Traffic Light Installed

Pontiac Press Photo

GOING UP — Shown erecting a traffic signal at the intersection of Valencia Drive and East Boulevard are city electricians, who completed the job yesterday. Mothers of school children who cross at the corner to board a bus had blockaded the street in a campaign for a traffic signal there, after a seven-year-old boy was struck by a car last Friday. City officials said a light had been planned for the site, but had been delayed.

Prominent Civic Leader Claimed by Heart Attack

Executive of Utility Firm Dies Suddenly While on Business Trip

A resident and civic leader of Pontiac for more than 40 years, David L. Brown died yesterday while on a business trip to Indianapolis.

Death was caused by a heart attack. He was 62.

Before joining the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. as special representative in 1953, Brown spent 37 years with the Consumers Power Co. here, the last 10 years as division manager.

Coming to Pontiac in 1916 after a brief stay in Flint, Brown was named foreman of the gas plant. The next year he was appointed gas distribution superintendent and in 1943 was named division manager for Consumers' in Pontiac.

Taking an active interest in the youth and civic progress of the city, he became president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1949.

A native of Sault Ste. Marie, where he was born June 17, 1893, Brown's work was varied before coming to Pontiac. He worked on a farm sawmill until 1911 when he went into the railroad business.

BEGAN CAREER IN 1916

In 1916 he entered the public utility field, joining the Corpus Christi Gas Co. in Texas where he met and married his wife the same year.

Brown began his career with Consumers at Flint in 1916, serving first as a street foreman. His first position in Pontiac was at the gas plant owned by the Michigan Light Co., Consumers' predecessor in Pontiac.

In addition to his Chamber of Commerce activity, the deceased was a charter member of the Pontiac Kiwanis Club and served as president of the organization. He was on the board of directors of the YMCA, and the Boy Scouts.

He was a member of the American and Michigan Gas Associations, Pontiac Manufacturers' Assn., Economic Club of Detroit, and the Pine Lake Country Club.

He is survived by his wife, Sadie Cherryhomes Brown, and two sons, F. Jerry, 31, of Glenview, Ill., and John David, 38, of Wheaton, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Brown made their home at 111 Oneida Rd.

Other survivors are three sisters, Edna and Ruth Brown, and Retta VanEvery, all of Detroit. Also surviving are two brothers, J. A. Brown, of Jackson, and Lawrence H. of Spokane, Wash., and six grandchildren.

The body will be at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home after noon Friday.

Funeral service will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Says Saucers 'Really for Real'

Pentagon Holding Truth From Public, Contends Retired Marine Major

DETROIT (AP) — Some of the nation's leading air intelligence men know that flying saucers are real, but the Air Force is concealing such knowledge from the public, a retired Marine Corps officer asserted last night.

Maj. Donald E. Keyhoe, author of three books on flying saucers, said the Air Force has two top-secret documents which maintain that flying saucers actually are interplanetary space ships. He urged a congressional hearing into what he said was evidence "suppressed" by the Air Force.

Keyhoe, addressing a gathering jointly sponsored by the Engineering Society of Detroit and the American Chemical Society, said the creatures operating the saucers apparently are friendly.

"If they weren't friendly," he said, "they'd have made some hostile move within the last nine years."

Keyhoe said that as early as Sept. 23, 1947, the air technical intelligence center at Dayton, Ohio, secretly informed the Pentagon that flying saucers actually existed.

In July, 1948, he added, the intelligence center and its top scientific consultants told Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, that the flying saucers were space ships from another planet that were reconnoitering the earth.

Despite the report, the Air Force continued to insist publicly that it had no evidence that the saucers were real, Keyhoe said.

In 1952, he continued, a group of Air Force intelligence officers recommended that the findings be made public that a "silence group" at the Pentagon disregarded their recommendation.

"Regardless of what the Air Force has discovered about the motives behind the saucer reconnaissance, we should be given the facts," he said.

Borgnine, Magnani Top Stars

'Marty' Gets Film Oscar

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Marty," the movie originally made as a tax loss to offset big grosses of two Burt Lancaster Westerns, emerged today as the Oscar-winning picture.

It also won the top male acting Academy Award last night for Ernest Borgnine, an actor who only earned $2,300 in his profession three years ago.

He is worth at least $150,000 a picture with Oscar behind him.

Anna Magnani, the fiery Italian, now in Rome, won the top feminine Oscar for her performance in "The Rose Tattoo."

Roused from sleep to be given the news, she shouted: "It's great . . . I feel just as if I'd built the Colosseum—it's all an earthquake inside."

The supporting actor award went to Jack Lemmon, the comic Ens. Pulver of "Mister Roberts." Jo Van Fleet, the madam mother of James Dean in "East of Eden," was named the best supporting actress.

* * *

Besides earning best picture and best actor awards, "Marty" also won an Oscar for the best screen play for playwright Paddy Chayefsky. He wrote the tender story of a lonely butcher first as a television play.

Delbert Mann, who directed "Marty" on TV and then for his movie debut, won the best direction award.

* * *

"Marty" was produced by the team of Harold Hecht and screen star Burt Lancaster.

Lancaster gave much of the credit for "Marty's" success to newspaper advertising. He told a reporter that the film cost only $343,000 to make but that half a million dollars was spent on an advertising campaign, much of it in newspapers seen by Academy voters.

Hollywood thought the two partners were slightly daft when they announced last year that they intended to make a movie about a homely butcher and a wallflower schoolteacher—with no big star names in the cast.

At the time Lancaster said, "We're making it because it's something we want to make."

He added that even if the picture didn't earn a cent it would be profitable as a tax loss against big grosses of "Vera Cruz" and "Apache," putting the producers in a lower tax bracket.

But "Marty" turned out to be

Killing Suspects Subdue Guard, Flee to Indiana

Steal Cars, Rob Store in Attempt to Elude Police Posse

Two Hazel Park youths who broke out of an Ohio jail yesterday while awaiting trial for the murder of an Ohio tavern owner Jan. 24, were captured this morning near Chesterfield, Ind.

A third youth who broke out of the Wapakoneta jail with the men also was taken into custody.

Bernard R. Harris, 18, was caught first as he started to board a bus at Chesterfield for Muncie, Ind.

Soon afterwards, William R. Thomas, 20, and Jerry D. Clouse, 18, of Muncie, called the Delaware County Sheriff at Muncie from a Chesterfield gasoline station and asked to surrender.

Clouse had no connection with the January murder but was serving a term for carrying a concealed weapon.

Both Harris and Thomas overpowered a guard at the jail and fled with the 18-year-old Indiana youth.

The three youths are now in the county jail at Muncie ending a night-long search by 100 heavily-armed policemen who combed the woods of a state park near Anderson, Ind.

After the break from the jail, the trio stole two cars and robbed a grocery in their frantic flight through parts of Ohio and Indiana.

Their flight was halted near the undeveloped, 115-acre park when they wrecked the second stolen car while trying to elude pursuing police. They were believed to have plunged into the park in the dark following the crash.

Harris and Thomas are under indictment for the murder of Charles Stolzanbach, 54, during an attempted holdup of Stolzanbach's tavern near Wapakoneta.

James Thorton, 17, also of Hazel Park, also was indicted but he is to be tried as a juvenile. He was lodged in separate quarters at the jail and took no part in the break.

Hazel Park residents and officials had raised a defense fund of $500 to try to save Harris and Thomas from Ohio's maximum penalty for first degree murder—the electric chair.

Prosecutor Raps Law's 'Coddling' of Jailed Youths

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (INS) — The Auglaize County Prosecutor today blamed the escape of two Hazel Park youths from the Wapakoneta, O., jail on "coddling" by both the sheriff's Office and Juvenile Court.

Prosecutor George Monohan, infuriated over the escape of Willie Thomas, 20, Bernard Harris, 18, both of Hazel Park, along with Jerry Clause, 18, of Muncie, Ind., declared:

"I wonder when some people are going to wake up to the fact that these kids are not angels. Here they are in the county jail and they're treating them like celebrities. Why they're even bringing them malted milks.

Monohan, referring to a Hazel Park citizens committe which raised funds for the defense of Thomas, Harris and James Thornton, 17, their juvenile companion in the slaying of a bar owner, stated:

"Those people better raise a lot more money because they are going to need it."

Detroit Driver Dies After Car Hits Tree

A Detroit man died last night from injuries suffered when his car ran off Lahser Rd. in Bloomfield Township.

According to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital authorities, John Goulder Jr., 20, was dead on arrival at 7:45 p.m. He was found alone in his car, which had rammed a tree between Lone Pine and Long Lake roads, township police said.

They believe Goulder lost control and bounced off a three-feet high cement wall before plowing into the tree.

Adlai Says He Should've Just 'Shaken More Hands'

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says that maybe he should have shaken more hands in Minnesota.

He conceded at a packed news conference yesterday that Tuesday's Minnesota primary knocked him aside as front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination.

But he said he will keep on running—"harder than ever"—in other state primaries and that he will go to the Democratic convention in August seeking the No. 1 spot on the ticket.

He said he won't consider running for vice president on a ticket headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, who beat him in the first primary where the two men collided actively and directly.

Stevenson and his campaign manager James Finnegan blamed too hurried a campaign pace for the defeat in Minnesota. Finnegan also blamed Republicans he said crossed party lines to vote for Kefauver.

Asked whether he should have shaken more hands, as Kefauver did, Stevenson smiled and said: "There is no doubt handshaking develops a close identity between the shaker and the shakee.

"We traveled too fast. We had too many meetings. It would have been better to take a slower pace — cover the same ground in more time."

Stevenson said Kefauver "won the first round" and "it seems to me I am no longer the front-runner. I gather that from the newspapers."

He said he would not enter into personalities with Kefauver in future primaries. They collide again in Alaska April 24, Florida May 29 and California June 5.

U.S. Offers Plan on Disarmament

Want Soviet, American Territory Open to Arms Inspection Teams

LONDON (AP)—Seeking to replace years of talk about disarmament with concrete action, the United States wants 40,000 to 60,000 square miles of Russian and American territory opened to international arms inspection teams.

The U. S. proposal for a preliminary test of disarmament controls was made last night at a meeting of the five-power U. N. subcommittee on disarmament, between the two top military powers.

It is aimed at paving the way to a comprehensive program of controlled arms reduction. Britain and France earlier this week submitted an arms control plan linked to a general disarmament pact.

Subcommittee delegates referred the American plan to their governments. It may not be taken up again here for a week.

The U. S. proposal came a few hours before officials here and in Washington disclosed that the Soviet Union has launched a new series of nuclear tests.

Information presumably was obtained through checks of radioactive material in the atmosphere.

Royal Oak Dem Plans to Run for 18th District

A second Democrat announced his candidacy yesterday for the party's nomination to run for Congress from the 18th District (Oakland County) in the Nov. 6 election.

Paul Sutton, 45, of Royal Oak, joins Charles K. Lawson, 62, of Hazel Park, in the race to win a chance at the seat now held by Congressman George A. Dondero (R-Royal Oak), who has announced he will retire at end of this year.

Sutton ran against Dondero in 1954. Active in the party since 1927, Sutton is a past chairman of the Royal Oak City Democratic Committee. Presently a sales director for a truck firm, the candidate has worked in the radio, television, newspaper and motion picture industries.

A county resident since 1951, Sutton is married and has two children.

House Facing Turnpike Issue

Group to Determine if Authority Will Survive or 'Die on the Vine'

LANSING (AP) — The decision whether to keep the Michigan Turnpike Authority in business or let it die on the vine was dumped today in the lap of the House.

It landed there with Senate approval Wednesday of a bill to appropriate $150,000 to keep the authority on at least a standby basis for the year starting July 1.

In current planning, the proposed turnpike would enter Oakland County at the south, running generally west of, and parallel to, Telegraph road.

It would cut across Telegraph and Woodward Avenue below Pontiac, to run along the city's east limits, then swing northwest in Genesee County to pass east of Flint.

Whatever the final outcome, it appeared there was little prospect that any turnpike bonds would be sold in the near future, or any toll roads built, because of the Senate's failure to act favorably on other legislation to strengthen the authority's hand.

Twenty-two Senators voted for the housekeeping appropriation measure, with 15 Republicans and seven Democrats going along. Eight opposed it—seven Republicans and one Democrat.

The bill passed without discussion. Earlier in its consideration

Minnesota Figures

MINNEAPOLIS — Incomplete returns from Minnesota's presidential primary Tuesday (3,640 of 4,868 precincts) show:

Democratic ballots — 419,016; Kefauver 238,000; Stevenson, 181,007.

Republican ballots — 195,621; President Eisenhower, 192,482; Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) 3,139.

The returns indicate Sen. Kefauver will hold 26 of 30 Minnesota delegate votes at the Democrats' August convention.

'Some Improvement in Asia'

Ike and Top Congressmen Listen to Report by Dulles

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told President Eisenhower and top congressional leaders today that there has been some improvement in the free world position in Asia.

The secretary made his statement to the bipartisan group in a report on his 19-day tour of 10 Asian countries from which he returned late yesterday.

After meeting for 75 minutes with the congressional leaders, Dulles remained at the White House for a National Security Council meeting.

In general, the members of Congress said Dulles' report on Asia was moderately optimistic.

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that the Dulles report "on the whole was very encouraging."

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) added: "I agree, our Marco Polo secretary made some jaunt."

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas said the legislators were given "a rather optimistic recital of the secretary's comments on his trip and his various adventures."

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) declared: "The secretary took us around on his trip and made a fairly optimistic report."

Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland of California refused to say that there was reason for optimism but did say that there was no reason for "any major pessimism."

Knowland said Dulles gave a "frank and comprehensive analysis of conditions in the area of the world in which he has recently traveled."

Dulles indicated that he now has a new concept of the task facing the U. S. and the free nations of the Orient.

Spanking Ineffective, City Students Say

By PETE LOCHBILER

A group of Pontiac High School students yesterday took issue with grade school policy and declared that spankings are "old-fashioned and mostly ineffective."

At worst, spanking can breed resentment, some said in random interviews after class. Others argued that there are better ways to discipline youngsters.

Their comments were aimed at the city's practice of allowing spanking in school if the individual teacher thinks it is necessary. School officials have stressed that spanking occurs "rarely, and only as a last resort."

Most of the teen-agers emphasized that the more serious disciplinary problems exist at present in the high school, and urged that authorities there make wider use of expulsion.

The general opinion was summed up by Leo Kennedy, 17, a junior of 690 Joslyn Ave., who believed spanking more often results in a desire for "revenge," rather than the decision "to do better next time."

He agreed with junior Dean Perkio, 16, of 635 Third Ave., that taking away privileges is a better way to keep pupils in line. "Being kept after school, for instance, makes a student wonder if what he did wrong was worth it," they pointed out.

A sophomore, Anna Murray, 15, of 620 E. Fourth Ave. denied that teachers have any "right" to spank children. "That's the parents' job," she declared.

Another sophomore, 16, recalled she had twice been spanked in grade school for chewing gum. "It made me dislike the teacher," said Sue Johnson, 1046 Meadowlawn Dr., "but it didn't stop me from chewing gum."

"A good slap now and then might help," according to a 17-year-old Waterford Township junior. But Jackie Kosky, 1016 LaSalle Ave., emphasized that reason generally is by far the best appeal to misbehaving grade-schoolers.

None of the dozen students yesterday reported knowledge of corporal punishment occurring at high school, where expulsion is used to handle bad discipline problems.

One youth admitted he had learned his lesson after twice being expelled for truancy, and was glad to be allowed back in school.

Another explained that a severe "talking down" two weeks ago for tardiness had brought him to school on time every day since.

But crowded high school conditions in which "wiseacres" disrupt studies and talk back to teachers were strongly criticized:

"There's a lot of smart-alecs who should be taught the score," said one student, who added that trouble-makers at athletic events were giving the school a bad reputation.

Another girl reported that fights occurred frequently among both girls and boys, in school and at after-class hangouts. She believed the school or police should be called in to "clean up" the out-of-school fights.

Hammarskjold Plans Mission

To Fly to Middle East in Vital Effort to Avert Arab-Israeli War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is preparing to fly to the tense middle east next week on a mission aimed at averting an Arab-Israeli war.

The U. N. chief has told members of the global body that he will leave on a dramatic peace and fact-finding mission within 48 hours after receiving an official mandate from the Security Council.

Tentative plans are for British Delegate Sir Pierson Dixon, president of the 11-nation group this month, to call the council into session Monday to take up the question.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge requested on Tuesday that the council meet for "urgent and early action" to prevent Arab-Israeli tension from flaring into open warfare.

Hammarskjold, whose "Mission to Peiping" paved the way for the release from Red China jails last summer of 15 American fliers, is understood to have been assured that Russia will go along with the proposed new mission and thus make possible unanimous council approval.

Lodge, in accord with British and French delegates and with the silent consent of other council members, submitted a resolution proposing Hammarskjold confer with Arab and Israeli leaders in an effort to reduce Middle East tension and preserve peace.

Other major leases signed for the center are those for the J. C. Penney Co., and the S. S. Kresge Co.

Clawson Youth, 17, Enters Guilty Plea

Arrested in 65 Oakland and Wayne County burglaries, a Clawson youth, Phillip Hughes, 17, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and was bound over for appearance in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday.

Both men were returned to jail under $7,500 bond set by Clawson Justice Harry R. McQuinn.

Police claimed the pair netted over $10,000 in stolen property plus $7,000 to $8,000 in stolen checks.

Mitchell was charged with reckless driving after a chase at speeds up to 85 miles per hour, the deputies said.

Think Your Kids Are Bad? 1830 Small Fry Were, Too

ANN ARBOR (AP) — If you think your youngsters go a little overboard on this cowboy and Indian stuff, take a look at this account of small fry games about 1830.

In his written reminiscences in the Michigan Historical Collections, the Rev. Barton Taylor tells how as a child he pioneered with his folks in Michigan, settling near Plymouth. Black Hawk, the Indian chief, was rebelling.

The governor, he writes, ordered out the militia and the youngsters of the state had a new game — soldiers and Indians.

"Witnessing these military preparations," Taylor writes, "the boys in every neighborhood had to form themselves into military companies too."

He continues:

"After drilling us till we were quite efficient, our captain, who was a boy about three years older than the rest of us, told us that Indians were encamped in a certain piece of woods and we must surround and capture them."

* * *

Armed with wooden swords, sticks for guns, a tin pan for a drum and a piece of calico flying from a stick for a flag, they attacked.

MARCH TO OAK

Marching to an old hollow oak tree, they formed a semi-circle around it. Stepping up to the tree, the captain plunged his sword in and twisted it furiously. Suddenly, the air was alive with the battle. Something came out of the tree. Taylor says:

"They were all dressed in yellow coats, striped in black, had wings, and were armed with sharp lances which they knew well how to use."

As the wasps descended on the party, most of the boys broke ranks and ran.

But one small boy stood his ground whipping the air with brush. The captain who had turned to run, returned and stood beside the young soldier "and fought it out."

* * *

Taylor concludes, "What the wasps' theory of war is I cannot tell. But it is a fact that the little boy who did not stir out of his tracks till the wasps had settled down to repair their torn nest was the only one of the company who was not stung."

House Now Faces Vote on Turnpike

supporters of the bill said that its defeat would be tantamount to scrapping the state's turnpike program.

The authority was created in 1953, and has been in hot water much of the time since then. Part of the problem has been coolness toward the turnpike program by Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, who has proposed paralleling proposed toll roads with freeways.

The Senate okayed 29 to 3 and sent to the House a bill providing for personal property tax exemption on some goods stored on a temporary basis in public warehouses.

The bill's chief spokesman, Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), said that revenue losses to the city of Detroit under the bill probably would run about $1,250,000 a year.

Exempted from taxation would be goods shipped in from another state and stored here awaiting transfer to a third state, and goods originating in Michigan and destined for outside the state consumption.

Morris said the aim was to put Michigan warehousemen on a competitive footing with rivals in neighboring states. He said this would become increasingly important with development of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the prospect for a greatly increased volume of foreign shipping moving on Great Lakes waters.

The Senate also passed, and returned to the House for concurrence in an amendment, a bill to bring widows under the State Police Pension system.

Sandburg Urges Another Chance for Quiz Flubber

FLAT ROCK, N. C. (INS)—Carl Sandburg, the leading authority on Abraham Lincoln, has urged that Robert F. Bennett be given another chance on "the $64,000 Question" program because the question asked him on the Civil War President was 'unfair."

The white-haired poet and author declared at his Flat Rock, N. C., home yesterday that the question was "just plain cuckoo."

Referring to the part which dealt with the monetary value of slaves in Delaware during Lincoln's lifetime, Sandburg said:

"Slaves were constantly being brought in and out of the state so the question doesn't make any sense."

On the portion which dealt with government recommendation on the price of slaves, the writer asserted that he did not know if there ever was "any arrangement by which the government attempted to fix the price of slaves."

Bennett, a $75-a-week clerk, was the first contestant on the program to miss the $64,000 jackpot.

U.S. Worth: $207 Billion, U.S. Debt: $279 Billion

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U.S. government owns $207,913,493,537 worth of property—approximately 70 billion dollars less than the government owes.

However, the House Government Operations Committee, which released the figures, stressed that the property valuation is based on original cost, rather than higher present-day values, and does not include a lot of undeveloped real estate and mineral deposits.

The public debt now stands at $279,094,672,513.

SHOW STEALERS

The star-studded ceremonies at Hollywood's Pantages Theater were brilliantly emceed by Comedian Jerry Lewis. Two stars—Maurice Chevalier and Grace Kelley—stole some of the spotlight from the winners.

The straw-hatted 68-year-old Frenchman proved he still has plenty of charm. It was Miss Kelly's last Hollywood appearance before she leaves for Monaco and marriage to Prince Rainier III.

* * *

The program was nationally telecast. There were frequent shifts to the NBC Century Theater in New York, where some winners received their Oscars. Actress Claudette Colbert—a 1934 Oscar winner for "It Happened One Night"—and director Joseph L. Mankiewicz presided over the New York ceremonies.

* * *

Some disappointment was voiced by stars because no special award was given the late James Dean. An Academy official said it was decided to let Dean's performance stand on its merits with the other nominees for top acting.

Insurance Covers Loss of $1 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Insurance companies have paid a million dollars to the Chase Manhattan Bank to make up for its misplaced million-dollar U. S. Treasury note.

A Chase Manhattan official said yesterday the bank had entered a claim for the loss and that 18 insurance companies, acting as surety, came up with the money.

The bank spokesman said, "the insurance companies eventually can get back their money from the government." He did not elaborate.

The Treasury note was first missed March 6. The spokesman said a search through many millions of sheets of paper will continue until the note—which is theoretically negotiable—is found.

Westinghouse Told One Union Balks

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 6,500-member union local has refused to return to work at the Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant in nearby Sharon, bringing from the company a charge the local was violating a pact that ended the 156-day nationwide strike against Westinghouse.

Local 617 of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers IUE voted last night not to return to work pending a discussion of the status of nine Sharon employes suspended by the company for alleged picket line violence.

The local's action was taken after the company announced it planned to call some 4,500 members back to the Sharon transformer plant today.

School Board Approves Driver Training Program

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham High School's driver education program was approved by the board of education Tuesday night. The board voted to apply to the state for subsidy for the driving course to be offered for credit starting next fall.

The subsidy would be $25 per pupil, dependent on the number of hours of classroom time and practice driving instruction, but not dependent on the grades earned. There will be only small credit given, Dr. Dwight D. Ireland, superintendent of schools, explained.

The board accepted resignations of three teachers during the short session. Leaving the system this month are Pauline Parker, Baldwin second grade teacher, and Helen Grainger, Torry first grade teacher. Joyce Diaz, high school instructor, left in February.

The board ordered 1,005 school desks and other classroom furniture for Derby Junior High School, which is to open next September. The total order came to $6,262.45.

President Signs Bill for Seaway Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower yesterday signed legislation to authorize deepening of the connecting channels in the Great Lakes, west of Lake Erie.

The project, costing 110 million dollars, will provide a 27-foot minimum depth from Lake Superior to the Atlantic Ocean, permitting big ships to sail from the Atlantic to Duluth, Minn.

Congress still must appropriate money to pay for the project.

The channel deepening is connected with the St. Lawrence Seaway, now under construction.

In his budget message to Congress early this year, Eisenhower recommended that Congress appropriate five million dollars to get the work under way after it was authorized.

Cites Need of State Aid in Airport Issue

LANSING (AP)—Mayor Albert F. Cobo of Detroit says continued state help in development of Wayne Major Airport is needed to bring the city's air travel facilities up to par and keep them there.

Cobo appeared Wednesday before the Senate Appropriations Commiteee in support of a bill to provide matching funds for Wayne Major allocations by the federal government.

He said that because of a reduction in the anticipated federal grant, $487,807 in matching state funds, rather than the $684,000 provided in the bill, would be needed for the fiscal year ending June 30.

For the following year, he said, $353,000 in state funds and $1,000,000 in federal money was being counted on.

Testimony by Cobo and Leroy Smith, chief engineer of the Wayne County Road Commission, brought out that spending of about 20 million dollars has been planned during the next 10 years.

* * *

Between eight and nine million dollars of this would go for Wayne Major Terminal Facilities, they said.

States 'Threat' of Computers

Says if Electronic Units Could Think They'd Also Replace Executives

CHICAGO (AP)—An engineer states that if electronic computers were capable of thinking, they'd be a threat to the jobs of executives as well as labor.

• • •

But, J. J. Stone of Columbus, Ohio, said in a prepared address, "they can't think."

"Many people still seem to think that electronic computers are capable of original thinking and can actually replace skilled labor," he told the American Society of Toll Engineers.

If this were so, he said, it would only be a matter of time and machine training before such a robot would assume a responsible position in both labor and management.

But "these machines can remember only what the operator tells them, and can do only what the machine operator prescribes that they do."

Another speaker at the ASTE convention said that precision instrument gearing will be needed for success in any future interplanetary travel.

In a prepared speech, Louis D. Martin of Rochester, N. Y., said engineers are getting ready for the day when they may be called upon to make space ships capable of pinpointing their courses.

• • •

Some practice is being obtained in work on long-range guided missiles, he said, recounting that one gear plant is now equipped to measure errors of "one fifth of a millionth of an inch."

Dad Crushed by Truck

Farm Bill Faces Eisenhower Veto

President EISENHOWER indicated Wednesday to his Republican lieutenants that he considers the Senate's new farm bill unworkable and unsound. The President's reactions were relayed to reporters by Senate Republican leader KNOWLAND and Senator BRIDGES, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee.

KNOWLAND predicted that Mr. EISENHOWER will veto the farm measure unless it is modified before reaching his desk. At his news conference Wednesday the President said he "hopes that the Senate-House conference on farm legislation may write a good bill which can really be helpful to the farmer."

The bill includes the Administration's soil bank plan by which it is hoped to retire up to 50,000,000 acres of farm land from production and increase farm income. But several features of that plan designed to reduce surpluses, were revised drastically.

What first appeared as an Administration victory was the bill's retention of the flexible price support principle. This was weakened by the addition of two price systems for rice and wheat. It also was hedged in by so-called "set asides" of surplus products which would boost the price supports for wheat, corn and cotton.

While Republicans AIKEN and HICKENLOOPER assailed the bill as "warranting three or four vetoes" and "a hodge podge of political manipulation," its conference fate is uncertain. There may be a clue, however, in the House action of last May 5 on its own bill when it voted to support basic crops at 90 per cent parity and dairy products at 80 per cent.

A fairly safe guess now is that the fight over price supports is far from ended.

Louis Bromfield

LOUIS BROMFIELD was one of those fortunate souls so gifted that he achieved distinction in several different fields.

Not only was he a prolific and Pulitzer prize winning novelist, but he won national renown as a student and practitioner of scientific agriculture. He also was the author of several plays, motion pictures and countless magazine articles and was active as a lecturer and newspaper columnist.

Born near Mansfield, Ohio, BROMFIELD had the sort of intellectual inheritance that enabled him to change his mind with excellent results. For example, he started in to study agriculture at Cornell University but he switched to Columbia's school of journalism and became a successful writer. Two of his most popular books, Pleasant Valley and Malabar Farm went a long way toward financing his famous farmstead near his Ohio birthplace.

A war veteran, he won the Croix de Guerre for heroism while attached to the French Army in World War I. After that conflict he lived for 13 years in France and then in India until the threat of World War II brought the family back to Ohio.

Politically BROMFIELD classified himself as a Jeffersonian Democrat and he campaigned for President ROOSEVELT and the New Deal. Later, however, he broke with the Administration and was among its severest critics.

Beyond question, death of the versatile LOUIS BROMFIELD at 59 is a loss to literature, journalism, scientific farming and the Nation.

Navy Bests Barnacles

Thanks to scientific research, the United States Navy has found a way of eliminating the expensive problem of ship barnacles.

The discovery is a special plastic paint fatal to young barnacles and other forms of marine life which for centuries have been fastening themselves to the hulls of ships. Before this paint was adopted, the Nation's warships had to drydock every nine months for removal of these tiny crustaceans.

In some cases as much as 200 tons of them have been scraped off. Now, with this new plastic coating, a warship needs to be drydocked for hull cleaning and repainting only once in five years.

The new process will effect a tremendous saving for the Navy. Not only will there be greater economy in maintenance, in lower fuel consumption and in higher operating speeds at less cost, but the ships will be available for longer continuous service.

Potential Pygmalion

David Lawrence Says:

Truman May Have to Run for Dems as Kefauver's Win Reveals Split Party

WASHINGTON — Maybe Harry Truman will have to run for the Democrats as a last resort. Certainly the Minnesota primaries show the Democrats to be badly split as between Senator Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson. Truman is cocksure that he can unite them and beat President Eisenhower.

What happened in the Minnesota primaries cannot be taken, however, as conclusive evidence that Stevenson is on the way out. The votes in presidential primaries, after all, mean very little to the bosses of a national convention. The Democratic party bosses and organizations in most of the big cities have been for Stevenson, and they can bring about his nomination if they so desire. They did so in 1952, when Stevenson didn't enter a single primary, while Kefauver campaigned actively in several state primaries and was generally victorious.

There is, however, a natural prejudice among the voters against anyone who has been defeated before in a presidential election. Grover Cleveland, Democrat, is about the only man who ever made a comeback—he was elected president in 1884, defeated in 1888, but elected in 1892. William Jennings Bryan got the Democratic nomination in 1896, 1900 and 1904, but was defeated each time. Thomas Dewey, Republican, was nominated twice—in 1944 and 1948—but defeated both times.

V. P. FOR ADLAI?

Adlai Stevenson might qualify for the vice-presidential nomination this year. His grandfather, a Democrat, was vice president under Grover Cleveland. There has been a lot of solicitude expressed recently by Democratic party spokesmen about the quality of the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

Symposiums and radio forums have been conducted in the last few months to emphasize the need for a "first-rate" candidate for the vice presidency. Most of this effort has come from the so-called "liberals" who don't like Vice President Nixon, but now they have an opportunity to provide a first-rate "liberal" for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, as the radicals interpret the word "liberal."

Primaries do not usually tell much about the relative strength of the parties. But it is significant that the Democrats polled a much larger total vote than did the Republicans in Minnesota. President Eisenhower, of course, was, for all partical purposes, unopposed. There was no contest and no reason for Republicans to vote on the presidency except to compliment Eisenhower.

