

Fear 3,000 Lead as Avalanche Buries Village

LIMA, Peru (U) — The giant avalanche of snow and water caused by a thaw roared down on the town of Ranrabica and several ranches in Northwestern Peru Wednesday night and authorities said they feared between 3,000 and 4,000 persons lost their lives.

The avalanche rushed down the Huancaran Mountain, ripping up trees, crushing farm houses and sweeping aside livestock in its destructive path.

The village of Ranrabica, about 200 miles northwest of Lima and 30 miles north of the commercial center of Huaraz, was feared to have been wiped out.

The town — according to the 1961 census — has a population of only about 500 but the rural area around it was densely populated and police said the number of missing probably ran to 3,000 or 4,000 persons.

One unconfirmed report said a small mountain lake was pushed from its banks, flooding the surrounding area.

Meager information from the scene said enormous ice chunks were torn from the side of Mt. Huancaran, a 22,555-foot peak, highest in Peru.

The ice melted, and at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday a great mass of ice, snow and water broke loose and rumbled like thunder down the mountain and crashed onto the agricultural community below.

It sped to the edge of the Santa River and smashed into Ranrabica.

Luis Gonzalez, a businessman, said he managed to escape from Ranrabica when he saw a dense cloud of dust over the avalanche approaching the town. He jumped into his truck and raced to Huaraz.

It is now summer in Peru, and the coastal plain is arid.

Another survivor, Dr. Leoncio Guzman, a physician, said he tried to drive to Ranrabica, but found the town completely covered.

"It looked like everyone in the village had been buried by the ice, rocks and mud," he said, expressing the opinion that the death toll would reach 3,000.

Dr. Guzman said he got out of a mountain settlement near Ranrabica just before the settlement was engulfed by the avalanche.

Communications lines were destroyed in the deadly swath, hampering rescue and preventing accurate reports on the extent of the disaster.

The first news reaching Lima just after midnight said the avalanche was more than half a mile wide and 12 yards deep.

Peru, a land that begins near the equator and extends southward along the Pacific coast, is noted for avalanches and landslides among its towering Andean peaks and canyons.

Scarcely a year passes without at least a minor disaster. In some years there are several.

One of the worst was in December 1941, when an ice-blocked river broke loose and an avalanche swept down upon the mountain town of Huaraz, killing 4,000 persons.

Harsh Cold Wave Continues to Blanket Most of Nation

By the Associated Press
Harsh cold covered almost the entire nation today.

It blanketed all the country except the peninsula of Florida and a strip along the Pacific Coast with freezing temperatures.

The mercury shrank below the zero level in at least 17 states.

Cold that began to spread across the country last week was a factor in more than 100 deaths.

A late tally showed a total of 116 included were 17 attributed to exposure, 66 in heart attacks suffered while shoveling snow or pushing automobiles and 33 in motor vehicle accidents on snowy roads.

SNOW IN FLORIDA
Snow fell in Pensacola, in North-western Florida, Mobile, Ala., close to the Gulf of Mexico, fell the pan of 8 inches zero—the lowest for January there in records that cover 90 years.

But the worst was over in sections that had been hit hardest.

Dems to Elect Chief in County

Precinct Delegates Set Vote for Successor to Ginn; Levin Unopposed

A new county chairman of the Democratic Party will be elected at a precinct delegates meeting in Pontiac Central High School Wednesday. Senator M. Levin of Berkeley is the only candidate to date.

He is expected to succeed James M. Ginn who must relinquish party office by Feb. 1 under his new contract as South field city attorney.

Ginn's resignation from the county committee will be the first order of business when the meeting gets under way at 8:30 p.m.

Levin, who is chairman of the Berkeley Democratic Club, apparently has no opposition to the county chairmanship. He is supported by Mrs. Harriet Phillips of Huntington Woods, vice chairman of the Michigan Democratic Party, and by the party's strong liberal-blue bloc in the county.

Other former candidates have withdrawn from the race.

President Wants Power Over Taxes, Tariff Cuts

Swainson Prods State Legislature

LANSING (U) — Gov. John B. Swainson called on the legislature today to stop putting off decisions on vital matters and get started on a wide-ranging program "to build Michigan in every respect."

The youthful governor, midway through his first two-year term, told a joint session of the House and Senate that the state's economy is growing steadily healthier and stronger.

"Michigan is marching forward again," he declared in his annual state-of-the-state message to the lawmakers. "We are growing. We are regaining our economic might."

But, he added, sternly, there are a host of unmet needs and nagging problems that the Republican-dominated legislature "has swept under a convenient carpet of despair."

"Delay has been easier than decision," he said. "We need to hammer out solutions, however difficult, rather than fashion escapist daydreams."

Strangely, the Democratic governor made no mention of the treasury deficit, which underlies many of the state's troubles. It began.

Some sample temperatures early in the day: Laramie, Wyo., -28; Pueblo, Colo., -25; Milwaukee -12; Des Moines, Iowa, and London, Ky., 11; Chicago 10; Minneapolis -5; Paul and Bluefield, Va., -8; Amarillo, Tex., -8; Albuquerque, N.M., -6; Denver -5; El Paso, Tex., -4; Pittsburgh 0.

Downtown Louisville, Ky., had a light coating of ice crystals, caused by condensation of moisture in the air. Temperatures of zero or below were general in Kentucky during the night.

The cold pushed into New England and topped temperatures below the zero mark in many areas. Connecticut Lake in Northern New Hampshire reported -38.

Snow squalls off Lakes Erie and Ontario pelleted in northern and western New York, again while crews worked to open highways. Some roads south of Watertown were blocked by drifts 8 feet high. Temperatures in that district ranged down to 11. Snowfall in Potsdam measured 18 inches.

Seek Opposition to Medicare Bill

Oakland Doctors Urge Patients to Join Fight on Compulsory Program

Patients of Oakland County doctors will be asked to run in a last-ditch fight against a compulsory health care program for the aged and "socialism in medicine."

Doctors specifically opposing the King-Anderson bill now in the House Ways and Means Committee are being circulated by the doctors.

There were indications that most of the county's doctors would ask patients to sign the petitions. The documents then would be forwarded to Rep. William S. Brownfield in Washington and to other lawmakers on Capitol Hill.

One doctor today described this history-making entry of individual doctors into politics as "perhaps our last chance" to fight development which doctors fear would put medical practice under the thumb of socialism.

OPPOSE MEASURE
The doctors, who have pioneered establishment of private and voluntary health insurance programs such as Blue Cross Blue Shield, are staunchly opposed to any law which would force people into a program.

The King-Anderson Bill would provide medical care for persons over 65 by financing the program through social security deductions.

"This, the doctors say, is a form of taxation not a form of insurance."

The doctors and the American Medical Association had their supporters have killed 29 persons in a post 1960 to another bill to the Highway so far this year, possibly 100,000 lives. The law would require small figures compiled by state medical boards for the aged when police showed today. The toll figures are proven and through that the same date a year ago was 34,000 federal, state and local funds.

Calls for School Aid, Laws on Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (U) — President Kennedy asked for unprecedented tax-cutting and tariff-slashing powers in laying before Congress today a massive legislative program.

He described the message as keyed to "fulfill the world's hope by fulfilling our own faith."

And, in a 6,000-word State-of-the-Union Message, the young President surprised many legislators by calling vigorously for multibillion-dollar federal aid to public schools and for civil rights legislation.

Many had developed the notion that the administration would soft-pedal these issues this year.

"The right to vote... should no longer be arbitrarily denied through such inequitable local devices as literacy tests and poll taxes," Kennedy declared.

Wrapped up in his report on how the nation stands, and what is needed, were many well-anticipated requests — for creation of a new cabinet-level department of urban affairs, for higher postal rates, for a new farm program. Details on most of these were left for elaboration in later special messages.

Sounding a note of urgency, Kennedy called for crucial decisions quickly — at this moment when he said a mild European flourish and communist unity failures.

"While no nation has ever faced such a challenge, an nation has ever been so ready to enter the burden and glory of freedom," the President said.

He pledged America to "fight when appropriate and in light of necessity" to preserve a free world.

Chester Bowles to Launch MSUO 'World Report'

Former Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles will launch a forum of tax talks called "World Report" Tuesday at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Bowles now is President Kennedy's special representative and adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs, with special emphasis on the problems of new and developing nations.

Bowles was shifted to the present job in November last year. Administration leaders at the time indicated they considered him as placed as undersecretary, because he was more concerned with the broad lines of policy development in functioning as an idea man than in the day-to-day conduct of foreign relations traditionally handled by the undersecretary.

Message Points at Quick Glance

Kennedy Stresses Need of Standby Authority on Taxes, Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at a glance are points President Kennedy stressed today in his State-of-the-Union message.

The United States must meet the challenge of the European Common Market by lowering tariffs.

The economy is healthy, but the President should have and increase public works spending.

A department of urban affairs is needed to help cities solve their social problems.

A new comprehensive farm program will be submitted, designed to prevent chaos with a program of "containment" sense.

No piece of unfinished business in matters of health is more important than the enactment of the Social Security system of health insurance for the aged.

This proposal for federal aid to public schools is one of the minimum and private schools is outside the constitution.

The West will fight if necessary to maintain its rights in Berlin. But an acceptable solution to the Berlin problem can be found if the Soviet Union will recognize the basic rights and interests involved.

State Road Toll of 29

EAST LANSING (U) — Traffic Medical Association had their supporters have killed 29 persons in a post 1960 to another bill to the Highway so far this year, possibly 100,000 lives. Eleven Miners Trapped, Killed by Explosion

CANTERVILLE, Ill. (U) — Eleven coal miners trapped since around 4 p.m. Wednesday night in a small coal mine 108 feet below the surface were found dead today.

Two rescue crews located the bodies.

They said it appeared that the men were killed instantly by an explosion that rocked the mine and shot twisted steel and debris out of the shaft.

One body was found at the bottom of the shaft; two others were nearby and eight bodies were located on the shaft in 6 hours where the coal vein was being worked.

William Ornduff, director of the Illinois Mines and Minerals Department, said the bodies would be brought up in about 3 to 6 hours after carbon monoxide fumes had been cleared from the tunnel.

LANSING GEAR DOWN—This flock of Canada geese is about to land in Kensington Park. The formation is beginning to break as the big birds sail in on cupped wings. About 100 honkers are spending the winter idly and around the park, south of Milford. The geese leave the area in the morning to feed in cut-over corn and grain fields. They return late in the afternoon.

In Dutch West New Guinea

Indonesian Landings Reported

NEW DELHI — The Times of India reports from Jakarta that small bands of Indonesian have landed at several points in Dutch West New Guinea to establish guerrilla units.

The dispatch from the newspaper's staff correspondent did not indicate the source of the report, but said landings on the West New Guinea coast were made from small native boats.

Small islands just off New Guinea are quiet during the day when Dutch patrols are in the area, but after nightfall they become hot links in a gathering movement for the liberation of West New Guinea, the dispatch said.

It added such activity is expected to intensify in the next few weeks as the Indonesian military buildup continues.

DUTCH DON'T KNOW — In the figure, a spokesman for the Dutch Foreign Ministry said the government knows nothing about the reported guerrilla landings.

In Jakarta, Indonesia strengthened its West New Guinea line Sunday as Foreign Minister Subandrio reported to President Sukarno there has been no progress in diplomatic moves to solve the dispute with the Netherlands.

Sukarno had declared Tuesday he would decide within 7 to 10 days whether Indonesia could gain control of the Dutch colony by peaceful means or whether he would have to carry out his threat to invade the jungle island.

Top Indonesian officials said this time lag was given to enable international diplomacy to try to settle the dispute, but Subandrio asserted today.

There has been no progress in diplomatic moves to solve the dispute, I cannot say it there will be.

Quake Tumbles Buildings, Kills 1 in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — A strong earthquake shook Yugoslavia today, tumbling buildings and causing fatalities.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said at least one person was killed and several injured.

Reports of shocks in short intervals lasting for an hour came from all parts of the country, Tanjug said.

It said the center of the tremors was at Makarska, a resort on the Adriatic about 200 miles southwest of Belgrade.

First reports from Makarska said the town's population was evacuated to the plain after the first shock.

Winds Lash Britain

LONDON — Five winds with gusts up to 100 miles an hour lashed Britain and the surrounding seas today. Three persons were killed by falling trees and a small ship sank in the English Channel.

Seeks Congress Seat to Replace Hoffman

ST. JOSEPH — Attorney Chester J. Byrne, 39, of St. Joseph Wednesday announced he will be a candidate in the August primary for Republican nomination for U. S. Congress from the 4th district of Michigan.

The seat has been held since 1955 by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R-Mich. The 86-year-old Hoffman is recovering from a light stroke suffered last November while driving near his home in Allegan. He returned to his Washington apartment the Wednesday after Christmas.

Byrne, a graduate of George Washington University where he was president of the class of 1946, received his law degree in 1951 from University of Michigan Law School.

House Speaker and His Wife Devoted

Washington's Harriet McCormack No Party Gal

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — For the first time in more than two decades, America has a "third lady."

After an unprecedented reign by two bachelor lawmakers, the late Sam Rayburn and Rep. Joseph W. Martin, the House speaker has now passed to John W. McCormack, who has a wife. This fact is expected, however, to rattle few teacups along Embassy Row.

Rep. and Mrs. McCormack have lived for 34 years in this party-loving capital, yet they have never been glimpsed at a party.

Virtually no one knows Harriet McCormack. She has no intimates except her husband, no close friends, and very few acquaintances.

As far as social Washington is concerned, she is a total recluse; yet the few who have spoken with her describe her as "lovely, thoughtful and erudite."

MOST DEVOTED

The devotion of John and Harriet McCormack for each other is legendary. During the long years of their wedded bliss they have never failed to have dinner together each evening.

If a $100-a-plate political dinner commands the presence of the powerful McCormack, his wife accompanies him and shares the head table spotlight.

Medical Aid Bill 'Has a Chance'

U. S. Surgeon General Says Administration to Be Pushing Measure

WASHINGTON — Surgeon Gen. Luther L. Terry said Wednesday he believes there is a good chance that Congress this year will approve medical care for the aged through Social Security.

"The administration will be pushing very hard for obtaining congressional approval of medical care for the aged through Social Security," the head of the public health service told the annual conference of state hospital construction and mental health authorities.

"I don't think any of us could guess at the moment what the prospects will be, but I personally feel there is a good chance of approval. But, because of differences of opinion in and out of Congress on the ways of financing such a program I am sure the matter will be given much discussion."

Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff told the meeting "we realize and the President realizes we must do more in the field of mental health."

He added that a careful study is being made of what the federal role should be but no final decisions have been reached.

Heart Transplant on Detroit Dog Is Successful

DETROIT — A delicate heart transplant has been successfully performed on a dog by a Wayne State University researcher.

Dr. Chylo Chilo, heart surgeon from Boston's Medical College, of Tokyo, Japan, transplanted a second heart into a dog and life in the second organ was preserved for ten weeks, a new longevity record.

The project was part of a joint effort with Detroit's Harper Hospital in which possibilities of organ transplantation and other related factors are being studied.

Three United States vice presidents were born in New Jersey. They are Aaron Burr, of New York, and Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia.

REBELIONA BERNABE — Rafael Bernabe, playboy and former Dominican diplomat, enters court building in New York, under subpoena, to appear before a grand jury in connection with murders of Dominicans in New York. Bernabe was questioned for several hours last week about the fatal slaying of Sergio Brucione in 1953.

If a dinner is even slightly less impelling, they decline.

A powerful political figure like John McCormack is naturally besieged with invitations, and the McCormacks are no exception. They live in a suite at the Ritz-Washington hotel, and since Mrs. McCormack has no household duties or kitchen chores to occupy her time, some have speculated that she must spend all of her days simply declining party bids.

AVOID READERS
The McCormacks are avid readers, devotees of music on high and radio, and fans of late TV movies. The things they don't do provide a longer list.

They do not drink. They do not go to concerts, the theater, movies or parties. They hate flying, and have flown only once in an emergency. They do not drive a car.

One of the congressman's oldest friends disclosed that their life in Boston varies little from that in Washington. The only time in 20 years that he has known Harriet McCormack to venture out to, other than a political gathering, after depends heavily on her keen insight and judgment.

He never agrees to deliver an out-of-town speech unless she can accompany him, and if the dinner is to be stag, he dines with her before he goes.

They read exactly the same kind of books: biographies of famous leaders, political and historical novels. They long ago set up their own charitable foundation, and take a deep interest in it and in certain Catholic charities. They have no children.

Substantial U.S. Force Training S. Vietnamese Troops

News Analysis

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The streets of this South Viet Nam capital are taking on an American atmosphere as more and more U.S. servicemen arrive to train Vietnamese to fight the Communist guerrillas.

One U.S. serviceman was killed recently in a Viet Cong ambush.

estimates are that from 2,000 to 3,000 U.S. servicemen of all branches are in South Viet Nam and the number is growing daily.

The Americans were sent to help correct basic weaknesses in the Vietnamese armed forces—communications, intelligence, mobile transport and organization. But their duties in the interior often involve them in shooting with the Viet Cong guerrillas from North Viet Nam.

He was riding in a truck with nine Vietnamese soldiers.

While off duty, all U.S. personnel are required to wear civilian clothes. Most take their meals in hotels and restaurants, and draw a per diem allowance of $16 a day in the case of most enlisted men. Generally, few dependents have come to Saigon.

Starting the day, the men wear fatigue uniforms, often adorned with French campaign hats and Vietnamese insignia of rank. At night, the men return to their hotels, clean up, and reappear in civilian clothes.

About 400 of the U.S. Army men are pilots and ground crews of the two light helicopter companies sent here last month to support the Vietnamese army. These companies already are flying missions, carrying Vietnamese troops into combat in remote areas where roads are poor.

An unknown number of U.S. servicemen are engaged in training Vietnamese soldiers in special guerrilla techniques. Many of these Americans are under almost daily sniper fire while they train.

A few U.S. servicemen are training Vietnamese army volunteers for behind the lines guerrilla work. These special guerrillas would be air dropped in groups of three into enemy territory possibly even into North Viet Nam. Americans, however, would not be sent north except in the event of war.

U.S. Air Force instructors are training Vietnamese to fly in single engine T-28 aircraft, helicopters, light observation planes and transports. Recently, two World War II vintage B-26 medium bombers were supplied to Viet Nam, and crews for these are now being trained. Ground crews for the infant air force are trained by U.S. instructors.

The Vietnamese navy is growing in strength, particularly with respect to U.S. donated light patrol boats, shallow-draft landing craft and mine sweepers.

Some U.S. servicemen are being used to supervise military construction, such as helicopter landing pads, airstrips and fortifications, and in training Vietnamese troops in the use of bulldozers and construction equipment.

New equipment is arriving in a steady stream from the United States, both by air and sea.

Convoy of big U.S. Army tractor-trailer trucks, often rumble through Saigon late at night to avoid attracting attention.

To improve communications and provide a servicing base for the field telephones, radio and electronic equipments arriving in large quantities. A number of U.S. troops are assigned as re-partners and technicians.

Medical facilities are being expanded, both for the U.S. forces here and for the Vietnamese army.

The big U.S. military assistance advisory group (MAAG) compound serving as headquarters for U.S. military activity grows in facilities and men each week. Other MAAG compounds are mushrooming around the countryside.

Hears Move to Halt Merging of Schools

LEANSIDE, Pa.—The state superintendent last week took action to implement a move to block the suggestion of the "Merge City" plan for the merger of school districts by the first Union School districts.

Final arguments on the case were heard by the court Wednesday. A decision is not expected before February.

The Detroit Edison Co. is leading the move to block the annexation of the city of Detroit. The company estimated the annexation would cost Detroit Edison an extra $300,000 a year in taxes.

