Willman Expects State OK on Hospital Funds

Lions' Fans Wait All Night

3,000 Seek Tickets

DETROIT (INS) — More than 3,000 shivering football fans were lined up in freezing weather this morning waiting for the last of the standing-room-only tickets to go on sale for the championship Detroit-Cleveland game Sunday.

Several hundred rabid fans spent the night in line. Some slept wrapped in blankets on the sidewalks or huddled in sleeping bags.

Don Figurski, 25, of Royal Oak, was first in line. He started his vigil at 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

Several University of Detroit and Wayne State fraternities operated throughout the night in shifts to keep their place in line.

Inside the Briggs Stadium office, Detroit Lions general manager Nick Kerbawy said, "You can bet your life I'll have coffee and donuts for those guys out there. I had to fight to get them to sell standing tickets and I'm glad I did now. Without this kind of loyalty, where would we be?

Bert Bell, National Football League commission, has flatly refused to permit telecasting the game within 75 miles of Detroit.

Outside in the frosty air, Marty Allard, 22, of Grosse Pointe, sat on a portable chair with his right leg in a cast resting on a pillow. He said, "What's a broken leg? I'd break my neck to see that game Sunday."

Al Breyer, a junior high school student from Highland Park, was stretched out nearby in a sleeping bag. Breyer said he had a date last night but broke it to take a place in line.

"So what if my girlfriend leaves me," he laughed, "I'll still have the Lions."

California Jury Sentences Scott to Life in Prison

Convicted Wife Slayer Tells Lawyer to Plan to Seek New Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The rest of his life in prison, instead of death in the state's gas chamber, has been decreed for L. Ewing Scott.

The penalty verdict was returned last night by the same jury which convicted him last Saturday of murdering his wealthy wife Evelyn, 63. She disappeared from their fashionable Bel-Air home 2½ years ago and has not been seen since.

At the words "imprisonment for life," he pursed his lips and raised his hand to smother a cough.

"Mr. Scott is pleased, obviously," his chief defense counsel, P. Basil Lambros, said later. "He said nothing except, 'I want to see you tomorrow morning so that we can go to work on the motion for a new trial.'"

The motion was made by Lambros when Superior Judge Clement D. Nye set Jan. 14 for the formality of pronouncing sentence. The motion can be argued then or within 10 days thereafter.

★ ★ ★

This was the first use in Los Angeles County of a new California court procedure in death-penalty cases. The jury determines guilt and punishment at separate proceedings.

OUT 4½ HOURS

The seven men and five women jurors deliberated 4½ hours before deciding on punishment.

Jurors told newsmen that in more than three days' deliberations preceding the guilty verdict Saturday there was no sentiment for acquittal.

"We tried to find a way of acquitting him," Mrs. Clarese Stern said. "We just couldn't."

Tax Note Plan to Provide Cash for Completion

Funds Will Be Repaid in 3 Years by Cutting Other Improvements

City Manager Walter K. Willman expressed confidence yesterday that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission would approve the city's plan on tax anticipation notes to finance the completion of Pontiac General Hospital.

Willman also said the City Commission would take the last step Jan. 7 before Pontiac's application to the state finance group would be made.

On Dec. 10 city commissioners decided to reach into the capital improvement funds over a three-year period as a last means to find money to finish the $4,000,000 wing.

The city manager said the city's bond attorney, Claude H. Stevens, would probably know a week after the Jan. 8 submission of the application whether it was approved or not.

"Then we advertise the sale of the notes for about three weeks and then sell to the best bidder," Willman said. "We should have our first money — the first third — around mid-February."

BORROW AGAINST TAXES

Under the plan, the City would be borrowing against 1958, 1959 and 1960 taxes to raise some $950,000. This will amount to borrowing some $317,000 a year—the same amount which will be cut from other capital improvement projects.

★ ★ ★

Willman explained that the notes will be sold to the lowest bidder, "in this case most likely a bank," and that the money received from the bidder would be applied immediately to fulfilling a portion of some $431,000 in outstanding building contracts held by the hospital.

★ ★ ★

"Then when the 1958 taxes become due in July we take the top slice off and pay back the bidder in the amount they paid, plus the accrued interest rate on the notes," the manager explained.

No Police Promotions Until Study Is Finished

There will be no new personnel added to the Pontiac Police Dept. nor any promotions made until the report of the current study of the department is finished, City Manager Walter K. Willman disclosed today.

Willman also stated his position in a letter to the Civil Service Commission which had queried him about the delay in making promotions and in recruiting new officers.

Willman said he saw no sense in adding men until the Public Administrative Service report's section on manpower needs was in and had been studied. The report is due in April.

He also noted that he had no request for promotions from Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Chief Straley has said that he wants no promotions made until 15 recruits are added to the force. Acting sergeants and lieutenants are continuing in their present posts, although the Civil Service Commission has ordered them returned to their regular rank and pay.

One of the acting lieutenants, John DePauw, has secured a restraining order against the commission halting any promotions to lieutenant until his claim that he is entitled to the rank is heard in circuit court.

★ ★ ★

Willman also stated his position on the contention by Chief Straley that the Civil Service Commission is not bound solely by the city per-

Sen. Potter Says U.S. Doing OK in Missile Race

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) said today the U. S. is faring better than most people think in the space race with Russia.

Potter said neither Congress nor the administration "can look at the record on missiles and pound the chest with pride." But he said "we probably are in better shape than we give ourselves credit for being."

The Michigan Republican's somewhat optimistic statement came on the heels of an aircraft industry report predicting spectacular advances in missile production next year.

Retired Air Force Gen. Orval R. Cook, president of the aircraft industries association, said yesterday that by the end of 1958 guided missile deliveries "are expected to exceed 35 per cent of the total military sales of the industry."

Cook said the industry is ready to move into "volume production" of the U. S. intercontinental ballistic missile, the Atlas, as well as two intermediate range rockets, the Air Force Thor and Army Jupiter. He added that "most of the tooling is already on hand" for assembly-line production of these weapons.

Potter declared that the big race with the Russians is to beat them in volume production of the 5,500-mile ICBM. He said this overshadows the question of who is first in development of a prototype of the weapon.

The U. S. had its first successful firing of an ICBM, the Atlas, on Dec. 17. The Russians announced several months ago they successfully had fired an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Potter also said the Navy's Polaris, a rocket with a 1,500-mile range that could be fired from a submarine under water, may well be the "missile of tomorrow." He said it shows high promise because it is to be comparatively easy and fast to fire. He expressed doubt the Russians have a comparable missile.

The Polaris is powered by solid fuel, while the Air Force and Army missiles of like range have liquid fuel. This involves a complicated system of pumps and pipes to get them aloft. Experts say that more things can go wrong in the firing of the liquid fueled-missiles.

President Goes to Farm Today

It'll Be Holiday, but Ike Will Also Work on Budget, Missiles

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower motors to his Gettysburg farm today for a holiday week of work on his 1958 proposals for money and action to win the space-age struggle with Russia for world leadership.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, accompanied by a White House doctor and staff aides, were to leave Washington early this afternoon and remain at their country home in Pennsylvania until Jan. 1 or 2.

White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty stressed that Eisenhower planned to take advantage of his relative seclusion to work on "several messages which he will send to Congress" after it reconvenes Jan. 7.

Primarily, Hagerty said, the chief executive will be drafting the Jan. 9 State of the Union message in which he will outline his legislative program. It is not yet known whether he will deliver it in person.

In addition, the news secretary told reporters, the President will consult at Gettysburg with budget director Percival Brundage and "quite possibly" some cabinet members on the budget message which will come later in January.

Hagerty said it is unlikely that there will be a major medical examination at Gettysburg for the President, who is recovering from the mild stroke he suffered last Nov. 25.

Williams Calls Grid TV Ban 'Unreasonable'

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' voice today was added to the clamor of those asking Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League to remove his ban on local television of the Detroit Lions-Cleveland Brown game Sunday for the NFL title.

Williams, in a telegram yesterday, told Bell he might have good reason to continue the ban, but added:

"From here your action seems highly unreasonable."

Bell ordered a TV blackout of the game within 175-mile radius of Briggs Stadium in Detroit even though its a sell-out.

"You don't appreciate, I am sure, the tremendous loyalties of Michigan sport fans," Williams said. "Nothing could stop Briggs Stadium from staying sold out for this Sunday's game."

No Pot-O-Gold Winner

In our first week of "sudden death" competition in the Pot-O-Gold contest, the judges have found no winners, even though entrants were allowed one error.

That means another puzzle will be run next week, and it will work the same way, except two errors will be allowed.

If no winner is found for that puzzle, another will run in two weeks. Just don't forget that this is your last chance to win, because all puzzles will be discontinued after a winner is found. The decision of the judges is final. Answers to the last puzzle are found on page 8.

Fluoridation Backed by Dentists, Medics

CHICAGO—The American Dental Association applauds the wholehearted support that the American Medical Association has given again to fluoridation.

"No community should deprive its children of the measure's benefits," say official dental spokesmen. "Leading doctors, dentists and health authorities approve of properly fluoridated drinking water," says the Dental Journal. "The American Medical Society reaffirms in stronger language a stand it took six years ago. One part fluoride to a million parts water is safe and a safeguard.

"No community interested in the health and well being of its children should withhold these benefits from them."

Minister Kills Self, Family of 3

Discouraged by Failure to Get Funds Needed by Foundation He Led

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Lack of success of his work to help the aged apparently caused a minister to kill his wife, their two children and himself the day before Christmas, police said.

The bodies of H. Sanford Williams, 48, his wife, 49, Ward, 10, and Eldon, 9, were found yesterday in their home in a fashionable section of St. Petersburg.

Williams was president of the National Retirement Foundation, founded to study the problems of the aged and to help them. He was an ordained Methodist minister, but did not refer to himself as a minister while living here.

He came here in 1954 from Rutherfordton, N. C., where he had been pastor of a Methodist church. He also had served churches in Asheville and Kannapolis, N. C., and was an Army chaplain in World War II.

Chilly Weather, Rain Slated for Weekend

Cloudy and occasional rain is the prediction for tonight, although skies remained clear most of the day. The low tonight will be 30 degrees.

Saturday will be colder with a few snow flurries and a high of 35. Tomorrow night will be cloudy and colder with a low around 20.

The Weather Bureau's 5-day forecast says temperatures will average around 4 degrees above the normal high of 34.

Twenty-five was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had risen to 35.

But Envisions Overall Good Business Year

Curtice Sees 5 Pct. Drop in Car Sales for 1958

A drop in automobile sales was predicted for 1958 today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corp., who also voiced a warning that contract demands of workers may threaten our national economy.

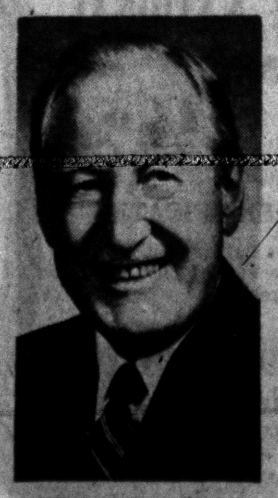

With current sales of cars at an annual rate of five and a half million units, Curtice said, however, that "taking all factors into consideration 1958 can be a year of good business generally."

"It appears likely that 1958 domestic retail passenger car sales, exclusive of imports, will be somewhat lower than the 1957 total of approximately 5,800,000 units," he said, in a year-end statement.

He said current sales of 1958 models are at an annual rate of 5½ million units. "If this is indicative of the 1958 sales level, it would still represent a good volume of business for the industry," Curtice said.

"While consumer and business spending have been at record levels, both have eased off somewhat in recent months," Curtice said. "This trend may well continue for the first half of 1958. But other factors—notably the recent federal reserve board action in lowering the rediscount rate, and the expectancy of increased expenditures for defense—may result in an upturn during the second half of 1958."

HARLOW H. CURTICE

"Taking all factors into consideration it is my belief that on balance 1958 can be a year of good business generally."

His complete statement follows:

"The outlook for the economy in 1958 is difficult to appraise at the present time. As we try to look ahead an all-important factor in the business picture is confidence—confidence on the part of both business and the consumer.

★ ★ ★

"For various reasons confidence at present seems to be somewhat shaken and an attitude of caution appears to prevail. This can have a substantial effect on the level of economic activity.

★ ★ ★

"While consumer and business spending have been at record levels, both have eased off somewhat in recent months. This trend may well continue for the first half of 1958. But other factors—notably the recent Federal Reserve Board action in lowering the rediscount rate, and the expectancy of increased expenditures for defense—may result in an upturn during the second half of 1958.

★ ★ ★

"Taking all factors into consideration it is my belief that on balance 1958 can be a year of good business generally.

★ ★ ★

"As to the outlook for our industry in particular, all signs point to 1958 as another year of intense competition. It appears likely that 1958 domestic retail passenger car sales, exclusive of imports, will be somewhat lower than the 1957 total of approximately 5,800,000 units.

"Currently, retail sales of new 1958 passenger cars in the domestic market, again exclusive of imports, are at an annual rate of 5½ million units.

"If this is indicative of the 1958 sales level, it would still represent a good volume of business for the industry. The picture would improve should an upturn in business in the second half materialize.

"The factor of confidence to which I have referred can have a particularly marked effect on durable goods industries such as the automobile industry.

"I am convinced that an important reason for the erosion of public confidence is to be found in mounting worry over inflation — rising prices and the declining value of the dollar.

"Of grave concern in this connection are the publicly announced 1958 economic demands of certain labor unions. Union leadership, while professing to be disturbed over rising prices, has indicated it will exert all the pressure of which it is capable to enforce its demands.

"Should it succeed there can be no doubt that the wage-cost-price spiral would be given another major upward push.

"Authoritative studies have shown that postwar rounds of bargaining in industry after industry have pushed wage and benefit plan costs substantially ahead of the nation's productivity gains. This has been a major factor in recent inflationary trends.

"If we, as a people, are forced

Miriani Hits Police Pensions

Mayor to Meet Today With Department Heads to Try Cuts in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Louis Miriani meets with Detroit Police Department officials today to discuss recommendations on police and firemen pensions.

Miriani says he favors a plan to limit retirement on pension to men who have reached the age of 52.

The Detroit Police Officers Assn. has fought any proposed change in the pension plan which now allows policemen and firemen to retire on a pension after 25 years of service, regardless of their age.

Under the present system, a policeman or fireman who starts his job at the minimum age of 21 can retire at 46 on up to half his pay.

George Nagle, DPOA president, said the pension plan as it now exists is necessary to induce high-type men to join the department.

James Lupton, police director of personnel, indicated he did not favor Miriani's proposal on the age limit retirement.

Lupton said he favored a plan which would increase pension benefits for policemen who stay on the job longer than 25 years.

The recent Dodge report on municipal finances singled out police and fire pensions as an area for economy.

Nagle said the police department hasn't filled its personnel quota in 10 years. "If they take away pension benefits, we won't come near filling it," he said.

Policemen who continue on the job after 25 years continue to pay 5 per cent of their salaries into the pension fund although they do not increase their pension benefits.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What is the technical name for storms in the sun's atmosphere? What is their effect on the earth's weather?

Storms in the sun's atmosphere are called sun spots. Many experts believe the sun's spots, or storms, come in cycles in the sun's atmosphere. The greater number of sun storms, they say, the hotter the weather on the earth.

Cycles in the sun's atmosphere seem to run in cycles anywhere from twenty to forty years. In the past forty years (some experts claim there is an eighty-year cycle, up forty and down forty) the United States has been in a hot weather cycle—many sun storms having been observed.

Those who follow the sun spot theory expect the nation's weather to be cooler in the next few decades.

Ezell Spends Holiday With Operation Deep Freeze

City Man Has White Yule at Pole

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

At least one Pontiac man had a white Christmas. Aviation storekeeper 1.c. James F. Ezell is among Navy men assigned to Operation Deep Freeze III assisting International Geophysical Year scientists working at the South Pole.

Ezell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ezell, of 164 Judson St., is currently stationed at the new U.S. Naval Base at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica.

BUSY WITH SUPPLIES

Ezell and his fellow workers are kept busy by supply planes coming in on the newly constructed 5,600-foot ice airstrip and by the occasional supply ships.

McMurdo is located about 700 miles west of the South Pole and the base is built on a volcanic dust hill. According to Ezell, there are many mountains around the Sound and the country is beautiful despite the cold, ice and snow.

JAMES EZELL

As to conditions at the "bottom of the world," there is always snow, ice and cold weather. The Navy weather station at the South Pole recorded a record minus 102.1 degrees on Sept. 17.

AS HOT AS 39

In a letter to his family, Ezell said that at the time of his arrival, Dec. 1, the summer temperatures at McMurdo ranged between plus 29 to 39 degrees.

During this time of year at the South Pole, the sun shines 24 hours a day, and workers must remember to check their watches rather than wait for darkness to signal the end of the work day.

Living conditions are not top notch, Ezell reports. He considers himself fortunate to have good quarters, but many men are weathering their stay with cots and sleeping bags.

WATER SCARCE

Despite being surrounded with snow and ice, only one shower a week is permitted, due to a water shortage.

Extremes are nothing new for Ezell. He can boast that he has been in the hottest place in the world and the coldest.

Previous to McMurdo, where he expects to be for about 11 months, he spent two years in French Morocco where the mercury occasionally soared above 130 degrees.

He also spent 77 days in New Zealand before being shipped to the South Pole.

An enthusiastic Navy man, Ezell plans to make a career of the Navy. He has almost seven years of service.

We're all Plants, Says Biologist

Seaweed Your Ancestor?

Describing a new theory of evolution, he said: "All animals are in reality a type of highly modified plant life, derived a billion years or so ago from a common ancestry with the brown seaweed."

From recent new evidence "we are forced to conclude that all life belongs to only one kingdom, which in all honesty must be recognized as the kingdom of plants," said Lawrence S. Dillon, Ph. D., associate professor of biology at Texas A&M College.

Dr. Dillon outlined the revolutionary theory to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

It is based upon many studies tracing evolution in a new way. This method traces the evolutionary pattern by changes and developments in the internal structures of living cells. Different types of living things are classified according to their cell structure and complexities.

This all points to plants as the beginning of life on earth.

The older theory of evolution is that life somehow began spontaneously. These first living things developed into plants on one hand and animals on the other.

The new idea is that blue-green algae, a form of microscopic plant life, are the simplest living things, Dr. Dillon explained. From these evolved some types of bacteria, then yeasts, then more complex forms of life.

The green algae and higher plants such as ferns, trees and roses form one of the two top branches of the tree.

Yellow algae and red and brown seaweed form the other branch. High animals apparently evolved from this branch by some unknown process, Dr. Dillon said.

circumstantial evidence since no trace of his wife has been found. He fled to Canada nearly a year after her disappearance and was arrested last April at the Canadian border near Detroit.

Dep. Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy, demanding the death sentence, branded Scott a "cold, cruel, heartless man."

Describing Mrs. Scott's liquidation of her $600,000 estate under Scott's direction and the wasting away of the assets after her disappearance in May 1955, he told the jury: "This was a carefully laid plan to do away with Evelyn Scott for one purpose—greed and avarice."

Town Still Has Heart After Fire Cuts Deep

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — A windwhipped fire cut the heart out of this Nova Scotia coal town's business section early today, but Mayor Ralph Gilroy said: "We'll carry on if only half the main street is left."

He said Springhill, which lost 39 men in a mine disaster last year, will ask for government aid immediately. "We'll never say die," he said.

Gilroy repeated the gloomy forecast he made at the height of the fire that most of the town's business houses would never be built up again.

He estimated the loss at a minimum of a million dollars and said 20 per cent of the town's tax revenue came from the burned out businesses.

"I'm the 13th mayor of this town," he added, "and everything's happened now that can."

The 7,000 people of Springhill had never fully recovered from a 1956 mine explosion that took 39 lives. The colliery where the explosion occurred has been sealed up and the other coal pit has produced only occasionally. A government grant was the only means of averting a threatened layoff several months ago.

★ ★ ★

The two-block fire burned out 15 businesses and five apartment houses on both sides of main street. It is believed to have started in a variety store and then fed on paint in a neighboring store, roaring unchecked for 3 hours and 15 minutes.

After the flames jumped the winding main street, racing through frame buildings, there was a period when the whole town seemed threatened.

Great showers of embers scattered over a wide area, setting minor fires. With the small fire department fighting the main blaze, assisted by units from nearby towns, volunteers quenched the embers and the mayor canceled plans to order a general evacuation.

Jewelry Worth $8,500 Stolen at Detroit Home

DETROIT (AP)—Several pieces of jewelry, valued at about $8,500, were reported stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Yagoda, 18252 Greenlawn, last night.

Pipeline Project Will Be Studied

City to Consult Industry Before Making Decision on Water Supply

Before the City of Pontiac commits itself on where it will turn for a new source of water, a thorough study will be made of the proposed Lake Huron pipeline by the City's consulting engineer firm of Jones, Henry & Williams.

"After we hear what they say," explained City Manager Walter K. Willman, "we will consult with industrial engineers because we can't forget that industry here uses 60 per cent of our water."

Willman said the City Commission probably won't be asked for a decision until spring.

He continued to praise a study on the pipeline from Lake Huron prepared by the San Francisco firm of the Bechtel Corp. It was prepared for the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority.

Pontiac is now weighing the merits of the authority's proposal and that of Detroit's. Earlier this week Willman lauded the authority project as being preferable in many ways to Detroit's.

"But no decision as to which one we will pick will be made until further studies and talks are had," he emphasized.

Another necessary step to be taken before a decision is reached, Willman declared, will be a "definite proposition from the authority."

The City has been in the market for an additional supply of water to supplement its present well system as the water table continues to lower each year as population increases, officials point out.

Ex-Reds Ruled OK to Hold UAW Office

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Public Review Board, making its first major decision, held yesterday that former Communists can hold union offices.

The board ruled there is no union provision barring former Communists from UAW offices, in upholding the findings of lower union tribunals in cases involving 10 unionists who appeared before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Five of the unionists, all officials of Detroit area UAW locals, invoked the protection of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution when questioned by Senate investigators about the Communist party. The five others, UAW international representatives assigned to Chicago, admitted former membership in the Communist party in testimony before the Senate subcommittee. Two refused subcommittee demands to reveal the names of former associates in the party.

