Board OKs Bid for Bridge Bonds

Syndicate Offer of $95,858,000 Accepted by All

Approval of Mackinac Securities Sale Comes After GOP Caucus

LANSING (AP)—The State Administrative Board today unanimously approved a bid for revenue bonds to construct the long-sought Straits of Mackinac Bridge, subject to Supreme Court review.

The bid, submitted by a syndicate of New York and Chicago investment houses, was for $95,858,000 on the $99,800,000 revenue bond issue—$50,000 more than the minimum bid allowed by the state.

Acceptance of the bid by the board came after an unprecedented Republican "caucus" which interrupted the board meeting.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, who had vigorously attacked the financing plan Tuesday, interrupted the meeting by saying:

"Last Tuesday, the Democratic governor (Gov. Williams) and the former Democratic senator (Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority) referred to this as a Republican convention. I would like to ask a five-minute recess for a Republican caucus."

Williams, startled, replied, "That is somewhat unusual but I suppose it could be done. Rather than treat it in such a way, I will accept a motion to recess."

The seven Republican members left the room, returned in 10 minutes and voted unanimously for the bridge bonds without comment from any of them.

Now the 20-year-old dream of a span linking the Upper and Lower Peninsulas needs only State Supreme Court approval to become a

Ike Order Assures Express Deliveries

Delivery of Christmas packages by Pontiac's Railway Express Agency office was assured yesterday by an executive order which automotically postponed spread of a strike for 60 days.

President Eisenhower ordered a three-man mediation board to study the issues which, under Railway Labor Law, means an automatic 60-day delay in strike proceedings.

The 57-day-old strike in Detroit hit Pontiac and Birmingham yesterday when members of Detroit Local, 2057, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, AFL, picketed the branch office.

Deliveries were halted for the day when local employes refused to cross the picket line although they themselves weren't on strike.

Firemen Taken From Fallen Building

Arson Is Suspected

Two Die as Burning Hotel Falls in Chicago Skid Row

United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — A predawn fire, possibly set by an arsonist, collapsed a skid row hotel today and firemen dug through smoking debris in a fight to save their trapped buddies.

At least one fireman and one resident of the three-story brick building were killed. Eighteen persons, 17 of them firemen, were injured and taken to hospitals.

Nine firemen were dug from the charred ruins alive. The Rev. William Gorman, fire department chaplain, estimated that four or five remained inside. At least some of these were alive, for their voices could be heard.

The hotel resident who was killed was identified as John Tybor, recently released from Manteno State Hospital for mental cases. A confused and wandering note found on his body said he had set other fires.

An estimated 40 persons fled into the street in sub-zero temperature when the fire broke out. Firemen brought the blaze under control and were pulling in their fire hoses when three walls of the dilapidated building collapsed with a roaring crash.

Crippled B29 Kills 17, Hurts 14

Bomber Plunges Into Homes of Air Force Families on Island

GUAM (UP) — A homeward-bound B29 Superfort, forced to turn back by engine trouble, plunged into a military housing area and exploded today, killing 17 persons and injuring 14.

The big bomber dropped out of a stormy sky just short of its goal and smashed a fiery 800-foot path through the Quonset homes of U. S. Air Force families.

The dead—3 crewmen, 5 military passengers, 6 children, 2 women and 1 Air Force officer.

The injured — 14 persons including 1 woman. The Air Force said two of the injured are in critical condition. No names were announced.

Seven crewmen and one passenger were rescued from the blazing wreckage.

No names were announced.

Only minutes before the crash the Superfort took off from Anderson Air Force Base here en route to the United States on a routine rotation flight. It carried a crew of 10 and 6 military passengers.

Fifty miles out, the pilot radioed that the plane had developed engine trouble and he was turning back. It made one approach to the field but did not land. On the second approach it faltered just short of the runway and ripped into the housing area.

The crash occurred during a howling storm which forced the Navy and Air Force to suspend temporarily the search for a big Navy weather plane which vanished about 300 miles north of Guam yesterday.

Soviet Reports Beria Admitted Plotting Treason

Ex-Secret Police Boss and Six Key Associates Will Be Tried

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government announced today that Lavrenty P. Beria has confessed to plotting against the state and will go on trial with six key members of the police network he headed for 15 years.

The official announcement, published in the government newspaper Izvestia, said the Soviet state prosecutor had completed his case against Beria, Premier Georgi Malenkov's top deputy until his arrest June 26.

Moscow radio said the seven men would be tried at a special sitting of the Soviet Supreme Court. It did not say when.

The government announcement said Beria and his associates aimed at using "the organs of the Ministry of Internal Affairs . . . against the Communist party and the government of the U.S.S.R. in the interests of foreign capital . . . to grab power and to liquidate the Soviet worker-peasant regime with a view to restoring capitalism and securing the domination of the bourgeoisie middle class."

Beria, who headed the nation's police activities from 1938 until his arrest, was first deputy prime minister and minister of internal affairs under Malenkov. The internal affairs post controls police, intelligence and related work.

The statement said Beria and his associates "admitted their guilt of having committed a number of the most serious state crimes."

It declared that the former police boss had been committed for trial on charges of high treason, organizing an anti-Soviet plot and counter-revolutionary work.

Similar charges were listed against the six other defendants, identified as:

V. N. Merkulov, former minister of state security and long Beria's deputy.

V. G. Dekanozov and S. A. Goglodze, both former ministers of internal affairs in Georgia, the na-

Teamsters Sign Election Petition

Union Members Seek Right to Oust Officers, Choose Their Own

An attorney representing insurgents of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 said today that three-fifths of the AFL local's members have signed petitions demanding an immediate union election.

Attorney Louis W. Snyder of Pontiac said the demands will be sent directly to heads of the Teamsters International and the AFL after a membership meeting at 3 p. m. Sunday.

"The petitions, signed by 1,500 of the local's 2,500 members, demand termination of the local's trusteeship, ouster of officers and a free election," said Snyder.

The union local was placed under trusteeship in October after two of its officers, Daniel J. Keating, president, and Louis C. Linteau, secretary-treasurer, were indicted on extortion and conspiracy charges. The order automatically suspended all of the local's officers.

Snyder said Sunday's meeting in Chieftain Hall, 1782 Pontiac Dr., will include a final report on the petitions and a report on Buffalo Teamsters Local 375 where insurgents swept four of five incumbents out of office recently.

The attorney said a letter demanding the election will be sent, along with the petitions, Monday to Teamsters International President Dave Beck. A copy of the letter will be forwarded to George Meany, president of the AFL, he added.

Chances 50-50 for Having White Yuletide This Year

By PATRICIA A. WOOD

Cross your fingers and wax your skis, folks, we might have a White Christmas this year.

At least it looks like a 50-50 proposition.

Of the last 10 Christmases, five have been white—a couple so very white that the city spent all day digging out.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit, with no exact forecast to go by, was a bit cautious about nailing down Pontiac's chances for a snowy Yule this year.

It did say this: The amount of rainfall or snowfall for December is expected to average above normal. On the other hand, temperatures are expected to be higher than usual, too—So it could be a wet Christmas.

For those who would like to calculate the chances for snow this year from past performance, here's the rundown on the last 10 Dec. 25's:

In 1943, just a trace of snow fell, not enough to cover the ground.

Next year, in 1944, householders had to "dig out" so Christmas callers could get to their front doors. Snow lay 5½ inches deep on the ground, 2 inches falling on Christmas Day.

The city wore white for the next two Christmases, too, with about an inch and a half of snow covering the earth in 1945 and 1946.

Youngsters grabbed sleds from under Christmas trees and tried them out right away Dec. 25, 1947, when 2½ inches of snow made good sliding on lawns and walks.

In 1948, Pontiac stayed bare—no snow. The next year brought disappointment to lovers of white Christmases — almost an inch of snow fell the day before Christmas but melted away. Christmas Day temperatures reached 43 degrees.

As Dec. 25, 1950, went by with no snow, people began to wonder what the weatheman was saving it for.

In 1951 they found out.

Pontac found itself buried under 13 inches of snow that Christmas Day, 6 inches falling Dec. 25. Householders left their celebrating to struggle with the drifts that blocked sidewalks, driveways and even streets.

But last Christmas, Santa's sleigh runners scraped on bare ground again.

That's the record—five and five. Let's play it safe this year.

Expect Warmer Weather Friday

Foresee Low of 5 to 10 Tonight; Was 8 Above at 7:30 Today

Slightly warmer weather is forecast for the Pontiac area Friday after another night of near-zero temperatures.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts mostly clear and colder weather tonight, with a low of 5 to 10 degrees. Friday should be mostly fair and not quite so cold, the bureau said, with a high of 22 to 26 degrees.

Early-rising Pontiac residents shuddered in 8-above-zero cold today as thermometers sank to as low a temperature as they reached all last winter and set a new low for this fall.

Wednesday's low, formerly the lowest of the season, was 11 degrees, recorded a few hours before thermometers reached the day's high of 21 degrees.

The mercury stood at about 18 degrees at sundown Wednesday, falling steadily through the night and early morning to 9 degrees at 7 a.m., and 8 at 7:30 today. Temperatures then started rising, reaching 9 degrees at 8 a.m. and 23 at 2 p.m. in downtown Pontiac.

Freakish Storm Hop-Scotches in Lake Region

Some West Michigan Communities Buried; Others Touched Lightly

SOUTH HAVEN (AP)—Twenty-four inches of snow nearly paralyzed this southwestern Michigan community and Dowagiac today in the biggest snowfall of the season.

The freakish storm, hop-scotching cities near the shores of Lake Michigan, struck along a 115-mile line from Hart, 30 miles north of Muskegon, to Dowagiac, 23 miles southeast of Benton Harbor.

At least 18 inches of snow were reported at Hart and Shelby in Oceana County. Yet at Muskegon—near the middle of the storm belt—only 6 inches fell.

The Michigan State Police Post reported snow was still falling in South Haven at noon. Traffic was at a standstill. Many cars were abandoned.

Dowagiac Police said it was not snowing in their community in Cass County.

The freakish storm left only 6 inches of snow at Paw Paw and Glenn, the latter only eight miles north of South Haven on the Lake Michigan coastline. At Bangor, 10 miles southeast of South Haven, about 5 inches fell.

At Dowagiac, about 23 miles southeast of Bangor in Van Buren County, the community was left knee-deep in 24 inches of snow.

Automobiles with chains were moving on main highways, but country roads near South Haven were impassable.

The storm reached a paralyzing effect last night when north-bound traffic on US 31—A heavy artery along Lake Michigan—was clogged with snow and traffic lined up for four miles.

Northbound traffic on US 31 was stopped at the twin cities of Benton Harbor-St. Joseph for four hours until snow plows could clear the highway.

The storm was felt from Glenn, about 15 miles north of South Haven, southward to New Buffalo near the Michigan-Indiana line—a distance of nearly 80 miles.

Hartford, a community 12 miles southeast of South Haven, reported 12 inches of snow. Further south at Niles, 6 inches had fallen. Only about 2 inches were reported at Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

Many schools were reported closed in the South Haven area. School buses were unable to move on rural roads.

State police at South Haven said one of their cars helped a doctor make a trip to a patient's home.

Snow flurries were reported along the Lake Michigan shoreline, extending to the Upper Peninsula. Zero temperatures accompanied snow flurries along the Lake Superior coastline.

At Kinross, a community near Sault Ste. Marie, it was 2 below zero. The coldest spot in Lower Michigan today was 4 above zero at Cadillac—known as "the icebox of Michigan."

50th Birthday of Aviation Celebrated at Kitty Hawk

KITTY HAWK, N. C. (AP)—Aviation celebrated its golden anniversary throughout the world today—but especially here at the place of its birth.

Old friends of the Wright brothers, early-day flying students, relatives, Carolina natives who knew the inventors, notables of the aviation fraternity, gathered around.

Their one purpose: to pay tribute to Orville and Wilbur Wright, the glider-minded bicycle makers from Dayton, Ohio, who came to Kitty Hawk in quest of good and steady winds.

In the nation's capital, aviation scientists gathered to hear pioneer airplane builder Glenn L. Martin deliver the annual Wright Lecture. Also in Washington, tonight, President Eisenhower will join 1,200 men and women in honoring the Wright memory at a banquet.

The National Committee for the 50th Anniversary of Powered Flight said about 1,000 Wright Day luncheons and dinners are being held around the globe.

For Kitty Hawk, a shrine to airmen, the armed services joined in what was planned as the mightiest air show ever staged in memory of the inventors of air power.

Schoolchildren, parents, travelers from far places visited the 60-foot granite Wright monument which looks out over miles of Atlantic seacoast from sandy-smooth Kill Devil Hill.

And at the base of the hill, at the spot where the brothers made their famous first flight on another Thursday exactly half a century ago, a flimsy-looking kitelike biplane—built in 1914—waited to re-enact a bit of history.

Aviation pioneer W. D. (Billy) Parker, in cap and goggles, proposed, wind permitting to fly his plane over the same 120 feet of sand across which the Wright Flyer had flown.

Hall Only Regrets Failure, Not Boy's Brutal Murder

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Carl Austin Hall's last day of life today was filled with regret—not regret that he kidnaped and killed little Bobby Greenlease, but that his wild gamble for quick riches soured in a drunken spending spree.

A few cells away from him in death row his paramour, Bonnie Brown Heady, was sorry, too—sorry that the illicit love affair with wild-spending Carl was broken up in a shocking crime.

The killers die tonight in the gas chamber a few minutes after midnight. They have been pictured as sorry they snuffed out the life of 6-year-old Bobby a few hours after his kidnaping Sept. 28.

Both have written to the multi-millionaire Greenlease family in Kansas City asking forgiveness. And both have asked for spiritual counsel in their final hours tonight.

But it was learned from officials who have talked with Hall since he entered prison Nov. 20 that his sorrow is not over the slaying he and Mrs. Heady plotted the day before the kidnaping.

In his distorted mind, the officials say, Hall is sorry only that his plans for quick and easy wealth crashed in the binge that led to his arrest. He hadn't planned it that way when he started thinking about a kidnaping months ago in the same prison where he dies.

The 34-year-old Hall has been quoted as saying that he planned to kill Mrs. Heady, 41, next and that he had vowed never to be taken alive. Now Hall says his prolonged spree made him too

Birmingham Commission Decides Revision of Law Will Solve Parking Issue

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners decided last night that a revision of the proposed off-street parking ordinance will solve the parking problem in the northwest quadrant of the city by allowing the owners of land there to run paid parking lots.

Monday the Commission revealed that officials of the Wabeek Corp. and Jacobsons Inc. had offered to share with the city profits of a 600-car metered lot immediately north of the First Baptist Church.

The Wabeek-Jacobson sponsoring group will also operate a lot on the east side of Bates with entrances from Willard and Willets.

Commissioner Vincent Watkins asked C. J. Huddleston of the Wabeek Corp., "Why don't you operate the land north of the church too, since it has been shown that the parking there would be a lucrative project."

Huddleston replied they would be glad to, that they had asked the city to join them to avoid the criticism that they were trying to solve only their own parking problem, and also they felt the city had some responsibility to provide parking."

Huddleston revealed that National Garages of Detroit has approached the Wabeek-Jacobson group to discuss running the present Wabeek lot.

In the recent offer to the Commission, Wabeek officials indicated their present lot will soon be changed to paid parking with some reserve spaces for tenants.

State Board OKs Bridge Bonds Bid

reality. If it materializes, the bridge would be in operation in the fall of 1957 under present schedules.

Brown told the board he welcomed the Supreme Court test filed yesterday by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson). He said it would enhance the bonds' value with buyers if the court upholds the financing plan.

The authority today gave final approval to a $44,532,900 construction contract for the bridge to the American Bridge Co. and a $25,735,600 contract to the firm of Merritt-Chapman and Scott for the bridge foundations.

Brown said both contracts are firm commitments except that the state agrees to pay additionally for any steel not included in the engineers' estimates. He put this at not more than $2,000,000.

The successful and only bid submitted was from a syndicate composed of Allen & Co., New York investment house; Union Securities Corp. of New York; A. C. Allyn & Co., Chicago brokerage concern, and Stifel, Nicalus, Inc., Chicago investment house.

The bid was $50,000 in excess of the minimum bid required by the bond notice.

It allows the syndicate a commission of $3,942,000 on the issue if the bonds are sold at par to private investors.

Freed temporarily of a Supreme Court obstacle, the administrative board was expected to approve the bid.

The Michigan Supreme Court, late yesterday, refused to order the board to withhold its approval, but said it would hear arguments later on the constitutionality of the bridge financing plan.

Ruling on a petition filed by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), the Supreme Court said the issues were too weighty to be decided without a full hearing.

Increased engine output, design revisions that accentuate low lines and re-styled interiors mark the 1954 model Chevrolets that go on dealer display tomorrow.

Chevrolet has announced there will be no change in the factory price of 1954 models, but dealers have been authorized to add $10 to their handling and delivery charge.

Power brakes are being made optional in Chevrolet's lower priced models and automatic transmissions are extended to all models as optional equipment.

For 1954 Chevrolet is producing three series, the "one-fifty," the "two-ten," and the Bel Air. In the Bel Air series, which Chevrolet brought out as a luxury liner a year ago, an eight passenger station wagon has been added. This brings to five the number of Bel Air body types.

For models with standard gear shifts Chevrolet offers a 115-horsepower engine. Those with automatic shift will have a 125-horsepower engine.

To present a longer, more rugged appearance, exterior changes have been made, including front bumper curved farther around the fender. Grille, bumper guards, parking lamps and hood ornaments also have been designed to emphsize the lower effect.

Chevrolet announces 14 solid exterior colors and 13 two-tone combinations. The latter include an unusual ivory and turquoise and a beige and tan.

A modification in the Powerglide transmission designed to improve high speed acceleration also is announced.

Electric front seat and window lifts also are announced as optional items, the first time these have been made available in the low price field.

Another feature is a redesigned and larger muffler. It is said to improve silencing and reduce back pressure to further increase engine efficiency.

Patrolman Resigns Birmingham Force

BIRMINGHAM—Patrolman Lyle J. Serre has resigned to take employment in California, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley has announced.

Serre, who joined the department in May, 1948, lived at 1744 Holland. His resignation became effective Dec. 15. Replacing him as of Jan. 1 will be Robert Rowe, 28, of Lansing, who recently returned from military police duty in Europe.

Moxley added that patrolman Gerald Walker, on leave to attend Michigan State College, is back with the department until Jan. 1.

Farm Group Discusses U. N., U. S. Constitution

CASS CITY—A discussion on "United Nations Agreement and the American Constitution" was led by Rothwell McVety at a meeting of the Cass Valley Farm Bureau group Monday evening at the Frank McVety home.

A recreation period under the direction of Mrs. Mack Little followed. The group's January meeting is slated for the Gail Parrott home.

Jury Is Hung in Trial of Birmingham Man

BIRMINGHAM — Trial of Thomas P. Daniels, 22, of 31805 Telegraph Rd. on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor resulted in a hung jury yesterday.

Justice of the Peace John J. Gafill dismissed the four women and two men after the foreman said they could not reach an agreement, after 90 minutes of deliberation.

Daniels was arrested Nov. 30 by Patrolman Norman Propst and Sgt. Robert Emmett, and refused to take an intoximeter test.

A new trial has been set for Jan. 20, Judge Gafill said.

May Call Vote on Estes' Post

Governor Asks Opinion of Area Under County Redistricting

Gov. G. Mennen Williams today requested Attorney General Frank G. Millard to clarify the area involved if a special election is ordered to fill the house of representatives vacancy caused by resignation of Rep. Howard R. Estes, of Birmingham.

Williams, who still is considering whether to order a special election, said that since Estes was elected in 1952 the Oakland County Board of Supervisors has altered district boundaries in conformity with a legislative reapportionment decree.

The governor asked Millard to determine whether a special election should be held in the area encompassed by the new districting action or within the former boundaries.

Estes' resignation to accept a county hospital post was effective Wednesday.

It is understood the governor has considered calling a special election in the area for early in February. This probably would require nominating petitions to be filed before the end of December, to permit a primary vote, if needed, sometime in January.

However, officials are studying provisions of the general election laws in regard to time needed to register new voters who have moved into the district and for adequate advertisement of the proposed special election.

Two Die in Hospital as Hotel Collapses

the shadow of the fourth flame-weakened wall, dug frantically through debris, spurred by the voices of the trapped.

"I'm fine," called out Fireman Ray Nowicki through a hole in the rubble that trapped him. "Just take it easy."

His head and arms were pinned beneath the wreckage.

Rescuers dragged him out and he asked for a cigaret.

"I don't think I got any broken bones," he said.

The hotel, the Reliance at 1704 West Madison, stood in a neighborhood of decaying slums, flop houses and saloons.

Firemen, perspiring despite the bitter cold, hurled debris onto the sidewalks and into the street in their haste to save their buddies.

Most of those trapped were saved from death or serious injury by timbers which bore the brunt of the falling walls.

A 200-mile-long river, lost for almost a century in the Canadian Arctic, has been rediscovered.

tive republic of both Beria and Joseph Stalin.

P. Y. Meshik, a former minister of internal affairs in the Ukraine.

L. E. Vlodzimirsky, described as the former head of the investigation department "for particularly important affairs of the U.S.S.R. MVD (secret police)."

B. Z. Kobulov, former Soviet deputy minister of internal affairs who had previously served in a similor position in the Georgia administration.

The statement charged Beria had used his position to collect "a treacherous group of plotters hostile to the Soviet state." His own "traitorous" activities, it declared, went as far back as the Russian civil war of 1918-20 when he "had established links with foreign intelligence services . . . under the control of British intelligence organs.

"It has been established," the announcement continued, "that Beria and his accomplices carried out criminal measures in order to resuscitate remnants of bourgeoisie nationalist elements in union republics, to sow hatred and discord between the peoples of the U.S.S.R. with the Great Russian people" (the Russians themselves as distinct from other nationalities in the Soviet Union. They principally inhabit the Russian Soviet federal socialist republic, which comprises the greater part of the Czarist Russian empire).

The defendants also were accused of attempting to sabotage the country's collective farm system and of interfering with the efforts of the Communist party and government to bring about "a steady improvement of the well being of the Soviet people."

The former police chief "selected as his basic method," the statement charged, "slander, intrigues and various provocations against honest party and local government workers, who stood in the path of his intents . . . an obstacle to him in his efforts to gain power. Beria and his accomplices dealt arbitrarily with people who did not suit them, not shrinking from acts of . . . lawlessness."

The announcement was the first official word on Beria since August when the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) confirmed his ouster from the government. Meantime many rumors as to his alleged whereabouts have been heard outside the Soviet Union.

In Washington, American officials expressed surprise that the Kremlin had decided to bring the Beria case back into prominence at a time when a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting appears imminent. The timing seemed particularly unusual, they said, since Beria is charged with plotting to convert Russia into a capitalist state with the help of "imperialist" allies.

Briggs Is Sued for $6,500,000

Ex - Research Director Charges Fraud, Patent Infringement

DETROIT (UP)—A former Briggs Manufacturing Co. research man is demanding $6,500,000 damages from the company for alleged patent infringement and fraud.

Principally at issue is a socalled "unitized" car body described as of single-unit welded frame construction.

The damage action was brought in Wayne County Circuit Court yesterday by John Tjaarda, Washington, Mich., consulting engineer.

Tjaarda, who says he was director of research and development at Briggs from 1933 to 1941, charges that Briggs owes him $4,641,673.25 in royalties on the car body design.

Briggs makes car bodies for car manufacturers. Tjaarda says that since 1948 three manufacturers have sold 1,578,757 cars employing his body design. He says he has received no compensating ropalties.

The plaintiff alleged Briggs contracted with him to pay royalties if any of his inventions were "used, manufactured, or sold" by companies other than Briggs.

Tjaarda said he perfected 39 inventions, mostly dealing with car bodies, for Briggs.

Man Killed by Flint Car; Victim Unidentified

FLINT (UP)—Police sought today to identify the body of a man who was struck and killed by a car near the Flint city limits Wednesday night.

Police said the victim, about 50 years old, was carrying a wallet but it contained no identification. The driver of the car, Charles Lawrence, 17, Flint, told police he did not see the pedestrian.

Water Truck Blazes

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — The driver of a city water truck had to call the fire department to put out his blazing engine. Water from the street-cleaning truck sprays down only and he didn't have a drop to put out the fire.

Kitty Hawk Anniversary

Today is the 50th anniversary of that first flight by the Wright Brothers' pioneer biplane at Kill Devil Hills near Kitty Hawk, N. C.

There wasn't much to that first plane. It was a flimsy affair of wood, cloth and piano wire with a small gasoline motor. But on December 17, 1903, Orville Wright succeeded in getting it into the air for the first time. The flight, one of four that day, was brief but the machine did stay aloft for 59 seconds, during which it travelled 852 feet.

Orville Wright and his brother Wilbur were not the first men to fly powered heavier than air machines. That honor seems to belong to the American Professor S. R. Langley. His small model, driven by a steam engine with naphtha as fuel, made its first flight on May 6, 1896. It was flown several times with distances averaging three-fourths of a mile.

Nonetheless the really rapid development of powered flight began with the Wrights' experiments. In the half century since, aviation has contributed to a steadily progressing revolution in transport, warfare and even geography.

No one has to be told how aviation has changed our lives and shrunk the world. Only last Summer a single jet plane spanned the North Atlantic both ways in one day. A transcontinental flight can be made in a few hours.

A few days ago a woman passenger completed a round the world trip in commercial planes in a little more than 90 hours and the era of supersonic air speeds has dawned.

Cynics might argue that the Wright Brothers' gift to humanity was not an unmixed blessing. True, aviation plus A and H bombs in the wrong hands could destroy civilization.

Yet there is little doubt that these Dayton, Ohio, brothers helped give the world a magnificent means of increasing human mobility, shortening travel time and greatly increasing international understanding.

Bank's Musical Program

One of the most appealing and enjoyable features of this city's Yuletide is a musical program arranged by Pontiac State Bank.

This is the eighth year in which that institution, with the aid of public and parochial school singers, has mixed music with the joyous rush and bustle of the pre-Christmas period.

The program was inaugurated Monday noon when the Lincoln Junior High School Girls Glee Club sang Christmas carols. Similar concerts will be given every week day noon hour until Christmas, and on Friday evening.

Besides Mrs. S. M. Dudley, who is presiding at the organ, members and directors of eight public and two parochial school vocal groups are contributing to the program.

We congratulate the bank and the musicians for collaborating in a very pleasant custom which has become a fine traditional feature of Pontiac's Christmas season.

Let Them Pay Their Own

Reported decision of the U. N. Assembly's budgetary committee to pay the income taxes of American employes is all wrong.

According to this report the committee will pay $1,800,000 for U. N. employes' Federal and New York State income taxes. This payment will meet U. S. levies of $1,640,000 on $9,600,000 salaries and allowances and State levies of $160,000.

For the vast majority of Americans who have to pay their own taxes, let it be remembered that Congress rightly never exempted these employes from this obligation. Let it be remembered also that while this money will go into our Treasury, it comes from the pockets of U. S. taxpayers and all other U. N. member countries.

On this ground the Russians objected to the committee's decision. In this case we agree with the Russians.

Unfair to Admirals

Admiral Nimitz has discovered how an old statute discriminates against top men of our sea forces.

The retired commander of our Pacific fleet in World War II has learned that he can't draw his Navy pay if he accepts a job as technical adviser to a firm selling war materials to Uncle Sam.

No existing law interferes with the retirement pay of five star Generals Douglas MacArthur and Omar Bradley. MacArthur is with Remington-Rand and Bradley with Bulova Research, both of which sell to the Government.

But the old statute specifically bars payment of service salaries to naval and marine corps officers if they accept similar employment.

This is downright discrimination against these two services. If it's all right for a five star general to draw both private and service pay, why not a five star admiral?

Congress should take early action to erase this legal inconsistency.

Parental worry: Keeping the children in clothes and out of automobiles.

Author of the Pulitzer prize winning novel, "The Yearling," and many other best sellers,

Marjorie Kennan Rawlings

who died this week in Florida, came from Oakland County stock. She was the granddaughter of the late

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Traphagen

of Holly Township. Besides her novels, she also wrote much of the script in connection with the Lassie dog movies. Many of her stories were founded on incidents in the Oakland County area where she spent much of her childhood. She was 57 years old and known as Florida's foremost novelist. She owned an orange grove at Cross Creek in that state, and is survived by her husband and a daughter.

The recent snow fall was not so heavy, but it was enough to make a prominent Pontiac professional man remark that it is difficult to be satisfied with your walk in life when you have to shovel it yourself.

Local ski enthusiasts will soon have a power tow line nearer home. It will be at the Bald Mountain Recreational area in Orion Township, less than 12 miles from Pontiac. According to it is being moved here from the northern peninsula and should be in operation within a short time. While not as elaborate as some other ski lifts, it will enable the lovers of the sport to "coast" both ways.

One of the biggest holiday events in the Pontiac area will be the second annual kiddies Christmas party from 2 to 4 o'clock Sunday at the clubhouse of the

Oakland County Sportsmen's Club,

that the big tree is ready, Santa will be there, and every child will receive a gift.

The first evidence of a white Christmas was slow in arriving, but the delay only whetted the desire of the youngsters, like the little girl among the Saginaw St. shoppers, who eagerly ate some of it, saying to her mother, "It even tastes good."

My Royal Oak scout sends word that hundreds of people there owe their good health to the fine work of just completing 25 years as a school nurse in that city.

of Oakland County will be a big factor in next year's race for the Republican nomination for governor. Even if he does not seek the place himself, his endorsement and influence will be eagerly sought by others in the race.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

When the scorner is punished, the simple is made wise: and when the wise is instructed, he receiveth knowledge. — Prov. 21:11.

Knowledge is not a shop for profit or sale, but a rich storehouse for the glory of the Creator, and the relief of men's estate.—Bacon.

God created light on the very first day of creation. On the fourth day He created the sun, moon and stars.

Webster defines the first day of creation light or zodiacal light as a luminous tract of the sky of triangular shape, its base being on the horizon; seen in the evening at twilight and before dawn.

As this first created light is present only in the daytime it is not visible because of the intermingled sunlight. Zodiacal light apparently overlaps sunlight at dawn and twilight and is therefore visible, but with a much lessened intensity than exists at noonday.

In the book "Earth, Radio and the Stars," by Harlan True Stetson, research associate in geophysics at Harvard, is the statement, "Indeed it appears that the zodiacal light, which has perhaps theretofore been neglected by scientists, offers a field of investigation of unusual cosmic interest.

Light and gifts are our outward expression of Christmas.

GOP Must Find Common Denominator and Build Up Its Policies Accordingly

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower faces a problem in practical government which no amount of theory can solve. It is how to get a legislative program enacted that will rebound to the credit and benefit of the Republicans who are up for election in the 1954 congressional campaign.

The theorists — among them the amateurs who have been telling the President it's just a little matter of freezing out "reactionaries" and going to the "left" or to the "liberal side" — talk as if a congressional election and a presidential campaign are one and the same thing.

Actually there is no sharply defined cleavage inside the Republican party which can be characterized as "left" and "right." There are some senators, for example, who are more conservative than others, but that's the situation inside the Democratic party, too.

The fact is that there can be no generalizations on a legislative program. There will be one line-up on amendments to the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act and another line-up on increasing Social-Security benefits.

There's to be one kind of vote on a new farm program which, in line-up, will not resemble in the slightest the vote on increasing or diminishing economic aid abroad.

The fallacy in White House thinking — that is, the thinking of those who seem to pour their theories into the President's ears — seems to be that the President must assert his "leadership" by bludgeoning members of his party and threatening them with some form of reprisal if they don't toe the mark.

The reprisals, for instance, would be the activities of a revived Citizens-for-Eisenhower movement, which would presumably go into the primaries and help punish Republican senators and representatives who had refused to be "rubber stamps."

The idea seems to be developing hereabouts that a President is a kind of benevolent dictator and that Congress is a sort of subordinate agency of the government which hasn't much knowledge about what the people want, anyhow.

Omniscience is supposed to reside chiefly in the White House secretariat, which strives hard to give the impression that the Republican party as such is somehow without respectability and needs something called "liberalism" of the leftish sort to give it a majority at the polls.

The belief persists that Eisenhower can by some magic convert many of the Stevenson and Truman followers and make up for the loss of conservative votes — those who started out sponsoring Taft in early 1952.

But, as the facts of political life and congressional reality come into view, it will be found that the Democrats who stuck by Stevenson and Truman for the most part cannot be weaned away. They are too far over to the "left" in the northern states to be drawn away by a "pseudo-liberalism," as they call it.

Just why a Democratic congressman should vote for all the Eisenhower programs and go before his constituency as a Democrat next time seems not to have occurred to those at the White House who are looking for Democratic votes in Congress to offset all Republican defections.

Any attempt to force Republican members of Congress to swallow the whole Eisenhower program without crossing a "T" or dotting an "I" will be met with the same defeat that other Presidents have encountered when they tried to bulldoze or "purge" members of their own party.

Eisenhower can try for the help of Democrats in Congress, but he would be better advised also to find the common denominator of Republican strength and mould his policies accordingly.

For in an election year most of the opposition members of Congress will say they favor the "principle" but they want to see "certain amendments" adopted and if, as usually happens, these are not accepted by the administration in power, then its opponents will vote against the measure on final passage.

Bipartisan voting may be expected on labor legislation and on farm legislation but on not much else. On other questions, the Democratic party line-up is likely to hold tightly. Republican defections are probable because of local situations.

A story is told about President Harding, who vetoed a soldier's bonus bill in the 20s and in conference with a Republican congressman urged him to uphold the veto, but back came this reply: "I'm sorry, Mr. President, I'd like to please you, but unfortunately you don't vote in my district."

That's the practical side of any presidential program of legislation, and it will decide the fate of the Eisenhower program, too.

Public opinion throughout the United States in 531 districts still decides elections — not a few theorists in the Washington bureaucracy.

Parents Should Deftly Tutor Young at Home

Play with your child, using Dominoes, Monopoly and other zestful educational games. These will whet his wits and boost his school marks quickly. Parents should deftly tutor their children at home so the youngsters will make good grades. Then they'll like school and want to go on to college.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-370: Eli M., aged almost 91, is Mrs. Crane's father.

He lives with his dog on our farm in Indiana. My uncle and aunt reside nearby so they drop in to see him every day to make sure he is O. K.

But he does his own cooking, which isn't very complicated, for his standard breakfast is fried cornmeal mush, plus coffee and toast.

So we occasionally drive down from Chicago for a week-end to perk him up and also get a more varied menu before him.

And our evenings are usually spent playing Dominoes. For he is a great devotee of the game.

And he is sharp at it, too for he usually beats us. We play with a set of double-nine Dominoes, so it gives us a wide variety of mathematical combinations.

Dominoes are excellent for getting the rust out of one's brain cells, and they make an ideal amusement for parents to adopt when they wish to help a child grow speedier at arithmetic.

In this hectic age, most families don't take enough time to indulge in group games.

And we are becoming so lazy that we want to sit passively in front of a TV screen or a motion picture and let hired performers entertain us.

So it is wise for families to lay in a few educational games which will not only give the children the excitement of competing with their parents, but which will whet their wits so their school marks will improve.

Dominoes make a dandy game for perking up your child's skill in addition.

Monopoly is another excellent game which involves not only arithmetic, but also teaches business strategy.

Anagrams and similar word-building games are likewise helpful for his English.

Various card games, such as Flinch, Canasta, Bridge, etc. are entertaining but they don't equal Dominoes or Monopoly as school aids.

For these card games don't increase your child's vocabulary or drill him on various combinations in arithmetic.

They only add zest and competition, but so do Dominoes and Monopoly, but the latter offer children valuable educational drill.

Our school teachers find that the star pupils in the classroom have usually obtained a great deal of tutoring at home, either of the deliberate sort, or of the indirect type indicated by the educational games mentioned above.

If your child is below par in his grades, he will begin to hate school for we dislike that in which we are deficient.

So you parents should step into the breach and tactfully tutor your youngsters.

Get a used typewriter and let them write letters to all their relatives, such as grandparents, cousins, etc. This act of picking out letters on the typewriter keyboard, makes them more observant of word forms.

You can also play the "Word Detective Game," in which you parents type 25 spelling words, among which 5 are purposely wrong. Then give your child 2 minutes to detect the villians (misspelled words).

