

Loop-System Traffic Plan for City Revealed

Officials Are Fearful County May Face $1 Million Deficit

Oakland County could go into the red for the first time since 1946 by the end of this year, possibly up to $1 million, several officials said today.

A soaring number of welfare cases which the county must care for is the biggest factor pushing the county toward the deficit.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, told the Ways and Means Committee yesterday that $497,174 is left in the 1958 budget to pay nine months of welfare bills.

"And I expect this to be gone by June 20," Moore said.

With this in mind, and considering the present disbursements for welfare, Moore predicted a $1,161,304 deficit by Dec. 31.

But very few are voicing much alarm over this possibility. "I'm not going to push the panic button," declared veteran Royal Oak Supervisor Fred W. Smith, chairman of the Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee.

If the county has a deficit—and officials have mixed emotions whether it will—it will mark the first time in 12 years that Oakland County has closed its books for a year owing money.

The county struggled between 1933 and 1946 to erase a $20 million debt mostly incurred during the depression.

Moore said borrowing against taxes (tax anticipation notes) might have to be resorted to to ease the county out of any deficit. It would mark the first time such financing has been used in the county.

"I see no other way," stated Moore. "There are no funds available that I know of at this time that we could borrow from."

The predicament was revealed after committee members read a proposed 1959 budget of $12,762,280. Welfare cases made the total climb more than two million dollars over the present budget.

Allocated in the tentative budget is $2,000,000 for direct relief (welfare). "The way it's going now," said Moore, "this might not be enough."

But an optimistic Smith predicted that the welfare drain would soon taper off, making the appropriation sufficient. The veteran of 25 years on the Board of Supervisors expressed no alarm over the deficit possibility.

SEEN IT A LOT WORSE

"I have seen it a lot worse. Three or four times worse. And I don't think we should cross the bridge on what to do until we get there," Smith said.

Committee member David Levinson called for a "cut to an absolute minimum" of county services and spending to ward off any chance of a bigger deficit.

"We must be as careful as we can with the money until we get a better picture where we stand financially," he said.

7 Inches of Rain Lashing Florida

Apalachicola in North Hardest Hit as Sport Events Are Called Off

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A spring storm dumped more than seven inches of rain on Apalachicola yesterday, while most of north and central Florida got a drenching.

Sporting events were canceled wholesale.

Showers also fell today. Winds at sea picked up.

Tallahassee received 5.53 inches during the 24 hours ended 6 a.m. Jacksonville recorded 4.68.

Other rainfall totals were: Cross City 1.35 inches; Ocala .96; Orlando 2.55; Pensacola 2.39; Sarasota 1.5; Tampa .83; Vero Beach 1.35 inches.

A cold front is due to cross the state tomorrow. It will bring more showers.

A broad precipitation belt extended across the southern part of the country east of the Rockies. More snow flurried in northern New England. Snow again fell in the northern Rockies and rain continued in the Pacific Northwest, mostly along coastal areas of Oregon and Washington.

Police Shooting Rebels on Sight as Strike Flops

35 Reported Dead in Cuban Uprising; No Gas or Lights in Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Police shot on sight today as they pressed a roundup of rebels whose call for an armed uprising and general strike against President Fulgencio Batista flopped.

About 35 persons were killed in the abortive uprising—which was confined to Havana and Matanzas, 63 miles to the east—and in the police hunt which followed.

The continuing police search was expected to push the death toll higher.

Havana was quiet. The heart of the city was without lights or gas because of rebel bombs. The government claimed quiet prevailed throughout the island.

Rebel leader Fidel Castro's lieutenants said they would try again to overthrow Batista, "probably very soon."

Instead of the 50,000 armed revolutionists the rebel chieftain had said would rise up, probably less than 200 answered the call.

The rebels insisted the 2½-hour outbreak had been launched as a rehearsal for the long-promised all-out attack.

But they were shocked and bitter that the public failed to heed their strike call, broadcast from briefly captured radio and television stations.

In the government cleanup, heavily armed national police shot to kill any motorist suspected of carrying weapons.

Two men were hauled from an automobile carrying 119 gasoline bombs and slain. Another was shot down when he hurled a gasoline bomb at a police car.

By the time Havana quieted down around midnight, at least 29 rebels had been counted dead in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Sound Barrier Gives Before Roaring Jet

Ever wonder how it feels to break the sound barrier by traveling faster than 760 miles an hour?

Or what it's like seven miles up where temperature is about 40 degrees below on a nice day?

Or how it feels to be a target for an unseen gunner 60 miles away popping at you with radar for his sights?

For Small Cars at Willow Run

Rumor GM to Open Plant

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Times said today that General Motors plans to open a new plant at Willow Run airport within the next year.

The Times said the plant will employ 3,500 to 4,000 workers.

There was no immediate comment from General Motors. The Times said the project has been disclosed to a Michigan congressman, whom it did not name, and to a state agency in Lansing.

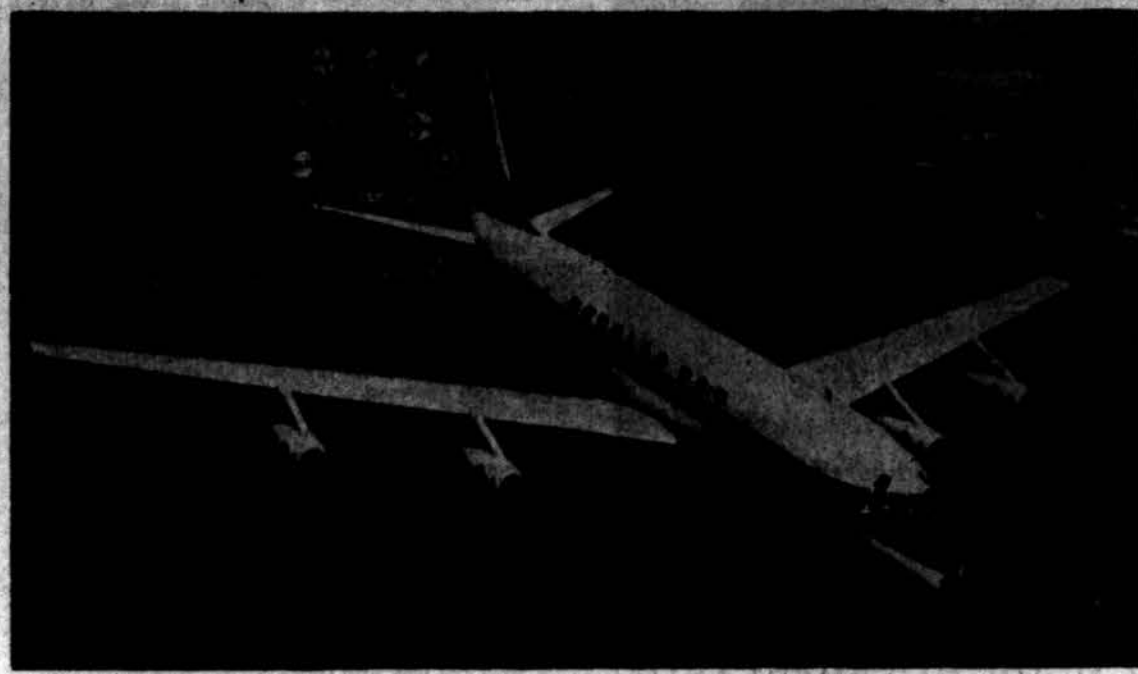

The Times speculated the plant would build small model cars.

It said the plant "has been confirmed officially by a state agency head who asked not to be quoted pending a GM announcement."

"Two GM officials were in my office yesterday," he (the agency head) said, "and told me about the new plant, how many it would employ and when it would open."

"However, they shied away from any conversation having to do with the type of manufacturing."

New American-Built Jetliner Ready for Tests

DOUGLAS DC-8 — The Douglas Aircraft company's first DC-8 jetliner stands outside the hangar where it was built, in Long Beach, Calif., ready to undergo extensive ground tests before getting its first flight next month. The company has announced it has orders for 138 of the craft from airlines in this country and abroad.

Charges Hoffa Aids Gangland

Rackets Counsel Says Teamster's Power Linked With Underworld

DETROIT (AP)—Teamster boss James Hoffa's rise to power has helped the underworld get a stronghold on America's economy, says Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee.

"In his rapid rise to power in the Teamsters Union, Hoffa obviously found it necessary or profitable to align himself in many areas with elements of the American underworld," Kennedy said here last night.

"With his ascendancy to the position of international president of the Teamsters, this association has had the effect of placing the underworld at the very jugular of the American economy," he told a meeting of the Notre Dame Club of Detroit.

Kennedy said the Teamsters' mutual aid pact with the International Longshoremen's Assn. is dangerous, adding:

"Had it not been for the intervention of (AFL-CIO President) George Meany there would have been an alliance of these two unions several years ago. 'Now, out of the AFL-CIO and beyond the pale of the legitimate American trade movement,' Kennedy said, 'Hoffa is free to consummate his plans of a pact to control all transportation.'"

Rain May Come. Bring Little Change

Mostly cloudy with a chance of rain but little change in temperature is the prediction for Pontiac by the U. S. Weather Bureau tonight and tomorrow.

The low tonight will be around 30-34 degrees.

Showers are possible Friday with the high reaching 46-50. Rain is expected again late Sunday or Monday.

The lowest reading preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 28 degrees. The thermometer registered 45 at 2 p.m.

U. of M. Pair Finds Cubans Inhospitable

By JIM ELSMAN AND BART HUTHWAITE

DETROIT (AP)—As reporters for the campus Michigan Daily and students of political science, we set out from Miami, Fla., six days ago to get the real facts on the Cuban revolt from rebel Fidel Castro himself.

We were weary of rumors and "fragmentary reports" from that strife-torn country.

We returned to Miami Tuesday, lame from sleeping on the concrete floor of a cell, starved for a decent meal, badly needing a bath and a shave and with little to report except those suspicious Cubans are downright inhospitable these days.

We flew to Santiago Sunday, observing fires from seven burning groups of homes and buildings on the way. Our baggage was searched thoroughly and we were questioned at Santiago, but we finally were allowed to proceed to our hotel. We had been there less than an hour when the door of our room burst open and three men came in, all armed.

Off we were hustled to the government's heavily fortified Montado barracks. We were searched and then shoved into a cell where we were held incommunicado. There was no furniture, no cots, no water, no accommodations whatsoever.

Our questions about why we were being held went unanswered by passing guards. Plates of inedible food were shoved in to us twice in the 20 hours we were there.

From the cell we observed soldiers passing, armed to the teeth. A tank and three armored cars rumbled by. New troops were being drilled in the yard. It was apparent that intensive mobilization was going on.

Airport Funds Face Big Slash

Senate Proposal Could Mean $200,000 Less for City Terminal

Pontiac's federal-aid airport improvement program this year would be cut $200,000 under an appropriations bill before the Senate in Lansing.

Pontiac Municipal Airport is earmarked for $20,000 under an existing program recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee, totaling $743,000 and involving no general funds as in previous years.

The federal government has already promised Pontiac $140,000 if the state and city would match that with $70,000 apiece, making a total of $280,000 that would go mostly for a new terminal building and tower.

Under the new state proposal, the federal share would only be $40,000, the city share $30,000 and the state share $20,000.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said he had not been advised of the Lansing development and could not comment on it.

The federal aid program is financed 50 per cent from federal sources, 25 per cent by the state and 25 per cent from local sources.

The appropriations committee put into its bill only restricted revenues that are derived chiefly from the state tax on aviation fuel. It also recommended a reduction from $315,000 to $125,000 in the state-local improvement program in order to free more money for the federal aid projects.

That would make total authorized spending on airport projects $906,000, or about one-quarter million dollars less than the figure sought by the State Aeronautics Department.

5-Year Project Expected to Cost 8 to 10 Million

Proposal Includes New Thoroughfares, Grade Separations, Underpass

By PETE LOCHBILER

Major new thoroughfares and relief for downtown traffic congestion were outlined today at a preview of Pontiac's $17,000 traffic study.

Highlights of a five-year development plan, costing an estimated 8 to 10 million dollars, were spelled out at City Hall before representatives of local, county, state and metropolitan area interests.

The consulting firm of George W. Barton and Associates of Evanston, Ill., outlined improvements it thought would bring Pontiac streets up to date for the next 15-20 years. The study itself should be ready soon. It was financed by the Downtown Pontiac Assn., a new civic group.

Featured in a summary the firm prepared for today was a new loop system that traffic could use to cross town without going through the crowded central business district.

The proposed new interstate highway should mostly bypass Pontiac to the east, cutting through the northeast corner, it recommended.

There should be two new thoroughfares on the west side—one north-and-south, it said, and the other east-and-west; a new western entrance to Pontiac under the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks; more grade separations, and a new road to reach Woodward avenue from the east side.

Sixty per cent of downtown traffic is through-traffic, the summary said. Considering new routes for through traffic "essential" to a modernized street system, the summary called for a perimeter plan skirting the downtown area.

"The effects of this new thoroughfare will be to route through-traffic around the central business district, improve circulation within the downtown area, and make possible the development of the shopping center concept with adequate parking."

The route recommended is triangular. It generally follows Park street and its northward extension on the east, a new east-west route in the vicinity of School street on the north, and Cass avenue on the west.

Under the proposal, Cass would be extended along the Grand Trunk right-of-way as far south as Saginaw at the Parke street intersection.

Of three interstate routes considered, the consultants and the State Highway Department felt the best would pass Pontiac one-half to three-quarters of a mile east of Opdyke road, swing westward through the city at Ferry street and Walton boulevard, then pass out of the city northward toward U.S. 16 and M-16.

This is the route once acceptable to the city for the old turnpike proposal. The summary said it warranted "the most detailed study" as far as traffic demand, right-of-way, and other factors. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Civil Defense Reviews Disaster Plan With Other Agencies

Move to Alert Public as Tornado Season Arrives

It's tornado season again and Pontiac civil defense officials are taking steps to alert the public.

Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager and deputy civil defense director, met this week with heads of the police and fire departments, the Oakland County I. & E. Corps and the Pontiac Ground Observer Corps.

The area's natural disaster defense plan was reviewed and police ground observers placed on alert for possible tornado threats this month and next.

Much of the disaster plan involves warning the public beforehand, Stierer indicated.

Whenever the U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts possible tornadoes, police are to man their skywatch post atop the Public Safety Building and the observer corps will do the same at their own on the Oakland County office building.

REPORT CHANGES

Observers have the job of reporting symptomatic changes in the weather. The weather bureau uses this information in compiling its predictions.

If a tornado were to be sighted heading here, Pontiac residents would be warned in advance. The warning would be echoed all over the state.

The work of similar observers in other cities, especially those west of here, would help alert Pontiac, too.

Tornadoes usually travel from west to east. If one were reported, for example, near Ann Arbor, Pontiac residents would know it could head here.

Whenever there are tornado warnings, which are issued by the weather bureau when a tornado has actually been sighted, the Police Department will serve as communications center.

This is what civil defense people will be doing during tornado alerts. What are you supposed to do?

PAMPHLETS TELL STORY

Stierer has a wealth of pamphlets and wallet-size cards at City Hall that give you that information in handy form.

Sixty thousand of the cards were distributed with water bills last year, but there's still a supply on hand if any organization requests some, he said.

Among the pamphlets is one by the Michigan Office of Civil Defense showing how to construct a tornado-proof lean-to in your basement.

In general, here's some advice from the Michigan Office of Civil Defense:

If you are in open country when a tornado comes, lie flat on the ground or, preferably, in a ditch or other depression.

PARIS — Traffic accidents in France take about 8,000 lives a year. One eighth of the fatalities are children.

To help reduce that figure by making children more aware of traffic dangers, Prevention Route, a private highway safety group, has organized a contest for high school students.

Each entrant must write a composition in which traffic rules and the reasons for them are made clearly understandable to children. A new car will be given to the student who writes the best paper, and his teacher will also be given an automobile.

West's TV Heroes Were Really Villains

NEW YORK (INS) — Some of the gents who shoot it out nightly on the TV screens of America and are revered by all red-blooded American viewers and the people at Trendex were, in truth, quite often villainous mugs.

Nyle H. Miller, secretary of the Kansas State Historical Society, of Topeka, has been quietly shooting holes through the scripts which are being palmed off as authentic history of the Old West.

Miller checked the back issues of the Wichita Eagle, after one lone series of the Wyatt Earp films had pictured its publisher, Marsh Murdock, as following the brilliant police work and gun-play and devoting reams of space in his paper to same. Turned out there were just a couple of short, laconic pieces.

The only favorable item the Wichita Beacon seems to have carried on Earp appeared in the May 12, 1875 edition:

"On Tuesday evening of last week, Policeman Earp in his rounds ran across a chap whose general appearance and get up answered to a description of one W. W. Compton, who was said to have stolen two horses and a mule from the vicinity of Leroy, in Coffey County. Earp took him in tow, and inquired his name.

"He gave it as 'Jones.' This didn't satisfy the officer, who took Mr. Jones into the Gold Room on Douglas avenue, in order that he might fully examine him by lamp light.

"Mr. Jones did not like the looks of things, lit out, running to the rear of Denison's Stables. Earp fired one shot across his poop deck to bring him to, to use a nautical phrase, and just as he did so, the man cast anchor near a clothes line, hauled down his colors and surrendered without firing a gun . . ."

Other accounts of Earp in the Beacon refer to his being fired from the police force for an attack on one William Smith, candidate for city marshal, and fined $30 and costs. He was originally hired as one of two policemen on April 21, 1875, and they served under a marshal and assistant marshal.

A year later, still 'way down the line, Earp made news again. The town's police committee recommended that the "scrip of W. Earp . . . be withheld until all money collected by him for the city be turned over to the city treasurer."

Mr. Miller then takes up the case of Bat Masterson, another treasured hero of the West who wound up, tame, on the sports desk of the New York Morning Telegraph.

Quoting from the Dodge City (Kans.) Times of June 9, 1877, the historian tells of the efforts of Marshal Larry Deger to run in a visiting cattleman named Bobby Gilmore, who was getting too big for his chaps:

"Bobby walked (for the dog house) very leisurely—so much so that Larry felt it necessary to administer a few paternal kicks in the rear. This act was soon interrupted by Bat Masterson, who wound his arm affectionately around the marshal's neck and let the prisoner escape. Deger then grappled with Bat, at the same time calling up the bystanders to take the offender's gun and assist in the arrest.

"Policeman Joe Mason appeared upon the scene at this critical moment and took the gun. But Masterson would not surrender yet, and came near getting hold of a pistol among several which were strewn around over the sidewalk.

"Half a dozen Texas men came to the marshal's aid and gave him a chance to draw his gun and beat Bat over the head until the blood flew . . . Bat Masterson seemed possessed of extraordinary strength, and every inch of the way was closely contested, but the city dungeon was reached at last, and in he went. If he had got hold of his gun before going in, there would have been a general killing."

Miller, with the suggestion of a sigh in his prose, concludes, "Within four months Bat was on the Dodge City police force. That's the way it sometimes went with some of these characters who served the West as police officers. For a time some of them were being hunted, then the bad guys were redistributed, and they did the hunting. Maybe that's how this game of cops and robbers got started."

And why Messrs. Sullivan, Allen, Sinatra and a few others are the first persons in medical history to develop ulcers from a mirage of the truth.

Cross-Eyed Headlights Can Penetrate Fog

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U-P)—Cross-eyed headlights and special tail lights would help solve the vexing and dangerous problem of driving on fog-blanketed highways, say University of Michigan researchers.

Vision researchers already have defeated the problem in a black-box model which recaptures foggy expressway conditions. Inside the eight-foot rectangular model are a miniature highway and several tiny autos equipped with lights.

By squinting through a peephole at one end of the box, you can see clear night time driving conditions as you picture yourself behind the wheel of your own car.

Switches outside the box change the intensity of lights on cars inside. Various situations are created as the switches are manipulated.

To lend a tone of eerie reality, artificial fog is blown into the model. Suddenly, as a switch is flicked, you drive into a fog patch. More switches are pushed and you now can see almost clearly through the fog. The change is amazing to one peering into the model.

Dr. H. R. Blackwell, director of the university's vision research laboratory, said the principles applied in the model can be used on highways to decrease accidents due to fog.

He proposed equipping cars with "cross-eyed," narrow-beamed headlights and "beamed up" tail lights for special use in fog-bound traffic. Narrow beams pierce the gloom better than standard lights used in clear-night driving, Blackwell added.

The more powerful tail lights also could penetrate fog, Blackwell said. He explained that many fog-caused accidents set off a chain reaction with a series of cars plowing into the one ahead.

At the same time, he said, highway markings should be retro-reflective. They would flash the light from a car back to the driver although he might not see the road through the "soup." Overhead lights also would be narrow beamed and directed to hit the roadway at a 90-degree angle to prevent glare.

"This principle is much like a plane landing on a foggy runway," said Blackwell. "The runway is bordered with pencils of light aimed at the incoming plane. The pilot can't see the runway itself, but he can see its outline."

The cross beamed headlights would diminish much of the "scatter" created when a light is shined directly into a fog bank, the U. of M. researcher said.

"Scatter," Blackwell said, "is a veil of light — lighted particles in the air — blocking what you're trying to see up ahead."

"What light gets through to the target also becomes scattered after it is reflected on the way back to the driver."

Much of the scatter caused by fog can be eliminated and the fog penetrated through use of the U. of M. methods, Blackwell said.

The added "seeing devices" on autos would be practical and relatively inexpensive, he said.

The cross-eyed headlights and the powerful tail lights probably could be operated by a dashboard switch, Blackwell said.

Blackwell has been working on his project for four years. He has been aided by Prof. B. S. Pritchard, who developed much of the model used for simulating driving-in-fog situations. The make-believe fog was first manufactured at Pennsylvania State University, scene of similar experiments.

Green lenses for eyeglasses were used for the first time in England in 1561.

Britain's By-Elections Show Voting Change

In Britain's 1955 general election the Liberal Party won only six Commons seats and was so weak that it had only 110 candidates for the 625 seats in Parliament.

Liberals had held the prime ministership for most of the years between 1868, when the name "Liberal" replaced "Whig," to 1924 when Labor first took over. Like our own Federalists and Whigs, the Liberals had dwindled away.

However, it now looks as though the Liberal Party is staging a mild comeback as a force to be reckoned with. In one of three by-elections for the House of Commons, a Liberal grandson of former Prime Minister Asquith won a seat from the Conservative (Tory) party. In two other by-elections Labor took over Conservative seats when their members ran a poor third to the Liberals.

Britain's non-socialists are splitting their votes between Conservatives and Liberals. There is said to be widespread dissatisfaction and a search for a middle ground—something new to take the place of the old order of Conservatives and Labor. The Tory Government appears to have alienated a large number of Britons by its action in the Suez crisis.

If the protest vote is carried over into the next general election, Labor might come to power through a divided opposition or by the possibility of governing by coalition. Both Tories and Laborites are hoping that many who now vote Liberal in by-elections merely as a protest, will go to one or other major party in the next general election.

Under a two party system, clear cut majorities make for better government.

Higher Postage Urged to Lower Big Deficit

The key question in postal increases is whether the rate for out-of-town letters should be five cents as voted by the Senate, or four cents as voted by the House. Both bills agree on increases of from three to four cents for local letters and 60 per cent for second class mail, including newspapers and magazines.

Foes of higher postal rates wrongly argue that increasing postage would be the same as raising taxes and that this recession period is no time to increase mail rates.

Currently the Post Office Department is running at a loss of $700 million a year. This deficit is paid by all taxpayers who, since World War II, have covered $6 billion in postal losses.

Actually 75 per cent of first class mail is business mail and most of the increase would be paid by commercial users and not by the "little fellow" as opponents claim. Higher postal rates, therefore, could mean a tax cut, certainly not an increase.

The Senate bill would raise an additional $700 million and the House $525 million. The larger amount is needed in view of the long overdue raise voted for postal workers and the need for modernization and mechanization of the service.

Battleship Disappears From Naval Operations

The United States is without a battleship for the first time since 1895. The reliable, fundamental old Naval wagon is obsolete and it's relegated to the side lines by carriers and submarines.

This seems almost impossible.

Any man connected with the Navy would be justified in declaring the time could never come when a big battleship wouldn't be the basis of all naval operations. The battleship was the protector of everything else.

But now it's gone. The airplane carrier could sink battleships as fast as you put them in action. And what could the battleships do by way of retaliation? The answer is disappointing. They could lob 16 inch shells across a 15 or 20 mile radius. But the carrier might be stationed 40 miles away—or 400—and what are mere miles to a jet?

And then, there's always the modern submarine.

So, the old battleship retires. To many present and former Naval men, this will come as a blow, but it's part of the price of progress.

The Man About Town Want Your Photo?

You'll Get It if You Are First to Make the Request

Skilicious: A new word, added to the local vocabulary the past winter by the Pontiac area hills.