Scout Chief Surprising

RENSSELAER, N.Y. (AP)—Any one who asks the Girl Scouts of Troop 212, "Take me to your leader" is in for a surprise. Their leader is a man, George Van Slyke, who joined the movement because his daughters, Gail and Charlene, couldn't be Boy Scouts.

Antique Show Set This Month

Utica Masonic Temple to Sponsor Exhibition in Mount Clemens

A three-day antique show will be sponsored later this month by the Utica Masonic Temple Board at the Hillcrest Country Club in Mount Clemens.

More than 40 antique dealers, some 15 from the area, will exhibit items Jan. 26, 27 and 28 in the Penthouse Ballroom of the country club, 30 Grosbeck Highway.

The exhibit will be open from 1 to 10 p.m. daily with dealers showing antique furniture, coins, china, silver, brass, jewelry, primitives and art objects.

Added attractions will include demonstrations of glass blowing, weaving and china painting.

One collection on display will feature more than 300 old guns, while another will have 12,000 buttons.

The Utica Masonic Temple Board is sponsoring the show to raise funds to construct a new building.

Bad Weather? Nobody Minds at Murphy Park

Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department employees think all this sub zero weather is wonderful, and many city children and teenagers agree.

"All our skating rinks are in perfect condition and the winter sports area at Murphy Park is also in perfect operating condition due to the cold snap."

The department's big 500-foot toboggan slide at Murphy is also in perfect operating condition. Although there are skating rinks at most schools and some neighborhood clubs and parks, the only toboggan and sled slides are at Murphy.

The park also sports a skating rink, music over its public address system and facilities for renting sleds and toboggans, said Buzz.

Supervision and lighting is provided at the park from 4:30 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays and 11 a.m. Sundays.

"The runs should be in top shape for weeks unless we get some bad weather," Buzz concluded.

In this case, "bad" is what most people call warm.

Rumor Has Red China More Impatient With Khrushchev

By AP News Analyst

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The Yugoslav press reports a rumor about the Soviet-Chinese quarrel which may be more than mere gossip.
The rumor is that the Red Chinese are circulating a letter among Communist leaders around the world demanding a new conference of 81 party leaders.

The Chinese, according to this report, want a chance to appeal

Bomb Threat Delays Jetliner Four Hours

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A TWA jet airliner bound nonstop from St. Louis to Los Angeles made an emergency landing here Wednesday because of a bomb hoax.

The threat of an anonymous telephone caller was received at St. Louis and relayed to TWA Flight 69 over Kansas City. Pilot Seth Strachan jettisoned 15,000 pounds of fuel to bring the Boeing 707 down to its landing weight.

Police and TWA maintenance personnel searched the airliner but found no bomb.
Eight FBI agents interrogated the 92 passengers and the crew of eight. After four hours delay, the airliner took off for Los Angeles.

from the decisions of the Khrushchev group in Moscow and possibly to put Khrushchev in his place as a heretic from Marxist-Leninism.

If the report is true, there is much more involved than a mere squabble over ideology. The basis of the dispute is economic.

Briefly, Red China wants considerably more economic help from the Soviet Union than it is getting. In addition, it wants help toward becoming a member of the exclusive nuclear weapons club. In both areas, Moscow is dragging its feet.

IN SOVIET TERMS

To clothe its demands in proper Communist terms, Peking is reported advancing the argument that the U.S.S.R., as the leading Socialist (Communist) nation, should lead the rest of the camp in allocating its economic resources so that the more backward countries in the camp can make rapid strides ahead.
Only then, the Chinese are reported to be saying, can Khrushchev's new embellishment of Marxist-Leninist theory have any real validity. His theory has been that all members of the Communist camp will advance to the ultimate stage of development—communism—more or less simultaneously.

But the Red Chinese want considerably more than that from Khrushchev. They want acknowledgment from him that Communists cannot really hope for such development until the powerful capitalist countries are disposed of.

That means, in a word, that the Khrushchev brand of peaceful coexistence, implying long-term economic competition for world supremacy, is nonsense.

Yugoslavia, with much more than passing interest in the ideological storm between Peking and Moscow, watch the situation with care and in the past have frequently called the turn on events about to happen in the Red bloc.

PLAYS DOUBLE GAME

The rumor about Chinese demands was reported in a Moscow dispatch to the Zagreb newspaper Vjesnik. It described Soviet diplomacy as playing a simultaneous double chess game with the West and the Chinese, the latter about to make a move whose motive still is hidden.

"A rumor is abroad these days," it said, "that the Chinese leadership has circulated a letter criticizing the Soviet attitude toward Albania, among the leading bodies of some parties."

"It is claimed in Peking that by indicting Albania unilaterally, without consulting other parties, the Soviet leadership flouted the principle of solidarity in relations between parties . . . the Chinese, it seems, demand in their letter the convening of a new conference of the 81 parties to discuss the Soviet-Albanian—or rather, the Soviet-Chinese—disagreements."

It is clear that when Khrushchev and his supporters attack Albanian

Communist leaders, they are in reality attacking the Red Chinese leadership. Peking is known to contend that Khrushchev has no right to attack a member of the camp without full prior discussion with all its members.

In addition, the Red Chinese are reported to contend that the Soviet of the U.S.S.R.

Communist party leadership has no right to consider actions taken at one of its own national congresses, such as the 22nd in Moscow last October, as binding on all Communist parties and the prescribed course for Communist development.

The Chinese are vastly impatient, too, with Khrushchev's attitudes regarding export of the such revolutions—in Africa, Asia and Latin America particularly—by the world Communist apparatus.

The Chinese want more and more violent revolution wherever to suit the Chinese.

Party Boss Aims to Swing Oklahoma for GOP This Fall

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—The Republican National Committee meeting here this weekend is a personal triumph for Henry Bellmon, the big, blarney-talking farmer who is fast becoming Oklahoma's "Mr. Republican."

Bellmon has reorganized and revitalized the party in the two years since he became state chairman.

William Miller, national Republican chairman, said the decision to meet in Oklahoma came as a recognition to the state party's sudden surge in this Democratic stronghold.

TO BIGGER THINGS
It is apparent that Bellmon considers this meeting as another stepping stone toward the goal he has set for the party and himself. He has a special reason for wanting the Republicans to break a 50-year drought and elect their first Oklahoma governor in 1962—he probably will be the GOP gubernatorial nominee.

Bellmon has had the same success in running the state party precinct. During his chairmanship there from 1952 to 1958, he was so successful at raising funds and stimulating voter interest, he received recognition from both the state and national parties.

Under his leadership last year, Oklahoma went Republican in the presidential election while Democrats won nationally. Clyde Wheeler Jr., almost became the first Republican congressman elected from the state's present 6th District, getting a majority of votes in the first count, but losing in a recount.

Bellmon contends Oklahoma is becoming more conservative, and his party can make big gains this year.

It didn't take other Republican leaders long to recognize Bellmon's prowess as a political fighter. They began urging him to run for governor and he consented. He is a heavy favorite to win the nomination.

Bellmon heckled Gov. J. Howard Edmondson by congratulating him on cleaning up the outside of the state Capitol. He said Republicans will complete the job by giving the inside "a long overdue scrubbing."

OLD GUARD DREAMS
He says Edmondson sometimes tries to initiate good government, but is blocked by "Old Guard" Democrats who control the party organization and the legislature. State Democrats deny his accusations.

Bellmon says his major concern is stopping the trend toward bigger government and more taxes. He is particularly opposed to further increases in the public welfare program.

Bellmon is a 200-pounder built like a football tackle. He wears his hair cropped close and looks younger than his 40 years. His soft voice and calm disposition are sometimes deceiving.

The only public office he ever held was right after World War II when he served one term in the legislature from Noble County. Defeated for re-election in 1948, he concentrated his energies on a new business venture as a land and expanded his wheat farm to 1,400 acres. He still operates this latter moving contractor.

Later he sold out this business farm in Noble County.

Bellmon is a Presbyterian, a former Marine and the father of three daughters.

His goal for a Republican victory this fall includes more than 30 state legislators in Oklahoma.

Moscow Molly Follows in Footsteps of Tokyo Rose

BERLIN (AP)—She calls her program from over the Berlin wall. Then the successor to Axis theory, Count Basie and Duke Ellington.

But to Americans she's "Moscow Molly," a husky-voiced disc jockey who beams music and product of a lost weekend. This propaganda toward U.S. troops in West Berlin these cold winter nights.

Her nightly broadcast starts at 11:45 p.m. and runs for half an hour. Because of the late hour, she may not have many regular American listeners. But most soldiers have heard the show. Their ratings of it range from silly and laughable to clever and dangerous.

"Don't Fence Me In" is the theme song that introduces the

BROADCAST FORMAT

Much of their format is borrowed from AFN, the Americans.

Actual news is varied, but it is carefully selected. Most items put in U.S. policy and the military in an unfavorable light. There is heavy emphasis on the high tax

"If the Communists think they are having any effect on the troops, they're just wasting their time," commented Lt. Col. Louis A. Breaugh Jr., of Ashburn, Mass., information officer for the U.S. Berlin Command. "I don't think it's having any effect on them at all."

Molotov Has Pull in Russia...but Where?

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Next to that of Josef Stalin, it would be difficult to imagine a name likely to fall with a more unpleasant ring on the ears of Nikita Khrushchev than that of Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Molotov.

Last November when Molotov returned glumly to Moscow from his Vienna post to be met only by members of his family, it appeared that "Old Bolshevik's" career indeed was finished.

But here he is, however briefly, in the news again and returning to his Vienna job as Soviet representative on the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Recalling the bitter charges hurled against him by Nikita Khrushchev and succeeding speakers at the recent Communist Party Congress in Moscow, one of three conclusions seems possible: Molotov still has friends powerful enough in the Soviet command to prevent his decline into total obscurity.

The Moscow leadership, which is pledged against a return to the jettisoning of the old Stalin days, believes he is less a menace to the new regime outside the country than in.

The Soviet Union regards the International Atomic Agency as of so little importance—it doesn't matter who has the job.

Another and less likely possibility in the jungle of high-level Kremlin politics is a decision that, despite past sins, Molotov had the right to some recognition for more than 30 years of faithful service to communism.

In the figure of Molotov there are many unpleasant memories for Khrushchev.

First, of course, was Khrushchev's charge that as a leader of the "anti-party" group, Molotov plotted for Khrushchev's downfall, and even up to the last party congress opposed the latter's de-Stalinization program in its writings.

Of significance, too, is the fact that it was Molotov under Stalin's guidance who worked out the pact with Hitler Germany permitting the rape of Poland and who sent a message of congratulations to Hitler on the fall of Paris.

A QUESTION OF TASTE.
It was Molotov also in those jettisoning days who referred to Nazism as "a question of taste."

and an ideal that could not be destroyed by force. Those are points the present-day Moscow hierarchy would prefer to forget.

Molotov was associated with Stalin from his earliest days and with Stalin founded the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

Most of the bumps he has taken are the direct result of his slavish devotion to Stalin.

Under Stalin, he played a prominent role in Moscow's break with Communist Yugoslavia, and, as a reward, was bumped from his post as foreign minister when the Kremlin decided to make up with Marshal Tito in 1956.

Mormon Church Eyes Skyscraper in Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP)—The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) has announced plans to build a skyscraper center in midtown Manhattan.

The structure, expected to be between 30 and 40 stories, will be erected between West 57 and 58th streets just off Fifth Avenue. G. Stanley McAllister, president of the New York state diocese, said Wednesday the building will serve as a major administrative base of operations for the two-million-member church. Headquarters for the church is in Salt Lake City, Utah. It is predicted that by 1970 a majority of the 400,000 full-time teachers in the church will be scientists and mathematicians.

St. Louis Building Destroyed by Blaze

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Musical Arts Building, where opera's Helen Traubel once studied and playwrights Tennessee Williams and William Inge presented early works, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night.

Estimates of the damage ranged between $75,000 and $250,000.

The building, once a center of eight departments of Cranbrook cultural activity, recently had been a point of interest in the Gaslight Square night club district. A plushy restaurant occupied the ground floor. About 250 patrons of various establishments in the building escaped unharmed. Two firemen were reported slightly injured.

TV Series to Explore Cranbrook Institutions

The six Cranbrook institutions in Bloomfield Hills will be subjects of three WXYZ-TV programs to be seen at 7 p.m. Jan. 15, Feb. 5 and Feb. 26 on "Expedition."

Next Monday's show will take viewers through the studios of the eight departments of Cranbrook Academy of Art, the galleries and the art library.

Tells of 102 Below Zero

State Man Spends 10 Months at Bottom of the World

By JOHN MATHESON
Staff Writer, South Evening News

SAULT STE. MARIE — Winter in Michigan is warmer than summer at the South Pole, according to a native son recently returned.

He is Wes Morris, a native of Constantine and a former resident of Sault Ste. Marie, who currently is on leave in Michigan after nearly 10 months at the bottom of the world.

It was his third trip to either the Arctic or Antarctic, and he has completed a total of nearly three years in these polar regions of the earth.

Before leaving the South Pole Dec. 6, Morris recorded the summer's high temperature of 6 degrees below zero. During the polar summer, he noted 32 days of constant sunshine, a total of some 780 consecutive hours on the heels of the long darkness of the polar night when only the Aurora and stars light the skies.

102 BELOW ZERO

The coldest temperature was 102 below zero, and this was eight degrees higher than the lowest South Pole temperature on record since 1957, 110 below.

Morris spent 1956-1957 at Byrd Station, 800 nautical miles from the South Pole, and he found a number of differences in the isolation of this station and that of the pole. Byrd Station was buried six months under snow, and he called this location "tremendously windy" with considerable drifting snow because the station was in the storm track off the Ross Sea.

Morris, a meteorologist, said the winds there averaged about 30 knots in winter, but the maximum wind at the pole was 47 knots and in summer, it averaged eight to 10 knots.

calls at Byrd Station was 72 below and the "summer" high was 28 degrees.

The greatest difference Morris noticed between Byrd Station and the South Pole was the effect of the pole's greater altitude. The elevation of 9,136 feet, combined with the temperature to reduce physical ability. "Visitors get dizzy," he said.

The pole's one sunset and one sunrise per year were other differences. One similarity was the concern over the danger of fire because there was no place for smoke or fumes to escape under the snow.

Morris was supervising meteorological technician in the party of 16 scientists and 10 U.S. Navy men who wintered at the South Pole.

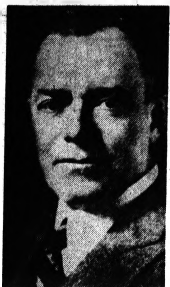

Morris arrived there on the last plane in February, and the 20 were isolated until the first aircraft arrived the last part of October.

Despite the isolation, instruments at the station gave the men indications of events of the outside world over and above their radio contacts. In 1957, for example, they heard the signals from the first Russian Sputnik. Last October, Morris noticed an unusual air pressure fluctuation and recorded it; he later learned it was a pressure wave from the big Russian atomic explosion which was also recorded by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Sault Ste. Marie.

Morris first learned meteorology in the Navy during World War II. Following six years during which he covered much of the Pacific Ocean, he joined the weather bureau.

He was in the Sault from 1947 until 1953, when he went to Prince Patrick Island in the Arctic with a party of eight men and four dogs ("a small town, but a nice town"). He returned to the Sault from 1954 to 1956 before leaving on his first trip to the Antarctic.

He plans to be in the Sault for about another week and will visit relatives in Constantine before reporting to Washington, D.C. for a six-month assignment as a cold weather logistics specialist in the polar operations project of the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Flint Man Freezes After Fall at Night

FLINT — The body of Henry Christman, 47, was found lying in the snow near his South Side Flint home at 5:30 a.m. Wednesday. Police said he apparently froze to death.

Physicians at Hurley Hospital tried unsuccessfully to revive Christman, but he was pronounced dead one hour later. An autopsy showed he had a leg fracture.

Police said they believed Christman broke his leg when he slipped and fell while returning from a store Tuesday night. Puckagers which he had purchased were found beside his body.

DIES — Walter Clark Teague, former president and board chairman of the Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) died Tuesday at his home in Byram, Conn. He was 83. Death came after a long illness.

Three out of every five American families are buying their own homes.

Deadly Poison Found in Product Used in Cafes

The Federal Food & Drug Administration has discovered that a product identified as White's contains sodium fluoride, which is understood to be a deadly poison.

The product normally is made of sodium bisulfite and is used by restaurants to retard discoloration of potatoes. However, sodium fluoride was found in the mixture. The product, manufactured by the Bond Co., Kingsport, Tenn., is sold in 5 and 2-pound containers and in 1-ounce containers.

The Food & Drug Administration has recalled the product, warning all restaurant operators to discontinue using White's. Shipments were made on or about Oct. 1, 1961.

Anyone finding a container of the product is to contact James McCollum, Foods and Standards Inspector for Michigan Department of Agriculture, 1006 Northfield St.

Leaking Gas Tank Causes Evacuation

RISCO, Mo. (AP)—About 500 residents of this southeastern Missouri village fled their homes Wednesday when propane gas began leaking from a 12,000-gallon tank at Risco High School.

About 1,200 students at the school joined the exodus in zero weather.

RETURN MONDAY
The townspeople were to return today but the school will remain closed until Friday. The tank can't be repaired until all the gas has escaped.

Most of Risco's residents took shelter in Malden and other nearby towns.

Leo Hawkins, supervisor of the Missouri Liquid Petroleum Co., north wind blew the gas away from Risco but officials feared a shift in wind direction would send the gas billowing down upon the village.

Florida Business Grows

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—New industries or major expansions of existing plants announced in Florida during the past year will produce an annual payroll of over $100 million, the Florida Development Commission says. More than 700 plants or expansions announced during the year will create about 24,800 new jobs.

Swindled With Fake Bill

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Edna S. Kellogg, 84, whose vision is impaired, told officers she was swindled out of $50 by a man who gave her play-money. Mrs. Kellogg said she had just cashed her $50 pension check when the man asked her to give him change for a $50 bill. She discovered later the bill was one used in playing games.

State House, Senate Committees Agree on Five Proposals

LANSING — Two legislative committees studying Michigan's tourist industry report they are in agreement on several major proposals to bolster the states vacation travel business.

Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, R-Petoskey, chairman of the Senate Committee on Outdoor Recreation, Facilities and Rep. Walter G. Naikula, R-Grand Haven, chairman of the House Tourism Industry Relations Committee, said the proposals resulted from a series of public meetings held by their committees throughout the state.

The committees are recommending:

- 1—A substantial increase in state advertising and promotional funds to attract more tourists to Michigan.
- 2—Greater development of Michigan's park system, including establishment of informative programs to familiarize visitors with the state's wildlife, forests and other natural attractions.
- 3—Revisions of private trailer park regulations to encourage greater development of summer camping facilities.
- 4—Redefining the intent of resort liquor license regulations to allow the State Liquor Control Commission more flexibility in allocating resort licenses.
- 5—Establishment of a continuing statistical research program to gather information on the state's tourist business.

Legislature to Veto WSU Tuition Offer

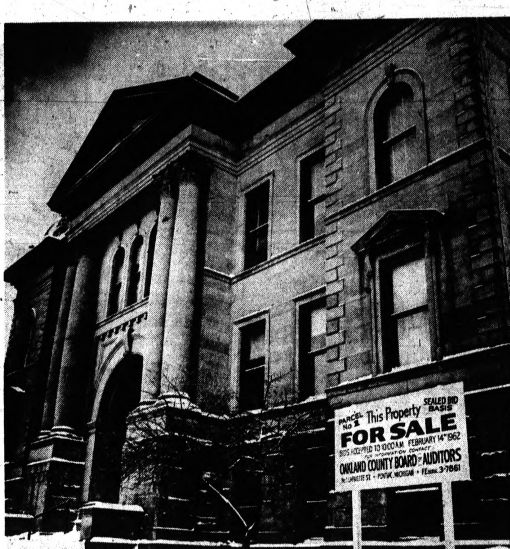

LANSING — The legislature probably will reject, this year, Wayne State University's offer to boost tuitions in return for increased state funds, says the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"This is a rather new idea," said Rep. Arnold Engstrom, R-Traverse City, "and I think it ought to be cleared with the other state universities on some basis before Wayne puts it into operation."

