Serious Rift Over DMZ Is Developing at Paris Talks

ONE COLOR

PARIS (AP) — A serious disagreement appears to be developing in the Paris peace talks over re-establishing an effective buffer zone between North and South Vietnam as an important step toward scaling down the war.

The outcome of U.S.-North Vietnamese discussions on this issue could vitally influence future decisions by President Johnson on ending the rest of the bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam.

U.S. authorities analyzing the problem are reported to believe that the discussions on this issue so far show it to be a real issue as distinguished from arguments made and poses struck in the conference here primarily for their impact on world opinion.

North Vietnamese representative Xuan Thuy, demanded Wednesday that the United States halt all military actions against North Vietnam, including "the bombardment of artillery based in the southern part of the DMZ" as well as air strikes there and elsewhere.

BRIEF OPERATIONS

It demanded that the United States withdraw from the zone, but U.S. officials said neither the United States nor its allies had established bases or sent troops into the zone for other than brief sweep operations. They said so far as they knew no U.S. or allied troops are there now.

Thus Thuy's call for the United States to evacuate the zone —like his argument that only U.S. concessions can bring success to the Paris talks—is considered on the American side to be mainly aimed at world opinion. But the question of military operations in the area of the zone is critical.

The North Vietnamese have been reported to have entire divisions in that area, operating freely between their own and South Vietnamese territory. In effect, the United States has maintained for years that its own bombardments into and across the zone and its ground operations there were required by North Vietnamese thrusts at or into the South.

In another area, the United States is working on proposals to support any Vietnam settlement with a peacekeeping system run by neutral Asian nations.

Although the U.S.-North Vietnamese peace talks seem to be badly bogged down over the question of American bombing north of the 17th parallel, U.S. spokesmen refuse to be pessimistic.

After the second session Wednesday, at which Thuy said continuation of the bombing was blocking the consideration of larger issues, an American spokesman commented: "We did find a few things where we believe we have a common interest."

Tornado Outbreak Kills 72

By The Associated Press

A massive outbreak of tornadoes slammed at the nation's midsection late Wednesday, killing more than 70 persons, injuring several hundred and leaving a trail of damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

The toll of deaths in the twisters and severe thunderstorms climbed to 72 today, with 48 dead in Arkansas alone. Iowa counted 14 dead, Illinois 8, Missouri and Indiana 1 each.

As expected, the reported toll climbed sharply as daylight broke over the stricken region. Darkness and flash flooding had hampered search operations.

Hardest hit was the northeastern Arkansas university city of Jonesboro which counted 33 dead and more than 350 injured. A twister slammed into the southeastern section of the city at dusk scattering homes like dominoes.

Arkansas State Police reported 10 dead at the little town of Oil Trough, a community of 235 residents which eyewitnesses said was virtually destroyed. Three died at Mountain Home and two were killed at Tuckerman, all within 100 miles of Jonesboro.

The rash of tornadoes — the Weather Bureau reported more than 30 in a nine-state area from Kansas to Ohio —erupted as a strong cold front clashed with warm, humid temperatures in the mid 80s. Shortly before 7tth graf AO41.

Shortly before striking in Arkansas, the wave of twisters raked northeastern Iowa. A funnel cloud roared through downtown Charles City around 4 p.m. Eleven were dead when the storm was over and, police reported, most buildings in an eight-block area were demolished.

Only an hour later a twister whipped into Oelwein, 50 miles from Charles City, striking first at the south edge of the community and then blasting a path through the business district. The highway patrol said two persons were killed in the city, two were missing and a child was killed just north of Oelwein.

National Guard troops were called out both in Arkansas and Iowa. Additional doctors, nurses and blood were flown to stricken parts of Iowa from as far away as Minneapolis.

The storms in Arkansas poured more heavy rain on sections of that state still flooded from heavy downpours earlier in the week.

Meany Pens Letter Suspending UAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO loses its biggest, richest union today when President George Meany mails a formal letter suspending Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers for refusing to pay its dues.

An aide said Meany was drafting a "businesslike" letter to Reuther, who joined him in founding the giant labor federation 13 years ago.

The letter will cost the AFL-CIO 1.5 million members and more than $1 million a year in dues, but the final break between the two powerful labor leaders stemmed from virtually everything except money.

It capped a two-year Reuther attack on Meany's leadership as "undemocratic" and "stagnant" in AFL-CIO policies on everything from wages to water pollution.

'EXERCISE IN FUTILITY'

Reuther said that trying to argue its complaints before Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders was "an exercise in futility," and demanded a special convention to debate the dispute.

The UAW rejected an AFL-CIO offer to call the special convention if Reuther's union would agree in advance to abide by its decision.

The final break came when the UAW at their recent convention voted to withhold payment of dues to the AFL-CIO pending possible settlement of the dispute, but continue to participate in "worthwhile" federation activities.

"This case is unique," Meany said of the well-heeled UAW. "We never had anyone tell us they were going to stay in without paying their dues."

Meany's letter will cite sections of the AFL-CIO constitution providing for automatic suspension of a union that falls three months behind in payment of dues. The deadline passed yesterday for the UAW, whose secretary-treasurer, Emil Mazey, said no payment will be made.

6 More Alive in Mine Trap

HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) —Six coal miners, isolated deeply in a flooded mine shaft and presumed dead for nearly 10 days, were rescued today. All were termed in "good shape."

Four other men trapped in the same area were found dead and their bodies were brought to the mine opening about 8 a.m. (EDT), about four hours after the six reached safety.

One report yet to be confirmed was that two of the dead men drowned while trying to run from the wall of water as it broke into the mine. There was no report on how the other two died but officials said they presumed they drowned. Autopsies will be performed later today.

Another 15, who were trapped just before noon on May 6 when water poured in from an adjoining and abandoned mine, were rescued last Saturday.

The six paused for prayer at the mine entrance, received quick medical checkups and were sped by ambulances to Sacred Heart hospital in Richwood, 15 miles away.

"Who said miracles don't happen?" shouted one miner as he alighted from an ambulance at the hospital's entrance.

The men sipped hot chocolate in their hospital beds. All appeared cheerful and unharmed but hospital authorities barred newsmen from talking to the men while they chatted with their families.

There had been no contact with the men since May 6. A hole was drilled through the mountain to a point where the men were thought to be and touched water. Officials presumed they had drowned.

The accident occurred on Sashabaw near Woodhull in Independence Township.

Police said Craig was alone in the car. He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital at 12:40 a.m.

VC Attack U. S. Ships

SAIGON (AP) — Two American merchant ships and a Japanese freighter were attacked yesterday by the Vietcong in less than three hours on a river channel near Saigon, the U.S. Navy reported today.

There were no casualties on any of the three ships and none of them was disabled by the enemy attacks, headquarters said.

Open Housing Passes House

LANSING (AP) — The open housing bill was back in the Senate with 21 amendments today after a session of arm-twisting and bitter debate brought the measure 76-31 approval in the House.

Forty Republicans and 36 Democrats joined forces behind the controversial bill, giving the measure 21 votes more than it required.

But hidden behind the whopping majority was a frantic lobbying effort by Romney aides and House party leaders to prevent some members from rewriting the measure along the lines of the weaker federal Civil Rights Act of 1968.

The Senate now must decide whether to accept the 21 changes —most of them minor, but a few likely to generate considerable controversy—made by the House to the version given Senate approval April 4.

READY FOR SIGNING

If the Senate endorses the House version, the measure would be ready to be signed into law by Romney. If not, the two chambers would attempt to negotiate their differences.

The bill forbids discrimination because of race, religion or nationality in the sale or rental of most housing accommodations, provides for financial penalties, and permits courts under certain circumstances to order completion of a real estate deal.

A real estate firm, bank or other professional violator could be fined up to $1,000 for committing an "unfair housing practice," and up to $2,000 for a repeat violation.

8-HOUR SESSION

The House Tuesday night, in a wearying eight-hour session, hammered the bill into what leaders hoped would be its final form. Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, the majority floor leader, hoped for a vote on the measure by noon yesterday.

But the optimism vanished when Rep. Thomas Sharpe, RHowell, succeeded in a a second attempt to tack onto the bill an Thomas Sharpe, R-Howell, succeeded in a bitter debate.

Open Housing Supported

The Pontiac Board of Education last night added its support to the passage of the fair-housing ordinance in the city referendum June 24.

The board passed a resolution, similar to one approved by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

"Whereas federal open housing legislation is existent and state fair-housing legislation imminent, it is evident that the passage or defeat of Pontiac's ordinance No. 1577 will resolve itself as a test of good will and hope," the resolution said.

"It has been the position of this board to support fair-housing in concept and, specifically, to work toward the reduction and elimination of the effects of racism in all aspects of the community.

16 Feared Dead in London Blast

LONDON (AP) — One corner of a new 23-story apartment house in London's East End collapsed after an explosion today, killing an estimated 15 or 16 persons.

Firemen and other rescue workers recovered four bodies from the huge pile of debris and said they expected to find perhaps another dozen dead.

Sven people were injured, but there was little hope of finding any others alive in the rubble, a fire brigade officer said.

There was no immediate word on what caused the explosion, which was believed to have occurred in an 18th floor apartment.

Most of the collapsed rooms were dining areas or small lounges. And since the explosion occurred at 5:30 a.m., most of the building's tenants were asleep elsewhere in their apartments.

One man on the 19th floor slept through the whole thing.

"We smashed his door down and he came out in his pajamas and said, What the hell's going on? Then he saw his living room had disappeared," a fireman said.

"There was a terrific explosion," said Charles Castell, a night watchman in the neighborhood. "It sounded as though a plane had gone through the sound barrier. Then I heard pieces of stuff whizzing through the air."

CRASHED DOWN

Sections of the huge building crashed down into the street below.

One survivor, Harry Heal, said the blast woke him and he went out onto the terrace of his seventh floor apartment.

"Looking straight up, it was clear right up to the roof," he said. "It looked as if the whole side had burst out."

Police evacuated the building and set up a reception center for the 80 families made homeless.

JUST MOVED IN

The block-size building, known as Ronan Point, was completed two months ago. The first of the 260 persons it housed moved in only a few weeks back.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the explosion.

The London Fire Brigade said it had 18 engines and 150 firemen at the scene.

Police with loudspeakers toured the area warning people to stay clear of the shattered building. Residents of nearby houses were warned to leave in case of a further collapse.

Can You Tie Your Shoe, Tina? . . . Try . . . Keep Trying

Rehabilitation Foundation Will Honor Pontiac Girl, 3

A 3-year-old victim of an accidental shooting Tina Tovar of Pontiac, will be honored as the 1968 Kenny Girl when the Kenney-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation celebrates its 21st anniversary on Tuesday.

Guest speaker at the 7 p.m. dinner at Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit, will be D. Eugene Sibery, executive director of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council.

Tina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Tovar, 259 S. Anderson, was sitting on the lap of a house guest watching television on a Sunday morning, last Oct. 8, when a bullet slammed through the metal partition of a screen door. The shot pierced another door into the living room, striking Tina in the head.

In a coma, Tina was rushed to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and then to Pontiac General Hospital in a frantic effort to save her life. The surgeon who operated was unable to remove bullet fragments which had penetrated her brain.

TOTALLY PARALYZED

Four days later, totally paralyzed, Tina began therapy treatments at the Kenny Rehabilitation Center at Pontiac General. Although spared the effects of severe brain damage, she was unable to lift her head.

Gradually she has been regaining her ability to function. A few weeks ago she was able to take her first halting steps.

With each day's therapy, Tina gains more confidence and more coordination. There is still some spasticity in her right hand but Dr. Ethel T. Calhoun, administrative associate at the center, believes Tina will continue to improve.

The shooting has never been solved by the Pontiac police, but according to Chief William K. Hanger, it was undoubtedly an accident. Police theorize that the shot was probably fired from the sidewalk outside the front door or from the street.

NEARING FOUR

Tina, alert and responsive, will be 4 Oct. 26. She has two brothers; Victor, 7, and Frank, who is nearly 3.

The Kenny Foundation, an agency of the Torch Drive and the Michigan United Fund, was organized to combat polio and other neuromuscular disease. It is now dedicated to the rehabilitation of Michigan victims of accidents, strokes, arthritis and all crippling neuromuscular disorders.

The foundation is named for Elizabeth Kenny who earned the rank of Sister in the Australian Army Nurse Corps before coming to America to urge the use of her treatment for polio.

'2 Schools Won't Open Due to Fund Shortage'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Two new elementary schools in the district will not open next year, according to a statement released today by Citizens for Bloomfield Schools (CBS).

H. Eugene Weiss, 2877 Courville, chairman of the citizens' group, said the board of education advised him there would not be enough money to open and operate the schools next year, regardless of other factors.

Citizens of the district are scheduled to vote on a proposed 9.5-mill five-year increase in property taxes June 10. A 14-mill proposition was rejected April 1 by a 2½-to-1 margin.

A school district spokesman confirmed Weiss' statement. The two schools are Fox Hills Elementary, near Oodyke and Square Lake, and an as-yet-unnamed school at Lone Pine and Middlebelt.

ENROLLMENT HIKE

"Passage of the 9.5-mill proposal on June 10 will provide four per cent more money for education next year, but there will be 10 per cent more children," Weiss explained.

"The only way that the board can make the money stretch is by increasing class sizes, cutting back on transportation, reducing physical education, art, music, gym and other special programs and letting two new schools lie vacant."

The chairman called response to the CBS millage campaign so far "gratifying," but added, "parents of the district don't yet seem to realize how serious the situation is."

Weiss previously had said failure to pass the millage would be "catastrophe" for the district, pointing out that 27 per cent less money per child would be available next year.

ACCREDITATION JEOPARDIZED

"Bus transportation will be limited to only that which is supported by the state, and class sizes at the secondary level will be enlarged to the point where college accreditation would be in jeopardy.

"This is one of the finest school districts in the state. The quality has been built up over the years, and it could be destroyed in weeks," Weiss concluded.

BIRMINGHAM — Winners in the residential category of the 1968 Civic Awards Contest have been announced by Mrs. William A. McNamee, chairman for Community Pride Day in Michigan Week.

For the northwest quadrant of this city, the winners are Mr. and Mrs. Basil M. Briggs, 900 Brookwood.

Other quadrants and winners are northeast, William J. Johnson, 528 Park; southwest, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Nye, 936 Bates; and southeast, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Martin, 1644 Yosemite.

Judges for the contest, an annual event, included Mrs. James Hubbard, 1722 Pine, appointed by Mayor David F. Breck; Mrs. James Norris, 1278 Lakeside, appointed by the City Commission; Herb Ring, 534 N. Woodward, appointed by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce; Ron Miller, 1090 S. Adams, appointed by the Beautify Birmingham Committee; and Mrs. Edward R. Leuba, 320 Fairfax, appointed by the Birmingham Residents Association Council.

OTHER WINNERS

Winners in four other categories — apartment, retail, professional, and industrial — will be announced on Livelihood Day (Wednesday) of Michigan Week.

About 400 students, guest instrumentalists, and professional athletes will celebrate the opening of Michigan Week in a spring musical program Monday at Meadowlake Elementary School, 7100 Lindenmere, Bloomfield Township.

The program, which will be performed for students at 1:30 p.m. and the general public at 8 p.m., will be directed by Lorna Dee Mistele, vocal elementary music teacher.

Among the guests will be Darris McCord and Jim Gibbons of the Detroit Lions and Norm Masters, a former Green Bay Packers player.

The program will include numbers by the glee club, band, string trio, and students.

Japan Jolted, 25 Are Killed in Severe Quake

TOKYO (AP) — A severe earthquake that jolted 600 miles of Japan's eastern seaboard today killed at least 25 persons and caused tidal waves and widespread damage.

Police said in addition to the 25 known dead, eight persons were missing and at least 50 injured. Seven Americans at Misawa Air Force Base, in northern Honshu, suffered minor injuries, but no planes were damaged.

It wasn't as bad as it might have been because the quake's epicenter was 93 miles out to sea, off Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

The Central Meteorological Agency said magnitude of the quake at its epicenter was 7.8, above the seven-point scale used in Japan. It was the strongest quake since the Sept. 1, 1923, tremor that left much of Tokyo and Yokohama in ruins.

The tidal waves averaged four to five feet, but damage was reduced because they came at low tide.

However, numerous homes and buildings were destroyed, either by the quake or fires that followed it. Hundreds of homes were flooded to floor level or above. Roads were impassable in places, bridges cut, dikes ruptured and railway tracks severed.

Numerous communications lines were cut, and for a time there was no landline communication between Hokkaido and Honshu, Japan's main island.

Most of the damage occurred in southern Hokkaido and northern to central Honshu.

The Maritime Agency said at least nine boats were sunk. Several more, including one small foreign freighter, were driven onto reefs.

OCC Gets OK for Ghetto Labs

Oakland Community College was given the green light yesterday by the State Board of Education to create training programs in shabby ghetto store fronts as well as in multimillion-dollar new campus buildings.

Called Continuing Opportunities Program for Education (COPE), the project provides for "satellite learning labs" in the ghetto. They will be "administered by grassroots leaders and serve as a hub of college and community activities."

The board gave OCC approval to apply for a grant of $22,240 under the state plan, Title 1 of the federal Higher Education Act of 1965.

Advanced education and remedial and job-oriented programs would be offered "to prepare students for success in college programs and job placement," the COPE plan states.

The college satellites would also seek to recruit job applicants and would serve as counseling and referral centers and as cultural and educational enrichment programs for adults.

City Employes at Imlay Resign

Apparently dissatisfied with salary provisions in the village budget, all of Imlay City's municipal employes except Manager Harvey Weatherwax submitted resignations yesterday.

The nine resignations, which include the four-man police department and the superintendent of public works and his employes, will be effective Monday. However, garbage collections, which are not operated by the village, and the volunteer fire department will be unaffected.

Contents of the budget, approved at a village council meeting Monday, have not been made public.

Weatherwax was unavailable for comment this morning, and Council President John F. Folk had no comment.

Afro-American Courses Planned

Afro-American history will be taught in each elementary grade and in all secondary social study courses next school year, the Pontiac Board of Education explained in detail last night.

Outlines for teaching the subject will be developed this summer. In-service training in the subject will be held for teachers and administrators before school opens and during the school year, according to Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy.

In addition, an experimental course in Afro-American history will be offered for high school students this summer and continued as an elective during the regular school year.

The new emphasis on the teaching of Negro history, culture and contributions came as a result of community interest in this area.

MATERIALS, GUIDELINES

The board advised teachers to use available Afro-American materials and principals have been asked to see that the guidelines are used.

In elementary schools, new teachers will be invited on a voluntary paid basis to a half-day preschool workshop on Afro-American materials and human relations.

During the school year they will attend a one-day workshop on social studies, including Afro-American history, and at least a three-hour in-service program on relationship of Afro-American materials to human and civil rights.

In secondary schools, minimum instructional activities will be established for required seventh through 11th grade social studies, U.S. history, civics and world history courses.

IN ELECTIVES

Afro-American history also will be taught the following 12th grade elective courses: Asian History, African Studies, American Problems, Economics, International Relations, and Western Thought.

John Perdue, director of school-community and human relations, will teach the summer course on Afro-American history.

Secondary teachers may attend a three-day preschool workshop to familiarize themselves with the materials. They must have at least three hours of in-service training in the field during the school year.

Administrators will get five hours of preschool workshop on Afro-American history materials and at least three hours during the school year.

MUSEUM MATERIALS

Guides will be made available to special education teachers to adapt them for their students and an effort will be made to have materials from the Afro-American Museum of Detroit display in schools.

In other business, the board approved a $4,640 pilot program of preemployment training for custodial, clerical and cafeteria personnel for 1968-69.

Forty-five hard-core unemployed people will be paid $45 a week for two weeks to be trained in the classroom and on the job for the work. Employe turnover is high and competition for jobs keen, school aides said.

The board extended a contract with the Pontiac Area Urban League for Project 100 through July. Cost is $3,500.

Seven elementary schools and two junior highs in deprived areas participate in the program, designed to achieve 100 per cent participation by parents and staff in school activities.

The current $12,000, eight-month contract expires June 30. The extension provides for six additional half-time workers trying to get parents involved. Now there are two people working full-time and one half-time.

It is believed that Pontiac is one of few school districts in the country having such an arrangement with the Urban League.

Twisters Kill 72 in 5 States

Tornadoes or severe thunderstorms swept almost the entire length of Illinois, starting before noon yesterday and continuing into the night.

Hardest hit in Illinois was Freeburg, near East St. Louis, where four died and scores were reported injured.

Two died at Wapella, in central Illinois. Communication was lacking with Wapella, and authorities feared the toll there would go higher. An elderly woman died of a heart attack after a tornado swooped across Natrona, also in central Illinois. A University of Illinois student was electrocuted by a shorted traffic signal in a flooded Champaign street intersection.

Severe thunderstorms sweeping western Kansas and Missouri unleashed several tornadoes in that region as well. One man was killed near Joplin, Mo., when a bolt of lightning struck a tree and jumped to a tractor he was driving.

A school bus was blown off a road near Lonejack, Mo., 30 miles southeast of Kansas City, but the pupils aboard escaped just before a twister roared over, and only two were injured.

Tornadoes swept through central Indiana into the night hours, causing several injuries and considerable property damage southwest of Indianapolis. Baseball-size hailstones pounded some communities just west of the Indiana capital during the storms.

Israel and Jordan May Talk Peace

JERUSALEM (AP) — Peacemaker Gunnar V. Jarring apparently hopes to bring Israel and Jordan together for face-to-face talks in the first major breakthrough of his six-month-old mission, usually reliable political informants said today.

Jarring apparently has no such hope regarding a similar confrontation between Israel and Egypt, these sources said.

The Swedish diplomat now is in New York to pursue his peace mission at the United Nations.

Israel's stand that only direct talks can bring peace to the region still remains in effect, the sources said. They expressed belief Egypt still objects to Jordan's entering direct peace talks with Israel, but that this stand may be softening.

Novi Cityhood Vote Block Fails

By BETTY ANN SCHULTZ

NOVI — While village leaders campaigned in favor of Monday's cityhood vote, Novi Township officials lost a last attempt to prevent the election.

The township was denied last week a rehearing of an earlier decision by the State Court of Appeals which permitted the holding of the cityhood election.

The state court concluded that the township can take the case to the State Supreme Court after the election.

"The Township Board hasn't yet decided on its next course," said Township Supervisor Hadley Bachert. "The outcome of the election will make the difference."

REASONS FOR OPPOSITION

Bachert, speaking for himself and the Township Board, bases opposition to cityhood on the following:

- It is illegal because the village doesn't have 500 persons per square mile. (Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn declared that the village, as an already incorporated entity, isn't bound by the state statute requiring 500 persons per square mile in an area wanting home-rule cityhood.)
- Cityhood will bring about increased taxes.
- The Novi School District will lie wholly within the village and thus be unable to receive certain state funds.

MAIN PROPONENTS

While no organized opposition group exists, the Novi Jaycees and the village citizens committee are the main proponents of the cityhood issue.

C. A. Smith, head of the citizens committee which filed the petitions proposing cityhood, said his 15-member group is on call to meet in homes "anytime day or night."

He cited reasons for a "yes" vote:

- Protection of the proposed city's boundaries from annexation to a nearby city. He claimed that plans of other cities to annex parts of the village would be set in motion immediately if cityhood fails.
- Concentrated and more efficient government by eliminating two governments for the present village area.

ADDS POINTS

The head of the Jaycee campaign force, Norman Somers, part owner of the Novi Drugstore, added points on the "pro side."

- Tax base protection, meaning the threat of annexation of highly assessed property would be removed.
- The abolishment of "a political factor"—that is, disagreements between the village and township administrations.

Although he doesn't agree with them, Somers added to the township's reasons for objecting to cityhood:

- The township supervisor, clerk, treasurer and one of the two trustees would lose their posts because they reside in the village.
- The remaining portion of the township, about three square and scattered miles, couldn't support a township government.
- Cityhood isn't natural because village residents at the north and south ends associate themselves more with Walled Lake and Northville respectively than Novi.
- Loss of balance of powers between the township and the village.
- A successful cityhood vote is irreversible.

Also on Monday's ballot is the selection of nine persons for a city charter commission.

If cityhood is okayed by a majority of the village's 2,257 registered voters, the commission has two years within which to present a city charter to voters. A charter can be presented three times.

The 14 candidates for charter commission are:

Denis Berry, 41163 MacMahon; William D. Brinker, 24440 Mill Stream; J. F. Buck, 24350 LeBost; Russell Button, 44109 Grand River; James Cherfoli, 24066 Glen Ridge; Joseph Crupi, 23790 Maude Lea; Laverne DeWaard, 24395 Willow Lane; William Duey, 45385 Nine Mile; Raymond Evans, 23750 Heartwood; Mrs. Dorothy Farrah, 46950 Grand River; Leo Harrawood, 24042 Willowbrook; David Harrison, 25600 Strath Haven; Edwin Presnell, 23740 Maude Lea; and Edward Vahlbusch, 48625 Rushwood.

$140,000 Fire Sweeps Inn in W. Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A fire here caused an estimated $140,000 damage to the Rotunda Country Inn, 3230 Pine Lake last night. The blaze began as a grease fire over the grill which couldn't be extinguished by seven extinguishers.

It was the second major fire at the inn. In the summer of 1962, the landmark inn was swept by a fire causing $55,000 damage.

The township fire department received the alert at 7 p.m. and had the fire under control at 9 p.m., according to the department report.

Estimated damage is $65,000 to the building valued at $250,000 and $75,000 to the contents valued at $100,000, said Roscoe Hunt, senior man on the township department.

DAMAGE REPORT

Building damage included the kitchen, the second story which provided living quarters, the roof, a barroom, and part of the dining room.

Water or smoke damaged grills, refrigerators, food, linen, carpeting and chairs, said Hunt.

The only injury was to West Bloomfield Township fireman Capt. Orin Rogers who suffered a cut hand while attempting to enter the upper floor.

Owners of the Rotunda Inn are Harold Anderson and S. Ward Ouradnik.

MEAL HALTED — A blaze which broke out at the Rotunda Country Inn in West Bloomfield Township at 7 p.m. yesterday unexpectedly interrupted dinner. Firemen from five departments had the fire under control at about 9 p.m.

Shortage of Signers Eliminates Oxford School Board Aspirant

OXFORD — Election examiners have found the nominating petition of Kenneth Horton, 105 W. Seymour Lake, lacking the required number of signers.

Horton was eliminated from the list of contenders seeking 2 four-year terms on the board of education in the June 10 election.

In other recent business the board of education opened bids for the construction of additions to three elementary schools but no contract was awarded.

The bids were referred to architects for study and a special meeting is expected next week at which time the contracts will be awarded.

Milford Budget Is Up $56,000, but No Tax Increase Is Needed

MILFORD — The village budget which goes into effect July 1 shows expenditures of $399,000, an increase of about $56,000 over last year.

Village taxes, however, are expected to remain the same at 12.5 mills for operations and 1.25 for sewer debt. Each mill brings in about $10,000.

Tax revenues are up about $6,000, mostly due to new construction, said Village Manager Joseph S. Brophy.

Other revenue increases include: sales tax, up $4,000 to $40,000, and gas and weight tax, up $10,000 to $48,000, and a rebate in state income tax revenue.

PAY HIKE

On the expenditure side, all village employes are to receive a 6 per cent salary increase. Other increases are $5,000 for the garbage contract and $10,000 for sewage plant operation.

Other large bills are $13,000 to pay off part of the sewer plant and $5,500 for part of the cost of the Department of Public Works garage.

A public hearing on the paving of Crystal Street is set for May 27 at 8 p.m. Special assessments are to finance the project, estimated to cost $28,000.

Over Rochester Budget, Tax Hike

Mayor, Councilman Clash

ROCHESTER — Adoption of the city's new $938,000 budget and the acceptance of a 2-mill increase in the city property tax to pay for it prompted a short and sharp exchange between Mayor Roy Rewold and Councilman Sam Howlett at a recent council meeting.

Howlett voted with other council members to accept the enlarged budget which includes provisions for employe pay increases, new fire equipment, and the payment of an additional $30,000 for garbage collection.

His lone opposition vote to the hike in the levy caused Rewold to quiz his motives.

Howlett replied he felt the budget was "watered down."

'SOUND, REALISTIC'

Said Rewold later, "In my opinion the budget is both sound and realistic and the additional millage is needed to finance it."

Rochester city residents will be paying this July a total of 12-mills per $1,000 assessed valuation. The limit council can levy without going to the voters is 20 mills.

The council also received an engineering report from Hubbell, Roth and Clark regarding a storm drainage study conducted for the city.

A total of more than $200,000 proposed work was outlined with emphasis put on the Parkdale-Romeo and University Street areas. Some $50,000 was estimated as the cost of the latter projects.

RESIDENT REACTION

No action on the report was taken.

A sampling of resident reaction to the use of plastic garbage pail liners is being undertaken, according to city Manager William Sinclair.

The bags would cost residents about $5 per hundred, Sinclair said, if they are put to full-time use.

A preliminary report on the paving of South Street from First to the eastern city limits revealed an increase in cost for the proposed project of $43,000 to a total of $163,000. The council recently threw out plans which would have resulted in only a partial paving from the city limits to Diversion.

Sinclair announced that new building plans to meet city codes had been filed by 135 W. University Corp. for the construction of a building to the rear of the Woodward Memorial Public Library on West University. Several residents had complained that codes were not being met by the developer.

ZONING PERSONNEL

In other business the council replaced Calvin White, chairman of the zoning board of appeals, with Wilson Severance, a Rochester attorney. The move was made, according to Sinclair, because of White's absence from town and the pressing business of the appeals board.

A request from Slavik Developers for outside water and sewer service to apartments proposed on the west side of Great Oaks Boulevard in Avon Township was submitted. The city normally charges a fee in lieu of taxes and one-and-a-half times the city rate for such service.

Rochester Outlines Cuts, Lets Pacts for New School

ROCHESTER — Even as it awarded contracts for the construction of the district's $4.3-million second senior high school Monday, the Board of Education made plans for reductions in services in case a June 10 millage attempt fails.

The combined high school bids came in about $300,000 over the original $4 million estimate.

Schurrer Construction Co. of Pontiac was awarded the general contract in the amount of $2,604,200. John E. Green Plumbing and Heating Co. of Highland Park won the mechanical contract at $987,000; Kolon Electric Co. of Detroit the electrical contract at $326,298; and Great Lakes Hotel Supply Co. of Detroit, food service equipment, $78,450.

A graduated scale of cutbacks, compensating for the 11.5-mill defeat April 29, was extended to include what might happen should the 1.5-mill increase fail next month and the "traumatic school situation" if the 7-mill renewal should also fail.

HALF-DAY SESSIONS

A substantial reduction in staff and the possibility of half-day sessions for elementary students and a shortened day for secondary students was visualized should the renewal fail.

Also cut out was the community school program and many of the enrichment and athletic programs now offered students.

As a result of the April defeat, administrators have already pared personnel and services to effect a $220,000 saving.

A further $145,000 in services has been singled out for elimination if the 1.5-mill increase fails, and cutbacks totaling $785,000 have been tagged should the renewal go down to defeat.

POSITIONS TO GO

Already due to go into effect next fall is the reduction of three elementary classrooms and three secondary teaching positions, two librarian positions, two positions in the elementary vocal music and physical education programs, one audio-visual director position, two secondary guidance counselor positions, one secretarial position and one maintenance position.

Also due for cuts are extracurricular and athletic programs (25 per cent), the purchase of new text books, teaching supplies, educational conference, in-service training for teachers, office supplies, travel costs and the intramural program.

The telephone answering service for substitutes will be ended as will classroom field trips. A curtailment of the bus replacement program, maintenance and repair work is also scheduled.

In W. Bloomfield Twp.

Development Eyed by Board

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Development in this community received most of the attention at last night's Township Board meeting.

Final preliminary plat approval was given to the 206-lot North Potomac Green subdivision of the William J. Pulte Co. of Birmingham.

The development to the east of Green Road between Walnut Lake and Orchard Lake roads will have homes, valued at about $40,000. Plans include a 6.5-acre park and partial straightening of two curves on Green.

Final plat approval went to Potomac Green No. 2, also being developed by Pulte adjacent to the existing Potomac Green subdivision.

APPROVALS RECOMMENDED

The okay is subject to a resolution regarding sewer and water service for the development.

These two approvals had been recommended by the Township Planning Commission.

A matter recommended for denial by the commission and also denied last night by the board was the apartment rezoning of the Jack Couzens property on the northwest corner of Orchard Lake and Seminary roads.

Couzens, speaking last night at the meeting he requested before the board, told of plans to erect two buildings with a total of 30 units on 2.6 acres. He claimed that the development which he estimated at from a quarter to a half-million dollars in value would bring the most money from the land.

QUOTES REAL ESTATE MEN

Couzens and his wife live in an old house on the property. He quoted representatives of six real estate offices who assured that surrounding land values wouldn't decline because of the apartments.

Henry Moses chairman of the planning commission outlined the reasons why the commission recommended denial:

- The policy is to permit multiples which will benefit the entire township and not the economics of an individual. He reported that the commission is now reviewing apartment plans for more than 200 acres.
- The traffic condition would become worse on Orchard Lake Road.
- The parcel is too small.
- Density near Pine Lake, a public recreation spot, would become too high.

The county planning commission declared the use in conflict with the township's master plan.

Couzens indicated that he may seek special approval of the township to sell the land for a nursery or child care center.

The board also rescheduled its meetings from the first and third Wednesdays to the first and third Mondays effective June 17.

Oxford Expected to Let DPW Build Sewage Laterals

OXFORD — It appears likely that the village council will vote to let the County Department of Public Works construct its sewage laterals should plans for the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor's Paint Creek Arm be accepted.

Manager Robert Smalley said he expects the village will sign resolutions making Oxford a part of the Paint Creek Arm project at its next meeting May 28.

The budget of $219,024 was adopted and a 1-mill hike in the village tax levy was accepted. The sum reflects a $29,424 increase over last year and calls for the levy of 15 mills instead of 13 mills.

Debt service millage however was reduced a mill from last year's 2 mills.

REZONING SUIT

Legal action on a rezoning denial was promised in a letter from Morris Kampner, owner of a former hide processing plant on Lakeville Road. The property of the now defunct plant has been zoned residential in accordance with the village master plan. Kampner asked that it be returned to industrial to protect his interests.

A Memorial Day parade at 10 a.m. May 30 was announced.

Orion Board Shuts Doors in Class-Discipline Huddle

LAKE ORION — The discipline policy as practiced by Lake Orion Community School reportedly was discussed last night when the Board of Education met in committee with complaining parents and two representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Though requested to be present by parents, a Pontiac Press reporter was barred from the meeting by mutual agreement of all present.

In a statement issued this morning, Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy said no decision had been reached during the three and a half hour meeting, but rules presented by ACLU staffer Larry Fiebert for suggested inclusion in the district's policy handbook had been discussed.

Fiebert recommended at a regular board meeting three weeks ago that, in cases of suspension or expulsion, both the student and parent should be entitled to a hearing of charges.

PENALTIES WEIGHED

Mundy said the application of corporal punishment and detention penalties had also been considered.

He said he anticipated no changes in the policy handbook at present, adding the board would study recommendations of the ACLU as formally presented last night.

The ACLU was brought in by a group of about 50 parents and students at a meeting three weeks ago in which the board's policy of suspending a student on suspicion of smoking was assailed.

A list of ten other complaints was also made. Mundy promised this morning that all ten would be answered, after investigation, at a public meeting of the board.

He set no date for the public meeting at which the charges will be answered.

Pound Still Has Britain Shaky

LONDON (AP) — How sterling is the pound six months after devaluation? To answer that, the British are looking not only to themselves, but to Washington and the dollar.

Full confidence in the pound has not returned because the British know their currency is still at the mercy of international financial storms. Nor has British self-confidence returned, either politically or economically, because no one can safely say whether devaluation is doing its intended job of restoring national solvency.

Last week the pound trembled in the world's money markets for a complex of reasons ranging from reported Russian troop movements to the distrust, and even hatred, of Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his Labor government felt by British and foreign businessmen.

Little of this had anything to do with the underlying strength or weakness of the British economy, but it was enough to keep buyers away from British pounds.

SYMPTOMATIC

This situation was symptomatic of what the men who deal in money were saying not about the pound, but its political masters. Many felt Labor would hold on and let the situation drift into another devaluation.

