ACCUSED — Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna, held in an alleged murder-for-hire plot, are escorted from their Livonia home by police officers. Police said the couple and their son, Jules, conspired to kill a robbery witness about to testify against the son. The trio stood mute at their arraignment yesterday.

Alleged Death Plot Laid to Livonia Trio

A Livonia couple and their 25-year-old son are being held in the Oakland County Jail in an alleged murder-for-hire plot against a woman witness in a pending armed robbery case against the son.

Held are Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna and their son, Jules.

The son had been free on $10,000 bond awaiting pretrial examination March 31 on the armed robbery charge stemming from the holdup last Nov. 21 of Paul and Vic's Market, 28734 Grand River, Farmington Township. The holdup lost was $35.

All three were arraigned yesterday in Farmington Township Justice Court on a charge of plotting to pay $700 to have witness Mrs. Victoria Gogates of Detroit killed.

Farmington Township police said the younger Sorna met an unidentified man in a bar Saturday and offered the $700.

HATCH THE PLOT

The unidentified man reportedly met with all three Sornas yesterday in Livonia. He told police of the scheme.

John I. Bain, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, said that Mrs. Gogates was to have been killed before she testified.

"No money changed hands," Bain said, "but arrests were made because we thought the risks involved in letting a matter like this drag on were too great."

Mrs. Sorna, a pudgy housewife, and her toolmaker husband were held on $25,000 bond each after yesterday's arraignment. Their son is held on $5,000 bond.

An examination in Justice Court is scheduled for Friday on the charge.

"Details of what happened must be withheld until this examination," Bain said.

Gray and Gloomy Is Weather Picture

Color the skies gray and gloomy. The weatherman predicts variable cloudiness today and tonight with no major temperature changes and a chance of drizzle or light rain tonight.

Some good may come from the expected drizzle. It may help melt the unsightly clumps of dirty snow punctuating the landscape.

Lows tonight will range between 26 and 34.

Today's east to southeasterly winds at 7 to 14 miles will become light and variable by tonight.

Tomorrow will be partly sunny and a little colder with a chance of snow flurries.

Wednesday looks like more of the same as skies are due to remain cloudy and the thermometer steady.

Lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 28. By 1 p.m. the mercury stood at 37.

$12.2 Billion for War Gets House Unit OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war in Vietnam got a $12.2-billion shot in the arm today from the House Appropriations Committee, which said there is "no reasonable likelihood" that the fighting will end by June 30.

The appropriation, subject to action by the House Thursday and by the Senate probably next week, is for use during the remaining months of the fiscal year ending June 30.

The amount is $82.5 million less than President Johnson requested, but none of the cut was applied to major weapon programs.

More than half the total, $6.29 billion, was earmarked for procurement of airplanes, munitions, vehicles and communications items.

Items scheduled for purchase include 721 fixed-wing planes, 863 helicopters and spare parts for planes and vehicles.

AMMUNITION USED

The committee headed by Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said that during the last three months of 1966, U.S. and allied forces in Vietnam used about 1 million rounds of artillery fire, 700 thousand rounds of mortar ammunition and 110 million rounds of small arms ammunition per month.

The Navy fired an average of 26,000 rounds of large gun ammunition per month.

The committee assumed, it said, that the military effort in Vietnam will continue "at approximately the present level."

On this assumption, it ordered that Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard airlift and troop carrier groups be maintained at no less than their strength as of February 28, 1967.

French Leader's Hold on Parliament Is Shaky

PARIS (AP)—French voters mauled the prestige of President Charles de Gaulle's government badly yesterday and left his forces with a majority of only one to three votes in the National Assembly. Even that narrow margin was in doubt.

With two of the 467 Assembly seats still undecided, the ministry of interior reported candidates pledged to de Gaulle had won 244 seats, or a majority of at least one in the full Assembly.

Other checks of the candidates' political labels indicated the Gaullists had won only 243 seats, while the combined opposition had 241 or 242. French political experts varied in their assessment of the situation.

The election for one seat in Tahiti will be held next Sunday. Another seat is being held for French Somaliland in case that African territory decides in a referendum next Sunday to remain with France rather than choosing independence.

The Gaullists had a solid 40-seat majority in the outgoing National Assembly.

PRESIDENT UNAFFECTED

The President's personal tenure was not affected, he having been elected in 1965 for a seven-year term. But whether de Gaulle will have a "governable" assembly will apparently hinge on a bloc of at least 30 and possibly 42 seats controlled by Jean Lecanuet's Center Democrats.

Lecanuet indicated before the elections that he would support the Gaullists on certain issues if they showed signs of adjusting to his demands. These include European unity and continuation of the Atlantic alliance.

The voters knocked four of de Gaulle's ministers out — Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, Veterans Minister Alexandre Sanguinetti, and Jean Charbonnel, in charge of cooperation with former French African territories.

The Gaullist defeat, which had not been foreseen in public opinion polls, was fashioned largely by a smooth working electoral pact forged by the strong French Communist party and the leftist federation of Socialists and other non-Communist leftists.

The agreement brought the left surging into French politics in strength recalling the days of the victorious Popular Front in 1936.

The runoff election also was marked by the political comeback of leftist Pierre Mendes-France, who as premier ended the French Indochinese war in 1954. Mendes-France handily defeated a Gaullist in Grenoble.

Jacques Soustelle, who broke with de Gaulle over the Algerian independence struggle and is now in political exile, came in third behind a Gaullist and a Communist.

'Sniper' Taylor Has Chance to Go Free Tuesday

Gary Addison Taylor, the "Phantom Sniper of Royal Oak," could become a free man tomorrow.

A writ of habeas corpus asking Taylor's release from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane was filed last week in Ionia County Circuit Court.

A hearing has been scheduled for tomorrow by Circuit Judge Lee Bebeau. If Bebeau rules that Taylor is sane, he will go free.

Taylor was arrested 10 years ago by Royal Oak police a few hours after he wounded a 19-year-old Bloomfield Hills girl on the steps of her home.

Arresting officers said that Taylor, who then was 19, told them he had been firing at women and girls with a .22-caliber rifle for six weeks.

PSYCHIATRIST'S TESTIMONY

Dr. William E. Gordon, a psychiatrist who examined Taylor in 1959 and again last year, told the Oakland County Circuit Court that Taylor's background includes much pathology including diffuse, long-term homosexuality.

Taylor also exhibited pathological behavior toward females, Dr. Gordon added, and he termed this as "grossly sadistic and physically abusive."

Last year Ionia doctors said Taylor was able to stand trial for wounding Shirley Elan, the Bloomfield Hills girl, and Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore found him innocent by reason of insanity.

Another sanity commission was convened and Taylor was found insane. Last May 12 Judge Moore ordered him back to Ionia.

JAMES MEREDITH

Meredith Quits Race in Harlem

NEW YORK (AP)—James H. Meredith suddenly withdrew today as GOP opponent of deposed Harlem congressman Adam Clayton Powell, saying Republicans had reneged on promised money and campaign help.

Meredith announced his withdrawal from the special election campaign in a surprise postmidnight statement. He told an 8 a.m. impromptu sidewalk news conference that Republicans proved unable or unwilling to keep their commitments.

"Political expedience was the order of the day," said Meredith, whose entry into the race last Tuesday had drawn the wrath of many Negro leaders.

Meredith would not say whether he now will support Powell. He said he had spoken to no emissaries from Powell in reaching his decision to withdraw.

U.S. Strategy Talks to Stress Viet Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's Vietnam strategy huddle in Guam next week — though not expected to include Premier Nguyen Cao Ky — is regarded as another attempt to dramatize the U.S. military and civil development commitment to Ky's war-torn country.

Ky attended Johnson's last two Pacific conclaves at Honolulu in February 1966 and at Manila last October.

But sources indicated the Guam session, announced Saturday night, will probably involve only top Americans, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Ambassador to Saigon Henry Cabot Lodge, and Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Johnson is to leave late Saturday and arrive early Monday Guam time.

George Christian, White House press secretary, said the meetings are expected to last "a short time — a few days at the most."

NO BIG CHANGES

It is not expected that any major change in U.S. policy will come out of the meeting, but that emphasis will be placed on slowly increasing military pressure and intensifying attempts to win over the South Vietnamese people through economic and political development.

Likely also to be discussed are changes some have proposed to strengthen Westmoreland's command along the lines of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme allied command in World War II.

Rusk said yesterday that any scaling down of the war by the South Vietnamese allies would have to be matched by the North. He said the United States is willing to hold peace talks or discuss conditions of such talks even while the fighting continues.

Rusk said, "I think that if Ho Chi Minh (North Vietnam's president) and his senior leaders decided that they wished to make peace, they probably could do so."

OUTSIDE INFLUENCE

"I don't think there is any outside power who has a completely determining voice in Hanoi, although there is some very strong influence there from Peking and also from Moscow."

GTW Answer to Crossing Ills Limited

By DAVID J. COOK

A move by Grand Trunk Western Railroad officials to hold westbound freights at Birmingham would appear to be the only immediate form of relief for Pontiac motorists weary of tie-ups at crossings.

Meetings between the railroad and the city and talks with police and court officials produced these observations on the current situation:

- Reactivation of the "belt line" skirting the city's eastern edge is no more than a remote possibility. Grand Trunk officials say the route would create more problems than it would solve.

- Cost to the city of grade separations (bridges or underpasses), particularly in light of the current revenue "crisis," is prohibitive.

- Police intend to pursue an aggressive policy of citations for violation of the five-minute crossing delay ordinance, even though the local court does not view fines as a means of deterring violations.

The belt line, built during the 1920s, cuts away from the main route just north of Square Lake Road and reconnects with the Johnson Street switchyards.

IDEA BROACHED

Use of the line as an interim, if not permanent solution, has been publicly advanced by city officials.

"Any alternate routing which would reduce rail traffic through the heart of the city would be helpful," declared Joseph E. Neippling, city director of public works and services.

"Ultimately, of course," he said, "we feel grade separations will have to be built at South Saginaw, West Huron and somewhere in the Johnson area."

Neippling cited eight grade separations

News Analysis

MADE CLEAR

At a recent conference, however, railroad officials made clear their reluctance to implement the alternate route.

"Sure, the belt line would alleviate crossing problems at Huron and Saginaw," said B. L. Miller, Grand Trunk superintendent of transportation.

"But it would create more problems in the Baldwin-Columbia area, especially during plant traffic hours."

Miller also noted the expense to the railroad of constructing tracks on a 11-mile length of roadbed adjacent to the GMC Truck & Coach Division plant.

Allergies and You—7

Eczema Proves an Early Trial

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Babies are the most piteous among the millions that find themselves in the clutches of our modern tormenter, the allergy.

While babies usually are born only with sensitivities for allergies, days after birth allergies can begin to bloom.

One of the infant's first battles is the mother's milk, which may not agree with him.

Ready or not, from then on the baby is plunged into the maelstrom of this world, faced with making a personal chemical peace with every object in his home and then later the world outside.

Eczema brings an early trial for a good many babies. It is thought to be a sign that there is a lack of tolerance for something in the baby's new world, a propensity passed on by parent, grandparent or another member of the family who has preceded him.

APPEARANCE

The rash usually appears on the face, neck, in the folds of the elbow or behind the knees.

Eczema conditions should have medical attention. The child will not "grow out of it" in the sense that it will disappear and never recur.

From the widest view, it can be beneficial, in that, it hints of other allergic adventures to come in the baby's life, perhaps hay fever or asthma, and this warning can bring to the rescue medical treatments which will allow him to escape that fate.

Eczema CAN disappear by the age of two. Otherwise, it can become chronic, marring the face or body of a youngster and, at the same time, bringing the possibility of creating grave psychological effects.

LIGHT THE FUSE

Food sensitivities light the fuse for most allergic babies' wretchedness.

Digestive upsets and colic of any duration, breathing difficulties or skin eruptions are the symptoms.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that babies do not help!

GROW OUT of any of the allergies which may best them. Self-diagnosis, self-treatment or neglect present the most dangerous possibilities for such conditions.

The knowledge is wide and growing, the allergist's skill is great, the weapons at hand multiply each day. The time to act is when the baby is young. Get help!

CREDIT

UNION

What does this symbol mean to you?

More than one and a third million people in Michigan (you may be one of them) now make "CU" their symbol for saving and borrowing. A credit union is in business to help its members. It is owned by its members. And it offers advantages you can find nowhere else.

A credit union pays generous dividends on savings. It provides life insurance to all qualified members as an extra dividend at no extra cost. It lends you money at the same low rates, even in these high rate times . . . and insures your loan at no extra cost.

Many credit unions even return a part of the interest paid by borrowers at the end of the year—and they are the only ones who do. FCC Just Can't Shake 'Kid Glove' Label

By TOM NOLAN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — No matter how the current flap over the merger of American Broadcasting Co. and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. ends, the Federal Communications Commission's reputation as a regulatory agency appears likely to suffer a few dents.

But there may not be much more left to dent.

Acting on a Justice Department warning of "anticompetitive possibilities," the FCC recently ordered the two firms to delay their merger, which the commission had previously approved. The FCC is now hearing Justice Department arguments before deciding whether to reconsider.

Since its inception in 1934 — its mission was to bring some order to the mad scramble by radio stations to get on the air — the FCC, critics say, has approached the broadcasting industry with more of a kid glove than an iron fist attitude.

The commission's problems in carrying out its responsibilities on a $17 million annual budget are many-sided. Newton Minow, named FCC chairman in 1961, touched on one of the sides shortly after he resigned:

"In our fantasy world, existing side by side with a real world of incredibly fast-moving technological revolutions," he sighed, "we dream about muddling through the tangled maze, somehow, some way . . . Never was the capacity of man for self-delusion and self-deception so clearly drawn."

The dreamers he had in mind were his former colleagues in the FCC bureaucracy. His disenchanted conclusion: The FCC was simply incapable of coping with changes in industry caused by technological advances.

Minow has left, but one official who is still with the FCC states it more succinctly: "It's not that the commission does the management job badly," he says, "it just doesn't do it at all."

"At a time when the structure and substance of the communications business is undergoing an internal revolution, they're arguing over editorial changes in an opinion criticizing a Montana daytime radio station for not painting its antenna tower."

The commission's role has expanded greatly since 1934, as government involvement in the nation's communications system reached awesome proportions. Besides the broadcasting industry, the FCC's jurisdiction covers telephones, satellites, microwave and mobile radio. Many observers think it should extend even further — to electronic bugging and snooping, for example.

Swedish Gls Have Pal in Military Ombudsman

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — An army resigned following an MO officer in the Swedish army has to think twice about calling a private an idiot. The private might report him to the military ombudsman.

An ombudsman is a Swedish institution — an impartial official, usually a lawyer, whose duty it is to investigate complaints against authority.

The civic justice ombudsman inquires into complaints against various government bodies.

And, since 1915, Swedish servicemen — army, navy and air force — have had an Ombudsman of their own to whom they can appeal against actions of their officers.

The military ombudsman (MO) handles about 800 complaints a year. Some times they are minor and can be resolved by a phone call.

SERIOUS COUNTS
But, occasionally, there are serious charges against a high officer or military commander.

The MO also has the right to originate investigations into the activity of officers of the standard of food served in a regiment or similar matters without waiting for a complaint. And his record shows that he does.

In 1966, the MO made a dozen inspections of Swedish military installations. These resulted in 606 different complaints against commanders of companies, regiments and divisions.

Some very strange facts have turned up as a result of these visits in the past.

RESIGNATION
In 1966, a sergeant in the

"I wanted to make the soldiers understand the value of not wasting rounds of ammunition," the sergeant told the MO.

The MO then told the sergeant just what the army thought of such tactics and the sergeant immediately resigned.

A major of another regiment was reported to have insulted a captain in front of his company by saying: "You are a disgrace to the Swedish army."

CALLED DOWN

The MO summoned the major and told him that a Swedish officer has no right to criticize another officer in front of his soldiers.

The activity of the MO frequently results in formal reports to the police and action in court.

The present MO is 59-year-old Hugo Henkow who was appointed in 1961, after having served as a judge at a district court in the province of Soedermanland.

Henkow had previously had some connection with the defense forces. After the second World War, he worked in a committee at the defense ministry.

Swedish servicemen, like those of other countries, also have chaplains to ask for aid and advise and every base or camp has, in addition, a civil personnel assistant with office and staff which concentrates on social problems.

There tends to be cooperation among them with the MO.

It Seems to Me . . .

Nation's Political Picture Reflects New Alignments

Reverberations from the 1966 revolt in national politics have about ceased as the Nation faces the tasks ahead.

The Republicans gained more than 700 seats in State Legislatures across the Country. This is an astounding reversal and both parties are feeling the new alignments. There are 47 new GOP members of the House of Representatives in Washington who replace fallen Democrats. Almost half of them came from a dozen big, leading Middle Western states including Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

Some 57% of the population in the United States is in GOP hands today as far as state governments are concerned. This is a startling and almost unbelievable realignment since 1964. Today half of the governors are Republicans and these include the bulk of the biggest and most important states. This in itself is tremendously significant and important.

We are basically a two-party Nation. We will be better served accordingly. The smug complacency of the past few years is gone. Dominance went out the window—especially in the Middle West—along with the reputed half-million dollars the UAW said to have tossed on a straight Democratic ticket. Something akin to national balance means a better and stronger United States. We're approaching that now. As 1967 unfolds, the national political picture is squared away for the big haul directly ahead. And the Democrats still possess the White House and control of our Federal Congress.

Airport Needs Increase

As time passes, the need of more airports becomes increasingly apparent. There's real significance in this for our Oakland County group.

The governors of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have banded together to work out a solution for one of the Nation's most heavily "occupied" air sectors. They are studying a series of smaller airports for smaller planes. Probably Bill Jones and his single motor jalopy have as much legal right to the air as a 125-passenger jet; but, there is such a thing as common sense everywhere.

Our Oakland County airport could be a leader in helping Metro (and Willow Run) solve this common problem. Chrysler Corp. has already said it would establish its headquarters here if the one runway were extended and another built in the opposite direction. These are primary requisites. Our opportunities ahead are tremendous.

'Trimmed' Budget . . .

Less than 35 years ago, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT fathered a budget that ran $5.7 billion.

The nation was agast. Such utter profligacy!!

Mr. Roosevelt's action raised a storm of vigorous outcries, protests and violent shouts of indignation. Now, a Mr. Johnson calmly presents one beginning in July that runs $135 billion.

Furthermore, he blandly asserts to newsmen that "waste and nonessentials have been cut out." Mr. Johnson!!!

New Rash of UFOs . . .

