Congolese Beat Red Envoys

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese security agents and gendarmes dragged two Soviet diplomats feet first from their cars yesterday, beat them with clubs and hauled them off to jail.

They were still being held today.

Soviet Embassy officials said the diplomats were Embassy Counsellor Boris Noronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh. The officials said they had no word on their fate.

REFUSED SEARCH

Eyewitnesses said Noronin and Miakotnykh refused to allow the Congolese to search their car on their return from Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo, which is across the Congo River. They claimed diplomatic immunity.

Soviet Embassy officials said the Congolese also had cut the telephone and electric supply to the luxury apartment where the 100-man Soviet mission lives and works.

Sources close to the Congolese government hinted that "highly compromising" documents had been seized from the two arrested diplomats.

Gendarmes stood guard outside the embassy building last night, refusing to allow callers to enter.

An eyewitness to the arrest of the two Russians said when they refused to allow a search of their car at the Brazzaville ferry landing, the Congolese let all the air out of the car's tires.

An argument lasting more than an hour followed. The Soviet diplomats sat stiffly in their car after the Congolese prevented Noronin from telephoning his embassy.

★ ★ ★

Finally, the Congolese forced open the car doors and grabbed the Russians' feet. The diplomats struggled but were dragged out and thrown bodily into a Congolese army truck. When they tried to get off the truck, they were beaten with clubs, the witness said.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today denounced the Congolese government's arrest of the two Soviet diplomats as a "shameful provocation."

The newspaper blamed the incident on influences of Belgian and American advisers.

Officials Back ADC-U Plan

Welfare Group Hails Romney Try for Funds

LANSING (AP)—Welfare officials at a convention today had hearty approval for Gov. George Romney's announcement that he will try to get Michigan fully qualified for federal ADC-U funds.

Romney told his press conference today that his announcement yesterday did not mean that he had "quit the basic fight" which started over the program for Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADC-U).

"This basic fight is over the misuse of authority," Romney said.

★ ★ ★

"We now have 49 influential governors of other states who join me in saying there should be opportunity for judicial review of decisions by a federal administrator."

PAYING ANYWAY

Romney yesterday told delegates to the Michigan Welfare League conference that "there is no constructive accomplishment now in refusing to take advantage of federal programs that are already in force . . . and for which we are paying anyway."

He chose a noon appearance before the convention to disclose that he will ask the 1964 legislature to get Michigan qualified for the federal funds.

The last regular legislature passed an ADC-U law, which it hoped would qualify the state under the federal program.

But the law was found discriminatory by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare because of the contention that its definition of "unemployed" was too restrictive.

U.S. Airs Policies

Talks on Asia Start

HONOLULU (AP) — High-level talks on the United States' future policies in South Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia began today in Pacific military command headquarters near Honolulu.

The day-long session brought together top-drawer military men and diplomats from Washington and Saigon to map future strategy in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived last night and termed the meeting "Just another in a series in which we will review our program of commitments in Viet Nam."

McNamara said in a plane-side interview that it is "quite clear that the previous South Viet Nam regime had lost the support of large segments of the population and in a war of this type — a war against guerrilla action and subversion — can only be won with full support of the people.

"The new government appears to have that support," he said. It is, he added, already receiving more support than the previous regime "either had or deserved."

★ ★ ★

McNamara said U.S. assistance to Viet Nam in its fight against subversion will be discussed at the session, as well as the return home of U.S. personnel in Viet Nam.

Also scheduled to attend the meeting was Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive today.

From Saigon yesterday came Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group there.

Psychological Exam Set in Stabbing Case

Fifteen - year - old Ernest E. Hansen was held in the Oakland County Children's Center today after a preliminary Juvenile Court hearing yesterday in the stabbing and abduction of a 71-year-old woman Monday.

Probate Court Judge Norman R. Barnard scheduled another hearing for Dec. 3.

In the meantime, the youth of 3085 Lakeview, Highland Township, will be examined by Juvenile Court psychologists and the incident investigated by a court caseworker.

★ ★ ★

The victim of the assault, Mrs. O'Henry Albert, a neighbor of the youth, was stabbed twice with an ice pick as she got out of her car to open her garage at her home at 3165 Lakeview.

HEAVY COAT

Her heavy wool coat prevented serious injury.

Mrs. Albert told police she was forced to go with the Hansen boy as he drove around the area. She was released about five miles from her home after $5 was taken from her wallet.

The boy told detectives he wanted to go to Florida.

★ ★ ★

The county prosecutor's office said it had not yet determined whether it will petition for a waiver to bring charges against the youth as an adult.

Pontiac Redeveloper Lacks Federal Okay

By DICK SAUNDERS

Pontiac has no exclusive redeveloper for its urban renewal lands in the central business district.

The city has a man, Charles L. Langs, who would like to be exclusive redeveloper and has, in fact held that title since last July.

Langs, however, has been working under a preliminary agreement approved by the City Commission last July 23, which didn't conform to federal regulations, according to Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates.

★ ★ ★

Federal officials won't approve the agreement unless it is revised, Bates said.

City Attorney William A. Ewart agrees with Bates and has recommended that the commission revise the document as required.

The main reason for lack of federal approval is that the agreement adopted in July, was not the one which Bates' staff had proposed. It omitted several items, according to Bates.

"Ewart drew it up the way he felt the City Commission and Langs wanted it," Bates asserted. "We explained the importance of closely following federal regulations, but either no one listened or they didn't fully understand that it was incorrect."

UNDER PRESSURE

Bates added that he didn't think Ewart "could be held entirely responsible" for the faulty agreement. "He was under pressure to get this prepared for adoption, at a time when the need for his services on other legal items was great."

Ewart said he didn't realize until recently that there was anything legally wrong with the document.

"I assumed it had been okayed by federal officials when it was passed," he said. "The agreement states that federal officials had carefully reviewed the procedure."

Bates said that different interpretations of the term "pro-

R20 Land Sale OK'd by City

28 Lots Purchased for $31,500; Hail Move

The sale of 28 lots of R20 urban renewal land for $31,500 was approved last night by the City Commission.

Mayor Robert A. Landry hailed the action as "this city's first major breakthrough in urban renewal development."

The property was purchased by Goodell Builders, Inc., of River Rouge.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the firm said they plan to build homes on the lots priced from about $13,000 to $15,000.

NEWLY PLATTED

The land is a newly platted area bounded by Whittemore, Perkins, Cottage and Center.

★ ★ ★

When advertised for sale several months ago it brought only one bid averaging about $250 to $350 per lot for houses in the $9,000 price range.

★ ★ ★

The Goodell offer averaged $1,500 per lot. The sale was concluded by negotiation after original bids were rejected.

Firebug Sought in Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — Police today hunted a convicted arsonist seen near the Surfside Hotel less than an hour after fire swept the building, killing 25 elderly persons.

Detective Capt. William Rickert, chief of the city's arson squad, said the suspect moved from his known address but still was believed to be in the city.

"I'm hoping to have him in custody today," Rickert said.

He said the man, whose identity was withheld, boarded a bus just 2½ blocks from the Surfside Hotel about 40 minutes after the first alarm was sounded.

The bus driver recognized the man as a "known arsonist" and told Raymond Stark, superintendent of the Atlantic City Transit Lines. Stark notified authorities.

But Is It Really True?

Baby's 'Murder' Is Confessed

By JOE MULLEN

A "murderer" walks free in Oakland County.

And, it seems likely that he will go unpunished for his crime — assuming there really was a crime.

His freedom appears reasonably assured by legal technicalities relating to the bizarre set of circumstances of the case.

The "murder" occurred nearly two years ago. It was revealed and confessed just this month as the aftermath of a family quarrel.

★ ★ ★

A young woman, accompanied by her father, walked in the Waterford Township Police Station at 2:40 a.m. Nov. 5.

She had something on her mind, she said. After nearly 23 months, she said she decided it was time to share it with the authorities.

Her message was lengthy but it boiled down to this:

She gave birth to a baby in December 1961. Her husband delivered the child in the couple's house and then drowned it in the bathroom. He later discarded the body at the Pontiac dump.

★ ★ ★

When police questioned the husband a few hours later, he confirmed what his wife had said and explained that they couldn't afford the baby.

HAVE MOVED

The couple lived in Waterford at the time of the crime but since has moved elsewhere in Oakland County.

NEWSMEN MEET — Newspaper representatives from North and South America this week are exchanging views at the Inter American Press Association conference at Miami Beach. Yale Prof Tricked

Photos Led to Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Photographs bundled inside a roll of newspapers apparently were Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn's passport to arrest.

The bundle was thrust into the professor's hands by a stranger in front of a Moscow hotel. Seconds later, Barghoorn was seized by Soviet police, he told newsmen Tuesday after a meeting with State Department officials.

In the 16 days that he was imprisoned on spy charges, he said, he was not mistreated and signed no confessions.

* * *

He said his experience had not changed his belief that cultural exchange programs between the United States and the Soviet Union are a good thing.

NO GO-AHEAD.

But the State Department still has not given a go-ahead for scheduled exchange talks which the United States canceled because of the Barghoorn incident.

The professor, who was released last Saturday and returned home on Sunday, met with State Department officials for six hours to talk about his Moscow experience.

Then he met with newsmen, and for the first time in public related details of the case which rocketed sharp new strains through American-Soviet relations.

* * *

Here's the story Barghoorn told to newsmen:

EVE OF DEPARTURE

On Oct. 31, the eve of his planned departure from Moscow he returned to the Metropole Hotel in the Soviet capital about 7:25 p.m. He was suddenly approached by a "youngish looking man, carrying what seemed like a roll of newspapers."

The man asked something which Barghoorn believes was, "Are you an American?"

"I was startled, said yes, and he pushed toward me the roll of newspapers. I took it. I thought, perhaps foolishly, that it was propaganda material and put it into my coat. Almost simultaneously I was grabbed and hustled off in an automobile."

* * *

He said there were photographs in the roll, adding, "I would not understand military matters."

Barghoorn said that neither on this trip nor on previous visits to the Soviet Union was he on "intelligence assignment." But he said that working in the "sensitive field" of political science could be regarded as intelligence in the Soviet Union, where "anything not published can and often is regarded as intelligence."

Redeveloper Lacks OK

cedure" may have created the trouble.

"Federal officials told us that the sale and redevelopment of urban renewal land by negotiation through a single redeveloper was an acceptable procedure, as was sale by competitive bidding.

* * *

"But there are regulations controlling each procedure and they must be adhered to. They weren't," Bates stated.

Commissioners indicated they were unaware anything was wrong with the agreement.

Mayor Robert A. Landry asked that Ewart's report be deleted from last night's commission agenda so the commission could study it first.

Bates is concerned about redevelopment proposals.

"What it boils down to is that we're not sure we could deliver any land to Langs, under terms in the present agreement, even if he did come up with a major redevelopment proposal," Bates said.

"I just want to protect Langs and the city," he added.

Local officials, however, wouldn't disclose the specific corrections that had to be made.

After the agreement was signed in July, Bates said federal approval would be necessary to make it official.

CONTROLLING INTEREST

The federal government is the "controlling interest", so to speak, in urban renewal. Federal funds pay for two-thirds the cost of the R20 project and pay 75 per cent of the R44 bill for the project.

He also indicated last summer that the agreement might need some revising to pass federal inspection.

But no revisions were made.

* * *

Bates said the agreement was never submitted to federal officials because he knew it would not be approved.

"We didn't bring up revision until now for several reasons," he noted. "One is that we were preoccupied by other, more pressing needs in the renewal program.

"Then, we felt that since no one seemed interested in revision at that time, we'd best wait until it became imperative and couldn't be ignored."

Renewal officials said approval of the agreement was now becoming vital since urban renewal is moving rapidly toward the redevelopment stage.

Lang, 51, lives at 3631 Dorothy Lane, Waterford Township.

* * *

The intent of the agreement was that the city would reserve urban renewal lands for sale to Langs during a 12-month period, contingent on his providing suitable building plans and tenants for the property.

Waterford House Damaged by Blaze

A fire believed caused by a four-year-old child playing with a cigarette lighter caused an estimated $5,500 damage to a house at 4106 Parkway, Waterford Township, this morning.

Mrs. Sue Bigelow, tenant, said her son Daniel was playing in a front bedroom when the fire started about 9:55 a.m.

No one was injured in the blaze, which was extinguished by township fire fighters in about 30 minutes.

They estimated damage to the four-room frame house at $3,500, plus $2,000 loss on contents.

FAVORS IDEA — John I Snyder Jr. (left) president of United States Industries, Inc., chats with AFL-CIO President George Meany at the Union convention yesterday. Snyder told the convention that he favors a shorter work week to reduce unemployment. The AFL-CIO advocates reducing the standard work week with no loss in pay.

Exec Sees Social Turmoil Because of Automation

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire businessman John I Snyder Jr. says the United States faces great social upheaval if it can't provide jobs for men replaced by machines.

Warning of "really staggering" unemployment, Snyder urged the AFL-CIO yesterday to join with the federal government and the National Association of Manufacturers to find a solution.

"I'd join with the devil himself if I could find the solution to this problem," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany, with the help of most delegates, wielded a heavy gavel, in killing the move to consider taking back the Teamsters, ousted on corruption charges in 1957.

Snyder, president of U.S. Industries, Inc., manufacturers of automation equipment, linked the civil rights movement and the growing unemployment problem.

He described himself as no particular friend of labor, but said automation equipment puts thousands of people out of work every week.

"I want to sell the automation machines my company makes, and if our economy turns sour, if the unemployment problem is not solved, I will have difficulty selling them," Snyder said.

County Program Set Under New State Law

The appointment of a 12-member board to develop and head a community mental health program under new Michigan statutes was announced today by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The statutes provide for a county program of community clinics for psychiatric treatment.

Such programs have proven highly effective in other states, said Hamlin. The necessary legislation in Michigan was initiated by the board of supervisors here and Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

* * *

The appointments made by Hamlin are:

For four years, Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams; Birmingham publisher Paul N. Averill; Farmington Superintendent of Schools Gerald V. Harrison, and Daniel T. Murphy, chairman-elect of the County Board of Auditors.

THREE YEARS

For three years, Pontiac psychiatrists Dr. L. Jerome Fink and Dr. Harry Arnkoff, UAW regional co-director Ken Morris and Oakland University associate professor Kenneth D. Roose.

For two years, Royal Oak attorney Elmer Hartwig; Mrs. Henry E. McDonnell of Birmingham and County Supervisors Mrs. Arthur Mitchell of Lathrup Village and William H. Wagner of Berkley.

Hamlin said he plans to hold an organizational meeting by early December, after which he will appoint a board chairman from among the members.

* * *

The board is to recommend a community mental health program under rules being devised by the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

FOR APPROVAL

The board's recommendations would be made to the County Board of Supervisors for approval of a program.

* * *

The state is expected to pay 50 per cent of the program's cost, said Hamlin. Federal funds also will be available for the establishment of community clinics.

Bloomfield Hills Board Acts on Bus Law Ills

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Expecting an increase in the number of children riding school buses, the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education last night appointed a man to direct the transportation program next year.

Board members also discussed other transportation problems and benefits for teachers.

Charles Lemke, principal of Conant Elementary School, was appointed assistant superintendent in charge of transportation.

* * *

The appointment, which will not becme effective until next year, was made early to allow Lemke to attend meetings on the new state school bus act.

INTERPRETATION

Sessions are now being held throughout the state on interpretation of the law under which public school boards will be responsible for transporting private school students in their district.

There are five privately operated schools in Bloomfield Hills, which already has problems because of its widely scattered residential nature.

Lemke will be replaced as principal by Mrs. Marjorie Thomas, helping teacher for the district.

* * *

The school board, which recently refused to endorse the current Michigan Education Association drive for teacher tenure, last night discussed other possibilities with board attorney Lawrence King.

TERM CONTRACTS

Board members had asked King to determine whether it might be possible to establish term contracts for Bloomfield Hills teachers.

Under such a program, teachers would sign contracts for a specific number of years rather than annually.

King reported that the arrangement might not be acceptable in a district which has no tenure program.

* * *

SABBATICAL LEAVES

The legal procedure involved in sabbatical leaves was approved by the board last night.

* * *

Accepted in principle last spring, the policy will allow teachers who have been in the system seven years to receive half of their regular pay during sabbatical leaves.

A revolutionary telephone system was introduced in Michigan by this community 10 years ago today.

Birmingham was the second exchange in the nation to be offered direct distance dialing.

On Nov. 20, 1953, telephone users in both Birmingham and Englewood, N.J., were able to dial long distance calls directly.

Patrons in Birmingham could dial directly to 13 million telephones in 14 metropolitan areas across the nation.

80 PER CENT

Today about 80 per cent of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. users can dial calls to some 80 million telephones in the U.S. and Canada.

Birmingham was chosen as one of the first areas to receive the new service because of its rapid growth.

Also, residents there and in Englewood had high long distance calling rates per capita. Furthermore, they made the calls to a wide range of cities throughout the country.

* * *

For these and technical reasons, Birmingham seemed a likely place to introduce the system.

* * *

Off to a successful start, direct dialing expanded rapidly during the next decade to reach its present scope.

Dr. Robert C. Angell, codirector of the Center of Research on Conflict Resolution at the University of Michigan, will discuss world disarmament tomorrow night at the Community House.

His talk, entitled "World Context for Successful Disarmament," will be presented before the November meeting of the American Association for the United Nations.

The author of several books, Dr. Angell is former president of the International Sociological Association. He served as a member of various American delegations to UNESCO intermittently from 1940-56.

The program will start at 8 p.m.

Henry W. Standart

Service for Henry W. Standart, 88, of 663 Ann will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will follow in Elmwood Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Standart died Monday after a brief illness.

He was former president of the Northern Engineering Works Co. of Detroit. He was also an honorary life member of the University Club and the Detroit Boat Club.

A daughter, Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Birmingham, survives.

Mrs. Louis Toch

Service for Mrs. Louis (Florence A.) Toch, 80, of 757 Westview, Bloomfield Hills, will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Toch died unexpectedly yesterday.

She was a member of Delta Sigma sorority, the Senior Woman's Group of Birmingham and the Presbyterian Church of New York.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William Bond, with whom Mrs. Toch lived, and Mrs. John James, a missionary in New Guinea; three grandchildren; a great-grandchild.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

Was Baby Actually Murdered?

Even with the murder admission, the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office found itself stymied on the case.

A confession is not necessarily the basis for a conviction, Prosecutor George Taylor said.

* * *

Assuming the man's confession is authentic, he explained, it remains uncertain whether the infant ever was alive.

MUST BE PROVEN

If it were born dead, murder is ruled out. If it were born alive, this would have to be proven.

Efforts to locate the body of the baby have been unsuccessful.

Workers have burrowed more than 20-feet into the ground at the dump. Countless dog and cat skeletons have been found, but no remains of the baby have been uncovered.

* * *

STILL NO PROOF

Even if the body had been found in the dump, the prosecution case could be based only on a charge of improper burial, a misdemeanor Taylor said, because there was no proof the baby was alive.

Further complicating the case is the fact that the wife reportedly did not consult a physician during her pregnancy.

Why did the woman keep the murder story to herself from Dec. 18 or 19, 1961 (she wasn't sure which day) until two weeks ago?

* * *

Her husband had begun running around and wasn't supporting her and their two children, she told police.

The husband was released Sunday from the Oakland County Jail after a 10-day stay for nonsupport.

Chevy First: 10,000 a Day

DETROIT (AP)—Chevrolet yesterday became the first individual automaker in history to produce 10,000 passenger cars in a single day.

Edward H. Kelley, general manufacturing manager, said the 17 assembly plants producing Chevrolets across the nation turned out 10,020 passenger cars.

Chevrolet's total car and truck production yesterday established for the division a new industry-wide, one-day production record for the second time in less than a week, Kelley said.

* * *

The total of 12,065 units produced yesterday topped the record 11,827 vehicles turned out last Thursday. That total included 9,707 passenger cars and 2,120 trucks.

The all-time record total included 6,640 regular Chevrolets and Corvettes, 1,445 Chevelles, 969 Chevy IIs, 966 Corvairs and 2,045 trucks.

Red Snipers Flushed Out in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police flushed snipers from buildings in downtown Caracas today as officials strove to quell pro-Communist violence that has left nearly 100 dead or wounded.

A woman was killed and six other persons, including a policeman, were wounded as fighting spread from the workers' suburbs to El Silencio, a district of modern business buildings.

Coming on the heels of Venezuela's worst day of terrorism, the new casualties put the two-day toll at 20 killed and 76 wounded.

President Romulo Betancourt remained in his office throughout the night, directing the roundup of the terrorists.

* * *

The number under arrest rose to 150. Police said most were Communist party members. Many were youths who wore black pants and red sweaters as a sort of uniform. Among those held were 40 persons seized Tuesday night for sniping at traffic.

Parole or Pardon Possible

Romney Pushes for Action on Escapee

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney took steps today aimed at speeding action on a possible parole or pardon for Alonzo Gunsell, who claims to have led an exemplary life after escaping from a state honor camp 10 years ago.

Romney said he sent a telegram to Mrs. Edna Gunsell, wife of the former fugitive, asking that she or Gunsell's attorney contact the parole board at once.

The governor said he hoped Gunsell's case could be considered by the board at its meeting Monday, but thus far no formal application for a hearing has been made.

* * *

Gunsell, 43, was returned to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson yesterday to await developments in his case, after a fruitless attempt to see Gov. Romney.

The former Flint burglar had planned an appeal for clemency on grounds he led a model citizen's life under an assumed name in Colorado after walking away from the honor camp in 1953.

He was interviewed by Richard Van Dusen, legal adviser to the governor, but Romney referred the case to the parole board for a recommendation.

Romney said today his action was based on the fact that there has been no formal application for freedom submitted on behalf of Gunsell.

"I don't think it would be proper to handle those who'd walked away solely on the basis of informal information obtained through the press," he said, "or to ignore the responsibilities of those who have been given authority to handle such matters."

"It would establish a precedent and be an invitation to those who have reached positions of trust in work camps, as much as we all can sympathize with someone who has made a mistake and apparently reformed."

Romney said he would consider Gunsell for "parole or pardon — either one" if the parole board returned a favorable recommendation.

Frank Buchko, a member of the parole board, said yesterday a formal application for parole would have to be made before the Gunsell case could be heard.

* * *

Also pending was a decision by Warden George Kropp and director of Corrections Gus Harrison on whether Gunsell should be prosecuted as a fugitive.

At the prison, Gunsell was given a medical examination, issued prison clothing and assigned a cell in the "segregation block" where escaped prisoners normally are confined upon their return.

He was described by a prison official as "quiet and reserved" during the one-hour processing.

"He was cooperative and acted as if he didn't want to make a bad impression," said Perry Johnson, assistant to the warden.

Gunsell's wife, Edna, who along with two of her three children had accompanied him on the visit to Gov. Romney, apparently returned to the home of his relatives in Flint.

* * *

Gunsell was serving a 14-15 year sentence for burglary when he and another prisoner walked away from the Pontiac prison camp in White Lake Township, only a few days after Gunsell had appeared before the parole board.

Two ambulance drivers and a nurse delivered the infant.

B52 Explodes; 3 Men Killed

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — An explosion ripped through an $8-million B52 jet bomber undergoing routine maintenance, killing three men and injuring four.

Farms Into Fun Sites

Advice for Land's Sake

By ROGER SRIGLEY

A young man in Room 1 of Pontiac's Federal Building is busy giving away samples of his "product" to Oakland County farmers and landowners these days.

The man is Ellis G. (Bill) Humphrey, 32, the local work unit conservationist. The "product" is actually advice on how to convert farmland into profitable recreation sites.

"In some cases, the government has more than consultation and advice to offer. For projects such as ponds, ditches, reforestation and tile drainage installation, it can provide up to one-third of the necessary funds through the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office," said Humphrey.

The government is promoting conversion of soil bank land and other nonproductive areas into recreation facilities.

'LIKE CORN RAISING'

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has even predicted that "the prosperous farmer of tomorrow is going to raise recreation (land) just as he is raising corn now."

Humphrey works for a branch of the Agriculture Department, the Soil Conservation Service. His job is to help those cooperators in the Oakland County Soil Conservation District.

To receive the government aid, there's a hitch — but not much of one.

The only prerequisite for joining the district is to own three or more acres in Oakland County, and to sign one of the applications available in Humphrey's office.

MAPS, PLANS

Once he has a signature, Humphrey can provide — depending on the need — soil maps, site selection and pond layout plans. Or he can even help map out a picnic area or artificial lake.

"Our major function is to aid in the conservation of soil and water," he says. "All these other things are tied to it."

Humphrey knows a great deal more than how to stop erosion. His training has taught him to identify which soils will hold water for a lake and which won't.

★ ★ ★

He also knows the fundamentals of planning recreational enterprises, such as nature trails, parks, wildlife preserves, picnic and camping areas and even trails for horseback riding.

SOIL SPECIMENS

Dropping in on Humphrey, one is likely to see him holding specimens of soil like he showed Eugene Miley and Carl Chimenti yesterday.

Miley came in for, and received, help planning trails for the horseback riding he offers on his farm at 13650 Neal, Davisburg.

Chementi, Royal Oak, wanted some general information on farmland in the Ortonville area.

After talking with Humphrey, the two walked out with some new ideas for farmland, as well as a booklet, "Rural Recreation Enterprises for Profit," which Humphrey offers to all his visitors.

ALL ANGLES

A breakdown of all angles of the recreation business is given in the pamphlet, including information on financing, advertising and maintenance.

"The service is not developing recreation plans as such, but rather assisting district cooperators in developing conservation plans which include recreation as a recognized land use," Humphrey said.

He advises all farmers and landowners considering income-producing recreation sites as an enterprise to investigate certain areas prior to a final decision.

These include the need for such a facility, state and local licenses and ordinances, health regulations and the liability aspect of the proposed scheme.

ONLY CONSULTANT

Humphrey's office can give only consultative assistance to land developers, speculators and real estate agencies.

"We'll be working to help the farmer, who in turn can help the city dweller by providing a more beautiful and useful recreation area," he says.

"A lot of landowners are unaware of the service that can be provided without cost."

TALK LAND CONVERSION — Ellis G. (Bill) Humphrey, local agent for the Soil Conservation Service, every day gives advice to Oakland County landowners on how they can improve their properties. Here he tells Carl Chimenti of Royal Oak (left) and Eugene Miley of Davisburg how changing idle land into recreation areas can prove to be a profitable venture. Humphrey's office is in Pontiac's Federal Building, 35 E. Huron.

15 Days Until Lake Orion Names 'Miss Christmas'

LAKE ORION—Only 15 more days until the Christmas festivities begin — in a big way — for one of the 40 young girls competing for the title of "Miss Merry Christmas."

