

8 Killed in Fiery Crash

From Our News Wires

Traffic fatalities ran unusually heavy in the early hours of Michigan's first full springlike weekend.

The total was swelled by a two vehicle smashup which took eight lives near Unionville in eastern Lower Michigan last night.

By midmorning Saturday, the count had risen to 14 dead. It began at 6 p.m. yesterday and runs until midnight tomorrow.

The eight, including five children, died when the vehicles collided at an intersection not far from Saginaw Bay in eastern Lower Michigan and plunged into a 15-foot-deep drainage ditch.

"Bodies were strewn on the banks of the ditch," said Tuscola County Sheriff Hugh Marr. "The panel truck was shredded."

Tuscola County Coroner J. Benson Collon identified the victims as Leo Parker, 45; his wife, Barbara, 43; their children, Mary, 19; Peggy, 16; John, 12; Susan, 9, and Kelly, 2, all of Owendale, and Mrs. Clara Singer, 36, Unionville.

Sheriff's deputies said the Parkers' small panel truck apparently went through a stop sign at an intersection about four miles west of here in a rural, wooded area and slammed into Mrs. Singer's car.

The truck burst into flames and both vehicles careened into the ditch.

The ditch, which runs toward Saginaw Bay, contained about two feet of water.

"The vehicles were smashed up so bad, it's hard for us to determine exactly how the accident occurred," sheriff Marr said. "There were no witnesses."

Collon pronounced all the victims dead at the scene except Kelly, who died soon after being rushed by ambulance to a hospital at Bay City.

TRAGIC END TO AN OUTING — Seven members of an Owendale family, believed en route home from a trip to a wildlife sanctuary, were killed in a crash last night. The driver of the car that collided with this mangled truck also is dead.

Crossovers Hold Wisconsin Key

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Campaign strategists for President Johnson and Richard M. Nixon agree that if Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy wins Tuesday's Wisconsin presidential primary, his margin will be supplied by Republican voters casting Democratic ballots.

McCarthy is urging Republicans to crossover and supply him with votes in his confrontation with the President.

Leslie Aspin, the former Pentagon economist now running the Johnson show, was pessimistic.

"I think we're doing better among Democratic voters," he said, "but the Republican crossover seems to loom bigger and bigger."

Aspin wasn't forecasting the outcome, but Democratic campaign sources said the best the administration can hope for is a tight race, while McCarthy could conceivably win by a hefty margin.

DELEGATES AT STAKE

Fifty-nine Democratic National Convention votes are at stake. Nineteen of them go to the statewide primary winner while four are being selected in each of 10 congressional districts. The candidate who carries the district gets its four nominating votes.

Nixon is virtually certain to win all 30 Republican convention votes, but California Gov. Ronald Reagan could cut into the Republican vote, particularly in conservation sections of the state.

Johnson Will Speak to Nation on Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced Saturday he will address the nation over nationwide television and radio tomorrow night to outline decisions he has made on military policy in Vietnam.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is noncommittal on a House Republican leader's statement that President Johnson is seriously considering a 30-day pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, and yesterday he believes such a pause is being considered "at the highest levels," and added:

"There may be a bombing pause announced for a period of some 30 days just to give it a try and then the President would be in a position where he could say to his critics that he had ordered such a pause."

Tom Johnson, assistant White House press secretary, said of Laird's statements: "I haven't seen the report and I have nothing on it."

Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, running for the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of dissent to Johnson's war policies, both have called repeatedly for a bombing halt as a necessary first step toward any peace talks.

In other war-related developments yesterday:

♦ Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey said violent protesters against the draft are

"enemies of the United States or stooges of the enemies of the United States."

♦ Marine Corps officials announced that a 28-year-old woman Marine will be court-martialed on charges of wilfully disobeying orders, actions she said grew out of her violent disagreement with U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Villages Revolt Against Cong

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI) — Anti-Communist revolts have broken out in at least three Vietcong-dominated villages in the northernmost provinces of Vietnam, intelligence officers said today.

Authorities described last week's uprising as "spontaneous" and self-instigated" and they even surprised military intelligence officers.

They were the first reported in the northern province of Thua Thien which has been a VC stronghold for years.

Intelligence sources said the villagers in Van Xa hamlet in the Huong Tra district refused VC orders to deliver up their rice. Instead the villagers filled the hamlet with anti-Communist banners and placards on the day the rice collectors were due.

At Xuan Lo village 10 miles south of Hue the South Vietnamese organized vigilante groups and armed them to drive off the Vietcong. The villagers had previously been supplying the Reds with rice.

Last week, intelligence sources said, more than 100 villagers in the Acon Cu Dong district near Hue paraded and demonstrated against continued servitude to the VC and North Vietnamese army units.

Teen-agers at An Cu Dong also formed anti-VC groups to help ferret out the Reds hiding in the area and exposed them to the allies.

Weighmaster: a 'Policeman'

By HUDSON WILLSE JR.

There is not a world of difference between being a police officer and a weighmaster, according to Peter

PETER WAISANEN

Waisanen, who became weighmaster for the Oakland County Road Commission last November following a career with the Michigan State Police.

"It's more or less like police work yet," said Waisanen. "You're checking traffic and checking for violators."

Waisanen, 56, of 424 Tilmor, Waterford Township finds his work as weighmaster "very interesting."

He took over the $9,100-a-year post from Thomas Kennedy.

The weighmaster's division checks truck and bus traffic in the county for possible violations, pulling suspect vehicles off the road.

The suspect vehicles are checked by Road Commission employees operating trucks equipped with portable scales.

CAR PATROL USED

A car also is used to patrol the approximately 2,350 miles of county roads.

It's a seven-day-a-week operation.

Waisanen said his position is set up for a five-day, 40-hour week, but that during "the past few weeks I've been working 10 hours a day, six days a week."

"This is our busy time of the year," he said.

Trucks and buses are checked for height, weight and length limits which must fall within the legal standards established under the Michigan Vehicle Code.

VIOLATORS CITED

Violators are issued notices to appear before local justices of the peace.

The weighmaster's division, with seven employees, also is charged with seeing if trucks are damaging roads, creating hazards to other traffic or littering roads.

Weighmaster personnel also check whether trucks are traveling on designated or proper haul routes.

Special hauling permits are required for over-the-limit trucks.

A six-footer, Waisanen joined the state police in 1940. His career with the state police was interrupted for five years during World War II when he served with the U.S. Navy.

LONG TIME IN PONTIAC

Waisanen rejoined the State Police in 1945 and retired as a corporal in September 1966. His final 14 years with the organization were spent at the Pontiac post.

He was employed with the Oakland County Drain Commission for one year prior to his appointment as weighmaster.

A native of Hancock, he graduated from Suomi College in that Upper Peninsula community, majoring in business.

Waisanen is married and the father of a 16-year-old boy and an 18-year-old girl.

Showers Likely Tonight, Sunday

Sunny skies and pleasant temperatures are expected to give way to showers tonight. High temperatures will be in the 60s and dip to 39 to 45 tonight.

Showers are likely again tomorrow with continued mild temperatures.

Fair and cooler is the outlook for Monday.

Precipitation percentage probabilities are: today, near zero; tonight, 30; and tomorrow, 60.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature registered before 8 a.m. was 38. At 1 p.m. the mercury's level was near 64 degrees.

Latest Pontiac Dream Car Unveiled

Pontiac Motor Division's latest experimental car, the Firebird of Tomorrow, was unveiled today at the opening of the 12th International Automobile Show.

The futuristic-looking convertible was flown to New York last night from Detroit as a late entry to the show. It joins Pontiac's other custom-built show car, the Costa del Sol.

The Firebird of Tomorrow is nearly 12 inches longer and 15 inches lower than the current production Firebird.

This two-seater version of Pontiac's popular sports compact is intended to exploit the aerodynamic advantages of clean, unencumbered design. From the tip of its rubberized Endura bumper to the end of its tucked under tail, the only break in its surface is created by scoops which direct air to cool the rear brakes.

The metal name plates identifying the car have been removed and replaced by tasteful hand-lettered script. The door handles also have been eliminated. This lack of protruding hardware of the car's surface contributes greatly to its aerodynamic efficiency.

NO PILLARS

The windshield, which is less than 38 inches from the ground at its highest point, has been adapted to minimize frontal area which is a major contribution to aerodynamic drag. There are no windshield pillars and the glass wraps around the sides of the car for greater visibility.

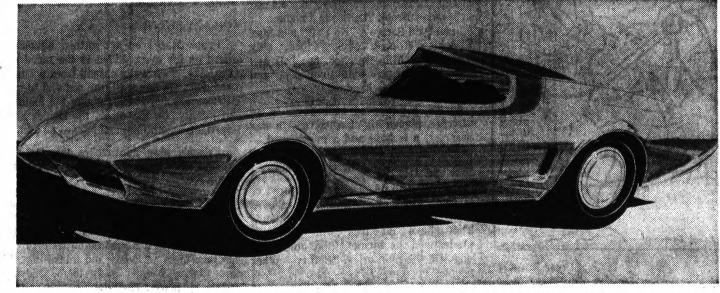

Behind the cockpit is a combined roll bar and air-flow straightener. This futuristic structure is connected to integrated lateral fins which provide greater stability in cross-wind conditions.

The familiar Pontiac twin-air intakes are located beneath the front bumper. In the rear, strip taillights flank central exhaust pipe extensions.

The Firebird of Tomorrow is painted a tangerine pearl-frost and it has a customized black vinyl interior.

Over-all length of the dream car is 129.8 inches; while over-all height at the center of the roll bar is 36.4 inches. The elongated hood is 10 inches longer than the current production Firebird.

Built on a 108-inch wheelbase, the experimental Firebird is powered by a high-output 400 cubic-inch V8 engine.

FUTURISTIC PONTIAC — The Firebird of Tomorrow, Pontiac Motor Division's newest dream car, was unveiled today at the opening of the 12th International Automobile Show in New York City. Built on a 108-inch wheelbase, this two-seater is powered by a high-output, 400-cubic-inch V8 engine.

House Democrats Block State Spending Bill

LANSING (AP) — Minority Democrats in the House flexed their muscles yesterday during debate on the 1968-69 state budget, forcing defeat of a $45-million appropriation to finance various state agencies — including the Legislature.

The House immediately reconsidered the $247 vote on its general government measure, leaving the bill in position for more work or another vote next week.

Republicans Thursday and Friday presented a near-slip front in the House, preventing consideration of amendments to the budget bills which authorize much of next year's expected $1.3 billion in general fund spending.

Democrats got even Friday by defeating the key government bill, which contains the money to run the Legislature, the executive office, the judiciary and the departments of attorney general, state treasury, administration, civil service and state rights.

Eventual passage of some version of the measure was certain. Without it, the agencies involved would be forced to close their doors July 1 for lack of operating funds.

Rep. Daisy Elliott, D-Detroit, said she voted against it because she felt the $1.89 million budget for the Civil Rights Commission — CRC — was too small. Rep. Alex Plich, D-Dearborn, said he opposed the bill because he had not received justification of the existing CRC appropriation.

Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, tried Friday to add $14 million to the CRC budget. Six Democrats and 51 Republicans joined forces to prevent consideration of Montgomery's amendment.

Earlier in the day, Republicans — with only one defection — stood firm to remove a $50-million budget increase for the State Council for the Arts, a Democrat-sponsored boost approved during last August's Thursday night.

WELFARE BILL SNAGGED

Also stalled in the House by a partisan squabble is the big $218.7 million social services appropriation bill.

Democratic leader William Ryan, D-Detroit, tried Thursday to amend the welfare bill to insure that no recipients of categorical assistance, such as aid to dependent children, would be in danger of reduced benefits if the state's caseload rises higher than expected.

Republicans voted down Ryan's amendment, insisting that absolute welfare spending ceilings be written into the measure.

Birmingham Area

Board Named for 'Adventure in Creativity'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A board of advisers composed of 11 educators, writers and artists has been named for "Adventure in Creativity," a six-week educational summer arts program for high school students to be conducted by Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools.

They are: Sixteen Ehrlich, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra; John Fernald, founder of the John Fernald Repertory Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre; Marshall Fredericks, local sculptor; James D. Hicks, general manager of the Meadow Brook Music Festival; and John R. Hunting, president of Grand Rapids' Dyer-Ives Foundation.

Also named were Dr. William R. Keast, president of Wayne State University; Glen Paulsen, architect and president of Cranbrook Academy of Art; George Plimpton, author; Robert Shaw, conductor of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra and director of the choral institute at the Meadow Brook School of Music; Durward B. Varner, Oakland University chancellor; and Clifford B. West, artist and lecturer.

The summer arts program will open June 24 and continue through Aug. 4 with instruction in four major areas: visual arts, music, theater arts and creative writing.

The Actors Workshop, a training program on techniques of film and TV-radio commercial making, will begin its spring session Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Birmingham House Motel, 145 S. Hunter.

Such subjects as slide films, motion pictures, commercials and industrial film will be examined and used during the eight-week program.

Those interested may contact program director Henry K. Martin, 2655 E. Maple.

U.N. Council Meets Hastily After Arab-Israeli Clash

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was summoned into urgent debate today on the Arab-Israeli crisis after a major air and artillery clash on the Jordanian front yesterday.

Today's session comes only six days after the council threatened strong action against the parties for any more "grave violations" of the U.N. sponsored cease-fire that halted the Arab-Israeli war last June.

The 15-nation council received demands for action, late last night from Jordan and Israel.

Fighting exploded early yesterday in the Beisan Valley along the Jordan River after four Israeli civilians were killed when a land mine blew up their trailer.

By late morning Jordanian and Israeli artillery had opened up on each other across the Jordan River. Soon after, Israel dispatched jet bombers which pounded the Jordanian gun positions for more than five hours.

JET DOWNED

Newsman spotted one French-built Israeli jet spinning in flames to the ground. Israel acknowledged the loss but said the pilot escaped unhurt. The Jordanian army claimed seven Israeli jets downed.

The Israeli army said it inflicted "a number" of casualties on Jordanians and reported one Israeli soldier killed and eight wounded.

The flareup coincided with reports in Arab newspapers in Cairo, Damascus, Baghdad and Beirut of massive Israeli troops buildups and possible impending military action.

Only nine days ago Israeli army forces crossed the Jordan River and attacked Arab guerrilla bases. Israel claimed its troops killed 170 Arab commandos in the raid.

Schools in Holly Will Remain Open

A Holly school official said today that classes will be held Monday despite a work stoppage by some 60 bus drivers, cooks and custodians.

"We'll get along as best we can," said Bruce Mitchell, assistant superintendent.

He said that Supt. Russell D. Haddon had contacted state labor mediator Leonard Bennett to arrange a meeting with officials of Local 92 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

Negotiations with the union had been going on since last fall and were in the process of mediation when the stoppage occurred yesterday. The union had rejected a school board offer Thursday.

Race Problem Can Be Aired

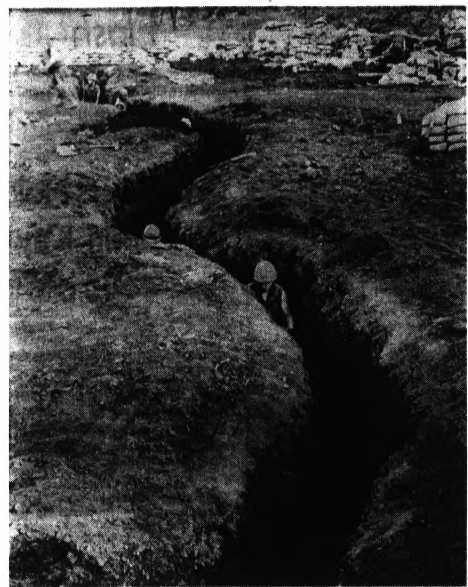

Persons interested in appearing before the Pontiac Area Planning Council's task force on race relations have been urged to contact the task force through Post Office Box 864, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

The task force was created to develop solutions to identifiable racial problems. It is expected to make specific recommendations on these solutions after hearing from witnesses.