Our nation experiences a new rash of Unidentified Flying Objects. Some are close to home. Michigan is "favored."

In spite of the increasing evidence that a few may be "the real thing," I'm skeptical and dubious. Most of us accept the Government's explanations which cover more than 99% of the cases.

It's hard to believe that if these little green men are actually prowling around that we don't have more tangible evidence. Wouldn't they say "hello"? Wouldn't they "invite us over"?

When the inhabitants of an adjoining planet do drop in, they'll be curious enough to make themselves known and split a cup of tea.

And in Conclusion

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

ROBERT L. CARNETTO says that if the Indians who sold Manhattan Island to the Dutch in 1624 for $24 in trinkets, had invested the sum, their heirs today would have more money than Manhattan is worth. At 6% interest, compounded quarterly, the $24 would have reached the astronomical proportions of $15 billion. He estimates Manhattan today is worth $13 billion. Overheard: "You're never too old to yearn." London is worried over the addition problem among youngsters. Two girls, 18 and 19 just died from narcotics.

London had 56 murders in 1963 where policemen go about unarmed. New York equips them with guns and Gotham watched a total of 552 murders the same year. In 1966, various states in the U.S. profited from betting on horse racing to the tune of $114 million in taxes. BUSTER MATHEUS is down to about 255 from his top of 315 pounds and is making a serious effort to become a top-rate heavyweight fighter. He's in the hands of Cus D'AMATO.

Trusted scouts advise me Cecelia Giroux deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. Dennis Weaver who used to appear in "Gunsmoke" and then tried a TV show of his own that failed, is scheduled to appear for CBS next fall in a series currently entitled "Gentle Ben." He'll have a boy and a bear.

Irv Robins summarizes the world's population like this: "Two-thirds are starving and one-third dieting." Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—the breath of Spring; the J's—disappearing snowbanks.

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Trying to Undo Tax Harm

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It is a risky thing for the government to tinker with the economic system.

President Johnson's message asking Congress to restore the 7 per cent investment tax credit and also tax deductions for accelerated depreciation which were temporarily suspended last September—is a significant example of an attempt to undo the harm caused by an arbitrary intervention in the natural operations of American business.

But what is meant by "investment credit" and "accelerated depreciation"? These are bookkeeping terms which the average person may not realize can make all the difference in the world to future jobs, continuing profits and the steady increase of government revenues.

American prosperity today isn't dependent alone on the sale of goods inside this country but throughout the world. Machinery needs to be modernized so that production costs can be decreased. Plants that are obsolete have to be rebuilt.

All this requires large sums that cannot be obtained just out of annual profits. Capital has to be borrowed from banks and through financial markets.

It's a long-range affair, and can't be started one year and suspended the next. An investment credit is, of course, a form of tax deduction.

TAX PROCEDURE

As for "accelerated depreciation," this is a system of tax procedure by which amounts are deducted annually on the original cost of tools and plants as they wear out or as buildings have to be remodeled or perhaps torn down. The tax benefit furnishes a stimulus to replacement.

The administration's purpose in suspending these benefits was well-intentioned — to slow down the boom. Interest rates had risen last year, and home builders were unable to get mortgages as readily as before. So the blame was placed on the shoulders of loanable funds by the heavy-goods industries.

But while there was an almost immediate slowdown and eventually interest rates were eased, there is no convincing evidence that the suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit was the basic cause.

Indeed, it may yet be demonstrated that the damage done by the suspension was far greater than has been realized.

Most members of Congress now would prefer also to drop the idea of a general tax increase.

A turn toward healthier conditions in the business world, however, and some economies in "Great Society" spending could more than offset the potential revenues hitherto anticipated from the proposed tax increase.

Bob Considine Says:

Medal of Honor Winner Receives a Helping Hand

NEW YORK — Have some crusades. Each has to do with human dignity:

Robert Emmet O'Malley, the young Marine whose Congressional Medal of Honor was presented to him by LBJ at the Johnson Ranch, really didn't want all that jazz.

All the interviews in the papers and on TV left a void in the incredible kid, and so did the big appearance — with the loud speakers — before the Orange Bowl game.

He could have done without the reception at New York's city hall and the bands playing in his native Queens, too. What O'Malley wanted to get well enough to move around good and go back to school.

Medical treatment will do what it can about his lung and so forth. It won't be easy therapy.

He was well racked up during the course of the heroics that brought him the nation's highest award for valor.

But as for the schooling, the cumbersome government machinery wasn't galled to do anything about dropouts — even dropouts permitted to wear the blue and white button that so few will ever own.

The hero had to go to the state unemployment bureau, for checks on which to live.

Will the nominee be a "liberal" or a "conservative"? Justice Clark, himself a former attorney general, was considered to be a conservative when appointed. But he has voted with the liberals enough to be considered somewhat unpredictable.

President Johnson's only other appointee, Abe Fortas, an old friend and political strategist, is on the liberal side but he also has a strong leaning toward government authority which he helped construct through the years.

Now O'Malley is attending the Murray Hill Tutoring School, picking up a formal education dropped when he left a manual training school and went into the Marines.

When he is ready for college, the means of going there and guidance in his choice will be at hand.

He's on his way up, when everything pointed to a skid into tragic and wasted obscurity.

Mr. Clark's nomination has been predicted ever since Nicholas Katzenbach was moved to the State Department and his record as deputy and assistant attorney general recommends his confirmation.

The speculation now shifts to President Johnson's choice for the Supreme Court succeeding Justice Tom Clark, Ramsey's father, who will resign to avoid a "conflict of interests," or the appearance thereof.

'Fence Is Badly Needed for Safety of Children'

When helpless children die in an ice-frozen river which has long been polluted and dangerously near a public housing project and no one speaks up, it makes the world seem dim. The area around the Lakeside project needs a fence. Even Bagley Elementary School nearby has a large opening in its supposedly fenced-in property leading to the river.

How many children will die in this dirty river before a fence and proper supervision are provided?

Resident Views Plan for Waterford Students

Due to overcrowded conditions, some students in our area spent their first year of junior high in an elementary school. Now we are told they will spend their sophomore year at Mason Junior High. Facilities at Mason were incomplete when they entered eighth grade. No doubt the same conditions when these same children will again be losing out on the education due them. This is discouraging, in view of the fact that we have voted "yes" on all school millage increases since moving to Waterford Township.

Rail Fan Answers Complaints on Railroads

I am tired of hearing people complain because trains block crossings. Do these people ever think of how much the railroad contributes to the economy, plus the tax the railroad pays on the property going through Pontiac and surrounding townships?

Crossing gates sometimes come down without anything going through the crossing. When an engine or train comes within so many yards of the crossing the gates automatically go down for the protection of passenger vehicles. Ninety-five per cent of all crossing accidents are the fault of the public. The idea of overpasses or overpasses to replace all grade crossings is financially impossible.

Why doesn't the second school bus come on snowy days? The first bus is jammed and can't pick up all the children. Another thing—the bus doesn't wait long enough after school for children to get their coats from lockers.

DISGUSTED MOTHER

REPLY

Just as with private vehicles, snowy and cold weather can cause operational difficulties with buses, and unfortunately there are times when they don't all get where they're supposed to be. As for after school, the bus line manager feels there is ample time. He says buses rarely leave without a full standing load of students who had gotten coats from their lockers.

President Johnson is unlikely to pick a man who would be predictably and unalterably conservative.

But if he senses the discontent of the American people over some recent Supreme Court positions, he may wish to alter slightly the delicate balance of the Court on the liberal side.

Through the means of his press conference and the letter, the President nimbly succeeded in throwing cold water on Kennedy's speech even before the senator had finished delivering it.

Open Conflict

The Grand Rapids Press

It was bound to come, sooner or later — an open conflict on policy between President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. And when it did come, the attack and counter-attack had all the bombast the political soothsayers had been predicting.

But now that the dust of battle has settled, the President emerges again as the master tactician.

For weeks, Kennedy had let it be known that he was preparing a major speech on Vietnam in which he would try to get the peace ball rolling.

But on the day he made that speech, calling for a cessation of bombing to entice the North Vietnamese to the peace table, Johnson called a press conference and proceeded to defuse Bobby's bomb, and make some important news of his own by announcing that the Soviet Union had

Ship Unions Warn of Boycott

NEW YORK (AP) — Three national maritime unions have sent a telegram to President Johnson saying they will refuse to sail ships to Vietnam if the government does not stop employing foreign seamen on U.S. flagships.

The telegram, sent last Friday and made public Sunday night, called the use of foreign seamen "illegal, immoral and dangerous."

The message was signed by Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union; representing, unlicensed seamen; Jesse M. Calhoun, president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association; and Capt. Lloyd W. Sheldon, president of the International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots.

The telegram followed an earlier protest by Curran about carrying aid supplies between Taiwan and Saigon on two ships that were recently transferred from the Chinese Nationalist flag to United States registry. They sailed with a Chinese crew, under a waiver.

Federal agencies said later they had blocked the operation after discovering that no American officers were on the ship.

The telegram to Johnson blamed the use of foreign nationals instead of "citizen sea" on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Sukarno Reign Ends; Indonesia Is Quiet

JAKARTA (UPI) — Indonesia today quietly accepted the end of the 21-year Sukarno era.

Army strongman Gen. Suharto began his first day as acting president by meeting with regional governors in the capital, which was calm with troops patrolling the streets and no celebrations or mob scenes.

Former President Sukarno, who for 21 years ruled Indonesia with dictatorial powers, still was residing at the presidential palace in Bogor. He no longer held any titles or any power.

Suharto was sworn in as acting president yesterday following a congressional resolution that gave him the office and made Sukarno an ordinary citizen. His fate was in the hands of Suharto, who has tried to ease the downfall of Sukarno to avoid civil war.

In his inaugural address, Suharto pledged to preserve constitutional law in Indonesia and keep the fledgling democracy in the hands of the people. He did not publicly criticize Sukarno, ousted for his alleged part in the abortive Communist coup of 1965.

REPORT CHANGE

Indonesian newspapers reported the change of government with banner headlines.

A victory celebration was planned for tomorrow at which time Suharto and Congress Chairman Gen. H. R. Abdul Nasution, who swore in the nation's second president, will address a rally in the capital.

Sukarno, who built Indonesia into a nation out of a string of Dutch colonial islands, was ushered out of office without heraldry or fanfare. A spokesman said he would remain at the Bogor palace today and tomorrow but declined to say what would happen then.

Indira Names Cabinet; Rival Is Aide

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indian Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi announced formation of a 19-member cabinet today with her intraparty rival, Morarji Desai, as her deputy.

Desai, who moved to challenge Mrs. Gandhi for the premiership but later withdrew when he was given the deputy premiership, also got the post of finance minister.

Mrs. Gandhi announced M. C. Chagla would remain as external affairs minister and Swaran Singh would continue as defense minister.

T. B. Chavan, considered a dark-horse candidate for prime minister, was named to continue in his post as home minister.

Mrs. Gandhi named Jagjivan Ram, former labor and employment minister, to take over the vital portfolio of food and agriculture. It will be Ram's job to face the critical problem of food for India. In a speech last Saturday, Mrs. Gandhi described the food crisis as India's number one problem.

REDUCED MAJORITY

The former food and agriculture minister was defeated in the recent elections, in which the ruling Congress party suffered setbacks.

Mrs. Gandhi, who has a reduced majority to work with in parliament, conceded in a weekend speech that the government's inability to cope with the food crisis was largely to blame for the election losses.

Observers predicted Mrs. Gandhi, the world's only woman prime minister, would lead her new cabinet away from the domestic socialism path of her father, Jawaharlal Nehru, to expand free enterprise.

Chapel Hill is no more turbulent than any other college town. But geologists say construction work and street traffic have given the seismograph the jitters recently.

Action Against 3 Teens Eyed

TRENTON (AP) — Police considered today possible action against three teen-agers accused of printing and distributing anti-Semitic literature.

Trenton police said the three Detroit youngsters told them Saturday that they had printed and distributed the material in three downriver suburbs and Oak Park. But they denied any connection with the March 1 destruction and burning of the Beth Isaac Synagogue in Trenton.

Police said the three were arrested on a tip and that a fourth was being sought.

Trenton Detective Lt. Donald Harrison said the three were released Saturday, but will be contacted again today. He said he would check with the Wayne County prosecutor's office to see what charges might apply.

'TOO MUCH PUBLICITY'
Harrison said the three told him they printed the literature because they felt the synagogue fire was getting "too much publicity" considering all the other terrible things happening in the world.

Romney's Tax Bills Sure to Be Changed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's income tax program is expected to reach the floor of the Legislature within the next 10 days, with the Senate likely to get first crack at the governor's bills.

In February, Romney submitted a package of bills to each house, calling for a state income tax of 2 per cent on individuals, 5 per cent on corporations and 3 per cent on financial institutions.

The five-bill package levying Michigan's first income tax also would provide for some relief from sales and property taxes and would repeal the business activities tax and increase the intangibles tax credit.

When he announced his plan, Romney set an April 1 deadline for its approval. Otherwise, he said, cutbacks in state spending will be needed.

OVER A MONTH

The House and Senate taxation committees have had more than a month to work on the bills — holding public hearings and consulting with state financial officers.

No one is sure at this point how the package will look when it is reported out of committee, but some changes are certain.

Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, says the package has been redrafted, changing it from five bills to seven.

This was done to make sure the bills meet the constitutional requirement that no bill deal with more than one subject, DeMaso said.

NOT NECESSARILY SO

There have been no changes in the tax rates or the repeals, DeMaso says, "but this doesn't mean they can't be changed."

Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, says he feels the tax program "with certain amendments and modifications stands a very good chance of passing the Senate."

Lockwood has indicated that Republicans and minority Democrats will caucus during the next few days in hopes of reaching agreement on amendments to be added before the tax program is reported out of committee.

One such adjustment, Lockwood says, is likely to be necessary to provide more money for education.

EDUCATORS CRITICAL
Romney has been criticized by educators who claim his proposed budget and tax package do not provide enough money to meet rising school costs.

"There are 148 different ideas going around now, but I'm sure there's going to have to be something more for education," says DeMaso.

This could mean that the governor's suggested tax rates might be boosted, DeMaso adds.

"If you're going to give certain things you logically have to adjust the front end—increasing the rates," he said.

Meanwhile, House Taxation Committee Chairman James N. Folks, R-Horton, says his committee is writing its own bill as a substitute to Romney's tax measure, but he adds that he isn't sure yet just what changes will be made.

BURDEN ON INDIVIDUAL
Romney's proposed 2½ per cent personal income tax may be increased and the 8 per cent tax on financial institutions decreased, Folks said.

Democratic critics of Romney's program say it already puts too much of the new revenue burden on the individual and not enough on businesses and banks.

House Democratic leader Joseph Kowalski of Detroit has charged that Romney's program is inadequate and has predicted that while providing enough money for the next fiscal year, the program will leave a $15 million deficit at the end of fiscal 1969-69.

Still another Democrat, Rep. Richard A. Young, D-Deerborn Heights, has predicted that Romney's program will not pass the Legislature.

INFORMAL COUNT

He says he bases his prediction on talks with leaders of both parties and on an informal head count of legislators.

Many members of the evenly divided House feel that the tax program stands the best chance for passage in the Senate, where Republicans hold a 20-18 edge over Democrats.

Some House members feel that if the House passes it first and then the Senate turns it down those House members who voted for the tax will have risked their political future for nothing.

7 of 10, Says Poll

'Catholics Hit Birth-Curb Ban'

NEW YORK (AP) — The in its stand against abortion, "most pressing" problem confronting Roman Catholics in this country is birth control, says a Newsweek magazine.

In announcing the results of a survey Sunday night, the magazine said the interviews disclosed that seven out of 10 Catholics want the church to lift its ban on artificial contraception.

According to the poll, conducted by Louis Harris & Associates, one Roman Catholic in three uses a birth control pill or mechanical contraceptive.

The survey, prepared for the March 20 issue, also finds that 59 per cent support the Church

Mass the most meaningful experience afforded by their religion, and 67 per cent applauded the changes made in the liturgy recently, such as the substitution of English for Latin during most of the Mass.

FAVOR DIVORCE
Half the laity oppose the Church on divorce, and 69 per cent want annulments allowing remarriage for the innocent party to a divorce.

Forty-eight per cent felt priests should be allowed to marry, but only 41 per cent approved the eating of meat on Friday.

Fifty-eight per cent of those interviewed considered the

Satchmo's Yen to 'Cool It' Bows to Booked-Up '67

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, still blowing strong at 66, is here on a three-week engagement with a wistful wish.

"I wouldn't abruptly retire. But I would like to cool it and take a year or so out. Make a world tour without the horn, say hello to all my fans and really see the places I've been."

Lucille, his wife of 25 years, added: "We've been over the Grand Canyon several times. We'd like to put our feet on the ground there sometime."

But Louie is booked up at least through the rest of this year — Halifax, Nova Scotia, next, then Montreal, several U.S. universities, New York, Vancouver, England, Ireland, France, etc.

SLEEPS DAYS
The man with the golden trumpet, piano-keyboard grin and gravely tremolo was packing in the cats at the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove. He and his troupe, the All Stars, sell happiness as well as music. Days he sleeps, which means he sees little of the places he visits.

"You gotta take care of yourself," he growled in the sawmill voice made scratchy by a 54-year singing career. He appoints his trumpet-scarred lips with a salve made by a German manufacturer, with Armstrong's name on the label.

What keeps him going? "It's something you just can't know about the Rev. Powell is say the hell with it," said Satch. "Your public won't understand."

Just out of the shower, he sat in his Ambassador suite in a yellow robe and leather-through slippers, a white handkerchief tied over his head against drafts.

"These handkerchiefs are a part of Louie," said Lucille. She estimated he takes $80-100 on tour, mopping his brow and holding the trumpet with them. Fans swipe some. He has stacks of them around the house back home in Queens, Long Island.

For a boy who learned the cornet in a New Orleans orphanage and delivered coal for 15 cents a load while playing nights in honky-tonks, the living legend of jazz has come a long way.

There were crowds up to 97,000 in Budapest last year, 100,000 in Ghana in 1966. In Leopoldville, Congo warriors stopped fighting five days to listen. "In Africa they call me 'Satch-E-mo,'" Louie grinned.

ROCK 'N' ROLL
He played for Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy. "It's nice to know you get around and meet some fine people," he said. "That's what I always wanted — to meet the folks. The world is like a neighborhood to me."

He slipped a late-afternoon cup of coffee with cream.

