

Expect U. S. Move Friday to End Dock Strike

Fear High Road Toll as Snow Covers State

The season's first real snow blanketed Pontiac and most of the state today, bringing a white setting for an old-fashioned Thanksgiving and the fear highway bloodshed might approach last year's record.

Snow last night followed on the heels of heavy winds which buffeted the area yesterday, causing temperatures to plunge.

Icy highways Thanksgiving eve were blamed for two of four state traffic deaths. One of the victims was a Troy man, who died in Macomb County.

State police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and other law agencies declared an all-out battle to prevent a repeat performance of last year's highway figures, which saw 25 die Thanksgiving Day, 1955.

It was the largest one-day toll all last year.

The Pontiac area escaped serious traffic pileups. There were at least three persons injured on highways outside the city limits, and a minor collision reported in Pontiac itself, police said.

Slackening roads and unusually heavy holiday travel caused worries across the nation.

Area's Weather Outlook

The weatherman predicts the snow flurries will end tonight with the thermometer registering a low of 16-20 degrees. Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with snow by late afternoon or evening. Friday's high will range from 32-36. The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 28 degrees. The mercury rose to 30 at 10:30 a.m.

states, in the 20s in the Great Lakes and in the 40s in the southern sections, all of the readings far below average for this time of year.

Light snow continued today from the Mississippi east to West Virginia. There were flurries in the Dakotas, Montana and Kansas.

Further temperature drops were anticipated as a fresh supply of arctic air headed this way from the northern plains states.

Michigan State Police said highways were hazardous outstate, as those who could traveled home for Thanksgiving. Area highways were reported wet and side roads were slippery.

Two inches of snow was reported at Bad Axe in the Thumb Area.

Among last night's traffic fatalities was James Williams, 48, of Troy, whose car missed a curve and crashed in Macomb County.

Icy highways caused skidding which resulted in the deaths of a Whitehall girl, Janice Cross, 11, whose mother's car collided with a truck on U.S. 31 south of Shelby, and of a Harbor Beach man, Dr. Ralph Zeland, 53, whose car struck a bridge abutment on U.S. 25 near his home.

A Detroit girl, Sally Tucker, 17, was fatally injured in a two-car collision in Detroit.

Sherry at Cruelty Trial

HEARS TESTIMONY—Seven-year-old Sherry Wildin sits in the packed courtroom where her sister Diane, 9, yesterday described cruelties allegedly committed against the child by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt of Keego Harbor.

I Love My Children, She Says

Mrs. Wyatt Denies Burns, Mistreating Her Daughter

Mrs. Ada Wyatt, 33, yesterday repeated denials that she burned, cut and disfigured her seven-year-old daughter, Sherry.

Testifying in her four-day-old trial on charges of cruelty to Sherry, Mrs. Wyatt angrily refuted testimony by Sherry and another daughter, Diane, 9, accusing her of burning Sherry's hands, setting her on an oil stove, and throwing a butcher knife at her. "That's not true," she snapped. "I love Sherry just as much as I love all my children."

But she said three more of her children also lied when they testified Sherry spent most of her time upstairs in the Wyatts' Keego Harbor home, and did not often eat with the family downstairs.

In a surprise move, defense attorney Milton R. Henry called Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor to the stand yesterday as a witness for Mrs. Wyatt.

Judge George B. Hartick ordered Taylor to the stand after he refused Henry's invitation, an attempt to disclose to the jury results of lie detector tests taken by Mrs. Wyatt shortly before the trial.

Judge Hartick ruled Taylor could testify to his name and occupation, but "I don't think he could say anything else that would be material."

When Henry asked about the lie tests, Judge Hartick ruled they were out of order, since they would not be admissible as evidence.

Henry then called Pontiac Press reporter Lawrence S. Martz Jr., 23, to ask about stories printed about the lie tests. The judge repeated his ruling.

Explaining what she said were "accidents" suffered by Sherry, Mrs. Wyatt said:

"I was outside at the clothesline when Sherry burned her hand. I don't know how she did it."

"When her buttocks were burned, she was running around the dining room with some of the other children. I was folding diapers. Which one of them pushed her into the stove, or whether she ran into it myself, I couldn't say."

She repeated her story that Sherry had twice cut her face by "biting into" glass jars containing

Natives of Poland Thankful for Freedom Here

WILL BECOME U. S. CITIZENS—Mr. and Mrs. Eugeniusz Bora, of 207 Judson St., their daughter, Maria, and son, Janusz, are grateful for their many blessings. The parents, who came here from Poland five years ago, will become U. S. citizens Tuesday.

They have been taking a citizenship course at Pontiac High School with Miss Janice Antona. Mr. and Mrs. Bora served with the Polish Army during World War II. Mrs. Bora's family was taken to Siberia after the war.

U.S. Thinks—Molotov Lost

Officials Are Cautious in Interpreting News From Kremlin

WASHINGTON (INS)—Former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—one of the last of the old Bolsheviks—appears to U.S. officials to have lost another round in the Kremlin power struggle.

The majority opinion among American experts was that "old iron pants" was being shelved by assignment as the Minister of state control.

One thought was that the job depended on what Molotov could make of it. Some observers pointed out that Joseph Stalin held the post from 1919 to 1922, just before he took over the dictatorship of the Soviet Union.

The U. S. assessment contrasted sharply with that of London, which—according to some dispatches—viewed Molotov's appointment as a victory for the Stalinists.

Molotov, 65, has been reliably reported involved in a contest for control in the Kremlin with Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Most American officials were cautious in interpreting the latest announcement from the Kremlin. The state department declined official comment on the Molotov appointment.

Unusual Dinner Menu

DENVER (AP)—No turkey—only ice cream and milk were the Thanksgiving Day menu for five children in the James G. Payne family. They had their tonsils out in assembly line order yesterday.

67 Countries in Melbourne Games

Olympics Off, Running

MELBOURNE (INS)—The 1956 Olympics, the "United Nations of muscle," convened before 110,000 feverish sports fans today. Its determined aim is to prove that the athletic representatives of the earth's nations can mingle and compete peacefully even if their diplomats and warriors cannot.

The United States, perennial unofficial winner of the greatest and oldest event in sports, is again favored to pile up impressive totals in the main events—notably the shorter track events, swimming and diving, boxing, basketball and one or two other contests.

The U. S. edged out the Soviet Union's determined people 614 to 563½ at the Helsinki games of 1952, with Hungary taking third with a creditable 308 and Sweden, Germany, Finland, Italy, France, Great Britain and Czechoslovakia rounding out the first 10.

The Americans have an even greater team this year. Jim Kelly of the University of Minnesota, head coach of the track and fielders, predicted today that the U. S. would win at least 12 of the 15 central events on cinder and turf.

Coaches in other sports are less expansive, but the overall picture is one of optimism despite certain lapses among the bearers of the Red, White and Blue.

At the Americans' dining hall, with luncheon out of the way, chef Herman Rusch, regularly employed at the Greenbrier at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., set about supervising the decoration of the place with what Melbourne had to offer in the way of Thanksgiving ornaments.

Of all the 67 nations in the games, only the U. S. will observe a day of Thanksgiving. Chef Rusch has successfully scoured the countryside for turkeys and has found much of the rest of the mixings in the mountains of canned goods on hand for the athletes.

"We'll make it a home away from home," the chef said. By and large, it is the first time any of the American athletes ever spent a Thanksgiving away from the hearthside.

Jack Johnson, "senior forecaster" of the weather bureau, fell into a meteorological trance when he predicted as follows: "Fine and warm weather for the opening of the games with a few clouds and northwest to southeast winds. The temperature will be about 75 degrees."

It will have to be seen to be believed.

Restive Egypt Awaiting Withdrawal of Invaders

CAIRO (INS)—A restive Egypt anxiously eyed Port Said and the Sinai desert today asking only one question, "when will the Anglo-French and Israelis leave?"

Now that the first U. N. police troops have made their way safely across the no man's land along the Suez Canal into Port Said the only thing that matters to 23 million Egyptians is when the invaders will get out.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's report to the assembly yesterday was interpreted to mean Hammarskjold and President Gamal Abdel Nasser see eye to eye on what has to be done to restore peace in Egypt.

This includes U. N. help in clearing and re-opening the Suez Canal. But Hammarskjold's failure to announce a specific enemy withdrawal date stirred new speculation that Egypt might, after all, have to fight again.

Meanwhile, U. N. emergency forces commander, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns flew from Naples to Abu Suweir in the canal zone where a total of 733 armed men from six nations have arrived under the U. N. symbol.

(Burns said in Naples that his U. N. force would take up positions along the Israeli-Egyptian frontier "as the Israelis withdraw.")

(Today the first patrols comprised of U. N. forces, Anglo-French troops and Egyptian police moved onto the streets of Port Said. The U. N. unit—some 213 Norwegians—moved into the captured port city yesterday.)

There was some obvious disappointment in Egypt that Hammarskjold did not take a sterner line with the invaders and demand they withdraw immediately according to U. N. assembly resolutions.

Instead, the secretary general merely indicated a delayed withdrawal was holding up a settlement of the crisis and might endanger the cease fire.

Ike May Invoke Taft-Hartley Law for Grace Period

Court Order on Area Bargaining May Bring Earlier Settlement

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the thorniest issues of the East and Gulf Coast waterfront walkout has been eliminated by a Federal Court order, but the striking union says it has learned that the Taft-Hartley Act is expected to be invoked against the strike tomorrow.

Louis Waldman, counsel to the International Longshoremen's Assn., (ILA), said during a Federal Court hearing yesterday:

"We received information today of an official nature that President Eisenhower is expected to certify to the attorney general in Washington on Friday steps to be taken for an injunction under the Taft-Hartley law."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell, when asked in Washington about Waldman's declaration, said:

"There has been no official statement to warrant such a statement as Waldman made."

Presidential intervention under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act would normally bring a court order for suspension of the strike for an 80-day "cooling-off" period.

Trade sources estimate that the over-all impact of the week-old strike on the national economy is a daily loss of 20 million dollars.

Ports on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts have been tied up since last Thursday midnight when the ILA struck in a contract deadlock with the New York Shipping Assn. The association represents 170 shipping and stevedoring companies in the Port of New York.

Spread of the strike to the West Coast is now threatened.

Sixty thousand ILA men are on strike, and an estimated 200 ships are tied up.

A major strike issue was removed last night when Federal Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan signed a temporary restraint requested by the National Labor Relations Board.

The judge ruled that the ILA must drop its contract demand that the New York Shipping Assn. negotiate an agreement covering any longshoremen who work outside the limits of the Port of New York.

The court order, which will remain in force until Nov. 30, does not bar the ILA from continuing the strike until settlement is reached on other contract demands.

ILA President William V. Bradley said the court action "won't make any difference in the strike because we are striking about enough other things."

The court order, however, has the effect of forcing the union to come to agreements with employers on a port-by-port or at least an area-by-area basis.

Eden to Rest in Jamaica

Butler to Be Acting as Prime Minister for 3 Weeks

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden, target of many-sided criticism in the Suez Canal dispute, is moving farther out of the current crisis picture. On the recommendation of his doctors, he flies to Jamaica tomorrow to spend three weeks in the Caribbean sun.

Richard A. Butler, government leader in the House of Commons, has been designated acting Prime Minister during Eden's absence. Butler has been mentioned as a possible successor when Eden retires.

Eden, 55, announced Monday he was withdrawing from all public engagements on the advice of his doctor.

Dr. Horace Evans, Eden's family physician, said the Prime Minister is suffering from severe overstrain. Presumably Eden's condition resulted from his round-the-clock direction of Britain's Middle East policy and his vigorous defense of his decision to send British troops into Egypt.

Eden is expected to keep in close touch with London developments.

Don't Let Thanksgiving Stop You

It's a Free Country... So Go Ahead and BE Ungrateful

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Do you like to feel sorry for yourself on Thanksgiving Day?

Many people seem to, but today they have a special problem. Things have gone so well in 1956 the average American finds it a little hard to find anything to be ungrateful about.

But by just sitting down and doing a little steady brooding you ought to be able to find a personal dark cloud behind all that silver lining.

At least 250,000 Americans are in jail who think they ought to be out.

At least 750,000 Americans who are out of jail know darned well they ought to be in one.

At least 10,000,000 Americans right now either have a cold, are getting one, or recovering from one.

At least 1,000,000 Americans are driving around and around and around looking for a little parking space that isn't there.

At least 21,000,000 Americans feel they aren't getting the salary they deserve.

At least 22,000,000 other Americans are afraid the boss will find out he's actually paying them more than they are worth.

At least 5,000,000 young maids are afraid they'll become old maids.

At least 5,000,000 young bachelors are fearful they won't get to become older bachelors.

At least 3,000,000 American wives are regretfully sure they married the wrong husband.

At least 3,000,000 American husbands agree with them.

At least 20,000,000 Americans are troubled by what sex is. At least 30,000,000 Americans are troubled by what it isn't. At least 15,000,000 Americans are troubled because it just ain't.

At least 10,000,000 American husbands complain they'll never be able to get a magazine article read in peace until they get another bathroom in the house.

Add up all malcontents, and you have 438,000,000 Americans—or more than 2½ times the actual population of the country—with something to gripe about.

If you really enjoy being miserable, don't let anybody talk you out of it, just because it's Thanksgiving Day. Fight down any feeling of appreciation.

After all, it's a free country.

Scan Bay Area for Crash Clues

Wing Sighted in Water; Searchers Seek Trace of Missing Jet

FAIR HAVEN (AP) — A storm-postponed search for a lost Navy jet plane in Anchor Bay will be resumed today, after an airplane wing was sighted in wind-lashed waves.

If the wing belongs to the Navy jet, it will be the first clue to the disappearance of the plane which was to have arrived at Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens, last Thursday.

The plane with two men aboard was reported on a flight from Dallas, Texas, to Willow Run Airport near Detroit. Closing weather and heavy traffic switched the plane to Selfridge, 15 miles southwest of Fair Haven.

An explosion was reported shortly afterward on Anchor Bay and the Air Force said it had received a radio report from an unidentified plane.

The wing was spotted by Ed Aller who lives nearby. The plane was carrying two Marine Corps reservists, Capt. William B. Wilson, 28, of Wharton, Tex., the pilot and Col. Henry C. Boch, 63, of Houston, his passenger.

Russian Leader Frightened Man, Says Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today Nikita S. Khrushchev's attacks on the free world stamp the Russian Communist party boss as "a frightened man."

Western diplomats walked out of a Moscow party Sunday night when Khrushchev taunted them and declared that "we will bury you."

Khrushchev also described Russia's situation as "so favorable now that 'If God existed, we would thank him for this.'"

Mansfield told a reporter: "Those were the words of a frightened man. It is difficult to read remarks such as those except as signs of frustration, fear and insecurity."

"It may well be," Mansfield said, "that these signs of anger and recklessness by Khrushchev are an indication that he and Russian Premier Bulganin are on the way out, and the Stalinist clique in Russia are on the way back in — and that Khrushchev knows it."

Denies Mistreatment of 7-Year-Old Girl

ing food, and denied she had thrown a butcher knife at Sherry as Sherry and Diane testified.

Asked why she had not taken Sherry to a doctor when she burned her hand, Mrs. Wyatt said: "I honestly didn't think it was as bad as it was. The fingers hadn't started to curl under before I went to the hospital."

Mrs. Wyatt was hospitalized Aug. 16 for an operation. Sherry and nine other of the Wyatts' 12 children were found alone in the house Aug. 23. Mrs. Wyatt said she thought the hand was burned "about three or four weeks before I left for the hospital."

The possibility that her husband, William, 29, would be dismissed for lack of evidence against him loomed yesterday when Judge Hartwick delayed ruling on a defense motion to drop the charges. The judge commented that evidence was "thin," but enough might exist to send Wyatt to the jury as an accessory to his wife's alleged crime.

Deny Rumor of Polio in Budapest Capital

BUDAPEST (AP) — Budapest doctors said tonight reports spread abroad of a polio epidemic in this revolution-battered capital are exaggerated.

The government-controlled Press reported there are some cases in the city, but not in big numbers. Illnesses have naturally increased among Hungarians because of privations due to the fighting, but there has been no evidence yet of epidemics of any kind.

Haircut Set Goes Wild

Crowd Stomps, Whistles for Elvis' Pontiac Debut

By PETE LOCHBILER

Elvis Presley fans cheered, screamed, whistled and stomped their hero into Pontiac last night.

With equal glee they guffawed, hooted, cat-called and laughed at the 21-year-old singer's initial dramatic antics.

But rather than criticism, it was matinee idol devotion—1956 fashion.

The occasion was a midnight preview of Presley's first film, "Love Me Tender," at the Oakland Theater. Jammed by a capacity crowd of 1,400, mostly teenagers.

Boys with their Presley haircuts, girls with theatre photos of the singer clutched in hand all broke into progressively louder cheering.

"Oooooo," the girls cried as houselights dimmed on the stroke of 12. "Oooooohh," they moaned as short subjects were presented.

"Elvis!" they yelled as long-haired Israeli president David Ben-Gurion appeared in the news reel.

Pontiac Deaths

Samuel Kamber

Service for Samuel Kamber, 62, of 50 Auburn Ave., will be at 2 p.m. Friday from the Voorhees-Siple Chapel, Imam Vehbi Ismail of the Mohammedan Church of Detroit will officiate.

Mr. Kamber died Tuesday after an illness of five months.

Mrs. Alfons Weishaar

Mrs. Alfons (Berta K.) Weishaar, 50, who came to Pontiac in 1928 from Germany and lived at 33 Lewis St., died at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday after a 10-day illness.

Educated in German schools, she was a member of St. Michael's church, its Altar society, and the League of Catholic Women Greater Beneficial Union.

She leaves her husband, two sons, John and Paul, both at home, and a brother and two sisters in Germany.

Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Grace-Smith Funeral Home. Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Michael's Church and burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Kenneth Whittemore

Mrs. Kenneth (Lucy B.) Whittemore, 49, of 1455 Bird St., Birmingham died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital after an illness of 10 months. She was a former resident of Pontiac.

Born in Madison, Ga. on Dec. 20, 1906, she was the daughter of James and Genevieve Richardson-Bangton. On Oct. 19, 1935, she was married in Camden, N. Y.

Mrs. Whittemore had lived here 15 years before moving to Birmingham in 1951.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Maranatha Sunday School Class of her church. Besides her husband, she is survived by three children, Kenneth with the U.S. Air Force, Richard and Ruth, both at home.

Also surviving are several brothers and sisters, Usher T. Bangton of Roseville, Rev. J. F. Bangton of New York, Mrs. Mary Shute of Amherst, Mass., Mrs. Florence Holton of Saigon, French Indo-China, Simon Bangton of Long Island, Mrs. Genevieve Hollinger of Front Royal, Va., Mrs. Ida Peters of New Haven, Conn. and Mrs. Ruth Ortil of Fort Lee of New York.

Service will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday from the Hunton Funeral Home with Dr. H. H. Savage of the First Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

The Day in Birmingham

1,200 Children to Tour Library for Book Week

BIRMINGHAM — About 1,200 school children will tour Baldwin Public library during its book fair, slated next week to mark National Book Week.

From 150 to 200 new volumes for boys and girls will be introduced and thereafter will go into regular circulation.

A full schedule of class tours is scheduled, according to Mrs. Kathleen Burgess, children's librarian. She and another librarian will discuss prize winning books for children for each group after "guided browsing" through the fair's displays.

From Monday through Dec. 7, the book fair will be under way, with tours averaging 120 a day.

Browsing through the books will be possible for library visitors as well, she says. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9:30 to 6 on Friday, and 9:30 to 5 on Saturday.

At Saturday's regular story hour this week, Mrs. Burgess will be reading the Danish fairy tale, "The Snow-White and the Seven Dwarfs," and "The Five Chinese Brothers." The session starts at 10:30 a.m.

"Just checking" is the explanation for use of about 265,000 gallons of water included in last month's three million gallons used in Birmingham, says the fire chief, in charge of the water system.

Tank inspection at the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. caused draining of 261,000 gallons, and over 2,000 was used by the Southeast Oakland Water Authority in checking meter installations.

Of the three million, about one million gallons came from the Authority's Detroit water lines.

Future equipment will balance this intake equally with well water pumped locally.

Coming from Holland to Birmingham this week, the Napoleon Magnies family is sponsored by the Congregational Christian Service committee, as arranged for by the social action committee of the First Congregational Church.

Having arrived in New York Nov. 16, they will be making their home here.

Magnies was head bookkeeper in a Netherlands bank and speaks excellent English, and the family belongs to the Dutch Reformed Church. Daughters Mariette and Celestine, 6 and 8 years old, are accompanying their parents.

The Presley followers seemed to have more detachment than Valentino's admirers. They strongly approved of their hero, especially when singing his own brand of popular song, strutting with guitar in arms and legs akimbo, knees quivering.

But no one pretended Presley as the actor was different from Presley the teenager, who came up the hard way, somehow tinged as a social renegade.

They got their fill, although Presley as a co-star shares film time with other actors.

But some bobby-soxers would have come merely to see Elvis once, glowering menacingly — yet irresistibly, they feel — sideways out of half-closed eyes.

It is a look some might find reminiscent of Rudolph Valentino — the daring glance which stabs at the innermost heart. Or so the girls say.

And yet fans hooted happily on spotting Presley in his first scene, as a farmer's son behind a team of plowing horses. "They've got him pegged," a lad roared to the audience and general and amused laughter answered.

Refuse to Open Doors to U.N. Investigators on Deportation

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union and its puppet Hungarian government showed no sign today of complying with a massive new U. N. appeal for on-the-spot investigation of reported deportations from the rebellious East European satellite.

Both Russia and Hungary had rejected an earlier assembly request for admission of U. N. observers to investigate the general situation in Hungary. The Communists contended the rebellion against them was an internal affair.

The assembly also adopted, 55-10, a Cuban resolution urging the Soviet and Hungarian governments to cease deportation of Hungarian citizens and return those already deported.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov told the assembly there was no truth whatever to the reports that rebels were being shipped from Hungary to Russia. He did not comment on the Asian resolution asking for an investigation.

Clothes and Toaster Stolen in Breakin

A man's gray flannel suit, eight shirts and a toaster were stolen from a home at 281 Crystal Lake Dr. Tuesday night, Pontiac police said. Total loss was about $100.

Thieves broke in through a side window, police said. A screen was removed.

Navy Alert Threatens Yule Leaves

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Navy estimated today that 100,000 of its men won't get home for Christmas because of the "readiness alert" ordered after shooting started in the Mid East.

A smaller number of men from the Air Force and a few from the Army have had Yule leaves canceled in the extension series of military moves to strengthen U.S. outposts throughout the world and guard against another Pearl Harbor.

The Navy is the hardest hit of the services because the Pentagon orders involved the movement of more than 50 warships overseas on schedules earlier than planned, and the dispersal of the remainder of the fleet to avoid concentration in case of a nuclear attack on the U.S.

The "readiness alert" also means that much larger crews must be kept aboard the warships even if they are in port.

A top Navy spokesman said that even in the kind of "peacetime" that America has known in the last few years, more than half of the Navy personnel has been granted leaves for the Christmas holidays. This year, he said, the number getting leaves will be less than 40 per cent.

The Navy now has 379,000 men at sea aboard ships, 36,000 at overseas bases and 250,000 stationed within the continental U.S.

In a special Thanksgiving Day message to all commands, Chief of Naval Operations Arleigh A. Burke said the redeployment was due chiefly to "growing international instability." "Once again the Navy has been needed by our nation," he said, "and the nation has found you ready."

As an example of the difference, the spokesman said that last Christmas many ships in home ports were down to 25 per cent of their operating strength. This year, he said the crews will be kept up to at least 60 or 70 per cent of fighting strength over Christmas and New Year's.

PLANS MOVED AHEAD
Among the warships that were sent overseas ahead of schedule are the 60,000-ton Forrestal, first of the nation's super carriers now leading a 15-vessel task force in the eastern Atlantic, and 40 fighting ships that have left the West Coast in recent days. The Forrestal originally was scheduled to put to sea sometime after Jan. 1.

The second of the super carriers, the Saratoga, likewise has started training maneuvers much earlier than expected, at the head of another task force in the western Atlantic.

The Yule leaves of crewmen aboard ships that went overseas were automatically canceled, and those of men aboard ships remaining at home were jeopardized.

The stations of ships in home ports have been changed to confuse a possible enemy and increase dispersal. This means that crewmen who retain their Christmas leaves must change their transportation arrangements.

The Air Force said that undoubtedly many men will miss Christmas trips because of the "alert," which has meant increasing the number of planes in the air over many bases. The alert has required a stepup in the number of maintenance men and patrols on the ground.

The Army, however, said its Christmas plans granting leaves to the largest possible number of men are unchanged.

Report Chou En-lai Offers Gift to Egypt

CAIRO (INS) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai reportedly has offered Egypt a gift of 20 million Swiss francs. Egypt announced that Chou notified President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the gift. In the same message he denounced Anglo-French intervention in Egypt and pledged fullest support.

He Left His Mark

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP)—When Raymond K. Begley accompanied his son, Ray Jr., into the latter's classroom at Central Junior High School, he thought a desk in the center of the third row looked familiar.

Lifting the lid, he found his own initials, RKB, where he'd carved them 25 years ago.

Australia was once known as New Holland. It did not become a part of the British Empire by a formal act until about the year of 1770.

Rep. Walter Sees Man Killed

Congressman Watches as Soldiers Gun Down Refugee in Hungary

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A U.S. congressman said he saw Russian soldiers shoot down a refugee today on Hungarian soil near the Austrian frontier.

Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa.) here to survey the U.S. aid program for Hungarian refugees, told newsmen he witnessed the incident while on a trip to the Hungarian-Austrian frontier with Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, U.S. commissioner of immigration and naturalization, and John V. Lindsay, executive assistant to the U.S. attorney general.

Walter's account coincided with statements by refugees of trainloads of countrymen being deported to Russia. This was made in the face of protestations from the Soviet-controlled Budapest radio that there have been no deportations, and promises that Russian troops will turn over all arrested Hungarians to the regime of Premier Janos Kadar for trial.

Walter said he was actually walking on Hungarian territory some distance from the first Hungarian checkpoint when he heard shooting and saw a man running. The man was running beside a small canal about 100 yards from the congressman. Soldiers were firing at him.

Walter said he saw the man fall down the canal bank as though he had been shot. Refugees who came across the border later told him the soldiers were Russians, he said.

Walter, Swing and Lindsay made the trip to the border with Western newsmen.

They motored from Vienna to the swamp region near Lake Neusiedlersee, where the border seemed still open. Many of the refugees came across a narrow bridge spanning a canal which forms the border there. Machine-gun and rifle shots and the rattling of tanks were heard.

Plaque for Ludington

LUDINGTON (U)—The Michigan Safety Council has awarded Ludington a plaque in recognition of the city's record of three years without a traffic fatality.

Muskegon Appointee

MUSKEGON (U)—Richard D. Warren has been named to succeed C. W. Bemer as superin-tendant of Muskegon schools at the end of the school year next July 1. Bemer, 14 years in the post, reaches mandatory retirement age 65 during the current school year. Warren is business manager of the Muskegon public school system.

Retires Too Healthy

OKEMAH, Okla. (U)—William H. Atwood was just too healthy to take advantage of fringe benefits during his 36 years in the postal department. He had accumulated 2,129 hours of unused sick leave when he retired.

Through the Roof

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (U)—Mar-chie Nageak, 25, of Wainwright, was so mad about being arrested for drunken driving that he went through the roof—literally. Nageak, tossed in the drunk tank at the federal jail here, was missing the next morning when police made a routine check. Officers reported Nageak had knocked a hole in the ceiling and escaped over the jailhouse roof.

Costa Rica expects an $1,000,000 pound 1956 coffee crop, a record, Saa Jose reports.

Fireman on Spot

FARMINGTON, N. M. (U)—Firemen were summoned to a residence where a trash fire had caught a power pole afire. It was the home of Volunteer Fireman Jack Sheale.

Fish Out of Water

WALTERS, Okla. (U)—The old-timers here swear the drought has been so bad the fish are trying to get caught to get out of the hot and drying streams. Game Ranger Woody Wilson says the streams are so low that fish are dying from lack of oxygen and also scalding to death.

Still Meet Deadline

MAXTON, N. C. (U)—Staff members of the Scottish Chief newspaper worked under umbrellas to meet the deadline after an electrical storm ripped off a portion of the roof on the office.

State Aids Waterfowl

LOS ANGELES (U)—California has spent more than $6,000,000 in the past few years to improve waterfowl areas and probably outspends all the other states in this respect.

Girls Get Bird Whistle

ROANOKE, Va. (U)—A "wolf-whistle" around the Children's Zoo on Mill Mountain doesn't mean a thing, girls. The zoo has recently acquired two new mynah birds. The birds are supposed to talk. So far, however, all they've done is let out a low whistle when people—particularly pretty girls—walk by.

That's Lot of Smokes

RIO DE JANEIRO (U)—Brazil exported 62,200,000 pounds of tobacco during 1955, an increase of 300,000 pounds over 1954 but 54,400,000 pounds below the 1946 record high of 116,600,000 pounds.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1956

Thanksgiving 1956

Thanksgiving Day is at once a joyous and a somber holiday as families gather together across the land for reunion.

The Plymouth Colony celebrated its harvest at a precarious time. It is almost impossible for us today to understand the feelings of men and women who decided to hold a festival of thanks. What those people felt we do not know. But we do know they were grateful to God.

Today the Nation can rejoice in its growing strength and greatness and in its stature as a symbol of freedom throughout the world. We also can give thanks that we have the opportunity to help in the large mission that lies before us.

AS GOV. WILLIAM BRADFORD wrote more than 300 years ago in his "History of Plymouth Plantation":

"Thus out of small beginnings greater things have been produced by His hand that made all things of nothing... and as one small candle may light a thousand, so the light here kindled hath shone unto many; yea, in some sort to our whole Nation."