Edward E. Barker Jr., president of the Pontiac State Bank, and Dr. Robert R. Turpin, a member of Pontiac Board of Education, are chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the task force.

Barker and Turpin said the task force is interested in making arrangements for persons who want to discuss racial problems and possible solutions.

"This task force will be dependent on the people of Pontiac for their ideas and suggestions for problem solving," the officers said. "The greatest single need of our entire community is communications, which will permit understanding," they said.

ZIGZAGGING—A reminder of World War I is reflected at the Khe Sanh base in Vietnam as U.S. Marines walk down a snake-like trench. The trench joins two sandbagged bunkers. They use the trench to avoid North Vietnamese sniper fire. Purpose of the zigzag pattern is to cut down on possibility of shrapnel hits. In case of direct artillery hit on the trench, only men at one branch of the dugout would be hit by shrapnel.

May Challenge McDonald

U.S. Aide Quits in a Huff

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Pontiac man has resigned his $21,000-a-year government job after disclosure that he had been given a $50-a-ticket fund raising party to defray expenses should he run for Congress from Michigan's 19th District.

Gary R. Frink, a 35-year-old counsel for the House Post Office and Civil Service Subcommittee, said yesterday he was compelled to resign because of his announced consideration of plans to challenge incumbent Republican Jack McDonald in this year's election.

Rep. Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, said in a floor speech Thursday that as soon as the House approves its ethics committee the new panel should investigate the giving of a party Wednesday night for Frink by a group called "D.C. Friends of Gary R. Frink."

Frink resigned from his job shortly after the speech.

Frink, former of 115 LaGrande, defended himself today in a telephone conversation with a Pontiac Press reporter.

The University of Michigan Law School graduate said:

"I was falsely attacked on the floor of the House. The funds involved were correctly handled under legal and ethical standards. They were not handled by me at all; they were placed in a separate legal fund handled by a treasurer."

"The key to this is that I am considering running for Congress from the 19th District as a Democrat," he said.

"That is what caused my resignation. The Republicans on the post office and civil service committee put pressure on the chairman of the committee, who gave me the option of stating I would not run for office or resigning."

Frink said the funds raised at the party — $2,000 — have been handled according to the law.

Frink, who once served as president of the Avon Township Democratic Club, said he and his family would return to Michigan.

Meadow Brook Review

Plays Argue for Man's Self-Determination

By DON BRAUNAGEL

Those who believe that man is subject to uncontrolled fate won't find any comfort in the two one-act plays that opened at Meadow Brook Theatre last night.

Jean-Paul Sartre's "No Exit" and Max Frisch's "The Firebugs," both ably directed by Milo Sperber, use hell and flames to argue that man can, and should, determine his destiny.

Sartre, a professed nonbeliever in an afterlife, places his characters — a war deserter, a lesbian and a man-chaser — in eternal hell, which turns out to be a locked, windowless, mirrorless room.

Expecting to be physically tortured or burned, the three feel almost relieved until they realize their true punishment: They have no free will. Each is predestined to torment the others. In anguish, the man cries, "Hell is — other people."

Jill Tanner played the lesbian with sufficient toughness, but Barbara Caruso failed to overdo the wider range of emotions in her role. Joshua Bryant depicted the coward's passivity well and put special feelings into his love scenes with Miss Caruso.

SHOWS VERSATILITY

Colin Pinney, as the home owner, showed excellent versatility — sometimes fearful, often indignant and frequently funny in his futile attempt to befriend the armists.

The play has been called a parable on the Nazi take-over of Germany (Frisch fled Austria in 1939 as the Nazis moved in), but it has modern parallels as well.

Ironically, "Firebugs" could be used to support either side in the Vietnam war controversy. Hawks could say it shows the futility of appeasement, while doves could argue that it urges everyone to resist what he believes immoral to prevent escalation into a holocaust.

"Firebugs" is less successful than "No Exit" in emphasizing the man-can-master-fate theme because Frisch's characters, being representations, are harder to identify with.

The plays will run through April 28.

Yuri's Ashes Interred

MOSCOW (AP) — After a solemn procession past thousands of tearful Russians and a minute of silence before an artillery salute, the ashes of cosmonaut Yuri A. Gagarin were interred today in the Kremlin Wall facing Red Square. The ashes of Gagarin and his flying companion, Col. Vladimir S. Seryugin, were borne to the Soviet Union from the Central House of the Soviet Army, where hundreds of thousands had paid tribute to the trailblazer of space flight.

Garage in City Burns; Damage Put at $1,200

Fire struck a garage at 148 N. Astor at about 11 a.m. today, causing an estimated $1,200 damage.

City firemen, who remained at the scene for about one-half hour, estimated damage at $1,000 to the structure and $200 to the contents.

The cause was not immediately determined.

F111 Doubts Ill-Founded—Pilot

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force senior pilot who flew the new F111A in its first combat missions over North Vietnam said today the performances of the controversial fighter-bomber is outstanding.

"I was a little skeptical at first because of the electronic sophistication of the various systems that have to work together," Maj. Charlie Arnet, 32, of New Richmond, Ohio, told the Associated Press. "My impressions before were that the failure rates would be high and the maintenance problems numerous."

But, Arnet said, "It proves to be as easy to maintain as any of modern fighter. All of the systems have demonstrated an extremely high degree of reliability. It proved my impressions invalid."

Arnet's impressions were formed just before last September when he went into training in the swing-wing F111s at Nellis Air Force base in Nevada to prepare for the first combat missions over North Vietnam.

800 HOURS

Prior to his new venture, Arnet logged 800 hours in the F4 Phantom fighter-bombers, including 75 combat missions over North Vietnam between September and December of 1965.

In all, he has almost 4,000 hours flying time in his 12 years in the Air Force. This includes 180 hours in the F111 of which 177 were in training and three in combat.

The F111s flew their first combat missions last Monday, striking at bivouacs and storage areas in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam. Four of the warplanes were in the strikes, including one piloted by Arnet.

"I used the system under the exact conditions we trained for and everything worked perfectly," Arnet said describing the nighttime strike in the southern half of North Vietnam.

REPORTED LOST

The $6-million warplanes have flown for only six days in combat. Of the six assigned to Takli Air Force Base in Thailand, one already has been reported lost. It went down Thursday. North Vietnam claims it shot the plane down.

The U.S. Command has said only so far that an F111 is overdue on a mission in southeast Asia... for security reasons no other details will be made available at this time."

The fate of the two crewmen aboard the lost F111 is not known. Presumably, a search is still on for them.

The F111s are gradually being broken in on secondary targets in the Southern Panhandle where the enemy's defenses are not as stiff as in the heartland around Hanoi.

'DIFFERENT USE'

Arnet was asked to compare the F111 with the F4, which has proven itself in combat and in dogfights with MIG interceptors.

"You can't make a valid comparison because you use the planes so differently," he said. "The F4 is primarily a daylight dive-bomber, while the F111 is an all-weather level fighter-bomber used in night raids."

"We depend primarily on radar in the F111," said Arnet. "It's high-resolution radar breaks out the ground targets and gives you good cultural return. By that I mean it breaks out the target just like a map or a photograph. The major advantage is the attack radar system coupled with the inertial navigator."

"You can select a given set of coordinates and fly to any preselected given spot. If you don't have a radar return, you can position yourself precisely over any preselected point by selecting degrees and minutes of longitude and latitude on a digital computer. Tell the computer where you want to go and it will give the command steering to the point you have selected."

"ANOTHER ADVANTAGE" "Another advantage is the automatic terrain system which allows you to fly through mountainous terrain in clouds at extremely low altitudes enabling you to evade detection by the enemy's radar defenses."

"One of the major disadvantages," Arnet said, "is the poor cockpit visibility because of the side-to-side seating arrangement (for the two-man crew). There are some other minor disadvantages."

Waterford Hearing on Sewers Is Near

A public hearing for the proposed Elizabeth Lake-Voorheis-Marion-Chadwick-Colrain sanitary sewer project will be conducted by the Waterford Township Board at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

Total cost of the project is $179,067.56, according to township officials.

Charge for most property assessments has been set at $1,738.52. There are 93 assessments.

Another public hearing on a proposed special assessment district street-lighting project for Claudia Drive also will be held at Monday's meeting.

Two rezoning petitions also will be up for action.

REZONING REQUEST

Included is the much-delayed request of Donald White to rezone property on Dixie Highway and Midland from single-family residential (R1A) to multiple dwelling (R2) and general business (C2) for apartments and a shopping complex.

The proposal has been deferred frequently pending agreement between White and developer Aben Johnson concerning road access for adjacent property Johnson plans to develop.

Also up for action is a request to rezone property at Hospital and Pontiac Lake roads from R1A to local business (C1) and R2 for 144 apartment units and five small businesses.

The request was tabled last Monday to give the developer time to secure the dedication of additional right-of-way on both roads.

The board also will introduce a request for an SDM (beer and wine) liquor license for the J. L. Hudson Co. store at Pontiac Mall.

White House Race Odds Seen Shifty

The 1968 race gets curiously and curiously.

Who would have been so bold as to prognosticate a few months ago that the snows had left New Hampshire's mountains, RICHARD NIXON, the man all the pollsters agree is the one man President Johnson could most easily beat, would have the GOP banner all but tucked in his pocket for the formality of nomination?

Who would have been so foolish as to predict that a white knight named MCARTHY and a not quite so shining one named KENNEDY would openly challenge the President and, in the trial tilts, at least, seriously threaten to unseat the champion?

Yet all this has come to pass, and because it has, it would take a rash man to say no more surprises are left.

Other men before Nixon have gone into their party's convention as certain winners only to have the nomination denied them. Paradoxically, NELSON ROCKEFELLER's latest, final, definite withdrawal from candidacy, by placing him above the mean scramble for delegates, may actually enhance the possibility of his being "drafted" should liberal opposition to Nixon tie up the Republican convention in Miami.

Other presidents before JOHNSON have been challenged within their own party, but none as strong or as politically resourceful as he has ever been refused endorsement for a second term if he wanted it. Those who hope to snatch that endorsement from him are in for a hot week in Chicago when the Democrats meet.

Other imponderables enter in—progress, or the lack of it, in the war in Vietnam; the dollar-tax-balance of payments situation; the mood of the Negro population. A new crisis—or the absence of a crisis—in any of these areas could dramatically alter the political odds between now and summer and between then and November.

One thing can be said: "The Making of the President, 1968," when it is written, will make exceedingly interesting reading.

Airlines Lowest in Travel Fatality Rate

Current statistics on the safety in various methods of travel are interesting and even surprising. The last full year for which we have the figures is 1966. Here are the deaths per one-hundred million miles of travel in normally accepted media:

2.5, in passenger automobiles (total)
1.3, in passenger automobiles on turnpikes
.20, in buses
.16, in trains
.09, in scheduled aircraft

The National Safety Council reports that in 1966 the relative fatality rates per 100 million passenger miles were:

One would have to conclude that the passenger on an airline is 28 times safer than one in a car.

Yuri Gagarin

Because personal tragedy transcends governmental or ideological differences, we find sorrow in the accidental death of YURI GAGARIN, the 34-year-old Russian cosmonaut who made space history in 1961 when he first orbited the earth.

The young space man and a companion crashed to their deaths owing to motor failure of the MIG 15 training plane they were flying.

A hero to the end, GAGARIN scorned likelihood of survival by bailing out as he struggled to keep the craft operative over a heavily-populated area.

Although Gagarin, following his initial triumph, would have preferred a more active role in Russia's space achievements and indeed had hoped to make a lunar landing, the Kremlin kept him grounded because of his inestimable value to its space program and the risks that inevitably fly with cosmonauts.

Eminently worthy of the honors paid him in life and the reverence in death, YURI GAGARIN served his country well.

Letters to Congressmen Multiply

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

Year by year, the population of our country grows, the governmental agencies expand, the literacy and the interest of the citizen increase and the letters to members of Congress multiply.

In 1935, when Henry T. Rainey of Illinois was the speaker of the House of Representatives, he told me of the days when neither mail nor callers at his office were great in number and this happy situation gave him frequent opportunity to go to the Congressional Library where he could do needed research on legislative matters.

Times have certainly changed. The mail that comes these days to a Congressman's home from his constituents—and others—is a continuing blizzard that barely allows him enough time to shovel the walks, so to speak.

Both senators and members of the House have the continuing problem of how to handle such quantities of mail, of taking the time to analyze the content and of sending out replies.

What does this mail say that reaches my office by the thousand every day?

A whole lot of it contains heavy-handed thoughts and some accusations. And I find in some of the letters welcome dainty thoughts, too.

The flow of letters on Vietnam saddens and roils and frustrates. When a mother writes that her only son is fighting the Vietnam and right down the street a neighbor's two sons live at home while they attend college, I don't know what to say to her. Will she be comforted if I say: "It is war and there have always been inequities in war?"

A boy writes from Pennsylvania. He has read I was an avid baseball fan and he asks if I know how his Little League baseball team can get some new uniforms.

Now here is a situation where I can pass the buck. I pass the letter on to Sen. Hugh Scott, of Pennsylvania, saying, "Look, Hugh, this is your constituent." And he takes it gladly.

Many citizens write to urge quick approval of more Social Security benefits. Others oppose a new tax bill.

There is a constant flow of letters dealing with the uneasy situation in the Near East. Some letters deal with school legislation or prayer in public schools.

And every morning there is the mail that criticizes foreign aid, the poverty program, Congressional junkets abroad, internal security, the consular treaty with Russia and election reform.

Then there is the mail from men who seek discharge from military service, if possible. The bulk of the mail comes from protest. If people are satisfied and happy they don't write.

Except, perhaps, people like the lady from Park Ridge, Ill., who writes that I am not conservative enough for her. She sends me a postcard nearly every day. But although she may take me to task, as she often does in firm language, she is never abusive.

I have a special way of handling abusive mail, the mail that is made up of too generously of such epithets as "liar" or "cheat," "swine" or "fucker," "crook" or "dirty dog"—and sometimes much worse. I am seldom peremptory, but to writers of abusive mail, I can only reply: "Dear sir (or madam): Thanks!"

The dainty touch comes quite often in letters from people everywhere who like marigolds and who believe that I should have some of their marigold seed. You can be sure that in such cases I do not pass the buck.

The POWER of FAITH By WOOD ISHMAEL

St. Veronica's Veil is one of the most touching symbols of faith. According to a passage in the Apocryphal Gospel of Nicodemus, Veronica used her veil to dry the sweat from the face of Christ when he was on his way to Calvary; the imprint of His face remained on it. The veil is kept at St. Peter's Basilica in Rome and each Good Friday is brought out for the people to see.

A small act of kindness won't always leave an imprint on a piece of cloth, but it will on the hearts of men.

Confident Living:

Be Happy in an Unhappy World

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There is a way to live happily in a world where there is much unhappiness. It is as simple as to learn to like people and have faith in human beings.

When you love and trust people, and get over being cynical about them but believe in them no matter what, you will be a happy person and, moreover, you will stimulate people to be worthy of trust.

Recently I visited a terrifically happy place—believe it or not, a reform school for boys. No one visiting there would have thought it had anything to do with delinquent boys for the boys all seemed normal, happy-looking and polite.

The school was established by a man who got the idea when he heard a man talk about adopting homeless boys. He became so fascinated that he decided to do the same thing.

Throughout college I desired persisted and he told his school friends: "I am going to adopt 50 of the worst boys I can find and I am going to love them and trust them into becoming real men. I don't think there is such a thing as a bad boy!" People laughed at him and said it couldn't be done.

He did establish such a home. The courts sent boys considered delinquent to this school. And some interesting things have happened to prove the theory that there is no such thing as a "bad" boy.

One had the reputation of being the worst boy in the state. It was confidently asserted that nothing could be done with him. Nevertheless I saw this "bad" boy singing in the chapel choir of the school. And the man in charge said he had become one of the most wholesome influences in the school.