The Public Review Board, set up as an agency outside the union to guard against corruption within, said yesterday that conclusions of the "local union courts" in the cases under consideration were consistent with an administrative letter from UAW President Walter P. Reuther and the AFL-CIO's ethical practice code.

Decisions of the seven-member board, made up of educators, judges and clergymen, are final.

The UAW's constitution and the AFL-CIO's ethical code prohibit criminals, Communists and Fascists from holding union office.

An administrative letter from Reuther outlined a procedure under which officials who invoke the Fifth Amendment must appear before a hearing board and present evidence that they are not disqualified from office under the union's constitution or the AFL-CIO code.

CLEARED LOCALLY

The five Detroit-area local officials, James Simmons, Harry M. Philo, Walter Dorosh and Mack Cinzori, of Ford Local 600, and Edith Van Horn, chief steward of Dodge Local 3, were cleared at local hearings.

The five international representatives, Milton Burns, DeWitt Gilpin, Andrew Newhoff, Albert Verri and Donald Harris, were absolved by the UAW's International Executive Board.

In all cases the individual was found "not to be disqualified to hold office under the international's constitution."

The union said the cases were turned over to the review board to avoid charges of "whitewash" and "politics" in the cases.

The members of the board are: Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, resident Methodist minister at Washington, D.C.; Msgr. George G. Higgins, director of the National Catholic Wefare Conference; Dr. Clark Kerr, chancellor of the University of California; Dr. Edwin Witte, University of Wisconsin professor; Rabbi Morris Adler of Detroit; Wayne (Detroit) County Circuit Judge Wade H. McCree; and Magistrate J. Arthur Hanrahan of Windsor, Ont.

Willman said he would make promotions strictly from the eligibility lists in the order given. Officers ranked first would be the first to be promoted.

Another reason given by the city manager for freezing the size of the police department was that Pontiac, like other cities, could expect a tight year financially in 1958 and that payrolls would not be upped without careful examination of needs.

Merchants' Gifts to Greet First Baby Born in 1958

BIRMINGHAM—Under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, Birmingham merchants are preparing to welcome the first 1958 baby with many gifts. Father and mother will be remembered, too, with clothing and personal items.

★ ★ ★

Babies eligible for the contest must be born to parents with a Bloomfield, Franklin or Birmingham mailing address. A doctor's certificate will be necessary to attest that the baby was born after midnight Dec. 31.

The deadline for entries in the Stork Derby is noon, Jan. 7.

Chamber officials say it makes no difference where the baby is born as long as the parents' address is local. The winning parents will be issued a letter of identification which will allow them to claim the gifts.

★ ★ ★

Last year's winners, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Zuehlsdorff of 7500 Cornwall Ct., West Bloomfield, put merchants on the spot when they announced the birth of twin sons, born shortly after 2:30 a.m. Jan. 1.

Rutherford Scott will be installed as president of the Birmingham High Twelve Club at the first 1958 meeting Jan. 6.

Serving with Scott will be William T. Arlund and G. Howard Willett Jr., vice presidents; Dean C. Beiers, secretary, and James L. Spence, treasurer.

Again heading the 1958 March of Dimes will be Percy G. Burnett, assistant cashier of the Woodward-Hamilton Branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. This year's drive will run from Jan. 2-31 and will be climaxed by the Mothers' March, the door-to-door campaign scheduled for Jan. 29.

Only a few more days remain for Birmingham residents to enjoy the beautiful Christmas card prepared for them by the sixth graders of Torry School. Under the direction of Mrs. Lelia Hudson, their teacher, the youngsters copied a Christmas scene in water color paintings. Lights are left on at the school evenings for the benefit of viewers.

The New Year's Eve dance for Birmingham young people at the Community House is in charge of Lynn Lopata and Ann Lawrence, Birmingham High School students. Under the sponsorship of the Recreation Board, the semi-formal affair has become one of the holiday's highlights.

Joseph Harley

Service will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. The body will be bought to his home today and then taken back to the chapel for service.

Born in Detroit, he was graduated from the University of Michigan.

Mr. Harley and his brother, Edward, took over the auto sales firm in 1943 when their father, the firm's founder, died.

He was member of Palestine Masonic Lodge, the Moslem Shrine, Detroit Yacht Club and Pine Lake Country Club.

still further along this dangerous path, the economic consequences will be very serious. Precisely such consequences would result if the 1958 bargaining objectives of union leaders were to be realized. One of these announced objectives is the shorter work-week with increased take-home pay.

"More pay for less work would certainly bring about either a lower living standard or still more inflation, with resultant uncertainty and loss of confidence.

"It would tend to weaken the national economy, and a strong economy today is more essential to the security of our nation than ever before.

"Fortunately there is reason to believe that most Americans are willing to work for the things they want; that they understand that we must produce more both to have more and to maintain our nation's strength and position of world leadership. In this connection, and looking beyond current short-term uncertainties, I would reiterate and emphasize my confident belief in the future growth and progress of our country."

Eskimos are believed to be descended from the same stock as American Indians. There is a similarity in their languages and culture.

Court to Decide Custody of Girl, 4

BROCKTON, Mass. (INS) — The divorced parents of 4-year-old Robin Diane Sherman today agreed that she should be cared for by a disinterested third party while the courts decide the question of her permanent custody.

The case was transferred to Plymouth County Probate Court after revocation in Suffolk County Superior Court of a custody order given the mother, Mrs. Paula Sherman of Bakersfield, Calif. The order was revoked because the father, Elton N. Sherman of Hingham, lives outside the jurisdiction of the Suffolk County court.

Attorney Sumner F. Fanger, representing Sherman, and attorney Norman A. Davidson of the Legal Aid Society, representing Mrs. Sherman, were due to appear before Plymouth County Probate Judge Harry K. Stone to ask that Robin be placed outside the custody of either parent pending settlement of the case.

Mrs. Sherman, meanwhile, declared her seven-month hunt for Robin had left her without funds. She said:

"I don't see how I can wage any long legal battle to regain custody of my little daughter. I am not prepared emotionally or financially for any such fight. My savings dwindled during the time I was hunting for Robin after her father spirited her away from California while I was in a hospital. The payment of any legal fees is now entirely out of the question as far as I am concerned."

★ ★ ★

Williams Seeks Cut in Spending

Directs State Agencies to Hold Expenditures at Minimum Level

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has made an economy resolution for the new year.

The Governor said he would issue a directive to all state agencies next week asking that expenditures for the remainder of the fiscal year, ending June 30, be held as much as possible below the Legislature's appropriations.

* * *

Williams said the deficit left by the Legislature, estimated by legislators at five to 16 million dollars, probably would run between 16 and 20 million dollars.

"The result is a very serious cash emergency," the Governor said. "We could easily hit a period between now and July 1 when we would not have enough money to meet a payroll or pay essential bills.

"Obviously," Williams said, "we must either reduce expenditures below the Legislature's authorized appropriations, or we must raise some additional money this spring.

"It is my hope," he said, "that all state agencies, when they realize the urgency of this matter, despite tight legislative appropriations, will cooperate to hold down their costs.

"I would rather try to accomplish some cuts voluntarily than to order an across-the-board reduction which might seriously affect essential state services already operating close to the line."

Williams said economies could be accomplished if the state agencies would refrain from filling any but the most essential vacancies, reduce travel and telephone bills, cut out all out-of-state travel and put off the purchase of any surplus they don't need right now."

2 Officials Stranded by 'Pirating' of Labor

DETROIT (AP) — The hassle between Detroit and Wayne County over the "pirating" of key personnel left two city water engineers stranded yesterday.

Victor X. Oleske, 33, and Robert A. Howard, 40, had announced they were leaving the Detroit Water Department for better jobs with the Wayne County Road Commission.

But yesterday the road commission said it would not hire the two engineers without civil service tests, thus disregarding a long-standing policy of hiring key personnel on a "provisional" basis.

Gerald J. Remus, general manager of the city water department, said the city would be glad to rehire Oleske and Howard.

"I don't blame them for leaving for more money," said Remus. "They are the goats in this situation and its certainly not their fault this happened."

Escaped Trusty Lives 2 Weeks in Prison Pig Shed

JACKSON (AP) — Authorities at Southern Michigan Prison sought to learn today how an escaped trusty lived for two weeks before he was found in a pig shed on a prison farm, suffering from exposure, hunger and frozen feet.

Warden William H. Barman said the fugitive, Elijah Wilson, 40, of Detroit, may have lived since Dec. 13 in the shed.

Another inmate found Wilson yesterday morning. He was partially hidden by straw in the shed. He was too weak to talk.

Wilson was sentenced from Detroit last Oct. 25 to a 6-20 year prison term for assault and attempted armed robbery.

Pontiac Police Arrest Two for Questioning in Holdup Attempt

A two-fisted gas station attendant foiled a robbery attempt, and Pontiac police have arrested two men for investigation of attempted armed robbery.

Edward Arnold, of 6 N. Tasmania St., told police that a station wagon with two men in it drove up at 6:30 p.m. last night while he was on duty at 4 N. East Blvd.

He filled the tank, which took only 60 cents worth of gasoline. While he was pumping the gas, the passenger got out and came up along side him with his hand in his pocket.

"This is a stickup," the man said. Arnold whirled around and struck the man, knocking him down. He then began punching him.

The driver of the car got out and ran.

Arnold held his man until police arrived. He was identified as Joseph J. Leahy, 39, of 269 S. Jessie St.

The station wagon was discovered to be a stolen car taken from behind Newman's Quality Meat Market, 450 S. Huron St., earlier last night.

2 Girls in Car Crash Not Seriously Hurt

Two Pontiac girls escaped serious injury Thursday when their car smashed into the rear of a parked car at an estimated speed of about 65 miles per hour, said Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

* * *

Diane M. Hartzman, 16, of 13 Monterey Blvd., the driver, and Onalee MacQueen, 14, of 27 Monterey Blvd., her companion, were both treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries and released.

Miss Hartzman told deputies she was passing a car on M-59 when she saw a truck ahead of her turning onto Harvey Lake Rd., in Highland Township. She swerved off the road to the right and hit the parked auto.

The pictorial and ship model history of shipping in the Great Lakes is perpetuated in the Wakefield Nautical Museum at Vermilion, Ohio.

Connecticut's Chief Talks on Accidents

Gov. Ribicoff Blames Each of Us

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—Connecticut Gov. Abraham Ribicoff said today that the individual citizen is the biggest bottleneck in cutting down the nation's traffic deaths.

Ribicoff was interviewed by INS during the Christmas-New Year holidays when the traffic toll usually is higher than average.

The Governor, who heads the Highway Safety Committee of the Governors' Conference, instituted a 30-day license suspension program for first speeding convictions in his state in 1955. Fatalities on Connecticut roads have dropped since then. The interview follows:

Question: Everyone is shocked by our distressingly high traffic death toll, but where in your opinion is the major bottleneck holding up a reduction in highway carnage?

Answer: "There is no question that the individual is the bottleneck. Each and every one of us is the bottleneck, and each and every one of us must assume the legal and moral responsibility to obey the traffic laws of our respective states and recognize our moral responsibility to drive with decency, courtesy and consideration."

Q. Governor, your traffic safety program has brought national acclaim, but do you think it may cost you votes in your own state?

A. "I would say it will definitely lose votes, but I have never taken that into consideration. The saving of lives of our people is too important to think of in terms of votes."

Q. The program has apparently been effective from the standpoint of comparative fatality figures. How do you account for making enemies by saving lives?

A. "The person whose license is suspended is usually angry, and I have been told by people whose licenses are suspended that they will not vote for me. Offsetting this may be the feeling of many people who think it is the right thing to do, but this is only one of a number of factors that will decide their votes."

Q. What has been your biggest problem in carrying out your anti-speed campaign?

A. "I think the most difficult problem is trying to get across to the entire population the need to comply with posted speed laws in order to save lives."

Q. Has the reluctance of other states to enter into reciprocal license suspension agreements damaged your program in Connecticut in any way?

A. "I would say yes. The State of Connecticut is a 'bridge' state and cars from many other states travel on our roads. If their licenses are not suspended in their home state, it does not have the same deterrent effect."

Texas Goes to Bat to Make Him Citizen

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — John H. (Irish) Carroll, 83, said he jumped ship in Galveston in 1900 and has been in this country ever since, has finally become a citizen.

Carroll, born in Newfoundland, said he worked in many early East Texas oil fields. But when he tried to become a citizen last summer in California, he was told he would have to prove he was in this country before 1906.

He wrote the Houston Post from San Rafael, Calif., asking help and several oil field veterans saw the front-page story and wrote that they remembered him.

Their letters convinced the Immigration and Naturalization Service and yesterday Carroll wrote the Post, "I am now an American, thanks to your paper's assistance and also those others who unselfishly went to bat for me. Thanks again and hurrah for Texas."

James Buchanan was the only president of the United States who was unmarried. He was inaugurated in 1857.

News of Service Personnel

Seaman apprentice Harry L. Stickler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne J. Stickler, of 1087 Shoman St., has been appointed squad leader of his recruit company.

Appointed master-at-arms of his recruit company, was Walter H. Van Conant, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Van Conant of 62 Hickory St., Troy.

STICKLER VAN CONANT

T. Sgt. Barney W. Blackshear was one of 16 non-commissioned officers graduating from the Non-Commissioned Officers Academy at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio recently.

The six-week course covered principles of leadership, management and personnel utilizations.

Blackshear, the son of Odis M. Blackshear, 51 Cottage St., has been assigned as dental technician with the 58th Air Div. at Wright-Patterson.

A veteran of more than 10 years of military duty, he expects to remain in the Air Force until retirement.

BLACKSHEAR BARNOWSKY

Airman 3.C. James Barnowsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Barnowsky, of 132 E. Rundell St., is home on a 15-day furlough.

He graduated recently as a cook from Keesler Air Force Base, Miss. and will be stationed at Selfridge Field as of Jan. 4.

Pfc. Leo Williams is home on leave visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Murtin Steward, of 2994 Otsego St., Waterford Township.

Following his leave, he will be assigned to duty in Japan. Williams attended Pontiac and Waterford High Schools and took his basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

He is a machinist mate and fireman.

WILLIAMS BRUCKER

Marine Pfc. James D. Brucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brucker of 39 Mill St., Oxford is participating in special training exercises with the 3rd Marine Division in Okinawa.

Included in the three-phase exercises are shore training, amphibious reconnaissance demonstration and amphibious landing demonstration.

Brucker, a 1956 graduate of St. Michael's High School, enlisted in the Marines in June 1956 and took his basic training at Camp Pendleton, San Diego, Calif.

At present he is taking training in the field of electronics and communications.

Salk Vaccine Supply Ahead of Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—The Health News Institute says the supply of Salk polio vaccine is running so far ahead of demand that drug manufacturers may have to destroy hundreds of thousands of outdated doses again this year.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the institute, an agency representing the pharmaceutical industry, said yesterday, "This is tragic, when you consider that there are about 45 million people under 40 years who have had no polio vaccinations yet."

★ ★ ★

The federal government requires that the vaccine may not be used six months after its manufacture. The institute spokesman said several hundred thousand doses had to be destroyed last year.

★ ★ ★

Hal Boyle Says:

New Year Resolutions Masculine Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is the time for all good men to start brooding about how in 1958 they can be even gooder.

The making of New Year resolutions seems to be almost altogether a masculine problem, and most women are inclined to regard the whole business as utter nonsense.

The reason for this is simple. The average woman feels that if there is anything wrong with her she can fix it with a needle and thread, her cosmetic kit, or a visit to the beauty parlor. But feels no need at year's end to go through a long struggle with her conscience.

Why should she? After all, if there is anything really wrong with her life, it isn't her fault — it's just some darned man to blame.

The male animal, on the other hand, knows he has a nature freckled with evil. Usually he has the strength to enjoy it. But about now, worn out by holiday wassail and welkin ringing, the bad conscience he has successfully held down all year rises up and overthrows him.

The wretch, ashamed of all the sinful things he has done for the last 12 months and the virtuous deeds he has left undone, is miserably sure that about the only nice thing he can say about himself is that he hasn't struck his mother with brass knucks lately.

Yearning again for his own self-approval, he seizes paper and pen and makes a list of all the things he is going to do in the 12 months ahead to make himself a purer, finer man. He sets himself impossible aspirations. No saint could do all the noble chores he sets for himself.

This is particularly true if he is a young man. For it is remarkable how a man's list of New Year's resolutions changes and shortens as he grows older.

If you save your list of resolutions each year and take them out from time to time and review them, you cannot escape one conclusion. It is this: You don't really improve yourself much — but time certainly does.

In my own case, for example, I find that at 25 my list of New Year resolves ran to three closely written pages. Picked at random, here are a few of the notations:

"Do 25 push-ups every morning."

"Don't fight in strange barrooms."

"Stay away from wild women."

Needless to say I won't repeat any of those resolutions this year. At 46 I find them impossible, unnecessary—or both.

At 35 my New Year resolves had shrunk to a single page. Here are a couple of samples:

None of these resolutions are worth repeating this year. My wife no longer now will permit me to start serious quarrels with her, let alone silly ones. Since, after 45, a man realizes fully how easily he can be replaced, I break a rib laughing when the boss says, "Have you heard this one?" And I have done all a man can do about falling hair—I watched it till it all hit the floor.

★ ★ ★

There is no need for a full pen of ink to set down my resolutions this year. At 46 the inexorable erosion of nature and slowing arteries turn a man into as much of a nobleman as he is ever likely to become. It is the passage of time, not the growth of character, that turns most men into angels.

The only good resolution a man needs to make in middle age, written with an interior urgency apparent only to him, is this:

"Keep living!"

Oil Operators Will Keep Wary Eye on Washington in Coming Year

By MAX B. SKETON

HOUSTON (AP)—Oil operators will keep an eye on Washington in 1958 while worrying about crude production levels at home.

The Washington problems may not be as stormy as the congressional investigations of 1957 but they will involve some matters the oilman considers vital to the industry.

Congress is expected to resume deliberations in early January on the controversial Harris-O'Hara natural gas bill, a carryover from 1957. Congress also is expected to study the percentage depletion tax allowance, pricing policies, industry control bills, and foreign trade agreements.

Elsewhere, the industry will have an oversupply of carryover problems from 1957.

Many industry records fell in 1957 but the year as a whole was disappointing to most operators. The Suez crisis caused domestic crude output to soar to record heights in late March. But sharp cutbacks that followed the abrupt ending of the Middle East emergency more than wiped out gains made during the oil-for-Europe build up.

The first general increase in crude prices since 1955 spread across the country last January but at year-end there was talk the boost may fall in early 1958 unless problems of over-supply are eased.

Daily crude output at the end of the year was nearly a million barrels below late March. While a six per cent increase over 1956 had been forecast, total 1957 crude production was expected to do little more than match the record 2.6 billion barrels of 1956.

A normal four to five per cent increase in demand for petroleum and petroleum products had been predicted but the 1957 gain was expected to be under one per cent. Gains forecast for 1958 were being lowered at year-end to less than three per cent.

The blame was being placed not only on the quick domestic cutbacks after the reopening of the Suez but also on a large carryover of gasoline into 1957 and weak demand for heating fuels last winter.

Michigan Tourist Industry Plans Big Campaign in '58

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan tourist industry plans an intensive campaign in 1958 to gain a legislative appropriation of $624,000 for advertising and promotion by the Michigan Tourist Council.

★ ★ ★

Aurey D. Strohpaul, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn., says his organization will cooperate with a drive launched recently by Frank Davis, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Assn.

★ ★ ★

The campaign is based on letters to members of both groups, asking them to contact their legislators for support in the request.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Tourist Council, with which both groups are affiliated, this year is asking the $631,000 appropriation. The budget bureau already has slashed it to $493,000 and there is danger the Legislature may cut it even more, Strohpaul said Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

He said Michigan, which reaps about $37,000,000 a year in taxes from money spent by tourists, ranks 10th in the amount of funds—about one per cent—appropriated annually to support the industry.

★ ★ ★

"While advertising and promotion costs have doubled over the last few years, state appropriations have advanced only modestly," Strohpaul declared. "So, even though we are spending more dollars, we are getting less space."

★ ★ ★

He indorsed a statement by Davis that the "low pressure sales campaign to attract tourists is becoming dangerous and the state's tourist industry is no more than holding its own at present. . . ."

Blaze Claims 2 More Victims

Two Grandchildren of Heroic Woman Die in Hospital

WEEHAWKEN, N.J. (AP) — Two grandchildren of a heroic woman who perished in a tenement fire yesterday also became its victims.

★ ★ ★

The body of Mrs. Margaret Doyle, 45 was found in her third-floor apartment after she had insisted that other members of her family go ahead of her down a fire ladder.

Her grandchildren, Marjorie Lucas, 8, and Katherine Galan, 6, both of Edgewater, got out, but later died in a hospital of burns they suffered.

Mrs. Doyle's husband Joseph, 61 who is asthmatic, survived but was hospitalized. Doyle was in fair condition.

Five others were injured, including Union City Patrolman Frank Di Nanno, 34, and fireman Charles Miller, who rushed up the ladder to rescue the Doyles. Di Nanno broke both knee caps.

★ ★ ★

Origin of the fire was undetermined. The upper two floors of the four-story house were burned.

Damage Elevator, Trap Themselves

Two unidentified youths caused an estimated $150 damages to the elevator in the Pontiac City Hall shortly after noon yesterday.

But the vandals discovered they could be caught at their own game. After pressing all possible control buttons, a motor burned out, causing the door to jam and trapping the boys in the elevator for about an hour.

No charges were pressed against the pair when they were freed by a summoned Haughton Elevator Co. repairman, according to City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn.

Pontiac Police Rules Set Up by Committee

The committee drafting rules for the Pontiac Police Dept. has completed its work and copies have been turned over to the Civil Service Commission, City Manager Walter K. Willman said today.

The committee was appointed two months ago when it became apparent that members of the Civil Service Commission were unable to agree on rules, nor to find time to work on the problem.