But it would be foolish and dangerous if we were to take our abundance for granted forgetting the Source of all these good things and the necessity for humility and gratitude. In this spirit we can make Thanksgiving a Day of faith and achievement.

Dr. Burns Resigns

In the resignation of Dr. ARTHUR F. BURNS, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the Administration has lost an able public servant.

During his three year tenure he has sought and obtained adoption of measures aimed at stabilization of the dollar and continuing high employment. Previous Administrations were handicapped by war and postwar booms in their efforts to avert inflation.

But in the present Administration there also have been many opportunities to let down the bars to further depreciation of the dollar. Demands of industry for new plant financing, of home builders for new lines of credit and even of the Government itself, exerted heavy pressure on the short supplies of money, labor and materials.

During most of his service as chairman, Dr. Burns was in the happy position of being able to say that the national economy was getting bigger and better. Moreover, during the 1954 recession he was against a massive assault on unemployment and favored less drastic fiscal and credit measures. Subsequent events proved he was right.

Chosen as successor to Dr. BURNS is Dr. RAYMOND G. SAULNIER, a member of the Council since April, 1955. The latter's seat will be filled by Dr. PAUL W. McCracken of the University of Michigan.

Expert opinion is that inflationary pressures inherent in an expanding free enterprise economy will be with us for years. Therefore, it is to be hoped and expected that the President will continue to weigh carefully the opinions of his economic advisers and that they will follow in Dr. BURNS' footsteps.

In the opinion of the average American, Sweden is a socialistic welfare state.

A booklet circulated by the Stockholm Chamber of Commerce, however, reports that this northern Baltic country is a land of vigorous private enterprise. Private ownership and management account for 93 per cent of Sweden's total industrial production.

Of the industrial labor force, private industry employs 91 per cent, co-operative factories four per cent and publicly owned plants five per cent. Other statistics point to the swift industrial growth of the country.

Today it produces 90 per cent more goods than before World War II and real wages for workers have risen 70 per cent. Like the United States, the population shift is from the farm to the city. At present only 20 per cent of Swedes earn their living by farming. Twenty-five years ago nearly one-third were farmers. Due to farm mechanization, agricultural output has increased 30 per cent. Industrial production has limbed 20 per cent since the war's end.

Since the early 1930s Sweden has been governed by the dominant Social Democratic party. During that period the country has built up a far reaching system of unemployment and old age insurance, maternity benefits, child allowances and compulsory health insurance.

The important thing to remember about Sweden is that it is not a land of state ownership but one of thriving private enterprises.

The Man About Town

Thanksgiving

Former Pontiac Resident Wonders How We Spend It

Bike of soda: Short for something you'll need this afternoon.

A letter comes from New York City, from Burnham Blaisfield who says he grew up in Pontiac around the turn of the century. He wonders if Thanksgiving still is celebrated here as it was then, in neighborhood parties, when there was personal testimony as to the reasons to be thankful. He says that in his large city it has generally become an occasion for overindulgence, both in food and drink, and that the real purpose of the holiday is overlooked.

MAT is glad to tell Mr. Blaisfield that in Pontiac homes, as well as in most other homes in this area, the old and proper spirit of this holiday largely still maintains. It is a day of breaking bread with friends—with, of course, more than bread on the menu, but not a day of carousing or meaningless enjoyment.

I have it direct from the executive director of the parade.

Gerard A. Pochman that the Dec. 1 celebration.

"Christmas on Wheels," being put on by the Pontiac Retail Merchants Association.

will be one of the biggest events in our city's history. A letter from Mrs. Lulu Copeman of Rochester, says, "This is an annual event in Pontiac to which the surrounding area for many miles always has a joyful anticipation, and you've never failed us, even if the weather man doesn't always cooperate."

Under the supervision of Fred Mayer, an effort is being made by the Oakland County Sportsmen's Assn. to revive the fading interest in the old fashioned turkey shoots. The club is staging one on Dec. 16, in which the punk marksmen, like myself, are assured of getting something besides a lame shoulder.

After writing a congratulatory note to Mamie Eisenhower on her recent birthday.

Mrs. Roberta Johannsen of Lake Orion has received an acknowledgment from the first lady.

Seeing the carcass of a deer fall from the top of an automobile on the Dixie Highway in Wednesday morning's darkness and rain.

Perry Hankinson gave chase, but could not overtake the car. And when he returned to the spot another car had picked it up.

Today, More Than Ever, Let Us Give Thanks

Russia's Not Yet Ready for War

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Are we going to war?

That's the big question in people's minds, of course, in the ebb and flow of world events from Hungary to the Gaza Strip.

In the opinion of top level officials of the Eisenhower administration: probably not.

Of course, the campaign isn't over. No political campaign really is over, ever.

But the people in key positions will tell you — as long as you don't use their names — that in their view the outlook is for peace. Or at least for no big-scale war.

Here's the outlook, as it's given out on an off-the-record basis:

The Soviet Union is off-base. Recent events in Poland and Hungary have rattled the skeleton of the Soviet empire even though "measures have been taken," as a Russian commentator might put it, to quell revolt in both countries.

Tanks. Guns. The usual story. "Measures have been taken."

But the feeling in higher official quarters here is that the Russians are scared, if not panicky.

The feeling too is that some of the biggest Russians are scared they'll be booted out of their jobs. Some say this is behind the recent tough, tall talk of Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, who has been sounding off at parties to the tune of top headlines in the Western world.

Some of this country's chief peevish through the Iron Curtain suspect — hopefully, perhaps — that Khrushchev's attitude reflects desperation.

They don't expect war, however. They don't think Russia is ready. They don't think the Soviets have enough long-range bombers. They are convinced the Soviets don't have — yet — the ocean-spanning guided missiles that probably will decide the next war, if there is one.

They can and will get a hot argument from the Democrats here. Sen. Stuart W. Symington, among others in his party, has been contending the Russians are ahead of us, or are about to be.

The Russians haven't carried out their threat to send "volunteers" into the Middle East mess.

Why? They have Syria, in the candid opinion of our policymakers, about ready to reel into their orbit.

Why haven't they given the necessary push?

Is it the feeling, which any Communist will voice at the faintest provocation, that history is on the Reds' side and they can afford to wait?

Is it that they're groggy from the smoldering revolts in the satellite countries?

Anybody who knows the answers should get in touch with his government.

Here in Washington, nobody seems entirely sure.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. James 4:2.

War will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love; and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ — Channing.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Dedicated Family Doctor Man to Be Thankful For

A Newark reader gives an excellent description of that vanishing (?) institution, the family physician:

"Dear Dr. Brady: We have a family doctor that we think is the best. We regard him as one of the family. Our children love him. He not only takes care of our physical ailments, but we feel free to go to him with our personal problems. Words can't describe the love we have for him.

"If he feels we need special attention, we wouldn't go to any one unless our doctor recommends him. We find that we pay the specialist less than other people do who go directly to the specialist. So we know our doctor doesn't get anything from the specialist.

"I could go on and on telling you the wonders of this man, but you would have to know him to appreciate his greatness. He is never unapproachable. One very cold winter night he came at 11:30. I begged him to have a cup of hot coffee, but he couldn't wait — he had other visits to make.

"We pray all the time that God will give him health and strength to carry on his wonderful work. I am sure many other families depend on him as we do.

"This beloved physician is really a dedicated man. We thank God every day that we know him.

Sincerely,

I, too, wish I knew this doctor and his medical neighbors or colleagues. I'd like to submit to him and them a questionnaire, privately and confidentially, dealing with the ways of physicians and the present state of medical ethics in the Newark area.

KNOWS BY LETTERS
You see, I hear about Newark physicians only what their patients tell me. And it seems to be human nature when speaking to a present physician about an absent one to belittle the absent one or at any rate to dismiss him with faint praise.

It may be that other readers have family physicians in whom they have the kind of confidence the correspondent has in hers.

I know there are plenty of real doctors who merit such confidence, but unfortunately most people today like to patronize the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers.

The suckers think these merchants of medicine have greater knowledge or skill than "ordinary" doctors have. An ordinary doctor is one who practices under his own

'Common Sense Gramma' Says Hair Fad Will Fade

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

My goodness. What's wrong with our instructors today? Shame on them for acting like children. The Romeo fad will die out just like all the rest of them as soon as it runs its course. Boys will be boys, and if you ask me, they are not being as immodest as Bikinis are, with bare tummies, or strapless accidents on TV, and even in church circles. Let them grow. Are the old bachelors jealous?

Grammar on TV Irks 11th Grader

Someone in the Voice of the People asked for your pet gripes. Some radio and TV commercials are mine. I object to grammatical errors. "Hinklebergs taste good like a cigarette should." Isn't "as a cigarette should" the correct phraseology? "Like" is not a conjunction. Why does any company want to air its grammatical ineptitudes?

Two Associations Commend Press

At the recent election, Proposal No. 2 allowing Pontiac police officers and firemen to live outside the city limits received an overwhelming majority.

This proposal was sponsored by the Pontiac Police Officers Association with the support and assistance of the Pontiac Firefighters Association. We now feel free to enjoy a privilege exercised by other municipal employees. This amendment will give us a much wider area in selecting our homes without depriving the residents of the city of fast and efficient police and fire protection. We believe ours was a fair and just cause, and not once did we lose sight of the fact that our first duty is that of protecting the lives and property of Pontiac residents.

The Associations' members feel The Pontiac Press was a great contributor in our success by urging a "yes" vote on the proposal. Therefore, the members of the Associations wish to express our thanks for interest in our cause and for furthering that interest by favorable comments in the editorial columns of the Press. Thank you very much.

Golfer Calls This Great Sports Area

What a great prospect ahead for this state. Either the University or State might win the college title next year, the Lions might take the pro title, the Wings have a swell shot at the hockey championship and I'm wagering the Tigers may take the pennant. This is one of the greatest sports areas in the world.

Soviet 'Burying' Tactics Applied Against Hungary

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev's threat against the West—"we will bury you"—now is to be applied against little Hungary.

This is the meaning behind the reported entry into Hungary of 20 Soviet infantry divisions to aid the Russian tank divisions already there.

What is in prospect for Hungary can only mean Soviet military government, in very thin disguise.

The Hungarian Communist puppet government under Premier Janos Kadar is thoroughly discredited. But it has plenty of power so long as it is backed by Soviet bayonets.

The Kadar government's denial that the Russians are deporting Hungarian patriots to Siberia is discredited by Western officials.

ADMITTED BY RADIO

Not only is there evidence in detail, but the Budapest radio itself only a few days ago admitted the deportation of Hungarians.

The exact number of Hungarian casualties probably never will be known. Dead and wounded, were estimated as high as 100,000 even before the cruel deportation system was called into play.

Soviet tank crews shot down Hungarians in the streets and on highways, but they cannot compel Hungarians to return to work.

For this reason large numbers of infantrymen must be brought in to occupy the country more effectively and to establish a military government behind the facade of the Kadar government.

Hungary will be ruled by the sheer weight of Soviet troops in every village and town. This is expected to terrorize the population and furnish the chance for forming native police forces loyal to the Kadar group which then could become the backbone of a resurrected police state.

NOTHING NEW

Plans of this type are nothing new to the Russians. They have done this from the dying days of World War II.

Premier Kadar cannot force the people to love him and his men. Apparently he is already so well aware of their hatred that there is no much attempt at wooing.

But he must make the Hungarians go back to work to restore Communist control. And here is where the Soviet infantry is very useful.

The government, protected by rings of foot soldiers, can control all the food supplies and starve the workers into submission. This already is happening.

The one thing that will make the patriots return to work is the cry of their children for bread.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Let One Mishap Spoil Life

Many people are like Larry, who feels that he has nothing left to be thankful for. Yet he still has 1,000,000 assets to offset this one liability! So analyze your apparent misfortunes. You will often find that they are not stumbling blocks but actual stepping stones to greater success. Think of Helen Keller before you ever grumble about a defect.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-328: Larry D., aged 19, is a college sophomore who had a very promising athletic career ahead of him.

But he was involved in a car wreck and lost his left foot.

"Dr. Crane, I feel that my life is ruined," he spoke morosely. "All my plans for an athletic career are smashed."

"And I had trained ever since grammar school to become a professional baseball player after I finished college."

"Now what can I do? I am a cripple! What have I to be thankful for, anyway?"

HOW GET PERSPECTIVE

Then I explained to Larry that I had been a tree surgeon in my youth. I was head of a gang of such experts. We traveled around repairing trees on the estates of wealthy men.

One of our jobs was to start at the top and cut out every dead limb. But many of these trees were giants.

And most of us suffered from acrophobia as we swayed in the breeze some 70 to 90 feet above the street.

So we learned to start out with the biggest tree the first thing in the morning. Then all the smaller trees seemed trivial to us the rest of the day.

Well, people can use this same method to dwarf the apparent size of their current misfortunes.

An amputated foot seems like a mountain till you imagine what might have happened to Larry if he had lost the sight of both eyes!

If you ever wish to regain a thankful spirit, visit our Veterans' Hospitals where quadriplegics are cheerful despite their loss of both arms and legs.

Watch such a young man try to turn on his radio with his teeth

BRavo, HELEN KELLER

Consider Helen Keller, blind in both eyes and deaf in both ears. How trivial the loss of a foot seems when compared with combined blindness and deafness all through life.

Actually, many supposed stumbling blocks in life are really stepping stones to fame and fortune.

Many an athlete like Larry has been deprived of a sports career, but has then turned to science or writing or music or religion and attained ten times as much fame.

With an artificial foot, a boy or girl can drive a car and walk so smoothly people can't even detect the fact a limb is missing.

Nowadays, too, the rewards in life usually come from having a trained brain rather than a strong back or two feet or two hands.

So make it a rule to count your many blessings. Start with gratitude to God that you live in America where people now average almost 70 years as a lifespan, whereas in other parts of the earth the average may be only 35.

Every day should be a real Thanksgiving for all of us who can see or hear and thus have so much more enjoyment of life than Helen Keller.

Even if you are now bedfast in a tuberculosis sanitarium, you can still watch TV and see your friends. You can hear music and talk on the phone.

You can write without having to hold the pencil between your teeth! Don't grumble because it is raining or snowing. Think how thrilled a blind person would be just to see such glistening raindrops or lovely snowflakes!

Quit being so egotistical as to indulge in self-pity. Be unselfish and help somebody less fortunate. Then you'll gain wider perspective and also attain true happiness.

"He who grumbles has too much," is an apt saying to quote whenever we complain.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Car and Rail Restrictions Kill French Tourist Trade

PARIS (INS)—French tourism has been dealt a severe body blow by restrictions on automobile and rail traffic made necessary by the Suez crisis.

French hotel owners and travel agency officials look forward to the most dismal winter season in many years.

The Riviera, France's famed playground of the international set, has quickly turned into a virtual "ghost town."

At the famed Hotel Majestic in Cannes, a mere 100 guests rattle around in lounges and suites which people this time of year.

A sharp drop has also been noted in the number of people frequenting the once-glittering, usually packed international gambling casinos at Cannes and nearby, world-famous Monte Carlo.

Transportation lines are feeling the tourist pinch, too. The normal heavy traffic of Nice's airport has been reduced to a mere trickle.

Mediterranean cruises on luxury liners have been cancelled due to the tense situation in the Middle East. The French railroads have cut their schedules by 50 per cent, and even the fabulous blue train to the Riviera has been discontinued.

When the U. S. liner Constitution docked at Cannes, carrying Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco home, there were only 20 passengers instead of the usual 150 disembarking at this Riviera gateway port.

Hotel managers and tourist agency officials have announced that many of their foreign clients, among them a majority of Americans, have changed their travel plans. American families, who had leased villas on the Mediterranean for several months, have cancelled their reservations in droves.

The tourist slash is not limited to the Riviera alone, Paris, too, will have its bus excursions severely limited. Tours to Versailles, Fontainebleau and other popular sightseeing spots around the French capital may be eliminated.

The most crushing blow to Parisian tourist trade may be the dropping of the famed "Paris by night" night club tours, so popular with thousands of American visitors.

Winter sports and skiing centers in France and surrounding regions will also be hard hit by the gas and oil shortage. Even regular bus service ferrying passengers to and from busy Orly Field, Paris' international airport, to hotels may be affected.

They'll Still Eat Turkey

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP)—The Navy has saved the day for 50 orphans. They had been invited to a Thanksgiving dinner aboard the carrier Leyte. But a recent alert caused a change in the Leyte's schedule which will keep her at sea. So the Quonset Naval Air Station personnel announced they will care for the orphans in fitting manner.

Hungary Accepts Offer of American Aid

VIENNA (INS)—Hungary again has announced acceptance of an American offer of $20 million to relieve suffering in the revolt-stricken country.

Whether the acceptance comes only with strings attached as it did previously was not known, but an even larger unknown was whether the American offer still stands.

The $20 million offer to the "Hungarian people" was made by President Eisenhower on Oct. 13, when independence-minded Imre Nagy held the premiership and it appeared that Soviet troops would pull out of Hungary.

Five days later Nagy was overthrown and the Russians installed Janos Kadar as their puppet premier.

Last Saturday Kadar said Hungary would accept the American aid provided it was distributed through the International Red Cross and contained no markings indicating where the gifts originated.

WASHINGTON SILENT

Washington met this conditional acceptance with silence.

Radio Budapest carried a statement today by Supply Commissar Bezsoa Nyers saying Hungary would accept the American gift. No conditions were mentioned in the announcement.

Meanwhile, the general strike that has paralyzed Hungary continued despite a series of government announcements in the past few days claiming it had ended.

Many strikers apparently had returned to their places of employment, but they weren't working.

Reports from Budapest said the workers chatted in scenes reminiscent of a sit-down strike. Failure to get factories working was blamed by officials on lack of power and transportation.

Radio Budapest said transportation in the capital was improving, that 13 tram lines would be operating today. It admitted postal service has not been restored and that few railroad workers are working.

But it complained also that the return to work was being hindered by "revolutionary committees" in the Hungarian ministries which seek to exceed their authority.

The voice of the government broadcast an editorial carried today in the official trade union newspaper Népkereslet demanding that the trade unions be freed of control by the state and the Communist Party.

The newspaper said workers would refuse to accept instructions from bureaucrats and declared it was "absurd" for union members to be subjected to Communist Party dictatorship when a minority of workers are party members. In other developments, the government announced that hospitals and clinics had undergone $4 million worth of damage during the revolution but that no epidemics had broken out.

It also announced that Hungarians arrested by Soviet troops were being turned over to Hungarian authorities who would determine their degree of guilt. This obviously was another attempt to show that no one was being deported to Russia.

Kids Troublesome—Capital Trip Canceled

OKEMOS, Mich. (AP)—The traditional trip to Washington, D. C. by the senior class at Okemos High has been ruled out by the Board of Education "because of drinking and supervision problems."

George Richards, Superintendent of Schools, said a study was made of the trips because two students were arrested by police last year at the nation's capital.

The study revealed that on several occasions there was trouble but that incidents were not reported to school authorities. Richards said, "Now the teachers and a large number of the parents do not want the responsibility of chaperoning the trip."

The board acted on the recommendation of a study committee made up of student representatives, parents, faculty members and members of the school board.

MSU Personnel Officer Dies Following Surgery

DETROIT (U)—Bernard J. Kuhn, 57, personnel officer of the cooperative extension service at Michigan State University, died Tuesday in a Detroit hospital following surgery last week.

Kuhn, of East Lansing, was a 1925 graduate of Michigan State and was a pitcher for the Spartan baseball team. He had been a member of the extension service staff since 1928.

Kuhn served for a number of years as Menominee County agricultural agent, returning to the MSU campus in the mid-forties to become assistant county agent.

He recently spent two years with the University of Ryukyus in Okinawa, returning to the campus in July.

Two Die as Auto Runs Into Truck

CHICAGO (U)—Two Michigan men were killed and three persons were injured today in the collision of their car and a loaded cattle truck in suburban Lagrange.

Police identified the dead as Charles Crago, 23, and his brother, James, 15, both of Port Huron. A third brother, Leonard, 25, also of Port Huron, was injured as was Leonard's wife, Shirley, 22, and Charles' wife, Joyce, 22.

Police said they were believed to be en route to nearby Crystal Lake, Ill.

Everett Holboth, 43, of Boyer, Iowa, the truck driver, escaped injury.

Boyer and other witnesses told police the Crago car ran a red light before it crashed into the side of the truck.

Appropriately Named

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—Sign on the rear of an obviously not-so-new auto: "SHOT ROD."

English Playing Fields Build Soldiers, Heirs

LONDON (U)—Eight-year-old Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, has risked his royal shins in a rough and tumble soccer game with 31 of his young future subjects.

The game took place yesterday at a day school in southwest London where, it is rumored, the young prince will enroll next year. Up to now he has been tutored privately at Buckingham Palace. Charles arrived at the playing field in a black sedan, wearing the school uniform, apparently to keep him from being conspicuous. The school headmaster acted as referee. Charles left in his car while the others were still playing.

Kids With Dad's Train?

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Grownup railroaders someday may run their trains the same as children: from one room. That's the word of Joseph A. Fisher, president of the Reading Railroad, who says, "We have the basic elements now for the virtually automatic railroad." It would depend primarily on radio and remote control.

Avoid Extremes in Gift Clothing

Sweaters, Stockings and Accessories Are Always Welcome

Women love to get clothes for Christmas. But the right kind.

The trick in selecting clothes for a gal, be she wife, mother, daughter or sister, is avoiding the ultra-practical, yet selecting things she really can use.

The second secret is sticking to things where one can be sure of size and taste.

Sweaters and ultra-festive blouses are welcome. Sizes here can be either the 32-34 variety or the same as the dress sizes: 12-14, etc. Look in the neck of a favorite sweater or blouse for the correct size. But don't buy the sweater in the blouse size, as women generally wear a size larger in sweaters to get that just-right fit.

Lovely sweaters of lamb's wool, fur and nylon, decorated to a fare-thee-well, are available. Skirts to match go with the sweaters, but a gift certificate is a sound approach to a skirt, since both length and girls are involved.

Handbags are delightful. Keep in mind whether the woman in question complains that her present bag is too big or too small and what kind of a handle she wants. Leather in lush colors is popular. Handbags run from the modestly-priced to the really knock-out range, so pace your wallet accordingly.

Stockings should be in every woman's stocking. She always buys more than one pair at a time, for economy's sake, so you do the same. Very sheer ones make welcome gifts, since they seem gift-like rather than utilitarian. Hanes' "barely there" seamless ones fall in this well-received category.

One husband has a wise approach to his wife's clothing problem. In addition to the accessories and easily-fitted items he puts under the tree he each year provides her with an outfit to wear during the holiday season. He takes her to the store of her choice before the rush is on and lets her pick it out.

A wise choice in a gift bought this way is a brocade costume in rayon and cotton. Silver threads make it party wear.

Gloves and belts are fun for a woman to get. Driving gloves are fine, but really luxurious dress ones fill a woman with the feeling she's glamorous.

'Charge' Account Opened With Power Hammer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Orange Oscar Holmes, a 300-pound city worker, was jolted by a 13,000-volt charge of electricity.

When the 40-year-old worker arrived at Johns Hopkins Hospital, he relaxed in a chair and said, "My left hand stings a little but I feel OK."

Some singed hair about his temple was the only sign of the shock he received while operating a pneumatic power hammer which came in contact with an underground electric line.

Police and Puppets Demonstrate Perils

Puppets and policemen are combining talents in Germany in order to reduce the traffic accident toll, according to the German Tourist Information Office.

In the heavily motorized state of Northrhine-Westphalia, some police officers are being taught how to manipulate puppets for specially-written plays before schoolchildren. The policemen and their puppets will demonstrate the dangers of the ever-increasing road traffic and show how to avoid these perils.

Waters of the Great Salt Lake in Utah are said to be about 23 per cent salt in content. By way of contrast the salt content of the Atlantic ocean is about 3.5 per cent.

Young Orphans Sing to Change Castle

Thirty-nine children are building an orphanage with song in Bueckeburg, Germany, according to the German Tourist Information Office. An old castle is being remodeled into a home for 20 European orphans as a result of concerts of the Obernkirchen Children's Choir, a chorus of 39 sons and daughters of miners in the district.

They successfully toured England and America, and intend to return again to the United States in 1957 to earn money for the upkeep of their orphanage.

An estimated 62 million acres of the land now planted to crops in the United States is said to be completely safe from erosion.

Museum Shows New Wallpaper Techniques

From furry animal skins to woven cloth and washable paper—the German Wall Paper Museum in Kassel, Germany has all there is on the romance of wall-covering, according to the German Tourist Information Office.

The only one of its kind in Europe, the Wall Paper Museum now has a department on contemporary fabric and paper covering. Its special purpose, the curator states, is education—industrial and academic.

The first commercial oil well was drilled in Venezuela's oil-rich Maracaibo section in 1913, but it was at least 10 years later, in about 1923, that production began on a large scale.

Colonials' Skeletons Discovered in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Archaeologists have found near Independence Hall the skeletons of four men believed to have been colonial soldiers in the American Revolution.

One will be placed in the National Memorial to the Unknown Soldiers of the American Revolution to be erected in the center of Washington Square near Independence Hall.

Pennsylvania archaeologist Duncan Campbell said the search for the skeletons was based on records which said mass burials had been made in shallow pits in the area.

Could Be Next Prime Minister

Butler in Strong Position

By International News Service
Richard Austen Butler, in taking over temporarily from ailing Sir Anthony Eden, is holding down a job many Britons are sure he'll one day call his own.

The forced vacation of Eden gave to Butler the task of presiding at cabinet meetings and may lead to his assuming other duties of the Prime Minister.

If Eden's health fails to improve, Butler's age — he is only 53 — his experience, his strength in the Conservative party throughout the nation and his cold intellectual brilliance, would make him a logical choice for taking up permanent residence at No. 10 Downing street.

Butler at present is Lord Privy Seal and Conservative leader of the House of Commons, but he made his mark on the party and the world in two other postwar jobs.

The first was as chairman of the party's advisory committee on policy and political education. He took that in 1945 after the Labor Party's election victory. Butler's skill in formulating and propagating a "new conservative" social theory and his success in strengthening the party organization was credited with leading to the conservative return to power in 1951.

For that, he was rewarded with the second most powerful job in the government — Chancellor of the Exchequer. It was also the most unpopular and probably the most difficult post as well.

Britain was deep in an economic crisis when he moved in under Sir Winston Churchill in 1951. A sharp dose of austerity and some long range planning with the other Commonwealth countries helped put the nation on a sounder economic footing.

Butler held the exchequer post until Sir Winston retired and remained there under Eden until Dec., 1955.

On top of his government worries, Butler's personal life was saddened during much of his time as chancellor by the illness of his wife, the former Sidney Courtauld.

Mrs. Butler died in December, 1954, and her husband withdrew from public life as much as was possible for a member of the government.

Butler's initials gave rise to his nickname, "RAB", by which he is known to his personal friends and the public alike.

Although Butler and Eden get along together — as far as is known — observers have noted RAB has gone out of the way lately to praise the Prime Minister's performance in over-

Bevis to Talk in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—How to recruit scientists and engineers to keep pace with Russia will be discussed before the Detroit Economic Club Monday by Howard L. Bevis. He is chairman of the National Committee for the Development of Scientists and Engineers.

It is now estimated that one out of every eight tax dollars collected in the United States directly or indirectly comes from motor vehicle sources.

Make Gay Yule Candles in Your Own Designs

If you'd like to bring a different and distinctive decorative touch into your home this Christmas, make your own holiday candles and group them into eye-catching settings for mantel-piece or table.

No special talent is needed and you may find that the whole family will want to join in the creative fun, especially the youngsters.

A little imagination, a few simple kitchen utensils for molds, and some Gulfwax paraffin starts you on a project that's easy to do and inexpensive.

Candlesticks for wicks, children's crayon shavings for color and trimming material ranging from gold or silver "glitter" to sequins, buttons or beads, rounds out the list.

You can easily pick up additional decorating ideas in a trip to the local five-and-ten-cent store.

Begin by melting the wax in the top of your double boiler. Next, pour it into a mold greased with vegetable shortening. Chill it until firm and tap gently to slide the candle out.

Dessert molds, milk or cream cartons, tin cans, plastic containers or muffin tins are a few of the everyday items around the house that can be used to make a variety of shapes. If you decide to use a cardboard container, wrap several turns of string around it for extra strength.

Even without using a mold, you can make an attractive block candle by joining bars of paraffin together with small amounts of melted wax.

Decorated and surrounded by holiday scenery, it will make a handsome centerpiece.

Wicks can be made from pared-down candle stubs or picked up at a local hobby shop. If you want to make your own, soak heavy string in a borax-and-salt solution overnight, then dip in melted wax to stiffen. The solution causes the wick to burn more slowly. When you are ready to insert the wick, use a heated ice pick to make a hole for it in the candle, then seal it in place with a drop or two of melted wax.

Make This Yule Season Safe and Sane for All

Hazards as well as happiness are ushered into the home by Christmas. Such innocent trappings as fir trees, decorations, greenery, candles, colored lights and party dresses can be potential deathtraps. And even cooking a meal is beset by an unusual number of risks.

According to Mrs. Marjorie May, a home accidents expert with the National Safety Council, most holiday accidents in the home are caused by hurry, worry and fatigue. She advises:

"Plan ahead and shop early, so you can prepare as much of the festive meals in advance as possible. Start early enough in the day so that there is no last off the nearest radiator to prevent the tree from becoming too dry.

Use only approved electric lights in good condition on the tree. Never use lighted candles or inflammable ornaments, nor crepe paper and cotton unless labeled flame-retarded or fire-proofed. Do not overload the electrical circuit, and make sure the wires are well-insulated.

Materials can be fire-retarded with a simple solution of 7 ounces of borax and 3 ounces of boric acid dissolved in two quarts of warm or hot water. Apply it, either by spraying or immersion, when the garments are dry.