"He is going to be an Episcopal minister," it was explained. "You see I do not care what boys have done. I am only interested in what they are and what they are going to be. I never look at a case history."

This wonderful man had one of the boys drive him, one evening, to a meeting 50 miles away. When they arrived he gave the boy a five dollar bill, told him to get his supper and come back and pick him up about 9 o'clock. And right on the dot of nine the boy arrived and handed him change from the bill.

On the way home the boy said, "Uncle Floyd, you must not do you?"

"Certainly."

"Why do you?" the boy asked. "You're the first one who ever did."

"Bill," he explained, "I trust you because I love you and believe in you."

"But," the boy persisted, "don't you know why they sent me to your school?"

"Yes, Bill," he said, "I know why you came here. You came home one night to find an ambulance in front of your house. Your father, drunk, had stabbed your mother. They were taking her to the hospital. They didn't expect her to live."

"They were drunk and swearing and fighting all the time," the boy said. "My father is in State Prison now. I joined up with a gang and got away with plenty for a long time. You know they sent me here for stealing cars, and tonight you let me have your own car."

The man slipped an arm around the boy's shoulders.

"You are never going to steal cars again," he said. "It's what you are now and are going to be that is important."

Once in a while you meet a man so Christ-like that it moves you deeply in your heart. Such a man is this man who believes in boys.

As someone remarked to me during my visit, "What makes this such a happy place is that faith and trust and love are all over everything."

In some schools of this kind, I understand, the average rehabilitation is 34 per cent. This school's record is over 90 per cent. Psychiatrists have told him he is foolish not to read case histories. I think his results justify his methods.

It is inspiring to know a man like that, one who goes around loving people, believing in them—that is the answer for happy living in an unhappy world.

'Parents Restored Items Damaged by Vandals'

A recent example of parent cooperation and thoughtfulness was displayed by two parents of students at Laura Smith Haviland School. Items that the students valued highly and were extremely proud of were destroyed and damaged by vandals.

Leslie R. Frisch supplied a picture replacement and Mrs. Ralph Mathers worked to have repairs and replacements made on the tropical fish aquarium that was damaged. Appreciation is felt not only by the students but by the entire school staff.

'Let's Make Every School Tax Dollar Count'

I favor the suggestion to use our school facilities and hire our school employees on a year-round plan. Other public offices are open five or six days a week the year-round. Industry, when necessary, uses its facilities and employees 24 hours a day, seven days a week. I'm not suggesting that for students, but it might apply to school maintenance. I favor a broad curriculum in our schools in order to reach every student, but are we overlooking some of the economies used elsewhere to make every tax dollar count?

My husband and I have always owned real estate and paid taxes willingly. I don't believe it is because of our age that we feel taxes becoming a burden. The young folks in our neighborhood speak the same words. Is our school system keeping up with our changing world where a rural society is no more, where jets make long vacations unnecessary and labor organizations govern?

Offers Suggestion for Little League Fans

It will soon be time for little league baseball and I hope some parents, spectators and a few of the coaches of the Walled Lake Little League have matured since last season. If not, here are a few reminders: don't heckle and harass the boys on the opposite team; don't heckle the umpires constantly; if a boy makes an exceptionally good play, he should be cheered by all regardless of which team he is on.

The boys in this league are good sportsmen. If the adults can learn from them, we should have an enjoyable season.

Comments on Account of Visit to Theater

Referring to the article by L. Gary Thorne which commented on several conditions at the Huron Theater, as an employee, I thought each child acted like a perfect lady or gentleman. I was impressed by their behavior, even though the house was full for almost every showing. As to the long wait at the candy stand, has he ever tried working under those conditions? The adults are very impatient while the children wait quietly until they get service. He noted that many adults got "dragged" along with their children but I also noticed many adults who either came by themselves or brought a carload of kids with them. It's too bad he didn't enjoy himself.

Mother Is Grateful for Acts of Kindness

I am grateful to everyone who helped in so many ways during and after the recent tragedy which took the life of my son Michael. Hospital and ambulance personnel, helicopter pilots, neighbors, friends and many others were thoughtful and generous with their time, services and contributions. Much credit is due fireman Roscoe Hunt who endangered his own life in finding Michael and bringing him out of my burning home. It helps to know that people really care.

Do you think it wise to have playboy Rockefeller in the White House, divorced and with his second wife as First Lady?

REPLY

Since Rockefeller has announced he will not be a candidate, this ceases to present a problem. However, should he be drafted for the Republican nomination, the voters will decide on such matters.

Moscow Needs Nightclubs, Say Soviet Writers

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet writers have decided that Moscow needs nightclubs to make it swing despite the old Soviet view that such places are Western and therefore decadent.

Just back from a tour of Budapest, writers A. Rubinov and L. Chernetsky were appalled when they took a second look at Moscow's few night spots. All of the restaurants close at 11 p.m. and none offers much more than an occasional dance band and singer.

The reason this capital, with six million inhabitants, lacks any real night life is that some comrades are "seized by a holy horror" when they hear the words "nightclub," the writers said.

Arguing their case in Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette) Rubinov and Chernetsky pointed out that Budapest is Communist but it has nightclubs—and they're fun.

NOT VERY DECADENT

They stay open till 2 or 3 a.m. They have lively floor shows, and nothing very decadent takes mirror reflection of its day times enriches one no less than not stay open late because they does a book."

So why do some comrades consider nightclubs sinful? But Soviet night life can reflect "day life of a very different type...subordinated to other ethics and morals."

"Very simple," said Rubinov and Chernetsky. The worder "night life" remind Russians of the immoral West, and as every one knows "its night life is a friendly conversation some-ments that night spots should night life.

They said cultural activities, sleep. They said early closing hours won't stop drunkards. As for "We doubt that they are very sleep, they added, Soviet workers are now on a two-day week-end giving them more time for The writers rejected argu- end giving them more time for

Cohen Rebuffs 3 Protestors

LBJ Aide Assails 'Slogans on Signs'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "You have not yet been challenged to perform," newly appointed Cabinet member Wilbur Cohen told three young protesters who interrupted his speech at the University of Michigan Friday.

Cohen, named March 22 to the post of secretary of health, education and welfare, was addressing 4,000 students and parents at an honors convocation when the three young men paraded in bearing a 20-foot cloth banner that said:

"HEW—Welfare Fig Leaf On The Warfare State."

Departing from his text, Cohen said, "During your four years of college you had the luxury of study and contemplation of some of the world's pervasive problems. You have been free to criticize and dissent without being called upon to resolve the existing problems."

"We, your parents and teachers, will protect the right of dissent," continued Cohen, who is on a leave of absence from the university's public welfare administration department. "At the same time we will continue to work on the deep problems of society. You have not yet been challenged to really perform."

At this point, the audience broke into prolonged applause.

In another departure from his text, Cohen said today's incredibly complex problems "do not lend themselves to simple solutions or to slogans on signs."

Cohen, one of the draftees of the original Social Security Act and considered the father of Medicare, left the University of Michigan in 1966, but still holds his professorship on the faculty.

E. Germans Irked at Czech Liberalization

By HUBERT J. ERB
Associated Press Writer
BERLIN — The East German Communist government stands to lose more than any other East block regime in the liberalization drive sweeping Czechoslovakia.

East Germany's awareness of its dilemma is reflected in the open discord that has erupted between it and the Czech government, unprecedented in Communist bloc relations.

Czech Foreign Minister Vaclav David summoned East Germany's ambassador to relay Prague's objections to a speech by Kurt Hager, a member of the East German party's politburo. Hager had publicly criticized Prague's drive for "socialist democratization" as playing into the hands of West German attempts to split the Communist camp.

When Romania took up relations with the West Germans, there had been a similar East German outburst, but nothing like this.

In 20 years in power, the East German government, headed by Walter Ulbricht, has developed full diplomatic relations only with fellow Communist governments.

The East German Communists have staked their political life on absolute solidarity with the Soviet Union.

Czechoslovakia, as East Germany's immediate southern neighbor, could rock the East German system much more than Romania, which is much farther away.

Should the Czechs, for example, gain a real measure of economic independence that would speed their development, the contrast between Eastern and Western orientation for the East German population would become sharper than ever.

Although the East Germans have the highest living standard in the bloc, they are continually reminded of their shortcomings by comparison to their fellow Germans to the west.

Should the Czechs allow their people liberal travel in the West, East Germans—especially the young—inevitably would ask, "Why can't we go, too?"

If the Czechs were to establish diplomatic relations with West Germany, following the lead of Romania and Yugoslavia, East Germany would find itself directly flanked.

East German informants say the East German-Czech feud, dramatic as it is, apparently is the top of an iceberg of difficult inner bloc relations that has been there for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Place

The Couriers

Evangelism in Music Featured

Musical evangelistic programs are on the March activities calendars for two area churches.

ORTONVILLE BAPTIST

Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Place, pastor, has announced service of Spring City, Pa., are conducting nightly services in message and music at the Ortonville Baptist Church, 173 Church, through tomorrow.

Rev. Phillip B. Loomis,

pastor, has announced service times as 7 tonight and 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The husband and wife evangelistic team perform on the piano, marimba, bells, saxophone, electric steel guitar and triple octave chimes. The latter instrument is an antique and one of few still in existence in the United States.

Gospel messages by Evangelist Place at each service are supplemented with hand-painted scenelets and 16-millimeter color film. A sacred concert is slated this evening.

The couple has conducted campaigns throughout the nation and in six provinces of Canada.

MOODY GRADUATES

Before graduation from Chicago's Moody Bible Institute they were associated with the national radio network program "The Young People's Church of the Air."

A long-playing record by the couple recently was released.

Total profits from their recordings go to missionaries.

The First Assembly of God Church, Perry and Wide Track, will present the Couriers Quartette, currently appearing as a trio, 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Pastor Charles A. Davenport commented, "The public is welcome to hear this outstanding singing group in a special service for lovers of Gospel music."

Rev. Dave Kylonen, manager of the visiting vocal group, attended the Gospel Tabernacle in New Kensington, Pa. where Rev. Davenport pastored several years ago.

The Couriers Quartet established headquarters in 1958 in Harrisburg, Pa., where they introduced Gospel singing quartet style on the East Coast. The group now travels about 90,000 miles per year throughout the United States and Canada.

Other members of the group are: Duane Nicholson, first tenor, and Neil Enloe, lead singer and arranger.

Rev. Frank Gonzales Opens Revival Here

Calvary Baptist Church, 3570 Pontiac Lake, plans a revival beginning Sunday with evangelist Rev. Frank Gonzales.

Rev. Gonzales, whose ministry has taken him to 11 countries, will speak at 9:45 and 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. worship tomorrow at the Calvary church. He will preach at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday April 7. A Youth Night is slated April 6.

Rev. Henry Wrobel, pastor, said a nursery will be open for all meetings.

A Bob Jones University graduate, Rev. Gonzales was ordained in 1961 at Winston-Salem, N.C.

Pastor Wrobel reported, "In East Los Angeles on a Sunday night, Frank, at age nine, accepted Christ as Saviour in the Trinity Baptist Church. During his teens he was trumpeter with several well-known dance bands. As he was preparing to appear on television with his own band, he was stricken with tuberculosis. It was during his two years at Olive View Sanatorium, San Fernando, Calif., that he felt called to dedicate his life to the ministry."

Set Evening of Fellowship at Sunnyvale

Sunnyvale Chapel will stage an Adult Fellowship Night "backwards party" tonight at 7:11 in the church.

Participants will dress with apparel backwards; the program will commence at the end; and refreshments are planned near the opening. Backwards games and several skits, following the main speaker, also are on the program.

The Senior High Crusaders will sponsor a semi-formal banquet 6 p.m. April 6 at the church. Terry Walker, formerly with Pontiac Youth for Christ and his 16-member musical group from the Rockford, Ill. YFC will perform.

At 5:30 p.m. April 6 Women's Missionary Auxiliary members and their husbands will leave the church for the Far Eastern Gospel Crusade in Detroit where they will be served an international dinner and tour the mission.

Film Rescheduled

The Mercy League of Oakland County has rescheduled presentation of a travelogue "The Best of Ireland." The film will be shown at 3 p.m. April 7 in the gymnasium of St. Hugh of the Hills school.

Donations will be accepted at the door for the program which is open to the public.

Police Suspended in Alleged Beating of Negroes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sheriff E. Wilson Purdy said Friday that "appropriate action" will be taken when an investigation is completed into charges that two handcuffed Negroes were kicked and beaten by police while other officers watched.

Three deputies were suspended from duty Friday by Purdy, including a sergeant who was a seven-year veteran of the 1,000-man Dade County police force.

Arthur Sorey, 38, and Donald Sorey, 20, his brother, told investigators for Purdy that they were handcuffed, driven to the grounds of Brownsville Junior High School last Saturday night, then beaten and kicked by at least five deputies while officers from four other squad cars looked on.

The brothers later were jailed for disorderly conduct and released on $500 bond each. They said they did nothing to provoke assault or arrest.

Officer Jack W. Wheeler, 25, and officer Wayne H. Clark, 26, were suspended by Purdy Friday on a departmental charge of using more force than necessary in an arrest.

Family Emergencies Are Taken in Stride

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Raising eight children ranging in age from 4 to 18 has prepared Mrs. Thomas Dreisbach to meet emergencies with aplomb whether they be a flooded kitchen or forgotten appointment with a home editor.

Standing in the Dreisbach entryway, I heard a pleasant, if sleep-fogged, voice come over the intercom in answer to my doorbell ring.

"Yes."

"This is Jody Headlee," I answered.

"Oh my!" said the voice, its anguish leading through the transmitter. "Just a minute."

The scraping sound of a chair being pushed across marble was followed by a soft giggle and two pixie faces peeked out the small window of the door.

"It's all right," assured one voice. "It's only a lady. And she looks friendly too." Another giggle.

Within moments, Mrs. Dreisbach opened the front door, her two youngest children, Eric and Maria at her side.

"Won't you come in," she said smiling.

"Please forgive me, but I've had a week like no one would believe and our appointment simply left my mind." She motioned for me to follow and led the way into a kitchen that was created with perfection in mind.

"After a weekend of skiing with the whole family," she said, "we returned late to discover a water pipe had frozen and burst."

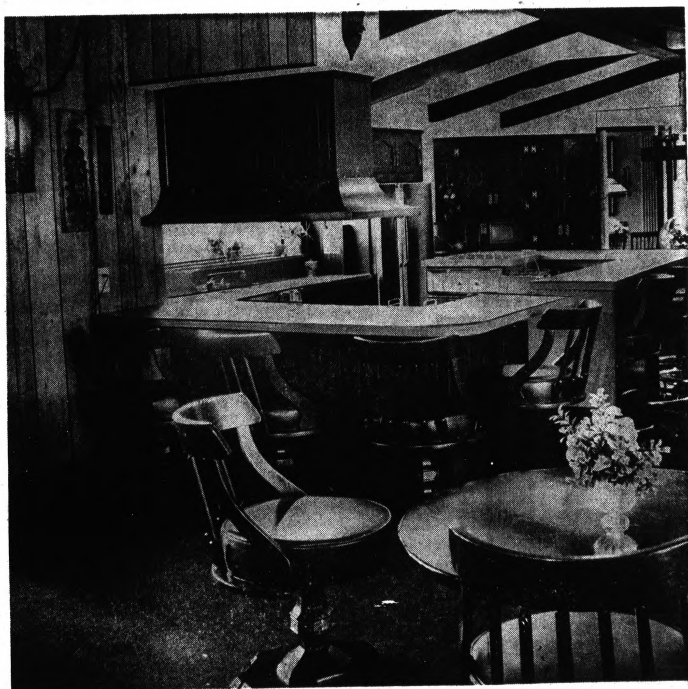

"Well all, from the youngest up, spent the night bailing. It was quite an experience."