On the drafting committee were representatives of the city's policemen and firemen, the chiefs of both departments, city personnel director, city attorney and assistant city manager.

Cheaper Way Sought to Desalt Water

TEL AVIV, Israel—An economical way to take the salt out of sea and brackish waters will be sought during 1958 by Israel's Institute of Technology.

Professor N. Robinson, head of the Solar Physics Laboratory, will resume his project of harnessing solar energy to desalinate sea water, interrupted several years ago by lack of funds.

These the Fohs Foundation now has supplied. The cost of desalinating apparatus developed in other parts of the world is considered prohibitive for Israel. Professor Robinson is looking for a less expensive method.

Lamp Lasts Longer

Atomic Powered Plant Opens in Pennsylvania

While the first experimental type of reactor built under the Atomic Energy Commission's civilian development program was completed a year ago, our first commercial-scale plant went into operation this month in Shippingport, Pa.

Built by the Duquesne Light Co. its maximum capacity is 100,000 kilowatts. The company put up a total of $22.5 million—$5 million for the reactor and an estimated $17.5 million for the site and the turbo-generator.

★ ★ ★

For the nuclear part of the plant the Government paid $55 million in research and development and $50 million in construction—a total of $105 million. The Duquesne Company agreed to pay 8 mills a kilowatt hour for the resulting electricity regardless of actual production cost which is around 52 mills, with lower costs expected as time goes on. All in excess of 8 mills will be paid by Government subsidy.

★ ★ ★

The first commercial scale atomic power plant in the world went into operation two years ago at Calder Hall, England. The urgency caused by shortages of coal and oil in West Europe are responsible for speeding the building of plants there. No such need exists in this country and we have been constructing pilot plants designed to find the best type on the basis of cost, operation and safety.

★ ★ ★

The Shippingport plant is a great accomplishment and a splendid example of partnership between Government and private capital. No private company reasonably could have been expected to risk the full cost of constructing such an experimental plant.

More State Autonomy Urged by Committee

The Joint Federal-State Action Committee set up last June at the Governors' Conference has issued its first recommendations.

Made up of State and Administration officials, the committee urges restoration to the states of the responsibility for certain services now financed through Federal grants. In return Congress would reduce the present 10 per cent Federal tax on local telephone service by 40 per cent to become effective in those states which would enact a four per cent tax on such calls.

For the revenue so obtained the states would assume full responsibility for financing programs dealing with vocational education, now costing $33.75 million; municipal waste treatment, $62 million; slum clearance, $9 million and local disaster relief.

In no case could the states fail to provide these services on economy grounds because they would have a ready source of revenue at their disposal. Federal aid would have to continue in some instances where the need is greatest and income the least.

This modest effort to restore to the states the financing of local activities is a promising start. It is to be hoped that Congress will view it in that light.

OLD timers can remember 'way back when nobody but rich people played golf and paid income tax.

"OVEREATING makes a person despondent," says a physician. And having to undereat doesn't make a person any too cheerful.

The Man About Town

This the Reason?

Why Neighboring Counties Get Roads, and We Do Not

Brains: What a man looks for in a woman—but usually not until he's looked at everything else.

Drive out West Huron Street 25 miles to Highway U.S.-23 and turn right, and after a few more miles you'll learn why Oakland County isn't securing any new roads. Fifteen miles of the new U.S.-23, from a point just southwest of Fenton, to the edge of Flint, has been opened to traffic.

After you've driven those 15 miles you'll understand why cannot give Oakland County anything. That stretch of new four-lane boulevarded pavement cost so many millions that other road building must be curtailed.

It snakes around the landscape on an expensive new right of way, instead of following the old direct road, and has so many high cost overhead bridges that one would surmise it was the only approach to New York City.

It doesn't carry one-tenth of the traffic of some Oakland County roads that are sorely in need of improvements. And we wouldn't expect an overhead bridge for every farmer to get his cows across to pasture.

When our federal and state highway funds are fed to the winds on less populous counties in a program that preceded him, Jack asks me and I'm stumped for an answer. Can you supply one?

While on the subject of roads, I'm interested in a story in a Detroit paper that was run as a news feature instead of in the comics. It calls Grand River Road announcing that 7,000 vehicles per day use it. Come over to our state's real Main Street,

"The Main Street of Michigan,"

The Dixie Highway,

An Old Familiar Trail

David Lawrence Says:

They're Hinting for Us to Cough Up

WASHINGTON — The gobbledygook that expresses the present mood of the partican critics in the national capital, and indeed, in some other capitals, too, is a strange mixture of discontent with things as they are, and hints not too subtle that the American taxpayer had better cough up soon some more billions of dollars for a variety of save-the-world purposes.

LAWRENCE

1. "Bold and imaginative ideas." This means a plea for more money for the "neutralist" and "uncommitted" countries, and some more money, too, for the "underdeveloped" countries.

Uncle Sam is supposed to foot the bill, and he isn't even to get thanks or honorable mention for it, because it is all to be obscured in what is called "multilateral" funds. This is a kind of international community chest, in which the United States is supposed to be either anonymous or too modest to have its name mentioned as a giver.

2. "Complacency in defense." This means that Congress is expected to spend more money for everything — airplanes, missiles, submarines, scholarships for scientists, Sputniks and trips to the moon. While only ten months ago this country was talking about how high $71.8 billion was for a federal budget, now the talk is of tens of billions more for everything from armament to "shelter defense."

3. "Why didn't he lay it on the line and give the facts?" This criticism of the President from partisan Democrats, in which a former president from Missouri now joins, means that in his last television speech Eisenhower didn't threaten enough, didn't scare the American people enough, didn't lay the foundations for more spending on armament.

If he had done so, of course, the same critics would have promptly cried out — as indeed some have said about the NATO meeting in Paris recently — that this is "overemphasizing the military side."

4. The secret "Gaither Report" —already denounced by Moscow as a means of curing the economic recession in the United States or of fighting "limited wars" in the Middle East and elsewhere — is slowly being forced out into the open as the real means of scaring the American people into spending more billions.

5. "Deficit financing." This means that "spending" is to be resumed, and anyone who argues for a "balanced budget" is supposed to be unaware of how our failure to launch a Sputnik has "changed things."

6. "Tax increases." This is a threat issued now to stifle the protest of those Americans who have been looking forward to some kind of tax reduction in the year 1958. The idea now is to sell the taxpayers of the United States on the thought that they will be lucky to avoid any increase in taxes, let alone any possibility of getting a downward change in tax rates.

8. The so-called "right to know." This includes a minute-by-minute description of the President's heartbeats, or the number of times he looks at a golf ball. Time was when a President of the United States could occupy a wheelchair for 12 consecutive years while the press didn't print a single picture of him in that posture, nor allude to his frequent absences at Hyde Park over the weekend.

Those were the days of great respect by the press for a President of the United States, including a deferential avoidance of any demands upon his physicians to tell the public about the strokes or illnesses of Franklin D. Roosevelt as they were occurring. No news stories were written insisting that the President "resign" and that the vice president take over. Maybe this is what is really meant by the term "a one-party press."

9. "Peace talks with the Russians." This is the vaguest of all the phrases in the current vocabulary. For nobody knows whether America now must offer to withdraw her troops from Europe as a dramatic concession to "peace," or whether America is to listen to another phonograph record on how "peaceful" Russia really is, and how the West stubbornly refuses to accept Communist dictation or "coexistence" in world affairs.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Authorities' Can't Agree on Rheumatoid Arthritis

One misguided young woman has been living in the Southwest for two years in the vain hope that the warm, dry climate would cure her chronic joint disability to enable her to return north and marry a guy in Ohio. She says the doctors call her trouble "rheumatoid arthritis."

DR. BRADY

Several times I have tried to approach an acquaintance with a plea that he give my "treatment," if you can call it treatment, a try, since he has told me that he no longer takes treatment.

But I can't dent his ivory. He takes the ball away from me and runs on about what this and that doctor told him and how he knows well enough that it is his own carelessness about exposure to dampness, drafts . . . and I get tired and change the subject.

He, too, explains, in words of one syllable, that his trouble is rheumatoid arthritis, a malady which, obviously, I don't understand.

★ ★ ★

If I don't understand rheumatoid arthritis, it's not because I haven't tried to find out about it. And it's not easy to find out about rheumatoid arthritis, I can tell you.

NONE AGREE

In fact, I have found no two authorities whose descriptions of the mysterious malady coincided. The more I study, the more confused I become. I am as confused as the authorities seem to be.

★ ★ ★

The young woman, mentioned above, says the doctors up north gave her all the wonder drugs, but she became allergic to them, and anyway they gave only temporary relief.

That's not news. The only wonder about such drugs is that poor souls with degeneration of joint tissues keep submitting to trials of them and never seem to get it through their heads that the relief of pain the drugs give is no greater than aspirin gives.

As for remedial treatment of the joint trouble, the wonder drugs are as inert as aspirin or other analgesic (pain-killer).

Several physicians have told me that they have to give patients the wonder drugs; for, if they refused to do so, patients would go to other doctors who do give 'em. Some of these physicians have added that they themselves wouldn't take the wonder drugs in any circumstance.

It is only fair to say that as yet I have not heard from more than four or five physicians who agree with my teaching about chronic joint disability.

I sent the misguided young woman (upon her request, accompanied with 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) a copy of my "infamous" booklet Chronic Joint Disability, so that she may go back north and marry.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene; not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Ask Anyone Who Knows

Being the Rose Queen Proves No Bed of Same

SUNLAND, Calif. (AP) — Almost any girl would love to be a beauty like "riding a pink cloud."

But what's it like when the reign is over, the crown but a souvenir?

Mrs. Margaret Huntley Main, star of the 1940 New Year's Day fete in nearby Pasadena, says she started having problems the moment she took off her crown and she still has them.

She told a newsman: "There's a letdown, but that isn't the real trouble. The worst problem is the way people act after you go back to school.

"People come up in the halls and make remarks. A teacher told me she'd like to have me in a class because it would be a pleasure to flunk me. Strangers ask for dates.

"If your seams are crooked, someone is sure to say, 'Is that any way for a queen to look?'

"People compare you with other queens — say how much prettier they were. Sometimes there are comments like, 'Is that the queen? How did she get it?'

"You begin to feel self-conscious and it stays with you. Pretty soon you're afraid of people. They seem so critical. You think twice before you go to the store in jeans. If you do, someone is sure to spot you and say, 'Look at her! She's some queen!'"

Mrs. Main is the wife of a Lockheed aircraft executive and has four children, Linda, 16; Johnny, 14, Martin, 8; and Sandra, 7. She says they moved to Sunland partly because of her Rose queen past.

"Every time Linda turned around someone would ask, 'Are you going to be Rose queen like your mother? Or they'd tell her, 'You don't look anything like your mother.' It's not a good thing. She's pretty enough to be queen, but it's up to her if she wants to try."

If she had it to do over again, would she enter the annual queen competition at Pasadena City College?

"Yes," she said. "The problems are only a small part of it. Most of it is fun and I wouldn't have missed it for anything."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

'Maternal Frenzy' Helps No One

Laura's case shows the "maternal frenzy" that often engulfs many wives who are childless. When they want babies primarily to remove their imagined stigma of being sterile wives, placement agencies are loathe to let them adopt infants. For true maternal love is unselfish. Scrapbook this psychiatric case.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-383: Laura R., aged 29, is a medical problem.

"Dr. Crane, I'm desperate," she began nervously, "and I must have help soon or I feel I shall lose my mind.

"I've been married for 7 years and have never had a baby. So I have gone to several specialists and so has my husband.

DR. CRANE

"But they can't find anything wrong with either of us. Finally, I tried to adopt a baby, but the adopting agency hasn't been very favorable to my case.

"It says I am inclined to be neurotic so it doesn't feel I'd be the best type of mother for a baby. Dr. Crane, that's not true. I'm sure I'd be a wonderful mother, don't you?"

MATERNAL FRENZY

But sometimes their concern is not primarily to love and nuture a child from infancy to adulthood.

No, these women often suffer from an inner inferiority complex. They feel they are below par, as women.

Thus, they are so concerned with proving to the world that they are normal, that they want a baby primarily to bolster their own ego. This is a selfish type of motherhood.

And it leads thousands of wives into becoming medical "worry warts" who hound physicians by their persistent demands for pregnancy.

WIDEN HORIZONS

"If you are truly so interested in children," I began, "then why don't you foster-parent an entire Sunday school class of girls or boys?

"Or why not become interested in the Girl Scouts or Camp Fire Girls?

"Millions of our very best parents have had no youngsters of their own. But they have taken other kids, often from the wrong side of the tracks, and implanted ideals and cultural habits in those urchins.

"Look at the school teachers and the Catholic sisters and many childless leaders in the YMCA and CYO.

"If you are really concerned with nuturing children, you have plenty of opportunities without having babies in your own home.

"So," widen your parental horizons! You are so concerned with proving your own fertility that you are wanting a baby primarily to bolster your own sex vanity."

LAURA'S ANALYSIS

Laura looked wide-eyed as I thus diagnosed her secret tension. She shook her head in shocked disbelief.

Then she protested hysterically that I was all wrong. But there was panic in her protests, for she knew I had hit the nail on the head.

And after a few minutes of wild denials, she began to cry violently and inconsolably, so I bided my time.

Finally she grew more quiet and at last dabbed at her eyes and looked at me.

"Yes, I see it all now," she admitted. "I've made life miserable for my husband, as well as myself, by this insatiable urge to prove that I could bear a baby.

"I've been selfish, all right, but never realized it before. So I'll do as you say and prove that I really love children for their own sake."

1957 Banner Year for Russia, Communism

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
Chief European Corespondent, INS

PARIS (INS) — Russia and World Communism had a great year in 1957.

In Communist minds the year must rank at least as high as 1949, when China was conquered, or 1945, when the evil might of Nazi Germany was crushed between Russia in the East and America, Britain and the other allies in the West.

And this triumph was made even sweeter when the United States tried to duplicate the feat and failed. Besides that Russians were ahead with the militarily more important Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

The Sputniks were the crowning achievement of Russia's great year. They broke the comforting Western myth that any one American scientist could outthink any ten Russians. For the West it was the same kind of disillusionment that came in Korea when it was realized that any one American couldn't really whip any ten Chinese.

The one solace for the West is that the Sputniks may prove a costly triumph in the end. They did freighten the West into action, into the first meeting in history of the chiefs of governments of the free nations banded together in NATO.

★ ★ ★

POOR START FOR '57

The year 1957 began badly for Russia. Communism was smarting badly for 1956, one of its worst years. De-Stalinization, anger in Poland, revolution in Hungary, had hurt. Even in Russia itself there was intellectual ferment dangerous to the regime.

★ ★ ★

The whole Communist bloc economic system was out of kilter. Russian and East German factories were not getting Polish and Hungarian coal in the quantities they had been. That started a chain reaction with serious consequences that still are a problem for Russia.

The Soviets no longer could milk the satellites of their treasure and at the end of 1957 Russia actually was spending money on the satellites instead of showing a profit from them.

There were other evidences of economic strain. Late in the year the five-year plan had to be scrapped. No new economic goals were announced. For the first time since 1928 a Russia at peace had no publicly defined economic objectives.

★ ★ ★

Western diplomatic experts interpreted that as meaning trouble. Although the Russians report a 10 per cent increase in industrial production some diplomats think, but are not sure, that the decentralization of industry which Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev ordered in mid-year may not be working so well.

TOP TECHNICIANS UNHAPPY

It is known that the thousands of managers and technicians who were ordered to leave fat-cat jobs in Moscow and Leningrad were unhappy about their new lives in frontier-type industrial towns in Siberia and the Urals.

★ ★ ★

Decentralization brought Khrushchev more political trouble than his gambles with plowing the virgin land of Siberia and de-Stalinization itself.

Some of the grand old names of Communism, Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich, Shepilov, were listed among the resisters. They were given the "soft purge" as anti-party plotters.

The concept of "collective leadership" adopted after the death of Stalin was badly bent, if not broken. Even Marshal Georgi Zhukov, popular hero of Russia, was purged.

At year's end Khrushchev seemed firm in the saddle. He still could not use the secret police with the ruthlessness of Stalin. He still had to send Russian money instead of Russian agents to keep the satellites in line. There was no logical contender for his throne.

But one of the sharpest students of Russia in Western Europe said "There still is movement and an air of instability in the leadersrip and I don't feel Khrushchev is any more secure than he was before he got rid of Malenkov, Molotov and the others."

None of the difficulties or problems facing Khrushchev, however, are considered serious enough at this time to threaten Communist control of Russia and the satellites.

MIDEAST GAINS

The Russians have benefited beyond belief from the last gasps of colonialism in Indonesia and North Africa and from the leftover prejudices against colonialism in India, Burma, Indochina and the Middle East. In some places, like the Middle East and, according to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Indonesia, the Russians lend a heavy helping hand.

Yugoslavia still seems to be resisting complete "reintegration" into the Communist bloc, but in foreign policy it has formed a common front with Russia.

Poland, too, after months on the fence, is supporting Soviet foreign policy and as one American diplomat put it, "Gomulka must look much better to the Soviets than he did some months ago."

This November all the Communist states except Yugoslavia signed a common declaration which relaunched the worldwide Communist offensive which was set aside after the Hungarian revolt.

The declaration also aimed at neutralist sentiments in France and other NATO countries by reviving the concept of the "popular front."

That appeal to neutralism and fear, and a continuing economic offensive in the Middle East, Africa and the Far East, appear to be the key points of the Soviet attack during 1958.

Check Your Puzzle Solution Here

The following are the correct answers and explanations for the Pot-O-Gold puzzle that appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

A. (2) FALLING. Since there's no loss of face in being unable to ski, a would-be skier would hardly be discouraged by fear of Falling.

There is, however, a very real danger of FALLING, particularly for an amateur, and breaking an arm or a leg.

B. (3) EMPLOY. Few housewives can afford to hire the services of a full-time maid; to EMPLOY her is basic to being able to ENJOY such services.

C. (5) JUNGLE. You often hear about beasts in a JUNGLE. While there is an occasional Jingle, or rollicking verse, about beasts, there are few in proportion to the thousands of JINGLES in circulation.

D. (7) GROUP. In order to get the whole wedding party into a picture, the photographer must direct everyone in the GROUP as to where they should stand. This of course includes the Groom, standing beside the bride.

E. (10) EATING. Since Mating habits are entirely a matter of tradition, the sensible tourist would hardly be shocked that primitive marriage customs differ from our own. EATING habits, however, may affect the tourist personally, and he would feel revulsion if asked to eat, for instance, a sheep's eye, or fried grasshoppers.

F. (11) COMMON. An expert designer gets high style into a dress because of a special skill with the cut. This could be true of any cheap COMMON fabric, which would include other materials, such as rayon, as well as Cotton.

G. (14) FUMBLE. A child is more agile than an adult and is less likely to Tumble when climbing. But in reaching up for a cookie jar, he would probably grope around awkwardly and FUMBLE, since the jar is usually too large for his small hands to grasp at arm's length.

H. (16) PRESENCE. Though a snobbish woman's Pretense — the airs she puts on—would make her unpopular, she obviously could not be subjected to a cool reception if she failed to attend a community gathering. So it is her PRESENCE there that gives people a chance to snub her.

I. (18) DRAFTSMAN. There are always some trades that are not prospering too well, and the Craftsman, or skilled worker in such trades may be occasionally without employment. But in these days of scientific engineering, there is full demand for DRAFTSMEN, who draw up the plans in blue-print form.

J. (19) VANISHED. If the underworld king has a hideaway, as the clue states, he has VANISHED from public view, but can still boss the rackets through secret emissaries. An underworld king who's Banished has presumably been deported. His whereabouts in his native land are usually known and could not be called a hideaway.

K. (21) HEARTY. In a HEARTY conversation there is friendliness and warmth which can take a man's mind off his troubles. Party conversation is often meaningless chitchat with strangers, not engrossing enough to chase away the blues.

L. (23) MISPLAYS. It is to be expected that a tennis champion Displays a tricky serve from time to time, as he sends the ball over the net in a way that deceives his opponent. The excitement in a match is whipped up when a champion MISPLAYS, because he seldom does so.

M. (25) BOULDER. "Unexpected" costs suggest BOULDER, a large rock which might prove to extend so deeply below the surface that special equipment would be needed to remove it. The Builder of a house goes over the plans with the prospective owner and gives his price before the work begins, and any unexpected costs are usually the result of ambitious changes that the customer suddenly calls for.

N. (28) FLUTTER. During a parade up Broadway for a visiting notable, office workers lean out of windows and tear up bits of paper to FLUTTER down as a gesture of welcome. The Clutter is only realized after the parade has passed and there is all that litter in the streets to be swept up.

O. (29) STIRRING. A Sterling performance by an actor has great excellence, but it is only when an audience is STIRRED, or moved to cheers and bravos, that a sensational overnight success is made.

P. (31) BROUGHT. Whether the iron flower stand had been Wrought, i.e. made, by the parishioner himself or not, the church bazaar committee would be pleased that he had BROUGHT it.

Q. (34) DIVISIVE. If there is a heated argument over a merger among a firm's board of directors, clearly the negotiations are DIVISIVE—creating discord. Equally, since the directors are still arguing, the negotiations are not yet Decisive, or final, but are still hanging fire.

R. (35) FABLED. A FABLED old inn would have some reason for its fame—some romantic or historic connection with the past, which honeymooners might feel sentimental about. Whether or not it was Gabled would be only a matter of architecture and hardly important for sentiment.

S. (37) LACKEY. If the payoff is big enough, a gangster's henchman might be satisfied that he was in a servile position, meekly taking orders. He would hardly think of himself as Lucky; a gangster usually has a grudge against someone, or society.

T. (39) CLAQUE. To a faded ex-opera star, her CLAQUE would be the greatest expression of her long-ago fame, when her admirers filled the galleries with loud applause for her singing. Her Clique was her personal group of friends, many of whom she would probably still have as friends in her old age.

Taipei Gets Rice, Leaflets to Reds on 10,000 Flights

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Some 10,000 flights were made over Red China during the past year to drop leaflets and rice, the Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry said today.

★ ★ ★

Although its report did not mention photographic reconnaissance, presumably that was included on some flights.