Pay him 1c apiece or even 5c to increase his zest for the game. By such simple home tutoring you can snap your child out of his scholastic "slump" quicker than a baseball hitter can be lifted out of his batting slump.

For further helpful hints, send for my bulletin "How to Raise your Child's School Marks," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

This jumble of Washingtonian head-lining for prestige is like demanding bigger billing in alphabetical soup.

The shape-up indicates everything is squared off for the next presidential semester. All other things being even today is the circled date when the congressionl GOP will discuss the state of the union and how to stop it.

This will be a three-day seance with Ike trying to dove-tail the handwriting on the wall with the sound-track of table-rapping.

If the little doggie in the window is a retriever the party whips have nothing to worry about but their luandry franks. And a fellow who is coming to the front like the odor of cooking in a boarding house.

That lad is McCarthy who has got his loomers adjusted for long range campaigning. He will concentrate on the average voter when he accuses the national census of Smithism and Jonesism.

For now the spartans of the GOP finally sense they are stacked up against a milk route of political thermoplyaes. McCarthy is attacking on all sides like a boy licking an ice cream cone.

Mac's televised herring-boning of the issue occurred the last Tuesday after the first free-timing in November. He followed the old Harry on the parlor billboards with a Philippic against Trumanism. But where Demosthenes rehearsed with pebbles in his kisser Mac was using boulders.

Mac gave Truman a finishing surface of the best essence of vitriol. And pulled a surprise by plastering a scratch coat on Ike. When we heard that you could have knocked us over with Toscanini's baton.

A woman decided to have the shape of her nose changed. So she called on a beauty surgeon. "How much will you charge to alter the shape of my nose?" she asked.

"Five hundred dollars!" she exploded. "Isn't there something less expensive?"

"Well," replied the surgeon, "you could try walking into a building."

Brady Sees Today's Medical Training Too Costly, Patients Too Demanding

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

After graduation from high school a student who chooses a medical career has to continue another 10 years in school—four years in college, four years in medical school, two years of internship or research or both, approximately.

Requirements vary slightly from state to state.

Ten years, or thereabouts, is an excessive portion of productive life to pay for preparation.

Maybe I just show my ignorance when I bray like this. I went straight into medical school from high school, received my MD degree after four years of medical school, served nine months as hospital intern, received my license to practice medicine and surgery, continued another 9 months in hospital service, and hung my shingle on the Four Corners in Penn Yan over the clothing store.

The shingle was one of my first mistakes. The sign painter was unduly impressed by the fact that I intended to practice medicine and surgery (that's the way all state licenses read, at any rate it was, in the Empire State, at that time). So he painted the sign:

Dr. Wm. Brady
& physician

You could read the word surgeon a block away. To read the rest of it you had to get up close, the lettering was so small.

Now I ask you, is the doctor who has had 10 years of schooling 100 per cent or 5 per cent better than one who has had five years of schooling.

Whether or no, the fees you pay for medical care are adjusted to compensate for the ten-year plan. I do not mean to imply that the return to sanity in medical education would cut your doctor bills 50 per cent.

For that matter, even if we had ideal training for "ordinary" or family doctors, a lot of you snobs would still go for the trick specialist.

There are many medical schools in the Class A division, and presumably still some of Class B level, though who would want to be associated with a second rate institution?

But at present there is no Class A1 medical school in America. Why not?

The answer is simple. Because here, where nearly every one drives a more expensive car than he can afford, "ordinary" doctors are not good enough to tell us which painkiller to use when we find the temperature up or what kind of glorified sugar to put in the baby's bottle in lieu of proper food, there's no demand for such a school.

We want trick specialists and white side walls.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

The main building is a two-story structure of cement block which will be converted into a fire hall. A second building will be used for storage purposes by the township.

Next piece of equipment slated for purchase is a power wagon according to Supervisor Floyd Andrews. He said it would be used primarily for grass fires and emergencies.

The township now has two pieces of equipment manned by volunteer firemen.

Sunday School Will Give Yule Pageant

OXFORD — Congregational Sunday School will present a Christmas program for all departments at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Following the primary group, which will lead off the exercises, a sacred pantomime portraying the Nativity scenes will be presented. A 30-voice chorus will provide the background for the pageant.

On Tuesday, immediately after school, parents and children have been invited to the Sunday School Christmas party.

Wife of Perle's Successor Busy

Mrs. Mesta's Hostess Title Is No Challenge to Ruth Buchanan

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Another Washington hostess is taking over the U.S. legation in Luxembourg where Perele Mesta's social star shone during the Truman administration.

But Mrs. Wiley T. Buchanan, Jr., wife of Mrs. Mesta's diplomatic successor, says she has no intention of challenging Mrs. Mesta's title of the "hostess with the mostes'."

Mrs. Buchanan likes to give parties but says she has no plans for "any competition" in the social department with Mrs. Mesta, who resigned as minister to Luxembourg when the Eisenhowe radministration came in.

"I love to give parties," she said, "but they are not foremost in my life. When you have a family they can't be."

Actually, Mrs. Buchanan has established herself as a top capital hostess.

The Buchanan estate, "Underoak," has been the scene of some of Washington's swankiest affairs since the Republicans came to power.

Both Mrs. Buchanan, a pretty, blue-eyed blonde, and her husband dabble in interior decorating. They have "Frenchified" their home.

"And just when we get the place the way we like it, we have to leave," she said.

Mrs. Buchanan is thrilled with her husband's appointment. He recently flew to Luxembourg for a conference and got a long look at the legation.

"Wiley told me Mrs. Mesta has done a beautiful job on it," Mrs. Buchanan said.

The Buchanans met Mrs. Mesta socially in Washington. "But we don't really know her," th ediplomat's wife says. "We do know, however, that she put Luxembourg on the map."

Now, Mrs. Buchanan is in the throes of packing. The three Buchanan children are excited, but they have their problems, too.

"Oh, they can't wait to go," Mrs. Buchanan said. "That is, of course, if we take along all their pets—two French poodles, two dachshunds and a Palamino pony."

Ruth Buchanan has a few problems of her own. She has to bone up on her French and learn how to curtsy.

Mrs. Mesta made Luxembourg a stopping-off post for Washington travelers. Mrs. Buchanan says she "hopes" she can keep it that way.

British Railwaymen Vote Against Strike

LONDON (AP)—Britain's National Union of Railwaymen told its 400,000 members today to keep the Christmas trains rolling.

The railmen were ready to strike Sunday to back wage demands. But union and transport leaders met in long-drawn bargaining talks last night, reached a compromise and announced: "The strike is off."

The railmen accepted a four shillings (56 cents) a week increase which they previously had spurned. They also won a promise that the state-owned railways will give a percentage increase within six weeks and later will revamp the whole wage structure of the industry.

How much the railmen will get under the percentage raise was not specified. But Jim Campbell, union secretary, said his men will not be satisfied with less than an additional three shillings (42 cents).

Driver's Nose Broken in Two-Car Collision

James Colfer, 23, of 389 E. Tennyson Ave., was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for a nose fracture suffered in a two-car collision yesterday at Voorheis and Telegraph Rds., according to Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post.

An auto driven by Miss Kathleen T. Connelly, 24, of 2050 Telegraph Rd., turned left in front of Colfer's northbound auto, police said, and the cars collided. Colfer's car then crashed into a telephone pole.

Old Tombstone Photos Will Be Appreciated

TOMBSTONE, Ariz. (UP) — The Tombstone Restoration Commission has appealed for early-day photographs of the "town too tough to die."

The commission, which operates a museum dedicated to the residents of this once-famous frontier town, needs the pictures for a pictorial history of the area.

Modern Jericho in Jordan is the world's lowest-lying town, 840 feet below sea level.

Harmony in Alabama Rough on Newsmen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — Gov. Gordon Persons, complimenting the Legislature on the cooperation it gave to his office and vice versa, said harmony under his administration has been pretty tough on Alabama newspapers.

"We haven't fussed, we haven't fought . . . and there ain't no news in harmony," he told a final joint session of the lawmakers.

Some 570 species of native grass are found in Texas.

Boy Toys With Toy for Genuine Blow-off

ROBINSON, Ill. (UP) — Five year-old Greg Rich found a .45 caliber bullet, shoved it into his toy gun—which ordinarily shoots only corks—and pulled the trigger.

The bullet went off, shattering the gun, and pieces of the shell casing hit Greg in the cheek and left foot. He says he won't do it again.

Sixty million pounds of meat are consumed daily in America, being enough to fill 15,000 two-ton trucks.

Search for Ten Cents Uncovers Hidden $100

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)—Peter Harris dropped a dime behind the seat of a restaurant booth just as he was finishing a chocolate soda.

Harris pried up the seat to find the dime. He also found 100 one-dollar bills, neatly done up in packs of 50.

Harris reported the discovery to the manager, Fred Lundy, who said he had forgotten all about hiding the money under the seat.

Harris got his dime back for his pains.

Chicken and Peas Are U.S. Favorites

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Chicken and peas—not meat and potatoes—are favorite foods of the American public, a survey of more than 1,000 restaurants from Miami to Seattle indicates.

The survey was conducted by the Diner's Club, which also collected the restaurants' recipes and will publish them next year.

Chicken apparently is enjoyed in numerous variations — baked, barbecued, boiled, broiled, roasted and fried. Alfred Bloomingdale, West Coast head of the club, said the vegetable favorite, peas, usually was eaten with a little butter and some salt.

Second choice for an entree was roast turkey with cranberry sauce.

There are about 500 U. S. companies each producing more than 100,000 tons of bituminous coal yearly, with thousands of companies producing less.

Utah's Biggest 'City' Has 100,000 Sheep

SALT LAKE CITY (UP) — For years everyone thought Salt Lake City, the state capital, was Utah's largest city. But it's not.

Onacqui is really a booming metropolis althoughit has an official population of 333 persons. It annually plays host to 100,000 sheep and more than 4,000 cattle. In 1952 between 2,000 and 3,000 deer were shot within the city limits.

Covering three townships, the city was incorporated in 1934 so residents could qualify for rural electriciation under the Public Works Administration program.

Residents admit their king-size isolation has many disadvantages, but they can boast of at least one thing. There's never a parking problem on city streets.

The 254 Texas counties range in size from Rockwall's 147 square miles to Brewster county's 6,208.

Roses Are Favored When Truman Buys

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—When Harry S. Truman buys flowers for his wife, chances are he'll buy Talisman roses. For his daughter Margaret, it's usually red roses.

Tom Cairns, Jr., Independence, Mo., florist reported on the former president's choice at a florists' convention here.

"Mr. Truman rarely wears a flower himself," he added. "If he buys anything, it'll be a white carnation."

Another florist, Hank McCullough of Beverly Hills, Calif., said Joe DiMaggio usually sends Marilyn Monroe hybrid Vanda orchids imported from Honolulu. Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis both usually ordered red and white Anthuriums for their wives, he added.

Redwood Library in Newport, R. I., is the nation's oldest library continuously operated in the same building. The private library was built in 1747.

Oregon State Boasts Unique Pile of Wood

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UP) — The nearly 30,000,000 acres of Oregon forests have been reduced to a dozen file drawers filled with wood samples at the forestry school at Oregon State College.

Samples of each of Oregon's 183 species of woody plants, including trees and shrubs, are found among the polished blocks of native woods gathered over a period of years. School officials say it is one of the best collections of native state woods in existence.

Also included in the collection are about 1,100 samples of woods from other regions of the United States, Canada, Mexico and half a dozen foreign countries.

The collection is important as an authentic check for identifications furnishing more complete details on various commercial woods and adding to the fund of information on lesser-known species. It also is a source for various chemical and physical wood utilization studies.

DRAPED LIKE A RUFF—This gift scarf of satin runs in a planet-whirl design. Its 24 inches of satin fills in for many outfits.

Travelers to Get Airport Hotels

LaGuardia Building 1st of Its Kind; Only Two Stories High

NEW YORK (NEA)—The brainstorm that hit Louis Ritter, while he fumed away a three-hour delay between planes at La Guardia Airport, was a natural-type idea. And millions of American travelers may someday be very glad he had it.

There sat Ritter, with three hours to kill and nothing to do. He would have liked to lie down, but it was too far into the city and a hotel.

"Why don't they have a hotel here?" he asked himself. And, since he was in the hotel business, he answered himself—"No reason, except that nobody thought of it."

The La Guardia Airport Hotel, a direct descendent of Ritter's fuming, will open in the spring. It's just across the highway from the main terminal building. There will be 350 rooms, restaurant, cocktail lounge and entertainment. It represents an investment of $4,000,000.

And it's only the first of what Ritter hopes will be a chain of airport hotels across the U. S. and into Canada. He thinks there's a need for them—for passengers grounded by weather or who missed connections or just stuck—and interest so far bears out his theory. Several big industrial concerns have volunteered to rent rooms permanently, but Ritter has turned them down.

A hotel near an airport presents planning problems not faced by the ordinary room-and-bath establishment.

It can't be so tall that it's an obstacle to low-flying planes, so the La Guardia Hotel is only two stories high. But it sprawls, covering four acres of a seven-acre site.

And sound-proofing is a must. Anybody trying to sleep near an airport knows that a take-off can be pretty awakening. The La Guardia Hotel will be so effectively sound-proofed, Ritter says, that you'll barely hear the planes.

For most customers, an overnight stay isn't always needed. The rooms will be rented out for a six-hour daytime period, so that you can just go up and lie down for an hour or so while the mechanic tinkers with the plane you're supposed to take.

These nappers are kept constantly advised about plane departures by a loud speaker system in each room.

The speaker can be switched off, of course, if the napper decides to do some serious sleeping.

Ritter, who formerly owned two big hotels in New York, has kept the prices down on food and drinks as well as room rent. And he's made the construction and furnishings as modern as possible.

In Traffic Jam

DES MOINES, Ia. (UP)—A municipal court clerk has complained to the police department that his office is having trouble with persons paying traffic fines with "rubber" checks. Walter Priebe said an average of one check a day is being returned from banks to his office marked "insufficient funds." Checks range from $1 to as high as $16.

New TV Window for Color Contrast

NEW YORK (UP)— A new safety glass for TV — consisting of two layers of glass and a sheet of vinyl plastic sandwiched in between — is designed to step up the contrast in viewing.

The glass is impregnated with a gray color, which is the same as that of the plate faces in picture tubes. The effect is to provide better black and white contrast for the TV watcher.

Made on the same principle as automobile safety glass, the new window also gives protection against any possible breaking of large TV tubes.

It is called Teleglas Duolite.

Most TV cabinet windows now in use are clear, with some of them tempered to resist the impact of flying glass or metal from a bursting tube.

Those Cheap Old Days

PORTLAND, Maine (UP) Contractor Everett Dobson sighed for the past when he found some receipts more than a 100 years old while remodeling the ancient home presently owned by Earle Young. The receipts showed coffee selling at 9 cents a pound, pork at 7 cents and potatoes at 22 cents a bushel.

Student Tells How 'Reds Tricked Him Into Army

HONG KONG (UP)—A 23-year-old Chinese student has fulfilled a promise to the Communists, but they will not be pleased.

Chang Wah-tai, a university student who went from Indonesia to study in Red China, told how he was impressed into the army as a "temporary volunteer" instead of being admitted into a university.

Recently he requested permission to visit his family which now lives at Macao.

"I had been a good 'volunteer,' so they thought there was nothing wrong with letting me have a few weeks to see my family," Chang said. "Besides, they asked me to tell the people of the outside world how the students were living on the mainland.

"I am doing what I promised. The student in the mainland is living an animal's life."

Chang, who wants to return to Indonesia to resume his studies, said he fell prey to Communist lures in Indonesia where his teachers suggested he and other students go to China to complete their education.

"When I arrived in Canton via Hong Kong I learned the universities were insufficient to handle the students," he said.

"The Communist authorities told us that it was better for us to join the army while waiting for the day when we could continue our studies.

"We formed a militia group and received daily training in modern weapons, most of them Russian made.

"Apart from the active training, we also had two to three hours of propaganda lectures in which they said that the American imperialists someday will attack the mainland as they did in Korea, so every one must be prepared. They said the Chinese army is very strong and Mao (Mao Tse-tung) head of the Peiping government) will fight the imperialists as he fought them in Korea."

Then the realization of the sort of life he as living penetrated Chang's mind.

"It was after three months in Canton that I realized I was no more a free man, and I had to live as they liked," he said.

"After six months as a 'volunteer,' I asked permission to visit Macao to see my parents."

Students on the mainland, he said, "live in military barracks and study the operation of modern firearms."

"We made a bad mistake returning, but I really hope those still living outside China realize that once over the China boundary they can start considering themselves as slaves and not as free people," Chang concluded.

Texas-Type Excuse

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—District Judge Langston King thought he had heard all possible excuses for getting out of jury duty until a middle-aged venireman asked to be excused because "I have claustrophobia" and "and can't even lock the doors of my house." He added that "I couldn't send anybody else to the penitentiary where they would have to be locked up." He was excused.

Close Weave Better

In buying percale sheets, those with 180 or 200 threads to the square inch are the best investment since their high resistance to strain and laundering offsets the higher price asked. In the lower-priced muslin group, sheets that have a count of 140 threads a square inch are a good buy.

Manpower provided 15 per cent of farm labor energy in 1850, animals 79 per cent and machines only 6 per cent. Now machines do an estimated 92 per cent of all farm work.

MERIDEN, Conn. (UP) — The Meriden Record explained why it had live snakes and a dead black widow spider on exhibit in its front window. "We find that the public likes to read about snakes, so we thought they would like to see them," said the managing editor, Warren F. Gardner.

Four rattlesnakes, a copperhead and the spider were caught at nearby Wallingford recently.

West Germany Recovery Greatest, Survey Shows

NEW YORK (INS) — West Germany has made the greatest economic recovery among the nations of Western Europe, while France is the darkest spot, economically and politically.

These were the principal conclusions reached by the management engineering firm of Stevenson, Jordan & Harrison, Inc., following an exhaustive survey of economic conditions in the Marshall Plan countries.

The study reported that there was considerable industrial and economic progress in the countries of Western Europe for about five years after the end of World War II — and more in some, than in others.

It slowed up or stopped in many of them in 1951, the survey noted.

As of today, it said, much of the war damage has been repaired, except that there is a shortage of houses, especially in France and Great Britain.

"Stores are well stocked with goods. Food is plentiful, except in Great Britain, and in that country the food supply is increasing. There is little unemployment — in some countries, none. Inflationary forces are less strong.

"There has been considerable improvement in industrial and transportation equipment and thousands of factories and power plants have been created or reconstructed. Productive capacity has been raised above what it was in 1938 and its efficiency on the whole has been increased.

"United States foreign aid, amounting to many billions of dollars, has been an important factor, directly or indirectly, in these developments.

"There also has been recently a backing away from socialist doctrine and from government control of the economy in several of these countries."

The study stressed the point that much of the improvement is superficial and hides weaknesses which hamper further economic progress.

Noting that economic conditions differ considerably in the different countries, the engineering firm analysis gave a detailed picture of conditions. It said:

"West Germany has made the greatest recovery. It started later than in the other countries. It is the result mainly of the operation of a free economy, economic incentives, hard work, industrial efficiency, a sound money and credit policy and U. S. financial aid.

"The recent election was a direct repudiation of socialism and government-managed economy. German incomes, production, construction and foreign trade are rising. Prices are stable and relatively low.

"France is the darkest spot in Western Europe, economically and politically. Wages are low and prices are high, relatively. There is economic and fiscal chaos. Production is low. People are not working hard; they have little incentive for doing so. They hide their wealth and dodge taxes.

"Workers get 40 per cent of their pay in the form of "social benefits." A third of the French budget goes for subsidies and state business ventures.

"Experts, appointed to study the causes of these conditions, reported that 'rigidity of the economy' and unwillingness to experiment or innovate or take risks were the main causes.

"France is a nation in great peril, and its peril is a peril to the American people.

"Economic conditions have improved this year in Great Britain, after a recession last year, but they are far from being in a sound condition.

"Economic conditions have not changed appreciably during the past two years in Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries.

"Italy is a very poor country and shaky politically.

"The Scandinavian countries are to a large extent socialistic welfare states, but productivity is relatively high."

Crabs, Snails Menace Clams Off Cape Cod

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP)—Shooting all clam diggers to save the clam "won't do the job in Massachusetts waters," two experts report.

Biologists Harry Turner and J. Arthur Nosgay, who are working to save the clams off Cape Cod agree that the horseshoe crab and the boring snail are more deadly than the clam digger.

They say the crab and the snail eat 10 times their weight in clams a year — and both move so fast they can't be eliminated. But Turner and Nosgay are trying to find a way.

Navy May Use Hydrofoil Boats

Old Forgotten Invention of Underwater 'Wings' Introduced by Bell

WASHINGTON (UP)—Alexander Graham Bell gave the world the telephone, and the bell rang almost immediately.

He gave the world something else, but only now, 31 years after his death, is it coming into its own.

The U. S. Navy has announced that it has found great use for this other Bell invention. It seems that Dr. Bell did a lot of work that has been going into hydrofoil boats.

"In his day the Navy had no application for the speeds so vital in 1953," a Navy spokesman said.

"Now we have uses for hydrofoils, and we find that much of our preliminary work was brilliantly done for us years go by Dr. Bell and his associate, the late Frederick W. Baldwin."

Few recall that in 1919, the Bell-Baldwin Hydrodome No. 4 streaked across the waters of Nova Scotia's Bras d'Or lakes to set a world speed record of 70.86 miles per hour for boats.

The boat was driven by air propellers on two 350-horsepower, low-compression motors. The vessel was 60 feet long and rode on hydrofoils.

At the time, it was announced that Bell and Baldwin had been experimenting with hydrofoils — underwater "wings" which were tucked together in vertical tiers and put under the hull of the boat.

The experiments had been going on since 1909.

As a hydrofoil-equipped boat picks up speed it rises on the foils, something like an airplane rises on its wings. Finally, it rides only on the bottommost foils. To get real technical about it, here is how the Navy puts it:

"Unlike a normal displacement-like hull, it runs on a minimum of wetted surface, hence there is little friction. When the boat is 'up,' a maximum of power is translated into speed."

Bell died in 1922. Hydrofoil research languished in the United States, although Baldwin continued it in Canada.

During World War II, Germany produced a hydroifoil patrol boat. It could kick along at around 65 miles an hour but developed a habit of tipping over.

In 1943, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics came up with a similar boat.

Bell wanted to drive his boats with underwater propellers to take advantage of water's heavier-than-air density. He tried submerged drive on what he called an HD-1 in 1909. Weight and the "phenonenon of propeller cavitation" licked him.

This last problem Bell predicted would be solved one day with greater knowledge and higher speeds. The Navy's current experimental boats have such an underwater drive.

But so far as is known, Bell's 70.86 mph record for this type of craft still stands.

'Meanest Thief' Steals Children's Polio Fund

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UP)—Two girls here have a candidate for the "meanest thief" title — whoever stole $6 raised by neighborhood youngsters for the polio fund.

Rose Marie Lena, 9, and her sister, Louise, 6, sparked a drive to sell cupcakes and soda and put on a show. They wound up with $11.

But, Rose Marie left her purse unguarded on a porch for a few minutes, and a thief made off with $6.

The youngsters wonder what the robber bought with the money. As Rose Marie put it: "What could be worth $6? Especially that $6."

'Cloud Seeding' Protects Valley

Fliers 'Salt' Clouds; Turn Hail to Rain to Save Oregon Pear Orchards

MEDFORD, Ore. (INS) — Two aviators are using ordinary table salt to protect the fertile Rogue River valley and its prosperous pear orchards from hail storms.

The five flyers have been dropping salt onto threatening thunder-clouds for five years. But their ingredient was a secret until a new Oregon law went into effect, requiring "cloud seeders" to report the materials they use.

When hail-producing clouds begin to form, the World War II flyers, Harvey Brandau and Eugene Kooser, literally run for their airplanes.

Brandau flies his former Navy FM 2 fighter with its 1350-horsepower engine above the clouds, sometimes as high as 35,000 feet, breathing bottled oxygen above 10,000 feet.

He dumps about five pounds of dry salt through a chute in the side of the plane, which scatters it lightly onto the boiling top of the swiftly-rising cumulo-nimbus cloud.

Beneath the cloud, meanwhile, Kooser and his World War II P 40 pursuit plane with a 1500 horsepower P 38 engine bounce around in the turbulent air.

The plane's wing tanks are full of what they call "goop", a super-saturated salt solution. The brien is injected into the exhaust stacks of the engine, which are prolonged past the tail of the plane.

The resulting vapor issues forth as super-heated steam, about 1800 degrees Fahrenheit, containing superheated salt crystals too small to be seen.

From 10 to 15 minutes later, rain begins to fall, but no hail. Sometimes soft, slushy snow flakesare mingled with the rain.

When a thunderstorm swept from southwestern Oregon, where Brandau and Kooser work, to the northern edge of Washington, hail as big as walnuts fell in many places. Only two orchards in the Rogue River valley were touched, and "no commercial damage" was reported.

The flyers explained:

"We wait until clouds have reached a high state of development before we take any action.

"When the tops reach 25,000 feet or higher and the updrafts reach velocities of 1500 feet a minute, hail can be expected. A few large drops begins to fall. They are swept up into the freezing portion of the cloud and turn to ice.

"They fall into the warm air and pick up more water. Then they are tossed up into the freezing air, where the water becomes another layer of ice, and so on until they grow heavy enough to fall.

"Our plan is to provide a big supply of natural and artificial nuclei at the top of the cloud around which tiny snowflakes will form and start falling, turning to rain as they drop.

"The salt beneath the cloud draws moisture toward it, causing the fine cloud particles to coalesce into drops big enough to start falling immediately as rain.

UCLA Engineers Seek New 'Doughnut' Recipe

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—Engineers at the University of California at Los Angeles are looking for a better recipe for "doughnuts."

These are not the kind you dunk in coffee, but tiny ceramic doughnuts—so called because of their shape—used in the memory mechanism of certain electronic computers.

They are made of black magnetic oxide of iron combined with other metallic oxides. Their function in the computers depends upon the magnetic properties of the oxides.

Formulas for making the devices now in use have not proved entirely satisfactory, so UCLA engineers are looking for a new recipe.

Louisville Cab Driver Trades $1,000 for $20

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—A Louisville cab driver recently traded $1,000 for $20. Arch Satterfield tells this story:

A passenger gave him $2 for a $1.75 ride, then said, "You've been pretty good to me—here's a couple of bucks."

When Satterfield discovered later that one of the "bucks" was a $1,000 bill, he raced back to return it.

The passenger, who identified himself only as being from New York City, "hardly blinked an eye—a thousand dollars didn't seem to mean much to him. He thanked me and shoved a $20 bill in my pocket."

Window Gazer Burns Hole in Pocket—Actually

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—A transient killing time by window-shopping in downtown Sacramento found a display in a drugstore window so attractive it literally burned a hole in his pocket.

First he had a warm sensation on his leg—then he smelled smoke—then he found a hole burned in his pants. A mirror in the window had reflected the sun's rays.

Scouts Prepare to 'Take Over' City Government

AIR AGE—Chart shows progress of American aircraft—from the Wright brothers' 30-mile per hour flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., just 50 years ago, to the 1,327 mph speed record set last month in California. The Wrights' first spindly flying machine reached a maximum height of 14 feet. Today's rocket-powered aircraft can soar almost 16 miles high.

Pontiac Officials Endorse Plan

Youths to Hold Public Office for Day to Learn Municipal Functions

Pontiac Boy Scouts and Explorers are preparing to "take over the City" on Feb. 8, during a local celebration of National Boy Scout Week.

For the second year, municipal officials have heartily agreed to have the Scouts help them "run" their departments and to explain to the boys just how government operates.

Announcement of the civic project was made jointly by City Manager Walter K. Willman and William J. DeGrace, chairman of camping and activities for the Pontiac Scout District.

Willman has pledged complete cooperation from municipal departments for the event which is being patterned after last February's successful "take over" experiment. He will draw up a model agenda for use by the mock city commissioners.

DeGrace pointed out that in addition to government operations, the boys will also participate in political party conventions.

Two parties, the Logrollers and Filibusters, will hold conventions at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 20 in Lincoln Junior High School. Six delegates, three for each party, from each Scout troop and Explorer post in the city will meet to choose party slates.

Officials to be nominated include seven commissioners, two judges, police chief, fire chief and dog catcher. Nineteen additional municipal offices are to be filled by appointment.

During the party conventions, campaign signs will be permitted, time will be given for unit caucuses and inter-unit swapping of votes, and doorkeepers will check delegate credentials.

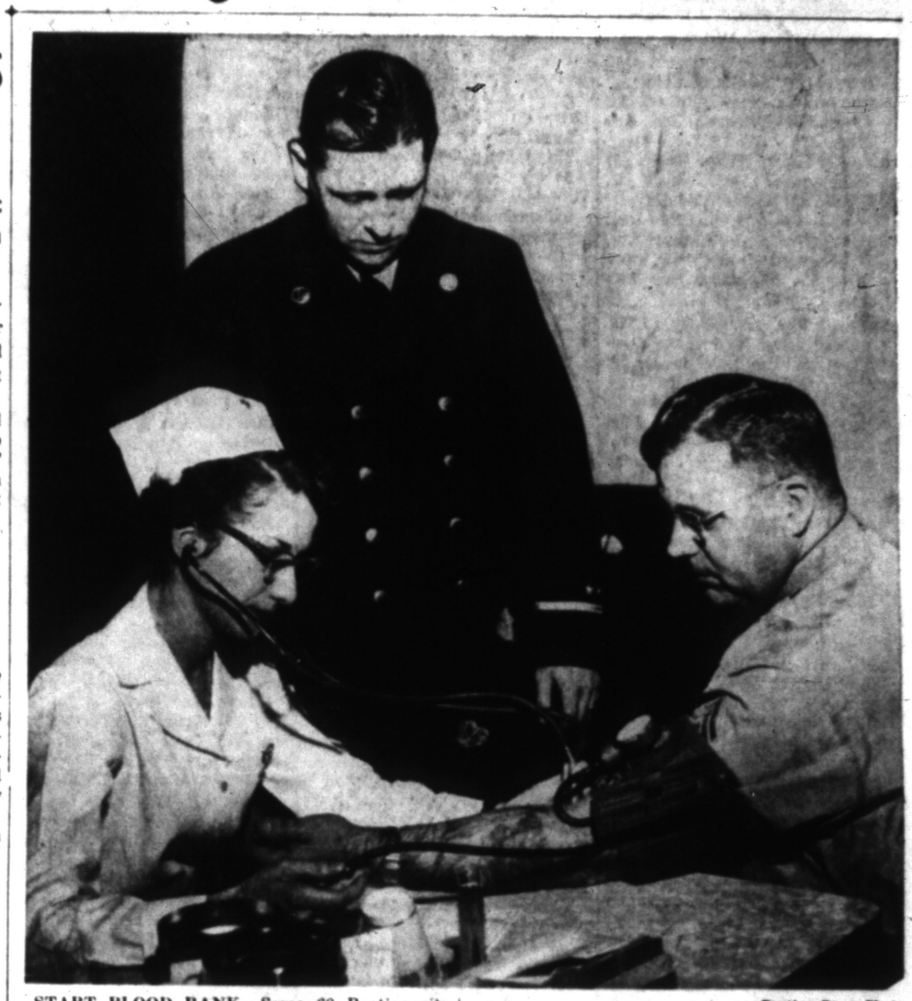

After the conventions select party nominess, each Scout will vote on a two-party ballot in his own unit precinct.

Ralph S. Forman, assistant principal of Lincoln Junior High School and Pontiac district Scout commissioner, asserted "This citizenship project fulfills the theme of Scouting—learning by doing."

Explorer Scouts Leon Lackey and Clyde Howse were named as chairmen of the two political parties. They will be assisted by Scout leaders Robert N. Webb, Glenn Lackey, Dr. Jack W. Bell and Gilbert S. Pierce.

Credentials committee includes Harry M. Boorn, Roger Lawrence, Fred Manes and King Stetler. Floormanagers will be Lee Kirby, Rolland E. Polley, Otis Lawrence, John P. Baxter, Edward Markham, Ovis Gidcumb and Williard Wells.

DeGrace also announced the appointment of Arthur Tyrell as chairman of a Scout Week unit window display contest.

Miss Betty LaBerge, RN, of Hazel Park checked the blood pressure of Sgt. George T. Scott, right, Pontiac Police Department, as Fire Lt. Howard White, president of Pontiac Fire-Fighters Association, looks on. City employes are setting up a blood bank to cover some 600 city employes and their immediate families.

Flight Pioneers Still Like Flying

Three Area Aviators Learned to Fly in 1917's Unpredictable Aircraft

Three men who have been flying since 1917 got together yesterday at Pontiac Municipal Airport on the eve of powered flight's 50th anniversary.

The three veteran pilots, all 55 years old, are Howard M. Smith, president of the American Spring Co. of Holly; Dr. L. C. Sheffield of 4651 Motorway Dr.; and Homer Tinney of 6230 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

Smith covers about 50,000 miles per year on business trips in his plane, while Dr. Sheffield flies strictly for pleasure. Tinney is active in aerial photography work.

All three learned to fly in the unpredictable World War I planes, which "were as apt to flip over on landing as stay right side up."

Tinney compared today's British-made De Havilland Dove with the early De Havilland he flew during World War I.

"The De Havilland plane we flew in 1917 was an open cockpit job, developing about 200 horsepower with top speed of 125 and seating two persons," said Tinney.

"Today's De Havilland seats four to ten passengers and its two 385 horsepower engines propel the plane at a cruising speed of 185 miles per hour at high altitudes."

The three emphasized that flying for business or pleasure is a highly refreshing and profitable pastime. Many persons over fifty fly as well as their young counterparts, they said, and "There are no slippery highways in the sky."

Trace History of Air Age:

Powered Flight Is 50 Years Old Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty years ago today Orville and Wilbur Wright launched a new age of travel by piloting the world's first powered airplane on successful flight.

They soared boldly into the new medium four times that historic noontime of Dec. 17, 1903, at Kitty Hawk, N. C. The first flight of about 100 feet lasted only 12 seconds. The fourth covered 852 feet and took almost a whole minute.

Their tiny 12-horsepower engine had propelled them into a wind of 20 to 27 miles an hour. Their top speed with relation to the ground was only about 10 miles an hour, but their true speed in the air was probably 30 to 34 miles an hour.

That was only 50 years ago. Many men alive today remember the stir it caused, once the news—fully verified—got around. Orville Wright died only five years ago.

Yet just last month 32-year-old Scott Crossfield, in California, flew a rocketpowered research plane, the famed Douglas D558-2, 1,327 miles an hour.

The Wrights barely skittered across the sand dunes. Orville, in his diary, mentioned heights of 12 to 14 feet. But last August Marine Lt. Col. Marion Carl flew that same Douglas Skyrocket almost 16 miles up into the blue—83,235 feet, to be exact.

Such is the span from Kitty Hawk to Muroc—from Carolina's hills to the California dry lake where the armed services are testing the weird flight machines of the future.

The Wright brothers pushed on to develop stronger, more powerful, more readily controlled flying machines. Other inventors came along. A Brazilian, Santos Dumont, made the first officially recorded European airplane flight in 1906. The Wrights sold the U. S. Government its first airplane for $25,000 in 1909, the same year that France's Louis Bleriot crossed the English Channel in the first flight between nations.

In August, 1909, in the first international aviation meet—at Rheims, France—Glenn Curtiss set a speed record of 47.65 miles an hour. Two years later Galbraith Perry Rodgers made the first flight across the United States, negotiating the 3,390 miles from Long Island, N. Y., to Pasadena, Calif., (84 hours flying time) in 49 days.

The first air crossing of the Atlantic Ocean, from New York to England by way of Newfoundland, the Azores and Portugal, was accomplished in 12 days in May, 1919, by the U. S. Navy flying boat NC4. A month later Britishers Alcock and Brown made it nonstop, from Newfoundland to Ireland.

Lt. James H. Doolittle made the first transcontinental flight in less than 24 hours in 1922.

The first flight around the world came in 1924. Two of four U. S. Army biplanes in the starting group completed the 26,345-mile journey from Seattle to Seattle. It took 175 days, but only 363 hours of flying time.