GOP SWITCH DOUBTED

There are widely current reports that in Minnesota many Republicans voted in the Democratic primaries and that Senator Kefauver benefited by such a shift. There could hardly have been a plot by the Republican leaders to bring this about. In the first place, such a drive is hard to organize and, in the second place, it is of doubtful value because the lessened total vote of the Republicans is already being interpreted as a farm revolt of Republican voters, and that's not the kind of publicity the Republicans would seek.

Unquestionably there will be a big defection of Republican votes in Minnesota this year due to the farm issue. Minnesota is one of the states that the Republicans are very much worried about. The primary result there this week gives the Republicans little comfort.

Senator Kefauver has proved himself a good campaigner and seems to have retained much of the vote-getting strength he exhibited in 1952 in the Democratic preconvention battle. But he is very far away from the nomination. A few victories in the primaries aren't enough to win him the support of the big labor and political organizations which dictate the presidential nomination in the Democratic party. Only Harry Truman can unite all the factions of the party and, despite his own professions of disinterestedness, there is under way a quiet but powerful movement in his behalf.

Be Certain Child's Tonsils Are Removed at Right Time

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Never before in my experience as conductor of this personal health service has the proportion of queries about tonsillectomy been so small as it is now.

The chief difference between tonsillectomy and tonsillotomy is that tonsillectomy is a major operation involving all the dangers of major surgery — hemorrhage, shock, etc., while tonsillotomy is a minor operation, no more dangerous than extraction of a tooth.

Tonsillectomy, as the trick specialists contend when they feel no one present knows enough to question the claim, "gets" every bit of tonsil, whereas tonsillotomy merely slices off a portion of tonsil.

* * *

The truth is, that no matter how prolonged the dissection, portions of tonsil remain in the throat after tonsillectomy in most instances.

Anyway, this crude boast of the ever-ready operator only betrays the operator's ignorance. As a sophomore medical student knows or will presently learn, tonsil tissue per se is not malignant. So extensive dissection of the throat in the attempt to "get every bit of tonsil tissue" constitutes a kind of malpractice which, I fear, the profession as a whole still gives tacit approval.

In rare instances radical tonsillectomy may be necessary—carcinoma or epithelioma of tonsil, actinomycosis, chancre (primary sore of syphilis), when there is reason to believe the disease is as yet limited to the tonsil.

* * *

I want to assure all grandparents, parents, uncles, aunts, big brothers and big sisters of kids who have enlarged tonsils at this season of the year that the least the poor kids deserve is a reprieve—for, say, six months. In that time, if the kids get a fair break in open air life, sunshine, nudity, and an adequate amount of the three vitamins and three minerals most often lacking in our everyday diet, the tonsils will have shrunk enough to pass medical inspection.

If surgery must be done for enlarged tonsils let it be instantaneous tonsillotomy, which is as quickly, as safely and as painlessly done as extraction of a tooth.

For infected tonsils in adults (seldom are tonsils infected in children under six or eight years of age) diatherm (electrocoagulation) is the method of choice. The effects of diathermy treatment are in my opinion at least as good as the effects of tonsillectomy. And besides, tonsillectomy has its death rate, while electro-coagulation has never killed anybody, so far as I am aware.

Think long and hard about it before you subject a child to the tonsillectomy atrocity.

'One-Way Streets Present Problem for Pedestrians'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I don't know how the one-way streets are working out for cars, but for pedestrians, it's hard to cross.

Try to walk down Water Street from Saginaw and cross Perry with the light. No light there. You look at the signal for north and south traffic and it's red, but you can't know how long it's been red, so you wait until it changes green and back to red again.

To cut it very short, I think a pedestrian's signal should be put up where the traffic lights have been blocked.

Questions Measurement Given in Ads for TV Sets

I am surprised at some of the reputable appliance stores with their "21 diagonal measurement" in their advertisements on television sets.

I measured a 17-inch television screen diagonally, and it measured 21 inches.

I can just imagine the salesman's face, trying to sell a 17 inch TV telling his customer, "When you measure it diagonally, it's really 21 inches."

Editor's note: A recent ruling by the Federal Trade Commission states that all dealers must comply with that type of measurement if their advertisement is to be acceptable. This is to insure uniformity among reputable advertisers and protection for the customer.

Sheds Light on Problem

Ike's Attack Gives Nation New Picture of Heart Ills

By RELMAN MORIN
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's illness has had some interesting and far-reaching effects on the whole story of heart trouble in the United States.

* * *

PULSE-TAKING

This thought struck me forcibly during some recent political pulse-taking along the Atlantic seaboard. I talked with politicians and corporation heads, but most with plain John Smith, the voter, and his wife. The question of the President's physical condition naturally figured in most of these conversations.

* * *

Several things emerged.

People now have a very good idea of exactly what happens in a "heart attack."

* * *

Newspapers published an immense amount of basic information and explanation, along with charts and diagrams, after the President was stricken. In short, the ABCs of this disability are pretty well known now whereas, before, it was a mysterious and terrifying subject to most of us.

DISCOVER CASES

Also, business executives discovered that they have more cardiac cases in their organizations than they realized. "I was surprised about some in this office," said a New York business leader. "I never would have suspected them."

* * *

Still another result seems to have been that people who had heart attacks have lost some shyness about discussing the problem.

I met several who, in discussing the coming election, quietly volunteered the information that they had been through the same experience as Eisenhower.

Three out of four said they would vote for him, although one man said he thought the President was "foolish" to undertake a second term.

HAPPY OUTCOME

Another story seems funny now to the man who lived through it.

* * *

He said that, for years, he had pains in his chest and an occasional flutter, and was convinced he had heart trouble. He told nobody, and said he couldn't bring himself to see his doctor and get the verdict. Instead, he lived in spasms of dread. Then the President's case steeled him to have an examination. It showed a spinal dislocation.

All he needed, he said, was a built-up shoe!

* * *

Unquestionably, some of the panic and terror about heart disease has been dispelled simply by the publicity the President's attack brought to it.

TRUTH KNOWN

People know that thousands of others have had attacks, survived them, and gone on to live happy and useful lives. They know the "cardiac" is not an invalid.

* * *

Statistics in the United States are sometimes called "alarming." But the odds are still heavily in your favor that you won't have an attack. One corporation, which had had a number of cases in a given year, discovered they amounted to exactly 1 out of every 100 employes.

It seems certain, too, that more money now will go to research into the causes of heart disease. Heart-fund organizations say they have not fared well, comparatively, although the need is great.

* * *

Finally, there is a school of thought which believes that public discussion of this problem is harmful, that it may induce anxiety and apprehension, and perhaps actually bring on heart attacks.

But there is also a saying, "the truth shall set you free."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girls, It's Possible to Cure Gambler, but Best Bet Is in Not Marrying One

Gambling is really a fever that is worse than chronic alcoholism to cure. Gamblers are often sexually frustrated or so juvenile that they cannot understand that the odds are always loaded in favor of the gambling syndicate. Suckers don't get a break. It is possible to cure a gambler but, girls, the simplest strategy is never to marry one in the first place.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-310: Harry T., aged 31, is an attractive looking man.

"But I am at my wit's end," his wife protested forlornly.

* * *

"Harry used to borrow money from me even while we were engaged, and he never paid me back.

"I was afraid to tell my parents for I knew they would veto any man who sponged on his girl friend for money.

"But Harry was addicted to gambling. And he was so convincing! Even after he would squander my previous loan on a horse race bet, he'd come right back with another 'sure winner.'

"Somebody would always give him an inside tip and he just knew he'd win the next time, but he kept getting deeper and deeper in debt.

"Dr. Crane, he had a good job but he lost it all because of his gambling.

"We were married then and our first baby was on the way. Harry ran a bread truck and collected from the customers. But he 'borrowed' some money to put on a sre thing in a race and lost, as usual.

"His employer found out about his embezzling and didn't prosecute Harry because our baby was soon to arrive.

"But all our 10 years of marriage have been like this. Is gambling a disease? Harry swears he'll quit and even on bended knees and with tears in his eyes, has vowed to stop, but he always goes back to it.

"What is wrong with chronic gamblers? Can they be cured?"

GAMBLING FEVER

Of all the fevers dangerous to mankind, gambling is the hardest to correct.

Like typhoid, smallpox or diphtheria, however, it is best avoided by inoculation or early vaccination.

Let children work for their money! Don't place them on the glorified dole called a weekly "allowance." That is an unAmerican plan, anyway.

For when children actually earn their own spending money, as by carrying a newspaper route, they are cautious about letting go of it.

Gamblers are often immature emotionally. They are fixated at the juvenile level of those who believe in Santa Claus, except they now call her "Lady Luck."

Naively they think people can win success instead of earning it. And they don't profit adequately from experience, which also indicates juvenility.

Oh, a person might bet for the fun of it on an infrequent visit to a race track and charge it off as a lark.

But the constant victims of the gambling fever and the poor suckers who are chronically victimized by the policy rackets in our big cities, are tragic cases.

They can least afford to gamble, for their families need every cent. The odds are always against gamblers, anyway, but they are so juvenile they don't understand plain mathematics.

CURES FOR GAMBLING

Often they worship money unduly, too, so are idolatrous on that score. Sometimes a sexual complex is the basis of their recklessness.

Many menopausal wives, for instance, become chronic gamblers, and so do many platonic husbands.

A real religious experience is a big help for it widens their narrow vision so they realize the world is bigger than a race track.

Sometimes hypnosis is helpful in "brainwashing" such victims of their juvenile habit.

If they spent as much time studying in night school as they do pondering over racing dope sheets, they'd all be wealthy.

Girls, never marry a gambler. That's the best safeguard against this problem.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Minnesota Town Noted for Weanling Pig Sales

LITTLE FALLS, Minn.—Nearly 100,000 weanling pigs are sold each year in the streets of Little Falls, a city of 7,000 midway between the Falls Cities and the Red River Valley.

The town is advertised as the "World's Biggest Little-Pig Market." Every Saturday morning 150 to 200 farmers with little pigs for sale line up their vehicles along designated streets.

A direct seller-to-buyer barter system is conducted just as it was by the Polish farmers who settled in the area in the late 1890s and who started the weanling market about 50 years ago.

Alabama normally raises one-tenth of the nation's cotton.

India's Shrimp Big

NEW DELHI—The most important India imports from the United States at present are machinery and vehicles. Another item that has become important in recent years is raw cotton.

In 1954 India imported more than $37,000,000 worth of U. S. Raw cotton. Other major U. S. export to India are industrial chemicals, medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations, and photographic materials.

Disturbing Dance

Because a group of nuns living near the new ballroom in Granard, Eire, can't sleep at night due to the din, Very Rev. D. Canon O'Keane urged that dancing be restricted "as a public nuisance."

Death Claims Increase in Traffic Accidents

NEW YORK — The Institute of Life Insurance reports that death claims were paid for motor-vehicle fatalities under 31,000 insurance policies in the United States during the first three quarters of 1955.

They represented total payments of $64,000,000 and exceeded the number of claims for the like period of 1954 by 2,000 and the payments by $7,000,000.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Nelson Thomas was re-elected secretary of the St. Joseph Grain Exchange, an event which startled few people. It was the 37th time Thomas has been elected to a one-year term.

Dog Walks on 2 Legs

BAMBERG, S. C. (AP)— A rat terrier has learned to walk on one front leg and one hind leg and Dr. Robert Hirshberg, veterinarian, said he was the first dog he ever saw do so.

The dog has only three legs. When one was broken and put in a cast, the animal hobbled about on two legs.

QUICKIE — Joe Louis has his hand raised in victory sign by former lightweight champ Jersey Walcott as Louis turns his wrestling debut into a 11-minute, 41-second triumph. Louis sent "Don" (Cowboy Rocky) Lee out of the ring with a right-hand punch to abbreviate the scheduled one-hour festivities.

Federal Halls Echoing Music

Coolidge Auditorium in Washington Has Housed 800 Concerts in 30 Yrs.

WASHINGTON—The same small area of land that supports the nation's highest legislative and legal chambers also echoes to its finest chamber music.

• • •

The Coolidge Auditorium, standing in a courtyard of the Library of Congress almost within earshot of the United States Capitol and Supreme Court building, has been the scene of more than 800 chamber music concerts since 1925, says the National Geographic Society.

The acoustically-perfect auditorium seats only 526. An overflow audience sits in the Whittall Pavilion where they can hear but not see the performers. Thousands more listen to broadcasts of the concerts "live" over radio stations.

Foundation concerts usually include one or more selections by a contemporary composer. Mrs. Coolidge, personally and through the Foundation, commissioned works from many living composers. She wrote chamber music herself.

• • •

Mrs. Coolidge also attended many concerts until her death in 1953. A discriminating critic, she was known to have shut off her hearing aid if the music didn't suit her. Asked once why she hadn't patronized painters as well as musicians, Mrs. Coolidge remarked: "I am deaf, and support music. I am not blind, unfortunately for the painters."

Beer Drinkers Lead in Alcohol Consumption

NEW YORK — Distilled spirits constituted 91 per cent of the alcoholic beverages consumed in the United States in 1850.

By 1915, distilled spirits' percentage of the total had dropped to 42, Today it is 40, with wine accounting for 6 and beer for 54 per cent.

Bamboo Offers Versatile Uses

Japanese Experts Make 100 Different Products; Still Thinking of More

TOKYO (INS)—There are some 100 different products made today out of the versatile bamboo.

* * *

But Japanese bamboo ware makers have by no means given up thinking of more uses.

Bamboo goods range from magazine racks and chairs to handbags and buttons.

Americans buy almost four million dollars worth every year according to official export figures.

Bamboo experts claim it is the most versatile of all woods, but they also warn that when sent to the United States, bamboo products sometimes become twisted out of shape, crack or chip because of humidity differences.

TO MEET DIFFERENCES

To counter this, the government is drawing up a set of regulations governing bamboo exports to take into special account standards that will stand up under climatic changes.

According to official sources, the government also plans to send experts to the U. S. and to have U. S. designers come to Japan in order to further promote the use of the bamboo.

To mention some of its uses, bamboo is made into laminated blinds, panels, ski poles, bread baskets, fishing rods, parasols, toys tumblers, knife handles, flutes, knitting needles, luncheon mats, chairs, magazine racks, handbags, buttons, slide rules, beach hats and slippers.

* * *

Experts say there are basically seven kinds of bamboo which are subdivided into more than 100 varieties.

Mockingbird Expertly Mimics Many Birds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The mockingbird imitates other birds so well that only electronic analysis can tell the difference, say two ornithologists at Ohio State University. And the mockingbird mimics an individual bird, not just the general pattern of another species' song, study indicates.

The investigators, Profs. Donald J. Borror and Carl R. Reese, use an audiospectromgraph to measure the rhythm, loudness and pitch of tape-recording bird songs.

Analyzing a mockingbird imitating a Carolain Wren, they found one pattern was virtually identical to that of a wren recorded nearby 10 days earlier

Crime Costs $20 Billion

WASHINGTON — Crime is costing the American people about 20 billion dollars a year. According to the Department of Justice, for every dollar spent on education, crime costs $1.46, and for every dollar given to the nation's churches, crime costs $14.

North Carolina Favoring Ike

Southern State to Help Choose GOP Ticket at National Convention

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—President Eisenhower is the overwhelming favorite of North Carolina's 28 delegates who will help choose the Republican ticket at the party's national convention at San Francisco this August.

* * *

Of 24 delegates contacted in an Associated Press poll of their preferences for the national ticket, eight came out solidly for Richard Nixon as vice presidential nominee.

The other 16 hedged the question. Most picked "Nixon, if Ike wants him," and about three of these indicated they might prefer someone else. Several wouldn't comment.

Sen. William Knowland of California was mentioned three times by those who indicated a secondary choice for the presidential nomination if Eisenhower is not available. Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts was named twice, and Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland and Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, once each.

Herter got six mentions for the vice presidential spot as a secondary choice; Knowland got four.

Only one man of the 24 did not name Eisenhower as his choice for the top spot on the ticket. Charles D. Owen Jr. of Asheville, a delegate-at-large, declined any comment until he is officially notified of his election as a delegate.

He Won — and Died

"One of the silliest things I've heard of," said the Sydney coroner at the inquest of an Australian who drank 20 whiskies in two minutes. He had a contest with another man, who took 10 minutes for the same number—and lived.

Fred Allen---Satirical Wit but With a Kind Heart

(The sudden death in New York City Saturday night of Fred Allen took one of America's best known humorists. Here is the story of Fred Allen as only his closest intimates knew him.)

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Fred Allen had a one-word philosophy of life, which he often expounded with adenoidal ardor.

* * *

If ye would live fully, he advised—"loaf."

Last Saturday, on a New York night too blustery for his wife Portland to join him on their habitual pre-midnight stroll, the philosopher and cantankerous comic collapsed. The trouble was he had never had time to follow his own sincere advice.

"It wasn't that he didn't want to take it easy," said "Uncle Jim" Harkins, Allen's friend and business companion for 22 years. "Fred worried plenty about his health. You should've seen him eat little slices of chicken and fruit while the rest of us were being pigs, just to keep his blood pressure down.

* * *

"But when he was young, Fred was the hardest working man you've ever seen. And later," Jim sighed, "well, there were always people who depended on him."

HELPED 'LITTLE GUY'

And Fred, who wrote as many as 300 letters a week to old friends throughout the world, had never been known to let a so-called "little guy" down.

When he died, dozens of these little guys—learning swiftly of the death of "The Great Dead Pan"—swarmed the lobby of Allen's apartment house on West 58th Street, wanting to do something. Not knowing what.

* * *

Blonde Portland Hoffa, Allen's inseparable wife and co-star in his two dacades of radio fame, could not speak intelligibly even to the closest of these old friends. She could only cry "I can't believe it, I can't believe it!"

Harkins, who remained with her for four hours after the sudden tragedy, said, "she is lost. That couple was so lovely, so close, they made the rest of us married people look like deadly enemies. They were Romeo and Juliet, and the Siamese twins."

Portland and Fred had been watching the presentation of the TV Emmy awards in their apartment, and afterward the comic went for his stroll without his wife, urging her to stay in from the icy slick streets.

* * *

"It must have been the first time in months she didn't go with him," Harkins said, "and by God, she can't believe it — that's the night it had to happen."

The professional grouch from Boston was apparently headed into the easy street he so long recommended when he suffered his second, and last fatal, heart attack.

Under orders to slow down for the past ten years, he recently finished a book, "Treadmill to Oblivion," in which he took free and funny potshots at what he considered the bane of good entertainment: businessmen.

He had given up regular appearances, except on the weekly Sunday night TV show, "What's My Line?" when for two years he was a droll, popular panelist.

BEGAN TO ENJOY GAME

"I think — I really think that Fred was just getting to enjoy the game ('What's My Line?') after many years of somewhat bitterly resenting the television industry," said John Daly, panel moderator. "Lately, you could see he was relaxing, actually having fun."

Only last Friday, Allen had a cardiogram which revealed, ironically, that his heart was behaving healthily. He must have felt then that he could not refer to himself—as he had in a recent whimsically wry mood—as a "fugitive from rigor mortis."

In his 45 years of trying to make the world laugh, about 25 of which he spent succeeding, the writer-comedian with the bellhop eyes ("they carry up to four bags") covered the country but never really settled down. He never owned a house or a car because "they make me nervous," but he "dwelt" in many places.

He was born in Cambridge, Mass., but when Massachusetts internal revenuers tried to collect a tax from his income, he put his feelings this way: "The way you talk, if you were born in jail, you'd be a convict all your life."

He spent years in Hollywood making pictures, but he spoke of California thus: "The climate is fine. If you're an orange, it's ideal."

New York, where he died, was the only city he didn't puncture with his inimitable barbs.

Indians Knew Platinum

BOGOTA, Colombia —Platinum was known to the Colombian Indians long before Columbus discovered America. In the 17th Century when it was brought to the attention of Spanish colonists, they scornfully called it "platina" and valued it less than silver because they could not separate it from its ore and use it profitably. Now platinum is worth 100 times as much as silver.

Coal Output Rises

Aussie Police Motorized

BRISBANE — In the future, police stationed in the rugged outback country of Western Australia will do their patrolling by motor vehicles instead of the horses, pack mules, and camels that have been their means of conveyance for almost a century. The last of the camels has been sold, and new four-track vehicles have been sent to police in the area.

Change Brought by World Bank

Face of Earth Altered by Loans Given to Huge Construction Projects

WASHINGTON — In ten years of operation the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development — the "World Bank" — has helped to change a substantial portion of the earth's surface.

* * *

During this period 32 of the Bank's 58 member nations have obtained sums ranging from $1.5 million to more than $250 million. The funds are used for such projects as dams, erosion control, forestry, roads, railways, irrigation and major industrial development, says the National Geographic Society.

Seven nations and territories in Africa are doing business with the World Bank. The Belgian Congo has built ports, waterways roads and railroads financed by the Bank. The Congo today yields vital raw materials: 70 per cent of the world's cobalt, 70 per cent of its industrial diamonds, and about half of its uranium.

Europe was the first to benefit from World Bank loans to countries whose economies were upset by the war. Almost $500 million was lent for the postwar reconstruction of France, the Netherlands, Denmark and Germany.

The World Bank's capital comes from shares subscribed by member nations in proportion to their relative resources. Subscribed capital is now $9 billion, and 20 per cent is available for loans. Sale of securities is another source of funds.

Rhodesia and Nyasaland will invite bids soon on the $75,000,000 Kariba Gorge hydroelectric plant and get the job done by 1960, Sailsbury reports.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

PETER PAN LISTENS TO TINKER BELL

Peter Pan has had a lot of notice lately, along with his special friend Tinker Bell. Now here's a cutout, suggested by Mike Hawkins of Riverside, Calif., that shows them both in action.

Tinker Bell, a tiny mite of a fairy, is always worrying about Peter, reminding him to take his medicine and trying to keep him out of danger. Her voice is tiny too — a little tinkling bell. Sometimes the bell tinkles sweetly and sometimes, when Tinkle is cross, it rings furiously.

If you color the picture, paste it on cardboard and cut out the parts, it will be nearly ready to play with. Attach the separate arm to Peter's shoulder with the brass fastener so that it will move up and down. Fold the picture on the dotted line so it will stand up. Now tie a string through a hole that can be punched in the hand and thread it through a hole punched just behind Tinker's head. Attach a tiny bell, if your mother can find one for you, to the string behind Tinker. Raise and lower the arm to make the bell ring. Can you tell from the bell whether Tinker is angry or happy?

Junior Editors pays $10 for usable ideas. You may send suggestions in care of this paper.

ALL ICED UP—Three million dollars in diamonds, all in this picture! Historians Still Baffled by Trek

Walk by English Sailor Up Old North America Covered 3,000 Miles

WASHINGTON — Few tales of epic journeys in early America are less known or more incredible than that of the 3,000-mile walk of David Ingram.

Ingram was an English sailor. In 1568, with some 100 others, he was put ashore on Mexico's Gulf coast. Thereupon, by his own telling, he and two companions made their way on foot to a point near present-day Saint John, New Brunswick, in Canada.

STARTED FROM MEXICO

History shows that about the beginning of October, 1568, more than 100 English seamen of the adventurer Sir John Hawkins went ashore near what is now Tampico, rather than starve afloat. A disastrous battle with the Spanish had left Hawkins' ship overloaded and short of food.

Only five of these men ever returned to England. Of one group of 75 who chose to head south, Miles Philips and Job Hortop eventually escaped from Spanish servitude, after 14 and 23 years respectively.

Three others—David Ingram of Barking, Richard Browne, and Richard Twide—were among a smaller number who set out "northward."

Most were killed by Indians or hardship. But 11 months later, Ingram related, three of them had reached a river mouth 60 leagues west of "Cape Britton"—Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia. There they found a ship, the French Gargarine, captained by "M. Champaigne" (not Samuel Champlain, who was still a boy.) By the end of 1569, they were back in England.

When Queen Elizabeth's police chief, Sir Francis Walsingham, chanced upon Ingram and his fantastic tale, the illiterate old sailor had had 13 years to add fancy and nonsense to fact. But information about North America was what Walsingham wanted, and certainly it was a wide range of information that Ingram gave him.

Ingram's description of buffalo, of large bays and rivers that had to be crossed, of "greate playnes and greate and huge woodes" are just what anyone would have seen walking across eastern North America in 1569.

Ingram thought that he had walked only about 2,000 miles, yet it is closer to 3,000 from Tampico to Saint John by the most probable route. Covering such a distance in 11 months means averaging more than eight miles a day, an almost impossible clip considering the country as it was then.

More probably, Ingram and his companions did not go as far north as they thought, or they took more than 11 months to do it. Yet there have been attempts to show that Ingram must have crossed New England to describe what he did. If so, they would have traversed almost the length of the continent 39 years before the English settlement of Jamestown, Va.

Use of Bermuda Grass Urged for Sandy Soil

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department says tests show that farmers intending to start pasture or hay production on sandy soils in the Southeast can profit by putting their acreage in Suwannee Bermuda grass.

Designed to grow at moderately low fertilizer levels, the grass has as merits palatability and resistance to disease, frost and drought.

The hybrid, which has to be grown from sprigs rather than seed, grows tall enough to cut for

Rail Car Marks Have Meanings

Numbers and Letters on Freight Boxcars Aid in Identification

OMAHA (INS) — Ever wonder what all the numbers and letters on a railroad car mean?

* * *

The Union Pacific Railroad, which moves 30,000 freight cars a day, would be lost without them. The reporting marks give switchmen and yard clerks most of the information they need to route the cars.

One panel of letters and numbers to the left of the boxcar door includes the serial number of the car (U. P. 500077); capacity in pounds (Capy 100,000); the load limit in pounds (Ld Lmt 169,000;) the empty weight (Lt Wt 59,500) and the place and date the car was weighed (OM 8-55), meaning August, 1955, at Omaha.

Information on the other side of the door tells who built the car and when and where it was built (Built UPRR, Omaha 5-53).

Also on the right side of the door is a code that tells the class of car, such as Automobile Car, 50-ton capacity and 21st style of boxcar designed (A-50-21).

* * *

Another code (H-13-5) tells the distance from the top of the rail to the point at which the extreme width of the car exists and is needed for determining clearance in tunnels and on sidings.

IL-50-6, IW-9-6 and IH-10-6 give the inside length, width and height. Cubic feet of loading capacity might appear as CU FT 5072.

* * *

A stenciled mark above the car trucks (Rpkd Oma 8-25-55) tells where and when the journal boxes were last repacked and oiled.

Egypt, India Plan Big Dams

Nile, Sutlej River Sites Blueprinted Already for Start of Construction

WASHINGTON — Two gigantic dam projects, expected to end the ever-present threat of famine for millions in India and Egypt, stand high in the 1956 plans of the two countries.

* * *

In India construction has already begun on Bhakra Dam on the Sutlej river in the Punjab. This structure will complete the Bhakra-Nangal Irrigation and Power Project, designed to turn arid wastes of the Punjab into a fruitful granary, says the National Geographic Society.

The Egyptian project is still in the blueprint stage but the outlook is optimistic. Sadd el'Ali—the High Dam—will be built in upper Egypt, five miles above Aswan on the Nile. This is a practically rainless area where in some places the desert reaches right to the river's edge.

The necessity for the Bhakra-Nangal project has been felt for centuries in the Punjab and adjoining areas. Even drinking water is scarce. Reports of successive famine commissions have be monotonously the same: lack of water.

* * *

Both projects make the Pyramids seem Lilliputian in comparison. Bhakra Dam will be three miles long and 750 feet high (possibly the highest in the world), while the High Dam will be four and a half miles long and 600 feet high.

Big 'Aging' Market

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — In proclaiming an "aging citizen's month," in Washington, Gov. Arthur B. Langlie expressed the belief it would have a universal appeal. "In planning for the aging," he commented, "we are, in a sense, planning for ourselves, for the fact is that whether we be 20 or 30 or 60, we are aging."

They're Hopping Mad

SYDNEY — Ray Brown and Keith Schofield of Sydney, driving in the recent 10,500-mile around-Australia race, claimed the record for kangaroos. They said their car hit 28 in a 170-mile stretch and killed six of them.

No Wonder Headlights Seemed a Little Dim

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — It didn't take Stanley Decker of Easton long to find out that it wasn't his headlights that had gone bad.

Decker started for Philipsburg one evening After several blocks he noticed the headlights didn't seem to be working.

He found them painted over completely with black poster paint.

Park Gets $5 Million

GATLINBURG, Tenn.—Plans for Great Smoky Mountains National Park were started in 1926. The States of Tennessee and North Carolina raised a total of $5,000,000, to which John D. Rockefeller contributed an equal amount for the purchase of the park land, which includes 440,000 acres.

Average total college basketball score (both teams) has risen from 56.9 in 1939 to 121.1 in the 1954-55 season.

Tallest Tree in World Stretched 367 Feet

SAN FRANCISCO — The tallest tree in the world, a redwood towering 367 feet 8 inches, with a base circumference of 45 feet, was felled in 1873, near Guerneville, Calif., about 82 miles north of San Francisco.

The world's tallest tree now is a 364-foot redwood with a 47 foot base circumference. It is called the Founders' Tree and is near Dyerville, Cal., about 246 miles north of San Francisco.

Galveston Believes in Honest Lawlessness

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

GALVESTON (INS) — Jean La Fitte, the late lawbreaker, was extremely well regarded, as pirates go.

That is because he was forthright and honest.

When he hanged a disobedient captain of his band, for example, La Fitte always gave a good reason. "This man was hanged for piracy," he explained.

Who, except maybe Gary Cooper, could be more straight-from-the-shoulder than that?

The City of Galveston, one of La Fitte's favorite resorts in the early 19th Century, has taken a leaf from the buccaneer's book. The city fathers, mayor and sheriff permit a few Texas laws to be broken, in the interests of fun and the tourist business. But they are honest about it.

"There may be a few crap tables and roulette tables in private clubs here and there, but you'll find that going on in any town in Texas, probably any state in the union," said a spokesman.

"Sometimes they call us the 'city of sin.' Actually, we're the same as any place else except that we have a good time.

"The Free State of Galveston," as Texans who resort here the year around call it, is a fascinating combination of Honolulu's Zephrs and Palms, Atlantic City's pleasure piers, New Orleans' ornate architecture, New York's smart clubs and Las Vegas' unhampered gambling.

Although gambling and liquor by-the-drink are taboo in Texas Galvestonians discreetly turn their backs while it is going on, so the visitors to their fairisland can lack hypocrisy."

Sheriffs and mayors are invariably tolerant men, and even the church fathers rarely complain, so long as the gambling is kept honest and the drinking behind closed doors of "Private clubs."

The "private clubs" are many and they can be joined at the mere drop of a hint. Most famous is the plush Balinese Room, a nightclub built far enough out on one of the steel-supported piers to allow for plenty of time to roll the gaming tables into the walls in the unlikely event of a raid.

The Balinese was destroyed by fire some time ago but has been rebuilt and will open in its refurbished glory in May. Since it is the grandest gambling spot of all, a Galveston sheriff was asked why he never staged a raid there.

"Why man, I can't get in there," he drawled lazily, "I ain't a member."