"I don't think we will go for it this year," he added.

Engstrom made the prediction Wednesday after WSU officials had asked the legislature to hurry up with its decision.

High blood pressure, a major source of heart trouble, affects young as well as older persons.

Wanna' Buy a Courthouse? — For sale signs are up on the old county courthouse and prosecutor's office next door as the county seeks to sell the property — no longer in use — to finance a proposed $150,000 auditorium adjacent to the new courthouse on Telegraph Road. No bids have been received for the property which has been appraised at $400,000. It is located in the heart of downtown Pontiac. Bids will be opened Feb. 14.

State Legislator Had a Previous Engagement

DETROIT — Rep. Adam W. Sumeracki, D-Detroit, wasn't on hand to hear Gov. Swainson's annual state of the state message today.

When Swainson headed to the rostrum in Lansing, Sumeracki approached the altar in St. Stanislaus Church in Detroit to marry Gertrude M. Wisniewski.

'Year to Be Hard for Education'

Chief of State Office,
Lynn Bartlett, 'Realistic'
About '62 Legislature

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, took what he called a realistic look at the legislature today and admitted that "this will be another difficult year for education."

Bartlett, in a speech prepared for delivery at the 20th annual conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators here, outlined his 1962 legislative program—most of its centering around financial problems, and much of it left over from previous years.

Bartlett said he would push for an 8 per cent increase in net state school aid "simply to keep pace with price increases and with the rise in the costs of education." The increase for local school districts would come to $22.5 million, he said.

Increased support for community colleges, state scholarships and student loans, state participation in federal re-education and training programs also will be sought, Bartlett said.

Michigan's 16 community colleges continue to show "startling growth," he said. Enrollment stood at 27,000 last year—an increase of about 18 per cent over the previous year. This year it was near 35,000—an increase of more than 25 per cent.

For the 1962-63 fiscal year he will ask for a $8.97 million appropriation for community college operation and a $1.28 million capital outlay appropriation, the superintendent said.

A legislative appropriation of $100,000 for scholarship grants for needy students would be sought, he added. Grants would range from $500 to $1,500, depending on need.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R-Mich., feeling nearly chipper again at 86, plans to be back in the House again "when the work starts."

Hoffman, under the care of a nurse in his apartment, was quoted Wednesday by aides:

"I didn't want to come in today because there wasn't going to be any work done. I do expect to be there when the work gets started."

Hoffman suffered a stroke while driving to his Allegan, Mich., home in November. An aide said his left leg, which was paralyzed has improved.

"He walks and talks very well," he said. "He dictates letters at what seems like 175 words a minute."

Goldwater Asks for Slower Car That Functions

DETROIT (U)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., ended a speech on what he regards as the perils of inflation at the annual banquet of the Society of Automotive Engineers last night with a special off-the-cuff plea to the automotive bosses that brought down the house.

"While you're working with tailfins and chrome," he said, "can't you please mix in some windshield washers that work every time; engines that start every time; windows that go up and down every time; and clocks that tell time?"

And he added that even in the open spaces of Arizona "we don't want to get there at 150 miles per hour, we just want to get there with everything working."

Birmingham Notes

Curling Group to Hold Annual Party Friday

By MARY ELLEN MEAD

BIRMINGHAM — Nobody has ever accused Birmingham women of not being original in the projects they sponsor or the social activities they pursue. But it's a safe bet there aren't many suburban areas that sustain the little-known art of curling.

Mrs. William MacLachlan, of Buckingham Road, is president of a local group of women curlers who meet Tuesday and Thursday nights at the Detroit Curling Club on Forest Ave. Friday night the group will entertain its annual mixer party at the club, curling to be preceded by cocktails and dinner.

Among those who will attend are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Max Ross, the Samuel Renslow, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maiz, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Wilder and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Raich. Incidentally, might prove an opportunity for Sasse and Bob Raich to model the new kilts they recently ordered from Scotland. They arrived in time for Christmas, and are as authentic as the Fraser plaid of which they're fashioned. Sasse continues to be amazed that it takes 10 yards of material to come up with anything as short as a "bonnie wee kilt."

Having just returned from spending the holidays at Sun

Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnston, of Hickory Hollow Road, will be off again this week-end for Otsego. Plan to be joined there by Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, of Mt. Pleasant.

Down-the-street neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Siedles, are also skinned, but their trip isn't scheduled until Feb. 9. At that point they'll leave for Boyne Mountain accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kneischel, of Kirtland Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Dove Eilers, of Robin Hood Circle.

In the meantime, Mrs. Siedles is indulging her love of antiques by attending monthly meetings of The Questers, an antique study group in which a number of Birmingham women are interested.

The group met Wednesday for luncheon at Dickweck Road, going on from there to the home of Mrs. Harold Waters in Detroit to view her collection of antiques and other rare nineteenth century art.

Among those on the tour were Mrs. Richard S. Hines, Mrs. E. M. Hooy, Mrs. E. W. Cook, Mrs. Carl Kalmback, Mrs. Ray Hummel, Mrs. A. K. Parrish and Mrs. Parker Rockwell, of Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Clayton, of Ashover Drive, will entertain a larger group for cocktails Saturday from 5 to 7.

Mrs. Joan S. Greene, of Arlington Road, left Wednesday for New York where she will be joined at the Essex House by former Birmingham residents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burgess, of Pompano, Fla. The Boat Show, as well as shopping and theater, will occupy the long weekend.

Job Sounds Questionable

By ARTHUR VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married. It was my third marriage and my second I never really understood what this man did for a living and I still don't. I work every day, he drives me to work, and picks me up. I make all the payments on the bills, pay the rent and save a little.

One day while he gets dressed up and goes to "work," but I don't know where or doing what. Twice he brought home a bank note and was very liberal with it. When I told him I think he should get a steady job to say, "Don't worry, honey, one day I will get into something big. I am confident and worried can you figure it out?"

CONFUSED

DEAR ABBY: What ever your husband is doing sounds questionable to me. I hope the "something big" he will get into one day is a person find out where he is working.

DEAR ABBY: I have fallen in love with a girl who is three months pregnant. The father of the baby will not marry her. I told her I would marry her if she would give the baby up. She turned me down. Do you think she is a fool or a saint?

Frankness Should Be Appreciated

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Recently some friends of ours came over to pay us a visit. When they were leaving, the wife said to me, "How about you and John coming over to our house a week from this coming Saturday?" I said we had no plans and we would be delighted to come.

A few days before we were supposed to go to her house, the wife called and said they had been asked by other friends to go away with them for the weekend and asked if we would mind coming the following week instead?

I, of course, said we wouldn't mind. What else could I say? But I do feel, after having invited us to her house, she was very rude to call it off even for a weekend in the country. I would like your opinion on this.

A: If they had invited you to a meal, or you were little more than acquaintances, they should not have put you off; but as the invitation was only for a visit and they are old friends of yours, I don't think they were rude in telephoning you frankly about the weekend and asking if you would postpone your visit until the following Saturday.

Q: Several months ago I asked a civil I know to be one of my bridesmaids and since then have learned something about her that changed my mind. Is there any way out of this situation?

A: Unless what you have learned about her is so serious that you sit an open break with her, you cannot possibly tell her that you do not want her in your wedding party without hurting her deeply.

Q: If the bride wears a long, formal dress and veil, should the mothers wear short or long dresses and must both wear the same length skirts? A: If the preparations are fairly elaborate, the mothers usually wear long dresses—but not necessarily. Nor is it necessary that their dresses be the same length, although if they are to stand together to receive it would look nicer if both wear the same length dresses.

Bowling's a Real Ball

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE

Newspaper, Enterprise Assn.

After the beginner has mastered the straight ball the bowler should advance to the hook.

This actually is a ball that starts out straight enough, but breaks sharply into a curve as it nears the pins.

The hook is the mastery result of practically every good bowler. Because it stays with the pins a fraction of a second longer, it misses them better, with resultant greater pinfall.

Dick Weber, leading money winner of the PBA tour, says the hook should be started by standing with the arms at the sides. The wrist should be in a straight line with the arm on the action side. In the delivery, the arm is brought up into a shake hands position, without snapping the wrist. The motion of bringing the arm up this way imparts a spin to the ball that provides the hook.

The thumb generally is pointed at about 10 o'clock on the imaginary clock dial. It must leave the ball ahead of the fingers or the ball will not hook. The curve, which starts in one direction and winds up in a wide breaking arc in the other, is altogether too difficult and unreliable to be employed by the average good bowler, so skip it.

When you get ready to use the curve on special occasions, you will be way up among the big ones—and somebody better qualified than I can tell you about it.

NEXT: Rhythm.

Miss Ritchie, a former Miss America, is Director of Women's Activities for American Machine & Foundry Co.

To Study Family, Child Separation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Factors which cause the separation of children from their families will be studied under a new research and demonstration program announced recently by Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau.

The child welfare grants program was authorized under the 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act and was given an appropriation of $350,000 by this year's Congress.

Just Eat Correctly

You CAN Grow Younger

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Do you want to look from five to 10 years younger just two months from now? That's a silly question! What woman doesn't?

It is a silly question, but not a silly idea because it is entirely possible. I have seen it happen over and over again in my reducing classes, and thousands of letters from Marathon winners have told me of the tremendous change in their appearance and their happiness after completing my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon.

MIRACLES

The metamorphosis from bulges to curves, from fatigue to pep and from self-consciousness to self-confidence can create miracles.

A regular routine of diet and exercise is reflected in the sheen of the hair, the smoothness of the skin and the slenderness of the waist, and a slim waist has changed many a woman's life.

Why not join thousands of other women all over the country in the adventure of seeing how much you can improve your appearance in just eight weeks. You will have plenty of company! Next summer I will print the success stories of some of the Marathon winners, without names, of course, unless you would like to have yours printed.

PAY THE PRICE

You can look younger eight weeks from now, no matter what your age, if you make up your mind to pay the price for self-improvement.

Here are a few tips which will make dieting easier:

Eat slowly. It has been found that there is a correlation between the amount of blood sugar and hunger. A rise in blood sugar decreases appetite, and it takes a little while for the food you eat to increase your level of blood sugar.

PROTEIN FIRST

Eat the protein at your meal first. This will increase the level of your blood sugar.

Eat a good breakfast or your blood sugar level will be very low by midmorning and you will be so hungry that you probably will dash out and buy a tidbit which is dynamic, calorie-free.

With Marathons you can lose both pounds and years! If you would like to join, send 10 cents and a stamped envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet which gives you the directions you need for a lovelier you. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Put a thin piece of foam rubber in the toe of oversize rubbers or boots. It will pad the extra space effectively without harming shoe leather.

Exercises which improve your balance give you grace and poise. In this one, swing arms and head back as you rise on toes. Improve your figure in every way in just eight weeks by joining Josephine Lowman's Marathon.

The Glamour Game Comes Naturally

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If all of a sudden there were no more fashion magazines for women to pore over and no more of the advertisements that sell "glamour," would women give up the struggle to be attractive? A woman who owns a string of charm schools says they would.

The charm movement may deal with women all the time — but who obviously doesn't understand what makes them tick.

Without the hard selling of the fashion magazines and the glamour advertisements that promise a woman eternal youth, women might not spend so much money on fashion and beauty. But they wouldn't give up the struggle to look their best.

TWO FUNCTIONS

Why would they, when women get two major satisfactions out of dressing as well as they can and looking as attractive as they can? The first satisfaction is the fun of competition. Just as men enjoy competing with each other in work and sports, women enjoy competing in the fields of fashion and beauty. Even if they weren't egged on by the fashion and beauty industries, they would compete on a do-it-yourself basis — dreaming up their own fashions and working out their own beauty routines — the spirit of competition egging them on to try and outshine each other.

The second satisfaction women get out of the struggle to be glamorous is that it satisfied their creative urge. The woman who is constantly redoing her face, improving her figure, searching for more becoming clothes is creating something. She is taking what nature handed her and reshaping the raw material more to her heart's desire.

Soup Serves as Sauce for Liver or Fish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Staff Editor
Mrs. Arthur Hathorn is one of the most faithful attendants at Pontiac Press Cooking Schools (coming up in a few weeks). She often calls with new ideas for food. Two of these ideas we're using today.

Cooking, collecting cookbooks and antiques are all hobbies of Mrs. Hathorn's.

BAKED SOUPY CASSEROLES

By Mrs. Arthur Hathorn
Liver has a new delicate flavor when you prepare it in the following manner: any kind of liver may be used.

Scald liver, then roll in bread or cracker crumbs or flour. Saute in a little fat in a skillet. Pour over browned liver 1 can undrained tomato soup. Bake an additional 30 minutes.

With this fish Mrs. Hathorn serves cabbage salad and squash.

oven and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. This can be simmered on top of the stove, if desired.

For a different way of preparing fish, use canned tomato soup. Choose whatever fish fillets your family likes best.

Put a layer of 1 cup diced celery and 1/4 cup diced onion in the bottom of a baking dish. Lay the fish, cut in serving pieces, on top of the vegetable. Season with salt and pepper. Brush salad oil or vegetable shortening over fish. Add 1/4 cup water to pan.

Bake 30-45 minutes in 350-degree oven. Pour over fish one can undrained, well-drained tomato soup. Bake an additional 30 minutes.

With this fish Mrs. Hathorn serves cabbage salad and squash.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

Now that grandmother is also doing the Twist, everyone has to stick to her own knitting. Between her undulations grandmother probably would have time to stitch up a sweater, and she needs it for herself.

Twist sweaters are required equipment for anyone, whatever her age, who oscillates to the musical beat these days. True, American couturiers did hastily come up with slender columns of chiffon, satin and twinkling lame, trimmed them with fringes and ruffles, and labeled them the right look for the Twist-happy cafe society set.

Nevertheless, even the most sophisticated, including grandmother, has ignored this in favor of skirts or slim pants topped by a long, long, long sweater.

STOPS AT THIGH

The Twist sweater barely fits at the waist and stops at the thigh line, emphasizing the suppleness of the dancer as she pitches and lurches and shudders to the cacophony of all that jazz.

Two instant knit patterns are available. One features a wide-away balloon neckline to show off a swanlike neck, or to permit cuffing with a shirt collar. Another has a ring neckline.

Because the yarns are worked in cable motifs on giant needles, the sweaters grow long in a hurry. They can be knitted in ribbed stripes or worked into blocks of jazzy color combinations.

Give Mom a cooking break. Bring the family here for a delicious dinner. Enjoy the family time. You'll enjoy your dinner with us.

BY EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co. Inc.

Teen-age taste in humor is taking a turn for the better. No longer do so many of you flip over those old thigh-slappers like:

"Other than that, Mrs. Lincoln, how was the show?"

Our statistics indicate that your fancy for sick humor is slowly dying.

When we took a poll 2½ years ago, 80 per cent of you said you liked sick jokes. Recently, we questioned 913 of you again. This time only 46 per cent of you said you like them while 54 per cent said you do not.

We also found:

That most of you (47 per cent) against 37 per cent, with 18 per cent not answering) feel the popularity of sick humor is slipping.

That most of you (56 per cent) against 31 per cent, 13 per cent, none of you seems to have a not answering) think sick jokes clear idea where sick jokes originally came out within a few years.

That you are about evenly answer.

divided in your affection for sick comedians, though there is some doubt that you know a sick comedian from a healthy one.

WHO'S SICK NOW?

There is no doubt, however, that you recognize a sick joke.

"A sick joke," says 12-year-old Gil Clays of Detroit, "is one that provokes a groan instead of laughter."

"I think it's a horrible type of joke," says 15-year-old Capt. Ann Wise of Houston, Tex., one of the majority who dislikes sick humor, "but I do laugh at them sometimes."

"It isn't even humor," says Jim Lyon, 16, of Boone, Iowa. Why, then, do many of you still like and listen to sick jokes?

"I guess because it gives us a chance to laugh at something that we really shouldn't," says Mary Jo Ritchie, 18, of Detroit.

None of you seems to have a not answering) think sick jokes clear idea where sick jokes originally came out within a few years.

That most of you (56 per cent) against 31 per cent, 13 per cent, none of you seems to have a not answering) think sick jokes clear idea where sick jokes originally came out within a few years.

That you are about evenly answer.

"From sick people," says Pauline.

The pros and cons of your evenly divided affection for the so-called sick comedians sound like this:

"I like them," says 17-year-old Carol A. White of New York. "They have talent. They're capable of making some very funny remarks."

But Jean Stansfield, 16, of De-

Appliances Sell in Small Towns

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—One marketing survey shows the small town market is teeming with home appliances of all types.

The survey, by Grit Publishing Co., shows that 92.8 per cent of the families in small towns own washers; 26.1 per cent own dryers; 33.5 per cent own food freezers—and almost all own refrigerators and television sets.

troit, says: "I think they could use their talents in better ways."

We asked you to list your favorite sick comedians, and we got a surprise. Top on the list was Joey Bishop, who not only does not specialize in sick jokes, but has in the past derided sick humor.

GREGORY COMING UP Others on the list included Stanley Herman, Lenny Bruce, Mort Sahl and Bob Newhart. Of these, the only one who can be truly labeled a sick comedian is Bruce, as I figure it.

Asked to name any new sick comedians who you feel are up and coming, you chose Dick Gregory.

Only 9 per cent of you said you would like to be a sick comedian. And that pretty well disposes of sick humor.

But say, have you heard the one 14-year-old Ruth DeBoskey of Detroit, told us?

In the gas chamber just before the execution, the chaplain said to the criminal, "Is there anything I can do for you as a last request?" "Yes," replied the criminal, "hold my hand." How about that?

HOUSE OF ICE—Adding to the cold-weather woes of Ed Smith of Morrill, Kan., a water tower which stands nearby overflowed leaving this thick coating of ice on his yard and house. The water tower pumps were left running during the night to prevent a freeze-up in the riser mechanism. Smith said he was awakened at 5 a.m. by chunks of ice falling on the house and this is what he found when he went to investigate.

Text of President's State-of-the-Union Message

safeguard the peace in Viet Nam — where the loss is increasing his tactics of terror — where our own efforts have been stepped up — and where the local government has initiated new programs and reforms to broaden the base of resistance.

The systematic aggression now bleeding that country is not a war of liberation" is for Viet Nam is already free. It is a war of attempted subjugation — and it will be resisted.

IX. ATLANTIC COMMUNITY

Finally, the united strength of the Atlantic Community has flourished in the last year under severe tests. NATO has increased both its number and the readiness of its air, ground and naval units — with its nuclear and nonnuclear capabilities.

Even greater efforts by all its members are still required. Nevertheless, our unity of purpose and will has been immeasurably strengthened.

The threat of the brave city of Berlin remains. In these last six months the Allies have made it unmistakably clear that our presence in Berlin, our free access here, and the freedom of two million West Berliners would not be surrendered either to force or through appeasement. That to maintain those rights and obligations, we are prepared to take action appropriate, and to fight, if necessary.

Every member of NATO stands with us in a common commitment to preserve this symbol of freedom to its last breath.

Berlin Is Our Job

I cannot now predict the course of future negotiations over Berlin. I can only say that we are sparing no honorable effort to find peaceful and mutually acceptable resolution of this problem.

I believe such a resolution can be found, and with it an improvement in our relations with the Soviet Union, if only the leaders in the Kremlin will recognize the same rights and interests involved, and the interest of all mankind in peace.

But the Atlantic Community is no longer concerned with purely military aims. As its common interest grows, so do its common goals, we are, and will increasingly be, partners in aid, trade, defense, diplomacy and monetary affairs.