Lt. Cmdr. Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennett flew across the North Pole in 1926. Charles Lindbergh made himself a world hero by hopping the Atlantic alone, from New York to Paris, in 1927. Two months later Emory Bronte and Ernest L. Smith made the first Pacific flight, from Oakland, Calif., to Molokai, Hawaii.

The Pacific surrendered completely in 1928, when the Australian Southern Cross — Charles Kingsford-Smith and party — flew from Oakland all the way to Brisbane, Australia.

In 1941, at the start of World War II, the world record for airplane altitude was 56,046 feet; for speed, 469.22 miles an hour; for distance, 8,037 miles set by Italian fliers in 1938; for distance in a straight line, 7,158 miles set by British fliers in a 1938 flight from Egypt to Australia.

World War II brought into being the jet airplane. Its further development after the war moved aviation far into undreamed-of speeds.

Air Force Capt. Charles E. Yeager crossed the feared "sound barrier" — and found it no barrier at all in 1947. The Skyrocket zoomed into the range of the fantastic in 1951 — 1,238 miles an hour, altitudes up to 79,494 feet.

Crossfield says he thinks the nine-year-old Skyrocket has about reached its limits in speed and climb. But there are other planes designed to do better. Scientists are sure they can get more and more speed — greater and greater heights and range — out of aircraft coming up.

Proper Mailing Speeds Delivery of Gifts, Cards

Delivery of Christmas mail and packages can be speeded up if necessary preparation is made, Leslie H. Dean, acting Pontiac postmaster, advised today.

Packing articles securely and addressing all matter plainly will avoid delays, Dean said.

Perishable matter, articles such as fruits and meats likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation, should not be presented for mailing.

Parcels may be marked, "Do not open until Christmas," Dean added. When mailing a number of greeting cards, the sender is requested to bind them in a bundle before depositing them in the post office.

Dean also said that Christmas gifts shoud be registered or insured. Parcels containing small valuable articles, such as watches and other jewelry, should always be registered, he said.

Charge of Murder Cut to Manslaughter

Garlian Jackson, 38, of 324 Howard McNeill St., who is accused of fatally stabbing his wife, Annabelle, 36, on Thanksgiving day, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of manslaughter.

The charge was reduced from second degree murder by Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finnegan who said proof for premeditation and malice aforethought was lacking after yesterday's examination. Two persons testified that there had been a quarrel and struggle.

Jackson, who is scheduled to be arraigned Monday at 1:30 p. m., was ordered held in Oakland County Jail when unable to furnish a $500 bond.

Beria, 6 Others to Confess Treason

Russia Will Treat World to One More Purge Trial

Editor's Note—AP correspondent in Moscow for six years, Tom Whitney left the Soviet Union at the end of last July after covering the news of the Beria arrest.

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The world — Russians included—soon will be treated to the spectacle of one more Communist purge trial in which the defendants abjectly confess to treason.

This time the accused are seven men, four of them from Stalin's homeland of Georgia and all veteran police and intelligence executives. Heading them is Lavrenty Beria, who for 15 years ran the dread Soviet secret police and other security organs.

The Soviet government gave them power of life and death over the millions of Soviet citizens and they used it—as every Russian knows—to send many to exile or death. How many the world may never know.

Soon they themselves will stand up in a Soviet court and declare that all along they were taking their instructions from foreign intelligence services and exercising their extraordinary powers to sabotage the Soviet Union.

This is the meaning of the document published in Moscow on Beria and his henchmen a few hours ago.

Most of Moscow's latest document is not new. It repeats the accusations already made last July that Beria ploted to seize power, that he sabotaged government agricultural plans, that he attempted to undermine the Soviet policy on nationalities, that he was a foreign spy.

What is new is the list of men accused of plotting with Beria. On it is one new name of importance—Army Gen. Vsevolod Merkulov, former minister of state security and later minister of state control until Sept. 17, nearly three months after the Beria arrest. It was not previously known that Merkulov had been arrested.

Also new in the Beria document are the specific charges that he was an agent for 34 years with Transcaucasion anti-Soviet organizations, one of which allegedly associated with British intelligence. No involvement with Americans is yet charged, though it is certainly quite possible some such charges will be made at the trial.

The Soviet government could, now that the Beria case has waited nearly six months, simply have announced without details Beria's conviction and execution. It could even have said nothing more about Beria.

Instead it has decided to make a fairly big thing of the trial. This seems to indicate that the Malenkov government feels it can use this show to make good its charges against Beria, and to gain popularity with the Russians.

That the trial and subsequent execution of these hated policemen will be popular with Russians can be little doubt.

E. J. Nolen to Assist City Fire Marshal

Appointment of E. J. Nolen, 32, of 47 Lorraine Ct., as assitant to Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz was announced today by Pontiac Fire Chief John F. Schroeder.

Nolen, who has been with the Pontiac Fire Department three years, will aid Metz in fire investigations and inspections.

Metz, who is the city's first fire marshal, received the position through civil service examination last month.

Claims Allegan Needs Juvenile Detention Home

ALLEGAN (AP) — Allegan County needs a well-staffed juvenile detention home, Probate Judge Harold F. Weston advised a U.S. Senate group investigating juvenile delinquency.

A 50 per cent increase since 1948 in juvenile delinquency cases has occurred in the county, the judge noted in a report he completed Wednesday for the Senate group.

Moving Day Set for Red Cross

Chapter Will Transfer Monday From Huron to 118 Franklin Blvd.

Monday is moving day for Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Monday afternoon, the chapter will close the door on offices at 53½ W. Huron St., its home for seven years, and move into the new "chapter house" at 118 Franklin Blvd.

"We won't interrupt our services, however," said Harold B. Euler, chapter chairman. "Several staff members will stay at the Huron street office Monday and others at the chapter house."

The Franklin boulevard residence, bought July 1 for $21,000, gives the chapter the first home of its own—with about three times as much room as present offices.

In the new home are a kitchen, conference room and classroom, which means classes, meetings of fewer than 50 people and small luncheons and dinners may be called there.

The new quarters also feature an eight-car parking lot, two-car garage for the chapter car, and more parking room close by.

General Hospital Holds Christmas Dinner for Staff

Pontiac General Hospital yesterday held its annual Christmas dinner program, with about 620 employes and attending staff members enjoying a holiday meal.

The dinner was served three times between noon and midnight so each shift might have a turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Easch hospital department is preparing a Christmas basket for distribution to needy families, said Miss Shirley Dovre, administrative assistant. The hospital social worker will select families to receive baskets, she added.

Sprawling Los Angeles Vulnerable to Atomic Attack

Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of articles on the lack of civil defense facilities and volunteer workers in the nation's "top target" cities.

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

Sprawling Los Angeles, glamor capital of the West and also the center of vital defense industries, is considered peculiarly vulnerable to an enemy atomic attack—and is ill-prepared to meet it.

This booming California city, fourth largest in the U. S., is like all other key "target" cities surveyed by the International News Service in that it has an inadequate, under-manned civil defense organization.

But Los Angeles, a glamor capital because it is the home of the movie industry, also has special civil defense problems which tend to make it unique.

Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles lists "three major special problems" as:

(1) "The vast area of the city; (2) the presence of such vital defense industries as aviation, oil and so forth which assures us that we will be high on any enemy list of priority targets; and (3) the fact that in the event of an atom bomb attack we are going to be handicapped by the small number of exits from the city."

(Los Angeles is bounded by the ocean on one side and ringed by mountains on the others).

Defense contracts, headed by aircraft manufacturing, have accelerated the extraordinary growth of Los Angeles in recent years. The 1950 census placed the city's population close to 2,000,000 and its environs at 2,381,533—or a total of 4,339,225.

This gives Los Angeles the third largest metropolitan district in the nation.

Col. Richard F. Lynch, Los Angeles civil defense director, said:

"My big problem has been in making city officials and the public understand that when and if an attack comes, we do not know how big it will be or how much damage it will cause. We are working against an unknown factor.

"There is no such thing as 100 per cent protection. One of the most important things to us is the amount of warning time we will have, because most of our preparations are based on that.

"At the moment it is practically nil—I think the Air Force estimates it at about 15 minutes."

On civil defense volunteers, Lynch said: "No, we haven't enough at present. We have about 40,000 actual voulnteers, and we have signed up another 106,000 telephone operators, doctors, drivers and others whose occupations make them essential to civil defense.

"Most of the latter were signed up through the city or their unions. We need more volunteers, but we want to get them systematically, not just rush out and sign up everyone we can without any thought to preparing them for their jobs."

The CD director said Los Angeles at present did not have "enough supplies in the area to handle atomic bombing."

Comedian Strain Found by Army

Chap Now Has Weekly Morning Half Hour on Television

NEW YORK — Humorist Jack Paar, star of the weekly morning half-hour "Jack Paar Show," started out as one of the youngest radio announcers in the business.

At 16, his delivery was already rated highly professional and at 19 he was announcer for the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra broadcasts.

Later, he went to Buffalo, N. Y., to become a disc jockey but found himself doing more comedy than record-changing.

Not until he entered the Army in 1942, however, were Paar's capabilities as a comedian really discovered. Assigned to Army Special Services in the Pacific, he was in a G.I. entertainment troupe that toured the Solomon Islands.

Although some of the highest paid comedians and entertainers toured the same islands, Paar and his type of comedy won a special place in the hearts of the G.I.s.

The result: At war's end, even before the boat returning him to the States had docked, Paar received offers from practically every Hollywood motion picture studio and from a number of radio stations.

Once back in the U. S., Paar was quickly signed by a leading Hollywood studio, only to sit around for three years, drawing healthy paychecks without making a single picture.

He was also signed for a summer show by a radio network. For his work on this show, a national poll named him the "best new comedian." In 1950, he took over the popular "Take It Or Leave It" radio series.

Signed to another motion picture contract, Paar this time appeared briefly in "Walk Softly, Stranger," with Joseph Cotten.

He also appeared opposite Marilyn Monroe in "Love Nest." According to Parr, it was fun making the picture, which proved a great jumping-off point for Miss Monroe, but did nothing to further his career.

Instead of being assigned to more pictures, he found himself representing the studio at an endless round of banquets and social functions where he was called upon to entertain the guests with his light banter.

Ohio. He attended school in Deohio. He atended school in Detroit and Jackson, and later atteded Western Reserve Uiversity in Ohio.

He is married to the former Miriam Wagner of the Hershey chocolate family. They live in Bronxville, N. Y., with their 4½-year-old daughter, Randy.

Paar is said to be a fine amateur painter, another interest is foreign automobiles; his newest acquisition is a speedy Aston-Martin sports model.

JUMPIN' JILL — Winsome 18-year-old Jill Corey looks as bright as her future. With the top singing spot on the new "Dave Garroway Show" awarded her, this radiant discovery is well on her way to success. To "cinderella" Jill, it's hard to believe that she had never been on video before her debut with Garroway early in October.

Driver's Record Perfect

EAST WINDHAM, Me. (UP)—Herbert Abbot, 73, has driven an automobile more than 500,000 miles during the past 46 years without an accident.

Asks Legislation on Social Funds

Charity Cash Raisers Should Be Licensed, Say Witnesses

NEW YORK (AP) — Catholic and Jewish charity spokesmen have urged public education and legislation to stamp out fund-raising rackets.

Among witnesses at yesterday's public hearings before the joint state legislative committee probing charity rackets were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Lynch, director of the New York Catholic charities, and Mrs. Newman Levy director of the women's division of the Jewish philanthropies.

Msgr. Lynch read a statement showing his organization raised more than 11 million dollars since 1949 at a total cost of $636,836 or .057 cents on the dollar.

He said he felt there was merit in the proposal that professional fund raisers be licensed, in particular those working on a percentage basis.

However, he added, "the basic answer lies in better public education. The public should be taught that it is not enough to give, but one should also know to what he is giving."

Mrs. Levy read a statement showing that during 1952 the federation took in more than 17 million dollars in income and additions to restricted funds.

The cost of fund raising and related services on that amount, she said, was 9.08 per cent.

She said the federation favored legislation to protect the public from being used as "easy marks" by charity rackets.

Committee counsel read a telegram from W. Noel Hudson, executive vice president of the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies, regretting his inability to attend the hearing but praising the committee's efforts.

The Great Dismal Swamp in North Carolina is 12 to 15 feet higher than surrounding settlements, which are saved from being flooded by a conic rim around part of the swamp and a system of drainage canals.

Ex-POW Says Reds Guard GIs to Stop Return to U.S.

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A South Korean who fled from a pro-Communist prisoner compound said today diehard Red leaders are guarding 3 and perhaps 4 Americans and 20 South Korean POWs who may want to go home.

The young soldier said compound leaders deliberately stalled allied explanations to prisoners who refused repatriation because they feared "defections."

He named four Americans who might come home if given an opportunity, but the names were withheld by military authorities to prevent possible reprisals.

Far East Command censors later permitted identification of one, Cpl. William A. Cowart of Monticello, Ark., on ground of prior publication in the United States.

There was no indication that the other names would be released.

The South Korean Wednesday crawled through barbed wire surrounding the compound holding prisoners listed as pro-Communist and asked an Indian guard for repatriation. He was returned to the U. N. Command the same day.

There was some official skepticism over the report of Pfc. Kim Mun Du, a 22-year-old ROK soldier captured by the Reds in the summer of 1951.

The Indian Command which guards unrepatriated prisoners in Korea's neutral zone has said all of the Americans and the one British prisoner appear to have firm political convictions.

The U. N. Command has said repeatedly it will interview any of the prisoners who will leave the compound. But there are only six days left before the Dec. 24 deadline for talking with prisoners who refused to return home.

Allied officers have said there appears to be little hope that interviews with remaining South Koreans and the Americans and Britton will be held before the deadline.

The five-nation Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, of which India is chairman, meets Friday to see if the stalled interviews can be started again.

The Indian command has consistently honored the decisions of prisoners in regard to attending interviews. If captives in the pro-Communist North Camp collectively refuse to attend, the decision will be up to each individual, an Allied officer said. He will have to crawl through the wire and surrender to an Indian guard or stay with the Communists.

Allied officers had talked to 250 South Koreans before the interviews were broken off. All chose to remain with the Communists.

The South Korean prisoner interviewed today said the order to stall the explanations before the remaining 77 Koreans were called was made by a 22-year-old Korean who runs the compound.

Kim said U. S. Sgt. Richard G. Corden of East Providence, R. I., and British marine Andrew Condron are leaders of the non-Koreans.

Youths Only Aspired to Be Dime-Store Bandits

But, they said, they had no intention of burglarizing the bank. "We thought we were entering a 10-cent store next door."

Dewey Upholds Brownell Action

Says Official Observes His Duty in Revealing Spy Infiltration

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York says Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. was "simply observing his oath of office" in making public the Harry Dexter White case.

In a speech last night at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner Dewey discussed Brownell's charge that former President Harry S. Truman promoted White in the government though he knew the FBI had labeled him as a Russian spy.

The nation, Dewey said, "must develop sound and proper means of protecting itself from treason," and he added:

"I suggest that it is the duty of all who love their country to contribute to this cause, and that the attorney general was simply observing his oath of office in revealing how spies achieved positions of awesome power at the heart of our government."

The governor praised President Eisenhower as "the greatest leader of our times."

He said Eisenhower had "forced a truce in Korea" and the Republicans had cleaned "spies and traitors" out of government.

He charged the Democrats bungled the nation into war and lacked "the courage or the capacity to win the war or win the truce." He also attacked a talk Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate who lost to Eisenhower, made in Philadelphia Saturday night.

Stevenson said that the Republicans were spreading "four fears." But Dewey asserted:

"Confidentially, it is only one fear that the Eisenhower administration is spreading: it is a fear among the Democrats that the Republicans will succeed in bringing real peace to this world after the catastrophic failure of the Democrats."

The United States spends about 150 million dollars a year on aid to the blind but only about 1½ million dollars of private and pubic funds on research on eye diseases.

Middle Income Group to Benefit

Detroit Member of Ike's Housing Board Outlines Liberalized Program

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit member of President Eisenhower's housing group said today prospective home buyers of the middle-income class would benefit from the proposed liberalized home mortgage program.

The view was expressed by Rodney M. Lockwood, Detroit builder who served on the Prsident's advisory committee on government housing policy.

This is the committee which has proposed the no down payment, 40-year mortgage program as a government housing policy.

Principally, it is intended to benefit low-income families buying homes in the $,600-a-house or less price group.

Lockwood, however, said the proposal also would work to the benefit of families which buy homes in the $12,000 to $20,000 group.

This differed with one earlier conception in the loan and building field that it might not be of material benefit to families in the higher income group.

But Lockwood said thousands of middle-income families would benefit from liberalized mortgage terms under the proposed policy.

He said the present down payment of 20 per cent would be cut approximately by a third for buyers in the $12,000 to $20,000 field.

Ex-Dancer Runs Exhibit of Fish

Husband Made Diving Bell to Take Viewers to Bottom of Tank

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Marian Martine held the wicked-looking leopard shark in one hand, brushed her blonde hair back with the other and said:

"Isn't he cute"

The six - foot shark, which weighed nearly as much as Mrs. Martine's 100 pounds, wriggled from head to tail and bared a row of razor-sharp teeth.

"See those teeth," Mrs. Martine said. "They can tear your arm to shreds if you don't know how to handle them."

Mrs. Martine, a good-looking, 36-year-old ex-adagio dancer, slipped the leopard shark back into the water, watched it disappear into the marine life tank she operates at the beach playland, and explained how she got into such a business.

My husband, Ed, and I were sitting at home one night and Ed was looking at a fish bowl we had," she said.

"Ed got to thinking how you can't see much when you look at fish through the water from above.

"He thought it would be a great idea if you could build something that would go down into the water so you could see the fish right up close, swimming around you.

"Ed's a good mechanic so he went to work right away building his first diving bell."

"That was 17 years ago," Mrs. Martine said. "And we're still at it."

The Martines now have five diving bells operating at amusement centers on both coasts.

The diving bell, which resembles something Prof. August Piccard would use on one of his expeditions, is four and one-half ton contraption with 13 portholes.

At San Francisco, customers are taken to the bottom of a 30-foot deep, 300 - thousand gallon tank filled with 1,000 of the strangest looking animals you ever saw.

Included are 300 sharks, 100 of the man-killing sting rays, and an assortment of shiners, black snappers, striped bass, flounder and halibut. Some of the sting rays weigh 200 pounds and have a six-foot wing spread, while the sharks average 60 pounds and are six to seven feet long.

Mrs. Martine, mother of a seven-year-old daughter, said it took a couple of years to get used to living with sharks and sting rays, but now she handles them like a veteran.

"We used to have octopus around here," she said, "but they're too much trouble. One of them got out of the tank one day and started walking down the midway."

Humans Passe in Speedy Era of Space Ships?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The era of space travel will make human pilots obsolete says Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of the Franklin Institute's Fels Planetarium.

As he sees it, man is incapable of handling present-day speeds.

"Yet, the speeds which are on the horizon today," Dr. Levitt points out, "are a small fraction of those needed to leave the earth."

Solution? Mechanical controls which act as the brain for the space craft, Dr. Levitt says.

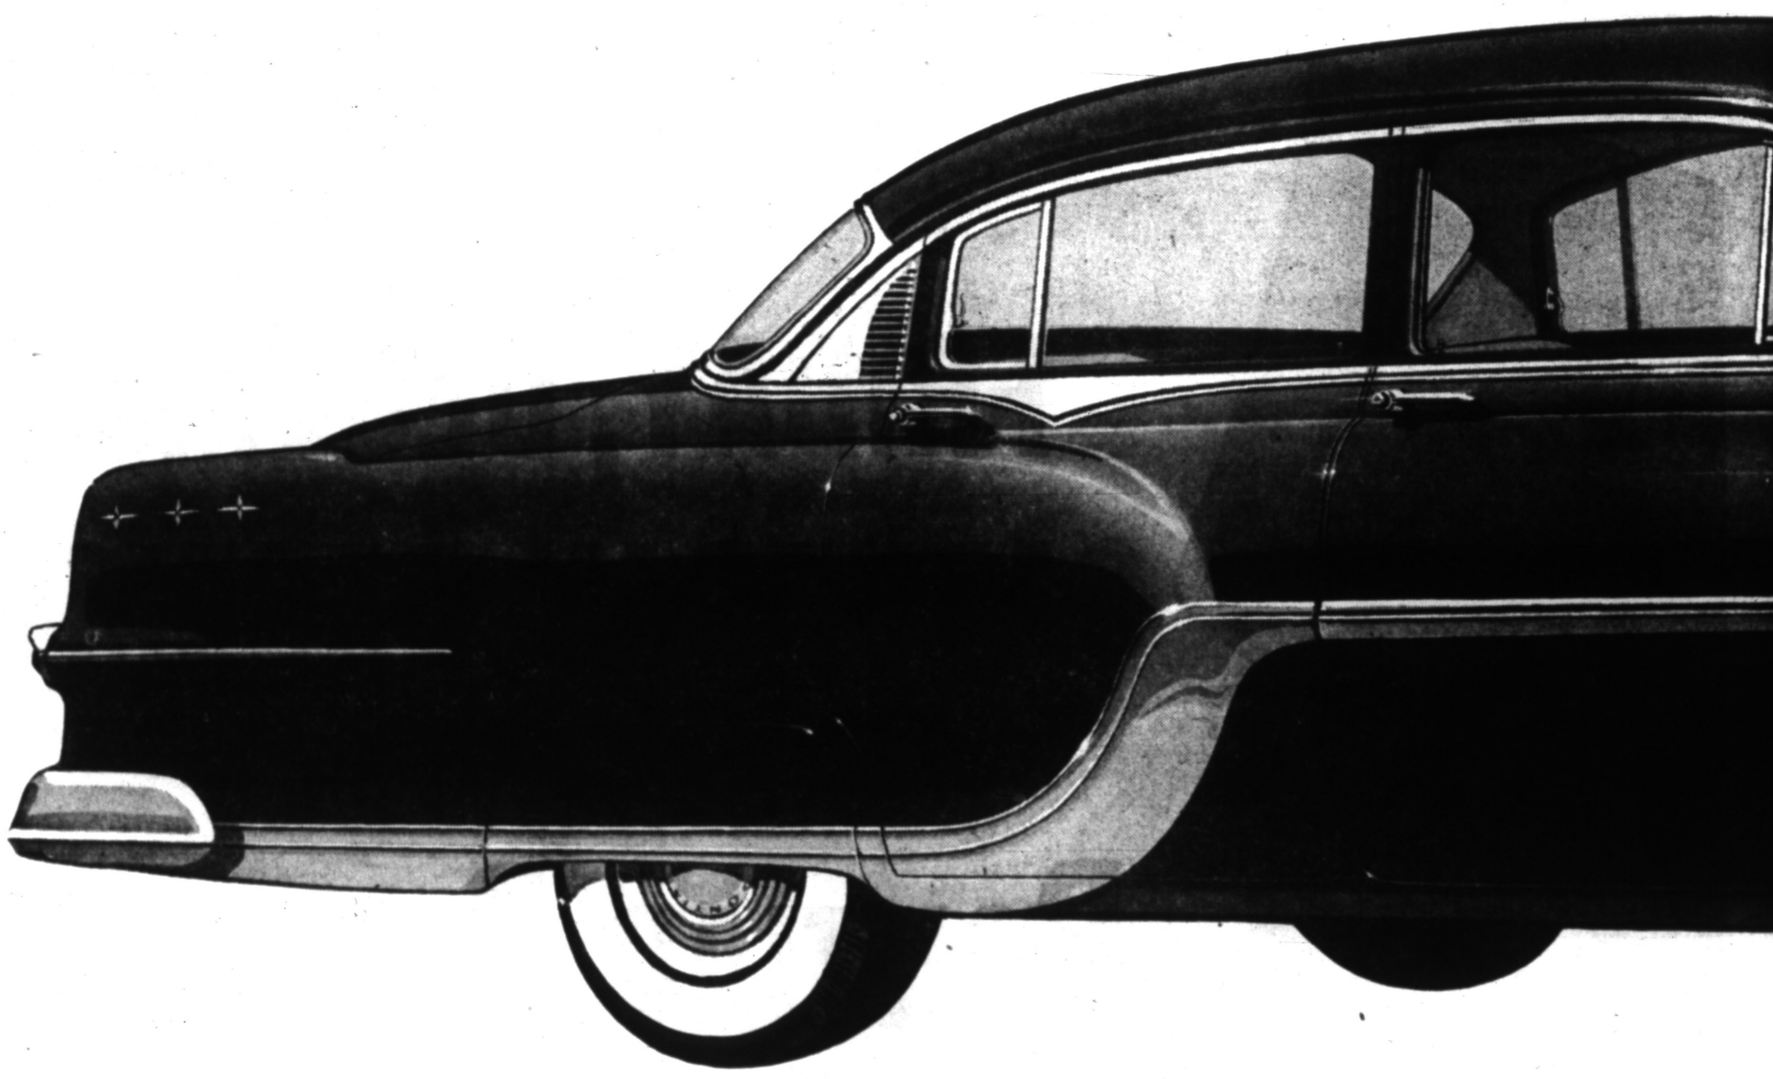

"When space travel becomes a reality," the scientist predicts, "then man will go along for the ride, since he is capable neither physically or mentally of coping with the problems this type of speed will pose."

Mama Knows Best!

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP)—A mother bear did not follow when Glacier Park Ranger Norm Taylor shooed her cubs to safety off Going-to-the-Sun Highway, Taylor said that while he watched the cubs go into the woods their mother reached into his patrol car and stole his lunch.

Ohio Turnpike to Stress Safety

High-Speed Expressway to Have Time-Saving, Life-Saving Features

COLUMBUS, O. (NEA) — A long step toward reducing the lethal gap between high speed automobiles and low speed roads is being taken in present construction of the Ohio Turnpike.

The 241-mile expressway, crossing the northern part of the state, will connect with the Pennsylvania Turnpike, and when completed in 1955 will incorporate the latest and best in highway engineering.

Forming, with the New Jersey and Pennsylvania turnpikes, the third link in a high-speed expressway which one day will stretch from New York to Chicago, the Ohio Turnpike's outstanding features will be the result of lessons learned from the other two turnpikes.

For instance, there's the matter of space between the two separate roadbeds. The minimum width of the dividing area will be 56 feet and at certain places in rough country it will reach 192 feet.

This reduces the possibility of a car hurtling across the strip into traffic coming in the opposite direction.

The widened area will also make it possible for snowplows to pile snow completely off the highways. It will serve, too, to reduce the glare from oncoming headlights, particularly as it will be planted with shrubs.

Turnpike planners have been keeping a sharp eye on multi-car pileups which have occurred on the Pennsylvania and New Jersey turnpikes because of bad weather, particularly fog and a combination of smoke and fog.

Engineers here are studying plans for a system of flashing electric signs which would give motorists reduced speed limits in case of fog, ice, snow or other bad weather conditions.

Latest communications devices would enable highway patrol cars, service crews, and toll stations to keep in constant contact for posting up-to-the-minute information.

"We're going to be aggressive and imaginative," says James W. Shicknessy, Turnpike Commission chairman. "We're not going blindly to follow other safety patterns for the sole reason that they are existing, accepted standards now."

Here is an illustration of what he means. In addition to the two 12-foot-wide lanes in each direction, the outside edge of each roadway will be flanked by a 10-foot-wide macadam shoulder. The inner edge of each roadway will have an eight-foot shoulder of the same hard-surface material.

Besides providing an all-weather emergency parking area, the outside shoulder should enable big trucks, which have been forced to park at the roadside to get up sufficient speed on the shoulder before they pull back onto the turnpike.

The inner shoulder is designed primarily to avoid the squeeze when two cars try to pass a third car at the same time.

To keep drivers from making U-turns to get to restaurants or service stations on the opposite side of the road, or from parking their cars and walking across the road, all service areas will be erected in pairs, one on each side of the road.

To break the monotony of highway driving on an unobstructed road, there will be no long, straight stretches. Charles P. Smith, executive assistant to the Turnpike Commission, says the longest straightway will be only two or three miles.

It is expected that passenger cars will be able to save four hours crossing the state on the turnpike and that trucks can save six hours.

With Ohio's turnpike due for completion in 1955, and with Indiana's now in the planning and money-raising stage, it won't be long before a New Yorker can step into his car and drive to Chicago without being held up by a single stop light or intersection.

Mittens Plasticized

NEW YORK (UP) — Children's mittens now are given a protective plastic coating, so that moisture from snowballs and snowmen will not seep through. The mittens are lined with jersey but coated on the outside with bright plaid vinyl plastic (Plasticote Glove Co., Milwaukee).

Mamie, Madame Pandit Are Runners-up in Poll

Mrs. Luce, 'Miss Frances', Lucille Ball Among the Top Newsmakers

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Elizabeth of England is voted Woman of the Year for the third time in the 12th annual women's editor poll of AP newspapers.

Twice before the nation's women's editors named her as top woman news personality of the year—in 1947, when the royal romance of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip first hit the front pages, and in 1952, when England's crown princess succeeded to the throne.

This year the pomp and panoply of the coronation, plus the current world tour of the young Queen and her handsome consort, once again make Queen Elizabeth II the dominant news figure among the world's women.

Runners-up in the poll were Mamie Eisenhower, whose sparkling smile is familiar to all newspaper readers, and Mrs. Vijaya Pandit of India, current president of the U. N. General Assembly.

Women voted outstanding in their respective fields for 1953 are as follows:

PUBLIC SERVICE: Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of the newly created Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the second woman in history to hold U. S. Cabinet rank.

POLITICS: Clare Boothe Luce, first woman ambassador to Rome from any nation and first woman ever appointed to head a major U. S. Embassy.

BUSINESS: Jacqueline Cochran, who this year managed to roll up two new aviation records while running three cosmetics companies doing a business of several million dollars a year.

EDUCATION: Dr. Frances R. Horwich, "Miss Frances" of TV's "Ding-Dong School", an NBC network show originating in Chicago and aimed at both entertaining and instructing pre-school children.

MUSIC: Helen Traubel, opera singer whose break with the Metropolitan Opera Company this year launched a wide controversy over the merits of classical music versus the popular variety. Miss Traubel chose to continue her nightclub singing rather than sign a contract with the Met which forbade such appearances.

LITERATURE: Edna Ferber, whose best - selling novel, "Giant," this year roused the ire of Texans and caused a continuing controversy providing lively and copious newspaper reading.

STAGE AND MOVIES: Shirley Booth, who this year, at 45, won the movie Oscar as the best actress of the year for her first movie, "Come Back, Little Sheba."

SPORTS: Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the perennial golf champion who this year won her greatest victory, emerging triumphant after a grim bout with cancer.

RADIO-TV: Lucille Ball, co-star with her husband, Desi Arnaz, of the sensationally successful TV show, "I Love Lucy."

Sorority Observes Season in Berkley

The annual Christmas party of Omega Mu Sigma sorority was held Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Russell Dodd of Berkley.

Mrs. Leo Halfpenny, assisted by Mrs. Milo McLintock, was chairmen for the party which featured a cooperative dinner attended by 17 members and two guests. Donations were taken for the annual Christmas basket given by the sorority.

Christmas Is Ultra Gay in Filmland

Hollywood Women Pick Gala Gowns for Holidays

One of the brightest seasons of the year, Christmas, is particularly gala in Hollywood. Naturally, where every day is a party day with beautiful motion picture stars in attendance, holiday events are more spectacular and glamorous than those of most other communities.

And, just as women all across the country are buying festive new dresses for Christmas and New Year's celebrations, filmdom's lovely women are readying their wardrobes for exciting occasions.

The gown Arlene Dahl is reserving for her most important evenings is of rich gold-embroidered brocade and matching satin. The strapless satin bodice is softly draped over the bustline, and the brocade skirt is slim in front, with a voluminous bustle effect in back extending to the floor.

Irene Dunne is enthused over her latest fashion acquisition, which will sparkle at any Christmas party and throughout the late winter season. The dress is floor length, of pure white silk taffeta, with a tightly fitted Empire waistline, widely flaring skirt and long, tight sleeves. The bodice is draped with a low, square neckline.

Fit for a southern belle is the ankle-length dancing dress that will be the admiration and envy of all Dorothy Lamour's friends. The fitted torso top is of red silk effect so popular with the stars this season. The skirt is white silk organdy, widely flared.

Gracie Allen, always practical, prefers the street-length dress that can start at late tea, go on to dinner at the Brown Derby and last through a dancing party. Her Christmas "best dress" is a long-sleeved sheath of heaviest gray wool lace, with a high satin cummerbund banding the midriff, and a low, scooped neckline.

Coincidentally, all the girls have chosen diamonds as the most appropriate holiday jewels. All own magnificent drop earrings, which they are wearing with such additions as bracelets for Arlene and Gracie, and a diamond collar for Irene.

Don Loper, Hollywood's favorite couturier, likes pale blue for Christmas and has designed a silk ensemble calculated to create a happy mood.

The coat is loose and straight, with three-quarter sleeves and tuxedo front. It is worn over a full-skirted, sleeveless dress with gathered bodice and side skirt panels.

Pineapple Plant

You can grow an exotic, palm-like plant from the top of a pineapple. Planted in a pint jar of water, the top will quickly take root.

All Saints Guild 4 Hold Yule Party

Mrs. Elizabeth Halsey opened her home on Lorraine court Wednesday afternoon to members of Guild Four of All Saints Episcopal Church for their annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Lillian Eaton had charge of the program which included the singing of Christmas carols. Gifts were exchanged and secret pals revealed. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Eaton and Betty Halsey.

Mrs. George Widdifield was a guest of the group and Mrs. Martha Webster and Mrs. Clare Franklin were welcomed as new members.

Lincoln's Son Knew

On Christmas Day, 1864, visitors entering the front door of the White House observed a little band of street urchins following President Lincoln's son Tad through the hall. "I'm fetching them in for dinner," he told the group. The President's tired face lighted up with a smile.

Make Sure Fitted Sheets Are Right Size for Bed

"What's the correct size fitted sheet for my bed?" ask many homemakers. These corner-fitted sheets are such newcomers to the household linen closet that there's often uncertainty as to the right size for the mattress.

It's important to realize that with fitted sheets the right size is even more important than with regular flat sheets. You can adjust and tuck under with a flat-type sheet—but a fitted sheet must really fit!

Most of the well-known brands of fitted sheets today are made to fit the dimensions of standard inner spring mattresses. If that's what you have, here's a useful size guide:

For twin bed mattress (39"x75")
twin bed size fitted sheet
For double bed mattress (54x75") double bed fitted sheet
For youth bed mattress (33"x66")
youth bed fitted sheet
For crib mattress (27"x52")
crib fitted sheet

Now if you have a special length or width bed, a particular Hollywood style, or an orthopedic type mattress, the regular flat-type sheets are best for you.

If you have a foam rubber mattress, you'll find most fitted sheets a satisfactory fit. Because of the resilience of rubber, these sheets cannot be expected to stretch as tautly as on a more rigid mattress.

However, even on a foam rubber mattress, fitted sheets are less inclined to rumple during use than a regular flat sheet.

As to pillow cases, there are now special sizes made for foam rubber pillows. Being smaller than standard feather or down sizes, foam rubber pillows, generally 18"x24", require a pillow case in percale of 38"x36", and in muslin, 38"x35".

Cole Home Is Opened Wednesday

Mrs. Byron C. Cole of Sylvan Shores drive opened her home Wednesday evening for the annual Christmas party of Women's Association of Sylvan Shores.

Assisting her as hostesses were Mrs. Elmer McLean, chairman of the luncheon committee: Mrs. Carl Shank, Mrs. Arthur Vernon, Mrs. Howard Droeser, Mrs. C. B. Steffey and Mrs. O. W. Lewis.

Mrs. Ross Hulet gave a reading, "This Is Christmas". Forty six members were present, and new members for the year were honored.

Mrs. Robert Morris and Mrs. George Wonsh were guests. Mrs. Michael Gallo and Mrs. Douglas Haldane were welcomed as new members, and a gay Christmas tree and gift exchange added to the holiday atmosphere. A luncheon followed.

Crippled Children Feted

A magician and a puppet show were highlights of Oakland County Society for Crippled Children's party at All Saints Episcopal Church Wednesday afternoon.

