what you buy it for and what you sell it for.

A Ford costs you less to own because it's priced low to start with and it returns more of its original cost when sold than does any other competitive car. Statistics prove it.

It returns more because it's worth more.

Yes, Ford delivers more car, too. It's the only car in its field with a 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or a new 115-h.p. I-block Six ... new Ball-Joint Front Suspension ... such modern interiors and exteriors. And Ford is also first for choice—with 28 models in 3 great lines.

Take a Test Drive and you'll want to drive it home!

Car With Gadgets on 6,391-Mile West Coast Run

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) - The gadget-equipped automobile of Elias (Louie) Mattar passed through his home town of San Diego yesterday on a 6,391-mile nonstop run from Anchorage, Alaska, to Mexico City.

Mattar said he expects to reach the Mexican capital Aug. 19 on schedule. He left Anchorage Aug. 10.

The car's tires can be changed without stopping by means of hydraulic jacks on wheels. Mattar, who owns a garage, has been adding gadgets - like a dashboard bar, electric refrigerator, kitchen sink and television - to the car since 1947. He has two substitute drivers with him.

Aussie Crowd Better Than GI, Colonna Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - American entertainers can find a gold mine Down Under, reports Jerry Colonna, just back from a tour of Australia.

"They're fabulous," said the zany comic, speaking of the Australian fans. "They're 100 per cent more responsive than a GI audience, if you can imagine that."

"American audiences are the toughest. No matter who you are, they'll sit out there and do nothing until you've proved yourself. The crowds in England are a little better. They are unresponsive at first. But once they get to like you, you're in. You can do no wrong."

"Australians are wild from the start. I've never heard such a reaction. They'll listen to your whole routine and then want more."

"At one show I had to explain that other entertainers were waiting to go. But they yelled, 'Do it again!' They wanted me to do my whole act all over again!"

I saw brush-faced Colonna at his comfortable Laurel Canyon home upon his return. Offstage he is far different from the wacky character he long played with Bob Hope. He is quiet, soft-spoken and almost shy. The pop-eyed extrovert with the sirelike voice is strictly a stage character.

Jerry went to Australia with a show that included Artie Shaw, Ella Fitzgerald and Buddy Rich. They played three days in Sydney, two in Melbourne and one in Brisbane. It was an experiment by a group of promoters.

"We played in fight arenas with capacities up to 11,000," the comedian reported. "The houses were about seven-eighths full. Our only poor houses were the first day in Sydney, when Ella couldn't appear because of a delay in Honolulu."

The tour cost $30,000 and brought in around $75,000. But the promoters were heartened by the results, having spent lavishly to see if such tours were practical. They are convinced and plan to send regular shows, perhaps touching other countries. The next troupe is expected to include Johnny Ray, Peggy Ryan, Ray McDonald and comic Dave Barry.

Flint Pair Place First in Pipe Time Contest

NEW YORK (UP) - A Flint, Mich. man and woman held the national pipe-smoking championships today.

Max Iggee placed first in the men's division of the International Pipe Smokers Club contest Saturday by keeping 3.3 grams of tobacco going two hours, five minutes and seven seconds.

Jessie Rudel kept her pipe going 35 minutes to take top honors in the women's division.

Twenty-five contestants were entered in the contest at the club's annual convention.

German Tans Elephant Hide to Polish Steel

GROSS UNSTADT, Germany (AP) - Karl Emmerich's job is reputedly the only one of its kind in Europe. He tans elephant hides.

A tall, lean man, with deuling scars on his left cheek, he operates a tannery founded in 1888 by his grandfather after a scientist friend disclosed that elephant skins were excellent for polishing steel and other metals. For generations, it has been shipping polishing and grinding discs made from elephant hide to all parts of the world.

Elephant skins are too expensive to import, Emmerich told a reporter from the U.S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes. So he waits until elephants die in zoos and circuses, then contracts for their skins. During the last war, he bought elephants killed by Allied air raids.

An elephant's hide averages two inches in thickness. It is carefully processed, first being soaked in chemicals to remove dirt, then softened. For final tanning, it is stored in a pit and covered with oak bark. It may lie there for as long as three years.

Father Runs Out 50 Years Ago, Is Now Reunited

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - After nearly half a century, Herbert Tucker has been reunited with the daughter he "walked away" from at the age of 3 weeks.

The daughter, Miss Marie Tucker of Nashville, Tenn., found her 71-year-old father through a friend and came to Louisville yesterday to join him.

Tucker frankly admitted he "just walked away" from his family at High Cliff, Tenn., 48 years ago. Asked why he did it, he said: "I had no sense."

He said he had regretted the mistake over and over.

Hal Boyle Says:

Working-at-Play Fatigues
5-Day-Week Philosopher

NEW YORK. (U. S. — Morning thoughts of an alley Aristotle on the start of a new week: Monday is the limpest day in the average man's calendar. He returns to work tired from working at play.

