Highway Building Plan Clears Another Hurdle

Motor Hurled From Car

TWO DIE IN CRASH — Two young men were killed early today when their car rammed a pole near Cranston, R. I. The impetus of the car at the moment of the crash threw the motor some distance ahead of the wreckage (shown in foreground). The men were identified as Donald Evans, 23, and James Kelley, 24, both of Cranston.

Irish Premier Gives Ike Bowl of Shamrocks

WASHINGTON (INS) — Irish Prime Minister John A. Costello called at the White House today with a St. Patrick's Day gift for President Eisenhower — a silver bowl of shamrocks.

The shamrocks were brought from Ireland by the prime minister, who is paying a four-day state visit to the United States.

Expressing his thanks for the gift, Mr. Eisenhower told Costello: "I'm leaving for the farm this morning—I am going to take them up to Mrs. Eisenhower."

The President is motoring to Gettysburg, Pa., for a long weekend at his farm. He plans to return to Washington late Sunday.

From the White House, Costello goes to the National Archives and the Library of Congress where he will present five letters written by an Irishman who, though serving with the British forces, favored the American cause during the Revolutionary War. After a visit to the Supreme Court, he will have lunch at the Capitol with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Fatigued Senate Meets Today on Farm Bill

Expect Session to Bring Passage of Hot Election Year Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fatigued but still full of fight, the Senate meets today for a session which leaders said should bring passage of the politically hot election-year farm bill.

Both Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California urged senators to stay nearby, ready to vote and complete action.

A 12-hour session yesterday reshaped several sections of the omnibus bill but still left a thick stack of proposed amendments undecided.

Both Sen. Ellender (D-La), floor manager for the bill, and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), who usually speaks for the administration on it, said they expect to wind up action sometime tonight.

The highly controversial measure—already containing features the administration opposes and others it did not ask—then moves to the House, which voted last year for a two-year restoration of mandatory rigid supports on basic crops. The Senate voted instead, by close margins, to stick with President Eisenhower's system of flexible and lower supports.

Eisenhower lost a round yesterday, however, as the Senate voted 45-44 to retain a "dual parity" system for determining the price support levels of wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and other crops eligible for the price props.

Under "dual parity," farmers can use the higher of old or new systems for computing a fair exchange value on their crops. Converted from a few cents a bushel or pound onto existing price supports, the differences could mean hundreds of millions of dollars on crops this campaign year.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture who has opposed high-level supports, said "dual parity could cost up to a billion dollars in all."

Other senators thought it might mean between 300 to 400 million dollars more to farmers or in government farm costs.

If the final farm bill includes this, Anderson said, 'I think the President will be inclined not to sign it."

From Ike to Local Likeness

DIRECT FROM IKE — Pontiac realtor Floyd Kent (right) of 24 W. Lawrence St., presents an autographed picture of President Eisenhower to Pontiac's answer to Ike, Hector J. Chambers, of 388 S. Anderson St. Eisenhower sent the picture to Chambers after Rep. George Dondero received a clipping from The Press from Kent showing the resemblance of the pair. Dondero sent the story on to the White House and the picture resulted.

House Roads Group Okays Fund Measure

Government Authorized to Spend Billions, States to Aid in Proposal

WASHINGTON (INS)—The biggest road-building plan ever envisioned was over another major hurdle today in Congress.

The House Roads subcommittee wound up work on legislation authorizing the federal government to spend 37½ billion dollars over the next 13 years on building up the nation's highways—providing states put up 13½ billion over the same period.

If and when approved by the House and Senate, work will start on a 40,000-mile superhighway system to cross all 48 states and link the capital cities of 42 of them.

In addition, thousands of miles of primary, secondary and urban roads would be built or improved to handle the traffic of tomorrow.

The superhighway system would cost 27 billion dollars, with the federal government paying 90 per cent of the cost. The balance of the highway program would cost up to 23 billions, with the government matching whatever states can raise on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The legislation also authorizes spending about one billion dollars over the period on maintaining roads on federal property.

Next Wednesday, the subcommittee meets to incorporate a 13 billion, 700 million dollar tax increase proposal into the legislation. Then the full Public Works Committee must approve the package bill before it is sent to the House floor for action. A House vote before Congress recesses for the Easter holiday is considered unlikely.

The tax proposal, already approved by the House Ways and Means Committee, calls for increases in rates on gasoline, diesel fuel, tires, trucks and buses, for a 16-year period.

Together with revenue from the present rates on these items, the tax proposal would pay the federal government's share in the cost of the program.

An amendment written into the bill by the subcommittee yesterday would allow federal funds to pay up to 50 per cent of the cost of relocating telephone and power lines in construction of superhighways.

British Discipline Cypriots for Nine Nicosia Murders

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Gov. Sir John Harding today ordered 10 families uprooted and 20 business establishments closed as collective punishment for Nicosia murders.

Nine British servicemen have been killed in the heart of Nicosia—all by shots in the back—in a terrorist campaign for union of this British colony with Greece.

Nine others have been slain elsewhere on this East Mediterranean island since the campaign was launched last August.

Martin Clements, the British commissioner for Nicosia, announced Harding's order at a dramatic outdoor court where 75 residents were compulsorily assembled.

A crackdown came also at the Cypriot port of Limassol. British troops isolated the town with a curfew.

British officials said the port 38 miles southwest of Nicosia "has always been a bad trouble spot" and that terrorist incidents had increased there.

Authorities launched an intensive search of the city for fugitive terrorists.

The village of Cato Zodhi, near Paphos, also was put under a strict curfew after a stone-throwing incident.

Communist leaders of the biggest labor union called for an end to the general strike protesting the deportation of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the island's movement for union with Greece. But Greek shopkeepers, laborers and clerks so far ignored the union appeal and continued their shutdown, now in its fifth day. Gasoline and fuel oil shortages were reported from some sections of the island.

The spontaneous work stoppage has paralyzed most business activity on the island since Monday and halted construction work at big British military projects.

Mother, 2 Girls Dead in Blaze

Police Theorize Three Were Shot Before Fire Razed Macomb Home

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A mother and two young daughters were found dead today after an early morning fire swept through their 5-room frame home in Macomb County. Police theorized they had been shot before the blaze destroyed the home.

The victims were Mrs. Julia Vencel, 37, and her daughters, Nancy, 12, and Christine, 3. The husband, Steve, 42, arrived home about 15 minutes after the fire was discovered by neighbors. He was burned about the hands as he tried to enter the flaming house.

Sheriff Harley Ensign of Macomb County said: "There is no question in my mind that they were shot by someone."

Searching through the debris near the charred bed where the three victims were found, officers found a .45 caliber revolver owned by Vencel. Four shells had been fired and a fifth exploded by the fire. Authorities ordered an examination of the bodies to determine if they had been shot.

The home was located in Chesterfield Township, about five miles northeast of Mount Clemens.

Vencel is employed on the night shift at the Chrysler Corp. Jet Engine Plant in Sterling Township, about 10 miles from his home. He told police he owned the revolver and another smaller revolver, a rifle and a shotgun. He said he may have left shells in the chamber.

The mother and Christine usually slept in one bedroom and the older child in another. But firemen said all three were in Mrs. Vencel's bed.

Firement found the bullet holes and two bullets and blood on the mattress as they carried out debris.

Another daughter, Judith, 17, was away at Porth Huron Junior College.

Senate Unit OKs Turnpike Funds

$150,000 Approved by Appropriation Body for Operating Expenses

LANSING (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee okay of $150,000 for operating expenses held out some hope today for the Michigan Turnpike Authority to stay in business.

But the bill emerged from committee late Thursday with the bare six votes required for approval, casting doubt on its prospects for safely completing the legislative route.

There has been considerable resistance in the current legislative session to extending any form of help the floundering turnpike agency which has yet to sell a bond or build a mile of road and is nearly broke.

A bill to extend its powers was abandoned several weeks ago by its sponsors. A proposed constitutional amendment to let the people vote on pledging the state's credit on 300 million dollars in turnpike bonds is still alive but has yet to hurdle the barrier of Judicial Committee approval.

Some legislative observers saw in the legislative appropriations committee action a friendly gesture toward George Higgins of Ferndale, turnpike authority chairman and former state senator, who has announced his Republican candidacy for Congress.

City Eisenhower Double Gets Photo of President

There is an extremely proud man riding the Grand Trunk run between Pontiac and Detroit today.

His name is Hector J. Chambers, of 388 S. Anderson St. Don't be surprised if he insists on showing you an autographed picture of President Eisenhower. It's no hoax.

Chambers, 52, a brakeman on this railroad run, last night received the "greatest honor of his life" when Pontiac realtor Floyd Kent presented him with this picture sent directly from the White House.

A chain of events starting with a Pontiac Press clipping of Feb. 27 resulted in the picture. Kent sent the story explaining the resemblance between Chambers and the President to Rep. George A. Dondero in Washington.

Dondero in turn forwarded the Press story to the White House, and back came the autographed picture to Dondero to deliver to Chambers in Pontiac.

"It is without a doubt the greatest honor I have ever received," Chambers said last night upon receiving the photograph. "I will treasure this forever and will be very proud to show this to my children.

Chambers, a Canadian, has not had the opportunity to vote for his double since his citizenship papers have not arrived. He added he thought Ike had a good chance to win a second term and that he would vote for him.

Kent reminded him it was a great honor to receive a personal photograph of the first man he intended to vote for.

"I still continue to get questions thrown at me about my resemblance to Ike," Chambers said. "They were thrown at me aplenty on the day Ike said he would seek another term."

No Federal Aid for City Hospital

State Council Vetoes Government Grant for Building Addition

A request for federal aid to help in the construction of the $3,000,000 addition to Pontiac General Hospital, has been turned down by state officials.

At their monthly meeting last night, the hospital Board of Trustees heard Director Miss Lauretta Paul make the announcement.

She said a state hospital construction council recommended to the state hospital survey and construction department that assistance for expansion not be granted.

This was based on the fact that the council did not believe "the priority of the Pontiac Hospital Service Area high enough to receive a grant for assistance."

A four-member group from the hospital appeared last month before Director Jordan J. Popkin and the council to present their request for aid.

The Lansing council also ruled that they believed there was not sufficient justification for a revision of a state plan which could include Pontiac in the program.

Chairman of the trustee board William P. Babcock did not say where the hospital hoped to get the necessary money now that federal aid has been rejected.

Since the voters approved the issuance of $3,000,000 worth of general obligation bonds Nov. 2, 1954, the cost of building the wing has boosted the total above the original estimate.

The bond issue Tuesday night was reduced to $2,900,000 since the retirement date of $100,000 worth of the bonds will have been reached April 1, thus making these bonds void.

City Manager W. K. Willman explained that $105,000 set aside in the 1955 city budget would compensate in the bond act reduction.

Approve Boost in Hospital Rates

Intend Higher Charges to Cut $110,000 Deficit in Operation

Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees last night approved a rate increase for services at the hospital to bolster deficits that have resulted from previous rates.

Based on the new rates, which take effect today, it was estimated that an excess over the 1955 income of $152,500 could have resulted if they had been applied to the last year's services.

Hospital Director Miss Lauretta Paul reported that considering an increase in salaries which totaled approximately $151,000, income produced by the old rates charged for services resulted in a deficit of $110,000 last year.

With this in mind, the finance committee decided that some provision should be made in the proposed 1956 budget for "unusual expenses" in connection with operation because of the future building program.

Some of the major rate increases are: Ward room from $15 to $16; semi-private room rates from $17 to $18; and private room rates from $10-$22 to $20-$23.

Delivery room service will be hiked from $22.50 to $25 while nursery rates were increased $1 in both "well baby" and premature cases.

The increases in room service is expected to add approximately $80,000 while emergency service will boost income by $20,000.

The Board of Trustees got their first look at the proposed 1956 budget also last night. It will be studied for one month and expected to be accepted at their next meeting April 19.

Dye for St. Patrick's Day

27 Wearing Green—on Top

"The wearin' o' the green" won't be taken lightly tomorrow at St. Williams School, Walled Lake.

The entire eighth grade will be green to the roots of the hair.

Under the leadership of 13-year-old Brigid Moon, whose grandparents migrated from th' Ould Sod of Dublin, the 27 amateur Irishmen dyed their hair with a vegetable food coloring yesterday to honor Saint Patrick, driver of the snakes from the Emerald Isle.

With manly modesty, the boys in the class settled for a light tinting job on top and sides. But they manufactured green mustaches, and tinted their eyebrows too.

Brigid said today the class has a special reason for the honoring of the Saint—tomorrow is principal Sister Mary Patrice's feast day.

"We'll wash it out tomorrow night," Brigid said.

Malenkov Gets Look at England

Former Soviet Premier Joins London Throngs While Viewing City

LONDON (AP) — Former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov, smiling and gay, joined Londoners' morning rush hour today for his first real look at the teeming British capital.

From the Soviet Embassy he was driven through jam - packed streets past Hyde Park and Marble Arch to Oxford Street, London's busiest shopping area. He even made a slight detour past the U.S. Embassy in Grosvenor Square.

Malenkov, now Soviet minister of power stations, ended up at the offices of the Central Electricity Authority. They are hosts for the three-week tour of British power installations by Malenkov and his party of Soviet power experts.

Office girls and early shoppers clustered round as Malenkov stepped from his car with a broad smile across his sallow, pudgy face.

The Russians themselves broke down the security curtain Scotland Yard threw around Malenkov on his arrival yesterday to prevent anti-Communist demonstrations against him. Before the sightseeing started, a Russian official called photographers into the embassy grounds in Kensington's "Millionaires' Row." Malenkov, wearing a lightweight grey overcoat, posed cheerful for a 10-minute picture session.

Then the Russian press attache, normally an uncommunicative person, handed round signed pictures of all Malenkov's 14-man delegation so newsmen could recognize them easily.

Annexation Issue Discussed Today

In an attempt to summarize the developments at Wednesday evening's meeting in Waterford Township on annexation, The Press provides you with a resume today on the editorial page.

This is a big and important question. No one is seeking to solve it over night. There are definite advantages and definite disadvantages both ways.

Which is the better?

Can the two agree?

Perhaps they can come to a common conclusion and perhaps they will pleasantly agree to disagree.

Keep posted.

There's a Ton of Steel Around You . . . Be Careful

Horror of Crash Gives Young Driver Safety Lesson

(EDITOR'S NOTE: What does a driver think about when his car goes out of control, in the few moments before a crash? What are his reactions immediately after? And in the days that follow?

Bill Fulton, Farmington High School student, survived a crash which might have been more serious. In account of his experience written for the school paper, the Blue and White, is a timely warning to all drivers. It is reprinted below.)

By BILL FULTON

Holy cow, what happened to him? Look at those black eyes! Looks to me like he tangled with a meat grinder. Those remarks may have been funny to the onlookers, but they didn't appeal to me at all.

To me an accident was always regarded as something that could never happen to me. They always happen to someone else. Well, . . . I was very wrong.

I wasn't driving very fast, maybe 30-35 miles-per-hour, east of Orchard Lake. About 200 yards beyond the intersection I hit a deep, slushfilled hole and slush and water flew up, covering the windshield and cutting off all vision.

I wasn't worried then, even; I slowed down and turned on the wipers. No results! Apparently the slush had frozen. I began to stop, but something was wrong; I wasn't stopping. The car was swaying from side to side crazily and I knew I was on ice.

Suddenly headlights glimmered on my side of the road, or was I on theirs?

I spun the wheel to the right and the car, still skidding, headed for the right side of the road. The front wheels caught on the shoulder and the car, completely out of control now, went back to the other side of the road toward the ever-nearing headlights.

Even now in supreme self-confidence I wasn't worried. I spun the wheel to the right and this time I held it right and headed for the ditch, which I thought was about two feet deep.

The car plunged crazily downward and suddenly with a crunching and tearing of steel and glass it rammed the far side of the ditch and bounced forward.

An irresistible force threw me forward and my head hit something very hard. There was a flash and an intense searing pain and then blackness. I couldn't have been unconscious more than a second. The car's nose was pointed skyward. I knew I was in the ditch with the front end of the car on Haynes. I drew a deep breath and thanked a very close friend that I was still alive.

Then something wet and salty ran down my nose and in a steady stream over my mouth, down my chin and, stickily, down my neck.

My first thought was water, but how did water get in the car? I was bleeding, and bad.

In absolute blind, unreasoning terror I forced open the right door and squeezed out. I couldn't see; I was blind! Then for a second reason returned; I cleaned my eyes of blood and looked around.

An oncoming motorist, Charles Redwood, stopped. In my panic I crawled up the bank and ran for his car. I tried to tell him where to take me once I was in the car, but I didn't know where I lived. Then I remembered, and he turned around and headed me for home.

There is no longer ride to safety, no greater terror, no more hopeless feeling than that of a person who is convinced he is

Group Outlines Needs of Area

Advisory Council Plans Four Study Projects of Local Necessities

Some 150 members of the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council met last night at the City Hall to outline 10 study projects the group considered most vital for the Pontiac area.

Study committees will be appointed to study the first four of these projects which were listed in their order of importance.

The 10 projects are: 1—Civic Auditorium, 2—Recreation, 3—Long range overall study of juvenile needs and facilities, 4—Area water supply, 5 — Civic pride.

Other were: 6 — Need for a junior college, 7—Need for a girl's club, 8—Need for a public restroom downtown, 9—Annexation, 10—The coming centennial of Pontiac.

The council also advised a study committee on the rehabilitation and employment of physically handicapped to continue their studies of facilities available in this area for an estimated 500 handicapped.

They were instructed to investigate the possibility of having a branch of Goodwill Industries established here.

No report was presented on the newly-created leisure time study committee at last night's meeting.

Dulles, Chiang Confer Today

Talk on Joint Defense of Nationalist China Against Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek conferred here today on joint defense of Nationalist China against Communist aggression.

Continuing his Far Eastern tour, Dulles arrived from Manila and soon after was driven to the generalissimo's home in the suburbs of Taipei. The two leaders talked there for more than an an hour.

Later Dulles and his party returned for a formal dinner given for them by Chiang and his wife.

Dulles in an airport statement on his arrival described this meeting with the Nationalist President as another consultative one provided for in the mutual defense treaty between their two governments. The treaty is concerned mainly with American protection of Formosa.

Chiang was assumed to have urged that the United States give an open commitment to protect the Nationalist-held offshore islands of Quemoy and the Matsus. There was no indication, however, that this plea had scored with Dulles.

Hear Newspaper Men on Postal Rate Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four newspaper men were called in today to talk about postal rates before the House Post Office Committee.

The Post Office Department has asked for increased rates to put itself on a more nearly self-sustaining basis.

On today's list of scheduled witnesses were Michael A. Gorman, editor of the Flint, Mich., Journal and a member of the board of directors of the Associated Press; John W. Fitzgerald, editor of the Pontiac, Mich., Press; Easton King, publisher of the Chronicle Star at Pascagoula, Miss., and James Free, Washington representative of the Birmingham, Ala., News.

The post office department wants to increase rates on first class and air mail by one cent an ounce and on second and third class mail by 30 per cent. Second class mail is primarily magazines and newspapers; third class, advertising matter.

DESTINED TO BE "PIONEER" — The first store in a chain of "Food Town" markets is this modern store located at 1200 Baldwin Ave. Formerly known as Adler's Supermarket, the establishment is twice as big as its predecessor, with a total of 7,000 feet of floor space. Interior innovations and services will be among the most modern in the region.

All Sullivans Invited Aboard 'The Sullivans'

The O'Sullivans will be welcome too.

The open house is set for tomorrow—St. Patrick's Day—and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

The destroyer, lying at a Hudson River pier, was named for the four Sullivan brothers of Waterloo, Iowa, who died in the battle of Guadalcanal.

The nation's top St. Patrick's Day event — the Fifth Avenue parade—starts at noon tomorrow. John Joseph Sheehan, chairman of the parade for the past 29 years, said he expects more than 120,000 marchers.

Today's session was the first held by the Bundesrat in divided Berlin. The members came here from Bonn for a "symbolic" one-day meeting. Solons Pushing 4-Year Terms

Governor, Key Officials Involved in Proposal Before Judiciary Unit

LANSING (AP)—A long slumbering proposal to elect Michigan governors and other key officials for four years instead of two was finally at action stage in the Senate today.

The resolution, involving a constitutional amendment, was reported to the floor Thursday by the Judiciary Committee which had held it since Jan. 31.

If approved by a two-thirds majority in both Senate and House, the four year term proposition would go on the November election ballot for acceptance or rejection by the people.

Under the proposal, members of the Senate and House would be elected to four year terms in 1958, in addition to these executive department officers:

Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor general, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction and state treasurer.

Major county offices also would be filled for four years, including those of sheriff, prosecuting attorney, county clerk, county treasurer and register of deeds.

The four year term idea has been broached before and beaten. This time it is being pushed by Sens. Creighton R. Coleman of Battle Creek, Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, Frank Andrews of Hillman, Clarence C. Graebner of Saginaw, Lynn O. Francis of Midland and Bert J. Storey of Belding, all Republicans.

Teacher's Car Hits Slowing Schoolbus

A Troy teacher's car rammed the back of a half-loaded school bus this morning after skidding on icy pavement. Her 16-month-old son was injured.

Mrs. Barbara Lee Harrison, 27, of Clawson, told Troy Police Chief Dave Grattop she started skidding when the bus slowed for a left turn at Livernois and 16 Mile roads.

Her baby, Stephen, went to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where officials plan X-rays of his lacerated nose.

None of the 15 children in the bus, driven by John Reynolds, 35, of Rochester, were injured.

Ohio Teenage Rapist Dies in Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bernard Schreiber, 19, last night became the 299th victim of Ohio penitentiary's electric chair. The frail, pale-looking youth was executed for the rape-slaying of a 17-year-old Toledo girl.

Schreiber was the 10th teenager executed for murder in Ohio since 1897.

First 'Food Town' Market Readied

The first "Food Town" in what is destined to become a chain of northside super markets readied itself this week for a grand opening.

The event will signal the passing of a familiar name because with the opening "Adler's" will disappear from the store's front, although the 1200 Baldwin Ave. address and the management will be the same as it was when it was established 12 years ago.

Customers who visit the establishment after extensive remodeling is completed will find twice as much floor space and will be served by some of the most up-to-date features in the grocery business.

Aisles will be wider, merchandise more varied and shopping conveniences more widely distributed, according to owner Edwin Adler.

Fluorescent lighting will illuminate an interior which will include items used in the nursery, cosmetic and drug supplies, a large fresh fruit and vegetable department, household equipment, frozen foods and meats, besides a large offering of staples and canned foods.

The latter department will be backed up by a processing room in which Food Town personnel will cut and trim meat in conditions which Adler describes as the "ultimate" in refrigeration and sanitation.

The store's tile-floored interior is air conditioned and will be equipped with a high fidelity system to provide music during shopping hours.

Self service will be aided by four automatic check-out counters through which customers will pass before returning to a 100-car, paved parking lot which will be lit by floodlights at night. Entrances to the area will be located on Ann Arbor street and Columbia.

Among new features is a buying plan through which Food Town will buy food in carload lots, making possible greater savings for customers, according to Adler.

Begun in July of last year, the first phase of the remodeling program was finished early this year with the opening of a new addition. Adler says the store has undergone 16 different alteration programs since it was opened in 1944.

Despite the extent of the changes, business is being conducted as usual by the store's 22 employes. A grand opening date has not yet been set.

In explaining the change in name, Adler revealed that he intends to open several other similar stores in the north Pontiac area to keep pace with expanding population.

Asks 'Burglar' Signs Be Taken From Doors

DETROIT (AP) — Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins said today he has asked the gas and electric companies to quit hanging "welcome burglars" signs on private homes.

Piggins said meter men have been hanging "you were not at home" notices on doorknobs. The signs announce empty houses, Piggins said, and are open invitations to burglars.

The utility companies agreed to stick the notices under the door from now on.

Somehow I made the ride home and helped by Mr. Redwood walked to my front door. I was home and safe.

I quickly assured mother of my sound health and quite steadily walked back to Dad, who was watching TV. My brothers saw me first. Their horror showed quite plainly and I suddenly wondered how I looked.

My white jacket and shirt were both covered with blood, my pants and hands were spattered and my face was crimson blotched. Dad, a doctor, patched me up.

Sunday night I began to feel decidedly dizzy. Lights seemed to swim and I passed out. I remember little else until I woke up in the hospital at two o'clock Monday morning.

I suffered what is called a delayed swelling in the brain, and I awoke with a beautiful pair of shiners and a swollen face.

I'm through with pain from the accident now, physical pain, that is, but I'll never forget my terror when I discovered I was blind and my panic at being alone in the car.

Mine was just a small accident; it didn't make the papers and there was no spectacular crash. But I shall always remember that every time I speed, every time I "smart around," every time I do not pay complete attention to my driving there is a ton of steel beneath me and around me just waiting for a chance to maim or kill me.

For your sake, I hope you don't give it a chance to kill you.

Possible Breakin Try Reported to City Police

Pontiac police suspect a breakin attempt was made yesterday at a market at 290 N. Paddock St., where the owner reported the front door window was broken.

Frank Jacomino, 298 N. Paddock St. added that he did not believe the store was entered, police said.