But the fall was nothing in depth or extent when compared to the weakness of the pound exposed by the gold crises in the past six months.

When the British cut the value of their currency Nov. 18, experts including U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler warned that the dollar would go into the front line in the speculator' war against the world monetary system. The subsequent gold rush against the dollar proved these warnings correct.

Now the United States is proposing to raise taxes and is restricting foreign investment to protect the dollar just as the British have done to protect their pound. The British fear they may be caught in the backlash.

CONCERN SHOWN

British officials are also concerned lest U.S. efforts to halt the dollar drain could affect Britain's export drive, especially if Congress passes protectionist legislation against imports. The British calculate that a 5 per cent surcharge on imports to the United States, Britain's largest market, could cost this country up to $200 million a year in trade.

The six months after devaluation have not put Britain's trade into the black, but no one here expected that it would. On the contrary, the trade gap has grown wider. Imports have soared 24 per cent over last year as goods ordered earlier were delivered at higher, post-devaluation prices.

The British also have been on a record buying spree since devaluation, and despite record taxes imposed in the budget in March, the spree is only now beginning to tail off. Automobile sales at home dropped sharply last month, making way for record export orders.

Before the budget, a treasury forecaster predicted that the spending spree would have to blow itself out "because there just isn't that much money left."

PUZZLING EFFECT

But the psychological effect of devaluation apparently confounded the treasury as people fled from paper money into any kind of durable goods. The gold rush and devaluation combined to boost sales of jewelry by 41 per cent in March. Nowhere has the effect of a cut in currency values been more pronounced than in the stock market. All indexes have pushed to record highs since devaluation as buyers rushed into the market and sellers held back.

In exports, the picture is clouded.

Leaders of the motor industry have told the government that this year they expect to export 246,000 more vehicles, worth $240 million. British shipbuilders, reorganized into larger units under government prodding during the past two years, estimate that during the first quarter of the year they scooped up $240 million in new orders, largely because of a price advantage from devaluation.

But in the engineering industry as a whole—the metal, machine and electrical products which form the backbone of the export drive—production showed no sign of a rise through the early part of the year. Many in the industry report that German and Japanese competitors have cut prices to match British competition.

SURPLUS IS GOAL

The government says the picture will not clear at least until the end of the year. It is aiming for a regular surplus of 500 million pounds, or $1.2 billion, a year to pay back the debts that piled up in defense of the pound. But it doesn't expect to reach that figure until 1969.

One scientist believes that extensive planting of trees in California will help offset smog, as the tree leaves help maintain a healthy balance of carbon dioxide and oxygen in the air.

The Nation Salutes Its Hospitals

This is National Hospital Week.

Established in 1953, it is observed annually, with May 12 designated National Hospital Day in commemoration of the birthday of FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE. Some 5,800 of the Nation's community hospitals participate in programs highlighting the period.

Pontiac General honors 176 10-year employes at an award dinner and St. Joseph Mercy scheduled a similar event for approximately the same number.

Pontiac Osteopathic serves a Florence Nightingale tea today honoring its employes.

The three institutions present a diversity of exhibits, public tours and promotional designs aimed at recruitment of personnel for careers in the medical and health-care professions.

The PRESS commends the administrators, staffs and workers of the area hospitals on the outstanding job being done in safeguarding the health of the citizenry while treating the ailing.

Railroading Costs Run Away With Earnings

Once again, it is being shown that in the long run there is no way to beat inflation — other than through sound governmental fiscal and monetary policies. Cost-cutting innovations, advancing technology and greater efficiency act as a buffer between the consumer and inflation for a time. But, they cannot accomplish the impossible.

The railroads are an excellent case in point. In spite of continuing improvements in their operations, together with startling technological breakthroughs that have meant more economical and faster service for shippers, they have been compelled to seek increases in freight rates and charges "at the earliest practicable date."

The rail petition to the ICC noted that without new increases, railroad earnings would be seriously inadequate to finance needed improvements and insufficient for the maintenance of economical and efficient service and for the preservation of a national transportation system.

For Class I railroads, the 1967 rate of return fell to 2.46 per cent. This was the lowest income in any year since 1946, except for the 1960-61 period. But the full effect of current cost increases has yet to be felt. These include substantially higher wage rates, higher taxes, continuing rises in prices of materials and soaring interest rates.

In granting a previous rate increase, the ICC noted the railroads' reliance on continued advances in efficiency, and concluded that "to the significant extent that money must be borrowed to finance such improvements in the future, it is plain that the credit position of the railroads must be sustained by an adequate and realistic level of earnings."

This is truer today than ever before.

Micronesia Seen as New Tourist Magnet

The world is fast running out of places where tourists cannot or dare not tread. Guided tours of the Amazon jungle are easily arranged. Antarctica has played host to a few hardy travelers. Today, a new airline comes into being to serve the approximately 2,100 Pacific islands and atolls known collectively as Micronesia.

Air Micronesia is 31 per cent owned by Continental Air Lines, 20 per cent by Aloha Air Lines, and 49 per cent by the United Micronesia Development Association. The carrier will provide inter-island service as well as flights between Hawaii and Majuro and between Okinawa and Saipan.

A U.S. government official on Saipan has said that the new air service will be the "most significant economic development for the islands in recent years." He added that "Micronesia is comparable to Hawaii and southern Florida prior to their rapid tourist development."

Any sort of development would be welcome in Micronesia, which is administered by the U.S. Department of Interior under a United States trusteeship. Federal aid to the islands has been niggling, with the result that little progress has been made in improving substandard schools, hospitals and transportation.

An influx of tourist money could help to solve such problems. But first somebody will have to build the hotels and other facilities to accommodate travelers.

Time for Peaceful Bridges to China

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

Vice President Humphrey introduced a realistic note into the current debate on American foreign policy with his suggestion that now is the time to build "peaceful bridges" to Red China.

He was looking beyond the Vietnamese conflict when he said the United States could usefully pursue toward the Chinese the same policy of increased contact that has been followed in Russia and Communist East Europe.

It takes courage for a presidential aspirant to suggest a rapprochement with Peking at this time. But as Bismarck once said, the most important diplomatic element in strategy — military or political — is clarity about one's intentions.

No matter how abhorrent Mao Tse-tung's ideology and policies may be, the existence of Red China is a fact of life that can no longer be ignored by the United States.

NUCLEAR OUTLAW

Indeed, there can be no peace in all of Southeast Asia as long as China's mainland with a population of some 700 million remains isolated and a nuclear outlaw.

As Humphrey warned, "national isolation breeds national neurosis."

It is increasingly clear that the Russians, plagued by troubles in their own country and in the satellites of East Europe, would like to liberate themselves from the costly North Vietnamese albatross.

Moreover, the Kremlin rulers have always been convinced that the Communists stand to gain more at the negotiating table than on the battlefield.

TORTUOUS TWISTS

But it is fear of Red China that is the reason for the tortuous twists and turns in Hanoi's peace negotiations. As long as Mao sulks in his isolation, intent on making trouble, Ho Chi Minh is in no position to engage in meaningful negotiations.

There is still another compelling reason why Humphrey's suggestion should be taken seriously.

The Russians have their hands tied in Europe, the Middle East and Latin America as long as they confront Red China across a border of 4,000 miles. It is thus in their interest to tighten the ring of isolation around Mao.

The Soviet leaders are facing an uphill struggle in their efforts to excommunicate Mao from the world Communist movement.

ANTI-CHINESE MEET

Only 51 Red parties showed up at the recent conference at Budapest, Hungary, to prepare an anti-Chinese conclave that is to meet in Moscow in November.

Last March a similar Russian-sponsored conference was attended by representatives of 67 parties. Even then six Communist-dominated countries — including North Vietnam, North Korea, Yugoslavia and Cuba — ignored the conference. A seventh country, Romania, walked out of the meeting, complaining of Russia's attempts to dominate it. Now Romania has been joined by Czechoslovakia.

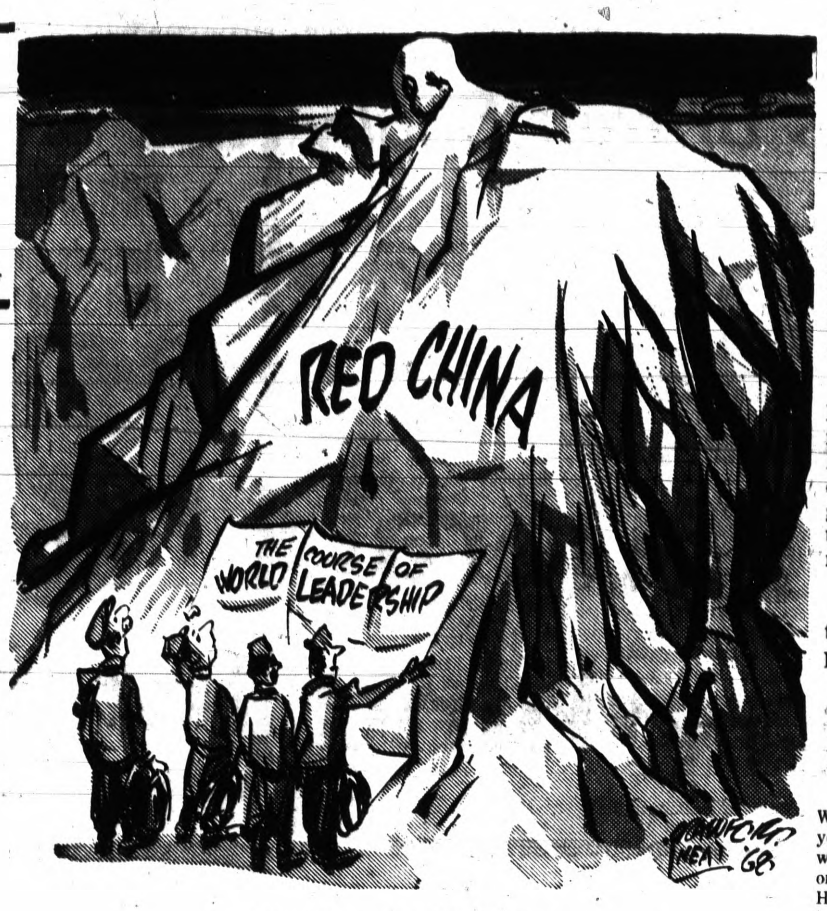
Nevertheless, the destruction of Mao's regime and Russia's control of Red China remains the chief target of Kremlin foreign policy.

And what is bad for Moscow is good for the United States and the free world.

PEACEFUL BRIDGES

This does not mean that in order to build peaceful bridges to China's mainland the United States can or should desert Chiang Kai-shek's nationalist government in Taiwan.

But it does mean that the time is ripe for a new look at China's mainland and for fresh ideas of the type suggested by Humphrey.



Just Because It's There

David Lawrence Says:

Vice President Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON — It may well be wondered what significance can be attached to the victory of Sen. Robert Kennedy over Sen. Eugene McCarthy in the Nebraska primary.

LAWRENCE

The name of Vice President Humphrey — the contender for the Democratic nomination who will doubtless have the support of President Johnson — was not on the ballot and had to be written in because Humphrey entered the race after the filing process had been completed. He nevertheless obtained an 8 per cent write-in, as contrasted with the 5 per cent write-in for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

It would appear from these returns that Humphrey may still get much of Nebraska's support at the national convention.

The Gallup Poll among Democratic voters which was announced this week showed Humphrey with 40 per cent, as contrasted with 31 per cent for Sen. Kennedy and 19 per cent for Sen. McCarthy.

This shows a drop of 4 points in Sen. Kennedy's strength since a similar poll was taken in April.

NO DOUBT

There seems to be no doubt that Vice President Humphrey is gaining ground.

The next three primaries — in Oregon, California and South Dakota — will not reflect this strength with the voters, as he is not on the ballot. But there will again be a write-in vote which probably will be larger than he received in the previous primaries.

The Humphrey campaign has taken on considerable momentum in the last 10 days, and unquestionably administration officials right down the line favor Humphrey for the nomination.

The President recently cautioned his Cabinet officers and high officials to refrain from participating in the preconvention campaign. But this doesn't mean that many of the officeholders throughout the country who are aware of the importance of a position sympathetic with the Johnson administration will miss any chance to pass the word along to the local organizations that Humphrey now is the "favorite son" of the administration.

CONSERVATIVE BOOST

On the Republican side, the vote for Gov. Ronald Reagan, which amounted to 22 per cent as compared with Nixon's 71 per cent, could indicate that the ultraconservative segment of the party is expressing itself.

Nixon probably will not lose any of the Reagan votes if he is nominated for the presidency, but it could build up the movement to give the California governor the vice presidential nomination.

Likewise, it has been suggested by some Rockefeller supporters that maybe Gov. Reagan would be acceptable for second place on the ticket if Gov. Rockefeller wins the Republican nomination.

On the whole, the Nebraska primary doesn't settle anything. It does confirm the results in other primaries thus far which show Nixon as the favorite of most of the regular Republicans throughout the country.

The campaign for Gov. Rockefeller has not yet achieved the momentum which his supporters had hoped it would. But they are by no means discouraged by the results and point out that there is plenty of time during the next two and one-half months for the merits of the Rockefeller candidacy to be given consideration by the professional politicians.

Bob Considine Says:

Abe the Peacemaker Gets Little Cooperation

NEW YORK — My intrepid friend Abe Nathan, of No. 3 Esther Hamalka St., Tel Aviv, is working as hard to clear up the bristling differences between Israel and the Arab world as are the delegates to the Vietnam truce talks in Paris.

CONSIDINE

The big difference is that Abe is getting even less cooperation than Ave (Harriman, that is.) The Israeli government has Nathan up for trial on eight counts, which is something of a handicap for a peacemaker.

Five of the counts concern the legality of Abe's two solo peace flights to the Arab world. No credit is given to him for succeeding in not being shot down by either the Israelis or the Arabs.

The sixth charge is for flying without getting permission from the minister of interior, to which he has pleaded guilty.

MAN OF CONTROVERSY

The last two charges are based on the law which is primarily meant for those people who are considered either spies or traitors or who seek harm for the country.

"If I am accused (or found guilty) on the last two counts, I shall naturally, to put it bluntly, raise hell," Abe writes, bluntly.

Abe is a man of controversy in Tel Aviv. When he returned safely to the city after flying as far as Port Said in his tiny, unarmed aircraft — the Egyptians would not let him proceed to Cairo and speak to Nasser, but treated him well — he was hailed by some as a kind of Jewish Lindbergh. But the government took a dim view.

"I wish the government of Israel were able to make some form of gesture of good will in order to enable the Arabs to save face and sit with us," he writes. "The mood in this country is one of sad confusion. Nobody seems to know what the answer is.

WAIT FOR RETALIATION

"Every time someone is killed by a mine which was placed by the El Fatah organization, the whole country is awakened and we wait anxiously for a retaliation. But the feeling among most people is that while you cannot keep quiet and have mines blowing up people all around the country, the retaliations (though presumably necessary) do not solve anything.

"My fear is that the El Fatah on the other side are turning into national heroes and if this feeling spreads around within the territories of present-day Israel, then we are going to have a rough time all summer.

"Yet, nobody knows what really should be done. I most certainly doubt whether our leaders have any solution because we are still harping on the same string that we have been harping on for the past 20 years, when we asked the Arabs to sit and negotiate directly — knowing fully well they would not."

Voice of the People:

'Teen's Views on Draft Raise Several Questions'

I always thought women of our country should be drafted as well as men, and now I am sure. I arrived at this conclusion after reading a recent Voice of the People letter written by a teenager who said, "although I am a girl I would gladly go if I were called."

I would like to ask this girl some questions: How much courage did it take to make that statement in view of the fact that you know you do not have to back it up? Why is it always the draft-exempt who feel qualified to tell others they should go to war without protest? Has your husband gone to war? Do you have a son in Vietnam? Have you received your draft notice yet?

If you cannot answer "yes" to at least one of the last three questions, I suggest you refrain from passing judgment until you can.

'Deep Cuts in Foreign Aid Are Essential'

Before the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Treasury Secretary Fowler warned: "Our economic future and that of the entire free world are at stake in this hour of fiscal responsibility." One feels compelled to propose big corrective measures. A 20-8-12 formula is imperative: $8 billion could be taken from the $11.3 billion presidential foreign aid request for fiscal '69. As of August 22, 1967, unliquidated AID funds from prior years' authorizations totaled $16.3 billion; $12 billion could be taken from these unliquidated AID funds.

Foreign aid is the culprit responsible. This proposed deep cut in foreign aid is obligatory for the restoration of fiscal responsibility. In Representative Mills' hands may rest the greatest opportunity of our time.

'System of Electing Commissioners Unfair'

Pontiac's system for electing commissioners is unfair. The editor's note in answer to two letters on the subject did not pertain. There is a difference between electing a president or state governor who each represents the whole country or state, and electing a sectional representative, such as a senator or city commissioner.

All the people of the United States do not vote for the U.S. Senators of Michigan (once Michiganders have nominated them). We would scream if this happened. That is why I think the people of District No. 1 have a legitimate complaint. Just because the 85 per cent of the majority votes to disenfranchise the 15 per cent minority of blacks does not make it right. The strength of a democracy is measured by its treatment of the minority.

Comments on Films Shown at Local Theater

Recently I attended the Campus Theater and both shows were nothing but dirty sexy films—what you might see at so-called stag parties, etc. The Supreme Court has said in effect that what is obscene to some people is not to others. A few years ago these so-called pornographic films would have been censored off the show circuit. What used to be sacred to marriage and the basis of love between two people is now exploited as "art," and "art" is just a cover-up for dirty pictures. Our children learn evil quick enough and that morals are pretty loose.

Question and Answer

I've been corresponding with a friend in England. Usually her letters take about three weeks regular mail to get here. Her last letter took six days regular. She's been using a zip code. Could this speed the letters? My letters now take two days airmail using the code.

J. M.
PONTIAC

REPLY

Postmaster Donaldson says that while use of zip codes does speed mail service and he encourages everyone to use them, he doesn't think that is the reason for the increased speed of your mail deliveries. He attributes it to direct England-to-Detroit flights for the airmail, says the regular mail that arrived in six days must have been sent by air. If space is available, regular mail is sometimes sent by plane, rather than by ship.

TV Pot Party Spurs Row on Reporter Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newton N. Minow, former head of the Federal Communications Commission and now attorney for a television station undergoing scrutiny, has argued that broadcast newsmen should not be held to stricter standards than newspaper reporters.

But Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., noting that radio and television stations are government-licensed, says their newsmen must accept a burden of "greater accountability."

The issue was joined at the windup Friday of a House Commerce investigation subcommittee's two-day hearing into the question of whether a Chicago television station staged a marijuana party for a news program.

Minow is attorney for WBBM-TV, accused by Northerwestern Universityof staging the party. The station has denied this.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY

The subcommittee heard conflicting sworn testimony on whether a reporter for the station tried to arrange th party, held in a building described as located on the university campus.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., asked station Vice President Edward R. Kenfick why police were not notified of the forthcoming party since smoking marijuana is illegal in Illinois.

"The answer is obvious," Kenefick replied. "If we had advised them we would have had no story."

"That's what I want the FCC to look into," Rogers shot back.

"Does the license for a TV broadcaster give the licensee the right to go in and witness a crime under the guise of gathering news for the public?" Rogers asked. "Is it in the public interest for a station to allow its employes to break the law without some action by the FCC?"

'GREATER ACCOUNTABILITY

After the hearing Moss was asked if there is a difference between broadcast reporters and those in the newspaper business. He said broadcast reporters "have a great accountability because they operate under a license.

"It is a different obligation than the constitutional to newspapers."

guarantee of free press granted

But Minow said, "It will be a tragic day in this country if broadcast journalists can't do the same job as print journalists."

The program, "Pot Party at a University," was televised last November. It was filmed in October.

UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORT

Malcolm Spector, 24, assistant sociology professor at McGill University in Montreal, said a station reporter unsuccessfully tried last fall to talk him into holding a marijuana party at graduate student at the time, said he suggested a panel discussion instead but this was turned down. Spector acknowledged he has smoked marijuana about six times a year over the past two years.

Spector, a Northwestern his Eveanston apartment.

The reporter, Jack Missett, 23, insisted Spector raised te point about a party during a conversation they had in Spector's apartment.

"At no time had I ever asked anyone to stage a party. Anyone," Missett said.

Missett testified he received an invitation to the party, which was filmed. Spector said he was not a participant.

DEFENDS DECISION

Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting system, which owns WBBM-TV, defended the local decision to attend and film the party as a proper one done "in the nature of investigative reporting."

Moss said the point of concern is what he termed the broadcasters' unique role in society.

"It is difficult indeed to place 'Pot Party at a University' — if it was arranged as has been indicated by Mr. Spector — inthe category of public interest or public service," Moss said.

"It is difficult to place in this category the soliciting of people, whatever their past practices, to violate a law to promote a commercially marketable product," Moss Added. "That appears to be what occurred here."

It's Diagnosis by the Numbers

'Patient Monitor' Tied to Data Processing

SEATTLE (UPI) — A busy doctor telephones from his office to get a thorough reading on the condition of a hospitalized patient.

"Just a second," a nurse replies.

Then instead of going to the patient's room with thermometer, stethoscope and a device to measure blood pressure, she dials a data-processing machine.

The machine types out the answers and she reads them to the doctor.

TRANSMITTER-RECEIVER

This possibility exists in a small electronic signal transmitter-receiver developed for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by Boeing Co. personnel at Huntsville, Ala.

The device, about the size of a package of cigarettes, would serve as a tireless "electronic nurse" on duty at hospital bedsides 24 hours a day.

The instrument could be programmed to set off an alarm any time there was a significant change in the strength, rapidity or regularity of a patient's heartbeat or change in blood pressure and body temperature.

The "patient monitor" was developed under the direction of Kenneth Skinner who explains: "This is a prototype, but it indicates what may be accomplished in the future."

NOT A SUBSTITUTE

He emphasizes the monitor could not be a substitute for direct medical attention. Its value would be in extending the basic observation of a patient.

The battery-powered monitor would be worn on the patient's arm or leg and linked by electronic circuit to a central control station.

Bobby, the Candidate, Visits Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy came to Detroit for the first time as a presidential candidate Wednesday and drew thousands of eager, hand-reaching supporters from riot scarred 12th Street to Hamtramck.

How much impact he made on the party leaders and the people who will make up Michigan's delegation to the Democratic National Convention could not be determined.

Kennedy turned to the serious job of delegate wooing during the afternoon, both a reception for party members from the Detroit area and behind closed doors in his hotel room.

State Democratic Chairman Sander Levin reaffirmed his "neutrality" stand, with Kennedy at his side, before about 300 party members from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. "We have promised nothing," Levin said, "but an open ear and an open mind."

50 PER CENT

Kennedy in turn asked for equal consideration and support. His aides would not estimate how much delegate support he has in Michigan. Just Tuesday, after Vice President Hubert Humphrey visited the city, his aides claimed 50 per cent of the eventual delegates in their camp.

Most of Kennedy's six-hour visit, however, was a public display for the candidate. It began with a noontime talk in Kennedy Square that drew at least 12,000 persons. Police later estimated 15,000 were in the downtown area because of Kennedy's visit.

Kennedy, in shirt sleeves with his wife Ethel beside him, drove up 12th Street in an open convertible. He stood in the back seat while hundreds of Negro youngsters raced beside the car, reaching up at him. The car inched along in the 80-degree heat.

Kennedy stopped at one point just a block from where last July's riot began to enter the store front office of the Virginia Park Neighborhood Improvement Center. He chatted briefly with the workers in the office who have been trying to pull the neighborhood back from the effects of last summer's 43-death riot.

PUPILS, NUNS

Despite the fact that his motorcade was an hour and 20 minutes late when it arrived in Hamtramck, the main street was lined with building to building people. School children took American flags from the walls of their classrooms and came to the sidewalk. Nuns in clusters of four and five ran out to the car.

He also encountered heavy crowds near the Chrysler plant in Hamtramck and at other intersections in the neighborhood. The only problem in the day came when the motorcade was headed back for the airport. A sudden shower forced the Kennedy car to take to the shoulder while the roof was rolled up — but not before the candidate and his wife were dampened.

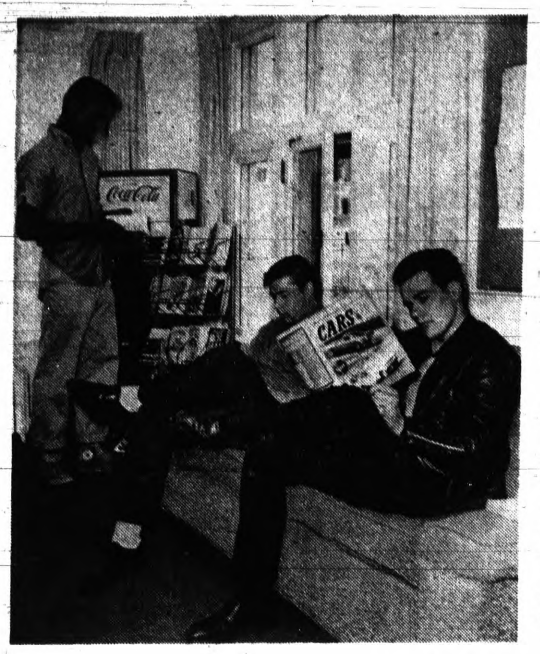
Opportunity Knocks for 45 City Students



Pontiac Press Photo

LESS SCHOOL PRESSURE — Reading what you want to read is one aspect of Pontiac schools' new individual-instruction program. Browsing through some of the high school program's 400 paperback books and magazines are (from left) George Penny of 200 Crestwood, Richard Thomas of 392 Jordan and Bill Skrine of 1465 Brown, Orion Township.

By DICK ROBINSON

Some students at Pontiac Central High School call the old, 18-room Ward mansion across the street the halfway house, the brick house or the yellow house.

But to about 45 high school dropouts or potential dropouts, who have been attending classes since January in the old house at West Huron and Franklin, it is an opportunity center—the North Central Opportunity Center, to be specific.

The name is a combination of Northern and Central high schools where the students previously attended school.

Administrators know it as the individual instructional program (IIP). It is funded through part of the summer by a $45,726 grant under Title 1 of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

UNIQUE PROGRAM

A score of visitors from across the country remember the pilot program as a unique one because students are separated from their colleagues.

Dick Ayling, program director and former counselor and coach at Central High, says the purpose of IIP is to keep students in school so they can graduate.

Most of the students are dropouts, including those suspended, truant or pregnant, Ayling reports. Others have received poor grades or have had behavior problems.

But all of them, he adds, have average or above average ability and may return to their schools when they've made sufficient progress.

POOR HOME LIFE

"They didn't give anything to school or get anything from it," Ayling maintains.

One girl had a poor home life. She missed too many days of school and was suspended.

The girl lived with three relatives within about three months, including twice with her alcoholic father who deserted her and a 6-month-old daughter. A family finally took the girl in.

One boy was a severe discipline case. He took barbiturates, threatened teachers and was in several fights at school. Ayling says he hasn't been involved in any incidents during the program.

'JUVENILE RULES'

"Teachers have told these kids for so many years, 'Why don't you grow up?'" Ayling explains. "And yet many of those teachers' rules and what they expect are those of a juvenile.

"We try to treat these students like adults, and in most cases they react like adults with no disciplinary problems."

For the first time, students feel someone is interested in them, said Ayling. They take pride in their new school.

"Even though there is a noticeable change in student and attitudes and behavior, this is not utopia," Ayling contends. "We can make improvements in this sorely needed program."

INFORMAL CLASSES

Most students attend rather informal all-day classes of 15 students in home and family living, English, math, social studies and related subjects.

"We tell them what they have to accomplish and they proceed at their own pace," explains Larry Sherwood, one of the school's three teachers.

Some students who have never read a book before have read 15 paperback books in three months, Ayling said.

The school has 400 paperback books and magazines on science fiction, race relations and hot rods, for example, which students read in class and take home on the honor system. Very few books are lost.

CONTROVERSIAL TITLES

Books read have ranged from titles like "Peanuts" to the "Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," including books with controversial titles for high school reading.

Emphasis is away from hard-cover textbooks, Ayling noted.

Another feature in what Ayling calls a "new type of education" is the giving of only A, B and C grades. Papers of lower quality are given back to be done over.

In addition to a wide range of audio-visual materials, the curriculum includes bringing in resource people from the community to speak and field trips.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Early appraisals show that everyone connected with the program likes it.

One teacher said that for the first time in 20 years he really felt he accomplished something in a classroom. Another said it was the first time he could go home and get a good night's sleep.

"This doesn't seem like a school, but more like a family," comments Central senior Mrs. Zandra Earl, who is pregnant. "You have to work like any other school, but it's more interesting.

"Students are treated more like adults here."

LEARNED TO STUDY

Northern sophomore Don Stiles, who got low grades, says he's learned to study. He likes being able to smoke on breaks between classes.

"I just didn't like the teachers before," remarks Central senior J. C. Lewis, who used to miss two days of school a week.

"I feel a lot freer to express myself. You get no static (from teachers) here."

'Czechs to Stay Red'

PRAGUE (AP) — National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky warned Wednesday that the Communist party will never surrender control of Czechoslovakia despite the current liberal trend.

Smrkovsky, a leader of the party's liberal wing, told the assembly's foreign affairs committee hat "if there is anyone in the country who wishes to make a frontal attack against the Communist party, then he is making a grave mistake."

He acknowledged that the Soviet leadership is concerned about the liberal direction the Czechoslovak party's new leaders are taking. He said the Soviet leaders asked at their meeting in Moscow May 4 with Czechoslovak officials "whether we have an adequate grasp on the situation."

He said the Prague delegation explained that the new "policy of the party followed the wishes of the overwhelming majority of the whole nation."

FEARS OF SOVIETS

"We must understand," he said, "the fears of the Soviet Union who has not only Czechoslovakia but the security of the whole Socialist camp in mind."

Smrkovsky added that "the Soviet comrades declared they do not want to, and will not, interfere in Czechoslovak internal affairs."

Prague's liberal leadership also received strong endorsement from Foreign Minister Marko Nikežic of Yugoslavia, which declared its independence from Moscow 20 years earlier and made it stick.

"In the eyes of the Yugoslav public, as well as in political circles, the Czechoslovak working class and Communist party have great weight and are respected," said Nikezic after talks in Prague with Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek.

"We in Yugoslavia have no doubt that the workers' class of the Czech and Slovak people and today's leaders of the Czechoslovak Communist party are capable of handling all the problems that now face them," he told a news conference.

Postal Setup in Britain to Go Modern

LONDON (UPI) — The British Post Office is introducing a system of mechanized mail handling which it claims will be the most advanced in the world.

The system relies on an integration of several electronic machines connected by conveyor belts — segregators which separate letters, packages and newspapers, automatic letter facers which turn all letters the same way cancelling them, and letter coding machines which imprint phosphorescent dots on the letters based on the destination's "postal code."

The letters then are "read" by automatic letter sorters at a rate of up to 20,000 an hour into individual stacks ready to be placed into bags for dispatch or for postmen to begin their deliveries.

The machines can sort 20,000 items for 20 destinations in an hour, or 7,000 items for 144 destinations. A postal employe can sort from 1,000 to 2,000 items an hour for 48 destinations.

ONE SORTING

Instead of being handled several times a letter will be sorted only once—by a machine.

"We have designed the machines so they will sort both incoming and outgoing mail whereas other countries have concentrated only on getting mail out of the office," said Stanley Hurrel, senior assistant controller in the London Post Office's building and mechanization branch.

Although only one post office (Norwich, population 118,100) now has the full mechanized system, six post offices have segregators and letter facing machines.

At least four post offices in the London area will have all the equipment in two years.

IN 10 YEARS

Officials hope the system will be fully operative in 10 years in all the largest offices now handling 75 per cent of the country's mail.

Key to the whole system is the postal code, groups of letters and numerals that represent the country's nearly 2,000 postal towns.

Like the United States' zip code, it is added to the end of an address. Fifteen major towns in Britain already have been alloted codes and three-fourths of all postal addresses will have them by the end of next year.

By introducing the codes now, officials hope to get the public used to them before the letter coding machines are in widespread operation.

TRANSLATION

Operators will then only have to translate the code into the two faint lines of phosphorescent dots.

Officials said they expected to spend 37 million pounds ($88 million) on the new equipment in the next six years. They already have spent 5.7 million pounds ($13.6 million).

Other aids include standardized envelope sizes, small electric trucks for walking postmen making parcel post deliveries, parcel sorting machines and conveyor belt systems connecting railway stations and sorting offices.

Scientists are also developing a machine to "read" addresses written in ordinary hand or typewriting.

Among the most valuable aid is the oldest — the small six and a half mile underground railway that speeds mail between major sorting centers within the city. It is 40 years old.

'Movie Scripts Are Important'

Words With Impact Are Moneymakers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The script for a two-hour movie only runs to about 140 pages.

BOYLE

Held in the hand and carelessly thumbed through, it does not look very impressive. It isn't even printed in living color.

But it can literally be worth thousands of times its weight in gold. For in the film industry a script is something like a blueprint of Ft. Knox, since the outcome of a multimillion-dollar production may depend upon whether the words upon its pages have impact.

"You have to be honest in picture making for a change," said Peter Stone, "and that is confusing to a lot of people who have never tried to be honest."

NEW WIZARD

One of the newer word wizards in the industry, Peter scored big with his first film script, "Charade," and he and cowriter Frank Tarloff won Oscars with a second try, "Father Goose."

Stone teamed up with Tarloff again to write "The Secret War of Harry Frigg," and since then he has batted out "Sweet Charity" and "Skin Game."

For a fellow only 38 that's setting a fast pace, but the blue-eyed, dark-haired writer doesn't feel particularly youthful at the moment.

"I used to be a lot younger," he remarked a bit grimly.

BORN INTO IT

Practically born into the industry — he's the son of the late Jack Stone, a top producer-writer — Peter took a master's degree at Yale, then lived 10 years in France while he served his apprenticeship grindiny out scores of television tales. He won an Emmy Award for his work on "The Defender" series, and has written a couple of Broadway musicals.

Stone spends up to six months plotting a script, only six weeks composing the dialogue, and prefers to do his actual writing away from Hollywood.

"There's an old saying about writers — no one ever got better after he went to Hollywood, so you'd better be good before you go there. I think it's true.

"Hollywood isn't a bad place, but the people who go there are trying to escape reality. That's why the whole country seems to be flocking there — to get away from cold weather, slums, and to her realities.

'KEEP IN TOUCH'

"But a writer can't afford to do that. He has to keep in touch with reality. If he gets away from reality, he's dead."

A man with positive and sometimes controversial ideas about his medium, Peter believes the film business has changed radically.

"You can still make salami pictures that get by," he admitted. "But stars alone don't guarantee success anymore, nor does subject matter alone.

"The only thing that connects is what you strike a chord of recognition in the 16 to 25-year-age group — not the bobby soxers or the dropouts but the young people who don't watch television because they are more interested in life, whi are committed and aware."

HIGH OPINION

Peter has a higher opinion of European than most American directors.

"Too many of our directors are only one-dimensional craftsmen. They are too intrigued with the camera alone. Very few want to spend time working with the writer on the script, because it cuts down on the number of films they can make."

To assure final quality, Peter feels that conscientious screenwriters are almost forced today to become writer-producers.

"They don't and won't give a writer artistic control," he said.

"The star or the director, yes. But the writers, no.

NOT BY CHOICE

"For a writer to have any artistic control, he has to become a coproducer. He has to do this, not by choice, but to fit the rules of the club."

Joyriders Kept in Check on Negro March

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Most of the poor people on the Southern caravan of the Poor People's March have a firm faith that the mere sight of them will move Congress to legislate them out of their plight.

There are, very roughly, three types of people that have ridden buses from Mississippi on a meandering route toward Washington —the leaders, the believers and the joyriders.

The joyriders, mostly Negro youths, joined the march because they never get to go anywhere and this was an excellent opportunity to travel. Most of them, in fact, intend to make it a one-way journey.

"Maybe there's nothing for me in Washington or New York," said Willie Drainer, 20, of Sunflower, Miss. "But I know for a fact there's nothing for me back home."

TOUGH TALKER

The leader is Albert Turner, 34, a chunky, tough-talking Alabama secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). He is bent on preventing violence.

"If you have to shoot and cut," he told the 400 persons on the caravan, "then go back home and do it there."

