

Fear of Blowup Stalls Con-Con

Republicans Ask Delay to Avoid Rift Over Apportionment

LANSING (UPI)—Fear of an open explosion within Republican ranks over an amendment approved yesterday delayed completion of first-round consideration of legislative apportionment today at the constitutional convention.

Republicans, unable to calm partisan areas which would lose representation in the State Senate if the amendment passed, asked for a recess to caucus on the matter.

Earlier Story, Page 48

The cause of the trouble was a change in the Senate apportionment formula which was offered by James K. Pollock, R-Ana, during yesterday's long session of "perfecting" proposals.

The amendment slightly changed a figure in the formula by which Senate seats would be distributed and would give urban areas additional representation at the expense of rural areas, particularly in southwest Michigan.

The effect of the change went unnoticed during the brief debate on it and was approved on a voice vote.

When delegates computed the revised formula a short time later they discovered that Kent County would lose one of its two Senate seats and other outside areas would not get additional seats they desire while Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties would pick up more representation in the Senate.

An attempt to set up reconsideration of the matter without a caucus failed and Republicans were forced to meet to seek a solution to their problems.

Pleasure Boat Tax Would Hit State

lands. Yield, $15 million to $30 million a year.

Government retention of 2 cents per gallon of the excise tax on gasoline for gas used in boats. This portion of the tax is now refundable under existing law.

There are now no federal taxes on pleasure boats. The Treasury had considered recommending an excise tax on new boats, but this was abandoned in favor of a use tax on pleasure craft over 14 feet in length.

No entrance fees are now charged for most federal parks and recreational areas except for a few of the more spectacular tourist attractions like the Grand Canyon.

Ecuador's President Called 'Drunken Coward' by Fidel

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro called Ecuador's President Carlos Arosemena a drunken coward Wednesday night and predicted he might meet a worse fate than Argentine President Arturo Frondizi.

The Cuban prime minister said that Arosemena was on his way to becoming "a prisoner of the military" who, Castro said, forced Arosemena to break diplomatic relations with Cuba Tuesday.

"Any day they'll grab him and take him to an embassy," Castro said in a televised speech to the first National Congress of Young Communists.

"Any day he'll be up in an embassy. It is possible that the military will act with him worse than with Frondizi as he has been more cowardly than Frondizi."

Argentinian military leaders ousted President Arturo Frondizi last week and imprisoned him on a naval base island off Buenos Aires.

Castro said Arosemena spent long days "completely inebriated" and that he had been known to remain intoxicated for a week. He added that photographs of the Ecuadorian president during drinking sprees exist.

There had been speculation that Castro might announce sentences for 1,179 captives of last year's Bay of Pigs invasion but he made no mention of the prisoners, whose trial ended Tuesday.

BEFORE THE COURT — The story accompanying this picture received yesterday by radio from Havana says Jose A. Martinez testified before the court last Friday in Havana which is trying the 1,179 prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion last year. The story said Martinez was a major in the Cuban army under Batista.

U.S. Asks 'Equal Time' Trade

'Take Policies to People'

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States today proposed an "equal time" arrangement with Russia allowing each government to go directly to the other population to argue its policies.

Russia earlier demanded that the 17-nation disarmament conference has so-called war propaganda as a "refuge against humanity," but the United States said the way to improve international relations is to insure freedom of expression rather than to restrict it.

The exchange came during conference debate on the Soviet demand for cessation of war propaganda.

Chief American delegate Arthur H. Dean said the U.S. government does not, cannot and will not, by legislation or edict, control the freedom of speech or press of its citizens.

"Nor would it regard such legislation or edicts desirable even if the United States had powers in this regard," he said.

In a reference to an opening statement by Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin accusing the West German and Portuguese governments, among others, of feeding their populations "lies and hatred," Dean added:

"USES SELF-RESTRAINT

"The U.S. government, however, can and does exercise self-restraint in its official statements."

The American said the Soviet resolution on war propaganda was "too narrow."

"It is an over-simplification to seek to launch the life of the world by declaration," he said.

Nation's Rains Head Eastward From the Plains

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms dampened sections from the southern and south central Plains into the central part of the nation today and headed eastward.

The showery belt extended across the middle Mississippi Valley and the southwestern Great Lakes region. Thunderstorms rumbled across areas in central Texas and showers spread into the lower Mississippi Valley, with showers and occasional thunderstorms from the eastern half of the Southern Plains to the southern Appalachians.

The rain was expected to extend over the southern and central Midwest and the Ohio Valley, with showers and occasional thunderstorms from the eastern half of the Southern Plains to the southern Appalachians.

UP Studies Nationhood —to Lure Foreign Aid

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's underprivileged half, the Upper Peninsula, might solve its economic problems by becoming a nation, and, thus, qualify for foreign aid.

Some Upper Peninsula residents want to secede from the state to form another state patterned after the Nevada idea of revenue-bombing gambling houses and brightly lit honky tonks.

At least one other citizen of the North County feels that if secession is the answer, why stop at statehood?

State Rep. Elmer Erlendson, D-Exton, said yesterday one of his constituents, Pat Hayes, is circulating a proclamation in the UP on behalf of an organization known as "Upper Peninsula for National Status."

The tongue-in-cheek movement is aimed at pointing up some of the shortcomings of the more serious secession-for-statehood drive, Erlendson said.

"Red ink is such a common malady in the UP that the federal Area Redevelopment Administration has designated the entire land body as a depressed area."

"UPNPS" would create the "nation of Superior." Hayes said, because, "separate statehood can only complicate the problems of the Upper Peninsula," but nationhood will make it eligible for foreign aid. This is more generous than domestic aid and on a non-contributing basis which will make the nation of Superior debt free.

Other proposals in the proclamation included:

LAND OF SOLID DOLLAR

"That the name of the area be changed from the Land of the Red Back, to the Land of the Solid Dollar and that a sound currency be established and that Dollarville or Dollar Bay (two cities in the UP) be named the capital."

No vote is required for adoption of a tax of up to one mill a year, providing it fell in the constitutional limit of 15 mills in taxes.

Under the proposal, the county would pay 25 per cent of the total airport cost. The state would put up 25 per cent and the federal government the remaining 50 per cent.

The board of supervisors is waiting for federal approval of the proposed site before proceeding further with the plans.

Supervisors Get Budget Tuesday

County Board to Pick Officers for Coming Term of Meeting

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors will elect officers and a $16,703,604 tentative budget for county government in 1962 at Tuesday's meeting.

Supervisors also will be asked to proceed more cautiously with plans for a multimillion-dollar major jet airport proposed for construction within the next 10 years.

The board already has approved spending $575,000 for the initial purchase of land within the 3,000-acre proposed site north of Pontiac.

Board Chairman Dolos Hamlin, Farmington supervisor, and Chairman Pro Tem Arno Hietel, Bloomfield Township supervisor, likely will be re-elected, since no opposition has been voiced yet. However, nominations can be made from the floor during the meeting.

If Hamlin is re-elected it will be his seventh consecutive term. Hietel is completing his second term.

The meeting will offer the board its first look at the tentative budget for 1962. Once again the County Board of Auditors is coming forth with a recommendation for a larger budget than that of the preceding year.

No action on the tentative budget is expected at this time. The supervisors probably will take it under advisement until the April 16 meeting. They have until September to approve a final budget recommendation for the County Tax Allocation Board.

In other business, Orion Township Supervisor John Lestler intends to introduce a "go slow" motion amendment to the April 16 meeting. It would require the township to attempt to dramatize their protests to the proposed airport.

Lestler has said he will call a halt on the plans until he can be accurately determined how much the major airport would cost the county.

Figures quoted by airport backers, including Hamlin, range from $25 million to $50 million.

Some 100 residents in the affected area have announced plans to attend the supervisors meeting in force to dramatize their protests to the proposed airport.

The Day in Birmingham

300 Expected at Institute on Gifted Child Education

BIRMINGHAM—Three hundred educators, sociologists and psychologists are expected to attend the first Institute on Gifted Child Education to be held Saturday at the City and Country School in Bloomfield Hills.

The Institute was conceived by George Roeper, headmaster at the school, to acquaint local delegates with the latest in theory and practical educational experiences in dealing with the mentally gifted student.

Author-educator Dr. Benjamin Fine will give the keynote address.

His talk, entitled "New Frontiers in Gifted Child Education," at 10 a.m. will start a day-long series of workshop programs.

These will deal with the identification and psychology of gifted children in addition to giving emphasis to curriculum programming and content for their education.

City and Country is one of only two schools in the nation devoted entirely to educating the gifted child. The other is Hunter Elementary School in New York.

The Bloomfield Hills school's enrollment of 257 is made up entirely of boys and girls with minimum IQs of 130. It has an average student body intelligence quotient of 141. Classes range from nursery school through the eighth grade.

Dr. Fine, recipient of more than 30 special awards and citations holds eight honorary degrees and is the author of four books, including, "How to Get the Best Education for Your Child."

The annual conference will be held April 10-12 at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Washington, D.C.

The theme this year is "Creating Educational Opportunities for Youth to Achieve a More Responsible Role in Our Society; for Self and Social Identity, and for Realizing American Goals."

Women Pacifists Seek to Disarm Base for Peace

GENEVA 48 — Fifty American women pacifists decided today they will ask President Kennedy to let them take over a military base near the Soviet Union — so they can disarm it and turn it into a cultural exchange center. In a cable sent to the White House they said:

"It is imperative that 50 American women now in Geneva report directly to you in Washington on our return Saturday p.m. April 7."

A spokeswoman for the group — known as "Women Strike for Peace" — said the base takeover was one of several suggestions they would put to Kennedy if he agreed to meet them.

The cable was signed by Dagmar Wilson, founder of the group, Mrs. Martin Luther King, wife of the American Negro leader, and Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the American industrialist.

GM Promotes Man From Area

Robert Magill Named Assistant Treasurer Effective May 1

The appointment of Robert F. Magill of Birmingham as assistant treasurer of General Motors Corp. was announced today. The appointment will be effective May 1.

Magill, 44, 1234 Willow Lane, will be responsible for the corporation's tax section and insurance and pension section.

Mark E. Kelly, 555 Bloomer Drive, Bloomfield Township, will retire April 30 as assistant treasurer in charge of the insurance and pension section.

Kelly, who joined GM in 1927 as an accountant with the treasurer's staff in New York, was appointed director of the savings and supplemental benefits section in Detroit in 1957. A year later he was appointed assistant treasurer.

The new assistant treasurer joined GM as assistant director of the tax section in 1955 and four years later was named its director. Magill served with the U.S. Treasury Department in Washington, D.C., for nine years before joining GM.

Kelley's ruling said voter approval is needed for:

1. A tax in excess of the constitutional limit of one-tenth of a mill a year for construction of buildings.

2. An increase in the 15 mill constitutional limit.

3. Issuance of general obligation bonds to finance construction.

4. Pledging of additional security for payment of revenue bonds requiring the levy of a tax or expenditure of tax moneys in excess of the constitutional limitation.

No vote is required for adoption of a tax of up to one mill a year, providing it fell in the constitutional limit of 15 mills in taxes.

Special School Fund Up to County Board

The Oakland County Board of Education next Thursday will be asked to approve a $1,219,000 budget for countywide special education. The figure is about the same as last year's, according to County Schools Supt. William J. Emerson.

The funds are derived from a one-half mill countywide property tax and from state aid.

Income for the budgeted 1962-63 period is expected to be $1.25 million, Dr. Emerson said. The county board also is expected to carry over a cash balance of $315,000.

Included in the $1,219,000 budget figure are:

(1) — $386,000 for operation of the Oakland County Board of Education office, including programs centered at the 1890 N. Telegraph Road offices such as the speech clinic, psychological center, homebound teaching staff and tutors for the physically handicapped.

Also in this figure are the cost of publishing Braille books and books for the partially sighted. Emerson noted a $25,000 decrease in the 1962-63 figure below last year's because of centering more services in local schools.

(2) — $40,000 for equipment for special education.

(3) — $252,000 in subsidies for specialized education programs provided in local school districts, including programs for the physically handicapped, the mentally handicapped and visiting teachers.

The subsidies are prescribed by law which provides for the county and state to share costs.

Emerson said a $35,000 increase in the budget request over last year was due to an increase in services.

(4) — $306,000 for new buildings and equipment in local school districts.

City School Unit Probing Charges Against Proud

The Pontiac School District is making its own investigation of charges made and dropped against Asst. Supt. Philip J. Proud, according to Supt. of Schools Dana P. Whitmer.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's office last Friday refused to issue a warrant against Dr. Proud on the ground that there was insufficient evidence of morals charges made by Detroit Police.

Proud has been relieved from his duties since shortly after his arrest March 17. He was freed on March 19, when the prosecutor delayed a warrant request.

Dr. Whitmer today said the Pontac Board of Education would decide on Proud's status following its probe.

Youth Starts Jail Term Over Drug Store Goods

An 18-year-old Pontiac youth is serving the first day of a 30-day sentence in the Oakland County Jail today on charges resulting from the Feb. 17 break-in at Furney Drugs, 974 Joslyn Ave.

Francis Ramirez, 404 Franklin Road, was found guilty in Municipal Court yesterday of receiving stolen goods taken in the burglary. Police said about $300 in wristwatches, pen and pencil sets and cash were taken.

McNamara Is Trying to Avoid Wasting Funds

The do-to about these RSTOs doesn't abate.

This is the winged giant that was designed to do 2,000 miles an hour and Chairman CARL VINSON of the House Armed Services Committee is committed to its production. At least, he refuses to back down gracefully.

The program Congress originally contemplated would require a breathtaking $10 billion. Instead, Secretary of Defense McNamara wants to build three stripped-down planes and then survey the matter anew. These would run $171 million and he contends that's sufficient until we find out what they can actually accomplish and where they fit into the over-all scheme a few years hence. He feels the requirements and the program may be sharply altered in the light of new circumstances.

JFK stands with him.

VINSON and his group want to press the RSTO program and they've appropriated a half-billion specifically for this purpose with instruction to use it "now." Can Congress force the Secretary of Defense and the President to spend money they don't want to use for a project which they view with some doubt and misgivings? A portion of the appropriation for the RSTO program for the previous year is unspent and VINSON wants to "order" the Secretary to heed their ultimatum and use this hold-over money, plus the additional amount right away.

VINSON says: "Let's go." And he means NOW.

This newspaper stands with the Secretary of Defense. By the time these airplanes are "in production," McNAMARA fears that interim aerial activity will leave them outmoded and additional money would be tossed to the winds.

If he and the President agree now that the expenditure might prove to be sheer folly, they will find the taxpayers standing behind them. These men are charged with the total defense of the United States. We can't beat Russia "by committee action." It must be done by those dedicated and devoted to the purpose. The Defense Secretary believes current equipment can accomplish most of the specific jobs the RSTOs might be best suited to do. Let's back the experts. Let's stick with "those in the know."

Grass Fires Create Unnecessary Hazards

Each spring area fire departments are plagued with dozens of calls for grass fires. Not only are these blazes expensive in the hours of manpower expended, but they divert fire apparatus which might be needed elsewhere.

Another hazard is created just by sending the firemen out. Each time a truck rolls to any fire, there is a chance of an accident in traffic. Add to this a number of volunteers hustling to the scene, and the percentages rise perceptibly.

So far we are unaware of any loss of life attributed to delay because of firemen being summoned from a grass fire to a more serious blaze, but if it happens only once in 20 years, it's too often. What would you think if a member of your family were to die because firemen arrived a few seconds or minutes later than they would if they weren't out on a grass fire call?

All these hazards are presented because of a situation which could be avoided in the first place.

Almost every grass fire which brings the fire equipment is the direct result of carelessness. Many times it's an untended rubbish fire fanned by gusty spring breezes. Other calls stem from burning out weeds and letting the blaze get out of control.

Many townships have ordinances governing fires and require permits. Much of the grass fire problem could be alleviated with strict enforcement of existing laws. Violators must be cited and area justices must mete out more than slaps on the wrist. Halting the issue of fire permits in the present dangerous time is a step, but it takes more than this.

Those townships which don't have such an ordinance on the books should consider one, unless they are happy with the current dangerous situation.

After a few stiff fines, the idea may start to get across. Warnings each year seem futile.

Time Is Short For Making Entries in That Baseball Contest

By JOE HAAS
Less than four days now remain for you to qualify for a chance at that $250 in U.S. bonds in our baseball contest. Putting it off may give it to a neighbor. It costs nothing to enter and every member of your family can compete. But you must hurry. All entries must be received in this office by Monday noon. The prize goes to the nearest correct answer to:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Thursday, May 16, and what will be his batting average?

In spite of the warm weather the larger lakes in the Pontiac vicinity are still holding their ice, except along their edges. Of course, none of the ice is safe. Most of the smaller lakes already are free of ice.

Speaking of Disaster Areas

David Lawrence Says:

Figures Can't Tell Economic Woes

WASHINGTON — "How's business?" Time was when businessmen asked this question of one another, and the net impression they got—either favorable or unfavorable—seemed plausible and made sense to them. But today the national economy is more complex than ever, and the statements issued from Washington are full of wishful thinking and political implications. So it's difficult to sift the data and come up with a clear answer to what's really happened—let alone what's going to happen in business, even within a year.

A couple of months ago, for instance, the Kennedy Administration was issuing some glowing forecasts about the national output for 1962 and about the upward trend of the economy. But now it seems that these same forecasts were too optimistic. Thus, one reads a dispatch by United Press International a few days ago which says:

"Commerce Secretary Hodges said today that the recent fall-off of the economy to live up to the Kennedy Administration's forecast probably would extend through June . . .

"Commerce department experts have made a preliminary estimate that gross national product rose modestly in January, February and March to a new high annual rate of $48 billion."

NOT JUST FIGURES

But how can one get an understanding of what goes on by focusing on such big figures alone? Obviously, as population grows and there is an increased demand for things, the total volume of transactions goes up.

What really matters is the profits earned on all these transactions and the number of persons employed or unemployed as well as the total personal income available with which to buy things. Four per cent unemployment means a lot of people, even though it looks like a small percentage.

Also, fairly large "areas of substantial and persistent unemployment," as they are officially labeled by the government, number today more than 120 throughout the country.

The government reported, too, a few days ago that living costs had risen to a new high in February, and hence the record of six months of price stability was impaired.

The Country Parson

"I guess it's natural enough for boys to be mean to each other—but some of them never outgrow it."

Meanwhile, the U.S. Department of Labor this week revealed that manufacturing industries increased their work rolls only slightly in February.

Now, everybody who follows the economic picture closely knows that there has been a slump on the durable-goods side.

NOT ENOUGH REVENUE
The Kennedy Administration has come up with proposals to help encourage plant investment temporarily, but these are not of the long-range kind and do not permit the sort of planning that would really expand the economy.

When the volume of business, moreover, is merely increasing in quantity without increasing total profits, the tax revenues which the U.S. Treasury expects to receive are bound to be disappointing.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Be Specific' in Correction of Nutritional Deficiency

From time to time, more or less eminent medical authority, or in a pinch any bright young man or woman employed by a newspaper or magazine, asserts that people who have a well-balanced diet—whatever that may mean—do not need vitamins or minerals.

They get all the vitamins and minerals they need from their everyday diet.

Having thus left the food fanatics, nutrition investigators and other nuts without a leg to stand on, the self-constituted authorities sanction or endorse the practice of doctoring food and bread and milk with insignificant quantities of the cheapest vitamins and minerals—as they say, out of one side of their mouths, "to enrich or fortify" the food which they say, out of the other side of their mouths, supplies all the vitamins and minerals people need.

So you see, no matter which side of the argument you take, you're wrong if the other side is more profitable to the authorities at the moment.

The science of nutrition is scarcely 50 years old. It was born, we might say, in the second decade of the 20th Century, when the first edition of "Chemistry of Food and Nutrition" was published by Henry C. Sherman, Ph.D., Sc.D., and the first edition of "The New Knowledge of Nutrition" was published by Elmer V. McCollum, Ph.D., Sc.D., LL.D. Neither of these authors was a physician. In fact nearly all of our present knowledge of nutrition was developed, mainly through animal experimentation, by investigators who were not physicians.

SHOW IGNORANCE
I just can't understand why nutrition authorities sanction the practice of "enriching" white flour and white bread by doctoring it with some of the vitamins and minerals removed from wheat in modern milling process, if "one gets all the vitamins and minerals he needs in an ordinary well-balanced diet," or if "nutritional deficiency is seldom encountered in America."

People who utter such banalities merely show their ignorance. To have, as a so-called "nutritional" medical practitioner, there's no borderland between optimal nutrition and outspoken nutritional deficiency disease such as beri beri, rickets, scurvy, tetany or pellagra.

It is my belief that most everyday complaints, for which doctors prescribe and people take all sorts of nostrums that are often harmful to health and sometimes dangerous to life, are manifestations of nutritional deficiency and can be prevented or moderated or possibly cured only by correcting the specific nutritional deficiency involved.

In Miami, agents seized 10 pounds of cocaine in a haul worth $1,250,000 which surpassed the entire quantity seized in 1961. The source: Communist Cuba. Five Cuban Red infiltrators and drug runners were arrested. Authorities said that the size of the seizure is indicative of the Red Cuban effort to flood this country with dope to undermine morale, and secure precious dollars. It's communism at work.

'Few Consider Farmers' Plight'

In this talk of overproduction by the farmer, has anyone thought of the farmer's side? Has anyone thought the farmer must produce more milk, eggs, grain and other products to keep his head above water?

While the cost of everything has doubled the farmers have stood still in the prices of products they sell, or even in many cases, as in eggs, broilers and turkeys, decreased.

The farmer has a family and a home. He doesn't work 24 hours a week. He works seven days. And I don't think he is going to be satisfied to take less and less for his family while he sees the wages of the other segments of the population going up.

'Some Can't Avoid Going on Welfare'

Mrs. Belgis is indignant over welfare recipients. No doubt her folks found their way to our shores and have funds stored up. But suppose death and sickness wiped it all out and all money, bonds and property went for hospital and doctor bills.

How can you live if no social welfare is available? Should people just die as precious tax dollars would be used? What about the big shoe owners who sit in comfortable offices, giving themselves raises, lining their pockets with our dollars and having paid-off homes and expensive cars? Is that OK?

Thank God I'm American and a Christian who tolerates the poor and needy.

Hersey. I never realized how much damage an atom bomb can do. In a split second a whole community was wiped out except, those lucky to survive. The survivors have lived a thousand deaths since that terrible day. The Saturday Review said "Everyone able to read should read it."

We should fight this terrible force. Teen-agers across the land want their children to grow up in a world that has not seen the burning, destructive power of an atomic war.

Feels Press Lax in Several Areas

There are more interesting news items than the dress styles worn by Jackie Kennedy. Subverted reporting by The Pontiac Press shows: Speak more strongly on issues affecting the city and the state. Most articles appear weak and self-righteous. Initiate a composite news analysis on a world-wide scope; Mr. Fitzgerald considers his opinion twice as important as citizens. He takes twice the space and should switch with the Voice of the People. There isn't sufficient follow-up reporting.

If I don't like the paper I suppose I ought to read another and that's just what I will do.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, April 5, the 96th day of the year with 270 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1614, Pocahontas, daughter of the Indian chieftain Powhatan, was married in Virginia to John Rolfe, an English colonist.

In 1938, the German government ordered all children aged 10 to 17 to register and serve in the Hitler Youth Organization.

In 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg of New York City were sentenced to death as "atom spies" charged with transmitting secret atomic energy information to agents of the Soviet Union.

In 1955, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, then 85 years old, submitted his resignation to Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham Palace.

A thought for the day: Sir Winston Churchill said: "Dictators ride to and fro on tigers from which they dare not dismount. And the tigers are getting hungrier."

THEY'LL WED—Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Sir Winston, last night announced her engagement to Baron Audley, who formerly bore the name of Thomas Percy Henry Tucht. Tucht-Jesson, Miss Churchill, 47, has been married twice before. He is 48 and has been married once.

Seattle Council Fails to Hear Citizen's Side

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—One of the problems before the City Council's streets and sewers committee concerned street paving projects.

One of those projects concerned the street where Daniel Dancer lives.

Dancer attended the meeting Tuesday. He sat at the head of the committee table. Nobody asked his opinion.

Then, the mother of Daniel Dancer, 4, found him and that ended his basic training in city government.

Fan Lets Cat Out of Bag

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI)—A 16-year-old soccer fan was fined $2.50 for stealing toilet tissue from British Railways. The theft was discovered, a policeman said, when the boy threw the roll at the referee at a football game.

Reluctant Mayor Wins Re-Election in Missouri

ASHLAND, Mo. (AP)—Lehmon Wren, who didn't want it, was re-elected mayor of Ashland Tuesday when 55 voters wrote his name on their ballots.

"I'm tired of listening to belly-aches of other people—I wouldn't run again if they paid me," Wren said before the election.

Everyone else apparently felt the same way because nobody filed. Nobody else got a vote.

Ashland, a town of 463 residents, doesn't pay its mayor.

Advice Given in Youth Magazine

Red China Stresses 'Thrifty' Weddings

TOKYO (UPI) — The dowry is dying hard in Red China, especially down on the farms.

The organ of Red China's young Communist league complained that too many Chinese youths are too concerned about material matters when seeking a mate. It offered some advice on love and marriage.

“Marriage and standing money are two different things,” said an article in a recent issue of the China Youth News. “An expensive wedding is not equal to a satisfactory marriage, nor a satisfactory marriage to an unsatisfactory marriage.”

“But there are youths, especially rural youths, who do not clearly realize this. Before marriage, they attach great importance to the amount of betrothal present and dowry. When the wedding takes place, they want to make it extravagant and impressive, thinking that only such a wedding will do honor to the two families concerned.”

The article was accompanied by excerpts from a round-table discussion by some league members of the subject. The Youth News is not circulated outside the Bamboo Curtain but copies of the article were received here.

It said the concern about the dowry and other material matters is “unlabeled” and “is a bad influence.”

Urging the youth to “be realistic in all things,” the article said there should be an awareness that “the most important thing about marriage is to get a good ‘match’ or ‘spouse.’”

“Goodness, here,” the article added, “includes the good quality of industry and frugality.”

The wedding can be successful only if the couple “gets on well” after the marriage.

“Conversely,” it said, “if the couple does not get on well with each other but often quarrels after marriage or even gets divorced in the end, then, we cannot say that the marriage is successful no matter how much money may have been celebrated, no matter how ‘impressive’ it may have been, and no matter how much ‘honor’ it may have done to the two families concerned.”

“Besides, an extravagant wedding will often leave the couple in pecuniary difficulty. From the above, it is quite obvious whether a thrifty wedding or an extravagant one is better.”

The article said the league was not opposed to some spending on weddings.

“What we oppose is extravagance, the giving of big feasts and the thought that money is more important than character. We do not oppose rational and appropriate spending of money, such as on essentials to post-marital life and on convocations, tea, and cigarettes for the entertainment of comrades, relatives and friends who come to extend congratulations . . .”

During the discussion, some of the participants told of families going into debt and doing without food to provide a dowry, and cited some examples.

Mother Kills Two of Her 3 Children

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—A mother shot and killed two of her three children, police reported today.

The woman, held for questioning, was identified as Mrs. Florence Staples, 39.

Police said a daughter, Lola, 6, was shot about 8:30 Wednesday night in the Staples home. Two sons, Daniel, 17, and William, 19, came home about midnight and went to bed unaware of what had happened, police said.

Early today William was awakened by a gunshot and found his brother had been killed in his bed. The older son said he disarmed the mother and called police.

Mrs. Staples is separated from her husband, police said.

Approximately 3.5 per cent of all children in the United States have divorced parents.

Wald Comes Out of Surgery, Suit in Top Condition

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film producer Jerry Wald emerged in excellent condition from surgery— and from a $3-million slander suit.

Wald, 50, underwent a lower spinal operation at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Wednesday and is expected to remain there a week or 10 days.

He discovered after coming out of the operating room that a Superior Court jury had returned a verdict in his favor in a slander action brought by Jack Rosenzweig, publisher of the magazine Hollywood Close-Up.