Expansion Plans for Center Told

Hotel, Theater, Homes Planned at Northland, Official Says

A hotel, a theater, residential construction and office buildings are planned for Northland Shopping Center expansion, an official said yesterday.

The new developments would add 30 to 50 million dollars to Northland investments, shopping center vice president and general manager Horace Carpenter Jr., told the Northland Center Chamber of Commerce.

Carpenter said long - range plans may boost investment to a total $130 million in the next ten years. Additions now planned should be completed in three to five years, he said.

Carpenter emphasized he could not speak specifically on plans for the entire area, since many of the projects still are in the planning stage.

"However," he said, "we do visualize tremendous growth here and it will be something we all can be proud of."

State Probe Clears Hazel Park Primary

LANSING (AP) — Secy. of State James M. Hare said today an investigation of alleged irregularities in the Hazel Park mayorality primary had revealed no violations of election laws.

The investigation was requested by Mayor Zigmund Niparko, a candidate for re-election.

Niparko had claimed that his opponent, Louis Elias, had been favored by certain circumstances on election day.

Niparko said that the city hall was not open for the obtaining of absentee ballot the final day of registration and that campaign expenditures exceeded the legal limitation.

"After a complete investigation, during which we talked to numerous Hazel Park citizens and took sworn statements from many of them, we find no substantiation for the claim that there were violations of the election law," Hare said.

Special Education Budget Being Studied by Board

The Special Education budget for the 1956-57 school year was presented to the Oakland County Board of Education at its meeting yesterday. The proposed $1,990,000 budget is now under consideration of the board.

The budget would cover expansion of certain facilities and the hiring of 78 additional teachers throughout the county. This number would include 25 new visiting teachers, 1 new home bound teacher, 14 new speech correctionists, 2 new teachers of the blind, 2 new teachers of the deaf, 27 new teachers of mentally handicapped, and seven new teachers of the crippled.

The proposed budget figure would also include the construction of 35 classrooms.

The board went over the special education budget for the present year and anticipated the state revenues in subsidy of the Special Education programs of the county. Dr. William Emerson, county superintendent of schools said the figure they arrived at was $333,266 allowing the board to establish a balance for the year of $451,816.

The board offered employment for next year to employes of the county education board at a salary scale to be decided next month.

In other business, payment of $13,054 to the school district of Pontiac for completion of a new room being built for special education children was authorized as was the payment of $17,813 to the Berkley school district for the same purpose.

Ike Proclaims April Cancer Control Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today designated April as Cancer Control Month and urged the American people to "unite in public dedication" to programs for control of the disease.

In a proclamation, the President said the "health and welfare of our nation suffer seriously from the impact of cancer in loss of lives, distress and incapacitation of our citizens, and the lessening of our productivity in the amount of billions of dollars."

Charge Arson in Car Lot Fire

Burn Financial Records of Ritchie Sales in $500 Blaze

Arson is indicated in the fire which Tuesday night destroyed financial records of a used car lot, according to Pontiac Police.

Det. Sgt. Raymond Meggitt said so far there are no suspects in the $500 blaze which damaged the office of the Ritchie Motor Sales Company, 477 Auburn ave.

The fire evidently started in a pile of tax receipts gathered in a corner of the two-room frame building, according to Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz, who termed the destruction "definitely deliberate."

A rear casement window was found forced open, Metz said, as well as filing cabinets and desk drawers. He said the company's financial records were scattered over the floor.

The owner, H. B. Ritchie, of 378 W. Iroquois Rd. told police yesterday that he believed someone broke in through the window, but added that apparently nothing of value was stolen.

Metz said that the office oil heater evidently was not in use when the fire broke out at 10:30 p.m., and also ruled out faulty electrical equipment as a possible cause.

French Police Curfew Algiers

Measure Clamped On After Daring Terrorist Gunners Stage Raid

ALGIERS (AP) — French police clamped a midnight to 5 a.m. curfew on Algiers today after masked terrorist gunners staged a daring raid in the heart of the Algerian metropolis.

The terrorists seized a giant French garage, held off the night watchmen with guns, and then set fire to it after pouring a thousand gallons of gasoline over the floor.

The raiders made their escape as the blaze swept through the garage, located below a big French apartment house. The fire destroyed more than 100 cars.

French families in the apartment house fled when a young French soldier spotted the flames and gave the alarm.

The raid, most sensational terrorist outburst in Algiers of the 16-month-old revolt, came only a few hours after the French Parliament in Paris gave Premier Mollet's government the final go-ahead for an all-out fight to smash the rebellion.

Robert Lacoste, France's minister for Algerian affairs, was due to fly here from Paris tomorrow to begin putting the government's new emergency powers into effect.

Moslem terrorists shot down one European in the Bougie region and carried out other harrassing attacks around Bone. French troops fought a running battle with 80 rebels north of Lafayette, killing 20 of them. One French soldier was reported killed.

Reds Bring Up Lucy Issue at U.N. Confab

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union dropped the issue of Autherine Lucy's expulsion from the University of Alabama into a session today of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women.

Mrs. N. S. Spiridonova, the Soviet delegate, made a passing reference to "Miss Lucy of the United States for whom the doors of the University of Alabama have been closed because her skin happens to be black."

Mrs. Lorena Hahn of the United States, replied that the Soviet reference was "unfair."

"The Soviet Union," Mrs. Hahn added, "is scarcely in a position to point a finger of criticism at another country."

* * *

Land and home values came under discussion, with 55 objections to current assessments received during the Board of Review session which adjourned yesterday, according to Elmer Haack, city assessor.

Maple avenue's traffic noises reduce the value of adjoining residences, according to three taxpayers who talked to the two Board of Review members and Haack in the session which began Monday.

The land values had been re-evaluated in the area near the viaduct, Haack says, but the home values had not been studied previous to the board of review's session. The objectors won adjustments because of the noise.

Increased land assessments in business areas, expected by Haack to raise some objections, drew only three complainants at the session.

2 Area Women Hurt in County Crashes

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Georgina L. Hess, of Walled Lake and Mrs. Margie Mason, of Pontiac, were hurt in two accidents in the Bloomfield area at about 8:30 this morning. Both were attributed to the light snow on the roads.

At Lone Pine on Woodward avenue, Mrs. Mason, who lives at 403 Ditmar, was thrown out of her car when it and another struck each other in the south bound lane. She was treated for possible concussion at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Hess' car skidded off Maple road at Lahser in Bloomfield township, hitting a group of trees.

She suffered a lacerated jaw and left leg and was X-rayed for possible cracked ribs at Beaumont hospital. She lives at 7481 Honeysuckle, Walled Lake.

Sawed the Wrong Limb

CINCINNATI, Ohio (INS) — A tree-trimmer was killed yesterday when he fastened his safety belt to a limb, then sawed off the limb. Ralph Perkins, 21, of Sparta, Ky., fell 15 feet to a pavement, striking his head.

Pick 'Queen' on June 20

MUSKEGON (AP) — Miss Michigan will be selected June 20 in the annual contest sponsored by the Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce. Charles R. Hawkins, general chairman, said entries are accepted on the basis of the A-B-C's of a successful woman: A-bility, B-eauty and C-harm.

Some personal assessments, which generally are for machinery or merchandise, were altered.

The results of the session have not been tabulated yet, but Haack indicates he expects to be able to give the City Commission a complete total of what assessed land, homes and properties are on the tax rolls at the Monday night meeting. Next tax payment is due July 1.

Board Fires Teacher for Spanking Pupils

McCONNELSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A high school teacher in nearby Deavertown has been fired by the Deavertown Board of Education for allegedly paddling at least five of his girl students and for teaching Bible subjects contrary to state law.

* * *

A. B. Mercer, attorney for the board, said the teacher, Jack Eberle, 25, of McConnelsville, is supposed to have paddled the girls for talking in class.

Eberle is free on $500 bond pending grand jury action on a charge of assault and battery brought by the parents of Trenda Kennel, 15, one of the five girls. He has denied the charge.

* * *

Eberle, a graduate of the Bob Jones Evangelistic College in North Carolina, was an instructor in English and government. It was his first year as a teacher.

11 Living Grandparents for Young Rochester Girl

It will be a long ways off, but little Cynthia Ann Watkins will have quite a family tree to explain to her children when the time comes.

When Cynthia was born to John and Mildred Watkins of Rochester last Friday at Pontiac General Hospital, she entered the world of 11 living grandparents.

The father is 19 and the mother is 20.

Cynthia's birth marked the fifth generation on her father's side of the family tree. Her great-great-grandfather is 82-year-old Ike Cannon of Alabama.

John's father and mother are Mr. and Mrs. Belton Watkins, both 41, of Alabama. Belton's mother and father are Mr. and Mrs. Dotts Watkins. The latter Mrs. Watkins' father is the 82-year-old gentleman from Alabama.

On the new mother's side of the family are her parents, both of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. John Morren. Both her grandmother and grandfather are living. Her grandfather is Frank Murphy of Rochester.

The happy parents live at 3773 Orchard View in Rochester. He is presently unemployed but was a former sewing machine salesman in Alabama before moving to Rochester.

Handy Extinguishers

MENOMINEE (AP) — Volunteer firemen knew just what to do when they ran out of water in fighting a stubborn fire at a cheese factory in Carney, north of here. They ran hose lines to a 50,000-pound tank of whey in the plant. The whey, the watery part of the milk drain off in cheese making, put out the fire.

NAACP Chief Lauds Ike's Civil Rights Unit

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, has praised President Eisenhower's proposed bipartisan civil rights commission to study segregation.

In a telegram made public here last night, Wilkins told the President:

* * *

"Your proposal for a continuing governmental body to investigate the situation and keep an eye on developments should be helpful in accelerating compliance" with the U.S. Supreme Court school segregation decision.

Wilkins added that he was "happy to report that the majority of the 17 states which previously required public school segregation have taken some steps toward compliance."

Now It's Pink Ducks!

LANSING (AP)—Don't worry if you see a pink duck or a striped goose flying by during the next few weeks. The state conservation department advised that many ducks and geese, soon to start their annual migration, have been banded and dyed various colors as an aid to waterfowl studies.

Mayor Sympathizes, but Police Tag Him, Too

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—A group of college students complained to Mayor George Brunner at a meeting he was addressing that they often got tickets for illegal parking while attending classes.

What, they asked, could be done.

Brunner replied that it was too bad, but after all police were only doing their duty.

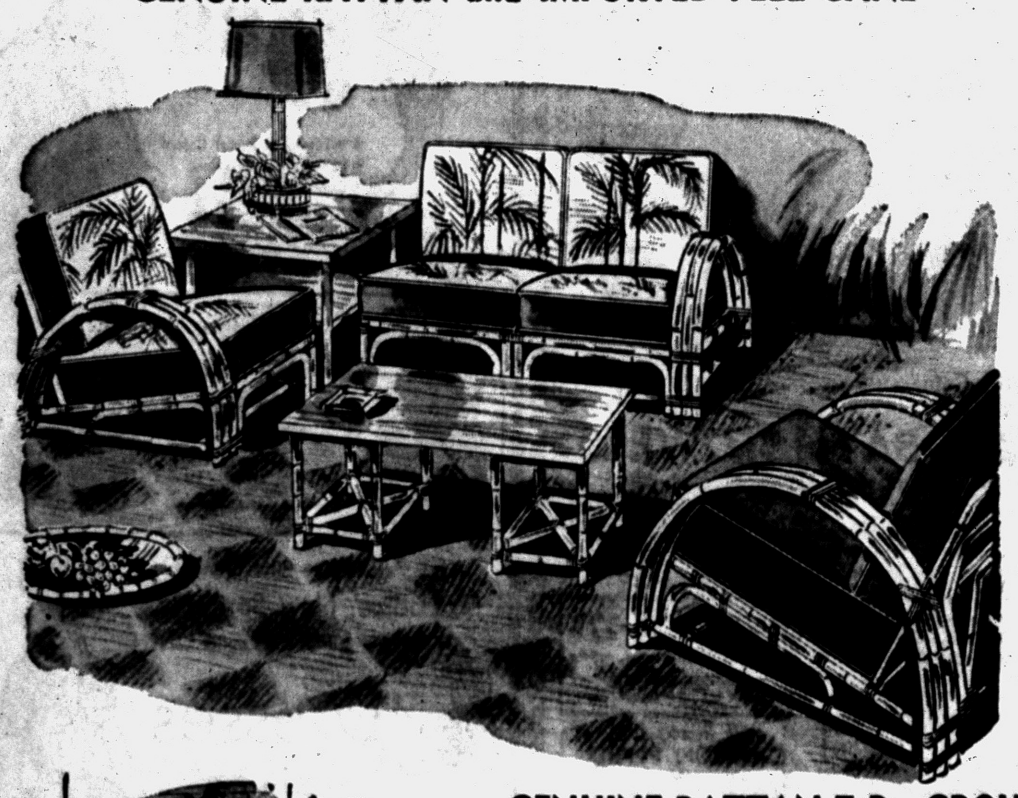

Then he left the meeting—to find his car had been tagged for parking in a restricted area.

High Fever Follies Gives Hospital $4,447

Pontiac General Hospital received a gift of $4,447.87 from the proceeds of the 1955 "High Fever Follies" staged by the hospital's Women's Auxiliary.

The group contributed the money for the purchase of new stainless steel bassinets for the hospital's nursery.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees William P. Babcock said the auxiliary donated $2,000 from the 1954 show.

Steals 5 Cans of Oil From Service Station

Five cans of motor oil, worth $2.55, were reported stolen from a gas station at 1007 Baldwin Ave., which Pontiac police said was broken into last night.

A puddle of water on the floor led police to believe someone hurled a piece of ice through the front window, which was found broken.

Expect Superior Rating

Officials of Pontiac's Company M 125 Infantry expect a "superior" rating to follow the company's annual inspection Wednesday night.

Col. Stanley Johnson, from the Inspector General's office, conducted the inspection of equipment, training and classes.

Capt. A. J. Largent of Rochester, commander of the unit, said the "superior" rating would be the company's highest award yet in federal inspections. Previous high was "high excellent."

Tire thieves, who recently have plagued new car dealers, yesterday were reported to have struck a truck dealer's lot.

Reported stripped from a new pick-up truck at 675 Oakland Ave. was one tire and wheel, valued at $45, according to the manager.

Over a dozen reports of tire thefts from dealers' lots have been made to Pontiac police since February 1.

Incorporation or Annexation?

Waterford's Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Business and Professional Women's Club staged another interesting meeting on public questions Wednesday evening.

This one concerned annexation. Both were worth while.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday evening's meeting developed many interesting facts and possibilities. John Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, outlined some of the advantages of annexation. He was in a particularly happy position, as he really represented both sides. Mr. Hirlinger lives in Waterford and his occupation is in Pontiac.

There are many reasons for annexation from both the Pontiac and Waterford viewpoints. There are many against it.

Certainly a long range program looking ahead a hundred years, would place one united community in a better position to plan and co-ordinate. There would be a definite financial saving in eliminating all duplicated governmental functions. Waterford people would become part of a community that is known from coast to coast.

On the other hand, Waterford residents may prefer incorporation on their own account. This is understandable. They may want to assert their own independence and become a city by themselves. They may have developed a community pride that is willing to pay the cost.

This often happens.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac would gain in population through annexation and hence occupy a more important position in State and National civic circles. One united community would always bulk bigger and more significant than two by themselves.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, Pontiac may look upon Waterford's financial future with a cautious and wary eye. Waterford is deficient or may become so in policemen, firemen, teachers, pavements, sidewalks, sewers and water supply, with much less resources. The assistance required may be more than Pontiac wants to grant.

★ ★ ★

The dollar problem would have to be studied by municipal and financial experts. Financing will never be as burdensome to the taxpayers in Pontiac as it will in Waterford as Pontiac's assessed valuation is eight or ten times Waterford's with only twice as many people. In the current twelve months, City Assessor W. R. Ransom estimates this City is adding sixteen million dollars which is half of Waterford's entire total.

★ ★ ★

Many citizens in Waterford feel they are pioneering a new city and they wish to see the matter through. Civic and sectional prides are big things. This is a definite factor and one Pontiac respects.

The two civic groups in Waterford have contributed a valuable service to the entire area in arranging these last two meetings. The proper answer can only be reached by a thorough study of the problems and a leisurely evaluation by both sides independently and then in unison.

Pontiac is also mindful of possible annexations along the north, east and south. One has already been proposed by territory to the south but it was rejected as it only embraced a few hundred acres. Hence it falls in the class of "wart" annexation which few cities favor, unless special circumstances prevail.

With this entire area developing so rapidly, all the communities involved should give the matter study and thought. Mr. Frank Steere, well known Waterford resident first suggested the value of research along these lines because of the water problems. Certainly no one advocates any precipitate move. There is no attempt to stampede either side into hasty action. It's a common community problem. We seek the best answer for all concerned.

Every day a person should do at least one thing he hates to do," says a psychologist. Some 98 per cent of the people do at least two things daily they hate to do. They get up in the morning, and go to bed at night.

Actually, pursuing a hobby doesn't keep a person from going nuts. It merely concentrates and isolates his nuttiness, preventing it from becoming general.

Intercontinental Epistle

David Lawrence Asks:

U. S. Has No Right to Interfere in Affairs of Britain, Especially in Cyprus Issue

WASHINGTON—Cyprus is an integral part of Great Britain. There is no more reason for the United States to interfere in the internal affairs of Great Britain than there would be for the British to interpose any objections to what is being done by this country in its policies toward the islands of Puerto Rico or Hawaii.

Yet 18 U.S. senators — 12 Democrats and 6 Republicans—have intruded in the most delicate kind of a matter of foreign policy in the Mediterranean which is difficult enough for the State Department to deal with anyhow. Now the British government and the British people are rightly indignant over such unwarranted interposition.

Not so long ago some of these same senators were denouncing a Wisconsin senator because he tried to persuade some Greek ship owners to stop smuggling strategic goods to the Communists and it was argued then that he was encroaching on the executive branch of the United States government. The resolution sponsored by the 18 senators, however, goes farther than anything Senator McCarthy ever did and endangers as well the good relations between America and Britain.

* * *

The proposed resolution in the Senate asks the United States government to say to the British government that it must give up its territory of Cyprus. The argument is that "four-fifths of the people of Cyprus are Greeks by language, culture, church, tradition and affection."

IS POPULATION CRITERION?

On that same basis, Poland might claim certain American cities because there are more Poles in our big cities than there are in Warsaw. Likewise, if population is a criterion, there are more Jews in America than in Palestine. Mere quantity of persons with a cultural or other tie to some foreign land has never been a justifiable basis for changing the legal relationship between a sovereign nation and its citizens unless, of course, such a nation voluntarily decided to relinquish control as America did in the Philippines.

The same senatorial proposal critizes Britain for "the use of force," and yet subversion inside Cyprus is notorious. What possible justification can 18 American senators have for reprimanding Britain for its use of force when it is the right of every sovereign nation to suppress rebellion within its borders? America repeatedly suppressed revolt in the Philippines in the early part of this century.

The official text of the announcement, made by the British government last week when it deported the Greek Archbishop Makarios, told of acts of violence instigated by the Archbishop. It said in part:

"While overtly and apparently in good faith conducting negotiations for a political settlement of the island's future, the Archbishop has surreptitiously encouraged and abetted the terrorists in order to improve his bargaining position in the negotiations . . ."

* * *

The British governor in Cyprus decided to deport the Archbishop "in the light not only of his overt seditious activities but also of a large volume of evidence indicating that the Archbishop has himself been deeply implicated in the campaign of terrorism . . ."

The Archbishop himself was caught in the act of dealing with subversive organizations and his official residence was used "for the temporary storage of arms and grenades."

When the Greek Archbishop was deported the press was filled with statements alleging that the American government was "shocked" at the action taken by the British and hinting that the State Department felt he was being mistreated. There is not the slightest foundation for such an impression. The U.S. Department of State expressed no protest and merely said it didn't know of the step in advance. Nor is it necessary for the British to notify the State Department whenever a British official takes security measures in a territory under British control.

Be Sure Your Children Eat Bananas That're Ripe

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

In his famous monograph on the treatment of celiac disease (otherwise known as marasmus, infantile atrophy, athrepsia, chronic intestinal indigestion and even gastro-intestinal "catarrh") Dr. Sidney V. Haas said (A.J. Dis. of Children, Oct. '24):

* * *

"Carbohydrates should be . . . avoided except as they occur in . . . fat-free dry milk, lactic acid milk, protein milk prepared with calcium caseinate, etc. There is one exception, i.e., sucrose as it occures in extremely ripe banana. This is tolerated perfectly, and herein lies the crux of the entire matter. Heretofore it has been impossible in several cases to give any carbohydrate without damage, whereas banana is not only well tolerated but rapidly changes the entire picture of the disease to one of well-being."

The quantity of banana the infant or young child consumes varies from a teaspoonful or two of mashed banana, perhaps mixed with a little of whatever liquid food the baby takes, increasing day by day until the daily banana ration reaches the maximum the baby will take, which is generally anywhere from two to a dozen bananas a day.

Dr. Haas pointed out the importance of feeding only thoroughly ripe banana, for in the green state when harvested bananas are largely starch and good to eat only when cooked. Banana sufficiently ripened to be suitable for a young infant should be entirely yellow, flecked with brown (not black bruise) spots, should peel easily, and the pulp should be quite soft. If the peel is still green at the tip, if the banana peel is not easily removed and the pulp is at all hard, the raw starch has not yet been converted into digestible sugar.

I do a little marketing nowadays, being in conference on the bowling green, but judging by the—on second thought the comparison may not be fair. After all, Tony peddled bananas on Chapel Street in Canandaigua only in the dog-days, whereas in midwinter there were no bananas within a thousand miles of the place.

* * *

Here we are in midwinter. The trees, flowers, grass 'n' everything growing like mad, the sun blazing down out of a blue sky, birds nesting and singing are just crazy, I was going to compare the big hand of well-ripened bananas Tony gave us for 10 or 12 cents with the—but, come to think of it, 10 or 12 cents in those days would be the equivalent of $1 today, and for a dollar you can buy several pounds of bananas.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Union Should Take Care of Men Looking for Work'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I think this is the greatest country in the world, but it is a maxim in the Constitution that we have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. How can that be true when we can't even have life; that is, work?

Men have walked the streets, visiting every place of business, hunting a position. One must belong to the union and have tools in order to work. The tools are all right, but how can one belong to the union without a job to pay the dues?

Bums are walking the street who don't even want to work, being cared for by the welfare but an honest man can't find a job to make his own way.

The millionaires run their plants full force, get products piled up and stored, then lay off their men and take away their bread and butter. What's more, they lay them off just before they can even draw unemployment benefits.

The union takes care of the good paying members, but they would have a lot more loyal members if they would go to bat for the little man who wants to work.

It looks to me as if the union is becoming a corporation to protect the worker. I believe this, and I am a member of the teachers' union.

Pontiac Servicemen Says Press Is Popular at Base

Just a few words to let you know that our paper is really a good paper. Even the men down here at Fort Story say so.

I am the son of Mrs. Minnie Miller of 94 State St. Since I've started getting the paper, the other men like to read it. They look at the car prices, sports and it also has a lot of current events to put on the board. The guys really like it.

So it just shows you that our paper is tops over all, not just in Pontiac. Keep up the good work.

Many Lands Have Stake in Sunny Island of Cyprus

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Cyprus, the sun-splashed island involved in a bitter quarrel among NATO allies, has been a political volcano for centuries.

* * *

The third largest island in the Mediterranean has been subjected to the rule of Egyptians, Phoenicians, Assyrians, Persians, Romans, Franks, Venetians, Turks and Britons.

Britain took over administration from the Turks in 1878 and annexed Cyprus in 1914.

Greece never has ruled the island although four-fifths of its 500,000 people are of Greek origin and demand eventual union with Greece.

* * *

Following are some of the claims and counter-claims:

Britain: We have offered the Cypriots self-government, but Cypriots under the now-exiled Archbishop Makarios refused and launched a campaign of terrorism which has killed many British soldiers.

We cannot give up the crown colony now because it is our main Mediterranean defense post—and which, incidentally, is of great importance to all North Atlantic Treaty Organization members.

ACCEPTED VALUE

Greece: The principle of self-determination is an accepted moral value among Western allies. The Cypriots have a right to a plebiscite to determine their future and therefore the issue is going to the U.N. General Assembly this fall.

Moreover, the British are falsely raising the issue of Cypriot Communists to try to justify their hold on the island.

Britain: There are also 100,000 Turks living on the island. They and the Turkish government threaten trouble if we give up the island. As for the Communist issue there are about 80,000 organized Reds on Cyprus.

If these Communists are added to the existing underground on the Greek mainland the Reds might take over all of Cyprus. After all, it did not take many Communists to seize power in Czechoslovakia, and Cyprus is far removed from the Greek mainland.

* * *

Turkey: We have a genuine fear of any Greek control of Cyprus. If the island is to be handed to another power why not us since we once ruled it?

We fear the Reds on Cyprus and we remember Greece itself twice had to be rescued from communism—once by civil war and with British help in 1944, and in 1947-49 with American aid under Gen. James Van Fleet.

CLOSE TO TURKEY

Moreover, Cyprus lies only 40 miles off the southern Turkish coast and is astride the sea lanes to our port of Iskenderun. The latter port will be one of our main supply ports in case of war since the Dardanelles route is too dangerously close to Soviet bomber bases.