Dozens of Pontiac and other Oakland County people are shown in 18 small original photographs given me by my good friend, Jack Clapp of Commerce. Each shows a float in a centennial parade in Pontiac 40 odd years ago. My first automobile was in that parade, quite elaborately decorated, to represent Holly, but it did not merit a photograph.

If you were in one of those floats you probably are shown in its picture. Would you accept it as a gift from Man About Town? First requests get them. Phone FE 2-8181; extension 28, forenoons.

Coming along with his baseball contest entry, a letter from Blair Stockinger of Waterford, says: "The Detroit Tigers are OK. They got the losing streak out of their systems in the Grapefruit League."

A woodchuck, rolled out of its underground nest in some excavation work Wednesday near Rochester, is reported by Dick Walterhouse as taking no chances — it was still in hibernation.

After a casual survey of some examples of the masculine spring togery, one of my office sweet things says, "In the spring a young man's fancy."

A sure way to get in line for that $250 prize is to make your entry in our baseball contest before you forget it. Or don't you need $250?

Among the families, the members of which once were quite common in the Pontiac area, are

Mr. and Mrs. Beaver.

Thought extinct here a few years ago, they now are returning. Some of their lumbering and dam building is in evidence on our streams. In pioneer days they were so numerous that the community and (then) post office of Big Beaver were named for them. Maybe we'll later have a "Little Beaver."

David Lawrence Says:

People DO Understand Vital Issues

WASHINGTON — Sometimes a casual remark expresses a great truth. It has more meaning than ponderous and lengthy pronouncements. Such a bit of wisdom of profound significance came from the lips of President Eisenhower in an extemporaneous address on Wednesday to a visiting group from abroad when he said:

"I have tried to talk a great deal in this country about people and people meeting people. I think governments are far more stupid than are their peoples."

Thus the Communist regime does not permit free access by the American people to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. America, for instance, lets the Soviet ambassador roam around this country making speeches and appearing on television, but the American ambassador in Moscow has no such reciprocal privilege.

America permits newspapermen generally to come to Washington from the Iron Curtain countries, but the Soviet government picks and chooses whom it will admit and confines the selection to a small number.

It is a fact that the Soviet and Chinese empires are the only important areas of the world where wartime censorship still exist.

Eisenhower is right that there are governments in the world which are more stupid than their peoples. He might also have said that there are governments which are truly afraid of their own peoples and keep them under the tyrannical control of a personally operated police force.

In this respect the world sees little difference today between the dictatorships of Hitler and Mussolini and that of Khrushchev although the latter, by a more adroit use of the air waves and the help of a worldwide apparatus of Communist agents, does manage to carry on campaigns of deception.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Adelle Davis Had Scoop on Nutrition for Health

Let's Cook It Right. Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit. Let's Have Healthy Children. Vitality Through Planned Nutrition.

These are titles of books by Adelle Davis. In my library they are everyday reference works.

I discovered Adelle Davis—well, no, she was a going institution before I knew her—in a pathology conference of a hospital staff (I attended as a guest). In the course of discussion of some hospital cases, the chairman called upon Miss Davis for some remarks.

"Miss Davis?" I questioned. "What a nerve..."

But on hearing that the young woman had to say about diet and nutrition, I changed my mind. "She knows nutrition!" I decided.

When Miss Davis finished, several doctors undertook to make a few scientific adjustments or corrections of her suggestions—and their efforts to air their knowledge of nutrition were ludicrous.

In the past few years many physicians have acquired practical knowledge of nutrition, but others are still in the 19th century in regard to such questions as calcium deficiency and iodine deficiency.

These backward practitioners are mostly trick specialists and or "clinic" racketeers. They like to warn that "too much calcium" may cause hardening of arteries or stiffening of the joints or that it is dangerous to take an adequate daily ration of iodine or even to use iodized salt, for it may produce "toxic" goiter or hyperthyroidism.

There is no basis in fact for these fancies. Indeed, not only simple goiter in school children but also "toxic" (exophthalmic) goiter, with staring eyes, tremor, rapid heartbeat, goiter has become less prevalent in the Great Lakes Basin since iodized salt came into popular use.

The preponderance of scientific evidence is that increased daily intake of calcium prevents or ameliorates stiffness of joints and early arteriosclerosis.

Signed letters, not more than one each or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Prospective Writers Get Advice

Melba wants to be a successful writer. But notice how she uses her plots as a means of indulging her own craving for romance and travel. That is a bad start for an author. Instead, follow Mark Twain's plan and write about home folks and your own workaday experiences. For further hints, send for the booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-376: Melba D., aged 20, aspires to be a fiction writer.

"Dr. Crane, I have taken short story courses at college and have sent off a dozen manuscripts," she began, "but I always get rejection slips."

"My sorority sisters think my stories are wonderful. They are. They are romances laid in China or Singapore and other exotic places."

"So I think the public would like them. Do editors have a grudge against new writers? If not, why don't my stories get accepted?"

ADVICE TO WRITERS

Editors welcome new writers, just as baseball managers welcome young pitchers and other star players.

But a lot of aspiring writers fail to imitate the usual baseball method. There the player usually must work up from the bush leagues and the various minor league teams before reaching the Yankees or Braves.

In the case of aspiring writers, they often try to tackle the literary "Yankees" first, and thus they send their material to the slick paper magazines.

By law of averages, a novice cannot expect to beat the cham-

'Workers More Concerned With Troubles Than Work'

Has the public lost confidence in the quality of goods it would willingly buy? For 22 years we've had a daily ration of strikes in the newspapers, the pitiful tale of grievances of the poor worker.

Well, the poor worker seems to be spending all his working hours thinking of his troubles instead of putting quality in his work.

With autos, for instance, hardly a day goes by without news of a strike in a car plant. Associate this with the expense a car owner goes through these days and one can see why there's reluctance to buy a car or appliance.

I want to thank The Pontiac Press for publishing such an informative article as to how to gain admittance into my home. 'Judge Not Lest You Be Judged'

The public has jumped at Lana Turner like a pack of howling wolves. Have you ever read "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her?"

I feel the deepest sympathy for Lana Turner, but I feel a deeper sadness for people who are so willing and quick to stone her. She's paying dearly for her mistakes right now, but the time for judgment of her judges will come later.

Warns Drivers to Be on Guard

This is a warning to innocent drivers to be on guard against violators. We were involved in an uncalculated accident in our driveway. The other driver had been drinking and was endangering the lives of his three passengers. Besides drinking, he was speeding, driving recklessly and carrying alcoholic beverages in his car. As far as I know he wasn't even given a violation ticket. Why do the police departments specify safety if it isn't enforced by them? What's happening to our rights of protection?

Mrs. Wilma J. Aldrich
Auburn Heights

'Why Not Let FDR Rest in Peace?'

It is wishful thinking to speak of having another FDR. He was too wonderful to be matched. Why not let him rest in peace? He was one of our most popular and beloved Presidents, yet the minority who didn't like him continue to make derogatory and false statements about him. But they can't disprove facts or history. I say drop the subject. It's boring to look at the column and so frequently see some stupid remark such as "FDR got us into 'wah,'" etc.

Mrs. Petersen

Another Defends Holiday Request

Considerable furor seems to have ensued because City Hall employees request to work on Veterans' Day instead. There are good reasons for this and over 90 per cent of employees approved it, including several veterans. The only other businesses closed in observance of Veterans' Day are banks and some government offices. Even schools are open.

Veterans' Day hasn't been discontinued nor has the calendar been changed. If it's as important a holiday as some writers believe, let's make it a complete holiday with all businesses and offices closed for the day. As city employees we feel our patriotism and loyalty are as great as that of any citizen.

Eating is important, as... The doctors always tell... Breakfast, lunch and dinner meals... To keep your body well... Food may not appeal to you... Or you may want to diet... But it is a necessity... And you cannot deny it... You need those certain calories... To keep you going on... From sunrise to sunset, and... Until another dawn... The least that you must do is eat... A reasonable portion... So that your body will not be... A horrible distortion... Whatever else you do each day... In moments slow or fleet... Remember what the doctors say... And get enough to eat.

President Speaks Firmly on Buying and Defense

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has spoken very firmly on buying things and streamlining the Defense Department although what he says one day may not sound exactly like what he said some previous day.

He has talked on both subjects at his news conferences over a period of months, starting last October.

Oct. 30—At this time, before the recession had deepened, he was asked for advice to housewives and consumers on how to cope with rising prices. He said: "I just believe in a period of rising prices like in any other thing, people should attempt to purchase less than when prices are going down."

Between then and March the recession got deeper and prices went higher.

March 5—Eisenhower said: "I believe, of course, that the upturn in our economy will be the result of millions of citizens making their purchases, having greater confidence."

March 25—He said: "I believe that the American public now should be buying on the basis of the worth of the product that is offered them." He suggested business do a better packaging and advertising job to encourage buying.

(On April 7 Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, speaking at the opening of a savings bond drive, urged people to buy bonds. He said those doing so are "simply temporarily transferring their purchasing power to the government.")

April 9 — Asked what people should do to make the recession recede, Eisenhower said: "Buy." He was asked: "Buy what?" He said: "Anything."

Then, reminded that Anderson suggested people put their money in bonds, Eisenhower replied:

"Well, I don't say you should buy carelessly. I said . . . let's be selective . . . Let's take the things we need." He took a crack at manufacturers, suggesting they are trying to sell things people don't want.

He has spoken twice at some length on his plans for reorganizing the Defense Department. The first time was in January while the plans were still under study.

Jan. 15—He said: "Now my personal convictions, no matter how strong, cannot be the final answer. There must be a consensus reached with Congress . . ."

I would be the last to ask for a detailed organization in which I believe because, I think, organization has got to be effective after there has passed from the scene a man who happens to have particularly strong convictions in the matter."

Asked if he would or wouldn't fight for whatever plan he finally came up with, Eisenhower didn't say yes or no but did say, "My views will be expressed to the very best I can."

Last week he sent his plan to Congress. It ran into some stiff opposition from Democrats and Republicans, particularly because of the power it would give Secretary of Defense McElroy.

April 9—Told some "very powerful men" of both parties in Congress were opposed to his plan, Eisenhower was asked how he intended to get it through Congress.

He said: "I don't care how strong or numerous they are. Here is something that is necessary, I would . . . get onto the air as often as the television companies would let me. I would keep it up until I would have the United States understanding that it is their pocketbook, first of all, more than that, it is their safety . . ."

"I don't care just who is against this thing. It just happens I have got a little bit more experience in military organization and the directing of unified forces than anyone else in the active list . . ."

Seeking Funds for Newspaper at World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of Columbia University students is campaigning to raise money for a United States newspaper at the Brussels World's Fair to compete with a Soviet-sponsored multilingual paper.

Anthony Appel-Segal of New York, a spokesman for the student group, said that appeals to foundations and corporations thus far have netted $18,000. He said a total of $130,000 is needed to provide a free, daily American newspaper at the fair between June 10 and Oct. 18.

The dozen students at the university's Graduate School of Journalism are planning an eight-page, six-column tabloid in both French and English. It would print 50,000 copies of each edition for free distribution to fair visitors.

Country Club Preferred to Work in State Senate

LANSING (AP)—When the Senate was due to reconvene at 8:30 p.m. last night after a recess for dinner, only about a dozen senators were on the floor.

After waiting around for nearly 20 minutes, leaders present agreed to call off the night session for lack of a quorum—the 18 members retained for dinner at the Lansing County Club by Gilbert Haley, lobbyist for the Michigan Automobile Dealers Assn.

India Plans to Produce Radioactive Isotopes

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today he hopes that India by the end of next year will be one of the world's biggest producers of radioactive isotopes for peaceful purposes.

Nehru said industrially backward India must get out of its "primitive cow dung age" through speedy development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

But "whatever might happen, whatever the circumstances, we shall never use atomic energy for evil purposes, and we are not interested in atom bombs except avoiding being their targets," Nehru said.

Rebel to Play Host to WACs

One of 2 Last Civil War Vets to Get Uniform of Southern General

FORT BLACKMORE, Va. (AP)—A black-haired old soldier, who in his 111 years "never saw a girl didn't like," will play host Saturday to five gift-bearing members of the Women's Army Corps.

Their presentation to "General" John Salling, one of two surviving veterans of the Civil War, will be a new uniform that will make him a top officer in dress as well as in title.

The new outfit is an authentic replica of a Confederate general's uniform—made of summerweight material and loose in the waist as the "general" ordered.

The uniform was the result of newspaper stories last year in which Salling complained his wool Confederate uniform was "just too hot" for summer wear.

After reading of the spry old soldier's complaint, members of the Women's Army Corps at Ft. Myer, Va., formed a committee and collected contributions from 150 members of the two WAC companies on the base.

Money in hand, the Wacs set about ordering the uniform. They combed the archives of the Library of Congress until they found an adequate description of the uniform worn by Confederate generals. Strangely, their greatest difficulty was finding an accurate description of Confederate gray. It turned out to be a powder blue—not gray.

Armed with a bolt of cloth, yards of gold trimming and Salling's measurements—"I'm 6-1 and weigh about 165 pounds, . . . Be sure the pants are large enough in the waist. . . . At least 38 inches . . . as I like them loose"—a tailor set to work.

The finished product will be presented to Salling at the home of his daughter Mrs. H. A. McCamey, with whom he lives at the nearby community of Slant.

Salling still has a good memory, a strong voice and a healthy shock of black hair—a result, he says, of never washing it.

Torrid Letters to Stompanato Give Hint

Was Lana's Love for Suitor Cooling?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Was Lana Turner's love for Johnny Stompanato cooling months before her handsome underworld boy friend was knifed to death in the actress' home?

Her letters to the 32-year-old onetime bodyguard, of ex-gambler Mickey Cohen imply that.

So does an interview with the owner of the hotel in Acapulco, Mexico, where Miss Turner and Stompanato vacationed for two months.

Police say they are satisfied with the story that the husky ex-Marine was stabbed to death last Friday by Miss Turner's daughter Cheryl Crane, 14.

Cheryl told officers she plunged an eight-inch kitchen knife into Stompanato's stomach when he threatened to disfigure or kill her mother.

The latest batch of Miss Turner's letters to Stompanato, published in a copyrighted article in the Herald-Express, contained more torrid expressions of love and affection.

But the letters—written last January from Europe—also contain statements such as:

"You must let me be alone in my 'own world' for a while to rest, think, rest, think . . . I'll know when the time is right, if it ever is to be again."

Stompanato later flew from California and met the actress in Europe, where she had finished making a movie. Then they flew to Acapulco.

This surprised Teddy Stauffer, former husband of actress Hedy Lamarr, who owns the plush Villa Vera in the Mexican resort where Miss Turner and Stompanato moved into separate suites.

Stauffer said Miss Turner had written him in December saying: "It will be very strange to be by myself in Acapulco."

"I got the impression," Stauffer said in Acapulco, "that Lana had discovered that she had made a mistake in meeting the wrong fellow, and got herself into something difficult and possibly dangerous to get out of."

"It seemed like she was scared to go back to California," he added. While Stompanato was being buried in his hometown of Woodstock, Ill., police here said they were investigating a reported burglary at Stompanato's apartment.

Detective Chief Thad Brown said a clerk at the apartment house reported a window of Stompanato's apartment had been jimmied early Saturday—a few hours after Stompanato was killed.

Apparently the only thing missing, Brown said, was a shaving kit from the bathroom. He said a maid told him that the kit had contained a packet of letters.

Cohen said he acquired the letters published in the Herald-Express before Stompanato's death. "But I didn't know what they were," said Cohen. He added he turned the letters over to the newspaper because he was angry with Miss Turner for claiming Stompanato was an "unwelcome guest."

Miss Turner and Cheryl, 14, returned from Acapulco March 19. Police Chief Clinton Anderson of Beverly Hills said the day of the killing Stompanato and the blonde actress spent the afternoon shopping together. They returned to her rented mansion and a violent quarrel ensued, Anderson said.

Stompanato left the house but returned later in the evening and the argument resumed, said Anderson. He added: "Lana told him everything between them was over. Then came the threats to disfigure her and Cheryl's defense of her mother followed . . . All phases (of the story) have been checked and rechecked . . . Lana's story is true."

person. He added: "Lana told him everything between them was over. Then came the threats to disfigure her and Cheryl's defense of her mother followed . . . All phases (of the story) have been checked and rechecked . . . Lana's story is true."

Recalling Past Tornadoes

Michigan Residents Eye Sky Warily These Days

DETROIT (AP) — A tornado-conscious Michigan citizenry is becoming increasingly wary of the spring sky now that twister time is at hand.

"Every day more and more people in Michigan are becoming tornado-conscious," W. W. Oak, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit, said.

Oak said this wariness is undoubtedly due to the devastation and loss of life caused by tornadoes which belted the state in the past several years.

A death-dealing funnel dipped into the Flint area in June 1953. In its wreckage-strewn wake, the tornado left 118 persons dead. Property damage ran into the millions of dollars.

Again in April, 1956, tornadoes pounded western Michigan. Nineteen persons in the Grand Rapids area were killed and property damage again ran high.

CONCENTRATE FORCES

The Weather Bureau, law enforcement agencies, civil defense, Red Cross, radio stations, school officials, volunteers and hospitals are concentrating their forces in the event these small, highly dangerous storms touch down in the state again this spring.

The University Hospital staff at Ann Arbor is completing a review of a disaster plan.

This plan, initiated two years ago, will mobilize the resources of the University's medical center to handle emergencies throughout the southeastern portion of the state. Any tornado which causes more than 25 casualties will be judged a disaster.

Once the emergency arises, some 400 physicians will be notified to report to emergency stations.

Again this spring some 500 Kent County civil defense workers, Ground Observer Corps (GOC) men, deputies and police are marshaling to make certain forecasts reach all residents with speed and accuracy.

A network of civil defense radio monitors has been set up to bring forecasts directly to 47 schools, hospitals and industrial plants in the county.

GOC members will man 15 stations in various parts of the county. They will relay weather conditions to the air defense filter center in Grand Rapids for evaluation.

Similar plans are being finalized or reviewed elsewhere as Michigan gets set for the peak tornado months—April, May and June.

OFFERS PRECAUTIONS

The U. S. Weather Bureau says there is no universal protection against tornadoes other than caves or excavations. But it offers the following precautions if a tornado is known to be heading your way:

Persons in open country should move to right angles to its path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch or depression.

In cities, seek inside shelter, preferably in steel-reinforced buildings. Stay away from windows and out of the streets.

At home, head for the southwest corner of your basement. If possible take a portable radio with you and wait until you hear the "all clear."

The main thing is to keep calm. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that only a relatively few places in a warned area are directly affected.

Small Electronic Brain Cheaper to Operate

NEW YORK—The Bell Telephone Laboratory has developed a small "brain" — a high-speed digital computer about the size of a home television receiver and requiring less power to operate.

It is said to operate with only 9,000 electrical components and to take its instructions immediately from its memory no matter where the instruction may be stored. It has 1,024 "words" in its memory, with each word consisting of 18 binary units.

Most Adults Play Cards

NEW YORK — Nearly three in five adults play cards, but only one in four does so for money, a survey indicates. It also shows that Americans are playing cards more than ever before and that most persons play cards for social entertainment, as an exercise in skill, or to make social contacts.

Planes Aid Aussies

CANBERRA — Australians are taking to the air to develop the country's rough but valuable land for agricultural use.

In Queensland alone two-winged planes carrying a ton of fertilizer, insecticide, herbicide, or plant seeds each treated a million acres of scrub-covered land this year.

Rep. Brent Spence (D-Ky) Says:

Furnish Work to Fight Decline

By DAVID W. SECREST
WASHINGTON (INS)—The chairman of the House Banking Committee says the best way to fight the recession is to "furnish people with useful work"—but he does not mean revive the WPA.

The congressman, Rep. Brent

Spence (D-Ky), will preside over five weeks of hearings on unemployment after the Easter recess. He said in an interview he is "not worried" about increasing the national debt a little if the money is spent on good investments—like roads, water works and sewage plants.

He commented: "After all, the Aplan Way is still standing after 2,000 years. Money spent on housing is an investment in the same way. It increases our national wealth."

The chairman said he has lined up ex-President Harry S. Truman as lead-off witness for the hearings because "he is more intimate with government than any man alive—and besides, he knows how to stir up a little public interest."

Question—Mr. Spence, do you think the March figures on unemployment, showing an increase of only 25,000 over February, are significant?

Answer—"Yes. They mean the trend toward joblessness is still there. In spite of what should normally be a seasonal increase in jobs. My committee will try to find some way to remedy it."

Q—Why hold five weeks of hearings if there is a crisis? Don't you already know pretty much what is needed?

A—"Yes, but we can use these hearings to lump together a lot of legislation that has been pending for a long time. We might get out a 'depressed areas' bill to steer industry and jobs to labor surplus areas. We can put in an increase in funds for community facilities like water and sewage works. We may include some housing legislation and better credit arrangements for small business."

Q—How about a tax cut?
A—"Maybe there should be one, on the lower income brackets and small business. Of course, that's another committee."

Q—Do you think the recession is going to get worse before it gets better?

A—"I think we can straighten it out now if we approach it constructively. The trouble is the Administration is just standing by and hoping it will right itself. It won't."

Argentina Breaks Diplomatic Relations

BUENOS AIRES (U)—Argentina has broken diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic, the present home of exiled former dictator Juan Peron.

President Pedro Aramburu signed the rupture decree yesterday and Dominican Ambassador D. J. Marino Inchaustegui was given 48 hours to leave the country.

Peron came to the Dominican Republic Jan. 27 after the dictatorship that had harbored him in Venezuela was overthrown. Argentina had broken relations with Venezuela when it refused to expel Peron and only renewed them after dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez was ousted and Peron got out. Peron has said he plans to go to Europe soon.

Like fishing limits, Arizona also has a bullfrog limit. You can take legally only 12 frogs per day.

Housewives Ask Probe of High Meat Prices

GLENDORA, Calif. (U)—The leader of a housewives' boycott today asked Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) to investigate high meat prices. Mrs. Barbara Crill, 23, said she wrote to Kuchel in Washington asking that he take action to lower meat prices.

The boycott, which began April 1, has spread from Santa Barbara to Long Beach, Mrs. Crill said. In some areas, she said, it has cut market meat sales as much as 30 per cent.

"Of course, it's hard to say exactly, because the markets won't tell usually," she said.

About 200 million persons live in China's Yangtze river basin.

Drinkers Wanted

HATFIELD, England (U)—Families wanting a house near a tavern have been offered an ideal site in this Hertfordshire town—there are 28 public houses within a few minutes' walk.

North Koreans Fail to Hijack Transport

SEOUL, Korea (U)—Crewmen of a South Korean air force transport overpowered one of their mates who tried to hijack the plane at gunpoint to the Communist North today. The plane's radio man was shot and killed and the pilot and engineer were seriously wounded.

The copilot took over the controls of the C-46 and landed it in South Korea at Pyongtail, 40 miles south of Seoul.

It was the second such incident in two months. On Feb. 16, North Koreans forced the two American pilots of a South Korean civilian airliner to fly into North Korea. Later the Communists released the two Americans and 24 of the 32 others aboard, but are still holding the plane and its cargo.

Air force officials identified the captain who tried to take over the plane today only as Choi. They said he was about 30 and a native of North Pyonyang province, north of the Communist Korean capital. Part of his family lives in the North, they added.

13 Foxes Wiped Out in Organized Hunt

QUINCY, Ill. (U) — The Sunday fox hunt in Melrose township by 125 hunters netted 13 foxes. Meeting at the Melrose Chapel, the hunters divided into groups of 30 or more and trucks took the groups to the first section, a mile square, to be hunted. Lining up on the four sides of the section, the hunters walked toward the center. Shotguns were permitted. In trying to break through the lines, the foxes would get within shot-gun range and often a half dozen guns would explode at one time.

NEWARK, Ohio (U) — Lucky or unlucky, the life of Clyde Owen Reel, a welder, is full of 13s. Born on Friday, June 13, 1913, and given a name with 13 letters, Reel went to work at the age of 13.

Satellite Due to Plunge Saturday

Sputnik II Gaining in Magnitude

By DON GUY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Russia's giant Sputnik II is about to make a flaming exit from outer space. And there's belief that the Soviets scored an even greater scientific feat with their dog-carrying moon than first recognized.

The satellite, experts at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory here say, is expected to make its final plunge through the earth's atmosphere sometime Saturday afternoon or evening. The end may well be spectacular, with the satellite glowing like a meteor and visible over a wide area.

Launched last Nov. 3 with the shaggy dog Laika aboard, the half-ton weight of the Soviet moon with its canine space pioneer astonished the world. America's three circling satellites are mild-ets by comparison.

GAINS STATURE

Today some scientists at the observatory think the Soviet accomplishment of orbiting a dog with food, water and an air-conditioning system able to keep it alive for a week was actually considerably more impressive than the Western world realizes.

They believe Sputnik II is four or five times heavier than the half-ton announced by the Soviets. They figure there was a misunderstanding about the original announcement which the Russians, for reasons of their own, have allowed to remain unchallenged.