Rosenzweig said Wald made slanderous remarks about him in 1959. Wald said Rosenzweig told him “I’m going to blast you” after Wald stopped advertising in Rosenzweig’s magazine.

Penguins, contrary to popular impression, do not all live in regions of ice and snow. Species inhabit the east and west coasts of South America, the shores of South Africa, and areas of Australia, New Zealand and Pacific Islands.

Star Has Hit Heights, Depths of Romantic Adventure

Liz Taylor's Emotional Life Rides a Roller Coaster

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of three editions on the emotional life of Elizabeth Taylor and Mike Todd. The first edition was written by Liz Taylor's biographer, Vernon Scott.

By VERNON SCOTT
LIZ HOLLYWOOD Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Elizabeth Taylor lives a roller-coaster emotional life, soaring to the heights of romantic adventure, then plunging to terrifying depths.

Difficult as the dizzying ups and downs prove for Elizabeth, it is impossible for her companions, the men in her life. They bail out or are jetisoned when the novelty abates.

I first met Elizabeth in 1948 when she was only 16 years old.

It was at a small party which she attended with actor Marshall Thompson. Elizabeth was the youngest person in the room, yet she dominated the gathering with her charm and wit. Her facial beauty was breathtaking. It still is.

Even at that age Liz sensed the power given her by nature's arrangement of her features — the violet-blue eyes, sensuous mouth, clear skin and perfect nose. Upon these arresting gifts, along with a full, rounded figure, English-born Elizabeth built a feminine empire that led to wealth, fame, dazzling men and the adoration of millions.

In the years since my first met I have found Liz to be strong willed, kittenish when it suited her purposes, unconcerned about inflicting slights on other people, a tower of strength despite her frequent illnesses. She is complete mistress of her emotions. Her temper rarely comes into play simply because Queen Liz's wishes usually are transformed into actuality on her command.

CAN'T FIND TRANQUILITY
Yet her desire for domestic tranquility has been tragically elusive, raising havoc in her life and the lives of persons she has touched. Liz herself once expressed her personal dilemma saying, "I have the emotions of a child but the body of a woman."

It was not until her marriage to Nicky Hilton at the age of 18 in 1950 that Elizabeth's romantic diodes made news. There was a sugar plum wedding, gushed over as the most glamorous in film-town annals.

He survived several months.

Next was British actor Michael Wilding, a quiet, dignified man of 40 who was 20 years older than his bride. Liz had proposed.

Their union endured five years and produced two sons (Michael and Christopher) and ended in wildly improbable circumstances. Elizabeth had fallen in love with jaunty, brilliant showman Mike Todd while she was still married to Wilding. In January of 1957 the obliging Wilding flew to Mexico where Todd and Elizabeth were making wedding plans.

He told newsmen he had made the trip solely to expedite a divorce for Liz, leaving her free to marry the 48-year-old Todd, his successor.

The Englishman was a gallant lover.

Stage center in the glamour girl's life was taken by rowdy, hell-for-leather Todd. Handsome, self-confident and coarse, Todd was a man who was able to dominate the indomitable Liz.

He was the boss. He loved her tenderly, but Mike bellowed like a bull when displeased. Where he went Liz went. He seriously discussed her retirement from movies. She deeply loved her third husband, she bore him a daughter, Liza.

ENTER FISHER
Then, suddenly, dramatically, Elizabeth's happy marriage crashed in the wreckage of Todd's private airplane in New Mexico. Mike was dead. To Elizabeth's side came Eddie Fisher, Todd's close friend.

It was on Eddie's arm in March of 1958 that Elizabeth returned from Todd's funeral in his native Chicago.

Six months later Liz and Eddie made headlines dating in New York City and visiting a Catskill Mountain resort. The scene of Eddie's marriage to Debbie three years earlier. Liz finally made it with Eddie to a Las Vegas altar, scandalizing a sizeable segment of public opinion.

and two young children for Hollywood's sex goddess. His career ended almost immediately, but Liz continued to draw patrons to her movies despite public outcries.

Shock waves reverberated again when she flaunted convention last week publicly dating Burton, a married man with two children. Will the public again forgive her?

marital nuptials? Will Elizabeth's problems affect the success of "Cleopatra"? These are questions even Liz cannot answer. But there is one compelling question the actress must face soon:

What will become of Elizabeth's careening roller-coaster when, as it invariably must, her spectacular beauty diminishes to matronly maturity?

in 1950; with Michael Wilding in 1952 after wedding in London, and with showman Mike Todd after wedding in Acapulco, Mexico, in 1957.

Gastronomic Feast Proves a Trial for Defendant

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The trial of a man who apparently lived for 10 days in the basement of a drug store has been postponed until tomorrow because he was too sick to be brought to court.

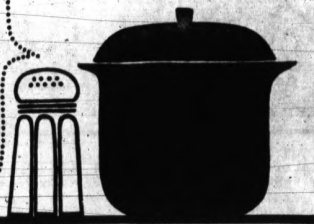

The clerk of Recorder's Court said that Keith Healy, 42, who was supposed to have had drunkenness charge yesterday, was in no condition to appear.

The store manager, R. M. Harrell, said he found Healy surrounded by 13 bottles of bay rum, a gallon of soft drink syrup, 14 pounds of candy, a box of cigars and a can of cranberry sauce—all from the store's stocks.

The percentage of Americans 65 years or older has more than doubled within the last 50 years.

I hear there's something cooking between Speedway and Marathon.

UP Mine Taxes Bill Dies in Committee

LANSEING (AP)—A proposal to change taxation practices on Upper Peninsula metal mines died quietly in the House yesterday.

It was buried without fanfare in the House Taxation Committee.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Elmer A. Eklund, D-Excelsior, would have required separate equalization for the mines, now assessed differently from other real property. It would have the effect, tax experts agreed, of reducing county and local income from mine taxes.

"This would be disastrous," said Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee. "We just couldn't take it." Iron County spokesmen set the county loss at an estimated $25,000 a year.

Wife of Former Envoy to U. S. Dies in Paris

PARIS (AP)—Mrs. Henri Bonnet, 61, well known to Americans as the wife of a former French ambassador to Washington, died Wednesday night at her home here after a long illness.

Mrs. Bonnet was with her husband in exile in New York during the Nazi occupation of France. To help support the family she opened a hat and fashion shop in New York while her husband devoted himself to the Free French organizations.

Eastern Storm Labeled Worst

Weather Bureau Expert Tells House Unit That Damage Was High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Weather Bureau official told a House Merchant Marine subcommittee yesterday that "the recent eastern storm was 'the most severe and destructive winter storm which ever visited the Atlantic Coast, at least since the turn of the century.'"

R. H. Simpson, the bureau's chief of research on severe storms, said the storm killed at least 34 people and is estimated to have destroyed at least $200 million worth of property.

The bureau's forecast of the storm, he said, was "timely" for the area north of Atlantic City, N.J.

"South of there," he said, "the weather conditions were complicated and the warnings were not so good." The problem, Simpson said, was that the bureau's Washington computer was unable "to catch the motion which occurred and we were somewhat handicapped."

Another factor was that the bureau had few topographic maps of the area suitable for predicting likely flood areas, he said.

U. S. to Buy Irish Sugar

DUBLIN (UPI) — The United States has agreed to buy 5,000 tons of Irish refined sugar under its quota allotment system, it was announced here yesterday.

350-Foot Rocket Being Planned for Moon Flight

NEW YORK (AP) — A space rocket as tall as a 36-story building — that may carry three Americans to the moon — is in the planning stage.

The projected 350-foot rocket, called the Nova, was reported on yesterday by Alfred G. Orillon of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Orillon told a Society of Automotive Engineers' national aeronautics session that the three-stage rocket would have some 15 million pounds of thrust.

The Atlas rocket, which boosted Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit, is about one-fourth as high as Nova and develops 360,000 pounds of thrust.

Spur Efforts to End Coast Ship Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Severe food shortages in Hawaii and financial losses in the West Coast area today spurred federal officials to make efforts to end the three-week West Coast maritime strike.

A three-man panel appointed by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg failed to report any progress during yesterday's meeting with Maritime Association (PMA) and striking seamen, firemen, cooks and stewards.

The strike has idled about half of the 120 ships operated by PMA members. Only a few vessels have been released to carry essential military cargo, including equipment for the nuclear test preparations at Christmas Island.

Ex-General Stumbles Through His Own Defense

Indonesians Admit Attack on Tuna Boat

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—The tight-wing former Army major general, Edwin A. Walker, repeatedly stumbled and mispronounced and his hands trembled as he read from a 31-page prepared statement.

The statement by this extreme anti-communist—who quit the Army after being admonished for dabbling in politics and what he said about prominent Americans—was more than just a defense and an explanation.

It all he said before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee Wednesday could be boiled down into one sentence: this was it: I'm right. By the same token anyone who disagreed with his conduct was wrong if not worse. He seemed to see malignant and sinister forces at work in high places.

He was critical of the Kennedy, Eisenhower and Truman administrations, and particularly of President Kennedy; of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; of the press; of the State Department; and of others.

EXTREMELY CRITICAL
He was even critical of a book which, under questioning, he admitted he hadn't read. He presented the picture of a man who feels enormously discriminated against, if not persecuted.

When Walker, now seeking the Democratic nomination for the governorship of Texas, was finished with the prepared statement, the trembling and the mispronunciations, he got constant help in answering questions. The help was verbal or written on slips of paper, and came from two friends he had with him, a lawyer and a man he described as a consultant.

After investigating him last year—while he was in command of the 24th Division in Germany—the Army slapped him for:

1. Labeling as pinks or Communists former President Truman, other leading Democrats and segments of the American press and television-radio industries.
2. Trying to influence his troops, contrary to Army regulations, by voting for members of Congress by recommending the use of voting materials not obtained through military sources.

CHANGES STATEMENT
At the end of the probe Walker said the Army investigators had given him "full opportunity to present my side of the case." That wasn't what he said yesterday.

Bitterly complaining because Secretary McNamara had released the report of the investigators, Walker said:
"The secretary's presentation was so worded as to give the impression that I had had a fair and just trial." He said the way the investigation was conducted had been "highly irregular and unjust."

In 1953, shortly before he died, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles so much admired a book

"What We Must Know About Communism," by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet—that he recommended it to President Eisenhower and bought several copies for other friends.
But in his statement Wednesday Walker condemned a number of books—including the Overstreets—because, he said, they "implicitly encourage accommodation with the enemy—competitive coexistence, which is fundamentally the Communist line."

NEVER READ IT
Sen. Stuart Symington, who said he and his wife had read the book and enjoyed it, asked Walker to say specifically what that his case was not "merely unusual but unique." He said: "The forces back of it must be extraordinary. These forces cannot be fully identified. . . . He said McNamara tried to create a 'false impression' of what he had done. He said the Army treated him 'unjustly' and there were 'unscrupulous forces' back of his case.

In short, all that happened to him, according to him, happened because he was such an anti-Communist. His complaint against the Kennedy administration is that it is not anti-Communist enough.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Indonesian government today admitted the stranding of an Indonesian tuna boat but claimed it violated Indonesian territorial waters and failed to give proper identification.

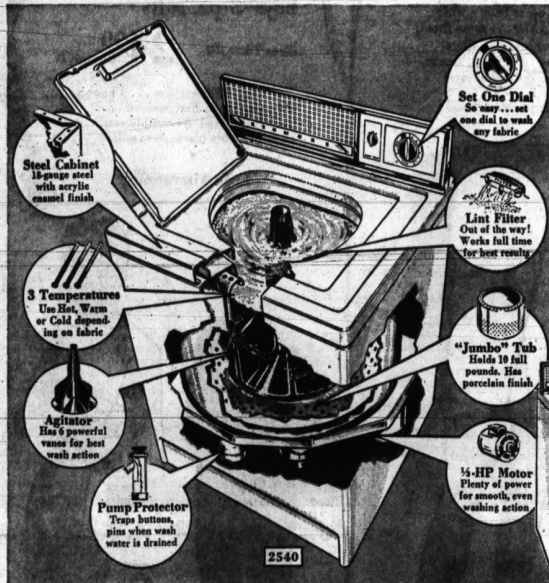

A report received in Oidara said one of the four crewmen wounded in the stranding Tuesday died.

The Indonesian navy said the boat, the 144-ton Kyuyo Maru, has been given permission to dock at Bitung, in the North Celebes, to obtain medical aid for the wounded.

Billboards Bill Gets Scrapped

House Fails to Find Agreement on Rules for Highway Signs

LANSING (AP)—A plan to regulate billboards along Michigan's interstate highway system has been scrapped by a legislative committee.

The measure died in the House State Affairs Committee yesterday when it failed to meet a deadline for Senate bills, except those dealing with taxes and spending, to clear House committees. The Senate had approved it.

"We didn't even vote on the bill," said Rep. Lloyd Gibbs, R-Fortland, committee chairman. "There wasn't much sentiment for it."

Gibbs said a law to control billboards would find more acceptance in the legislature when various interests could reach general agreement on how it should work and how far it should go.

"We had everybody from nurserymen to garden club members to restaurant owners testifying on the bill," he said. "Most of them agreed we should have some sort of regulation, but they couldn't agree on any of the details."

TWO SIGNS

The measure would have allowed two billboards of up to 700 square feet per mile along the interstate system. They would be near interchanges.

Proposed regulations would not meet federal standards to qualify Michigan for federal grants for highway construction.

The House Judiciary Committee tacked some major amendments to another Senate bill to prohibit operation of radar speed traps in cities, villages and townships.

The committee version would allow radar devices if they are operated by policemen in marked police cars and if a sign set up at least 500 feet from the radar warns motorists that they are approaching it.

PENN YAN, N.Y. (AP)—Police found a 1961 convertible parked on the frozen surface of Keuka Lake, and hauled it off. Investigators disclosed that skindivers had placed it there so they could use it for practice explorations during the summer.

Ties Israel, Greece With Ancient Tongue

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP)—Stu-Crete—language of the pre-Greek culture. He says it is Phoenician but the Greek alphabet is used. The language dates from a period about a thousand years after the peoples of ancient Greece and Israel through a common heritage. Prof. Cyrus Gordon, chairman of the Department of Mediterranean Studies, contends the predecessors of the Greek civilization—the Minoans of Crete—used a language that was basically Phoenician. Other languages in the Phoenician family—Hebrew, Ugaritic and Aramaic—were used by the other ancient peoples who surrounded the Mediterranean.

EXPECTS CONTROVERSY
Gordon feels his contention will generate heated controversy. "They run counter to many firmly entrenched views concerning scripture, the classics and history," he said. Weather Trend Can Be Changed

Scientists Are Able to Alter Climate With Lakes, Forests, Rivers

WASHINGTON — Climatologists are working toward the day when they can do something about the weather.

Already it is possible to change the trend of weather in limited areas, or "microclimates," the National Geographic Society says.

Small, but measurable, effects on climate are induced by creating new lakes, changing river courses, planting forests, and artificially suppressing evaporation.

Cities are among the greatest man-made influences on microclimates. The downtown area of a city and nearby rural areas often have startling differences in weather.

HAS MORE RAIN

Compared with its rural neighbors, a city has 5 to 10 per cent more clouds and precipitation. Temperatures average 1 to 2 degrees higher. The wind speed in a city is 20 to 30 per cent less than in the surrounding country, and the relative humidity is 3 to 10 per cent lower.

Changing climate on a large scale would call for grasshopper measures, however. An engineer recently proposed building a dam across the Bering Strait and pumping the Arctic Ocean into the Pacific. The idea was to stimulate a warming flow from the Atlantic into the Arctic basin.

The proposal was quickly dismissed when climatologists warned that the results probably would be just the opposite of those intended. As a side effect, the Gobi Desert might creep northward.

POTENTIALLY DANGEROUS

Tampering with nature always is potentially disastrous, experts warn. If, for example, the Strait of Gibraltar were blocked, the final result might well be transformation of the Mediterranean Sea into a desert, because evaporating water would not be replaced by water flowing from the Atlantic.

Mountains range profoundly influence climate by blocking moisture-laden air from leeward. Thus if several passes were deepened in the Sierra Nevada, more moist air would flow into the Nevada desert, transforming parts of it into cultivable land.

In this case, the side effect probably would be beneficial also. Decreased precipitation in the mountains would make it easier to keep the passes cleared of snow in the winter.

Man Accused of 'Shocking' Meter Thefts

TIJUANA, Mexico (U. S. — Roberto Martinez Olvera is in jail today, accused of installing electrical meters with shocking disregard for the rules of private enterprise.

Until Olvera came along, police say, Tijuana's power requirements were met by the Frontier Electric Co. Olvera, they say, decided to start a new frontier, so to speak, using his competitor's equipment.

Officers said yesterday that Olvera, 44, stole 150 electrical meters from vacant homes.

Then, they said, he went to new homes, representing himself as an inspector for the electric company, and installed the meters, charging a fee of about $5. Police said he also offered to collect for electrical service in advance at cut rates.

Stolen Calf Proves Mother Knows Best

FALLS CITY, Neb. (U. S. — A calf found in a Hiawatha, Kan., mile barn was identified as one stolen from the Dick Majerus farm near Ruby, Neb.

But Majerus wasn't sure, so Sheriff Irvin F. Gates decided to leave it up to the calf's mother.

The month-old calf was turned loose in a pasture on the Majerus farm and run up to the first cow he saw. It butted him away. But another cow welcomed the calf, washed its face with her tongue and gave him sugar.

That convinced Majerus and three witnesses the sheriff brought along for the test.

French investigators have reported that molds can control sheep hookworm.

Hungary Celebrates
'Liberation' by Reds

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Communist Hungary commemorated its World War II liberation by the Soviet Army with a giant military parade in Budapest Wednesday displaying latest Russian-made jets and rockets.

The parade, watched by Premier Janos Kadar, the entire cabinet and 100,000 spectators, included modern medium and heavy tanks, 12 ground-to-air rockets and supersonic fighters.

Defense Minister Lajos Czibere said in a speech the Communist countries had coordinated their defense plans and were keeping military efficiency at the highest level.

Bucking GOP Members
Trouble 'Ev and Charlie'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "Ev and Charlie" leadership team is having its troubles with Republicans in Congress threatening to ride off in different directions on some major issues.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana face some challenges from bucking members who ordinarily would be satisfied with their conservative course.

Dirksen's difficulties center around a compromise proposal to authorize President Kennedy to provide up to $100 million in financing for the United Nations. The challenge to Halleck comes from an unusual source—his own party's national chairman, Rep. William E. Miller of New York.

Without consulting Halleck, Miller has tried to drum up support for a GOP substitute for the administration's plan to link medical care for the elderly to the Social Security system. Halleck thus far has given no sign he is willing to buy the substitute.

Dirksen, who usually supports the administration on major foreign policy action, believed he had quieted most Republican opposition to Kennedy's request for authority to purchase $100 million in U.N. bonds by agreeing to a substitute worked out by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and others.

This would have authorized the President to loan the U.N. up to $100 million at interest free and length of time he might fix. But when it became apparent that the President could purchase 25-year, 2 percent interest U.N. bonds under this authority, conservative Republicans exploded.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, was one of those who bucked. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for conservatives, condemned the substitute.

This left Dirksen in the position of leading a floor going in two directions, since liberal Republicans supported the proposal.

LIBERALS RALLY
The liberals rallied around Dirksen's efforts in a series of Senate speeches Wednesday, calculated to demonstrate that a substantial portion of Republicans back the United Nations and the financing proposal.

Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and Prescott Bush, R-Conn., all hit this theme.

In the House, Halleck has kept his own counsel about Miller's proposal for GOP backing of a measure by Rep. Frank Bow, R-Ohio, to help finance medical care for the elderly through private health insurance plans.

In any showdown on the issue, party members are betting that Halleck will carry a solid majority with him.

Mexican Cockfights Colorful

PHOTOS, STORY BY ED NOBLE

Pontiac Press Photographer

Cockfights are making a clandestine comeback in some sections of the state, but in Mexico they are flourishing, as always, with some North American breeders bringing down their roosters for a legal go with some of the Mexican champs.

Tourists, however, give this esoteric and somewhat bloody sport a wide berth.

There may be a number of compelling reasons for it. First the cockfights are held in a pit almost adjoining the bullfight ring in the state of Mexico and are held almost immediately after the Sunday bullfight.

An afternoon of watching the slaughter of six bulls usually is enough for unindoctrinated tourists.

Second, the pit is a rather forbidding looking place with many warning signs such as "No Armed Persons Allowed," and heavy iron grill doors which are locked as soon as you enter the pit.

There are ten fights and it usually is late at night before you leave. Few of the cabs waiting to drive you home are manned by English-speaking drivers, therefore if you don't speak Spanish, or not accompanied by a guide, the problem of getting back to your hotel becomes a weighty chore.

LATIN INTRIGUE

The tourist willing to surmount these drawbacks is in for a rare experience. The fights are colorful — not as bloody as you might expect — and laced with Latin intrigue.

Betting becomes almost as fast as the fight, but desist if you don't understand Spanish or the finer points of cockfighting.

Photographs are forbidden. But the pictures accompanying this story were taken clandestinely and without incident in the rather dimly lighted pit. Handlers of the paired roosters put on an act almost as colorful as their feathered charges.

There is a brief introduction of the two birds as they are held firmly by the seconds. The handlers dance gracefully away to their respective corners, slap their roosters on the wings and let them loose.

Action is immediate.

The roosters were born and bred to fight. That's exactly what they do and with razor sharp knives attached to their legs the encounter becomes a deadly and often short-lived event. One quick and lucky strike by a rooster can eliminate its adversary in a matter of seconds.

Since betting on each fight is heavy, a judge stands in the corner of the ring forcing each rooster to keep going until it is dead or completely exhausted.

There may be several rounds with bells ringing to herald the end of a round or the beginning of another.

Exhausted roosters, like prizefighters, are doctored and encouraged at the end of each round.

SNUFF, SNUFF

Occasionally a handler will blow a powerful drug into the rooster's nostrils to keep it going. Often these attempts will succeed and the tiring rooster will summon enough strength to dispatch its opponent.

Betting is handled by about ten agents who circulate through the pit yelling odds and accepting bets that come by silent signals or shouts from the audience. Payoffs are made immediately after each fight.

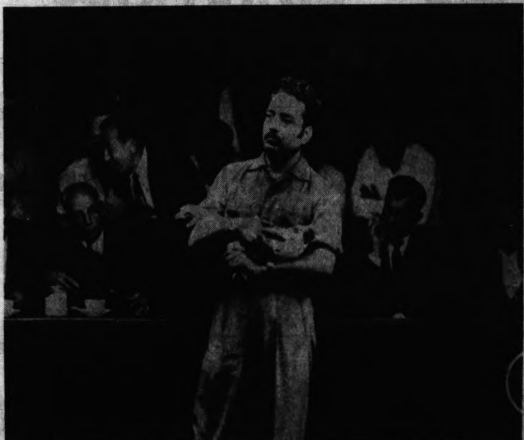

And your chances of witnessing on a bet are non-existent — all doors are locked until bets have been paid.

FORBIDDING — The entrance to a cockfight arena is forbidding-looking, but at fight time in the Mexican evening every seat will be taken. Admission price is seven pesos (about 50 cents in U.S. money).

FIGHT TO THE FINISH — Action is immediate. This is the big fight of the evening. The American rooster at left was dealt a fatal blow from the spurs of the local champ in the first 10 seconds of the fight.

WAITING — The handler waits for final bets to be made. Wagers commonly go into the hundreds of pesos, but don't bet if you can't pay off — there are ways of collecting.

Pontiac General Report

Hospital Shows 'Profit' in 3rd Period

Pontiac General Hospital closed its third accounting period with a "profit" of $3,671 for the year, it was announced today by Harold B. Euler, administrator.

Income exceeded expenses by $7,108, bringing the total so far to $3,671," Euler said. "This compares to an excess of $22,530 in the second period, well above the budget estimate.

However, the seasonal pattern of hospital occupancy normally takes a downturn at this point and we may expect a decrease from here on," Euler pointed out.

Average occupancy for the second period was 84.3 per cent and 80.3 per cent for the first. The third period ended March 24.

Teacher Has Been to the Olympics

Waterford Teacher Ex-Olympic Fencer

In all probability very few of the youngsters in the Waterford school system taught by Mrs. James Walker realize that the speech correctionist has twice represented the United States in the Olympic games.

The tall, attractive, special-education teacher went to Australia in 1956 while only 16 years old and was the youngest member of any of the fencing teams in the games.

The brown-haired Lapeer girl made the team again in 1960 when the Olympics were held in Rome.

"Finishing ahead of the Russian team in the '60 games was our biggest thrill," Mrs. Walker, the former Judy Goodrich, commented. "We didn't do too well as a team in '56."

The fencing star graduated from Michigan State University last June and was married two months later. Her husband has one more semester to go at MSU for his accounting degree and plans to become a certified public accountant.

A FENCER FROM EGYPT
A strange series of circumstances led to Judy's interest in fencing.

Women fencers are rather scarce in the Midwest. Customarily the outstanding swordswomen developed in this country have come from the colleges and universities in the east.

How would a girl from Lapeer, Mich., ever become an outstanding fencer, let alone make the Olympic team?

A little more than 10 years ago a fine fencer from Egypt married a Lapeer woman and settled there. Before long the whole community became fencing conscious. The Egyptian began conducting classes both at the junior and senior high school levels.

"Fencing became the fad around town," Judy recalled. "I wasn't particularly interested in it at first but I soon discovered if I wanted to be with my friends I would have to begin fencing."

Judy started working at the sport when she was 12 and a junior high student.

LAPEER CELEBRATES

When she was named to the Olympic team four years later, there was much cause for celebration in Lapeer. Various civic groups in the community launched fund-raising programs. Before a long enough money was raised to send Judy's mother and coach with her to Melbourne, Her dad joined the group at his own expense.

Judy was disappointed in her individual performance that took her only to the quarter finals.

The speech correctionist thinks her best individual performance in competition came in the 1958 World Championships. She finished near the top in the international competition.

Judy is a left-handed fencer. "Years ago there were very few left-handers in the sport," she said, "because coaches had a tendency to make the natural southpaw a right hander."

Now the port sliders are left alone and there are quite a few fencers who wield weapons in their left hand.

The little swordswoman was quick to dispel any theories that the sport is dangerous.

"We are well padded," she said, "and wear steel mesh masks to protect our faces. Weapon points are blunted and there is no danger of any injury other than a slight bruise."

The teacher, who works with youngsters from kindergarten age through 6th grade in four schools, began her special education duties last September. She and her husband live at 618 Rainbow Court in the northwest section of Waterford Township.

Judy and Jim both enjoy sports in general and as a team have won trophies for their tennis proficiency.

As for any plans concerning the 1964 Olympic games in Tokyo, Judy remains noncommittal. She has done very little fencing of late.

However, she is currently enrolled in a ballet class at the Community Activities Building to keep in trim and sharpen her reflexes.

Thieves Get Bum Steer

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Bruce Card says that if the rustlers who stole the first model of a steer from the front of his restaurant will return it he won't press charges. It is fact he offered a reward of two steaks — from a real steer.

OK New Hit-Run Charge in Waterford Court

A new warrant was authorized this morning by the Oakland County Prosecutor's office to renew charges against a Wyandotte man in a fatal hit-run accident last month in Waterford Township.

Peter Michalec, 35, was in Waterford Township Justice Court yesterday for a preliminary examination before Justice John E. McGrath. Charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an injury accident were both dismissed due to insufficient evidence.

Justice McGrath ruled that a search of the defendant's car by state police had been illegal and refused to allow findings to be entered as evidence.

Howard Donker, 53, of 4195, Solway St., Drayton Plains, died in Pontiac General Hospital March 16, less than an hour after being struck by a car on Dixie Highway near Silver Lake Road in Waterford Township.

A 1958 or 1959 Buick, driven by a man 45 to 48 years old wearing glasses, stated Donker, a witness told state police. The driver got out of the car to look at the damaged right fender and then drove on, the witness added.