He has 20 tough young Negroes in blue jackets that proclaim, in red letters, "SCLC Poor People's March — Marshal."

Every day, they check the marchers and the buses for anything resembling a weapon.

STRATEGIC POSTS

The marshals take up strategic posts in the brief foot marches, watching for anyone with a yen to heave a rock. The distinct impression is that they will not hesitate to employ a little violence of their own to keep the group from getting out of hand.

"Some folks are trying to get in our ranks, black and white, and mess us up," Turner told his group. "Whenever you find cats talking like I ain't talking, you let me know. We're going to leave them on the road there."

One of Turner's followers is Rosa Walker, a 70-year-old widow who got $100 a month in benefits to support a daughter, a son, nine grandchildren and a great-grandchild back in Grenada, Miss.

A short, fat, wrinkled woman in a straw sun hat with a white bandanna around her neck, Mrs. Walker plainly sees a new day ahead.

FLAT CONVICTION

"They just haven't really heard us before," she says with flat conviction. "But once they see us and talk to us they just can't not do something about it."

Booker T. Poole, 26, has that faith, too, and it was strong enough to convince him to give up his job in an Atlanta service station to join the march.

But while the thought of failure has apparently not occurred to Mrs. Walker, Poole seems to have thought of it.

"This is something we're supposed to have had for the last 100 years, and they've just been holding us off. I hope we will accomplish what we're looking for without any violence. If they don't start anything, then we won't," Poole said.

GAVE UP JOB

"But I gave up $70 a week to do this and something better come out of it all."

Turner, at every stop, continues to talk hard to his people.

"Don't let me catch you jiving with my freedom," he said. "You want to play around, you want to beat up people, then you get away from me."

In the civil rights movement, "working on the case" means sticking to the goals and the nonviolent principle.

WORKING ON CASE

"If I'm going to get killed around here, then it's because I'm working on the case not jiving," Turner said.

And then at a stop in South Carolina, he turned to more mundane problems.

"I want you people to stop asking me for shoes," he said plaintively. "We're going to Washington to represent people without shoes. If you don't have any, go barefoot."

Rosa Walker looked down at her rubber shower clogs and said "What do you think Mr. Stennis (the senator from Mississippi) is going to say when he sees my shoes?"

Cape Kennedy Home for Bees

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — This sprawling space center is the heart of America's drive to send men to the moon. It also houses an industry — honey bee raising.

Nearly 2,000 colonies of bees inhabit the outer areas of the Kennedy Space Center along with an abundance of fowl and animals.

The bee colonies, which contain 60,000 to 100,000 bees each, are owned by commercial beekeepers who rent space annually from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to give bees access to the variety of flowers that grow wild on the subtropical moon base.

NASA stipulates that the beehives be placed away from work areas and must be moved if a conflict develops.

"We have never had any problems with the owners or the bees," said J. F. Cain, chief of real estate at the space center. "They both have been very cooperative."

End Is Near for Missouri Sugar Camp

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP) — Maple syrup in Missouri? That's right. Tucked away in he Ozark foothills, Perry Mayfield operates the last of the Missouri sugar camps and he says "this is my last year."

Mayfield used to produce more than 200 gallons of syrup a season and there were seven or eight other sugar camps in the area. Now, he turns out about 110 gallons for sale each season and turns down orders by the dozens.

The sugar camp is about one-half mile from the Mayfield home in a grove of mammoth hard maples which bear a multitude of small circular scars.

Before the sap starts rising, the biggest job is cutting and trimming the saplings, generally oak, to feed the insatiable gullet of the open furnace where the "water," the tasteless, colorless sap from the maples is boiled in the first stages.

150 TREES

It takes about 50 gallons of the "water" to make one gallon of syrup. Mayfield has more than 150 trees in production. On good days during the season, which extends from the last of January to about mid-March, about five gallons of sap trickle from a tree into the galvanized pails.

Inside a hut nearby, the sap is carefully boiled in a vat for some time, then strained through several thicknesses of cloth into a cream can and taken to the house for final processing.

In the basement of the Mayfield house, the syrup is dumped into a large copper boiler and cooked to a boil again. This cooking continues for an indefinite period while Mayfield spoons out a dab at a time to see if the consistency is right — too thin, the quality is poor; too thick, it turns to maple sugar.

Mayfield is 65 and has worked the sugar camps in Missouri since he was a child. He may be serious about quitting, but daughter Linda says he has voiced the same "old refrain every year since I can remember.

"No one will know for sure," Linda adds, "until the sap starts rising next year."

Parisian Isle Offers Spot for Rural Life

WASHINGTON — James Jones of Illinois and Princess Bibesco of Romania live on and love the Ile St. Louis in the heart of Paris. Both are true to the island in their fashion.

Kenneth MacLeish, a senior assistant editor of National Geographic, interviewed novelist and aristocrat for his article in the May magazine about the Ile St. Louis and its better-known neighbor, the Ile de la Cite.

"I love this doggone island," Jones said, "There's nothing like it. quiet. Great people. The shopping street's like a village market. You ought to see the fish store after dark. It's like a painting.

"See that crummy old launch by the shore? There's an old guy who lives there, sort of a bum. Sometimes he makes a pot of big-hearted stew and invites in all the other bums — the clochards, the French call them . . ."

ISLAND'S DOWAGER

Princess Bibesco, widow of a Romanian industrialist and dowager of the island, accorded MacLeish a rendezvous at her home on the western tip of the tiny isle.

"From this spot," she said, "I can see the Cite,' the Paris of our early kings, and the Right Bank, where their successors reigned. I see the oldest and the newest, and many things that are timeless.

"I see the symbols of each season, there below; just now, the new leaves, the lovers (see them walking, hand in hand?), the old clochard searching the gutter for something of value. And always I see the river running away to the sea."

The Ile de la Cite rides the Seine like a great ship with the Ile St. Louis towed from its stern. The Cite, MacLeish writes, is "the kernel of French culture, the seed from which sprang France's capital and France itself."

ROMAN TEMPLE

Notre Dame de Paris rests on a spot at the Cite's upstream end. A Celtic tribe called the Parisii worshipped forest gods there until the Romans came. A Roman temple and Christian churches occupied the site before the present cathedral was started in 1183.

Permanent residents of the Cite now are limited to two clusters at each end of the isle. In the 12th century, however, it teemed with life. MacLeish resets the scene:

"The medieval Cite contained three- and four-story houses of wood and plaster, leaning inward over bustling alleys, their windows spewing occasional additions to the filth underfoot.

"Knights, serfs, monks, men-at-arms, artisans and shopkeepers traveled these pungent ways, discoursing loudly in decayed Latin and foreign tongues ranging from English to Syrian."

While the Cite grew from medieval squalor into splendor, the Ile St. Louis lay fallow. "Until 1614, MacLeish says, "it was a sylvan spot where cows browsed and Parisians came to fight duels, make love, and engage in other outdoor sports."

IDEAL COMMUNITY

In the 17th century, Louis XIII transformed the pastures into an ideal community with paved streets, stone-clad quays and houses of high style.

The Ile St. Louis escaped damage in the Revolution and two world wars. Today, the isle is home to the Princess, the novelist, and 6,000 other Louisiens who live in an atmosphere of provincial peace in the center of a great city.

Egypt Gets Russian Aid for New Plant

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union pledged to supply Egypt with equipment for construction of an iron and steel complex under an agreement signed here Wednesday.

The new project is rated as the second biggest in Egypt, after the Aswan High Dam, which also was financed by Moscow.

The new complex will be built at the industrial center of Helwan, near Cairo.

The agreement provides the Soviet Union will supply Egypt equipment worth $168 million. The estimated cost of the whole project is $720 million, an official statement said. Additional agreements will be made with other countries to share the costs of the project with Egypt, it added.

Space Probes Gun-Launched

Reach Altitudes as High as Astronauts

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — In 1965, Jules Verne described an epic journey in which three travelers circumnavigated the moon in a capsule fired from a huge cannon. The barrel, as long as three football fields, was sunk into the ground like a monstrous well.

A century later, man is approaching the moon with different tools — rockets that fire themselves — but Verne's vision has not been forgotten. Converted naval guns, while not shooting for the moon, are sending payloads as high as the altitudes reached by Gemini astronauts.

The launching of high-altitude sounding probes from guns is a fledgling science, some five years younger than the ssill-youthful space age.

Yet in this short time, fully instrumented payloads have been lofted as high as 129 miles and have attracted the interest of the Army, the Navy, the Environmental Science Services Administration, the Canadian and British governments and several corporations and universities.

MAJOR CENTER

To use the technique, equipment had to be designed to 60,000 times the force of gravity. (The worst shocks on a manned space flight, including launch and reentry, are only withstand shocks as high as seven Gs.)

One of the major probe-shotting centers is the Space Research Insitute, now part of Norwich University in Vermont.

Started in 1962 by Dr. Gerald V. Bull of McGill University in Montreal, SRI was supported, until last year, by both Canadian and U.S. dollars.

Canadas' Ministry of Industry and Defense Production, after some infighting about how its limited funds should be spent, withdrew its support. McGill told SRI that it would have to stand on its own det; the institute decided to cross the border to greener pastures.

SMALLER PRIJECTIL

SRI's basic idea is that a gun's performance can be greatly improved by using a smaller and lighter projectile than the one for which the gun was designed, such as an 8-inch-diameter load in a 16-inch gun, while keeping the powder charge the same.

To hold pressure in the gun until the projectie leaves the barrel, the projectile body is fitted with a sabot.

Though the word means shoe in French, it is more like a collar, threaded onto the projectile and just fitting the inside of the barrel. Once outside the gun, the sabot automatically falls away.

Most of SRI's work is done in Vermont, where 5-, 7- and 16-inch guns are fired horizontally along a camera-equipped course into an instrumented hillside, as well as straight up to test the probes and instruments themselves.

MOST PSECTACULAR

The most spectacular installation, however, is at Barbados in the West Indies, where a 16-inch gun handles a variety of projects.

To keep pressure behind the payloads longer, thus increasing altitude, SRI engineers welded a second barrel on the end of their gun, producing a tube reaching more than 100 feet in the air.

A 150-to-160-footer is planned in about six months, according to SRI's president, Jack Woolley.

In the past, the big gun has been used horizontally to skip a payload across the ocean to a recovery ship waiting dozens of miles away. Most of the work, however, is vertical.

VAPOR CLIUD STUDIES

In March the gun provided Britain with that country's first high-altitude vapor cloud studies of earth's magnetic field, the first eyperiments in what is expected to be an extended project.

Another probe-shooter is the U.S. Army, whose Ballistic Research Laboratory fires instrumented payloads from Alaska, New Mexico ,Arizona, Vermont and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's launch site at Wallops Island, Va.

Implore Young Friend to Tell Mother; if This Fails, Ask Her to Write Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I go to a private school and share a room with a girl I'll call Mary. She is a lovely girl from a very good family. She started going with a boy who goes to a prep school near here. I guess you could call it "love at first sight." They saw an awful lot of each other. Too much, really.

ABBY

Well, Mary finally broke down and told me she was "worried." She thinks she's pregnant. She hasn't gone to a doctor and won't go to one because she's afraid her folks will find out.

She won't tell her boy friend. I'm the only person she has told, and I promised her on my life I wouldn't say a word to anyone.

Abby, she is starving herself to keep thin and she cries all the time. What can I do to help her? MARY'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Implore Mary to tell her mother at once. If you do nothing more in your young life than to persuade Mary that in time of trouble her parents are her best friends and stand ready to help her, no matter what her problem is, you will have earned a star in your crown. If you fail, please ask her to write to me.

DEAR ABBY: There is a new assistant clergyman at our church who seems to be very well liked by everyone — especially the young people. I was shocked and disappointed last Sunday to see him standing out in front of the church right after services smoking a cigarette.

This bothered me so much that I wrote him a note telling him I thought he was setting a bad example for the young people, and if he had to have a smoke he should at least wait until he could do it behind closed doors. He telephoned me and told me that he wasn't proud of his smoking habit, but he had it bad, and he would be more ashamed sneaking a smoke in private than smoking in public. What is your opinion? — CHURCHGOER

DEAR CHURCHGOER: I admire the young clergyman's honesty, but I deplore his weakness.

DEAR ABBY: The girls in our bridge club invite your opinion or comments about a person who sends a strange substitute in her place when she cannot attend without mentioning it to the hostess.

We have one member in our group who always does this. Afterwards she says that she owed "so and so" an invitation, and this is how she pays back her social obligation. We have never heard of this, and we all feel that if one of our members cannot come, we would prefer inviting our own substitute. (We all have friends to whom we "owe" an invitation.)

Several of us have gone to the door when we entertain the bridge club to meet a complete stranger who announces that she has come to substitute for "Frannie."

What do you suggest? — BRIDGE GALS

DEAR GALS: I suggest that you "gals" get together and vote on the method for providing a substitute should a member be unable to attend. Then give Frannie the word, and if she doesn't observe the rules, give her the gate.

DEAR ABBY: I did what you advised the mother of a teen-aged daughter to do. I gave up nagging at her about her messy room and simply closed her bedroom door.

Today, my once-sloppy teen-aged daughter is a married woman, and I can't believe what a terrific little housekeeper she has turned out to be.

When I visited her one day last week, I draped my sweater over a chair. She very indignantly said, "Mu-thurrrr, please let me hang up your sweater — you are messing up my whole house!" — AMAZED MOM

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Never Cancel One Invitation for Another

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Friends of ours dropped by one day and invited us to see their new home the following Saturday evening and have coffee. In the meantime we turned down a second invitation because of the first.

At noon that particular Saturday, the man who invited us called and said friends of theirs had invited them to supper that night and he felt they had to accept, as they had turned this couple down twice before, so he would have to cancel our visit, but would we drop by any time we were in their area.

We were hurt by this. Is it proper to accept and then cancel invitations at the last minute?—Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: You have every right to be hurt and annoyed, too. One of the rudest things anyone can do is to cancel an invitation to accept another. The man should have explained to the others that he was having guests and could not accept their invitation, whether he had refused twice or 20 times before.

Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. and don't forget to include your name and address.

Grand Opera Association Marks 25 Years

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
(First of Three Articles)

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Detroit Grand Opera Association. In 1943 the organization began as the Detroit Opera Society, but the following year the name became the Detroit Grand Opera Association.

Including this year's operas which will be presented in the Masonic Temple next week by the Metropolitan, the Detroit Grand Opera Association has offered 52 different operas with a total of 187 performances.

- The Philadelphia LaScala Company gave 16 operas 64 times.
- The New York City Opera presented 28 operas for 58 performances.
- The Metropolitan Opera—in the last 10 seasons—will have presented 38 operas for a total of 65 performances.

Some of the most frequently performed operas have been: Carmen, 17 times; La Boheme, 16; La Traviata, 15; Aida, 13 and Madama Butterfly, 11 times.

From the beginning, women have played an active part. In 1951, when the New York City Center began its visits to Detroit, the Women's Committee was greatly expanded.

This was the time when the dynamic civic worker, Mrs. Helen Huff McEvoy, was chairman assisted by Mesdames: William M. Walker Jr., William T. Gossett, Gunnar Karlstrom, J. S. Leszynski and John N. McLucas.

WIDENING INFLUENCE

Area and divisional chairmen were appointed, who in turn, recruited committee members. Considerable promotion work took place in the out-state major cities as well.

Through the assistance of Mrs. Gossett, a strong Dearborn committee was formed. It was a time when concentrated efforts were needed to reach music lovers and to solicit their help to sell tickets. New York City Opera was not well known here. The New York card cooperated with the Detroit board, sending several of their top artists each year to appear at teas in different localities as well as to make appearances in the schools, on the radio and TV.

No one will ever forget the first time Thomas Schippers visited Detroit for such a promotion. Mrs. Gossett and the late Mrs. Edward Rothman had arranged an afternoon gathering at the Bloomfield Open Hunt to hear opera singer, Jack Russel, whom Schippers accompanied.

Schippers' youthful charm enchanted the audience and he "sold" the opera to them. As we all know, he is now the eminent conductor of the Metropolitan and other major orchestras. He was a favorite here for many years.

WORKERS

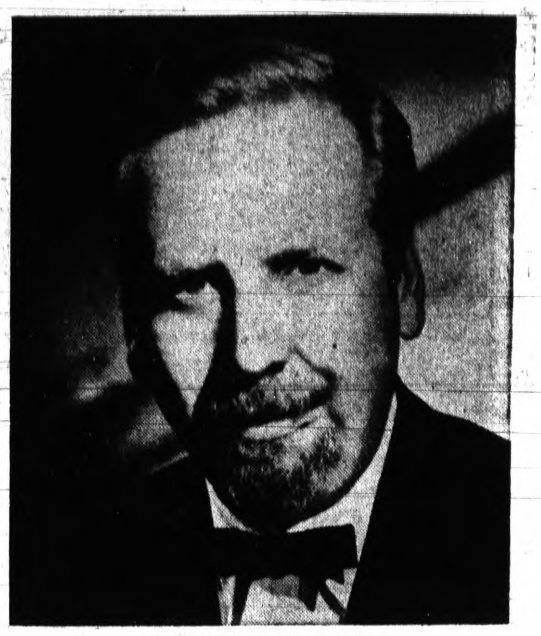
Throughout these years Reuben Ryding was general manager and vice president of Detroit Grand Opera Association.

Some of the active opera supporters were Mesdames: Ralph L. Polk, Noel Buckner, Martin Butzel, LeRoy W. Dahlberg, Lester A. Coleman, Henry C. Johnson, Luther R. Leader, John F. Gordon and William B. Bachman Jr.

Others were Mesdames: Richard B. Darragh, S. D. Foster, Fred H. Rollins Jr., Aaron Gershenson, Walter Gehrke, Raymond T. Perring, Anthony Mauillo and Norman H. Strouse (now living in New York).

Continuing the list were Mesdames: S. J. Lang, Abraham Cooper, William C. Newberg, Roy Hawkinson, K. G. Aronsson and the late Mrs. H. H. Gardner and the late Mrs. Matthew Cammareri.

To prevent a nylon slip from clinging to a uniform or sheer dress, dust both garments with talcum powder.



SKITCH HENDERSON

Skitch Henderson Due at Pontiac Symphony

Skitch Henderson, composer, conductor, pianist, and well known concert and television performer, will be guest conductor and solo pianist for the final concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra this season.

The concert is Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Howard C. Baldwin Pavilion on Meadow Brook Festival grounds.

Following graduation from college, Henderson began his career as a rehearsal pianist and orchestrator for motion pictures.

His serious conducting career began with a Carnegie Hall debut before the New York Philharmonic. He has appeared as guest conductor with many of the major orchestras of this country.

TO DIRECT

He will direct the orchestra Sunday in "A Laurentian Overture" by Shulman and the 'L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2" by Bizet; perform "American in Paris" by Gershwin (in which Felix Resnick will lead the orchestra); and double as conductor and soloist in a group of well-known selections from Broadway, Hollywood and the pens of George Gershwin and Richard Rogers.

* * *

Tickets are available at the Pontiac Symphony Office in the Riker Building, from Arthur's of Pontiac, Hudson's ticket service, or at the gate, while they last.

Sing, Dance Black Protest

A different type of protest show, Brothers Unlimited "Black Choreologia" will be presented at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus

Alfred "Slick" Campbell is featured as poet, drummer, singer and reciter in the group which seeks to tell the apocalyptic message "that the black man can and must, by the power of creative expression, reconcile men everywhere to God's eternal admonition, 'Love they Neighbor as theyself.' "

Others appearing will be director Aaron L. Thompson, reciter-dancer; Charles Solomon, flutist-sculptor; Avinde Dgou, flutist-reciter; Mack Mason, drummer, and LaDrena, interpretive dancer.

The performance is open to the public. It will be presented on the second floor of "M" building, with a question and answer period following.

New Paint Tool

Gone are the days of dripping paints with an old fashioned roller, says the manufacturer of a new roller. This roller works with paint, wax or liquid cleaners. Liquid in handle saturates roller from inside.

Newest in Shades Pulley-Mounted

A "bottom-up" shade, mounted at the base of the window, draws up from the sill on a smooth pulley mechanism. It is especially recommended for cathedral windows with peaked tops, since the top of the shade can be cut to conform to the slant of the upper portion of the window.

This technique is also effective for ground floor windows, or wherever one wishes to achieve privacy while retaining a view from the top. Brackets for sill mounting, or outside brackets, are especially adapted to bottom-up use. Possible with most window types, except window where it might interfere with the cranks or handles.

Medical 'Emergencies' Should Be Planned

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
in Money Management

The smartest way to stay healthy these days is to be one step ahead of the game — prepared for any possible medical emergency. Although you and your family may be covered by hospital and surgical insurance, this protection does not include doctors' visits, drugs, routine eye care, dental bills and many other miscellaneous items. These can be costly.

FEELEY

How do your expenses for these items compare with those of the average family of four?

A recent study from the U.S. Labor Statistics City Worker's Budget shows that on a gross annual income of $9,191, the average family of four spends $468 a year for insurance premiums and the various medical items listed above.

This is 5.1 per cent of their income, or $39 a month for husband, wife and two children, ages 8 and 13.

Using these figures as a guide, establish your own family health patterns, based on the size of your family and their general health. Take a good long look at medical expenses for the past couple of years.

If you haven't kept any records, dig out old checkbook stubs, income tax returns, and cancelled bills.

Then try to anticipate the approximate costs for the coming year.

"That's all very well," you reply, "I'm now prepared with everything but a way to get the money!" Well, borrowing a suggestion from one of our readers, here's a way to solve that little problem. Use one checkbook, with two separate balances. Your first balance, in the proper place, is for actual expenses such as the rent, utilities and other fixed commitments.

Your second balance, which could be $10 to start with, is kept on the BACK of your stubs, and is earmarked for medical expenses. Every time you deposit your paycheck, enter that amount you have designated for your health dollars. Keep carrying the balance forward, deducting from it only those checks that you actually write for medical expenses.

Your checkbook balances, of course, by adding together your two figures, front and back of your check stub.

To go back to our family of four, remember they spent $39 a month on miscellaneous medical expenses. The husband would have been judicious if he had reserved $10 of his weekly paycheck to meet these costs.

Once you have decided on a reasonable amount to put aside for these expenses, you're going to have to be firm as well as ingenious to make the plan work. You'll find it helpful to keep a simple running record of health costs as they occur, balancing them against the reserve fund you are accumulating.

This will give you an indication of the accuracy of your first prediction, and tell you whether the figures should be adjusted up, or down.

For those families who do set aside a small amount each payday for their normal medical expenses, they discover that these bills are no longer "emergencies" — just expenses that are anticipated and can be met without loss of sleep.

Polly's Pointers

Get Well-Prepared

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Beverly who wanted some Pointers on permanent camping equipment. Our family of seven camp year-round and find the following arrangement quite satisfactory:

At the army suplus store we bought (for only a few dollars) a wooden foot locker with a double tray. Into the bottom section we put a plastic tub for washing both dishes and clothes, two cast-iron skillets, assorted pots with lids and a plastic pitcher.

Room is left for some permanent staples, such as sugar, coffee, laundry soap, flour, etc., which are all put in plastic permanent-seal containers.

In the top we put a box with enough silver for our family plus two extras. Included are bottle openers, a pancake turner, kitchen knives and other such items. There is a good sturdy small rope to use for a clothesline and some pins, liquid dish soap and scrubbing pads, dish and bath towels, washcloths, hand soap, cups, plastic drinking glasses and metal divided trays to use for plates, as well as salt, pepper and special seasonings.

A list, kept pasted to the lid of the locker, includes all the items that should be included. On our return everything is thoroughly washed, cleaned and replaced.

One metal box was also bought at the army surplus store to hold clothes and another for dry foods that do not go in the cooler. These boxes are watertight and can serve a double purpose by making camp stools.

When it is time to leave, all we have to do is to get the food packed and load the car. A container is kept filled with the proper liquid fuel for the stove and lanterns.

Tent and sleeping bags, along with any other equipment, are kept stored together so we can take off in a hurry. This is the result of several years of trying various things.—MRS. P. M.

DEAR CAMPERS—Mrs. W. S. suggests that since every family's needs are slightly different it is well to have a one-night trial camping out before starting on a long vacation trip.—POLLY

National Hospital Week, entitled "People Caring for People," means assisting Carl Western in occupational therapy at Oakland County Sanatorium for Mrs. Anne Brown of Lakeside Drive. SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I am very confused by the tension of my machine and also the size stitches that should be used for different fabrics. Would you please give us some information about this? Mrs. A. W.

Dear Mrs. A. W.:

Your question has been asked by many of our readers and to the best of my ability I shall try to answer you.

First, I never change the tension of my own sewing machine. I know this is contrary to the advice of the sewing machine companies when they demonstrate their machines, they tell you how simple it is to change back and forth. Try to remember that is their job, they do this from morning to night, and if the machine becomes too mixed up, the repair men are at their elbow to repair them.

I have never had success in changing the tension once it has been tampered with. If my machine was out of tension (in other words, both sides of your stitching are not exactly alike), I would pay to have it worked on until it is perfect.

REGULATE

The tension can be changed for different fabrics by regulating the length of machine stitching. You must always remember the weight of the fabric as well as the natural give (such as knits). The average length of stitch would be 10 to 12 stitches per inch. If you have underlined a garment, you will be stitching through four layers of fabric for each seam instead of two, therefore a longer stitch would be required. A very sheer fabric would require a shorter stitch as well as lowering of the presser bar. A knit would require a slightly longer stitch to give the seam elasticity.

I would test each type of fabric before construction. Prepare the sample exactly as you would with your garment, if you are underlining. Do the same with your sample, and stitch 10 or 12 inches. This will tell you immediately what to do.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. James G. Gray of Santee, Calif., is this week's winner. She will receive a pressing board for the following suggestion.

"With the season of summer formals coming up, I am offering a hint what worked beautifully for my daughter and I hope it will help others. For the heavy busted girls who want to wear spaghetti or thin strapped dresses but can't wear strapless bras, I make the straps with a reinforced buttonhole on the inside of straps. Iron-on tape makes a wonderful reinforcement, then run a heavy cord or strap through the dress straps and attach a skirt type hook and eye. Place one end on the end of the strap, the other on a regular bra with the straps removed. It is also a good idea to cut the fronts of the dresses a bit higher."

Dear Eunice:

With the new materials that ravel when you just look at them, is it possible to place any straight seams on the selvage edge? Mrs. C. H.

Dear Mrs. C. H.:

You should not use the selvage edge of the fabric for any seams because it is woven tighter and consequently has a tendency to draw the fabric up causing the seam to have a puckered appearance.

I would suggest that when working with any fabric that ravels, cut a slightly wider seam allowance and overcast the seams by hand before construction. This does sound time consuming, but the stitching won't have to be very close together and should be rather loose. The dangers of using the overcasting attachment on your machine are the same as using the selvage, the edges are drawn up too tight and will invariably cause a puckered seam.

New Undergrad Course to Serve Communities

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Family budgets, assisting during a family crisis, aiding social, health and educational agencies in family-oriented programs — these are some of the duties of a modern day home economist.

Michigan State University's College of Home Economics, which has offered home economics programs for more than 70 years, has established a new undergraduate program in community services. The new program expands the home economics extension major formerly offered by MSU.

"Growth in federal, state, local, and private programs of air to families with limited resources," points out Esther Everett of the MSU College of Home Economics, "have brought about a need for home economists trained in community work."

In addition to preparing undergraduates for existing community services jobs, she explains, MSU wants to anticipate the needs of communities of the future. Miss Everett serves as adviser for the new program.

The new major, according to Miss Everett, should be of interest to the growing number of college students, both men and women, who want to help others. She also believes the program will interest former students who wish to complete an undergraduate degree.

The MSU community services major is designed to permit students flexibility in course selection. Individual career interests are matched with a strong emphasis in general education and behavioral sciences.

Mother, Awaken to Your Child's Resentments

By MURIEL LAWRPNCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My 13-year-old boy has got so sassy to me that he's making this house a house of misery for me. I try to be kind when I point out his meanness to me—but all I get is more sass. My husband says to slap him when he's flip with me. But if I do, he just slaps me back—and then heads for his room to start packing his clothes and "leave home forever. . ."

ANSWER: What hurt have you given this child to make him so "mean" to you? Or hasn't it occurred to you that you have wounded him?

O. K. I now stick my neck way out in behalf of recovered truthfullness between you and this boy. When she was 13, I slapped my daughter for persisting insolence to me. And like you, I got slapped back. What's more, I got pushed, too, so that I fell to the floor. I got up, slapped again and got pushed again.

The third time I yelled from the floor, "You can push me down till doomsday, but I will get up again to slap you until you tell me what I've done to make you so disgustingly rude to me!"

She burst into tears and I was told what I had done to make her so angry with me. So my slapping was extremely successful. What I cared about was learning what I had done to block off truthful expression of her resentments at me. Which is why my slapping was successful.

But you seem to care nothing about this child's truthful expression of his resentments at you. What seems to supremely concern you is his repentance of rudeness to you, even if you have to exploit "kindness' to force it on him.

Well, his rudeness to you is not your business, my friend. Your business is yourself and what you have done to block off his open expression of those resentments to you. But for this you take no responsibility whatsoever.

No, the child must just meekly listen while you itemize his sins to him. And then hopefully break down to cry, "Oh, dearest mommy, may God forgive me for offending such an archangel as you!"

Of course your slapping was a flop. Do you think your "house of misery" is a house of rapture for this child? Do you think that kids of 13 conceive the notion of "leaving home forever" because they're so happy in it?

As a benefit for the Village Library, the Romeo Players will present their production of "The Odd Couple." In rehearsal are from left, Norman Engel, Jerry McLean, Monica Goodwin and Beryl Sylvain all of Romeo. Performances will be given in the Romeo Youth and Community Center tonight, Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The John Brennans of Judson Street announce the engagement of her daughter, Deborah C. Kirk, to Donald Colburn. He is the son of the Thomas Colburns of Green Street. Vows are slated for Sept. 21.

HemisFair Fun Wrapped in a Big Package

By JERE CRAIG

Texans, naturally, like their fun in big packages: the heritage-oriented "Six Flags" between Dallas and Fort Worth, Houston's Astrodome and its neighboring, soon-to-open Astroworld, and this summer the accent's on HemisFair at San Antonio.

The peaceful, sprawling (750,000 population) south Texas military metropolis that is best known as the site of the Alamo is observing its 250th anniversary.

City officials felt the celebration should be ambitious enough to overshadow the annual spring Fiesta doings and regular warm weather festivities that provide entertainment for the thousands of servicemen at the four armed forces installations, the residents and the steady flow of visitors.

Nearby Mexico, anxious to lure visitors to the Olympic Games at Mexico City next fall, was willing to cooperate if the celebration wouldn't interfere with the Summer Olympics in October.

THEME MATERIALIZED

Thus, HemisFair with its Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas theme materialized.

Covering 92.6 acres adjacent to downtown San Antonio and only three blocks from the shrine of Texas' independence the Alamo and its quiet, shaded but colorful garden, HemisFair has been carefully planned.

Learning from the mistakes of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, the developers "people-designed" San Antonio's international exposition.

The well-conceived pedestrian expressways expedite movement, although the mile-long waterway that creates a fiesta island over about one-fifth of the area and the ramped walkways that create a two-tier effect on the island do restrict accessibility to some of the pavilions.

PARKING ROOM

While there isn't vehicular transportation to move the visitors from one area to another, the grounds aren't so big that walking becomes a chore. Nor is there a lack of parking room.

Benches and trees, plus several outdoor amphitheaters offer restful breaks. Quite a few countries are sponsoring their own special dining and drinking rest stops.

(One of the pleasant surprises during our stay at HemisFair was the high quality of the food for reasonable prices.)

While more vast than Seattle (75 acres), HemisFair's 92.6 acres are considerably less than the tiring 646 at New York and 1,000 at Montreal last year.

OVER-ALL VIEW

A mile-and-a-half minimonorail, the lagoon cruise and the Skyride do provide the visitors a chance to see the fair without walking, but along-the-route stops aren't made.

Despite the fact some construction was still being completed during our visit, the fair grounds were kept surprisingly clean—although this condition may suffer more when the crowds increase this summer.

Estimates call for more than seven million visitors before the Oct. 6 closing. Crowds haven't been up to expectations in the early going and some of the staff have been laid off.

But the tempo is bound to pick up as name entertainment will be appearing frequently this summer at the new Convention Center built adjacent to the HemisFair grounds.

PERMANENT FACILITIES

While the 622-foot Tower of Americas—with its revolving restaurant and four observation decks—is the high point (in more ways than one) of HemisFair, there are quite a few permanent facilities that were designed for post-fair usage.

Foremost of these are the $10-million Texas Pavilion and the two-building $6.75-million U.S. complex. The General Motors exhibit, featuring a live gyroscope-oriented presentation plus displays showing the lessons of research, is another permanent edifice that will prove valuable after the fair.

Most of the visible working crew are colorfully garbed, polite and well-trained, but not actually utilized to explain the exhibits, as was done at other fairs.

Modern film techniques have been put to good use within the exhibits—particularly at the Texas and U.S. pavilion theaters—and clever architectural devices make the maximum use of the display areas while also facilitating crowd movement within the buildings.

HemisFair won't overwhelm you if you've been to Seattle, New York or Montreal. But it's a pleasant way to learn about the blending of the Americas and the fun that life offers us in the future.

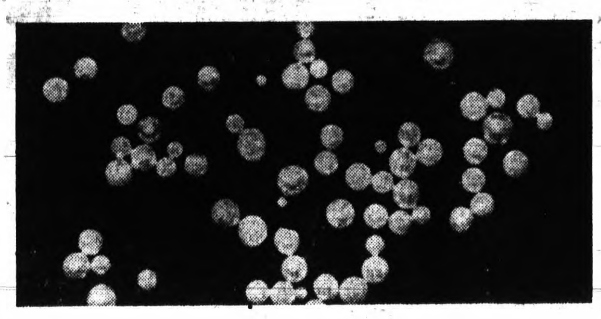
what you should know about Pearls before you buy them

It's likely that sometime you'll give—or receive—pearls in some form: a necklace, a ring, a pin. For the popularity of pearls has remained virtually unchanged for centuries. Yet few people know much about this most remarkable jewel: the only jewel created by a living creature. Perhaps we can help you make a better evaluation and wiser purchase by answering some of the most frequently asked questions.

What is the difference between "natural" and "cultured" pearls?

Actually, there's no difference—in the substance of the pearl. The natural (or "Oriental") pearl is simply formed and found more or less by accident, where the cultured pearl owes its existence to man's helping hand. Pearls, as you know, are formed around a foreign object inserted into an oyster: usually a grain of sand. If Nature introduces it, the pearl is "natural." If Man introduces it, the pearl is "cultured."

There is a third category of pearl: the artificial ones manufactured by chemistry (of materials like glue and fish scales). They have a superficial resemblance to genuine pearls, but their value and beauty are negligible.



How can you tell a fine pearl? When the oyster builds the pearl, he does it by secreting layers and layers of lime crystal tears around the intruding object. These crystals—called "nacre"—give the pearl its luster, its luminescence, its color. When you hold a pearl to the light, you should see deepening rays of light reflected and refracted through these endless layers of crystals. It's a soft, warm, living glow; an inner radiance.

On the other hand, an artificial pearl simply has surface shine.

A little historical background. Before 1907, all pearls were natural—in spite of the fact that experiments in pearl culture had begun in China in the 13th Century (where monks tucked statuettes of Buddha into oysters and were rewarded by pearl-coated Buddha statuettes). The Germans tried pearl-making in the 16th Century, using Rhine River mussels. But it was in Japan—where the finest pearl-bearing oysters are found—that naturalists pried the secret from the oyster in the late 19th Century.

Pearl-making isn't everyone's oyster. If creating a cultured pearl were as simple as inserting a grain of sand into an oyster and waiting three or four years for a pearl to emerge, the value of cultured pearls would be considerably less. However, pearl oysters are extremely rare; only in Japan and in certain parts of the South Seas are they found—and only certain species of them yield good pearls.

The pearl-producing oysters are kept in "farms," and are floated from place to place in bamboo cages as they develop. The average pearl oyster travels 200 or 300 miles in its lifetime. But even with all the controls of modern science, the percentage of production is dishearteningly small.