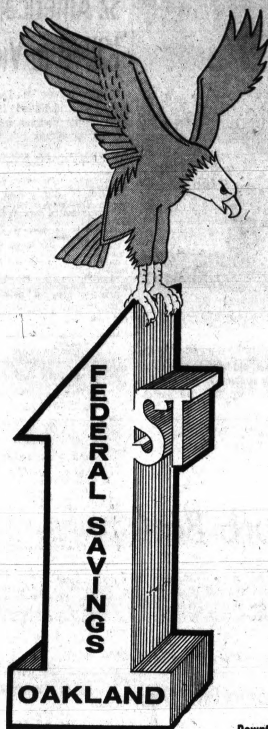

Had he any thoughts on rock 'n' roll? "It's the essence of jazz."

Civil rights? "I make donations for the cause and play benefits for the NAACP."

Adam Clayton Powell? "All I know about the Rev. Powell is in his church days. I don't know anything about politics."

Is this, then, Louie's last year on the road?

"I wouldn't put myself on record to that," he said. "It's like an old-time musician told me in New Orleans. He said, 'Son, stay before the public.'"

Birth Control Pills Cause of Octuplets?

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican doctors are trying to determine whether birth control pills had anything to do with the birth of octuplets to Maria Teresa Lopez de Sepulveda. All eight children died within 13 hours of birth.

Doctors at the hospital where the infants died said they are using autopsy results to see if they can find a definite link between the birth control pills taken by the mother and the multiple births.

Mrs. Sepulveda, 21, took birth control pills for about a year, but stopped taking them about eight months before the birth of the four boys and four girls last Friday.

The birth of octuplets has been recorded twice before in this century — in Mexico in 1921 and in China in 1934.

AUTOPSIES PERFORMED
Dr. Kurt Ambrosius Diener, director of pathology at the 20th of November hospital, performed autopsies on the eight children before their burial. He said final results will not be ready for a week or 10 days but they apparently died because of underdeveloped respiratory systems.

The doctor also said the mother and father would be asked to submit to physical examinations next week. The father, Genaro, 34, is a bookkeeper for the Mexican Social Security Institute.

Dr. Pablo Rodriguez Medina, the pediatrician who was in charge of the eight infants during their brief lives, said multiple births in Mexico have increased about 200 per cent since birth control pills were introduced into Mexico.

Another doctor said there have been many cases of multiple births in the United States after the mother stopped taking the pills. He said doctors are still trying to figure out why this happens.

AFFECT EQUILIBRIUM
Fertility drugs, which have been most noted for producing multiple births, are like birth control pills in that they affect the hormone equilibrium.

One theory is that birth control pills cause a woman's system to react much the same way it does when she is pregnant.

Birth control pills cause the woman to stop ovulating, or producing the eggs which, when fertilized by male sperm, become embryos.

Some doctors say a woman has a specific number of eggs to produce and normally released them once a month, but birth control pills interrupt the reproductive system.

They theorize that when a woman stops taking birth control pills, and ovulation starts again, her system may release several eggs at a time. If they are fertilized, a multiple birth results.

GARY MARRIES — Gary Lewis, son of comedian Jerry Lewis, embraces his bride, the former Sara Jane (Jinky) Suzara of Manila, after their wedding at St. Paul the Apostle Roman Catholic Church in West Los Angeles Saturday. Lewis, who is an Army private stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif., met his bride while touring in Manila with his singing group.

Detroit Pays $140,000 to Block Manuscript Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—A wealthy American said Sunday he arranged to pay a London auctioneer $140,000 to prevent the sale of Armenian church manuscripts.

Alex Manogian, 65-year-old industrialist from Detroit, told reporters at Kennedy Airport he made a large down payment to Sotheby's London as part of a deal to cancel sale of the manuscripts. Manogian, president of the Armenian General Benevolent Union, refused to say how large the down payment was.

At London airport on his way back to the United States, Manogian told reporters he did not want to spell out the exact amount and added: "It was not 50,000 pounds ($140,000) but quite a bit of it. I do not want to quote any figures. When I flew in last Thursday I expected to pay something, but not as much as this."

TURN OVER GOSPELS
Sotheby's handed over the 23 illuminated gospels Saturday to whoever it will be punished.

Manogian said the donation was "to enable the patriarchate to pay the money to Sotheby's to cover their losses and enable them to settle with the vendor."

He said the auction house refused to tell him who had offered the manuscripts for sale.

Sotheby's said it had apparently authentic documents authorizing the sale. Authorities at the Jerusalem Monastery said the manuscripts had been improperly removed from its vaults.

Manogian said the matter is not ended.

"We are going to find out who was responsible for this and illuminated gospels Saturday to whoever it will be punished."

New Attorney General Questioned

Clark Reports 38 Wiretaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who controls authorizations for wiretapping by federal authorities, says 38 taps are in operation today.

The new attorney general said Sunday that he considers wiretapping justified only in cases of "national security where there is a direct threat to the security of this nation."

Other uses would be "incompatible with what we want for this country," he said.

"It is my judgment today that there are 38 wiretaps," Clark said. "There are no electronic surveillances otherwise, and that all of these are in the national security area."

SYNOPSIS OF CONTROL

Clark's synopsis of the control his department exercises over government wiretapping was made on CBS' "Face the Nation."

An agency that wants to listen in on a telephone wire must submit a request to him, Clark said. Permission, if granted, is in writing.

Asked for comment about admitted government involvement in a number of cases of wiretapping not related to national security during Robert F. Kennedy's tenure as attorney general, Clark said, "I am not in the business of blaming anybody."

Kennedy, now a senator from New York, and J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, have each accused the other of being responsible for these disputed uses of wiretapping.

STANDS BY REPORT

Clark was also asked to comment on the Warren Commission's finding that Lee Harvey Oswald, identified as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy, acted alone.

"Until there is evidence to the contrary," Clark said, "I will stand with the Warren commission."

The findings of the commission are currently being challenged by New Orleans Dist. Atty. James Garrison.

Justing there was a conspiracy, Garrison has made one arrest and promised more. But he has refused to share any new evidence he has with the government.

"I find it curious and I find it disturbing and I find it interesting," Clark said when asked about the district attorney's go-it-alone policy.

Clark said his department has made no move to investigate the allegations of misconduct against Adam Clayton Powell by the House of Representatives. The House voted to exclude Powell from his seat after a select committee reported finding evidence that he had misused government funds.

Clark said the Justice Department would rather stay out of the Powell case until Congress has finished with it.

An estimated 20 per cent of this country's school pupils receive part of their instruction made no move to investigate the by means of television.

Wild Weather Across Nation

Hail, Thunderstorms, Snow, Record Heat

By the Associated Press

Hail the size of baseballs, thunderstorms and isolated tornadoes poured from a grab bag of wild weather that also unleashed blowing salt in Utah, heavy snow in the West and record-breaking heat in the South.

The hail pounded an area 15 miles northwest of Evansville, Ind., Sunday. Hail the size of golf balls hit Norman, Okla., early today and slammed into Abilene, about 40 miles south of west of Oklahoma City, late Sunday night.

Violent thunderstorms, some of which spawned tornadoes, ripped through a broad belt from Oklahoma to South Carolina.

Tornadoes were reported near Holly Hill, and Timmonsville, S.C., and in an area 3 miles northeast of Evansville, Ind. Several tobacco barns were demolished near Timmonsville, but no injuries were reported.

More than 40 families fled from their homes Sunday night as the Ohio River flooded southern Indiana lowlands in Clark and Floyd Counties. The floods, called the worst in three years, forced police to close parts of four state highways.

Temperatures soared throughout the South Sunday. In Georgia, records for the day were set at Savannah with 90, Macon with 88 and Atlanta with 83. Birmingham, Ala., had a record 87 reading.

Temperatures soared to 97 at Presidio, Tex., and 95 at Wichita Falls and Carlswell Air Force Base near Fort Worth.

Heavy snow fell in sections of western mountains in a continuing late winter storm. Travelers were warned of hazardous driving conditions on snow-clogged roads from the Sierra Nevada in California northward across most of Nevada and southern Idaho.

Clouds of salt and sand from the Great Salt Lake desert blew into Utah's major cities Sunday for the third straight day. The winds overturned a boat on Lake Powell on the Utah-Arizona border and three persons drowned.

Eleven traffic deaths in Southern California since the beginning of the weekend were blamed on rain-slick streets. More than an inch of rain fell in downtown Los Angeles. Up to a foot of snow fell in the mountains.

A small private plane crashed into a fog-shrouded mountain-side near Los Angeles Sunday, killing the two occupants. Early morning temperatures ranged from -11 at Houlton, Maine, and Glasgow, Mont., to 76 at Fort Smith, Ark.

Gunshot Kills Detroit Boy, 3

DETROIT (UPI) — A visit to grandmother's house ended tragically for a 3-year-old boy yesterday when he died of a gunshot wound suffered while playing with an unregistered gun his grandmother had bought for protection.

The grandmother, Mrs. Maxine Goodwin, 38, told police she was awakened early yesterday by the shot and found her grandson, Thomas Anthony Davis, holding an automatic pistol and bleeding from a wound in his stomach.

She said the boy's mother, Mrs. Lucette Davis of Detroit, had left the boy at her home for the night.

Mrs. Goodwin said she bought the gun a few weeks ago in Toledo, Ohio, but had not registered it.

"My house was broken into twice last year," she said. "I was very scared."

Mrs. Goodwin said her daughter has one child younger than Thomas.

U.S. May OK Albania Travel Soviets, Malaysia Band Leader Beaten in Jail Cell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Albania, a nation sealed against many visitors from the West, may be taken off the State Department's list of nations where travel by Americans is forbidden.

But while the department is pictured as likely to take such action this week, there is no assurance that this will persuade Albania to open its doors.

If the State Department removes Albania from the U.S. quarantine list and the little Balkan country responds by softening its entrance requirements, it will be the last European Communist nation to yield to the cold war travel thaw.

Albania has been closed to U.S. travelers since 1952.

Announcement by the United States of any changes in the relationship with Albania and other nations on the quarantine list must be made by Wednesday under new regulations set last fall. These require the secretary of state to list annually which countries are subject to a U.S.-imposed travel ban and why.

Where such a ban is in effect, it must be renewed yearly by the secretary of state or it will automatically expire.

The curbs on travel by Americans in Red China, Cuba, North Vietnam and North Korea are expected to be extended by the State Department.

Japan's prosperity has been spurred by the Vietnam war. Last year sales resulting from the war were valued at $450 to $500 million by the Japanese Ministry of International Trade.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Next week's visit of a Soviet trade mission will pave the way for the opening of diplomatic relations between Malaysia and Russia, diplomats said.

They said Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman has recently said Malaysia is ready to open diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union. The Russian mission arrives March 20 for plenary talks.

DETROIT (UPI) — A Detroit band leader has threatened to sue the city because he was robbed and beaten by two prisoners when he was put in a jail cell after he couldn't pay a traffic ticket.

Melvin Ball, 27, was hospitalized Sunday with a broken cheek bone, cuts and bruises.

Ball said he had been stopped by police for a traffic offense, then was jailed when he was unable to post $12 bond for an earlier unpaid speeding ticket.

The band leader said police continued to keep him locked in the bullpen even after a friend brought the necessary $12.

One officer, Ball said, told him "You're going to spend the night here. That's what you get for not paying your ticket on time."

ROBBED, BEATEN

Ball was robbed and beaten and two other prisoners were robbed when 14 persons were had been arrested in a raid on a blind pig were put into a large cell.

Detective John Boland said Ball probably would be asked to sign warrants against his attackers.

The injured man's attorney, Henry Baskin, said he will file a complaint with Police Commissioner Ray Girardin.

If you would keep your glasses clear and sparkling bright, gather them first when you start to clear the table. Rinse the milk from them in cold water first, they will not turn cloudy after they are washed.

Two Circuit Court judges (from left), Judge William John Beer and Judge Frederick C. Ziem, give their congratulations to Frances Avadenka of Chippewa Road on the passing of her bar exams and the entering of a new law practice. Miss Avadenka says, "Both men were encouraging in their outlooks for her success as a woman before the bench."

Pontiac Press Photos

In her role as a pharmacist, Frances is often called upon to mix while her boss, Robert J. Morley whose drug store in Rochester carries his name, gets the needed ingredients of a prescription. Teamwork of this sort depends on the time factor involved. Usually only one pharmacist is on duty at a time.

ABWA Names New Members

Ten new members and two transfers were welcomed by Land O' Oak chapter, American Business Women's Association on Sunday afternoon. The semi-annual Hand of Friendship tea was held at the Waldron Hotel.

Guests of the organization were Mesdames Barbara Ankerston; Earl Atkinson; M. M. J. Bailey; Ford Everett; Robert Grestad; Harry Griffith and Earl Hunt.

Others were Elizabeth Laird; Mrs. Nancy James, Mrs. Bonne-vie G. Kuzak, Mrs. Sidric Morocco and Mrs. Joseph New-lon.

Concluding the list are Mes-dames; Ruth C. Perna, Evelyn Stoner; Juanita Tarillon, Rose Vaughan and Robert Gartside.

The regular meeting of the chapter will take place Tues-day, starting with a 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Waldron Hotel.

Announce Nuptials

The George C. Lipfords of Oak Orion announce the en-gagement of their daughter, Nancy Lynn, to Spec. 4 David James Caksackkar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie B. Caksackkar of Buckner Road, Orion Town-ship. August vows are plan-ned.

WOMEN'S SECTION

She Holds Two Exacting Positions

By JEANNE NELSON
This is the double life of Fran-cis Avadenka.

By day an attorney and by evening a pharmacist.

Two separate careers usually considered male oriented have been mastered by a woman.

How does success of this sort come to a woman? For Frances it was work, work and more work.

Starting with high school days, her after-school hours were spent clerking part time in a local drug store. This helped to pay for school expenses.

It also served to foster a great interest in the field of phar-macy. She continued this part-time work while earning her de-gree in the latter at Wayne State University.

After graduation came a part-nership in her own store with a brother. This lasted several years until the yen for still another career nagged at her. The store was sold and Frances accepted a job in Rochester where her hours would allow time for more education.

She entered the Detroit Col-lege of Law as a regular day student and worked a full shift in the store during the evenings. Homework and traveling some-how fitted into this tight sched-ule.

Now, some months after pass-ing the Michigan Bar, Frances has opened her own office in the Pontiac State Bank Build-ing. But her schedule hasn't changed much. From 8 a.m. un-til 2:30 p.m. she's an attorney and from 3 until 11 p.m., she's a pharmacist.

SEES PROBLEMS

As a beginning attorney, she can see the many-sided prob-lems that face the novice in this field and being a woman only adds to them, she thinks.

"The best way to cope with both situations" she says "is first know your facts and be observant." "Anticipating ques-tions before they are asked is the sign of a knowledgeable in-dividual and an excellent method of learning more about the kind of person you're deal-ing with."

"This," she adds, "takes one who is truly interested in others and really wants to hear what they are saying."

"It takes years of studied practice to accomplish this kind of intuitiveness," she remarks, but that is why the social sci-ences and the law are so closely related."

Although there were two other women attending school at the same time, the trio hardly ever were in the same classes to-gether but did manage to so-cialize once in awhile for an early dinner."

Frances, who lives with her parents on Chippewa Road, is a art buff and will ride to Toledo at a moment's notice to visit the museum there which she feels is outstanding.

She also loves to write and is extremely interested in po-litics. She firmly believes that women have a definite place in the political arena and hopes someday to enter politics her-self.

We asked Frances what type of clothing was considered prop-er for a woman attorney in court. She thought for a mo-ment and said, "something that reflects the seriousness of the occasion without destroying the feminine image."

She prefers two piece ensem-bles either dark or smooth in texture, but with some dash of color, since she is dark haired and complexioned and needs some lightness and-or bright-ness.

STILL IN PHARMACY

She intends to continue her pharmacy career for a long time. "It takes many years to become firmly established as an attorney," she says, "and besides my work as a phar-macist is very rewarding."

"Most of the people we deal with are like old friends now. I would miss this part of my life very much."

A note of advice from her to young women considering this work area is, "don't rush into a choice, but diversity at the lower level of basic college and once a definite choice is made, stick to it."

She also adds, "Take time out for pleasures, the arts, socializ-ing and most of all, learn about people."

Boys Look Forward to Mail

Miss Kyes in a Whirl of Pre-Bridal Parties

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Cynthia Anne Kyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger M. Kyes, whose wedding to Harry Smith, son of Mrs. Austin O. Smith and the late Mr. Smith of De-troit, takes place on April 9 is being honored by her friends.

The marriage ceremony will be a candlelight service at 7:30 p.m. in the Kirk-in-the-Hills.

Tomorrow, Mrs. Ernest A. Jones will be hostess in her home for a tea and recipe shower. On April 4, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Guest Jr. will honor the young couple in their home for "a young couple's dinner party."

Previously, Diana Gornick and Ann Livingston, Anne's classmates from Kingswood school, feted her with a kitchen shower and luncheon at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Mesdames Jackson Cum-mings and Gilbert Richards en-tertained for luncheon and a personal shower in the Rich-ards' home.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Dr. and Mrs. Ben Jacoby of Columbus, Ohio (Dr. Jacoby is Mrs. Kyes' brother) will give the rehearsal dinner at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club. On the day of the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. George Russell will have a luncheon in their home for the bridal party and out-of-town guests and on April 9, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Tisdale will entertain for breakfast.

Mrs. George Cutter, national secretary for the Woman's Na-tional Farm and Garden As-sociation, together with Mrs. Marvin Katke, president of the Michigan Division, last week attended an all day session of the national officers and com-mittee members in New York City.

Other members from this area who attended were Mrs. Alfred Wilson, former national president, and Mrs. Frank Chapman of Rochester, now serving as vice president.

Mrs. Lynn McNaughton of Grosse Pointe, honorary pres-ident of WNFGA was also pres-ent.

MRS. DOROTHY HOPE

Honored by Metro Group

Mrs. Dorothy Hope, director of Placement and Alumni Rela-tions for Oakland University has been named one of the Top Ten Women Who Work by the Central Business District As-sociation of Detroit.

During the "Salute to Women Who Work Week" will be TV appearances, luncheons, break-fasts, teas and dinners in honor of the outstanding job being done by the chosen ten in Met-ropolitan Detroit.

Mrs. Hope has held top-level jobs in both industry and gov-ernment and at one time was the first woman employee of the United States Secret Service in Detroit.

She has attended the Penn-sylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Detroit Business Institute, Uni-versity of Michigan Extension Program and Cornell Uni-ver-sity.

Symphony for Family

Concert Draws Crowd

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL
The second of the family series of concerts by the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra was performed Sunday afternoon at Pontiac Northern High School.

