State School Reorganization Proposed

Move Favored by Schimmel at Conference

Pontiac Delegate Says Appoint Superintendent of Public Instruction

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

WASHINGTON — A Pontiac delegate to the White House Conference on Education said today Michigan should "give serious consideration to reorganizing our school system."

Louis H. Schimmel, president of the Pontiac Board of Education, added that "there is an apparent lack of state leadership in developing" such a reorganization program.

One difficulty, he said in an interview, is that the state superintendent of public instruction is an elected official.

He expressed preference for the type of school administration found in states like New York, where the state superintendent is appointed "and not subject to political pressures as in Michigan."

The fact that Michigan's elected superintendent, Clair Taylor, is a Republican while Gov. G. Mennen Williams is a Democrat, has made matters worse, Schimmel said.

"Each one," he remarked, "is trying to take away the other one's glory."

Schimmel had an opportunity to vent his views on these problems yesterday during round table discussions on two major conference subjects: "What Should Our Schools Accomplish," and "In What Way Can We Recognize Our School Systems More Efficiently and Economically?"

Schimmel said these subjects were "less controversial" and that "more fireworks" should come today when discussion of school financing is expected to touch off

Order Officer's Reinstatement

Suspended Patrolman to Hold Job Pending Commission Decision

Pontiac Police Patrolman James L. Ockerman will be reinstated to the force and given back pay until a decision in his case is reached by the City Commission.

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland made the ruling today after hearings in a suit filed by Ockerman against Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Ockerman was suspended by Straley Oct. 14 on neglect of duty charges under provisions of the City Charter. The case was turned over to the Police Trial Board for a decision.

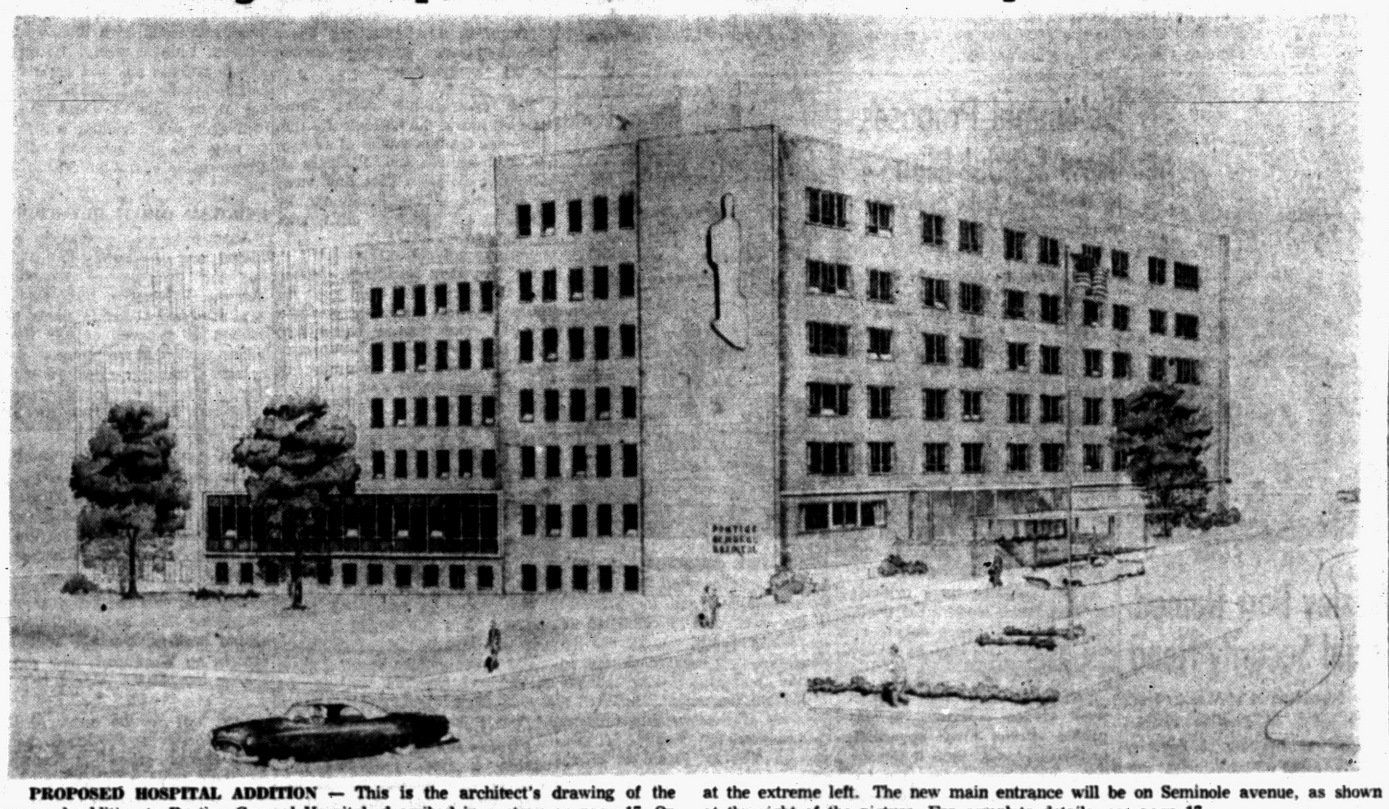

But the officer, a World War II Navy veteran, invoked the State Veteran's Preference Act which allows war veterans to have their case heard by the City Commission.

The patrolman claimed the state act allowed him to remain on the force and receive pay until a final ruling by the Commission.

Faure Government Falls, 318-218

PARIS (AP)—The French Cabinet meets today to decide whether to dissolve the National Assembly in a rare maneuver which would give Premier Edgar Faure the early elections Parliament denied him.

Holding a confidence vote on a procedural question but actually moving to stave off the early parliamentary balloting, the Assembly gave the ax to the government last night 318-218.

But by their whopping majority against Faure, the overenthusiastic deputies made it possible for the Cabinet to boot them out of office under a constitutional clause never applicable before.

Article 51 of the 1946 constitution says that when two Cabinets have been thrown out within 18 months by "constitutional majorities"—more than half the Assembly's 625 members—the Cabinet can dissolve the Assembly. Pierre Mendes-France was ousted from the premiership by a 319-273 vote Feb. 5, less than 10 months ago.

CARETAKER STATUS

If the Cabinet decides to merely hand in its own resignation, this would set in motion the familiar routine of French politics—presidential consultations with party leaders, choice of a prospective premier, weeks of dickering to line up Assembly support and eventually announcement of a new Cabinet.

Either way, Faure and his Cabinet will continue in office in a caretaker status.

Weighing against Assembly dissolution was the constitutional requirement that new elections be held within 20 to 30 days. That would put the balloting around Christmas, a time certain to be unpopular with the voters.

Assembly elections normally would be held next June, but Faure wanted to advance them to early December. Mendes-France, fighting for time to drum up support for a comeback attempt, led the move which thwarted the Premier. There had been talk of an early spring vote as a compromise.

The Communists were the immediate cause of Faure's downfall, and the large majority which gave him the opportunity to send the Assembly home. The Reds, with 98 votes in the chamber, had voted with the Premier on five previous confidence ballots. This time they went against him.

Pontiac Draws S-D Battle Lines

Pontiac joined the nation today in preparing for an extensive campaign against one of the country's worst killers.

Tomorrow is S-D Day, the day on which President Eisenhower has asked everyone to prove that traffic accidents can be prevented.

The city's campaign will be waged in the face of figures that show accidents are killing twice as many persons here as last year and injuring more.

"Pontiac shares its mounting death rate with the whole nation," Clyle R. Haskill, chairman of Safe-Driving Day said.

"Nearly 31,000 Americans were killed on highways during the first 10 months of the year. This is a seven per cent increase over last year," Haskill pointed out.

"To date, 14 people have died in city accidents in Pontiac, eight more than last year," Haskill said.

"Three of these people were killed in the last 10 days, when winter driving conditions set in.

"Very probably somebody else will be slaughtered on icy streets before the year is out," Haskill stated.

"It could be you, or it could be me. Whenever a driver speeds, ignores driving conditions, mixes drinking with driving, doesn't pay attention, or is careless, then someone is liable to die," he warned.

"Everyone must try to prevent accidents tomorrow and stop the increasing death rate, which has grown to monstrous proportions here in the past 10 days," he urged.

Pledges to help keep S-D Day accident-free have come from postal drivers, bus drivers and truck drivers.

"But every Pontiac resident must make the pledge," Haskill said.

In other campaigns in the state, Port Huron has challenged Battle Creek for a contest of safety records tomorrow.

State Police plan to begin one of the toughest enforcement drives in their history, starting tomorrow.

State Police Commissioner, Joseph A. Childs, said that a 10-point safety program, adopted by the legislature Nov. 21, will be strictly enforced for the next 13 months.

He said that the essence of the program is rigid enforcement, arrest of drivers with unsafe cars, reporting to the secretary of state of drivers believed incompetent, use of unmarked cars and greater use of speed timing devices and chemical tests for intoxication.

AT LARGE — Fourteen slaughtered and hundreds maimed is the record this year of the deadly killer symbolized above. "The killer is still loose, roaming Pontiac streets, dealing death and injury out at will," warns Clyle R. Haskill, safety chairman, who holds a machine-gun at downtown corner to demonstrate the moral of Safe-Driving Day Thursday. "Bad driving is more dangerous than carrying a loaded machine-gun. Everyone behind a steering wheel is a potential killer," Haskill stated.

Healthy Quads Swell Family to 11 Children

ALMA, Ga. (INS) — Mrs. E. E. Nelson, mother of seven other children, six of whom are living, gave birth yesterday to quadruplets, three girls and a boy.

Her first reaction was, "What in the world am I going to do with them?"

Her oldest child is 16 years and the youngest, prior to the quads, 12 months.

The four babies, all weighing around three pounds, were born within 20 minutes of each other at Alma's Bacon County Hospital.

Doctors said the quads and the 34-year-old mother are in good condition.

Early Blizzard Whips Sections

Upper Peninsula Hit by 20 Inches of Snow; Warmer Tomorrow

Snow fell again today in sections of Michigan that were hit yesterday by the worst early-season blizzard in the State's history.

Four inches of new snow fell on top of the reported 16 inches of yesterday's blizzard in the Upper Peninsula, where State Police say it's still coming down.

Side roads were reported clogged, and schools closed for the day over much of the Western portion of the state.

Forecast for tomorrow is partly cloudy and a little warmer, with temperatures soaring to a possible high of 34.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 26 degrees. The thermometer registered 31 at 2 p.m.

Fear 2 Others Among Victims of Fiery Crash

Triplet Infants Included in Death Toll; Six Are Critically Injured

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) —A jet fighter plane, which roared out of control on a takeoff, mowed a fire-strewn path through six big Eielson Air Force Base housing units yesterday and killed at least 13 persons.

Two more persons are believed among the mostly civilian dead. The victims included year-old triplets, whose parents and two brothers escaped.

The death toll announced by Maj. John Orr, base public information officer, included the pilot.

Six of eight persons treated after the crash and fire suffered critical injuries. Possibly a score of firemen and volunteers suffered from frostbite in the 16-below-zero weather.

Roaring along a few feet above the ground at an estimated 150 miles an hour, the F84 piloted by 1st Lt. Alfred F. Pounders, 28, of Monticello, Miss., veered at almost a 90-degree angle as it left the runway, witnesses said.

It soared over installations of the base for about a quarter mile, then plowed into the housing area. Rudy Hamner, an electrical engineer employed at the air base, saw the plane thundering toward the six 8-unit apartment houses.

"The plane bounced on one building, throwing it all into flames," Hamner recounted. "Then it bounced on another building and a wing flew off. Then it ripped down a high-tension power line. From there it smashed right through an apartment house and scattered everywhere, crashing into a parking lot and wrecking cars."

Debris from the smashed buildings covered the whole two-block area in which they stood. Confusion was compounded as residents and volunteers ran about attempting to salvage articles from the buildings.

An explosion after the crash lifted Herb Porter right out a window to safety.

2 Burned Children Remain 'Critical'

The two surviving children of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson, whose house burned Saturday night killing three others, still are in critical condition, Pontiac General Hospital said today.

Steven, 4, and Donald, 3, suffered second and third degree burns in the blaze.

Two-year-old Victoria and baby Mark, eight months, died in the hospital Sunday. Victoria's twin, Richard, died in the fire.

Contributions for the stricken family are being received by Mrs. Margaret Beasley, of 45 W. Beverly St., and Mrs. Dale Tinnen, 36 W. Beverly.

Chiang Will Use His Veto Power

Angry Diplomats Decry Threat by Nationalists as 'Suicide Attempt'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Nationalist China's threat to veto Outer Mongolia's application for U. N. membership—a move that could kill present chances of 17 other applicant nations—aroused growing resentment in U. N. circles today.

There was speculation Formosa's own foothold in the international organization might be loosened as a result.

Though Russia promised 13 vetos — of all non-Communist applicants — unless Outer Mongolia and the other four Red candidates made the grade, the Chinese and not the Soviets were the villains to most sources who would comment.

Angry diplomats predicted that the Nationalists' decision, reportedly made despite two appeals from President Eisenhower, would cost the Formosa government many friends it might need when the perennial question of seating Red China comes up in the next Assembly.

One delegate said if the Nationalist Chinese wanted to commit suicide in the U. N., they were going about it in the right way.

Sources close to Chiang Kai-shek's representatives said they risked a storm in the U. N. because they felt they had to oppose Outer Mongolia as a Red satellite and a companion of Peiping. The disputed state, on the borders of Soviet Asia and Red China, was ruled loosely by China from 1691 to 1911.

The U. S. delegation, one of the Nationalists' staunchest supporters here, voiced open concern over the Chiang government's decision.

Car Hits Car, Then Runs Into Onlooker

A pedestrian and two drivers were treated at Pontiac General Hospital after an automobile accident at Telegraph Rd. and W. Huron St. last night.

Robert J. Greer, 33, Lansing, told Pontiac Police he was making a left turn on to Huron, where police say no left turn is allowed.

His car was struck by Max L. LaValley, 25, of 1474 Orchid St., who said a truck prevented him from seeing Greer's car.

After the collision, LaValley's car went on to hit Florence M. Verwey, 12 Downing Ct., who was standing on the corner.

All were released from the hospital.

The appointment of Wesley Dorr to the post of Pontiac district manager of the Social Security Administration was announced this week.

Dorr, a Clawson resident, will succeed Rex Atwood who has accepted a transfer to Marquette as manager of the district office there. The new appointee will head a 22-member staff in directing administration activities in the Pontiac area.

Association with the administration since its organization in 1936, Dorr was assistant manager of the Detroit district office before his promotion.

During his career, he has held various supervisory positions, and in 1953 was one of 20 picked from the U.S. to participate in the Korea Development program.

A native of New England, he lives at 41 Walper St. and is the father of four children.

Bloomfield Women Will Beneficiaries

Two residents of Bloomfield Hills, daughters of the late Harold A. Lafount, a former Federal radio commissioner and consultant on radio for the Bulova Watch Company, receive one-quarter shares of the $333,600 estate he left. His estate was appraised yesterday by the New York State Transfer Tax Department.

The local beneficiaries are Mrs. Lenore L. Romney, of Vaughn Road, and Mrs. Elsie L. Richards, of 995 Lone Pine Road. One-quarter shares of the estate also go to two other daughters, Mrs. Constance Scowcroft and Mrs. Ruth Colby, both of Ogden, Utah.

Today's appraisal sets the value of the estate at $348,660, gross, and $333,674, net, most of which is in stocks and bonds. Lafount died on October 21, 1952.

a controversy over federal aid to education.

He voiced "complete agreement with President Eisenhower's views on the place of government in the field of education, particularly with his emphasis that control must remain on the local level."

However, Schimmel made it clear that he favors federal aid "only for those who need it" and he emphasized, "Michigan does not need it."

Schimmel said the conference is making "great progress" and that a majority of the delegates "like the way it is being conducted."

Some delegates have criticized the conference leaders for not allowing full conference debate and vote on such matters as federal aid to education.

Schimmel said that assignment of the delegates to 160 panels offered more opportunity for discussion than if the debates were held before the full conference and votes were taken on resolution.

Delegates to the conference were in agreement today that the nation's schools "are doing the best job in their history" in teaching the three R's. But they agree too that "improvement is desirable and necessary."

A number of the 1,800 participants grumbled that the first of the giant conference's reports last night was too generalized.

The report on the discussion subject "What Should Our Schools Accomplish" included a middle-of-the-road position on curriculum, and another which suggested teaching "ethical behavior based on a sense of moral and spiritual values."

Amplifying this point, the report said the schools must help youngsters "apply ethical values which will guide their moral judgments and their conduct, and to develop the recognition that these values stem from, among other sources, their spiritual and religious convictions."

The report called also for emphasis on the teaching of these things: "appreciation for our democratic heritage . . . intellectual curiosity and eagerness for lifelong learning . . . respect and appreciation for human values and for the beliefs of others . . . an awareness of our relationships with the world community."

The course is designed for high school instructors, who will teach courses which the legislature requires all youths under 18 to pass in order to be licensed. The law goes into effect in February, 1957.

Tomorrow's event will be the second observance of S-D Day. The National Safety Council said that the first S-D Day cut down accidents somewhat. Fifty-one persons were fatally injured on that day, the council said.

There were no fatalities nor injuries in Pontiac, but there were four accidents.

On the following day, Dec. 16, Pontiac had a perfect safety record.

National Safety Council president, Ned H. Dearborn declared: "In view of the steadily rising traffic toll, it is vital to the welfare of America that drivers begin driving better and safer on S-D Day and keep right on doing it every day."

GMC Develops Vaccine Safety

Highly Effective Device Kills Virus in Serum Production

DETROIT (INS)—General Motors Corp. today announced the development of a highly effective device for killing virus in vaccine production.

The device — an ingenious mechanical sterilizer—is now being used experimentally in an effort to produce a more potent and completely safe polio vaccine.

A large pharmaceutical company has installed four of these purifying units and is carrying out extensive studies on polio vaccine with them.

Research engineers of the General Motors research staff have combined their efforts with medical scientists from the Michael Rease Research Foundation of Chicago, in developing the blood plasma-vaccine sterilizer known as the "centri-filmer."

The centri-filmer spins liquid vaccine into a microscopically thin film—one ten-thousandth of an inch or one-twentieth the thickness of a human hair—so that any virus or bacteria in the liquid can be killed in a "bath" of ultra-violet light.

* * *

GM President Harlow H. Curtice said the device has been used for many purposes including purification of more than a half-million pints of blood plasma; purification of ACTH, used in treatment of rheumatic arthritis and many allergic eye and skin conditions.

ment G of Building 725 when the crash occurred.

Porter said he heard the plane coming "and the whole building was vibrating."

The next thing he knew, a sheet of flame broke the wall in the second floor apartment in which he was working.

"It was suicide to go down the stairs," he said, so he ran to the window and opened it. As he was kicking out the window sash, an explosion blew him out the window to the ground below.

Porter said when he reached the window, all he could see was flames through the courtyard and people being killed. Four died in the next door apartment.

He was uninjured except for numerous bruises.

The tremendous impact sent apartment fuel tanks hurtling through the air, feeding the fires which had broken out in all the buildings.

Among the victims was the pilot, Lt. Alfred F. Pounders, 28, Monticello, Miss.

Within a few moments after the crash, fire equipment from the air base and some 500 to 600 volunteers were fighting the flames or carrying on rescue work.

Many of the rescue workers were Air Force men, both officers and enlisted personnel, whose families lived in the damage area. Most of them had no idea for hours whether their families were safe.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Reopens 14 Mile Extension Subject

BIRMINGHAM — Nine years have passed since the City Commission first began backing a move to extend 14 Mile Road west from Southfield to Cranbrook Roads.

Long a source of contention but still considered important if Maple congestion is to be alleviated, the subject was brought up again at last night's joint quarterly meeting of the commission and Planning Board, combined with the paving of 16 Mile Road, between Woodward and Telegraph.

The latter is already being given consideration by the Oakland County Road Commission, and City Manager Donald C. Egbert will meet Monday to discuss those streets with the Road Commission.

Traffic surveys made last year were not conclusive enough, it was decided then, to warrant the 14 Mile extension, which would mean cutting through Birmingham Country Club property. However, it was pointed out last night that traffic volume on Maple is increasing at the rate of about 20 per cent each year, building a stronger case for the necessity of another major east-west traffic artery.

FAIRWAY DRIVE QUESTION

Another topic previously discussed and mentioned last night was the question of extending Fairway Drive. The fact that it is a dead-end street prevents utilization of a group of lots there because of lack of access and sewage facilities. The Planning Board was asked to bring previous reports up to date for further study.

The board will also review its recent study of The Leinbach - Humphreys Subdivision, when it was recommended that all lots zoned income bungalow be rezoned to single-family residence.

Emphasis will be on a proper zoning for those lots immediately behind business frontage south of Lincoln on Woodward, now zoned income bungalow.

Food will be the order of the day tomorrow at St. James Episcopal Church, when the Women's Auxiliary holds a "Food Fair" in the church undercroft. Booths will be in operation beginning at 9:30 with a cafeteria - style luncheon served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and an Italian dinner from 6 to 8 p.m.

Homemade bread, cakes, cookies, casserole dishes, cranberry relish and mincemeat are among the food items for sale, while sliced ham and turkey are included on the luncheon menu. The evening meal will feature spaghetti, minestrone and other dishes.

Mrs. Samuel J. Shay, general chairman, is being assisted by Mrs. David Fulton and Mrs. Guy Yardley.

Birmingham Business Women Club members have scheduled a 6:30 dinner at the Community House tomorrow night, and are looking for a good attendance. The monthly business meeting will follow.

City Assessor Elmer Haack reported at Monday's City Commission meeting that 1956 assessments will see an increase of about 30 per cent on residential land, with the increase on business and industrial land assessments ranging from some 10 to 60 per cent.

He added, however, that more often than not, "an increase in assessments on land does not necessarily mean an increase in taxes on improved (developed) property." The increase in assessments is due to increases in land values, Haack said, and also stated that the city's land valuation map is now being prepared.

Birmingham's October health report brought total polio cases to seven, with the addition of a non-paralytic case suffered by a 29-year-old father, City Health Nurse Anyce Gillette reported that 12 cases had been turned in a year ago at that time, with the 1954 total showing 13 cases.

October also saw measles still on the upgrade, with 15 cases over 14 the month before. Other communicable disease totals for September and October, respectively, were: chicken pox, 7, 0; mumps, 2, 4; and German measles, 1, 4.