On Dec. 5 the winner of the contest will be announced, and the pre-Christmas gifts will start to pour in.

Twenty-three local merchants are prepared to shower the pretty little miss with presents. She will also have her own float to ride down Washington Street during the Christmas parade, scheduled for Dec. 7.

Pictures of the candidates, all age 8, 9, or 10, are on display in the windows of the Town House Restaurant.

ONE VOTE

Lake Orion shoppers will be entitled to one vote for each fifty-cent purchase made at stores of participating merchants.

Voting will continue until 6 p.m. Nov. 30.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Closing out the list are Mary L. Burt, Dayle A. Graves, Beverly Cunningham, Mary Walzer, Luann Gonyou, Lee Ann Williams, Pamela J. Leonard, Gail M. McInally, Diana Dunn, Gloria Rzadkowolski, Lynn Goltry, Cynde Sparks and Marcia and Patricia Heisler.

Board Eyes Policy

ROCHESTER — At the request of Schools Supt. Dr. William Early, the board of education here is tackling the problem of analyzing and revising school board policies.

It is also — for the first time — attempting to establish a written policy on athletic functions of the district.

"We're going to plan on yearly revision of academic and other policies, in order to smooth their execution and school operation," Dr. Early said.

At Monday's regular meeting, the school board began planning workshops at which to study the policies.

PAY OFF BONDS

The board also announced the receipt of $4,596 from football games this year. The funds will be used to pay off revenue bonds on the football field.

In other business Monday the board accepted a report from school administrators on their findings concerning assigned homework.

"The staff has studied the problem of coordinating homework, making it more meaningful and attempting to assign approximately two hours per night on the secondary level," said Dr. Early.

★ ★ ★

The study was made to avoid inconsistent assignments, which led to excessive assignments on one night and none on the next.

Warren Police Ask Adult Trial for Boy

WARREN (AP) — Authorities in this Detroit suburb said today they will seek to try a 16-year-old boy as an adult. They said the boy was attempting to break into a home Monday night when his 17-year-old companion was shot and killed by the home owner.

Police said the boy has been arrested three times for burglary. Macomb County Probate Court Judge Donald Parent will be asked to waive jurisdiction.

His companion, Richard Marciniak, 17, of Warren was killed when the home owner, John Barbu, 30, of Warren fired one shot at the fleeing boys, police said.

Mrs. Williams, 80, died Saturday. Her funeral was yesterday.

Group to Plan for Retarded

County Organization Seeks Workshop Unit

Ideas on planning, establishing and maintaining a sheltered workshop for retarded children will be presented in Birmingham tomorrow night by the head of such a unit.

Michael Galazan, director of the Milwaukee County workshop, will speak to members of the Oakland County Council for Retarded Children.

The local group is now making plans for a sheltered workshop to serve the county. Its meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at Seaholm High School, 2436 W. Lincoln.

The SPUR unit of Walled Lake has canceled its meeting scheduled for tonight in order that members and other interested persons can attend the Birmingham meeting.

Increase Noted in Apple Crop

Michigan State Apple Commissioner Paul Button today reported a 1-million bushel increase in the state's anticipated apple crop following the regular meeting of the Michigan State Apple Commission in Grand Rapids.

The commissioner stated that the United States Department of Agriculture estimated Michigan growers picked 12 million bushels of apples during the recent harvesting season.

Button also noted that later USDA figures might show another increase in the crop size.

The commission also approved a resolution to support enabling legislation in the state. This type of legislation would allow a marketing program to be introduced by any commodity group, according to the commissioner.

In view of the changing storage picture of apples, the commission staff was authorized to proceed as necessary with promotional materials to match the movement of apples coming out of storages throughout the state.

Police Seeking Killer of Pair

Smut Peddler, Girl Bludgeoned and Shot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Police are searching for a killer or killers today after the bloody bodies of a convicted smut peddler and his pretty girl friend were found in the man's secluded Hollywood home.

The body of William H. Door, 47, party record manufacturer, was found sprawled face-down in a pool of blood in his home Tuesday by his secretary and maid. His hands were tied behind his back with a necktie, police reported.

★ ★ ★

On a bed lay the nude body of his girl friend, Ellen Criss, 29, a pillow over her blood-smeared face. They had been bludgeoned and shot.

Detectives said Door, fully dressed, apparently had been working on business papers. Officers estimated the couple had been dead 12 hours before they were found.

Door was president of Fax Records, Inc., of North Hollywood. Police said they raided the firm last December and confiscated 5,000 pornographic records.

In 1957 he was convicted of income tax evasion and fined $2,500. He was also convicted and fined $250 in 1954 for the sale and exhibition of obscene pictures.

Officers said Door also ran a mail order business which distributed indecent materials to teen-agers and had extensive real estate holdings.

A six-footer weighing 230 pounds, Door was known to associates as a onetime football player at Temple University in Philadelphia and with the Philadelphia Eagles. He is not listed as a player by sports record books.

Divorced twice, he has a son, 6, now in the custody of his mother, former actress Dolores Parker.

Officers said Door and Miss Criss met about a year ago, and that the woman has a son, 11, in Louisiana.

East-West Trading a Dual U.S. Worry

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The "oceans" of trade once offered to the West by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev haven't yet quite reached those proportions.

But the volume of East - West trade which hit $4.5 billion last year, is headed for a new record this year and is enough to cause the United States concern.

It also carries with it the possibility of opening up a new rift among the already - bickering Western allies.

★ ★ ★

U.S. concern, which is being expounded in Europe this week by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, is based on two counts.

REDUCE EMBARGO

One is the growing temptation, notably Britain and some of the smaller NATO nations, to reduce the list of strategic materials now embargoed against sale to the Soviet Union and its satellites.

The other deals with the long term credits being granted in some cases to the Soviets. The United States holds that these credits not only underwrite the Communist economy, they also permit the Soviets to continue to build up a war machine which some day may be used against the West.

The United States believes credit should be limited to five years with at least a 20 per cent down payment.

Russia's huge grain deals, including the $250-million wheat agreement with the United States, have helped to focus attention on trade with the Soviet bloc, but they are not at the seat of the argument.

The deal for U.S. wheat presumably is one - shot and is for cash.

Meanwhile, Russian agents have been on a real buying spree.

They want not only Western industrial goods but Western know - how as well.

FERTILIZER PLANTS

The Russians are buying entire plants with which to produce fertilizer. They are buying ships from Italy, Sweden and Japan and pulp mills from Finland.

From Britain, they have ordered polyethylene plants, two low-temperature gas separation plants and machinery for a synthetic rubber plant.

With West Germany, the Soviets have closed deals for construction machinery, box cars and synthetic fiber plants.

Under an agreement with Italy, Russia will ship large amounts of oil in exchange for machinery, chemical equipment and other goods.

The Russians have said they could order more than a billion dollars worth of complex machinery from the United States, assuming the wheat deal goes smoothly.

Germany is extending its system of economic missions throughout the Soviet bloc in the interests of expanding trade, but agrees with the United States on the need for limited credit.

France also is in general agreement and especially is not interested in Soviet barter schemes.

★ ★ ★

The argument for expanded trade is that it will strengthen diplomatic ties and weaken Communist revolutionary zeal. The argument against it is that in Soviet hands, trade is as much a weapon as a rocket.

'More Cities to Tax Income'

LANSING (AP) — Saginaw Mayor G. Stewart Francke predicts the death of fiscal reform in the legislature last week will mean that more and more cities will turn to income taxes as a revenue source.

Francke visited Gov. George Romney here yesterday to discuss city income taxes in light of the defeat of Romney's program.

Francke said Saginaw is again considering taxing income but no final decision has been reached. He said it was hard to decide while the proposals for state income taxes were before the special session.

★ ★ ★

He said the tax his city is considering resembles the Detroit tax, Michigan's first city income tax.

Saginaw voters, by a wide margin, defeated a proposal for a 1 per cent city payroll tax last January.

Letter Written 18 Years Ago Read by Girl

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Diane Rusk, 18, recently was given a letter written to her when she was a baby by her uncle, Homer B. Rusk.

The letter, unopened, had been kept until her parents felt she was old enough to understand.

In it Rusk tells of his war experiences in North Africa and Italy back in 1943-45.

Rusk wrote from Livermo, Italy, while waiting shipment to the Pacific theater of operations. The new uncle, writing in a sentimental mood, homesick and tired of fighting; said "may I wish for you . . . a life in which such a thing as war will never have any part . . ."

The automotive world lost one of the most authoritative auto writers in the Country in the death of DAVID J. WILKIE.

Mr. WILKIE was truly a pioneer of the industry. Soft-spoken and friendly, DAVE'S writing career for the Associated Press goes back 56 years. He started covering the auto news in its infancy and was still on hand for the 1964 previews even though he was officially retired.

WILKIE

Industry leaders and newspaper associates marveled at the vast background of knowledge that Wilkie modestly had tucked away under his snow-white hair.

Facts and figures involving cars were his business. The giants of the auto manufacturing business were all on a first name basis with WILKIE. He was respected for his fairness, plus the fact that his auto stories were always authentic down to the most minute detail.

★ ★ ★

His passing takes a fine gentleman from the industry he loved so much. New cars will be introduced each fall, but Wilkie's typewriter will be idle for the first time in 56 years.

Clinton River Project Wins Belated Priority

City commissioners have finally admitted that the Clinton River improvement project is more important, financially, than a neighborhood fire station or a recreation center.

★ ★ ★

They have requested a delay in paying off loans they got to finance the northside fire station and the recreation building being started at Wessen and Walnut.

If the delay is granted, the commission indicates it will put $100,000 into starting the Clinton River project.

★ ★ ★

This project is worth a $600,000 credit to the City in urban renewal funds, IF it is completed by mid-1965.

Former City Managers WALTER K. WILLMAN and ROBERT A. STIERER had placed high priority on the Clinton project. Other capital improvements were more important, in the eyes of the current commission.

★ ★ ★

The Clinton River project would widen, deepen and tunnel the Clinton under the central business district, to improve drainage and help redevelopment.

Commissioner Winford E. Bottom pushed for the northside fire station in his 1962 campaign. Commissioner Milton R. Henry had sought a recreation center for his district for some time.

This last maneuver by the City Commission is a new twist on that age-old recipe, how to have your cake and eat it, too.

Headwaiter's Power Aid to Congressmen?

One who has vainly tried to catch the elusive eye of a haughty headwaiter, will not be surprised that members of a Paris-bound Congressional committee picked up the check of a Capitol headwaiter that he might accompany them to the distingue restaurants of the French capital.

For there could be no better application of the age-old axiom that "it takes a thief to catch a thief," than to have in your entourage a headwaiter to catch the eye of another headwaiter.

★ ★ ★

Only Scrooge himself would question the cover charge for service so significant.

★ ★ ★

As taxpayers, we do hope that accomplishment attended the travel of the duty-conscious legislators and that they had many eye-catching experiences.

"THE highest per adult capita consumption of hard liquor in 1962 was in Washington, D. C., 8.77 gallons; the lowest in Alabama, 1 gallon." Either the figure for Alabama is in error or moonshine isn't considered hard liquor.

Policy on Soviets Sounds Tougher

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration has expressed serious doubt about the Soviet leaders' good judgment in testing the nerve of the West, particularly that of the United States.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara put it this way in a talk Monday night: "I do not regard the present Communist leaders as wholly reckless in action.

MARLOW

"But recent experience, in Cuba and, on a lesser scale, in Berlin, has not persuaded me that I can predict with confidence the sorts of challenge that Communist leaders will come to think prudent and profitable."

This McNamara talk before the Economic Club of New York had an unusually tough tone for the Kennedy administration, which has tried to avoid sabre-rattling.

★ ★ ★

The secretary compared American and Soviet military power and flatly claimed nuclear superiority for the United States. He said the Communists have sought to avoid a big war with the West.

SMALLER ONES

This doesn't mean they won't try smaller challenges if they think they can get away with them.

What if they try them, as they did in Cuba and at Berlin?

McNamara gave them a warning: the best way to stop them from the smaller adventures is to assure them such short-of-all-out-war tries would meet "prompt, effective military" response.

In short: stop them cold and let them decide to back off or keep pushing into the big war they want to avoid.

NUCLEAR SUPERIORITY

Much of McNamara's talk was devoted to American nuclear superiority. For example:

"The Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many intercontinental missiles as we do."

But he acknowledged the Russians are a big threat to Europe, with their hundreds of intermediate and medium-range ballistic missiles.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets recently acted up, creating tensions in Europe and here, when they blockaded American troop trucks on the autobahn in East Germany before letting them through to Berlin.

REASON UNKNOWN

The reason, since the Russians finally let the trucks through, is unknown.

Perhaps it was meant to keep Europe's pot of uneasiness boiling or to demonstrate, particularly to Communists that the Soviet Union wasn't getting soft on the West.

But the autobahn episode soured this country.

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy administration may have intended the McNamara talk to be a reminder to the Russians not to get too nutty —as they were in Cuba and seem to have been on the autobahn—or push too hard.

I Think We're Being Followed!

David Lawrence Says:

JFK Debt Speech Misleading

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy would not intentionally mislead the American people about the finances of the government of the United States — but unfortunately, some of his speech writers have given a wrong comparison of the way the federal government and private business, respectively, handle their debts.

LAWRENCE

★ ★ ★

Mr. Kennedy, in a speech Monday before the Florida Chamber of Commerce, gave the impression that the federal government is a better "fiscal manager" than private business.

★ ★ ★

There is no real parallel. Mr. Kennedy failed to make clear that while corporations and individuals were increasing their debts, they were also paying off their loans or mortgages or were borrowing money to acquire new assets.

The federal government, on the other hand, was borrowing money almost entirely to refund past loans, but not to reduce debt.

During the years 1948 to 1962, when the total corporate debt was rising by $228 billion, corporations earned $291 billion in profits after taxes.

★ ★ ★

In contrast, the federal government during that same period had total budget deficits of $41 billion, and at the same time added $54 billion to the gross public debt.

NO BUSINESS

No business could borrow money if it did not reduce its past debts out of its surpluses. An increase in corporate debt is based upon the expectation of repayment of this same debt in a specified time. A very small part of any such indebtedness is refinanced without at least a substantial payment on the principal.

★ ★ ★

But the federal government makes no such curtailment of its principal and keeps on borrowing more and more money, incurring more and more deficits, and increasing its total debt.

Any business which attempted to finance itself on the pattern of the federal government would certainly not be able to borrow any money in the capital markets today or at any other time.

★ ★ ★

Thus, the federal government in fiscal year 1963 piled up a gross borrowing of $227 billion, of which less than $8 billion represented growth in the net debt. The remaining $219 billion was borrowed to refund existing debt.

SUBSTANTIAL PART

Corporations, on the other hand, have been paying off a substantial part of their loans, and their increased debt represents investment in new projects — new plants and equipment or new enterprises.

It is incorrect, therefore, to compare corporate financing with that of the federal government and say that the latter is better because it did not increase its debt as much as did the private sector in the economy.

Individuals may incur debt by borrowing to buy their homes, but they earn enough money after expenses to make regular payments on the mortgages and at the same time to buy an automobile and pay for it in two or three years. Nobody could buy an automobile in 1948 and fail to pay it off by 1962.

★ ★ ★

And yet the federal government has merely borrowed the same amount of money to refund or replace the previous indebtedness, so that the total amount of the 1948 debt remains on the books, plus increased borrowings of $54 billion since 1948.

Bob Considine Says:

Almost Upbraided Son for His 'Beatnutty' Beard

NEW YORK — One of our sons came in from college the other day after early exams with four B's, two C's, no flunks, and a beard.

CONSIDINE

There were instant demands, some shrill and some hoarse, that he shave it off immediately. It looks like the chin whiskers that old slapstick comics like Webber and Fields used to glue on before a performance.

"What are you, some kind of a beatnut?" I roared, stamping my gold-headed cane.

The boy was quite patient.

"Nope," he said. "A lot of nonbeatniks grow beards. How about Grant and Lee? Then you have Moses. My marks have gone up steadily as the beard came down, and I'm sure there's a connection between the two things. A beard makes you feel something like a professor, serious."

He talked for another 20 minutes on the institution and spread of the beard at his college and, by golly, he convinced us that he had pure reason on his side.

★ ★ ★

"I'm sorry I was such a square about the whole thing, son," I said to our genius.

NEEDS DOUGH

"Oh, that's all right, Pop," he said big heartedly. "And now if you'll excuse me I've got to run downtown and buy a couple of things I need. Could I have some dough?"

"Sure, what are you going to buy?"

"Well, first I want to pick up Carl Rogers' 'Client-Centered Therapy.' I need it for one of my courses."

"Bully!" I enthused, most impressed. "Then what?"

Dennis' brow furrowed momentarily.

★ ★ ★

"Then I'm going to buy a guitar," he said.

Well, can't win 'em all.

Things I miss: The heady aroma of coffee cooking in the morning now that "instant" is here to stay. Autos that can be entered and left without risking an attack of the bends; Mr. Peepers; the kind of stage dialog Robert Sherwood used to write; that first cigarette after breakfast; the sob of a lonely steam engine in the night; and trenchant advice such as that once offered by my father: "Boy, never shake hands with an undertaker."

Voice of the People:

'Pontiac Could Assist in Solving Race Problems'

I read this part of The Press every day because it tells me things about the people who live here.

There is so much criticism of races, but we have the solution right here. We have some of the best forward-thinking leaders you will find anywhere, so my father says. He says we have leaders who can represent us anywhere. Why don't they start something on this race subject that Pontiac can be proud to say started here?

★ ★ ★

Why not begin some type of community meetings like the old town hall meetings once or twice a week? Then have some of our leaders set up a forum of our younger adults from both races and discuss this problem.

★ ★ ★

I hope that if something is started, 13 year olds will be allowed to listen. We could learn a lot. We don't need marches or protests of any kind. I know the businessmen of our community could help solve these problems.

'Busybodies Judge Others but Not Selves'

I was impressed with the VOP letter stating concern for the mother whose 16 children are being taken from her. I know of many families who can't live or raise three children on what this mother did.

I don't know the court's reason for taking the children, but I do know in many cases a busybody is concerned. Mrs. Williams probably lives in a neighborhood where everyone knows everyone else's business, but never realizes what goes on in his own backyard.

We live in a neighborhood of busybodies where so many are trying to see what harm they can do. They don't go by the Golden Rule and I doubt if some of them know the Ten Commandments, but they are ready to judge others.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Black Saturday

The Japan (Tokyo) Times Weekly

The two terrible tragedies which occurred in Japan will leave Saturday, Nov. 9 chronicled as a black day in the nation's annals. The explosion at the Mikawa mine took the worst toll of 448 deaths while the railway crash between Yokohama and Tsurumi on the Tokaido Trunk Line brought a similar fate to 161 persons. In both cases there were a large number of injured.

In the case of the mine disaster, it is premature to speculate upon the conditions that caused the explosion. It has already been suggested that fine coal dust in the air inside the mine became ignited, perhaps by a spark from some electrical source.

If so, it might have been possible to avoid tragedy by seeing to it that the 1,378 miners did not go down into the pit until the air had been cleared of any dangerous stuff.

This and all other guesses as to the cause of the disaster must be left to careful investigation, but, if it is discovered that proper precautions were neglected, there should be no attempt at whitewashing those who might have been proved negligent.

The railway disaster was a three-train smash; and this is not the first time in Japan's recent railway history that three trains have been involved. In May 1962, a three-train collision occurred near Mikawashima Station on the Joban line in which 160 persons lost their lives.

We hope that no attempt will be in evidence to make political capital out of the twin tragedies. The Soviet Government organ Izvestia blamed the disasters on the lack of government regulation. The paper's Tokyo correspondent wrote that the tragedies would "hardly increase the chances of the ruling Liberal - Democratic Party in the forthcoming election.

"The labor unions," he said, "see the reason for the tragedies in the absence of elementary concern by the administration for technical safety in conditions of intensification of labor and the streamlining of production."

We consider these statements most unfair and as showing a quite unjustifiable political bias that is particularly offensive in view of the fact that the reasons for the two disasters have not yet been laid bare.

Alliance Obstructions

The St. Louis Post Dispatch

Sometimes Latin Americans act as if they couldn't care less about the Alliance for Progress, which they sought for so long. Brazil has even talked of substituting an international aid agency including the Communist bloc.

At his press conference, President Kennedy put the Brazilian notion in proper perspective. He merely noted that Soviet bloc goals differ vastly from those of the Alliance, which seeks to bolster democratic reforms.

But we North Americans are entitled to ask, what is going on in Brazil, Argentina and elsewhere in Latin America that raises objections to the Alliance?

The Brazilian view of the Alliance strikes us as irresponsible and the Argentine view as profitless. Both are largely determined by domestic politics.

Brazil's government has so far used foreign aid largely to keep its inflated economy from bursting. Little has gone into basic Alliance reforms.

★ ★ ★

Argentina's position is not quite so obstructionist, but the result of canceling the oil contracts will surely discourage foreign investment under the Alliance.

★ ★ ★

What is the United States to conclude from these incidents? To be frank about it, we may conclude that some Latin governments are unwilling or unable to resist domestic pressures that would twist the purposes of the Alliance and waste its funds.

Where the conservative oligarchies and the extreme leftists both oppose Alliance reforms for different reasons, the cautious politician acts like a conservative and talks like a leftist to keep himself in power.

Seek to Restore Old Luster

Backers Push Romney Bid

By SAMUEL MARTINO

DETROIT (UPI) — A small group of Romney-for-president backers is determined to rub off the tarnish of Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform defeat, and restore his luster as a darkhorse Republican presidential candidate.

Although the movement is not recognized by Romney, a group of political amateurs is driving a 16-foot housetrailer around the state urging citizens to "Ride with Romney in '64".

We haven't given up the trailer or the campaign," declared Henry Nephew, national campaign manager of the Draft Romney for President movement.

"The loss of the fiscal reform plan might have hurt Romney some politically but I don't think it has hurt his image," Nephew said.

IMAGE OF HONESTY

"He still has an image of honesty and integrity, and that is what the people want," he added.

Nephew and George Zimmerman, a Dallas, Tex., businessman, are behind the draft-Romney-for-president movement.

The housetrailer is scheduled to roll into Jackson today, original home of the Republican party.

* * *

Nephew said the trailer has been to Pontiac, Taylor, Inkster, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

$400 FUND

The unofficial Romney campaign war chest, Nephew said, has about $400 in it from $3 memberships to the Draft Romney for President clubs.

"We're also asking people to sign a petition requesting the governor to accept a draft," Nephew added.

The petition has about 300 signatures on it.

The trailer, on the road now for 13 days, is scheduled to leave the state late in December for a tour of the Midwest.

* * *

But the political pumpkin carrying the signs and campaign buttons still must overcome the rocky road of Romney's repeated denial of plans to seek national office next year.

Scranton Says Don't Fight

GOP Unity Sought in Pennsylvania Race

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania hopes the two frontrunners for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination will not make his state a battleground.

He will make personal pleas for party unity to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Rockefeller is the only avowed candidate, but Goldwater is expected to run.

Scranton's scheduled meeting with Rockefeller Thursday in New York City was disclosed Tuesday night after an appearance by Scranton before the State Council of Republican Women.

He called for sending uncommitted delegates from Pennsylvania to the party's nominating convention.

LET'S BUILD

"Don't let us divide ourselves again," Scranton said. "Let us build, build, build a stronger Republican party in Pennsylvania."

By again, Scranton apparently referred to the eight years in which the Democrats controlled Pennsylvania — a period ended with Scranton's election last year.

"In 1961, we began to come back," he said. "In 1962, we came back better. In 1963 we came better than that.

"We won three years in a row because we stuck together. We still are the minority party in this state. We've got to stick together and do a job.

"If we can keep unified then it is certain we can do a job in '64."

MEETING CANCELLED

It had been announced that Scranton would meet with Goldwater today in Washington. However, the death of the senator's mother-in-law in Phoenix may force a postponement.

In any event, it appears that Scranton will be making a futile effort. Goldwater said Tuesday he is not an announced candidate and therefore can't control his supporters' activities in Pennsylvania.

Montana Hit With Below Zero Reading

By The Associated Press

Wintry weather zeroed in on northern and central areas in Montana today with cold, snow and brisk winds.

Temperatures dropped below zero in some areas as a blast of arctic air spread across the Canadian border. One of the cold spots was Cut Bank, Mont., with a reading of 4 below. Light snow fell in many sections, with heavy snow forecasts in mountain areas.

Cold wave warnings were posted for Wyoming as the icy air spread southward and eastward. Colder weather also was in prospect for areas in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Outside the cold belt temperatures were generally near or above seasonal levels in most parts of the nation.

NO STORMS

Light rain and clouds covered broad areas in the central part of the nation but no severe storms were reported. Rain also fell along the West Coast. More than two inches of rain doused Point Piedras Blancas, Calif., in a six-hour period.

Furrious Husband Loses as Mutt Puts on Dog

LONDON (UPI) — A judge yesterday refused to grant Robert Scott a divorce from his wife despite his plea that she let her dog sleep on their bed.

West's Garden of Memories

A Senator, a Baker, a Merrymaker

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaking of Bobby Baker, as who isn't these days, I have a vivid image of the unfrocked Senate majority secretary in my garden of memories.

I remember how Baker used to stand by a chamber door during roll calls. As certain senators filed in to cast their votes, you could see him mouth the word "Aye."

WEST

Was Baker telling the senators how to vote? Or at least how the majority leadership wanted them vote? I used to think so, but now I'm not so sure.

In the light of subsequent developments, it seems entirely possible that rather than saying "Aye" he was merely saying "Hi."

I have altered my original impression owing to the fact that I apparently had Baker sized up all wrong.

★ ★ ★

Although Baker has been pictured as an influential figure, if you took a poll of the Senate today you probably would get the idea that most senators barely knew him.

BOBBY WHO?

"Bobby Baker?" they will say. "Let me see. That name sounds familar. Isn't he the singer who made a record of 'Mack the Knife?'"

Obviously, anyone that obscure wouldn't have been posted at the door to pass along the word on voting. So he must have been just passing the time of day instead.

But if Bobby was not the Senate power I took him to be, I still cling to my first conception of his ability to throw a party. On that point there is no gainsaying that he was a whiz.

★ ★ ★

I recall all too well the formal opening of a plush new ocean-front motor lodge in which he had an interest. Baker invited a few hundred of his most intimate friends to help him celebrate the occasion.

POLICE ESCORTS

The guests, who included a few run-of-the-mill freeloaders like me, were transported to the Atlantic shore in a fleet of air conditioned buses. Police escorts were provided along the entire 150-mile route.

In the rear of each bus was a bar and a bartender, who kept the passengers plied with champagne and other potent potables during the journey.

By the time we reached our destination, I was not only plied, I was ply-eye. And that was only the beginning.