Leslie Ware produced the magic tricks assisted by Mrs. Ware, and Birmingham Puppeteers of AAUW wrote and produced the puppet show. Santa Claus distributed gifts.

Children were invited from all over the county, their names being procured from the files of the society, as well as from Sister Kenny Foundation, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and Pontiac and Royal Oak Boards of Education.

Preparations for the party began in October with various groups readying gifts for the children.

Working on gifts were Birmingham Rotary Anns, Clarkston Rotary Anns, Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron national sorority, Berkley Rotary Club, Avon Child Study Club and Clarkston Senior Dance Club.

A fund to purchase fruit and candy for the children was raised by Ortonville Rotary Club, BO Chapter PEO of Ferndale and Avon Child Study Club.

Phillip C. Baker of Royal Oak, president of the society; Mrs. Leon Skelley, cerebral palsy pre-school teacher; Mrs. Aileen Lau of Royal Oak, speech therapist, and Mrs. Gerald Kirkby, executive secretary, all contributed to make the party a success for 150 little children.

Having a wonderful time at the party Wednesday afternoon at All Saints Episcopal Church were (left to right) Avitha Mick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletis Mick of Yale avenue; Lauren LaFay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence LaFay of Union street, and Arthur Diaz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Diaz of Perkins street. They were just three of the many children invited to the Christmas party sponsored by Oakland County Society for Crippled Children.

Arthur Perkins Speaks at Concert on Wednesday

Composition Presented for First Time in Pontiac in Casa del Rey Program

An audience of music-lovers from Pontiac, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Clarkston gathered in the ballroom of the Casa del Rey last evening to enjoy a concert presented by four members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra who also play in the newly organized Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Jack Boesen, first violin, concert-master of the Pontiac Symphony; Harold Laudenslager, second violin; Nicholas Waselowich, viola, and Leo Graham, violoncello, played String-Quartet No. 1 by the Spanish composer Juan Arriaga, contemporary of Mozart.

Heard for the first time in Pontiac, this composition, typically Spanish in its sprightly change of pace and predominance of dance rhythms, was executed in a masterly and delightful manner.

Guest speaker of the evening was Arthur W. Perkins, assistant manager of the Detroit Symphony, who was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Donald B. Hogue.

Others heard briefly were John Riley, president of the Pontiac Association, Jay Jacobsen, vice president; Kenneth Turner of Will-O-Way, member of the board of directors, and Francesco Di Blasi, conductor of the Pontiac Symphony.

Refreshments and a social hour followed the concert. Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. George Wyman and Mrs. D. R. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. James Dunn.

Other officers include Mrs. Claude Dalrymple of Keego Harbor, parliamentarian; Mrs. Herbert Schaefer, liaison, Mrs. Paul Zumbrunnen, public relations and historian; Mrs. Joseph Oberlee of Lake Orion, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. William Kelly, chaplain.

A joint installation of the post and auxiliary was announced for February, and it was announced that the auxiliary charter will remain open for three months.

A discussion of child welfare and hospital work followed, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Schaefer assisted by Mrs. John Dalrymple, Mrs. Ernie Kergler and Mrs. Arvil Canady.

Gay Pantaloons Will Billow Out Beneath Skirts

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Those crazy, mixed-up fashion designers have done it again—this time with pantaloons.

They're always foisting something silly and saucy on the public too, let's be frank about it, make money and influence plutocrats.

The latest is the comeback of the pantaloon, a style that looked odd in the 18th Century. And still does.

The "pixilated pantaloon," newest nonsense in lingerie, is a side zippered affair in taffeta which balloons from the waist to just below the knee. There it is held in place with a gay ruffle of nylon tricot.

This, according to the makers, is to be worn under full or modified flare skirts. Since skirts are shorter this year, the ruffle will show. And in a brisk wind it will be daring as all get out.

That's why they're making pixilated pantaloons in gay colors as well as the conventional pastels.

Men Will Show 'Shapely' Ankles With New Style

NEW YORK (UP)—Men will be giving their distaff side a bit of competition in the leggy-art department next year, according to today's report from the Fashion Foundation of America.

The modest man may be a little shocked when he hears this, but for those who take pride in well-shaped muscular ankles and shins the foundation says 1954 will find the well-dressed man wearing his trousers 4 inches above the ankle. The new style also should provide for more socks appeal and will accent shoe design.

The new length and style will also be a boon in inclement weather for the man who rolls his cuffs to save dripping trousers bottoms. The pocketbook comes in for an assist, too, because the "new look" will "save many a pressing bill," the foundation said.

Owen Students Entertain PTA

Pupils of Owen School entertained Wednesday when Owen PTA held its Christmas program.

The kindergarten class members entertained with the kindergarten band and danced under the direction of their teacher. First grade students sang "Christmas Tree" and second and third grades sang "Light the Candle," "Christmas Chimes" and "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

"Jingle Bells" was sung by Owen Chorus and the Christmas story was told by Wanda Chenly as the stage reflected the setting of the Savior's birth. The chorus closed the program singing Christmas carols.

Unseen Accessory

Emphasize the crisp look of your clothes by wearing accessories that bring out the gay freshness of your youth. And remember that fragrance is your unseen accessory. But do stick to light, fresh scents—and wear toilet water or cologne daily. Reserve your perfume for party time.

Bent Eyeglasses Can Be Cause of Vision Trouble

One-armed "driving" can be as disastrous for delicate eyewear as for automobiles.

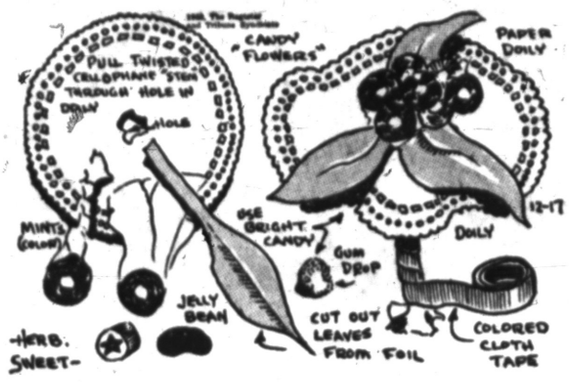

When you steer eyeglasses off your face, use both hands, instead of just one.

This advice is offered by experts who point out grabbing temples by one hand and yanking off the eyewear is bad for the vision aids and worse for your eyes. This causes flexing, or the bending of the horizontal plane of the frames.

The sensitive adjustment of your eyewear is thus thrown out of kilter. And even a slight maladjustment can be reflected in discomfort.

The glasses won't fit properly and there may possibly be such symptons as irritability, headache or nausea.

Sometimes seemingly harmless little accidents knock eyewear out of whack. That's particularly true when you nudge the nose pads supporting your glasses out of place.

Corsages Made of Candy

Would you like to decorate your Christmas gifts with a "little remembrance?" It is fun to make your Christmas packages look nice, then the receiver can wear this little candy corsage on Christmas Day.

These can be used for favors at a Christmas party too. Mrs. Anna Karl of Forest Hills, N. Y. says that her children like to make these and that the corsages are so pretty, they won't tear them up to eat the candy.

You will need a little doily for each corsage. Put a little hole in the middle. Use brightly colored Christmas candy for the "flowers" and wrap each piece in a square of cellophane paper leaving a "stem" on each piece.

Pull these stems through the hole in the center of the doily. You will need from five to seven pieces of candy for flowers, depending on the size of the candy.

Twist the cellophane stems of the flowers and the stems of the leaves together, then start at the top and wrap them securely with colored cloth tape. This will look like a real corsage.

Friends Ask to Get Goods Wholesale

Wife Claims They Take Advantage of Hubby's Business

By EMILY POST

No situation is harder to meet tactfully than the one described in the following letter: "Won't you please write something in your column about those persons who tactlessly ask their friends in businesss to get them something 'wholesale'?

"My husband works for a large company which makes all sorts of electrical appliances. My friends—still more mere acquaintances—are constantly asking me to ask him to get this, that or the other thing for them.

"I didn't mind this at first, but now it has become a real nuisance. Can you tell me, please, what I can do about putting a stop to this without causing hard feelings?"

Answer: You can say that your husband has overreached his quota and cannot buy anything more for some time to come.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a remarried war widow and have a son going to school. His name is different from mine and each new school term he is asked by his teacher why his name is not the same as his mother's, and this seems to embarrass him.

To end this, would it be proper to include my first husband's name in parenthesis after my signature when signing his report card or any note I have to write to his teacher: For example: Mary Brown (Smith).

Answer: I'm sorry, but to do as you suggest would not only be incorrect but even more confusing. It is certainly not difficult for your son to say that Mr. Brown is his stepfather.

17-Year-Old Fiancee of Soldier Asks How Long Engagement Should Last

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 17—engaged to a boy who is 20 and now in the Army. I would like to know how long a girl and a boy should be engaged before they get married?"

That depends on so many things! If you've known each other all your lives, you don't need a long engagement to get better acquainted. If this romance is fairly new, it's prudent to take a few months, maybe six, to explore each other's personality so that you can be dead sure you want to get married.

And, of course, your fiance is in the Army. Maybe you ought to wait until he gets out and can afford a wife and a home of his own before you make any wedding plans. It's also possible that circumstances make it quite feasible for you to be married while he's still in uniform.

There's no set rule about engagements these days. Your sureness, mature readiness and economic responsibility will decide how long you must wait. From my angle, a long engagement is a great strain.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My girl friend and I met a couple of boys who live quite a distance from our home town and we've been writing back and forth.

"We have invited the boys down to a party, and we also asked them to come down the week before the party so we could get better acquainted with them.

"What I want to know is this: Would it be all right for us to kiss them the first time they come down, or should we wait until the hayride?"

Why not wait until you get better acquainted? Kissing them too soon might spoil all your chances. A couple of dates when you first met and a couple of letters are just the beginning of getting acquainted.

Kissing them depends on whether you really click, whether your date and the party are really sentimental occasions. It need never happen actually. It all depends.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 14 and I don't agree with my mother on what time I should come home from a weekend party. Mother thinks 11 o'clock, but I think midnight or 12:30. Please give me your opinion."

Staying up late for the sake of staying up late has always seemed sort of silly to me. I'm all for going home before the party runs down at the heels. And that means different hours for different parties.

Movie dates can be easily timed by the hour of the first show plus eating afterward. A party at someone's house should break up very shortly after refreshments have been served. A dance might go until "Goodnight Ladies" at midnight. A prom is extra-specially late.

Instead of asking your mother for blanket late permission, get special permission depending entirely on what you're invited to do.

New Ceramic Items Boast Good Contemporary Style

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Decorative objects stand high on Christmas gift lists. Especially this year, when everyone is so home conscious and the quality of even modest objects is noticeably improved.

Ceramics, for example. Instead of the welter of too-quaint or extreme, faddy items that once were nearly all there was to choose from—except at high price tags—well-designed, simple objects are now seen in most stores.

Contemporary styling especially gains ground. The work of artists and craftsmen who have developed distinctive contemporary style begins to be recognized widely and collected.

And those whose homes have contemporary furnishings particularly will enjoy receiving well-chosen decorative objects.

They may have only a few because the choice of appropriate items has been limited, and they are likely now to feel more need of extra decoration for their plainer rooms.

60 Candles Lighted on Christmas Eve

Each Christmas Eve at the annual Feast of Light Service of the Protestant Episcopal Chapel of the Intercession, Trinity Parish, Broadway and 155th street, New York, the children of the neighborhood and their parents gather to hear the story of the Christ Child and the reasons for lighting 60 candles in the chapel—one for the Birth of Christ, 12 for His Apostles, 27 for the books of the New Eestament and 20 for the centuries of Christianity.

From there they cross the street to Trinity Church cemetery to visit the grave of Clement Clarke Moore who, in 1822, wrote for his children " 'Twas the Night Before Christmas." The custom of placing a wreath on the grave began in 1911 and has continued ever since. Mr. Moore died in 1863.

Childless Old Couple Gave Happiness With Houseparties for Mothers, Kids

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Around the holiday time, memories always come back to me of a wonderful old couple I knew years ago. They have passed on now, but they are always in my heart at Christmas-time.

They were childless and they were not rich. They both worked very hard—he at his little store and she running the house in back. They loved children and they had a wonderful way of showing it.

There were lots of widows and divorcees in town, women who worked to support their children, and who had to board them away from home, seeing them only on weekends.

The old couple kept a list of such mothers all through the year, and at Christmas-time they had a great big houseparty.

They filled their rooms with cots, so they could sleep a lot of people. And they invited all those mothers to come, with their children, to spend Christmas Eve and Christmas Day together.

They had wonderful holiday food and lots of little "stocking" presents for all the children and the mothers. And they had a huge tree.

"You see," the wife explained, "Christmas is a time when children and their mothers have got to be together. If they have that, they can stand all the other days of separation.

"And these children need a chance to be with lots of other children, to have a big tree with hundreds of presents under it."

Through the years, those Christmas houseparties became an institution. And the mothers who began to do well, and to get homes of their own and sometimes husbands, would still go back for the day and bring lots of presents for the other mothers not so fortunate.

And the encouragement which those lovely Christmases gave the mothers was enough to fill them with hope for the year, and often times, the hope became a reality and they found life becoming better and better.

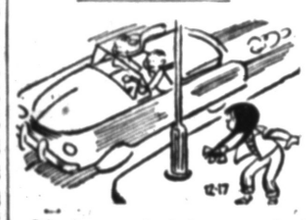

"But don't think we're unselfish," the wonderful old lady added. "We're the most selfish people in the world.

"We give ourselves the best possible kind of Christmas, and through the years we've gotten so many 'grandchildren' that we feel piggish!"

Tip on Starching

In starching clothes, put the wrong side out. For white garments, use the starch as hot as you can handle it. Starch those you want stiffest first.

It's inconvenient to run out of gas when driving—but much more serious to run out of common sense.

Palladium Used in Gem Settings

Fine jewelry today is manufactured in gold, platinum and palladium, the latter being the most recent rare metal to be used for this purpose. Jewelers give palladium additional hardness and strength by combining it with another precious metal, ruthenium.

It is widely accepted in jewelry today because, due to its ductility, palladium holds gems more securely; has a brilliant whiteness that makes diamonds appear larger; and is in the gold price range, although 100 times rarer than gold.

High-style designers often prefer the lighter weight of palladium when creating large, gem-set necklaces, bracelets, earrings and brooches. They say this condideration is important today, with the popularity of huge hoop and pendant-type earrings and the very large brooches worn on delicate evening gowns.

How About Noel?

The Chicago telephone directory contains the names of various persons answering a call for Mr., Mrs. or Miss Christmas, Yule and Holly but alas, none for Mistletoe.

Watermelon Art Hobby Profitable but Perishable

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Arthur Greenwood's outlet for his artistic impulses is the watermelon.

For 30 years, the genial restaurant man, a native of Greece, has made a hobby of carving landscapes, flowers, American flags, American Legion emblems and other adornments on the rinds of ripe watermelons.

Greenwood said he started this hobby when he began scratching the words "back again" on the melons to signal the return of the season. He said people noticed the engraving and he was encouraged to sketch scenes.

He places the engraved melons in his restaurant window. They must be replaced every few days, however, as the rind dries and the white etched lines turn brown.

Yule Tree Custom Started by Prince

What the Christmas tree is to us the creche is to the Italians, French and Spanish. All the south of Europe formerly observed Dec. 25 not by putting up a Christmas tree, but a miniature replica of the Nativity scene.

The Christmas tree as we know it originated in Germany and was introduced into England by Albert, Prince Consort of Queen Victoria. Emigrants brought the custom to America before the Revolutionary War, and since early in the 19th century the adoption has been widespread.

Home Yule May Prove Most Fun

Have you found that some of the joy of Christmas was lost in the delicate question — "Where shall we go this year?" If you're a newlywed, your mother assumes that you will be at her house, as you always were.

Then, your husband's family probably feels the same way about him. If you have several young children, you may decide to spend the day with both sets of parents, loading and unloading the car, eating two dinners, and geting the kids in and out of snowsuits.

Maybe you've already found the obvious solution to this problem — spending Christmas in your own home.

In this day of decentralized families, busy schedules, murderous holiday traffic, "going home" for Christmas can be an exhausting and dangerous strain, especially when a young couple has two sets of parents to keep happy.

If you want to spend Christmas in your own home, you should start promoting the idea early. For the first Christmas of your marriage, you will do well to run the marathon as usual. You'll keep all the in-laws happy, and since you probably won't have children yet, there shouldn't be too much effort involved.

But you must begin to look ahead to next year and next. Drop a few hints about having the old folks spend Christmas with you at your house.

And all this can be accomplished tactfully, so that before long you will have established the idea that you and your husband wish to enjoy your Christmas at your own home. But don't ever carry your case so far that you forget the basic Christmas spirit of fun and fellowship.

Dark Skirts Better

If you carry most of your weight below the waist, wearing light-colored blouses and dark skirts will help give an appearance of better proportions.

Worn Tablecloths Become Treasures

Many years ago at Kansas University, a Japanese student collected old worn-out tablecloths through the year and presented them as gifts at Christmastime to his best friends.

He had beautifully embroidered over all the holes and worn places lovely designs of Christmas subjects—trees, sprigs of holly, quaint little churches, in colors mostly red and green. The cloths have been treasured for many years by those who were fortunate enough to rate one of the prizes.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Youthful Defeat by Blonde Still Rankles in Memory

That recent survey that found the average American man preferring brunettes along with baseball, beefsteak and french fries confirms a suspicion of mine that lots of us go round feeling unhappy and inferior because we believe something that isn't true. Such as that gentlemen prefer blondes.

I was bitter about blondes long before Anita Loos aroused brunettes to consternation. I guess I was about 14 or 15 when I came off not even second best in a blonde-brunette bout.

MISS McBRIDE

It was unforunate that it happened just when it did, too, for I was having a bad time anyway because of one of those periods of unpopularity, real or fancied, that happen to adolescents.

That summer for weeks in my home town it had seemed to me that nobody liked me any more. The girls in my crowd never came to see me and they walked away if I approached them. I couldn't imagine what I'd said or done and I was too shy to ask them outright, as I'd do now if my friends avoided me.

So it was a great relief when an invitation came to visit my Cousin Edith in nearby Hannibal. It was always very gay at Cousin Edith's, plenty of parties and people. And sure enough I was whisked right from the train to some sort of Mississippi River regatta.

About all I remember except the blonde is that I sat in a box, surrounded by the men of the family including Cousin Tom from St. Louis, all satisfyingly gallant and attentive until along came Lila.

I shall never forget the way those men carried on over that child. She was lovely—curly golden hair, blue eyes and a complexion that one of the cousins called milk and roses. For the first time in my life I felt utterly drab and colorless. Of course I blamed it on the blonde and I've resented blondes ever since.

The Hannibal visit, though, turned out fine. One of Cousin Edith's parties gave me a glorious idea. The feature of the affair was a great block of ice, flower-wreathed, that held orange juice in its hollowed-out center.

I'd never seen anything like that and nobody in Paris, Mo., ever had either, I was sure. I hurried home and invited all my former friends to a party on my Aunt Mary's front porch. The highlight, of course, was the ice block.

The hollow wasn't quite as neat as Cousin Edith's in spite of red-hot flatirons, a boiling tea kettle and a good deal of frenzied fussing, but there it was anyway with orange sherbet in the center and yellow flowers encircling it. My guests were enchanted—everybody came, of course—and after that I belonged again.

Years later when they came to New York, I asked two of those girls right on the air what made them ostracize me that time. They had no idea what I was talking about.

And the moral of that is, don't get yourself hot and bothered over something that may be all in your imagination.

Insulation Not Always Advisable

Heating Efficiency Decreased if Used on Aluminum

By HUBBARD COBB

We find that it's often possible to improve the efficiency of heating systems by insulating the ducts or pipes that run from the heating plant to the individual room registers or radiators.

On the other hand, it's also possible to decrease the efficiency of some systems or at least not do them any good by the application of insulation. This is how it works:

If you have a forced warm air heating system and the ducts to the registers are made out of galvanied iron that has lost its shine, applying several layers of asbestos paper will decrease the amount of heat lost through the ducts, which means more will get to the register.

If, however, you apply the same amount of asbestos paper to aluminum ducts you will be making matters worse because the shiny surface of aluminum happens to be a pretty good insulation in itself.

When it's covered with asbestos paper it loses this insulating ability and all you have is what the paper provides.

To obtain the same amount of insulating efficiency from the paper as the uncovered ducts had to begin with would require eight or more layers of asbestos paper. Hardly worth it if you ask us.

As far as the steam pipes go on a two-pipe system, it's well worth the time and effort to insulate pipe from boiler to radiator.

It does not do any good, however, to insulate the return line, for you want this line to be slightly cooler than the rest of the system so that while the steam travels through, it will condense into a liquid for reheating the boiler.

Mrs. D. R. Wilson Hostess for Party

Pillar Club Holds Yuletide Celebration

Christmas greens, lighted tapers and figurines graced the ballroom of the Casa del Rey Tuesday evening when members of the Pillar Club held their annual Christmas party.

Mrs. D. R. Wilson was hostess for the affair assisted by Mrs. James Kinney, general chairman, Mrs. Claude Shoup, Mrs. Ray Meiser, Mrs. Wales Goodwin, Mrs. Howard Losee and Mrs. Frederick Holmes.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Philip Viereck who also told the story of the tradition, legend and symbol of Christmas flowers.

The flowers and shrubs she discussed included the poinsettia, mistletoe, holly, rosemary, white rose of Sharon, cherry tree, a branch of the bay tree, the thorn bush, rose of Jericho and the spruce and fir trees.

Mrs. Kinney, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Harold Northon and her group of students from Baldwin School Honor Choir.

Following several numbers, a vocal solo was presented by Diane Coleman, "Under the Stars," and a piano solo was given by Edward Santala, entitled "The Scarf Dance."

A reading, "Why the Chimes Rang," was given by Mrs. Meiser.

The program was concluded with singing of Christmas carols led by Mrs. Donald B. Hogue. Instead of the usual exchange of gifts, members decided on a gift of money to be presented to a local church for its building fund.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with an Italian cutwork cloth, centered with Christmas greens and tapers.

Attending with the 30 members were nine guests including Mrs. Roy Thompson, Norma Strickland, Mrs. Ralph Swaney, Mrs. Fred Hire, Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs. Ross Hulet, Beulah Phillips, Mrs. Isabel Selden, Mrs. Clarence Stolpe and Mrs. John Vanderlind.

The Jan. 12 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Voelker on Voorheis road.

Red Cross Founder Born on Christmas

Few persons know that Clara Barton, humanitarian, founder of the Red Cross in 1881 and its president for twenty-three years, was born on Christmas, in 1821.

Another historic Christmas: George Washington crossed the Delaware on that day in 1777. In a blinding snowstorm, he attacked Trenton the next day, captured 1,000 Hessians. Too much Christmas cheer in the enemy's camp?

Church Children to Attend Party

On Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 3 p.m. the children of the kindergarten, primary and junior groups, as well as the Mission Band children of the Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church School, will enjoy a Christmas party.

As a Christmas project, the boys and girls of these departments will give a special offering to provide milk for the boys and girls of Korea.

Mrs. Leonard Saari had charge of the guest book and refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. Russell French presiding at the punch bowl.

Pepys Said It

On Christmas, 1665, Samuel Pepys wrote: "To church in the morning and there saw a wedding in the church, which I have not seen many a day; and the young people so merry one with another. And strange to see what delight we married people have to see these poor fools decoyed into our condition, every man and woman gazing and smiling at them."

Starch Sheers

To Go With Punchbowl

Hot biscuits always taste delicious with holiday punch. To make the biscuits extra savory, add a half cup of grated cheddar cheese or a half cup of chopped cooked ham to your standard recipe for rolled biscuits. Cut the biscuits doll-size, bake them and serve them piping hot.

Have Liquid Saccharine

For calorie-counters only: liquid saccarine is now available in most drug stores. Its particular advantage is in cooking because it dissolves instantly, immediately penetrates foods and eliminates the stirring which is necessary with the tablet type.

Special Honors to Gingerbread

When I was a little girl, I used to shop on Christmas Eve with my father. We always bought Mother's presents — there's a magic something in the stores the day before Christmas.

Then before we went home, we would stop at a German bakery and buy some card gingerbread. Usually it was made in the form of a man or woman or even old St. Nick and had colored paper pictures fastened on with frosting.

Perhaps you would like to make some card gingerbread and shape it with cookie cutters. It is always made thicker than ordinary ginger cookies. It keeps fairly well.

Card Gingerbread

⅓ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup molasses
1⅔ cups flour
1½ tablespoon ginger
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream butter or margarine, add sugar gradually, egg, molasses, and flour mixed and sifted with ginger, salt, soda, and cinnamon. Chill. Roll ¼ inch thick, place on greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with sugar and cut in squares when done.

You may cut this into shapes with your cookie cutters. Use the larger cutters, as the dough is thicker than ordinary cookie dough.

Try These New Corn, Beans Ideas

For different and enticing flavors at mealtime, here are two new ideas for seasoning frozen vegetables. One is deviled corn—very tasty with bacon, a little mustard, and a dash of Worcestershire sauce. The other is frozen green beans in a surprising—and mighty delicious—combination with apples and sour cream. You've a treat in store when you try either of these tempting dishes!

Frozen Green Bean Wonder

*1 cup chopped unpeeled apple (about 1 medium apple)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 package frozen green beans
½ cup prepared sour cream

Saute apple in butter or margarine about 5 minutes or until just tender. Cook green beans according to package directions; drain. Add apples and butter to beans. Stir in sour cream and reheat. Amount: 3 to 4 servings.

Either Winesap or Jonathan apples are delicious in this recipe.

Deviled Frozen Corn

3 slices bacon, diced
¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 package frozen cut corn
Salt and pepper to taste

Saute diced bacon and onion until bacon is crisp. Stir flour and dry mustard into bacon fat to smooth paste. Stir in milk and Worcestershire sauce until smooth and thickened. Cook corn according to directions on package; drain. Mix corn with sauce, season with salt and pepper and serve. Amount: 3 to 4 servings.

Wonderful Turkey Dish

You can make a wonderful supper dish out of some of that leftover turkey. Just arrange slices of the cold bird on buttered toast; top with a hot tomato-cheese sauce and sprigs of parsley. Serve with lots of good strong coffee.

Candies Enhance Christmas Mood

CHRISTMAS CANDY—To please a child, a pappy, mommie, the most persnickety relative, the most up-nosed guest, men in the service and teenagers galore—make these Yuletide candies: Chocolate-dipped nuts, fudge trimmed a la Noel in red and green, and that newest candy of all, cherry-nut fudge made with cherry-flavored gelatin.

Brandy Butter Sauce Good on Fruit Cake

For the winter season, a delicious sauce to serve hot over sliced or crumbled fruit cake is Brandy Butter Sauce.

Brandy Butter Sauce

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup water
3 egg yolks, beaten
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 teaspoons brandy or ¼ teaspoon brandy flavoring
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Add water and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks to pan and cook for an additional five minutes, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and add butter, lemon juice, lemon rind and brandy (or brandy flavoring) and cool. Fold stiffly beaten egg whites into sauce mixture. Serve hot over sliced or crumbled fruit cake.

New Cherry-Nut Fudge Pleases Yule Candy Fans

The latest word from the land of Donder and Blitzen is that cherry nut fudge is all the rage for Christmas. Pack this new-fashioned pink fudge with some old-fashioned chocolate fudge made with instant cocoa mix.

Then, for a deluxe note, dip some almonds in melted chocolate, using the candy-making type made especially for dipping.

Cherry-Nut Fudge

3½ tablespoons (½ package) cherry-flavored gelatin
1¾ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon soda
¾ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped candied cherries
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine gelatin, sugar, soda and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until the gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 232).

Remove from heat; add butter. Cool to lukewarm (about 120). Then beat until mixture thickens and loses its gloss. Quickly stir in chopped candied cherries and chopped walnuts. Turn at once into greased 8 x 8-inch pan. When firm, cut into squares. Makes 20 to 24 peces.

Quick-Cook Fudge

1 cup instant sweet cocoa mix
2½ cups sugar
6 tablespoons butter
⅔ cup water

Have ready a greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until sugar is completely dissolved — about five minutes. Bring to a full rolling boil and cook one minute without stirring.

Remove from heat and beat with rotary egg beater or spoon until mixture begins to thicken. Continue beating with spoon until mixture begins to hold shape slightly. Turn at once into greased 8x8 inch pan.

When cool, cut into 2 x 1-inch bars. Makes 32 pieces. For plaid design on top of fudge, use red and green frosting through a pastry tube.

Chocolate-Dipped Nuts

Use Brazil nuts or almonds and candy-making chocolate.

For dipping, have room temperature between 60 and 70, for best results. Heat chocolate over hot water until partly melted. Then remove from heat and stir rapidly until entirely melted.

When chocolate feels cool to the touch (or when cooled to a temperature of 83); dip one end of each nut in the chocolate, then place on waxed paper until chocolate hardens.

(If any chocolate is left over, it may be poured into a pan lined with waxed paper and kept in a cool place to use for future dipping. Or add chopped nuts to the leftover melted chocolate, form into clusters, and place on waxed paper to harden.

Bake and Mail in Tin

If you plan to bake a fruit cake for Christmas mailing, here's a suggestion. You may bake your fruit cake right in a discarded coffee tin and use plastic or cellophane tape around the top to make it airtight. Sealed with the tape, the cake will keep moist indefinitely.

Cookie Balls Full of Vigor

For a number of years a favorite holiday cookie has been a rich little nutty cookie rolled in powdered sugar.

If you are fond of that kind of cookie, yet cannot eat the nuts — or want a not-quite-so-rich cookie for the children, these Booster Cookie Balls are made to order.

The wheat germ gives them a delightful flavor and packs a lot of nutrition into a small confection.

Booster Cookie Balls

1 cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup sugar
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup wheat germ
Confectioners sugar

Cream butter or margarine thoroughly. Add vanilla and orange rind; blend well. Add sugar gradually, blending thoroughly. Mix flour and wheat germ; add to mixture gradually, working in well. Knead dough in bowl until smooth and free from cracks. Form into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 400 oven 12-15 minutes. Roll, while hot, in confectioners sugar. Place on rack to cool. Makes 4-5 dozen cookies.

Tangerine Bavarian Uses Fresh Fruit

If the young-uns can be persuaded to part with the tangerines that come in their Christmas stockings, you can put them to use in a luscious tangerine Bavarian.

On second thought, tangerines are so plentiful this time of year, it won't hurt to buy a few extras especially for the Bavarian.

Fresh Tangerine Bavarian

1 tablespoon grated tangerine rind
⅔ cup diced tangerines (about 2 tangerines)
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup water
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon grated fresh lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup sugar

Grate the outside portion of tangerine; peel; remove the stringy white portion and as much of the membrane around the sections as possible. Break into pieces and set aside for later use. Soften gelatin in cold water. Mix the ½ cup sugar, salt and egg yolks. Gradually stir in milk; cook over low heat, stirring frequently until mixture is hot and coats a metal spoon. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken; stir in lemon and tangerine rind, lemon juice and tangerines.

Whip cream and fold into gelatine mixture. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks; gradually beat in the 1-3 cup sugar and fold into the mixture. Chill until ready to use. Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with additional tangerine sections and fresh mint. Makes 6 servings.

Like Holly Leaves

Slices of gumdrops or candied fruits and citron make holiday fruit cake look pretty when you arrange these decorations on the cake to look like holly leaves and berries. If you have made your cake well ahead of time, and are planning to decorate them after storing, dip the cut side of the gumdrops or candied fruits and citron into hot heavy sugar syrup and press onto the top in the desired design.

Add canned or frozen lemon juice to tomato juice, pineapple, or other fruit juices for breakfast zest. Delicious with cranberry juice, too.

My Inspiration Cake

Mrs. A. B. Kanago
Webster, South Dakota

Bake at 350° Fahrenheit for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 2 nine inch round layers.

Place 1 cup finely chopped nuts evenly over bottoms of 2 well greased and lightly floured nine inch round layer pans.

Grate 2 ounces sweet or semi-sweet chocolate reserve.

Sift together 2⅓ cups sifted Pillsbury Best Enriched Flour, 4½ teaspoons double acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups sugar into mixing bowl. Add ⅔ cup shortening, 1¼ cups milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat for 1½ minutes 150 strokes per minute until batter is well blended. (With electric mixer blend at low speed, then beat at medium speed for 1½ minutes.)

Add ⅔ cup egg whites which equal (4 large or 5 medium) unbeaten. Beat for 1½ minutes.

Spoon ⅓ of batter carefully into each nut lined pan using about ⅓ the batter. Sprinkle with the grated chocolate (½ in each pan). Spoon remaining batter into pans, spreading carefully so chocolate is not disturbed. Bake in moderate oven, 350° Fahrenheit 35 to 40 minutes. Let cool in pans 10 to 15 minutes before turning out. Cool thoroughly and frost layers, nut side up, with chocolate frosting. Spread frosting between and on sides of layers but frost only ½" around top edge of cake and about 1" in center.

Decorate chocolate frosting with reserved ⅓ cup white frosting thinned with 1 to 2 teaspoons water for easier spreading.

Chocolate Frosting—Combine 2 square (2 ounces) chocolate, ⅓ cup granulated sugar and ¼ cup water in sauce pan. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until chocolate melts and mixture is smooth and thick. Remove from heat, add 4 egg yolks, beat thoroughly, cool. Cream ¼ cup butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Blend in gradually 2 cups sifted confectioners sugar, creaming well. Reserve ⅓ cup of this mixture to decorate cake. Add cool chocolate mixture to remaining butter sugar mixture. Beat until smooth.

Pillsbury's BEST — THE GRAND NATIONAL ★ EUROPEAN RECIPE FLOUR

Easy Christmas Sundae

Easy Christmas Sundae: Whole cranberry sauce spooned over vanilla ice cream. If you like, you may heat the sauce when you take it from the can, adding a little brown sugar and cinnamon to it, and then ladle it over the ice cream.

Serve canned lemon juice in a handy cruet at the table, for mixing salads or seasoning vegetables to taste. Lemon juice is a seasoning your family will love!

To Store Pudding

Remember to store your plum pudding in a cool place—the lower shelf of your refrigerator is a good place for it. If your pudding is a very large one, you can cut off the amount you will need for a meal, and heat it in a double boiler.

To give a stew an exotic flavor, add one teaspoon of caraway seed, a half teaspoon of prepared mustard and one teaspoon of wine vinegar to your favorite recipe.

SPICED FRUIT PUNCH—Add a holiday note to your punch bowl with a frozen wreath of fruit in ice. This Spiced Fruit Punch is delicious served with Christmas cookies or tiny sandwiches. Add cherry and pineapple chunks on green picks to garnish each punch cup.

Biscuit Mix Helps on Quick Doughnuts

NEW YORK (INS)—Quick holiday doughnuts can be made with biscuit mix in case unexpected guests drop in.

The recipe for these "short-cut" doughnuts was worked out by Sylvia Schur, food editor of a national magazine.

Here is Miss Schur's recipe:

2 eggs
½ cup sugar
2 cups biscuit mix
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons grated orange or lemon rind

Crack the eggs into a mixing bowl and beat. Beat in sugar. Measure the biscuit mix (do not sift). Add to egg mixture alternately with the milk. Stir in the grated rind for flavor.

Preheat fat in a deep heavy pan to 375 degrees. Grease two teaspoons by dipping them in the fat. Pick up a spoon of batter, using other spoon to ease it into pan. Fry intil golden on one side (under two minutes), turn and brown other side. Remove and drain on paper toweling. Yields three dozen.

Try Frozen Fruit Wreath in Christmas Punch Bowl

With canned and frozen juices so easy to use, the problem of making punch is solved. Golden pineapple juice makes a good starting point for any fruit punch.

To make the fruit wreath for the punch bowl, place drained pineapple chunks, maraschino cherries (dried) and paper-thin half slices and wedges of fresh green lime in the bottom of an 8-inch ring mold. Barely cover the fruit with water and freeze until firm. Then completely fill the ring with water and freeze solid. The ring will last a long time and continue to look attractive as the ice melts.

Spiced Fruit Punch

½ cup sugar
1½ cups water
4 sticks cinnamon
12 cloves
1 can (46-ounces) pineapple juice
1½ cups orange juice
½ cup lemon juice

Simmer first four ingredients about 30 minutes. Strain and add to fruit juices. Chill. Pour into punch bowl and add the frozen wreath. Makes 2 quarts.