"The children's area was ankle deep, almost to the steps." She involuntarily shuddered. "But I'll certainly vote for kitchen carpeting. It can take it."

3-STAGE KITCHEN

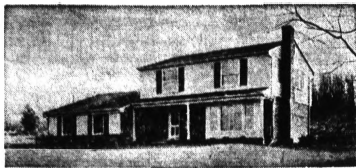

Slipping breakfast dishes into the dishwasher and tidying the red counters, Mrs. Dreisbach continued. "We just finished this kitchen addition. Our goal was a three-stage kitchen — a place for the children to play where I could observe them from the central work area and a buffet service area for entertaining."

Carpeted in shades of red, the kitchen features solid dark oak cabinets advancing an Old English motif in keeping with the home's Tudor design. In the entertainment area, a black slate-like top with countersunk warming tray is topped by a glass globe planter.

Over-All Plan
Is Important

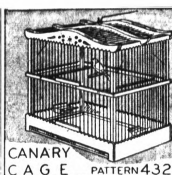

Family growing? Planning to add a room to your house? Then it's a good time to take a look at overall use of your home.

Whatever the addition—a badly needed extra bedroom, family or utility room—it'll give you an opportunity to solve some of those other problems that have been bugging you and your family.

The addition may be just the means to improve that storage situation your wife complains so much about, or it may give you a chance to divert the in-out child-traffic through the living room that gets on your nerves. It may be a chance to put in the downstairs bath you've always wanted, or to fix up the entryway at comparatively little extra cost.

Many new products have probably come on the market since your house was built.

The important thing is to examine your total use of the house when planning the additions and use it as a means of eliminating as many problems as possible.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME for your songster may be made of plywood, wire and a sheet of metal for the slide-out tray for cleaning. Pattern 432, which gives actual-size cutting guides for the graceful wood parts and assembly directions, is 35c. This pattern is also in the Variety Packet No. 64 with an interesting assortment of other things to make—all for $1. The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 50, New Windsor, New York 12550.

Wood species with high resistance to wear are desirable for paneling in family rooms which are subject to rough treatment.

Good Soil Necessary for Success

In gardening a good soil unlocks the door to success.

Without it, little else avails. And to be a good soil it should be crumbly, workable, fertile, well aerated, be moisture-retentive yet drain well, advise the garden experts of the Union Fork and Hoe Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Soils are classified as sandy, loamy or clayey by the size of the particles. Sandy soils warm up best in spring but water tends to run through them too readily and they dry out easily.

To remedy this shovel over it at least 2 inches of compost, peat or other organic matter and mix it in thoroughly the full depth of the spade or fork. This will greatly increase its water-holding capacity and supply food for the helpful bacteria needed to keep soil fertile.

On the other hand, if the soil is clayey, the looseness of the compost etc. will greatly increase the drainage while also aiding the bacteria. Thus a 2-inch layer of organic matter spaded in will again greatly aid soil composition and fertility.

Only a really good loam which few gardeners have has little need of added organic matter. Yet, even there, it is well to dig some in every few years for it tends to disappear.

OTHER THINGS NEEDED

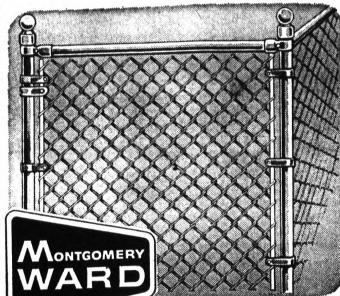

But, organic matter is not the whole story. A good garden soil also needs its chemical elements (Especially nitrogen phosphorus and potash) to be replenished from time to time.

Thus, each spring it helps to incorporate into the soil 3 to 5 pounds of a good, balanced fertilizer per 100 square feet as well as to hoe a little in around each plant or between the rows while your plants are growing.

In acid soil areas lime also plays an important part. A single soil test will usually show how much is needed. Frequently in such places about 3 pounds per 100 square feet is also helpful.

Finally, if none of these materials produce the desired pick-up in the plants, they may be suffering from a lack of trace elements, materials that need to be present in tiny amounts. These, too, can be purchased from the better garden stores and mixed thoroughly into the soil with a green thumb fork or spade.

Electrician's tape has many uses for the handyman.

Clara B. Ford Garden Forum

Noted Speakers for Program

Lowly weeds will receive recognition along with flowering shrubs and annuals when the Clara B. Ford Garden Forum takes place April 24, 25 and 26 at the Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village.

Unusual weeds will be depicted in an exhibition of some 50 large water colors painted by Mary Virginia Roberts of San Francisco. These will be on display throughout the three-day Forum.

The exhibit relates directly to the talk, "Botanical Immigrants," to be given at the Thursday evening banquet by Dr. Richard A. Howard, director of Arnold Arboretum, Jamaica Plain, Mass. Dr. Howard will cover roadside weeds and shade trees as well as cultivated garden flowers.

Earlier that morning Isabel Zucker, author of a recently published book, "Flowering Shrubs," will discuss "Flowering Shrubs and Trees to Know and Grow." The author, now director of the National Garden

Toilette Table Fit for a Queen

Lights above a mirror in theater-dressing style, or even projecting out from a wall mirror, can be a major assistance to milady's toilette.

A ceramic tile counter beneath, matching the decor of floor and wall tiles, will also be an aid, eliminating worries about stains from spilled cosmetics or misplaced lighted cigarettes.

Bureau, has grown all of these shrubs around her own home in Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Indeed the 450 black-and-white photographs in the book, published by D. Van Nostrand Co., Inc., were taken by the author's husband in their garden.

OPENING SPEAKER

Opening speaker for the three-day Forum will be Carlton Lees, executive director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, whose presentation, "Better Gardens Make a Better World," will involve the use of three projectors operating simultaneously.

Also on the Wednesday morning program, "Garden Annals — Our Perennial Favorites," will be covered by Robert P. Wintz, executive director of the Chicago Horticultural Society. He will discuss today's leading garden annuals, their origin, development and use.

This slide presentation will trace the development of modern-day annuals from hybridization and production to marketing and use in the garden.

In addition there will be tours of Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum, an early-morning nature walk, afternoon tea discussions and a dried flower arrangement demonstration.

One of the highlights will be a preview showing of new annuals and bedding plants available to the gardening public for the first time this spring.

Forum registration is $18.25 per person. For the first time there is a special group rate available for garden club members (or just a group of interested green-thumbs who wish to attend together).

There are also now in effect special husband-and-wife Forum registration rates, $35.00.

Arrangements to attend may be made through your local travel agent or by contacting the Travel and Convention Department, Office of Public Relations, Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Michigan, 48124.

FLOOR PLANS — Double fireplace serves both the large living room and the dining room, at the same time keeping each room separate. Kitchen and family room also are separated, but window pass-through enables breakfast table to be conveniently serviced.

GOOD COMBINATION — Clean lines of long, low ranch are combined in this three-bedroom house with Colonial features that have always exuded warmth and hospitality.

Small porch in front is for appearance; large one at rear provides privacy.

Sprawling Ranch Is a Favorite of Many

The surveys constantly being made to determine the wishes of home buyers are valuable to builders in making their plans for future houses.

As might be expected, the surveys show a decided preference by new-home purchasers for more space and greater comfort and convenience, especially among those who already have owned houses.

But the tastes and needs of families differ so widely that the over-all conclusion is always the same: builders must provide a solid balance of basic styles at all price levels.

In the latest House of the Week, architect Rudolph A. Matern has taken the basic one-story sprawling ranch, mostly Colonial in exterior appearance, and provided an interior layout in line with what many families prefer.

For instance, there no longer is a tendency to congregate in an oversized kitchen. Yet the necessity for an informal area has remained, a need filled in recent years by the family room.

The family room here not only is adjacent to the kitchen, but can be opened to the living

Z-34 STATISTICS

Design Z-34 has a living room, dining room, double fireplace, kitchen, family room, two foyers, three bedrooms, and two baths, with plenty of closet space. The total living area is 1900 square feet. There is a large porch behind the two-car garage. If space does not permit a side entrance to the garage, the doors could be located at the front. Overall dimensions are 86' by 33' 3".

room via a folding partition, a handy arrangement for special occasions.

Sliding glass doors leading to a rear terrace visually bring the outside in or permit easy accessibility to that same outside.

Open planning, still cherished by many, incorporated the living room and the dining room into a straight or L-shaped area some years ago.

This was especially so in the ranch. But many persons wanted the dining room to retain its identity as a completely separate room.

Here, in Design Z-34, an interesting separator of a large double fireplace chimney block does an effective job of this.

The dining room, with its fireplace, wood storage nook, built-in china closet and bow window, has its own individuality and is not just an extension of another room.

The kitchen is delightfully placed, next to the family room, the dining room and a large covered porch, which is tucked in behind the two-car garage.

PRIVACY

The increasing desire for privacy caused a demand for the movement of the porch from the front of the house to the rear.

This one, 24' long, is ideal for outdoor relaxation or dining. At the same time, the front porch has not been neglected.

It provides a warm appearance to the entranceway as well as a covered walk from the living room to the garage.

One of the two sizable bathrooms is located between two of the bedrooms, with a linen closet just outside. The other bathroom serves the master bedroom and has a stall shower, vanity and another linen closet.

The bedroom wing has its own foyer. Both it and the front foyer are generous in size.

There is an inside stairway to the basement just off the garage, rear porch and kitchen. An exterior basement stair is optional. The plans call for it to be placed at the right side of the house.

A double gable over the front wing lends an interesting look to this long ranch. A massive brick chimney houses three flues.

And brick veneer and hand-split shakes are tastefully combined to give the entire exterior an appearance of comfort.

JUNIOR GRADE FARMER — Michael Hibbs, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hibbs, 25 W. Howard; checks the number of blossoms on his pumpkin plant, Mike grew the plant as a second-grade project. Mrs. Eloise Harland of Baldwin School is his teacher. Though all of his classmates participated in similar projects, Mike's mother reports his is the only survivor.

Ideas for Fathers Who Lend a Hand

More and more fathers are now helping with various little projects around the house, as we have learned from their response and contributions to Polly's Pointers.

They, too, are interested in making home work and sure he will appreciate the use of housework easier. We girls welcome them with open arms and mids.

Here's a selection from the "Polly's Homemaker" pipeline a different color — red ink Pointers," now issued in for hot water, green for cold paper back by Berkeley water, yellow for the waste line and so on.

• "To prevent soap from dropping to the bottom of the tub when taking a shower, bore a hole through a bar of soap, put a string through the hole and hang the soap around your neck.

• "Or, tie the string around one of the water faucet knobs in a shower stall."

• "Fellows, here is a quickie when you are in a hurry and cannot find a stay for your shirt collar.

Use an opened-out paperclip. This will suffice as a temporary stay."

• "The next time you pack a suitcase for your husband place his neckties over the center page of a magazine.

Close the magazine and pack it flat at the bottom of the case to prevent creased ties. I am making sure he will appreciate the use of a current issue of one of his favorite magazines."

• "Paint household shut-off valves and one section of each pipeline a different color — red ink Pointers," now issued in for hot water, green for cold paper back by Berkeley water, yellow for the waste line and so on.

• "Keep a chart at hand keying the colors to the correct pipe lines. You will always be able to locate the one you want in an emergency."

• "Keep a plastic drinking straw around to use for an extension to your oil can spout. When a spot is hard to reach, place the straw over the spout to extend it."

• "To prevent scratching the fenders of your car when backing out of the garage, tack a section of an old tire tube on each side of the garage entrance."

Survey Shows Children First

Economics is seldom the reason for buying a home, according to the United States Savings and Loan League.

Results of a survey show the principal reasons for homeowners are to provide a better environment for children, to assure privacy, to get more space and to satisfy the wife's desire for a house of her own.

Dining Decor for the Selective

Here's an idea for the designing homemaker with her eye on new dining room furniture: Before you place your order for a particular set, have the dining room floor covered with distinctive and easy-to-clean quarry tile.

Whether the dining room set is Mediterranean or Modern, quarry tile is available in a color, size, shape and design that will set it off perfectly.

New Mexico Town Avoids Obscurity

By ROBERT E. HUBER
UPI News Feature

Two years ago, they said this town was going to die. Some folks even said it would turn into the first Western ghost town since World War II.

"It was a sad Christmas," said Chamber of Commerce Manager Frank Kaufmann.

Mayor Gail Harris put it stronger: "Even the civic clubs went broke that year selling Christmas trees."

It all began about a month before Christmas, 1965, when the Defense Department announced it was going to shut down Walker Air Force Base at Roswell. The announcement meant the loss of $1 million a month to the town in federal payroll alone.

Then several major oil production companies said they were moving offices from Roswell to Texas where taxes were more favorable and where mergers were common. Another $1 million a month down the drain.

TIGHT MONEY

Then local cotton farmers and cattle feeders in this lush farming valley announced they had been caught in the tight money squeeze along with the rest of the country and were going to cut back their big operations in 1966.

For the town of Roswell—60,000 persons stuck in the middle of the New Mexico desert with the nearest large city about 200 miles away—times couldn't have been more bleak.

Already the town was filled with empty houses because the Air Force had closed a dozen Atlas Missile Sites that ringed the city the year before. And there were rumors that the arid desert wells that provided the farmers and the city with water were going salty.

What happened?

Last year, a record crowd attended the Eastern New Mexico State Fair at Roswell. And the Junior Livestock Sale at the fair, generally supported by businessmen in the community, had a near record sale.

There are other crazy statistics too: Bank deposits are up $5.4 million over two years ago; savings and loan assets are up $1.1 million. A YMCA fund drive aimed at stalling foreclosure on a new building took in more cash than they needed to pay off the building.

"At times, people have a tendency to create their own economic monsters," Kaufmann said. "What happens, everybody starts pulling in. They're afraid. Then you have an economic standoff and nobody gets anywhere."

CREDIT

Kaufmann puts a lot of credit for the town's rebound on advanced planning.

"The first thing we did was develop a land-use plan for the base," he said. "We knew where we were going then."

By the time the July 1 total phase-out date arrived last year, Roswell had paved the way for more than a dozen small industries to take its place.

Foremost was Eastern New Mexico University, which was scheduled to operate a multiple education facility for high school graduates in the old base building.

On other parts of the base came the Loughorn Manufacturing Co., a fireworks manufacturer employing about 100 persons. Pan American World Airways began pilot training on the base's long, concrete runways. Avionic Enterprises Inc., employing about 100 persons, located its electronic plant in one of the abandoned military buildings. And there are more.

"When we heard the base was going to close, we thought we were going to Hell in a hand-basket," said auto dealer Charlie Fowler, leaning casually on a sparkling new sedan in his showroom.

"I guess it just takes a little work, a little promise and faith in the future, and a whole lot of get-up-and-go, but darned if I don't think it was the best thing for this town when that base closed down."

A lot of people in Roswell are beginning to think Charlie may be right.

Instant Floor Easy to Install

A wood floor a simple—or even easier—to install than kitchen tile is being introduced by E. L. Bruce Co., world's largest manufacturer of hardwood floors.

The new floor tile has been called the nearest thing to "instant" wood floors ever produced. Tiles are standard 12" x 9" x 9/16" prefinished laminated blocks with strips of unusually strong pressure-sensitive adhesive applied to the back.

They are installed simply by peeling protective paper from the adhesive, fitting tongues and grooves and tamping blocks down by hand. There is no additional mastic or other materials to purchase.

The only preparation needed is to make sure the subfloor is clean, dry, level and smooth. Tiles can be installed over wood, plywood, concrete, or resilient tile.

The tiles have a moisture-cured urethane finish, designed especially for laminated blocks and called the toughest finish known for wood floors. The finish resists scuffs, pet stains and water-spotting.

Wood Decking Practical Medium

Two popular uses for wood decking are plank-and-beam roof systems and open sun-decks.

With the roof system, a sweeping canopy of wood decking overhorizontal beams creates a striking cathedral ceiling and a warm feeling of the outdoors inside the rooms.