We arrived at the inn just in time for a cocktail party at which the drinks were served by long-legged beauties wearing black net stockings.

RETURN TRIP

The cocktail party lasted until time for the return trip, at which point the bartenders on the buses resumed pouring champagne.

When they poured me off the bus about midnight, I felt like some senators do now. Bobby Baker? Who he?

Gallant Marine, Col. Shoup, Relives Bloody Pacific Battle

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The most costly brief engagement in Marine history began at dawn 20 years ago today. The man who directed the battle of Tarawa was Col. David M. Shoup, about to retire as commandant of the Marine Corps. In this interview he recalls the savage assault.)

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 20 years, Marine Gen. David M. Shoup still relives the blood-drenched battle of Tarawa—all but a few vital seconds that remain a blank in his mind.

Those were the seconds it took Shoup to dash about 40 yards across bullet-swept coral sand to the shelter of a block-house wall.

★ ★ ★

From there, the man who was to become commandant of the Marine Corps directed the savage assault on the tiny central Pacific island which imperial Japan had converted into a fortress.

The three-day battle, which began at dawn just 20 years ago today, was the most costly brief engagement in Marine history.

990 DEAD

When it was over, 990 Marines were dead — many shot down before they could wade ashore from disabled or stranded landing craft. Another 2,311 leathernecks were wounded.

Only 16 of the 4,800-man Japanese garrison lived to be captured. The rest were slain in their bunkers, or killed themselves rather than surrender.

Shoup, 58, has good reason to remember Tarawa—he won the Medal of Honor there.

The citation said:

"Although severely shocked by an exploding enemy shell soon after landing . . . and suffering from a serious, painful leg wound which had become infected, Col. Shoup fearlessly exposed himself to the terrific and relentless artillery, machine gun and rifle fire . . .

RALLIED TROOPS

"Rallying his hesitant troops . . . he gallantly led them across the fringing reefs to charge the heavily fortified island and reinforce our hard-pressed, thinly held lines . . ."

Graying but still rugged-looking, Shoup reminisced about the battle as he sat in his big, memento-cluttered office at Marine headquarters.

★ ★ ★

"It's as clear as though it was yesterday," Shoup told an interviewer in accents that reflected his Indiana birth.

"But there's one period of several seconds that's been a blank all these years.

"I remember looking over a cocoanut log barrier and picking the route I would take. I remember reaching the blockhouse with my radio man. But I've never been able to reconstruct what happened in between."

Shoup had crouched behind the log barrier after wading several hundred yards through shallow waters churned by bullets and exploding shells.

★ ★ ★

Shoup started walking toward shore when his amphibious tractor was knocked out. His amtrack's driver was picked off.

The colonel clasped hands with a Marine corporal and began pushing his way along the shallow reef.

"I felt his grip tighten, and I looked around at him," Shoup said.

"A sniper had put a bullet between his eyes."

Shoup was silent a moment.

"I wouldn't be here today if I hadn't turned to look at him."

For, just then, another bullet fired by a Japanese sniper hit the water, spent its force and slammed into Shoup's neck.

If it had hit him in the face, Shoup believes, he would have been killed. Instead, he escaped with a badly swollen neck.

HIT 9 TIMES

In all, Shoup was struck in nine places. Most of the wounds were nicks, he said.

Among his souvenirs of the battle is a small, black piece of Japanese steel still embedded in the joint of his left thumb.

For two days, Shoup stood at his command post under constant fire and without medical treatment. "I had no time to feel sorry for myself," he said.

Did he know fear?

"Absolutely not," said the Marine commandant. "I didn't have time.

"I don't think a man who's busy has any sensation of fear."

Shoup said nothing about prayer during the desperate battle, but commented: "You do a certain amount of meditating beforehand."

His most acute memories are the promises he made in an effort to comfort some of those who were dying under the blazing sun of Tarawa — promises to help take care of their children.

★ ★ ★

"These promises I made without any realization of how I could fulfill them," he said.

"Yet those men died believing what I promised."

To make good on those battlefield promises, Shoup has put all his weight behind a scholarship fund set up by the 2nd Marine Division Association to educate the children of men who died at Tarawa.

TO MEET TONIGHT

Tonight, as on all other anniversaries of the battle, Shoup will meet with a group of its survivors.

They will gather at the commandant's home for the last time before he retires on Dec. 31, ending a 37-year career with the Corps.

They will swap stories.

They will also pause for what Shoup said will be a moment of "reverent thought."

Dissidents Fail

County GOP Is Now at Peace

By JIM DYGERT

That peaceful atmosphere radiating from Oakland County GOP headquarters is more genuine that it was a few months ago.

A movement by some dissident Birmingham-Bloomfield area Republicans to gain strength for another crack at taking over the state's most powerful county GOP has fizzled.

It first stumbled in July when the group's leader, Robert Lowry, resigned as GOP director for the county's 3rd Legislative

News Analysis

District, which includes the Bloomfield Hills home of Gov. George Romney. Lowry moved to New York.

The move's death knell was sounded this month when Birmingham attorney Dale A. Winnie quit as head of a candidates recruitment and screening committee set up by Lowry.

Winnie was the man whom the dissidents hoped to install as county GOP chairman in place of Charles L. Lyle.

★ ★ ★

The turning point came when the candidates committee recommended its own chairman, Winnie, as Lowry's successor in the district directorship.

Lyle appointed Vern M. Fitch, of 2950 Middlebury, Bloomfield Township.

OFFICIALLY DENIED

Lyle officially denied there was a threat to his leadership and privately pooh-poohed Lowry's group. But he was jittery enough to give Lowry the district post in the first place.

He apparently hoped to win Lowry into the regular party fold after Lowry's group had led John A. (Jack) Gibbs' unsuccessful state chairmanship county GOP Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. last February.

That state battle was the first public exposure of the county GOP's internal struggle. It began last year with a losing attempt to oust Lyle from the post he took over as Elliott's handpicked successor in 1961.

★ ★ ★

The Gibbs-Elliott contest so exhausted Lyle, who understandably backed Elliott, that he talked of resigning within a few months. Later, he changed it to before the end of the year.

DID LITTLE

Lowry's appointment did little to change his loyalty. He recognized the 3rd district GOP in what he styled a drive "to boost citizenship participation the way Gov. Romney means it." Winnie's committee was part of this.

Lowry's group accused Lyle and Elliott of running the party with both an iron grip and a heavy hand, of being more faithful to keeping their power intact than to a "true citizen participation" program that might risk their losing some of it.

These sentiments were not voiced publicly, however. Nor did Lowry spread it around that his drive was also a tool to build power for another showdown with Lyle.

★ ★ ★

Lyle retorted, privately, that his opponents "had no monopoly on citizen participation" and that newly participating citizens (like some in Lowry's group) shouldn't expect to have their way the minute they decided to donate their services.

SAME OLD GAME

It apparently was the same old game of politics, with each side out to recruit new party members to back its cause.

Some dissatisfaction with Lyle still lingers, even among top GOP officeholders who had no part in Lowry's group but who feel Lyle sometimes oversteps his authority.

But things are decidedly more peaceful now.

★ ★ ★

The organized anti-Lyle movement is no more; Winnie has lost interest in having Lyle's post; and Lyle now says he will not step down before the end of 1964.

Whatever the strength and sincerity of the challengers' philosophy, it faded fast. It apparently was just another power struggle.

JFK Praises U.N. Role in Cuban Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today the United Nations "proved an important instrument in resolving the most dangerous crisis of the nuclear era," the October 1962 missiles-in-Cuba crisis.

★ ★ ★

In a letter transmitting to Congress a presidential report on American participation in the United Nations, Kennedy said the world organization has "played an indispensable role in dealing with an impressive number of the world's problems."

He said it has demonstrated its abilities "despite the financial irresponsibility of some of its members" — an obvious reference to the Soviet Union and Communist bloc countries that have refused to pay all their U.S. assessments.

★ ★ ★

Listed first among the problems which were eased because of U.N. action or facilities was the effort by the Soviet Union "to alter the balance of nuclear power by installing missile bases in Cuba."

2 Girls Buy Taylor-Made Costumes

LONDON (AP) — A beauty operator and a seamstress paid $30.80 yesterday for two of Elizabeth Taylor's costumes from the movie "Cleopatra." The costumes originally cost more than $1,000.

The actress donated the dresses to a charity bazaar. She was said to have worn them only once.

Della Duckworth, 20, the beauty operator paid 9 pounds ($25.20) for one.

★ ★ ★

"The fact it was worn by Liz Taylor doesn't make a great deal of difference to me," she told newsmen. "I just liked the dress."

Judy Britton, 19, a seamstress at a London theater, bought the other for two pounds ($5.60).

"I doubt if I'll ever wear it," she said, "I'm too fat. But I'll keep it in my wardrobe because of its historical interest."

The Grand Canyon was formed by wind and erosion.

Pizza Squad Tops League

Donar's Pizzeria moved past Michigan Machine Rebuilders and Birmingham Drug into first place in the Northwood Lanes Senior House League last week.

The pizza squad took three points from the drug team and had a helping hand from Conklin-Palmer Insurance which toppled the machinists for four points.

Donar's now leads by one point.

Jim Milford, Northwood manager, took scoring honors with 253—677 for the house team which dropped three points to Torrence Oil.

★ ★ ★

Mike, Ed and Bob Drabik, a brother act, had 225-218—615, 211 and 224, respectively to lead Birmingham Bowl to a win over Tri-Vending — despite a 230-220—663 for the losers.

Mother Guilty of Possessing Dope in Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Norma Webber, 38, mother of four, faces one to 10 years in prison after her 12-year-old son told Superior Court she gave marijuana parties at home.

Mrs. Webber of Mission Hills was found guilty of possession of marijuana by a jury Tuesday. She will be sentenced Dec. 19.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Webber, wife of a union business agent, Carlton Webber, was arrested last March.

Police found a coffee can full of marijuana in the house and a large supply of it in the trunk of her car.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Webber told the court her husband had framed her and bribed the son to testify against his mother.

To What Depths Will Man Sink to Avoid Wife?

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — "All I want is a little sleep," said Ralph Harris, 40, when he was discovered in a 25-foot-deep manhole.

A city employe was inspecting a water main when he came across Harris. He called the police. Harris climbed out of the manhole and proceeded to fall asleep next to a tree.

* * *

Harris told officers he had a fight with his wife and "wanted to get away from her for awhile."

* * *

He removed the 70-pound cover to get into the manhole, but it had been put back in place by the time the inspector arrived. The employe said it would have been nearly impossible for Harris to get the top off from below and "it might have been another two years before we checked that manhole again."

The cachalot, or sperm whale, is the only one with a throat long enough to swallow a man.

Date of Execution Set for Dixie Killer

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — A Negro whose death sentence at age 15 sparked international concern faces electrocution Dec. 6.

* * *

For the fourth time in two years Preston Cobb Jr. heard the death sentence imposed Monday. He was convicted in August 1961, for killing his elderly white employer. Numerous appeals have been made, all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, but all were turned down.

Dance Series for Blind Will Start Tonight

A series of square dances for the blind and visually handicapped will be presented at Central Elementary School, 101 E. Pike, beginning at 8 p.m. tonight.

Cosponsored by the Pontiac Lions Club, the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation and the Pontiac League for the Blind, the dances will be staged on a monthly basis.

The Style-steppers, led by caller Ed Farr, will lead tonight's dances.

Intermission entertainment will feature the Boys' Quartet of Pontiac Central High School. This group includes Don Belote, Wendell Hutchinson, Glen Sutt and David Orser.

Anyone needing transportation to the dance should contact Ray McDonald, Fe 2-8545.

Saturday and Sunday are generally accepted as the two most dangerous days to drive in modern traffic.

Transit Workers on Strike in Italy

ROME (UPI) — All 100,000 bus and streetcar workers throughout Italy were called out on a one-day strike today, posing mammoth problems for an estimated 11 million Italians who rely on public transportation to get to their daily jobs.

The nationwide strike was ordered by three big unions, one of them Communist, in an effort to break a deadlock in negotiations over a new labor contract.

The unions have asked a 40 per cent increase in wages, which currently run about $160 monthly. The employers, nearly 300 public transportation companies, offered an increase of five per cent.

Reception Invitations May Vary

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My son is to be married to a girl who lives in a distant city. Since it will be impossible for any of our relatives and friends to attend the wedding which is to take place in the bride's home-town, I would like to have an open house reception for them when they come here where they intend to live.

Will you please tell me what type of invitation to send and also how it should be worded?

* * *

A: Either write across your double visiting card: "To meet Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" and the time and date in the lower left hand corner, or else have the invitations engraved:

"Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith request the pleasure of your company at a reception to meet Mr. and Mrs. John Smith etc."

Q: I was married almost 20 years when my husband died suddenly. I loved him very much and his death was a great shock. Now to add to my distress, a friend tells me that I have to give up his name and also discontinue wearing my wedding ring. Will you please tell me if she is right about this?

* * *

A: She is not right. You not only may, but should very definitely continue to call yourself Mrs. John Smith. You also continue to wear your wedding ring.

Q: When pastries or ice cream molds come in fluted paper shells, should they be served in these or taken out of them? I mean in a private house, not a restaurant.

A: If the ice cream is at all soft, it should be left in the paper shells. Pastries should be taken out of the shells.

* * *

The clothes of the bride's and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception."

To obtain a copy, send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

* * *

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Phil Rose of California calls this short pullover top "Blue Tail Fly," inspired by the famous folk song. The short shorts underneath are white in front, blue in back. Retails locally for about $16 for the set.

In Football, That Is

Girls Don't Get Passes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 14 and I love to play football. I have quite a few girl friends who play tackle football with me every Friday and Saturday night.

ABBY

If girls can play tackle football as well as boys, and are willing to take the chance of getting hurt, why don't they let girls play on the team?

LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: It's bad enough when a BOY gets his teeth kicked out. Contact sports are NOT for young ladies. You'll have to learn how to intercept a pass some other way.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married to a divorced man who has one married daughter living out of the state.

* * *

She didn't take it very well when she heard that her father had remarried. Now she wants us to come to visit her, but I am not so sure I want to go unless I know that I will be accepted.

My husband refuses to go without me and he says he is certain that I will be treated with respect.

* * *

Please rush your answer to me as my husband had a new grandson he has never seen and is eager to make the trip.

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Go. But leave at home that chip on your shoulder or it will be a plank by the time you get there.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been on the same job 24 years. He has only one more year to go before he retires, provided he doesn't get caught stealing.

This has been going on for about three years. I've begged him to stop, but he won't listen to me.

Most of the things he has brought home are expensive, but he has absolutely no use for them. They're just hidden away.

I have lost all respect for him. He has always been a clean and honest man. I can't understand it. If I turn him in, he'll lose his job and our children will be disgraced.

He reads DEAR ABBY. Maybe he will listen to you.

THIEF'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband appears to be a sick man. A thief takes things he wants and needs. A kleptomaniac has a compulsion to take things whether he needs them or not.

* * *

I urge you to get your husband to a doctor. Psychiatrists have been able to cure kleptomania.

A kleptomaniac is as morally blameless, as, say, a diabetic.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ARTHUR: Don't say you "hate" dancing if you don't know how. Learn, and then decide.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

A Sir James exclusive, imported for you. A vibrant colorful Persian print patio skirt done in cotton ottoman combined with a sleeveless back zip shell in a dyed-to-match color. Both available locally.

Child neglect cases are only one of a number of various types handled by Mrs. Pat Caronis and Eleanor Logan, policewomen for the City of Pontiac. In this official Pontiac Police Department photograph, the children were living in the conditions pictured here. The crib in the upper right hand corner was placed against an oil heater, which could have seriously burned the children had they reached out to touch it. The entire house was in the same condition as this room. Stories on Mrs. Caronis and Miss Logan and their work will begin in Thursday's Women's Section.

University Announces 2 New Coed Dorms

By JANE BIGLER

Michigan State University will boast two new coed dorms next fall which will house 1224 students each. They will be located on South campus and their names have recently been announced by President John Hannah.

One dorm will be known as the Forest H. and Alice Akers Hall. Mr. Akers was a former trustee of MSU. The other dorm will be named after Harry A. and Jessie T. Fee, a brother and sister who have contributed much to the university.

DEMONSTRATE NATIVE DANCES

The International club of MSU sponsored an International Ball recently at the Union Building. The evening was highlighted by a demonstration of the native dances of the many countries represented here.

★ ★ ★

The International club has been in existence for 20 years and is the largest voluntary organization on campus.

★ ★ ★

Senior Clark Davis, Rose Court, is a member of the Spartan debate squad's affirmative side. Recent victories over Wisconsin and the University of Michigan have been gained by the team with this year's topic, "Resolved: that the federal government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates."

Carol Raynes, Pine Heights, recently became an active member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

★ ★ ★

Mike Kaines, a junior from Drayton Plains, has been running with the Spartan cross country team and helped the harriers gain another Big Ten championship and a chance to run in the IC4A meet in New York City this week.

★ ★ ★

The Interfraternity Council held a rush conclave at the Union recently for all freshmen boys. Each fraternity had a booth and the boys were given a chance to wander around and talk to the different representatives of each fraternity.

COMPLETING POLICE TRAINING

Senior Kay Whitfield, Oakwood, is spending the fall term completing her training in the field of police administration in Detroit.

Presentation Highlights Ingathering

A presentation by Cheryl Montgomery highlighted the annual Thanksgiving Ingathering of the Pillar Club Tuesday evening.

★ ★ ★

Miss Montgomery is a graduate student at Pontiac Northern High School. A soprano soloist, her program included a number of songs and a talk on her European tour this summer.

Judith Parry, vocal and piano instructor at Pontiac Northern High School, accompanied Cheryl.

★ ★ ★

Following the vocal presentation, Miss Montgomery told of her experiences as soloist with the 70 voice Michigan Chorale.

One unforgettable experience which Miss Montgomery related was that of singing a solo for the president of Finland in his home as he entertained the group.

NEW OFFICERS

The annual election of officers followed the program. To be installed in January are Beulah Phillips, president; Mrs. Earl Treadwell, vice president; Mrs. Fred Holmes, secretary; Mrs. E. C. Russell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Phillip Viereich, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Conner, publicity.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Everett M. Peterson opened her West Iroquois Road home for the affair. Committee chairman Mrs. Robert Tarr was assisted by Mrs. Marcus Scott, Mrs. Conner, Mrs. Ross Tenny and Mrs. Theodore E. Wiersema.

Fast, Slow Risers

In quick breads the leavening action takes place as soon as liquid is added and while the dough is in the oven.

With yeast breads, the action occurs slowly and is retarded or aided by the ingredients, temperature, time and mixing conditions.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: I have two double-knit woolen dresses that are both too long at the waistline. Both have elastic at the waist. I am an experienced seamstress, but many times I find very usable suggestions.

Mrs. H. C.

Dear Mrs. H. C.: I hope you are referring to double-knit fabric that is purchased by the yard in fabric departments. Try your dress on, tie a string tightly at the waist, pull up any ease you desire and then mark with white chalk just under the string.

Cut about five-eighths inch below this mark, or slightly lower to insure plenty of ease for the bodice. Sew the skirt to the bodice and sew another piece of tape on the wrong side of your dress, just covering the seamline, for a casing for the elastic.

Some ready-made dresses have a seam at the waistline and some don't, but the soft, blouson look seems to have almost the same effect either way.

Mrs. N. K. says: In the very best of coats, the first wear shows in the center back seam of the lining. I have discovered that this can be overcome by laying the center back of the pattern on a fold, thus eliminating the back seam under the pleat at the center back.

Dear Eunice: Surely I can't be the only gal who sews and seems to be stretching the necklines of my dresses. At least, when I finish them, they always seem to gap a little and look out of shape. What am I doing wrong?

Mrs. P. M. M.

Dear Mrs. P. M. M.: Many women do stretch the necklines before applying the facings. I have found one solution that works in most cases. After stitching the shoulder seams together, run a machine stitching about ½ inch from the cut edge of the neckline.

As you are sewing with the machine, hold your hand directly behind the presser foot so the fabric will sort of bunch up in back of the foot.

This is called "finger shirring" and will add just enough ease and firmness to the neckline that it is bound to fit better. Try it, you'll be delighted!

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Save those slide fasteners from worn out garments. The long ones can be shortened very simply. Just mark the desired length on the slide fastener tape and staple securely at this point.

Then, sew a small piece of twill tape across this point to prevent the slide fastener from being zipped too far.

You can often purchase slide fasteners for almost nothing in various colors and lengths. Snatch them up and use them in this way for quite a money saver.

Mrs. C. E. Bateman, Portland, Oregon, wins a Tailor Trix pressing board for this great suggestion.

Dear Readers: Is my face red? A few weeks ago I published a suggestion for using a new colorless thread for slide fasteners, top stitching, etc., where a color is hard to match.

It sounded like such a great idea, but now, much to my horror, I have found through new testing that this thread is nylon and will burn up and completely disintegrate when pressed with an iron that is too hot.

May I recommend that you use this type of thread only at your own risk and of course, only where you are positive it will not be pressed with a hot iron. It would definitely not be suitable in making or mending cottons or wash clothes.

Dear Eunice Farmer: Surely there must be other women who have a physically handicapped person to care for, either a temporary broken leg or arm, or a more permanent type.

Clothing is almost impossible to find for ease in handling, dressing, etc. I wonder if your readers could help by sending you their particular ideas on the subject and perhaps in some way you could pass them on to us.

Mrs. E. O. C.

Dear Mrs. E. O. C.: This sounds like a very worthwhile project and I would be most interested in helping all of you who are caring for a handicapped person.

There has already been some research on this subject which I will look into further and at the same time, it would help me if you would send in your own suggestions that have actually been tried and proven. Please send them to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Husband "too tired" for good times?

If your husband keeps coming home too "beat" to be gay and stimulating, too worn out to take you out, remember—the hectic "rat race" of today's business requires men to perform like human dynamos day after day, which builds up churning tensions that rob literally millions of husbands of energy and vigor they might otherwise enjoy!

• What can you do to help counteract this tension-caused loss of vitality?

• Many doctors recommend augmenting the daily diet with nature's remarkable "bounce-back" food, famous Kretschmer Wheat Germ. Made from the germinating heart of the kernel, wheat germ has been established by official U. S. Dept. of Agriculture studies to be the most healthful food known!

• Kretschmer Wheat Germ actually supplies a whopping 30 nutrients important to good health, vigor and stamina!

• Serve your husband this remarkable food every day and see how much more pep and vitality he has! Use these delicious, tiny toasted flakes as a cereal, on cereal, or add to pancakes, waffles, scrambled eggs, etc.

• Thrifty, tasty Kretschmer Wheat Germ is great for the entire family, so be sure to get some. Look for it in vacuum-sealed glass jars in the cereal section of your food store. Choose either regular or Sugar 'N Honey.

• GUARANTEE—(1) Kretschmer Wheat Germ is the most healthful food known; (2) Your family will like its nutty flavor. If you are not satisfied, just write your name, address, and price paid on back of label and mail to Kretschmer, Carrollton, Michigan, for full refund.

WMU's student enrollment this fall shows a more diverse distribution from around the State of Michigan, than at any time in the 60-year history of the Kalamazoo university.

The present enrollment of some 750 Oakland County students shows a 13.5 per cent increase over last year.

Rev. Edmond I. Watkins performed the evening ceremony for the daughter of the Carl F. Doolins and the son of the Orville A. Haywards. Both families are of East First Avenue.

★ ★ ★

A white orchid centered her bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis.

★ ★ ★

Wearing pink silk organza over taffeta, styled with ruffled tiered back, Cathy Lynne Doolin attended her sister as maid of honor.

★ ★ ★

On the esquire side were best man Dennis Hubble, and ushers Keith Ellsworth of Royal Oak and Steven Doolin.

Pianist Shows Sensitivity

BY ERIC W. ALLEN

Pontiac has again been privileged with an evening of excellent music performed sensitively and with understanding.

★ ★ ★

Gabriel Chodos, 24-year-old piano instructor at the University of Oregon, appeared at Northern High School last night in his first public performance away from the West Coast.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by Pontiac chapter of Hadassah, Mr. Chodos opened the recital with Schubert's melodious Moments Musicaux. It was a well balanced, but reserved performance.

The young pianist did not warm to his task until the third movement of the second work on the program . . . Beethoven's Sonata in F Minor, the Appassionata.

★ ★ ★

MOOD RISES

Mr. Chodos built on one theme, then another through the first and second movements, until his emotional mood was prepared for the fiery and climactic third. Attuned to the character of the work, he performed with all the technical bravado and controlled power that is required.

★ ★ ★

The Beethoven was a major accomplishment. Mr. Chodos was more at ease following it. For the remainder of the evening, he showed none of the restraint and hesitant stiffness of the opening Schubert.

His interpretation of four Brahms pieces was delicate.

CONTEMPORARY

But 18th and 19th Century masters were only part of Mr. Chodos repertoire. He was quite at home with the contemporary composer, Ernest Bloch.

★ ★ ★

The Bloch and Beethoven works were high points of the evening. It was sophisticated and highly complex music that was well performed.

★ ★ ★

But the audience responded more readily to the familiar romantic works, especially to two Chopin pieces — a brilliant Barcarolle, Opus 60, and the lilting B Minor Scherzo, Opus 20.

Chopin ended the recital, but Mr. Chodos returned to the stage for one encore . . . Schuman's beloved Traumerei, from Kinderscenen.

★ ★ ★

The hymn-like melody closed the evening much as it had begun — quietly. But between the two static points of rest were two hours of exciting, timeless music, well performed by a skilled and understanding pianist.

Easier Than Sweeping

Pots 'Sponge' Patio

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — After a big rain there are always small puddles of water on our patio. I set my clay pots with plants in them in these puddles and very shortly all the water is gone. Easier than sweeping the water off. — MRS. E. L. A.

DEAR POLLY — To remove the water line or water spots from any clear glass containers such as rose bowls, vases or drinking glasses, rub the lines with paste silver polish which has been applied to a dampened cloth or sponge. Rinse with water, and all offending marks will have disappeared. — MRS. L. V. M.

DEAR POLLY — It is much easier to clean the car floor mats if you push the front seat back as far as it will go before vacuuming the front and vice versa for the back mat.

When carrying cold drinks in a vacuum jug, put the ice cubes in a plastic bag tightly fastened with a rubber band, put in the jug and then pour in your drink. It will keep cool without being diluted. — CHARLES.

DEAR POLLY — An old kitchen canister set can be a most valuable addition to a boy's room. Place the cans in his desk or dresser to hold marbles, knives, rocks and all those things boys hang on to and keep in their pockets.

Let the boy paint the cans so they are a part of the room's decor and label with his name or decorate with decals. Each can be labeled for a certain item if you like.