Among other claims in the summary were:

1. Nationalist guns sank 44 Communist craft, damaged 68 others and blew up two ammunition depots.

★ ★ ★

2. In 28 engagements between Nationalist and Communist warships, nine Red gunboats and five armed junks were sunk and 19 gunboats and two unidentified warships damaged.

Child Falls Down Shaft; Uncle Fishes Her Out

LOGAN, Kan. (AP)—Two-year-old Kay Bittel fell 12 feet down an 18-inch air shaft in her home.

★ ★ ★

An uncle, Joe Landera, tied a slip knot in a garden hose, lowered it and told Kay to place it over her head and under her arms. The child followed orders and was pulled out, minus a shoe. She was unhurt.

Salk Discloses Cancer Studies

Reveals New Serum Potent in Test Tubes Against Infected Tissue

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Jonas Salk, polio vaccine discoverer, has disclosed laboratory tests with antibodies which may open a new line of research against cancer.

★ ★ ★

Writing in the journal Science, Salk told yesterday of his work with an antibody manufacturing serum. Such serums also have been developed by other cancer researchers, but Salk said that in his serum the antibodies (disease fighters) were potent in test tubes simultaneously against both normal and cancerous tissues. It has not yet been established whether there is a common antibody to all types of cancer.

★ ★ ★

Salk has been testing laboratory animals with a serum made from monkey heart cells in a quest for a better tissue with which to cultivate polio virus for vaccine purposes.

Concerning the new serum, however, Salk said: "It is apparent that considerable further study is required before any conclusions can be drawn."

School Employe Was Only Voter for S.S.

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — Caddo County school employe George Tidmore knew he had a winner in a special election to have Social Security deducted from his pay check.

Tidmore was the only eligible voter. It took five counters to make the one ballot official.

Police Hold Laborer for Sarracini Killing

Monroe Gibson, 26, was picked up by police last night and assertedly admitted he felled 30-year-old Sarracini with one punch on Christmas Eve outside a tavern along Broadway near 64th Street. The actor died yesterday of a brain concussion.

Sarracini, a Canadian, had a title role in the current Broadway show "Romanoff and Juliet," which stars Peter Ustinov.

With Sarracini, and also felled by an assailant, was ex-welterweight boxer Tommy Bell, 34. At first, Bell said he and his friend were attacked by several men. Later, he said he had been drinking and that he disliked admitting that he and Sarracini had been bested by a single opponent.

Economic Pinch, Legislation May Outweigh Scandals

Labor Troubles to Increase in 1958

By NORMAN WALKER

The era of the easy buck is slipping away, and the labor union leaders know this spells more trouble for them than the skeletons rattled in union closets in the 1957 labor scandals.

Nearly every day brings news of more job layoffs. The economists are predicting 5 to 6 million unemployed by March. Industry gives every sign of stiffening opposition to new wage boosts.

And organized labor fears that public indignation at the labor rackets disclosures may lead to legislation that could hamstring union efforts to boost wages and shorten working hours in 1958.

The pressure on unions to deliver wage hikes for their members and on employers for purse-tightening until 1958 economic troubles blow over probably will end the general labor-management honeymoon the nation has been enjoying during the past few years.

Strikes, at their lowest ebb in 1957 than in any other year since the end of World War II, can be expected to flare far more frequently in the coming year.

Walter Reuther's auto workers union will lead the crusade of labor organizations to the economic wars.

★ ★ ★

Expiring labor contracts in the auto and aircraft industries appear to be the most likely battleground. But agreements run out also in most of the trucking industry, in rubber, oil, maritime, telephone and other key industries. And John L. Lewis is in a position to reopen coal wage negotiations at any time.

PREARRANGED HIKES PREVAIL

Less than half the major labor contracts expire in 1958. Under most of the non-expiring ones workers are to get automatic, prearranged pay hikes and wage adjustments for any changes in the cost of living. Living costs, however, appear to have leveled off after a 14-month climb.

About three million workers will get these automatic pay raises in 1958. Another three million are covered by contracts expiring in the new year.

Organized labor has made a start to rid its ranks of corrupt union leaders. The cleanup drive culminated at the recent AFL-CIO convention with expulsion of the Teamsters, Laundry and Bakery workers unions.

★ ★ ★

But labor is aware much still remains to be disclosed. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Labor-Management Rackets Investigating Committee plans to go right ahead with hearings delving out new phases of corruption.

The year 1957 was one of good wages and few strikes. Most workers received pay raises of about 15 cents an hour.

Most of labor's legislative goals in Congress—such as federal aid to education, broader coverage of the minimum wage law, and a pay raise for federal employes—went unrealized.

But on the political front union leaders counted as victories the re-election of Democratic Gov. Robert Meynar in New Jersey and election of Democrat William Proxmire in Wisconsin to succeed the late Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

★ ★ ★

Indiana joined the list of states with right-to-work laws, outlawing the union shop or other forms of compulsory union membership. But labor managed to beat down similar attempts in other states. New drives to enact such laws are shaping up for 1958 in several states, including California, Ohio, Michigan and Kansas.

In 30-Hour New Year Traffic

130 Highway Deaths Seen

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council today estimated 130 Americans will die in traffic accidents during the New Year celebration.

Statistics show that, since World War II, traffic deaths has been substantially lower during the New Year celebration than during the Christmas observance. One big factor is less long-distance travel. The lowest toll since World War II is 93, compiled during the one-day switch from 1946 to 1947.

The New Year period will run from 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 31, to midnight Wednesday, Jan. 1. That's 30 hours, the same as the Christmas period.

Thieves Ransack Home

Thieves ransacked the home of Bernard J. Rheault, 704 Joslyn Rd., yesterday and took $266 in clothing and costume jewelry as well as a number of Christmas presents.

A home at 700 Joslyn also was entered, but the occupant, Mrs. Lou Stoglin, was unable to determine what was missing.

Driver Gets 30 Days

Edward C. Luebke, 48, of 6571 Sashabaw Rd., Independence Township, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving, Thursday, before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Warns Chicago on Pollution

Engineer Tells Mayor Used Water Cannot Be Returned to Lake

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago sewer official yesterday said "unbearable pollution" would result if the city's used water was returned to Lake Michigan.

A. L. Tholin, city chief sewer engineer, wrote the opinion in the form of a memorandum to Mayor Richard J. Daley.

It was prompted by a petition filed Monday in the U. S. Supreme Court by Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

The six states demanded that Chicago return to the lake—after purification — the water it now draws from the lake for drinking and industrial purposes. The used water now goes down a drainage canal to the Illinois Waterway.

Tholin said the return of used water to the lake would be harmful to Chicago and to cities in northern Indiana and, possibly, to Southern Wisconsin.

Wants French Out of Tunisia by Mar. 20

PARIS (INS) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba wants all French troops evacuated from Tunisia by March 20.

Agence France Press said Bourguiba declared yesterday in his weekly broadcast to the people that France had asked for a period of six months to evacuate some air bases.

Bourguiba said, however, French troops should be gone by March 20, second anniversary of Tunisian independence.

Girl's Appendix Finally Removed

Religious Scruples Set Aside After Action Is Threatened by Court

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — A conflict between religious scruples and a medical emergency was resolved and 11-year-old Judith Ann Pippin's swollen appendix was removed.

The emergency operation last night was a success.

Her father, Arthur Pippin, and friends in the Full Gospel Tabernacle prayed Christmas Eve and Christmas Night for Judy's recovery but he wouldn't permit an operation.

Dr. W. R. Taylor, Wayne County health officer, persuaded Pippin to permit a blood count yesterday and it showed Judy's appendix either had burst or was near rupturing.

Then Superior Court Judge John H. Brubaker ordered Pippin into court and said he would make the girl a ward of the county if it were shown her life was in danger. Pippin agreed to the operation after receiving the order.

"We're still sincere and believe in our religion," said Pippin, the father of 10 children, "but we also have been taught to respect and obey the law."

Urges Africa, Asia Form Trade Pact

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt proposed today the establishment of a common market by African and Asian nations to counteract the new European common market.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was made to the economic committee of the African-Asian People's Conference which opened yesterday with the traditional slogans of Communist propaganda.

★ ★ ★

The committee heard the proposal by Abdel Razzakh Hassan of Egypt behind closed doors. Some members protested that they wanted to hear a Soviet economic report before debating the idea.

★ ★ ★

The Russian report was scheduled for a plenary session later. In the past Russia has tried to attract underdeveloped nations to communism by painting glowing pictures of her economic progress.

Cable Car Reveals Alps

MILAN — Visitors to Cortina d'Ampezzo, fashionable resort in Italy's Dolomites mountain area, will have half the eastern Alps spread out before them when they ride the new cable car line up to the 9,500-foot terminus. The line, leading up to Monte Cristallo, is the most recent addition to Cortina's facilities since the Winter Olympics were held there in 1956.

Late Holiday Rush Boosts Retail Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans put on a last-minute shopping rush to give retail sales a sharp boost the week before Christmas, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. said today.

Volume ran far ahead of the same week of 1956.

Best sellers were traditional gifts, glassware, toys, food specialties and some lines of apparel. Sales of new passenger cars, major appliances and television sets lagged.

Dun & Bradstreet estimated total dollar volume was 2 to 6 per cent higher than a year ago.

3 State Railroads to Increase Fares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized three railroads to increase basic coach passenger fares within Michigan by 5 per cent.

The commission said the railroads must give the public five days notice before putting the increases into effect.

Likes Big Clan; His 15th Child Born Christmas

LYNWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "I always wanted a big family," said Cornelius T. Schouten, whose 15th child was born Christmas Day to his 45-year-old wife Agatha.

★ ★ ★

"But now," he added with a big grin, "well, I'm satisfied."

Schouten, 49, a retired dairyman, said he was one of 15 children in his family in his native Holland.

As many of the clan as could crowd to the viewing window at St. Francis Hospital inspected the latest arrival, Michael, yesterday.

The other Schouten children are: Cornelius Jr., 23, married and father of a daughter; Mrs. Trudie Blyleven, 22, an expectant mother; John 21; Marie, 20; Nicholas, 19; Agnes, 17; Bill, 14; Pete, 13; Geraldine, 12 Tommy, 10 Dorothy, 8 Veronica, 6, and Robert, 21 months. The 15th child, George, died at the age of 2.

Pilotless Plane Takes Pictures

Army Says Tiny Craft Can Photograph Enemy Terrain, Return Home

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP)—The Army today disclosed it has a tiny, pilotless plane that flies over enemy terrain taking pictures as it goes. The drone aircraft even fires its own flares automatically for illumination for pictures at night.

★ ★ ★

The army said the device will give combat commanders accurate, low-level photographic reconnaissance of enemy territory without endangering the life of a pilot.

The Signal Corps engineering laboratories here developed the camera in conjunction with the Fairchild Camera & Instrument Corp., of Syosset, N.Y.

A flash system is synchronized with the camera. Fourteen flash cartridges on either side of the drone are ejected electrically as the film moves through the camera.

The flash holds its light peak only briefly, making it almost impossible for enemy gunners to get a visual sight on the drone, the Army said.

Its mission over, the plane returns over its base and is landed by means of a parachute ejector system.

Train Jumps Tracks in Spain; Three Killed

REUS, Spain (AP)—The Madrid-Barcelona Express train was derailed near this northeast city today, killing 3 persons and injuring 30. Twelve of the injured were reported in a serious condition.

The accident was blamed on a breaking rail. A sleeping car and a passenger car rolled down a 30-foot embankment.

Urges West to Accept Bid

U.S. State Department Studies Latest Request for A-Weapons Ban

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda challenged the West today to accept recent Soviet disarmament proposals and thus, the Communist party paper said, satisfy world public opinion.

The U.S. State Department is reported studying the latest Soviet bids for a ban on nuclear weapons manufacture and tests, reduction of military forces in Europe and other proposals.

"Humanity awaits from Western statesmen a direct reply to the clear and concrete proposals of the Soviet government," Pravda said.

The article followed criticism by Pravda yesterday of a NATO suggestion for East-West foreign ministers talks. Moscow radio praised the suggestion today but then accused Washington of trying to bury the talks which were proposed Dec. 19 at the close of a NATO summit meeting.

Once-Lost Pilot and Pretty Wife Call It Quits

TRUMBUL, Conn. (INS)—David A. Steeves and his attractive blonde wife were charting their lives along separate courses today following revelation that their attempted reconciliation had failed.

Mrs. Rita Steeves said last night that an attempt to salvage their marriage had failed.

Steeves, who was released from active duty with the Air Froce on Nov. 30 at his own request, drew national attention when he walked out of the Sierra Mountains of California last July after being lost for 54 days when his jet plane crashed.

The couple had some marital discord, but on Oct. 30 a reconciliation attempt was announced. However, last night, following release of a story on the mountain survival in the January issue of Redbook, Mrs. Steeves said, "I changed plans, that's all."

Nab Japanese Files of Four Officials

TOKYO (AP)—Police searched the homes and offices of four government officials early today and seized documents which a spokesman said may lead to their arrest on charges of passing government secrets to the Communists.

★ ★ ★

A Metropolitan Police Board spokesman said the four were suspected of having passed secret government papers to a Communist agent. The search involved officials of the Ministry of Forestry and Agriculture, Ministry of Finance, and Economic Planning Board.

Whether a network of Communist agents or sympathizers exists within government agencies is unknown yet, the police spokesman added.

More than 30,000,000 rose bushes are sold annually in the United States. Surveys show roses to be the overwhelming favorite flower of Americans by an 18-to-1 margin.

Hollywood Headlines

Short Story Will Come to Life Starring Cooper

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — You may remember a few weeks ago I said that Martin Jurow and Richard Sheperd had bought "The Hanging Tree," one of a collection of short stories by Dorothy M. Johnson, and had paid a fabulous price.

Well, just before Jack Warner took off for Paris to be with his daughter, Barbara, when she has her baby, he told me that Gary Cooper will star in "The Hanging Tree," and he'll release it for Jurow's and Shepherd's Baroda Company.

"It's a great western classic, and won the Spur Award for the best western of 1957," Jack told me.

Gary will make this next month before he does "The Sundowners," and Delmar Daves, who directed several of Gary's most important pictures, will direct "Hanging Tree."

LANCASTER GOES TV

I thought at first when I heard that Burt Lancaster and Harold Hecht were going into television that it was another one of those rumors. But now I heard that it's true, and that after the first of the year they'll jump in with both feet.

Their first series will be "Marty," the story that won Ernest Borgnine an Academy Award. A search will be made for an unknown who will play the famous Borgnine role.

If this series comes up to expectations, "Vera Cruz," which Burt made with Gary Cooper, will also be made as another series.

ROCK TOP MONEY MAN

Rock Hudson's name leads all the rest. I'm referring, of course, to the annual poll taken by Quigley Publications' motion picture herald of American exhibitors, voting for the top money-making stars of the year just ending. That is, the stars who have brought in the most money at the boxoffices.

Following Rock, in the order named, are John Wayne (he has won time after time), Pat Boone, Elvis Presley, Frank Sinatra, Gary Cooper, William Holden, James Stewart, Jerry Lewis, Yul Brynner — and NOT A WOMAN STAR on the list! It's the first time in 26 years that not a single woman star has placed.

Hudson, Boone and Presley are brand new to the sacred circle; Cooper has been among the first ten 18 times. Last year's winner was Bill Holden.

DISNEY PLANS ANOTHER

Walt Disney's pictures are so loved by young and grown-ups alike that anything he buys for the screen is news. I learned today that Walt has bought Sally Carrighar's acclaimed nature novels, "One Day at Teton Marsh" and "One Day on Bettle Rock," and will use them as the basis for two new full-length true-life fantasy screen features to follow the currently popular "Perri."

It was with these best sellers, published by Alfred Knopf, that Miss Carrighar stepped into the limelight as a vivid storyteller and naturalist. These stories reveal the intimate activities of a whole community of animals and birds of the California Sierras and in the Teton Marshes of Wyoming. Sounds right up Disney's magic street.

HOLLYWOOD SNAPSHOTS

Well, this is par for the course — when Red Buttons tried to rent his old house in Beverly Hills the rent had gone sky high because Red is now a big movie star, and supposed to get more money than a TV artist.

My old friend Joe Frisco, who has been quite sick and in the hospital, had better get well by Jan. 10, because the Masquers are honoring the beloved clown with a testimonial dinner on that date.

Joan Bennett is in New York for the January rehearsals of "Love Me Little," a play packaged by the Preminger, Jaffe and Stewart agency. The play written by John G. Fuller opens late in January.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Overtime Salesmen!

VIENNA (AP)—Three officials of the Bulgarian state-owned cooperative stores at Stara Zagora were reported today to have been sentenced to death for stealing surplus goods from the stores and selling them on the black market.

U.S. Aid to Korea Completes 31 Plants

SEOUL (AP)—The American aid program in Korea this year completed 31 major plants in 24 kinds of industry. More than 100 other plants are being built, a top U.S. aid official reported today.

★ ★ ★

However, "It is no easy matter to industrialize an agricultural country" even with expenditure of more than $1,300,000,000 in aid funds in the past four years, economic coordinator William E. Warne said.

★ ★ ★

In a yearend statement Warne said South Korea's economic progress in 1958 depends upon a continuing price stablization program and making maximum use of American aid.

Christmas Joy Lingers On in Gifts

Sheryl, 6, and Robert, 8, are children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Betzing.

Glenn Caughill of Dover road offers to let his sister, Gail, use his hockey glove, which is part of the equipment he received for Christmas. Gail, however, doesn't think it would be a very even trade because she is most fond of the doll she got. Glenn's waiting anxiously for the predicted winter weather to set in so he can get in some real hockey playing.

Many Retired Persons Find Trailers Practical

By BEULAH STOWE

Mrs. Anna Lindquist found her nine-room house too big for her after her husband died four years ago. She sold the house and its one-acre lot, with the provision that she be allowed to rent trailer space for $10 a month from the new owner, for as long as she wanted it.

★ ★ ★

She bought a 40-foot mobile home — not to travel in — but to stay home in. She wanted to remain close to her friends and her two children. But she had to keep her monthly expenses low and she had to find a way of living which would make housekeeping easier.

SUIT THEIR NEEDS

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. sold their house last year and bought a 10-foot-wide mobile home. Mr. F. will be retired in two years. They wanted to test trailer life ahead of time, and they have found it satisfactory.

When retirement comes, they expect to move their home on wheels to a new setting, probably Arizona. They'll stay there if they like it as much as they expect to, or they will try another section of the country. Moving will present no housing problems.

The S. F.'s do not plan to be constant travelers. Their trailer, because of its width, will be hauled to its destination by a professional towing company.

NARROWER TRAILERS

Retired people who use mobile homes for seasonal traveling usually prefer narrower trailers, 25 to 35 feet in length.

Many trailer parks cater to retired people, and at least two of the largest parks in Florida have a rule that ONLY retired people can be accepted as residents.

There are 1,100,000 mobile homes in the United States today, housing more than three million people.

Q — "We own our house, worth about $16,000 today, and we expect to be retired on a small pension next year. Can we do anything with our investment in the house which will help us live from month to month?"—S. D. N.

A — Consider selling your home and buying a duplex or two-family home for about the same price. This will enable you to earn income on your property—and all the more profit if you take care of the maintenance yourself.

Spin Tales, Read Aloud to Children

By DR. DOROTHY WHIPPLE

"Tell me a story," said Tricia as she hopped into bed.

"Which story tonight?" asked Mother.

"First I want 'In the olden days when you were little,' then I want a new story—two stories tonight." And Tricia lay very still, expectantly waiting.

Finally the stories were over.

BECOMING LOST ARTS

Yes, children love stories, they like the kind that come out of the head, they like the kind that come out of books.

★ ★ ★

Story telling and reading aloud are becoming lost arts in our mechanical age of canned amusements — too bad when there is so much fun in sharing the joy and imagination of children.

★ ★ ★

If you run dry of stories to tell, freshen up your supply from some good books. An excellent book is "Favorite Stories Old and New," collected by Sidonie Gruenberg and published by Doubleday.

It's a big book and will give you material for story telling for years. Children from 4 to 10 will enjoy these tales.

OTHER COLLECTIONS

Another story collection is "Time to Laugh," collected by Phyllis Fenner and published by Knopf. Another by the same collector is "Giants and Witches and a Dragon or Two."

★ ★ ★

Space doesn't permit the listing of many other good collections. You cannot go wrong on any of them, but if you have time, browse around a bookstore and make your own selection.

In adding a collection of stories to your home you will lead your children into that wonderful land that only book lovers know.

The little child who is told stories and read to long before he can read himself is the one who learns to love books.

Ladies, Beware

Ladies had to take care in the days of England's King George III. In 1774, Parliament passed a law forbidding women from enticing men into matrimony by using scents, washes, cosmetics, artificial teeth, high-heeled shoes or iron stays, among other witchery.

Fur for Umbrella

Here's a notion from Paris that is not likely to become the latest fashion: A fur covering for an umbrella to match your coat. You change the covering as you change your coat: Mink, beaver, leopard.

Tourists Take in Mardi Gras

The next Mardi Gras at Nice, France, from Feb. 6 to 20, is really one for the tourists. For the garlanded crowned effigy of King Carnival, the dominant figure in the whole two-week extravaganza, is this winter called the Prince of Tourism, and as such sets the tone for all the parades.

Tourists on hand for the occasion may revel in such spectaculars as a 24-hour-long parade on Feb. 9, a confetti-strewn Night of Nice on Feb. 13, fireworks displays and the Veglione costumed dance on Feb. 18, and the burning of King Carnival on Feb. 20, climax of the celebrations.

Gone Are Days of Uplift Bra, Waist Cincher

NEW YORK (INS)—It's no secret in these enlightened days that women have bosoms, hips and waists.

But just what fashionable contour our bosoms and hips ought to have is getting to be a pretty foggy proposition.

Last spring we were all busty and curvy. Uplift bras were hot stuff and waist cinchers waved in every wardrobe.

Now, all of a sudden a girl has got to be built like a board. As little top as possible, please, and hips that are straight and flat as a pancake.