The free world assumes Sputnik II weighs a half ton because Russia announced a few hours after the launching that "the total weight of the instrument is 508.3 kilograms."

Various translations differ but all agree 508.3 kilograms was given after a listing of the instruments and dog. This is about 1,118 pounds, or well over half a ton.

Smithsonian scientists believe Russia was referring only to the weight of the instruments, dog and the essentials to keep it alive a week in space, not the over-all weight of the satellite-rocket. They believe the rocket motor, empty tanks and frame were possibly 40 feet in length and weighed several tons.

TOOK BIG ROCKET

The significance of this is that it indicates Russia must have developed a first stage rocket motor far larger than anything on American drawing boards.

Scientists say it takes roughly 1,000 pounds on the ground to orbit a payload of one pound. The 11-ton U.S. Vanguard develops 27,000 pounds of thrust to orbit a satellite the size of a handball weighing three pounds plus a final stage rocket weighing less than 50 pounds.

Russia must have developed a rocket 1,000 times more powerful if Sputnik II weighs 2½ tons or 5,000 pounds.

Even at greater efficiency than the Vanguard this means a Soviet rocket of over two million pounds thrust to put Sputnik II into orbital acceleration.

The achievement is even greater because Russia tossed away most of the extra push given by the eastward rotating earth. Their launching angle of 65 degrees to the Equator means they didn't need to utilize most of the 1,000-miles-per-hour "bonus" thrust of the spinning earth at the Equator. American launches from Cape Canaveral at 35 degrees to the Equator take advantage of most of this free thrust into space.

Scientists first suspected something was amiss aloft when they tabulated the reports of over 200 Moonwatch teams throughout the free world. The report logged the rocket of Sputnik I and Sputnik II itself as magnitude minus 1 and even minus 2. This is equal to a very bright star or the planet Venus.

By contrast Sputnik I, the 23-inch sphere, was always reported as fifth or sixth magnitude or less, barely visible to the naked eye under ideal conditions. Averaging the hundreds of sightings, scientists figured Sputnik II and the rocket of Sputnik I were both about 100 times brighter than the sphere of Sputnik I.

Bypassing the bushel basket of mathematical computation, it all adds up to this: Sputnik II is probably 100 times heavier and many times larger than all the U.S. moons blasted into orbit by the three successful firings from Cape Canaveral.

Alabama was named for the Alibamas, an Indian tribe.

No Place Like Home—Even If It's a Jail

CLEVELAND (AP)—An ex-convict who likes jail so well he steals to get back into it had to try twice before a federal judge would accommodate him.

Howard W. Schaffer, a transient who has spent 25 of his 51 years behind bars, was given a suspended sentence and fined $100 for stealing a letter from the mails. Balked at this attempt to land in jail, he went out the next day, stole another letter from a rural mailbox and triumphantly gave it unopened to police.

This time Federal Judge Paul C. Welch obligingly gave him three years.

Island Building Brings Mystery

Residents Say Rackets Boss May Use Site for Hideout or Gambling

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Rackets boss Frank (Buster) Wortman has created a mystery with a fortress-like building on an island which he made in a wooded area near Collinsville.

Interest in what Wortman plans to do with the project has been rekindled by new activity. Men are at work inside and outside the building, which had been all but deserted since it was erected a year ago. Well-dressed men driving late model cars frequently visit the site.

A Wortman associate purchased a 130-acre tract in the woods and converted the area into an island by digging a moat around it and diverting a creek into the moat.

Residents of the area think Wortman plans to use the building as either a hideout or a gambling casino. Federal agents have charged that Wortman heads a million-dollar-a-year betting operation in the East St. Louis area, just across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

Two of his associates have been indicted by a grand jury investigating his activities, but no charges have been filed against Wortman.

Wortman has denied that he owns any part of the island. But he supervised the construction, which began about the time that he was having trouble with men trying to take over his operations.

This led to speculation that he intends to use the island as a hideout. His home near Collinsville is in an exposed area.

Madison County Atty. Dick Mudge discounts the hideout rumor, however, pointing out that it can be reached only by a potholed road that offers many ambush possibilities.

"If this building is a gambling place, it will not operate," adds Mudge.

The site was purchased in the name of Sam Magin, one of the two Wortman associates indicted by the grand jury. Magin, who once managed Wortman's Padlock Tavern in East St. Louis, insists that the building is to be a boys club for Collinsville.

Magin was indicted on a charge of perjury. He is accused of lying by denying that he ever was a business associate of Wortman.

A veteran contractor estimated the cost of the island at $250,000. "Some boys club," he said.

Marines Report 11 Men, 1 Woman Enlist From Area

The Pontiac Marine Corps Recruiting Substation has announced that a total of 11 area men and one woman enlisted for duty during the month of March.

The new woman marine is Ida Suzanne Johnson, 3045 Norcott St., Keego Harbor.

Three of the 11 men were from Pontiac. They were: Clarence Bergeron, Jr., of 32 Portage St.; Richard J. Reed, of 2483 Pontiac Dr.; and Patrick H. Strahan Jr., of 10 Young St.

County enlistees were: Melvin D. Bowers, of Walled Lake; Gerald L. Connelley, of Milford; Robert L. Hutchings, of Orionville; and Freddie L. Hyten, of Auburn Heights.

The remaining March enlistees were: Larry A. Phillips, Jerry L. Herahman, Lawrence A. Durocher and Lee M. Chalton, Jr., all of Utica.

The men were flown immediately to San Diego, Calif., for 12 weeks of recruit training. The woman was sent by train to Parris Island, S. Carolina for eight weeks training.

Authorities Arrest Airmen on Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (U.P.)—The U.S. command on Formosa arrested an American airman today after an altercation in which a Nationalist Chinese major suffered a fractured skull.

Mindful of the riot which followed Army acquittal last year of a soldier who killed a Chinese, the American Embassy and the military went all out to avert a furor.

The incident involving A. I. C. Larry G. Greenway, 21, Butler, Pa., and Maj. Chang Yu-doh occurred last night near a theater in downtown Taipei. Chang was to be operated on today.

A U.S. communiqué said Greenway had been drinking and allegedly pushed the major, causing him to fall and strike his head against a concrete wall.

Ambassador Everett F. Drumwright and Vice Adm. Austin Kil Doyle, the U.S. commander on Formosa, both expressed regrets to top Nationalist officials for the "deplorable incident."

Doyle's office said he had ordered a speedy, thorough investigation so disciplinary action could be taken.

The Young Men's Christian associations in the United States total about 1,688 with about 1.8 million members.

Open 18 Coal Mines

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (U.P.)—Of the 18 new deep coal mines opened or placed in development in the United States in 1957, twelve were in West Virginia. The mines brought to 79 the number of new pits opened in the nation since 1952, an average of 15 new mines a year.

The Atlantic Ocean received its name from Mount Atlas.

Top Architects Design New Berlin District

BERLIN (INS) — When architects get together there is likely to be as much disorder and confusion as with any group of temperamental artists.

This is quite evident in Berlin's newly opened Hansa district — one of the biggest building exhibits ever held anywhere. It has been described by one acid observer as being the work of "plenty of prima donnas without a conductor."

HIGH PRICED

The Hansa district is a $16 million experimental complex of 48 buildings, ranging from one-family houses to a 17-story apartment house, designed by 57 of the world's top architects.

Whatever the artistic results, the Hansa district, built from scratch out of the bombed ruins of a cluttered old pre-war residential area, is what the world's designers have in mind for the city of tomorrow.

And the lower- and middle-income Berliners who are moving into the buildings as they are completed would have to go a long way before they could find such comfort, convenience, so much fresh air and pleasant scenery at such low prices.

REDS SOUR

East Germany's Communist rulers over in East Berlin are eyeing the Hansa district sourly, which is understandable, since it is on the edge of the Tiergarten park, only a few hundred yards away from East Berlin. The only challenge the Communists have for it are the monolithic facades along Stalinalee.

The East Berlin press has commented crabbily that the Hansa district is nothing but a propaganda gesture and that it is a place only for the newly rich — which is a rather wild accusation since no one with an income of more than $250 per month can qualify for Hansa housing.

The breath-taking construction activity and the soaring new buildings seem to be having quite a different effect on the ordinary East Berliner. On the first days of the exhibition, 40 percent of the visitors came from the Communist-ruled East.

The first sight for the Eastern visitor is the $4 million-financed Congress Hall, designed by Hugh Stubbins of Cambridge, Mass., rising near the burnt-out ruins of the Reichstag by the sector border.

The Congress Hall and a big apartment building designed by France's famed Le Corbusier both lie outside the Hansa district, but are included in the building exhibition — and both are highly controversial works.

Because of its unique design the hall has been variously described by Berliners as "the pregnant oyster." The fundamental design of the building is two huge arches which touch the ground together at their bases and soar high and wide between them.

ESSENTIALS OF FREEDOM

Architect Stubbins says this design provides "openness" and "protection, both of which are essentials of freedom."

France's Le Corbusier was to have designed one of the buildings in the Hansa district. But "Corb" wanted it to be a huge structure with 700 apartments, which would have left the 57 other prominent architects with very little to do, since the plans called for only 1,235 apartments in all.

Also, Le Corbusier insisted on the same ceiling height as in his Mediterranean buildings — 7 feet, 2 inches.

Finally a compromise was reached. Le Corbusier designed a "Berlin Type" with ceiling a foot higher and Berlin gave him a magnificent site on a hill near the Olympic Stadium, where a 527-apartment structure is now rising.

These are not the only buildings to have raised eyebrows in Berlin.

The radical apartment house designed by Brazil's Oscar Niemeyer rests on V-shaped stilts, so that the entire ground floor is open.

The fifth floor contains one huge room running the full length of the building which is for community activities. Architect Niemeyer explains that the big room is a remedy for the isolation and loneliness suffered by big city dwellers.

The Hansa district has many other experimental and luxury installations, such as floor heating, triple-glazed windows, one-and-one-half story living rooms, soundproofed floors, movable partition walls and colorful tiled exterior walls. The buildings are spread out and the spaces between them are filled with trees, grass and water.

There is something for everybody's taste. Even artists will find a special block of studio apartments waiting for them.

The special and experimental features of the Hansa district, as well as the soft, sandy soil beneath it, have raised building costs to a far higher level than is usual in West Berlin public housing.

However, with the help of firm subsidies from the West Berlin and West German governments, rents will be kept low.

Rents for the 1,235 apartments in the district vary from $11 monthly for a one-room utility flat to $40 for a five-room apartment with terrace in a building designed by America's Walter Gropius. The rents are within easy reach of white collar employees and skilled workers.

Teachers Lend Support

CLEVELAND (IN) — Children who fear the school year may be extended to a year-round operation to meet classroom and teacher shortages have an ally — the teachers. A poll at a recent school officials' convention revealed teachers look forward to a three-month summer vacation as eagerly as their pupils.

Magnolia State Flower

JACKSON, Miss.—The Southern magnolia was chosen as the State flower of Mississippi in 1900 by a vote of school children. No one else was allowed to vote. Out of 23,278 ballots cast, 12,745 were for the magnolia, whose fragrant white blooms last only two to four days. The nearest rival was the cotton blossom, which drew 4,171 votes.

Hal Boyle Says:

Abbe Lane Works Hard to Remain on Top

NEW YORK — One of the oddities of the entertainment world is that after you become a star you spend less time being one than staying one.

For every working hour a star spends in the limelight he puts in at least two more trying to remain a star.

Take Abbe Lane, for example. The peppery cinnamon head, Brooklyn's gift to the Latin tempo, has done about everything in show business except sell popcorn or carry a spear for the Metropolitan Opera.

Currently she puts in 20 hours a week onstage in a musical comedy hit, but she spends at least 40 more hours each week on offstage duties, and she's come to feel that a star has more chores than a farm boy.

"It's more work than I thought it would be," she admitted at lunch the other day. "It was easier to be in the chorus, where your big worries are over when the curtain goes down."

Her working schedule leaves her little time for the supposed glamor of a star's life.

"I'm on the go from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day doing things concerned with my career," she remarked.

Doing what? Writing business letters, going to personal appearance luncheons, being photographed and interviewed, giving benefits, reading hundreds and hundreds of new scripts, hoping to find the right one, holding conferences — usually heated — with agents.

"I have three agents—one each for television, stage, and the movies," said Abbe. "Each one naturally wants to take over your whole life, and agents are strong-minded people who know how to do it."

"Then I now have to spend an hour a day vocalizing—to exercise my voice. A singer has to warm up her voice just as a dancer does her legs."

"But I didn't have to do that when I first started. I just shook my hips for 10 minutes, and I was ready to sing."

How have she and her husband, bandleader Xavier Cugat, been able to combine separate careers so successfully?

"Cuggie bends," she answered frankly. "He can mold his career to fit mine to some extent, because he can play anywhere in the world. I have to go where the best role is. But he knew when he married me I wanted a career, and he accepted it."

"It isn't the material things I want out of life. Cugie can give me these."

"I want to be accepted as a rounded, accomplished actress."

"I want to be looked up to and respected — not be just another sex find."

Baby Sits Twins Only

PONCA CITY, Okla. (U. S. — Mrs. Inez Hotz feels she must have an affinity for young things. First, she helped raise a pair of cardinals she found in her back yard. Then a pair of baby wrens drew her attention. Finally, she discovered a pair of baby rabbits in her moss-covered flower garden.

George Washington was born Feb. 22, 1732, in Wakefield, Va.

Britons Quit Group Drawing Color Line

LONDON — Sir Laurence Olivier and Sir Adrian Boult, in London, have resigned as patrons of an international "Arts League of Youth" in South Africa because the league draws the color line, Durban reports.

Sir Adrian's letter of resignation said: "Looking at South Africa from this distance, international and inter-racial mean exactly the same thing. I am afraid I cannot feel very enthusiastic about a league that calls itself international but excludes its own colored population."

Sir Laurence explained that he tries to avoid getting into political complications and said he felt that he should resign "to avoid controversy."

Newspaperman Shares Thrill of Jet Fighters

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two articles about a flight at 40,000 feet as a target ship for aerial gunnery and about breaking the sound barrier.)

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

"I'll be the target ship," said Major D. L. Weatherwax, "and you four attack." He nodded at the F-102 Air Force pilots and then turned to me. "You and I'll take off right away."

I was excess baggage in mankind's most thrilling "target practice"—aerial gunnery at many hundred miles an hour, 40,000 feet "upstairs." It was a terrific and tremendous day that included breaking the sound barrier and goes down in my private log book as one of the top adventures of my existence.

The fighter airplanes at Wurtsmith Field at Oscoda have high priority among the world's greatest. When you stand alongside and observe the tiny wings, you wonder what gets them off the ground at all. Of course, the answer lies in the terrific speed.

They tucked me into a flying suit which is a complicated procedure because of the many gadgets and briefed me on how to operate the ejection seat. Major Weatherwax put us in a swift but steady climb and in a precious few minutes we passed 40,000 feet where he leveled out. "Now, they can go to work on us." We were scooting through the heavens at 500 miles an hour and the attacking planes were going to do about 700. Shortly, over the inter-com I understood that one was attacking.

"He'll come in from your side," said the Major. I peered out anxiously. The mere thought of something approaching at 700 miles an hour is disquieting even though it's a loyal pal. The Major nudged me. "Don't look too hard. He's 60 miles away."

"Then he isn't attacking," and I settled back in the seat.

"Sure he's attacking—60 miles isn't very far—maybe five minutes, if he's intercepting at right angles. Less, if he's a little head on."

Anyway, 60 miles is a very comfortable hunk of sky and I watched the sun, the clouds and the patches of ground. It was glorious.....fascinating.....exhilarating and finally my happy reverie was broken by the major's laconic: "He fired and passed behind us."

I hadn't seen a thing.

But suddenly I saw something else. Lansing was off to our right and ahead. Flint was on our left and slightly behind. "What," I asked curiously, "is beyond the brow, far to the right?" "That," replied the major matter of factly, "happens to be Lake Michigan."

Lake Michigan! And we were still east of Lansing. The lake was more than 100 miles away. Swiftly I looked to the left. "You can't see Huron today," said

ALL SET FOR SOME HIGH FLYING—Publisher Fitzgerald (foreground) finally is fitted into the fantastic outfit which safeguards our air fighters when they soar thousands of feet into the blue Weatherwax, sensing the attempt. "It's too cloudy." But I could see where Lake Huron rested beneath the clouds. What a view! These Magic Carpets of 1958 are ultra special and strictly the deluxe models.

In our flight up and down the great State of Michigan, we got near the new bridge at the Straits but those pesky clouds interfered again; and the dashes south carried us toward Pontiac, but I can't exactly claim I saw the old homestead.

The intercom was a constant source of conversation. Most of it I couldn't understand and a lot of it was in pure Air Force jabber-wacky that no one could comprehend unless he could do inverted Cuban eights and get "talked in."

Colonel T. M. Wilson, Commander of the 412th Fighter Group is the boss at Wurtsmith and he's a very friendly, courteous individual. He came in to say "hello" on arrival and met me during lunch. He had a great experience himself recently when his jet fighter went sour and the ejection seat was disconnected. The intrepid colonel set the thing down in a field—or a series of fields—and no one at the base knows yet just how he did it. Maybe that's one reason he's the boss.

The attacking airplanes employ a highly technical version of this incredible radar which records where their firing would have gone, had live rounds been used. And live rounds are all over the place and most of the airplanes are ready to attack without warning. (Russian papers please copy).

The radar rolls are taken back to the base and projected as a sort of outer-space movie. I can't go into too great details because some is classified and the bulk is just my sheer ignorance and failure to comprehend. I saw a roll re-played from one of our attackers and so help me, Hannah, we'd have been blown to Kingdom come. The little dot was squarely in the center of the little circle when the pilot "pulled the trigger." Some of you boys who fancy yourselves at pass shooting in the duck season would snatch yourselves bald-headed over these problems.

When we turned for home, I cautiously reminded the Major that I'd appreciate it if he'd break the sound barrier.

"That's on the agenda," said he, "We'll do it right now."

Well, we did.

"Here we go," said the pilot. "I'm going to throw in the after-burner and you'll feel a little 'umph' as we jump forward. This is it." I felt the very perceptible leap ahead.

The speedometer registers in knots per hour and when you approach the speed of sound you can use a Mach (pronounced "mock") counter. I went for that as it's more colorful and dramatic to an earth-bound clod like yours truly. The major counted briefly to make sure I understood. "We're at eight-tenths Mach... nine-tenths Mach... and now Mach 1. We're in super-sonic flight. You've broken the sound barrier and now you tell me what happened."

"Well, nothing," I said awed and puzzled, "but I'm as excited as Sam Hill." The sturdy craft whipped through the thinning with no apparent effort. There was no vibration. The entry into sonic speed was smooth, without a bump, a shock or a tremor. I glanced at the tiny wings, the sky, the clouds and the ground. Everything was normal—and I looked at the dial again. We were at Mach 1.1—better than eight hundred miles an hour.

"O.K.?" asked the Major.

"Simply marvelous," I said. "I'm speechless and I'm thrilled forever."

It was incredible; it was fantastic; and it defied analysis.....at least it defied a clumsy layman's analysis.

The atmosphere objects to having the sound barrier broken. It objects strenuously and refuses to be placated. A steady and unending succession of booms follows in the wake of the winging aircraft. Never does the air forget or forgive until you ease back under 760 miles an hour and then the militant "booms" instantly cease.

"Prepare to slow down suddenly for I'm going to kill that extra power," said the head man, and the airplane slackened perceptibly.

"I'll be saving the tremendous amount of extra fuel it burns."

"Warm enough?" he asked me once.

"Perfect. What's the temperature?"

He glanced at one of the half hundred gleaming dials. "Seventy two."

"And outside?"

He glanced at another. "Forty below."

Well, write your own ticket. Temperature inside, 72.....outside, 40 below zero.....speed, 700 miles an hour.....altitude 40,000 feet

.....Lake Michigan off the starboard bow, 125 miles away.....Lake Huron off the port side, a lesser distance, but hidden by fleecy clouds and the great state of Michigan below.....a wonderful pilot and a great companion two feet away.....things never get that perfect, anywhere.

It was almost eerie and unnatural. With "target practice" over and no more jet airplanes hurtling at us at 700 miles an hour, we were free, unhampered, and almost without ties below. And yet we were as earth-bound as though an eight mile leash had chained us to a hilltop. Gravity never left for a flickering second. Always there was the pull of those insatiable "g's."

(Editor's Note: The second article appears tomorrow and will describe landing at tremendous speed in a fighter jet through pea-soup atmosphere).

House OKs Bill to Aid Business

But Dems Delay Move to Give Tax Savings to State Corporations

LANSING (AP)—A Senate-approved bill to give Michigan corporations a 150 million dollar tax saving won overwhelming approval in the House today.

The measure was delayed on its route to the governor, however, by Democratic refusal to give it immediate effect.

Party strategists have indicated they might use it as a wedge to force adjournment of the 1958 legislative session.

The bill, a "one-shot" deal, will benefit corporations which operate an accrual rather than a cash basis. It merely moves up the date of local property tax payments from next Jan. 1 to Dec. 31.

Effect of the maneuver is to give corporations two tax payments in a single year, allowing them two deductions in computing their federal income tax bill.

Republican leaders have given signs they may call for a recess rather than an adjournment when the Legislature meets May 15 for its final day of adjournment.

The Democratic maneuver, however, postpones effective date of the tax bill until 90 days after adjournment, which may nullify it if the session continues into the fall.

Republicans have served notice they will make another try for immediate effect.

'She Was Frozen With Fear' Father Proud of Cheryl for Killing to Defend Lana

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Maybe I shouldn't say it, but I'm proud of my Cheryl."

Steve Crane, handsome ex-husband of Lana Turner, made that comment last night about their daughter Cheryl Crane.

"She only did what I, you or most anyone else would have done," he told this reporter. "She was frozen with fear and she stepped in to protect her mother."

He was referring to last Friday's fatal stabbing of Johnny Stompanato. Cheryl, 14, told police she stabbed the former Mickey Cohen henchman when he threatened to disfigure or kill her mother.

"Cheryl loves Lana," said Crane. "I know I would have moved the same way to protect my own mother in a similar situation."

Crane said he hadn't seen Stompanato in person for over a year—about the length of time the underworld figure had romanced Lana. However, Crane said he talked to Stompanato once on the phone, but denied that he had ever threatened him.

"I only told him," said Crane, "that I did not care about his romance with Lana, but that my daughter was the most important thing in the world to me and I did care what happened to her."

Crane said Stompanato told him that he was in love with Lana and reassured Crane that he had no intention of hurting the child.

Crane, now 43, became Lana's second husband in 1942, only six weeks after he got up enough nerve to ask her for a dance.

apollis socialite, said that she too was married to Crane.

Crane thought he had received a Mexican divorce, but his explanation did not satisfy an enraged Lana. She had the marriage annulled.

Lana discovered she was pregnant. She called Crane in for a conference.

"Steve was noble and gentlemanly, as always," Lana once recalled. "He insisted that we must marry for the sake of the child. And he got his previous divorce straightened out."

So Lana, six months with child, was remarried by a Tijuana, Mexico, magistrate.

Crane went into the Army the next day as a private. In 1944, when Cheryl was about 6 months old, Lana divorced Crane.

After the war Crane tried his hand at acting. Although tall and handsome as many a movie star, he had little success.

Some said he was "too nice a guy" to get ahead in Hollywood. About five years ago he put his natural assets of affability and charm to work as a restaurateur. He is now part owner of the Luan, one of the most successful restaurants in Beverly Hills.

In 1949 Crane married Martine Carol, the French actress. The wedding took place in the principality of Monaco, on the French Riviera. But that marriage, too, ended in divorce.

Crane has always maintained friendly relations with Lana because of Cheryl.

Faces 2 Counts in Stocks Case

Flint Man Accused of Selling Without License, Not Registering Co-Op

ROMEO — The former president of a defunct farmers' cooperative has been released on bond of $600 after appearing Tuesday before Justice Francis Castellucci in Mount Clemens.

Leonard E. Freeman, 43, of Flint faces examination in Macomb County justice court April 18 on two counts — selling stocks without a license and selling securities which had not been accepted by the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission.

Officers of the Romeo State Police Post said Freeman failed in his promise to redeem some $2,500 worth of shares held by 45 stockholders of the Romeo Armada area after the co-op began to fold a year ago.

Freeman did back all the shares of half of the original investors, however, police said.

After his farmers co-op failed, Freeman made public announcement that the co-op was defunct and promised to buy back the stockholders' shares. Only when one of his investors reported his dividend was late and notified State Police did the operation become subject to investigation. The investor was Jack Silkin of Lake Orion.

Freeman was arrested by Romeo State Police who learned that nearly 100 farmers had bought anywhere from 10-500 shares at one dollar each.

Checking Death of Maj. Doolittle

Tokyo Bombing Hero's Son Shot in Office at Texas Air Base

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An official report was expected today on the death of Maj. James H. Doolittle Jr., 38, son of the famed general who led the first air strike against the Japanese mainland in World War II.

