Police Push Hunt for Kidnaped Boy

Two Men Held as Parents Wait for Second Call

No Ransom Money Has Changed Hands; Price Now $5,000

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) —

Two men were held in police custody today as detectives pushed their search for five-week-old Peter Weinberger who was kidnaped from his carriage on the Fourth of July.

Police were closed-mouthed about the two men except to admit they were picked up last night, questioned and kept in custody.

A police department spokesman quoted Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell as saying the two "had no direct connection with the kidnaping."

It was reported, however, that one of the men telephoned the parents of the missing child and presumably the call was traced. The second man was reported to have been loitering near the Weinberger home.

As the search for the child went into its third day, police said definitely no ransom money had changed hands. Peter's distraught parents awaited another call from their baby's kidnaper.

A man phoned yesterday from a New York City pay station to assure the father, wholesale drug salesman Morris Weinberger, that the baby was alive and well, and to increase the ransom price from $2,000 to $5,000.

"I am ready to meet your demands . . . am waiting your call," Weinberger told the kidnaper in a

Umbrella Sellers Sing in the Rain as Sales Rocket

If you want to make your fortunes in Pontiac, young men, go into the umbrella business.

Pontiac area stores have been doing a booming business in umbrellas sales the first six months of 1956, thanks to an almost 50 per cent increase in rain over the same six-month period last year.

A recorded 23.19 inches of rain fell from January to June in 1956, as compared with 12.14 inches in 1955. Concurrently, umbrella sales jumped 18 per cent.

The super-saturated month of May accounted for the biggest "drop" of the total with over six inches of rain. Twenty-one out of the 31 days in May brought rain or traces of rain.

Tornado warnings and severe storms marked April and June which had 4.94 and 4.71 inches of rain.

While the heavy rains helped the umbrella business, the county as a whole suffered. Lake residents watched as lake levels rose, and cries from home-owners with flooded basements were heard.

In April crops were delayed a month in being planted. The Agriculture Extension Service offers an encouraging note, reporting that crops are doing exceptionally fine in view of the late planting.

Thunderstorms Loom as Threat to Sunday

The weather man predicts partly cloudy weather tonight with a low of 65 degrees.

The forecast for the Pontiac area tomorrow is partly cloudy with a possibility of scattered thunderstorms in the evening. The high will be 84 to 88 degrees.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 64 degrees. At 1 p.m. the mercury rose to 83 degrees.

McGinnis in Custody 2 Days After Shooting Way From Trap

By PETE LOCHBILER

Pontiac police this morning caught Robert McGinnis, 25, ex-convict and armed robbery suspect who shot his way out of a police ambush Thursday night.

According to Det. Sgt. John DePauw, McGinnis was picked up at 11:07 a.m. at a girl friend's home at Sashabaw Road and W. Walton Boulevard. McGinnis came quietly, he said.

His apprehension brought an end to a police dragnet in which five departments co-operated. Detectives Orville Johnston and Eugene Hendren made the arrest.

McGinnis' whereabouts came by an anonymous tip to an off-duty policeman. Patrolman Ray Kempf received the telephone call this morning.

He notified DePauw, who sent the detectives to the home, near Drayton Plains about two and one-half miles out of the city.

The lithe, escape artist apparently had given up thoughts of again fighting for his freedom.

Thursday night, McGinnis traded pistol shots with Det. James LaPonsie who with other officers was staked out watching the man's car on Paddock St., just south of Pike street. The bullets went wild.

LaPonsie lost track of the fugitive in thick underbrush along the Clinton River. It was McGinnis' sixth official escape from custody, authorities said.

They think he may have sought the car to leave the city. The car (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Indian Chief Tells Scouts of Famous Leader

PROUD HISTORY — Girl Scouts at the National Senior Roundup listen to a story about Chief Pontiac, famed Indian leader, from Chief William Red Fox who visited the encampment recently aboard a shiny new Pontiac Star Chief. The Highland Recreation Area, where the girls have set up their tents, is the scene of some of the exploits for which the 19th Century Indian leader is remembered in history.