Michalec and his attorney, William L. Chabalan, former Wayne County assistant prosecutor, went to the Pontiac State Police Post March 18. Chabalan told police he believed his client's 1959 Buick might have been involved in the accident.

Arraigned that afternoon on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an injury accident, Michalec stood mute.

Sororities Seek Way to Operate Within the Law

Sponsors of Pontiac high school sororities are mulling over ways to operate within a state law requiring open membership. Supt. of Schools Dana F. Whitmer said today.

Dr. Whitmer added that a recent meeting with sponsors of the clubs had served to explain the law. He said a further meeting was planned this spring before school's end.

"We didn't give them an ultimatum," he said. "We just talked it over and said, let's see what we can do about it."

The move to open the membership lists had been suggested as a way to meet a state ban on "secret societies" whose members attend public schools.

Pontiac Board of Education members had received telephone calls for several months protesting the closed lists.

Slave Trader Sentenced

IBADAN, Nigeria (UPI)—Slave trader Aminu Amoo has been sentenced to 12 years in jail for selling a 30-year-old woman for $70, the Ghana news agency here reported today.

Commission to Hear 2 Rezoning Requests

The City Commission will get all properties in Pontiac now available for industrial use.

In addition, commissioners decided not to recommend rezoning of another 114-acre parcel fronting on Mt. Clemens Street since most of it was already being used for purposes other than residential.

Most of the remaining 80 acres recommended for rezoning has been vacant for more than 20 years and is largely surrounded by residential areas.

PLAN APARTMENTS
The West Side property at 295 W. Huron Street is owned by Fred Ward and Alan Pardon and is the site of the Ward home.

Ward and Pardon requested the rezoning to Residential 1-3 so that they might build a three-story, modern apartment building on the site.

Planners suggested first that the block, from Franklin to Palmer, be rezoned, but property owners objected.

So the commission's recommendation will be for only the Ward corner lot. The proposed building would house 42 apartments with basement garage parking for 38 cars and outside off-street parking for 16 more.

The current personal service zoning would limit land use to a maximum of three dwelling units per lot.

Commissioners indicated also that it might be worthwhile for city officials to study possibilities of including apartment buildings in the personal service classification through a zoning law change in the future.

Both recommendations will be subject to approval by the City Commission and a public hearing before that legislative body.

Ewart said the court order would still stand and that any rezoning would require a change in the city's zoning ordinance structure as well as a study of the rezoning of the Grand Trunk Railroad building, now zoned for manufacturing purposes.

One involves an area covering about 80 acres north of Hartington Hills Subdivision on Pontiac's East Side presently zoned for manufacturing purposes.

The other involves property on the southwest corner of West Huron Street and Franklin Boulevard, now zoned for personal service use.

Meeting last night, planning commissioners voted to recommend that both areas be rezoned for residential use.

Action on the East Side property, which lies immediately east of the Grand Trunk Railroad building, was deferred following a public hearing at last month's meeting.

Machinery and Locks Oiled for April 15

St. Lawrence Seaway Primps for Opening Date

By ALEXANDER FARRELL, Canadian Press Staff Writer—MONTREAL (AP)—Aided by a spell of unseasonably mild weather in mid-March, the St. Lawrence Seaway is getting ready to open its fourth season April 15. As usual, the two big questions are how much grain will move down the Seaway to world markets and how much iron ore will move up it to inland steel-manufacturing plants from Quebec and Labrador.

R. J. Rankin, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, said the economic health of the great inland waterway in 1962 will depend in large part on the answers to these two questions. "Meanwhile, engineers and technicians are busy preparing for the new season. Along the 185-mile waterway between Montreal and Lake Ontario operating machinery and communications facilities are being ing tested, the structural concrete of the canals is being examined, rust wiped away and ice broken up and floated away.

Seaway officials report that the arrival of spring found more open water and less solid ice in the Seaway this year than last.

Little difficulty was therefore anticipated in clearing the route in time for the first vessel. To speed up the dispersal of broken ice, dummy lockages are being staged in the canals. This involves a complete change of the water in a lock from one level to the next, as is done when a ship is passing through.

OPERATING MACHINERY
The gates and underwater machinery are also being operated as the season were already in progress, to make sure that they are functioning properly.

The final step, taken in the days immediately preceding the opening date, is to lay buoys along the navigation route.

The Seaway has so far been unable to reach the traffic goals predicted by economists when it was still under construction but business showed a considerable increase last year and there is general confidence that this will continue to be the case.

Pierre Camu, vice president of the Seaway Authority, predicted that close to 26-million tons of cargo will be carried through the Seaway this year.

In 1961 more than 25-million tons were carried with about 21-million in both 1960 and 1959.

The original estimates called for 25-million tons in the Seaway's first year, rising to 37 million this year and the break-even level of 50 million by 1968. On the end its United States counterpart, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, provides for a review of Seaway tolls not later than July 1, 1964.

At that time the two bodies are to present conclusions drawn from estimates "were based the toll structure and the forecast that the $40-million Seaway could pay for itself in 30 years.

Camu said it is still intended to amortize the cost in the half-century period and an agreement between the Seaway Authority this review to their respective governments.

Shipping observers in Montreal say the 1962 season should see more ocean-going lines using the Seaway and intensified competition among inland ports for this expanding deep-sea commerce.

Montreal has so far, without the impact of the Seaway, remaining a terminal point for many ocean ships and a trans-shipment point in the grain traffic.

In 1961 Montreal had its best cargo season on record — more than 22-million tons were handled — and millions of dollars are currently being spent on port improvements.

Set New Attempt to Land Ranger Capsule on Moon

DETROIT (AP)—Another attempt to land a Ranger space capsule on the moon will be made this month, according to a Ford Motor Co. Aeronautics Division spokesman.

Dr. Donald B. Duncan told a meeting of the Detroit section of the American Rocket Society yesterday that the 10-million shot is designed to land the capsule on the moon and send back basic scientific information.

An earlier attempt this year to land a capsule on the moon was unsuccessful due to a malfunction in the booster system.

The Ranger spacecraft capsule was developed by Ford.

Dates and Apple Freeze in Salad

It's time to start thinking about spring salads. One that will surely hit the spot is "Frozen Date-Apple Salad." Bits of fresh California dates, diced apple, mayonnaise, whipped cream and seasonings are combined and frozen in a refrigerator tray. Slice this salad onto salad greens for a deliciously different treat.

The recipe serves eight so maybe you'll want to make it when you have company. Luscious fresh California dates add a subtly exotic flavor to many salads, desserts and entrees, and they are natural sweeteners for energy-building out-of-hand nibbling.

Frozen Date-Apple Salad
1 1/2 cups fresh California dates
1/4 cup mayonnaise
4 teaspoons prepared mustard
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup whipping cream
2 cups diced apple
Salad greens

Cut dates into small pieces. Combine mayonnaise, mustard, lemon juice, salt and sugar and stir to blend. Whip cream and add into mayonnaise mixture with dates and apple. Pour into refrigerator tray, place in freezing unit and freeze. Slice and serve on salad greens. Makes 8 servings.

Sausages Join Baked Beans in Casseroles

Tender little pork sausages combined with plump, juicy beans makes an appetizing dish to set before the family or a crowd anytime. Here are two simple-to-prepare recipes which gain extra distinction in the way of flavor through the subtle use of herbs.

Skillet Supper
1/2 lb. link sausages
1 lb. can baked beans
1 cup kernal corn
1 lb. can tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon basil
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ginger
Brown sausages in skillet; pour off fat. Add remaining ingredients and simmer together 15 minutes. Serves 4.

Rancher's Bean Pot
2 lb. link sausages, halved
3 onions, chopped
3 tablespoons flour
3 1/2 lb. cans pork and beans
1 1/2 cups tomato sauce
1 1/4 cups water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1 small bay leaf, crushed
1/2 teaspoon basil
Brown sausage in large skillet. Remove from pan; pour off fat, reserving 1/4 cup. Cook onions and flour in reserved fat stirring till flour is brown. Add sausage and remaining ingredients; heat to boiling. Turn into 3-quart casserole or bean pot. Bake uncovered in slow oven (325 degrees) 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Serves 10-12.

Rolls of Cookie Dough Can Be Baked Quickly

Keeping one jump ahead of the cookie-baking isn't nearly so difficult when "mix 'em one day and bake 'em another" is the motto of a busy mother. Refrigerator cookies are particularly easy to stir up ahead and bake off as needed. It is mighty handy to have a roll in the freezer too.

The great variety of refrigerator cookies is a constant source of pleasure for both the homemaker who enjoys baking and the members of her cookie-eating family. Martha Logan, famous home economist, passes along these tips for storing cookies. Crisp cookies should be stored loosely in a covered container. If they absorb moisture from the air, crisp them in a slow oven (300 degrees) about 5 minutes.

To freeze crisp cookies first wrap them in foil or freezer bag pressing out any air in eliminating drying out. To protect the wrapped cookies from being broken, the package may be placed in a box. Frozen cookies require about 15 minutes thawing time before serving.

What wonderful aromas fill the kitchen when crispy Orange Ginger Cookies come from the oven. Walnut Refrigerator Cookies are family favorites that can double for tea party tidbits. The trick is to shape part of the dough into smaller rolls before chilling.

Orange Ginger Refrigerator Cookies
2 sticks (1 cup) margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons corn syrup
2 teaspoons soda
1 tablespoon warm water
3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons ginger
1/4 teaspoon cloves
Shredded peel of 1 large orange

Cream margarine and sugar. Stir in egg and syrup. Dissolve soda in warm water and add. Mix until blended.

Shape the dough into 2 long rolls, 2 inches in diameter. Wrap each roll in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Cut chilled rolls into 1/4 inch slices. Bake on a cookie sheet in a hot oven (400 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen cookies.

Walnut Refrigerator Cookies
2 sticks (1 cup) margarine
2 cups brown sugar, packed
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 eggs
3/4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup finely chopped walnuts

Fresher the Better

When you are scrambling, poaching, trying or soft or hard-cooking eggs, use the freshest possible eggs. You can use Grade B eggs, however, in many cooked dishes that do not feature the egg flavor.

Cream margarine, brown sugar, and vanilla. Add eggs and mix well. Stir together flour, salt, and soda. Add to cream-mixture. Add nuts and mix until well blended.

Shape the dough into 2 long rolls, 2 inches in diameter. Wrap each roll in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Cut chilled rolls into 1/4 inch slices. Bake on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 8 minutes.

Prunes and Wine

Part of a bottle of red wine left over after a company dinner? Stew prunes in it, sweeten to taste. Serve as a dessert. If you like, topped with whipped cream, crushed macaroons and a garnish of candied violets or cherries.

Serve Low Calorie Sweets With Perfect Cup of Tea

It's four o'clock and time for a cup of tea. Tea time is a pleasant time, a relaxing interlude in a busy day.

Whether you're serving tea for two or tea for twenty, it's an agreeable custom to accompany the amber brew with something sweet to eat. . . feather-light pastries, thinly sliced tea breads, crisp dainty cookies. Since tea is an "extra meal," and almost everyone these days is mindful of calories, make sure your "something sweet" is delicately light and low in calories.

Perfect choice would be a tray of calorie-ky, yet delectable, Lemon Tarts, as pictured here. The tingling tartness of the fresh lemon filling has been smoothed to delicate sweetness with a calorie-free sweetener, Sucaryl.

Or consider serving crisp, chewy Coconut Macaroons with your steaming cup of tea.

When a neighbor or friend drops by and joins you for a cozy cup of tea, nothing could taste better with it than the delicately flavored Banana Tea Bread.

MAKING TEA

A few words about the proper brewing of tea. . . If you're an occasional tea drinker, you may have the feeling that tea-making is a difficult ritual that only the British or Chinese have successfully mastered. This simply is not true. It's easy to make a good cup of tea. If a few basic rules are followed.

First, always use a teapot, even with a tea bag, for the teapot keeps the temperature of the water at a high level. Preheat the pot with scalding hot water.

Second, "very hot" water is not hot enough. You must start with cold water and let it come to a furious boil. Pour the still bubbling water immediately over the tea to extract the full flavor from the tea leaves.

Third, use enough tea. . . one tea bag or one teaspoon of tea per cup. If you like weak tea, use the full amount of tea for proper flavor, then weaken with hot water.

Fourth, let the tea brew at least three minutes, no longer than five, by the clock. Don't go by guess or by color.

Lemon Tarts
Pastry for 8-inch pie shell
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup hot water
1 tablespoon Sucaryl solution
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 teaspoon butter

Cut pastry into 10 circles to fit 10 small tart pans. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) about 12 minutes, or until golden brown; cool.

Combine cornstarch, salt and lemon rind. Blend in lemon juice to make a smooth paste. Gradually add hot water; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Stir a small amount of the hot mixture into beaten egg yolk, return to pan and cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat; add butter. Cool and spoon into tart shells.

Makes 10 tarts. Each contains 82 CALORIES; 15 grams protein; 45 grams fat; 9 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 120 CALORIES.

Seafood Tastes Better With Lemon and Tomato

Seafood and tomato sauces have a great affinity for one another, especially when you spunk the sauce with the perky flavor of fresh lemon. Hot Lemon-Tomato Sauce is easily prepared by combining 1 1/2 cup tomato catsup with 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped and 1 tablespoon horseradish.

Serve with pump quarters of California lemon for extra zest. Makes approximately 1 cup sauce.

Lenten Shortcake Base for Seafood

Sail into your next luncheon party with shimmering Shrimp-Scallops. This delectable Lenten entree combines plump scallops with a pretty, pink seafood filling.

If you have a chafing dish with an electric heating unit, alcohol or sautéed beef butter, you might like to cook the Shrimp-Scallops Sauce right at the table. In the chafing dish blazer gently fry the scallops and shrimp over direct heat until the scallops lose their transparency, and the shrimp are bright pink. Then pour on creamy French dressing and let the sauce heat happily over hot water while you split and toast the Caraway Muffins.

Bake the muffins in small ceramic dishes to give them their distinctive shape. You might even like to bake them a day ahead of time to cut down last minute cooking. Just before serving, split the muffins and toast lightly in the oven until piping hot.

Shrimp-Scallops Seafood are

LENTEN SHORTCAKE — Dust off the chafing dish and invite some company for lunch. Prepare a tangy Shrimp-Scallops sauce right at the table. Serve it over rich shortcake flavored with caraway seed. Ideal for Lent and good enough to serve any time.

Yams Served With Dried Beef

Creamed Dried Beef — Southern-style comes by its name rightfully. It's served with browned sweet potatoes. As you travel south, the popularity of sweet potatoes increases.

Dried beef, or chipped beef as it is sometimes called, may be fashioned into many different dishes. For other combinations, you could serve it with macaroni, baked potatoes, curried rice, popovers or toast. Dried beef adds extra protein and appetite satisfaction to scrambled eggs.

According to Reba Staggs, well-known home economist in the meat industry, dried beef comes from a lean beef cut. It is cured, oven-dried to remove the moisture, then sliced under a knife. Serve it for breakfast; serve it for lunch. It's delicious any time.

Creamed Dried Beef — Southern-style
1 jar (4 ounces) dried beef
2 tablespoons lard
1/2 cup flour
2 cups milk
2 1/2 cooked sweet potatoes
1/3 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup brown sugar
Parsley, if desired

Brown dried beef lightly in lard. Add flour and mix well. Add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened. Slice sweet potatoes lengthwise. Add butter, brown sugar or margarine, sprinkle with brown sugar, and place in a hot oven (400 degrees) to brown.

To serve, place creamed dried beef in center of platter and surround with browned sweet potatoes. Garnish with parsley, if desired. 6 servings.

Spicy Mixture Adds to Good Ham Taste

A slice of ham baked and flavored with delightful spices makes a wonderful dinner dish. The secret to this taste treat is the combination of spices which permeate the ham during baking.

Try this spiced baked ham slice the next time you want to make a hit with your family and friends. It's sure to become one of your menu favorites, especially since it's so easy to prepare.

Spiced Baked Ham Slice
1 slice of ham, about 1-inch thick
2 slices whole cloves
1/3 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon allspice

Slash edges of fat on ham slice to prevent curling. Stick whole cloves around the edge of the ham slice. Mix together brown sugar, vinegar, dry mustard, and allspice. Pour mixture over ham slice and bake in 350-degree F. oven for 1 hour. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Yogurt Adds Smooth Touch to Gelatin

NEW YORK (UPI) — This dessert has only 118 calories per serving. Sprinkle 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin over 1/2 cup of orange juice in a saucepan. Place over low heat. Stir until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat. Add 1/4 cup of orange juice and 3 tablespoons of honey.

Chill until liquid is the consistency of an unbeaten egg white. Add 1 cup (8 ounces) of plain yogurt and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Pour into 4 custard cups or individual molds and chill until firm. Serve garnished with orange sections.

Nibbling Fare
Toast 2 cups mixed nuts in slow oven (225 degrees) for 20 minutes. Mix in 1 cup popcorn; drizzle with 1 tablespoon melted butter; sprinkle with mixture of 1/2 teaspoon curry powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt; mix with 1/2 cup 3 cups.

Avocados Hold Crab Chow Mein

East and West get together with flavor results in "Avocado Sempans." And it's a breeze for the cook who sails these nifty "boats" to the table at meal-time. All you need is heat crab meat, vegetable chow mein, soy sauce, and lemon juice; heap the mixture into avocado halves and sprinkle chow mein noodles on top.

It couldn't be simpler to prepare—and it couldn't be more appropriate to serve than during the nation's current celebration of "It's Fish 'n' Seafood Time" (March 7-April 22).

The velvety-smooth, yellowish-green fruit of winter avocados from California blends subtly with countless other foods to enhance everyday menus. It's rich in vitamins and minerals and is especially welcome this time of year when there aren't many other fresh fruits in markets.

Avocado Sempans
1 can (1 lb.) vegetable chow mein
1 can (1 1/2 oz.) crab meat
2 teaspoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3 avocados

Chow mein noodles
Combine chow mein, crab meat, soy sauce and lemon juice in saucepan. Heat through. Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seed. Fill with chow mein mixture. Sprinkle a few noodles on top. Makes 6 servings.

Bake Vegetable Dishes in Oven With the Roast

A delicately textured and full-bodied corn pudding, made with three eggs, milk and cream-style corn, is packed with enough flavor and nourishment to be served as a main dinner dish. A green vegetable, crispy bread, a mild salad and a fruit dessert might complete the mealless menu.

Of course, with hot meats, or cold ham this corn pudding is excellent, too. Try it with Sunday's roast.

Corn Pudding
2 eggs, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons melted butter or corn oil margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 cups (1-pound 1-ounce can) cream-style corn
1/3 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 cup scalded milk
Paprika

Mix all ingredients together except paprika. Pour into greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle paprika over top. If desired, set in pan of hot water and bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until silver knife inserted in center of pudding comes out clean. Makes 6-8 servings.

Baked Carrots and Onion Rings
1/4 cup margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
6 medium size carrots
1 medium size onion
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Melt margarine; stir in lemon juice, salt and sugar. Peel or scrape carrots and cut lengthwise into thin strips of suitable size for baking dish and serving. Peel onion and cut into thin slices. Arrange carrots and onions in layers in baking dish with cover, pouring some margarine mixture over each layer. Add water; cover. Bake in 375 degrees F. (moderate) oven until carrots are tender, 45 to 55 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley.

Kraut and Wieners but Oh So Good

It's fun to serve frankfurters to friends when the meat is accompanied by sauerkraut cooked in red wine so that it is as savory as a relish.

Sauerkraut Flus
1 pint blut sauerkraut (1 pound)
1/4 cup dry red wine
2 teaspoons dried onion particles
2 to 4 tablespoons light brown sugar

1/3 cup raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)

Turn undrained sauerkraut into 10-inch skillet. Add the wine, onion, brown sugar and raisins; mix well. Simmer about 1 hour, adding more wine (or water) if necessary; flavors develop during the simmering. The sauerkraut may be cooked the day before using, if you like, and reheated. Makes 1 serving.

Canned Tomatoes Appear on Grocers' Shelves in Many Useful Forms

Everyone recognizes a tomato. But not everyone is agreed as to whether it's a fruit or vegetable.

And once the tomato has been processed—and comes out in the form of sauce, paste, puree etc.—many cooks are thoroughly confused.

During Tomato-Rama, the festival of west coast tomato growers, there is a nation-wide sale of tomato products. Here is a glossary of tomato products to let you know what to use and when to use it.

TOMATO SAUCE is the most popular canned tomato product. Used by almost 50 per cent of the nation's families, sauce contains salt and spices for seasoning.

Tomato sauce, which adapts to all types of meat and vegetables, is used exclusively for cooking. The number of main dishes that sauce are endless—stews, casseroles, roasts, skillet dinner, barbecue sauces, aspics, and so on.

TOMATO PASTE is the most concentrated tomato product produced and has only salt added. It is useful in dishes where a tomato flavor, but no additional liquid, desired.

It originated as an Italian flavoring and even now is used principally in Italian recipes which call for a concentrated, pure tomato flavor. Most authentic recipes for spaghetti, ravioli and pizza specify tomato paste.

TOMATO PUREE is a form of side dish or as a cooking ingredient in all types of Spanish and Italian dishes, as well as stews, soups, casseroles and curries.

SOLID PACK TOMATOES are tomatoes packed solidly in a can with no juice added. They can be served hot or chilled and are also found in Philadelphia or Manhattan clam chowder, minestrone or many bean soups.

ITALIAN TOMATOES were introduced in this country 40 years ago. They are pear-shaped, bland and are more meaty than the regular tomato.

The Italian tomato is used almost exclusively in the preparation of Italian dishes and usually spices or meat gravies are used for flavor.

CATSUP, prepared from the pulp and juice of white red, ripe tomatoes, is strained and then concentrated through cooking and seasoned with salt, vinegar, sugar and various spices.

Found on the shelves of 90 per cent of American homes, catsup is used primarily as a pour-on table condiment.

CHILI SAUCE, another popular condiment, is spicier and has more coarse consistency than catsup. The vegetables used in chili sauce—onions, peppers and celery—are either fresh or dehydrated.

Chili sauce is frequently used as a base for barbecue sauce, in cocktail dips and in Russian dressing.

And to settle the age old controversy—the tomato is actually a fruit, but is classed as vegetable because it is generally used as one.

Why Serve Plain Rice? Add Surprises

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

Add a surprise when you serve rice as an accompaniment to poultry, meat, fish or eggs. And not just for company! When you surprise a family with an imaginative variation of a familiar dish, a pleasant feeling of warmth and appreciation usually makes itself felt around the table.

Here are ways we use from time to time to add interest to plain steamed rice. You know your own family! Choose the combination you know they'll welcome.

1. Add curry powder (to suit your family's taste and according to the strength of the powder) to the cooked rice along with the usual amount of butter. Mix lightly but thoroughly with a fork so as not to mash the rice.

2. Rinse currants in hot water and drain well. (We empty a package of currants into a jar and keep them in the refrigerator to have on hand.) Dice drained canned pimiento. Mix the currants and pimiento with the cooked rice and mix well.

3. Another similar fine combination: treat golden raisins to a hot water rinse and add them to cooked rice with butter-toasted pecans.

4. Are scallions—or maybe you call them green or spring onions—in your market? Cut the scallions crosswise in this standard piece, using most of the green tops. Cook the onions lightly.

Rice Pilaf Will Bake While You Fix Dinner

NEW YORK (UPI)—For a buffet supper, serve vegetable rice pilaf. Brown 1 cup of raw rice in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Place in casserole and mix with 2 cups of boiling consommé. Add ½ teaspoon of seasoned salt, cover and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Remove from oven and with fork add 6 tablespoons each of finely chopped celery, carrots, parsley, ½ cup of finely chopped green onions, ½ cup of silvered blanched almonds and ¼ cup of consommé. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for another 30 minutes. Serves 6.

ly in butter in a skillet and add to cooked rice.

5. Chopped chives make another savory addition to plain rice and nowadays they come frozen in neat little containers.

6. Flaked coconut makes another interesting addition to buttered rice. This combination is excellent with creamed ham or hard-cooked eggs.

7. Ever silver or dice preserved or candied ginger and add to cooked buttered rice? If the ginger is syrup-preserved, it needs only to be drained before adding. If it's candied, wash off the sugar in hot water, then dice or silver before adding. The ginger along with coconut makes a delightful combination to add to the rice when it's being served with a curried dish.

8. Grated carrot makes a bright addition to rice. Use the end bone of a leg of lamb as a "handle" when you carve the meat, wrapping a napkin or a small tea towel around it.

Taking Gift Friendly Thing to Do

By The Emily Post Institute

Q. My fiancé and I have been invited to a young married couple's new apartment. This will be our first visit since their marriage. My fiancé thinks we should take a small present for their new house.

He says it is customary to do this when going to a new house or apartment for the first time. I don't think it is at all necessary. Will you please settle this for us?

A: Taking a gift for the new house is not at all obligatory, but it is a friendly gesture and one which many follow.

Q: I have just divorced my husband after ten years of marriage. This is not generally known. Rather than have to go through the ordeal of telling people personally, I thought it would be simplest and easier on me to send printed announcements to friends and relatives notifying them of my divorce. Would the following announcement be in order?

Mary Brown Smith announces that on March 1st she was granted a divorce from Richard W. Smith by Judge Jones.

A: I can hardly imagine anything more shocking! Please don't do it.

Split-Level Styles Offer Variety

smart new pattern plan for spring — the "split level," described below.

In a split second any teenager will tell you split-level fashions give the most variety.

For instance, consider the two skirts, jacket and blouse pictured left and right in Anne Adams printed pattern 632. Four different outfits can be made if fabrics are selected according to the pattern's plan.

COMPLEMENT COLORS

Here's how the plan works: first, find a color, then choose its complements — a shade lighter, a print brighter for happy harmony.

To give a suit look to separates, both the slim skirt and jacket shown here were made in lime-green textured rayon. The pleated skirt is a deeper tone of green, the overblouse a sparkling print in tones of green, turquoise and white.

Wear the jacket with the flared skirt for a new silhouette and color combination. Team the slim skirt and overblouse to ring in another bright variation.

Printed pattern 433 comes in Teen Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16. Thirty-five cents in coin for each pattern. (Add 10 cents for each pattern for first-class mailing.) Send to Anne Adams, care of The Pontiac Press, Pattern Department,

Abby Says: Too Possessive

Forewarned Is Forearmed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and am engaged to a very jealous boy. He insists on seeing me every night. When I come home from work I have my washing and ironing to do, and I like to go to a movie with a girl friend once in a while.

ABBY

He allows me to have one night away from him every two weeks. And then he gives me the third degree about what I did and who I saw.

I think I am entitled to one evening a week away from him. He says because we are engaged he is entitled to all my time. Is he right?

DEAR OWNED: If this is a preview of how you two are going to get along after marriage, I suggest a LONG courtship. He is far too possessive, and you are justifiably resentful. A jealous husband makes a miserable husband. Forewarned is forearmed.

DEAR ABBY: Can you settle an argument that has been going on for 15 years? Should an anniversary be celebrated when one mate is dead? Or should you still go on sending gifts and cards to the one who is living? I say, what difference does it make? If one person is still living and able to say, "Today is my anniversary," then that person still has an anniversary.

Life Is Romance With Danger for the Angel of Hell's Kitchen

By GAILE DUGAS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. N. Y. — She is a little blonde, just 5 feet tall and weighing less than a hundred pounds. When she took the job, they neglected to tell her that she got it because a vacancy had been created in an unusual way. The man who held the job before her had been murdered. On the job.

Today, she bears the scars of the years she spent as "The Angel of Hell's Kitchen." Her legs are criss-crossed by ugly marks from the night when she was flung down two flights of tenement stairs and beaten brutally by a madman.

Her hands bear the marks of a teen-ager's knife, honed razor sharp. Her face is scarred from a beating administered by two hoods.

Her name is Bernice Offenber. For 10 years, she has been an investigator in the worst slums of New York: first the area known as Hell's Kitchen, then Harlem, San Juan Hill and the Bowery. At the beginning, she was known as that "dame from welfare."