Rutabagas Rich With Vitamin C

WASHINGTON (INS) — Consider the old-fashioned rutabaga when you want a vegetable rich in Vitamin C, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The rutabaga, a yellow-fleshed turnip, has plenty of Vitamin C and holds the vitamin well during storage in cold temperatures, which makes it a good vegetable for winter use.

However, tests at the Maive Experiment Station showed most housewives fail to get the Vitamin C out of rutabagas because they cook it too long. The recommendde method is to put the vegetable in a small quantity of boiling water in a covered kettle and cook until just tender — about 20 minutes. This method saves 70 per cent of the Vitamin C.

Holiday Fruit Cups

Fruit cups are a good appetizer or dessert choice for holiday meals. Here's one we think is tops. Prepare 3 to 4 cups fresh fruit of your own choosing. Blend together ¼ cup honey, ½ cup Burgundy or other red table wine and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Lastly, add ½ cup chilled ginger ale and pour over fruit. Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

Pecans, Beef, Fish on Plentiful List

NEW YORK (INS) — Foods favored for the holiday season—and foods that help to keep the family fit—are on the December list of foods in plentiful supply from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Look for plenty of pecans from this year's record crop. Honey will be abundant, as will raisins, peanuts, and peanut butter — all of them candidates for holiday snacks and baked goods.

For the appetizing meals throughout the month, there will be plenty of beef and frozen fish for the main dish. Both potatoes and onions will be abundant enough to use often. And milk and other dairy products will be in excellent supply.

Leading candidates for the December fruit bowl include winter pears and grapefruit. And for holiday and routine cooking, homemakers will find plenty of food fats available.

To Garnish Roast Duck

Any preserved kumquats on your pantry shelf this holiday season? Serve them as an accompaniment to curry; or slice them for an ice cream topping; or garnish roast duck with them.

Holiday Toddy, Spicy and Hot, Welcomed by All

Because you haven't a handsome punch bowl, don't think you can't serve a punch for your holiday parties. Just take your largest mixing bowl, decorate it with poinsettia or holly stickers, and you have a punch bowl that is attractive enough for party service.

And your decorative ideas may be as simple or as elaborate as you please.

For a cold night a hot, spiced punch is a welcome and warming sight to your guests. Remember that, hot or cold, your punch must be flavorful and sparkling — eye appeal is important, as well as taste.

If you want a delicious hot punch to serve, try this one.

Hot Holiday Toddy

1 quart cider
¼ cup brown sugar
Few grains salt
4 whole allspice
6 whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon
2 28-oz. bottles pale dry ginger ale

Combine cider, sugar, salt and spices. Simmer 5 minutes. Strain into punch bowl. Heat 2 28-oz. bottles of pale dry ginger ale and add to spiced mixture.

Garnish with orange and lemon slices. Serve in mugs, using cinnamon sticks as stirrers. Makes 3 quarts.

Big Coffee News!

Now! A coffee so different from all other instants that every spoonful gives you up to 33% MORE FLAVOR!

FLAVOR is what you want in coffee—and true, wonderfully rich flavor is what you get in today's Borden's.

Here's a coffee unlike any other in the world, instant or ground!

Borden's new, exclusive Flavor-Control process keeps all the flavor IN—and all the air OUT—of each tiny crystal of real, 100% pure coffee.

Because Borden's is solid flavor crystals —not air-filled bubbles like other leading instant coffees—every spoonful gives you up to 33% more flavor, richer flavor.

Borden's saves you money, too—25¢ or more compared to a pound of ground coffee.

NEW Flavor-Control Process!

Magnified cross-sections show big difference in instant coffees

Other instant coffees are bubbles filled with air—contain both air and coffee.

Borden's flavor crystals are all coffee —no air—solid flavor through and through.

This difference means that every spoonful of new Borden's gives you up to 33% MORE FLAVOR than all other instants... thus a richer cup of coffee every time.

No Other Coffee Like It!

Now at your store in the same familiar jar.

TASTE IT! COMPARE IT! YOU'LL BE CONVINCED!

It's the richest instant of them all!

Make Pancakes With Cornmeal

Every mother knows that age serves youth, particularly when son's and daughter's teenage friends make home their Sunday afternoon rendezvous. What to serve for supper is the frequent problem.

Economical cornmeal provides a taste-tempting answer that will make home a good place to the youngsters whenever cornmeal pancakes are served. They are easy to make, and the boys and girls will eat stacks.

And of course, cornmeal pancakes are healthful for energetic teenagers.

Corn is one of the best food energy sources known to man, and its value is enhanced by the sweet milk, eggs and butter that are included in this recipe.

Cornmeal Pancakes

2/3 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/3 cups cornmeal
2 eggs, well beaten
4 tablespoons melted butter
1 2/3 cups sweet milk (room temperature)

(Self-rising cornmeal makes delicious pancakes. If used, omit baking powder and salt from this recipe.)

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Add cornmeal and mix well. Combine beaten eggs, butter and milk, and add gradually to mixture. Beat until smooth.

Pour one-fourth cup at a time onto a preheated griddle. (Modern griddles do not need to be greased, but it is advisable to rub them clean after each baking with a salt bag.)

Turn pancakes only once while baking. Yield: 14 medium cakes.

CORNMEAL PANCAKES—Cornmeal gives pancakes a different, satisfying flavor. They provide a complete meal, eliminating even the need for a dessert. Stack them with butter and powdered sugar between. Cut into wedges.

Apple Rings for Garnish

NEW YORK (UP)—Try these apple rings to add color to the Christmas platter. They're good with pork, ham, lamb, or poultry. Peel and core apples, and slice them ½ inch thick. Cook slowly until tender in a covered saucepan, in a heavy syrup made with equal parts sugar and water to which a few drops of green coloring have been added. Carefully lift out the apples with a fork, and fill centers with currant, apple, or quince jelly.

New Deep Fryer Performs Eight Varied Services

Homemakers who look for versatility in small appliances will cheer a new deep fryer-roaster-server which actually performs eight needed services in the kitchen and at the dinner table.

Designed to give the maximum in service, the new appliance can be used for deep frying, roasting, cooking, steaming, blanching, stewing, warming and serving foods.

It's ample four-quart capacity is just right for family cooking, yet economical in requiring only three pints of oil or three pounds of fat for deep frying.

Gracefully styled in gleaming chrome steel with a sparkling stainless steel cover, the eight-in-one appliance fits neatly into a table setting when used as a server for dozens of foods and beverages.

The manufacturer has considered storage in providing that all accessories—fryer basket, roaster rack, recipe book and washable cord, can be kept right inside. The entire unit occupies little more space than a toaster.

Other features include a special expansion chamber that prevents hot oil from bubbling over, a simple automatic control that tells when the desired temperature has been reached, a handy lock that holds fryer basket out of the oil when draining, and a unique drain top cover that makes a perfect stand for the food filled basket.

A full color recipe book gives dozens of recipes for taste-tempting foods you can prepare in this new appliance.

Chocolate Meringues Liked by Everyone

When we served these cookies the other night, everyone wanted the recipe. The surprise ingredient is, of course, the crumbled saltines.

Chocolate Meringues

3 egg whites
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
½ cup crumbled saltines
1 package semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted

Beat egg whites till stiff but not dry. Add sugar slowly, while beating constantly. With spoon, fold in saltines and chocolate. Drop by teaspoonfuls, 2-inches apart, onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 about 13 minutes, or until firm to touch. Remove from cookie sheet immediately. Makes 4 dozen.

Keep That Bottle of Champagne Tipped on Side

If you are serving champagne during the holidays, these tips will increase your enjoyment of the bubbly beverage.

They are from the wine masters of the Italian Swiss Colony at Asti, Calif., who consider champagne worthy of nothing but the best.

Chill your champagne thoroughly in the refrigerator before you serve it. You can't get it too cold. Place it close to the coldest part of your refrigerator.

Turn the bottle on its side so the wine will keep the cork moist. The cork can dry out in 48 hours and flat champagne might be the result if the cork is not kept moist.

Champagne can be purchased in advance and stored in the refrigerator for up to a week or 10 days. If you are storing it longer, store it in a back room on its side, away from sunlight. "Sunburn" can make champagne taste like soapsuds.

Gift of Homemade Food Just About Nicest Ever

By JANET ODEL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Are you planning gifts of food this Christmas? We hope so, for such a gift is appreciated by everyone.

It can be the perfect answer to the oft-repeated question, "What can I give so-and-so who has just everything?"

Even the expert cooks are delighted to taste food that someone else has prepared.

We have already discussed candy and cookies as gift items. Let's talk about some more unusual food gifts.

Do you make your own bread? Not many people do nowadays. A loaf of homemade bread gaily wrapped in Christmas paper will please anybody. If you do sweet rolls and coffee cakes easily, plan on them for presents.

Do you serve a cheese spread or "dip" that all your friends rave over? Have you thought of making up a few recipes of that, packing it in containers such as icebox dishes, and presenting it to those friends?

Why not salt some almonds or giant pecans in your oven; or blanch and deep-fry some raw peanuts. These homemade salted nuts are really superb.

Are salads the thing you specialize in? Maybe it's the dressing that turns the trick. Make up a pint of several different kinds, tie them up with red and green ribbons. You have a gift for a gourmet.

One of the nicest food gifts we ever received came from a friend who raised herbs. She filled tiny cheesecloth bags with a mixture of herbs and gave us a box of the little bouquets garni. They were wonderful to drop into soup and stews.

Decorate a jar of your best preserves or your choicest canned fruit. Consider some homemade mincemeat or wine or herb flavored vinegars.

Wrap a roll of ice box cookie dough in aluminum foil. Make up a recipe of your favorite spaghetti sauce. The list of food gifts is endless.

Something you have made is really priceless. Just be sure it is the best you can make.

Give it a little fancy touch for Christmas, wrap it with imagination and give it with love. No one can ask more of any gift.

Know your beef—there's plenty of it around! The bones of young beef are porus with a reddish tinge; in older beef, the bones are hard and white.

Cakes of Ice Cream May Solve Dessert

When you are planning your holiday meals, you might consider some of the glamorous ice cream desserts that are available at this time.

The newest addition to one ice cream family is an ice cream party cake made entirely of ice cream. The bottom layer is made of real strawberry ice cream full of the luscious berries. The top layer is rich vanilla ice cream.

Festively decorated in colors appropriate for Christmas, the cake has pink whipped cream rosettes around the edge and a larger whipped cream design in the center. Ready for you to pick up in the stores, the cake will serve 8 to 10 persons.

Other ice cream companies offer individual molded ice cream desserts for the holiday season. We have seen the fat white coconut dipped snowballs. It is sometimes possible to order special molds; at present we do not know of any local store that offers this service.

Busy Shoppers Can Plan Main Dinner Dish Ahead

Shopping late? There are three ways of approaching the problem of what to plan when you know you'll be home only shortly before the dinner deadline:

You can assemble a casserole for the first of the family home to take from the refrigerator and slip into the oven to bake. Suggestion:

Vegetable Meat Casserole

2 tablespoons shortening
1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onions
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 cups sliced raw potatoes
1 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup
½ cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup over-popped rice cereal

Heat shortening in heavy frying pan; add ground beef, onions and green pepper. Cook until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Combine flour and seasonings; sprinkle over meat mixture. Arrange alternate layers of sliced potatoes and meat mixture in greased 1½-quart casserole. Combine tomato soup with water; pour over mixture. Melt butter and combine with over-popped rice cereal. Sprinkle over tomato soup just before baking. Cover and bake in 375 oven about 50 minutes. Uncover the last 10 minutes of baking. Makes 6 servings.

You can pre-prepare something needing just the briefest of finishing touches at dinnertime. For example:

Surprise Meat Devils

¼ pound Roquefort cheese
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

2 cups cornflakes
½ cup milk
1 pound ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Crumble cheese with a fork; add mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Mix well.

Crush corn flakes slightly; combine with milk, ground beef and seasonings, mix well. Shape into 12 thin patties, 4 inches in diameter. On each of six patties, spoon 2 teaspoons of Roquefort cheese mixture. Cover with remaining six patties, pressing edges together well. Sandwich between layers of waxed paper to store in refrigerator.

Broil patties 5 to 8 minutes on each side. Makes 6 servings.

You can plan a genuine quickie (of which there are all too few) requiring only minutes of preparation from scratch to serving time. Idea:

Tasty Tuna

2 tablespoons finely chopped onions
¼ cup butter or margarine
5 tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups milk
1¼ cups flaked tuna fish
2 cups corn soya shreds

Cook onions in butter until tender. Stir in flour, salt, paprika and mustard. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly; cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Stir in tuna fish. Serve over corn soya shreds which have been heated in oven. Makes 6 servings.

Bananas Good Health Food for Young, Old

Perhaps you hadn't given it much thought, but the truth is that bananas are a delicious flavored, health-giving food that have always been recommended by doctors for people of all ages.

For infant feeding, there's nothing better than mashed fully ripe bananas. They are nourishing and contain a high percentage of fruit sugars that make them readily digestible.

Then, for growing children and teen-agers, bananas provide the vitamins, minerals, and extra food energy greatly needed by active young people.

Older people find fully ripe bananas a pleasant, satisfying treat because they are a bland food, easy to chew, easy to digest, and low in fa tcontent.

And if you are worried about keeping your figure, you can eat bananas without fear. An average-sized banana contains about 100-120 calories.

Give Puddings Yule Glamour

Be a smart hostess! Save yourself work and use one of the scrumptious canned fig or plum puddings for your holiday dinner. But give your ready-prepared dessert home-kitchen glamour treatment.

So easy to do, too! Whip up a batch of hard sauce and roll it into beguiling small snowmen, then add eyes, nose, mouth, pipe and buttons of whole cloves.

Top your snowman's head with a jaunty beret of chocolate; or go high hat and use a tall gumdrop, or several candies put together with a little hard sauce, for headgear.

Fun? Of course, and your family and guests will love this sweet ending. Here are detailed directions.

Hard Sauce Snowmen

⅓ cup butter or margarine (softened)
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter. Add sugar gradually, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla; beat until light and fluffy. Chill for several hours. Make 6 balls about ¾ inch in diameter and 6 balls 1¼ inches in diameter. Place small balls on top of large ones to make snowmen. Use whole cloves to make eyes, nose, mouth, pipe and buttons. Use small round candies for hats. For high hat put several candies together with a bit of hard sauce. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Makes 6 snowmen.

Crater Frosting Makes Quick, Different Topping

Here's a new and different quick frosting. In this season of hustle and bustle all short cuts are welcome.

Before putting the cake in the oven top it with marshmallows sliced in half crosswise. Sprinkle with brown sugar and chopped nuts. Bake as usual.

When the cake is baked, the nuts and sugar will have sunk down in the craters left by the toasted marshmallows, giving rise to the name Crater Frosting.

Sandwich fillings are more interesting and appetizing with something crunchy in them. Add coarsely chopped pickles, chopped nuts, chopped celery, radish slices, or chopped apple.

How About Luscious Ham for Your Christmas Meal?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

It seems as though we have hardly seen the last of the Thanksgiving turkey, and here it is time to plan the Christmas dinner. Are you having turkey again, or are you going to be different?

How about ham? Ham, we think, is the most versatile of meats. It's wonderful from the first whole baked ham to the last mouthful of split pea soup made from the bone.

You even have a choice of what kind of ham you buy in the beginning. You may get a whole ham, a picnic ham, or for a small family, a thick ham slice. You may have smoked ham or one that is sugar cured.

There's ready-cooked ham, tenderized ham that requires some cooking and old-fashioned ham that has to have long cooking. There are canned hams of any size all ready for eating.

Fruit is the ideal accompaniment for ham. Garnish your meat when it is ready for the table with holly berries and leaves (maraschino cherries and green pepper) on slices of pineapple.

Use little rosy red spiced crabapples and parsley. Or glaze the ham with sifted brown sugar and honey. My grandmother used to baste her baked ham with ginger-ale. Try it for a different taste.

If you score the fat of the ham, stud each diamond with a clove. Bake the ham slice in pineapple juice.

An attractive and unusual garnish may be made by cutting sliced bread into fir tree shapes with a cookie cutter. Toast them, then spread with pimiento cheese spread.

Fill the center of pineapple slices with more cheese spread and set the trees into these standards. Put a sprig of parsley at the base of each tree.

A different way of using small or broken thin slices of leftover baked ham is the following:

Ham 'n' Sauce

Cooked ham
1 cup applesauce
⅓ cup chopped raisins
⅓ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons honey

Arrange ham pieces in 8x8-inch baking pan or shallow casserole. Combine remaining ingredients and spread over ham. Bake in a slow oven at 325 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes four servings.

Swiss Pie Proves Very Special Dish

During the Christmas season, you'll want some special food that is new to serve to your family and guests. What could be better than Swiss Pie as it comes from famous Sun Valley?

The December issue of a current magazine tells how to make this family treat.

First, cut six slices of bacon in ¼ inch strips. Use one cup of chopped onions, two beaten eggs, three-fourths cup of sour cream, ½ teaspoon of salt, dash of pepper, two and three-fourths cups of Swiss Cheese cut in ¼ inch cubes, 6 unbaked 4-inch tart shells.

Fry the bacon until it is crisp. Drain on paper towels, add onions to the fat and cook until tender. Drain off fat, combine eggs, sour cream, salt, pepper, cheese, and bacon. Pour into tart shells. Bake in 375 degree oven for about 25 minutes, or until knife inserted halfway between outside and center of filling comes out clean.

See That Candies Are Nutritious

Children eat haphazardly during the holidays, often skimp on regular meals. Therefore, candies and other tidbits should be full of good sound nutrition. This brown sugar fudge fills the bill; the children will love it, and mother will be happy knowing they're getting some extra vitamins from the wheat germ in the candy.

Brown Sugar Fudge

1 pound dark brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup wheat germ
½ cup cocoanut

Combine sugar, milk, and corn syrup. Boil slowly to soft ball stage. Add butter; then cool. Add vanilla; beat until it is creamy and will hold its shape when dropped from spoon. Stir in wheat germ and cocoanut; spread in buttered 8x8 inch pan. Cool and cut into squares. Makes about 3 dozen pieces.

Steamed Date Puddings So Nice for Yule Presents

There's still time to make some Date Pudding, either for gifts or for your own holiday desserts. Bake it in a pound coffee can or in custard cups lined with greased aluminum foil. Then it is ready for a family of any size.

Date Pudding

1 cup uncooked instant whole wheat cereal or ¾ cup uncooked regular whole wheat cereal
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
3 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup cut-up dates
Few nuts or candied cherries for decorating top

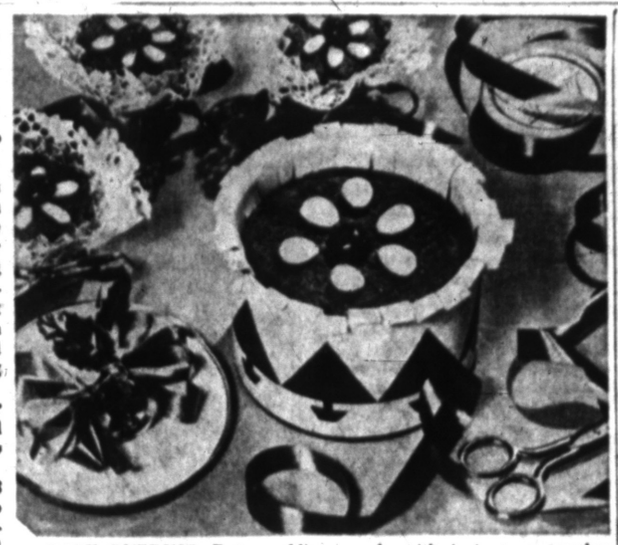

Grease an empty one-pound coffee can and lid. Mix instant or regular whole wheat cereal with milk in 6 cup bowl. Melt shortening and cool slightly. Beat egg well. Stir shortening and egg into cereal mixture. Sift together into 10-cup bowl the flour, salt, and soda.

Add sugar and dates to flour. Add cereal mixture, all at once, to flour mixture. Stir just enough to mix well. Pour into greased can. Cover with lid. Place can on a rack in deep kettle. Pour in enough boiling water to come halfway up on can. Cover kettle tightly and boil slowly 1 hour and 40 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in pudding comes out clean. Loosen sides of pudding with knife and remove from can. Cool on wire rack. Put cooled pudding back into can.

Lay a cloth dipped in wine or brandy on top. Replace lid and store in refrigerator until time to decorate and package.

For individual puddings: Line 8 custard cups holding about ¾ cup each with 7-inch circles of aluminum foil. Grease foil well. Fill cups 2-3 full. Cover with brown or wax paper. Tie with string. Steam as directed for large pudding, but reduce cooking time to 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Turn puddings out of custard cups to cool. Do not remove foil. Pack puddings in a storage container. Place cloth dipped in wine or brandy over the top of puddings and cover container tightly. Store in refrigerator until ready to decorate and package.

DATE PUDDING—Date pudding, made with instant or regular whole wheat cereal for extra good flavor and keeping qualities, and baked in a coffee can, makes a welcome and personal Christmas gift. Make a batch for your own family, too.

Cranberry Crunch of Oats, Ice Cream

The National Cranberry Association says this is one of the best cranberry desserts they have ever had. It appeals to the whole family and is especially nutritious with cream. Even a junior cook can make it.

Cranberry Crunch

1 cup uncooked rolled oats
½ cup flour
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
1 pound can cranberry sauce, jellied or whole

Mix oats, flour, and brown sugar. Cut in butter or margarine until crumbly. Place half of this mixture in an 8 x 8 inch greased baking dish. Cover with cranberry sauce. Top with balance of mixture. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve hot in squares topped with scoops of vanilla ice-cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

A "dressed" turkey means that the bird has had its feathers removed, but it still has its head, feet and entrails.

Sylvan Woman Makes Variety

Mrs. C. L. Coppersmith Gives Her Recipe for Wintergreen Wafers

About four years ago Mrs. Charles Coppersmith tried her hand at making candy for Christmas. Stimulated by the success of this first venture, she has continued to make goodies for the holiday season.

This year she has completed nearly 20 different kinds to send as gifts and to serve to guests.

Mrs. Coppersmith follows her recipes carefully, uses a candy thermometer, kneads her fondant and drops candy of the mint-patty type on a marble slab.

When asked whether the children help in the candy making, she laughingly said, "When you're making candy, send the children to Grandma's for the day."

One of Mrs. Coppersmith's favorite recipes is for Wintergreen Wafers. They are easy to make and attractive to serve.

Wintergreen Wafers

2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar (measure after sifting)
6½ teaspoons water
6½ teaspoon wintergreen extract
Red or green food coloring

Cook in double boiler over hot, not boiling, water three minutes. Drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper or a marble slab. Let harden. Makes about 24 wafers.

Ruby Cranberries Go With Tuna Salad

Ruby, red, fresh cranberry mold centers around tuna salad, making an attractive centerpiece wreathed in crisp chicory.

Cranberry - Tuna Wheel

4 cups cranberries
1 cup water
1½ cups sugar
1½ tablespoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons orange juice

Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add fresh cranberries and cook slowly, without stirring, for 5 minutes. Strain. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot sauce. Add orange juice and cool. Transfer to ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on round platter and fill center of ring with tunafish salad. Garnish with chicory. Unmold salad on clear glass platter for added attractiveness of the clear red jell.

To Remove Pan Stains

Stains on aluminum pots and pans can be removed by cooking in them an acid food such as tomatoes. Another method is to boil in the pan a solution of two tablespons of vinegar or cream of tartar to one quart of water.

REAL HOME BAKED BEANS

Odd Bits on Condiments Are Spicy

Here are a few odd bits of information about spices.

Anise, an annual herb related to caraway and dill, is grown mainly for its seeds. They have a warm spicy taste somewhat like that of licorice. The seeds are used for flavoring pastry, cookies, candy and certain kinds of cheese. The oil is used in medicine.

Cinnamon is the inner bark of branches of the cinnamon laurel tree which grows in Ceylon, Malabar and other tropical regions. As the bark dries, it curls up and turns light brown. Tasters divide the bark according to quality. Cinnamon was once used to make candles for the king of Ceylon.

Ginger comes from roots of the ginger plant. It is preserved by boiling and dipping in syrup every 24 hours for a week. Most preserved ginger comes from China.

Nutmeg is the kernel of a tropical fruit. The membrane covering this kernel makes another spice when ground—mace. Each nutmeg tree produces from 1,500 to 2,000 nuts yearly.

Tinted Icing for Cookies Uses Very Little Water

If you want to make your holiday cookies festive with a decorative icing, you can do it this way. Sift some confectioners sugar and measure one cup into a bowl; stir just enough water—about 1 tablespoon—into the sugar so the frosting will hold its shape when forced through a pastry tube. Now tint the frosting the desired shade with a few drops of food coloring.

If you're not using a pastry tube, thin the frosting with a little more water and spread.

Scoop Out Red Apples for Gay Holiday Cup

For a gay holiday fruit cup, scoop out shiny bright red apples, leaving a shell about ¼ inch thick. Notch the edges if you like and brush the insides with fresh lemon juice.

Dice the scooped out portion and mix with other fruits such as minted pears, orange or tangerine sections, grapes, etc. Pile into the shells and serve. After the centre portion is eaten, the "shell" can be broken into pieces and eaten with the fingers.

Red Glaze for Yule

What to serve to fortify late tree-trimmers? Here's a suggestion: Glazed baked apples, tall glasses of cold milk and sponge cake squares. To give this snack a seasonal look, glaze the apples with a syrup made from red cinnamon candies and sift confectioners' sugar over the sponge cake.

TREE-TRIMMING CHILI SPAGHETTI—Make party preparations easy for yourself by serving hearty chili spaghetti during the holiday season. It's sure to hit the spot with all your guests. It's ideal for that Christmas Eve party.

Tree-Trimming Spaghetti Takes Hot Chili Topping

Why not have a tree-trimming party this year? It's a gay way to entertain over the holidays and your guests will enjoy the feeling of participation.

Keep the food simple so you won't be encumbered with a lot of complicated cooking at the last minute.

We suggest you combine two favorite dishes — spaghetti and chili — to assure a doubly popular treat.

This chili sauce can be prepared early in the day, refrigerated and heated to serving temperature while the spaghetti is cooking.

Chili Spaghetti

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ pound ground beef chuck
¼ cup diced green pepper
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 6-ounce can tomato paste
1½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 No. 2 can red kidney beans, drained
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti

Melt butter or margarine over low heat; add onion and saute until tender. Add beef and cook until browned. Add green pepper, tomatoes, tomato paste, 1½ teaspoons salt and chili powder; cook over low heat 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add kidney beans and heat to serving temperature.

About 10 minutes before sauce is done, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil.

Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve sauce over cooked spaghetti. Makes 4-6 servings.

Chocolate Crackles Quick and Delicious

Sometimes a recipe for a quick cookie will save the day when you anticipate guests and the cupboard is all but bare. Any sugar coated cereal may be used.

Chocolate Crackles

3 tablespoons cocoa
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup light corn sirup
2 cups sugar coated cornflakes

Combine cocoa, butter, sugar and corn syrup in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Remove from heat. Add sugar frosted flakes, stirring until well coated. Spoon into shallow waxed paper cups or drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Set in cool place to harden. Yields 16 chocolate crackles, 2 inches in diameter.

To Call Attention to Cake Container:

In your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department you'll find a new fruit cake in a useful deluxe container that is perfect for gift giving, and a beauty to serve.

The cake is a heavenly concoction of fruit, nuts and rich batter in ring shape. It's packed in a deluxe red enamel casserole with cover, set in a beautifully designed black wire basket.

Choose this for a gift and you give not only a fruit cake wonderful for holiday serving, but a gay oven-to-table casserole which will be used for winter one-dish meals, and outdoor dining through next summer.

When you see this handsome casserole, with fruit cake, all for the price of one, you'll give one to yourself, too.

Snow Men of Popcorn

Popcorn snow men are fun to make for youngsters' winter parties. Form the popcorn into balls in graduated sizes. While they are still soft, stick the balls together with wooden skewers.

Use gumdrops for the snowmen's features and buttons, and stick them on with a bit of sugar syrup, or with halves of toothpicks.

Government Office Helps Eliminate '5-Percenters'

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Fat government contracts are getting scarce these days. As a result, the competition for them is getting rough and tumble.

Fortunately, a new friend of businessmen—and of taxpayers—has stepped in as a referee to see that big and small firms alike get a fair share of Uncle Sam's business.

This is the General Accounting Office, an arm of Congress formerly regarded as a sort of super auditing office which only found mistakes and chicanery after they were committed.

Now, however, at the request of an ever-growing number of firms, the GAO is looking into disputed purchases before or just after they are made.

As a result it's reversing the decisions of government purchasing agents when regulation violations are discovered.

This development could revolutionize government buying procedures. It is eliminating the need for "five percenters" and high-paid Washington agents.

All a businessman has to do is write a letter to get the GAO into the act.

Recently, bids were sought on more than $250,000 worth of electronics gear. The contract was awarded to the third lowest bidder, although the lowest bid was $17,000 less.

When the low man complained he was told that the equipment which was to be purchased was of better quality than his. He went to GAO where an investigation revealed that the low man's product met the original specifications in every detail.

The original contract was cancelled and the low man eventually got the business.

In some cases it's not a question of the lowest bid but a matter of delivery time. On a recent truck contract one manufacturer got a big order because his bid was $3,517.91 per truck, compared to the next highest of $3,664.70.

However, the highest bidder complained to GAO on the grounds that the low man did not agree to make delivery in 120 days, a specification in the original advertising of the bid.

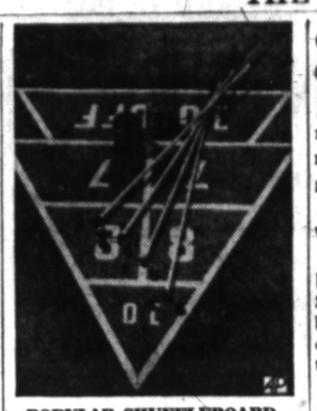

Faster delivery involved overtime which increased the price, it was argued. This one was reversed, too.

GAO has actually been reviewing disputed contract cases for many years.

But few firms have known that the service existed. Of late, the Senate Small Business Committee has been referring scores of complaints from small firms to GAO. Most of the big government contractors are now starting to take advantage of this service, too. It's booming GAO's business.

"Not only has justice been done to a small business which was the lowest responsive bidder," said Sen. Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.), who is a member of the committee, "but the taxpayer also benefited."

Such a procedure tends to eliminate the "five percenter" because the GAO review is strictly an examination of the records. It is subject to a minimum of "pressure" or influence.

Cornell Theater Gets Gift of 1,100 Pictures

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—The Cornell University Theater recently received a gift of 1,100 still photographs of actors and scenes in American films produced since World War I.

The gift from George F. Denbow, vice president of National Screen Service Corp., New York brings to 8,000 Cornell's collection of stills covering the history of the motion picture industry.

Christmas Islands Won't Have a White Christmas

WASHINGTON — Despite its romantic appeal, a Christmas sojourn on either of the world's two Christmas Islands is likely to be a hot, dull occasion.

White sand and coconut palms are the nearest approaches to snow and evergreens on the Central Pacific atoll and Indian Ocean island named for the Yuletide, says the National Geographic Society.

In these isolated outposts the holiday season is all but ignored.

Christmas Island in the Pacific lies just north of the equator, 1,200 miles south of Hawaii. Captain James Cook, who landed there on Christmas Eve, 1777, gave the island its name.

One of the Pacific's largest atolls, Christmas is a series of low coral outcrops, covered with a layer of hard sand and scanty soil. The highest point in its 184 square miles is only eight feet above sea level.

Copra is the sole industry. The coconut groves are owned and worked entirely by the natives. Total population is less than 100.

A copra boat connecting Christmas with Fanning Island, 153 miles distant, is the island's only regular communication with the outside world. It is not a port-of-call for any steamship line.

The other Christmas Island is a lonely British sentinel in the Indian Ocean, 900 miles northwest of Australia and 190 miles south of the west tip of Java. Southward, the expanse of ocean is unbroken for 3,500 miles to Antarctica.

The island was uninhabited until 1888 when it was annexed by Great Britain. Its name is believed to have been bestowed by the crew of an East India Company trading ship which sighted it on Christmas Day, 1643.

Peak of a submarine mountain rising from the deep bed of the ocean, Christmas is only 60 square miles in area. Its population is about 1,500. The majority are Chinese and Malays who mine the island's phosphate.

Christmas contains one of the world's largest known deposits of high-grade phosphate. More than a million tons are exported annually. Its reserve is estimated at 30 million tons.

Temperatures never drop below 75 or rise above 84 on Christmas. Thick tropical undergrowth flourishes beneath coconut and sago palms. There are no wild beasts and only a few harmless reptiles.

Large red "robber" crabs which range the island, always in groups, are a major problem, however. They climb and feast on the palms and will even attack a man.

SANTA and the FLYING PUP

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: The Dreamlins, Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little, warn Willie there are dragons running loose in Santa's Train Shop. They flee, but Willie bravely decides to fight the dragons thinking this may qualify as an unselfish deed and enable him to fly. He goes to the Train Shop and manages to make the dragons smash themselves on the floor.

Chapter 13

TRIP IN AN UMBRELLA

The awful noise in the Train Shop brought Santa and his workers racing to the spot.

What they found was Willie the pup and the wreck of all the toy trains in Santa Land.

"I did it," cried Willie proudly. "I destroyed them all!"

"Willie, Willie!" mourned Santa. "What will I do now for all the little boys who have asked for trains for Christmas?"

"Trains?" said Willie. "Trains? But—I thought—I thought they were dragons!"

It was a sad thing. Willie turned away. He didn't even try to see if he had earned the right to fly. "It's no use," he thought. "I always do the wrong thing."

Santa himself was thinking the same thing. "I shall have to send the pup away," he thought. "He means well but he is always causing trouble. I have so much work to do and besides that I must arrange for the rescue of the Dreamlin queen."

Now Santa had made a magic pill. If the Dreamlin queen would swallow this pill she would change for ten minutes into a puff of smoke. And while she was smoke she could escape from any chains or dungeon that held her.

But the problem was how to find the queen and get the pill into her hands.

Suddenly Santa had an idea. It would save the queen and get Willie out of Santa Land at the same time. He called the puppy. And he called Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little.

Santa said, "I have a magic pill which will save the Dreamlin queen if you can find her and give it to her."

"The Gremlins live in the attic of an empty castle," said the Dreamlins. "But we do not know where they have imprisoned our queen."

"Perhaps Willie can find her," said Santa.

"Me?" cried Willie in astonishment. "Me find the Dreamlin queen?"

"Of course," said Santa with a smile. "A dog has a fine sense of smell. If you go to the castle where the Gremlins live I am sure you can track down the imprisoned queen."

"Why sure I can!" cried Willie remembering that dogs really are good at tracking. "And if I do that do you think that then I might be able to fly?"

Santa did not answer.

"It will be a very great deed I'll be doing," Willie reminded him, "And very unselfish."

Santa laughed. "Well, try it and see," he said. Then Santa tied a string around Willie's neck. On one end of the string was a tiny bag. In the bag was the magic pill for the Dreamlin queen. "And now I will give you my umbrella," said Santa, "and the three of you be off."

"An umbrella?" asked Mr. Not Much. "Why do we want an umbrella?"

Santa opened a large black umbrella and laid it upside down on the ground. "Jump in," he said. "It will take you wherever you wish."

Willie and the Dreamlins did as they were told.

"We want to go to the castle where the Gremlins live," said Mr. Not Much timidly.

Immediately the umbrella began twirling round on the ground. Still twirling, it rose into the sky and twirled away.

They never saw where they were going or how they got there but before very long the whirling stopped and the umbrella jolted to the ground.

Still twirling, it rose into the sky and whirled away.

Willie and the Dreamlins jumped out. They found themselves near a broken and the gates rusty. Weeds great castle. The windows were were pushing through the stones.

The Dreamlins shuddered. "It is certainly a fearful looking place," they whispered.

Willie's heart thumped with fright. But he thought of the unselfish deed which would win him the right to fly and he said, "Pooh! What's there to be afraid of? Let's go!"