They would also be fine in a girl's room to hold pins, hair curlers, ribbons and so forth. I find they save me a lot of picking up and the boys enjoy using the cans. — MOTHER OF FOUR BOYS.

DEAR POLLY — When I do my weekly thorough cleaning, I start in a different room each week. The first two or three rooms always get the best cleaning when I feel fresh, so this way no one room gets the short end and the cleaning seems a less monotonous task. — E. R. C.

DEAR POLLY — It is very easy for a gift card to fall out from under the ribbon and get lost. Often at a shower it is hard to determine which card goes with which gift. When wrapping a gift, I loop the flap of the envelope over the ribbon and seal the envelope. It is impossible for the card to get lost or dropped. — MRS. P. B.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Second Family Death Is Tragic Coincidence

HOUSTON (UPI) — The death yesterday of Francis Engel, 8, who fell out of a tree Saturday, was a tragic coincidence for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Engel.

The Engels lost another son, Lawrence, 6, when he fell from a tree in 1947. Both boys died of brain injuries.

Special Class Will Instruct the Teachers

Screw drivers and hammers instead of paper and pencils will be the tools teachers will need for a special class Tuesday, Dec. 10, at Oakland Schools.

Dr. Harry T. Hahn, director of instruction, will show teachers how to build headsets that plug directly into a tape recorder or record player.

The object, says Dr. Hahn, is not to turn teachers into ham radio operators, but merely to show how to build earphones for classroom "listening posts."

★ ★ ★

Listening posts, he said, consist of a tape recorder or record player with each child plugged in for instruction through a set of earphones.

EASY TO ASSEMBLE

Dr. Hahn said the devices, which are used extensively in Pontiac schools, are easily assembled with inexpensive materials.

Miss Margaret Scott, audio-visual instructor for Pontiac schools, is the original designer of the classroom listening post, which are used for individual and small group instruction.

Mishap Kills Four in S. Africa Mine

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Four African miners were killed and six others were missing today after a rock fall at a gold mine near Johannesburg.

Fourteen miners were injured but not seriously, the mine owners reported.

Rescue teams began a search for the missing men. The owners said they might have escaped into a mine corridor. The rock fall occurred at the Western Deep Levels mine, owned by the Anglo-American Corp.

Results of Coup Have Them Worried

Fearful Cong Step Up Murder Drive

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Communists in South Viet Nam are preparing an "exterminate the enemy" drive.

The high command of the Viet Cong seems worried by results of the recent military coup in Saigon which brought down

News Analysis

President Ngo Dinh Diem. They apparently fear that once the new regime gets its bearings, an all-out campaign will be mounted to clear the Mekong River delta of guerrillas.

★ ★ ★

The Communists appear to be worried, too, by defections from the guerrilla ranks and by the tendency of non-Communist rebels who had battled the Diem regime to rally now to the cause of Saigon.

These events are likely to spur the Communists, strong in the populous delta area, to a murderous campaign to convince the population that the new military government can not maintain order.

'COMPLETION'

The Viet Cong leaders, who term themselves the national front for liberation of South Viet Nam, are calling for "competition" among their hard-core, indoctrinated guerrillas. This competition, complete with quotas and plan goals, revolves about the killing of government forces, and presumably the killing of Americans who help and advise those forces.

The Communists call this the "Ap Bac emulation drive." It is named for a village in the heart of a delta area heavily infested by Communists. It was conceived more than a month before the coup, to counteract Communist losses by defections.

Many of the men dragooned into Viet Cong service are not Communists and are conscripted as labor and supply forces. Thousands have responded to an open arms appeal promising amnesty to guerrillas who desert the Red cause.

The delta is the key to Viet Nam's future. It is a productive agricultural sector and the area most heavily infested by the Viet Cong. The Saigon strategy up to now has been to try to secure northern areas before turning to the tougher job in the delta.

★ ★ ★

Aware that a delta offensive by the Saigon government may be near, the Communists have told their hard-core regulars—wily jungle fighters who have been battling government forces for years — that they must "exterminate the enemy and reduce his forces." Along with this, said a broadcast directive, "local troops and guerrillas must clearly realize that destroying strategic hamlets and stepping up guerrilla warfare are their main tasks."

★ ★ ★

Strategic hamlets — villages fortified by fences of sharpened bamboo spikes and patrolled by locally armed militia who can call upon army bases for support—have not been a spectacular success in the delta area. This is partly because of geography and partly because the Communists have maintained a strong hold on much of the territory.

The Red idea now is to make the hamlets untenable before the new regime is able to launch any general drive to clear the area of Communists.

MOST OF PENINSULA

The Viet Cong holds most of the Ca Mau peninsula in the southeast corner of the country and many other delta areas. For a long time the Saigon government has had no control in such areas, where the Viet Cong has collected taxes, run schools and conscripted men for the guerrilla war effort. But in many areas, it is clear the Communists have no control over the people.

Resistance and defections probably explain much of the prospective Red murder campaign. Linked with this drive is a Viet Cong order to its regulars to "mingle with the masses" and work harder at ideology.

Before the Saigon coup which brought death to Diem and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, Red activities created the impression that the Viet Cong had hoped Diem's internal troubles would work for the Communists in the long run. Now there are strong indications of a violent change in the Communist approach.

If the Viet Cong acts as might be expected, there should be a greatly increased campaign of terror in South Viet Nam cities, such as grenade incidents.

TO HURT MORALE

Intelligence agents reported recently the capture of a Communist who confessed he was one of 40 armed with grenades and sent to Saigon to spread terror. The objective was to attack public morale and create the impression that the Saigon government could not protect the population. It is an old revolutionary tactic.

Marseilles Mayor Eyes Challenge of de Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — Socialist Gaston Defferre, the mayor of Marseilles, may challenge Charles de Gaulle in France's 1965 presidential election.

★ ★ ★

"I have begun to think if over," said Defferre in Paris. "I have not merely the right to do so, but also the duty." President de Gaulle is certain to seek reelection.

Pontiac Board to Look Over School Report

A short agenda, featuring a report on the 1962-63 audit, will greet Pontiac school board members tomorrow night.

Robert Lohff, of Lohff & Noble, 43½ N. Saginaw, will go over the 1962-63 audit with board members.

In a related matter, board members will review the June 30 financial report, which summarizes the income and expenditures as compared with budget estimates for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

Other business will include discussion of the annual report, published in the Nov. 11 edition of The Press.

REPORT REVIEWS

The report was designed to review school improvements of the past ten years and point to some of the future needs.

Pontiac residents were asked to fill out a questionnaire in the report and submit it to school officials. The replies so far will be discussed with the board.

De Gaulle-Erhard Meeting Stirs Hopes, Fears

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—When Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany comes to Paris Thursday to see President Charles de Gaulle, he will be starting a fresh relationship, like a new kid in a school, or a recently arrived neighbor in the block.

The chummy mood that has been built up between France and Germany in the past five years has been the fruit of a warm and friendly contact between de Gaulle and Konrad Adenauer. Now, with Adenauer out, and Erhard in, there is bound to be a new approach — and perhaps a vastly different result.

* * *

The change will be apparent the minute Erhard steps off the train. He will be met by Premier Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, a correct welcome by protocol standards. But it represents a switch, because de Gaulle on several occasions went out of his way to greet Adenauer at the airport, stretching protocol, since de Gaulle is a chief of state and the German chancellor a chief of government.

Adenauer and de Gaulle used to do their most effective work in man-to-man sessions without even an interpreter present. De Gaulle and Erhard will meet three times Thursday and Friday but they will be alone at only one of these meetings. Ministers and advisers will attend the other two.

COOPERATION TREATY

This does not mean that de Gaulle and Erhard will not push ahead with the French-German cooperation treaty, which calls for periodic consultations at the upper echelons. But meshing of thinking and coordination of policies may be more difficult than in the past.

Erhard may be more outspoken than Adenauer in airing the differences between the two nations — and when he does speak out he will be running head-on into some of de Gaulle's most cherished concepts. Adenauer tended to skirt areas of disagreement to seek possibilities for accord.

* * *

De Gaulle and Adenauer liked to run foreign policy for their governments, leaving the foreign ministers to handle details. But Erhard has his eye on internal political affairs, leaving Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder a much freer hand.

De Gaulle has never had much interest in economics. He has delegated this to the premier and finance minister. And French economic thinking generally keeps to a government-planning tack that runs counter to Erhard's liberal free enterprise aims.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

Erhard and de Gaulle have met before, but there is no evidence that either worked up much enthusiasm for the other. The prospect is that the old de Gaulle-Adenauer warm personal ties will give way to a cool, correct relationship. The communiques usually describe talks under these conditions as "frank and cordial."

De Gaulle and Erhard will have much to be frank about. The two men are likely to discuss:

1. General world political conditions, including East-West relations.

2. The North Atlantic alliance, and military contributions from various members.

3. Agricultural prices within the Common Market.

4. The possibility that German troops might take over some supply bases in France being evacuated by Americans.

NATO INTEGRATION

Erhard said in a television interview recently:

"I hope that within the North Atlantic alliance we can find a way to carry forward Atlantic integration without disturbance or hindrance despite the French efforts for self-sufficiency."

Erhard said he planned to bring up this problem with de Gaulle. In de Gaulle's lexicon, integration is practically a nasty word and there was some talk that Erhard might not dare broach the subject. But Erhard has confirmed that he does intend to talk about it, and to ask for a bigger French contribution to conventional forces available to NATO.

* * *

Another ticklish subject on the agenda is the Common Market. During these discussions, there is always the possibility that the question of British admission could come up. De Gaulle vetoed the British application last January, to the great disappointment of Erhard.

Alabama is eighth among the coal producing states.

Junior Editors Quiz on POTTERY

QUESTION: How are ceramics made?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Ceramics are useful or beautiful things — often both—made of clay and baked so they become hard. It is an ancient craft, for people have been making pottery for at least 10,000 years.

A great step ahead was the discovery of a revolving stand called the "potter's wheel." Our picture shows one in action. First, a mass of clay is thrown on the wheel.

Then, as the wheel spins, the potter uses various implements and his hands to shape the pot inside and outside. Our potter has built up a symmetrically shaped jar and now he is using his fingers to pull a lip out at the top as the jar spins. The result will be as shown at lower left.

A method used in making pottery on a commercial scale is to make the clay into a liquid called "slip." This is poured into molds.

The slip hardens first near the mold; when enough has hardened, the inside slip is poured out, the mould opened and the object removed. After being shaped, ceramic ware is heated in high temperature kilns, which gives the clay stone-like hardness. A final, shiny "glaze" is often applied.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a bit of modeling clay and make the pot in upper right. Cut out round base first. Then roll several clay snakes and wind these upward on the base, coiling them more widely for the body and narrower for the top. Smooth down outside.

Scootin' Nude

It's a Safety Buff-er

CHINGFORD, England (UPI) —A modern Lady Godiva—a nude girl riding a motor scooter—has started a storm here.

The nude, wearing only a crash helmet, has been suggested as a poster for a council road safety campaign aimed at young people. It carries the slogan:

"But always wear a helmet."

★ ★ ★

Road safety officers are for it, but the town's clergymen are against it.

WHAT THEY LIKE

"Disgusting," said Rev. Harold Goldsack, a Methodist. "The slogan seems to suggest that they can do what they like provided they wear a crash helmet."

★ ★ ★

But Charles Henderson, the town's chief road safety officer, said "Let's face it—we are living in the age of the nude. If the body beautiful will help to save lives, why shouldn't we do this in road safety?"

Hearing Scheduled on Building Freeway

LANSING (AP) — A public hearing has been set for Dec. 5 at Rockford for discussion of construction plans for the first leg of the Grand Rapids-Cadillac U.S. 131 freeway, the State Highway Department reports.

★ ★ ★

Estimated cost of the 11.7-mile project from Grand Rapids to a point between Rockford and Cedar Springs is $9 million.

The View From Asia—III

Few Doubt Chinese Will Communize, Rule the East

(EDITOR'S NOTE — How do the Asians who live under the shadow of Red China feel about that giant among nations? AP special correspondent William L. Ryan reports in the last of a series of three, that by and large Communist China is regarded with awe and dread.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

TOKYO (AP) — The image of Red China in Asia is that of a gigantic dragon which casts an ominous shadow over the whole continent.

Asian leaders take little comfort from the ideological warfare between Moscow and Peking. They do not expect that warfare to bring Red China to its knees.

★ ★ ★

"That is wishful thinking," said one highly placed informant. "It would be utterly ridiculous for Americans to rely on the notion that Red China is headed for collapse or anything like it."

Asian leaders scoff at the notion that the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa will ever be able to mount a successful invasion of the mainland. They look upon Red China as a fact of life which must be lived with. If they have any hope regarding China, it is that she will evolve some day into something less menacing to her neighbors. But it seems a dim hope.

SOVIET AID

Withdrawal of Soviet economic and military help from Red China hurt the Chinese. It caused severe shortages in some areas. But it did other things, too.

It forced the Chinese to go it alone, and that is what they are doing. It heightened Asian respect for the Chinese potential and even imparted some satisfaction that an Asian nation was able to stand up to a mighty power and defy it.

★ ★ ★

Now the reports from the most reliable sources are that China, far from heading toward collapse, has made a recovery from her setbacks in the 1958-59 period. Indeed, many Japanese who have a special view of China all their own, insist that the Red Chinese are getting stronger all the time, despite Soviet pressure.

ASIAN VIEW

How do Asians view the Red Chinese? Usually it depends upon the country. A prosperous Japanese businessman, for example, does not see all menace.

One of the best known businessmen in Japan exclaimed recently: "How tantalizing is the potential purchasing power of 700 million Chinese! And we could be left out of it!"

★ ★ ★

His idea—and it reflects the ideas of many other leading Japanese—is that Japan should be preparing to enter that Chinese market, against the time when real purchasing power is there and before people like the British and West Germans steal the show.

CIVIL WARS

Leaders in Southeast Asia see the principal aim of Red China as stirring local civil wars. They do not view China as wanting outright conquest, but of seeking domination after total expulsion of American and Western influence, so that governments can be turned into helpless satellites.

Southeast Asians see the No. 1

★ ★ ★

In India, China is regarded as pure menace. India turned violently anti-Chinese after last year's border fighting with the Red Chinese.

Pakistan's regime seems to be trying to use China as a foil, playing footsie with Peking as a response to U.S. military aid to India. It does so cautiously.

The Pakistani regime also fears the Chinese. President Mohammed Ayub Khan is not admired by the Chinese, who have in the past called him an American puppet.

FEELING OF AWE

A feeling of awe, coupled with dread, can be sensed in Southeast Asia. There—in nations which already have feelings of insecurity because of their large Chinese minorities — China is looked upon as a nation asserting the right to speak for all Asia.

They see China ready and able to expand, and these fears have become more pronounced since the Indian border fighting.

★ ★ ★

One often hears the view expressed that the Chinese are far more nationalist than they are Communist and that the party Chinese goal as domination of the land along the Mekong River through Thailand and Laos to the delta in South Viet Nam.

organization is just a convenient instrument of centralized control while China builds a powerful national organization.

The Soviet-Chinese split reflects the ebb and flow of fears and prejudices all over Asia. The closer the nation to China, the more wary it is of arousing Chinese anger.

LONG VIEW

As for the Chinese, they appear to have the long view of history, and seem convinced that some day they will have communized all Asia. The first contest with the Soviet Union, therefore, is within the Communist parties which eventually are, in Peking's view, to be the instruments of communization.

Except for India, which is a specific case in Asia, in countries bordering China the Chinese Communists have won the struggle against the pro-Russians. In Indonesia, a huge Communist party's leadership sits awkwardly on the fence, wishing the whole question would disappear.

★ ★ ★

The contest for influence is spirited and open. It is clear that Red China is making known its view that the Russians, for all of their ownership of Siberia and vast slices of central Asia, is not an Asian but a European power.

Withdrawal of Soviet help set back some Chinese ambitions, including hopes for quick entry into the nuclear weapons club. But China has a standing army of 2.5 million men, backed by a labor corps of another million. In reserve are tens of millions more.

Thus, for Asians there is less comfort than worry in the Soviet-Chinese argument. The worry is that the argument may drive the Red Chinese into a reckless policy of coupling their national interests with their revolutionary cause.

Socialite's Dog Stolen; Owner Is 'Slumming'

NEW YORK (AP)—Countess Christina Paolozzi's pooch has been pilfered. And, worst of all, the countess was caught shopping in a five-and-dime.

★ ★ ★

The 24-year-old — who won considerable attention by posing in the nude for a fashion magazine — said she parked her orange Pomeranian, Lupino, outside the store and told it to stay there. A frenzied barking brought the countess on the run, but too late to stop a red-haired woman from fleeing with Lupino.

Shook as she was, the countess had the presence of mind to explain what she was doing in a five-and-dime. She couldn't find a single candle in her plush East Side apartment.

And one simply doesn't dine without candlelight.

County Committee Sets Scope of Study on Airport Needs

The county supervisors' aviation committee yesterday set the scope for a study intended to show whether Pontiac Municipal Airport or Allen Airport should be developed into the county's major terminal.

Committee Chairman Charles Edwards said the study should show which facility can best meet the future aviation needs of the area.

Location and comparable expansion and operation costs will be major items taken into consideration, he added.

For these purposes, the committee agreed the scope should be limited to:

ECONOMIC PROFILE

- A study of the county's economic profile and its bearing on air transportation.
- A forecast of the area's total aviation potential for the year's 1965, 1970 and 1975.
- A plan indicating the necessity for commercial and general aviation airport development in the county.
- A functional, organizational plan, according to Federal Aviation Agency requirements, for implementing an aviation development program.

LIMITED COST

Edwards said the cost of the survey would be limited to $10,000, and that it should be completed within 120 days.

He said various engineering firms will be asked to submit bids on doing the study within the next two weeks.

According to Edwards, an ensuing report on survey findings also would include other points already brought out in previous studies.

These include a survey on passenger use of airlines conducted by Pontiac, and the County Planning Commission's studies of past and current development of private, corporate, executive and military aircraft operations, numbers of based aircraft, airport facilities and related activities in the county.

EXAMINE FILES

The committee also asked the planning commission to have one of its secretaries scan the aircraft license files in Lansing to determine which aircraft owned by Oakland County residents and firms are based elsewhere.

These persons and firms then would be asked by the commission what facilities they would require to transfer their planes to Oakland County.

Among known advantages in developing the county-owned Allen Airport in Orion Township, said Edwards, are its wider accessibility to I-75 and relatively undeveloped environs that lend to easy expansion.

* * *

These advantages will have to be weighed against the fact that Pontiac Municipal Airport already is a $3-million facility in Waterford Township, whereas Allen is only a small airfield with sod runways, he said.

Toll of Coup in Iraq Put at 200

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)— The death toll in the Iraqi military coup that toppled the Ba'athist Socialist regime is estimated unofficially at 200, and the government of pro-Nasser President Abel Salam Aref appears to have gained firm control of the Arab nation.

Life is slowly returning to normal in Baghdad, some shops have reopened, but only military vehicles move through the streets. Tanks guard strategic intersections.

The coup was launched just before dawn Monday when the tanks rumbled into Baghdad and President Aref went on the air with a surrender appeal addressed to the National Guard, the civilian militia the Ba'ath government had organized.

* * *

Aref's appeal was ignored and heavy firing erupted around the capital as army units used tanks and other heavy weapons to disperse National Guard youths armed only with rifles and small automatic weapons.

LIGHT FIRING

By late Monday, only light firing was heard. Heavy gunfire resumed yesterday as Army troops flushed National Guardsmen from several downtown buildings. Witnesses said four bodies were removed from the buildings.

Damage throughout Baghdad appeared light, although Monday's battle left shell and bullet marks on buildings along the city's main business thoroughfare.

The American and British embassies said they had no reports that any of their nationals were among the casualties. The big Western-owned Iraq Petroleum Co. said the more than a week of political upheaval had not interfered with its oil operations.

* * *

The coup came after a week-long power struggle within the Iraqi Ba'ath party during which control shifted several times.

Iraqi Students Seize Embassy

LONDON (AP) — More than 300 Iraqi students forced their way into the Iraqi embassy here today and seized control of the entire building.

Almost all the embassy staff left as the students, chanting slogans against the Iraqi regime of President Abdel Salam Aref, moved in.

A student leader said:

"We are staying in the embassy for as long as is necessary."

He said the students were demonstrating against "the Aref regime and the military dictatorship. We are supporting the Ba'ath party."

2 Are Sentenced to Jail, Probation

A 21-year-old Pontiac resident and a Pontiac Township teenager were given jail terms and placed on probation yesterday for auto theft in separate crimes.

Nathaniel Dorsey Jr., 21, of 20 Hillsmont was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem to 30 days in jail and two years' probation.

Dorsey pleaded guilty Oct. 28 to taking a car from a parking lot at 125 N. Perry Oct. 12.

* * *

Judge Ziem sentenced Roy Cooper, 17, of 2591 Glen Rose to a 45-day jail term and three years' probation. The youth pleaded guilty Oct. 28 to driving off a car in a neighbor's driveway along with three other youths.

Judges to See Post Hopefuls

7 to Appear for Job as Clerk-Register

Seven men will appear before seven judges tomorrow in Oakland County Circuit Court, but no lawsuit or criminal charge will be involved in the pleadings.

The county's seven circuit court judges have set 4 p.m. tomorrow as the time to interview the seven candidates for appointment to the county clerk-register post vacated Nov. 6 by Daniel T. Murphy.

Presiding Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero said today that the circuit court judges may decide on an appointee immediately after hearing the applicants plead their causes, but that it was more likely the appointment would not be made until next week.

* * *

The seven hopefuls are:

Circuit Court Assignment Clerk Louis E. Fairbrother; Assistant Juvenile Court Director James Van Leuven; Deputy County Treasurer Theodore Kolella; Huntington Woods Mayor David R. Calhoun; State Rep. William Hayward; Troy City Commissioner James F. Carey; and Waterford Township accountant Fred Morningstar.

Man Injured as Car Flips

A Lake Orion man was hospitalized yesterday after his car overturned on Lapeer Road near Scripps in Orion Township.

In fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with chest and back injuries is Donald Wallace, 32, of 1168 Dutmer.

Wallace told sheriff's deputies that he lost control of his car when a truck he was passing pulled in front of him. The truck did not stop.

Anne Frank Captor Found

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A 52-year-old Vienna policeman has been suspended from duty after admitting he was one of the Nazi officers who arrested Anne Frank and her family in wartime Amsterdam, the government disclosed today.

The interior ministry identified the man as Karl Silberbauer, a detective attached to police headquarters in Vienna. An investigation into his World War II activities is under way, the ministry said.

The 12-year-old Jewish girl, who described her life in hiding in an Amsterdam garret in a moving diary, subsequently died in a Nazi concentration camp.

* * *

The diary was found by her father, Otto Frank, the family's only survivor, after the war. It achieved additional fame as a play and film.

* * *

Silverbauer's suspension apparently came after the Austrian government acted on a tip from Dr. Simon Wiesenthal, director of the Jewish Research Center in Vienna.

In Amsterdam, the Dutch newspaper Het Frije Volk quoted Wiesenthal as saying the policeman was a member of the Nazi Security Service at The Hague during World War II. He fled The Netherlands after Germany's capitulation, Wiesenthal said.

Wiesenthal has been credited with tracing Adolf Eichmann and scores of other Nazi war criminals. It was understood he was helped by the Dutch Institute of War Documentation in his investigation of the Franks' arrest.

Ex-Convict Sent Back for Another Term

Eugene E. Jones, 21, of 328 Orchard Lake was paroled last April from the state prison at Jackson where he had been sent on a burglary conviction in 1962.

Yesterday he was sent back for another burglary.

Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero gave Jones a 2½- to 15-year term. Jones was convicted by a jury Oct. 18 of breaking and entering the Clarence Gulf Station, 360 Orchard Lake, Sept. 7.

He was caught by police inside the station near his home.

2 Men, Woman Admit Guilt Before Trial

Two men and a woman yesterday entered guilty pleas as their Circuit Court trial was about to begin on charges of safe robbery and burglary stemming from a Sept. 23 break-in at a Waterford Township drug store.

John R. Gipson, 39, of 241 W. Wilson and Joseph Johnson, 28, of 499½ Highland pleaded guilty to the burglary count before Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Mrs. Sarah Amps, 32, of 330 Franklin, was allowed to plead guilty to a lesser offense of entering without permission.

All three will be sentenced Dec. 10.

They were accused of breaking into Thrifty Drugs, 4985 Dixie, taking $27.50 in cash and $200 in merchandise, and trying to open the store's safe.

Nine Indicted in Tax Fraud

Group Includes Two Alleged Mafia Heads

DETROIT (UPI) — Nine men, including two named by Police Commissioner George Edwards as leaders of the Detroit Mafia, were free on bail today following indictment proceedings on income tax evasion charges yesterday.

Arthur (Tony) Giacalone, Grosse Pointe Park, and his brother, Vito, Grosse Pointe Shores, were indicted in Detroit Federal Court on charges of filing false corporate tax returns and income tax evasion.

Both were named as leaders of the Mafia by Edwards during Senate Crime Committee hearings in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Anthony Giacalone was charged with aiding and abetting the evasion of the corporate income tax of the Garomot Corp. and of false corporate income tax returns from the Michigan Metal Finishing Co. The indictment charged he received $19,100 from the two companies during 1956-61.

FALSE RETURN

Vito Giacalone is charged with aiding and abetting the filing of a false corporate income tax return for Garomot in 1960 and receiving $1,000 from the firm.

Both firms were charged with evading more than $50,000 in corporate taxes by padding their payrolls with phony sales representatives.

Indicted along with the Giacalone brothers were Harry Thomas, Grosse Pointe Park, treasurer of the metal firm; Thomas F. Golibart, Detroit, president of both firms, and former sales representatives for Michigan Metal; Simon Golibart, Detroit; Philip Peters, Detroit; John Thomas, Mount Clemens; Raymond Moses, St. Clair Shores, and John W. George.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Atty. Lawrence Gubow said the indictment contained 14 counts and climaxed two years of investigation by the Internal Revenue Service.

Gubow said of the nine men Harry Thomas was the only one charged with personal tax evasion. The others all reported their incomes to the IRS.

Viewers in Thailand to Glimpse MSU Life

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Thailand TV viewers will get a glimpse of life at Michigan State University next month when a special program filmed by the U.S. Information Agency will be shown.

The special program reports on a unique seminar in international community development being conducted at MSU, according to university officials. Plans call for later showings of the film in other nations which have representatives in the MSU program.

Detroit Area Blood Test Probe Due

DETROIT (AP) — An investigation of all premarital blood testing done in Wayne County in the last year was ordered yesterday by the prosecutor's office.