Kalkaska Folks Back Jet Base

Committee Says Funds for Buying Land Grows Daily From Donations

KALKASKA (AP) — The Kalkaska Jet Base Committee reported about 150 persons pledged $10,000 this week toward purchase of privately owned land needed for the proposed $17 million Air Force jet base.

Spokesmen said the group, attending a public meeting, hoped to raise another $5,000 toward their goal before the end of the week.

The meeting and pledges by businessmen and interested citizens are reported as means of circumventing a temporary Circuit Court injunction which prohibits the use of county funds for purchase of land for the base.

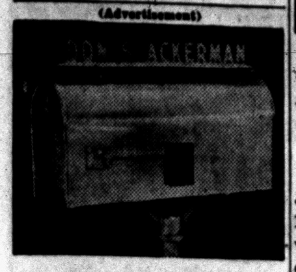

The injunction was obtained by a resort property owners group after the County Board of Supervisors had voted to allocate funds to purchase property sought by the Air Force. A hearing on the injunction is scheduled in January.

The State Conservation Commission already has leased 8,000 acres of land—the major portion of the proposed site—to the Air Force for 99 years.

Kalkaska Jet Base Committee spokesmen said a total of $5,000 was contributed at the meeting last night and another $5,000 was promised to be raised today by Kalkaska individuals and civic groups.

THE WONDERLAND OF BOOKS—8

Fables—The Crow and the Pitcher

From earliest times storytellers have been telling tales called fables. They were meant to teach something in an interesting form. Usually they had a sentence at the end summing up the lesson.

One very famous collection of fables were written by Aesop, a Greek slave. One of these is about the crow and the pitcher.

A thirsty crow found a pitcher with some water in it, but not enough for her to reach with her beak.

At last she hit upon the clever plan of dropping pebbles into the pitcher to make the water rise higher. At last the water reached the brim and the crow was able to drink.

The moral of this story is: Necessity is the mother of invention.

Paste this picture on cardboard and color with crayons. Cut it out carefully.

Fold the base forward on the dotted lines and fold the two end panels forward to make the picture stand up. Cut the dotted slit in the top of the pitcher. Fasten the crow's head to its body with a brass fastener or a bent pin through the holes in the head and neck.

Now the crow will dip her head into the pitcher to drop another stone.

Julie Harris Completes Show Despite Injury

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Julie Harris, who has won high praise for her portrayal of Joan of Arc in the current stage hit "The Lark," cut her lip during last night's performance.

She struck her face against a stool when she made her regular fall in the second act. The curtain was lowered while a doctor attempted to stop the bleeding. She finished the show with blood trickling down her chin.

The audience gave her a roaring ovation at the end.

Fortune Teller Fined

$355 Million Program

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan government announced today it will launch a 335-million-dollar program of public works in ceremonies Dec. 3-11 throughout the country. The money will come from Venezuela's booming development of oil and other minerals.

Auto Retailers Present Opinion

NADA President Says Dealers Ask Freer Hand With Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the nation's 40,000 retail car dealers, complaining of "pressures," today renewed their plea for a freer hand in dealing with auto manufacturers.

A score of dealers, members of the National Automobile Dealers Assn. (NADA), were invited to return for further testimony before a Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

Frederick J. Bell, NADA president, contended yesterday that what he called "one-sided" contracts deny dealers rights as "independent businessmen," and give the Detroit auto executives virtual control over the investment of every dealer.

The subcommittee is engaged in what Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) terms a study of the economic influence that huge General Motors Corp. exercises in the auto industry.

Bell said the manufacturers, in rebuffing suggestions by the dealers for "correction of unfair . . . practices," have subjected them to "factory pressure, threats and coercion."

Asserting the manufacturers "are rugged, toughly competitive and smart," Bell declared:

"We are in no way interested in fighting to preserve the business of a lazy man, an inefficient man, or a man who permits his so-called shrewdness to overbalance his business ethics."

What auto dealers want, he said, is "to be toughly competitive, to sink or swim, rise or fall on their own merits and in accordance with rules that are clearly understood, universally applicable and not subject to drastic change with every shift of wind that blows from Detroit."

Bell said GM profits annually range from 15 to 20 per cent while the retail dealer average slumped from a peak of 6 per cent in 1950 to less than 1 per cent last year.

He said many dealers have lost their franchises because they are forced to take any quota of cars sent them by the manufacturer. This has led to "bootlegging" and other sales abuses, he said.

Discover its unique flavor—either in the milder 86 Proof or in the world-famous 100 Proof Bond.

To Talk on Education

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Willard C. Olson, dean of the University of Michigan's School of Education, will present a paper at the conference on the concept of development at the University of Minnesota, Dec. 8-10. His treatise, "Developmental Theory in Education," is part of the conference on research into child development.

MORE IMAGINATIVE — Make your own Christmas cards. These lads are at work on linoleum blocks which they cut with their own designs. Once inked, the block can press hundreds of cards. If you plan to do it, pick a table top that will stand the hard wear.

Do-It-Yourself Cards

Design Own Personalized Yuletide Greeting in Home

Christmas card manufacturers advertise cards "personalized" for postman, for garbage man and for kitty cat.

At-home card makers can also personalize did-it-myself greetings. In two ways.

Those with the slightest artistic bent can easily carve card designs on linoleum blocks. Shutter bugs would probably prefer photographic cards that require no more effort than the push of a camera button.

Linoleum cutters can print cards by following these basic steps:

1. Use scraps of plain unmounted linoleum. Cut to required size with a razor knife.

2. Coat linoleum with white poster paint. Sketch design with pencil. Fill in border masses with black paint.

3. Cut design over these outlines with a razor knife. When it is cut into linoleum, wash linoleum with water to remove residue.

4. Glue linoleum on heavy pasteboard mount.

5. Smear black or colored printer's ink over linoleum block and squeeze through clothes wringer after a piece of heavy art paper has been inserted through cover and mate.

6. Dry cards on newspaper.

One company offers these suggestions to photography fans.

1. Take care in choosing subject. Make sure it is in the spirit of the season.

2. Simplicity should be the keynote. Simple cards are easy to produce and economically wise.

3. Realistic effects should be sought after.

4. Plan preliminary steps with care. Remember that unnecessary background objects distract from the main subject.

5. Allow plenty of time for retakes, if necessary.

Food production per hour of farm labor has more than doubled in the past 30 years.

Completion Nears for African Project

QUE QUE — With completion of its $2,800,000 Que Que hydroelectric project within the next few months, Southern Rhodesia will open a new vacation and tourist area around a vast lake.

The improvement, aimed chiefly at harnessing the Sebakwe River as a source of water and power to develop the town of Que Que and the surrounding industrial area, includes the artificial lake with storage capacity of 35 billon gallons and a 60-mile concrete canal.

The Sebakwe dam, now being finished, will have a 115-foot-high wall, the highest in Central Africa until the huge Kariba project is completed. The town of Que Que and the Riskom steelworks will chiefly benefit from the water.

900 Jap Children Stricken by Mysterious Diseases

TOKYO (INS — The Japanese Welfare Ministry has reported that 900 children in southern Japan have been stricken by two mysterious diseases.

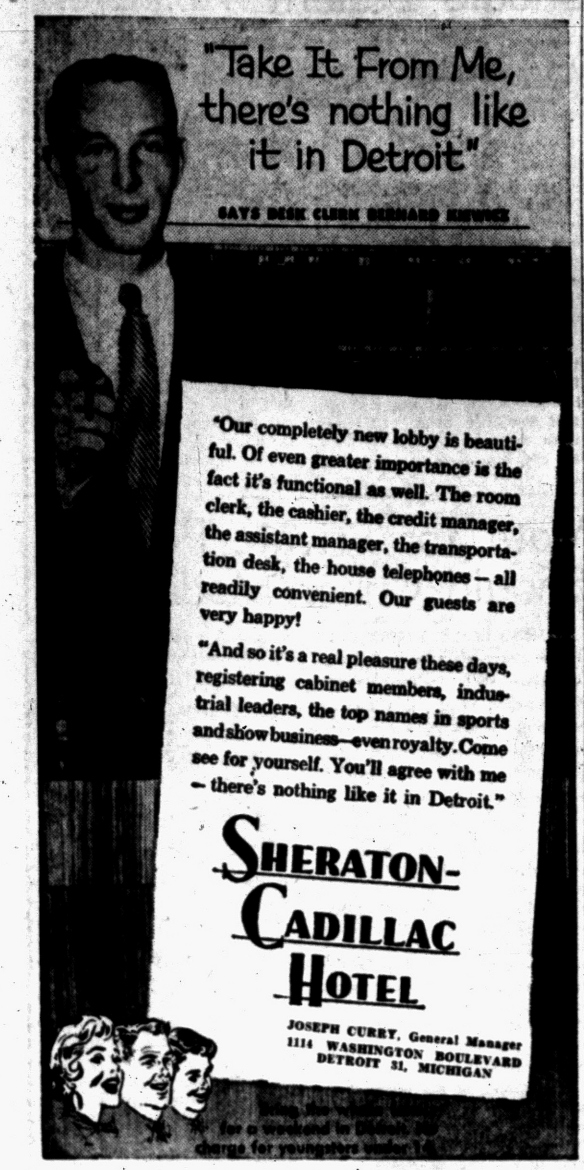

Ten deaths have resulted among children between the ages of four and twelve.

A welfare ministry spokesman said the diseases are apparently allied and symptoms are similar to those of nephritis, a kidney ailment.

A $10,800,000 steam electric generating plant for Managua, Nicarigaua, is building.

Bankers Pick UM Prof

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Prof. Paul W. McCracken, of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration, has been named an advisory member to the research council of the American Bankers Assn.

"Our completely new lobby is beautiful. Of even greater importance is the fact it's functional as well. The room clerk, the cashier, the credit manager, the assistant manager, the transportation desk, the house telephones — all readily convenient. Our guests are very happy!

"And so it's a real pleasure these days, registering cabinet members, industrial leaders, the top names in sports and show business—even royalty. Come see for yourself. You'll agree with me — there's nothing like it in Detroit."

Everyone's Help Needed to Reach S-D Day Goal

Thursday is the Nation's second annual Safe Driving Day.

It has been proclaimed so by President Eisenhower in the hope that the good practices it promotes will have a year round effect in reducing our terrible traffic toll.

The objective on the first S-D Day was to get through the 24 hour period without a single traffic death. That goal wasn't realized as 51 lives were lost. But the record was an improvement over December 1, 1953, when 60 persons died on the Nation's highways.

In addition, it was demonstrated beyond doubt that with the cooperation of all motorists traffic accidents and deaths can be reduced sharply.

This year the President's Committee for Traffic Safety is stressing the need for careful observance of all good driving rules. Motorists also are being urged to make sure that their cars are in safe operating condition.

S-D Day has been given strong official and unofficial support in Pontiac. Mayor Donaldson has issued a special proclamation. The Chamber of Commerce's safety committee has sponsored the day locally and several private organizations have given it enthusiastic support.

Any doubt about the need for such a program here is erased by statistics. There have been 12 traffic deaths in Pontiac this year. That's twice as many as last year. In the State, highway deaths are up 13 per cent, injuries 9 and total accidents 3 per cent over 1954.

Be sure to do your part toward making S-D Day a success.

France Wooed Back Into U. N. Assembly

U. N.'s General Assembly solved one of its graver problems at the weekend when it succeeded in wooing back the French delegation.

The deadlock was broken when favorable action was taken on a suggestion made by the Colombian Ambassador, Dr. Urrutia. His proposal was that debate on the Algerian question be removed from the agenda.

France's Foreign Minister Pinay and the entire delegation walked out of the Assembly September 30, after a 28-27 vote to debate the Algerian question. Pinay contended logically that Algeria, being an integral part of metropolitan France, the Assembly had no right to interfere in a purely domestic matter.

The immediate return of the French delegation is welcome news. It is good not only for France but for the Assembly. As already has been well said the United Nations without France wouldn't make any more sense than without the United States or Britain.

Kremlin Wooing Turkey

A grim fact of international life is the persistence with which the Kremlin is wooing its old enemy, Turkey.

Moscow has gone to great lengths to remind the Turks that they have always profited when they and Russia were friendly. Further, they have assured Ankara that the now liquidated Lavrenti P. Beria was solely responsible for the postwar deterioration of Russo-Turk relations.

In the year after World War II, Russia made serious demands on Turkey. Moscow wanted but did not get the districts of Kars and Ardahan, a wide belt of Turkish territory along the Black Sea and a foothold at the Dardanelles.

This pressure on Turkey at a time when Greece was in danger of Communist infiltration, moved our government to action. In 1947 President Truman proposed and Congress voted aid to Turkey and Greece.

Turkey has been a staunch ally. Its troops distinguished themselves in the war against Communist aggression in Korea. In 1951 Turkey joined the United States, Britain and France in a Middle East defense pact. A year later it became affiliated with NATO and in 1954 entered into a joint defense agreement with Yugoslavia and Greece, and another with Pakistan.

Now Ankara and Athens are at odds over the Cyprus issue and Turkey is experiencing inflationary pressure. For this the United States not only is blamed but the Turks resent U. S. refusal to advance another large loan. So, as is to be expected, Russia now is fishing in these troubled waters.

People are so prosperous these days that they're even paying their doctors' bills on time.

The Man About Town

Plenty of It Here

Reclaimed Muck Land to Increase Farm Production

Optimist: A man who, while waiting for a woman, keeps his motor running.

Oakland County has thousands of acres of undeveloped muck land. Many of our 400 lakes are surrounded with it. In other areas it is being converted into profitable farm land, especially adapted for the growing of potatoes, celery and other root crops. Several square miles of it in the Imlay City area already are producing, and extensive further conversions are now projected. It has been found to be more profitable than the older and higher land, much of which has been "cropped out." To highlight the extensions proposed, Imlay City today is holding a "Muck Day," at which agricultural experts will commune with local property owners, and show them how to make the change over. Why not get something like this started in Oakland County?

Tomorrow is the time designated as

and the fullest co-operation of the public is asked by

Sheriff Frank W. Irons

and the men under him. They tell us nothing can make them happier than for Pontiac and all of Oakland County to have an accident free day.

"While the passenger traffic on it may be negligible," writes of Oxford, "probably no railroad in Michigan has seen a larger development from the land along its right-of-way in recent years than has taken place on the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway in the gravel excavations just east of Oxford." The Grand Trunk seeks to discontinue all passenger service on this division.

Not until he got home from the northern peninsula with his 150-pound buck did

A national magazine is seeking information as to whether there ever were any covered highway bridges in Oakland County. A letter from

Looks Like a Hard Winter

David Lawrence Says:

Does International Expediency Dictate Violation of Fundamental Morality?

WASHINGTON—Rarely in world history has there been such a glaring example of concessions to immorality by a supposedly moral organization as in the proposed acceptance of a "package deal" by the United Nations whereby governments plainly unable to carry out the obligations of the charter are to be admitted as members.

For it now is proposed that the governments of Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Albania and Outer Mongolia, which are puppets under the control of the Soviet Union—itself a partner in the conspiracy of aggression against the free world—shall be accepted in defiance of the provisions of the charter itself.

These provisions state membership is open "to all peace-loving states which accept the obligations contained in the present charter and which, in the judgment of the present organization, are able and willing to carry out these obligations."

What are the "obligations"? They are set forth in many articles of the charter. One article says that the organization is based "on the sovereign equality of all its members." Another article says:

"All members shall give the United Nations every assistance in any action it takes in accordance with the provisions of the present charter, and shall refrain from giving assistance to any state against which the United Nation is taking preventive or enforcement action. A member of the United Nations which has persistently violated the principles contained in the present charter may be expelled from the organization by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Security Council."

Soviet Russia has persistently violated these principles and openly boasted before the General Assembly in 1952 that it had aided North Korea with arms and munitions in the war which the United Nations itself waged against the aggressors. The Soviet Union, being a party to a dispute, could be held ineligible to vote in the Security Council and hence her own veto could not prevent expulsion.

COMPOUND THE CRIME

The United Nations in admitting the governments of the Communist-occupied countries would be compounding the crime against morality by allowing governments that have been deprived of their independence by Soviet Russia to come into the organization on an equality with sovereign governments that are truly independent.

Expediency, which has always been the cancer that has ruined good statesmanship is being extolled as the only way to bring into the U.N. several non-Communist governments.

It is a deal to appease Moscow in which no objection will be made by the West to the admission of Communist governments provided the Soviet doesn't veto the admission of the non-Communist states.

IT'S BLACKMAIL

This is nothing less than blackmail. Yet there are those who favor it, including some officials of the American government.

If there ever was a time when moral principle required an objection to the admission of the additional Communist states, if is today. It would be far better to let the Soviet use the veto and keep some peace-loving nations out than to surrender on principle.

It would be far better to uphold basic provisions of the charter and consider the expulsion from the U.N. of the obstructive Communist states, including Soviet Russia. Then membership in the United Nations would be worth something.

Then, American groups which laud United Nations as an advance toward world peace would not have to hold their heads in shame as they teach the school children of America that the U.N. is based on international morality.

Cold Season Is Best Time for Hay Fever Treatment

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Our son, nearly ten, has suffered from hay fever during August until frost for three years.

This year our doctor said he should be tested for specific allergies and have year-around shots. These are costly and inconvenient. (Mrs. G. N. J., the boy's mother.)

Our son hates shots and we decided that we'd try the added calcium and D intake in June, as you advise. We did this, and he had scarcely a sign of hay fever this season. To say we are delighted is a minimal expression.

Thanks so much, Dr. Brady. Keep up the good work. My husband and I are college graduates, and firm believers in your advice and common sense. (Signed — — —.)

Hay fever is out of season now and some people are quick to complain if I discuss unseasonal subjects.

TIME TO ACT

The time to do anything about hay fever is precisely when hay fever is out of season. It is hard to get people interested in the prevention of hay fever after the hay fever season is over, except those who have suffered one season after another despite much treatment.

In the Hay Fever pamphlet I tell how to use calcium and D to prevent hay fever. In the pamphlet on Allergy I tell how to relieve or minimize the manifestations of this popular complaint. For the pamphlets send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Wisconsin mother writes:

Our 17-year-old son uses K and vitamin C for a nasal allergy that acts like hay fever. He didn't want to use it at first, but one morning it was so bad he got desperate. That afternoon when he came home he threw his arms around me and hugged me. He said it worked like a charm. Now he uses K and C as he needs it and gets relief in short order.

ONLY RELIEF

K is potassium and C is vitamin C (ascorbic acid.) This is neither treatment nor prevention, but, for many victims of allergy of whatever type it works more or less "like a charm," symptomatically.

It is not to be regarded as either preventive or remedial, but as a relief.

Theoretically potassium with vitamin C mobilizes adrenalin, the internal secretion of the suprarenal ductless glands and when the body tissues are depleted of K and-or C the physiological supply of adrenalin is impaired.

'City Parking Lot Revenue Should Benefit Taxpayer'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Why should the average taxpayer in the city of Pontiac have to buy the lots for parking space for the city? If these businesses have to have parking space to carry on their enterprises, why not let the businesses themselves provide their own parking space, regardless of its proximity to their respective places of business?

No doubt, these taxpayers, for the public city-owned parking facilities which benefit the small businesses, are not aware of the fact that the money collected from them is supposedly used for city improvement . . . or is it?

How about the youth center suggested by someone recently? Even Lake Orion boasts a center for teenagers to spend their leisure moments. This keeps them off the street from the hours of 9 p.m. to 11 p.m.

How about this public restroom so badly needed in the downtown district, where we women spending our husbands' money can stop to rest and gather our thoughts?

Pontiac is a fast-growing industrial center, and it boasts of a fine police force, a kinder one not to be found in the state of Michigan.

After all, the taxpayer has the first right, and his money keeps the wolf from the door of the city, so to speak.

Vote for Private Power Should Cheer Moderates

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

A grass roots incident in Stevens County, Wash., in which voters chose overwhelmingly to return from public to private power illuminates an important trend in public attitude toward socialization.

It is not an isolated incident, but it is in line with an earlier expression by local officials, Chambers of Commerce and newspaper editorials in western Washington, when the management of Puget Sound Power & Light Co., an investor-owned, tax-paying utility, found that there was strong public sentiment for its survival. Accordingly, the directors decided to avoid a merger or a sellout to public agencies.

The timing of the reversal of public opinion in Washington state is related to President Eisenhower's courage back in 1953 in resisting misleading slogans and in frankly and sincerely expressing his devotion to voluntary economic action.

The full story of the change in intellectual climate in this controversial area had been documented in the Hoover report on power and water resources under the direction of Adm. Ben Moreell, able chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. and war-time head of the Seabees.

In light of these episodes of public acceptance of the privately owned and managed public utility, the easy assumption of critics of the administration that the politics of the depressed 1930s are still timely should be re-examined. Specifically, the easy assumption that the "outs" can make hay out of the Dixon-Yates contract is open to question.

The fact is that even under the Truman administration a precedent had been set on the Ohio River in organizing a gigantic power enterprise, financed by private investors and operated by tax-paying, investor-owned utilities, in order to provide energy for a vast atomic project.

SIGNIFICANT VOTE

The overwhelming vote last week in Stevens County to sell the public power facilities of the Public Utility District, a quasi-governmental agency established in 1936, to the Washington Water Power Co. for $2,905,000 is significant. It should be recalled that some years previously a Rural Electric Administration public venture in Idaho sold out to the Idaho Power Co.

The fact that a military hero, Eisenhower, has been forthright in expressing his faith in individual miatiative and enterprise is historically important.

Eisenhower promised to balance the budget in part through returning to the states, the localities and private enterprise those activities which they are able and willing to perform. In power, he spoke of a "partnership" between the federal government and other units.

But, instead of being the cause of a new trend of public opinion, it may be that the President and his advisers recognized early that the earlier emergency power program, cooked up in haste during a depression with headlines, had become obsolete and untimely during an economic boom.

In this particular, I have frequently quoted the maxim of the late William Jennings Bryan, three times Democratic presidential candidate, who told me that the people are not interested in monetary reforms and economic panaceas in time of high-level prosperity, only in depressed periods.

GRASP THE POINT

If there is horse sense in Bryan's observation, then among the leading Democratic aspirants, Stevenson and Kefauver have grasped the point in coming out for "moderation" much better than Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who has said that there is no such word as "moderate" in the Democratic Party.

(Of course, the genuinely moderate Democrats, such as Sens. Dick Russell of Georgoa and Harry S. Byrd of Virginia, are deemed to belong to the minority wing.)