Community Growing

The emergence of the new Europe is being matched by the emergence of new ties across the Atlantic.

Atlantic. It is a matter of undramatic daily cooperation in hundreds of working days. Of currencies kept in effective relation of development loans meshed together, of standardized weapons and converted diplomatic positions.

The Atlantic Community grows, not like a volcanic mountain, but like a coral reef, from the accumulating activity of all.

Thus, we in the free world are moving steadily toward unity and cooperation, in the teeth of the old Bolshevik prophecy, and at the very time when extraordinary rumbles of discord can be heard across the Iron Curtain. It is not free societies which have within them the seeds of inevitable disunity.

OUR BALANCE OF PAYMENTS

On one special problem, of great concern to our friends as to us, I am proud to give the Congress an encouraging report.

Our efforts to safeguard the dollar are progressing. In the 11 months preceding last Feb. 1, we suffered a net loss of nearly $2 billion in gold.

Sylvan Lake Council

Sylvan Lake City Council last night had second thoughts about authorizing a $35,000 bond issue for the proposed Woodland street drain.

Initial notice of intent to float the bonds was given last fall. However last night, the council agreed to delay final okay until it could find out what plans the State Highway Department has for the area.

The highway department has indicated plans for widening Orchard Lake Avenue. Councilmen agreed to wait and see whether the state group would have plans for drainage that would be in with the city's — and save the city money.

The Sylvan Lake fresh air camp again was a topic of discussion. Three members of the Pontiac YMCA had toured the camp and indicated an interest in using it for the area.

Issue of Commission Appointment Starts Row

LANSHAW — Mention of the name of August (Gus) Scholle in the State Senate Wednesday sparked an angry reaction from Republican senators.

From the rumblings that resulted, one would think the president of the state AFL-CIO had tried personally to persuade the senators to become dues-paying union members.

Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, started the action by asking that the issue of the confirmation of Scholle's appointment to the State Conservation Commission be moved from the business to conservation committee.

Scholle has been serving with our conservation since he was named to the conservation post by Gov. Swainson last spring. The appointment has been bottled up in the business committee, preventing a floor vote.

Francis who admitted, "I am not an admirer of Scholle," said he wanted it out on the floor for a vote.

The motion was ruled out of order.

Sen. Carlton B. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, expelled follows Rein the 11 months that followed, the loss was just over half a billion dollars.

And our deficit in our balance transactions with the rest of the world — trade, defense, foreign aid and capital, excluding volatile short-term flows — has been reduced from $2 billion for 1960 to about one-third that amount for 1961.

Speculative fever is ending — and confidence in the dollar has been restored.

We did not — and could not — achieve these gains through import restrictions, trade withdrawal, exchange controls, dollar devaluation or checking off domestic recovery. We acted not in panic but perspective. But the problem is not yet solved. Persistently large deficits would endanger our economic growth and our commitments abroad. Our goal must be our balance of payments.

Dollar Deficit Less

With the cooperation of the Congress, business, labor and our ally, that goal can be reached. We shall continue to attract foreign funds and foreign investments to our shores, to seek increased military purchases here by our Allies, to minimize the outflow of dollars involved in our military efforts, to maximize foreign American firms.

Also to urge increased aid from other fortunate nations to the less fortunate, to seek tax laws which do not favor investment in other aid procurement from industrial nations or tax havens, and to urge coordination of allied fiscal and monetary policies so as to discourage large and disturbing capital movements.

Trade to Be Pushed

Above all, if we are to pay for our commitments abroad, we must expand our exports. Our businessmen must be export-conscious and export competitive.

Our tax policies must spur modernization — our wage and price gains must be consistent with productivity — our export credit and

Opportunity Is Ours

The opportunity is ours — the initiative is up to us — and the time is now.

To seize that initiative, I shall shortly send to the Congress a new five-year trade expansion action, far-reaching in scope but designed with great care to make certain that its benefits far outweigh any risks.

The bill will permit the gradual elimination of tariffs here in the United States and in the Common Market on those items in which we together supply 80 percent of the world's trade — many items in which our own ability to compete is demonstrated by the fact that we sell abroad substantially more than we import.

This step will make it possible for our major industries to compete with their counterparts in Europe for access to European consumers.

On other goods, the bill will permit a gradual reduction of duties up to 50 percent — permit bargaining by major categories — and provide for appropriate and tested forms of assistance to firms and employees adjusting to import competition.

We are not neglecting the safeguards provided by per cent points, an escape clause, or the national security amendment.

Not are we abandoning our non-European friends or our traditional "most-favored nation" principle.

Industries will move their plants and jobs and capital inside the walls of the Common Market, if they cannot otherwise compete for its consumers.

Our farm surpluses will pile up, if our balance of payments position will worsen.

Our consumers will lack a wider choice of goods at lower prices. And millions of American workers — whose jobs depend on the distribution of exports or imports, or whose jobs will be endangered by the movement of our capital to Europe, or whose jobs can be maintained only in an expanding economy — these millions of workers in your home states and mine will see their interests sacrificed.

Members of the Congress: The United States did not rise to greatness by waiting for others to lead. This nation is the world's foremost manufacturer, farmer, banker, consumer and exporter.

The Common Market is moving ahead. The Communist economic offensive is under way.

Goal Looks Ahead

We will not reach that goal today, or tomorrow. We may not reach it in our own lifetime. But the quest is the greatest adventure of the century.

We sometimes chafe at the burden of our obligations, the complexity of our decisions, the agony of our choices. But there is no comfort in evasion, no solution in abdication, no relief in irresponsibility.

A year ago, in assuming the tasks of the presidency, I said that few generations, in all history, had been granted the role of being the great defender of freedom in its hour of maximum danger.

This is our good fortune; and I welcome it now as I did a year ago.

It is the fate of this generation — of you in the Congress and of me as President — to live with a struggle we did not start, in a world we did not make.

But the pressures of life are not always distributed by choice. And while no nation has ever faced such a challenge, no nation has ever been so ready to seize the burden and glory of freedom.

Blast, Fire Destroy Old 3-Story Granary

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A grain dust explosion and fire destroyed an old three-story granary and gutted central production facilities at the Ruston Purina Co. Wednesday.

One employee, John Woods, 42, was killed and 33 were injured. Another worker was missing.

Fire Captain Roy Simpson, 55, died of an apparent heart attack at the scene.

Hours after the explosion, flames still leaped from the top of a 12-story elevator in the high mill, less than a mile from the center of downtown St. Louis. Firemen said the blaze was burning itself out and it was considered to be under control.

Twenty-three of those injured in the blast were in serious condition.

United Nations Gets Messed Up in the Congo's Troubles

By The Associated Press
Here are some questions and answers to fill in the background of the Congo-Katanga situation:

Q. What makes the Congo important?

A. The Congo is a rich, strategically important land about a third the size of the United States. Belgium ruled it for 80 years, built European-style cities and an urban economy which made the Congo one of the world's richest per capita in Africa. Mass welfare and health programs followed a benevolent policy, but education lagged far behind.

When the Congo became independent June 30, 1960, only about 20 among the 15.5 million Negro inhabitants could claim to be college graduates. The people, the majority dominated by primitive tribal wars, speak a variety of Bantu-based tongues.

At higher levels, French is the only common language. The Congo under Belgium produced half the West's uranium, 72 per cent of its cobalt, 70 per cent of its industrial diamonds, 8 per cent each of its copper and tin.

Its location in Africa's heart and its colonial history give events there enormous impact elsewhere on a continent pulsating with nationalist fever.

In a sense it is a proving ground for the rival Cold War forces. The Congo borders seven other African states or territories, and could become a center of Communist activity in Africa.

Q. What was the political situation at independence?

A. Tribal loyalties make it difficult to form a unified Congo. Tribesmen in the six provinces have little in common with each other. The National Congo Movement claimed a majority of seats in the lower house.

The leader, Patrice Lumumba, then 34, formed a government. His chief rival, Joseph Kasavubu, 42, was elected largely ceremonial president.

In Katanga, source of a huge share of the Congo's natural riches, provincial Premier Moïse Tshombe proclaimed secession, claiming Lumumba of being pro-Communist. In Kasai Province, leader Albert Kalonji demanded provincial autonomy. His province produces most of the world's industrial diamonds.

Q. How did the United Nations become involved?

A. With independence came chaos and violence. Before the nation was two weeks old, its beleaguered central government in Leopoldville was appealing urgently to the U.N. for military help. Claiming Belgium had sent troops in violation of a Belgian-Congo treaty.

The Security Council authorized military assistance. By early August 11,000 U.N. troops were deployed in all provinces except Katanga where Tshombe opposed entry of U.N. units. Belgian troops withdrew from all areas where U.N. forces took over.

Q. What did the U.N. consider its mission?

A. A Security Council resolution July 22, 1960, in effect unanimously committed the U.N. to defend the Congo's territorial integrity—that is, opposed the idea of secessions. Dag Hammarskjöld told U.N. troops they could not be party to internal Congo conflicts, and were entitled to use arms only if subjected to armed attack. He insisted the U.N.'s function was to maintain order.

Q. How did the Congo become a violent Cold War issue?

A. For one thing, the Soviet Union sent in 100 trucks and 10 aircraft to transport Lumumba's troops and supplies after the U.N. had refused to provide transport. This equipment was used in a Lumumba campaign against Baluba tribesmen supporting Katanga.

The Security Council Aug. 9, 1960, called on Belgium to withdraw troops from Katanga, declared U.N. forces were needed in Katanga to carry out its resolution.

U.N. troops entered Katanga in mid-August. Lumumba demanded the U.N. forces could not interfere in Katangan internal affairs.

He held that the Council clearly had authorized force to subvert the secessionist Tshombe government. The Soviet bloc and nations like Ghana, Guinea and the United Arab Republic backed Lumumba. The Russians accused the U.N. of permitting itself to be used in a Belgian-U.S. conspiracy to support Tshombe for colonial purposes. Soviet attacks on Hammarskjöld rose in intensity each succeeding week, culminating in a total assault by Premier Khrushchev at the U.N. in September, 1960.

By this time Lumumba had been overthrown and the Soviet, Polish and Czechoslovak missions had been expelled from Leopoldville by 29-year-old Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the army commander.

A bewildering series of violent events was climaxed by the murder of Lumumba in Katanga. The players have not publicly been identified.

Q. What effect did Lumumba's death have?

A. It added to the general confusion and tension. Lumumba was hailed as a hero by many of the African countries where nationalism has felt the need of a hero. The Russians contended leftist, 35-year-old Antoine Gizenga was heir to the presidency. Gizenga set up a regime in Stanleyville.

While the Congo writhed in a morass of inflation, unemployment, economic paralysis and general misery, a movement began in Leopoldville for another try at unity.

Q. What effect did this have in Katanga?

A. The secessionist movement again became the top U.N. problem. Tshombe had put together a force of about 12,000 men with white officers and a European-manned air force, and seemed even more adamantly set against U.N. intervention.

Q. What was the effect of Hammarskjöld's death?

A. U.N. members finally agreed on Burma's U Thant to fill out Hammarskjöld's term. The Security Council denounced secession and authorized Thant to take action, including force, to end European serving with Tshombe's Katanga forces. The United States voted for this; Britain and France abstained.

(Tomorrow: More questions and answers, focusing on Katanga.)

More U.S. Men Viet Nam Bound

Administration Pushes Intensified Program of Aid to Asian Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More American military men will be dispatched to fight in South Viet Nam this year and the risk of U.S. casualties in the jungle guerrilla fighting will rise.

This was the outlook today as the Kennedy administration began pushing an intensified aid program for the embattled Southeast Asian country.

The step-up of a training program to save Viet Nams from Communist recruitment was underscored by the fact that a crack British anti-guerrilla unit has joined the American military group which trains South Viet Nam troops.

Leading the small six or seven-man mission was Brig. R. G. K. Thompson who led a successful campaign against Communist guerrillas in Malaya.

The increased hazards for American soldiers in Viet Nam are clear, although the U.S. government has nothing official to say on the matter. There now are more than 1,000 U.S. servicemen there.

Pentagon records show that three Americans in the Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) in Viet Nam have been killed in the last three years. Another is listed as missing.

National Guard Plane Crashes Killing Five

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pennsylvania Air National Guard plane on a routine training flight crashed and burned late Wednesday night, killing all five crew members.

The twin-engine C-47 plummeted on a farm 15 miles south of Pittsburgh less than a half hour after take-off from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport, base of the unit. In a brief radio message to the base, the pilot, Capt. Charles M. Griffith, of Brownsville said he had a "rough" engine and was losing oil pressure. He said he would try to reach the nearby Allegheny County Airport.

Asks Mackie to Consider Davisburg Interchange

The Oakland County Road Commission said today that it will ask the State Highway Department to give first consideration to a proposed interchange at Davisburg Road and I-75 in Springfield Township rather than the planned ramps at Holly Road (M37) and the new expressway.

Commissioner Robert O. Felt said a letter to that effect will be mailed to State Highway Commission today.

Oxford C. of C. Hires Executive

Former School Official Given Job of Trying to Revitalize Organization

OXFORD — The Oxford Chapter of Commerce has hired a full-time executive secretary in a move to revitalize the organization.

Named to the post for a provisional period of three months is R. A. Ambrose, former superintendent of the Oxford Area Community Schools.

Ambrose, who retired from his post with the school system last June, has been both an active and honorary member of the chamber for many years.

In his capacity as executive secretary, he will be concerned with recruiting new members in the C. of C., attracting new business to Oxford and stepping up work of the organization.

Officers elected by the board of directors for 1962 are: Leonard Westcott, owner and manager of Western Auto Associate Stores; President: Bruce F. Sanderson, owner of the Town & Country Business Center; Vice-president: and Kenneth Acheson, owner of Acheson Jewelers, treasurer.

No salary has been set yet for the new job.

Con-Con Unit Works Weekend to Finish Study

The constitutional convention's committee on local government will remain in session over the weekend in an effort to complete recommendations to the main body. Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., R-Pleasant Ridge, declared today.

When the committee reports back to the convention Monday, "we hope to have a complete local government package," said Elliott. "All that remains will be to put it in draft form."

Elliott said he anticipates "some difficulty" in reaching agreement on constitutional provisions on county and township home rule.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors has proposed a constitutional provision that would permit counties to have home rule with the local electors determining how the county government charter should be, within the limits of state law.

Home rule would lift much of the responsibility for local government from the state and give it to the county.

Gardeners to Hear Talk on Fruit Trees

ROCHESTER — Wayne Siefert, Oakland County extension agent in horticulture, will speak on fruit trees and shrubs next Tuesday at a meeting of the Men's Garden Club of Rochester.

The 8 p.m. session will be at the home of John T. Cochran Jr., 1277 Maple Drive, Avon Township.

Officers recently elected for the year 1962 are: Cochran, president; James Whitley, vice president; Donald Edwards, corresponding secretary; Donald Scott, recording secretary; and George Marquart, treasurer.

Persons in the Rochester area interested in the club can contact Edwards at 553 N. 38th Circle, Avon Township.

Sashabaw PTA Readies for Open House Tonight

CLARKSTON — Members and friends of the Sashabaw School PTA have been invited to an open house 8 p.m. today to view students' work.

Exhibits of handicraft and art will be on display, and parents may visit with their children's teachers.

Commissioner John C. Mackie this week.

The recommendation to the state is a result of a meeting this week between county road commissioners, Springfield Township Supervisor John L. Carey and Davisburg residents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nelson.

Mrs. Nelson, 8655 Cross-Hill Road, has campaigned for the Davisburg interchange since last November, believing that it is necessary if the little, unincorporated village is to continue to grow.

DECISION PENDING

Felt explained that the final decision to place an interchange at Davisburg Road would have to be made by the state and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Present plans call for the construction of an interchange on Holly Road, about 2½ miles north of the Davisburg Road and another at I-75 and U.S. 10, 2½ miles south of the Davisburg Road.

Commissioner Felt said that traffic on Davisburg Road now does not warrant an interchange but it's possible that future growth in the area would call for one to be built.

"The commission's recommendation reiterates the proposal of Irving J. Rubin, executive assistant to Mackie, who has stated in a letter 'that at such time as traffic volumes indicate a need for an interchange the ramp could be built at relatively low cost.'"

He also recommended, however, that the state continue with its plans for an interchange at Holly Road and U.S. 10 but said that periodic traffic counts on Davisburg Road should be made.

Rubin said that changes in land use in the area "might very well create a demand for an interchange at this point (Davisburg Road)."

Romeo Approves End to Parking Meters

ROMEO — There won't be any parking meter violation tickets here from now on.

The Village Council has approved a request from local merchants to drop the meter-timed parking system. Although the council hasn't decided yet what to do with the dime-eating machines, it has given up over $100 a week in meter revenues.

The council decision followed a five-month trial period of about 25 months, during which the merchants expressed satisfaction with the added convenience for shop patrons.

FUN TIME—There are plenty of snow-covered hills throughout Oakland County for children to slide down, and even their pet dogs enjoy racing the sleds. This group was seen climbing up a steep slope on Wise Road near the Nike Base in Commerce Township. Photo from the time the school bus dropped them off, until almost darkness they took advantage of the snow-packed slide.

Clarkston OES Chapter Sets Special Meeting

CLARKSTON — A special meeting has been set for 8 p.m. Monday for the Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294, Order of the Eastern Star at the Clarkston Masonic Temple, by Worthy Matron Mrs. Helen Gentry.

Special guests at the initiation ceremony will be electors from all Eastern Star Chapters in the Oakland County Association and members of the Joseph C. Bird Chapter, who have held the station of Electra.

Michigan Wheat to Be Cut Back by 261,600 Acres

EAST LANSING (AP) — More than 261,600 acres will be diverted from wheat production this year, the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee reports.

The cutback, effected on 36,600 Michigan farms — brings Michigan's wheat acreage to 948,000 acres, the first time in recent history that the total dropped below the million-acre mark, said Edwin Lumde, program specialist.

Some 121,400 Michigan farmers were eligible to sign up for the new federal wheat stabilization program. The deadline was Dec. 1, he said.

State farmers already have received $138 million in advance payments, Lumde said. A second payment will be made to each farmer it is proven that participating auto dealer, and State Highway farmers are following through as agreed.

Farnum Proposes Plan

Wants Regular Audit of Township Books

LANSING (UPI)—Auditor General Billie S. Farnum, speaking at the Michigan Townships Association meeting Wednesday, made another bid for a state system for auditing the books of all townships.

"Good financial reporting on a statewide basis is found only in those states where detailed reports must be made by local governments to the state level," Farnum said.

He called for a state auditing agency of local government units, a state "legal framework" setting down the rules for local government accounting, and a manual to provide clear instruction on the state rules and standards.

Farnum said the present law requires that township auditors submit a report to the township board irregularities. He said this could be avoided by a regular auditing system.

Ten regular policemen have been added to the department since 1953.

Hunt Up the Soup Bowls Tonight

By JANEY ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There is something to be said for the old wood range when it comes to soup. The old wood range sends its tantalizing fragrance into the kitchen. With such soup nothing was wasted. All the meat scraps, all the leftover vegetables went into the pot to blend into a delicious hearty soup.

We may no longer have the soup pot, but we can have hearty soup. And what better time to have them than now?

You have three ways of getting such soups. You can open a can or you can make your own. You can have a steaming bowlful ready in just a few minutes. You can use one of the many excellent mixes on the market today and have even the most elegant soup in a short time. Or you can make your own with the few ingredients.

If you have never treated your family to a meal of soup do it this winter. With any soup you'll want crackers or some kind of bread. At our house we often have hot rolls or muffins with jam or honey. We always have a salad; the kind depends on what the soup contains.

If you're having a thick potato or bean soup, a fruit salad with bits of grapefruit or oranges is indicated. If the soup is vegetable and beef, your salad may be a wheat salad or even cottage cheese and pineapple. Dessert is a matter of choice.