Chief Red Fox, who lives on the Pine Tree Ridge Reservation in North Dakota, addresses a group made up of scouts from British Columbia, Guatemala, Mexico and Hawaii. For most of them, it was their first contact with an American Indian outside of motion pictures.

700,000 Idle by Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nationwide strike of 650,000 steelworkers is a week old today with no sign of an early break in the deadlock over a contract.

Meantime, the strike stabs deeper and deeper into the nation's economy. It already has brought unemployment to 50,000 workers in allied industries—most of them railroaders.

Next Tuesday the strike will hit the coal industry a staggering blow. That date marks the end of the annual miners' 10-day vacations.

The so-called captive mines—those owned by steel companies—will be the first to feel the pinch. For many in the captive fields it will mean no work.

There is no official estimate on how many of the captive coal miners will be out of work. One source says it may reach 30,000—others indicate the number will be fewer.

WHO'LL MOVE FIRST?

Although the steelworkers and industry have expressed willingness to resume negotiations both remain adamant in making the first pitch to revive talks.

Most likely the government. Federal mediators who talked to both sides in exploratory meetings said they would be in touch with the parties next week.

The strike began last Saturday at midnight after the union rejected a 52-month contract that the steel companies said contained an immediate 17½ cents boost, including a 7.3 cent hourly wage hike. Steelworkers made an average of $2.46 an hour before the strike.

Washington Has Interesting Week

Tempers Rise in Congress as Bill Debates Increase

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON—Bills were hotly debated on Capitol Hill this week. Tempers also flew high, wide and handsome.

SCHOOLS—The House took two days to kill a federal school construction bill after Rep. Powell (D-NY) succeeded in inserting a provision that would deny federal funds to states practicing segregation in the classroom. At week's end, the capital echoed with denials of responsibility for killing the bill.

The administration had asked for a five-year, 1½ billion dollar program without the segregation amendment. As debated, the bill would have provided $1,600,000,000 over four years.

FOREIGN AID — A Senate-House conference committee agreed on a $4,614,575,000 foreign aid ceiling, while a House Appropriations Committee voted to hold the actual amount to $3,465,920,000.

POSTAL—The House passed and sent to the Senate the postal rate increase bill in response to administration pleas for help with a postal deficit running as high as a half billion dollars annually.

VETERANS—The House Democratic leadership indicated it favored action this session on the veterans disability measure, but chances in the Senate seemed uncertain because of the scant amount of time remaining.

The measure approved by the House Veterans Committee would give larger increases for more severe disabilities. It also upped payments to dependents of servicemen with service-connected disabilities.

DEFENSE

—Wilson clashed with Senate critics on a special subcommittee investigating relative U.S.-Russian air strength. He told the group he has not decided whether a speedup in construction of long-range B52 jet bombers is necessary.

NATIONAL DEBT—The Senate passed and sent to the President a bill to put the temporary national debt ceiling at 275 billion dollars for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957. This is 3 billions above the permanent ceiling of 272 billions, but 3 billions less than the 281 billions in effect for the past two years.

ATOMIC—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) told the Senate U.S. cities soon will be defended from H-bomb attacks by ground-to-air nuclear missiles, possibly within the next four years.

DULLES — Secretary of State Dulles told the House Appropriations Committee the chances of Russia starting a war now are less than a year ago, but warned against letting this nation's guard sag.

Girls to Don Costumes for Weekend Program in Roundup Area

Girl Scouts out at the Roundup are tidying up for their second and last week end of visitors. They had close to 4,500 guests on Independence Day.

Over 1,500 Senior Scout campers will transform themselves into Ice Age men, Eskimos, cowboys, Indians, early pioneers and riverboat gamblers. The 40 actresses in the group will have help in their makeup from Russ Smith, Wayne University instructor, and his staff.

Governor G. Mennen Williams is expected to take part in today's program. He is scheduled to lead the scouts in the "American Girl Polka," created for the girls by Arthur Murray and to be danced by thousands of scouts in the closing scene of the pageant.