Two capacity audiences heard guest conductor, Richard Morse, who is director of bands at Pontiac Central High School, and narrator Jerry Booth, of television fame, with the orchestra in a program of music geared for family listening.

These concerts are a community service by the orchestra.

to fill a growing need for fine music. The enthusiastic response from young and adult members of the audience was a tribute to the orchestra and its conductor.

The program consisted of the Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," by Mozart; "Peer Gynt Suite No. 1 by Grieg; "Peter and the Wolf" by Prokofiev, and the "Tadeuski" March, by Johann Strauss, Sr.

FINE CONDUCTING

Mr. Morse is an accomplished, experienced and sensitive conductor, whose broad experience in program building made it possible for the audience to enjoy fine music that held the interest even of the very young.

He made the most of the nuances in the light and merry overture to the "Marriage of Figaro." The varying moods of the familiar "Peer Gynt" Suite were captured and brought out clearly by Mr. Morse and the orchestra, from the quiet, dreamy spirit of "Morning" to the ponderous and wild "Hall of the Mountain King."

"Peter and the Wolf" supposedly written for children, was symphonist Prokofiev's way of poking fun at American audiences. It is by far his most popular composition in this country.

Although it is demanding and difficult to play, the orchestra acquitted itself extremely well, aided and abetted by Jerry Booth's narration which delighted his listeners.

Even though Mr. Booth took a few liberties with the written score, he made the characters live very dramatically.

The difficult entrances and odd rhythmic figures were handled very well by Morse and the orchestra, and the more parts were brought out clearly and succinctly.

Special commendation should be given to A. Roger Welton, flautist, who played the nearly impossible flute solos with smoothness and skill; Lyell Lindsay, whose bassoon solos made the crochety grandfather very much alive; Walter Mison, clarinetist, who interpreted the warty cat; and Robert Cowart, oboist, whose mournful duck came to a sorry end.

The next regular concert, on Tuesday evening, March 21, under the direction of Felix Reznick, will feature concerto movements by the piano and oboe auditions winners, Michael Hanway and Theodore Baskin.

Roller Derby Is Choice of Teen-Ager

CONIMMIGUT, R. I. (AP) — Barbara Winsor, 18, who has spent most of her life going around in circles, feels she is on the right track now — the roller derby track. After more than 14 years as an amateur roller skater, she turned professional to join derby competition.

Barbara donned her first pair of roller skates at 18 months and entered her first competition at 3, winning state and regional honors for speed skating.

Since then she has amassed countless awards for her prowess, but got bored with amateur skating. "So I decided to try roller derbies," she says. "It's a hard career, you can really have to like it if you want to stay with it, but I do. It's exciting."

New York Man Engaged to Wed

From Wynnewood, Pa. comes announcement of the engagement of Deborah Ann Fixter, daughter of the Walter D. Fixters to Theodore Lee Tiffany of New York City.

He is the son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Fred R. Tiffany of East Providence, R.I. Rev. Tiffany was former pastor of the Bethany Baptist Church.

Miss Fixter is a graduate student and staff member at Teachers College, Columbia University where her fiancé is studying for a doctoral degree in student personnel administration.

Fall vows are planned by Lois Jane Pollack, daughter of the Harvey H. Pollacks of Royal Oak and Robert Hayward, son of Mrs. Ronald Hayward of Staff Avenue and the late Mr. Hayward. He is an alumnus of Western Michigan University where his fiancée is a senior.

Bamboo Does Trick

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for A. F. whose laundry tubs, washer and dryer are an eye-sore in one end of her basement family room. Buy three, or the necessary number, pairs of bamboo draperies to fit all across a drapery track installed on the ceiling or on a beam, leaving only enough room between the laundry equipment and the draperies so they will open and close easily.

Overcast or tie three panels together with bulky, bright-colored wool which is an accent color for the room. Do the same to the other half of the panels and you have one wide pair of curtains. These draperies, closed, make an attractive background "wall." When using the laundry area, push the draperies to one side. —MRS. PAT

DEAR POLLY — We built a room divider to hide our laundry equipment. This is just a bit higher than the tallest thing to be hidden. There are shelves on either side.

Those on the laundry side hold soap and so on, and those on the family room side hold decorative items Mrs. has a planter on top. —RUTH

DEAR POLLY — We hobbyists get great ideas from the columns so now we have a request. The members of our Arts and Crafts group would like suggestions for the use of the wide satin ribbon which comes in boxes on florist's bouquets. —GLADYS

DEAR POLLY — I wanted to send an antique china tea set to my daughter who lives across the continent from me. I was afraid it would get broken. Finally I decided to save my empty dish washing lotion plastic bottles.

When I had enough of them I wrapped and packed the set and placed this package in a larger box lined with the plastic bottles. It arrived in perfect condition. —IRENE

DEAR GIRLS—Do note that Irene first wrapped and carefully packed the china BEFORE putting it in the larger box.

DEAR POLLY — During the summer I discovered this Pointer. I saved nut shells and used them for drainage in the bottoms of my hanging flower baskets. They are much lighter than rocks or bits of broken clay pots for use in such baskets where weight counts.—MRS. J. C. S.

Why Grow Old?
JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Posture has such a terrific effect on our health and our appearance that it seems strange people do not give more thought to the way they stand and sit.

Poor posture crowds the lungs and heart, leads to fatigue and often causes backache. It puts a strain on the muscles and ligaments. It can also cause a bustline to get lost and make the most alluring dress look like a rag.

Far too little emphasis is placed on posture during childhood. Many parents and teachers are remiss in this matter. This is the time when defects can be most easily corrected. By teen age they are more set, although great improvement can be made at this time also. Even in mature years, much can be accomplished.

Quickly, abdomen in, hips tucked under, shoulders and knees relaxed, chin parallel to the floor, spine straight and rib cage lifted. Avoid having weight over the heels or throwing weight from side to side when walking.

Reach straight forward from the hips. Also, avoid hyper-extending your knees at the end of each step.

Let me give you a couple of exercises which will improve your posture. Lie on your tummy on the floor. Either ask someone to hold your feet down to the floor or tuck them under a piece of furniture. Now bend your elbows and place your hands behind your head.

Keep the arms in this position as you raise your trunk as far as you can. Lower trunk and continue. This strengthens the back and shoulder muscles which have been weakened by poor posture.

Again, lie on your abdomen with your arms at your sides and legs straight. Lift your trunk from the floor, but this time bring your arms forward and move them as though you were swimming the breaststroke. After a few times, lower trunk and bring arms to sides.

If you would like to have my exercises for the back, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet "Spinal Exercises to Back Talk." Address to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Oldsters Prefer Young Look

NEW YORK (NEA) — Interior decorators and home furnishing salesmen are learning that the little lady nearing or past 60 still is a flapper at heart.

One over-60 client, for example, gave a decorator a chilling look when she showed the client items that were strictly "cottage."

The decorator explained that, "With my first clients in this group I tried to promote the little fussy things and hit a brick wall."

What the woman wants, she

The Clarence Kirchhofers of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Robert M. Beutler, son of the Melvin Beutlers of Dexter Street, Pontiac Township. An Aug. 26 wedding-date is set.

Seniors Invited

The Golden Age Club and all other senior citizens will be special guests at Tuesday's meeting of the Pontiac Area Hammond Organ Society.

A Sing-Along will highlight the 7:30 p.m. event in Grinnell's downtown auditorium. Several members will be taking part in the evening's special program.

gets. And this apparently involves swaying the opinion of her male.

Although the incidence of widows is high in the over-60 group, thousands of retired couples set up housekeeping all over again to suit their new status.

BUYING POWER

The buying power of the "oldies" can't be overlooked. This is why it is wise not to take the older homemaker for granted as the decorator did who wanted to push "fussy."

Companies often take professional surveys to find out how they can get a bigger share of the market by understanding the consumer's needs.

For example, the United Wallpaper Co. of Chicago specifically concentrated on the over-60 customer.

A decorator summarized the findings: "These people want to feel young again. They want to enjoy life. For the first time, they are free of family-raising responsibilities."

Other facts came out in the study which might seem obvious.

The older person prefers low sofas, straight lines, a light, oriental look in furnishings. The items must be convenient to use and easy to maintain.

However, the older customer shies away from extremely traditional furnishings. Instead she leans toward transitional or contemporary.

Extreme modern barely got a glance from those redecorating a new home or apartment.

SENTIMENTAL

Sentimentality enters the picture with the older consumer but usually a woman will keep her bedroom set and a few knickknacks. The rest goes when she is in a mood to start from scratch.

Eager to co-ordinate wall coverings, draperies, shades, upholstery, fabrics, carpeting and such, she appreciates professional help and availability of shop-at-home programs by reputable retailers.

Color conscious, too, this group favors bittersweet and golds, bright large scale florals, luxurious flocks and flocked foils and dramatic textures in wallcoverings.

Older people also will give up excessive practicality for a touch of luxury, retailers find.

For many of the post-60 shoppers this may be the realization of a dream postponed while the family was growing up.

FAMILIAR WALL—The Berlin wall and police dogs do as much to keep East Germans caged as they do to keep intruders from getting into Walter Ulbricht's Communist country. East Germany's growing isolation is symbolic of the changes taking place today in the Red world.

East German Isolation Growing

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — Walter Ulbricht, Russia's puppet in East Germany, is probably the unhappiest Communist chieftain in the world today.

His growing isolation, even in East Europe, is symbolic of the profound changes that are taking place in the Red world.

East Germany's aging "president" — one of the last of a vanishing breed of die-hard Stalinists in Europe — has finally discovered the hard way that there is no honor among Communists when they are in search of American dollars or West German marks.

Trade with the West and capitalist profits are now vastly more important to the new crop of "revisionist" leaders in East Europe than Marxist-Leninist unity.

More important is Ulbricht's belated realization that nationalhood, like personal freedom, is an absolute value. Nations, like individuals, have a stubborn will to survive.

EVER ALERT
The opportunistic Romanians, ever on the alert for the main chance, were the first to decide to ignore Communist East Germany and establish diplomatic relations with capitalist West Germany.

Ulbricht's protests were loud and angry. He foresaw, with good reason, that Romania's "uncomradely act" would be emulated by Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria.

He warned that it was West Germany's aim to isolate East Germany and that Bonn's new policy of building bridges into Communist East Europe would eventually destroy the Soviet bloc's Warsaw Pact organization.

However, Ulbricht's frantic appeals for "Leninist internationalism" fell on deaf ears.

Even his Russian masters are no longer in a position to influence the policies of their allies as Stalin once did.

Besides, Soviet leaders have been quietly enlarging their own contacts with the West, though publicly they still maintain a hard line on the impossibility of reaching East-West accords while the war in Vietnam continues.

Russia, embroiled in a bitter conflict with Red China in the Far East, has no interest in military or political adventures in Europe.

Left to shift for himself, Ulbricht decided to make a desperate move. He once hoped the Berlin wall would establish East Germany's right to exist as a separate state.

He has now decided to widen the division of Germany by creating a separate "nationality" for his 17 million subjects.

18 Are Killed on State Roads Over Weekend

By the Associated Press
Two persons were killed and a third was injured in a head-on collision near Saginaw Sunday. 18 persons died on Michigan highways over the weekend.

A car driven by Ronald L. Freeman, 20, of Reese, collided head-on with one driven by Lyle Weiler, 21, of Saginaw, on North Michigan Road in Carlton Township, sheriff's deputies said.

Freeman and his passenger, Joyce Ann Deeg, 20, of Saginaw, were killed. Weiler was in poor condition today at Saginaw General Hospital.

Other victims:
Duncan MacKinnon, 61, of Flint, when he was struck by a car on Carpenter Road in a hit-and-run accident Sunday in Genesee County.

RUNS OFF ROAD
John Mitchell James, 18, of Swartz Creek, when his car ran off Linden Road Sunday and struck a tree near Grand Blanc Road, Mundy Township, Genesee County.

Linda Jean Jager, 23, of Muskegon, when she was thrown from a car Sunday after a run-off Whitehall Road and struck a utility pole and several trees in Dalton Township, Muskegon County.

Richard Rausch, 51, of Richville, when he was struck by a car Saturday night while walking on M15 near his home in Tuscola County.

Richard D. Fessenden, 26, and Ronald R. Lescinsky, 31, both of Jackson, when their car, driven by Fessenden, veered into the opposite lane of U.S. 127 about six miles south of Jackson and struck a truck Saturday.

DIES OF INJURIES
Grover Johnson, 82, of Vassar, died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night when he was walking near his home.

Billie B. Perrigan, 32, of Highland, when his car skidded off a curve and struck a utility pole Saturday on Wixom Road near Cleghary in Commerce Township, Oakland County.

Charles K. Stamper, 19, and James Barodii, 19, both of Wyandotte, when their car, driven by Stamper, went out of control on Port Street in Wyandotte and struck a tree on the median Saturday.

Mrs. Virginia E. Felzer, 46, of Livonia, died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night in a head-on collision at Schoolcraft and Start in Livonia.

John D. Buddinski, 20, of Harrison Township, when the car he was riding in overturned Saturday on Metropolitan Beach Highway, Macomb County.

Mrs. Aldine L. Mathison, 30, of Detroit, when she was struck by a car Saturday while walking across Gratiot near Linnhurst in Detroit.

Robert Crowe, 42, of Niles, when he was struck by a car Saturday while walking along M60 in Niles Township.

Tony Ogman, 42, of Algonac, when his car collided head-on with another Saturday at an intersection in Warren.

Frank Kovach, 52, of Battle Creek, when his car veered from a downtown Battle Creek street into a bridge abutment Sunday.

'Ulysses' Due in Rochester

"Ulysses" by James Joyce, the book which caused the literary sensation of the 1930s, is to be introduced in film form at selected theaters.

One of the 130 movie houses is the Hills Theater in Rochester where it will play Tuesday through Thursday.

The book, subject of an obscenity charge cleared by a United States District Court in New York, has reportedly been faithfully represented in the film version.

Advance publicity men say there is no nudity in the picture — any objections there are will have to come from the dialog.

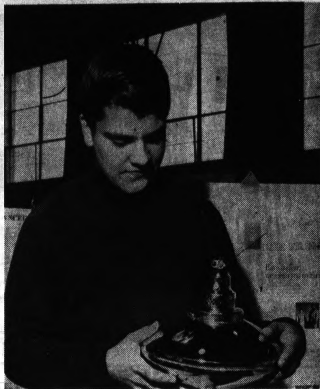

As for the dialog, Judge Woolsey said 30 years ago that in his opinion, "The words which are criticized as dirty are old Saxon words known to almost all men and, I venture, to many women, and are such words as would be naturally and habitually used

Open-Housing Discussion at Church Meeting Likely

ROCHESTER — A meeting to be a leader in a moral issue had been removed.

At issue is the sale of the former rectory, located at 301 Charles in the prosperous Oak Bluff Subdivision.

A letter sent out to all parishioners by David Hackett, a member of the Rochester Area Human Relations Council and a member of St. Philip's has triggered the discussion.

Hackett reports he was informed at a February vestry meeting that the matter of an open-housing listing for the property would be tabled until tomorrow night's meeting.

The house has reportedly since been sold and, as Hackett's letter states, "The necessity and the opportunity for St. Philip's

These were among the many mundane items used in last weekend's Avondale Junior High School science fair. The over-all effect was astonishing.

The Junior scientists talk knowledgeably of solar energy, teflon coils, ionic propulsion, antigravity auto windows and other sundry stuff.

They also gave proof that science has many facets. Further, some show they've probably been listening down the stairwell at the last cocktail party.

First, there's the youngster who did a project on the effects of alcoholism in the body.

"Only TIME," says he, can get rid of the effects of alcohol in the body — NOT coffee, aspirin, exercise or cold showers.

He goes on to point out that "there is as much ethyl alcohol in an average drink of beer as in the average drink of whiskey or wine."

No. 44 in the science display told a sad tale. It detailed the story of one fat, sleepy hamster asleep in a blue-green cage under a pink towel.

Said No. 44, "I wanted to discover if smoking affects the weight of animals."

EXPOSED TO SMOKE
The report goes on to tell of procuring two of the small animals and exposing one to smoke.

It reads, "The smoked hamster was placed in a medium-sized closed cardboard box under a perforated coffee can. The hamster was exposed to the smoke approximately 25 to 30 minutes every other day."

"Because of the death of one of the hamsters, I was unable to finish my project and therefore can show no findings on the effects of smoking."

"Perhaps," commented an observer, "the project was more

POKER HANDS
One young entrepreneur had figured the odds on certain combinations in poker hands.

A straight, he assured, happens once in 254 deals; a full house once in 693 deals; and a straight flush once in 72,192 deals.

And then there's the lad who had collected a wealth of information on flying saucers, even to using hubcaps as a facsimile.

"Where do they come from?" the display asked. "From Mars? From the center of the earth? Another galaxy? The stars?"

MORE QUESTIONS
"Why do they come?"

"To save us our planet? To take over our planet? To observe us?"

There were displays of shrimp hatching, a mouse turned loose in a maze, the development of chicken embryos, and several studies of the human body.

Schools Slate Song Festival

AVON TOWNSHIP — More than 900 vocal music students from the Rochester Community School District will participate in the ninth annual Festival of Song at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Senior High School gymnasium.

Fifth and sixth grade choirs from the elementary schools plus the ninth grade choirs from the two junior high schools and the Concert and Treble choirs from the high school will take part.

Work to Begin on Holly Twp. Country Club

HOLLY — Work is to begin soon on what will be a $200,000 country club in the township, according to the developer.

A golf and skiing facility, the Bramblewood Country Club, is planned for a tract south of the Holly turnoff of I-75 at Elliot and Addis.

Ned A. Cole of 2154 Minor said he hopes to have nine holes of a future 7,000-yard 18-hole course open by July 1.

"This will be an exclusive, private club with a challenging course," Cole said.

He described the landscape as ideal for a golf course and said numerous water hazards will be a major feature.

He said the 140-acre property has two long, steep hills suitable for skiing with a one-quarter to one-mile ski run. (The long runs are not long slopes but the cross-country type).

SWIM AND FISH

Swimming and fishing facilities are in the long-range plan, Cole said.

The country club building will overlook the golf course and water areas and will have three stories to be added on a story at a time, he said.

Cole said he is selling out his insurance business in Flint to finance the venture and will supervise much of the construction himself as well as manage the business later on.

The facility is expected to handle about 350 members. Most of them will be drawn from the Flint, Grand Blanc area, he said.

Hearing Is Near on Rezoning of White Lake Twp.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Dublin School, 2280 Sandyside, on the proposed rezoning of the township.