A mayor, campaigning for re-election against a "reform" candidate, used as his slogan: "Honesty is no substitute for experience." He won easily.

The remarkable city of Galveston, despite its "open policy," is considered the ideal place to bring the wife and kiddies. As indeed it is, with 35 miles of beaches, a midway with kiddie rides and booths to shoot ducks for dolls, plenty of fishing and a platform for catching sandtrout and saltwater catfish.

And in the evening, while Daddy goes gambling, mommy and the little ones can go to the movies — where they sit on the end of a pier and watch a screen that is built on stilts over the Gulf of Mexico.

Sometimes when the tide is high, Jane Russell gets her feet wet, which adds to the fun.

Hoffa Risks Meany's Wrath Over Proposed Loan

A burly union boss, who figured prominently in one of the most controversial internal labor disputes in Pontiac's history, will have a further chance to make his influence felt next week in Honolulu.

He is James R. Hoffa, 43, of Detroit, ninth vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The occasion will be a Hawaiian meeting of the IBT's General Executive Committee.

Probably the hottest topic up for discussion will be Hoffa's proposal that the teamsters lend $400,000 or more to the debt-ridden International Longshoremens Assn., ousted from the AFL in 1953 as racket-infested.

Approval of the loan would clinch the position of the IBT as senior partner in a working alliance with the ILA and give it effective control of East and Gulf Coast ports, union circles believe.

But approval also could force a showdown between the huge Teamsters Union and its parent body, the recently-merged AFL-CIO.

MEANY ISSUES WARNING

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has warned the IBT that to make the loan would lead him to take whatever action the circumstances warrant. This was regarded as an implied threat that the AFL-CIO would suspend the IBT.

Meany said in Washington yesterday that he intended "to carry out the letter and the spirit of the AFL-CIO constitution in the future as in the past."

The AFL-CIO constitution says any member union giving "recognition" to a once -ousted union is itself subject to ouster.

Meany opposes the loan for at least two expressed reasons: first, he does not want the merged labor movement to be linked through the IBT with a union accused of harboring racketeers.

Second, IBT financial support would help the ILA fend off a new attempt by the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Longshoremen to gain bargaining control of the East and Gulf Coast ports.

PLANS IN DOUBT.

Whether Hoffa will press now to build the Teamsters' empire through the loan or wait a more propitious occasion is not clear yet.

Also at stake is a question of who needs whom the more. The IBT with about 1,300,000 members, is the largest union in the AFL-CIO.

Is the new united labor movement willing to risk a showdown and a possible split in its ranks by suspending the IBT?

Does Hoffa believe the huge union of teamsters is strong enough to go it alone?

Hoffa, at the center in these questions, sometimes is regarded as the actual head of the teamsters, a theory heatedly denied by Dave Beck, of Seattle, the union's president.

Beck more than a year ago said reports Hoffa was the behind-the-scenes boss were lies.

Hoffa said at the time he was just "trying to do everything my general president tells me to do, just trying to carry out his instructions." His public references to Beck always are respectful.

THE HARD WAY

Hoffa came up the hard way through the rough-and-tumble of union organizing in Michigan.

He lost his father, a coal prospector, at the age of four, and quit school to go to work at 14.

At 19, employed as a warehouseman, he led a successful strike against a Detroit grocery chain.

At 22, the energetic Hoffa, built like a football fullback with heavy shoulders and seemingly always on the move, was president of the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

Hoffa is of medium height, has dark hair combed straight back. His speech is salty, mixed with quips, jovial or acid, depending on the occasion. He avoids alcohol and tobacco.

At union conferences, he rushes through one job to get at the next. Loudspeakers page him every five minutes, it seems, for a phone call or a private talk.

HAS BUSINESS INTERESTS

Hoffa finds no difficulty in being a business man in addition to his ever-boiling union activities.

Augmenting his $21,000-a-year union salary, he has had business interest in a Flint brewery and a Columbus, Ohio, harness racing track.

His principal outside income now reputedly is derived from a holding company that rents trucking, construction and similar equipment to employers doing business with the Teamsters.

The New York Times says he owns a substantial block of stock in an insurance company that writes the union's welfare contracts.

Hoffa's union activities have been principally in the Midwest, except Chicago, and in the South. He has not yet attempted to extend his domain to the West Coast, but has been active recently in the East, as indicated by his dealing with the ILA.

On one hand, Hoffa is credited in union circles with negotiating some of the best contracts in the nation for Midwest teamsters. Owners of trucking fleets find him a man of his word. His office door in Detroit is open to hear rank and file grievances.

On the other hand, a Congressional subcommittee investigating labor rackets three years ago criticized his activities. Some sources believe he is less than meticulus in accepting associates who could help expand the IBT empire.

Hoffa is familiar to Pontiac area readers as a key figure in a suit brought by Teamsters Local 614 which charged "irregularities" in his administration of a trusteeship imposed by International President David Beck.

The suit, which charged Hoffa and a local officer with misuse of union funds, was dismissed by the Oakland County Circuit Court after three judges ruled that the tribunal was without jurisdiction in the case.

Ike Praises Inventor of Radio Vacuum Tube

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The "Father of Radio," Dr. Lee de Forest, says he was highly pleased to receive a letter yesterday from President Eisenhower congratulating him on his many scientific contributions.

The President noted that 1956 is the 50th anniversary of De Forest's invention of the three-element radio vacuum tube.

De Forest holds more than 300 patents in the fields of radio, talking pictures and television.

Lipstick Smears Cause Marriage to Dissolve

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A housewife obtained a divorce on the ground that when she questioned her husband about lipstick on his shirt he spanked her with a shoe.

Mrs. Letha Juanita Lebert testifies that Richard Lebert returned home from a party and when she asked him to explain the lipstick marks he said: "If you're going to ask childish questions I'll treat you as a child."

She said he did. He paddled her.

Tourists Plan Europe Junket

U. S. Folks to Invade Continent With Trailers on Good Will Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Europe is about to have another American motorized invasion. This time, however, it is a peaceful trip by folks taking their own homes with them.

* * *

About 125 people, ranging in age from 8 to 85, are in the junket called "Trailer Tour of Europe." The objective is to tour Europe and make friends, both for themselves and for America.

Mostly retired folks, these tourists are taking a total of 60 trailer homes with them. They represent 17 of the states, the majority of them from California and Florida.

Wallie Byam, who heads the junket, says, "We want to make friends for America in a real way, without resorting to the dollar sign."

* * *

The 60-year-old retired Los Angeles construction engineer calls the mountain of work of organizing and arranging the trip—at no pay to himself or others—"my hobby."

As an assistant he has his cousin Mrs. Helen Byam Schwamborn, whom he calls his "secretary." Like her cousin, friend-making abroad is a passion with her. This is how it is done, she says:

"We move our homes to their cities and become a part of their community, invite them to our homes and they in turn invite us to theirs. That way we make good friends."

Byam and Mrs. Schwamborn will leave in the first section of tourists departing from Brooklyn next Tuesday aboard the Black Diamond liner Black Condor. The other tourists and their trailers will leave via separate means.

Ohio Turnpike Fees $718,487 in Month

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio turnpike toll collections totaled $718,487 for February, the lowest figure since the 241-mile superhighway was opened last Oct. 1. Collections were nearly $75,000 less than in January.

Official figures released yesterday showed 393,992 passenger cars and 105,205 trucks used the turnpike in February.

Revenues for the five months through February totaled $4,633,552.

Use Proper Furniture Against Long Walls

If you're faced with a long wall in a room decorators advise following a few simple rules!

Choose furniture that can stand alone without trimmings and avoid long, straight pieces. Consider hanging a series of interesting pictures and space them closely together.

Select room dividers that are functional as well as handsome. Make short wall important through decorating techniques as well as the function assigned to them.

Settle Bony Case

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The star exhibit in trial of a $20,000 lawsuit, a human skeleton, was never placed on display in Common Pleas Court. The skeleton languished all morning inside a metal cabinet beside the judge's bench, but the case was settled before it was used. The suit involved a spine injury and the skeleton was to have been used to show structure of the sacroiliac joint.

Sap to Syrup

The maple syrup industry each year brings millions of dollars to Vermont, New York, Wisconsin and other states, says the National Geographic Society. An average tree yields 15 to 20 gallons of sap, which boil down to a little more than a quart of syrup.

Amazon Basin Photos

Until the flying camera reached it during World War II, much of the jungle-choked Amazon Basin, which takes in half of Brazil, remained little known and inaccurately mapped, the National Geographic Society says. The Tapajos River, for example, a large tributary of the Amazon, had to be shifted on new maps as much as 60 miles from where it formerly appeared.

Births on Increase

WASHINGTON—The number of infants under 2 years of age in the nation climbed to a record 7,900,000 this year. Some 70 per cent of all births now are in families with one child or more compared with only 58 per cent in 1947.

Produces Inventors

WASHINGTON—Worcester, Massachusetts, whose industrial career began in 1685 with a gristmill, has produced inventors who revolutionized manufacturing around the world, the National Geographic Society says. Eli Whitney built the cotton gin, and pioneered mass production; Elias Howe patented the first lock-stitch sewing machine; Erastus Bigelow invented a power carpet loom.

Lenten Guideposts—Words to Live By

Helping Others Found Key to Happiness

By WILLIAM NICHOLS
Editor of This Week Magazine

As a layman, I am not sure I know what is meant by the term "religious experience" nor do I think I have the right to use it in this case.

And yet I do know that the words I am going to give you "came" to me, like a miracle, at a time when I was in very great trouble. I know, too, that they lifted me out of trouble. And, ever since, they have been with me, guiding and helping.

NICHOLS

To tell the whole story would be too long and too personal. It is enough to say that it happened a long time ago.

It was during one of those "down" periods which, I suppose, come to everybody at some point—a period when everything goes black, and one feels paralyzed by doubt, self-pity and fear.

A SLEEPLESS NIGHT

It was at such a time that my words came—early one morning after a night of anguished, tossing semi-sleep, when it had seemed impossible to find enough courage to meet another day and face up to some heavy responsibilities which lay just ahead.

Whether I heard the words, or saw them, I cannot say. All I know is that there was a moment when I suddenly became aware of them—and that moment was a turning point in my life.

Since then these words have been always with me—a steady, unfailing source of courage and inspiration. I treasure them partly for what they say; partly because I think of them, truly, as a gift from God.

The words? Here they are:

"Try to get through to help the other people."

These are such simple plain-Jane words. So homespun and ordinary. Yet in my case, at least, that is what gives them power. Somehow they seem to fit me and my everyday life and problems. In them there is nothing learned or "literary" or far away. But there is a sort of four-fold lift in them.

1. First, the word—"try." To me it seems to say: "Look, you aren't supposed to be prefect; you're supposed just to do your best, to make an effort — in short, to try—and if sometimes you fail, as all men do, then you can still try, and try again."

2. Next,—"to get through." That has a double meaning. First, it means "get through" in the sense of growing up, of finishing, or having done with, all those childish doubts, fears and self - worries which hamper an immature personality.

Second, "get through" means also to break through in the sense of overcoming, or bursting out from that tight confining wall of selfishness and egotism which cuts so many of us off from the world and from each other.

3. The next words—"to help"—speak for themselves. They sum up the whole idea of losing yourself, of forgetting yourself, for someone or something else.

4. And whom shall we help? Why, of course—"the other people." These closing words mean very much, for they wipe away the idea that anybody is higher or better or holier than anybody else. And the opportunity which God gives us, over and over, is the chance to help one another. It is the greatest grace there is.

These then are my Words to Live By: "Try to get through to help the other people."

Mobile Chest X-Ray Units to Spend 3 Weeks in City

Free chest x-rays will be available to Pontiac residents starting next week, according to a report from A. R. Musson, executive secretary of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association.

In a program taking place throughout the county to attack contagious tuberculosis at its source — the person who unknowingly has the disease and is contaminating others.

The mobile units have canvassed high-population areas in southern Oakland County and will spend three weeks in Pontiac.

The schedule set up for the program in Pontiac is as follows:

From March 26-30, Fire Hall No. 2, Wilson and Saginaw; March 26-28, Macedonia Baptist Church, 516 Alton; March 29-30, Wilson School; April 2-6 and April 9-11, County Court House, Saginaw at Huron; April 2-4, Oakland County Road Commission, 550 S. Telegraph; April 5-6, Lakeside Housing; April 9-13, 159 Wessen at Bagley; April 9-13, Tel Huron Shopping Center, United Shirt Store.

The highest tuberculosis rate of anywhere in the state is located in southeastern Michigan with concentrations in Oakland and Wayne counties, Musson said. "It is important that every adult safeguard his health and that of his family by taking advantage of these free chest x-rays.

The mobile units will be manned and operated by the Oakland County Health department and the county TB association, Musson said. "X-rays give no discomfort, only take a few minutes and the service is free.

This is the best way we can think of for Oakland County residents to be sure they do not carry the dread disease."

Donald Blundon, from the Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester, spoke. He was accompanied by Mrs. Harold Behrendt of Detroit and his leader dog.

Blind for eight years, Mr. Blundon told how blindness isolates its victims and how through the eyes of a trained dog guide, the blind can be restored to economic stability and independence. According to Mr. Blundon German shepherds, collies and retrievers are breeds most commonly used as guide dogs.

Guests present for the affair were Mrs. Vincent Vaverek, Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Mrs. Donald Ashbaugh, Mrs. William J. Thomas, Mrs. Erwin Christie, Mrs. Lloyd T. Farley and Mrs. Charles Cowley.

New Perfume Has Everything

A new perfume by a leading manufacturer, who has not brought out a new fragrance in some years, has just been put on the market. It's an oriental fragrance, but by no means of the heavier category.

* * *

According to the maker, the deep emerald color of this new scent is entirely natural and due to the ingredients. It contains citrus notes, musky notes and is definitely sophisticated.

* * *

Spring is a popular time for presenting a new scent. Many of the bottles of perfume that carry one through the winter are now getting old and losing their top notes. Most women also seek a brighter, crisper scent to go with new fabrics, fashions and hats.

Spicy Scent Is Offensive to Colleague

Worker Complains That Cologne Odor Makes Her Ill

By EMILY POST

An unpleasant office situation is described in the following letter: "We have a new typist in our office who sits close to me and who uses a very spicy cologne. The odor of this cologne makes me so sick that by the end of the morning I am ill enough to go home. Perhaps I have no right to object, but it really is affecting my work. Is there anything I can do about this?"

Answer: You can take it up with your personnel director or your employer. If the office is a big one, perhaps you could have your desk changed.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been told that it is never proper to introduce anyone as 'my friend.' The reason given for this is that calling one person a friend implies that the other is not. Will you please tell me if this is correct?"

Answer: What you were told is quite true, and when introducing one young friend to another young friend you would say, "Mary Smith—John Jones." When introducing a friend to a near relative, you might say, "This is my friend Mary."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Three weeks ago I was invited to a shower for a friend of mine. Up to the present time I have not received a thank-you note for my present. In mentioning this to another friend, I was told that it is not necessary to send thank-you notes for shower presents. Is this true?"

Answer: At showers, it is customary to open the presents and thank each giver verbally as her gift is unwrapped and admired. No further written thanks are necessary. Notes must be written to those who sent presents but who could not come to the party.

Coming Events

Ladies Auxiliary 1230, FOE, will gather at 289 W. Montcalm St. Thursday at 8 p.m. for meeting and initiation, followed by Birthday Night.

Mrs. Joseph Panter of Pingree street also attended the annual Parliamentary Study Club luncheon and election of officers at Devon Gables Wednesday. Mrs. Panter has been a member of the group for 30 years. She is parliamentarian emeritus and a past president of the class of 1925-26.

Grin and Bear When Your Heart Breaks

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: My boy friend and I are both 14. We've been going steady and have liked each other a lot. He told me he thought nothing could ever separate us—but something has, almost.

"He started to like my best girl friend! She told me that so long as I still like him as much as I do, she could never like him. He knows this, but still likes her.

"The other day he told my girl friend that he really liked her but that I'd come back any time he wanted me. So I guess I'm being played for a fool.

"My parents tell me that since I'm in junior high there will be other boys. But I love him so much I won't give up.

"He has made me like him so much that it hurts dreadfully to think that I don't mean anything to him any more.

"Could you give me any suggestions or help?"

Answer: Of course, it hurts. It hurts desperately. And it hurts all over. It always does when a boy you adore vanishes from the very center of your existence.

And when he settles down beside your very best girl friend, it's worse. Bad enough to have him stop liking you—but if he'd only fall for some perfectly strange girl on the other side of town!

But what can a girl do with a big hurt like that? Weep on the shoulder of anyone who will listen? Lie awake at night, staring wide-eyed at the ceiling until she can't bear thinking about it any longer, and bury her head in her pillow? Take out her misery on her innocent girl friend?

No. Your hurt and bewilderment and jealousy are your own private business. You don't want to let anyone see you when you are so undone. Your public performance should be calm and collected. Your head held high, a bright, cheery smile on your face.

There must be a reason for this sweet thing to come to an end. You and your boy friend are both young and changing. Maybe he saw as much of your girl friend as he did of you, and knew her almost as well. Maybe he just couldn't help liking her.

So why stubbornly plant your feet as you're doing, and refuse to give up? Your girl friend, out of loyalty to you, refuses to do anything about him while you like him as you do.

Your boy friend, through your selfishness, is being deprived of the fun of seeing your girl friend. All three of you are unhappy.

Release him completely. Let him go to have his change of scenery, change of pace, change of thought. Let your girl friend have him. She may find she really doesn't want him.

He may find the shift wasn't such a good idea after all. You may find him back on your hands again because he wants to come back. You may find that this fling of his hasn't really separated you.

Knot Belts to Achieve Paris Look

PARIS (INS)—Here's a trick to give a dress a modish Paris look: Knot the belt.

* * *

The majority of new belts in Paris are fastened by a knot and a bow. You can use ribbon, a fabric sash or an extra long leather belt for this purpose. And you can wear it anywhere between the natural waist and the bosom.

Patou, for instance, shows a black and white striped cotton shirtwaist dress belted by an orange-colored fabric cummerbund. It's knotted in front with the two 4-inch-long ends dangling.

Balenciaga shows loosely fitted tube dresses made of linen with belts which are narrow, flat tubes of suede leather. He ties them around the waist and knots them in bows with short loops and long loose ends.

* * *

You can transform a sheath dress into a 100 per cent new looking style by following the example of Lanvin-Castillo. He shows slim dresses with just a part of a belt showing right below the bust for the high empire waist.

To achieve this effect, cut two vertical slots into the dress like buttonholes below the bustline. Through these two holes, thread an inch-wide ribbon which runs inside the dress around the back and appears outside only the short distance—about 7 inches—between the two slots.

Tie the ribbon to a flat bow right in the center and you have the latest Paris touch on last year's dress.

The trouble with having to listen to most tall tales is that they aren't short enough.

Classic Suit Style Will Wane in Spring

NEW YORK (INS) — Budget minded women in Paris will base their spring wardrobe on three basic styles. The first is a two-piece outfit of wool or jersey for daytime wear.

* * *

The classic suit, beloved by the Parisienne for many years, is bound to disappear. The new spring outfits as composed of a slim-styled dress with a matching jacket.

Instead of being tailored with lapels, a stiff peplum and classic sleeves, these new jackets are very supple, often collarless and with three-quarter sleeves for a modish look.

Made of worsted or a tweed fabric, of navy-blue jersey, corduroy or camel-hair, they can be very conservative yet 1956-looking.

The second basic Paris garment is a shirt-waist dress and practically every Parisienne will have one in her wardrobe, in any fabric from costly silk to cheapest cotton.

Shirt-waist dresses look chic in plain light weight wool or synthetic fabrics gay and youthful in floral printed or striped cottons and elegant in silk with a cashmere print.

The cocktail, restaurant and dance dress of the year will be a princess dress with a graceful bell-skirt and not too deep neckline. Gently following the feminine body, it is suitable for any age and is ladylike in any fabric.

Mrs. Charles Sanft to Entertain Group

Mrs. Charles Sanft will entertain members and guests of Beta Theta Chapter of Lambda Chi Omega sorority tonight in her home on Mohawk road.

Assisting the hostess at the annual Guest Night affair will be Mrs. L. B. Calleley, Dorothy Dillard and Mary Jo Davidson. Refreshments will be served from a table decorated in the spring motif.

Elizabeth Circle Holds Meeting

Mrs. J. C. McTavish of Boston avenue opened her home Tuesday to members of the Elizabeth Circle of the First Christian Church.

* * *

Devotions were given by Mrs. David Duvall on "The Life That wins." Mrs. Allen Hershee presented the program, "Awakening World's People."

* * *

Plans were made for a money-making project to be held at the church on Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Paul Colton invited the group to her home on LaSalle avenue for the April 17 meeting.

Spring Puts Stars in Stars' Eyes

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Spring wafted into Hollywood with no noticeable fanfare Tuesday, but that didn't stop filmlanders from busting out all over with traditional springtime spirit.

* * *

Southern California has been balmy and spring feverish for weeks, but curvy dancer Ann Miller insisted that the arrival of this special day still does sotnething special to a gal.

"It's just like baseball," she cooed. "It puts diamonds in a girl's eyes — including mine, I hope."

And blonde Ann Francis noted that a young man's fancy isn't the only one that goes wandering when the robins go flying again.

"Spring makes me fancier for a young man's fancy," she quipped.

* * *

The fact that it takes a meteorologist with an almanac to tell the difference between spring and any other time of the year hereabouts doesn't bother tanky, handsome Gregory Peck either.

STATE OF MIND

"We keep a springtime state of mind in Hollywood," he yawned comfortably. "Even though it looks just about the same as it did in November, I always seem to feel better.

"It's a wonderful time of the year for me no matter where I happen to be."

Robert Wagner, a young man whose fancy might reasonably be expected to start roaming into the love department, didn't seem to get the idea.

"In Hollywood it's always spring," he noted, "both weatherwise and, for me, careerwise. Something new, different and exciting always seems to be happening. I like it that way."

It's a memorable spring for Myrna Hansen, a beauty contest winner who has just won her first important screen role.

"I'm a hoe-down girl myself," she smiled, "and what better season of the year to dance?"

* * *

And Kim Novak is bubbling because the French government has invited her to the Cannes Film Festival this spring.

"This is my first trip abroad," she said, "and I'm sailing already, even though I haven't been near the ship yet."

SERIOUS VIEW

Some Hollywoodians take a more serious view of the season.

* * *

Jane Russell, for example, sees it as the hopeful time of year.

"I always have the feeling that the world is being reborn," she observed, "and myself along with it. All things become hopeful. This is the significance of Easter, and all of us feel it to some extent. I happen to feel it very strongly."

And sultry Rita Moreno said of the budding season:

"It gives me a feeling of rebirth, reawakening and rededication to the more important things in life. I'm the kind who's happy just because it's spring."

Make Color Work for You

Solor schemes are the cheapest and best way to make a room over. You can make a busy room look more peaceful or a dull room more lively. Small rooms can be made to look arger, and large rooms can be made to feel smaller.

In decorating a bedroom, the bedspread plays the most important role, since it will be the largest single area of colar and design in the room.

Professional decorators often give importance to a bedroom by using a distinctively designed bedspread and matching draperies, and let the rest of the room furnishings coordinate with them.

Wise homemakers spend their money to give maximum glamour and to give long service. Since most people like a change of decor pace, there is a bedspread designed with the noteworthy feature of being reversible. By just a flip of the bedspread you may achieve a change in decoration.

One side shows depth of color, with a white design; the other white with the design in color. Added feature is the full fringe trimming. Highly-styled colors of charcoal, blue, gold, brown, turquoise, claret, green or red . . . with draperies to match for easy ensembling.

Less starch is needed if you use an ironer, which exerts considerably more pressure than a hand iron. Use about one half the usual amount.

Mary Louise Milliman became the bride of Carl R. Lane Tuesday in Birmingham. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dain W. Milliman of Birmingham and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lane of Highland Park.

MRS. CARL ROBERT LANE

Mary Milliman Married in Birmingham Ceremony

The Little Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham was the scene of the ceremony uniting Mary Louise Milliman and Carl Robert Lane. Dr. Glen Harris performed the Tuesday morning service.

* * *

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dain W. Milliman of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lane of Highland Park are his parents.

For her wedding, Mary chose a gown of lace and nylon net over satin, designed with an off-the-shoulder neckline, long sleeves, a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt.

Her fingertip veil of tulle was secured by a flat jewel-trimmed halo. She carried a white Bible with an orchid.

* * *

Judy Milliman was her sister's maid of honor. She was gowned in azure blue chiffon and net with a tiny straw halo and circular veil of a matching shade. Her flowers were a crescent-shaped bouquet of pink carnations and rosebuds.

Mrs. Einar Mandenberg of Highland Park was a bridal attendant. Her dress of orchid net and taffeta was styled like the maid of honor's.

* * *

Francis Lane was best man, and ushers were Lt. Dain Milliman Jr. and Ernest Kitzner of Dearborn.

The reception and wedding breakfast were held at Oakland Hills Country Club.

For her going-away costume, the new Mrs. Lane changed to a navy blue suit with matching accesories. The couple will reside in Evanston, Ill., where he is stationed with the United States Air Force.

Gathering Held by Homemakers

Members of the Community Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. walter Edwards on Athens street Tuesday evening. Mrs. Andrew Macuga assisted the hostess.

* * *

A report on their visit to the Oakland County Convalescent Home was given by Mrs. William Armstrong and Mrs. Edwards. Mrs. William Tiberg and Mrs. Roy Lyn instructed the group on furniture refinishing.

* * *

The next meeting og the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Dorman on Ogemaq road.

Church Group Has Luncheon

The January-March Group of First Presbyterian Church met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. T.C. McFetridge of Millbourne place for luncheon. Mrs. Thomas Tillson was chairman of the luncheon committee.

* * *

The Bible study was given by Mrs. A. T. McCulloch from the book of the Ephesians, completing the first chapter. Mrs. Smith Falconer gave the missionary study on the American Indian and Mrs. David Brown was welcomed as a new member.

Pontiac Zonta Club Holds 'Breath of Spring' Show

Fashions by Alvins were spotlighted at the "Breath of Spring" style show sponsored by Zonta Club of Pontiac Wednesday evening at the Elks Temple.

The showing featured fashions from the very casual to the sophisticated.

* * *

The Oriental look was shown in casual separates and a special group of four dresses highlighted the Eastern theme. In the group was a halter type dress with metallic look threads in rose and green on a white background. A vivid orange costume in the same group consisted of an orange coat with a mandarin collar and side slits and an orange and brown toned print sheath. The dress material was repeated in the coat lining.

Silk with jackets was also an important part of the fashion picture.

* * *

Several dresses had the back interest shown in New York designer's collections for spring and summer. The sophisticate dress of the show was a black sheath with a round neckline and long sleeves. A trim of lace around the neckline and at the wrists gave the outfit the 'height of fashion' look.

A Ceil Chapman original of silk organza with pink appliqued rosebuds brought ohs from the audience. Another special from New York for the show was an Oleg Cassini original with the Empire look. The navy sheath had three quarter length sleeves and the currently popular pearl buttons.

In the bathing suits shown a sequin studded suit of 24 karat gold drew gasps from the audience.

To Depict Passion of Our Lord

All Saints Plans Musical Program

The fourth and final musical program in a series being given this season at All Saints Episcopal Church will be presented Sunday evening.

* * *

The Passion of our Lord according to the evangelist St. John, set to music by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be sung by the adult choir conducted by Phillip Steinhaus, organist and choirmaster.

Because of the length of the program, there will be no choral evensong service. The presentation begins at 8 o'clock and an invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Guest soloists will be Mary Mattfeld, contralto; Donald Nelson, tenor, and Thomas Tipton, bass. Miss Mattfeld was soloist with All Saints Choir last spring and has performed leading roles in university operatic productions of "Falstaff," "Ariadne auf Naxos" and "Aida."

She has also played Hansel in the "Hansel and Gretel" concert performance with the Battle Creek Symphony Orchestra.

* * *

Mr. Nelson, who will play the role of the evangelist St. John, is currently teaching harmony and music literature at the University of Michigan, while working on his doctorate. He is a graduate of Coe College.

While serving in the U. S. Air Force, he was assistant organist at the Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis and later organist at St. Stephen's House in the same city.

FACULTY MEMBER

Receiving his master of music degree in voice from the University of Michigan in 1955, Mr. Tipton is currently a member of the voice faculty of the university.

* * *

This season, he has appeared with the New York City Center Opera and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and in concerts and recitals in the Southern portions of the country.

Mr. Tipton's performances, both in opera and in concert, have been received with enthusiasm by critics and audiences in all parts of the country. At the Sunday evening presentations he will sing the role of Jesus and the bass arias.

Dr. Marilyn Mason will make her second appearance with All Saints Choir as harpsichordist for the Passion of Christ. Dr. Mason is associate professor of organ at the University of Michigan and harpsichordist for the University Baroque Ensemble.

* * *

Other soloists taking part in the narrative include Mary Lewis, Horace Rockwood and John McCreary. Edwad Tibbs, an instructor in organ at the University of Michigan, will be at the organ.

Vacation Mementos Bring Touch of Spring to Home

NEW YORK (INS)—Last year's vacation mementos can make this spring's table centerpiece.

* * *

Not only can these items make attractive groupings in themselves, they also bring a touch of outdoors indoors, and this is particularly appealing these days when spring is approaching as fast as the grass can turn green.

Frank J. Percarpio has a few ideas along this line and he has some interest in how you decorate your table — he's president of a company that specializes in the printing of cotton and linen tablecloths.

Percarpio suggests:

"To bring a feeling of the outdoors and warm spring days into your home, use a centerpiece of items you have on hand — perhaps seashells, driftwood or a piece of fishnet.

"Ivy, or any perennial, is very effective with driftwood. Seashells used as sauce dishes, condiment dishes, nut or candy dishes are always fun. Brightly colored dried flowers or leaves entwined with even a small piece of fishnet adds a gay note."

* * *

Another spring idea would be a centerpiece of straw baskets overflowing with colorful fruits and vegetables, or spring blossoms that match the floral pattern on your printed tablecloth.

Spring Hats to Feature Paris Vogue

Laces and Chiffons, Veils and Ribbons to Be Popular Attire

PARIS (INS)—White lace, dotted chiffon, veils and ribbons will herald spring in Paris long before March 21.

* * *

At Jean Patou spring goes right to a woman's head. He has introduced the loveliest, most feminine spring bonnet which can be worn weeks before the Easter parade. It's a narrow-brimmed sailor with a high crown. The hat is entirely covered with white Valencienne lace in tight ruffles. Shown with a simple navy-blue suit, it is worn with a cravat also covered with lace ruffles.

A square of white chiffon with dark grey polka dots is another sign of springtime. Folded as a scarf it is shown at Manguin in the neckline of a conservative two-piece outfit of dark-grey worsted wool. At Fath young and pretty mannequins wear dotted chiffon scarves knotted around the wrist with the two ends floating under three-quarter suit sleeves.

Fath shows a very feminine way of wearing a veil over a spring chapeau. The hat is a white, flat pique beret worn straight and pulled down to the eyebrows. It is trimmed with a navy-blue, face-screening veil gathered into an inch-wide navy-blue ribbon choker worn dog-collar fashion around the throat.

