Senate Leaders Submit Names for Ethics Unit

Watchdog Committee to Be Named in Wake of Bobby Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders formally submitted today their recommendations for the appointment of a permanent bipartisan committee on senatorial ethics, but withheld an announcement of its makeup.

The selections were turned over to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the presiding officer, as a sequel to the politically charged Bobby Baker investigation.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, made the announcement to the Senate that the list had been submitted in behalf of himself and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Mansfield told the Senate today that the actual selections were made March 4, "but they were held in abeyance pending the completion of the work of the Rules Committee."

He denied what he said were press reports "the leadership was evading or avoiding this matter."

AWAITING PROBE

Mansfield had said previously it was decided to hold up announcement of the makeup of the ethics committee until the Baker probe was finished.

That came yesterday, with a final report from the Rules Committee that said Baker had flagrantly abused his office to "feather his own nest."

The report recommended careful consideration of the possibility of indicting Baker for violation of conflict of interest laws.

RENEW CHARGES

The committee's Republican minority renewed its charges of a Democratic cover-up and whitewash, saying the investigation was incomplete because of the refusal of Democrats to call numerous witnesses.

Area Schools Begin Head Start Program

Oakland County was among some 2,300 communities throughout the nation yesterday to mark the launching of Project Head Start, a phase of the federal government's War on Poverty.

Hugh Allerton, vice chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, officiated at a flag raising ceremony at the courthouse.

A specially designed Head Start flag was raised at the county service building in tribute to the many volunteer workers engaged in the program in Oakland County.

Head Start is administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity, the federal agency coordinating the War on Poverty.

Nationally, it will provide some 500,000 underprivileged children with eight weeks of pre-school training to prepare them for entry into school this fall. Cost of the program is $94.4 million.

They will literally be given a head start to compensate for the lack of environmental and learning experiences already gained by their future classmates.

In Oakland County, nearly 1,000 children will participate in the program in 41 classes at nine different county locations.

The Pontiac school system will operate 40 classes. Five will be conducted in Ferndale and four each in Hazel Park and Madison Heights.

Other locations are Oak Park and Avondale, three each; Farmington and Southfield, two; and South Lyon, one.

Johnson Gives Order for Supersonic Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave definite orders today for development of a supersonic transport plane. Johnson said he will ask an appropriation of $140 million for the next phase of the program.

Captured Cong Quizzed After Raid on Base

3 Planes Destroyed, American Is Killed in Attack at Da Nang

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A wounded Communist from North Viet Nam was under interrogation tonight as a member of the Viet Cong task force that killed one American, destroyed three planes and damaged three others in a hit-and-run attack on the Da Nang base.

The damage is estimated at $5 million.

A U.S. spokesman said the prisoner was identified as Do Xuan Hien, 29, of the North Vietnamese province of Thanh Hoa.

He was quoted as saying he infiltrated into South Viet Nam in April with the 3rd Battalion of the 18th Regiment of North Viet Nam's 325th Division.

The spokesman said the prisoner reported he was attacked to a special unit for the attack on the base, launched at 1:30 a.m. from a graveyard outside the perimeter wire.

SEARCH PATROL

He was picked up by a search patrol. The rest of the band escaped, though blood trails suggested some were wounded if not dead.

The American killed was a young air policeman, who opened up with his pistol after apparently sighting the approach of the Viet Cong.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes struck at North Viet Nam throughout the day without letup.

Bridges, barracks and radar installations were among the prime targets, and more propaganda leaflets were dropped over populated areas, a U.S. spokesman said. He said all planes returned safely.

More U.S. Marines landed in South Viet Nam, at the coastal city of Qui Nhon. A U.S. spokesman said between 400 and 500 were coming ashore from 7th Fleet ships and would provide security for the Qui Nhon area as well as "combat support for the Republic of South Viet Nam's armed forces."

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam's mouthpiece, the Voice of Viet Nam Radio, rejected today British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's peace bid on Viet Nam.

"We don't receive the Wilson 'peace mission'," said a broadcast by the official Vietnamese news agency monitored in Tokyo.

The rejection followed by a day reports from London that North Viet Nam might receive the Commonwealth peace mission.

Informed sources in London said the British consul general in Hanoi had been called in by the North Vietnamese government for a talk on the question.

See Story, Page A-10

William Warbey, a left-wing Labor member of Parliament, was quoted as saying he had received information from Hanoi that any Commonwealth prime minister would be welcome provided his government accords diplomatic recognition to North Viet Nam.

"The stand of the government of the Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam has always been clear on this matter."

"We do not receive Mr. Wilson's mission, because we have every reason for doubting Mr. Wilson's 'good will' for peace, and for thinking that this is only a repetition of U.S. President Johnson's 'peace negotiation' swindle, under the cloak of the British Commonwealth peace mission on the Viet Nam problem," the Voice of Viet Nam Radio said.

The Peking People's Daily, official Chinese Communist newspaper, today said Peking had "slammed the door" on Wilson's peace formula because it "will merely embolden the U.S. aggressors."

DAMAGED CRAFT AT DA NANG — The broken port wing of an Air Force C130 transport plane gives evidence to the extent of damage done by the Viet Cong in their attack on the Da Nang Air Base yesterday. One American was killed, three planes were destroyed and three others damaged by the guerrillas.

Deficit Reduced

Fiscal '65 Says Adieu in Red

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government entered its sixth straight year of red-ink financing today but pointed with some pride to a sharply reduced deficit in the fiscal year just ended.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler announced that the fiscal 1965 deficit, on which the books closed at midnight, was an estimated $3.5 billion. That compared with President Johnson's January forecast of a $6.3 billion deficit.

The secretary foresaw a $4.2-billion deficit for the new fiscal year. That implies a $1.1-billion improvement since January. Some other officials predicted privately that this deficit, too, will be whittled down if the business boom continues.

Assurance that the boom will indeed continue was given by

Lie Test Given in Knife Death

Evidence for Hearing in Stabbing of Teen

A lie detector test was given yesterday to one of two Waterford youths involved in the fatal stabbing of a third boy Sunday night.

Results of the test on Robert Green, 17, of 1512 Eason will be presented at a hearing slated for Tuesday in the death of Jeffrey Talbot, 17, of 2045 Watkins Lake.

Green was driving the car in which Ross Pearson, 16, of 1127 Abil, rode to Talbot's home Sunday night. Pearson is held by juvenile authorities pending a hearing on whether he will stand trial on a murder charge.

Green, held briefly at the Oakland County Jail, was released pending further investigation.

Police are continuing to question witnesses at the scene of the death.

ABOUT GIRL

Scattered Showers Predicted for Area

Today's sunny skies will become partly cloudy tomorrow with a chance of a few thunderstorms late in the afternoon.

Temperatures dropping to a low of 44 to 52 tonight will climb to 76 to 84 tomorrow. Partly cloudy and warmer with scattered showers is Saturday's forecast.

A chilly 50 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury stood at 78 at 2 p.m.

14 Killed, 36 Injured

During Bus, Train Crash

EL ARAHAL, Spain (UPI) — Fourteen persons were killed last night and 36 seriously hurt when a diesel-powered passenger train struck a bus at a grade crossing here.

The accident happened about 27 miles from Seville. All of the victims were aboard the bus. The only person hurt aboard the train was the conductor.

Death Claims Noted Writer

Columnist Known as Expert on Africa

LONDON (AP) — Robert Ruark, the American columnist and author of best-selling novels, died early today in London's Middlesex Hospital. He was 49.

The hospital said Ruark was admitted with internal bleeding. "This did not respond to treatment and he died early this morning," the hospital said.

It did not elaborate. The writer had suffered from a liver ailment in recent years.

Ruark visited New York about six weeks ago to deliver the manuscript of a new novel, "The Honey Badgers." Publication was expected in the fall.

LIVED ABROAD

In recent years Ruark lived abroad. He had homes in London and Spain and wrote extensively about Africa.

Among his best-sellers were "Lions" a novel of African independence, and "Something of Value," concerning African terrorist activities in Kenya.

A columnist for the Scripps-Howard Newspapers and the United Feature Service, Ruark traveled 100,000 to 150,000 miles a year. He turned out more than 1,000 magazine articles and a score of books.

Ruark was born in Wilmington and later lived in Southport, N.C. He attended the University of North Carolina and graduated at 19.

Ruark was married in 1938 to Virginia Webb. They were divorced several years ago and Ruark now lives in New York. They had no children.

TOUR HOUSING SITE — The city's first housing development built on urban renewal land, the Townhouse Apartments at Pike and Douglas, was officially completed, occupied and dedicated yesterday. Developer Charles Lange (left), Mayor William B. Tray claimed fortune of more than $2 million while serving as the $10,000-a-year secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

He resigned his Senate post Oct. 7, 1963, just before the investigation started.

A one-time Senate page boy from Pickens, S.C., Baker was reported to be in California yesterday and could not be reached for comment.

FIFTH AMENDMENT

He had invoked the Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination in two appearances before the Rules Committee and refused to answer questions.

To try to avoid future conflict of interest cases, the committee in its report yesterday recommended immediate activation of the watchdog committee. Mansfield said this would be done.

The majority report said there was no proof of improprieties in connection with Reynolds' sale of two $100,000 life insurance policies to President Johnson. The first was sold in 1967 while Johnson was Senate majority leader and Baker was his right-hand man, and the second after Johnson had become vice president.

One of the sidelights of the report was a Justice Department document, printed as an appendix, which said Ellen Romsch, a West German beauty who figured in the Baker case, admitted being a call girl.

SOLDIER HUSBAND

She had lived in the Washington area while her soldier husband was attached to the embassy of West Germany.

It said Mrs. Romsch, who has since gone back to Germany, admitted knowing Baker but denied any intimacies with him "or with any government official including congressmen, cabinet members, or persons connected with the White House."

The Justice Department admitted that Baker had admitted prostitutes who claimed associations with Washington officials. It disclosed their identities as "Mrs. A," "Mrs. B," "Miss C" and "D."

"Mrs. A admitted to having sexual intercourse with persons in the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government but declined to identify the individuals involved," the summary said. "She said she did not want her husband to know of her past prostitution activities."

WHAT'S CAMPING LIKE? — Looking a little anxious about the whole thing, 53 crippled children left for Camp Grace Benley, 18 miles north of Port Huron, yesterday morning for two weeks of camping. Mrs.

Elizabeth Kirkby, executive secretary of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, pins on name tags. The society also sponsors a day camp locally.

State Eying Local Traffic Troublespot

A crew of men from the State Highway Department in Lansing was in Pontiac yesterday studying the intersection at Saginaw and the Auburn - Orchard Lake crossover.

Other data on the high-accident intersection has been forwarded to the Lansing office for study.

Lowell Doyle, assistant director of traffic for the highway department was scheduled to be in Pontiac today conferring with local highway department officials on the problem.

Doyle said his office is studying the intersection, but is not ready to make a recommendation.

The Saginaw corner has had a high accident rate: 23 mishaps in 85 days.

The intersection is a result of a change in the original Wide Track plan.

First blueprints called for Saginaw traffic to be routed west on Orchard Lake.

When city officials and merchants complained, the highway department installed the crossover allowing traffic to proceed south down Saginaw to a point beyond Jackson.

Currently the intersection is controlled by stop signs on Saginaw.

AIR BASES

The others are the air bases at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon; Chu Lai, 20 miles south of Da Nang, and Phu Bai, 35 miles north of Da Nang.

The Qui Nhon area is a narrow coastal plain due east of Pleiku, the capital of the central highlands.

There have been reports of a Communist buildup in the mountains above the city, where early this year a Viet Cong suicide team blew up an American helicopter killing 23 U.S. helicopter maintenance men.

In the central highlands 15 miles south of Da Nang, four Americans and about 50 Vietnamese were killed in a Communist ambush yesterday near Chao Hoa.

DRIVEN OFF

But the Red guerrillas were driven off with heavy losses after a day of close-in fighting and heavy air strikes.

The unofficial total of American combat dead in Viet Nam since December 1961 rose to 445.

At least three of the air strikes today took American planes north of the so-called Hanoi line, U.S. military spokesmen said. They also disclosed that three raids yesterday had been on targets north of Hanoi.

The third strike was by four F106s on a military complex 120 miles west northwest of Hanoi.

The spokesman said the target was damaged and the planes went on to damage an anti-aircraft position 90 miles west of Hanoi and destroy a bridge 90 miles west southwest of the North Vietnamese capital.

The hit-and-run attack at Da Nang was carried out while a majority of the Americans on the key base were asleep.

EXPLOSIVES

U.S. military authorities in Saigon said their information indicated a small group of guerrillas — possibly six men — infiltrated onto the base with explosives and 57mm recoilless rifles.

OK Pay Hikes in Waterford

Waterford Township employees, excluding elected officials, will receive an average 4.1 per cent wage hike next year which will boost the payroll by $17,168.

Action on the pay scale adjustments was taken yesterday by the township board after reviewing a wage and job classification study prepared by Yarger Associates of Falls Church, Va.

The research firm recommended an upgrading of the township pay scale on the basis of prevailing pay rates in other Oakland County municipalities and industries.

Also included in the Yarger report were job classifications, duties of each township job and suggested training and experience requirements for jobs.

Yarger, with a low bid of $2,500, was awarded the wage and job classification study contract last winter by the township board.

Warm, pleasant days and cool nights were the dominant weather for June.

Furnaces formed the habit of "kicking on" in the early morning hours as temperatures dipped to a low of 45 degrees with the average nighttime for the month 55.5.

There were 2.62 inches of rainfall during the month with more than half of it Sunday June 6, when 1.5 inches fell, flooding some area streets and halting nearly all traffic, except cabs or boats.

Rain records for last June were parched after a long dry spell when only .6 inches fell. The city was forced to institute a lawn-sprinkling ban to conserve water.

Thunderstorms this year, similar to last June, accompanied the one-and-a-half inches of rain on Sunday June 6 which interrupted electric service briefly in many areas.

There were 23 sunny days during the month with the temperature reaching 92 degrees on June 28 for the high of the month, compared to a 97 on June 29, 1964.

High average temperature was 87.3 degrees for the past month making the mean temperature 71.4 degrees compared with 69.5 a year ago.

City Planning to Host U.S. and Foreign Groups

BIRMINGHAM — The city next-week will play host to two groups of visitors — one composed of persons from throughout the United States and the other students from foreign lands.

Baldwin Public Library is one of the suburban libraries included in the tour planned for the nation's librarians when they convene in Detroit July 4-10.

Expected to draw some 6,000 guests, the convention will be one of the largest ever held by the American Library Association.

Besides Birmingham's, other libraries included on the visitors' itinerary are those of Royal Oak, Cranbrook School and Madison Heights.

On Thursday 44 American Field Service (AFS) students will arrive to spend two days with families in the community. The bus carrying them is scheduled to arrive at Groves High School parking lot at 4 p.m.

During their stay here, the youngsters will visit the Ford Motor Co. River Rouge assembly plant and hold a picnic at Meadow Lake.

The AFS students have spent the school year in the homes of Pennsylvania families, attending school there and participating in community activities.

They now are on their way to Washington, D.C., where President Johnson will receive them.

From Washington, they will go to a final meeting of all this year's AFS students, to evaluate their stay in the United States.

Immediately following the session, they will return to their native countries.

The drivers' license bureau of the Birmingham Police Department will not be in operation Monday or Tuesday.

After observing the national holiday Monday, the license examiners will attend a training session in Pontiac Tuesday.

Conducted by the Michigan Secretary of State's office, the school will deal with camera handling, new forms and procedures required for the new method of issuing licenses.

2 Sentenced in Stabbings

Two 17-year-old youths involved in stabbing incidents were sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt. Both had pleaded guilty to assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

William A. Stadler, 82 S. Eastway, was sentenced to 1½-10 years in the state prison at Jackson, and Cruz Castro, 467 Colorado, was placed on three years probation with the first six months to be served in the Oakland County Jail.

Stadler was arrested by sheriff's detectives the day after the March 11 stabbing of a cab driver, Wallace R. Canfield, 28, 114 E. Howard, in Pontiac Township.

Canfield was stabbed because he threatened to call police when Stadler would not pay his cab fare, according to police.

Castro admitted to stabbing Joseph French, 47, of 251 S. Edith, Dec. 26, 1964, while walking in front of 49 Mount Clemens.

The monsignor made an afternoon appointment with Secretary-General U. Thant. He said "Maybe" they would discuss the Pope's expected visit.

KEEP FAIR OPEN

The New York Times reported today that World's Fair President Robert Moses expects the Pope to visit the U.N. General Assembly Oct. 23, and has asked fair exhibitors to keep the fair open beyond its scheduled Oct. 17 closing date to receive the pontiff.

Pope Paul has visited Israel and Jordan on a Holy Land tour and India for a Bombay eucharistic congress. He is the first head of the Roman Catholic Church in this century to travel outside Italy.

Mother Still Hopes Kidnaped Girl Safe

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — "Gee, she'd be in the fourth grade by now and could read," said Lupe Gallegos of Alamogordo.

Mrs. Gallegos is the mother of Sharon Lynn Gallegos who was not quite 3 years old when she disappeared July 21, 1960.

As the fifth anniversary of the child's disappearance approaches, Mrs. Gallegos wrote Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., to ask for assistance.

Montoya said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had been asked whether the investigation is complete and to furnish her with an up-to-date report.

"I should be hearing from Mr. Hoover in the very near future, and I shall contact you at that time," Montoya's letter said.

ASKS PUBLICITY

Mrs. Gallegos also asked for publicity of the case hoping Sharon might read it and notify authorities.

An FBI bulletin circulated after the disappearance quotes witnesses as saying a man and woman kidnaped Sharon and that they were driving an old model, dark green car. Sharon was playing with other children at the time and one was quoted by officers as saying the car had stopped and the woman asked Sharon to come with her, promising to buy her clothes and candy. When Sharon refused, the playmate said, the woman dragged her into the car.

Other reports indicated the woman was seen in the vicinity of the Gallegos home several times prior to the incident.

SEEMED NERVOUS

"I think that woman had tried to get Sharon before," Mrs. Gallegos said. "My baby loved to go to the store around the corner and buy groceries for me. The last three days (before the disappearance) she was afraid to go to the store by herself. She begged me or her older sister to go with her, 'she seemed nervous and restless.'"

Sharon's sister, Romana, now 19, is married and lives in Los Angeles. A brother, John, 15, lives at home. Mrs. Gallegos and her husband are divorced.

Leonard Blaylock, special agent in charge of the Albuquerque FBI office, said no substantial leads in Sharon's disappearance were uncovered. He said the file remains open.

Mrs. Gallegos, employed at a tourist court, clings to her hope that Sharon will read about her disappearance and notify her.

For Application in State

Hare Will Study Ontario Motorist Fund

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare will spend July 4 and 5 in Toronto, preparing for Nov. 1 and Jan. 1—key dates for Michigan's anticipated motor vehicle accident claims fund.

Gov. George Romney was expected to sign a bill, passed by the legislature with Hare's backing, authorizing establishment of the fund.

The fund would pay up to $10,000 per injury or death, $20,000 per accident and $5,000 for property damage to motorists hit by an uninsured driver.

It would be financed by a charge of $25 to the state's estimated 600,000 uninsured drivers and a $1 charge to everyone else. The fee would be paid when a motorist purchased his license plates.

VISIT TORONTO

The Michigan plan was patterned basically after an Ontario claims fund after a House committee visited Toronto.

"We're going to try to beg, borrow or hire Herbert Aiken, director of the Ontario fund, as a consultant," Hare said. "We don't have much time to get a large, complex machine in motion."

"Our branch offices have to be ready to start collecting an estimated $11 million by Nov. 1 (the day 1966 plates go on sale), and we have to be ready to accept claims Jan. 1," he added.

Only about half of the currently uninsured motorists would pay the full fee, Hare said. "The experience of other states is that a majority of the uninsured drivers buy insurance when such a law goes into effect. We would expect about half of them to purchase insurance right away."

97 PER CENT

About 97 per cent of Ontario's nearly 4 million drivers now have insurance coverage — in contrast to Michigan's estimated 85 per cent. New York, with a compulsory insurance law and an unsatisfied judgment fund, has somewhat less than 97 per cent coverage.

"The most important thing about a fund like this is the number of people who decide to start carrying insurance," Hare said.

One of the major tasks to be undertaken before the fund becomes law is the printing, on forgery-proof paper, of nearly 4 million certificates of insurance.

These will have to be mailed to more than 100 auto insurance firms doing business in Michigan. The insurers will have to process the certificates and mail them to each of their policy holders in time to purchase their license plates.

REQUIRE PROOF

Anyone unable to produce such a certificate at that time would have to pay the $25 fee. A motorist stopped by a traffic officer would have to show the certificate or proof on his auto registration that he paid the $25 fee.

As the law is set up, Hare said, the only way a person would be able to drive without insurance and without paying the fee would be to steal license plates—"and he would have to steal one of these certificates, too."

An uninsured motorist who was responsible for an accident paid for by the fund would be required to pay the money back to the fund. Refusal to pay would result in loss of plates and operator's license.

House Unit Seeks Deadline Delay on Zip Code Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General John A. Gronouski today issued a final order to make the Zip Code mandatory for all bulk users of second and third-class mail by Jan. 1, 1967.

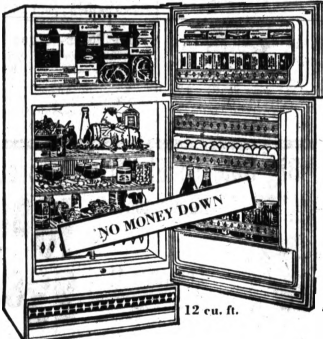

But a House Post Office subcommittee was trying to head him off at the pass. It approved a bill Wednesday that would delay the mandatory deadline until Jan. 1, 1970.

Subcommittee Chairman Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., said the earlier date would cause hardship for many postal employees and small businesses. The full Post Office Committee is to consider the bill July 15.

The Post Office Department took a diametrically opposite view. On the question of delaying the ultimate deadline, it said, there is "no possibility of a compromise."

No Crops to Report?

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico State Bureau of Revenue mailed out 45,000 forms called combined report of payments, abbreviated to CROPS.