Do not give a baby anything smaller than its fist, or toys with small removable parts, or stuffed animals with glass or button eyes. To toddlers do not give anything with sharp corners or edges, marbles, beads or inflammable toys. In the slightly older age group, avoid shooting or target toys, and electrical toys (unless specially approved). Most of all never overestimate a child's intelligence or take the attitude that he will "grow into" a toy, mechanical device, laboratory set or bicycle.

Think of the older folk too. Their particular danger is a fall, so if you have elderly people in your home see that presents, wrappings, new toys and so on are not left lying around on the floor.

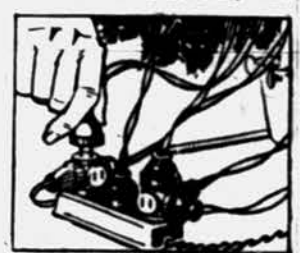

THE TREE should be kept in water and in the coolest part of the room.

minute rush before meals. Avoid working at night, or any time you feel overtired. These are the times at which you do the careless, stupid things that cause accidents."

The kitchen is a dangerous place for children at any time, but particularly when mother is in a holiday-time rush.

Burns and scalds cause the death of more children than any other kind of accident, according to American Red Cross statistics. If you want to be sure that tragedy does not mar your holiday take these simple fire precautions recommended by the National Safety Council:

Keep your Christmas tree in water, and in the coolest part of the room. If necessary turn

DON'T OVERLOAD the electrical circuits of your Christmas tree.

Sees Frozen Spaceman as Pilot of Future

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Dr. George Gamow, Russian-born physicist, said it may be necessary to freeze space pilots so their consciousness lives would be suspended during long trips. He told the San Diego chapter of the American Rocket Society that it would take 10 years at the speed of light for a space ship to reach the nearest star.

A frozen pilot would have no feeling of the length of time. He would be thawed out by instruments before arrival. Gamow said such freezing could be possible, perhaps in not too many years.

Brazil has an estimated 300 or more million wild rubber trees.

New Coats of Arms Created in Canada

OTTAWA—The Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory now have their own coats of arms. New emblems of Canadian heraldry were created for them. The Northwest Territories' emblem shows two gold narwhals (arctic whales) and the Yukon's shows a Malamute dog on a mound of snow.

New Zealand has shipped 5,680 tons of meat to Russia from Auckland, during 1956.

Scarecrow Sets Off Times Firecrackers

NEW YORK—The age of mechanization has finally reached the scarecrow. Now available is a slow-burning fuse rope that scares away birds by setting off a firecracker every hour, by itself. The fuses of the firecrackers are inserted at intervals in the rope, which burns only 6 inches an hour.

There are more than 2,000 species of snakes known in the world.

Merry Christmas and a Happy Ulcer

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Three fragments for amateur philosophers: 1. A spot check of several psychiatrists reveal that more people are prone to psychiatric help at Christmas than at any other season.

2. Pharmaceutical manufacturers report that Yuletide always brings a sharp, upward cramp in the sales chart of antacids. 3. A thorough medical examination shows that December-January prescriptions of anti-spasmodics rises 18 per cent over the yearly average.

In addition, this happy holiday always boosts the sales of ulcer remedies.

Is this merely year-end gaiety? Do these facts point only to youthful cheer and brimming good spirits? Or is this really a more insidious syndrome camouflaged with heartiness and good will toward men?

"The truth," according to one close observer of the Christmas scene, "is probably somewhere in between."

Experts and analysts differ on the reasons for Christmas illness — both mental and gastric.

On the one hand, they say, there is the general year-end tiredness and the year-end bills and other worries.

On the other hand, there is the temptation of over-indulgence coupled with the close family associations.

And the answer?

Like the problem, it lies somewhere in between. And the way to avoid both psychic and physical shocks is to walk that middle road, experts advise.

If you're going to decorate the house, buy presents, send cards, give parties, visit and cook, plan your time well ahead. Don't find yourself overloaded with work at deadline time. Too, divide the responsibilities and let the family carry its share of the burden.

Above all, don't work in too long stretches. Use your refrigerator's freezing compartment to help get Christmas dinner done in stages. Let the kids address the cards. Shop early.

If the old family reunions bother you, stay a polite amount of time and then leave. If the house guest gets on your nerves, be direct and you'll feel better. And when the parties and the people and the gaiety get to you, excuse yourself and lie down.

It's really simple. All you have to do is look out for roadblocks. And then, when it's Christmas Eve and you've still got the tree to decorate, the cards to address, the dinner to cook, the relatives to meet and the shower to take before dressing for the party, simply reach for an antacid, call your psychiatrist and tell yourself: "Christmas comes but once a year."

Spirit of Thanksgiving Rules Pontiac, Area Homes

"Look now! This is what we eat on Thanksgiving Day" Carol Ann Ferrer tells her five-month-old twin brothers, Craig and Clay, who are celebrating their first Thanksgiving Day with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ferrer of Marlborough drive and their grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Ethan B. Cudney, also of Marlborough drive.

Charles E. Wilsons Arrive for Feast Day With Family

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Skillman Jr. Have Clifford Ekelunds, Others in Group

As is the custom, area residents are attending religious services and celebrating Thanksgiving Day with family dinners, buffet supper parties and other social gatherings.

Arriving from Washington, D. C., Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson are spending Thanksgiving Day with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Curtis Matthews of Lone Pine road. Also present for dinner today are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hargreaves.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Skillman Jr. of Lake Angelus Shores are entertaining her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Ekelund of Ottawa drive. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith and son, David, of Meadowlake Farms, Mary Sue Ekelund of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Smith and family, Mark and Mary Elizabeth of Franklin and David Brennan.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Armstrong of Cherokee road are avoiding the sudden cold spell and spending Thanksgiving Day at Jamaica Inn, Jamaica. They left on Tuesday for a two-week vacation there.

Enjoying a tour of the West over the holiday are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Karkaus of Oneida road.

The Carleton C. Pattersons of Birmingham are entertaining their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton C. Patterson Jr.;

their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sligh and children, Robert and Barbara, of Holland, and Dr. and Mrs. Harold Furlong.

Robert and Richard Eldred arrived home from Sacred Heart Seminary and Roger came from Notre Dame University to have dinner with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eldred of West Iroquois road.

Gathered at the home of Mrs. Orville Moll on Woodbine drive are her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Harimann and daughters, Kris and Lynde, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Nye and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blakeslee and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blakeslee and children, Ted, Ann and Martin, are having dinner with Mrs. Martin J. Cloonan of Birmingham.

The Stuart Austin home on Cherokee road is the scene of another family gathering that includes Mr. and Mrs. Harry Austin, Mr. and Mrs. John Austin, Eva and Ella Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patterson and children, Richard and Tom, of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barrett and children, Ted, Bob, Fred and David, are spending the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goodloe Rogers of Ottawa drive. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vollmar and children of Macon are also here for the day.

Gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gilmour Winn of South Pemberton road are her mother, Mrs. Ernest M. Orr, Mrs. Philip F. Hoops of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Bowes and daughter, Linda, of Evanston, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Asa L. Drury and son, David, of Birmingham.

Dr. and Mrs. Chauncey G. Burke of Glenary circle, Bloomfield Hills, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Isgrigg, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Galbraith and Mr. and Mrs. William Isgrigg and children, Richard and John.

A family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Collis Scott of Franklin boulevard includes their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Houde Jr. and daughter, Karen, of Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. Harder and children, Kristine and Eric, of East Lansing.

Also present are their son, Arthur H. Scott II, who attends MSU; Mrs. Helen Harder of East Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. William G. Dickinson and daughter, Christine, of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Handren Jr. and children are dining with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fay of Utica road as are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pepples, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Graham of Detroit and Mrs. Ben Byrnes.

On Friday the Handrens will accompany Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Kennedy to Columbus, Ohio, where they will visit friends over the weekend and attend the Michigan-Ohio State game on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Hayter of Woodbine drive traveled to Howell where they are having dinner today with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayter.

Norman Norell Brings Back Tunic Fashions

NEW YORK (INS) — Norman Norell, America's most honored designer, thinks it's time for tunics again.

Norell, the only triple winner of the Fashion Critics Award, is backing tunics of various lengths in his resort collection this winter.

He favors both the straight, skinny tunic and the tunic with a little flare above the hip.

The straight tunics are put over lounge trousers or over slim skirts. They usually have round collarless necklines and buttons down the back.

The looser tunics are mostly shown belted, for a slight blousing above the belt and a little flare below. Typical of this Norell tunic is a beige tunic dress belted in brown, or a beige tunic over a brown skirt, also belted in brown.

Norell's belts are fashion news, too. They are extremely wide — 4 or 5 inches — and are worn with the bottom edge on the natural waistline or even a little above it.

This belt the rib cage rather than the waist, although Norell also has two costumes reminiscent of the '20s in which a similar wide belt sits way down on the hips.

Beta Sigma Phi to Add New Chapter

Plans for organization of a new Nu Phi Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority are being completed this week.

Nu Phi Mu is the first degree of Beta Sigma Phi, the largest Greek letter organization in the United States.

There are seven active chapters in Pontiac. The ages of Nu Phi Mu members are 18 to 21 years. Members are eligible for transfer to a ritual of jewels chapter of Beta Sigma Phi when they have been members of the Nu Phi Mu chapter three years.

Meetings of the chapter are held twice a month at which cultural topics including music, art, drama, literature and poetry are discussed, as well as charm and poise. An annual short story, poetry, photography, and song contests are held and occasional guest speakers appear. The social side of the program includes outings, teas, formal and informal dinners and dances.

Mrs. Eileen K. Davenport, representative from the international office in Kansas City, Mo., will address prospective pledges at a rush meeting at Hotel Waldron, Sunday at 3 p.m.

Membership is by invitation. Installation will be held Dec. 2 at 3 p.m. at Hotel Waldron following a tea in honor of new members.

A TRULY AMERICAN TRADITION...

To Give Thanks for Our Blessings

On this Thanksgiving Day we give thanks for the good fortune of being citizens of a mighty Democracy... for the peace, prosperity and freedom it offers us. We offer a prayer that it will continue to be here through the years for ourselves and our children to live in and enjoy.

City Panhellenic Makes, Donates Toys to Children

Pontiac City Panhellenic has made a presentation of "self-help" toys to the children of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children.

These toys were made by members during the past year. The idea originated from the Alpha Chi Omega toy book as a worthwhile therapeutic toy to handicapped children as well as train them.

The functions of the toys are to develop muscle coordination, teach self-dressing, aid finger and elbow dexterity, stimulate visual perception, encourage hand grasp and eye coordination, motivate speech effort and to provide dramatic play. Panhellenic also presented a campship to send a handicapped child of Pontiac to Camp Grace Bentley during the summer.

Use Many Colors to Create Illusions

Things seldom have to be what they seem, and a room of unwieldy proportions is no exception. You can use colors to create the illusion desired, whether of width or depth.

Light colors in a small room will exaggerate its area and dark colors in an oversize room tend to make it appear smaller and more unified. A light-colored low ceiling will seem to be higher, while a dark-toned high ceiling will appear lower.

Self-help toys were donated Tuesday to the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society by women of the Pontiac City Panhellenic. Shown making the presentation are (left to right) Mrs. Howard Owen of Wall street, Mrs. R. L. Bronoel of Pioneer drive, and Mrs. Herbert Howerth of Wenonah drive. Pictured with them is two-year-old JoAnn Dunnabeck, daughter of the Donald F. Dunnabecks of Birmingham. JoAnn attends the school at the Society office on West Lawrence street.

Fridges, Freezers All New

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — Refrigerators and freezers not only are "straightening" up for '51, they're getting easier to use.

There's one refrigerator, for instance, that doesn't even have a handle. You merely tap a toe on the floor-hugging foot pedal and the door swings open.

Inside, the refrigerator is just as convenient when you've got a plate in either hand. The shelves revolve by push-button and it's a button big enough to tap with your elbow.

As for freezers, the promise is no more digging through the green peas stacks to find the beans. The freezer compartment of one new refrigerator is a drawer—exactly like your dresser drawer. Pull it out, and everything is visible from the top.

A stand-up freezer, meanwhile offers "bookshelf" arrangements of food. You just shove the packages in sideways, like volumes, so that every "title" is reachable right away.

The new appliances are decorative as well as practical. They're all straightish—with squared corners—for "build-in" effects.

Neighbors Accustomed to Cocktails
Hosts Should Offer Pre-Dinner Drinks to Be Hospitable

By EMILY POST

"My husband and I have invited several of our neighbors to an informal supper next Saturday night. We do not drink but all our friends enjoy a cocktail before dinner. Knowing this, would it be inopportune not to serve them cocktails? We do not object to drinking, it is just that we don't enjoy it."

Answer: If that is what your friends are accustomed to and they know that you do not object, it would be very inopportune not to serve cocktails.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a young businesswoman living alone in a small apartment. When a man calls to take me out for the evening, is it proper to invite him up to the apartment for a short while, or must I always meet my male friends downstairs?"

Answer: An old friend you certainly would ask up. If you know an escort only slightly and do not know the type of man he is, you would meet him downstairs.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other afternoon I drove my mother over to visit my aunt. I greeted her with a kiss. Also present at the time were two other near relatives whom I greeted, but did not kiss. On the way home my mother brought this to my attention and said that she thought I was wrong not to have greeted the other relatives in the same manner. I would very much like to know what you think about this."

Answer: If you knew them about equally it would be quite rude. If the one you kissed you see constantly and the others are almost strangers, you were quite right.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have often seen notices sent out by a firm of the death of one of its members. My question is, would it be wrong

Wild Parties? Not for Modern Collegians!

By EUGENE GILBERT

President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Wild parties on college campuses? Maybe in the days of the raccoon coat and the Stutz Bearcat, but not today. No much, anyway.

Seven out of 10 collegians we interviewed at 10 representative schools across the country said they never heard of such goings on at their school—or else that the frolics they knew of were tame.

A junior at Northwestern summed it up: "That sort of stuff went out with the 20s. We have our fun, but not that kind. There are enough other ways to get kicks."

Tippling apparently is one of them. Our survey, concerned with students aged 17 to 22, showed that to be a candidly popular pastime behind the ivy-clad walls.

Average American consumes 175 quarts of milk a year, second only to water.

ROUGH PARTIES

About one out of three college students said they've heard about rather rough parties that included sex relations. (This doesn't mean these students took part in them.)

A New York coed commented: "Whenever exams are over and tension is relieved, there are a few such wild parties. I've been to several."

"As long as the affair doesn't get too far out of hand, it can be fun. But when that danger signal rings, I dash for home."

At places where wild parties do happen, 28 per cent of the boys and 21 per cent of the girls who admit having attended some say heavy drinking and promiscuous petting is often the rule.

Sexual intimacy is mentioned by 8 per cent of the boys and 4 per cent of the girls in this group.

An Ohio senior observed blandly, "Sure I've taken part in these parties. But it doesn't thrill me like it used to—as a freshman. Man, those were the days!"

While on the subject of sex, it should be noted that 60 per cent of the girl students say they never indulge in petting, and three out of four girls say they have never "gone the limit." Forty-four per cent of the boys replied they haven't, either.

But seeing notes in other peoples' eyes is a different matter. So 62 per cent of the boys felt most of their friends were "excessively active in sex relationships," and 43 per cent of the girls considered most of their friends equally promiscuous.

Also, 31 per cent of the boys thought the majority of their friends drank too much, compared with 23 per cent of the girls holding similar views.

A 19-year-old college boy said he thought any girl going to college "is out of her mind if she has an affair. I've never seen it fail for word to get around, making it very tough for the kid."

NOT BENEFICIAL

And a 21-year-old coed: "I believe self-control should be exercised when it comes to sexual relationships. Petting isn't beneficial in any way and taking advantage of something as wonderful as conception is to me disgusting and dangerous."

Another girl said kissing might easily become too much of a good thing.

"In dating several fellows," she remarked, "I can't see kissing them all goodnight one night after the next. I have a favorite whom I do kiss, but I can't see any reason for kissing the others. They still come back, though."

When it comes to drinking, it's plain the college populace considers it a favored indoor sport.

Only one out of 10 of the men on the campus we questioned said he doesn't touch the stuff at all.

One out of two frequently drinks beer.

For the distaff side, only one out of five college girls never drinks beer. Four out of 10 say they drink it frequently.

And only one out of eight boys never touches whisky, while 4 out of 10 do, frequently.

Half of the girls, though, stay away from hard liquor.

Leg Work Does Trick

Take it easy in your house cleaning chores. Michigan State University home management specialists suggest you use leg muscles instead of back muscles for lifting. For example, when bending to pick up large objects on the floor, bend at the knee instead of at the waist.

Gain Control by Building Respect, Says Doctor

Mothers Told Not to Expect Impossible From Child

Mothers whose small children are "terrors, no matter how hard I try" to tame them can take heart from Rudolf Dreikurs. He believes some mothers try too hard. A Vienna-born psychiatrist, he specializes in child guidance and urges, "don't be a perfectionist parent."

Expecting perfection, he says, is expecting the impossible—doomed to failure. And the discouragement pours from the mother to the child like radio waves, making the child all the worse through rebellion.

What's perfection? Demanding that small boys keep quiet and clean. Demanding that fair-middling pupils make top marks. Demanding that quiet introverted youngsters become class leaders. Dr. Dreikurs cites a multitude of "impossible" demands which can chip away a parent's control of her children.

The parent's job of "maintaining order" is best handled, the Chicago specialist believes, by "not letting the child impose his will on you—nor imposing your will on him."

Then how, for instance, do I "get" my eight-year-old Barbara to pile into bed at the appointed hour without prodding her?

"By mutual respect," he replies. "Explain to her why she needs so much sleep, reach an agreement on what hour is bedtime and what the consequences are if she fails to observe it."

Experience has taught Dreikurs that if you live up to your agreements your child is likely to follow suit.

Take it from the doctor—who's reared two children of his own to adulthood—much perfectionism is with her own superiority rather than the betterment of the child."

Dreikurs advises: "Don't lack the courage to be imperfect."

Treat Hair to Make It Manageable

Anyone in that depressed minority of women with the feeble kind of hair "that comes right out the next day" after a visit to the hairdresser's will be glad for the advice of Guillaume of Marcel, the celebrated Parisian hair stylist.

"The habit of shampooing the hair and setting it immediately afterward is hard on fine hair," says this expert.

Body and staying power can be achieved merely by following the simple regime of giving yourself an egg-yolk treatment shampoo and lemon rinse at home, then drying the hair thoroughly several hours before going to the hairdresser for your set.

Here is Guillaume's home treatment:

Beat two egg yolks with a fork in a small bowl. Spread the egg thoroughly over the hair and let it dry under a net or little cap.

Rinse off egg with lukewarm water and shampoo with one good soaping of a castile soap or mild liquid shampoo.

Pour the strained juice of two lemons over the hair and rub thoroughly into the scalp. Rinse off with lukewarm water.

Hand dry the hair and brush out before going to hairdresser for your set.

Quickie Divorce for Ava? Torrid Romance Rumored

By MICHAEL CHINIGO

ROME (INS) — Ava Gardner is reported contemplating a fast trip to Mexico for a quickie divorce from Frank Sinatra.

Intimate friends of the actress told this writer that a Mexican journey "figures very definitely in her plans" and that in the event she can not get then a "divorce by proxy may be tried."

The thought of a quickie divorce may explain how torrid Ava's romance with funnyman Walter Chiari has become.

There's no doubt about it. Chiari has managed to dominate Ava completely. Her recent arrival in Turin supplied abundant proof that the Italian "technique" seems to work with Ava as it did with Ingrid Bergman.

The technique can best be described as torrid attention, then icy coolness, then feigned indifference, then torrid attention—all designed to make a female's head swim in uncertainty.

Ava arrived but Walter wasn't there to greet her. Instead, his brother was on hand, with the latest Italian automobile made, the Fiat "600."

Miss Gardner could act no part other than that of an irritated and disconsolate woman.

Those present say she asked when the next plane was leaving Milan and, when she was told there was none for 24 hours, she slowly walked to the tiny car and got in.

ALWAYS LATE

Walter did show up after she had departed. He told friends he "couldn't be on time even when it's important."

But some of his friends say he was late on purpose.

When the pair finally saw each other Ava had cooled off and the tiff was mild compared to some previous "arguments."

Walter had won a point: the man in the combination was recognized something Italian males will not forego to any woman unless she is a passing fancy.

And it is Chiari's I-am-the-boss-stand which leads their friends to believe that wedding bells are in the offing as soon as Ava gets unhitched from the now-loose-bond with Sinatra.

Meanwhile, Ava has put her 12 pieces of baggage with those of Chiari's musical comedy company which will tour most of Italy. She has become one of them, living their lives and routine.

She is in the audience or in the wings when the show goes on, just like the most dutiful of wives.

The teen-ager who yearns to dazzle in a white mink evening cape can be made just as happy with one of white marabou. While you're at it, get her the matching muff.

Margaret Steps Out at College Dance

LONDON (INS)—Princess Margaret, wearing a simple low-cut gown, put aside royal etiquette Tuesday dancing Samba, waltzes and "quicksteps" with students attending college in North Staffordshire.

A radiant Margaret told the band leader at a dance to "liven things up." She added:

"Let's have lots of Paul Jones. I want to dance with as many students as possible."

Don't Eat Those Extras

The tablespoon of French dressing in this girl's right hand contains 50 calories, the Thousand Island dressing contains 175. It's up to you—but stop and think!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women become fat because they have not learned the art of eating well and still avoiding overweight. By this I mean that they do not realize that they can eat plentifully without gaining poundage if they know a few tricks of the game.

Let me illustrate with the following conversation which I overheard in a restaurant. It was the crowded noon hour and two friends were lunching at a nearby table. Let's say that Mrs. A was slim and Mrs. B was a lot overweight.

These two women ordered the same lunch with the following seemingly slight differences: Mrs. A asked that her fillet of sole be broiled while Mrs. B wanted hers fried. Mrs. A also took a baked potato instead of French fries and wanted her broccoli without hollandaise sauce.

Mrs. A had one roll with a little butter while Mrs. B ate two rolls with lots of butter. Mrs. B also had Thousand Island dressing on her head lettuce while Mrs. A had French dressing and asked to be allowed to put it on her lettuce herself. I knew that she was calorie counting.

Then came dessert: Mrs. A had a half grapefruit while her friend ordered a chocolate eclair.

STOP AND THINK

When you stop to think how fried foods zoom the calorie count, that 1 tablespoon of French dressing gives you 50 calories while 1 of Thousand Island dressing gives you 175 calories, that eight 2-inch French fries give you 100 calories while one whole baked potato gives you 100 calories (who eats only eight little pieces of French fries?), you will begin to see what I mean.

Also, remember that hollandaise sauce has 200 calories per tablespoon and a large chocolate eclair gives you 200 calories. The difference in the calorie intake between the two meals is tremendous.

Mrs. A had a filling and adequate meal. It also was better from the health and beauty standpoint since she had some fruit and consumed less fat.

Yet Mrs. B was weight-conscious because I heard her say, "I am dieting as a rule. This is a fling! Why yesterday I didn't eat a mouthful all day long, except I did take a break during my shopping to stop by the drugstore for a chocolate malted milk. That was all I had until dinner time yesterday."

Shades of bulges! The average chocolate malted milk has about 450 calories. If you will learn that the trimmings, the pastries, the fried foods and the special dressings, count up, you can eat well and remain slim. You won't have to be a special problem either. You can have the same things others do with exceptions such as these.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 38 "Vitamins in the Diet," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Correct Posture, Exercise to Get Rid of Double Chin."

Starch, Shelf Paper
'Tools' for Painting

Want to show your child how to fingerprint? Glazed shelf paper works fine and should be large enough to allow for lots of movement. A suggested size is at least 12 by 18 inches, but twice that size is better.

And for the fingerprint, very thick laundry starch tinted with cake coloring or powder paint is very satisfactory. If some soap flakes are added after the starch is boiled, it makes for a better consistency and the mixture will keep longer.

Cellulose tape, wrapped around the hand sticky side out, makes a good lint collector when tidying up dress jackets. Tap hand lightly over the fabric to remove the lint.

'Bouffant Look' Concept Sweeps Costume Jewelry

ATLANTA (INS) — The "bouffant look," increasingly popular in hair and hat styles, is now showing up on the costume jewelry counters.

Fritzi Jaffee, fashion coordinator for a well known costume jewelry firm, says the "bouffant" idea, applied to necklaces, bracelets, pins and earrings, comes out as a wide, full look.

Miss Jaffee, who wears her own white hair attractively swept out in the bouffant manner, explains that the new feminine styles for the fall and holiday season call for a completely new concept in jewelry. She explains:

"There is a decided trend toward drop earrings. The little button earring just doesn't show up with the new hair styles."

In drop earrings she points to the full shower (the wide look again), the slim shower (modification) and the slim drop (for contrast).

FASHION-MINDED

The fashion expert says that American women are "more fashion-minded" than high fashion-minded. Her company, however, makes jewelry for both types, those who want fashion, modified, and those who are seeking something more extreme.

Miss Jaffee reports a "strong demand for pins" this season, to point up the high waistlines being featured. She said:

"When women buy this type of dress, they themselves realize that the dress calls for an extra touch."

Color is strong in all jewelry being shown this season, and it ranges from varied tones of one color to stones that reflect half a dozen or more colors.

Miss Jaffee says that two and three tone outfits are very good this year and for this reason she is showing necklaces, for instance, in bright red or green for wear with a basic black.

The necklace is complemented with matching earrings, pin, bracelet and so on.

COORDINATE JEWELRY

The costume jewelry expert points out that three, four, or even six pieces, properly coordinated, may be worn at once. She does not advocate mixing of types and colors, however.

In choosing the proper type of jewelry to go with a costume which is colorful, she suggests picking something to match the predominant color in the costume.

This is easy this season, because many of the costume pieces contain stones of two or more different colors.

The aurora borealis jewelry, with many different bright colors year.

burned into each individual stone, is a sure bet for the woman in doubt. Miss Jaffee explained: "They blend with every costume."

About 90,000 children are available for adoption in the U. S. each year.

FEATURING THE LATEST FASHIONS IN EYEWEAR

From France come these beautiful evening bags in time for Christmas. Intricate tapestry design is used (left) for bag in delicate colors and hundreds of minute beads. Top and clasp are both beaded and jeweled. Envelope in black silk satin (left center) is lavishly paved in gold, black and amber bugle beads. All of them are hand-sewn. White satin and black lace (right center) make a bag that has a blazing frame of rhinestones and jet. There's a delicate chain handle. Draped clutch (right) sparkles with iridescent pink-white sequins, rhinestones, pearls and crystals.

Project Gives Meaning to Holiday

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I'm 76," a wonderful woman wrote me recently "and I have a good life. It takes a little doing, but it's worth it. In fact, back when I was a youngster of 50, I started a project which has helped enormously.

"I offer it to you in the hope that it will help others. It all began on Thanksgiving Day.

"In our family, Thanksgiving Day has mostly meant having all the family here, children and grandchildren, and a tiling too much. We gave lip service to being thankful, but to me it didn't amount to much.

"As a matter of fact, I didn't feel that I had much to be thankful for. The children were grown and away. We only saw them on important holidays. My husband was working hard.

"I was busy with housework and club work. One year was much like another. The future wasn't exactly what you'd call promising.

NO REAL GLOW

"I was thankful, of course, that we had our health and enough to live on and such nice children and grandchildren. But it wasn't what you'd call a glowing feeling of gratefulness.

terrible letdown feeling the next day, when the youngsters left.

"I'd mope around the house, thinking of how empty my life was, I'd dwell on all the things I had meant to accomplish with my life, how little I had actually done.

"Well, 27 years ago this Thanksgiving, I made up my mind to do something about it. I had just had a physical examination.

"The doctor had said I'd probably have 20 or 30 years more to live and I decided to do something with them.

LETTER TO HERSELF

"I wrote myself a letter, to be opened the following Thanksgiving Day. I listed the things I was thankful for, then I listed some things I intended to do so I could be thankful for them the following year.

"They weren't world-shattering things — learn to type, take a course in ceramics, meet some new people and develop some new friendships, things like that.

"It worked out beautifully. It was like an assignment — a list of potential items of thankfulness. It gave meaning to the whole year.

"I didn't get them all done, of course, but by the next Thanksgiving Day I had a good many items I had really done for which to be thankful.

"I've done it every year since, with amazing results. My life is full, my health is good, and Thanksgiving Day is more to me than a period of overeating!"

Long Johns Now High Style

NEW YORK (INS) — The ski enthusiast who wants to be 100 per cent fashionable this season will be happy to know that even Long Johns now come in high style colors.

You can buy long undies in pale yellow, for instance, or mix a bright red vest with royal blue pants.

The Long Johns being offered in New York department and sporting goods stores range all the way from cotton at $2 to cashmere at $30.

If you have the cash, the cashmere is dandy. These Long Johns — pants and long-sleeve tops — are imported from England, creamy beige in color and soft as kitten fur. They're $45 each piece.

If you like something cheaper, you can get Long Johns in pure wool in peach, white, red and yellow for $11.50 apiece, tops and bottoms.

At the budget level—the $2 to $8 class—there are pants in red, white, black, beige, royal blue and open blue. Vests come in red, the most popular color.

When you buy a bouffant skirt, remember that it won't look well under a straight coat. So, if your coats all have straight lines, better stick to the sheath in some version.

Welcome Husband Home With Some Happy News

Let Him Relax and Eat Dinner Before Airing Complaints and Troubles

By RUTH MILLETT

"Well, what have you been doing all day?"

When your husband comes home after a hard day's work and asks that routine question he isn't asking to hear a tale of woe. It won't brighten his homecoming any to get that dispirited reply: "Oh, nothing special. Just the same old routine."

Did you ever stop to think what he hopes to hear? Or what he'd like to hear?