Open decks are ideal spots for dining and entertaining on pleasant days.

Wood decking offers a practical medium for jointly utilizing the strength and attractive appearance of pre-shrink lumber.

Remove mildew on leather with solution of half alcohol and half water and dry thoroughly with heater or sunlight.

Woman Acquitted in Killing of Spouse

A 60-year-old Hazel Park woman was found innocent of a second-degree murder yesterday in the knife slaying of her husband.

Mrs. Vivian Allen was acquitted by Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt following a two-day nonjury trial.

Pratt ruled that the death of Arthur Allen was an excusable homicide, agreeing with defense attorney Carlton Roemer of Pontiac that Mrs. Allen acted in self-defense. The stabbing occurred July 4, 1967.

Fight Causes $500 Damage at Restaurant

A fight involving four men and a woman caused an estimated $500 damage at about 3:30 a.m. today at the Stardust Restaurant, 380 N. East Blvd. Damaged were dishes, silverware, tables, cream holders, ketchup and mustard bottles, ash trays, cups and shakers.

In addition, food worth about $100 was wasted.

The complainant, Alfred Kosky, 57 of 2305 Hedge estimated the cleanup bill at between $50 and $75. Kosky said he intends to sign a complaint against the responsible persons Monday.

Senate Backers Confident

Fair Housing Weathers Debate

LANSING (AP)—The open present bill creates "an all powerful civil rights commission" and day of Senate floor debate.

Friday and supporters confidently predicted that crippling amendments will be removed before a final vote is taken.

But opponents, charging that the bill would authorize invasion of the home and establish a kangaroo court, managed to delete one important section of the controversial measure.

They also planned to introduce a substitute bill and a flood of amendments Monday in hopes of delaying a scheduled Tuesday vote.

"Our position is getting stronger every day," said Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, chief sponsor of the bill aimed at banning racial discrimination in most real estate transactions.

ACCUSED OPPONENTS Zollar accused opponents of attempting to "confuse the issue," but said that "whatever effect they thought they had is gone."

Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, said he plans to introduce a substitute bill which would delete virtually all Civil Rights Commission power in handling alleged discrimination cases.

Under the proposed substitute, a person who seeks to file a complaint would go directly to circuit court instead of to the commission. Investigation of the complaint would be handled by the county prosecutor instead of the commission.

Kuhn has charged that the provides the attorney for the commission in the first place and that he would be responsible for determining whether a complaint should be heard. It would be improper for him also to represent the accused, they added.

Mrs. Whitney Prall, Henderson Street, and Mrs. Clarence Smith, Windcroft Drive, proudly exhibit the beautiful Victorian quilt they helped complete for the All Saints Episcopal Church's annual antique show and sale April 16-18. Sewing Project a Visible Tribute to Late Founder

The late Emma Howard left a bequest to the women of All Saints Episcopal Church that she may not have been aware of.

Because she felt that the women had lost something by not getting together regularly to sew on a project, she began a workshop group to make quilts for the annual antique show at the church.

Now a crib size cotton quilt is done and a double bed size matching quilt is ready for quilting next week. Both will be sold during the April 16-18 sale.

But the loveliest is a Victorian embroidered quilt, lined in emerald green taffeta. It started with eight blocks she got from another deceased church member, Fannie Brown Nelson. Mrs. Nelson's mother made the blocks.

For three months, Mrs. Whitney Prall, Mrs. Clarence Smith and Mrs. Ralph Beebe put together irregular pieces of silk, velvet and rayon, covering seam joinings with fancy embroidery stitches. The quilt is done now, stored carefully away until the April show when it too will be sold.

The sewing group now called the Emma Howard Workshop will go on. During Lent, the women sew cancer pads. They are talking of little girls' dresses for the needy when they start next fall.

In the meantime, all committees are hard at work, making plans for opening day at the antique show, April 16, at 11 a.m.

Cranbrook Church Setting for Nuptials

Christ Church Cranbrook was the setting Friday for the marriage of Gayle Patricia McCurry and Grafton Curtis Keyes of Rochester, N.Y.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. McCurry of Yarmouth Road was attired in a Bianchi skimmer gown of silk and wool Douppioni. Pearl and crystal beading accented the bateau neckline. An open pill box secured her floor length veil of imported silk illusion.

A bouquet of Enchantress lilies, ivy and Stephanotis completed her ensemble.

Honor attendants for the couple were Mrs. Karel M. Howse of Walled Lake, the bride's sister, and David C. Jinks of Grosse Pointe.

Bridesmaids were Carolyn Emmett; another sister, Mrs. C. Eugene Bradley of Boxboro, Mass., and Mrs. David Worster.

Robert Howse, Herbert H. McKinley of Rochester, N.Y., and C. Eugene Bradley ushered.

A dinner dance reception at Oakland Hills Country Club followed the double ring rite.

The couple will reside in Rochester, N.Y., upon their return from a honeymoon in Bermuda.

The bridegroom is the son the late Mr. and Mrs. Grafton H. Keyes.

Mother Writes Toddler's Note With His Help

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Frazee of Palo Alto, California.

Dear Mrs. Post: This is in answer to the letter you received from a woman questioning thank-you notes "written" by newborn babies. I would like to say something on behalf of some mothers who do this sort of thing.

You see, I have received many very nice comments regarding this practice and I didn't know I was offending anyone by so doing. I feel I should make one thing clear, though, and this is whom and for what these required formal thank-you notes, and those were the kind I sent. I talked about the gift being so nice and signed my name at the bottom.

Now, when people send him things for his second birthday for instance — I print up a little note adding a light touch of humor, if appropriate, and then I give my son the pen and let him "sign his scrawl." The result is a scribble at the bottom of a note written in the first person indicating he has written his own thank-you note for this special gift.

Thus far, people have greatly enjoyed these little notes mainly because they weren't expected in the first place, and because they just seem to lighten one's day when received.

This is my side to the notes from babies, and as you can see I don't use them in place of regular, proper, cordial thank-you notes, but as an extra little expression of thoughtfulness. — Virginia Frazee

Dear Mrs. Frazee: You and I have no argument at all! The type of note you describe is quite different from that sent for a gift for a newborn baby, and I fully approve of letting a toddler participate in the thanks — even with an illegible scrawl. I hope I didn't offend or insult others who do this with discrimination and taste — I heartily approve.

This is the look that captured grandpa's heart, and it's still sweet magic today! The white embroidered nylon top is finely tucked and covered with lace, even has modified leg o' mutton sleeves! The acetate and rayon black skirt carries out the two-piece look with a wide black patent belt. All junior size fashions shown from Montgomery Ward.

Let Her Know She's Not a Guest, and if That Doesn't Work--Out

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is 22, married a 19-year-old girl he met while he was stationed out west in the army.

We asked him to wait until he had a steady job, but he didn't listen to us. So now he's discharged and they are living with us.

We don't mind helping them out, Abby, but she is a lazy good-for-nothing slob. They've been living with us going on three months, and she has never once offered to dry a dish or even make up their bed. The laundry piles up and she doesn't even lift a finger to help. I do everything.

I have hinted until I can't stand the sight of her. If she were a DAUGHTER I would give her a good swift kick in the pants. She gets up every morning to watch Captain Kangaroo, then she goes back to bed again. She acts like a guest, and my son refuses to say anything to her. I could write a book but I can't find an ending.

NEEDS HELP
DEAR NEEDS: Perhaps she is acting like a "guest" because you've been treating her like one. So treat her like a DAUGHTER! And tell your son and his childish bride that if they don't pitch in and help with the household chores, they can find other quarters.

ABBY

Phyllis Ann Hutchinson Reveals Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hutchinson of Woodland Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis Ann, to C. Ray McDaniel.

Miss Hutchinson and her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McDaniel of Sweetwater, Tenn., are planning to wed June 22.

DEAR ABBY: I am dating a young woman I could be serious about, but here's the problem: She has a beautiful face, but she's little on the heavy side. She's very much aware of it and is always on some kind of diet. Can "overweight" run in the family?

The reason I ask is because her mother is so enormous she can't get through a door unless she goes sideways. And her grandmother is worse yet. She has to be helped up out of chairs.

Believe me, Abby, this scares me and the thought of having this girl for my wife and having her turn out like her mother and grandmother really turns me off. Please advise me.

Honeymoon Draws to an End as Capt. Robb Leaves for Duty

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — President Johnson's son-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, and his wife Lynda Bird, today reached the melancholy fork in the road that has confronted families of thousands of American servicemen.

Her way leads to long months of enforced separation from her young husband — to the fortunes of war on the battlefields of Vietnam.

The Robbs today left the San Clemente Inn, the luxury motel that has been their home on the edge of this sprawling Marine Corps Base since Monday.

Robb was due at 5:15 p.m. PST (8:15 p.m. EST) at Norton Air Force Base near San Bernardino, Calif., 50 miles north of there in the southern California desert.

An hour later, a chartered Braniff Airways plane will carry Robb on the first leg of a flight to the head quarters of the First Marine Division at Phu Bai, South Vietnam.

He will travel with a party of marine officers, with whom he has just completed a three-day orientation course at Camp Pendleton designed to prepare him for duty in the war zone.

LYNDA

Mrs. Robb's immediate plans were not known. It was assumed that like many service wives she would accompany her husband to the airport for a last farewell, and then return home to Washington as soon as possible.

Robb insisted on privacy during his three-day course at the marine base, and secret service agents have carefully shielded the couple's activities during Robb's off duty hours.

One of the last phases of Robb's course at Camp Pendleton was instruction in use of the controversial M-16 automatic rifle. His marine experience qualifies him to commend an infantry company.

You'll look absolutely delectable in this ruffled organza-topped ensemble with a black acetate and crepe skirt gathered in with a wide black patent belt.

Deliciously feminine, this dress combines a stitch-plaided white and chocolate brown dacron and cotton skirt with a frilly cascade jacket white cotton ruffled top.

MSU's Singing Statesmen to Perform

Under the direction of Alan B. Poland of the Music Department, the Singing Statesmen from Michigan State University will appear in concert Tuesday, April 9, at Lincoln Junior High School.

Filling out the evening of melody will be classical selections, folk songs, Negro spirituals, novelty numbers and music from Broadway musicals.

Also performing will be Mike Reeds, last year's Dora Dawson Scholarship winner. A cornetist, Mike has received 30 medals in state solo and ensemble competitions and is currently a member of the MSU marching band.

The musical offering, slated to begin at 8:15 p.m., is sponsored by members of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicals. Proceeds from the event will be used towards a scholarship fund.

STATESMEN

The Statesmen were known to millions across the nation through appearances on the nationally televised "Dinah Shore Show" and the "Ed Sullivan Show," and performances before various national organizations, including an appearance with Dinah Shore at a national conference of the American Dairy Association in Chicago. The men also were featured at the inauguration festivities for President Eisenhower at Washington, D.C., in 1957.

Recent highlights of the Club include joint concerts with men's glee clubs from other universities, including Michigan, Wayne State, Ohio State, Toronto, Indiana, Ferris State and Northwestern. The annual spring vacation concert tour in 1966 took the group throughout Michigan, with performances of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury."

Early in the fall of 1967, the group held a music clinic at Gull Lake to assist new voices and to prepare for a busy season as MSU's musical ambassadors. Shortly thereafter, they gave two concerts at Expo '67 in Montreal, Canada.

POLAND

Alan Poland, who has taught in Michigan schools for eight years, brings a considerable background of choral experience to the Singing Statesmen. In demand as a choral clinician and adjudicator, he also has given lecture-demonstrations at several state music conferences.

His interest in men's glee clubs began at Central Michigan University, where he was accompanist and president of the glee club while earning his bachelor of music education degree. He has done graduate work at the University of Michigan, Michigan State and Wayne State University.

Active in music education organizations, he has been a board member of the Michigan Education Association, Michigan School Vocal Association and In and About Detroit Music Educators Club. Mr. Poland also has been a member of the Summer Youth Music Program faculty at MSU.

The evening's program will be concluded with the announcement and presentation of this year's $500 scholarship winner.

Tickets may be obtained at the door or from any member of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicals.

Winning Recipes Are Inexpensive

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Canned pink salmon and ground beef were the main ingredients in the second and third prize-winning recipes of Detroit Edition's "Queen of the Kitchen" contest Thursday.

Mrs. Brooker Brantley of Detroit is a young homemaker with a three-year-old son. She had bought a new hat for the occasion and kept it on all the time she prepared her New England Salmon Bake; it must have brought her good luck.

NEW ENGLAND SALMON BAKE

By Mrs. Brooker Brantley

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 cup celery finely chopped
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
2 cans (1 lb. each) salmon, drained and flaked
10 oz. package frozen peas, cooked
cheese biscuits

In skillet, melt butter; saute onion and celery five minutes, or until onion is golden. Stir in flour, salt, paprika and pepper.

Gradually stir in milk; cook over low heat, stirring until sauce is thickened. Stir in salmon and peas.

Turn into 1 1/2 quart shallow casserole. Top with cheese biscuits. Bake at 450 degrees about 12 minutes or until biscuits are golden. Serves 6-8.

Cheese Biscuits

2 cups prepared biscuit mix
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
"Add 1/2 cup shortening for richer dough"
Combine biscuit mix, cheese, milk and Tabasco. Mix with fork until dry ingredients are moistened. Knead gently two or three times.

Roll out on lightly floured board, one-half inch thick. Cut into two-inch biscuits.

A family recipe won a blender for Judy Wuckert (Mrs. Henry) of Ruth. This dish has excellent flavor.

SICILIAN SUPPER

By Mrs. Henry Wuckert

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
3/4 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
3/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup milk
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, cubed
1/2 cup parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups egg noodles, cooked

Brown meat in skillet; add onion and cook until tender. Add tomato paste, water, salt and pepper and sugar. Simmer for 5 minutes.

Heat milk and cream cheese; blend well. Stir in half the parmesan cheese, garlic salt, green pepper and noodles.

In shallow rectangular casserole, arrange alternate rows of noodles and meat sauce. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Sprinkle on remaining cheese and serve. Makes 6 servings.

What's a Mama Really Worth?

By BETTY CANARY

There is an unwritten law saying all daily newspapers will run stories headlined, "Judge rules housewife's services worth $500 weekly" just when I feel like two cents and have gone to bed with the flu.

Not that I think my family will pay me $500 weekly, but it's nice to think about the bargain they're getting. Actually, it was probably this knowledge that kept me up staggering around, clutching an old sweater about my shoulders, and being indispensable.

I kept saying, "No, I'm not going to bed, but I do think I could use a little sympathy."

The truth is that nobody whining around in an old sweater stamped "Purdue Athletic Department" is going to get sympathy. Don a pink-flowered nightgown, go to bed, and then you get sympathy. Also, the house cleaned.

Pretty soon you get neighbors come (all bearing nightmares of little children stumbling toward you with bowls of lukewarm chicken soup. (This is where you have under their bright remarks suspicions of your real worth. But then, who could expect to have the foresight to buy bedspreads the color of chicken soup?)

And, somehow you never feel quite comfortable when your husband keeps saying, "We're managing just fine without you." However, you usually have enough strength to vow that you'll teach your sons not to be so damned cheerful when their wives are sick.

The flu is a tricky ailment and when the time comes that you think you can manage to get up and take over the household before your husband finds out EVERYTHING chances are you'll go reeling back to bed, begging for love, peace and mercy.

By the time friends and neighbors come (all bearing great pots of homemade chicken soup) you are usually on the mend and can bear up under their bright remarks about how they have never seen things so organized around here and isn't it just marvellous the way your efficient husband has everything under control.

The best thing to do here is simpler sweetly. "Yes, it's his Dutch ancestry and he's out now scrubbing the streets," and then cough violently in their direction.

About the fourth or fifth day, when the children gather outside your bedroom with all the stealth of the mobilization of the entire Red Chinese army, you can usually announce dramatically that, although near unto death, you think you can join them at the dinner table tonight.