The probe follows the suspension of two Detroit area medical laboratories. State registration of the two laboratories was lifted by Dr. Albert E. Heustis, health commissioner, after their blood testing procedures were questioned.

Suspended were Medical Arts Clinical and X-Ray Laboratory, and Physicians Service laboratory.

★ ★ ★

Asst. Prosecutor William P. Long said he would meet today with representatives of the Detroit Board of Health, Board of Registration of Medicine, Wayne County Medical Society and the county clerk's office.

CHECK ALL TESTS

He said he expected to check all premarital blood tests during the last year to see if an unusual number had been certified by any one doctor or done in any one laboratory.

★ ★ ★

The investigation was ordered after complaints were made to the State Health Department that the two suspended laboratories were giving blood tests not approved by the state.

100 Pickets Cite Police for 'Brutality'

NEW YORK (AP)—About 100 Congress of Racial Equality pickets paraded for nearly two hours in front of police headquarters yesterday, protesting alleged police brutality against civil rights demonstrators.

Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy said he would investigate, but added that the accusations "constitute hypocrisy and hate rousing of the lowest type and are in complete contradiction to the facts of police behavior at past demonstrations, as reported by all observers."

The CORE charges, he added, amount to "mass libel."

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Negro and white pickets cited two instances of police "attacks."

She said police hit some demonstrators with clubs on Nov. 7 outside the American Broadcasting Co. studios, where Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was being interviewed.

★ ★ ★

On Nov. 8, she said, policemen rode their horses over pickets at the Hilton Hotel where Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was speaking.

No trouble was reported in yesterday's picketing.

Gun Gal Is Sane; Shot at Movie Star

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The housemaid who shot at actor George Montgomery last Aug. 27 was sane at the time of the incident, says a Superior Court jury.

Ruth Wenzel, 37, convicted last week of simple assault after she was acquitted of charges of burglary and assault with intent to commit murder, will receive a probation hearing and sentencing Dec. 10.

The maximum penalty for the misdemeanor could be six months in jail or a $500 fine or both.

Wisconsin produces about 98 percent of the U.S. cheese.

Katch as Ketchikan

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — A letter, faded by time, tattered in transit and bearing an oft - canceled three - cent stamp, was en route to Sitka today.

The letter, addressed to Ed Bohac in Juneau, was posted here June 5, 1957, when three cents was sufficient postage. It has been traveling much of the time since, including one trip to Westport, Wash.

★ ★ ★

In the interim the sender died so postal officials continued sending the letter in search of Bohac. Tuesday they found a Sitka address. They hope the letter will arrive before he moves again.

Mother of 2 Charged With Embezzlement

WYOMING (AP) — Mrs. Stella Schultz, 32, divorced mother of two children, was charged yesterday with forgery in connection with the alleged embezzlement of more than $5,000 from a Wyoming plumbing and heating firm where she was employed.

Deputy Prosecutor Roger Boer and Wyoming detective William G. Catlin quoted Mrs. Schultz as saying she spent the money on "high living." She was charged specifically with the Nov. 1 forgery of a $69 check.

ONE COLOR

FALL MAIN DISH — Sausage and apple meat balls fill squash halves for a colorful harvest main dish. There's a bit of chopped apple in the little meat balls.

Sausage Fills Squash Halves

In a fall main dish, acorn squash halves sport a stuffing of little sausage meat balls filled with chopped apples and other lively seasonings. It's nearly a meal in one dish, but it's quite simple to make.

While the squash halves bake face down, make sausage balls featuring chopped apple, onion, parsley and rolled oats to help lock in the natural meat juices. You'll be amazed at how deliciously moist these sausage balls will be, thanks to the rolled oats.

Your family will like the combination of spicy sausage meat, tart apple and mellow squash. Bring further harvest color to your menu with a cranberry - orange molded salad, crispy relishes and your favorite hard rolls.

Sausage-Apple Stuffed Squash

3 large acorn squash, halved and seeded

* * *

1½ lb. pork sausage meat
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup chopped apple
¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon finely-chopped parsley
¾ cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
½ cup milk

Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees F.). Place squash cut side down in shallow baking pan. Pour a little water in pan. Bake for 30 minutes. While squash is baking, make sausage balls.

For sausage balls, combine remaining ingredients. Shape meat mixture into 18 balls. Brown lightly in hot fat in large frying pan. Remove squash from oven; turn cut side up. Season with salt and pepper. Place 3 sausage balls in center of each squash. Continue to bake an additional 40 minutes or until squash is tender.

Do It Carefully!

Use warm rather than hot water when you are removing a jellied dish from a mold; if the jelly doesn't budge, dip the mold in the warm water again. But before beginning the dipping, loosen the edge of the jelly with a small spatula or knife.

Veal Cooks Quickly

Cook thin slices of tender veal in butter or olive oil in a skillet; use high heat and turn once; veal will cook rapidly. Add equal parts of lemon juice and water to the drippings in the skillet and pour over the veal; sprinkle with minced parsley and serve pronto.

Bake, Store Fruit Cakes Now

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Is your fruit cake made? Mine is. But I have a special reason for getting mine done early. Our young lady is being married two days after Christmas and I wanted to make the bridegroom's cake. It will have plenty of time to ripen.

* * *

Likes and dislikes about fruit cake are so definite. I've come to the conclusion that it's silly to use any fruit you or your family don't like.

Who cares if great-grandmother always put seeded raisins in her fruit cakes? If you want just candied cherries and pineapple, use them.

This is the year to give you Pontiac's own special fruitcake, the one submitted to The Press years ago by Mrs. Dale Swanson. It still rates tops.

2 pounds pitted dates
1 pound Brazil nut meats
½ pound English walnut meats, kept whole
1 cup red and green candied cherries
1½ cups sifted flour
1½ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons melted butter
¼ teaspoon salt
5 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Fill each pitted date with a Brazil nut. Line two bread tins with waxed paper; this is important.

Arrange fruit and nuts in attractive design in pan. Mix rest of ingredients together, adding beaten eggs last. Mix thoroughly.

Dribble over fruit and nuts. Make a second layer of them and dribble rest of batter over them until pans are full.

Bake one hour in 325-degree oven. Makes two loaves of wonderful fruitcake. When sliced, the fruit and nuts appear in pattern form.

Next comes a traditional dark rich fruitcake made with brandy. You may substitute 1 cup fruit juice for the wine if you like.

You'll find that preparing your fruit and nuts the day before you bake simplifies the job.

Store fruit cakes tightly covered in a cool place.

Cognac Fruitcake

1 pound candied cherries
3 pounds sultana raisins
5 pounds seedless raisins
1 pound currants
1 pound blanched almonds
½ pound citron, sliced
½ pound candied orange and lemon mixed and sliced
4 cups shortening
4 cups brown sugar
12 eggs
½ cup molasses
10 cups sifted all purpose flour
3 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon all spice
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons double action baking powder
¼ cup vanilla
1 cup cognac brandy

Prepare fruit and nuts. If citron, peel or raisins are hard, soften them by washing them and steaming for 30 minutes.

Mix all fruit with 2 cups of the flour. Cream shortening until soft and fluffy. Add the sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs two at a time and beat after each addition. Stir in molasses.

Combine the flour, spices, soda and baking powder, and add the dry ingredients alternately with the liquid. Lastly stir in the floured fruits, nuts and 1 cup of cognac.

Bake in 2 pound loaf pans, 8x4x3 inches, which have been lined with heavy brown paper and then greased. Bake at 250 degrees F. for 2 hours. Smaller cakes will require less baking time.

Fill pans almost full. This recipe will make 8 loaves. Half the quantity is sufficient for most occasions. A pan of boiling water in the oven keeps cakes moist.

In France, they are able to keep fruit cakes for a long, long time. The cakes are stored, unfrosted, in a tightly covered tin box. And every month you pour over ½ cup of cognac brandy.

When you serve browned butter with fish, add a little lemon juice to the sauce.

Potatoes Stay White If Boiled Unpeeled

To get the most food value from potatoes, cook them whole in their jackets. Because much of the food value is near the surface, peelings should be kept thin if pared "spuds" are preferred.

For snowy white "spuds," cook them in their skins. Or, if pre-pared potatoes are pre-ferred, add a teaspoon of cream of tartar, lemon juice, or white vinegar to the cooking water. Potatoes and similar white vegetables turn yellow, particularly in hard water.

One-fifth of Utah is said to be underlain with coal.

Canadian Bacon

You can roast a two-pound piece of Canadian bacon in a moderate oven for two hours. Baste it with a mixture of brown sugar, prepared mustard and fruit juice.

Butter crackers and sprinkle with celery salt; place in a hot oven to toast. As the crackers cool a bit before serving, they'll recrisp.

Simmer First

Some cooks like to simmer chicken livers for a few minutes before wrapping in bacon and broiling. To do this, turn the livers into boiling water, bring the water rapidly to a boil again, and then reduce the heat for the simmering.

From 11 to 21 per cent of a white potato is starch.

THE HEART-BEET OF MICHIGAN

As one of the state's leading agricultural enterprises, the Michigan beet sugar industry last year contributed over $25,000,000 to the economic growth of Michigan. With advanced technology and planting methods the farmers of Michigan will realize even greater returns in the future. But it doesn't stop there. As the beet sugar industry prospers so does Michigan and the scores of communities that lie in and around the beet producing areas. It's our way of saying thank you for buying the finest sugar in all the world . . . MICHIGAN MADE PURE SUGAR.

HEARTY THANKSGIVING — Debby Montgomery, 6, grabs a turkey drumstick at a party in the New York hospital where she underwent open heart surgery on Nov. 11. Doctors repaired her heart valves, reconstructed the upper portion of her heart and inserted a plastic section between her heart and pulmonary artery. The Thanksgiving party was held because Debby is expected to go home next weekend.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Early Ambulation Curbs Lung Collapse

Q—Just after I had my gall bladder removed my left lung collapsed. What caused it and how serious is it?

A—This is a frightening experience, but it is not serious. It occurs after about 5 per cent of all abdominal operations.

It is most likely to occur in men, in heavy smokers, in persons with chronic bronchitis, in those who are overweight and in persons over 50 years of age.

The cause is the rupture of an air sac in a part of the lung near the chest wall but why it happens in these persons is not known.

★ ★ ★

Since the practice of early ambulation or getting the patient up for a little while as soon as possible after the operation, collapse of the lung is not seen as commonly as it used to be.

ELEPHANTIASIS

Q — What is elephantiasis? From what is the name derived? Is it contagious? What causes it?

★ ★ ★

A — I note from your letter that you live in Ohio, which would make it very unlikely that you yourself have this disease.

This is a chronic condition seen chiefly in the tropics.

The legs, arms or other parts of the body become greatly enlarged and the covering skin becomes thickened so that the legs, especially, take on many of the characteristics of an elephant's legs.

★ ★ ★

The cause is a tiny parasite that blocks the lymph passages in the affected part.

The parasite is transmitted by mosquitoes so that, as in the case of malaria, a mosquito infects man and man in turn infects the mosquito.

There is no direct transmission from man to man.

The reason it is seen only in the tropics or in persons who have lived in the tropics is that the type of mosquitoes that transmit it are not found in this country.

SPASTIC???

Q—What is the difference between spastic bowel and spastic colon?

My doctor uses the term "spastic bowel" and everyone else seem to call it "spastic colon."

★ ★ ★

A—They are the same. In a recent column I referred to this condition also as irritable bowel, spastic colitis and mucous colitis.

ALLERGY DRUG

Q—I have had allergic rhinitis, eczema and asthma as long as I can remember.

My doctor found that I have multiple allergies and has suggested giving me injections of Anergex.

Will this drug in any way damage my eyesight?

A—This relatively new drug (obtainable only on a doctor's prescription) is made for people like you who have multiple allergies.

It is given only by injection deep into the muscle. It will cause some brief soreness in the muscle, but there is no reason to believe that it will damage the eyes or have any other serious side effects.

WEIGHT LOSS

Q—A friend claims to have lost 25 pounds in one week with a bad cold. Is this possible?

I had a hard time to lose 10 pounds in one week.

A—In order to lose 25 pounds in one week it would be necessary to go without eating or drinking anything but water and still be very active.

This is practically impossible even assuming that part of the weight lost was water.

Arkansas Farm Oozing With Fishing Worms

LOWELL, Ark. (AP) — Leland Neil, owner of Neil Worm Farm, has a million African night crawlers at various stages of growth on his land.

Baby worms, pullet size and finished worms, are the stages of growth. A finished worm takes six months to produce and none are kept after a year of age.

Neil uses a small 10-volt electric fence to keep his worms from crawling out of their bunks.

If a visitor is quiet upon entering the barn, he can see the worms feeding and hear the crunching and snapping noise they make.

News Guild In Toledo to Meet With Employer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of the striking Toledo Newspaper Guild and the Toledo Blade Co. will meet again at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in their second session since picketing halted newspaper publication here after Saturday's edition.

A six-hour meeting yesterday with federal mediator Harry Gray brought what Gray described as some progress toward a new contract covering 400 employes of the afternoon and Sunday Toledo Blade and the morning Toledo Times.

Sarah Churchill Quits

CHICAGO (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's actress daughter, Sarah, has canceled her engagement at a suburban Chicago theater and says she's going home to England.

Miss Churchill was to have started rehearsals yesterday in the leading role of "Glad Tidings." But she said she was emotionally upset and couldn't perform.

Floods Kill 500 in Haiti

VIETS HAGGLE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Leaders of a non-Communist guerrilla group that fought the Diem regime for years but agreed to rally to the new Vietnamese government apparently are still haggling over conditions for their return, according to American sources.

About 600 rebels, belonging to the religious-military Buddhist sect called the Hoa Hao, are camped outside the government-held town of Chao Phu, in the upper Mekong Delta 110 miles west of Saigon. Their leaders are negotiating with revolutionary government officials.

★ ★ ★

A cease-fire has been instituted in the area. All the Hoa Haos are armed with automatic weapons or small arms.

The revolutionary government on Tuesday released 22 Hoa Hao political prisoners who had been jailed by Diem.

BRITISH REDS

LONDON (AP) — The British Communist party today purged eight members who back Peking in the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

The Daily Worker said the party's London district committee charged the eight with "breaking the rules of the party by signing a public document which included false statements maligning the party and with publicly opposing its democratically decided policy."

The eight and six other Communists signed a 2,000-word manifesto attacking the British party's leadership and accusing Soviet Premier Khrushchev of betraying the Communist cause.

NEHRU WARNING

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today he has repeatedly warned the United States against setting an arms race going between India and Pakistan by supplying new equipment to Pakistan by supplying new equipment to Pakistan's air force.

★ ★ ★

Hiren Mukherjee, a Communist M.P., asked Nehru about recent news reports from Washington that the United States might be considering replacing Pakistan's old Sabre Jet fighters with modern combat planes.

★ ★ ★

Nehru replied: "It is possible some reequipping of Pakistan's air force may be going on. I do not know. We have repeatedly pointed out to the United States government that in view of the Pakistan government's attitude and policy, it would not be very desirable to set a kind of arms race between them and us."

Romney, Legislature Must Kiss and Make Up

JACKSON (AP)— Gov. George Romney must "kiss and make up with the legislature" if progress is to be made in the 1964 session, said Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency.

"Romney's go-it-alone policy in the fiscal reform special session alienated many legislators on both sides of the aisle," Ferency told a meeting of political science students at Jackson Junior College yesterday.

In a Lansing speech, meanwhile, Republican National Committeeman John B. Martin declared "the battle for tax reform is not lost" but added "it is most unfortunate that the change did not come now.

* * *

"It (fiscal reform) is inevitable," said Martin, "because Michigan's needs and fair treatment of all taxpayers will in the end require the use of a broad based flat rate income tax as well as a property tax and sales tax."

Looking ahead at the tasks of the second special legislative session, Ferency said "many tedious hours of careful work on the part of both the executive and legislative branches of government" will be required in the coming brief special session on implementing Michigan's new constitution.

"Then, when the next regular session convenes, the Republican-controlled legislature will again be face to face with a mounting backlog of public needs — a backlog much larger than the one they ignored last year," he said.

Ferency said the number of mentally retarded persons in need of treatment and care has grown and there are predicted increases in public school and state-supported college and university enrollment.

* * *

"These are just some of the crucial public needs sacrificed by Romney last year in his capitulation to the GOP-controlled legislature," Ferency said.

Martin also looked at one task that will confront the 1964 legislature — reorganizing some 120 state boards and commission under 20 executive departments.

"We have to expect," he said, "that every one of the present 120 boards and commission will want to run its own show independent of everyone else."

But Martin, who headed the Constitutional Convention committee on the executive branch, said the framers of the new constitution were not seeking independent operations.

* * *

"They (the framers) intended . . . that wherever possible, these 20 departments should be headed by single heads, assisted, if necessary by advisory boards, which combine related functions of state government in an efficient and effective way," Martin said.

Bolivia's unit of currency is called the boliviano.

Durants' 18th Century Trip Ends in 1789

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — When the Will Durants observed their golden wedding anniversary recently, they celebrated in typical style.

THOMAS

There was an intimate dinner for members of their immediate family. At 8:30 the following morning, the Durants were back in the 18th century.

For 33 years, Will and Ariel Durant have been leading a monastic life as they trudged their way through the great sweep of man's history. Their goal—a 10-volume story of civilization from oriental beginnings to the fall of the Bastille—is almost in sight.

* * *

The eighth volume, "The Age of Louis XIV," has just been printed, and "The Age of Voltaire" is completed. Now the Durants are well into "Rousseau and Revolution," which will be completed three years hence.

Why will they end their journey through the ages at 1789?

"Because by the completion of the 10th volume, the senior member of this partnership will be 81," said Durant, a twinkling-eyed man with a fine head of white hair and a brush mustache. "By that time it can be expected that his faculties will have diminished."

* * *

This year the Durants allowed themselves a respite from their arduous task. He accepted an invitation from producer Samuel Bronston to come to Madrid and write a foreword for "The Fall of the Roman Empire." Although he has lived for many years scarcely a mile from Hollywood and Vine, this was his first connection with a movie.

* * *

"We took the assignment to see if Mr. Durant could take some of the spotlight away from the movie stars," said Mrs. Durant, a warm, vital woman of 65. "And I must say he did very well."

"I tried to flirt with Sophia Loren," he remarked, "but she wouldn't flirt back."

WATCH FILMING

The couple spent a month watching scenes filmed before immense reproductions of ancient Rome. They devoted another month to polishing the second draft of "The Age of Voltaire."

"We finished it on the Riviera," said the historian. "So great was my devotion to duty that I didn't even get to the beach to see the bathing beauties. I'm sure there was many an ankle that warranted my attention."

* * *

The Durants are again hard at work in the book-crammed, Spanish-style house in the Hollywood foothills.

They generally work separately in the mornings, he in an overstuffed chair with a writing board on which he makes laborious notes, Lunch is at 12:30 and in the afternoon they take a mile walk in the hills, followed by a steam bath. The afternoon's work is often a lively exchange of viewpoints on the assembled material. The evening is devoted to reading.

He admitted that tackling the 19th century was tempting.

"It is a lovely thought," he mused. "What fun it would be to deal with a figure like Napoleon, and the great romantic writers like Byron, Shelley, Keats, Hugo and Flaubert. But you must know when to quit. And when you get past 80, that is time."

LIVING IN PAST — Historians Will and Ariel Durant, engrossed in writing a 10-volume story of civilization, pose together working on a handwritten manuscript at their Hollywood home.

YUM YUM — Dean Jones hits the books as he and Carol Lynley try an experiment in platonic togetherness in the color comedy "Under the Yum-Yum Tree," showing at the Miracle Mile Drive-In until Tuesday. Other stars in the film about a landlord with an apartment house full of girls are Jack Lemmon, Edie Adams, Imogene Coca and Paul Lynde.

The Sea Dyaks, or Ibans, form the largest cultural group in Sarawak, numbering about 240,000 persons.

Calling Dog Number One, This Is Your Master

KETCHUM, Idaho (UPI) — The operator of a small dog kennel and pet store here says he has the longest dog sled team in the world.

It is so long, in fact, that Robert Black talks to his lead dog through a battery-operated radio system.

Black also boasts something unique in the dog world.

Mrs. Black combs his dog team and turns the combings into "sammy wool," or an odorless, angora-like wool that can be used to make sweaters.

What kind of dog team is this?

The dogs are known as Samoyeds, a strain Black says has never been cross-bred and consequently are direct descendents from a breed of the earliest dog known.

His 21-dog team, averaging about 45 pounds each in weight, can pull a load equal to about three-quarters of a ton. He uses the 70-foot-long team hauling passengers from the nearby Sun Valley parking lot to Dollar or Baldy Mountains.

Dollar is a small skiing hump near the resort's parking lot, but big Baldy is a number of miles away.

OPERATED SLED

The Blacks came to Kechum last November and operated the dog sled around town.

* * *

During a parade here Black discovered the need for the battery-operated radio. He said noise from the parade drowned his orders before they reached the lead dog.

Mrs. Black combs the dogs in the spring when they are shedding. The females are combed right after they wean their pups.

She gathers the wool, washes and spins it, then can knit it or crochet it into whatever articles are desired. The items — and one of the most popular are baby booties — are sold in the Blacks' pet shop.

* * *

The kennel has 29 Samoyeds, all registered with the American Kennel Club. There are 64 dogs in all, including Scotties and West Highland Whites.

The 21-dog sled team was featured last year in the Apple Blossom parade in Washington and the Seattle, Wash., Grand Seafair parade.

Old 'Keystone Kop' Dies in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Richard L'Estrange, 73, movie-television official and one of Mack Sennett's original "Keystone Kops," died Tuesday. L'Estrange started his 50-year motion picture career as a production man but later became an actor. He was director, assistant director and production manager of many films until he went into television in the late 1940s.

Cliffs of Dover Steep Profit

DOVER, England (UPI)—The profit motive has reared its head over the white cliffs of Dover and the people here think it's "just not right."

It all began when the Dover Corporation, as the city government here is known, began receiving requests from the United States for small pieces of the famed chalk cliffs.

Chunk by chunk, the Corporation began chipping bits off this tight little island and sending them to the New World to adorn somebody's mantle.

But the chunks were so small and the cliffs are so big—rising to 300 feet in places and running for miles along the English Channel — that there was no immediate danger of running out.

FREE CHUNKS

Besides, the corporation gave the chunks away free, charging only postage and donating any payment that people happened to send along to the Dover Old Peoples' Fund.

But then the "Admiral's Eye," a London gift and souvenir shop, began selling cliff chunks as big as a soccer ball for a half crown (35 cents).

"Commercialization at its very worst!" a corporation spokesman thundered. "It just isn't the right sort of thing to take money for something that has sentimental value only."

* * *

"Well, we're just a commercial firm," answered Alex Lynes, owner of the 'Admiral's Eye," so called because it's within sight of the Lord Nelson statue in Trafalgar Square.

BUSINESS SENSE

"We wouldn't be in business for long if we gave this stuff away for free. We've got all other sorts of things. There are bottles of pure English country air, a vial of London fog — the real thing mind you—and we've even got statues of Sir Winston Churchill that blows smoke as you put a match to their cigars."

Lynes said he gets his chalk chunks from a Dover customs inspector who picks them up on the beach as he goes to work.

Is this legal? The Dover Corporation said it was, although "we are considering a protest."

"Most of the chalk cliffs are owned by somebody," the spokesman said, "but there are chunks on the beach, chunks by the railroad line, chunks by the roadway, chunks all over the hills near Dover, chunks anywhere. Really, anybody can come along and take away some chalk, if they really want to."

The spokesman said the Dover Corporation so far has a corner on one tourist market—English channel sea water.

"There was one man, a Mr. James Baxter in Renfoo, Wash., who wrote for a bottle of Channel water to dump into his swimming pool," the spokesman chuckled.

"It got into the newspapers that Mr. Baxter wanted to fill his whole pool with the water and we've been getting requests ever since. Most of them come from America."

Sharp Warning Issued

WIGAN, England (UPI)—Wigan Technical College governors told girl students yesterday to either leave their stiletto heels at home or face expulsion. The stilettos, they said, have caused $2,800 worth of damage to the college's new floors.

Dart Gun Pushed as Police Weapon

By HOYT HARWELL

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A globe-trotting Georgian, Harold C. Palmer, has put elephants, rhinoceroses and whales to sleep with dart guns and he thinks such guns will be put into the hands of policemen as the next major step in the war against crime.

Police use of dart guns would be humane, safe for bystanders, nonfatal for criminals and would help to deglamorize crime, Palmer said in an interview.

The New York City police department is studying use of the dart gun. "It is a possible humane weapon of the future," said a department spokesman.

SPECIAL WEAPONS

Palmer, with four other Georgians, developed gas-fired rifles and pistols and special darts in the late 1950's to use in animal work.

On a 125-acre wooded area near here, he and his associates assemble the darts, a type of hypodermic needle, and experiment with various drugs. Palmer spends several months each year in foreign countries working on studies in wildlife immigration, relocation and diseases.

★ ★ ★

Palmer, president of the Palmer Chemical and Equipment Co., demonstrated how the immobilizing procedure works by firing a dart containing 125 milligrams of a sleep-inducing drug into a goat.

The animal never flinched as the needle entered his side from a pistol 10 feet away. After three minutes the goat's legs started bending and within another minute he was on the ground.

AGAINST PEOPLE

This type of drug, Palmer said, could be used against berserk persons or to subdue an unruly prisoner.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

At Athens, Ga., Sheriff H.T. Huff said that he shot a drug into a prisoner March 8, 1962, after he destroyed the interior of the cell during a four-hour rampage.

"The only manner of preventing bodily injury to law enforcement personnel and inmates would have been to shoot him with a firearm," Huff said.

"As a last resort, I decided to attempt immobilization with a drug recommended by the county physician."

DOWN IN MINUTES

He said the 240-pound prisoner was hit in the right abdominal wall and within 5½ minutes he was shackled without resistance. "There is no question of the humane aspect involved," Huff said.

Palmer, 49, a native of Thomasville, Ga., suggested that police departments should enlist physicians to supervise and a specially trained squad to use the weapons.

★ ★ ★

Most problems with berserk persons, Palmer said, involved "basically moral men who have drunk just enough to start tearing up a bar and to threaten to harm people."

A combination of emetic and cathartic drugs could be used on vandals and young hoodlums, Palmer said.

Palmer suggests another use of dart guns — against airplane hijackers. Instead of drugs, however, he said chemical irritants, producing the same effect as half a dozen wasp stings would be effective and would pose less threat to the safety of others on a plane.

He has experimented on himself with such irritants. "A drop of vinegar shot into the leg will give a charley horse in less than a minute," Palmer said.

He has demonstrated his weapons for Army chemical warfare officials. Dart guns would be especially effective in behind the lines work in war, he said, with drugs that can kill in a second.