Under consideration will be a proposed zoning map which has been prepared by the Township Planning Commission. Following the hearing, the map will be sent to the Oakland County Coordinating, Zoning and Planning Committee then back to the Township Board for action on March 21.

No. 1 Duck Caller on Lake Orion Bill

LAKE ORION — The world's champion duck caller will speak at 7:30 tonight at Blanche Sims Elementary School.

Arthur L. Beauchamp will discuss teaching a 12-year-old the fundamentals of hunting and the identification of ducks. The program is sponsored by the PTAs of the Blanche Sims and Intermediate elementary schools.

One of those days when your phone means so much

You're weathered in with a houseful of kids. So you call for the weather report and learn it's a stay-at-home day. But...you had places to go to and things to do. So, you cancel your appointment at the hairdresser's. Call the drugstore and order more of the baby's special formula...just in case. And then you call your friend to tell her the shopping trip is off. What else in your home does so much for you, and costs so little?

Candidate Forum Is Tomorrow in Troy

TROY — A "meet the candidates" evening will be held at First Methodist Church, 6383 Livernois, 8 p.m., tomorrow.

The four men seeking two seats on the City Commission are expected to be on hand to express their views. The meeting is sponsored by the Methodist Men's Club.

Tomorrow morning at 10, a Lenten "white breakfast" will be held and a nursery provided for women with children wishing to attend the meditation at the church.

School Chief Is Named

FARMINGTON — The board of education has named Dr. Roderick J. Smith, superintendent of Dearborn Township School District No. 8, to succeed Supt. Gerald V. Harrison.

The appointment will become effective July 1 when Harrison retires after 10 years in the post.

Dr. Smith, 47, has served in his present post for six years.

Previously he was president of Spring Arbor College, Spring Arbor, for four years, administrative assistant in the Chatham Public Schools for two years and superintendent of the Wolcott School District in Genesee County for four years.

He began his career in education as a high school teacher in Goodrich. He also taught in the classroom and served as principal in the Wolcott schools before becoming that district's superintendent.

Gls Take a Wild Ride

By TOM TIEDE

AN KHE, Vietnam (NEA) — Air transport flight 622 pulled away from the Pleiku airfield with a grinding, gravity-busting roar that sent its passengers straining sideways against their seat belts on the long benches. As the giant aircraft — an Air Force C130 — gained altitude, its wheels were folded amidship and its wing flaps were retracted noisily. The plane leveled off.

It was mid-afternoon. Flying weather was rotten.

The passengers, military personnel and a few civilians, adjusted themselves on the nylon-webbed benches. They sat shoulder to shoulder and knee to knee. Some closed their eyes. Others began to read.

The lift-off, as always with a C130, was an alarming experience. Gears echoed as if the hull was cracking. Hissing sounds seemed to indicate the gas tank was leaking. Air vapor seeped around like smoke.

The veteran travelers knew it was all routine. That C130s successfully take off thousands of times daily, that they successfully land over 5,000 passengers daily and that they hardly ever crash.

But fingers crossed anyway. One never knows, especially in rotten weather.

The ship had been airborne about five minutes when the first bump rocked its silver shell. Turbulence, of course. Nothing to worry about. But the passengers began to glance about.

COMPLAIN ABOUT WINDOWS
The immediate complaint, from the straphangers' point of view, was the plane's lack of windows, or rather the position of what windows it had.

They were small portholes located three feet above the tallest head. Hence, all passengers were flying virtually blind.

Buffeting began to increase as the plane cut through the heavily clouded sky. Dipping motions caught several stomachs un- aware. Burp bags were distributed hastily . . . but, in some cases, tardily.

The passengers, by then, were nervous. The ship was rolling and the wings seemed to wobble. Men on the benches tightened their grips.

SOME JESTS
Some of the people began to mumble among themselves. Others stared ahead, stonefaced.

One passenger, an Army major, chuckled out loud. He elbowed the fellows on his flanks and made light jests.

"God, what a ride," he said. Somebody nodded dizzily.

"Wonder where we are," he chuckled.

PUZZLED LOOK
The others looked puzzled.

"You know . . . if we crash."

The airplane continued to soar, entirely alone. Then, suddenly, the airplane swerved sharply downward and picked up airspeed.

A couple of riders gasped. Only the major continued to smile. People began putting loose items underneath their seats. And still the plane pitched down, its turbo engines growling loudly.

PILOT'S VOICE

Then a static rustle introduced the voice of the pilot over the intercom system. He sounded calm but firmly authoritative. He wasted no words. He asked for attention in the cargo area.

"Fasten seat belts," he said.

Not, "please fasten." Just, "fasten."

"Oh, oh!" the major laughed.

ROCKING CONTINUES
The plane continued to rock wildly. The portholes were dark with rainclouds. It seemed as if the ship would lean left one moment, right the next. More burp bags were opened.

It lasted 10 full minutes. The passengers became visibly shaken. Heads twisted in all directions looking for indications. The ship creaked and groaned and got lower and lower.

Finally, there was a sharp jolt . . . then another one . . . and several more which blended together into a continuous roll along the An Khe airstrip.

The passengers sighed in unison. They were safely landed.

As everybody unstrapped, they did so quietly. Only the Army major was active. He smirked and whistled and made cracks:

"Just routine," he said boldly. He was the first off the plane, the major. His ashen face was wet with perspiration. And his trembling legs almost failed him as he hurried away into the rain.

Stabbed to Death

DETROIT (AP) — Gilbert Trice, 40, was stabbed to death at a party early Sunday. Police said a birthday party for Trice's son, William, 17, erupted into a brawl and the man was stabbed fatally.

Irish Ignore Exodus of 'Wee Folk'

DUBLIN (UPI) — Ireland's Little People are fleeing their haunts in droves, and sentimental voices are trying to lure them back.

Upset and bewildered by the clamor of modern living, the Wee Folk are shrinking back into the shadows.

Wooded hillsides and shady glens that once sparkled to the pranks of the merry mischiefmakers, now stand forlorn and silent, emptied of their music.

All around the country the story is the same, as Ireland busies her way into the future with hardly a care for its fabled past.

Scrublands have been cleared, marshes drained and hillocks evened out under the relentless demands of progress.

PASSING IGNORED

And as their playgrounds have been eaten up by giant machines, the Little People have begun to disappear.

Officially their passing has received scant attention, despite the debt the nation owes them.

Now and again, however, sentiment steps in to stay the hand of the developers. Fairy mounds and rings dotting the countryside have been respected and blueprints drawn to skirt them.

But now that they are leaving, voices have been raised to woo them back.

SOUNDS ALARM

Folklorist Kevin Danaher, a respected authority on the ways of the Wee Folk, has sounded the alarm.

"Nowadays they are not seen as often as they used to be, for they have not taken kindly to modern civilization," warned Danaher.

In an article written for one of Ireland's tourist publications, Danaher noted that various bodies had been set up for the preservation of fauna and flora, birdlife and wildlife.

"There are, however, certain forms of life native to our countryside which have hitherto escaped the notice of the guardian societies and even of the individual enthusiasts," he wrote.

Danaher noted the general unconcern and professed himself surprised: "This lack of interest is difficult to explain, for the creatures have a long, and in some instances an honorable, history."

Of course, there is a good practical reason for the virtual disappearance of some of the Wee Folk.

Take Jacky-the-Lantern, also known as Willy-The-Wisp, as an example.

These are spirits who sold their souls to the devil for a bag of money and were condemned to wander the bogs and marshes forever holding a burning wisp.

Many an unwary traveler, blundering home after an encounter with a spirit of another kind, mistook the wisp for a candle in a window and pitched himself into a boghole.

Now, however, with the steady intensification of rural electrification, Jacky-the-Lantern — whose wattage remains static — is less likely to cause trouble, and probably doesn't bother anymore.

New Quasar Has Its Unusual Aspects

By Science Service

CHICAGO—A quasar with the greatest known red shift has been discovered and its composition analyzed in an international research project aimed at learning more about these puzzling brilliant sky objects.

The quasar, designated as PKS 0237 minus 23 because of its position in the sky, has a chemical composition differing from that of the other known objects in its class.

Several heavy elements, such as titanium and sulfur, have been detected in the quasar.

Red shifts are generally interpreted to mean that the source is receding from the observer.

If this is true for quasars, then PKS 0237 minus 23 is receding from earth at more than 150,000 miles a second, or 82.4 per cent of the velocity of light. This is one per cent faster than the greatest red shift previously measured.

Here Is Consensus on Effect of Military Draft Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national debate on the military draft, intensified by the steadily growing casualty rate in Vietnam, is certain to produce major changes in the Selective Service System.

The question is: "What is the fairest method of choosing young men for duty that could involve them in a jungle war that already has killed more than 7,900 Americans?"

The catalyst for converting argument into action is the June 30 expiration date for basic sections of the Selective Service Act, enacted 19 years ago when the United States was involved in only a cold war.

In the past week, two study commissions have suggested alterations of the draft; President Johnson has announced that he'll make some changes of his own, and members of Congress have issued a stream of statements on the issue.

INTERVIEWS MADE
What would the changes mean draft-age men? When would they take effect?

Interviews with officials, and a comparison of the various recommendations, produced these consensus answers:

Question: Why do many Americans, including President Johnson, argue that the draft law should be changed?

Answer: They believe that the fairness of the present law are unfair.

A basic complaint is that there is no uniform national standard to determine who will be drafted.

Another is that the present system creates too much uncertainty in the lives of young men; they can be called up to age 26, when they might be well into a career.

STUDENT DEFERMENT
But most of the criticism has been aimed at the means by which some men avoid military duty.

Students have been deferred first for college, and then for graduate school, until they reach 26, and are no longer subject to the draft. Members of the National Guard and Reserve units have escaped active duty because no such units have been called for the Vietnam war.

Changes in the draft system would be designed to assure that "in this land of equals, men are selected as equals to service."

Q. What has Johnson recommended?
A. His main recommendations are these:

1. The order of call, under which the oldest men are taken first, should be reversed, and 19-year-olds called first.

2. Selections should be made by a limited lottery — "a fair and impartial random system."

3. Temporary deferments for college students should not become permanent, and no deferments should be given for graduate study, except in medicine and dentistry. Automatic deferments no longer should be given to fathers or to men with so-called critical occupations.

SPECIFIC VACANCIES

4. Draft-age men should not be deferred by enlistment in the National Guard or Reserve system, except those authorized to fill specific vacancies.

5. The 4,100 local draft boards would be cut to between 300 and 500 that would become, in effect, first-level appeal boards. Area boards staffed by civil servants would replace the citizen draft boards to register and classify men.

Q. When would the President's recommendations go into effect?

A. Johnson said he would issue executive orders for calling 19-year-olds first, and ending deferments for graduate students and Reservists. The orders have not been issued.

Another of the President's major recommendations, the lottery, is to be ready for operation before Jan. 1, 1969.

The President ordered establishment of a task force to study proposals for reorganization of the Selective Service System.

In addition, the Selective Service director has directed local boards to provide information on a youth's legal rights, including his right to appeal, immediately after he is classified for induction.

Q. Which changes can be made by the President and which must — or can — be made by Congress?

A. The President can put into effect nearly all his recommendations, except the one that would abolish most local draft boards.

Congress, when it writes the new law, can put whatever it wants into the law. It could, for example, overrule any changes the President makes under the present law and set up specific procedures that would preclude any further action by him. But as a practical matter Congress is not expected to do this.

Changes written into the law by Congress could be made effective anytime on or after July 1.

Q. What groups issued reports and when?

A. A civilian panel headed by retired Gen. Mark W. Clark reported last month to the House Armed Services Committee. A National Commission on Selective Service, headed by former U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, reported to President Johnson last week. The President sent his message to Congress Monday.

Q. How do the various recommendations compare?

A. All agreed 19-year-olds should be called first. The President and his commission called for a limited lottery; the congressional panel urged that the present system be retained with certain modifications.

Q. What about suggestions for service in such organizations as the Peace Corps and VISTA, the domestic Peace Corps, as alternates to military duty?

A. The President praised the idea but noted that both commissions rejected it.

should be deferred until they finish undergraduate work or reach age 24; President Johnson took no position. All agreed postgraduate deferments should be ended.

Q. Why do all agree that 19-year-olds be drafted first?

A. One reason would be to eliminate uncertainty among draft-age men about whether — and when — they would have to serve. Also, many military officers prefer younger men, both for training and for combat.

Q. Why use a lottery?

A. Supporters say it is the fairest way of determining who will serve.

Q. How would men be inducted under the lottery system?

A. All men would register by age 18. Those eligible for the draft would be placed in a selection pool, and the lottery would determine who would be called and in what order. Those selected would be inducted at age 19; those not selected in the first year would be placed in another group, much less likely to be called. Their chances of being called then would continue to diminish until they reached 26 and no longer were liable. Those deferred for any reason would be liable to age 35.

Q. What would be an 18-year-old's chances of induction under the proposed system — assuming present war conditions continued?

A. About 1.9 million youths reach age 18 each year. Of those, about 80 per cent, or 1.54 million are found to be qualified for duty. Of the 1.54 million, about 840,000, or 44 per cent, would serve.

Q. What about suggestions for service in such organizations as the Peace Corps and VISTA, the domestic Peace Corps, as alternates to military duty?

A. The President praised the idea but noted that both commissions rejected it.

Report Shows Woes of Racial Isolation

Executive Director National Urban League

A long, hard look at our nation's schools has been taken by the U.S. Civil Rights Commission and it did not like what it saw.

The commission's report documents the racial isolation which characterizes most of our schools.

The report found that in metropolitan areas, where two-thirds of both the white and the Negro population live, three out of every four Negro elementary school students attend schools that are nearly all-Negro, and an even higher proportion of white students attend schools that are nearly all-white.

Thus, 13 years after the Supreme Court outlawed segregated schools, racial segregation continues to flourish in the nation's classrooms.

The report showed what we have known all along — that racial isolation results in poorer education. Schools with predominantly Negro enrollments are regarded by the community as inferior and are treated as such.

Students, teachers, and administration often share this view and are demoralized by it. "This stigma affects the achievement and attitudes of Negro students," the report said.

OUT OF MAINSTREAM

Children attending such segregated schools feel that they cannot influence their own futures, that their aspirations are rebuffed, and that they are "less likely to participate in the mainstream of American society."

A commission study showed that the performance level of twelfth-grade Negro students attending segregated schools was more than two grades behind that of other Negro students attending integrated schools.

The report challenges the theory that one way to overcome the failure of ghetto schools is to make them better, saying "compensatory education programs have attempted to solve problems stemming primarily from racial and social class isolation in schools which themselves are isolated by race and class."

The commission's judgment may be too hasty, since compensatory education programs are usually understaffed and underfinanced. Many of the special programs for ghetto schools consist more of publicity than of real achievements.

Until an adequate special program is mounted involving the total community, with low student-teacher ratios, neighborhood citizens as paid teacher-helpers, and a range of teaching aids and special services, we can't say that these programs have limited value.

Effective compensatory programs will also have to attack social problems like bad housing and poverty which affect the child.

Reported Highest in Morning

Male Hormone Output Varies

AP Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Men produce their greatest amount of male hormone at the time of awakening in the morning, a new study finds.

Their hormone level then is as much as 40 per cent higher than at midnight. Midnight is found usually to mark the low point in a daily cyclic rhythm of male hormone output.

The finding of variations in male hormones by scientists of New York Medical College was reported today by the American Cancer Society, which supported their research.

The study may have applications as to the best time to give certain hormones in treating some forms of cancer, and implications regarding other clinical problems and human behavior, the society said.

ABOUT 30 TIMES

Men and women are believed to produce both male and female hormones. Men are male because they produce more male than female hormone, and vice-versa, with the normal man producing about 30 times as much male hormone as the normal woman.

The New York study, by Drs. A. Louis Southren, G.G. Gordon, S. Tochimoto and G. Pinzon, detected a daily or 24-hour rhythm in male hormone production by men. But in women, they said, production of the male hormone, testosterone, stays at pretty much the same level.

Most hospitals, they said, measure hormone levels in the morning, and take that reading as the average.

Daily variations showed up when blood samples were taken 16 times every 24 hours. A 24-hour internal "clock" may be involved in the variation.

It is not yet known whether the findings have bearing on sexual behavior and activity, the report adds.

Unique Discovery Now Makes It Possible To Shrink Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

...Except In Unusually Severe Or Persistent Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A well-known research institute has discovered a substance which has the ability to actually shrink hemorrhoids without surgery except in unusually severe or persistent cases.

Center also proved this so. The secret is this special substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. In addition to actually shrinking piles—Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements more comfortable, and soothes irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this substance. No prescription is needed.

LBJ Is Warned by Dem Group

Won't Get Support Unless Viet War Ends

FRESNO Calif. (AP) — Delegates of the 30,000-member California Democratic Council have served notice on President Johnson that they will support a peace candidate in the presidential primary unless the Vietnam war ends by September.

Boos and a few cheers rocked the annual convention of the huge Democratic grassroots political group Sunday when a delegate shouted: "I deeply admire President Johnson."

Delegates, in a split voice vote, adopted a policy statement promising to reconvene in September if the war continues and to back a slate of Democratic National Convention delegates in the June 1968 primary pledged to a peace candidate.

The convention also supported the proposal of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., for an immediate end to the bombing of North Vietnam as a prelude to peace talks.

WAR CRITIC REELECTED
The organization — a power in California Democratic politics — also gave another term to President Gerald Hill of San Francisco, a critic of the war.

Hill defeated another opponent of the war, John Thorne of San Jose, 897-613.

The support for the peace delegation created a new California problem for the President, an expected candidate for re-election.

Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty are already fighting for the job of leading a pro-Johnson slate of delegates in the primary. Both support the administration in the war.

The Democratic council said opponents of Johnson's policy must also be represented in the election.

POLICY STATEMENT

The CDC policy statement said, "If there has been no peaceful solution to the war in Vietnam this convention will formulate a strong grass-roots presidential primary slate of delegates to the Democratic National Convention in 1968 pledged to support a candidate and platform opposing this government's war program in Southeast Asia and supporting the renewal of a progressive peacetime program at home, throughout California and in the entire United States."

But Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco said some Californians will enter a peace delegation in the primary no matter what happened.

The policy statement did not mention Johnson by name. But speeches by antiwar delegates made it clear they did not like the President's policy.

Their policy statement called for immediate ending of the bombing in North Vietnam, announcement of the United States' intention to attend a peace conference a week afterwards and the inclusion of the National Liberation Front — the Vietcong — in the negotiations.