As for Harriman, he may indeed be looking backwards, and hence may be assuming that the "sure-fire" stuff of the depressed period will be equally productive of votes in a boom. Last week's Washington State vote would indicate that there is intellectual obsolescence in such an assumption.

The trend in Washington state should give courage to those who look beyond deceptive labels to the inner reality. It should strengthen the heart of those in public and business affairs who prefer candor to bunk.

Mothers, Accept Challenge to Inspire Your Children to Create Better World

Hannah made a vow to God that she would train her son to be a great religious leader. Mothers nowadays need to imitate Hannah. Also, urge your children to become scientists and poets, musicians and inventors, but don't stress money unduly. Teach them to follow the motto which Lincoln aspired to.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-309: Hannah was a famous wife of Biblical days.

She didn't know about our modern "rhythm theory" so had never borne a baby. And that disturbed her exceedingly.

So she went to the Temple and prayed to God for a baby. But she didn't pray aloud. So Eli, the priest, scolded her for being drunk.

Hannah then made a vow that if God would heed her plea and permit her to have a baby, she would dedicate this child to God as a priest.

And so it came to pass. Her baby was named Samuel, the great prophet of Israel who anointed Saul to be the first king and later anointed David to succeed Saul.

I mention this case today to stress the tremendous influence of mothers on their children. A good mother should encourage her children to leave their "personality imprints" on society for its betterment.

That doesn't mean the children must all study to be clergymen. But they should have a high, idealistic goal.

It is also proper that a man expect to obtain an adequate salary to furnish him the desirable things of life.

But after you can finance three square meals per day, plus adequate housing and clothing, there isn't much need for greater wealth.

The millionaire thus enjoys few advantages that the average American wage earner doesn't possess.

Both consume the same bread and pasteurized milk. They drink the same pure city water and view the same newspapers, movies, ballgams and TV shows.

MOTHERS' CHALLENGE

So don't worship money unduly till you stimulate your son to think that piling up a fortune is the supreme goal in life.

Remind him that we human beings leave our imprints, much like the fingerprints of the crooks.

But our personality imprints should be constructive! We should try to follow Abraham Lincoln's goal of wanting it said by his biographers that he left roses where thistles grew before!

The world is crying out for new leaders to relieve the pagan strife that still causes unnecessary feuding between labor and management.

We need new drugs, as well as new poems. People are also hungry for new books and paintings, as well as new recipes for food.

New discoveries in botany can transform our way of life.

Religion, too, is a dynamic, progressive thing. God's communication didn't stop with the Book of Revelation in the New Testament. Modern clergymen are often as influential as the prophets of ancient days, including Elijah and Isaiah.

Archeology and history and geography and chemistry and mathematics and astronomy are full of secrets that boys and girls will ultimately be able to fathom.

So please, mothers, accept your great opportunity and "mark" your newborn children with a hunger for idealism and a lasting thirst to leave the world better because of their personality prints.

"Footprints on the sands of time" are part of this theme. Pasteur and Raphael, Shakespeare and Disraeli, Lincoln and Edison and Billy Graham are the types of heroes to laud before our children, rather than Midas or Croesus.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Murphy Leads Harbor Commission

NEW YORK (AP) — The Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor has picked New York City Police Inspector Michael J. Murphy as its new executive director.

Murphy succeeds Samuel M. Lane, who resigned from the job in September. The post had been filled on a temporary basis until the two commission members, representing the states of New York and New Jersey, could agree on Lane's replacement.

Lane also was general counsel for the commission. To fill this job, the bistate agency promoted Assistant General Counsel Irving Slonin. He had earlier been designated as acting general counsel.

Murphy's appointment yesterday cleared the way for New York's Commissioner-Designate John P. McGrath to take office.

New York Gov. Averell Harriman named McGrath, who had been his Democratic campaign manager last year, to the commission earlier this month after requesting Lt. Gen. George P. Hayes (Ret.) to quit.

POLITICAL PATRONAGE

Hays had been appointed to the commission by Republican Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey when the agency was formed over two years ago to police labor on the racket-ridden waterfront.

Harriman's action brought into the open an apparent rift between the New York governor and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, both Democrats. A point at issue was apparently the selection of a new executive director.

Before Hays left office, he and the New Jersey commissioner, Joseph Weintraub, named William P. Sirignano of the commission staff as acting executive director and provided that he should keep the job until Weintraub and McGrath agreed on someone else.

McGrath refused to take office under these conditions, and on Nov. 7 Harriman and Meyner met to iron out the dispute. It was agreed that McGrath would not take office until he and Weintraub had selected a new director and that they should make the choice as soon as possible. McGrath is now scheduled to be sworn in tomorrow.

Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority another bistate agency, was asked to suggest candidates for the job. The commission announcement said Murphy was one of three persons Tobin had named. The other two were not identified.

Murphy, 42, who leaves a $9,350-a-year job as head of the police academy to take over the $20,000-a-year commission post, has had an outstanding police career.

WELL TRAINED MEN

In Albany, Harriman said he was gratified by the selection and added:

"With an executive director who is not only trained in the law but who has risen through the ranks of the police department to head the police academy and is thus an expert on law enforcement, the staff of the commission has been strengthened for the performance of its work."

Murphy's appointment came the same day that the International Longshoremen's Assn. finished presenting its grievances against the commission to a citizens waterfront committee. The committee plans more hearings.

The committee is an unofficial group formed during an ILA strike that crippled the waterfront last September. The ILA agreed to go back to work when the committee offered itself as a forum for hearing complaints against the Harbor Commission.

Aramburu Acts to Return 'La Prensa' to Publisher

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's famed newspaper La Prensa, silenced and enslaved by dictator Juan D. Peron in an act condemned around the world, is on the verge of being returned to its exiled owner-editor.

Provisional President Pedro Aramburu in his first meeting with the press Monday did not say outright his government would give La Prensa back to Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz. But he said his regime had "resolved" the celebrated La Prensa case and that this would "repair the outrage committed against this great newspaper."

CONTROL SHIFTS

There appeared no other interpretation of his words than that control of the paper would shift from the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) back to the Paz family which since it founded La Prensa in 1869 had built it into one of the Western Hemisphere's leading journals.

Peron closed the outspoken newspaper more than four years ago and handed it over to CGT—the big worker's organization with which he hammered out his dictatorship. La Prensa was transformed from a respected independent journal to just another rubber stamp for the Peronista line.

DECREE UNFINISHED

Aramburu's press secretary Adolfo Lanus said the decree, which was expected to declare the seizure of La Prensa unconstitutional, had not been completed. He added, however, it might be finished in time for the President to sign today or tomorrow.

* * *

It was learned Aramburu's declaration was timed to precede a visit to Buenos Aires tomorrow by Henry Holland, U. S. assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs. The treatment of La Prensa has resulted in much criticism of Argentina in the United States.

2nd Firm Considers Making Newsprint

NEW YORK (AP) — Union Bag & Paper Corp., major manufacturer of paper and paperboard, has disclosed it may go into the productoin of newsprint.

It was the second paper company to make such an announcement in less than a week. Hudson Pulp & Paper Corp., previously had stated it was considering a 25-million-dollar newsprint addition to its tissue mill at Palatka, Fla.

Alexander Calder, president of Unoin Bag, said in a statement," "the company is considering expansoin into the newsprint field by building a newsprint mill in the southern United States. Several months ago, the company retained an industrial engineering firm to make a study of expansion in the field.

Honor System Used to Rent Out Boats

LAWTON (AP)—Boat liveryman Ed Wagner puts fishermen on their honor when they rent his boats. Wagner, 73, has installed a system of slots on his garage at nearby Cedar Lake. Slot numbers correspond with those of boats. A sign directs the customer to insert his fee and help himself to a boat.

Wagner says that in two years of operating his system he has been "beat out" of only one or two fees. The price is $1 a day.

Face Embarrassment, Call for Help if Needed

EAST MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Do-it-yourself fire fighting is deplorable, says Fire Chief George Larette.

"Don't be embarrassed to call for an investigation by the fire department at once if you smell smoke or even suspect a fire," he urged in a declaration on the subject.

"There's no sorrier sight than a person who thought he could handle a small fire and then had to watch as the house and all is possessions were destroyed by the flames," he said.

14,000 Votes Voided as Town Counts Citizens

MANILLA (AP) — Dinaig is quite a town. The number of registered voters jumped to 16,000 this year from 3,000 in 1941, despite a decrease in population.

A congressman from the district says he knows why and has asked the Commission on Elections to knock out 14,000 names. He says that is the number of fictitious names slipped in by sly politicos who used "Moslem words for days, trees, monkeys and dogs."

North Carolina has about 125 mountains of 5,000 feet or more above sea level.

Nickel Avoids Dollar Parking Ticket Fine

MOUNT JOY, Pa. (AP) — Here's one town where joy really runs wild when it comes to parking tickets.

City council decreed that policemen must slip a nickel into the meter for the overparked motorist and leave a pink notice under the windshield wiper.

All the motorist has to do is return the notice to the burgess with five cents to ward off a one dollar fine.

Taxpayers now queue to make payments in Antofagasta, Chile.

School for experts. These men are already skilled mechanics. But they're getting a post-graduate course in the newest engineering advances in GM cars—at a GM Service Training Center. This training is available to the service mechanics of dealers who sell Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs, GMC Trucks and mechanics who service Body by Fisher.

Secret of success:
Happy Customers

ADVANCED ENGINEERING mustn't stop when new cars roll off the assembly line.

Those cars, as General Motors builds them, sparkle with engineering advances unknown a few years ago.

They have such safety features as Power Steering and Power Brakes.

They have high-compression V8 engines of latest design.

They have smooth and agile new automatic transmissions.

They have air conditioning and improved ventilation systems.

And they have a long list of other new safety and convenience features.

And just as it took new skills, new machines and new tools to build them—it takes new skills, new machines and new tools to give them the intelligent service they need, in the service departments of 18,000 General Motors dealers from coast to coast.

And here you have a perfect example of what General Motors and the dealers who sell GM cars are accomplishing together.

In the past few months, General Motors completed the thirtieth spick-and-span-new Service Training Center—especially planned and built to give GM dealers' service mechanics exactly the special new skills they need to carry the advantages of advanced engineering to the car owners of their neighborhoods.

They learn how each new engineering feature is built—and what tools are used to service it efficiently. Even a veteran mechanic needs such training as this.

And GM dealers are doing their part by sending their mechanics, by the thousands, to get this advanced engineering training—so they can give the best of care to the millions of new GM cars people buy every year.

No other dealer group in America has a service training that approaches this one.

That may be one reason why GM and the vast majority of General Motors car dealers work so profitably together.

Parasite Pennies—

Is every cent you pay for insurance coverage working for you? Perhaps some of them, like the cent pictured, are idle or wasted.

It's well to let us make periodic surveys of your insurance. By so doing you can be sure your protection is up-to-date — with little chance for an uninsured loss—or little chance that you'll be paying for surplus, unnecessary protection.

New CIO-AFL Organization Planning for Immediate Attack on Taft-Hartley

NEW YORK (INS)—An all-out attack on the Taft-Hartley act yesterday was reported to be the first objective of the combined American Federation of Labor and Congress for Industrial Organization after their merger next week.

While repeal of the labor law is the ultimate goal, union leaders first twill seek amendments softening many of its provisions when Congress reconvenes in January.

Michael J. Quill, head of the CIO Transport Workers Union, who has threatened to bolt the merger, was expected to backtrack before the week is over.

The AFL-CIO strategy is to let Quill cool his heels because leaders are sure the TWU rank and file will back the merger.

QUILL REFUSED POST

However, a Quill spokesman said he had refused one of the 27 vice presidencies in the merged unions "because there is no guarantee against raiding, racketeering and discrimmination."

But his main objection appeared to be his fear his union would be absorbed by the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, which is twice as big as the TWU.

AFL President George Meany, who will be the $35,000-a-year head of the combined unions, was to begin unity committee meetings today with Walter Reuther, CIO president.

REUTHER'S NEW JOB

It was learned that Reuther will head the industrial union department of the merged labor movement. The function of the new department will be to promote industrial unionism.

As the unity sessions begin in the Hotel New Yorker, Reuther said "everything is going smoothly and there are no hitches."

The only "difference," he explained, were language changes in the proposed constitution and disposition of property and union funds.

Quill had said he was opposed to the merger on the grounds the language of the new constitution was not strong enough.

The merger convention will open Monday and run through Friday in the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th St. and Park Ave.

The AFL will hold its annual convention Thursday and Friday of this week in the Hotel Statler and the CIO will meet the same days in Manhattan Centre.

More than 1,300 delegates representing approximately 150 unions are due here within the next two days.

The combined AFL-CIO will have a total membership of more than 15,000,000.

Call for A-Shelters

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Washtenaw County civil defense officials have asked residents to equip their homes with permanent shelter protection against radioactive fallout. Last-minute shelters, they said, will not be adequate and evacuation is not urged in event of an enemy attack.

3 Pct. Are Delinquents

DETROIT (AP) — Only three per cent of Detroit's young people are delinquents, Police Commissioner Edward Piggins told a Chadsey high school audience Monday, and the remaining 97 per cent should "influence the others toward becoming better citizens."

The 1956 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door, 6-Passenger Estate Wagon

IN NO uncertain terms, this one makes your travel hours prideful as well as practical.

It's all Buick, you see—all 1956 Buick.

Which means a new lift to anyone's spirit—from the new sweep-ahead look of it—the new might of its 322-cubic-inch V8 engine raised to lofty new power highs—the new sizzle of its advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the true sweetness of its great new ride.

But it's a lot more than that.

It's Buick's highly versatile Estate Wagon—now substantially lowered in price for 1956—and how much more practical can you get than that?

For with this one, and for an easy-to-reach figure—you have a car with all the suavity of a smart sedan plus the all-duty handiness of a suburban vehicle. You have a car completely steel-bodied, so its exterior upkeep stays simple and inexpensive—and a roomy car to carry six, plus gear.

You have a covered platform that's plain wonderful. It can take an inflated air mattress for sleeping. It can freight a small rowboat and camp equipment. It can hold luggage, or golf clubs and such—or the results of a mad shopping spree, even if you go in for antique furniture.

You can even have the rear seat come, at your option, in a handy split-section that lets you carry both rear-seat passengers and extra-long loads like skis, or fishing rods, or young trees, or two-by-fours.

So what more can we say, except come see it.

The Estate Wagon is available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the budget-tagged SPECIAL, and the high-powered CENTURY. And, we repeat, both newly lowered in price for 1956.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Long Loads are a breeze!
Fold down either or both sections of the rear seat and you have a covered platform 83 inches long with the tail gate closed—99.6 inches, with it open.

Bob Considine Says:

Admiral Stresses U. S. Need for Scientists

NEW YORK (INS)—People . . . places . . . things . . .

Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover, USN, the man who fought the atomic submarine through the shoals of old-line Navy resistance and accumulated ignorance, produced what he called an "unpleasant fact" in a speech the other day. He said:

"In the field of scientific and engineering education our main competitor — Russia — is speedily passing us. The U.S. now has about 800,000 engineers and scientists, Russia 650,000.

"In 1954 she graduated more than 50,000 engineers and scientists; we graduated 23,000.

"Allen Dulles has stated that between 1950 and 1960 Soviet Russia will have graduated 1,200,000 scientists and engineers, compared with 900,000 in the U.S. in our present program . . ."

H-TEST DISPUTE

One of the reasons Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission gave for brusquely rejecting Commissioner Tom Murray's proposal for an H-bomb test for all the world to see was this:

The Bikini tests of 1946 (which were witnessed by two Russian scientists) "appear to have spurred them in their nuclear weapons program."

The Russians had been working on the bomb since 1943 with the help of their own physicists, captured German scientists, and the contributions of Dr. Alan Nunn May, Klaus Fuchs, the Rosenbergs, etc. Bikini couldn't have meant much, one way or the other.

In fact, one of the Red scientists was such a boob that he walked out of a demonstration of the University of California's cyclotron because some joker around the lab had chalked "Big Bertha" on one of the machine's pipes.

The Red said, "Ah, I knew it was a war-making device!"

HUMAN TEXANS

Hollywood recently made what it considers a very interesting discovery: That Texans are quite human.

It all came about when Henry Ginsberg, the producer, George Stevens, the director, and Edna Ferber, girl author, decided they'd shoot the works and film Miss Ferber's "Giant" right smack-dab in the land where folks were said to be fightin' mad about it.

The company didn't know whether it was going in shoot or get shot when it arrived in Marfa, Tex. But there were no ambushes the first day or so.

Emboldened, Ginsberg wired Hollywood to build the picture a "Texas-type" house out there and ship it to Marfa, where there weren't any Texas-type houses. A tense time passed after they imported the Texas-type house into Texas. But still the natives remained quiet.

Pretty soon they came out of hiding. Long lines of air-conditioned Cadillacs appeared on the horizon, and air-conditioned twin-engined private planes and helicopters poked inquisitive noses over hills.

The Hollywood group then learned that the natives weren't interested in beads. In fact, the women seemed to have found a trading post named Neiman-Marcus where such baubles are sold.

Anyway, the natives made the intrepid pioneers feel right at home, and though the book was a scalping job here and there they adopted the film. "Big," one said, a Hollywood operative later quoted.

'LIGHTS' FOR BLIND

If you're in the neighborhood of New York's Carnegie Hall this Sunday night around 8 o'clock, look in on "Lights On," the seventh annual all-star show for the benefit of the National Council to Combat Blindness.

This is one of the few organizations in the world which tries to do something about blindness before it strikes.

It is primarily the creation of a fine girl named Mildred Weisenfield, who went blind as a child from some simple malady such as measles, and roamed the world's eye-doctors in search of a cure.

She didn't find it, but her work with the council is helping others to escape the fate she courageously bears.

Fined Teacher Gets $31 From Students

EDMOND, Okla. (AP)—A $10 fine levied against a teacher for permitting students to sell cakes door-to-door has turned into a $31 profit.

Sympathy built up for the students and teacher, Alvin Lawson, who paid the fine. The cakes were being sold to raise funds for a school carnival.

When the carnival was held a citizen repaid the teacher for the fine. In addition a magician from Oklahoma City offered his services free for the carnival. Finally, a hat was passed and $30.95 was contributed "to defray the inconvenience the students had while selling cakes."

Paternity Suit Dropped Against Food-Chain Heir

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A paternity suit against grocery chain heir Huntington Hartford II has been dismissed.

Atty. Bernard B. Cohen, who filed the suit on behalf of Edward Barton Colt, 17, said there was no settlement but declined further comment.

The suit, dismissed yesterday, was brought by Colt's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Florence Barton Brangenberg, 60. It sought to compel Hartford, 44, heir to an A&P stores fortune, to acknowledge paternity of Colt so the youth could travel abroad and join the armed forces under his true name. The complaint did not seek support, saying Colt receives $800 a month from a $295,000 trust fund set up for him by Hartford. It stated that Colt was born to Miss Mary Barton, night club dancer who later died of an apparent overdose of sleeping pills.

Williams Tries to Herd Dems to Liberalism

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has made a bold bid for leadership of the so-called left wing of the Democratic party and at the same time tried to spur Democrats back to the New Deal-Fair Deal political philosophy.

In a speech at Denver Saturday night, Williams became the first Democrat of national stature to speak out caustically against the policy of moderation enunciated recently at Chicago by Adlai Stevenson, the party's only announced candidate for the presidency.

Williams did not mention Stevenson by name, but referred to him indirectly, linking the party's 1952 standard-bearer with "the timid, the temporizers, the compromisers."

The governor told newsmen this did not mean he was making his own bid for the presidential nomination against Stevenson.

Observers took him at his word, but could not discount the possibility that by such tactics Williams might rally to his banner those who distrust the soft approach of current party leaders and their evident desire to pursue a middle way in the 1956 campaign.

Williams said the Democratic program in 1956: "Must be to the third quarter of our century what Woodrow Wilson's was to the first quarter and what Franklin D. Roosevelt's and Harry S. Truman's was to the second. They were not timid men, they were not tired men. They did not pause to catch their breaths. In the face of great disaster or great opportunity they did not counsel moderation."

DARK HORSE

Capitol observers believe that Williams has thus sought to improve his position as a dark horse in the presidential sweepstakes.

Noting the high obstacles in the way of an outright announcement of Williams well-known ambition to be president, observers deduce that Williams hopes for a convention deadlock between the front-running Stevenson and such strong contenders as Gov. Averill Harriman of New York and U. S. Senator Estes Kefauver.

They reason that if a deadlock should develop Williams would be in a better position to demand the nomination as the man who had openly pledged himself to the liberal tradition of the party.

But they agree that Williams' own political philosophy moves him as deeply as does his personal ambition.

Williams' anger at the national Democratic party's current trend has been evident to observers for months.

One of the leaders of the disruptive "loyalty oath" movement at the 1952 convention, Williams has been restive at seeing southern Democrats gradually gathering in party reins and imposing their own conservative views on party policies.

At Williams' side is a group of admirers who want to see him president; who sincerely believe he has the making of a great liberal president in the Wilson and Roosevelt tradition.

These admirers reportedly have been frustrated by Williams' refusal—and possibly, his inability—to come out swinging for the nomination.

Hence, it is believed that these men, devoted to a policy of aggressive liberalism, have stirred Williams to make a bold move toward enhancing his own position and toward fanning the dormant fires of liberalism in the party.

Some of Williams' backers think such a course might ignite a fire of enthusiasm on his behalf and on behalf of his ideas of government.

Williams said at Denver "I am made heartsick by those in my own party who do not militantly resist the spurious doctrine that, so long as our aged have some security — so long as the uninhabitable of our tenemants are torn down—so long as our unemployment is below the critical level part of the time—our job is done, we can rest.

"So long as some 15 million American families are still housed in substandard dwellings, I would be ashamed," Williams said, "to harken to the counsels of those who have proposed, in effect, that this is an ideal time for a national coffee break.

"At this moment I am not sure," he said, "who stands where in the fight for social justice and human betterment. I know not what course others may take, but as for me, I would rather be hanged as a rebel in the ranks of those fighting for a fuller life for all of our people than to hold a commission in the Army of General Apathy and General Despair."

To political observers there is much in the picture which is not clear. They note with some confusion that the CIO, Williams' main bastion, is reportedly back of Stevenson and that Neil Staebler, Williams' hand-picked state chairman, is reportedly an enthusiastic Stevenson supporter.

But there is no doubt where Williams' himself stands:

He is opposed to sneaking up on the enemy.

Slezaks Obey Stars (Heavenly, Not Movie)

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Actor Walter Slezak is an enormous man in physique, intelligence and talent, and nobody in his right mind tells him how to behave.