"It doesn't make any difference where it hits, it will kill a man instantly. The needle will penetrate a bullet-proof vest."

Group to Study Old Cars Idea

LANSING (AP)—A 10-man committee was named by Gov. George Romney to study the idea of setting up an antique automobiles museum at the Michigan State Fair Grounds.

The committee, proposed by the Michigan State Fair Authority, includes several automotive executives.

The membership:

William Sherman, executive engineer for Automobile Manufacturers Association; Frank Davis, of Greenfield Village museum, Dearborn; Richard Teague, director of styling for American Motors Corp.

Carl Breer, a retired Chrysler Corp. engineer; Harvey Campbell, advisory committee chairman of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce; George Stark, Detroit historian and former staff member of the Detroit News.

Ralph Burton, a Detroit patent attorney; Henry Edmunds, a Ford Motor Co. official; Felix Bruner, a retired General Motors executive; Leslie Henry, Curator of transportation for Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

UAW Official to Talk at Dinner for Retirees

Ernie Moran, administrative assistant to UAW International board member Leonard Woodcock, will be speaker at GMC Truck & Coach Local 594's retiree dinner 7 p.m. tonight.

Some 100 retired and near-retirement local members are expected to attend. All took part in a nine-week series of courses designed to prepare them for leisure time and personal affairs problems.

MSU-Illinois Coaches Ponder Game Strategy

DWIGHT LEE
CLASS C, ALL-STATE BACK

Two Area Stars Selected

Big Line, Top Scorers Pace 'C' Team

By The Associated Press

A muscular line that averages an even 200 pounds and a high-scoring backfield headed by an excellent passer feature the 1963 Class C All-State high school football team.

★ ★ ★

The dream team, selected after extensive screening by coaches and sportswriters throughout the state was announced today by the Associated Press.

The hulking line is anchored by Chuck Herron, a 6-foot-5, 240 pound guard from Royal Oak St. Mary who is called one of the best grid products ever to come out of the Detroit suburb.

Adrian Catholic Central's Tom Schwartz heads the backfield, which includes Dwight Lee of New Haven, Mike Gohl of Flint Holy Redeemer and Tom Foster of Kalamazoo St. Augustine.

Schwartz rushed for 668 yards, averaging 9.8 yards a carry, and scored nine touchdowns to lead the Adrian school to a 9-0 record. He also completed 38 of 63 passes for 720 yards and 11 touchdowns. Only three of his aerials were intercepted.

DEFENSIVE ACE

Schwartz also called the defensive signals while playing linebacker and averaged 16 tackles a game. He intercepted four passes.

Lee scored 129 points to pace New Haven's 8-0 season which resulted in the Southern Thumb championship and a fourth-place finish in the final AP poll.

Gohl, the only repeater from last year's All-State squad, gained more than 1,197 yards this season while scoring 10 touchdowns. He scored 33 times in his high school career.

Foster was given almost all of the credit for leading Kalamazoo St. Augustine to its perfect season and the No. 1 ranking by the AP's panel of sports-writers and sportscasters.

★ ★ ★

Herron's partner at the tackle slot is Alan Hahn of St. Charles. Hahn played a big role in his team's 28 straight victories and was credited with 160 unassisted tackles this season by his coach.

The ends on the team are Dennis Kaczmarek of Bay City St. Joseph and John Vanderpoel of Kalamazoo St. Augustine. Kaczmarek was a second team selection last year as a back.

Dan Jordan of Grant and Bill Geyman of Ida are the guards.

★ ★ ★

Jordan was the pulling guard and No. 1 blocker in Grant's single wing offense. He also played middle guard on the five-man defensive line. Credited with about 45 per cent of the team's tackles, Jordan was called "the best lineman I've ever coached" by head coach Ray Rynberg.

Geyman, also a back last year, was moved into the line and played a starring role in Ida's 6-2 season.

Constantine's Jim Rifenburg at center rounds out the first team.

Vanderpoel and Schwartz are the only juniors on the first team, all of the others are seniors.

Texas Teams Drop Race Sports Barrier

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas, a state producing about 10,000 Negro high school football players and some 3,500 basketball players, now is going to see more of them staying at home for their collegiate competition.

The University of Texas of the Southwest Conference has integrated its sports and will start recruiting the Negro athletes. Southern Methodist announced that Negroes could be used on its team and University of Houston, an independent, said Tuesday qualified Negro athletes would be sought.

For years, teams from the Big Ten, Big Eight, Big Six, and other conferences raided the state of its Negro football stars. Or the athletes went to all-Negro colleges in the state, such as Prairie View A&M and Texas Southern.

Several years ago the barriers in sports at Texas colleges started falling as integration of the schools spread.

North Texas State University, the fourth largest college in the state with 10,000 students and a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, opened athletics to Negroes and came up with Abner Haynes, who after starring as a collegian, played with the Dallas Texans and is now with the Kansas City Chiefs.

A number of small colleges in the state, including several in the Lone Star conference, have had Negro athletes for several years.

WENT ELSEWHERE

Meanwhile, many of the top athletes went elsewhere, including Dick Lane who now plays for the Detroit Lions and Junior Coffee, who is at the University of Washington.

The state's high schools have produced Dave Stallworth, who plays basketball at Wichita, and Earl Lattimer, who is a star lineman at Michigan State, among others who went to other states to participate.

Ollie Matson, former all-NFL pro, attended Houston's Yates high school before playing college ball in California.

The integration of Southwest Conference athletes came about rather quietly.

It all began when Darrell Royal, University of Texas athletic director and coach of the nation's No. 1 football team, held his regular Monday get-to-gether with sports writers and said:

"The athletic council met with the administration this morning and we decided that any student who meets academic and athletic requirements is eligible to try out for any sport at this moment."

Campbell Keeps Looking

Tiger Pitchers Move Into Trade Picture

DETROIT (UPI)—Jim Campbell's dabbling in the winter trade market apparently hasn't ended.

The Detroit Tiger general manager, who in his first year on the job has fired popular Bob Scheffing and peddled Rocky Colavito in two dramatic moves, probably has more moves up his sleeve as he attempts to revamp the team for the 1964 season.

It's quite likely that the five-player deal that sent Colavito, Bob Anderson and $50,000 to Kansas City for Jerry Lumpe, Dave Wickersham and Ed Rakow isn't the last one Campbell will make.

After finishing second in 1961 and drawing 1,000,710 fans, the club sagged to a tie for fifth last year after spending much of the season in ninth place and attracted only 821,973 fans.

Of course, Campbell can't say exactly what he's planning. "We're still dickering and we won't hesitate to make a deal if it can help us," he said.

But he made it obvious that pitchers are now the most likely players to be traded.

UNTOUCHABLES?

The Tigers won't touch their doubleplay combo of Lumpe and Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline and Billy Bruton are set in the outfield.

Also, he said he's happy with alternating Bill Freehan and Gus Triandos at the catching slot and Bubba Phillips and Don Wert at third base.

But pitching is another matter.

The Tigers strengthened their pitching corps by obtaining Wickersham and Rakow. Both are durable and have pitched more than 200 innings a season and could move into the starting rotation.

That means the Tigers could be willing to part with a starter if they could pick up a solid hitter with both Jim Bunning and Hank Aguirre possible candidates on the trading block.

Both were disappointing last season with Bunning at 12-13 and Aguirre at 14-15.

Frank Lary was 4-9 last season but still had a 3.28 ERA and the Tigers won't part with the gutty righthander.

Also, Phil Regan developed into a top-rate starter under Charlie Dressen last year and his job seems secure. Regan was 15-9 last season and was the top winner on the team.

★ ★ ★

Of the pitchers, Bunning — the Tiger player representative — is the most likely to go. The interleague trading season with the National League starts Thursday and lasts until Dec. 15 and some National League clubs are reported to be interested in him.

First baseman Norm Cash, who batted .270, would be a possible candidate for a trade but only if the Tigers pick up a first baseman in another deal.

Bauer at Birds' Helm

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer looks upon managing the Baltimore Orioles as a simple thing.

"The ball players know me. If I ask them to do something, they'll do it for me," he believes. "They know I'm strictly for the ball player."

★ ★ ★

He displayed this camaraderie at a news conference Tuesday confirming his engagement in a one-year contract as the new Oriole manager.

During a lull in questioning by newsmen, the relaxed Bauer said to the back of the room:

"Got any questions, Jim?"

'You're the only man with a job," shot back Gentile, the first baseman who is one of the Orioles' problem children.

"I don't think you have anything to worry about," said Bauer.

Lee MacPhail, general manager, made it clear he hired Bauer to replace Billy Hitchcock in hopes he would get more out of the Orioles as individual players.

"I think he has the quality of leadership to put some spark in our ball club to change it from just another first division club to a true contender" MacPhail said.

Detroit Tech Quintet Starts With Triumph

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit Tech rolled to an 85-60 triumph over Cleary College last night in the opening Michigan college basketball game of the 1963-64 season.

Detroit Tech jumped to a 43-21 halftime lead and coasted to the victory.

George Hamilton scored 22 for Tech and Leslie Pennington had 17 for Cleary.

'Little' Lewis Back of Week

Spartan Star Runs Past Notre Dame

By The Associated Press

When you've got Michigan State backed up against their own goal line, watch out.

Notre Dame penned the Spartans on their 15-yard line in the fourth quarter Saturday, with a 7-6 Irish lead.

★ ★ ★

Then Sherman Lewis, only 152 pounds, burst all the way for the touchdown that gave Michigan State a 12-7 victory.

It was the fifth time this year that Sherman had gone more than 80 yards, and the run earned the senior co-captain of the Spartans Back of the Week honor in the Associated Press survey.

Lewis, who comes from Louisville, Ky., also scored the first Michigan State touchdown. He was the leading rusher for the Spartans with 138 yards and played on defense most of the game.

"I don't see how any one man could be any more valuable to any team than Lewis has been to us," said coach Duffy Daugherty after the game.

Other nominees included Bob Timberlake of Michigan.

AP Photofax

NAME THAT TUNE — It's probably "California, Here I Come," and the fellow wielding the guitar is Sherman Lewis, Michigan State's explosive halfback who was named "Back of the Week" by the Associated Press for his stirring performance in the 12-7 win over Notre Dame last Saturday. Dubbed "The Mighty Mite" because of his 152-pound frame, Sherman has made touchdown music for the Spartans all season, and the Green and White can get a shot at the Rose Bowl with a victory over Illinois this Saturday.

Piston Coach Bounced Out in Road Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Pistons' 127-102 loss to Cincinnati Tuesday night was doubly humiliating for coach Charley Wolf.

Not only were the Pistons beaten by the team Wolf coached last year, but the Detroit coach was thrown out of the game.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons had closed from a 23-point deficit, 55-23, to within six points, 72-66, when referee Tom Birch chased Wolf in the third quarter.

The Royals, led by Oscar Robertson's 32 - point show, went from a 40-point first quarter to victory over the Pistons in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

In the windup of the twinbill, the Boston Celtics stormed to their 12th victory in 13 starts by trouncing the New York Knicks 126-98.

AP Photofax

LEGGING IT — Detroit Pistons' Bailey Howell puts on the brakes after spilling Cincinnati Royals' Bob Boozer on a rebound play in the first half of their game at New York's Madison Square Garden last night. Howell came out ahead in the rebound spree, but Boozer and the Royals knocked off the Detroiters, 127-102.

Lions' Defense No Longer Best

DETROIT (UPI) — An era has ended.

The Detroit Lions' vaunted defense, which carried the team for so long through good days and bad, has lost almost all of its laurels.

Crippled by a series of shattering injuries, the Lion defense is no longer the best in the National Football league.

★ ★ ★

The Lions lost their last major honor last week when the loss of their last two defensive backs left them unable to stop the passing of Los Angeles' Roman Gabriel.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Bears were throttling the Green Bay Packers and took away the Lions' niche as the best pass defense team in the league.

The Lions have allowed 1,385 yards in the air while the Bears have allowed 1,224. The Bears had already taken the lead in the total yardage and rushing departments.

While the Lions are also second in total yardage as they have given up 2,520 yards to 2,216 for the Bears.

★ ★ ★

The Lions are fourth in rushing defense, having allowed 1,135. The Bears have given up only 892 yards.

OUT OF ACTION

With Dick (Night Train) Lane and Dick Compton both sidelined, the Lions have run out of defensive backs and Larry Vargo is being shifted into the secondary along with Dick Le Beau, Bruce Maher and Tom Hall.

Vargo, who has been running behind Jim Gibbons at the tight end slot on offense, is sure to be given a workout Sunday by Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton when the Lions play the Vikings.

The Lions rushed three other offensive players, Ollie Matson, Gail Cogdill and Terry Barr, into the defensive slot Sunday in the fourth quarter against the Rams.

★ ★ ★

But none of the three players had played any defense this season and Gabriel easily threw two final period TD passes to Carroll Dale to give the Rams a 28-21 victory.

Wings Meet Hot Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Things could hardly be tougher for the Detroit Red Wings.

Off to their poorest start on the road in the club's 37-year history, the Wings go up against the National Hockey League-leading Black Hawks at Chicago tonight.

Detroit hasn't won a game away from home in seven starts. To make matters worse, the Black Hawks haven't lost on their home ice in eight games this year.

And the Wings don't return home until Thanksgiving night, Nov. 28, when they host the Montreal Canadiens.

So far, on their current five-game road trip, the Wings have tied and lost in two games.

MSU Eyes Soccer Title

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State will take its finest season (9-1) record into a soccer contest here Friday with St. Louis to determine the Midwest NCAA title.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the midwest contest will face the far west regional champ Nov. 27, and that victor will advance to the semifinal and final NCAA competitions in New Jersey later.

Spartans Need Victory or Tie for Title, Bowl

Time and Situation to Determine Illini Plans—Elliott

CHICAGO (AP) — This is one for the second-guessers to mull over before Illinois and Michigan State battle for the Big Ten championship and the trip to the Rose Bowl Saturday.

Illinois must win to qualify for the title and trip. MSU can achieve both ends by winning or tying the Illini. So what would you do if you were Illinois coach Pete Elliott?

★ ★ ★

For example, let's say Michigan State takes a 7-0 lead and Illinois scores a touchdown. Would you go for the tie or for two points and the lead?

Elliott says it will depend on time. If it happens early in the game, Elliott indicated he'd go for the tie because "I hate to have my team behind when I have a kicker like Jim Plankenhorn.

"If such a situation comes up in the second half we would have to give it a lot of consideration. Remember, Plankenhorn is a great field goal kicker and the field goal is a vital part of the game."

Come Saturday, Elliott might change his mind.

Let's say it turns out to be a close game and Illinois ties it 7-7, with a Plankenhorn conversion in the first quarter. Then the Illini don't get another scoring chance against the tough MSU defense. It would be heartbreaking to the team to realize it might have won everything with an early gamble instead of settling for second best.

★ ★ ★

Duffy Daugherty wants Michigan State's first undisputed Big Ten football title badly and he'll take it anyway he can get it — through a win or a tie.

PLAY BY EAR

As far as situations coming up to give the Spartans the lead or tie, Duffy says, "I'll play it by ear. I'm not going to give away any of my secrets."

Daugherty also has some capable kickers both for conversions and for field goals. If Elliott plays for a tie early in the game and then gets Illinois ahead with a Plankenhorn field goal in the second half, Daugherty will not be caught short.

He has field goal kickers in both Lou Bobich and Earl Lattimer. Bobich is especially dangerous from far out with his soccer-type attempts.

Against Northwestern he tried one from 60 yards out. He missed that day but the fact MSU attempted it is admirable in itself.

★ ★ ★

One thing is positive, however. Should Illinois score first and then successfully go for two points and take an 8-0 lead and MSU comes back with a touchdown, the Spartans will have to go for two points because they would have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Quarterback Aims at Rushing Mark

By The Associated Press

Auburn's Jimmy Sidle threatens to make college football history. He may become the first quarterback to lead the nation in rushing.

Official NCAA statistics through last Saturday's games, show that Sidle trails Kansas, Gale Sayers, the nation's major college rushing leader, by 14 yards. Sidle, however, has two more games to play while the Jayhawk halfback has only one.

The brilliant T-quarterback of Auburn has gained 635 yards rushing in eight games, making him the only rusher to average more than 100 yards per game. Sayers has 849 in nine games.

Quarterback Don Trull of Baylor leads the passing and total offense departments by a wide margin. In passing, he has connected with 143 of 254 throws of 1960 yards. In total offense, he has amassed 1913 yards in 329 plays.

Few Big Spots in Bowlerama

Large Handicaps Not Abundant This Year

Something unprecedented may happen in the Bowlerama this year.

A high average bowler may walk off with something higher than fifth place in the handicap portion of the seventh annual Press tournament.

In none of the previous six Bowlerama tournaments has a county bowler with higher than a 172 average finished above fifth position in the pay-offs.

But the story may be different this season because the number of low average bowlers entering the annual Press meet has surprisingly diminished.

A review of the Bowlerama records reveals the previous six handicap champions had averages ranging from 150-172.

Even the women's competition has not found the high average bowler cashing in on the big prize. The gals who have cashed frequently have more than 100 pins handicap.

One woman who cashed actually had 190 pins spotted her.

But this breed of bowler — the majority of the nation's league keglers are below 150 — has not participated in the Bowlerama this year as in previous ones.

Thus, the high average bowlers are in a greater percentage than usual, and naturally their chances of winning money have improved. The leaders at four of the six qualifying houses that finished last Sunday had better than 180 averages.

* * *

Six houses are slated to conclude their qualifying this Sunday — 300 Bowl, Airway Lanes, Bowling Centre, North Hill Lanes and Howe's Lanes.

The chances for qualifying at any site are good, if the bowlers are ready to take advantage of one last good opportunity for some extra money at Christmas.

BOWLING

Tony's Tigers will be attempting to stretch their new found lead as action resumes tonight in the Huron Bowl Wednesday Nite "A" League.

The Tigers jumped ahead of the Wolverine Entertainers when the former swept eight points from Crake Motor Sales and the Entertainers dropped a like number to Team No. 14 last week.

Tony Ledesma's 680 and Ron Smith's 257 took high scoring honors as the Tigers hit 3147 pins last week. Smith had 659 total and Mike Flores added 642.

In last week's Rolling Pin League at Huron Bowl, the Huron Theater commanded first place with its 30-10 record, one game better than Jacobsen's Flowers which had the top scorer last week in Pat Boyer with 512.

Huron had a turkey winner Monday night in Andy Condon of the house "C" League. He took high series over average honors when he bowled 232-213—611 despite a 148 average.

FIRST TIME

Lucille Mihay bowled her first sanctioned game over 200 last Thursday in the Mr. and Mrs. Mixed League at Sylvan Lanes. She had a 213. Also at Sylvan, Helen Swanson fired a 222 in the Wednesday Supper Club League.

The Pontiac Housewives loop at West Side Lanes last week had a 216 game by Beverly Freebury and 537 series by Marge Newby as its top scores.

The Bucks & Does League at Howe's Lanes last week had a 223—526 by Dale Aumaugher and 530 by Fred Carpenter. The Fawns hold a slim point and a half lead.

Frank Miller came through with a 235-231—653 subbing in the Howe's Foursome League last week and came back with 253-226—688 in the Men's Doubles action. Barb Howe had a 200 in the foursome loop action.

Jim Debow had a 267 in the Doubles league.

In the Howe's Ladies Doubles Classic, Margaret Lally rolled 206-200—583 for high season series last week. Pauline Roy had high game with 214.

The Waterford Merchants League last week had a 234 by Bruno Wolosiewicz and a 236 by Ben Shepard. The latter finished with 225—642.

At Airway Lanes Thursday the Ladies Major Classic League had a 569 by Marvel Szot, Shirley Pointer hit a 212 game and Hertha Schumann had 207—561.

Also last week, Marilyn Hall hit a 286 game, 87 pins over her average in the Airway Queens loop. Fran McCallum's 534 was high series.

* * *

Action at 300 Bowl recently has seen the following scores: 676—248 by Bill Powell and 243—666 by Bob Patton in the GMC National League; 243—639 by Bill Shaw in the GMC American loop; 245—652 by Ray Branchcau, 217 by Millie Collier and 531 by Virginia Brancheau in the Nite Owls.

Walt Conta had 236—616 and 236's also by Bob Burling and Dale Perrett in the Tuesday House League; a 218 by Jerry Wiegand in the Wednesday House League; a 257 by Lee Farley in the Double Trouble Mixed League and Betty Farley had a 511.

The Pontiac Motor Inter-Office League had a 220-213 duo by Morris Wideman last week and Owen Clevering had 215. Nine others were over 210.

The 300 Wednesday House League reports Larry Crake's 251 and 652 scores are tops for the season. Don Gibbs led the Junior House League last week with 202-201 games.

* * *

The Wednesday Ladies Classic League at "300" had 200—507 by Clare Olsen; Sally Crake hit 528 in the 300 Bowlers circuit; and Broomes Service leads the St. Benedicts Women's League after last week's bowling.

Sylvan Keglers Scare Leaders

300 Bowlers Escape Travelling Loop Spill

Sylvan Lanes nearly pulled the upset of the season Sunday in the Pontiac Travelling Classic Bowling League, but "nearly's" don't count and 300 Bowl thus remains unbeaten.

The Sylvan team pulled a big comeback in the final match with "300" Sunday at Howe's Lanes, coming from a 13-4 deficit to tie, 15-15 but the undefeated league leaders won on total pins, 2763-2676.

* * *

Other league action saw Cooley Lanes pin a 15-8 defeat on host Howe's, Airway Lanes bombed Montcalm Bowling Centre, 21-9, and West Side Lanes won its first of the season, 10-9, over Fairgrounds Bowling.

Joe Foster led "300" with 235-238—688 and eight points, although it was Les Rothbath's 25-pin win over Pat Treacey that gave the winners the tie.

Treacey earlier had a 234, while Chuck Williams (223), Keith Moore (234) and George Bishop (225) produced big wins for Sylvan in the late stages. Sylvan was 1043 in the last game.

Bob Davis with 234—622 and six points, Gene Shell with 244—643 and five points, and Jim Kirkpatrick with 651 and five points led Airway to its sixth win in seven starts.

Jack Ashton had four points and a 235, and Paul George 226—619 and three points to lead Cooley. West Side's win was the work of three men — Ray Jones (216), Jerry Harnack (225) and Jerry Perna (216-212).

* * *

The league will resume action at noon Sunday on the West Side lanes. Huron Bowl will meet Wonderland, and Primrose will challenge Airway in the top matches.

Doors Open Tomorrow!
Come in and get into a Volkswagen.

Sedans, station wagons, trucks and Karmann Ghias—we'll have them all at our Grand Opening tomorrow, doors open and ready to go.

Come in. Take one out for a demonstration drive.

Things you'll notice along the way: VWs are rattle free, easier to handle in traffic, park in little space. IVW Station Wagons, for example, are 4 feet shorter than conventional wagons, yet hold more and cost hundreds of dollars less.)

Back at the showroom, ask about the VW engine in the rear that will go all day at top speed without strain. It's air-cooled. Can't boil over or freeze up.

Ask to see the parts and service department. Nothing can happen to any VW car or truck that we can't fix.

Then, ask to see figures on what any VW costs to run.

Grand Opening celebration begins at 10:00 a.m.

Coyote Killed in Area

Deer Hunting Debut Big Success

A "first-timer" scored a big and an unusual kill in Oakland County highlighted the opening days of the deer season.

Donald Popour, 634 E. Madison, went deer hunting for the first time this fall and it is doubtful if he will repeat his initial kill for years to come.

Popour, 24, traveled to Cooks for the early opener in the Western Upper Peninsula.

On Sunday, Nov. 10, the second day of the season, he downed a 215-pound buck with one shot at 200 yards. The white tail, an 11-pointer with a massive rack, tops The Pontiac Press' annual Big Deer Contest.

The Pontiac Motor employe said the buck came out of a marsh and followed some does across a clearing. Popour failed to get a shot.

But the deer returned across the same field a minute later and Popour was ready.

He was hunting with Gene Fox of Pontiac, who downed a six-pointer, and his brother, Alfred Popour, who filled a doe permit.

ONE SHOT

Richard Lamphere of Clarkston heard his partner, Fred Salisbury, 373 Beverly shoot with a shotgun Saturday morning.

He thought Salisbury had blasted away at a deer near a swamp three miles north of Holly. He suddenly found a wounded coyote charging him.

One charge of buckshot from his 12 gauge finished the 55-pound animal, a rare resident of this part of the state.

It seems that Salisbury saw the coyote run out of a cedar swamp and, thinking it was a big fox, let loose with a round of buckshot from his 12 gauge.

The wounded coyote then charged Lamphere.

Conservation officer Harold Stoll of Fenton said he didn't hear of the kill, but added:

"There are a few coyotes around here. But the last two I bountied were taken 15 years ago by a trapper near Davisburg."

Stoll also said that hunting pressure in the Holly area was light opening weekend.

"I think just about everyone went north," he pointed out. "There are a lot of deer in this area. I've been busy the last weeks with deer hit by cars.

"Two more were hit last night."

To conclude a successful day of hunting, Salisbury and Lamphere each bagged deer.

The deer kill in Northern Michigan was among the best in several years.

Hunters planning to go north during the remainder of the season should find plenty of bucks left in the woods. And the deer and healthier.

Conservation department officials attribute this to a mild winter.

* * *

The department's prediction of 110,000 to 120,000 being killed is beginning to look fairly accurate.

POOR WEATHER

The weather, however, has worked against hunters who were hoping for snow. All they got from mother nature was warm weather and a big rain storm Sunday afternoon.

The outlook still isn't too bright with the warm trend expected to continue.

Violations were up, but this was expected with about 400,000 nimrods in the field.

* * *

One set of officers working out of Clare issued 19 tickets Friday through Sunday. The majority were for carrying loaded guns in cars.

CONTEST LEADER — Donald Popour, 634 E. Madison, will long remember his first deer hunting trip. The 24-year-old Pontiac Motor employe downed this 215-pound buck Nov. 10 near Cooks in the Upper Peninsula. It is the heaviest entered in this year's Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest. The massive rack carries 11 points and has a 19 spread. Weight is the only factor in the contest.

UNUSUAL KILL — Richard Lamphere (right), 6344 Snowapple, Clarkston, and Fred Salisbury, 373 Beverly, combined to down this 55-pound coyote three miles north of Holly last Saturday morning. The pair was hunting deer when Salisbury saw the coyote, and unusual find in Southern Michigan, wounded it with one blast of buckshot and Lamphere came on to finish it off. Both hunters also downed bucks before the day was over.

Judges Announced for Kennel Show

Judges and their assignments have been listed for the Pontiac Kennel Club's annual winter dog show Jan. 19 at the Pontiac Retail Store.