This drives some girls to diet, but designers have it easier—they just whip up another expensive harness we're supposed to buy for THE current shape.

If Ex-Wife Woos Him With Fine Food Wise Man Will Add Own (Humble) Pie

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 27 years of married life I found out my wife was attracted to another man. Consequently a divorce followed. It has been 3 years and neither of us has remarried. Now she comes to my apartment and brings roasts, turkey, home-made rolls (which she knows I love) and she treats me like I wished she would have treated me when we were married.

ABBY

"I heard the other man changed his mind and didn't divorce his wife after all so that's why she's crawling back to me. Should I forgive and forget? My pride says NO!"

JIM

DEAR JIM: Add a little pie (humble, that is) to the menu and both have some. Pride goeth before a fall. Forgive her!

"DEAR ABBY: I am a girl 15 and I can't figure my mother out. I have taken sewing in school but my mother won't let me near her machine. I know how to cook, too, but she never lets me make anything for fear I will burn myself or spoil the ingredients.

"If I ask her to let me do something around the house she says she can get it done quicker herself. How am I supposed to learn to be a good housekeeper if she won't let me do anything?"

DISGUSTED WITH MOTHER

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your mother is making a mistake. The only way you will learn to do anything is by doing it. Keep asking her.

"DEAR ABBY: When I was 15 I had to get married to somebody so I married A. I had two kids by A and divorced him because he was absolutely no good. I married B because he was good to me and the kids, which he legally adopted.

"My problem is that I fell in love with C and now I can't stand living with B. B says if I divorce him for C, I will have to take the kids as they belong to me not him. C says he will pay for my divorce and marry me if I put my kids in a home because he doesn't want them as he would like to have his own, one of which I am carrying now.

"Should I put the kids in a home and start over again? I am only 18 and think I am entitled to a little happiness while I am still young."

ELLIE

DEAR ELLIE: For an 18-year-old girl you are going through the alphabet pretty fast. "C" is no bargain if he is encouraging you to leave "B" and put your children in a home. Stick with "B" (if he will still have you) and limit your "happiness" to the man you are married to.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am in my early forties. My wife doesn't understand me but my bookkeeper does. My problem is that it is very hard for me to go home and listen to my wife's nagging after spending such a pleasant day at the office. I would appreciate any suggestions you can offer."

NAGGED

DEAR NAGGED: Try treating your WIFE more like you treat your bookkeeper — but don't treat your bookkeeper as if she were your wife. Savvy?

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

3 Teenagers Write Novels

If you have a teenager around the house who is working hard on a novel, don't laugh.

A magazine reports that three intriguing novels by teenagers will be published this winter: "Beau Clown" by Berthe Grimault, "Strange Evil" by Jane Gaskell, and Lynne Doyle's "The Riddle of Genesis County."

Paris Subway Goes Modern

The latest project of the Paris Metro (subway) is the testing of cars which will run without any kind of drivers whatsoever, but will be operated by radio control.

★ ★ ★

With this and other experiments with soundproofed wheels and modernized stations, the price of a ride still remains 30 francs or seven cents; less, if a book of tickets is bought.

Other chairmen for the event to be held at the YMCA are Julie Blank and Sara Hetherington, tickets; Sandra Sommerville and Mary Wood, programs; Sharon Gale and Krista Haasik, refreshments, and Delores Shea and Linda Gaylord, decorations.

Yule Party Held by Rebekah Lodge

Welcome Rebekah Lodge 246 met Thursday evening in Malta Temple for a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Mrs. Ferman Huston reported on Christmas gifts sent to shut-in members of the Lodge.

A contribution was made to Odd Fellow and Rebekah Home at Jackson. Plans were made for a semi-public installation of officers, to be held Jan. 23. Mrs. Richard Rohrer, Mrs. Randall Wilson and Mrs. Clarence Cavalier were in charge of the social hour.

Faith Cook Speaks Vows

Faith Cook of Garland avenue and Arthur D. Berg were married Sunday in First Presbyterian Church, Ypsilanti. The Rev. Raymond Bair performed the ceremony before an altar banked with seasonal greens and white chrysanthemums.

The W. E. Cooks of Ypsilanti are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. M. A. Scharp of Muskegon.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Martin Baltzell, served as matron of honor. She wore an ice-blue brocaded gown, identical to that of the bride, with a matching hat. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

ATTENDS BRIDEGROOM

Best man was Fernand Goudreault of Bellevue, and Burton Brooks of Bellevue and Edward Bailey of East Lansing seated the guests.

To receive guests at a reception held in the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Cook wore a gray peau de soie dress with pink hat and a shoulder corsage of tea roses. Mrs. Scharp chose a gray silk dress and matching hat with a corsage of pink tea roses.

After a trip to Chicago the couple will live near Bellevue.

The new Mrs. Berg was graduated from the University of Michigan, and the bridegroom also was graduated from the U. of M. where he is a member of Phi Delta Kappa fraternity.

To Chase Bacteria

Many persons find it impossible to brush their teeth after each meal. But dentists suggest a way to chase tooth-decaying bacteria after meals. This is to swish water around in the mouth.

Scrub Them, Use Lemon Juice Bleach

Rough Skin May Darken Elbows

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Please tell me how to bleach my elbows. They are very dark."

A. The darkness probably is due partly to rough skin. Scrub your elbows with a rough, soapy cloth when taking your daily bath. After drying, massage them with cream.

You also will find that lemon juice is a mild bleach and you can use this twice a week for a while. You should massage the elbows with cream after using the juice since the latter is drying.

Q. "I am 14 years old and want to know if there is any way to get rid of dark circles under my eyes. I have had them for a long time. I get at least eight hours sleep a night and eat a well-balanced diet."

A. Become interested in some sport so that you will get a lot of outdoor exercise. This may help and anyway it will be good for you.

There is a product which will cover these circles. If you would like to have its name, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Q. "I am 13½ years old. I weigh 105 pounds and am 5 feet 5½ inches tall. I do not feel right when wearing shorts because I think my legs are too skinny. Here are some of my measurements: Thigh 20½, calf 13 inches. Are my legs too thin to wear shorts?"

A. You are a lot underweight and should gain for the sake of health. However, your leg measurements are fairly good. Wear shorts whenever you wish.

Q. "I am 14 years old and think I am a little overweight. I weigh 120 pounds and am 5 feet 3½ inches tall. Please tell me how much overweight I am and how to lose a few pounds."

A. You are a very little overweight. I would not lose more than 5 pounds. You can do this easily by leaving off in-between-meal snacks and also second helpings.

Q. "I was 15 years old December 1. I am large boned, 5 feet tall and weigh 125 pounds. My measurements are bust 36, waist 27 and hips 37 inches. Please tell me how much overweight I am."

A. Even with a large frame you probably are about 10 pounds overweight. Your measurements are in proportion.

Q. "I have some scars on my face and want them removed. A friend of mine says that she has read somewhere that they can be removed with a new method. Where can I find out about this?"

A. Talk with a plastic surgeon. If you would like to have the name of one who is qualified, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "A Positive Health Results From Regular Exercise."

Married Saturday were Carla Sue Bramlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Milton Bramlett and Cortez E. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cortez Walker.

MR. and MRS. CORTEZ E. WALKER

Carla Bramlett Becomes Bride of Cortez Walker

Baskets of gladioli and carnations banked the altar of Stone Baptist Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Carla Sue Bramlett and Cortez Edward Walker.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William Milton Bramlett of Adams road. The bridegroom is the son of the Cortez Walkers of Clifford road.

Bridesmaid Dorothy Erwin of Auburn Heights was gowned in a mint green ballerina-length gown with flowered headpiece, and she carried a cascade of mint green carnations.

Bud Moore of Birmingham was the best man. Don Evilsizen of Rochester, Gerland Spangler and Bill Sircy of Clawson seated the guests.

Lightweight Lady Does Heavy Job Tugging for Navy

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—One of the happiest workers at Tinker Air Force Base here is Mrs. Reba Fields. She is a tug driver.

A tug, at this sprawling base, is a four-wheel lift used to move heavy equipment and parts around the area.

Mrs. Fields, known as "Little Reba" because of her small stature—five feet—says she finds the work fascinating.

"I just wouldn't have one of those desk jobs," she says. "Secretarial jobs must be terribly boring. I wouldn't do anything else but drive."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Fields says she began driving a tug for the Nvay more than 10 years ago in Utah and hasn't considered any other job since.

Her husband, Joe, is a cement contractor here. Their hobby is square dancing.

Must Hosts Be Included in Invitation?

Would Be Best to Ask Both Couples for First Time

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening while my husband and I were visiting friends of ours, another couple, friends of our hosts but unknown to us, came in. We found that we had a great deal in common with this other couple and liked them very much, and they seemed to like us too.

"Would it be proper to invite this couple to our house some evening without inviting our hosts through whom we met them?"

Answer: There is no impropriety in inviting them alone although it would be more courteous to include your hosts for the first time, particularly if you have not had them recently. Later on if you become friends, it will not be necessary to invite your hosts every time you ask the other couple.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Would you say that it was improper to leave a liqueur set standing on a table in front of my sofa? It is not only a very pretty set but we use it quite often after dinner."

Answer: It would, in my opinion, be much better taste to bring it in only when liquer is to be served.

MR. and MRS. HAROLD S. MORGAN

Sally Ann Martin and Harold S. Morgan exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Martin, and the bridegroom is the son of the Herbert H. Morgans.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Martin of North Saginaw street are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hebert H. Morgan of Flint.

The bride wore a white Chantilly lace gown seeded with pearls and featuring three-quarter-length pointed sleeves. A seed pearl crown held her fingertip veil of nylon tulle in place. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of orchids on a white lace-covered prayerbook.

Ann Hudson of Flint acted as honor attendant. She was gowned in a pale blue lace and tulle frock with matching hat. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations.

Eat Crunchy Foods for Jaw Exercise

Exercise, essential for a controlled figure and healthy look, also helps the teeth and jaw. However, this exercise is done naturally if you eat such foods as apples, celery, carrots and cabbage, whole wheat bread or toast.

It is easy to see why these should be included in the diet aside from their nutritional values.

Telephone Friends Before Paying Visit

In these busy times it is usually best to telephone before calling on friends to make sure that it is convenient.

It is much easier for them to explain then that they have plans for the evening than it is to tell you after you arrive.

Ask for Permission Before Using Name

Before you give a person's name as a reference when you are job-hunting be sure to ask his permission.

You may be sure he would be glad to recommend you, but it is only courteous to ask him.

Press Fetes Front Page Lovelies of 1957

The Fox and Hounds Inn in Bloomfield Hills looked like the Miss America finals as The Pontiac Press entertained 10 lovely young ladies who brightened The Press during the past year as Miss Front Page.

The occasion for the ingathering of Pontiac-area pulchritude was a luncheon party thanking them for lending their smiles and charm to the news of the area and the world.

In the front row were Esther Diem, Miss September; Judy Wilkins, Miss November; Judy Bradley, Miss January, and Judy Bassett, Miss July.

Student Smuggles Pet Into Sorority House

Rabid Dog Endangers Many Coeds

LAKELAND, Fla. (INS) — Southern college officials said today that most of 82 co-eds exposed to a dog found to have rabies on the campus have been contacted while on Christmas vacation across the nation and warned they possibly are in danger.

★ ★ ★

The black and white puppy was the pet of a Hinsdale, Ill., co-ed who smuggled it into her sorority house against the rules of the Lakeland, Fla., college last October.

It is known to have bitten six persons and scratched its owner, Susan Ann Opler, 20, a junior in physical education. All plan to take anti-rabies shots immediately.

WARN 82 CO-EDS

Alarmed officials warned the 82 co-eds and 2,000 other Southern College men and women students who may have come in contact with the dog to guard against contracting rabies.

★ ★ ★

Miss Opler said she smuggled the dog into the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority house.

The 35 members of the sorority were not the only ones to come in contact with the rabid pet, however.

The dog was taken recently to the Beta Sigma Omicron sorority and co-eds there also played with the puppy.

Pledges and guests who visited both sorority houses were among the 82 co-eds believed to have played with the dog.

★ ★ ★

Authorities did not learn until yesterday, four days after the dog died, that it was afflicted with rabies at the time of death.

SEND 2,000 LETTERS

Authorities at Florida Southern also sent letters to each of the more than 2,000 students, both men and women, to protect themselves if they came in contact with the puppy.

★ ★ ★

Members of the second sorority came in contact with the dog when an Alpha Omicron Pi member took it there to let the girls play with it shortly before she took the puppy to her home at nearby Frostproof, Fla., for the holidays.

U.S. Technical Aid Attacked in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Some Labanese deputies were reliably reported today to have complained of what they called miserly American economic technical aid to pro-Western Lebanon.

★ ★ ★

The complaint was raised at a meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Lebanese Parliament. Foreign Minister Charles Malik was said to have told the committee Lebanon can get more U.S. aid but must present well thought out plans for using it.

Army Surveys 650 Security Cases Under New Rules

276 Veterans Get Improved Discharges

WASHINGTON (INS) — Revised Army regulations have triggered new and improved discharges for 276 veterans who were dismissed from the Army since 1948 with security blots on their records.

The Army announced yesterday that 650 security discharges have undergone exhaustive surveys in the light of more liberal "common sense" personnel procedures. Another 76 terminations are still under consideration.

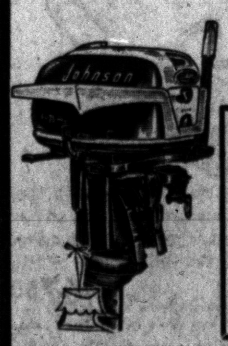

Francis X. Plant, chief Army adviser on personnel security, said the cases were placed under review last March. He said in answer to questions by reporters that as far as he knew the investigation was not prompted by Congressional and public pressure to "right the wrongs" of a previous period of more zealous concern with service subversives.

The new discharges will bring substantial payments to veterans involved. They may also pave the way for affected ex-servicemen to find better jobs — denied them in some cases because of the nature of their discharges.

Orion Community Center Tells Plan on Slides, Tape

ORION TOWNSHIP — The story of the advantages and uses of the proposed Orion Community Center, Inc. will be available on slides and tape recorder to local clubs and organizations shortly after Jan. 1.

The center will have a variety of rooms to meet the needs of youths and adults. The upper level is planned for the auditorium-banquet hall. The kitchen will include a dumb waiter for service throughout the building. Offices, a stage, and a large lounge with fireplace also are to be among the building's features.

The basement will include a room for scouts, general purpose and game rooms.

The thermometer recently erected on E. Flint street to show the progress of the fund drive indicates $24,000 in pledges of money and materials. A pledge for $2,500 recently was approved by members of the Lake Orion Woman's Club.

Materials promised so far include brick by Fred Ruger; glass by the Bens Glass Co.; septic system by Oxford Septic Tank Co. and Charles Mann; insulation for plumbing by John Yassitis, and trees for landscaping by Allen McNeil.

As soon as the pledges are equal to the steel and concrete, bids on the construction will be taken. When this first step is completed — the roof being included in this as it is supported by the steel framework — volunteer labor will be needed to complete the building.

Engaged

BEVERLY ANN HICKS

Mr. and Mrs. James Hicks, 915 W. 11 Mile Rd., Royal Oak, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly Ann, to Norman F. Kent, son of Mrs. M. W. Corbin, Essexville, and Justin F. Kent, Glendale, Calif. The prospective bridegroom is a student at General Motors Institute, Flint. The wedding date has been set for March 22.

ALICE MAE STOVER

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Stover, 2868 N. Grant St., Avon Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice Mae, to Walter H. Wittkopp, son of Mrs. Georgianna Wittkopp of Rochester. The wedding date hasn't been set.

Car Collision Kills 2, Injures 2 at St. Johns

ST. JOHNS (AP)—A two-car collision on a Clinton County road killed two persons and injured two near here last night.

Killed were Hazel Schaefer, 46, of Rte. 1, Laingsburg, and Evelyn Ferrier, 48, of Rte. 5, St. Johns. A passenger with the two women, Inez Foland, 21, of St. Johns, was injured.

Also hurt was the driver of the second car, Lynn Canum, 19, of St. Johns.

Candidates Must File With Romeo Clerk

Petitions Due Monday at 4

ROMEO—Candidates running for village offices in the spring election have until 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 30, to file their petitions in the village clerk's office.

★ ★ ★

Two longtime office-holders will not seek reelection to their present posts. One is Village Treasurer Grace R. McKay, who has held the job for the past 11 years.

Also retiring after nearly six years as councilman is Fred C. Hebert, who says he wants "to give someone new a chance to serve."

Hebert's is one of three vacancies on the council. The other two incumbents, David E. Petibone and Donald Payne, are currently circulating petitions for reelection.

★ ★ ★

Other incumbents serving one-year terms also are circulating petitions to run again. They include Village President Joseph Rymill, Assessor Glenn Levin and Clerk William M. Oming.

★ ★ ★

The two library directors, Edgar A. Priest and C. E. Preston, have likewise indicated their intention to seek reelection to their present posts.

Holly Masons to Install Officers Tonight

HOLLY—New officers of Holly Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, will be installed at 8 o'clock this evening at the Masonic Temple. The ceremony is open to the public.

Other new officers who will be installed are Walter A. Reynolds, senior warden; Winston De-Mode, junior warden; Leo Gaffney, treasurer; Bruce Dryer (PM), secretary; Wilbert Lankin, (retiring master), chaplain; William Sargent, senior deacon; Steve Yobuck, junior deacon; George Swaney, senior steward, and Angus Robinson, junior steward.

Muskegon Farmers Await Rural Contest

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Farmers of the five-county area surrounding Muskegon await a "second Christmas" Dec. 30, date for distribution of $1,500 in prizes at the 18th annual Farm-To-Prosper Roundup.

The contest promotes advancement of rural community life through friendly competition among rural organizations. The contest area embraces Muskegon, Mason, Newaygo, Oceana and Ottawa Counties.

Prizes are provided by area business organizations with contest rules administered by a board of trustees representing agriculture, business, education and the press.

Gov. Williams is scheduled to present awards to the five winning organizations from each county at the day-long roundup in Muskegon's central campus auditorium.

Rooms Hotels' Big Item

NEW YORK — It is estimated that room income makes up about 47 per cent of the total revenues of American hotels. Food sales account for 31 per cent of the hotels' income and beverage sales 12 per cent.

The island of Tobago in the West Indies was uninhabited when Columbus discovered it in 1498. Today it has a population of 37,000.

BARBARA JARVIS

INSTALLATION SET — Clarkston Bethel 25, International Order of Job's Daughters, will hold a public installation of officers at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Clarkston High School Auditorium. Among those to be installed is Barbara Jarvis, honor queen-elect.

Adult Lip Reading Class to Start at Metamora

METAMORA — An adult lip-reading class for hard of hearing persons will begin Jan. 15 at Lapeer High School. Six adults have enrolled to date. Four more are needed to make up a class.

Mrs. Robert Schrader, a former faculty member at the Michigan School for the Deaf, will teach the class. Tuition is $4 for a series of eight lessons, which are taught each Wednesday evening.

Capital Airlines Opposes Plans

Officials Protest Move to Replace Service to 3 Cities of State

An official of Capital Airlines said it will oppose a recommendation of the Bureau of Air Operations that it be replaced in three northern Michigan cities by North Central Airlines.

The bureau's recommendation, made before the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), would connect the three cities — Cheboygan, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City — with Pontiac, Port Huron, Benton Harbor and Alpena.

"We want to stay in the Michigan cities," said Roy Gillix, Capital's director of regulatory planning.

He said Capital would want to halt its service from the three cities only if a local line, such as North Central, were given duplicate routes.

The bureau made the recommendation to replace larger trunk line routes, such as Capital, with shorter "feeder" lines.

Homer D. Hoskins, Pontiac Municipal Airport manager, declared last week that the bureau recommendation, although the CAB does not necessarily have to adopt it, was further indication the local field was edging closer to winning approval for its request for commercial airline service.

Selfridge Officer to Speak at Utica Scout Banquet

The banquet, to begin at 6:45 p.m. in the Utica Methodist Church, will be followed by election of officers, selection of a lodge patch for uniforms and discussion of program plans for 1958.

The Order of the Arrow is a national society of honor campers and Scout leaders. The lodge is affiliated with the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council.

James Card of Pontiac, banquet chairman, will conduct the program in the absence of Lodge Chief Paul Heil of Milford, who is attending the organization's national planning conference at the University of Kansas.

Capt. Shumate, who lives in Utica, has served in Germany and Korea. He has been awarded the Purple Heart and the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters.

Combined Choirs to Sing

OXFORD — The combined choir of the Thomas and Oxford Methodist Churches will present a Christmas cantata, "Chimes of the Holy Night," by Holton, at 8 p.m. Sunday. Mrs. Lyle Bartlett of Vicksburg, former choir director, will be one of the soloists. Others are David Rogers and David Morrow. Director of the choir is Mrs. Cecil Morrow and organist Mrs. Elva Willows.

Lapeer Woman Married to St. Clair Shores Man

LAPEER—Beverly Jane Wheeker of 1226 W. Park St., became the bride of Harold M. Leffler of St. Clair Shores Sunday in a ceremony at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Pontiac. Elder John Erhard of Lapeer performed the rite before the 200 guests.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin featuring a neckline outlined in appliqued lace and a full skirt. Her fingertip tulle veil was held by a crown of lace and small pearls and she carried a bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums centered by a white orchid.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Arthur Weaver of Pontiac, was matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Richard Winslow of Attica served as attendant along with Mrs. George Wheeker of Attica and Miss Edna Beckowis of Hinsdale, Ill.

The best man was Richard Leffler of East Lansing. Seating the guests were Dr. Arthur Weaver of Pontiac, Sherman Peterson of Kansas City and George Royce of Albion.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Lillian Wheeker of 5431 Van Dyke, Almont, attended Emmanual Missionary College.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Emil Leffler, of 711 Michigan Ave., Albion. Dr. Leffler is the dean of Albion college.

The bridegroom also attended Emmanual Missionary College, and Michigan State University.

After their honeymoon, the couple will live at 32215 Joy Ave., St. Clair Shores.