Only the stars (in Heaven, not Hollywood) can do that.

Slezak lives, and very well, too, by the Zodiac. His lovely red-haired wife is his astrologist.

"Everything I do, I guess you'd say, is based on what constellations are governing my houses," says he, settling down to a chair which he overlaps comfortably but considerably.

"When I get a new play script to read, my wife figures out what day the typewriter was born—and we take it from there."

Has he ever been star-crossed?

"No," he says, "but I've been cross at the stars. Wanted to marry Johanna in February, but it wasn't propitious and we had to wait till September." Stars schmars, he thought at the time, but they waited, and the marriage has been 13 years long and happy.

"One of the chief reasons," Johanna points out, "is that we always know how one another feel, through the charts.

CAN'T BE UNTRUE

"Another reason is that we wouldn't dream of being unfaithful," Slezak adds cheerfully. "If I saw Marilyn Monroe on the side, a large 'M' would appear in the heavens."

The Slezaks kid about their astrological philosophies ("You probably think we're daffy"), but they are so serious that they planned the births of their two children so that the natal days would fall under the sign of Leo, July 23 to Aug. 23. Best sign in the Zodiac to be born under, they say. Leads to happy-go-lucky personalities.

Professionally, Slezak has been completely guided by the stars for 25 years. He accepted his present starring role in the Broadway hit "Fanny" because the heavenly signs indicated it was a better move than taking a CBS-TV contract he was offered at the same time.

"In the show before—'My Three Angels'—I had to change our road tour schedule around, so that on one particular day I would appear in Milwaukee instead of in Cincinnati, as originally scheduled," Slezak shrugs. "It was an inconvenience, but I was due to break up physically if I'd been in Cincinnati."

The lingo of astrologers is difficult to grasp, but after talking to the Slezaks awhile you begin to comprehend it as you would jive-talk or pig-Latin.

So you understand when Johanna says, "I was awfully frightened recently when I drew up Walter's chart and found that the planet Saturn was appearing in his death house. This could be fatal."

HAPPY THOUGHT

But she was relieved to remember that in "Fanny," he dies every night. "Even though he was acting, that took care of the death sign."

Now, says Johanna, Walter is scheduled to be very successful in 1956.

"Awfully good knowing these things," says Slezak, chuckling through his goatee. "Much nicer than last year when she told me there was virus pneumonia in my future." They just had time to stock in juices and pills when it struck.

"You see," says Slezak, everybody has an occasional bad planet in the wrong house. It's not always pure gravy being a Taurus!"

Thief Plays the Clown

DAVY, W. Va. (AP) — It was near Halloween. Drug store manager Opal Neely told police she was "amused" when a man in a long, gray coat—wearing a paper bag over his head—entered the store at closing time and began clowning. She wasn't laughing, however, when the man pointed a gun at her and the other clerks, ordered the safe opened, and fled with $1,300 in cash and checks.

THE CHURCHILLS in retirement: "I married in 1908 and lived happily ever after."

Sir Winston Is 81 Today, Has Had Fruitful Year

LONDON (NEA) — In contrast to the public honors heaped upon him last year, Sir Winston Churchill celebrates his 81st birthday today all but ignored by the British nation.

His 80th birthday last year was the occasion for a Roman holiday in which nearly every Briton took part.

Members of Parliament, archbishops, peers joined in feting him. Liberal, Labor and Tory party leaders vied in singing his praises.

But this year Sir Winston is at his country home in Chartwell, Kent, surrounded only by members of his family, including nine grandchildren.

HONORS POUR IN

While Churchill's star appears to be momentarily eclipsed in his own country, honors continue to pour in upon him from other lands, notably from the United States.

Sir Winston has been named as the first recipient of the Williamsburg Award, to be given by the historic city of Williamsburg, Va., to those who do most "to advance the basic principles of liberty and justice."

A check for $10,000, plus a symbolic town crier's bell, will be given to Churchill on Dec. 7 at a ceremony in the London Drapers' Hall.

Earlier, the Freedom Award of 1955, made by Freedom House, Inc., of New York, went to Churchill for "devotion to liberty, courage in adversity and leadership in victory."

The bulldog warrior thus became the first non-American to be so honored, joining such distinguished American company as President Eisenhower, Bernard Baruch and George C. Marshall.

BRITONS TOO BUSY

It is not so much a question of "a prophet without honor in his own country" as it is that Britons have other things on their minds. The new purchase taxes on household goods, for example. Or the sorry state of British security, as revealed by the Burgess-Maclean scandal.

The average Briton is too harassed by the failure of the four-power conference at Geneva and the clash of Church and State over the question of divorce in England to give much thought to Churchill.

Then, too, Churchill's is no longer the hand on the levers of political power. When it honored him last year, the British nation honored a prime minister who had led it successfully through one of the bloodiest wars in history and who had then seen it safely onto the road of economic recovery.

Today, although he still retains a seat in the House of Commons, Sir Winston has been relegated to Elder Statesman.

HE'S SYMPATHETIC

There have been flurries of speculation as to whether events of the past year would have taken the same course had Churchill remained as prime minister. The Princess Margaret romance with Group Captain Townsend, for example.

It is doubtful that Churchill would have allowed the public debate over Princess Margaret's private life to prolong itself, as it did, until matters threatened to get out of hand.

There is no doubt, however, that Sir Winston's sympathies would have been with the princess, just as they were with her uncle, the Duke of Windsor. Churchill was one of the few public figures who stuck to the Duke, then King Edward VIII, all through the abdication crisis.

This year, weather permitting, Churchill putters around the garden which he helped to build at Chartwell. He frolics with Rufus II, the chocolate-colored poodle, or looks at his cherished black swans.

He can look back with satisfaction over a fruitful year. Since his retirement from active politics he has completed his four-volume "History of the English-Speaking Peoples," the first volume of which will be published this coming April. The complete work runs to some 500,000 words and is eagerly awaited by American as well as British fans.

Also he had brought back with him from his two months holiday at Cap d'Ail in the south of France "some smashing pictures," he tells friends.

The largest mechanical shovel in Africa is now loading rocks for use in building the new breakwaters for Tema Harbor, Gold Coast.

Hal Boyle Says:

World Builds for Peace, Frets About War

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone reflections of a pavement Plato:

The world has always been a merry-go-round.

It still is.

Looking at the present merry-go-round, what do we find? Let us go around the world, starting with the American.

The American doesn't feel the need of war. He is enjoying the highest level of individual and national prosperity ever achieved in the history of mankind. To defend that happiness, however, he feels at heart ready, willing and able to deal death to any quarter of the globe that threatens him. He hopes he'll never have to fight again—but he'll fight. And he'll fight on.

The English, following their modern pattern, concede in advance that their situation is hopeless militarily. They are reconciled to a fight in which they will never ever really give up.

The Frenchman, individual as ever, takes pride in his empire overseas but refuses to be drafted to defend it. As his hired soldiers from abroad dwindle, his empire will dwindle. Meanwhile, he'll claim a hold on the world's culture.

The German, having learned his lesson, is as always ready to fill the nearest gap of power, then fall to pondering whether, after all, he couldn't really win a world—if he could fight in only one direction at a time.

The Russian is trying to do everything. He is trying to be, above all, militarily self contained. He wants to keep a foot on Germany, build housing for his masses, create and maintain the world's largest war machine, and pat Red China on the back at the same time he feels for a weak spot he may use later.

The Chinese are riding the peak of their wave. In their land revolution climbs a red throne, and reaches from yesterday toward today.

Crowded India yearns to be the fulcrum, the balance point between the East and West, but vast China holds out the crimson hand of bargaining.

Industrious, market-hungry Japan, bounding back fast, reaches toward China, meanwhile sells in America.

In America a vast war machine is maintained and eternally refurbished, and new atomic power reactors are steadily built.

Everywhere in the world people are building in hopes of peace and worrying about war.

This is the merry-go-round. So it has usually been before. So it will probably be as long as one people or one country fears another.

4,000 End Walkout at Plymouth Factory

DETROIT (AP) — Some 4,000 afternoon shift workers at Plymouth's Lynch Road plant returned to their jobs last night after a one-day walkout had idled 9,100 in three Chrysler Corp. plants.

The walkout involved 180 material handlers who left their jobs in a dispute over changes in job classifications.

Workers at the company's Plymouth, Mack and Vernor plants were affected.

The CIO United Auto Workers union, which represents the workers urged them to return to work.

Some 4,300 workers were sent home early from the Mack plant again last night however, to give Plymouth assembly line production a chance to return to normal.

Hospital Addition Plans Revealed

William P. Babcock, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Pontiac General Hospital, announced today that construction of a six story addition to the hospital will begin next Spring. Completion is expected in 1958.

"Detailed plans are now approaching completion," said Babcock.

Members of the hospital board's building committee met with Leo J. Heenan, architect, and Adolph Roessling, consultant to the board, Sunday.

Some cost figures were presented by Heenan, and more of the final plans are being completed and turned over to the board for study. Several decisions were made as to materials and plans.

Pontiac voters some time ago approved a $3,000,000 bond issue. Inasmuch as building costs have risen since that time, members of the board hope to secure additional funds from state or federal sources by the time detailed plans are completed.

Exact cost of the addition will not be known until bids are received upon completion of the architect's plans. At that time the trustees will have to determine whether and to what extent they will have to modify their building plans.

"Of brick construction, contemporary in design, the addition will join the existing main building to form a U-shaped structure," Babcock said. "When completed, the hospital will house 347 beds, an increase of 149 over the 198 beds now in service, and the old facilities will be brought up the standard of the new.

"Operating rooms, recovery rooms, therapy rooms and nursery rooms will be fully air-conditioned, if funds allow. The power house and laundry behind the main building will be expanded to accommodate the needs of the larger building.

"The main entrance will face Seminole Avenue, and the present Huron Street entrance will be closed because of traffic conditions. Seminole will be altered to a boulevard with two-way traffic, affording ready access.

"During the two years of construction, operation of the existing building will be temporarily disrupted. A number of critically needed hospital beds will be put out of use; however, the hospital will continue its services throughout the construction period," according to Babcock.

"The new facility will consist of a ground floor with six stories above. The ground floor will house a large assembly and lecture room, classrooms, kitchen, dining rooms, a printing shop and service departments. Outside the dining room, a sunken court and garden was ingeniously developed from a connecting service tunnel. This court will afford diversion and relaxation for hospital personnel when they are off duty.

"Also on the ground floor will be well equipped, modern laboratories, including facilities for electrocardiograph and basal metabolism tests, urinalysis, hematology (blood,) serology (serum, and pathology (tissues).

"Foods prepared in the fully equipped kitchen will be transported to central pantries on each floor by carts. These carts are temperature controlled, so that hot foods are kept hot, and cold foods are kept cold. From the floor pantries, trays are made up and distributed to patients. Also on the ground floor will be a pharmacy department which prepares and dispenses drugs, and a central sterilizing and supply department.

"Patients will enter the hospital through the admitting section on the first floor, adjacent to the visitor's lobby. This section has facilities for chest X-Ray, blood testing and urinalysis, and every person admitted to the hospital will be given these three examinations.

"Other offices will include the accounting, credit, payroll, purchasing, insurance and personnel sections, and the Director of Nurses.

"All the old records will be kept on microfilm, and housed in a first-floor record room.

"There will be an enlarged staff library, an all-faith chapel and pastor's office with a broadcast room for transmitting services to patients throughout the hospital.

"The X-Ray department will be on the first floor, convenient for both in-patients and out-patients. This department will have a special 'wet-reading' room for immediate analysis of X-ray films when time is an important factor.

"A fracture room will treat simple fractures of arms and legs. Also on the first floor will be exercise rooms for the handicapped, special hydrotherapy baths, coffee shop and gift shop. A cart containing magazines, toilet articles, stationery and other items will be wheeled through the hospital daily for the convenience of the patients," the chairman added.

"The second floor will have a complete obstetrical department, including delivery rooms, labor rooms, a recovery room and 66 maternity beds. An expectant fathers' waiting room will be adjacent to the patients' recovery room and the nurse supervisor's office.

"The nursery section will be near the maternity patients' rooms, and will be equipped with 60 nursery cribs and 18 premature bassinets. The nurseries will have vision panels so that the nurses can maintain constant supervision from their work areas, and visitors can view the infants from public corridors.

"A 72-bed pediatric department will occupy the third floor. All rooms will have soundproofing and vision panels, as well as private toilet facilities. Cool, comfortable and moist 'natural fog' rooms will be provided for patients with respiratory illnesses.

"To relieve the atmosphere of hospital routine for the children, the department will have a cheerful playroom with built-in benches with cabinets for toys below, and murals on the walls. The pantry on this floor will prepare individual meals for each child.

"A 49-bed gynecology and women's surgery department will also be located on the third floor.

"On the fourth floor will be a 96-bed department for medical patients. In this department, and throughout the hospital, central nurses' control stations and separate service corridors will permit utmost efficiency.

"Each department has been planned to reduce nurses' travel to a minimum. Patients and nurses will be able to talk to each other through special telephone equipment. This innovation alone will save thousands of steps every day.

"On the fifth floor will be a 92-bed surgical nursing unit.

"The sixth floor will not occupy the full area of the other five floors. The sixth-floor surgery unit will be located over the west wing adjacent to Seminole Avenue, and will consist primarily of eight operating rooms, a recovery room, a tissue lab for the pathologist, and a doctors' locker and call room.

"An 11-bed recovery room and a pre-operative waiting room will be adjacent to the anaesthesiologist and nurse supervisor's office. Surgical patients will be kept under observation in the recovery room until it is certain there are no complications from their operation. Also on the sixth floor will be four booths equipped with dictating machines for doctors to use in recording details of an operation.

"A bulk-oxygen system will provide outlets for oxygen in operating rooms, nurseries and in each individual patient room," Babcock concluded.

The hospital is being designed by Leo J. Heenan, Pontiac architect. Adolph Roessling of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, associated architects and engineers located in Detroit, is collaborating as hospital consultant.

In planning the hospital, Heenan and Roessling have worked closely with the board of trustees; Miss Lauretta Paul, Hospital Director; Dr. J. P. Williams, Chief of the Hospital Staff; and others.

William F. Maybury, former chairman of the board of trustees, was active in the initial planning. Since his resignation in July, 1955, Babcock, the new chairman, and Brewer, vice-chairman of the board, and chairman of the hospital property committee, have contributed much time and effort. Other trustees are Harold Goldberg, treasurer; Mrs. B. B. Roush, secretary; Euler, Yeager, and Joseph Jones.

Communist Activity Alerting Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's Communists are stirring into renewed activity, but the government vows they don't have a chance to subvert this nation in the wake of Juan Peron's dictatorship.

"The United States may rest assured communism will not be a problem," says Carlos Muniz, undersecretary of interior.

During his decade of rule Peron kept all opposition under tight control. His police jailed Communists.

But the Communists survived. Although in last year's congressional elections they claimed only 101,726 votes, that represented a 42 per cent increase over their claims for the 1951 elections.

Powerful democratic forces are at work in Argentina today. Muniz says the best assurance that communism hasn't a chance is the type of men now running Argentina's government. He says Provisional President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu and his collaborators are prepared to act swiftly and forcefully against extremist threats from either left or right.

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—A girl who at the age of three often visited three elderly bachelor brothers and their spinster sister has been bequeathed $30,000.

Louise Ann Stapleton, now 15, was included in the will of Charles V. A. Johnston, a retired county judge who was the last of the four to die last July 2. It was probated yesterday.

The money is to be kept in trust for Louise until she is 30.

The rest of the $665,000 estate was divided among three cousins, five family employes and several charities.

Dognaper Won't Get Sympathy From Law

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The motorist who is believed to have picked up a small white setter dog near Fairland is apt to be in for a lot of trouble if he is caught.

The 2-year-old animal belonged to Deputy U. S. Marshal Preston Warren of Tulsa. Warren's hunting companions at the time were U. S. Dist. Judge Royce H. Savage, Tulsa County Sheriff Glenn Brown and Ottawa County Sheriff Ben Stanley.

New Music Group at Rochester

Civic Association Seeks Fine Concerts for Area

ROCHESTER — Plans are progressing well here for the organization of the Rochester Civic Music Assn., being formed for the purpose of bringing fine music to the Village.

Citizens from Rochester and the surrounding areas, much interested in the project had several meetings including a luncheon meeting at Club Rochester Monday. The meeting was planned by Mrs. David Davis, field representative from the New York office of Civic Concert Service, and representatives from the Rochester Tuesday Musicale. Oxford and Orion musical clubs made plans for further contacts in their respective areas.

Mrs. Davis explained in detail the Civic Music plan of concert presentation which has been in operation in the United States for the past 35 years. More than a thousand cities in the United States and Canada now operate successfully under the plan, many of them in Michigan.

At a previous meeting, Frank Irish of Rochester Community School Music Department presided and the following officers were elected:

President, Donald H. Butcher; executive vice president, Mrs. Stowell Collins; secretary, Hazel M. Griffith; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence W. Shepard.

Mrs. David Hacket and Mrs. Johnson Newell will act as vice-presidents from the Avondale area. Also elected vice-presidents, were Mrs. Ralph Curtis, of Oxford; Mrs. R. J. Van Wagoner, Lake Orion; Mrs. Roy Boreland, Romeo, and Mrs. B. Hitchcock, Utica. Additional vice presidents from musical circles here are Mrs. Howard Wilson and Mrs. Robert A. Woodruff.

Citizens active in community projects will be asked to serve as a board of directors. The new non-profit association has been formed for the sole purpose of bringing good concerts to Rochester.

There will be a membership campaign in March, 1956, with concerts presented in the High School Auditorium the following winter. Admission to concerts will be by membership card only. Only nationally and internationally-known artists will be presented.

Award Winners Hear Dairy Talk

4-H Program Tells of Future Milk Problem in World

CHICAGO—State and national winners in the National 4-H Dairy Awards program were told today that the biggest problem facing dairymen in the next 50 years will be to produce enough milk to feed the world's rapidly expanding population—not to dispose of surpluses.

The winners, in Chicago for the National 4-H Club Congress, heard this forecast at a breakfast given in their honor by the Larro Sure-Feeds Division of General Mills, donor of awards for the dairy program. The speaker was Dr. C. B. Knodt, head of dairy and beef research at General Mills Larro Research Farm.

Dr. Knodt, talking on the subject "Dairying Today and Tomorrow," told his audience that dairy surpluses will disappear—and that dairymen of the future will be hard pressed to produce enough milk to meet the demand.

"By 1975," he said, "there will be 38 million more people in the United States alone. At present rates of milk consumption, this means that dairy farmers will have to increase the per cow production by 1,323 pounds per year."

Church Groups Plan Fellowship at Waterford

WATERFORD — At 6:30 p. m. Thursday the Waterford Community Church will have a combined Christmas fellowship meeting at the church when the Adult Bible Class, the Ladies' Auxiliary and Christ Couriers will meet together and have a potluck supper.

Members will bring their own table service, one passing dish, a dessert, and a gift suitable for the cradle roll or nursery members.

A program will follow the supper.

625 Traffic Deaths Recorded for Area

From 1950 through 1954 Oakland County had 625 traffic deaths on its highways, the Michigan State Police report.

It stood second to Wayne County which had 1,919. Genesee County was third, with 388 and Macomb County fourth, with 299.

Oakland's yearly breakdown shows 130 in 1950, 105 in 1951, 132 in 1952, 120 in 1953 and 138 in 1954.

Independent Unions Want In on CIO-AFL Merger

(AFL and CIO will merge next week into a single, powerful alliance of 16 million members. What are the aims of this group, socially and politically? Will it succeed? Can it reconcile factions long at odds? The answers depend largely on one man, George Meany. This is last of three articles by a veteran labor reporter looks at Meany the man.)

By NORMAN WALKER

NEW YORK (AP)—Mergers within a merger are in prospect today, on the eve of the AFL and CIO joining forces for the first time in 20 years.

George Meany, the ex-plumber who will steer this powerful machine through the obstacles ahead, has clamped a heavy hand on any and all union maneuvers which by any chance might interfere with his main objective of the past three years—the alliance which will be approved by the two groups in meetings starting here tomorrow.

But plans already are well advanced for a number of smaller, weaker unions in both the AFL and CIO to merge into stronger, more effective bargaining and organizing units.

TEXTILES UNITE

For instance, the separate AFL and CIO textile unions have spent millions of dollars scrapping each other for years, trying to snatch already-organized members from each other. Amalgamation of these two unions into one camp for an all-out textiles organizing drive is expected, as also among rival paperworker unions, meatpacking unions, and possible electrical worker unions.

The constitution of the merged AFL-CIO states as a policy that unions with conflicting and duplicating jurisdictions shall be encouraged, though not compelled, to combine.

WHITE COLLAR TARGET

Office of white collar workers and those in the oil-chemical and textile industries are reported to be major organizing targets after the merger. Renewal of special organizing drives in the South also is charted.

Miners union boss John L. Lewis, still mad at Meany over that word battle at the 1947 convention of the AFL, has not been invited to join the combined AFL-CIO. Meany's attitude toward Lewis and all other unions affiliated with neither the AFL nor CIO is that, once the merger is completed, they can apply to get in if they wish.

A number of these independent unions have indicated a desire to join the merged AFL-CIO. Lewis has expressed no such interest, however, and has dubbed it a "rope of sand," meaning he doesn't think it can possibly last.

Lewis likes to tell a story that when he was CIO president he made a merger proposal to the AFL, only to have it rejected. A few years later, after Lewis had brought his United Mine Workers Union back into the AFL, he says he made an identical merger proposal to the CIO but it, too, was turned down.

Lewis tells this to illustrate the foibles of AFL and CIO chiefs, but it serves to point up also what Meany had to deal with in weaving the merger together.

Perhaps the most compelling reason for the merger was that Meany and most union leaders realize that organized labor had been stopped cold in its tracks.

MEMBERS LAG

Unions have made little substantial membership gain the past decade. They feel this has crippled their ability to bargain with employers and to exert influence on the national scene. Unions have picked up a few million more members the past few years, but this has hardly kept up with the increasing size of the work force.

This was pointed up in a recent Labor Department survey. It showed unions grew from 3½ million to 14½ million members in the 1935-45 decade. The next 10 years they gained only 3½ million for a present estimated membership of 18 million, including a million in Canada.

29 MEMBERS

Under the merger the new organization is to hold conventions only every two years, whereas the AFL and CIO have until now held annual conventions. A 29-member executive council will be empowered to make policy decisions between conventions. Initially 19 council members will come from present AFL unions and 10 from CIO unions.