Our first recipe calls for economical lamb shoulder. The surprise ingredient is ripe olives. It is suggested that you accompany this soup with hot crusty French bread and apple salad.

Hearty Lamb Soup
1 1/2 cup ripe olives
2 lb. lamb shoulder, cut for stew
2 to 3 quarts water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup barley
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 carrot, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cut olives into wedges. Cook lamb slowly in 2 quarts water with bouillon, salt, pepper, barley and onion until meat is done, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Remove meat and cool enough to cut from bones into bite-size pieces. Return to broth mixture; add water as needed. Add celery and carrots; cook about 10 minutes. Stir in olives and parsley. Heat through and serve. Makes 6 to 8 hearty servings.

You don't have time to simmer your soup for 2 hours? Stop at the store on your way home from that afternoon meeting to pick up two cans of macaroni with beef in tomato cheese sauce. With this as the meaty part you can have a hearty vegetable beef soup on the table in about half an hour.

Hearty Meat Soup
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, minced
1/2 cup chopped celery

2 cups shredded cabbage
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dried basil
2 cups tomato juice
1 cup beef bouillon
2 (15 1/2 oz.) cans Beefaroni

Melt butter. Add onion and cook until tender but not browned. Add celery, cabbage, salt, basil, tomato juice and bouillon. Cover and cook gently for about 15 minutes. Uncover and continue to heat for 10 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings.

But it's Friday and you can't have a soup with a meat base. Stop stewing. Our New England ancestors had many a meal of fish chowder which is nothing more than a thick soup. Pickles and fish are always good companions. Why not in a soup? Don't hesitate to substitute some other kind of fish fillets for the cod if your family prefers it.

Because this is a pale creamy soup, we think you should have a tomato salad or perhaps one made with cranberries. We eat with our eyes as well as our mouths, you know.

Guess I'll look over what's in the refrigerator. Perhaps we can have homemade soup for dinner tonight.

Billed Fish Chowder
1 pound fresh or frozen cod fillets, diced
1 cup water
1 cup sliced onions

1/2 cup chopped celery
1 can (1 pound) whole white potatoes
2 cans (17 ounces each) cream-style corn
1 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped dill pickles
1/4 teaspoon celery seed
1/4 teaspoon basil
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine cod, water, onions and celery. Cover and cook over low heat 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork. Drain potatoes; reserve potato liquid. Dice potatoes. Add potatoes, potato liquid and remaining ingredients to cod mixture; mix well. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Turkey Bits Fine to Add to Salad

Turkey leftover? Here's a way to use it in a chet-type salad.

Tossed Green Salad with Turkey
4 cups torn salad greens (packed down)
1 cup diced cooked turkey
1/4 cup thin crosswise slices celery
1/4 cup thin strips cheddar cheese

2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon chopped chives or scallions
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
Seasoning salt and freshly ground pepper (to taste)

Turn salad greens, turkey, celery, cheddar and Parmesan cheese, and chives into a salad bowl. Cover and refrigerate. At serving time, toss with olive oil first, then vinegar and seasoning salt and pepper. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Pleasant go-together: apricot nectar and pineapple juice. Mix the two and serve over ice cubes; garnish each serving with a pineapple "stick," or a slice of orange or lemon.

HEARTY SOUP - What could be better for dinner on a cold night than a big bowl of hearty soup? It takes the place of meat, potatoes and vegetable when you include some thing starchy like the macaroni in this soup. In this case it is canned macaroni with beef and tomato sauce. Bread sticks make a nice crunchy "go-with."

Serve Spinach Creamed With Meat Loaf

Meat loaf doesn't need a sauce when it's served with a creamed vegetable.

Bacon Creamed Spinach
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
4 slices bacon
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
White pepper (to taste)

Cook spinach according to package directions using the amount of water and salt called for; turn into a strainer to drain; press out extra liquid.

Meanwhile cook bacon slowly (do not fry) until crisp; drain bacon on brown paper and keep warm. In a 1 quart saucepan over low heat melt butter and add butter with 1/2 tablespoon of the bacon fat; stir in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly until thickened.

Add drained spinach, salt and pepper. Turn into serving dish; top with crumbled crisp bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Team Hot Mocha/Drink With Raised Doughnuts

Wintery weather and hot drinks are synonymous. After taking part in winter sports — skiing, ice skating, sledding — or after a brisk walk on a cold day or evening, there's nothing like a nourishing and tasty hot drink to warm you from head to toe.

Winter sports enthusiasts have discovered a beverage called Hot Mocha Spice which is made with an instant Dutch chocolate flavoured mix, and it has become a favorite of "ski-to-the-fires" as well as outdoor fun. Hot Mocha Spice combines the flavorful Dutch chocolate flavoured mix with instant coffee, cinnamon and whipped cream.

For an informal gathering after sports or while watching television, serve Hot Mocha Spice with lots and lots of Raised Potato Doughnuts, made with a special recipe. This features instant whipped potato flakes and the result is a light and flavorful doughnut. The Potato Doughnut flakes, this is a time-saver as we need to peel, boil and mash potatoes — just add the "flavor flakes" from their pre-measured full envelope.

Raisin Sundae Sauce Is Glamorous Hot or Cold

Concoct a "chop" 1/2 cup dark or golden raisins. Combine with 3 tablespoons butter and 1/2 cup brown sugar. Cook and stir until butter melts and sugar browns slightly.

Remove from heat and very slowly stir in 1/2 cup evaporated milk. Heat a minute longer. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Serve warm or cold over ice cream.

Roast It Uncovered

A tender roast should never be covered in cooking. If covered, it becomes a pot-roast. Meat should be roasted at a low temperature: 300 degrees F. for beef, veal, lamb and smoked pork; 350 degrees F. for fresh pork. Steaming does not keep in the juices but actually increases the cooking losses.

Use Italian Idea in Serving Eggs

Antipasto Salad
6 hard-cooked eggs
1 can (2 ounces) anchovies (drained)
1/4 cup minced celery
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon mayonnaise
2 teaspoons vinegar
Solid green, sliced tomato, green pepper strips, and radishes.
Halve eggs lengthwise; remove yolk. Mix yolk with 6 of the anchovies, celery, paprika, mayonnaise and vinegar. (No salt is needed since anchovies add salt.) Refill whites with mixture.
Arrange on salad greens with tomato, green pepper, radishes, and remaining anchovies. Makes 4 servings—3 stuffed egg halves for each portion.

Some apple-pie and appleauce fanciers like these dishes made from greenings.

Slices of Lemon Garnish Chops

Here's one such suggestion that might save you minutes in the kitchen yet provide your family with the generous food nutrients they require.

It's called Braised Lemon Pork Chops. When the term pork chops is mentioned you may think of both rib and loin chops and either or both can be used. They are equally tender and are an excellent source of the B vitamins so essential to good nutrition.

Brown 6-10 lb. pork chops cut 1/2 to 1 inch thick in a frying pan. No additional fat is needed if the chops are browned slowly. Turn the meat so it browns well on both sides. After browning, pour off the drippings and season the chops with salt.

While the meat is browning, prepare a tomato sauce by combining 1/2 cup catsup, 1/2 cup water and 2 tablespoons of brown sugar. Stir until thoroughly mixed and pour it over the browned chops.

Let lemon slices, about 1/4 inch thick, and place one on top of each pork chop. The lemon will add flavor as well as acting as the garnish.

Cover the frying-pan tightly and cook the chops slowly. The braising method of meat cooking is used in the preparation of this recipe so the tomato sauce should just simmer, not boil. The meat can be cooked either on top of the range or in the oven. If the oven roasting method is used, set the oven regulator at the range for 325 degrees F. Cooking time for this recipe is about 45 minutes or until the chops are done.

Simple White Cake Gets Berry Top

This menu appeals to men as well as to women because it's hearty, attractive and delicious.

Lean Chop and Sauce Gravy
Braised Tomatoes and Mushrooms
Green Beans - Rolls
Strawberry Cream Cake

1 cup sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs, sugar and vanilla until very thick and almost white in color. Beat in sifted dry ingredients, in 4 additions, alternately with cream.

Turn into well-greased baking pan (8 by 8 by 1 1/2 inches), bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Loosen edges and turn out on wire rack; cool.

Serve squares of cake with thawed frozen strawberries and whipped cream.

Squash Souffle Bakes in Mold

If you want a festive looking vegetable, try this custard-like winter squash baked in a ring mold.

Squash Ring Mold

- 3 eggs
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- 3 cups drained mashed winter squash
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon minced onion

In a medium size bowl beat eggs until yolks and whites are combined; add milk, salt and pepper and beat to combine. Add squash, bread crumbs and onion, mix well.

Turn into buttered 6-cup ring mold set in a pan; add hot water to pan to have it come up to about the depth of the squash mixture. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Unmold and serve at once. Makes 8 servings. Any leftover may be reheated in a double boiler over hot water.

Note: You'll need a winter squash of about 4 pounds for this recipe. Pare and remove seed structure; cube and steam or cook in a small amount of boiling water until tender; drain thoroughly and mash; measure 3 cups.

Butter the Buns

Good hamburgers, split the hamburger buns and spread the buns with soft butter, heat in the oven or under the broiler briefly, adding the cooked meat patties and relishes.

Few Bargains in Meat, Produce Up a Bit

Retailers report that wholesale meat prices remain about the same as last year, but food shoppers will find several items marked 10 to 20 cents per pound less than usual this week.

If your family can use beef pot roast, brisket or ground beef, pork butt, loin roast or picnic shoulder, or lamb shoulder or leg, it may pay to check these before shopping, and again in the store.

The Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Sawyer, advises that cold Florida weather moderately damaged many fresh vegetable crops, but that damage to citrus is now estimated to be very slight. As a result, you will find increased prices and a decrease in quality of some fresh vegetables. Green beans, summer squash, cauliflower, endive and asparagus are in this group. Fresh tomatoes, corn and celery supplies are smaller as frosty weather slowed growth and maturity.

On the brighter side is the fact that carrot supplies are very abundant and as a result, prices are slightly lower. Potatoes are also very plentiful with prices varying from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents per pound, depending upon the size package and the variety of potato.

There is a heavy supply of small Jonathan apples at the moment. Economical prices found this season. These are just the right size for small appetites, between meat snack or for small fry who take lunch in school.

Banana imports have been lively and as a result shoppers are finding very favorable prices.

TANGERINES

It is near the end of the tangerine season and sizes are small. The Federal Marketing Agency still. Orders will be less desirable and the food can be brushed small 2 1/2 size tangerines be off when dry.

Maple Leafs Take Top but Play Canadiens at Montreal

By The Associated Press
The Toronto Maple Leafs, newly arrived in the National Hockey League, have their work cut out for them.

The Leafs visit Montreal and the determined Canadiens tonight with a 1-0 lead at 1 p.m. at the Forum. Toronto grabbed the lead for the first time this season with a 7-5 decision over Boston Wednesday night in the only league action it had in the last period.

The battle for first is the only game scheduled tonight. The two teams have met six times before this season, with Toronto winning three, Montreal two with one tie.

Two goals by Dave Keen late in the third period scored 9 up for the Leafs against Boston. The Bruins, who never led, had advanced to a 3-5 tie on a goal by Don MacKenzie 14 minutes into the last period.

Don broke the tie with his 14th goal in 15:45 and put it out of reach exactly three minutes later. Frank Mahovlich also got a goal for the winners, his 19th and 20th of the season, with Dick Duff, Bob Nevin and Ed Litzenberger contributing the others.

Boston scorers were McKenney, Doug Mohns, Cliff Pennington, Jerry Toppazzani and Dick Melanson.

Four Other Top-Ranked Cage Powers Win Impressively

Bradley Stuns Cincinnati, 70-68

By The Associated Press
Bradley's Braves may be bridesmaids no longer.

Rather, it may be that perennial brides, Cincinnati, who will have to be content with only the bouquet and not the honeymoon trip to the NCAA basketball tournament this year as the Missouri Valley Conference's representative.

The conquering Braves, pushing the second-ranked Bearcats, defending college champions, and other notch from a fifth straight trip to the NCAA tourney Wednesday night with a stirring 70-68 overtime victory at Peoria, Ill.

The loss gave Cincy a 53-MV record and put the Braves on top with a 2-0 mark.

FOURTH MOUNT CINCINNATI

Four of the nation's top-ranked teams continued their surge. Fifth-ranked Kansas State bounced back after its upset by Colorado last Saturday and trounced Kansas 70-59 in a Big Eight game. Sixth-ranked Villanova held off Temple for a 60-53 victory; eighth-ranked Duquesne easily beat Dayton 78-59; and ninth-ranked Bowling Green won over Toledo in a Mid-American Conference battle, 66-60.

straight, got two quick buckets from Lavern Tart and one from Chet Walker in the overtime and never fell behind. Joe Strawder topped Bradley with 24 points and Al-Amin Walker added 17. Sophomore Benham led the Bearcats with 24.

Kansas State spurred to a 13-4 lead in the first five minutes before Kansas could score a field goal. A superb defensive job by Dick Ewy on Jerry Gardner helped nullify Kansas' offense.

After Jim O'Brien's two foul shots, Villanova's Wildcats went into a stall for most of the last two minutes to beat the Temple team in the second game of a Palestra doubleheader in Philadelphia. Hattie White's 22 points paced the Wildcats, who never led by more than five points. LaSalle beat Muhlenberg 90-51 in the opener.

Cincinnati, now 11-3 overall, ran into foul trouble in the first half. It proved costly when 6-9 Paul Hogue fouled out in the overtime session. Hogue got three first half personals, and his sub, 6-10 George Wilson was nailed with four within 72 seconds.

However, the Bearcats kept dogging the Braves and Tony Yates' three-point shot tied the score at 63 all at the end of regulation play. Bradley, which has now won eight and floor play had the home crowd in an uproar. The Ducks, now 10-1, put it away with 11 straight points early in the second half.

Bowling Green will meet Miami of Ohio in a key conference game on Saturday night. Dutch Romdewer's 21 points and 17 by Nate Thurmond and Wally Junior shot down Toledo last night.

Elsewhere Nebraska moved to the top of the Big Eight with a 57-56 victory over Oklahoma. Wake Forest used 20 points and 13 rebounds by big Len Chappell to beat North Carolina 91-72 and take over the Atlantic Coast Conference lead. An ACC game between N.C. State and Virginia was postponed until Feb. 8 because of snow conditions.

Jack (The Shot) Foley scored 33 points in Holy Cross' fifth straight victory, 85-58, over Massachusetts. Virginia Military edged The Citadel in a Southern Conference game, 71-69 in overtime. Maryland halted Georgetown 87-70. South Carolina won over Furman 63-41. Miami, Fla. edged Jacksonville, Fla., 90-89.

Bob Duffy set a single-game high of 48 points in Colgate's 97-95 victory over Rochester, getting 11 in overtime. Pitt won over Geneva 78-65. Manhattan easily defeated St. Francis, N.Y. 90-73 and Kentucky Wesleyan upset Evansville 74-68. Portland won over Gonzaga 68-55.

Alumnus Takes Kentucky Post

Charlie Bradshaw New Grid Coach, Replacing Blanton Collier

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Charlie Bradshaw, a former Marine who believes in the positive approach, has been picked to replace the retiring football fortunes at the University of Kentucky.

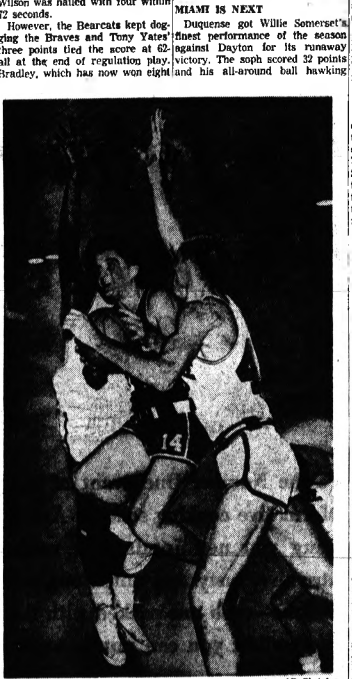

"There is no doubt in my mind that Kentucky football will get better," said Bradshaw, 38, after being named Wednesday to succeed the ousted Blanton Collier. "If it were not so, I wouldn't be here," he said.

Bradshaw, who played football at Kentucky, then was an assistant coach here before going to Alabama as an assistant, said he would go after the better students in his recruiting.

The day of the tramp athlete is gone, he said, adding "you can't win with the dumb ones."

Bradshaw signed a four-year contract. No salary was mentioned, but he will make a reported $17,500 a year when the remaining three years of his contract were bought by the Kentucky Athletics Board last week.

Bradshaw went to Alabama in 1959 under Paul Bryant, the man for whom he played in 1964-65 at Kentucky. He supervised the potent offense of the Crimson Tide, last season's national champions, as it rolled up 3,270 yards and 287 points.

SANDWICHED IN—Jim Powers of Dayton is flanked by Duquesne defenders as he starts to take a shot in last night's college cage battle at Pittsburgh. John Cegalis is the player in front and Willie Somerset is on the other side of Powers. Duquesne won, 79-58.

San Diego Tourney Gets Started Today

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The $25,000 San Diego Open got under way under the promise of sunny weather today with the outcome of the 72-hole event, as usual, subject to ground speculation.

But the most attention, for better or worse, centered on another locally nurtured golfer, Phil Rodgers of nearby La Jolla.

Rodgers scored a runaway victory in the Los Angeles Open Monday — a 4-3 under par 62 and a stroke margin of victory.

Play is at the Stardust Country Club, which measures 6,725 yards with par 35-36-71.

Long List of Celebrities for Father-Son Banquet

A big list of celebrities will be present at the 24th annual Father-Son Banquet, Thursday, January 18 at the Elks Temple.

Representatives of all sports will be seated at the guest table with Don Kerner, former Pontiac Central student who is now a Detroit sportswriter, acting as master of ceremonies.

Among the names who will appear here are Norm Kravner and Norm Masters, former Michigan and Michigan State players who helped the Green Bay Packers to the NFL championship a few weeks ago.

Don Dufek of the U. of M. coaching staff and Cal Stall of Michigan State's staff are also football representatives.

Banquet will have Chuck Ortel of the Baltimore Orioles and Billy Pierce, recently of the White Sox, may be made to San Francisco; Don Lusk, U. of M. baseball coach; Charlie Gehring, Hal Newhouse, Art Houtman and Steve Gronke, all former Tigers; Fred Lindsey, former Red Wing and Black Hawk player; and Jim Peters, coach of the Junior Red Wings will appear, along with on injuries and fatalities of the American Football Coaches' Association.

Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Los Angeles State College, chairman of the committee, said a national survey showed there were 71 fatalities involving football players last season, in sandlot, high school college and senior ranks. It said 20 were direct, 18 indirect and nine classified as nonfootball deaths.

Direct injuries, he said, cover fatalities attributable to "a traumatic blow to the person, usually in the head." Indirect fatalities are those occurring from heart attacks, heat strokes and the like.

The recommendations are:

1. Continued attention to maintaining adequate safe balance during practice and game situations.

2. Require thorough physical examination, including electric cardiograms, of all candidates for a team before the first practice session of each season.

3. Coordinated efforts among several research projects on helmet construction with a better and more protective helmet being made available.

4. Acceptance of an improved design of a face-mask with rules of its use being established.

5. Renewed and greatly increased emphasis on body conditioning during the preseason period.

6. More extensive use of the quick whistle by game officials to minimize the piling on of a downed ball carrier.

7. More consistent calls by game officials.

Grampian Tries Jump Again Sunday

Another attempt to hold the Grampian Mt. Open ski jump tournament will be made Sunday when some of the top jumpers gather at the 36-meter hill in Oxford.