PREPARE TO RING IN '58 — The biggest event in Gingellville on New Year's Eve is the annual dance at the Community Center. Open to the public, dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Proceeds will go into the Center's general fund. Working on decorations are from left, Karin Church, Connie Wright, Beatrice Knickerbocker, and Michael Furney, general chairman.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANTS

QUESTION: Why have ants been compared with Communists?

ANSWER: You know of course what an ant looks like, but did you know there are about 200 varieties of these insects in the United States alone?

There are big ones, small ones, red ones and black ones. And in their communal life there is just as great variety as in their appearance. Some ants eat other insects. Some grow their own vegetables. Some keep other ants as slaves.

Ant colonies have been said to resemble Fascist or Communist groups. At best, any such resemblance is superficial. But, like ideal Fascists or Communists, ants work hard for the good of the group as a whole, and sacrifice themselves if need be. They follow blindly some leader or group instinct which is hard to identify. And they pay obvious homage to one all-important individual—in their case the queen who does the egg laying for a whole colony.

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a note, when warm weather comes, to find an ant hill in yard or park and spend some time watching these creatures. Their comings, goings, food hunts and fights are fascinating.

(Fern Stevens of Fort Collins, Colo., wins $10 for this suggestion. Mail a postcard with yours to Violet Moore Higgins in care of this paper. Tomorrow: Why did Joshua pray for the sun to stand still?)

Gypsies Plan Restaurant on Budapest Main Street

BUDAPEST (AP)—On Budapest's Andrassy Street Gypsies will open a first-rate restaurant next spring.

Gypsy girls will serve traditional dishes prepared by Gypsy cooks. A Gypsy band will play.

The restaurant is the first achievement of the recently formed Association of Hungarian Gypsies, believed to be the first organization this race of nomads ever had.

Officially, the purpose of this government-sponsored project is to foster the interests of 200,000 Hungarian Gypsies. But non-Communist Hungarians describe it as a Communist device to get better control of a people known for their freedom of movement.

"For hundreds of years we were always treated as outcasts and became thus the homeless wanderers on almost all of the world's roads," she said. She expressed hope that now perhaps her people may be treated socially as equals.

Japanese Sentence Airman and Marine

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—Yokohama District Court today sentenced a U.S. Navy enlisted airman and a Marine private, both from Chicago, to 3½ years imprisonment each for assaulting a Japanese taxi driver. The court said they also took his cab.

The servicemen were identified as Nick W. Maintanis, 22, and Pvt. David G. Morrow, 20.

No decision on an appeal has been made. Judge Sakuho Yoshida said the two men were under the influence of alcohol when they attacked the taxi driver Dec. 18, 1956.

'America in 1957—Fat, Happy, Half Asleep'

Democracy Demands Sacrifice

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fat, happy and half asleep

That's the essential picture of America in 1957 which emerged from the testimony of witness after witness before the Senate committee investigating why this country fell behind Russia in the military weapons of the future.

So 1958 will be a kind of gymnasium for us to get back in shape.

How to do it—how to drive a democracy into outstripping a dictatorship by some sacrifices without relinquishing some liberties—is the problem facing Congress next year.

This year we went in for bigger cars that burned more gas that cost more money. We bought fancier homes and appliances and better clothes. We put more money in the bank. We longed for a tax cut. We were well fed and content.

We slowed down missile-making to save on overtime. We went less than all-out on satellites and missiles, forgetting the effect the Russians' missiles and Sputniks would have on the rest of the world if they got their earth-circlers aloft first.

The Kremlin could do as it pleased. It could, as it did in the past, sacrifice generations to win the future. It could tell the Russian people what they could and couldn't have.

It isn't the first time something like this happened to us. It happened in the 1930s—although we were struggling out of a depression then—when Hitler was arming and frankly threatening to take over the world.

We sat by then, unarmed and unarming, hiding behind the mirage of isolation, hoping that if we didn't look he might go away. We were lucky then. On our side we had time and distance.

When he did strike we had—between us and him—an Atlantic Ocean and friends in Europe who took his blows to give us time to come to our senses and build up enough strength to strangle him.

But our isolation is gone. Russian missiles soon should be able to span the ocean in minutes. If the new kind of war comes we'll either be ready or have to be ready to die. We don't know now how much time we have to get ready.

When a democracy like this one gets into crises—as has happened in past wars—we as a people voluntarily vote away some liberties and freedoms in order to get them back by overcoming the crises.

If the cold war with Russia lasts long enough, and becomes intense enough, it's possible we may feel it necessary to sacrifice some liberties even before a shot is fired.

It is even possible, in the struggle for survival against dictatorship, that we might vote ourselves into a dictatorship, although there's no sign now that such a drastic step will be necessary.

It's the task of Congress to see that doesn't become necessary by devising ways, within a still functioning and free society, to match the concentrated power of a dictatorship by the voluntary efforts of democratic people.

This next year will be a memorable, perhaps a decisive one in American history, although its final achievements, or failures, may not show up for years.

Soviet Chief Gives Key Jobs to Top 5

In recent days, five top party leaders have been given important new jobs or relieved of minor duties so they can concentrate on major assignments. All appear to be staunch Khrushchev supporters.

The latest changes, announced yesterday, involved Nikolai I. Belyayev and Alexei I. Kirichenko, both new members of the all-powerful party presidium.

Belyayev, top Soviet agricultural expert, was named first secretary of the party in Kazakhstan, the central Asian republic which has a key role in Khrushchev's plan to grow grain in virgin land.

Milford Haven Denies Rumors He'll Marry Eva

LONDON (INS)—The Marquis of Milford Haven has denied rumors he will marry actress Eva Bartok, but he refused to comment further on reports that he is romantically interested in the stunning Hungarian.

Milford Haven, best man at the wedding ten years ago of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip but no longer a member of the royal circle, spent Christmas with Eva, her mother and Eva's 11-weeks-old daughter at the actress' Kingston Surrey cottage.

Asked last night by London newsmen if he might marry Eva, Milford Haven said, "These rumors are all made up. I'm saying nothing." And he didn't.

Congress Faces Political Hazards

Sees Costs Rise, No Cut in Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, returning to work Jan. 7, faces some of the most politically distasteful tasks ever to confront an election-year session.

The prospect is for sharply increased defense spending in the light of Russia's military-scientific advances. This has virtually washed out any chance of general tax reductions.

Furthermore, increased defense demands probably will force Congress to boost the 275-billion-dollar ceiling on the national debt.

These prospects are enough to give the jitters to senators and representatives facing re-election battles next year. The voters will elect all 435 House members and 32 senators next November.

There probably will be some tax "adjustments," but not enough to have widespread voter appeal.

Secretary of Defense McElroy said last Friday his department will seek another billion dollars "for missiles and other things" for the current fiscal year, which will end next June 30.

Defense spending now is at the rate of about 38½ billion dollars a year and officials have talked about raising this by about two billions in the next fiscal year.

The administration is reported considering proposing a multimillion dollar aid to education program, with emphasis on science and mathematics.

While direct taxes as such aren't likely to be increased, there is a strong likelihood that Congress will vote to broaden Social Security coverage and boost Social Security taxes.

Speed Ace Hanks Smashes Auto in LA Traffic

Hanks told traffic officers his car crashed into the one in front of him when the driver stopped suddenly to avoid hitting another auto pulling away from the curb.

He added:

"Driving around here is more dangerous than it is on the Indianapolis Speedway!"

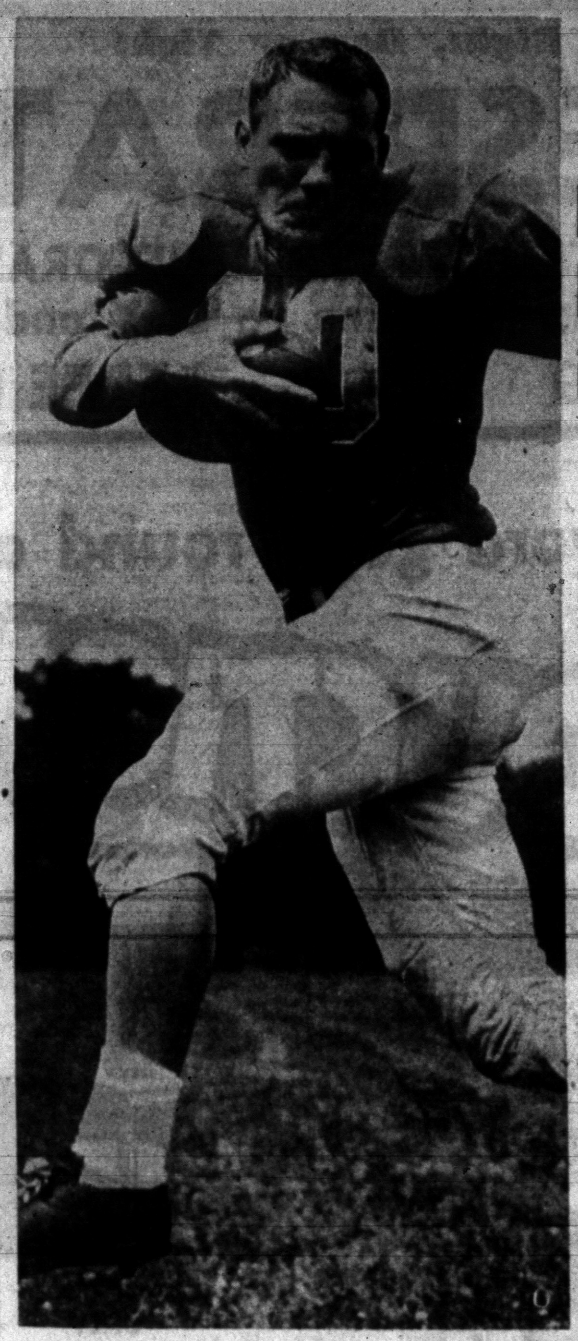

Giardello to Fight Jones in TV Bout

Giardello, one of the top contenders in the 160-pound division, hopes to be the next challenger for champion Carmen Basilio in the event that former title holder Ray Robinson decides not to fight Basilio.

KEY FOR LIONS — Hopalong Cassady, who once knew nothing about the Detroit Lions' pass patterns, has now become one of the main targets for the team's aerial attack. He could be the big key in Sunday's championship game against the Cleveland Browns.

Brown Has Lions Guessing About QB

Hoppy Cassady Key for Lions in Title Game

Ex-Buckeye Ace May Be Major Target for Tobin Rote

DETROIT (AP) — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady caught one—and only one—pass when he made All America halfback with the ground-minded Ohio State Buckeyes in 1955.

"I didn't even know what a pass pattern was when I was at Ohio State," said the red-haired Cassady.

But today, a flanking halfback with the Detroit Lions, Cassady is the No. 2 pass receiver on a team that likes to throw because it has two such accomplished passers as Bobby Layne and Tobin Rote.

In 12 regular season games and one playoff game he caught 28 passes for 362 yards. Three times his pass-catching brought a touchdown.

The only man above Cassady in the Lions' pass receiving list is Jim Doran, a seven-year veteran from Iowa State who brought in 33 passes in the regular season for 624 yards and five touchdowns.

Cassady is a little man (5 feet 10 and 180 pounds) by professional football standards and by the usual yardsticks for measuring pass receivers. But his ability to grab a pass is a cinch to be one of the Lions' key offensive threats when they go against the Cleveland Browns here Sunday for the National Football League championship.

This time out, as in the last two games, he will have only Rote as a front-running quarterback to aim the ball at him. Layne suffered a broken ankle against this same Cleveland team in the Lions' 20-7 victory three weeks ago.

When the subject of Cassady's new-found long suit, pass receiving, came up in the Lions' dressing room after a practice session this week, he unconsciously looked for the form of assistant coach Bob Nussbaumer.

"That's the guy," Cassady nodded. "He did it."

Nussbaumer, a former University of Michigan football star who logged professional playing time with the Green Bay Packers, Washington Redskins and Chicago Cardinals before joining the Lions' staff in 1954, took the job early this year of making Cassady act like an end.

None of the famous Cassady running talent has evaporated while he worked on being a pass receiver. He has carried 73 times—second only to fullback John Henry Johnson's 129 carries — for 250 yards and three touchdowns.

Cleveland Has O'Connell-Plum to Call Signals

Browns' Coach Wages Psychological Game as to Starter

CLEVELAND (INS) — Coach Paul Brown, who is leading the Cleveland Browns into their seventh National Football League title game in eight years, is waging a little psychological warfare with the Detroit Lions.

Brown, who leaves very little to chance himself, is keeping the Lions guessing as to who will start at quarterback for the Eastern Division champions when they meet the Lions at Briggs Stadium in Detroit Sunday.

The veteran Cleveland coach is fortunate that he has two quarterbacks — Tom O'Connell, who would up the regular season as the National League's most effective passer, and Milt Plum, the Penn State rookie who did an outstanding job as a fill-in for O'Connell when the latter was injured late in the season.

In most cases, it wouldn't matter to a team plotting a defense as to which quarterback an opposing club might use.

But in the case of the Browns and the Lions, the offense might vary greatly, depending upon which of the two signal-callers gets the starting assignment.

O'Connell hasn't played since the middle of the third from the last game of the regular season when he suffered a severe ankle sprain. Plum served as his replacement and did a more than adequate job.

Plum proved himself quite a runner in the final two games of the season and, with him as a starter, the Lions would have to defend against possible running situations involving the quarterback.

"TOE" READY — Lou Groza, "The Toe," of the Cleveland Browns, gets his shoe ready for his 11th championship game in 12 years with the club Sunday against Detroit. He is the only remaining member of the original team which won four straight All-America titles before getting in the National Football League in 1950.

Yardley Hits 48 to Top NBA, Pace Piston Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP)—George Yardley recaptured the scoring lead in the National Basketball Assn. with a 48-point outburst that pulled the Detroit Pistons to a 110-106 victory over the St. Louis Hawks last night.

Yardley canned 31 points in the second half—18 of them in the last 12 minutes—in posting a Detroit scoring record and a new personal high. He leads the NBA race with a total of 826.

The balding former Stanford University star sank four free throws at the start of the fourth quarter. Three times in the final period he came through to break a deadlock.

Hawks star Bob Pettit, Yardley's chief rival in the scoring race, injured an arm in the second period and was yanked from the game. He was hurt trying for a rebound under the Detroit basket and his left hand was limp as he made two free throws in the three chances he was awarded on a foul called on the play.

Pettit, with 18 points before he was pulled, boosted his 30-game record to 811 points.

The victory snapped St. Louis' string of consecutive victories at eight and gained Detroit a tie with Cincinnati for second place in the Western Division — 8½ games behind the pace-setting Hawks.

In other games, the Boston Celtics beat the New York Knicks 120-110 and Syracuse came on with a rush to top the Cincinnati Royals in the first part of a St. Louis twin-bill, 104-100.

The Royals blew a big third quarter lead as Dolph Schayes, Ed Conlin and John Kerr took charge. Schayes and Kerr scored 12 points between them as the Nats tied it 74-74 and then pulled away after an 81-81 tie.

Kerr had 26 points, Schayes 22 and Conlin 18, while Clyde Lovellette led Cincinnati with 32.

Bill Sharman, who has taken over the scoring duties for the Celtics, had 44 points as the Knicks never got closer than 10 points. Boston had a 65-43 halftime lead, aided also by Bill Russell's 15 rebounds and stellar defensive play.

Tom Heinsohn had 29 points for the Celts, while Richie Guerin topped New York with 22 and Ken Sears had 21.

Pilous to Coach Chicago Hawks

Takes Over New Post January 2 to Replace Tommy Ivan

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP) — Rudy Pilous, coach and general manager of St. Catharine's Teepees in the Ontario Hockey Assn. for the last eight years, today was named coach of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

The announcement today followed a week of negotiations among Pilous, Black Hawks owner James D. Norris and general manager Tommy Ivan. Contract terms were not disclosed.

Pilous will assume his new duties Jan. 2 and will make his first appearance with the Hawks when they meet Toronto in Toronto Jan. 4.

Ivan has been coaching the Black Hawks as well as handling the manager's duties.

IN NEWS — Don Newcombe, Los Angeles Dodger pitcher, appeared at police headquarters in Newark, N.J., to answer to a complaint of a customer who said he was roughed up in Newcombe's tavern in Newark.

In Saturday's East-West Game

Air-Ground Duel Expected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A duel between air and ground power shaped up today for tomorrow's 33rd annual Shrine Charity East-West football game in Kezar Stadium.

Coach Jack Curtice of the West named Jackie Douglas, the 178-pounder from Stanford, as his starting quarterback emphasizing the plan will be to attack the favored East through the air.

The two West victories in the last six games were engineered by aerial minded quarterbacks from Stanford, Bobby Garrett in 1954 and John Brodie last year.

With Douglas in the backfield will be Jim Shofner of Texas Christian and Stu Vaughan of Utah at the halves and Gerry Nesbitt of Arkansas at fullback. Vaughan, a flanker back, was the nation's leading collegiate pass catcher this past season with 756 yards and five touchdowns on his 53 catches.

At the ends for the West are a couple of big fellows, Farrell Funston at 6-2 and 210 pounds from College of the Pacific and Willard Dewveall, 6-4 and 215, from SMU.

"We won't try to go through that big East line," says Curtice, whose Utah team had the best passing record in the nation, "So we'll have to go around and over it."

Both teams will use a T formation but while the wide attack of the West is set for passing, the East will run from a wing T and seems to be banking on running. The kickoff for this game being televised nationally by NBC is scheduled for 5 p.m. EST.

★ ★ ★

West Virginia's Mickey Trimarki drew the starting quarterback assignment with powerful runners Jim Pace of Michigan, Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State and Emil Capara of Penn State rounding out the backfield. Pace, All America and the Big Ten's most valuable player, averaged 5.4 yards per carry during the season and Kowalczyk equalled that mark.

The strategy would seem to have Trimarki pass to open defenses for his running compatriots.

"We're trying for a balanced attack," declared the East's Coach, Rip Engle of Penn State. Trimarki comes unheralded as a thrower but has been hitting his targets in practice.

★ ★ ★

Named to the West's line, in addition to Funston and Dewveall were tackles Jerry Cornelison, SMU, and Dave Jesmer, Oregon State; guards Jerry Kramer, Idaho, and Clyde Letbetter, Baylor; and center Larry Cowart of Baylor.

Gator Bowl Tomorrow

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Coaches Paul (Bear) Bryant of Texas A&M and Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee pronounced their teams fit and ready today on the eve of their Gator Bowl football game.

Both coaches scheduled light, final workouts in Gator Bowl stadium this afternoon to give their players the feel of the bright green turf which will be their battleground.

Partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the 60s are forecast for the kickoff at 2 p.m. (EST). The game, expected to draw a sellout crowd of 42,000 will be telecast and broadcast nationally by CBS tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The Aggies and the Vols both leaned heavily on stingy defenses to win bids to this 13th postseason show and their preparations for it point to a low scoring game.

A&M rated No. 9 and Tennessee No. 13 in the final Associated Press poll.

Bryant, whose A&M squad arrived yesterday for final tuneups, said he had exposed his players to a lot of Tennessee's single wing offense since signing for the match.

"I don't know if we've worked up a defense to stop the Vols," he added with a grin, "but my boys sure know what the single wing looks like now."

Wyatt gave his first two units a long drill yesterday against the split-T which All America halfback John Crow and his Aggie teammates used to compile an 8-2 won-lost record.

"The trouble is," said Wyatt, "We can't afford to concentrate too much on Crow. If we do, some of those other backs are liable to get loose."

Colorado Edges Tech

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — All-America center Bill Hay's hat trick and an overtime goal by Doug Bassarab led Colorado College past Michigan Tech last night, 5-4, in the Tigers third Western Intercollegiate Hockey League victory of the season.

Bassarab slapped the game-winning goal into the nets at 5:48 of the 10-minute sudden death overtime after the Huskies rallied from a 3-0 deficit to tie the score at 4-4 at the end of the regulation play.

Overnighters in Blankets

Fans Wait in Long Lines

DETROIT (AP)—Block-long lines of fans huddled in blankets through 25-degree overnight weather to get first crack today at the final 13,600 tickets to the National Football League championship game between Detroit and Cleveland at Briggs Stadium Sunday.

Lt. Edward Zigler said lines started to form yesterday evening and kept piling up through the night. A turnout of from 3,000 to 4,000 turned out for the 9 a. m. box office opening. There were 150 waiting at midnight last night.

Many of the overnighters brought stools and flasks of assorted warming beverages. The crowd was noisy but orderly, Zigler said.

Box-office treasurer Maurice Schubot said 99 per cent of the 39,844 season ticketholders had picked up their allotment before the final tickets went on sale. The box office handled a gross sale of more than $301,000 in the four days since the sale started, he said.

CHECKS OUT—Frank Leahy, ex-Notre Dame coach who is in line for the Texas A&M job, checks out of a Chicago hospital where he stayed over Christmas with a broken ankle. He will return for a stomach checkup today.

Rugged Drills for Opponents in Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mississippi and Texas worked today to add the final polish that could make the difference in their Sugar Bowl football New Year's day.

Texas flew to the Mississippi gulf coast yesterday and coach Darrell Royal planned two-a-day workouts the rest of the week at Biloxi, Miss.

Royal told newsmen at a press conference he thought the two teams compared favorably.

"Their backfield has the edge in speed and is a bit niftier than ours," he said, "but while the Rebs have that edge, I believe our backs are a bit stronger and are better tacklers.

Wings to Host Bruins Sunday

Detroit Has Revenge in Mind for Boston Visitors

The Detroit Red Wings will play the first of two home games in three days Sunday, December 29, when they face the Boston Bruins at Olympia Stadium.

Sunday's clash will be the eighth of the season between last year's first round playoff opponents and will be their fourth meeting on Detroit ice.

Thus far this season the Bruins have enjoyed a wide superiority in the series in both victories and goal scoring, winning all four games in Boston and gaining one victory in three visits to Olympia.

Boston thus shows five victories to two and has been the highest scoring team to face the Wings this season, having out goaled them 29 to 13.