Once a year presidents of all AFL-CIO unions are to meet with the executive council as a general board to advise the council.

The most powerful policy-making unit probably will be an eight-man executive committee, composed of three executive council members from present AFL unions, three from present CIO unions, plus Meany and William Schnitzler. The latter is now Meany's chief aide as AFL secretary-treasurer and is to have the same job under the merger.

CLEAN UP SHOP

As time goes on, Meany may make a strong bid to rid member unions of graft and corruption. He has moved against union leaders dipping into members' funds for their own use. He's offered to cooperate with Congress in framing legislation to safeguard union resources.

Meany played a major role in ousting the International Longshoremen's Assn., the racket-ridden waterfront union, from the AFL. In fighting labor racketeers he has had the full support of the CIO. It's not generally known, but ever since a Senate committee reported a million-dollar shortage in AFL laundry worker welfare funds, Meany has had a squad from AFL headquarters trying to straighten out the scandal.

NOT PERFECT

These moves are pretty strong stuff in an AFL organization where the traditional policy has been that the parent federation would leave each member union up to its own devices.

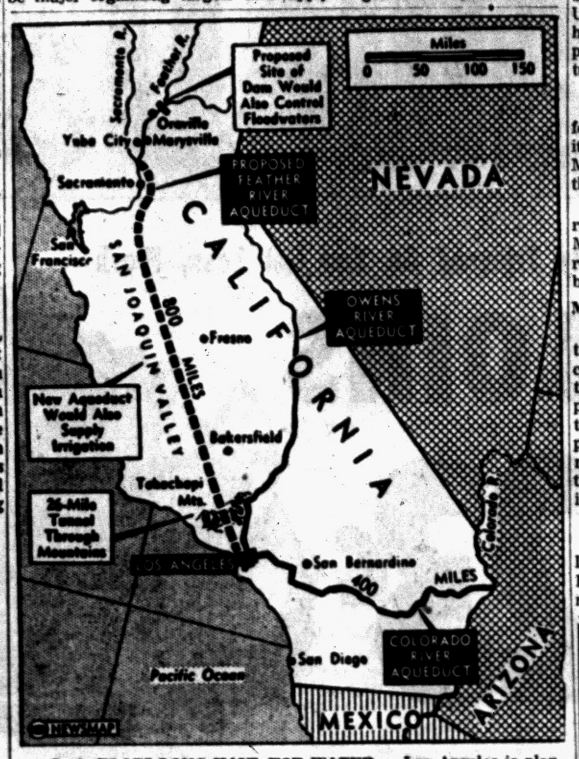

Meany is the first to admit the merger won't be all peaches and cream. Rivalries betwen unions are expected to continue. But Meany expects the merger will minimize them and permit the labor organizations to do a better job by pooling their resources within one family than has been possible with rival federations.

"We are not perfect," Meany says. "We have our troubles and we have all sorts of people within our unions, good, bad and indifferent.

"But we have an American philosophy and we have a policy that we feel contributes a great deal to the upbuilding of the American way of life.

"If we have the power and pledge to use it for good and solely for good, who can object to 16 million people gathering together in one organization?"

L. A. PLOTS LONG HAUL FOR WATER — Los Angeles is planning a water delivery system that may become the top engineering marvel of the nation. It is the Feather River project, which would include the nation's largest dam, near Oroville and an 800-mile aqueduct, as seen on map above. The dam would be 20 feet higher than Hoover Dam and require 14,000,000 cubic yards of cement to build. One monumental task of the aqueduct would be to lift the water 3,400 feet over the Tehachapi Mountains or build a 26-mile tunnel. Estimated cost would be more than a billion and a half dollars. Los Angeles is no novice in the long-haul water business. In the years 1907 to 1913, it built the Owens River aqueduct and extended it in the 1930's. Later it was prime mover in the 400-mile Colorado River Aqueduct.

Towns Told to Build New Sewage Plants

PORT HURON (AP) — The St. Clair River communities of Marine City and St. Clair were told yesterday to begin construction of a new sewage disposal system which would eliminate dropping wastes into the river.

Circuit Judge Arthur Bach ordered Marine City to begin construction immediately and gave St. Clair a year to plan for the system.

All communities along the river were ordered to build a new system in 1950, but St. Clair and Marine City fought the order. Judge Bach, refusing to listen to the cities' arguments, said neither appealed the earlier decision within the given 15 days after the order and that a state supreme court ruling demanded immediate construction plans.

Orchestra Leader Ticks All Over —Cost $560

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—Band leader Jesse Baxendale got ticked off by customs agents Monday—to the tune of 42 watches.

Prosecutor H. A. Gibson said that when Baxendale, who leads a band at Blackpool, stepped off a ship from Dublin, Ireland, customs officers invited him into their search room.

Under each sock they found six wrist watches. Around each arm they discovered eight more watches plastered on with adhesive tape.

At this point the band leader sighed and removed his shift.

"There," he said, "you might as well have these too."

He exhibited two strings of watches, stuck to his body with tape.

He was fined $560.

Japanese Scientist Spots Red H-Bomb Test Area

Males Will Outdo Women in Lavish Spring Attire

This dinner suit from California typifies the new ornate and individual look for men in 1956, as predicted by the Men's Apparel Guild in California. Louis Roth Clothes presents this style, a pure silk velvet in "Rose Naro" wine color, with a tuxedo-like mitered collar. A cummerbund is made more comfortable because it's attached to the trouser waistband, and therefore easier to put on. The silhouette is slim—unbroken in line because all pockets have been eliminated. Worn with it are a polka-dot ruffled bosom shirt, bow tie and cuff links in matching red velvet.

Magnificent mandarin—a new leisure shirt of pure Oriental silk satin highlights the trend of California designers to adapt unusual styles of the Orient to American tastes. Cali-Fame of California introduces this peacock-embroidered shirt with mandarin collar which was hand-embroidered in China. Each design is an individual expression of the artist—no two designs are ever alike. A single shirt may take almost four months to complete.

The Gangee, a new many-hued jacket tailored of madras woven in India, was introduced by Fisch and Company of California at recent advance spring showings of the Men's Apparel Guild. It is worn with slim trousers.

Women's Section

International in origin, but Californian in execution—that's the keynote of new men's styles shown by the Men's Apparel Guild in California. Here are two prime examples of international influences on California men's wear. At left, the "judo jacket" of the Oriental wrestler is worn with matched shorts of raw silk. The Mexican version (right) is in bold serape stripes, worn with peon trousers.

Ding How—California's interpretation of the Oriental influence is expressed in this mandarin shirt, one of the new spring styles shown. The fabric is cotton, the colors and pattern reminiscent of ancient Oriental tapestry. Mocambo Sportswear presents the shirt which features an unusual use of pattern in the stand-up collar and across the shoulders.

Men's Clothing Designed for Opulent Individualism

California Translates Ornate Fabrics Into Masculine Fashions

Don't be surprised, ladies, if your favorite man shows up next spring in a sport shirt of brocade or embroidered satin. Or, if he decides to play host to your dinner guests wearing Mexican peon trousers and a highly embroidered "Mexican wedding shirt."

He may even dress for dinner in one of the new California ruffled "bosom" shirts to be worn with formal or very casual attire.

Out in California, the Men's Apparel Guild and the Boys' Apparel Guild have started a full-scale swing toward elegance and individuality in men's wear reminiscent of the days when men wore the frills, and every man's suit was his own expression of fashion.

As an example, here's one manufacturer's version of the "tux" which will be worn next spring. It is wine color silk velvet and is styled like a tuxedo except that the cummerbund is attached to the trousers, and it is worn with a polka-dot ruffle-bosom shirt, plus cuff-links and bow tie of red velvet.

While this may be somewhat advanced in its elegance, there are numerous styles from California men's and boy's wear designers which employ brocade, embroidered silk satin and gold-embroidered fabrics in the styling of opulent sport shirts and casual wear.

Equally unusual, and equally characteristic of California's new styles for men, is the slim line suit, tailored with no pockets. The theory is that well-dressed men never stuff their suitcoat pockets, so why have them at all?

Most of the new 1956 California men's and boy's styles reflect a decided international influence.

Embroidered shirts inspired by the highly decorative Mexican wedding shirts, paisley prints from India, hand-woven French-African tribal patterns, the giant floral prints of Hawaii, and the rich colors and mandarin look of the Orient, have been freely translated into styles the American man will enjoy wearing next year.

SHOWPIECE SHIRT

One "showpiece" shirt is of pure Oriental silk satin, a mandarin style with the tiny stand-up collar copied from a Chinese coolie jacket. On the front and back are brilliant embroidered birds.

The same mandarin shirt style is also being shown in adaptations of India prints, dragon prints, peacock-colored silks, silk-like synthetic and cottons.

Far East influences also show up in a new "judo jacket". It is a briefer version of the Oriental knee-length kimono coat, the "hale muu" introduced last season in California, which has become a standard style nationwide for beach and lounge-wear.

Another popular fashion item is the California his-and-hers ensemble. The new lines have gone even further. They include many complete family groupings in matched or coordinated styles for father mother, son and daughter.

Boy's sport shirts and beachwear particularly will follow the thread of men's fashion. And boys as well as men will wear the peon trousers, mandarin and Mexican shirts, blazer jackets and tailored swimwear from California.

'It's Boring Sitting Home Night After Night'

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

You can get so depressed, sitting home dateless and alone. If only you had a fairy godmother to wave a magic wand and surround you with attractive, date-requesting males!

A best girl friend would do, in a pinch. You'd do as much for her if you could. You'd line up dates for her so she could double-date with you. And turnabout is fair play. She ought to do as much for you.

And if she won't, it's enough to make you mad as blazes at her. And even more depressed over your lot. Which is this girl's fix. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: All summer I had lots of dates and was hardly ever home. But with the start of school, all of that stopped. Now I have no one to go with, and no place to go.

"Last year I was going with a nice boy and we lined up three different boys for my girl friend to go with. I didn't mind doing it for her as I like to double-date with her.

"But now she's going with a nice boy and she doesn't seem to mind that I sit at home alone. She said once she was trying to fix things up for me with a friend. But I don't really think she will.

"I find myself thinking 'why should I ever do anything for her when she won't do anything for me?'

"Why do I feel this way? Probably I'm being just selfish, but I don't know what to do about it. I try to keep occupied and tell myself there are other things in life, but it's boring to sit at home night after night with nothing to do.

"Our school doesn't have any parties, and there isn't any way I can meet other kids. So what am I to do?"

Answer: A fairy godmother could fix things for you. And so could a dating girl friend, if she had a mind to be helpful. But since neither seems to be available at the moment, the solution is in your own hands.

If there are no parties at school, plan some of your own. Start off by inviting couples who go together. Perhaps your girl friend's boy friend could dig up a spare boy for the evening. Show everybody a very good time, so that such parties get started.

Don't wait for somebody else to have one, plan another yourself. This time ask the girls to invite boys. Some of those boys you might not know. And if they're not going steady with the girls who brought them, you've a chance.

Get the crowd in the habit of coming to your house for fun. Sooner or later some extra boys will pop up—and one of them might just turn out to be The One.

Don't settle back and blame your fix on anyone else. Start a real campaign of promoting yourself with all your girl friends and their beaus. The more friends you have, the more chances you have of meeting their friends.

Knee High Socks—a Must With Shorts

Knee-high socks to wear with Bermuda shorts and kilts are musts for most young moderns. Favorite style of these is the wool or cotton rib or cable-knit, in colors to match either sweaters or shorts.

The girls also like a pair or so of decorated novelty socks in both the ankle and knee lengths.

Pair Wed in Indiana

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Loop of Murphy avenue announced the marriage of their daughter, Nancy Ann of Upland, Ind., to Patrick McGalaster of Holly. The wedding took place Nov. 4 in Indiana.

Don't Job-Hop for Flimsy Reasons

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some people jump around from job to job, until they become such rolling stones no employer wants to hire them. Others stay for 20 years in the wrong job and leave only because of a mental breakdown or an illness.

But what is the answer? Where is the narrow line between changing too often and not changing enough? In sort, how do you know whether you should change jobs or not?

It's a little like marrying. If you have to ask — should I marry Joe or not? — the answer is most certainly not. If it were right, you'd know it and wouldn't need to ask.

So, with a job. If you dilly-dally around, wondering whether you should leave the Blank Company or not, the answer is no.

There are only a few good reasons for leaving your firm:

If you have done a really good job for at least two years and have received no promotion, encouragement, raise, recognition or chance to advance; if you have honestly tried and cannot find anything about your work, or the company itself, which is at all interesting to you; if the policies of the company — or of your own particular boss — are really so unpleasant, unethical, or alien to you that you cannot operate with any serenity.

DIFFERENT REASONS

Usually, the reason for leaving is very different.

We want to change because we're tired of it all; or because we heard that a friend is making five dollars a week more, has a more glamorous job; or because we're having trouble getting along with people in the office; or because our personal life is a mess and we think a change of jobs will revolutionize things. These are the very worst reasons.

To change your job just because a friend seems to be doing better, is a snare and a delusion.

The friend quit probably is blowing up her job. In reality, she is apt to be no better paid in a field that is no more glamorous than your own.

You take yourself with you. If you are having trouble with "difficult" people on your present premises, you'll find them on the new premises.

And the same is true of personal problems. A change of personal habits, rather than jobs, is indicated.

Games Provide Real Contests for Any Player

Future financiers, traffic experts, sportsmen and quiz masters will get an assist from the Christmas crop of new games.

High finance plays a star role in the new game lineup, a trend in keeping with the national business boom. Various new games deal with real estate speculation, stock market gyrations and even the search for uranium.

The television age also has its impact on the game pack. Quiz and panel shows are represented by a record variety of board game versions, while news programs and ventriloquist shows also make a showing.

All the family will be experts on the fine points of sports, if they make the most of games featuring parlor versions of baseball, football and ice hockey.

Honeymooning in northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Cross. She is the former Dorathene E. Eberle, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Eberle of Frank street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cross of Lapeer.

MR. and MRS. HENRY W. CROSS

Candlelight Service Read for Dorathene E. Eberle

Dorathene E. Eberle became the bride of Henry William Cross Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony at Evangelistic Tabernacle.

The Rev. A. J. Baughey solemnized the marriage in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter R. Eberle of Frank street, and Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Cross of Lapeer.

The bridal gown of floor-length ivory satin was fashioned with Gibson sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and a gathered skirt that fell into a cathedral train.

Her tiara of nylon tulle and orange blossoms secured her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums, carnations and a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Alfred Eberle, matron of honor, wore a gown of green net and taffeta and carried a cascade arrangement of yellow carnations. Virginia Eberle was bridesmaid wearing a dress of yellow net and taffeta and carrying a cascade bouquet of green carnations.

Clifford Eberle was best man and Marvin Morse was groomsman. Ushers were Charles Baughy and Donald Garnier.

A reception for the immediate families followed at the home of the bride. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Eberle wore a royal blue dress with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Cross was gowned in a light blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

For their honeymoon in northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Cross changed to a gray suit with avocado accessories. On their return the newlyweds will reside in Lapeer.

NIGHTLY COSMETIC CARE

How many of you have purchased an elaborate set of cosmetics and have taken them home, only to put them aside in two or three days. No doubt the cosmetics were very good and made you look wonderful but you just didn't have time. For you, busy housewives and business women, let us make a suggestion . . . Wash your face at night with a super-fatted soap, dry, and apply a night cream. Massage face and neckline to a rosy glow. Remove every trace of cream with tissue or corner of your towel. If your skin is oily don't apply cream, but pat dry with towel. This is all you ever need to keep your skin smooth and firm. Do it every day. More about the details of massage next week.

Surprise Luxury

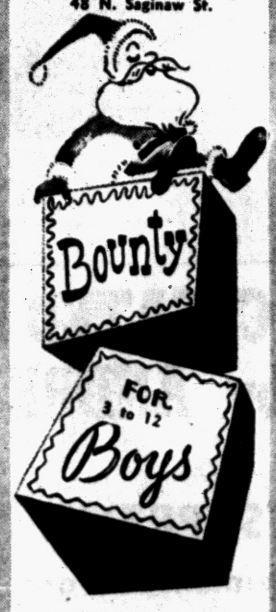

Surprise luxury often shows in coat linings. A soft white cloud of Orlon pile, rich fur pattern on corduroy, an expanse of gold velveteen. Straight line tunic effects are suggested by fingertip length teen coat worn over slender skirt in matching or color-coordinated fabric.

Let Kids Make Yule Tree Items

Let the children make decorations for the tree and the house. For the very little ones a few Christmas seals pasted on a piece of colored paper on the tree.

Slightly older children can string bright red cranberries or popcon and make paper chains and lanterns. Older girls (or little ones with your help) can make fancy shaped Christmas cookies to be hung on the tree and given to admiring guests.

The stores are full of materials to make all sorts of Christmas decorations. Use your imagination and start your children contributing to the atmosphere of your home.

News Notice Takes Place of Invitations

Two Brides Issue This Type of Bid to Local Guests

By EMILY POST

"There have been two weddings in our town recently to which invitations were sent only to out-of-town guests. A notice was put in the local paper saying that all relatives and friends were invited to the wedding.

"I happened to be a relative of one bride and a good friend of the other. I do not consider this notice in the newspaper an invitation and think that some member of the family should have invited me in some way, either by note, telephone or personal message to confirm the invitation.

"This cold, impersonal invitation did not please me at all, and I am wondering if I am correct in feeling as I do."

Answer: If you had been one of a few left out, then I could understand your feelings. But since they left everyone out, I personally can't see that it matters.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Just recently my sister had quite a run-in with a young woman who was a friend of both of us. I always liked this person and hate to have our friendship end because of this unfortunate incident.

"However, my sister refuses to have anything further to do with her and says that if I remain friends with her I will be very disloyal and will announce to everyone that I think my sister wrong and my friend right.

"I am between the devil and the deep blue sea as I don't want to hurt either one. I would appreciate your opinion and any advice you can give me on this matter."

Answer: My advice is to pay absolutely no attention to it and refuse to side with either one. Say you do not approve of widening the breach.

"Bright girl, my Betsy!"

I just can't get over the marvelous way my Betsy outsmarts her housework. Take wood floors for instance. I hear other wives complain about all the scrubbing and waxing they have to do. But not my Betsy! She cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. Why, she's through in half the time and fresh as a daisy! And our beautiful wood floors are always getting compliments. My Betsy and her Bruce Cleaning Wax sure make small work of a big job. I'm mighty proud of both of them.

P.S. For lighter waxing on linoleum and wood, Betsy uses Bruce Floor Cleaner.

COMPARISONS — Here is how welterweight champion Carmen Basilio and Tony De Marco will look to each other when they meet in 15-round title fight today in the Boston Garden. DeMarco lost crown to Basilio last June. AP Wirephoto

Welter Title at Stake in Rematch

BOSTON (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, a battle-scarred veteran unbeaten in more than two years, returns a courtesy and risks his title against young Tony DeMarco tonight in a rematch of one of the year's best slugfests.

Basilio, a 28-year-old ex-Marine from Canastota, N. Y., rules only a slight favorite in his first defense since lifting the title from the 23-year-old bomb-throwing Bostonian in a sensational brawl last June 10.

Odds dropped from 9-5 to less than 7-5 on Basilio. The Boston Garden fight is scheduled for 15 rounds, but few experts figure it will go the distance.

Basilio, with an undefeated string of 14 fights, is returning a courtesy by meeting DeMarco on the challenger's home grounds. Tony made his first defense of the title in Syracuse, N. Y., and lost the crown on a 12th-round TKO.

The champion also will be out to halt what could become a string. In the last two welter title fights, champions have lost the crown in first defenses. DeMarco stopped Johnny Saxton, making his first defense of the championship, in the 14th round April 1, and then lost to Basilio. All told, 11 welterweight champions have lost their titles th first time they've put them on the line, and seven have regained them.

ABC will broadcast and telecast the bout, with New England TV blacked out.

The prospects of another bristling punching duel and DeMarco's fine showing in training has resulted in a brisk ticket sale. Promoter Sam Silverman expects a near-capacity crowd of 13,000 and gross receipts of about $190,000.

Since winning the title, Basilio has gone 20 rounds in competition, outpointing Italo Scortichini and Gil Turner in over-the-weight affairs. He has an over-all record of 47-11-7 with 21 knockouts and never has been stopped.

DeMarco has had only one fight since losing his title — a quick, first-round TKO over Chico Vejar in Boston Sept. 14. His record is 41-5-1 with 26 kayos. He has been stopped three times.

UM Coach Up on List for Nebraska Job

Robinson Among Top Candidates for Bill Glassford's Post

OMAHA (AP)—University of Nebraska officials today discussed possible successors to head football coach Bill Glassford, and Donald W. Robinson, backfield coach at the University of Michigan, reportedly stood high on the list.

The Omaha World-Herald, in a dispatch from its Lincoln Bureau yesterday, said school officials are believed to have decided on the man they would like for Glassford's post, and the question now is whether they can get him.

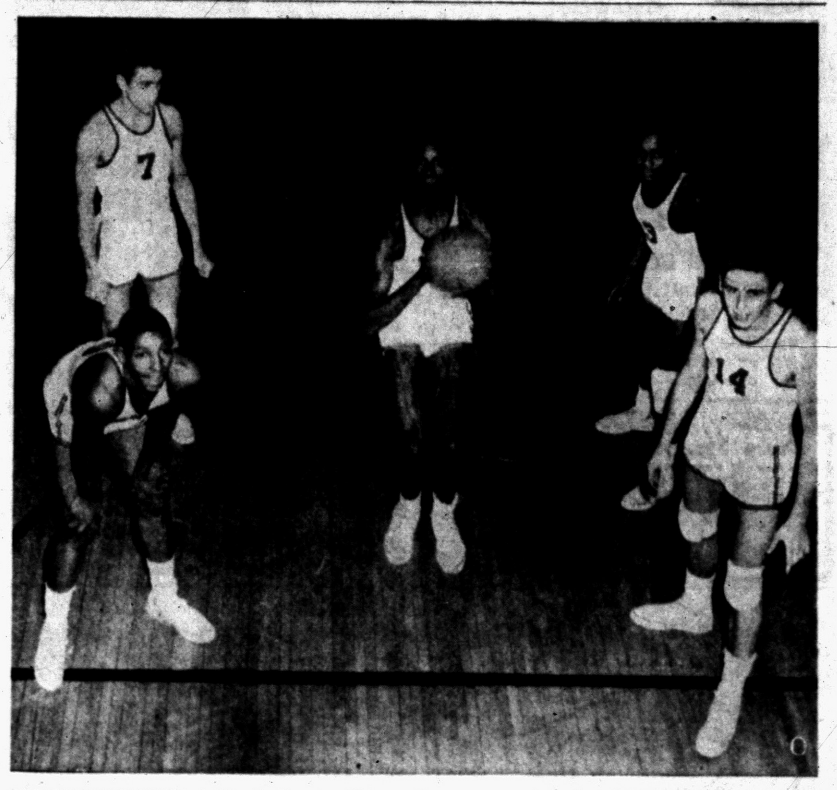

Athletic Director Bill Orwig said Monday he still has not approached anyone for the job, but he hopes to have the coach named by the first of the year.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., Robinson learning that he reportedly was a top contender, said that "so far as I'm concerned it's strictly a rumor. I haven't heard a thing about it."