Opponents said the policy statement was one-sided. They charged that it said nothing about Communist aggression in the Far East.

Out of 10 million males 18 to 64 years old who moved from one house to another in the United States during a recent 12-month period, about two-thirds indicated housing or some other requirement of living arrangements as the reason. The remainder moved because of reasons to do with employment.

U.S. Opens New Assault on Marine Science

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson has opened a new assault by sea in the international war on hunger.

Top priority will be given to production of the once-controversial fish protein concentrate, a tasteless, odorless diet supplement, in plants both here and abroad.

Production of the concentrate has been held up for some time pending its approval for human consumption by the Food and Drug Administration — approval which has now been given.

Also high on the list of Presidential priorities are the achievement of international agreement on peaceful use of the sea and a vigorous push in ocean science and engineering education.

These are among nine priority items recommended in the first Marine Science Affairs report prepared by the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development.

Chairman of the Council is Vice President Hubert Humphrey. AID VENTURE Demonstration projects will be undertaken in three of the less developed nations by the Agency for International Development, the vice president revealed in a news conference on the report.

The projects will seek to develop the nations' entire fishing industries, from location of fish in the oceans through production of the concentrate to studies of how it can best be marketed and used.

Several nations have already indicated their interest in such food - from the - sea projects, Humphrey said, but he added that he did not want to name them until final selection was made.

A very large market apparently exists also in the United States for FPC, Humphrey noted. Accordingly, two pilot plants for FPC production will be built here, to be operated by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

HIGH PRIORITY The Sea Grant College Program, authorized by Congress last year, will also receive high priority. "Already we have had a tremendous number of colleges and universities demonstrate an interest in this," Humphrey observed.

AF Gets Jets

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—The 2,000th F4 Phantom, an all-weather fighter-bomber jet being used in Vietnam, was delivered to the Air Force yesterday by its builder, the McDonnell Co.

CUNNINGHAM'S DRUG STORES

DUAL ROLE—Either in front of, or behind a camera, screen star Kevin McCarthy (right) is a dedicated worker. At a press premiere at his newest film, "Hotel," he explains his character portrayal as a ruthless hotel tycoon. For relaxation, he does his own shooting with a 35mm camera.

Camera Angles

Film Enjoyment Shared

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

He is the 35mm lens, especially, for fun evenings at friends' parties.

"I get into the party spirit, everybody's having a good time... then I get the camera out and start snapping. It's easy to focus with the 35mm... It has so much leeway."

CONVEYANCE "I don't mind if a foreground face is not perfectly sharp—if it conveys mood or has expression. Perhaps I'm impressed by the work of Ernst Haas which I think is just great. So many of his pictures are poetic in motion and color!"

"I've shot a lot of Kodachrome but have turned to black-and-white lately. Making color prints can be expensive as I found out when I shot about a thousand pictures on a trip through Italy with my children."

"Here's a color shot made by Mary, my youngest... 13. She has an instinctive feeling for photography. I think she saw a sunset and framed it with my profiled figure. She took it but I'm proud of it."

"I also like to shoot silhouettes, figures against the sky... like these of my son on the bow of a boat. He's 19."

Anti-U.S. Protest

PORDENONE, Italy (UPI) — Several hundred persons staged an anti-American demonstration at the Italian-American air base near Aviano yesterday, protesting the war in Vietnam. Officials said the demonstration, which was peaceful, was Communist inspired.

Patricia Neal Acclaimed at New York Benefit
BY JEAN HELLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Patricia Neal strode onto the stage and, as one, the audience rose with thunderous applause. For any other Academy Award-winning actress, a 15-minute speech hardly would have been noteworthy. For Pat Neal, it was the triumph of a lifetime. Two years ago her career was nearly brought to a tragic end by three massive strokes. There was doubt that she would live. When she did survive, there was doubt that she could ever walk, talk or even see normally again. But Sunday night, everything was perfect. "It was beautiful. Oh, it was just beautiful," Miss Neal, 40, smiled after speaking to a dinner audience of 2,000 at a benefit for the New York Association for Brain Injured Children. It was her first public appearance since the strokes. "I did it," she said happily. "I really did it. It was good, wasn't it?" There to assure her that she had been a roaring success was an audience that read like who's who from the entertainment world: Rock Hudson, Van Johnson, Leonard Bernstein, Otto Preminger, Joan Crawford, Skitch Henderson, Charles Adams and Vincent Sardi. Miss Neal spoke at the dinner because she has a brain-injured child of her own, 6-year-old Theo, who was struck a car when he was 3 months old. She faltered only once during her speech, and that was with emotion as she spoke about her son. STRONG VOICE
The rest of the speech came through in the strong, husky voice that moviegoers know so well, a voice it took the actress months of hard work to recover. She recalled that when she returned to England after the strokes, "I saw two of everything. I remember looking down and seeing that I had four legs. And when they took me to the hospital, I discovered I had six children, instead of just three, all of them twins." "When you keep seeing double all the time, you start thinking double as well. Then you start talking double. That's known as doubletalk. I became an expert at doubletalk." Miss Neal paid special tribute to her husband, writer Roald Dahl, who forced her to work with me. Roald told them what to teach me—reading, writing, arithmetic—the works. It was just like school all over again, only tougher. Much, much tougher. "God, they are marvelous people." "PINK CABBAGE"
"I was an idiot," she said, "a complete idiot, like an enormous pink cabbage." "A challenge is something my husband will always accept. My people."

Both Vote in Moscow

Nik, Molotov Out of 'Dustbin'

MOSCOW (AP) — Two old men who once were among the Soviet Union's most powerful politicians — Nikita S. Khrushchev and Vyacheslav M. Molotov — emerged from obscurity Sunday to vote in a legislative election.

Consigned to what Khrushchev used to call "the dustbin of history," the two former adversaries have been living in the secluded retirement of the Kremlin's post-Stalin leadership reserves for its political losers. Their public appearances are rare, and they are seldom mentioned in the Soviet press.

Khrushchev drew a friendly crowd of at least 1,000 at a polling station near his Moscow apartment. It was his biggest public turnout since he was ousted in 1964.

Thin, subdued and looking his 72 years, Khrushchev smiled back at his greeters, touched his pompadour in a familiar gesture, and said of his reception, "It's very nice."

BRIEF MESSAGE

Asked if he had any message for the world, he said simply, "Let there be peace."

Molotov was virtually ignored as he voted at a polling place near the Kremlin. Once Stalin's right-hand man, Molotov was premier in 1939-41 and foreign minister in 1939-49 and again in 1953-56. Khrushchev ousted him 10 years ago.

Molotov, 77, smiled thinly and walked slowly. He wore his customary rimless glasses, a hat,

Both Molotov and Khrushchev voted for Khrushchev's successor as premier, Alexei N. Kosygin, who was running for the Parliament of the Russian Federation, the Soviet Union's largest state.

SEEMED SURPRISED

Khrushchev seemed surprised by the surging crowd, which forced him and his wife, Nina, to enter the polling station by a side entrance.

They both said they were in excellent health.

Asked how he liked retirement, Khrushchev answered, "At my age it is impossible to work."

Khrushchev's 20-minute appearance was not announced in advance. But he had voted at the same place last June, and people expected him again.

"Hello, Nikita Sergeyevich," they called. "Malodyets, malodyets" (good man) was heard from some. "May you live many more years," one said.

"I read, I read," Khrushchev said when asked how he spent the days. He spends most of his time at a country home outside Moscow.

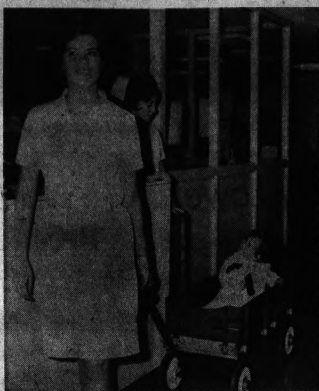

The Russian Federation and eight Soviet republics went through ceremonial elections for their Parliaments, with the usual overwhelming turnout for the unopposed candidates reported.

The voting occurred on the 50th anniversary of the revolution that deposed Czar Nicholas II and established Alexander Kerensky's provisional government. The Bolsheviks overthrew the government and set up a Communist regime the next October.

Pilot Who Flew Pope Is Killed

BELLUNO, Italy (UPI) — The Italian pilot who flew Pope Paul VI to New York in 1965 was killed Saturday night with three other persons in a plane crash in the Dolomites.

Aldo Tassi, 55, an Alitalia Airlines pilot, was on a twin-engine Canadian-made DHCE that crashed on a flight from Venice to the Alp resort of Cortina Dampezzo.

YOUNGSTER IN TOW—Nurses' aide Anita Berger uses a little red wagon to transport Caroline Waltrich, 2½, to the X-ray lab at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge, Ill. Previously, the more conventional forms of hospital transportation, wheelchairs and hospital carts, had evoked some fears in young patients; so officials decided they'd rather switch than fight.

'N. Viet General Is Directing Cong'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A film purporting to show him in four-star North Vietnamese general in South Vietnam giving both political and military orders to the Communists there says Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Other U. S. officials identified the general as Nguyen Chi Thanh, 52, a onetime Hanoi school teacher who rose to high Communist party and military positions and is the only North Vietnamese holding a full general's rank other than Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the North defense minister and army chief.

Thanh was reported last seen in North Vietnam in 1964, the year the first North Vietnamese regular army forces went south. Intelligence indicating his presence in South Vietnam was said to have come from captured documents and prisoners. A Nguyen Huu Tho. They portrayed this as a move to smooth the way for direct NLF peace talks with the United States.

NOT NAMED

The secretary of state gave this response, but stopped short of naming the man, when asked Sunday about an Associated Press report from Saigon that Allied intelligence had spotted a change in leadership of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Vietcong.

The intelligence sources said Huynh Tan Phat had moved up from deputy chairman of the NLF to chairman, replacing Rusk said he had not been able to confirm this shift through official sources, although "we would be interested if Mr. Phat or anybody else comes into the Liberation Front and moves the front toward peace." Rusk spoke on the ABC radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

Washington officials picture the NLF as a Hanoi instrument operating in the South. They said a combination of political and military direction, of the sort Thanh reportedly provides, is particularly important in the Red campaign in the South.

Julius Boros Captures Big Citrus Prize

Veteran Pro Trying for Spot on Ryder Cup Golf Team

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros says he will use money capturing the Citrus Open golf title to "pay off the mortgage and retire," but the cagey campaigner isn't quite ready to call it quits.

Off to his fastest start in 17 seasons as a pro, the 47-year-old father of seven is determined to win a spot on the Ryder Cup squad which meets England's top professionals in October.

"There's not much money in the Ryder Cup, but it's worth a lot in prestige," Boros added after picking up a $23,000 check for winning the Citrus crown, his second title payoff of the year.

"That would be a great way to bow out, beating the English," Boros said, but later he added that he had no definite plans to retire.

WEEKLY COMEBACK

"I used to retire every Monday and make a comeback every Thursday," said Boros, who with the rest of the Orlando contenders will play in the Jacksonville Open which starts Thursday.

Bob Gajada of Forest Lake Country Club finished in the money here with a 285.

Boros, now second on the 1967 official golf money list with $43,287 isn't playing like a man about to quit.

He and Arnold Palmer are the only two double winners of the pro tour this year, and Boros already has made more money than he did in any year since 1963 when he won three tournaments, including the U.S. Open for the second time.

Boros, who won the Phoenix Open last month, shaved 10 strokes off par in his 72-hole four of the Rio Pinar course, winning by one stroke over Palmer and Canadian George Knudson.

Helped by a dead 60-foot approach shot and a 25-foot putt for birdies on the front nine, Boros finished with a 70 for a tournament total of 274.

Boros' only bogey was on the 18th hole where he missed the green on his second shot, and then missed a six-foot putt.

Palmer finished with a 68 and Knudson, 29-year-old Toronto veteran, roared home with a 66.

City Rec Quintets Begin Tourney Action

Tournament action opens tonight for teams in Pontiac's three recreation basketball leagues, with a berth in state tourney play going to the champion in the American loop.

Six games are on tap tonight, two in each league.

In the American action, the champion Amigo Colts will watch as the other four teams knock each other out in a single-game elimination affair. The winner of the tourney then takes on the Colts in a three-game series with the survivor moving on to represent the city in state competition.

On the docket this evening in AL play at Kennedy Junior High School, Perry Drugs (11-4), runner-up to the Colts, takes on Oxford Hills (5-11) at 7 p.m., while Booth Homes (6-9) and the Orchard Merchants (3-12) tangle in the 8:30 nightcap.

Winners tonight meet at 7 p.m. Thursday for the tourney title and the victor of that game joins the Colts for the series starting March 20.

NATIONAL ACTION

In National League action at Pontiac Northern, Amigo's Club (14-1) meets Local 653 (10-6) at 7 p.m. and McDonald's Drive-In (7-9) takes on Auburn Hills (3-11) at 8:30.

The other four NL teams swing into action tomorrow night at Lincoln Junior High with the Packers (12-4) meeting Acker Construction (7-7) at 7 and Unbeatable (5-11) playing Highland Lakes (1-13) at 8:30.

NL winners tonight meet in the second round Thursday at 7 p.m. at Pontiac Northern, followed by an 8:30 clash between winners of tomorrow night's games. Winners Thursday tangle March 21 at Pontiac Central.

League champion Coulares Insurance (13-6) and Country Club (8-5) drew byes in the first round of International League play.

Games on the IL slate this evening have Local 596 (8-5) meeting Lee's Lawn & Garden (4-10) at 7 p.m. and Orchard Lanes (5-8) playing Torry & Country (2-13) at 8:30. Both games are at Lincoln Junior High.

Aide Joins Grant With Minnesota 11

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings announced Sunday night that John Michels, 36, will take a defensive coach position with the National Football League club. Michels, who has been a coach with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Canadian Football League since 1959, turned down an offer to become head coach of the Bombers.

Harry P. (Bud) Grant, the Bombers' head coach for the past 10 years, was named Saturday to succeed Norm Van Brocklin as head coach of the Vikings.

Honor Former Cagers

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Lepchick, former St. John's coach and a member of the original Boston Celtics, and Everett Dean, former Stanford coach, were inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame Sunday night.

Madison Wins Wrestling Title

Wrestlers from Madison Junior High School edged Kennedy Saturday by two points in a city quadrangular meeting.

The winners totaled 115 points with Kennedy picking up 113. Jefferson (90) took third and Lincoln (65) fourth.

Kennedy wound up with six individual championships to five for Madison.

Pontiac Twp. Fire Damages House

Two rooms were destroyed and the rest of a house belonging to J. Wesley Hubbard, 2096 Commonwealth, Pontiac Township, was damaged by smoke in a fire Saturday night.

Township firemen answered the call at 7:19 p.m. A faulty furnace blower was blamed for the blaze which shot up interior walls of the one-story frame home.

Mrs. Hubbard and a 3-year-old grandson, Geoffrey, at home at the time of the fire, were not injured. No estimate was made on the cost of the damage.

Fire Damages Home in City

A fire yesterday in a two-story frame house at 241 W. Wilson caused an estimated $1,500 damage and took city firemen nearly and hour to extinguish.

Two engines and an aerial truck commanded by Chief Charles Marion responded to the alarm at about 3:40 p.m.

Fire officials said some $1,000 of the damage was to the building, the rest to contents. Cause of the blaze was improper fusing, they said.

Restaurant Hit by Burglars; $125 Is Taken

Burglars escaped with $125 following a break-in at the Pied Piper Restaurant, 4370 M59, Waterford Township, early today.

The money was taken from an office drawer and a cash register, township police said.

The intruders also attempted to break into a safe.

Shelves were unloaded and food was thrown on the floors and walls, according to police.

DeMolay Unit Marks Week

DeMolay Week, celebrating the 48th anniversary of the DeMolay order, is today through next Monday.

The Order of DeMolay is a male youth movement begun to build character and leadership.

Obligatory Sunday, when all area DeMolay men will attend 11 a.m. services at Waterford Community Church, highlights the week.

Any male between 14 and 21 may petition to join a DeMolay chapter. For specific information contact the master councilor of an area chapter.

They are Josiah Pilton of 2639 Kenford, Waterford Township, head of Pontiac chapter; Gary Slinkard of 6143 Paramus, Independence Township, head of Clarkston Cedar chapter; Ernest Newport of 3836 Fieldview, West Bloomfield Township, head of Milford-Walled Lake chapter; and John Dunsmore of 2762 Greenwillow, Farmington Township, head of Farmington Chapter.

Waterford Bar Lot Scene of Robbery

A Commerce Township man was beaten and robbed of $63 in the parking lot of a Waterford Township bar about midnight Saturday.

The victim, Ellisworth J. Shockey of 5904 Pickbourne, told Waterford Township police he was locking his truck in a lot near the lot at Doherty's Bar, 7960 Cooley Lake, when he was accosted by two males.

He said they knocked him down, beat him and took his wallet before fleeing by car north on Williams Lake Road.

Obliging Quarry

MARENGO, Iowa (AP)—David Scott heard a noise and observed a pheasant zooming skyward as he was hunting near here. Before he had a chance to take a shot at the flying creature, the pheasant crashed into an overhead power line and fell dead at his feet.

New 'Thigh Scraper' Skirts Booze Toters Stagger Earl

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—don't know which is the more gassy and shocking nowadays—those micro-skirted beauties you see at Arthur wearing not much more than Eve had on ("Some of them are so high up the girls they are called 'thigh scrapers'") or those celebrities like Martha Raye going into the crystal Room with her ex-husband and stilling. Nick Connors toting a bottle of whisky a la prohibition because the toppers dancers cost the joint its liquor privilege for the present.

There's a $2 music charge and $4 minimum (which pays for the setup) which means there's a $6-person charge to see some girls who are bare upstairs. Can you topless that?

The Ex-Mrs. David Merrick, Jeanne Gibson Merrick, is listed as "co-manager agent" on the show "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" which opened to raves (especially for Revue Rose) . . . Clive Barnes, the NY Times British-imported dance critic, is tipped to become daily drama reviewer with Walter Kerr dramapundit weekends.

Paul Burke phoned from PPK to tell Danny Stradella that Danny's that he got the starring role in "Valley of the Dolls" by the way, it is true that Judy Garland almost walked off the picture before she started? That rumor's around.

Jim Backus was reading my story about him becoming an instant millionaire from "Gilligan's Island" being picked up by CBS when he got a flash call from producer Sherwood Schwartz saying they'd been cancelled instead. "So, now," shrugged Jim, "I'm an instant pauper."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Gretchen Wyler, the dog nut who's so interested in Great Danes, is in our biased opinion a Great Dane (Doing her first movie with Wm. Holden) . . . Sukie Tanni, some folks think, is the prettiest Japanese beauty in New York.