Boston scoring supremacy has come on their own ice, where they have rolled up 19 goals to five for the Redshirts in scoring 4-0, 4-1 and 4-2 triumphs, as well as a 7-2 conquest, which marked the highest single night output against the Wings this season.

Australia Wins Third Straight Davis Cup

Doubles Sweep Clinches Title for Aussies

Seixas - MacKay Team Lose in 70 Minutes to Rose-Anderson

MELBOURNE (AP) — Mervyn Rose a lefthanded one-time tennis outcast, and Malcolm Anderson clinched the Davis Cup for Australia in just 70 minutes today by crushing a makeshift U.S. doubles team of Vic Seixas and Barry MacKay, 6-4, 6-4, 8-6.

The doubles victory gave the Australians a 3-0 lead in the Challenge round for amateur tennis' most coveted prize and makes tomorrow's final two singles matches more formalities as far as the final result is concerned.

So for the third straight year, and seventh in the past eight years, the Davis Cup remains here Down Under in this tennis-mad country. The last U.S. victory was in 1954 when Seixas and Tony Trabert teamed to win it. Before that, you have to go all the way back to 1949 when Ted Schroeder and Pancho Gonzales won the singles.

Although Gardnar Mulloy never did get on the court this year, he played a large part in a long gamble that U.S. Capt. Billy Talbert took. Originally, the 44-year-old Mulloy was scheduled to team with Seixas in the doubles. But he looked bad in the semifinals against Belgium.

With his back to the wall, Talbert replaced Mulloy with MacKay, the 22-year-old Dayton, Ohio youth, who created such a fine impression in his losing effort to Anderson in the opening singles match.

It proved to be a bad gamble. The Aussies concentrated their fire on the National Intercollegiate champion from the University of Michigan and he suffered a case of the jitters. He was tense and it affected his volleying and big service.

By BILL CORNWELL

Southfield, Farmington and Livonia Bentley won squeakers and Redford Union waltzed to victory in the opening games of the Northwest Suburban Christmas Invitational basketball tournament Thursday at Farmington.

Walled Lake and Southfield, Inter-Lakes Conference rivals, fought tooth and nail until the final seconds when the Jays bagged a hard-earned 57-54 triumph for their 2nd win of the season.

Bentley withstood a furious 4th quarter assault by East Detroit to eke out a 64-62 victory in yesterday's battle of tourney co-favorites. Union was never in danger during a 51-23 rout of winless Detroit Thurston.

Thurston and Walled Lake square off tonight at 7 o'clock, followed by an 8:30 clash between Southfield and Union. Farmington met Bentley at 2 o'clock and East Detroit hooked up with Hazel Park at 3:30 this afternoon.

Walled Lake battled back from a 33-26 deficit at halftime to take a 41-40 lead midway through the 3rd quarter. Southfield regained the advantage, 46-45, entering the 4th period.

Walled Lake's Bill Hosley, the outstanding player on the floor, took game scoring honors with 19 points. Tom Ridley was tops for the Jays with 17.

Forty-five personal fouls were called, 26 against Southfield, and three players exited with five personals, two of them Jays. The Vikings cashed in 22 times at the foul stripe while Southfield sank 17.

A layup shot by Al LeSage as the final buzzer sounded enabled Farmington to topple Hazel Park. With the score tied at 51-51 and only 15 seconds left, the Parkers missed a free throw and the Falcons grabbed the rebound to set the stage for LeSage's winning effort.

Dave Catherman paced the Farmington attack with 18 points while Larry Clyma and Len Nowicki each made 14 for the Parkers.

League Standings Follow Forecasts

There's still plenty of time for the picture to change, but a glance at the standings of Oakland County area prep basketball leagues make the pre-season crystal ball gazers look like a bunch of experts.

Now that the holiday lull is here, you can relax in your easy chair, take an unhurried peek through the standings and discover that, by and large, the anticipated league powers are running true to form.

What will happen after vacation days are over is anybody's guess. But right at this moment most of the favorites are living up to advance notices.

The situation is a trifle surprising in the Oakland B League, what with Troy and Avondale riding at the top of the heap and pre-season favorites Lake Orion and Fitzgerald currently settling for 2nd best.

But only one game separates the Dragons and Fitzgerald from Troy and the Jackets and it's still a wide-open race to the throne room.

Pontiac was not expected to be running 2nd in the Saginaw Valley Conference race, but an underrated Flint Central team and Saginaw are presently tied for the top and the favored Chiefs are playing 2nd fiddle, along with Flint Northern.

The only other area league running slightly off form is the Wayne - Oakland Conference where Clarkston and Holly are knotted for 1st place with 3-0 records.

Clarkston, co-champ with Northville last season, was expected to make a strong bid for the crown, but the Wolves have been even more impressive than figured. However, they have yet to meet either Northville, Holly or Brighton and they have two games scheduled with each one.

So far the experts are safe on the Eastern Michigan League situation since no loop games have been played to date. East Detroit, the defending champion, is picked to repeat with Ferndale offering the stiffest challenge.

Berkley stands at the head of the class in the Inter-Lakes Conference, unbeaten Almont is dominating the Southern Thumb scene, Imlay City is riding herd on the South Central circuit and St. Benedict of Highland Park is the pride of the Suburban Catholic division.

Wanted to Keep Going
Mulloy Cries at News of Missing Net Finals

MELBOURNE (AP) — "I cried. I probably acted like a baby, but I couldn't help it. I cried."

That was 44-year-old Gardnar Mulloy's reaction when he found out that he wasn't going to play doubles for the U.S. in the Davis Cup challenge round against Australia today.

"I had looked forward to this opportunity so long," the Miami, Fla. veteran said. "I wanted to be the oldest man ever to play in a challenge round. And I wanted this chance to win another match for my country."

Although he is 44 and has been playing tennis longer than most of the current Davis Cup players, Mulloy doesn't look his age. His hair is gray, but it is crew cut, and he stands as straight as a ramrod.

Mulloy was passed over because he was a disappointment in the doubles against Belgium in the semi-finals.

Tummy Holds the Answer

Leahy Goes to Aggies if Checkup Proves OK

CHICAGO (AP)—All that stands between Frank Leahy and the Texas A&M football job is his stomach.

If doctors think his stomach can withstand the strain of returning to coaching, the 49-year-old Leahy said he will announce acceptance of the Texas A&M job as football coach and athletic director Saturday.

Since he retired he has been treated for a stomach disorder unrelated to pancreatitis.

He arrived at the hospital from his Long Beach, Ind., home last night wearing pajamas and an overcoat. Bob McBride, who will be Leahy's assistant at Texas A&M, helped the coach to his bed. Leahy is on crutches. He broke his ankle in a fall while carrying an armload of presents Christmas Eve.

Leahy revealed that present plans call for McBride to become head football coach at Texas A&M after three years. Leahy then would devote full time to the athletic directorship.

McBride, 34, played for Leahy at Notre Dame and served as his assistant there from 1949-1953. When Leahy retired, McBride left with him. In the last fouryears, McBride has been a contact man for a steel company.

"I was never so sincere about anything in my life when I said I would never coach again after leaving Notre Dame," Leahy said in an interview. "But I have missed football and the joy of being a teacher.

"There is more to life than making money. You must give yourself something. The thrill of coaching, being with young men, is something I failed to appreciate fully until I no longer had it.

"The increasing urge to return to coaching, and the desire to lead a normal family life—at least as normal as a coach and athletic director can lead — were prime factors. I thought I would be with my family more when I entered business. But I've been away from home much, much more than when I was coaching."

Motor City Cage Meet Starts Tonight

U. of D. in Role of Favorite for Annual Classic

Georgia Tech 5 Faces Marquette in Opener; Titans Face Columbia

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Basketball teams in the Motor City Classic have learned to fear one thing, that is to be picked as favorite of the annual tournament which will start tonight at the U. of D. Memorial building.

Since the inception of the tournament six years ago, the pre-tourney favorite has yet to win the title.

In the first classic in 1952, NIT power Duquesne was favored, but the Dukes were bumped by Wayne University, 71-59 in the finals.

The following year, favored Toledo fell to U. of D., 74-67, and in 1954 it was Pontiac's Guy Sparrow which led Detroit to an easy 83-57 victory over Wayne for the championship. The pre-tourney favorite, Penn State was eliminated by Wayne in the first round.

Even though U. of D. has won the title three times, the Titans have never been installed as favorites until this year.

Representatives from the East, the Columbia Lions; from the Southeast, the Georgia Tech Engineers and from the Midwest, the Marquette Warriors along with Detroit are the entries for tonight's opening round.

In the first game at 7:30 p.m., Marquette and Georgia Tech will clash, and in the second game, Columbia will tangle with U. of D.

The Titans have been marked the favorites on the basis of their 5-2 record, including wins over Louisville, Fordham, Canisius and St. Francis. Columbia coached by youthful Lou Rossini, had an 18-6 record last year with all-America Chet Forte leading the Lions.

The Columbia - Detroit game should feature a scoring duel between Detroit's classy guard Mike Walsh and Columbia's 6-5 forward Bill Milkey. Walsh has a 20-point average and Milkey 17 points per game.

In the opener, Georgia Tech, with a balanced scoring attack which has five players averaging in double figures, will be the underdog to Marquette, even though the Warriors have won only two games in seven outings.

Marquette has played the toughest schedule of the tourney teams, having lost to such powers as Kansas with Wilt the Stilt, Illinois, Louisville and Missouri. The victories came against Notre Dame and Nebraska.

The Engineers and Marquette will have the two tallest teams in the tourney. The Warriors, with center 6-8 Mike Moran, and 6-5 forwards, John Glaser and Gene Supplesa will average 6-3 for the starting lineup.

Georgia Tech has 6-8 center Jim Riley, Jim Johnson and Frank Inman both 6-6 as its big boys.

Air Battle for Blue-Gray Tilt

★ ★ ★

The Northern line outweighs his Rebel group but the South has the edge in back speed and passing, Coach Andy Pilney commented today. The Gray attack will be mostly passing, he continued, although halfbacks Jimmy Orr of Georgia and Phil King of Vanderbilt, two capable runners, will greatly assist the offensive efforts.

★ ★ ★

"Our problem will be to stop the Blue on the ground," Pilney said.

The North line averages 211 pounds and the South 207.

Yankee Coach Murray Warmath also said he expected a lot of aerial action.

Bullets and Eastern Gain Hoop Finals

The Webster Bullets nipped LeBaron 16-14 in overtime while the Eastern Indians walloped the Webster Bears 48-0, 26 of the total scored by Gary Hayward and Leroy Linwood.

The Bullets later returned to the court to defeat the Baldwin Fireballs in a 2nd round contest, 24-12, to gain the prep finals against Eastern today.

Boys' Club and the Pontiac Kids will meet for junior honors. The BC five walloped Drayton Presbyterian 54-4 yesterday paced by Rick Fisher's 23 points. The Kids drubbed the Li'l Chiefs 38-7 as Roy Couser hooped 14.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS

Eight More Start Today

Tournament List at 13

NEW YORK (INS)—The college basketball scene, already crowded with five major tournaments, gets eight more today, but any new All-American aspirants will have to hurry to catch such early birds as Wilt Chamberlain and Elgin Baylor.

With the graduation of Lennie Rosenbluth, Grady Wallace and Jim Krebs, the only members of the 1956-57 All-American team still in action are Chamberlain and Baylor.

They showed last night that they aim to stay on the first team. The opening of the tournament binge also indicated that Temple's Guy Rodgers, Hub Reed of Oklahoma City and Boo Ellis of Niagara will be strong candidates for top honors. Rodgers was on the second team last season, while Reed and Ellis received honorable mention.

Upsets were a rarity last night. In the opening round of the Big Eight tourney at Kansas City, Kansas whipped Oklahoma, 68 to 50, as Chamberlain scored 41 points and Iowa State demolished Colorado, 81 to 43.

In New York's Holiday Festival, Baylor pumped in 34 to lead Seattle to a 87-to-83 win over Connecticut; Rodgers master-minded Temple to a 76-to-61 triumph over Pitt; Dayton topped Manhattan, 59 to 51; and California blasted N.Y.U., 96 to 65.

All the outlanders were eliminated in the Dixie classic at Raleigh with the Atlantic Coast Conference entries winning all four games. North Carolina got back on the winning track against St. Louis, 63 to 48; North Carolina State downed Northwestern, 71 to 68; Wake Forest beat Duquesne, 64 to 54; and Duke rallied to down Seton Hall, 69 to 62.

In the all-college tourney at Oklahoma City, Ellis scored 38 points and hauled in 28 rebounds to help Niagara to a 77-to-74 overtime win against Western Kentucky; Reed's 24 points gave Oklahoma City a 85-to-54 triumph over Tulane; San Francisco battered Denver, 65 to 48; and Tulsa upended Idaho State, 64 to 54.

In the Southwest Tourney at Houston, Texas Tech nipped Southern Methodist, 72 to 70, in overtime; Texas Christian beat Texas A&M, 65 to 54; Arkansas throttled Texas, 84 to 67; and Rice whipped Baylor 62 to 52.

The new major entires in the tournament derby tonight are the far west classic at Corvallis, Ore.; the motor city classic at Detroit; the Richmond invitational; the Holy Cross invitational at Worcester, Mass.; the Hoosier classic at Indianapolis; the New Mexico invitational at Albuquerque; the Evansville tourney at Evansville, Ind.; and the St. Michael's invitational at Burlington, Vt.

New Honor for Champ

Basilio 'Fighter of Year'

NEW YORK (AP) — Carmen Basilio, the world middleweight boxing champion, has been named winner of Ring Magazine's Award of Merit as "fighter of the year" for 1957.

Basilio previously had been voted the Eddie Neil Memorial Trophy as "fight of the year" by the Boxing Writers Assn.

The determined fighter from Chittenango, N.Y. defended his welterweight crown against Johnny Saxton in February and then moved up to dethrone Sugar Ray Robinson in September.

A survey of 1957 showed a 52 per cent increase in the number of fights drawing $10,000 or more without television. California and Texas were the most active boxing states.

Multi-Lakers Select Payne as '58 Prexy

Wysong Vice-President; Harvey, Jaffray, Pullis Retain '57 Posts

A new president and vice-president, and three new directors were elected at the recent annual membership meeting and first "Ladies' Night" at Multi-Lakes Conservation Association. More than 400 were present for the session and banquet.

★ ★ ★

Veteran Multi-Laker, Weldon Payne, is the new prexy, following Raymond Chabot, the 1957 top man. K. K. "Monty" Wysong was named vice-president. Three directors are Bruce Enfield, Harry Horner and Nick Lap.

★ ★ ★

Treasurer George Jaffray, secretary Herbert Harvey and membership secretary Marion Pullis were reelected.

★ ★ ★

Association was so pleased with the "Ladies' Night" that it decided to make it a regular affair.

★ ★ ★

Program after the banquet was highlighted by a fine outdoors movie made and narrated by Dennis Glenn Cooper of Detroit.

Hunt Dates Changed

Previously announced dates for the two Fox hunts arranged during January by Oakland County Sportsmen's club have been changed, to permit the events to fall on Sundays.

New dates are Sunday, Jan. 12 and Sunday, Jan. 26.

FIGHTING THE LAMPREY — U.S. Fish and Wildlife workers, conducting lamprey control experiments in Michigan streams, fill a spray rig which feeds a lamprey poison into the stream. In its first field test the chemical destroyed young lampreys before they could mature and move into the Great Lakes, but did not harm game fish. Since invading the Great Lakes, sea lampreys have seriously reduced lake trout populations. (Mich. Cons. Dep't Photo)

Acorn Crop Vital to Deer

LANSING (AP)—With the full fury of winter still to come, Michigan's big deer herd is heading into its yearly battle against starvation.

Vitally important in the deer's struggle for survival are the acorns from the 11 species of oaks native of Michigan, and the many hybrids. A good acorn crop will carry the herd through the cold months when browse is scarce. A poor crop means death of unrounted numbers of deer and an emaincipated herd in the spring.

Little wonder, then, that the state conservation department lent an interested ear to a report on oak management from Jerry P. Duvendeck, one of its game biologists. Report was the product of a four-year study at Houghton Lake Wildlife Station.

Oak forests, Duvendeck reported, cover about 20 per cent of the wooded lands in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula, but don't start producing acorns till they're between 25 and 40 years old.

The average tree produces about 20 pounds of acorns in a year, bearing a medium or better crop about two of every five years.

"When acorns are available, deer will dig close to a pound per day," Duvendeck said. "Thus, if each deer had 200 pounds of acorns to fed on between fall and spring, it would survive even though it had only poor browse available."

Deer have to share their acorn diet, however, with insects and other animals, especially squirrels, rodents and birds.

"Therefore," Duvendeck said, "a minimum of 20 vigorous, full-crowned oaks is necessary to provide an adequate supply of supplemental food for one deer in an average year."

2—Leave 10 oaks per acre with a half mile of deer yards equal to the number of deer in the yard or equal to the acreage of the yard.

3—When possible leave three red oaks to one white oak near deer yards, and two red oaks to one white oak in summer range. Acorns from white oaks, he noted, reach maturity in one season while red oak acorns require two years.

4—When practical, leave oaks in higher elevations and cut those at lower levels to reduce chance of frost damage. Spring frost more than anything else determines the size of the acorn crop.

"The value of the acorn crop cannot be underestimated in modern game management," Duvendeck said. "If game men could guess the size of the crop by August when hunting regulations are set, they could also estimate the number of deer that should be harvested in an area."

Sportsmen Plan Habitat Work

OCSC Arranges Trips to 3 Areas; Invites Scouts, Others

Three Oakland county recreation and game areas will be visited during the winter as part of a program sponsored by Oakland County Sportsmen's club to improve game habits. The public, Boy Scouts and Oakland County Women's Extension Service have been invited to take part.

First trip will be made Jan. 25. Others are scheduled for Feb. 8, Feb. 22 and March 1 (all Saturdays).

Areas to be visited include Holly, Ortonville, and Bald Mountain. Sites for each trip will be announced later.

Work will include browse cutting and clearing, providing cover for small game, as well as making food available for wildlife in the areas.

The true African chameleon, quite distinct from the native American variety, has the interesting ability to swivel its eyes in two directions with a sort of turret effect.

BULL'S-EYE BEAUTY — Snow shovels may be standard equipment in other parts, but archery is among the sports enjoyed during the mild winter season in Phoenix, Ariz. Georgiann Hammon, 19, not only displays fine form with bow and arrow, but is on target in the good looks department.

Chemical Offers Cheaper Method to Kill Lampreys

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — A new chemical method of killing sea-lampreys in the Great Lakes will probably be about one-fifth as expensive as the mechanical methods now in use, officials of the International Great Lakes Fisheries Commission reports.

The chemical, deadly poison to sea-lamprey larvae, but not to the lake trout or game fish which they prey on, was developed under the commission's aegis at a testing plant in Michigan. So far it has met all tests successfully.

The commission spokesmen, meeting north shore commercial fishing groups here, said using the chemical through the Great Lakes would cost about $200,000, while maintenance of an electric barrier and weir system would cost about $1,000,000 yearly.

The electric barriers and weirs are placed at the mouths of streams and rivers leading into the Great Lakes and are aimed at killing the adult lamprey as they go up-river to spawn. The chemical attacks the larvae before they reach the parasitic stage.

Commission members speculated that the greatest barrier to getting public approval for the chemical would be fear it might contaminate water, but they said testers ate fish caught in the treated waters without ill-effects and said no changes in the taste of the fish were noticeable.

State Outdoors Calendar Offers Sport Headlines

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (INS)—The Michigan Tourist Council has just released the outdoor calendar for 1958. It promises a year packed with 45 winter sports events and more than 125 special events. Here are the top events that will make outdoor news headlines:

★ ★ ★

JANUARY: "Smeltania," ice fishing village opens at Ishpeming; tip-up-town festival at Houghton Lake; winter sports carnival and ski races at Lewiston; and the National Bump Jumper contest at Petoskey.

FEBRUARY: Speed skating championships at Alpena; ninth annual Michigan ski jumping Gogebic Range ski jumping meet at Ironwood.

APRIL: Walleye netting at Newaygo; smelt run at Tawas; annual smelt run at Menominee; trout fishing season opens; and National Trout Festival at Kalkaska.

MAY: Michigan Week at Benton Harbor; Tulip Time Festival at Holland; mushroom hunts at Gaylord and Mesick; and perch run at Tawas.

JUNE: Second annual Perch Festival at Ludington; fifth annual Tawas River Canoe Race; state-wide bass fishing season opens; and bass festival at Sebewaing.

SEPTEMBER: 12th annual Michigan Canoe Marathon between Grayling and Oscoda; annual perch festival at Romeo and Michigan State Championship Rodeo at Sparta.

OCTOBER: Archery deer and bear hunting state-wide; bird hunting season opens in north and pheasant hunting season opens later state-wide.

NOVEMBER: Hunters' welcome at Gaylord; deer and bear rifle hunting season opens state-wide; hunters' ball and meat pole at Grayling; seventh annual Buck Derby at Whittmore and deer hunters' dinner and ball at Bitely.

DECEMBER: Cereal Bowl swimming relays at Battle Creek and the invitational ski meet. Ice fishing gets under way state-wide and continues well into 1959.

Unusual Facts About Wildlife

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The lobster is a closer relative of the spider than of the fish. Its hard shell, which does not increase in size as the animal grows, is cast off and it acquires a new one periodically.

Laporer 'Rat' Hunters Take 110 Prime Pelts

Lakes and marshes around Lapeer County have produced some 110 prime muskrat pelts for a pair of inveterate hunters. Fred Baucom and Clay Martin still have some time to go before the season on "rats" winds up.

They hope to boost their take considerably. They are looking for a market just now, for the raw furs. Offered prices vary widely, from 75 cents to $1.25. A year ago the pair took 78 pelts, $1.12 each for them.

Alaskan Fliers Have All-Expense Polar Bear Hunt

Frank B. Gregory of Pt. Barrow, Alaska, an Alaskan pilot-hunting guide of long experience writes that a number of other fliers-guides and himself have organized the Arctic Hunts to provide all-expense polar bear hunts "on top of the world."

Hunts will be organized for the March-April period in 1958, and will provide, Gregory writes, "best accommodations in this remote region, with the finest foods and friendly atmosphere."