The tournament was originally scheduled for December 17th, but rain washed it out.

The Grampian jump is the only one of its kind opened to the public and jumper class instructions are available under Dan Guthrie each Tuesday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Some of the leading names who will participate Sunday hail from Briar Hill and Kandarhar, two private areas which hold the top jump tournaments in lower Michigan. Kandarhar, located in the Pontiac Lake recreation area, has its annual tournament slated for January 27-28 while the Michigan State championships will be held at Briar Hill, February 3-4.

The top distances are expected to reach 300 feet from the Grampian tower which stands 45 feet above the highest peak in the area.

Natural snowfall and machine made snow has the jumping areas well covered.

Guthrie, meanwhile, said the jumping classes is receiving strong enthusiasm from younger boys. He invites all those who want to learn to attend the twice-weekly classes.

Trophies and awards will be presented after the meet.

Area Ski Conditions

The best snow conditions in two years prevail at local ski areas with an abundance of natural snow base, fresh powder by snowfall and snow machines.

At least a 12 inch base is reported on all slopes and all facilities are in operation.

This is the first time since the 1950 season that all areas locally can report working conditions from very good to excellent throughout. Skiing under the lights until 11:00 p.m. tonight and for the weekend makes it convenient.

GRAMPIAN MT. — is covered completely with new fresh three inch powder over 12 inch base. All tows and Pomall are in operation as are all dining facilities, rentals and pro shop. Instructional school under Gurner Schmidt open for public, private and semi-private classes.

MT. CHRISTIE — has very good skiing throughout its area. The toddler's slope has good skiing and is paid in snow. Fresh powder from two to six inches covers 12 inch base, with all tows and Pomall in operation, along with dining rental shop and instructional school under Michele Turcotte.

ALPINE VALLEY — very good to excellent skiing reported with four inches new powder covering solid base from 12 to 18 inches and all 3-bars operating. Dining area has big variety of food including pizza, large rental shop and instructional school under Geoff Norman is operating with different classes available.

DRYDEN SKI AREA — good base from 12 to 36 inches is covered with new powder and all facilities operating including the snow bowl, ski lodge, dining area open with complete rentals available and skiing listed as very good.

Dryden's 48-bed dormitory available for group parties. Instructions available nightly with Don Lathrop and on weekends with Midge and Walt Haisel.

MT. HOLLY — opens another T-bar today and has all facilities including chairlift in operation with base of 18 inches and more and fresh powder covering entire area. New dining lodge operating as well as all rental facilities and daily instructional classes under Gerry Wood. Skiing very good.

GRANVIEW — has good to very good skiing and all facilities in operation.

SUMMIT — skiing very good with 10-12 inch base new powder and all slopes open.

MT. BRIGHTON — skiing very good to excellent, new powder covering solid base.

TEEPLE HILL — Skiing this weekend, all natural snowfall has permitted good base and some fresh powder. 4 tows will be operating starting Saturday morning 10:00 a.m.

PREHISTORIC — Some form of skiing has been known to man since the prehistoric days when bear-skin hunters like this used snow shoes to hunt. Any resemblance to this pre-historic skier and Bob Jackson of Mt. Christie was not meant as a coincidence.

Form of Skiing Dates to Pre-Historic Days

Skiing becomes something new to an additional 20,000 people in Michigan each year. As a sport it is of comparatively recent origin.

However, skiing as a means of transportation and for purposes of hunting in arctic nations dates back to pre-historic tribes 6,000 years ago.

It is debated which device was developed first, a long narrow ski or a snowshoe which was bent into a circle and tied to the foot with cross laced branches and thongs.

Starting in central Asia over 6,000 years ago, the modern ski began its slow evolution to the highly developed slalom it is today.

The word ski can be traced back to many languages and derivations. The Germanic tongues used the word "schli" (pronounced shlee). The Norwegians spelled it skil and pronounced it shlee.

Skiing received first mention in writings about 552 AD when a monk by the name of Jornanes wrote a few lines about gliding.

A new concept of skiing came with the birth of Sondre Norheim in 1825 and the Ilemseter brothers Torjus and Mikkel. All three played a big part in ski growth. Sondre was the first of the Telemark boys. He later developed what was known as the Telemark, a steered turn which is invaluable in deep snow. He jumped with the aid of a pole.

Norheim and the Hommes, who immigrated to the United States in 1863 and 1868 and were pioneers of skiing in this country.

French Alpinist Henry Duhamel in 1873 pioneered ski mountaineering and Mathias Zdarsky an Austrian Army officer devised the heel ski, 4 inches wide for steep hills. He also perfected ski running and in 1880 given credit for the start of slalom skiing.

Earliest known use of skis in the U.S. is attributed to Rev.

With its first scheduled triangular meet of the season "iced" out last Saturday at Mt. Holly the eight team Southeast Michigan prep ski team will try again this Saturday morning to hold a triangular slalom meet.

Berkley, Grosse Pointe and Waterford Township will be the competing schools Saturday.

Last week's trio, Bloomfield Hills, Royal Oak Kimball and Kettering, have their meet rescheduled for February 17th, according to acting "commissioner" Dave Freeman. The meet was called off last week due to the freezing rain which hit the area.

Starting time for the meets is 9:00 a.m. and the teams consist of five boys and four girls, with best results of four boys and three girls counted in the scoring. The meets are held in accordance to National Ski Association rules.

Climax of the weekly schedule will be the Southeast Michigan Inter-scholastic meet, February 10th at Mt. Holly.

This is the schedule for the prep meet:

JAN. 13—Berkley, Grosse Pointe and Waterford Twp.

JAN. 20—Bloomfield Hills, Berkley, Walled Lake.

JAN. 27—Avondale, Grosse Pts., Kettering.

FEB. 3—Avondale, Kimball, Walled Lake, Waterford.

FEB. 10—Southeast Michigan meet.

Chrysler Finds Sales Rough but Fights Back

discs, have shown a sales improvement.

As a result inventories have piled up and were estimated at $60,000,000 on Jan. 11 or about 18.5 per cent of the industry total. Chrysler Corp. sales in December amounted to only 9.3 per cent of the total market.

This week Chrysler announced the first major indefinite layoffs of production workers since the 1962 model year began. Some 2,000 employees at five assembly plants were furloughed.

Week-long shutdowns are in effect at two of the plants currently, Newark, Del., and Detroit. Plymouth assembly, five plants were idle Christmas week.

The trade publication Automotive News says both Dodge and Plymouth dealers have been sharply critical of the 1962 styling of their cars, one feature of which was the reduction in wheelbase to 116 inches. The two cars also share a considerable amount of dealer body panels, giving them a very similar appearance.

The two Chrysler compact—Plymouth Valiant and Dodge Lancer—also look much alike. The new cars on the way are the Plymouth sports Fury and the Dodge Custom 880 series. The sports Fury will be a dress-up version of the present Fury with bucket seats. But the new Dodge will be different from any current Dodge.

The Custom 880 will be built on the 124-inch wheelbase of the Chrysler Newport sedan, which will utilize the Newport chassis, including the Chrysler engine, brakes and suspension system.

The body details, while not yet officially disclosed, are said to be a mixture of current Chrysler styling with Dodge touches, some of them from the 1961 Dodge Polara which was built on a 124-inch wheelbase.

A Dodge grille and front treatment will be used but it will not be the same as the rest of the 1962 Dodge cars.

The price is expected to be about the same as the Newport, which has an advertised delivery tag of $2,961.

The Custom 880 will be a full series, rather than a single model, and is expected to include automatic transmission, bucket seats and hardtops as a minimum. Probably it will match the Newport, model for model.

Both the sports Fury and the Custom 880 will go into production this month and will be in dealers' hands by February 15th with starting Feb. 17.

Business Notes

A. H. Spengeman, 7221 Warren Ford, Orchard Lake, controller at Ford Motor Co., is a Livonia, Mich., automatic transmission plant, has been elected chairman of the Michigan Society of Automotive Engineers.

The committee named the firm in a 1959 complaint which charged that members of the rubber industry were fixing uniform prices illegally.

They were charged also with exchanging confidential information on prices and selling terms and fixing bids on federal, state and local government contracts.

The consent order prohibits the companies from engaging in any of these practices. A key provision requires each manufacturer to abandon relations with suppliers and establish new ones without consulting others in the industry.

If any of the new prices are changed within two years of adoption, those responsible would have to document action on what he called a "private right bill" for the giant DuPont Corp., first legislation enacted for debate in the new session.

The bill, already passed by the House, is designed to ease the impact of a Supreme Court decision on the Federal Trade Commission's power to bring suits against violators of the Robinson-Patman Act.

Charles H. MacMahon Jr., 3218 Woodside Court, Birmingham, Ala. of Tarapata MacMahon Associates, Inc., architects and engineers, Birmingham, Ala. is newly elected president of the Michigan Society of Automotive Engineers.

The MSA is also the Michigan Regional Council of the American Institute of Architects. Having previously served this organization as vice president and as secretary, MacMahon has been active in behalf of the architectural profession for several years.

Ford Elects Two VPs

DEARBORN — The board of directors of Ford Motor Co. elected Charles H. Patterson and Arthur B. Miller as Ford directors at a meeting here Wednesday.

Patterson is Ford's vice president of the basic manufacturing group, and Miller is vice president of the Ford's electric and electronic division. The number of board members is 13.

GMC Announces Two Promotions

Opposition Sees Hard Times for Legislative Plan

GOP Feels JFK's Popularity Won't Be Lasting

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is laying on the line in Congress today a personal popularity Republicans concede is high but which they contend won't be lasting.

As he enters his second year in office, Kennedy seems to be predicted that what he called "internationalism in Cuba and Laos and the failure to win 1961 congressional action on some of his major campaign promises."

Republicans don't deny this. But they make it clear they believe the President will have such a rough going in the new session that his political card lines may be well below today's levels by the November elections.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who heads the Republican

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who has the job of trying to push Kennedy's program through Congress, said Democrats will be going into the elections supported by Kennedy "whose leadership is firmly approved by the electorate."

But even Mansfield did not contend that this leadership necessarily would flatten opposition to some of the President's legislative proposals.

Kuchel, who leans toward the liberal side, said he expects Kennedy to ask for considerably more than he will get from Congress and thus end up with a blurred record of accomplishment.

Fear 3,000 Dead as Avalanche Buries Village

LIMA, Peru (U)—The giant avalanche of snow and water caused by a thaw roared down on the town of Rancharica and several ranches in Northwestern Peru Wednesday night and authorities said they feared between 3,000 and 4,000 persons lost their lives.

The avalanche rushed down the Huacaran Mountains, ripping up trees, crushing farm houses and sweeping aside livestock in its destructive path.

The village of Rancharica, about 20 miles northwest of Lima and 20 miles north of the commercial center of Huacaran, was feared to have been wiped out.

The town has a population of about 3,000, and police there said about that many persons were missing.

One unconfirmed report said a small mountain lake was pushed from its banks, flooding the surrounding area.

Meager information from the scene said enormous ice chunks were torn from the side of Mt. Huacaran, a 22,205-foot peak, highest in Peru.

The ice melted, and at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday a great mass of ice, snow and water broke loose and tumbled like thunder down the mountain and crashed onto the agricultural community below.

It sped to the edge of the Santa River and smashed into Rancharica.

Communications lines were destroyed in the deadly swath, hampering rescue and preventing accurate reports on the extent of the disaster.

The first news reaching Lima just after midnight said the avalanche was more than half a mile wide and 12 yards deep.

Peru, third largest country of the South American continent, has been the scene of many earthquakes and landslides disasters in the last dozen years.

Thirteen miners were buried in a landslide down one of its steep mountain slopes in 1948.

In 1950 an earthquake killed 56 persons and injured about 100 at Cuzco in May. More than half the buildings were ruined. A landslide into the Santa River in October, the same year, killed 30 persons.

and at least 21 persons were killed by a series of quakes and avalanches 12 days apart in December.

In January 1951, a dynamite blast loosed an avalanche that killed 132. Another landslide caught five trucks loaded with passengers in June 1952, and killed them all but one.

Six persons were killed by a violent earthquake in Northern Peru in December 1953, and five killed by a rock avalanche in the Andes the next February.

An earthquake at Arequipa in January 1958, killed 25, injured 132. The death toll in the Andean hamlet of Pacheco in January 1959, was 100, and 25 other persons lost their lives in quakes and landslides elsewhere in the next two days.

Twenty-three persons were killed in two separate landslides in February and March 1959.

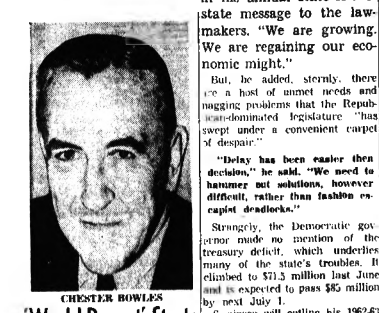

President Pleads for Trade Boldness

Swainson Urges Legislature Get Down to Business

LANSING (U)—Gov. John B. Swainson called on the legislature today to stop putting off decisions on vital matters and get started on a wide-ranging program "to build Michigan in every respect."

The youthful governor, midway through his first two-year term, told a joint session of the House and Senate that the state's economy is growing steadily healthier and stronger.

"Michigan is marching forward again," he declared in his annual state-of-the-state message to the lawmakers. "We are growing. We are regaining our economic might."

'World Report' Starts Tuesday at MSUO

Former Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles will launch a forum of six talks called "World Report" Tuesday at Michigan State University.

He will speak on "Perspectives on World Affairs" at 8 p.m. at the MSUO Student Center.

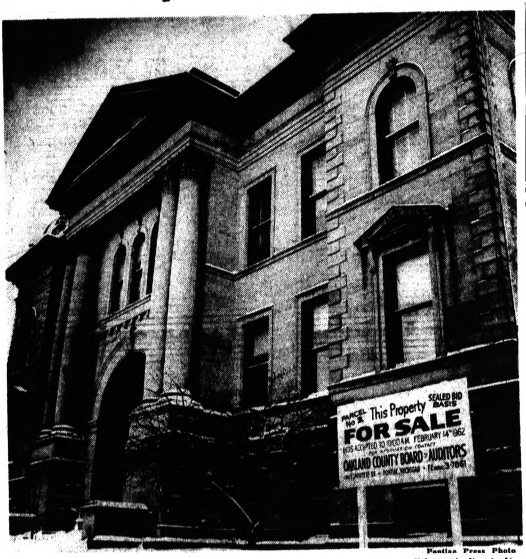

Bowles now is President Kennedy's special representative and adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs, with special emphasis on the problems of new and developing nations.

Bowles was shifted to the present job in November last year. Administration leaders at the time indicated they considered him misplaced as undersecretary, because he was more concerned with the broad lines of policy development in functioning as an idea man than in the day-to-day conduct of foreign relations traditionally handled by the undersecretary.

Most of U.S. Zero; Pontiac Warms Up

By The Associated Press

Winter's longest and most bitter siege of cold weather held a tight grip over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today, causing much suffering and inconvenience to millions.

The cold, snowy, icy weather—which has plagued some sections of the country for a week—was blamed for more than 100 deaths.

Of the 104 storm-related fatalities reported in 24 states, 23 were attributed to overexertion in snow shoveling, pushing cars and similar activities.

Fourteen persons died from exposure in the freezing and sub-zero weather and 31 were killed in traffic accidents on ice-coated and snow-covered highways and streets.

No general, immediate relief from the cold was indicated but snow, which hit eastern and central areas, was expected to melt. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

LANDING GEAR DOWN—This flock of Canada geese is about to land in Kennington Park. The formation is beginning to break as the big birds sail in on cupped wings. About 300 honkers are spending the winter in and around the park, located south of Milford. The geese leave the area in the morning to feed in cut-over corn and grain fields. They return late in the afternoon.

Mine Explosion Traps and Kills Eleven Workers

Rescue Crews Locate Bodies in Small Coal Shaft in Illinois

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (U)—Eleven coal miners trapped since around 6 p.m. Wednesday night in a small coal mine 108 feet below the surface were found dead today.

Two rescue crews located the bodies.

They said it appeared that the men were killed instantly by an explosion that rocked the mine and shot twisted steel and debris out of the shaft.

One body was found at the bottom of the shaft; two others were nearby and eight bodies were located some 500 feet from the shaft where the coal vein was being worked.

William Orlandi, director of the Illinois Mines and Minerals Department, said the bodies would be brought up in about 3 to 6 hours after carbon monoxide fumes had been cleared from the tunnel.

TO SET UP MORGUE

A temporary morgue will be set up at the mine office and an inquest will be held later, Orlandi said.

Ray McCluskey of Carterville, a state mine inspector, said he had checked the mine Monday and pronounced it safe at the time.

Rescue workers described the bottom of the shaft as "murky and filled with smoke and debris." They said poisonous carbon monoxide gas was present in the tunnel.

Orlandi said that "all of the miners trapped have been accounted for and they all are dead."

The cause of the death was not determined immediately.

Miners at the scene said carbon dioxide gas was used for underground blasting and that dynamite and other explosives were used.

Must Lower Tariffs, JFK Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy today challenged the Atlantic alliance to shed timidity for boldness and join in a partnership of commerce to bring new prosperity to free men everywhere.

Now is the time, Kennedy told the nation, to seize the initiative against the economic offensive mounted by the Soviet Union and her Communist allies.

In a State of the Union Message he prepared to deliver to Congress in person, Kennedy proposed "a bold new instrument of American trade policy" that would lead to gradual elimination of tariffs on many goods and reductions of up to 50 per cent on many others.

Anticipating the age-old debate between protectionists and proponents of free trade, Kennedy said: "Our decision could well affect the unity of the West, the course of the Cold War and the growth of our nation for a generation or more to come."

Kennedy pledged the United States "to talk, when appropriate, and to fight, if necessary, to maintain the West's presence in West Berlin."

The chief executive, beginning his second year in office in a year still beset with the hazard of catastrophe war, pledged U.S. foreign policy to "the goal of free and independent states."

But he declared the obligation "to fulfill the world's hope by fulfilling our own faith" began at home.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here at a glance are points President Kennedy stressed today in his State of the Union message.

The United States must meet the challenge of the European Common Market by lowering tariffs.

The economy is healthy but the President should have anti-inflationary authority to lower taxes and increase public works spending.

A department of urban affairs is needed to help cities solve their complex problems.

A new, comprehensive farm program will be submitted, designed to prevent chaos with a program of common sense.

No piece of unfinished business in matters of health is more important than the commitment under the Social Security system of health insurance for the aged.

His proposals for federal aid to public schools are the maximum needed, but that aid is to provide and patchwork schools outside the constitution.

The West will fight if necessary to maintain its rights in Berlin. But an acceptable solution to the Berlin problem can be found if the Soviet Union will recognize the basic rights and interests involved.

Quake Tumbles Buildings, Kills 1 in Yugoslavia

BELOGRADE, Yugoslavia (U)—A strong earthquake shook Yugoslavia today, tumbling buildings and knocking off landlides.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said at least one person was killed and several injured.

It said the center of the tremors was at Makarska, a resort on the Adriatic about 200 miles southwest of Belgrade.

First reports from Makarska said the town's population was evacuated to the plain after the first shock.

State Road Toll at 29

EAST LANSING (U)—Traffic accidents have killed 29 persons in Michigan so far this year, providing a grim tally for the state.

Medical care for the aged and through match-pooler showed today. The toll for the federal, state and local funds, the same figure a year ago was 34.

In Dutch West New Guinea

Indonesian Landings Reported

NEX DELHI — The Times of India reports from Jakarta that small bands of Indonesian have landed at several points in Dutch-held West New Guinea in establishing guerrilla units.

The dispatch from the newspaper's staff correspondent did not indicate the source of the report but said landings on the West New Guinea coast were made from small motor boats.