And this is where your youngest says, "Mommy, I'm glad you didn't die." Then she kisses you and asks, "But when you do, may I wear your gold bracelet to the funeral?"

Estrogen treatment has been found to be helpful in the treatment of canker sores in some women.

The James L. Newtons of Roseberry Court announce the betrothal of their daughter, Brenda Gay, to Dwight Warren Williams. A student at Cedarville College in Ohio, he is the son of Mrs. Dallas Williams of Hollister Street and the late Mr. Williams. July vows are slated.

A June wedding is planned by Victoria Catherine Davison and Jerry Frank Miller. The bride elect, who has attended Oakland Community College, is the daughter of Mrs. Hazel Moore of Clarkston and the late Victor Davison. Her fiancé is the son of Frank Miller of South Johnson Avenue.

New Ticking Pillow Tonic

Is your old pillow ticking getting you down? Is that what's bothering you? With the voice of the turtle and spring-cleaning fever abroad in the land, the Textile Dye Institute suggests the tonic of new pillow ticking available in a potpourri of pattern and color.

A further hint for bright bed: To keep color-pretty sheets color-lively, wash in a "mixed" load — only one or two sheets with smaller, light-colored items.

Any interested alumnae that are new to the area are welcome to attend by making reservations with Mrs. Schneider.

The Groves, who were married in 1903 in Ionia County, have six grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Surgical Miracle Answers Their Prayers

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 28th in a series of 40 articles to be published by The Pontiac Press during Lent telling personal stories of faith in action in the lives of sincere people. Some contributors are famous, others relatively unknown.)

By Charlotte Hale Smith
Housewife, Doraville, Georgia
When Donna Lynn Prieskorn was six weeks old back in 1950, her pediatrician spoke to her parents with compassion and honesty.

"She can't live long. There are seven different heart problems. Please love her and enjoy her and be thankful DONNA LYNN for whatever time you have."

So the Prieskorns approached life a day at a time and held fast to the hope that their little girl would survive. They had watched the clubbed fingers and blue lips develop, and helped Donna fight just to breathe through almost nightly choking, prostrating crises.

And the child did live, day by perilous day. Despite every medical prognosis to the contrary she survived infancy.

"Does Jesus really love everybody, Mommie?" Donna Lynn asked when she was 5.

"Of course, darling."

PAINFUL CRAMPS

"Well if He loves everybody, why did He make me this way?" The question followed two days of painful cramps caused by faulty blood circulation.

"I don't know, Donna," Dorothy Prieskorn made herself answer steadily, "but we do know God never intends people to suffer. Someday we'll understand."

"I hope so," said the tired, trusting child.

Some people thought her parents' trust must have outlasted their vision, but they decided to let visiting teachers help bright little Donna Lynn "start to school" at home. Did it make sense, teaching a dying 6-year-old to read?

The Prieskorns thought so. They also helped her attend Sunday school, visit her relatives, and even go shopping, though heart seizures often cut these outings pitifully short. In fact, there was a crisis almost every month when Donna Lynn's life seemed to hang in the balance.

Yet friends were impressed by how fast Donna's faith developed even though her tiny body hardly seemed to grow at all.

The girl prayed constantly, especially on bad nights when she struggled to live. Sometimes she prayed all night. "It always was the same prayer — that God would give me my health for the year ahead."

She would watch the children beyond her window, girls able to push doll carriages, jump rope, play hopscotch and... above all else... run. Donna wanted to be able to run more than anything. Doctors were simply amazed that she was alive at all.

By 1964 amazing strides had been made in open heart surgery, but no doctor ever suggested surgery for Donna Lynn, as she had too many defects.

Dorothy Prieskorn knew this, but prayed nevertheless that surgery someday might be the answer for Donna Lynn. Her husband could not accept the idea. Then abruptly, the Prieskorns' prayers were answered in a way no one could have foreseen.

After an examination one day, the doctor warned Dorothy Prieskorn that her daughter could only last a week or so — perhaps it was a matter of days. Only immediate surgery could offer any shred of hope.

So the family started off from their home in Columbia, South Carolina, to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota.

The rest is surgical history. A 25-member surgical team labored over the gallant heart, amazed to see Donna Lynn survive the operation without fear, mishap or relapse. The doctors at the Mayo clinic corrected the seven major congenital heart defects, the greatest number ever made in any human heart, and saved her life.

Afterwards, the girl who by pink housework. She loves every all human reason should have Donna Lynn is back home minute of it.

Lansing Hearing

LANSING (AP) — The State Agriculture Department will conduct a hearing April 11 at Lansing on proposed changes in regulations dealing with the certification of seed potatoes.

Fumigation Aids in Study

By Science Service

Huge nylon tents covering entire islands have been used by two Harvard zoologists to kill all animal life on the islands in a study of recolonization by insects and other small invertebrates.

The sites selected have included half a dozen small mangrove islands in the Florida

Keys, 30 to 50 feet in diameter and up to 500 yards from the nearest shoreline.

Dr. Edward O. Wilson and Daniel Simberloff would cover an island with one of the tents, then fumigate it with methyl bromide in sufficient concentration to kill all land invertebrates but not the mangrove trees themselves.

Millie Anderson Bowls Sanctioned 715 Series

By JERE CRAIG

Millie Anderson of 3078 Bathurst in Avon Township may be one of those who can't see the forest because of the trees.

A veteran bowler in the Pontiac Woman's Bowling Association, Millie claims she felt no pressure and gave little thought to her chances of setting an All-Time woman's high series Thursday evening at 300 Bowl after opening with a 278 games.

"They (her teammates) kept telling me they expected a 700," Millie admitted Friday. "But I didn't think about it, I was too busy keeping score."

Her rooters weren't disappointed,

MILLIE ANDERSON
Bowls 715 League Series

though, for the five-league-a-week bowler posted a 715 total in the Lawry's Title League for the highest sanctioned league score ever rolled by a Pontiac woman at a local establishment.

GRANDMOTHER

A grandmother with three school-age granddaughters, Millie is currently enjoying the best of her 13 years in Women's International Bowling Congress league seasons.

She is the secretary for two of the five leagues she's competing in, and Thursday's series boosted her top average to 175. A 618 series earlier this season was her previous high mark, and she has three other 600 series to her credit.

The record-setting effort also included 202-255 games, with the final one seeing her bear down for four strikes, a spare and final-ball strike on her last seven deliveries.

The 278 also is the highest game reported locally this year among the women bowlers and ranks close behind the top-sanctioned woman's game ever rolled locally—a 289 by Shirley Pointer.

Millie's 715 is only the second such women's series locally in league competition. Mrs. Pointer broke the ice in January of 1963 at Huron Bowl with a 702.

The 715 also is reportedly the top series by any league bowler this year at "300," although Ed Lovell rolled a 714 there also Thursday.

It qualifies her for a WIBC pin and arm patch and she is, naturally, the front-runner for the PWBA seasonal high game and series award (which won't be presented until 1969).

In addition, 300 Bowl plans to honor the accomplishment with an appropriate presentation.

Mets Surprise Bengal Ace

National Loop Patsies Pound Detroiters, 9-1

By BRUNO KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla.—So the Detroit Tigers aren't winning, but they must be building character. The New York Mets, the poorest team in baseball in 1967, will swear to that.

The Mets had their ego boosted yesterday when they battered Earl Wilson, the Tigers' winningest pitcher, without mercy as they scored a 9-1 triumph.

Wilson gave up 12 of the 14 Met hits, with eight of them coming in the six-run fifth inning when 14 batters came to the plate.

The Tigers continued their punchless ways with Al Kaline and Willie Horton collecting two hits apiece in the meager six-hit output.

SHOULDER AILING

Horton, who injured his right shoulder a week ago making a catch, fielded a single in the ninth inning yesterday, and as he started to throw into the infield, the ball dribbled out of his grasp allowing the runner Ron Swoboda to reach third before center-fielder Mickey Stanley could retrieve the ball and make the relay.

The Mets, who finished 40½ games out of first place in the National League last year and who are still the patsies of the Grapefruit circuit, were unbelievably hitting Wilson as they did.

Big Ron Swoboda, the right-fielder, and left-fielder Cleon Jones each hammered out three hits, while third baseman Jerry Buchek slammed a homer and a single.

KEEPS WORKING

After leaving the mound, Wilson went into the practice bullpen area and threw for 15 minutes with pitching coach John Sain and coach Hal Naragon huddled around him.

The Mets had 10 men set down in order by Hank Aguirre, who followed Wilson, but when Jones singled in the ninth, Swoboda singled to left, the play on which Horton re injured his arm.

The Tigers' lone run came in the first inning when Tracewski doubled and Kaline brought him home with a single.

The Tigers have looked helpless at the plate the last two days. Six batters were called out on strikes yesterday and five the day before in the loss to the Redlegs.

Little Texas Netter Surprises Mrs. King

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Nancy Richey plays Australia's Judy Tegart in the giant-killer Women's final tonight in the Madison Square Garden Challenge Trophy Tournament, but the world's tennis fans won't be happy until Nancy gives a return match to Billie Jean King.

It probably will be in an open tournament, since Billie Jean is planning to turn pro next week, but the rivalry already is stacking up as one of the game's fiercest.

It may give tennis a needed shot in the arm, comparable to the feuds between Helen Wills Moody and Helen Jacobs in the 1930s.

The 5-3, 115-pound Miss Richey rallied from one set-down and 1-5 in the second, fought off one match point and defeated the heavily favored Mrs. King last night 4-6, 7-5, 6-0 before 10,221.

BIG SURGE

What made the comeback the more phenomenal was that Miss Richey won the last 12 games in a row against the woman who is rated the world's best, holder of the Wimbledon, U.S. and Australian championships.

DIDN'T COUNT — The puck is obviously in the New York Rangers' net, but it didn't count during a game in Boston Thursday night where the Rangers beat the Bruins, 5-4. The shot came off the stick of Phil Esposito (7) and whizzed past goalie Ed Giacomin; and although the goal judge ruled it didn't go in, he later admitted he erred. Other players in the photo are John McKenzie (center 19) and Rangers (from left) Donnie Marshall, Rod Sella and Jean Ratelle. The score was 3-1 when the action occurred.

Trophy Night for Wings

Bruins Given Apology

By The Associated Press

A light that failed has left the Boston Bruins groping in the dark on the final weekend of the National Hockey League Season.

The Bruins' hopes for a second place finish in the East Division were all but extinguished as they go into their next-to-last regular season game tonight at Montreal. And the only consolation they have is a too-late apology from a confused goal judge.

Bernie Bailey, a longtime minor official at the Boston Garden, admitted Friday he erred in failing to signal an apparent second-period tally by Boston's Phil Esposito during the Bruins' 5-4 loss to the New York Rangers Thursday night.

"I made a mistake and I admit it," Bailey said. "A picture of the play in the paper shows that the puck went into the net. I'm sorry it happened. At the time I could have sworn it didn't go in."

Barring a collapse by New York in its final two games, the goal that wasn't, will cost the Bruins $500 per man plus the home ice edge in the opening round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs.

AT DETROIT

The Rangers, who play at Detroit tonight and then entertain Montreal's division champs Sunday afternoon, lead Boston by four points and need just one more to nail the runner-up spot.

The Bruins, three points upon fourth place Chicago, take on Toronto at home Sunday after their clash with the Canadiens. The Black Hawks play at Toronto tonight, then wind up at home against Detroit.

The goal judge's failure to flash the red light in Boston could prove doubly costly to Esposito, tied with Detroit's Gordie Howe for second place — three points behind the Hawks' Stan Mikita — in the individual scoring derby.

While the Bruins bristled, Philadelphia's young Flyers poised for a final assault on the expansion West Division title. The Flyers, left homeless two weeks ago when part of the Philadelphia Spectrum roof blew off, can grab the crown by beating or tying Pittsburgh tonight at Quebec City.

They lead second place Los Angeles by two points, but the Kings have just one more game to play, at Oakland tonight.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh tangle again Sunday on the Penguins' ice while third place Minnesota and fourth place St. Louis conclude a weekend home-and-home set in the Twin Cities.

Pittsburgh, three points behind St. Louis, could sneak into the fourth and final playoff spot by beating the Flyers twice — if Minnesota takes two from the Blues.

TROPHY NIGHT

Veteran star Howe, who will be 40 years old Sunday, will be presented four trophies for his performance this season when the Detroit Red Wings play their final home game Saturday.

Howe will receive the Bruce Norris Trophy as the Wings top scorer, the James D. Norris Memorial Trophy as the top goal scorer, the Detroit Hockey Writers Association trophy as the most valuable player, and the First Star Trophy as the top performer in home games.

Howe, who began his NHL career in Detroit during the 1946-47 season, has won four trophies a combined total of 45 times.

Five other Red Wings will receive awards, including Alex Delvecchio, Gary Bergman, Roy Edwards and Gary Kariya. One player is voted by secret ballot as the best actor while injured, and his name will be announced at the ceremonies.

Delvecchio, Wings captain since 1961, will receive the Stu Evans Trophy as the player best combining ability and sportsmanship and the For-Em Club Trophy as "unsung hero."

Bergman will receive the Air Canada Trophy as the top defenseman. Edwards and Jarrett will share the Rookie-Of-The-Year Award from the Detroit Sports Broadcasters Association.

Sharp Cougars Ready for '68

Soccer Debut

ATLANTA (AP) — The Detroit Cougars, with a batch of new faces and victories in nine of 10 exhibition games, open the North American Soccer League season tonight at Atlanta.

Coach Len Juliano, who has spent a year searching for talent among the top European teams, will field a squad of 20 players, including Walter Bruce, a halfback-forward and the lone holdover from last year's Glentoran Club which represented Detroit in the now defunct United Soccer Association.

This season, the association merged with the National Professional Soccer League to form the 17-team NASL, including two Canadian entries.

Detroit will play a 32-game schedule, with 16 home games starting April 20 against Vancouver at the University of Detroit Stadium.

Willie Hunter, a 27-year-old inside right from Motherwell, Scotland, is considered the top offensive player on the Detroit roster.

GOALTENDER

The Detroit goalie is Jim Standen, a standout last year for West Ham, one of England's best first division teams.

Two of the best rookies are 17-year-old Barry Brown, with the Belfast Linfield club of Ireland last season, and Wolfram Guenther Kamnke, the best junior player in Europe last season and a native of Kaiserslautern, West Germany.

With Detroit in the Lakes Division of the Eastern Conference will be the Chicago Mustangs, Toronto Falcons and Cleveland Stokers. The Atlantic Division of the Eastern Conference will field Atlanta, the Baltimore Bays, the Boston Beacons, the New York Generals and the Washington Wings.

The Western Conference will have the Gulf Division with Dallas, Houston, Kansas City and St. Louis and the Pacific Division with San Diego, Los Angeles, Oakland and Vancouver.

Skidding St. Louis Nearing Elimination in Cage Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, who ran away with the Western Division title, suddenly and surprisingly find themselves being run out of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Hawks stood only one game from elimination today after the San Francisco Warriors rebounded from a disastrous third quarter and squirmed to a 108-107 victory Friday night in Oakland.

Third place San Francisco, which finished 13 games behind the Hawks in regular season play, now holds a 2-1 game lead in the best-of-seven division semifinal series. The fifth game will be Sunday in St. Louis.

Los Angeles, which took second in the West four games behind St. Louis, continued to move along as expected, taking a 3-1 lead over fourth-place Chicago by beating the Bulls 93-87 in Chicago. The Lakers can wrap up their set Sunday night in Los Angeles.

ABA PLAYOFF

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky kept things much closer with a 94-96 triumph over Minnesota in Louisville, evening their best-of-five series at 2. That Eastern Division semifinal playoff will be decided at Bloomington, Minn., today.

Jeff Mullins, who had 35 points, sent the Hawks closer to the sidelines when he hit a 15-foot bank shot with six seconds left for San Francisco's victory.