But it was Father William A. Scully, now Bishop Scully

of Albany, who first called her "The Angel of Hell's Kitchen." And this is the title by which she has become a living American legend.

"If I had the choice," she told this interviewer, "I'd never do it over again. Those years drained me both emotionally and physically. But what do you know, at 219 And I do have the generous satisfaction of knowing that I really was able to help people.

Indeed, she did reach out to a helping hand to those who could not help themselves. A young woman today owes her eyesight to Bernice Offenber.

A man has been cleared of a murder charge and 12 years of unjust imprisonment because of Bernice Offenber's efforts. A kidnapped child was traced and returned to his mother after years of absence.

"Of course," she explains, "there were some clients with whom I could do nothing. There was the woman who was practicing an art she learned in Malaysia as a child — head shrinking. Literally.

Her apartment was full of crates containing the shrunken heads of animals. And she seemed to feel slightly apologetic because she had only animals to work on!"

During World War II, Bernice Offenber made a routine call to a house in the German section of New York known as Yonville. And thus found herself involved in a nightmare of espionage, a story told partially in the motion picture "The House on 92nd Street."

"It was an old brownstone house," she says. "I went there to investigate a complaint about heat. There were two men and a woman in the apartment. They had no idea of who I was. I both spoke and understood German. While I was there, I heard a strange clicking from the next room. Angry, the woman said in German: 'Tell that fool to stop.'"

It was enough to tell Bernice Offenber that something here was very wrong and that quite probably, she was listening to the clicking of a short-wave transmitter.

When she filed her report on the matter, her superior turned it over to the FBI. And that was how she found herself working for the FBI.

A special agent instructed her to call regularly at the house each week and find out whatever she could.

On the pretext of finding a job for one of the men, she was able to extract the names of other Germans involved in the espionage ring. And these names led to still others.

Exactly 11 months later, she picked up a tabloid one night and found that the FBI had raided the strange house (actually on East 84th Street) and rounded up the spy ring.

Today, Bernice Offenber lives quietly in an apartment on lower Park Avenue. She has memories, both warm and bitter, that few women could match.

She has told her story in the recently published book "The Angel of Hell's Kitchen." She does not know what may be coming next.

But one thing is certain: a woman of her really remarkable courage faces the future with complete confidence.

Boyes, Homestead Drive, Waterford; Mrs. Thomas Marcero and Mrs. Frederick R. Felix, both of Dill Road, Drayton Plains; and Mrs. Jack A. Miesel, Highfield Street, Drayton Plains.

Auxiliary Sets Parley for District

Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary launched preparations Wednesday evening for the forthcoming district meeting. The group gathered in the Clarkson home of Mrs. James Huttenlocher. Mrs. William Kennedy and Mrs. Ray Harris assisted the hostess.

The group will serve as hostesses for the April 30 district meeting in the club rooms of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland.

A slate of officers to be voted on May 2 at Rotunda Inn was presented by the nominating committee.

Canned goods were brought to fill an Easter food basket for a needy area family.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Cramer Partridge and Mrs. John Salow.

Teen-Agers Pick 'West Side Story' for Oscar

BY EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

You've done it again—maybe! Last year, at Academy Award time, you teen-agers scored impressively in picking the top Oscar winners.

Now, while the experts and pros are making final choices before the big night (April 9), your vote is already in.

No single actor, actress or movie got as many as half the votes in our national survey of over 1,000 young people. But that's to be expected. The thing that counts, of course, is who or what draws the most votes in each category.

More than 45 per cent of you are convinced that the Oscar for the best motion picture of 1961 will be awarded to "West Side Story," a movie that impressed many of you as it did Joan Brandzel, 16, of Chicago, who said: "Everything about it is so great. The story touches on a current problem, the music is so powerful, the dancing so great."

"Guns of Navarone" was runner-up.

The next largest vote was in the best actor category in which Paul Newman was picked by more than 43 per cent for his performance as the pool hall sharpie in "The Hustler."

AUDREY HEPBURN TOPS

"He gave a very vivid portrayal of the hustler," commented Neal Reilly, 17, of Everett, Wash. Spencer Tracy scored 27 per cent for his work in "Judgment at Nuremberg."

Audrey Hepburn topped the list in the best actress voting, with nearly 35 per cent naming her for her role as Holly Golightly in "Breakfast at Tiffany's." But Natalie Wood was close behind with 25 per cent of the vote and Sophia Loren with 23 per cent. Miss Wood was chosen for her performance in "Splendor in the Grass," and Miss Loren for "Two Women."

There's a fairly close spread between George Chakiris and Jackie Gleason who topped the list for best supporting actor.

Chakiris got 30 per cent for his work in "West Side Story," mostly on the strength of heavy voting by the girls. Gleason, who played the role of "Minneapolis Fats" in "The Hustler," got the votes of the boys. Judy Garland also has a warm spot among the boys. They gave her nearly 25 per cent and was a heavy favorite among the boys, who went for him by a big 46 per cent. Judy Garland also has a warm spot among the boys. 'Trapped Husband' Is Next Tale of Woe

By RUTH MILLET
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Now that the magazines aimed at women have succeeded in selling "togetherness" to the American family, it looks as though they are about ready to discover their brainchild.

"Why Young Husbands Feel Trapped" is the title of a recent magazine article that is almost sure to be the first of many such "Poor Papa" lament.

The young husband feels trapped, according to this article, because too much is expected of him. He's got to earn a living and worry about money (as men have always had to do) but he also has to be a pal to his kids, a companion and helper to his wife, a conscientious citizen, a suburban yard and handy man, a good host, an appreciative husband — and so on and so on.

PLAYS END LEAD
In short — though the article doesn't come right out and say so — the young American husband feels trapped because he is so busy playing the second lead role in the feminine ideal of togetherness he hasn't any time to be a man.

No Dark Secret

(NEA) — Brunettes should be particularly careful about the hair style they choose. Because of its bold darkness, their hair will attract the eye immediately and should be expertly styled at all times.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I always have many letters asking about reducing the thighs, but recently I have been deluged with them. No doubt these letters are prompted by wishes to be ready for spring, and the time for swim suits and revealing short shorts.

Many women discuss the hollow or dip in the center of the outside thighline. Sometimes this is partially due to structure—heavy muscles. However, much more often it comes from muscle slump, and an accumulation of fatty deposits.

In order to remedy this figure fault, you must take a slither in the slump and score the fat away with extra activity. This means special exercises.

First, stand tall with your arms hanging at your sides and the palms of your hands touching your thighs. Contract the muscles of your thighs and hips.

You will notice that the bulges at the thighs lessen. Hold the contraction while you count to 10 slowly. Relax and repeat 10 times.

RAISE ARMS

This is another good exercise. Stand tall. Raise your arms sideways to shoulder-height position. Keep the arms in this position as you raise your right leg sideways upward, bringing the leg as close to the arm as you can. Lower leg. Continue. After a while, raise your left leg sideways upward, then lower leg and continue. Knees are stiff throughout this exercise.

Another, lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending out from your sides, palms toward the floor. Raise your right leg forward upward. Circle outward. Continue making circles with your leg.

Keep the knee stiff and make the circles as large and perfect as you can comfortably. After about 10 circles do the same thing with your left leg.

If you would like to have my exercises for slimming the hips, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Let's Not Jump to Conclusions

No Carpeting in $10,000 Guard Booth

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—That old saw about wisdom flowing from the mouths of babes has been largely discredited, but once in a while an exception turns up.

I place in the exceptional category a note I received from a young woman, castigating me for something I had written.

"If I were you," she said, "I wouldn't be so hasty in making rash judgments."

That certainly is sound advice and hereafter I intend to make rash judgments only after long and careful deliberation.

NEW GUARD BOOTHS

As a matter of fact, I would recommend the same policy to members of Congress, some of whom seem to exceed the speed limit in their rush to rashness.

A case in point is the statement that Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-N.Y., issued upon learning that a House-passed appropriation bill provided almost $100,000 to build 13 new guard booths at the White House.

"What sort of luxurious frills could they possibly put into these tiny cubicles which would cost an average of $10,000 per booth?" Becker asked. "That's more than some people spend for a whole house."

He promptly marked it down as a matter of "bureaucratic squandering" and let it rest there.

I wouldn't call this a rash judgment on his part because that might be a rash judgment on my part. I only say that if he had been less hasty, he could have obtained a more complete answer.

Acting on the advice of my teen-age critic, I spent some time making a few discreet inquiries and learned that the new guard booths will not be as frilly as their cost might indicate.

NO LACE CURTAINS

They will not, for instance, have lace curtains, wall-to-wall carpeting and sunken bathtubs. The frills apparently will be more utilitarian than luxurious.

Part of the expense will stem from making the booths bulletproof. The guards may find that a luxury if someone starts shooting at them, but otherwise it will add little to their comfort.

The cost of the buildings themselves will range from $900 to $10,000 for the main guard house, which will be a split level with the bottom half under ground.

The rest of the money will be spent mainly for communications and related facilities designed to make the White House more secure. In other words, the basic purpose is to thwart anyone who tries to do something rash.

Scraping, Scrubbing, Boiling After Tide

Resort Making Valiant Effort to Clean Up

SEA ISLE CITY, N.J. (AP)—"We like it down here," says Dan Salerno, hard at work rebuilding the foundation of his storm-tossed summer home.

Salerno's home now sits 10 yards from its foundation. It was carried away by tides. But Salerno is wasting no time getting things right again.

He typifies the spirit here in the wake of last month's coastal storm that devastated much of this resort town and other areas along the New Jersey Atlantic Coast.

In two days the tides and winds caused damage estimated at $7.7 million to private property in Sea Isle City, destroying more than a tenth of all that was taxable.

HAVOC EVERYWHERE

The town, with 1,400 permanent residents, has made a valiant recovery from the worst blow in its history, but signs of the havoc are still seen everywhere.

Of 2,040 houses, 285 were destroyed or swept away, and about 45 more will have to be demolished. The storm left three feet of sand on Landis Avenue, the main street, and six or eight feet of debris on top of that.

Now, one month later, there is still some sand in the streets, but most of it has been cleared away by the State Highway Department. What remains is expected, to be cleared by April 13.

Big trucks carrying debris on the beachfront, gathering it to one side of town, where it is being burned. A column of smoke can be seen for miles.

All utilities are operating again, although water still is being boiled as a precautionary measure. The State Health Department is expected to approve the water supply in the next few days, city officials said Tuesday.

Other homeowners, like Salerno, are repairing and rebuilding where it is possible.

RAZE 30 HOMES

"We've already wrecked 30 houses, that were beyond repair, with the owners' permission," Mayor Vincent Lamanna said. "We'll probably ask the public health authorities to condemn the others that need to be wrecked."

We hope to have the beach cleared up by Memorial Day."

Memorial Day, the beginning of the summer resort season, is the goal in the minds of almost everybody. The mayor predicts the biggest season ever, although summer housing will be short.

"Many people will be coming here this season out of curiosity, if for no other reason," he said.

All rebuilding on the beachfront has been suspended by the city since the storm. The city hasn't been notified yet by the state authorities where the new line of permanent dunes for protection will be built. It may swallow up many of the lots that were close to the sea.

AP Photo

BETTING ON THE WEATHER—Dan Salerno is building a new foundation for his summer home. The house is setting across the street, about a hundred yards away in the right background. It was carried there early last month by tides accompanying a storm that hit Sea Isle City, N.J., and other coastal areas. "I don't think we'll get a storm that bad in another hundred years," Salerno says.

Head of Grain Thieves In Russia Gets Death

MOSCOW (AP)—The Supreme Court of the Russian republic has sentenced the head of a grain stealing ring to death before a firing squad, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Wednesday.

Tass identified the condemned man as M. I. Maly, an official of a grain elevating station in the city of Rybinsk. It said a search of Maly's home after his arrest uncovered more than 100,000 rubles in cash and other valuables.

The report said the ring included officials of the grain receiving station who cheated collective farms and state farms by false weights. The other members of the ring were given long prison sentences, Tass said.

To Install Rail Signals

LANDING (AP)—The State Highway Department will spend $67,805 in the next several months for installation of railroad crossing signals on highways in Delta, Ontonagon and Monroe Counties. The State Administrative Board approved contracts by four railroads to install new flasher signals at crossings in the counties.

Manitoba has a desert where only cactus and lizards thrive. It is the ancient delta of a stream from the Rockies that emptied into glacial Lake Agassiz.

Halts Forced Gifts to Promotion Fund

DETROIT (AP)—A union was ordered by the National Labor Relations Board to quit requiring an employer to contribute to an industry promotional fund.

The NLRB handed down the decision against Resilient Floor Decorators Local 2265 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Mill Floor Covering, Inc., of Detroit accepted such a clause in a contract with the union but under protest. It made a case before the NLRB.

The NLRB held that the union could not require the clause in its contract with Mill Floor Covering even though it has such a clause with an employers' group. Mill Floor Covering is not a member of the group.

Probing Alleged Voting Machine Malfunction in UP

LANDING (AP)—With election complaints in Munising squared away, Lawrence Carroll, assistant state elections director, moved on to Sault Ste. Marie and a tougher problem today.

Complaints of voting machine malfunctions in the two cities were filed after a special election Monday in which Kent T. Landgren, R-Munising, defeated Francis M. Brown Jr. of St. Ignace by 151 votes, 15,081 to 13,915. They were competing for the state seat vacated by the death of Democrat William E. Miron of Escanaba.

Complaints by several Munising Democrats that they could not vote the Democratic ticket apparently were unfounded, said Carroll. Some 251 ballots were recorded on the machine, with seven registrations director Robert Montgomery, tiring no vote on the Senate candidates. It is not unusual, Montgomery said, for a percentage that size to vote on local questions only and to bypass state offices.

Wisconsin Proud of New Law Requiring Car Seat Belts

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A woman drove the family car along a city street, it veered slightly, a wheel struck the curb and a door swung open. She bounced helplessly to the concrete. Cause of death: fractured skull.

On a country road, a Wisconsin traffic patrol squad car arrested a fugitive at speeds close to 100 miles an hour. Another car blundered out of a side road, the patrol car slanted off the road, struck a utility pole, spun through a field and back onto the highway, upside down and a total wreck.

But the patrolman inside crawled out, finished his tour of duty in another car.

Those are two moments when life and death were very close together. Only a seat belt separated them. The woman had none and died. The officer was belted in and lived.

IST STATE TO INSIST

That summarizes the record of the past six months, since Wisconsin became the first of the 50 states to require seat belts in new automobiles.

"I am proud to have signed the bill into law," Gov. Gaylord Nelson says simply. "It can save many hundreds of lives in the coming years and prevent thousands of serious injuries."

Since the act requires belt installation only in new cars, it has given authorities an effective—if grim-fisted test of the safety factor worked out previously in limited surveys.

The state has 1,338,576 passenger cars registered. Some 70,000 1962 models have been sold since the law went into effect last October. During the six months ended April 1, 376 persons have died in Wisconsin traffic accidents.

ONLY I HAD BELT

But with five per cent of the state's passenger automobiles equipped with seat belts, only one of the 376 accident victims during the period, according to State Motor Vehicle Department files, was wearing a seat belt.

The record is not complete enough to draw any extravagant conclusions. The accident report form still in use by state, county and local traffic officers does not provide space for reporting whether a car is equipped with belts and whether they were in use.

But after passage of the law, various newspaper and radio groups—including the Wisconsin Associated Press Radio-TV Association and the Wisconsin Associated Press Association, an organization of AP-member newspaper editors—undertook a campaign to include such information in news stories of fatal accidents.

The motor vehicle department was flooded, in the first days of the law, with complaints from new car customers: "Hardly any passenger cars were equipped with the safety belts before last October, and few dealers had any experience with installations. Prices ranged up to $40 for the required pairs of belts in the front seat."

NOW UNDER $30

But the combination of competition and increasing demands have changed that. Most belts still are dealer-installed but the going price for utility belts of approved style now probably is under $20 for two pairs. Garages and filling station operators are doing an increasing business with owners of older cars at still lower prices, and a metropolitan supermarket chain recently procured a rush of business by offering seat belts at $4.95 a pair.

There even is a beginning design of safety webbing usually made for the shoulder harness worn by race car drivers.

I hear there's something buzzing between Speedway and Marathon

Pontiac Schools Slated to Hold Annual Book Fair

Pontiac public schools aided by PTAs will hold the annual book fair next Tuesday through Thursday at Pontiac Northern High School Library, 1051 Ariene St.

It is Pontiac schools' contribution to the observance of National Book Week, April 5-14, and its theme, "Read and Watch Your World Grow."

The fair will be open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday. A total of 2,000 books will be shown.

The event is to provide an opportunity to evaluate and examine new reading materials in terms of interest, ability, cultural development and relationship to the school curriculum.

A highlight will be the presentation of a film showing University of Michigan librarian and story teller Mary Ann Stevenson narrating two ghost stories to 16-year-olds. Mrs. William J. Dawson of 72 Mark Ave., also a story teller, will answer questions. The exhibits will be augmented by displays of students' art work, creative writing and projects related to the books.

Parent Teacher Associations of the various schools are helping transport students to the fair.

250 Europeans Fly Out of Oran

French Air Force Takes Charge of Flights to Prevent OAS Action

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Some 250 Europeans boarded planes for France last night as armed French troops stood guard to counter secret army efforts to prevent an exodus.

The French air force took over administration of civilian flights to France to break the grip of secret army agents trying to keep Algeria's European population from dwindling.

The terrorist underground had threatened retaliation to those who left without its "vins" and before the air force stopped in most planes left with empty seats.

For the past two days, big crowds of passengers have gathered at Oran airport shortly after dawn and waited until early evening for planes.

HANDLED PASSENGERS

The air force checked in their baggage and gave out boarding tickets on a first come, first served basis. Tickets were paid on arrival in France. Regular civilian crews flew the French airline planes.

The airport terminal building was closed and passengers waited in a hangar. Many stood up most of the day in the dusty hangar, others sat on the ground. Some brought along picnic lunches. For the others the air force sold sandwiches and bottled drinks.

Few people would talk about their reasons for leaving Oran. Some travelers were businessmen on routine trips.

But many were families obviously anxious to escape from the terrorist-plagued city, where the secret army is making one of its strongest fights to sabotage the Algerian cease fire.

"We want to go anywhere, just to get out," one family said.

Five planes left yesterday for Marseille, Toulouse and Paris. Officials said an equal number were expected to leave today and possibly tomorrow.

There was no sign of overt secret army efforts to prevent people from leaving. But unidentified European men circulated in the crowd and took down names of some people leaving.

40 and 8 Chieftain Dies

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Clifton L. Baker, 67, national commander of the 40 and 8 Club, a veterans' organization, died Tuesday of a heart attack. Baker, an employee of the Treasury Department of New Jersey for 27 years, was born in Cartersville, Ill.

Indian May Undergo Brain Surgery Soon

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's President Rajendra Prasad, 77, may enter New York's Memorial Hospital for brain surgery some time after he lays down his office May 13.

However, the spokesman said yesterday, "there are no immediate plans" for him to go to the United States for treatment.

Prasad sustained a head injury in 1937 when police struck him with an iron-tipped baton. He was then a participant in Mohandas K. Gandhi's nonviolent civil disobedience movement against British rule.

Khrushchev Can't Keep Up With Kennedy Klan

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, smiling the beginning of the spring thaw in Moscow, took pen in hand to write to John F. Kennedy.

"Dear Mr. President: Spring is in the air. We are as ready as you to forget the Cold War. If you will just be so kind as to stop taking unfair advantage, I am a poor orphan boy, without brothers and sisters to send on goodwill missions abroad. I got no Bobby and Ethel, no Shrivvers and Smiths, not even a Teddy."

"I got a wife, yes, and she speaks foreign languages like your Jackie, but she does not look so good. Nina is a fine woman, handy at paddling her own canoe and minding her own business, but she does not photograph well on a horse."

"When I went to the Orient I did it on my own. I did not send out relays of family shock troops. If you will call off your Kennedy legions, who are undying all my carefully laid plans in the Far East, I will permit Gromyko (Gromy-ko) to attend another disarmament conference with your Rusk (Rusk) some day. Rusk is a nickname for us Russians. Ha ha. Very truly yours, Premier Khrushchev."

JFK, sensing that the wily Kremlin boss would not have been so upset, if his Kennedy kinfolks had not done a superlative job in countering Communist propaganda, hastened to reply in kind.

HOW KIND OF YOU

"Dear Mr. Premier: It is kind of you to speak so movingly of my wife's beauty and horseanship. Dick Nixon has told me of your lovely Dasha on the river, and it is nice to know that you have the workers' paradise instead of us.

"It is true that I have many wonderful brothers and sisters; but you forget, sir, that while I was just a junior senator from Massachusetts, you were tramping around America with not only your charming wife, but two daughters, a son and son-in-law in tow. This was not exactly hiding your real light under a bushel."

"You forget, too, that your son-in-law Alexei Adzhubei makes frequent forays to America, and was even granted a private interview by me for that Trevelia thing you laughingly call a 'news' paper. You will surely agree that this even the score. Shall we therefore call off the Cold War? Sincerely, JFK."

Khrushchev, reading the message, realized that he had committed a tactical error. He had momentarily forgotten about that lily-fisted son-in-law, Adzhubei, who was always bustling hither and yon, making like a bigtime newspaperman with his little party chores. The best way to recover the offensive was to attack, so he wrote:

"Dear Kennedy: You have a nerve to compare my son-in-law with your brothers and sisters. In the first place, Alexei is no blood relation. Furthermore, the only time he opens his mouth in public in America is when your newsmen and editors corner him and make him answer questions."

"But that Bobby! Yak yak yakking all over the Orient. Talking back to hecklers (Excuse please, I mean fine, up and it is nice to know that you have the workers' paradise instead of us.

3 FINE KIDS

"I got three fine kids that I brought to America, but does anybody hear a peep out of my Julia Nikitichna, or my Rada Adzhubei, or even my boy, Sergei? Not yet, but unless you call off your Jackie and Bobby and Ethel and Eunice and Sarge and Steve and Jean and Teddy, I will unleash Rada, Sergei and Julia on the goodwill circuit, too. This I know you would not want to have happen to a dog. Signed, Nikita K."

The final two exchanges were brief and to the point. JFK replied:

"Dear Khrushchev: Go ahead, and I will send 4-year-old Caroline on our next goodwill mission."

By cable came the beseeching response: "Dear Comrade Jack: Go ahead with Jackie, Bobby and all. Sergei, Alexei, Nina, Rada and Julia safely locked in their rooms. Anything but Caroline."

Shoeshine Boy, 65, Awarded Pension

NEW YORK AP) — Back in 1927, young Vincent Tronolone began dropping in at the offices of the American Cyanamid Co. at 535 Fifth Ave. to shine the shoes of employees.

As the years passed, Tronolone built up an extensive clientele ranging from president of the corporation to office boy, all of whom called him "Jimmy." He was never on the company payroll, but by many in the firm he seemed a member of the official family.

When the company moved its offices to 30 Rockefeller Plaza, Tronolone moved with it. Daily he made his rounds through the extensive offices caring for his customers, shining an average of more than 30 pairs of shoes a day, five days a week.

Some months ago, Tronolone was told the company was moving its offices to Wayne, N.J. Now 65, he decided the journey between his home in West New York, N.J., and the company's new headquarters would be too arduous.

VOTED A PENSION

On the other hand, the prospect of building up a new clientele at his age discouraged him.

Reports from villages in West Java say that 10 per cent of the population in some areas have been infected with the disease. The University of Indonesia will be closed for 10 days while students man health centers here. Medical students will vaccinate the people at the centers.

Total vehicle traffic was down 0.2 per cent but truck traffic was up 2.5 per cent. Traffic for the first three months of this year was down 3.1 per cent as compared to the first quarter of last year but revenues were up 1.7 per cent with an increase in truck traffic. The revenue was $380,854 for the first three months of this year.

Gus Has Reason to Be Glad

Dog (Post)man's Best Friend

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—If you don't think dogs' best friend is the postman, just ask a dog named Gus.

Through sleet and snow, rain or shine, Gus trotted faithfully beside the postmen on Route 1424 in Ingois Park. Nothing stopped the mail—or Gus.

For 12 months, each morning when the doors of the Ingois branch post office were opened, there was Gus waiting. He never missed a day. Who he was or where he came from, nobody ever learned.

Sometimes Gus would hop aboard the parcel delivery truck. Sometimes he checked on things around the office. But most of the time he preferred to trudge faithfully beside his pals who carried the mail from house to house.

Recently he found a girlfriend named Suzy. But duty was stronger than love, so Suzy had to tag along the route to be with Gus. Last Tuesday troubles caught up with Gus. Mistaking a dog pound truck for a post office parcel truck, Gus crossed the street to say hello.

Instead, without a license around his neck, Gus fell into the hands of the law and quickly was hauled off to the pound.

But not for long. His friends back at the post office saw to that. While girlfriend Suzy took Gus' place on the route, his postmen friends started a "save Gus fund drive."

Three postmen showed up at the pound Wednesday with $9.03. That was 47 cents short of Gus' bail but they dug up the remainder among themselves.

Gus is fine now but his postmen friends have decided it's time he retired from the route. From now on he will be living with Willard Carpenter behind a wire fence and with a brand new dog license. "But it won't be the same out

Japan's Cool Miners Strike After Talks Fail

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's 100,000 coal miners struck for an indefinite period today after failing to reach agreement with management on pay increases and better job security.

long negotiations, was one of a series of strikes called by the Union Council (Sohyo) in its spring labor offensive.

The miners are demanding increased job security and a $15.99 monthly pay raise.

Drastic Action Begets Reaction From Trustees

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Township trustees got the message when Gene Geary got fed up with dust on unpaved Topaz Avenue. He placed barricades across the street to halt traffic.

When sheriff's deputies arrived, Geary asserted that the trustees promised to pave the street but never got around to it. The deputies asked him to check again.

The barricades came down. A zoologist studying sheep has found that a ewe seems to establish her offspring's identity within four hours after its birth.

Wants Letter Back

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Lillian Marion Simmons recalls a small boy who returned some overdue books, with his past due notice and his fine in the other hand. After he'd paid the fine, he asked: "Please, can I have the letter back? It's only the second one I ever got."

City Postmaster at Session on Federal Groups

Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson last night joined 80 other postmasters in a Cincinnati "classroom" session to learn about a presidential order officially recognizing organizations of federal employees.

Asst. Postmaster General Frederick G. Belen told postmasters from major cities in Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia that the department was taking vigorous steps to put the order in effect by July 1.

Belen outlined three major categories of federal employee recognition:

- (1)—Informal recognition available to groups regardless of number, giving the right to be heard by management, but not requiring management to seek their views.
- (2)—Formal recognition for groups with at least 10 per cent representation, where no exclusive recognition is granted.
- (3)—Exclusive recognition for groups with over 50 per cent representation.

Close consultation is expected with the latter two groups, the postmasters were told. No type of recognition will permit salary negotiation or the right to strike.

Your Income Tax—No. 4

Check Deductions Against $1,000

By FRANK CORNER,
AP Staff Writer

At least 10 per cent of your 1961 income automatically is beyond the reach of the federal tax collector if you earned $10,000 or less.

Every taxpayer can claim a standard 10 per cent deduction to cover such items as contributions to charities, the payment of interest on debt, medical expenses, state and local taxes, etc. You can take the deduction even if you didn't spend a nickel on any of these items.

Many taxpayers actually may claim much more than 10 per cent by itemizing actual expenses eligible for deduction.

Figure your total deduction both ways and adopt the computation that gives you the largest dollar amount.

While there are certain dollar limits on itemized deductions, these are quite generous.

The standard deduction, on the other hand, is limited to $1,000 if you are single or file a joint return. If husband and wife file separate returns, the standard limit for each is $500.

The standard deduction is 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, within the stated dollar limits. Your adjusted gross income is total income minus sick pay and certain business expenses. It is the amount reported on line 9 of tax form 1040.

If you itemize deductible expenses, the eligible items include:

ELIGIBLE ITEMS — Gifts to religious, charitable, educational, scientific or literary groups, but NOT including political or propaganda organizations or labor unions. Contributions may NOT exceed 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income and, in some cases, 50 per cent.