* * *

Greece: If Britain is worried about keeping its military base on Cyprus, we and the Cypriots will work out a treaty leasing such a base to the British.

Turkey: We do not think such an arrangement would work out.

Britain: Neither do we. We had a treaty with Egypt and look what happened. Egypt abrogated that treaty and we withdrew from the Suez Canal Zone.

We have a treaty with Jordan, but Egyptian and other Arab nations worked up such pressure that that treaty now is in danger and Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb was fired from command of the Arab Legion in Jordan.

* * *

Cypriots: We want self-rule. We will continue to fight until we get it.

Thieves robbed a night club of four cases of liquor and police were not on hand to take any shots.

1,561 Shots of Insulin So Far

Daughter, 16, Refuses to Let Diabetes Block Her Progress in Normal Living

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the story of my 16-year-old daughter Barbara, who won a $500 scholarship prize today—the same day she took her 1,561st daily shot of insulin.

* * *

She didn't get the prize for taking the insulin; rather, you might say, she got it in spite of it.

FOURTH AWARD

She won the prize in a competitive examination — the fourth award of various kinds she has won in three years.

* * *

Naturally, her mother, her two sisters and I are proud. We are especially proud because Barbara is a diabetic.

She has jabbed herself with a needle every morning since Dec. 6, 1951, the day after we found out she was ill. She has to do it; otherwise she would die.

* * *

I'm telling her story because it occurred to her mother and me that it might be encouraging to other juvenile diabetics, and to their parents, or to any child with a handicaping illness.

TERRIBLE VERDICT

My wife and I thought the bottom had dropped out of the world that day, almost 4½ years ago, when a doctor gave us the verdict.

And I'll never forget his telling Barbara—then a child of 12—that unless scientists came up with something else, she'd probably have to stick that needle into herself every day for the rest of her life.

She took the verdict without a whimper, and she hasn't whimpered since.

* * *

We knew that, compared to some illnesses, diabetes is not a major tragedy. Still, there was the plaguing thought of that daily injection. . .the possiblity of insulin "reactions". . .

PARENTAL FEARS

We were afraid her illness might have a bad psychological effect upon her. We were afraid that the daily need for insulin, and for adhering closely to a sugar-free diet, might tend to make her feel different from her friends—perhaps leading her to retire into a shell.

* * *

How wrong we were!

After she was graduated from our parish grammar school, St. Thomas More in Arlington, Va., she entered Holy Cross Academy in Washington—an hour's bus ride (with two changes) from our house.

She became active in debating, in working for her school newspaper and in dramatics and glee club.

* * *

As a sophomore, she won a scholarship to take a summer journalism course at the Catholic University of America. Last year, she won the District of Columbia oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion. A few weeks ago, she won the poetry section of an essay contest conducted by the Washington Evening Star.

SOCIAL LIFE, TOO

Today's award—the $500 one—was for winning second honors among District of Columbia high school girls in the Betty Crocker "Home Maker of Tomorrow" examination sponsored by General Mills, Inc.

* * *

An honor student scholastically, she has a happy social life too. She loves to dance, is a good swimmer, and is not bad at tennis.

She even jokes about her "jabber"—saying she's "probably the only diabetic ever to take a hypo to a formal dance." (She carried the needle in the pocket of her mother's fur jacket one night when she planned to stay overnight at a friend's house after a school prom.)

So, that's the story of my Barbara, and I hope it may help someone with the same or a similar "handicap."

Barbara herself is going to try to help people in another way; she's planning to be a nurse.

Sausages May Set Banner Year in '56

CHICAGO (INS) — A Chicago manufacturer of sausage casings estimates that the year 1956 will be a banner year for sausage products.

Seymour Oppenheimer, reports that the high water mark was in 1945 when 2,949,000,000 pounds were produced. Figures for 1955 have not been compiled as yet, Oppenheimer said.

But he added that they may be above the record 1945 production. And 1956 — with the traditional hot dog passing the billion pound mark for the first time—probably will break all records, Oppenheimer forecast.

Americans saved more than 16 billion dollars in 1955.

Man Turns Christian —Sends Marker Back

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Road Department received a highway marker in the mail along with a letter from a man in Lamberton, Minn., saying it had been taken as a souvenir in 1942.

The letter concluded:

"Several years ago I became a Christian and my entire life has been changed. Will you accept this road marker and my apologies for having taken it?"

The department assured him all is forgiven.

Holds Thieves at Bay While Police Hunt Him

BATESBURG, S. C. (AP)—Filling station operator Chevis McGee had a long wait while he held two men at bay with a pistol when they attempted a robbery of his station.

"Tell Joe to come as quickly as possible," McGee told Police Chief Joe Rankin's house in a quick telephone call while he kept the men covered.

Thirty minutes later, the chief and other officers showed up. They had had quite a hunt—McGee forgot to say where he was.

Filled With Ancient Temples, Bridges

Writer Says Peiping Still Loveliest City in World

(Editor's Note—Lois Mitchison, British newspaper writer, took a two-month tour of Red China. This story, written for the Associated Press, was forwarded through Hong Kong.)

By LOIS MITCHISON

PEIPING (AP)—Peiping is still one of the most beautiful cities in the world.

* * *

You come in by train under great gray walls into the station. You drive to your hotel past the Gate of Heavenly Peace... the red walls of the old imperial city ... the yellow-tiled roofs and marble bridges of the imperial palace... the Five Dragon Pavilion... the Buddhist pagoda ... the Altar of Earth and the Temple of Heaven ... the Mongol round city of the Pei Hai ... the temple of Confucius ... red-pillared pavilions ... crumbling courtyards ... ancient tombs of the Ming and Ching dynasties.

* * *

You still can see the old city as it was built, box within box. First the main city walls, split by enormous gate towers. Then the red imperial walls and finally the imperial palace, the inner city once forbidden to all except the old Chinese imperial court.

Now the ancient city displays the habiliments of the newest China, tailored by Communists.

New high buildings break the old Peiping skyline. Two stark concrete hotels sit in the center of the city. Many-storied office buildings crowned with green tile roofs loom over the twin lakes and their delicate bridge of white-carved marble.

* * *

Still shrouded in scaffolding, a tower rises in front of the Tien Mien, the Gate of Heavenly Peace which opens on the Forbidden City. It blocks the famous vista from the imperial throne through the palace and city gates of Peiping. Besides the tower a giant crane broods, symbol of Red China's industrial bent.

The tower is dedicated to the new state's "labor heroes."

The Gate of Heavenly Peace, facing on Peiping's biggest square displays two enormous banners—"Long Live the People's Republic of China," and "Long Live the Union of World People!"

As you cross the stone causeway to the Temple of Heaven—most sacred building of the old Chinese empire—you face a large map of Formosa and the slogan: "Taiwan (Formosa) is Chinese land. The Chinese people must liberate Taiwan."

Other slogans flank the temple entrance.

* * *

Everywhere are banners: "Produce hard!" "Develop labor emulation!"

Another symbol lies to the north side of the Temple of Heaven. It is the city execution ground.

Mortgage Ban Removal Reported by VA Official

DETROIT (INS) — Lloyd H. Jameson, manager of the veterans administration's Detroit office, has announced the removal of a temporary mortgage ban on homes built by the Ira Hotchkiss Co. and Fidelity Construction Co.

Jameson said the firms had submitted corrected heating plants for hundreds of homes built by the two outfits in Warren Township.

New U.S. Embassy Excites British

LONDON (INS)—Behind a facade of official approval a storm is brewing in London over a new American embassy building.

* * *

Anglo-American diplomatic relations may survive, but artistic relations are sure to be strained.

The block-long modernistic embassay building to cost more than $3,000,000, was planned by the world-famous Finnish-American architect, Eero Saarinen of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., whose design won a contest sponsored by the U. S. government.

Work is expected to begin next January and it is hoped the dazzing new structure will be ready for occupancy eighteen months later.

* * *

Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich has submitted the plans for approval to the London county council, and it is a foregone conclusion that they will not be turned down.

However, many artistic Londoners regard the proposed modernistic building as a monstrosity wholly out of keeping with the existing Georgian structures on Mayfair's sedate Grosvenor Square.

Sir Gerald Kelly, former president of the Royal Academy of Arts, said that although he had not yet seen the sketches of the proposed building he hoped that the Americans "are not in this case imposing upon conquered London their idea of splendor."

"But perhaps in this old country," he added, "we still have methods of protecting ourselves from outrage."

FEELS HURT

The real spokesman for the opposition, however, is Sir Albert Richardson, present president of the Royal Academy who feels very "hurt" over the choice of design even though he does not like to stir up trouble with the United States.

Sir Albert said in an interview that he is so much an admirer of traditional American architecture that he dislikes criticising the current trend. But the fact is, he added, that the proposed embassy "puts us in the position of savages who have to have taste forced upon them."

"We're very hurt about this," he continued, "because it will give an entirely erroneous impression to our young men who will think that this represents the real America."

Sir Albert, a distinguished architect, said that 50 years ago "the whole world looked to America as the center for a revival of taste."

But, said Sir Albert, who has served as a consultant to colonial Williamsburg, "that position has been succeeded by another which places novelty above scholarly and altruistic estheticism. Today we no longer have the old respect for American architecture."

Sir Albert, a short, dark-haired intellectual, characterized American architecture as "anemic." But of the current dispute, he said with a twinkle in his eyes:

"After all, cousins who have so much in common shouldn't get mad over a difference in artistic opinion."

Here's One Bank That's Real Safe

Management Admits Customers Dissatisfied at Jackson—Prison

JACKSON (AP)—This bank has about 6,000 customers and management admits they are all "dissatisfield."

* * *

But that doesn't mean they're dissatisfied with the service. They're captive customers.

In fact, the bank at Southern Michigan Prison is providing efficient service for the inmates of the world's largest walled prison.

Seven prison employes handle 5,926 accounts. Last year the inmates spent $780,439 and received $738,851. But even though the customers spent more than they received, the bank didn't go into the red. The bank manager sees to that.

Many of the inmates have savings accounts built up over a period of years. There is a limit beyond which an inmate cannot draw from his account, especially when his sentence nears its end.

* * *

Deposits last year included $269,143 earned in wages by 3,653 inmates working in prison industries or employed in maintenance. The remainder came from different sources — private incomes, gifts from relatives, and hobbycraft earnings.

NO BOUNCERS YET

A total of 6,840 checks, representing almost a half million dollars, was entered on inmates' account cards. The bank has no trouble with bouncing checks.

* * *

"We don't let our depositors spend the money until we know the check is good," an accountant said.

What do they spend their money on?

Hobbycraft supplies last year cost the inmates $42,799. Prison officials called this a good investment. The benefit is both financial and therapeutic. A prisoner can turn three dollars worth of raw material into products worth about $15. Psychologists say the work aids rehabilitation of the prisoner.

The bank processed orders for 1,800 books, 2,400 newspaper subscriptions and 2,400 newspaper subscriptions last year.

Inmates who have sufficient funds pay for their own glasses and dentures.

* * *

Other purchases range from sports equipment to drafting sets.

In a way, the bank operates something like a department store in handling accounts.

The bank is always sure of continuing patronage. As soon as a number is assigned a new inmate an account is opened for him.

Arkansas Diamond Shakes Loyal Texans

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

DALLAS (INS) — The thing a Texan trusts most—more than his six-shooter or his long-stemmed cowgirl belle—is the sweet, brown earth he plants his hopes and his feet upon.

"I don't want to sound like an isolation," said one Dallas man, pointing just beyond his left boot, "but this land is so full of everything we need, we wouldn't ever have to import anything from no place — except heaven and Kentucky.

"We do need outside help with water and bourbon," he explained.

This unflinching faith of the Texan in his own bountiful land is the reason why many good folks in Dallas are plumb shook up today.

One of their own, a young housewife named Mrs. Arthur Parker, ventured outside the state limits in search of geological treasure.

This in itself was unpatriotic.

* * *

What's more, she found it: A 15-carat diamond lying in the foreign, undistinguished dusts of Arkansas, and believed to be the second largest diamond ever uncovered on the North American continent.

A SLUR, A HOAX

This was unforgivable, a slur against the good soil of Texas and probably, the more bitter Lone Stars believed, a hoax.

"My gracious," cried Mrs. Parker, hot as a peppercorn at the inferences, "everybody seems to think it's so odd and terrible, me finding this rock off in Arkansas.

"Why, it was perfectly innocent and proper because, you see, I'm a rock-hound. And rock-hounds keep their noses to the ground stone no matter where they go."

After explaining that a rock-hound is a collector of rough stones and showing off her stock-pile of 10,000 hurlable species in the back yard, Mrs. Parker went on to explain:

"There is a diamond 'pipe' in Murfreesboro, Ark., where all my hound friends have been going for years to pick up specimens.

* * *

"The 'pipe' is a volcanic strip of diamond that runs straight down toward the center of the earth and has never been mined.

"Well, finally I got a chance to go up and visit it and I just happened to be lucky enough to find this 15-carat chunk. It just looked like a hunk of dirty glass, but fortunately I know my rock formations, and so. . . ."

WORTH $15,000

The deceptively dirty diamond, which may have been kicked around for decades, turned out to be a perfect blue-white diamond, more than an inch long by one-quarter inch deep. It has been appraised at $15,000, unpolished and uncut.

* * *

After it is cleaned up and made ultra-respectable, Mrs. Parker will retain it as a memento of superior sleuthing o'er the soil.

Meanwhile, some Texans who scarcely had heard of Arkansas before Mrs. Parker unearthed her dainty fortune still hint darkly that she is belittling her home state, and publicizing a diamond field in one of the 47 suburbs.

To this, she responds: "A Texan simply doesn't belittle Texas. And a rock-hound would never commercialize a rock!"

HERE COMES TOMORROW — This sleek futuristic bus is scheduled to be built in Turin, Italy. The plastic bus will be powered by a gas-turbine engine and will have a cruising speed of about 125 m. p. h. Called the "Golden Dolphin," the streamlined bus will be built in two versions, with 18 and 32 seats respectively.

35 Area Recruits Entering Sixth Week of Navy Life

William Imboden, a Pontiac sailor now in his sixth week of Naval Recruit training with the civic-sponsored Pontiac-Flint-Saginaw Navy Company at Great Lakes, Ill., says in his weekly dispatch to Pontiac recruiters:

"The Company's fifth week was closed with advanced classes in fire fighting. These were held on the firefighting field, but cold weather hindered operations.

"Other classes in advanced gunnery were held. These gave the men a chance to see and operate the twin 40-millimeter anti-aircraft gun, and to learn the operations and firing of .45 calibre pistols.

"Next week the men will start their 'ship's work training,' and will be running the mess halls, ship's stores and other operations.

"Most of the men look forward to this as an interesting week, as well as a useful experience in actual ship's work.

"By now the men are all looking forward to that first 'Cinderella Liberty,' which will follow the sixth week. It's called 'Cinderella' because we're released at noon and told to be back by midnight, but it's our first chance off the post in six weeks."

Report Revised Version of Bible Understood Best

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Council of Churches said today a study has shown that the Revised Standard Version of the Bible is more readily understood by the average high school student than the King James version.

* * *

The council said that in a test of 1,358 high school students in 12 U.S. communities the young people responded more rapidly to the Revised Standard Version and seemed to have a better understanding of the texts.

The Revised Standard Version was designed, the council said, to present scriptures "in the language of today."

* * *

The study was made by the Rev. Dr. Frank W. Montgomery, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, St. Clairsville, Ohio.

Once you've said something, it's always good to be able to prove it.

Equitable has long held that the function of Living Insurance is to stress benefits for you and your family while you live – as well as for those who live on after you.

The proof of this dynamic concept is shown by the figures for 1955. During that year, Equitable disbursed $597,000,000 in benefits. But of greater importance to you is the fact that over 70% of that amount – or $422,000,000—went to living policyholders, people who didn't have to die to win. And today they lead richer lives as a result of the funds that Equitable provided for family and retirement incomes, children's education, medical, business and financial emergencies.

This is Living Insurance in action – and naturally Equitable is proud of its role in bringing more financial security to more and more Americans.

We are proud, too, of the annual statement shown below, which indicates the kind of confidence you can have in the Man from Equitable when he tells you how Living Insurance fits your life and needs.

See the Man from Equitable today.

Bob Considine Says:

Newsman Packs Adventures in New Book

NEW YORK (INS)—People . . . places . . . things . . .

Would you like to go to the University of Wisconsin, be a newspaper cub around Milwaukee, try to keep America out of World War I and nearly get lynched for it, take part in Henry Ford's peace mission, and hit 10,000 front pages?

* * *

My friend Louis Lochner, president of the Overseas Press Club of America and long-time foreign correspondent, did all these things and many more.

You can relive these moments with him in "Always the Uuexpected," a book of his reminiscences which is at once a grand adventure story, a valuable footnote to the history of two world wars and to the nervous peace that separated them, and one of those must-buy books if you're even remotely interested in newspaper work. Macmillan is the publisher.

Lochner was there when Germany produced Hitler, who was later to intern him. Lochner's friend Hugo Eckener, the Zeppelin man, provided him with the simple explanation for Nazism for which he had groped:

"I have come to the conclusion that one can best define it by saying that Nazism is a philosophy which activates every bad trait in human nature."

There are cape-shrouded episodes of getting stories out of Europe when the lights were going out, and of wars and the great and the swine they produce, and of Russians and censorship and the fierce frustration of seeing our Office of Alien Property order 30,000 copies of his book, "Goebbels' Diaries," destroyed. Fine reading, this one.

The Irish are with us in important numbers for St. Patrick's Day: Prime Minister John Costello, a team of Irish industrial and trade experts . . . and Ireland's best salesman, John Conway, consul general in New York.

The consul general has all the manner and haberdashery of any other consul general, plus something else—a consulate building packed with Irish tweeds, linens, hams and the ould sod's new secret weapon, a light-type Irish whisky.

The Irish, not the Russians, invented whisky, but for generations they made it a bit too strong for many American tastes, Scotland and Canada sold 1,000,000 cases in the U. S. last year; Ireland 15,000. But now . . .

President Gronchi's home town in Italy is Pontremoli, which has a population of 6,000. A delegation of 15 former Pontremolians called on him during his New York stay to present him with statuettes of the Statue of Liberty and the Pontremoli bell tower.

He learned to his astonishment that in New York City alone there are now 3,000 former Pontremolians.

Mayor Wagner could tell him, too, that New York state and the city have Italian-American public officials such as the lieutenant governor, tax commissioner, 23 assemblymen and six state senators, city comptroller, a borough president, two city councilmen, city treasurers and several general commissioners.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS

H. Allen Smith is putting together a book made up largely of children's writings. He is astounded by what children are committing to paper today. He sends me a sample, a one-paragraph epic that is the work of a 6-year-old boy. Here it is;

This Is a Book on Things That Are Right.

You should pet your dog when you get home from school but should not come home and slap your dog and the same with your kitten.

In 1952, 5,600,000 U.S. men drove trucks and buses.

The Cathedral Church of St Peter and St. Paul is the correct name for the national cathedral in Washington, D.C.

Latin Students Prepare Paper

To Distribute Epistolae Scholae at Schools on Monday

By VICKY MICU

Pontiac High School this week has been caught in the midst of the district and regional basketball games. PHS was the scene of Class B and C competition, and the Pontiac team traveled to Flint Wednesday to take on Port Huron for their first regional game. Last year in regional play Pontiac battled Mount Clemens in the semifinals, losing in overtime.

Juniors shared the spotlight this week with Latin students, as both are working hard on the J-hop and the Epistolae Scholae, Latin paper at PHS.

"Manhattan Mood" is the theme of the J-hop this spring, and will be held in the PHS girls' gymnasium April 21. Patricia Zielke and Alex Sekles are co-chairmen of the affair, and are working with committees and faculty adviser, Elma Waterman.

Monday the Epistolae Scholae will be sold at PHS and at the junior high schools throughout the city. This is the 33rd year of publication of the paper by Latin instructor Iama C. Hook and her Latin students. All profits will be contributed to charitable organizations.

Pat Soares and Geraldine Worthman, girls' physical education instructors, have announced student gym leaders for the semester. These girls help out in the gym classes taking care of equipment, officiating, and helping whenever they are able. This is the second semester that gym leaders are assisting in classes.

FINISH WORK

Members of the Quiver, PHS yearbook, are finishing up work on this year's annual, and are still hard at work.

This week the Tomahawk, student newspaper staff, was given a vacation from putting out the paper due to lack of printing facilities. Publication will resume next week.

* * *

A big service club which receives little recognition at PHS is the Projectionists Club, which runs movies and films for classrooms and groups. Adviser for the club, Marion Lehner, has recently instituted a new movie schedule which every week is published in the school newspaper, the Tomahawk.

* * *

In a scene from the play is (left to right) Diana Rigotti, Director Pritchett, Donna Douglas, Richard Godwin, Ronald Boyce and Darlene Woodhull.

CHECK CONTEST RULES — Students at St. Michael School go over rules of the essay contest to be sponsored by Pontiac State Hospital during Mental Health Week, April 29 through May 5. The essay is entitled "What My Visit to Pontiac State Hospital Has Meant to Me." Presenting the project to the students is the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly while Richard Arthaud (right) psychiatric social worker at the hospital, looks on. The interested students are (left to right) Janet English, Frances Hayes and Mike Clever.

Week Is Quiet at Junior Highs

Life was fairly quiet at the area's junior high schools this week.

Washington Junior High speech students are rehearsing for a one-act play to be presented on two occasions next week.

Avondale Junior High students council members elected officers this past week. New president is Tom Selhost; vice president, Irvin Gingrich; secretary, Joyce Munro and treasurer, Judy Lunsford.

Students will dance at a St. Patrick's Day event tonight from 8 to 11. Refreshments will be served. Decorations are being handled by the Pep Club. Chairman of the dance in Mrs. Metcalf.

AT MADISON

The Student Council constitution is under revision. A new school insignia was presented to the council for consideration.

AT EASTERN

Homeroom 301 is richer by $3 after their sell-out candy sale this past week.

Letters and awards will be made to the varsity basketball team on Wednesday. Coach Andrews is in charge of the program.

WTHS Sudents to Dance at Sadie Hawkins Swirl

By JEAN LIMATTA

Although the Skippers were the unsuccessful victims of Flint Northern in their tournament game Tuesday evening, WTHS spirit which came in five bus loads and numerous cars, held out to the end.

WTHS teachers set off the pep Tuesday by leading cheers in the pep assembly.

Vocal groups of the high school and junior high attended the annual Royal Oak Music Festival Tuesday, both receiving high ratings.

WTHS gals have captured their guys for the Sadie Hawkins "Shamrock Swirl" tomorrow evening at 8 in the school gym. The junior class which is sponsoring this casual St. Patrick's affair, requests that everyone wear some green apparel.

Ten GAA girls and their sponsors will attend Ypsilanti's Sports Day tomorrow afternoon, along with most other Michigan schools. The girls will participate in dancing, swimming, and volleyball.

WTHS band is making preparations for their annual concert set for March 27 in the high school auditorium. Under the direction of Bruce Orr, the band will present some numbers previously rehearsed for the District Festival, which was called off because of weather conditions.

BEGIN REHEARSALS

Rehearsals have begun for the Dramatic Club's presentation at the Mount Pleasant annual dramatic meeting April 14. "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be given by the group under the direction of Patty Looman to be critized by authorities. The cast will spend the night at Central.

Port Huron and WTHS are planning to exchange students in the near future.

WTHS nominations were conducted by the Student Council Wednesday to determine the two sophomores, two juniors, and one senior girl who will stay a week with their exchange and be the host of the five Port Huron students when they visit Waterford. Last year Student Council sponsored a local exchange with Handy High in Bay City.

Waterford's famous chemistry and atom smasher classes traveled to Midland Wednesday to visit the Dow Chemical plant.

St. Michael Students Give Vocation Play on Feast Day

By JANET ENGLISH

St. Michael was virtually snowed under with extracurricular activities this past week.

Wednesday on the feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, patron of Catholic Schools, the Sodality presented a vocation play for the Children of Mary. Participating in the production were Frances Hayes as Ruth, Colleen McEnery as Doris, and Margaret Hoffman played the nurse, while Joan Gibb had the part of a modern business woman.

Elaine Urban portrayed a nun and Gloria Barnowski, Dolores Ardelan, and Judy Merithew were cast as an artist, teacher and bride, respectively. Rebecca Vitasinski in her role as an entainer, sang a solo, "Ave Maria."

Elaine Neussendorfer, prefect of the Sodality, conducted the meeting.

Congratulations are due our coach, Bob Mineweaser on being named an outstanding county coach.

SMH is also proud of senior John Keller on being named for the all-Oakland Class C-D first team, the Suburban Catholic League first team, and the All-Oakland County third team. John is also among the outstanding scorers in the Suburban Catholic League and in Oakland County.

Not to be outdone is our junior, Dan Dropps, who was named for the All-Oakland Class C-D second team and the S. C. L. second team. He received honorable mention in all Oakland County.

* * *

Our cagers' 60-45 victory over St. Mary's, Mount Clemens set the pace for the 57-29 upset given Almont in the battle for Class C district championship. The trophy received as a result of this match has proved to be a well-received addition to our Alma Mater.