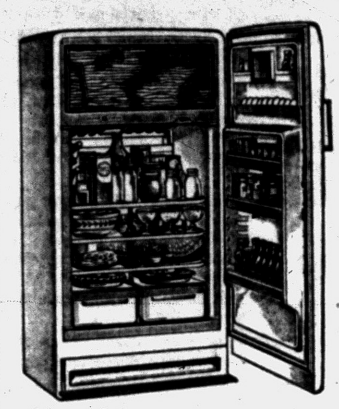

White ribbon bows in the ears make it easy for a girl to look romantic and Parisian. Lanvin-Castillo shows drooping pear-shaped pearl earrings, trimmed with a flat narrow ribbon bow on the ear-lobe.

Lemon for Nicotine

Nicotine or grease stains on hands may be erased by rubbing the skin with a mixture of lemon juice and salt. Scrub it away with thick soapsuds. Tiny calluses or rough spots might be massaged away with a mixture of salad oil and powdered pumice.

Your nightly hot water soak can be a beauty ritual as well as a relaxing and cleaning time. Use a rich, creamy mask of texture cream on your face before stepping into the tub and let the steam from the hot water work its magic charm.

Orlon and Flowers Replace Cashmere

If you can't say it with cashmere, say it with orlon . . . and flowers. A California designer has a high-bulk orlon cardigan in white (or pastels), appliqued and jewelled with pink ribbon flowers around the neckline, down the front and on the sleeve.

It's a festive cover-up for summer cottons that will soon be coming in, and it's beautifully washable!

New Speedometer Keeps 'Eye' on You

A new kind of speedometer invented with women in mind, is the "Cyclops Eye" design. You don't have to watch it. It watches you. Since women are generally timid about taking eyes off the road to check speed, this is just their dish.

The speed of the car stares out of a glass "eye" that is mounted at eye level and is illuminated in large numerals by back lights that change color according to the rate of speed.

Pair Can Share Financial Burden

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I've been reading your column for some time," an irate gentleman writes, "and I notice that most of the instances you mention and the people you describe are women.

* * *

"Don't you think men's needs amount to anything? Men need vocational guidance a lot more than women do, so why all this concentration on women's job problems?"

I know men need vocational guidance. But all too often, when they come to me for it, they say, "It's silly for me to think of changing my job, because I have a wife and child to support."

Sometimes they even say, "I know what I'd like to do, but it would mean making a little less money at first and I'm stuck with a family."

* * *

So I try to help the wife find some activity which will bring in a little income, thus giving the family more margin for error and the husband a chance to work at what he likes.

PROTECTED WIFE

Many men feel that they do all the work and take all the tension, while the wife stays home, reasonably protected from the working world.

* * *

The fact that she scrubs and cooks and raises kids doesn't seem important to them.

Either they think "anybody could do that!" or they feel that, hard though she may work, her time is at least her own, and there's no boss to needle her.

There's little hope for a happy marriage if the husband thinks he's "stuck" with a wife and kids and must work at a job he hates or if the wife feels that she is a dreary drudge who gets no credit, clothes allowance or excitement.

* * *

If the wife, in a case like this, can have some part-time job or home activity, it will not only lessen the financial pressure of the family, but will give the husband and wife more in common.

REAL PARTNERS

Each will feel that the other is a partner and will have more understanding of the other's point of view.

* * *

The wife will have a feeling of accomplishment and the husband will be able, if he wants to, to change to work he loves.

Of course, this will make him a happier man and a more desirable husband.

In short, it is because I value men, as well as women, that I devote myself to working out suggestions and solutions which will make life happier and more fruitful for both.

COURT FASHION — Something new in tennis caps is this giant sombrero worn by pretty Diane Williams at Miami Beach, Fla. She may find, however, that it'll get in the way of overhand shots. The sombrero is Diane's idea of a neighborly touch for the Good Neighbor Tennis Championships, which she'll reign over as queen this month.

Fabray Wanted $10,000; Caesar Offered Only Six

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK —The Blizzard kept many spots empty and one headwaiter—looking at the expanse of white tablecloths — moaned: "Tonight you get snowblind both indoors and out."

Nicky Hilton took Jayne Mansfield to the Photogs' Ball, Copa and El Morocco and, Jayne says, "was a perfect gentleman" . . . The Nanette Fabray-Sid Caesar merry-go-around broke down 'cause Nan's agents asked $10,000 a week. Sid offered six. (Sid got 25G's, Imogene Coca 12½G's, on the hour-and-a-half Show of Shows) . . . Debbie Reynolds, looking her loveliest, told me: "I'm NOT expecting, I'm due in Hollywood Apr. 19 to make a picture."

Faye Emerson says Skitch Henderson offered to shave "but I like his beard" . . . Cleo Moore should be next St. Patty's Queen. Her pop's real name: "Murphy O'Moore" . . . Our Slugger heard of a teacher — testing kids on proverbs — say: "Cleanliness is next to what?" One kid bellowed: "Impossible."

LILO

Lilo, the French star of "Can-Can," has a tres gai opening Tuesday. Loads of Names . . .

Dialog between Prince-dropper Elsa Maxwell and me: "Elsa, is there trouble between you and the Prince?" . . . "What Prince?" . . . "Rainier. It's reported he crossed you off his wedding press list" . . . "He did—and invited me to go as a friend. But I stay here till April 25 on Jack Parr's TV show. And I won't even be missed!"

Pat O'Brien tells of a Notre Dame footballer who crossed himself in a game with Southern Methodist — and was penalized 15 yards for unnecessary use of the hands.

I knew Fred Allen because I once lived near him. He didn't want flowers sent to his own funeral—but sent them to others' (my father's, so I know). His nightly stroll was partly to hand out "touches" — I saw him give $1 to a man who asked for a dime.

Fred's first heart attack forced him to withdraw from "Two for the Money" and suggest Herb Shriner, putting Herb in line for greatness. Fred's doctor advised him a few hours before his death he was in "great shape." He'd invested in real estate and was a millionaire. He was the saintliest, godliest man in show business, "his likes will not pass this way again."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Margaret Truman's hoping for a small, private wedding: no honeymoon yacht, no Prince, not even her own stamp. Audrey Meadows is off to Nassau this week . . .

★ ★ ★ ★

Vaughn Monroe, who quit the band biz 'cause he hates traveling, journeyed 30,000 miles for RCA-Victor in six weeks . . . Must be love—George Jessel's honey, Joan Taylor, mushed through the snow to see him work in Brooklyn.

Ralph deToledano, author of "Nixon," insured with Lloyds of London against Nixon pulling out of the race before publication day . . .

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

There's plenty of opportunity in a land where even a horse can make a million dollars.—Woodman Magazine.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's Lisa Kirk's definition of a salary: "That's something you can't bank on, nowadays."

TODAY'S WORST PUN: They tell of a Western movie in which the cowboy's horse stopped suddenly. Injun trouble . . . That's earl, brother.

Asks Former Enemies to Unite Peace Efforts

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama today asked Japanese and foreign newsmen, many from nations which fought Japan in World War II, to "combine your efforts for freedom and peace for all our countries."

* * *

"I don't think there is a single person in the world who doesn't covet freedom and peace," Hatoyama said, "but those of us who work for freedom and peace must think of it not only for us but also for others."

* * *

Hatoyama spoke briefly to some 300 Japanese and foreigners at a luncheon he gave for the delegates and their wives in Tokyo for the Asian conference of the International Press Institute.

Bank Still Seeks Missing Note

Lost: One Million Dollars

NEW YORK (AP)—Like everyone else, the big Chase Manhattan Bank has learned that it's a lot easier to lose money than find it. That goes for one dollar or a million.

* * *

Unfortunately for Chase Manhattan, it's a million. On March 6 it found out that, somehow, one of its million-dollar U. S. Treasury notes had been mislaid.

There has been quite a search going on ever since. Today a bank spokesman gave this account of developments:

"I can say it in two words: Still Missing."

He added:

"We've been through the vault once but that doesn't mean the search is completed. We're going through it again. Also, we're exploring all possibilities as to how the note might have gotten out of the vault. However, we believe it's still in there.

"It's a big job to make the search because it means turning over many million sheets of paper—bonds and stock certificates, the items kept in that particular vault. They have to be turned over one by one.

* * *

"Obviously it is easy if you're leafing through that many items to overlook the one you're hunting for."

Treasury notes such as the missing one resemble Series E defense bonds. Banks buy them generally to make easier the handling of the vast amounts of money they possess. The notes draw small interest.

* * *

Banks are insured against loss of such items, and if the note isn't found here the bank's insurance company will have to make good the loss.

"Nobody will lose any money over it, though," said the bank spokesman. "The insurance company eventually can get its money back from the government, just as when people lose defense bonds. Means a good deal of red tape, though."

* * *

The note matured last week. The bank would have to have the actual certificate to collect its interest and principal from the government.

OLD, OLD STORY—In Holland it is the man with his back against the salty sea.

Holland Fights Relentless Seas

Dutch Wage Continual War With Ocean Tide to Preserve Coast

AMSTERDAM, Holland (NEA)—Tiny Holland, Europe's wet front yard, is the land that is never complete. Struggling today as they have for 23 centuries to keep the pounding sea off their spongy lowlands, the Dutch have bigger plans than ever for thrusting back the ancient foe.

* * *

Since 1932, when they enclosed the Zuider Zee—a brawny arm of the North Sea that reached deep into Holland, they have already claimed 169,000 acres of farm land. Within the next 25 years they will claim another 350,000 acres.

Their bold tampering with the contours of land and water will not end with the great Zuider Zee project. Two more major programs are shaping up, with the first marked urgent:

1. The damming of the long tidal inlets in southwesterly Zeeland, scene of disastrous 1953 winter floods that inundated 375,000 acres of precious soil. The job may be done by 1980.

* * *

2. The linking together of an island chain called the Frisians, and the tying of the chain to the mainland to protect the coast, create a vital fresh water reservoir and allow more land reclamation.

* * *

In this most unlikely spot to scratch out a living, the Dutch have built a prosperous homeland. Here dwell 10 million people in an area half the size of South Carolina. With 845 persons per square mile (52 in America), they are packed tighter than any humans on earth.

WORLD PEAKS

Despite the density, Dutch health and living standards are high. Pressure to maintain them has helped to drive crop yields to world peaks. But the pace is hard. Since 1951, 35,000 to 50,000 Hollanders have left their country each year to search elsewhere for a livelihood.

But the sea is not just one kind of menace. It enters every open waterway on the tide. Every time a great shipping lock opens to let a vessel pass through, 2,300 tons of salt pursue it and find their way to the farms.

Salt ruins or hurts crops, depending on its concentration, but Holland is fighting back. It is blocking off more and more entry points for the sea, and fashioning huge fresh water reservoirs to replenish underground supplies.

Sea Thundering With Noisy Fish

Many Snore, Wheeze, Cackle, Growl, Groan, Bark, Hiss and Honk

WASHINGTON — In the not-so-silent depths of the sea, noisy fish often make quite a din.

Some fish cackle. Others yowl. Still others wheeze, honk, bark, graon, or snore—and occasionally sound like coal sliding down a chute or heavy chains being dragged over a wooden floor.

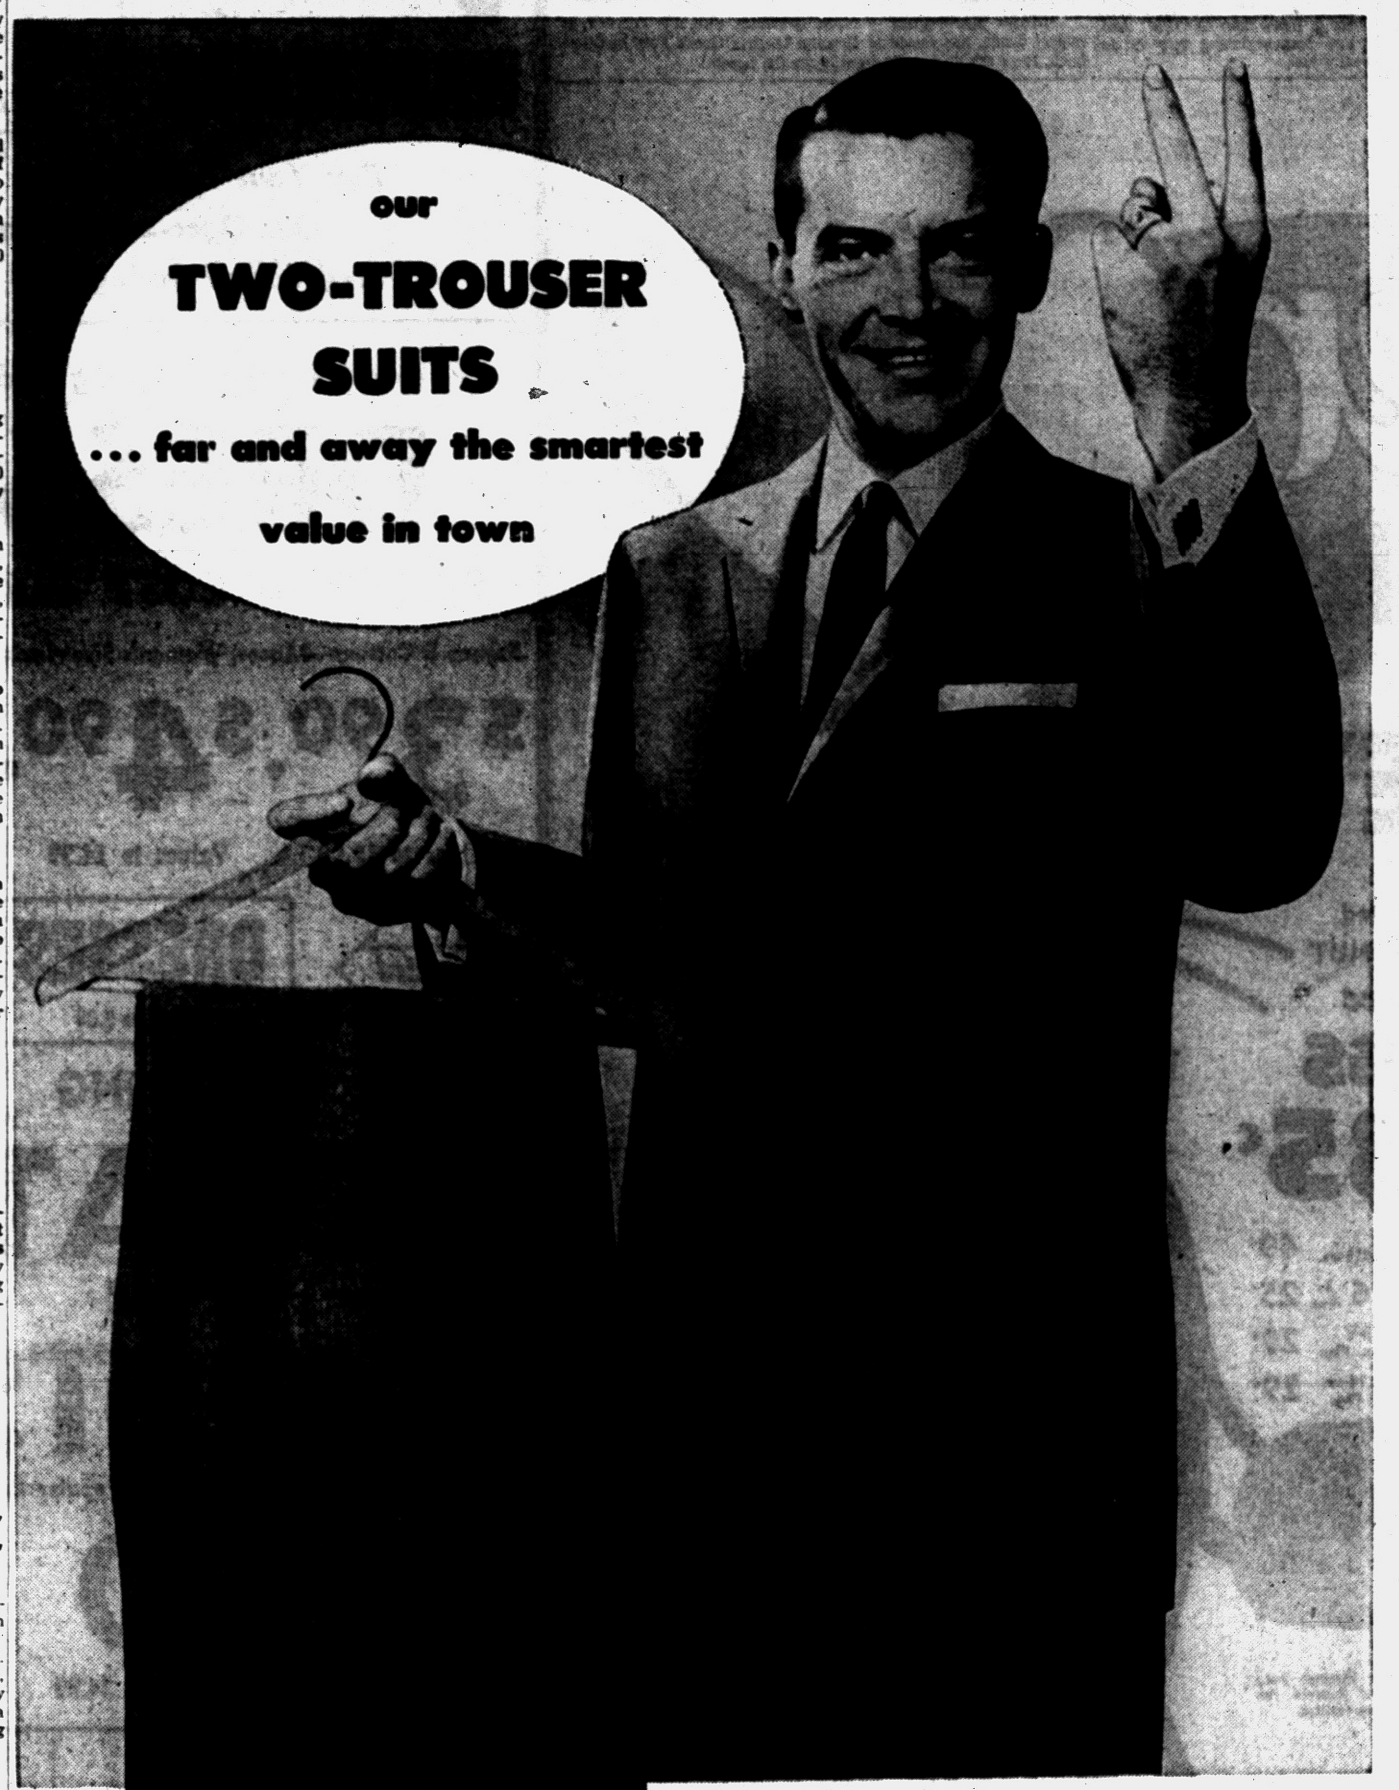

Schools of snapping shrimp, by clicking their claws together, sound much like fat frying, twigs burning, or in large numbers like a loud buzzing snore. A deep booming may be the call of groupers. A drumfish's drumming is more rapid, earning the nickname "thunder pumper" for the fresh-water drum.

Toadfish growl a low but loud note much resembling a subdued steamboat whistle. Various trigger fishes hiss, rasp, grate, or almost bark. The grunts, to produce their distinctive sound, gnash their teeth together.

Some of the noisiest ocean disturbers, such as drumfish and croaker, vibrate special muscles against air bladders. The croaker can thus make a racket resembling an air hammer beating on asphalt. Sea robns can sound like a barnyard of squawking chickens. The hogfish simply grunts, but the black whale sounds like a cheering crowd and the sea catfish like someone beating on a hollow barrel.

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—Berrien County Supervisors are pondering the problem of disposal of nearly 4,500 unclaimed dogs put to death annually by the county's two dog wardens. Bob Considine Says:

Sled Helps AF Study Supersonic Survival

NEW YORK (INS)—A group of us mushed through the snow and slush to the Memorial Press Center the other day to see a film about a sled, made by the Coleman engineering people of Los Angeles.

That sounds dull enough, wot? Well, this sled can travel 1,600 miles an hour. Our Olympic team should have had it at Cortina.

It's a rocket sled in which the Air Force is studying supersonic survival. Our new series of operational jet interceptors, beginning with North American's F100 fly faster than the speed of sound in level flight.

There is some reason to believe that Lockheed's F104, which will be unveiled to the press April 16, can fly at almost twice that speed.

* * *

All of which brings up the question of pilot survival in case of a bailout. One Air Force medico has undergone sled speed of more than 600 m.p.h. A North American test pilot miraculously lived after bailing out at 777 m.p.h. Each has made air medical history.

The colonel on the sled took 36 "G's," which means that a weight 36 times as great as his own pressed against his surface and innards at the climax of the run.

JUST BEGINNING

The test pilot somehow lived through more than 40 "G's." And we're just beginning now to go really fast.

The human cocoon seems to be the answer. The man who must leave his ship and hit the invisible steel wall of the air cannot be counted upon to live to tell the wife and kiddies unless he goes out encased in some shell that will slow down his speed to a moderate few hundred miles an hour, at which point he can safely pull his ripcord.

The most important studies in this unearthly field on research are being done with sleds such as the one we saw in action, on film, at the press club.

Operation Smart, as this particular testing area and its work is known, is located on top of Hurricane Mesa in southwestern Utah.

The flattish crest of what looks from the air like a big aircraft carrier (the mesa rises almost perpendicularly 1,500 feet above the valley of the Badlands) now features a two-mile straightaway rail-track that ends on the brink of a dizzy drop into the craggy land below.

The sled, a simple box-like device with rockets squirting out the rear, uses steel clamps that fit over the bulge of the glistening, welded rails. No grease is used.

APPEARS TO FLOAT

The engineers have found that at great speed the friction disappears and the sled appears to float on a semi-microscopic layer of air. Technicians and engineers along the run of track are protected by bunkers.

* * *

There is an ear-splitting boom when the sled bursts through the sonic barrier. Inside the box is a lifelike dummy who is shot up and out as the sled nears the brink.

It is flung hundreds of feet into space, while attached instruments give off dozens of readings on speed, pressures, heat and the like. A parachute lowers the dummy and its precious instruments to the rough earth below. The whole thing cost $2 million, but so does a single fighter.

How are the brakes on your car? Fine! But listen to this: The Coleman sled, and I suppose this is true of the others in operation, makes safe stops comparable to stopping within 8 feet by a standard passenger car making 100 m.p.h.

Sleds are stopped by several means, none of them familiar to the motorist. A scoop will jut down into a water trench, turn 180 degrees, and stop a projectile on what amounts to a dime. Reverse rockets, squirting forward, will do the same job.

* * *

I'm glad I didn't take my kids along. That flexible flyer and the little knoll in Central Park would have seemed pretty tame to them by now.

HEADY HANDBAGS — Novel handbags with lids adorned by puppet heads, are shown at German Leather Goods Fair in Offenbach. Bags are designed primarily for the beach.

She was born in the Netherlands and came to Holland in 1881. Among her 144 living descendents are six children, 39 grandchildren, 92 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

Charles Seaman Held in County Jail After Arrest Here

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem this week had a legal tangle solved for him by a Pontiac man he had been trying to extradite from Missouri since December on request of Michigan Department of Mental Health authorities.

Charles R. Seaman, 26, was committed to Ionia State Hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath in 1953 after being charged with making improper advances to a young girl.

He was released for a weekend here three months ago, but fled to Kansas City. State authorities asked Ziem to get Seaman back to Michigan.

To start extradition proceedings it was necessary to dig out an old indecent liberties complaint against Seaman, apart from the one he was committed on.

Rather than involve the family who had made the complaint, Ziem decided to have Pontiac Policewoman Bernice Berger sign the new warrant on information and belief the crime had been committed.

It was forwarded to Missouri, but officials there refused to accept it unless signed by the mother of the girl involved. Her signature was obtained on another warrant which the southern state accepted.

But Seaman hired an attorney to fight the proceedings and he was released on bond in Kansas City pending a hearing.

Seaman jumped bond there, returned to Pontiac and was arrested Tuesday. He is in Oakland County Jail under $40,000 bond set yesterday by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and will probably be sent back to Ionia, said Ziem.

Congress Continues 159-Year Debate in Deciding Electoral College System

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 159 years—ever since 1797—Congress has talked about amending the Constitution to change the Electoral College system of choosing a president and vice president.

* * *

The Senate, debating it again, is wading in muddy water. Democrats and Republicans are divided among themselves. Neither friend nor foes of the amendment being considered can positively predict its ultimate effect if it became law.

Because delegates to the Constitutional Convention in 1787 didn't trust the wisdom of the average voter in choosing a president and vice president, they put this method into the Constitution:

BEGAN WITH ELECTORS

Each state would choose distinguished citizens—equal in number to a state's total number of senators and representatives in Congress—to select a president and vice president. These citizens were called electors.

* * *

A state's electoral votes all go to the candidate winning a plurality of the popular vote. For example: in a state with 45 electoral votes candidate Smith gets 500,000 popular votes and candidate Jones gets 499,000. By that 1,000 - vote margin candidate Smith gets all 45 electoral votes while the 499,000 people who voted for Jones count for nothing.

3-PART PLAN OFFERED

The three-part main proposal for amending the Constitution now being considered in the Senate would retain the electoral system but work this way, with some of the arguments being offered against it:

No. 1. No candidate would automatically get all of a state's electoral votes. Each candidate would get a portion of a state's electoral votes in proportion to his popular vote.

* * *

Argument against: Big states whose popular vote might be pretty evenly divided—and thus have their electoral vote divided—would lose the importance and value of their big population. Smaller states, particularly those where one party dominates, would gain and might control an election.

No. 2. Instead of doing it the proportional way, a state legislature could decide to let the voters choose electors the way they pick members of Congress: two electors would be chosen for the whole state (as senators are) and the rest would be elected by congressional districts.

Argument against: Rural areas have too much influence now—both in state legislatures and the way congressional districts are set—in proportion to their numbers. This would give them even more influence in picking a president.

No. 3. If no party got 50 per cent of the electoral vote, the House and Senate jointly would pick the President and vice president.

* * *

Argument against: This not only would delay the choice of a president but could turn the presidency into a football in a game of political deals to get a majority vote in Congress.

Folks Contribute Funds to Repair 'Derelict Haven'

NEW YORK (AP)—The good people who "kicked in" more than $15,000 toward removing Miss Dorothy Day's "House of Hospitality" from the firetrap category are having their reward.

The 57-year-old gray-haired lady appeared in court yesterday and said 1,188 persons—who read reports that her haven for the unfortunate had been ordered vacated—sent in a total of $15,540 to finance repairs.

"That's wonderful," said Magistrate Jack Nicoll, adjourning the case until April 17.

The rehabilitation fund still has a long way to go—at least $13,000 is needed.

Miss Day—who says that St. Joseph, the patron saint of workers, is laboring overtime in her behalf, said:

"It will come. I don't worry about that."

* * *

Miss Day gave up a writing career 23 years ago to help found the house, which has beds for 60 homeless persons and hands out meals to 200 to 300 derelicts daily.

Several weeks ago it looked like "the end of the line" when she was ordered to appear in court and pay a $250 fine as a slum landlord.

THE STORY OF EGGBERT — An Easter Adventure — By Walt Scott

2½ Russians Match 1 American's Output

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said today it takes 2½ Soviet workers to match the output of one American.

The paper said this lag is very serious but that nevertheless present Soviet labor productivity represents an increase of eight times since the Revolution of 1917.

This is the first time the Soviet press has revealed a comparison between Soviet and American output per worker.

Pravda said the Soviet Union has overtaken Western European countries in production per man and called on Soviet workers and executives to catch up with America.

Dems Poll 2/3 Vote in Minnesota Ballot

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Democrats polled two-thirds of the vote in the Minnesota presidential primary election, whereas the GOP got a little more than that four years ago.

With 668 of 3,868 precincts still missing, here's how the comparisons ran:

1952: Republicans 294,895 or 69 per cent; Democrats 131,603 or 31 per cent; total 426,498.

1956: Democrats 393,525 or 67 per cent; Republicans 188,846 or 33 per cent; total 582,371.

In 1952, the Democrats had no contest. This year, in effect, the Republicans didn't.

Your Income Tax Primer—No. 10

Many Expenses Are Deductible From Return

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
(10th of 12 Articles)

Before you can make a wise choice between itemizing your deductions or taking the standard deduction, you need to know what items are deductible.

The previous Primer article described some of the deductions. This article takes up the remainder.

Medical expenses exceeding three per cent of adjusted gross income are allowed as a deduction, subject to a maximum limitation explained later. The three per cent rule applies to taxpayers under 65 and to medical expenses for dependents of taxpayers over 65.

There is however, no percentage limit on the deduction of medical expenses for the care of the taxpayer or his wife if either was 65 on or before Jan. 1, 1956. Medical expenses which are compensated for by insurance cannot be included in the medical expense deduction.

The maximum dollar limit on the amount of medical expense deduction is now:

On a joint return or return of a head of household, $5,000 if two exemptions are claimed, $7,500 if three exemptions are claimed, and $10,000 if four or more exemptions are claimed.

On a separate return of a taxpayer not the head of a household, $2,500 if one exemption is claimed and $5,000 if two or more exemptions are claimed.

In determining the limit on medical expenses, do not count the extra exemption for old age or blindness.

Expenditures for medicines and drugs can be treated as a medical expense only to the extent that they exceed one per cent of your adjusted gross income, regardless of your age. Page 12 of the official instructions describes the expenses which can be considered medical or dental expenses.

FOR CHILD CARE

The so-called child care deduction for working mothers has several restrictions. For one thing, even though you qualify for the deduction, you cannot claim it and the standard deduction too. Like other personal deductions, it can only be deducted if you itemize on page 2 of Form 1040.

The only people entitled to this deduction are women (including working wives) and men (provided they are widowers, legally separated, or divorced) who, in order to be gainfully employed, must pay for the care of one or more of the following described dependents:

1. A son, daughter, or stepchild who is under 12 years of age.

Amounts paid for the care of such a person 12 years of age or over cannot be included in the deduction unless the dependent qualifies as:

2. Any dependent who is physically or mentally unable to care for himself.

A taxpayer is considered to be gainfully employed if he is working for someone else, is self-employed, or is looking for work.

For any one year, you cannot deduct more than $600 for such expenses, regardless of how much more you actually spent. If you spent less than $600 for care of the dependent while you were "gainfully employed," then you can only deduct the amount spent.

The amount of the deduction is subject to two further limitations if you are a working wife.

These two limitations do not apply, however, to a working wife whose husband is incapable of self-support because of a mental or physical disability. The limitations are:

1. The working wife must file a joint return with her husband, and

2. Her dependent's care deduction must be reduced by the amount by which the adjusted gross income on the joint return exceeds $4,500. For example, if she has spent $500 for dependent's care while she was "gainfully employed" and the adjusted gross income on the joint return was $4,650, her deduction would be reduced by $150 ($4,650 minus $4,500) to $350.

Do not include in the deduction any amounts paid for a child or other dependent's care to someone who is also your depedent for tax purposes.

Proporey losses caused either by a casualty or theft can be shown on page 2 of Form 1040 even though the property is for your own personal use.