More Secret Stuff: An Oscar-winning actress is quitting NY for Hollywood because she can't get a Broadway role. Ring Starr will solo in a night club act. Won't this confirm that the Beatles have split? . . . Stella Stevens' new $100,000 ermine coat's a gift from—herself . . . Robert ("Man from U.N.C.L.E.") Vaughn has a "darling" of a romance with Julie Christie.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: NY's traffic dept. is getting very effective. Two crooks held up a bank and came out to find their getaway car had been towed away—Bobby Van.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "All topless waitresses have one thing in common," notes Soupy Sales. "They're unsuited for their work."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "What is so rare as a day in June? A TV program not leaving so soon."—Jesse Kaplan, Brooklyn.

EARL'S PEARLS: Abe Margolies of Les Champs says he saw spring's first robin in Central Park. It was being mugged by three sparrows. Dick Chamberlain, back in Hollywood, told Carmen Phillips at LA's Bigger Whip that "the average New Yorker is some kind of his never seen Disneyland, a movie studio and a parking space." . . . That's earl, brother.

'EGYPTIAN' — Dr. Don O. Tatro, superintendent of Waterford Township Schools, displays a work of metal tooling entitled "Egyptian," presented to him Saturday by David Lang, a sixth grade pupil at Covert School. The presentation occurred at the Waterford Township School District's sixth annual children's art show at Pontiac Mall. In the background are Mrs. M. J. Root, art coordinator of elementary schools, and Haviland School second grader Tammy Van Conant.

Voters Maul Prestige of De Gaulle

PARIS (U)—French voters mauled the prestige of President Charles de Gaulle's government badly yesterday and left his forces with a majority of only one to three votes in the National Assembly. Even that narrow margin was in doubt. With two of the 487 Assembly seats still undecided, the ministry of interior reported candidates pledged to de Gaulle had won 244 seats, or a majority of at least one in the full Assembly.

Other checks of the candidates' political labels indicated the Gaullists had won only 243 seats, while the combined opposition had 241 or 242. French political experts varied in their assessment of the situation.

The election for one seat in Tahiti

will be held next Sunday. Another seat is being held for French Somaliland in case that African territory decides in a referendum next Sunday to remain with France rather than choosing independence.

The Gaullists had a solid 40-seat majority in the outgoing National Assembly. PRESIDENT UNAFFECTED

The President's personal tenure was not affected, he having been elected in 1955 for a seven-year term. But whether de Gaulle will have a "governable" assembly will apparently hinge on a bloc of at least 30 and possibly 42 seats controlled by Jean Lecanuet's Center Democrats.

Lecanuet indicated before the elections that he would support the Gaullists on certain issues if they showed signs of adjusting to his demands. These include European unity and continuation of the Atlantic alliance.

The voters knocked four of de Gaulle's ministers out — Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, Veterans Minister Alexandre Sanguinetti, and Jean Charbonnel, in charge of cooperation with former French African territories.

The Gaullist defeat, which had not been foreseen in public opinion polls, was fashioned largely by a smooth working electoral pact forged by the strong French Communist party and the leftist federation of Socialists and other non-Communist leftists.

The agreement brought the left surging into French politics in strength, recalling the days of the victorious Popular Front in 1936.

The runoff election also was marked by the political comeback of leftist Pierre Mendes-France, who as premier ended the French Indochinese war in 1954. Mendes-France handily defeated a Gaullist in Grenoble.

Jacques Soustelle, who broke with de Gaulle over the Algerian independence struggle and is now in political exile, came in third behind a Gaullist and a Communist.

LOSING BALLOT—French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville casts his ballot yesterday in his home district in Paris. He lost a tight race for the National Assembly to his conservative opponent, Edouard Frederic-DuPont.

Meredith Pulls Out of Race in Harlem

NEW YORK (U)—James H. Meredith, a civil rights maverick who drew the wrath of many Negro leaders for opposing Adam-Clayton Powell, suddenly pulled out of the special congressional race today.

In a surprise postmidnight announcement, just as stunning as his entry into the race last Tuesday as the choice of Republican leaders, Meredith offered no explanation for his withdrawal.

He declined to elaborate on a one-sentence statement: "I have decided not to run in the 18th Congressional District."

Some Harlem sources said that Meredith, an independent Democrat, bowed to pressures from civil rights leaders.

APPEALS REPORTED

There also were reports that Powell, through intermediaries, had been appealing to Meredith to drop out.

The appeals were said to have been made on grounds of a need for Negro unity.

Meredith reportedly was told that by accepting the Republican nomination to run against Powell, a Democrat, he would be the white man's candidate.

Sources said Meredith was told that he could make an even more dramatic gesture by giving up the support of the white people.

BIGGER HERO

This, it was said, would make him an even bigger hero in the Negro community.

Meredith, 33, admitted when he accepted the Republican offer to oppose Powell that he was laying himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes."

'Sniper' Taylor Has Chance to Go Free Tuesday

Gary Addison Taylor, the "Phantom Sniper of Royal Oak," could become a free man tomorrow.

A writ of habeas corpus asking Taylor's release from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane was filed last week in Ionia County Circuit Court.

A hearing has been scheduled for tomorrow by Circuit Judge Lee Bebeau. If Bebeau rules that Taylor is sane, he will go free.

Taylor was arrested 10 years ago by Royal Oak police a few hours after he wounded a 19-year-old Bloomfield Hills girl on the steps of her home.

Arresting officers said that Taylor, who then was 19, told them he had been firing at women and girls with a 22-caliber rifle for six weeks.

PSYCHIATRIST'S TESTIMONY

Dr. William E. Gordon, a psychiatrist who examined Taylor in 1959 and again last year, told the Oakland County Circuit Court his background includes much pathology including diffuse, long-term homosexuality.

Taylor also exhibited pathological behavior toward females, Dr. Gordon added, and he termed this as "grossly sadistic and physically abusive."

Last year Ionia doctors said Taylor was able to stand trial for wounding Shirley Elan, the Bloomfield Hills girl, and Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore found him innocent by reason of insanity.

Another sanity commission was convened and Taylor was found insane. Last May 12 Judge Moore ordered him back to Ionia.

$12.2 Billion for War Gets House Unit OK

WASHINGTON (U)—The war in Vietnam got a $12.2-billion shot in the arm today from the House Appropriations Committee, which said there is "no reasonable likelihood" that the fighting will end by June 30.

The appropriation, subject to action by the House Thursday and by the Senate probably next week, is for use during the remaining months of the fiscal year ending June 30.

The amount is $82.5 million less than President Johnson requested, but none of the cut was applied to major weapon programs.

More than half the total, $6.29 billion, was earmarked for procurement of airplanes, munitions, vehicles and communications items.

Items scheduled for purchase include 721 fixed-wing planes, 83 helicopters and spare parts for planes and vehicles.

AMMUNITION USED

The committee headed by Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said that during the last three months of 1966, U.S. and allied forces in Vietnam used about 1 million rounds of artillery fire, 700 thousand rounds of mortar ammunition and 110 million rounds of small arms ammunition per month.

The Navy fired an average of 36,000 rounds of large gun ammunition per month.

The committee assumed, it said, that the military effort in Vietnam will continue "at approximately the present level."

On this assumption, it ordered that Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard aircraft and troop carrier groups be maintained at not less than their strength as of February 28, 1967.

U.S. Strategy Talks to Stress Viet Role

WASHINGTON (U)—President Johnson's Vietnam strategy huddle in Guam next week — though not expected to include Premier Nguyen Cao Ky — is regarded as another attempt to dramatize the U.S. military and civil development commitment to Ky's war-torn country.

Ky attended Johnson's last two Pacific conferences — at Honolulu in February 1966 and at Manila last October.

But sources indicated the Guam session, announced Saturday night, "will probably involve only top Americans, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, and Gen. William West."

Likely also to be discussed are changes some have proposed to strengthen Westmoreland's command along the lines of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme allied command in World War II.

Rusk said yesterday that any scaling down of the war by the South Vietnamese allies would have to be matched by the North. He said the United States is willing to hold peace talks or discuss conditions of such talks even while the fighting continues.

Rusk said, "I think that if Ho Chi Minh North Vietnam's president and his senior leaders decided that they wished to make peace, they probably could do so."

OUTSIDE INFLUENCE

"I don't think there is any outside power who has a completely determining voice in Hanoi, although there is some very strong influence there from Peking and also from Moscow."

The city would be helpful," declared Joseph E. Neippling, city director of public works and services.

"Ultimately, of course," he said, "we feel grade separations will have to be built at South Saginaw, West Huron and somewhere in the Johnson area."

Neippling cited eight grade separations

MADE CLEAR

At a recent conference, however, railroad officials made clear their reluctance to implement the alternate route.

"Sure, the belt line would alleviate crossing problems at Huron and Saginaw," said B. L. Miller, Grand Trunk superintendent of transportation.

"But it would create more problems in the Baldwin-Columbia area, especially during plant traffic hours."

Miller also noted the expense to the railroad of constructing tracks on a 1½-mile length of roadbed adjacent to the GMC Truck & Coach Division plant.

Gray, Gloomy Weather Picture

Color the skies gray and gloomy, the weatherman predicts variable cloudiness today and tonight with no major temperature changes and a chance of drizzle or light rain tonight.

Some good may come from the expected drizzle. It may help melt the unsightly clumps of dirty snow punctuating the landscape.

Lows tonight will range between 23 to 24.

Tomorrow will be partly sunny and a little colder, with a chance of snow flurries.

Lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 23. By 1 p.m. the mercury stood at 33.

A move by Grand Trunk Western Railroad officials to hold westbound freights at Birmingham would appear to be the only immediate form of relief for Pontiac motorists weary of tie-ups at crossings.

Meetings between the railroad and the city and talks with police and court officials produced these observations on the current situation:

• Reactivation of the "belt line" skirting the city's eastern edge is no more a remote possibility. Grand Trunk officials say the route would create more problems than it would solve.

• Cost to the city of grade separations (bridges or underpasses), particularly in light of the current revenue "crisis," is prohibitive.

• Police intend to pursue an aggressive policy of citations for violation of the five-minute crossing delay ordinance, even though the local court does not view fines as a means of deterring violations.

The belt line, built during the 1890s, cuts away from the main route just north of Square Lake Road and reconnects with the Johnson Street switchyards.

IDEA BROACHED

Use of the line as an interim, if not

permanent solution, has been publicly advanced by city officials.

BURIED BELT LINE — "Down, but not out," declared city officials of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad belt line. They maintain the roadbed laid down some 40 years ago along with it now the GMC Truck and Coach Division plant is still usable. 12 Area Villages Voting Today

Voters in 12 area villages went to polls today to pick from a relatively slim list of candidates to fill village offices.

Elections are being held in Oxford, Lake Orion, Leonard, Clarkston, Almont, Imlay City, Metamora, Holly, Dryden, Romeo, Orionville and Milford.

In addition to electing village officers, Lake Orion voters also will ballot on a proposed new village charter — the first since the late 1890s.

Because of a change in the election laws, voters in three villages — Holly, Dryden and Metamora — will ballot on blank ballots.

In some areas, there is no real election contests. Incumbents in Holly, Dryden, Orionville and Clarkston, have no opposition.

ADVISORY VOTE

Voters in Imlay City are being asked their opinion on whether the village should abandon its municipal water system in favor of tying into the Detroit Water System. This is an advisory vote and is not binding on the village council. Polls are open until 3 p.m.

It Seems to Me . . .

Nation's Political Picture Reflects New Alignments

Reverberations from the 1966 revolt in national politics have about ceased as the Nation faces the tasks ahead.

The Republicans gained more than 700 seats in State Legislatures across the Country. This is an astounding reversal and both parties are feeling the new alignments. There are 47 new GOP members of the House of Representatives in Washington who replace failed Democrats. Almost half of them came from a dozen big, leading Middle Western states including Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

Some 57% of the population in the United States is in GOP hands today as far as state governments are concerned. This is a startling and almost unbelievable realignment since 1964. Today half of the governors are Republicans and these include the bulk of the biggest and most important states. This in itself is tremendously significant and important.

We are basically a two-party Nation. We will be better served accordingly. The smug complacency of the past few years is gone. Dominance went out the window—especially in the Middle West—along with the reputed half-million dollars the UAW is said to have tossed on a straight Democratic ticket. Something akin to national balance means a better and stronger United States. We're approaching that now. As 1967 unfolds, the national political picture is squared away for the big haul directly ahead. And the Democrats still possess the White House and control of our Federal Congress.

Airport Needs Increase . . .

As time passes, the need of more airports becomes increasingly apparent. There's real significance in this for our Oakland County group.

The governors of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have banded together to work out a solution for one of the Nation's most heavily "occupied" air sectors. They are studying a series of smaller airports for smaller planes. Probably Bill Jones and his single motor jalopy have as much legal right to the air as a 125-passenger jet; but, there is such a thing as common sense everywhere.

Our Oakland County airport could be a leader in helping Metro (and Willow Run) solve this coming problem. Chrysler Corp. has already said it would establish its headquarters here if the one runway were extended and another built in the opposite direction. These are primary requisites. Our opportunities ahead are tremendous.

'Trimmed' Budget . . .

Less than 35 years ago, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT fathered a budget that ran $5.7 billion.

The nation was aghast. Such utter profligacy!

Mr. Roosevelt's action raised a storm of vigorous outcries, protests and violent shouts of indignation. Now, a Mr. Johnson calmly presents one beginning in July that runs $135 billion.

Furthermore, he blandly asserts to newsmen that "waste and nonessentials have been cut out." Mr. Johnson!!!

New Rash of UFOs . . .

Our nation experiences a new rash of Unidentified Flying Objects. Some are close to home. Michigan is "favored."

In spite of the increasing evidence that a few may be "the real thing," I'm skeptical and dubious. Most of us accept the Government's explanations which cover more than 99% of the cases.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

ROBERT L. CARNICERO says that if the Indians who sold Manhattan Island to the Dutch in 1624 for $24 in trinkets, had invested the sum, their heirs today would have more money than Manhattan is worth. At 6% interest, compounded quarterly, the $24 would have reached the astronomical proportions of $15 billion. He estimates Manhattan today is worth $13 billion. . . . Overheard: "You're never too old to yearn." . . . London is worried over the addition problem among youngsters. Two girls, 18 and 19 just died from narcotics.

London had 56 murders in 1963 where policemen go about unarmed. New York equips them with guns and Gotham watched a total of 552 murders the same year. . . . In 1966, various states in the U.S. profited from betting on horse racing to the tune of $114 million in taxes. . . . BUTTER MATHEIS is down to about 255 from his top of 315 pounds and is making a serious effort to become a top-rate heavyweight fighter. He's in the hands of CUS D'AMATO.

Trusted scouts advise me Cecilia Giroux deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . Dennis Weaver who used to appear in "Gunsmoke" and then tried a TV show of his own that failed, is scheduled to appear for CBS next fall in a series currently entitled "Gentle Ben." He'll have a boy and a bear.

Irv Robins summarizes the world's population like this: "two-thirds are starving and one-third dieting." . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—the breath of Spring; the J's—disappearing snowbanks. —HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

LBJ Trying to Undo Tax Harm

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It is a risky thing for the government to tinker with the economic system.

President Johnson's message asking Congress to restore the 10 percent investment tax credit was the basic cause.

Indeed, it may yet be demonstrated that the damage done by the suspension was far greater than has been realized.

Hope this practice spreads. There must be a needy war

most immediate slowdown and eventually interest rates were eased, there is no convincing evidence that the suspension of the 7 percent investment tax credit was the basic cause.

Most members of Congress now would prefer also to drop the idea of a general tax increase.

It is a turn toward healthier conditions in the business world, however, and some economies in "Great Society" spending could more than offset the potential revenues hitherto anticipated from the proposed tax increase.

Bob Considine Says:

Medal of Honor Winner Receives a Helping Hand

NEW YORK — Have some crusades. Each has to do with human dignity:

Robert Emmett O'Malley, the young Marine whose Congressional Medal of Honor was presented to him by LBJ at the Johnson Ranch, really didn't want all that jazz.

All the interviews in the papers and on TV left a void in the incredible kid, and so did the big appearance — with the loud speakers hailing — before the Orange Bowl game.

He could have done without the reception at New York's city hall and the bands playing in his native Queens, too. What O'Malley wanted was to get well enough to move around good and back to school.

Medical treatment will do what it can about his lung and so forth. It won't be easy therapy.

He was well racked up during the course of the heroics that brought him the nation's highest award for valor.

But as for the schooling, the cumbersome government machinery wasn't galled to do anything about dropouts — even dropouts permitted to wear the little blue and white button that so few will ever own.

The hero had to go to the state unemployment bureau, for checks on which to live.

RESCUE PARTY

So? So a group of men met privately at "21" the other day and decided to do something about O'Malley.

Brig. Gen. Frank Garrettson, USMC, heads up those who have come to O'Malley's rescue in a most constructive way.

Johnson's Choice

The (Portland) Oregonian

Ramsey Clark's advancement from acting attorney general to attorney general marks one instance in which President Johnson, who doesn't like his appointments predicted, didn't "discipline" the press by appointing someone else.

Mr. Clark's nomination has been predicted ever since Nicholas Katzenbach was moved to the State Department and his record as deputy and assistant attorney general recommended his confirmation.

The speculation now shifts to President Johnson's choice for the Supreme Court succeeding Justice Tom Clark, Ramsey's father, who will resign to avoid a "conflict of interests," or the appearance thereof.

Will the nominee be a "liberal" or a "conservative"? Justice Clark, himself a former attorney general, was considered to be a conservative when appointed. But he has voted with the liberals enough to be considered somewhat unpredictable.

President Johnson's only other appointee, Abe Fortas, an able, friend and campaign strategist, is on the liberal side but he also has a strong leaning toward government authority which he helped construct through the years.

Voice of the People:

'Fence Is Badly Needed for Safety of Children'

When helpless children die in an ice-frozen river which has long been polluted and dangerously near a public housing project and no one speaks up, it makes the world seem dim. The area around the Lakeside project needs a fence. Even Bagley Elementary School nearby has a large opening in its supposedly fenced-in property leading to the river.

How many children will die in this dirty river before a fence and proper supervision are provided?