In the midst of this revelry, Julius Caesar was experiencing his downfall, which took place in the sophomore English classes. To complete the study of this Shakespearian tragedy, the students listened to recordings of professional interpretations.

Students and faculty alike extend the best of good wishes to Sister M. Imelda, upon the celebration of her golden jubilee, as a religious, Saturday, March 10.

Area Schools Make Spring Plans

Busy high school students in the area are planning many events for the long awaited spring. In the offing within the next few weeks are plays, dances, special talent programs and concerts.

Lake Orion students are preparing for their play, "Deadly Earnest," scheduled for next Thursday and Friday in the high school gymnasium. The comedy is directed by Walter Jendey.

The sophomores are planning a dance tonight from 8 to 12. The spohomore sponsors at the dance will be Glen Linbom, Robert Michaels and Joyce Wwyer.

Lake Orion High has slated a number of exchange assemblies, using student talent. The first was held last week in Oxford and Oxford students presented an assembly here yesterday. James Hoag, assistant principal, is in charge of the general setup of the assemblies, assisted by Mrs. Louise Bartlett and David Leith.

AT WALLED LAKE

Walled Lake's forensic contests were held last week and the winners in each classification are now preparing for the district contest which will be held next Thursday at Farmington.

First and second place winners in each division are Joan Adams and Arline Parton, dramatic readings; Kay Dunne and Dave Bratton, original oratory; Ruth Sappington and Blinn Stone, humorous readings; Dorothea Buck and Nina Hill, declamation; Horst Weinert and Robin Perry, extempore.

The Student Council has planned an assembly for Wednesday, March 28. A representative will show several products produced from oil. He will also perform some experiments. The assembly will be held at 9:00 a.m.

Plans are being made for the annual carnival to be held April 20. Classes and organizations will be responsible for different concessions.

A donkey basketball game will be held in the gym, Monday, March 26, at 8 p.m. The faculty will play the varsity basketball team and the seniors will play the juniors.

The Athletic Banquet will be held this Monday, in honor of all letter winners. Anyone wishing to attend may purchase their tickets from any Rotarian or coach.

St. Fred Plans Talent Show

Patron, Sponsor Drive Sparks Interest of Students

By ANN SCHACHERN

At St. Frederick High almost everyone is preparing for the Talent Show which is to be sponsored by the Student Council. Auditions were held Thursday after school.

Fifteen acts or contestants have entered the show which will be held next Wednesday. Most of the prospective winners are singers and their hehearsals echo up and down the halls at all hours of the day.

The race is on—the Patron and Sponsor drive for the senior play, that is. The high school rooms are competing against each other for the prize which will be given to the homeroom with the highest amount of money.

A sponsor entitles a person to have his name inscribed in the play program. Patrons also get their names in the book.

Underclassmen must have thought that last Wednesday was senior skip day when not one of the seniors showed up for school.

The girls spent the day in Monroe (Mich) wher the Sisters of the I. H. M. have their Motherhouse. A tour of inspection of the spacious grounds, conferences, talks with novices and postulates (those who are in the process of becoming sisters), and of course, eating took up a very enjoyable day for the 31 girls who went.

The senior boys also received a very welcome free-day which was spent in practicing for the intramural basketball games.

Slide-rules are the latest gadgets to invade the halls of SFHS. Coach Gene Wright started a trigonometry class for junior and senior boys. Eleven of them reported for class last Monday.

GOOD LITTLE SHEPHERDS — It's lambing time in Wisconsin, and some of the new arrivals get an affectionate welcome from the James Baker children on their father's farm near Monterey. Left to right are Susan, 4, Stephen, 2, and Phillip, 6. In a two week period, more than 75 lambs were born on the farm, including six sets of triplets and 17 sets of twins.

Still Big Power, Declares Peron

But Aramburu States Ex-Dictator's Following Has Dipped

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Juan D. Peron says he still is the big man in Argentina but the rebels who booted him out just six months ago today declare the ex-dictator's following has "declined enormously."

* * *

"This nation is well on the road to restoration of democratic life," Provisional President Pedro Aramburu asserted in an interview marking the half-year anniversary of the revolt which blew Peron off the pinnacle of power he had held for a decade.

Aramburu said he was confident Peron's reign "will serve as a lesson" to prevent Argentina from ever again falling into the hands of a dictator.

* * *

The Provisional President's statements coincided with publication in Santiago, Chile, of the memoirs Peron has written while in exile in Panama, "Force Is the Right of Beasts." Publication was in the magazine Vea (See), which had close contact with Peron in the past.

Peron wrote that if free elections were held now in Argentina, his forces would take at least 70 per cent of the vote.

* * *

"They can destroy Peron," the ex-dictator declared, "but that which I left in the soul of every Peronista they will never destroy, not with speeches or lies of calumnies."

Wife Seeks Divorce From Mickey Cohen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Florist Mickey Cohen's wife Lavonne, who stood by him for 15 years through bombs and bullets when he was a gambling boss, has sued him for divorce. She alleged cruelty.

* * *

Cohen, who served time for income tax evasion, came out of federal prison last October. Saying he was through with gambling for good, he went into the flower and plant business.

"Mick is still the greatest little guy in the world to me, but we just can't get along," said Mrs. Cohen.

Lad, 11, Generous With Bicycles He Had Stolen

DAILY CITY, Calif. (AP)—Every time one of his fifth-grade friends admired his bicycle, an 11-year-old boy at Woodrow Wilson School would give it to the admirer.

Roy Beecher, a police lieutenant, said that "we figure he gave away 15 bikes."

The catch was, said Beecher, that all 15 had been stolen.

Police took the boy to Hillcrest Juvenile Detention Home and then started checking parents of the youngsters who got the bikes.

"You know, not one had made any report or made their kids return those bikes," Beecher noted. "Some of the fathers even helped the kids paint 'em different colors."

Census Bureau Provides 500,000 Additional Facts

WASHINGTON (INS) — For the meager sum of seven-ten-thousandths of a cent, the government is willing to disclose the fact that 4,021,000 babies were born in the U. S. last year.

Or that theater admissions have dropped 28 percent since 1948, although movie popcorn and candy sales are up 16 percent.

These and 499,997 other assorted facts are available in the Census Bureau's new annual edition of the "Statistical Abstract of the United States."

It sells for $3.50, or 25 cents less than the 1954 edition, the first price reduction in 76 years of publication.

The bureau just throws in for free the fact that half a million statistics at $3.50 comes to exactly .0007 of a cent each.

These facts ranging from abrasives to zinc, are arrayed in 1,064 pages and 1,166 tables, illustrated with 55 charts and neatly wrapped in a cloth binding.

BARGAIN PRICE

For the bargain price, both fact connoisseurs and casual information seekers may regale themselves at a low per-item cost with such morsels as the following:

The death rate due to diseases affecting the heart has increased 90 percent from 264 per 100,000 in 1900 to 502 per 100,000 in 1953.

The life expectancy at birth of white males is 66.6 years and of white females is 72.6 years. For nonwhites, it is 59.4 and 63.7.

The average construction cost of one-family private homes increased between 1946 and 1954 from $5,525 to $1,625.

Police arrested 149,806 children under 18 in 1953 contrasted with 86,128 in 1952 and 37,259 in 1951.

Of the average cost of $178 per family for personal health services in 1953, 38 percent was for physician's charges, 12 per cent for hospital costs, 17 percent for prescriptions and other medicine, and 18 percent for dental work.

In a female labor force of 19,713,000 in 1954, 56.8 per cent were married 27.4 percent were single and 15.7 percent were widowed or divorced.

In 1954 there were 98.7 males for every 100 females in the total U. S. population.

In 1953 automobile insurance paid out 1.8 billion dollars in losses, or 43.5 per cent of the amount of premiums written.

* * *

Average life insurance premium payment in 1953 was $175, ranging from an average of $70 where the income of the insured was under $1,000 to $515 where the income was $7,500 a year or more.

Gotham Mailman Given the First Tooting Ticket

NEW YORK (INS) — Mailman Nathan Groccia, who was suffering because of an extracted tooth, tooted his horn but it only increased the pain.

A New York City policeman stopped Groccia after he had sounded his auto's horn and presented the mailman with the first summons in the city's anti-horn tooting campaign. The ticket carries a minimum $10 fine.

Actors' Sons Charged With Automobile Theft

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Police say the teen-age sons of actors Robert Mitchum and Johnny Weissmuller and another youth went joyriding with some girls in a stolen car last March 8 and then pushed the auto over a cliff.

The boys, James Mitchum, 15; John Weissmuller; and Edwin Ackerman, 16, were arrested yesterday on suspicion of automobile theft. They were released to their parents pending a juvenile court hearing.

Methodists Split on Race Issue

56.4 Pct. of Poll Favors No Segregation Rules in Churches

CHICAGO (AP)—The majority of the nation's Methodists, a Methodist opinion poll indicates, believe there should be no racial segregation in the church.

* * *

Results published in the Christian Advocate, official news journal of the Methodist Church, showed that less than one-sixth favor a policy of segregation for all Methodist churches.

The removal of all barriers, receiving into the local church all who meet the tests of character and take membership vows, regardless of economic status or race, was favored by 56.4 per cent.

* * *

A spokesman said the question of segregation is expected to be one of the major issues to be discussed at the church's general conference in Minneapolis April 25-May 9.

The poll showed that 16.6 per cent of those questioned wanted to have all churches serve either Negroes or whites exclusively, and 23.8 per cent wanted to have some separate churches of each group and some inclusive churches.

* * *

Supporters of an intermediate stand came from both the North and South, a spokesman said. The Northerners favored nonsegregation in their own church, but believed the South was not ready yet. The Southerners favored segregation in their own church but had no objection to a nonsegregation policy for churches in the North.

* * *

Methodist ministers questioned in the poll were 65.6 per cent in favor of removing all barriers. The poll covered 1,691 persons in all sections of the country. A spokesman said the responses were a little lighter proportionately from the south-central and southeast than from other areas.

Clowning Ballplayer Builds Private Life on Faith in God and Love of Fellowmen

By DON McCLANEN
Administrative Director,
Fellowship of Christian Athletes

John "Pepper" Martin was 50 years old the summer-before-last when he stepped up as a pinch-hitter in a game between Norfolk and Portsmouth in the Piedmont League.

MARTIN

Most ballplayers are described as "over the hill" at 35. A bare handful still play at 40.

But Martin, short, barrel-chested, manager of the Portsmouth Merrimacs, hit the first pitch against the right field wall and slid headfirst into second base for a double. When the Norfolk pitcher later threw wild to second, Martin raced to third with all the fire of a rookie, upsetting the third baseman. The fans roared with delight.

Pepper, who spends the fall and winter months on his 906-acre farm at Quinton, Okla., even hustles doing his farm work. To his neighbors—and I am one—he is always friendly and full of stories.

* * *

Most fans remember him as the dashing St. Louis player of 20 years ago—one who gave 100 per cent of himself during a game, but often acted like a clown off the field.

He and teammates Dizzy Dean, Rip Collins, Leo Durocher and others were called the "Gashouse Gang" because of their hilarious antics.

Pepper has a devoted wife, Ruby and three daughters, Mary-Alyne, Alice and Jenny Lee, none of whom is ever surprised at anything Pepper does. Two years ago Pepper helped coach the Quinton High School football team. When the squad was shorthanded, Pepper, then 48, played end with the dash of a 17-year-old. Ruby was aghast.

"Why don't you grow up?" she scolded when her husband limped home. Pepper was crestfallen, but only for a moment. "No one came around my end," he boasted.

* * *

As his neighbor, however, I'm one of few who know another side to Pepper Martin. Arthur Daley of the New York Times hinted at it when he said, "Of all the 'Gashouse Gang,' Pepper was roughest and toughest-looking. Yet he was the gentlest . . . Underneath was a warm religious strain groping for an outlet."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Pepper teaches a Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church in Quinton. He gives talks to groups of kids. When he spoke to the football and basketball squads I coached several years ago at Eastern Oklahoma A&M, Martin told us how important it was to live by a spiritual philosophy.

"Learning to play good baseball," said Pepper, "is a lot like learning how to live a good life. In baseball, you've got to know the fundamentals—sliding, running, hitting, fielding. In life you need more basic fundamentals—belief in God, the Bible, prayer, love of people."

Pepper admits to no background of theology. Knowledge of the Bible? Some—because he and Ruby occasionally read it together.

"I have been a backslider many times," confesses Pepper. But he has been greatly helped, in ways he is not quite sure of, by the special quality of his wife's prayers.

"Ruby will go to the bedroom and get down on her knees," says Pepper. "She may be in there for a long time. When she comes out, there are often tears in her eyes—and yet a smile on her face. For 26 years she has prayed her way through every kind of difficulty. Only the Lord knows how much she has done to make a Christian out of me."

Hal Boyle Says:

Irishmen Become Giants on St. Pat's Day

(Editor's Note: Stirred by his annual admiration of St. Patrick, whose disciples parade tomorrow, one of our Irish-descended reporters offers again a piece that has gone before.)

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What is it to be Irish?

* * *

On 364 days of the year being Irish isn't visibly different from being French, Italian, Jewish, Serbian, Dutch, or — yes — even English.

LIKE OTHER MEN

The Irishman pays his bills, complains against his taxes, does his work, and listens to his wife like the man of any other race.

* * *

But on this one day of the year —holy St. Patrick's Day — the Irishman becomes an Irishman.

And on this day you have to be Irish to know what it is to be Irish.

The outer signs, of course, can't be seen by all. The Irishman overnight grows a foot taller and stalks the earth a giant. All traffic lights turn green before him, and if they don't he sees red.

* * *

But this air of majesty is only token evidence of interior change. The men of other races who envy the Irishman has bearing on St. Patrick's Day would envy him far more if they could look inside the Irishman's soul.

HARD TO DESCRIBE

What is it to be Irish?

How can you put the wonder of it into words? If a psychiatrist stretch himself out on his own warm couch after his last customer had gone home, and he dreamed of the man he himself would most like to be—well, he might be perfect, but he'd still be only half an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day.

* * *

What is it to be Irish?

It is to have an angel in your mouth, turning your prose to poetry. It is to have the gift of tongues, to know the language of all living things. Does an Irishman pause and turn an ear to a tree? It is because on his day he wants to hear what one sleepy bud said to another as it opens its pale green hands to the warm sun of spring.

What is it to be Irish?

Oh, on this day it is music. Not just the cornet in the parading high school band, but the deep, deep music of living; the low, sad rhythms of eternity. The Irishman hears the high song of the turning spheres, the dim lullaby of the worm in its cocoon. All the world is in tune, and he is in step with the tune, the tune that only he can hear.

* * *

What is it to be Irish?

It is to live the whole history of his race between a dawn and a dawn —the long wrongs, the bird-swift joys, the endless hurt of his ancestors since the morning of time in a forgotton forest, the knock-at-his-heart that is part of his religion.

* * *

What is it to be Irish?

It isn't only the realization that he is descended from kings. It is the realization that he is a king himself, an empire on two feet striding in power, a strolling continent of awe.

HEIGHT OF GLORY

What is it to be Irish?

Why on St. Patrick's Day, to be Irish is to know more glory, adventure, magic, victory, exultation, gratitude and gladness than any other man can experience in a lifetime.

What is it to be Irish? It is to walk in complete mystic understanding with God for 24 wonderful hours.

There Are Stars in the Sea

Of course we know there are stars in the sky. But there are stars in the sea too, several different kinds. Here are two of the commonest.

Star fish are six inches or more across, about an inch thick and have sucker-like "feet" that help them pull themselves along on the sea floor. They are rough on top.

Another group of star-like creatures is called sea-urchins, sand dollars or sand cookies. Indeed they are something like a cookie in shape, round, thick in the center, and thin at the edges, as you will see by the side view at the upper right.

When the sand dollar is alive he has a soft velvety skin. When his shell is found on the shore it has dried out and is a sandy tan. The sand dollar drifts slowly along the bottom, and draws its food up through small openings.

Here are a couple of Junior Editors in their school museum. Dick has a sand dollar he found at the beach.

Paste this picture on cardboard and color it with crayons. Then you can hang it up on the wall or stand it on your desk. The star fish is reddish; the sand dollar purple.

Junior Editors pays $10 for usable ideas. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper. It cannot be acknowledged or returned. In case of duplication, the first submission will be accepted.

Shamrocks Imported From Erie—Bratain!

WASHINGTON (AP)— A quarter of a million packages of shamrocks from Ireland—and from Britain!—have been imported to help the Irish in America celebrate St. Patrick's Day "wearing the green" Saturday.

The figure was reported today by the Agriculture Department. The shamrocks have to clear through its plant quarantine centers, and are fumigated as a precaution against destructive insects or plant diseases.

Bouncing Basketball Frustrates Firemen

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Pupils at St. Joseph's school are telling frustrated firemen "that's the way the ball bounces."

Two fire companies have been called to the school gymnasium by an alarm box three times in the past 11 days to find basketball games but no fires.

Fire Capt. Clifford Purdy said the ball broke the glass on the alarm box and hit the alarm handle.

The Buick CENTURY 6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera, Model 66R

TAKES OFF LIKE YOU'RE WEARING SPURS

Come try it — and you're in BUICK'S THRILL-A-MINUTE CLUB

THE THRILLS begin in the first sixty seconds —and from then on they come in clusters.

Right off, you feel the stepped-up getaway in Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—a blazing new take-off even before you switch the pitch.

Because now—right in the topmost inch of pedal travel—right where you do most of your driving—right in the fuel-saving economy range —you're moving with a solid new "take-hold" getaway that's brisk and blessedly smooth.

Then you double the thrill.

For when you want to pass—or climb—or get out of a tight spot fast—you floor the pedal and switch the pitch. That brings you an absolutely smooth burst of full-power go-ahead on the split second—and it's the nearest thing to soaring flight yet.

It's a double-barreled package of excitement—and it's teamed with the most powerful V8 engine in Buick history—a 322-cubic-inch engine with no less than 9.5 to 1 compression in every CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

All that would seem like thrill enough—but you'll find you've hardly scratched the surface.

You'll find yourself glowing all over from the sweet and level buoyancy of Buick's great new ride.

You'll feel a serene satisfaction from the way this trim beauty handles and corners and tracks to the road with the truest sense of direction yet.

And certainly you'll have to feel the good feeling that's yours just from bossing this big and brawny and beautifully sculptured automobile that's like a thing alive, and impeccably obedient.

Dr. Gunn, 63, prominent in Dayton's Negro community, was killed by three bullets fired through the window of his home March 4 while he and Mrs. Gunn sat watching a television program. Dt. Lt. Pet Pig Poses Problem: It Stays Away From Mates

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP) — Bonnie Cooper, 6, has a problem — a 140-pound pet pig, Wee Wah, who stays away from other pigs, "because she doesn't even know she is a pig."

* * *

Actually, Wee Wah resembles her kind only in appearance. She is different, because, in the first place, she was raised by a mama cat in a litter of kittens.

Everything was all right out on the farm where Wee Wah was born five months ago. But the Coopers moved into town last week and there is a city ordnance against such pets.

All but heart-broken, Bonnie agreed to give up her pet and tearfully told Wee Wah goodbye. But that wasn't exactly the end of it. The little girl insisted that her pet have an understanding master and a good home.

* * *

So far, none has been found. No one seems to want a pig for a pet, especially one that weighs nearly 150 pounds and eats as much as Wee Wah.

Wee Wah missed being No. 13 by two. It was just as bad to be No. 11 in the litter when the mother hog could nurse only 10.

Bonnie went to the rescue, put the piggy in the kitten litter and raised it out in the cornshed with the help of the old cat.

Wee Wah played in the yard with the kittens and eventually ate out of the same dish with Spot, the dog, even chased cars and bicycles with him.

* * *

When Bonnie calls, the porker comes running like a dog. Wee Wah does not associate with other pigs, because, as the little girl explains: "She doesn't even know she is a pig."

Prized Meteorite Given to University of Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A star fragment which fell on Alabama and brought fame to Mrs. Hulitt Hodges because it hit her has been given to the University of Alabama.

The nine-pound meteorite plopped through the roof of Mrs. Hodges' home near Sylacauga, Ala., Nov. 30, 1954.

As many as 75 offers to purchase the meteorite were made, one as high as $5,000, said Mrs. Hodges. But she decided to give the prize to the university.

Aides Map Swing Through U. S.

Ike Has No Intention of Sticking to TV Campaign

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower—reports to the contrary—has no intention of sticking to a fireside television campaign this fall.

* * *

The secrecy lid is still on, but deep within the White House family, Ike's aides are already beginning to map a formidable electioneering swing that will take the second-term contender to practically every marginal state of the Union.

One of the prime purposes will be an attempt to recapture the House of Representatives—Democratic since 1954—for the Grand Old Party via the popular Eisenhower coat-tails.

Even the White House intimates concede that the Senate currently looks like a sure bet for the Democrats this fall. Ike, however, has no intention of letting it go by default.

Planes will drop the prexy at key cities in such widely scattered areas as California, Oregon, Ohio, Connecticut, Maryland and Pennsylvania. Indiana may also find itself on the busy schedule.

In each of these states except Oregon, a Republican Senator faces a stiff re-election battle. But Oregon is the prize goal for the GOP. If the Elephant Party had its "druthers," it would rather defeat Sen. Wayne Morse than any Democratic incumbent now up for re-election.

EX-LAW PROFESSOR

Morse, the loquacious one-time law professor who came to the Senate as an Oregon Republican, switched parties in midstream and campaigned for the election of Adlai Stevenson in 1952. The elephant notoriously has a long memory.

In fact, so determined is the administration to recapture Oregon that Interior Secretary Douglas McKay was reluctantly persuaded to throw his hat in the ring against Morse.

McKay, a former governor, is a high-powered campaigner who has yet to lose an election.

Unfortunately, however, the wealthy Oregon car dealer liked to be exactly where he is—one of 10 in the cabinet, rather than one of 96 in the Senate. A bit plaintively, McKay argued that even if he were elected to the upper chamber, he would reach the age of 70 before the end of his first term.

Republican pressure finally persuaded the secretary to go to Walter Reed Army Hospital three weeks ago for a complete physical check-up. So favorable was the report that McKay ran out of excuses.

EARNEST CAMPAIGN

As soon as he retires from his cabinet post, he will begin campaigning in earnest. The McKay-Morse race is expected to be one of the hottest in the country, and Ike's promised personal appearance during the height of the campaign is expected to rub off a little of the Eisenhower magic on the vigorous former mayor, state senator, and governor.

The once solid south is also on Ike's campaign schedule. Undaunted by Democratic claims that Dixie will meekly return to the Donkey Party fold this fall, the President is planning dramatic appearances at well-publicized rallies in Texas, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee, the four southern states that gave him their electoral votes four years ago.

Train trips, however, are out. Explained a Presidential aide: "Ike just can't stand all the pushing and shoving that goes with whistle-stop campaigning.

"In the populous eastern states four years ago, he had to be on his feet every ten or 15 minutes, waving to people in one railroad station after another. Why, even his legs were aching. He vowed then that he would never go through that again."

The presidential adviser said Mr. Eisenhower also disliked the crush of politicians in the cramped quarters of a railway car. Everyone was perspiring in the heat, he recalled, and Ike had not time even to think what he would say at the next whistle-stop, because of the new load of coat-tail-riders who scrambled on the train in each district to pump his weary hand.

PLANE TRIP BEST

Plane trips, according to the campaign planners, are much easier to control. At each major stop, local police form a protective cordon around the candidate while he steps into a limousine and bows in relaxed and smiling fashion to the assembled multitudes along the parade route.

This fall—hitting the sky trail—Mr. Eisenhower figures that he can make as many as three major appearances in three states, all in the same day and evening.

* * *

Television can then pick up the speeches and relay them to the firesides of the small town folks who used to have to sweat it out at the railway depot. To Five Star General Ike Eisenhower, this spells real progress for everybody.

THE STORY OF EGGBERT — An Easter Adventure — By Walt Scott

53,000 to Die Yearly in Traffic in Next 10 Years

CHICAGO (INS) — The National Safety Council has estimated that within 10 years 53,000 persons will be killed annually by 82 million motorists swarming over the nation's highways and byways.

* * *

In addition to the jump in fatalities from the 38,300 killed in 1955, the council estimated that at various times there will be 90 million drivers traveling about 825 billion miles a year.

Faced with this foreboding picture of 1966, the council appealed for help from "some genius" capable of handling "a safety talk that is more convincing than anything thought up so far."

But until the genius appears, the council has proposed a new traffic safety program designed not only to hold down the huge traffic toll, but to expedite the flow of traffic.

These two problems, traffic safety authorities agree, are inseparably interwoven.

The council's plans for cutting the toll and congestion of future traffic includes better driver education, more uniform traffic laws among the states, safer roads and strict enforcement of all traffic laws and regulations.

BASED ON PROVEN METHODS

This program, announced today, has been based on proven techniques in engineering, education and enforcement.

"The principal objective in 1956," a spokesman said "is to strengthen community organizations and encourage participation by everyone in local safety programs—especially toward the end that such oragnizations can effect enforcement of regulations."

If each community realizes how its traffic safety program stacks up against recognized standards the council feels action would be taken to bring local programs up to or above par.

In 1955, only 81 towns among the thousands in the nation with a population of 10,000 or more reported no traffic deaths.