The forms were for businessmen to list state school taxes, municipal sales taxes, compensating taxes and income withholding tax payments.

A half dozen businessmen replied they were not in the farming business and had no crops to report.

State Begins Fiscal Year With Surplus, No Budget

LANSING (AP)—The state began its new fiscal year today with an estimated $122-plus million surplus in the bank but no budget formally adopted.

The legislature has approved an $820 million general fund spending plan but it awaits approval from Gov. George Romney. The budget bills were adopted Friday by the legislature.

Indications are that any pruning the governor does through his item veto power would be relatively small. Spending for the year which ended Wednesday was an estimated $884 million.

Because of the late legislative session the state's department of administration told agencies to go ahead with normal activity under an interim accounting system until the bills are finally signed.

PAPER WORK
To-the-penny calculations of the year-end state surplus won't be available until late summer, when accountants have waded through the mass of 1964-65 paperwork.

Romney has pegged the surplus minimum at $122. Some Democrats say it will be closer to $130 million.

European nations, excluding Russia, had a record fishing harvest of 8,840,000 metric tons in 1963.

Ike Seen a Crusader for Convention Sanity

Gen. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER recently struck a blow for political convention reform when he spoke out against the chaos that keynotes the quadrennial convales of both Republicans and Democrats.

The former president proposed that seating on the convention floor be restricted to delegates only. Relegated to the arena boondocks would be the horde of alternate delegates, the party VIPs, the local dignitaries and a motley assortment of the privileged who jam the floor and aisles and make a mockery of orderly procedure.

Moreover, said the general, he would limit candidate demonstrations to five minutes. No more of these synthetic 20-to-30 minute productions that bore the loyalty out of everyone present, including the demonstrators.

Finally, he would bar circulating newsmen and photographers from the floor while convention business is in progress and reduce the growing encroachment of TV installations and appearances at the center of the stage.

We heartily second the General's motion — with a couple of amendments of our own.

No. 1—Eliminate all but one seconding speech following nominating speeches for candidates. Four were par for the course last year for the half-dozen candidates the GOP voted on at San Francisco; while the unanimous nominee of the Dems at Atlantic City, President Johnson, listened to seven (7) seconding speeches. No. 2—Cut the scheduled time of the conventions in half. Both 1964 national conventions were originally set for five days, but thanks to a merciful manifestation of wisdom were cut to four. But even four days of political wheel spinning is two days too many, and we'd cast a vote for standard 48-hour meetings of political minds.

That's our platform, constituents, but don't hold your breath until it's adopted.

Commies Taste Defeat in U.S.-Fed Algeria

Since Algeria is 3,000 miles away, it might be thought that events there are of little concern to Americans.

But as communication and travel marvels shrink the globe, the world is becoming one vast neighborhood and, like the stone cast into the water that sets off ever-widening ripples, the effects of developments in one area can no longer be isolated as of purely local interest.

Hence, the recent overthrow of Algeria's president, Ahmed Ben Bella, and his regime augurs well for the Free World, ill for Communist prospects there.

BEN BELLA had established himself as one of the most rabid anti-American and pro-Communist revolutionaries. As head of the government, he had turned the capital of Algeria into a world headquarters for any revolutions that Communists might be able to take over.

But Algeria's new ruler, Col. HOUMI BOUMEDIENNE, is a Moslem esthete said to consider communism alien to Moslem Algeria.

Algeria's new ruler, Col. HOUMI BOUMEDIENNE, is a Moslem esthete said to consider communism alien to Moslem Algeria.

One reason for the part he played in the overthrow of BEN BELLA, his one-time partner, was the shocking state of Algeria's economy.

Out of a work force of 5 million, 3 million are unemployed; and only U. S. food keeps an estimated 3 million Algerians from starvation. Almost a million Algerians of European descent have left the country, taking much capital with them.

Yet despite the growing economic chaos, BEN BELLA's government had spent heavily on luxuries and on promoting Communist revolts elsewhere.

It is becoming more and more apparent that communism is an instrument designed solely for instigation of disorder and rebellion within countries, never effective as an enduring administrative agency of the domain thus subverted.

"Men, as well as women, must accept the responsibility of parenthood," says a sociologist. Yes, indeed; 'twas ever thus and ever will be unless and until the human race is propagated by parthenogenesis.

GOP Dilemma Has a Parallel

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — This is a sort of era of good feelings between Republicans and Democrats but the last thing Republicans want is the kind of "era of good feelings" that developed under President James Monroe.

That was when this country's first big political party, the Federalists, disappeared from sight. Nevertheless, still trying to get up off their backs after the catastrophe which hit them in the 1964 elections, the Republicans don't sound brash about the future.

Maybe their small numbers in Congress make them seem muted. They have been strangely uncritical of President Johnson, or most of them have. One of his biggest helpers is the Republican Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen.

The Federalists, the party of Alexander Hamilton and John Adams and ancestors of present-day Republicans, began to slip after Thomas Jefferson and his followers won in 1800.

At first the Jeffersonians called themselves Republicans. They began calling themselves Democrats in 1828 and have been doing that ever since, thus making the Democrats the oldest political party in the country.

NEW REPUBLICANS

The present-day Republicans didn't come into existence until 1854.

As the Republicans (Democrats) grew, the Federalists dwindled. Their opposition to the War of 1812 hurt them. So did internal dissension, an ailment which severely began afflicting present Republicans in 1964.

By the time Monroe moved into the White House in 1817, with hardly any opposition worth the name in sight, the era of good feelings began. Between 1800 and 1860 the Republicans (Democrats) lost only two elections.

Then came the turn of the new Republic. They won the 1860 election and every election, with two exceptions, until 1912 when Democrat Woodrow Wilson broke their streak and did it again in 1916.

THREE IN A ROW

The Republicans fought back briefly, winning three elections in a row, starting in 1920. But in every election since 1932, except two, the Republicans have lost the presidency, and they have controlled Congress only four years.

In the 1964 election they lost 60 House seats, 2 in the Senate, and held only 17 governorships out of 50. This was the 1964 election spore in Congress: House — 295 Democrats, 140 Republicans; Senate — 58 Democrats, 32 Republicans.

It Was A Nice Idea

David Lawrence Says:

Abolish Political Conventions

WASHINGTON — Former president Eisenhower says that national political conventions are disorderly and undignified and that they should be reformed. But he doesn't go far enough. Actually, national conventions have outlived their usefulness and LAWRENCE should be abolished. For they are undemocratic and unrepresentative. They are controlled by cliques and factions and by big city bosses.

It is surprising that the "liberals" of today haven't agitated this subject.

If they will turn to the pages of history, they will find that a true liberal — namely, Woodrow Wilson — expressed himself on this very question 52 years ago, when he declared that there "ought never to be another presidential nominating convention."

He advocated that political conventions be held only to formulate a party platform and that the delegates to such a convention should be the candidates actually nominated for public office by their party in primary elections throughout the country.

Not until Eisenhower the other day criticized the conduct of the delegates and the handling of the convention proceedings themselves had any public man in recent years spoken out in criticism of the system.

Yet, with the nation now viewing the sessions by means of TV, the defects in the conduct of conventions have been accentuated.

The people certainly do not get an impression of a dignified process. Nor is their confidence strengthened by such a system of choosing a president and vice president of the United States.

BRUSHED ASIDE

Even the presidential preferences expressed in primaries in the few states where such primaries are held are brushed aside.

But if a uniform national procedure were required and nominations could only be made on the basis of the direct vote of the people, the value of the primaries themselves would be increased.

Similarly, if the candidates for Congress were to formulate the party's platform, they would be assuming a responsibility which would enhance the significance of the document.

As it is today, lengthy platforms, including ambiguous statements, are adopted, but they are seldom referred to during the campaign. After an election these same planks are usually forgotten.

Certainly there is need for reform of the whole method whereby nominees for the presidency and the vice presidency are selected.

Eisenhower's comments, intended largely to produce a more orderly procedure at the conventions, could have a far-reaching effect, especially since the time is long overdue for the development of a system whereby the people themselves will have a voice in nominating the candidates for offices in the legislature and executive branches of the federal government.

Bob Considine Says:

Curb on Speeches Is Way to Calm Political Confabs

NEW YORK — I'm certainly glad that former president Dwight D. Eisenhower wants to calm down future national political conventions.

One way, I'd respectfully suggest, would be to have some sort of committee within the GOP check on speeches that contain passages calculated to arouse bloody cries against the assembled press.

There was a moment during Sen. Barry Goldwater's acceptance speech at San Francisco last year when, it seemed to some of us working stiff in the press rows, his more rabid devotees among the delegates would have charged us as vigorously as the Marines hit Tarawa, if he had pulled out a bugle and blown it.

Cooler heads prevailed, to coin a phrase.

But a day or two later, like himself, trading from his script, sang out a few lines that ignited the shouts for the scalps of "the press."

A BIT SURPRISED

He seemed a bit surprised by the reaction, as if he may not have heard or read that passage before plunging into it.

Few men in U. S. history had a better "press" than Ike.

In his off-the-cuff remarks the other day to a meeting of Republican state chairmen in Washington, the general made some valuable points.

Conventions, he said, give the rest of the world a picture of confusion and indifference which, if duplicated at any business or industrial gathering, would be considered appalling.

CLEAR FLOOR

He would clear the floor of alternate delegates, unless needed in a vote, and of the reporters and "publicity" people as a whole.

It's true, the conventions of both political parties need a slum clearance program. But those who have drawn attention to this need, "the press," should not be penalized. Reporters win prizes for exposing bad conditions. They don't win banishment.

I'm not at all sure that the American public, the last more or less fully informed body politic on earth, would care to relinquish the scrutiny of its political leaders that good convention coverage affords.

Ike may not have meant it, but his talk in Washington smacked of the military brass's inability to comprehend the meaning of the civilian's right to know what's cooking with those who lead the parade.

In Washington:

Troubles Brew Amid Idle Youth

BY RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Trips to low-to-do suburban areas in a number of states over the past year uncover the following:

Booting liquor shops in upper middle class junior high schools. Student-salesmen keep supplies in their book lockers in the school halls, sell quick shots to fellow seventh, eighth, CROMLEY

High school prostitute rings involving girls from good families.

Gambling rings for considerable stakes. Operators and customers both are sons and daughters of well-above-average income families in good communities.

There are even more shocking examples.

The point to remember is that these incidents are from schools in excellent neighborhoods. The students are not economically underprivileged. Some teachers insist they have far less of a problem with young men and women from poorer sections.

When you ask why these things happen, these stories are told:

A high school coach called up one of his best students the other morning, found him watching television and "loafing" around.

Readers Voice Opinions on Length of School Year

Every summer someone proposes that we have a twelve-month school year. If you feel strongly about this, try staying in a classroom with 30 children for a full day when the temperature is in the 80s. I'm sure you will change your mind about how much learning will take place.

When the public is willing to support a camp program or pay the bill for air-conditioning I'll be willing to listen.

Summer can be a wonderful time for learning with one's parents. As a parent I enjoy my five children during the summer months. As a teacher I plead with other parents to accept and enjoy this responsibility.

MOTHER OF FIVE AND TEACHER OF THIRTY

I disagree with Ed Grieger of Walled Lake who suggests the answer to low teacher salaries is to lengthen the school year to twelve months. Not only do the teachers need this time for further study, but children need a vacation to explore their special hobbies or talents.

It seems ridiculous when they're shortening the adult hours to talk of increasing students' school hours.

The students who can't find activities and loiter around street corners are the ones who usually don't go to school anyway.

MARY JANE HOFFMAN
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

I must disagree with Mr. Grieger's comments on school vacations. Teachers do have eleven weeks off this summer and as long as the public is paying the bill they will not let teachers forget this.

It was stated that the student often creates a burden upon his parents during the summer months. What has happened to the time when parents would take advantage of this time to draw closer to their children, take vacations with them, and allow them to attend a summer camp?

Perhaps the teacher could accomplish much more through the school year if he could place more emphasis upon his particular subject matter rather than having to fulfill the responsibilities of the home and the church.

ROBERT WOLTERS
PONTIAC SCHOOLTEACHER

The Better Half

"Here's a sign of the times! ... Tom Swift and His Capital Gains Tax Scheme."

"That's all I do all day in the summer," said the boy. "I haven't got a job; there's nothing around the house to do. So I loaf."

"There must be something to do," said the coach. "Doesn't your house ever need painting?"

"Yes," said the boy. "But my father does it. He doesn't think I do a good enough job."

The Red Cross and Candy Stripper volunteer programs in some neighborhoods have to turn away many girls who want to work at nursing and other volunteer jobs. They limit the time their girls work in order to spread the work to as many as possible.

These examples are typical. A high school coach says: "Most of my students have nothing to do in summer. They have little work at home; they don't have jobs. Their parents earn enough to give them the money they need. They have cars or the use of cars. They've got nothing to do and so they look for thrills. They hang around until someone thinks of something to do. In this process the things we regard as normal and wholesome go by the board."

Talks with research men bring out the same answers. Says one:

"A generation back, a youngster on a farm or in the city had a lot of work to do. He and his parents lived in the same world. He was busy. He had a place. He saw where he fitted into the world. He felt necessary. "Now a lot of the high school teen-agers feel useless. That's when trouble starts. They need to do something and a place to do it."

He had a place. He saw where he fitted into the world. He felt necessary.

"Now a lot of the high school teen-agers feel useless. That's when trouble starts. They need to do something and a place to do it."

In my own neighborhood a shoe store owner threw open his basement for the young people to use after school. Within two weeks he had 200 young people in his teen club. They ran it themselves, made their own rules. He said they were most orderly.

Merchants in the neighborhood applauded, complained only that the shoe man should keep his club open longer hours so as to keep the youngsters off the street corners all evening as well as all afternoon.

Note: The club was closed by the fire department because there were too many youngsters for the number of exits and size of the room.

In a growing number of towns alarmed citizens have opened up the schools' afternoons and evenings. A host of other experiments are being tried.

In my neighborhood a group of churches is setting up a youth employment bureau. They'll list both paid and volunteer job opportunities and match them up with young applicants. Since there will be more young people wanting to work than jobs, the next assignment will be to seek the creation of more jobs, both paid and volunteer.

Astronaut Has 2nd Accident

Sustains Scratches in Head-On Collision

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, who made thousands of accident-free miles in space, has had his second earthly traffic accident within a year.

Carpenter escaped with scratches Wednesday when his car and another hit head-on on U.S. 90 west of Panama City at 6:30 a.m.

The Highway Patrol said Carpenter fell asleep at the wheel and his car veered to the wrong side of the road. Eddy Washington, 51, of Panama City, driver of the other car, was hospitalized with minor injuries.

Last July 16, Carpenter was thrown from a motorbike near Hamilton, Bermuda. That time he received a compound fracture of the left arm.

FINED $25

Trooper R. W. Hilton charged Carpenter, 40, with driving on the wrong side of the road. The Navy commander pleaded guilty before a county judge and was fined $25.

The astronaut is attached to the Navy's Defense Mine Laboratory near here as officer in charge of a group of Navy men training under Sea Lab II, a project testing the effects on man of underwater living.

Carpenter was the second American to orbit the earth. He made three revolutions in a Mercury capsule on May 24, 1962.

He was removed from space flight availability after the Bermuda incident and is still off flight status.

Relations Now Improved, Tito Tells Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia left for home today after a 13-day state visit saying relations with the Soviet Union are becoming better and better.

Seeing him off at the airport, Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan said: "We are happy that these meetings have been useful."

Tito and his hosts denounced American policy in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic in speeches during the visit. Tito also criticized the Red Chinese denunciations of the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence without naming China.

Man Shot in Knee

—by His Lawn Mower

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Robert Pitt, 51, of Mt. Juliet, was shot by his lawn mower Wednesday.

Officers report he was mowing his back yard when the rotary blades of the mower exploded a .32-caliber cartridge lying in the grass. The bullet struck his right kneecap.

Church Group May Get Its First Negro Moderator

CHICAGO (AP) — The opening of the fifth general convention of the United Church of Christ today may bring the election of the Church's first Negro moderator.

He is Dr. Hollis F. Price, 61, a layman and president of Le Moyne College in Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Price was the nominating committee's choice. Competition could come from the floor before the vote.

The vote is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The synod staff, however, prepared a biography of Dr. Price, listing his title as moderator 1965-1967.

Moderator is the highest honorary office of the denomination of slightly more than two million persons. As official representative of the church, the new moderator will visit local congregations and districts and preside over the next synod, in 1967.

The chief executive officer is the president, currently Dr. Ben M. Herbst.

Dr. Price had a major role in the progress toward integration in Memphis. The American Newspaper Guild in Memphis gave him its 1963 citizenship award, first ever presented to a Negro there.

Le Moyne, a liberal arts college related to the United Church of Christ, has a student body of 1960. Dr. Price went there as dean in 1941 after he taught economics for 10 years at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama. He was named president in 1943.

A native of Virginia, Dr. Price received a B.A. degree from Amherst College in 1927, and an M.A. degree from Columbia University in 1931.

He is deacon of the First Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) in Memphis.

LBJ Signs Bill to Cut Duty-Free Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law a compromise bill lowering to $100 retail value the amount of duty-free purchases that U.S. tourists can bring into the country from overseas.

But the new limit does not go into effect until Oct. 1. At present, tourists can bring in goods valued at a $500 wholesale — about $167 retail.

If Johnson had not acted before midnight Wednesday, the old limit of $500 wholesale value would have gone back into effect.

In signing the bill, given final congressional approval earlier Wednesday, Johnson hailed it as a small but significant step, "significant because it reflects a strong determination by our government and this nation to eliminate our balance of payments deficit."

$60 MILLION
He said the new limit would save about $60 million a year.

The legislation lowers from one gallon to one quart the amount of duty-free liquor that tourists can bring in. But the gallon allowance was continued for the Virgin Islands, Guam and Samoa.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy.

Senate confirmed Wednesday by voice vote President Johnson's appointment of retired Air Force Gen. William F. McKee to head the Federal Aviation Agency.

Although a number of senators had opposed the nomination, only Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, spoke against it. He called it a bad appointment because it violated the principle of civilian control of the FAA.

Congress last week approved a bill to suspend the requirement that the FAA administrator be a civilian and to let McKee draw $3,400 of his Air Force retirement pay in addition to his $30,000 FAA salary.

ALSO CONFIRMED
Other Senate confirmations included former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, undersecretary of commerce; Stanley R. Resor, New Canaan, Conn., secretary of the Army; David E. McGiffert, undersecretary of the Army; succeeding Resor; and Robert H. B. Baldwin, New Vernon, N.J., undersecretary of the Navy.

Says College Work Key to Great Society

EAST LANSING (AP) — University of Michigan President Marlan Hatcher told young students of government Wednesday night that reaching such goals as the "Great Society" depends on work done at universities.

Hatcher spoke to 100 high school senior boys and girls attending Operation Bentley, a three-week workshop on government, sponsored by the Michigan State Association of Supervisors with financial aid from the Bentley Foundation.

"Research and training of future workers in such fields as population control, pollution of water and air, civil rights and economic inequities among the nations are in large measure the responsibilities of the universities," Hatcher said.

Middle-Aged Are Likely Victims of Alcoholism

(Editor's note: This is the ninth article in a 10-part series on the problems of the middle-aged. The series is condensed from the book "Generation in the Middle" by Thelma C. Purcell.)

By THELMA C. PURCELL

Alcoholism is the misfortune of the forties.

This is the age when pressures from outside make a man feel that he is less than adequate unless he is capable of running the world. And jauntily, too. He reads every day that it is now or never.

He is expected to be at the peak of his business career and ready for an afternoon of tennis. It is taken for granted that he is the confident of his sons, the admiration of his daughters and the sturdy oak on whom his wife depends.

Some five million men drinkers and close to a million known women drinkers have taken refuge in alcohol from the whole complex situation.

The fight for reeducation concerning alcoholism has made great progress. For one thing, it has behind it a huge, nationwide, well-endowed organization devoted to the rehabilitation of the alcoholic and his family.

NATIONAL SPONSOR

The National Council on Alcoholism sponsors Alcoholics

Anonymous — or AA — for the victim himself.

Also there is Alanon, where the wife or husband can join with others in the same predicament. They can talk over their problem, and benefit, not only from the release that comes from being able to speak frankly, but from the advice and help of trained advisers.

There is even a group especially for the youngsters in such a home. Alateen.

There has been a small effort to start a Gamblers Anonymous, but it lacks the national scope and financial backing.

LESS DRAMATIC

Perhaps because it is a less dramatic form of escape and its results are more easily disguised. There is an uneasy taboo on the open frank discussion of mental illness.

The partners in these tragedies still suffer alone, as did the spouse of an alcoholic until a very short time ago.

First of all, the families of an alcoholic must accept the basic fact that this is a disease, or rather, a symptom of some deep disturbance. The sufferer cannot conquer it by himself. He must have help.

Sixty-eight per cent of the population of the United States are social drinkers. Only seven or eight per cent are true alcoholics. But when we realize that each of these involves his wife and children in his personal tragedy, the number of victims is multiplied four-fold.

FAMILY DISEASE

That is why alcoholism is called the family disease.

The usual concept is that the alcoholic is a man. Yet a woman has always found it easier to conceal her dependence on alcohol.

Whether addicted to whisky, vanilla extract or a patent medicine, housewives are not out in the world as men are, and can cover up with "nervous" headaches and complaints of female weakness. Also, it is harder for a man to admit, even to himself, that a woman he has chosen would have to resort to this consolation.

Men and women first turn to drink as a solace for the same reasons. They drink to show they are good sports; they drink because it is the accepted, sophisticated thing to do.

GAIN COURAGE

They drink to give themselves courage. They drink to show off. On occasion both men and women drink to escape boredom.

How does the process of rehabilitation work?

A relative or a friend makes a first appointment for the alcoholic with a doctor, pastor or counselor. Here comes the first job which the family must be ready to take.

Less than 50 per cent, no matter what promises have been made, will appear for the meeting.

HIT BOTTOM

It is one of the axioms of the National Council that a drinker must hit bottom before he is ready to start up. He may not be ready as yet to accept help. But the very fact that he agreed to try shows that some seeds have been planted.