To begin with, he'd like a little enthusiasm. He would like to find you at least mildly excited over something—even if it is just that the chrysanthemums have started to bloom or Junior has added a new word to his vocabulary.

He has been gone a whole day and in those 8 or 10 hours you must have done or noticed or thought something worth telling him about.

NO BAD NEWS

In the second place, he's hoping against hope you won't have any bad news for him or that he'll have to listen to you complain about how tired you are or what little demons the kids have been.

He has had his own troubles. He wants to forget them—and not take on any of yours.

There may be some bad news you'll have to report. But the moment of greeting isn't the time. Wait until he has had a chance to relax, to eat a good dinner, to settle back into the comfort of home life before you make him face anything unpleasant.

Then he'll be better able to take the bad news in stride.

All a woman has to do to know about greeting a homecoming husband is how to put herself in his place mentally.

If she can do that, she'll know he wants a warm welcome from a cheerful wife who has a bit of good news she is eager to share.

A good diplomat should be disarming even if his country isn't.

Figure defects are often quite unnoticed when an attention-getting hat directs the eye to the face of the wearer. A chic hat often makes the outfit terrific. It's an old trick but a good one.

Under five feet in height, you should never wear the two piece unless it stops at the waistline. Only vertical skirt detail and if you need to soften the sheath, a narrow self belt and small trousers pleats will cover problem hips.

Candy From Applesauce Is Unusual

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today we give you a recipe for an unusual dish. You may serve it as a snack with coffee or as a candy. It resembles candy made in the Shenandoah Valley, says Mrs. Robert H. Clift.

Mrs. Clift is a young homemaker with two small children. She has been president of the Mary Lyon group of her church. Sewing is a favorite occupation. In contrast, she attends sports car meetings with her husband.

APPLETS

BY Mrs. Robert H. Clift

2 cups unsweetened applesauce
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 cups nut meals, cut into pieces few drops orange extract
Confectioners sugar

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water and allow to stand. Add sugar to applesauce and cook until thick. Remove from heat, add gelatin and stir well. Add nuts and orange extract. Stir again, then pour into buttered 8-inch square pan and let stand until firm. Cut into squares and roll in confectioners sugar. Makes about 2 pounds.

'Big Boys' Pile Up Profits as New Firms Join Elite

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the biggest boys are putting on more profit weight this year. And even when their corporate earnings are running behind a year ago, they aren't exactly wasting away.

Fifteen American nonfinancial corporations each have made more than 100 million dollars after taxes so far this year. That is one more than earned that much in the first nine months of 1955, five more than did in the same period of 1954. In prewar 1939 only two of them made that much — the Bell Telephone System and General Motors.

Four of this year's 15 stayed above the 100 million mark although reporting earnings dropped below last year's.

When all of 1956's earnings after taxes are tallied, two more corporations may join the 15. Their nine months profits weren't too far below the mark.

The summer steel strike and the auto sales drop changed the standings of some of the top 15 money makers, and pushed another one out of the list.

Bethlehem Steel, which at this time last year had earned more than 100 million dollars, was just under that figure when the summer quarter ended.

Ford, which at this time last year ranked fourth among the giants of profit, is down to 11th place now after a 53 per cent tumble.

General Motors, despite a 30 per cent drop in earnings so far this year, still holds top rank, however, edging out New Jersey Standard Oil. The Detroit giant made 639½ million dollars, while the big oil company reports its nine months net at 603 million to retain second place. It was a 15 per cent rise for Jersey.

Bell holds onto third position with a gain of 14 per cent, reporting 550½ million dollars net income.

Du Pont has moved into Ford's old place at fourth, although the chemical firm's profits this year are 4 per cent lower than last year, when it was fifth.

U.S. Steel moved up from sixth to fifth, although earnings were off 9 per cent, while the Texas Co. went from seventh to sixth with a 9 per cent increase in profits from its oil activities. Gulf Oil rose even faster, from eleventh to seventh place, on a 42 per cent jump.

Du Pont, big steel, Texas and Gulf were all in the 200 million to 300 million bracket.

Eighth, ninth and tenth positions didn't change, being held by California Standard Oil, Socony Mobil and General Electric, respectively — each better than 150 million dollars.

Kennecott Copper jumped from 16th to 12th this year — from 82 million dollars profit in the first nine months of 1955 to 116 million this time, a gain of 42 per cent.

Indiana Standard Oil retained 13th place despite gaining 12 per cent in earnings this year. Union Carbide & Carbon kept 14th place with a slight profit gain. Shell Oil is the fifteenth, a 17 per cent increase bringing it from 86 million to just above the 100 million mark.

U.S. Hungarian Refugees to Go Back, Fight Reds

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 21-year-old Hungarian student who says he helped lead the Hungarian revolt against the Russians says he believes his countrymen ultimately will be successful.

The student, using the name "Istvan Laszlo" to prevent possible reprisals against relatives in Hungary, said last night the revolt is not over and that he expects to return to his country within two weeks. He'll fight "underground" if necessary, he told a meeting of Hungarian sympathizers.

Tito Criticizes Russian Acts

Soviets Must Give In to European Satellites, Yugoslav Leader Says

WASHINGTON (INS)—Yugoslav President Josip Broz Tito has warned Soviet leaders that they must make immediate concessions to satellite nations of eastern Europe or those countries will follow Hungary's lead.

This was disclosed today when hitherto unpublished parts of Tito's historic speech to Yugoslav Communist leaders a week ago reached Washington.

The Yugoslav president said: "I believe the events in Hungary will probably be the last tragedy necessary to awaken both the Soviet comrades and leaders in other countries who still fail to see this, and to prevent such a situation as now prevails in Hungary from arising in other countries, too."

He declared that the Soviet leaders "still believe that military strength solves everything."

The Yugoslav president added that he had told the Soviets that socialism could be built in Hungary "provided that Soviet troops obligatorily withdraw at the moment when the situation is settled and pacified."

"The Soviet comrades said," he went on, "that their troops would go then."

Now, Tito argued, the Soviet Union is in a "difficult situation." The Kremlin leaders, he said, see the "workers from factories and mines are fighting here (in Hungary) — that the entire people are fighting. The Soviet soldiers go unwillingly, with heavy hearts."

He then made the unusual declaration:

"I am deeply convinced that the bloodshed in Hungary and these terrible sacrifices by the Hungarian people will have a positive effect, that a little light will reach the eyes of the comrades in the Soviet Union, even those Stalinist elements, and that they will see that it is no longer possible to work in this way."

Tito revealed that the Soviet leaders had failed to argue with him when he told them that the present trend in eastern Europe would have developed "even if Stalin had not died — that this would have happened even earlier if he had lived."

The Yugoslav leader said the Soviet leaders had issued two declarations concerning the right of countries to take different roads to socialism mainly as a concession to Yugoslavia — a concession he did not mean them to apply to the other satellites.

U.S. analysts believe Tito addressed this message to the Russian people over the heads of the Soviet leaders. That he succeeded to some extent, is shown by the restrained reply made by Russian news agencies, U.S. officials explained.

New Fuel System to Cost Buyer $484

DETROIT (AP)—Fuel Injection which Chevrolet announced several weeks ago as an optional, extra-cost item for its 1957 line of cars is going to cost the Chevrolet car buyer $484.20.

That's the "suggested" factory list price, confirmed today by Chevrolet. The price includes $34.20 federal excise.

Chevrolet will offer the unit first on its Corvette sports model and later it will be made available to the rest of the company's line.

A Chevrolet spokesman said today that although production of the injection system had not been up to original expectations, orders were being accepted for it on a "when ready" basis.

The unit, which replaces the standard carburetor, is said to greatly improve engine efficiency and fuel mileage.

Soviets Seek to Boost Mideast Influence by Posing as Asia's Champion

Not since the Korean War has the world been so close to a general conflict as in the current Middle East crisis. But what's the dispute in the Middle East all about? Following is the first of a series of special reports from experienced INS correspondents in Moscow, Washington, London, Paris, Cairo and Tel Aviv, telling what each country's stake is in the Middle East, what it has done in the present crisis and the future course it may follow.

By CHARLES H. KLENSCH, MOSCOW (INS) — As Moscow sees it, the current Suez crisis offers the most dramatic possibilities for expanding Soviet influence in the Middle East since the breakup of the European colonial empires after World War II.

But Russia has not been standing by idly waiting for the break to develop. Carefully laid groundwork and strategy have enabled the Soviet Union to make the maximum capital out of the troubled Middle Eastern situation.

As a result, Russia stands to benefit four ways.

First, the Soviet Union wants a role to play in the Middle East, a greater role in Middle Eastern affairs. Much of 19th century Russian history revolved around the czarist campaign to drive the Turks out of the Balkans and to seize Constantinople (Istanbul).

Russia hoped to benefit from the breakup of the Turkish Ottoman Empire after World War I but saw the spoils go to Britain and France. Now, the Anglo-French hold broken by the upsurge of postwar nationalism, Russia again sees her chance—at the expense of the same Britain and France.

Second, the Middle East moves are part of the growing Soviet bid for the uncommitted nations of Africa and Asia. That bid first hit the headlines in 1955 with Indian Prime Minister Nehru's triumphal tour of the Soviet Union and satellites: the Soviet bloc's shipment of arms to Egypt and the tour of India, Burma and Afghanistan by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev.

Third, the Soviet Union would like to disrupt the Baghdad Pact, which she sees as a menace on her southern flank. The pact members are Britain, Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan. There has been a campaign to drive the Turks out of the Russian approaches to the strong criticism in the four Moslem nations of the Anglo-French invasion of Moslem Egypt.

The Soviets already have leapfrogged the Baghdad Pact firewall into Syria and Egypt and have split off Afghanistan, but the pact is still a priority target of Soviet Middle East activities.

Fourth, as events of the past four months have shown, the greater the crisis in the Middle East the greater the strain on the western alliance which confronts the Soviets all around their perimeter from Norway to Alaska.

To implement its Middle Eastern policy Russia has used every weapon in her considerable arsenal: political, economic, military and cultural aid — and even religion — together with a "hard shell" propaganda campaign.

Politically, Russia has promoted herself as the champion of small nations in Asia and Africa seeking their own place in the broiling Middle Eastern sun. The Soviets have put their United Nations security council veto at the disposal of the Arabs. Soviet propagandists boast that a Soviet veto in February, 1956, defeated a western resolution to continue the French mandate in Syria and Lebanon.

A Soviet veto on Oct. 13 killed even the watered-down version of a western proposal for a canal users' association to solve the Suez Canal issue.

Similarly, the Russians can be counted on to take a pro-Arab stand at other international gatherings.

SUPPORT ARABS

When the Soviets accepted a bid in mid-August for a conference on the Suez dispute in London they did so with reservations because, among other reasons, the Arab nations were not invited. And when the London conference voted on a compromise plan to negotiate a convention with Egypt for international control of the canal, Russia rejected it—along with India, Ceylon and Indonesia.

The Soviets roll up points throughout the Arab Middle East with each pronouncement in the international arena against "colonial imperialism."

They also reaped enormous good will through visits to the Soviet Union of foreign parliamentary delegations. Syrian President Shukri El-Kuwatli has just been received here with full honors. Yemen's crown prince, the Afghan premier and the shah of Iran also have experienced lavish Soviet hospitality this season.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser was scheduled to visit Russia in August but that was postponed because of the Suez crisis.

For their part, the Soviets sent Dmitri Shepilov off on a Middle East tour in June before the ink was dry on his new commission as foreign minister.

OFFERED VOLUNTEERS

Militarily, Russia in the past two weeks has offered to send troops to Egypt along with United States forces to clear the invaders out of that country, and threatened to unleash "volunteers" if the British and French did not withdraw promptly. According to Middle East reports these offers boosted Soviet stock another notch.

And Egypt won't forget the Soviet Union was responsible for the deal in September, 1955, to swap Egyptian cotton for tanks and Russian Mig planes — that gave Nasser the muscle power he needs in his current bid for mastery in the Middle East.

The Soviet Union has also put a steel backbone into the fighting forces of Syria and Afghanistan.

Economically, the Soviet Union is operating under a proposition put forward by economist V. E. Motylev in 1948, that political objectives are sometimes more important than just commercial considerations in a nation's foreign trade.

Russia has bought surplus oranges from Syria, for example, along with turning unsalable Egyptian cotton into tanks and jets. Russia encouraged the satellites to build factories and bridges in Egypt and an oil refinery in Syria at bargain prices.

The Soviets are offering technical know-how to build up Egyptian industry and supply Nasser an atom-smasher for whatever trade goods he can manage. When 100 foreign western pilots walked out on their Suez Canal jobs in mid-September, Russia and the satellites sent pilots.

Culturally, the Soviets have launched a broad campaign on every level from music hall jugglers to exchange students, throwing in movies, soccer players, public health technicians and proletarian novels in Arabic.

In the first half of 1956, the Russians sent 72 groups of legislators, officials, entertainers, athletes, technicians and professional people on goodwill missions to the Middle East. In the same period the Russians played host to 52 uncommitted people of Africa, Asia and the Middle East points to its wave of nationalism and independence with variations as to degree, don't want to risk a general war. (Next: Another side of the Middle East crisis.)

Meanwhile, the Soviets hammered home their message with an intensive propaganda campaign that presents the Soviet Union as the champion of peace, democracy and independence and smears the west with terms like "imperialism, colonialism and racial segregation."

Russia broadcasts 17½ hours weekly in Arabic to the Middle East, and satellite broadcasts are keyed to the same line to increase Communist propaganda firepower.

Even on the religious front, the Soviets are hard at work to win friends and influence people. Picked Soviet Muslims ostentatiously made the pilgrimage to Mecca the past two years. They spread the word among the faithful that, in the words of one of this year's pilgrims, the Imam of the Moscow mosque, the Soviet government "doesn't interfere in religious matters."

To Orthodox Christians of the Middle East who instinctively hate Rome more than they fear communism, Russia presents a traditional pose as defender of the true faith against the legions of the Pope.

Fantastic as it may seem, many Near Eastern Orthodox church leaders who have visited Moscow have returned home less skeptical than before their visit to what formerly was referred to as "the third Rome" (It was the seat of the eastern church after the fall of Constantinople to the Turks.)

The apparent success of this gigantic Soviet offensive for the friendship and collaboration of the Middle East, in the same period the Russians played host to 52 uncommitted people of Africa, Asia

Success as Archaeologist

Former Handyman Unearths Harbor

NORTH TARRYTOWN, N. Y. — A window washer turned archaeologist has unearthed an old Dutch harbor under the lawns and trees of Philipse Castle.

Roland W. Robbins, 48-year-old pick-and-shovel historian from Lincoln, Mass., scrambled into pits on the castle grounds Monday to point out crumbling walls and wooden cribbing of old wharves.

The castle was the home of Dutch settler Frederick Philipse in pre-revolutionary days. Dutch merchant ships tied up in the castle harbor in the 17th century. The harbor was on the Pocantico River and only 1,000 feet from the Hudson. But later the Pocantico changed course and dwindled to a creek. The old harbor was stranded and then buried.

Robbins also showed off 3,000 fragments of pottery, colonial nails, broken grindstones, clay pipes, pewter dishes, silverware, buttons, and other objects he discovered buried under the 18 acres surrounding the castle.

Robbins was a house painter, window washer and handyman before he turned to full-time digging in 1948.

He probes the underground past with a self-designed steel rod. He says he can ram the rod five feet into the earth and tell by the feel whether he has struck rock, wood, crockery or other substances.

The Rockefeller interests, restorers of the castle, chose Robbins for the job here because of his previous archaeological successes. His finds include the foundations of Thoreau's cabin at Walden Pond and Thomas Jefferson's first home near Charlottesville, Va.

"Archaeologist" is too fancy a title for Robbins. He says he prefers "history trouble shooter" because "archaeologist scares too many people."

4-Ton Christmas Tree Plays Hide and Seek

DETROIT (AP)—The Department of Public Works is looking for its four-ton Christmas tree.

It was growing near a Detroit intersection and had to be moved to make way for an expressway. DPW members had loosened the roots and planned to set the tree for the Christmas season on the lawn in front of DPW headquarters.

It disappeared before they could haul it away.

Area of the Panama Canal Zone is 475 square miles.

Huge Response to Refugee Aid

May Assure 5,000 of Jobs, Says State Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—So many of the 5,000 persons to be admitted under the emergency program may already be assured of jobs.

State Department officials who reported this "enormous response" said they are checking private welfare agencies cooperating in the project to determine definitely whether the program already has gone over the top.

The first plane load, carrying 60 Hungarian escapees, is scheduled to land at McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey today.

(about 11 a.m. EST). Government officials and church welfare representatives who are aiding in the program will welcome them.

Church organizations sponsoring the refugees are the National Catholic Welfare Conference, 29; United HIAS (Hebrew) Service, 24; Church World Service, 4; Lutheran Refugee Service, 3.

In answer to inquiries the State Department said it did not know at this time whether additional sponsors would be needed. The National Advertising Council has offered to sponsor a nationwide advertising campaign to assist the program, if needed, but officials have held off accepting this offer until job guarantees in hand are totaled.

Persons interested in sponsoring a refugee are advised to contact local representatives of one of the four church groups. Their applications, in turn, will be sent to the organization's headquarters and thence to the State Department.

Almost 70 per cent of Georgia's area is farm land.

Bob Considine Says:

Today's the Day to Express Your Gratitude

NEW YORK (INS) — The Pilgrims brought the principle of Thanksgiving with them in the Mayflower. In harmony with the Psalmist, they deemed it "a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord," even when they were in trouble.

Their first formal Thanksgiving was held in the autumn of 1621, and at that time they still were living on a ragged edge of existence. But at least they were finding the natives a little less cool and it had been a year of good crops.

The Continental Congress set aside Thanksgiving days annually during the Revolution but the holiday lapsed out of existence until Abraham Lincoln called upon the nation, or at least the northern part of it, to give thanks for the endurance of the republic in 1863.

Our national Thanksgiving days of 1917, 1918, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1950, 1951 and 1952 were observed while American forces were in action in foreign lands, paying the price of freedom in sweat and blood.

Each president has been called upon to deliver a sort of introduction to the why and wherefore of Thanksgiving. President Eisenhower this year expressed it this way:

"Let us be grateful that the foundations of freedom in our nation grow stronger with each passing year, giving hope to fettered peoples that they may walk as free men unafraid; that the yield of our soil and the production of our factories have been abundant, enriching our lives and enabling us to share our bounty with less fortunate ones in other lands; and that the forces of nature are being harnessed for peaceful purposes, bringing limitless possibilities of comfort and happiness both to ourselves and to future generations."

ANOTHER VIEW

On the same subject of Thanksgiving, the Maryknoll Father James Keller, leader of the Christophers ("better to light one candle than to curse the darkness"), writes in his latest book "Give Us This Day" —

"Showing gratitude to God, one's family, country or friends is a habit that all of us would do well to practice on a more generous scale."

"It is so easy to take things for granted. And little do we realize that we hurt ourselves more than anyone else by failing to show appreciation, by not giving credit where credit is due."

"Take every opportunity to express our gratitude for the countless blessings that God is continually showering upon you. Let your last prayer at night be one of Thanksgiving to Him."

Bob Hope was telling us the other night at Shor's that his film about New York Mayor Abraham Oakley Hall.

It will be released nationally this coming summer. The script was taken, of course, from Gene Fowler's fine book on Jimmy.

George Jessel, Jimmy's great friend, plays himself in the picture. During the filming Jessel greeted every new scene with an unfailing ejaculation:

"You won't believe this, but I was THERE."

Hope, as is his custom, will spend Christmas with the troops, this time in Alaska. Last year it was Greenland. His friends will attempt to have the Defense Department send an occupation force to Miami some Christmas, just for Hope's sake.

COLORFUL CAREER

If the Walker picture is the great success Hope thinks it will be, somebody ought to look into filming Croswell Bowen's lusty, gusty, wonderful "The Elegant Oakley," graduate (1884), district attorney of New York County for 14 years, then mayor.

The incredible plunderer, William Marcy Tweed, made him his man. Tweed, a 300-pounder with "an enormous appetite for money," held 46-odd municipal jobs while Hall was in office and robbed the city treasury of an estimated $300,000,000.

Thomas Nast's rapier-like cartoons brought both rascals to bay, but Hall was acquitted, became an outstanding lawyer in England and returned here a hero

Roast Pork in Shiny Foil Gondola

Have you heard about the new "gondola" or "boat" method of roasting meats and poultry? Here it is applied to tender, tasty roast pork, with cinnamon-dotted spiced apple halves as a colorful meal-time companion.

Virtues of the gondola method are many. You roast your meat in a work-saving shallow boat, made of the new 14-inch broiler width quilted foil now being introduced. Roasts really brown this way, instead of just steaming as they do when totally wrapped in foil. Accepted traditional roasting times and temperatures are used. And drippings may be easily and neatly poured from the foil gondola for accurate gravy measurements. Follow these easy directions to roast your pork in a "row boat" made of foil.

Gondola Roasted Pork

Select a fresh pork roast cut from loin, leg, shoulder or butt. Rub with salt and pepper. Now start making your gondola by tearing off a piece of quilted broiler foil twice as long as your roast. Place meat lengthwise in the center of this foil sheet and fold up the long sides of the foil. Draw corners of the ends together, folding center of the foil inward. Then double-fold the corners in to form a secure seal.

Pick up gondola by ends and place on shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into center of roast, being careful not to touch bone.

Roast in moderate oven (350 degrees) until well done, allowing 30 to 35 minutes per pound or until meat thermometer registers 185 degrees. When done, open one end of gondola to pour off drippings for gravy.

Spiced Apple Halves

Core but do not peel baking apples. Cut in halves. Place each half, cut side up, on a 7-inch square of quilted broiler foil (this thickness of foil or all-purpose heavy duty foil should be used, to avoid tearing later when apples are removed from foil).

Top each apple half with a few cinnamon candies or brown sugar and cinnamon. Add a squeeze of lemon juice. Cup foil up around apple and fold four corners over into tight seal.

Bake 30 to 40 minutes in shallow baking dish along with your pork roast.

Beer Made From Tree

CAPE TOWN—Among the thousands of products that come from the world's forests is beer. African natives make a home brew from the fruit of the umgans tree.

Lard Output Climbs

PARIS—France produced 68,400,000 pounds of lard during 1955 compared with 62,000,000 pounds in 1954.

Plywood is a relatively new industrial product, dating back 20 to 25 years.

Met Opera Star Uses Wine for Added Flair in Cookery

Metropolitan Opera star Blanche Thebom, who sings here at Isaac Crary Junior High School on Nov. 17 is an expert at what she calls "career cooking."

Chief requirement for dishes that fit this category therefore, are speed, flair and flavor. Blanche finds wine an invaluable aid in achieving all three in her cooking.

"It's also helpful," says the dark haired mezzo, "to improvise, not to be afraid of making up your own variations on any given cooking theme."

WINE WITH STEAKS

Steak is one of her favorite foods. And, to hear her tell it, hers is steak with a built-in flavor.

She achieves this by marinating it ahead of time. Takes it out of the icebox in the morning, and puts in a shallow pan with a cup of dry red wine, 1/2 cup of vinegar, 2 tablespoons of olive oil, 3 garlic cloves chopped in eighths, and salt and pepper.

Turned every half hour in this mixture as she goes about her housekeeping or practicing, the steak gradually absorbs the mixture so that the flavor permeates it. When she flips it into the oven for broiling, she saves some of the liquid and brushes the steak with it on each side.

Miss Thebom likes to add a few tablespoons of dry white wine to a can of consommé, too, and thinks red wine, in quantities to suit the taste adds elegance to the homely but hearty stew.

For a quick meal for unexpected company, she makes a white sauce, using half the usual quantity of milk, and substituting sherry for the other half. This is spooned over halibut or flounder or sole after it has been put in a shallow baking dish, with white grapes and white raisins, parsley and curry powder. It is baked in an oven at 350 and makes a delectable main dish.

ENHANCES DESSERTS

Wine has always had an important role in dessert cookery and Blanche likes to flavor regular, unflavored gelatin with Ruby Port, Muscatel or Tokay wine.

"Wine can be used in place of vanilla, lemon or almond flavoring where called for, and no self-respecting trifle (that fabulous English dessert into which the British put everything but an old cigar) would dare approach the dining table without having been literally soaked in sherry and brandy," La Thebom says.

Generally, however, her cooking efforts don't run to rich and elaborate desserts, but to the hearty and nourishing substantial meat dishes that furnish energy and are not fattening.

FRANKFURTERS GLAMORIZED

Perhaps her chef d'oeuvre in this line is the glamorized version of frankfurters and sauerkraut she has evolved. This dish is mouth-watering, succulent, tempting and quick.

She melts 3 tablespoons of butter in a heavy skillet, adds one chopped onion and apple each, sauteing them all together till the onions are a golden yellow. To this, a large can of sauerkraut well-drained, a cup of dry sauerkraut, 1/2 cup of water, 2 tablespoons of brown sugar, salt and pepper are added.

After the mixture, well stirred, has been allowed to simmer an hour with a tight-fitting cover on the skillet, the frankfurters are laid on top.

She then adds an extra 1-3 cup of the wine, re-covers, lets simmer for a quarter hour and serves steaming hot.

Q. What is the name of these cuts of meat?

A. Cross-cut Beef Shanks.

Q. Where do they come from?

A. They are cut from the beef shank into flat, round pieces which are 1 to 2 inches thick. The round shank bone in the center is surrounded by the shank meat.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. They are cooked slowly by braising or in liquid and require 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 hours for cooking.

When braised, the meat is first browned on all sides in lard or drippings, seasoned with salt and pepper, and a small amount of liquid, about 1-3 cup, is added.

When cooked in liquid, they are covered with liquid. After liquid is added in either method, the meat is covered and cooked below the boiling point until done.

How to Get More Meals from Meat

BEEF BLADE RIB ROAST (6th & 7th ribs)
Three Fresh-Cooked Meals for a Family of Four

Variable Recipe for Chip Beef

Modern fashion experts now can take a dress or suit and complement it with different accessories to make it appear as several individual creations.

Modern culinary artists such as Reba Staggs, well known meat expert, now uses this same fashion pattern in food preparation.

Chipped beef is used in two different recipes, each complemented in a unique style and... presto, here's one dish ready for breakfast and the other ready for lunch or a Sunday night supper.

Creamed Chipped Beef
For the morning treat, brown 1 4-ounce package of chipped beef lightly in 2 tablespoons of lard. Add 1/4 cup enriched flour and mix well.

Add 2 cups cold milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add 3 chopped hard-cooked eggs and cook until heated through.

Serve on toasted English muffins. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Chipped Beef on Curried Rice
Shred 1/2 pound chipped beef. Melt 1/4 cup butter or margarine and add beef and 3 tablespoons chopped onion, stirring and cooking until lightly browned.

Add 4 tablespoons of enriched flour, mix well and add 3 cups of milk gradually, stirring constantly until thickened.

Italian Cheese, Cream Tops Meat Casserole

Wondering how to use leftover meat? Try this savory way.

Meat's Tomato Sauce
3 cups diced cooked meat, packed down
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) meatless tomato spaghetti sauce with mushrooms
1/2 of a large green pepper (cut in thin strips)
1/2 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
3 tablespoons cream

Mix the meat, sauce and green pepper together; turn into a small shallow baking dish—a heat-resistant glass pie plate (8 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches deep) is fine.

Mix grated cheese and cream together; spoon over meat mixture as evenly as possible; broil until topping is browned. The mixture of cheese and cream gives a beautiful brown. Makes 4 serving.

Use leftover meat from roast beef, lamb or veal for this dish. Or use leftover pot roast when the gravy has all been served. This is a rich dish so it's well to serve a bland food such as rice or noodles with it.

Distinctive Dish: Macaroni With Swiss Cheese

Swiss cheese adds its distinctive flavor to Tomato Macaroni with Cheese Wedges. Add 1 tablespoon salt and 6 ounces long macaroni to 4 1/2 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine 1/4 cup sliced onion, 2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes (1 pound 4-ounce can), 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1/4 clove garlic, minced. Rinse macaroni with warm water and drain well. Fold macaroni into tomato mixture.

Pour half the macaroni mixture into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese. Cover cheese with remaining macaroni mixture. Cut 1/4 pound thinly sliced Swiss cheese in wedges and arrange cheese on macaroni in pinwheel fashion.

Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees about 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

3 Hearty Salads to Please Men

The men, bless 'em, while not exactly fussy eaters, have pretty definite ideas of what they like in the way of "vitels". Salads have never scored high popularity tests with the male contingent, but every homemaker knows what an important part they play in a well-balanced meal.

For heartier fare and a change from green tossed salads, these dishes starring the versatile bean come highly recommended. You'll like them and so will your men-folk.

Kidney Bean Salad
3 cups cooked kidney beans
1 cup chopped sweet pickle or 1/2 cup drained pickle relish
1 cup diced celery
6 green onions, cut in pieces
3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
Mayonnaise

Drain beans well. Chill all ingredients. Combine all ingredients, including mayonnaise and toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Serves 8.

Hot Bean Salad
Cut 2 slices bacon into pieces and cook until crisp. Remove; brown 1-3 cup chopped onion in the fat. Add bacon, a 1-lb. can baked beans, 1/2 tsp. dry mustard, dash pepper and 1/4 cup each vinegar and water. Simmer until beans absorb vinegar and water.

Bean Stuffed Tomatoes
A delightful salad is made by hollowing out firm, red-ripe tomatoes and filling the cavities with well-seasoned baked beans without tomato sauce.

Here's a New Tasty Casserole—Easy to Make

Folks who like sweet potatoes with rich cream gravy will enjoy this meat and vegetable casserole. It's a savory combination of dried beef and sweet potatoes baked with a slightly seasoned cream sauce.