Elbert E. Vary of Sterling, Ill., will select the winner of The Pontiac Press Best-in-Show Trophy. He also will judge sporting, working, terrier and non-sporting groups.

Judging hound and toy groups will be Marulee L. Baker of Mirrro Lake, Minn.

Joining these two in the breed rings will be Joseph Faigel of Detroit and J. Lynn Welsh of Long Grove, Ill. Robert E. Noltie of Toledo will judge obedience.

Bow Dog Show Organization of Detroit will supervise operation of the American Kennel Club approved event.

GAME VENTURE — Four members of the Searson Cumberworth family and Chuck Knowlton (left) journey north last week seeking venison. The shot their share. The four bucks totaled 657 pounds and 28 points. Knowlton and Jim Cumberworth (center) took credit for a four and eight pointer from Alger County, while Don Cumberworth (second from right) and Stanley Cumberworth (second from left) bagged six and eight pointers in Luce County. Papa Searson (right) was shutout.

In regular major league season play, only six pitchers have struck out four batters in one inning.

Grand Rapids Pair Reaches 4-Ball Finals

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (AP) — C. J. Farley and Tod Olsee, both of Grand Rapids, Mich., were among the 16 teams qualifying for today's championship match play flight of the Southern Seniors Four-Ball Golf Tournament.

Farley and Olsee fired a 78 — two strokes behind the leaders Robert Bell and Don Vorce, both of Columbus, Ohio — in Tuesday's qualifying round.

SPECIALTY SHOW ENTRY — Baron von Koenigstein, a Great Dane, finds working in a dog show can be tiresome so he takes a rest by sitting in the lap of this unidentified woman. The Baron, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Anson Baker of Highland, is one of 900 dogs entered in the Motor City Specialty Show Sunday at the Detroit Light Artillery Armory at 1500 Eight Mile. The Great Dane won his last outing at Lansing.

MUCC Sounds Commission Alert

Michigan United Conservation Clubs is alerating its statewide membership in regard to a reported intention of the governor's office to dispose of the Conservation Commission and replace it with a political appointee named by the governor.

* * *

The organization, composed of nearly 350 affiliate clubs and 60,000 members, has adopted a strong position that the Conservation Department must remain a strong and independent agency free of political control, under the commission-form of administration which has made the Department one of the finest in the nation.

The issue arose in connection with implementation of the new constitution. Thinking in the governor's office seems to be that the governor should exercise greater and more direct control of the state's various agencies.

Until 1921, Michigan had a political appointee heading its Conservation Department, such as it was.

To return now to the political-appointee system would be a disastrous backward retreat, in which would be lost everything for which Michigan's sportsmen and conservationists have fought all these years," said MUCC Executive Director James L. Rouman.

* * *

"In these days of multiple-use and over-use of our badly depleted resources, the mistake could be well-nigh fatal," he warned.

Rare 'Tunny' Catch in Pacific

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A rare 10-pound fish known scientifically as an Allothunnus Fallai (it looks something like Charlie the Tuna) was landed in a bait net in Los Angeles Harbor over the weekend.

Richard McCann, 22-year-old fisherman from Downey, Calif., hauled up the 28-inch "tunny fish" which experts say is the first of its kind ever caught in the Northern Hemisphere—and the tenth in the world.

Something to Fall Back On

Girls Should Prepare for Future Careers

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

"Career or marriage?" This is no longer a choice a girl must make. Many women now have both.

Nearly all women marry, and nearly all women will work for pay at some time in their lives. Consequently, all American girls should have specific, even though often temporary vocational goals.

It has always been held essential that boys prepare themselves to earn a living and to take their place at the head of a household. Now, every third worker in the American economy is a woman.

By age 20, eight out of 10 girls will be working in paid employment or will have previously worked for pay.

SPECIAL REPORT

These statistics are taken from the report of the President's Commission on the Status of Women. Titled "American Women," it is a carefully designed, two-color book. It tells of major changes in women's lives from 1900 to 1960 covering health and longevity, marriage and birth rates, educational attainments, employment and earnings.

"American Women" provides a new kind of reference work about women in the United States today. It presents facts that can, and should, be considered in the educational counseling of girls.

Here are some considerations that make vocational counseling and the adoption of vocational goals important at the junior-senior high school level:

- Education and earning power go hand in hand. Women with four years of high school on the average make twice as much money as those with only elementary school educations—$2,000 per year compared to $1,000.
- Girls with vocational goals are more interested in school and make higher grades. I've found that the adoption of vocational goals is as closely allied to good scholarship among girls as it is with boys. Girls with specific vocational goals were more nearly reaching their potentials than those without those goals.
- Girls with goals are less liable to become early dropouts. Vocational goals automatically include educational goals. High school students with vocational goals realize the necessity of completing their schooling to reach their goals.

This is true in college, as well. Dropouts among college women are usually associated with a lack of goals.

Let me illustrate with this story:

Two young college graduates married brothers and each family has two young children. In discussing the subject of security one of these young women told me, "In getting my college degree I earned a teaching credential.

"Because I can work in an emergency I have a feeling of security and a willingness for my husband to 'venture' that my sister-in-law lacks.

"She worries constantly about what would happen to her and the children if her husband could no longer work."

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

The contract bridge summary recently published by Albert Morehead follows: "If you have a choice of plays in order to establish a trick or tricks you should play so as to keep the opponent who can make a destructive lead from getting in."

JACOBY

Today's hand as played by George Rapee of New York illustrates this type of play. He won the opening club lead with dummy's queen and promptly led a low heart toward his own hand. East played the four and George played the nine. He was afraid of a spade lead from East and was going to avoid letting him get in.

Opening lead ♣ J

West was in with the jack and led his ten of clubs. He wasn't going to let George make his king of spades.

Now George played out the rest of the hearts. He discarded his three of spades after the queen dropped. Then he cashed his high diamonds and his king of clubs and wound up by throwing poor West in with the nine spot.

By this time everyone was down to three cards. West held the high club and the ace-queen of spades, whereupon George was unkind enough to throw him in with the club.

West was forced to lead a spade after all, and George wound up with an overtrick.

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass

You, South, hold: ♠ A 2 ♥ A K J 5 ♦ 3 ♣ A Q J 9 8 7

What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your partner is showing no interest in your suits. He has bid diamonds and you have the ace of spades to help stop that suit. The no-trump game should be easy.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three no-trump your partner has gone to four clubs over your three clubs. What do you do now?

Suspensions Halt Tape

Market Is Moving Cautiously

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved cautiously, with prices mixed and trading moderate early this afternoon.

The market was on the upbeat when news came that two large brokerage houses had been suspended from trading on the New York and American Stock Exchanges because of their financial condition.

The ticker tape ceased printing prices as a long, detailed official statement from the New York Stock Exchange spelled out the action taken.

Although the original price pattern was irregular, the industrial averages showed a gain. This was erased temporarily when the ticker tape again began printing prices.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE

Uncertainty also prevailed as to what dividend action directors of American Telephone would take. The stock moved erratically.

Motors held generally firm. Steels took small losses. Airlines and many other groups were spotty.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, at noon was unchange at 277.0 with industrials up .3, rails off .1 and utilities off .2.

AT&T was up a full point at the start, recouping the previous day's loss, then slipped to show a fractional net loss. It came back to post a small rise in later dealings. The street has been pondering whether "Telephone" would increase its dividend and, if so, by how much. Some have been banking on a stock split.

AMERICAN STOCKS

Prices were irregular in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Government bonds rose slightly.

HOIST THE FLAG — The visible symbol of a victory over on-the-job accidents today flies over Consumers Power Co.'s Pontiac Division building at 28 W. Lawrence. It signifies the National Safety Council's highest recognition, the Award of Honor, and a 25 per cent reduction in injuries during 1962 noted by American Gas Association and Edison Electric Institute. Raising the flag are (from left) Joe McCormick, electric distribution superintendent; Gordon Carlson, gas distribution superintendent; Harold Zeplin, line crew foreman; and Gail Wheeler, gas crew foreman.

Youths Placed on Probation

Two youths were placed on probation yesterday for stealing equipment off parked cars in two widely separated parts of Oakland County.

Harry W. Jaynes, 17, of 2804 Grant, Avon Township, was sentenced to three years' probation by Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem. He also was ordered to serve 30 days in jail.

Robert J. Asch, 20, of 700 W. Maple, Milford Township, was placed on a year's probation and ordered to pay $100 costs by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Jaynes pleaded guilty Oct. 28 to larceny from a motor vehicle. He was accused of taking a battery, wheel and tire from a car parked alongside John R Road in Troy Oct. 17.

Asch admitted taking a tire and battery Oct. 21 from a car owned by a Dearborn man who left it on the shoulder of Moore Road in Milford Township because of engine trouble. Asch pleaded guilty Nov. 4. He also was ordered to make restitution.

Pontiac City Affairs

'Motel Utilities Not Up to Us'

It will be up to Bloomfield Township whether the new Holiday Inn motel on Telegraph Road will use Pontiac water and sewer service.

City Attorney William A. Ewart last night said it would be "contrary to the city's legal powers" to execute an agreement with a private citizen for water and sewer services outside the city limits.

"The only practical and legal way is to deal with the municipality in which the land is located," Ewart said.

The City Commission okayed a resolution concurring with Ewart's recommendation and ordering copies of the report to be sent to owners of the motel and township officials.

OTHER PACTS

The city has similar agreements with Sylvan Lake and Waterford Township.

Pontiac Mall, for instance, uses Pontiac's sewer system but pays the bill to the township. The township then reimburses the city.

Ewart said it appeared to him that "there is not sufficient interest on the part of the township to enter into an agreement for this area" because a township sewer is planned in the future to serve the area.

* * *

The motel is located just north of Miracle Mile Shopping Center. Ewart recommended that its owners work out an agreement with the township.

ACTION DEFERRED

Action was deferred one week on a proposed $270 contract with American Title Co. for title search and ownership data on 57 properties in the R20 urban renewal project.

The parcels are to be added to the R20 acquisition list in a revised R20 plan, which will be submitted to federal agencies for approval soon.

Commissioners Winford E. Bottom and Charles H. Harmon suggested the contract be pared down to include only 17 properties which have already been tentatively okayed for acquisition by federal officials.

A request for rights to construct benches at some 40 bus stops throughout the city was referred to city manager Robert A. Carter for study.

BENCH FIRM

The request came from John K. Irwin, a local attorney representing Ralph C. Stottlemyer.

Stottlemyer is district representative for Artistic Bench, Inc., the firm that wants to install benches.

The proposal is similar to one from Gerald Nienstedt of Pontiac, approved by commissioners last February. Nienstedt was leased 40 spaces with an annual permit fee of $2 per bench.

* * *

The owners sell advertising space on the benches.

ZONE REQUESTS

Commissioners concurred with planning commission recommendations to deny requests to rezone property at 230 Wessen, 466 Oakland and 643 N. Perry.

Public hearings were slated for the December meeting on proposed ordinances to rezone to commercial seven lots on the east side of Oakland between Pensacola and Orlando, and 11 lots on the north side of South Boulevard from Sanford to East Boulevard.

4 Girls, 1 Boy Face Court in School Burglary

Four girls and a boy, who admitted breaking into a Waterford Township school and stealing items valued at about $100, have been turned over to Juvenile Court authorities.

Waterford Township detective Arthur Holmes said the five, all 13 and 14 years old, admitted the Monday night break-in after being apprehended yesterday morning.

All the stolen articles from the Cooley Elementary School, 1950 Inwood, have been recovered, Holmes said.

Following a hearing yesterday, the boy was ordered held at the Oakland County Children's Center. The girls face a hearing on their part in the break-in.

Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero postponed the sentencing of Danny L. Farnsworth of 12 Gingell until Nov. 18, 1964, under a state law permitting such a delay up to a year.

Farnsworth's record during that time will be taken into account in his sentencing.

Farnsworth was the driver of a car that struck and killed a 15-year-old pedestrian, David Levering, of 177 S. Jessie. Police said Farnsworth was driving with defective brakes when the accident occurred on Auburn near Sanford Oct. 18.

How to be a big-time saver

(even if you're short on will power)

Iron-willed persistence is the tried and true way to become a successful saver. If that's not one of your strong points, however, try the Payroll Savings Plan.

It works just as well and saves you a lot of bookkeeping besides.

Every payday your employer sets aside a small amount from your check (you say how much) and puts it toward the purchase of a U. S. Savings Bond. Your Bond roll fattens up fast. Just $4.33 a week, for example, adds on three $100 Bonds every year.

There's no will power needed. And since you never see the small amount that's taken out of your check, you hardly miss it.

Of course, you save more than money this way. You also help preserve your freedom to spend it. Your Bond dollars help give Uncle Sam the financial strength he must have to protect our freedoms.

Tell your employer you want to start Payroll Savings this payday and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can buy Bonds where you work or bank

Keep freedom in your future with

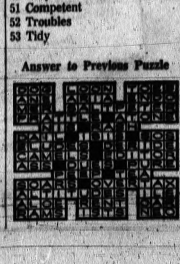
Answer to Previous Puzzle



People of All Ages Swell the Ranks

Long Dutch Hikes Attract Hardy Tourists

The American tourist who enjoys strolling through the countryside can find plenty of company in the Netherlands.

For in that country on the North Sea, famed for its tulips, windmills and dikes, hiking is almost as much a national pastime as baseball is in the United States.

Thousands of Dutch men, women and children take part in mass treks lasting up to six days.

And each year, according to the Netherlands National Tourist office, the ranks are swelled by more participants from other countries around the work, including the United States.

Distance, not speed, is the main objective in the Dutch walks. The hikers try to cover a specified distance each day and stick it out to the end.

TOURISTS JOIN

The Dutch say, however, that many tourists join in for a day or two to stretch their legs and get a leisurely closeup look at the countryside and the people. Spectators are welcomed, too, and there are numerous inns and roadside restaurants where they can sip cool drinks while watching the hike.

Also spaced along the route of march are Red Cross stations to treat blisters, corns, bunions and other minor ailments.

Most famous of the marches is the Nijmegen "Vierdaagse" July 23-26, now in its 47th year. More than 15,000 took part in the 1962 four-day hike.

Anyone 12 years or older can take part and it is not unusual to see 80-year-old grandmothers and grandfathers stepping along with the younger hikers. Marchers try to cover a specified distance within a time limit of usually 11 hours.

Young men aim for 34 miles a day; older men and women try for 25 miles and the very young and the very old shoot for 18 miles.

Each day the hikers leave Nijmegen and return at night. But each day they take a different route. On the final day, spectators line the roads to shower flowers on the hardy ones who have stuck it out the four days and earned prize commemorative ribbons.

3 CLASSES

Another four-day march, also from July 23-26, is held at Apeldoorn. Here hikers are separated by ages into three classes and cover different distances: 30 miles per day for men 21-50; 24 miles for youths 17-20, women 17-50 and men 51-70; and 18 miles for boys and girls 15-16, women 51-70, and men 71-75.

Each group leaves at a different time each morning. The route leads through the town of Apeldoorn, often called the "largest garden city in the Netherlands," and winds through the picturesque woods and countryside dotted with 12-century churches and a castle or two.

There is a big festival at the conclusion of the four-day event.

★ ★ ★

Newest and toughest of the marches is the Hook of Holland to Den Helder trek, a distance of about 90 miles, from July 29 to August 3. The hikers camp out during the march along the beaches with the sea on the left and the dunes on the right.

The route passes the biggest locks in the world at Ijmuiden, to make it easier on the hikers, automobiles carry their equipment to the overnight camping sites.

★ ★ ★

Last but not least is the "Airborne March," commemorating the Allied paratroop landings at Arnheim in September 1944. A one-day march held on Sept. 14, hikers follow the route of the troops from Arnheim through the woods of the Veluwe zone and across the battlefields of World War II.

Distances range from 6 to 9 miles for children 10-13 to 21 miles for anyone 14 years and older.

SEASON PRIZE — These two Detroit hunters brought amused attention when they returned from Hale, Iosco County, with this 710-pound beef steer on their station wagon. The men, Leonard Bishop Jr., and Grant Shellenbarger, had agreed to buy the animal before the hunting season. It is to be split up for their freezers and picked it up on the trip.

Wilson Links Cigar Bands to Gals' Wedding Banns

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—A lot of girls write to me asking how they can land a husband when there's such fierce competition for us chaps.

First thing, girls, is: you simply must carry your guy's cigars in your handbag.

Alan King says so and I say so, and that settles it.

My wife won't and Milton Berle's wife Ruth once did, but now refuses. But that's irrelevant. They'll be forced. They've nothing else in their handbags, have they?

"It'll make for happier marriage," Alan King said at the Waldorf Empire Room, where he's breaking previous records. "What man has pockets big enough to carry these long Churchills that I smoke? Why should my wife object. I buy her the bags, don't I?

WILSON

"I SURE DO!" It made him seethe, thinking what he endures.

"I'm always thinking of her. In Paris I rush into a boutique. I say 'Gimme a lady's handbag quick.' I hold out a Churchill-size cigar. 'About two inches wider'n this,' I say. The clerk says 'Qu'est-ce que c'est?'

"It's murder, all the money I spend buying her beautiful handbags. George Burns, Danny Thomas, President Kennedy . . . they all smoke cigars. Do they buy handsome handbags for their wives? Do you think I get any credit? Even when I got her an extra large bag something like a knapsack when she went to Europe with me! Wouldn't you think just once she'd say 'My husband is so unselfish'?"

Santa Will Like Fur Price Tags

Mink Is Poll Favorite; Cost Within Reach

The "furcast" for Christmas says Santa can practically pick his price as he picks her fur.

Mink still tops the tree as the most prized fur for giving and getting, but even this luxurious fur is available in price ranges that are by no means out of reach.

Santa may be budget-minded, but when he considers that this special gift will bring years of enduring delight, he may well find it his best investment. Credit plans add to the ease of giving mink.

If Santa's wallet can't encompass a mink coat, he needn't despair.

LITTLE MINKS

Little minks are big in fashion importance, and he might decide to surprise her with a versatile mink boa, which can be worn as a collar or ascot, or twisted to form a small muff or even a turban.

Stoles, jackets, capes and capelets offer further opportunities of giving mink and other luxury furs at a more modest cost.

Particularly good news for Santa, however, is the great fashion popularity of the sports or fun furs.

★ ★ ★

These are furs with sportive, casual styling and include such fashions as vests and parkas, as well as coats and jackets.

UNDER $300

Happily, most are priced to sell for under $300, so Santa's gift of fur can be virtually an "impulse" purchase.

Among the fun furs he will find familiar pelts such as squirrel and spotted cat, but he'll also encounter many new names — guanaco and kit fox, for example.

For safety's sake, perhaps he should hint to Mrs. Santa that he'd like a hint as to her preference — always a good idea when giving fur.

Furriers will usually package a sample skin of the chosen fur for Santa, so that she can select her own style later.

Spanish Government Plans Development

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Spanish Cabinet has approved a $5.9-billion investment for a four-year development plan to start next year.

The plan aims to provide a million new jobs by setting up industries in underdeveloped areas of Spain.

Bank Gets a Deposit

CORNELIA, Ga. (AP)—It cost some bungling burglars at least $92 to break into the Cornelia bank.

Police chief J. G. Davenport said the burglars had chopped a hole in the bank roof but failed to reach any supplies of cash.

★ ★ ★

In the process, they dropped a roll of bills amounting to $92 and left behind a bottle half-filled with whisky.

OK Proposals on Disarming

West, Reds Clash in U.N. Unit Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N General Assembly's main political committee approved the two remaining proposals on its disarmament agenda Tuesday night after a wordy double session highlighted by a clash between the Soviet bloc and the West.

The 111-nation committee approved a call for a nuclear-free zone in Latin America. It also endorsed an African appeal for a ban-the-bomb conference, vigorously opposed by the United States.

★ ★ ★

The Latin-American draft passed 89-0 with 14 abstentions after a concerted Communist attack on U.S. policy toward denuclearized zones.

The debate made clear that many hurdles remain before any such plan could be carried out.

BLOC ABSTAINS

All Soviet bloc nations except Romania and Albania abstained on the resolution as a show of support for Cuba's demands that abandonment of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo be made a condition for setting up a denuclearized zone in Latin America and that the zones include the U.S. territories of Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

Delegates were surprised by Romania's yes vote, which marked a rare departure from Soviet bloc unit.

★ ★ ★

The Romanian delegate took the floor later to emphasize that his government supports Cuba's demand. He said his vote meant that Romania strongly favors the idea of nuclear free zones and want one in the Balkans.

Albania, long at odds with the Kremlin, refused to take part in the ballot because the draft referred to the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed in Moscow.

SCUTTLE CHANCES

Despite the big vote for the Latin-American resolution, the Cuban conditions virtually scuttled any chances of creation of a nuclear-free zone. The Latin-American sponsors of the plan have insisted that unanimous support of all nations in the area is required.

Welfare Group Lauds Plan for ADC-U Law

Conference Praises Romney Switch on Bill to Aid Children

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's disclosure yesterday he will seek a new ADC-U law for the state bought immediate response from officials at the Michigan Welfare League Conference.

Such a law was passed by the 1963 legislature in hopes of enabling Michigan to get federal funds under the Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADC-U) program.

★ ★ ★

But the law was found discriminatory by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare because of the contention that its definition of "unemployed" was too restrictive.

APPROVES BOTH

Bernard Houston, director of the state's Department of Social Welfare, said "I thoroughly approve of both the governor's and the welfare commission's motion to seek an acceptable ADC-U bill."

Houston said participation in the federal program could bring from $3 to $10 million in federal funds to the state, depending on two variables — the definition of "unemployed" set up by the law and the economic climate in the state.

The welfare department, following an October motion by the state's welfare commission, has been working on an ADC-U bill. Houston said the bill has not been drafted yet.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit commission member, Mrs. Charles Whitten, expressed her approval of the move to seek a new bill and a conference speaker, Erwin Simon of Detroit, noted "The ADC-U conflict is apparently on the way to being resolved." Simon headed the league's Study Committee on Public Assistance.

HAVE ESTIMATED

Detroit officials have estimated the city would be relieved of $2.3 million in welfare costs annually if the federal ADC-U program takes effect in the state.

★ ★ ★

Kent County Welfare Director Rupert Kettle of Grand Rapids said he is "pleased to see a possibility of the county getting this form of aid."

★ ★ ★

Kettle said that because of high employment in his county, the welfare case load is down, but added that "now may be a good time" to work out the administrative details for the program.

Pontiac Redeveloper Lacks Federal Okay

By DICK SAUNDERS

Pontiac has no exclusive redeveloper for its urban renewal lands in the central business district.

The city has a man, Charles L. Langs, who would like to be exclusive redeveloper and has, in fact held that title since last July.

Langs, however, has been working under an agreement that has never been approved by federal officials, according to City Attorney William A. Ewart.

★ ★ ★

The agreement won't get federal approval until it is revised to conform to federal regulations regarding the sale and redevelopment of renewal lands.

Ewart has forwarded a report to city commissioners recommending that the agreement with Lands, adopted by the commission July 23, be corrected and submitted for federal approval.

Local urban renewal staffers said there were items omitted from the adopted agreement that had been included in the agreement they originally proposed. Some items were included by reference to an earlier resolution.

★ ★ ★

Ewart said he was unaware that the agreement had not been approved by the federal government, until last week when he began a new study of the document.

Commissioners indicated they were unaware anything was wrong with the agreement.

Mayor Robert A. Landry asked that Ewart's report be deleted from last night's commission agenda so the commission could study it first.

Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates supported Ewart's position.

Bates is concerned about redevelopment proposals.

"What it boils down to is that

R20 Land Sale OK'd by City

28 Lots Purchased for $31,500; Hail Move

The sale of 28 lots of R20 urban renewal land for $31,500 was approved last night by the City Commission.

Mayor Robert A. Landry hailed the action as "this city's first major breakthrough in urban renewal development."

The property was purchased by Goodell Builders, Inc., of River Rouge.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the firm said they plan to build homes on the lots priced from about $13,000 to $15,000.

NEWLY PLATTED

The land is a newly platted area bounded by Whittemore, Perkins, Cottage and Center.

★ ★ ★

When advertised for sale several months ago it brought only one bid averaging about $250 to $350 per lot for houses in the $9,000 price range.

★ ★ ★

The Goodell offer averaged $1,500 per lot. The sale was concluded by negotiation after original bids were rejected.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese security agents and gendarmes dragged two Soviet diplomats feet first from their cars yesterday, beat them with clubs and hauled them off to jail.

They were still being held today.

Soviet Embassy officials said the diplomats were Embassy Counsellor Boris Noronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh. The officials said they had no word on their fate.

REFUSED SEARCH

Eyewitnesses said Noronin and Miakotnykh refused to allow the Congolese to search their car on their return from Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo, which is across the Congo River. They claimed diplomatic immunity.

Soviet Embassy officials said the Congolese also had cut the telephone and electric supply to the luxury apartment where the 100-man Soviet mission lives and works.

Sources close to the Congolese government hinted that "highly compromising" documents had been seized from the two arrested diplomats.

Relations between the Congolese government and the Communist bloc have been bad, and some members of Premier Cyrille Adoula's regime recently were agitating for a break with the Soviet Union. Poland, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria the Communist nations with which the Congo has diplomatic relations.

Psychological Exam Set in Stabbing Case

Fifteen - year - old Ernest E. Hansen was held in the Oakland County Children's Center today after a preliminary Juvenile Court hearing yesterday in the stabbing and abduction of a 71-year-old woman Monday.

Probate Court Judge Norman R. Barnard scheduled another hearing for Dec. 3.

U.S. Airs Policies

Talks on Asia Start

HONOLULU (AP) — High-level talks on the United States' future policies in South Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia began today in Pacific military command headquarters near Honolulu.

The day-long session brought together top-drawer military men and diplomats from Washington and Saigon to map future strategy in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived last night and termed the meeting "Just another in a series in which we will review our program of commitments in Viet Nam."

McNamara said in a plane-side interview that it is "quite clear that the previous South Viet Nam regime had lost the support of large segments of the population and in a war of this type — a war against guerrilla action and subversion — can only be won with full support of the people.

"The new government appears to have that support," he said. It is, he added, already receiving more support than the previous regime "either had or deserved."

★ ★ ★

McNamara said U.S. assistance to Viet Nam in its fight against subversion will be discussed at the session, as well as the return home of U.S. personnel in Viet Nam.

Also scheduled to attend the meeting was Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive today.

From Saigon yesterday came Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam; and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group there.

They huddled informally at preliminary sessions with Adm. Harry D. Felt, Pacific military commander.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Coast Guard planes will search again today for the 130-foot ship Chief, which reported itself sinking in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday with nine persons aboard.

But Is It Really True?