Interest — Interest paid on a home mortgage, bank loan or personal debt.

On installment purchases, figure out the average unpaid monthly balance during the tax year and deduct 6 per cent of that amount as interest, provided "carrying charges" totaled at least that much.

Medical and dental expenses — First, put down the cost of drugs and medicines exceeding 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income, then add the total amount paid to physicians, dentists and hospitals. If the combined total exceeds 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income, you enter the excess as your deduction.

The 3 per cent rule does NOT apply to certain persons 65 or older but the 1 per cent limit on drugs and medicines does apply. Also, dollar limits on medical expense deductions start at $2,500.

Taxes — Most nonfederal taxes such as retail sales taxes, personal property and real estate taxes, state gasoline taxes and auto license fees are deductible. Water and sewer taxes and dog license fees are NOT deductible.

Casualty losses and thefts — Any loss NOT covered by insurance in cases where your property was damaged in an accident or by fire, hurricane, flood or other natural force. Losses from theft are deductible in the year of discovery. You can't deduct for misplacing something.

Child care — Employed persons who are widowed, legally separated or divorced may deduct up to $200 for the care of dependents who are under 12 or physically or mentally unable to care for themselves. The care must be necessary to allow the taxpayer to work or seek work.

A married woman may claim this deduction only on a joint return and the deduction must be reduced by the amount that the couple's adjusted gross income exceeds $4,500.

Education — In some cases, you may deduct expenses for education connected with your job. The rules and procedures are explained in the IRS instruction booklets.

Miscellaneous — The cost of small tools, safety equipment and special uniforms required in your work, dues to a union or professional society, fees to employment agencies, and gambling losses (so long as such losses do NOT exceed your winnings).

mony or separate maintenance payments made under a court decree. Payments for the support of minor children can NOT be deducted, even though paid by court order; however, these might give you an exemption if you contribute more than half of the support of a child.

The person who receives alimony or separate maintenance payments generally must report these as income.

Tomorrow: Your Income and Job Expenses.

DEED BY HANGING — Officials in San Diego, Calif., are investigating the death of Newton E. Armstrong Jr., 19, whose body was found hanging by a rope in his home in Coronado, Calif. Spring Fever ... You Sit and Smile at Nothing

By PHYLIS RAYTELLE
NEW YORK — Are you suffering from vernal fever (lat. 1)? Or — as we homo sapiens would put it — spring fever?
Sorry, there is not much you can do about it.
"If there ever were any medical tests on spring fever," said a doctor we consulted, "they offered to cure."
"But, doctor," we protested. "How you gonna get your income tax done, still?" in the wondrous way.
"Oh, go take a walk," he replied. Doctors get feverish too.
This being what was ordered, we've been strolling about town the past week, watching New Yorkers under the influence of the annual disease. It is alarming to see the way they behave. They are slow in their movements, and they smile at everything and nothing.
For New York, this is sick, sick, sick. Wonderfully so. People stand before the Park Avenue shop windows, swaying slightly drunkenly, watching the stationary drama (there a suit, there a hat) with glazed eyes.
AIMLESSNESS!
Beside a florist's display of African violets — a nice enough flower, but scarcely absorbing in common but aimlessness and an occasional low clearing of the throat.
Before the Waldorf-Astoria ladies' wear shop, another cluster of miles. Could they have the remotest interest in white chiffon hats — or are they simply pausing and staring for the lack of energy to do anything else?

On the steps of St. Bartholomew's Church are boys and girls, silent, hands locked round their knees and noses pointed toward heaven and the hot April sun. Ah, this is love. Or is it merely lassitude?
Down the avenue, taxis hawk their drivers stricken by the pleasant plague, their passengers groggy in the performed air.
Dogs sluggishly roam the gutters on sun-gilded leashes, scarcely noticing the funny people and eternally whimpering, instead of snapping, at competitive dogs.
Gradually, we move back to ward the office. Pick up a bunch of sweet peas — extravagantly priced — on the way. For there is this column to write.

Back in the office, it takes two hours to tap out this nonsense. Because we keep remembering what a doctor told us: "Spring fever is mostly mental, although a sudden change in temperature may cause some real psychological change in certain people. For some reason, these abrupt changes in weather predispose persons to the common cold, you know."
"Spring fever, as you are feeling it now, is purely an emotional problem," another doctor told us.
"It comes from long months of mental activity with not enough gathering crowd. "I didn't mind being knocked down by the dog — but that can tie to his tail nearly killed me!"

15th Amendment Finally Ratified in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — It took 82 years but the California Legislature finally joined 32 other states Tuesday night in ratifying the 15th Amendment to the Constitution.
That's the one that forbids depriving anyone the right to vote on the basis of race or previous condition of servitude.
Thirty-one of the 37 states in the Union when the amendment was submitted to the state legislatures in 1869 ratified the amendment immediately. Oregon joined them in 1959.
A newspaper editorial called attention to California's oversight and Sen. Albert S. Rodde introduced a resolution ratifying the amendment.

Conan Doyle's Daughter Gets Promotion in RAF

LONDON (AP) — A daughter of the Sherlock Holmes author, the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, was promoted Tuesday to a high post in the Women's Royal Air Force. The Air Ministry said Group Officer Jean Conan Doyle, a veteran of 22 years service with the RAF, will take over as administrative commander in the Technical Training Command May 7. She now is an inspector.

Whatever Happened to Deposed GOP Chief Joe Martin?

By WILLIAM F. ARDAGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — What became of Joe Martin?
Capitol visitors often ask that question about the little bachelor who was speaker of the House of Representatives four years, its Republican floor leader 16 years, chairman of five GOP national conventions and sometime head of his party's national committee.
How can one with that kind of political background retreat into comparative obscurity?
Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts didn't retreat into the wings of Washington's political stage. He was pushed there unceremoniously and unmercifully three years ago by his Republican colleagues, including some he had regarded as close personal friends.

His power and prestige were cut from under him in a lightning-like political coup illustrative of the uncertainties and cold-bloodedness of professional politics.
But Joe is still around, representing in the House the 14th Massachusetts district he has served since March 4, 1925.

"AFTER 30 YEARS as leader of Republicans in the House of Representatives, Joe Martin walked out of a party caucus Jan. 6, 1959, in which—by a vote of 74 to 70—Charles Halleck of Indiana, second from right, was chosen to replace him.

JOE MARTIN was chairman of Republican national conventions—in 1940, '44, '48, '52 and '56. Here he warms up at a GOP convention in Chicago, June 24, 1944.

He's doing very well, too. A chauffeur drives him back and forth from his hotel apartment to the capital daily in a limousine provided by Congress as a token of esteem, and perhaps remorse, shortly after he was toppled from power.
It's still a smiling countenance he turns to the world, the same broad face with its full lips and tousled hair that became familiar to millions who watched him over the years in the House of Representatives.
He's healthy, happy, contented and philosophical. If he harbors resentment or ill-will over his rough treatment, it doesn't show, and he's not the type who easily can conceal his inner feelings.

"I'm at peace with the world," the 77-year-old veteran of 56 years in the political arena told an interviewer. "I'm not bitter about anything. I hold no resentment. Why should I? I have no regrets."
"In politics one must expect such things. You have to be tough. Politics has been good to me. It has given me the opportunity to do a lot of good deeds and help a lot of people. What else are we here for?"

SAVED HIS HEALTH
Martin is convinced that if he hadn't been kicked off his political pinnacle he would be dead today.
"The pace and pressures of leadership were ruining my health," he said. "I didn't know enough to let up and take care of myself, so the Lord decided it for me. I think it was a blessing. I know it was."

"Now that the pressure is off, I don't have to fool around with politics as much. I have more time to devote to the little but important things. I think that's the reason for my continued good health. I keep busy. I don't have time to look at the past."

Still, it took some little time to accept the kicking-around philosophically.
"It hurt for a while," he recalled. "It hurts when your friends run out on you. I sort of felt like Caesar must have felt when Brutus stabbed him. I didn't expect that kind of treatment after years of loyal service. But, as they say in politics, 'What have you done for me lately?'"

Martin said he is sure that if he had been in good health at the time, he would have won the fight to remain as party leader. As it was, he lost by only four votes in a party caucus on Jan. 6, 1959, when Charles A. Halleck of Indiana replaced him as floor leader.

The coup that unseated him was in the making during weeks when Martin was afflicted with a blood clot in his leg. He wasn't aware of the developing opposition until almost 24 hours before the showdown.

Exterminated by some to withdraw, he preferred instead to go down fighting.
"The reason given for bouncing Martin was that the Republican Party, which had suffered setbacks in the 1958 elections, needed more

Mason Says Video Hurt by Abbreviation

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK — Repeated attempts to convert popular motion pictures into one-hour television programs have usually fizzled because of too much plot, in too little time, insists actor James Mason.
"The trouble is the abbreviation," the British performer-producer-director explained. "They get so busy telling the story that they have no time left for scenes and good scenes are what make an interesting show."

TO PLAY IN 'REBECCA'
Mason, who recently finished playing the male lead in the movie adaptation of the shocker novel, "Lolita," will be playing Maxim de Winter Sunday night in a live adaptation of Daphne du Maurier's famous "Rebecca." The play is one of NBC's "Theatre 62" series based on old hit

Plastic Glasses Help 15 Partially Blind to Read

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Fifteen partially blind youngsters from the New York State School for the Blind were able to read regular printed matter today for the first time.
The children were fitted Wednesday with special eyeglasses ground from a molded plastic, with a focal length of from an inch to an inch-and-a-half. Previously the students could determine only oversized lettering.
Funds for the glasses were provided by the Lions club of the state. The State Commissioner for the Blind and Eyes for the Needy.

Marks 87th Birthday

ROME (UPI) — Conductor Pierre Monteux celebrated his 87th birthday yesterday by leading Rome's Santa Cecilia Academy orchestra. U.S. Ambassador to Italy G. Frederick Reinhardt extended birthday wishes to the famed maestro.

aggressive leadership. Also, Martin was much older than Halleck.
A few days later the House voted to provide a limousine and chauffeur for any former speaker as long as he remained as a member of the House. That proposal, endorsed by the late speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., a close friend, made Martin perhaps the only political great to ride into oblivion in a $11,770 car.

LIVES RATHER SIMPLY
Joe — he insists his friends call him that — lives alone in a local hotel. His principal form of exercise is walking. His hobby is baseball, as played by the Washington Senators. As a boy, Martin starred on the North Attleboro, Mass., sandlots.
One luxury he allows himself now is an annual trip to Nassau in the Bahamas. He usually visits the island resort in January while Congress is cranking up its legislative machinery.

When he was speaker and leader, Joe was part of the cranking-up crew and couldn't get away from Washington.
Martin has no intention of retiring from Congress voluntarily. "The people of my district have been good to me and I intend to represent them as long as they let me," he said.
"I thought of retiring several years ago, but the doctor told me I'd die in two years if I retired. After all, I have no outside interests that need my attention."

While not a wealthy man, Martin is "comfortably situated" financially. He owns the North Attleboro Daily Chronicle and the Franklin, Mass., Sentinel, a weekly newspaper. He had no expensive habits. He doesn't drink or smoke an isn't addicted to fancy clothes.

REWARDING WORK
Mason is having a short television fling because a movie he planned to start in April in England has been postponed to fall and "I find live television tremendously rewarding for an actor."

"Film acting is tremendously difficult," he confided. "Good acting is demanding because it is all done in dribsels. Most of the time you are waiting for the electricians to set the lights or the camera to get into position. When you are acting in tiny spurts, you don't have the time and the right conditions to prepare yourself. And of course, filmed television gives an actor even less of an opportunity to prepare himself."

When he was 18, six months later he was enticed to shift to the North Attleboro Sun at a salary of $30 weekly.

He skipped and saved and in five years was able to put $1,000 in a fund used to purchase the North Attleboro Evening Chronicle. He also financed Dartmouth College educations for two brothers.

"I have never gone into debt," Martin said. "I still have the first savings account I opened in 1902."

INTO POLITICS
At the age of 27, the political bug bit Martin and he managed a friend's campaign for the state legislature. At 27 he was elected to the state House of Representatives and two years later to the state Senate. He served on a committee headed by Calvin Coolidge.

In 1917, Martin decided to quit politics and go into business but he changed his mind five years later when he was drafted to direct the state Republican Committee.

In 1924 he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives and in 1939 was elected Republican floor leader. When his party counted no votes.

At the age of 5, Joe started selling newspapers. Later he worked in jewelry shops and as a night telephone operator to help his family.

He became a cub reporter on the North Attleboro Evening Leader troled the house in the 80th and 81st Congresses. Martin was

In July 1940, Martin was elected chairman of the Republican National Committee, a post he held more than two years. In that year he also was elected chairman of the Republican National convention. He presided at GOP conventions in 1944, 1948, 1952 and 1956, the only man to head five GOP national conventions.

With that political pedigree, Martin figures he has been singularly honored and had a full life.
"Why should I be bitter now?" he asked. "How many men have fared better than I? When I think of the successes, I can forget the bumps."

A Bomb and a Boom

U.S. Hopes He's Our Friend

President of Brazil Is Uncertain Factor

BY PHIL NEWSON

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Partly as result of Castroism and partly through President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program an old complaint against Latin American against the United States battered neither to learn about nor to understand their southern neighbors.

But as blisful ignorance or complicity have begun to disappear, telling their place has been a disturbing awareness of danger.

Thus the fall of a government in Argentina becomes a matter of national concern for U.S. taxpayers whose dollars are pledged to a multibillion dollar program to raise Latin American living standards.

This week the president of another Latin American nation which has given ample cause for concern, has been a state visit to the United States.

His is Joao Goulart of Brazil.
Goulart, whose leftist leanings aroused the bitter enmity of Brazil's armed forces, took office last September after President Janio Quadros resigned and left the country in financial and political chaos and on the verge of civil war.

Goulart had been a protégé of the late Brazilian strong man, Getulio Vargas, and was among the inheritors of the latter's labor party.

As a speaker he had denounced or praised with equal feror either the United States or world communism depending upon his audience.

So strong were the misgivings about him that Brazil's military permitted him to take office only after a constitutional amendment had stripped it of many of its powers.

LEFTIST TEND
Even under these limitations, it seemed certain that Brazil's drift to the left, started under Quadros, would continue.

Events within Brazil itself were not encouraging.

In Rio Grande do Sul state,
Goulart's brother-in-law, Gov.
Leopoldo Moura Brizola, considered a subsidiary of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., promising only to less compensation to the company. He encouraged peasants to buy. He encouraged peasant-ranch owners.

In northeast Brazil peasant leader
Francisco Juliano was preaching Castroism.

The return of ex-President Quadros from a trip around the world promised to add to the political confusion.

But because reality seldom approaches the ideal, there was no letup in U.S.-aid which by the end of 1961 totaled $1.7 billion.

With all the complications, there were those who believed they saw a heartening change in Goulart.

Tax and land reform were not yet realities but bills were before their congress. An education bill to erase illiteracy among the young in five years already has passed.

Goulart personally had been responsible for firing a Communist leader in congress.
Said one American well acquainted with Brazil: "Give him, a break.
I think he's trying to be our friend."

Soviets Would Tip Hand or Invite Destruction

Moon-Based Rockets Could Stop Reds

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—Upcoming, soon, will be another attempt on our part to do something about the moon.

Our last attempt in that direction missed by 23,000 miles, an excursing near miss, as space is measured.

Our moon-probe rocket Ranger
4 will benefit from the mistake of Ranger 3, which really was not very serious.

Why bother? Well, in the wake of Sputnik 1, an Air Force physicist, named F. E.
Singer, lieutenant colonel then and assigned to the Defense Atomic Support Agency, wrote a sobering piece for the scholarly Air University Quarterly Review.

Quote:
"The first thoughts on the military potential of the moon that attracted attention in the United States were expressed by A.F. Brig. Gen. Homer A.
Boushy in a speech before the Aero Club of Washington, D.C., on Jan. 29, 1958.

"Fundamentally, Gen. Boushy's thesis was based on the concept of using the moon as a missile base from which a retaliatory attack could be launched against the Soviet Union.

"The gist of his position is contained in the following quotation:

Russians Cancel Nagging Flights in Berlin Airlane

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviets have flown no harassment flights in the air corridors to West Berlin for a week, raising cautious speculation that Moscow for the time being has called off its campaign of irritation on the West's access routes to the city.

The Russians last scheduled flights through the corridors on March 30. They then advised the Berlin Air Safety Center they would send eight transports on night flights at times when Western commercial aircraft were using the corridors.

These flights were canceled and none have been scheduled since.
Patrolling Soviet MIG fighters have been spotted by crews and passengers of Western airliners, but that is not unusual.

Ford Foundation Unit Visits Peru University

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The Ford Foundation mission led by University of Michigan President Dr.
Harlan Hatcher is scheduled to fly to Cuzco University today for a visit.

The mission is charged with making recommendations on aid to Peru's education program. Yesterday the team visited the agricultural and engineering college of San Marcos University here.

To Air Delta Change Into 4-Year College

LANSING UP—A plan to convert Delta Community College to both a state and locally-supported four-year institution went before House budgetmakers for close scrutiny today.

The House Education Committee rejected a Senate-approved bill to expand the school to a four-year community college yesterday and came up with a substitute plan.

"If the legislature approved that kind of a plan, we'd soon have the other 15 community colleges around the state wanting to do the same thing," said Rep. Raymond C.
Wurzel, R-Port Huron, chairman of the Education Committee.

Wurzel said the Bay-Saginaw-Midland county area needs a four-year college.

But then it took a policeman nearly half an hour to trim it so it could be removed. When Harold set out to show how he did it the first time, Kim wanted no part of a repeat performance. She crawled off, crying a lusty protest.

May See Death in Space Shots

NASA Chief Says U.S. Must Be Prepared to Witness Event on TV

CHICAGO (AP) — Television audiences must be prepared to witness death in space flight efforts, the administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) warns. The administrator, James E. Webb, speaking yesterday at the 40th annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, said men died while exploring the earth's unknown regions and it is foolish to ignore this possibility in the far more hazardous regions of space. "If we are to ride into space with our astronauts via television, we cannot avoid being there if tragedy strikes," he said. "Perhaps as a nation we can learn that some of the most valuable lessons of space flight come from failures." The NASA chief noted that by far the largest daytime audience in television's history watched Col. John Glenn's space flight on Feb. 20, and he praised broadcasters for their extensive coverage. At one time or another during Glenn's three-orbit trip the flight's progress was followed on television in nearly 44 million homes, Webb said, adding: "Not since the flight of Charles A. Lindbergh (in 1927) in the Spirit of St. Louis has such a feeling of participation been generated around the globe."

Noted Red Scientist Turns in Resignation

MOSCOW (U) — Trofim Lysenko, the most controversial figure in the Soviet Academy of Agricultural Science today and turned in his resignation as president because of ill health. Lysenko's resignation was announced by Moscow radio. Lysenko, now 64, waged a campaign against the Mendel theory of genetics and was the chief advocate of the contrary Lysenkin theory that characteristics man and plants acquired from environment could be transmitted by inheritance to their offspring. Under Joseph Stalin Soviet biological thinking was based on the Michurin theory because it promised to develop the "new Soviet man" within two generations.

SOUTHAMPTON, England (U) — The liner America today delayed its arrival in Southampton by 15 hours because of heavy weather outside the French port of Le Havre. The delay will enable the ship, bringing 151 passengers to Britain, to avoid a 24-hour wildcat dock strike which began this morning. The America now is due tomorrow.

4 Students Hurt Trying to Flee Burning House

HOUGHTON (UPI) — Four college students were injured early today when they tried frantically to escape from their burning Theta Tau fraternity house on the campus of Michigan Tech University here.

Authorities said three of the students were injured as they attempted to climb down a hastily rigged rope from the third floor of the house. The fourth was injured when he attempted to leap to safety and landed on the windshield of a car. The names of the students were withheld until their parents could be notified.

Two Men Killed in Hotel Blaze

Hundreds of Guests Flee 10-Story Building in Washington

WASHINGTON (U) — Two men were killed early today when fire swept their third-floor room in the Mayflower Hotel in downtown Washington. Smoke poured through corridors of the 10-story building forcing hundreds of guests to flee, some in their nightclothes. The victims were identified as Edmund Cisek, about 36, and Donovan G. Hall, both of Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. Police Detective C. F. Preston, who made the identifications, said Hall is believed to be a native of Denver. No age was available for Hall. Both bodies were found in the bathroom. Deputy Fire Marshal Anthony E. Milio said the blaze started in two overstuffed chairs near the door. He said the blaze apparently was caused by careless smoking. Because the fire flared near the doorway, the two victims were unable to flee the room. Milio said the two men were not critically burned and apparently succumbed to smoke inhalation. Hotel officials said about 1,000 guests were registered at the Mayflower.

Plan Camp, Hobbies for Gifted Children

A program for gifted children—including a summer camp and year-round follow-up contacts with experts in the children's field of interest—is to be launched June 15 in Oak Park. It is said to be the first of its kind away from the Atlantic Seaboard. The program is to apply to youngsters in the third through seventh grades in Berkeley, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Ferndale, Livonia, Oak Park and Southfield school districts. It was explained to district representatives yesterday at an Oak Park meeting. The project will begin with a six-week day camp led by "master" teachers of top caliber from June 15 through July 27 at Oak Park's Clinton Junior High School and is sponsored by Sciences and Arts Camps, Inc., a nonprofit organization partly supported by the Carnegie Corp.

Segregationist Points to Bible

New Orleans Woman May Get Interview With Archbishop Today

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A Bible-quoting New Orleans segregationist says she will accept communication unless priests show her error in Scripture passages which she contends call for racial segregation. Mrs. B. J. Galliot, leader of the militantly segregationist Save Our Nation, Inc. group, may get her requested interview today with Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel. She said the archbishop threatened her with expulsion from the Roman Catholic Church. Controversy continues over the archbishop's decision to desegregate all Catholic schools in the New Orleans archdiocese and the more recent decision by a federal judge calling for a complete end of segregation in the first six grades of the city's public schools. Mrs. Galliot, 41, mother of three children, said that unless the Bible is brought into her discussion with Archbishop Rummel "then I will have to bow down gracefully and accept excommunication rather than desert my belief in God." "My statements about segregation and my defense has always been the Bible," Mrs. Galliot told a newsmen yesterday. "I only pray that God gives me the grace not to weaken where His word is concerned. . . But if they can show me from the Bible where I am wrong, then as I said before I will get down on my knees before Archbishop Rummel and beg his forgiveness." The chancery said Mrs. Galliot would be allowed to take two witnesses into the audience, as she requested, but they must have chancery approval. Her request that two members of the press

Navy Unmoved by Tougher Cuba

Guantanamo Base Sees New Look in Troops but No Immediate Threat
 GUANTANAMO BAY (UPI) — Cuba has started acting tough around this sprawling U.S. Naval base in recent weeks. But the Americans are not worried. In the view of Guantanamo's commander, Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, there appears to be no immediate threat to the U.S. position. Nevertheless, a new look has sprung up outside the 24-mile-long fence that separates the base from the rest of Cuba. There are new Cuban troops, new roads and even a "cactus curtain." The new soldiers are equipped with Belgian-made rifles and Russian steel helmets, a far cry from the ordinary militia men who up until recently had been on duty around Guantanamo Bay. All of the new men are regular soldiers. They number at least several hundred in the former area, O'Donnell said there has been an enormous improvement in their quality, and described them as "well-disciplined, well-equipped." In addition to the troops, there has been a change in the physical appearance of the boundary.

Area Man Is Injured in Two-Car Collision

A 24-year-old Pontiac Township man, injured in a two-car collision at Walton Boulevard and Joelyn Avenue last night, is in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. Ernest Berry, 425 Baldwin Road, suffered a fractured leg when his car collided with an auto driven by Martha Marsh, 31, 229 E. Walton Road, as she was turning from Walton onto Joelyn. She was not injured. Frogs with built-in parachutes glide from tree to tree in certain parts of Africa and southern Asia. Drinking Cripples Driver's Judgment

By PHYLIS BATTLE

He is wearing dark sun-glasses, with a side piece that blocks out his vision to right and left.

He has forgotten that traffic signals exist, and he firmly believes that traffic laws were made only for fools.

He has an enormous ego, thinks he can do anything better than the man in the car ahead.

He has no judgment of distance or speed, and what's more, his reflexes are slow.

He has little ability to concentrate. Would such a man be likely to have an accident? Of course.

ORDINARILY A GOOD DRIVER

But, you may be saying, no one like that would be given a license in the first place. True, the trouble is that this man of many malaises is ordinarily a good driver and a healthy traffic risk. . . . But he becomes the physically and psychologically crippled menace pictured above when he has had a few drinks.

This frightening image, put forth by Milwaukee Dr. Herman A. Heise (in "Science Digest"), should scare the wisest out of drinking drivers, but probably it won't. Or, if it does, they'll take another scotch and alleviate those little old fears.

At least most people I know who regularly drive home from parties are of the firm belief that they can handle anything—that, in fact, they are better and more cautious drivers after drinking than they were before.

This belief—"I can drive as well or better after a few drinks"—is a grave misconception, according to the doctor. Alcohol may seem to improve performances in instances where fear and/or tension are factors. "Place a 6-inch board on the sidewalk and you can balance on it easily," says Dr. Heise, as an example.

"Raise that board 20 stories and fear would paralyze your actions. Given a few drinks of whisky though, and you could proceed despite the danger." But presently, your equilibrium would follow your fears, causing a long fall. . . .

We all know people who seem to have "a hollow leg." They can drink far more than the average social drinker without a slur in their speech or any other outward sign of drunkenness. But you don't build up a tolerance for alcohol. "The same amount of alcohol in the bloodstream makes the experienced drunk just as drunk as the novice drunk."

BOTH IN BAD SHAPE

He may not show the effects on the surface. "But in an automobile they're both in (equally) bad shape."

A recent survey showed that a person with a blood alcohol concentration of 0.15 per cent (a level attained with five to eight drinks) doesn't really care what happens to him. His chances of having a traffic accident are 10 times higher when he is sober.

With a level of 0.05 per cent alcohol (the result of two or three drinks), his accident chances are double those of a sober man.

Dr. Heise points out that a new (and still-experimental) drug has been discovered which seems to sober a drunk person almost instantly.

Called DPN, it is made from brewer's yeast and is identical to an enzyme found in the human liver; it speeds up the oxidation of alcohol into the blood stream.

But DPN—even if it were available and were proved to have no harmful side effects—must be given by injection. An inconvenient system, at best, giving yourself a shot in the arm for a "shot in the arm."

So until something better comes along, Dr. Heise suggests will power is the only medicine to use before going home from a party.

"One drink is acceptable," he says. "Two drinks are okay if you plan to stay on for more than two hours. Reach for that third drink and you'd better call a cab!"

Auto Pioneer Is Dead at 82 in California City

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (AP)—A man who was associated with his father in the manufacture of the Pope-Hartford and Pope-Toledo automobiles early in this century died Tuesday.

He was Harold L. Pope Sr., 82, son of the late Col. Albert A. Pope, founder of the Pope-Toledo Co. in Toledo, Ohio. The son entered the business with his father in 1902, following graduation from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Red China Threatens 'Imperialist' Thailand

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China warned Thailand today that it was on "a dangerous road" because of its close ties with the United States.

Charging that Thailand "has become an important accomplice of U.S. Imperialist aggression in Southeast Asia," the official People's Daily warned that "the actions of the Thai reactionaries will boomerang sooner or later."

To Air Request for Demotion by Angry Fire Chief

COLDWATER (AP)—The Coldwater City Council will meet Monday to consider a request by Fire Chief Charles Sherman to be reduced in rank to captain in protest over the voter rejection of a $275,000 bond issue to build a new fire station.

The bond issue was defeated in Monday's special election by a margin of about three to one. Sherman, in sending his request to City Manager Godfrey Collins yesterday, said the city's voters were "putting more value on the penny than on the importance of the men who sacrifice their lives daily" to protect the city from fire.