Preparations for the program have been under way for months. Roundup campers were assigned costumes to make early this year. Wichita, Kansas, girls worked from April until they came to Michigan last week on their Indian costumes. They had to do considerable research to find out exactly what was worn by the eight Great Plains tribes they represent. Cheyenne, Blackfoot, Sioux, Pawnee, Omaha, Wichita, Crow and Osage tribes all have different dress and decorations.

The public will visit Roundup daily from 10 until sundown, today through July 11.

Auto Crash Kills Pontiac Mother

Mrs. Nancy Moore, 23, Is Victim; Husband, Son Receive Injuries

A Pontiac woman was killed and her husband and young son severely injured when their car crashed into a tractor-trailer truck early this morning on US16, two miles west of Fowlerville.

Mrs. Nancy J. Moore, 23, of 544 DeSota Pl., was dead on arrival at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing following the accident.

Her husband John, the driver, is in critical condition at the Lansing hospital with chest, internal, arm and leg injuries.

Their son, Christian Moore, 4, was reported in "good" condition. He suffered a broken left arm and severe head lacerations in the collision, according to Brighton state police.

John Goller, 53, of Rockford, the truck operator, was not hurt. He is being held by State Police pending investigation of the accident.

Troopers said the tractor-trailer was leaving a roadside restaurant and had pulled partially onto the highway when the tractor part was struck from the rear by the Moore vehicle.

Uncertain Fate in Senate Test Awaits Measure

First Class Mail Boost of One-Cent to Bring in 295 Million Annually

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House voted last night to increase U.S. postal rates by 430 million dollars a year, mostly through a penny boost in the cost of mailing first-class letters.

The legislation was approved by a roll-call vote of 217 to 165. It was a victory for the Eisenhower administration and a defeat for the House Democratic leadership.

The measure now goes to an uncertain fate in the Senate. Its passage in the House came as somewhat of a surprise since many members had expected an election-year hike in postage rates would never go through.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield said he was "grateful" to the House for approving the bill—which is designed to put the Post Office on a "pay-as-you-go" basis instead of allowing it to pile up deficits every year.

Summerfield added: "I am hopeful that the Senate will act promptly on this legislation."

Under the bill, first-class mail would require four-cent stamp instead of the present three. This would mean an increase of 235 million dollars annually in Post Office revenue.

AIR MAIL UP PENNY

Another 16 million, 400 thousand dollars would be realized each year from a proposed one-cent boost in the six-cent air mail rate. There would also be increased rates for the mailing of newspapers and magazines, yielding 45 million, 300 thousand dollars a year.

Still another 77 million dollars would come from higher costs for sending advertising mail, books and catalogues.

The new rates would go into effect on Jan. 1.

While National Output Drops 9 Per Cent

Truck Division Here Shows Six-Month Gain

With a production of 53,296 vehicles in the first six months of 1956, as against 51,858 for the same period last year, General Motors Truck and Coach Division shows a net gain of 2.7 per cent for the first half of the current year.

The truck industry as a whole reflects a loss of 9 per cent.

"All of us on South Boulevard are proud of this record," said General Manager Philip J. Monaghan to The Pontiac Press today.

"By and large the automotive business has faced some tough sledding in 1956," he continued. "The passenger cars show a total decline of approximately 26 per cent. The truck divisions as a whole have made a much better proportionate showing although they have an aggregate loss which runs nine per cent. Our own plant here in Pontiac actually shows a gain.

"We feel this has exerted a stabilizing influence on Pontiac employment," said Monaghan. "I understand that over the years, the GMC Truck and Coach Division has often run steadily or even forged ahead at a time when passenger cars were experiencing some decline. We are happy to have this 1956 record of progress at this particular time in the Pontiac area.

"Our prospects ahead are reasonably bright. All truck companies slump off a little in the summer and we will probably follow the customary seasonal trend, but it will merely reflect the pattern of the past years. As far as we can see now, activity down here will continue on a healthy basis for the balance of the year.