Wife Becomes Adept at Law; Hubby Approves

PASSAIC, N. J. (UP)—Mrs. Serena Bowen is equally adept at changing diapers and debating constitutional law.

Mrs. Bowen, an outstanding scholar in Rutgers University school of Law in Newark, is editor of the Rutgers Law Review, the first woman in the publication's 38-year-old history to hold the job.

The 24-year-old housewife overcame paternal objections to a law career after an education at Vassar.

Things became complicated when one-year-old Thane Emerson Bowen, Jr., arrived during his mother's second year at law school.

But Mrs. Bowen, sleepy-eyed after two months of early morning feedings, caught up with her studies and at the term end won the Lawyers' Co-operative Publishing Prize for excellence in constitutional law.

A nurse and a dog later were employed to keep young Thane company during Mom's school hours.

Mrs. Bowen's husband, a Clifton, N. J. rose gower, said he "thoroughly approves" of his wife's ambition to graduate next June and enter general law practice with her father and brother.

"I can't make the usual housewifey complaints, since he knows more about them than I do," said Mrs. Bowen.

Twenty-six states rank travel among their three biggest industries.

Safety Check Backfires

MELBOURNE (INS)—A traffic patrol in Melbourne recently submitted an ancient jalopy to a safety check. The driver was told to proceed at 25 m. p. h. ahead of the police car and to step on the brakes when he heard the police car too. He did. The police car rammed the jalopy.

Britain's Smokers Are in Huff Over High Puff Taxes

LONDON (INS)—Britain's estimated 20 million smokers, who chip in heavily into the Exchequer each time they take a puff, want their pleasure made cheaper.

They are petitioning cigar-smoking Sir Winston Churchill to reduce the existing heavy tax on tobacco which last year provided 15 per cent of the United Kingdom's gross tax revenue.

Totalling 615 million pounds sterling ($1,712 million) the tobacco tax was the second highest revenue producing levy, exceeded only by the income tax.

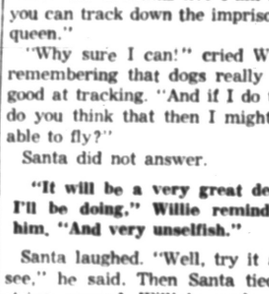

Tobacco users complain they are being discriminated against by the heavy tax which makes up for more than 78 per cent of the retail price of tobacco products in Britain.

For instance, in a pack of 20 cigaretes selling for 3 shillings and 7 pence (about 50 cents), the tax share is 2 shillings and 9½ pence (about 38 cents).

The tax was originally applied in 1948 as an austerity measure designed to plug a drain on Britain's U. S. dollar reserves caused by Virginia leaf purchases.

Eighty per cent of all U. S. soldiers take part in sports programs conducted by the adjutant general of the Army. Last year 127 soldier performers qualified for Olympic tryouts and 32 of them went on to the 1952 Olympic Games.

Pravda Blasts Farming Head for Output Lag

MOSCOW (AP)—The official Communist party organ Pravda has blamed Agriculture Minister Ivan A. Benediktov for lagging food production in the Soviet Union and denounced him as the leading example of an "executve who has lost his sense of responsibility."

His slowness to get farm work mechanized, Pravda said yesterday, is hindering the government's major drive to grow more food and raise living standards.

Pravda blasted Benediktov for violating "the well known party principle of management—'entrust and then check up.'" It continued: "Entrust he does. But he does not check up."

Affairs have reached such a state, said Pravda, that some people taking up farm mechanization have to study new equipment by correspondence courses, and many tractors and other pieces of machinery are idle because spare parts are lacking.

The agriculture ministry has been under Benediktov since before World War II except for a six-month period after Stalin's death when he was ambassador to India.

Tree in Water Will Stay Green

Insure Its Freshness in Yule Season; Keeping Base Wet

ANN ARBOR—It's easy to have a green Christmas—at least where trees are concerned and provided that these forest products get proper treatment—according to two University of Michigan faculty members.

Almost any Christmas tree will stay green and fresh throughout the holiday season if the base is kept in water, says Prof. Kenneth P. Davis, chairman of the U-M forestry department.

Shave a little off the bottom of the tree to expose a fresh surface, states Frank Murray, U-M forest manager. This will remove dried resins which may form over the base and prevent water absorption.

With proper care, even the lowly spruce can be kept green; in fact, it can actually be made to sprout buds. Though often blacklisted for early shedding of its needles as it dries, the tree can compete with all others if it has been cut recently and is not allowed to dry out.

According to Murray, the "Austrian pine is the prettiest tree locally produced, although it is hard to tell from the Scotch pine, which grows faster and is more open in foliage."

Scotch pines are being very widely planted in Michigan for use as Christmas trees. They are the most popular trees for this purpose.

The Douglas fir and balsam also are good selections, the former keeping "its needles 'til next spring."

Of trees shipped into market, Professor Davis explains that their longevity depends upon where they have been stored. Even if cut in October, as most are, a cool and moist storage place will enable them to keep their needles as long as the more recently cut ones. This fall's warm weather may have a negative effect, however, he comments.

For making wreaths and house decorations, Murray points out, most pine is too coarse. But white pine is included in the list of best ingredients, along with balsam, spruce and white cedar.

Of the cones, all are good for decorative purposes, except those of the white pine, which are covered with pitch.

Professor Davis explains that barberry and boxwood also are good greens. As for holly, the Michigan variety, found in the southern Lower Peninsula, consists solely of berries, with no leaves.

Won't Buy Aid, Ali Tells Press

Pakistan Would Accept Arms Only on Basis of Assistance, He Says

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan's Prime Minister Mohammed Ali told a news conference today any U.S. military aid to Pakistan would be "as assistance and not a purchase deal by Pakistan."

He said only informal talks had been held on the matter and no formal negotiations had been started.

To further questions, Ali said if Pakistan received U.S. military equipment, "naturally we would need American military experts to train our men and officers and enable them to use American-type arms which the Pakistan army has not used yet."

Earlier reports of possible U.S. military aid to Pakistan brought protests from Indian Prime Minister Nehru that such a deal would endanger India's position.

Ali said he had written to Nehru on Dec. 9 assuring him U.S. military aid to Pakistan would in no way be a threat to Asia. Nor has Pakistan any aggressive designs against India.

Ali defended military aid to Pakistan, saying that making his nation strong would deter would-be agressors. If South Korea, for example, had been strong, he continued, she would not have been attacked and "if Pakistan is strong in her defenses, no power will dare to touch her."

Hal Boyle Says:

Smart Dieter Ended Up With Bulging Pocketbook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Portly Emanuel Ebin, a meat canner, was told a few years ago by his wife:

"You are getting too heavy. You will have to take off some weight."

Since his wife was a physician, Ebin decided to follow her advice. But, like millions of other Americans, he found that sticking to a diet required not only willpower—it also took a lot of time and trouble.

It is the rare hostess or restaurant that considers the special dietary problems of guests. And people on diets who prepare their own dishes find it quite a nuisance.

After brooding over his difficulties for some time, Ebin asked himself:

"Why not put a diet in a can—wouldn't that solve the diet problem for most people?"

It might. But Ebin found that putting a diet in a can was easier to say than do. Some 30 manufacturers were already packing sugar-free fruit or salt-free vegetables.

"But nobody was canning dietetic substance foods—such as soups and meat and poultry dishes," said Ebin.

He and his brother, Benjamin, with whom he founded Dorset Foods, Ltd., in 1939 after they came here from Poland, decided to pioneer in this new field.

"We thought it would take only a few weeks to solve the problems," Ebin recalled ruefully. "It took us two years finally. We had to make hundreds of tests and spend thousands of dollars before we could produce tasty dishes in which the caloric value and sodium content could be scientifically controlled."

A diet low in salt and other substances containing sodium is often recommended for heart patients as well as for those who merely want to lose weight. Ebin's new dietetic lines consists of five kinds of soup and four meat and poultry dishes, most of which have been approved by the American Medical Assn. The others are still undergoing tests.

The caloric value and sodium content of each dish are printed on the can, making it easier for a patient to follow specific directions by his physician.

The canning industry has had two great booms in the last 25 years — canned dog foods and canned baby foods. Ebin believes canned dietetic foods may provide a third wave of prosperity in this field.

Ebin has an even bigger dream—that in time diet packed canned goods will replace present canning methods altogether.

"Why not?" he argued. "it will make it simpler for the housewife. All she will have to do is add salt and sugar for members of the family who aren't on a diet."

In any case Ebin remains one of the few people who went on a diet to slim his waist and ended up by having his pocketbook gain weight.

Mother of Five Spends Days as a Schoolgirl

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UP)—A plucky New Jersey housewife is finding a new life in high school algebra, chemistry, biology and plane geometry.

She hopes someday they will add up to food for her five daughters.

Mrs. Russell Herbert, whose husband was killed recently in a Delaware auto accident, enrolled in South River High School near here as the first step in a long academic road to a nursing career.

Every weekday morning at seven the 33-year-old Mrs. Herbert makes breakfast for 13-year-old Patricia, 11-year-old twins Susan and Sandra, 9-year-old Linda and 4-year-old Karen.

Then she sends everyone off to school but Karen the youngest who spends the day with relatives.

Mrs. Herbert has a high school diploma but needs credit in courses she omitted 15 years ago to qualify for three years' training at Middlesex General Hospital.

Mrs. Herbert, not the complaining type, does have one problem which may never be solved.

"Everything is fine," she said. "But my daughters want to know who is going to sign my report card."

THE LITTLE TREE THAT TALKED By WALT SCOTT

Pa's Cats Held as 'Ransom' for Girl's Hand

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP)—It shouldn't happen to a dog, the judge ruled, for a suitor to hold a father's pet cats for "ransom" in "mad, unrestrained and unbridled" demands for his daughter's affections.

So Dist. Judge John Fuchs ordered Air Force Lt. John Farrar to give the three cats back.

J. B. Powell of New York, Cape Cod and Coconut Grove, Fla., thereupon took the cats and his blonde daughter Robin and left for Florida.

Judge Fuchs' decision Tuesday came about this way:

Miss Robin Powell came to New Braunfels a couple of weeks ago, her father's petition said, to discuss marriage plans with Farrar, stationed at Gary Air Force Base here. Powell arrived later, bringing the three cats.

He found that his daughter had decided against marrying Farrar, Powell, Robin and the cats moved from Farrar's house to another about a quarter of a mile away, but "the cats promptly returned to the residence and dwelling of the defendant, their former home."

Powell alleged in his petition that Farrar refused to return the cats and "has kidnaped them, which in cat vernacular might be referred to as 'catnaped' and is holding them for ransom."

The "ransom," Powell charged, "is the renewal of the affections of plaintiff's daughter and her promise to marry him."

Besides, he declared, he feared that Farrar in his "mad, unrestrained and unbridled demands for the renewal of the affections" of Miss Powell might "mistreat, injure and in fact destroy said animals."

In ordering the cats returned to Powell, Judge Fuchs added:

"If something like this happened to my dog, I would certainly fight to get him back."

Sunshine Sanatorium Renamed as Hospital

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Board of Supervisors has changed the name of Sunshine Sanatorium to Sunshine Hospital because patients were having trouble collecting hospital insurance.

Ike's Press Talk Recorded

Precedent Is Set With Recording for Use by Radio, TV Networks

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in White House history, a recording of an entire presidential news conference was made available last night for use by the nation's radio and television networks.

Release of the Army Signal Crops' recording of President Eisenhower's 33-minute session with newsmen yesterday also set another precedent. It was the first time that newspapers, in their stories on such conferences, were permitted to quote a president directly without limitation.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced the departure from established practice late yesterday. He said Eisenhower called it a "Christmas present" to newsmen and the public.

Hagerty himself described the move as a first step toward broadening coverage of Eisenhower's news conferences. He said it didn't mean recordings to all future conferences will be released, but that the new practice will be followed "from time to time."

He added: "We are going to try it out and see how it works."

Discussing the step on the radio last night, Ray Scherer, White House correspondent for the National Broadcasting Co., called it "a significant milestone" and "a notable advance."

"You at home can now have a sense of participation in the news conferences," Scherer told his audience.

All major radio networks broadcast the recording, trimmed down to 30 minutes. Two television networks used excerpts against a background of films of previous presidential news conferences. The one yesterday was not photographed.

In the past, newsmen occasionally have been authorized to quote directly a few excerpts from a president's news conference remarks. In such cases a recording of those excerpts sometimes has been released for use on radio and TV.

In general, however, the White House rule has barred direct quotation or use of recordings.

Muskegon Man Dies in Car-Tree Collision

MUSKEGON (AP)—Oscar Mickelson, 61, of suburban Fruitland township, died yesterday as his car swerved from U.S. 31 and hit a tree near here.

Coroner John DeHorn ordered an autopsy to determine whether Mickelson might have suffered a heart attack that caused him to have the accident. His chest was crushed in the wreck.

Takes Sheriff's Job

ALLEGAN (AP)—Walter Runkel of Hopkins takes office Jan. 1 as new Allegan County sheriff to fill the unexpired term of Sheriff Louis Johnson who resigned last week. A deputy for 13 years, Runkel was appointed Wednesday after Johnson decided to take the job as executive secretary of the Michigan State Sheriffs Assn.

Flour made from roast barley and mixed with butter is the food staple of Tibet.

Dope Pills Kill Child

THREE RIVERS (AP)—Merle Ray Bontrager, 2, died in Three Rivers Hospital Wednesday. Physicians said that he apparently swallowed some codine pills that he found on top of a dressing table. He had climbed a chair to reach the pills.

GARDINER, Me. (UP)—At the age of 90, Lewis H. Clark, retired lawyer, minister, farmer and businessman, is busy writing his autobiography.

Parolee Prefers Prison to Home

Fails in Attempt to Get Back Into Cell; Wants to Avoid Outside 'Rush'

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Life as a convict in Ohio State Prison was sheltered and orderly and to Arpad Beres, 31, it seemed so secure he begged to go back after nine months of freedom.

Committed for armed robbery when he was 23, Beres served an eight-year sentence and became prison barber. He was released on parole just before last Christmas and his family tried to give him a boost in his effort to stay honest.

"I guess we were just too hard on him," a brother said.

Beres stood the buffetings of freedom until recently. Then he broke into a scrapyard office and notified police to come and pick him up.

"On the outside everybody wants money, money, money," he said. "It's rush, rush, rush. Someone is always after you.

"At the pen everything is orderly and they know just what you can do . . . I broke into the scrapyard just to get back. I didn't steal anything."

But Beres' desire to go back wasn't granted. Common Pleas Judge James C. Connell threw out the burglary charges, accepted a guilty plea to a lesser charge of unlawful entry and then referred Beres to probation and the county psychiatric clinic.

House of Commons Presented Painting

LONDON (UP)—Marshall Field, American financier, has presented a valuable painting to the House of Commons as a gesture of Anglo-American friendship.

The 48-square-foot painting, valued at $25,000, depicts a debate in Commons at the start of World War I.

Winston Churchill, then a man of 40, is one of the 110 parliamentary figures on the canvas painted by Leopold Braun, an artist of the modern French school who was given permission to work on it while Commons was in session in 1914.

Field originally purchased the painting for his own use but turned it over to Speaker of the House, W. S. Morrison, because he felt it had greater historical significance and value to the British people.

Boy Keeps On Trying Despite Broken Bones

SHARON SPRINGS, Kan. (UP)—No quitter is Donald Sivey.

Last April the 12-year-old boy broke his right arm trying to leap to the branch of a tree from a butane truck.

The other day Don gave a demonstration, upon request, of how he snapped the bone. From the same butane tank, leaping toward the same tree branch, young Sivey broke the same arm.

"Next time," Donald said, "I'll make it."

Pot and Pan Expert Hasn't Time to Cook

BERGENFIELD, N. J. (UP) — Mrs. Marjorie Cederberg is an expert on pots and pans, although she rarely uses them. She's too busy at her unusual career to do much cooking.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired mother thinks of pots and pans in terms of alloys, brass finishes, name plates, panels, rulers and dials.

The 47-year old businesswoman is a metals buyer for an Englewood, N. J. etching firm.

Mrs. Cederberg, a five-foot-two, 135-pound bundle of energy, started as a secretary with the company.

But it had just been organized and she found herself "promoted" to part-time switchboard operator and sometimes-payroll clerk, as well as secretary.

I twasn't long until her boss asked her to set up a purchasing system.

Mrs. Cederberg, who concentrated on English literature and avoided chemistry in college, filled the gaps in her knowledge by asking questions and visiting steel mills.

She found what to look for when buying stainless steel, aluminum and brass and learned that men enjoyed the novelty of a woman in the mills and were quick to cooperate.

Mrs. Cederberg, says her husband, George, a New York banker, has "reconciled himself" to her job. Nelson, her 17-year-old son, said he always knew "my mom has what it takes" to succeed.

Water-Tossing Child Is Just Getting Even

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — Right after a heavy storm ended, leaving more than four inches of rain, a little girl scooped up pails of water from a flooded street and tossed them at passing automobiles.

"Don't you know it's naughty to do that," a pedestrian scolded.

The girl replied, "When the cars go by and make waves, they flood my house."

Archery in Comeback

ANN ARBOR (INS)—Glenn P. Bruneau, wood technology supervisor at the University of Michigan, says archery is gradually replacing the firearm in the hands of Michigan hunters. Bruneau points out that 10 years ago an archer in Michigan was a novelty. He says this year about 30,000 hunters, men and women alike, are taking to the woods carrying bows and arrows in hopes of finding deer, rabbits, grouse, pheasants or bear.

Stops Fan That Ruffled Dignity of Womenfolk

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Police Judge David Cates took action to preserve the dignity of women walking down a downtown Louisville street.

Cates required grocery store operator Meyer Levine to shut off a fan that had been lifting women's skirts by blowing air up through a sidewalk grating.

Levine said he had used the fan to cool a refrigerator motor, and promised the judge he would stop.

Romance in Drugstore Leads Couple to Altar

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—They met in a drugstore—just like teenagers. So Albert Knott and Mrs. Charlotte Charleville got to "going out on dates and you know how those things end," she said after they were married.

Knott is 72; his bride 70. He owns the drugstore where they met.

Live and Learn

PORTLAND, Me. (UP) — A stranger stopped Arthur Candistos and, displaying a $1 bill, said he needed just 68 cents more to get back to Portsmouth. Candistos supplied the money but was disillusioned a few hours later when he saw the same man waving the bill and telling the same tale of woe to another man. 5

Akron Civic Forum Seeks Ways to Spot a Commie

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—What is a Communist? How can you spot one?

To find out, the Akron civic forum called in a group of experts and got these answers:

The Communist is dedicated, more or less, to plowing under your way of life.

But don't expect to recognize him by a turned up coat and a turned down hat, dark glasses or a bomb bulging in his hip pocket. You'll have to listen to him talk to tell.

The panel of speakers included former Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash), now a member of the subversive activities control board. More than 3,000 persons filled Jewish Hall as the forum sponsored the discussion in celebration of its 25th anniversary.

The panelists described American Communists as Americans in citizenship only, engaged in promotion of the Soviet Union's ideas of world conquest.

To know one, the panel advised, listen for talk of the "downtrodden masses," suggestions that the Russians "aren't so bad, after all," and criticism of the capitalist system.

Seldom, said the panel, will the true Red tell a new acquaintance that "I believe the American government should be overthrown and communism be substituted in its place."

Cain, speaking on America's approach to the Communist problem, said he believed that the subversive activities control board was doing a good job of "keeping constitutional balance and security, while trying to bring Communist and Red front organizations out into the open."

He said that "it's a ticklish job flushing out Communists and at the same time safeguarding personal liberties."

Dr. Frederick L. Schuman of Williams College posed a question that drew no definite conclusion from his fellow panelists. It was: "Should the individual, seeking to avoid membership in Red front groups, decide himself to what organization he should belong, or should an official list be made to guide his judgment?"

Schuman said that he once innocently joined an organization from which he later resigned when he learned that it was a suspected Red front.

All of the panelists agreed that the government must make a serious attempt to root out communism.

Dr. Hans J. Morgenthau of the University of Chicago said:

"Some of us have been gullible, and the administrations of Roosevelt and Truman were as gullible as most of us.

Had they heeded warnings of Communist infiltration, McCarthy would have no case today." He was referring to Sen. McCarthy, who has been spearheading a drive against Reds in government.

Other members of the panel were: The Rev. Robert C. Hartnett, editor of the National Catholic weekly review, America; J. H. A. Watson, first secretary of the British embassy in Washington; Dr. Ernest R. Lawrence, professor of political science at the University of Akron, and Walter Stoessel from the federal department of state.

Lathrup's First Mayor Jailed on Drunk Driving

MASON, Mich. (AP)—The new city of Lathrup, Mich., can find its first mayor, William H. Harvie, 54, in Mason's jail.

The mayor, whose city was only incorporated Monday, is ch$rg3d with "driving while under the influence of intoxicants." State police say he plowed into the back end of a car that had stopped.

The car belonged to State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

U.S. to Wind Up Smith Act Case

Prosecution Testimony Against Six State Reds to End Next Week

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. District Attorney Fred W. Kaess says the government plans to wind up its case early next week against six Michigan Communists accused of violating the Smith Act.

Kaess said yesterday that federal attorneys expect to complete the prosecution's testimony by that time. He said he would call on more FBI undercover agents within the party to testify, one and possibly two today.

The six admitted Communists are charged with conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard granted a motion by defense counsel Ernest Goodman yesterday to strike out part of the testimony of one of the government's surprise witnesses, Mrs. Bereniece Baldwin.

Mrs. Baldwin, a Detroit practical nurse who worked for nine years as an undercover agent for the FBI within party ranks, testified on Dec. 8 "that the Communists teach that revolution must be violent."

Goodman who frequently interrupted Mrs. Baldwin's testimony to object asked Judge Picard to strike out the statement because, he claimed, the Detroit woman was not qualified to make the statement.

Mrs. Baldwin's statement went on to say that, as she understood it, "the dictatorship of the proletariat shall be established and that it can not be done by peaceful means."

Goodman claimed that she had not studied Communist doctrine and that she attended Communist meetings only as an observer for the FBI.

The only known species of freshwater sharks are found in Lake Nicaragua. Ichthyologists call them Eulamia nicaraguenis.

Viet Nam Premier Quits Over Policies

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—Nguyen Van Tam resigned today as Premier of the war-torn Indochinese nation of Viet Nam and Prince Buu Loc, Vietnamese high commissioner in France, wa asked to form a new government.

Van Tam said he and his government had quit because Viet Nam's chief of state, ex-Emperor Bao Dai, would not agree to his bringing into the cabinet Nationalists hostile to the former monarch because they say he is too pro-French.

The political crisis came after five months of mounting criticism of Van Tam. In a statement today he complained that Bao Dai's instructions had "almost always made it impossible" for him to work for the independence within the French Union that France promised Viet Nam last July.

The outgoing Premier is known as "Enemy No. 1" of the Communist-led Vietminh because of his strong measures against Red terrorists.

Many other anti-Communist politicians opposed him, however, charging he was too clse to Bao Dai and to the French.

Another Asking Contract Probe

Rep. Rhodes Claiming Tank Award to GM Will Be Duplication

READING, Pa. (AP)—Rep. Rhodes (D-Pa) says he is supporting a demand by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) for a probe of the Defense Department award of a 220 million dollar tank contract to General Motors Corp.

Rhodes declared last night that as a result, the Birdsboro (Pa) Armorcast Co. has furloughed hundreds of workers. Rhodes said the plant had a sub-contract to produce turrets for the M58 tank under an agreement with the Chrysler Corp.

The Birdsboro firm, said Rhodes, has put a large amount of money into retooling to handle turret production and he considers the money will be wasted as a result of the General Motors contract awatd.

Rhodes said he doubts General Motors, which is scheduled to start production of the tanks next spring, can do the job any cheaper because of the same retooling expenses.

He said he planned to "take some action" in the House backing Kefauver's proposed probe when Congress reconvenes.

Baby Strangles in Highchair Fall

PLAINWELL (UP) — Twenty-month-old Bert Lee Grimm was strangled late Wednesday when he fell from his high chair and his shirt caught on a broken rung.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Leo Grimm, told Allegan County Coroner William Tenbrink she found her son's partially suspended body when she returned from hanging up clothes in the backyard.

Tenbrink said the boy apparently fell when an arm of the high chair gave way.

Nothing to Invent?

Couple of Boys Failed to Heed Dad's Forecast

From a speech by Lewis L. Strauss, chairman, United States atomic energy commission.

"I recall a story about a small denominational college in the west in pioneer days where the president doubled as professor of physics and chemistry.

"An eastern bishop, in whose charge the institution rested, paid an annual visit and the president called in his small faculty to supper to give them the benefit of exposure to the bishop's wisdom ad experience.

"After supper, the bishop delivered himself of the opinion that the millenium could not be very far off.

Among other indicia, everything about nature had been discovered, and all inventions that would be made had been made. When he finished he turned to the president for his concurrence.

The president reluctantly said that he couldn't agree; that he felt that the next 50 years would produce more inventions than the world had ever seen. The bishop was outraged.

"Name just one thing," he demanded.

"Well," said the president, somewhat taken down, "I do think that at any rate within the next 50 years men will be able to fly like birds."

For that," declared the bishop, "you will surely roast in Gehenna. Flight is reserved solely for the angeles,"

I forgot to mention the bishop's name, which was Bishop Wright. He had two small sons at home and their names were Orville and Wilbur.

Buggy Pusher Arrested

DU QUOIN, Ill. (UP)—Benjamin Harrison Rogers was arrested while weaving down a Du Quoin thoroughfare with his vehicle. The thoroughfare was a sidewalk. The vehicle was a baby buggy containing Rogers' 18-month-old son. Rogers pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was fined $25.

Construction Worker Killed by Steel Beam

BAY CITY (UP) — Joseph C. Brousard, 27, a construction worker from Baton Rouge, La., was killed Wednesday at Consumer Power Co.'s nearby Weadock plant.

Brousard and a fellow worker, Merle A. Huslander, 36, of Farewell, were struck by an 11-ton steel beam which fell from a crane. Huslander escaped with minor injuries.

Scissors Serve as Hands for Handicapped Reporter

KINGSTON, N. Y. (UP) — Bob Browning would be in a pretty bad way if he didn't have a pair of scissors.

He uses them to scratch his nose, flip on the radio, pull papers out of a file box, snip a story from a paper.

Browning lost his left arm in World War I. Arthritis has robbed him of all but limited movement in his right arm and confined him to a wheelchair for more than 10 years.

But he still manages to cover the news from the surrounding Hudson River Valley area for radio station WKNY. He does it all by telephone, with the help of that pair of scissors.

"If I were running a school of journalism," he said today, "the first thing I'd teach is the value of a paste pot and a pair of shears." As he talked, he clipped out an item pinched it between scissors points, and slid it into a stack of papers.

Browning was getting ready for a local news broadcast. He gives six a day, all ad lib.

On a recent show, he broadcast 16 items and six commercials. He started from the top of the stack and worked down watching the clock as he talked. When his 15 minutes were up, he quit.

Browning's broadcasts originate from his downtown hotel room. He gets his cue in code words from the station announcer. There are no flashing lights or other fancy fixtures.

"It's a good system," Browning said, "When it works, but it doesn't always work.

"Sometimes a bellboy taps me on the shoulder and tells me I've been talking to myself for seven minutes."

Browning keeps abreast of the news through his contacts. He knows everybody and has up to 20 guests a day. He makes regular calls to the police, sheriff, courts, neighboring newsmen and volunteer fire departments.

It means he has a flying start when a major story breaks in his area. Earlier this year, a story about the Williams Lake resort fire, based on Browning's phone calls, earned banner play.

He's always interested in improving his coverage. Some time back, for instance, he decided a police radio would be helpful, so he had one installed. Something went wrong.

"All I've been able to get on it are calls from the local taxicab company," he said.

Browning admits his arthritis "is getting no better," but he doesn't let it get him down.

"Everybody has worse problems than I," he said. "I'm having the most fun now I ever had in my life."

WARDROBE PROBLEM—Pamela Jo Carey, nestled in arms of her mother, Mrs. Jack W. Carey, in Atlanta, Ga., is only a few days old but she already has a wardrobe problem. She is one of the largest babies ever born in Atlanta, weighing 14 pounds, 7 ounces at birth. Her mother, 23, weighs 112, sighed when she said: "I bought clothes for a normal baby."

Motor Scooter Hobby Lands Man, in Bed

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Mack Donald Rogers' great affinity for motor scooters and motor bikes has put him in the hospital for the first time in his 74 years.

Rogers, who "didn't think I was too old before but I do now," went to a hospital with a broken leg after trying to dodge a small puppy that ran into the path of the motor scooter he was riding.

Rogers, who once worked for the Ringling Brothers Circus as caretaker for the 20-ton elephant, Jumbo, hates motorcycles. But motor bikes and scooters are his weakness.

Twins Are Head Police of Two Nearby Towns

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (UP)—Twin boys brought up here also have twin jobs—they're both police chiefs.

Melvin and Marvin Swance, 31, became interested in police work through a patrolman who lived across the street from them in Lake Geneva when they were boys.

Now, Melvin is chief here and Marvin heads the force in Harvard, Ill., just across the state line.

Develop New Dairy Spread

Tastes, Looks and Made Like Butter; Needs No Refrigeration

WINNIPEG, Man. (UP) — Researchers here have developed a dairy spread that's made butter, looks like butter and even tastes like butter—but can keep indefinitly without refrigeration.

The new "butter" was developed by scientists in the University of Manitoba's dairy science department, and, according to Dr. J. M. Nesbitt, department chairman, it's basically the same as ordinary butter.

Dr. Nesbit said the process by which it's made is simple, and he's willing to give the recipe to all who ask.

The contents of the spread are basically the same as ordinary butter, and for all practical purposes, they offer the same nutritional values.

Dr. Nesbitt and August Reinhart, an Estonian scientist who's doing most of the laboratory work, said the cost of the new discovery would be higher than ordinary butter. However, the researchers aren't interested in the product's commercial possibilities.

They have been working under a grant from the Defense Research Board, and military authorities expressed themselves happy recently with the product's possibilities for military and other defense uses.

The spread is made out of ordinary butter. You just add antioxidants and sterilize, so there can't be any bacteria or oxygen in it.

The spread is canned and sealed. If the can is accidently opened or exposed to oxygen, the spread is subject to temperatures and the dangers of turning rancid just as regular butter is.

But there's no telling how long it can last in the can, and, unlike margarine, the new spread will not likely meet opposition from dairy farmers. It's definitely a dairy product.

A pre-war average harvest of 30 bushels of corn per acre is now up to 43 bushels. Cotton has gone from 238 to 311 pounds per acre, potatoes from 122 to 212 bushels per acre.

EVERYTHING BUT OUT-OF-GAS—Mechanically-minded boy has fun with this strip-down toy car, which can be put back together again with a complete set of life-like tools.

Australian Jet Fighter Better Than American

CANBERRA (AP)—The first Australian - built Sabrejet fighter has made its official test flight. Flight-Lieutenant W. H. Scott of the RAAF flew the plane for 30 minues in the Melbourne area.

Minister for Defense Production Eric J. Harrison told newsmen the Australian Sabre was an improvement on the original American design. Australian engineers, he said, had modified the fuselage to take the more powerful British-built Avon jet engine in place of the American turbo jet engine in Sabres now in Korea.

Sidewheeler's Last Turn

SHELBURNE, Vt. (UP) — After cruising more than 1,000,000 miles and carrying more than 1,000,000 passengers on Lake Champlain, the sidewheeler Ticonderoga is being retired. The 48-year-old excursion boat is the last of the steam sidewheelers used on the lake during the past 144 years.

Spain Steps Up Broadcasting Via Short Wave

MADRID (UP)—Spain has inaugurated a new short wave transmitter with which it plans to intensify its propaganda broadcasts to the outside world, especially to audiences in Latin America, the Philippines and the Arab countries.

The new transmitter of 40-50 kilowatts, erected close to Madrid at the short wave center of Arganda, is claimed to be one of the 10 most modern in the world and has many new devices for improved broadcasting.

These include an automatic tuning mechanism that permits changes of frequency within a few seconds and special remote control facilities.

The new transmitter joins two others at Arganda, which have been carrying Spanish short wave broadcasts for several years.

Four other new transmitters are being erected and will be inaugurated shortly to give Spain a worldwide transmission coverage.

With 21 Spanish-speaking countries in South and Central America, as well as Mexico and the Philippines, Spanish short wave broadcasts have a huge potential audience. And in the Arab countries Spain has good relations which it wishes to foster.

Seventeen hundred types of wool, each with distinct spinning qualities, are produced on Australian sheep ranches. One bale of extra-superfine lamb's wool recently sold for a record of $5.30 a pound.

Loyalty Oath Goes Back to Old Civil War Days

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—A school researcher here has discovered that prospective teachers in Missouri were required to take a loyalty oath in 1864.

Miss Elizabeth Golterman, a public school official, found the pledge in old school records while doing research on a student rally in 1864 to raise military funds.

The oath was required of applicants for teaching jobs to "prevent the dissemination of disloyal sentimenth through the public schools," since Missouri was a border state between the North and South and loyalty was divided.

The applicants had to pledge they would not give "aid and comfort" to enemies of the Union and they were warned not to participate in "secret organizations."

Husband Guilty of Fraud, Refused to Kiss His Wife

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Patricia Kolarik, 19, contended her husband Louis, 26, was guilty of a fraud in marrying her last May.

After the wedding, Mrs. Kolarik told Circuit Judge Julius H. Miner yesterday, her husband kissed her. But, she said, he did not kiss her again, spurning her offers of affection. They separated last Aug. 15.

Mrs. Kolarik was granted an annulment by Judge Miner, who upheld her contention Kolarik was guilty of a fraud in marrying her.

The hottest season of the year is referred to as the "dog days."

Yule Vacation at UM Begins Friday Officially

ANN ARBOR—Christmas vacation for University of Michigan students begins officially at the close of classes tomorrow, but it is anticipated that, as usual, numbers of scholars will be leaving today, since the home fires beckon pretty strongly at this time of the year.

The 17,500 students going on vacation—not all of them to their homes, especially the 1,010 foreign students—will not be due back until Jan. 4.

The homeward-bound students will tax transportation facilities. Extra buses will be run as needed by the Greyhound and Short Way Lines.

The New York Central System has scheduled a special train to New York City and will add a second section to its Twilight Limited to Chicago. No special airline service for the students is indicated.

Stewardesses Remain Unmarried Longer Now

CHICAGO (AP) — Airline stewardesses at one major company are not getting married as quickly as they did in World War II.

A survey of 900 women employes at United Air Lines showed the average length of service for a stewardess in World War II was 18 months before she married. Now the average is 29 months.

Soviet Composer Slams Music Policy

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times says the noted Soviet composer Aram Khatchaturian has publicly criticized Soviet policy on music.

The Times quoted an article by Khatchaturian in last month's issue of the publication Soviet Music urging that Soviet composers be freed "from the petty tutelage of the staffs of musical institutions."

The article attacked much of the music which has been produced in Russia in recent years, saying it was "written without creative elan, with a glance over the shoulder, expressing the fear that something untoward might happen."

Bob Considine Says:

Almanac Tells of Rooster Just Too Lazy to Crow

NEW YORK (INS)—Some momentous events will hatch in 1954, if the old "Farmer's Almanac" hasn't taken me for a big city rube.

Mars is going to snuggle up to within 40,000,000 miles June 24, 1954. Residents of Anarctica will see an eclipse of the sun Jan. 4.

Promoters of the various bowl football games will be relieved to learn that Jan. 1 "will be cold but clear." Labor Day, 1954 will be "cool and nice all weekend."

The Almanac for '54 came up with some dingers in its "anecdotes & pleasantries" department. Hold your sides:

Si and Hiram were talking shop. "I have without doubt the laziest rooster in the world," boasted Si.

"Just how lazy is he, Si?"

"Well, he ain't never crowed in his life. He just waits for another rooster to crow—and then he nods his head."

"Some years ago, a friend of mine had a red fox hitched in his yard. Among other things he fed him bread and milk and supposed he ate it. At the same time he kept losing hens, but as the fox was hitched he didn't suspect him. One day his wife happened to see the fox chew his bread and milk, and then spread the bread around. When a hen came up to get the bread, the fox caught her."—Arthur Brown in the American Agriculturist.