Doolittle's body was found yesterday in his office. He had been shot in the right temple with a .38-caliber service pistol, found on the floor near his body, Bergstrom Air Force Base officials said.

Col. W. D. Dunham, deputy commander at the Tactical Air Command base here, said an investigation report would show whether the wound was accidental or self-inflicted. He said there was no evidence of foul play.

The major is the son of Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the raid from an aircraft carrier to bomb Japan in 1942. He was in Puerto Rico when notified of his son's death.

The major's wife Shirley said he had not been ill nor did she know of him being despondent. She said his death was unexpected.

The body was discovered at 10:30 a.m. by Capt. Homer J. Erfield, the adjutant.

Maj. Doolittle served 30 months overseas, completing 25 combat missions in the South Pacific and 25 in the European theater. He served in Korea during 1954 prior to coming to Bergstrom in March 1955.

He has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters.

Doolittle entered the Air Force in March 1941. His home was listed as San Antonio, Tex. His family resided in Austin with him.

The major was commander of the 524th Fighter-Bomber Squadron and rated as a command pilot. The squadron is equipped with the supersonic jet F104 Voodoos.

Takes Mother's Advice, Returns Home After Theft

NEW YORK (AP)—A young payroll clerk got itchy fingers, walked out of his office with envelopes containing $4,247, hopped a plane to Chicago, and then thought better of the whole thing.

He phoned back and asked: "What should I do, mama?"

"Come back and give yourself up," his mother advised.

And that's what he did, said police, who gave this account today:

Richard Thielo, 21, of Astoria, Queens, soon to be married, received the money from the crew of an armored truck to distribute to 56 employees of the Extrude Film Co., Astoria.

Notified that Thielo was coming home, detectives waited for him at La Guardia Field last night.

He handed over all of the payroll money except $30. He was arrested on a grand larceny charge.

Ike Plans Air Talk on Defense Reshuffle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will take the fight for his defense reorganization program to the people next week in a nationwide broadcast.

The White House announced today this will be the theme of an address to a luncheon meeting here next Thursday of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The speech will be carried live, starting at 1 p.m. EST, by NBC-TV and radio, CBS-TV, and Mutual radio.

Originally, the President had intended to make foreign policy his main theme in the speech.

But press secretary James C. Hagerty announced that Eisenhower has switched plans and the talk now is entitled "Why We Have to Modernize Our Defense Establishment."

Zoning Board Eyes Changes

Gets Recommendations to Reclassify Waterford Areas as Commercial

Several areas in Waterford Township were recommended for rezoning from residential to commercial when the Township Zoning Board met last night.

Some lots and acreage on Williams Lake and Airport Roads for the extension of the Waterford Drive-in Theater were recommended for the change.

There were also two lots in the Fremont Subdivision, near Sashabaw Road, recommended for off-street parking for a funeral home.

Other requested changes in the township included four lots in Macead Garden Subdivision, Williams Lake road near Hanford street, for retail commercial building.

In new business, Mrs. Bertha Bigler requested that six lots in the Ideal Country Club Subdivision, near Williams Lake Road, be rezoned for resale as commercial.

A hearing has been set for May 7 at the township hall on her request.

Action by the township board on the changes is set for May 14.

A request from attorney William E. Jackson for the rezoning of five lots on Walton boulevard at Frankman street from residential to commercial was rejected by the zoning board.

Estranged Husband Kills Wife, Daughter

DETROIT (AP)—Shot between the eyes with a rifle as they slept, a mother and her 4-year-old daughter were killed today in suburban Highland Park. The woman's husband was found dead, a bullet from the same rifle through his head.

Victims were Kermit Hopper, 27; his wife, Hulda, 26, and their 4-year-old daughter, Joyce.

Policewoman Anna Mae Ambli said Mrs. Hopper had dated a man now held in jail on a bad check charge and had received letters from him.

She said the Hoppers had been estranged with the husband starting divorce action, but apparently had become reconciled in the last 10 days.

The mother and daughter were found dead in their beds. Hopper, fatally wounded, was found on the kitchen floor.

The tragedy was discovered by Mrs. Hopper's sister, Esther Hixon, 22, when she returned from a movie shortly after 2 a.m.

Thief's Getaway Bike Leads to His Downfall

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP)—John Kavanagh, 21, stole a bicycle to make his getaway after a raid he planned on a jewelry shop. He parked the bike at the curb and went into the shop.

Michael Smith, riding past on the top deck of a bus, recognized his stolen bike, which was painted an unmistakable combination of red and yellow. Smith got off the bus, mounted the bike and rode away.

Kavanagh came dashing from the shop with a ring valued at $2 (pounds) ($30) which he had snatched from a tray. While he stood in confusion, looking for the missing getaway vehicle, the jeweler charged out and collared him.

In court Kavanagh was put on probation for two years.

'Most Lonesome Soldier' Dies in Pennsylvania

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—A western Pennsylvania man who was dubbed the "World's Most Lonesome Soldier" in World War I died yesterday at the age of 68. Dode Cunningham of nearby Ruff Creek was given the nickname by a woman journalist who visited an Army camp at Chillicothe, Ohio, during World War I. She noted that he apparently was the only member of Company M, 330th Infantry Regiment, whose name never seemed to come up in mail call.

The journalist wrote a widely published story about Cunningham's plight, and he became the object of a national letter-writing campaign that belied his nickname. It was said that the Army had to set up a special mail detail to handle the volume. A linotype operator for the Washington (Pa.) Observer who was at the Army camp recalls that Cunningham received some 15 truckloads of mail.

Dry Cleaning Business Damaged by Explosion

DETROIT (AP)—A West Side dry cleaning shop was damaged by an explosion last night and police said they believed the cause was a stick of dynamite thrown through a window. There were no injuries reported.

Windows were shattered and the ceiling was damaged. The shop had been closed about two hours earlier by owner Gerald C. Steele of Farmington.

Noted Golfer, 79, Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Funeral service was held today for Mrs. Sallie R. Gilmore, 79, well-known Detroit golfer in the late 1930s who died Monday at her home here following a long illness. She had been club champion at Detroit Golf Club and Pine Lake Country Club.

Say Top-Secret British Bomber Explodes in Air

LONDON (INS)—A British jet bomber that exploded while in flight yesterday was reported today to have been a top-secret plane specially equipped for Britain's next hydrogen bomb experiments.

The London Daily Herald said the Canberra bomber was 11 miles up when it blew up and that its two crew members bailed out safely.

Britain's Guest List Topped by Americans

LONDON (AP)—More Americans than any other foreigners—337,912 out of a total of 1,248,607—visited Britain in 1957.

Americans also headed the list of undesirable foreigners denied permission to enter the country. After America, France and Germany supplied the most foreign visitors with 193,833 and 182,001 respectively.

The report from the Home Office today did not include figures on visiting British Commonwealth or colonial citizens or citizens of the Irish Republic.

An 11-mile parachute drop would be the longest on record.

The Air Ministry confirmed that the jet bomber exploded and that the crew survived, but it refused to reveal at what height the plane was flying or if it had anything to do with the forthcoming tests at Christmas Island in the Pacific.

The Herald speculated that the bomber crash might delay the tests.

The Daily Express said an H-bomb was scheduled to be set off within the next few weeks at an altitude of 8,000 feet.

GM Negotiator Likes His Job

Seaton Says Bargaining With UAW Requires Integrity, Know-How

By DWIGHT PITKIN

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors personnel department borrowed Lou Seaton from the sales section 26 years ago to make some charts.

Seaton stayed in personnel and now is chief labor negotiator for the world's largest manufacturing firm. His title is vice president in charge of the personnel staff.

BARGAINING WITH U.A.W.

Seaton took his team back to the bargaining table Tuesday for renewal of talks with the United Auto Workers on a new contract after a 12-day recess. He has the enthusiasm of a man who likes his work.

Bargaining time means living your job 24 hours a day, giving up recreation, losing sleep, taking a lot of needling and never losing your temper. But Seaton doesn't complain. He has a knack of being able to get by on a few hours sleep and still think clearly.

"There's a sense of achievement," he explains, "in finally reaching a settlement at the bargaining table without having a strike."

A grandfather at 51, Seaton has the appearance of a much younger man. He has ample brown hair without any trace of gray. He is a sharp dresser, sticks to vests so he can have pockets to carry pencils. But when the smoke-filled bargaining room gets heated he strips down to shirt sleeves.

He talks down-to-earth. He is quick at repartee, likes to kid the other fellow.

What are the qualifications of a good bargainer for management? MUST UNDERSTAND

First of all, Seaton says, "you must have an understanding of the workingman's problems and know plant operations."

It's not unusual for Seaton himself to show up at a plant even for a comparatively minor labor dispute.

"You need a good memory," Seaton says. He explains that in the quick give-and-take at the bargaining table, a negotiator has to have his facts at tongue tip.

"The management negotiator must be a guy of integrity," Seaton says. "If he gets caught once on a 'fast one' by the union fellows, he is lost."

A knowledge of labor law also is considered a must by Seaton. From their homes in suburban Huntington Woods, Seaton and GM's legal expert, Harry S. Benjamin Jr., usually ride to work together. They try out all the GM cars.

As a final qualification, Seaton says the company negotiator needs a lot of patience in getting to the root of a problem — "He should take plenty of time to find out what the real gripe is."

Louis G. Seaton was born in Detroit June 10, 1906. He first met his wife Kathleen when both were students at Wayne University here. They have two sons, John, 24, an engineer at Pontiac Motors, and Peter, 17, in high school, and a daughter, Mrs. Frank B. Swart-out of Whittier, Calif.

Of medium build, Seaton keeps fit playing golf and tennis and going fishing at his lake cottage.

Will Discuss Budget at Waterford Saturday

Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson announced today that the township budget will be discussed in an informal session of the board Saturday.

Final action will be taken on the budget at the regular township meeting Monday night.

The budget was originally scheduled for presentation last Monday, but was not completed.

West Germany had 1,860,000 apprentices at work in 1956, including 380,000 females.

Grass Fires Keep Departments Busy in County

Waterford Township firemen have received 132 grass fire calls during the six-week period beginning March 1, and they believe they have set the record for the number of calls in a single day.

On March 29, the trucks rolled out 17 times for grass fires.

Other area townships have also suffered from the annual spring-time plague. Commerce Township reports 74. Independence, recorded 60 and Pontiac Township 57.

The biggest property loss due to grass fires so far this season was on March 25, when 3,000 pine trees were consumed on Waterford Hill, Independence Township.

Waterford Township Fire Chief Ed Smith said Sunday's rain had helped cut the number of fires.

Flat 10 Pct. Income Tax Rate Proposed for All

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Mills (D-Ark.), who heads the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, proposes a flat 10 per cent income levy for everyone.

Mills told the 26th annual Freedom Forum at Harding College that such a tax structure would ease the heavy tax load on business.

It would spur the creation of more jobs, he said.

Mills predicted that federal revenue under a 10 per cent system would be about the same as it is now.

Hungary Workers Leave for Lunch While Nikita Speaks

Plans Red Economy Coordination

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev returns to Moscow today with plans to coordinate the Communist economy of Eastern Europe more closely through a top-level conference of Soviet bloc leaders.

The visiting Soviet Premier disclosed his plans yesterday in a speech at the big Csepel steel works, a center of the 1956 revolt.

Workers were noticeably uninterested and left for lunch by the thousands as he spoke. Authorities apparently did nothing to stop them.

As outlined by Khrushchev, the conference would have two aims: getting the Communist bloc countries to cooperate with one another as well as with the Soviet Union and speeding up their industrial specialization to integrate individual countries' production into an over-all pattern.

It sounded like the meeting might be designed to produce the Communist bloc's answer to Western Europe's Common Market plan. Neither the date nor the place apparently has been set.

Khrushchev said the Communist bloc countries want to cooperate with the Soviet Union, "but not with one another."

"As soon as there is a question of cooperating with one another the whole thing stops," he declared. "I am complaining about the leaders, and soon we will meet... and talk this question over."

"The factories in the Socialist countries must be specialized," he continued. "Progress in the matter is very slow although we have had several international discussions. At these meetings we spoke the same language and everyone understood everyone else, but after we all went home, everything remained as before."

As the windup of his eight-day visit, Khrushchev and Hungarian

Communist party boss Janos Kadar issued a communique repeating the Soviet Union's insistence that the political status of Eastern Europe's Communist nations is no question for discussion at any summit meeting. They said it would amount to interference in the affairs of sovereign states and be incompatible with the United Nations Charter.

Kadar also thanked the Soviet Union for helping put down the anti-Soviet revolt 18 months ago. The communique did not promise any Soviet military aid in the event of another uprising, but Moscow radio repeated Khrush-

Then Use Antidote in Cancer Fight
Would Give Fatal Dose

By KENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Researchers here are working on the idea of deliberately giving fatal doses of drugs or X-rays to knock out a patient's cancer and then saving his life with a potent biological antidote to the poison or radiation.

The lifesaving part of it already has worked in normal mice given deadly doses of a drug used to treat breast cancer and other solid types of malignancy.

Another researcher has transplanted cancers into mice, given them more than fatal doses of radiation and then snatched them from death with the potent anti-radiation substance.

Investigators elsewhere have done the same thing with mice which developed spontaneous cancer.

The potentially great lifesaver is bone marrow. It was used here on the radiated mice by Dr. John J. Trentin of Baylor University Medical School and on lethally drugged mice by Dr. Arthur Kirschbaum of Baylor and the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital.

Both physicians, who talked to science writers on the American Cancer Society's tour of research laboratories, did this with the idea of seeing how far they might go eventually with the same procedure in humans.

The drug is thio-tepa, which has been used with some success against human cancer but which is so poisonous that it cannot be given in large enough amounts to deliver what might be a knockout blow to malignancy. Its main undesirable effect is to destroy bone marrow, which is responsible for the production of blood cells.

Radiation also is a great weapon against cancer but it has to be carefully limited because of its bone marrow destroying ability. This is the principal way radiation from atom bombs and other sources destroys human and animal life.

Mice given the anticancer drug in large doses lived only 10 days if left untreated with the lifesaver. But those given injections of marrow from other mice have survived for two months and are in good health, Dr. Kirschbaum said.

Dr. Trentin gave his mice X-ray doses far above the death level. Some of these were given marrow from closely related strains. Others received marrow from unrelated strains.

Those which got marrow from close relatives went on to a healthy old age. Those which received marrow from unrelated mice recovered from the effects of radiation but developed a "wasting disease" due to a reaction against the foreign nature of the marrow from nonrelatives. Those mice died.

This makes a drawback for widespread human use because marrow would have to be taken from unrelated donors to supply the demand.

Carrots, Not Carats

Waterford Construction Rises

March construction work in Waterford Township was up $100,000 over March 1957, according to building department reports.

There were 42 house building permits issued last month, totaling $492,050, as compared with 34 house permits for $383,060 for 1957.

Sixteen additions and 1 garage permits totaling $30,551, and 4 commercial projects for $46,000 were included in the March building spurt.

A new wallpaper store on Dixie Highway, a building supply company and two hardware stores were the commercial permits issued.

A permit for an $11,000 addition to the White Swan restaurant at Highland and Pontiac Lake Rr. has been issued, and construction work is scheduled to begin next week.

Pandy's Drive-In at 4730 Dixie Hwy., which burned last October, is now in the process of being completely rebuilt, and owner

Leonard O'Shansky has been issued a permit for $10,000 for the project.

The sudden building spurt has continued into April according to Chief Building Inspector Carl Walton.

He said, "We always expect building to pick up in the spring, but it's starting sooner than it did last year. More building permits were issued last week than during the last three months."

Churchill Cancels United States Visit

LONDON (U) — Sir Winston Churchill, still recovering from an attack of pneumonia and pleurisy last month, has canceled his trip to the United States.

The 83-year-old statesman's secretary said last night Churchill informed President Eisenhower "with much regret he has felt obliged to cancel his visit."

Churchill and his wife were to have gone to the United States late this month. He returned from the French Riviera last week and is now at his country home in Kent.

CHEVY TAMES THE TOUGHEST TRANSCONTINENTAL HIGHWAY!

Turboglide® shows its velvet competence in fantastic foothills of Andes. Jolt-free powerflow of triple-turbine transmission was particularly important in keeping traction on hundreds of gravel turns.

Precision of Chevy's famous Ball-Race steering was a lifesaver on cliff-edge curves; its silk-smooth ease sharply reduced driver fatigue. Vital safety factor was full panoramic visibility of windshield.

Full Coil suspension, with a deep coil spring at each wheel, took big rocks and deep chuckholes in stride. Stability of four-link rear suspension held car true and steady on worst sections of road.

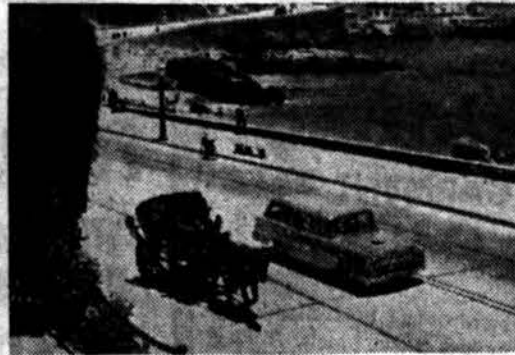

'58 Chevrolet station wagon with 250-h.p. Turbo-Thrust® engine swings down to the dock at Buenos Aires, Argentina, ready for record-setting run across South America to Valparaiso, Chile, and back.

Mighty Turbo-Thrust V8 seemed virtually unaware of astonishing grades up to 30 percent. Even at summit, 12,572 feet high, drivers found terrific reserves of torque from its 348-cubic-inch displacement.

Racking hairpin turns on Chilean slope of Andes tested superior torsional strength of Chevy's new Safety-Girder frame, demonstrated the better road-holding permitted by its lower center of gravity.

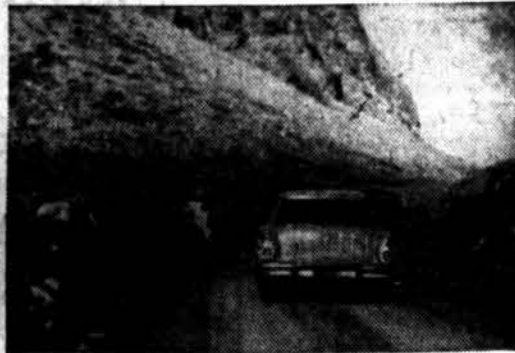

Turnaround at Valparaiso on Pacific—and car starts return leg of trip called impossible by A.C.A. experts! Engine was never stopped, oil dipstick still said "full" at end of 1,900-mile test!

Heading for the freezing Andes, with hood sealed shut by officials of Automobile Club of Argentina, Chevy arrows across Mendoza desert in 98-degree heat. Not one drop of oil or water was added during run!

Powdery dust of Argentina's talc mine country proved value of High-Level ventilation, with air intake high above road. Ultra-efficient air cleaner protected V8 from smallest abrasive particles.

Jumbo-Drum brakes got a real workout in emergency stops for roving livestock, loose boulders, stream gullies cut across road. Drivers particularly liked Turboglide's special Grade Retarder on long hills.

You don't have to cross the Andes to discover Chevy's remarkable ease of handling, riding smoothness and all-round performance. Just see your Chevrolet dealer for a test run.

Keep Ailing Oldster at Home If Possible

By RAY HENRY

Dr. Russell V. Lee is a tall, wiry man with a passion to get better medical care for older people.

Recently at a meeting of the National Committee on the Aging in Washington, he laid out his plan for partial solutions for both giving the care and financing it.

As a member of the American Medical Association's powerful House of Delegates and the director of a Palo Alto, Calif., clinic which treats many aged, he can speak with authority and from experience.

His plan comes in three parts:

1. Treat the ailing older person in his home, if possible, rather than carting him off to an institution.

2. Develop enough specialists for treating the ailments of older people to give the necessary home care.

3. Provide a system of prepaid financing for the treatment, starting at about age 50.

In backing up his plan, here's what Lee has to say:

"The tendency to cart the ailing oldster off to some institution should be reversed if possible. The reasons for this are both practical and sentimental. Practical because the enormous expense of hospital care can be avoided. Sentimental because the older person is much happier in familiar surroundings and in the care of those who live with him."

At the same time, Lee admits, the possibility of following up his suggestion depends on the medical profession's desire to develop specialists who can provide the necessary medical care for the sick older person.

"Such specialists do not exist in any numbers at the present time," Lee says, "nor is there much indication that many will be trained within the near future without a real desire on the part of the medical profession. We now have about 1,000 doctors who largely specialize in the treatment of older people. We need 10,000."

To get the specialists, Lee feels they must be recruited from the ranks of interns and general practitioners, preferably from those who have been family doctors for a period of years and who have had a chance to see people growing old.

There are two main reasons, Lee says, for the lack of doctors who specialize in treatment of older people: Other medical specialties provide better financial return, and, until recently, there was so little that could be done for the ailing aged.

"Now with the proper diet, the new drugs and the use of hormones we can make life very different for older people than it used to be. We've also developed greatly improved surgical techniques and better anesthetics for dealing with broken bones and the like among the aged."

To finance the medical care of older people, Lee says it should be handled on a prepaid basis—prepaid by the patient when possible, prepaid by insurance if the companies can be induced to do it, prepaid by the government for the indigent.

The most economical way, according to Lee, would be for a group of medical specialists, including a specialist in the care of older people, to set up a clinic-type system.

"If the services to older people are rendered by a group," Lee says, "the problems are simple—all the available specialists can be called upon as the need arises and all paid for by a $100 yearly fee. The ideal thing would be for an insurance policy which begins to pay $100 a year for life for medical services at age 50."

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service. You may obtain Ray Henry's new social security handbook by sending 25 cents in coin to this newspaper and requesting "Security for You" booklet.)

Andean Indians Claim Mysterious Snowman

VALPARAISO, Chile—Now the Andes are claimed to have a race of Abominable Snowmen similar to those reported — but never proved — to live in the Himalayas, Valparaiso learns.

An expedition hunting Indian buried treasure near the Curu Curu Mountain, recently saw mysterious tracks in the snow thought to be imprints of Ukumar Zupai Indian's name for their snowman.

For diet they say he prefers condor eggs and young chicks. These vulture-like birds nest at high altitudes and are of fierce disposition. Those who claim to have seen the snowman say he is of a bent, gorilla-like shape but has small human feet. His piercing yell echo through the silent valleys. But few men hunting gold with native guides care to flout the local superstition.

Daytime Speeds Decrease

LANSING (AP)—Average daytime driving speeds are slowing down a bit on Michigan highways but nighttime driving is speeding up.

The State Safety Commission got that report from the State Highway Department Tuesday.

Counters at department check points showed day speeds for passenger cars averaged 53.3 miles per hour last year compared with 53.5 in 1956. The average night driving speed went up from 51.8 to 52.2 in the same period.

Truck drivers raised their average night pace from 46.6 miles an hour in 1956 to 53.7 last year. Day speeds fell from 45.5 to 44.7, due mainly to the 45-mile limit on certain types of commercial vehicles.

State police commissioner Joseph A. Childs said he suspected some truckers had memorized the schedule of state police night and dusk patrols, the "danger" hours on the highways. He said patrol schedules would be altered to check on the apparent speed-ups.

Michigan's highway death toll through Easter Sunday fell 63 below the count for the same period of 1957, Childs said.

Traffic claimed 299 lives through April 6 as compared with 361 in 1957.

Trucker Urges Intelligent Use of Turn Signals

DETROIT (AP)—W. H. Bonnell, president of the Michigan Trucking Association, has urged drivers to be more thoughtful and consistent in the intelligent use of turn signals.

Bonnell made the statement in connection with the trucking industry's April courtesy and safety campaign.

"If you are driving any kind of late model vehicle," Bonnell said, "chances are it is equipped with directional signals. Since you paid for them, you should get the benefits of their proper use.

"By signaling turns in advance, you will protect yourself from the unwary driver behind you. In addition, you will allow smooth movement of traffic, which can go around you unhindered."

Chemical Test Tells Need of Oil Change

MARBLEHEAD, Mass.—A handy kit that tests the oil in an automobile chemically and tells whether a change is needed has been developed by a Marblehead company.

Four phials of chemical fluid come in the kit, the company says, and certain reactions indicate whether the oil is contaminated.

Hollywood Headlines Scandal Won't Mean End of Lana's Movie Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Will the taint of scandal end Lana Turner's movie career?

The answer is probably no, judging from recent history in Hollywood.

Lana's 14-year-old daughter Cheryl Crane last Friday night fatally stabbed Johnny Stompanato, Hollywood underworld figure who had been Lana's sweetheart.

Cheryl said she did it to protect her mother from Stompanato's threats of harm.

No top star in recent times has been involved in a killing. But several have been entangled in scandals and survived — even flourished in their film careers.

This could not have happened in the silent era of films. Then a wild, wild Hollywood was faced by a less sophisticated America.

Scandal piled upon scandal, and Hollywood was denounced in pulpits and editorial columns as a modern Sodom. The film industry was alarmed at the wave of indignation. Fatty Arbuckle, some historians claim, was offered up as a sacrifice.