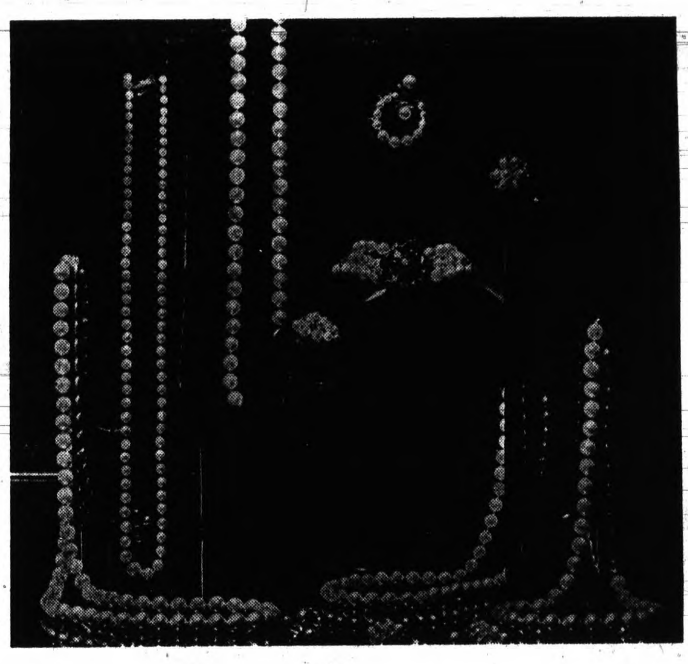
For example: while over 80% of the oysters harvested for 5 millimeter pearls (the smallest usual size—with the exception of tiny "seed" pearls) yield pearls, only 5% of these are considered fine in quality. As the pearl grows, so do its chances of becoming imperfect. Blemishes appear. The oyster dies. The pearl becomes lopsided. Fewer than half of the pearl oysters can bear larger (7mm to 9mm) pearls; and of these, only 2% are of fine quality. In fact, with 9mm pearls, only 20% of the oysters provide a yield, of which 1/10th of 1% is of fine quality.

How are pearls classified? The simplest classification is by size (Japanese pearls grow as large as 10mm, South Seas pearls as large as 15mm).

The next classification is shape; and while there are more than 15, the broadest distinction is "round" or "baroque" (irregularly shaped). "Mobe" or "blister" pearls (formed on the shell of the oyster) have a flat side, and are used primarily in pins, rings, and earrings. The third—and most important—classification is quality: the color and opalescence that are the pearl's unique qualities. Shape, cleanliness, and color are primary considerations.

In pearls—as in almost everything else—quality is more important than quantity. A small pearl of fine luster and symmetry is invariably more costly than a large pearl of indifferent quality. Unfortunately, too many people confuse size with value.

How much should you pay for pearls? While you can buy cultured pearls at many different prices, the value of an individual pearl seldom varies (except that its value increases, as the value of any fine thing increases, with the overall economy). Any variance in the price of two cultured pearls of equal quality usually lies with the dealer: how wisely he purchased the pearls, and how large a mark-up he takes. At Rose, for example, you can buy a single strand necklace of 6mm pearls for as little as $19.95; a ring with a single pearl set in 14K gold from $20, earrings from $10, bracelets from $50, pins from $20, and pendants from $10. And you can buy them with the knowledge that you're getting the very best for your investment, whether it's large or small.



A Helpful Glossary of Terms

Millimeter: the measurement of the diameter of a pearl, equivalent to 0.03937 inch. For example: 5mm equals 3/16".
Round: the most common shape, although very few pearls are perfectly symmetrical. To the untrained eye, most pearls appear round.
Baroque: irregularly shaped pearls. These can have great beauty, and often command high prices. However, their value lies in their overall quality.
Mobe: large pearls with one flat side, usually used in pins, rings and earrings.
Uniform: a strand of pearls of equal size (or what appears to be equal size).
Graduated: a strand of pearls with the largest at the center, the smallest near the clasp.
Choker: a pearl necklace that hugs the neck.
Princess: a pearl necklace approximately 18 inches long.
Matinee: a pearl necklace approximately 24 inches long.
Opera: a pearl necklace approximately 32 inches long.

BRAY-ZEN WELCOME—Army veterinarians check over Vietnam veteran at San Francisco airport.

Saddled With Red Tape

Viet War Vet Gets Nonhero Welcome

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — That's the way it is, man. You do your time in Vietnam, and when you get home you run into a bale of red tape.

Cpl. Jack A. S. Le, a tobacco-chewing burro beloved by the U. S. Army's 595th Engineering Company formerly based at Ft. Riley, Kan., arrived here Monday night by air freight from duty in Vietnam.

Cpl. Le, renowned for his prowess at picking up-and eating-cigarette butts, was unable to follow his outfit back when it returned last February.

But when he did touch down here in a Trans World Airlines freighter, did Cpl. Le-Le stands for light equipment—get a hero's welcome?

There were a few newsmen around as he was uncrated. But do you call getting your temperature taken, getting your feet washed and giving up a blood sample a hero's welcome?

And if the blood sample has to be flown to the Department of Agriculture's laboratory at Beltsville Md., to see if you picked up anything dreadful in Vietnam, do you call that red carpet treatment?

Cpl. Le apparently thought not. He bucked and brayed a bit, but what can you do?

Two Army captains and a veterinarian were fussing over him, and he seemed glad enough when they put him in the animal shelter at International Airport until his blood sample is analyzed. With him went his service folder—serial No. MB5595595 — and computer card.

TWA reserved space for him on a flight to Kansas City Wednesday.

When Cpl. Le makes it back to Ft. Riley, Orbison plans to attach him to his new outfit, the 138th Engineer Group, and promote him to buck sergeant.

Credit Reference Required of All

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — A salesman recently sold some equipment to the University of Oregon Athletic Department and demanded credit references.

But, he added apologetically, "My home office says they have to make a credit check on you people before they can ship the equipment.

"I told them you just got through paying $2.3 million cash for a stadium, but that didn't impress them."

HUD Chief to Head New NY College

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert C. Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, has been named president of a new college expected to be built in a Brooklyn renewal area.

Weaver, 60, will assume his post in January at the City University's new Bernard M. Baruch College. His appointment was announced Wednesday by the New York City Board of Higher Education.

The first Negro to hold a Cabinet position, Weaver said Wednesday he had decided to resign three weeks before President Johnson announced he was declining renomination.

The department said Weaver will leave after the November election.

URBAN UNIVERSITY

Weaver said he envisions the new four-year liberal arts college as "an institution which will become the prototype of the urban university as an idea-generation and action implementation center for meeting the paramount domestic challenge of our time."

Board Chairman Porter R. Chandler said Weaver's acceptance "symbolizes the emerging role of the university resource in the solution of our nation's urban problems."

City University, a public institution with numerous branches, has often been criticized for failing to increase the 13 per cent Negroes and Puerto Ricans among its 121,000 students.

Baruch College will replace the Baruch School of Business and Public Administration on July 1 and will be located in that school's Manhattan facilities until the 17-acre downtown Brooklyn plant is completed.

Weaver, a native New Yorker, holds three degrees from Harvard and has received 25 honorary degrees. He has written four books and has taught at New York University and Columbia University Teachers College.

National Forest Called Tinderbox

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP) — The Weather Bureau at Houghton Lake Wednesday said there was an extreme danger of fire in the Huron National Forest south of Mio. The bureau said the forest has not received any significant rainfall this month.

The fire danger was also high near Manistee and in a broad area of grassland in southern Lower Michigan and northern Ohio, the bureau said.

Rocky Seeks Votes, Woos Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller came to Pennsylvania wooing support in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination. Sources close to Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer said Rockefeller found that he had 42 votes of Pennsylvania's delegates to the nominating convention.

These sources said five delegates were committed to Richard M. Nixon and 17 seemed to be leaning toward Nixon. Shafer said he intends to use his favorite-son position to hold the Pennsylvania delegation in line during the first ballot, but that he would not be disappointed if "a governor" got the Republican nomination.

SWING POSSIBLE

This could leave the way open for a Pennsylvania swing to either Rockefeller or California Gov. Ronald Reagan, although indications were that Shafer meant the New York governor.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that the Poor People's March on Washington "is just a new form of lobbying.

He said the march "brings into focus" the problems of poverty and presents a "challenge to the country to find out how to bring these people into the economic mainstream so they can share in its benefits."

He took issue with a statement mae by Nixon that Congress should not negotiate under pressure—presumably from the Poor People's Campaign.

ALWAYS PRESSURE

"I thought Congress was always under pressure," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller was prevented Wednesday from making a speech at Pennsylvania State University because his plane was unable to land owing to bad weather. He has scheduled the speech for 1 p.m. today.

In the speech the governor makes his bid for the youth vote calling for a dropping of the voting age to 18 and a reform of the draft law.

Rockefeller conferred Wednesday night with other Republican governors seeking to find what Shafer called "the most progressive program any party has presented in the history of the United States."

GOVERNORS DINE

The governors had dinner at the Mellon National Bank with Richard Mellon and Govs. George Romney of Michigan, Norbert T. Tiemann and Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

Czech Liberals Hoping for Gesture From U.S. to Help in Fight

PRAGUE (AP) — Some highly placed Czechoslovak Communists who stand for liberalization of the regime express hope privately for a gesture from the United States which might bolster their morale in what looks like an uphill fight against Moscow-inspired pressure.

Non-Communist sources point out, however, that anything beyond a gesture might add danger to an already potentially explosive situation developing between Czechoslovakia and other members of the Communist bloc.

Communist informants say the United States, without appearing to interfere in the current situation, could do two things which might help both materially and in terms of morale in a country whose economic problems present formidable barriers to liberalization.

One of these, the informants say, would be to extend most-favored-nation status to Czechoslovakia in trade with the United States. The other would be to reach an agreement in the deadlocked quarrel over $20 million worth of Czechoslovak gold impounded by the United States since World War II.

American trade with Communist Czechoslovakia reached a peak in 1966, an overall exchange figure of $65 million. The United States sold this country mostly grain, fertilizers and other agricultural products. Last year, the trade figure fell off by half.

The present regime, under Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Communist party, has made clear it would like most-favored-nation treatment. The policy of the U.S. administration is that an agreement should be negotiated.

The administration favors similar procedures in the case of Romania, also a maverick in the European Communist camp. However, the U.S. Congress has been unwilling to act.

The gold in question is Czechoslovakia's share of what was looted by the Nazis in Europe during the war. The United States, as a victor nation, pledged itself to seek the rightful owners. The gold was impounded.

CLAIMS ABOUND

Since the Communist take-over in Czechoslovakia, however, and the subsequent nationalization of all property, including that of foreigners, American citizens have registered $72 million in claims, plus $41 million more in interest.

After the Communist take-over, the United States also confiscated a steel mill for which the previous non-Communist Czechoslovak government paid $17 million. The United States subsequently sold it for $9 million, which was applied against some of the claims. The present Prague government insists that the $17 million is deductible from any bill presented by the Americans.

There have been long and fruitless negotiations about the gold. The Czechoslovaks say the Americans agreed in 1961 on a lower claims figure. The United States did imply it might forget about the interest.

The issue seemed near a solution in 1964, but the U.S. State Department refused to accept the proposed settlement, contending the figure was too low. Sources here say, however, that the chances of a compromise have increased recently.

DEPENDENT ON REDS

In trade, as matters stand now, Czechoslovakia is heavily dependent upon the Communist nations which are pressuring and threatening the new Prague regime. This gives those nations, including the Soviet Union, considerable leverage.

Communist countries supply most of the basic raw materials needed for Czechoslovakia's industry and are the market for to 100 per cent of this country's crude oil comes from the Soviet Union.

The Russians cannot supply all the grain needed by Czechoslovakia. But grain purchases in other countries require hard currency, and a necessity to import from the West would hurt.

Czechoslovakia's most important export is machinery. She has overproduced and overtooled in this respect. The East bloc cannot supply Czechoslovakia with what it wants in return for its manufactured goods and Czech machinery is not competitive in Western markets.

This leaves the country in a trap, highly vulnerable to economic pressure from regimes which regard the Czechoslovak liberalization movement as a menace to Communist parties elsewhere.

A Junior Editors Quiz About VENICE

QUESTION: Why does Venice have streets of water?

ANSWER: "Flee from the barbarians" was the cry when Attila, king of the Huns, swept down from the north toward Italy in 425 A.D. Many fugitives sought shelter on a group of small muddy islands in a lagoon near the head of the Adriatic Sea.

Finding safety in a troubled period, they became permanent settlers. So that they could put up buildings, they drove stakes deep into the mud (upper right).

Since there was hardly any land for farming they built ships and began to trade with the rich nations to the east.

The openings between islands became the famous canals and were bridged over. Other canals were dredged out, making waterways for streets with boats for vehicles. So arose the famous city of Venice.

The Venetians developed a special boat to carry passengers and goods around the city. Still in use today, the long, graceful gondolas are propelled by gondoliers, who stand in the stern, using a long oar or sweep.

Cabbie Saves Tot

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Taxi driver Donnie Beckett saw a 15-month-old baby crawling down the median strip of heavily traveled U.S. 60. He pulled his cab across the highway, blocked rush-hour traffic and rushed the child to the sidewalk. After knocking on several doors he returned the baby to the mother.

Dr. Oaks Says:

Drug Abuse Fast-Emerging as a Major Problem

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a weekly series of articles on health topics issued by the Oakland County Medical Society. Dr. Oaks is the collective voice of the society.)

Drug abuse is fast emerging as a major problem in Oakland County and the entire country. In recent years the problem has moved with all the swiftness of a high-powered automobile speeding at full throttle.

Educators, doctors and law enforcement officals have frantically waved warning signals — often, it seems to no avail.

Drug abuse is widespread. It is not confined to hippies, wayward adolescents or the economic underprivileged. More and more every day the improper use of drugs is becoming a problem of middle class America.

In fact, perhaps, drugs — their nonmedical usage — hold the greatest danger for middle class youth. These are the college crowd and self-proclaimed members of the "now" generation.

ADULT USERS, TOO

To be sure, adults also abuse drugs. They take pep pills and other stimulants to get started in the morning, tranquilizers to relieve tension during the day, stay-awake pills in the evening and sleeping pills to sleep at night.

In addition, there are diet pills, cold pills, flu pills and a host of other capsules and tablets swallowed just to get through the day. And, sometimes with tragic consequences, alcohol is used to wash the whole thing down.

Mixing drugs and alcohol is always a dangerous combination. It is potentially fatal.

But, it is among young people that the misuse of drugs spreads its greatest grief, wrecking young lives just beginning to bloom.

THE 'NOW' CROWD

Why the young?

Lack of self-discipline, self-indulgence and immediate gratification are characteristics of the "now" crowd. Add to these the typical teen attitudes of rebellion against authority, thrill-seeking and the deep desire to belong and you have a fertile field for drug abuse. Fertilizing this field is an environment of a world in turmoil with question marks and uncertainty in place of solid answers. Drugs loom as an escape hatch, even though a false one.

These causes, of course, are only part of why a young person may experiment with the use of drugs. There is no accounting for the youth with poor mental health to begin with.

Drug abusers, as a rule are generally lacking in frustration tolerance, which simply means they cannot properly cope with the frustrations of every day life. Maturity, it has been said, can be measured by a person's ability to handle frustrations.

MANY FACTORS

Again, the reasons mentioned here are only part of the many factors apt to draw young people — or even those actually older in years but still like children emotionally — to misuse drugs.

Every person reacts to a different set of circumstances which may lead to drug experimentation and/or sustained drug abuse.

Miami Ghetto Still Fearful

MIAMI (UPI) — Fear still lurks in the poorly lit aisles of this resort city's ghetto stores although a hard-nosed police assault on crime has reduced armed robberies dramatically.

Angered by a crime wave that boiled through Miami's Negro neighborhoods leaving death and destruction behind, 63-year-old Police Chief Walter Headley announced last December that "community relations have failed," and ordered his officers into an all-out war against "young hoodlums" who prowled the poorer sections of the city.

In a move that drew widespread criticism, Headley transferred half of his vice squad to patrol duty, doubled up patrols in ghettoes, ordered his men to carry loaded shotguns and put the 16-dog canine corps into regular patrols.

"Felons will learn that they can't be bonded out of the morgue," he snapped.

SATURATES AREAS

Headley saturated Negro areas with man-and-dog patrols and ordered officers to "stop and frisk" suspicious persons.

Headley said he expected criticism — and welcomed it because the word "would filter down to the thugs. We don't mind being accused of police brutality . . . They haven't seen anything yet," he said at the time.

In the days following the orders, Headley drew widespread criticism for being "too tough."

Now, he says, he's proved his point and the people are behind him.

During the Christmas holidays three persons were shot to death in robberies. During December, there were a total of 91 armed robberies in the Negro neighborhoods.

In March there were 31.

"The people are all for it," says Headley. "There will be no letup because we are afraid if we do, it will pop up again."

Headley keeps in his desk a letter, scrawled on a piece of cheap paper, thanking him for the crackdown.

FEAR REMAINS

"May the Lord bless you," says the letter, from a Negro slum dweller. "My children can now walk the streets."

The danger may have lessened, but the fear is still there.

"Don't use my name. I've been robbed before," said one Miami store owner, a short, balding white man biting a pungent cigar.

"You see that?" he asked, pointing to a newspaper headline. "That's what we're afraid of." The headline said "Bandits Shoot Clerk."

In another store in another Negro section, an elderly man and his wife have been toiling for 11 years and wishing almost daily they could get out.

AFRAID TO GO OUTSIDE'

"I'm afraid to go outside," the woman said, although admitting "things have been better since the crackdown."

She said patrols weren't frequent even under the crackdown, "But now they have dogs, and that's better. I hope he (Headley) keeps it up."

Punch Is a Symbol of Hospitality

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

With a new crop of graduates about ready to don caps and gowns — with proms in the offing — and with countless weddings on the books, the requests for punch recipes will start coming in.

The punch bowl has long been used for festive occasions. Back in 1694, a commander of the British Fleet entertained visiting dignitaries in his Spanish quarters.

The marble fountain in the garden was turned into a giant punch bowl with a ship's boy rowing a small boat around the fountain, ladling out the punch.

Since you can't top that, be content to serve the best tasting punch you can.

HOW MANY CUPS?

The average punch cup holds three ounces which means you should get just a little more than 40 servings from one gallon of punch. Allow six to eight ounces for each guest.

Whether the punch is alcoholic or non-alcoholic, it should be cold, but not weakened by ice. With fruit juice punches, you can freeze lemonade or orange juice in ice cube trays and use them for chilling. But have all ingredients cold to start with.

TOAST THE BRIDE PINEAPPLE PUNCH

1 (1-pound 4½-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1 (46-ounce) can unsweetened pineapple juice
1 cup dark rum
1 cup cognac
¼ cup fresh lime juice
1 large bottle champagne (about 26 ounces)

Chill all ingredients. Whirl crushed pineapple in blender until smooth. Combine with pineapple juice, rum, cognac and lime juice. Pour into punch bowl over ice. Add champagne just before serving. Makes about 1 gallon.

A non-alcoholic version of this type of punch is good for teenage parties.

STRAWBERRY RING PUNCH

1 can (12-oz.) frozen orange juice (undiluted)
2 quarts ginger ale
¼ cup strained lemon juice
1 lemon cut in thin slices

Blend frozen orange juice with ginger ale and lemon juice and pour into punch bowl. Float lemon slices on top and carefully place frozen strawberry ring in center. Approximately 80 ounces punch.

Frozen Strawberry Ring

1 can frozen pineapple juice
1 pint fresh strawberries
Water

Add water to concentrated pineapple juice so that mixture almost fills a 9-inch ring mold. Be sure mold fits punch bowl. Select finest berries, leaving hulls on, and float closely together on surface of juice.

Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator and allow to freeze solidly. Unmold and place ring in center of punch, strawberry side up.

For a colorful pre-prom party, serve punch made with cranberry juice.

PROMENADE PUNCH

2 quarts apple juice
1 quart cranberry juice cocktail
8 bottles (7-oz.) carbonated lemon-lime beverage
2 cups orange juice

Chill all ingredients thoroughly. At serving time, combine fruit juices in a large punch bowl. Slowly pour in carbonated beverage. Serve in hollow-stem glasses. Makes about 40 (4-oz.) servings.

PINK CITRUS MIST

¼ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
½ cup ice water
½ cup rose wine
2 to 3 cups crushed ice
1 lemon, unpeeled, sliced into cartwheels

Combine lemon juice, sugar, ice water, rose wine and 1 cup crushed ice in electric blender, or large covered jar. Blend or shake thoroughly until ice is very fine. Gradually add more ice and blend.

Pour into chilled 6 to 8-ounce glasses; garnish with lemon slices. Serve at once with short straws. Makes 4-6 servings.

Ginger ale is always a good mixing beverage for fruit punches.

CHERRY GINGER COOLER

2½ cups apricot nectar
½ cup maraschino cherry juice
2 12-ounce bottles ginger ale
¾ cup whole maraschino cherries (about 30 cherries)

Combine nectar and cherry juice; add ginger ale and cherries. To serve, pour over ice and garnish with additional maraschino cherries, if desired. Makes about 1½ quarts.

CHERRY GRAPE REFRESHER

1 6-ounce can frozen concentrated grape juice
½ cup maraschino cherry juice
¼ cup lime juice
3 7-ounce bottles ginger ale
Whole maraschino cherries
Lime slices

Prepare grape juice according to directions. Combine grape juice, cherry juice, lime juice and ginger ale. Serve over cracked ice and garnish with cherries and lime slices. Makes about 1½ quarts.

POLYNESIAN HAM — A pretty Polynesian Ham, topped with a lacy pineapple-coconut topping and garnished with fruits, is a real beauty. It's a flavor favorite of all ages, a treat any season of the year.

Pineapple and Coconut Make Glaze for Ham

A Polynesian Ham is a real show-stopper any time of the year. It's a welcome treat when days are chilly and bleak, great for serving when the weather is warm and eating moves outdoors.

For sheer good eating, nothing tops Polynesian Ham. Start with a modern boneless fully cooked one. Heat it as directed on the label, cover the ham with the lacy pineapple-orange-coconut topping fifteen minutes before the end of the baking time.

Polynesian Ham

1 boned, fully cooked whole or half ham
1 can (8½ ounce) crushed pineapple, undrained
½ cup orange marmalade
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
⅓ cup flaked coconut
Assorted canned or fresh fruits, optional
Mint, optional

Remove wrapper and inside casing from ham; place on rack in shallow, uncovered baking pan. Heat in slow oven (325 degrees) as directed on ham label or until meat thermometer inserted into thickest part of ham reaches 130 degrees. (About 3 hours to heat a 10 to 12-pound ham, 2 hours for a 6 to 8-pound ham, 1¾ hours for a 4 to 5-pound half ham.)

Prepare topping. Combine pineapple, marmalade, cornstarch, vinegar, mustard and ¼ cup coconut in saucepan; mix. Heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens.

Thirty minutes before end of baking time, turn oven heat to moderate (375 degrees). Fifteen minutes before end of baking time, spoon fruit mixture over top of ham and sprinkle remaining coconut over fruit topping. Return to oven to finish heating.

Arrange on serving platter; surround, if desired, with favorite assortment of canned or fresh fruits and mint. Yield: Makes 1½ cups topping. Allow 4 servings per pound of ham.

Size of Onions Determines Use

The size of the onions you buy should depend on their intended use. Smaller ones are best for boiling whole, stewing or less creaming.

Medium ones are good for serving stuffed. Large sizes should be used for recipes requiring thick slices and for onion rings.

All sizes are equally good for slicing, grating, chopping or dicing. The skin covering is easily removed under cold running water to avoid shedding tears.

Onion and marjoram make an excellent combination as seasoning for split pea soup.

Revive Art of Candying Flowers

One Pontiac Press reader says her violets this year are as large as quarters. She wants to candy some for decorations Perhaps some other readers might like to follow her example.

CRYSTALLIZED VIOLETS OR ROSES

4 cups stemmed violets or whole rosebuds
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup hot water

Wash and drain flowers, bing careful not to bruise the petals.

In a saucepan, dissolve sugar thoroughly in the hot water. Add flowers. Put over medium heat and let the syrup simmer until a drop reaches soft-ball stage in cold water. Stir the flowers gently with a wooden spoon.

STIR AND STIR

Remove from heat and continue to stir gently until the syrup begins to granulate and reaches the consistency of coarse meal.

Empty contents over a wire rack or into a colander and shake off excess sugar. Cool and pack the flowers in jars. Seal. Use as decoration or serve as a confection. Nice for Christmas gifts.

Garnish With Whipped Cream

Stack Jelly-Filled Cookies

Elegant but simple — and simply delicious — are the jelly stacks that actress Barbara Feldon likes to serve with coffee.

They're made from a rich dough with butter or margarine cut in as for pie crust. The dough is then rolled and cut with a cookie cutter. Once the rounds are baked to a golden brown, Barbara spreads them with jelly or preserves and adds a dollop of whipped cream or topping.

In serving the jelly stacks you can be as elegant or simple as you wish.

JELLY STACKS

1½ cups sifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup butter or margarine
1 egg beaten
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup grape, currant, or apple jelly or favorite preserves or marmalade
Whipped Cream or Whipped Topping

Combine and sift flour, sugar, salt and nutmeg. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture resembles very fine crumbs. Add egg yolk and lemon juice; mix until all particles are moistened.

Shape into a ball. Roll ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut into 2½ inch rounds with floured cutter. Placed on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until lightly browned, 10 to 12 minutes. Cool.

Spread each cookie with jelly and make stacks four cookies high for each serving. Top each with a dab of whipped cream or topping. Yield: Six servings.

Scallop Potato Slices With Tomato, Onions

POTATO-TOMATO SCALLOP — Low Calorie Potato-Tomato Scallop accompanies a flavorful pot roast, cooked completely in the oven to avoid the use of calorie high fat in the browning. No one will recognize that this tasty oven dinner has had many of the calories removed.

At one time or another one or more members in a family are usually concerned with counting calories. No need for all the family to suffer, nor for the purchase of special diet foods. Just "decalorize" some of the favorite family dishes!

In this new and tasty version of scalloped potatoes there's a mingling of flavors so good that no one will realize it was designed for the dieting members.

Thinly sliced potatoes are layered with colorful tomato slices, green onions and grated Parmesan cheese. Over all goes bouillon to add wonderful flavor and scarcely one extra calorie.

LOW CALORIE POTATO-TOMATO SCALLOP

4 cups sliced, pared potatoes
2 tomatoes, sliced
¼ cup sliced green onions with tops
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 bouillon cubes
½ cup boiling water

Place a layer of potatoes in a 1½-quart casserole. Cover with tomato slices. Sprinkle with sliced green onions, Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper. Repeat until all ingredients are used.

Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Pour over potatoes. Cover and bake in a 325-degree oven 1 hour. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

1 serving equals approximately 115 calories.

Easy Oven Pot Roast

4 pounds chuck roast
Salt, pepper and seasoned salt
1 stalk celery and tops, finely chopped
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 bay leaf, crumbled

Season meat on both sides with salt, pepper and seasoned salt. Combine celery, onion and bay leaf. Sprinkle half of this mixture on large square of aluminum foil. Top with meat and remaining celery-onion mixture.

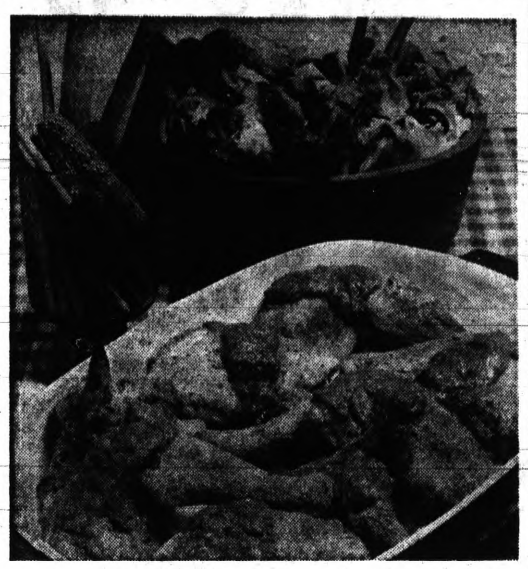
Seal foil package leaving space for juices to collect. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake in a 325-degree oven 3½ hours. Serve with Low Calorie Potato-Tomato Scallop.



CHICKEN CACCIATORE — Coat pieces of frying chicken (2½ pounds) with one envelope seasoned coating mix for chicken—Italian flavor as directed on package. Reserve any leftover crumbs remaining in shaker bag. Arrange chicken in single layer in shallow baking dish. Bake at 400 degrees for about 40 minutes or until well browned. Meanwhile, combine one can (8 oz.) stewed tomatoes, one can (8 oz.) tomato sauce, ½ cup dry white wine, ¼ teaspoon rosemary leaves and reserved crumbs in saucepan. Bring to boil. Spoon sauce over part of each chicken piece in pan. Do not cover chicken pieces entirely. Continue baking 10 to 15 minutes longer or until chicken is tender. Makes 4 servings.

Spring Soup Is Green, White

Next time potato soup is on th menu, prepare this intriguing new version with a few easy ingredient additions.

In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of potato soup, ½ soup can milk, ½ soup can water, ½ cup cooked peas, and 1 tablespoon finely chopped green onion, and ½ teaspoon dried mint flakes. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Cubed Ham, Wine Are Part of Soup

Get your next company dinner off to a good start with elegant Potage Jambon. In a sauce-pan, brown ½ cup cubed cooked ham and cook 2 tablespoons button or margarine until onion is tender.

Add 1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup, 1 soup can water, 2 to 3 teaspoons sauterne, and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Lower the Heat for Frozen Meat

When cooking frozen steaks and chops, use a more moderate broiling temperature than for fresh cuts so the meat inside at the very center will have time to thaw and cook before the outside becomes too brown. More broiling time should, of course, be allowed than when cooking a fresh or thawed cut.

If frozen steaks or chops are to be breaded, do allow them to thaw, at least partially, so the coating will adhere to them more readily.

GOURMET HALIBUT MOUSSE — This fish dish has tender flakes of delicate sea-fresh halibut blended into lemon flavored gelatin and flecked with bright bits of celery, green pepper, olives and pimiento.

Teens Have Party Book That's Cool

Plaster the walls with posters and call it a Poster Ball. Turn back the clock for a flappery twenties party or ask the clan to a Highland Fling, a Carnaby Street Super or a Political Caucus.

These are only a half dozen of the more than 50 party themes included in a smashing new free party book.

The colorful 32-page book was written especially for college students but should prove almost as useful for Junior and Senior high schoolers as well as for adults who like lively parties and who occasionally are called upon to help with church, school or club get-togethers.

The name of the book is "The Swingin' Party Book" with a subtitle "On and Off Campus Fun and Fare" inspired by the National College Queen Pageant.

The Pageant is an annual event which selects and honors the nation's most outstanding college girl, and many of the ideas included in the book came from past participants in the pageant.

The party recipes range from a group of around the world supper dishes and fancy tea cakes and sandwiches to quick easy punches, cookies and snacks.

There are ideas for picnics and barbecues, for dormitory food and charity affairs. And interspersed among the recipes are the party themes with suggestions for decorating and even party games.

To order a copy of the "Swingin' Party Book," send your name and address to Swingin' Party Book, Best Foods, Division Corn Products Company, International Plaza, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey 07632.

Different Slicing

For neat firm tomato slices, try slicing vertically from stem to bottom instead of making the usual horizontal slices. This gives you tomato slices at their best.

Flake Fresh Halibut for Molded Salad

If you enjoy the luscious flavor of a juicy halibut steak, then you're sure to enjoy this tangy fish mousse featuring genuine North Pacific halibut. These individual molded salads have an elegant, gourmet flavor that is perfect for a Spring luncheon or buffet.

Tender flakes of poached halibut show through a creamy gelatin mixture along with chopped green pepper, celery and olives. Preparation time is shortened by the use of mayonnaise and lemon flavored gelatin. This piquant combination brings out the mild flavor of the halibut.

For a sparkling garnish, avocado slices and grapefruit wedges are used. If a buffet is on the agenda, the gelatin mixture may be put into a ring mold and the center filled with the avocado and grapefruit.

Although halibut is usually served in the form of steaks or roasts, it can be an interesting ingredient for combination dishes. Adding cooked and flaked halibut casseroles or main dish salads is a grand way to stretch the budget.

Gourmet Halibut Mousse

1 pound halibut
2 cups boiling water
2 slices onion
1 teaspoon salt
3 whole peppercorns
2 (3 oz.) packages lemon flavored gelatin
¼ cup vinegar
1 cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup sliced green olives
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 cup mayonnaise
Avocado slices
Grapefruit sections

Poach halibut in boiling water with onion, ½ teaspoon salt and peppercorns for about 10 minutes or just until cooked. Drain and cool, reserving stock. Flake halibut to make 2 cups.

Strain and measure fish stock, adding water if necessary to make 2 cups. Heat to boiling. Dissolve gelatin in boiling fish stock. Add vinegar and remaining ½ teaspoon salt. Chill until slightly thickened.

Fold in halibut, celery, green pepper, olives, pimento and mayonnaise. Pour into individual molds. Chill until firm.

Unmold and garnish with avocado slices and grapefruit sections. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Freeze Fruit Pies Raw or Baked

Both baked and unbaked double-crust fruit pies can be frozen successfully.

A baked pie should reach the "lightly brown" stage before removing from oven. Both the baked and unbaked pies should be frozen first and then wrapped to prevent accidental damage to the tender, flaky crust.

To serve a frozen pie, thaw at room temperature for ½ hour in original wrapping. Then unwrap, heat and finish browning in a 375 degree oven for 30 minutes.

A frozen unbaked pie should be unwrapped and baked in a 425 degree oven, adding 10 to 20 minutes to the baking time.

Stanford Vote Turns Down Topless Miss

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford students have turned down a topless dancer as student president, censured the outgoing president for leading a sit-in and disapproved the use of force in seeking change on the campus.

History major Dennis Hayes defeated topless dancer Vicky Drake, 3,458 to 2,136 in a two-day runoff election that ended Wednesday night. However the junior from Camas, Wash., who got 62 per cent of the largest vote in Stanford history, said he didn't think this was a reaction against Vicky on her toplessness.

He said she had campaigned "on a farcical platform" and that students had "become very serious" after last week's sit-in when students occupied an administration building to wring concessions from the university.

Vicky, meanwhile, was at work in a nearby night club called the Morgue and was not available for comment.

CENSURE VOTE

An initiative censuring outgoing student President Cesare Massarenti for "advocating and participating in the forcible occupation of a university building" passed by a 59 per cent vote of 3,247 to 2,271.

Another initiative, calling the use of force in seeking campus changes "contrary to the spirit of an academic community," drew a 70 per cent vote of 3,924 to 1,695.

Probers Sifting Clues to $50,000 City Robbery

Local and federal authorities investigating the April 30 robbery of $50,000 from two GMTC Credit Union employes today described their work on the case as a process of elimination.

Detective Sgt. John DePauw of the Pontiac police said the process consists of a constant sifting of every piece of information involved with the holdup.

"We get leads and threads of leads and then follow up on all of them to separate whatever truth there is from rumor," he said.

Two important developments in the case occurred the first week in May.

WITNESS FOUND

First, investigators were able to contact a man who reportedly saw the bandit stop the employes as they made their way across the credit union parking lot from the nearby Community National Bank branch.

He told police that the gunman took the canvas bag containing the money and escaped with an apparent accomplice in a late-model Pontiac.

The second break came several days later when the getaway car was discovered in a parking lot on South East Boulevard.

"This gave us something solid to work with and we've been moving in a fairly established direction ever since," DePauw said.

U.S. Deaths Record

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops launched strong attacks today north of Saigon and in the Central Highlands as the U.S. Command announced that more American soldiers were killed in combat last week than in any week of the Vietnam war.

U.S. Command said 562 Americans were killed, 19 more than the previous record in the week of Feb. 11-17. The U.S. Command reported 5,552 enemy killed last week, no record, while South Vietnamese headquarters said 675 government troops were killed, their third highest weekly toll of the war.

A U.S. spokesman said much of the American death toll resulted from heavy action in the northernmost provinces, where U.S. Marines fought several battles last week around Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone. The week also saw hard fighting in and around Saigon as Americans and South Vietnamese forces crushed the second enemy offensive within four months against the capital.