The opinion in Washington is that Congress will offer few if any obstacles to the Eisenhower plan to create a pool of atomic materials for the peaceful good of all. The debate, if any, will center around Russia—whether it comes in or stays out of the plan.

The expectation is that the Reds will try to make a few changes in the Eisenhower plan which, if accepted by the President, will enable them to tell their captive peoples that it is a Russian idea.

Eisenhower seems determined to push ahead for the creation of this atom agency even if the Russians denounce it and take no part in it. He would prefer the Russians to take part.

But if they don't, and the member nations enter into an era of atomic welfare springing from the plan, it will give the peoples behind the Iron Curtain a vivid view of how their masters handicap them.

Cars and Bars Not Good Mixers

Placing a tavern on the edge of a high speed highway is like standing close to a high tension wire. The situation is potentially dangerous.

With traffic going by at normal highway speeds of 50-60 miles per hour even a small error in judgment can be fatal.

It is hard enough to get into such an establishment safetly — especially if you have to walk in front of cars bearing down on you at high speed.

Even making a left turn in front of highway traffic to get into a parking lot can be a tricky business.

Obviously, a person leaving such an establishment needs all of his drivers who can't stop in a hurry.

Elizabeth Drinks Kava With Fiji Islanders

SUVA, Fiji Islands (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II drained a shell of potent, soapy tasting "kava" today and faced as if she liked it as thousands cheered her arrival in the Fiji Islands.

The royal drink was a popular highspot of the opening ceremonies in the two-day visit to the Pacific island colony of the Commonwealth-touring monarch and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

The Queen watched fascinated while bare-chested, grass-skirted Fiji men whirled clubs and spears in war dances, and 200 garlanded men and women sang island songs.

Road Reply Due by Mid-January

Monroe to Decide on Joining in Turnpike or Supporting Freeway

MONROE (AP)—Monroe city officials will tell the Michigan Turnpike Authority before mid-January whether it is going to join in the building of a toll road, or continue to support a State Highway Department freeway.

At a hearing yesterday William E. Slaughter, chairman of the authority, explained to Monroe officials the advantages of letting the authority build the toll road to join in Detroit with a spur to Bay City.

Slaughter said that the city must be willing to sacrifice its plans for the expressway and the authority will take over all of Monroe's obligations in the freeway which now total $480,000.

The authority seeks to take over a State Highway Department expressway which would run between Toledo and Detroit and connect it with another toll road through Flint to Bay City.

Slaughter said that the authority "was very anxious to build the road," and it would free the money Monroe had planned for its part of the expressway for city road improvements.

But the major hitche comes in the number of entrances to the toll road at Monroe. The proposed freeway would allow two entrances within ghe city of Monroe and two outside.

Slaughter said that the toll road could only promise one entrance at Monroe. Others, he said, would depend upon traffic surveys which would not be made until the project was agreed on and started.

Slaughter said that would make three entrances to the Detroit-Toledo spur, at Detroit, Toledo and Monroe.

Owosso Man Head of Knights Templar

OWOSSO (AP)—George W. Campbell is new grand commander of the Knights Templar of Michigan.

Campbell, of the Owosso Argus-Press, was installed by Fred D. England Jr. of Lansing in brief ceremonies yesterday following the death of Howard B. Caukin of Grand Rapids.

He took the office formerly held by his late father, George T. Campbell, in 1912. Among those who were present at Campbell's elevation from deputy grand commander was Brig. Gen. John H. Steck, retired, who knighted Campbell in 1928.

Extension Service Idea Conceived First in 1837

ANN ARBOR — Although the University of Michigan's extension work was begun in 1891, mention of establishing such a service actually was made in 1837, when the University moved to Ann Arbor from Detroit.

Consider what the transportation problems must have been back in 1891, when courses were given in East Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Hillsdale, Toledo and Detroit. Certainly the classe could be taught only in places with railroad facilities, since the horse and buggy would be limited to short distances.

Claims Solons Need Increase

Group Probing Salaries Has No Final Decision Yet, Chairman Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Bernard G. Segal of a federal commission investigating salaries of congressmen and U. S. judges said today he is convinced they need a salary boost.

Segal said in an interview he had not come to any final conclusion as to an exact figure and did not know what the 18-member commission would come up with in deliberations after its public hearings end.

The group planned to wind up its initial public sessions today and then decide whether to hear other witnesses later. Among those scheduled for today was Arthur Goldberg, general counsel of the CIO.

Nearly all of the 40 witnesses who have appeared before the commission so far have endorsed a $10,000 annual pay hike for the lawmakers and the judges. Two House members have opposed any pay increase for congressmen.

Segal, a Philadelphia attorney who is chancellor of his city's bar association, said the overwhelming weight of the evidence so far had made it plain to him that:

1. "The present salary scales for Congress and the federal judiciary are a distinct hardship."

2. "These scales are beginning to cause a deterioration in the quality of men willing to run for Congress or accept a United States judgeship."

Lloyd Wright, a Los Angeles attorney and member of the commission, said in a separate interview he knew from personal experience the present salaries were making it extremely difficult to get well-qualified federal judges.

Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich), a veteran congressman who listened to some of the testimony yesterday, said in an interview he believes Congress will get a pay hike as a result of the commission's recommendations.

"They'll hitch it to an increase for federal judges and put it through," he prophesied.

Dietrich Gets 90,000 Bucks for Expose

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Marlene Dietrich made her night club debut Tuesday night in the most revealing gown that show business veterans could remember.

The veteran glamor girl opened at the Sahara, and her first appearance drew a gasp from the capacity audience. She sauntered on stage in a gown of transparent black net and little else.

The gown, a clinging number designed by Jean Louis for a reported $6,000, revealed more than it concealed.

Joe Schoenfeld, entertainment veteran and editor of Daily Variety, said: "Its the most daring gown I've ever seen on a stage, and I covered New York burlesque in the old days."

A concensus of other reviews drew similar comments. I asked one what he thought of the gown. "What gown?" he replied.

"I think she was smart to wear it," said another. People expect sex from Dietrich. They got it."

* * *

After the show, the glamorous grandmother served champagne for the press in her suite. She was dressed in a circus ringmaster outfit that exposed her famous gams. She was asked why she chose such a daring costume.

"This is Las Vegas," she replied. "If you can't wear it here, you can't wear it anywhere."

She was asked if her type of sex appeal hadn't disappeared from Hollywood. "Are you kidding?" she replied. "You've got Marilyn Monroe, you should have it so good."

How does she keep her fabulous figure?

"I have no system. I eat whatever I want. I don't exercise, but I keep active."

Will she do any more night clubs?"

"Only if others meet my salary here. I'm drawing $90,000 for three weeks."

Chances are she'll play nowhere else. No other place can afford such a salary.

Miss Dietrich came on stage with the billing "The Most Glamorous Star in the World—the Woman and the Legend." With her strawberry blond hair in a short cut, she was attired in the startling gown plus a 10-foot double train of black fox. She sang nine songs, including such favortes of hers as "Lili Marlene," "Falling in Love Again," and "See What the Boys in the Back Room Will Have." Her voice can best be described as a foggy and slightly off-key baritone. But the patrons of the Las Vegas gambling establishment didn't seem to mind.

President Given Senate Support

Handful of Solons Offer Backing to Carry Out Campaign Promises

WASHINGTON (AP)—A handful of senators pledged support today for President Eisenhower's announced attempt to carry out 1952 Republican platform promises in his program for Congress.

Eisenhower begins discussions today with GOP congressional leaders of the details of a program he said will be based on broad principles to be found "largely in the Republican platform."

"This administration is one that believes in keeping its promises and we are going to do it in every way we can," the President told a White House news conference yesterday.

Senators Gore (D-Tenn) and Monroney (D-Okla), interviewed jointly, agreed there would be Democratic support for that part of the GOP platform which said:

"Our goal is a balanced budget, a reduced national debt, an economical administration and a cut in taxes."

"Those are very brave words the President has uttered and we Democrats will help him if he actually recommends legislation to accomplish that goal," Gore said.

He added there also will be Democratic support for foreign policy moves.

Senators Schoeppel (R-Kan) and Williams (R-Del), also interviewed jointly, agreed that the closer the President sticks to the 1952 platform, the better will be the party's chances for retaining control of Congress in next year's elections.

"If we win in 1954, we are going to have to win on the Republican platform," Williams said. "The people voted for a change and on our promises to cut expenditures, balance the budget and reduce taxes. I believe we can accomplish the goal if we work hard enough cutting expenses."

At a news conference which the White House later permitted to be broadcast and quoted verbatim, Eisenhower said that while he would ask Congress for some changes in the Atomic Energy Act to pass information along to U.S. allies, these would not include authority to transmit "the scientific processes of nuclear fission or building of weapons or building of anything else." He continued:

"But where we are attempting to assure the integrity of a line where we feel that our interest requires us to hold it, it is simply foolish for us to think that we cannot or must not share some kind of our information with our allies who would be dependent upon the same kind of support . . . as we will."

PW's Mother to Fly to U. S. on Dec. 23

TOKYO (AP)—Portia Howe said today she would leave Tokyo for her Alden, Minn., home Dec. 23, shortly before the midnight deadline snuffs out the last faint hope that her prisoner son will abandon communism and return to the Allied side in Korea.

He is 20-year-old Richard Tenneson, one of 22 unrepatriated American soldiers who have cast their lot with the Reds.

Mrs. Howe is due in Minneapolis Dec. 24.

In an interview today she said: "One of the purposes of Communist propaganda is to wreck the American homes. I don't want the Communists to feel they have disrupted my home. I intend to spend Christmas in my own home with my husband and my three children.

By a 1644 order of the Massachusetts general court, workers at America's first successful ironworks at Saugus, Mass., were exempted from military training and "watching for Indians."

Routes Over Arctic Circle Seen in Next 50 Air Years

(Editor's note: Just 50 years ago today the Wright Brothers opened the era of powered flight, and what has happened in aviation in the past half century is history. But what of aviation in the next 50 years? In the following article one of America's most famous airmen, explorers and widely recognized commercial aviation experts, Bernt Balchen suggests some of the wonders to be expected.)

By COL. BERNT BALCHEN

WASHINGTON (INS)—The first half-century of aviation began with a 12 horsepower aircraft weighing 750 pounds, which flew 120 feet in 12 seconds.

This half-century closes with aircraft of 40,000 horsepower, weighing 400,000 pounds and able to remain airborne for a distance of 10,000 miles without refueling and to circle the globe with refueling in flight.

Planes have flown 1,300 miles an hour; they have reached an altitude of 89,000 feet—and maybe more. Last year airplane passengers were equal in number to one-fifth of the population of the United States.

It is reasonable to assume that in the next 50 years planes will exceed 2,000 miles an hour in the military field—and perhaps also in the commercial airline field. I think we can definitely say that at least twice as many passengers will be carried.

I believe that all mail and all first-class freight will be airborne.

No place on the globe will be more than ten hours distant from another point.

Space flight also is within the possibilities within the span of 50 years. The initial phase of it, at least, is a possibility. That will involve the development of space stations for further studies of how to extend space flight.

That is the new field for exploration. There is not much remaining to be explored on our globe.

What does remain to be done in the remoter areas of the world is to map, survey and prepare for the intense exploitation of natural resources which will become necessary as the world's population increases.

Air lift and the extension of existing air networks will become increasingly important factors in this higher exploitation of the world to feed more people.

Already, the airplane and air transportation have changed our economy and our mode of living. They will change it more.

A commercial air network over the arctic regions will be a significant feature of our globe in the air age. The Arctic Ocean actually is the center of the civilized world of today—and of tomorrow—both militarily and commercially.

The three continents of the Northern Hemisphere ring the Arctic Ocean. Great circle routes either over or near the Arctic Ocean will become air network routes of the future.

In that connection, it should be remembered that 80 per cent of the world's population live on those continents which ring the Arctic Ocean.

As we go into the second 50 years of flight, the installations built in the arctic regions for servicing airplanes are military, built for defense purposes.

Those defense installations will become installations for transpolar commercial flight of tomorrow.

What Cost Progress?

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP) — A closet in the U. S. District Court judge's office here yielded old newspapers used as evidence in cases in the early 1800s. One advertised men's suits for $5 and $6. Another advertised farms for sale for $1,000.

Yanks Get A's Robinson, Byrd in 11-Player Deal

Champs' Pilot Warns Other AL Clubs They Will Have to Scramble in 1954

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"This will open the floodgates. The other clubs will have to scramble now."

A big grin on his usually expressionless face, George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees, made the comment after the world champions had acquired slugging first baseman Eddie Robinson and workhorse pitcher Harry Byrd in an 11-player trade with the Philadelphia A's which included some promising rookies from the Yanks' Kansas City farm.

In return for Robinson and Byrd, who figure to strengthen the Yanks immeasurably, the New Yorkers gave three players they can easily spare—Negro outfielder-infielder Vic Power, outfielder Bill Renna and first baseman Don Bollweg.

Power, leading hitter in the American Assn. with Kansas City last year with a .349 average, was the "key man" in the deal for the A's, the Yankees said. Renna and Bollweg were just utility players with the Yanks.

Even with the addition of Robinson and Byrd, the Yanks indicated they have no intention of standing pat with a four-aces hand in their drive for a sixth straight pennant and world championship.

"We're in the market for a pitcher, said Weiss. He still had the cat-ate-the-canary look on his face today after announcing the big trade Wednesday.

No cash was involved, the Yanks said, except for the return of $25,000 to the A's for their purchase of third baseman Loren Babe last April. Babe was sent to Kansas City as part of the sweeping transaction.

The other players the A's got in the deal were:

From Kansas City: catcher Al Robertson, 25, who hit .278 at Kansas City and .264 at Syracuse last year; right-handed pitcher John Gray, 26, with a 9-7 record and 4.15 earned run average; third baseman Jim Finnegan, 25, .303 at Binghamton of the Eastern League last year.

The A's sent the following to the Yanks' Kansas City farm:

Babe, 25, .230; first baseman Tom Hamilton, 27, .196; and outfielder Carmen Mauro, 27, .255 with Washington and Philadelphia.

Robinson, a long-ball hitter who was 33 Tuesday, will vie with Joe Collins for the first base job and help fill the gap left by the retirement of pinch hitter Johnny Mize. The veteran from Baltimore hit only .247 last year but clouted 22 homers and drove in 102 runs. A left-handed swinger, he'll have an inviting target in the Yanks' 297-foot right field wall.

Byrd, 29, Rookie of the Year in the American League in '52 when he had a 15-15 record with a 3.32 earned run average, tailed off last year. He wound up with an 11-20 record and a 5.51 ERA mark.

Bollweg, 31, hit .297 in 155 times at bat, while Renna, 27, had an .314 average in 121 trips to the plate.

BEGINNING OF END—Ezzard Charles (right) lands a hard right to the jaw of Coley Wallace in the 8th round of their 10-rounder in San Francisco Wednesday night. The blow sent Wallace to the canvas for a nine count, the 1st of two he was to take before the referee stopped the fight in the 10th and awarded the bout to Charles on a TKO.

Was It KO or TKO?

Ex-Champ Ezzard Charles Looks Sharp in Handing Licking to Coley Wallace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Lean, mean Ezzard Charles, the former heavyweight champion, was banging at the title door again today following his impressive victory over Coley Wallace last night.

Charles, fighting in the same powerful fashion as when he wore the crown from 1949 to 1951, stopped Wallace just 17 seconds before the scheduled end of the nationally televised 10-rounder.

Although he won in masterful fashion and led from start to finish, Charles' win provided the setting for a hassel over whether he should be credited with a knockout or a TKO.

The No. 3 heavyweight contender dropped his younger rival twice in the 10th round. The first one was for a nine count. Wallace hit the canvas from a right to the jaw. He staggered to his feet and went down again from a right and left to the chin. The time was 2:43.

Referee Frankie Brown did not count over the fallen Wallace. According to California State Athletic Commission rules, it should have been called a technical knockout. Brown, in his report to the commission, said it was a knockout.

Two judges, Eddie James and Toby Irwin, like Brown old-time ringmen, said it was a TKO in their first report but later changed it to conform with Brown's decision.

Charles, 32, was in championship form. He proved that experience and top condition can overcome such physical advantages as Wallace enjoyed because of his youth and size; Wallace is 25 years old and stands 6 feet 2. He weighed 201 pounds to 190 for Charles. Ez indicated he is gunning for a title match with champion Rocky Marciano.

Wallace said, "Charles is the best man I've ever been in the ring with. He has everything."

Record Crowds Saw NFL Games in Past Season

Television Is Credited With Boosting Interest in Pro Sport

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An estimated 2,200,000 fans saw National Football League games this year in what commissioner Bert Bell describes as "the greatest season in our history."

The million dollar coast-to-coast television project inaugurated by the NFL this year, Bell said, "created thousands of new fans."

"I think TV is terrific," the stocky, gravel-voiced Bell added. "The more we have the more I like it."

Attendance set a new mark. The old record of 2,052,126 was established last season. Official figures for 1953 will be disclosed at the league's annual meeting here Jan. 28-30.

Bell said the league expects to stand pat on major rules at the annual meeting. One rule might go out the window, however—the one which permits a ball-carrier to get up and run again after he is tackled.

"We may consider making the ball dead when any part of the body, except the hands and feet, touch the ground," Bell explained. "However, if the ball carrier slips or falls himself without being touched by a defensive player he can get up and advance.

"Any other rule changes will be technical. Our big job is to educate the public as to what the rules are now."

Even though he expects to be called for military service, All America halfback, Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame looms as the No. 1 draft choice when 361 players go up for grabs in the NFL draft. Each club gets 30 picks, one at a time.

Five clubs are eligible for the bonus choice: Baltimore Colts, Chicago Cardinals, Cleveland Browns, Pittsburgh Steelers and Green Bay Packers.

If Lattner is passed up as the bonus choice he is pretty certain of being grabbed by the Chicago Cardinals who have first choice in the draft.

Terp Prexy Says School 'Has Right to Keystoners'

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The University of Maryland football squad, which carries more players from Pennsylvania than Maryland, figures it has a historic right to players from north of the Mason-Dixon line.

That was the word yesterday from H. C. (Curley) Byrd, president of the university, as he accepted the 1953 O'Donnell trophy, which goes annually to the team voted No. 1 in the final Associated broadcasters.

Award was made at a banquet meeting of the Washington Board of Trade and Touchdown Club. Byrd, recalling an appearance earlier this year before the Pennsylvania legislature said Gov. John S. Fine jokingly reproved Maryland for luring football talent away from the Keystone State.

Byrd said he replied that back in the early days in the new world, Maryland owned what is now southern Pennsylvania, and "so, all we are doing is taking what is rightfully ours."

Byrd, who coached Maryland from 1911 to 1933, is retiring at the end of this academic year as the university's president.

Coach Jim Tatum, recently named coach-of-the-year, said "I believe I'm right in saying my team is the best."

Bill Earley, backfield coat at Notre Dame who was voted No. 2 in the country, concurred. In presenting the O'Donnell trophy to Maryland, Earley said "I think Maryland is very worthy of joining the list of national champions."

Notre Dame wound up 216 points behind Maryland in the final AP tabulations, drawing 141 first place votes to 187 for Maryland. The point total was Maryland 3,365 and Notre Dame 3,149.

U. S. Cuppers in Danger

Tony Trabert Wins, but Brichant Upsets Seixas

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Jacques Brichant, a 23-year-old automobile salesman, sent United States Davis Cup hopes plunging downward today when he defeated Vic Seixas, 6-3, 11-9, 2-6, 6-1, in the second singles match of the U.S.-Belgium interzone finals.

It was not so much the fact that Brichant defeated Seixas that bothered United States captain Billy Talbert. Rather, it was the effortless manner in which he turned the trick.

Seixas' defeat took all the joy out of Tony Trabert's 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Philippe Washer in the first match.

Now the best-of-five series is all tied and tomorrow Trabert and Seixas must play Brichant and Washer in doubles. It was in the tandem event that the Australian experts figured the Belgians had their best chance of salvaging perhaps one match.

Instead, the Belgians are thinking in terms of reaching the challenge round against the Australians later this month. On Saturday, the order of the singles will be reversed with Seixas taking on Washer and Trabert crossing rackets with Brichant.

If Seixas does not get control of his game, the Americans could be in for trouble. Washer is rated far superior to Brichant—and the latter made Vic look like he was just learning the game.

"I am amazed at the result," said Adrian Quist, the old Aussie ace, who helped the Belgians in practice. "Brichant played much better tennis than Washer."

As for the bright side of the picture, Trabert, the ex-sailor, completely outplayed Washer, Belgium's No. 1 player. Washer was exceedingly nervous which is hard to understand in view of the fact that he has been playing on the Belgium Davis Cup team since 1946.

8 Minor Loop Farmhands Get Spring Chance

McHale Lists Players Who Have Potential to Make Tiger Roster

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Hot stove Tiger talk:

Detroit Tigers' "Youth movement" made long strides last season. Three bonus rookies were signed—pitcher Bob Miller, outfielder Al Kaline and infielder Reno Bertoia.

Next season Tigers hope to continue, but even further, the youth-for-age conversion.

Johnny McHale, Tiger farm director, lists eight minor leaguers who have a chance to stick with the parent club in 1954. Contacted in his Briggs Stadium office, McHale named these players:

Second baseman Frank Bolling—"a solid hitter. He's excellent on double plays." Bolling started the season with Little Rock, hitting .288. He closed out the campaign with Buffalo and had a .318 batting mark.

Shortstop Buddy Hicks — "a switch hitter who can play either third base or shortstop. A fine candidate for a pinch-hitting duties and as a utility man." Hicks hit .295 with Buffalo.

Infielder-outfielder Johnny Baumgartner,—"he had a try with us at the start of last season but couldn't make it. With Little Rock, he did his best hitting .305, there as an outfielder. That's where he'll be working in the spring."

Outfielder Bill Tuttle—"this boy is an excellent defensive centerfielder, a timely hitter and an excellent baserunner." He did .276 with Buffalo.

Pitcher Frank Lary—"he's got a good curve and is sneaky fast. Lary was 17-11 with Buffalo.

Pitcher Paul Foytack—"Foytack had a 13-10 record with Buffalo.

Pitcher Milt Jordan — "another boy who has been up before. He had compiled a 12-1 record by mid-July, then came up with a sore flipper."

Pitcher Milo Johnson—He's 32, but might have some relief pitching value."

Clark Resigns as Nebraska's Athletic Head

Potsy Says Amateurism Has Disappeared From College Sports

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—George (Potsy) Clark, who came to the University of Nebraska as head football coach and stayed on as athletic director, said last night he is through at the Cornhusker school.

CLARK

There has been dissatisfaction among some Nebraska fans and alumni at Nebraska's athletic showing since World War II. Last season the Husker team won 3 games and tied 1 of its 10-game schedule.

Clark said he was quitting "at the pleasure" of the university athletic board rather than make his job "an issue."

A veteran of some 40 years in athletics since he played football for Illinois prior to World War I, Clark has more than once spoken out against professionalism in college athletics.

Announcing his resignation he said in too many instances amateurism has disappeared from the field of college sports, particularly football, and the fun has been taken from the game for the boys."

Clark said he felt Nebraska's athletic program was sound.

Clark said that his leaving Nebraska did not necessarily mean he was "getting out of the athletic field."

Clark had coached in both college and professional ranks. He came to Nebraska in 1945 and had a winning team. He went back to a business career at Grand Rapids, Mich., at the end of the season, but returned to Nebraska as coach in 1948.

Bill Glassford, present Husker football coach, took over in 1950 and Clark moved up to athletic director.

The athletic board met last night but its chairman, Dr. Walter Beggs, said "The board has adopted a policy of making no releases until the regents have acted upon the minutes of board meetings."

Regents will meet in Omaha Saturday.

Restrictions on Trout Fishing Face Opposition

LANSING (AP)—Conservation commission's five proposals for greater restrictions on trout fishing are facing opposition from department field and research fish workers and enforcement men.

The staff people at a meeting at the Higgins Lake training school voted in favor of only one of the proposals. This was to set higher size limits than the present seven inches on 10 experimental streams.

Majority at the meeting opposed outlawing plugs, spoons and gang hooks, reducing the creel limit to eight, closing streams to fishing between midnight and 6 a.m. and limiting trout fishermen to one line.

Proposals were being further aired at the department's Institute for Fisheries Research at Ann Arbor today with some commissioners in attendance.

A public hearing on the program is slated for Jan. 22 at Higgins Lake.

Phalanx, sparked by Bob Brennen's 29 points, routed the Lakesiders, 60-14. Losers were limited to four field goals. Police Department edged the Hi-Knights, 24-18, in the 3rd game of the night.

Tartars Name Captains

DETROIT (AP) — Center Harold Beardsley and fullback Dick Lisabeth today were named co-captains of Wayne University's football team for 1954. Both will be seniors next fall.

In a special meeting of the team, the Tartars also named halfback Vic Zucco as the most valuable player.

Wife Has Baby, Cager Turns in Poor Showing

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Captain Nat Campana of Niagara Falls, N. Y., has a convincing explanation for his University of Vermont team's 1st loss in five basketball starts.

A half-hour before Dartmouth started building up an 80-49 victory over the Catamounts, Campana became the father of an eight-pound son, his 1st child.

After rushing from his wife's hospital bedside, Campana was limited to six points. He had averaged 11.5 for his four previous games.

WASHINGTON — Coach Paul Brown and field goal kicker Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns have been selected as the outstanding professional football figures of 1953 by the Washington Touchdown Club.

PASADENA, Calif. — Jimmy Payne, 27-year-old actor, was first in line when 3,500 Rose Bowl football tickets went on sale to the general public Wednesday. Each of the 1750 fans were permitted two tickets.

NEW YORK — The 10-round bout between Rex Layne of Salt Lake City and Tommy Jackson of Brooklyn, scheduled for Jan. 4, at the Eastern Parkway arena, has been postponed until Jan. 25 at the request of Layne. The Salt Lake City boxer asked for the three-week postponement because of a virus attack.

GENEVA, Switzerland—Russian and Hungarian teams may participate in the 1954 world basketball championships at Sao Paulo, Brazil, next October if the Brazilian government supplies them with visas. Brazil has severed diplomatic relations with Russia and Hungary.

NEW YORK—Juan Manuel Fangio, winner of the recent Pan-American auto race, hopes to drive in the world-famed Indianapolis 500-mile race in 1955. Fangio and Franco Bocca of the Lancia company of Turin, Italy said Fangio might compete in a specially-built Lancia.

Lucky Fishermen Can Hit Jackpot

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—If you are fishing in the Little Scioto River and are lucky, you might catch a slot machine, complete with jackpot. Several anglers lately have pulled jackpots out of the mud-covered river bottom.

The reason? Apparently some Portsmouth club became frightened in 1951 when Ohio's tough anti-slot machine law went into effect. The law provides penitentiary sentences for anyone found guilty of possessing a slot machine.

So the anglers don't keep the machines they catch — only the nickels, dimes and quarters.

Ski Club Set for 1st Action This Weekend

Set Up 4 Tows For Teeple Hill Slides on Saturday

Arrival of real winter weather—and that means snow to the confirmed ski addicts—has set off action for members of Pontiac Ski club. First use of the big Teeple Hill layout, home grounds for the Pontiac club, has been arranged for Saturday at 10 a.m.—providing snow is still in sufficient quantity at that time.

Four tows, including a new Diesel-operated line on the main hill, will be in operation during the weekend. The new tow can haul 600 skiers an hour.

Lunch concession will also be in use.

The club plans a busy winter, if conditions are suitable. Last winter's events were hard hit by poor conditions.

A 7-man National Ski Patrol unit will be on hand at the club this winter. All took the 100-hours of instruction required for the patrol. They will be ready for any rescue work — caring for injuries and other emergencies.

The patrol: John (Jack) Veneman (section chief), Richard (Dick) Blake, Elmo Jones, Ned Trisell, Dr. E. J. Hammer, Richard (Dick) Stewart, and Roscoe Goddard.

Lawmaker Proposes Sale of Bear Hunting License

By TOM FARRELL

LANSING (UP) — Rep. Kenneth O. Trucks (R-Baldwin) said today he would resume his efforts to reduce illegal kill of deer in Northern Michigan by asking the legislature to establish a special license for bear hunters.

Trucks, chairman of the house conservation committee, tossed a bill into the hopper for introduction when the 1954 session opens requiring purchase of a special $2 license to hunt bear.

The bear license would be sold only to deer hunters who also want to hunt bear, Trucks said that under present regulations a hunter can get a buck on the first day of the season and then return to the woods with a loaded gun to hunt bear.

This, he said, opens the way for the hunter to take a shot at a good-looking buck if he should see one while supposedly hunting bear.

Under Trucks' bill, a sportsman would not be permitted to carry a loaded rifle in the woods after getting his buck unless he had a bear permit. A hunter could buy the bear license only when purchasing a deer license.

The conservation committee chairman introduced a similar bill during the 1953 session but it had several other tricky clauses and as a result died in his own committee.

Trucks also filed a bill that would require every person 17 years or older to have a license to fish on inland waters. Law now permits a woman to fish on her husband's license.

Four Horsemen Showed What Speed Can Mean to Football Team--They Averaged Only 158 Pounds

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—From somewhere I seem to hear an old song ringing. It has the echo of past years when things seemed to be much better than they are today.

Past years mean Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Bobby Jones, Bill Tilden, Gene Tunny, Knute Rockne, and an outfit known as the Four Horsemen.

The song went something like this—

"Elmer and Jimmy, Harry and Don,
I see you sweep with your helmets on.
Your cleats as they cut through the emerald turf
To the echoing roar like the storm-swept surf.

Here they come in an old, sweet dream
The gallant Four Horsemen who rode as a team.
The valiant Four Horsemen who ride as of old,
Who ride all alone with the brave and the bold.

Elmer and Jimmy, Harry and Don,
I see you ride with your helmets on."

We met again a few days ago in New York, when they came to see the brilliant Johnny Lattner receive the Heisman Trophy.

It had been some years since we had had the chance to gather with the Four Horsemen as a group—Elmer Layden, Don Miller, Jimmy Crowley and Harry Stuhldreher.

That was back in 1923 and 1924, close to 30 years ago.

It might be well to know that all four are doing excellently in various lines of work from Don Miller's position as a lawyer and a judge to Harry Stuhldreher's position with U. S. Steel.

In talking over old times we discovered all had come to Notre Dame with no previous agreement and hardly to Rockne's knowledge. No sane coach in those days—or since—has been spending time on 156-pound backs.

Average weight of the Four Horsemen was 158 pounds in 1924. Layden and Crowley were around 164, Miller was 158 and Stuhldreher 153. Don Miller came to Notre Dame because he had many uncles, brothers and other relatives who battled under Notre Dame's famous flag.

"We won something like 22 out of 24 games," Elmer Layden remarked. "Which shows what speed means. We had no great power. But I was a sprinter, running the 100 yards in 9.8.

* * *

The others were all sprinters or hurdlers. Every member of our backfield could move in a hurry. We all four knew how to block, tackle. We had another big aid—Adam Walsh, at center to pass the ball. A star center is a great help to a back."

Mattick Stars for Okla. Aggies

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oklahoma A & M Cowboys, perennial contenders for national basketball honors, appeared today to have come up with their best big man since the days when Bob Kurland, the 7-foot redhead, roamed the Midwest prairies.

Aggies have been beaten once—by a single point at Minnesota — in eight starts this season and in almost every victory big Bob Mattick, 6-foot-11 giant, has been singled out for praise.

It was Mattick in the starring role again last night as A&M turned back their deadly rivals at the University of Oklahoma 65-46. He scored 25 points, tops on both teams, but it was his great rebounding that made the difference.

Kansas, last season's NCAA titlist, won its 1st game of the campaign, 72-61, over Tulsa, after two setbacks on a southern trip. Center B. H. Born, playing with a sprained ankle, scored 22 points. points.

In the East Togo Palazzi paced Holy Cross to a 101-64 triumph over Colgate with 29 points. It as the Crusaders' 42nd consecutive home victory.

Ninth-ranking Fordham, classed as one of the powers in the East, got a real scare against City College of New York, finally pulling out a 53-51 decision on a driving onehander by Alan Larkin with 10 seconds to play.

Niagara showed its best form so far in overpowering Syracuse 90-62 as it brought its record up to 5-1. Charlie Hoxie scored 21 points. Cornell opened its Ivy league competition by beating Harvard 64-53 for its 4th straight victory. LaSalle of Philadelphia whipped Lafayette 88-70.

Navy won its 4th in a row, beating Columbia 78-52.

In Southern Conference games George Washington trounced Virginia Tech 93-55 and Virginia Military rallied to overcome Davidson 69-59.

Xavier of Cincinnati beat Villanova 81-73 and Penn swamped Swarthmore 84-54 in a Philadelphia doubleheader.

In the southwest Texas Tech edged Texas A&M 58-55 and New Mexico defeated New Mexico A&M 58-38.

CASE—Topping the Ball.

For Easy Wrist Action—Quite a few top bowlers—Frankie Karheiser, the late Chuck Daw and Dom Devito, Bert Barkow, Lee Jouglard and Joe Norris—did a complete "about face" in their manner of handling the ball.

From the original grip that pointed the thumb straight ahead at the pins, they went to the palm-top method in the sketch. Results prove they did all right. The grip lends itself to easy control, as the ball swings back close to the body. Hand is on top, thumb to back of ball. Ball held in palm of left hand, comfortably away from body.

As ball goes into backswing, allow wrist to turn to the right, and back, without effort. Let weight of ball turn wrist into groove, so that hand, at back of swing, is behind ball—a complete reverse from starting position.

Andrews Shoots for 3rd Win Over Lowry

DETROIT (UP) — Al Andrews, his ring stock bolstered by a pair of victories over Chuck Davey, tries for his 3rd triumph over middleweight Pat Lowry tonight in the 10-round feature bout at the State Fair Coliseum.

The Superior, Wis., stylist beat Lowry ttwice in eight - round matches last spring but was better known in fight circles as a sparring partner rather than a headliner until he whipped Davey at Saginaw last September.

At Olympia last month, Andrews showed that his first win over Davey was no fluke by again decisioning the Michigan State southpaw.

Writers, Sportscasters Vote for 1-Platoon Football

By HUGH FULERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The decision of the college football rulemakers to switch from "platoon" football to limited substitution received a hearty vote of approval today from the nations sports writers and broadcasters.

But there were enough differences of opinion reflected in the ballots of more than 300 newsmen participating in the Associated Press postseason poll to indicate that heated arguments likely will continue all winter.

The NCAA Football Rules Committee will meet in Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 11-13 to consider the effects of the rule change made a year before and to decide whether it will be retained, modified or abandoned.

The votes of 123 football writers and broadcasters say "keep it," although 10 of these proposed modifications of one sort of another. There were 59 negative ballots, 6 suggesting a compromise of some sort and only 14 whose opinions weren't definite one way or the other.

A few of the experts admitted they liked the single-platoon game because it made covering football easier. A good many more said the public liked it better and could follow the game more easily with only one group of players, instead of two, in action.

From there on the opinions were as emphatic as they were divided and, to some extent the same arguments were used on both sides. It was claimed, for example, that the limited substitutions helped the smaller colleges financially and gave them a better chance of beating the big teams. And it also was claimed that the rule had failed to accomplish its purpose in helping the small schools.