Small islands just off New Guinea are quiet during the day when Dutch patrols are in the area, but after nightfall they "become the links in a gathering movement for the liberation of West Irian as the Indonesians call West New Guinea," the dispatch said.

It added such activity is expected to intensify in the next few weeks as the Indonesian military buildup continues.

IFK Asks Tariff Shift

...the government knows nothing about the reported guerrilla landings.

In Jakarta, Indonesia strengthened its West New Guinea island command as Foreign Minister Subandono reported to President Sukarno there has been no progress in diplomatic moves to solve the dispute with The Netherlands.

Sukarno had declared Tuesday he would decide "within 7 to 10 days" whether Indonesia could gain control of the Dutch territory by peaceful means or whether he would have to carry out his threat to invade the jungle island.

Schedule Debate on Gizenga Issue

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congo Parliament scheduled debate Friday on leftist Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga's refusal to return to Leopoldville to answer charges of treason.

Members of Parliament were faced from pleased with Gizenga's rejection of the lawmakers' demand that he quit his headquarters in Stanleyville, capital of the Congo. Gizenga, 75 miles north of Leopoldville, has been predicted a motion to ensure the former favorite of the Soviet bloc would be introduced.

PARLIAMENT ARREST — Parliament's approval of a resolution motion presumably would be followed by his dismissal from Premier Cyrille Adoula's government. There were some predictions his arrest might be ordered, but an arrest order would be difficult to carry out as long as he remains in Stanleyville.

Parliament by a vote of 68-10 on Monday ordered Gizenga to return to Leopoldville within 48 hours to take up his post. During heated debate, deputies accused the leftist political heir of the late Patrice Lumumba of secessionist activities in Stanleyville.

HARBINGER STAY — In a sarcastic telegram to Premier Cyrille Adoula, Gizenga said he would not return to the capital until Adoula's government "is truly and faithfully executed." parliamentary resolution of last September calling for an end to the secession of Katanga Province and the arrest of three top Katanga ministers.

Adoula's office replied with a statement that Gizenga "was not entrusted with any mission in Stanleyville or any other part of the Congo" by the government, and his activities were not in accord with the government.

SEEN POLITICAL MOVE — Gizenga's references to Katanga appeared to be an attempt to win dissatisfaction with Adoula because the rich province's secession has not been ended. But the Katanga Assembly is now debating the unity agreement Katanga President Moise Tshombe signed at Katanga last month. Katanga deputies have taken their seats in Parliament in accordance with that agreement, and a Katanga delegation is discussing SNOW IN FLORIDA — Freezing weather covered the entire nation this morning except Florida, western parts of the Pacific Coast states and eastern portions of the Southwest. Zero temperatures struck parts of the Southland.

Snow fell in Pensacola, in northern Florida, and in the South, Miami reported a reading of 65.

It was below zero again in the central Rockies, the west central Plains and adjacent areas southward into Northern Texas.

The mercury also plunged below zero again in the Upper Mississippi Valley, western Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and Southward into northern parts of the middle-gulf states.

Temperatures, although in the below-zero range, moderated over northern sections of the Rockies and Great Plains as the frigid air moved eastward and southward.

The icy cold threatened major damage to some vegetable and citrus crops in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

The Soviet news agency, quoting the Pathet Lao radio, said South Vietnam would leave shortly for Switzerland.

Adult Education Courses Will Begin Next Week

BIRMINGHAM — An Action of Course in Practical Politics will begin among the 23 education, craft and hobby classes to be offered at the Community House beginning this month.

Most of the adult education courses, which range from six to 10 weeks and cost from $1.50 to $3.00, will begin next week. The practical politics course will start 8 p.m. Tuesday.

John C. Parker, attorney and executive director of the Okla. County Citizens League, will direct the new politics class, which is designed to help individuals learn more about how they become active and effective in the political party of their choice.

Subjects that will be discussed during the 10-week course will include the role of the individual in politics, use of individual skills in politics, political party organization, getting started in politics, and what it takes to win elections.

In addition, the course will provide opportunities for participants to get first hand information about politics on the local level, and to meet local, county and state officials.

Other courses available, according to Myra Shawman, director of adult education, include accounting, bookkeeping, bridge, French, German, Italian, Latin, and Spanish. Arts and crafts courses scheduled are art appreciation, creative pottery, interior decorating, painting, and silver (enameling and casting).

Dancing courses in the youth program will be divided into ballet (five age groups), modern, and jazz. Painting and drawing also will be offered for children in all grades.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will honor past matrons and patrons, life and honorary members at its 54th anniversary observance Wednesday.

The program will be held at the Birmingham Masonic Temple between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Applications are being accepted for the Municipal Ice Skating rink, which will be held Saturday, Feb. 10.

PAUL STREZAKO — Service for Paul Strezako, 72, of 2377 Bloomfield Drive, Township, will be 11 a.m. Saturday at the Pursey Funeral Home, Pontiac. Burial will be in Perry Mt. Park, Pontiac.

Strezako was his wife Agnes and three step-children. Mrs. Helena Krause of Waterford Township.

OLD MARK SET BY THE — The old mark was set by the Transient Tumble on Feb. 11, 1966, when U.S. Navy officers in B-56 on a flight from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, Ohio.

The Air Force tried unsuccessfully to surpass the Navy's record on April 8, 1958. A KC-135 Boeing Stratocruiser attempting a Tokyo-Madrid flight was forced to turn back in the Azores because of adverse winds.

WOMAN DROWNS — Ice fishing on Van Ertan Lake near Ocoosa yesterday, was overcome by carbon monoxide poisoning from an oil heater in her chalet and drowned when she fell through the fishing hole.

DEAD IS MRS. LOTTIE GAYFIELD — 50-year-old Mrs. Lottie Gayfield of 204 Griggs St. Ocoosa Township deputy sheriffs and firemen were called to her home by her husband, Floyd, at 1 p.m., after he had broken down the locked door of the chalet and found his wife in the water.

Gayfield told the deputies that she had been ice fishing alone when she became unconscious and had been in her summer cottage on shore during the afternoon.

Deputies said Mrs. Gayfield's watch had stopped at 1:10 p.m. Her body was taken to the Pineley Funeral Home, Rochester.

Benches her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stanley Keast of Rochester and Mrs. Albert Priestap of Memphis; a son, Marvin, at home; and three grandchildren.

Four Men Are Held — Four men were being held today for investigation of operating an illegal gambling establishment as the result of a raid at 3164 W. Huron St. by Waterford Township and state police.

Officers from the township police and the racket squad of the state police confiscated cards and about $100 in cash in the raid at 9:15 p.m. yesterday.

Picked up in the raid were Andrew F. Anthony, 47, who lives at the Huron Street address; Warren W. Welch, 26, 1821 E. 10th Drive, Waterford; Adolph J. Pifer, 47, 2026 Kehler Road, Waterford Township; and Karl E. Ricker, 26, 25 Edna St.

They were to be arraigned today in Waterford Township Justice Court.

Waterford Township police said they have had the home under surveillance for two months after receiving an anonymous tip that gambling was taking place there.

Goldwater Stays Warm — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he feels inappropriate for him to comment on the possible entry into politics of American Motors President George Romney.

Both Goldwater and Romney have been mentioned as possible candidates for the Republican nomination for president in 1968.

Record Smashed — MADRID, Spain (AP)—A new U.S. B-57H superbomber roared into the Torrejon airbase near Madrid today after a record-smashing 12,519-mile flight from Okinawa without refueling.

The plane and its eight-man Air Force crew headed by Maj. Clyde T. Evely, 39, of Petersburg, Va., broke the old world distance mark of 11,235.6 miles without refueling. It had been held through the first 15 years of the jet age by a propeller-driven U.S. Navy plane named the "Truecullin Turtle."

Aviation experts here called the flight a potent example of the new plane's ability to deliver a cargo of nuclear-armed missiles almost anywhere in the world.

The huge Boeing superbomber had been in the air 22 hours and 9 minutes and had spanned two oceans and the North American continent when Evely set it down on the base's 15,000-foot runway the longest in Western Europe.

WINS FLYING CROSS — Waiting on the runway to pin the Distinguished Flying Cross on Evely and his crew for their achievement was Maj. Gen. David Wade, commander of the quarters at Torrejon.

The Air Force cheered the new mark's international aeronautic Federation representatives checked the Okinawa-Madrid flight both from the plane itself and from other checkpoints.

State Man Spends 10 Months at Bottom of the World

By JOHN MATHESON
Staff Writer, South Evening News
SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Winter in Michigan is warmer than summer at the South Pole, according to a native son recently returned.

He is Wes Morris, a native of Constantine and a former resident of Sault Ste. Marie, who currently is on leave in Michigan after nearly 10 months at the bottom of the world.

It was his third trip to either the Arctic or Antarctic, and he has compiled a total of nearly three years in those polar regions of the earth.

Before leaving the South Pole Dec. 6, Morris recorded the summer's high temperature of 6 degrees below zero. During the polar summer, he noted 32 days of constant sunshine, a total of some 700 consecutive hours on the heels of the long darkness of the polar night when only the Aurora and stars light the skies.

The coldest temperature was 102 below zero, and this was eight degrees higher than the lowest South Pole temperature on record since 1957, 110 below.

Morris spent 1956-1957 at Byrd Station, 600 nautical miles from the South Pole, and he found a number of differences in the isolation of this station and that of the pole. Byrd Station was buried six months under snow, and he called this location "treacherously windy" with considerable drifting snow because the station was in the storm track off the Ross Sea.

Morris, a meteorologist, said the winds there averaged about 30 knots in winter, but the maximum wind at the pole was 47 knots and in summer, it averaged eight to 10 knots.

Snow flakes at Byrd Station were larger than at the South Pole; Morris described the polar snow as almost like fine grains of sand. The coldest temperature he recorded between Byrd Station and calls at Byrd Station was 72 below and the "summer" high was 26 degrees.

The greatest difference Morris noticed between Byrd Station and the South Pole was the effect of the pole's greater altitude. The elevation of 9,186 feet, combined with the temperature to reduce physical ability. "Visitors got dizzy," he said.

The pole's one sunset and one sunrise per year were other differences. One similarity was the concern over the danger of fire because there was no place for smoke or fumes to escape under the snow.

Morris was supervising meteorological technicians in the party of 18 scientists and 10 U.S. Navy men who wintered at the South Pole.

Morris arrived there on the last plane in February, and the 2 were isolated until the first aircraft arrived the last part of October.

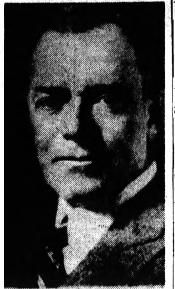

Despite the isolation, instruments at the station gave the men indications of events of the outside world over and above their radio contacts. In 1957, for example, they heard the signals from the first Russian Sputnik. Last Oct. U.S. Weather Bureau.

Flint Man Freezes After Fall at Night

FLINT (AP) — The body of Henry Christman, 47, was found lying in the snow near his South Side Flint home at 5:30 a.m. Wednesday. Police said he apparently froze to death.

Physicians at Hurley Hospital tried unsuccessfully to revive Christman, but he was pronounced dead one hour later. An autopsy showed he had a leg fracture.

Police said they believed Christman broke his leg when he slipped and fell while returning from a store Tuesday night. Packages which he had purchased were found beside his body.

Most Are Frustrated Because Adulthood Didn't Fulfill Child's Dream

By MAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Poet: All the world is a desperate kindergarten.

Once one understands how few people ever truly grow up in this life, most of its mysteries stand explained.

What puzzles most children about adults is that they often don't act like adults—or at least as children believe adults ought to act.

That is where children are wrong. They think there is a magic difference between childhood and adulthood—that there is a line or a time they will cross and cease to be children and become grownups.

FAIL TO REALIZE. They fail to realize that a grown-up ordinarily differs from a child chiefly in the fact that he is bigger, less trusting and an older hypocrite at hiding his true feelings.

Scratch the average adult and force, they will make him do you will find, raw beneath the t. too.

surface, a wounded, underprivileged child. The goal of most children is a simple one—to be grown up. Or they think it is their goal. They sometimes have a terrible urgency about it. The adult world seems a better world to them. But how often is it?

GREATEST AMBITION How long ago I asked my 8-year-old daughter what her greatest ambition was? "To be a teenager," she replied.

My mind reeled at the thought of anyone picking being a teenager as an ideal existence. But I asked her why.

"Because no one tells a teenager what to do," my daughter replied. "Teenagers are their own boss."

THEY'LL TELL HIM! Well, there was a note of truth in her observation. Certainly there never has been a generation in which teenagers have felt so free to do as they please. But in the world the teenager must face a few years later many are waiting to tell him what to do. And unless he is extraordinarily strong and force, they will make him do you will find, raw beneath the t. too.

This is one of the great but usually unmentioned tragedies of life—the discovery of the child upon gaining physical maturity that being a so-called adult does not mean he can now at last have his own way. It only means he is a prisoner of more demands and responsibilities on another level. Deep within us, most of us grow up never really growing up. We cherish a hidden resentment because adulthood hasn't solved all our ills and given us endless freedom, but instead has saddled us with fresh obligations and denied the total fulfillment of new desires.

We remain children betrayed, and inside us we go on throwing tantrums as we once did as younger and smaller children when our purposes were frustrated or our wishes blocked.

KILL THEMSELVES! "Nine of 10 people commit suicide," said Benjamin Franklin, one of the wisest observers of the human condition.

Why? Because we remain children who really didn't want to grow up at all. We merely wanted to have our own way in everything, and the world won't let us.

It can't let us—there'd be total anarchy.

SHORTEN OUR LIVES

So in our frustrations we go to war, have nervous breakdowns, eat and drink too much, break up our marriages, commit crimes, quarrel with each other needlessly, and quickly or slowly destroy ourselves in a hundred unnecessary ways. The spoiled frustrated child in us kills us—or shortens our lives.

This is as true of the doctor, lawyer and merchant chief as it is of the rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief. It is also true of many a renowned diplomat, scholar and scientist.

Perhaps only one in 10 of us actually ever grows all the way up. He does so by curbing his longing fully that the world was not made merely to satisfy his own needs—and by realizing that many a man's every desire.

BOYLE

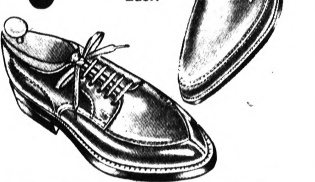

FIELD FURY—Robert S. Day, Flint comedian, asked driver, was so proud of the birth of his first child, a daughter, Tuesday night that he hung this sign on his home early Wednesday. The sign, with alternative "girl" and "boy" endings, was prepared in advance by an art class.

'Mark Twain' to Appear

Hal Holbrook's one-man show "Mark Twain Tonight" will bring the beloved humorist's wit to Birmingham Town Hall Jan. 18 and 19.

Stage committee members Mrs. Norman James, Mrs. Paul Reed and Mrs. Arthur Chandler have obtained Victorian chairs, tables, podium, draperies, rugs and even glassware of the early 1900s to provide a fitting setting for the performances.

Because of make-up problems involved in transforming the 34-year-old Holbrook into a 70-year-old Twain and back to himself again, no celebrity luncheons will follow the performances.

Tournament Held by Bridge Club

Members of the Wednesday Duplicate Club assembled in the Elks Temple for the weekly bridge tournament.

Winners were Dr. Lorraine Willis and Mrs. Ernest L. Goss; Mrs. Ray Peterson and Mrs. Martha Covert; Mrs. Paul Potter and Mrs. Lester Hamilton; Mrs. Kenneth Wright and John Kraus; the Luther Greens.

Frankness Should Be Appreciated

By The Emily Post Institute
Q. Recently some friends of ours came over to pay us a visit. When they were leaving, the wife said to me, "How about you and John coming over to our house a week from this coming Saturday?" I said we had no plans and that we would be delighted to come.

A few days later we were supposed to go to her house, the wife called and said they had been asked by other friends to go away with them for the weekend and asked if we would mind coming the following week instead?

I, of course, said we wouldn't mind. What else could I say? But I do feel, after having invited us to her house, she was very rude to call it off over for a weekend in the country. I would like your opinion on this.

A. If they had invited you to a meal, or you were little more than acquaintances, they should not have put you off; but, as the invitation was only for a visit and they are good friends of yours, I don't think they were rude in telephoning you frankly about the week end and asking if you would postpone your visit until the following Saturday.

Q. Several months ago I asked a girl I knew to be one of my bridesmaids and she then has learned something about her that changed my mind. Is there any way out of this situation?

A. Unless what you have learned about her is so serious that you wish an open break with her, you cannot possibly tell her that you do not want her in your wedding party without hurting her deeply.

Q. If the bride wears a long bridal dress and veil should the mothers wear short or long dresses and most both wear the same length skirt?

A. If the preparations are fairly elaborate, the mothers usually wear long dresses but not necessarily. You do not necessarily that then dresses be the same length although if they are to stand together in ceremony it would look nice if both wore the same length dresses.

Bowling's a Real Ball

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

After the beginner has mastered the straight ball the bowler should advance to the hook.

This actually is a ball that starts out straight enough, but breaks sharply into a curve as it nears the pins.

The hook is the mainstay roll of practically every good bowler. Because it stays with the pins a fraction of a second longer, it makes them better, with resultant greater pinfall.

Dick Weber, leading money winner of the PFA tour, says the hook should be started by standing with the arms at the sides. The wrist should be in a straight line with the arm on the action side. In the delivery, the arm is brought up into a shake hands position, without snapping the wrist. The motion of bringing the arm up this way imparts a spin in the ball that provides the hook.

The thumb generally is pointed at about 10 o'clock on the imaginary clock dial. It must leave the ball ahead of the fingers or the ball will not hook.

The curve, which starts in one direction and which up to a wide breaking arc in the other, is altogether too difficult and unreliable to be employed by the average good bowler, so skip it.

When you get ready to use the curve on special occasions, you will be way up among the big ones—and somebody better qualified than I can tell you about it.

Mrs. Lincoln Soon May Rest in Peace

BY EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co. Inc.

Teen-age taste in humor is taking a turn for the better.

No longer do so many of you flip over those old thigh-slappers like:

"Other than that, Mrs. Lincoln, how was the show?"

Our statistics indicate that your fancy for sick humor is slowly dying.

When we took a poll 2½ years ago, 30 per cent of you said you liked sick jokes. Recently, we questioned 973 of you again. This time only 48 per cent of you said you like them while 52 per cent said you do not.

We also found:

That most of you (47 per cent) against 37 per cent, with 16 per cent not answering) feel the popularity of sick humor is slipping.

That most of you (56 per cent) against 31 per cent, 13 per cent (not answering) think sick jokes clear idea where sick jokes originated within a few years.

That you are about evenly answer.

divided in your affection for sick comedians, though there is some doubt that you know a sick comedian from a healthy one.

WHY'S SICK NOW?

There is no doubt, however, that you recognize a sick joke.

"A sick joke," says 18-year-old Gil Clays of Detroit, "is one that provokes a groan instead of laughter."

"I think it's a horrible type of joke," says 18-year-old Cary Ann Wise of Houston, Tex., one of the majority who dislikes sick humor, "but I do laugh at them sometimes."

"It isn't even humor," says Jim Lynn, 16, of Boone, Iowa.

Why, then, do many of you still like and listen to sick jokes?

"I guess because it gives us a chance to laugh at something that we really shouldn't," says Mary Jo Ritchie, 14, of Detroit.

None of you seems to have a not answering) think sick jokes clear idea where sick jokes originated within a few years.

note, though Pauline St. Pierre, 18, of Hartford, Conn., has a good

"From sick people," says Pauline.

The pros and cons of youth evenly divided affection for the so-called sick comedians sound like this:

"I like them," says 17-year-old Carol A. White of New York. "They have talent. They're capable of making some very funny remarks."