Examination Postponed in Murder Case

The examination of Elias F. Barron of Imlay Township, charged with first-degree murder, has been postponed until June 5 by St. Clair County Justice Eugene Canhom.

Barron, 25, was scheduled for examination yesterday. He was charged May 6 in the death of Sylvia Ann Langowski, whose body was found in a vacant house near Imlay City in early April.

A migrant worker, Barron was arrested May 5 at his home at 25 Graham by officers of the Lapeer State Police post. At that time, police said the suspect, under the alias Lopez, was being sought in connection with a double murder in Wisconsin. He is being held in St. Clair County Jail without bond.

The body of Mrs. Langowski, 28, of St. Clair was found in a vacant house at 2439 Graham. A pathologist's examination revealed that she had been dead from two to four months.

State Rep. Raymond L. Baker, R-Farmington, has been named vice chairman of the House Youth Committee by Speaker Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

Baker, who represents the 64th Distirct, was elevated to the post when Rep. Lionel J. Stacy resigned from the legislature and Rep. Gus J. Groad, R-Battle Creek, was boosted from vice chairman to chairman.

Safety Officials Are Concerned

Michigan Highway Death Toll Is Well Ahead of '67

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a series of two stories on Michigan's soaring highway fatality rate, which continues to run ahead of last year. Police officials were interviewed for their explanation of the drastic jump in the highway kill. Police and safety organization spokesmen also were queried on what is being done to try and cut down the toll of dead and injured.)

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's highway slaughter currently is running well ahead of last year. Unless the trend is reversed, the state could set a new high for traffic deaths in 1968.

So far this year, there have been 671 persons killed on Michigan's highways, compared to 604 at this time last year.

Police and safety organization officials are becoming increasingly concerned.

They have some explanations for the sudden jump in deaths among motorists and pedestrians. They also have some suggestions on how to cut down on the kill rate.

ALARMING FACTOR

"One alarming thing that has hit us all of a sudden is the number of multiple fatalities in the lower age bracket," said Col. Fredrick Davids, State Police director.

Davids also noted there have been several cases recently of drivers going the wrong way on freeways, causing multiple deaths by running into unsuspecting motorists traveling in the right direction.

"This is lack of individual driver responsibility," Davids said. "There will never be enough officers on the road to police every single driver.

"The driver must learn that once he gets behind the wheel, he alone is responsible for his own safety, for his passengers and others who share the highway."

A motorist, in order to survive, must concentrate on defensive driving, Davids emphasized.

These cases of freeway accidents are particularly distressing, Davids said, because in the over - all picture, expressways account for fewer accidents per mile than the secondary roads in Michigan.

Capt. Don Downer of the State Police Safety and Traffic Division said good weather so far this year has helped to contribute to the bad accident record.

"Several severe snowstorms early in 1967 helped to cut the fatalities rate," Davids said.

LITTLE SNOW

"By contrast, early this year there was very little snow and roads were open. This put more people on the highways and they were going faster."

More travel inevitably means more accidents, Downer said.

"It is hard to make any prediction on highway fatalities," he commented. "There is such a fine line between an injury and a fatality, that often it just is a matter of luck if a driver survives an accident.

"With some good luck the rest of the year and careful driving by motorists, we still could recover and have a fatality score close to last year," he added.

DOWN FROM '66

Michigan's traffic death toll last year was 2,123. Police and others were gratified because the total was down from the 2,298 killed in 1966—the highest highway fatality count ever for Michigan.

The previous high was the 2,136 killed in 1965, just above the 2,135 deaths in 1937.

"That does show we've made some progress since 1937," Downer said. "We had only about 2 million vehicles on the road in 1937 and there are more than double that number at present."

Highways have been greatly improved since the late 1930's, Downer said, when most of them were only two-lane roads with a number of blind spots and hills.

Better highway engineering, better cars and better enforcement all have helped hold down the accident rate despite the greatly increased number of cars and miles traveled.

Michigan, he also noted, has a much more accurate accident count than many other states. Michigan has a uniform accident report form. Some states, such as California, he said, have as many as 50 different forms for reporting accidents from the various local jurisdictions.

One example of better engineering, Downer said, is the elimination of plank guardrails. Previously when a car went off the highway, the plank guardrail often would be driven through the vehicle, sometimes impaling the driver or a passenger.

The State Highway Department currently is earmarking $5 million a year specifically for safety projects.

State Senate Winces at $232.8-Million Welfare Price Tag

LANSING (AP) — Some senators winced out loud Wednesday when they saw the price tag to the state for social services during the next fiscal year.

Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, told them the cost to the state for such services as old age assistance, aid to the disabled, aid to dependent children and all the items coming under Medicaid will add up to $232.87 million for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

This compares with about $184 million for the current fiscal year, he said, a jump of some $48 million.

Zollar said the Senate Appropriations Committee had to add about $13 million to the estimate made by the House, mostly due to changes in federal programs.

'LIBERALIZED THINKING'

"The liberalized thinking by the federal government is forcing us into these tremendous expenses," Zollar said.

He added that he has been warned by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare that a proposed $6 billion cut in federal funds might mean additional costs to the states.

Most of these programs, he noted, are financed on a 50-50 federal-state matching basis.

"I wonder when we're going to get sanity again," said Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo. "We're going to have to get to work on some of those programs we can't afford."

MAJOR ITEMS

Major items in the state's share of the social services bill included:

Old age assistance, aid to the blind, to the disabled and single direct relief, plus operating expenses, $33.5 million; aid to families with dependent children, direct family relief, foster care and administrative expenses, $90.1 million; Medicaid expenses including hospitalization, nursing home care, nursing services, home health services, physical therapy and similar items, $91.1 million.

A general appropriations bill including grants, transfers and debt services added up to $58.87 million.

Largest single items included $18.5 million for senior citizens homestead tax reimbursement, $10 million for veterans homestead tax exemptions and $3 million toward restoring money borrowed from the veterans trust fund.

FINAL VOTE NEAR

The two appropriations bills were passed to final vote stage.

One of the more important bills advanced to third reading was a measure that would repeal a section of the criminal sexual psychopathic act.

Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe Park, said purpose of the repealer was to plug a loophole in the law that had allowed two double-murders to escape punishment.

This is a provision that would allow a person charged with a crime to commit himself as insane.

'ABLE TO ESCAPE'

"They can stay in a mental institution until the witnesses to the crime all have scattered," Fitzgerald said. "Then if they are found sane enough to stand trial they are able to escape punishment."

Fitzgerald said the repealer has the backing of the state mental health department.

There still are ample provisions in the law, he added, for the prosecution of criminal sexual psychopaths found sane or the confinement of those judged not mentally able to stand trial.

Upon reconsideration, the Senate passed a previously rejected House bill which would allow a county regional park and recreation commission to acquire land within another county with the permission of the board of supervisors of the adjoining county.

Also given a final passage vote was a measure exempting the construction industry from some of the fees it now pays to support the Safety Education and Training Division of the State Labor Department.

The Senate plugged away three hours in the morning, three more in the afternoon and on into the night after a supper break on a host of House bills.

Work-Study Program Assists Capable Students

AN IMPORTANT NOTE

....All of the programs described in this series have been established by law and many have been in operation for years. However, the amount of money to operate these programs varies from year to year, depending on appropriations voted by Congress. Availability of some funds and openings in training programs may vary locally depending upon demand.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth article in a 15-part series on U.S. educational and training benefits available to you.)

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Publications

If you are a capable high school graduate and lack the money to continue your education, you may be eligible for the federal government-sponsored College Work-Study Program.

As presently operated, students may earn up to $1,400 a year or more under this plan. They may work an average of 15 hours per week during school periods and up to 40 hours a week in vacations and summers.

The usual rate of pay is $1.40 an hour.

Under the College Work-Study Program, students have worked as archeology assistants, hospital orderlies, local government assistants, maintenance workers, museum aides, playground supervisors, teachers' assistants.

OTHER JOBS

Some students are working in college laboratories and libraries. Some are programming computers, some serving food in the college cafeteria. Students are working off campus for public or nonprofit organizations or in Community Action programs.

Students may be employed in almost any job which needs to be done and which the institution could not otherwise get done because of lack of funds.

Details of the work-study arrangements are subject to negotiation between the school and the student, but the work may not involve political activity or work for a political party, work on the construction, operation or maintenance of a facility used or to be used for sectarian instruction or religious worship.

The job must not result in the displacement of employed workers.

FEDERAL GRANTS

Federal grants made directly to the college cover up to 85 per cent of the student's wages. The colleges determine which students are eligible for the program on the basis of financial need.

The colleges define the jobs to be performed, establish the rates of pay, supervise the work, handle the payrolls and supervise day-by-day operations.

If you feel that you cannot continue your education because you do not have enough money, you should get in touch with the director of financial employment at your college or the college at which you expect to enroll.

Preference for employment is given students from low-income families.

FULL-TIME STUDENT

To be eligible a student must be enrolled, or accepted for enrollment, as a full-time student in a participating college or other institution of higher education.

He must need the money in order to continue his schooling. He must be capable of maintaining good standing in his course of study while employed.

He must be a citizen of the United States, owe permanent allegiance to the United States or meet other specific residence or immigration status criteria.

Some colleges offer students a "package" of financial assistance, combining the Work-Study Program with a loan and, perhaps, a scholarship.

Pentagon Clarifies Sole-Surviving-Son Rule

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press
News Features

WASHINGTON—With so many fathers and sons and brothers serving together in Vietnam there is great interest in the sole-surviving-son rule—but the confusion about it continues. So the Pentagon has issued some clarifications.

The main one has to do with a serviceman who becomes a sole surviving son because of the total disability, as a result of military service, of his father, brother or sister.

BAULCH

This is the awkward area because there is no exemption in the draft law for sole surviving sons of 100 per cent disabled veterans but there is an exemption in the Defense Department rules.

Legislation to bring the two rules into line is hung up in Congress.

So, to keep such a man off the merry-go-round of being drafted, discharged and redrafted, he is kept in for six months' service. During that time he is not sent into combat if he asks to be excused.

At present both Selective Service and military rules define as a sole surviving son one whose, father, brother or sister was killed or died as a result of military service.

MAY BE EXCUSED

Anyone who becomes a sole surviving son because his father, brother or sister is listed as missing in action or captured may be excused from combat but does not qualify for discharge.

The most widespread misconception is that an only son may be exempted.

An only son doesn't qualify unless he is a sole surviving son as a result of military service by a father, brother or sister. And even for you who do qualify, the system is not automatic. Either you or members of your immediate family must make a request. And if the family makes the request the son may overrule the family.

If a sole surviving son wants to serve, but be excused from combat, he may do so upon request. But he can still be sent overseas to a noncombat area.

NEW CLARIFICATION

A new clarification is that stepbrothers, stepsisters, halfbrothers and halfsisters and adopted children are considered part of the family when determining whether a man is a sole surviving son. You can lose surviving son status if you are adopted by a family other than the one that gained you that status.

Because the military rules deal basically with discharge of a man who becomes a sole surviving son after he enters service, one who qualifies under the total disability rule before he enters service could be required to serve, but could be excused from combat duty.

The people who administer the rules stress that total disability means a person is classified 100 per cent permanently disabled by the Veterans Administration or the military services. This means hospitalized on a continuing basis and, because of the disability, not gainfully employed.

Korea Combat Pay

The Pentagon has authorized $65 a month extra pay for American servicemen subject to hostile fire in South Korea.

As I noted some time ago, there had been much grumbling —with action popping along the DMZ—because a man couldn't qualify for combat pay in Korea unless he was wounded or killed.

It will take some figuring to decide where to draw the line in determining how many of the 50,000 servicemen in South Korea qualify under the more liberal rule.

Retirees Get Support

Ten more senators have joined in cosponsoring legislation to restore the method of equating military retired pay to current active duty pay rates. It is now tied to the Labor Department's cost-of-living index, which means how much you get in a particular rank depends on when you retired.

* * *

So far 34 senators are sponsoring the bill and seven House members have introduced legislation, according to the Retired Officers Association's latest tabulation. The proposal also was endorsed by President Johnson's special Veterans Advisory Commission recently.

Tidbits

The Internal Revenue Service has restated its policy that state bonuses paid to veterans for their military services are not taxable income.

In its new call-up of 24,500 reservists and National Guardsmen, the Army says men in college whose units are summoned will be permitted to finish their current semester before reporting. Those in high school will be permitted to graduate. Men with less than seven months of their military obligation remaining will be excused.

A special quirk: Under the call-up, men in units may be required to serve the full two-years of the call-up order. But those called as fillers from the pool under the Reserve Enlistment Program can subtract the six months of their active duty to qualify for the REP program.

Even so, if a filler joins a unit before it goes on duty he may have to serve the whole two years.

MILITARY TRAVEL

The wives and children of missing and captured servicemen are being allowed space-available military travel when it serves to help them on a humanitarian basis. Each case will be considered separately.

The rule was issued after Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee learned that many of the wives are virtually stranded while their husbands are missing or POWs.

OCS Lid Is Lifted

The Army, cutting down its backlog of candidates for Officer Training-School faster than expected, is now permitting non-college men with less than 12 months' service to apply. The new rule permits high school graduates to apply for OCS any time after they enter service, except when they are on overseas alert orders.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A young people's movement is being started here to have the voting age in Maryland lowered to 19. The leader, Larry Young, hopes to unite youth groups and young veterans returning from Vietnam.

Drilling Ship to Hunt Long-Buried 'Treasures'

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The world's most scientific drilling ship sails June 15 on an 18-month voyage across two oceans seeking long-buried treasures of vast potential to man's mind and purse.

The 400-foot Scripps Institution of Oceanography vessel will draw on craft orbiting in space for navigational guidance and warning of storms as it probes in record depths in the primordial ooze that covers seven-tenths of the planet.

Dr. Melvin N. A. Peterson, chief scientist for the National Science Foundation's Deep Sea Drilling Project, says the goals are both academic and practical.

The ship could find:

1. Clues to new oil fields believed bigger than any yet tapped from the continents and their fringes.

2. Precious metals—gold, silver and manganese—strewn in nodules, possibly layer upon layer for miles on either side of giant cracks in the earth's crust.

3. A history of earth, recorded in the sediments built up through the ages by the "snowfall" of plant and animal matter from the surface to the ocean floor.

INTO HIGH GEAR?

Just possibly the project, most ambitious of its kind yet undertaken, could get the whole field of oceanography into high gear. Long trumpeted as a region of great promise, the world's oceans have so far failed to arouse much interest in industry, largely because potential profits have not matched the costs of developing a new technology.

As a matter of policy, says Scripps director William A. Nierenberg, project scientists decided not to spend time developing new equipment but to go ahead with available procedures, showing that drilling at extreme depths is possible.

Although the $12.5-million project is primarily scientific, he says, it is frankly aimed also at proving the economic benefits to be gained from exploring the ocean and its floor.

Although the ship is rigged much like those that drill for oil in the comparatively shallow waters of continental shelves, officials are hoping fervently they will not actually find oil.

COULD CAPSIZE

Striking oil—and the gases captive in underground pools—could release a gigantic bubble to rise up through the ocean and burst at the surface, tossing the 10,500-ton ship like a raft caught in a hurricane.

"Chances are the ship would capsize," says Peterson.

"We are taking every possible precaution against finding oil, even though locating possilbe oil-bearing areas is one of our major goals. If our core drill bites into anything that looks like oil sands we'll pull out and move off in a hurry."

The Scripps project calls for drilling 40 to 60 holes as deep as 2 500 feet in depths as great as 20,000 feet in the Atlantic and Pacific. Aboard the ship will be 75 scientists, engineers and crewmen—including expert geologists and drillers.

RICH DEPOSITS

Peterson believes rich deposits of minerals may lie on the slopes of the great rises—much like mountain ranges—jutting up from the floors of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

One of the goals of the project is to take samples of the sediment on the slopes of the great submarine rises in both major oceans in hopes of finding vast new fields of rare metals.

The ship that will make this possible is the Glomar Challenger, due to sail June 15 from Orange, Tex., on its maiden voyage. The latest thing in drilling ships, it has a 142-foot-tall derrick over a 20x22-foot center well through which as much as 23,000 feet of five-inch pipe can be lowered to core into the ocean floor.

Peterson says this will be the longest drill string ever suspended from a ship or floating platform.

Cores from the rotary-drilled holes will be pulled up continuously through the drill pipe.

These cores will be the real prizes of the expedition. From the layers of sediment scientists hope to be able to reconstruct the history of the planet by dating the fossil remains of plants and animals which have died and fallen to the ocean bottom.

When evidences of oil or mineral wealth are found, the locations will be marked and the information released to industry.

The ship's first drilling test will come about July 1, when it will start coring into some mysterious humps dead center in the Gulf of Mexico. The humps, 10,000 feet below the surface of the ocean, are known to oceanographers as the Sigsbee Knolls and are believed to be salt domes formed by the pressure of sediment slowly sliding down the slopes of the Gulf basin.

NEW CONCEPT

Later the ship will move out into the Atlantic and on to the Pacific to test a spectacular new concept that the ocean floors are expanding outward from the great undersea rises and spreading the continents apart at a rate of an inch or so a year.

The theory is that all the continents once were a single land mass and split up and began to drift apart some 200 million years ago. It is based on the way the opposite coastlines of the Atlantic Ocean seem to match, like the opposite shores of a river. The fact that the opposite coastlines of the Pacific do not match is sometimes explained as being due to an ancient land collapse in the middle of that much wider ocean.

Many geologists believe oceanic crust may be actively forming at the crests of the great rises and is moving away toward the continents, pushing them apart. One of the objectives of the deep drilling project is to take cores across these rises to see if material at the crest is younger than that far down the slopes.

Although it calls for drilling in the deep ocean, the project has little other relation to the now abandoned Project Mohole. Mohole was designed to drill completely through the earth's crust into the mantle, a region known as the Mohorovicic discontinuity. It was dropped when costs far exceeded original estimates. The Deep Sea Drilling Project is aimed mainly at coring through the ocean sediment and the ship will not carry the kind of bits needed to drill more than a few hundred feet into the basaltic rock of the crust beneath the sediment.

Sen. McCarthy Role in Windup Primaries Vital to Hubert, RFK

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — In primary election defeat, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has become a campaigner vital to the White House strategies of both Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy needs an active opponent to contest in Oregon's May 28 Democratic primary, and in the windup races in California and South Dakota on June 4.

News Analysis

And McCarthy, loser of two outings in a row, said he will be there, campaigning through them all.

Kennedy lieutenants acknowledge they cannot afford to lose in Oregon, where McCarthy maintains he now has an even chance.

CAUSE WOULD SUFFER

And should Kennedy fail to match his showing in Nebraska, where he captured 51 per cent of the vote Tuesday, his cause would suffer.

Humphrey is not on the primary route, and is disavowing write-in efforts. He is instead concentrating on states which select their delegations in convention.

"Obviously, he is the major opponent," Kennedy said.

If McCarthy can match his claims that he is even with Kennedy in Oregon and ahead of California, he could inflict major damage on the Kennedy drive.

BROAD VOTE APPEAL

But Kennedy aides claim that Nebraska, conservation-oriented and largely rural, will do for Robert what West Virginia's primary did for his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy eight years ago—prove broad voter appeal and propel him through the rest of the primaries.

Potent McCarthy showings in the West Coast primaries would be an assist to Humphrey.

Already, Kennedy men are saying that McCarthy now amounts to a front man for fellow Minnesotan Humphrey. But they acknowledge they do not want McCarthy out of the race.

"That would put us in Nixon's position" one Kennedy politician said.

WITHOUT RIVALS

What he meant was that Nixon has been without on-the-scene campaign rivals in the primaries since Michigan Gov. George Romney dropped out as a candidate 10 days before the opening race in New Hampshire.

And Nixon strategists have had trouble convincing people that their massive primary victories without active opposition from another candidate mean very much.

Nixon encountered the problem again in Nebraska, rolling up 70 per cent of the vote. But California Gov. Ronald Reagan drew attention with his Nebraska showing of 22 per cent.

Reagan disclaims candidacy, but his name is on the ballot in Oregon, as it was in Nebraska.

MAY DO EVEN BETTER

Nixon said Reagan probably will run a stronger race in Oregon than in Nebraska.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, currently Nixon's only major declared rival for the nomination, took only 5 per cent of the Nebraska vote, again on write-ins. Rockefeller is not entered in any primaries.

Nixon said Rockefeller, too, should do better in Oregon. Rockefeller won the Oregon primary four years ago.

Nebraska's presidential preference poll was not binding on delegates, who ran separately. The count of delegates votes was proceeding slowly.

DELEGATE COUNT

But Kennedy had that side of the primary won, too. The only question: by how much. Delegates who have expressed a preference for Kennedy won or led for 16 seats at the national convention. Delegates pledged to McCarthy led for three. Candidates who ran as uncommitted and expressed no preference were taking the other nine spots.

LEARN, BABY, LEARN
The Free Press did—with a pioneering study that the President's Riot Commission labelled "brilliant."

a few weeks ago we thought we'd really been honored

then we won two Pulitzer Prizes

First, the entire Detroit Free Press staff won a prize for its comprehensive coverage of the Detroit riot. And, second, John S. Knight, editorial chairman, received a prize for his column, "An Editor's Notebook," which appears in the Free Press each Sunday.

The staff citation reads in part, "The prize for a distinguished example of local, general or spot news reporting, giving consideration to alertness, resourcefulness and high quality of writing: Awarded to the Detroit Free Press for its coverage of the Detroit riot of 1967, recognizing both the brilliance of its detailed spot news staff work and its swift and accurate investigation into the underlying causes of the tragedy."

The prize honors more than 100 Free Press staff writers who worked around-the-clock for seven days to report the Detroit riot. As the Columbia University trustees said in announcing the award, "In many ways this was the most difficult journalistic assignment domestically during 1967. The geographical area in which the rioting flared was huge. Moreover, the story lasted for seven days — an enormous strain on any news staff."

John S. Knight's citation reads in part, "For distinguished editorial writing, the test of excellence being clearness of style, moral purpose, sound reasoning and power to influence public opinion in what the writer conceived to be the right direction."

Eugene Gray Payne of the Charlotte Observer, sister paper of the Free Press, also won a Pulitzer Prize for editorial cartooning. That's a total of three Pulitzers for Knight Newspapers. It's the first time in the history of the prizes that one newspaper organization won three awards in one year.

We're very proud of these Pulitzer Prizes. There's only one thing that will make us happier—getting back on your front porch every morning.

Cash Shortage Called Threat to Building of 'Tent City' in D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some organizers of the Poor People's Campaign say it is as penniless as the thousands of destitute people it is bringing to Washington.

"If we don't get more money, we'll have to stop construction," said The Rev. Bernard Lafayette, campaign coordinator. But he didn't say when.

Lafayette placed the cost of building "Resurrection City U. S. A.," now about one-third completed on the Mall near the Lincoln Memorial, at about $3 million. He wouldn't say how much had been spent, but claimed a $100,000 reserve fund is "just about exhausted."

But construction of the shanties seemed to continue at a rapid pace with no evident shortage of building materials. Some staff members said privately they were not aware money was a serious problem.

'SINCE ITS FOUNDING'

"The Southern Christian Leadership Conference has been on the verge of going broke since it was founded," one said. Lafayette himself predicted that despite financial problems, the city would be finished.

"We have faith in the American people to help us fulfill this dream," he said.

About 70 senators and House members held a 90-minute meeting Wednesday with the SCLC leader, The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, and his top aides. Participants who commented called it very helpful.

Afterward Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., drew up the framework for a 15 to 17-man House-Senate committee to meet with the protest leaders and mold specific programs.

Abernathy set no price on his broad goals of more jobs, better housing and an end to poverty. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said private speculation ranged as high as $30 billion.

Abernathy said he was encouraged and added Congress should not delay action.

"We hope that Congress would see fit to move even before all of our poor people are here in Washington," he said.

The Rev. James Bevel told a news conference demonstrations would begin "probably within five to seven days," but gave no details.

Busloads of more protestors continued rolling toward the capital from Cleveland, Charlotte, N.C., and Wilmington, Del.

At a late-night mass rally held in a tent dubbed "The White House," about 450 participants shouted down published reports that they were unhappy and wanted to leave.

ONLY ONE

"All those who want to go home raise your hands!" shouted Lafayette.

One hand shot up.

"Are we together tonight?" Lafayette asked.

"Yeah" came the shouted answer. Dozens of black clenched fists shot into the air—the common greeting of Black Power militants.

As speakers roused the crowd in the best Southern Baptist tradition, an old woman sat quietly, eyes closed, head swaying with the rythmic applause, a smile on her face.

She wore a large button which read: "For Humanity."

Poverty 'City' Pays Own Bills

D.C. Bivouac of 3,000 to Cost Public Little

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 15 acres of federal grass are free but from there on "Resurrection City" has to pay its own way.

Government officials said the planned bivouac of some 3,000 Poor People's Campaigners in the heart of the nation's capital is expected to cost the public little or nothing.

In granting permission last Friday for the campaign to set up housekeeping on national park land near the Lincoln Memorial, the Interior Department made it clear who was to pay the bills.

The permit specifies that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, sponsor of the tent city, is responsible for:

- Building and maintaining the campsite.
- Providing sanitary facilities.
- Making connections with available water, sewer, power and telephone lines.
- Providing for garbage removal.
- Restoring the park to its original condition when they leave—except for wear and tear on the grass.

$5,000 AS SECURITY

All this, the permit says, is at the expense of SCLC, which must also post $5,000 as security.

Water and sewer pipes that once served now-demolished buildings on the location are still in place and Resurrection City has tapped into them. The District of Columbia will charge the same rates for water and sewer service as it does to other customers. SCLC must even pay for the installation of water meters, and an organizer said the deposit for electric service was $10,000.

"There's no National Park Service money involved," Nash Castro, director of the Park Service's National Capital Region, told an interviewer. "All we've done is assign them land."

The camp-in will probably cost the District of Columbia some money—mainly for extra preparedness—but it won't be much, a spokesman said.

"We are not directly providing any services without charge," he said, "except for essential health services with the cooperation of doctors in the District. We consider that a community necessity."

The District has already ruled that camp-dwellers would not be considered D.C. residents for welfare-payment purposes.

The Civil Service Commission has ruled government employees may participate in the Poor People's Campaign, but only on their own time and only if it doesn't interfere with their work or embarrass their agency.

A Look at TV

'Secrets' Is Well-Done

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tad Mosel, a good and perceptive playwright, obviously had something he wanted to say about the individual's right to privacy when he turned out "Secrets."

Somewhere between the conception of the play and its production Wednesday night as a 90-minute "CBS Playhouse" dramatic special, there occurred a slight shift in emphasis. The result was an interest-holding well-produced and beautifully acted story about the destruction and near destruction caused by a woman's driving curiosity.

The play concerned a successful business man in his middle years who was on jury duty but asked to be excused from a case while refusing to explain his reasons. It was a case involving an actress accused of attacking her son.

The reaction of Bryan Gray was reported to his wife and college-age daughter by an acquaintance, and this set off a chain reaction since he still refused any explanation.

DARK EPISODE

His wife, unable to pry any explanation out of him, began to suspect some terrible dark episode in his past—and playwright Mosel rather deliberately led the audience up the same path with his rather explicit information about the perverse nature of the victim in the assault case.

The wife's ferreting and the husband's silence combined to almost wreck the marriage of 21 years. The man's partner, goaded by the wife into an indiscreet confession, was destroyed. There was a lot of talk about secrets and people all along and finally we were allowed to learn our hero's.

It seems that as a young soldier on furlough he had spent a 10-day furlough with an actress having the same name as the defendant in the assault case, and he feared it was the same woman and that the son was his.

Arthur Hills played the unhappy husband as a rather remote but good and responsible man. Barbara Bel Geddes, as the wife, portrayed her from the outset as a rather outgoing nosy type interested in everybody around her including the neighbors.

TALENTED ACTRESS

Barbara Hershey, a talented young actress, was the daughter fending off her mother's probing about her dates with an older man. Eileen Heckart played the small but interesting role of the tough aging actress.

Mosel's main point was summed up with his hero's statement that "once in a while there are some things that have to be thought through alone. . .private things." It did seem that the whole thing was a tempest in a teapot and that any sensible man, seeing his marriage dissolving, would have told his wife of the episode that occurred long before his marriage. But that wouldn't have made a 90-minute play.

DOUGLAS LINDSAY

Pierce Student Teen of Week

A Pierce Junior High School ninth grader is Waterford Township's Teen of the Week.

Recipient of the award is Douglas Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lindsay of 1255 Nancywood, Waterford Township.

While at Pierce, Douglas has been a member of the football, basketball and baseball teams. He also has participated in student government, serving as a homeroom representative to the Student Council.

Douglas, who plans to enter some field of psychology, has maintained an A average during his almost three years at Pierce.

PERSONAL DESIRES

Douglas believes that in order to achieve anything in life, a person must first fulfill his personal desires—academically, physically and most important, mentally.

He thinks it is important for a person to be satisfied with himself. If a person is not satisfied with himself, it matters little what anybody else thinks of one, according to Douglas.

Douglas also feels it is important that a person sets goals for himself. It is only in this manner that a person will make a contribution to society and his fellowman, Douglas believes.

Col. Fredrick E. Davids, department director, said vehicle inspection personnel and department planes are expected to participate in the patrolling which will continue until midnight Sunday, June 2.

Maximum patrol coverage will be in force from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. each day of the period. Special attention will be given to sections of highways having bad accident experience.

Davids noted that traffic accidents in the five major holiday periods in 1967 claimed 182 lives in the state, 43 of them charged to Memorial Day weekend mishaps.

Wilson's Image Polished by That White House Visit

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Talk about being prestigious! . . . My social status soared after LBJ and Lady Bird invited us to the White House for dinner . . . Joe Kipness, the busted-legged boss of Kippy's waved his cane at me on Broadway, and his partner Artie Schindler, who has a broken neck, waved his neck at me . . . Used to be, they wouldn't talk to me . . . (Their fans call their place, since the injuries, "Crippy's") . . . There's an etiquette problem about that white House invitation. My wife said, "Now I suppose we should have them over . . ."

WILSON

Irving Berlin tells another one on himself . . . Joe the Barber has been shaving him and cutting his hair for 45 years. And barbered him for the Ed Sullivan special . . . When Berlin saw him afterward, Joe raved about the show, how his family, the neighbors all loved it . . . "And how did I do?" Berlin managed to ask sneakily . . . "Mr. Berlin," exclaimed Joe, "your hair looked wonderful!"

Sailor Finds He's Too Old

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — Chief Petty Officer Wayne Groff was surprised Wednesday to learn he is too old for military service. Groff, 32, is stationed with the Navy at Bainbridge, Md., and has been in the service 10 years.

While visiting his mother here on leave he received a letter from his draft board telling him he will not be called up because of his age.

Buzz Off, Bees!

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — In case the bees haven't heard—no longer can they buzz in Charles Caballero's backyard. Scots See Profitable Proof in Whisky

AP Wirephoto

ROLL OUT THE BARRELS—The distillation of malt whisky through onion-shaped pot stills (top) is followed by casking the whisky in oak and moving the casks into warehouse storage (bottom) for at least three years.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Over the land of kilts and bagpipes wafts the spirit of Scotch whisky. The Gaels called it the "water of life." It is also big business.)

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

EDINBURGH — "'Twill make a man forget his woes; 'Twill heighten all his joy; 'Twill make the widow's heart to sing, Tho' the tear were in her eye."

'Twill also help Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Britain out of a deep hole if the Scots can keep on making and exporting more and more of it — Scotch whisky.

Robert Burns could not have dreamed in 1786, when he composed his ballad to John Barleycorn, that they would ever make so much whisky it would be evaporating at the rate of 12 million gallons a year.

So it is in 1968. There are more than 600 million gallons of whisky quietly aging and mellowing in butts and hogsheads throughout the land of kilts, bagpipes and oatmeal. Each year two per cent of it vanishes into the soft, Scottish air.

MORE THAN AUTOS

Last year the equivalent of about 190 million bottles was sold to the United States for $153,600,000. Americans shelled out $48 million more for Scotch whisky than for British automobiles in 1967.

The United States took more than half of Scotland's total whisky exports of 43 million proof gallons last year. France, West Germany and Australia are the next best customers for Scotch whisky, but they are far behind the United States.

Whisky made from a mash of fermented barley has been trickling from the Highland stills in Scotland for centuries. Nobody knows when the first batch was made. The first known reference to it in public records was in 1494.

The Gaelic name for it was "uisge beatha" — water of life. Uisge beatha is big business now.

Scotch now is exported to 160 countries and exports account for some 80 per cent of sales. The United States buys more than twice as much as is consumed in the British Isles. The Scots, with about 10 per cent of Britain's population, sip between 15 and 20 per cent of the home consumption.

Production is slowing down now because of the vast stocks and some of the 120 distilleries in Scotland are working only part time. There is enough whisky on hand to last 10 years.

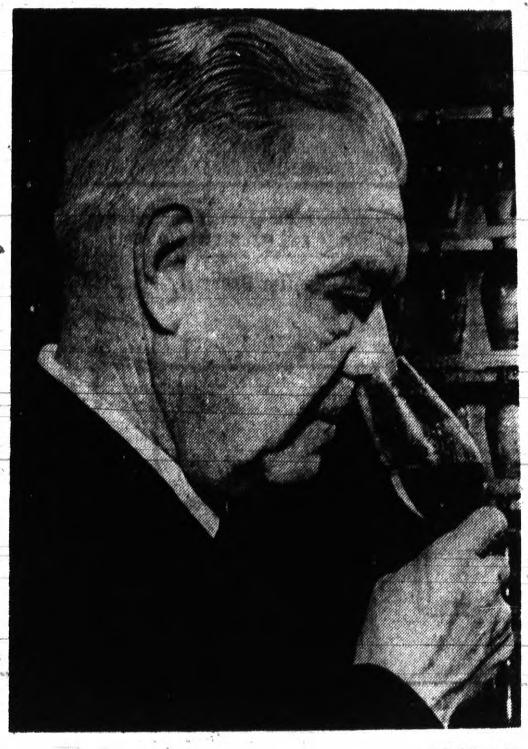
In addition to the foreign exchange whisky exports bring in ($292.8 million last year), the British government collected about $355.2 million on whisky sold in the United Kingdom. Home consumption is estimated at about 80 million bottles a year.

The bottle of Scotch which winds up on a bar shelf in the United States or elsewhere has had a fascinating ride. It will be, except in rare cases, a blend of whiskies from a dozen or more different distilleries in Scotland. By British law, whisky may not be labelled Scotch unless it was distilled in Scotland.



AP Wirephoto

NOSE TO THE JOB—A blender is deciding, by nose and knowledge, how many gallons of each whisky will go into a blending batch of Scotch to give it its distinctive final taste.

SMOKY, PEATY

The distinctinve taste — smoky, peaty or however it is described — comes from the pure malted barley whiskies. A certain amount of whisky made from other grains than barley is added to give it a smoother taste. Although many Highland Scots prefer pure malt whisky, the taste for it has not spread very far yet.

All the mystique about Scotch, and there is plenty of it, is bound up in the pure malt whiskies.

The secret of Scotch, says the Scots, lies in the soft Scottish water, the peat, the climate and, very importantly, the onion-shaped pot stills in which all malt whisky is distilled. It helps, apparently, if the water flows over granite somewhere on its way to the still.

Even so, no two malt whiskies taste the same, the experts say. Some are "richer" or "fatter" than others.

BY SMELL

The blending of the various whiskies is done almost exclusively by smell. Blending establishments like to say their blender has "the best nose in the business."

The whisky must remain in the warehouse for at least three years to meet the requirements of British law. The three-year aging requirement has been enforced since 1915.

Scotsmen often complain that the British government is taxing their national drink right out of reach. The retail price of whisky varies from $5.52 to $6.24 a bottle. The tax on each bottle is $4.44.

This may be, but John Grey of the Glasgow Council on Alcoholism says there are 80,000 alcoholics in Scotland, 50,000 of them in Glasgow. The population of Scotland is slightly over five million.

Grey says there are five times as many alcoholics per head in Scotland as in England.

Link Is Found to Learning

By Science Service

Hibernation appears to amplify a squirrel's learning capacity for several days following deep sleep, report four Yugoslav scientists at the Institute of Pathological Physiology in Belgrade.

Some 18 gound squirrels caught in September and trained to run a maze in the spring after 32 days of hiberantion learned the task faster than a group which did not hibernate. Training and testing last 12 days.