Savory Dried Beef Casserole

1/4 cup minced onion
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
2 1/2 cups milk
1/4 pound dried beef
6 medium sweet potatoes, cooked minutes. Blend in flour and add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened.

Check the label to see if the dried beef needs rinsing before cooking. If so, rinse according to directions.

Cut sweet potatoes into 1/2 inch slices and place in alternate layers with beef in a greased 2 quart casserole. Pour sauce over potatoes and meat.

Toss bread crumbs with remaining butter and sprinkle over casserole. Bake at 350 F. 30 minutes.

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Cook onion in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine over low heat 5 to 6 servings.

Grain Forecast Higher

STOCKHOLM — Sweden's total bread-grain harvest this year is estimated at 1,151,000 tons, which would represent a 30 per cent increase over last year. Compared with the 1950-54 average, the improvement would amount to 9 per cent.

Provide Good Meal With Canned Meat

Hearty meals can be planned with canned meat as the main course. Corned beef hash, baked in a ring mold, and served with creamed peas or cauliflower in the center is a satisfying canned meat entree. Season the hash with onion, parsley, and chili sauce as in this recipe:

Corned Beef Hash Ring

2 1-pound cans corned beef hash
1/2 cup chili sauce
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 cup chopped parsley

Combine ingredients. Spoon into a greased 1 quart ring mold. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes. 6 servings.

Serve Savory Hot Bread With Turkey

This hot bread can go into the oven after the turkey comes out. Remember that a roasted bird should "rest" for 15 to 30 minutes before it's carved.

Thanksgiving Hot Bread

1 cup sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup cooled cooked rice
Butter

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg with rotary beater (hand or electric) until thick and lemon colored. Add milk, cornmeal, rice and sifted dry ingredients; mix thoroughly.

Turn into 2 thoroughly buttered 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until bread pulls away from sides of pans.

Turn one layer out on a plate and spread generously with soft butter; top with second layer; spread top with soft butter. Serve at once. Makes 8 large or 12 medium-sized servings.

Exports Take Jump

TOKYO — Japan's exports in the first half of 1936 amounted to $1,159,800,000 and imports totaled $1,499,500,000. Exports were 30 per cent above those of the corresponding 1935 period and imports increased by 22.8 per cent.

Housewives Hoard Time as Carefully as Money

The so-called "convenience foods" often cost more, yet U. S. Dept. of Agriculture studies show that more people eat processed foods than ever before. The convenience of saving time and energy has become as important as saving money in many households.

The use of cake mixes is an example relates the consumer marketing information agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. In 1954, more than 359 million cakes were baked from packaged mixes—a twelve-fold increase since 1947 when they first appeared.

There is little additional cost of cake mixes over the home mixed method, and there is no measuring to do, no extra bowls to wash.

CANDIED YAMS AND APPLES — Dinner takes on a touch of the South when candied yams, fried chicken and green beans and carrots heated in cream are on the menu.

Ways to Cook Delicious Yams

Homemakers everywhere welcome the news that fresh yams are in season again. This vegetable which boasts sweet, mellow flavor, smooth texture, orange-gold color and supplies important nutrients is a bonus to fall and winter menus.

Whether your family's preference runs to either baked or candied yams, here are recipes for you.

Candy them in a skillet with apple rings, or bake and stuff the yams with bacon and diced orange — both are delicious with chicken.

Candied Yams and Apples
 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1/2 cup granulated sugar
 1/2 cup water
 1 tablespoon red cinnamon candies
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 3 medium-sized apples, cored and cut crosswise
 4 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and cut in half

Combine brown sugar, granulated sugar, water and candies. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until blended. Add butter or margarine; stir until melted.

Add apples and cook 5 minutes, turning once. Add yams and cook, covered, 20 minutes. Turn yams and apples; cook, covered, 5 minutes. Makes 4 - 6 servings.

Louisiana Stuffed Yams
 4 medium-sized yams
 4 slices crisp, cooked bacon crumbled
 1/2 cup diced orange sections

Bake yams in moderate oven (350) 1 hour, or until tender. Scoop yams from shells and mash. Add remaining ingredients and mix well.

Pile yam mixture lightly into shells. Bake 20 minutes. Makes four servings.

"ANYTIME SANDWICH TRAY" — These miniature sandwiches are good to serve any time refreshments are called for. Included on the sandwich plate are Toasted Coin Purses with sardines, Peek-a-Boos, a sweet sandwich, and Date Bread Ribbons. Serve with tall frosty bottles of your favorite soft drink.

Fix Carnival-Gay Plate of Miniature Sandwiches

Provocative toasted bits that look like Coin Purses, delicious nut-jelly-cheese Peek-a-boos, and Date Bread Ribbons... So fast to make — so fascinating on the plate... Be sure to make a million of them because one just naturally leads to another. And be sure to serve them with your favorite icy, delicious soft drink.

Sprinkle chopped nuts over the cream cheese rim. Makes 9.

Date Bread Ribbons

1 pound loaf date-nut bread
 2-3 oz. packages cream cheese
 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
 Soften cream cheese to room temperature and blend in orange rind. Slice bread 1/4 inch thick making 12 slices in all. Spread 8 slices with the cream-cheese orange-rind spread.

Stack two cream-cheese-spread slices together and top with an unspread slice. Repeat, making 4 stacks in all. Press together lightly and chill.

To serve: Slice down through the stacks making 32 quarter-inch slices.

Kraut, Ham Loaf for Zesty Meal

To do justice to their Kraut, Pork 'n' Apple Dinner Season, the home economists of the National Kraut Packers Association went afield for some new flavor combinations.

From New Orleans, they brought this mouth-watering way of combining kraut, apple sauce, and individual ham and pork loaves.

Zesty horseradish and yams put it into the wonderfully different recipe category. Try it and see if you don't agree.

New Orleans Sauerkraut Bake

1 pound cooked ham
 1/2 pound lean pork shoulder
 1 small onion
 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
 1/2 cup milk
 1 egg beaten
 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
 1/2 tablespoon horseradish
 1 1/2-pound 11-ounce can sauerkraut drained
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 1 cup canned apple sauce
 4 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and sliced

Grind ham, pork shoulder and onion together. Add bread crumbs, milk, egg, mustard and horseradish. Mix until all ingredients are well blended.

Shape into 4 small loaves and place in shallow baking pan. Combine kraut, brown sugar and apple sauce; mix well. Arrange around loaves and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour.

Place yam slices around loaves and continue baking 30 minutes, or until ham loaves are done. Serves four.

Canned tomatoes help to make a meat loaf juicy; whole kernel corn added to the meat mixture will give flavor interest.

Harvest Pork Chops With Apple Rings

Time to do extra chores while these pork chops are baking!

Harvest Pork Chops

4 loin pork chops (about 1/2-inch thick)
 Salt and pepper
 2 medium-sized red apples
 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar

Brown pork chops rapidly on both sides in hot iron skillet; arrange chops in one layer in shallow baking dish—a deep pie dish is fine.

Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper. Peel onions and cut into 1/4-inch slices; separate into rings. Core apples without peeling; cut into 1/4-inch rings.

Arrange onion rings over chops, then apple rings over onions; sprinkle lightly with salt. Sprinkle apples with brown sugar.

Bake uncovered in moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 to 60 minutes or until chops are cooked through and onions and apples are tender; baste several times with small amounts of juices in bottom of dish. Makes 4 servings.

Toasted Coin Purses

8 slices thin-sliced bread
 1/4 oz. can sardines in oil
 2 tablespoons minced, stuffed olives
 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 1 teaspoon minced onion or chives
 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
 16 small capers

Trim crusts from bread. Roll each slice firmly with a rolling pin. Cut slices in half, forming 16 bread oblongs. Trim a point resembling an envelope flap on each slice.

Combine sardines, olives, lemon rind, minced onion and mayonnaise. Blend well.

Spread bread oblongs with sardine mixture. Fold over envelope fashion with point on top. Press together firmly. Stick a toothpick through each point and chill till serving time.

Remove toothpick and toast at 375 degrees F. (moderately hot oven) for 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Place caper where the toothpick pierced the bread. Makes 16 purses.

Peek-A-Boos

18 slices thin-sliced bread
 1 tablespoon light cream
 1/2 oz. package cream cheese
 1/4 cup currant jelly
 2 tablespoons finely chopped pecans
 Cut two circles from each slice of bread using a 1 1/2 inch round cookie cutter. Spread all rounds of bread with cream cheese softened to easy spreading consistency with the cream. Then spread 9 (or half of the rounds) with jelly.

Cut a small circle (or press one out with thumb) from the center of the remaining cream-cheese-spread rounds, forming small doughnuts.

Place doughnut cut-outs on top of the jelly layers. Fill up the holes with more jelly if needed.

Potatoes Harvested

Potatoes, potatoes, and more potatoes are coming from Michigan fields. The new Onaway variety — a smooth, white skinned potato — and the dependable Irish Cobbler have increased supplies and brought prices down within the last few weeks. Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent, reminds food shoppers that many of the early potatoes are immature when harvested. Their skins are very thin, they bruise easily, and have a short shelf life. It is best to buy in small quantities and use as quickly as possible.

Tropical Filling for Gingerbread

Here's a quick-to-fix filling for gingerbread that will give it a tropical flavor: First, bake a gingerbread, using a mix or your own favorite recipe.

After baking, cut the gingerbread into squares, split them and spread each with a mixture of 1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple, 3 ounces of cream cheese and 1/4 cup of chopped pecans or walnuts. Put the squares together sandwich style.

For a special touch, top with whipped cream and sprinkle with crystallized or ground ginger. Gingerbread is delicious for breakfast, too. Serve it with broiled pineapple and you'll see what I mean.

Vary Egg Filler

If you're tiring of plain egg salad as a sandwich filler, vary it by adding bits of chopped olive, pickle relish, chives, or bits of crisply cooked bacon.

Macaroni products need to be cooked in a large amount of boiling salted water to keep them from becoming sticky.

How Many Calories to Mop Floor...?

The hand-rinsing of laundry is the most taxing physical labor for German women — consuming 5.5 calories per minute, according to the German Tourist Information Office.

Next heaviest activities are mopping floors, 4.9 calories per minute, and carpet beating, 4.4, says a West German Housewives Organization which compiled the figures. Eight and a quarter hours — or up to twelve if there are children — is the married woman's day of housework.

For a childless household of two people the daily breakdown is: four hours arranging and cleaning, one and a quarter hours sewing and darning, and for shopping, an hour.

Reds Up Forces in East Germany

Transfer Air Command From Bases in Poland to Port of Rostock

BERLIN (INS)—The Soviet Union presently is transferring its Eastern Europe air command from Poland to the East German Baltic port of Rostock.

Authoritative information obtained says that the Russians already are constructing the first four of eight airstrips on the outskirts of Rostock.

These will be capable of handling jet fighters and bombers and "hundreds" of Soviet air force men already have arrived at Rostock to set up the installations and operational facilities.

This is the first major Soviet move toward strengthening its armed forces in East Germany as a result of the wave of anti-Sovietism sweeping the satellite states and armies.

It was learned that additional Soviet troops numbering 70,000 to 90,000 will start moving into East Germany from the Soviet Union and Poland some time in December.

A major part of the troops will be equipped with tanks and motorized equipment.

This will put the number of Soviet troops stationed in East Germany at approximately 410,000 in approximately 30 divisions.

This does not include East Germany's 120,000-man Communist army.

Meanwhile it was reliably learned also that East Germany's 18,000,000 inhabitants faced one of the hardest winters since the war as a result of Russian diversion of satellite foodstuffs formerly supplied to East Germany. The food is going to Red army troops occupying Eastern Europe.

The Soviet Union also was said reliably to have grabbed a major part of East Germany's transportation facilities such as trucks and freight cars to use for the deportation of "tens of thousands" of Hungarians to Siberia.

The confiscated transport also is being used to aid Soviet troops who are flooding into revolt-torn Hungary and other restless satellite states.

Foodstuffs, including eggs, milk, wheat, flour, vegetables and fish fat, which are the main East German imports from the satellites, reportedly have been reduced to a trickle.

Toy Train Lines Add New Items

More toy electric trains will be play with them. Sound silly? Then highbaling along living room rail-visit any toy store and see. Judging from the throngs of road piles this Christmas than ever before. And the kids, if fathers elbowing their way for a they're lucky, may even get to closer look at the mighty midgets. The strange fascination that toy trains have for boys of all ages the world over never seems to diminish. And the companies that make them always manage to come up with something newer and even more enticing than the year before.

Freight cars are scale dimensioned and have more color and detail. The overall line has more play value in that most items are operated by remote control with each performing some railroading function.

Since kids like to have trains just like the real ones that go through their home towns, there are new diesels, switchers and electric locomotives copied from blueprints and carrying the markings of real railroad companies servicing just about every section of the country.

One electric locomotive is an exact replica of the newest real one recently purchased by the New Haven R. R. to move passengers and freight through the northeast states.

Brilliantly colored in white, orange and black, the loco has remote control knuckle couplers on both ends, is equipped with two operating pantographs, horn and magnetraction to give greater pulling power on grades and higher speeds around curves.

If this doesn't appeal to the embryo engineer, he can choose New York Central, Pennsy, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific, Burlington, Jersey Central, Milwaukee, Santa Fe, Wabash, Seaboard, the Virginian, B. & O., or even the U. S. Army or Navy, to name a few.

While train makers keep abreast of developments of the real railroads, the company has a large group of enthusiasts who still prefer the heavy steam-type locomotive with its flashing drive wheels, lone whistle and puffing smoke. Six different models of this type will be available this year.

Food Shortage Held Possible

Growing U.S. Suburbs Rob Needed Acreage, Warns Farm Expert

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (INS) — Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton warns that America's stocks of surplus agricultural products may melt away to leave a shortage of food "sometime between 1970 and 1980."

Seaton said the threat must be removed by increasing the rate of farm production on a decreasing number of acres in cultivation.

In a speech prepared for the National Grange's 90th annual meeting at Rochester, the interior secretary said the best answer is irrigation to give crops needed moisture at the proper time.

He said other parts of the country have learned from the western states that "the application of only a few inches of water at a critical time in the growing season, when rains fail, is often the difference between success and failure."

Through irrigation, Seaton added, western states have fitted production to market demands and, by diversification, have contributed almost no crops to the government surplus supplies.

The cabinet officer pointed out that the population is growing rapidly and that productive farm acreage is diminishing under the steady pressure of growing suburbs, industrial expansion and roads.

According to best estimates, Seaton said, the nation's new super highway system will take nearly 1,000,000 acres of farm land out of use. Urban development takes about a million acres a year.

He told the grange members that in the past three years only 300,000 acres of new land have been brought into production while five and one-half million acres have been taken over in the onrush of facilities for a growing population.

Adopt Building Code

WASHINGTON—Nearly 1,000 cities in the United States have adopted the National Building Code.

Could O. Henry Find Kick Ending for This Tale?

AUSTIN, Tex. (INS) — O. Henry's honeymoon house was being moved today to a park as a shrine to the short story writer, and a storm brewed.

Attorney Wright Stubbs, who lives near the new location, called the house "an old worn-out, worm infested junkpile" and threatened a lawsuit to keep the house away from his property.

"I don't feel like a pile of junk like that can be of any historical value," he said.

"I've heard reports O. Henry moved every time the rent was due and if that is the case, they could take any junk pile over in East Austin and construct it into a shrine to O. Henry."

The move is being made by the Austin Heritage Society. The City Council is backing the society. The move began last night.

The late O. Henry, whose real name was William S. Porter, worked for the state land office and a bank when he lived here.

Acquitted of Murder;

DETROIT (INS) — A $50,000 damage suit against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, Detroit dentist acquitted for the murder of his wife's boyfriend, is now on file in Wayne County circuit court.

Albert Movotny seeks the money on behalf of his son, Albert, Jr., 19, for injuries suffered Sept. 3, 1955 when a car driven by Dr. Small pulled out of a driveway and hit a car driven by the youth.

4 Expressways Get Detroit OK

Lone Councilman Hits Lodge Extension as Aid Only to Oakland County

DETROIT (INS) — City Council approved by a vote of 8 to 1 Tuesday preliminary planning and engineering for four expressways in Detroit.

The dissenter was councilman James H. Lincoln. He charged that plans for extending the Lodge Expressway west to Southfield would result in condemning 800 homes along Pilgrim and Puritan.

Lincoln said, "I am against tearing out a large number of homes and businesses and taking much needed assessed valuation from the tax rolls so that the people of Oakland County can save two or three minutes getting to work and home again."

The other projects are the Hastings - Oakland, Fort - Vernor and Southfield expressways.

A contract for the work had been signed by the State Highway Department, the Wayne County Road Commission and Mayor Albert E. Cobo. It lacked only council approval.

First Jet Air Tanker Ready by Spring

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first jet-powered tanker for the strategic air fleet will be delivered at Castle Air Force Base, Calif., late next spring, the Air Force announced today.

The four-jet aerial service stations built by the Boeing Airplane Co. can fly more than 600 miles an hour and at altitudes approaching those used by the big B52 bombers they are designed to refuel in flight.

Castle AFB will be the center of the training program for all aerial refueling units of the Strategic Air Command.

December Preview for Ike's '57 Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced yesterday that President Eisenhower will discuss his 1957 legislative program with congressional leaders on Dec. 13, 14.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said that Eisenhower, Cabinet members and other administration officials will cover "high points of the State of the Union message" which the President will submit to the new Congress shortly after it meets on Jan. 3.

Eisenhower has held similar sessions with congressional leaders of both parties in past years.

Plastic Coats Guard Jet Fighters' Skins

LOS ANGELES — Plastic "overcoats" are being worn by jet fighters during manufacture to protect their skins from many scratches and abrasions at a West Coast plant. The sprayed-on acrylic resin stays on throughout fabrication. Then a remover is sprayed over it and the "overcoat" peels off easily the next day.

Origins Traced by Columbia Professor

Hungarians Freedom Fighters for Over 1,000 Years

By SYD KRONISH
Assoc. Press Newsfeatures Writer

Fighting for freedom against almost insurmountable odds is not a new experience for the Hungarian people. They have been struggling to preserve their national identity for more than 1,000 years.

According to Dr. John Lotz, chairman of the Department of Uralic and Altaic Languages at Columbia University, the Hungarians stem from a warlike nomadic tribe that once roamed the plains of eastern Europe.

"We can trace their origin," says Dr. Lotz, "to approximately 2,000 years before the Christian era."

"The parent Uralic language group originated around present-day Moscow. They were a loosely integrated, primitive people whose chief occupations were fishing and hunting."

Dr. Lotz says the original group split into three segments. One small band moved northwest and finally settled in Finland. (The Finns, incidentally, have also shown remarkable courage in fighting the Russians.) Another unit remained in the Moscow area. The third and largest went south to the Caucasus about 500 B.C.

"This latter group, the Magyars, immediately mastered the use of the horse, conquered their neighbors and amalgamated with other peoples," says Dr. Lotz.

"The Magyar tribes moved westward, entering the Danube plain in 896 A.D. There they settled in what is now Hungary."

"Those who remained in southern Russia were annihilated by the Tartars in the 13th century."

"In the year 1000 A.D. the Magyar-Hungarians were converted to Christianity under St. Stephen, their first king."

The Hungarian kingdom grew strong under Louis I. But, after his death in 1382, the kingdom crumbled. Civil wars and invasions weakened the nation, and in 1526 the Turks conquered the Hungarians and occupied their lands for more than 150 years.

COUNTRY DIVIDED
After this time Hungary was divided into three parts—the west under the Hapsburgs of Austria, the central plains under the Turks and a part called Transylvania under various princes.

Despite the decimation of the population in wars, the Magyars were determined to maintain their national identity and language.

"It is interesting to note that even today the Hungarians have nothing in common with their neighbors as far as language or customs is concerned," explains Dr. Lotz.

From the 18th century forward

Schuler's Adds Another Restaurant to Chain

GRAND RAPIDS — Locks, Inc., a downtown Grand Rapids restaurant landmark, has been added to the Michigan restaurant chain of Schuler's, Inc.

The purchase was announced yesterday by Winston J. Schuler of Marshall, president of the firm which operates restaurants in Marshall, St. Joseph, Grand Haven, Traverse City and Jackson.

Schuler said a $200,000 remodeling program for the new link is scheduled to begin Dec. 1, but no definite opening date has been set.

Hungary became virtually a province in revolt, intent—as ever—on achieving basic freedoms. His will continue—above the surface or again achieved.

By 1848 all of Europe was smoldering with revolution. Hungary was no exception. Kossuth and Deak were leaders of the revolt that for a short time triumphed.

Then the Austrians asked the Russians to quell the rebellion. This the Russians did in bitter and bloody battles, not unlike the ones fought in Budapest recently. Kossuth escaped and found refuge in the United States where he was acclaimed a hero.

Finally in 1867 a compromise was reached between Austria and Hungary. The dual monarchy of Austria-Hungary was formed.

Although many Hungarians opposed entry into World War I, her leaders saw an opportunity to fight against their long-hated enemy—Russia.

By 1918 the Austro-Hungarian empire was dissolved. Hungary's borders were reduced to the area known as the Hungarian plains. The country became poor economically, suffered wounds that did not heal and was beset by social problems.

In 1911 Hungary joined the Axis powers. In 1944 German troops occupied Hungary. Then the Red army invaded the land and Moscow assumed political control. Today the Hungarians again

Pilgrims Gave Thanks for Ship's Arrival

WASHINGTON—Americans owe their custom of feasting and prayer on Thanksgiving Day to the Pilgrims, but an earlier thanksgiving was observed at the historic Virginia plantation, Berkeley.

More than a year before the Pilgrims landed in Massachusetts, a band of English settlers sailed up the James River to "Berkeley Hundred" in present-day Charles City County. This tract was a royal grant to George Berkeley and others.

The newcomers stepped ashore on December 4, 1619, mindful of the proprietors' instructions that the "day of our ship's arrival . . . shall be yearly and perpetually kept as a day of Thanksgiving."

The Indian massacre of 1622 forced abandonment of Berkeley, however, striking a tragic prelude to its long, eventful history.

HARRISON BOUGHT HOME
A royalist governor of Virginia confiscated the land, and it was bought by colonial leader Benjamin Harrison, the forefather of a Signer of the Declaration of Independence and two Presidents.

On a crest above the James, Harrison's son and namesake built a handsome three-story mansion with warm red brick walls and pedimented gables. His and his wife Anne's initials may still be seen on a 1726 date-stone in the brick walls.

That same year the proud builders of Berkeley had a son whom they gave the traditional family name, Benjamin.

This Benjamin was a Signer of the Declaration, three times Governor of Virginia, and father of Indian fighter William Henry Harrison. After "Old Tippecanoe" was elected President in 1840, he wrote his inaugural address at Berkeley.

"Old Tippecanoe's" grandson Benjamin was born in Ohio, but he visited the ancestral home after winning the Presidency in 1888.

Long after Indian war whoops faded into history, Berkeley's vast green lawn was to feel the boots of soldiers. Revolutionary troops under Benedict Arnold plundered the mansion. During General George McClellan's retreat from Richmond in the Civil War, he encamped 100,000 Union troops between the house and river. Gunboats were anchored offshore.

While quartered at Berkeley, then called "Harrison's Landing," General Daniel Butterfield and a bugler worked out the poignant notes of "taps," the familiar light-signal for soldiers.

Berkeley's original observance was merely one of several thanksgivings decreed in early Virginia. The Assembly ordered the date of the 1622 massacre, March 22, to be "yearly solemnized as holiday. When the colony suffered a second massacre in 1644, the Assembly set aside April 18 as an annual thanksgiving "for our deliverance from the hands of the Savages."

None of the thanksgivings lasted. By the same token, the type of observance started by the Pilgrims did not take an immediate hold.

George Washington issued the first national thanksgiving proclamation in 1789 to commemorate adoption of the Constitution.

Some 75 years passed before Abraham Lincoln legalized the oldest and most warmhearted American of the national holidays.

Seegers Wins Award

DETROIT (AP)—Prof. Walter H. Seegers of Wayne State University has received a $17,000 award from the Commonwealth Fund of New York for his work in blood clotting diseases. Dr. Seegers, 46, has done research on the clotting factors of blood for the past 20 years. In the late 1930s, he and his associates purified thrombin, a blood derivative important to clotting.

School Official: Elvis' Sideburns Way Out of Date

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Elvis-length sideburns meet no disapproval from suburban Muskegon Heights school superintendent W. Booker, although he thinks the style "went out with high button shoes."

Booker offered his opinion after some students inquired about the subject. The inquiry stemmed from a recent controversy over male students' hair styles in Mt. Clemens.

"After all," Booker said, "it's up to parents as to how their children should dress and the hair styles they should adopt. Personally, I think long sideburns went out with high button shoes. We have these fads all the time in schools today," he added. The best policy is to ignore them. Most soon die out."

In U.N.: Greatest Show on Earth Is Biggest Sham

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Struggling as never before to enforce peace in troubled areas, the United Nations unfolds its tense drama amid an orderly hush that belies its mood of crisis.

As you walk into the great stone-and-green-glass U. N. pile flanking New York's murky East River, it could be a hospital. The atmosphere is disciplined, subdued, almost antiseptic.

Floors are as spotless as any clinic's. There is no hint of disorder in this place of broad corridors and lounges, thick carpets, soft ceiling lights and pastel wall colorings.

The men and women who prow these pathways talk animatedly though quietly, seemingly gripped by a deep sense of mission. What worries them is the fear that the Soviet Union may not be pursuing the same mission — peace with justice.

Yet they do not shout nor show raw nerves to their associates babbling in many tongues. At the great circular table in the Security Council chamber, there is just one water pitcher and one ash tray for every two countries.

The cast of characters in this low-key drama is star-studded. Forty foreign ministers play their parts. On the U. N. public address system, ambassadors are summoned as are interpreters to "surge."

In the tumbling procession of urgent days since this session began, these men have:

Ordered a cease-fire in the Middle East fighting, set up a U. N. police force and ordered it into action in Egypt, called upon Russia to pull its crushing troops out of rebellious Hungary, fostered relief for the beleaguered Hungarians, and fought to get U. N. observers onto that strife-torn scene.

Watch these participants as they move toward the Security Council hall for a meeting of the General Assembly's steering committee.

Here comes V. K. Krishna Menon of India, his lean brown face gaunt beneath a gray-black mane, absorbed in a document as he walks. On his left arm he carries a light case which a few days ago he brandished like a whip during a burst of anger at an Assembly session. Trailing along is a tall Indian in pale blue turban, with a jet black mustache and beard.

IMPECCABLE

Then the American delegate, patrician Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, impeccably garbed as always, this time in sober blue suit, blue shirt and red tie.

And now it's a group of Russians, the stand-out a burly fellow with arching, bushy eyebrows and broad Slavic forehead. Smiling and gesturing, they seem a million miles from their Moscow superiors who sent 5,000 tanks against Hungary.

Here in this island of international concern for peace, they dress and act pretty much like other men. In a sense, their guns are parked at the door. They devote themselves to stringing a kind of legal barbed wire to entrap the law-abiding free nations in the very process they cherish.

Inside the handsomely decorated council room, the delegates slip into big blue chairs around the great table, with staff officials ranged behind them and observers from many countries seated against the side walls.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

DOLL FURNITURE IN PILGRIM STYLE — 4

A High Backed Settle

The houses built in the Plymouth colony were cabins of rough hewn wood with thatched roofs and oiled paper windows. Families warmed themselves around open fires.

On each side of the hearth, high backed settles usually stood. These settles had backs that reached to the ground and overhanging tops to keep out drafts.

Use your crayons to color this settle brown, and paste the page down on heavy brown construction paper. Cut out the parts carefully. Take the back and fold the ends forward and the top down. Paste the tabs on the ends of the top inside the sides, as shown on the small sketch.

Fold the ends of the seat down at the dotted lines and paste them at the dotted lines shown on the right and left sides. The brace at the upper right is to support the seat. The long end A should be pasted under the seat, at the points marked A, and the smaller tab B should be folded and pasted against the back as indicated by the dotted lines.

(Junior Editors $10 award goes to Frances Winegarden, Vesper, Wis., for suggesting this idea first. You may win the award if you send in a usable idea care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Tomorrow: A Big Armchair

This time the issue is whether to put on the Assembly agenda the matter of Red China's entry into the U. N. In the end the answer is "no," but the technical snarl the delegates' fabricate would make a Philadelphia lawyer yield his degree.

Lodge breaks in to say he thinks it can all be cleared up "in a very few words." But very many words later it still is not. Lodge delivers his points in polished Boston tones, edged with ice.

Menon's cane is put aside now. His spare frame hunched over his table microphone, he flicks a bony finger about to underscore his pro-Chinese position.

Into the debate hopper on the American anti-Red China side the British spokesman tosses his clipped-hedge English.

Threading through the diplomatic niceties are such persistent phrases as "I submit with great respect," "I must take issue with my distinguished colleague from El Salvador," or "I do not mean to challenge your wisdom but I think this is very unfair."

REDS ROUGH

Only the Russians ignore the embroidery. Questioning a ruling of the chair, Vasili Kuznetsov, rugged, sandy-haired first deputy foreign minister of the U.S.S.R., says bluntly: "Your decision is unsatisfactory. The Soviet Union therefore regards the action taken here as illegal."

As each delegate talks, the others attend closely to his argument, their prim ear pieces bringing his words translated in any of five languages (English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese). They jot down rebuttal notes, piling up ammunition for their next verbal round.

From the council table to the highest row of steeply banked visitors' seats, this tight focus on the speaker is felt. For everyone has his own "radio" and headset to tune in the message.

Around this circle the 14 steering committee members speak as equals, no matter what their true disparities in power. The Rhode Islands and Delaware of the U. N. — El Salvador, the Dominican Republic, Peru — can gain the floor as long and as often as the fastest talking Russian.

But right now their hearts and minds are not on the dry business of when to debate Red China's admission. The tangle at the table is a sham battle.