Though he was acquitted of manslaughter charges in the party death of an actress, the public clamor against Arbuckle was great. Paramount scrapped half a million dollars' worth of Arbuckle films, and the fat comic retired from the screen. Ten years later, he was signed for a comeback but he died shortly afterward in 1933.

Caught up in the investigation of William Desmond Taylor's murder, Mary Miles Minter and Mabel Normand also lost their careers to the scandal. Both had been top stars.

Times change and so do public reactions. The first real test of a star's durability came in the moral climate of wartime with dashing Errol Flynn. He was acquitted on morals charges involving under-age girls. Hollywood waited to see what would happen to his career.

It became bigger than ever. The scandal seemed merely to enhance his reputation as a lovable rake.

Charlie Chaplin also became the figure of a scandal concerning his relations with his protegee Joan Berry. He was freed and seemed to suffer no grave damage to his professional reputation. He fell into disrepute with Americans later because of his pro-Red mouthings.

Robert Mitchum was nabbed on marijuana charges and served some time. But he went right back to acting and is still one of the top male stars. Rita Hayworth survived despite her international pursuit of Aly Khan. Ingrid Bergman, who mothered a child out of wedlock, returned a few years later to win Hollywood's highest honor, the Academy Award.

One long-time observer of Hollywood declares: "Scandals can often make stars more exciting and appealing. The only kind of scandal that can kill a career is one involving either communism or perversion."

It would appear that Lana Turner can resume her career with no difficulty — if she chooses to. And having been in films since she was 15, she knows nothing else.

There is no reason to believe that publication of Lana's searing love letters to Stompanato would be the factor to ruin her career. Indeed, they may heighten her appeal. Never underestimate the desire of shopgirls and housewives to live vicariously the adventures of movie stars.

CBS Refuses Mediation Offer

Radio, TV Technicians Remain Off the Job for Fourth Day

NEW YORK — The Columbia Broadcasting System has tentatively turned down a city mediator's offer to help end the strike of CBS radio and TV technicians.

CBS noted that the walkout is nationwide and not local.

There was no indication of any agreement between CBS and the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as 1,300 union members remained off the job for the fourth day.

Meanwhile, shows are being handled by more than 300 supervisory and executive personnel who received a production training course last fall.

CBS has stayed on the air with most of its TV programs. Tonight two live shows — Climax and Playhouse 90 — will be replaced by film dramas.

The CBS radio network also is involved in the strike but its programs have not been affected.

Harold A. Felix, city labor commissioner, sent telegrams to CBS and Local 1212 of the union offering his services as mediator.

William C. Fitts Jr., vice president of labor relations for CBS, replied through a spokesman that, since the strike was nationwide and affected seven cities from coast to coast, the network was awaiting possible action by federal mediators and the union's headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Solons Prepare MESC Probe

To Delve Into Charges of Illegal Influences by Labor Unions

LANSING — The chairman of the House Labor Committee today made ready for a thoroughgoing investigation into charges of illegal union influences in the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

With hardly a murmur of dissent, House members yesterday shelved out $10,000 for the probe, which will get under way soon after the Legislature meets for final adjournment May 15.

Rep. Walter G. Nakkula (R-Gladwin), who heads the labor committee, House Speaker George M. Van Pelt (R-Zeeland) and three other lawmakers will run it.

Nakkula said the investigation will cover MESC activities in about 18 cities around the state.

"First we want to check up on whether the law is being strictly observed in determining who gets unemployment benefits," Nakkula said. "I have had many reports that those not affiliated with a union are getting a hard time."

The committee also will look into complaints that AFL-CIO membership is a factor in determining hirings and promotions in MESC ranks, he said.

Most of the $10,000 will be spent for legal counsel, Nakkula said.

Gas Station Burglars Strike Four Times

The "gas station burglars" who have been hitting strings of stations every week struck again last night.

Four stations were entered in a 15 minute interval between 2:35 a.m. and 2:50 a.m. and cigarette machines looted.

This follows their pattern of working quickly and concentrating on coin machines.

Last night's locations were the Texaco Station, 680 N. East Blvd.; Pure Oil Station, 687 Mt. Clemens St.; Gulf Station, N. East Blvd. at Bond street; and Cities Service Station, 842 N. Perry St.

Florida has 58,560 square miles.

Warns Station Owners on Shut-Off Nozzles

A warning to service station owners to check with him before buying automatic shut-off nozzles for their pumps, was issued today by Pontiac Fire Marshall Charles Metz.

He said that only one type of nozzle has been approved by the state fire marshal's office and use of others is illegal and hazardous in many cases.

Metz warned that salesmen have been representing certain kinds of nozzles as approved when they are not, and urged station owners to check before buying.

Newsman Hayden (F.D.R.'s Boss) Dies

NEWBURGH, N. Y. — Edward T. Hayden, 60, veteran Hudson Valley newspaperman who once hired the late Franklin D. Roosevelt as a newspaper columnist, died today after a long illness.

Roosevelt received no pay for the columns, but it afforded Hayden much amusement in later years to describe himself in a joking vein as once having been Roosevelt's boss.

The Roosevelt writing career, which lasted several months, was launched at Hayden's instigation in 1921 shortly after Roosevelt was stricken with infantile paralysis.

At that time, Hayden was city editor of the Beacon Journal, the only Democratic paper in Dutchess County.

Roosevelt's physicians thought the writing would be good therapy and Roosevelt agreed. In the columns which appeared subsequently, Roosevelt publicized some of the ideas which later became a part of his New Deal program.

Can't Remember Single Mistake, Claims Truman

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS)—Former President Harry S. Truman, who winds up a three-day visit to Yale University tonight, has been calling upon students to "get into government on the local level."

The 73-year-old former President, currently a Chubb Fellow at Yale, maintained government is up to the people. He told a lecture audience he could not think of a single legislative mistake under his administration, adding, "At least the GOP hasn't repealed any I passed."

He continued: "When I found 50 per cent of the press against me—which was usually the case—I knew what I was doing was right."

The ex-President said of his relationship with former political bosses like Tom Pendergast, "They knew how I stood on the issues. Everybody in the state knew. And I never made any other promises."

Of "modern Republicans," he said: "You know what Sam Rayburn said about modern Republicanism, it's like modern antique: It's counterfeit."

He blamed Republicans for the current economic slump, saying it was "really ingenious" that the GOP could combine a recession and higher prices. He said:

"The Republicans just let prices go sky high. Here we're faced with a recession with higher prices. I don't know how they did it."

Woman Injured in Fall From Family Auto

A Clarkston woman was injured yesterday when she fell from the family car. Mrs. Eldon Mudge, of 4916 Oak Park St., told sheriff's deputies the door opened while her husband was driving near their home, and she went out head first.

She was treated at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for head injuries and released.

American Indians' Handiwork Display Being Set Up at Brussels World's Fair

WASHINGTON—Europeans who think of American Indians as characters in Wild West drama will find them in another role at an art exhibit of the 1958 Brussels World's Fair.

The display, gathered from American museums, is being set up at the United States Pavilion. It presents sculpture, pottery, jewelry, and paintings created by tribal groups from Alaska and the Northwest Pacific to the Plains and Southwest.

Work may be simple or sophisticated, realistic or abstract. Art for art's sake is almost unknown.

large ceremonial pipe in the form of a stone whale. Another is a wooden death mask made by Tlingit Indians of British Columbia. Among other tribes represented are Pomo, Eskimo, Sioux, Zuni, and Navajo.

The art of North American Indians, always highly specialized, varies from region to region, depending on customs and beliefs of individual tribes, their technical skills, environment, and available materials.

Work may be simple or sophisticated, realistic or abstract. Art for art's sake is almost unknown.

Indian craftsmen achieve aesthetic quality by harmonizing function with form, design, and material.

The now virtually extinct Chumash—gatherers of wild seeds, nuts, roots, and tubers—perfected artistic storage and carrying baskets. A few of their old neighbors, the Pomo, carry on near San Francisco, and are still noted for fine baskets. The Brussels exhibit features a Pomo basket of feathered mosaic.

Eskimo artists show talent and ingenuity in their delicate carvings. From the earliest times they have used the Arctic's limited raw materials—walrus ivory, whalebone, stone, and driftwood—to create lively little figures of men and animals, fanciful masks, and ornaments etched with scenes of fishing, hunting, and celebration.

The oldest piece in the Brussels show is dated about A.D. 500. It is a curious carving with two wings, of the Old Bering Sea period.

Another exhibit is a Sioux painting on buffalo skin—a reminder of the days when the great herds thundered over the open prairies. From such hides, Plains Indians fashioned robes, battle-shield covers, tents, and riding equipment.

decorating the skins with dynamic pictorial accounts of historic events.

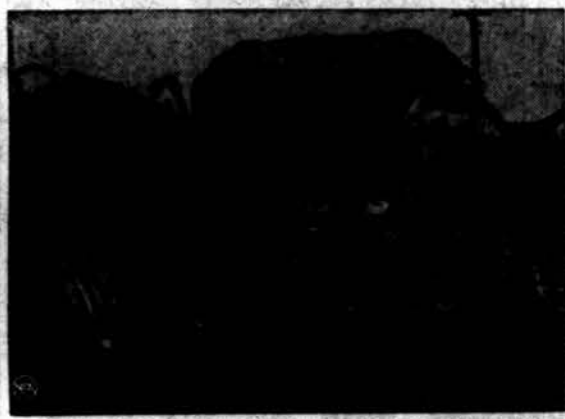

The North Pacific Indians—including the Tlingit, Haida, and Kwakiutl tribes whose work also will be on view at the fair—developed an extraordinary wood-carving culture that reached its peak in the late 19th century.

Fantastically elaborate and inventive, this art was based on plentiful forests. It produced a wealth of valuable objects, ranging from totem poles and war canoes to ceremonial masks and rattles.

Much Indian design is rooted in symbolism. Though interpretations differ and modern life has blurred many of the meanings, long established patterns and figures still represent ancient tribal traditions, the forces of nature, and good and evil spirits that influence man.

The Kachina dolls of Hopi, Zuni, and other Pueblo tribes of the Southwest, for instance, play a vital part in festival ritual as messengers of supernatural beings believed to have power to bring or withhold rain and fertility.

An example of decorative rather than symbolic art is the silver jewelry of the Navajo. Several pieces will be exhibited at the fair.

Buffalo Just Too Slow Plods Himself Out of Job

TAIPEI, Formosa (NEA) — The water buffalo is about to plod himself out of a job.

His arch rival now is a sprightly little gadget who answers to the name of "Merry Tiller." Much to the old brute's chagrin, this little motorized plow is becoming quite the rage in Formosa where it is being used to cultivate rice fields.

The Nationalist Chinese are deciding the buffalo is just too slow. Also he eats too much.

But with this little Japanese-made device, such problems have gone the way of the buffalo's future. First of all it works twice as fast. It plows deeper, which increases the rice yield by thousands of pounds. It's easy to handle. And farmers don't have to feed it. They say the buffalo takes up too many food-producing acres needed for grazing.

So far the "Merry Tillers" have been imported with the help of United States foreign aid funds. But if the mechanical craze sweeps the country, the Chinese might start making their own.

If this happens, some people predict the water buffalo might follow his American bison cousin into virtual extinction.

Englishwomen Dislike Strong, Silent Type

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Most American women have not had much experience with the strong, silent type of man. He went out with the advent of talkies, and a lot of ladies claim to miss him.

But in England, the strong, silent type (sometimes referred to as "kissproofs") have always existed. English girls don't appreciate them at all. In fact, a lady named Sylvia Lamond in London has just come out with a blast against Rex Harrison, soon to open in the British run of "My Fair Lady"—saying he is the most "typical" Englishman since "that nippy lover Leslie Howard was the idol of the day."

We were just getting our men warmed up to act more like Rossano Brazzi or Marlon Brando, Sylvia complains, and then Harrison had to be a smash

"This new, reluctant lover type may have been a sensation in New York," wrote the Englishwoman, "but we've been trying our best for years to lay him to rest." Now they've got a trend toward chilly romance again.

An Englishman named Aubrey Menen, in the new issue of "Holiday," explains why his countrymen are cool during courtship. It's the nation's public school system, he says, causes the trouble.

In school, English boys get lots of exercise, no girls. "The matron and the headmaster's wife are the only two women a boy will see during most of the year." They are not attractive women, either, the complaint goes.

"When these young men go out into the world they, of course, find women strange and terrifying. But sooner or later they come upon a woman who is not. She plays some game or rides horses, and she is thus from time to time covered with mud. She goes for walks in the country in flat shoes that develop the muscles in her legs; there is not a frounce in her wardrobe. She is familiar, but yet she is a woman. He falls in love."

Courtship, Menen writes, takes place largely in the open air and in the presence of animals.

"One day, probably while throwing sticks for the dogs, he will ask her to marry him."

After a handshake and a few words, they are married—"and he will live happily talking about rugby forever after; and she, being what is called the right sort of woman, will try not to mind."

Backing up the theory is the story of the courtship of Peter Haigh, one of London's top TV stars. He popped the question to his lovely wife Jill over tea. "I shall never forget how it happened," she recalls. "He stroked the head of my boxer and said, 'That's a wonderful dog, Jill. I've always wanted a boxer. I think we should get married.'"

After two years of marriage Mrs. Haigh is happy. "Except," she says, "I've never quite shaked off the feeling that he married me for the dog."

I don't know how the rest of American womanhood feels, but I, for one, am delighted that my husband apparently went to all the wrong schools.

Sleeping Pills Often Kill

NEW YORK — Barbituric acid—the basic ingredient in sleeping pills—stands first among the causes of death due to accidental poisoning, and a high percentage of all accidental deaths are due to sleeping pills.

This was revealed by a large life insurance company in a recent magazine article. Many Americans seeking sound slumber have found addiction and distress from barbiturates according to the article.

In 1955 a poll of doctors showed most of them eager to get rid of barbiturates because of the very nature of the drug. It gets its effects by depressing the central nervous system in order to induce sleep, however, the article reveals that if depression is too deep, oftentimes the result will be a coma.

DESTROYS TISSUE
According to medical experts quoted in the feature, even small therapeutic doses will cause tissue destruction in the nervous system. What many pill-users do not know until it is too late is that the barbiturate sleeping habit is not only very powerful, but very habit forming as well.

APPEARS TO OTHERS
Often, addicts will not know what is happening to their nervous tissue cells or to their brain, but, stresses the article, their families can see the dreadful results in a personality change. Medical experts now believe that the answer for the sleepless hordes of millions will soon be available with antihistamine pills that produce drowsiness by their sedative action. Although not the final answer, the experts agree that with these new kinds of pills, an insomnia is not likely to wake up in the middle of the night and dose himself to death. The Dismal swamp which lies in North Carolina and Virginia covers one-half million acres, and is said to be one of the wildest regions in the U.S.

Bank Gives Money Away—for Parking

POMONA, Calif. (U-P)—There is a bank here that is giving away money. Honest. The Security-First National Bank recently announced that each customers is handed an envelope containing three pennies each time a banking transaction is completed. Manager Alton E. Allen said the pennies can be used to obtain 36 minutes worth of parking at parking meters near the bank. This is the bank's way of giving its customers free parking.

Orange Sticky Buns Made With Ease

When preparing hot roll mix and the dough is rising, combine $\frac{1}{4}$ cup melted butter or margarine with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup fresh orange juice and $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons grated orange rind. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped walnuts and spoon into fourteen greased $2\frac{1}{4}$ -inch muffin cups. Pinch off pieces of dough and drop into cups. Let rise until almost doubled in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees 25 minutes or until brown. Turn tins upside down so that glaze runs down sides of buns. Use a bowl with straight sides when you are mixing a cake for efficient blending.

Fruit Glazed Chicken

For a luscious fruit glaze on chicken, you can't beat a mixture of prunes, lemon slices and ginger ale. Prepare it like this: Thaw 2 packages (1 pound each) frozen chicken breasts or drumsticks. Brown in 2 to 3 tablespoons butter in heavy skillet. Add 1 bottle (7 ounces) ginger ale, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup diced dried prunes, 4 thin lemon slices, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt and dash of black pepper. Cover; simmer about 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

A little cooked ham in the refrigerator? Dice it fine or grind it and mix with mashed potatoes and an egg. Spoon into muffin cups and dot with butter; bake until hot through and lightly browned.

Fish Tips Given by Home Economist

Fish adds health and flavor variety to family dinners, says Detroit Edison Home Service Advisor, Jean Hardy. It is an excellent source of calcium and iodine and the basis of many delightful dishes. In determining quantities to prepare, Miss Hardy suggests a half pound of fish be allowed for each person to be served. One pound of fish, as purchased, should produce about 2 cups of cooked, flaked fish.

If fish is to be fried, be sure it is thoroughly dried after washing. This will keep it from splattering. When boiling fish, it can be kept from separating by adding a little vinegar or lemon juice to the water.

Fish odors can be taken off your hands, adds Miss Hardy, by rubbing a little salt into them before washing. And to remove tiny bones which are accidentally swallowed, she suggests sucking on a quarter of lemon. Although lemon juice will dissolve tiny bones, any larger ones should be removed by a doctor.

Ever toss cubes of corned beef into a cabbage salad? Good!

Avocados Hold Salad

A quick but hot and satisfying dinner can be prepared by halving avocados, removing the large seed and filling the cavity with hot chicken a la king. Top with bread crumbs and put under the broiler until the avocado browns. Florida avocados will be available through the winter months.

Onion Casserole Elegant to Serve With Meat

Perk up a routine meal with this non-routine vegetable dish. Use canned or cooked onions and place them in a buttered casserole. Make a sauce using 2 tablespoons ketchup, 2 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon sugar and add salt and pepper to taste. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

If you like cheese, sprinkle 1/2 cup grated Swiss or cheddar cheese over the top of the casserole ten minutes before removing it from the oven. This dish is compatible with roast beef, corned beef hash, meat loaf and fried chicken.

Although searing meat in a very hot oven or skillet improves its brown appearance it does increase shrinkage. Take your choice!

Nutty Scrambled Eggs

Combine 6 well-beaten eggs, 1-1/2 cup light cream, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup finely chopped salted peanuts, and 2 tablespoons finely cut chives or young green onion shoots. Scramble in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine in a frying pan, stirring frequently. Serves 4.

Don't shake your toaster! Remove crumbs with a soft brush.

Crumb Crust Ideal for Chilled Pies

Regular pie crust is best when it does not have to be chilled. That's why a crumb crust is so perfect for pies, like chiffon, that must be refrigerated. This recipe is made with rice cereal crumbs and is baked in an oven for 10 minutes which keeps it from crumbling during serving.

Pre-heat the gas oven to 350 degrees. Roll 3 cups of rice cereal into fine crumbs and add 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 cup soft butter and 2 teaspoons hot water. Blend the ingredients well. Press the crumbs onto bottom and sides of an 8-inch pie pan. Bake 10 minutes and cool thoroughly before filling.

Crisp waffles need a thin batter and longer baking than waffles that have a softer texture.

Quantity Vegetables Best for Large Groups

When preparing foods for church suppers and community dinners, buy frozen vegetables in quantity pack, advises Margaret Spader, home service editor of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. It will take 16 to 22 pounds of peas, corn, lima or green beans to feed 100 persons. You will need more of such vegetables as asparagus and spinach, she suggests, as they have a tendency to pack down.

For cooking large amounts of frozen foods, Miss Spader advises partial thawing so the vegetables can be separated before cooking. When packs are frozen solid, thawing time may take several hours.

Cornstarch has about twice the thickening power of flour.

Simmer Orange Peel

When you are preparing candied orange peel, cover the large pieces of peel with cold water, and simmer until tender—30 to 45 minutes. Drain and use a scissors to cut the orange peel into narrow strips before cooking it in a sugar syrup for about 20 minutes. Let the strips of peel stand in the syrup overnight before draining on a rack and then rolling in sugar.

BEF NOODLE CASSEROLE — A boon to speedy cooking is this Beef-Noodle Casserole, hearty and pretty too. For extra convenience it's made top-of-stove so you can serve it in one of your prettiest skillets. Canned condensed vegetable beef soup is the magic ingredient.

Top-of-Stove Casserole Uses Vegetable Soup

This Beef-Noodle Casserole is hearty and pretty, made top-of-stove in a few minutes time. Serve it in one of your prettiest skillets (this saves dishwashing too!) on a table decked with pine and holly. For accompaniments, broiled pear halves atop a crisp piece of lettuce, hot buttered finger rolls, fruit flavored gelatin dessert with whipped cream, and lots of hot coffee or hot chocolate.

Your family will eat and eat!

1 tablespoon shortening
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed vegetable beef soup
1 cup can water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash black pepper
Sour cream, if desired

Cook noodles as directed on package. Meanwhile, in a large skillet,

Mouth Watering Mushroom Dish

The French were very fond of mushrooms and started cultivating them in caves outside Paris during the reign of Louis XIV. It is natural, then, that mushrooms are popular in Louisiana where the French influence prevails, particularly in regard to food.

On Avery Island, where Tabasco is made from start to finish, they serve mouthwatering hors d'oeuvres consisting of canned mushrooms and anchovies. Seasoned with onion, garlic, lemon juice and, of course, Tabasco, the hors d'oeuvres are served piping hot on a tray with cocktail picks and each guest helps himself. Tomato juice spiced with Tabasco is a good accompaniment.

Mushrooms Avery Island

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 can (8 ounces) whole mushrooms
1 can (2 ounces) anchovies
1 large onion, chopped
2 small cloves garlic, peeled
Juice of 2 lemons or limes
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
Salt

Melt butter. Add drained mushrooms, anchovies, onion, garlic, lemon or lime juice, Tabasco and salt to taste. Simmer 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Let Kids Try Making Uncooked Taffy Candy

Taffy and peanut are two congenial flavors to get via an easy, no-cook candy. Mix together 1-3 cup of unsulphured molasses and 1-3 cup peanut butter. Gradually work in 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk. Knead lightly.

Sprinkle with a small amount of nonfat dry milk, and roll candy out into a long rope, 1/4-inch in diameter. Cut with scissors into 1-inch pieces. Wrap in cellophane if desired. Makes 1/2 pound.

Tiny Cheese Balls Good as Appetizer

Many guests judge the quality of a party by its hot appetizers. Your reputation as a hostess could rest on these crispy-hot cheese tidbits...crackly-crusty on the outside, melty on the inside.

Tangy Hot Tidbits
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 pound sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash red pepper

Cream butter or margarine and cheese until light. Sift flour, salt and red pepper; add to creamed mixture and stir until well blended.

Shape into balls the size of walnuts. Chill until serving time. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 15 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: About 3 dozen.

Use pineapple, lemon, orange or grapefruit juice for dipping fresh fruits that you do not wish to discolor.

American Soda Bread Uses Whole Wheat Cereal

Now, put this in your pipe and youngsters are safely packed off to work and school and the little ones are deeply engrossed in some safe occupation, serve Paddy Bread and tea or coffee.

It isn't necessary to make a lot of preparation for this party. Paddy Bread will have been baked in a glass casserole on Saturday or even earlier and stored in the freezer. If it has been frozen, store it at room temperature — but still wrapped in aluminum foil — on Sunday night. Then on Monday morning, get out the paper napkins, coffee cups, instant coffee, milk, and sugar; slice the delicious whole wheat and raisin Paddy Bread, and the party is on.

Paddy Bread

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1-3 cup sugar

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup instant whole wheat cereal
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 cups raisins
1/2 cup buttermilk
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Grease two one-quart casseroles. Sift together flour, sugar, salt, baking powder, and baking soda. Add cereal. Combine. Mix in butter until it resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in raisins. Combine buttermilk and eggs. Add to flour mixture. Stir until just moistened. Turn into casseroles. Bake for 50-55 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve hot or cold. Yield: 2 loaves.

Broil Sweet Jam Toast

Let's treat with toast. Serve Honey-Orange Toast. Combine 1/2 cup of honey with 2 tablespoons orange marmalade. Lay toast on a cookie sheet. Spread with honey-orange mixture. Heat under low broiler heat for about 2 minutes. Serve bubbling hot.

Easy to Broil Whole Panfish

Small, plump, shiny fish, lying on a bed of ice in a fish dealer's showcase, are always tempting.

But perhaps you hesitate to buy them because you don't know how to prepare them. Nothing to it, says the National Fisheries Institute; just have your dealer pan-dress them for you (which means scaling the fish, removing head, tail and fins, and cleaning out the insides) and then broil them with onion slices, like this:

Broiled Fish With Onion Slices
4 1-pound mackerel, or other small whole fish
3 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons butter

Have your dealer pan-dress the fish for you, which means removing scales and insides, head, tail and fins. Rub the inside of each fish with salt. Make several slits on each side of the fish. Slip a slice of onion and a dot of butter in each slit on the top side, pushing the slice of onion well into the slit.

Pre-heat the broiler and place the fish about 6 inches from the source of heat. Broil for 3 minutes, turn fish and insert onion slices in the slit.