Along with building new, better and safer roads, the council urged use of modern traffic engineering and law enforcement to make existing highways virtually foolproof.

INCLUDES TESE POINTS

Other points in the new council program include:

1. "Cutting through red tape, apathy and legislative inertia to obtain uniform vehicle laws and do what common sense tells the nation it should have done long ago—give the driver a set of simple, understandable traffic rules and laws that he can follow from coast to coast."

2. Make driver education a required high school course.

3. Tighten physical, mental and emotional qualifications for license applicants, revoke licenses for inability to drive decently and sensibly and support traffic courts in showing errant drivers and walkers that "it just isn't smart or healthy to behave selfishly or dangerously in traffic."

4. Encourage improved automobile design to make it easier to drive safely.

The council emphasized that acceptance of these objectives would improve the traffic situation in direct ratio.

Name's Wrong, but Painting Cops 1st Prize

CLEVELAND (AP) — The artist's signature is upside down, but the winning painting at the Chicago Art Institute's annual exhibition is hanging right side up.

"It's hanging the way I wanted it to hang," said the artist, 28-year-old Miss Anna P. Baker of Cleveland.

* * *

Two students laughed when they noticed the upside-down signature on Miss Baker's "High Frequency Ping," which copped the show's top prize of $1,500, her first big award.

"When I started painting it, I signed it the second day," explained the young artist. "I painted on it for nearly a year, and as it progressed I decided it looked better the other way around. The other way there is a big area that gives it a certain amount of depth, and I didn't want that."

* * *

Miss Baker said her picture of diamonds and triangles was a "self-imposed technical problem."

"It was a limitation of colors, all reds and blues and various degrees thereof—and very small two dimensional forms instead of the lines I had been using."

* * *

She called it "High Frequency Ping" because "there's a fair amount of cadmium red and some pink next to it."

The U.N. World Health Organization says 370 million people live in areas exposed to the risk of malaria.

Overpopulation Issue Answered

Astrophysicist Suggests Man Build Planets to House Excess Humans

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—An astrophysicist proposes that man solve his problem of overpopulation by creating a hundred new planets with a climate like the earth's and moving to them.

* * *

Such a project definitely is possible with atomic energy, Dr. Fritz Zwicky, noted California Institute of Technology rocket expert, told a reporter.

Great portions of major planets like Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune would be scooped up under the plan and transferred to smaller planets and their satellites. Orbits of the enlarged planets would be changed to make their course around the sun roughly comparable to the earth's.

* * *

Forces unleashed with the hydrogen bomb make it possible to provide suitable planets for emigrants from our sphere, Dr. Zwicky said.

"We can bomb Jupiter and other major planets out of their orbits and into other orbits more to our liking," he said. "We can transfer great masses from the surfaces of the big planets to the smaller planets and satellites and make them larger.

* *

"Increasing the size of the moon, for instance, would increase its gravitational pull to a point where it could build up and retain an atmosphere similar to that of earth."

A ship to carry men from one planet to another could be built within 10 years or so, he said.

Seeks Divorce No. 4 Against Same Man

CHICAGO (AP) — For the fourth time since 1950, Mrs. Dorothy J. Powell, 35, has filed suit for divorce from the same man.

"This is it, I really mean it this time," Mrs. Powell said as she filed the suit in Superior Court against her husband William, 29, a metal worker. She said this time there would be no reconciliation.

Her latest action, she said, came after her husband "mangled" her arm in a door and then went home to his mother.

Suggest 5 Points to Assist Mailmen

A five-point program to speed mail deliveries by aiding postmen during their rounds was urged today by Leslie H. Dean Sr., acting postmaster.

Citing various complaints received about delivery, Dean said mail not properly protected or late is frequently caused by lack of cooperation on the part of patrons.

He suggested that householders (1) install visible house numbers, (2) keep walks and porches free of snow and ice, (3) insure that names are on mailboxes, (4) provide containers large enough to receive such items as magazines, and (5) treat mailmen like "human beings."

What a Shame, Not One O'Hara Among 7,000

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Ah, the shame of it. Seven thousand Marines and Navy men at the huge U. S. naval base here, and not an O'Hara in the lot.

The idea was a picture for St. Patrick's Day of an American O'Hara, preferably big and redheaded, posed with a cute little almond-eyed Japanese miss of the same name.

All the press officers could find were a dozen minus-apostrophe Oharas among the Japanese nationals employed at the base.

Fascists Salute Mussolini's Love

Farouk Sends Wreath as Claretta Petacci's Body Is Reburied

ROME (AP)—A scattering of Fascist salutes and a wreath from ex-King Farouk of Egypt, paid tribute today to Claretta Petacci, mistress of Benito Mussolini, as she was reburied in Rome.

* * *

About 250 friends, relatives and curious followed her body quietly to the family's new $30,000 glass and marble tomb in a cemetery alongside the church of San Lorenzo, outside the city walls.

Church rites were refused. A priest rode in the funeral limousine, however, and said prayers inside the tomb.

Eleven years ago Partisan guns felled Claretta and her paunchy lover. She and Mussolini were strung up by their heels in a Milan square before tens of thousands of Partisans.

* * *

Her body was brought here from a hidden grave near Milan. The location of Mussolini's grave has never been disclosed.

The most ardent of the old fascist salutes came from an unidentified fat woman in black. She came separately to the cemetery and thrust her arm up defiantly as the cortege went around a turn.

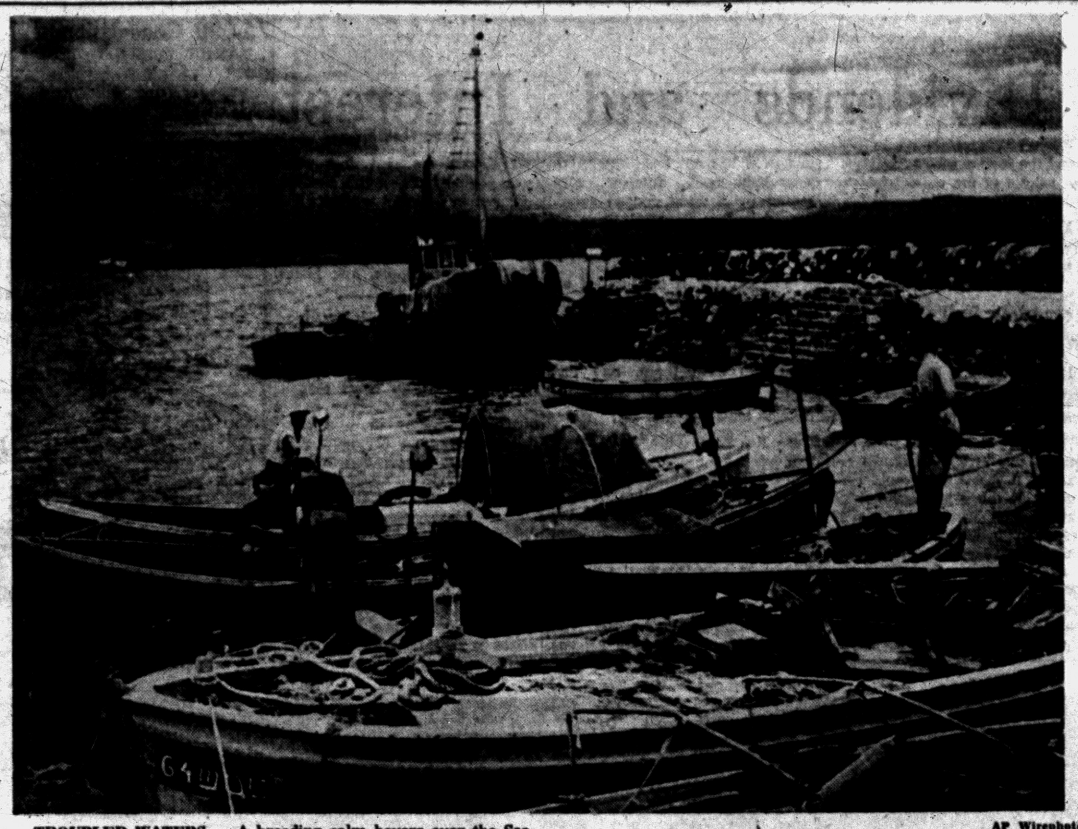

* * *

The big wreath from "His Royal Highness, Farouk Faud," had been taken to the tomb in advance. Farouk, a Continental playboy since he was kicked off his Nile throne, was not there.

Claretta's body was placed under a life-sized white marble figure of a maiden wreathed in flowing garments, palms stretched out.

* * *

Another memorial to her stands in Rome: a fabulous palace that Mussolini built for his love on Rome's Monte Mario to mark their five year idyl. It's now a restaurant.

49 Senators Support New Election Move

WASHINGTON (INS) — Forty-nine senators have given their support to a proposed constitutional amendment giving voters a more direct hand in the election of the President and vice president.

The legislation, introduced by Sen. Price E. Daniel (D-Tex), would eliminate the "winner-take-all" system of giving a state's electoral votes to a candidate.

* * *

It would set up two different procedures for states to choose from: Either split up the electoral votes among the three presidential candidates receiving the most votes, or elect the members of the Electoral College by districts in the same manner as members of Congress.

At present, the candidate winning the majority of votes in a state gets all of the state's electoral votes even if he wins by only one vote.

Officials Set Up Trust Fund for Family in Keego

Keego Harbor Chief of Police Calvin C. Baxter and Mayor Jack Loveland have set up a trust fund with small contributions which have been received from neighbors and friends of the Polson family, whose home was completely destroyed by fire last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Betty Polson, burned while rescuing her baby is in "good" condition in Pontiac General Hospital, while her six month old son Frank is in "fair" condition. The three other Polson children are staying with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernor Wollenhaupt of Wayne.

Donations may be taken or sent to Mayor Jack Loveland, 2188 Cass Lake Rd., Keego Harbor.

Indian Chief, Pioneer of West, Dies at 82

CARDSTON, Alta. (AP) — Chief Shot Both Sides, one of the last links with the free-wheeling days of the old West, is dead.

The 82-year-old chief of the Bloods, main tribe of the Blackfoot confederacy, died yesterday in the Indian Hospital in this southwestern Alberta town.

A son of Crop Eared Wolf, Shot Both Sides grew up in an era when his people still roamed the prairies in search of buffalo and raided the enemy for horses and women. He was born four years before the Bloods, the Blackfeet and the Piegans signed a treaty with the white man in 1877 and 32 years before Alberta became a province.

Shot Both Sides' people now live on 353,000 acres in southwestern Alberta, Canada's largest reservation.

* * *

Most of the Russians appeared to be in their 50s. They wiped tears from their eyes as the Americans spoke, chorused "Amen" repeatedly and nodded vigorous assent as the messages were translated.

* * *

As each American was introduced, the congregation rose to chorus "Welcome" in Russian.

The 10-man American delegation is here for conferences with Russian churchmen in an effort to better understanding between American and Russian religious groups.

Divorcee Held in Kin Shooting

Planned to Kill Wife of Ex-Mate, but Wounds Daughter Critically

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies say a Phoenix, Ariz., woman planned to shoot her divorced husband's new wife but instead critically wounded his daughter by a previous marriage.

Booked for investigation of attempted murder is Mrs. Dorothy Pursley, 44.

* * *

The victim, Paula O. Pursley, 26, of Berkeley, Calif., was reported in serious condition with an abdominal wound at Southern Memorial Hospital.

Sheriff's Lt. William O'Reilly gave this account of the shooting Wednesday:

Packing a .32-caliber revolver, Mrs. Pursley came here from Phoenix when she learned her ex-husband William Pursley intended to marry Olive Pratt of Seattle. O'Reilly said Mrs. Pursley hoped to stop the marriage, believing it would embarass Pursley's two children in Phoenix.

* * *

Walking into a room at a hotel where her former husband had been married earlier in the day, Mrs. Pursley saw him standing with a woman. O'Reilly said she fired. Pursley's daughter crumpled to the floor. Pursley had just come to the hotel room to visit his daughter.

Realizing her mistake, Mrs. Pursley handed the gun to Pursley, who called police. He is Arizona representative of Brown & Bigelow, an advertising firm.

Your Income Tax Primer—No. 5

Income From Corporate Dividends and Interest

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
(5th of 12 Articles)

With corporate earnings and the stock market at new highs in 1955, a record number of taxpayers will be reporting dividend income on their tax returns.

The schedules on Form 1040 for listing dividends and interest have been moved from page 2 to page 3, but otherwise there is little change in their appearance.

Under the new tax law which went into effect in 1954, the first $50 of taxable dividends received by each individual taxpayer is excluded from income. That means it is not taxed.

On a joint return, each spouse is entitled to the $50 exclusion on dividends received by him or her.

Where married persons living in community property states are entitled to divide dividends between themselves, even though all the stock is owned by one of them, each spouse can exclude $50 or a total of $100 of the dividends received by them in 1955.

In non-community property states, the $50 exclusion applies separately to the individual income of husband and wife whether a jojint or separate return is filed.

The exclusion applies to taxable dividends. Most distributions by a corporation to its stockholders are taxable dividends.

Occasionally, however, corporations make distributions which are non-taxable and do not have to be reported as dividends.

Generally speaking, a corporation advises you whenever it makes a non-taxable distribution.

This exclusion can be claimed on either Form 1040A or 1040. If you file on 1040A, you only show in item 9 the dividends which exceed the exclusion of $50. On Form 1040, however, you report all taxable dividends and then subtract the exclusion on line 3 of Schedule A.

Let's suppose that after subtracting the exclusion, you still have some dividends left over.

The new law permits you to subtract from the tax you would otherwise owe, a credit equal to 4 per cent of any dividend in excess of the exclusion. This credit cannot be claimed on Form 1040A, so do not use this return if you have dividends in excess of the $50 exclusion.

The easiest way to compute the credit is to follow Schedule J of Form 1040.

Note that the credit cannot exceed the lesser of the tax that would otherwise be due from you, or four per cent of your taxable income. And remember, the dividend break does not apply to dividends from foreign corporations, including Canadian companies, or from any mutual savings banks or building and loan associations. These dividends are reported in line 5 Schedule A on page 3 of Form 1040.

The new law taxes interest in much the same way as the previous law. All taxable interest must be reported in Schedule B on page 3 of Form 1040, or in item 9 of Form 1040A. Most interest you receive is taxable.

However, if you own any bonds or securities issued by a city or state, the interest on these is not taxed by the Federal Government. The interest on many United States bonds issued prior to March 1, 1941, is wholly or partially tax-exempt.

If you have any such bonds, read the section under "Interest" on page 6 of the official instructions.

You must report interest on savings and deposit accounts when it is credited to your account even though it has not been entered in your bank book. Interest represented by a bond coupon should be reported in the year when the coupon is due and payable even though you don't clip and cash it.

You can report the interest on Defense, War and Savings bonds in either of two ways.

First Way: Ignore the interest until you cash them, and then report as interest the entire difference between what you get and what you paid. This is the easier way.

Second Way: Report the interest each year as it accrues. The amount of accrued interest can be determined from the table on the back of the bond. It is the difference between what you paid and what you could cash the bond for on Dec. 31, 1955. Subtract from this any interest you reported from these bonds on previous returns, and report the rest this year. Once you start using this method, you cannot change without first getting permission from your District Director.

NEXT: Capital gains and losses.

Conveyor Belt Rides Urged for Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A series of conveyor belts carrying six-passenger cars some 15 feet above street level is proposed as a solution to this city's downtown congestion. A move belt would carry cars at 15 miles an hour between stations and would slow to 1½ miles an hour at each station, where passengers could alight on a sidewalk moving at the same speed. Cars would leave a station every three seconds, moving as many as 14,000 persons an hour, say proposers of the idea.

Small Man, Large Tank

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A small man with a large capacity for liquor admitted in court that he drank 50 glasses of beer and a quart of whiskey in five hours prior to an auto accident. Allen S. Peckham, 43, pleaded guilty in District Court to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $125.

Jesse Owens, ex-Olympic star touring and teaching in Malaya, found Joe Levula, sprint champion of Fiji, serving with a regiment in Malaya. Jesse says Levula may be one of the surprises at the Melbourne Olympics.

Economical performance is the big reason why Ford's the V-8 leader!

It takes a FORD to squeeze maximum power out of today's gasoline

Only Ford gives you modern Short Stroke power—V-8 or Six—in every truck! Short Stroke design means up to 53% more power with no increase in engine size

Just one kind of engine can give you all the mileage built into today's gas. And that's a modern Short Stroke engine—the new kind of truck power pioneered by Ford.

Short Stroke engines develop the kind of power that used to be possible only with much bigger engines. And Short Stroke engines do it on less gas! The shorter stroke means less piston travel, which means less friction to waste power and gas, and less wear, too. You get more usable power also—power that works for you at the rear wheels!

New Ford Trucks save you money when you buy! Ford is America's lowest-priced line of V-8 trucks.* And right now your Ford Dealer is offering attractive terms for spring. Call him today and find out what a sweet deal you can get!

*Based on a comparison of suggested list prices.

Prefer a SIX?

Ford is the only manufacturer who gives you a Short Stroke Six in the light-duty field. It's the most modern, most efficient Six because it gives you more horsepower per cubic inch than any other Six. And in a Ford Six you get integral valve guides, free-turn intake and exhaust valves—plus a deep-skirt crankcase for longer, smoother engine operation.

Predicts Rise in Negro Vote

GOP Official Forecasts Upswing of Northern Ballots for Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa), chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee, today predicted a big upswing in the northern Negro vote for Republicans this year.

* * *

Simpson and two Democratic congressional campaign committee members, Representatives Madden (Ind) and Bennett (Fla), disagreed with a statement by Rep. Powell (D-NY) that there is "a distinct possibility" a new political party will result from the bitter battle over segregation.

Powell, one of three Negro House members, told a news conference yesterday "many Negroes will desert" the Democratic party unless it returns to what he called the stronger civil rights policies of former President Truman.

* * *

Powell said President Eisenhower has not been as affirmative in favor of civil rights as he was earlier in his term, and added:

"If President Eisenhower goes back to where he left off two years ago on civil rights — and (Adlai) Stevenson or other Democratic candidates continue to stand in the middle of the road (on civil rights)—I'd probably vote Republican" this year.

Simpson said the Negro vote in big Northern cities ran about 4-1 in favor of the Democrats in 1952, but now is swinging "very definitely toward the Republicans."

* * *

Madden, chairman of the executive committee for the Democratic campaign group, said he too doubts the integration dispute will lead to a third party. And he said he doesn't think it will cost the Democrats votes either.

The Negroes, Madden said, know that "the Democratic party with the exception of the Southern leaders has been leading the fight for civil rights."

Los Angeles Church Set Afire by Arsonist

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Breaking in through a side door, an arsonist piled the American and papal flags, brocaded cloths, and a Latin missal on the main marble altar at St. Vibiana's Catholic Cathedral and then started a fire with an altar taper.

* * *

Sexton Joseph Welter discovered the blaze when he arrived yesterday to prepare for the first Mass. His excited cries brought four priests, who fought the flames until firemen arrived. Carpeting and the frescoed ceiling were badly scorched.

A second fire, started in the pamphlet rack, was quickly controlled but damaged the walls and ceiling in the vestibule.

While firemen cut a hole in the vestibule ceiling to allow smoke to dissipate, the Rev. John Keeman said Mass for some 100 persons.

Couple Hopeful of Finding Son

Disappearance of Boy in Long Island Oct. 31 Still a Mystery

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP)—The Gerald Dammans head for a new home in Iowa today, sad but desperately hopeful that someday some clue will disclose what happened to their missing 3-year-old son.

* * *

Gerald, 26, and his wife Marilyn, 22, packed with tears in their eyes yesterday as 2-year-old Pamela, their other child, romped around amid shipping crates.

The couple's little boy Steven disappeared here last Oct. 31 from in front of a supermarket. His mother had left him outside for a few minutes with Pamela, who was in a baby carriage.

Damman has been stationed with the Air Force at nearby Mitchel Field. His four-year enlistment was up three months ago, but he has been getting 30-day extensions in the hope some word would be received concerning Steven.

* * *

Last February a brief flicker of hope turned to despair when a young boy was found in New Mexico. The child was not Steven.

The family is going by car to Newton, Iowa, and will live on a farm belonging to Damman's father.

Mrs. Damman told newsmen: "It's just like leaving part of yourself behind. I don't believe we'll ever see Steven again, but we can never adjust our lives without him.

"We'll be thinking and talking and praying about him the rest of our lives."

* * *

"I have two theories," the father said. "I think Steven was picked up by a woman who wanted a child or that he was stolen for the black market baby racket."

Most of Us Submerge Our Talents

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I get sick and tired of your inspirational nonsense," a reader writes.

"To hear you talk, all women have perfectly fabulous talents and can make big names and lots of money for themselves.

"I'm a perfectly ordinary housewife. I shall never write a famous novel, nor paint a lovely oil painting, nor make a lot of money out of a fudge recipe or whatever.

"Most people are just normal human beings without any talent whatever. All this business of urging them on to Accomplish Things is unfair."

* * *

As far as I can remember, I never said being a housewife required no talent at all. Being a good housewife requires a lot of talent and along many lines.

Neither do I remember saying that every woman can make "a big name and lots of money."

SOME TALENT

But one thing I know beyond any doubt. Every human being has some talent, something he loves doing and does well and something which the world, or his tiny segment of it, needs.

I've been in on the destinies of many thousands of people and have never found the one who has no talent.

I know, too, that most of us—the tragically overwhelming majority of us—operate very far below our own potential.

William James compared us to icebergs, with only one - seventh of what we have to us getting used and shown.

* * *

And in spite of this woman, and others like her, I shall never cease urging people to explore their potential talents and to use them.

In my book, there is no difference between the importance or significance of one talent and another.

* * *

The woman who writes a best-selling novel is no more "talented," as far as I am concerned, than the woman who skillfully and with imagination packs a lunch pail every day of her life.

To paraphrase Miss Stein, a talent is a talent is a talent.

Fortunately for my peace of mind, for each letter like the one above, I get half a dozen from women who tell me that my urging has led them to do something they never thought they could do.

* * *

In the last analysis, nobody does something for other people, but at least we can stimulate them into doing something for themselves. And that I intend to go on doing!

Campfire Leader Gives Her Recipe for Cherry Layers

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

This week is also the birthday celebration of the Campfire Girls. We want to honor them with a recipe given us by one of their adult members.

Mrs. Ben Moshier of Keego Harbor is social chairman of the local Campfire board of directors. She has been a Campfire leader for nine years.

Mrs. Moshier's other big interest in life is working with the Auxiliary of the West Bloomfield Fire Department. She says these two activities give her very little time for anything else.

CHERRY CAKE
By Mrs. Ben Moshier

1½ cups sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup cherry juice (fill cup with milk)
2½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup chopped walnuts
3 beaten egg whites
1 bottle (4 ounces) maraschino cherries, drained

Cream butter or margarine, add sugar and cream again. Sift flour with baking powder and add to sugar, alternately with combined cherry juice and milk. Add walnuts and cherries cut in quarters. Fold in beaten egg whites.

Pour into 3 greased layer cake pans. Bake in 350-degree oven 25-30 minutes. Fill and frost with your favorite frosting.

Oscar Has Boosted Many Stars' Lagging Careers

This is the fifth of seven articles by the "First Lady of Hollywood" reporting dramatic moments in the history of the "Oscar" awards. The awards for 1955 will be announced March 21

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — If winning the Oscars has been a "jinx" to some stars, it has been the shot of adrenalin, the life-saving transfusion and the greatest blessing ever to befall certain others whose careers were dying on the vine before the gilded prize was placed in their hands.

* * *

As an outstanding case in point, I give you Frank Sinatra! I'm sure you are glad to accept him. Any producer in Hollywood would give away three glamor girls just to get his hands on Frankie, currently "the hottest thing in show business," for a picture.

Yet, before Sinatra won "Best Support" honors in 1953 for "From Here to Eternity," you couldn't give him away. The skinny Italian singer, who had been the rage of the teenage bobbysoxers when he started his crooning career, had fallen to such a low point in his career that even his agents had all but given up on him.

For one thing, his private life was a mess of marriage and income tax tangles. His many battles and final parting from Ava Gardner had made Frankie so cross he became Public Enemy No. 1 where the press was concerned.

Uncle Sam's tax men breathing hot down his neck at the same time weren't sweetening his outlook on life.

And, what few but his intimates knew, he was desperate over the condition of his voice. He had suffered serious hemorrhages doing his nightclub act in both Miami and Las Vegas. The only person not privately convinced that Frank wasn't already a resident of Forest Lawn Cemetery was—Frank.

READ THE BOOK

He read the book "From Here to Eternity" and vowed that he and no one else would play the part of the little Italian soldier, Maggio. "And, what's more, I'll win the Oscar for it," he told his best friend.

After the greatest one-man campaign ever staged by an actor for a part, Sinatra was signed to play Maggio for what is (in Hollywood) the paltry sum of $10,000!—the smallest amount any well known actor has been paid.

You know the rest. The night Frankie walked into the Pantages Theater with his daughter Nancy on his arm and son Frankie by the hand, you could hear from every side, "You're a cinch, Frankie—congratulations."