We take the seven-day week for granted. Sometimes when I feel like criticizing both the Lord and mankind—even an upset stomach can stir these solitary thoughts of rebellion—I often harbor thoughts about the God of the Old Testament that would hardly please him.

Yet he labored to create the world in six days and rested from his vast efforts on the seventh day. That created the tradition of the seven-day week. The modern effort in most industries has been to try to get the working job done in five days.

But suppose the Lord had labored 99 days in a row to perfect our vineyard and rested on the 100th day. Could human beings have accepted this pattern of a 100-day week? Certainly not to day. So maybe on Monday even seven days isn't as bad as it sometimes seems.

We claimed we are made in the image of God, but there are no quarrels in a Christian heaven.

More often we imitate in our daily lives the old Greek and Roman gods, who squabbled among themselves in petty rivalries so much that today they would feel as much at home in Times Square as they did on Mount Olympus.

The victory of Christianity over the centuries is that it reflects the ordinary man's craving to reverse something more substantial, and less jealous, than he knows himself to be.

Peace has been the mouth-spoken dream of every generation of mankind under the sun. Yet the simplest way to create world unity would be an announcement that invaders from another planet had landed on earth.

The sad fact of so-called civilization as we have known it is that dire necessity, a man's urgent loneliness and dependence on the frightened fellow who must protect his flank, has knitted firmer friends in danger than can all the pleading platitudes of peace.

It remains to be established whether man, for all his pious cries for peace, can endure it very long. His predatory omnivorous appetite, his reach for power beyond his grasp, have made him the animal—the animals, the predator of predators, and reduced his religiousness to a mockery. Even the mosquito is more honest. It doesn't pretend to pray. It preys. War is a long boredom for the soldier, and has always been through history. The moments of danger are usually few, frightening, and fatal only in those accidents add harsh circumstances of duty incidental to a soldier's task. Sometimes there are few or no casualties; on occasion the whole outfit is a casualty.

But war in the industrial 20th century has made the civilian, patriotic and willing as he is, get a feeling of war importance. On his days off he volunteers to forget his regular job and work in a factory to help build a bomber his son may fly, or spot check a new gun his boy may have to fire.

That seems to me to be a real danger—the civilian's excitement and feeling of significance when war is on. He is sometimes overborne and swept away by it, and abandons the standards that make him a nice home guy. The war inflates him and his opinion of himself: he—and many girls, too—in their minds actually hate to see a war close. It will send them back to a dull routine.

But the invention of the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb makes the civilian a potential target. Naturally this reduces his enthusiasm and gives him almost an infantry soldier's weary worry about how to stay alive and influence enemies.

Who can make people forget the glamor and magic of war—the feeling of importance war often brings?

Who can make them feel peace-important?

Drowns Fleeing
a Parking Violation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U. S. — Eugene Hicks, 25, Columbus, ran from a police officer making a routine check of a picnic area where his car was parked, stumbled into a river and was drowned yesterday.

Cruiserman Kenneth Cashner Jr. said Hicks apparently didn't know the river was there.

Cashner said as he approached the car Hicks and two others jumped from it and ran. The other two were rescued from the river. They told Cashner they had feared they would be arrested for parking in the area.

Grains Holding to Steady Tone

CHICAGO (U)—Grains held to a steady tone on the Board of Trade today after getting off to a mixed start. Dealings quieted down after a fast opening.

At the start wheat and rye displayed strength, rising for large fractions, while feed grains and soybeans eased. Soybeans had losses running to more than 2 cents. As trading progressed this disparity between the various grains tended to even out.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $2.12 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.63 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, September 72 1/2; rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.17 1/2; soybeans 1/2 to 3/4 higher, September $13.11, and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $16.20.

Yangtze in China Hits All-Time High

TOKYO (U. P.) — The rampaging Yangtze River, which has flooded hundreds of thousands of square miles of China's farmland and dealt the Red rulers of the land a serious economic blow, hit a new all-time high of 97.18 feet yesterday, Peiping radio said today. The broadcast, heard here, admitted the surging Yangtze had washed away houses and farm land in the central China area. The broadcast said 2,700,000,000 yuan had been doled out to flood victims who were "safely evacuated" from the outskirts of the tri-city complex at Wuhan. About 800 asteroids (minor planets) have been discovered in the past year.

Gloria Grahame, Cy Leaving for Hawaii

HOLLYWOOD (U. P.) — Actress Gloria Grahame, 28, and television producer Cy Howard, 38, leave today for a two-week honeymoon in Hawaii. They were married yesterday in a brief civil ceremony beside the swimming pool at Howard's home. Superior Judge Stanley Mosk officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Tyrone Power, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Cantor, producer

William Goetz and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were among the 100 guests who attended a reception following the wedding. The American wool industry was begun about 1643 by wool combers and carders from Yorkshire, England, who settled in Rowley, Mass.