To make "curls" from chocolate, use a swivel-blade vegetable peeler and see that the chocolate is both fresh and soft. Both unsweetened and semi-sweet chocolate may be used for this pretty dessert garnish.

SPRINGTIME BAKING — For that spring baking spree, we think you will be interested in this recipe for a basic refrigerator dough that will yield a dozen cinnamon twists and a glazed baked loaf. The dough will keep about five days.

Basic Dough Has Sweet Possibilities

Spring stimulates the American homemaker in many different directions—a new outfit, maybe a spring housecleaning, enthusiastic new hairdo, an energetic burst of activity in the kitchen. Interest in baking runs high and we always find that our yeast bread recipes are popular at this season.

Here is a new tested recipe for a basic refrigerator dough that has many interesting possibilities for the home baker, especially since it will keep in the refrigerator for about five days. As a starter we have two recipes which can be made from this basic yeast dough—Cinnamon Twists and a Glazed Braided Loaf.

Basic Refrigerator Dough
2 packages or cubes yeast, active dry
1/2 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
Sprinkle or crumble yeast into 1/2 cup water (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast or lukewarm for compressed yeast); let stand until dissolved. Stir sugar, shortening and salt into the hot water. Cool mixture to lukewarm; add yeast. Add egg and two cups of flour; beat until smooth.

Sit together remaining flour and instant nonfat dry milk powder. Stir into mixture. Place dough in a greased bowl; brush top with soft shortening. Cover tightly with waxed paper. Store in refrigerator at least 2 hours before using (will keep about 5 days). When ready to use, punch down dough and cut off amount needed.

Glazed Braided Loaf
Use one-half the Basic Refrigerator Dough. Divide into 3 equal parts; roll each into a strand about 14-inches long. Place 3 strands on greased baking sheet, in shape of X. Place remaining strand lengthwise across center of X. Braid loosely from center to end; always cross with bottom strand. Place ends of strands together and tuck under braid. Repeat braid procedure with other half.

Cover lightly with damp cloth. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk, 1 to 2 hours. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until golden brown, about 25 to 30 minutes.

Garlic Bread's Easy

Serve garlic bread for added spice. To make it cut an unliced loaf of Vienna type bread in diagonal slices down to—but not through—the bottom crust. Spread each slice with garlic butter made by mashing 1/2 clove garlic into soft butter. Wrap the whole loaf in paper or foil. Put it in the oven and heat through. Serve garlic bread hot.

Be sure to defrost frozen corn on the cob before cooking.

utes. Brush or spread hot glaze on braid.

Glaze For Braid
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon butter
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
Combine corn syrup and butter in small saucepan. Boil 2 minutes, over low heat, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Brush or spread hot glaze on braid.

Cinnamon Twists
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
Combine sugar and cinnamon in small bowl. Roll dough into 12-inch square; brush with butter. Lightly mark into thirds. Combine sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle center section of dough with 3 tablespoons of the mixture. Fold one end section over center; sprinkle with 3 tablespoons of sugar-cinnamon mixture. Fold over remaining section of dough.

Cut into 12 strips 1-inch by 4-inches. Hold both ends of strip; twist tightly in opposite directions. Pinch each end together firmly to seal. Place about 1 1/2 inches apart on greased baking sheet. Cover lightly with damp cloth.

Let rise in warm place until double in bulk, 1 to 2 hours. Sprinkle tops with remaining sugar-cinnamon mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until golden brown, 20 to 25 minutes.

VARIED CUTS OF LAMB — Four ways to buy lamb are shown above. It's a meat offering a variety of cuts that are both economical and delicious. Ask your meat man for them.

Try New Cuts of Lamb for Economy, Variety

In the springtime or any other eating time, lamb can gamboil across your menus in many different and economical forms.

Leg of lamb and loin chops are undoubtedly favorites. But you can add variety with cuts like boneless sirloin roast, rolled shoulder, riblets and leg steaks. A sirloin roast is the broad upper end of a full leg of lamb and usually weighs 2 to 2 1/2 pounds. Rolled shoulder is an excellent choice for roasting. The meat is boned, rolled and tied and is easy to carve.

Economical riblets are strips cut from the breast attached to the rib bones. Lamb steaks are a good idea when you're planning to serve a leg of lamb roast. Ask the meat man to cut steaks from the sirloin end of the leg and you're all set with lamb for another meal.

Lamb Shoulder Roast with Pineapple

1 4-pound boned shoulder of lamb, rolled and tied
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup water
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1 1/2-pound 4-ounce can crushed pineapple

Cook lamb until browned on all sides. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add water; cover and cook 2 to 2 1/2 hours. Combine curry powder and pineapple and add to lamb. Cook for 15 minutes, turning occasionally. Serves 8.

Lamb Riblets with Bean Sprouts

2 pounds lamb riblets, cut in 1 1/2-inch pieces
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup water

Cook lamb until browned on all sides. Add seasonings and water. Cover and cook 1 hour or until lamb is tender. Add remaining ingredients and cook, covered, 10 minutes. Serves 4.

Slice Off Hamburgers — place, we find a simpler way to freezing, insert waxed paper between them. Shape meat into a tween each patty for easier separation of hamburger patties into roll and then cut it into slices. For don.

An assortment of relishes such as fresh grated coconut, grated raw carrot, sliced banana, chutney, or chopped peanuts are interesting to serve with curried meat and poultry dishes.

Special Menus Handled by Pan Am Air Kitchens

There isn't a restaurant in the world that serves meals meeting the dietary requirements of the Hindu, Jewish, Catholic, Moslem and Oriental faiths — but Pan American World Airways does.

The airline has 41 provisioning points all over the world catering to religious dietary requirements.

It can handle requests for salt-free meals, too.

The only thing Pan Am asks of passengers who want these special meals is that they give advance notice — a few days or even better a week before their flight departs.

Pan Am's kosher meals are prepared by a special caterer under orthodox rabbinical supervision. All the orthodox rituals are observed in the preparation of beef and chicken, vegetables, potatoes and bread. Separate plastic cutlery is provided, as the orthodox Jew cannot eat with cutlery that has touched dairy products or pork.

A typical Moslem menu, standard on some Pacific flights, goes like this: Breakfast — roti (pancakes) and boiled eggs; Lunch — vegetable curry with rice, tomato chutney and rice pudding; Dinner — chicken curry with rice, mango chutney and rice pudding. Chopsticks are standard equipment on all flights in this part of the world.

In catering to the tastes of nearly three million diners a year on flights reaching over 65,000 miles of routes to 82 lands, Pan American provides some 36 different types of regular dinner and lunch menus on a rotating basis — assuring all travelers a wide choice of meals. Even a round-the-world passenger on Pan Am is not likely to come upon the same meal twice.

Beat Sherry Into Cheese for Unusual 'Dunk'

With more and more hostesses offering Spanish sherry to their guests at cocktail parties these days, the question arises as to what appetizers are best to accompany sherry. Cheese is always good, and a wonderful cheese dip can be made by adding fino sherry to soft cheddar cheese, beating with a fork until the consistency of thick cream.

Use about one third cup sherry to 1/4 pound cheese. This makes a quick and easy "dunk" for crackers or crisp vegetable relishes. For a heartier snack, dip chunks of Italian bread or pumpernickel into the cheese. Especially good with glasses of very dry fino sherry.

Zippy Hollandaise

Hollandaise sauce, so good with spring vegetables such as asparagus, can be given new personality by the addition of a little Tabasco. Made from tiny red Tabasco peppers, the seasoning is indispensable in sauces and gravies.

Cheese Gives Oomph to Scrambled Eggs

Melt three tablespoons of butter in a saucepan. Blend in three tablespoons of flour and one-quarter teaspoon salt, and let bubble together. Remove from heat, and add one cup milk all at once. Cook over low heat, stirring until thickened. Remove from heat and add one-half cup grated American cheese.

Break four eggs in hot butter in skillet and stir with fork. Just before eggs are set, add cheese sauce. Stir lightly and serve.

Canned Food a Bargain

The most recent release of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that retail prices of canned fruits and vegetables for January were up 0.7 per cent compared with a 1.3 per cent rise in all food prices. In fact, the consumer today is spending only 6 per cent more for canned foods than she did in 1947-48, compared with an 13 per cent rise for "all foods" during the same period.

Low Calorie Desserts Satisfying

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

From a reader in Rochester comes a request to include more low-calorie recipes, especially those for desserts. Then the picture and recipe for Pineapple Pots O' Gold came in. Both led up quite naturally to this article.

Fresh fruit, of course, is the ideal dessert for people on a diet. But we appreciate the fact that everyone gets hungry for something sweet occasionally.

This pineapple dessert recipe is a frozen one. There are several ways you can serve it, depending on how fancy you want to be.

Pineapple Pots O' Gold

2 egg whites
Pinch of salt
1/4 cup sugar
1 bottle of No. 1 flat can crushed pineapple

Turn refrigerator control to coldest setting. Beat egg whites with salt to soft peak stage, then add sugar gradually and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Fold in undrained pineapple; freeze in waxed cups or refrigerator tray until firm — about 2 hours. Makes 6 servings.

FLOWER POTS: Fill six 4-oz. waxed cups with mixture. Insert into center of cups a plastic or cellophane straw cut to desired height. Place in freezer. Just before serving, insert flower in straw to complete flower pot effect.

OTHER SERVING SUGGESTIONS: Spoon from refrigerator tray into sherbet dishes. Or cut into wedges; make two cuts across tray to divide into three portions, then cut diagonally across each "square" to make six wedges. We looked through our folder on recipes for dieters. Surprisingly enough, all the other dessert recipes we found had coffee as one of the ingredients. We're giving you two of them that are different in both flavor and texture. The first one uses gelatin.

Low-Calorie Coffee Blanc Mango

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 cups skim milk
2 teaspoons liquid no-calorie sweetener

1 teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

2 teaspoons instant coffee powder
Grated rind of 1/2 lemon

Soften gelatin in 2 tablespoons skim milk; beat remaining milk; dissolve gelatin in hot milk. Add remaining ingredients; chill until syrrupy. Beat thickened gelatin with rotary beater until mixture doubles in volume. Pour into individual serving dishes or 1-quart mold. Chill well. Makes 5 servings (35 calories each) or 8 servings (30 calories each).

*Sweeteners vary; sweeten to taste.

This last recipe is from a new book of low-calorie desserts called by Poppy Cannon a well-known food writer. It contains recipes for 150 desserts. Each dessert contains 100 calories or less per serving. This recipe starts with a package of low-calorie chocolate pudding.

Mocha Fluff

1 envelope low-calorie chocolate pudding
1/2 cup liquid instant coffee
1 cup liquid instant nondairy milk

1 egg white
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon chopped walnuts or low-calorie whipped topping

Add 1 envelope low-calorie chocolate pudding and 1/2 teaspoon instant coffee to 1 cup liquid instant nondairy milk in small saucepan. Beat with beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Heat and stir until mixture comes to a full bubbling boil. Remove from heat. Beat 1 egg white until foamy. Add gradually 1 tablespoon sugar and beat until stiff. Stir pudding gradually into the egg white, blending lightly and well. Spoon into 4 sherbet or champagne glasses and chill until set. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts or top with low-calorie whipped topping. Makes 4 servings.

As soon as baked custards are ready to come from the oven, they should be removed from their hot water bath and surrounded with cold water.

If You'll Do the Work the Price is Lower

According to home economists grapefruit sections vary in cost and in the amount of time it takes to prepare them for the table. You can buy canned or frozen grapefruit already sectioned or fresh grapefruit and section it yourself. A medium sized grapefruit will yield two servings.

A 13 1/2-ounce can of frozen sections will provide three servings and a 1-pound can of canned sections will give you four servings. Comparing the prices at the market will help you determine which is the best bargain for you.

Add sliced pineapple-stuffed olives to oyster sauce and serve with braised or broiled chicken.

FLOWERS THAT BLOOM — Fresh as a daisy and garnished with the same thing, these little cups of a low-calorie dessert will be welcome at your next luncheon. Pineapple Pots

O' Gold are as refreshing as springtime itself. They're so quick and easy to prepare you'll want to have them often.

Low Priced Fryers Need Little Time to Prepare

With spring comes extra household jobs, so naturally a woman's fancy turns to quick easy meals. When time is at a premium, let convenience foods come to the rescue suggests the Marketing Information Agent.

Convenience foods chosen most often by all families in the North Central region of the United States are bread, canned vegetables, ready-to-eat cereals, salad dressing, ground beef, ice cream and canned fruits.

Frozen prepared foods in greatest demand are pot pies, fish sticks, dinners and fruit pies.

MEAT SELECTIONS

A fryer may be your easy-to-prepare meat choice. Supplies are larger. Prices are generally between 25 and 45 cents per pound depending upon whether ready-to-eat birds are whole or cut for frying. Allowing 1 1/2 servings from each pound, cost per person would be between 26 to 34 cents.

If you have less time than usual, barbecue the fryer in the oven or cook it in a casserole with rice. No watching needed.

Roasts can save you time in the kitchen. A Boston butt which comes from the pork shoulder is one of the most economical at 18 to 21 cents per serving. Veal or lamb shoulder and leg roasts range from 24 to 30 cents per serving.

Broiler foods are quick-to-cook. Broiled hamburger is a friend of the budget, but it needs flavor changes to keep the family interested. The following butter spreads make hamburgers taste different: two tablespoons butter mixed with 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce; 1 tablespoon prepared mustard; 2 tablespoons blue cheese; or 2 tablespoons chopped chives.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

You won't be disappointed in quality or price if you choose carrots or cabbage for this week's menus.

If you choose potatoes, be more careful at this season. The old potatoes have a tendency to sprout if kept in a warm place. When shopping, buy in family size quantities that can be used within a week. Keep them in a dark place where the temperature is around 50 degrees.

Pineapple supplies are increasing with peak supplies expected in May. One medium pineapple will yield from 3 to 3 1/2 cups of peeled and cubed fruit. If you want a quick easy method for cutting pineapple, write Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, 1200 West Boulevard, Pontiac.

Banana prices continue very reasonable at 10 to 17 cents a pound. At room temperature, bananas ripen and gain in flavor and texture. Fully ripe bananas are yellow flecked with brown. Are fine for eating out of hand, mashing, ice creams, milk shakes.

The refrigerator is the place for apples and citrus if you intend to keep the quality you buy. Use within a few days.

Add to your shelf quick-to-prepare canned vegetables, fruits and juices. Besides saving time, these can often save you money—especially at this season when many fresh vegetable and fruit choices are in light supply.

Smallest Bits of Ham Find Way Into Menu

If leftover ham is a standing problem in your home, try these few suggestions. Cut ham into cubes and combine it with hard-cooked egg and mushrooms for a ham a la king serving. Serve this on toasted corn bread for a superb combination.

For any small bits of leftover ham, simply put them through the food grinder, combine with mayonnaise or some type of a salad dressing, add a little pickle relish for flavor and use it as a spread.

Warm Orange Sauce

In a small saucepan, saute 2 tablespoons sliced almonds in 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Blend in 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Add 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup fresh orange juice and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add 1/2 teaspoon almond extract. Serve warm over cakes, puddings or ice cream. Makes 1 scant cup.

Cinnamon Candy Dessert

Cinnamon Candy Apple Pudding is a party-ish treat for the youngsters and one that's a simple one-two-three to make: Cover bottom of baking dish with a layer of canned apple slices, over this sprinkle bread crumbs and on top of all at thick layer of red cinnamon candies. Dot with butter and bake 1/2 hour at 375 degrees. Serve with cream. (On second thought, Dad will go for this delectable dessert, too.)

Frozen Souffle Never Falls

A sure way to a gourmet cook reputation is to climax your dinner with that celestial flight of fancy, the dessert-souffle, hot from the oven or—surprise!—cold from the freezer.

The frozen souffle, currently the rage of Paris, is quite as elegant as its hot counterpart and more novel. It is also easy to make and can be prepared and frozen days ahead.

Because a proper souffle is all flavor and because Myra Waldo, noted cook and author of such books as the Complete Round the World Cook Book, is famous for hers, she was asked for her favorite. Here it is, lemon souffle, a place made with pure lemon extract, and a sensation every time she serves it.

As with any souffle, Miss Waldo says you start with the right-size straight-sided souffle dish or casserole—for this recipe, 1 1/2 quart capacity. To control the souffle's puff, make a collar of wax paper, folded lengthwise, buttered and fastened around the outside of the dish. It would stand about 2 inches above the rim.

Lemon Souffle Glaze
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup water
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream

4 egg whites
1 1/2 tablespoons pure lemon extract
Softened gelatin in the water. Beat egg yolks and sugar in the top of a double boiler until thick and light. Place over hot water and cook, stirring constantly until frothy and hot. Add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Cool 15 minutes. Blend in pure lemon extract.

Whip cream and fold into lemon mixture. Then beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in gently.

Butter your wax paper collar and tie it around a 1 1/2 quart souffle dish. Turn mixture into dish. Freeze. Remove collar carefully. Wrap souffle in freezer paper or aluminum foil; store in freezer until half an hour before serving. If desired, garnish with blanched, toasted almonds.

Use Prepared Sauce in Shrimp Casserole

For a sparkling dish, easily made, mix up canned spaghetti in tomato sauce with cooked shrimp. You'll feel the atmosphere of Naples as you enjoy this bit of Old Italy!

Lightly brown 1/2 cup cooked shrimp with 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1/2 small clove garlic (minced) and dash marjoram in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir in 1 can (15 1/2 ounces) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese. Heat thoroughly. You'll be glad you served this to two or three friends or family.

Cocoa Muffins Are Unusual

Any homemaker who knows her way around the kitchen, welcomes the variety of menu uses that quick breads supply. For instance, this new and different recipe for Chocolate Muffins fills the bill for brunch, tea time, party time or between meal snacks.

Combining the basic muffin ingredients, this recipe rises out of the ordinary with the addition of whole bran cereal, nutmeats and cocoa. The batter can be quickly mixed together and quickly baked, making these muffins a nice choice also for warm weather days.

Chocolate Muffins
1 cup whole bran cereal
1 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup chopped nutmeats

Combine bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and cocoa; mix with nutmeats. Add to first mixture, stirring only until combined. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: 12 muffins, 1 1/4 inches in diameter.

Bake Onions in Cheese

If your food budget is searching for an economical vegetable to serve with a pork roast, why not cook Michigan globe onions until just fork-tender. Then bake them in a cheese sauce, suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. One pound of onions will make four servings.

Bitters Point Up Glaze

To point up the flavor of your favorite glaze, use one part aromatic bitters to two parts of your favorite sugar syrup, be it honey, maple syrup, brown sugar or white sugar. Or, for a different, golden, crispy glaze, simply mix 2 teaspoons aromatic bitters with 2 teaspoons granulated sugar and spread over ham during last 15 minutes of baking.

Creamed celery with blanched halved almonds adds interesting flavor and texture to spring meals.

BAKED DOUGHNUTS—Imagine being able to bake a batch of doughnuts instead of standing over a kettle of hot fat and frying them. These delicious "sinkers" have added good flavor, coming from the bran cereal used in the recipe.

Rainbow-Topped Dessert

Dessert for a school lunch day: ready-to-serve apple sauce piled into bakers' sponge cake shells and prettied up with a scattering of colored candy shot over the top. The youngsters will love this dessert. So will Mother—it's so easy to prepare, yet tastes so good.

Bake Doughnuts for New Taste

Baked doughnuts may be something you have never thought of making. There are many advantages to this type of doughnut.

For one thing, they have less fat in them; that will please many people in these days of low-fat diets. Easier to make than most regular doughnuts, these are exceptionally light and tender. Serve plain or with a simple powdered sugar icing.

Baked Doughnuts

1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon (optional)
1 cup whole bran cereal
2 cakes compressed or 2 packages dry granular yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, slightly beaten
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Pour hot milk over shortening. Stir in sugar, salt, spices and bran cereal. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water; add to bran mixture together with eggs, mixing well. Add flour and mix thoroughly. Cover and let stand in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Turn dough out on well-floured board; shape into a ball. (Dough will be very soft to handle.) Roll out lightly to about 1/2 inch in thickness. Be careful not to stretch dough. Cut with floured 3-inch doughnut cutter. Place about 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets.

Brush with melted butter and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 30 minutes. Cool and ice with thin confectioners' icing or decorate as desired. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) rate as desired. Use a few drops of orange food coloring in meringues for apricot or orange pie. Keep bacon slices from tearing by separating them with a rubber spatula.

PARTICLES WHIRL
IN A UNIVERSE,
IN AN ATOM!

QUESTION: Will you please explain an atom so I can understand it?

ANSWER: To know what an atom is, you first have to know what an element is:

If we took the earth and everything on it and broke it all down, we would have piles of more than 100 different kinds of material. Each of these materials we call an element. Iron is an element. Copper is another. Tin is still another. Water is a combination of two elements, oxygen and hydrogen.

If we took a hunk of iron and began to break it down, we could go only so far. The last and smallest piece that was still iron would be only an atom of iron. It would consist of a core or nucleus and a bunch of electrons revolving about the nucleus. None of these pieces of the atom would be iron, but together in that special combination they would be the smallest bit of iron possible.

FOR YOU TO DO: This has been called the "atomic age" because so many new things are concerned with the atom. To help yourself and your country in this age, you should plan now to learn all you can in the future about atoms and how they act.

(Eileen Hays of Akron, Ohio, gets our $10 award today for this question. Send yours on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newfeatures, in care of The Pontiac Press. Tomorrow: How long can a whale stay under water?)

Giraffe's Heart Intrigues Navy

Blood Pressure of 360
Might Suggest Plan for Treating Apoplexy

WASHINGTON — Giraffes fascinate heart disease specialists and the United States Navy.

The heart doctors are interested in learning how the animal handles the extremely high blood pressure needed to force blood 12 feet up its neck to its head. Blood pressure of about 120 millimeters is considered normal for a man, but giraffes live comfortably with a pressure of 360. More knowledge about the giraffe might lead to new treatments for heart disease and apoplexy.

The Navy is intrigued by the way the giraffe keeps its brain properly supplied with blood, as its head moves from seven feet below its heart when the animal is drinking to 12 feet above when the giraffe stands upright.

Airplane pilots may "black out" when changing direction at high speeds, because centrifugal force pulls blood away from their heads. Or the pilots may "red out" when blood has rushed to their heads.

HAS 25-POUND HEART

Study of the giraffe's blood system began in earnest several years ago in South Africa where giraffes are plentiful. German-born physiologist Robert Goetz found that the giraffe has a 25-pound heart — 40 times heavier than a man's — and a one-inch-thick jugular vein equipped with a series of valves to stop sudden surges of blood.

The Office of Naval Research and the American Heart Association joined in supporting the giraffe study. Now scientists are acquiring considerable knowledge about the giraffe's blood hydraulics.

Dr. James Warren of Duke University reported recently that the giraffe's blood vessels are muscularly thick-walled, yet elastic, to accommodate high blood pressure. The animal's thick, tight skin, weighing about 100 pounds, may operate like a pilot's G-suit. A G-suit exerts pressure against a man's body to prevent blood from shifting away from his head.

Giraffes range up to about 19 feet in height, making them the tallest creatures in the world. Biologist Julian Huxley has called them "the most spectacularly improbable of mammals." But despite the great length of their necks, giraffes have only seven cervical vertebrae, in common with other mammals, including man.

Traffic Snarls Spur Interest in Monorails

WASHINGTON — Traffic congestion in cities has spurred new interest in monorail trains.

Industry uses many single-track railways to transport material from one section of a plant to another. But railroads have generally favored the two-rail track, although proponents claim that monorails can often provide a more practical means of transportation.

One of the best known monorails runs under Capitol Hill in Washington. The 760-foot line, going from the Senate Office Building to the Capitol, has carried senators back and forth for nearly half a century.

An eight-mile-long monorail in the Wupper Valley near Cologne, Germany, was built early in the 20th century. Its trains are suspended from an overhead rail. The line is still operating and has carried millions of passengers without a fatality.

In recent years, Swedish interests have developed a monorail train called Alweg which straddles its rail instead of hanging from it. Engineers say that the train's center of gravity is so low that derailling is impossible, and that it can reach speeds of 220 miles an hour. Air-filled tires not only make it quiet, but allow faster starting speeds.

The train can climb much steeper grades than a conventional railroad, take curves without slowing down, and can carry the same cargo up to four times faster with about the same amount of energy. British officials, who recently inspected an Alweg train in Germany's Ruhr, have considered installing a similar line to connect central London with London Airport.

Man Missing in Jail; Police Give Him Away

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — Petersburg police were able to write one missing person's report off their records — Rodest Rieux was found in jail.

Rieux was arrested on a driving charge and fined $50. Unable to pay, he was returned to jail.

His wife, who hadn't heard from him for several days, reported him missing. When he was found, the fine was paid and Rieux was released.

Steals Wrong Suit

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — It's a pretty good bet that the person who stole a package from a parked car here won't wear the contents. The car belong to Patrolman T. C. Van Zile and the package contained a pure police uniform.