Robinson played on the 1941 and 1942 Michigan teams and returned in 1947 after World War II.

He became backfield coach at Michigan after Bennie Oosterbaan left that post to succeed Fritz Crisler as head coach in 1948. Robinson and Orwig once were collegaues on the Wolverine staff.

Also mentioned for the vacancy at Nebraska are Gomer Jones, former Nebraska assistant, now line coach under Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma; and Davy Nelson, head coach at the University of Delaware.

Traded Pitcher Quits Baseball

Ex-Outfielder Jeffcoat Announces Retirement for Insurance Business

CHICAGO (AP)—Hal Jeffcoat, relief pitcher who was traded by the Chicago Cubs to the Cincinnati Redlegs Monday for catcher Hobie Landrith, announced yesterday that he is through with baseball.

Jeffcoat's announcement brought about the possibility that the deal will be off.

Wid Matthews, Cub personnel boss, said "it's a deal. Landrith belongs to us and it's our responsibility to get him to report. Jeffcoat now belongs to Cincinnati and it's their responsibility to get him to report."

Cincinnati officials had no immediate comment since they said they had not contacted Jeffcoat.

The former outfielder who was converted into a pitcher said he was giving up baseball in order to remain in Chicago in the insurance business. Jeffcoat, 31, and with the Cubs eight years, added that he would stay out of baseball even if he were a member of the Cubs.

Charles Segar, secretary-treasurer of the major leagues, said in Columbus, Ohio, that under a certain ruling a trade deal might be voided in the event of a bona fide retirement.

Trouble Is Expected for Defending Cage Champs of Wayne-Oakland and Bi-County Loops

Favorites are a premium for the final stretch of the season.

Defending champion Milford of the W-O circuit, still looks materially sound despite the loss of big Tom Gould, 6'5" center who was the team's top rebounder and a 17-per-game scorer.

The Redskins of coach Jack Minzey however still have the county's top pointmaker in Jim Davidson, 6'3" senior, along with Fred Baker a 6 foot guard among five returning lettermen.

Clarkston, without a possible starter who might reach 6 feet, may have to relinquish its runnerup post with West Bloomfield and Northville making the strongest bids.

Coach Dom Mauti of Clarkston lost six men from the team which won 17 of 21 games last year and the tallest of the lettermen returning is 5'11" Doug Fortin.

Strongest overture for the title is expected to come out of Northville where new head coach Stanley Johnston's tape measure reaches over 6'2" in four instances.

Senior Darwin Teska, 6'3" center and forwards Bud Bell 5'11" and Clarence Patterson, 6'2", gave Northville a seasoned front line. More help is expected from soph Bill Yahne, 6'3" and in the second semester from Clayton Pethers.

Johnston looks for Pethers, 6'3½", to be a strong arm in that split-T formation, drew some alumni fire during the disastrous season but you wouldn't have known it at the annual Missouri Football Banquet last night.

Dr. Elmer Ellis, the university president, read two brief papers.

One from the institution's Athletic Advisory Committee was a resolution commending Faurot and others responsible for the athletic program and recommending that "Don Faurot be retained as athletic director and head football coach." The committee consists of men who relay the attitude of alumni throughout the state to university officials governing the sports program.

The other paper signed by 49 members of the varsity football squad said:

"Coach Don Faurot is the best coach in America and we petition you to keep him. Our coach stands for the things we want."

Faurot, 53, has been a head football coach 26 years—18 of those at Missouri.

Coach Sam Minard at West Bloomfield may find his Lakers moving into the big three of the league with center Frank Rogers and forward Tom McLennan, both 6'1", spearheading the return of six lettermen.

Holly, Brighton and Clarenceville all are minus the height among the returnees. Coach Art Orloske at Clarenceville is welcoming four newcomers who go over 6'1", including Gary Benson 6'3½"an d Darrell Ridling a 6'2" transfer from Bently of Livonia.

Coach Herb Quade at Holly has six senior letterwinners ready to improve on his teams 5th place standing of last year. Top scorers Norm Valek and Roger Voorheis are back to pace the attack.

Bi-County co-champions Utica and South Lake are ready for parting ways, with Utica slipping a notch or two and the Cavaliers taking sole possession.

Lake Shore under coach George Crellin is smiling these days. The Shorians have nine lettermen back, including four starters led by high scoring Don Sharpe.

Warren is ready to move into the upper bracket if Utica makes a skid, however coach Barney Swinehart still has Lou Haase his top scoring center to pave the way.

Fate Hangs in Balance

Possible Entry of Miami in Minors Hinges on Study by League Directors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami's fate as a potential member of the American Assn. hung in the balance today as league directors studied a "dry run" schedule to determine mileage and expenses of travel to the Southern city.

One baseball man said in all seriousness, "The best thing would be for each club to buy its own plane."

The association made a conciliatory move yesterday toward the Milwaukee Braves, who persist in trying to shift their Toledo franchise to Miami despite solid league opposition. It asked for a sample schedule. One was drawn up calling for two trips to each city, including two 2,100-mile hops between Miami and Denver.

There were indications, however, that the opposition was weakening in view of the association's new headache at Louisville. The Boston Red Sox, who have operated at Louisville since 1938, put the franchise on the market Monday night after they bought the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League.

Johnny Murphy, Boston farm director, promised to give the association a definite statement of policy by Saturday, if possible. Boston has advised Fred Grimm, Louisville general manager, to try to negotiate a sale to local interests. An outside group, which would operate in Louisville, also is bidding.

* * *

Ed Doherty, association president and a former Boston executive, was confident the Red Sox would do "the honorable thing." This was interpreted to mean the Red Sox would operate at Louisville, sale or not.

2 MSU Bowl Squads About on Even Basis

EAST LANSING (AP) — Which should be rated as the better football team—the 1953 outfit that 1st carried the Spartan banner to the Rose Bowl or this year's surprising Spartans?

Now that the Rose Bowl bug has bitten again, you can start a lively argument on the subject at any meeting between two old grads or MSU football followers.

As far as personalities go, the 1953 squad was probably one of the most colorful ever assembled at Michigan State.

That was the team known as "the comeback kids"—from their heart-stopping habit of allowing the opponent to pick up a few touchdowns before coming galloping from behind to win the game with a flourish of dramatics.

So how can you compare that outfit with this year's fusing of a group of solid seniors and spectacular sophomores?

Perhaps the fairest way is a comparison of records.

Both teams lost one game by one touchdown—in 1953 it was to Purdue and this year it was Michigan. The 1955 squad had to do the come-from-behind bit only once—against Indiana—so should rate as more consistent.

Total offense in 1953 was 3,280 yards, 2,156 rushing and 874 passing. The total this year was 2,854 rushing and 1,124 passing.

That gives the 1953 squad a more powerful ground offense but the 1955 eleven a better balanced attack and more potent passing.

Almont, Romeo Cage Losers by a Whisker

Last Second Basket Drops Romeo; Imlay Wins in Overtime

Two breath-takers featured the sparse area cage action Tuesday night with Imlay City taking an overtime 67-63 decision from Almont and South Lake edging Romeo 59-58.

Larry Kersten pushed through 31 points in a losing cause for Almont while Larry Dorow banged through 27 for Imlay City.

Both teams had three players in the double scoring figures. Duane Maison had 17 followed by Wayne Sansom with 16 for Imlay while Bob Wentworth and Max Howell tallied 14 and 10 respectively for Almont.

Almont held a 30-29 halftime advantage but in the second half the lead changed hands 15 times. Wentworth shot two free throws in the final second for Almont to send the game into overtime.

Dorow's two field goals were the deciding pointers in the extra stanza.

Romeo held a one point lead after the first quarter and did not hold an edge until the final two minutes when it held a five point spread. South Lake led at the half 31-28.

South Lake however put its pressing game to work and with 10 seconds left scored the winning basket. Doug Fisher sent the two clinching baskets through the hoop in the last 25 seconds.

Bill Schmidt led the scoring with 19 points followed by Chuck Markham for Romeo. Four South Lake players were in the double figures headed by Tom Reeder with 18.

LIT Wins Opener

Lawrence Tech opened its basketball season Tuesday night at Hackett Field House by defeating an Alumni team 66-65 on a last second basket by John Basilico. Stan Sylvester paced winner with 22 points.

Cassady Named Heisman Winner

Brilliant Buckeye Is Given Coveted Honor in Annual Event

NEW YORK (INS) — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, the only football player whose name is mentioned in the same breath around Columbus, O., with the immortal Chick Harley, has been voted the college gridiron's "man of the year award" — the Heisman Trophy.

The selection, announced yesterday, was the result of ballots submitted by 1,324 voters. Cassady won 594 1st place votes and, on a 3-2-1 basis for 1st, 2nd and 3rd mentions, totaled 2,219 points

Runner-up Jim Swink of Texas Christian had 128 1st place votes and 742 points.

INS Names Blaik 'Coach of Week'

NEW YORK (INS)—Col. Earl H. (Red) Blaik, a meticulous football strategist who perpetrated the defeat of Navy by gambling, is International News Service's "Coach of the Week."

The INS panel of experts, in its final poll of the season, singled out the Army coach from a group of Nominees which included Jess Hill of Southern California and Ed Price of Texas.

The experts also saluted these other "best of the week" performances:

Game of the week—Army's come-from-behind 14-6 upset of Navy.
Player of the week—Jon Arnett, Southern California halfback.
Play of the week—a 70-yard touchdown run by fullback Dick Gupton which gave Denver a controversial 6-3 victory and cost Wyoming the Skyline championship.

Maple Football, Harrier Champs Feted at Banquet

Birmingham's Eastern Michigan League football and cross country champions were honored Tuesday night at the annual Fall Sports Dinner in the Maple Room of Birmingham High School.

Coach Carl Lemle's Maples won the school's 1st Eastern Michigan League crown this fall and finished the season with an impressive 8-1 record, losing only to Royal Oak, 27-20, in the finale Thanksgiving Day.

Maple harriers, coached by Kermit Ambrose, captured the EML title, took top honors in the regional cross country run, and finished 6th in the state meet at Ypsilanti. Walled Lake inflicted the lone dual meet loss.

Jim Traa, Birmingham's co-captain and Class A all-state end candidate, was the 1st recipient of the newly-established John D. Anderson Memorial award. The award, honoring a former Maple athlete who died in a jet plane crash last February, goes to the varsity football player who best represents the ideals of good sportsmanship.

Special awards were also presented to Traa and Bill Swaney, the other captain, and Howard Didier and Doug Wuggazer, co-captains of the cross country team. Gifts were presented to the coaches by their respective squads. Thirty-eight football players and a like number of runners received letters and certificates.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Detroit Times Trophy, emblematic of the Suburban Detroit football title.

Last night's banquet was sponsored by fathers and mothers of football and cross country team members. Rev. Robert E. Dewey was toastmaster.

Cotton States League Breaks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge Emmet Harty, Cotton States League president, last night announced dissolution of the Class C circuit as of Jan. 1, 1956 because he said only three of the league's six teams are prepared to operate.

Harty did not elaborate. But his statement was an indication that the three teams he identified — Hot Springs, Ark., Meridian and Vicksburg, Miss., — were not in the best financial condition.

The league's remaining three teams are Greenville, Miss., El Dorado, Ark., and Monroe, La.

Report Nashua Up for Auction

Executor of Woodward Racing Holdings Says Rumors of Sale False

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite denials by an executor of the estate, there were persistent reports today that the great Nashua and other racing holdings of the late William Woodward Jr., estimated at 5 million dollars, will be put up for auction within 90 days.

Several New York newspapers published the report last night with the Daily Mirror flatly stating that the familiar red and white polka dot colors of the Belair Stud, under which two generations of the Woodward family raced their thoroughbreds would be retired.

The Mirror story, under the byline of sports editor Dan Parker, said the decision had been reached by executors of the estate left by Woodward, a prominent sportsman-socialite who was shot to death accidentally by his wife last October 30.

John W. Ludewig, one of the executors, denied the report, however.

"Everyone is free to speculate, of course," he said. "But no decision has been made in the matter."

The newspaper reports said the decision was made to sell Woodward's holdings because of the risky nature of a large investment in race horses while an estate is being handled by executors for minors who will not reach legal maturity for a decade or more.

Woodward's two sons, in line for the estate, are still of grade school age. William III is only 11. His brother, James, is 7.

Archery Chicken Shoot, Kiddies Party Planned

Holiday period brings lots of activity at OCSC.

Among the events are a chicken shoot for archers, Dec. 4, at the 28 target club course. Any Oakland County archer is eligible for this event.

On Dec. 18 (Sunday) the club will hold its annual Childrens' Christmas party in the clubhouse. A full two hour program has been arranged, including motion pictures and distribution of gifts from a big Christmas tree.

Star From Sandlots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Donnie Michner, a 17-year-old 6-foot 2 high school student from Huntsville, Ala., today was named the nation's No. 1 sandlot baseball player for 1955.

The National Baseball Congress (NBC) named Michner the individual most likely to reach stardom in the major leagues.

Stager Still Cautious

Michigan's Freshman Swimming Squad Loaded With All-America Prep Stars

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's young and energetic swimming coach, A. P. (Gus) Stager, has gathered a freshman team loaded with talent and potential.

There are eight All-America high school and prep winners on his squad, but Stager is cautious.

"Maybe in 1957 we'll see something," he says.

One of the outstanding prospects isn't even among the All-America selections. He's 25-year-old Ron Alsobrook of Detroit, a bullet-like breast stroker. Alsobrook will try for a world's record in the 100-yard orthodox breast stroke at the Michigan AAU meet, Dec. 3.

Stager's All-America frosh hail from four different states, including Michigan.

Two of the most impressive are freestyler Dick Hanley of Evanston Township, Ill., and versatile Carl Wooley of Brockton, Mass.

Wooley, swimming for Williston Academy, Mass., flashed to All-America honors with a top prep school time of 23.1 in the 50-yard free-style, just one second off the intercollegiate and Big Ten records.

But that isn't Wooley's only attainment. He also was 1st in the prep ratings of the 100-yard freestyle, 100-yard back stroke, 150-yard individual medley and 3rd in the 200-yard free style.

Hanley set an interscholastic record of 1:55.5 in the 200-yard freestyle and 51.2 in the 100-yard freestyle, the latter just two seconds over the world mark.

Three of Stager's All-America choices come from Michigan.

Dick Mehl, freestyler from Saginaw Arthur Hill, has the 3rd best high school time for the 100-yard freestyle, swimming it in 52.2, three seconds over the world record.

Both Fred Mowry and Dick McGinley come from Battle Creek High School and have good times in several events.

Add to these Tony Turner, Britain's high and low board champion diver. Turner, who competed for Britain in the Olympics, is on the freshman team as the top prospect.

New Midwest Conference Is Proposed

U. of D. Included in Six-Team Football League

CINCINNATI (INS)—The president of Xavier University has proposed the formation of new football and basketball conferences in the midwest, both including the University of Detroit.

The Rev. Paul O'Connor, S. J. offered the proposal last night at Xavier's annual football banquet in Cincinnati.

Father O'Connor went on record as opposing the formation of an all-Catholic loop, a plan offered recently by Detroit president Rev. Celestine Steiner, S.J.

The six-team football conference offered by Father O'Connor would include Detroit, Xavier, Dayton, Marquette, Cincinnati and Miami (of Ohio).

The basketball loop would include the above teams plus St. Louis, Bradley and Louisville. Father O'Connor said:

"It would be geographically feasible to form such a football conference despite rumblings from the north." (Detroit).

Of the proposed league, only Cincinnati and Miami are non-Catholic institutions.

Father O'Connor said:

"There should be a natural rivalry and teams should be evenly matched over a period of years and not dominated by one or two teams."

1955 Pheasant Season Better Than Year Ago

LANSING — "Better than last year" is the summary of Michigan's 1955 pheasant season which closed Nov. 10.

Higher bird populations, increased kill, good weather and improved farm conditions were all cited as factors contributing to a better hunting season.

Ralph Blouch, conservation Department pheasant specialist, said early crop harvests made more land available for hunting, especially in south-central counties.

Hunters generally were happier with conditions and successes, Blouch said.

Detroiter Harris Wins State Title

FLINT (AP) — Duke Harris encountered little difficulty in taking the vacant Michigan welterweight crown with a 2nd round TKO over Mickey Savage at Flint's IMA auditorium last night.

Harris opened a gash over Savage's right eye early in the 1st round. Savage was behind on points and bleeding badly by the time the bell sounded. Ring physician Dr. Allan Silverton refused to let him continue.

American AAU Officials Meet to Talk Olympics

By KYLE VANCE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The men behind the muscles will get together in Louisville tomorrow to map American participation in the 1956 Olympics.

Four days of sessions by about 450 delegates of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States will be devoted largely to paper work for the winter games in Cortina, Italy, and the summer games in Melbourne, Australia.

They will discuss such questions as how to raise a fabulous amount of funds to send U.S. teams to feed and clothe them upon their arrival.

The objective here is to see that no athlete is denied the privilege of competing for lack of money. A goal of $400,000 has been set for the Olympic fund.

On the other side of the agenda will be an assortment of decisions affecting the country's play-for-fun athletes.

The AAU, ruling body of the Simon Pures, will award championship events for the coming year—many of them looking toward the Olympics; pass on athletic records claimed during the year, and consider changes in the rules of competition.

Among the more important records listed for study is the sizzling 100-yard dash run by Jim Golliday at Evanston, Ill., May 14 in 9.2 seconds.

Another is Wes Santee's mile run in 4:00.4 at Austin, Tex., April 2.

If these and other new marks are approved by the AAU, they will be submitted to the International Amateur Federation for world recognition.

Majors Start Buzzing About Trades

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major league trade talk, almost nil during the opening days of the minors' convention, perked up briskly today and, as usual, frantic Frankie Lane, the boldest barterer of them all, was right in the middle of things.

The energetic general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has found it tough sledding in his efforts to swing his first National League swap since he quit the Chicago White Sox last month, appeared finally to be making some headway.

Lane spent most of yesterday in conference with officials of the New York Giants, Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs. While no deal stemmed from these long sessions, it was expected that something will develop when he resumes negotiations with these clubs today.

Lane admitted he was seeking a veteran catcher, a right-handed hitting outfielder and a front line pitcher, but he declined to make known his specific requests, insofar as names were concerned.

The Cardinals reportedly are trying to woo Wes Westrum, strong defensive but weak hitting catcher from the Giants in exchange for infielder Solly Hemus and one of two outfielders believed to be Harry Elliott and Pete Whisenant.

The Giants reportedly have sounded Lane out on an entirely different deal, a big one that would involve Red Schoendienst, the Cards' aging but still brilliant second baseman. The deal would include Whitey Lockman and right-handed Jim Hearn of New York.

The American League, which got the jump on the National by consummating two major deals in October, was busily trying to cook up a few more. The Cleveland Indians admitted they made concrete offers for players from three rival clubs.

Seeking to strengthen such positions as first base, pitching and catching, the Tribe has talked to Baltimore concerning first baseman Gus Triandos and catcher Hal Smith, to Chicago concerning catcher Sherman Lollar and to Washington about southpaw Maury McDermott. Asked whether any attempt had been made to Mickey Vernon from Boston, a Cleveland official countered with this question:

"Would you be willing to accept Vernon and Billy Goodman for Bobby Avila?"

General Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles said he had talked to Cleveland as well as several other clubs and commented wryly: "I'd say we're not making much headway. They feel I am requesting too much and I feel they are unreasonable in their demands."

General Manager Muddy Ruel of Detroit acknowledged he talked with Cleveland concerning a right-handed hitting outfielder (believed to be rookie Rocky Colavito) but said no headway was made. Chuck Comiskey, White Sox vice president, happy over the deal which brought slugger Larry Doby to Chicago, said he talked with all clubs in an attempt to get another starting pitcher.

Ironically, the only trade that has been consummated—the one in which the Cubs sent pitcher Hal Jeffcoat to Cincinnati for catcher Hobie Landrith—hit a snag when Jeffcoat declared from Chicago he would refuse to report to the Reds.

CHAMP DOWNS DEER — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, a sharpshooter in the ring, took time from training at Old Forge, N. Y., Nov. 1, to bring down this six-point, 125-pound deer in the Central Adirondacks. Basilio is preparing to defend his title against Tony DeMarco in Boston, Nov. 30.

OCSC's Women Shooters Split With Guardsmen

National Guard's Company M, 125th Infantry, engaged in a handicap rifle match with women shooters from the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club last night at the OCSC indoor range.

After the firing was over the two squads found themselves dividing the honors. The OCSC won in actual team score, 872-768, but Company M took handicap honors, 2006-1001.

Nancy Newman paced the OCSC team with a score of 186, followed by Jane Martini at 182, Carolyn Henry 171, Donna Lewis 167, and Margaret Kempel 166. Infantry riflemen were led by Bob Fuller who scored 160. Al Jones hit 156, Dick Grucz 152, Doss White 149, John Phillips and Bill Beckett, 146 each, and Glenn Simpson 138.

Panhandle A&M Back Is Tops

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP) — Ivan Simmons of Panhandle A&M (Okla.) is the nation's total offensive leader among small college football players.

The National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics, in its final statistical report of the season issued today, said Simmons gained 1,624 yards, an average of 190.4 in nine games.

Max Homer, Bethany (W.Va.,) was runnerup with 1,358 in seven contests.

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. (INS) — Sugar Ray Robinson boxes four practice rounds today and then breaks camp for his Dec. 9 title fight with middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson in Chicago.

The former welter and middleweight king sparred four rounds yesterday to bring his total practice rounds to 52.

The American Hockey League is in its 20th season.