An experienced counselor never uses the term "alcoholic." He may say, "don't you think you might have a wee touch of alcoholism?"

This admittedly is like asking a woman if she doesn't think she is a little bit pregnant, but it gets a foot in the door.

Patience is considered the greatest single factor in effecting a cure according to the Rev. Eugene A. Verdevy, chaplain of the Georgia Baptist Hospital, who has dedicated his life to this work.

Especially on the part of the wife. He calls it "coping with them through hoping with them. If... (the alcoholic) knows that the wife is merely coping for her own welfare and as an end for her own satisfaction, there is never success."

ALCOHOLIC WIFE

The problem of the alcoholic wife is immensely complicated by the fact that men more frequently turn against a woman who drinks to excess, if the husband will admit the fact at all.

It is a part of the old double standard that men may be driven to drink by their wives, but women somehow should be above it.

The role of the alcoholic's wife is not to serve as a crutch, or to gain status in her own eyes by her forbearance.

She must learn the difficult lesson of the difference between being reliable, steadfast —and taking over.

DOMINANT ROLE

Unfortunately it is hard not to get private satisfaction out of assuming the dominant role.

In case after case, workers find the person who complains the most about his weak, dependent alcoholic mate, is finding his own strength in the role of self-appointed savior.

In the long run, public opinion has done much to help the man or woman who has stopped drinking, who has conquered himself.

'Even Heavily Defended Bases Not Fully Safe From Guerrillas'

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Seasoned military men say the Communist attack on the key Da Nang Air Base points up the near impossibility of totally safeguarding even a heavily defended installation from guerrillas.

Da Nang is probably the best-guarded of all the bases in South Viet Nam where Americans have posted men, planes and equipment.

About 9,500 Marines have been deployed around the base since early March. For weeks, they have patrolled aggressively far out into the countryside in "search and destroy" operations designed to root out and break up Communist concentra-

And yet Red guerrillas were able to make a surprise penetration attack on the Da Nang base in darkness. First reports said Viet Cong mortars poured about 30 shells on the airstrip. Later, U.S. military authorities in Saigon said their latest information indicated a small group of guerrillas infiltrated the base with explosives and 57mm recoilless rifles and inflicted the damage. These reports said only about 10 rounds of mortars hit the outer extremity of the base and apparently did no damage.

NIGHT ATTACK
However, military men consider the mortar a particularly effective weapon for launching under the cover of darkness. The weapon can be broken down and carried in sections, along with its ammunition, by a few men.

It can be assembled behind a bush screen or at night within range of target. It makes no loud report on firing. It sends off no telltale flame.
The Reds have used mortars with telling effect in two previous assaults on major U.S. bases.
One Army study held that it would take 44 battalions to provide security for all U.S. bases in South Viet Nam. The United States has nine combat battalions in the country, with six more on the way.

Tiros Satellite Set for Launch

To Reinforce Space Watch for Hurricanes

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's 10th Tiros weather satellite is set for launch tonight to reinforce the nation's space watch for hurricanes.

The camera-carrying storm hunter was mounted atop a three-stage Delta rocket scheduled to blast off toward a hard-to-reach north-south orbit during a 45-minute period starting at 11:07 p.m. EST.

If all goes well, Tiros 10 will join three other orbiting weather observers to give the United States full coverage of the earth's storm breeding areas during the six-month hurricane season that began June 1.

One of the satellites now circling the globe, Tiros 9, sighted a tropical disturbance Monday about 500 miles east of Trinidad. The disturbance has been given little chance of developing into the season's first storm.

Tiros 10 is the first spacecraft financed by the Weather Bureau.

The Bureau, which is paying $15 million for the satellite and its launch, decided to use it to make certain at least one space eye will be in operation throughout the storm season.

A Junior Editors Quiz About CATS

QUESTION: Why do cats dislike water?

ANSWER: Anyone who has tried to wash a cat knows how they dislike water. They will scratch and bite to keep out of it. The reason is that cat fur is not adapted to water, since cats don't have to swim to stay alive.

The fur of animals which stay in water most of the time, such as that of the beaver, seal and muskrat, has a dense undercoating which keeps the skin dry.

Of course, we humans love to swim and yet we have no woolly undercoating. But our skins dry off quickly when we come out of the water.

Also, we can take our damp bathing suits off. The cat's fur is like a wet suit of clothes hanging around him. This is so uncomfortable that he decides it won't happen again. Not all of the cat family dislikes water, however.

The South American jaguar lives by the edge of rivers which are frequently flooded, and he has learned to swim across them.

He is also very fond of fish (what cat isn't) and scoops them out with his paw, sometimes leaping in to catch them. When it is very hot, a jaguar will often jump into a water hole and slosh around to keep himself cool.

FOR YOU TO DO: In spite of what our little friend in the picture seems to think, cats are clean. They rarely need washing because they clean themselves by licking. But you can help your cat by brushing its coat gently (use a bristle or nylon brush, never a wire one). The cat will probably enjoy it, and it will remove loose hair.

Catholic Hospital Treating Poor Viets

BOYLE

By HAL BOYLE
QUIT NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — They come on infirm feet. They come on pallets laid across shoulder poles borne by friends or relatives. They come in fishnet hammocks strung on the back of a small, three-wheeled ambulance. Each day at least a hundred young or old Vietnamese poor come for treatment at the outlying of the Holy Family Hospital here. On its staff of 11 Catholic sisters are five from America, the only ones in South Viet Nam.

The two-floor, 44-bed hospital is built around a compound shaded by palm trees and abounding in colorful tropical flowers. It is a haven of comfort and hope for thousands of miserable refugees who have fled into the city to escape the Viet Cong.

"This area always has been a Viet Cong stronghold," said the mother superior, Sister Karen Gossman, 42, of Louisville, Ky.

WENT NORTH
"In 1954 before many of them went North, they burned and looted the entire city."

Sister Karen, a robust, kindly woman with a sense of humor that beams through her spectacles, founded the hospital in 1961. She worked as a nurse on a hospital ship in the Pacific during World War II before joining the order of Catholic medical missions sisters. The order has hospitals in 35 countries.

Sister Karen told of her work as she walked through the clinic, pausing to pat a scrawny, fretful, hollow-eyed child, or cheer a worried mother.

"Two of the sisters are doctors, and they see every patient," she said. "It is the suffering of the children that affects us most, although all the adults are victims of the war in one way or the other. They have such a hopeless feeling."

"In addition to the everyday types of illness, there's been a lot of cholera, measles, plague and typhoid. In fact they are epidemic here, but the government doesn't like to admit it."

HOME LEAVE
The sisters work from seven to 10 years before getting home leave. Sister Karen spent eight years in Pakistan before coming here.

An attempt is made to make the hospital self-supporting. Those of the poor who can afford it pay five piasters — about seven cents — a visit to the clinic. Ward care is 10 piasters daily.

Violent Weather Hits From Plains to South Carolina

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A massive cold air system which brought record low temperatures to the Midwest and New England loosed violent weather today along its advancing edge from the Plains to South Carolina.

Tornadoes speared sections of Colorado, Oklahoma and southwest Missouri. Funnel clouds whirled over South Dakota and eastern Montana. Little damage was reported from these.

Near Grant, in southwestern Nebraska, strong winds uprooted several trees. Power lines snapped at Columbia, Miss., plunging half the city into blackness as 60-mile winds accompanied a thunderstorm. Heaviest rain on the front was reported at Myrtle Beach, S.C. — 1.68 inches.

ly. But the hospital distributes about $700 worth of medicine each month. It is helped by Catholic relief agencies.

"The patients bear pain much better than our people," remarked Sister Karen. "They don't expect much out of life. A woman who has had seven or eight children feels lucky if half of them are alive."

"Many people are concerned about us. They tell us they want us to stay and continue our work, but they fear for our safety."

RELIEVES THEM
"It relieved them when we told them we would never leave them as long as we could be of service to them unless we were pushed out. Some of them feel it would be the end of hope if we left."

Sister Karen said that neither she nor the other sisters worry about their fate if the enemy should seize the city, which lies on the central coastal lowlands between Saigon and Da Nang.

"We've given our life to God, and He has brought us here," she said. "We feel that what happens to us is His business not ours."

And then, as if afraid she had spoken too seriously, Sister Karen smiled sweetly — and made the wryst pun I've heard in Viet Nam.

COUP-COUP
"You know what we call this country?" she asked, chuckling. "We can't it the coup-coup country — because it has so many political coups."

The other American sisters at the hospital are Brenda Burke, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Virginia Sayers, Toledo, Ohio; Rosalie Pollini, Dallas, Tex.; and Sheila Marie McGuinnis, Troy, N.Y.

Grant Okayed for Rochester

ROCHESTER — A $542,446 grant approved by the federal government yesterday has given the green light for work to begin on the East Third Street urban renewal project.

The grant, which was announced by U. S. Senator Patrick V. McNamara, covers three-fourths of the $717,729 project. Village residents approved a $190,000 bond issue last December to cover their share of the project.

The money will enable the community to turn the "blighted" East Third Street area into an industrial park for light industry.

Actual construction will not begin until next year, according to Village Manager Richard C. Don. He said there are several matters to be cleared up.

First, a government requirement must be met. In order to receive the grant, the village must obtain 40 per cent irrevocable commitments to purchase the land.

Don said 43 per cent of the entire area is spoken for by

Romney Signs Dumping Bill

House Bill 2950 giving local governments authority in the establishment of refuse disposal areas has been signed by Gov. George Romney. It was reported today by Rep. Robert J. Slingerland (D-3rd District).

The bill is of particular interest to residents of Oxford and Oxford Township, where the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission has proposed establishment of a sanitary landfill on land formerly used for gravel mining.

Slingerland said the bill gives city, village and township governments the final authority to permit or prohibit the establishment of refuse dumps within their jurisdiction.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Edward Mahalak of Romulus and cosigned by Slingerland, who also introduced amendments which strengthened the authority of local governments.

'Auto Spectacular' Slated in Brandon

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — A "Gigantic Auto Spectacular," sponsored by the Brandon Township Veterans Memorial Association, will be held Saturday at the high school football field.

Cars to be shown will be speedway, dragstrip, new cars and antiques. Guy Foster of the Veterans Association said the group is particularly anxious to get antique cars.

Foster said there will be no races.

A parade to the football field at 10:30 a.m. will precede the day's events.

Entrants will compete for a trophy in each division and for a grand trophy.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds will go to the Brandon Township Library Building Fund.

Racing driver Jack Goodwin of Farmington will be the guest speaker.

2 Honors for Area Man

CLARKSTON — Robert Newlin was doubly honored last night. He was installed as president of the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce and also named the Jaycee of the Year.

The occasion was the organization's annual installation and ladies night dinner at Waterford Township's Community Activities Inc. building.

Other newly installed officers were Ralph Chambers, internal vice president; Robert Brumback, external vice president; Charles Curry Jr., ways and means vice president; Gordon Speilbring, secretary; and Donald Austin, treasurer.

Serving on the board of directors are Kenneth Barks, Donald Bestwick, Harry Fahrner and Lewis Wint.

Among the guests at the dinner were District 10 Vice President Ted McCullough and Mrs. McCullough.

Romney's Park Tour Due Today

ONTONAGON (AP) — Gov. Romney was to leave this western Upper Peninsula community today on a hiking, motoring and flying tour of Porcupine Mountains State Park.

From his visit and discussions with interested parties will come a gubernatorial decision on whether to permit construction of a road through the 58,000-acre wilderness park.

The legislature has approved a bill which would prohibit the conservation department from following its policy of forbidding extension of a highway through the park.

Advocates of the road claim it is needed so that more people can visit the park. Opponents say the state should preserve one of the last wilderness areas in the middle United States.

ROMNEY PLANS

Romney planned to drive along highway M107, which extends about halfway into the park. Then he'll hike south about six miles, motor along the southern edge of the park and fly back across on a tree-skimming helicopter tour.

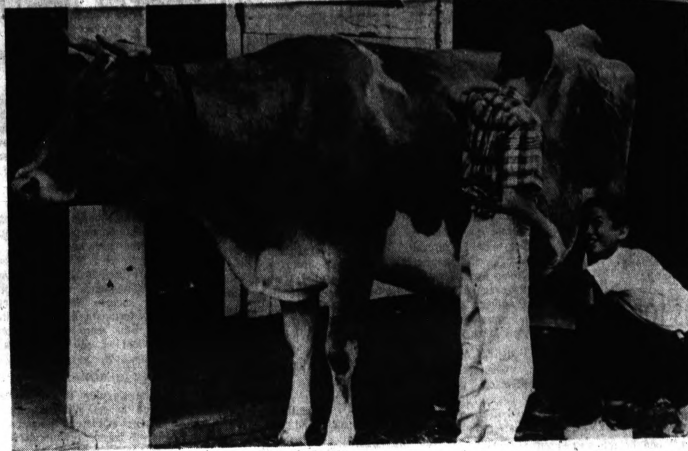

Spokesmen for the Conservation Department were asked if declining attendance figures indicated the roadway was needed. They said that more accurate vehicle checks, bad weather and the burgeoning Upper Peninsula skiing industry had caused the drops.

Park attendance climbed steadily from 78,506 in 1947 and was above 200,000 every year from 1953 through 1960.

It dropped to 199,800 in 1961 but officials said that was the first year an exact attendance check had been kept, rather than estimates. Park attendance figures throughout the state dropped from 18 million in 1960 to 13 million in 1961 as the more accurate system went into effect.

CROWDS DROP

Porcupine's crowds dropped to 145,925 in 1962, climbed slightly to 150,020 in 1963 and receded to 145,485 last year.

PATIENT 'BOSSY' — Some cows have a lot to endure from city kids — even milking from the wrong side. The error doesn't seem to bother this cow at the Upland Hills Farm near Oxford, as 75 children flock in each day during the summer for day camp. Milking the cow is Jon Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lewis of 6908 Snow Apple, Independence Township. David Jaffe of Huntington Woods waits his turn.

Brochure Studies Effect of War

State Farming in 1860s Eyed

The impact of the Civil War on Michigan agriculture is examined in a new publication of the Michigan Civil War Centennial Commission.

The 27-page brochure, "Effects of the Civil War on Farming in Michigan," is the work of Joseph J. Marks, Michigan State University agricultural writer.

The brochure, illustrated with photographs and containing statistical tables and a bibliography, was made possible by an appropriation of the legislature.

Most of the 90,000 Michigan men who fought for the Union cause were farmers. When they left their jobs, they spurred a scientific "revolution" in the state's agricultural operations.

Farm machinery, such as McCormick's reaper, helped fill the manpower shortage. "The Civil War did not produce the machinery upon which agriculture depended," Marks writes. "Instead, it produced the conditions that made the adoption of this machinery necessary."

NEEDED AIDS

Hard-working women, youths, and immigrants couldn't meet the increased demand for farm products without mechanical aids.

Farm prices rose sharply during the war. The price of butter, for example, increased from nine cents a pound in 1861 to 45 cents in 1864. Wheat advanced from 30 cents a bushel to $2.30.

Inflation, in the form of greenback currency, aided indebted farmers. Depreciated dollars forced farm prices higher and enabled some farmers to pay off prewar obligations at lower real costs.

The Homestead Act of 1862 offered land to ambitious settlers. Under this Act, in 1864, there were 1,572 entries in Michigan, involving 207,000 acres of land. The Merrill Act of 1862 opened the doors of the first Land Grant College, Michigan Agricultural College. Both measures were important to the state's agricultural progress, Marks writes.

The Centennial Commission, headed by Floyd Haight, Dearborn, will soon publish additional studies on Michigan's Civil War monuments, religion, newspapers and other subjects.

Blaze Levels Brandon Barn

Origin of $50,000 Fire Undetermined

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — A barn valued at about $50,000 was destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin last night. Township firemen fought the blaze for 4 1/2 hours but were unable to save the barn or the equipment stored inside. They were assisted by the Oxford Fire Department.

The barn belonged to Ronald Howes, 5101 Oakwood.

Fire Chief William Buckingham said a bull and two calves, the only livestock in the barn, were saved. A combine, milking equipment and some hay and straw were burned.

Buckingham said the barn was valued at about $45,000 and the equipment, partially covered by insurance, at about $4,500. The fire started around 10:15 p.m.

Pickup Truck Kills Boy, 6, Near Lum

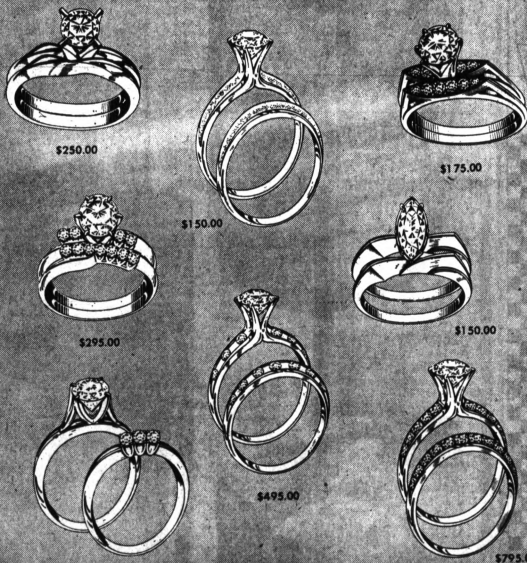

LUM — A 6-year-old boy was killed yesterday when he ran into the path of a pickup truck on Lake Pleasant Road north of town.

Gene Arthur Benson of 3029 Lake Pleasant was playing with his three brothers in a field when, according to the oldest boy, he was frightened by a snake and ran out into the road. He was killed instantly.

Police said no charges were filed against the driver, Cecil Henry Watson, 27, of 6670 Lincoln, North Branch.

Cows don't produce as much milk from sorghum silage as they do from corn silage, says a team of Wisconsin dairy scientists. They say sorghum silage is useful as silage crops but — to compensate for sorghum's lower energy value — about 10 per cent more will have to be fed than corn silage.

White Sands Missile Range Will Be 20 Years Old This Summer

By JOHN BOOHER JR.
WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — A desert proving ground where the United States used to test and evaluate the development and use of missiles, the range is 20 years old this summer.

It is White Sands Missile Range, a 4,000-square-mile expense of desert so barren that Spanish conquistadores called the area "Jornada del Muerto" — Journey of the Dead.

But there was elbow room here, and on July 18, 1945, seven days after establishment of "White Sands Proving Ground" as it was then, the first detonation of an atomic bomb occurred at Trinity Site at the northern end of the range.

Sleeping in a Las Cruces, N.M., hotel room that morning was Lt. Col. Harold R. Turner, former commander of the Dover, Del., Aircraft Rocket Range. In his briefcase were orders from Washington to build the range. There was little time, as about 70 captured German V2 missiles were en route to New Mexico for tests.

BARREN AREA

"When I got here there was precisely nothing but 'boondocks,'" Turner recalls. "So I told my people, 'Put the headquarters building there, and everything else can be built around it.'"

Nobody had ever built a missile range before and there were problems. The first was the Army blockhouse, which is still in use.

"I went to two agencies to get information on what could be expected if a missile hit the blockhouse. I got precisely nothing."

"One said walls three-feet thick would be enough; the other suggested walls 40-feet thick reinforced by an inch of steel plate."

FIRST OF MANY

Turner, in the first of many times at White Sands he was to improvise, threw both figures out and built the blockhouse with concrete walls nine-feet thick and a 38-foot-thick ceiling.

A test stand to hold the V2s in place during static firings also was needed.

"I used rule of thumb and GI welders," Turner says. He had help from a young German scientist, Werner von Braun. A concrete chute was built to direct the flame, 28-square-foot steel plates were hung like shingles to protect the chute, and everything was ready for the first firing of a V2 in this country.

The static firing lasted 63 seconds, and Turner describes it as "one of the most spectacular and startling things I have ever seen in my life. The noise was so high it was beyond the threshold of hearing, and it dug up a lot of coyotes and jack rabbits who found it convenient to go other ways."

PLATES FLEW

"But then those steel plates started to come out from under there like kids throw milk caps."

Seeing the red-hot plates hurled up to 200 yards by the V2's thrust made an impression on the bystanders. "I have never seen such sudden dispersal and in-place digging in my life," Turner said.

Turner believes the V3 firings at White Sands put this country into the space age.

"We fired 23 V2s while I was at White Sands with 80-85 per cent success. We were very, very fortunate because during this time there was only one accident of any seriousness," Turner said.

NAVY READY

The Navy by this time was ready to get into the missile business and late in the summer of 1947 Turner, a handful of his technicians and Navy crews trained at White Sands fired a V2 off the deck of the carrier Midway about 200 miles off Bermuda.

"It was something short of a bowling success," Turner says of the flight, "but we got very wonderful information and it all sort of paved the way for the Polaris program and the Navy's missile frigate capability."

That October Turner, by then a full colonel, was transferred from White Sands. He subsequently went to Patrick Air Force Base in Florida, where a joint long-range proving ground was to be built at Cape Canaveral — now Cape Kennedy.

Turner retired in 1950 and now lives in El Paso, Tex., where he can watch developments on the White Sands range.

IS AWED

"I'm frankly a little bit awed when I realize how big it has gotten," Turner, 66, says. "I had 1,000 troops under me when I was there. Now they have more full colonels there than I had officers in all grades."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has constructed a $35-million complex here, at which almost 1,000 persons are employed, for testing of four key components of the moonship which is to land the first U.S. astronauts on the lunar surface and return them to earth.

All this is a far cry from the day when Turner found "a broad expanse of nothing."

Shuns Formulas for Fitness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy takes physical fitness in stride. He has no formula and no advice to the

"I don't do any push-ups or anything like that," the New York Democrat said in a quickie interview.

He simply climbs a mountain, hikes, sails, skin dives, plays baseball, ice skates and throws a mean football around.

He's off Friday to shoot some rapids on the Yampa and Green rivers in Colorado and Utah, taking his wife and at least five of their nine children. It's a typical vacation for Kennedy.

He is seldom not doing something.

ON MANTEL

When Kennedy was attorney general and Associate Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White was his deputy, Kennedy kept a football on the mantel in his office. The two — White was an all-American in college — tossed the ball back and forth at times while trying to unsnarl legal problems.