"We have some good orders in sight and are hard at work uncovering additional prospects. I am very happy over the fine quality and the fine appearance of our current products. We really pioneered the good looks of trucks and it has paid off. Businesses generally were interested and welcomed the change. For years the appearance of a truck didn't seem to make any difference. Perhaps it was because the manufacturers didn't give enough attention to that feature. Anyway, we blazed the trail and the idea caught on immediately.

"I am not prepared to discuss Attorney General Brownell's anti-trust suit against us at this time. Our attorneys are studying his charges in detail. We feel we have the right to build and sell all the buses we can. That's guaranteed by the constitution. If we do a better job than others and if the buyers want our products, it's our job to produce and sell what they want to buy. This great Diesel is our own development and apparently bus buyers think it's a great step forward."

GMC is planning its annual picnic at Walled Lake July 14.

Like Second Condition Reported Good

Convalescent Progress Steady and Uneventful, Doctors Say

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U-P) President Eisenhower's condition is reported to be steady and uneventful, doctors here said today.

His convalescent progress has been steady and uneventful, the medical men reported late yesterday. One of them, Dr. Isidor Ravdin, the University of Pennsylvania professor called in as a consulting surgeon, described himself as "very pleased with the marked improvement the President has had this week."

This medical report was the first since the President came to his farm to continue recovery from his June 9 operation. It was issued a few hours after the announcement that Eisenhower has talked politics at last with two of his key aides.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower discussed "both personal politics and general politics" yesterday with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, and with Hagerty himself.

There was no word on whether Eisenhower indicated he would stand by his Feb. 29 decision to seek a second term, or even that he had reached a decision on his plans.

From the broad smile with which Hagerty volunteered his information, many newsmen gained the impression the second term decision was still yet.

But Hagerty said later he could not say when the "suspense"—as a reporter put it—over the President's plans will end.

On the medical side, Hagerty said the President's diet is being continued at 2,500 calories a day, compared with the preoperation 1,800, to get the chief executive's weight back up to around 170.

What about the healing of the President's incision?

"As far as I know, it's progressing right well," Hagerty said. He added he thought this was borne out by the doctors' description of the President's recovery as "uneventful."

Hike in Postal Rates Approved by House

action, Republicans, aided by a small group of Democrats, were in control.

Only one amendment to the measure as it had been approved by the House Post Office Committee was approved, and that had been agreed on by both sides in advance.

This amendment would exempt from the higher second-class mail rates all newspapers whose circulations did not exceed 5,000 copies a year.

At one point, however, the Republicans were caught napping. This occurred when Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) offered an amendment which provided that the new four-cent stamp contain an elephant with a dollar sign.

The amendment was adopted with a roar of approval by the Democrats. At first, the Republicans sat silent. But when they realized what happened, they successfully got the House to reverse itself.

The most important amendment of the day, though, was offered by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) to strike from the bill the one-cent boost in first-class mail rates. It was defeated 182 to 114.

This apparently turned the tide against the Democratic leadership. Both Majority Leader John McCormack (D-Mass.) and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) opposed the measure, with McCormack taking the floor in opposition.

If the Senate also agree to increase first-class mailing charges, it will be the first such boost in the cost of sending letters out of town since 1932. Between 1935 and 1932, the rate was only two cents.