Casualty losses include damage from fire, storm, flood, lightning, hurricane and other sudden, unexpected or unusual causes. Thus damages from a bursting boiler or frozen pipes would be a casualty loss.

You can deduct damages to your car caused by a collision unless the collision was due to your wilful negligence. Faulty driving is not classed as wilful negligence, but driving while intoxicated is so classified.

The amount of the loss or damage to be deducted should be computed in accordance with the official instructions on page 12.

A loss from a casualty or from theft should be deducted in the year the loss occurred. If you are covered by insurance, the loss must be reduced by any recovery.

The last deduction schedule on page 2 is a catch-all for deductions not taken elsewhere. Typical examples of items that can be deducted in the "Miscellaneous" schedule are:

1. Expenses of earning your salary or wage.

Any ordinary and necessary expenses in your line of work are deductible. This includes dues, initiation fees and assessments to labor unions, and professional societies; entertainment of customers to promote specific deals and not just for general good will; uniforms, work clothes and costumes required in your work and that do not replace your own ordinary clothing; safety equipment, tools and supplies necessary and customary in your work.

2. Alimony paid regularly, but not necessarily at fixed intervals, under court order.

You cannot deduct any sums specifically designated for the support of your minor children.

3. Costs of management, maintenance and conservation of property held for investment.

This includes cost of a safety deposit box for your securities.

4. Fees or expenses incurred in preparing your income tax return.

NEXT: Filling out your tax form.

Circuit Court Date Set in Assault Case

Charged in the non-fatal shooting of a neighbor woman following an argument over a parked car March 10, Mrs. Mary Payne, 35, of 606 Bloomfield Ave. was examined yesterday and bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Monday.

She was freed under $500 bond set by Pontiac Muncipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

A charge of assault with intent to kill was brought, police said, after the woman allegedly admitted, "I would have shot again if my gun hadn't jammed."

Passover Recipes Sound Good

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Meatless Fridays and Lenten fast days are so familiar a pattern in the Christian world that we sometimes forget other groups have special fast and feast days.

Each spring, about the time of Easter, the Jewish people celebrate their Passover season. It commemorates the time that the Israelites were spared the death of their first-born when non-Hebrews were struck down.

From sundown on March 26 to sundown on April 3 Jewish families will eat unleavened bread or matzos in place of regular bread. They will eat from a special set of dishes that are used at no other time. They will use no food that is in any associated with leavened bread.

The first two days of the Passover season are called Seder. On these days the evening meal is a special one, with wine and elaborate dishes for the numerous courses.

Recently, the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel held a Passover Worship. During the afternoon various Passover dishes were demonstrated to the group.

We thought a number of our readers would be interested in some of the recipes. They sound like good eating for anyone at any time.

Mrs. Henry Hoshander, wife of the rabbi, was most gracious about answering our many questions about Passover. She says the modern Jewish cook has an easy time compared with her grandmother. There are many prepared foods and mixes, put out by Jewish concerns, that make Passover cookery simple.

Mrs. Hoshander likes to prepare a quick fish casserole. You may want to try her recipe for your next meatless dinner.

JIFFY FISH CASSEROLE
By Mrs. Henry Hoshander

1 medium onion, sliced thin
¼ cup butter
4 matzos, finely broken
2 pounds fish fillets, cut into bite-size pieces
1½ cups cooked sliced carrots
1 cup cooked diced celery
1 can Passover tomato and mushroom sauce
½ cup liquid from cooked vegetables
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Saute onion in butter until tender but not brown. Arrange matzos, fish, onions, and vegetables in alternate layers in a greased 2½ quart baking dish. Or use 6-8 individual casseroles.

Mix tomato sauce, liquid and seasonings. Pour over top of casserole. Bake at 425 degrees for 15-20 minutes, or until fish flakes easily.

Another fish recipe that can be served as an appetizer or a luncheon salad is this one.

FISHLET IN TOMATO CUPS
By Mrs. Ralph Merkowitz

1 tomato for each serving
Shredded lettuce
Gefilte fishlets (canned)
Horseradish

Cut a slice from the top of each tomato. Cut into 6 wedges and spread out like a flower. Place on shredded lettuce.

Put a few gefilte fishlets in the center of each tomato. Garnish with a bit of horseradish. Serve at once.

Because the use of soda, baking powder and yeast is forbidden, eggs play a large part in dessert recipes.

One such recipe was given us by Mrs. Jack Gamburd. She makes a Coffee Sponge cake with a topping of Coffee Whipped Cream.

Coffee Sponge Cake
By Mrs. Jack Gamburd

1 package Passover sponge cake mix (regular sponge cake mix may be used if desired)
3 tablespoons instant coffee
¼ cup water
6 eggs, separated

Add instant coffee to dry ingredients. Beat the yolks with the water until they are lemon colored. Add the mix to the beaten yolks.

Beat the whites stiff. Fold in. Bake in an ungreased pan at 350 degrees about an hour.

If you are using a regular sponge cake mix that has the powdered eggs already in it, add the instant coffee to the flour when you fold it in.

Coffee Whipped Cream

1½ cups cold, heavy sweet cream
2 teaspoons instant coffee
2 tablespoons sugar

Put coffee and cream in a chilled bowl and whip until it starts to thicken. Add sugar gradually and beat until just thick enough to hold its shape. Spread over top and sides of coffee sponge cake.

Study Bread Freezing

Department of Agriculture is studying methods of freezing bread to determine if freezing is practical commercially. Best results so far when bread is wrapped and quick-frozen soon as baked and thawed quickly before use or sale.

PASSOVER COOKING—Mrs. Henry Hoshander of Oneida road, wife of the rabbi of the Congregational B'nai Israel, gets ready to prepare some Passover dishes. During this feast of unleavened bread, the Jewish people eat matzos and numerous dishes prepared with matzos, matzos meal or potato starch. Passover will begin at sundown on Monday, March 26, and will last until sundown on Tuesday, April 3.

Vinegar Torte Explained Again

There have been a number of questions about the recipe for Vinegar Torte published several weeks ago. We're reprinting this recipe, hoping to clear up the confusion.

Vinegar Torte

4 eggs
1 bottle (8 ounces) marschino cherries
1 cup sugar
1 cup ground walnuts
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup sifted flour
½ pint cream, whipped

Drain cherries, chop fruit. Beat egg whites stiff, adding sugar gradually. Beat egg yolks to which juice of cherries has been added. Fold beaten yolks into stiffly beaten whites.

Add vinegar and fold in flour slowly. Add chopped cherries and nuts. Bake in greased pan in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Combine Corn, Soup

Ever try this soup combination? Canned whole kernel corn added to condensed cream of mushroom soup. Dilute the soup according to the directions on the can, using any corn liquid as part of the entire amount of liquid added.

The SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

By UNCLE FRANK KOHLER
(Chief Skilleteer)

The Chili discussion continues. J. S. Wellington, Worcester, (Mass.) Gazette Chapter, says he likes it this way:

1 No. 2 can red beans
2 cups tomato juice
2 medium onions, minced
1 clove garlic, minced
¾ pound ground beef
2 tablespoons bacon fat
Chili powder, paprika, salt and pepper
Dash cayenne to taste

Melt fat, and saute beef, onion and garlic until meat is browned. Add tomato juice and beans. Add seasonings to taste, let simmer 30 minutes, and serve hot.

Mrs. Dorothy Brandon, Fort Worth Star Telegram Chapter, has an excellent Chocolate Custard Devil's Food Cake, if you're in a mood for baking.

3 ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
2-3 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 cups cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine chocolate, ½ cup milk, whole egg beaten, and 2-3 cup of sugar, and cook over double boiler at low heat until thickened. Set this aside to cool. Cream the shortening with one cup of sugar, and then beat in the egg yolks, then stir in the chocolate mixture.

Sift flour, salt and soda together, and stir if gradually into the batter alternately with a little of the milk until dry mixture and milk are all mixed in.

Bake in two greased 8x8 inch cake pans, in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes. Ice between the layers and lavishly on the outside with your favorite chocolate icing.

Yop can really go all out with this one by slicing each layer in half and mixing, perhaps, a mint and chocolate flavored filling to spread between each of the layers, and a plain chocolate on the outside.

When cooking egg yolk mixtures, stir in a spiral from center out so that bottom of pan is always covered — this prevents burning spots. And, always remember, never let water under this type of mixture boil.

To reheat bread or rolls, place in a paper bag, sprinkle bag with water and heat in a 400-degree oven for 10 minutes or in a bun warmer on top of the range.

Try Just Cooking Eggs Instead of Boiling Them

EAST LANSING — When you think of someone called "hard boiled," you picture a "tough guy." Eggs are no exception; you can expect them to be pretty "tough" when they are boiled rather than cooked.

* * *

High temperature and over-cooking toughen eggs, just as they do other foods high in protein, caution Michigan State University foods specialists. Instead of serving soft boiled eggs, just try soft cooking them. See if your family notices a difference.

To soft cook eggs by the cold water method, cover the eggs with water which comes to at least 1 inch above the eggs. Bring rapidly to boiling. Turn off heat and if necessary set the pan off the burner to prevent further boiling.

Cover and let stand two to four minutes depending on individual taste. Cool eggs promptly in cold water for several seconds to prevent further cooking and to make them easy to handle.

* * *

To soft cook eggs by the boiling water method bring water in a pan to a rapid boil, using enough to cover the eggs as above. Meanwhile, warm very cold eggs slightly in warm water to avoid cracked shells.

Transfer the eggs to the water with a spoon, turn off the heat and, again, if necessary set pan off the burner to prevent further boiling. Cover and let stand six to eight minutes.

When you are cooking more than four eggs, do not turn off the heat but reduce it to keep the water below simmering. Hold four to six minutes and cool.

The same directions apply for hard cooking eggs. In the cold water method, follow the same directions and let stand 15 minutes. With the boiling water method, keep the water below simmering and hold them 20 minutes.

Cool hard-cooked eggs promptly and thoroughly in cold water; this makes the shells easier to remove and helps prevent a dark surface from forming on yolks.

Next time you bake soft molasses cookies try sandwiching some of them together in pairs with cream cheese. Serve at once for a teatime treat.

"YEAST-RIZ" CRUST — Curried Fillets are baked in a new type of crust, a "Yeast-Riz" crust. You make the crusts, bake them a short time, then refrigerate them until needed. It's sort of the brown 'n' serve idea in your own home. There are any number of fillings you can use. This fish one has a sauce pepped up with curry powder, ginger and lemon juice.

Tender 'Yeast-Riz' Crust Can Be Made in Advance

A brand-new kind of crust — "Yeast-Riz"—for main dishes that smell heavenly and taste wonderful.

The tender, tasty crust can't get a mite soggy because that's one of the secrets of this new formula.

Curried Fillet in a Crust

1 pound fish fillets
1 cup milk
1 9-inch "Yeast-Riz" Crust
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons curry powder
¾ teaspoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon ginger
Milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Poach fish in milk until just tender. Remove fish and cut in small pieces. Arrange in "Yeast-Riz" Crust. In a saucepan, saute onion in margarine or butter until soft. Stir in flour, curry powder, sugar, salt and ginger.

Measure the milk in which fish was poached and add enough more milk to make 1 cup. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add lemon juice.

Spoon mixture over the fish. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) about 20 minutes until the crust is well-browned. Makes four to six fillings.

"Yeast-Riz" Crust

1-3 cup milk
¼ cup shortening
6 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
2¾ cups sifted enriched flour
1 egg white, slightly beaten

Scald milk. Stir in shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Add beaten egg and half the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour. Turn out on a lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic.

Place in well greased bowl; brush top with shortening. Cover with clean towel. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour and 30 minutes. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board.

Divide into three equal pieces. Roll out each piece into a 10-inch circle. Fit into 9-inch pie pan. Pat all over surface. Trim pastry even with edge of pan. Press pastry onto edge with tines of fork.

Brush crusts with egg white. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk about 20 minutes. Prick with fork. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for eight minutes. Do not brown.

To store, cool crusts, stack and wrap in aluminum foil. Hold in refrigerator 1 to 10 days, as needed. When ready to use, fill and bake as directed. Makes three 9-inch crusts.

Put Frozen Vegetables in Supper Casserole

Cook a package of frozen mixed vegetables and drain. Add the liquid you drain from vegetables to milk and make a medium white sauce. Mix the vegetables, the white sauce and the diced cooked ham or chicken; or replace the meat with flaked salmon or tuna.

Spoon into a shallow baking dish, cover with tiny cubes of bread mixed with butter and reheat in a moderate or hot oven. Good supper dish!

You can keep an unopened canned ham in your refrigerator for weeks, but only about one week after it's open.

Milk Helps You to Gain or Lose

For the calories in one 4-inch wedge of pie, you can have a pint of whole milk or almost a quart of skim milk. Whether you are battling to gain weight or to lose weight, milk is your ally, declares Mary Hixon, county home demonstration agent.

When reducing weight is the goal, milk adds generous amounts of protein, calcium and other needed nutrients along with a very moderate number of calories. When you choose skim milk (fluid or dry) or buttermilk, you get all of the nutrients in whole milk except fat and vitamin A.

For those counting calories, Mrs. Hixon gives approximate amounts of calories in milk and milk products:

Fresh fluid whole milk, 1 cup, 165 calories; fresh fluid skim milk, 1 cup, 85 calories; buttermilk, 1 cup, 85 calories; half and half, 1 cup, 330 calories; chocolate-flavored milk drink, 1 cup, 185 calories; malted milk beverage, 1 cup, 280 calories; evaporated milk diluted with equal water, 1 cup, 175 calories; non-fat dry milk (not reconstituted), 4 tablespoons, 110 calories; ice cream, one-half cup, 150 calories; milk sherbet, one-half cup, 120 calories, and cottage cheese (not creamed), one-half cup, 110 calories.

Meat Prices Change Little; Fruit and Vegetables Star

The arrival of spring brings new interest in both food and fashion. This week before Easter is a good time to buy ham, chicken, veal, or a favorite cut of beef. Actually there is little change in wholesale meat prices since last week, states Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

Hams are sold whole, sliced, as butt and shank halves, and as center ham slices, butt ends, and shank ends. The butt portion usually sells for a higher price per pound than the shank portion, for it has a higher proportion of lean and less bone.

A large number of hams are quick cured. These may be "tendered," "ready-to-eat," and "fully cooked." "Tendered" hams are partially cooked; "ready-to-eat" hams are cooked enough that further cooking is not necessary. "Fully cooked" hams must possess the appearance and eating qualities of completely cooked ham.

Because "ready-to-eat" canned ham is boneless with little waste, the price per pound is somewhat higher than the other types. Considering that canned ham yields 4 servings per pound compared to other types yielding 2½ to 4 servings per pound, the large canned ham is sometimes just as economical.

Beef is slightly lower, and abundant supplies make both steaks and roasts top values for the consumer. Fryers are featured in some stores at reasonable prices, even though there is no change since last week in wholesale prices.

Frozen veal rolls, covered with a fat and gelatin coating, are boneless lean meat costing only a few cents per serving. Smart cooks follow the packer's instructions and leave the coating while cooking to keep the veal more moist.

The quality of bananas is excellent, and the supply is abundant. This explains why so many stores are featuring bananas at lower than usual prices this week.

The dwindling supply of Michigan apples is being supplemented with New York and Washington varieties. The supply of California Navel oranges is fairly light with the 75 to 88 size selling for about 60 cents a dozen in some stores. Temple oranges are decreasing in supply.

For an economical source of Vitamin C look for good quality grapefruit from sunny southern groves. A few fresh Louisiana strawberries are on the market. The quality is fair and prices are around 35 to 39 cents a pint.

Put more spring into the week's menus by adding green and yellow vegetables. Whether served cooked or raw, fine quality carrots now at the markets are a good addition to any meal.

Good quality Michigan potatoes are available at budget-stretching prices. If buying in large quantities, be careful to store at 30 degrees to 40 degrees F. to keep them from sprouting at this time of year. There are plenty of dry onions, and with the large quantities now being shipped from the south, Michigan varieties offer the most for the money.

Several green salad vegetables at low cost offset the present high tomato prices. Green onions, radishes, lettuce, and celery will fit most any pocket book, but because of frost damage tomatoes are scarce and high.

Cauliflower quality is improving as heavier supplies arrive from the west. New cabbage remains a good value.

Egg prices will stay about the same as last week with an increase of 1 to 2 cents a dozen in some stores. Since about 70 per cent of the eggs are now large, this size represents the best egg value. With Easter just around the corner, more emphasis will be placed on eggs next week, and prices are expected to be lowered to encourage greater use for the holiday.

Dairy products need to be added as good buys for the market list. Imported and domestic types of cheese, sour cream, and milk are always available for healthful good eating.

Ham Party Loaf

2 pounds ground smoked ham
1 pound ground fresh pork
1 cup dry bread crumbs
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Grind the ham and the pork, both of which have been first roasted at 325 degrees F. for 1 hour. Combine with bread crumbs, eggs, milk and seasoning. Mix these ingredients. Then form them into a shape of a small ham, score with a spoon handle, and bake in a moderate oven at 350 degrees F. for 1½ hours. 8 servings.

The amount of icing used for a two-layer 8-inch round cake will also frost an 8 by 12-inch cake, tops of 24 cupcakes, tops and sides of 12 cupcakes, or the tops of two 8-inch square cakes.

Cottage Cheese Is Ideal Protein Food for Everyone

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Do you know that cottage cheese played an important role in the westward movement of America? The pioneer housewife made surplus milk into cottage cheese in the summer. She kept it for the winter when meat was scarce.

Cottage cheese has been called "the cheapest meat you can eat." It has more grams of protein per pound than beef, lamb or pork.

It is easily digested and readily assimilated. It is ideal for reducing diets. It is available everywhere. It goes well with a large variety of other foods.

Have you ever tried it on hot toast in place of butter or jam? If you eat ryekrisp for your breakfast bread, cottage cheese adds immeasurabley to its taste.

You can buy cottage cheese in large curd or small curd, creamed or dry. Your own preferences, as well as the purpose for which you are buying it, will determine the kind you choose. Old-fashioned cheese cake, for instance, calls for dry cottage cheese.

Cottage cheese may be used as the base for a potato chip dunk.

Avocado Dunk

1 cup sieved cottage cheese
Salt and pepper
Pickle relish
Horseradish
1 avocado, mashed
Grated onion
Cream or mayonnaise

Blend cottage cheese well with mashed avocado and seasoning. Thin with cream or mayonnaise. Serve as a dip with potato chips.

Nearly everyone likes cottage cheese in salad. This recipe makes a flavorsome luncheon or supper salad.

Chive Cheese Mold

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
1 cup chive cottage cheese
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
½ cup chopped nut meats

Dissolve flavored gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until syrupy. Mix and add other ingredients to thickened gelatin. Pour into mold and chill. Garnish with orange slices or segments. Serves 6.

Often you want a crisp wafer to serve with a salad. Try these made with cottage cheese.

Cottage Cheese Crisps

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon milk
½ cup cottage cheese
Paprika
½ teaspoon celery seed (optional)

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in butter. Add milk to cottage cheese, then stir into flour mixture. Round dough upon floured board and roll to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into ½-inch strips. Place strips on baking sheet and brush with milk; sprinkle with paprika and celery seed. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 10-12 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Cottage cheese can be used as a topping as well as for a food itself. Try it on oven dishes. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and bake. It will come out crusty brown.

You can whip cottage cheese for a pie topping. Put a pint of cream-style cottage cheese into your electric mixer or blender and whip 5-10 minutes, or until perfectly smooth. Serve like whipped cream.

Finally, here is another topping, this one to serve on steamed pudding, apple or peach desserts, or gingerbread.

Half 'n' Half Hard Sauce

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup confectioners sugar
1½ teaspoon cream
¼ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sieved cottage cheese

Cream butter until light and fluffy. Add sugar gradually beating until blended. Add cream and vanilla; beat in. Add cottage cheese; fold in. Chill. Makes 1 scant cup sauce.

Make garlic bread from a long loaf of French bread. Remember that you'll need to allow 10 or 15 minutes to heat the bread in a moderate oven.

Serve Sandwiches for Breakfast Treat

Sandwiches for breakfast? Of course, if you make them with French Toast. French Cream Sandwiches will be a real breakfast surprise for the family.

For the filling, combine a 3-ounce package cream cheese and an 8-ounce can of crushed pinapple. Mix until creamy. Use this filling to make four sandwiches.

Cut each sandwich in half. Combine 1 egg, beaten, one-quarter cup milk and a dash salt. Dip each side of sandwiches into egg mixture and brown quickly on both sides in butter or margarine in skillet. Serve hot.

Serve Salad-Dessert

Serve a salad-dessert after a dinner menu that features a roast. Arrange orange sections, bananas and sliced apples on salad greens. Blend mayonnaise, whipped cream and grated orange rind for the dressing.

Hot Cross Buns Have History

"Half for you and half for me, Between us two shall goodwill be."

Tradition has it that if two people break a Hot Cross Bun between them and eat it, they will know true fellowship. Hot Cross Buns originated in England in the 14th Century and were sold and eaten on Good Friday.

* * *

Two "royal bun houses" in London turned out these buns by the thousands on Good Friday morning and customers, just as if they lived today, pushed and shoved to buy these delicacies.

People wore them around their necks as a protection against disease, lightning or shipwreck. Many families saved them throughout the year. A bit of the bun was grated into water and given to members who were ill.

In recent years Hot Cross Buns have been popular throughout the Lenten period as a symbol of the solemn season and because they are just plain good eating.

Surprise your family with a pan of delicious Hot Cross Buns fresh from the oven. Because these buns are made with instant whole wheat cereal, the kind with extra wheat germ added, you really will be protecting their health.

HOT CROSS BUNS

¾ cup uncooked instant or regular whole wheat cereal
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ cup sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
1 cup milk
¾ cup raisins
1 package active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup water
1 egg
2¼ to 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Frosting

½ cup confectioners' sugar
2½ teaspoons hot water
¼ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt

Put instant or regular whole wheat cereal, salt, spices, sugar and shortening into a 4-quart bowl. Heat milk to boiling over low heat. Pour over cereal mixture. Stir until all cereal is wet. Cool to lukewarm (80-85 degrees), stirring occasionally.

Cover raisins with water. Heat to boiling. Drain.

Dissolve yeast in the one-fourth cup water. For dry yeast, use water 110-115 degrees (few drops on wrist feel warm). For compressed yeast, use water 80-85 degrees (few drops on wrist feel cool). Stir dissolved yeast into lukewarm cereal mixture.

Beat egg. Add to yeast mixture. Mix. Dust raisins with one-fourth cup of the flour. Add to the cereal mixture and mix thoroughly. Mix in enough of the rest of the flour to make a very soft dough that does not stick to the hands.

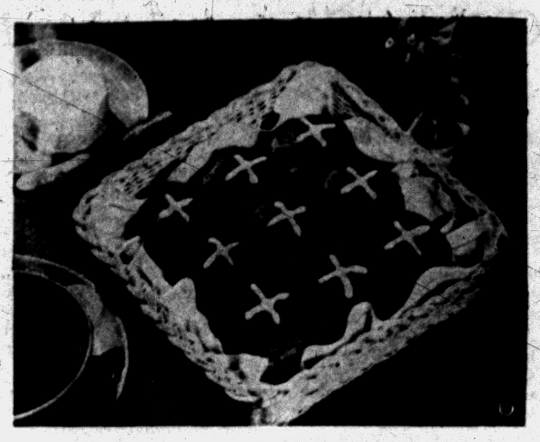

Turn onto a lightly floured board. Knead gently until smooth, about seven strokes. Wash bowl. Grease it and two 8x8x2 inch cake pans. Put dough in bowl. Turn it over to grease top. Cover with aluminum foil. Set in warm place (80-85 degrees). Let rise until double in bulk (about one hour).

Punch dough down and turn over in bowl. Cover with aluminum foil and let stand 10 minutes. Shape into 18 balls. Place nine in each pan.

Brush tops with milk. Cover. Let rise until doubled in bulk (about 45 minutes). Before time is up, heat oven to 375 degrees. Bake buns for 20 minutes or until brown. Cool on wire rack.

Combine confectioners' sugar with enough hot water to make of spreading consistency. Add salt and vanilla. Make crosses on buns. Makes 18 buns.

Both pickled and smoked tongue need to be refrigerated. Try to use the smoked tongue within three days, the pickled tongue within about seven days.

HOT CROSS BUNS — In medieval England, Hot Cross Buns were the Good Friday delicacy and a protection against illness. These modern Hot Cross Buns made with instant whole wheat cereal, the kind with extra wheat germ added, are also delicious and nutritious.

Eisenhower Likely to Take Florida in '56

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Joseph Samuel Havsepian typifies some of the confusion you run into in trying to figure out whether Florida will go for President Eisenhower again in November.

* * *

Havsepian is a red-hot Eisenhower booster. But he is just as red hot for Fuller Warren, a Democratic former governor and now one of five men contesting Gov. Leroy Collins' bid for renomination in the May 8 primary.

It doesn't strike Havsepian as unusual that Warren, whom he champions so stoutly, is a strong booster of Adlai Stevenson both against Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for Florida's 28 votes in the Democratic National Convention, and against Eisenhower in November.

But to quote Havsepian, a pipe organ builder and a Democrat: "If Ike wasn't in it, Id vote for Kefauver. Next to Ike, I think he's another statesman, Stevenson is a politician."

Vice President Nixon is not his choice for Ike's running mate. "Nixon seems to agitate people," he said. "He could lose Eisenhower Florida." Nevertheless Havsepian predicts, Florida will vote for Eisenhower again.

That view differs greatly from those of former Gov. Warren and Gov. Collins, who say the Democratic party is stronger today and better financed than it was four years ago when Eisenhower got 544,036 votes to 444,950 for Stevenson.

Peyton Yon, assistant treasurer of the Republican State Executive Committee, registered as a Republican after a tour of duty in 1952 as a Democrats-for-Eisenhower worker.

He told this reporter he and a lot of his neighbors switched to Eisenhower four years ago because they thought the national Democratic organization had gone too far in pushing civil rights.

Southern opposition to Nixon, where it is expressed, stems almost directly from his recent New York speech in which he claimed credit for the GOP stand in the civil rights field.

You won't run into a white antisegregationist in Florida in hours of looking and it's almost as hard to find an Eisenhower Democrat or Republican of 1952 who blames Eisenhower personally for the integration movement.

A couple of Negro bellboys in a local hotel said they would vote Democratic. "I think times will be better for working people like us if the Democrats get in," one of them said. "But, for goodness sake, don't put my name in the paper."

Collins said that if the election were held now, he thinks Eisenhower would carry the state again.

Today, Collins said, the party is better financed, and he added that he thought there were indications it will be close ranks behind the presidential nominee, once the primary are out of the way.

Collins hasn't committed himself, but some of his own strongest supporters are working for Stevenson.

Says Kefauver Exceeded Hope

Gov. Williams Expects Entire State Delegation as Favorite Son

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams said yesterday that Sen. Estes Kefauver exceeded his expectations in Tuesday's Minnesota primary.

"I thought he was going to show well, but he did even better than I anticipated," Williams told a news conference.

On the basis of incomplete returns, it appeared that Kefauver had captured a majority of National democratic convention delegates.

* * *

Williams said: "The full significance of Kefauver's Minnesota victory must await further analysis of factors involved."

He ended a brief prepared statement with this assertion, but added in response to questions that there was "no way of knowing what the supposed Republican crossover was or where it went."

* * *

Another factor on which Williams said analysis was not available to him was a comparison with the way presidential voting went in Minnesota in 1952.

Williams sidestepped a question as to the effect of the outcome in Minnesota on prospects of Kefauver and Stevenson for corralling support from the Michigan delegation at the convention.

He said, smilingly, he thought the Michigan delegation would vote for Williams.

Policy Covering Atomic Power Mishaps Offered

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —The Insurance Co. of North America said today it has set aside five million dollars in special reserves to cover losses caused by atomic power mishaps.

John A. Diemand, president of the firm, said North America was the first company to underwrite risks arising from the operation of an atomic power plant. The company issued insurance covering public liability, workmen's compensation and employers liability on the Nautilus, the first atom-powered submarine.

Diemand told stockholders at the annual meeting the company also insures the Sea Wolf, the Nautilus' sister ship, and will provide coverage for a third atomic sub now being built.

Diemand said premiums written, assets and policy holders' surplus established new records in 1955. The company's net earnings were $21,279,000, fractionally higher than in 1954.

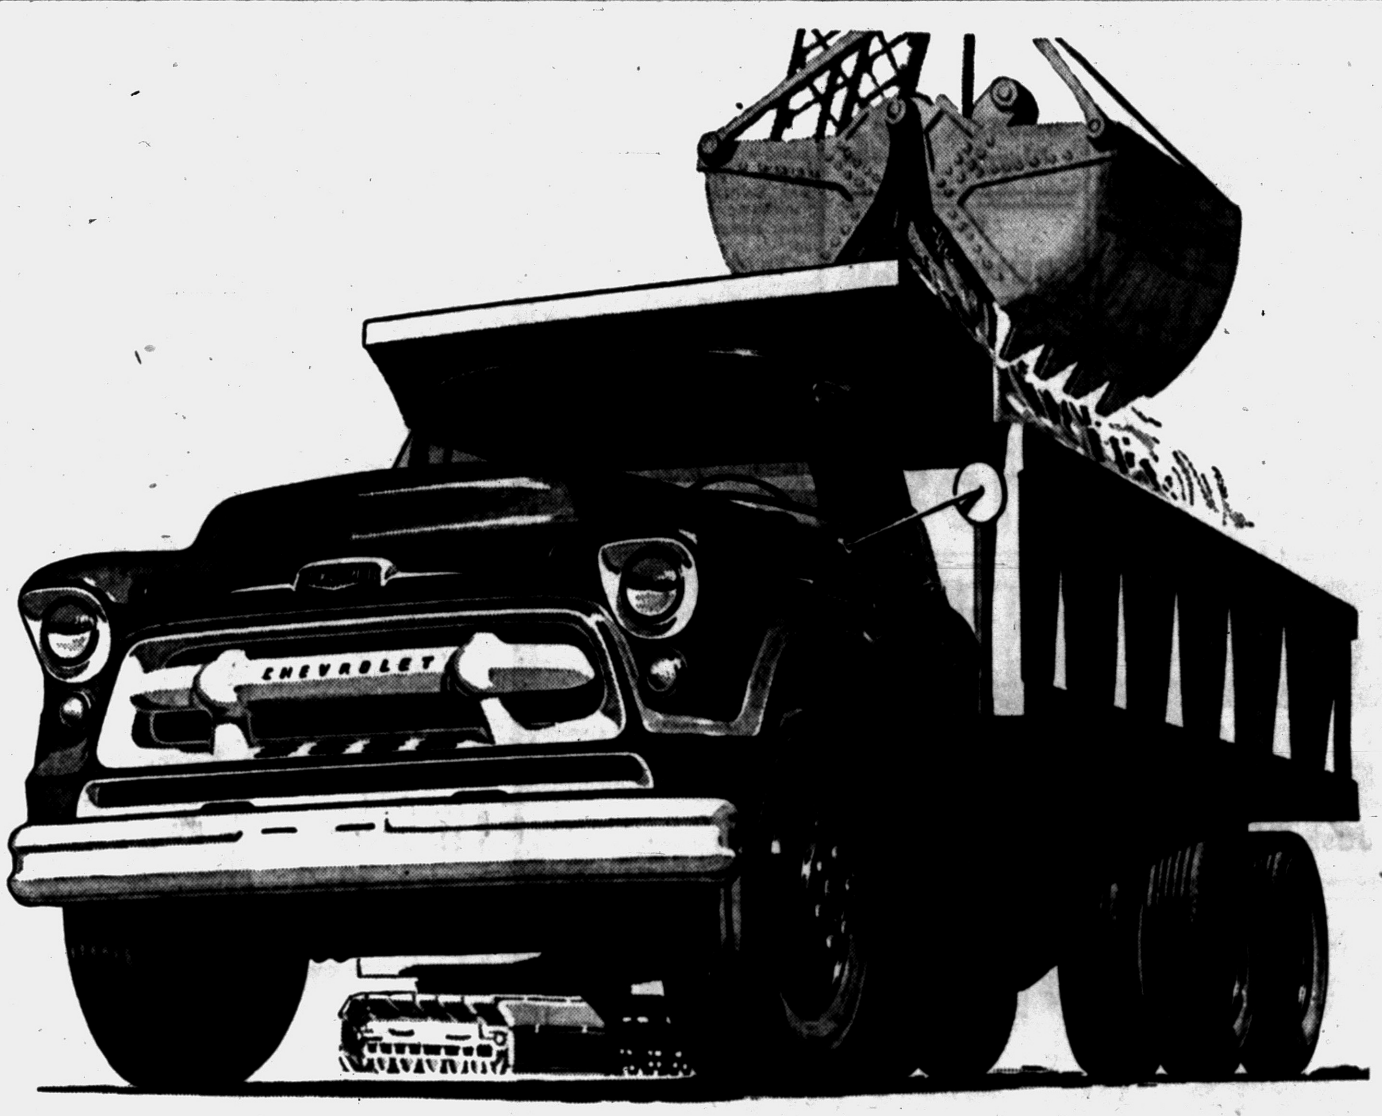

Red Water Harmless

LANSING (AP)—The State Agriculture Department advised Michigan housewives not to worry if the water turns a bright red when they are coooking new potatoes. Some new potatoes from Florida are dyed red with a harmless vegetable dye, the department said. The deparmtment added that the dye is legal but the package must note that the potatoes have been arificially colored.