The Kennedy family touch football games became famous when John F. Kennedy became president. All the brothers, sisters, in-laws and sometimes children joined in.

An outsider who played on Robert Kennedy's team described him as an aggressive player and a "chatter-man," all the time talking his side to better efforts.

Kennedy, though slight for a football player, made the varsity football team when he was a Harvard student.

WEIGHS 165

Now 39, he is 5 feet 10 and weighs 165.

He had never climbed a mountain. But the Canadian government named a peak in honor of his late brother, the president. Last March Sen. Kennedy climbed that mountain, up near the Alaskan border.

"He was tougher than we thought; he's a pretty rugged fellow," one of the veteran climbers said of Kennedy.

When John F. Kennedy was president, Robert Kennedy joined the craze for 50-mile hikes. He set out early one cold February morning in 1963 and walked 50 miles in 17 hours.

Kennedy includes his wife, Ethel, and their children in the games and sports. They went camping out in Oregon a few years ago. This weekend they'll be riding in huge rubber rafts down the Yampa and Green Rivers.

And there was the time last December in New York when skaters at Rockefeller Center spotted seven Kennedys — father, mother and five of the children — out on the skating rink.

Say Local Recruiters

Viet War Hinders Service Enlistments

While America, as a nation, might be thoroughly entangled in the war in Viet Nam, area young men are not anxious to become involved in the fighting in that small Asian nation.

At least they are not clamoring to the local recruiting offices in hopes of receiving immediate assignment to the strife torn jungles.

If anything, the war in Viet Nam has hurt enlistments in the armed forces.

Local recruiters have indicated that on several occasions parents will refuse to sign enlistment papers for their 17-year-old sons in fear that they will be sent to Viet Nam.

"Things are not like they were during the Korean War of World War II," said M. Sgt. Raymond Barriault, local Army recruiter.

"No one wants to leave home—they are making too much money," he added.

T. Sgt. Edward Smith, Air Force recruiter, S. Sgt. Danny Salazar of Marine recruiting and Navy recruiter CPO George Wightman all agreed.

NOT HELPED

None of them has found that enlistments are being helped at all by the current war.

Wightman said that the increase in the draft quota, partially caused by the war in Viet Nam, is bringing a few more men to the Navy, men who would rather join up than be drafted.

"Most of the youths who come in our office have a take it or leave it attitude about Viet Nam," Salazar said.

He said many boys joined up to get overseas, but not specifically to Viet Nam.

Smith said that he has had indications from Washington that perhaps in the future, the Viet Nam war will play a role in spurring enlistments.

During the past six months, all services, except perhaps the Marines, have had a difficult time filling their enlistment quotas.

Salazar said that locally, the Marines have been exceeding their goal for the past five months.

However, he joined the other three recruiters in stating that high employment in Pontiac is playing havoc with enlistment quotas.

"A paycheck of $78 per month (a recruit's pay) can't stand up to minimum pay of $2.50 to $3 per hour which these kids are making at the auto companies," Barriault said.

Smith said that in addition to high employment, the election campaign talk last fall about abolishing the draft still lingers in many minds.

The no draft idea gets farther from reality each day as the war in Viet Nam continues and enlistments lag, the recruiters said.

Because of the lag in enlistments, some of the services have had to lower standards a little.

Wightman said the Navy dropped their enlistee requirements a few months ago, but have raised them again.

"It all depends on the needs of the service," he said. Smith said the Air Force had also lowered its standard somewhat, to make it easier for non-high school graduates to get into the service.

Area Woman Reappointed to Historical Group

Mrs. Donald E. Adams, a member of the Michigan Historical Commission since 1941, has been appointed to a new six-year term by Gov. George Romney.

During the past year Mrs. Adams, of 2711 W. Walton, Waterford Township, served as president of the commission.

She also is a past president of the Historical Society of Michigan.

Appointments of commission members by the governor must be confirmed by the senate.

In Custody of Parents

Ship's 'Crew' in Distress

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The crew members of the "U.S.S. Honolulu," sought for three weeks by federal and state agents, were in the custody of their parents yesterday.

The crew — two boys aged 13 and 14—had been radioing the Coast Guard with distress calls for other boats.

When rescuers arrived, there was nothing in sight.

The Coast Guard then called for help from the Federal Communications Commission and the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

Tuesday, another message from the "U.S.S. Honolulu," reported a capsized sailboat near the Chesapeake Bay Bridge. PINPOINTED SOURCE

FCC agents pinpointed the source of the radio transmitter, rushed to the scene, and caught the two boys leaving a docked yacht.

There has been no further word from the "U.S.S. Honolulu."

Gas Bomb Burns Cabs in Taxi Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—A gasoline bomb was thrown into a taxicab parking lot early today, setting fire to three cabs as vandalism and violence flared again in the fourth day of a driver's strike for union representation.

Brooklyn Police reported the makeshift "Molotov cocktail," a plastic container filled with gasoline and ignited, exploded about dawn at the Cab Transporting Co. parking lot.

Firemen reported damages light. There were no injuries.

Fearing more violence by union-riding goons, police warned independent taxicab owners and strike-breaking drivers to stay on main thoroughfares and avoid back streets.

Yesterday police received more than 20 separate reports of injuries to drivers or damage to taxis.

The strike by about 5,500 drivers was aimed at the owners of huge fleets but the strikers also want to force independent owners off the streets.

In Chicago, a strike by 5,500 drivers and 500 mechanics of the Yellow and Checker companies moved into its sixth day. Police reported today that nails and tacks had been strewn along taxi ramps at O'Hare International Airport. Four independent taxis got flat tires.

Auto Industry Starts Safe-Holiday Drive

DETROIT (AP)—Auto industry groups launched a campaign today to keep the nation's highway fatalities as low as possible over the Fourth of July weekend.

The multipronged attack was mounted in the wake of predictions by the National Safety Council that the long holiday weekend would result in 470-570 traffic deaths. Last year's toll was 504, a record for a three-day July 4 observance.

The Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee, representing the auto and tire industries, issued from its Washington headquarters a plea to motorists to take a 60-second, five-question driving quiz before setting out for their holiday trips.

Thomas R. Reid of Ford Motor Co., chairman of the committee, listed the five questions as:

1. Does everybody have his seat belt fastened snugly?
2. Am I sure the car is in safe driving condition — especially brakes, lights, steering wheel and tires?
3. Have I planned a rest break every couple hours of driving?
4. Am I prepared to allow at least one car length between me and the car ahead for each 10 miles an hour I'm driving?
5. Is my attitude such that I will not be competitive, but co-operative with other drivers?

CORRECT CONDITION

Reid added, "If your answer to any of these questions is 'no,' do not turn on the ignition key until you correct the condition."

General Motors Corp. added its voice to the safety plea for the Fourth in a special full page advertisement in many newspapers and magazines.

Its theme was:

"You're going to be on the road over the 4th? Decide beforehand who's going to drive and who is going to navigate."

USE FREEWAYS

General Motors said that urged motorists to use freeways wherever possible and cited figures showing the freeways had a much better safety record than regular streets and roads do.

General Motors said that experiences of its 500 drivers and special testers at GM proving grounds in Michigan and Arizona resulted in these tips for holiday drivers:

Eat sparingly before taking the wheel... it's no place to be drowsy.

To stay alert, stop driving at least every two hours—preferably more often—and take a brief walk to loosen tense muscles. Coffee, fruit juice and soda pop will help. And keep a continuous supply of fresh air going through the car.

Keep the car radio on and switch stations frequently. Change your seat position, too, so you won't feel cramped.

The Automobile Club of Michigan was another to join the safe holiday crusade. It launched a special "Bring 'Em Back Alive" crusade for the weekend. Its theme was that motorists should not be scared off from taking holiday trips but that they should take extra care while on their trips.

Reynolds Aluminum Co. launched a nationwide Fourth of July safety campaign from a different angle today. Its theme was that if you stayed at home and had a back yard picnic, you'd be better off.

NAACP Plans Housing Drive

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Plans for a drive against racial discrimination in housing are emerging from the 56th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Jack E. Wood Jr., collector of the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing, said today he anticipated the drive would be "at least of the same magnitude" as the voter rights drive in the South.

"Unlike voter discrimination, housing bias takes place all over the country — not just in the South," he said.

Wood is a former housing director for the New York City Commission on Human Rights and the former housing secretary of the NAACP.

Birth Control Clinic to Open at Hospital

The Planned Parenthood League, Inc., will open a clinic next Wednesday at William Beaumont Hospital which will replace the present Oakland County clinic at 212 Daines, Birmingham.

Operating the clinic located in the hospital's outpatient clinic will be the Detroit Planned Parenthood League.

The new facility will be open Wednesdays from noon to 5 p.m. and will be staffed by a physician and registered nurses.

A nonprofit agency, the Planned Parenthood League operates six clinics in Wayne County besides the one in Oakland.

Services of the new clinic are available to the general public.

State School Chief Sworn Into Office

LANSING (AP)—Alexander Kloster was sworn in Wednesday as acting superintendent of public instruction, replacing retiring Lynn Bartlett.

Kloster had been deputy superintendent. He will hold "his post until the State Board of Education fills the permanent $30,000-a-year post.

Bartlett was the last elected holder of the office. He is joining the U.S. Defense Department with responsibility for education of military dependents overseas.

GROWS INTO HIS JOB—Virgil Anderson Jr. is now able to handle a man-sized job on a shingle-making machine in a plant in San Diego, Calif., thanks to doctors of Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation. When Virgil was 15, he was just 4-foot-4. His father (right), a six-footer, put him under treatment and now at the age of 22, Virgil stands 5-3 and is able to handle a machine at the plant where his father is a foreman.

India Says Cease-Fire Not Accompanied by General Pullback

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian officials today denied Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan's report that the cease-fire agreement for the Rann of Kutch had been accompanied by a second agreement for a general withdrawal of troops along the Indian-Pakistan frontier.

Ayub Khan announced in Karachi that he and Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri had agreed in London to order the immediate withdrawal along "the entire India-Pakistan border."

Ayub said the agreement for the general withdrawal is in some respects "more important than the pact on the Rann of Kutch dispute."

"It is not true. We know nothing about such an agreement," said K. P. S. Menon, Indian Foreign Ministry spokesman.

NO ORDERS
G. G. Mirchandani, a defense ministry spokesman, said no Indian unit outside Kutch has been ordered to withdraw.

"It is implicit in the Kutch agreement that there is bound to be an easing of the situation," said Mirchandani, "and now that the Kutch is out of the way we are hoping things will ease along the whole border."

Troops in the Kutch, a desolate Pakistan-India border area on the Arabian Sea, were ordered to withdraw with the beginning of the cease-fire at dawn today. The pullback is scheduled to take seven days.

L.K. Jha, Shastri's principal private secretary, also denied Ayub's statement but added that "a lessening of tension and perhaps some troop movement would be a logical consequence of the Kutch agreement."

Jha said he had been at Shastri's side throughout the Kutch negotiations during the Commonwealth conference in London last week.

SCHEDULES BROADCAST

Shastri was silent but scheduled a broadcast to the nation tonight. He was expected to defend the pact against charges by extremist Hindu organizations that its terms — specifically those calling for joint patrolling of land India claims — were a surrender to Pakistan.

More than 1,000 members of the Jan Sangh rightist Hindu organization demonstrated in New Delhi Wednesday. They burned a copy of the Kutch pact and scuffled with police. More than 50 demonstrators were arrested.

The cease-fire signed Wednesday calls for a withdrawal of both nations' troops from Kutch and joint patrolling of the 130-square-mile area while negotiators attempt to demarcate the disputed border. If no agreement is reached within two months, the dispute is to be submitted to an impartial Indian-Pakistan tribunal selected by India and Pakistan.

When fighting broke out there in April, both nations rushed large numbers of men and tanks to their long frontier. For weeks the two neighbors were close to war. Then British Prime Minister Harold Wilson stepped in as mediator. Wilson told the British House of Commons Wednesday that the cease-fire "may prove to be the first step toward a general improvement in relations between India and Pakistan."

Ayub Khan said: "The subcontinent has been spared the horrors of war."

Two-thirds of the gasoline consumed in the U.S. is used by farmers, manufacturers and merchants in moving goods, and by wage earners going to and from their jobs.

To Leave Earlier Not Rude

By Emily Post Institute

Q: The other night, friends of ours called and said that their car was in the garage for repairs and asked if we would pick them up and take them to a party to which we were all invited.

We were only too happy to do so. When it was time to leave, they came over to us and said that they were riding home with another couple.

My husband and I were very much put out over this and think they were very rude. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: Unless they wished to leave the party before you and asked if you minded their riding home with this other couple who were also leaving early, I agree with you that they were very rude.

KEEP RING?

Q: I was engaged two months ago and received a very beautiful ring from my fiancé. Two weeks ago, he was killed in an automobile accident.

I would like to know if I should return the ring to his parents or may I properly keep it?

A: You may quite properly keep it. If, however, it happens to be an old family heirloom and you know that his parents would like to have it remain in the family, it would be considerate to offer to return it.

THE SUFFIX ESQUIRE

Q: Is it ever proper for a man to use the suffix Esquire when writing his own name? I know a man who does this and I have tried to tell him that it is in very bad taste, but he will not listen to me.

Perhaps a word from you will convince him.

A: It is not only in bad taste but incorrect as well and is the same as signing himself, "John Smith, gentleman."

Details concerning the remarriage of a widow and divorcee are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet, entitled, "Second Marriage."

Has Enthusiasm for Life

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Like many women of today's generation, Elizabeth DeLorean worked for a while after her marriage. Her husband was going to night school in addition to his job.

Her husband is John Z. DeLorean who today becomes general manager of Pontiac Motor.

Mrs. DeLorean has had an exciting time since the news of her husband's promotion was made public.

"All sorts of people have been calling, people who knew John way back when. One caller even wanted to borrow six and a half million dollars!"

The DeLoreans now have an unlisted number.

FROM WHITEMORE

A small town girl, Elizabeth Higgins DeLorean grew up in Whittemore, Mich. where her father was president of a gypsum company.

Whittemore was founded by a member of the same family that figures prominently in Pontiac's early history and for whom Whittemore Street is named.

She worked for Michigan Bell Telephone Company, both in the engineering department and as a service representative.

The company sent her west where she had three happy years in San Francisco. She would have been there yet probably if she hadn't met John DeLorean while home on a visit.

"This slender, clear-eyed young woman has a contagious enthusiasm for living."

LOVES ANTIQUES

Her home is a blend of contemporary and antiques — "I just love antiques!"

She's currently redoing the dining room in the style of an earlier day. We discussed a bit what she might use to cover cushions on two ornate benches she has recently acquired.

Golf is not her sport, but bowling is. And she is an avid gardener. She gets down to weed the rose bed, has myriad scratches to prove it.

Mrs. DeLorean took over for the late Mrs. E. M. Estes as a committee woman for the Detroit Ciderella Ball.

She has thoroughly enjoyed her work with the Detroit League for the Handicapped.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

She is active as a member of the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary and is on the fund raising committee for the hospital.

She expects to continue much the same life she has been leading, though her husband has increased responsibilities.

It's a lonely life at times. But she has company in the form of a huge brown poodle named Misty.

MRS. JOHN Z. DeLOREAN

Comings and Goings

Judge and Mrs. Frederick C. Ziem of Sylvia Shore Drive will have as house guests this weekend her brother and sister-in-law, the Robert L. Upchurch of Chicago with their sons, Allen and Robert Jr.

Don't Defeat Your Purpose by Invading Home Privacy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am not a professional business woman, but I have to telephone a lot of business-men as I do volunteer work for several worthy causes.

I am fed up to the teeth with the secretary who doesn't know not only your name, but what you want to speak to her precious boss about.

I don't blame her for asking who is calling, but I don't think what I want to talk to her boss about is any of her business. Invariably I am told that the boss is "in conference," and please to write him a letter. If I had time to write letters I wouldn't be making telephone calls!

What do you think of my telephoning the man at his home after office hours? I can't think of any other way to get to these men who are so well-guarded by their secretaries.

DEAR VOLUNTEER: I don't advise you to telephone a man at his home. It's presumptuous and an invasion of his privacy.

In addition to which, it's poor psychology, and your "good cause" might suffer if he resents the intrusion. Don't blame the secretary who says her boss is "in conference." She's only following his instructions. Your best bet is a letter.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Flo, the good cook, who refuses to give out her recipes, it's what her friends DON'T do that makes their results different from hers. As an example, take this recipe which I have used for 25 years and have given to innumerable guests:

INFALLIBLE RICE (serves four hungry, or six polite people).

1 medium onion, minced
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup long grain, raw, white rice

2 cups chicken broth, (hot).
Saute onions until transparent. Add rice and hot broth. Bring to a boil on top of range. Cover and place in 325 degree oven for 20 minutes. Serve and listen to the compliments.

Simple enough? Well, you ain't heard nuthin' yet. I have had people complain that theirs wasn't like mine. Upon questioning them, I learned why. Here are a few reasons.

a. Used instant rice.
b. Used another shortening, not butter.
c. Left out the onions.
d. Failed to cover the rice in the oven.
e. Stirred the rice while on the range.
f. Used water instead of broth.
g. Allowed rice to "boil" for some time before placing in oven.
h. Let broth cool before using.

i. Baked for 40 minutes.
j. Liked onions, so added second onion.

Now I ask you! Why can't some people just follow directions?

"RESIGNED" For some people, directions are something they read carefully to find out what they did wrong.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Reception in the Italian-American Club followed the recent vows of Lynda Louise Herdener and Roger Dale Ray of West Stratford Avenue in the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Their parents are the Robert Herdener, Second Avenue and the Howard Rays, Walled Lake.

The bride chose white Rochelle lace for vows spoken before Rev. E. L. Watkins. A Niagara Falls honeymoon is planned.

Are You Bride-to-Be?

Are you planning a wedding in 1965? We are interested in having your engagement and wedding news. But we need your cooperation.

The Pontiac Press has printed forms for both engagement and wedding announcements. But you may send in the details, giving full names and addresses (husband's names for a married woman) and other pertinent details.

Please include a telephone number so that we may check if necessary.

TIME LAPSE

There must be two months between engagement and wedding stories, if there is to be a picture with both.

No engagements are announced less than a month before the wedding date.

We prefer to receive wedding stories and pictures before the ceremony.

If pictures are taken at the wedding, we must have them no later than two days after the ceremony (that is, by noon Tuesday for Saturday weddings.)

If the wedding takes place out of town, this deadline is extended.

BEST PICTURES

Pictures should be black and white, preferably glossy prints. Snapshots cannot be used. Color and tinted prints are not acceptable.

While The Pontiac Press makes no promise to use every picture submitted, some printed mention of the event will be made.

There is no charge for editorial space, but it cannot be reserved nor can we promise the size of picture or its position.

Engagement and wedding pictures are kept for two months, then discarded. They may be called for any time after publication.

Stress Education for Women

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The Governor's Commission on the Status of Women stressed education Wednesday in its report on an 18-month study of the role women undertake in the state's domestic, business and political life.

Approximately 50 leaders of women's organizations in northwestern Lower Michigan attended the meeting to hear the report which the commission placed before the governor about six weeks ago.

The commission was established in June 1963, by Gov. George Romney.

Mrs. Paul Goebel of Grand Rapids is chairman.

It recommended:
• Immediate training programs to provide counselors for elementary and secondary school students and stepping up present guidance programs to prepare noncollege students for their role in the home community work force.

• Posting at public schools notice of scholarships available on state and federal grants and through foundations for higher education.

• A program by the Michigan Employment Security Commission to publicize occupational training and retraining available to women under the Manpower Development training Act and the Area Rehabilitation Act.

• Elimination of unrealistic age ceilings in eligibility for training programs, particularly for nurses aides and licensed practical nurses.

• Creation of more community colleges and the addition of technical training programs for women at existing community colleges.

• Tailoring school curricula to the needs of dropouts, particularly in home economics, and vocational training courses.

• Expansion of adult education programs at high school and college levels.

Expenditures Up

Per capita expenditures on health in this country have increased from $62.70 in 1948 to $126.93 in 1963.

Chlorine Is Good Purifier

The wife of a U.S. Naval attaché, just back from Turkey, writes that "all our vegetables are bought on the Turkish market and require soaking with chlorine bleach 10 to 20 minutes before consumption."

Similar reports from other wives of officials serving in the Orient show how Americans count on liquid chlorine bleach in foreign lands as a "first line" of sanitary defense.

While domestic produce does not require these precautions, the item does point up the versatility of liquid chlorine bleach as a home disinfectant and deodorizer.

And for summer campers, liquid chlorine bleach will effectively purify suspicious drinking water.

Bridal Pair Speaks Vows

The Michael Gene Howards (Suzanne Marie Peasley) spoke recent vows before Rev. Frank Williams in the Milford Presbyterian Church.

At the reception in the American Legion Hall were their parents, the Walter W. Peasleys of Milford and the Roy Howards of Warmbrier Drive.

The bride chose white Chantilly lace over tulle and an illusion veil for the ceremony. The couple will live on Grass Lake Road.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOHMAN

Many men who should know better, God bless them, will turn into howling athletes on their vacations.

Regardless of the fact that they have done nothing much more strenuous physically than talk into a dictaphone or sign letters or file papers or hold conferences or work on an assembly line, they may try to become overnight, a mountain climber, an all-day golfer or a marathon walker.

This is not only harmful but may be downright dangerous. After the indoor winter months it is a temptation to do this because of the enhancement of the great outdoors. However I hope that my masculine readers and their wives will curb this tendency.

FREE FROM ROUTINE

A vacation can be wonderful because of the relaxation it offers, the freedom from routine, the change of pace and the opportunity for outdoor exercise. However, if a person has been leading a sedentary life, physical exercise must be approached with care. The strenuousness of the exercise and the amount taken must be tailored to the individual's capacity.

So don't walk five miles the first day or play 36 holes of golf. Walk one mile, or maybe two, and play nine holes of golf. Even walking up hills is strenuous exercise, especially if you are overweight.