Los Angeles took a 47-40 lead at halftime and increased it to 76-35 behind Elgin Baylor, but Chicago cut it to five with two minutes left before Baylor hit one basket and Darrell Imhoff two. Baylor finished with 27.

Motor City Team Sharp in Ice Play

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Detroit Myr Metals completely outclassed a game but inexperienced North Tonawanda, N.Y., sextet by an 8-0 margin in the second quarterfinal game of the National Bantam Tournament here Friday.

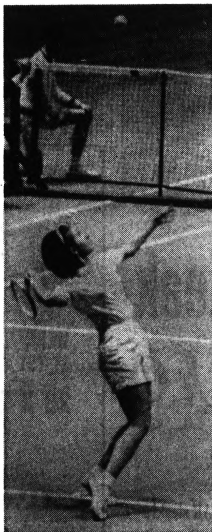

Detroit's scoring salvo was led by two goals each off the sticks of Dave Kintz and Bob Hodge plus a total of four points from Mark Howe, the son of National Hockey League star Gordie Howe.

North Tonawanda was outshot 53-15 and was never in the contest. Detroit plays Superior, Wis., in the first semifinal contest today.

100-1 Shot Triumphs

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — Red Allister, a 100-1 shot ridden by Brian Fletcher, stormed to a 20 lengths victory in today's Grand National Steeplechase, followed home by Molodre's Tokan.

Different Class, the 17-2 favorite owned by actor Gregory Peck, was third a neck behind Molodre's Tokan.

PULLS UPSET—Texan Nancy Richey

pulls upset—Texan Nancy Richey proves to serve en route to her upset victory over Billie Jean King of California during the semifinal round of the Garden Challenge Trophy Tennis Tournament in New York last night. At one time within one point of defeat, Miss Richey battled back and won 12 straight games in beating the Wimbledon champion, 4-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Palmer Gets Advice

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Rival business tycoons seldom indulge in a game of "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," but Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus did exactly that Friday.

The benefits to these golf millionaires were mutual, too. Both said to improve their financial status when the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open opens Sunday.

"Jack helped me square up my stance," Palmer told newsmen.

After shooting a record-equaling 65 Friday, He took a 36-hole total of 135—two strokes behind leaders Tony Jackin and Doug Sanders — into today's third round.

ECHOES

Nicklaus echoed Palmer's story and added his own: "After I showed him what he was doing wrong, he turned around and said I had the same trouble," Nicklaus reported. "I changed and it helped my game too."

He was six-under-par 30 on the nine holes for a 36-hole score of 142. Those with 144 or higher didn't get to join the par breakers who qualified to continue.

Favorite's Role for Cambridge

Oar Title at Stake
on Thames River

LONDON (UPI) — Oxford and Cambridge were to meet today in the 115th renewal of their crew classic with the Cambridge boaters favored to turn back Oxford's bid for a record-tying fourth straight victory.

More than 200,000 spectators were expected to line the banks of the Thames River and millions more were to watch on television.

John Backstone of Harford, Conn., one of the few Americans ever chosen to captain the Oxford crew, said his crew's only thought was beating Cambridge.

As captain, Backstone has been in charge of the crew since last year's race, choosing the team and accepting the Cambridge challenge.

Bill Fink of New York is also a member of the Oxford crew.

Record time for the race is 17 minutes, 50 seconds but neither crew is expected to match that time.

The "S" shaped course for the race is a distance of four miles, 374-yards.

One Stroke Lead
for Mickey Wright

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., top money winner among lady pro golfers, said it was just "the course against myself" after she fashioned a 36-35 for a 71 to lead the field at the end of 18 holes in the 54-hole Palm Beach Open Golf Championship.

Miss Wright bogeyed the fifth hole when she hit over the green and took three to get down. She picked up a stroke on the back nine when she had a birdie on the 10th, then birdied the 14th and 17th with a pair of ten-footers offset by two bogys.

Record time for the race is 17 minutes, 50 seconds but neither crew is expected to match that time.

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Bill Utley teamed up Friday to keep Indiana atop the team runner-up trophies and one for standings in the 45th annual NCAA swimming championship, big sign saying, "The hell with second—We're No. 1."

Today the Hoosier swimming team appeared ready to make it official.

"It would take a miracle to stop them now," one veteran observer said after record-smashing Charlie Hickox and captain

Frank Robinson finally got the Baltimore Orioles off the floor and then landed flat on his back—leaving Manager Hank Bauer in Limbo for several anxious hours.

Robinson, the 1966 Triple Crown winner who was seriously injured last season in a baseline mishap, ran a collision course with teammate Chico Fernandez Friday night as the Orioles bowed to Boston 5-3 at Miami, Fla., for their fourth straight exhibition setback.

The Baltimore superstar, whose first inning homer ended a string of 30 innings during which the Orioles had scored just one unearned run, collided with shortstop Fernandez under a pop fly in the third and was forced to leave the game.

However, preliminary reports indicated Robinson was not hurt badly. He was treated with ice packs for a strained muscle of the lower back.

GOES ROUTE

Pitcher Jose Santiago was the big man for the Red Sox, going the distance for a six-hitter and socking a three-run homer.

Big innings swept the California Angels and New York Mets to runaway victories in other exhibition action.

Aurelio Rodriguez' triple kept a nine-run ninth inning explosion as the California Angels trounced the Chicago Cubs 11-0 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Ed Spiezio's two-run homer in the ninth capped a 17-hit St. Louis attack and gave the Cardinals a 10-9 comeback victory over Atlanta at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Frank Coggins smacked a three-run homer in Washington's 5-3 nod over Pittsburgh at Pompano Beach, Fla.

TWO HOMERS

Oakland's Ramon Webster smashed two long homers, driving in five runs as the A's ended Minnesota's three-game winning streak 7-0 at Orlando, Fla.

Johnny Callison's tie-breaking homer in the fifth led Philadelphia to a 9-4 victory over Cincinnati at Clearwater, Fla., extending the Phils winning string to four games.

Cesar Gutierrez scored from first base on pitcher Frank Linzy's eighth inning double when Cleveland catcher Ken Suarez dropped the throw to the plate, giving the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 decision over the Indians at Phoenix, Ariz.

Patriots Sleep In Tree-Shadowed Yard Of The Bruton Parish Church

Completed In 1715, Bruton Parish Church Still Serves Its Community

Capitol Triggers Memories Of Colonial Statesmen Pledged To Freedom

Light Floods Through Circular Windows Of Capitol's General Courtroom

One Reporter Peeks at Williamsburg

As I strolled through Williamsburg's shadow-dappled Bruton Parish churchyard with only the warm Virginia sun and enthusiastic mockingbirds for companions, time seemed to stand still.

The peaceful aura of early morning that surrounded the gravestones of the sleeping patriots obliterated the grim headlines of the local newspaper tucked in my pocket.

Even the rustle of the trees was more like the gentle scraping of 18th century gowns sweeping the brick walkway than leaves tickled by a spring breeze.

It set the pace, Williamsburg of the 18th century, its problems solved, beckoned; and I followed.

Guidebook and camera in hand, I made my way into the church and down the aisle. Someone had been there before me. Bouquets of fresh flowers flanked the altar, and the door was left ajar to let in the sunlight.

HISTORY

Each of the wooden pew doors was left open and the family names on them read like a chapter of American history — Washington, Jefferson, Wythe . . .

I stopped at number 16 — George Washington — it was directly in front of the wooden-canopied raised pulpit. I sat down and turned to Bruton Parish Church in the guidebook.

"Bruton Parish was formed in 1674 by merging two earlier parishes; it was named for an English parish in Somerset from which several leading parishioners came."

With the establishment of William and Mary College in 1693 and the moving of the Virginia capital from Jamestown to Williamsburg, the first church soon became inadequate and Governor Spotswood presented the vestry with a "draught" for a new church in 1711. Work was begun and it was completed in 1715.

The walls and the windows of the present church are original. The interior, however, has undergone changes with plush-bottomed Gothic chairs replacing the original high-backed pews in the 19th century. Partially restored in 1905 and more completely in 1938, it once again resembles its 18th century appearance.

Still in the Williamsburg mood, I walked slowly out of the church and down Duke of Gloucester Street past the Powder Magazine. Youngsters were clustered about a young man dressed in colonial attire as they anxiously awaited the next firing of the cannon.

The charming brick and wooden homes, all reminiscent of the past, were set off by neat fences to comply with an act of the General Assembly dated October 1765.

Two homes in particular caught my eye. They were joined by their chimneys. The clatter of horses' hooves punctuated the general hum of the atmosphere and a carriage drove toward the Capitol.

Hostesses in lace caps and farthingales welcomed visitors to the reconstructed Capitol Building with its rounded ends and tower bearing the coat of arms of Queen Anne.

One led the way through the Hall of the House of Burgesses where Patrick Henry thundered his disapproval of the Stamp Act, the joint Conference Room, the regally furnished Governor's Council Chamber and the General Court.

Somewhere a bell resounded. Time whirled, and the present took command. There was a job to be done, and I hurried to the next lecture of the 22nd Garden Symposium.

Maturity and Honesty Boost a Pair of Careers

NEW YORK (NEA) — At the age of 30, Jack Jones says he has finally grown up.

He is singing better than ever, with much more feeling and maturity, and blossoming out as a good sketch comic on television. He recently appeared on The Carol Burnett Show, and he will be seen on The Red Skelton Hour Tuesday. He'll be a guest on The Jonathan Winters Show April 17.

He also has a new recording contract with RCA, which has just released his latest album, "If You Ever Leave Me."

"When I started recording," he said, "I was so green and scared and stiff it was impossible to make a good record."

"Everything has fallen into place the last couple of years. My wife, Jill St. John, and I met and now I couldn't be happier."

Jack, deliberately holds his television appearances down to about six a year. But he will have a special on NBC-TV next fall.

Marlyn Mason, a pretty, talented young lady, has more animation than a Disney cartoon.

She has got to be the only actress in the world who can go on television with Johnny Carson, tell how she spent her first several months in New York sharing apartments with various gentlemen, and make it sound as innocent as a nursery rhyme.

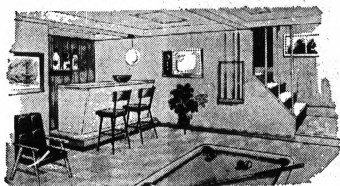

In this week's "Voyage" episode, Adm. Nelson, played by Richard Basehart (above), and the Seaview crew find themselves thrown back into colonial times as a time manipulator tries to change the course of history. The program is seen at 7 p.m. Sunday over Channel 7.

JoAnne Worley takes a comic view of life, qualifying her as one of the zanies on "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," colorcast Mondays on Channel 4.

The late Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin (left) and Army counsel Joseph Welch are shown during the famed Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954 which kept the nation's viewers glued to their TV screens. A study of the investigation—which deals with McCarthy's claims that subversives had infiltrated the Army—will be shown at 10 p.m. Friday on Channel 7.

Petula Won't Let Americans Put Her Singing in a 'Bag'

In the world of contemporary music, most top recording stars have been fitted into a category—placed in a "bag."

But English songstress Petula Clark refuses to be labeled.

"In America, they tend to put things 'in bags' more than they do in England or Europe," said Miss Clark during rehearsals for "Petula," the first television special of her own in the United States, to be telecast in color on NBC-TV Tuesday, 8-9 p.m., preempting "The Jerry Lewis Show."

"I don't believe in labels," she continued.

"The first Grammy Award I won in America—for 'Downtown' in 1965—was in the rock 'n' roll category. But that's not me. 'Downtown' is not rock 'n' roll. I'm not a rock 'n' roll singer."

SONGS IN THE MIDDLE

"I'm a singer of popular songs, and I'm not in the middle with the songs I sing."

One of the factors which Petula thinks keeps her out of the rock 'n' roll bag is her emphasis on lyrics, which many rock singers deliberately drown in a cacophony.

Petula Clark, one of England's top exports, headlines a musical hour at 8 p.m. this Tuesday. A scene in which she rested her hand on guest Harry Belafonte's arm during the taping of a song caused a hassle among the advertiser, Chrysler Corp., the advertising agency and the show's producer.

 Here is a freak hand taken from an International Match Point team-of-four game that shows four expects at their best and worst. Everyone at the table had some words of criticism for this partner although the final result was the perfect one. Jacoby and North and South bid their lay-down grand slam and East and West saved at seven hearts.

The interesting feature is that North and South were not vulnerable while East and West were.

Fulbright May Just Go Fish

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Friday he might hang out his "gone fishing" sign if former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and President Johnson oppose each other in the presidential race this November.

Fulbright, at a Southern State College, was asked if he would prefer Nixon or Johnson if the two face each other.

"Aw dear, I think I would have to go fishing," Fulbright said. "These are decisions you shouldn't ask me quite yet."

A Junior Editors Quiz About ADAM'S APPLE

QUESTION: Why do boys have a larger Adam's apple than girls?

ANSWER: Our artist shows us what an Adam's apple is — not a piece of apple which, as the story goes, once stuck in Adam's throat, but a part of the voice box or larynx which we all carry around in our throats. It pushes the skin out slightly in the front of the neck, just under the chin. The position and shape of this is shown at lower left.

Air, coming up through the windpipe, vibrates the vocal chords inside the larynx when we wish to speak or sing. Sound vibrations come up through the throat and out of the mouth. We can modify these sounds by the way we hold our lips, jaw and tongue, making the sounds into words or singing. So, you see, there is a kind of "singing apple," even if it isn't the kind our artist has had fun drawing.

Deeper sounds require a larger voice box. This is why the man's deep voice has a large voice box which projects out from the neck line, and why the girl's high voice has a smaller larynx which isn't visible. The boy is headed toward acquiring a larger voice box as his voice deepens, so his Adam's apple is beginning to show.

AWOL Trial Set for GI From City

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — Pvt. Roy Ray Jones of Pontiac, Mich., who voluntarily returned to Germany earlier this month after a year's asylum in Sweden, will be brought before a general court martial, a 4th Armored Division spokesman said yesterday. Jones' local address is unknown.

Although Jones was open to a charge of desertion, he will be tried for being absent without leave.

Under normal practice, a soldier missing from his unit more than 30 days is listed as a deserter.

Desertion carries a maximum penalty of two years' imprisonment. Being absent without leave is a far lesser offense and involves a lighter punishment.

The division spokesman said the trial probably will open April 3 at William O. Darby Casern at neighboring Fuerth.

Chicago Fires Bring Probe, Added Patrols

CHICAGO (AP) — Police stepped up street patrols and an arson investigation continued today after a series of fires that drove thousands of persons from three big downtown department stores and caused damage in the millions.

Fires erupted Friday at intervals of about one hour in the State Street stores.

Heaviest damage was reported at Carson Pirie Scott & Co. which stands at the busy corner of State and Madison. John T. Pirie Jr., the firm's chairman, estimated damage could run to $20 million. The store was closed and officials said they did not know when it could be reopened.

An hour after the first fire at Carson's, firemen rushed to a blaze a block away at Montgomery Ward & Co. One hour after the second blaze, firemen were sent to Wieboldt's, Inc., which is across Madison Street from Carson's.

The 12-story Carson building/Goldblatt's, reported a mattress and caused the most extensive damage in sections housing the drapery, furniture and appliance departments. Water and don't see how it could have been any damage also was heavy.

Fires on two floors of Ward's caused heavy smoke and water damage. A stockroom fire at son squad into the area for a investigation and called in a canine corps as a precaution against looting. No looting was a fourth State Street store, reported.

Army Deserter From State Gives Views

JACKSON (AP) — The Jackson Citizen-Patriot Friday published a letter received from Pvt. Ralph D. Denman, who the Army says deserted his Army unit in Germany two months ago.

Now living in Paris, Denman said in his letter to the Citizen-Patriot that he was a member of "this military circus" for nearly two years and left "to work against the war in Vietnam."