Any one interested? — Write or wire Gregory at Arctic Hunts, Pt. Barrow, Alaska, for further information.

Conservation Body Sets 2-Day Meeting

LANSING — The next monthly meeting of the State Conservation Commission has been scheduled for Jan. 9-10 at the conservation department's Lansing offices.

★ ★ ★

The informal session of the meeting will begin at 3 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 9, with the formal session scheduled for 9 a.m. the following day. All meetings are open to the public.

Christmas Guns, and Safety

Dad Writes to Son

By JACK PATTERSON

Giving a sub-teenager a real gun for a Christmas present is a sure-fire way to make the day a success for him. Such a gift also carries the continuing responsibility on the part of the donor to see that it is used safely and properly. Along with the gun we gave to our number one boy, went the following letter which we reproduce in the hope it might help out in similar situations in other families.

PATTERSON

"Dear Joe,

The day a boy gets his first shotgun ranks with, and maybe a little above, the day he gets married or first solos a plane or gets shot at by an enemy of the republic. I know. It may be hard for you to believe . . . but I remember the day I got my first shotgun as if it were today. In a way it's too bad it wasn't today. We'd have fun growing up together.

"Boys and shotguns go together like bees and honey . . . As you grow older you'll learn that . . . people usually expect better performance from shotguns than they do from boys, except in one very important particular.

"Boys have the God-given ability to think. Guns do not. Therefore a boy with a gun has to do the thinking for both. And there's a lot of thinking to be done. Apart from the fact that a shotgun is for fun, it is also the deadliest short-range weapon ever devised . . . I want you to mark that well and never forget it.

★ ★ ★

"Through the years I have known you I have developed enough confidence in your good judgment to believe you realize that a man's weapon calls for a man's behavior. Kid's games have no place in them for real guns. With real guns there is never a time or place for horseplay.

"Just so you won't be tempted to forget it I'm giving you the following instructions along with the gun. They will be obeyed not sometimes, not most of the time, but at all times:

(1) Never, under any circumstances, will you point this gun, whether you believe it to be loaded or empty, at anything you do not wish to kill.

(2) Never, under any circumstances will you load this gun except outdoors, in a proper shooting location and in my prescence.

(3) When the gun is not in use it will stay in the rack. It will not be handled by you or your friends or anyone except with my permission and in my presence.

"If these rules sound harsh and seem to put a crimp in your activities it is because they have to. Gun fun begins with gun safety . . .

"Merry Christmas, Dad."

'Cannibal Bear' Story Related by Three Hunters

LANSING (AP) — Three Dickinson County hunters are telling the story of a "cannibal bear" they encountered during a recent deer drive in the Upper Peninsula.

Leonard and Fred Lindeman and Alvin Sitka, all of Channing, told conservation officers they came across the body of a 100-pound cub in Iron County. Tracks in the snow indicated a larger bear had pulled the cub from its den and killed it "after a terrific fight."

New Fish Law Gives Breeders Broader Scope

Allows Propagation, Sale of Bass, Other Species Jan. 1, 1958

Where licensed game fish breeders have been permitted to propagate and sell brook, brown and rainbow trout, after Jan. 1, 1958, they may broaden their activities.

Under a new conservation law passed by the 1957 legislature, breeders may rear and sell largemouth and smallmouth bass, bluegills, three species of sunfish, northern pike and muskellunge, in addition to the trout.

Before issuing a game breeder's license, however, the Conservation Department will inspect the proposed facilities to insure that private waters are used and the entry of any wild fish into these waters is prevented.

One result of the new law is that landowners will be able to purchase game fish for stocking farm ponds. In the past, sale of game fish was unlawful in Michigan—except the sale of trout by licensed breeders.

An increase in the number of farm ponds in the state is anticipated, due to federal financial aid available to farmers for pond construction under the Conservation Reserve Program of the Soil Bank Act.

All-Year Fishing

State Opens 31 Lakes

LANSING (AP) — Liberalized regulations to allow year-around fishing on 31 Michigan lakes were announced today by the state conservation department.

All are shallow lakes in which fish kills are heavy because of suffocation, either in winter when snow covers the ice or in warm weather when water temperatures are too high. Most are in Southern Michigan.

Special regulations permit hook and line fishermen to take fish of any species or size through the year. However, daily creel limits and possession restrictions still apply.

The 31 lakes:

Lower Crooked Lake and Shallow Lake, Barry County; Mud Lake, Calhoun county; Balas Lake, Cass county; Rose Lake, Clinton county; Bucker Lake, Cobble county; Twin Lakes, Lakes, Grand Traverse county; Battese Lake, Leeks Lake, Merkle Lake and Pond Lily Lake, Jackson county.

Bonn's Castle Lake, Dustin Lake, East Lake and Twin Lakes, Kalamazoo county; Tallman Lake, Mason county; Stevens Lake and Johnson Lake, Mecosta county; Duck Lake, McBrides Lake and Pickerel Lake, Montcalm county; Blanche Lake, Crepin Lake, Walkup Lake and Pettit Lake, Newaygo county; Backus (Mud) Lake, Roscommon county; Evans Lake, St. Joseph county; Cassidy Lake, Green Lake and West Lake, Washtenaw county; Long Lake, Wexford county.

Mt. Holly Puts Snow Blanket on One Slope

A three-inch blanket of "machine" snow was laid down on the beginners' slope at Mt. Holly Ski Area, last night. With continued freezing temperatures it may be possible to ski on that slope during the weekend. But it all depends on the weather. More snow will be "made" tonight if the mercury obliges, say Mt. Holly workers.

Recent heavy rains and soft weather removed about all the previous snow on every Pontiac area ski resort, and all have to start over again.

Just as soon as sufficient bases are established skiing will get under way in the nearly half-dozen areas in this section, officials reported today.

'Can' Real Bird Speedster

Fast Flying Duck Rated at 94 Miles Per Hour

By H. GUY MOATS

Many a bird-hunter has often remarked to others, or asked himself an age-old question relating to the flight of game birds.

The query "how fast do game birds fly?" comes up frequently wherever outdoorsmen gather—and up to this time there doesn't seem to be any authoritative answer.

Years ago, The Press' Harry Y. Fitzgerald, an avid bird hunter, and this publication's outdoor writer, the late A. Bird Glaspie, became interested in the speed of game birds such as quail, pheasant and waterfowl. This writer observed a test, unscientific, but comparable, that the two made along a Saginaw Bay shoreline road. Driving abreast of a flying duck, the car's speedometer checked the bird (a teal) at more than 65 miles an hour.

Later on many agencies attempted to find the answers, all of which depend upon a variety of circumstances and conditions. Unmolested birds fly slower than those spurred by fright. Wind and weather also are considered angles.

The canvasback duck is generally regarded as the fastest, with 94-miles-per-hour, followed by the blue-wing teal at 89 to 90, according to researchers from a nationally known arms company. Other speeds were listed as 82 mph for redheads; green-wing teal 79 mph; 48 mph for Canada and Brant geese; 45 mph for swans; 40-41 mph for most other species, with doves, curlews

Youth Shoots, Kills Teenage Texas Boy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A high school freshman was shot to death in front of his home last night and police sought five unidentified youths who fled from the scene in an auto.

★ ★ ★

Three 15-year-old companions said a teen-ager stepped from an auto carrying four others and shot Evans with a rifle. They could give no motive.

Evans' parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans.

Steels Continue Yesterday's Rise

Most advances by key stocks were small but some stretched to about a point.

The opening was active and higher; then turnover slowed in later dealings.

The steels were ahead pretty solidly. Plus signs were in the majority among aircrafts, chemicals, rails, oils and motion pictures. There were scattered losses. Nonferrous metals showed scant change.

Republic Steel's resumption of steelmaking in the Youngstown, Ohio, area stimulated the steels. The easing of pressure on the market from tax-selling also helped prices, brokers said, and led to hopes that a yearend rally might be sustained.

Grain Futures Pushed Lower

CHICAGO (AP)—Liquidation by discouraged longs pushed grain futures prices lower in early dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Yesterday's sudden sharp liquidating move in soybeans was extended today with all deliveries except the distant September off a cent or more at times.

Rye fell back as much as 3½ cents a bushel on short-selling of the September and this unsettled the rest of the rye deliveries.

There was some buying of March wheat around the opening but this was offset by a moderate amount of commission house selling. Corn prices showed greatest strength, easing only fractions buying pretty well matched selling pressure in early trading.

Yesterday was the 9th consecutive trading day that corn closed lower. Corn receipts at Chicago today were 92 cars compared with 194 a week ago and 54 on the same day a year ago.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ¾ to 1⅛ lower, March $2.20½; corn ⅜ to ½ lower, March $1.14¾; oats ⅝ to ¾ lower, March 63½; rye 1 to 1⅛ lower, March $1.28⅝; soybeans ¾ to 1 lower, Jan. $2.21¾ and lard was 5 to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, Jan. $11.67.

Birmingham Man Gets Ford Promotion

A Birmingham man, James R. Patterson, of 967 Southfield Rd., has been appointed manager of the administrative department at Ford Motor Company's Tractor and Implement Div., in Birmingham. It has been announced.

PATTERSON

Patterson, who was sales liaison representative in the office of the division's general sales manager, joined Ford Tractor Division in 1953 as administrative assistant to the general sales manager.

Previous to joining Ford, he was administrative assistant to the general sales manager at Dearborn Motors Corp from 1948 to 1951 when he was recalled to active duty in the U. S. Air Force.

Firm's Yule Cards Reveal Holiday Plan

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—An aircraft firm has announced — on Christmas cards to its 500 employes—extra long weekends without loss of pay or production time.

The cards contained a calendar scheduling eight three-day weekends and four four-day weekends in combination with normal legal holidays. Longren Aircraft Co. employes will not work the first Monday of each month but will work the following Saturday instead.

"We are confident it will pay good will dividends when a working man can enjoy a rich man's weekend every so often," said Mrs. Christina E. Wentworth, an officer of the firm.

Grundy to Be Head of S-P of Canada

Gaskin said he resigned to take on a "challenging job" with an internationally - known company whose announcement of a Canadian growth program will be made early in the new year.

A past president of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Gaskin has been associated with the automobile industry in Canada since 1920. He joined Studebaker in 1931, became vice president and general manager in 1941 and has been the Canadian company's chief executive officer since 1953.

Baltimore & Ohio Will Lay Off 2,800

BALTIMORE (AP)—For the second time in two months, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has announced a furloughing of employes throughout its 13-state system.

The latest cutback, announced yesterday, will affect about 2,800 employes in all departments—or about seven per cent of the company's total personnel. The layoff is effective Jan. 1.

8-Week Strike Settled at Semet-Solvay Plant

DETROIT (AP) — An eight-week strike was settled at the Semet-Solvay Division of Allied Chemical & Die Corp. Thursday. Some 250 striking United Mine Workers voted to accept a two-year contract providing increases totaling 16 cents an hour in wage and fringe benefits the first year and a three per cent pay boost the second.

Benjamin Franklin started the first German-language newspaper in the United States in 1732.

News in Brief

Frank P. Tolsdorf, 38, of 315 Rivard St., was found guilty of drunk driving yesterday by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. He was sentenced to $100 fine and two days in jail, or 22 days.

Duncan Clarkston, 59, of 113 Pingree St., was found guilty of drunk driving yesterday in Municipal Court. Judge Cecil B. McCallum sentenced him to two days in jail and $100 fine, or 22 days.

Weaver School, 204 W. New York St., was broken into over the Christmas holidays and several desks ransacked. Nothing was reported stolen.

Iron River Buck Group Will Lay Off 70 Miners

IRON RIVER (AP)—Pickands Mather and Co. will lay off 70 men here Jan. 6 when production at its Buck Group of iron ore mines is curtailed from three shifts daily to two.

W. E. Seppanen, superintendent, said mine operations will continue on a five-day week basis. He said the reduction is due to a decline in demand for iron and steel. The Buck Group employs 260 men.

Kentucky was formed into a county of Virginia in 1776; was admitted to the Union as a state in 1792.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dear daughter Margaret W. Cunningham, who passed away Dec. 30th, 1956.

It is lonesome here without you,
And sad and weary the way;
The flowers we placed upon your grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.

Bandit So Quiet, Drugstore Holdup Not Noticed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A short, middle-aged man with his hand deep in the pocket of his heavy tweed coat sidled up to drugstore manager Michael Schachter, 45, and motioned him to the cash register.

Schachter handed him $30.

"More," said the bandit softly.

Schachter handed him another $120, unnoticed by three clerks and four customers in the store.

Police arrived a short time later. They left when other clerks and customers said there had been no holdup.

After checking by radio with headquarters, police returned and found Schachter still prone on the floor. He had pulled a telephone off the counter, called police and maintained his position.

Although Not on TV, Milton's Working Hard

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — If you wondered how Milton Berle's doing off TV, he's working so hard at the Latin Quarter that he pulled a tendon the other morning and couldn't clown with the dancing Dunhills.

WILSON

But earlier at a testimonial to Comedian Joe E. Lewis at the Friars, Milton sat up on a piano, pulled up his pants leg, and said, "You remember me—Polly Bergen!" When Myron Cohen said, "You stole one of my lines," Milton snapped, "Why should you be an exception?"

Joe E. had trouble getting a word in at his own party, but finally managed to deny that losing $7,400 gambling bothers him as has been reported. "It didn't bother me, and if you don't believe me," he said, "just ask the policeman who pulled me off the window ledge."

★ ★ ★

Bobo Rockefeller decided not to get married. Doesn't want to share the wealth . . . Sid Caesar, who was reared amid Manhattan skyscrapers, told me about his first Hollywood visit: "All I could do was stand and gape at the low buildings!" . . . All the way from Los Angeles, Steve Dunn of "Truth and Consequences" phoned me to ask, "What's a paradox?" I stammered, "W-why, a paradox is a contradiction." He was very nice about it. "Sorry," he said, "but a paradox is two doctors."

Japan Plans on Export of Highest Quality Goods

TOKYO (AP)—An economic giant exporting quality products throughout the world . . . that's the future tough, muscular Ichiro Kono sees for Japan.

He puts it this way: "We must concentrate on high-grade items and ship them where people can afford to buy—the American and European continents principally."

★ ★ ★

Kono, a controversial figure once purged by the American occupation, has rocketed to a major place in Japanese politics during the past three years. He is economic planning board chief for Premier Nobusuke Kishi.

★ ★ ★

During the war Kono was active in the ultranationalist Imperial Rule Assistance Assn., which tried to whip up and maintain warlike emotions in the Japanese people for Premier Tojo's Cabinet. For this the United States banned him from Japanese politics from 1946 to 1951.

★ ★ ★

"Japan must become an exporter of quality products, not the cheaper goods we have been known for in the past," he says. "Germany produces special goods for export. Switzerland has been making watches for the world for years. From 1958 on there should be a big change in Japan."

★ ★ ★

While the main export markets will have to be America and Europe, Japan must trade wherever it can, he said, including Communist nations.

★ ★ ★

"To help establish a peaceful world we must have at least minimum relations with nations like Russia, but long-range friendship with the United States is basic and will continue," he said.

Can't Expel Students for Getting Married

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — The state attorney general's office says public school students in New Mexico cannot be expelled because they marry. The opinion, by Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Pyatt, said exclusion of married students from public schools could not be read into New Mexico's constitutional provisions on schooling. Educators have said more and more high school students are marrying while still in school.

VIRGINIA GIBSON

Just Standing Isn't Adequate

'Hit Parade' Vocalist Feels She's Lucky to Have Two Talents

By DICK KLEINER

Example: Virginia Gibson is a dancer, primarily. She happens to sing, too, but this is the first job she's ever had — and she's had many — where she was hired as a singer.

Heretofore, it's always been that she was hired to dance and she sang incidentally.

That was the case even in Broadway's "Happy Hunting," where she ducted with Ethel Merman on "Mutual Admiration Society."

IT'S NOT ENOUGH

But nowadays, Ginny says, TV needs singers who can move around. It's not enough just to stand there and sing, no matter how pretty the sounds, because that would be pictorially dull.

"That's where I'm lucky," says the St. Louis-born Miss Gibson. "I started dancing when I was 6. And I've been dancing ever since."

She always sang, too, but as a sideline. On Broadway and in Hollywood she was known as a good dancer who was handy to have around, because she could sing some, too.

★ ★ ★

Then along came "Your Hit Parade," and suddenly her two talents were switched.

There remains her ambition—to be hired some time because she's a good actress, who happens to be able to dance and sing, as well. Some people are never happy.

Consumers Spent More in '57 but Bought Less Merchandise

By WALTER BREEDE JU.

NEW YORK (AP) — For retailers, patterns.

Consumers spent more money than ever before but they probably bought less merchandise. The increase in total retail spending — from 191½ billion dollars in 1956 to 200 billions in 1957 — was entirely due to two factors: Prices were higher than in 1956 and there were more consumers to buy for.

CLOUD SCENE

Layoffs in major industrial centers clouded the 1957 retail scene. So did thinner pay envelopes and consumers had less folding money.

After several years of "trading up" — steering customers to higher quality, higher priced goods — merchants encountered a stubborn wall of price resistance. Big stores planned to put more emphasis on lower priced merchandise in 1958.

With operating costs at an all-time peak, many retailers saw profits diminish. The accent everywhere was on cutting expense. The trend toward self - selection — having the customer wait on herself — gained new momentum.

TAKING OVER

There were slam - bang price wars between department stores and discount houses. Food supermarkets increased their penetration of the department store field by opening their own appliance and apparel outlets. Novelty chain stores which had once confined themselves to five and ten-cent items sold "big ticket" department store wares like suits, coats, furniture and record players.

The cutthroat competition prompted the National Retail Dry Goods Assn. to comment that "it may well be that in some communities, signs of over - capacity in retail distribution are beginning to appear."

Merchants complained that basic living costs were making a bigger dent in family budgets, leaving less money to be spent in retail stores. They cited: higher commutation fares, increasingly expensive medical care, costlier auto insurance, rising rents, higher property taxes.

For 1958 the outlook was uncertain. Economists pointed out that consumer spending is as much a product as a cause of booming business conditions — that people curtail their spending chiefly because their incomes and buying power are down. And most indicators pointed to a lower level of general business activity in the months ahead.

Consumers could look forward to a new round of markdowns, clearance sales and discounts. There was every indication that stepped up retailer competition in 1958 might more than offset the price boosts of 1957.

Hannah Asks Goodwill, Time in Race Problem

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Dr. John A. Hannah approaches his new job as chairman of the new Civil Rights Commission with the Christmas spirit feeling that men of good will can work out differences—however difficult they may seem.

★ ★ ★

Hannah, who is President of Michigan State University, is no stranger to Washington nor is he a stranger to the problems of race relations and civil rights.

He was frequently in the headlines as assistant Defense Secretary for Manpower and Personnel in 1953 and 1954 under the Eisenhower administration. . . .

Before that, under the Truman administration, the educator was a member of the advisory board which worked out policies for the Point Four Program of economic aid to foreign nations.

INTEGRATED CAMPUS

In the field of racial discrimination, Hannah, shortly after being named president of Michigan State in 1941, ordered integration of Negro and white students in campus dormitories. Then he ruled that all racial designations be stricken from student records.

In his key Petagon post, he headed up the program of ending racial discrimination in the armed forces and among civilian personnel of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Hannah was born in Grand Rapids, on Oct. 9, 1902. His father operated a hatchery and greenhouse on a small farm on the outskirts of the city. He He became an agricultural specialist and through this joined the faculty of Michigan Agriculture College which later became Michigan State.

He is married and has a daughter and three sons.

His philosophy on racial problems is that "wise men have struggled with these problems for decades." He expects no quick solutions from commission recommendations, but believes "men of good will can work out their differences."

★ ★ ★

The commission which he heads is under direction of the White House and has no connection with the Justice Department's new Civil Rights Division set up to enforce federal law. Hanna's group is charged with investigations of the problem and with making recommendations for new legislation.

State's Farmers Plant 7 Pct. More Wheat

LANSING (AP)—Michigan farmers planted 1,075,000 acres of winter wheat to be harvested in 1958, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Thursday.

This was an increase of 7 per cent over the acreage planted in 1956 but 12 per cent below the 10-year average. The diversion of allotted wheat acreage into the soil bank was approximately 8,000 acres less than last year.

The 1958 winter wheat was seeded under very favorable conditions, the service reported. Moisture supplies were adequate for seeded preparation and seed germination. Prospects as of December were among the best on record.

The service reported that Michigan farmers planted 210,000 acres of rye for all purposes. This was up 14 per cent from last year and 42 per cent above the 10-year average.

Live Sales Argument

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has its high pressure door-to-door salesmen too. Police reported one threatened a housewife with a live snake until she bought his wares.

Lost UP Hunter Guided by Sweet Music of Siren

Several hours later Gribble came out of the woods. He said he became lost in a heavily wooded swamp. The intermittent sounding of the siren guided him home.

"It was the best Christmas music I ever heard," Gribble said.

Violence Shatters Calm in Algeria Once More

ALGIERS (AP) — Nationalist attacks in several portions of Algeria last night ended an uneasy Christmas calm.

A farm guard was killed, farm buildings valued at $300,000 were burned and a rebel attack with hand grenades in Oran killed an offduty policeman, military authorities said.

Propellers From Nylon

ST. JOHN, Ind. — Model-airplane propellers made of nylon are being manufactured by a St. John company, which says they are shatterproof, reliable, have greater thrust, and last more than 10 times as long as the conventional type.

Dag Making Stops, Talks on Way Home

Hammarskjold met with President Nasser last night and held another conference this morning with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, who saw him off at the airport. A spokesman for the secretary general declined to say what subjects the talks covered.

Informed sources in Paris said Hammarskjold planned to stop there to talk with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and may call on Premier Felix Gaillard.

Lights on Yuletide Star Await Stork's Arrival

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — J. B. Anderson says he may not light his big housetop Christmas star until the middle of January—depending on his wife.

Anderson, father of three adopted children, erected the seven-foot star earlier this month and announced he would flip on the long string of lights bordering it just as soon as the family's expected baby arrives.