Don't decide that because one of the world's monarchs plays tennis at a late age, it is time for you to take up this sport. Settle for badminton doubles (and do not take this

Yes, It's True, Ladies

WASHINGTON 46 — What you may have suspected has now been proven — women are broader across the seat than men.

Not much broader — 14.4 inches on the average to the men's 14 inches. But still broader.

This is one of the findings of a survey of almost 7,000 adults from 18 to 79 years released by the Public Health Service Tuesday.

They measured a lot of things, too, like height, weight and other body dimensions.

Hot Water Rinse Will Do the Trick

Rinse a vacuum container in hot water. Empty, then fill again with scalding water. Let stand until ready to pour in the hot liquid that you are to carry in it.

Notice how much longer contents stay hot with a bottle given this treatment.

Keep Keys Clean

Fine whitening, combined with lemon juice and wiped on piano keys with a soft cloth, then wiped with another slightly dampened cloth, will keep keys clean.

Why? To aid in the design of commercial, industrial, military or medical equipment "to insure its safe, efficient and comfortable use."

How was that vital breadth measurement made?

In the seated position, the health officials said, "across the greatest lateral protrusion on each side of the buttocks, using light but sure contact to compress the clothing but not the body."

Janine Carol Rich was awarded a bachelor of science degree in sociology from Central Michigan University. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason W. Rich of Orion Township.

East Germans Raze Buildings

To Help Guards Fire at Escaping Refugees

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany today announced large-scale demolition work adjacent to the Berlin Wall to give Communist guards a clearer field for shooting at refugees attempting to flee to the west.

West Berlin police said the work is under way already. They said the Communists started tearing down five-story apartment houses along one border street on Tuesday.

The Communist announcement was made jointly by Friedrich Ebert and Gen. Helmut Poppe, the mayor and military commandant of East Berlin.

It said a "number of measures" would be carried out, including the demolition of buildings, to secure the wall and "provide a clear view of the border area."

Ebert and Poppe claimed the measures were necessitated by the "provocations" of clandestine organizations in West Berlin.

EVICTED TENANTS

The Communists evicted tenants from many of the buildings and blocked up doors and windows when the wall first went up four years ago. Some residents of the Communist zone managed to escape to the West anyway.

Western officials said the new move obviously was designed to cut off the trickle of refugees who still manage to scramble past armed border guards — frequently at the risk of their lives.

Apparently it also was designed to eliminate such eyesores as uninhabited buildings with bricked-up windows, which make it all too clear why the Communists built the wall.

The Communists have been trying to make the wall look as attractive as possible and they assert it was built not to keep refugees in but to bar Western "Fascists."

Rights Workers Face Arrest Despite Action by Court

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A federal appeals court has struck down city ordinances banning parades without permits but civil rights demonstrators here still face arrest if they march on the state capitol.

The capitol has been the main target of the largely Negro demonstrations here for three weeks. Nearly 1,000 have been arrested.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans issued an injunction Wednesday halting enforcement of three Jackson ordinances dealing with public parades and distribution of handbills.

"We'll abide by the court order," said M. B. Pierce, chief of detectives, who had led the police force's "instant arrest" squads.

Although the city technically didn't have to obey the appellate court action until it received formal notice, the police radio network told officers to end arrests under the three city ordinances shortly after court action in New Orleans.

Eighteen more demonstrators were arrested Wednesday, however.

They were jailed under a recently passed state law forbidding demonstrations on the state capitol, at the governor's mansion and the old capitol building.

The 18 marched to the capitol, sat down on the front steps, and demanded to speak with Gov. Paul B. Johnson.

HAVE AIMED

The civil rights forces have aimed their demonstrations at the special legislative session called by Johnson to change voting statutes.

Negro leaders claim the proposed changes are attempts to thwart the voting rights bill pending in Congress.

The controversial plan to relax voting requirements was its last major test in the House Wednesday when it mustered the needed two-thirds majority on its second floor appearance.

The Senate has already approved the voting law changes.

But the House version left the door open for the state to tighten its voter requirements at a later date.

Costa Rica Mourns Bus Accident Dead

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — Costa Rica mourned today for 32 persons killed in the wreck of a chartered bus that was carrying members of a children's ballet company up the Inter-American Highway to Honduras.

President Francisco Orlich decreed three days' national mourning for the victims of the bus wreck. Flags through the country were at half-staff. The bus ran off the road Tuesday night and plunged over a cliff near the town of Choluteca.

Detroit Asks Aid in Vacant House Drive

DETROIT (UPI) — The aftermath of three small children burning to death in a fire in a vacant house in Detroit today saw the city moving on several fronts against the vacant house menace.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and the Detroit City Council renewed efforts to get federal legislation to provide funds for removal of buildings that constitute a safety hazard to children.

The mayor also ordered the City Housing Commission to survey the number of houses open to vandalism and trespassers. It has been estimated there are more than 2,400 of them in the city.

Cavanagh also ordered Public Works Commissioner Glenn Richard to develop a plan to enable city officials to barricade dangerous buildings if the owner refuses to do it.

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin instructed police to be alert for signs of children entering and playing in vacant houses.

ISSUES ORDER

Police Superintendent Eugene Reuter put an order into effect to prosecute older children for trespassing, and hold parents of younger children responsible for their actions.

City Building Inspector Raymond Goddard said there are now 2,400 houses in the city awaiting demolition under the dangerous building ordinance, but it was estimated it would cost $3.6 million to tear them down.

Farms and homes served with Tennessee Valley Authority electricity use nearly 2½ times as much electricity as the national average home uses.

The Haitian Story—2

Voodoo, Police Keep People in Fear

Editor's note: The following dispatch, second of three on Haiti, deals with the government of Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier, who is the nation's president for life.

By BRYCE W. WALKER
United Press International

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — A story circulated in whispers through this dusty Caribbean capital that three women, one of them 90 years old, had been arrested for political subversion.

They were the mother and two sisters of Clement Jumelle, late political adversary of President Francois Duvalier. Jumelle was executed publicly for treason several years ago.

Remors such as this are not uncommon, yet they are heard less frequently than in the past. There are signs that political terrorism in the Republic of Haiti is subsiding, at least temporarily and on the surface.

Haiti shares the island of Hispaniola with the Dominican Republic to the east. It is a country of contorted mountain ranges, abrupt valleys and table-top coastal plains.

Its people, the descendants of African slaves, ward off starvation with a diet of mangoes, bananas and avocados.

FIRM RULE
For the past eight years, Haiti had lived under the firm rule of President Duvalier, perhaps the harshest strongman of the Western Hemisphere.

A down-faced ex-doctor, Duvalier controls the country through a combination of fear and superstition. He allows no political opposition, and has proclaimed himself president for life.

Duvalier governs from a gleaming, bone-white palace in Port-au-Prince with machine guns, cannon and antiaircraft guns hidden in the shrubbery. Armored tanks guard the three main entrances and government soldiers in American-made summer khaki uniforms swarm through the palace grounds.

The main prop of Duvalier's power is his gun-toting, zoo-wild police force, the "Ton Ton Macoutes" — which in the native Creole dialect means "bogymen."

TERRORIZED COUNTRYSIDE
The Ton Ton Macoutes have terrorized the countryside with crimes ranging from extortion to murder.

But Duvalier has a more subtle and mysterious method of controlling the minds of the people. He plays on the local superstition of voodoo, those weird beliefs imparted from Africa and involving witchcraft.

One nickname for the dictator is "Papa Doc." Another is "Papa Lou," a designation which gives him the status of a voodoo diety.

No one knows whether Duvalier actually believes in witchcraft. But as one Haitian intellectual said, "If I were president, I'd make sure everyone thought I was a voodoo priest."

BLACK NATIONALISM

Along with the recent political terror, Duvalier launched a campaign of black nationalism. His political idol is Emperor Jacques Desalines, the first ruler of this Negro republic after independence from France in 1804. Desalines' regime was marked by systematic extermination of white elements.

Last year, Duvalier replaced Haiti's blue and red flag with the red and black banner used by Desalines. A sign at the office of the National Renovation Movement in the Capital reads, "Consider, my black brother Haitians, and decide."

Defenders of the regime claim force is necessary in a country as socially and economically disorganized as Haiti. They point to the dictator's efforts to "improve" the economy.

GOVERNMENT FAVORITES

The country's single low-cost public housing project, Duvalierville, is inhabited almost exclusively by favorites of the government and the Ton Ton Macoutes. The new jet airport, opened last Jan. 22, has yet to bring in enough foreign tourists to cover building costs.

somewhat less severe than six months ago, observers here say.

The midnight arrests, the summary execution of political opponents and the strong-arm tactics of the secret police are no longer as frequent.

There have been no public executions since November, when two young Haitian rebels, the last of a group of 13 which landed in the south in an attempt to overthrow the dictator, were killed in public. Their bodies were displayed at a traffic circle on the road to the airport.

GANGSTER TACTICS

The gangster tactics of the Ton Ton Macoutes have been somewhat curtailed in recent months.

According to an American businessman here, there is an easing of tension and a new sense of stability. "The butcherery of a year ago has declined in the extreme. The guns have been taken away from the irresponsible Ton Ton Macoutes, and you don't hear the rumors you used to hear."

There are two explanations for the apparent thaw. One is that Duvalier, having successfully dealt with attempts to overthrow him, feels more secure in office. The second is that he is easing up in order to ingratiate himself with the United States, in hopes of winning more economic aid.

U.S. aid to Haiti was cut in 1963 when Duvalier refused to abide by the aid agreements and tried to infiltrate the program with his political favorites.

It amounted to some $10 million — not much, but enough to keep the stalled economy from slipping even deeper.

Political observers here believe that the landing of U.S. Marines next door in Santo Domingo also may influence Duvalier to moderate his policies.

"Sure, things are quiet now and Duvalier feels reasonably secure," one official said. "But just wait until something happens to rock the boat."

Actually, there are two dissident political parties in Haiti. Both are Communist and both are pointedly allowed to operate by Duvalier so that they can be used as levers against the United States.

LEFT-LEANING

At least two Cabinet members have histories as Communist sympathizers. Finance Minister Pierre Boyer and Information Minister Paul Blanchet have both been extreme leftists.

But a U.S. State Department spokesman describes them as opportunists rather than card-carrying Communists.

"Boyer, for one, has become quite rich in office, and talks more like a Capitalist every day," he said.

The two Communist parties are so taken up with bickering among themselves that they pose little threat to the present regime, officials believe.

HILL HOUSE — Two Oakland University coeds stroll across the dormitory walkway toward the campus. The residence hall was made possible by an anonymous gift to the university. Costing $825,000, the building was opened for the first time in the fall of 1964.

On OU Campus

Hill House: Generosity's Gift

Standing as a monument to magnanimity is Oakland University's Hill House which welcomed its first coed residents last fall.

Built at a cost of $825,000, the residence hall was a gift to OU from an anonymous donor.

The 100 double rooms on six floors house 200 women students.

Of contemporary design, its square layout is functional and provides the advantage of short corridors. It contains approximately 40,000 square feet of floor space.

The building is constructed on a terrace, so that only four floors are visible from Walton Boulevard.

A bridge from the hill side provides an entrance on the third floor, which contains a central lounge, head resident's apartment and study as well as student recreation area.

ARCHITECTS

Meathe, Kessler & Associates of Grosse Pointe were the architects.

The Hill House gift follows a pattern of support for dormitories by individuals interested in helping OU offer the best possible housing facilities to its students.

Fitzgerald, Pryale and Anibal Houses provided the university's first permanent dormitory facilities for some 300 students and are named in honor of such donors.

The $345,000 Pryale House was constructed as part of a total gift of $450,000 from the Pryale Foundation, created by Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Pryale of 26 Barbour, Bloomfield Hills.

EQUIPMENT

The gift also provided for science equipment as well as $60,000 for the University's computer center.

OU Foundation President Harold A. Fitzgerald of 1400 Ottawa gave $45,000 to furnish Fitzgerald and Anibal Houses, the latter named for Benjamin H. Anibal of 1435 N. Cranbrook, Bloomfield Township, retired chief engineer of Pontiac Motors.

Anibal gave OU 1,000 shares of General Motors stock in 1961 (valued at $50,000) for dorm furnishings and for support of the science program.

Last December, he gave an additional 500 shares of GM stock (valued at $47,000) primarily for support of the science program.

Nude Halts Traffic;

She's a Real Doll

FILLMORE, CALIF. (UPI) — Traffic added to a halt and backed up rapidly when male motorists sighted a blonde in a topless bathing suit in a telephone booth.

Police summoned to the scene rapidly got the vehicles moving again by removing the topless mannequin from the booth. It was unknown how the shapely dummy got into the booth.

Expect Eshkol to Hold Majority Despite Split With Ben-Gurion

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol should be able to muster a comfortable majority in the new Israeli Parliament despite a split with Ben-Gurion.

Ben-Gurion, 78, whose feud with Eshkol led to the break, announced Wednesday he was forming a separate list of candidates for the November general election. Eshkol is the Mapai Central Committee's choice for premier if the party comes out on top again. The Mapai, Israel's labor party, won 42 of the 120 parliamentary seats in the last election and has been Israel's dominant party since the country became independent in 1948.

Operation May Help Tiny Child

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Little Maria Kim Atzing is beginning to throw her weight around.

Maria weighs 12 pounds, 1 ounce and is considered among the smallest patients to successfully undergo heart surgery.

Maria has weathered some storms in her 18 months.

At birth, she weighed 3 pounds, 7 ounces. Her first seven weeks were spent in a hospital incubator.

GRIPS HAND

When she was 1 year old, Maria would grip her mother's hand and try to walk.

But, she weighed only 10 pounds.

"She was so small people thought she was only a few months old," said her mother, Mrs. Jerome Atzing.

"They'd keep commenting they'd never seen a tiny baby so advanced."

GERMAN MEASLES

Mrs. Atzing said that she was ill during pregnancy, apparently from German measles. Doctors found the baby suffered from a congenital heart defect, "aggravated by severe hyperplasia."

"When I visit her, she gets such a grip on me I hate to leave her," said her mother.

BACK TO HOSPITAL?

Maria may have to come back to the hospital some day to have a cataract removed from her left eye.

But she is expected to go home Friday. Her doctors see no reason why she can't take up normal activity, gain some weight and in a few months reach average size for her age.

Ben-Gurion predicted his list would win 20 to 30 seats, but even some of his closest supporters felt he is being overly optimistic.

The former premier commands respect for his big part in founding the Jewish state, and he is particularly popular among many new Jewish immigrants from Eastern and North African countries because of his understanding of their needs.

SEEMED DOUBTFUL

But it seemed doubtful this would be enough to make his faction a potent force in the next Parliament.

Only three other Mapai members of Parliament have agreed thus far to join Ben-Gurion. They are Joseph Almog, former development minister and Mapai secretary-general; Hanna Landman and Godeon Ben-Israel.

The most severe blow to Ben-Gurion's prospects is the refusal of former army chief of staff Moshe Dayan to support the split.

Although he is a Ben-Gurion supporter, Dayan said he favored a "fighting opposition" within the party rather than formation of a separate list.

OPTIMISTS

With Dayan on the list, optimists among the Ben-Gurion supporters reckoned the faction might pick up 15 to 20 seats. But without Dayan only 10 seats are in the offing, one Ben-Gurion supporter said.

The Mapai is moving toward closer alignment with the more leftist-Socialist Achdut Avodah party, which currently holds eight seats and two posts in Eshkol's coalition Cabinet.

Eshkol's party and the Achdut Avodah will have a joint list of candidates in November.

Eshkol probably also can count on the support of the National Religious party, which has been a member of all previous Mapai-led governments, and the leftist Mapam party and the Independent Liberals, who have indicated a willingness to join an Eshkol coalition after the election.

ON DISPLAY — A new medal honoring the Jewish faith will be unveiled this week at the American-Israeli pavilion in the New York's World's Fair. Designed by New England's prize-winning sculptress Elizabeth Weistrop, the new medal depicts the basic sources of Judaism, both symbolically and realistically. Later this month, the medal will go on display throughout the nation. The design was the winner in recent international competition.

Proceeds Total $3,507 in Library Fund Drive

A fund drive conducted by the Waterford Township Friends of the Library has netted $3,507, according to campaign chairman Mrs. Donald L. Card. Proceeds will be used to pay the balance owing on the carpet at the new library building and for furniture, Mrs. Card said.

Honor Air Heroes for Landing 153 on Crippled Jet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has decorated a witty, heroic pilot and his crew for safely landing a jet airliner that lost an engine and part of a wing with 153 persons aboard last Monday.

FAA Administrator N. E. Halaby, in a jubilant ceremony Wednesday night, pinned exceptional service medals on the 10 Pan American employees for converting adversity "from an accident to an incident."

Their four-jet Boeing 707, carrying 143 passengers, dropped the right-hand outboard engine and 25 feet of wing minutes after takeoff Monday on a flight from San Francisco International Airport to Honolulu.

NONE HURT

No one was hurt aboard the plane or in heavily populated ground areas hit by the engine and flaming debris. After 24 tense minutes, Kimes landed the plane 50 miles away at Travis Air Force Base.

"Chuck" Kimes, 44, blue-eyed with thinning hair and a handsome grin, sat at a table with his crew in a large room of the International Hotel at Los Angeles International Airport.

When the gold medal on a red ribbon was pinned to his blue uniform, Kimes responded:

"I'm not a particularly modest man — but a very reluctant wearer of this award."

"I accept it only as a representative of all Pan American pilots; any of whom could have done as well and probably better than I did."

LAUGHTER

Kimes' wit also brought laughter and applause.

When a newsman asked when he first knew something had gone wrong, Kimes replied: "Ever been in an earthquake?"

Whose was the calm voice, he was asked who told passengers over the plane's intercom that "we have a little minor problem?"

"I can't resist a mike," grinned Kimes.

Question: "What was your first reaction when you got on the ground?"

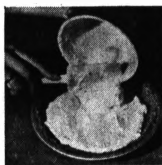

Kimes: "I was very surprised."

We get our word "canasta" from the Spanish which means "basket."

Firecracker
Popcorn

As a general rule, firecrackers are not for eating. But here's July 4th news — a firecracker to eat. It's a popcorn, peanut butter roll with a licorice "fuse."

The corn pops in its own foil fry pan. The sugar, peanut butter and corn syrup and spice are heated and mixed in with the popcorn. Then the "firecracker" is shaped.

To eat, cut into slices and top with a half of vanilla ice cream.

Popcorn Firecracker
1 foil package ready-to-pop corn
1 cup light corn syrup
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup light brown sugar, packed
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon powdered ginger
½ cup creamy peanut butter

Pop corn according to package directions. Put popped corn into greased 3 quart saucepan.

Mix corn syrup, sugars, salt, ginger, peanut butter together. Place pan over medium heat and cook, stirring constantly, until sugars are completely dissolved and mixture reaches a boil.

Remove from heat and cool slightly. Pour over popped corn.

EDIBLE FIRECRACKER — Here's a tasty firecracker you can eat. Popped corn is mixed with the usual corn syrup base for pop popcorn balls, but with the addition of ginger and peanut butter too.

Return to heat and stir until corn is completely covered with mixture and kernels begin to stick together, about 2 minutes.

To shape firecracker: Remove bottom and top from large juice can. Butter the inside of can. Press popcorn mixture into can.

Make hole in top and insert a piece of licorice for a fuse. Let cool.

Remove by running a spatula around inside of can and pushing out the popcorn roll.

Germans Only Gave
Name to Kraut

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sauerkraut originated in China. It was used to supplement rice in the diet of the coolies completing the Great Wall of China.

Kraut eventually became popular around the world, and the Germans did bestow the name. Today, as then, it provides a rich source of vitamin C and minerals in the diet.

Cherry, Coconut Stripes
Adorn a Flag Cake

Ever since the first Fourth of July, in Philadelphia in 1776, the day has been marked by fireworks and special dinners, or picnics.

Now though, instead of a contest to see which kid in the neighborhood can be up earliest to set off the first firecracker, fireworks are formal. For safety's sake, they're set off by experts.

Dinner traditions remain, however. For years in New England, it's been baked salmon and new green peas. In the Southwest, it's barbecued chicken that is roasted in a heavy brown paper bag to keep the barbecue sauce around the chicken.

In the Midwest, family reunion picnics are traditional. Fried chicken, baked ham, green salad, homemade ice cream and cake are the order of the day.

A cake special enough for the occasion is this Holiday Flag Cake, striped with red maraschino cherries and flaked coconut.

Holiday Flag Cake
1 package (15 ounces) angel food cake mix
1 package (6.5 ounces) fluffy white frosting mix
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Core That Cheese

If you want to hollow out an Edam cheese, you may find an apple corer helpful. The cheese you've removed may be mixed with other ingredients such as sour cream and blue cheese and returned to the shell. Nice to serve at snacktime to guests!

1 jar (1 pound) red maraschino cherries
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup flaked coconut

Prepare angel food cake according to package directions; turn into waxed paper lined 15½x10½ one-inch baking pan. Bake in 275 degree (moderate) oven 20 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool in pan.

Trim sides and cut in half crosswise. Prepare frosting mix according to package directions, gradually adding lemon juice while beating. Chop ½ cup cherries; cut remaining in half, set aside.

Reserve one tablespoon nuts. Fold remaining nuts and chopped cherries into ¼ cup of the frosting. Spread between cake layers.

Frost sides and top with remaining frosting. To make flag pattern, sprinkle top with coconut.

Arrange reserved walnuts in a ring on top left corner to represent the 13 colonies. Make seven stripes with cherry halves. Makes one cake 10x7 inches.

HOLIDAY FLAG CAKE — This Fourth of July Cake, made from angel food cake mix, is baked in a jelly roll pan; cut in half and put together with a filling of lemon flavored fluffy white frosting, chopped cherries and chopped nuts. The stripes in the flag are made with red maraschino cherries. Flaked coconut and walnuts form the star section.

Win Rockefeller Starting 1966 Bid Now

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — On the day after the 1964 general election, Winthrop Rockefeller conceded his defeat by Gov. Orval E. Faubus in one breath and announced as a 1966 candidate for governor in the next.