The real concern spills out in the controlled chatter in the lounges and hallways. Translated from the countless dialects and tongues, it adds up to: "What will the Russians do now in the Middle East? Will the U. N. find the means to keep them in check?"

On the answers the peace of the word may turn. And so may the future of this tight little island of hope.

Japan, with 32 toll roads or under way, plans more toll roads, ferry services either completed or Tokyo reports.

Vehicle Breaks Down; Team Faces Prospect of Eight-Mile Hike

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica — Eight Americans camped at the bottom of the world found today they would have to move.

Their snow vehicle broke down. Their breath grew short in the thin polar air and 25-below-zero cold.

The party of Navy Seabees, landed by ski planes yesterday to build a base at the South Pole, reported by radio that their survival tents were pitched eight miles from the Pole. If they cannot repair their belt-track weasel, they must trudge the distance through powdery, knee-deep snow.

The men are the first ever to go to the two-mile high polar plateau to live for any period. Their mission is to build a base for U.S. scientists who will make observations during the sunless antarctic winter.

The group radioed the base here that the weasel had a broken transmission case, needed gear lubricant and its batteries were dead. Parts will be flown to them. The deep, powdery snow means supplies will have to be dropped by parachute—big, wheeled planes cannot land.

The expedition's mechanic, John A. Randall of Northfield, Mass., will have a tough job changing the transmission.

If the weasel cannot be repaired, it means that 11 sled dogs the Seabees brought with them must pull the party's supplies.

Detroit to Welcome Hungarian Refugees

Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) has announced that two planes, each carrying 60 to 70 Hungarians, will land in Detroit within 10 days.

Potter said Detroit Hungarian churches and organizations recently pledged $25,000 to defray initial expenses of re-settling refugees.

Potter also said that individual members of the organization have pledged housing and employment for the refugees.

The program is known as "Operation Mercy-Detroit."

Counters Full of Gifts

It's Easy to Suit a Sportsman Friend

Playing Santa to the outdoorsman is a cinch. No matter what his main interest—bird-watching, boating, hunting, fishing, hiking or just plain weekend picnicking—he's bound to appreciate any gift that will help him make the most of his all-too-few hours in the wide open spaces.

For example, how about something for the car? Almost all of his outings will start and end with trips in the family auto—and no matter where he's headed, he'll better enjoy all his driving with a useful auto accessory like an auto altimeter.

On the open road or deep in the woods, it makes no difference where he is, he'll never lose his way if he's wearing a convenient wrist compass—the outdoorsman's best friend.

Perennial favorites with every sportsman are top quality optical gifts. Two items lead this year's popularity parade: a binocular for crisp close-ups of distant animals, birds and scenery, and sun glasses for eye comfort and safety in the field, on the beach, or while driving.

However, if he's a hunter, he'll probably place top priority on the thrill of owning a variable power rifle sight and as a companion gift, a pair of impact-resistant shooting glasses.

The whole family will get into the act when it comes to making color slides of outdoor adventures with the new 35mm camera.

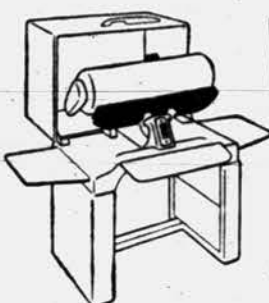

The push-button focusing of this easy-to-handle 35mm camera brings good photography well within the reach of even the most inexperienced shutter-bug.

He'll find trip planning easy with a complete and up-to-date source of highway information like one of the new road atlases. Not only will it save hours of valuable time and countless gallons of gas, but it will also materially reduce the wear and tear on the nervous system always caused by wrong turns and detours.

Safer, more pleasurable cruising goes with a sealed-beam spotlight. It can be mounted from inside to help find landmarks and safe harbors at night from as much as half a mile away.

The Australian ballot system of secret voting was originated in Australia in 1856. It was later adopted by the United States and the first state to use it was Massachusetts in 1888.

Reversal by Hungary Puppet Premier; Say He Beraled Men, Now Says No Countrymen Deported but Vet Is Acquitted

VIENNA AP—Refugees from all over Hungary brought new accounts today of trainloads of their countrymen deported to Russia. Budapest radio, insisting now that Russian troops will turn over all Hungarians arrested to the puppet government for trial.

The broadcasting station of Premier Janos Kadar's Soviet-installed regime, which told of the deportations Nov. 13, has maintained in recent days that no Hungarian citizens were shipped out of the country by the Red army.

Soviet and Hungarian representatives at the United Nations also deny the deportations, while the United States says it knows of at least 16,000 persons shipped from Hungary to the East.

Today Budapest radio announced that all Hungarian citizens arrested by Russian troops during Hungary's anti-Communist revolt will be turned over to the Hungarian public, infuriated by the mass deportations to the Soviet Union. It did not say how many persons were held by the Russians.

Refugees streaming into Austria in ever-increasing numbers added their testimony to earlier accounts of deportations. Many said they fled their homeland to escape a similar fate.

One group of railwaymen said they blew up a railway bridge near the town of Szombathely last week when they learned the Russians were readying a trainload of prisoners for the trip to Russia. The railwaymen said many of the prisoners then escaped through machine-gun fire of Russian guards.

A husband-wife ballet team said they escaped deportation by sheer luck. They are Vera Pasztor, prima ballerina of the Budapest State Opera, and her husband, Ernest Vashegyi, ballet master and solo dancer.

Vashegyi said he was arrested by Russian troops and held with hundreds of other Hungarians in a cellar of Budapest's Western Railway Station. He said he escaped by bribing the Russian sentry with his gold wristwatch. More than 2,000 refugees crossed the border between 8 p.m. yesterday and 8 a.m. today.

Budapest radio said "armed bandits" are still hidden in the capital, and appealed for the people's help in digging out diehard rebels.

A dispatch from Budapest said that some of the huge Soviet T54 tanks that spearheaded the Nov. 4 crackdown on the Hungarian revolt-for-freedom have disappeared from the capital. They apparently have been replaced by World War II models.

Major industrial areas remained paralyzed by a sitdown strike.

Police in Austria's border province of Burgenland said the flow of refugees is threatening to get out of hand. Of nearly 50,000 who have crossed the frontier since Oct. 30, only about 8,000 have been moved out of Austria.

Burgenland now has about 6,500 refugees in uncomfortable, temporary camps. Police said five or six 1,000-man convoys were urgently needed to clear out the surplus and make way for newcomers.

At some points Hungarian soldiers were still letting their countrymen into Austria with no more interference than an occasional volley of machinegun fire—into the air.

India Plans Institutes

NEW DELHI — Among institutions to be established under India's new five-year plan are a mining-research institute at Dhanbad, a central mechanical engineering institute and a science and industrial museum, both at Calcutta, a regional laboratory in Assam, and a national biochemical laboratory.

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Lt. Lyle Edward Brinkoetter today was acquitted of all specifications and charges that he inflicted mass punishment on enlisted men, used abusive language while addressing them and made a false report to his commanding officer.

The six-man court-martial deliberated 40 minutes before returning its verdict in the trial of the 31-year-old, much-decorated Korean War veteran, a native of Decatur, Ill. He had pleaded innocent to all counts.

The Army had charged him with using "abusive, profane, lewd and obscene language" while addressing enlisted men.

Brinkoetter testified that his outfit had sagged below prescribed military standards. He said he "bore no malice" and described training aimed at strengthening up his men.

When the DeWitt Clinton locomotive began its first run on Aug. 9, 1831 between Albany and Schenectady, the engineer had to keep dancing all the way because the engine floor got too hot. The trip took one hour and 45 minutes.

Serta "Perfect Sleeper" Mattress with the "Levelizer"—makes the difference

Did you wake up feeling like this—cross, cranky, dead tired? That old, lumpy, sagging mattress may be the cause. Why not wake up feeling refreshed, ready for anything the day offers? Make your own 30-day trial of a Serta

"Perfect Sleeper" smooth-top mattress with the patented Serta "Levelizer." Get the mattress awarded the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval; backed by registered guarantee up to twenty years. Enjoy the benefits only perfect sleep gives you.

30-day FREE TRIAL lets you Prove it Yourself!

Ordinary Mattress. Tests with your body in a reclining position show more than half of the weight may be concentrated at the hips. The ordinary mattress sags under this uneven weight and your body sags with it. Instead of relaxing, your muscles fight the unnatural, uncomfortable position so you get "no rest." Sleepless night after sleepless night may cause backache and other health disturbances.

Serta "Perfect Sleeper." In the Serta "Perfect Sleeper," bands of spring steel link the deeper, more flexible, 6-turn coils so uneven body weight is evenly distributed over the entire mattress. Your shoulders, hips, legs are kept level—muscles relaxed—for perfect sleep. We call this vital improvement in mattress construction the Serta "Levelizer." It's patented. Only Serta has this great mattress improvement!

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

Chapter 24

"Oliver—succumbed—scarcely—all to Anita's charms," Leone said to me. "But he had driven her home once after work, he'd come up with her for a nightcap
... it was before he and I ... before we'd fallen in love. She did get him to admit she was a very attractive young woman.
Oh, to be honest, he did get excited about her, but it was more ludicrous than lurid."

"But, as Anita pointed out to me, if she played that tape over the P.A. system at the school ... which she threatened to do ...
he'd be laughed right out of business. Actually, he would have died of shame. You know Oliver Bell."
"So there was nothing at all for me to do ... except move out of Anita's apartment as soon as I could. I don't know if Oliver ever learned about the existence of that recording. Certainly I'd never humiliate him by mentioning it. But I think he doesn't know. I can't believe Anita would ever have gone as far as to try to blackmail Oliver. No matter what the consequences might be,
I'm certain he's too moral a man ever to pay blackmail."

"So you understand, Hester," Leone said emphatically, "I'm convinced that Oliver would never be suspected of Anita's murder."

"It wasn't to save him from that that I wanted the tape. It wasn't that important. But I was working late at the school last night.
I heard one of the policemen talking on the phone; they were going to take the guard off Anita's place. I still had a key to her apartment ... and I knew where the tapes were hidden. I saw a chance to eliminate the possibility that Oliver might be embarrassed by that tape if the police ... or some unscrupulous person found it. I'd just got inside her apartment when I heard someone in the hall. I was terrified. I waited and waited ... then I heard someone at the window. I grabbed one lamp ... it was all I had time to get ... and made a dash for it. That's all there is. But I'm sorry I hit you, Hester."

"You hit me with the lamp?"
"Yes ... I didn't know it was you. I'm sorry. I might have hurt you badly."
"Even if you had known it was
I, you still would have hit me.
Wouldn't you?"
"Yes," she said. "Of course."
We smiled at each other.
Leone and I. Then she said, "I wish I could prove to you that I destroyed all the tapes I found."
"I'm not worried," I said. "I know you won't be blackmailing me. Nice conversation, isn't it?"
"Isn't it? Let's break it up, shall we? I have to get back.
Aren't you going to eat your sandwich?"
"No, I don't want it."
"I don't blame you. I feel slightly nauseous, too. Hester, you will destroy them, won't you? The tapes you found?"

"Maybe," I said. "I'll think about it."

We paid our check.
There was a phone message waiting for me when Leone and I returned to the school. The girl who was spelling Leone at the reception desk handed me a slip of paper. It was to call the number on it. It was Steve's office phone.

I said, "How long ago did this call come in?"
"Just a few minutes ago."

"Hester," Leone said, "you can use one of my phones here."

I smiled sweetly and turned down the offer. Leone's curiosity about me would have to go unsatisfied for a while longer. I used a phone booth in the hall. I caught Steve just as he was leaving. Another few seconds and I would have missed him. I could tell from his voice he was excited.

"I think," he said, "I've got the dope on the guy Stubby killed."

"Walter," I said. "Yes?"
"There's a story in the August 19th paper," said August. A Walter F. Stone, aged forty-six, fell five stories from a window in his office at 923 West Twenty-third street. He died instantly. He lived at the Walker Hotel. There were no known relatives. How does that sound to you, Connie?"

"The date's right ... August.
And falling from a window ...
that's right, too."

"I'm going to that office address. There might be someone around there that knew him."

"I'll meet you there."
"Do you think you should?"
"This is more important than anything I could accomplish here.
It might even prove I'm wasting my time here. What's that address?"

"923 West Twenty-third."
"See you there, Steve."
"I'm leaving right away."
"So am I!"

I stepped out of the booth and went back to Leone at the reception desk. She was alone but busy. I interrupted her; she was faintly annoyed. When she heard what I had to say she was vividly annoyed.

"Something's come up," I told her. "I've got to get away. Can you get a substitute for my four o'clock?"

"I shouldn't."
"But you will, of course. Since I'm such an intimate acquaintance of yours now."

"You will be back for your seven and eight o'clocks."
"If I can."

"No, you've got to. Look, Hester. Mr. Bell knows what goes on around here. I can cover you for one hour, but if you miss tonight, too, he's going to start asking questions about you. You don't want that, do you?"

"No. All right, I'll be here."
I outran the closing doors of an elevator. I snatched a cab from a gent who couldn't have been going any place special. The cab driver was a career man. He got me way out on Twenty-third street just as Steve came hurrying down the block.

Number 923 was a large, dowdy building. There was a carpenter shop on the ground floor, but the proprietor hadn't spent any of his talent on the premises. We went into a vestibule at the right of the place. There was a battered old name card hanging on the wall without enough letters left to spell the tenants' titles completely. No attempt at all had been made to spell Walter F. Stone.

We rode the rickety self-service elevator up to the fifth floor and we found what we were looking for, found more really than we had expected to find. The Bar-tons were getting lucky, and it was a nice change.

"The words 'Merry Toy Company' were most prominent on the crinkled glass of the office door. In the right hand bottom corner was the name Walter F.
Stone. Beneath it was the name
Frank Stubbs."

"Frank Stubbs," Steve said.
"Stubby," I said, "killed his business partner."

Steve tried the door; it was locked.
I followed Steve into the office of a twine company that was in business next door. An unhappy rather ill-kempt lady stenographer frowned at us. I guess the twine business wasn't booming, and Steve and I probably didn't look as if we used much twine.

Steve said, "Hello."
That didn't get him any place.

He said, "The Merry Toy Company next door ..."

Miss Sour said, "Out of business ..."

"Mr. Walter F. Stone ..."

Miss Sour brightened a bit.
"Dead ..."

"His partner, Frank Stubbs ..."

Miss Sour shook her head and shrugged.
"Is there anybody here who might know about him?"

Miss Sour didn't answer immediately. She was looking at my blonde hair and thoroughly disapproving of it. Finally, she said, "Try the carpenter downstairs. He's the janitor for this building."

"Thanks," Steve said. "Do you enjoy being in twine?"
Miss Sour just glared at him.

Ethiopian Ruler Nets Two Ducks in Royal Hunt

TOKYO — Emperor Haile Selassie went duck hunting today—armed with a long-handled net and wearing a topcoat and dress hat.

The bearded Ethiopian monarch paying a state visit to Japan, hunted in the centuries-old Japanese court fashion at Emperor Hirohito's imperial hunting preserves in Koshigaya. Other business kept Hirohito away, but Crown Prince Akihito acted as host.

The royal sportsmen hid behind clusters of shrubs until the ducks gathered on a nearby pond. Then a court lackey frightened the birds. As they winged over the shrubs, the hunters popped up and netted their game.

The party bagged 48 ducks, including two by Haile Selassie.
Servants at once killed, dressed and cooked the catch, serving them up to the hunters as sukiyaki and sliced barbecued duck on bamboo sticks.

Educational Crisis

loshes big enough for their children to put on and take off by themselves."

First Refugees Arrive Hungarians Quiet, Happy on Flight From Austria

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
McGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE.

N. J. (INS) — "One young man fainted — passed right out — when the winds got turbulent on the way down to the landing. But all the other poor people held up."

Speaking was Virginia Earle, red-haired stewardess aboard the tarnished silver DC-4 which today brought the first dazed Hungarian refugees to freedom.

"And he wouldn't have fainted either, except for that nosebleed he had last night. Poor young gentleman!"

This explanation was from Rosemarie Innebritten, stewardessinterpreter of the 30-hour, ten-minute mercy flight.

The two girls, weary despite their youth, relived the long journey while the refugees they had tended for two days were rushed off to Camp Kilmer to be started on their new life in America.

TELL OF FLIGHT
The conversation went like this:
Virginia — "I only gave two pills the whole long time. There were 17 children, including two infants, but you never heard a peep out of them."

Rosemarie — "Ah yes, they were much better behaved than American children. They're not playful, you see, or exuberant as our children are."

"We gave them cards, playing cards, and they kept busy passing them around among themselves as if it was a game."

Virginia — "Everybody was quiet. But they weren't grim or anything. We asked them if they were homesick or hated to leave, and they said no, they were happy to get out."

"They seemed to be afraid the Russians might enter Austria before they'd get a chance to get on the plane."

Rosemarie — "The only person who made any noise was the priest (Josef Mate, 66, who had spent five years in a Communist prison camp).

"He sang a lot of songs, like the Marseillaise and some Italian songs, and he did have a rather nice voice."

"He could read English so he begged the crew to help him write a speech of thank you on behalf of his people to President Eisenhower."

Virginia — "I suppose the reason nobody got nervous was because the weather was so good until just outside of New Jersey. The DC-4 doesn't have a pressure cabin, so it might have been rough if we'd run into storms. But most of the time we flew at 8,000 feet, which is pretty comfortable and only once had to go up to 10,000 feet."

"By that time most everybody was asleep and so they didn't notice."

Rosemarie — "Also we kept feeding them all the time. It seems like they were eating forever. They had waffles and coffee, millions of sandwiches, fricassee of veal and, oh I don't know, fruit galore. We even served them Hungarian goul-ash — although I doubt if they knew it was Hungarian goulash."

Virginia — "The only questions they ever asked were 'how long is it going to take till we're there.'
They weren't emotional at all, but I think they are truly happy now that they're here."

100 Buss Blushing Bride —and She Has Diphtheria

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Arizona
Health Commissioner Clarence G.
Salsbury is trying to round up more than 100 persons for immunization against diphtheria.

Salsbury said they all attended a Phoenix wedding Sunday. All kissed the happy bride. Shortly after the reception, the bride went home to mother. Cause: a sore throat and 104-degree temperature.
Diagnosis: diphtheria.

The health commissioner said the bride has been isolated at home. The groom has been returned to bachelor's quarters, he added.

Analyze Economic Situation Resulting From Suez Crisis

By RENE PLEVEN
Former Premier of France

Rene Pleven, twice prime minister of France and a leading advocate of European integration, analyzes in the following article the economic effects of the Middle East crisis on Western Europe and suggests a course of action.

is the Achilles' heel of Western Europe.

About 90 per cent of French oil imports came from the Middle East. For England, this proportion was about 70 per cent.

Between January and June this year, France imported 26 million tons of petroleum products and re-exported 4,800,000 tons. This left net imports of 21,200,000 tons. Of these, 13,800,000 tons reached France through the Suez Canal. Of the remainder, 10 million tons flowed through the pipeline of the Iraq Petroleum Corporation, linking the Iraqi oil wells to the Mediterranean Sea by way of Syria.

They will affect numerous industries. First of all, the automobile industry and its subsidiaries will feel the pinch. We shall have to change our habits, do without pleasures that we held close to our hearts.

Our enemies have attacked us where we were most exposed, because of the lack of Europe's energy resources.

Three pumping stations of this Iraq Petroleum Co. pipeline have been sabotaged and this supply system appears to be out of use for several months. The way the destructions were carried out, indicates scientific preparation.

The Suez Canal has been blocked, for at least three months, according to optimists. Those more pessimistically inclined state it will be six months before this waterway can again be used.

We must meet this situation by restricting our needs, by promoting the exploitation of our national resources, by organizing a close cooperation with other European nations, which also face this threat. We must also seek to bring about imports of Venezuelan and United States oil.

The present events have brought additional proof of the solidarity of European nations. Italy had sought to escape from the effects of the crisis by a careful handling of her relations with Egypt ever since Nasser grabbed the Suez Canal.

Athletes of 67 Nations Vie in 16th Olympiad

Observation Car: What a pleasure it is to listen to Red Grange give a crystal-clear summary of a football game! For too many years fans were subjected to frenetic types who paraded a surface knowledge of the sport. St. John's Joe Lapchick: "I have to do a lot of learning again. Now I'm teaching players instead of managing them as I did with the Knicks."

Because of constant switches it is downright silly to list basketball players by position, guard, center, forward.

In a way I admire Avery Brundage for his high ideals but old Avey carries things a bit too far when he penalizes a man for overcharging $38.22 on his expense account by barring him for life.

That, he says, is not the saintly "Olympic type." The Russians meanwhile blandly ship down to Melbourne a convicted thief to be greeted by the apparently unembarrassed and unprotesting Brundage.

BRADDOCK ONE OF SPORT'S BEST-LOVED FIGURES

It was good seeing Jim Braddock take a bow at the Garden ring recently. Jim is the same plain home-grown gentleman I first met in 1928 when he boxed Joe Monte to a 10-round draw on a heavyweight card that featured Mike McTigue and Armand Emanuel.

At that time, Braddock was a bit on the skinny side, but he had the forearms of the village blacksmith. This gave Jim explosive power in his TNT right. Monte was a great test for Jim, just as he was for Max Schmeling five months later in Schmeling's American debut.

Monte's name recently came back into print in the stories on Rocky Marciano's life. It was Joe who recommended to Rocky that he go to New York and ask Al Weill to be his manager. It was excellent advice.

Today Jim Braddock is chairman of a fund-raising group to help St. Joseph's Orphanage for Boys at Englewood Cliffs, N. J.

In the years since 1928, I have been rather close to the ex-heavyweight champion. I don't believe, in the history of sports, that there ever has been one who had a greater share of the respect and love of every fan than the Cinderella Man of the ring.

His ups and downs have been retold whenever tales of sudden success are discussed. But for one who has known and lived on both sides of success, Jim Braddock has never changed character. Just pick up a phone and call his home with a request to aid some charitable cause and Braddock will be the first to volunteer his services.

I feel this is what happened when the committee heading this drive to rebuild an orphanage completely destroyed by fire two years ago gathered to nominate the best liked and most effective man. They picked a real champ in Jim Braddock.

MELBOURNE (U. S. — The Games of the 16th Olympiad opened today with all the pageantry and color associated with this great international sports event, ending the fears and tensions which had dogged these games almost from the start.

When the Duke of Edinburgh, standing under a bright Australian sun, pronounced the simple, traditional words: "I declare open the Olympic Games of Melbourne celebrating the 16th Olympiad of the modern era," he brought an end to two years of anxiety.

From now until the Olympic flame burning atop a building in the main stadium is extinguished Dec. 8, the 4,514 athletes from 67 countries can concentrate on their efforts to win Olympic medals and—unofficially at least—points in the unrecognized struggle for national team honors.

From the start the Melbourne Olympic Games were beset by unforeseen troubles — inadequate early preparations, international strife that resulted in the withdrawal of several nations. Even the weather seemed opposed as the training period was attended by rainy, raw conditions.

All this vanished, at least on the surface, as Melbourne celebrated its greatest sports day and the dream of staging the Olympics became a reality.

Although a couple of basketball games last night followed the tremendous opening ceremony, the serious part of the two-weeks competition doesn't start until tomorrow when the first events in track and field, rowing, and fencing begin.

The United States is expected to dominate the track and field events but another close struggle with Russia is expected for unofficial team honors. The Russian team, largest of all those entered, is especially strong in some sports where the Americans are weak.

The impressive solemnity of the opening ceremony was lightened by the eagerness of some of the competitors to see the show as well as to participate in it. But the tension of the occasion was reflected when a number of the marching athletes fainted and had to be given first aid before the ceremony ended. The temperature was a little over 80 degrees.

Many of the teams broke ranks after taking their places in the infield so they could watch the official march in. And they broke again when Ron Clark, 20, Australian distance runner, circled the stadium and then waited more than five hours under the hot sun for the ceremony to begin.

The Duke of Edinburgh, wearing a navy uniform and sitting in a special box adorned with the royal crest, reviewed the colorful parade of athletes as they entered the stadium in their trim, varied uniforms.

First came George Roubanis, a student at the University of California at Los Angeles, who was standard bearer for the Greek team. Then some in single file, others in massed platoons, came the teams of 66 other nations.

18 From State Take Part in Olympic Games

These are the athletes from Michigan who will help represent the United States in the Olympic Games starting today at Melbourne, Australia. There are 18 in all.

TRACK—Ira Murchison, Western Michigan College and United States Army; Adolph Weinacker, Detroit.

SWIMMING—Richard Hanley, University of Michigan; Barbara Sue Gilders, Detroit; Jeanne Sunyo, University of Detroit.

SHOOTING—John Forman, Detroit.

WRESTLING—Dale Thomas, East Lansing.

FENCING—Byron Krieger, Detroit; Judy Goodrich, Lapeer.

BOXING—Pearce Lane, Big Rapids, Michigan State University and United States Army.

ROWING—Pat Costello, Birmingham; James Gardner, Detroit; Walter Hoover Jr., Groose Pointe; James McIntosh, Livonia; Arthur McKinlay, Detroit and United States Marine Corps; John McKinlay, Detroit and United States Marine Corps; Armin Seiffert, Rochester; John R. Weihs, Groose Pointe Farms.

A massed choir of 2,000 voices sang the Olympic chorus before Australia's world mile record holder, John Landy, with his hand on the Australian flag, took the oath on behalf of all the assembled athletes.

"We swear that we will take part in the Olympic games in loyal competition, respecting the regulations which govern them, and desirous of participating in them in the true spirit of sportsmanship, for the honor of our country and for the glory of sport."

Set '58 IOC Date

MELBOURNE (INS) — The International Olympic Committee decided today to hold its 1958 session in Tokyo.

The next meeting is scheduled to be held in Sofia next September.

ROCHESTER LAD AT OLYMPICS — Armin Kurt Seiffert, 20, of Rochester is the coxswain of this Olympic rowing crew working out on Olympic Lake near Melbourne, Australia. His home is at 6040 N. Rochester road in Rochester. On the bow (left) is Arthur De Lancy Aurault of Tacoma, Washington and Conn F. Findlay (center) of Belmont, California. They represent the U. S. in the three-man sculls at Melbourne.

Kennedy Again Individual Favorite

MSU Hosts NCAA X-Men

EAST LANSING (U. S. — Some 200 runners can expect to chase Henry Kennedy, Michigan State's scamping Scottishman, around the four-mile NCAA cross country course here Monday.

Kennedy, who hasn't been heard in a meet all this season, is the individual favorite and MSU the team favorite in the 18th annual running of the distance grind.

Kennedy won the Big Ten, ICA, Michigan Senior AAU and four dual meets as a warmup to the nationals. State won the team championship in all the meets.

He also set course records at the ICA and Big Ten meets and in dual meets with Penn State and Notre Dame.

At 11:30 a. m. Monday, Kennedy will be out to break the NCAA course mark of 19:36.7, set by Charles Capozzoli of Georgetown in 1952.

MSU coach Karl Schladerman admits that with Kennedy to lead the pack in, he probably has the best cross country team of his coaching career this season. And Schladerman already has had five teams championships in the NCAA.

"Kennedy paces himself beautifully," Schladerman said of his protegee. "He's a tireless worker in the practice grinds a lot of runners like to neglect."

Kennedy, 25, is registered at MSU from Toronto, Ont., but moved with his family from Scotland a few years ago. Like most distance runners, he doesn't look too much like an athlete, standing 5-9 and weighing a slim 140 pounds.

Around 40 schools and universities will send up to 200 runners for the meet. There are 22 schools entering full teams.

Kansas, Illinois, Arkansas, Texas and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia are expected to give MSU the best run for the team title.

Kennedy will be pressed by Joe Villarreal, of Texas, southwest Jim Beatty of North Carolina and conference champion; Karl Johns-Ike Matza of NYU, to name a few son of Illinois, a Swedish import; of the top individual entries.

FLYING HIGH — Quarterback Al Dorow, former Michigan State star, does some burbling with Don Boll at the Washington Redskins practice session. The Redskins are flying high in the Eastern Division with Dorow guiding them to their 4th straight victory last Sunday over the New York Giants.

Buckeyes in Bad Mood for U. of M.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U. S. — Michigan meets Ohio's deflated juggernaut is due to tangle with a snarling group of Bucks Saturday when it side the Olenygart.

Janowicz Ends Grid Career

Doctors Advise 'Skin Star' to Quit Due to Severe Brain Injury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U. S. — Vic Janowicz, one of Ohio State University's all-time football greats, has reached the end of the gridiron glory trail.

He has been advised by his physicians that he must never participate in any contact sport again.

Janowicz, 1950 All-America halfback and later a professional star with the Washington Redskins, suffered a brain injury several months ago in a California automobile accident.

He will recover sufficiently within the next year to lead a normal life. Dr. Robert Murphy of Columbus predicted today, but his football days are over.

Dr. Murphy, physician for the Ohio State football team, made this statement today in response to a question:

"Vic has been undergoing a series of tests in the last two weeks. He has a general weakness in his left side because of the brain injury. He has no mental damage."

Montana State OKs Aluminum Bowl Bid

BOZEMAN, Mont. (U. S. — Montana State College, as expected, today accepted an invitation to play in the first Aluminum Bowl football game Dec. 22 at Little Rock, Ark.

President R. R. Renne said: "It is always an honor to be on top. For that reason we are especially pleased to participate in this first National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics football classic and humbly grateful to be the first team chosen. We hope to be a fit representative of the more than 350 teams within the NAIA participating in football and the institutions they represent."

College officials said the game will be broadcast and televised nationally over the CBS network.

It was made more humiliating by the fact that the Ohio ground attack, which had been moving at a 306 yard average through seven games, was held to 147 yards and a ground-air advance of 165 with only nine first downs.