The Yugoslavs attribute the improved learning either to the beneficial effects on long rest on the brain or to its increased chemical richness following hibernation.

Squirrels trained in the fall, however, remembered their maze whether or not they had been allowed to hibernate — indicating that hiberantion has little or no effect on already established memory, despite the fact that brain electrical activity almost ceases during that period.

There are almost as many variations of the Stayman convention as there are players who use it. We call our form Jacoby-Stayman and combine it with the Jacoby transfer bid.

JACOBY

Thus, our two-club response is known as non-forcing Stayman. It is a one-round force but only forces partner to rebid two diamonds, if he has no four-card major, or two hearts or spades if he holds a four-card major.

Later on we may pass his response to our two clubs. If our second bid is just two hearts or two spades, we are showing a poor hand and he is supposed to pass. If our rebid is two no-trump, we show eight to nine points and a four-card major somewhere.

If it is three no-trump, we show the same type hand but with 10 to 15 or maybe 16 points, while if we follow up Stayman with a three level suit bid, we are forcing the game or maybe on our way to a slam.

Today's hand shows non-forcing Stayman in action. North does not want to play no-trump and bids two clubs with the intention of rebidding to two diamonds. Note that partner must reply in a suit. He is not supposed to rebid two no-trump over our two clubs.

South happens to rebid two hearts and North is happy. A four-four fit in hearts has been found.

Two hearts is the right place for North-South to play the hand. South can make it by attacking spades immediately after winning the club lead, but even if South plays poorly, he will only be down one. One no-trump would go down at least one and so would two spades.

What do you do now?

A—Your partner is accepting your heart slam invitation by showing first round diamond control. You should bid four spades to show this ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to five clubs. What do you do now?

Lindsay 'Eyes' a Take-Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay offered Wednesday a tongue-in-cheek suggestion on how his city might get more state aid and cooperation.

Addressing 505 new policemen, Lindsay said: "I sometimes think when I see New York's Finest, with 30,000 troops, 12 police boats and five helicopters, that we ought to sail up to Albany and take over, because it is my job to constantly seek the resources we need."

Currently the City of New York is seeking legislative approval for an additional $80 million in taxing powers.

Oriole Long Bombs Overpowering, 10-8

Bengal Hurlers Get Belted for 4 Home Runs

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Batters left a bevy of pitchers defenseless against a barrage of long bombs in Tiger Stadium last night.

When it was all over, the Baltimore bombs proved to be more effective than those of the Tigers as the Orioles snapped a seven game losing streak to win a 10-8 slugfest.

Actually, the Orioles had only eight hits against five Detroit pitchers, but four of them accounted for 8 runs.

Starter Denny McLain, loser of his first game after five straight victories, was the victim of two home runs.

FIRST BLAST

The first was a three run blast into the second deck in right field in the first inning by big John Powell. The other was a solo blast to start the second inning by catcher Al Hendricks.

A couple bad breaks hurt the Tiger right-hander in the opening frame after he had walked Dave Johnson with one out.

Curt Blefary hit what looked like a possible double play ball near the bag at second. It bounced off Dick McAuliffe's glove, however, and was ruled a hit. Both runners were safe.

Powell, at the plate with a 2-1 count, swung at what everyone thought was a second strike. However, umpire Marty Springstead called it a ball ruling that Powell had checked his swing and thus instead of a 2-2 count it was 3-1.

"Of course this changed the whole complexion of things," said manager Mayo Smith, "it made a difference on what Denny would throw."

Powell then laced the next pitch into the stands for a 3-0 lead amid the continuing protests of McLain and catcher Bill Freehan.

The Tigers got one in the first off starter Jim Hardin when Al Kaline lined a shot against the left center field wall. Kaline started for home and then began backtracking to third, but when shortstop Mark Belanger's throw to the catcher went wide, Kaline raced home. It was a triple and an error on Belanger.

ANOTHER ERROR

In the second inning, the Tigers made it 4-2, following Hendrick's homer, when Willie Horton singled to center, went to second on a wild pitch and when Oyler singled to short left, Frank Robinson let the ball get through him for an error and Horton scored. Ed Mathews batted for McLain but flied to left leaving Oyler on base.

Pat Dobson took the mound in the third and was wild. He walked the first batter, was charged with a throwing error to second on Blefary's bunt and Frank Robinson then doubled down the left field line.

John Hiller came in and Powell bounced to first scoring Blefary and when Frank Robinson tried to score on Brooks' Robinson fly, centerfielder Mickey Stanley threw direct to the plate and caught Frank coming in, as manager Hank Bauer and Robinson both protested the call.

McAuliffe tripled to start the third and immediately scored on Stanley's single to make it 6-3.

Johnson then hit his third homer off Hiller in the 5th to make it 7-3, but in the bottom half of the frame, McAuliffe added another triple and Stanley followed with his second homer of the year to make it 7-5.

CASH GETS FIRST

Norm Cash closed the gap even further with a solo homer in the 6th and with Les Cain on the mound, the Tigers appeared ready to overtake the Orioles.

The homers by Stanley and Cash were hit off lefty reliefer Pete Richert who then gave way to Ed Watt in the 7th.

Rookie Jon Warden followed Cain on the mound in the 8th and he walked Frank Robinson to start the inning. After Powell sacrificed, much to the surprise of Warden and the Tigers, Brooks Robinson was walked intentionally for hopes of a double play.

Manager Bauer then called in right handed hitter Curt Motten to bat for Hendricks and he made the strategy look good by slamming a 3-run homer into the left field seats to put the game out of reach.

KICKS ABOUT IT—Baltimore's Frank Robinson hollers and kicks and then got up to protest even more when he was called out on the slide into home plate in third inning of the game last night in Tiger Stadium. Tiger catcher Bill Freehan took a long throw from Mickey Stanley in centerfield after a fly ball. Umpire Marty Springstead ruled the Oriole missed the plate and was tagged. Baltimore still won the game, 10-8.

'68 Derby Finally Decides on Winner

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The 1968 Kentucky Derby can finally claim an official winner today, but Wednesday night's ruling by Churchill Downs' stewards may have opened the way for a lengthy legal battle and it left the probable field for Saturday's Preakness Stakes up in the air.

The stewards, after three days of purse to Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, who finished second to Dancer's Image, and slapped Lou Cavalaris and Robert Barnard, the trainer and assistant trainer of Dancer's Image, with 30-day suspensions.

The stewards also elevated Francie's Hat into second place, with T.V. Commercial placed third and Kentucky Sherry, fourth. Dancer's Image was placed 14th and last.

The ruling officially opened the way for Dancer's Image to enter the Preakness and owner Peter Fuller indicated earlier Wednesday night that the horse would run in racing's second jewel of the Triple Crown. The deadline for entering a horse in the Preakness was 10:30 a.m. EDT today.

HIGHER COURTS

Fuller said last week, if any disciplinary action was taken by the stewards, he would appeal that decision to the Kentucky State Racing Commission. He could make further appeals to the Franklin Circuit Court in Frankfort, Ky. and higher courts of appeal.

Fuller also declared that Dancer's Image would not be entered in the Preakness unless Cavalaris was allowed to saddle the horse, but the stewards' decision will prohibit this. However, Cavalaris said Wednesday afternoon he was continuing efforts to change Fuller's mind. Cavalaris' suspension will last until June 13, thus making him also ineligible to saddle Dancer's Image for the Belmont Stakes June 1.

State Attorney General John C. Breckinridge, an observer during the three-day closed door hearings, made the suspension announcement for stewards Lewis Finley Jr., Leo O'Donnell and John G. Goode.

Although the stewards declined comment on the hearing proceedings, it became obvious that discussion centered primarily over the chemical test given the horse and the medical effects of phenylbutazone on his system.

Top Lady Bowler Leads Qualifying

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Shirley Garms of Chicago, twice Woman Bowler of the Year, rolled a four-game block of 849 Wednesday to lead the qualifying in the Queens Tournament.

Nineteen bowlers shot an 800 or better in the tournament, held in conjunction with the women's International Bowling Congress. Four hundred women sought the 62 qualifying places for the double elimination match game event. The final block will be bowled Thursday.

Mrs. Mildred Martorella of Rochester, N.Y., defending champion, and Mrs. Carol Miller of Milwaukee, Wis., last year's WIBC all events winner, were exempt from the qualifying.

Mrs. Martorella set a Queens Tournament record average of 215 pins in winning all seven matches last year.

Milwaukee Watches White Sox Lose

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Paul Schaal looped a single to left, driving in two runs in the eighth inning, helping the California Angels to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night as major league baseball returned to Milwaukee.

A crowd of 23,510 saw the rain-delayed game, the first regular season contest played in Milwaukee since the Braves left County Stadium after the 1965 season. Chicago has scheduled eight more games here this season.

The crowd was more than double the largest turn out at a White Sox game in Chicago this season. The Chicago high is 11,546.

The Angeles loaded the bases in the eighth on a single by Bob Rodgers, a double by Bobby Knoop and an intentional walk off reliever Bob Locker. After a 29-minute rain delay, Wilbur Wood relieved and Schaal greeted him with his single.

SOLO HOMERS

Chuck Hinton of the Angels and Tom McCraw of the White Sox traded solo homers in the ninth.

The White Sox tied the score 1-1 in the seventh on Luis Aparicio's bloop double after a single by Bill Melton.

Angels' starter George Brunet was staked to a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Rick Reichardt was hit by a pitch, stole second, advanced to third on a balk and scored on a single by Rodgers.

Huskies, Kettering Gain Wins

PNH 9 Helps Foe in I-L

Pontiac Northern helped Livonia Stevenson clinch a share of its first Inter-Lakes League title Wednesday by upsetting Walled Lake, 12-9, and tying the Vikings for second place.

In non-league contests, Kettering bettered its record against Wayne-Oakland squads with a 6-2 victory over Bloomfield Hills Andover; and Rochester downed Pontiac Catholic again, 4-2.

PNH's triumph enabled the Huskies to tie Walled Lake at 3-3. Stevenson is 5-0 and needs just one victory in its final three I-L starts to take the diamond crown.

After a six-run opening inning outburst by Northern, the two teams slugged away on even terms until the Vikings plated three runs in the last of the seventh and had the tying run at the plate before succumbing.

BIG BLOWS

Don Hayward's three-run homer and Brad Singer's run-scoring triple staggered Walled Lake in the big first frame. Singer later added a double and single, Mike Clancy drove in three runs and Denny McLaughlin hit a solo home run.

Meanwhile, Wally Williams rapped a triple and three singles to produce three Viking markers. Greg Fogle had a two-run double, and Pat Piilo sent the final two runs across in the seventh with a safety.

In an oddity, Northern's junior varisty also outslugged the Vikings reserves, 12-9.

Six runs in the first inning sent Kettering to its victory, too. Ron Henderson, making only his second varsity start, clouted a bases-loaded round-tripper in the uprising.

Winning hurler Dennis Wooster, gaining his first mound success, drove in the Captains' sixth marker with a single. He fanned nine and scattered seven safeties.

LAST CHANCE

Andover scored once on a wild pitch, then added a second run in the last inning when Brian Parrott and John Baumann each collected their second hits. WKHS is 5-8, Andover stands 6-7.

The win was Kettering's second against W-O League teams in five starts. The Captains will replace Holly in the league next fall.

Winning pitcher Stan Babiuk cracked a two-run single in the final inning that insured his first mound triumph for Rochester this spring.

Ed Talley and Dennis Kasper had singled in runs earlier in the game for the Falcons (6-6).

Pontiac Catholic's two runs scored on errors, but the Titans (6-10) left the winning run on first in the seventh after Pat Manion's single started a two-out rally.

Waterford extended its season mark to 11-8 with a 4-0 victory over Clarkston last night.

Steve Goit and Cary Crawford each had rbi's for the winners, while Johnson and Uban had a pair of hits for the losers.

STRAINING FOR LEAD — Phil Hooker (left) of Kettering bids to pass West Bloomfield's John Huguelet in a duel for the lead during the 880-yard race yesterday in the two teams' track meet. Hooker did manage to take the lead against the promising Laker freshman and registered a close victory. West Bloomfield won, 62-56. (Story on Page D-6.)

MSU Hosts Illinois

Gophers Can Pad Big 10 Baseball Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota is in a good spot to pad its Big Ten baseball lead with a pair of single home games against seventh-place Iowa (4-6) Friday and Saturday.

The Gophers (10-2) head the column which counts most — the standings. But they are buried in most other statistical departments.

In official figures released Thursday, Wisconsin tops team batting with .296 followed by Michigan State .287 and Illinois .277. Minnesota is fifth with .264.

In team fielding it's Michigan .974, MSU .9682 and Illinois .9679. The Gophers again are fifth at .960.

Wisconsin heads team slugging with .418 on 137 total bases off 97 hits. MSU is next at .387 and Illinois third .384. Again it's fifth for Minnesota at .357.

LOW ERA

The Gophers, however, are second to MSU in team pitching. The Spartans, second in the pennant race, one game behind Minnesota, have a combined 1.23 earned run average to 2.04 for the Gophers. Illinois is third with 2.11.

MSU (8-2) will try to make up some ground in the title chase Friday as host to Illinois (5-5) in a doubleheader. In other twin bills, Northwestern (5-7) is at Ohio State (2-7), Purdue (0-8) at Michigan (6-4) and Wisconsin (8-4) at Indiana (3-6).

Saturday's doubleheaders include Illinois at Michigan, Northwestern at Indiana, Purdue at MSU and Wisconsin at Ohio State.

New Yorker Gains in Handball Action

NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Obert, the favorite from New York, defeated Marty Silver, Revere, Mass. 21-14, 21-12 Wednesday and reached the quarter-finals of the National AAU senior four-wall handball championships.

Buss Shumati, of Dallas, Paul Schulz, of St. Paul, and Pat Kirby of New York also advanced in the competition at the New York A.C.

Shumati defeated Joe Botta, New York, 21-10, 21-4. Schulz beat Harry Hyde, New York, 21-8, 21-11 and Kirby scored over Mike Kelly, San Francisco, 21-5, 21-9.

Extend Invitations to Women Golfers

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Invitations have gone out to about 200 women golfers to compete in the 47th Spring Lake Women's Open which begins June 16 at the Spring Lake Country Club.

Last year, Patti Shook Boice retired the championship cup by winning the tournament a third year in a row in defeating Mrs. William Mindatt of Muskegon in the finals, 4 and 3. A new cup enters competition this year.

Qualifying rounds begin June 17 following a day of practice rounds, and first match play is scheduled June 18 with the finals June 20.

Orange Mentor Quits

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Fred Lewis, head basketball coach at Syracuse University, resigned Wednesday to become athletic director at Sacramento (Cal.) State College.

Lewis, 47, former college and professional star, coached Syracuse to a record of 91 victories and 57 defeats over six years.

NHL Club Has to Up Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins said Wednesday operating losses have forced them to raise ticket prices an average of $1.

The Penguins, one of the National Hockey League's expansion teams, said they lost $260,000 in gate receipts alone.

With initial costs of purchasing a franchise, club president Jack McGregor said the Penguins' total losses were in six figures.

The club's average attendance last season was 7,000—2,000 less than needed to meet expences.

Also expected to bolster the Penguins' financial situation is the purchase of a majority share of the stock in March by a group of young Oakland County businessmen headed by Donald Parsons of Birmingham.

Walled Lake 10 Stays Unbeaten

Copper Mug extended its undefeated mark to 4-0 in the Walled Lake Industrial Softball League last night, nipping Carpentry Engineering, 5-4, in eight innings.

Dennis Marshall's solo home run leadin off the first extra frame handed Jack Jackson the pitching decision in the well-played Slow Pitch contest.

HEADING HOME—Al Kaline nears home plate as pitcher Jim Hardin of the Baltimore Orioles awaits the throw from catcher Al Hendricks who had to retrieve the ball after a bad relay by shortstop Mark Belanger. Kaline tripled and made it home for the first Tiger run, but Baltimore finally won the slugfest, 10-8.

Raiders Still in Title Chase

North Farmington stayed in the battle for the Northwest Suburban AA diamond title with its fourth win in a row Wednesday, a final-inning 4-3 triumph at Oak Park.

Southfield continued its winning ways by outlasting Hazel Park, 4-1, in a nine-inning pitching duel. Ferndale kept on the Blue Jays' trail with a 2-1 victory in eight innings over Royal Oak Kimball in Southeast Michigan tilts.

The Raiders from NFHS (4-3) lost 2-0 and 3-1 leads but edged past Oak Park (3-5) when Jay Hazelroth singled and John Thomas doubled after two were out in the seventh.

It was Thomas' third hit and his second run batted in. The junior infielder also scored North Farmington's second run in the game. Norm DeCourcy singled in the other tally.

CONNECTS AGAIN

Ron Ekelman homered in the sixth for Oak Park as it rallied to tie the score. It was Ekelman's third homer in three games and fourth of the season. Dave Wiener also singled home a run for the Redskins and Eliott Blumberg's safety tied the tilt.

There was an outstanding pitchers' battle at Hazel Park where the only hit for eight innings was Rocky Roe's seventh inning single for Southfield (10-3).

In the top of the ninth, winning hurler Bob Muiter and Doug Digue both singled. A walk loaded the bases, then Roe's grounder was thrown away, allowing three runs to cross the plate. He tallied on a double steal.

Two errors, plus Bob King's infield safey (Hazel Park's only hit) jammed the sacks before southpaw Muiter ended the threat with only one run scoring.

Although getting just one hit, the Vikings (4-7) left eight runners on base against the combined servings of junior Pat Ward and Muiter (a sophomore).

Kimball (5-6) tallied a gift run on three errors and a stolen base. The lead held until the seventh when Bill Screws singled, stole second and scored on Craig Fahoome's hit.

Then in the eighth, Ferndale (6-4) won the game on two walks and a two-out throwing error.

Barons Lose on 2 Courses

Bloomfield Hills Andover took on Waterford's golfers and Kettering's linksmen Wednesday on separate courses at Pontiac Country Club and the Barons' divided forces met with two losses.

A trio of 38s by Randy Berry, Larry Vallance and Paul LaBarge gave WTHS a 194-201 win despite 37's by Olshock and Hageman of Andover.

Jim Richardson had an even-par 36 as Kettering's Captains took a 162-168 conquest. Waterford is 14-3 and WKHS 5-11 on the season.

Bantam Squad Collects Lane Prizes Yearly

What's become an annual ritual at Orchard Lanes is scheduled for noon Saturday when the Fearless Five of the Saturday afternoon Bantam Bowling League will trek to the trophy title table.

Three of the five-member team are charter members of the five-year-old junior bowling program and have won team titles four times.

Mark Keith, Tim Baker and Carla Cook are the "oldtimers" while Tony Arnold joined in time for last year's championship and Hans Medina is the quintet's rookie.

Carla, a 12-year-old, is the lone girl on the squad, and she is also the captain. She earned the distinction, too, by posting the best average on the team and the league's high actual game (188) for the season.

Mexican, Frazier Okay Heavyweight Title Clash

NEW YORK (AP) — A heavyweight title fight was all set today between five-state champion Joe Frazier of Philadelphia and Manuel Ramos, the Mexican titleholder, for Madison Square Garden Monday night, June 24.

Official announcement of the bout was expected to be made this morning at a Boxing Writers' breakfast—but Ramos leaked the news when he arrived in New York Wednesday night.

A Garden release had said "an important announcement will be made concerning a major title fight" at the breakfast.

Frazier, winner of all 20 of his pro fights, gained recognition as world champion in New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Maine and Pennsylvania when he stopped Buster Mathis in the 11th round at the Garden March 4.

18 KNOCKOUTS

The hard-hitting Philadelphia has scored 18 knockouts. He is 24, stands 5-foot-11 and weighs 205 pounds.

This will be the first appearance in the East for Ramos, who has done all of his fighting in Mexico and on the Pacific Coast.

One of Mexico's few heavyweight fighters, Ramos is 25, stands 6-2 and weigh about 210 pounds.

He has a 21-6-2 won-lost record but has won 15 straight since March 31, 1966. In his two starts against name fighters, he outpointed shopworn Eddie Machen in 10 rounds June 3, 1966, and beat Ernie Terrell, the former World Boxing Association champion, at Mexico City last Oct. 14.

Preserves 6-4 Victory

Sparky Comes to Red Sox Rescue

BOSTON (AP) — Al (Sparky) Lyle rescued Jose Santiago in the ninth inning and preserved a 6-4 victory for Boston over the Washington Senators Wednesday.

Santiago, rocked for three runs in the first inning, settled down after that and gave up just three more hits until the ninth when Frank Coggins doubled with two out.

Bernie Allen then singled Coggins home, and Lyle replaced Santiago. The reliever ended the game by striking out Del Unser.

The Senators took a 3-0 lead in the first when Frank Howard belted his 12th homer, and fifth in three games, with one on and Ken McMullen followed with his sixth. But Boston quickly came back.

Singles by Joe Foy and Carl Yastrzemski, a ground out and another single by Ken Harrelson produced two runs in the Red Sox first inning and they tied it in the second on Santiago's double and Mike Andrews' single.

Reggie Smith doubled leading off the sixth and George Scott, who began the game hitting .118 and flied out in his first two trips, singled up the middle off starter and loser Dick Bosman to drive Smith home.

Hits Count but Not 2-2 Deadlock

CLEVELAND (AP) — New York and Cleveland played to a 2-2 tie Wednesday in a game called on account of rain after a 42-minute delay in the first half of the eighth inning.

The game must be replayed at a 'ater date. All individual records will go into the books.

A double by Joe Pepitone after Dick Howser's pinch single in the seventh inning moved the Yankees into a 2-2 tie.

Singles by Roy White and Andy Kosco, with a walk to Pepitone sandwiched between, got the Yankees off to a one-run lead against Sonny Siebert in the first inning.

TYING RUN

The Indians got to Stan Bahnsen for the tying run in the fifth on Willie Smith's pinch single and Jose Cardenal's double, then added an unearned run in the sixth on Ruben Amaro's error and Tony Horton's double.

Trade Baffles Dodgers Also

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The trade that didn't make sense continues to baffle the experts but the Chicago Cubs feel simply jolly about the whole thing.

Phil Regan, the former Los Angeles Dodger reliever, pitched one more inning of perfect relief Wednesday night as he helped the Cubs to a 5-3 triumph over the punchless Dodgers. Exactly three weeks ago today, Regan was still wearing a Dodger uniform.

On April 23, the Dodgers announced that Regan, who had just won both ends of a doubleheader, was going to the Cubs for an untried rookie pitcher and a hasn't-made-it-yet journeyman outfielder.

When the Cubs took Wednesday night's game, third of a four-game set, Regan had pitched in all three games. He has allowed no runs and only one hit in three and ⅔ innings.

But another Dodger trade, in which Minnesota pitcher Jim "Mudcat" Grant came to Los Angeles, almost looked like a stroke of genius Wednesday

NO TROUBLE

For eight innings, Grant wwas breezing. He had allowed just five hits, two runs and hadn't walked a batter. And to boot, he had helped his light-batting teammates with a two-run home run in the third inning.

But with a 3-2 lead, Grant allowed ninth-inning singles to Chicago's Billy Williams and Ernie Banks. The Mudcat received a standing ovation from the 14,804 as he gave way to relief specialist Jack Billingham.

But the sensational rookie allowed a tieing single to catcher Randy Hundley. Then another ex-Dodger, Dick Nen, came to bat and singled for two more runs.

Regan then came on to frustrate not only the Dodge hitters but also the Los Angeles management.

Mets' Rookie Tagged in 3-0 Redlegs' Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Right-hander George Culver scattered seven hits Wednesday night in hurling the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-0 victory over the New York Mets.

The Reds, who had lost six of their previous seven games, tagged rookie Jerry Koosman, 5-2, for nine of their 13 hits and two runs in the six innings he pitched.

Johnny Bench led off the second inning with a single and Vada Pinson beat out a bunt. Bench scored on the first of Tommy Helms' three singles and Pinson tallied on Leo Cardenas' two-out single, giving the Reds a 2-0 lead.

Majors Suffering Drop in Attendance

NEW YORK (AP) — Big league baseball, already committed to expanding to 24 teams in 1969, is taking another step backward at the gate this season, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

Attendance so far in 1968 is 3.7 per cent under 1967 and almost 10 per cent behind the pace of the majors' peak year in 1966 when they totaled 25 million paid admissions for the first time in history.

This year's aggregate is 3,646,351 compared to 3,786,343 in the same number of games last season and 4,044,609 in 1966. This represents a drop of 139,992 from '67 and 398,258 from 1966.

x-Played in Kansas City in 1967 and 1966.

The National League, whose attendance declined more than two million last season, is off by 122,404. The American League deficit is only 17,588. The AL had an all-time high of 11,336,923 last year when it had one of its closest pennant races ever.

11 CLUBS DOWN

Eleven clubs reported 1968 decreases, a number of them citing reasons that included inclement weather, racial unrest, losing streaks and fewer doubleheaders than last year.

The Atlanta Braves show the largest decrease, 111,307. The Braves, who shifted from Milwaukee to Atlanta in 1966, have pulled 156,699 customers through the turnstiles in '68. In the same number of home games in 1967, they attracted 268,006 and in 1966 it was 269,877.

Others behind last year's pace are Cincinnati, off 79,928; Baltimore 61,184; the New York Yankees, 54,825; California 51,799; Detroit 51,519; St. Louis 21,458; Los Angeles 15,429; San Francisco 15,122; the Chicago White Sox 5,743 and Philadelphia, 5,364.

The White Sox, who played their first of nine scheduled games in Milwaukee Wednesday night, are averaging only slightly higher than 7,000 spectators in Chicago. They are rumored to be considering shifting to the Wisconsin city.

TRANSFER

This year's American League attendance has been helped by the transfer of the A's from Kansas City to Oakland. The club shows an increase of 41,339 over its 1967 attendance pace in Kansas City.

The pennant winning Boston Red Sox, though, are showing the most improvement in the AL. They are up 108,433 over last year. The Chicago Cubs are ahead by 61,954 and the New York Mets by 50,454.

Also ahead of last year are Minnesota by 28,809, Washington 24,883; Pittsburgh 11,713; Cleveland 4,018 and Houston, 2,083. The figures include Monday's games.

Drivers See Speed Over 170 in Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — It's the concensus of 15 top drivers at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway that it will take a speed of more than 170 miles an hour to win the pole position in this year's Memorial Day 500-mile race.

That's faster than any lap has ever been run around the 2½-mile paved oval. The current qualifying record is 168.982 for the 10 miles and a best lap of 169.779 by Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., last year.

Andretti who has broken the qualifying record three straight years, is confident the 170 m.p.h. barrier will be shattered in Saturday's qualifications for the 52nd annual classic.

He predicted in a poll Wednesday a top average of 170.6 m.p.h. with a best lap of 172.3 in Saturday's 10-mile runs.

AVERAGE SPEED

The pole car, the No. 1 starter, is determined by the best average speed in the first day of the two weekends of qualifications.

The poll of Andretti and 14 other drivers brought predictions of an 170.406 average for the pole car Saturday. The consensus was for a best lap of 171.307 and a minimum of 163.62 to get into the 33-car starting field.

Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif., the international competitor who started beside Andretti in last year's race, predicted the pole car would average 170.7.

The third driver on the 1967 front row, Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., predicted 171.4, and winner A. J. Foyt Jr. of Houston figured it would take 171.1 to win the pole this time.

FAST LAP

The fastest one-lap speed this year has been the 169.555 That Britisher Mike Spence hit May 7 in a new Lotus turbine car. The same day Spence was injured fatally when a sister car he was driving rammed a wall.

Graham Hill of England, the 1966 Indianapolis winner and former world champion, has driven another Lotus turbine to 169.045.

Only Wednesday did a third driver, Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., reach a 169-plus speed. He piloted his turbo-charged Eagle Offenhauser to a 169.3 lap.

Former Piston 4-0 on Mound

Ron Reed Earns Job With Atlanta Staff

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Pitcher Ron Reed has made four starts for the Atlanta Braves this season and has four victories to show for his efforts.

"It's a lot more fun than sitting on the bench for the Detroit Pistons," said the blond right hander.

Reed had just defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 3-1, completing his second game of the season. He was recalling his days in the National Basketball Association.

He said it was two winters ago, the 1966-67 season when he made up his mind that his athletic future was in baseball not basketball. "I was the sixth man on the Pistons that year until they picked up Wayne Hightower. Then I was seventh, sometimes eighth. I didn't want to hang around as a bench warmer."

CALLED UP

Reed was 14-10 at Richmond last year before the Braves brought him up. He was 1-1 with Atlanta in three starts. "I hated to leave basketball but it was my own decision," Reed said but I don't think it's possible to be an outstanding performer in both sports. You windup good in one, so-so in the other. I felt my big opportunity was in baseball. The overlapping of the seasons was a big problem."

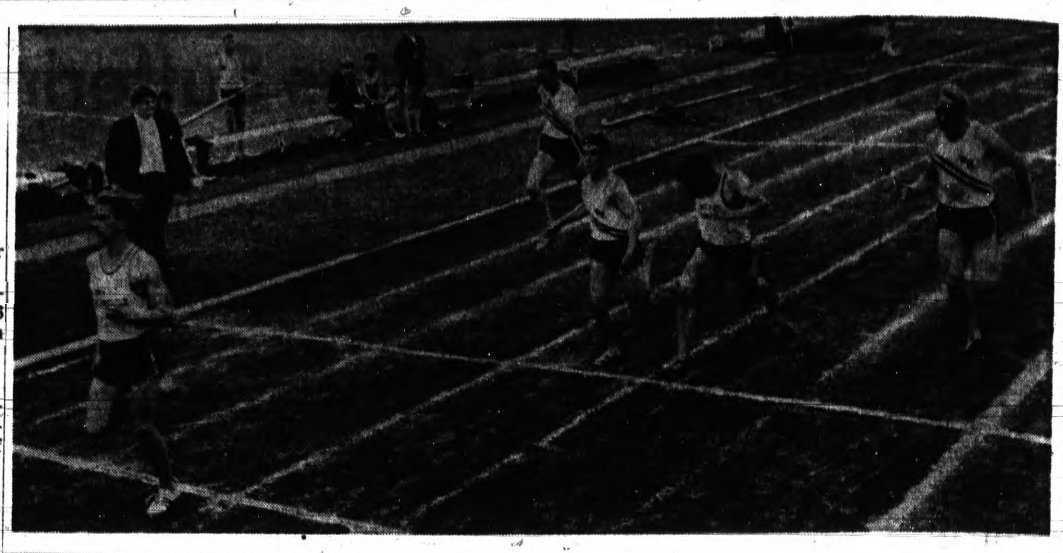
Manager Luman Harris of the Braves agrees with Reed that the 6-foot-6 native of Indiana, has his future in baseball. Harris says Reed has a good fastball, and now that he's learned to control a changeup and use a slip pitch, he's ready for big league success.



PULLING AWAY FROM PACK—West Bloomfield sprinter Terry Conley (left) dashes away from his competitors for an easy win in the 100-yard dash yesterday afternoon at Kettering. The host Captains' Tim Donaldson and Mike Klimowicz of the Lakers are in a tight battle for second place, which was won by Donaldson. West Bloomfield posted a narrow 62-56 victory.

West Bloomfield Trips Kettering; WTHS Wins

Kettering couldn't keep up to West Bloomfield in the longer distances and the pole vault Wednesday, losing a 62-56 decision to the Lakers.

The winners had to win the mile relay to insure the victory and pulled away with a 3:37.4 clocking.

PULL SWEEP

After the Lakers swept the pole vault and won the mile and two-mile runs, WKHS narrowed the gap with victories in the 880 relay, the 440 and 220 dashes, plus both hurdles races.

In all, the Captains won eight of the 14 events, but saw their dual meet record slip to 5-4. West Bloomfield has won three meets this season.

Waterford Township scored heavily in the field events and this helped the Skippers gain a 65-53 Inter-Lakes League win over Walled Lake.

The Skippers piled up a 25-10 edge in the long jump, high jump, shot put and pole vault. Larry Biskner won two of the events for the Skippers, including the pole vault at 14 feet.

Tim Willis captured both hurdles for Waterford and Bob Zaebst won the 100 and 220 dashes for Walled Lake.

Mays Sends Astros Orbiting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gaylord Perry survived a ninth inning scare with relief help and Willie Mays cracked a two-run homer Wednesday as the San Francisco Giants downed the Houston Astros 7-3.

Mays belted his seventh homer of the season and 571st of his career with two out in the first inning after Ron Hunt reached base on an error.

The Giants added another run off Loser Denny Lemaster, 3-4, in the second on Jim Davenport's run-scoring hit and the lead grew to 7-0 when Ollie Brown featured a four-run sixth inning with a two-run single.

Perry, 4-2, was breezing along with a two-hitter until a single, an error and Doug Rader's three-run homer broke the spell in the seventh.

BASES LOADED

Then in the ninth, the Astros loaded the bases with one out on two walks and a hit before Joe Gibbon relieved and struck out pinch hitter Bob Aspromonte and reliever Frank Linzy got pinch hitter Julio Gotay to ground out.

The victory was San Francisco's 31st in its last 34 games against Houston at Candlestick Park.

Jim Wynn of Houston extended his hitting streak to 15 games with a single in the seventh.

Jim Ray of Holly, Houston's fourth pitcher, yielded one single and fanned two in one and two-thirds innings on the mound.

Coach Refuses Demands

Cal Gridders Boycott

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Negro football candidates at the University of California are boycotting spring practice, demanding the right to say who should play which position, and when.

Coach Ray Willsey silently read their demands, presented by one athlete and one student non-athlete, declined them, and handed back the paper.

"I do not believe these prerogatives of a coach are negotiable," he said. "I cannot ignore my responsibilities."

He refused to give details of the demands.

He also refused to name any of the athletes.

"I will not initiate any name calling," he said today. "I don't want to appear to the public to be exposing them to criticism."

He said in a statement: "It will be a tragedy that competition will be denied to some outstanding young men because of their actions.

OFF TEAM

"These men, by not reporting for practice, are, in effect, removing themselves from the California football team."

Willsey said he has no idea when or if the Negroes will return. Football practice ends Saturday.

Pressed for a count, Willsey said 14 were out for spring drills and every one played in last Saturday's alumni game.

He said five or six were lettermen.

Most of the 14 missed Tuesday drills and all boycotted Wednesday's.

Four lettermen who had been out were Irby Augustine, fullback; Jerome Chapman, offensive guard; John McGaffie, fullback, and Paul Williams, halfback.

NO COMMENT

Willsey refused to say whether one of them presented the demands.

Willsey, who is concluding his fourth year as head coach, said the Negroes did not demand the ouster of any coach, as had Negroes of all sports at California last winter.

One of their targets, basketball Coach Rene Herrerias, resigned recently, giving racial problems and "for the best interests of my family," as two reasons.

The Negroes did not mention the original demand for the ouster of football aides Joe Marvin and Bill Dutton.

"There are certain prerogatives that belong solely to the head coach," Willsey said in a statement. "These include the determining of the relative abilities of the various members of the team, and the placement of athletes in various positions; simply, the determination of who will play, where and when.

"I can make no prediction as to what will happen in the future, only that I will maintain the sole right of evaluating the California football team as to its playing personnel."

Patriots' Owner Not Irate About Warning

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — William H. Sullivan, owner of the Boston Patriots, said Wednesday he was pleased by the warning that his club must be building a stadium of at least 50,000 seats by 1970 or it will lose its American Football League franchise.

Sullivan said he has considered it wrong in the past to require new pro football teams to have such a stadium without requiring old members to do likewise.

"This was probably far overdue and fully justified," Sullivan said, and he added, "I believe we can get such a stadium underway quickly."

Voters in Massachusetts refused recently to authorize the building of a bigger stadium in Boston, and Sullivan said the city faces a tax problem because much of the local property is owned by colleges, hospitals and churches and is tax exempt.

"But I believe we're close to the day when we can get the problem resolved—by the first of July," Sullivan said. He added that he believes the stadium will have to be built through a combination of public, city and state funds.

Sullivan said he has turned down several offers "for a tremendous amount of money" to sell the franchise. He said he has no plans to move it to Birmingham, Ala., as has been speculated in recent weeks.

Athletes Okay as Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professional athletes serving in reserve units are not receiving preferential treatment, Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., reported Wednesday.