Collins said he hoped Sherman would reconsider.

Studying Indians for Rheumatism

U. S. Service Hopes to Find Relationship With Extreme Climates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government scientists are comparing two tribes of American Indians to determine the effect of climate and heredity on arthritis and rheumatism.

The U.S. Public Health Service, in announcing this today, noted that for hundreds of years physicians had recommended changes in climate in hopes of helping sufferers of the diseases.

"Yet," the service said, "there is no conclusive evidence that transplanting patients from one location to another has any lasting value—and medical texts on the subject sometimes read more like folklore than presentations of scientific data."

Now, the service said, the study among the Indians may allow the government researchers—representing the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases—to "pin down finally the relationship between climate and arthritis and rheumatism."

ARTHRITIS DEFINED
More than 11 million Americans are afflicted with the painful diseases. The affliction is called arthritis if the joints are involved, and rheumatism if muscle tendons, ligaments or similar structures are concerned.

The service already has completed a study of more than 1,000 Blackfoot Indians living in Montana, where the year-round weather is relatively cold.

Next year, service researchers plan to undertake the second phase of the project—a comparative study of a Southwestern tribe in hot, dry, Arizona desert, 1,500 miles from the Blackfoot country. The second tribe was not identified.

The idea is to compare the incidence, severity and other features of arthritis and rheumatism found among two groups of people who live in areas representing opposite ends of the temperature scale in the continental United States.

Five Subdivisions to City of Utica

To Suggest June 4 for Annexation Vote

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — June 4 is the date the township will recommend to the Macomb County Board of Supervisors for a vote on the annexation of five township subdivisions to the City of Utica.

Township Supervisor Lorin E. Evans will make the recommendation Monday at the Board of Supervisors' monthly meeting. The township board voted to recommend the date.

Utica officials are also in favor of this date, Evans said today.

Evans, opposed to the annexation, succeeded in postponing action to set an election date at the March meeting of the supervisors.

The township board also has appointed two township attorneys, Fred York and Ray Roggensue, to replace William Wendt.

Wendt resigned after three years in the post when Evans demanded that he spend at least one day a week at the township hall.

Evans had hoped to stall the annexation election until studies were completed on the possibility of making Shelby a charter township.

The subdivisions, comprising about 200 acres on Utica's eastern boundary, would gain the same advantages from a charter township as from a city, according to Evans.

Work by the township's charter study commission has not been completed, however. It has been given additional work by Evans, who asked it to examine his proposal for three area authorities.

THREE SERVICE AREAS — These would pool resources for the control and development of major public services in Shelby and Sterling townships and Utica.

Tentative $357,000 Budget OK'd in West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A tentative budget of $357,000 for the 1962-63 fiscal year was approved last night by the Township Board.

The budget, about $12,000 higher than last year, will not become final, however, until the County Tax Allocation Board meets next week.

A proposed master plan is the reason for most of the increase in the new budget. The board allocated $15,000 for the study.

The board, in another action, approved the paving of Walpole Lake Road from Orchard Lake Road to Farmington Road.

The cost of the $38,000 project will be shared by the township and county.

Last year the township received $1.40 from the county millage levied on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

An additional voted one-mill tax per $1,000 is received by the township.

Leadership Courses to Be Demonstrated

Sample demonstrations of leadership development courses to be offered later this month will be conducted in four area communities next week.

Instructors from the Gabriel Richard Institute, Detroit, will conduct the demonstrations as well as the regular classes which will begin the week of April 23.

The 8 p.m. demonstrations will be held at the Sacred Heart Church, social hall, 1541 Myrtle, next Tuesday; St. Mary's Church, Milford, and St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus Hall, Utica, Wednesday, April 11; and Immaculate Conception School gym, Lapeer, Thursday, April 12.

authority would be set up in each of three service areas: Police and fire protection, water and sewer development, and a public works program.

Along with them would go changing the two townships to charter townships.

The idea has met favorable response from Sterling Township officials and other community and county leaders, Evans said.

Near 'Y' Goal in Rochester

Drive for Membership Brings in $7,127 or 89 Pct. of Aim

ROCHESTER — With more than 89 per cent of its $8,000 goal reached, the public subscription phase of the local YMCA branch's 1962 membership campaign will be wrapped up this week.

Volunteer workers in the month-long drive are confident of achieving the goal by Tuesday, when a final report will be made at the regular monthly meeting of the Rochester YMCA's committee of management.

Total receipts of $7,127 have been reported so far, committee secretary Mrs. George H. Gable said today.

Although most of the volunteers have completed their work, some will be using this week of "cleanup operations" to make contacts in outlying areas.

Results of the drive have been "far better than last year's," she said. About 70 per cent of an $8,000 goal was reached last year.

While residents may join the YMCA at any time, the year program is based on the success of the membership campaign.

To Arraign Man on Charge of Felonious Assault

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A 32-year-old Ferndale man was to be arraigned this morning on a charge of felonious assault last Thursday on a man who is still unconscious today in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Smith Bush of 20791 Parkside, was arrested following a brawl on Eight Mile Road near Glenview.

Harvey Dunlap of 21332 Parkside, Ferndale, was knocked unconscious when his head hit the side of a building during the fight.

Bush told police Dunlap approached him and a woman talking with him, Jetty Arner, 37, with a knife. Police said they found no knife on Dunlap or at the scene.

Police said the woman had been Dunlap's common law wife for 14 years before leaving him recently to live with Bush. The woman said Dunlap only wanted to talk to her.

David Dahline Plans for Stay in Germany

ROCHESTER — David Dahline, a 17-year-old junior at Rochester High School, has been selected to represent American teen-agers in West Germany this summer.

He will make an eight-week visit under the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program, sponsored by the Michigan and Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches.

The High School Student Council has pledged $10 toward meeting Dahline's travel expenses. Other high school groups are planning fund-raising activities to help with the bill.

Active in both school and church, David is president of the Walther League of St. John's Lutheran Church and serves as an usher in the church.

He is drum major of the high school marching band, a member of the scholarship and science clubs and is on the school track team. He is also cadet commander of the Rochester Civil Air Patrol.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Dahline, 836 E. Gunn Road. The Dahlines also have two daughters, Phyllis, 14, and Nancy, 18. Dahline is employed on the research staff of General Motors Technical Center.

Insists O'Hara Linked With 'Liberal Project'

LANSING — Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Utica, is behaving like a man "afraid to face the truth" in his heated denial of any association with the so-called "Liberal Project" organized by Democratic congressmen, says a Republican State Chairman George M. Van Peursem.

The Democratic lawmaker, Van Peursem said, "is scampering for cover, and he should, for he well knows the disclosures in 'The Liberal Papers' have shocked the nation."

Two Face Charges in Food Stamp Case

DETROIT (UPI)—A local grocer and the assistant manager of a food company today faced federal charges for alleged misuse of government food stamps.

Anthony Zatina, owner of the Forest Market, and Robert K. Wright, assistant manager of the suburban Ferndale branch of the Liberty Loan Corp., were indicted yesterday by a local federal grand jury.

Zatina was charged with making a fraudulent report on a food stamp program redemption certificate and conspiring with Wright to cheat the government.

Wright was charged with making a fraudulent report on a food stamp program redemption certificate and conspiring with Zatina to cheat the government.

2,400 Workers to Make Move

Curtiss-Wright Building to House Operations Now in Highland Park

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Some 2,400 Ford Motor Co. workers will begin moving into the old Curtiss-Wright plant here the first week of May.

Gerald J. Dougher, industrial relations manager for Ford's trim plant, said today that trim operations will be moved to the recently acquired Mound Road plant from their present Highland Park location.

The move is expected to be completed by the end of May, Dougher said.

Ford purchased the two manufacturing plants and 650 acres of land from Curtiss-Wright in December. The sale followed Curtiss-Wright's failure to land an Air Force contract for a jet repair program.

HAVE TRANSFER RIGHTS

Trim employees will have transfer rights to the new location, Dougher said he did not know how many would choose to transfer.

Whether any new jobs will be made available by the move to Shelby Township and Utica area residents will depend on whether any choose not to transfer.

It is expected, however, that most present employees will make the move.

Trim operations now occupy the upper floors of the multilevel buildings in Highland Park.

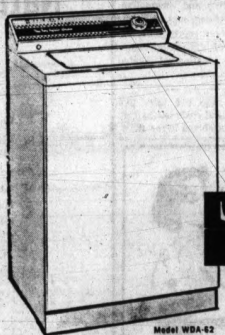

The single-story Shelby Township plants are expected to make possible more flexibility of product and layout.

Although township officials have said it is too early to predict whether the township's tax base will be improved by the move, the plant will be reassessed, and a raise in the personal property assessment is considered probable.

Some 1,400 other Ford workers in tractor production, industrial engine production and paint operations will remain in Highland Park.

Urge Work on U.S. 127

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department has recommended that $18 million be spent to bring U.S. 127 between Mason and Jackson up to full freeway standards. The recommendation followed a new engineering study made by the department.

The Statue of Liberty is made of bronze and weighs 225 tons.

Going Ahead With Planning Civil Defense for Schools

LANSING (AP)—The State Department of Public Instruction has decided to stop waiting for instructions on what to do in the event of a nuclear attack.

It's moving ahead to develop a disaster plan that would enable the department to answer many of the questions on survival put to it by local schools, said

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state school superintendent.

"Apparently no directives are forthcoming from civil defense officials," Bartlett said. "And we have decided we can't wait any longer."

"I've been frustrated—haven't known where or how we should be moving," he said. "How can we give our schools better direction, and where do we go from here?" Bartlett said.

ON COMMITTEE

The first steps were discussed yesterday at a meeting of a steering committee on civil defense. The committee is made up of department, civil defense, local school and PTA officials, as well as representatives of the State Police, the State Health Department and the Michigan Society of Architects.

The next step, Bartlett said, will be to organize subcommittees—composed mostly of school officials—to draft plans to be followed by school districts.

Included would be immediate and long range plans for fallout shelters—covering both the possibility of using present school facilities and of incorporating shelters in future school construction.

"That's why we invited representatives of the American Institute of Architects," Bartlett said. "And they've said they will help in the planning."

"We don't know the answer yet as far as shelters and schools are concerned," he added. "That's one of the things we hope to work out."

The group decided tentatively the department should develop a basic alert pattern, compile material to develop community plans (including the storage of food and supplies to be used after a disaster), and prepare to advise school districts on how to develop or build buildings for shelter use.

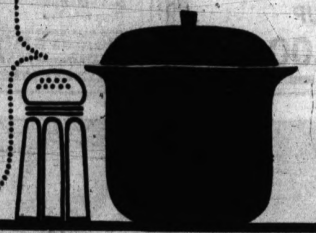

Don't Fear Fallout, Australians Told

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Australians were told today that the impending U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific are "critically important" and they have nothing to fear from radioactive fallout.

Foreign Minister Sir Garfield Barwick reported to Parliament that a radiation advisory committee had satisfied the government that the tests at Christmas Island would not constitute a danger to Australia, New Zealand or other areas in the South Pacific.

He declared President Kennedy had given assurance that fallout would be restricted to the absolute minimum and said that the amount over Australia would be much less than previous tests.

Con-Con Rejects Extreme Senate Plans

LANSING UP—Constitutional convention delegates have turned thumbs down on two extreme proposals for apportionment of the state Senate and approval of a bill today to settle on a middle-ground plan.

Fighting Order to Desegregate

New Orleans Planning All Kinds of Meetings Against School Ruling

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — State and city officials today stepped up efforts to counter a blow to racial segregation in New Orleans schools and perhaps throughout the south.

Plans called for action in court, in the state legislature and in various emergency meetings to combat U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright's ruling that overturned Louisiana's pupil placement law.

Segregationists, including at least one state legislator, issued an outright challenge for Wright to enforce the order he handed down.

The Orleans Parish (county) school board called a special meeting for tomorrow night and was expected to instruct its attorney to appeal the ruling.

CALLS FOR MEETING State Rep. Edward F. LeBreton of New Orleans asked for a meeting next Monday and Tuesday of a special legislative committee on New Orleans public schools to discuss "this surprising and unfair decision."

Another state legislator from New Orleans, Rodney A. Buras, said he planned to introduce a measure before the legislature to ban constitutional classes in both private and public schools.

State Rep. John S. Garrett of Haynesville said he would call a meeting of his joint legislative committee on segregation before the regular session of the legislature in May.

"Judge Wright," Garrett declared yesterday, "you have made your decision; now let's see you enforce it."

"It looks like a cowardly decision to make and then run off and let someone else try to enforce it," Wright has been elevated to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington. He is to leave next week to assume his new duties.

His ruling Tuesday ordered the school board to desegregate all elementary schools in the city through the sixth grade in September.

In U.S. Army, Even the Ships Can Do Push-Ups

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The biggest ship in the U.S. Army can do push-ups.

An experimental landing craft, the 338-foot long vessel is getting an overhaul at a Jacksonville shipyard. It is named the Lt. Col. John U. D. Page.

The push-up part of the ship's design is a special plunger under the bow. This hydraulically operated device permits the ship to push itself off a beach if it gets aground during a landing operation.

Ex-Japanese Princess Gives Birth to Son

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito's youngest daughter gave birth today to a son, her first child. Both were reported doing well.

The former Princess Suga, 23, was married in March 1961 to Takako Shimazu, an employee of the Japan Export-Import Bank in Tokyo.

A radio telescope is being built which will never vary more than one-thirtieth of an inch in shape over its quarter-acre surface.

The union has called a strike beginning April 12 for sleeping car and parlor car conductors working in the Chicago and Milwaukee, Wis., areas. A week later the strike would be extended to the St. Louis, Mo., area and on April 26 the all-out board failed to resolve a dispute over job security between the ORCB and the Pullman Co.

In the parallel work rules talks here, a two-week recess was ordered so that the union negotiators, including those for the conductors, could study a report of a presidential commission and to give the railroads time to answer a demand from the Switchmen's Union of North America (SUNA) that it be given "unqualified" recognition as a bargaining agent.

Neil P. Speirs, president of SUNA, said the railroads have challenged the union's right to bargain in a pending federal court suit.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Work rules negotiations between the nation's railroads and five operating brotherhoods have been suspended until April 17 while a federal mediator attempts to prevent a threatened strike of Pullman conductors.

Robert O. Boyd, a member of the National Mediation Board, arrived here from Washington yesterday and immediately began separate conferences with representatives of the Pullman Co. and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen (ORCB).

The proposal calls for an immediate expansion of the Senate from 24 to 38 seats, with Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties each receiving an additional seat.

After 1970, a bipartisan commission would be charged with the duty of apportioning the Senate districts on the basis of a formula giving 80 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent to land area.

IN THE HOUSE In the House, membership would be fixed at 110, with one representative allotted to each county or group of counties having at least 7 per cent of the population of the state.

After awarding a seat to each of the single-county and multi-county representative areas meeting the 7 per cent requirement, the remaining seats would be apportioned.

The status quo proposal, backed by Republican conservatives, was defeated by a 111-59 vote. The straight population plan, proposed by Democrats, lost, 53-41.

Despite morning, afternoon and evening sessions yesterday, the convention failed to wind up its consideration of the controversial subject and delegates went into their fifth day of debate today.

The abortive attempt to keep the status quo in the Senate was made by Lee Boothby, R-Niles, a leader of the conservative-rural GOP bloc.

Referring to the 1953 vote by which the present system was adopted with an amendment to the Constitution, Boothby asked: "The people have spoken and by what right do we 144 delegates have to tell the people that they were wrong? Can we impose our idea of apportionment on them when they have so recently made that decision for themselves?"

Boothby said that under the Hannah committee plan, five metropolitan counties which now have 12 senators would wind up with totals for districts.

"When five counties of the state would elect nearly half of the Senate and over 50 per cent of the House of Representatives, who will listen to the needs of the rest of the outside area?" he asked.

The Democratic plan to establish a Senate based on straight population was sponsored by Robert Hodges and Edmond Lesinski, both of Detroit.

It called for a 35-member chamber with each single member district containing "as nearly as may be an equal number of persons." The plan made allowance for a 15 per cent deviation in population from the foregoing conclusion, with Republicans holding a 97-46 edge in the delegation.

Rejection of the Democratic proposal mainly along party lines was a foregone conclusion, with Republicans holding a 97-46 edge in the delegation.

Twist on Skates Gets Good Notice in Russian Paper

KIEV, Soviet Union (AP) — An official Soviet newspaper handed accolades to a pair of U.S. figure skaters that brought the twist to Russia.

The newspaper Pravda of the Ukraine, an official organ of the communist party, yesterday praised Pieter Kollen of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Dorthmann Nelson of Chicago for their part in a three-day exhibition here while on a tour of the Soviet Union.

Although the newspaper did not mention the twist number specifically, Pravda said that the 12,000 seat arena in which the ice show was held was filled to capacity every day to see them and that the spectators loved their act.

Miss Nelson and Kollen first combined in a twist number encore in Moscow last week.

Play Stiffens in Masters Net Meet

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —

Seeded entries in today's play in the Masters Invitational tennis tournament are expected to have stiffer competition than in earlier rounds.

Australia's Roy Emerson, seeded No. 1, meets Ed Rubinoff of Miami.

Emerson and Rubinoff are playing in a delayed second round. The Australian earned his position by easily defeating Joe Brandl of Puerto Rico, 6-4, 6-1, yesterday. Rubinoff had more difficulty in subduing Dick Kearnsey of Clearwater, Fla., 6-1, 7-5.

Manuel Santana of Spain, seeded No. 2, faces Ed Neely of Atlanta in a quarter-final match today. Santana downed Germany's Wolfgang Stuck, 6-2, 6-4.

Neely also had a tough fight with his opponent, Ivo Pimentel of Venezuela. The final score was 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 in yesterday's second round.

The only other quarter-final match is scheduled between Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., seeded fourth, and the winner of a match between Mario Llamas of Mexico and Ronald Barnes of Brazil.

The Llamas-Barnes match was

Speedway Entry List Increases to 43 Cars

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The entry list for the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30 rose to 43 today with the addition of six cars, three of them Tropicana Specials powered by Novi V-8 engines.

Anthony Granatelli of Santa Monica, Calif., who entered the Novis, nominated Chuck Stevenson of Newport Beach, Calif., and Bill Chesbrough of Tucson, Ariz., to drive two of them.

Conventional cars were entered by Hart Fullerton of Los Angeles, Joe Langley of Southport, Ind., and John Zink of Tulsa, Okla. Only Fullerton named a driver—Don Freeland of Torrance, Calif.

postponed yesterday because of darkness with the score at 3-5, 10-8, 2-2.

The remaining men's singles match slated for today will be between Mike Sangster of England and Gardner Mulloy of Miami. Sangster had a bye yesterday. Mulloy earned his second round try by defeating Paul Thompson of St. Petersburg, 6-4, 6-4.

The women's division will see Yola Ramirez of Mexico meeting Edda Ruding of Germany in a quarter-final match.

Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., seeded No. 2, will face Margaret Helyer of Australia in a battle for a semifinal berth.

Miss Helyer defeated Stela Matous of Brazil by default yesterday. Miss Hard easily defeated St. Petersburg's Gloria Sullivan, 6-0, 6-0, to advance.

Best finishing round during the 1961 PGA tour was termed in by Doug Sanders when he shot a 62 in the Phoenix Open.

TWO-MINUTE SWIM? — Steve Clark, Santa Clara, Calif. speedster who set two American indoor swimming records last year, could be the man to break the two-minute barrier in the 220-yard freestyle in the opinion of his coach at Yale, Phil Moriarty. Clark, a freshman, swam the distance in 2:00 last year. Clark will compete in the National AAU swim meet which starts tonight at Bartlesville, Okla.

Likes Prep Swimmers in AAU Event

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — In a couple of years high school boys will dominate AAU swimming meets—and they may pull some upsets in the one starting here today.

That's the opinion of George Haines of Santa Clara, Calif., one of the country's top swimming coaches. Both the entries in the 1962 AAU meet and the opinions of some fellow coaches back him up.

Pipers Avoid Ouster by Defeating Steers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Pipers, who have faced sudden death in three of their last five games, are still alive today in their try for the American Basketball League's championship.

Cleveland came from behind in the final quarter Wednesday night to whip the Kansas City Steers 116-114. Now the Pipers go into another contest Saturday night under the familiar sudden-death conditions, because the Steers won the first two games in the best-of-five series earlier this week at Kansas City.

With his back to the basket and while coach Bill Sharman shouted the second left, Dick Barnett let go a 26-foot, left-handed hook shot that enabled the Pipers to win Wednesday night in the final five seconds.

year-old Don Schollander. He also coaches Steve Clark, a Yale freshman who won the AAU 100 and 220-yard freestyle events as a high school senior last year.

Haines predicted that both Schollander and Clark—and possibly some other swimmers—would break the two-minute barrier in the 220 in this meet.

Clark was the first man ever to swim the 220 in two minutes, last year. Schollander posted 1:58.7 March 24 in an exhibition against the 18-year-old Clark.

MENTION OTHERS
Other up-and-coming youngsters mentioned by Haines include Carl Robie of Philadelphia's Vesper Boat Club in the butterfly; Bob Bennett, University of Southern California freshman in the backstroke, and Roy Saari, of Ed

Segundo, Calif., in longer distances.

Haines noted that teenagers already dominate women's swimming, as proved by the team he coached in the 1960 Olympics.

The Shoe Takes Look at Jaipur in Workout

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker, who will ride Jaipur in Saturday's Gotham Stakes and possibly in the Preakness and Belmont, watched the colt work out Wednesday.

"No, I've never ridden him," he replied to a question, but added with a grin: "But he can run and I can ride."

McGill Named Top Scorer in Major College Ranks

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy (the Hill) McGill, 6-9 Utah All-American was certified today as the scoring champion of major college basketball for the 1961-62 season.

McGill, first national scoring champion from the Skyline Conference, finished with 1,009 points in 26 games for a 38.8 average—the second highest in big school history, according to statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau.

His average is second only to the 41.7 pace set by Frank Selvy from Furman in 1954.

HOLDS CLEAR EDGE
McGill wound up the scoring race with a clear edge over the runner-up, Jacek (The Shot) Fory of Holy Cross, who had a 37.1 average with 866 points in 26 games. Three others also averaged 30 points or better, Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, 33.0; and two other All-American choices, Terry Dischinger of Purdue, 30.3, and Len Chappell of Wake Forest, 30.1.

Jerry Lucas, three-time All-American from Ohio State, became the first major collegian ever to gain five national titles in a collegiate career. Lucas, who scored for the third straight year in field goal percentage with .511, and wound up the No. 1 rebounder for the second time, with a .211 percent of recoveries.

On the team level, Chicago Loyola won the team offense title with a 90.2 average to 90.1 for Arizona State U. and Santa Clara led in team defense with 52.1.

Fighter Blames Public for Injuries in Ring

Dupas Charges More Slugging Sought by Fans

'Didn't Hear Anybody at Ringside Yelling to Stop Bout'

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"It's the people all around who are to blame—the public. That's who I blame—the public."

That's the comment of Ralph Dupas, No. 1 ranked welterweight boxer, over the death of former welterweight champion (Kid) Paret who died Tuesday from injuries received in his March 24 fight with Emile Griffith.

"People are blaming the referee and the manager for not stopping the fight," Dupas said in an interview. "But you didn't hear anybody at ringside yelling to stop the fight."

"They kept yelling for more. That's what they want to see."

DEMAND SLUGGERS

The 26-year-old veteran New Orleans fighter said public demand for sluggers has made managers turn fighters into punchers rather than boxers.

"Boxers are boxed, so managers teach their kids to be aggressive, to please the TV crowd. If it wasn't for this there would be more boxers and not guys who hit from pillar to post and just slug it out."

Dupas, who threatened last month to hang up his gloves at the end of the year if he didn't get his long-awaited crack at the welter title, said his manager, Angelo Dundee of Miami, is working on a championship bout for either him or Cuban Louis Rodriguez against Griffith, possibly in June.

"It's going to be me or Rodriguez to get the title shot first," said Dupas. "Or it's going to be me after him. I hope it's me first."

Detroit Seeks Mark Friday in Hydroplane

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Roy Duby of Detroit will attempt Friday to reach the record speed of 200 miles per hour in his hydroplane, Miss U.S. 1.

Duby will attempt to eclipse the world's record of 192.001 miles per hour for a propeller craft set by Bill Muncy at Seattle, Wash., in 1960.

The record attempt on Gunterville Lake will be made over a seven-mile stretch with Duby using three miles to gain speed and three miles to reduce speed sufficiently to turn. Only the measured mile in the middle will be used for the record try.

Referees Gain Spotlight

BOSTON (AP) — Saturday not want to get a black eye and certainly it does not want to have any serious injury in the ring," he said. "But I'm sure our referees will call the fight justly."

"The Paret fight will serve only to keep them doubly careful to make sure the right is handled correctly. It won't have any affect, I'm sure, on stopping the fight prematurely."

WILL BE CAREFUL
"It will be a ticklish situation," said Commissioner Eddie Urbee, also a former boxer and referee. "We certainly don't want the bout stopped too hastily, and likewise we don't want it stopped too late. We are going to be careful."

POSSIBLE INFANTICIDE

"Stopping the fight too early because of a cut that the ring physician did not deem too serious, would be an injustice to the fighters," said Tommy Rawson, a commissioner, a former boxer and referee. "Paret fight and that it must be handled with good judgment."

"Of course, Massachusetts does handled with good judgment."

Paret Funeral Service Scheduled for Miami

NEW YORK (AP) — The body of former welterweight boxing champion Benny (Kid) Paret is scheduled to be flown to Miami tonight for funeral services and burial near his adopted home.

A special mass was conducted here Wednesday night for the 25-year-old Cuban who died early Tuesday of brain injuries suffered in a title fight with Emile Griffith at Madison Square Garden on March 24.

More than 17,000 persons viewed the body at a Bronx funeral home Wednesday and police estimated nearly 2,500 persons were either inside the home, waiting in line or loitering nearby Wednesday night when the Rev. Terence Carroll of St. Anselm's Roman Catholic Church led in the recitation of one decade of the rosary.

Lucy Paret, the fighter's pregnant widow, Paret's mother, Mrs. Maxima Crespo, and his brother, Antonio, were at the home most of the day. Griffith, who has been in seclusion since right after the fight, had planned to attend but did not because of police fears his appearance would create ill feeling in the Spanish-speaking neighborhood.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Paret learned from the New York State Athletic Commission that she will collect some $28,000 before taxes as Paret's share of the $50,000 purse from the Griffith fight.

Manager Manny Alfaro will receive one-third cut. Paret owed about $6,000 in training expenses. The fighter also had received a $2,000 advance on his anticipated

Win-or-Else in NBA Game

BOSTON (AP) — The National Basketball Association's Eastern Division championship boils down to one game tonight and the underdog Philadelphia Warriors are confident they can cop it.

The final game of the best-of-seven series is set for the Boston Garden and a sellout crowd. Each team has won three. The Los Angeles Lakers already have won the Western Division series.

"We honestly believe we can beat the Celtics," said Warriors Coach Frank McGuire. "We think we can beat any team alive in one game."

"Now this is a one-game series and we are due for a good game in Boston. If Wilt Chamberlain plays the way he did Tuesday night we'll do it."

Chamberlain, NBA's scoring king who has led Philadelphia to three crisp wins at home though being shacked in Boston in the other three, agrees.

The championship series will open here Saturday if Boston wins tonight. Should the Warriors take it, the final playoffs move to Los Angeles for the Saturday afternoon game.

Goulart Vows to Repay Firms

Kennedy Accepts Bid to Visit Brazil This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brazilian President João Goulart has promised his government will make fair compensation for expropriated utility properties.

And, President Kennedy has accepted an invitation to visit Brazil sometime this year.

Those were the two major developments in two days of talks between the heads of state.

Goulart flew on to New York today.

ISSUE COMMUNIQUE
The Brazilian president made his pledge of fair compensation in a joint communiqué issued Wednesday.

There have been protests in this country over seizures recently in Brazil of a subsidiary of the American-owned International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and the attempted expropriation of a Canadian telephone firm's subsidiary.