Dear Abby....

You're Wise to Wonder

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am wrong but I would like your opinion. Our son is serious about a young schoolteacher who seems like a nice person. She is the only daughter of a widow who lives in another town.

She invited my son and me to her apartment for dinner. I couldn't help but notice a stack of unopened letters on her desk.

From the postmarks they had been there over three weeks. She made some remark about wishing she "had time to get around" to reading her MOTHER'S letters. I felt very bad for her mother. Now I have it in my head that this girl would not make a good wife for my son. Am I wrong?

A WIDOW ALSO

DEAR WIDOW: A girl who hasn't time to read her mother's letters is not my candidate for the ideal wife. You are wise to wonder, and your son would be wise to make haste slowly.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a man who doesn't like to be kissed? He says he got fed up with it when he was a kid as he was the only boy in the family with seven sisters. I am engaged to marry this man. I am 28 and he is 33. How can I change his mind?

NOT KISSED

DEAR NOT: Quit kissing him like a sister.

DEAR ABBY: I am a Girl Scout and am trying to earn a merit badge. One of the requirements is to take care of a dog or cat for three months. Everytime I try to do something for my pet, my great-aunt (she lives with us) steps in to "show me how to do it" and she does it herself.

One of the things a Girl Scout must be is TRUTHFUL. I want to get the merit badge at the awards banquet in May. What should I do?

GIRL SCOUT

DEAR GIRL: A Girl Scout is also "courteous" — so let your great-aunt "show you

Dinner Honors Bosses

Members and guests of Tipacon Chapter, American Business Women's Association, took a quick trip to Paris last night.

The occasion was their fifth annual "Boss Night" dinner, when members entertained their bosses. Paris in this instance was not so far away—the business women and guests traveled only to Oakland Hills Country Club.

FRENCH FLAVOR

But the theme "April in Paris" was so well carried out that little imagination was needed to pretend the event was being held in the gay French capital.

A miniature Eiffel Tower marked the speakers' table; placecards and favors bore out the Parisian theme; the menu was in French and the speaker of the evening obligingly took as his subject: "April in Paris U.S.A." A final touch was a convincingly French cigarette girl, portrayed by club member Georgia Lee Richardson.

Speaker of the evening was the Rev. Robert Richards, pastor of the Saline Methodist Church. A native of Wales, where he once worked as a coal miner, he told of his coming to America and to Detroit after the close of World War I, and of his regard for his adopted country as a naturalized citizen.

He developed the theme that any small town in America can be Paris, U.S.A., and has more to offer in freedom and the good things of life than the entire French city of the same name.

POOR ARE RICH

"Only the native-born Americans are critical of our country," he said. "Here even the poorest is rich and I'd rather live here with empty pockets than in any other land with my pockets full."

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lindquist entertained with vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Addison K. Oakley. Mrs. Evelyn Cole was toastmistress, introduced by Mrs. Ossie Gates, president of the chapter.

S. M. Gastren, of GM Truck & Coach Division, spoke briefly on behalf of the bosses present. Invocation and benediction was given by the Rev. Edward Auchard.

Mrs. Ida McCullough of Goring street announces the engagement of her daughter, Judith Anne, to William Edward Shipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bernard of South Edith street. The couple is planning a May wedding.

Star Dust Ball Will Be Given Saturday Night

Pontiac Country Club will be the scene of the first annual "Star Dust Ball" sponsored by the St. Bernadette Guild and the Men's Club of St. Benedict Catholic Church Saturday evening.

Mrs. S. J. Salvatore and Wayne Miller are serving on the ticket committee. Decorations are being handled by Mrs. Richard Pfeiffer and Felix Ballard. Publicity cochairmen are Mrs. Dennis Manko and Toby Parle.

It's Relaxing, Yet Invigorating

Massage From Shoulder to Scalp

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Nothing more restful could happen to a woman than to go to a beauty salon and have a really scientific scalp massage. After one of these you feel limp all over, but peppy, too. The kinks are taken out of the shoulder and neck muscles and the entire head tingles delightfully.

Actually, our scalp massage should begin over the shoulders in the back, continue on up to the muscles of the neck and on to the scalp itself. While you cannot give yourself this massage as effectively as someone else could, you CAN do a part-way job which will be beneficial.

Do it this way: Sit in a comfortable chair. Wear loose clothing. Press your thumbs into the structure at the base of the skull and work around the neck, using a rotary motion.

After a while turn your hands around and dig into your shoulder muscles with your fingers. After this spread your fingers and use a rotary motion to massage your entire scalp. When you finish it should be pink.

You can also do this at your dressing table. Place your elbows on the table and put your head in your hands and massage. This is helpful when your arms become tired.

TOWARD THE SCALP

How you brush your hair makes the difference! The bristles should be turned toward the scalp. As you sweep the brush toward the ends of the hair turn the brush upward toward the ceiling. If you will do this correctly it provides a gentle pull.

Many authorities like the following method: Sit on a low stool with your knees separated. Bend your trunk and drop your head down between your legs. Brush, using the same principal, OR—you can stand and bend from the waist and brush. This position brings more blood to the head.

It takes maintained and faithful effort but great improvement can be made in the condition of your tangle. Experts know, from experience, that stimulation from brushing and massage, cleanliness, good health, habits and proper food can improve the beauty of the hair and can prevent or delay unattractive hair conditions.

If you would like my leaflet to Josephine Lowman in care of "Stars in Your Crown" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 52.

Tomorrow: "She Has a High Smile and Wants to Lower It."

Here's how to give yourself a massage. Press your thumbs into the structure at the base of the skull and work around the neck, using a rotary motion. Then dig into your shoulder muscles with your fingers. After this, spread your fingers and use a rotary motion to massage your entire scalp.

'Youth Is and Forever Will Be the Hope of World'

Teachers View Teenagers With Optimism

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Week after week we've listened to teenagers tell what they think about their parents, teachers, the local police force, and nearly everyone else within their constantly expanding world.

Now, for once, let's turn the tables. How do adults feel about the current crop of teenagers?

One group in a good position to know are the teachers.

Not only do they have a deep interest in teenagers and their problems but they also have responsibility for steering youthful energy and enthusiasm into proper channels. To their professional care is entrusted the future of America.

In a nationwide survey of more than 400 teachers, ranging from kindergarten to high school, we found that school personnel are unfailingly optimistic about the future of today's teenagers, but at the same time they are frankly worried about the growing problems of youth. Nine out of every 10 teachers contacted in this poll said that the future was in good hands, but 6 out of 10 thought that juvenile delinquency was increasing and less than one out of 10 thought it was decreasing.

Are today's teenagers really a breed apart?

We put the question this way to the teachers: "Do you feel that today's youngsters are the same or different from yourself at that age?"

Different, answered 63 per cent of the teachers.

"Home conditions are so different," explained Stella C. Klopp, a Los Angeles high school teacher. "There is less parental control and training, less love, less respect for elders."

She was not alone in shifting the blame back onto the parents. Many teachers blamed broken homes, working mothers, a general letdown in parental authority and "too much drinking in the home" for the rebellious attitude of today's teenagers.

A San Antonio, Tex., high school principal saw a tie-in between "lack of responsibility and earlier Rosalie Savarone of Birmingham, Mich., commented that the influences of rock 'n' roll, Elvis and other fads" are partly responsible for the negative attitude that teenagers have toward their schoolwork.

Added Mrs. Faye Felchner of Waukegan, Ill. "If something is difficult, they want to give it up. If it isn't fun, they don't like it."

An overwhelming majority of the teachers were in favor of making teenagers knuckle down to their school work as one answer to the problem.

Say Farewell to Agony of Breaking In Footgear

NEW YORK — The agonizing break-in period for new shoes — for many the epitome of man's inhumanity to man — is now a thing of the past.

The manufacture of lasts—the foot-shaped blocks of wood on which shoes are formed—is now so far advanced that virtually any foot size can be mass-produced with precision.

THE WHOLE FOOT
Whereas just a decade ago only the heel and vamp received any attention, now lasts are carefully modeled with every part of the human foot in mind.

So many size variations are made into lasts as a matter of routine, that even people with broad insteps and extremely narrow heels, for instance, can be comfortably shod right from the start.

Improved construction, featuring flexibility, is another factor in eliminating break-in periods. Shoes are now designed to bend with the foot and support it in action as well as at rest.

The use of softer, more pliable materials is the third factor. New and vastly improved tanning methods have taken the stiffness out of leathers.

NUMEROUS FIBERS
An unprecedented range of soft natural and synthetic fibers, alone and in combination with leathers, has also played a part.

The net result is a new shoe whose comfort gives the wearer no reason to look back at his old shoes with regret.

Old shoes are now reduced to the social status of cigar butts — they should be discarded, as quickly as possible.

And although it undoubtedly meant more work for the teacher, 85 per cent went on record in favor of increasing the amount of homework given, while only 15 per cent would decrease the amount.

"Increase it," insisted high school teacher Beatrice Miller of Springfield, Mass. "It will foster individual responsibility and achievement."

"Homework should not be increased merely as a chore assignment," said a Los Angeles supervisor. "It must be purposeful. It can become a creative activity."

REFLECT PARENTS
Said a Hornell, N. Y., teacher: "They reflect the manners of their parents and the manners of the general public. Both are poorer today."

Some teachers felt that today's teenagers want to be courteous but never have learned how.

"Their attitude is courteous and polite down inside," suggested a Colfax, Wash., teacher, "but they do not make much show of formal manners. They aren't impolite but they are untrained."

Despite everything, teachers abounded in optimism about the future generation.

"The majority are very intelligent," said an Enid, Okla., teacher. "They are ambitious for success. They will create and help establish a new culture politically, socially and scientifically."

BASICALLY GOOD
"Basically they are good," added a Gardner, Kan., teacher.

"Youth is and forever will be the hope of the world."

Most felt this way, but a Yellow Springs, Ohio, teacher had his doubts: "Today's teenagers are much too selfish, too unreliable, too lacking in humility."

And for all their airs of independence and rebellion, insisted a Haxton, Ohio, teacher, teenagers are listening when adults talk about them.

"They are concerned about what people are saying and are determined to show their elders that they can meet the needs of the future."

The trapeze lines of the new Dior silhouette, flat over the hips and a slope to the hemline, is truly a feminine, flattering line to hips and certainly to legs with the short skirts. Easier on not-so-slim legs than tight hemline.

Stylish Little Lambs Have Turned Mulish

By RUTH MILLETT

If I want to start an anti-sack club, my mail has given me a list of potential members.

When I recently wrote a column making fun of the sack, I thought most of the letters from those who felt the same way about the style would be from men.

A few of them have been. But the majority of "amen" letters are from women.

And while they were at it, some of my women readers offered a few suggestions to the fashion designers along with their candid comments on the sack.

They say they are tired of the no-thicker-than-a-matchstick heel, as well as the pointed toe.

They are tired of having to tiptoe across gratings for fear of getting a heel caught and falling flat on their faces. They don't like the pointed toes that make their feet look big and at the same time pinch their toes.

And some of them wish dress designers would realize that there are a lot of women who wear size 12 who don't want to look like teenagers. "All the clothes I can find in my size," says one petite reader, "have been designed for my teenage daughter. How about adult styles in small sizes?" she asks.

Obviously, women are getting a bit tired of being pushed around by fashion instead of being lured by becoming and appropriate styles.

More than a few letters state sadly, "I almost hate to go shopping. It is so hard to find anything I really like."

That's the statement that ought to make the designers prick up their ears and listen to the little woman.

For when shopping becomes a dreaded chore to a woman, that's bad, bad news for the fashion industry. If its leaders are smart they ought to get the idea that maybe this year they have gone a little too far in regarding women as a bunch of sheep.

Get Wool Shirts That Will Wash

Let him have all the wool shirts he wants—now that the new ones are machine-washable. There's no more need for expensive upkeep for wool shirts, no wondering whether you dare wash them yourself.

The blends of wool fibers with synthetic fibers have solved these problems. Now men are finding out what it means to buy washable clothing—what it means in economy, and in comfort because nothing feels better than clothes fresh from laundering.

Keep reminding him to look for machine-washables when he shops.

Retirement Years May Cheat Wives

By BEULAH STOWE
Many women fail to get a square deal in the retirement years.

Here are five ways in which wives and widows are still being made the victims of a man's world:

1. Many annuities purchased from insurance companies provide for a monthly payment only as long as the husband, as the annuitant, lives. When he dies his widow is left without the monthly stipend which she has come to count on. (Wives, when your husband buys an annuity, make sure it provides for you, too, after his death.)

SAME SYSTEM

2. Many pension plans sponsored by corporations operate the same way. Payments stop when the husband, as a former employee of the company, dies. (Wives, check up on your husband's pension plan at his place of business. In some cases he can accept a part-pension, instead of full pension, when he retires, with the provision that payments continue to his widow, should he die first.)

3. If a wage-earning husband and a homemaker wife are divorced, regardless of cause, the wife loses all claim to her share of her husband's social security after retirement.

Only exception to this occurs when the divorced wife has in her care a minor child who is entitled to payments from the insured father. (Wives, write your congressman. You devoted your working years to keeping house for your husband; you should be entitled to your one-half of his social security payment after 62.)

4. When a man retires from his job, a wife can't retire from her housework. Her husband has done his stint of working, and he's through. She's done her stint of dishwashing, but she's not through, and she never will be. (Wives, prepare for your own retirement by mapping out a life where housekeeping is easier or your husband is more helpful.)

NEGLECT WILLS

5. Some husbands seem to be stubborn about making wills. If a man dies without a will, it often takes his wife a year or more to settle the estate. Added to this, in some states, their children inherit two-thirds of his estate — large or small — and his widow receives one-third.

Unless the children waive claim to their share, the widow is left with a fraction of the money she helped her husband earn and save. (Wives, consult an attorney yourself and have a will for your husband drawn up, before you let this happen to you.)

Q — "My two married children want me to come and live with them. I am a widow. Have a home valued at about $35,000. It is too big for me to live in alone, and it is expensive to maintain.

"I have an income of about $63 a month from social security and dividends from stocks. My children both live in cities hundreds of miles away from my own home — the closest is 400 miles from me. What would you advise me to do?"—A.M.S.

A — All "good" children think they "ought" to ask a widowed mother to live with them. Have a try at your own salvation first. Why not sell the house and invest that $35,000 at 4 per cent?

With another $1,400 a year in dividends you could rent a small apartment in your town and then sublet it while you go to visit your children. People like you have found that independence, too, has value.

Be Sure to Have Reservation OK'd

If you write a hotel for a reservation, be sure to ask to have it confirmed. Then take your letter confirming the reservation with you.

If there is a mix-up, you may need the confirmation to prove you reserved a room for a certain date.

Congo Missionaries Present Pictures

Mr. and Mrs. William Battishill, missionaries from the Belgian Congo, showed slides and presented a skit depicting their work to members of the Loyal Philanthropic Class of First Baptist Church when that group met for a cooperative dinner in the church Fellowship Hall.

Alma Fremed and her committee were in charge of the Tuesday dinner. The next meeting will be held May 13 at the church.

Past Grands Meet

The home of Mrs. William Schuark in Rochester was opened to members of the Past Noble Grands of Pontiac Rebekah Lodge 450 Tuesday evening. Mrs. Don Bussard will hostess the May 13 meeting at her home on Clinton River drive.

Legs Take the Top Spot in 1958 Fashion Interest

PARIS (INS) — To be "à la mode" this year, start from the bottom — not the top.

KNEES PEER OUT

You can wear slim skirts that hobble, or pleated ones that flare. The test for the right skirt length is sitting down. When your knees peek out, your skirt will be of the right length when you stand up.

Hips and waist are not important, but the midriff is. The newest Paris chemises are slightly indented under the bust at the midriff. Mark this strategic point by a bow, a half-belt, drapes or simply a flower.

You can cheat in last year's fitted sheath by wearing it with a matching long stole. You place the stole high up at the neck in front like a muffler. Let its ends dangle loose at the back down to the skirt hem like cape panels.

And turn in the skirt hems of all your old dresses to show at least 17 or 18 inches of your legs.

Deserted Parent Instinctively Grabs Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I know a young woman whose divorced parents separated when she was 5 years old. She still remembers the night of the separation.

She was awakened by the sound of her father's shouting. She heard her mother begin to cry. Gradually, the shouting became a murmur and the crying stopped. Then all at once the two voices rose again, competing, louder and louder until she put her head under the covers to subdue them for herself.

When she dared listen again, there was silence. It was broken by the sound of her father's car.

She heard it back down the drive under her window.

Then the door of her room was flung open. Switching on the light, her mother cried, "Wake up! Daddy's gone! He doesn't love us any more!"

Of this heartbroken appeal for strength, the grown child said coldly, "Mother had no right to say that Daddy didn't love me. He did. He still does. It was Mother he didn't love. I'll never forgive her for trying to drag me on to her spot with her."

I thought, "Children whose homes are dissolving around them must not be asked for anything."

The child of a marital split is too split himself to tolerate any pull on his loyalty. If we insist on claiming him for our side of the adult tug of war, we set up new problems for ourselves in resentment we may never be able to overcome.

The parent sinking in marital disaster is in no position to register this. Lost in panic, he will grab at any human contact in sight to escape the realization of his loneliness.

So warning him that it is dangerous to grab at his child is like telling a drowning man that the person beside him cannot swim either. He's too scared to hear you—and will reach for his neighbor's throat anyway.

But a friend can register for the frightened parent. A responsible lifesaver slaps the drowning man whose panic hampers his own rescue. He strikes at the hysteria. I think it is, also, a friend's responsibility to strike at the hysteria of parents drowning in marital distress.

If we love them, it is our duty to say sternly, "Leave the child alone! Here, take my hand instead."

Red, White, Blue Room Flags Down Compliments

CHICAGO (INS) — If you'd like a different, but feminine background for your bedroom, try red, white and blue — with stripes.

Dorothy Draper, New York City decorator, adapted the American flag's colors to a swank woman's boudoir in a model room at the 1958 Leather in Decoration Show in Chicago.

wall-to-wall carpeting of tulle, and flag red velvet on French period furniture, painted white and gold.

The windows were hung with glove-soft white leather draperies trimmed in gold bouillon fringe, the kind worn as epaulets on military dress uniforms.

Chemises Disdained by Sophie

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Not a chemise showed its straight face at one San Francisco spring display.

The Sophie collection, presented by a smart shop, followed the feminine form in natural flattering lines.

BRING MOTION Panels and overskirts brought motion to suits, dresses and party frocks.

A slate gray dress with long snug sleeves was graceful with a floating back panel, marked by two rows of buttons. Low panels on both the front and back of a black silk crepe fluttered at a step.

Side skirt panels gave a fluid ease to a dress and jacket ensemble of dark silk in a tiny print.

A navy dress called Sophie's "answer to the chemise" hugged the figure, then dramatized it with a wide panel falling from a deep curved back yoke.

BUTTONED UP

Slubbed silks in beige, pale gray and black for suits and dresses were all buttoned up with double rows on jacket fronts and backs, in a line down the sleeve, above hip-line pleats.

Unpressed pleats, some so wide they gave a wrap effect, rippled in the skirts.

Costumes with print frocks and featherweight wool coats lined with matching print curved from the waist into gently flaring skirts.

As important to good grooming as bathing frequently or keeping your face scrubbed is keeping your hair shiny clean. Shampoo hair as often as necessary to keep it looking good.

BPW Discusses Parley

At a Tuesday evening meeting of Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club in Hotel Waldron, plans were made to attend the state convention of BPW Clubs. Dates for the convention, to be held at Hotel Statler-Hilton in Detroit, are May 16 through 18.

Several members will attend the biennial convention of the National Federation of BPW this summer in Seattle, Wash. Mary Eleanor Lockman, Josephine Seeley and Mrs. Raymond Cole, members of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the club year.

Hostesses for April are Mrs. M. D. Stapp, Mrs. Dorothy Reardon, Mrs. W. C. Salton, Miss Seeley, Mrs. Ella Sheffield and Mrs. George Shillaire.

Rest Before Meal Improves Digestion

Resting 15 minutes before eating may do wonders for the digestion. Many eat when overtired and upset, which only makes eating a struggle.

Wait a bit before eating and try to relax. Your digestion will be better and so will you.

Conceal Baby Fat With Right Attire

Young girls going through a baby fat stage needn't starve themselves to look sleeker in dresses.

Wear quiet colors or grayed blues and misty greens and avoid a light blouse—dark skirt combination.

Do Not Give List of Silver

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A silverware agent from whom I've decided to buy my silver has asked me for a list of my best friends and relatives. Her idea is to send them a list of the pieces (with prices) which I don't have and suggest that perhaps they will wish to choose from this for my wedding present. Would this be permissible? Mother thinks not."

Answer: I agree with your mother. Of course, if any of your relatives or friends tell you that they would like to give you a piece of silver and ask for suggestions, it would then be quite all right to tell them of the agent who has the list of what you have . . . and haven't.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have two boys who ask me a lot of questions about social behavior because they are now going out with girls. I can't answer all of these questions for them. In particular, this one about a dance:

"A boy takes a girl to his school dance; they sit with a group of friends; there are no dance programs. Must he always find a partner for his girl in order for him to dance with other girls?"

Answer: If they are sitting in a group, it would be quite natural to ask one of the other girls in the group to dance with him, and that would surely prompt another boy to ask the first boy's friend to dance.

Even if no one asks her to dance, it would not be wrong to leave her for a short time sitting with others; but he must never leave her sitting alone.

"Dear Mrs. Post: What is your opinion of greeting people with the word 'Hi' instead of 'Hello' or 'How do you do?' This greeting is heard so much in the present day not only by the young but by those of mature years as well. Is it accepted as good taste?"

Answer: From one child or teenager to another, "Hi" has been accepted as correct, but between adults it is not yet in good taste.

Men's Raincoats Double as Topcoats for Spring

Once the raincoat was strictly raincoats as there are spring showers. That was long ago, however, and today's styled-up and lightened-up rainwear is thought of as a second topcoat by many men.

There are the familiar raglan-shouldered balmacaans, the glamorous military-style trench coats, single- and double-breasted models in the dashing lines of sportscar coats from the continent, regular models, shorties, coaches and split raglans tailored with what is apparently a set-in sleeve at the front, but, when viewed from the back, has a raglan shoulder.

And you don't have to worry about light colors either—many of these come in wash-wear constructions. There are the popular sand, putty, eggshell and white shades in the lighter colorings along with handsome and practical blues, browns and grays in the glossy iridescent that have made such a hit in recent seasons.

When it comes to models—there are almost as many styles in men's a saucy sailor atop many a costume launches a girl on a sea of compliments.

Easiest Interview Query Often Hardest to Answer

NEW YORK (INS)—Some of the simplest questions asked during job interviews turn out the toughest to answer.

For instance, an interviewer often will say: "What can I do for you?"

We can give you a job, of course, but in your answer he will be looking for reasons why he should.

You must specify the type of job or department of the firm in which you think you would best fit, and you need reasons to back up your statements.

Remember corporate personalities have as well-developed egos as do personal pals. The person to whom you apply for a job will be flattered if you specify you want to work for his firm in particular, not just any firm in a similar line.

It's a good idea to muster up some reasons for your preference, in case he cares to pursue the subject.

As for what prospective employer can do for you in the way of money, try to avoid naming a figure. It's a good idea to learn approximately what the job you have in mind usually pays, in case you are forced to cite a sum.

Don't overprice yourself. If financial obligations force you to name what you suspect is a high figure, explain the reasons.

Grooming Takes Care Every Day

It's a tiresome fact but it's true: Being well-groomed takes constant daily effort.

The first time you let down is the moment you find yourself with rufus in your stockings, a dipping hem and grubby gloves when you want to look your best.

Movie Shown by Dr. Marra

Dr. John Marra, chief of staff at Pontiac General Hospital, spoke and showed a film on cancer entitled "Time and Two Women" when Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital met Wednesday afternoon. A discussion period followed.

Preceding the program the executive board of the auxiliary met in the auxiliary room of the hospital. Plans were discussed for the 1958 folio and the membership tea which is to be held May 12, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the hospital's new lobby.

Program Presented on 'Japanese Lady'

A program, "Japanese Lady," directed by Mrs. Lulu Buckler, was presented when members of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church met at the church.

Participating in the Tuesday program were Mrs. Harry Kunes, Mrs. John Appleton, Mrs. Brady Adams, Mrs. Allan Hersee, Lorna MacKellar, Mrs. Lowell Mount and Mrs. D. D. McCall.

Naomi Circle was in charge of the special hour. Mrs. Ralph Pickrell was a guest at the affair.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. WEINER
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Biggest shocker for Midwest college basketball coaches recently was the sudden move of Eddie Hickey from St. Louis to the cage post at Marquette.

No one even considered Hickey when the list of probable candidates was being tossed around.

John Bennington, former MSU freshman coach and currently head coach at Drake University, was listed among the possibilities along with Jim Harding from Loyola of New Orleans, and the high school coach from Middletown, Ohio, which won the state championship the past season.