And from the moment he put the charmed Oscar on the mantle of his living room, he's been on top. Two years in a row he's won "Most Popular Recording Star" honors. He's made four pictures at top salaries, and is a nominee for an Oscar for "Man With the Golden Arm"—this time for "Best Actor" honors.

Truly, Frankie was saved by the gong—I mean, Oscar.

Joan Crawford's career hadn't sagged as far as Sinatra's, but she had fallen far away from her peak that night in March of 1945 when she won (but didn't pick up) her Oscar for "Mildred Pierce."

I say Joan didn't pick it up because so emotionally bedeviled was she by the very thought of being close to winning when the honor meant life or death to her career that she made herself ill!

THRILLING PHONE CALL

She was at home and in bed when the most thrilling telephone call of her life came through. The following day the newspapers were filled with strange photographs of the "happy" winner: Joan propped up in bed, many pillows at her back, ecstatically clutching her statuette to her heart with one hand while her doctor took her pulse with the other!

Of course, the all-time lucky winner, the darling of the gods have smiled brightest on since collecting the golden man is Grace Kelly. Not that Grace was waning previous to winning honors for "Country Girl," but certainly life has been nothing but a fairy book existence ever since Grace gratefully took her bow at the theater holding her prize award.

Within the short space of a year, Miss Kelly won "Top Actress" honors, was chosen a tie with a socialite for "Best Dressed Woman" honors, and is now on her way to becoming Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace of Monaco, following her civil and religious marriages to Prince Rainier III, scheduled for April 18 and 19 in Monte Carlo.

No matter what the future holds for Grace and what will be written in her biography, it will never be said that winning the Oscar was a jinx for this lucky lady.

Speaking of lacklustre times in the lives of personalities such as Sinatra and Crawford before the Oscar came along, I am reminded of the extremely lacklustre Academy Award night when hardly a single winning star, producer or director was on hand in Hollywood to accept. For a dim moment it looked as though the Oscars themselves couldn't save Oscar night.

AWARDS OF 1950

I'm referring to the awards of 1950 won by Jose Ferrer for "Cyrano De Bergerac," Judy Holliday for "Born Yesterday," Josephine Hull for "Harvey," George Sanders for "All About Eve" and Joseph Mankiewicz for directing "All About Eve." The only winners present were Mankiewicz and Sanders.

For first hand excitement it was one of the saddest academies ever staged. By television from New York we saw Jose Ferrer, Judy Holliday and the beloved Josephine taking their bows, and they even "piped in" some of the unhappy losers, such as Gloria Swanson, looking brave but disappointed for failing to win for "Sunset Boulevard." Gloria, for sentimental reasons, had been widely touted.

Fact is, there were more "losers" sitting in the Pantages Theater than there were winnahs. Bill Holden, up also for "Sunset Boulevard," put on a congratulatory look when Jose won, and Ann Baxter looked very pretty but unhonored when her fine playing in "All About Eve" support honors went to the far-away Miss Hull.

All in all, it was the biggest "bust" of an Academy Award winning evening ever held in Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Abboud Cabbad (nee Roberta June Bumstead) are pictured with their two sons, Phillip and Mickey. Mrs. Cabbad, formerly of Pontiac and the daughter of Mrs. Fred Therrien, of Hamilton street, now resides with her husband in Idlib, Syria. Mrs. Cabbad met her husband in South America. They moved to Syria last year.

Woman's Letter Tells of Life in Syria

By JANICE HAYHOW

A long way from Pontiac and slightly homesick is Mrs. Abboud Cabbad (nee Roberta June Bumstead). Mrs. Cabbad makes her home in Idlib, Syria, east of the Mediterranean.

A letter from Mrs. Cabbad to her mother, Mrs. Fred Therrien of Hamilton street, tells of life in her new country.

In trips around Syria, which is Cabbad's native country, the Cabbads happened on a wedding party in one of the smaller villages. Mrs. Cabbad writes, "I wanted to take a picture but was afraid they might be angry.

"While we were discussing the matter, a man from the village came over to our car to see if anything was wrong. We told him our story and he invited us to come and see the festivities."

Custom of the people there, Mrs. Cabbad says, is that the bride celebrates with the women and the bridegroom with the men. "Abboud and I parted and they took me to see the bride. The women beat drums and danced and sang to honor the bride."

CHAIR ATOP HEAD

At the men's gathering, Mrs. Cabbad describes the sight she saw of one man carrying a chair on top his head. "His purpose" she relates, "was to gather the me together. Then they would all go to the bridegroom's house and carry him around the village on a chair before he claimed his bride."

Another wedding custom, she said, is that the wedding party carries gifts to the bride and groom around the village for everyone to see. In cities they hire a car or a small bus, put all the gifts inside and go around the town blowing the horn for all the people to see their bounty.

Mrs. Cabbad lived in Pontiac until 1951. She then went to South America to visit friends and met and married Cabbad there. The family went to Idlib in December of last year where Abboud teaches English in the government school.

Mrs. Therrien says her daughter hopes to return to this country for a visit this year. She is expecting a baby this month and hop to bring the new child and her two sons with her.

Gently Fan the Embers to Relight His Love

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Everything seems to be happening at once. Three of the boys I used to go steady with have asked me for dates—all in one week.

"I like one of them much more than I do the others, but he's the one I'm the most unsure of. I went with him the longest, but we broke up because of a little game we played. When we wanted to be sure how we felt about each other, we'd go out with someone else.

"Lately, he's been driving me home, and I've seen quite a bit of him. He told his aunt (who told me) that he still likes me and wants to go back with me again.

"When he's with me he acts as though he wants to tell me something, but he always talks about something else. Mother won't let me sit in cars for longer than five minutes, so I always hop out and hurry off.

"The girl he used to go with told me he always talked about me. Now what I want to know is: What should I do about him?"

Answer: You could just coast along on the stream of this thing, letting him take all the initiative. He might get around sooner or later to unburdening his mind and you might begin to feel more sure of him. This might take time.

Without being pushy, you could make things happen a bit faster by fanning the embers gently.

That there are embers is quite obvious. He shows it. His aunt tells you so. His old girl friend has spoken up. That's enough to go on.

Instead of just contentedly going along with him, talk up the miracle of being together again—what fun it is to be with him after all these months and people and things.

Remind him of crazy things that happened when you were going together before. Even bring up that risky game you played, making it quite clear that you now know it was unwise.

Let him hear nice things about the way he strikes you. If you can dig up points on which he has changed, be sure he understands he's nicer now. Be generous with your admiration, and with those little tell-tale words that he can mull over alone.

Hop out of his car if you must, but get him to stop in at the house for a while. You needn't hurry off, not if he can be persuaded to come in for something to eat and a long chat.

If he finds approval in your eyes and your voice, and welcome on your doormat, he'll be encouraged to try to sign you up. And that you needn't do until you're quite sure you both want to go steady again.

Meanwhile, go out with the other boys who ask you, to help you make up your mind, and to force the boy you like best to make up his.

Some Want to Pay Boss for Treat

He Bought Liquor at Dinner Given in His Own Honor

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "The man who was head of our department was recently promoted to a higher position in the company. In honor of the occasion, all of the employes in the department got together and gave a dinner for him at one of the hotels.

"The cost of the dinner was shared by the employes but no liquor was included. Anyone who wanted a cocktail ordered it at the bar. To show his appreciation, during the course of the evening Mr. A. ordered two bottles of liquor as his 'treat' and paid for them himself.

"Some of the office members feel that since the party was given for him he should not be allowed to pay for the liquor and I understand that the men are splitting the cost of it and are going to reimburse him for it.

"I think it would be very wrong for them to do this and that it will hurt his feelings terribly. What is your opinion?"

Answer: Since it was his spontaneous wish to treat those giving him the dinner, I agree with you that no attempt should be made to reimburse him other than with your thanks.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A woman who has moved into a new house has invited a group of us with whom she works to come to her place to spend the evening. We'd like to know if it is necessary to take a present for her house?"

Answer: It would be very nice to take something if you would like to, but it is not an exaction.

VIOLETS GALORE — Surveying a few of her many African violet plants is Mrs. A. J. Peterson of South Milford Road. Well over 200 violets grace the Peterson home. One Plant Bloomed for Seven Years

African Violet Hobby Proves Fruitful

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD — An African Violet has been blooming continuously for the last seven years at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Petersen of South Milford road.

* * *

Last month, this grandaddy of the violet species took a short rest and buds are again beginning to appear at the base of the plant.

Measuring 21 inches across, the violet has had over 200 blossoms at one time and is bedded in a pot only six inches in diameter.

Ten years ago, Mrs. Petersen began rasing African Violets as a hobby. Since that time her "green thumb" has produced thousands of plants for friends all over the country and last year she held an African Violet show in her home.

And that isn't all! In the Petersens Early American living room stands a common Arrow Head plant, that would put "Jack's bean stalk" to shame.

Purchased in a local store last summer, the plant has climbed up to the ceiling three times and had to be cut back. It's up there right now, planted in a big pot with special castors built on to make turning to the light easier.

START IN VERMICULITE

Every violet that the Petersen's have now (well over 200) was started in vermiculite. Petersen explained that this substance comes from mica mines and holds moisture 800 times it weight in water.

"Violets should be placed in a north window," Mrs. Petersen said. "They need lots of light, but no direct sun." She plant-feeds all of her various varieties once a month and 'never, never over-waters them."

* * *

A "Piggy-back" plant is another unusual plant in the big flower room that Mr. Petersen designed and built for his wife. The plant has one big leaf on each stem, which is covered with several smaller ones that literally ride on the original leaf.

Besides raising cultured plants, Mrs. Petersen has a collection of 100 old teapots and 35 rare glass celery vases. One of the teapots is dated 1740 and another came from the White House when it burned in 1814.

In her spare time, Mrs. Petersen braids rugs and makes appliqued quilts. When asked what Mr. Petersen does since his retirement, she said "Oh—he has so many hobbies that I wouldn't begin to know where to start telling you."

Having just returned from Florida, both of the Petersens are tanned to a healthy brown from many days of fishing and just enjoying life. Here is truly a couple who are getting the most of life in their wonderful "golden years" together.

From the Garden Editor

Ah ah ah ah . . . don't get discouraged! Gray days now are better than the same next month. Methinks Old Man Winter is about to blow himself out and we earth workers can get ourselves out digging away very soon.

We home gardeners should take a lesson from migrating birds and start spring planting when the first robins appear. Early planting gives the plants a chance to grow much sooner. If we wait until growing conditions are just right, valuable growing time will be lost.

Don't set out annual seeds and tender potted annuals, though, until the danger of frost is past.

All plants need a thorough soaking of water when first set out, if for nothing more than to eliminate air spaces in the soil and to settle the soil completely around the roots.

A question comes up from one of our new "soil sorters." He wants to know what purpose lime in the soil serves. Well, my friend, the lime content of the soil is the keystone to good results for all crops which need lime. There are a few shrubs such as rhododendrons and azaleas, which prefer an acid soil. Lime, applied when worked in prior to planting, makes possible 100 per cent efficiency of plant nutrients in the soil.

It adds calcium and magnesium which plants need.

* * *

Wait until shrubs start to leaf out before cutting out portions which have suffered winter kill.

Could Expand Vegetable Crop

Horticulturist Claims Industry Can Grow 4 to 6 Times Larger

Michigan's vegetable processing industry could expand four to six times in the next 10 to 15 years. This expansion is possible if consumer income remains high and processors and growers work together.

That's the belief of R. L. Carolus, horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, according to John K. Bray, assistant Oakland County agricultural agent. This expansion would be both possible and successful economically. Carolus says that Michigan has the most suitable temperature pattern for quality production in the midwest.

Rainfall is sometimes lacking but can be overcome by proper soil management, or irrigation, in some cases. An established processing industry and large markets nearby are other points in favor of expansion.

Bray says Carolus has suggested these crops for possible expansion in production for processing:

For central Michigan, sweet corn, cucumbers, peas, tomatoes, lima beans, beets, and carrots, plus newer varieties of snap beans are possibilities. In the Thumb area asparagus, sweet corn, peas, tomatoes, lima beans and broccoli, plus newer varieties of snap beans, could be areas for expansion. In norther Michigan, sweet corn, beets, carrots, spinach, broccoli, and purple cauliflower are possible crops that could be epanded.

In southern Michigan, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, lima beans and black-eyed peas offer chances for processing use. On the lake shore, spinach, broccoli, brussels sprouts, and purple cauliflower crops might be boosted in production for processing. Asparagus is a possibility on the west lake shore.

For the Upper Peninsula, these crops could be increased for processing use: Peas, beets, carrots, purple cauliflower, spinach, and newer varieties of snap beans. Also, rhubarb production over the entire state could be boosted slightly for processing use, Carolus believes.

Large Floral Clock Major Attraction at Exhibition

The large Floral Clock in the Department of Parks and Recreation Display at the Michigan Flower and Garden Exhibition at the Michigan State Fair Grounds starting tomorrow is sure to be one of the feature attractions.

* * *

The clock will be 20 feet in diameter and composed of 7,296 plants. There will be 6,000 red and green altenanthera, 648 white begonia and 648 coleus. The clock will be flanked with rhododendrons and azaleas. Its hands and numbers will be in gold. A low hedge of pachysandra will surround the clock. Plants which will make up the clock are being forced at the greenhouses on Belle Isle. It is being made up in 100 pieces and will be put together at the show.

Werner M. Hoy, general manager of the Flower Show, said that the Parks and Recreation exhibit "Melody Lane," which is a reproduction of a city boulevard plus the clock, which is a replica of the Floral Clock of Edinburgh, Scotland, will cover an area 40 feet wide x 172 feet long.

Hoy also announced that the Michigan Botanical Club is collaborating with the Cranbrook Institute of Science, the University of Michigan, Wayne University and Ypsilanti Normal College in an exhibit which will promote the proper use of land and soil conservation through reforestation, drainage and soil management and water management. The display will show good examples of the proper use of public areas.

Blown up pictures of the Porcupine Mountains will show the beauty of the wilderness area and the scenic sights and sports and camping facilities available. It will show the possibilities for nature study.

Dr. Marion T. Hall of Cranbrook, and Dr. Robert Belcher of Ypwilanti Normal Botany Department are assisting in the exhibit and Dr. Elzada Clover of the U. of M. Botany Dept. is forcing specimen blooms of wild flowers for the exhibit.

Hoy announced that the show will open at 11 a.m. Saturday and will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. except Sunday when the show will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Specialist Gives Soybean Advice

State Farmers Should Be Sure of Maturity of Variety They Select

EAST LANSING — Michigan farmers who plan to plant soybeans on corn land this year should be sure about the maturity of the variety they select.

Otherwise they may be in for a disappointment on yields, says S. C. Hildebrand, a farm crops specialist at Michigan State University.

Five varieties have been recommended in Michigan after three years of tests in Lenawee, Monroe and Ingham counties. Here is the list in order of maturity date.

Norchief: Early maturing — in 110-118 days; for muck soils and for northern limits of the soybean area — the Bay City-Muskegon line.

Chippewa: About a week later in maturity — an early variety that compares favorably in yield with those of later maturity. Hildebrand advises farmers north of the Bay City-Muskegon line to try Norchief and Chippewa only on well-drained soils.

Blackhawk: Recommended for full season production in the Lansing area and in Gratiot and Saginaw counties. It's good as a medium early variety in extreme southern Michigan.

Harosoy: A new medium maturing variety that had the best yield record in its maturity class in the Monroe and Lenawee county trials. It is about three days later than Blackhawk.

Hawkeye: A medium to medium late maturing variety for the lower tier of Michigan counties. It is about seven days later than Blackhawk.

* * *

Hildebrand indicates that certified seed is available for all the recommended varieties, except Norchief.

Planting Needs Planning Time

Farmer Must Consider Insecticide as Well as Seed and Fertilizer

EAST LANSING — Some quiet thought before planting time will pay off in less trouble this summer.

That's the verdict of Michigan State University's head entomologist. A bit of logical thinking, Ray Hutson contends, can prevent unsalable potatoes and loss of tomato plants—just as some examples.

After holes appear in potatoes from white grubs or wireworms, Hutson points out, it's too late to do anything about it. It's also a bit late to stark knocking out cutworms after cabbage or tomato plants have been hit hard by the pests.

So, he advises, it's best to do some planning. If a farmer is going to plant potatoes on rather poorly drained soil, he's almost sure to have wireworm trouble. At least he would be able to tell by examining the field after plowing. Wireworms are just as the name implies—they look like a short yellowish-brown piece of wire.

As for cutworms, they're a perennial problem and something a commercial vegetable grower or home gardener can expect.

* * *

That's why it pays, concludes Hutson, for a farmer to plan for insecticide needs just as he figures his need for seed and fertilizer.

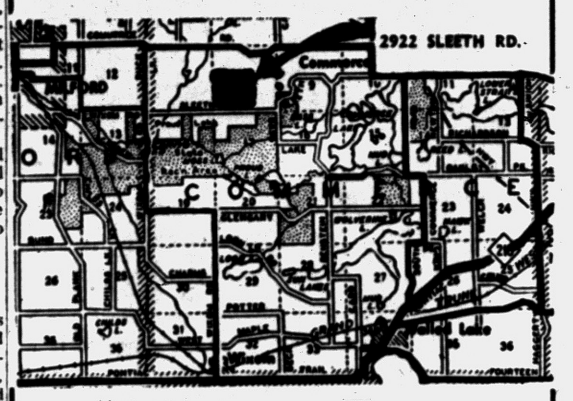

Spray Lawn Weeds

Banishing weeds from a lawn is not difficult if the grass is sprayed with a solution of water and chemical weed killer. Be careful, though, around evergreens and other desirable plant life. A safe practice is to "spot water" with a galvanized steel sprinkling can, aiming the can nozzle directly at weeds.

Adlai Warns of Deadly Drift

Accuses Administration, Calls Nixon 'Calamity,' Rebukes Kefauver

EVELETH, Minn. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson last night accused the administration of "a deadly drift . . . while a chorus of Madison Avenue hucksters cries peace — peace and prosperity."

* * *

Stevenson jokingly likened Vice President Nixon to a "national calamity," and rebuked Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), with whom he is contesting in next Tuesday's Minnesota primary for delegates to the Democratic presidential nominating convention.

Terming this a "time of great decision, of great danger and great promise," Stevenson said: "Abroad we can see the fires of nationalism flaming across Asia and Africa. We can hear the voices from the Kremlin pronouncing a new foreign policy, aimed at capturing the uncommitted third of the world — the third that controls the delicate balance of peace."

* * *

At home, he said, there is a farm depression and racial unrest in the South that threatens a constitutional crisis. "And with all this," he said, "comes a sense of drift in Washington, a deadly drift that goes on . . ."

Stevenson, endorsed by the state Democratic - Farmer-Labor (DFL) party, said yesterday at Nashwauk, Minn.:

"I regret that your congressman, John Blatnik, and other DFL leaders should be attacked by my distinguished and respected friend Sen. Kefauver, merely because they saw fit to endorse me. . .

* * *

Kefauver, campaigning at Duluth, said he would not comment on Stevenson's remarks.

International Court Drops U.S. Claims

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The International Court of Justice has dropped two U.S. claims totaling almost two million dollars for military planes shot down by the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia.

The court explained the two Communist nations refused to accept the tribunal's jurisdiction.

The United States asked $1,620,295 for a B29 bomber and its eight-man crew shot down in the sea by two Russian planes off northern Japan Oct. 7, 1952. The Americans claimed $271,384 from Czechoslovakia for an F84 Thunderjet fighter show down by MIG15s near the West German-Czechoslovak border March 10, 1953. The U.S. pilot, Lt. Warren G. Brown of Henderson, Colo., parachuted to safety.

Industrial Production Stays at Record Levels

WASHINGTON (AP) — American industrial production remained at near record levels in February, according to government statistics.

A Federal Reserve Board report yesterday pegged last month's industrial output index at 143, on a seasonally-adjusted basis. This was the same level as in January and only one point below the December peak.

'Little Guy' Squeezed Hard in Westinghouse Dispute

PITTSBURGH (AP)—No matter how or when the prolonged Westinghouse strike finally is settled, it may be years before the average worker gets on his feet again financially.

* * *

Every day the strike rolls on now just means this "little guy" is squeezed that much harder. The best available estimate of total wages lost exceeds 100 million dollars.

On the other side of the picture, the company estimated early this month the strike had cost it about 250 million dollars worth of business. Net income dropped more than 30 million dollars in 1955 compared with the preceding year and much of the drop was attributed to the strike.

* * *

It's been nearly five months since strikers have had a paycheck; five months without a steady income. How have they managed?

"We're not living high. But we're getting along. Nobody's starving, nobody's out in the street, nobody's cold. You couldn't expect more."

* * *

That capsule comment came today from Samuel Wilkins, chief union shop steward at Westinghouse Electric Cor.'s East Pittsburgh plant, largest in the firm's far-flung system and one of 40 struck since last October.

"Anyone who has been cold or hungry or in need of medical care, we've taken care of them," said Wilkins, a fitter employed by Westinghouse for 22 years.

* * *

By "we" he meant the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and its biggest, most powerful Westinghouse unit, Local 601. At the start of the strike Oct. 17, the local counted some 10,000 members. In all, the IUE caled out 44,000 workers.

Wilkins said he knew of no case where a Local 601 member was evicted, lost his home or had his auto repossessed—if he applied to the union for aid.

Emphasizing that it was only a rough guess, Wilkins said he figured the union has spent about a million dollars for strike relief in the East Pittsburgh area.

In addition to union aid, all strikers are eligible for government surplus food. Some receive public assistance (state relief). Many get help from friends and relatives. Others work part-time at odd jobs. Some have had windfalls in the form of federal income tax refunds and accrued vacation pay. Many took $100 loans from the company last Christmas.

* * *

At best, though, these are but stopgap measures providing the barest necessities. Strikers have had to use their savings and plunge deeply into debt to maintain a reasonable living standard—in spite of strictest budget economies.

Some workers have given up entirely and taken permanent jobs elsewhere. Wilkins estimates the number at East Pittsburgh at a "couple of hundred." For the most part these were younger men with less than 15 years's service. The older men are planning to go back to Westinghouse.

* * *

Among them is Russell Anderson, a graying middle-aged man with 20 years at Westinghouse as a wireman. Married and the father of two, Anderson says he's been a little more fortunate than some others. As he tells it:

"We've gone into a hole—deep. We can't meet our current expenses, and have had to cash in our defense bonds and take a lot of credit. But we're not in so deep that we can't work our way out—eventually.

* * *

"At the beginning of the strike, I had a part-time job, but that fizzled out. My wife has worked one or two days a week and that's been a big help. Don't know what we'd have done otherwise.

* * *

"One thing, our landlord hasn't pressed us at all. He says give him the money when I get it. Once I offered him the rent and he said 'Keep it. You need it more than I do.'"

Motorist Appeals Case: Term Hiked to 270 Days

DENVER (AP)—Convicted in traffic court and sentenced to 90 days in jail, Robert Ray Valdez, 19, of Denver appealed his case to superior court.

There he argued the traffic court had erred in finding him guilty of leaving the scene of an accident, failing to exercise due care for a pedestrian and failing to report an accident.

Superior Court Judge Mitchel B. Johns listened carefully and sentenced Valdez to 270 days.

Irate Area Group Seeks Action

Sylvan Manor Residents to Meet on Drainage Issue

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Residents of Sylvan Manor Subdivision have called a special meeting for 8 p.m. Monday to study what action can be taken to relieve what they call "unbearable conditions" resulting from septic tank and drainage problems in the subdivision.

The meeting, previously set for another location, will be held at the West Bloomfield Township Hall to accommodate the large crowd expected, Paul S. Kearns, president of Sylvan Manor Association, said.

A seven-man committee, appointed by the Sylvan Manor Association Monday to investigate what measures are available to residents, will give a report on its findings.

Letters, signed by approximately 90 of the residents, citing "unhealthful conditions" were mailed out last week to the Michigan governor, prosecuting attorney, corporation and securities commission, state, county and township health departments, the Detroit and Northern Savings and Loan Co., and David Lukacher, president of Northwood building company, the builder of the homes.

The subdivision, with homes in the $14,000 to $18,000 price bracket, includes approximately 200 homes, built by the Northwood Co., where most of the complaints originate. Homes are less than two years old, and owners say they have been plagued with sewage backing up and flooding the houses ever since they moved in.

The letters claim that, during rainy periods, homeowners cannot bathe, wash clothes or flush toilets because of an "unbearable septic tank and drainage problem." The letters urge that the builder be required to alleviate this condition.

One answer has been received, signed by Alfred B. Fritt, legal advisor to Gov. G. Mennen Williams, stating that the matter has been referred to the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission for investigation and a report.

Sylvan Manor Subdivision is located in a triangle between Orchard Lake and Square Lake Rds., from Middlebelt west to the Grand Trunk and Western Railroad tracks.

Homes in the trouble area mainly are scattered along Ivanhoe, Empire, Pennsylvania, Littletell and Depew streets, although all homes on these streets do not report difficulties.

Meanwhile John Irwin, chairman of the study committee, said that he had been informed by Neree D. Alix of Royal Oak, a registered civil engineer allegedly representing Lukacher of the Northwood building company, that Alix would be present at Monday's meeting to outline what steps are being taken or can be taken in the future to solve the drainage problem.