WAS SPECIFIC
Although the communiqué did not go into these instances it declared Goulart intends to maintain conditions of security which will permit private capital to perform its vital role in Brazilian economic development.

Claims Ike Aide Urged Shelters, Now Sells Them

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said today that Leo A. Hoegh "consistently urged Americans to build fallout shelters" while he was civil defense director in the Eisenhower administration and is now reported "reaping a rich financial harvest" selling shelters.

Young, a long-time critic of civil defense spending on the ground that it is a waste of money, told the Senate that Hoegh is now vice president in charge of sales for the Wunder Building Corp. of Chicago.

"This is the same ex-governor of Iowa who, when he was denied a second term by the citizens of Iowa to the $12,000-per-annum position as governor of the state, was rewarded by appointment to a $2,500 position as director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization," Young said.

Egypt, Syria Open 'War' Over Radio

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Radio arguments opened up between Egypt and Syria today, barely 36 hours after the Syrian army quelled pro-Nasser mutiny in Aleppo in northern Syria.

Relations again appear strained between the two Arab nations, whose union under President Gamal Abdel Nasser was broken by a Syrian army coup d'état more than six months ago.

After suppressing the pro-Nasser movement in the north, the Damascus high command declared yesterday that unity with "liberal Arab powers" was one of its prime objectives.

It said it expected this unity to be on a basis avoiding past "errors," however, and did not specifically mention Egypt.

Cairo radio then charged Damascus authorities with "breaking their pledge" made at a conference with the pro-Nasser rebels.

Damascus radio charged that Cairo stations were waging a "campaign of distortion" against Syria.

UP Wins Approval of Deer Season Bill

LANING, N.Y.—After years of trying, Upper Peninsula legislators today won legislative approval of a bill to establish a permanent Saturday opening of the deer season in their part of the state.

By a 15-9 vote, the House passed a measure to open the season on the Saturday preceding Nov. 15, unless the regular Nov. 15 season falls on a Saturday, in all but the three eastern counties of the Upper Peninsula. The measure was referred to the Senate, which approved a Saturday opening for the entire peninsula, for a settlement of intercounty differences.

Claim U.S. Insane Could Trigger War

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States was pictured by Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) today as a country full of mental cases whose soldiers were capable of looting of nuclear war in a fit of nerves.

It suggested that Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the U.S. Strategic Air Force (SAC), should be sent "to see the doctors."

Red Star, the defense ministry newspaper, was the second news media here to comment in similar fashion on the alert last fall which sent SACs nuclear bombers scurrying to take-off positions around the world because of a false signal on its communications network.

Increased Sales Cited as Simca Stock Rises

PARIS (AP)—A spokesman for the Simca Automobile Co. said yesterday that increased sales of automobiles was the only reason he could ascribe for the recent sharp rise in Simca stock on the Paris Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange in New York.

"Yellow House" is a Soviet expression meaning insane, said an American official. "Yellow House" is a Soviet expression meaning insane, said an American official.

The article said 40 per cent of the men rejected by the U.S. armed services for health reasons.

Adopted Orphan Caught in Ruins of Taylor Tangle

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A 15-month-old German girl adopted by Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth Taylor only a few months ago was caught in the ruins of their marriage today.

The child, Rome reports, was taken from a Munich orphanage in January and given to Miss Taylor and Fisher by the German Embassy in Rome.

German adoption officials refuse to confirm that the girl—said to be known as Maria—had been turned over to the stars. And they would not say what would happen to Maria now.

Adoption lawyers, however, said it probably would be up to the divorce court to decide whether Fisher or Miss Taylor would keep Maria, or whether she would be returned to German authorities.

Downtown Plan Almost Ready

Renewal Director Says Central Business Area Proposal Being Printed

The long awaited $40,000 Central Business District Plan is now in the hands of printers and tentatively scheduled for unveiling April 25, according to James R. Bates, city planning department and urban renewal director.

Bates told members of the city planning commission meeting last night that "the final plan is finished. All we have to do is get it printed."

He explained that the date was only tentative, depending on how soon the printing can be finished. The final plan would be shown and explained in detail to a joint meeting of planning commissioners, the City Commission, administrators and the Downtown Pontiac Association.

The city and downtown businessmen each paid half for the plan prepared by David S. Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

A sneak preview was presented to city officials and business leaders last November.

Replace Yours Often?

Car Muffler a Problem

By BEN PILEGAK

AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — For years most motorists have regarded mufflers as necessary evils which had to be taken care of and replaced far too frequently.

The gripes reached a peak a few years ago as car owners suffered the after-effects of the dual exhaust bling of the mid-50s. Replacement costs for some of the more elaborate dual systems ran well over $100.

The car manufacturers, besiegled by cries for help, turned their attention to the materials field, seeking something which would withstand the acids and material that accompany the exhaust gases from internal combustion.

The solutions appeared to lie in coated steels and the major ones used were aluminum steel, zinc-coated steel and ceramic-coated steel. The aluminum variety is now found to some extent on about 90 per cent of all American cars.

As original equipment, ceramic coating is being received a steady far by American Motors for Ramblers.

All three types, as well as mufflers using stainless steel, are available in the replacement market with varying guarantees on length of service.

GUARANTEED BY AMC

American Motors was so enthusiastic about its ceramic variety, which first appeared on 1961 models, that it guaranteed them for as long as the original purchaser owned the car. An AMC spokesman said the company is very happy with the results.

Now comes a favorable report on extended life of aluminum mufflers. American Steel Corp. says a study of 1,600 cars, all 1959 models, showed a 12 per cent failure rate for aluminum mufflers after 27 months of service. A similar test of uncoated steel mufflers showed a 56 per cent failure rate, the company reported.

The 1962 model year was the first in which aluminum mufflers were included as original equipment. Amco says its study, by an independent research firm, showed a steady increase in the use of a steadily selected group representing all, but four states and including a cross section of farm, rural-urban and urban cars.

Three per cent of the failures showed up in the first 18 months.

The failure rate after 24 months was per cent. In contrast the uncoated rate was 56 per cent after 18 months and 82 per cent after 24 months.

The basic function of a muffler is to smooth the flow of exhaust gases from the engine and to absorb as much as possible of the engine noise.

Mufflers fail because of corrosion from the inside, due to acids and moisture, and from the outside mainly to the use of corrosive materials, such as salt, to keep streets and roads free of ice.

Some 60 different designs are used as original equipment on 1962 models. Basically the muffler consists of a shell and an outer wrap and can most designs the outer wrap can fail without immediately affecting the operation of the muffler itself.

Firms Overlook

Seaway Savings

Head of Development

Corp. Disappointed at

Inquiry Into Shipping

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway

Development Corp., Joseph H. Mc-

Cann, said today he is disappointed in the amount of "vigorous inquiry into the use of the seaway."

Too many businesses are overlooking the saving potential in exporting their products via the seaway, McCann told delegates to the 17th annual Cleveland World Trade Conference.

He said the Department of Income found in a recent study that it could save $50,000,000 by making greater use of the seaway and that there was a potentially larger saving indicated for future years.

McCann cited a University of Wisconsin study that showed Wisconsin shipped more goods to Europe and South America via transported cheaper because of the seaway route.

He cited sample percentages of savings, based on delivered price, of 8 to 10 per cent on heavy motor vehicles; 10 per cent on vanloads;

10 per cent on packing house products; 6 per cent on tobacco.

He said the ICC estimates of $1.75 trillion in 1962

trains.

He told the diamond anniversary celebration in prepared remarks that "assuming we only maintain our current growth rate of 3 per cent a year, we will double our GNP in 25 years."

National growth is the goal, he said, and this goal can be achieved only by developing and using transportation resources in the most efficient manner.

The burden of much of this task rests with the regulatory functions of the ICC, he said.

Gains and Losses Balanced

Stock Mart Gropes Unevenly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market groped unevenly in the afternoon trading today this afternoon.

Motors made narrow gains.

Gains and losses of key stocks were pretty well balanced. Most movements were small, some going to a point or so.

Wider moves occurred among a scattering of selected issues.

The noon rise in the average was mainly accounted for by gains of more than a point in

Ford and Union Carbide but these advances were erased as the session wore on.

Further news of the stock market investigation was no help morale. The Washington probe bribe contractors also tended to breed uncertainty. The market as a whole hung only slightly above its low of the year and traders were waiting to see "which way

the cat would jump."

Most of the major stock groups were thoroughly irregular.

General Motors recouped a fraction of yesterday's loss. Ford,

Chrysler and American Motors made similar gains.

Steels were unchanged to narrowly mixed. Rails were a bit lower. Baltimore and Ohio dropped about a point. Chesapeake and Oils, tobacco, chemicals and drugs were very uneven. The aerospace issues tended to be moderate. Simca dropped a point prominently in the Washington investigation of missile contracts was off around a point, as was Boeing. United Aircraft gained a fraction.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate. Simca dropped a half dozen points in further reaction to denial of merger rumors. Phillips Electronics was sold heavily and off a fraction.

Aerojet-General lost about 2 and Hamilton Electro more than a point. Pep Boys advanced a point while Rayette addadno Devices did a little better than that. Brazilian Traction was an active frac-tionary.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

U.S. Government bonds advanced in moderate trading.

American Stock Exch.

Bonds Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond prices opened irregularly higher today.

The advances were tiny in com-

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities quoted some long issues up 1/32 and some intermediates about 1/32. Trading was not too active.

Yesterday's gains carried

There were few moves of a full

Walker Aims Blasts at Men and Shadows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who charges that shadowy forces hand in hand with communism are eating at the American way of life, has singled out a Defense Department aide as having helped the Communists.

Walker resumes his testimony today before a Senate subcommittee. In seven hours of angry testimony yesterday he blasted away at government officials — from President Kennedy down — and contended the nation was following a policy of "no win and retreat from victory."

Gives Opinion on Airport Plan

Kelley Says County Doesn't Need Vote to Buy Land for Site

LANSING (AP) — Procedures to be followed by the board of supervisors in establishing a proposed $30 million airport in Oakland County were outlined today by Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

Kelley issued the opinion in response to a query from Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, who has received protests from property owners in the area of the proposed 3,000-acre site in Orion Township.

The airport would serve Oakland, Macomb and northern Wayne counties.

The board of supervisors is authorized to establish an airport and acquire property for the site without a vote of the electors, Kelley said.

The supervisors also may, without voter approval, use funds for airport purposes which are not already appropriated or earmarked for other purposes, he said.

Swainson Fears Cash Crisis

Kennedy Urges $500 Million to Unsnarl Roads

Eventual Bargain Rates for Travelers Hinted in Message to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy proposed a $500-million hand-out to traffic-strangled cities today — and dangled hopes of eventual bargain rates before the nation's air, rail and bus travelers.

Kennedy bundled up his ideas in a 10,000-word transportation message and sent it off to Congress. He ignored former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's recommendation for creation of a government department of transportation.

The $500 million would be only a first installment, spread over three years, to be given to public agencies. They would put up some partially matching funds and use the combined federal-local money for "the revitalization and needed expansion of public mass transportation."

For the traveling public and for bulk freight—grain, coal, oil and farm and factory products, Kennedy recommended that Congress, end minimum rates prescribed under federal regulation. Just what passengers on what lines might get lower rates in time was not spelled out. But federal officials said they hoped for some "bargain rates to attract people away from cars" as well as for congressional action to prevent price wars.

The rate and mass transit recommendations, and a string of others, were part of a long-range attack on complicated, controversial problems Kennedy said "are burdening our national transportation system, jeopardizing the progress and security on which we depend."

In general, Kennedy spoke of continued reliance on private enterprise, but he urged long-range federal policies—reforms designed to downsize regulating and subsidizing and make carrying its load with more vigor and competition and innovation.

Canceled last year, delayed this year, the transportation message was the last of a series Kennedy planned to lay out in the coming Congress to emphasize his program for the country. His deputy speaker, Sen. Myer Feldman, told reporters:

"This is the first time in the history of the United States we have had a message by the President dealing with this subject. The problem up to now has been considered too complex, too controversial, too difficult. It's not an easy subject."

Cranbrook Has Answer to Your Weight Worries

A new way to lose weight fast is available at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills.

The institute has installed a scale which is adjusted to show your poundage on the moon where you would lose nearly five-sixths of your weight on earth. Those not contenting for the flyweight title can weigh in at the gravity of Venus (88 per cent of earth's) or that of Mars (29 per cent of earth's).

Highest in 36-Year History

With retail sales by Pontiac dealers totaling $1,041 cars last month, Pontiac Motor Division sales for the 1962 model year are running highest in the division's 36-year history, it was announced today.

GMC Truck & Coach Division sales also boomed with retail deliveries totaling 13,141 trucks in the first three months of 1962 — the highest level for any first quarter since 1958, according to Calvin J. Werner, GM vice president and general manager of the division.

The local sales figures followed the record breaking trend throughout the auto industry.

State Would Get Brunt of Pleasure Boat Tax

President Kennedy has proposed a tax on the nation's pleasure boats which would cost Michigan boat owners an estimated $4 million annually — more than any other state.

The tax would affect boats 14 feet or longer, possibly both powered and unpowered.

Under the President's plan, submitted to Congress yesterday, the tax would be $5 per year for 14 to 16 footers and $3 for each foot over 16.

Michigan leads the nation with 42,347 registered boats which would qualify for the new tax. Another 150,000 unregistered craft — canoes, sailboats and others — operating without motor power — might also be taxed.

The boating tax plan would produce more than $4 million across the nation to finance the purchase of land and water areas for public recreation, part of Kennedy's national conservation program.

Downtown Plan to Be Out Soon

Renewal Director Says Central Business Area Proposal Being Printed

The long awaited $40,000 Central Business District Plan is now in the hands of printers and tentatively scheduled for unveiling April 25, according to James R. Bates, city planning department and urban renewal director.

Bates told members of the city planning commission meeting last night that "the final plan is finished. All we have to do is get it printed."

He explained that the date was only tentative, depending on how soon the printing can be finished. The final plan would be shown and explained in detail to a joint meeting of the city commission, administrators and the Downtown Pontiac Association.

The city and downtown businessmen each paid half the cost of the plan prepared by David S. Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

A sneak preview was presented to city officials and business leaders last November.

Palmer Is Favored in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The largest field in Masters history went out after golf's biggest jackpot of the year today and the betting was that Arnold Palmer, although not as sharp as usual, will grab the lion's share when the firing winds up Sunday.

A field of more than 100 golfers starts play in the annual spring classic at 9:15 a.m. for the first of four 18-hole rounds.

And despite the scrambling he had done in practice rounds it generally was agreed that 25-year-old Palmer definitely was the player to beat.

The feeling was that once the firing starts Palmer would rise to the occasion as he has so many times in the past and get back on the game which has made him golfing's golden boy since he turned professional back in 1954 and pocketed total money winnings of $278,738.89.

No other golfer has come close to picking up that much cash in that six-year span.

A two-time Masters winner, Palmer refused to speculate on his own chances. (Related story on Page 4B.)

In Oakland County, an estimated 40,000 or more boats could be affected by the tax.

Don Kratt, safety director for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, said some 57,000 boats are registered with the secretary of state's office.

10 PCT. IN COUNTY Kratt estimated that 80 per cent of the county's registered craft are 14 feet or longer.

In addition, Kratt said, there are about 15,000 unregistered boats in the county larger than 14 feet.

At present, all power boats in the state must have a registration number — costing $2.

In addition, residents with a boat more than 16 feet long must purchase a state license. The fee starts at $3 for a boat less than 20 feet long and is graduated up to $15 for a boat between 42 and 50 feet long.

As one local boating official remarked: "It's another tax on top of a tax."

Revenue from the registration and license fees goes into the state's general fund. Money is then made available for development and improvement of Michigan's waterways and harbors.

Kratt objects to the proposed federal tax because "they (boaters) get nothing for their money now but a number."

He said safety legislation should be passed before tax legislation. "Before we start taxing the boaters more," Kratt said, "we should give them something for the money they're spending now."

As water safety director for the sheriff's department, he advocates stiff legislation to protect boat owners by regulating activities on lakes.

PART OF BILL President Kennedy, an avid boater himself, included the boating tax as part of an overall bill to provide more funds for recreation.

If the presidential yacht "Bonnie Blue" were taxable under the plan, the annual payment would be $187. The 22-foot craft, however, is a government-owned and therefore not taxable.

Among other revenue-producing portions of Mr. Kennedy's bill are these proposals:

— Additional fees to recreation areas. The Interior Department was reported to be thinking in terms of a fee of $2 or $3 per automobile which would be good for a year for free access to any recreational area by the car's occupants. Yield: $25 million to $30 million a year.

— Diversion for this purpose of proceeds from sale of federal surplus nonmilitary buildings and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Prepares Plea for Overhaul of State Taxes

Will Tell Legislators Michigan Faces More Payless Paydays

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson warned the legislature today that unless it acts soon to revamp the state tax structure Michigan will face "the dismal prospect of a financial crisis that will do us injury and shame."

The governor, in a special message prepared for delivery to a joint session of the House and Senate, now scheduled for 2:15 this afternoon, pleaded with lawmakers to end their feuding and join in a bipartisan effort to solve the state's worsening financial troubles.

Swainson told the legislature that "the payless payday fiscal year which disgraced us all" in 1959 when the state Treasury deficit created a cash crisis may well be repeated in 1962.

The current deficit, fast climbing toward $100 million, is already at "an alarming point," he said.

"Our physical plant will continue to suffer, he said. "And, all the while, the people will continue to see their needs ignored and their aspirations snuffed out by the government they elected to serve and encourage them."

Swainson noted that a variety of tax programs including his own corporate and personal income tax plan, have been submitted to the legislature.

He said he would not insist on acceptance of his proposal but would accept a plan he considers inadequate, inequitable or temporary.

Said the governor: "I call today for fiscal responsibility of the highest order, a program that will relieve the poor, both the business and the family, of the unfair tax burden each now is forced to shoulder."

"I call for a revenue program based on ability to pay."

Any tax program, he said, must: — Provide more monies to help out local units of government.

— Provide increased revenues to meet the needs of a growing state.

— Promote job creation and encourage economic growth.

— Provide tools to modernize the school system, the mental health institutions and parks.

Swainson asserted that his proposed $228 million budget for 1962-63 was "reasonable and attainable." His requests, he said, "represent no more than realistic needs."

Fiscal reform, he said, will not solve all the state's problems.

"But, without it," he said, "there can be no real, lasting answer."

Goulart Vows to Repay Firms

Kennedy Accepts Bid to Visit Brazil This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek has promised his government will make fair compensation for expropriated utility properties.

And, President Kennedy has accepted an invitation to visit Brazil sometime this year.

Those were the two major developments in two days of talks between the heads of state.

ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

The Brazilian president made his pledge of fair compensation in a joint communique issued Wednesday.

There have been protests in this country over seizure recently in Brazil of a subsidiary of the American-owned International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and the attempted expropriation of a Canadian telephone firm's subsidiary.

WAS SPECIFIC

Although the communique did not go into these instances it declared Goulart intends to maintain conditions of security which will permit private capital to perform its vital role in Brazilian economic development.

"The president of Brazil stated that in arrangements with the companies for the transfer of public utility enterprises to Brazilian ownership the principle of fair compensation, with reinvestment in other sectors important to Brazilian economic development would be maintained. President Kennedy expressed great interest in this approach," the communique said.

lands. Yield: $15 million to $20 million a year.

— Government retention of 2 cents per gallon of the excise tax on gasoline for gas used in boats. This portion of the tax is now refundable under existing law.

There are no federal taxes on pleasure boats. The Treasury had considered recommending an excise tax on new boats, but this was abandoned in favor of a use tax on pleasure craft over 14 feet in length.

No entrance fees are now charged for most federal parks and recreational areas except for a few of the more spectacular tourist attractions like the Grand Canyon.

Kennedy observed that in the past it has been traditional to charge the out of doors as "free." However, he said, outdoor recreational programs were expensive, and had been supported through a combination of general revenues, fees, fishing and hunting licenses, and excise taxes on fishing tackle, sporting arms and ammunition.

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms dumped sections from the southern and south central Plains into the central part of the nation today and headed eastward.

The showers belt extended across the middle Mississippi Valley and the southwestern Great Lakes region. Thunderstorms rumbled across areas in central Texas and showers spread into the lower Mississippi Valley. Heaviest rains were in Texas, with one-inch falls in a six-hour period reported in Amarillo, Fort Worth and Austin.

The rain was expected to extend over the southern and central Midwest and the Ohio Valley, with showers and occasional thunderstorms from the eastern half of the southern Plains to the southern Appalachians.

Supervisors Get Budget Tuesday

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors will select officers and receive a $16,705,000 tentative budget for county government in 1963 at Tuesday's meeting.

Supervisors also will be asked to proceed more cautiously with plans for a multimillion-dollar major jet airport proposed for construction within the next 10 years.

The board already has approved spending $275,000 for the initial purchase of land within the 5,000-acre proposed site north of Pontiac.

Board Chairman Delos Hamlin, Farmington supervisor, and Chairman Pro Tem Arno Hiet, Bloomfield Township supervisor, likely will be re-elected, since no opposition has been voiced yet. However, nominations can be made from the floor during the meeting.

If Hamlin is re-elected it will be to his seventh consecutive term. Hiet is completing his second term.

The meeting will offer the board its first look at the tentative budget for 1963. Once again the County Board of Auditors is coming forth with a recommendation for a larger budget than that of the preceding year.

No action on the tentative budget is expected at this time. The supervisors probably will take it under advisement until the April 16 meeting. They have until September to approve a final budget recommendation for the County Tax Allocation Board.

In other business, Orion Township Supervisor John Lestner intends to introduce a "go-down" motion on the proposed county jet airport in Orion and Pontiac Townships.

Lestner has said he will call for a halt on the plans until it can be accurately determined how much the major airport would cost the county.

Some 100 residents in the affected area have announced plans to attend the supervisors' meeting in force to dramatize their protests to the proposed airport.

UP Studies Nationhood — to Lure Foreign Aid

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's underprivileged half, the Upper Peninsula, might solve its economic problems by becoming a nation, and thus, qualify for foreign aid.

Some Upper Peninsula residents want to secede from the state to form another state patterned after the Nevada idea of revenue-bonded gambling houses and brightly-lit honky-tonks.

At least one other citizen of the North Country feels that if secession is the answer, why stop at statehood?

State Rep. Elmer Erlanson, D-Escanaba, said yesterday one of his constituents, Pat Hayes, is circulating a proclamation in the UP on behalf of an organization known as "Upper Peninsulans for National Status."

The tongue-in-cheek movement is aimed at pointing up some of the shortcomings of the more serious secession-for-statehood drive, Erlanson said.

"Red ink is such a common malady in the UP that the federal Area Redevelopment Administration has designated the entire land body as a depressed area."

"UPNS" would create the "nation of Superior," Hayes said, because "separate statehood" can only complicate the problems of the Upper Peninsula... but nationhood will make it eligible for foreign aid. This is more generous than domestic aid and on a non-contributing basis which will make the nation of Superior debt free."

Other proposals in the proclamation included:

LAND OF SOLID DOLLAR — "That the name of the area be changed from the Land of the Red Rock, to the Land of the Solid Dollar and that a sound currency be established and that Dollarville or Dollar Bay (two cities in the UP) be named the capital."

A spokeswoman for the group known as "Women Strike for Peace" — said the basic take-over was one of several suggestions they would put to Kennedy if he agreed to meet them. The cable was signed by Dagmar Wilson, founder of the group, Mrs. Martin Luther King, wife of the American Negro leader, and Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the American industrialist.

The group arrived here Monday in an attempt to put pressure on delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference to reach speedy agreement.

Women Pacifists Seek to Disarm Base for Peace

GENEVA — Fifty American women pacifists decided today they will ask President Kennedy to let them take over a military base near the Soviet Union — so they can disarm it and turn it into a cultural exchange center. In a cable sent to the White House they said:

"It is imperative that 50 American women now in Geneva report directly to you in Washington on our return Saturday p.m. April 7."

300 Expected at Institute on Gifted Child Education

BIRMINGHAM — Three hundred educators, sociologists and psychologists are expected to attend the first Institute on Gifted Child Education to be held Saturday at the City and Country School in Bloomfield Hills.

The Institute was conceived by George Roeper, headmaster at the school, to acquaint local delegates with the latest in theory and practical educational experiences in dealing with the mentally gifted student.

Author-educator Dr. Benjamin Fine will give the keynote address.

His talk, entitled "New Frontiers in Gifted Child Education," at 10 a.m., will start a day-long series of workshop programs.

These will deal with the identification and psychology of gifted children in addition to giving emphasis to curriculum programming and content for their education.

City and Country is one of only two schools in the nation devoted entirely to educating the gifted child. The other is Hunter Elementary School in New York.

The Bloomfield Hills school's enrollment of 287 is made up entirely of boys and girls with minimum IQs of 130. It has an average student body intelligence quotient of 161. Classes range from nursery school through the eighth grade.

Special School Fund Up to County Board

The Oakland County Board of Education next Thursday will be asked to approve a $1,219,000 budget for countywide special education. The figure is about the same as last year's, according to County Schools Supt. William J. Emerson.

The funds are derived from a one-half mill countywide property tax and from state aid.

Income for the budgeted 1962-63 period is expected to be $1.25 million, Dr. Emerson said. The county board also is expected to carry over a cash balance of $311,000.

year's because of centering more services in local schools.

(2) — $43,000 for equipment for special education.

(3) — $38,000 in subsidies for specialized education programs provided in local school districts, including programs for the physically handicapped, the mentally handicapped and visiting teachers.

The subsidies are prescribed by law which provides for the county and state to share costs.

Emerson said a $35,000 increase in the budget request over last year was due to an increase in services.

(4) — $350,000 for new buildings and equipment in local school districts.

Motorists caught washing their cars along the Seine or Marne Rivers are subject to court fines under a new French law.

City School Unit Probing Charges Against Proud

The Pontiac School District is making its own investigation of charges made and dropped against Asst. Supt. Philip J. Proud, according to Supt. of Schools Dana P. Whitmer.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's office last Friday refused to issue a warrant against Dr. Proud on the ground that there was insufficient evidence of moral charges made by Detroit Police.

Proud has been relieved from his duties since shortly after his arrest March 17. He was freed on March 19, when the prosecutor delayed a warrant request.

Held in the death was dispatcher Utus Carwell, 40.

Cab Firm Official Slain Following Row

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A taxicab company executive was shot to death last night following an argument with his dispatcher who has been jailed for investigation of murder.

Dead was Lee Fry, 46, co-owner of City Cab Co. at Battle Creek. Calhoun County Prosecutor Noble Moore said Fry died after being shot in the chest once by a 22-caliber pistol. A post mortem examination was scheduled in the case.

Assistant City Manager David Tull showed a film, "Civil Defense and What We Can Do," and delivered a talk. Plans were further set for Poppy Day sales and prizes set for Poppy posters. The posters will be picked up at city schools this week and judged by April 15. Winners will be sent to the district contest after this date. Guests attending the meeting

A film on civil defense and May's Poppy Day sales were two items discussed when Cook-Nelson American Legion Auxiliary Post No. 20 met recently in joint session with the Post.

15 Vietnamese Killed in Viet Cong Ambush

SAIGON (AP) — Communist Viet Cong guerrillas ambushed and killed 15 soldiers, including an acting district chief, in South Vietnam's Phong Dinh Province 100 miles southwest of Saigon, the semi-official government news agency reported today.

The report said 18 other soldiers in the government group, on a mission to supply outposts in the area, were wounded and one other was missing in the clash, which occurred last Monday.

Viet Cong casualties, if any, were not known.

Fire Destroys Building in Boyne City; None Hurt

BOYNE CITY (AP) — A two-story building in this city's downtown section was destroyed today by a fire that apparently broke out in a tavern on the ground floor.

Firemen said it began shortly after closing time and quickly burned out of control. A woman living in a second floor apartment above the bar escaped unhurt.

Concerned Over Reds

LONDON (AP) — Concern at the number of Communists and Red sympathizers holding positions in civil service unions is expressed in an official report on British security procedures issued today.