Shorn of a flock of glory in Saturday's 6-0 setback at Iowa, the Bucks are determined to make someone pay for it — and they'd rather take it out on their most hated and revered foe — Michigan — than anyone else.

The Iowa loss halted Ohio's Big Ten victory string at 17, erased all chance of an unprecedented third straight title, ended the Buckeye boast that no member of the squad had ever played in a losing or tied Big Ten tilt, and continued the legend that the Bucks have never scored a point at Iowa City.

Mention Many for Cal Post

Resignation of Pappy Waldorf Brings Long List of Candidates

BERKELEY, Calif. (U. S. — Know-a-good football coach who would be interested in working for the University of California, whose athletic director says "this is no bed of roses?"

Cal needs a successor for Lynn Waldorf who resigned Tuesday after 10 years.

Greg Engelhard, director of athletics, said any talk about a new man was speculation.

The list of coaches mentioned among sports writers and alumni already includes just about every man connected with football except Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Those mentioned include Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech; Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State; Rod Franz, Cal freshman coach; Jim Lawson, Cal line coach; Jim Sutherland, Washington State, a former Waldorf aide; Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma; Joe Verducci, San Francisco State; Charles Caldwell, Princeton; Bob Bronzan, San Jose State; Eddie Erdelatz, Navy; Joe Kuharich, Washington Redskins; Rip Engle, Penn State and Jordan Oliver, Yale.

Waldorf resigned at the end of a 2-7 losing season.

Chestnut Gets Split Decision Over Bain

HOLLYWOOD (U. S. — Fourth-ranking featherweight Ike Chestnut today was looking for a shot at Sandy Saddler after a convincing 10-round decision over Irish Tommy Bain of Los Angeles.

The fight last night was a split decision, but many ringsiders thought the hard-hitting New York Negro had won handily.

Whether Chestnut is in a league with the crafty Saddler is another matter. But here is how Chestnut looks at it:

Letdown Feared in Hawkeye Camp

Iowa Ripe for Upset by Underdog Irish

CHICAGO (U. S. — If ever a team was ripe for an upset, it's Iowa. And if ever a team wanted to pull an upset, it's Notre Dame.

The Hawkeyes have won at least a share of the Big Ten football title and appear certain to represent the conference in the Rose Bowl.

Notre Dame already has posted the worst record in its proud football history. But a triumph over the Big Ten champion "could save the season."

The two teams clash at Iowa City Saturday and both coaches are aware of the psychological factors at work.

Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski, who yesterday was voted "Midwest Coach of the Year" by the Chicago football writers, told the group over a telephone amplifier system "I hope our kids don't figure the season is over."

The Hawks last Saturday clinched a share of the title and the Rose Bowl bid by whipping

Ohio State, 6-0. It was the second successive week Iowa had to beat a favorite. The previous Saturday Iowa dumped Minnesota 7-0.

If the Hawkeyes ever figure they have a right to relax, it could be this week.

"They've got to get down out of the clouds," said Evashevski. "We respect any Notre Dame team and we must be prepared for them."

Notre Dame has a 2-6 record. The worst previous season in Irish history was in 1932 when Notre Dame suffered five losses. Iowa is a 13-point favorite.

Penn-Cornell on TV

Today's game between the Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers will not be televised locally, although it is on a national telecast.

College game on TV is the Penn-Cornell meeting at 1:45 on Channel 4.

Covers 32 Schools

The "cream-of-the-crop" from Oakland County's 32 high schools will be announced in Saturday's sports pages of The Pontiac Press.

It will be the official 1956 All-Oakland County football team coming your way, along with the final records, final scoring marks, final rankings, and the starts in all classes, A, B and C.

Schools in the County area will also be recognized with their outstanding players. Don't miss The Pontiac Press this Saturday.

Boost Is Given to Michigander

MELBOURNE (INS) — Delegates to the congress of the international weightlifting federation meeting yesterday protested when American representatives handed them gifts.

When the gifts of silver spoons and billboards were unwrapped, the delegates found notes which urged them to elect Clarence Johnson of Highland Park, Mich., as the federation's new president.

The Americans answered the protests, made chiefly by the Scandinavian delegates, by counter-charging that the Scandinavians had distributed similar gifts in the past.

Governor and Family Spend Day in Detroit

LANSING (U. S. — Gov. Williams, with his wife, Nancy, and their three children, planned to go to Detroit today for a family observance of Thanksgiving with his mother, Elma, and brother, Richard, and Richard's children.

The party was to assemble at the home of Richard Williams in Detroit, and to go from there in the later afternoon to the country club of Detroit for Thanksgiving dinner.

Souchak Makes Putts Pay Off

Beats Oliver on TV Links Match With a 7-Under-65

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U. S. — Mike Souchak, who could always hit a golf ball a mile, has earned himself $2,000 with a performance that shows he also can author some pretty dandy putts.

Big Mike covered the Paradise Valley Country Club course in a seven-under-par 65 yesterday to win the second in a series of 13 matches featuring some of the nation's top pros and a flock of television cameras. The pros are after $39,000 in prize money and the cameras are recording the proceedings for release as a TV feature.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, Souchak's opponent in the second match, ran into considerable trouble with his putting and came out with a par 36-36-72.

Tomorrow Souchak plays Fred Hawkins in the third match at Arizona Country Club in Phoenix. The winner of each match receives $2,000 and the loser, who drops out, gets $1,000.

Field Hockey Draw Changed

MELBOURNE, U.—The draw for the Olympic field hockey competition was revised today due to the withdrawal of Holland.

The United States, entering this event for the first time, was drawn in a group with India, Singapore and Afghanistan. Group two consists of Great Britain, Australia, Malaya and Kenya and group three of Pakistan, Germany, Belgium and New Zealand.

Rangers Can't Break Slump

3-3 Tie With Toronto Stretches New York's Winless String to 10

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Rangers, riding high early in the National Hockey League season, today were still looking for their first victory in almost a month.

For a while last night it looked as though Phil Watson's beleaguered blueliners were going to get it. They grabbed a 2-0 first period lead against Toronto. But the Maple Leafs rallied for three second-period goals to earn a 3-3 tie. Larry Cahan and Andy Bathgate were New York's scorers in the opening session. Jerry James, Rudy Migay and Ron Stewart whacked home Toronto's markers before Bathgate's tally midway in the second period evened matters for good.

Toronto remained in fourth place with 15 points, three more than the Rangers, who have not won since Oct. 24—10 games ago.

5 Winners Lead 7 to Post at Pimlico

BALTIMORE, U.—The Pimlico Special today won't accomplish its original purposes of 20 years ago to settle a thoroughbred championship, but it will provide a showdown for five of the starters who won their last races.

The five recent winners will be joined by two others in the 1 3/4 mile chase for a first prize of $35,000.

The invitation race brings together Traffic Judge after winning the Laurel Turf Cup. Find from the Narragansett Special. Mid-afternoon from the Display Handicap. Third Brother with the Roamer Handicap first prize, and Summer Tan, sporting the Gallant Fox blue ribbon. Summer tan was the 7-5 favorite.

Mason Captains Broncs

KALAMAZOO, U.—The captain of the 1957 Western Michigan football team will be a Sault Ste. Marie quarterback. Robert Mason, a junior at Western, was elected yesterday by his teammates.

QUINTET OF FIVE-MILERS — These are the top runners who finished the first five in the five-mile ICA cross country run in New York recently. Henry Kennedy (left) of Michigan.

State took the honors with a new record of 24:01.8 followed in line by Lewis Stieglitz of Connecticut, Vincent Timon of Pitt, Selwyn Jones and Gaylord Denslow both from Michigan State.

Ebben Leads Rugged Cage Schedule

Titan All-America Prospect Holds Key

DETROIT, U.—On the broad shoulders of a 21-year-old forward, the club in scoring a year ago Detroit almost by accident rest the with 593 points in 26 games — a 23.1 average. That was good enough to make him the nation's candidate who has become one of the nation's finest players despite the absence of attractive offers after his high school basketball days. The team captain, the Chicago-born forward hit on more than 43 per cent of his shots last season. His early workouts indicate he has lost none of his sharpness.

"If he doesn't carry us," says coach Bob Calihan, "we're in trouble."

AP All-State Teams in Press Next Week

DETROIT, U.—Some of the brightest stars on the nation's collegiate gridirons got their start in Michigan high schools.

And these young men who went on to more gridiron greatness were named to the Associated Press All-State High School Football Teams.

This year, for the 16th consecutive year, the Associated Press and its member newspapers throughout the state have selected teams in four classes — A, B, C and D. The selections were based on ballots sent to every high school coach in Michigan and on the studies of sports editors and writers.

The teams this season promise to be the greatest in the long history of the selections. The Pontiac Press took part in the selections, and believes the young athletes selected are the most deserving in the state from among more than 30,000 boys taking part in high school football.

Watch the Press for the all-state teams of the Associated Press. The Class A selections will be in this paper on Tuesday, November 27. The Class B teams will follow on Wednesday the 28th, the Class C teams on Thursday the 29th and the Class D teams on Friday the 30th.

Phillips, Bolling Sign

DETROIT, U.—The Detroit Tigers have enough players to field a baseball team with the 1957 season still months away.

Frank Bolling, 25, the regular second baseman last season, and Jack Phillips, a utility infielder, became the ninth and tenth Tigers to sign 1957 contracts. Bolling batted .281 in 102 games, after Army service. Phillips batted .235 in 67 games.

Kansas State Awaited MSU Game All Season

MANHATTAN, Kan. U.—One wouldn't think a fellow about to have his head shoved into a meat grinder would be looking happily to the future, but it's the fact the Kansas State College Wildcats are looking forward "with pleasure" to their football game with Michigan State in East Lansing Saturday.

Not only the Wildcat players—youthful squad in the Big Seven conference—but Head Coach Bus Mertes as well is "mighty happy we are going to play a team such as Michigan State."

"Seriously, we have been looking forward to the Michigan State game all season," Mertes commented a few minutes after his team had defeated Iowa State 32-6 here last Saturday.

"We are thin in overall strength," Bus continued, "but we have some boys who can hold their own with any players in the country and we certainly have plenty of desire."

The split-T Wildcats have a season record of only three victories against six losses and completed their league play 2-4. With a wee bit of luck they would have beaten two more teams—Wyoming and Kansas.

Mertes' 47-man squad in pre-season practice dipped to 38 because of injuries at one point in the season. He can have no more than 40 in uniform for the Michigan State game.

Co-captains Ellis Rainsberger, center-guard-tackle, and K. N. Nesmith, halfback-fullback, are top grade veterans. On defense Rainsberger, 200-pound junior, picks his spot. Offensively he has played three positions.

Nesmith, 184, senior, runs, blocks and punts expertly. He's good on the handoffs on tackle slants. Mertes has a couple of exceptionally fine young players in halfback Gene Keady, 190-pound junior, and Gene Meier, 210-pound sophomore tackle.

Louisville C. of C. Accepts Franchise Bid

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (INS) — The Louisville Chamber of Commerce has unanimously accepted an American Association offer to give the city a free baseball franchise, valued at $50,000.

At the same time, a steering committee was formed to spearhead a drive to raise $75,000 by Dec. 1 in an effort to retain American Association baseball in the city.

Spartans Drill Despite Holiday

EAST LANSING, U.—The Michigan State football squad held practice as usual today despite the Thanksgiving holiday.

Most of the Spartan students have scattered for the holidays. The football team, however, has two more days of workouts before its season-ending game with Kansas State.

Most of the workouts have been held indoors in Jensen fieldhouse this week because of cold, wet weather.

Following the afternoon practice session, the squad will sit down to a Thanksgiving turkey dinner with all the trimmings at the training table.

For Saturday's game, coach Duffy Daugherty planned to work as many of his 11 graduating seniors into the starting lineup as possible. Due to the chilly weather and Thanksgiving holiday for students, a crowd of only about 25,000—smallest of the season—is expected for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

NEW ORLEANS, U.—Burnt Child, an ambitious stretch-sealer from the Waldo Andrews Stable, drew high weight assignment today for the 32nd running of the Thanksgiving Day Handicap as the Fair Grounds opened its 84th racing season.

26 Nations in Rowing Events at Melbourne

BALLARAT, Australia (AP)—A strong, all-around U. S. team and powerful Russia today were rated the leading contenders of the seven-event Olympic rowing tournament starting tomorrow on Lake Wendouree.

A total of 72 entries from 25 nations will open the competition tomorrow morning—6:30 p. m., today, EST. Afternoon competition—11:30 p. m., today, EST—includes heats in every event.

The day's feature race figures to be the first heat of the eight-oared crews, matching America's rangy Yale crew, Canada's fast University of British Columbia boatload, Australia and England.

That afternoon heat probably will be a three-way battle among the United States, Canada and Australia for the two semifinal berths.

"Yale is as fine a crew as we ever have had," said Clifford (Tip) Goes, chairman of the U. S. Olympic rowing committee. "It should win, with the sternest competition coming from Australia, Canada, Czechoslovakia and France."

"Over-all, our squad is the best we have had. We could win three events—with Yale, the pairs without coxswain combination of Duval Hecht and Jim Filer of Navy and the double sculls team of Pat Costello and Jim Gardner of Detroit."

"We could win some of the others with breaks, even though this is the toughest competition ever. Jack Kelly is in the best shape since winning the Pan-American crown last year, and he should make the finals and possibly go all the way."

Kelly Jr., 29, brother of Monaco's Princess Grace, is making a third and final bid to match his father's single sculls victory in the 1920 Olympics.

All races will be over a 2,000-meter course—1.1 miles. In all but the fours with coxswain and double sculls, the first two in each heat will qualify for Monday's semifinal. Losers will go into Saturday's repechages—a "second chance" heat—to battle for a semifinal spot.

Russia's main hopes are Ivanov, who beat 1952 Olympic champion Jung Tjukalov in the single sculls trials; and Alexandre Berkoutov and Tjukalov in the double sculls. The Soviet also is hopeful in the pairs without coxswain with Igor Boudlakov and Victor Ivanov—no relation to the single sculls Ivanov.

Tennessee, the nation's No. 2 team, comes up to the Kentucky contest unbeaten and untied, and with its hopes for the mythical national championship and the Southeastern Conference title riding on the outcome.

It is no pushover team Coach Blanton Collier is bringing down from Lexington. After getting off to a bad start, the Wildcats have done an about face and have won five games in a row. Their season record is 6-2.

The Blue Grass boys have defeated Tennessee three straight years and are not conceding anything to the Vols this fall. Like this Saturday Tennessee was favored to beat Kentucky last year. But the Wildcats ignored the odds-makers and shellacked the Vols 25-0.

Baseball bats are made out of 2 1/2 x 1 1/2 over the muddy strip and ash, hackberry or hickory wood paid $13.20.

Kentucky Eleven in Spoiler Role

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A resurgent Kentucky football team meets Tennessee here Saturday in a familiar role—that of spoiler.

The Wildcats hope to spoil for the fourth time in modern years a perfect season for the Volunteers. Tennessee had spotless records going in 1928, 1929 and 1931 only to have the games with Kentucky mar them.

Penn., which has made a surprisingly good showing in the Ivy League, meets Cornell. A victory for the Quakers would clinch the title for the second time in the 41-year-history of the league.

State only is lacking the formality of a vote to assure its participation in the Pasadena Jan. 1 Rose Bowl.

A victory for Oregon State over Oregon would give the Beavers the PCC title for the second time in the 41-year-history of the league.

Wake Forest's Bill Barnes, one

of the top contenders for the national rushing yardage crown, has a bruised shoulder. However, it is expected he will be in the starting lineup. Barnes has averaged 110 yards on the ground in nine games.

Traditional Games Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oregon State can clinch the Pacific Coast Conference championship and South Carolina can move closer to an Orange Bowl bid in traditional games heading the Thanksgiving Day college football program today.

A victory for Oregon State over Oregon would give the Beavers the PCC title for the second time in the 41-year-history of the league.

State only is lacking the formality of a vote to assure its participation in the Pasadena Jan. 1 Rose Bowl.

The South Carolina-Wake Forest tilt is a pivotal one for the Gamecocks, who are seeking to get the bowl nod over Clemson and Duke.

The Gamecocks, with a 4-2 record in Atlantic Coast Conference competition and 6-3 overall, have the best total defense record in the league.

Wake Forest's Bill Barnes, one

of the top contenders for the national rushing yardage crown, has a bruised shoulder. However, it is expected he will be in the starting lineup. Barnes has averaged 110 yards on the ground in nine games.

Penn., which has made a surprisingly good showing in the Ivy League, meets Cornell. A victory for the Quakers would clinch the title for the second time in the 41-year-history of the league.

Other holiday pairings include Virginia Tech vs. Virginia Military College at Brown, Miami (Fla.) at Cincinnati, William and Mary at Richmond, Maryland at North Carolina State, Washington (Mo.) at Washington (Mo.), Colorado A&M at Denver and Idaho at Montana.

State Highly Pleased With Deer Permit Reactions

LANSING — Conservation Department officials are "pleased and encouraged" by public reaction to the Department's distribution of special season deer hunting permits.

More than 104,000 persons applied for the 65,340 "any deer" permits issued this year — meaning that some 40,000 applicants had to be disappointed. Only 50 written complaints have been received by the department and each of these letters is being answered individually.

Department officials point out that the primary aim of the special seasons is to scientifically manage the state's deer herd and permits were distributed on a strictly impartial basis, without giving spe-

Richards Says Bragg Should Be Greatest

Pole vaulter Bob Richards says Don Bragg should be the greatest vaulter of all-time and should easily eclipse Cornelius Warmerdam's world record of 15 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

"Bragg should go 16 feet and maybe 16 1/2," adds the parson. "He grips the pole a foot higher than I do. He has wonderful potential but simply hasn't polished his style. When he learns to explode his hips, he'll have it made."

CARLOAD OF BUCKS — There were bucks (and big ones) to spare in this picture of three Pontiac area hunters and four deer. The 4th hunter, who accounted for the extra deer was Ken Trout. Above, just back from near Waters-

Area Hunters Score

Many Fill Licenses Early

By H. GUY MOATS

Despite reports of fewer deer being taken in the current Michigan season, Oakland county hunters appear to be doing all right. From proffered entries in The Press big deer contests the average for the area's contingent in the north woods and at home is about one deer to five or six hunters. Already, with the season only a little more than halfway gone, more than 65 from the area have reported success. And some of the best bucks have come from the "home" section.

More big bucks have been seen or taken in Oakland county this fall than in any season heretofore. It is believed. Increase in the area's herd is indicated, observers say, by the concentrations about Highland and in the Metamora section.

Just the other day the Leonard Kramers, living between Hadley and Metamora, saw five heavily antlered bucks feeding together in their apple orchard, nibbling the fruit from the trees. Early of a recent morning another husky deer paid a visit to their front yard.

Lucky—or skillful—area hunters have changed the contest leads many times. Currently at the top are the 207-pound entry of Roger H. Davis of 484 Fourth avenue, Pontiac, and the 167 1/2-inch wide rack entered by Richard Feeney, 809 Palmer Drive, Pontiac.

Among others getting their bucks are:

Norman Zeuner, Milford (near Tippecanoe lake, Oakland county); Wilbert Deuman, 1544 Oak Park rd., Pontiac (10-pointer at Brimley); May Main, 2717 Hartline, Rochester (12-pointer at Glenview); W. J. Harris, 79 Wall (19-pointer at Onaway); Richard Yonish, 327 S. Boulevard East (10-pointer at 41st); Victor Miller, 1030 Davisburg rd. (18-pointer across the street from home).

Bannister Pulls for John Landy

Dr. Roger Bannister, who whipped John Landy in Vancouver's "mile of the century" when both bettered 4 minutes, is pulling for the Australian to win the Olympic 1500-meter title.

"John Landy is a wonderful person," said the Englishman, arriving for the games. "He has done so much for sport I would dearly like to see him win."

EXTRA STEAKS — This huge moose was shot by Harley Penney of Midland in Mohrland River area of Canada. Penney spent 12 1/2 hours with three men and team of horses hauling animal to camp. Antlers measure 17 points and 48 inch spread. Live weight is estimated at 1,200 pounds. The big boom was needed to lift the trophy.

This is family day on the college football circuit, but many of the nation's top teams will wait until Saturday, when some will wind up their seasons.

The number of Thanksgiving Day games between the "cousin" cousins seems to be dwindling, but some hardy old perennials, such as Penn-Cornell, still remain.

Top-ranking Oklahoma, with a Power Index of 117.4, will take on its next-to-last opponent Saturday. It will be Nebraska (77.3). The rating difference is 40 points.

At the same time No. 2 Tennessee will try to rack up its ninth in a row with Kentucky as the victim. The Vols rate 16 higher than the Wildcats.

Power index differences for other big games of the week are as follows:

Tennessee, Oregon State 4 over Oregon, Virginia Tech 18 over VMI, Wake Forest even with South Carolina, Cincinnati 2 over Miami of Ohio, N. C. State even with Maryland, and Penn & Cornell.

Saturday: Georgia Tech 6 over Florida, Michigan State 33 over Kansas State, Iowa 18 over Notre Dame, Michigan 3 over Ohio State, Minnesota 13 over Wisconsin.

Power index pairings for all of the week-end's games follow.

Deer Popular but Black Bear Is Most Prized

LANSING—Deer may be widely hunted, but the black bear is still Michigan's most prized hunting trophy.

No states an article in the November-December issue of Michigan Conservation, the conservation department's bimonthly magazine.

Author Warren Shapton of the department's game division points out that the thought probably uppermost in the minds of deer hunters is that maybe this year they'll get a shot at a bear. Relative scarcity makes the bear a favored target, says Shapton, pointing out that the state's bear population numbers only about 10,000.

Sandra Ruddick 'Miss America' of U. S. Squad

The "Miss America" of the U.S. Olympic team — and rated by many as the prettiest competitor in the entire Olympic village — is Sandra Ruddick of Indianapolis, a gymnast.

Sandra, 24, actually is a "Mrs." mother of two children, 5 and 1. She is a willowy brunette, 5-9 1/2, 129 pounds with a Jane Russell figure and a classic face.

Sandra also is rated America's best bet for a gold medal in a specialty usually dominated by the Russians.

Road Check Not Needed

LANSING — Deer hunting in Michigan, year to year, enjoys such a fixed popularity that the Conservation Department will not make its annual highway tests of hunting pressure this year.

Usually, the department makes extensive road checks on the opening three days of each deer season. The checks determined how many hunters were afield and were supposed to give Department, press and public a "sneak preview" of deer season activity.

But in the last three years, the total hunting activity has shown annual differences amounting to less than five per cent. There is, of course, a slow, long-range upward trend largely attributed to over-all population increases, but in the short run, little of this effect is noticed.

In place of the expensive — and not very effective — car-transect method of checking hunting activity the department this year will use a system of "organized impressions."

Conservation officers, biologists and other department field workers will be asked during deer season to report their impressions of total hunting pressure and general activity as compared with last year.

These impressions will be grouped by regions in the Department's Lansing headquarters to give a broad collective picture of hunting activity for the entire state. The later post-card poll, considered statistically more accurate as a check method, will give a detailed and specific picture of what happened area by area.

World Records Not in Danger

MELBOURNE, Fla. — Jim Kelly, head coach of the U. S. track and field forces, predicts no world record will fall in the Olympic Games, opening tomorrow, but adds:

"I wouldn't be surprised to see about eight Olympic marks go by the boards."

The gray-thatched Minnesota coach said: "The sure clinch is Parry O'Brien in the shot put and the next best bet is our 400-meter relay team."

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—It took Wayne Jackson one month to win the Virginia Amateur Golf Championship.

Jackson and Harry Easterly Jr. tied for the medal in the qualifying round but there was no opportunity for a playoff. Jackson then went on to win the tournament at the Cascades Course, Hot Springs. One month later Jackson won the medal in the playoff with Easterly here with a 69. Easterly had a 71.

Salamander Out for Early Walk in Chilly Air

When Frank Murbach, 2776 Mulbry road, near Woodward and Square Lake roads left his home yesterday morning for his work he met an unusual visitor on the front walk.

Ambling slowly along the cold concrete was a creature Murbach told his wife later was a weird apparition that "looked like a little alligator."

Description of the creature indicates it is one of the so-called "salamander", akin to the lizards. The black skin, spotted with yellow and the yellow underside is typical of the species. However it is unusual to find one at this time of the year, as most bury themselves in the mud during the winters.

Losing Becomes Hard After Winning Years

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bill Mowry, one of the state's most successful high school football coaches, had to learn how to lose this season.

Mowry, after four seasons at class C Berrien Springs where his teams won 30 games and lost two, moved to Mt. Clemens in that class A ranks this season and his team dropped eight straight without a victory.

"It's a little tough getting used to losing," said Mowry. "But I came up here to do a job, and we're not giving up until its done."

The Berrien Springs story itself is a little on the fantastic side. The school took up football in the early 1940s but didn't have a winning season until 1950. Lloyd Nothnagle led the club to a record of seven wins, and one tie in 1951.

In Mowry's first year in 1952, the school won eight and lost none. It was the same story in 1953. In 1954, two mid-season losses to Coloma (20-19) and to Benton Harbor St. John (21-19) spoiled the record.

In between a 7-7 tie with Benton Harbor St. John in 1951 and the 1954 defeat by Coloma, Berrien Springs won 22 in succession. But in 1955, there was another unbeaten-until season for Mowry.

Cole Nice moved in as head coach this season and the team ran up seven straight successes before bowing 7-0 to class B Buchanan in the final game of the year. So Berrien Springs has won 47 of its 50 contests.

A big rebuilding job faces Mowry at Mt. Clemens. The school has gone 21 games without a victory.

THREE FOR ONE — There are three Pontiac bear hunters in the above picture, but only one was the "big gun." Louis Michot, Pontiac tavern operator (center), shot all three, a female and two cubs, on Drummond Island, at Pilot Harbor. The party, which went to the island for deer got just one. Dick Wolfe (r) and Harry Dits were in the group of four, that also included Dick Mason, still on the island. He bagged a 10-point, 150-pound buck.

Bucks Wax Fat, Hefty on Good Farm Fodder

By JACK PATTERSON
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

The moral to the old fable about the fellow who spent most of his life roaming the world in search of gold, only to return home to find a mine in his front yard seems applicable to the hunter in search of big deer, for contest purposes or otherwise. So far, anyway, the closer to home the bigger the deer seem to be. We suggest that the ultimate winner in either of The Press' big deer divisions will probably be collected in the shadow of the courthouse.

While one likes to think of remote northern wilderness areas as the proper habitat for great bucks, it's largely a foolish notion. While there are some whoppers skulking through the chill cedar swamps of the north, deer average bigger in the farmlands a stone's throw from the world's most highly developed industrial complex.

Seems odd, at first glance, deer being more or less wild creatures, presumably satisfied to live out their lives without sharing them with men. But where there are men there is food and it didn't take deer long to catch onto that idea. Ample food is the key to maximum growth in any species, other governing factors being equal.

So it is that deer in our southern counties have a pretty soft thing of it. Numbers held down by limited cover, there is abundant food for all. They just naturally grow and grow and grow, and in the process develop head foliage to match.

With such a situation close at hand, it might not be a bad idea to get on good terms with a farmer or two out in the country. Then sneak away some afternoon and settle down with your back to a stone wall and along about 4 o'clock or maybe a little later something's apt to come strolling along that will make your eyes pop.

That is, of course, if you want to shoot a deer. If you want to go deer hunting it's still the best idea to get up north out of harm's and telephone's way. A number of our party up last week, who owns a sporting goods store, and should know better got so bemused over the idea of deer hunting instead of deer shooting he forgot to bring his rifle.

Although anyone driving down US 23 Sunday night would find it hard to believe, there were fewer hunters than usual in the woods the first few days of the season. Various theories for this state of affairs include a mid-week opening, economic conditions, weather, and others, all of them to some extent probably valid.

Whatever the reasons it is expected that the coming weekend, which to all intents and purposes starts after dinner tomorrow, will see a big increase in new hunters and a good many returnees up for another try.

Snow and Rain Help to Slash Hazard of Fire

LANSING — Scattered snow and rain throughout many northern areas of the state improved forest fire hazard conditions during the last week, but deer hunters are reminded that fire danger still exists.

Meanwhile, fire hazards were lessened in southern parts of the state as hunting pressure decreased with the close of pheasant season.

Only six fires were reported in the state during the last week, with damage covering about 16 acres. Three fires in the southern Lower Peninsula burned approximately 15 acres while three fires in the northern Lower Peninsula damaged less than an acre. No fires were reported in the Upper Peninsula.

Latest fires brought the year's fire loss total to 3,337 acres, well below the 1955 damage level.

Bonus pitcher Myron (Moe) Drabowsky, a Trinity College star signed by the Chicago Cubs, was born 21 years ago in Ozanna, Poland.

In Rochester Industry

Plastic and Steel Star

Editor's Note: This article, one in a series about Rochester, tells about additional industries in the area.

Auburn Heights Manufacturing Company is located at 2781 Leach Road in Avon Township. It is a jobbing shop which fabricates cast iron and steel parts largely for the automobile industry and home appliance manufacturers.

The company occupies about 25,000 square feet of plant on a 10-acre site, and employs about 70 men. Founded in 1941, its business is growing.

George J. Linderme is president and general manager; Theodore E. Linderme is vice president and George H. Lundberg is secretary-treasurer.

Oakland Foundry & Machine Company, on a four-acre site on Woodward Avenue, makes small grey iron castings in semi-production quantities for the automotive, farm implement and home appliance industries.

In operation for more than 30 years, in 1949 it was purchased by the Detroit Grey Iron Foundry Company of which it is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

A disastrous fire in July eliminated some 12,000 square feet of working space, but this has been replaced and Oakland Foundry now has some 50,000 square feet under roof. It employs 60 men.

J. H. Gardner, president and general manager, reports the company's business is good, with overtime work the general rule in recent months and bright prospects for the future.