Many doubted that he meant it. Rockefeller had just completed the most serious bid by a Republican gubernatorial candidate in a century. He had been beaten in one of the most grueling campaigns in Arkansas history.

Rockefeller came out of that campaign physically and emotionally exhausted. But he is a different man today.

Rockefeller talks enthusiastically about the coming race. He is busy planning for it and he expects to spend much of the next 18 months running.

ADMITTS MISTAKES

While he admits that his 1964 campaign team made mistakes, he does not dwell on those mistakes or blame his aides.

"You'll find me a lot better-equipped candidate this time," the 52-year-old multimillionaire said in an interview. "Then there were a lot of areas of state government on which I was uninformed. But (next time) I'll be able to argue with authority about some state departments that are not being run in the best interest of the people."

Rockefeller appears as determined today to be elected governor as he was determined in 1964, when he left his home state of New York and came to Arkansas, to make a new life for himself.

His brother, Nelson, is a two-term governor of New York, but Winthrop was mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility in Arkansas long before Nelson's success.

VISITS COUNTIES

Rockefeller informally started his campaign last month with visits to northwest Arkansas counties where he ran strongly in 1964.

The Republican party organization he built to help him last fall is ready to go again. This time it won't be diluted by an effort to elect a presidential candidate. Some of Rockefeller's most vigorous supporters divided their time between working for him and for Barry Goldwater.

Rockefeller won't discuss the possibility that Goldwater hurt him. And he refuses to be drawn into the national struggle for Republican party dominance in the wake of Goldwater's defeat.

Rockefeller is not impressed by Faubus' assertions that he will not seek a seventh term.

WATCHES FAUBUS

"Every move he makes convinces me that he is going to run," Rockefeller said. "I don't see any other Democrat coming forward. If Faubus is not going to oppose me, why does he spend so much time castigating Win Rockefeller. That's not good politics unless he is going to run."

Rockefeller during the next year will set up regional conferences to discuss area problems with the people most directly involved.

He promised to do this if elected. Now it's become campaign strategy. "I think this is an approach to government that is basic Republicanism," he said. "You don't go to Washington to solve your problems. You solve them at home."

RESIGNED POST

Rockefeller spent 10 years in the Arkansas limelight as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission. He resigned the post to run for governor and some felt that, after the election, he might be left without a forum.

This has not been the case.

"I've been making as many speeches as ever," he said. "My only problem right now is how to get a weekend off in September."

Mayor Goes Aground; Crews Go to Work

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Don MacGillivray went into action after the 40-foot boat on which he was a passenger ran aground on a sandbar while leaving the harbor.

He ordered the harbor dredge crews on double shifts.

Agree on Cigarette Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional compromise was reached today on legislation to require warnings against cigarette smoking.

Under it, all cigarette packages and cartons must carry this label in a conspicuous position: "Caution: cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The compromise bars the Federal Trade Commission from requiring any warning in advertising earlier than July 1, 1968. Congress may take another look at the matter before that date.

A Senate-House committee worked out the compromise from differing bills passed by the two branches of Congress. Its decisions are subject to ratification by the Senate and House.

The principal differences were as to advertising and as to the position of the warning on cigarette packages.

SENATE BILL
The Senate bill would have blocked any requirement for a warning in advertising before 1968. The House bill would have blocked it permanently.

The Senate bill would have required that the warning label on packages and cartons of cigarettes be on the front. The House ordered it on the side.

The compromise says only that the warning must be in a conspicuous place.

The Senate bill proposed a $100,000 fine for violation of the measure.

The House bill carried a $10,000 penalty which was included in the compromise.

Dad's Kidney May Save Life of Girl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A team of surgeons undertook to save a 13-year-old girl's life today by giving her one of her father's kidneys.

Johnnie Gail Honeycutt of Anniston, Ala., who will be 14 years old on July 20, and her father, John Henry Honeycutt, 68, were expected to be in the operating room four hours.

While the delicate transplant was being performed by Tulane University doctors, the fragile child's mother and her six sisters waited and prayed in a nearby hospital room.

Everything's going fine, so far," Mrs. Honeycutt told a newsman. Tears welled in her eyes.

"I guess we've done most of our crying already," said one of Johnnie's sisters. "Now we're mostly praying."

Jet Skids on Landing; 3 of 64 Hurt

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A Continental Airlines pilot stopped his huge Boeing 707 jet within 40 feet of the Missouri River today on landing at the municipal airport during a thunderstorm.

Three persons were injured. They were taken to hospitals, but police said none was believed seriously injured.

Capt. Lee R. Zerba of Los Angeles, the pilot, said when the plane, carrying 57 passengers and seven crew members, hit the runway he "couldn't get any braking action, probably because of the heavy water on the slab."

"There was only one way to stop," he said. "I threw the plane into a ground loop and it skidded sideways for several hundred feet before stopping near the river levee."

The dike protecting the south of the airport is only 40 feet from the Missouri River at that point.

SCRAMBLE OUT
Passengers scrambled out of the plane via emergency exits into a torrential rain.

H. T. Anderson, the copilot, said "everyone was as calm as possible and there was no panic in getting out."

Most of the passengers were military personnel on leave.

Herman Hovick, 22, a sailor stationed at San Diego, said "it was quite an experience. I thought for a while the plane was cracking up but it stopped fairly gentle."

FLIGHT NO. 12
Hovick said he was on leave bound for Indianapolis.

The plane was Flight No. 12 from Los Angeles to Chicago with a stop at Kansas City.

THREE INJURED — This 707 jet plane rests across a road and against a dike after landing at the Kansas City, Mo., municipal airport today. The pilot was unable to stop the plane before it ran over a bunker, stopping against the dike. One passenger and two crewmen were injured.

House Approves Rent Supplement for Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A housing bill containing a modified version of President Johnson's rent supplement plan headed for comparatively easy going in the Senate today after one of the closest votes in the House on any Johnson administration proposal.

The controversial portion of the $5.3-billion measure — the provision for subsidizing rent of low income families — survived a 208-202 vote in the House Wednesday only after the Democrats handling it had drastically modified it from the original administration conception of a program for families above the actual need level.

As the House finally passed it, on a 245-198 roll call vote, the bill closely resembles legislation already approved by the Senate Banking Committee. The Senate version carries a somewhat higher price tag, but estimates of the ultimate cost of a four-year program — embracing grants, loans and loan guarantees are imprecise.

Under the House bill, $150 million would be provided over the next four years for rent supplements to families who could qualify for — but do not live in — low cost public housing. Regulations on income ceilings for families qualifying for such public housing now vary from city to city.

MONEY TO HELP

The help would go only to the needy whose rent exceeds 25 percent of the family income and who live in housing owned by nonprofit or limited dividend organizations. None of the supplements would go to tenants of private landlords.

President Johnson praised approval of the bill as an historic step. He said the provision for rent supplements will provide new homes for hundreds of thousands "condemned to slums." And he said it would give incentive to private industry.

In addition to the controversial rent supplement provision, the House bill contains a novel no-down-payment Federal Housing Administration home loan section benefiting peace-time veterans.

It also has mortgage insurance for needy owners of slum property to upgrade their housing and grants for neighborhood facilities, parks and playgrounds.

ALSO HAS

The bill also contains provisions to continue programs such as FHA, slum clearance and college dormitory construction. The Senate tentatively is scheduled to take up its version of the housing bill about July 13. During two of the three days of debate, Republicans pounded away at the theme that the rent supplement provision was too loosely written, that families with comparatively comfortable incomes might benefit by it and the building of relatively high class housing would also be subsidized.

With an eye apparently not so much on Republicans as on some Democrats who might be inclined to go along with the GOP argument, sponsors of the bill backed an amendment Wednesday considerably tightening the eligibility for rent supplements.

ARGUE NEEDED

There was considerable argument as to what the limitation regarding qualifications for low cost public housing meant. Some Republicans said that under various interpretations the ceiling could go as high as $11,300 for a large family in New York. Democrats insisted that the limitation would confine the families with incomes ranging from $2,720 in Houston to $5,760 in New York.

Republicans complained bitterly that the modified plan was springing on the House toward the end of the House toward committee consideration.

BEWARE OF CAESAR, by Vincent Sheean (Random House $4.95): A slightly fictional account of a losing battle by reason against authority supported by mob appeal in the days when the Roman Empire was beginning to decline.

The book deals specifically with the passive conflict between the emperor Nero and his one-time tutor, Seneca.

At the outset, Seneca is positively but firmly banished from the imperial city; at the end, he is preparing to commit forced suicide.

It may be that Sheean suggests a parallel between ancient and modern events.

"Beware of Caesar" is a centuries-old warning which is still hankful of its officers—want to risk a general bolocaust with this probe?

Answer: They want to prove that intercontinental ballistic missiles alone are not enough, and that manned bombers have their place in the future. In the narrative, their flight succeeds. The implication in the book is that the fictional RAF probe is based on one that actually happened, but was hushed up for policy reasons.

You may read the novel as a slightly veiled argument in the manned-bomber versus missile controversy. Or you may read it as an imaginative narrative. As fiction, it is smoothly professional and exciting.

Postponement Offers Tigers Road Respite

Try to Play Red Sox This Afternoon, Log Reads 2-4 for Trip

From Our News Wires
BOSTON — An early evening rain yesterday gave the Detroit Tigers a night off and also gave manager Charlie Dressen more time to ponder ways to get the Bengals out of a road trip tailspin.

The Tigers and Boston try again this afternoon.

After winning ten of the 14 games on the last homestand, the Tigers have lost four of the first six games on the road.

The sudden change in fortunes can be attributed to two factors. The Tigers have been facing first division clubs on the road—and, the relief pitching hasn't been able to plug the late inning holes in the run scoring dike.

Of the 10 games the Tigers won on the last home series, eight were against second division clubs.

The six games played thus far on the road have been against Minnesota and Baltimore, a couple of the front runners.

The Tiger manager summed up the situation when he was asked if he planned to continue to start Dave Wickersham, who lost his seventh consecutive game to Baltimore Tuesday.

"Sure," Dressen said. "Who can pitch any better?"

Fred Gladding relieved Wickersham last week against Minnesota and allowed the tying and winning run to cross the plate—a forecast of what happened Tuesday in Boston. He's worked 43 innings this season, giving up 14 runs and four homers.

Ron Nischwitz returned to the Tigers this spring and seems to have a permanent seat in the bullpen.

Dressen has called on the young southpaw for only 4 2-3 innings, saying Nischwitz is too inexperienced to be used in close situations. In his brief stint on the mound Nischwitz has allowed six hits and four runs for an ERA of 1.80.

Rightshander Larry Sherry, who was 7-5 in 1964, has complained of a shoulder injury and has allowed runs in seven of his last nine appearances. He's also averaged slightly less than one run per inning in the 47 2-3 innings he's been on the mound.

Newcomer Orlando Pena hasn't had much of a chance to show what he is capable of doing.

He's been called upon for only three innings, in which he has one strikeout, one walk and one hit against him.

2-Way Battle in Decathlon

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Russ Hodge and Bill Toomey lead the way into the final five events of the National AAU Decathlon championships today and appear to be headed for a berth on the United States team which meets Russia July 31-Aug. 1.

The 25-year-old Hodge, who has considerable speed despite his 6-2, 225 pound frame, reached the mid-way score point Wednesday night with a score of 4,147.

Toomey, 26, 6-4, 193 pound school teacher at Laguna Beach, Calif., was just behind with 4,070.

WASHINGTON—Abram Powell of Pontiac is running about a step behind in his bid for a gold medal here in the International Games for the Deaf. The fleet-footed former Michigan School for the Deaf student was edged by Russia's Leonid Djourov yesterday in one heat of the 400-meter preliminaries. The Russian's time of 49.8 seconds was one-tenth of a second off the world record.

LONDON (AP)—The owner of Britain's first and only legal betting shop exclusively for women said today it is proving a huge success.

"The ladies prefer it this way," said bookmaker Albert Whitaker 48. "They prefer betting in the company of other women with no men around."

Inside Whitaker's pastel-shaded betting shop, the curtains are chitz, and the furniture is strictly modern. Chairs and writing tables give it an exclusive atmosphere.

Asked why he started the ladies-only shop for betting on horse and Greyhound races, bookie Whitaker said: "A grocer's shop next door to my regular betting place came up for sale. I bought it and decided to make it for the ladies, a thought that I'd been turning over for some time."

A's Sweep Chicago in AL Upset Frolic

By United Press International
Charlie O. has been avenged. When the Chicago White Sox snubbed Kansas City owner Charles Finley's mascot mule Charlie O. last May and refused to allow Finley to parade the animal in White Sox park, there were some harsh words bandied about.

It took awhile, but the last-place A's finally delivered the sweetest reprisal of all Wednesday night when three former White Sox enabled Kansas City to sweep a doubleheader from Chicago, 2-1 and 4-3, and foil the Sox' chance to take over first place in the American League.

Fred Talbot was the winning pitcher in the opener and Mike Hersherberger singled home Jim Landis with the winning run.

Landis and Hersherberger, who came to the A's from Chicago along with Talbot in a deal last winter, added a pair of hits in the nightcap triumph for good measure.

LEADERS LOST
The other AL leaders also lost. Washington clipped league-leading Cleveland 2-1, Los Angeles captured second-place Minnesota 5-0, and New York edged fourth-place Baltimore 5-4.

John Buzhardt hit Bert Campaneris with a pitch after leading the bases with an intentional walk in the ninth inning to force in the winning run for the A's in the nightcap.

The A's had dropped five of their first six decisions to the White Sox and had won only four games in the last two weeks.

Larry Stahl homered for the A's in the second game and drew a walk in the decisive ninth after Ed Charles had singled.

Charles then stole third and Rene Lachemann was walked.

Illinois Pilot Soars to Win

ADRIAN (AP)—Dale May of Mount Prospect, Ill., rode air currents for 272 miles to Louisville, Ky., to win a free distance event Wednesday in the National Soaring Championship here.

George Moffat Jr., Elizabeth, N.J., flew 240 miles in his engineless glider to Swift City, Ind., giving him first place overall after two events with 1915 out of 2,000 possible points.

Ben Greene, Elizabethtown, N.C., was third overall with 1,842 points after gliding 267 to Lexington, Ky.

WIMBLEDON (UPI)—Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., carried America's last remaining hope for a Wimbledon singles title into the semifinal round of the women's competition today against defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Miss Bueno, a three-time champion at the all-England tournament and top-seeded this year, was favored to defeat the fifth-seeded American.

Miss Moffitt crushed third-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia in her last match.

Second-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, a finalist last year and the champion Christine Truman, the local favorite, in the other semifinal.

The 22-year-old Miss Moffitt, who reached the finals here two years ago, routed Miss Turner, 6-2, 6-0, in the quarter-finals in what the experts regarded as intentionally to get to Campaneris. Jim Dickson, the fifth Kansas City hurler, was the winner.

Talbot allowed six hits in the 6 2-3 innings he worked and gained his sixth win in 10 decisions for the A's. Don Moss and John Wyatt finished up in relief.

Fred Newman halted the Angels five-game skid and a personal three-game losing streak by blanking the Twins on two hits.

Newman was touched for a single by Jerry Kindall in the second inning then retired 16 men in a row until Don Mincher singled leading off the eighth. Bobby Knoop and Bob Rodgers each drove in two runs off loser Bill Pleis 4-2 and reliever Jim Perry.

Phil Ortega and Ron Kline combined for a five hitter to outduel Sam McDowell of the Indians, who fanned 13 Senators in losing his fourth in 13 decisions.

SINGLE RUNS
The Senators scored single runs in the first and second innings taking advantage of McDowell's wildness. Leon Wagner belted his 12th homer to account for the Indians only tally.

Clete Boyer tied the game 2-2 with a home run leading off the seventh inning for the Yankees and Tom Tresh followed with a three-run clutch later in the inning to provide the Yankees with their eighth win in the last 10 games.

Curt Blefary of the Orioles narrowed the Yankees' margin to one run with a two-run homer in the eighth. Jim Bouton 4-7 was the winner and Dave McNally took the loss.

Lamar Hunt, a member of the younger league's expansion committee, said he expected the league to delay a decision about moving into Philadelphia for a month or more because of the opposition of one or two owners.

"The league still wants to come to Philadelphia, but they want to take another look at it," Hunt said.

At New Orleans, promoter Dave Dixon said that he had received a query about possible AFL expansion to the Louisiana city in 1966.

Dixon, president of New Orleans Pro Football Club, Inc., announced he would meet today with AFL officials to discuss the possibility of placing a team in New Orleans.

SQUEEZED OUT
Despite the announcement of AFL interest, Dixon said, "I think New Orleans should be the odds-on choice for the 16th NFL franchise." He said he assumed the AFL's tentative offer resulted from the NFL having squeezed the newer league out of Atlanta.

A spokesman for Cox Broadcasting had no comment about the New Orleans situation. However, J. Leonard Reinsch, company president, had indicated he would return his AFL franchise rather than take it to another city.

Smith defeated multi-millionaire sportsman Lindsey Hopkins Jr. of Atlanta in competition for the new franchise.

Australian Fred Stolle set up a rematch of last year's final when he whipped unseeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 6-4, 7-5, to reach the finals for the third consecutive year. The second-seeded bowled to Yank Chuck McKinley in 1963 and lost to Emerson in last year's final.

Insurance Man Gains Franchise

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Taking its first step into the eager Southeast, the National Football League awarded a franchise to an Atlanta businessman Wednesday and then defeated the American Football League for playing rights to the city's new 50,000-seat stadium.

Atlanta's team will begin play in 1966.

Rankin M. Smith, 39, executive vice president of Life Insurance Co. of Georgia, was awarded the franchise for an estimated $9 million. Smith did not announce an exact figure.

The Atlanta Stadium Authority awarded Smith's entry playing rights to the stadium on a 10-year lease. Smith offered 10 per cent of the gross admissions while the AFL franchise holder, Cox Broadcasting Corp., offered eight per cent.

While gaining a decisive victory in Atlanta, the NFL also managed to keep its rival from obtaining playing rights to Philadelphia's planned $25 million stadium.

FRANKLIN FIELD
However, under a compromise agreement between the NFL Eagles and the city, the AFL obtained playing rights to the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field and could field a team there by 1967 when the new stadium will be completed.

Lamar Hunt, a member of the younger league's expansion committee, said he expected the league to delay a decision about moving into Philadelphia for a month or more because of the opposition of one or two owners.

No-Hitter Highlights Softball Action

Ted Wharry tossed a no-hitter last night as Dixie Bar knocked off Dixie Tool, 12-0, in Waterford Township softball action.

Only four players managed to reach base against Wharry — three on walks and the fourth on an error. The game was called after six innings because of the 10-inning rule.

Along with pitching the no-hitter, the first in Township play this season, Wharry collected four of his team's 14 hits.

In a second Waterford game, Haskins Chevrolet scored three runs in the top of the eighth inning to break a 5-5 tie and down Midget Bar, 8-5.

Midget Bar rallied for five runs in the seventh to tie the game at 5-5 but couldn't hold the winners in the next frame.

PADS LEAD

In Pontiac softball action, Orchard Lanes moved a game and a half in front in the National League with a 14-3 verdict over L&S Standard, while second place Pontiac Merchants were dropping a 13-10 decision to Idle Time Bar.

Orchard Lanes (9-1) collected 10 hits and took advantage of seven L&S (2-9) errors in wrapping up the victory in five innings via the 10-run rule.

Bill Johns led the winners with a pair of doubles and a single.

Jerry Meager clouted a grand slam home run in the top of the seventh to give Idle Time Bar (8-5) a come-from-behind victory.

HEADED FOR VICTORY — Michel Jazy (left) of France and Australia's Ron Clarke (No. 2) battled shoulder to shoulder during the final laps of the 5,000-meter run, and Jazy came on to win the event in 13:27.6 in the World Games yesterday at Helsinki, Finland. Jazy's time was two seconds better than his pending European record for the event. Clarke finished third.

French Speedster Jazy Continues Record Pace

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Rampaging Michel Jazy of France, breaking world records at a fantastic clip, may go in his second gold medal in as many days in the World Games today.

Jazy, who broke two European records in winning the 5,000-meter run yesterday, is tentatively scheduled to go in the 1,500 meters today against a field that includes Jim Grele and Dnyol Burleson of Oregon.

Clarke, who has the pending world mark of 13:25.4, finished third behind Kenya's Keene Kipchoge. U.S. Marine Billy Mills of Oceanside, Calif., the Olympic 10,000-meter champion, was eighth and Bob Schul of West Milton, Ohio, the 5,000-meter Olympic winner, was 10th.

TWO MARKS

On route, Jazy also broke his own European mark for three miles, hitting that distance in 13:04.8. The two marks went with a growing collection of records Jazy has harvested since June 3, including world marks at the mile, two miles and 3,000 meters.

Dodgers' Aging Rookie Debuts With Bang

By the Associated Press
It took Don LeJohn 12 seasons to make the big time. He's acting as if he means to stay.
The 31-year-old third baseman became the Los Angeles Dodgers' newest rookie Wednesday and promptly sparked the National League leaders to a victory.

LeJohn smacked a run-scoring single in his very first major league at-bat, then singled again in his second trip and scored the clinching run as the Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 for a split of their doubleheader. Chicago took the opener 4-1 with four runs in the seventh inning.

LeJohn, a player-coach for Albuquerque in the Texas League with a .391 batting average when he was called up, had been in the Dodgers' farm chain since 1954. He had about given up hope of the majors.

But as of now, LeJohn has made it.

TWO AHEAD

The split put the Dodgers two full games ahead of the Cincinnati Reds, who got whipped by the New York Mets 5-3. Elsewhere in the NL—Jim Wynn's triple and steal of home in the eighth inning led Houston over San Francisco 6-4; Philadelphia won its fourth straight, 3-2 over Milwaukee; and St. Louis captured Pittsburgh 7-1, ending Vern Law's winning streak at eight straight.

The Cubs took the opener against the Dodgers when Joe Amalfitano drove in two runs in the eighth with a pinch single and two more came across on Ron Fairly's mull of Glenn Beckert's fly. Dick Ellsworth boosted his record to 9-3 with a five-hitter, while Claude Osteen lost.