MOVE OVER, JUPITER — Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology rocket expert, illustrates on a blackboard how he envisions the planet Jupiter could be knocked out of its orbit by a rocket bomb and into an orbit "more to our liking." The idea would be to put Jupiter and other planets into orbits like earth's with a climate like earth's as a way of solving humanity's greatest problem — overpopulation. All this can be accomplished, he believes through proper use of the energies released by the explosion of the hydrogen bomb. (See story, page 20.)

Baker Students Have Fun, Learn a Lot

St. Patrick Party Is Great Day for Irish —and Dutch, French or Americans, Too

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD—Whether they were Dutch, American or French, St. Patrick ruled the day at a celebration for elementary students at Baker school.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders attended the party in the 'all-purpose' room, which, incidentally, is decorated in two shades of bright green.

For some time the student council has been working with advisor Teresa Kurtz, preparing decorations, planning the special talent program and lining up Irish square dances—and the whole affair was a huge success, begory!

A special trend in social activity has been initiated into the regular school curriculum, according to Arthur Burklund, elementary school coordinator. Children are taught social manners right along with their reading, writin' and arithmetic, and the results are very gratifying, Burklund said.

How to act at a party, see that everyone is having a good time, and even correct eating habits during refreshment time are the things stressed in the students' social activity classes.

Irish songs and dances have predominated during the physical education socializing period for the last two weeks in preparation for the St. Patrick's day party.

As each holiday comes around, the children are prepared for the celebrated day's activity. This social living course helps educate the "whole child," teachers say.

Burklund summed up the project, saying, "A carefully planned affair coming at a strategic time in the social development of students, can serve as a springboard for smoother boy-girl relationship."

Commerce WSCS Unit Slates Special Meeting

COMMERCE — A combination luncheon and election meeting, to be staged at noon on Wednesday, will highlight the future activities of the WSCS unit of Commerce Methodist Church. The event will be held at the church.

The Catherine Booth Circle will handle arrangements for the luncheon. Reservations for the meeting must be made by Monday with Mrs. David Mansfield, EMpire 3-5312.

Nursery facilities will be available to members in attendance.

The slate prepared by the nominating committee will be augmented by nominations from the floor. The election of officers will follow.

Mrs. Nettie Kremer, who represented the Commerce WSCS at the North Central Convention held recently at Springfield, Ill., will give a report.

The devotional message will be presented by Rev. Mr. Donald Lawson of England, a guest preacher.

Accomplishments at recent circle meetings follow:

Marlette School Head Resigns

Richard Kaminska Was Principal at High for Past Two Years

MARLETTE — The resignation of Richard Kaminska, high school principal for the past two years, was accepted with regrets by the Marlette Board of Education at its regular meeting.

Kaminska did not state his future plans. Wendel Brenner, one of the school's athletic coaches, has been offered the principalship.

In accepting Kaminska's resignation, the board acted at the same time to thank him for his contribution to the school and the community.

Other business of the board included accepting the bid of Jubb Motor Sales to furnish two new school buses. The Jubb bid was the lowest of those received.

Purchase of a wood router for the shop and eight new typewriters for the commercial department also were approved.

Teachers' contracts will be issued about the first of April, according to school officials.

in newspapers

because...

...newspapers produce top results!

Last year, advertisers—large and small, national and local—spent more than $9 billion on all forms of advertising.

The lion's share—$3,070,000,000 or one-third—was invested in newspapers. A record-shattering sum. A sum greater than that put in TV, magazines, radio and outdoor combined!

With circulation up to a new high of 56,000,000 copies purchased daily, the newspaper continues to give the most value received for dollar investment. Here's how advertisers rated leading advertising media as reflected by the money they invested, according to preliminary estimates for 1955, Printers' Ink, Feb. 10, 1956:

Newspapers	$3,070,000,000
Television	1,005,000,000
Magazines	723,500,000
Radio	545,000,000
Outdoor	192,500,000

Use the newspaper to get the best return on your advertising dollar.

15th Floor Apartment of Marlowe's Buzzed

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Marion Marlowe and her husband Larry Puck—whose romance once displeased a famous TV star named Arthur something—now have a love nest practically over the East River.

"Right down there," said Larry, pointing, "is where helicopters take off."

"The other day," mentioned Marion, "when I was sitting here in the altogether, a helicopter buzzed right past. It seemed funny to be 15 floors up in the air and have a Peeping Tom go walking past your window!"

Marion's just closed a 3-week, $7,000-a-week starring engagement at the Copacabana. The boss, Jules Podell, a slow man with a compliment, has invited her back—she's really made good as a saloon singer.

"I keep remembering," Marion said, "when I was 14 in St. Louis and was 5 feet 2 and weighed 168 pounds."

★ ★ ★ ★

Now she's thinned down to a sensational waistline. She and Larry have planned her own TV show which she doesn't want to discuss.

As a little girl of 9, Marion once got belted in the cheek by another little girl wielding a baseball bat.

"I think it had to do with my first boy friend," Marion says. "As a kid I had three ambitions—to wear high heels, eat all the chocolate ice cream I wanted, and wear evening gowns. Now I've got the money but nobody dresses up any more, I'm too tall for 3½ inch heels, and I'm on a diet.

"Where does that leave me?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Margaret Truman'll call her bridegroom "Cliff"—they dined quietly the night after the announcement at Margaret Carson's because, "Cliff had to work today." (three cheers for Margaret for picking a newspaper guy) . . . A certain friend of Prince Rainier's was tickled to find ready-made cutaways at Saks' 5th Av.! . . . (The Prince sails today) . . . Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn, who'd like to do "The Matchmaker" in films, saw it together and visited Ruth Gordon backstage.

John C. Wilson, who's ill, became "supervisor" of "Strip for Action" and young Don Hershey took over as director, already making big changes . . . Monique Van Vooren, the Belgian who opened at the St. Regis Thursday, rehearsed so hard she didn't even get a cup of coffee to break her rehearsal...Cyd Charisse's pretty hair now has a streak in it—to highlight it.

MONIQUE

Ezio Pinza got a $4,000 offer to do a guest shot with "Grand Ol' Opry" . . . Sinatra phoned from H'wood to recommend singer Peggy Connolly for the Blue Angel . . . Cy Howard says his wife, Gloria Grahame, will probably get the divorce in France . . . Harold Lloyd's getting anxious to make another movie . . . Ingrid Bergman and Rossellini may do "Joan of Arc" in Argentina.

Eddie Constantine, the American who's a hit in Paris, will sing in Monaco . . . Former champ Bob Olin plans to remarry his ex-wife, Rosalie, next month . . . Susan Strasberg will leave "Diary of Anne Frank" this summer to make a film . . . The management of a top cafe had to tell the star comic to clean up his material—too blue.

Disk Jockey Jack Eigen's wife, Dorothy, has a new song called "42" . . . Salvatore Dali met a beautiful model, Diane Mitchell, and wants to paint her—as half-woman, half ostrich . . . Imogene Coca will get $12,500 for a one-nighter at a Chicago industrial show.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

It's a strange world. A man will blame fate for an accident—but when he makes a hole-in-one in golf he feels personally responsible for it.

George Jessel says he prefers cafe work to his toastmaster chores: "I'd rather follow a good act than a bad dessert." That's earl, brother.

Hollywood Headlines:

Italians Combine Talents for Modern Love Story

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Those two Italian gentlemen of more than considerable talents, Dino de Laurentiis and Vittorio di Sica, have combined to film a modern love story.

In the as yet untitled tale, two of Rome's leading actresses and beauties, Gina Lollobrigida and Silvana Magnano (Mrs. de Laurentiis in private life), will share femme billing with Di Sica, a good actor as well as a director, as the male star.

Apparently, Lollobrigida doesn't mind having Magnano for competition, but all the money in the world wouldn't tempt her to appear in a picture with Sophia Loren, her deadliest rival for acting honors in Italy.

Fred MacMurray goes back to Universal-International next month for "Gun for a Coward," a Western. At this writing all sorts of offers have been made to June Haver to co-star with Fred.

June hasn't made a picture since she became Mrs. MacMurray and I don't believe she's of a mind to accept this offer. She even goes with Fred when he goes duck shooting, and to her the most important thing in her life is being a good wife.

ROONEY RETURNS

Mickey Rooney, who has been quite sick, is better and back at work on "Francis and the Haunted House" at Universal-International. I asked him about the reports that Wally Cox (Mr. Peepers) had walked out of "Hinky-Dinky Parlez Vous," Mickey's next picture at Republic.

"That's right. Wally decided against doing the picture, giving as his excuse that the time was bad for him and he had other commitments in the East to consider. I think he made a mistake," said Mickey, "but of course I wouldn't hold him against his wishes."

I swear, when Barbara Stanwyck isn't making a movie she's at the movies looking at someone else's! The ushers at the Beverly movie houses know Barbara so well they chat with her about their children and diets and everything else under the sun before the picture goes on.

It's certainly no news to hear that Barbara is going to make a new picture. She signed yesterday to co-star with Joel McCrea in "Trooper Hook," a whoop-'em-up Western by Jack Schaeffer who wrote "Shane."

FELLED BY VIRUS

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Unexpectedly Phyllis Gates Hudson returned to Hollywood from New York. She was so sick with virus she decided to come straight home instead of going to Nogales on location with Rock as she had planned.

Some years ago the newspapers printed that Audrey Hepburn was engaged to marry James Hansen, rich Britisher. Well, he's in town and has been escorting some of the GM Motorama lovelies about.

Bill Holden has applied for a visa to go to Russia this summer after he completes "Toward the Unknown" at Warners. He would simply go as a tourist.

Maria Felix, one of Mexico's top film actresses and beauties, has arrived in town for her personal appearance at the Million Dollar Theater on Monday.

Teresa Wright, who completely lost her voice and had to spend several days in bed, tells me she has never had as much reaction as she did from her performance in "The Louella Parsons Story." I can tell her I have never had more telegrams and letters, all praising her to the skies.

James Dunne is going great guns in his TV show, "It's a Great Life." When I asked what had become of him, I meant motion picture wise.

Rookie Ullman's Goal Gives Red Wings 2-2 Tie

LONG STRETCH BUT NO REACH — Willie Jones, infielder of the Philadelphia Phillies slides into second with a stolen base in the second inning of the Grapefruit League game against the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla. Don Blasingame, rookie second baseman of the Cardinals, makes a dive for the runner after taking a wide peg from catcher Dick Rand, but he is unable to beat Jones to the base. The Phillies won 2-1. Ex-Tiger Saul Rogovin and Bob Miller limited the Cards to five hits. Willie Jones also had a homer in the game with the bases empty. AP Wirephoto

Detroit Sits in Shaky Driver's Seat With 1 Game Remaining

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings definitely were in the driver's seat today in the battle for the second place as the National Hockey League entered the final games of the regular season.

* * *

The Wings gained a 2-2 tie with New York last night when rookie Norm Ullman came through with a third-period goal.

The Rangers face the tough Canadiens Saturday at Montreal, where they have won only one game in four years, and close out the schedule against the same club Sunday at Madison Square Garden.

* * *

Meantime, the Wings have only one game remaining — that at home Sunday against the Toronto Maple Leafs, who themselves are hoping to edge Boston for the fourth and final spot in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

While the Wings and Rangers were playing their standoff, the Canadiens went on a 4-goal scoring spree in the final period to down the last place Chicago Black Hawks 5-2.

* * *

More important than the victory which the Canadiens didn't need, was the establishing of two records. Jean Beliveau hung up a new league mark for centers with his 45th goal of the season and on the same play Bert Olmstead matched the league record for assists, getting his 55th.

Beliveau broke a record hung up by Joe Malone, also of Montreal in the 1917-18 season when the season was 22 games compared with the present 70. Olmsted's 55 assists tied the record made in 1950-51 by Ted Lindsay of Detroit.

THE POWERHOUSE

By JIMMY POWERS

ORLANDO, Fla.—Ballplayers are not the only people in training down here under the palm fronds.

Millions of fans who patronize Yonkers and Roosevelt, and who pay more than $25,000,000 in taxes each year to the state of New York, have a definite interest in the trotters and pacers who are putting in full days getting accustomed to such items as bridle, bit, shoes, harness, hopples (for pacers) shadow rolls (a lamb's wool circlet under the eyes to hide the shadows on the track) headpole (to keep heads from turning), blinkers, and other leg and body contraptions to help the colts and fillies perform efficiently.

★ ★ ★ ★

The standard breds headed south long before the ball teams. Work began around mid-December here at the biggest winter camp of the flourishing sulky sport, Ben White Raceway.

WINTER TRAINING ACQUIRES NEW IMPORTANCE

Winter training acquired a new importance in recent years because of the early (April 2) starting date of racing in New York in contrast to the customary June or July of other years. Trainers must speed up lessons of the younger horses.

On June 30, for example, one of the biggest races for 3-year-olds, the $65,000 Messenger Pace at Roosevelt, will be held. Probably the earliest such an event has even been run. With stepped-up training, the horses will be properly conditioned for this stern test.

The reason harness horses have it tougher than runners is threefold: (a) The harness, including various items of equipment; (b) The sulky, the two-wheeled "bike" streamlined down from the farm wagons and carriages used when the sport began informally 150 years ago in America; and (c) the starting gate, the auto with the folding arms the horses must learn to follow en route to the starting line.

These elements show there is lots more to harness racing than hitching a pacer or trotter to a sulky and whipping him around the track.

There is an intricate program of conditioning set up here at beautiful Orlando, my favorite Florida city, by the way, in order to make competent racing tools out of green animals to whom all these things are strange and unnatural.

Like children, or high-strung, cantankerous ballplayers, these horses are individualists and practically every one has a special problem that must be solved by the experience and ingenuity of the trainer.

★ ★ ★ ★

"The problem could be one of diet, soft feet, abnormal stride, bad temper or some harmful mannerism," explained Lewis Burton, the Yonkers general manager. "Sometimes a horse that is trotting-bred prefers to pace. Don't ask me why. Ask the horse," he adds.

Valley Rivalry Still Blooms in Flint's Regional Tourney

By H. GUY MOATS

For Pontiac and Flint basketball fans the current MHSAA regional Class A tournament in the big IMA auditorium in the Vehic City has a very familiar ring.

Up to today the affair had become a Saginaw Valley Conference dominated battle. Top contenders are Pontiac's tough sophomore-studded Chiefs, the veteran Flint Northern Valley champions and Flint Central's SVC 2nd place Indians.

All three are in action tonight after a day off from the Class A wars. Only "foreigner" in the semi-final round of the tourney is a good Lansing Eastern club.

Chiefs, who drew a surprising number of Pontiac fans Wednesday night in their tourney opener (a 57-47 win) against Port Huron, go against Central Indians tonight at 8 o'clock.

In the upper half of the bracket is Northern against Lansing Eastern. These teams did not meet during the regular season, but Vikings lost to Sexton, which Wednesday was stopped by the Indians. Northern thumped the Tribe for the Flint city title.

Saturday's championship round is set for 9:30 p.m.

Chiefs did not meet Port Huron this season, but suffered a setback in their last encounter, two years ago. This was adequately assuaged Wednesday night.

For PHS and Indians, tonight's encounter will be the third of the cage year. Each has taken a victory. If any edge exists it probably should be given Art Van Ryzin's club. PHS has the height that Central lacks now that big Bill Allen has dropped out.

With Rod Treais apparently ready to go again, and with cool-headed Dick Whitmer set for fill-in duties after both turned in key jobs Wednesday night, Pontiac should do all right.

Syracuse Plays Boston to Start Best-of-Three Series on TV

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Basketball Assn. payoffs open tomorrow in Boston and St. Louis with six of the league's 10 leading scorers in action.

* * *

The field for the playoffs was completed yesterday when the Syracuse Nationals defeated New York's Knickerbockers 82-77 to break a deadlock for third place in the Eastern Division. As the result, the Nats will open a best-of-three series against the Celtics in Boston Saturday afternoon. The game will be televised nationally by NBC.

* * *

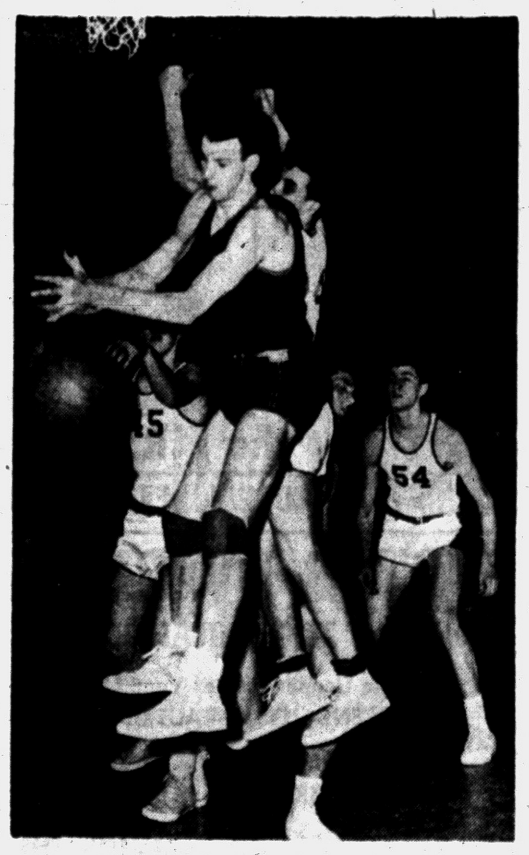

St. Louis and Minneapolis play off tonight in St. Louis for second money in the Western Division but regardless of the outcome the same teams clash Saturday in the first of a best-of-three series.

Philadelphia's Warriors, Eastern Division winner, will meet the survivor of the Syracuse-Boston series while Fort Wayne, best in the Western Division, takes on the winner of the St. Louis-Minneapolis series.

NCAA Meet in Full Swing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Can the Stuffer outscore the Whale? Are the Big Ten champions big enough to slow down the nation's biggest scorers? And how many more of the nation's collegiate basketball powers will be washed overboard by a wave of upsets?

These and other cage questions will be answered over the weekend in the three big postseason college tournaments — National Collegiate Championship, National Invitation Tournament and NAIA.

The far-flung NCAA tourney, with double-headers tonight in Philadelphia, Lawrence, Kan., Iowa City and Corvallis, Ore., gets most of the attention. Tonight's winners meet in the same cities tomorrow night, and the winners of those games converge on Evanston, Ill., next Thursday for the big windup.

Both San Francisco, No. 1 in the nation in the final Associated Press poll with a 25-0 record, and UCLA, No. 8 with 21-5, boast long winning streaks. UCLA has won 17 straight since the December loss to USF, while the Dons boast the all-time major college winning streak of 51.

* * *

The somewhat overshadowed second game at Corvallis matches Utah, champion of the Skyline Conference at 22-5, against Seattle (17-8).

Tonight little Morehead of Kentucky will meet Iowa, champions of the Big Ten for the second successive year. Morehead was the nation's highest scoring major team during the regular season with 96 points a game.

* * *

The other game at Iowa City also is a David and Goliath affair with little Wayne (Mich.), 17-1 during the regular season and surprise victor over DePaul in the first round, taking on mighty Kentucky.

Southern Methodist, which barely missed being extinguished by the upset wave in the NCAA first round against Texas Tech, puts its 23-2 record and No. 7 national ranking against Houston's 17-5 mark in one game at Lawrence.

* * *

Kansas State (16-7), Big Seven titlist, meets perennial NCAA at-large entry Oklahoma City (19-6) in the other game.

At Philadelphia, Temple, 23-3 after knocking off Holy Cross, meets Connecticut (17-9) and Canisius (18-6) plays Dartmouth (17-10). Canisius pulled the upset of the tourney thus far by knocking off North Carolina State, No. 2 in the nation, in the first round Monday.

Pairings and starting times for tonight's second round games in the NCAA Basketball Tournament:

EASTERN SECTION
At Philadelphia
7:45 p.m., Dartmouth (17-10) vs. Canisius (18-6) 9:45, Connecticut (17-9 vs. Temple (22-3).

At Iowa City
8:30 p.m., Kentucky (19-5) vs. Wayne (18-1); 10:30, Iowa (17-5) vs. Morehead, Ky., State (18-9).

WESTERN SECTION
At Lawrence, Kan.
8:30 p.m., Oklahoma City (19-6) vs. Kansas State (16-7) 10:30, Southern Methodist (23-2) vs. Houston (17-5).
At Corvallis, Ore.
10:30 p.m., San Francisco (25-0) vs. UCLA (21-5); 12:30 a.m., Utah (22-5) vs. Seattle (17-8).

Nashua in Gulfstream Test

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nashua, the million-dollar race horse, faces one of the sternest tests of his brilliant career in the $100,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap at a mile and a quarter tomorrow but the trainer of the big bay colt says he is "ready."

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who conditions Nashua, sent his 4-year-old star over the Hialeah track yesterday and Nashua did the half mile in :46 2-5 and the 5 furlongs in a blistering :59.

Nashua will carry 129 pounds—heaviest impost of his career—and will spot his opponents from 4 to 19 pounds.

* * *

However, handicappers have made the Leslie Combs II thoroughbred a 4-5 favorite to take the $83,300 winner's share and push his total earnings to $1,121,315. That would surpass Citation's world record of $1,085,760. Eddie Arcaro, Nashua's regular rider, will be aboard.

Pontiac Bowler Hits 731 for Best Series

Firing a three-game series of 731 in league play, Thursday night, at Motor Inn, Wallace Johnson turned in one of the best, if not the top, pin-blasting performance of the winter here. Johnson carries an average of 180 in the Motor Inn Class B League, bowling with Oakland Machine. He also bowls with several other loops.

In his "big" 1st line Johnson put together a double, then had a 9-pin tap and followed with six straight strikes. His series was compiled on games of 268-248-215. He had a total of 30 perfect frames, and 24 out of a possible 36 strike total, according to league secretary, Len Biallas, who has been watching this league in action for some 16 years. He's its secretary.

Educators Meet Radio Quintet

Plans were announced today for a benefit basketball game, to be played Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock in Jefferson Junior High School gymnasium. Opponents are members of the Board of Education cagers and the team representing Pontiac's two radio stations WCAR and WPON.

From The PRESS BOX

Arnold Wilson, Pontiac High's assistant football coach who has been official timer at the PHS tournaments, is making certain that everyone in the gym knows when time is up.

Wilson is firing a track starter's pistol at the end of each quarter and the explosion is startlingly effective. He decided to use the gun after the Rochester-Avondale district game because the final buzzer nullifying a Jacket field goal was almost unheard in the din.

The Michigan Junior College Basketball All-Conference team included Wayne Vriesman, Muskegon JC; Charles Teaberry, Flint JC; Dick Simmons, Grand Rapids J.C., Harold Wheelers, Benton Harbor JC, Tom Conway, Jackson JC, and Casper Katchturoff Dearborn JC on the "six" man team.

Area basketball fans who are not able to follow Pontiac High's Chiefs in the Flint regional tourney can get the game over radio WPON (1460) starting at 7:50 p.m. today. WPON will also air the Northern Lansing Eastern game at 9:30 p.m.

Chiefs meet Flint Central tonight. If they win WPON will also air Saturday's title game from the IMA auditorium.

Skater's Status Hits U.S. Meet

Robertson Accused of Demanding Excessive Expense Money

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A sudden challenge of the amateur standing of Ronnie Robertson, one of the world's top figure skaters, today clouded the U.S. championships in which he was expected to be a top contender.

* * *

The U.S. Figure Skating Assn. announced last night that "a representative of a foreign skating association" had accused Robertson of demanding "excessive expenses" for an exhibition.

* * *

Kenneth L. Brown, president of the USFSA, said the report was under investigation and that as a result Robertson's place in the current championship test would not be decided officially until a hearing before the skating group in Berkeley, Calif., May 4-5-6.

* * *

The question of his status overshadowed the "rubber" meeting scheduled for tonight between Olympic queen Tenley Albright and world women's titlist Carol Heiss.

Lionel Hebert Paces Assault

Seven-Under-Par 65 Gives Erie, Pa. Pro One Stroke Edge

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A tightly bunched field of par-busters, with Lionel Hebert nursing a lead of one lone stroke, swung into the second round of the St. Petersburg Open Tournament today.

* * *

And from the way this classy collection of swingers manhandled the Lakewood Country Club course yesterday, par golf or better will be required to qualify for the final 36 holes and a shot at the $12,500 prize money.

* * *

Fifty-three pros and one amateur bettered the par of 36-36—72 over the 6,489-yard course in the opening round. Another 21 matched par. The field will be cut to the low 60 pros and 10 amateurs, plus ties, for the final two rounds.

Hebert toured the sandy layout in 31-34—65, seven under par. The short, husky French-Canadian from Erie, Pa., was one of the early starters and he posted his brilliant score with more than 100 rivals still on the course.

* * *

Until late in the day, when Frank Stranahan and Art Wall Jr. came cruising in with 66s, it appeared no one was coming close to Hebert. Stranahan, former British Amateur champion from Toledo, and Wall, a pro from Pocono Manor, Pa., had 4-under-par 32s on the back nine.

* * *

Hans Merrell, Mogadore, Ohio, and Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill., winner of last week's Pensacola Open, fired identical 33-34—67s to tie for fourth.