The Middletown team had a 6-foot-8 sensation by the name of Jerry Lucas the past season. He is one of the most sought after players in the land, and there was reason to believe that his prep coach would have taken him along to Marquette if he had been given the job.

Hickey was known as the "Little Emperor" and sometimes called "Napoleon" in the rugged Missouri Valley Conference basketball circuit.

The reason was not given but a combination of several things apparently led to his leaving.

His record in basketball is one of the nation's best. It stands at 344-161 overall and 212-89 in 11 years at St. Louis.

Because St. Louis is the only school in the conference which does not have football, it has been often noted that Hickey was unhappy over the pressures placed on him by other conference members to reinstate the sport.

Of course this could have meant Hickey was often at odds with the Jesuit administration at St. Louis.

Another factor noted was the competition with the pro St. Louis Hawks in the City. While the school's cage attendance had fallen, the Hawks' crowds have grown and both were playing in the same arena which brought about schedule difficulties.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Ed Macauley who played for Ed Hickey at St. Louis U., and is now with the St. Louis Hawks could be the top candidate as Hickey's successor. Another is Buddy Braemer, now coach at Kansas City University.

Couple of the coaches up at Michigan State were complaining about depth when spring football drills started, yet a worthy note is the fact that only one player from the last year's freshman team, Fred Arbanas, end from Redford St. Mary, was able to break into the lineup of either of the first two teams.

U. of D. basketball coach Bob Calihan has set the goal "12 pounds by September" for his 7-foot cager Pete Corbett. Corbett now weighs 183. Cal wants him at 200 by the Fall semester.

Nothing Settled as Machen, Folley Draw in Dull Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Top-ranked heavyweights Eddie Machen and Zora Folley failed by far to determine a clear cut title challenger last night in their 12-round draw.

So amid fuming and figuring, a rematch appears a probability. Fuming was lanky Bill Swift, who manages Folley and who shouted "That decision was the biggest robbery I've ever seen." He declared a protest will be made to the California Athletic Commission but conceded he thought the decision would stand.

Most of the crowd of 11,759, which paid a gross of $36,735 to watch the goings-on at the Cow Palace, and boo lustily at dull action on occasion, seemed to side with Swift and his 194-pound underdog from Chandler, Ariz.

Lusty boos greeted announcement of the card from the one official who voted for Machen.

A ringside check of sports writers indicated about a 4-1 ratio for Folley over the 191½-pound Machen who hails from Redding, Calif., lives in San Francisco and had won all of his previous 24 fights.

The referee and two judges all had varying opinions of the out-

Detroit Curlers Win 1st National Outings

MILWAUKEE (U)—Rinks from Detroit, Hibbing, Minn., and Utica, N.Y., swept to a pair of victories each in the opening round of the second annual U.S. men's curling championship yesterday.

Detroit disposed of Winnetka, Ill., 12-6, and Nashua, N.J., 18-3. Utica took the measure of Fairbanks, Alaska, 16-4, and Seattle, 8-5. Hibbing polished off Seattle, Wash., 12-18, Winchester, Mass., 17-2.

Trailing the leaders with won-loss records 1-1 are Winchester, Winnetka, Grafton, N.D., and Nashua. Defeated in both of the day's matches were Fairbanks, Milwaukee and Seattle.

Doctoring Your Golf

By Dr. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: Backswing Trouble
Diagnosis: Jerky Start

Treatment: Watch that takeaway. The backswing should be smooth and relatively slow, the purpose being to get the hands and body in the proper position from which to deliver the hit, meanwhile staying on balance.

To insure a smooth backswing, make the start of it smooth and slow. Concentrate on the first 12 inches as you move the clubhead back away from the ball. Aim at taking the clubhead straight back away from the ball, using both hands in an unhurried action.

With this kind of a start, keeping the backswing smooth is a cinch. On the other hand, a jerky takeaway will only guarantee a jerky backswing.

This smoothness of start will be helped if, just before you start the takeaway, you make a slight forward movement with hands, arms and body. This movement is called the forward press.

Dodgers' Park 'Homer Heaven' for College 9

NL Pitchers Expect Worst and They May Be Right

LOS ANGELES (U)—A lot of National League pitchers have been expecting the worst at the Coliseum this season.

It looks like they're right. Developments in the past 24 hours indicate that pitching in the new home of the Los Angeles Dodgers is going to be about as pleasant as falling down an elevator shaft.

A college baseball team, the Southern California Trojans, went out to the Coliseum yesterday to test the 49-foot-high left field screen, which is just 200 feet from home plate at the foul line.

In the next half hour, the Trojans swatted 11 balls over the screen and put two more over the right field fence.

All-Stars Nip Trotters

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (U)—The College All-Stars, led by Kentucky's Vern Hatton, defeated the Harlem Globetrotters 80-79 Wednesday night and narrowed the Trotters' lead in the cross-country tour to 7-3.

Hawks Defeat Boston, Need 1 More for Title

BOSTON (U)—The St. Louis Hawks still feared the injury-riddled Boston Celtics today while one game away from their first National Basketball Assn. championship.

"We aren't right yet and the Celtics still are a great ball club, even without Bill Russell," cautioned St. Louis Coach Alex Hannum last night after the Hawks' 102-100 victory for a 2-2 advantage in the best-of-seven series.

"I think maybe the Celtics are slowing up a little, but we're scared stiff of them whether they have Russell or not," declared former Kentucky star Cliff Hagan.

With Russell sidelined by a severe ankle injury and backout ace Bill Sharman hobbled by a twisted knee, St. Louis built up a 15-point halftime lead and then held on to win the vital fifth game.

The Celtics, refusing to quit in defense of their NBA title, fought from nine points behind in the final 2½ minutes, but couldn't overtake the Hawks.

Frank Ramsey, who took over the offensive burden and led the Boston scorers with 30 points, hit on a long set shot to draw the Celtics within a point—101-100—with seconds remaining.

St. Louis took the ball out as Boston went into a full court press and Slater Martin of the Hawks was fouled with one second left. The Celtics protested that St. Louis did not advance the ball past midcourt in the maximum seconds, but lost the argument to the referees.

"They took more than 10 seconds—but what the heck," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach. "We have to shoot better than we did—and we had better in St. Louis Saturday."

With Russell, the NBA rebound king, watching in street clothes, the Celtics attempted the same slow down strategy that worked in the fourth game at St. Louis.

However, the Hawks jammed the middle and forced Boston players to shoot from the outside while bottling up veteran backcourt star Bob Cousy when he moved into the pivot.

"Sure we played lousy, but forget everything else that happened," said Cousy. "It all comes down to the fact you don't beat

Soviet Wrestlers Arrive to Meet American Teams

TULSA, Okla. (U)—Eight Soviet wrestling stars arrived here yesterday ready to battle a team of top American grapplers in three Oklahoma matches Friday, Saturday and Tuesday.

The visitors will be the first Soviet sports delegates to witness a baseball game. They'll also be the first such group to eat hot dogs, Milwaukee and Detroit will provide the action in an exhibition.

The Russians will travel to Oklahoma City Friday and meet with Gov. Raymond Gary, and then go on to Norman where they will meet the American team at the University of Oklahoma.

Saturday the teams will journey to Stillwater. Then the two teams wind up here Tuesday night.

Pontiac Central Net Team Opens Friday

The Pontiac Central tennis team, under new coach Gene Norris, opens the 1958 season tomorrow by jumping right into the rugged Saginaw Valley League competition against Flint Northern.

A 3:30 starting time has been set for the home match. Harry Van Matre, George Palten, Dick Mallory and Gideon Rorger are the key performers back from last year's team which finished 3rd in the SVC race.

Bunning Starts Braves' Series

Detroit Plays Champs 4 Times Before Opener

Exhibition Season Ends Sunday With Contest in Milwaukee

TULSA, Okla. (U)—The Detroit Tigers unlimbered today for the first of a four-game exhibition series with the Milwaukee Braves.

A scheduled Tiger doubleheader with Birmingham of the class-AA Southern Assn. was cancelled because of rain yesterday.

The freshest memory the Detroiters have of a ball game is the 3-0 loss to the Boston Red Sox Sunday, two days before breaking training camp at Lakeland, Fla.

The Bengals open their American League campaign at Chicago next Tuesday. Behind them lies a 6-17 record in the Grapefruit League this spring.

The team moves on to Denver tomorrow for its second meeting with the Braves. The teams will finish up the series in Milwaukee with games Saturday and Sunday.

The two clubs have met twice this spring. The Tigers won the first game 9-3 in 10 innings and the Braves took the second 4-3.

The use of Bunning in today's contest was a tip-off that manager Jack Tighe probably plans to start the tall right-hander against Chicago, although he has yet to announce his choice.

It was well known that either Bunning or Frank Lary would get the nod. Lary is scheduled to pitch at Milwaukee Saturday. He would need more than two days of rest if he were going to the mound opening day.

Both Lary and relief hurler Lou Sleater were given time off by Tighe for visits home. Lary to Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Sleater to Baltimore where his 5-year-old son is to undergo surgery.

Wolverine Team, Ira Murchison Compete This Weekend

QUANTICO, Va. (U)—More than 600 athletes will compete tomorrow and Saturday in the East's first major outdoor track and field meet of the season at this famed Marine Corps base.

The University of Michigan will have a 30-man squad entered in the meet.

Villanova's Ron Delany heads a field of Olympic champs and other stars for the 1958 renewal of the Quantico Relays.

Delany's schedule calls for him to run in his mile specialty Saturday and to perform for Villanova in relay races Friday.

World record holders among the entries are pole vaulter Bob Gutowski of Occidental, sprinter Ira Murchison of Western Michigan and 440-yard hurdler Josh Culbreath, ex-Morgan State and now a Marine PFC stationed at Quantico.

Kansas State Star Slashes Wrists

Cager Goes Berserk

TOPEKA, Kas. (INS)—Kansas State basketball star Jack Parr was under observation at the Topeka mental hospital today.

Parr, a six-foot, nine-inch native of Randolph, Va., began yelling and screaming and cutting his wrists at the Manhattan Hospital last night.

Tear gas and water hoses failed to subdue him.

Parr finally was talked into quieting down by Riley County attorney Richard D. Rogers and the Rev. Samuel George, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Manhattan.

Physicians reported that Parr lost a lot of blood but his condition "is not serious."

He later was transferred to the Topeka Hospital.

Parr, a 21-year-old pre-medical student who led the Wildcats to the Big Eight Conference title in 1955 and again last season, was placed in the Manhattan Hospital Tuesday night after his landlady reported to campus police that he had purchased a gun.

The basketball star's father was en route to Kansas to withdraw his son from school.

Kansas State basketball coach Tex Winter reported that "Parr has been under psychiatric care since last Christmas," he added.

"We all knew about it. Parr's teammates and his parents. We talked to him about some of his problems but we agreed he would have to work things out for himself. I never thought he would do a thing like this though."

He broke several Wildcat scoring marks this past season and was largely responsible for his team going into the semifinals of the NCAA basketball tourney at Louisville.

BERSERK — Jack Parr, Kansas State basketball star who went berserk in a hospital room in Manhattan, Kansas, yesterday was reported in good condition after slashing his wrists.

The North Canton Bullocks team's performance was a complete surprise. Despite their unimpressive 940 league average, the new claimants for third place rolled games of 1,020, 1,015 and 929 in their ABC outburst.

Selmo Vaughn and anchorman John De Muey spearheaded their drive with 628 and 617, respectively.

The Munsingwear outfit was hobbled by Stan Gifford and Bill Bunetta who shot 524 and 526, respectively. Captain Buddy Bomar saved his crew from complete oblivion by pouring in a 630 series.

Bill Lillard led off with 593. He is the only man to ever win three ABC titles in a single tournament—a feat he achieved in the 1956 show at Rochester.

The star-studded Bomar aggregation has bowled all season without the benefit of a sponsor. Last night was the first time they appeared in a major event wearing the Munsingwear name.

Michigan Net Team Wins Tourney Opener

WASHINGTON (U)—Michigan meets George Washington today in the second round of the Cherry Blossom Invitational tennis tournament.

The Wolverines, National Collegiate Athletic Assn. champions last year, defeated Georgetown 5-1 in the opening round yesterday.

But being hit by pitched balls is nothing new for the 22-year-old Robinson. In 1956 when he was named National League rookie of the year he was plunked with pitches 20 times to lead the league in that category. Last year, when he was named sophomore of the year, he was hit 12 times.

Robinson, who led the team in hitting last season with a .322 mark, was knocked unconscious when hit yesterday. He was given emergency treatment at Portsmouth and then brought here to a hospital where Dr. George Ballou said there didn't appear to be any indications of a fracture.

Frank Robinson Sidelined

CINCINNATI (U)—The name of Frank Robinson is back in the "hit by pitcher" phrase in Cincinnati Redlegs' box scores. And this time it apparently has cost the Reds the services of the slugger outfielder for the remainder of the spring training exhibition season.

He is expected to be ready, however, for Cincinnati's regular season opener next Thursday.

Cleveland's front line pitching staff this year notched 104 wins in 1957.

Preps Pass Half Million

LANSING (NS) — Attendance at the state high school basketball tournament topped the half million mark for the first time this year, the State High School Athletic Association reported today.

Total attendance at the district, regional and semi-final and final games was 511,792, up 59,592 from the 459,200 attendance last year.

Gross receipts totaled $347,568, a healthy $34,521 increase over the take of $308,048 last season.

Charles E. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, cited several causes as contributing to the increase.

These included excellent weather during the tournament weekends and improved facilities with larger seating capacities at district and regional centers.

Forsythe added that if seating facilities had been available, another eight to ten thousand fans probably would have attended the semi-final and final games.

Entertaining schools were cut into 32,228 of the total take and competing schools received $54,507. Fees and expenses paid officials amounted to $32,570 and trophies, medals and administration expenses amounted to $15,720.

Other expenses included $3,329 for timers and scorers, $2,386 for basketballs and $2,074 for insurance.

The state association retained $137,648, but generally refunded some of this to the schools, last year $26,323.

Canadiens Say They're Ready for Tough Scrap

Boston Hopes to Even Cup Playoffs Tonight in Forum

MONTREAL (NS) — The Montreal Canadiens, riding high on a 2-1 victory in the opener of the Stanley Cup final, gaily tossed a have-fists-will-fight challenge at the Boston Bruins for tonight's renewal of the hockey classic.

"Let 'em go ahead," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake. "If they're going out there to try to whack us around they'll find out we have a few guys who can do some whacking on their own."

The Tuesday opener of the best-of-seven series was a rough-house, penalty-studded affair with Montreal finishing on top 2-1. There isn't the slightest indication that tonight's get-together of the hard-hitting teams is going to be any different.

"We are not worrying about the Bruins' rough play," said Blake. "We're used to that. What gets me is that when they get a penalty they start crying. Why can't they take their penalties and keep quiet?"

"They were up for that first game. They played it rough and we're ready to meet that style of play the rest of the series. I'll say this for them: They didn't indulge in stick-swinging."

Boston General Manager Lynn Patrick made it plain that the Canadiens can expect the same sort of treatment tonight—jarring bodychecks.

"We don't play good unless we are hitting the other team hard," said Patrick. "We aim to keep it up. We like to get that first goal."

The rumor got around yesterday that the Bruins would yank goalie Don Simmons and replace him with veteran Harry Lumley.

"I don't know anything about it," said Patrick. "Coach Milt Schmidt is running the team and it's up to him to make any changes. Personally I think Simmons played a good game Tuesday."

"The only change, so far as I know, Schmidt might make is to send Buddy Boone on the forward line with Bronco Horvath and Vic Stasiuk in place of Johnny Bucyk. Even that isn't certain."

INDIANAPOLIS (NS) — Five cars were entered today for the 42nd 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30 but drivers were named for only two.

Dan Larvine of the Federal Automotive Associates, Detroit, entered three cars with two drivers — Bob Christie of Grant's Pass, Ore., and Tom Pistone of Chicago.

Other cars were entered by Fred and Richard Gemmer, Indianapolis, and Leonard G. R. Smith of Speed Enterprises, Mount Clemens, Mich.

Golf Game Slipped After Winning Rich Purse

'World' Victory Hurt Pros

By BILL CORNWELL

Professional golfers winced early last week when George May suddenly canceled his All-American and World tournaments at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter.

Those who roam the fairways for a living were stunned as two of the richest plums on the tournament tree were plucked away. This was especially true of the $100,000 World event, the largest jackpot on the circuit.

The financial blow was somewhat softened for the nomads of the tour trail when two new events — the $50,000 Eastern Open and the $50,000 Chicago Open — replaced the vacated Tam O'Shanter dates.

Both of them became an official part of the PGA's summer calendar early this week. Although neither tournament pays "chicken feed" to the winner, the combined purses fail to equal the cash offered by the World tour alone.

Viewpoints differed sharply on the merits of the canceled events. Tommy Shannon, veteran pro at Orchard Lake Country Club, is one who opposed the Tam festivities.

"I count myself among those who have had misgivings about the activities there ever since their inception," Shannon stated. "I'm not unhappy that these tournaments no longer exist," he said.

A big objection to the World tour centered around the fat prize which went to the winner. It was the belief that his caliber of play suffered as a result of the victory.

There is sound basis for this contention. Solid arguments can be made in the cases of Ted Kroll, Julius Boros and Bob Toski. Each has been a standout performer in pro circles, but his golf game slipped badly after capturing Tam gold.

Boros and Kroll have had little tournament success since their World triumphs while Toski's luck has been open worse. Shannon cites Toski as the best example of all.

Toski really suffered for winning that tourney," Shannon claimed. "His game became completely demoralized after the victory," he added.

The reason for this decline seems rather obvious. After pocketing all that loot, the champion has a natural tendency to relax with his money and rest on his laurels. The result? His game slides down hill.

"They play better golf when they're hungry," Shannon said. This corner agrees.

By BEN OLAN

Jerry Coleman was one of the most popular members of the New York Yankees until he retired a few months ago. He was used sparingly during the regular 1957 campaign. But he played in all seven games of the World Series and batted .364 — highest on the Yanks.

Coleman figured prominently in the following situation that wound up in a Yankee victory. Helped by Manager Casey Stengel's strategy, New York won an important ball game. Here's an

The Yankees and Detroit are tied 3-3 in the last of the ninth at New York. Harry Byrd (R) is on the mound for the Tigers. Hank Bauer leads off for the Yanks by flying out. Coleman follows with a long triple to right center. Elston Howard, pinch-hitting for Bob Grim, is walked intentionally. At this point, Al Aber (L) replaces Byrd. Tony Kubek (L) is the next batter. Gil McDougald (R) is on deck with switch hitter Mickey Mantle to follow.

Would you:

- Have Kubek swing away?
- Put in a righthanded pinch-hitter for Kubek?
- Order Coleman to try to steal home?
- Let Kubek lay down a squeeze bunt?

(Other data: Kubek is hitting .303 (61-for-201) on the season; Andy Carey and Darrell Johnson are the righthanded pinch-hitters available.)

The results showed Mel Nosan-chuck and Dave Payne wrestling to a draw along with an even bout between Dawne Thomas and Duke Relyea. John Herron outpointed Sam Discomb and Ray Ronquillo nosed out Ernie Slade, 14-13.

Thomas and Mike Florillo was referee.

FIGHT RESULTS:

Larry Daigre first round TKO over Vern Wallis.

Has 'Barber' Lost His Pitching Touch?

Maglie Belted Hard

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS
Has Sal Maglie finally reached the end of the trail? Has the Barber lost the edge from his once finely-honed razor?

Those were obvious questions to ask after the 40-year-old curve-baller received another merciless beating in an exhibition game yesterday. The figures indicate the answers may be "yes."

Sal the Barber was treated like a raw rookie at Winston-Salem, N.C., as the Philadelphia Phillies walloped the New York Yankees, 12 to 8.

Maglie went six innings and was belted for 11 hits and eight runs. It wasn't just an off day, either. In 18 innings this spring, Maglie has given up 28 hits and 20 runs (18 earned) for a horrible earned-run average of 9.00.

Casey Stengel once had counted on Maglie as a starter, but there now is some doubt whether he will help the Yanks as a reliever. But Sal has been counted out before—and fooled the experts.

There was a crowd of 10,000 on hand, largest ever to see a ball game in North Carolina.

Mike McCormick won a south-paw duel with Herb Score when San Francisco topped Cleveland, 6 to 3, at Harlingen, Tex. An error by Mickey Vernon opened the door for four Giant runs in the third. Later Daryl Spencer hit a two-run homer off Ray Narleski of the Indians.

Hank Aaron homered and singled to lead Milwaukee to a 5-to-4 win over Los Angeles at Dallas. Lew Burdette picked up another spring win and Roger Craig lost.

Cincinnati's hopes for a quick start in the pennant race were dimmed when Frank Robinson was knocked unconscious by a pitch thrown by Washington's Camilo Pascual. Robinson did not suffer a fracture but will be hospitalized for a few days and may miss the Red Sox opener next Tuesday.

The game at Portsmouth, O., was won by Cincinnati, 2 to 0. Harvey Haddix, like Pascual, went the route and gave up five hits. One of the Cincinnati hits was a homer by Ed Bailey.

Tito Francona hit a homer, double and two singles and Billy Goodman drove in four runs with a single and double as the Chicago White Sox overpowered St. Louis, 19 to 6, at Denver. Wally Moon belted a grand-slam homer for the Cardinals. Ray Moore won and Larry Jackson lost.

Baseball Shaky in Cuba

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—International League baseball at Havana, like the city's political temperature, was up in the air today.

League officials are debating whether to go through with plans for an April 16 opening game. IL President Frank J. Shaughnessy of Montreal sought information from Roberto Maduro, owner of the Havana Sugar Kings, on playing prospects.

Shaughnessy told newsmen, "If there's real trouble we're not going to open—but I want to be sure."

The league executive said he didn't want to cancel the Havana curtain-raiser between the Sugar Kings and the Buffalo Bisons.

"We'd sure like to see the thing settled," he said. Shaughnessy has the authority to pull the Havana team out of Cuba, rocked by insurrection. If he thinks that advisable. He said at a league meeting in Miami Sunday that other points would be glad to get the club. A Jersey City official indirectly backed him up last night.

Park Commissioner Bernard J. Berry telegraphed IL club owners:

"Baseball can be peaceful and profitable at Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium. You are cordially invited to play your Cuban International League schedule at beautiful and bomb-free 25,000-seat stadium...without danger from shot and shell."

Traffic Experts Propose:

Major Xway Changes

DETROIT (INS) — A report by experts discloses future Detroit expressways should have major construction changes and cars should be equipped with safety devices.

The report is the result of a two-year study by the Ford Motor Co. and the city's department of Streets and Traffic.

The conclusions were based on study of motion pictures taken on both the John C. Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways last June, and a study of accidents.

Rear-end collisions, the survey showed, account for 57.5 per cent of the accidents.

Streets and Traffic Director Alger F. Malo said it appeared most accidents are caused "by drivers who follow the car in front too closely."

Recommendations for future expressway design include:

- A center guard rail.
- A wider middle strip to provide stranded motorists an additional refuge lane.
- Four lanes instead of three on the next project (the Walter P. Chrysler expressway).
- Widening of shoulders from 10 to 13 feet.

A Ford statement said the company tomorrow will demonstrate a device to be attached to the rear end of a car which will tell the motorist behind when he is too close.

"Generally speaking," the report said, "Detroit expressways are extremely efficient and much safer than the average highway."

Jargon of Railroads Is Fast Dying Out

NEW YORK — The salty, colorful talk of railroading seems to be dying out. Except for some old-timers who like to talk the old jargon of the "boomers," the wandering railroaders, today's employees usually limit their use of these terms to a couple of dozen words.

Rarely will a railroader refer to himself with a slang term. Although an engineer may be a "hogger" to nearly everyone else, he is never that to himself or another engineer.

And though a conductor may be the "captain" or the "brains" to his crew, he would never think of calling himself by either of those terms.

Stars 'n' Stripes for Lee

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Charlottesville's American Legion Post No. 74 wants the flag flown on Gen. Robert E. Lee's birthday—but not the Confederate flag. The post decided to ask local merchants to display the American flag on Lee's birthday because Lee, one of the top generals in the Confederate Army, was a commissioned officer in the U. S. Army before the Civil War.

On an average day, some 100,000 people (12 years old and over) read a daily newspaper.

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Casper no longer can claim the title of bachelor capital of the United States. Two years ago, Casper let it be known it had more single men per single woman than any other city in the nation. Census officials say the 1937 male population is 17,612 compared with 17,347 females.

Gives Prowler the Slip

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A prowler, who now is a slippery character if he wasn't before, seized Mrs. R. M. Knox as she walked across her back yard to dispose of some used cooking grease. She answered his demand for valuables by giving him what she had with her—right in the face. He fled.

New Center for Elders

GLACE BAY, N.S. (AP)—A citizen committee here collected $4,000 to establish a pensioners' recreation centre. They plan to raise another $1,000 for equipment for the centre, which is scheduled for completion next summer.