LeJohn batted in the first Dodger run in the second inning of the second game with a single, and scored the winner in the fourth against losing reliever Billy Hoelt.

He opened the inning with a single, got around to third on a sacrifice and an infield out, and broke a 3-3 tie on Wes Parker's double. Bob Miller replaced Dodger starter Nick White in the first and went the rest of the way.

The Mets beat the Reds on the hitting of Ed Kranepool, Roy McMillan and Chuck Hiller, plus the stout relief pitching of Gary Kroll. Kranepool homered, doubled and had a sacrifice fly for three runs-batted-in, while McMillan and Hiller collected three hits each and accounted for the three other Met RBI.

Kroll gave Cincinnati only two hits over five innings after taking over for Tom Parsons, who yielded a three-run homer to Deron Johnson in the fourth. John Tsitouris was the losing pitcher.

STOLEN WIN

The Giants rallied for three runs and a 4-4 tie in the top of the eighth at Houston, but the Astros came back in their half of the inning. Bob Aspromonte started it with an infield hit off Frank Linzy, then Wynn tripled him home and scored himself on the steal.

Joe Morgan rapped Gaylord Perry's first pitch for a homer as Houston jumped off to four runs in the first inning. Reliever Claude Raymond wild-pitched the tying run home in the Giants' eighth, but wound up the winner.

Tony Taylor collected the Phillies' decisive hit, a single in the seventh that brought in Bob. Losing pitcher Wade Blinn, ninth off Al McBean and Frank the seventh, giving the Braves a temporary 2-2 deadlock.

The victory pushed the Phils into the first division for the first time since May 18. They're fourth, just one percentage point under Milwaukee.

Law, who had won his eight in a row after losing his first five, gave up only four hits to the Cardinals in his eight innings. But they touched him for two runs in the fifth and made it a rout with five more in the ninth off Al McBean and Frank Carpin.

NBA's Scoring Great Admits Ring Interest

NEW YORK (AP)—Can you imagine big Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 pro basketball star, as a heavyweight fighter?

Maybe it isn't as fantastic as it sounds. Chamberlain isn't as frail as he appears at first glance. He is a 28-year-old, sturdy 250-pounder who has held his own in many a rumup in National Basketball Association games.

Chamberlain said Wednesday he "definitely is contemplating" switching from sinking a basket to socking an opponent. "I've had several offers, but I haven't made up my mind. I'll make my decision when I'm ready. That could be anytime."

The highest paid player in the NBA — he reportedly gets $50,000 per season from the Philadelphia 76ers — said Gus D'Amato is one of those interested in having him take up boxing. D'Amato, who managed Floyd Patterson to the world heavyweight title and also developed light heavyweight champ Jose Torres, said nothing was definite.

Chamberlain, a former All-America at the University of Kansas, has played six years in the NBA. He holds virtually every league scoring record including a single game high of 100 points.

If he does take up boxing Chamberlain, who now lives in New York, would be the tallest in the sport. Currently 6-8 Jim Beattie of St. Paul holds that distinction.

Beef on the Fourth

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Set up the grill, check the supply of charcoal and let's have beef for the Fourth of July.

Both roast and steaks come from the same part of the animal — the standing rib roast.

The butcher removes the rib bones, fat and muscle covering, leaving only the center. This choice portion is called the "eye" muscle of the rib section.

Roasts weigh from four to six pounds. Plan one-half to three-quarters of a pound per serving.

This same roast is cut into thick steaks for indoor or outdoor broiling.

Less tender and also less expensive is the chuck roast. It has a hearty flavor that is delicious hot or cold.

Marinate it in wine, French or other salad dressing or a barbecue mixture. Or try the new instant meat marinade mix which tenderizes a roast in 15 minutes.

If you like London Broil, buy flank-steak, score it on both sides and grill over hot coals. Slice diagonally and serve in warm buns.

And don't sell hamburgers short. Well prepared, they can be delicious. Cheese or special sauces give them distinction.

Beef Rib Eye Roast—You can relax in your favorite lawn chair while the rotisserie hums and cooks this handsome beef rib eye roast. Also called a Delmonico roast, this heart of the rib section is a choice, tender and easily carved piece of meat. Perfect for rotisserie roasting, easily balancing on the rod, the roast weighs from four to six pounds.

Outdoor Grilling

Has Rules to Follow

When grilling out-of-doors, let the coals burn down until they're covered with a fine gray ash before starting the roast turning on the rod. Place a "drip" pan under the roast.

Disposable drip pans may be purchased or one can be made by shaping aluminum foil into a shallow rectangular pan as long as the roast and no wider than the diameter of the roast. If a grill thermometer is used, keep the temperature as close to 350 degrees (moderate) as possible.

To cook rib eye (Delmonico) roast rare (140 degrees F.), allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound roasting time. For medium (160 degrees F.) allow 20 to 22 minutes per pound roasting time. A rise of 5 to 10 degrees follows cooking while the roast "sets," or becomes more firm, for carving ease.

Ice Cream Buffet Pleases All Guests

Why not plan an ice cream buffet for your next summer party? It's an easy way to entertain.

Scoop ice cream into a large chilled bowl. Surround this with small bowls of fruit, sauce, nuts or coconut and various bottled soft drinks.

Mixture Tenderizes Pot Roast

Every man likes the hearty flavor of pot roast. Even during summer's torrid days there's no need to abandon this robust favorite. Barbecue it outdoors, and eliminate oven heat and pots and pans.

Stay cucumber-cool with the help of new Instant Meat Marinade, now at all supermarket meat counters. Do the roasting outdoors over the coals.

Vegetables go into a foil packet cook along to delicious perfection. It's flavor magic — this new dry marinade mix — enhances the flavor of each kind of meat and locks in juicy tenderness.

Just add water or other liquid to the pre-blended dry marinade mix, a perfect blend of spices and herbs. Pop a chuck roast into it. In only 15 minutes, marinating flavor that can't cook or burn off, even over hot barbecue fires.

This new "instant" adds a golden-brown color so no browning is ever needed.

Barbecued Chuck Roast a la Marinade

4-lb. chuck, 2" thick (round bone, blade bone, or 7-bone)
1 package Instant Meat Marinade
¼ cup water
¼ cup catsup
1 clove garlic, minced or pressed (optional)
¼ teaspoon rosemary
6 carrots, cut on bias, no more than ½" thick
12 boiling onions
1 medium green pepper, cut in 6 pieces
2 ribs celery, sliced on bias
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt and pepper to taste
Thoroughly blend contents of package of Instant Meat Marinade, water, catsup, garlic and rosemary in a measuring cup.

Pour marinade over meat in shallow pan. Pierce all surfaces thoroughly with fork. Marinate only 15 minutes, turning several times.

Remove meat from marinade; drain. Barbecue 3 to 4 inches above hot coals (gray, shot with a ruddy glow), 30 to 35 minutes for rare. During cooking, turn and brush frequently with marinade.

Parboil carrots, onions and green pepper in water to cover about 5 minutes; drain. Place on large square of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Season to taste with salt, pepper and butter. Bring up lengthwise sides of the foil and seal with a double fold. Double-fold ends of foil upward. Be sure packet is securely sealed.

Cook on grill, a total of 15 to 20 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. If desired, divide vegetables into 6 individual packets.

Complete a cool cook's meal with apple-date salad, whole wheat rolls and your favorite ice cream.

Steak Cooking Is Simple Job

Only the simplest preparation is needed for cooking any steak. If done on the outside grill, it's important to let the coals burn down so they're covered with a fine gray ash before cooking starts.

Here are some other tips for piercing the meat and letting those savory juices run out. Hickory or other wood chips previously soaked in water may be added to the coals for special flavor and aroma.

If the steaks are especially lean, rub the grill with a piece of fat to prevent sticking.

Turning with tongs prevents piercing the meat and letting those savory juices run out. How far should the steaks be from the heat, be this charcoal or a broil unit?

Steaks cut 1 inch thick should be 2 to 3 inches from heat while those cut 2 inches thick are broiled a little further away, 3 to 5 inches.

Beef rib eye steaks, cut 1 inch thick, require 10 to 12 minutes for rare and 15 to 20 minutes for medium-rare.

These same steaks cut 1½ inches thick need 20 to 22 minutes for rare and 22 to 25 minutes for medium.

When cut 2 inches thick, allow 30 to 35 minutes for rare and 40 to 45 minutes for medium. These figures represent total cooking time.

Other steaks, like porterhouse, sirloin or T-bone, cut 1 inch thick need 18 to 20 minutes total broiling time for rare and 20 to 25 minutes for medium.

Season with salt and pepper after each side brows.

Tray Meals for Family

Tray meals are a wonderful idea in the summer — for lunch or supper, for family or company. Everyone can carry his own tray out to the back yard or patio and enjoy the nice weather.

Let today's convenience foods help you plan a menu that is quick, easy, and saves you hours in the kitchen: a summer salad bowl prepared in the cool morning hours, the brown and serve rolls and frozen Parfait Cake for dessert.

Summer Salad Bowl

1 cup cooked green beans
1 cup cooked carrot sticks
1 cup sliced celery
¼ cup bottled French dressing
1 head lettuce
1 cup cooked beef or ham, cut in strips
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon horse-radish
Marinate and chill 1 green beans, carrots, and celery in French dressing 1 to 2 hours.
Break lettuce in bite-sized pieces in salad bowl; arrange meat and marinated vegetables over top, then egg slices in circle. In center place mayonnaise mixed with horse-radish. Makes 6 servings.

Brown Vegetables, Simmer to Blend

Soak green peppers in ice water for about an hour. Drain, remove seeds and coarse membranes, and dice.
Sauté in butter until lightly browned and soft. Drain off shortening. Add peeled and chopped fresh tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and minced onion.
Simmer about 30 minutes before serving.

Pickles, Corned Beef to Fill Sandwiches

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dill pickles and corned beef combine in sandwich spread for informal get-togethers.
Mix together 2 cups of finely chopped cooked corned beef, 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard, ¼ cup of mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons of prepared mustard, ¼ cup of chopped dill pickles and a dash of cayenne. Makes about 3½ cups.

"Come to our Barbecue" is the title of a new free, 32-page recipe booklet.

on it. If not, let father preside over the meat while mother prepares the rest of the meal in the kitchen for the Fourth of July picnic. Green salad and chocolate fudge cake are good items for the menu.

Leftover Vegetables Used in Salads

A small amount of cooked leftover vegetable often makes a surprisingly delicious combination to a tossed green salad.

The Splendid Steak—Overtaking even such long time favorites as sirloin and porterhouse, the Delmonico steak is perfect for grilling outside. Cut from the same section as Delmonico or rib eye roasts, these steaks are best when thick. If your grill is large enough, bake potatoes to test doneness or squeeze with fingers protected by gloves. To serve, slit foil, squeeze slightly to puff up centers and top with butter.

Spuds Bake on the Grill

Scrub potatoes, dry, rub with a little butter, margarine, or bacon fat. Wrap in foil. Place on grate over moderate fire and if space is at premium, place potatoes around outer edge of fire, right on the coals. Turn potatoes 30 minutes.
Pierce through foil with fork

Chase Films Back in Vogue

Big-Time Comedy Hits Road

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — The chase: Mack Sennett invented it, Mike Todd polished it, and movie makers are now employing it to fashion road-show attractions.

With the supply of such subjects dwindling, studios have turned to the original story material based on the chase. Mike Todd employed the device with excellent returns for his "Around the World in 80 Days." Stanley Kramer gave it a comic twist with "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

Road shows — reserved-seat attractions at advanced prices — have stemmed from historical epics, "Cleopatra," "How the West Was Won," hit musicals, "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady," "The Sound of Music," and religious pageants, "The 10 Commandments."

This season has brought three road-show films which fill the screen with kinetic activity. The first was "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," which appears to be safely in the hit category.

Now come "The Great Race" and "The Hallelujah Trail." "The Great Race" will be compared with "Magnificent Men," since both concern speed duels in the early 1900s. But they are successful in different ways. The airplane epic is basically English in its humor; "The Great Race" is American: boisterous, uninhibited, often outrageously funny.

Director Blake Edwards has employed $11 million of the Warner Bros. treasury and imagination in pursuing laughs for the film. Not all the gags score, and the pace sometimes seems almost too frenetic for human endurance. But interest never flags.

The leading figures are stereotypical: the Demonic Professor Fate, attired in villainous black; the white-garbed Great Leslie; the newspaper woman-suffragette who tags along on their fanciful auto race from New York to Paris — they cross the Bering Strait via iceberg.

Fortunately, Edwards was able to secure the services of stars who could breathe life into these characters. Jack Lemmon creates a monumental villain, perhaps the best since Mack Swain menaced Charlie Chaplin. Tony Curtis lends style to the hero, and Natalie Wood is just daisy as the female interest.

Among other things, "The Great Race" proves that the flung custard pie is still funny. "The Hallelujah Trail" attempts to satirize the Western, always a risky business. It succeeds only in part, providing moments of hilarity and occasional bellylaughs. But the story seems drawn out beyond its proper length, like a joke too long in the telling.

The situation is presented in mock-historic style: a wagon train of whisky is dispatched for the aid of Denver miners who face the peril of a parched winter. Converging on the train are opposing forces: a band of thirsty redskins; a hell-bent bunch of antiquar ladies; a cavalry force aimed at keeping the peace. They meet in a bloodless dust-storm battle that is the film's most inspired sequence.

The performers are led by Burt Lancaster and Lee Remick.

Final Tribute Paid to Actor Sid Marion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Friends and family will pay final tribute Friday to veteran character actor Sid Marion, 65. He died in Hollywood Tuesday of a heart attack.

The actor, whose real name was Sidney Marlenberg, appeared in numerous Broadway shows and more than 100 films, including "Lady of Burlesque," "Call Me Madam" and "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

He is survived by his wife, Lillian; two sisters, Sally J. Bell and Fannie Baden, and a brother, Morris.

Would Seek Test on Poll Tax Curb — Katzenbach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach says he is anxious to "get any constitutional issues resolved right away" if an anti-poll tax provision remains in the voting rights bill now before Congress.

Katzenbach said Wednesday his department has been gathering all information needed to implement the law quickly.

As an example, he said the department is ready to file anti-poll tax suits in the courts within 24 hours after the law is enacted.

Food Stamp Aid to Expand
DETROIT (AP) — The United States Department of Agriculture said its food stamp program was being extended today to Houghton, Gogebic and Wayne counties.
A department spokesman said the success of the pilot program in Detroit, where it has been in effect for four years, and elsewhere in the country has resulted in an extension by Congress.
The program will have a $100 million budget for fiscal 1966, he added.
The department's program of commodity distribution for public assistance recipients was ended Friday, he said.
ITEM PURCHASE
Persons certified as eligible for the food stamp program by the Michigan State Bureau of Social Aid will buy food stamps, good for purchase of any U. S. produced food item. In addition, they will receive a bonus from the Department of Agriculture in the form of stamps amounting to about $6 per month, the spokesman explained.
In addition to persons receiving public assistance, persons with limited income are eligible.
Income limits for these persons range from $125 for a single person to $470 per month for the combined income of a family of 10.
The State Bureau of Social Aid will advise eligible persons how much they will have to pay for food stamps and what their individual bonus will amount to, the spokesman explained.

Prince Is 'Shaken' by Royal Party

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles returned to his Scottish school today hand-weary from his first official appearance in a royal receiving line.
"It was a tryout for me," the 16-year-old heir to the British throne told Edinburgh University student Keith Johnson, "My hand got pretty tired."
He shook hands with 620 students from Scotland and the British Commonwealth at a garden party Wednesday at Edinburgh's ancient Holyrood Palace. He was given a day off from Gordonstoun, his school at Morayshire.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said the prince's debut as a royal handshaker was at the suggestion of his parents, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip. They appeared with Charles in the receiving line.

WAS CHATTY

Much like his father, Charles was chatty.
He revealed he just funked two examinations at Gordonstoun and passed five. He said the failures were mathematics and a science subject.

"What are all those badges for?" he asked a young girl. "I'm a girl guide"—a girl scout—she replied.
"Then why aren't you in uniform?" asked Charles.

GIRL BLUSHED

The girl blushed and moved along.
To a very shy student, Charles asked: "Is this your first garden party?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply.
"Mine," said the prince. Shaking hands with Christine Wayne, head girl from Westbourne School for Girls, he pointed to the Latin words on the badge on her blazer and said: "Ah, 'Nothing without work.'"
Latin was an exam he passed.

Tragedy of Marilyn Monroe Stalks Her Beneficiaries

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The lone contribution toward care of Marilyn Monroe's mother Gladys Eley since it was revealed that the estate owes $4,133 to Rockland Sanitarium came in a hand-dressed envelope . . . with an unsigned message saying "Put this on Marilyn's mother's bill" . . . and it consisted of:

- Two $1 bills.
Mrs. Inez Melson of Hollywood, conservator of Marilyn's mother's estate, says that's all she received so far. "But the sanitarium, which has been so nice, isn't going to set her out on the street."

Marilyn's mother, not a newspaper reader, doesn't even know of the world headlines she made last week. But Mrs. Melson, taking her for a ride around Verdugo, Cal., the other day, had a scare when she asked to purchase a Christian Science Monitor. Fearing she might read her own sad, uncertain state, Mrs. Melson changed the subject. Thus she's unaware of efforts of Atty. Aaron R. Prosch, executor, and others, to guarantee her the care and comfort that Marilyn's will could not provide.

When bell-dancer Little Egypt married her manager Charles Curtis in Greenwich, Conn., she reminded the judge her legal name is now Little Egypt and that he should say, "Do you, Little, take this man?" She says her legal married name now is "Mrs. Little Curtis."

Dagmar's planning to belt the blues out of Ethel Merman's songs when she plays "Gypsy" at Meadowbrook Playhouses, West Fairfield, Conn., Aug. 10-23. "I've already sung 'Annie' and these songs are harder," she says.

Paramount took out a $3 million life insurance policy on producer Joe Levine (whose new one is "Harlow") Godfrey Cambridge is touring "A Funny Thing Happened . . ." in a wheelchair, after an auto crash Lee Crane, TV-taping the "Night Life" show, reserved a seat each night for Tina Turner. (He shook hands with other front row guests, but kissed her.)

EARL'S PEARLS: Comedian John Byner announces at the Copa he'll do his impressions of George Jessel: "And I do it the hard way—I've never been to Israel."
Brash comic Jack E. Leonard was recently in an L.A. hospital, where a nurse stuck a thermometer in his mouth, then left for 30 minutes. "What do you thing I am?" Jack E. roared, "a glass blowin' . . . That's earl, brother."

Widow Watches Over Tradition

Search for Beauty Continues in School Left by Architect Wright

NEW YORK (AP) — When architect Frank Lloyd Wright died just before his 90th birthday six years ago, he left a stormy legend, his stamp on today's homes and buildings, a school of apprentice architects, and a pile of debts.

Today the Taliesin Fellowship is filled with new students. Taliesin associated architects are working on some 50 projects totaling more than $32 million.

And the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, which includes two schools, Taliesin West near Scottsdale, Ariz., and Taliesin East at Spring Green, Wis., is in the black after a brush with bankruptcy from an $800,000 back-taxes bite.

The atmosphere of Taliesin has changed only subtly since his death. There's a bookkeeper and lawyer now—Wright stubbornly ignored the existence of money. The canvas roofs have been replaced with wood; a new theater has been built from one of Wright's sketches.

WORLD STUDENTS
Students, who come from all over the world to study, work amidst drawings and sketches of "the master," learn engineering, philosophy and concept directly from Wright himself—most of his lectures and Sunday-morning conversations with famous guests were recorded. They still share communal chores of housekeeping, cooking and serving meals, building and gardening.

Guiding this effort is Wright's widow, Olgivanna, soft-voiced artist-author-composer who became his third wife in 1926 and helped him found the fellowship in 1932.

She presides with an air of fragile grace over drawing-room conversations with the ever-present guests.

Her face, framed by thin silvery braids against jet hair, is intently poised as she listens to musicals, or watches pageants or dances staged by the students and their wives, which she and her daughter, Jovanna, have written, composed, choreographed, directed and costumed.

The only hint of steel and authority is in her black eyes and her regal expectance of perfection in every detail around her. Yet every sketch or plan that leaves Taliesin is passed by her; she dictates color schemes, chooses interior and exterior materials of the smallest home or biggest building.

She is intricately involved with the corps of some 35 Taliesin-trained architects, many of whom have been with the fellowship for a quarter of a century, working now under the direction of Wright's son-in-law, William Wesley Peters.

She does all this, she said in an interview here, through the "eyes," he gave her.

LEFT HERITAGE
"Mr. Wright left us debts; but he left us the means to pay them. He left us a heritage of beauty. Our eyes were hardly ever separated through our 32 years together. We traveled, worked, lived always together. I was his critic, and often a suggestion would light a spark."

"He left me a pretty good measuring stick."

Area Schools Begin Head Start Program

Oakland County was among some 2,300 communities throughout the nation yesterday to mark the launching of Project Head Start, a phase of the federal government's War on Poverty.

Hugh Allerton, vice chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, officiated at a flag raising ceremony at the courthouse.

A specially designed Head Start flag was raised at the county service building in tribute to the many volunteer workers engaged in the program in Oakland County.

Head Start is administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity, the federal agency coordinating the War on Poverty.

Nationally, it will provide some 500,000 underprivileged children with eight weeks of pre-school training to prepare them for entry into school this fall. Cost of the program is $94.4 million.

They will literally be given a head start to compensate for the lack of environmental and learning experiences already gained by their future classmates.

In Oakland County, nearly 1,000 children will participate in the program in 64 classes at nine different county locations.

The Pontiac school system will operate 40 classes. Five will be conducted in Ferndale and four each in Hazel Park and Madison Heights.

Other locations are Oak Park and Avondale, three each; Farmington and Southfield, two; and South Lyon, one.

Senate Ethics to Be Checked by New Group

Committee Members Will Be Named Since Baker Probe Is Done

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a sequel to the politically high-voltage Bobby Baker investigation, Senate leaders planned to activate today a new permanent committee to police senatorial ethics.