Nedzi, who complained to the Defense Department in December, 1966, that some pro athletes were receiving favorable treatment, said, "I am satisfied that at this time professional athletes are pulling their fair share in the reserve components."

He said he based his opinions on statistics supplied by the Army.

After his original complaint, the Pentagon began last February to fill all national guard reserve vacancies on a first come, first served basis to prevent athletes and others from moving ahead of applicants who had been waiting longer periods.

There were 360 professional athletes in reserve components at the time of the interim Defense Department report last summer. There were 197 pro football players, 145 pro baseball players and 18 pro basketletes used in the survey.

Schedule Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rugged Raul Rojas of San Pedro, Calif., the World Boxing Association featherweight champion, will meet Sho Siajyo of Japan in a 10-round non-title fight at the Olympic Auditorium June 6.

Milford Defeats 2 Golf Rivals

Milford coasted past West Bloomfield and Holly in a Wayne-Oakland League golf outing at Highland Lakes Country Club.

The Redskins took 154 strokes. West Bloomfield needed 166 and the Broncos 184. Matt Partridge's one-over-par 37 led the winners (13-4). Rick Yeager and Steve Burrows both had 38s.

Ed Warken of the Lakers also posted a 38 and Holly's best was a 42 by Gary Stack.

Roy Emerson Has Challenge in Pro Tennis

Ex-Star of Davis Cup Eliminates Former Doubles Partner

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be no more Challenge Rounds for Roy Emerson, the newest pro. Just a challenge—period!

"Yes, professional tennis is a challenge," Emerson admitted Wednesday night after easily disposing of former Australian Davis Cup teammate Fred Stolle 6-3, 6-3 in the Madison Square Garden Invitation Tournament.

"I look forward to playing; I've got nothing to lose," said the 31-year-old Queenslander, who left the amateur ranks two months ago after winning 11 of 12 singles matches and four of six doubles for Australia in nine Davis Cup Challenge Rounds.

"But I had to get out and do a lot of practice," he added. "You don't get any easy matches with these fellows like you do in amateur tournaments. I had to make sure I was moving well.

CLOSE TO LINE

"These pros hit the ball so close to the line that if you're not clicking right in the first round you're sitting and watching the rest of the tournament."

Emerson needed only 43 minutes to polish off Stolle, who flubbed the simplest shots and double-faulted eight times.

Rod Laver and Ken Rosewall, the classy little Aussie veterans, also advanced to Friday's semifinals, along with Spain's Andres Gimeno.

Laver, leading money-winner on the National Tennis League tour, put on the niftiest exhibition of shotmaking in trimming Peru's Alex Olmedo 6-3, 6-4. Rosewall was just about as impressive in downing Lew Hoad, his Davis Cup teammate of the 1950s, 6-3, 6-1.

Gimeno trailed 40-year-old Pancho Gonzalez, one-time pro ruler, 5-2 in a marathon 75-minute first set but rallied for a 15-13, 6-4 victory.

Friday night, Rosewall plays Gimeno and Emerson faces Laver, who beat him in the finals of the U.S., Australian, French and Italian championships in 1962.

MAKE DEBUT

The women make their debuts at the same time with Mrs. Billie Jean King facing Francois Durr and Rosemary Casals playing Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones.

A surprisingly large crowd of 10,246 turned out to watch the pros began their battle for $30,000 in prize money.

Emerson never played a match on boards as an amateur and played indoors only sparingly.

"I'm not used to indoor conditions yet so I'm very happy with the way I've played," said Emerson, who has won five of eight matches as a pro.

Cranes Score 2-0 Triumph

A pair of doubles in the opening frame by Rod Fonda and Sandy Heavenrich was all that Cranbrook needed to score a 2-0 win over Detroit Catholic Central yesterday.

Fonda scored again in the 5th inning on an error, steal, another error and a wild pitch as the Cranes moved their season record to 9-7.

Long Time Between Littler's Golf Wins

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Remember Gene Littler, the personable Californian and one-time U.S. Open golf king?

He was, you may recall, the only golfer ever to win the prestigious Tournament of Champions three consecutive years, 1955-1957. He owns 20 PGA trophies in all.

He's alive and well and here for the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation, which begins today, weather permitting.

It has been three years since Littler last won a PGA crown, a strange and apparently cruel fate for one of the game's finest shot-makers.

"I've been pretty lucky, I guess, Littler said Wednesday after trimming two shots from Colonial's par 70 course and sharing first place in the program. "I have no complaints."

Franchise Sites Expected to Be Picked May 22

WASHINGTON (AP) — San Diego and Milwaukee "almost certainly" will be granted baseball franchises in the National League's expansion from 10 to 12 teams, the Washington Post said in its Wednesday editions.

Sports columnist Shirley Povich wrote that in the bidding for new franchises Buffalo and Montreal, Canada, were priced out of the market by the league's action of placing a $10 million value on membership.

Povich said San Diego and Milwaukee are willing to meet the price and have remained in the bidding while a fifth applicant, Fort Worth-Dallas, probably will be the victim of geographical location.

Club owners will meet in St. Louis May 22 for a secret vote on the awarding of the franchises.

District Has to Borrow to Pay Its Staff

For the first time in about 15 years, the Pontiac School District has to borrow money to pay its employes.

The school board voted last night to apply for a loan of $500,000 on its state aid.

Schools Business Manager Vern Schiller explained that the problem is one of timing and arose because the district had used up its cash balance for the first time.

Schiller said he has to pay $600,000 in wages June 14 and the money source — an $800,000 to $900,000 state aid payment — won't come until June 25.

$800 IN INTEREST

Borrowing the $500,000 will cost the school district an additional amount of about $800 in interest, Schiller estimates.

In another money matter, the board passed a resolution to issue $19 million in bonds for the proposed new senior high school voters approved in a $23-million bond issue in March.

The bonds will not increase the present 4-mill debt levy. They will all mature by 1987.

Schiller told the board that Municipal Finance Commission rules require that all funds for a project be available before it is started, which makes it necessary to issue the $19 million now.

AUDITORS HIRED

In other buisness, the board hired a nationally known firm of auditors and consultants for about $3,000 to survey the operation and maintenance divisions of the school district.

LyBrand, Ross Bros. & Montogomery of Detroit was given the contract for the survey, which could be completed in about a month, according to the firm.

The study is to eliminate the district's relatively high maintenance expenses and to allow the director of maintenance more time to work on upcoming construction projects.

A school calendar for 1968-69 was adopted. School will open Sept. 4 for grades 1-6, Sept. 5 for new pupils in grades 7-12, Sept. 6 for all other students in grades 7-12 and Sept. 9 for kindergarten pupils.

Board Names Principal for Vocational Facility

A principal for Pontiac's Area Vocational High School was named by the board of education last night.

Kenneth Huffman, coordinator of apprentice and manpower programs in vocation and adult education, will head the school to be built east of Madison Junior High school.

The building for 600 students is to be opened in September 1969. Funds for the project are supplied by Oakland Schools Intermediate District.

Huffman's appointment is effective July 1. He will work with the architects and teachers and help set up the curriculum before the building is ready.

SABBATICAL LEAVE

In other personnel matters, the board granted a sabbatical leave for 1968-69 to Edward Dauw, an assistant principal at Central High School.

He will complete course work at the University of Michigan for a doctoral degree in administration.

A resolution expressing deep sympathy to the family of Mrs. Vida L. Walker, Whitfield Elementary School principal who died May 6, was passed by the board.

It expressed the appreciation of the community for her 19 years of devoted service as a teacher and principal in Pontiac. She had been in education for 34 years in Michigan.

Named to the board of canvassers were William G. Osborn, 1958 Long Point, a Republican, and Otis Lawrence, 470 Ferry, a Democrat.

"I'm not poor," said the boy, Christopher, when Mrs. Williams awakened him Wednesday.

"I told him, 'yes, you are, too'," said his mother, who is on relief.

'Vehicle' for Court Reform Approved by State Senate

LANSING (AP)—Senate Democratic and Republican leaders teamed together Wednesday to breathe new life into the lower court reorganization issue.

Gov. Romney expressed concern Tuesday when the court bill was defeated in the Senate on a 14-15 vote.

The Legislature was ordered by the new constitution to reorganize the state's lower court system by abolishing justice of the peace, municipal and other lower courts and replacing them with district courts.

A substitute bill was adopted by a 29-3 vote after party leaders assured members it was only intended as a means of keeping the issue alive.

INTO CONFERENCE

All we want is a vehicle to get the issue into conference," explained Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, who introduced the substitute.

Some senators balked at voting for a new bill, hastily drawn up and laid on their desks just minutes before they were asked for a favorable vote.

"I think they are trying to throw a fast one by us. . . this is a steamroller," objected Sen. Arthur Cartwright, D-Detroit.

Cartwright said he mainly was concerned that some of the Detroit courts would be abolished and the judges and their employes left jobless.

Cartwright and other objectors were told that a Senate-House conference committee now will take over the court reorganization issue.

"Our only wish is to get it in conference so we can get down to the rest of our business," said Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, the minority leader.

"There is plenty of time between now and the end of the session to work this out. All your concerns will be given deep consideration before you are asked to vote on a conference report," he said.

Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, had predicted before the count that he would have 27 favorable votes to pass the bill. He ended up with 28 as even Cartwright — at first the most suspicious critic of the tactic — voted for the substitute bill.

The substitute mainly provided for the continued existence of municipal and other courts until the district courts are organized and become operative.

Graduate Work Seen Booming

NEW YORK (UPI) — More doctor's and master's degrees will be granted by American universities in the 1966-1975 decade than in the preceding 50 years, accordig to Dr. W. H. Heicher, research director of the Combined Insurance Company of America.

"The United States now has 66 per cent of its 15-to-19 age group enrolled in school," Heicher said.

"This is much higher than in many other enlightened nations. France has 31 per cent of this age group in school while West Germany, Italy and the United Kingdom have less than 20 per cent.

"Back in 1940 only about one out of four, or something over 24 per cent of 25-year-olds and older had four or more years of high school. By 1966 that proportion has risen to 40 per cent.

GRADS DOUBLED

"During the same period, the number of Americans finishing four or more years of college more than doubled — from 4.6 per cent to 9.9 per cent."

Heicher said crowding and overcrowding of schools is a standard complaint but total enrollment in elementary schools has eased off and will remain somewhat stable until 1975, then it will jump another 10 per cent.

'Prompt Action Is a Must'

Cavanagh Eyes Riot 'Errors'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The riot that left 43 dead last July delivered an "obvious lesson that prompt, effective action is critical to keeping the peace," Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit said today.

But he added that active cooperation of citizens is essential "if even these early actions are to be effective."

Cavanagh's statements were contained in remarks prepared for the Senate subcommittee holding hearings on civil disorders.

The mayor, discussing the early hours of the disturbance that began last July 23, said: "Perhaps there were errors in judgment made by me in those first hours that Sunday morning. However, I would point out that no city is ever prepared adequately for the psychological and physical shock of a riot.

"There is a valid question of whether or not we should not have requested state assistance earlier than we did," he said. "In hindsight, perhaps we should have."

Cavanagh said the request for state aid involved "the serious step" of a declaration of a state of emergency by Gov. George Romney.

"It was not until 2 p.m., as I have said, that myself and my advisers felt that the situation could become uncontrollable," Cavanagh told the subcommittee. "Once that determination was made, I contacted the governor promptly."

Nearly 1,500,000 U.S. teenagers ahve their own charge accounts.

GIs Can Fly Dixie Flags ---Pentagon

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has assured outraged Southern congressmen that servicemen will be allowed to fly their home-state flags in South Vietnam—even if those flags are emblazoned with the insignia of the Civil War Confederacy.

The flap started about two weeks ago when Rep. W. S. Stuckey, D-Ga., told the House he was "upset, angry and indignant" because one of his constituents in Vietnam was ordered to remove the Georgia flag from above his bunk.

"The reason given was that since some people view the Confederate flag as a symbol of racism," Stuckey said, "all state flags which contain bars and stars must be removed."

The Georgia Democrat told the House "the order was that especially all Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi flags must come down immediately."

He read part of a soldier's letter to the soldier's mother complaining the order came out "because of the racial tension" following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

While the Southern state flags had to come down, Stuckey said, flags from such states as New York and Ohio "were allowed to remain displayed."

The Georgia congressman said he had written to the Pentagon demanding "that this ridiculous and dangerous order be investigated."

Asked about this, the Pentagon said a preliminary inquiry showed that on April 10, during the period of civil disturbance after King's death, a local decision was made within the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam "to prohibit the outward display of the Confederate flag."

The aim, the Defense Department said, was to "reduce the likelihood of any racial tensions within the wing."

Card of Thanks 1

WE WOULD LIKE to express our thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors who remembered us at the loss of our Son, Jerome. God Bless You. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Richway.

IN OUR RECENT bereavement we found comfort in the thoughtfulness of our friends and neighbors — the memory of your kindness will always be with us. The family of Katharine E. Downs.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dead husband and father, Howard Sprague, who passed away May 16, 1967.
I do not need a special day to bring you to my mind,
For the day I do not think of you, is very hard to find.
If all this world were mine to give
I would give it yes and more.
To see your smiling face come through the door once more.
But I know God has you in His keeping,
But I have you in my heart.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow that is concealed in our hearts.
Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren.

U.S. Looks to Viet Accord Supervised by Neutralists

PARIS (AP) — Despite deadlock in the U. S.-North Vietnamese talks about an end to the bombing of North Vietnam, the United States is working on proposals to support any Vietnam settlement with a peacekeeping system run by neutral Asian nations.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this today, said the idea is to provide more effective supervision than has been provided by the powerless Indochina Control Commission made up of India, Poland and Canada.

If the exchanges between Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Minister of State Xuan Thuy bear fruit, the Americans would like to see the machinery to police any peace arrangements in the hands of such neutral Asian states as Burma, India and Indonesia.

STRONGER BASIS

Harriman signaled American thinking on the subject in presenting his government's first policy statement in the peace talks.

He said any new agreement would need international supervision but on a stronger, wider basis that the Communist-Western-neutral commission set up by the 1954 Geneva accords that ended France's war in Indochina.

"Experience has demonstrated the shortcomings of the existing procedures," said Harriman. "We believe one of our major tasks will be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and insuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints."

He added that "the nations of Asia, with their crucial interests in the stability of the area," should be "associated with the monitoring" of any reached.

Washington wants membership in any control system confined to neutral or nonaligned countries, the informants said, so the Communists can't exercise the veto that has kept the present control commission powerless.

Although the U.S.-North Vietnamese peace talks seem to be badly bogged down over the question of American bombing north of the 17th parallel, U.S. spokesmen refuse to be pessimistic.

After the second session Wednesday, at which Thuy said continuation of the bombing was blocking the consideration of larger issues, an American spokesman commented: "We did find a few things where we believe we have a common interest."

Tornado Outbreak Kills 72 in a Five-State Rampage

A massive outbreak of tornadoes slammed at the nation's midsection late Wednesday, killing more than 70 persons, injuring several hundred and leaving a trail of damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

The toll of deaths in the twisters and severe thunderstorms climbed to 72 today, with 48 dead in Arkansas alone. Iowa counted 14 dead, Illinois 8, Missouri and Indiana 1 each.

As expected, the reported toll climbed sharply as daylight broke over the stricken region. Darkness and flash flooding had hampered search operations.

Hardest hit was the northeastern Arkansas university city of Jonesboro which counted 33 dead and more than 350 injured. A twister slammed into the southeastern section of the city at dusk scattering homes like dominoes.

Arkansas State Police reported 10 dead at the little town of Oil Trough, a community of 235 residents which eyewitnesses said was virtually destroyed. Three died at Mountain Home and two were killed at Tuckerman, all within 100 miles of Jonesboro.

Meany Pens Letter Suspending UAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO loses its biggest, richest union today when President George Meany mails a formal letter suspending Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers for refusing to pay its dues.

An aide said Meany was drafting a "businesslike" letter to Reuther, who joined him in founding the giant labor federation 13 years ago.

The letter will cost the AFL-CIO 1.5 million members and more than $1 million a year in dues, but the final break between the two powerful labor leaders stemmed from virtually everything except money.

It capped a two-year Reuther attack on Meany's leadership as "undemocratic" and "stagnant" in AFL-CIO policies on everything from wages to water pollution.

'EXERCISE IN FUTILITY'

Reuther said that trying to argue its complaints before Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders was "an exercise in futility," and demanded a special convention to debate the dispute.

The UAW rejected an AFL-CIO offer to call the special convention if Reuther's union would agree in advance to abide by its decision.

The final break came when the UAW at their recent convention voted to withhold payment of dues to the AFL-CIO pending possible settlement of the dispute, but continue to participate in "worthwhile" federation activities.

"This case is unique," Meany said of the well-heeled UAW. "We never had anyone tell us they were going to stay in without paying their dues."

Meany's letter will cite sections of the AFL-CIO constitution providing for automatic suspension of a union that falls three months behind in payment of dues. The deadline passed yesterday for the UAW, whose secretary-treasurer, Emil Mazey, said no payment will be made.

VC Attack U. S. Ships

SAIGON (AP) — Two American merchant ships and a Japanese freighter were attacked Wednesday by the Viet Cong in less than three hours on a river channel near Saigon, the U.S. Navy reported today.

There were no casualties on any of the three ships and none of them was disabled by the enemy attacks, headquarters said.

6 More Alive in Mine Trap

HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) —Six coal miners, trapped deep in a flooded mine shaft and beyond contact for nearly 10 days, were rescued early today and all were termed "in good shape."

The other four men with them were dead and their bodies were brought out of the shaft about four hours after the first of the six walked from the mine at 4 a.m. (DT).

Another 15 miners, pinned down by the water a half mile away and about a mile from the mine's entrance, were rescued last Saturday.

The 10 had been given up for dead but rescuers still worked around the clock to reach them, following the creed of the coal fields that rescue efforts never stop until missing men—or their bodies—are found.

PAUSED FOR PRAYER

The six paused for prayer at the mine's opening and Dr. Lee B. Todd gave them a hasty physical check before ambulances sped them to a hospital in Richwood, about 15 miles away.

A search team went into the shaft this morning and traced the men to their underground prison by following tracks left in the mud.

The six then had to crawl about 800 yards through the rolling 36-inch high passageway to reach a battery-operated mine cart which they rode to a conveyor belt to take them to the mine entrance. The cart skipped the track after hitting a hole en route but a mine official said the three men in it "were in good enough shape to lift it back on the track."

Open Housing Passes House

LANSING (AP) — The open housing bill was back in the Senate with 21 amendments today after a session of arm-twisting and bitter debate brought the measure 76-31 approval in the House.

Forty Republicans and 36 Democrats joined forces behind the controversial bill, giving the measure 21 votes more than it required.

But hidden behind the whopping majority was a frantic lobbying effort by Romney aides and House party leaders to prevent some members from rewriting the measure along the lines of the weaker federal Civil Rights Act of 1968.

The Senats now must decide whether to accept the 21 changes —most of them minor, but a few likely to generate considerable controversy—made by the House to the version given Senate approval April 4.

Related Story, Page A-2

READY FOR SIGNING

If the Senate endorses the House version, the measure would be ready to be signed into law by Romney. If not, the two chambers would attempt to negotiate their differences.

The bill forbids discrimination because of race, religion or nationality in the sale or rental of most housing accomodations, provides for financial penalties, and permits courts under certain circumstances to order completion of a real estate deal.

A real estate firm, bank or other professional violator could be fined up to $1,000 for committing an "unfiar housing practice," and up to $2,000 for a repeat violation.

An individual accused of housing bias could be held liable for up to $500 in actual damages suffered by the victim of discrimination. A person filing a false bias complaint could be made to pay the court costs and attorney fees of the person accused.

8-HOUR SESSION

The House Tuesday night, in a wearying eight-hour session, hammered the bill into what leaders hoped would be its final form. Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, the majority floor leader, hoped for a vote on the measure by noon yesterday.

ROOF CHOPPING—A grease fire over the grill that couldn't be put out by seven fire extinguishers grew into a full-scale blaze at 7 p.m. yesterday at the Rotunda Country Inn, 3230 Pine Lake, West Bloomfield Township. Open Housing Supported

The Pontiac Board of Education last night added its support to the passage of the fair-housing ordianace in the city referendum June 24.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, D-8

The board passed a resolution, similar to one approved by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

"Whereas federal open housing legislation is existent and state fair-housing legislation imminent, it is evident that the passage or defeat of Pontiac's ordinance No. 1577 will resolve itself as a test of good will and hope," the resolution said.

"It has been the position of this board to support fair-housing in concept and, specifically, to work toward the reduction and elimination of the effects of facism in all aspects of the community.

"The Pontiac Board of Education does support ordinance No. 1577 on fair-housing, to be voted on in the June 24 referendum in the City of Pontiac."

16 Feared Dead in London Blast

LONDON (AP) — One corner of a new 23-story apartment house in London's East End collapsed after an explosion today, killing an estimated 15 or 16 persons.

Firemen and other rescue workers recovered four bodies from the huge pile of debris and said they expected to find perhaps another dozen dead.

Sven people were injured, but there was little hope of finding any others alive in the rubble, a fire brigade officer said.

There was no immediate word on what caused the explosion, which was believed to have occurred in an 18th floor apartment.

Most of the collapsed rooms were dining areas or small lounges. And since the explosion occurred at 5:30 a.m., most of the building's tenants were asleep elsewhere in their apartments.

One man on the 19th floor slept through the whole thing.

"We smashed his door down and he came out in his pajamas and said, What the hell's going on? Then he saw his living room had disappeared," a fireman said.

"There was a terrific explosion," said Charles Castell, a night watchman in the neighborhood. "It sounded as though a plane had gone through the sound barrier Then I heard pieces of stuff whizzing through the air."

CRASHED DOWN

Sections of the huge building crashed down into the street below.

One survivor, Harry Heal, said the blast woke him and he went out onto the terrace of his seventh floor apartment.

"Looking straight up, it was clear right up to the roof," he said. "It looked as if the whole side had burst out."

Police evacuated the building and set up a reception center for the 80 families made homeless.

JUST MOVED IN

The block-size building, known as Ronan Point, was completed two months ago. The first of the 260 persons it housed moved in only a few weeks back.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the explosion.

The London Fire Brigade said it had 18 engines and 150 firemen at the scene.

Police with loudspeakers toured the area warning people to stay clear of the shattered building. Residents of nearby houses were warned to leave in case of a further collapse.

Japan Jolted, 25 Are Killed in Severe Quake

TOKYO (AP) — A severe earthquake that jolted 600 miles of Japan's eastern seaboard today killed at least 25 persons and caused tidal waves and widespread damage.

Police said in addition to the 25 known dead, eight persons were missing and at least 50 injured. Seven Americans at Misawa Air Force Base, in northern Honshu, suffered minor injuries, but no planes were damaged.

It wasn't as bad as it might have been because the quake's epicenter was 93 miles out to sea, off Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

The Central Meteorological Agency said magnitude of the quake at its epicenter was 7.8, above the seven-point scale used in Japan. It was the strongest quake since the Sept. 1, 1923, tremor that left much of Tokyo and Yokohama in ruins.

The tidal waves averaged four to five feet, but damage was reduced because they came at low tide.

However, numerous homes and buildings were destroyed, either by the quake or fires that followed it. Hundreds of homes were flooded to floor level or above. Roads were impassable in places, bridges cut, dikes ruptured and railway tracks severed.

Numerous communications lines were cut, and for a time there was no landline communication between Hokkaido and Honshu, Japan's main island.

Most of the damage occurred in southern Hokkaido and northern to central Honshu.

The Maritime Agency said at least nine boats were sunk. Several more, including one small foreign freighter, were driven onto reefs.

OCC Gets OK for Ghetto Labs

Oakland Community College was given the green light yesterday by the State Board of Education to create trining progrmas in shabby ghetto store fronts as well as in multimillion-dollar new campus buildings.

Called Continuing Opportunities Program for Education (COPE), the project provides for "satellite larning labs" in the ghetto. They will be "administered by grassroots leaders and serve as a hub of college and community activities."

The board gave OCC approval to apply for a grant of $22,240 under the state plan, Title 1 of the federal Higher Education Act of 1965.

Advanced education and remedial and job-oriented programs would be offered "to prepare students for success in college programs and job placement," the COEP plan states.

The college satellites would also seek to recruit job applicants and would serve as counseling and referral centers and as cultural and educational enrichment programs for adults.

Can You Tie Your Shoe, Tina? . . . Try . . . Keep Trying

Rehabilitation Foundation Will Honor Pontiac Girl, 3

A 3-year-old victim of an accidental shooting Tina Tovar of Pontiac, will be honored as the 1968 Kenny Girl when the Kinny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation celebrates its 21st anniversary on Tuesday.

Guest speaker at the 7 p.m. dinner at Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit, will be D. Eugene Sibery, executive director of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council.

Tina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Tovar, 259 S. Anderson, was sitting on the lap of a house guest watching television on a Sunday morning, last Oct. 8, when a bullet slammed through the metal partition of a screen door. The shot pierced another door into the living room, striking Tina in the head.

In a coma, Tina was rushed to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and then to Pontiac General Hospital in a frantic effort to save her life. The surgeon who operated was unable to remove bullet fragments which had penetrated her brain.

TOTALLY PARALYZED

Four days later, totally paralyzed, Tina began therapy treatments at the Kenny Rehabilitation Center at Pontiac General. Although spared the effects of severe brain damage, she was unable to lift her head.

Gradually she has been regaining her ability to function. A few weeks ago she was able to take her first halting steps.

With each day's therapy, Tina gains more confidence and more coordination. There is still some spasticity in her right hand but Dr. Ethel T. Calhoun, administrative associate at the center, believes Tina will continue to improve.

The shooting has never been solved by the Pontiac police, but according to Chief William K. Hanger, it was undoubtedly an accident. Police theorize that the shot was probably fired from the sidewalk outside the front door or from the street.

NEARING FOUR

Tina, alert and responsive, will be four Oct. 26. She has two brothers; Victor, 7, and Frank, who is nearly 3.

The Kenny Foundation, an agency of Fund, was organized to combat polio and the Torch Drive and the Michigan United other neuromuscular disease. It is now dedicated to the rehabilitation of Michigan victims of accidents, strokes, arthritis and all crippling neuromuscular disorders.

The foundation is named for Elizabeth Kenny who earned the rank of Sister in the Australian Army Nurse Corps before coming to America to urge the use of her treatment for polio.

City Employes at Imlay Resign

Apparently dissatisfied with salary provisions in the village budget, all of Imlay City's municipal employes except Manager Harvey Weatherwax submitted resignations yesterday.

The nine resignations, which include the four-man police department and the superintendent of public works and his employes, will be effective Monday. However, garbage collections, which are not operated by the village, and the volunteer fire department will be unaffected.

Contents of the budget, approved at a village council meeting Monday, have not been made public.

Weatherwax was unavailable for comment this morning, and Council President John F. Folk had no comment.

'2 Schools Won't Open Due to Fund Shortage'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Two new elementary schools in the district will not open next year, according to a statement released today by Citizens for Bloomfield Schools (CBS).

H. Eugene Weiss, 2877 Courville, chairman of the citizens' group, said the board of education advised him there would not be enough money to open and operate the schools next year, regardless of other factors.

Citizens of the district are scheduled to vote on a proposed 9.5-mill five-year increase in property taxes June 10. A 14-mill proposition was rejected April 1 by a 2½-to-1 margin.

A school district spokesman confirmed Weiss' statement. The two schools are Fox Hills Elementary, near Opdyke and Square Lake, and an as-yet-unnamed school at Lone Pine and Middlebelt.

ENROLLMENT HIKE

"Passage of the 9-5-mill proposal on June 10 will provide four per cent more money for education next year, but there will be 10 per cent more children," Weiss explained.

"The only way that the board can make the money stretch is by increasing class sizes, cutting back on transportation, reducing physical education, art, music, gym and other special programs and letting two new schools lie vacant."

The chairman called response to the CBS millage campaign so far "gratifying," but added, "parents of the district don't yet seem to realize how serious the situation is."

Weiss previously had said failure to pass the millage would be "catastrophe" for the district, pointing out that 27 per cent less money per child would be available next year.

ACCREDITATION JEOPARDIZED

"Bus transportation will be limited to only that which is supported by the state, and class sizes at the secondary level will be enlarged to the point where college accreditation would be in jeopardy.

"This is one of the finest school districts in the state. The quality has been built up over the years, and it could be destroyed in weeks," Weiss concluded.

Afro-American Courses Planned

Afro-American history will be taught in each elementary grade and in all secondary social study courses next school year, the Pontiac Board of Education explained in detail last night.

Outlines for teaching the subject will be developed this summer. In-service training in the subject will be held for teachers and administrators before school opens and during the school year, according to Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy.

In addition, an experimental course in Afro-American history will be offered for high school students this summer and continued as an electie during the regular school year.

The new emphasis on the teaching of Negro history, sulture and contributions came as a result of communlty in this area.

MATERIALS, GUIDELINES

The board advised teachers to use available Afro-American materials and principals have been asked to see that the guidelines are used.

In elementary schools, new teachers will be invited on a voluntary paid basis to a half-day preschool workshop on Afro-American materials and human relations.

During the school year they will attend a one-day workshop on social studies, including Afro-American history, and at least a three-hour in-service program on relationship of Afro-American materials to human and civil rights.

In secondary schools, minimum instructional activities will be established for required seventh through 11th grade social studies, U.S. history, civics and world history courses.

IN ELECTIVES

Afro-American history also will be taught the following 12th grade elective courses: Asian History, African Studies, American Problems, Economics, International Relations, and Western Thought.

John Perdue, directof of school-community and human relations, will teach the summer course on Afro-American history.

Secondary teachers may attend a three-day preschool workshop to familiarize them selves with the materials. They must have at least three hours of in-service training in the field during the school year.

Administrators will get five hours of preschool workshop on Afro-American history materials and at least three hours during the school year.

MUSEUM MATERIALS

Guides will be made available to special education teachers to adapt them for their students and an effort will be made to have materials from the Afro-American Museum of Detroit display in schools.

In other business, the board approved a $4,640 pilot program of preemployment training for custodial, clerical and cafeteria personnel for 1968-69.

Forty-five hard-core unempllyed people wiill be paid $45 a week for two weeks to be trained in the classroom and on the job for the work. Employe turnover is higha dn competition for jobs keen, school aides said.

The board extended a contract with the Pontiac Area Urban League for Pr9ject 100 through July. Cost is $3,500.

Seven elementary schools and two junior highs in deprived areas participate in the program, designed to achieve 100 per cent participation by parents and staff in school activities.

The current $12,000, eight-month contract expires June 30. The extension provides for six additional half-time workers trying to get parents involved. Now there are two people working full-time and one half-time.

It is believed that Pontiac is one of few school districts in the country having such an arrangement with the Urban League.

72 Die in Tornado Outbreak

state area from Kansas to Ohio —erupted as a strong cold front clashed with warm, humid temperatures in the mid 80s. Shortly before 7tth graf AO41.

Shortly before striking in Arkansas, the wave of twisters raked northeastern Iowa. A funnel cloud roared through downtown Charles City around 4 p.m. Eleven were dead when the storm was over and, police reported, most buildings in an eight-block area were demolished.

Only an hour later a twister whipped into Oelwein, 50 miles from Charles City, striking first at the south edge of the community and then blasting a path through the business district. The highway patrol said two persons were killed in the city, two were missing and a child was killed just north of Oelwein.

National Guard troops were called out both in Arkansas and Iowa. Additional doctors, nurses and blood were flown to stricken parts of Iowa from as far away as Minneapolis.

The storms in Arkansas poured more heavy rain on sections of that state still flooded from heavy downpours earlier in the week.

Tornadoes or severe thunderstorms swept almost the entire length of Illinois, starting before noon yesterday and continuing into the night.

Hardest hit in Illinois was Freeburg, near East St. Louis, where four died and scores were reported injured.

Two died at Wapella, in central Illinois. Communication was lacking with Wapella, and authorities feared the toll there would go higher. An elderly woman died of a heart attack after a tornado swooped across Natrona, also in central Illinois. A University of Illinois student was electrocuted by a shorted traffic signal in a flooded Champaign street intersection.

Severe thunderstorms sweeping western Kansas and Missouri unleashed several tornadoes in that region as well. One man was killed near Joplin, Mo., when a bolt of lightning struck a tree and jumped to a tractor he was driving.

A school bus was blown off a road near Lonejack, Mo., 30 miles southeast of Kansas City, but the pupils aboard escaped just before a twister roared over, and only two were injured.

Tornadoes swept through central Indiana into the night hours, causing several injuries and considerable property damage southwest of Indianapolis. Baseball-size hailstones pounded some communities just west of the Indiana capital during the storms.

Novi Cityhood Vote Block Falls

NORMAN L. SOMERS

Heads Jaycee Effort
By BETTY ANN SCHULTZ

NOVI — While village leaders campaigned in favor of Monday's cityhood vote, Novi Township officials lost a last attempt to prevent the election.

The township was denied last week a rehearing of an earlier decision by the State Court of Appeals which permitted the holding of the cityhood election.

The state court concluded that the township can take the case to the State Supreme Court after the election.

"The Township Board hasn't yet decided on its next course," said Township Supervisor Harley Bachert. "The outcome of the election will make the difference."

REASONS FOR OPPOSITION

Bachert, speaking for himself and the Township Board, bases opposition to cityhood on the following:

- It is illegal because the village doesn't have 500 persons per square mile. (Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn declared that the village, as an already incorporated entity, isn't bound by the state statute requiring 500 persons per square mile in an area wanting home-rule cityhood.)
- Cityhood will bring about increased taxes.
- The Novi School District will lie wholly within the village and thus be unable to receive certain state funds.

MAIN PROPONENTS

While no organized opposition group exists, the Novi Jaycees and the village citizens committee are the main proponents of the cityhood issue.

C. A. Smith, head of the citizens committee which filed the petitions proposing cityhood, said his 15-member group is on call to meet in homes "anytime day or night."

He cited reasons for a "yes" vote:

- Protection of the proposed city's boundaries from annexation to a nearby city. He claimed that plans of other cities to annex parts of the village would be set in motion immediately if cityhood fails.
- Concentrated and more efficient government by eliminating two governments for the present village area.

ADDS POINTS

The head of the Jaycee campaign force, Norman Somers, part owner of the Novi Drugstore, added points on the "pro side."

- Tax base protection, meaning the threat of annexation of highly assessed property would be removed.

Township government is partisan.

- The abolishment of "a political factor"—that is, disagreements between the village and township administrations.

Although he doesn't agree with them, Somers added to the township's reasons for objecting to cityhood:

- The township supervisor, clerk, treasurer and one of the two trustees would lose their posts because they reside in the village.
- The remaining portion of the township, about three square and scattered miles, couldn't support a township government.
- Cityhood isn't natural because village residents at the north and south ends associate themselves more with Walled Lake and Northville respectively than Novi.
- Loss of balance of powers between the township and the village.
- A successful cityhood vote is irreversible.

Also on Monday's ballot is the selection of nine persons for a city charter commission.

If cityhood is okayed by a majority of the village's 2,257 registered voters, the commission has two years within which to present a city charter to voters. A charter can be presented three times.

The 14 candidates for charter commission are:

Denis Berry, 41163 MacMahon; William D. Brinker, 24440 Mill Stream; J. F. Buck, 24350 LeBost; Russell Button, 44109 Grand River; James Cherfoli, 24066 Glen Ridge; Joseph Crupi, 23790 Maude Lea; Laverne DeWaard, 24395 Willow Lane; William Duey, 45385 Nine Mile; Raymond Evans, 23750 Heartwood; Mrs. Dorothy Farrah, 46950 Grand River; Leo Harrawood, 24042 Willowbrook; David Harrison, 25600 Strath Haven; Edwin Presnell, 23740 Maude Lea; and Edward Vahlbusch, 48025 Rushwood.

$140,000 Fire Sweeps Inn in W. Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A fire here caused an estimated $140,000 damage to the Rotunda Country Inn, 3230 Pine Lake last night. The blaze began as a grease fire over the grill which couldn't be extinguished by seven extinguishers.

It was the second major fire at the inn. In the summer of 1962, the landmark inn was swept by a fire causing $55,000 damage.

The township fire department received the alert at 7 p.m. and had the fire under control at 9 p.m., according to the department report.

Estimated damage is $65,000 to the building valued at $250,000 and $75,000 to the contents valued at $100,000, said Roscoe Hunt, senior man on the township department.