Eastern Storm Labeled Worst

Weather Bureau Expert Tells House Unit That Damage Was High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Weather Bureau official told a House Merchant Marine subcommittee yesterday that the recent eastern storm was "the most severe and destructive winter storm which ever visited the Atlantic Coast, at least since the turn of the century."

R. H. Simpson, the bureau's chief of research on severe storms, said the storm killed at least 34 people and is estimated to have destroyed at least $200 million worth of property.

The bureau's forecast of the storm, he said, was "timely" for the area north of Atlantic City, N.J.

"South of there," he said, "the weather conditions were complicated and the warnings were not so good." The problem, Simpson said, was that the bureau's Washington computer was unable "to catch the motion which occurred and we were somewhat handicapped."

Another factor was that the bureau had few topographic maps of the area suitable for predicting likely flood areas, he said.

350-Foot Rocket Being Planned for Moon Flight

NEW YORK (UP) — A space rocket as tall as a 36-story building — that may carry three Americans to the moon — is in the planning stage.

The projected 350-foot rocket, called the Nova, was reported on yesterday by Alfred G. Orillon of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Orillon told a Society of Automotive Engineers' national aeronautic session that the three-stage rocket would have some 15 million pounds of thrust.

The Atlas rocket, which boosted Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit, is about one-fourth as high as Nova and develops 30,000 pounds of thrust.

Spur Efforts to End Coast Ship Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Severe food shortages in Hawaii and financial losses in the West Coast area today spurred federal officials' efforts to end the three-week West Coast maritime strike.

A three-man panel appointed by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg failed to report any progress during yesterday's meeting with Maritime Association (PMA) and striking seamen, firemen, cooks and stewards.

The strike has idled about half of the 120 ships operated by PMA members. Only a few vessels have been released to carry essential military cargo, including equipment for the nuclear test preparations at Christmas Island.

Hungary Celebrates 'Liberation' by Reds

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Communist Hungary commemorated its World War II liberation by the Soviet Army with a giant military parade in Budapest Wednesday displaying latest Russian-made jets and rockets.

The parade, watched by Premier Janos Kadar, the entire cabinet and 100,000 spectators, included modern medium and heavy tanks, 12 ground-to-air rockets, and supersonic fighters. Defense Minister Lajos Csatvar said in a speech the Communist countries had co-ordinated their defense plans and were keeping military efficiency at the highest level.

Bucking GOP Members Trouble 'Ev and Charlie'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "Ev and Charlie" leadership team is having its troubles with Republicans in Congress threatening to ride off in different directions on some major issues.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana face some challenges from bucking members who ordinarily would be satisfied with their conservative course. Dirksen's difficulties center around a compromise proposal to authorize President Kennedy to provide up to $100 million in financing for the United Nations. The challenge to Halleck came from an unusual source—his own party's national chairman, Rep. William E. Miller of New York.

Without consulting Halleck, Miller has tried to drum up support for a GOP substitute for the administration's plan to link medical care for the elderly to the Social Security system. Halleck thus far has given no sign he is willing to buy the substitute. Dirksen, who usually supports the administration on major foreign policy action, believed he had quieted most Republican opposition to Kennedy's request for authority to purchase $100 million in U.N. bonds by agreeing to a substitute worked out by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and others.

This would have authorized the President to loan the U.N. up to $100 million at interest terms and limit of time he might fix. But when it became apparent that the President could purchase 25-year, 2 per cent interest U.N. bonds under this authority, conservative Republicans exploded.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, was one of those who bucked. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for conservatives, condemned the substitute.

This left Dirksen in the position of leading a flock going in two directions, since liberal Republicans supported the proposal.

LIBERALS RALLY
The liberals rallied around Dirksen's efforts in a series of Senate speeches Wednesday, calculated to demonstrate that a substantial portion of Republicans back the United Nations and the financing proposal.

Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ind., Thomas H. Kitchel, R-Calif., Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and Prescott Bush, R-Conn., all hit this theme.

In the House, Halleck has kept his own counsel about Miller's proposal for GOP backing of a measure by Rep. Frank Bow, R-Ohio, to help finance medical care for the elderly through private health insurance plans.

In any showdown on the issue, party members are betting that Halleck will carry a solid majority with him.

Plasma May Run New Spaceships

Engine Being Developed to Run Craft on 'Swarm of Smashed Atoms'

WASHINGTON — Engines of future spaceships may be run on plasma, a substance that is neither solid nor liquid, or a gas.

A plasma is a substance so hot that its atoms have violently smashed one another to bits. The result is an angry swarm of electrons and positive ions, the remainder of the atoms from which electrons have been stripped away.

Until recently, few people except astronomers realized that most material in the universe, including the stars and many loose particles in space, is in this unfamiliar "fourth state" of matter, the National Geographic says.

Only in exceptional places, as on earth, does matter settle down into solids, liquids, or gases.

NEW ENGINE BUILT
The sun, being a star, is largely plasma. So is the visible path of a bolt of lightning, and so are the earth's ionosphere and the Van Allen radiation belts that present a hazard for astronauts.

Man-made plasmas occur in neon and fluorescent lamps, electric arcs, the exhaust of a jet and rocket engines, and, terrifyingly, the fireball of a hydrogen bomb.

Recently, scientists of the Republic Aviation Corp. reported success in developing a "plasma pinch" space engine that will spit out bursts of plasma at 100,000 miles per hour.

Though the thrust itself is tiny, they believe it can push a vehicle through space. Space ships need little power once they have overcome the earth's gravitational pull.

But the vehicles must produce some force over weeks or months to reach their distant destinations. The Republic plasma pinch engine reportedly can run for a year on a pound of hydrogen.

Solar cells convert the energy of the sun into electricity, which turns the nitrogen gas into a plasma and then squeezes the substance with magnetic power to squirt it out at enormous speed.

The plasma may reach a temperature as high as 200,000 degrees Fahrenheit. In contrast the 3,000 degrees of the gas flames on a kitchen stove seem almost chilly.

'Oldest Friend' Sends Greetings to Pal, 103
BINGHAMTON, N. Y. — The birthday card Augustus A. Lewis received was signed by Albert F. Davis, "you oldest friend." Both are 103.

Lewis is 14 days older than Davis, whose birthday was Feb. 28.

The verse on the birthday card said: "We've had a few birthdays in our time, guess that's easy to see. So I'll button my lip about your age. If you'll do the same for me."

The centenarians became acquainted when they were 100.

Taking Gift Friendly Thing to Do

By The Emily Post Institute
Q. My fiancé and I have been invited to a young married couple's new apartment. This will be our first visit since their marriage. My fiancé thinks we should take a small present for their new house.
A: Taking a gift for the new house is not at all obligatory, but it is a friendly gesture and one which many follow.

Q: I have just divorced my husband after ten years of marriage. This news is not generally known. Rather than go through the ordeal of telling people personally, I thought it would be simplest and easier on me to send printed announcements to friends and relatives notifying them of my divorce. Would the following announcement be in order?
Mary Brown Smith announces that on March 1st she was granted a divorce from Richard W. Smith by Judge Jones.

SOPRANO TO SING

Two members of the University of Michigan's school of music are featured. Also appearing will be Esther Benson, as Madam Wozniak, lyrical artist of New York City, formerly of Detroit. Mrs. Benson, a soprano with a flair for comedy will present humorous renditions of lyrics of the 1800's, French art songs circa 1900, and an English border-line ballad of the 1890's. Audrey Jennings of Gross Pointe will accompany her.

Charles Fisher, assistant professor of piano, and Eugene Bossart, associate professor of accompanying and vocal literature, at the U. of M. will appear in a two-piano recital. They will include works by Poulenc, Brahms and Rachmaninoff.

Mr. Fisher and Mr. Bossart made their debut last spring as a piano team and appeared last year on a Tuesday Musica program.

PERFORMED AS SOLOIST

Mr. Fisher has given soloist performances with the Jackman, Ann Arbor and University of Michigan symphonies. He has toured the Midwest as both soloist and accompanist and while in Europe appeared in both capacities throughout southern Germany under the auspices of the 7th Army Special Service.
Mr. Bossart has toured America, Canada, Europe, South America, and the West Indies with such well-known personalities as Mario Lanza, Charles Kullman, James Melton and Eleanor Steber.
His career in music began at the age of 11 as an accompanist for a male chorus in his home town, Erie, Pa. He was later a scholarship student in accompanying at Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia where he became associated with Mme. Elizabeth Schuman, noted leader singer, who assisted in launching Mr. Bossart's career as an accompanist.

Abby Says: Too Possessive

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and am engaged to a very jealous boy. He insists on seeing me every night. When I come home from work I have my washing and ironing to do, and I like to go to a movie with a girl friend once in a while.
ABBY
He allows me to have one night away from him every two weeks. And then he gives me the third degree about what I did and who I saw.
I think I am entitled to one evening a week away from him. He says because we are

Life Is Romance With Danger for the Angel of Hell's Kitchen

By GALE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — She is a little blonde, just 5 feet tall and weighing less than a hundred pounds. When she took the job, she neglected to tell her that she got it because a vacancy had been created in an unusual way. The man who held the job before her had been murdered. On the job, today, she bears the scars of the years she spent as "The Angel of Hell's Kitchen." Her legs are criss-crossed by ugly marks from the night when she was flung down two flights of tenement stairs and beaten brutally by a madman.
Her hands bear the marks of a teen-ager's knife, holed razor sharp. Her face is scarred from a beating administered by two hoods.
Her name is Bernice Offenber. For 10 years, she was an investigator in the worst slums of New York: first the area known as Hell's Kitchen, then Harlem, San Juan Hill and the Bowery. At the beginning, she was known as "The dame from welfare."

But it was Father William A. Scully, now Bishop Scully

of Albany, who first called her "The Angel of Hell's Kitchen." And this is the title by which she has become a living American legend.
"If I had the choice," she told this interviewer, "I'd

Mrs. Duncan McCallum is among returning travelers, having arrived home Sunday from Pompano Beach, Fla. She also visited Naples, Fla. where she was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Martin.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Witbeck have returned home briefly from their farm in Kentucky. The family soon will go to the Grand Bahamas Club for a 10-day vacation.
Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Shaw gave a brunch Sunday morning for their niece Joan McDonald who is home on vacation from Wellesley College. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McDonald of Bloomfield Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Black Gillette (Alicia Hayes Cummins) announce the birth of a daughter Katherine Grace March 25.
Mrs. Ralph L. Polk has returned to her home "High Gate" on Lone Pine Road from a Mediterranean cruise.
A son Timothy Allan was born March 26 to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Drake. Mrs. Drake is the former Mary McClure.
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Craig and two of their sons, David and Warren, are spending the boys' vacation from Cranbrook School at Nassau.
She has told her story in the recently published book, "The Angel of Hell's Kitchen." She does not know what may be coming next.
But one thing is certain: a woman of her really remarkable courage faces the future with complete confidence.

First Lady's Gowns Defended by Cassini

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — Her official couturier, Oleg Cassini, said today the unfavorable criticism that Jacqueline Kennedy's wardrobe in Philadelphia was in "appealing bad taste."
Other top-notch designers in the garment district here also rushed to the defense of the First Lady, who twice has been on the world's best dressed list.
"SKIRTS TOO SHORT" Designer John Moore touched off the controversy as a pundit on the subject of "what is a well dressed woman?" when he declared, among other things, that Mrs. Kennedy's clothes appeared twisted and ill-fitted, and that her skirts were too short. He said that her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, was much more elegant.
"Actually, the people involved should not be dignified by a statement," replied the irate Cassini. He said he had been ticked by the whole incident.
"The appalling bad taste involved only showed bad manners, which are truly a disgrace to the industry. I don't wish to comment further," he said.
John Vassickis, executive vice president of the Cassini organization, also took exception, saying:
"Ill-fitting dresses for Mrs. Kennedy are completely out of the question. She has many titles. Every dress we make fits her like a glove. This is a girl who has a very beautiful figure. She would look marvelous in any dress out of a stockroom, but her clothes are made especially for her."
HER OWN BUSINESS "As for her skirts being short, that's her own damned business. With people going to the moon and with atom bombs to worry about, I don't see why her hem lengths are so important."
"Elegance is a personal matter. Just because a woman is wife of a king or a president... well, she's still a human being. And she still has the right to please herself."

EASY OVERBLOUSE

Spirit 6 Planning for May 7 Dinner

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Metropolitan Club, Spirit 6, met Tuesday evening at the Yale Street clubhouse, with Mrs. Clay Parrett serving as hostess.
Plans were announced for the May 7 cooperative dinner for members in the club rooms.

Bill Blass, designer for Maurice Rentner, defended Moore's right to criticize, but didn't agree with his views.

Love to Dress Her

Jacques Tiffau, French-born designer with the Monte-Sano dress house, said, "Well, in a way I agree. But what can you say? Who is perfect? Her skirts are a bit too short. Oh, how I would love to dress her. How beautiful I would make her. She is typical of the young generation, so... what is the word... casual?"
"I don't permit myself to judge anyone I don't know," Pauline Trigere said of Mrs. Kennedy. "There may be truth to what he (Moore) says. I've seen her pictures, but you can't judge that way."
Mamie Eisenhower's favorite designer, Mollie Parnis, had nothing but praise for the lady who has taken over the White House closet.
"I think Mrs. Kennedy is a great First Lady, the greatest influence on fashion we have ever had," she said.
"She is the epitome of perfection without even trying, and that's hard. She is natural and right without being wearing a sleeveless dress on a boat, or has her hair pulled back, or has a scarf tied around it."

Choosing favorite bonnets are four members of Our Lady of the Lakes Church Rosary Altar Society who will assist with a hat sale Friday and Saturday in the church school's gymnasium. Admiring the colorful chapeau array are (from left) Mrs. Earl Boyce, Homestead Drive, Waterford; Mrs. Thomas Macerero and Mrs. Frederick R. Felix, both of Dill Road, Drayton Plains; and Mrs. Jack A. Miesel, Highfield Street, Drayton Plains.

Five Subdivisions to City of Utica

To Suggest June 4 for Annexation Vote

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — June 4 is the date the township will recommend to the Macomb County Board of Supervisors for a vote on the annexation of five township subdivisions to the City of Utica.

Township Supervisor Lorin E. Evans will make the recommendation Monday at the Board of Supervisors' monthly meeting. The township board voted to recommend the date.

Utica officials are also in favor of this date, Evans said today.

Evans, opposed to the annexation, succeeded in postponing action to set an election date at the March meeting of the supervisors.

The township board also has appointed two township attorneys, Fred York and Ray Rogness, to defend William Wendt.

Wendt resigned after three years in the post when Evans demanded that he spend at least one day a week at the township hall.

Evans had hoped to stall the annexation election until studies were completed on the possibility of making Shelby a charter township.

The subdivisions, comprising about 300 acres on Utica's eastern boundary, would gain the same advantages from a charter township as from a city, according to Evans.

Work by the township's charter

study commission has not been completed, however. It has been given additional work by Evans, who asked it to examine his proposal for three area authorities.

THREE SERVICE AREAS — These would pool resources for the control and development of major public services in Shelby and Sterling townships and Utica.

Under Evans' plan, an area authority would be set up in each of three service areas: Police and fire protection, water and sewer development, and a public works program.

Along with them would go changing the two townships to charter townships.

The idea has met favorable response from Sterling Township officials and other community and county leaders, Evans said.

Evans has asked the Greater Utica Chamber of Commerce to study the feasibility of this proposal along with its probe into the desirability of a Utica-Shelby-Sterling merger into a city.

'Tints and Tones' to Exhibit Work at Annual Show

May 26 is the date of the annual exhibit of the Tints and Tones Art Association, Mrs. Earle C. Heft of Birmingham, the group's president, has announced.

The show will be presented from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Parkland Recreation Center in Clawson.

Mrs. Heft said there are openings in the Wednesday evening art classes sponsored by the association at the recreation center. Leon Jewell has been conducting the classes for the past year.

The classes are open to the public. Information can be obtained from Mrs. Thomas Martin of 524 Redwood Drive, Troy.

Tentative $357,000 Budget OK'd in West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A tentative budget of $357,000 for the 1962-63 fiscal year was approved last night by the Township Board.

The budget, about $12,000 higher than last year, will not become final, however, until the County Tax Allocation Board verifies the township's share of the 15-mill limitation.

Last year the township received $1.40 from the county millage levied on each $100 of assessed valuation.

An additional voted one-mill tax per $100 is received by the township.

A proposed master plan is the reason for most of the increase in the new budget. The board allocated $10,000 for the study.

The board, in another action, approved the paving of Walnut Lake Road from Orchard Lake Road to Farmington Road.

The cost of the $38,000 project will be shared by the township and county.

Leadership Courses to Be Demonstrated

Sample demonstrations of leadership development courses to be offered later this month will be conducted in four area communities next week.

Instructors from the Gabriel Richard Institute, Detroit, will conduct the demonstrations as well as the regular classes which will begin the week of April 23.

The 8 p.m. demonstrations will be held at the Sacred Heart Church social hall, Emlay City, next Tuesday, St. Mary's Church, Milford, and St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus Hall, Utica, Wednesday, April 11; and Immaculate Conception School gym, Lapeer, Thursday, April 12.

Ford Co. to Occupy Shelby Plant in May

Near 'Y' Goal in Rochester

Drive for Membership Brings in $7,127 or 89 Pct. of Aim

ROCHESTER — With more than 89 per cent of its $8,000 goal reached, the public subscription phase of the local YMCA branch's 1962 membership campaign will be wrapped up this week.

Volunteer workers in the month-long drive are confident of achieving the goal by Tuesday, when a final report will be made at the regular monthly meeting of the Rochester YMCA's committee of management.

Total receipts of $7,127 have been reported so far, committee secretary Mrs. George H. Goble said today.

Although most of the volunteers have completed their work, some will be using this week of "cleanup operations" to make contacts in outlying areas, Mrs. Goble said.

Results of the drive have been "far better than last year's," she said. About 70 per cent of an $8,000 goal was reached last year.

While residents may join the YMCA at any time, the years program is based on the success of the membership campaign.

To Arraign Man on Charge of Felonious Assault

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A 32-year-old Ferndale man was to be arraigned this morning on a charge of felonious assault last Thursday on a man who is still unconscious today in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Smith Bush of 20791 Parkside, Eight Mile Road near Glenridge, was charged with the assault.

Harvey Dunlap of 21332 Parkside, Ferndale, was knocked unconscious when his head hit the side of a building during the fight.

Bush told police Dunlap approached him and a woman talking with him, Jetty Armer, 37, with a knife. Police said they found no knife on Dunlap or at the scene.

Police said the woman had been Dunlap's common law wife for 13 years before leaving him recently to live with Bush. The woman said Dunlap only wanted to talk to her.

Two Face Charges in Food Stamp Case

DETROIT (UPI)—A local grocer and the assistant manager of a loan company today faced federal charges for alleged misuse of government food stamps.

Anthony Zatina, owner of the Forest Market, and Robert K. Wright, assistant manager of the suburban Ferndale branch of the Liberty Loan Corp., were indicted yesterday by a local federal grand jury.

Zatina was charged with making a fraudulent report on a food stamp program redemption certificate and conspiring with Wright to cheat the government.

2,400 Workers to Make Move

Curtiss-Wright Building to House Operations Now in Highland Park

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Some 2,400 Ford Motor Co. workers will begin moving into the old Curtiss-Wright plant here the first week of May.

Gerald J. Dougher, industrial relations manager for Ford's trim plant, said today that trim operations will be moved to the recently acquired Mound Road plant from their present Highland Park location.

The move is expected to be completed by the end of May, Dougher said.

Ford purchased the two manufacturing plants and 650 acres of land from Curtiss-Wright in December. The sale followed Curtiss-Wright's failure to land an Air Force contract for a jet repair program.

HAVE TRANSFER RIGHTS

Trim employees will have transfer rights to the new location, Dougher said he did not know how many would choose to transfer.

Whether any new jobs will be made available by the move to Shelby Township and Utica area residents will depend on whether any choose not to transfer.

It is expected, however, that most present employees will make the move.

Trim operations now occupy the upper floors of the multilevel buildings in Highland Park.

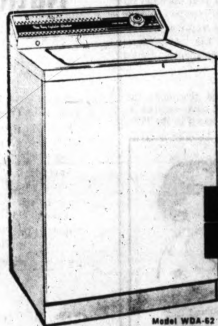

The single-story Shelby Township plants are expected to make possible more flexibility of product and layout.

Although township officials have said it is too early to predict whether the township's tax base will be improved by the move, the plant will be reassessed, and a raise in the personal property assessment is considered probable.

Some 1,400 other Ford workers at tractor production, industrial engine production and paint operations will remain in Highland Park.

Sulfur Is Found in Most Things

Used in Autos, Food, Fertilizers, Paint and Discovered in Air

WASHINGTON — The recent discovery of a layer of sulfur in the earth's atmosphere comes as no surprise to anyone familiar with the element.

In one way or another, sulfur gets into almost everything, the National Geographic Society says.

The average man's body contains about one-quarter of one per cent sulfur. He wakes to the tinkle of an alarm clock whose steel was "pickled" in sulfuric acid, a compound second only to water in industrial use. He washes with soap processed with the help of a sulfuric acid and puts on clothes bleached by sulfur dioxide or dyed with sulfur compounds.

He drinks orange juice from a glass protected by sulfur — containing fungicides and eats cereals that would never have reached his table but for fertilizers made with sulfuric acid. For his coffee, he may take sugar, refined with the help of sulfur, and cream from a cow, which, like every other living thing, requires sulfur to survive.

Climbing into his car, he starts the motor with a storage battery containing sulfuric acid. A spark ignites gasoline, refined by sulfuric acid, the wheels turn on sulfur-volcanized rubber.

He works in a building that sulfur made possible—from the explosives that dug the foundation to the last drop of paint on the interior walls.

From crib to casket, man lives in a world of sulfur-made things. Even in death, sulfur may follow him. Known as bromine to British writers, sulfur is the classic fuel of hell.

But sulfur is also a constituent of the heavens. Dr. Christian E. Junge and his associates of the Air Force Circulation Laboratory at Bedford, Massachusetts, recently found that a three-mile-thick layer of sulfur-containing particles exists about 11 miles above the earth's surface. The sulfur was detected by studies in the electron microscopes of air samples collected by high-altitude balloons. The air particles turned out to have sulfur as their principal ingredient.

The particles may help explain "purple light" — the conspicuous disk of red light often seen above the point of sunrise or sunset. The phenomenon has been observed for more than 100 years.

Replace Yours Often?

Car Muffler a Problem

By BEN PHILGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — For years most motorists have regarded mufflers as necessary evils which had to be taken care of and replaced far too frequently.

The gripes reached a peak a few years ago as car owners suffered the after-effects of the dual exhaust barge of the mid-50s. Replacement costs for some of the more elaborate dual systems run well over $100.

The car manufacturers, besieged by cries for help, turned their attention to the materials field, seeking something which would withstand the acids and moisture that accompany the exhaust gases from internal combustion engines.

The solutions appeared to lie in coated steels and the malleable iron, zinc-coated steel and ceramic-coated steel. The aluminum variety is now found to some extent on about 30 per cent of all American cars.

As original equipment, ceramic coating is used exclusively so far by American Motors for Rambler.

All three types, as well as coated steel, have been available in the replacement market with varying guarantees on length of service.

GUARANTEED BY AMC
American Motors was so enthusiastic about its ceramic variety, which first appeared on 1961 models, that it guaranteed them for as long as the original purchaser owned the car. An AMC spokesman said the company is very happy with the results.

Now comes a favorable report on extended life of aluminum mufflers. Armo Steel Corp. says a study of 1,600 cars, all 1959 models, showed a 12 per cent failure rate for aluminum mufflers after 27 months of service. A similar study of uncoated steel mufflers showed a 55 per cent failure rate, the company reported.

The 1960 model year was the first in which aluminum mufflers were included as original equipment. Armo says its study, by an independent research firm, involved a statistically selected group representing all but four states and including a cross section of farm, rural-suburban and urban cars.

Three per cent of the failures showed up in the first 18 months. The failure rate after 24 months was per cent. In contrast the uncoated steel mufflers showed a 18 months and 42 per cent after 24 months.

The basic function of a muffler is to smooth the flow of exhaust gases from the engine and to absorb as much as possible of the engine noise.

Mufflers fail because of corrosion from the inside, due to acids and moisture, and from the outside due mainly to the use of corrosive materials, such as salt, to keep streets and roads free of ice.

Some 60 different designs are used as original equipment on 1962 models. Basically the muffler consists of a cross section of a cone and on most designs the outer wrap can fall without immediately affecting the operation of the muffler itself.

'Firms Overlook Seaway Savings'

Head of Development Corp. Disappointed at Inquiry Into Shipping

CLEVELAND (AP) — The administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., Joseph H. McCann, said today he was disappointed in the amount of "vigorous inquiry into the use of the seaway."

Too many businesses are overlooking the saving potential in exporting their products via the seaway, McCann told delegates to the 17th annual Cleveland World Trade Conference.

He said the Department of Commerce found in a recent study that it could save $84,000 by making greater use of the seaway and that there was a potentially larger saving indicated for future years.

McCann cited a University of Wisconsin study that showed Wisconsin's various items shipped to Europe and South America were transported cheaper because of the seaway route.

He cited sample percentage of savings based on delivered price, as $ to 10 per cent on heavy motor vehicles; 10 per cent on farm products; 10 per cent on packing house products; 6 per cent on tobacco.

National growth is the goal, he said, and this goal can be achieved only by developing and using transportation resources in the most efficient manner.

The burden of much of this task rests with the regulatory functions of the ICC, he said.

Douglas Aircraft Denies Pyramid

Army Contract Profits Not Excessive, Firm President Insists

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Douglas Aircraft Co. have bitterly denied they reaped excessive profits from the Army on Nike missile contracts.

Donald W. Douglas Jr., the company's president, accused sides of a Senate investigation, submitted yesterday of manipulating figures to picture profits as too high.

"The numbers are accurate, but nobody puts their numbers together that way," Douglas said in challenging documents prepared by the subcommittee staff. These purported to show that Douglas Aircraft's profits on 17 Nike contracts in 1952-61 totaled $45.58 million but that subcontractors did most of the work.

Robert E. Dunne, staff investigator, said this was equivalent to a 44.3 per cent profit on the portions of the contracts performed by Douglas at its own plants.

INDICATED — Peter W. Weber (left), business manager of Local 825, International Union of Operating Engineers, was indicted yesterday by a Newark, N.J., federal grand jury for allegedly receiving payments from an employer. Also indicted was Ray S. Fisher, president of Public Constructors, Inc., a Camden construction firm. Fisher is partner in a firm which rented equipment to Public Constructors.

Dunne said the profits, figures against the work done by Douglas and its subcontractors combined, would be 7.6 per cent on the 17 contracts totaling $53.7 million for producing various components of the Nike missile system.

Douglas, armed with stacks of charts and flanked at the witness table by a half dozen subordinates, called this "arithmetic manipulation which borders on economic frivolity," a gross distortion.

He said the contracts actually totaled $59 million, and that the profit from those sales before federal income taxes approximated $28 million, a rate of less than 3.2 per cent of sales. Income taxes took more than half of that profit, he added.

Motors Steady, Steels Mixed

Stocks Cautious, Act Uncertain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market presented a mixed picture in moderate trading early today.

Key stocks showed gains and losses of fractions to about a point but most changes were small.

Wall Street was cautious — waiting to see whether the market would "test" the 1962 lows and, if so, whether prices would sink below them or rally from the low point as they have previously.

Motors were fairly steady. Steels were mixed. Aerospace issues were lower.

Attention was focused on the dry cleaning village.

Dry Cleaning Village Opens on Huron Street

The new Norge Dry Cleaning and Laundry Village of Pontiac has been opened at 932 W. Huron St., just west of Telegraph Road.

The village is located in the former Trade Fair Building, which has been remodeled. It is operated by the Joseph E. Cosgrove family, former owners of the St. Christopher Motel in Bloomfield Township.