Baby's 'Murder' Is Confessed

By JOE MULLIN

A "murderer" walks free in Oakland County.

And, it seems likely that he will go unpunished for his crime — assuming there really was a crime.

His freedom appears reasonably assured by legal technicalities relating to the bizarre set of circumstances of the case.

The "murder" occurred nearly two years ago. It was revealed and confessed just this month as the aftermath of a family quarrel.

★ ★ ★

A young woman, accompanied by her father, walked in the Waterford Township Police Station at 2:40 a.m. Nov. 3.

She had something on her mind, she said. After nearly 23 months, she said she decided it was time to share it with the authorities.

Her message was lengthy but it boiled down to this:

She gave birth to a baby in December 1961. Her husband delivered the child in the couple's house and then drowned it in the bathroom. He later discarded the body at the Pontiac dump.

★ ★ ★

When police questioned the husband a few hours later, he confirmed what his wife had said and explained that they couldn't afford the baby.

Yale Prof Tricked

Photos Led to Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Photographs bundled inside a roll of newspapers apparently were Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn's passport to arrest.

The bundle was thrust into the professor's hands by a stranger in front of a Moscow hotel. Seconds later, Barghoorn was seized by Soviet police, he told newsmen Tuesday after a meeting with State Department officials.

In the 16 days that he was imprisoned on spy charges, he said, he was not mistreated and signed no confessions.

* * *

He said his experience had not changed his belief that cultural exchange programs between the United States and the Soviet Union are a good thing.

NO GO-AHEAD

But the State Department still has not given a go-ahead for scheduled exchange talks which the United States canceled because of the Barghoorn incident.

The professor, who was released last Saturday and returned home on Sunday, met with State Department officials for six hours to talk about his Moscow experience.

Then he met with newsmen, and for the first time in public related details of the case which rocketed sharp new strains through American-Soviet relations.

* * *

Here's the story Barghoorn told to newsmen:

EVE OF DEPARTURE

On Oct. 31, the eve of his planned departure from Moscow he returned to the Metropole Hotel in the Soviet capital about 7:25 p.m. He was suddenly approached by a "youngish looking man, carrying what seemed like a roll of newspapers."

The man asked something which Barghoorn believes was, "Are you an American?"

"I was startled, said yes, and he pushed toward me the roll of newspapers. I took it. I thought, perhaps foolishly, that it was propaganda material and put it into my coat. Almost simultaneously I was grabbed and hustled off in an automobile."

* * *

He said there were photographs in the roll, adding, "I would not understand military matters."

Barghoorn said that neither on this trip nor on previous visits to the Soviet Union was he on "intelligence assignment." But he said that working in the "sensitive field" of political science could be regarded as intelligence in the Soviet Union, where "anything not published can and often is regarded as intelligence."

Redeveloper Lacks OK

we're not sure we could deliver any land to Langs, under terms in the present agreement, even if he did come up with a major redevelopment proposal," Bates said.

* *

"I just want to protect Langs and the city," he added.

BOTH ACCEPTABLE

Federal officials in Chicago had indicated last summer that the procedure of selling and redeveloping urban renewal land through negotiation with a single party was acceptable, as was a procedure of sale through competitive bidding.

However, according to Bates, there are regulations governing each procedure and the Langs agreement doesn't conform to some technical regulations covering single-developer procedure.

Local officials, however, wouldn't disclose the specific corrections that had to be made.

* * *

After the agreement was signed in July, Bates said federal approval would be necessary to make it official.

"There is literally no contract or agreement in urban renewal that doesn't require federal approval," he explained.

He also indicated last summer that the agreement might need some revising to pass federal inspection.

But no revisions were made.

* * *

Renewal officials said approval of the agreement was now becoming vital since urban renewal is moving rapidly toward the redevelopment stage.

WANTS REVISIONS

Langs, 51, of 3631 Dorothy Lane, Waterford Township, is also anxious to see any necessary revisions made, according to City Manager Robert Carter, who conferred with Langs yesterday.

* * *

The intent of the agreement was that the city would reserve urban renewal lands for sale to Langs during a 12-month period, contingent on his providing suitable building plans and tenants for the property.

Local Bar Stopped by State Law

The Murray Beauty Academy at 105 N. Saginaw is a school within the meaning of state liquor laws, Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore ruled again yesterday as he granted a permanent injunction against the transfer of a Pontiac bar license.

In his final decision in the eight-month-old case, Moore handed victory to a group of downtown Pontiac real estate men and merchants who sought to block the transfer of Spadafore's Bar from 6 N. Cass to 79 N. Saginaw.

* * *

Moore said that testimony showed the majority of students at the beauty school were of high school age and "therefore clearly fall within the students protected" by a 1962 amendment to the Liquor Control Act.

PROHIBITED

The law prohibits bars within 500 feet of a school.

Transfer of the bar because its old location was condemned for the Perimeter Road had been prevented by a temporary injunction based on Moore's earlier ruling that the beauty academy was a school.

The City of Pontiac, defendant in the suit, failed in an attempt to get a State Supreme Court reversal of the March 30 temporary injunction.

* * *

The transfer had been approved 5-2 by the City Commission and okayed by the State Liquor Control Commission.

Was Baby Actually Murdered?

Even with the murder admission, the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office found itself stymied on the case.

A confession is not necessarily the basis for a conviction, Prosecutor George Taylor said.

* * *

Assuming the man's confession is authentic, he explained, it remains uncertain whether the infant ever was alive.

MUST BE PROVEN

If it were born dead, murder it ruled out. If it were born alive, this would have to be proven.

Efforts to locate the body of the baby have been unsuccessful.

Workers have burrowed more than 20-feet into the ground at the dump. Countless dog and cat skeletons have been found, but no remains of the baby have been uncovered.

* * *

The digging project stopped when newspapers dated prior to the reported murder were reached in the dump strata.

STILL NO PROOF

Even if the body had been found in the dump, the prosecution case could be based only on a charge of improper burial, a misdemeanor Taylor said, because there was no proof the body was alive.

Further complicating the case is the fact that the wife reportedly did not consult a physician during her pregnancy.

Why did the woman keep the murder story to herself from Dec. 18 or 19, 1961 (she wasn't sure which day) until two weeks ago?

* * *

Her husband had begun running around and wasn't supporting her and their two children, she told police.

The husband was released Sunday from the Oakland County Jail after a 10-day stay for nonsupport.

FAVORS IDEA — John I Snyder Jr. (left) president of United States Industries, Inc., chats with AFL-CIO President George Meany at the Union convention yesterday. Snyder told the convention that he favors a shorter work week to reduce unemployment. The AFL-CIO advocates reducing the standard work week with no loss in pay.

Exec Sees Social Turmoil Because of Automation

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire businessman John I Snyder Jr. says the United States faces great social upheaval if it can't provide jobs for men replaced by machines.

Warning of "really staggering" unemployment, Snyder urged the AFL-CIO yesterday to join with the federal government and the National Association of Manufacturers to find a solution.

"I'd join with the devil himself if I could find the solution to this problem," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

* * *

Meany and 1,200 AFL-CIO convention delegates gave Snyder a reception that was warm, although subdued, after a convention floor fight over readmitting the ostracized Teamsters Union.

HEAVY GAVEL

Meany, with the help of most delegates, wielded a heavy gavel, in killing the move to consider taking back the Teamsters, ousted on corruption charges in 1957.

Snyder, president of U.S. Industries, Inc., manufacturers of automation equipment, linked the civil rights movement and the growing unemployment problem.

"The gap between the column of figures running down the balance sheet and the column of Negroes marching down an embattled street is a slim one indeed," Snyder said.

* * *

He described himself as no particular friend of labor, but said automation equipment puts thousands of people out of work every week.

WANT TO SELL

"I want to sell the automation machines my company makes, and if our economy turns sour, if the unemployment problem is not solved, I will have difficulty selling them," Snyder said.

Snyder said President Kennedy's reliance on a tax cut as the best job creator is only a partial answer. The national job placement program of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is "silly," he said.

The problem calls for a total effort by labor, management and government, Synder said, and he favored a reduced work week as one of the answers.

* * *

Cutting the work week to 35 hours or less is one of the AFL-CIO's prime goals, but it is opposed by Kennedy. Neither Kennedy nor Rockefeller, candidate for the Republican presidency nomination, brought up the work week question in speaking to the convention last week.

Congo Police Beat Soviet Diplomats

Finally, the Congolese forced open the car doors and grabbed the Russians' feet. The diplomats struggled but were dragged out and thrown bodily into a Congolese army truck. When they tried to get off the truck, they were beaten with clubs, the witness said.

RIPPED SHIRT

Another witness said one of the diplomats tried to push a document inside his shirt, but a Congolese grabbed his collar and ripped off his shirt front.

Well-informed sources said Miakotnykh was the Soviet government's main contact with extreme nationalist opponents of the Congolese government. Several opposition leaders fled across the Congo River to Brazzaville when President Joseph Kasavubu closed Parliament at the end of September.

These sources said Miakotnyh was known to have visited Christopher Gbenye, a leading disciple of the late Patrice Lumumba, who is setting up a "Congolese government in exile" in Brazzaville.

Pick 12 to Eye Mental Health

County Program Set Under New State Law

The appointment of a 12-member board to develop and hear a community mental health program under new Michigan statutes was announced today by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The statutes provide for a county program of community clinics for psychiatric treatment.

Such programs have proven highly effective in other states, said Hamlin. The necessary legislation in Michigan was initiated by the board of supervisors here and Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

* * *

The appointments made by Hamlin are:

For four years, Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams; Birmingham publisher Paul N. Averill; Farmington Superintendent of Schools Gerald V. Harrison, and Daniel T. Murphy, chairman-elect of the County Board of Auditors.

THREE YEARS

For three years, Pontiac psychiatrists Dr. L. Jerome Fink and Dr. Harry Arknoff; UAW regional co-director Ken Morris and Oakland University associate professor Kenneth D. Roose.

For two years, Royal Oak attorney Elmer Hartwig; Mrs. Henry E. McDonnell of Birmingham and County Supervisors Mrs. Arthur Mitchell of Lathrup Village and William H. Wagner of Berkley.

Hamlin said he plans to hold an organizational meeting by early December, after which he will appoint a board chairman from among the members.

* * *

The board is to recommend a community mental health program under rules being devised by the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

FOR APPROVAL

The board's recommendations would be made to the County Board of Supervisors for approval of a program.

* * *

The state is expected to pay 50 per cent of the program's cost, said Hamlin. Federal funds also will be available for the establishment of community clinics.

Birmingham Area News

10th Anniversary Today of Telephone Revolution

BIRMINGHAM — A revolutionary telephone system was introduced in Michigan by this community 10 years ago today.

Birmingham was the second exchange in the nation to be offered direct distance dialing.

On Nov. 20, 1953, telephone users in both Birmingham and Englewood, N.J., were able to dial long distance calls directly.

* * *

Patrons in Birmingham could dial directly to 13 million telephones in 14 metropolitan areas across the nation.

80 PER CENT

Today about 80 per cent of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. users can dial calls to some 80 million telephones in the U.S. and Canada.

Birmingham was chosen as one of the first areas to receive the new service because of its rapid growth.

Also, residents there and in Englewood had high long distance calling rates per capita. Furthermore, they made the calls to a wide range of cities throughout the country.

* * *

For these and technical reasons, Birmingham seemed a likely place to introduce the system.

Off to a successful start, direct dialing expanded rapidly during the next decade to reach its present scope.

Dr. Robert C. Angell, codirector of the Center of Research on Conflict Resolution at the University of Michigan, will discuss world disarmament tomorrow night at the Community House.

His talk, entitled "World Context for Successful Disarmament," will be presented before the November meeting of the American Association for the United Nations.

The author of several books, Dr. Angell is former president of the International Sociological Association. He served as a member of various American delegations to UNESCO intermittently from 1940-56.

The program will start at 8 p.m.

Henry W. Standart

Service for Henry W. Standart, 88, of 663 Ann will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will follow in Elmwood Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Standart died Monday after a brief illness.

He was former president of the Northern Engineering Works Co. of Detroit. He was also an honorary life member of the University Club and the Detroit Boat Club.

A daughter, Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Birmingham, survives.

Mrs. Louis Toch

Service for Mrs. Louis (Florence A.) Toch, 80, of 757 Westview, Bloomfield Hills, will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Toch died unexpectedly yesterday.

She was a member of Delta Sigma sorority, the Senior Woman's Group of Birmingham and the Presbyterian Church of New York.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William Bond, with whom Mrs. Toch lived, and Mrs. John James, a missionary in New Guinea; three grandchildren; a great-grandchild.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

Waterford House Damaged by Blaze

A fire believed caused by a four-year-old child playing with a cigarette lighter caused an estimated $5,500 damage to a house at 4106 Parkway, Waterford Township, this morning.

Mrs. Sue Bigelow, tenant, said her son Daniel was playing in a front bedroom when the fire started about 9:55 a.m.

No one was injured in the blaze, which was extinguished by township fire fighters in about 30 minutes.

They estimated damage to the four-room frame house at $3,500, plus $2,000 loss on contents.

Awaits Word on Parole

Fugitive Just Another Jackson Prisoner

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney took steps today aimed at speeding action on a possible parole or pardon for Alonzo Gunsell. Romney asked Mrs. Edna Gunsell, wife of the former fugitive, to contact the parole board at once, in hopes of having Gunsell's case considered at the board's Monday meeting.

JACKSON (AP)—Alonzo Gunsell, who fled the Pontiac prison camp in White Lake Township 10 years ago and assumed respectability in Colorado, was just another prisoner today at the state prison in Jackson.

The former Flint burglar is awaiting word on a parole hearing that could free him to return to Colorado.

He was imprisoned yesterday after a fruitless attempt to see Gov. George Romney.

Gunsell, 43, had sought clemency from the governor because he claimed to have led an exemplary life under an assumed name following his escape.

He was interviewed by Romney's legal adviser, Richard Van Dusen, but Romney referred the case to the Michigan Parole Board for a recommendation.

Gunsell will have to make formal application for parole. Francis Buchko, a member of the board, said there was no way to tell when the case would come up.

Also pending was a decision by Warden George Kropp and director of Corrections Gus Harrison on whether Gunsell should be prosecuted as a fugitive.

At the prison, Gunsell was given a medical examination, issued prison clothing and assigned a cell in the "segregation block" where escaped prisoners normally are confined upon their return.

He was described by a prison official as "quiet and reserved" during the one-hour processing.

"He was cooperative and acted as if he didn't want to make a bad impression," said Perry Johnson, assistant to the warden.

Gunsell's wife, Edna, who along with two of her three children had accompanied him on the visit to Gov. Romney, apparently returned to the home of his relatives in Flint.

She broke down and cried outside the governor's office when corrections department officials showed up to take her husband into custody.

Gunsell was serving a 14-15 year sentence for burglary when he and another prisoner walked away from the honor camp near Pontiac, only a few days after Gunsell had appeared before the parole board.

He claims to have taken the name of George W. King, married Edna, who had the children by a previous marriage, in Toledo and then moved to Denver.

He worked as a construction company foreman and truck driver and said he was on his way to Wyoming to look for work when FBI agents arrested him in July on what they called a "tip."

Gunsell was identified through his fingerprints.

He waived extradition, and his voluntary return to Michigan was accompanied by a letter to Romney from Colorado Gov. John Love, who asked that his case be considered with "mercy."

A Denver district court judge also wrote to Michigan officials on Gunsell's behalf.

Gunsell's former boss has said his job will be open if the former fugitive can win his freedom in Michigan.

Advice for Land's Sake

By ROGER SRIGLEY

A young man in Room 1 of Pontiac's Federal Building is busy giving away samples of his "product" to Oakland County farmers and landowners these days.

The man is Ellis G. (Bill) Humphrey, 32, the local work unit conservationist. The "product" is actually advice on how to convert farmland into profitable recreation sites.

"In some cases, the government has more than consultation and advice to offer. For projects such as ponds, ditches, reforestation and tile drainage installation, it can provide up to one-third of the necessary funds through the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office," said Humphrey.

The government is promoting conversion of soil bank land and other nonproductive areas into recreation facilities.

'LIKE CORN RAISING'

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has even predicted that "the prosperous farmer of tomorrow is going to raise recreation (land) just as he is raising corn now."

Humphrey works for a branch of the Agriculture Department, the Soil Conservation Service. His job is to help Oakland County Soil Conservation District.

To receive the government aid, there's a hitch — But not much of one.

The only prerequisite for joining the district is to own three or more acres in Oakland County, and to sign one of the applications available in Humphrey's office.

MAPS, PLANS

Once he has a signature, Humphrey can provide — depending on the need — soil maps, site selection and pond layout plans. Or he can even help map out a picnic area or artificial lake.

"Our major function is to aid in the conservation of soil and water," he says. "All these other things are tied to it."

Humphrey knows a great deal more than how to stop erosion. His training has taught him to identify which soils will hold water for a lake and which won't.

★ ★ ★

He also knows the fundamentals of planning recreational enterprises, such as nature trails, parks, wildlife preserves, picnic and camping areas and even trails for horseback riding.

SOIL SPECIMENS

Dropping in on Humphrey, one is likely to see him holding specimens of soil like he showed Eugene Miley and Carl Chimenti yesterday.

Miley came in for, and received, help planning trails for the horseback riding he offers

Once he has a signature, Hum Davisburg.

Chementi, Royal Oak, wanted some general information on farmland in the Ortonville area.

After talking with Humphrey, the two walked out with some new ideas for farmland, as well as a booklet, "Rural Recreation Enterprises for Profit," which Humphrey offers to all his visitors.

ALL ANGLES

A breakdown of all angles of the recreation business is given in the pamphlet, including information on financing, advertising and maintenance.

"The service is not developing recreation plans as such, but rather assisting district cooperators in developing conservation plans which include recreation as a recognized land use," Humphrey said.

He advises all farmers and landowners considering income-producing recreation sites as an enterprise to investigate certain areas prior to a final decision.

These include the need for such a facility, state and local licenses and ordinances, health regulations and the liability aspect of the proposed scheme.

ONLY CONSULTANT

Humphrey's office can give only consultative assistance to land developers, speculators and real estate agencies.

"We'll be working to help the farmer, who in turn can help the city dweller by providing a more beautiful and useful recreation area," he says.

"A lot of landowners are unaware of the service that can be provided without cost."

Mrs. Williams Leaves Will

Grandchildren Get Bulk of Her Estate

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Henry P. Williams, mother of former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams, left a will bequeathing the bulk of her $1-million estate to her nine grandchildren, it was revealed yesterday.

A petition accompanying the will, filed for probate, lists a personal estate of more than $1 million and real estate worth $50,000.

Mrs. Williams, 80, died Saturday. Her funeral was yesterday.

Increase Noted in Apple Crop

Michigan State Apple Commissioner Paul Button today reported a 1-million bushel increase in the state's anticipated apple crop following the regular meeting of the Michigan State Apple Commission in Grand Rapids.

The commissioner stated that the United States Department of Agriculture estimated Michigan growers picked 12 million bushels of apples during the recent harvesting season.

Button also noted that later USDA figures might show another increase in the crop size.

The commission also approved a resolution to support enabling legislation in the state. This type of legislation would allow a marketing program to be introduced by any commodity group, according to the commissioner.

In view of the changing storage picture of apples, the commission staff was authorized to proceed as necessary with promotional materials to match the movement of apples coming out of storages throughout the state.

On Dec. 5 the winner of the contest will be announced, and the pre-Christmas gifts will start to pour in.

Twenty-three local merchants are prepared to shower the pretty little miss with presents. She will also have her own float to ride down Washington Street during the Christmas parade, scheduled for Dec. 7.

Pictures of the candidates, all age 8, 9, or 10, are on display in the windows of the Town House Restaurant.

ONE VOTE

Rochester Schools

Board Eyes Policy

ROCHESTER — At the request of Schools Supt. Dr. William Early, the board of education here is tackling the problem of analyzing and revising school board policies.

It is also — for the first time — attempting to establish a written policy on athletic functions of the district.

"We're going to plan on yearly revision of academic and other policies, in order to smooth their execution and school operation," Dr. Early said.

At Monday's regular meeting, the school board began planning workshops at which to study the policies.

PAY OFF BONDS

The board also announced the receipt of $4,596 from football games this year. The funds will be used to pay off revenue bonds on the football field.

In other business Monday the board accepted a report from school administrators on their findings concerning assigned homework.

"The staff has studied the problem of coordinating homework, making it more meaningful and attempting to assign approximately two hours per night on the secondary level," said Dr. Early.

★ ★ ★

The study was made to avoid inconsistent assignments, which led to excessive assignments on one night and none on the next.

Lecture Is Set by Psychiatrist

ORCHARD LAKE — Dr. Aloysius S. Church, administrative psychiatrist for Detroit's board of education, will speak Sunday at an essai sponsored by Aquinas Academy, St. Mary's College.

The formal lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the campus assembly hall.

Dr. Church, who is also examining psychiatrist for Recorder's Court in Detroit, maintains a private practice as well.

Warren Police Ask Adult Trial for Boy

WARREN (AP) — Authorities in this Detroit suburb said today they will seek to try a 16-year-old boy as an adult. They said the boy was attempting to break into a home Monday night when his 17-year-old companion was shot and killed by the home owner.

Police said the boy has been arrested three times for burglary, Macomb County Probate Court Judge Donald Parent will be asked to waive jurisdiction.

His companion, Richard Marciniak, 17, of Warren was killed when the home owner, John Barbu, 30, of Warren fired one shot at the fleeing boys, police said.

Pianist Shows Sensitivity

BY ERIC W. ALLEN

Pontiac has again been privileged with an evening of excellent music performed sensitively and with understanding.

Gabriel Chodos, 24-year-old piano instructor at the University of Oregon, appeared at Northern High School last night in his first public performance away from the West Coast.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by Pontiac chapter of Hadassah, Mr. Chodos opened the recital with Schubert's melodious Moments Musicaux. It was a well balanced, but reserved performance.

The young pianist did not warm to his task until the third movement of the second work on the program . . . Beethoven's Sonata in F Minor, the Appassionata.

★ ★ ★

MOOD RISES

Mr. Chodos built on one theme, then another through the first and second movements, until his emotional mood was prepared for the fiery and climactic third. Attuned to the character of the work, he performed with all the technical bravado and controlled power that is required.

The Beethoven was a major accomplishment. Mr. Chodos was more at ease following it. For the remainder of the evening, he showed none of the restraint and hesitant stiffness of the opening Schubert.

★ ★ ★

His interpretation of four Brahms pieces was delicate 76, No. 5.

CONTEMPORARY

But 18th and 19th Century masters were only part of Mr. Chodos repertoire. He was quite at home with the contemporary composer, Ernest Bloch.

★ ★ ★

The Bloch and Beethoven works were high points of the evening. It was sophisticated and highly complex music that was well performed.

★ ★ ★

But the audience responded more readily to the familiar romantic works, especially to two Chopin pieces — a brilliant Berceuse, Opus 60, and the lilting B Minor Scherez, Opus 20.

Chopin ended the recital, but Mr. Chodos returned to the stage for one encore . . . Schuman's beloved Traumerei, from Kinderscenen.

★ ★ ★

The hymn-like melody closed the evening much as it had begun — quietly. But between the two static points of rest were two hours of exciting, timeless music, well performed by a skilled and understanding pianist.

Easier Than Sweeping

Pots 'Sponge' Patio

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — After a big rain there are always small puddles of water on our patio. I set my clay pots with plants in them in these puddles and very shortly all the water is gone. Easier than sweeping the water off. — MRS. E. L. A.

DEAR POLLY — To remove the water line or water spots from any clear glass containers such as rose bowls, vases or drinking glasses, rub the lines with paste silver polish which has been applied to a dampened cloth or sponge. Rinse with water, and all offending marks will have disappeared. — MRS. L. V. M.

DEAR POLLY — It is much easier to clean the car floor mats if you push the front seat back as far as it will go before vacuuming the front and vice versa for the back mat.

When carrying cold drinks in a vacuum jug, put the ice cubes in a plastic bag tightly fastened with a rubber band, put in the jug and then pour in your drink. It will keep cool without being diluted. — CHARLES.

DEAR POLLY — An old kitchen canister set can be a most valuable addition to a boy's room. Place the cans in his desk or dresser to hold marbles, knives, rocks and all those things boys hang on to and keep in their pockets.

Let the boy paint the cans so they are a part of the room's decor and label with his name or decorate with decals. Each can be labeled for a certain item if you like.

They would also be fine in a girl's room to hold pins, hair curlers, ribbons and so forth. I find they save me a lot of picking up and the boys enjoy using the cans. — MOTHER OF FOUR BOYS.

DEAR POLLY — When I do my weekly thorough cleaning, I start in a different room each week. The first two or three rooms always get the best cleaning when I feel fresh, so this way no one room gets the short end and the cleaning seems a less monotonous task. — E. R. C.

DEAR POLLY — It is very easy for a gift card to fall out from under the ribbon and get lost. Often at a shower it is hard to determine which card goes with which gift. When wrapping a gift, I loop the flap of the envelope over the ribbon and seal the envelope. It is impossible for the card to get lost or dropped. — MRS. P. B.

Changes Are Fractional

Stock Mart Moves Unevenly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved unevenly in moderately active trading early today.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional, with some going to a point or so.

Xerox rebounded 4 points or so from the spate of profit taking which sent the stock down 31 points in the first two trading days this week.

★ ★ ★

Polaroid and IBM were up about 2 apiece.

American Telephone, whose directors report on dividend action today, recovered from yesterday's loss, rising 1 to 133 on an opening block of 5,000 shares, holding most of the gain in later dealings.

ALSO RECOVERED

Chrysler also recovered from its setback of yesterday, and all the leading auto stocks either held unchanged or edged higher.

Steels, however, displayed a string of fractional losses. Oils were mixed, with Texaco and Jersey Standard up fractionally and others declining slightly.

Ford's action was strong despite the four-million-share secondary offering of Ford stock by the Ford Foundation at a price of $50.50 a share. Ford stock traded half a point above that on the exchange floor.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .9 to 277.0.

ON AMERICAN

Prices were narrowly mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included Arkansas–Louisiana Gas, Giannini Controls and Pyle National. Among losers were National Bellas Hess and Universal Controls.

Corporate bonds were generally steady.

Aid Money Rejection Is Expected Today

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) —The Cambodian Foreign Ministry summoned U.S. Ambassador Philip D. Sprouse today, presumably to deliver orders from ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk for an immediate end to the $30 million-a-year program of U.S. military and economic aid to his country.

Sihanouk announced his decision to a wildly cheering rally of his political party yesterday. He charged U.S. aid was being used to undermine his regime and that rebel Cambodians based in South Viet Nam were using American equipment.

The prince said he did not want to sever