Court Fight Delayed, Santee to Run Again

CLEVELAND (AP)—His court battle to remain an amateur continued until Monday, Wes Santee runs the mile tonight at Cleveland's Arena against token opposition and the meet record he set here a year ago.

It will be the third race for the 23-year-old Marine lieutenant since the Amateur Athletic Union's Executive Committee by a 14-1 vote suspended him for life last Feb. 19.

Detroit's George Young Grabs ABC Singles Lead

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—George Young, of Detroit's Pfeiffer Beer bowling team produced three strikes in his final frame to become the new singles leader of the American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday.

With games of 235, 226 and 245, Young's total of 696 was enough to edge out long-standing leader Robert Rothgerber of Louisville, Ky., who has 693.

Young, a 46-year-old equipment store owner, hit three strikes with the final three balls of his final game.

Rest of the famous Pfeiffer team, which is defending its ABC title, failed to place among the 1st five of any division.

Raymond Ignaczak of Buffalo, N. Y., took over 5th in singles with 665.

Three changes were made in the regular team division.

Marcal Products of East Patterson, N. J., rolled into 2nd place with 2,946; 3rd spot was taken by Authorized Brake Service of St. Louis, Mo., with 2,944; while 4th place went to McMahon's Prochop of Paramus, N. J., with 2,919.

Gerolmo's Wines and Liquors, Kenosha, Wis., still held the lead with 2,954 points.

Aggies Meet Duquesne as NIT Opens

NEW YORK (AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies, cradle of top defensive teams since Hank Iba took over the basketball reins 22 years ago, returns to the opening of the prestige-laden National Invitation Tournament tomorrow in the unfamiliar role of the underdog.

The Aggies, the nation's second best defensive team but with only an 18-8 record, take on the defending Dukes of Duquesne in one of the four games involving the unseeded quintets in the 12-team field.

The Dukes with their attack built around All-America Sihugo Green, and the Aggies clash in the second game of the afternoon doubleheader at Madison Square Garden after a pair of unheralded and comparatively small colleges, Lafayette and St. Francis of Brooklyn open the proceedings.

Floyd, Holup Join East Team for All-Star Game

NEW YORK (INS) — Darrell Floyd of Furman and Joe Holup of George Washington will join the East squad for the East-West college basketball all-star game March 31 in New York.

Floyd, the nation's leading scorer with a 33.8-point average, and Holup, collegiate field goal percentage leader with a 64.7 shooting mark, are the seventh and eighth players chosen for the ten man squad to be coached by Dayton's Tom Blackburn.

Coach Gordon to Start at 2nd Base Against Yankees

FORT MYERS, Fla., (AP)—Unless manager Bucky Harris changes his mind at the last minute, Detroit's starting lineup against the Pittsburgh Pirates today is to have this line in it:

Gordon, 2B.

Yep, you're right it will be the same Joe Gordon, a 41-year-old youngster who retired in 1950 from the American League wars, after seven years with the Yankees and four with the Cleveland Indians as a master second baseman.

Maybe its just to point up Detroit's No. 1 deficiency, or to show the youngsters how, or maybe Harris is just kidding.

"Certainly not," says Harris. "At least I'm going to take a look at him for four or five innings. Who can say he is too old to play until after he has been in there. Sure, he's listed as a coach and that is what he is, but I still want to have a look."

* * *

"All I know," said Joe, "Is that Bucky asked if I'd go in and play second base today. I said I'd be glad to give it a try. Beyond that I don't know anything.

"I'm not planning a comeback, not yet anyway. Bucky just wants to investigate every possibility, since he has no assurance he can make a second-base deal."

Maybe, some guessed, Harris wants Gordon around as infield and pinch-hitting insurance until Frank Bolling gets out of the army in June. Or maybe Buddy Hicks, who started every exhibition at second, just doesn't have enough to sweat out Bolling.

Hicks got a hit, scored a run, handled a putout and two assists without a bobble yesterday as the Tigers dropped their 4th exhibition encounter in five games. This time the Yankees were victors, 8-2.

Besides Hicks' single, there were only three others on the Detroit side. Al Kaline, the American League batting champion finally got No. 1 after four futile attempts; Charley Maxwell, tabbed for regular left fielder, contributed another, and Walt Streuli, a rookie catcher, got the fourth.

Young lefty Bob Miller went five innnings, becoming the first Tiger to go that far, and he looked just like what Harris has tabbed him for 1956: "A regular." In his stint, Miller set down the Yankees with a meager three hits and a single run.

The only Detroit scoring came in the third, when Hicks singled, moved to second on a sacrifice; Harvey Kuenn walked, and Earl Torgeson's grounder went through Billy Martin and allowed Hicks to score. Kuenn later scored on a force out.

Bill Rigney of the New York Giants and Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh, the only managers making their debuts in the major leagues this year, are off to a good start in exhibition games.

Rigney, up from Minneapolis, has seen his team win five of six while Bragan, brought in from Hollywood, has led his charges to three triumphs in five games.

* * *

Yesterday, Rigney got neat five-hit pitching from Allan Worthington, Johnny McCall and Hoyt Wilhelm as the Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-1. New York collected 15 hits, including a home run by Daryl Spencer.

The Pirates, a poor last in 1955, continued to show surprising strength in downing the Washington Senators 4-3 on Dale Long's three-run home run in the fifth inning.

* * *

Herm Wehmeier, Bob Miller and Saul Rogovin limited the St. Louis Cardinals as the Philadelphia Phillies came away with a 2-1 victory. Willie Jones' solo homer in the fourth inning off Ellis Kinder was the big blow.

The Kansas City A's, behind the five-hit chucking of Art Ceccarelli, Chuck Kowalski and Dutch Romberger, whitewashed the Chicago White Sox 1-0. The Athletics got the winning run in the fifth inning while Minnie Minoso dropped an easy fly ball, enabling Jim Finigan to score from third.

Gene Conley, making his first start since suffering an injury last August, fired three hitless innings as the Milwaukee Braves sent the Brooklyn Dodgers down to their fifth setback in six games 6-2. Eddie Mathews whacked a pair of homers for the Braves.

Detroit was held to only four hits by Johnny Kucks, Rip Coleman and Ralph Terry as the New York Yankees clobbered the Tigers 8-2. Bill Skowron drove in three runs for the Yanks with a single and a homer.

In other games, Dick Gernert's triple in the 10th inning gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs and the Cleveland Indians unleashed a 17-hit attack, led by homers by Al Smith and Hoot Evers, to beat Baltimore.

Shotton's Secret

Ex-Dodger Manager Almost Went Blind

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—Burt (Barney) Shotton was all smiles as he walked down the driveway of his son's home. He could see with both eyes again.

But Barney first wanted to talk about the world championship won by the Brooklyn Dodgers, the team he last managed in 1950.

"I couldn't leave my television set," said Shotton. "The way that boy Johnny Podres pitched kept me glued to the set with my one good eye. I was rooting for them all the way.

"I give a lot of credit to Sandy Amoros and Pee Wee Reese and Gil Hodges for that double play in the final game. Hodges never looked better all year. But that Podres! He never pitched for me, but one day two years ago Preacher Roe stopped by and he said:

" 'I want you to meet my boy.' It was Podres."

* * *

Shotton then told about his eyes.

"In January I got a call from Fred Lieb at St. Petersburg. He wanted Bill McKechnie and myself to manage two baseball teams for a March of Dimes game.

I begged off, telling him I had to go into the hospital. But I never told anybody about my eye trouble. I didn't want any sympathy or publicity.

When I left Brooklyn, ma (Mrs. Shotton) and me retired quicker than any two people ever retired.

We had 42 years of it, traveling here and there, and we now live in a six-room cottage at Lester Park where I am in a real estate deal with nine other fellows. It's 18 miles east of Lake Wales.

"About my eyes, well, I had cataracts removed from both eyes. I couldn't see out of my left eye.

But the doctors did such a grand job on me that I now have 20-20 vision again."

He pulled some fishing tackle out of the car trunk and before Barney even touched the artificial bait he said "Why, that's the kind of plug I use to catch all my big bass down here."

Nobody in Brooklyn ever said there was anything wrong with Burt Shotton's eyes. His identification of the small plug was further proof that he has good eyesight once again.

COMEBACK DREAMS—Bobby Shantz, 5-6 mite who won 24 games to become the American League's most valuable player in 1952, has started on his comeback trail at 30. Kansas City coach Lou Boudreau is hopeful Shantz can do it.

Michigan Goes After Sixth NCAA Ice Hockey Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Defending champion Michigan starts after its sixth National Collegiate Athletic Assn. ice hockey championship tonight against St. Lawrence University.

The Michigan-St. Lawrence winner will meet Michigan Tech for the tournament title tomorrow night.

Tech's explosive offense overwhelmed Boston College, 10-4, in last night's playoff opener.

Four quick goals by Tech in the opening period started the runaway. Sophomore winger Ron Stenlund popped in four Tech goals for top scoring honors.

* * *

Tech, playing in its first NCAA tournament, had little trouble with Boston College. The Eagles didn't connect for a goal until 11:17 of the second period, when Carl Marino smacked a rebound shot past goalie Bob MacManus.

Dick Kane drilled in half the BC total. He scored from 15 feet out in the second period and notched another in the third.

Tech's 4-0 first period lead was advanced to 6-2 at end of the second. In all, seven Tech pucksters scored.

St. Lawrence's task tonight will be made harder by loss of four key players through ineligibility. Michigan whipped Tech four straight times at the end of the season to win its first Western Intercollegiate Hockey League title since the loop was formed in 1952.

Michigan, however, has dominated the NCAA tournament, winning five championships and three consolation titles.

The loser of tonight's (8:15 p. MST) match will meet Boston College for the consolation title tomorrow afternoon.

Plans Shaping for Annual Sport Show

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the Second Annual Pontiac Sportsmen's Show, which will open next Thursday afternoon, March 22, in the basement showroom of the Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens St. Show will run through March 25.

Sportsmen and interested outdoorsmen will have the opportunity of viewing first-hand a big array of fishing tackle, boats and motors, camping, picnic and recreation equipment.

In addition, nationally-known personalities will appear. These include Mr. Michigan Outdoors, Mort Neff, Ben Hardesty, former world's champion bait and fly caster, and Lieut. Coykendall of the Michigan State Police to demonstrate pistol shooting. Also, members of the Pontiac Archery Club will participate in bow and arrow shooting each afternoon and evening.

* * *

One of the finest varieties of fishing and pleasure craft ever assembled in Pontiac will be on display. The very latest in outboard motors will be shown, as well as all of the new-fangled marine hardware that adds eye-appeal to the sleek appearing runabouts.

Fishing tackle of every description, from modernistic spinning, fly and bait casting, to the heavier deep-sea trolling equipment will be available for inspection at the various booths.

The newest thing in baits, from miniature spinning jobs to large and colorful surface plugs, and flashing spoons, spinners and wobblers will demonstrate color appeal to prospective spring and summer fishermen. Each new fishing season brings into the market a growing number of gadgets that should be found in every tackle box. This spring is no exception!

* * *

Throughout the four-day show different breeds of hunting dogs will be on display by their owners. A Canadian fishing camp operator will tell where the big fellows hide. The intricate know-how of taxidermy will be demonstrated.

The little theater that proved so entertaining in last year's show will once again be in operation. Several modern color and sound films will run continuously.

Henry Gotham, manager of the store, announced today that the show is free. Doors will open each day at 1 o'clock.

Three Quintets Drop Along Wayside

Three more quintets fell along the wayside in regional action last night leaving five area teams still in the running for state playoff berths next weekend.

Southfield fell to East Detroit 51-50 in the Class A regionals at Birmingham, leaving Pontiac, Birmingham and Ferndale still alive among the top class schools.

At Pontiac high school, Walled Lake fell victim to powerful St. Clair 68-41, and Rochester was ousted by Utica 44-40 in B ranks last night.

Utica is the sole area B team still in the race with St. Michael carrying the local C banner against St. Benedict's tonight.

Bluejays Nipped 51-50 to Fall Out of 'A' Race

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Six final hysterical minutes of action put an exciting climax to what started as a cautiously played game between Southfield and East Detroit in the Class A regionals at Birmingham last night.

East Detroit knocked the Jays out of the running 51-50 with all of the excitement cramped into the final moments.

After a 13-13 first quarter, Southfield led all the way with the score staying within a three point range until East Detroit knotted the count at 39-39 on two straight field goals by Toby Prantera at the final six-minute mark.

The game was tied five times in the 4th period and it was Prantera, who bucketed 10 of his 12 points in the final stanza, who was the thorn for the Jays.

* * *

Two important baskets were scored by sophomore Gary Ballman, one a "freak" two-pointer which ultimately was the margin of victory.

With Southfield leading 44-43 at the 2:30 mark, Ballman was unable to work free for the shot so he tossed the ball over his head aiming it high at big Ron Emerick under the board.

The pass went over Emerick's head and banked off the board into the nets for the score.

Ken Moser then dropped in a one-hander with only 20 seconds left to knot the count at 48-48 but the action was still far from over.

* * *

With 14 seconds remaining Prantera drove and was fouled by Ray Filar. He made the first point and there was a scramble for his second missed attempt.

Ballman finally got the ball and quickly threw up and scored with only five seconds left. Moser let loose with the ball as he crossed mid-court and as the buzzer sounded it ripped the cords to end 51-50.

St. Clair Impressive

Vikings, Rochester Ousted

By BILL CORNWELL

Walled Lake and Rochester's luck ran out in Thursday-night's Class B games of the MHSAA regional basketball tournament at the Pontiac High gym.

St. Clair's sharp-shooting quintet gave an impressive performance while overwhelming Walled Lake, 68-41, and a tall Utica team came from behind to pin a 44-40 setback on Rochester.

The Chieftains and St. Clair will battle for the 'B' regional corn Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Utica had too much height for the Falcons. Rochester outscrapped the Chieftains to earn a 21-18 halftime lead, but Utica's backboard strength began to assert itself in the 3rd quartr as the Bi-County League champs forged into an advantage they never relinquished.

* * *

The Falcons never gave up and two foul shots by Ron LeBarre in the final minute narrowed Utica's margin to two points. But a field goal by Dick Cole with 20 seconds remaining squelched Rochester's hopes.

Cole was the big gun for the Chieftains with 19 points, LeBarre scored 12 points and Jim Van Nocker 10 for Rochester.

Walled Lake was no match for the classy St. Clair squad. The Clair cagers stormed into a 34-26 edge at halftime, then completely routed the Vikings in the 3rd and 4th periods.

* * *

Forward Bob Lewis and Don Hasler, clever pivotman, each fired 21 points for St. Clair. Larry Hughes led the Vikings with 13 points.

The Class C semi-finals take over the spotlight tonight on the PHS court. St. Michael's Shamrocks hope to settle an old score when they tackle St. Benedict of Highland Park at 8:15. The Mikes were soundly trounced by St. Ben in the SCL playoff and they haven't forgotten it.

Marine City meets Detroit St. Gregory in the opener at 7 o'clock. Winners square off Saturday at 7 p.m. for the 'C' title.

Weekend Firing Closes PWBA's Annual Tourney

Final squads of team, doubles and singles bowlers in the record Pontiac Women's Bowling Association tournament take to the West Huron Bowl's slick drives Saturday and Sunday.

Even after wholesale changes in standings in all divisions effected by last weekend's firing, there was plenty of indication today that more are on the way. Some of the area's best feminine teams and individual keglers are among the shooters to toe the line Saturday and Sunday.

While Pontiac bowlers will dominate the lists, other final period entries will come from Rochester, Milford, Drayton Plains, Lake Orion, Utica, Clarkston, Clawson and Waterford.

Teams start work at 6:45 p.m. Saturday, with 2nd squad moving in at 9 p.m. Sunday's shooting starts with doubles team Betty Mathis and Elizabeth Baldwin of Royal Oak opening at 12 o'clock noon. Other doubles and singles squads are set for 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

For the windup there are 48 teams and 68 doubles and singles combinations.

The national schedule:

Sept. 22—Kentucky vs. Georgia Tech at Lexington.
Oct. 6—Texas Christian vs. Arkansas at Fort Worth, Tex.
Oct. 27—Notre Dame vs. Oklahoma at South Bend, Ind.

Dissension Causes Flop of Egg Hatching Plan

GEARY, Okla. (AP)—A flock of 40 guineas on the R. G. Stegall farm decided to lay eggs in a community nest in a patch of weeds. They soon had a circle of about 100 eggs.

Three of the hens took over the job of hatching the eggs. The big trouble was that disagreements developed each day. The miffed hens would shift about, leave and then come back.

They seldom covered the eggs with their bodies at any one time. Before the incubation period was over, all of the eggs had been chilled a time or two. None hatched.

Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ¼ of 1%. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on the first day of December in each year as follows: $400,000 in the year 1956, $800,000 in the year 1957, and $900,000 in each of the years 1958 and 1959. None of said bonds are subject to redemption prior to maturity.

The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the school district. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $60,000 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the school district must accompany each proposal as a good faith deposit on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Berry, Stevens & Moorman, attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the school district. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Fuel Tank Catches Fire, Levels Garage

Fire which apparently started in the gas tank of a parked truck destroyed Coleman's Service Garage last night. Damage was estimated at "several thousand dollars," by fire officials.

Edward H. Coleman, owner of the property at 1908 Opdyke Road, told Pontiac Township firemen the truck was inside the garage being serviced when the fire started.

The truck, a power shovel and the garage equipment were destroyed with the building. Firemen worked 2½ hours and poured 3,000 gallons of water on the blaze before it was extinguished.

Faucet Dry of Water Jails Rum-Runners

DETROIT (AP) — Two men were held for investigation today because their kitchen faucet didn't run water. It ran pure corn liquor, sheriff's deputies said.

* * *

The deputies said they found two 600-gallon stills running in a chicken coop outside a home in suburban Sumpter Township. Serving as a "coil," they said was a pipe leading through subfreezing weather to a kitchen tap.

* * *

Capt. Clayton Johnson, of the sheriff's road patrol, said 91 gallons were seized, along with Earl Arms, 34, and Edward McAmis, 35.

Rome Court Orders Cuts in Gina's Film

ROME (AP)—A Rome court has ordered three scenes cut out of Gina Lollobrigida's movie on the life of Lina Cavalieri, "The Most Beautiful Woman in the World."

* * *

The action was at the request of Oreste Cavalieri, a brother of the famed dancing and singing star. He contended that parts of the picture "not only dishonored the life of his sister, but reflected offensively upon living members of her family."

* * *

The scenes ordered cut were: Episodes representing Lina as having been an adopted child, the duel scene between Lina and another actress, and some of the romantic clinches between Lina and a Russian prince.

Profit-Taking Lowers Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market ran into limited profit-taking today with prices generally lower in the early afternoon.

* * *

The decline came after the market had surged to record heights on five of the last six sessions.

Losses in key issues were under a point in most cases. A handful of specialites was ahead around two points on favorable corporate news.

Volume was running at a somewhat slower pace than yesterday's total of 3,270,000 shares, largest of the week.

Coppers, chemicals and most steels, rails and motors were down a shade, utilities were mixed, and airlines were fractionally higher.

Combustion Engineering, Lukens Steel and Campbell Wyant chalked up gains of around 2 points. Pittsburgh Steel rose more than a point.

In the motors' Studebaker-Packard was off close to a point in active trading. Ford and Chrysler were lower, and General Motors was holding at about yesterday's close.

Du Pont and Kennecott Copper were down more than two points. Kennecott has been a sharp gainer in recent sessions. Du Pont today cut prices for nylon and filament yarns in an effort to spur sales of synthetic fabric.

Gainers included Standard Oil (New Jersey), Long Bell Lumber, Canadian Pacific, U. S. Rubber, United Airlines and Eastern Airlines.

Lower were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Zenith Radio, Dow Chemical, Southern Pacific and Phelps Dodge.

At noon the Associated Press 60-stock average was off 40 cents at $188.20. Yesterday the average rode up 90 cents to a new peak of $188.60.

Wheat and Corn Grow Firmer

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and corn firmed in fairly active dealings on the Board of Trade today. Other grains maintained a steady tone.

* * *

Buying in wheat and corn was attributed in part to Senate action yesterday which in effect would raise government support prices on these cereals this year.

Soybeans had a slightly easier tone although they did not lose much ground. March oats dropped a cent at the start, partly recovering later.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ to ⅞ higher, March oats $2.23¾; corn ½ to ⅞ higher, March $1.33⅝; oats ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, March 61⅝; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, March $1.30⅜; soybeans unchanged to ⅝ lower, March $2.60, and lard 3 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $12.12.

House Group Subpoenas RCA, NBC and CBS

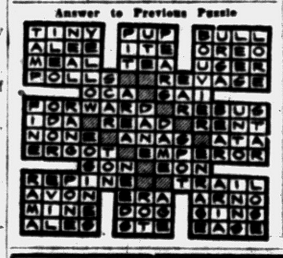

WASHINGTON (INS) — A House small business subcommittee has subpoenaed the records and officials of the largest U. S. radio-TV networks in a probe of network influence on the Federal Communications Commission.

Subcommittee Chairman Joe L. Evins (D-Tenn) said the subpoenas were issued to the Radio Corporation of America, the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System for appearance next Tuesday morning.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Nanette Wants Bigger Salary

Reunion of Sid, Imogene Considered Unlikely by TV Columnist

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — The sudden split between Sid Caesar and Nanette Fabray was not over her place in Sid's show; merely money . . .

Nan has other offers and wanted lots of cash to render to Caesar her future in TV . . .

Hot rumor started immediately that Imogene Coca would return, but we can't believe it . . .

Sid announced his own split-up with Max Liebman and Imogene two years ago and the comedienne was the only one of the three who didn't know what happened until Sid and Max told the reporters each was going solo, explaining Imogene's terrible tears at that shocking moment which lots of folks thought was just an act.

Miss Fabray was said to have had a fat financial offer of her own TV show away from Caesar but would have stayed, if paid higher wages than the $3,750 a week she gets now.

She was reported to have become engaged a few days ago to Marty Mills and might be ready to go on a long honeymoon.

We hear Arthur Godfrey may have his troublesome hip operated on at Harkness Pavilion in New York before too long, to have the vitallium plate removed and a longer one inserted . . .

Rosalind Russell sacrifices glamor for a meaty role on Sunday's General Electric Theater. Roz is a real pro and GE Theater keeps an admirable standard.

Hal March's sponsors gave him an option on a large bundle of stock before it skyrocketed and now Hal's nearly as rich as Revson (owner of Revlon).

Julius LaRosa has signed for both the March 28 and May 8 Martha Raye shows . . .

NBC fears that "Richard III" would be too cultural for a mass audience were quieted when the surveys showed an audience of between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 for Sir Laurence Olivier's opus . . .

SIGNS FOR SHOW

Fat (but rapidly thinning) Jack E. Leonard signed with Tony Martin and Polly Bergen for next Wednesday's Godfrey and Friends.

Jackie Gleason starts filming his next season celluloid via Dumont's electronicam in August . . .

Art Carney will sub for Arthur Godfrey Monday on "Talent Scouts" . . . Tom Ewell is being talked up as the summer sub on "Talent Scouts."

Thousands of gals applied for Rory Meyer's job as Perry Como's secretary as soon as we revealed she was engaged to Julius La Rosa . . . Rory scouted her own replacement at United Airlines, where she used to work, and now Vera Hamilton has Rory's old job . . . Great spot for mate shopping.

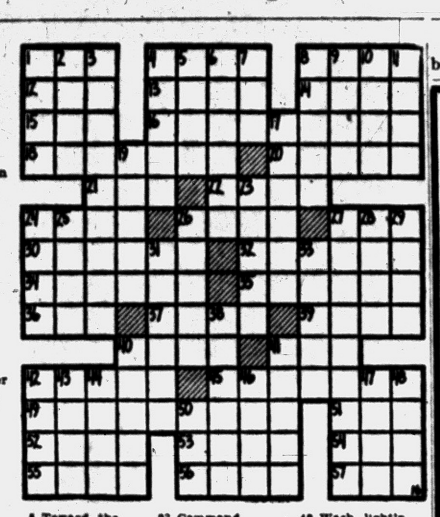

CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90," a new Thursday hour-and-a-half spectacular starting in October, has two sponsors already . . .

Plan New Building at Grand Rapids Site

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Cody Hotel, a landmark at Fulton and Division Sts. since 1886, will give way to a major department store, office building and parking garage if current negotiations are successful.

James R. Bronkema, real estate agent seeking option agreements for unidentified clients, said the proposed building would be a multi-floor structure.

He said his firm already has secured option agreements for other property in the block.

The Cody Hotel, major unit of the business block, was extensively remodeled after a serious fire in November, 1946. Its owner, Almer M. Swanson, is vacationing in Florida but reportedly confirmed that negotiations are underway.

Ben Franklin Medal Given British Society

LONDON (AP) — The Benjamin Franklin commemorative medal marking the 250th anniversary of Franklin's birth was presented Thursday to the British Society for International Understanding by U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich.

* * *

The ceremony was held in the society's Craven street headquarters, the house where Franklin lived in London for 16 years, and where Sir Winston Churchill last January received a special Franklin medal from a delegation of Philadelphia citizens.

The British society was organized in 1938 to promote international good will. It has conducted a number of projects in cooperation with the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia. The medal will be placed among the Franklin mementoes preserved in the Craven street house.