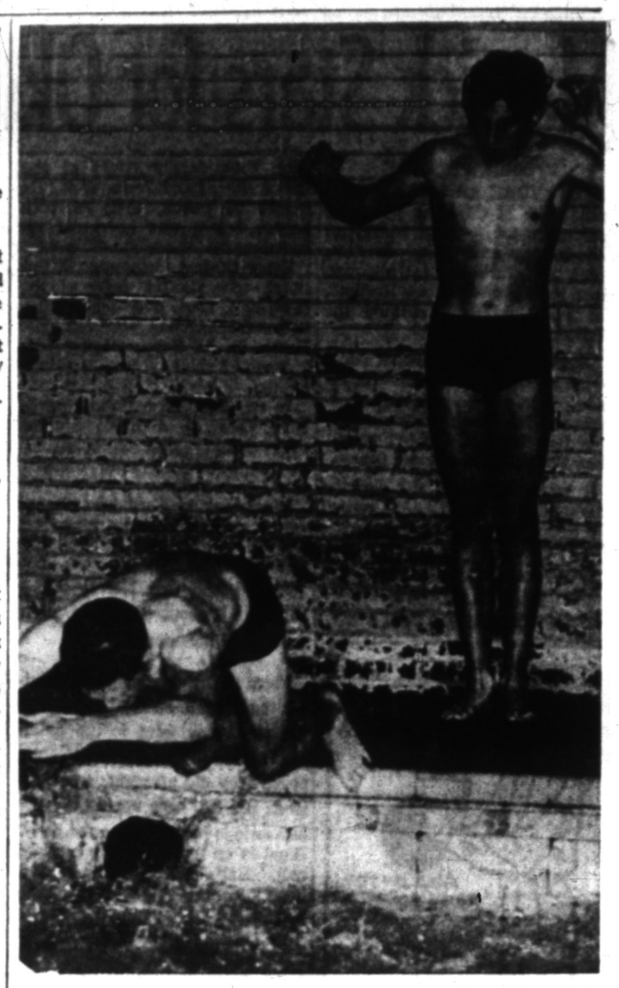

One school maintained that the 1953 two-way football was faster and more interesting. The opposition maintained it was slower and dull.

Many of those opposing limited substitution said it increased the number and severity of injuries. Others claimed there had been no increase. A couple, favoring the one-platoon system, said they'd change their minds if it could be shown that more players were hurt.

Minority proposals were that rules for high school, college and professional football should be standardized and that free substitution should be permitted but squads should be limited—usually to 33 men—for any game.

Charles May Get Title Bout Against Marciano

TOKYO (AP) — Manager of world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano indicated today an Ezzard Charles-Marciano title scrap may be in the offing.

"Charles is on my schedule, but I cannot say anything at the present time," said manager Al Weill when informed of the ex-champion's 10th round TKO over Coley Wallace in San Francisco last night.

Weill said three or four heavyweights are entitled to a shot at Marciano and when he returns to New York "I'll sit down with Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing Club, and work it out."

Marciano is here on an exhibition tour.

Yanks More Glamorous Then

Writer Recalls Interviewing Ed Barrow in Old Days, Humility Was Password

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—To reach Edward Barrow's office back in the days when there was a block-long bootleg brewery just around the corner from our flat, you simply turned into a hallway off 42nd street and walked up a flight and entered the first door that was open.

In those days the Yankees were, if anything, more glamorous than they are now, even with their five straight championships. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were in their prime.

We were to interview Edward Barrow, the man who had tamed Ruth and built the Yankee empire.

Well, over there in the right-hand corner was an old-fashioned roll-top desk occupied by a bulky gentleman whom we were to learn was Paul Krichell, then as now the chief Yankee scout. He invited us to make ourselves at home.

Mr. Barrow, Krichell explained, was having a session with his barber and would be through in a few minutes. Krich seemed glad to have someone to talk to and made little pretense of having work to do that amounted to anything. Soon the door to the next room broke open, and there was Barrow saying, "What can I do for you, young man?"

He was an impressively big man with black eyebrows the size of bat wings, and he wore an old grey sweater that was lumpy at the elbows. He asked us in to sit across from him at his wide desk and in his gruff, though kindly way, patiently answered all the fool questions a Johnny - come - lately could think up.

The big man sitting behind the desk ran the Yankees without frills or furbelows, and it is not recorded that an equal job has since been done.

Three Sophs Provide Key to 'M' Quintet's Success

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's basketball team won only six games last year. Yet, after only three games this season they've won half that amount—a perfect three-for-three.

Why?

Three sophomores are the big reason: Center Harvey Williams, guard Jim Barron and forward Tom Jorgenson.

These newcomers have given the Wolverines the bounce which was so sadly lacking last year when they won only six games and lost 16.

Williams is a graceful 6-foot-8 pivot man from Louisville. He leads the team in scoring with 60 points in three games—an average of 20 a game.

Despite his height, Williams moves smoothly and appears to have a pair of gifted hands—the kind which account for those valuable tap-in baskets.

Barron and Jorgenson are a pair of Chicago rockets. Their pepper and dash has helped to give Michigan a rather fantastic average of 89 points a game in its first three victories.

The cat-like Barron has netted 54 points. Jorgenson has 37.

This Saturday the Wolverines journey to Indianapolis, seeking their 4th straight victory at the expense of Butler.

Oklahoma's Orange Bowl game in January will be its sixth in bowl competition.

Shellenberg, Lamson Pace PHS Tankers to Victory

Pontiac High's swimming team won its 2nd straight meet here Wednesday afternoon, trimming Ferndale Lincoln High, 54-30. Chiefs won six of nine individual 1st places, with Jim Shellenberg and Bob Lamson each taking double victories.

Shellenberg won the 40-yard free style in 19.8 seconds and the 100-yard free style in 1 minute 1.2 seconds. Lamson, a junior, was 1st in the 200-yard free style with a 2:21.1 clocking and the individual medley with 1:23.2.

Meet winds up pre-holiday competition for Pontiac. Chiefs resume action Jan. 6 in a night test at Birmingham.

Summary:

40-yard free style—Shellenberg (P) 1st; Gavette (P) 2nd; Leonard (F) 3rd. Time 19.8 seconds.

100-yard breast stroke—Keavy (P) 1st; McLarty (P) 2nd; Drew (F) 3rd. Time 1 minute 15.3 seconds.

100-yard back stroke—Leonard (F) 1st; Cross (P) 2nd; Hampton (F) 3rd. Time 1 minute 10.9 seconds.

100-yard free style—Shellenberg (P) 1st; Heban (P) 2nd; Hubbard (F) 3rd. Time 1 minute 1.2 seconds.

Dodgers Place 2 on Fielding All-Star Nine

Cards, Phils Also Land Pair on List of Best Afield in NL

NEW YORK (UP) — Brooklyn Dodgers, finest defensive team in the National League last season, today placed two men — catcher Roy Campanella and outfielder Carl Furillo — on the circuit's all-star fielding team for 1953.

Official averages revealed that the Dodgers made only 118 errors last season, less than any other club in the league, and wound up with a .980 percentage which was tops in the loop.

It was the first time in the last four years that the Dodgers won the fielding crown and the chief reasons they did were Campanella and Furillo.

Campanella, who led all National League catchers defensively in 1949 and 1952, did so again this year with a .989 percentage. Furillo gained a place in the mythical all-star defensive outfield on the basis of his .988 mark.

Phillies and Cardinals, like the Dodgers, also placed two players each on the all-star fielding team.

1b—Ted Kluszewski, Redlegs, .995.

2b—Al (Red) Schoendienst, Cardinals, .983.

3b—Willie Jones, Phillies, .975.

SS—Johnny Logan, Braves, .975.

OF—Enos (Country) Slaughter, Cardinals, .996; Richie Ashburn, Phillies, .990, and Furillo, .988.

C—Campanella, .989.

P—Omar (Turk) Lown, Cubs, 1.000.

Actually, a total of 33 National League hurlers wound up with perfect averages of 1,000, but Lown handled the most chances, 45, without committing an error.

In the 1902 Rose Bowl game, Stanford used 15 players and Michigan used only 11. Michigan won the game 49-0.

In compiling his 23-9 record, Conley included a 7-game winning streak.

Bobby Dodd Cancels Scrimmages for Tech

ATLANTA (AP) — George Tech Coach Bobby Dodd has cancelled all scrimmages for his key players between now and the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl game with West Virginia.

Engineers can't afford to risk further injuries. Four Tech players, all of them top performers, are still ailing from regular-season game injuries. Halfback Leon Hardeman, tackle Roger Frey, end Bill Sennet and guard Frank Brooks haven't taken part in Sugar Bowl preparatory contact drills and Dodd is doubtful any will be of much help against the Mountaineers.

Greatest Yankee pennant margin was 19½ games in 1936.

Sportsmen Warned: Think When Hunting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Failure to think is one of the main causes for shooting accidents.

Robert Davis, wildlife specialist at Ohio State University, says: "Some people seem to stop using their heads when they pick up a gun and start hunting. A study of causes of shooting accidents reveals much foolishness that could have been avoided.

"Be discriminating. Don't tolerate careless companions. It's your life they are handling carelessly. Use your head and save your neck."

Allie Reynolds Named NBC's 'Grad of Year'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — National Baseball Congress today named Allie Reynolds, New York Yankee pitcher, as its "graduate of the year."

The Congress, ruling body of the national non-pro tournament and league programs, said Reynolds was picked from scores of former non-pros now in the major leagues. Reynolds pitched in the 1937 national non-pro tournament for the Leyden, Colo., Miners.

Lauren Pepper, Mississippi Southern college football star, was tagged the player most likely to succeed in the majors. He pitched for Yazoo City, Miss., in the 1953 tournament.

Van Ryzin Hones Defensive Play, Ball Handling

PHS Mentor Hopes to Correct Weakness of Previous Tilts

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's basketball Chiefs, hoping to atone for poor performances in their last two starts, wind up pre-holiday play Friday night in a Saginaw valley Conference game at Flint Central.

Coach Art Van Ryzin emphasized defensive play and ballhandling — Pontiac's most glaring weaknesses in losses to Flint Northern and Port Huron — in Wednesday's drills.

Van Ryzin will start the same lineup Friday that faced Port Huron on Tuesday. Dave Ballard and John James will be at forwards, Dick Blacklaw at center and Walt Poe and Dick Ayling at guards.

Flint Coach Joe Dowdy's tentative starting five includes Bill Lyon and Dan Walker at guards, Fred Ireland at center and Chuck Thorpe and Charles Crickmore at forwards. Lyon, a 5-foot 11-inch senior, led the squad in scoring last year with an 11.8-point average in 10 league games.

Thorpe, a senior, collected 15 points to lead the Indians to a 45-33 victory over Bay City Handy in their only start to date.

Two other lettermen, 6-foot 3-inch center Larry Catlin and 6-foot-1 forward John Mills, haven't yet broken into the starting lineup. Dowdy maintains that the two are having difficulty making the conversion from football to basketball.

Game will be played in the Freeman Elementary School gymnasium. Central will adopt Flint Junior College's Bellanger Fieldhouse as its home court when the new gymnasium is completed next month.

Game Experts Miss on Grouse Decline

LANSING (AP)—Conservation department game specialists cheerfully admitted they were wrong about one thing at least this year.

Surveys of reports by 100 cooperative hunters during the grouse season indicated that the specialists were wrong in predicting that grouse hunting would be down in the Lower Peninsula.

Predicted downswing was noted in the Upper Peninsula with number of birds sighted by the cooperators falling about 20 per cent.

But in both the northern and southern Lower Peninsula, there was almost no decline reported from a high that has continued since 1949.

Blue Devils Quit Use of State Fair Boards

DETROIT (AP)—Lawrence Tech today dropped the State Fair Coliseum for home basketball games.

Athletic director Don Ridler said most of the games originally scheduled for the Coliseum will be played at the University of Detroit High School gymnasium.

Ridler said the change was made because of the expense involved at the Coliseum.

Games at Hacket Fieldhouse will be played as scheduled.

Hutson Mark Stands

Don Hutson's 138 points in a season for the Green Bay Packers has stood unchallenged in the National Football league since the 1942 season.

Engineers Looking Ahead to 10 Tough '54 Foes

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia Tech is looking beyond its Sugar Bowl game against West Virginia on New Year's Day to a 1954 slate of 10 tough foes.

Eight Southeastern Conference teams plus one from the Atlantic Coast and Southwest Conference are booked.

Newcomers on the Yellow Jacket's schedule will be Tennessee, Louisiana State and Kentucky. Dropped from the list are Notre Dame, Davidson, Clemson and Vanderbilt.

The Cardinal clubs include nine Canadians, four Cubans and five Mexicans in their extensive farm system.

Gil Dobie coached football at Washington from 1908 to 1916 and in that time his teams never lost a game.

Patrick Tabs Red Kelly as Best in Hockey

Bruin Coach Figures Defense Ace Is the Key to Detroit Success

By BEN OLA N

NEW YORK (AP)—Who is the National Hockey League's best player—Gordie Howe of Detroit or Maurice Richard of Montreal?

"Neither," says Boston Bruin coach Lynn Patrick. "I'll take Red Kelly (Detroit defenseman)."

"Kelly is the best all-around performer in our league," Patrick declared last night after his Boston club dropped a 4-3 decision to the New York Rangers in the only game played.

"Sure Howe and Richard are good. But Red is not only great on defense, he can score too. In my opinion, he's the big reason Detroit has won five straight championships."

Kelly, 26-year-old native of Simcoe, Ont., currently is 5th among the NHL's top scorers. He has 26 points, on 10 goals and 16 assists.

"When Kelly rushes up ice, it's something to see," Patrick continued." He sparks Howe and Lindsay and the others. When we play the Wings, we go out to stop him. We feel there's a better chance of winning that way."

Patrick made another surprising observation by naming Al Rollins of the last-place Chicago Black Hawks as the league's best goalie.

"Rollins doesn't get nearly the protection that the others get. But he's looked great against us and with a better defense, he'd be right up there with Harry Lumley (Toronto) and Terry Sawchuk (Detroit)."

Lynn thinks his own club, now in 4th place, will find itself before the season is over.

Important League Games Mark Prep Card

Spartans in California

By ROBERT E. VOGES

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Warmth of the California weather and welcome left the Michigan State football delegation a little groggy today.

The Spartans, just becoming acclimiated after plane-hopping here from snow-bound Michigan, weren't due to get down to real work for the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game with UCLA until Friday.

Today was "press day" for Michigan State, as the squad went on display for the photographers and newsmen.

Meanwhile, coach Biggie Munn outlined his tenative West Coast practice plans.

The squad will hold both morning and afternoon sessions Friday and Saturday with a scrimmage expected Saturday afternoon.

Friday afternoon and Saturday morning sessions will be closed ones.

"We're real delighted to be here," said Munn. "The welcome was overwhelming. But you must understand we've got a job to do."

UCLA scheduled a routine practice today and was to have an off-day Friday.

The MSC squad received a Hollywood-type welcome as a band and high-stepping, bare-legged baton-twirlers greeted the team outside the Hotel Huntington, official team headquarters.

Munn, grinning his appreciation, danced a little jig to the music. "We're sure glad to be here," said Munn. "We've waited a long time and really worked for it." All the top Rose Bowl, UCLA and Pasadena dignitaries joined in the welcome.

Barbara Schmidt, Rose Bowl queen, and her court of cuties passed out California oranges to team members.

"They'd prabably rather have the phone numbers," Munn quiped.

Munn excused his squad from the welcoming ceremonies early.

"They're hungry, you know," he said. "And I hope they're just as hungry on New Year's Day."

The squad was ordered to bed by 9 p.m. in an attempt to rest the players after the day-long plane trip.

Nearly 300 Persons Died in Fall Hunting Season

By UNITED PRESS

Almost 300 persons died during the fall hunting season, a state-by-state tally showed today.

Survey showed 189 killed by gunfire, 71 of exertion-induced heart attacks, 21 by drowning and nine from miscellaneous causes, including freezing, for a total of 290.

In addition, scores were injured.

Many of the gunshot deaths involved teenagers. In Ohio, the average age of those killed was 14. Of the 11 gunshot deaths in Illinois, eight were teenagers.

Several persons were shot while cleaning their guns, which they had believed empty.

Pennsylvania reported the most shooting deaths, 17, and also the highest overall total, 32. Michigan, where deer hunting is a major sport, had 15 gunfire deaths and a total of 28. Kentucky had 12 deaths, all from gunfire.

Ohio, which had only five shooting deaths, led all the other states reporting the number of persons injured, with 46. State never has had a deer hunting fatality, probably because only shotguns are permitted.

Many persons died in freak accidents.

In Illinois, Emerson Jones, 23, West Madison, was killed when the gun with which he was clubbing a rabbit went off. Richard Summers, 20, Paluski, Va., was killed when shot by a nearsighted companion who mistook him for a squirrel.

In Michigan, two hunters, suffocated in a tent when their stove clogged and filled the tent with smoke.

Keego, Milford Contest Heads 19-Game Slate

Troy-Roseville Meeting Tops Oak-B; Rochester Seeks 5th Straight

By JACK SAYLOR

It is too early in the season for basketball games to be truly "crucial," but the results of a number of Friday night's contests will go a long way towards setting the pattern of conference races.

Top games are in the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland B loops.

Keego Harbor and Milford tangle on the Redskins' court, while Roseville entertains what is probably its strongest Oakland B rival in Troy.

Keego, paired with Northville as W-O favorite, should discover whether or not Milford intends to make a strong title bid. Clarkston, which displayed surprising strength in two non-league victories, goes to Holly.

Milford has won three straight, Clarkston and Keego, two each. After an opening loss to Plymouth, Northville has won two games.

In the Oakland B, Roseville has shown some of its expected power in rolling past Avondale and Eastland. Troy sandwiched a seven-point loss to Birmingham between easy wins over Lake Orion and Lakeview.

Troy's principal hopes rest with six-foot forward Mike DeKane, a left-hander who has averaged 20 points in the Colts' three games.

Rochester, carrying a four-game winning string seeks its 2nd Tri-County success at Lapeer. Panthers are winless in two non-league games. Lake Orion (3-1) is through until after the holidays, while Romeo entertains Oxford.

In the Inter-Lakes, three teams that won their 1st league starts meet the three that were losers. Waterford goes to Walled Lake, Farmington to Berkley and Southfield to Van Dyke. WL, Farmington and Van Dyke are co-leaders.

Farmington and Walled Lake have the best overall record, 3-1 each.

Single games are carded in two other leagues—Mt. Clemens at Birmingham in the Eastern Michigan, and Ortonville at Imlay City in the South Central.

Brown City, undefeated in three games, is off to a fast start in its quest for a 3rd straight Southern Thumb title. Green Devils play Friday at Memphis. Memphis beat Capac, 46-28 Tuesday to snap a 23-game losing streak. Previously, the Yellow Jackets had won only one game in their last 35.

Illinois Farm Boy Is Leading Florida Jockey

John Rotz Takes Lead at Tropical With 18 Wins in 17 Days

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A wiry little farm boy from up Decatur, Ill., way has become a star among Tropical Park race followers in less than three weeks.

When apprentice John L. Rotz unpacked his tack in the jockey room late last month he was almost unknown in Florida.

More than that, he was one of 200 riders, many of them established performers like Charlie Burr, Tony Despirito, Joe Culmone, Sam Boulmetis, Charlie O'Brien, Kenny Church, Logan Batcheller, Tommy Barrow and others.

On opening day, Nov. 27, Rotz rode two winners, Sun Romaer at $23.80 for $2 and Whirling Blues at $55.90.

If the hard-bitten turf experts thought he was a saddle flash they soon were converted as Rotz kept adding to his score.

Yesterday the slender, 105-pound blue-eyed boy celebrated his 19th birthday by riding two more winners to make his total 18 in 17 days and give him undisputed lead among the jockeys, going 2 up on O'Brien.

He brought in Riddleton, a $14 to $2 shot in the 4th—and Hi Billee in the featured Alligator handicap.

Grains Maintain Even Undertone

CHICAGO (AP)—In another very dull session grains maintained a steady undertone on the Board of Trade today.

Soybeans showed no early signs of the acute weakness which struck them late in the two previous sessions. They opened on gains running to a couple of cents, losing part of that later.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ cent lower to ½ higher, December $2.02⅝; corn ⅜ to ¾ higher, December $1.53¼, oats ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, December 77½, soybeans unchanged to 1¼ higher, January $3.01¼ and lard 20 to 28 cents higher, January $15.60.

Youth, 23, Held in Double Death

Accused of Poisoning Parent's Champagne to Get $100,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A poetry-quoting young chemist was accused today of murdering his parents—to get their $100,000 wealth—by spiking their champagne cocktails with potassium cyanide as all drank a toast to his new job.

The case had been considered a double suicide or a murder and suicide for four months—until a pretty girl started talking.

The son and a friend, who reportedly confessed a murder-for-money plot, were booked by police on charges of acting in concert in homicide.

The son, Harlow Fraden, 23, an only child, had moaned to detectives months ago about the deaths of his parents and the deaths of an aunt and uncle who were accidentally asphyxiated.

Bronx Dist. Atty. George B. De Luca said the friend, Dennis Wepman, 20, an unemployed writer, admitted that he and Fraden had planned the murders "for some time."

De Luca said Freden was uncooperative under questioning about the deaths of his parents, Dr. William Fraden, 50, and his schoolteacher wife, Shirley, 46.

Fraden, a six-footer, was seized by detectives yesterday in his $200-a-month room in the fashionable St. Moritz Hotel.

De Luca said he got this information from Wepman:

Fraden told his parents he had obtained a job and joined them at their apartment to celebrate on the night of Aug. 19. He poisoned the champagne in the kitchen, then returned to the living room for the toast.

Wepman, who also lived lavishly on the slain couple's wealth, stood outside in the hallway. Fraden later admitted him to the apartment.

Dr. Fraden, crawling on the floor, looked up at Wepman and murmured, "Who are you?" Mrs. Fraden apparently was dead by that time, but her son poured more potassium cyanide into her mouth as well as into his father's.

Young Fraden and Wepman left the apartment together, taking along the son's tell-tale glass—untainted with poison—to destroy it.

Two days later, they returned to the apartment together and "discovered" the bodies.

4-H Grants Use of Site for Mart

Farmers' Market to Go Soon to Fairgrounds at Walton and Perry

Oakland County Farmers' Market will leave the Mill Street building and move to Oakland County 4-H Fairgrounds at Walton Boulevard and Perry Street within the next few weeks.

Directors of Oakland County 4-H Leaders Association meeting Wednesday night with a committee of producers who sell goods at the market, gave the committee the right to use the building as long as is necessary.

Leroy Currin of Milford, producers committee chairman, says the 4-H grounds, however, will probably be only a temporary home for the market. Pontiac City has bought out the county's interest in the Mill Street market and asked it be vacated by Dec. 31 — and the county, while planning a new market, has not yet started building.

Currin said the Tuesday and Thursday markets will be cancelled after Dec. 31, when farmers will stage their last market at 40 Mill St. Saturday markets will start at the new location by Jan. 9, he said.

"We have about 35 or 40 farmers bringing in eggs, potatoes, poultry, carrots, cabbages, apples and other winter produce now," Currin said. "There's parking space for a thousand cars on the 4-H grounds. The building is quite a bit smaller than the present one, but we think we can work out something pretty good out there."

Hall Mourns Binge, Not Boy's Murder

fuzzy to realize clearly what was happening when arresting officers knocked on his hotel door in St. Louis Oct. 6.

But as death in the gas chamber came closer and closer, neither Hall nor Mrs. Heady had talked about the big remaining mystery:

What happened to the missing half of the record $600,000 ransom money they collected from Bobby's 71-year-old father after they had already killed and buried the little boy in Mrs. Heady's backyard in St. Joseph?

A federal grand jury at Kansas City is looking into that. So are the FBI and the St. Louis Police Board. The board's inquiry into the handling of the arrest so angered former Lt. Louis Shoulders that he resigned.

Korean Truce Agreement Falls Apart; Crises Grow

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

The Korea truce agrement, held together with string and beeswax is falling apart just as so many gloomy predictions said it would.

Not that either side sems to expect a renewal of the fighting.

But any hopes for the orderly procedure which was to advance the military armistice to a permanent peace and a unified Korea now are all but abandoned.

Washington doubts that a Korea peace conference ever will be held.

Meanwhile, pressing deadlines foretell new crises.

Most pressing is the disposition of war prisoners from both sides now held by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

"Come home" talks to prisoners of both sides end Dec. 23, two days before Christmas.

And as of now, on Jan. 22, all prisoners officially revert to civilian status, free to go to any nation of their choice willing to receive them.

Included are more than 22,000 anti-Communist prisoners taken from the Reds, and some 350 pro-Communists who originally fought for the United Nations but who now have rejected the free world.

It seems now that Allied "explainers" won't even get a chance to talk to 22 Americans whose spokesmen say they have refused to return home, and that on Jan. 22 the Americans and the others will vanish behind the Iron Curtain to whatever fate awaits them.

If a crisis is to arise between the two powerful armies posed at either side of the Panmunjom neutral zone, it could come on that date.

The United Nations already have decided they will make no great effort to hold men who have gone over to communism.

But the Reds, whose own stalling tactics brought on the present situation, already are protesting.

They base their claims on the original terms of the armistice which directed that at the end of the "explanation" period, the prisoners fate should be turned back to the political conference which would be given 30 days to reach a decision.

The Communists claim that if no political conference is held, or until it is held, the United Nations cannot legally free the prisoners.

Since United Nations and Communist negotiators have not even been able to agree on a time and place for the political conference, the United States has announced it will free the prisoners on Jan. 22.

The action is certain to bring a howl of anguish from the Reds for the political defeat involved, and for the fact that most of the 22,000 anti-Reds will go directly into the armies either of South Korea or of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

Forming a corridor of safety for the released prisoners will be United Nations forces armed with tanks, guns and flame-throwers.

For a time it appeared that India, as acting chairman of the Neutral Nations Commission, might also seek to delay release of the prisoners by attempting to return the issue to debate in the United Nations Assembly.

However, it now appears that India will bow to the majority and that the United Nations will not be called into session again until well into February—long past the deadline.

Two Cherry Pickers Disregard Blindness

HART, Mich. (UP)—Two itinerant harvest workers, one totally blind and the other able to distinguish between light and darkness, picked an average of 300 pounds of cherries daily during the harvest season here.

They are Mrs. J. T. Scott and her father, O. I. Presley.

They, along with their families, have been "following the harvests" for years despite their blindness. While here, they were led to the cherry trees by members of their families. They picked cherries from atop tall ladders aided only an an acute sense of touch.

Mrs. Scott has been blind for 23 years, but in that time she has managed to raise four children who range in age from 10 to 19.

Mr. Presley, his wife, their three daughters, including Mrs. Scott, three son-in-laws, 17 grandchildren and a great-grandchild all worked the harvest here this year.

Mrs. Scott said they usually spend the winters in the Arizona cotton fields.

Oldster Chews Food, Walks Many Miles

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP) — George A. Wade, 84, said mastication of his food is the secret of his ability to walk the 105 miles between here and Montgomery, Ala., "whenever I feel like it."

"Walked everywhere—across the country three times, in Alaska — think nothing of it," Wade said. "Mastication of my food is my secret."

Wade said he walks to Montgomery whenever he takes a notion to, stays at a hotel and then walks back. Asked how long the 105-mile jaunt takes, Wade said: "I walk seven miles an hour. Divide seven into 105 and you've got it.

"Back in the first World War I showed the Army how you could walk seven miles an hour.

"They didn't believe me, so I made them drive a car seven miles an hour, jumped off the running board and walked alongside."

"You should have seen all those officials cheer at my feat," he added.

Tailless Planes Are Test Pilots' Lot at School

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP) — Fifteen men are going to school here with tailless planes and slide rules among their materials and pre-dawn classes a part of their schedules.

The students are skilled air force pilots. As graduates, after six months, they will be crack test pilots.

The school is the U.S. experimental flight test pilot school, believed to be one of five such schools in the world. The others are operated by the Navy, the British French and Russians.

Among the 400 graduates of the school are Maj. Charles Yeager, the first human to exceed the speed of sound, and pilots who have broken several other official world speed records.

Besides qualifying as an ace pilot, the students must have had at least two years of college engineering work. At the school they are taught advanced mathematics, physics, and many courses dealing with flight and sound.

FROM WORKSHOP TO MOTHER—This miniature cupboard is handy for spices.

There's Plenty of Spice in This Handyman's Gift

If the lady of the house wants spice in her life, she won't have to search the kitchen for the salt and pepper and other condiments after she finds this Christmas gift under the tree.

This kitchen shelf is made like a small cupboard and is easily located above the kitchen range.

The workshop enthusiast will have no trouble turning out this project in a single evening. The plan has been drawn with that time limit in mind by the Delta power tool division of Rockwell Manufacturing Co.

Here are some of the pertinent points:

The back of the "cupboard" is a piece of quarter-inch fir or gum plywood, 10¼ by 10¾ inches.

The top is quarter-inch plywood, 10¼ inches wide at the widest point. For the middle shelf, use quarter-inch fir or gum plywood, 10¼ inches wide and 4½ inches deep.

The bottom and the doors are ⅜ inch, solid stock. The doors are 4½ inches high and 5-one-sixteenth inches wide. For the proper door fit, rabbet a strip ⅛ inch by ⅜ inch.

Gloss white gives the shelf a kitchen sparkle and serves as a good background for colorful decals which can be purchased at a dime store.

Paint all edges red or blue to add to the gay effect and to accent the gloss white.

4 Drunk Drivers Get Jail, Fines

Latest to Ignore Judge's Holiday Warning Must Pay Stiff Penalty

Four motorists so far have felt the effects of Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finnegan's warning that drunk drivers will go to jail as well as receive fines during the holiday period, according to Leo F. McDonald, Pontiac Municipal Court clerk.

The jail-fine warning applies to reckless drivers as well as drunk drivers, Finnegan said.

The latest person convicted of drunk driving is Robert G. Fulk, 26, of 440 Midway Ave., who pleaded guilty yesterday.

Finnegan fined Fulk the maximum cost of $100 and sentenced him to five days in Oakland County Jail. His operator's license also was automatically suspended for 90 days.

Judge Finnegan said, "The drastic measure is to keep drunk drivers from either injuring or killing themselves or others during the holidays."

Urges Extended Social Benefits

Churches' Council Calls for Inclusion of Spanish Speaking Peoples

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—The National Council of Churches' Home Missions division has called for a government-supported drive for full inclusion of Puerto Ricans, Americans of Mexican descent and other Spanish-speaking peoples in "social benefits open to every American."

The annual conference commended a statement by the National Council's General Board which called for a government-supported, nationwide attack on the housing problem.

The group also urged local church leaders to help Spanish-speaking Americans "overcome language and social barriers through programs of education and Christian welfare and fellowship."

Another resolution recommended strengthening of government border patrols and other services (to cope with illegal immigration via the Mexican border.)

The federal government and church agencies were urged to take part in a drive to provide U. S. Spanish-speaking peoples with benefits of public housing and job opportunities.

In 1953 the average pay of workers in U. S. manufacturing plants was $1.73 an hour.

Many Oakland Farmers Look Askance at Price Controls but Scold at Benson

By JOE HAAS

Price controls, as they have been administered, are not in favor with many Oakland County farmers.

Most of them have plenty of criticism for Secretary Benson and the present administration — because administration spokesmen do not get around to explain actually what their program is to be.

Mighty few of them think the Benson program will be as full of loopholes as the present setup. They think he is honestly trying to do something with a mess that he inherited.

In the words of a prominent Independence Township farmer, "We feel sorry for Benson, but he stuck his neck out, and if he doesn't do something pretty soon the sympathy will be shifted to us."

Russell W. Porritt of Orion Township feels that price support is intended to be a good thing, but is being abused and is costing the taxpayers millions of dollars, in the overall picture possibly more than it is worth.

He says those who abuse it are hard to catch, and about the only way to stop their racket is to abolish price supports.

Eugene Cobb, manager of the Horton farm in Holly Township, largest in the northwestern part of the county, has no use for price supports. He says, "We specialize in stock raising, and never have paid any attention to any support proposition, feeling that the law of supply and demand will take care of things."

James L. Reid of White Lake Township, a young farmer of comparatively small acreage, thinks that price support helps new farmers get started, but it should be temporary, as the increasing population is sure to wipe out the surplus question.

Mrs. W. F. Evans, Rose Township's largest farm owner, has never been in favor of any price supports, and does not feel that they now are necessary.

Frank Ruggle, on the line between White Lake and Commerce Townships, says that price support has good intentions and should be of some benefit, especially to the smaller farmers.

"However," he continues, "the man on 40 to 100 acres will find farming a very dificult proposition under the present prices of land and equipment, and no artificial support will save him, unless he has some outside income."

Carlos G. Long of Commerce Township thinks there may be a swing developing now in favor of price supports. He was not in favor of it, but increasing production costs and high prices on equipment and labor may entitle the farmer to some protection on his greatly enlarged investment.

He says, "Time was when about all that a farmer needed was a horse and plow, but now his investment is more than in any other lines of business."

Earl Voorheis of Springfield Township feels that since many other lines of business are subsidized and enjoy price supports, perhaps the farmer is entitled to be in the game.

"Running a farm has become big business," he says. "The equipment now costs almost as much as the land. But personally I think that we all would be in much better shape if price support and subsidizing had never been started."

Link Ship Hulls to French Fleet

Sunken Vessels Found in Lake Ontario May Date Back to 1758

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP)—Historians said today that three wooden hulls unearthed near old Fort Frontenac may be the relics of what once was France's Lake Ontario fleet.

Col. John Bradstreet led a British raid across the lake from Oswego, N. Y., in August, 1758, about 13 months before Gen. James Wolfe took Quebec in the battle that brought about the British capture of Canada. Bradstreet burned the French fort here, destroyed its supplies, and, as he wrote later, "set fire to the vessels which lay near the wharves."

Two weeks ago, construction men digging trenches for foundation piers for a new National Defence College building brought a power shovel down hard on one of the hulls at the point where historians say remains of the French ships ought to be.

Since then, in the 37 foundation trenches, three vessels have been glimpsed, with the possibility of a fourth.

The contracting firm, with a deadline to meet, could spare little time for historical research, particularly with winter at hand. However, it granted a few days for workers to dig out one of the hulls. The battered bow of the most exposed ship was freed yesterday and taken by truck to Fort Henry for further examination.

Lapeer Jury Hears Seven

Newsmen Testifying in Case Arising From 1952 Stevens' Eviction

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

LAPEER — Five witnesses today told a circuit court jury of Lapeer County Sheriff Clark Gregory's unsuccessful attempt to peacefully evict a farm widow despite protests of her neighbors.

The witnesses appeared at the second day of the trial of four men charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in the eviction of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens.

Assistant Special Prosecutor Carl Williams said that several Detroit newspapermen would testify during the trial.

LAPEER—A jury of four women and eight men, sworn in yesterday afternoon, continued to hear testimony here today in the trial against four men charged with conspiring to obstruct justice.

Originally scheduled to begin sometime Monday, the trial was delayed two and one-half days before Lapeer County Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn, Special Prosecutor Carl Williams and defense attorney Clem Block could pick 12 people to sit on the jury out of the 97 eligible citizens heard.

Seven witnesses—all from out of town — were heard opening day in the trial of Clayton C. Gilliland of Detroit, Floyd Schriber of Almont, Harold Jarvis of Lapeer and Howard Abbott of Columbiaville.

Mrs. Lillian M. Phelan of Lansing, a stenographer for the State Administrative Board was the lead-off witness.

She testified that Gilliland and members of the Members Committee had appeared before the State board on three separate occasions. She said the board was asked to request Sheriff Clark Gregory to withhold service of an eviction writ on Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, a Clifford widow.

When Block challenged Mrs. Phelan's appearance, Williams shot back that she was present "only to show that these men knew about the writ before it was served."

Following her to the witness stand were four Detroit News reporters and photographers, a former Port Huron Times-Herald reporter and a commercial photographer.

All testified that they had seen at least Gilliland and Schriber among the "roughly 100 people" gathered at the Stevens' farm June 2, 1952, the day Sheriff Gregory attempted to serve the notice.

Some showed Gregory's deputy, Ronald Reedy, being dragged off the farm.

New's reporter William T. Noble of Ferndale testified that Gilliland had said before the eviction fracas that "we want to prevent trouble but if the sheriff tries to serve the writ blood will be flowing in the fields. . . the men have their squirrel rifles ready."

Block brought out, however, that the only damage suffered in the melee was a scratch or cut on Deputy Reed's face and that no guns were seen by any of the reporters or photographers, including Noble.

The people are scheduled to call a total of 20 witnesses.

Mrs. Stevens lost her farm home when it was sold at public auction to satisfy non-payment of an assessment against the defunct Lapeer Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Assn.

All of the four accused but Gilliland are also charged with obstructing justice.

Gilliland, a self-termed "investigator," is chairman of the Members Committee, a group which has fought the bankruptcy assessments for many years.

Saving money on nylons

Nylons would cost more if it weren't for advertising. Both the store and the manufacturers use advertising as their lowest cost way to get across news and information about their products.

Selling more goods this way makes mass production possible—which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices.