Game-of-the-Week Plan Suggested

COLUMBUS, O. (INS)—National association president George Trautman said today he "would welcome" a national game-of-the-week television program that would enable the majors and minors to split a $3,000,000 annual fee.

But Trautman said the plan, disclosed in New York yesterday by Dodger president Walter O'Mallay, was not on the agenda and would not come up before the minor league meetings because of the unsettled "legal angles" involved.

Under the plan, O'Malley suggested that half the price be turned over to the minor leagues as a "grant in aid" with the remainder going to the major league clubs participating in the telecasts.

O'Malley contended that only a "confused legal situation" prevented a test run of the plan last year and he predicted that the justice department "would not be opposed to such a venture as long as the element of competition remains and the program is free of collusion to stifle sportscasting."

Layne Beats Hammer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — Rex Layne, 209½, won a split decision over Mike Hammer, 190½, Detroit, last night before 2,464 fans who paid $5,444 to see the 10-round fight.

He plans to reside in nearby Wallingford, Pa., and continue working as a salesman.

Babe Still Under Tests in Hospital

GALVESTON, Tex. (INS)—Babe Zaharias continued to undergo a long series of tests today while doctors searched for signs of a third cancer attack.

Pep, expected to come in at about 127½, is favored over the South Carolinian.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

HELPING THE GRIP — Finger dots and slots, which are approved by the American Bowling Congress, can help those of you with weak fingers strengthen your grip. Bowling just isn't much fun, and you can't expect to do well, if you don't have a secure hold of the ball throughout the swing.

Besides the indentations for the fingers shown in the sketch, which many topflighters use, and which will be fitted to meaasure when you purchase a ball, there also are available various types of legal inserts for the holes that will give you that needed firmness in swing.

There's more to it: Quite a few stars have added an extra hole for the little finger to give them a 4-fingered grip. I recommend it for women bowlers because, more than assuring a firm hold, it reduces friction and avoids blisters, and it releases as freely as a 2- or a 3-fingered ball. Use the conventional ⅝th pitch for the finger-holes, and use no pitch at all on the thumb hole. I'm sure you'll enjoy bowling with such a ball; that you'll soon develop good accuracy with it.

Deer 'Stay Put' Cut Hunting Toll

By JACK PATTERSON

Late season deer hunters didn't do as well as they had reason to expect. Not because there were no deer left, but because the deer displayed an exasperating tendency to stay put, and in many areas there were too few hunters to force them to move around.

PATTERSON

Being largely night feeders by choice, deer like to fiddle and loaf around the thickets in daylight hours with maybe a little incidental grazing to break the monotony. Hence the stress put on early morning and evening hours by deer hunters.

Lack of travel by deer undisturbed during the daytime is often blamed on the weather being too warm, too cold, or too something else. Actually deer don't move around much in the daytime as a matter of preference, state of the weather notwithstanding.

Weather, however, is of considerable importance to the hunter. Principal reasoh for a total deer kill this year which is almost certain to fall below preseason estimates, is mainly attributable to the wierd variety of weather in Michigan the last two weeks in November.

U. P. hunters in many areas were hampered by too much snow. Alternate gales and dead calms added to problems facing hunters throughout the state. Next to a howling storm, which makes hunting practically impossible, a quiet, generally windless day with little whispers of breeze from every point of the compass, is as tough a situation as the deer hunter is likely to encounter. We had plenty of both conditions the last two weeks.

Now that we've provided unsuccessful hunters with enough excuses to hold through the winter months we'll list a few local hunters who remained unsuccessful the last weekend of the season despite the "skillful guiding and swamp beating" of this writer.

Headed by general manager and camp cook Bob Nelson, a group of Universal Oil Seal brass including, Vern Shea, Weldon Fritch, Bob Snow, Roy Pearson and Ed Doughty opened up Sleepy Hollow for the last time this calendar year. The writer went along as guide, wood-gatherer, dishwasher and bird dog.

While there was a considerable amount of cabin warming done by this group there was a lot of hunting too.

Aside from a number of practice rounds at empty cans, the only shot fired in anger was one by Bob Snow at a fox, which proved more than equal to the occasion. It was not a case of lack of deer. It was a case of lack of deer with readily visible antlers, a situation that will continue to plague the area until a lot of surplus does are rendered immobile.

It was a lot of fun, though, and we learned a new card game and got a little help, now and then, on the dishes.

This is the season when stay at homes will have to brace themselves to listen to tear-jerking tales of near misses and if-dog-rabbit stories. Saddest one we've heard so far came from Jim Clarke, who missed a big timber wolf (about a once-in-a-lifetime chance in Michigan) while hunting recently in Baraga County.

Frank Thompson was one of the lucky U.P. hunters who spent some 16 hours on the anchored Vacationland waiting for the winds to abate.

Deer Season at an End; Press Contest Over, Too

Close of the deer season also signals the end of The Pontiac Press annual contest, although a three-day allowance is made for travel purposes after actual hunting has ceased.

Michigan's 1955 season ends today with the deadline for all entries in The Pontiac Press dear contest set for Saturday at 12 noon. Returning weekend hunters entered four bucks first of the week to raise the total entry list to 21. All four were rack entries.

Mrs. Beverly Baumgras, 2269 Mann Road, Pontiac, reported here yesterday with a 142-pound 8-point buck bagged near Gaylord. Mrs. Baumgras, hunting with her husband Donald, needed two shots from a Winchester Special to stop the deer.

Two nimrods joined forces to land their entry, a 160-pound 8-point buck shot near Germfask in the Upper Peninsula's Schoolcraft County. Jay Stafford and Ray Chabot, both from Commerce, brought down the animal with alternate shots from .300 Savages.

Lewis Grimm, who resides at 76 Willard in Pontiac, was yesterday's 3rd hunter to register an entry. Grimm brought down a 170-pound 8-point buck with one blast from his Remington while hunting about 20 miles north of St. Ignace. He was accompanied by Thelmer Throndset of Pontiac.

Monday's last entrant was a 185-pound 8-point deer bagged by Harry R. Schack, 2775 Hunt Road, Birmingham. Schack required two shots from a Remington to halt the animal. He was hunting north of Manistique and was alone at the time.

Eighteen of the present 21 entries are "rack" contestents and two are "head" contenders, making the latter a wide-open division. Wilfred A. Bird of Pontiac seems to have the "weight" class wrapped up with a 260-pound buck.

Again a reminder that Saturday at 12 noon is the final hour for entries in the 1955 competition. The winner of each division will be awarded a $50 U.S. Savings Bond.

State's Deer Kill Goes Up

First Six Days of '55 Hunting Season Reveal 12 Per Cent Increase

LANSING—Michigan's deer kill during the first six days of the 1955 season appears to be about 12 per cent from last year, at least in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Hunting activity, meanwhile, appears to be about the same as last year.

Conservation department workers counted deer on cars moving down north-south highways in the northern Lower Peninsula and at the Straits of Mackinac.

The statistical studies showed a seven per cent increase on US-27, US-23, US-10 and M-30. A 28 per cent increase from last year showed up on US-131, US-31, M-66, M-37 and M-82. Statistically, these totals leveled off to a 12 per cent increase.

A computed total of 17,684 deer were counted during the period compared to 15,772 last year. For each year, the opening period included a full weekend.

At the Straits, 5311 deer came south on ferries compared to 6394 through the first Sunday of last year.

State Conducts Inventories of Lakes, Streams

LANSING (AP) — Fisheries research inventories of 31 Michigan lakes and 26 streams and river systems were conducted this year, the conservation department reported today.

The largest project was a three-month survey of the 16,700-acre Burt Lake in Cheboygan County. Among the larger lakes surveyed were Manistee Lake in Kalkaska County and Upper and Lower Herring Lakes in Benzie County.

Rabbit Hunted Widely

Cottontail Named Most Popular Game in State

By MORT NEFF

Ask the average hunter what the most popular game target is in Michigan and you may get several answers . . . deer, pheasant, maybe . . but the right reply would be the cottontail rabbit!

NEFF

It's a fact that more than a million and a half rabbits are shot in Michigan each year, and they are hunted widely throughout the state.

The cottontail is a common resident of eastern and midwestern states, roaming field and forest in winter and summer. Their flesh is excellent when prepared in a dozen different ways, and it is little wonder that they are hunted by almost a half million sportsmen here.

There's little danger of the cottontail disappearing as a result of too much hunting pressure. Three or four litters per year is average for Mrs. Rabbit, and each litter may have five or six tiny, helpless bunnies in the nest.

The young are born blind, and remain in a bowl-shaped depression dug in the ground for a period of about two weeks. The nest itself is covered with fur from the mother's breast, and is so well concealed that it is very difficult to find. Predators find the nest purely by accident, for the young apparently give off little or no scent.

Their chief defense is speed, and their powerful, long hind legs can carry them for miles at a rate to challenge the most persistent hound.

While Br'er Rabbit is the small boy's favorite target, most of the more than a million taken by hunters here annually are shot as the result of tracking hounds.

Wyoming Meets Tech in Sun Bowl Battle

EL PASO, Tex. (INS) — University of Wyoming will meet Texas Tech, the host team, in the annual Sun Bowl football game at El Paso Jan. 2.

Selection of the teams was announced yesterday. Texas Tech has a season record of seven victories, two defeats and one tie. Wyoming, which plays Houston Saturday, has a 7-2 mark.

Hunting OK on Rights-of-Way, Says Kavanagh

LANSING (AP)—The Horton trespass act does not prohibit hunting on highway rights-of-way, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh held today.

His opinion was requested by Gerald E. Eddy, director of the state conservation department.

Eddy told the attorney general there was some confusion over whether the law prohibited roadside hunting or simply bans hunting on farm land.

Eddy said the department had been guided by an attorney general's opinion issued 25 years ago, but Kavanagh said the opinion was in the form of letters written and signed by an assistant attorney general and was not official.

Kavanagh said the legislature's intent was to keep hunters off farm lands unless they had the farmer's written permission.

Officials emphasized that state law does prohibit hunting from an automobile, whether stopped or moving. It also outlaws the carrying of loaded firearms in cars.

Duck and Goose Hunters Prosper

Conservationists Say Luck in Marshes Goes Up 39 Per Cent

LANSING (AP) — State Conservation Department reports that duck and goose hunters in the Pointe Mouillee marshes are having one of their best seasons in years.

The department said only 7 per cent more hunters were counted compared to last year but that their hunting success was up 39 per cent.

A survey showed that 8,661 hunters took 6,291 birds, mostly ducks and coots, compared to 8,093 hunters and 4,539 birds in the same period last year.

Goose hunters in the Swan Creek-Fennville area took 2,288 birds compared to 2,242 last year.

One Wolf Killed; Big Bounty in Other Game

LANSING — One female wolf was killed in October and bountied in Iron County.

Also, 575 coyotes, 2234 foxes and 127 bobcats were bountied during the month.

The state paid $21,920 in bounty fees.

Twenty of the coyotes were taken in the northern Lower Peninsula. Foxes were bountied throughout the state. The bobcat total does not include 'cats bountied through county sheriffs.

Cunning Fox Outwits State's Bounty System by Reproducing Past Reason

LANSING (AP)—The fox, whose cunning is legendary, has completely outwitted Michigan's eight-year-old bounty system.

Back in 1947, the legislature slapped a $5 price on the hide of the fox. The legislature maintained that the little foxes were spoiling pheasant hunting and preying on farm animals.

Accustomed as it was to the role of a villain, the fox took the insult in its stride. He retaliated by reproducing himself beyond all reason.

Now the state is paying through the nose in an effort to cut the stock of foxes. In 1954, the state paid trappers and hunters $134,820 for 26,964 fox skins. That was $30,000 more than it paid for fox bounties in 1948.

The state conservation department estimates the state and county bounties on foxes totaled nearly half a million dollars during the five-year period ending in 1951.

Has the bounty paid off in increasing the pheasant population? The department says "no," and bases the assertion on this reasoning:

While the bounty has been in effect, the pheasant population has indeed risen. On the surface, this would mean that the fox bounty paid off. But while pheasants increased in numbers, so did the foxes.

Department game workers followed 511 miles of fox trails in good pheasant country. In a day of following fox trails, as many as 100 pheasants were counted. But the workers found evidence of only 16 pheasants slain by the fox.

The foxes, department game men said, killed 123 mice along the trail, 35 rabbits, 23 shrews, 3 muskrats, 4 quail, 2 ruffed grouse and seven other small animals.

The department concludes from this and other studies that the fox doesn't have much effect on the pheasant population—that the animals are getting their share of the surplus along with the hunter, the coon and other predators.

There were three no-hitters in the major leagues from 1925 to 1930, compared with nine from 1945 to 1950.

Iowa Cagers Big 10 Favorite

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin opens the Big Ten basketball season Thursday against Butler but all eyes will be on Iowa's defending champions who tangle with Nebraska Saturday in a nationally televised contest.

The Hawkeyes, along with Illinois, are favorites in the upcoming Western Conference campaign which will begin after New Year's Day following warmup tussles against non-conference foes.

Both Iowa and Illinois are loaded with veteran stars and are expected to unveil helpful sophomore talent.

Iowa has four regulars returning but one of them—Sharm Scheuerman — is a questionable performer because of a kidney injury suffered while playing touch football. A mainstay in the Iowa championship drive last season, Scheuerman has not been working out with the team.

Still available, however, are Carl Cain, Bill Logan, Bill Seaberg and Bill Schoof, who was handicapped last season with a knee injury.

Illinois, which had the best overall won-lost average among Big Ten teams last season but finished in a 2nd place tie with Minnesota, is deep. If 6 feet 7 sophomore center Ted Caiazza can win a starting post, the Illini might jump out in front to stay.

Caiazza, however, will have to push out George Bon Salle, one of coach Harry Combes' top performers last season. Other holdovers are Capt. Paul Judson, Bill Altenberger, Harv Schmidt, Bruce Brothers and 5 feet 9 Bill Ridley, often called basketball's best little man.

Minnesota moves into action against DePaul Saturday without the services of Dick Garmaker and Chuck Mencel, two of the Midwest's brightest stars. The Gophers will rebuild around regulars Dave Tucker, Buck Lindsley and 6 feet 11 center Bill Simonovich who developed rapidly last winter.

Ohio State, with Robin Freeman back again, is expected to rebound out of the conference cellar. The Buckeyes plunged badly after Freeman was dropped off the team on doctor's orders. OSU opens against Butler Saturday.

Michigan State is the dark horse which could upset championship plans. The Spartans have Julius McCoy and Duane Peterson back and a lot of height in sophomores Max Gonsenbach, Larry Hedden and Chuck Benzie.

Indiana finished 6th last season despite the efforts of Don Schlundt, the Big Ten's most productive scorer. The Hoosiers will be without Schlundt this year but have what could turn out to be the best crop of sophomores in the conference. Ohio University is Indiana's foe Saturday.

Michigan has Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz—a couple of all conference football ends — back and might fare a little better than the other three.

Ameche No. 1 Pro League Leading Ground Gainer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With two games left to play in the regular National Football League season, Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Baltimore's outstanding candidate for pro rookie of the year, today had a 99-yard lead over his nearest rival, Howie Ferguson of the Green Bay Packers, as the league's number one ball carrier.

The former Wisconsin fullback has gained 867 yards on 185 attempts for an average of 4.7 yards per carry. Ferguson has equalled Ameche's average per try but has carried the ball only 164 times for a gain of 768 yards.

In 3rd place in offensive yardage is Fred Morrison of Cleveland with 695 yards, 40 more than defending champion Joe Perry of San Francisco.

Leading the passers is Cleveland veteran Otto Graham, who has completed 81 of 148 attempts for 1,385 yards and 10 touchdowns, an average of 9.36 yards per throw.

Eddie Brown of the Chicago Bears, who was virtually tied with Graham last week, is 2nd with an 8.65 average. He has thrown 143, completed 79 for 1,237 yards and 8 touchdowns.

In 3rd place is Bobby Thomason of the Philadelphia Eagles with an 8.04 yard average. He has gained 1,190 yards on 77 completions of 148 attempts for 10 touchdowns.

Japanese Pro Leagues Show Love of Game

Two Baseball Loops Drew Seven Million Fans This Year

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's professional baseball leagues told today just adopted the great American game.

The Central League of six teams drew 4,217,118 fans in 390 games, an average of 10,813 a game. teams drew 3,100,000 fans in 569 games, a 5,453 average.

The Navoya Dragons, owned by the Newspaper Chubu Nippon, was tops. It drew an average of 19,319 fans a game. The Dragons finished second in the Central League.

Rifle River Area Is Favorite Spot

LANSING—Fishing and sightseeing permits reached a record high last year at the Rifle River area near Rose City, Ogemaw county.

Total permits at the state-owned area reached 25,269 — an increase of 2.3 percent over 1953. Included was a record number of 5,812 fishermen and 15,346 tourists.

The popularity of the area has increased steadily with anglers, tourists, hunters and trappers during its 10 years of public use.

Milwaukee Braves have no contract trouble with Ed Matthews. The slugging 3rd baseman has a two-year contract. It carries through 1956.

Muskrat Catch Should Improve Over Last Year

LANSING — Muskrat trapping in the southern Lower Peninsula is expected to be somewhat improved over last year, but no great change in pelt prices is anticipated.

The season opens Dec. 1 in the south and closes Jan. 15, except in the Erie marshes where trapping extends until the end of January.

Game workers will make no rigid predictions for the season because weather ups and downs, water levels and other factors represent big question marks in trapping operations.

Dry fall weather has left many inland water holes relatively dry. Low levels drive muskrats from small, drying marshes to the large, permanent swamps.

Mrs. Gene Markey of Calumet Farm and Alfred G. Vanderbilt takes pride in naming their own race horses. They plan to race at of Hialeah this winter.

Hayes Says Cassady Ranks With Grange

NEW YORK (INS) — Ohio State halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, everybody's All-America, ranks with Illinois' immortal Red Grange, according to OSU coach Woody Hayes.

"He's the greatest football player I've ever seen, one of the greatest of the century," the Big Ten champion coach declared at a football writers' meeting in New York. Hayes added:

"Compare him this season with Red Grange's senior year. He was defensed in every game we played, yet he'd still get away for 125 yards. No one could stop him.

"Hoppie's a great blocker, too, a fine defensive player and he usually played about 55 minutes in each game. I'll never forget what the little guy did for us."

Blackbourn Successful

As a Milwaukee high school football coach, Lisle Blackbourn of the Green Bay Packers won 10 city titles, lost only 30 games in 22 years.

Sid Gillman, new head coach of the Rams, has never had a losing season.

Virginia Acting on Integration

Legislature Will Attempt Passage of Amendment to Aid Private Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Virginia Legislature meets in special session today to consider the school segregation problem, the biggest issue to face the mother of states in more than half a century.

The 140 lawmakers were summoned into session by Gov. Thomas B. Stanley in an effort to preserve the traditional Southern way of separate school facilities for Negro and white pupils.

The legislators will be asked to set in motion the machinery for amending the state constitution to permit subsidization of private schools.

Under a plan recommended by a legislative study commission, local authorities would be given wide discretion in handling the school problem.

The plan would permit integration if the localities so wished. But areas that wanted to keep separate facilities would be allowed to "assign" pupils to schools for reasons other than race—health and aptitude, for example.

Should this not work out or should there be integration in some sectors, a parent might receive a tuition grant from the state to send his child to a private school.

But before this could be done, the state constitution must be amended to permit such subsidization. Today's special session was called to set up a statewide referendum on holding a convention to do the amending.

Jerseyan Wins War With Calories to Join the Army

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—It was a tough fight, but John Carl Leonard won his "Battle of the Calories" and knocked off enough poundage to fulfill his biggest wish—acceptance in the U.S. Army.

Leonard, 21, born in America but raised in Scotland, went on a rigid diet after the Army turned him down as overweight. He pared 34 pounds from his 262-pound frame in eight weeks.

Shortly after he returned from Glasgow, Scotland, where he lived with his grandmother for 19 years, Leonard passed all his enlistment tests but was told by an Army doctor:

"Sorry, son, you're too heavy. The Army can't take you."

Determined to make the grade, he spent the next 10 days on reducing pills "and not much else." Then he went on a calorie diet at his mother's home in Newark.

When he showed up at the Army center yesterday, he tipped the scales at 228 and received his okay for service.

He had weighed even less — 225 — a week ago, but he suffered a minor setback in the form of Thanksgiving dinner.

Marry an Obstetrician —and Stay Home Nights

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Lady, how'd you like to be married to an obstetrician?

Pretty blonde actress Betsy Palmer was sound asleep in her apartment at 3 a.m. the other day—when the doorbell rang.

"I'd been expecting a script to be delivered rather late but I thought when I woke up, 'Oh, NO, no idiot could be bringing it this late!'"

Instead, it was a policeman. A woman was having a baby right out in the street. Would Betsy's husband, Dr. Joseph Merendino, come out on the sidewalk and preside?

"Usually when he's called at 3 a.m., it's to a hospital, and I just sort of roll over and say 'Bye now'," she says.

"Sometimes I sit in the waiting room at the hospital till he comes down smelling of ether. I've never taken ether and to me it's a good smell, and I snuggle up to him and get a free whiff."

Betsy's "such an old ham," she says, "that sometimes I get into a scrub uniform with the mask, and help out afterward. But I have yet to see a delivery. My husband has enough baby delivering with me every time I do a show."

And Betsy, who's from East Chicago, Ind., has done a couple hundred on TV, and was second lead also in "The Long Gray Line" movie.

"Women ask me whether I'm not afraid of losing my husband to a patient. They say all women fall in love with their obstetricians because their husbands don't understand them at that time. I wouldn't want him to be such an ogre they wouldn't find him attractive but I hope he remembers he's got a wife at home."

Betsy and the doctor were married on a Saturday afternoon and had dinner with her husband's parents.

"Here it was, our wedding night, when we came into the house about midnight, the phone rang. "Guess what it was. A baby had to be delivered. I said, 'All right, dear, I'll be awake when you come in.' But it was 4 a.m. and I wasn't. I was broken in very early as an obstetrician's wife."

A Key Story

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Laura Johnson, 54, dropped her keys yesterday and put the Fire Department to work. The keys skittered through a hole in the floor. She reached for the keys and her arm stuck. A company of firemen was called. When they arrived, she already had pulled her arm free. The keys were recovered later.

He'd Better Look Out

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The thief who rifled a woman's purse in the postoffice yesterday may be assured that one highly irritated law officer is looking for him. Policewoman Susan Garr said the thief removed her billfold, containing her badge and $18.