DAMAGE REPORT

Building damage included the kitchen, the second story which provided living quarters, the roof, a barroom, and part of the dining room.

Water or smoke damaged grills, refrigerators, food, linen, carpeting and chairs, said Hunt.

The only injury was to West Bloomfield Township fireman Capt. Orin Rogers who suffered a cut hand while attempting to enter the upper floor.

Assisting West Bloomfield were Union Lake, Cass Lakeside, Waterford and Franklin fire departments.

Owners of the Rotunda Inn are Harold Anderson and S. Ward Ouradnik.

MEAL HALTED — A blaze which broke out at the Rotunda Country Inn in West Bloomfield Township at 7 p.m. yesterday unexpectedly interrupted dinner. Firemen from five departments had the fire under control at about 9 p.m.

Shortage of Signers Eliminates Oxford School Board Aspirant

OXFORD — Election examiners have found the nominating petition of Kenneth Horton, 105 W. Seymour Lake, lacking the required number of signers.

Horton was eliminated from the list of contenders seeking 2 four-year terms on the board of education in the June 10 election.

In other recent business the board of education opened bids for the construction of additions to three elementary schools but no contract was awarded.

The bids were referred to architects for study and a special meeting is expected next week at which time the contracts will be awarded.

Milford Budget Is Up $56,000, but No Tax Increase Is Needed

MILFORD — The village budget which goes into effect July 1 shows expenditures of $399,000, an increase of about $56,000 over last year.

Village taxes, however, are expected to remain the same at 12.5 mills for operations and 1.25 for sewer debt. Each mill brings in about $10,000.

Tax revenues are up about $6,000, mostly due to new construction, said Village Manager Joseph S. Brophy.

Other revenue increases include: sales tax, up $4,000 to $40,000, and gas and weight tax, up $10,000 to $48,000, and a rebate in state income tax revenue.

PAY HIKE

On the expenditure side, all village employes are to receive a 6 per cent salary increase. Other increases are $5,000 for the garbage contract and $10,000 for sewage plant operation.

Other large bills are $13,000 to pay off part of the sewer plant and $5,500 for part of the cost of the Department of Public Works garage.

A public hearing on the paving of Crystal Street is set for May 27 at 8 p.m. Special assessments are to finance the project, estimated to cost $28,000.

Over Rochester Budget, Tax Hike

Mayor, Councilman Clash

ROCHESTER — Adoption of the city's new $938,000 budget and the acceptance of a 2-mill increase in the city property ta to pay for it prompted a short and sharp exchange between Mayor Roy Rewold and Councilman Sam Howlett at a recent council meeting.

Howlett voted with other council members to accept the enlarged budget which includes provisions for employe pay increases, new fire equipment, and the payment of an additional $30,000 for garbage collection.

His lone opposition vote to the hike in the levy caused Rewold to quiz his motives.

Howlett replied he felt the budget was "watered down."

'SOUND, REALISTIC'

Said Rewold later, "In my opinion the budget is both sound and realistic and the additional millage is needed to finance it."

Rochester city residents will be paying this July a total of 12-mills per $1,000 assessed valuation. The limit council can levy without going to the voters is 20 mills.

The council also received an engineering report from Hubbell, Roth and Clark regarding a storm drainage study conducted for the city.

A total of more than $200,000 proposed work was outlined with emphasis put on the Parkdale-Romeo and University Street areas. Some $50,000 was estimated as the cost of the latter projects.

RESIDENT REACTION

No action on the report was taken.

A sampling of resident reaction to the use of plastic garbage pail liners is being undertaken, according to city Manager William Sinclair.

The bags would cost residents about $5 per hundred, Sinclair said, if they are put to full-time use.

A preliminary report on the paving of South Street from First to the eastern city limits revealed an increase in cost for the proposed project of $43,000 to a total of $163,000. The council recently threw out plans which would have resulted in only a partial paving from the city limits to Diversion.

Sinclair announced that new building plans to meet city codes had been filed by 135 W. University Corp. for the construction of a building to the rear of the Woodward Memorial Public Library on West University. Several residents had complained that codes were not being met by the developer.

ZONING PERSONNEL

nI other business the council replaced Calvin White, chairman of the Zoning board of appeals, with Wilson Severance, a Rochester attorney. The move was made, according to Sinclair, because of White's absence from town and the pressing business of the appeals board.

A request from Slavik Developers for outside water and sewer service to apartments proposed on the west side of Great Oaks Boulevard in Avon Township was submitted. The city normally charges a fee in lieu of taxes and one-and-a-half times the city rate for such service.

Rochester Outlines Cuts, Lets Pacts for New School

ROCHESTER — Even as it awarded contracts for the construction of the district's $4.3-million second senior high school Monday, the Board of Education made plans for reductions in services in case a June 10 millage attempt fails at the polls on June 10.

The combined high school bids came in about $300,000 over the original $4 million estimate.

Schurrer Construction Co. of Pontiac was awarded the general contract in the amount of $2,604,200. John E. Green Plumbing and Heating Co. of Highland Park won the mechanical contract at $987,000; Kolon Electric Co. of Detroit the electrical contract at $326,298; and Great Lakes Hotel Supply Co. of Detroit, food service equipment, $78,450.

A graduated scale of cutbacks, compensating for the 11.5-mill defeat April 29, was extended to include what might happen should the 1.5-mill increase fail next month and the "traumatic school situation" if the 7-mill renewal should also fail.

HALF-DAY SESSIONS

A substantial reduction in staff and the possibility of half-day sessions for elementary students and a shortened day for secondary students was visualized should the renewal fail.

Also cut out was the community school program and many of the enrichment and athletic programs now offered students.

As a result of the April defeat, administrators have already pared personnel and services to effect a $220,000 saving.

A further $145,000 in services has been singled out for elimination if the 1.5-mill increase fails, and cutbacks totaling $785,000 have been tagged should the renewal go down to defeat.

POSITIONS TO GO

Already due to go into effect next fall is the reduction of three elementary classrooms and three secondary teaching positions, two librarian positions, two positions in the elementary vocal music and physical education programs, one audio-visual director position, two secondary guidance counselor positions, one secretarial position and one maintenance position.

Also due for cuts are extracurricular and athletic programs (25 per cent), the purchase of new text books, teaching supplies, educational conference, in-service training for teachers, office supplies, travel costs and the intramural program.

The telephone answering service for substitutes will be ended as will classroom field trips. A curtailment of the bus replacement program, maintenance and repair work is also scheduled.

Development Eyed by Board

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Development in this community received most of the attention at last night's Township Board meeting.

Final preliminary plat approval was given to the 206-lot North Potomac Green subdivision of the William J. Pulte Co., of Birmingham.

The development to the east of Green Road between Walnut Lake and Orchard Lake roads will have homes valued at about $40,000. Plans include a 6.5-acre park and partial straightening of two curves on Green.

Final plat approval went to Potomac Green No. 2, also being developed by Pulte adjacent to the existing Potomac Green subdivision.

APPROVALS RECOMMENDED

The okay is subject to a resolution regarding sewer and water service for the development.

These two approvals had been recommended by the Township Planning Commission.

A matter recommended for denial by the commission and also denied last night by the board was the apartment rezoning of the Jack Couzens property on the northwest corner of Orchard Lake and Seminary roads.

Couzens, speaking last night at the meeting he requested before the board, told of plans to erect two buildings with a total of 30 units on 2.6 acres. He claimed that the development which he estimated at from a quarter to a half-million dollars in value would bring the most money from the land.

QUOTES REAL ESTATE MEN

Couzens and his wife live in an old house on the property. He quoted representatives of six real estate offices who assured that surrounding land values wouldn't decline because of the apartments.

Henry Moses chairman of the planning commission outlined the reasons why the commission recommended denial:

- The policy is to permit multiples which will benefit the entire township and not the economics of an individual. He reported that the commission is now reviewing apartment plans for more than 200 acres.
- The traffic condition would become worse on Orchard Lake Road.
- The parcel is too small.
- Density near Pine Lake, a public recreation spot, would become too high.

The county planning commission declared the use in conflict with the township's master plan.

Couzens indicated that he may seek special approval of the township to sell the land for a nursery or child care center.

The board also rescheduled its meetings from the first and third Wednesdays to the first and third Mondays effective June 17.

Oxford Expected to Let DPW Build Sewage Laterals

OXFORD — It appears likely that the village council will vote to let the County Department of Public Works construct its sewage laterals should plans for the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor's Paint Creek Arm be accepted.

Manager Robert Smalley said he expects the village will sign resolutions making Oxford a part of the Paint Creek Arm project at its next meeting May 28.

The budget of $219,024 was adopted and a 1-mill hike in the village tax levy was accepted. The sum reflects a $29,424 increase over last year and calls for the levy of 15 mills instead of 13 mills.

Debt service millage however was reduced a mill from last year's 2 mills.

REZONING SUIT

Legal action on a rezoning denial was promised in a letter from Morris Kampner, owner of a former hide processing plant on Lakeville Road. The property of the now defunct plant has been zoned residential in accordance with the village master plan. Kampner asked that it be returned to industrial to protect his interests.

A Memorial Day parade at 10 a.m. May 30 was announced.

Orion Board Shuts Doors in Class-Discipline Huddle

LAKE ORION — The discipline policy as practiced by Lake Orion Community School reportedly was discussed last night when the Board of Education met in committee with complaining parents and two representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Though requested to be present by parents, a Pontiac Press reporter was barred from the meeting by mutual agreement of all present.

In a statement issued this morning, Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy said no decision had been reached during the three and a half hour meeting, but rules presented by ACLU staffer Larry Fiebert for suggested inclusion in the district's policy handbook had been discussed.

Fiebert recommended at a regular board meeting three weeks ago that, in cases of suspension or expulsion, both the student and parent should be entitled to a hearing of charges.

PENALTIES WEIGHED

Mundy said the application of corporal punishment and detention penalties had also been considered.

He said he anticipated no changes in the policy handbook at present, adding the board would study recommendations of the ACLU as formally presented last night.

The ACLU was brought in by a group of about 50 parents and students at a meeting three weeks ago in which the board's policy of suspending a student on suspicion of smoking was assailed.

A list of ten other complaints was also made. Mundy promised this morning that all ten would be answered, after investigation, at a public meeting of the board.

He set no date for the public meeting at which the charges will be answered.

Wife of Councilman Is Leonard Treasurer

LEONARD — Mrs. Eleanor Hamilton, 4757 Forest, wife of Councilman Charles Hamilton, has been named village treasurer to fill the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Mary Vore.

Mrs. Vore died in a train-pedestrian accident last week in the village.

Joyriders Kept in Check on Negro March

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Most of the poor people on the Southern caravan of the Poor People's March have a firm faith that the mere sight of them will move Congress to legislate them out of their plight.

There are, very roughly, three types of people that have ridden buses from Mississippi on a meandering route toward Washington —the leaders, the believers and the joyriders.

The joyriders, mostly Negro youths, joined the march because they never get to go anywhere and this was an excellent opportunity to travel. Most of them, in fact, intend to make it a one-way journey.

"Maybe there's nothing for me in Washington or New York," said Willie Drainer, 20, of Sunflower, Miss. "But I know for a fact there's nothing for me back home."

TOUGH TALKER

The leader is Albert Turner, 34, a chunky, tough-talking Alabama secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). He is bent on preventing violence.

"If you have to shoot and cut," he told the 400 persons on the caravan, "then go back home and do it there."

He has 20 tough young Negroes in blue jackets that proclaim, in red letters, "SCLC Poor People's March — Marshal."

Every day ,they check the marchers and the buses for anything resembling a weapon.

STRATEGIC POSTS

The marshals take up strategic posts in the brief foot marches, watching for anyone with a yen to heave a rock. The distinct impression is that they will not hesitate to employ a little violence of their own to keep the group from getting out offhand.

"Some folks are trying to get in our ranks, black and white, and mess us up," Turner told his group. "Whenever you find cats talking like I ain't talking, you let me know. We're going to leave them on the road there."

One of Turner's followers is Rosa Walker, a 70-year-old widow who got $100 a month in benefits to support a daughter, a son, nine grandchildren and a great-grandchild back in Grenada, Miss.

A short, fat, wrinkled woman in a straw sun hat with a white bandanna around her neck, Mrs. Walker plainly sees a new day ahead.

FLAT CONVICTION

"They just haven't really heard us before," she says with flat conviction. "But once they see us and talk to us they just can't not do something about it."

Booker T. Poole, 26, has that faith, too, and it was strong enough to convince him to give up his job in an Atlanta service station to join the march.

But while the thought of failure has apparently not occurred to Mrs. Walker, Poole seems to have thought of it.

"This is something we're supposed to have had for the last 100 years, and they've just been holding us off. I hope we will accomplish what we're looking for without any violence. If they don't start anything, then we won't," Poole said.

GAVE UP JOB

"But I gave up 7$0 a week to do this and something better come out of it all."

Turnr, at every stop, continues to talk hard to his people.

"Don't let me catch you jiving with my freedom," he said. "You want to play around, you want to beat up people, then you get away from me."

In the vivil rights movement, "working on the case" means sticking to the goals and the nonviolent principle.

WORKING ON CASE

"If I'm going to get killed around here, then it's because I'm working on the case not jiving," Turner said.

And then at a stop in South Carolina, he turned to more mundane problems.

"I want you people to stop asking me for sheos," he said plaintively. "We're going to Washington to represent people without shoes. If you don't have any, go barefoot."

Rosa Walker looked down at ther rubber shower clogs and said "What do you think Mr. Stennis (the senator from Mississippi) is going to say when he sees myshoes?"

Cape Kennedy Home for Bees

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — This sprawling space center is the heart of America's drive to send men to the moon. It also houses an industry — honey bee raising.

Nearly 2,000 colonies of bees inhabit the outer areas of the Kennedy Space Center along with an abundance of fowl and animals.

The bee colonies, which contain 60,000 to 100,000 bees each, are owned by commercial beekeepers who rent space annually from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to give bees access to the variety of flowers that grow wild on the subtropical moon base.

NASA stipulates that the beehives be placed away from work areas and must be moved if a conflict develops.

"We have never had any problems with the owners or the bees," said J. F. Cain, chief of real estate at the space center. "They both have been very cooperative."

End Is Near for Missouri Sugar Camp

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP) — Maple syrup in Missouri? That's right. Tucked away in he Ozark foothills, Perry Mayfield operates the last of the Missouri sugar camps and he says "this is my last year."

Mayfield used to produce more than 200 gallons of syrup a season and there were seven or eight other sugar camps in the area. Now, he turns out about 110 gallons for sale each season and turns down orders by the dozens.

The sugar camp is about one-half mile from the Mayfield home in a grove of mammoth hard maples which bear a multitude of small circular scars.

Before the sap starts rising, the biggest job is cutting and trimming the saplings, generally oak, to feed the insatiable gullet of the open furnace where the "water," the tasteless, colorless sap from the maples is boiled in the first stages.

150 TREES

It takes about 50 gallons of the "water" to make one gallon of syrup. Mayfield has more than 150 trees in production. On good days during the season, which extends from the last of January to about mid-March, about five gallons of sap trickle from a tree into the galvanized pails.

Inside a hut nearby, the sap is carefully boiled in a vat for some time, then strained through several thicknesses of cloth into a cream can and taken to the house for final processing.

In the basement of the Mayfield house, the syrup is dumped into a large copper boiler and cooked to a boil again. This cooking continues for an indefinite period while Mayfield spoons out a dab at a time to see if the consistency is right — too thin, the quality is poor; too thick, it turns to maple sugar.

Mayfield is 65 and has worked the sugar camps in Missouri since he was a child. He may be serious about quitting, but daughter Linda says he has voiced the same "old refrain every year since I can remember.

"No one will know for sure," Linda adds, "until the sap starts rising next year."

Teacher Groups Vote to Integrate

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Members of the white and Negro Mobile County teacher associations have voted to merge their organizations.

The white Mobile Education Association voted overwhelmingly for the proposal Wednesday. The vote of the predominantly Negro Mobile County Teachers Association was unanimous.

The combined Mobile city-county school system is the largest in Alabama with approximately 2,600 teachers and 75,000 pupils.

Parisian Isle Offers Spot for Rural Life

WASHINGTON — James Jones of Illinois and Princess Bibesco of Romania live on and love the Ile St. Louis in the heart of Paris. Both are true to the island in their fashion.

Kenneth MacLeish, a senior assistant editor of National Geographic, interviewed novelist and aristocrat for his article in the May magazine about the Ile St. Louis and its better-known neighbor, the Ile de la Cite.

"I love this doggone island," Jones said. "There's nothing like it. quiet. Great people. The shopping street's like a village market. You ought to see the fish store after dark. It's like a painting.

"See that crummy old launch by the shore? There's an old guy who lives there, sort of a bum. Sometimes he makes a pot of big-hearted stew and invites in all the other bums — the clochards, the French call them . . ."

ISLAND'S DOWAGER

Princess Bibesco, widow of a Romanian industrialist and dowager of the island, accorded MacLeish a rendezvous at her home on the western tip of the tiny isle.

"From this spot," she said, "I can see the Cite,' the Paris of our early kings, and the Right Bank, where their successors reigned. I see the oldest and the newest, and many things that are timeless.

"I see the symbols of each season, there below; just now, the new leaves, the lovers (see them walking, hand in hand?), the old clochard searching the gutter for something of value. And always I see the river running away to the sea."

The Ile de la Cite rides the Seine like a great ship with the Ile St. Louis towed from its stern. The Cite, MacLeish writes, is "the kernel of French culture, the seed from which sprang France's capital and France itself."

ROMAN TEMPLE

Notre Dame de Paris rests on a spot at the Cite's upstream end. A Celtic tribe called the Parisii worshipped forest gods there until the Romans came. A Roman temple and Christian churches occupied the site before the present cathedral was started in 1183.

Permanent residents of the Cite now are limited to two clusters at each end of the isle. In the 12th century, however, it teemed with life. MacLeish resets the scene:

"The medieval Cite contained three- and four-story houses of wood and plaster, leaning inward over bustling alleys, their windows spewing occasional additions to the filth underfoot.

"Knights, serfs, monks, men-at-arms, artisans and shopkeepers traveled these pungent ways, discoursing loudly in decayed Latin and foreign tongues ranging from English to Syrian."

While the Cite grew from medieval squalor into splendor, the Ile St. Louis lay fallow. "Until 1614, MacLeish says, "it was a sylvan spot where cows browsed and Parisians came to fight duels, make love, and engage in other outdoor sports."

IDEAL COMMUNITY

In the 17th century, Louis XIII transformed the pastures into an ideal community with paved streets, stone-clad quays and houses of high style.

The Ile St. Louis escaped damage in the Revolution and two world wars. Today, the isle is home to the Princess, the novelist, and 6,000 other Louisiens who live in an atmosphere of provincial peace in the center of a great city.

Egypt Gets Russian Aid for New Plant

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union pledged to supply Egypt with equipment for construction of an iron and steel complex under an agreement signed here Wednesday.

The new project is rated as the second biggest in Egypt, after the Aswan High Dam, which also was financed by Moscow.

The new complex will be built at the industrial center of Helwan, near Cairo.

The agreement provides the Soviet Union will supply Egypt equipment worth $168 million. The estimated cost of the whole project is $720 million, an official statement said. Additional agreements will be made with other countries to share the costs of the project with Egypt, it added.

Implore Young Friend to Tell Mother; if This Fails, Ask Her to Write Abby

MAKE-OVER PAGES

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I go to a private school and share a room with a girl I'll call Mary. She is a lovely girl from a very good family. She started going with a boy who goes to a prep school near here. I guess you could call it "love at first sight." They saw an awful lot of each other. Too much, really.

ABBY

Well, Mary finally broke down and told me she was "worried." She thinks she's pregnant. She hasn't gone to a doctor and won't go to one because she's afraid her folks will find out.

She won't tell her boy friend. I'm the only person she has told, and I promised her on my life I wouldn't say a word to anyone.

Abby, she is starving herself to keep thin and she cries all the time. What can I do to help her? MARY'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Implore Mary to tell her mother at once. If you do nothing more in your young life than to persuade Mary that in time of trouble her parents are her best friends and stand ready to help her, no matter what her problem is, you will have earned a star in your crown. If you fail, please ask her to write to me.

DEAR ABBY: There is a new assistant clergyman at our church who seems to be very well liked by everyone — especially the young people. I was shocked and disappointed last Sunday to see him standing out in front of the church right after services smoking a cigarette.

This bothered me so much that I wrote him a note telling him I thought he was setting a bad example for the young people, and if he had to have a smoke he should at least wait until he could do it behind closed doors. He telephoned me and told me that he wasn't proud" of his smoking habit, but he had it bad, and he would be more ashamed sneaking a smoke in private than smoking in public. What is your opinion?

DEAR CHURCHGOER: I admire the young clergyman's honesty, but I deplore his weakness.

DEAR ABBY: The girls in our bridge club invite your opinion or comments about a person who sends a strange substitute in her place when she cannot attend without mentioning it to the hostess.

We have one member in our group who always does this. Afterwards she says that she owed "so and so" an invitation, and this is how she pays back her social obligation. We have never heard of this, and we all feel that if one of our members cannot come, we would prefer inviting our own substitute. (We all have friends to whom we "owe" an invitation.)

Several of us have gone to the door when we entertain the bridge club to meet a complete stranger who announces that she has come to substitute for "Frannie."

What do you suggest? — BRIDGE GALS

DEAR ABBY: I did what you advised "gals" get together and vote on the method for providing a substitute should a member be unable to attend. Then give Frannie the word, and if she doesn't observe the rules, give her the gate.

DEAR ABBY: I id what you advised the mother of a teen-aged daughter to do. I gave up nagging at her about her messy room, and simply closed her bedroom door.

Today, my once-sloppy teen-aged daughter is a married woman, and I can't believe what a terrific little housekeeper she has turned out to be.

When I visited her one day last week, I draped my sweater over a chair. She very indignantly said, "Mu-thurrrr, please let me hang up your sweater — you are messing up my whole house!" — AMAZED MOM

Never Cancel One Invitation for Another

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Friends of ours dropped by one day and invited us to see their new home the following Saturday evening and have coffee. In the meantime we turned down a second invitation because of the first.

At noon that particular Saturday, the man who invited us called and said friends of theirs had invited them to supper that night and he felt they had to accept, as they had turned this couple down twice before, so he would have to cancel our visit, but would we drop by any time we were in their area.

We were hurt by this. Is it proper to accept and then cancel invitations at the last minute?—Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: You have every right to be hurt and annoyed, too. One of the rudest things anyone can do is to cancel an invitation to accept another. The man should have explained to the others that he was having guests and could not accept their invitation, whether he had refused twice or 20 times before.

Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. and don't forget to include your name and address.

Having a Ball on Saturday for Project 'HOPE'

A ball for a ship! The annual ball to raise funds for Project HOPE takes place Saturday evening at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit. It is open to any resident of the Detroit Metropolitan area who wishes to help support the S.S. Hope.

The ship arrived in Ceylon April 15 on its seventh teach-and-treat mission. Mrs. Edward N. Cole, a member of the planning committee, says that all who are working on this project believe HOPE is a peace ship in action because it eloquently tells the people in developing countries that the American people do care about them.

Saturday's "Festi-Ball" begins with a cocktail hour at 7 p.m. During the remainder of the evening there will be an 8:30 dinner, games, a floor show and dancing to the Eddie Santini orchestra.

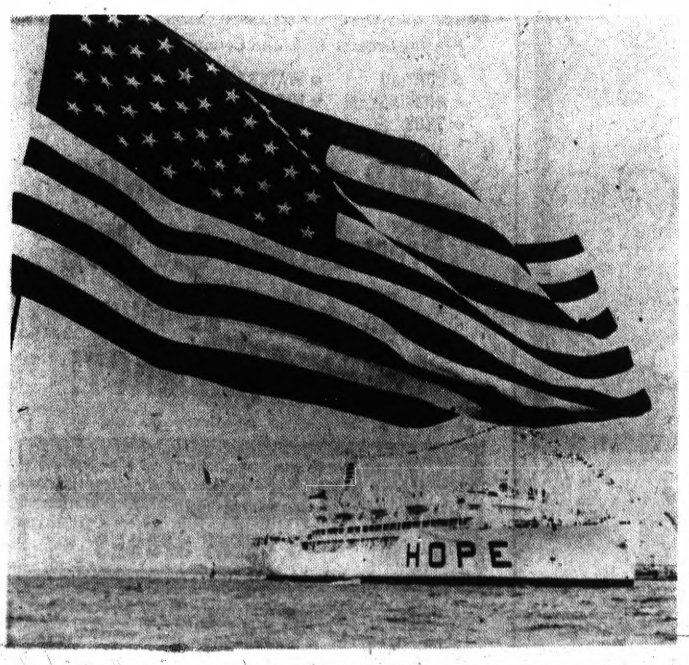
Among the attractions promised are a boutique that will feature fur coats for dogs.

CHAIRMEN

President of the women's division Mrs. Herman Sattler has announced that Mrs. Horace E. Dodge is honorary chairman of the ball and Mrs. James H. Quello working chairman.

Among area resident who have reservations are the Edward N. Coles, Semon E. Knudsens and Lynn A. Townsends.

There are still a few tickets available.



The S.S. Hope, the world's first peacetime hospital ship, arrived in Ceylon on April 15 to begin the seventh teach and treat mission.

Lack Sense With Money

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Most teen-agers have a lack of understanding and maturity when it comes to money management, says Helen Bell, extension home management specialist of Pennsylvania State University.

Miss Bell divided the teen-agers into three groups — treaters, hoarders and spenders.

She said treaters try to buy their popularity by buying for the crowd. Spenders would rather spend now and think later. Hoarders fear the loss of money and think just possessing money will make them happy.

Miss Bell said young people need guidance with understanding when it comes to money management or money may become an obsession with them.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I am very confused by the tension of my machine and also the size stitches that should be used for different fabrics. Would you please give us some information about this? Mrs. A. W.

Dear Mrs. A. W.:

Your question has been asked by many of our readers and to the best of my ability I shall try to answer you.

First, I never change the tension of my own sewing machine. I know this is contrary to the advice of the sewing machine companies when they demonstrate their machines, they tell you how simple it is to change back and forth. Try to remember that is their job, they do this from morning to night, and if the machine becomes too mixed up, the repair men are at their elbow to repair them.

I have never had success in changing the tension once it has been tampered with. If my machine was out of tension (in other words, both sides of your stitching are not exactly alike), I would pay to have it worked on until it is perfect.

REGULATE

The tension can be changed for different fabrics by regulating the length of machine stitching. You must always remember the weight of the fabric as well as the natural give (such as knits). The average length of stitch would be 10 to 12 stitches per inch. If you have underlined a garment, you will be stitching through four layers of fabric for each seam instead of two, therefore a longer stitch would be required. A very sheer fabric would require a shorter stitch as well as lowering of the presser bar. A knit would require a slightly longer stitch to give the seam elasticity.

I would test each type of fabric before construction. Prepare the sample exactly as you would with your garment, if you are underlining. Do the same with your sample, and stitch 10 or 12 inches. This will tell you immediately what to do.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. James G. Gray of Santee, Calif., is this week's winner. She will receive a pressing board for the following suggestion.

"With the season of summer formals coming up, I am offering a hint what worked beautifully for my daughter and I hope it will help others. For the heavy busted girls who want to wear spaghetti or thin strapped dresses but can't wear strapless bras, I make the straps with a reinforced buttonhole on the inside of straps. Iron-on tape makes a wonderful reinforcement, then run a heavy cord or strap through the dress straps and attach a skirt type hook and eye. Place one end on the end of the strap, the other on a regular bra with the straps removed. It is also a good idea to cut the fronts of the dresses a bit higher."

Dear Eunice:

With the new materials that ravel when you just look at them, is it possible to place any straight seams on the selvage edge? Mrs. C. H.

Dear Mrs. C. H.:

You should not use the selvage edge of the fabric for any seams because it is woven tighter and consequently has a tendency to draw the fabric up causing the seam to have a puckered appearance.

I would suggest that when working with any fabric that ravels, cut a slightly wider seam allowance and overcast the seams by hand before construction. This does sound time consuming, but the stitching won't have to be very close together and should be rather loose. The dangers of using the overcasting attachment on your machine are the same as using the selvage, the edges are drawn up too tight and will invariably cause a puckered seam.

New Undergrad Course to Serve Communities

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Family budgets, assisting during a family crisis, aiding social, health and educational agencies in family-oriented programs — these are some of the duties of a modern day home economist.

Michigan State University's College of Home Economics, which has offered home economics programs for more than 70 years, has established a new undergraduate program in community services. The new program expands the home economics extension major formerly offered by MSU.

"Growth in federal, state, local, and private programs of air to families with limited resources," points out Esther Everett of the MSU College of Home Economics, "have brought about a need for home economists trained in community work."

In addition to preparing undergraduates for existing community services jobs, she explains, MSU wants to anticipate the needs of communities of the future. Miss Everett serves as adviser for the new program.

The new major, according to Miss Everett, should be of interest to the growing number of college students, both men and women, who want to help others. She also believes the program will interest former students who wish to complete an undergraduate degree.

The MSU community services major is designed to permit students flexibility in course selection. Individual career interests are matched with a strong emphasis in general education and behavioral sciences.

Czech Liberals Hoping for Gesture From U.S. to Help in Fight

PRAGUE (AP) — Some highly placed Czechoslovak Communists who stand for liberalization of the regime express hope privately for a gesture from the United States which might bolster their morale in what looks like an uphill fight against Moscow-inspired pressure.

Non-Communist sources point out, however, that anything beyond a gesture might add danger to an already potentially explosive situation developing between Czechoslovakia and other members of the Communist bloc.

Communist informants say the United States, without appearing to interfere in the current situation, could do two things which might help both materially and in terms of morale in a country whose economic problems present formidable barriers to liberalization.

One of these, the informants say, would be to extend most-favored-nation status to Czechoslovakia in trade with the United States. The other would be to reach an agreement in the deadlocked quarrel over $20 million worth of Czechoslovak gold impounded by the United States since World War II.

American trade with Communist Czechoslovakia reached a peak in 1966, an overall exchange figure of $65 million. The United States sold this country mostly grain, fertilizers and other agricultural products. Last year, the trade figure fell off by half.

The present regime, under Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Communist party, has made clear it would like most-favored-nation treatment. The policy of the U.S. administration is that an agreement should be negotiated.

The administration favors similar procedures in the case of Romania, also a maverick in the European Communist camp. However, the U.S. Congress has been unwilling to act.

The gold in question is zechoslovakia's share of what was looted by the Nazis in Europe during the war. The United States, as a victor nation, pledged itself to seek the rightful owners. The gold was impounded.

CLAIMS ABOUND

Since the Communist take-over in Czechoslovakia, however, and the subsequent nationalization of all property, including that of foreigners, American citizens have registered $72 million in claims, plus $41 million more in interest.

After the Communist take-over, the United States also confiscated a steel mill for which the previous non-Communist Czechoslovak government paid $17 million. The United States subsequently sold it for $9 million, which was applied against some of the claims. The present Prague government insists that the $17 million is deductible from any bill presented by the Americans.

There have been long and fruitless negotiations about the gold. The Czechoslovaks say the Americans agreed in 1961 on a lower claims figure. The United States did imply it might forget about the interest.

The issue seemed near a solution in 1964, but the U.S. State Department refused to accept the proposed settlement, contending the figure was too low. Sources here say, however, that the chances of a compromise have increased recently.

DEPENDENT ON REDS

In trade, as matters stand now, Czechoslovakia is heavily dependent upon the Communist nations which are pressuring and threatening the new Prague regime. This gives those nations, including the Soviet Union, considerable leverage.

Communist countries supply most of the basic raw materials needed for Czechoslovakia's industry and are the market for to 100 per cent of this country's crude oil comes from the Soviet Union.

The Russians cannot supply all the grain needed by Czechoslovakia. But grain purchases in other countries require hard currency, and a necessity to import from the West would hurt.

Czechoslovakia's most important export is machinery. She has overproduced and overtooled in this respect. The East bloc cannot supply Czechoslovakia with what it wants in return for its manufactured goods and Czech machinery is not competitive in Western markets.

This leaves the country in a trap, highly vulnerable to economic pressure from regimes which regard the Czechoslovak liberalization movement as a menace to Communist parties elsewhere.

QUESTION: Why does Venice have streets of water?

ANSWER: "Flee from the barbarians" was the cry when Attila, king of the Huns, swept down from the north toward Italy in 425 A.D. Many fugitives sought shelter on a group of small muddy islands in a lagoon near the head of the Adriatic Sea.

Finding safety in a troubled period, they became permanent settlers. So that they could put up buildings, they drove stakes deep into the mud (upper right).

Since there was hardly any land for farming they built ships and began to trade with the rich nations to the east.

The openings between islands became the famous canals and were bridged over. Other canals were dredged out, making waterways for streets with boats for vehicles. So arose the famous city of Venice.

The Venetians developed a special boat to carry passengers and goods around the city. Still in use today, the long, graceful gondolas are propelled by gondoliers, who stand in the stern, using a long oar or sweep.

Cabbie Saves Tot

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Taxi driver Donnie Beckett saw a 15-month-old baby crawling down the median strip of heavily traveled U.S. 60. He pulled his cab across the highway, blocked rush-hour traffic and rushed the child to the sidewalk. After knocking on several doors he returned the baby to the mother.

'Prompt Action Is a Must'

Cavanagh Eyes Riot 'Errors'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The riot that left 43 dead last July delivered an "obvious lesson . . . that prompt, effective action is critical to keeping the peace," Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit said today.

But he added that active cooperation of citizens is essential "if even these early actions are to be effective."

Cavanagh's statements were contained in remarks prepared for the Senate subcommittee holding hearings on civil disorders.

The mayor, discussing the early hours of the disturbance that began last July 23, said: "Perhaps there were errors in judgment made by me in those first hours that Sunday morning. However, I would point out that no city is ever prepared adequately for the psychological and physical shock of a riot.

"There is a valid question of whether or not we should not have requested state assistance earlier than we did," he said. "In hindsight, perhaps we should have."

Cavanagh said the request for state aid involved "the serious step" of a declaration of a state of emergency by Gov. George Romney.

"It was not until 2 p.m., as I have said, that myself and my advisers felt that the situation could become uncontrollable," Cavanagh told the subcommittee. "Once that determination was made, I contacted the governor promptly."

Nearly 1,500,000 U.S. teenagers ahve their own charge accounts.

Gls Can Fly Dixie Flags Over Pentagon

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has assured outraged Southern congressmen that servicemen will be allowed to fly their home-state flags in South Vietnam—even if those flags are emblazoned with the insignia of the Civil War Confederacy.

The flap started about two weeks ago when Rep. W. S. Stuckey, D-Ga., told the House he was "upset, angry and indignant" because one of his constituents in Vietnam was ordered to remove the Georgia flag from above his bunk.

"The reason given was that since some people view the Confederate flag as a symbol of racism," Stuckey said, "all state flags which contain bars and stars must be removed."

The Georgia Democrat told the House "the order was that especially all Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi flags must come down immediately."

He read part of a soldier's letter to the soldier's mother complaining the order came out "because of the racial tension" following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

While the Southern state flags had to come down, Stuckey said, flags from such states as New York and Ohio "were allowed to remain displayed."

The Georgia congressman said he had written to the Pentagon demanding "that this ridiculous and dangerous order be investigated."

Asked about this, the Pentagon said a preliminary inquiry showed that on April 10, during the period of civil disturbance after King's death, a local decision was made within the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam "to prohibit the outward display of the Confederate flag."

The aim, the Defense Department said, was to "reduce the likelihood of any racial tensions within the wing."

Card of Thanks 1

WE WOULD LIKE to express our thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors who remembered us at the loss of our Son, Jerome. God Bless You. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Richway.

IN OUR RECENT bereavement we found comfort in the thoughtfulness of our friends and neighbors — the memory of your kindness will always be with us. The family of Katharine E. Downs.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dead husband and father, Howard Sprague, who passed away May 16, 1967.
I do not need a special day to bring you to my mind.
For the day I do not think of you, is very hard to find.
If all this world were mine to give
I would give if yes and more.
To see your smiling face come
through the door once more.
But I know God has you in His
keeping,
But I have you in my heart.
Friends may think the wound is healed.
But they little know the sorrow that is concealed in our hearts.
Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren.