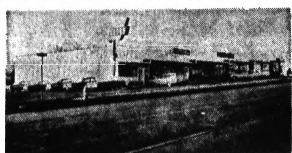

Denman, 20, who was graduated from a Jackson area high school near his mother's summer home at Grass Lake, wrote the newspaper, "I have chosen a difficult path but the sacrifice is still something I must make." He said he finds it "impossible to plan on a decent future" and added he believes there is "a glimmer of light, the slightest hope that mankind will choose a better road rather than continue on this shortcut to destruction."

PARIS GRANTS PERMITS

When interviewed in Paris last week, Denman, four other men who left their units and four draft resistors had been given renewable 15-day resident permits. They have also applied for work permits.

Denman told reporters in Paris that he left his outfit after striking a sergeant during an argument over the unit's orders for transfer to Vietnam.

His mother, Mrs. Lucille Denman, said last week when

Kin Reject LBJ Letter

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A Charlotte family has rejected President Johnson's letter of sympathy for the death of their son, a Marine killed in Vietnam.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Caldwell, Cpl. Roger E. Caldwell, a chaplain's assistant, was killed last month while serving with the 3rd Battalion, 26th Marines, near Khe Sanh.

In returning the letter to President Johnson, the family wrote: "... We cannot accept it because it came from the top of your desk and not from the heart. If he, like the thousands of others who have fought and died, only had the true moral and undying support from your administration and all the people of the United States, his blood would not have been shed in vain."

A sharp drop in late night traffic accidents in London has been reported since the introduction this past October of the breathalyzer test for drunken driving.

8 Killed in Fiery Crash

From Our News Wires
UNIONVILLE — All seven members of one family and a woman en route to Lenten worship were killed last night in the fiery crash of a panel truck and a car near Unionville.
The eight, including five children, died when the vehicles collided at an intersection not far from Saginaw Bay in eastern Lower Michigan and plunged into a 15-foot-deep drainage ditch.
"Bodies were strewn on the banks of the ditch," said Tuscola County Sheriff

Hugh Marr. "The panel truck was shredded."
Tuscola County Coroner J. Benson Colton identified the victims as Leo Parker, 45, his wife, Barbara, 43; their children, Mary, 19; Peggy, 16; John, 12; Susan, 9, and Kelly, 2, all of Owendale, and Mrs. Clara Singer, 36, Unionville.
Sheriff's deputies said the Parkers' small panel truck apparently went through a stop sign at an intersection about four miles west of here in a rural, wooded area and slammed into Mrs. Singer's car.

The truck burst into flames and both vehicles careened into the ditch.
NO WITNESSES
The ditch, which runs toward Saginaw Bay, contained about two feet of water.
"The vehicles were smashed up so bad, it's hard for us to determine exactly how the accident occurred," Sheriff Marr said. "There were no witnesses."
Colton pronounced all the victims dead at the scene except Kelly, who died soon after being rushed by ambulance to a hospital at Bay City.

Two other traffic fatalities were reported in the state during the early hours of the weekend.
Gerald L. O'Brien, 17, rural Pickford, was killed last night when he was hit by a car while walking on a Chippewa County road near his home.
Leonard Polutis, 16, Detroit, died early today when the car he was riding in hit a pole at an entrance to the Ford Freeway in Detroit.

TRAGIC END TO AN OUTING — Seven members of an Owendale family, believed en route home from a trip to a wildlife sanctuary, were killed in a crash last night. The driver of the car that collided with this mangled truck also is dead.

ONE OF MANY — A grass fire, blamed on a spark from a train, raced through a wooded area north of Metamora in Lapeer County yesterday, endangering the D-A Boy Scout Ranch, and destroying two barns as it spread over 600 acres. It took firemen from nine departments and the conservation

Crossovers Hold Wisconsin Key

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Campaign strategists for President Johnson and Richard M. Nixon agree that if Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy wins Tuesday's Wisconsin presidential primary, his margin will be supplied by Republican voters casting Democratic ballots.
McCarthy is urging Republicans to cross over and supply him with votes in his confrontation with the President.
Leslie Aspin, the former Pentagon economist now running the Johnson show, was pessimistic.
"I think we're doing better among Democratic voters," he said, "but the Republican crossover seems to loom bigger and bigger."
Aspin wasn't forecasting the outcome, but Democratic campaign sources said the best the administration can hope for is a tight race, while McCarthy could conceivably win by a hefty margin.

DELEGATES AT STAKE
Fifty-nine Democratic National Convention votes are at stake. Nineteen of them go to the statewide primary winner while four are being selected in each of 10 congressional districts. The candidate who carries the district gets its four nominating votes.
Nixon is virtually certain to win all 30 Republican convention votes. But MacIver said California Gov. Ronald Reagan could cut into the Republican vote, particularly in conservative sections of the state.

White House Mum on Bomb-Halt Hint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is noncommittal on a House Republican leader's statement that President Johnson is seriously considering a 30-day pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.
Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, said Friday he believes such a pause is being considered "at the highest levels," and added:
"There may be a bombing pause announced for a period of some 30 days just to give it a try and then the President would be in a position where he could say to his critics that he had ordered such a pause."

Tom Johnson, assistant White House press secretary, said of Laird's statements: "I haven't seen the report and I have nothing on it."
Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, running for the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of dissent to Johnson's war policies, both have called repeatedly for a bombing halt as a necessary first step toward any peace talks.

Villages Revolt Against Cong

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI) — Anti-Communist revolts have broken out in at least three Vietcong-dominated villages in the northernmost provinces of Vietnam, intelligence officers said today.
Authorities described last week's uprising as "spontaneous and self-initiated" and they even surprised military intelligence officers.

They were the first reported in the northern province of Thua Thien which has been a VC stronghold for years.

Intelligence sources said the villagers in Van Xa hamlet in the Huong Tra district refused VC orders to deliver up their rice. Instead the villagers filled the hamlet with anti-Communist banners and placards on the day the rice collectors were due.

At Xuan Lo village 10 miles south of Hue the South Vietnamese organized vigilante groups and armed them to drive off the Vietcong. The villagers had previously been supplying the Reds with rice.

Last week, intelligence sources said, more than 100 villagers in the An Cu Dong district near Hue paraded and demonstrated against continued servitude to the VC and North Vietnamese army units.

Teen-agers at An Cu Dong also formed anti-VC groups to help ferret out the Reds hiding in the area and exposed them to the allies.

Weighmaster: a 'Policeman'

By HUDSON WILSE JR.
There is not a world of difference between being a police officer and a weighmaster, according to Peter Waisanen, who became weighmaster for the Oakland County Road Commission last. Following a career with the Michigan State Police.

"It's more or less like police work yet," said Waisanen. "You're checking traffic and checking for violators."

Waisanen, 50, of 424 Tilmor, Waterford Township finds his work as weighmaster "very interesting."

He took over the $9,100-a-year post from Thomas Kennedy.

The weighmaster's division checks truck and bus traffic in the county for possible violations, pulling suspect vehicles off the road.

The suspect vehicles are checked by Road Commission employees operating trucks equipped with portable scales.

CAR PATROL USED
A car also is used to patrol the approximately 2,350 miles of county roads.

It's a seven-day-a-week operation.

Waisanen said his position is set up for a five-day, 40-hour week, but that during "the past few weeks I've been working 10 hours a day, six days a week."

"This is our busy time of the year," he said.
Trucks and buses are checked for height, weight and length limits which must fall within the legal standards established under the Michigan Vehicle Code.

VIOLATORS CITED
The weighmaster's division, with seven employees, also is charged with seeing if trucks are damaging roads, creating hazards to other traffic or littering roads.

Weighmaster personnel also check whether trucks are traveling on designated or proper haul routes.

Special hauling permits are required for over-the-limit trucks.
A six-footer, Waisanen joined the state police in 1940. His career with the state police was interrupted for five years during World War II when he served with the U.S. Navy.

LONG TIME IN PONTIAC
Violators are issued notices to appear before local justices of the peace.

Waisanen rejoined the State Police in 1945 and retired as a corporal in September 1966. His final 14 years with the organization were spent at the Pontiac post.

He was employed with the Oakland County Drain Commission for one year prior to his appointment as weighmaster.

A native of Hancock, he graduated from Suomi College in that Upper Peninsula community, majoring in business.

Waisanen is married and the father of a 16-year-old boy and an 18-year-old girl.

Showers Likely Tonight, Sunday

Sunny skies and pleasant temperatures are expected to give way to showers tonight. High temperatures will be in the 60s and dip to 39 to 45 tonight.

Showers are likely again tomorrow with continued mild temperatures.

Fair and cooler is the outlook for Monday.

Precipitation percentage probabilities are: today, near zero; tonight, 30; and tomorrow, 60.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature registered before 8 a.m. was 38. At 1 p.m. the mercury level was near 64 degrees.

Lurleen Remains Same

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Doctors said last night the condition of Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace was about the same, with no additional complications.
She is in her sixth week after cancer surgery and her recovery has been marked by two serious setbacks.

Latest Pontiac Dream Car Unveiled

Pontiac Motor Division's latest experimental car, the Firebird of Tomorrow, was unveiled today at the opening of the 12th International Automobile Show.

The futuristic-looking convertible was flown to New York last night from Detroit as a late entry to the show. It joins Pontiac's other custom-built show car, the Costa del Sol.

The Firebird of Tomorrow is nearly 12 inches longer and 15 inches lower than the current production Firebird.

This two-seater version of Pontiac's popular sports compact is intended to exploit the aerodynamic advantages of clean, uncluttered design. From the tip of its rubberized Endura bumper to the end of its tucked under tail, the only break in its surface is created by scoops which direct air to cool the rear brakes.

The metal name plates identifying the car have been removed and replaced by tasteful hand-lettered script. The door handles also have been eliminated. This lack of protruding hardware of the car's surface contributes greatly to its aerodynamic efficiency.

NO PILLARS
The windshield, which is less than 38 inches from the ground at its highest point, has been adapted to minimize frontal area which is a major contribution to aerodynamic drag. There are no windshield pillars and the glass wraps around the sides of the car for greater visibility.

Behind the cockpit is a combined roll bar and air-flow straightener. This futuristic structure is connected to integrated lateral fins which provide greater stability in cross-wind conditions.

The familiar Pontiac twin-air intakes are located beneath the front bumper. In the rear, strip taillights flank central exhaust pipe extensions.

The Firebird of Tomorrow is painted a tangerine pearl-frost and it has a customized black vinyl interior.

Overall length of the dream car is 199.8 inches; while over-all height at the center of the roll bar is 36.4 inches. The elongated hood is 10 inches longer than the current production Firebird.
Built on a 108-inch wheelbase, the experimental Firebird is powered by a high-output 400 cubic-inch V8 engine.

FUTURISTIC PONTIAC — The Firebird of Tomorrow, Pontiac Motor Division's newest dream car, was unveiled today at the opening of the 12th International Automobile Show in New York City. Built on a 108-inch wheelbase, this two-seater is powered by a high-output, 400-cubic-inch V8 engine.

House Democrats Block State Spending Bill

Birmingham Area

Board Named for 'Adventure in Creativity'

LANSING (AP) — Minority Democrats in the House flexed their muscles yesterday during debate on the 1968-69 state budget, forcing defeat of a $45 million appropriation to finance various state agencies — including the legislature.

The House immediately reconsidered the $2.47 vote on its general government measure, leaving the bill in position for more work or another vote next week.

Republicans Thursday and Friday presented a near-sol front in the House, preventing consideration of amendments to the budget bill which authorize much of next year's expected $1.3 billion in general fund spending.

Democrats got even Friday by defeating the key government bill, which contains the money to run the Legislature, the executive office, the judiciary and the departments of attorney general, state treasury, administration, civil service and civil rights.

Eventual passage of some version of the measure was certain. Without it, the agencies involved would be forced to close their doors July 1 for lack of operating funds.

Rep. Daisy Elliott, D-Detroit, said she voted against it because she felt the $1.89 million budget for the Civil Rights Commission — CRC — was too small. Rep. Alex Pilech, D-Deerborn, said he opposed the bill because he had not received justification of the existing CRC appropriation.

Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, died Friday to add $1.4 million to the CRC budget. Six Democrats and 51 Republicans joined forces to prevent consideration of Montgomery's amendment.

Earlier in the day, Republicans—with only one defection — stood firm to remove a $50,000 budget increase for the State Council for the Arts, a Democrat-sponsored boost approved during loud argument Thursday night.

WELFARE BILL SNAGGED

Also stalled in the House by a partisan squabble is the big $218.7 million social services appropriation bill.

Democratic leader William Ryan, D-Detroit, tried Thursday to amend the welfare bill to insure that no recipients of categorical assistance, such as aid to dependent children, would be in danger of reduced benefits if the state's caseload rises higher than expected.

Republicans voted down Ryan's amendment, insisting that absolute welfare spending ceilings be written into the measure.

U.N. Council Meets Hastily After Arab-Israeli Clash

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was summoned into an urgent debate today on the Arab-Israeli crisis after a major air and artillery clash on the Jordanian front yesterday.

Today's session comes only six days after the council threatened strong action against the parties for any more "grave violations" of the U.N. sponsored cease-fire that halted the Arab-Israeli war last June.

The 15-nation council received demands for action, late last night from Jordan and Israel.

Fighting exploded early yesterday in the Beisan Valley along the Jordan River after, four Israeli civilians were killed when a land mine blew up their train.

By late morning Jordanian and Israeli artillery had opened up on each other across the Jordan River. Soon after, Israel dispatched jet bombers which pounded the Jordanian gun positions for more than five hours.

JET DOWNED

Newsmen spotted one French-built Israeli jet spinning in flames to the ground. Israel acknowledged the loss but said the pilot escaped unhurt. The Jordanian army claimed seven Israeli jets downed.

The Israeli army said it inflicted "a number" of casualties on Jordanians and reported one Israeli soldier killed and eight wounded.

The flareup coincided with reports in Arab newspapers in Cairo, Damascus, Baghdad and Beirut of massive Israeli troops buildups and possible impending military action.

Only nine days ago Israeli army forces crossed the Jordan River and attacked Arab guerrilla bases. Israel claimed its troops killed 170 Arab commandos in the raid.

Schools in Holly Will Remain Open

A Holly school official said today that classes will be held Monday despite a work stoppage by some 60 bus drivers, cooks and custodians.

"We'll get along as best we can," said Bruce Mitchell, assistant superintendent.

He said that Supt. Russell D. Haddon had contacted state labor mediator Leonard Bennett to arrange a meeting with officials of Local 92 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

Negotiations with the union had been going on since last fall and were in the Process of mediation when the stoppage occurred yesterday. The union had rejected a school board offer Thursday.

Race Problem Can Be Aired

Persons interested in appearing before the Pontiac Area Planning Council's task force on race relations have been urged to contact the task force through Post Office Box 864, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

The task force was created to develop solutions to identifiable racial problems. It is expected to make specific recommendations on these solutions after hearing from witnesses.

Edward E. Barker Jr., president of the Pontiac State Bank, and Dr. Robert R. Turpin, a member of Pontiac Board of Education, are chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the task force.

Barker and Turpin said the task force is interested in making arrangements for persons who want to discuss racial problems and possible solutions.

"This task force will be dependent on the people of Pontiac for their ideas and suggestions for problem solving," the officers said. "The greatest single need of our entire community is communications which will permit understanding," they said.

By JANET ODELL

Canned pink salmon and ground beef were the main ingredients in the second and third prize-winning recipes of Detroit Edison's "Queen of the Kitchen" contest Thursday.

Mrs. Brooker Brantley of Detroit is a young homemaker with a three-year-old son. She had bought a new hat for the occasion and kept it on all the time she prepared her New England Salmon Bake. It must have brought her good luck.

- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cups milk
- 2 cans (1 lb. each) salmon, drained and flaked
- 10 oz. package frozen peas, cooked

- Combine biscuit mix, cheese, milk and Tabasco. Mix with fork until dry ingredients are moistened. Knead gently two or three times.