Pup 'Travels' 120 Miles to Comfort Girl, 6

OMAHA (AP)—In Omaha a little girl cried herself to sleep because her pup had been shot. A hundred and 20 miles away a lost pup shivered on a bed of rags in a filling station.

At the Winterset, Iowa, station Omaha trucker Larry W. Davis and other over-the-road haulers watched the pup and listened to a radio report of the heartbreak of Cathy Katzenberger, 6.

"We decided the little girl needed the pup and the pup needed her. We took a straw vote and I was elected to bring them together. It sure was worth it," said Clark after making the delivery.

Police Put 'Bite' on Him

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Robert Simms Popejoy, 18, was fined $7 for taking a bite out of a stranger's hamburger. Officers said Popejoy walked over to a booth at a cafe, took the sandwich off a plate, took a bite and put it back. He said he thought he knew the hamburger-owner, but he turned out to be a stranger.

Did GOP Revolt in Estes Win?

Dems Claim Upset Due to Repudiation Against Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Democrats contended today that Sen. Estes Kefauver's upset Minnesota primary victory was a "repudiation" by Republican voters of President Eisenhower's farm program.

A number of Republicans sharply rejected that suggestion, although some of them acknowledged they are concerned over the effect on voters of the long decline in farm income.

* * *

Senators of both parties saw the result as a big boost for Kefauver. Several Democrats renewed pledges of support for Adlai Stevenson, whom he defeated, while conceding Stevenson had suffered a bit setback in his campaign to win the Democratic presidential nomination again.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture who has backed major portions of the Eisenhower administration's farm program, said in an interview:

"The Minnesota vote, with thousands of Republicans entering the Democratic primary, indicates the Democrats will carry every state in the farm belt, regardless of who is the nominee."

ADLAI BACKING UNWAVERING

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), who joined with Minnesota's Democratic Gov. Orville Freeman to support Stevenson, said Stevenson's "spirits are high and his determination unwavering," and he added:

"His supporters are equally unwavering."

Sen Lehman (D-NY), saying he was "a little surprised at the great vote" by which Kefauver carried Minnesota, added: "I still believe Adlai Stevenson is the best qualified man for the presidency, and I shall continue to support him as I have in the past."

* * *

Humphrey noted that both Stevenson and Kefauver advocated farm price supports at higher levels than the administration does and said the heavy vote in the Democratic primary was a "stunning repudiation of the Eisenhower-Benson farm fiasco." Ezra Taft Benson is secretary of agriculture.

New Direct Distance Phone Dialing Is Expanding Rapidly Across Nation

By DAVID L. BOWEN
(© Newsfeatures Writer)

The dialing range of your telephone is growing by leaps and bounds.

If you live inside the territory of any one of 99 central offices in nine states, you—along with 800,000 other people in similar circumstances—can now dial anyone in most of the 28 major cities shown on the accompanying map without the services of a long distance operator. You simply dial first the three-number designation of the city you wish to reach, and then the number of the party you want to contact.

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. plans to make this new "Direct Distance Dialing" service available to two million customers by the end of this year. AT&T President Cleo F. Craig says that in a few years the service "will be expanded to most telephone users throughout the nation."

To make direct distance dialing possible, special equipment is needed at both point of origin and city of destination. Many more telephones now can receive direct distance calls than can place them. The map shows only reception points.

* * *

Most localities in which direct distance dialing equipment is now operating are suburbs of larger cities.

At the present there are 29 central offices in New York capable of feeding direct distance calls from telephones in their area to the national network. New Jersey has 21 such installations, Maryland 11, Michigan and Pennsylvania 9 each, Illinois 6, Virginia 5, California 4, Ohio 3 and Connecticut 2.

During the next six months 10 more offices in California will join the network, 7 more in Ohio, 4 more in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, 2 more in Michigan and 1 more in Connecticut. Two additional states will appear in the list in this period, Missouri with 4 central offices equipped for direct distance dialing and Indiana with 1.

Customers can dial only station-to-station calls over the nationwide network. Person-to-person or collect calls must be placed through operators.

Here's the way direct distance dialing works: When you dial the three number code for a distance city, telephone equipment in your town recognizes that a direct distance call is about to start. The equipment selects a line to the nearest "switching point" (a crossroad in the nationwide network of telephone lines). Additional equipment at the switching point interprets the code dialed, selects a route (trying alternates if the first is busy), transmits pulses of the proper type and number to operate equipment at intermediate points, and completes the call to the distant telephone.

At the same time, automatic equipment in your exchange punches holes in a paper tape to record your number and the number you called, the date and time you started talking, and the time you finished.

In addition to the "long range" direct dialing system, millions of other telephone customers can now dial their own calls to points beyond the local service area—some as far as 75 miles away.

There are two main reasons why these telephones cannot as yet be used for nationwide calls: either the local telephone office is not yet equipped to handle the extra three digits of distant city code numbers, or there are not yet enough voice paths from the locality to assure service comparable to local dialing.

AT&T maintains that even during the peak periods of telephone activity there are only about three chances out of 100 that a direct distance dialing customer will get a busy signal because of a busy trunkline.

$1 Million Project at Wolverine Lake

Homes to Rise Near New Plant

Proposed Dwellings to Be in $12,000-$20,000 Category

WOLVERINE LAKE—A 70-home building project, with a retail value of approximately a million dollars, is planned on South Commerce road across from Minda Knolls subdivision, it was announced today by John C. Finlayson, village clerk of Wolverine Lake.

The area is known to many nearby residents as the Nichols farm.

The Asher-Tilton Building Company of Detroit, intends to develop the section with homes in the $12,000 to $20,000 class. The proposed subdivision, now known as Wolverine Lake Heights, will feature paved streets and a community water system, according to Finlayson. Construction plans call for homes to be built near South Commerce road and back toward Wolverine Lake.

Construction has begun on the foundations of two model homes.

The proposed dwellings will be situated near the new Walled Lake High School and only six miles from the new plant being erected by the Lincoln Division of the Ford Motor Co.

Lake privileges will be granted to some of the purchasers of the homes, Finlayson added.

School board members slated the sessions to educate the district electorate prior to the vote on the $757,000 bond issue April 7.

Building consultant Gerald D. Boicourt of Wayne University will show a 30-minute film entitled "The Junior High School Story." This film was selected to emphasize the importance of the conversion of the present high school to a junior high on completion of the proposed new school, officials said.

Says Farm Bill 'Bad Measure'

Bureau Chief: 'Product of Political Log Rolling at Farmers' Expense'

WASHINGTON (INS) — American Farm Bureau Federation President Charles B. Shuman rates the Senate Farm Bill as a bad measure — "The product of political log rolling at the expense of the American farmer and the general public."

Shuman said in a statement released by the Farm Bureau's Washington office that the bill "abandons any semblance of sound economic principles for the illusion of political gain."

The federation head further charged that it is "uneconomic and unrealistic to pretend that billions of dollars worth of farm surpluses can be hidden by a stroke of a legislative pen."

He pointed out that "For all practical purposes the senate bill marks a return to the government price-fixing program which is largely responsible for the present unsatisfactory net income situation in agriculture."

Shuman said the set aside provisions of the bill, "which have the effect of increasing price support levels for corn, wheat, and cotton irrespective of the amount of the surplus, and the adoption of dual parity, eliminate any semblance of flexibility in government pricing policies for these commodities."

He asserted: The situation is aggravated further by the provision for dumping wheat domestically. This will adversely affect the prices of all feed grains as well as cattle, hogs, sheep, dairy and poultry products."

Shuman continued: "This bundle of contradictions, if enacted into law, will do more harm than good to the welfare of agriculture because of the tremendous production incentive it contains.

Unhappy Are Lives of Comfort Without Faith

Graham Says We Have Substituted Gadgets for God

AP Wirephoto

By TEX SHANNON
(Second of 3 Articles)

I'd never heard any other man state his life work so fervently, as when Billy Graham told me why he entered the ministry. "Have you ever regretted your decision?" I asked.

"Never!" Billy answered emphatically. "I'm proud to have been used in fulfilling Christ's Great Commission—to go into all the world and preach the Gospel."

"You've certainly gone into all the world and done a lot of preaching," I commented. "Why do you think you have been so successful in spite of all the talk that religion was dying in our mechanized and sophisticated world?"

Billy didn't grope for a reply to that complex question. "It is the shallow concepts of modern materialism which are dying—not the deep and revealed concepts of religion," he declared. "People, increasingly unhappy in lives of comfort without faith, are willing to listen to me because I affirm what they realize, if, as yet, dimly."

His hand touched the Bible lying on the night table in the hotel room. "Once again the world is realizing the full import of the question asked of all men in all ages by this book:

"What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world if he lose his immortal soul?"

GOD—NOT GADGETS

Billy arose. "Let me illustrate, Tex."

He pointed to the electric switch on the wall.

"See that switch? With a slight pressure of my thumb I can flood this room with the sort of light that never illuminated a king's chamber during early periods of history."

Next he motioned toward the brightly-polished faucets of the porcelain wash basin.

"A twist of those hydrants and I can have running water—something that my great-grandfather would have thought out of this world. Yet what power would all these comforts have to heal me if my soul were sick?"

Billy sat down. "That was one of the main troubles of our century," he asserted. "A substitution of faith in gadgets for faith in God. We need the gadgets. But they are tools of convenience—not instruments of salvation."

I nodded. "Tell me, Billy: What effect has all this mechanized materialism had upon the human conscience?"

Billy's face looked grave—and a little sad.

"A lot of very bad effects," he observed. "We have multiplied our physical treasures—and ignored our spiritual ones.

"That, in turn, has led to the false philosophy of self-reliance and self-sufficiency, which has brought so many of us to desruction by misleading us into believing that we can make the grade without God.

"But, as I have pointed out in one of my books, this 'self-confident' generation has produced more dope addicts, more bottle slaves, more gangsters and more juvenile delinquents, more murderers and more wars, more broken homes, more embezzlements and betrayals of trust, more suicides that any generation that ever lived."

PREACHING IN KOREA — Billy Graham is reported to have preached to more people than any other evangelist in modern times. Above is a scene in Korea while he preached to a gathering of American service men.

THE POWERHOUSE

By JIMMY POWERS

TAMPA, Fla. — Every now and then you'll hear some grizzled, weather-warped old chowderhead sneer at the young ball players who are busily engaged here in pepper games, working the sliding pits, or taking their cut in the batting cages.

"They don't make 'em like they used to no more —there's no Gas Housers around today!" is the way the old script runs.

Not all critics mean exactly what they say and not all who yearn for the "good old days" would accept those if they did return.

Some are sentimental old geezers lost in a fog of nostalgia. One who looks wistfully into the past is Don Gutteridge, coach of the White Sox.

Don tabs five active players—only five, he emphasized—who are Gas House types. They are Country Slaughter, Billy Martin, Hank Bauer, Clint Courtney and Nellie Fox. All the rest run for Sweeney.

First thing a kid asks today when you want to sign him in is "How much?" Chances are he has a lawyer around somewhere and an investment counselor.

Some insist on deferred payment deals with income spread out over five years to help with tax brackets.

Money was not the prime consideration of the old Gas Housers. They played baseball because they loved the game. They started at $3,000 a year if they were regulars. They got less if they were part-timers.

Slaughter came up and started knocking down fences for $300 a month, but he put out like he was getting $100,000 a year. They were pistols, tough, rough and hell-for-leather every minute of the day and night.

IN THE MEANTIME, IMPROVEMENTS GO ON

It was ironic that while Gutteridge was crying into his Spanish black bean soup (they have the finest Spanish restaurants in the country here in nearby Ybor City), the ballplayers' shop stewards were working out such things as TV pension funds, new minimum salary structures and asking for workmen's compensation contracts.

The 1956 owners would dearly love to have Gas Housers around wtih no $7,500 minimum salary demands.

In justice to owners, I must point out that certain of them did treat the tobacco-chewing, mandolin-playing help generously when it came to paying for the repair of a fractured tibia. But they did it only when the mood struck them.

Some owners would be kind and generous to players they happened to like and were miserly with those who rubbed them the wrong way. One way to rub an owner the wrong way was to insist on being paid a reasonable sum for services rendered.

Pontiac's Bid for Semi-Finals Snuffed, 58-51

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It's the same old tournament story. Season scores between two teams mean nothing when they meet in the state basketball playoffs.

Pontiac proved this point against Flint Northern in the regionals and Catholic Central did likewise against the Chiefs in the quarter-finals.

The Detroit crew scoffed at the two sound beatings handed them by Pontiac this season to whip the Chiefs 58-51 at Livonia Bentley high school last night.

It was the 4th time in 10 years for Pontiac to miss the opportunity to get to the semi-finals. Catholic Central has now won the right to meet Muskegon Heights at East Lansing Friday night.

Only twice, in the opening minute, was Pontiac able to hold the lead last night.

With 4:40 remaining in the first period the score was knotted 8-8. From this point and through the second quarter the Chiefs lost opportunities to score on rebounds, but the hurting factor in the 2nd stanza was the loss of the ball by bad passing.

Center Bob Skrzycki hit 12 of 22 points in the first quarter and had 16 as the half ended 30-23 for the Shamrocks.

Only two minutes after the second half started Pontiac moved within 3 points, 32-29. But then the unheralded hero for Central, Brian Hussey, tallied his team's next 7 points to push the margin to 41-33 with 1:30 in the period.

★ ★ ★

Hussey, who failed to get a point in the first half was deadly at the free throw line in the second half, getting 8 of his 10 points from the charity strip.

The 7-point margin was the closest Pontiac could get in the 4th period, as the Shamrocks let loose with some deadly outside shots, especially by guard Tony Dietz.

Dietz beat the gun on two instances. He fired, as the gun sounded, to score when the first period ended, and he hit again with only 7 seconds to play in the 3rd stanza.

★ ★ ★

Big Hud Ray could not hit the target on several tip opportunities, with Willie DeWalt finding a tight lid on the hoop in his shots.

The Shamrocks scored three field goals on intercepted passes and at least four other times because Pontiac lost possession by wild passes.

"We couldn't afford to lose our outside shooting, but it happened," said coach Art Van Ryzin after the game.

★ ★ ★

"Catholic Central was the better team on the court last night," he added, "they showed more poise in this game than the two games against us during the regular season."

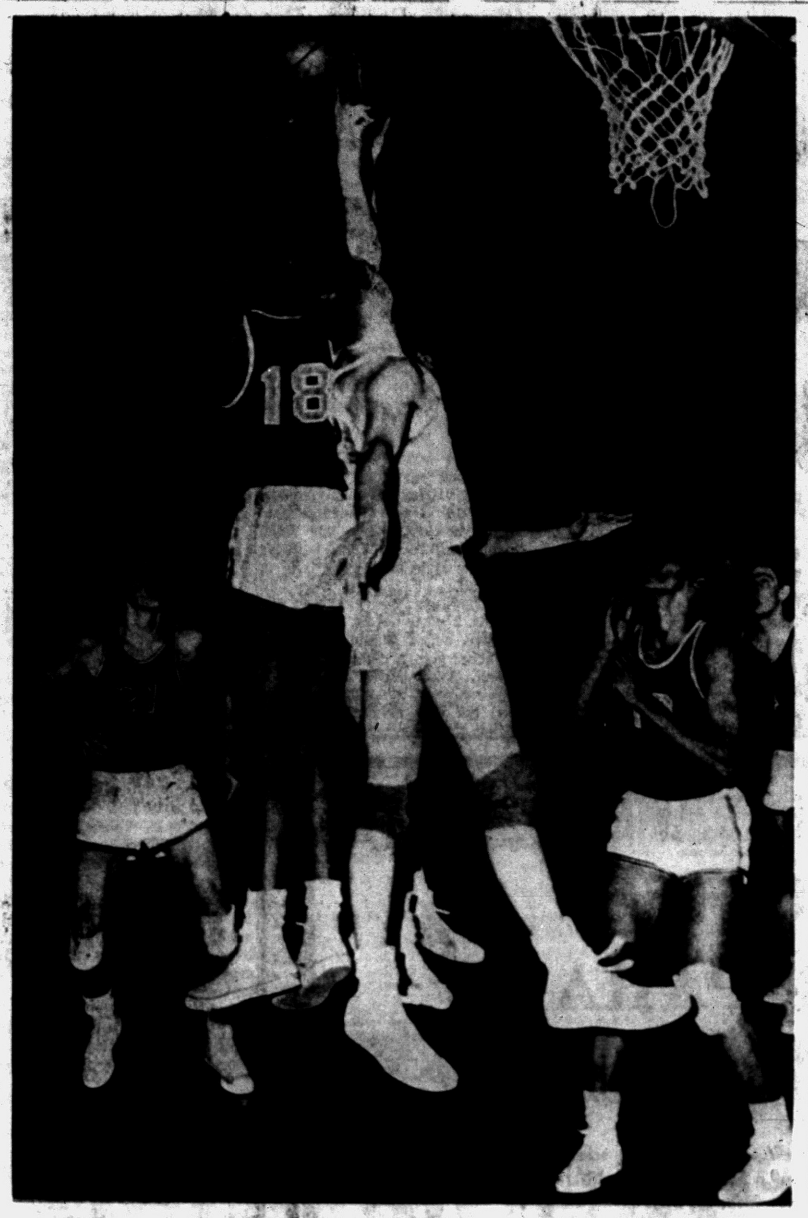

Rod Treais hit only 5 points, but the 6-1 senior made very few field goal attempts in the second half.

Dave Diehm led the Chief scoring with 17 points, with Dietz collecting 13 for Central behind Skrzycki's 22.

Including tourney play Pontiac finished the campaign with a 13-6 record. Catholic Central is now 18-3.

Skrzycki led the Shamrocks with 22 points and a 58-51 victory on the Livonia Bentley high court last night to move into the state semi-finals.

James Hoag, athletic director and assistant principal at Lake Orion High School, has been elected president of the Oakland 'B' League for the 1956-57 school year. Hoag was named to his new office in Tuesday night's bi-annual league meeting.

★ ★ ★

"The team is grateful for the wonderful support received from game last night," said Art Van Ryzin, PHS coach.

Mayor William W. Donaldson was among those in attendance.

★ ★ ★

Coach Bill Foley of Catholic Central was excited over his victory over the Chiefs. "It was an upset," he said. "We got the breaks, Pontiac couldn't get one."

★ ★ ★

An Oakland 'B' League all-star basketball team was selected by league coaches Tuesday night at a meeting near Utica.

Named to the first team were Jerry Paul of Avondale, Jim Simer of Madison, Jim Maurer of Troy, Jim Clary of Fitzgerald, and Len Martyniak of Roseville.

Norm Pruitt of Fitzgerald, Jim Drake of Lake Orion, Louie Collins of Fitzgerald, and Tom Trexler and Dick Allen, both of Clawson, were second team choices.

The 16th annual Central Michigan College High School Relays will be held April 27-28. Pontiac is defending champion in class A, Inkster and River Rouge tied for B, Reed City in C and Brethern in D. Last year's entries included 154 high schools.

Attorney Cites Dublinski's NHL Contract as Invalid

TORONTO (AP)—The attorney for Tom Dublinski told the Supreme Court of Ontario yesterday that a player's contract with the National Football League cannot be enforced in Canada.

Charles Dubin, appearing for the former Detroit Lions quarterback, cited legal decisions which he said showed that any contract for personal services placing restraint on the earnings of a person's livelihood is invalid.

Dubin said the Lions, who seek $10,000 for breach of contract by Dublinski, have no right to damages. Moreover, the club had no claim to an injunction biding the Toronto Argonaut players to the Detroit team until next May 1, he said.

Dublinski, who was understudy to Lions' quarterback Bobby Layne in 1954, jumped to the big four League of Canada last season.

Dubin, in a 2½ hour submission during the third day of the court hearing, contended the exercise of an option on Dublinski contract by Detroit violated his 1954 contract with the club

The option provided that Dublinski would play the 1955 season at not less than 90 per cent of his 1954 salary of $7,750.

Dubin said Loins president Edwin Anderson and Nick Kerbawy, general manager, had testified they agreed in 1954 that Dublinski would receive more money the next season if he showed impovement.

B. C. Pepper, appearing for the Lions, said Dublinski knew what he was doing when he signed with the Lions and must have realized the team had an option on his services for the 1955 season.

Quarter-Finals Hold Spotlight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two quarter final matches held the spotlight today in the Good Neighbor tennis tournament after a major uset put Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J. out of the running.

Herb Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif., meets David Harum, Coral Gables, in one match today while Al Harum, Coral Gables, plays Gerald Moss, Miami beach.

U. of D. to Quit Playing Night Football Games

Lighting System of '30 Years to Be Removed for Next Season

DETROIT — After playing virtually all of its home football games on Friday nights for the past 30 years, the University of Detroit today reversed its policy completely and announced that its stadium lighting system will be dismantled. Henceforth all home games will be staged on Saturday or Sunday afternoons.

The previously announced 1956 schedule of 10 games, five of them to be played in Detroit, has been revised.

With the consent of the visiting schools the three Friday night attractions that had been included now will be moved, two to Sundays when the Detroit Lions are on the road and one to a Saturday date.

Specifically involved are the games with Villanova, Boston College and Drake, which had been announced for Friday nights. The other two home attractions—with Marquette and Tulsa—already had been carded for Saturdays.

★ ★ ★

Not only will the daytime football policy prevail next fall, but in all future seasons also. Advantage also will be taken of the Lions' schedule to present some U. of D. home games on Sundays when the pro elven is playing away from Detroit.

The home schedule now reads:

Sat., Sept. 22—Marquette at Detroit.
Sun., Sept. 30—Villanova at Detroit.
Sat., Oct. 20—Tulsa at Detroit.
Sun., Oct. 28—Boston College at Detroit.
Sat., Nov. 10—Drake at Detroit.

Coaches Talk Rule Changes

CHICAGO (AP) — A minimum of fuss over rule changes is expected today as more than 400 college and high school basketball coaches open the 30th annual convention of the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches.

★ ★ ★

Phil Woolpert, coach of the San Francisco Dons, highly favored to win their second straight NCAA title in the concurrent tournament finale, has indicated that he will fire a broadside at legislation aimed against the tall players.

"What is a real tall kid going to do if he doesn't play basketball?" says Woolpert. "Why legislate against him just because he's big and basketball — for all practical purposes — is the only sport he can play?"

★ ★ ★

Foster said that the association apparently was satisfied in general with the playing rules as they operated last season on the college level.

★ ★ ★

The National Basketball committee, headed by Paul Hinkle of Butler, will hold its rules-making session Saturday and Sunday and will study, among other suggestions, proposals by the collegiate coaches.

Soccer Powers in Action

WINDSOR, Ont. — Detroit Bavarians, Michigan (outdoor) soccer champion, and Ukrainians, both unbeaten in the new International Indoor Soccer League, will place their records on the line Sunday afternoon in Windsor Arena.

★ ★ ★

The Bavarians have a record of two wins and no losses so far while the Rangers have won one and lost one.

Pulled Muscle May Sideline Ted Williams

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams, Boston's slugging outfielder, may miss the remainder of the team's exhibition schedule because of an aggravated muscle pull in his leg.

The Boston Post reports that Williams aggravated the pull yesterday in a workout at the Sox' training site at Payne Field.

In four previous seasons, Williams had turned in less than half an hour of spring work. In 1952 and '53 he was in service, in '54 he suffered a shoulder separation the first day and last year he was absent due to marital problems.

Akins Gets Nod Over Constance

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Virgil (Bear) Akins says he isn't afraid of welterweight champion Johnny Saxton be he'd like a shot at second-ranked Tony DeMarco because "I'm entitled to it and it'd be a great fight."

Akins needed a last-round flurry for a close but unanimous decision over smart Hector Constance of Trinidad here last night in a 10-rounder.

It wasn't a sensational victory and the crowd booed the decision although Akins is a St. Louis boy. But it kept him in the running for a bout with Saxton, who is looking around for opponents before he gives Carmen Basilio a return crack at the title.

Virgil said he thought he owned a "slight edge" going into the final round, but his desperate, all-out body attack after backing the West Indies battler against the ropes indicated he was far from sure of the decision.

Same Story, Tigers Lose 3-2

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers limped back to their Lakeland base today after their first experience with the bright lights of Southeast Florida and hoped that man who said spring training results don't mean a thing was absolutely right.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers were thumped hard twice in Miami by the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers and they tossed away a 3-2 10-inning game at Vero Beach yesterday against the Dodgers on their way back.

Like a hungary dog that recognizes a friend when he sees him, the Dodgers kept right on coming with the Tigers and wound up here today for the 4th straight meeting.

By now—some five weeks since the first rookies reported in Lakeland—even the staunchest Tiger rooters are admitting that its been a rough spring. The team stands 2-9 in exhibition games—the absolute bottom in the Grapefruit and Cactus Leagues.

The hitting has been soradic. The second line pitching has been weak. The defense has crumbled at crucial points. Second base is no more settled than it was when the camp opened and if heavy hitting outfielders grow on trees the Tigers have been looking in the wrong forest.

All is not quite lost, however. A team might lose every spring game and still set the league on fire once the regular season opened and things begin to click. Things certainly haven't clicked so far. Shaky pitches have looked more so because of shaky defensive play. Good pitching has been wasted by the lack of timely hitting.

If things happen to jell, the Tigers should be at least as good as a year ago when they stayed surprisingly close to the contenders until the very last weeks. They might be better particularly if pitches Virgil Trucks and Bob Miller come through.

Miller has looked especially good so far.

★ ★ ★

At Vero Beach yesterday the Tigers grabbed a 2-1 lead and held it until the last of the 8th when a pair of walks and a single tied it up. Then in the last of the 10th pitcher Duke Maas threw wild on an attempted sacrifice and set the stage for a bases-loaded single by Randy Jackson that won the game.

Needles 2-1 Favorite

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Needles, Florida-bred winner of the Flamingo Stakes, is a 2-1 favorite to capture the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park Saturday but if past events are any indication, his handlers have four colts to fear.

A dozen and perhaps 14 may start in the $100,000 mile and an eighth feature and any of those swift 3-year-olds could win it but Needles' backers probably will be watching Terrang, Like Magic, Count Chic and Reaping Right closest of all.

★ ★ ★

Rex C. Ellsworth won the Santa Anita Derby with Terrang and will send Like Magic, a full brother to Swaps, out in the Florida Derby as an entry with his top colt.

★ ★ ★

Dino Lozzi's Count Chic also was impressive in California and he is regarded as another dangerous rival in Saturday's race.

T. A. Grissom's Reaping Right triumphed in the Louisiana Derby and is 5-1 in the early line for the Florida version.

★ ★ ★

Money Broker came from Louisiana to win the Florida Derby in 1953 and Correlation was flown in from California in 1954 to take the winner's share. Nashua won last year.

Winding Way Farm's Golf Ace is another that might prove troublesome. He gets in the Derby with only 107 pounds.

Some of the best jockeys in the business will be in action, such as Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker, Willie Hartack, Henry Moreno, R. L. Baird, P. J. Bailey, Walter; and Don Scurlock.

★ ★ ★

Needles gets into the Florida Derby under 117 pounds, receiving a 5-pound allowance through a State Racing Commission rule favoring home-breds.

★ ★ ★

The Derby will be the eighth race on the program with post time about 5:20 p.m. (EST). The race will be broadcast and televised nationally by CBS.

Onetime Great for Wolverines Dies Suddenly

CRYSTAL FALLS, Mich. (AP)—Edward Chambers, onetime University of Michigan basketball star who later became one of the Upper Peninsula's most successful high school coaches, died unexpectedly last night of a heart ailment. He was 50.

★ ★ ★

Chambers played on Wolverine basketball teams from 1925-27 and was captain of the team when it won the Big Ten championship in 1927. One of his teammates was Bennie Oosterbaan, now U. of M. head football coach.

★ ★ ★

Chambers became basketball coach at Crystal Falls High School in 1927 and held the post until ill health forced him to retire two years ago. He continued, however, as a member of the school faculty.

★ ★ ★

His teams won six consecutive Upper Peinsula class C titles and 15 district titles.

Nashua Fan Club Gives Hero New York Sendoff

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Nashua Fan Club, in mourning since Saturday's Gulfstream Park Handicap, met again today and decided to give its hero a warm sendoff when he departs for New York Sunday.

Nashua boards a train at 7 a.m. (EST) for the trip North where he will resume his turf campaign in an attempt to pass Citation as the world's leading money-winning thoroughbred.

So far he has accumulated $1,040,415 to Citation's $1,085,760 and should nose out the Calumet star if he enters and wins the John B. Campbell Memorial Handicap at Bowie next month, a race for which he is nominated.

The Nashua Fan Club is still depressed by his dismal showing at Gulfstream Saturday when he ran the most disappointing race of his career and wound up fifth in a field of seven although he went to post the 7-10 favorite.