Greek Students Stone Consulate

Anti-British Fever Grows at Corfu, Piraeus and on Island of Cyprus

ATHENS (INS)—Greek students stoned windows of the British consulate on the Greek island of Corfu Monday night. Another anti-British demonstration occurred in Piraeus, the port of Athens.

Meanwhile, the pro-government Greek newspaper Kathimerini reported that "Eoka," the anti-British underground group on Cyprus, had formed branches in Greece. These branches demanded a ban on "everything British" in Greek life, the newspaper said.

These developments followed a report that Greek Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Cypriot Greeks, had rejected a secret British proposal for settlement of the dispute over Cyprus.

Archbishop Makarios, who is seeking union of Cyprus with Greece, was said to have turned down the British proposal because of flareups continued in Cyprus.

In Famagusta, gunmen shot and wounded a British shopkeeper and a woman. Nationalists were also reported to have thrown a bomb into the house of a British army major. There were no casualties and little damage.

Passenger fares on ships plying between Valdivia and Corral, Chile, have been boosted by 100 per cent.

Hollywood Headlines:

Fredric Marches Team for 'Flannel Suit' Picture

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—It's a long time since Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, were together in a motion picture. I believe the last one they did was for U-I some years ago.

So, I was very interested today to hear from Darryl Zanuck that they're a part of the big cast he is assembling for "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit." Gregory Peck and Jennifer Jones have the other two top roles.

It's a terrific part for March, that of the head of a big TV and radio company, who is as smooth as silk on the outside and cold, hard steel inwardly.

The Marches were in Europe until a few weeks ago while Frederic made "Alexander the Great."

But even more important, they were on hand for the arrival of their first grandchild, a son born to their daughter Penelope, now Mrs. Umberto Fantacci, in Florence.

WORK FOR JAN

Jan Sterling is tearing herself away from that baby boy and returning to work at Columbia Studio. Jerry Wald had the bright idea that she would be just right for the role of Humphrey Bogart's wife in "The Harder They Fall."

Jan, whose "natural birth" baby attracted the attention of the whole country, felt well enough to be up the next day, according to her husband, Paul Douglas. And she's never felt better in her life, which starts some precedent for other Hollywood women who are having children.

Chatted with Gordon MacRae at the Modern Screen party and he told me that he and Sheila have decided not to go to Europe until February or March.

"They want me for a picture over there," he said, "and I might as well kill two birds with one stone and go when I can see about my film."

Gordon and Sheila flew to New York Monday night without the children. They'll be back to pick up all four of them and fly to Miami to spend Christmas and New Year's.

"We're just going to rest, rest, rest," Sheila told me.

STORK EXPECTED

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Pretty Kathleen Hughes and U-I producer Stanley Rubin expect a baby near their second wedding anniversary July 25. Kathleen will continue her career until March. She's just finished a picture, "Three Bad Sisters," for U-A.

Mickey Rooney denies the persistend reports that he's looking for an apartment. He said his wife, Elaine, was right there with him when I telephoned.

At La Rue, Jane Russell and Bob Waterfield were having dinner with the Richard Sales. I asked Jane if her hair wasn't shorter so she could wear the red wig in "The Revolt of Mamie Stover." She said she hadn't cut it any.

Funny sidelight on the Santa Claus parade. Zsa Zsa Gabor showed up wearing $30,000 worth of jewels. Jack Holmes, parade director, took no chance and gave her two burly Marine escorts.

Universal-International will release "All That Heaven Allows" Christmas Day to make Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson eligible for Academy Award consideration.

Gene Autry will be followed by every small boy in town when he builds a railroad on his property. He has acquired a track from the Denver and Rio Grande line and bought an engine and three coaches.

CHICAGO (AP) — Borg-Warner Corp. plans to acquire through merger Primor Products Co., of Adrian, company officials said today.

Borg-Warner is a manufacturer of electrical and mechanical assemblies; Primor, a maker of refrigeration units for central air conditioning systems.

Production, Demand Push Business Boom Further

NEW YORK (AP) — Stepped-up production and a rising flow of new orders gave the business boom an added push this month, a survey of top-level purchasing executives showed recently.

And, the survey indicated, there's no sign of any "soft spot" that might change the fast pace of business during the fourth quarter.

Those were the main conclusions drawn by the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents after a poll of its members on business conditions in November.

Ninety-three per cent of the purchasing executives said production of their companies this month was the same or better than in October. On new orders, 86 per cent reported their position the same or better than last month.

Although the number of executives reporting higher commodity prices still exceeds those reporting lower prices, the ratio is much closer than a month ago, confirming the trend toward price stability indicated in the associations October survey.

Inventories are up slightly, but in keeping with high production levels.

Employment continues high despite occasional strikes.

The survey found that more supphers are actively soliciting competitive business than in October, but for the most part they are not offering price concessions or special service.

On the subject of commodity prices, 53 per cent of the purchasing executives reported prices up from October and 19 per cent reported a decline. Forty per cent said they found prices unchanged from a month ago and only five per cent reported lower prices.

Rising Costs Prompt New Price Increases

NEW YORK (AP) — Announcements of higher prices due to rising costs popped up yesterday from several corners of the nation's industry.

Items going up include cement, steel products, some plastic materials and carpets. In addition, there is a forecast of higher prices for shoes after the first of the year.

Cement prices have been raised by three producers, effective Jan. 1. Alpha Portland Cement Co., Easton, Pa. is going up 25 cents a barrel at seven out of eight plants, equalling the boost announced by Universal Atlas early this month.

The Connors Steel Division of H.K. Porter Co. at Birmingham, Ala., announced an across-the-board hike of one-half cent a pound in its steel products, which include bars, strip rods and structural shapes.

Prices of Vinyl Naugahyde upholstery materials have been boosted an average of three per cent by U.S. Rubber Co. The increases range from two cents to 12 cents a linear yard on automotive furniture and baby carriage upholstery and on Vinyl materials used for luggage, clothing, handbags and shoes.

Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co. has increased prices of its Sanford woven carpet lines by an average of three per cent.

The National Assn. of Shoe Chain Stores has predicted that some lines of boys' shoes will go up about 50 cents a pair at retail early in 1956, and that men's shoes will rise between 50 cents and $1.

NOTICE — THE ZONING BOARD OF Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, will hold a public hearing on December 7, 1955 at 8:00 P.M., at the Township Hall, Clarkston, Michigan, to consider proposed changes in Township Zoning Districts and to consider a proposal to amend Ordinance No. 2, the Township Zoning Ordinance, to provide for a new Zoning District to be known as Residence 2 in which apartment houses and multiple dwellings may be allowed and to establish conditions attendant thereto. A draft of the proposed Ordinance amendment and a map showing proposed changes in Zoning Districts may be examined at the Township Hall during regular Township office business hours.

Grains Easier in Routine Deals

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains mostly were a little easier in routine dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Soybeans sold off at the start, largely reflecting a Census Bureau report of heavy stocks at mills, but quickly recovered much of the lost ground.

Most other grain contracts showed small gains at the start. But they weren't able to continue their forward progress.

After a while they slipped back below the previous close.

Automakers, Dealers Clash Over 1956 Price Increases

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Industry surveys indicate the auto manufacturers' 1956 price schedules developed some sales resistance with the presentation of the new models.

Experienced observers point out, however, that this is virtually a tradition in the industry. They say every price increase the car makers ever have made was met almost immediately with protests from the car buyers.

One recent survey indicated something of a lag in new car sales, although it was not of major proportions. Some retailers were inclined to attribute this to the higher prices for the 1956 line of cars.

Other industry analyses blamed it on the extra sales pressure devoted to cleaning up the 1955 models on hand.

As late as a week before the new models of each make went on sale emphasis was placed upon the bargains available in 1955 models. When the new models became available promotional effort emphasized that 1955 models "now are a year old; why buy a year-old' car when you can get a brand new one for practically the same price?"

For resale and tradein purposes 1955 model cars are now considered a year old even if they were built only a few weeks ago. But it is also true they were available considerably cheaper than new 1956 models.

The surveys indicated relatively few 1955 models were left in new car dealer stocks. Some probably were sold to used car operators or placed on sale in the new car dealer's own used car lots.

Automotive News, which made a cross-country survey earlier this month on 1956 model reception reported it found "Discounts are rampant, having been granted in some cases even before 'official' introduction day."

The manufacturers in introducing new models announced higher list prices. The increases ranged from around $10 to as much as $550. There was some speculation before the new models came out as to whether the full increase would be passed on to the new car buyer.

In many instances it hasn't been asked of the new car purchaser. And new car buyers have become so accustomed to reductions from the "list" ppice that they expect them without argument.

The "list" price, of course, is the price suggested by the car maker. There is no law that requires the dealer to follow the manufacturer's suggested price; in fact Federal laws specifically prohibit the manufacturer from setting the retail price for his product. That's why the manufacturer "suggests" the price.

But prices announced at the factory are somewhat confusing. Most prices announced for 1956 models were exclusive of a 10 per cent Federal excise tax as well as transportation charges, dealer handling, state and local taxes at the point of sale and numerous items of optional equipment.

Thus the only certain way to find out what a certain new model car will cost is to go to your local dealer, pick out the car you like and get him to put a delivered price on it — with license plates and perhaps a fee for documenting the registration.

Woman Medic Reaches $32,000 on TV Quiz Show

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman psychologist, Dr. Joyce Brothers of New York City, has reached the halfway point on the $64,000 Question television and radio show. She won $32,000 on the CBS program last night with her knowledge of boxing.

Dr. Brothers, 28, named New Orleans as the site of two world championships and one American title fight in three days in 1892. She gave these contestants, winners and weight divisions for the fight: James J. Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan for the heavyweight crown; Jack McAuliffe knocked out Billy Myer in the lightweight class, and George Dixon beat Jack Skelly, featherweight.

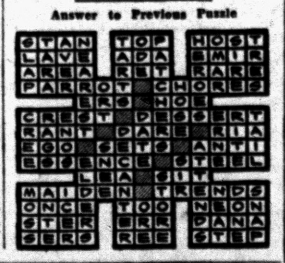

She can try for the grand prize next Tuesday night.

Steven Frohlich, 39, a Czech immigrant who is in the seed business in Princeton, N. J., settled for his previous $32,000 winnings in his American history category last night and quit.

Attacks TV Bad Taste

NEW YORK (AP)—FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey says the television industry should do something about bad taste in programs and prolonged commercials. In an address prepared for the Sylvania Television Awards Dinner, he said the Federal Communications Commission cannot censor program content. Therefore, he said, it's up to the industry.

Caesar's Show Rates Applause

Nanette, Gisele Called Show Business' Best Young Comediennes

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Anne Jeffreys and Bob Sterling gave their secondary roles in "Dearest Enemy" their customary extra shot of charm to make the parts more important, but it was Cyril Ritchard who put the comedy back into tepid musical comedy this TV time . . .

A fantastically talented man, with success in everything from legitimate stage and Metropolitan Opera direction to acting in all entertainment media, Ritchard is one of those rare men who plainly even "thinks" funny.

AVOID CLICHE

If we were to advise a TV star how to avoid the first mistake on the air, we'd caution against the cliche: "We have a wonderful show for you tonight," because more often than yes, he hasn't.

Sid Caesar's last show was good without any such introductory nonsense, the VP sketch a perceptive howl, Nanette Fabray so funny you might suspect the falling backstage pipe that landed on lovely Nan's nogging might have been propelled in professional jealousy by all the rest of showdom's comediennes . . .

Offhand, we think Nan and Gisele MacKenzie are the two best young lady comics practicing . . . Sid's opening slow-motion football sequence was very well done, but oddly, not very funny.

The trouble with missing the introduction to a serious act on the Caesar show—as we did just before the "Aida" aria it took several minutes before we discovered it wasn't supposed to be funny, a situation complicated by the atrocious early Nile haberdashery and scenery . . .

The Christophers' award to "Ozzie and Harriet" for its high standard of entertainment is an award well earned and bestowed. Ozzie and Harriet will repeat their last Christmas show this year; a dandy . . .

BACK 5 YEARS

Ed Sullivan's show next Sunday might seem to be turning the TV clock back five years; Abbott and Costello, Kate Smith, Lillian Roth and the customary acrobats . . .

Lady Lawford (Pete's mater) will be Groucho's guest next week . . .

Broderick Crawford guests on "I've Got a Secret" tonight . . .

Ed Wynn guests Dec. 17 on the George Gobel show; you can't hardly get that kind of great talent any more.

When Danny Thomas pokes his heroic nose into "Person to Person" Dec. 23, he'll show an unusual 40-foot mural on his living room wall: A painting of "The Last Supper" . . .

TALENTED LISA

Lisa Kirk was brightly talent-plus on the GE Hour in a script that was dishwater-dull.

Jack Carson's on the next Martha Raye romp . . .

Johnny Carson was renewed by CBS through next April . . .

Rise Stevens, the Marilyn Monroe of the Met, stars Dec. 5 on the Voice of Firestone, an ABC simulcast which doesn't vary from the highest musical standards of any program anywhere; a fine show, always.

Ernie Kovacs gets an NBC morning daytimer but can't get his wife Edith Adams away from Jack Paar—professionally of course—to whom she's under CBS contract.

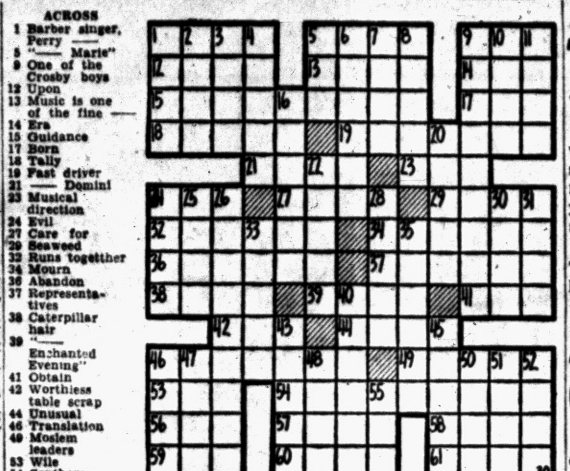

Ann Sothern says she'll retire next year . . . Ann looked pudgy on Loretta Young's telefilm . . .

Lu Ann Simms drew sensational crowds in her first post-firing nightclub date, the Town Casino in Buffalo . . .

MSU Journalism Prof Quits for Florida Post

EAST LANSING (AP) — Earl A. McIntyre, associate professor of journalism at Michigan State University, is resigning Jan. 1 to become a full professor at the Florida State University.

Ike Gives Up Handshake for Good of the Nation

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (INS) — President Eisenhower is going to do a lot less handshaking in the future than he has during the past three years.

This decision does not reflect any lessening of Presidential cordiality. Far from it.

The President's physicians have decided that the American custom of a chief executive standing in line and shaking hands with dozens, scores, and even hundreds of persons at a time, entails an unnecessary physical and nervous strain.

Presidential aides said today that such group handshaking rituals of the past will be taboo when Eisenhower returns to the White House to resume residence.

They said the President will continue to shake hands in greeting when he sees individuals.

DINNERS GET GO-BYE

At the same time, it was indicated that the President probably will abandon attendance of the series of public dinners to which he has gone in past winters.

Aides said that attendance of these dinners "subject the President to a certain amount of strain for he is on public show for several hours," and, at the end, is usually called on to make a talk.

In past winters, the President has attended dinners of the Gridiron Club, the White House Correspondents Association, the radio and television correspondents, White House photographers and Women's Press Club.

HEAVY CALENDAR

These have been in addition to the numerous dinners, both at the White House and embassies, when heads of state have visited Washington.

Aides said the President probably will not attend any of the public functions this year, and that private dinners will be held to a minimum.

The annual White House social calendar, which includes receptions from November into the next spring, was canceled after the President became ill in September.

Aides said there is now no thought of resuming any of these functions this year.

In past years, the President has stood at the head of a receiving line to shake hands with his guests. Some of the receptions have been attended by from 1,000 to 3,000 persons.

THE OLE PUMP ARM

In their enthusiasm, many guests grasp the President's hand in a vice-like grip and pump his arm vigorously.

The routine is similar when the President receives large groups of callers in his White House office, or the adjacent rose garden.

Likewise, the daily calling list at the White House will probably be shortened in the future.

Before his illness, when the President was in Washington, he saw a steady stream of callers from around 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

They included senators and congressmen, GOP state chairmen, political supporters, old army friends, ambassadors and other foreign dignitaries, cabinet members, heads of national organizations of all types, and a host of others.

Aides admitted they are confronted by a problem. One commented: "Everybody in the United States wants to see the President, and, if he could, he would like to see them all.

"But it looks like somebody will have to show a little restraint in the future."

Rouge Roller Rink Destroyed by Fire

DETROIT (AP)—Fire destroyed a River Rouge roller skating rink last night causing an estimated $200,000 damages.

Firemen fought the blaze 90 minutes before bringing it under control.

Frank T. Tighe, 50, of Lincoln Park, owner of the building, said he was alone in the rink when he saw smoke above one of three oil heaters suspended from the ceiling.

Tighe, who estimated the damage, said he believed the heater to be faulty.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said the blaze knocked out telephone service over much of a mile-square area.

New Lights for Allegan

Savings Stamps Awarded by Owner of Local Store

Wherever you shop nowadays, whether it be a grocery, filling station or department store, the merchant is bound to ask: "Do you collect stamps?" And thousands do.

And Charles Giglio, owner of The Three Sisters Market at 608 W. Huron St., offers them. But Giglio doesn't hand out red, yellow, or green stamps but United States Defense stamps.

Giglio has been doing this since October and claims to be the originator of the worthwhile idea.

He has been followed by five other merchants in Pontiac and through Rep. George A. Dondero, his idea has been brought to the attention of Trasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and President Eisenhower.

For every $5 purchase at his store, Giglio passes out one 10 cent Savings stamp to the customer. He estimated that his business picked up $7,000 in the first two weeks since he began this practice.

Giglio has been in the grocery business in the city for 41 years since he came to this country from Italy in 1914. He is married and the father of six children.

Adult Tooth Decay Caused When Young

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Forty per cent of the nation's adult dental problems are caused by neglect in the care of teeth when children, a North Carolina dentist-educator says.

Dr. William C. Demeritt, assistant dean of the Department of Dentistry of the University of North Carolina, stated that children today get too many sweets.

He told delegates of the Mid-Continental Dental Congress that in the past 50 years the consumption of sugar has increased from eight pounds a person to about 100 pounds.

"The tooth decay rate has gone up accordingly," Dr. Demeritt added.

"We need to educate our population not to feed children the wrong foods," he said. "Losing teeth at an early age because of untreated cavities can cause gum disease, speech defects and other serious problems."

Calls Steamship Booking Office Over Ham Radio

MONTREAL (AP) — It took a man from Missouri to dream up a unique way of booking transatlantic passage with Canadian Pacific steamships in Montreal.

John G. Rogers of Parkville wanted to sail to Britain with his family next spring and wanted to know in a hurry what bookings were available.

An avid ham radio operator, Rogers contacted a Montreal ham on his set, had him plug in a telephone jack and discussed the matter with the steamship line's booking agent here.

J. R. Ross, the company's general passenger agent, termed the approach "unique to say the least—and he got his bookings."

8 Sturgis Police Quit Over City Inaction

STURGIS (AP)—Eight member of the 12-man Sturgis police force resigned last night, accusing their fellow officers of malfeasance in their jobs.

Prosecutor Robert E. A. Boyle of St. Joseph County, who acted as counsel for the resigning policemen, said the group resorted to the action because the city commission had not given them a hearing on their charges against the other officers.

Six of the eight commissioners expressed surprise at the action. They said they had not learned of the split in police force ranks.

Proposed Plant Bringing Rumors on Mighty 'Atlas'

WASHINGTON (INS)—A major aircraft company's announcement of plans to build a huge plant in Colorado led to speculation that the Air Force is making progress in developing a huge intercontinental rocket.

The Glenn L. Martin Co., of Baltimore has announced that it will construct a new plant on a 4,000-acre site some 15 miles south of Denver that will eventually employ 5,000 persons.

The Air Force said there has been speculation that the Martin firm may be the second contractor for the "Atlas," a rocket capable of traveling 5,000 miles at speeds of more than 10,000 miles an hour.

Consolidated Vultee, or Convair—according to informed sources—has been awarded the first contract for the development of the "Atlas," which will dwarf all rockets thus far known to have been tested.

Although the Martin company refused to indicate what type of work was planned for its new Denver division—which will require some 15 months to build—it was generally believed that it would be designed for rocket development.

The Air Force declared that no definite contract has been made with the firm but they "may be" going ahead on the "assumption" they will get the second "Atlas" contract.

The Martin announcement said a force of engineers and office workers will be sent to Denver in the near future to set up a temporary office.

The company gave as its only reason for selection of the Colorado site the availability of technical talent around Denver.

The "Atlas" has been the subject of much discussion in the past year—particularly in technical and defense publications.

So far as is known, no missile of this size has been actually fired.

Rockets tested up to now have included the "Redstone," over which the Army and Air Force recently had a high-level squabble. The "Redstone," however, is designed to travel less than 500 miles—a midget in comparison with the "Atlas."

Modern Foods Damage Teeth

Dentist Reports Eskimos Develop Cavities Eating White Man's Diet

DETROIT (AP)—A Nebraska dentist who studied a band of Eskimos states that substitution of a white man's diet for natural foods "raised havoc" with teeth that previously had no decay.

Dr. Carl H. Henckelmann of Lincoln told of his studies at a dental review of the Detroit District Dental Society.

He said that when he first saw the 70 inhabitants of a village at Anaktuvuk Pass in Alaska "they had had practically no contact with civilization."

"Their teeth were crooked and dirty, but they had no decay," he said.

"They were living on a diet of wild berries, willow tips, rose hips (seed bearing fruit of wild roses), caribou, moose, squirrel, marmot, fish, and ptarmagan.

"A white trader moved into the village in 1949 and began bringing in white flour, oatmeal, tobacco, corn meal, candy and white sugar. Five years later, I was able to examine 22 of these people and without the aid of X-ray found 68 cavities."

Contract Is Awarded

EAST JORDAN (AP) — The East Jordan Board of Education has awarded a contract to a Grand Rapids contractors' firm for a new $400,000 elementary school building. More than 500 residents of the school district voted in a special election last July which resulted in approval of the building expenses.

Dutiful Policeman Nabs Wife for Bad Driving

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP)—City policeman Thomas Powell felt he had a duty and he did it—arrested his wife Denise.

He gave her a citation for careless driving and causing an accident. No one was hurt.

Powell said his wife posted $10 bond in police court, then forfeited it without trial—and that she "still was a little burned up" at him.