Resident Views Plan for Waterford Students

Due to overcrowded conditions, some students in our area spent their first year of junior high in an elementary school. Now we are told they will spend their sophomore year at Mason Junior High. Facilities at Mason were incomplete when they entered eighth grade. No doubt the same conditions will exist when they enter Mott Senior High. As a result, some of these children will again be losing out on the education due them. This is discouraging in view of the fact that we have voted "yes" on all school millage increases since moving to Waterford Township.

Rail Fan Answers Complaints on Railroads

I am tired of hearing people complain because trains block crossings. Do these people ever think of how much the railroad contributes to the economy, plus the tax the railroad pays on the property going through Pontiac and surrounding townships?

Crossing gates sometimes come down without anything going through the crossing. When an engine or train comes within 50 yards of the crossing the gates automatically go down for the protection of passenger vehicles. Ninety-five per cent of all crossing accidents are the fault of the public. The idea of underpasses or overpasses to replace all grade crossings is financially impossible.

Why doesn't the second school bus come on snowy days? The first bus is jammed and can't pick up all the children. Another thing—the bus doesn't wait long enough after school for children to get their coats from lockers.

DISGUSTED MOTHER

REPLY

Just as with private vehicles, snowy and cold weather can cause operational difficulties with buses, and unfortunately there are times when they don't all get where they're supposed to be. As for after school, the bus time manager feels there is ample time. He says buses rarely leave without a full standing load of students who had gotten coats from their lockers.

President Johnson is unlikely to pick a man who would be predictably and unilaterally conservative.

But if he senses the discontent of the American people over some recent Supreme Court positions, he may wish to alter slightly the delicate balance of the Court on the liberal side.

Through the means of his press conference and the letter, the President nimbly succeeded in throwing cold water on Kennedy's speech even before the senator had finished delivering it.

Sukarno Reign Ends; Indonesia Is Quiet

JAKARTA (UPI) — Indonesia today quietly accepted the end of the 21-year Sukarno era.

Army strongman Gen. Suharto began his first day as acting president by meeting with regional governors in the capital, which was calm with troops patrolling the streets and no celebrations or mob scenes.

Former President Sukarno, who for 21 years ruled Indonesia with dictatorial powers, still was residing at the presidential palace in Bogor. He no longer held any titles or any power.

Suharto was sworn in as acting president yesterday following a congressional resolution that gave him the office and made Sukarno an ordinary citizen. His fate was in the hands of Suharto, who has tried to ease the downfall of Sukarno to avoid civil war.

In his inaugural address, Suharto pledged to preserve constitutional law in Indonesia and keep the fledgling democracy in the hands of the people. He did not publicly criticize Sukarno, ousted for his alleged part in the abortive Communist coup of 1965.

REPORT CHANGE

Indonesian newspapers reported the change of government with banner headlines.

A victory celebration was planned for tomorrow at which time Suharto and Congress Chairman Gen. Harris Abdul Naution, who swore in the nation's second president, will address a rally in the capital.

Sukarno, who built Indonesia into a nation out of a string of Dutch colonial islands, was ushered out of office without heraldry or fanfare.

A spokesman said he would remain at the Bogor palace today and tomorrow but declined to say what would happen then.

Satchmo's Yen to 'Cool It' Bows to Book-Up '67

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, still blowing strong at 66, is here on a three-week engagement with a wistful wish.

"I wouldn't abruptly retire. But I would like to cool it and take a year or so out. Make a world tour without the horn, say hello to all my fans and really see the places I've been."

Lucille, his wife of 25 years, added: "We've been over the Grand Canyon several times. We'd like to put our feet on the ground there sometime."

But Louis is booked up at least through the rest of this year — Halifax, Nova Scotia, next, then Montreal, several U.S. universities, New York, Vancouver, England, Ireland, France, etc.

SLEEPERS DAYS

The man with the golden trumpet, piano-keyboard grin and gravelly tremolo was packing in the cats at the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove. He and his troupe, the All Stars, sell happiness as well as music.

Days he sleeps, which means he sees little of the places he visits.

"You gotta take care of yourself," he growled in the sawmill voice made scratchy by a 54-year singing career. He appoints his trumpet-scarred lips with a saive made by a German manufacturer, with Armstrong's name on the label.

What keeps him going? "It's something you just can't say 'hell with it,'" said Satch. "Your public won't understand."

Just out of the shower, he sat in his Ambassador suite in a yellow robe and leather-throw slippers, a white handkerchief tied over his head against drafts.

"These handkerchiefs are a part of Louis," said Lucille. She estimated he takes $200,000 on tour, mopping his brow and holding the trumpet with them. Fans swipe some. He has stacks of them around the house back home in Queens, Long Island.

For a boy who learned the cornet in a New Orleans orphanage and delivered coal for 15 cents a load while playing nights in honky-tonks, the living legend of jazz has come a long way.

There were crowds up to 97,000 in Budapest last year, 100,000 in Ghana in 1956. In Leeds, England, he was stopped by a crowd of 100,000. In Africa they call him Satch-E-mo," Louis grinned.

ROCK 'N' ROLL

He played for Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

"It's nice to know you get around and meet some fine people," he said. "That's what I always wanted — to meet the folks. The world is like a neighborhood to me."

He slipped a late-afternoon cup of coffee with cream.

Had he any thoughts on rock 'n' roll? "It's the essence of jazz."

Civil rights? "I make donations for the cause and play benefits for the NAACP."

Adam Clayton Powell? "All I know about the Rev. Powell is in his church days. I don't know anything about politics."

Is this, then, Louis's last year on the road?

"I wouldn't put myself on record to that," he said. "It's like an old-time musician told me in New Orleans. He said, 'Son, stay before the public.'"

Birth Control Pills Cause of Octuplets?

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican doctors are trying to determine whether birth control pills had anything to do with the birth of octuplets to Maria Teresa Lopez de Sepulveda. All eight children died within 13 hours of birth.

Doctors at the hospital where the infants died said they are using autopsy results to see if they can find a definite link between the birth control pills taken by the mother and the multiple births.

Mrs. Sepulveda, 21, took birth control pills for about a year, but stopped taking them about eight months before the birth of the four boys and four girls last Friday.

The birth of octuplets has been recorded twice before in this century — in Mexico in 1921 and in China in 1934.

AUTOPSIES PERFORMED

Dr. Kurt Ambrosius Diener, director of pathology at the 20th of November hospital, performed autopsies on the eight children before their burial. He said final results will not be ready for a week or 10 days but they apparently died because of undeveloped respiratory systems.

The doctor also said the mother and father would be asked to submit to physical examinations next week. The father, Genaro, 24, is a bookkeeper for the Mexican Social Security Institute.

Dr. Pablo Rodriguez Medina, the pediatrician who was in charge of the eight infants during their brief lives, said multiple births in Mexico have increased about 200 per cent since birth control pills were introduced into Mexico.

Another doctor said there have been many cases of multiple births in the United States after the mother stopped taking the pills. He said doctors are still trying to figure out why this happens.

AFFECT EQUILIBRIUM

Fertility drugs, which have been most noted for producing multiple births, are like birth control pills in that they affect the hormone equilibrium.

One theory is that birth control pills cause a woman's system to react much the same way it does when she is pregnant.

Birth control pills cause the woman to stop ovulating, or producing the eggs which, when fertilized by male sperm, become embryos.

Some doctors say a woman has a specific number of eggs to produce and normally released them once a month, but birth control pills interrupt the reproductive system.

They theorize that when a woman stops taking birth control pills, and ovulation starts again, her system may release several eggs at a time. If they are fertilized, a multiple birth results.

Detroit Pays $140,000 to Block Manuscript Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—A wealthy American said Sunday he arranged to pay a London auctioneer $140,000 to prevent the sale of Armenian church manuscripts.

Alex Manogian, 65-year-old industrialist from Detroit, told reporters at Kennedy Airport he made a large down payment to Sotheby's London as part of a deal to cancel sale of the manuscripts. Manogian, president of the Armenian General Benevolent Union, refused to say how large the down payment was.

At London airport on his way back to the United States, Manogian told reporters he did not want to spell out the exact amount and added: "It was not 50,000 pounds ($140,000) but quite a bit of it. I do not want to quote any figures. When I flew in last Thursday I expected to pay something, but not as much as this."

Manogian said the donation was "to enable the patriarchate to pay the money to Sotheby's to cover their losses and enable them to settle with the vendor." He said the auction house refused to tell him who had offered the manuscripts for sale.

Sotheby's said it had apparently authentic documents authorizing the sale. Authorities at the Jerusalem Monastery said the manuscripts had been improperly removed from its vaults.

Manogian said the matter is not ended.

TURN OVER GOSPELS

"We are going to find out who Sotheby's handed over the 23 was responsible for this and illuminated gospels Saturday to whoever it is will be punished."

New Attorney General Questioned

Clark Reports 38 Wiretaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who controls authorizations for wiretapping by federal authorities, says 38 taps are in operation today.

The new attorney general said Sunday that he considers wiretapping justified only in cases of "national security where there is a direct threat to the security of this nation."

Other uses would be "incompatible with what we want for this country," he said.

"It is my judgment today that there are 38 wiretaps," Clark said. "There are no electronic surveillances otherwise, and that all of these are in the national security area."

SYNOPSIS OF CONTROL

Clark's synopsis of the control his department exercises over government wiretapping was made on CBS' "Face the Nation."

An agency that wants to listen in on a telephone wire must submit a request to him, Clark said. Permission, if granted, is in writing.

Asked for comment about admitted government involvement in a number of cases of wiretapping not related to national security during Robert F. Kennedy's tenure as attorney general, Clark said, "I am not in the business of blaming anybody."

Kennedy, now a senator from New York, and J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, have each accused the other of being responsible for these disputed uses of wiretapping.

STANDS BY REPORT

Clark was also asked to comment on the Warren Commission's finding that Lee Harvey Oswald, identified as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy, acted alone.

"Until there is evidence to the contrary," Clark said, "I will stand with the Warren commission."

The findings of the commission are currently being challenged by New Orleans Dist. Atty. James Garrison.

Insisting there was a conspiracy, Garrison has made one arrest and promised more. But he has refused to share any new evidence he has with the government.

NO MOVE

"I find it curious and I find it disturbing and I find it saddening," Clark said when asked about the district attorney's go-it-alone policy.

Clark said his department has made no move to investigate the allegations of misconduct against Adam Clayton Powell by the House of Representatives. The House voted to exclude Powell from his seat after a select committee reported finding evidence that he had misused government funds.

Clark said the Justice Department would rather stay out of the Powell case until Congress has finished with it.

Wild Weather Across Nation

Hail, Thunderstorms, Snow, Record Heat

By the Associated Press

Hail the size of baseballs, thunderstorms and isolated tornadoes poured from a grab bag of wild weather that has unleashed blowing salt in Utah today and record-breaking heat in the South.

The hail pounded an area 15 miles northwest of Evansville, Ind., Sunday. Hail the size of golf balls hit Norman, Okla., early today and slammed into Ashita, about 40 miles southwest of Oklahoma City, late Sunday night.

Violent thunderstorms, some of which spawned tornadoes ripped through a broad belt from Oklahoma to South Carolina.

Tornadoes were reported near Holly Hill, and Timmonsville, S.C., and in an area 3 miles northeast of Evansville, Ind. Several tobacco barns were demolished near Timmonsville, but no injuries were reported.

More than 80 families fled from their homes Sunday night as the Ohio River flooded southern Indiana floodwaters in Clark and Floyd Counties. The floods calmed the worst in three years, forced police to close parts of four state highways.

Temperatures soared throughout the South Sunday. In Georgia, records for the day were set at Savannah with 90, Macon with 88 and Atlanta with 87. Birmingham, Ala., had a record 87 reading. Temperatures soared to 97 at Presidio, Tex., and 96 at Wichita Falls and Carroll Air Force Base near Fort Worth.

Heavy snow fell in sections of western mountains in a continuing late winter storm. Travelers were warned of hazardous driving conditions as snow clogged roads from the Sierra Nevada in California northeastward across most of Nevada and southern Idaho.

Clouds of salt and sand from the Great Salt Lake desert blew into Utah's major cities Sunday for the third straight day. The winds overturned a boat on Lake Powell on the Utah-Arizona border and three persons drowned.

Eleven traffic deaths in Southern California since the beginning of the weekend were blamed on rain-slick streets. More than an inch of rain fell in downtown Los Angeles. Up to a foot of snow fell in the mountains.

A small private plane crashed into a fog-shrouded mountain-side near Los Angeles Sunday, killing the two occupants.

Gunshot Kills Detroit Boy, 3

DETROIT (UPI) — A visit to grandmother's house ended tragically for a 3-year-old boy yesterday when he died of a gunshot wound suffered while playing with an unregistered gun his grandmother had bought for protection.

The grandmother, Mrs. Maxine Goodwin, 38, told police she was awakened early yesterday by the shot and found her grandson, Thomas Anthony Davis, holding an automatic pistol and bleeding from a wound in his stomach.

She said the boy's mother, Mrs. Lucette Davis of Detroit, had left the boy at her home for the night.

Mrs. Goodwin said she bought the gun a few weeks ago in Toledo, Ohio, but had not registered it.

"My house was broken into twice last year," she said. "I was very scared."

Mrs. Goodwin said her daughter has one child younger than Thomas.

Gls Take a Wild Ride

By TOM TIEDE
AN KHE, Vietnam (NEA) — Air transport flight 632 pulled away from the Pleiku airfield with a grinding, gravity-busting roar that sent its passengers straining sideways against their seat belts on the long benches. As the giant aircraft — an Air Force C130 — gained altitude, its wheels were folded amidship and its wing flaps were retracted noisily. The plane leveled off. It was mid-afternoon. Flying weather was rotten. The passengers, military personnel and a few civilians, adjusted themselves on the nylon-webbed benches. They sat shoulder to shoulder and knee to knee. Some closed their eyes. Others began to read. The lift-off, as always with a C130, was an alarming experience. Gears echoed as if the hull was cracking. Hissing sounds seemed to indicate the gas tank was leaking. Air vapor seeped around like smoke. The veteran travelers knew it was all routine, that C130s successfully take off thousands of times daily, that they successfully land over 5,000 passengers daily and that they hardly ever crash. But fingers crossed anyway. One never knows, especially in rotten weather. The ship had been airborne about five minutes when the first bump rocked its silver shell. Turbulence, of course. Nothing to worry about. But the passengers began to glance about. COMPLAINT ABOUT WINDOWS The immediate complaint, from the straphangers' point of view, was the plane's lack of windows, or rather the position of what windows it had. They were small portholes located three feet above the tallest head. Hence, all passengers were flying virtually blind. Buffeting began to increase as the plane cut through the heavily clouded sky. Dipping motions caught several stomachs unaware. Burp bags were distributed hastily . . . but, in some cases, tardily. The passengers, by then, were nervous. The ship was rolling and the wings seemed to wobble. Men on the benches tightened their grips. SOME JESTS Some of the people began to mumble among themselves. Others stared ahead, stone-faced. One passenger, an Army major, chuckled out loud. He elbowed the fellows on his flanks and made light jests. "God, what a ride," he said. Somebody nodded dizzily. "Wonder where we are," he chuckled. PUZZLED LOOK The others looked puzzled. "You know . . . if we crash."

The airplane continued to snort, entirely alone. Then, suddenly, the airplane swerved sharply downward and picked up airspeed. A couple of riders gasped. Only the major continued to smile. People began putting loose items underneath their seats. And still the plane pitched down, its turbo engines growling loudly. PILOT'S VOICE Then a static rustle introduced the voice of the pilot over the intercom system. He sounded calm but firmly authoritative. He wasted no words. He asked for attention in the cargo area. "Fasten seat belts," he said. Not, "please fasten." Just, "fasten."

"Oh, oh!" the major laughed. ROCKING CONTINUES The plane continued to rock wildly. The portholes were dark with rainclouds. It seemed as if the ship would lean left one moment, right the next. More burp bags were opened. It lasted 10 full minutes. The passengers became visibly shaken. Heads twisted in all directions looking for indications. The ship creaked and groaned and got lower and lower. Finally, there was a sharp jolt . . . then another one . . . and several mere which blended together into a continuous roll along the An Khe airstrip. The passengers sighed in unison. They were safely landed. As everybody unstrapped, they did so quietly. Only the Army major was active. He smirked and whistled and made cracks. "Just routine," he said boldly. He was the first off the plane, the major. His ashen face was wet with perspiration. And his trembling legs almost failed him as he hurried away into the rain.

$750 Is Taken in Break-In

At least $750 was taken early today in the second break-in within a week at the Big Boy Drive-In at 2490 Dixie, Waterford Township.

The thieves entered the restaurant through a window and took a bag of money from a cash cabinet.

Cabinets were ransacked, papers and towels strewn over the floor, a glass container broken and paint thinner spilled in the break-in, according to township police. Burglars escaped with $136 in a break-in at the restaurant Wednesday.

Picnic Planned by Legion Post

American Legion Chief Pontiac Post No. 337 has begun plans for its fourth annual Children's Day picnic June 17 at the post ground on Oakland Lake.

A committee headed by William Tunningley, post commander, has been formed to organize the event. Billie Coyle of 5100 Oak Park, Independence Township, and Garland Baldwin of 7778 Gainsborough, Orion Township, are also members.

Fire Damages Home in City

A fire yesterday in a two-story frame house at 241 W. Wilson caused an estimated $1,500 damage and took city firemen nearly an hour to extinguish.

Two engines and an aerial truck commanded by Chief Charles Marion responded to the alarm at about 3:40 p.m.

Fire officials said some $1,000 of the damage was to the building, the rest to contents. Cause of the blaze was improper fusing, they said.

A botanist, Dr. John M. Kingsbury of Cornell University, has pointed out that plants were the leading cause of poisoning in young children, ranking above poisons and waxes and tranquilizers.

Dr. Barton is the author of three books and more than 90 articles on hospital administration, psychiatry and mental hygiene, occupational therapy and rehabilitation.

No matter what price car you are planning to buy, you owe it to yourself to consider Cadillac. First, there is the great new 1967 Cadillac. Noticeably more agile in its handling, smoother and quieter in its operation, more luxurious in its appointments . . . it is by far the finest Cadillac in history. However, if a new Cadillac is presently not feasible, your authorized dealer now has a wide selection of previously owned Cadillacs at just about any price you wish to pay. And that price will buy more luxury, distinction and motoring pleasure than a similarly priced car of lesser stature. For example, both the 1965 and 1964 models shown provide you with a big 340-horsepower V-8 engine . . . Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission . . . power brakes and steering . . . cornering lights . . . and many other conveniences. So when you think of your next car—think of Cadillac. New or previously owned, in whatever price range you choose, Cadillac is sure to reward you with unsurpassed motoring enjoyment.