Jim Fitzsimmons, who has trained Nashua for all his races, said there's nothing wrong with the horse and that "he just ran a bad race."

Everett Clay, publicity director of Hialeah Park where Nashua spent the past two winters, said the horse "just had a bad day" and told the club there should be as big a sendoff party as welcomed him to Florida Christmas Eve.

Proposed Dodger Sports Center Gets Final OK

ALBANY, N. Y. (INS)—A bill for a $30,000,000 Brooklyn sports center, which includes a new home for baseball's world champion Dodgers, has won final approval in the New York State Legislature.

Gov. Averell Harriman is expected to sign it.

The assembly passed the bill, 114 to 32, and the senate's final vote yesterday was 39 to 17.

Dusty Gets Into Stride

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—James Lamar Rhodes, who is more familiar as plain Dusty of pinch-hitting renown for the New York Giants, just might desert the bench for regular day-to-day duty in the coming baseball wars.

* * *

Dusty was a standout hero of the 1954 World Series Giant championship team. He could do no wrong with his large bat and he could do things with it at the most propituous moments.

Last year Dusty was something less than a sensation, and so was the third - finishing Giant team. True, his official average for 187 times at bat in 92 games was a respectable .305. But the dramatic game winning blow was lacking.

The outlook is different this spring, for the club and for Dusty.

* * *

He is hitting close to .400, as compared to a minute .095 last spring. He has whacked out four home runs, where last spring he couldn't buy a home run or a hit.

COMING BACK—Vic Wertz of Cleveland shakes off the rustiness with a jog at Tucson, Ariz., camp. Wertz was hit by polio late last season, is trying to make it back to Tribe's first base post.

Freeman Joins All-Stars

NEW YORK (INS)—Ohio State's Big Ten scoring leader, Robin Freeman, will join the college All-American basketball squad for its coast-to-coast exhibition tour with the Harlem Globetrotters.

Freeman was the nation's second highest scorer at 32.5 points per game.

Wings Go After No. 2 Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The man who smiled and passed it off when they tore into him for peddling seven regulars off a championship team, allowed himself a private chuckle today.

They criticized Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings, when he started the reshuffling after Detroit captured its 7th straight National Hockey League crown and its second consecutive Stanley Cup title.

When the revamped Wings tumbled to 2nd place and relinquished the honors to the Montreal Canadiens this season, the cries became louder and more frequent.

But the Red Wings, "new look" and all, were in high gear today and Jack Adams could afford the extra wide grin. His Red Wings held a 1-0 margin over the Toronto Maple Leafs as the teams squared off for their 2nd game in a best-of-seven series for the cup semi-finals at the Olympia here tonight.

* * *

"I regret nothing," Adams repeated during the tempest. "It'll take time to knit them together but they'll be stronger in the long run."

And the Wings, youngest team in the league, won back their spurs Tuesday night in a stirring, comeback conquest of the fired-up Maple Leafs. Trailing 2-0 going into the final period, the Wings burst out in championship style. Despite their youth, the Wings had a squad dotted with veterans. But it took a pair of rookies to get the job started.

Goalie Glenn Hall, playing his first playoff game, tended goal like a master. Although the Leafs scored twice, the Wings showed practically no striking power and the Leafs controlled the play. Hall made many near-impossible saves.

* * *

After veteran Gordie Howe, the NFL's second-ranked scorer, scored early in the 3rd period to close the gap to 2-1, John Bucyk, another youngster who didn't own a regular job with the Wings until the season was well along, took over.

The Wings held no workouts between games, but the Leafs had a noon drill today. Both teams were reported at full strength for the second game. The series switches to Toronto for the 3rd and 4th games Saturday and next Tuesday.

Olympic Boxing Prospects

3 Teen-Agers Contenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Juan Pomare, Al Pell and Joe Shaw, a trio of poised teen-agers, today shaped up as strong contenders for Uncle Sam's Olympic boxing team.

The three talented youngsters impressed expert observers last night in winning titles in the Intercity Golden Gloves Championships in Madison Square Garden.

* * *

Pell, an icy-nerved 18-year-old New York shoeshine boy who normally fights at 112 pounds, moved up to the 118-pound bantamweight class to frustrate Vince Doneiro, 18, Toledo, Ohio, with his southpaw style and pesky lefts to the head.

* * *

Shaw, 17-year old St. Louis hotel bus boy, edged Pittsburgh's Tommy Schafer in a close lightweight contest. The verdict drew boos from many of the 8,261 fans who liked the way Schafer rallied in the last round. The 19-year-old grave digger had a two-year win streak of 25 snapped.

"They look like real good prospects," said Pete Mello about the trio. Mello was co-coach of the U. S. team which won an unprecedented five titles at Helsinki in 1952.

The three still have a long road to travel before it's time to shove off for Melbourne in November. The National AAU championships will be held in Boston, April 9-11, and the site and dates for the Olympic tryouts will be picked at Boston on the 9th. There are plenty of other aspirants who may knock off Pomare, Pell and Shaw. If they are beaten, it means the U.S. will have a powerful squad.

Young Fighter Dies Following Knockout

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Hubert Essakow, 21-year-old boxer, died early today after being knocked out by Willie Toweel Monday for the second death in the professional ring this year.

Essakow was knocked out in the 11th round of the scheduled 12-round fight and never regained consciousness. Doctors who operated on the young fighte after the fight said he suffered a brain hemorrhage.

The fight originally was billed for Toweel's South African featherweight title but Toweel, unable to make 126 pounds, forfeited his crown and the bout went on as an overweight match.

On Jan. 29 in Philadelphia, 20-year-old Robert Perry died after a fight at the Cambria.

Auto Accident Fatal to 'M' Frosh Gridder

INDIANA, Pa. (AP)—An auto left the highway and slammed into a tree early today, killing Larry Robinson, 18, a freshman football player at the University of Michigan.

Robinson, who was home for the Easter holidays, was returning home after visiting a girl student at Indiana State Teachers College. He died of a skull fracture and other injuries.

Yogi Berra of the Yankees has hit 20 or more home runs per season for seven straight years. This mark is unequaled by any other major league catcher. Berra hit 27 homers in 1955.

Little League Prexy Says:

Strong Leadership Needed

CHICAGO (AP) — President Peter J. McGovern today called for strong leadership and direction of Little League baseball in a program which now embraces more than a million youngsters in the United States and Canada.

McGovern, in a prepared address, keynoted the first annual national congress of Little League which opened a three-day session.

"Proper leadership and guidance will be one of the greatest forces for development of the youth of America," he said. "In the realization of the national import of a program that encompasses up to 75,000 adults and a million youngsters bound together along lines of practical idealism, we must urge you to keep the basic pattern that little league represents.

* * *

More than 200 delegates, representing 4,000 Little Leagues, heard McGovern, of Williamsport, Pa., outline a five-point plan as the congress' objective. This embodied improved leadership, high standards of teamwork, better techniques in league operation, clarity of aims and the function and status of little league.

* * *

Court battles last fall between Carl Stotz, founder and commissioner of Little League, and officials of Little League Baseball Inc., presumably brought about the need of a convention, although sponsors report that such a congress long had been planned.

Stotz contended that local volunteers had lost their voice in formulating Little League policy. He eventually quit his legal contest.

Nothing finer in American taste...

Queen's Horse Is Steeplechase Bet

AINTREE, England (AP)—An Irish horse with an English trainer, a Scottish name and a royal owner is the hottest betting prospect in Britian for the 110th Grand National Steeplechase Saturday.

* * *

The horse is Devon Loch, owned by the Queen Mother Elizabeth, who will be going for the first royal victory over Aintree's rugged 4½-mile course since 1900.

Devon Loch, a 10-year-old Geldina, will carry 158 pounds and was held at 9-1 odds yesterday.

Spartans Start Annual Southern Baseball Trek

EAST LANSING (AP)—Coach John Kobs headed south with a busload of baseball players today for the annual Michigan State training trip.

* * *

The Spartans, kept indoors at home by cold and a water-logged diamond, annually use the tour as a warmup for the regular season and Big Ten competition.

The first game is scheduled against South Carolina at Columbia, S.C., on Saturday.

Average baseball game in 1955 consumed about two hours and 31 minutes.

Syracuse Keglers Keep Lead in ABC

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — The Meade Floor Covering team of Syracuse, N. Y., continued to lead the team division today as the American Bowling Congress moved into the 20th of its 79-day schedule.

The Syracuse bowlers came out of nowhere Tuesday night with a 2,997 to dethrone Stroh's Beer of Detroit and survived an assault by 37 regular divisions and 41 booster teams last night.

In the only change in the standings recorded yesterday, Otto Heizman of Syracuse, rolled up a 673 to take over 7th place in the singles division. He scored games of 216, 220 and 237.

Ted Hoffman Jr., just 15, is believed to be one of the youngest persons ever to bowl 300 in league competition. He achieved that mark in Philadelphia in 1955 and as far as is known the record is still unchallenged.

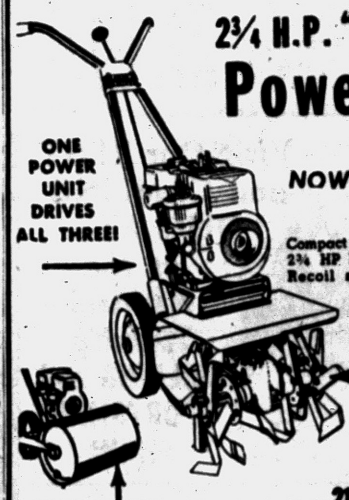

Linemen Sign Contracts With Chicago Cardinals

16 Prep Teams Head for Lansing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sixteen teams stood today at the gateway to state high school basketball greatness.

They are the survivors of the more than 700 teams which started the tough tournament trail weeks ago in quest of Michigan's highest scholastic athletic honors—the state basketball championship.

In an evening of furious but decisive activity, 16 other teams fell by the wayside last night.

Among them was River Rouge, the class B defending champion. Elimination of the Rouge five assured a new titlist in each class—A, B, C and D.

Hamtramck spurted in the closing minutes to squeeze out the victory that gave the Cosmos their first visit to East Lansing. Possessors of a 16-4 lead early in the contest, the Cosmos had a battle to the wire to hand Fordson its second loss in 17 starts.

Flint Tech and Stephenson joined St. Andrew and Battle Creek Lakeview in the class B playoffs. Flint used a 25-point splurge in the 3rd quarter to upend St. Clair, 58-53, and up its record to 16-7.

River Rouge got a rude jolt at the hands of Detroit St. Andrew, defending city champion, in a contest at Birmingham. Rugged Jim Glodzik's 27 points led the revenge-minded St. Andrew crew to a 58-50 victory after a see-saw first half.

Rouge had beaten St. Andrew two straight years in the quarter-finals. St. Andrew enters the semi-final round with a 22-1 record, with a string of 21 straight victories.

* * *

Muskegon Heights established itself as the team to beat in Class A with a convincing, 70-61 win over Saginaw Arthur Hill. It was a blazing finish after rangy Ed Burton, who led the Muskies with 30 points, fouled out with more than four minutes remaining.

Muskegon Heights sat on top of a 60-44 count, but the pesky Saginaw club bounced back and at one point narrowed the gap to four points before the Heights quint regained its poise and pulled away again.

Gary Lee, a masterful ball handler and playmaker, led Saginaw Arthur Hill with 20 points and nearly stole the show from the 6-6 Burton. The victory gave the Heights an 18-1 slate.

Ann Arbor (15-5) banged into the semi-finals with a lusterless decision over Kalamazoo Central, 51-39. Central stayed with Ann Arbor for a half but faltered under the superior staying power. The lead changed hands a dozen times before Ann Arbor put it away.

Don Perigo, son of Michigan basketball coach Bill Perigo, led scoring with 14.

Big Al Bauer controlled both boards and pitched in with 19 points as his Portland St. Patrick club smothered Memphis, 51-33. At one point, Bauer scored five straight goals. Portland (21-3) doubled Memphis' output from the field, 22 goals to 11.

ALL-STAR FOE—Clarence Wilson, member of the Harlem Globetrotters, will give the All-Stars trouble in their annual series at the Olympia Sunday April 15th in an afternoon-night doubleheader.

Grimes Leaves Stands—He's Seen It Before

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—History has a way of repeating itself, especially in the case of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In yesterday's game against Detroit, Brooklyn's Mike Napoli, a rookie catcher, was on first base and reached only second on a hit-and-run because of some weird baserunning.

At that point, Burleigh Grimes, a former Dodger manager, who was seated in the stands, got up to leave.

I've seen this before," he smiled. "They're using one of our old plays."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—If the injury jinx continues to plague the New York Yankees, Manager Casey Stengel soon will run out of centerfielders.

Bob Cerv pulled a groin muscle before the start of yesterday's game against Kansas City and did not start. Hank Bauer is shackled by an infected toe, Irv Noren by slow - healing knees and Elston Howard, an outfielder-catcher, by a fractured finger.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Coach Bucky Walters of the New York Giants is doing right well as the team's manager while skipper Bill Rigney is battling a virus.

With Rigney on the sidelines, the Giants beat Baltimore 9-5 Tuesday and the Chicago Cubs 11-10 yesterday under Walters' direction.

Rigney is expected to take over the reins in a day or two.

Driving Skill Strong Factor

European Sports Cars at International Race Seem Closely Matched

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—The swifter European sports cars racing for gold and glory in Saturday's International Grand Prix of Endurance may be so closely matched that the skill of the drivers will determine the final outcome.

The spotlight in this foremost American sports car race will be on the world champion driver, Juan Fangio of Argentina, and the runner-up, Stirling Moss of England.

Fangio will head the driving team for the Ferrari factory of Modena, Italy, and the opposition owners are afraid that Fangio and Ferrari will be in an unbeatable combination.

"Moss at the wheel of a car is worth 10 more horses," commented Briggs Cunningham, a former Florida sports car manufacturer who now represents the Jaguar factory of England in this country.

The 26-year-old Moss startled the sports car world by winning the Sebring race two years ago in a tiny Italian OSCA after the more powerful cars had been crippled by the strain of the 12-hour marathon over the runways of an abandoned air base.

Burkemo, Furgol Favored Golfers

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Touring golf professionals teed off today in the $15,000 Miami Beach Open, and Walter Burkemo and Ed Furgol were regarded as the ones to beat.

Burkemo, of Franklin, Mich., and Furgol, from St. Louis, shot five under par 67s yesterday in the Pro-Am tournament to lead the field.

Gardner Dickinson Jr., Panama City, Fla.; Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, tied with 68s.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich.; Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., and Mike Souchak, Grossingers, N. Y., tied with 69s.

Semi-Finals Begin in NCAA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—San Francisco's seemingly invincible Dons are one of the most overwhelming choices in NCAA Basketball Tournament history tonight as they open play for their second national championship.

They take the all-time longest major winning streak of 53 games into action against Southern Methodist in the second game. Temple (26-3) faces Big 10 champion Iowa (19-5) in the opener of the four-team show-down at 8:30 p.m. (EST).

* * *

There will be no national broadcast or television. Arthur Lonborg of Kansas, chairman of the tournament committee, said facilities were available but sponsors and clearance times apparently were not for a country-wide hook up.

* * *

The winners will meet tomorrow night for the title following the third-place playoff between losers starting at 8 p.m. (EST). Sellout crowds of above 10,500 are assured for both nights in Northwestern's new McGaw Hall.

SMU, unbeaten in the Southwest Conference, has won its last 19 starts and has a season record of 25-2.

San Francisco, headed by two-time All-America center Bill Russell, has topped the nation the last two years on defense and hasn't been beaten since December, 1954.

Woolpert told a news conference that he couldn't remember when the Dons ever were classed as an underdog this season.

"But I really don't think too many teams were awed by us," he added. "They go against us with the idea they have to be shown. I'm sure we bring out the best in a team playing against us."

"As far as opponents trying to defense us, we've certainly seen plenty of combinations. We've seen fewer zone defenses than we expected, but frankly it would be foolish to use a zone thinking you can stop Russell because we have four others who can score."

* * *

Temple, the Middle Atlantic winner, may give Iowa a surprising battle in the opener.

"We are at our peak right now, and I think our game with Iowa will be decided on rebounding. We've got a good fast break and if we can clear the rebounds clean, our Guy Rodgers and Hal Lear will show you something."

* * *

Bucky O'Connor, whose Iowa Hawkeyes have a 16-game victory string, said his team "is much more ready for the tournament than it was last year" when it was ousted in the NCAA first round by LaSalle.

The four finalists have a combined won-lost record of 97-10, by far the best mark since the tourney started in 1939 at Northwestern. The top previous record was 80-11 by Kansas, Louisiana State, Washington and Indiana in 1953.

Sports Briefs

Former Yankees Spud Chandler and Babe Dahlgren are scouting for the Kansas City Athletics.

NEW...3 DIFFERENT SUPER INSTANT LATHERS to satisfy the shaving needs of every man
...for closer, comfortable shaves

"Extra Heavy" RISE For men who like the feel of heavy lubricating "brushless lather."
"Extra Cool" RISE For men who like the wake-up feeling of skin-bracing menthol lather.
Regular RISE For men who like the feel of wetter barber-shop lather.

Choose The One That's Right For You and Enjoy a Real 24 Hour Shave

Men's faces are not alike. To get the best shave, different men need different shaving lathers. No single shaving lather satisfies all men. Now RISE (the greatest invention since the safety razor) brings another great advance in shaving. RISE introduces 3 new super instant lathers to satisfy the shaving needs of every man.

No matter whether your beard is black and heavy or light and stiff ... no matter whether your skin is dry or oily, tough or tender ... there's a new super instant lather that's right for you ... that will satisfy your shaving needs for closer, comfortable shaves.

"Extra Heavy" RISE with Lanolin gives you the feel of a rich, lubricating lather like "brushless cream."

"Extra Cool" RISE with Menthol fills the bill if you like the zip and zing of a skin-bracing menthol lather.

Regular RISE gives you a pure, barber-shop lather, a wetter lather with whisker-soaking action.

Extra Close Shaves With Extra Comfort!
All three RISE super instant lathers will give you smoothest shaves in half the time. RISE patented lather is self-rising, made up of millions of smaller bubbles—bubbles 21 times smaller than those in ordinary lather. Science proves the smaller the bubbles, the better the shave.

These smaller bubbles soak the whiskers down to the base, make them stand up straight so the razor cuts them close to the skin line. You look clean-shaved, close-shaved all day, all night.

Contains Built-In After Shave Comfort! And here's the big bonus! All 3 new RISE instant lathers feature exclusive built-in after shave comfort. Keep your face feeling smooth, soft and comfortable. No sting! No burn!

GRAPEFRUIT League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There may, or may not, be something in Frank Lane's recent observation that "The National League is a stronger league than the American."

The senior circuit has captured the last two World Series—by the Dodgers last year and the Giants in 1954—and five of the last six All-Star games.

* * *

The National League has the statistics going for them in the Grapefruit - Cactus competition this spring. In 53 interleague exhibition games, NL teams are out in front 28-24 with 1 tie.

Lane, who took over as St. Louis Cards' general manager after a similar tenure with the Chicago White Sox, said, "If the Cards were in the American League they'd finish ahead of the White Sox." Considering that St. Louis wound up in seventh place and the White Sox in third a year ago, that's quite a statement.

Mr. Lane's Redbirds are carrying the National League banner in fine style in the exhibition games. They've beaten American League clubs five times and lost only twice.

* * *

But it's been the Pittsburgh Pirates who've done best against American League opponents. They're 5-1. The Dodgers are 5-3, the Chicago Cubs 5-4, the Giants 4-4, Cincinnati 2-4, Philadelphia 1-3 and Milwaukee 1-3 with a tie.

The Boston Red Sox have put together the best American League mark in the interleague games. They've won 4 lost 1 with 1 deadlock. The other records are: New York Yankees 4-2, the White Sox 3-2, Cleveland 5-4, Washington 2-3, Kansas city 2-4, Baltimore 3-6 and Detroit 1-6.

* * *

The National won both interleague skirmishes yesterday. The champion Dodgers edged the Detroit Tigers 3-2 on Randy Jackson's 10th-inning single and Pittsburgh downed Washington 6-3 behind the effective pitching of Vernon Law and Ronnie Kline.

In games involving National League clubs, Cincinnati parlayed four singles and 11 bases on balls into a 5-3 victory over the Phillies.

* * *

The Cards pounded Chet Nichols and Dave Jolly for 14 hits in handing Milwaukee its fourth straight setback 9-2. The Giants broke loose for 14 hits, including homers by Hank Thompson, pitcher Johnny Antonelli and George Wilson.

In American League exhibition games, Avila, playing in his second game of the spring, drove in four runs with two triples and a single to lead Cleveland to an 11-4 victory over Baltimore. Mickey Mantle continued his prolific hitting with a homer and a triple as the Yankees tripped Kansas City 9-5.

NIT Semi-Final Games Tonight

Louisville and Dayton Encounter Strong Foes in Madison Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—The two-week interval between the end of the regular basketball season and the start of the National Invitation Tournament virtually makes a new season out of the oldest postseason court extravaganza. Tonight's semifinal games could mean another fresh start for the four teams involved.

It's Louisville against St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Dayton against St. Francis of Brooklyn—three seeded teams and one outsider—in the semifinal games in Madison Square Garden. Only one of the four, St. Joseph's, played a game in two weeks before the tournament opened last Saturday.

* * *

The long layoffs were reflected in the shabby performances of the top-rated teams, Dayton and Louisville. On their regular season form, when each won 23 games and lost 3, these two should meet in the nationally televised final Saturday afternoon. Off their tournament performances so far, it could be third-seeded St. Joseph's (21-5) against unranked St. Francis (12-2) in the final.

Pasadena Quintet Upsets Peoria in AAU Tourney

DENVER (AP)—Two talented collections of collegians from the Deep South and the Far West challenge veteran AAU clubs in tonight's quarter-finals of the 49th annual National AAU Basketball Tournament.

The Pasadena, Calif., Mirror Glaze Five, featuring Pasadena Nazarene College players, advanced yesterday with the meet's biggest upset—an 86-75 conquest of the Peoria, Ill., Cats, 1954 champions and seeded No. 2 in the current meet.

* * *

Almost matching the Pasadena collegiate performance, seniors from the University of Alabama Southeastern Conference champions moved ahead with an 85-77 triumph over seeded Akron, Ohio, Goodyears.

Pasadena meets the Seattle Buchan Bakers and the Alabamans, flying the colors of Ada Oilers of Mobile, clash with Wichita, Kan., Vickers Oilers in the quarter-final features.

Other quarter-final games send defending champion Phillips 66 of Bartlesville, Okla., against the all-Negro Rainer Comets of Chicago and the Denver Central Bankers against the Milwaukee Allen-Bradleys.

With Peoria's upset, Wichita is rated the strongest threat to Phillips' bid for a second straight title. The Kansas are the only team remaining with height and manpower to match the champs.

Lakers, Celtics Ousted in Quarter-Final Round of NBA Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syracuse Nationals and St. Louis Hawks, having defied the home court advantage, were hoping for continued success on the road today in their drive for the championship of the National Basketball Assn.

* * *

Both clubs won the third and deciding games of their quarter-final playoffs last night. The defending champion Nats defeated the Celtics in Boston 102-97 and the Hawks beat the Lakers in Minneapolis 116-115 on Al Ferrari's two free throws in the final minute.

The semifinal round gets under way tonight with St. Louis meeting the Fort Wayne Pistons, the Western Division titleholders, in Fort Wayne. Syracuse starts its semifinal series against the Philadelphia Warriors in Philly tomorrow night. Both series are best-of-5 affairs.

Trout Fishermen Must Pay Premium for Their Sport

The Associated Press

So what's your favorite excuse for going fishing?

If you fish for fun, you're in pretty good shape to defend your financial outlay. There are many ways you can spend more per hour to amuse yourself and have no more to show for it.

But if you figure your fishing really is an economy measure that helps cut the cost of feeding the family, defense becomes more difficult. The farther your pet method is from that of the barefoot boy who can walk to the creek and catch his fish on a bent pin, the more difficult your defense.

Trout fishermen, in particular, pay a premium for their sport. When it comes to the price of groceries, most trout fishermen who figure in their rods, tackle, waders, transportation and accommodations plus the cost of artifically stocked trout, know they'd be money ahead to take the family out to the fanciest steak house in town.

For that reason, trout fishing has served as a laboratory area to test out sport-for-sport's-sake fishing, with only a token or so-called trophy return. The most promising management device is restricting heavily - fished streams to fly rods and artificial lures.

* * *

What this works out to be is sort of an eat your cake and have it too proposition. Fish managers all through the trout country have long known that the artificial fly can be a great force for conservation. It saves fish, even when they're caught.

That's because on waters where methods are unrestricted, a great many fishermen use worms and other live bait. Even very small trout that take live bait are likely to swallow it and the authorities can take either of two expensive choices—let the fishermen keep 5 or 6-inch fish to count in his bag limit, or make him free them when many of them will die anyway from hook injury.

Fly fishing gets around that drawback. By the time even a young and foolish trout gets an artificial in its mouth, the fraud is realized. If the fish is hooked at all, its hooked in the lip. Therefore the conservation officials can boost up the size limit to 10 or 12 inches and an individual trout may be caught 20 times—furnishing sport to 20 different fishermen—in the several years it takes it to attain legal size.

Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Wisconsin all have set up demonstration areas at one time or another to demonstrate to fishermen how effective the flies-only method can be.

* * *

Wisconsin, after much discussion, just authorized a test on the famed Peshtigo River for this year, with a five-fish, 12-inch limit. Michigan, which got things going several years ago on the Au Sable, with a 10-inch minimum, has added to it until now 60 miles of stream are limited to fly fishing.

In the latter state, that's not much percentage-wise because Michigan has 18,000 miles of trout streams. Even at that, a court case has been started to test the legality of the restriction.

But at any rate, the idea is spreading, as fish and game planners try to devise means of getting more sport per dollar for the ever-increasing number of fishermen.

Brumley-Dunkel Duel Set

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) —Judd Brumley, the 1954 winner and a finalist in 1955, met Paul Dunkel in the top quarter-final match today of the American Seniors Golf Assn. Tournament.

Dunkel, from Ridgewood, N.J., conquered medalist Frank Ross of Hartford, Conn., in the opening round of the tourney for players 55 and older. Yesterday, he continued his winning ways by beating Alex Kennedy of Millbrook, N.Y., 3 and 2.

Brumley, a Greenville, Tenn., hotel owner, beat Owen Lewis of Alliance, Ohio, 5 and 4 yesterday.

Defending champion Edward H. Randall of Rochester, N.Y., eliminated Leon Sikes of West Palm Beach 3 and 2. Today he opposes Roy Moore of Waterville, Maine.

State AAU Boxing Show Monday Night

DETROIT — One of the strongest fields to compete for Michigan AAU state boxing titles in recent years will be seen in action at Arcadia, Woodward at Stimson, on Monday night.

* * *

The fighters will be the best from Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Flint. They will be seeking 10 berths on the team which will represent Michigan in the National AAu tournament in Boston next month.

* * *

The AAU meet is sponsored by the Sports Guild which has underwritten cost of sending the winning team to Boston.

Hank Greenberg's entrance to baseball's Hall of Fame made him the sixth player from the Detroit Tigers to be honored. The others are Ty Cobb, Mickey Cochrane, Hughie Jennings, Charley Gehringer and Harry Heilmann.

Complete Plans for Study of Dead Deer

LANSING (AP)—The state conservation department announced today that final plans have been worked out for a search for dead deer killed by winter hardship in Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula.

The survey will be started as soon as weather permits, probably early in April.

To determine the extent of loss, department workers will search a series of 16-acre plots selected at random throughout the northern deer country.

The results of these searches will be applied to the total area to compute the estimate of the total winter kill.

Texas Christian's 7-1 football record in 1955 was its best since 1938, and one of its best in history.

Birds Dyed for Study

Technicolor Waterfowl Winging to Northland

LANSING—If you think you see a pink duck sometime during the next several weeks, there's no need to rush off to an eye doctor or a psychiatrist—technicolor waterfowl actually are winging their way north.

Many ducks and geese have been banded and dyed various colors as part of special studies on local movements and migrations of waterfowl.

* * *

The studies are being conducted by the federal Fish and Wildlife Service and conservation agencies in several states.

Bird watchers in Michigan may detect the marked birds, generally with the aid of binoculars, during spring migration flights which take place from mid-March until May.

Canada geese have been marked at southern wintering grounds with colored neck bands and dyes.

The dyed ducks include such species as green-winged teal, blue-winged teal, pintails, ringnecks, baldpate (widgeon) and scaup (bluebill). Other species, as well as the dyed birds, have been marked with identifying leg bands.

* * *

Persons who sight any of the specially-colored birds are requested to contact the Conservation Department's game division at Lansing, giving specific information as to color combinations, location of coloring on the birds and where and when the birds were seen.

Southpaw Poison Bats

There's an old baseball adage that says southpaw pitchers are poison to lefthanded batters. But you couldn't prove it by looking at the 1955 pinch hitting records compiled by Dusty Rhodes and Bill Taylor of the Giants—both lefties.

Rhodes made 10 hits in 20 chances for a .500 mark against portside hurlers.

Only one American League team failed to hit a home run at every ball park in 1955. The Chicago White Sox didn't hit any homers at Washington's Griffith Stadium.

During his college days in the early 1920's, Wyoming Gov. Milward L. Simpson captained the University of Wyoming football, basketball and baseball teams.

Sweetwater Clifton and Walter Dukes of the New York Knickerbockers team both have played with one of the foremost ranking pro basketball clubs in the world.

Fluoride Plan Set for Schools

Preventive Dental Work With Parents' Consent to Begin Soon

In an effort to reduce tooth decay by the use of fluoride applications, a continuing preventive dental program will begin soon for Wisner, Wilson, Hawthorne and Wever schools.

Request slips have been sent to the families of the second and fifth graders in these schools.

Participating in offering the treatments in the Pontiac schools are PTA members, the local dental society, the local health department and the Michigan Department of Health, says Josephine Seeley, RN, coordinator of health services in Pontiac Public Schools.

The treatments are on a fee basis of $4 per child, payable in advance and will include a dental examination, cleansing and four applications of fluoride solution to each child participating, she said. The topical fluoride treatment will reduce the number of new cavities by 40 per cent in a group of children, Miss Seeley continued.

Wisner treatments will start Monday. Plans are being made to move the dental equipment to Wilson School soon after Easter vacation.

Malkim School has been given an extension of time in order to include their program with that of Wever and Hawthorne, which will follow Wilson School program.

Cagy FBI Set to Tag Seeker of 'Saucer' Info

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you want information on flying saucers, don't address your request to "Confidential Files, Washington, D. C."

Takes too long. And besides, you may be investigated by the FBI.

A lady out in Los Angeles (name withheld by various government agencies) dashed off a note Jan. 15. It said:

"Confidential Files
"Wash. D. C.

"Dear Sirs—Please send me a bulletin of flying saucers, or the address where I can get information about them. I am enclosing 10 cents.
"Thanks."

Seemed like a simple, direct approach—except for the address.

The Post Office, casting about for some federal agency that might have confidential files, sent it to the FBI. The FBI, never one to pass out military secrets, made discreet inquiries.