Three senators of each party already have been chosen for the new watchdog committee on standards and conduct, created by the Senate a year ago.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it was decided to hold up announcing them until the Baker probe was finished.

That came yesterday, with a final report from the Rules Committee that said Baker had flagrantly abused his office to "feather his own nest."

The report recommended careful consideration of the possibility of indicting Baker for violation of conflict of interest laws.

RENEW CHARGES

The committee's Republican minority renewed its charges of a Democratic cover-up and whitewash, saying the investigation was incomplete because of the refusal of Democrats to call numerous witnesses.

Baker parlayed his outside business holdings into a claimed fortune of more than $2 million while serving as the $19,600-a-year secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

He resigned his Senate post Oct. 7, 1963, just before the investigation started.

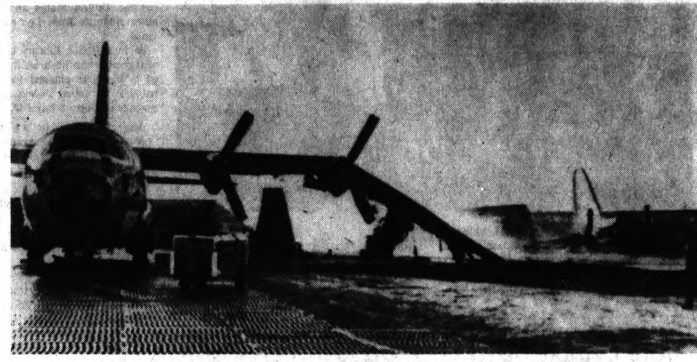

A one-time Senate page boy from Pickens, S.C., Baker was reported to be in California yesterday and could not be reached for comment.

FIFTH AMENDMENT

He had invoked the Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination in two appearances before the Rules Committee and refused to answer questions.

To try to avoid future conflict of interest cases, the

Deficit Reduced

Fiscal '65 Says Adieu in Red

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government entered its sixth straight year of red-ink financing today but pointed with some pride to a sharply reduced deficit in the fiscal year just ended.

The $100-billion yearly spending level, avoided narrowly by Johnson for the past two years, undoubtedly will be crossed in fiscal 1967, the year which begins 12 months from today.

The Defense Department, which provided most of the budget cuts that made room for Johnson's new "Great Society" programs, is unlikely to find further substantial savings possible.

The 1967 budget, already in early stages of preparation, will show another deficit, the seventh in succession.

A balanced budget may be achieved in fiscal 1968.

Last week's cut in excise taxes, a bigger one than Johnson had proposed in January, will postpone the arrival of a balanced budget. But administration economists contend that its stimulative effects, like that of the great tax reduction of 1964, will underpin the national prosperity and make eventual surpluses more certain.

The secretary forecast a $4.2-billion deficit for the new fiscal year. That implies a $1.1-billion improvement since January. Some other officials predicted privately that this deficit, too, will be whittled down if the business boom continues.

Assurance that the boom will indeed continue was given by Fowler at a fiscal year-end news conference. Conditions are excellent, he said, for "sound, stable and sustainable economic health and expansion."

NO IMBALANCES

"It is still entirely possible to have a recession some time in the distant future; but our analysis of the economic situation reveals none of those imbalances or excesses that bring about economic downturns."

However, the fiscal outlook is not completely rosy. Government sources reported that:

Stop the War in Viet-Morse

Senator Sees U. N. as Avenue to Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse called on the Johnson administration today for an all-out effort to "stop the war" in Viet Nam and "to exhaust every possible means of doing so through the United Nations."

The Oregon Democrat, long an outspoken critic of President Johnson's Southeast Asian policy, declared that the President's 20th anniversary speech to the United Nations last week "unfortunately honored the Charter of the organization more in the breach than in the observance."

Noting that Johnson expressed a willingness to accept whatever effective action the United Nations might take, Morse said nothing "to indicate that the United States is willing to accept the obligations of a 'complete victory' behavior placed upon us by our signature on that Charter."

"We can not stop the war alone," Morse declared in a speech prepared for Senate delivery. "But the United Nations could, if it would, and the United States has more to gain from a U.N.-imposed peace than from a continuation of the fighting that can lead anywhere but to victory on our terms."

While Morse was speaking in the Senate, House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan scheduled a news conference at which he seemed likely to get the opportunity to defend himself against criticism of House GOP chieftains Wednesday by Senate Democratic Leader Mansfield of Montana.

TELLS LEADERS

Mansfield told the Senate that House Republican leaders are telling Johnson to step up the bombing of North Viet Nam and calling for a "complete victory" to be achieved without use of U.S. ground forces. Unless the President follows their advice, Mansfield said, the Republicans are threatening to withdraw their support.

Scattered Showers Predicted for Area

Today's sunny skies will become partly cloudy tomorrow with a chance of a few thunder showers late in the afternoon.

Temperatures dropping to low of 44 to 52 tonight will climb to 76 to 84 tomorrow. Partly cloudy and warmer with scattered showers is Saturday's forecast.

Variable winds at 5 miles per hour today will become 10 to 15 tonight and south to southeast tomorrow.

Yank Killed, Three Planes Are Destroyed

American Aircraft Hit Targets in North Viet, More Marines Land

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong killed one American, destroyed three planes and damaged three others in a hit-and-run attack on the Da Nang Air Base yesterday.

But U.S. Air Force and Navy planes struck at North Viet Nam during the day without letup.

Bridges, barracks and radar installations were among the prime targets, and more propaganda leaflets were dropped over populated areas, a U.S. spokesman said. He said all planes returned safely.

More U.S. Marines landed in South Viet Nam, at the coastal city of Qui Nhon. A U.S. spokesman said between 400 and 500 were coming ashore from 7th Fleet ships and would provide security for the Qui Nhon area as well as "combat support for the Republic of South Viet Nam's armed forces."

Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon, is the fourth area to be defended by the Leathernecks.

AIR BASES

The others are the air bases at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon; Chu Lai, 20 miles south of Da Nang; and Phu Bai, 35 miles north of Da Nang.

The Qui Nhon area is a narrow coastal plain due east of Pleiku, the capital of the central highlands.

Wilson Plans to Prod 'Reds' on Viet Nam

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson today prepared an appeal to Communist North Viet Nam to receive a Commonwealth mission in Hanoi and talk over the possibility of a peace conference.

Government informants said Wilson, in his capacity as leader of the four-man Commonwealth peace mission, will send the new bid to Hanoi within the next 48 hours.

Wilson's move came after a half-hour talk that British Consul General Myles Pensohly had in Hanoi Monday with the director of the North Vietnamese foreign affairs bureau.

A foreign office spokesman said the Hanoi government objected to being addressed in the peace mission's first call for talks as "the North Vietnamese authorities."

This was not taken to mean, however, that Hanoi will only talk to the mission on the condition that full diplomatic recognition is accorded, informants said.

Some sources here saw the Hanoi objection as a possible delaying tactic until a decision is taken on whether to receive the mission. This was believed to be behind Wilson's move to step in with a new appeal and further arguments in favor of talks.

Teen Involved in Knife Death Gets Lie Test

A lie detector test was given yesterday to one of two Waterford youths involved in the fatal stabbing of a third boy Sunday night.

Results of the test on Robert Green, 17, of 1512 Eason will be presented at a hearing slated for Tuesday in the death of Jeffrey Talbot, 17, of 2045 Watkins Lake.

Green was driving the car in which Ross Pearson, 16, of 1127 Abilene, died in Talbot's home Sunday night. Pearson is held by juvenile authorities pending a hearing on whether he will stand trial on a murder charge.

Green, held briefly at the Oakland County Jail, was released pending further investigation.

Police are continuing to question witnesses at the scene of the death.

ABOUT GIRL

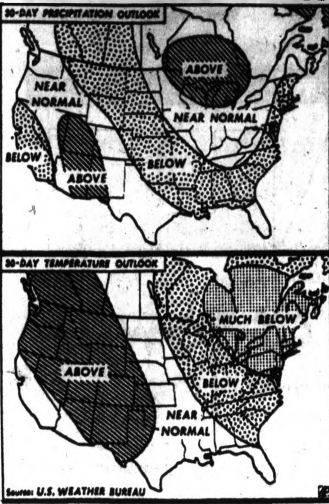

Pearson allegedly stabbed Talbot with a hunting knife during a melee about a 15-year-old girl they had both been dating.

Talbot died early Monday morning in Pontiac General Hospital.

Church Group May Get Its First Negro Moderator

CHICAGO (AP) — The opening of the fifth general convention of the United Church of Christ today may bring the election of the Church's first Negro moderator.

He is Dr. Hollis F. Price, 61, a layman and president of Le Moyne College in Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Price was the nominating committee's choice. Competition could come from the floor before the vote.

The vote is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The synod staff, however, prepared a biography of Dr. Price, listing his title as moderator 1965-1967.

Moderator is the highest honorary office of the denomination of slightly more than two million persons. As official representative of the church, the new moderator will visit local congregations and districts and preside over the next synod, in 1967.

The chief executive officer is the president, currently Dr. Ben M. Herberster.

Dr. Price had a major role in the progress toward integration in Memphis. The American Newspaper Guild in Memphis gave him its 1963 citizenship award, first ever presented to a Negro there.

Le Moyne, a liberal arts college related to the United Church of Christ, has a student body of 1,950. Dr. Price went there as dean in 1941 after he taught economics for 10 years at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama. He was named president in 1943.

A native of Virginia, Dr. Price received a B.A. degree from Ambler College in 1927, and an M.A. degree from Columbia University in 1931.

He is dean of the First Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) in Memphis.

LBJ Signs Bill to Cut Duty-Free Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law a compromise bill lowering to $100 retail value the amount of duty-free purchases that U.S. tourists can bring into the country from overseas.

But the new limit does not go into effect until Oct. 1. At present, tourists can bring in goods valued at $100 wholesale — about $167 retail.

If Johnson had not acted before midnight Wednesday, the old limit of $500 wholesale value would have gone back into effect.

In signing the bill, given final congressional approval earlier Wednesday, Johnson hailed it as a small but significant step, "significant because it reflects a strong determination by our government and this nation to eliminate our balance of payments deficit."

$50 MILLION

He said the new limit would save about $50 million a year. The legislation lowers from one gallon to one quart the amount of duty-free liquor that tourists can bring in. But the gallon allowance was continued for the Virgin Islands, Guam and Samoa.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Senate confirmed Wednesday by voice vote President Johnson's appointment of retired Air Force Gen. William F. McKee to head the Federal Aviation Agency.

Although a number of senators had opposed the nomination, only Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, spoke against it. He called it a bad appointment because it violated the principle of civilian control of the FAA.

Congress last week approved a bill to suspend the requirement that the FAA administrator be a civilian and to let McKee draw $9,400 of his Air Force retirement pay in addition to his $30,000 FAA salary.

Career FAA employee David D. Thomas, Amundale, Va., was confirmed as McKee's deputy.

ALSO CONFIRMED

Other Senate confirmations included former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, undersecretary of commerce; Stanley R. Resor, New Canaan, Conn., secretary of the Army; David E. McCallister, undersecretary of the Army; succeeding Resor; and Robert H. B. Baldwin, New Vernon, N.J., undersecretary of the Navy.

Says College Work Key to Great Society

EAST LANSING (AP) — University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher told young students of government Wednesday night that reaching such goals as the "Great Society" depends on work done at universities.

Hatcher spoke to 100 high school senior boys and girls attending Operation Bentley, a three-week workshop on government, sponsored by the Michigan State Association of Supervisors with financial aid from the Bentley Foundation.

"Research and training of future workers in such fields as population control, pollution of water and air, civil rights and economic inequities among the nations are in large measure the responsibilities of the universities," Hatcher said.

After Huge Gains

Mart Calms in Mixed Pattern Accord Stalled

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market calmed down early today after two sessions of huge gains.

Prices fell into a mixed pattern at the opening.

Trading was moderate. Changes of key issues were mainly fractional.

SHARP RUNUP

Brokers said the market had experienced such a sharp runup since breaking a six-week slide that a pause was not unexpected.

However, they were looking to such factors as a prediction of a record third quarter for automobile production, record high consumer prices and the imminence of good second quarter corporate reports to boost the market strength.

Reported record earnings for the 12 months ended May 31, was unchanged.

Opening bids indicated General Motors, up 1/4 at 95 1/2 to 6,000 shares, Ford, unchanged at 82 1/2 on 4,500 shares, Standard, off 1/4 at 77 1/2 to 6,200; Chrysler, unchanged at 46 1/2 to 7,800, and Pennsylvania Railroad, up 1/4 at 38 1/2 to 3,800.

Wednesday, the Associated Press 60-stock average advanced 6.5 to 318.4.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

France's Leadership

Challenged First Time

BRUSSELS (UPI)—France's leadership of the European Common Market (Euromart), was challenged for the first time today.

The six-nation economic community failed to reach agreement on agricultural policy. The development plunged the community toward crisis.

The partners balked at France's demands for a communitywide agricultural policy which mainly would have benefited Paris.

A Dutch delegate told UPI, "We are just fed up being dictated to by France."

The market's foreign ministers tried to replace agricultural regulations which expired at midnight, June 30.

The ministers' efforts failed to reach agreement on the way in which to one billion dollars a year in farm funds had to be divided and under what control the financing of common agricultural policy would be placed.

They gave up attempts to reach agreement shortly after midnight after three days of fruitless meetings.

It was the first defeat for France in community negotiations in seven years. France had insisted that a June 30 deadline for agreement be kept.

"It will have consequences which cannot be underestimated," he said. "The French government notes that commitments have not been broken."

He refused to elaborate.

"Our family consists of me, husband, wife and two daughters, aged 14 and five. My husband has a pretty steady job now and earns $300 a week. Our only reserve is $5,000 in savings and we own no securities. We would like to invest for the future. Any suggestions?" L. G.

A) I notice that you use the words "pretty steady" and "now" in connection with your husband's position. If there is any doubt whatever about the permanency of his position, I believe you should keep no less than $10,000 in savings as an emergency reserve. Never rely on stocks for this purpose, since they all fluctuate, sometimes severely.

But if you consider your husband's job thoroughly secure, you might place $5,000 of your savings in growth stocks to help educate your children and for protection against inflation. I suggest Sears, Roebuck and General Telephone & Electronics.

Q) "We bought Beauty Counselors Inc., just prior to the 2-for-1 split, but it has been declining steadily of late. Would you advise holding for potential growth, or would you take a loss and switch to Avon Products?" W. H.

A) You haven't given me much of your background, but strictly from the standpoint of potential growth, I would certainly switch to Avon. Both companies are basically in the same business, but Beauty Counselors had its upward earnings trend in 1963, when earnings declined, and this performance was repeated in 1964 and—quite sharply—in the first quarter of this year.

Avon is the undisputed leader in the cosmetics field and has shown one of the most remarkable growth rates in financial history. Although the net per share earnings declined two cents in the seasonally low first quarter, I believe the stock will show a gain for 1965, as it has in each year for well over a decade.

NEW YORK—July should be livelier this time than customary for the usually take-it-easy month. Factors will be busness. Fewer will be closing down for long vacations. In slacker years, these often are a problem for managers, tenance, repair and other reasons.

A lot of the business will be due to concern over what may happen in the steel labor negotiations. But a lot will be due to the generally faster economic pace this year than last.

The business upswing is now in its 33rd month, with slow-down more talked about than apparent as yet.

The stock market provided the most excitement in June. But the long downturn in prices appears to have changed few business plans.

ORDERS ON HAND

Steel mills report orders on hand will keep them turning out metal at a faster clip than previous July.

Customers will be stockpiling some of it as a hedge against the threat of a steel strike Sept. 1. But manufacturers will be using up a lot of the steel to meet their own big backlog of orders.

Many expect the steel labor situation to jell this month. Labor's demands should become clear—and also, how far management will go in meeting them. At stake: A strike, an expensive settlement that could mean price increases, or a settlement within the gains in productivity so that the price line can be held.

Concern over the steel situation is reported to be affecting some of the auto industry's plans. One result is to make for a lively July. Shutdowns for

One activity that seems sure to have a fresh record in the bag is vacation and travel spending.

Americans are taking longer vacations, longer trips, and spending more on their way and after they get there. Police Called to Avert Clash at Struck Firm

Twenty-five police officers were called this morning to the Starr Celler Co., 24500 Grand River, Farmington Township, to prevent an outbreak of labor violence.

Norman Lawton, president of the firm, said he called both the Farmington Township Police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department because his office and engineering workers had been prevented from entering the company building yesterday.

Earl Perin, chairman of the union bargaining committee, said the pickets merely asked the office workers not to go into the plant.

Members of UAW Local 965 have been on strike since May 19. The problems arose yesterday over the question of whether the office personnel were doing union work during the strike.

Camera Angles

Astronauts' Equipment

By IRVING DESFOR

PHOTOGRAPHY was the visual link through which astronauts Edward White and James McDivitt shared their out-of-the-world adventures with the rest of mankind on their recent 28-orbit space flight.

With four cameras on the Gemini 4 spacecraft, the extraordinary antics of Major White's walk-in-space were recorded in hundreds of feet of color film.

The remarkable achievement, in movies and still pictures, thrilled people everywhere but some of the photography details are of particular interest to photo fans.

Two of the still cameras were hand-held models familiar to many serious photographers. Space-walker White carried with him a 35mm Zeiss Ikon Contarex mounted on top of the space maneuvering unit which propelled him into space.

Astronaut McDivitt took pictures from inside the capsule with a single-lens reflex.

It was equipped with an f/2.8 Planar 80mm lens and loaded with Ektachrome ASA 64 color film in long-length 220 rolls.

In addition, there were two special 16mm movie cameras designed by McDonnell Aircraft Co., builders of the Gemini 4 spacecraft.

One was attached outside the capsule by Maj. White as he left the craft. It was loaded with 120 feet of thin-emulsion Ektachrome film and set to work automatically at six frames per second.

Its lens was an unusual 5.6mm wide-angle f/2.8 which gave a 160 degree field of view. Many of the spectacular color pictures of the space walk were made by this automatic camera.

FRAME SPEED

The other movie camera, inside the cabin, had an 18mm lens and also operated at six frames per second. Maj. McDivitt handled this camera as well as the Hasselblad during the third orbit's famous space walk.

For its unprecedented manned operation in space, the Contarex, with 50mm f/2.8 Planar lens, was loaded with 40 exposure cartridge of Anscochrome Daylight ASA 200 color film.

Both shutter speed and lens opening were preset: 1/250 at f/11. It is about the same exposure that camera fans would use on a sunny day at the beach.

Because it wasn't practical to hold the camera up to the eye—not with that helmet on!—and to save weight, the pentaprism atop the camera was removed. While just pointed the camera and shot blindly.

UNIQUE FEATURE

A unique feature of both still cameras is that they can take interchangeable backs pre-loaded with other films.

For this mission, three backs for each camera held extra film in black and white and color. The backs were changed as needed inside the capsule to make a pictorial record throughout the historic mission.

Special thin-emulsion 35mm film was used so that 70 exposures, instead of the normal 36, could be spooled into a standard cartridge for the Contarex camera.

When the Gemini 4 and astronauts White and McDivitt arrived aboard the carrier Wasp at the successful termination of their mission, all their films were flown to NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston for fast processing. Working through the night, the results were ready for world distribution next day.

PHOTO ROLE

Photography's role in this great adventure, like the space flight itself, can be summed up in two words: "Mission accomplished!"

It's interesting to add that home movie fans can see a complete record of this feat in their own homes.

Castle Films, producers and distributors of 8mm and 16mm home movies, announce the availability of "The Amazing Adventures of Gemini 4" in three black and white editions.

There is a fully titled 8mm silent version running about 12 minutes. There are also sound versions in 8mm and 16mm with music, narration, voice transmissions from the capsule and sound effects.

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Heiress Gamble Benedict and once-wed Thomas F. Gallagher, a New York State Police investigator, were married today in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in this college community near Utica.

In Syracuse, Gallagher's ex-wife and mother of his 13-year-old daughter, Christine Ann, told a reporter the two had been divorced. The former Doris M. Kelly of Syracuse, who uses the name Doris Gallagher, declined to elaborate.

The Roman Catholic Church does not normally permit remarriage of divorced persons in the church but there have been exceptions.

The 24-year-old bride's runaway marriage in 1960 to ex-chauveur Andre Pourbeanu ended in an annulment after she had defied her millionaire grandmother to marry him and had borne him two sons.

Denied Report

Gallagher, 32, denied a few weeks ago that he and Miss Benedict were planning marriage. He told a reporter that he did not know where the rumor originated and that, in fact, he had another girl.

The two were married by the Rev. James Nicholson, pastor of the church.

Fifteen guests were present. The couple planned to fly to Ireland for a three-week honeymoon.

PAIR INTRODUCED

Gamble had been living recently with her brother, Douglas, in this area, and it was he who introduced the pair.

The bride's late, widowed grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict of New York City, left Gamble and her brother an estimated $50 million from a typewriter fortune built by the grandfather, Henry H. Benedict, who once headed the Remington Typewriter Co. in Ilion, near here.

Gallagher was born in Auburn, in central New York. He attended Baldwinville Academy near Syracuse; Leonard Hall, a prep school in Leonard-town, Md.; the Valley Forge Military Academy in Wayne, Pa.; and the Christian Brothers Academy in Syracuse briefly.

Gallagher's salary as a senior investigator is $11,500 a year, police headquarters in Albany said.

STORMY AFFAIR

The Gamble-Andre romance was a tempestuous affair. Once they eloped on a steamer to Europe, but her family followed and brought her back from Paris.

Mrs. Benedict obtained a court order declaring her granddaughter a wayward minor and forbidding Gamble and Andre to see each other.

But less than two months later, they ran off to the Carolinas. They were married by a justice of peace in Hendersonville, N.C., April 6, 1960. The Romanian-born Pourbeanu had obtained a Mexican divorce from his first wife, Helma.

YEARS ABROAD

The Pourbeanu spent most of their married years abroad and had two sons, George and Mihail and Grigore.

Their marriage was ended by annulment Oct. 8, 1964.

Porumbescu subsequently spent several weeks in prison for nonpayment of alimony to his first wife and only recently was released.
