SBA celebrates its 40th anniversary with a series of special events

The Oakland University School of Business Administration has planned an array of thought-provoking and engaging events to celebrating its 40th anniversary this year. The series of events is designed to recognize the work of expert faculty members, the success of SBA graduates and the tremendous growth of the school's reputation in business and research communities.

A highlight event for the anniversary celebration will be the "International Business Conference: The Future of Business Leadership." Set from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 9, this event will address the importance of interplay between business schools, businesses and the international marketplace. Topics to be discussed include:

- Deepening Student Engagement through Experiential Learning, Virtual Technology and Service Learning

A strolling, international-themed evening reception and student poster presentation will follow the conference from 4:30-6 p.m.

Current and former SBA faculty members, alumni, students and friends of the SBA also are invited to take part in the 40th Anniversary Celebration Dinner. Participants can reconnect, reminisce and renew friendships, as well as help celebrate the school's many successes. The event is set for 7-10:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 10, in the Oakland Center Banquet Rooms.

Registration for the conference is $50. The cost for the dinner is $65, though those interested in attending both can do so for a combined price of $110.