Then it forwarded the letter to the Air Force, advising that nothing derogatory or indicative of subversion could be found in the lady's activities.

So the Air Force reached into its nonclassified files and plucked out the latest summary on the number of sightings of UFO (unidentified flying objects), together with an explanation of why people think they see flying saucers—or what it is they see which the Air Force can or can't explain.

The lady's 10 cents was taped to the summary and both were mailed to her address in Los Angeles.

Navy Awards Contract to Shipbuilding Division

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy has awarded a $200,000 contract to the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Division at Quincy, Mass., for designing the non-nuclear portions of an atomic-powered cruiser.

The Westinghouse Company is designing the atomic power plant for the world's first nuclear surface ship which will be completed in 1960 if authorized by Congress.

Recruiting Signs Appear Even in Barren Canyons

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — When tourists descend by muleback to the isolated canyon of the Havasupai Indians this summer they will see a strange set of travel posters:

* * *

"Join up—see the world!" "Uncle Sam wants you!"

Since the only way to get in or out of the canyon is along a tortuous horse trail 70 miles from the nearest paved road, these placards bear silent testimony to the ingenuity of one of the armed forces' most important branches, the recruiting service.

* * *

The wheels began to spin when M. Sgt. Vestal Nunlist, the smiling and always affable recruiting sergeant here, and Engineman Wesley D. Wolf, Navy recruiter at Prescott, saw pictures of the 250-man tribe living at the bottom of Havasu Canyon near the Utah border along the Colorado River.

"Some of them were pretty husky looking, and it didn't look like they had much to do," said Nunlist, who has developed a watchful eye for such things from years as a top sergeant.

* * *

"Well, we can fix that mighty easy. No doubt, those sturdy boys must be told about the opportunities available to them in the service!"

Off they went to speak to the Indians.

They were met by Stanley Manakaja, 23 - year - old Havasupai chief.

* * *

No tomahawks, no eagle feathers, no war whoops. At least not from Manakaja. The Havasupais are peaceful farmers.

Nunlist and Wolf decided to soften up the Indians by participating in a game of football.

The young braves play on a field covered with eight inches of sand.

"Much to our regret, the Indians never called time out and never sent in substitutes," said Nunlist. "Navy and I kept relieving each other. We were hurting."

But the Havasupai braves were very unwarlike when they pow-wowed with the recruiters.

They were happy to wait for the draft board.

"A lot of them said they'd like to join up, but—too many family responsibilities. You know."

He sounded like he had heard this before.

* * *

So Nunlist and Engineman Wolf tacked up the posters, handed out self-addressed postal cards and left. That was last week.

Any replies yet?

"We're still waiting," Nunlist said today. "But I'm going to be here several years. In this business you gotta be patient."

Army Redesignates Five Military Posts

WASHINGTON (INS) — Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker announces that five military posts have been redesignated as "permanent installations" in a "long-range plan to broaden the base" for mobilization.

The posts are Fort Chaffee, Ark.; Fort Gordon, Ga.; Fort Jackson, S. C.; Fort Stewart, Ga.; and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Brucker said: "The Army must maintain a sufficiently broad base to permit it to expand more rapidly than ever before in case of general emergency.

* * *

"I am satisfied that, when fully implemented, this new plan will permit the Army to meet these requirements and to provide more effective support for our units oberseas."

Brucker said the new plan was developed "after thorough study over the past several months by the Army staff" and that it involved "a complete re-evaluation of the permanent facilities base."

Freighter Escapes Ice

PORT HURON (AP)—The freighter Paul H. Townsend Wednesday broke free from the ice of Lake Huron, where it had been stuck since Monday. The 320-foot vessel, owned by the Huron Cement Transportation Co., was stranded when ice jammed the mouth of the St. Clair River here. Twenty-eight men were aboard on the downbound voyage from Alpena.

Reports Air Force Work on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary Donald A. Quarles, dispelling a little secrecy, has announced that the Air Force is at work on three ballistic missile projects.

* * *

He named them as the Atlas and Titan programs for intercontinental rockets, and the Thor program for an intermediate, 1500-mile range missile.

* * *

Until now secrecy has cloaked even the names of some of the projects Quarles mentioned in an address prepared for a meeting of the Aviation Writers Assn.

The Air Force, he said, has been giving "top priority" to the Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile project.

Killers Dangerous, Say Mexican Police

MEXICO CITY (INS) — Two American motel operators in Victoria, Mex., wanted for the murders of a Detroit couple, were branded today as "experienced and dangerous criminals" by Mexican police.

Sought for the slayings of Everett B. Kennison, 58, and his wife, Pauline, 50, were William A. Shelton and Joseph O'Brien, last seen in Tampico where Shelton cashed a check.

* * *

The vacationing Kennisons were found brutally murdered in desolate brush country near Victoria last week. Shelton and O'Brien disappeared shortly after the bodies were identified Monday.

The Detroit couple stayed at the motel operated by the two men until March 12, the day they were killed.

State, Ohio Police Hunt for Missing Executive

DETROIT (INS) — Michigan and Ohio police joined forces today in a search for a missing Highland Park, Mich., industrial executive who disappeared last Sunday after leaving the home of relatives in Alliance, O.

Missing is Albert Ambler, 52, superintendent and general manager of Dale Industries, Inc., of Highland Park.

Ambler, reported missing by his son, Albert W. of Livonia, last night, drove to Alliance March 15 and started home Sunday morning, according to relatives. They said he was carrying some $1,500 in cash when he left the Ohio city.

Call Final Witnesses in Dixie Boycott Trial

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Negro defense attorneys appeared ready to call final witnesses today in the bus boycott trial of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. The trial began Monday.

* * *

Rebuttal testimony and final arguments could delay a verdict by Circuit Court Judge Eugene Carter, who will decide on the young Negro minister's guilt or innocence.

* * *

King and 89 other Negro leaders still facing trial on charges of violating Alabama's anti-boycott law have all exercised their right to demand nonjury trials.

Defense attorneys yesterday presented witness after witness who told of mistreatment or embarrassment as passengers on segregated city buses.

* * *

One of the 26 Negro defense witnesses who took the stand Wednesday was R. A. Parks, husband of Mrs. Rosa Parks. Negroes have refused to ride city buses here since Mrs. Parks was fined $14 Dec. 5 for refusing to move to the rear of a city bus.

Blind Musician Stars as Witness in Court

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A blind musician with a Braille watch was a star defense witness yesterday for a Mount Sterling undertaker.

Calvin Reeves, 25, testified he was talking to W. D. Banks at Mount Sterling at the time of a wreck which killed two persons.

Asked to demonstrate his ability to tell time by the Braille watch, Reeves missed by only one minute in agreeing with a courtroom clock.

Banks is accused in damage suits totaling $362,500 of illegally passing a carload of Morehead College coeds, causing their car and another to collide.

Hollywood Headlines:

Virginia Leith Stars Now Instead of Checking Hats

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From hat-check chick to star—that's the Cinderella story of sexy-voiced Virginia Leith.

* * *

Virginia is now playing opposite every girl's dreamboat, William Holden, in "Toward the Unknown." He's her boss too since the film is being made for Holden's Toluca Productions. He terms her "a remarkable talent" and tried to sign her for a picture a year. But her studio told him no sale; it has its own plans for the doll.

SULTRY-VOICED

She is shapely, brown-haired, moody and sultry-voiced. She has always talked in low tones, she says. After 10 months of vocal training at the studio, she could almost make Lauren Bacall sound like a soprano.

* * *

Virginia's advent to stardom is a curious chain of circumstances. She grew up in Cleveland with little thought of becoming an actress. As a matter of fact, she wanted to write and even took a semester of journalism at Columbia University.

* * *

"I flunked out," she confessed. "I even barely got through high school. I had one of the highest I.Q.'s in school, but got some of the lowest grades. I was always daydreaming."

* * *

She came to California, but with no intention of trying to act. Her explanation: "I liked warm weather, but I didn't like Florida. So I came here."

FREE MEALS

Her first job was checking hats in a Beverly Hills restaurant. She took it because she got free meals and the tips gave her enough to live on. Then she landed a job as a showgirl in Ken Murray's "Blackouts." That lasted a year and she turned to modeling. One day she got a call for an interview with a bunch of men. None over 23.

* * *

"They wanted me for a movie," she recalled. "I was afraid they were going up in the mountains to make some stag reels."

* * *

The assignment turned out to be an arty film made by the young amateurs. It was called "Fear and Desire" and Virginia didn't have a word in it. She was tied to a stake and required to recoil fearfully while a maddened villain menaced her.

PICTURE NOTICED

The picture never went very far, but caused enough notice to get her a four-page layout in Life Magazine. Twentieth Century-Fox saw it and caught up with her in New York, where she had gone for some TV. The result: A test and a contract.

She languished a year on the lot, finally got a part in "Black Widow." Since then she has kept busy, her latest release being "On the Threshhold of Space."

Despite her obvious charms, Virginia at 27 is unwed and unengaged.

Kefauver Repudiates '56 Republican Boast

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — "Peace and prosperity is the theme of the Republican campaign this year," Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said last night, "but the peace is uneasy and so is the prosperity."

* * *

The senator, bolstered by his unexpected Minnesota primary victory, moved westward today to start an intensive campaign for California's 68 votes at the Democratic National Convention.

He referred in his Great Falls speech to a Lincoln Day talk by Vice President Nixon who, Kefauver said, "bragged about the Republicans providing the biggest tax cut in history."

"They did it," he told a Democratic dinner, "but let me point out that without the tax cut we could have had a balanced budget every year of the Eisenhower administration. We could have made a substantial reduction in the national debt and we could have had an air force superior to any in the world."

Kefauver also charged the Eisenhower administration "obviously does not believe in the possibility of peace. It has utterly failed to prepare for it."

Waterford Justice to Attend Conference

Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Donald E. Adams will head a conference committee at the fourth annual Michigan Traffic Court Conference at Michigan State University April 10-12.

Adams is chairman of a committee which will give a report April 10 on "Uniform Fine Schedule."

Persons associated in traffic law enforcement have been invited to participate in the conference.

Sixteen organizations interested in law enforcement are joining to sponsor this concentrated course in traffic court procedures and techniques.

Included among the topics are police court and license functions, court procedures, violators' school, prosecuting of accident cases, uniform fine schedule, and court administration.

Daylight Saving Time Set for April 29 in 19 States

NEW YORK (AP)—Daylight saving time will be observed in all or parts of 19 states and the District of Columbia this year.

A survey showed today that some states have extended it to late October.

* * *

Mostly, daylight time will start at 2 a.m., April 29, the last Sunday of the month.

In those areas which have extended it, clocks will be set back to standard time at 2 a.m., Oct. 28. Otherwise, it ends at 2 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 30.

Daylight saving time got its big push in World War I when it was used to save power. But lots of people got to like the extra hour of sunshine in the garden, at the beach, on the golf course or tennis court or in the front porch rocker.

Some organized recreation interests apparently don't. A bill to approve "fast time" was introduced in Utah's 1955 Legislature. The House passed it but the Senate killed it. Outdoor movie, night baseball and labor interests opposed it.

Farmers don't like it either. They can't get into the fields before the dew dries anyhow and it doesn't hurry up the livestock for feeding.

Daylight time makes for some confusion. The cross-country railroads generally follow standard time. Commuter lines observe local time. The airlines generally just list arrivals and departures by local time.

It also gives radio and television networks a hard time in programming, but they solve the problem.

Anyhow, this year "fast time" will be observed in whole or in part of California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

In Missouri, only St. Louis will observe it. In New Mexico the atomic city of Los Alamos will be the sole observer.

Space Needed for Suburbs

UM Professor States Movement Bringing On Thirst for Area

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The great suburban movement has exploded into a tremendous thirst for more space a University of Michigan professor says.

* * *

Harlow C. Whittemore, landscape architect, says that ten per cent more people used to mean ten per cent more buildings and ten per cent more space.

"This is no longer so," Whittemore says.

"People used to be satisfied with small homes on ¼ to ½ acre lots," he adds. "Now they want ¾ to ½ or one acre lots in the suburbs to accommodate the spreading ranch-type home."

In addition, he says, "Shopping districts must supply off-street parking lots starting with a minimum of twice the floor space and going up to seven times the floor space."

* * *

"Factory owners," Whittemore says, "once satisfied with two acres of ground for each acre of floor space now want eight acres of ground space. Highways once 66 feet wide now must be 120-200 feet wide. School grounds, once five acres now are 15 acres for the same number (600) pupils."

Somewhere in the future, he expects residential sections to be organized into neighborhoods or towns of between 30,000 to 60,000. Each will have its separate business district, industrial area, railway facilities and parks and roads.

Business and industrial areas will be separated from each other by green belts or tree-planted park areas. Major parks will be in valleys, along streams or other scenic areas.

Faulty Device Causes Emergency Landing

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo (AP) — A fire warning device functioned improperly and caused a Continental Air Lines plane with 44 passengers to make an emergency landing yesterday afternoon.

* * *

Capt. Ivan Olson of Denver, the pilot, said he noticed a fire warning signal in the right engine while flying about 10 miles south of here. He returned the airliner to Peterson Field.

Continental officials said inspection showed no evidence of fire. Passengers completed the Denver-to-Albuquerque flight board another plane.

Polio Shots Potent, Effective

Reports Salk Vaccine Safe

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The man who evaluated the Salk polio vaccine says a year of widespread use has proved the vaccine to be safe, potent and effective.

* * *

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. said records for the period show the incidence of paralytic polio is 2 to 10 times greater among persons who did not receive the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk in delivering the Gudakunst Memorial Lecture at the University of Michigan yesterday. The vaccine was evaluated originally at the university.

Most of the setbacks which followed release of the vaccine for public use last April 12 have been eliminated, he said.

* * *

Difficulties, he said, stemmed from variations in the potency of individual lots of vaccine and were caused by use of merthiolate as a preservative for the vaccine.

"It is interesting to note," he said, "that no laboratory-confirmed paralytic cases (of polio) occurred after vaccination with a vaccine which was more than 70 to 75 per cent potent."

* * *

He said new safety standards set by the government last May appear to have eliminated possibility of infection related to administering the vaccine.

Ore Shipments Soar

OTTAWA — Ontario mines shipped 378,914 tons of iron ore during the first nine months of 1955, nearly double shipments of the like period in 1954 and 1,000,000 tons more than the total for all of 1954.

Fishing Rod Gadget Measures Line Depth

BURLINGAME, Cal. — A lightweight plastic device, easily clamped on any fishing rod, has been developed by a Burlingame firm to aid fishermen in determining bait depth for trolling.

The line, running through the device, turns gears that register on a dial the length of line paid out. The meter also can be used for sounding and for measuring any distance the line can reach, since it also registers on the rewind.

New Snythetic Rubber Matches Natural Type

AKRON — An Akron rubber manufacturer reports development of synthetic rubber with a molecular structure like that of natural rubber.

The resemblance of the test-tube rubber to the tree-grown variety has been confirmed by X-ray and infrared diagrams, the company says.

Says Makarios Can Solve Issue

Acting Cypriot Leader States No Peace Seen Unless Exile Lifted

NICOSIA (INS)—The acting spiritual and political leader of 400,000 rebellious Greek Cypriots declared today there can be no peace on Cyprus until Britain allows Archbishop Makarios to return from exile.

Bishop Anthimos, a 53-year-old theologian with a reputation as a political moderate, stated in an exclusive interview:

"There can be no further negotiations with the British unless Archbishop Makarios is brought back.

* * *

"I don't know what harsher measures Governor (Field Marshal Sir John) Harding is contemplating but there can be no peace unless the Archbishop is allowed to return and find a solution satisfactory to the people of Cyprus."

Bishop Anthimos was appointed by the Cypriote Orthodox Church to take over the Archbishop's dual role as spiritual and political leader when the latter was deported March 9 with three other churchmen because of their uncompromising nationalism.

The interview took place in the Bishop's green-walled synodic chamber on the outsirts of Nicosia.

British soldiers stood guard outside the ancient 12-room sanctuary, now temporary headquarters of the ethnarchy, but a Greek flag waved in open defiance of a military ban.

Open Court Hearings in Suit for Damages

Hearings began today in Oakland County Circuit Court on a $50,000 damage suit filed by a Royal Oak policeman who claims he was unjustly accused of having "improper relations" with another man's wife.

The accusation was leveled at Lt. Dale Williams by Robert J. Lytle, of Royal Oak, during a divorce action brought by Lytle's former wife here in September 1954.

Four other Royal Oak law officers were also accused by Lytle. Williams seeks damages on the basis his reputation was hurt by the charges which he alleges were not proved.

Attorney Brakie J. Orr represents Williams and attorney Clarence L. Smith is appearing for Lytle. Judge George B. Hartrick is presiding.

Market Makes Modest Upturn

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied today and managed a modest advance in the early afternoon.

The trend was somewhat lower at the start, and then buyers focused their attention on the steels and radio-televisions.

Gains weren't very great, between 1 and 2 points at the best, and there were some losses that entered that area.

Trading was relatively moderate at a pace well below the 2,930,000 shares traded in yesterday's lower market.

In addition to the rise in the steels and radio-televisions, many good plus sign were found in the motors, aircrafts, non-ferrous metals, chemicals, railroads and airlines.

At noon, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 20 cents at $188.70. The loss yesterday at the close was $1.30. The average on Tuesday was at a record high mark.

The sanity tests were ordered at Lewis' arraignment March 6 when he stood mute to a murder charge in the killing of Mrs. Muriel Lewis, 63.

Diphtheria Kills One

DETROIT (AP) — Diphtheria has claimed one life in Detroit so far this year, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, city health commissioner, said Wednesday. He said 15 other cases have been reported. Total 1955 figures showed 18 cases and no deaths. Dr. Molner blamed the increase on "lethargy and security." He said many parents have forgotten about the disease and have not taken proper steps to protect their children.

Westinghouse Pact Only Prelude

Labor, Management Load Artillery for Wage Talks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—With one great labor-management struggle over today, another one — potentially even greater — is beginning to take shape.

* * *

Westinghouse workers are going back to work. And Westinghouse salesmen are going out in search of business to help recoup some of the loss.

* * *

But in the basic steel industry both management and labor are warming up vocally and starting to woo public opinion for the contract negotiatons that will begin shortly.

Management sees further wage increases as inflationary for the economy as a whole. The union thinks the wage scale can be raised and the steel companies still make money.

* * *

It's for Westinghouse and the electrical workers union to evaluate how much was gained or lost by the bitter 156-day strike. The company reports it operated at a loss in the fourth quarter of last year, and the loss doubtless was greater in the first quarter of this year.

Products it might have shipped but didn't are estimated to total nearly 300 million dollars in billing value. Wages it could have paid but didn't are estimated to total 100 million dollars.

Evaluating orders it might have got but didn't is harder. And it will be some time yet before it can be told how successful the company will be in its sales campaign to recapture and widen markets for its products.

A strike in the steel industry could be much more costly. Mills are now operating at capacity with order backlogs ensuring production for months ahead.

Management is already putting up its own views in rebuttal. It says that good profit margins are essential if the industry is to finance a needed expansion of its facilities. And it argues that its price hikes since the war have been caused by past wage increases.

Two Named by Ford to Top Styling Posts

The promotion of two Oakland County residents to top posts in the Ford Motor Co.'s styling division was announced today by company officials.

Robert H. Maguire, of 5842 E. Miller Way, Birmingham, has been named chief stylist of a newly-created staff advanced styling studio. He is succeeded as chief stylist by Joseph Oros, of 5141 Winlane Dr., Bloomfield Hills.

A Ford staff-member since 1947, Maguire previously had served as head of interior styling for the General Motors Corp. which he left in 1942 to serve in the Air Force. He had been chief stylist of Ford since 1949.

Oros, who previously had served as special staff assistant to the vice president, joined Ford in 1955 after 10 years with an independent industrial design firm. He began his styling career with General Motors, where he spent six years.

According to George W. Walker, styling director, the promotions are part of a large-scale program in the design division.

Says Adlai Will Fight for Dem Nomination

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), predicted today that presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, jarred by his Minnesota primary defeat, will now make a "terrific fight" for the Democratic nomination.

* * *

Stevenson backers apparently hoped that the stinging blow of Sen. Estes Kefauver's upset victory in Tuesday's Minnesota election would turn the statesman-like Stevenson into a more aggressive candidate.

At the same time it was understood that Kefauver campaign leaders plan to intensify their future primary operations, which already include contests in Wisconsin, Florida, California, Alaska and Montana.

Kefauver backers in Indiana predicted the senator also will enter the May 8 Hoosier presidential primary. No one has filed on the Democratic ballot thus far.

Louis Bromfield—1st of 3 Stories

Pulitzer Prize Author Found Pleasure in Two Labors: Farm Life and Writing

By KEN WOODMAN
Executive Editor,
Mansfield News-Journal

MANSFIELD, Ohio (INS) — Blustering loudly, a raw March wind carried the whine of saws and the thud of hammers across the twisting drive that leads up from Pleasant Valley Road to where workmen were completing the renovation of an old farmhouse that was shostly to become one of the famous showplaces of the world.

It was Malabar Farm about 12 miles south of Mansfield in Richland County, Ohio. Its owner, Pulitzer Prize winning novelist Louis Bromfield, was working on the hillside opposite the virtually all new farmhouse—really working that is.

"Come on up," he called, as soon as he recognized me. And while we talked he kept on assembling great piles of heavy brush which had been cut earlier in the day and tossing the useless shrubs and surplus branches into a roaring fire.

* * *

It had to be a "roaring" fire: Everything about Malabar "roared" in those days. There was activity everyhere.

Some months before the electrifying word had reached Mansfield "Louie is coming home." The news stirred the town for more than just the reason that Louis Bromfield was a world celebrity and one of the nation's outstanding authors.

SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY

He was also the subject of much controversy. His books "The Green Bay Tree" and "The Farm," while celebrated in literary circles both at home and abroad had clearly portrayed a number of people and places—including the courthouse dome, the old livery stable, and customs and family histories in Mansfield. Some of what local residents read they did not like.

That is, it did not agree with their opinions of the subjects they felt they knew as well or better than Bromfield. At times, too, it had seemed that he was looking a bit down his literary nose at his old home community. At the end of "The Farm" had he not made a character easily identified with the author himself declare that he "was leaving the town forever?"

So I came immediately to the point:

"Everyone in town says that your character Lily Shane in 'The Green Bay Tree' was Leile Jones. Is that true?"

Bromfield hurled another great armload of branches at the fire. "Lily Shane is the most original character in all of literature.

"Do not misunderstand. I would not hesitate to use my own mother in a book. I would use anyone or any place that seemed worthy of use. But you can end the argument about Lily Shane once and for all. She was totally original."

TAKES AUTHOR'S WORD

I was and still am inclined to take Bromfield at his word. Certainly his word included the probability that the magnificent old Gothic home, still standing today on its dominant hill at the foot of Mulberry Street was the "Shane Castle" of the same novel and there is no doubt that it was the home of the colorful Dr. Jones and his two fine daughters.

"The Green Bay Tree" was the story of how a steel mill came to a small city and changed its way of life and changed particularly the home known as Shane's Castle with its elegant furnishings and its cast iron deer on the lawn. That was the Jones house. There was no doubt about it.

Bromfield's word also left it clear that his own father, a one-time county treasurer, had been used as a character in "The Farm" and other books he later wrote.

Many Mansfielders still think that the strange Russian named Krylenko in the bay tree story was suggested by Hugh Faulkner, a highly intelligent Mansfield eccentric who has neither shaved nor had a haircut for more than 35 years.

The story later became the Broadway production, "The House of Women" starring Elsie Ferguson of bygone fame. For home-town residents it and the farm will always remain a picture of this community and its people just after the turn of the century with a clarity that can neither be matched nor disputed.

His books reveal too a facet of Louis Bromfield's inner personality for actually they are concerned with great houses, large and stable families and a bold and gracious way of life. Bromfield once said:

"I see in all this the end of an era. Indeed I have a notion that it is the ending of the great 18th Century which is at last fading to return no more."

* * *

But as I stood on the hillside opposite Malabar Farm that blustery March day in 1939 I had a feeling that Bromfield intended to make that way of life return once more at least to the soft hills of southern Richland County and to the house he was building. I could not have been more right had I been clairvoyant.

ONE FULL YEAR GUARANTEE

Consider these advantages of the NATIONAL BONDED guarantee. A dealer can guarantee his cars only in his dealership. NATIONAL BONDED GUARANTEES THE CAR ANYWHERE IN THE U.S. AT THE REPAIR SHOP OF THE OWNER'S CHOOSING . . . The dealer's guarantee is actually a personal guarantee. If bad health or business failure should visit the dealer, the guarantee is void. NATIONAL BONDED is backed by $120,000,000 in assets. Regardless what happens to the individual, the owner's protection continues for the full year . . . The dealer's guarantee is on a percentage basis. The dealer pays a share of the repair costs and the owner pays a share. NATIONAL BONDED pays the repair bill in full; the owner pays nothing.

SMALL DOWN PAYMENTS

If you haven't been able to buy a car anywhere else because you were short of cash or because your car is too old to cover the down payment . . . or if you've been told you owe too much on your car to make a deal, come in and see us. We've helped a lot of people, and we may be able to help you.

TV Allows Comediennes to Enter Realm of Slapstick

Low Clowning Once Restricted

Martha and Lucy Are Examples of New Type Feminine Comic

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—If television has unearthed nothing else, it surely has made the world of slapstick safe for the ladies.

Once was a time gals with low comedy aspirations did not find broad opportunities available to them. In the not overly distant past, after you'd mentioned Fanny Brice and Beatrice Lillie you were finished in the category of fancy female pantaloons.

There were many "commediennes" in past generations of laughter, but they were more genteel, quite a bit lighter than their comparable sphere—Bobby Clark, W. C. Fields, Bert Lahr, the Marx brothers, Ed Wynn, and dozens more.

Marie Dressler had a fine style, but she was a character comedienne, broad and hilarious, generally held to the limits of a story. She seldom worked "low" in the superior solo style of Fanny and Bea Lillie.

The silent movies utilized many comediennes, but they, too, generally ran to politer styles. It was mostly a man's province, with the usual rule-setting exceptions.

FUNNY GALS GALORE

Television is a horse-laugh of a different color, or holler. There are fine low women comics galore. By "low" we do not for a moment mean second rate or dirty. The lowest comics can be the cleanest, and the best of them are and were.

Martha Raye was always a talented low clown who attained deserved stardom and NBC's official recognition of talent — a 15-year $100,000 guaranteed per annum contract — even if she shouldn't work. At the top of our heap for a long time; she's mighty close to the peak now.

She might even still be poised jauntily atop all the gals if she weren't the victim this season of her writers, who have fashioned a series of second-rate or worse scripts.

Even with less than satisfactory skits and jokes, she still manages to prove herself better than her shoddy material.

Lucille Ball is a lassie with a vast capacity for low fun. She manages to be funny every Monday evening, a level few comics of either gender can attain.

If there is any criticism, it's the fault of the series itself, which keeps Lucille in the same groove — and grooves sometimes deepen into ruts when the character gets too familiar. Still, she keeps a fantastic standard of fun and deserves her sustained popularity.

QUITS RETIREMENT

Fay Holden, Mickey Rooney's "mother" in the Andy Hardy series, comes out of retirement March 30 on "The Life of Riley."

When Maurice Evans quits the Hallmark Playhouse, which he so intends, Leland Hayward might take over.

A Harkness Pavilion suite has been reserved for a great man's hip operation in the fall; it's too hot for such during the summer.

Though everyone denies everything, the redhead who ducks regularly into the Wadsworth avenue entrance of Harkness bears a striking resemblance to Arthur Godfrey.

U. S. Steel does "Lost Weekend" next.

Own Snow Equipment Does Good Street Job

Chief Ferrara pointed out it wasn't even town equipment that cleaned the street.

One of the residents on Fort Hill road building company and he used his own equipment to clear the heavy snow there.

Seek Southwest Observatory Site

Astronomers Search for Ideal Spot to Build 80 Inch Mirror Scope

WASHINGTON — Somewhere in the Southwest where earth lies dark and stars blaze in the night sky, astronomers hope to build a national observatory in the next five years. Under a $279,000 National Science Foundation grant, search for a site and engineering for 36- and 80-inch mirror telescopes have already begun.

To this astronomical center, jointly run by several institutions, the world's scientists will go to tric light-gathering devices will study the heavens. New photoelecmake it one of the most modern of the great observatories, the National Geographic Society says.

North America boasts at least 60 major observatories: McDonald in Texas with an 82-inch mirror; Lowell in Arizona, famed for discovery of the last major planet, Pluto; David Dunlap in is Canada's biggest; Harvard, Toronto, whose 74-inch telescope clearinghouse for all new dis-near Leningrad once had the world's largest refracting telescope. Destroyed in World War II and since rebuilt, it now has a southern station in the Crimea with a 50-inch mirror telescope.

But the world's oldest operating observatory stands in Asia: Peking (Peiping) was founded in the time of Kublai Khan, 700 years ago. A star-positioning sphere was in use even earlier, in A.D. 1050. There are records of Chinese astronomical observations as long ago as 2136 B.C.

Stab Wound in Heart Not Necessarily Fatal

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dr. John P. Stamer of the University of Michigan, says there is a good chance of recovering from a stab wound in the heart.

He said victims who undergo surgery immediately often recover "in 10 to 14 days." He adds: 'Some of them have been stabbed twice and survive."

Dr. Stamer says he removes the fourth rib and sews up the wound in the heart.

Radioactive Testing

INDIANAPOLIS — Engine manufacturers are using radioactive materials for fast, accurate wear tests. Metal worn from the surface of "hot" engine parts makes lubricants radioactive—how much so in a given time tells the rate of wear.

Windbreak on Scales Used in New Mexico

BLUEWATER, N.M. (AP) — The wind blusters so hard and long across the flats in this area that special arrangements had to be made by Anaconda Copper Mining Co. to weigh railroad ore cars and trucks hauling uranium to the firm's big mill here.

The company had to build windbreaks around the scales. 'We have about seven months of heavy wind," said mill manager Jack Knaebel. "If we didn't have windbreaks, we never would get the scales settled down so we could take a true reading."

Pessimistic Bank

State Police Unwittingly Help Prisoner Escape

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) —When Francis Lee Jones, a 20-year-old Texan wanted in connection with a parole violation, escaped from Arkansas State Police here, he climbed through a restroom window at State Police headquarters, hid out for six hours, and then got away in a State Police car.

Embarrassed and indignant, officers explained that the car motor had been left running "for a moment" while its driver was inside.

Oh!

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Police summoned to break up a gang fight at a downtown tavern found no gang fight, not even a gang, but the bar was wrecked. The tavern was empty except for an 18-year-old youth who explained: "I only came to deliver the hot tamales."

Mine Costs $1,000 in '36, Now $25,000,000

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (INS) —One of the biggest investment payoffs in history occurred recently when the Happy Jack Uranium Mine was purchased at Grand Junction for $25,000,000.

The option was taken by the Barlu Oil Co., of Dallas, Tex., on the mine owned by Joe W. Cooper, Fletcher Bronson and Grand L. Bronson.

Cooper bought the mine which is located 70 miles south of Blanding, Utah, in 1936 for $1,000. He hoped to develop it as a copper producer.