But Jean Stansfield, 16, of De-

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)

—One marketing survey shows the small town market is teeming with home appliances of all types.

The survey, by Grit Publishing Co., shows that 92.6 per cent of the families in small towns own washers; 26.1 per cent own dryers; 38.5 per cent own food freezers—and almost all own refrigerators and television sets.

troit, says: "I think they could use their talents in better ways."

We asked you to list your favorite sick comedians, and we got a surprise. Top on the list was Joey Bishop, who not only does not specialize in sick jokes, but has in the past derided sick humor.

GREGORY COMING UP

Others on the list included Shelley Berman, Lenny Bruce, Mort Sahl and Bob Newhart. Of these, the only one who can be truly labeled a sick comedian is Bruce, as I figure it.

Asked to name any new sick comedians who you feel are up and coming, you chose Dick Gregory.

Only 9 per cent of you said you would like to be a sick comedian. And that pretty well disposes of sick humor.

But say, have you heard the one 14-year-old Ruth DeBoskey of Detroit, told us?

In the gas chamber just before the execution, the chaplain said to the criminal, "Is there anything I can do for you as a last request?"

"Yes," replied the criminal, "hold my hand."

How about that?

war of liberation — for Vietnam is already free. It is a war of attempted subjugation — and it will be resisted.

IX. ATLANTIC COMMUNITY.

Finally, the united strength of the Atlantic Community has flourished in the last year under severe tests. NATO has increased both the number and the readiness of its air, ground and naval units — both its nuclear and nonnuclear capabilities.

Even greater efforts by all its members are still required. Nevertheless our unity of purpose and will has been immeasurably strengthened.

The threat of the brave city of Berlin remains. In these last six months the Allies have made it unmistakably clear that our presence in Berlin, our free access thereto, and the freedom of two million West Berliners would not be surrendered either to force or through appeasement — that to maintain those rights and obligations, we are prepared to talk, when appropriate, and to fight, if necessary.

Every member of NATO stands with us in a common commitment to preserve this symbol of free man's will to remain free.

Berlin Is Our Job

I cannot now predict the course of future negotiations over Berlin. I can only say that we are sparing no honorable effort to find a peaceful and mutually acceptable resolution of this problem.

I believe such a resolution can be found, and with it an improvement in our relations with the Soviet Union. If only the leaders in the Kremlin will recognize the basic rights and interests involved, and the interest of all mankind in peace.

But the Atlantic Community is no longer concerned with purely military aims. As its common undertakings grow at an ever-rapid pace, we are, and will increasingly be, partners in aid, trade, defense, diplomacy and monetary affairs.

Community Growing

The emergence of the new Europe is being matched by the emergence of new ties across the Atlantic. It is a matter of undramatic daily cooperation in hundreds of workaday tasks: Of currency, of standardized weapons, and concerted diplomatic positions.

The Atlantic Community grows, not like a volcanic mountain, by one mighty explosion, but like a coral reef, from the accumulating activity of all.

Thus, we in the free world are moving steadily toward unity and cooperation, in the teeth of the old Babelian prophecy, and at the very time when extraordinary rumbles of discord can be heard across the Iron Curtain. It is not free societies which bear within them the seeds of inevitable disunity.

OUR BALANCE OF PAYMENTS

On one special problem, of great concern to our friends as to us, I am proud to give the Congress a reassuring report.

Our efforts to safeguard the dollar are progressing. In the 11 months preceding last Feb. 1, we suffered a net loss of nearly $2 billion in gold.

In the 11 months that followed, the loss was just over half a billion dollars.

And our deficit in our basic transactions with the rest of the world — trade, defense, foreign aid and capital expenditures — has been reduced from $2 billion for 1960 to about one-third that amount for 1961.

Speculative fever is ending — and confidence in the dollar has been restored.

We did not — and could not — achieve these gains through import restrictions, troop withdrawals, exchange controls, dollar devaluation or checking off dollars in recovery. We acted not in panic but perspective. But the problem is not yet solved. Persistently large deficits would endanger our economic growth and our commitments abroad. Our goal must be our balance of payments.

With the cooperation of the Congress, business, labor and our major allies, our goal can be reached.

We shall continue to attract foreign tourists and foreign investments to our shores, to seek increased military purchases here by our Allies, to minimize the outflow of dollars involved in our own military efforts, to maximize American exports.

Also to urge increased aid from other fortunate nations to the less fortunate, to seek increased aid from other fortunate nations to the less fortunate, to seek increased aid from other fortunate nations to the less fortunate.

Opportunity Is Ours

The opportunity is ours — the initiative is up to us — and the time is now.

To seize that initiative, I shall shortly send to the Congress a new five-year trade expansion action, far-reaching in scope but designed with great care to make certain that its benefits far outweigh any risks.

The bill will permit the gradual elimination of tariffs here in the United States and in the Common Market on those items in which we together supply 80 per cent of the world's trade — mostly items in which our own ability to compete is demonstrated by the fact that we sell abroad substantially more than we import.

This step will make it possible for our major industries to compete with their counterparts in Western Europe for access to European consumers.

On other goods, the bill will permit a gradual reduction of duties up to 50 per cent — permit bargaining by major categories — and provide for appropriate and tested forms of assistance to firms and employees adjusting to import competition.

We are not neglecting the safeguards provided by per cent limits, an escape clause, or the national security amendment.

Nor are we abandoning our non-European friends or our traditional "most-favored nation" principle.

On the contrary, the bill will provide new encouragement for their sale of tropical agricultural products, no important to our friends in Latin America.

Concessions, in this bargaining, must of course be reciprocal, not unilateral. The Common Market will not fulfill its own high promise unless its outside tariff walls are low.

The dangers of restriction or timidity in our own policy have counterparts for our friends in Europe.

For together we face a common Europe: To enlarge the prosperity of free men everywhere — and to build in partnership a new trading community in which all free nations may gain from the productive energy of free competition.

These various elements in our foreign policy lead, as I have said, to a single goal — the goal of a peaceful world of free and independent states.

This is our guide for the present and our vision for the future — a free community of nations, independent but interdependent, uniting North and South, East and West, in one great family of man, outgrowing and transcending the hates and fears that rend our age.

Goal Looks Ahead

We will not reach that goal today, or tomorrow. We may not reach it in our own lifetime. But the quest is the greatest adventure of the century.

We sometimes chafe at the burden of our obligations, the complexity of our decisions, the agony of our choices. But there is no comfort in evasion, no solution in abdication, no relief in irresponsibility.

A year ago, in assuming the tasks of the presidency, I said that few generations, in all history, had been granted the role of being the great defender of freedom in its hour of maximum danger.

This is our good fortune; and I welcome it now as I did a year ago.

Fast Action Needed

If we move decisively, our factories and farms can increase their sales to their richest, fastest-growing market.

Our exports will increase. Our balance of payments position will improve. And we will have forged across the Atlantic a trading partnership with vast resources for freedom.

If, on the other hand, we hang back in deference to local economic pressures, we will find ourselves cut off from our major Allies.

Industries will move their plants and jobs and capital inside the walls of the Common Market, if they cannot otherwise compete for their consumers.

Our farm surpluses will pile up. Our balance of payments position will worsen.

Our consumers will lack a wider choice of goods at lower prices. And millions of American workers — whose jobs depend on the sale or the transportation or the distribution of exports or imports — whose jobs will be endangered by the movement of our capital to Europe, or whose jobs can be maintained only in an expanding economy — these millions of workers in your home states and mine will see their interests sacrificed.

Members of the Congress: The United States did not rise to greatness by waiting for others to lead. This nation is the world's foremost manufacturer, farmer, banker, consumer and exporter.

The Common Market is moving ahead. The Communist, economic offensive is under way.

Supreme Court Rules Executive Judge Must Be Elected by People

LANSING — The confounding hassle over selection of a chief justice of the State Supreme Court grew even more confusing today.

The court, in a 5-3 vote, has ruled that a 1954 law providing for election of a "permanent" chief justice by its own members is unconstitutional.

Under the law, Chief Justice John B. DeWitt presided over the court from 1958 until his last term expired Dec. 31, 1961.

Maple Leafs Take Top but Play Canadiens at Montreal

By The Associated Press
The Toronto Maple Leafs, newly arrived in the National Hockey League's top spot, have their work cut out for them.

The Leafs will meet Montreal and the determined Canadiens tonight with the No. 1 position at stake. Toronto grabbed the lead for the first time this season with a 7-2 decision over Boston Wednesday night in the only league action it vaulted the Leafs past the Canadiens and gave them a one-point lead, 51-50.

The battle for first is the only game scheduled tonight. The two teams have met six times before this season, with Toronto winning three, Montreal two with one tie.

Two goals by Dave Keon late in the third period sewed it up for the Leafs against Boston. The Bruins, who never led, had advanced to a 3-2 tie on a goal by Don McKennedy 11 minutes into the last period.

Keon broke the tie with his 14th goal at 13:45, and put it at 4-2. He reached exactly three minutes later. Frank Mahovlich also got a goal for the winners. His 19th and 20th of the season with Dick Duff, Bob Neely and Ed Litvinchuk contributing the others.

Boston scorers were McKennedy, Doug Mohn, Cliff Pennington, Jerry Tapanainen and Dick Melsner.

Then Detroit dropped in seven straight points before the first goal by Gary Rodgers made it 11-10-38.

With 46 seconds remaining, Rodgers exploded in the third quarter and bounced in front, 82-87. The Pistons cut the deficit to eight by the end of the third quarter and then pulled within five points of a tie in the fourth quarter.

Philadelphia went back into a nine-point lead on baskets by Paul Arizin and Chamberlain but the advantage went to 2-1 when Arizin fouled out.

With 46 seconds remaining, Rodgers exploded in the third quarter and bounced in front, 82-87. The Pistons cut the deficit to eight by the end of the third quarter and then pulled within five points of a tie in the fourth quarter.

Pistons Still Jinxed by Warriors, 113-110

DETROIT (AP)—For a time last night it appeared that the Detroit Pistons were about to shake off the spell the Philadelphia Warriors had laid on them.

But the Warriors fought off the Pistons' last minute rally and won the National Basketball Association game, 113-110.

It was Detroit's fifth straight loss this season in the Warriors' hands.

Led by Wilt Chamberlain, the Warriors exploded in the third quarter and bounced in front, 82-87. The Pistons cut the deficit to eight by the end of the third quarter and then pulled within five points of a tie in the fourth quarter.

NCAA-AAU Gap Expected to Widen

Bradley Stuns Cincinnati, 70-68

By The Associated Press
Bradley's Braves may be bridesmaids no longer.

Butler, it may be that perennial brides, Cincinnati, who will have to be content with only the bouquet and not the honeymoon trip to the NCAA basketball tournament this year as the Missouri Valley Conference's representative.

The surprising Braves pushed the second-ranked Bearcats, defending collegiate champions, in another notch from a fifth straight trip to the NCAA tourney Wednesday night with a stirring 70-68 overtime victory at Peoria, Ill.

The lost gave Cincy a 3-2 Missouri Valley record and put the Braves on top with a 2-0 mark.

FOUR OTHER TOP-POWERED
Four of the nation's top-ranked teams continued their success. Fifth-ranked Kansas State bounced back after its upset by Colorado last Saturday and trounced Kansas 70-53 in a Big Eight game.

Sixth-ranked Villanova held off Temple for a 60-53 victory; eighth-ranked Duquesne easily beat Dayton 79-59; and ninth-ranked Bowling Green won over Toledo in a Mid-American Conference battle, 60-50.

Cincinnati, now 11-2 overall, ran into foul trouble in the first half. It proved costly when 6-9 Paul Hogue fouled out in the overtime session. Hogue got three first-half personals, and his sub, 6-10 George Wilson was called with four within 72 seconds.

However, the Bearcats kept dogging the Braves and "Tutty" Yates' three points tied the score at 62-62 at the end of regulation play. Bradley, which has now won eight straight, got two quick buckets and floor play had the home crowd in an uproar. The Braves won 10-1, Chet Walker in the overtime and early in the second half.

Bowling Green will meet Miami of Ohio in a key conference game on Saturday night. Butch Konner's 21 points and 17 each by Nate Thurmond and Waverly Junior shot down Toledo last night.

Elsewhere Nebraska moved to the top of the Big Eight with a 57-36 victory over Oklahoma. Wake Forest used 30 points and 13 rebounds by big Len Chappell to beat North Carolina 91-72 and take over the Atlantic Coast Conference lead. An ACC game between N.C. State and Virginia was postponed until Feb. 8 because of snow conditions.

Jack (The Shot) Foley scored 35 points in Holy Cross' fifth straight victory, 95-59, over Massachusetts. Virginia Military edged The Citadel in a Southern Conference game, 71-69 in overtime. Maryland halted Georgetown 83-76. South Carolina won over Furman 93-84. Miami, Fla. edged Jacksonville, Fla., 90-80.

Bob Duffy set a single-game high of 48 points in Colgate's 97-95 victory over Rochester, getting 11 in overtime. Pitt won over Geneva 78-55. Manhattan easily defeated St. Francis, N.Y., 90-73. Kentucky Wesleyan upset Evansville, fourth-ranked small college, 82-70. Portland won over Gonzaga 68-55.

Duquesne got Willie Somerset's finest performance of the season against Dayton for its runaway victory. The all-around third point guard scored 32 points and had six rebounds and six assists.

WINTER SPORTS

Grampian Tries Jump Again Sunday

Another attempt to hold the Grampian Mt. Open ski jump tournament will be made Sunday when some of the top jumpers gather at the 30-meter hill in Oxford.

The tournament was originally scheduled for December 17th, but rain washed it out.

The Grampian jump is the only one of its kind opened to the public and jumping class instructions are available under Dan Guthrie each Tuesday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Some of the leading names who will participate Sunday hail from Briar Hill and Kandahar, two past winners which hold the top jump tournaments in lower Michigan.

Kandahar, located in the Pontiac Lake recreation area, has its annual tournament slated for January 27-28 while the Michigan State championships will be held at Briar Hill, February 3-4. The top distances are expected to reach 100 feet from the Grampian tower which stands 45 feet atop the highest peak in the area.

Guthrie, meanwhile, said the jumping classes is receiving strong enthusiasm from younger boys he invites all those who want to learn to attend the twice-weekly classes.

Among the top names in the tournament Sunday from Briar Hill are Bill Schmidt of Dearborn, Earl Hill of Detroit, Clint Beach of Flint, John Treasurer of Rochester, Carl Nolan of Rochester and Les Grandquist of Flint. For Kandahar, Alden and Walt Hryby of Berkley, Ralph Guthrie of Rochester, Dan Guthrie, John Grames of Pontiac, Bill Hyvonen of Detroit and Hank Jettison of Chippewa.

Trophies and awards will be presented after the meet.

Area Ski Conditions

The best snow conditions in two years prevail at local ski areas with an abundance of natural snow base, fresh powder by snowfall and snow machines.

At least a 12 inch base is reported on all slopes and all facilities are in operation.

This is the first time since the 1960 season that all areas locally run report working conditions from very good to excellent throughout. Skiing under the lights until 11:00 p.m. tonight and for the weekend makes it convenient.

GRAMPIAN MT. — is covered completely with new fresh three inch powder over 12 inch base. All tows and Poma lifts are in operation as are all dining facilities, rentals and pro shop. Instructional school under Gurner Schmidt open for public, private and semi-private classes.

MT. CHRISTIE — has very good skiing throughout its area. The toddler's slope has good skiing and ice point is open. Fresh powder from two to six inches covers 12 inch base, with all tows and Poma lift in operation, along with dining lodge rental shop and instructional school under Michele Turcott.

ALPINE VALLEY — very good to excellent skiing reported with four inches new powder covering solid base from 12 to 18 inches and all T-bars operating. Dining area has big variety of food including pizza. Large rental shop and instructional school under Geoff Norzuan is operating with different classes available.

DYDEN SKI AREA — good base from 12 to 36 inches is covered with new powder and all facilities operating including the snow bowl. Ski lodge dining area open with complete rentals available and skiing listed as very good. Dyden 48-bed dormitory available for group parties. Instructions available nightly with Dan Laffer and on weekends with Midge and Walt Hafael.

MT. HOLLY — opens another T-bar today and has all facilities including chairlift in operation with base of 18 inches and more and fresh powder covering entire area. New dining lodge operating as well as all rental facilities, and daily instructional classes under Gerry Moody. Skiing very good.

GRANVIEW — has good to very good skiing and all facilities in operation.

SUMMIT — skiing very good with 10-12 inch base new powder and all slopes open.

MT. BRIGITON — skiing very good to excellent, new powder covering solid base.

TEEPLE HILL — Skiing this weekend. All natural snowfall permitted good base and some fresh powder. 4 tows will be operating starting Saturday morning 10:00 a.m.

PREHISTORIC — Some form of skiing has been known to man since the prehistoric days when bear-skin hunters like this used snow staves to hunt. Any resemblance to this prehistoric skier and Bob Jackson of Mt. Christie was not meant as a coincidence.

Form of Skiing Dates to Pre-Historic Days

Skiing becomes something new John Dyer, who went to Colorado in the 1820's where he made use of snowshoes for delivering mail.

The first ski club in this country was formed in Ishpeming, Michigan in 1900 and the National Ski Association was founded in 1905 due to the influence of the Ishpeming Ski Club, which now has skiing's Hall of Fame.

Today Michigan leads the country in ski centers with 84 and 180,000 skiers. In 1954 there were 60,000 in Michigan.

Six years ago, skiing started in Oakland County and this part of Michigan with Mt. Holly, Grampian Mt. Christie and Alpine Valley.

Six years ago there was an estimated 2,500 skiers in Oakland County. Today, there are over 25,000 in the county alone.

The future of skiing in the Pontiac area looks big. All areas, Alpine Valley, Mt. Christie, Mt. Holly, Grampian Mt. and Dyden, have improvement plans in co-ordination with the expected growth.

The facilities locally can compare favorably and even surpass many of the leading ski areas in snow belts of upper Michigan.

Take a Ski Pointer

CLIMBING — When you approach a slope, turn your skis sideways. You step uphill sideways and grip with the uphill edges. Lift only the tips of the skis with each short step. As you progress with this upward movement, use your poles for support.

French Alpinist Henry Duhamel in 1878 pioneered ski mountaineering and Mathias Zdarsky an Austrian Army officer devised the "Z-bar" ski. It was perfected and is often given credit for the start of slalom skiing.

Earliest known use of skis in the U. S. is attributed to Rev.

STEP TURN—When turning on the flat remember the length of your skis. You must take very small steps. Life only the tips of the skis with each step.

Prep Skiers 'Iced' Out, Meet Again at Mt. Holly

With its first scheduled triangular meet of the season "iced" out last Saturday at Mt. Holly the eight-team Southeast Michigan prep ski team will try again this Saturday morning to hold a triangular slalom meet.

Berkley, Grosse Pointes and Waterford Township will be the competing schools Saturday.

Last week's trio, Bloomfield Hills, Royal Oak Kimball and Kettering have their meet rescheduled for February 17th, according to acting "commissioner" Dave Freeman. The meet was called off last week due to the freezing rain which hit the area.

Starting time for the meet is 9:00 a.m. and the teams consist of five boys and four girls, with heat results of four boys and three girls counted in the scoring. The meets are held in accordance to National Ski Association rules.

Climax of the weekly schedule will be the Southeast Michigan Inter-scholastic meet, February 10th at Mt. Holly.

This is the schedule for the prep meet:

JAN. 13—Berkley, Grosse Pointe and Waterford Twp.
JAN. 20—Bloomfield Hills, Berkley, Walled Lake.
JAN. 27—Avalon, Grosse Pointe, Kettering.

FEB. 3—Avalon, Kimball, Walled Lake, Waterford.
FEB. 10—Southeast Michigan meet.
FEB. 17—Bloomfield Hills, Kimball, Kettering.