Detroit Molded Plastics Company, in a modern factory containing 10,000 square feet on Orion Road, engages in custom molding of plastics for the automotive, houseware and hardware industries.

It handles both projection and injection molding in both nylon and plastic, also transfer molding.

The company was affected by the summer automotive slowdown but business again is increasing and employment is expected to regain soon its normal level of from 45 to 50 men.

M. M. Moats is president and George H. Stevens is general manager.

Started some 14 years ago on Main street, the firm built its present modern plant in 1944. It also built and owns an adjoining plant which is operated by the J. & O. Manufacturing Company.

The J. & O. plant comprises some 12,000 square feet of manufacturing space. It makes automotive stampings and assemblies, its biggest accounts being with Ford, General Motors and Chrysler.

The company was incorporated some four years ago. Oakley Lafecche is president. He reports business is good and improving. Employment averages about 30 men.

Nu Era Gear Corporation maintains a warehouse and distribution office in Rochester, although its manufacturing operations now are located in Boston. This company has been in operation for ten years and moved out from Detroit to Rochester in July of 1950.

It manufactures gears for the automotive replacement market. The Nu Era Muffler Company, now being organized with the same officers, will manufacture mufflers which, like the gears, will be distributed nationally.

The company employs about 50 persons in Rochester, although employment was double that figure when manufacturing operations were carried on in the Rochester plant on South Street. Philip Chapnick is president and C. H. Resler is sales director of both companies.

Avon Broach & Production Company was organized in 1951. On a four-acre site on John R Road, its present plant comprises about 6,000 square feet and a new addition, now under way, will add 3,200 more. Seventeen men now are employed.

The company performs secondary operations in broaching, rebuilding machines, tools and fixtures, and carries on broaching production for various automotive and aircraft suppliers and manufacturers. Approximately 60 per cent of its production goes to Ford suppliers.

The addition is being built to house work to be done on jets for Packard's Utica-Bend plant. Avon Broach already has a contract for experimental broaching work on blades for the jet engines.

Gust Headbloom Jr., is president of the company. The five principal owners of Avon Broach also own Apex Broach Company of Detroit.

PLAN CD RALLY — December 12 has been set for the Civil Defense Rally Day in White Lake Township, and plans are well under way. Shown working on the Rally Day are (l-r) Mrs. Chloe Nichols, personnel director; Mrs. Harvey Bruns, assistant director; Mrs. Robert Larson, welfare deputy, and Andrew Plano, director. F. C. Vetter and Harvey Bruns are co-chairmen of the event.

White Lake Calls Rally for Civil Defense Work

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Directors of neighboring township Civil Defense units and the Oakland County Civil Defense officials have been invited to observe the White Lake Township Civil Defense Rally Day scheduled for Dec. 12.

Co-chairmen of the event are F. C. Vetter, and Harvey Bruns.

A prospectus of coming civil defense activities will be presented at the evening Rally, scheduled for the old Town Hall.

based on tabulation made from survey cards filled out by willing township residents over 16 years of age. Highlight of the evening will be two films on the civil defense topic, "Let's Face It," and "Time of Disaster."

Classes for those who wish to take some training will be announced at the Rally. Also invited are members of the General Staff, special township deputies, chief sector wardens, and their wives and husbands.

Hobby Turns to Work but Does Yield Some Profit

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent
MILFORD — What started out as a hobby for Mrs. Harold Sin-nock, 1075 General Motors Rd., has turned into a profitable business and "back-breaking" work.

Mrs. Sinnock raises huge "Broad Breasted Bronze" turkeys by the hundreds on a 12-acre farm near Milford. They are all raised on wire, "except the pets who wander around the place like kittens."

Mrs. Sinnock claims that she used to be annoyed with the constant "gobbling" of the livestock, but at this time of year, it has become "muscle to my ears."

It takes 90 pounds of mash and a bushel of good grain to raise one bird to 20-pound weight, according to Mrs. Sinnock.

Her husband Harold, is a building contractor in Birmingham, so has very little time to help his wife, Harriet. They have two daughters, Marilyn 20 and Ruth, 16.

Beginning with 37 baby turkeys more than fourteen years ago, Mrs. Sinnock now handles over 500 of the traditional Thanksgiving birds, and most of them are sold to local residents as there is few turkey farms in the area.

Mrs. Sinnock just had a good start in the turkey business, when the tornado struck Milford, wiping out hundreds of fine birds and scattering the pens and equipment all over the countryside. She said, "I really had to start from scratch after that."

Even her home was wrecked, however her husband re-built the house and turkey pens, adding a big cement block poultry storage barn to the "hobby."

The hens average about 18 pounds and some of the biggest Toms weigh over 27 pounds each, according to the owner.

Waterford Choir Sets Grand Rapids Program
WATERFORD—The choir of the Waterford Community Church will leave from the church at 3:30 p.m. Saturday to present a program at the Church of the Open Bible, Grand Rapids.

The pastor of the Grand Rapids church, the Rev. Mr. Wright Van Plew, was formerly the pastor of the Waterford Community Church.

O. Lang, Mrs. Angus Miller, Mrs. Florence Hoyt and Mrs. Fred H. Riley. Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Riley are co-chairmen for the event, set for Dec. 6 at the church.

Fair to Feature Fancies in Holiday Glitter

ROCHESTER—St. Philip's Episcopal Holiday Fair, sponsored annually by the Woman's Auxiliary of the church, has been set for Thursday, Dec. 6.

Combined efforts of the auxiliary, Sunday School, Junior and Senior Girls' Friendly Groups make this affair one of the highlights of the year. The Fair will open at 10 a. m. and run through the day.

Mrs. Fred H. Riley and Mrs. Florence Hoyt are co-chairmen for the Fair. Its Snack Bar is in charge of Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Wilson B. Severance, and will open at 11 a. m. Featured will be chop suey, German potato salad and other snacks.

Assisting the chairman will be Mrs. Vern Sutton, dolls; Mrs. David Hackett, candy; Mrs. Vern Baxter, botanical booth; Mrs. Leonard Chesterfield, aprons; Mrs. Harold Freeborn, handwork; and Mrs. E. C. Simmons, baked goods. Other chairmen are: Food bar, Mrs. Edward Kalt; glitter booth, co-chairmen, Mrs. Harry O.

Long and Mrs. Angus Miller; children's booth, Mrs. Richard Eberline; white elephant booth, Mrs. W. D. McCullough; table setting, Mrs. Gwenn Ott; table decorations, Mrs. Lang, and general decorations, Mrs. Francis King.

Grange Talks on Soil Bank

Convention in East Hears Debate, Call for Drought Aid

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A report at the National Grange meeting here yesterday on the Soil Bank gave tacit approval of it, but no praise.

It urged substitution of a two-price system for the current method of price supporting farm produce.

It called for use of farm surpluses to aid drought-stricken farmers in the same way they are used to help the needy abroad.

It asked that a commodity-by-commodity approach be used in attacking farm problems and that the system of parity as a yardstick for farm price supports be thoroughly overhauled.

Originally, the resolutions committee planned to criticize the soil bank as not enough of a help to enough of agriculture, according to Chairman A. L. Nelson of the State of Washington.

But after he stated that in an interview Sunday, the committee huddled to iron out various "interpretations" of that part of the report.

When Miles Horst, assistant to U. S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson arrived at the convention, a Grange spokesman said he had been invited and would "clarify" the soil bank for the committee members.

The report to the floor said the soil bank is recognized by a few grange as a means whereby a sufficient amount of land could be taken out of production to materially reduce total production.

Foresee Area's Largest Center

Zoning Enables Builders in Milford to Provide Subdivision Shops

MILFORD—With the re-zoning of the east side village property from residential to commercial this week, Council members paved the way for one of the biggest shopping centers in the area, according to builders, Dunitz and Klein.

They had presented a petition for the re-zoning several weeks ago.

Beginning at E. Commerce and Summit streets, the re-zoned land extends west 679 feet, however, builders are restricted by council members not to put a structure to within 200 feet of the west line and 170 feet of the east line.

They must have 60 homes built and occupied before work on the big shopping center can begin. So far, that quota has almost been reached, Dunitz said.

15 Attend Bridal Couple in Rochester Nuptials

ROCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Delano Gunnarson, who spoke wedding vows recently in the St. John Lutheran Church, are making their home at 385 Second St., Pontiac.

The bride is the former Inadel Mildred Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, 2064 Grace, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunnarson of Kennedy, Minn.

His grandfather was minister marrying the bride's parents 33 years ago in Bronson, near Kennedy, Minn.

A gown of Empire style was worn by the bride for her wedding. Its bodice and sleeves were formed in Chantilly lace, and the ball train skirt in crystal. Her veil of imported illusion was held by a pillbox set with pearls and iridescents. She carried white

Sugar Sensitive to World Change

Items Like Canal Crisis Bring Price Increases, but This Time Not Much

NEW YORK — The price of sugar has been soaring in the commodity markets in the heaviest trading in years.

Why the sudden rise? The experts say it boils down largely to the fact sugar is one of the commodities which historically is sensitive to major world developments. In this case, it's the Suez crisis.

Sources close to the big domestic refiners have a reassuring word for U.S. housewives. They say that the current upsurge in sugar futures prices is likely to bring only a modest rise, if any, in prices for sugar in the corner market.

The big activity in the commodity markets has been centered for the most part in world contract sugar, the futures which are not covered by the U.S. import quotas for the domestic market.

Volume in this contract at the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange has been running at the heaviest pace since post World War II trading was resumed in 1948. Prices have been surging to the highest levels in the past three or four years.

ARDMORE, Okla. — C. C. McGee, Ardmore zookeeper, says he's quit wrestling with Bennie, a six-year-old black bear. Bennie got hungry one day and tried to eat him.

Refugees to Fly Direct to Detroit for Big Welcome

DETROIT — Detroit's Hungarian-American citizens are making plans to receive about 70 refugees from the homeland who reportedly will be flown directly here after landing at New York next week.

The Rev. Andrew Jacobs, president of the Detroit chapter of the American Hungarian Federation, said he has been informed the U.S. immigration service plans to fly the Detroit group here without the previously announced layover at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

All 5,000 Hungarian refugees allowed into this country under a special quota were to stop over at Camp Kilmer until they could be routed to communities throughout the U. S.

A reception is planned at the airport here for the Detroit group. Medical aid will be on hand to care for the sick and wounded.

Many of the refugees coming to Michigan will be met by friends and relatives. Father Jacobs estimated that 50,000 of the 1,000,000 Hungarian-American families in this country live in Michigan.

Wedlock Is Wonderful

LORETTO, Pa. (AP)—You can't tell Charles A. Long, 82, and Mrs. Mayme Thomas, 75, that marriage isn't a wonderful thing. Each have survived three previous marriages. They were married here yesterday at a ceremony attended by many friends and relatives. They had been "keeping company" two years.

Japanese shipyards will complete 1,630,000 tons this year, a peacetime record.

Truck Drivers Strike in Britain

Protest Order to Pull One-Tenth of Vehicles Out of Service

LONDON (AP)—A thousand truck drivers struck today to protest a decision taking 10 per cent of the government's industrial vehicles off the road because of the nation's fuel crisis.

The drivers are employees of the nationalized British Road Service. They haul general goods, and foodstuffs other than meat.

Several hundred meat transport workers struck briefly ago but returned to their jobs after BRS withdrew the order for their particular field.

Even before the first gas ration book was ready for issuance tomorrow, other Britons were feeling the chilling effect of the rationing order.

Automobile traffic was thinner during the rush hour. Thousands left their cars at home. Buses and trains were more crowded.

Garages were swamped by automobile owners wanting to make sure of a full tank. There was an upsurge in sales of drums and other containers.

The plan is to limit motorists to gas for an average 200 miles of driving per month and sharply reduce fuel supplies for industry and home heating. Britons began figuring how many miles they could get on their gasoline allowance, or how cold their homes might be this winter.

Most newspapers accepted the decision as necessary if unpleasant. One exception was the Communist Daily Worker which said: "Out the robbers."

2 Hurt in Cave-In DETROIT (AP)—Two men were buried when walls of a 12-foot sewer trench collapsed on them Tuesday in Dearborn Township but fellow workmen dug them out within minutes. Vito Vitallano, 45, suffered possible internal injuries. Vincenzo Francesconi, 29, was released after first aid.

Eight U.S. Presidents did not veto a single bill.

5,000-Pound Bop in Eye Brings $2,500 to Victim

LONDON (AP)—A man who was hit in the eye by $14,000 in cash the court of the appeal in December won a $2,500.20 damage verdict from a bank.

The judge agreed that he himself once laughed off a tomato flung by an angry litigant (it missed him anyway), but held that throwing money around is a more serious matter. This is especially true, he said, when a bank cashier is doing the throwing.

Harold Evans, 36-year-old employee of the London Electricity Board, testified he went to the Marylebone branch of the Midland Bank in October 1953 to pick up a payroll. He was standing quietly in front of the cashier's window when 5,000 packaged 1-pound notes hit him in the face.

Evans said the vision of his left eye was permanently impaired.

Bank cashier Anthony Taplin said he lobbed the 12½-pound bundle over the counter to save time and to avoid disturbing the loose cash he had lying there.

"I had been doing this with Evans every other week for about a year," said Taplin.

"Did he shout 'Catch?'" Lord Chief Justice Goddard asked Evans.

"No," replied the aggrieved messenger.

Counsel for the bank then reminded Lord Goddard that "an orange was thrown at a judge in the court of the appeal in December 1938" without any great to-do being made about it.

"That was no orange, that was a tomato," said Lord Goddard.

"It was thrown at me and Lord Justice Clauson and," he added reminiscently, "it hit Mr. Justice Bennett, who was passing in the corridor at the time."

Turning back to the case in hand, Lord Goddard ruled that the bank must pay Evans for his injury.

"I cannot hold," he said, "that Mr. Evans knew that every time he went into the bank they were going to throw a parcel weighing 12½ pounds at him and trust to luck that he would catch it. I think that is perfectly absurd."

"This money was certainly being paid out in an unorthodox manner. It would be absurd to say it was being done to save time."

Dogs and Cats Get Better

Good Food at Right Price Is Chief Need of Aging

LANSING — Canned dogfood, catfood, beef stew, fish and spaghetti were used as exhibits yesterday in a public hearing on problems of the aged.

Dr. Hugh Robins, director of the Calhoun County Health Department, walked into a meeting of the legislative advisory council on problems of the aged with a sackful of canned goods.

When it came his turn to testify, he unloaded the groceries on a table surrounded by startled committee members and made this comment:

"We do more research in developing nutritious dog and cat food than we do in finding good food that can be bought cheaply by oldsters."

"This cat food sells two cans for 25 cents, yet it has far more food value than this can of fish that cost 21 cents."

The dog food, he said, was cheaper and yet far more nutritious than the beef stew.

Robins said he wasn't proposing a canned ration designed especially for old folks. But he said too many oldsters are eating great quantities of cheap, high carbohydrate food in an attempt to stay within their budgets.

And one of their favorites is canned spaghetti—high in carbohydrates and low in food value.

"I don't know anyone who got a balanced ration for humans into a single can except the Army," Robins said.

"We see the meat institute trying to get people to eat meat, dairy institutes trying to get people to drink milk and so on.

"Somebody," he said, "ought to try to put the nutritional needs into a package cheap enough for oldsters to buy."

In the meantime, he added, scientists are coming more and more to the conclusion that "we are the product of what we eat."

And they have found that some of the most common ailments of oldsters—notably hardening of the arteries—are closely associated with diet.

May Put Teenagers on Youth Commission

ALBANY, N.Y. — State Sen. Thomas C. Desmond says there should be youths on the New York State Youth Commission.

He said adults had a tendency to deal with problems of youths without consulting them.

He said he would introduce a bill in the 1957 State Legislature that would provide for a boy and girl, each between 16 and 19, as nonvoting members of the commission.

The commission is charged with prevention of juvenile delinquency and administering state aid to local governments that operate youth facilities.

Soon to Unveil Murals of Ike in Abilene

ABILENE, Kan. — A series of murals depicting the life of President Eisenhower will be unveiled in Abilene, his boyhood home, Saturday.

Sam R. Heller, president of the Eisenhower Foundation, said it was doubtful, because of international affairs, that the President will be able to accept an invitation to attend.

The murals were the gift of the National Academy of Design which selected Louise Bouche of New York and Ross Moffett of Provincetown, Mass., to do the work.

The scenes were done on canvases, then cemented to the walls.

U.S. May Double Number of Refugees

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U. S. may double the number of Hungarian refugees being admitted to this country in the near future.

State Department sources stated that the department is considering the admission of about 10,000 Hungarians.

They said the number to be admitted depends on how many visas can be issued before the refugee relief act of 1953 dies on Dec. 31. One source estimated that between 13,000 and 14,000 escape visas are available for eligible persons in Germany and Austria.

Tax Law Convictions Reach Record Level

WASHINGTON—The Justice Department's Tax Division reports that a record 45 persons were convicted of criminal violation of the Internal Revenue laws during the first six months of 1956 compared with 389 in the first half of 1955 and 305 in the like period of 1954.

Hearings Slated on Foreign Aid

Group to Re-examine Present U.S. Policies in Closed Sessions

WASHINGTON — The House Foreign Affairs Committee said today it is calling seven witnesses next week for a second round of hearings in its re-examination of U.S. foreign aid policies.

The closed-door sessions set for Monday through Wednesday are the first to be held by the committee since a series of recent international events which are expected to influence the new Congress' attitude toward the multi-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

Witnesses called for Monday are Paul H. Nitze, president of the Foreign Service Educational Foundation, who formerly held several Defense and State Department posts; and retired Air Force Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, who has also been an executive of aircraft and missile manufacturing companies.

Called for Tuesday were: Chester Bowles, former ambassador to India; Dr. Norman S. Buchanan, director for social sciences, Rockefeller Foundation; and Dr. Emilio G. Collado, treasurer, Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Called for Wednesday were: Dr. Roy Blough, professor of international business at Columbia University; and Dr. Cornelius W. Dekewiet, president of the University of Rochester, New York.

Chairman Richards (D-S.C.) who is retiring from Congress at the end of this year, will preside at the hearings.

Drawer Reflex Good

Hollywood Headlines

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Julie Wilson, her remarkable figure encased in a $2,000 beaded gown, has finally made it to the movies.

The gorgeous chanteuse is filming her first Hollywood picture, "This Could Be the Night."

It's a wonder she hasn't made it before now. For over a decade, her beauty and sultry style have made her a hit on the night club circuit. But the movies strangely passed her by.

"I had just about given up hope," she remarked. "I figured maybe I wasn't right for movies."

What a silly notion. She can sing and she has a lovely face plus a figure that would have been likened to an hourglass in another era. "I'm just under 5 feet 7 and generally weigh 125 pounds," she explained. "People seem to like me this way — sort of filled out. They think it makes me more appealing."

The padded look comes naturally to her, since she's a corn-fed gal from Omaha. She got her first professional chance at 16 — a role in "Knickerbocker Holiday." Then she took off with a touring company of Earl Carroll's Vanities.

She made a stab at modeling, applying for work with John Powers. "But when they took some pictures of me, I took one look at my hips and decided modeling wasn't for me," she said.

Next came the chorus at the Copacabana. She likes to recall that Paul Douglas was appearing there as straight man for Bert Wheeler. She and Douglas are appearing together in "This Could Be the Night."

Julie made a hit as a saloon singer and has been a big draw in clubs from here to London. To further her dramatic career, she has been a replacement for Joan Diener in "Kismet" and Janis Paige in "Pajama Game" on Broadway. These roles helped bring her film debut.

Julie is wearing her own wardrobe in the picture, and what a wardrobe it is! Take that black gown she was zipped into. It has thousands of tiny beads sewn on by hand at a cost of two gees. She has five of the beaded jobs and figures they're worth it.

"This kind of gown has become a trademark with me," she said. "When I come out on a night club floor, the women appreciate what this gown is."

Gruenther Returns, Bids Europe Good-by

PARIS — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther has said goodbye to the Europe he has known as Allied commander in chief and flew home to the United States.

Gruenther will pause in Ottawa for a farewell visit to the Canadians and then will fly to Washington where he is scheduled to land Friday.

At the airport to see Gruenther off was U.S. Air Force Gen. Lauris Norstad, who officially took over from Gruenther yesterday as supreme commander Allied powers Europe.

Columbia is the only South American country with ports on the Atlantic and Pacific.

Won't Let Egypt Become 'Pawn'

Nasser Vows Nation Will Stay Free, Shun All Foreign 'isms'

CAIRO — President Nasser vowed today he never will become the pawn of any power. He said Egypt is determined to maintain both political and ideological independence.

"I vow I will not become the stogie or satellite or pawn or hiroge of anybody," Nasser said in a statement.

Egypt will remain free of all foreign ideologies "such as Marxism, fascism, racism, colonialism, imperialism and atheism, all of which incidentally are European in origin," he wrote.

Nasser pledged himself to international cooperation and proposed expanding the scope of international law to meet the needs of "the complex modern world."

Denying he is trying to create an Arab empire or trying to dominate such an empire, Nasser said:

"The concept of Arab imperialism is foreign fiction or foreign propaganda."

He reiterated his government intends to improve the economic and social conditions of its people but said the task is hindered "till certain highly inflammable problems are solved."

Parallel to his emphasis on national independence, Nasser stressed a need for international cooperation.

"I pledge myself to strict observance of all international law that I desire expansion of international law to meet the needs of the complex modern world," he said.

Nasser named as his government's basic objective "a radical improvement in the economic and social condition of the Egyptian people as a free and independent nation."

"I call upon all governments of the world and upon every man and woman of good-will to join in a serious effort to achieve just and honorable solutions of these problems," he said.

First Day in America Is True Thanksgiving for Hungarian Refugees

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

CAMP KILMER, N.J. (INS)—Today was truly a day of thanksgiving for the first group of 60 Hungarian refugees flown to America after having escaped from their plighted and plundered homeland. They gratefully accepted the warm hospitality of Camp Kilmer, where they are quartered pending the time when they will leave for the homes of their sponsors in various parts of the country.

Some of them left for New York to visit friends but the large majority—somewhat bewildered but happy—remained here at "Camp Mercy" to enjoy TV, the radio, free reading material and eat a hearty Thanksgiving dinner of roast turkey, cranberry sauce and all the trimmings.

Mrs. Imre Hercules of Gyor, Hungary, who is now safe in America with her husband, her 13-year-old daughter and her crippled 16-year-old son, best expressed the feelings of the escapees.

She said this group of 60—the vanguard of some 5,000 yet to come to the U.S.—are "overwhelmed by the goodness of you Americans."

They were amazed, she said, as they were transported by bus from McGuire Air Force Base, where they landed, over the beautiful countryside of New Jersey to Camp Kilmer to see the pretty, well-kept homes, the lovely landscape and the many shiny automobiles.

She and the others were impressed particularly by seeing that the people in America are "so free." "Everywhere she saw people talking freely among themselves. 'And now,' she exclaimed, 'we are free.'"

NEWSMEN MEET REFUGEES

Into a big auditorium at Camp Kilmer last night, a half dozen of the refugees were brought before newsmen for interviews.

It was a pathetic sight to see Miksa Kamini of Czorna, Hungary, give a halting interview before 150 reporters as his wife, Madalena, his daughter, Judith, 8, and his six-month-old son, Robert, sat by his side and just listened.

The baby, sitting on his mother's lap, cried as photographers shot pictures. Mrs. Kamini was attired in a frayed cloth coat. Judith was dressed in boys pants, and papa Kamini wore an old leather jacket and rubbers.

Through a military interpreter, Kamini said he had seen none of the fighting in Hungary, but that when he heard people were being deported to Soviet Russia he decided to flee with his family.

Josef Mate, 34, a Jesuit student, said that for five years he had been in a concentration camp. At the height of the revolt, he slipped out of Hungary and made his way to Vienna.

* * *

He now plans to spend several days in New York visiting the Rev. Andrew Varga, professor of ethics at Fordham University's school of business, before going to the Jesuit Seminary in Woodstock, Md., to complete his studies for the priesthood. Twenty-four of the refugees who were sponsored by United Hias (Hebrew service), planned to visit friends on Thanksgiving Day in and near New York City.

Other organizations aiding the escapees include the National Catholic Welfare Conference, the Church World Service and the Lutheran Refugee Service. It has not yet been announced where the 60 refugees are to be transported for resettlement at homes provided by their sponsors. Another plane load of refugees was reported due to arrive in New Jersey tonight. Other plane loads will follow on successive days for sometime until several thousand have arrived in America.

NEW YORK (U) — Christmas is coming early for some lucky stockholders.

A cheery flow of year-end and extra dividend payments has started from the board rooms where directors of a sizable number of corporations are tallying up the year's business and the prospects for 1957.

The tide is expected to increase after Thanksgiving. Many directors like to wait until they have a good idea of the entire year's record before handing out largesse to the shareholders—and some boards wait until January.

Many boards are finding plenty for which to be thankful tomorrow. In just three days directors have declared dividends on 189 issues of stocks. Ten voted year end payments and 16 voted extra dividends. In 11 other cases, without mentioning the approaching year season, they increased the payment above that previously paid. Holders of five other stock issues got special dividends. And one corporation resumed quarterly dividend payments on common stock after a lapse of 25 years.

Not all stockholders are as happy. Two companies reduced their dividends, in line with the pinch on their profits this year for one cause or another. And one big company sending out year end dividend checks isn't making them as fast this year as last.

But for a lot of stockholders the year end generosity of directors puts an icing on a year that has been very tasty.

The Commerce Department reports that in the first 10 months of the year cash dividend payments by American corporations came to $4 billion dollars, which is about one billion more than was paid in the same period in 1955, or an increase of 13 per cent.

It has also been a good year for stock splits, which most stockholders find pleasant, and for stock dividends, nine of the latter having been declared in the last three days.

Estimate $100 Loss in Theft From Auto

About $100 worth of clothing was reported stolen from an unlocked auto parked yesterday at Water and Perry streets, Pontiac police said.

The Victim, Mrs. Bernice Metzger, of 43 Gateway Rd. said two dresses, a woman's raincoat, four pairs of men's trousers and a man's sweater were taken.

A standard barrel as required by the U. S. must have a total capacity of not less than 7,056 cubic inches.

'I Thought They Wouldn't Find Me,' Says Youth Lost Five Days in Wilds

MUNISING (U) — For 14-year-old Earl Harmon, the worst of it was the five freezing nights—even above facing a bear at 20 feet with a puny shotgun and being scared.

Earl is still recovering in a Munising hospital from the frost-bitten hands and feet he suffered while being lost in Upper Michigan woods for five days, until carried out on a stretcher by a searching party Tuesday.

* * *

This is story he tells: On Thursday, opening day of the deer hunting season, Earl entered the woods near Newberry at the Seney waterfowl project with his 16-year-old uncle, Ralph Harmon.

He and Ralph became separated and later Earl found himself face to face with a 150-pound black bear. Armed with only a 20 gauge shotgun loaded with slugs, Earl fired into the bear's stomach.

The animal turned around and ran into the woods. From then on it was a case for Earl of trying to find his way out.

WALK BY DAY
The best he could do was to walk by day and sleep fitfully by night under pine trees or in old logs. He says frankly from his hospital bed that he didn't think he'd ever be found.

"I wanted to cry once, I was so scared," Earl said. "But I was so frozen I couldn't cry."

On frostbitten feet, he kept trying to find his way through the near frozen swamp.

"I fell all the time," he said. "I kept stumbling and falling. Then I couldn't get up. I'd have to wait a minute everytime I fell."

Argus Cameras Go to Sylvania Electric

ANN ARBOR (U) — Argus Cameras Inc. of Ann Arbor will become the property of Sylvania Electric Products Inc. on Jan. 2, 1957. The move was approved by Argus stockholders yesterday.

One share of Sylvania common stock will be exchanged for each 2.1 shares of Argus common.

In a vote, company officials said, 87.5 per cent or 353,331 Argus shares voted for the proposal. They said 10,874 shares or 2.4 per cent of the outstanding stock voted against the measure.

before I could get up again."

When he was found, caked mud and ice covered much of his clothing. His two pairs of dungarees and two pairs of socks had frozen together.

For his young uncle, Ralph, it was no easier. Both boys wore rubber boots, but both had frozen feet because water seeped inside when they fell.

Ralph tells of laying down at night to sleep and waking the next morning covered with snow.

Earl said when he first saw the coast guard helicopter he waved, from a kneeling position because he could no longer get to his feet. The radio dispatched searching party included his father and says Earl: "When my dad came up to me, boy was I glad."

Footnote to the whole episode is certainly not what would be expected. Earl, a Lansing youth, is feeling so much better, he's talking about going out with his mother and father on a hunting trip as soon as he's out of the hospital.

Ralph who came out of the woods Sunday, is off again today on another hunting trip into the woods of Upper Michigan.

To Press Charges for Shooting Wife

Charges will be pressed tomorrow, Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long said, against Herbert B. Montgomery, 52, of 475 Arthur St., who police claim admitted accidentally shooting his wife of one month last Oct. 29.

Montgomery, brought back from Louisiana where police say he fled after fatally wounding Elizabeth Montgomery, 37, during a tussle for a .32 caliber revolver, has been held without benefit of bond in Oakland County Jail.

Long said several statements have been taken. In them, Long said, Montgomery claims he quarreled with his wife because he was leaving her. The shooting took place at their home, where the woman's body was discovered Nov. 1.

Dwyer C. Sump, executive director for two years of the Oakland County Townships United Fund, has been named to a similar position with the Greater Muskegon Community Chest.

Sump, of 1821 Ardmore Ave., Royal Oak, also has been director of the North Macomb County United Fund. He has coordinated drives in 15 townships and been in charge of county-wide budgeting.

Sump formerly was director of the Highland Park Community Center. A graduate of Wayne State University, he holds a master's degree from the school of social work there.

He plans to take over the new post Dec. 1.