House to Probe Crash Which Killed 128

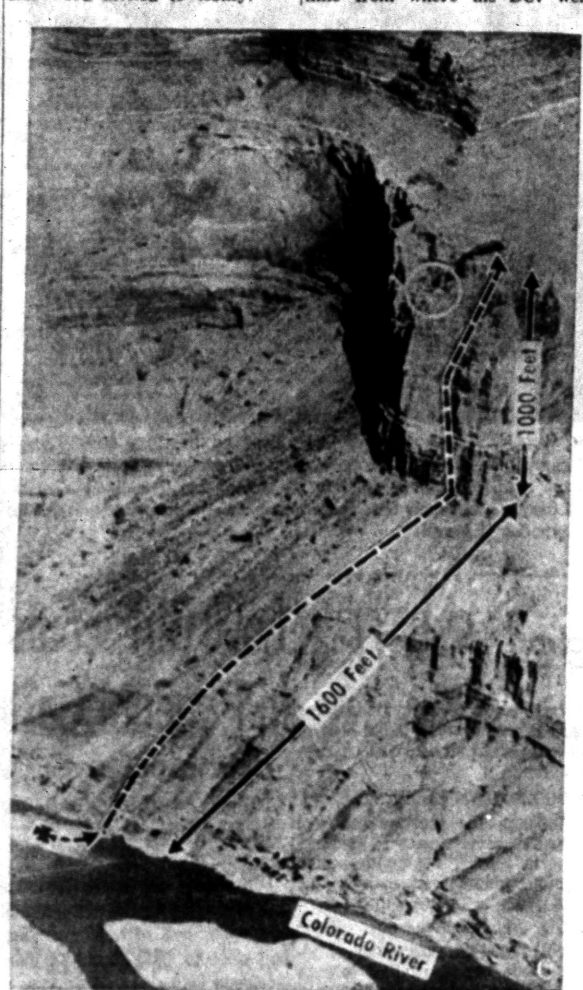

Air Disaster Victims To Have Mass Burial

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U-P) A thorough inquiry into the control operation preceding the Grand Canyon air crash was set today by a House Commerce subcommittee.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee, said that Civil Aeronautics Administration radio controlmen from the Southern California, Utah and Arizona areas will be given the opportunity to outline the guidance they gave the TWA and United Air Lines last Saturday.

The two sky giants apparently collided about 90 minutes after they took off only three minutes apart from Los Angeles International Airport. All 128 persons aboard the planes were killed. It was the worst disaster in commercial airline history.

The nine-man subcommittee planned to hear from operations officials of the two airlines. Pilots who saw the two planes in the air also were invited to testify.

Mrs. C. E. Otter Dies Suddenly

Wife of Former Mayor in Bloomfield Active in Club Affairs

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mrs. Clarence E. Otter, active clubwoman and wife of the former Bloomfield Hills mayor and the William R. Hamilton Co. president, died suddenly last night at their home on Woodward Avenue here.

The Otters had lived in Bloomfield Hills for 27 years. Mrs. Otter belonged to the Women's City Club in Detroit, the newly-formed Village Woman's Club, and the Bloomfield Hills branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn.

She leaves, besides her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Robert Lee Graham Jr., of Bloomfield Hills, and Phoebe and Julie Otter, both at home.

Her body will lie at the Bell Chapel of the Hamilton Co. through Monday. Funeral service will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Christ Church Cranbrook, to which she belonged. Interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Henry Hansen

Henry Hansen, 80, of 2500 James K Court was dead on arrival at Highland Park General Hospital at 11 a.m. yesterday. He had been in ill health several years.

A native of Denmark, he was born Nov. 23, 1875. His parents were Christian and Julia Hansen.

A building contractor, Mr. Hansen had been a resident of Pontiac 25 years, coming here from Battle Creek. He was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church and BPOE 810.

Besides his wife, the former Phyllis Jean Twichel, he leaves three children, Edwin, Harvey and Robert Hansen, all of Battle Creek; nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Snake Expert Surviving His 55th Bite

MIAMI, Fla. (U-P) Snake expert William Haast is in a hospital today recuperating from his latest bout with a rattlesnake. A four-footer tagged him on the left hand yesterday as he tried to measure it. A group of tourists watching at Haast's Miami Serpenterium saw the snake strike. Haast locked the reptile in its cage and was taken to a hospital. As his wife described it: "He grew limp as a baby. His body would grow so warm heat radiated from it, then he would get clammy. His arm swelled to the elbow."

Doctors at the hospital treated Haast with serum.

This is the 55th bite Haast has suffered, including 29 bites from cobras and related snakes whose poison attacks the nervous system.

Haast, 45, formerly of Patterson, N. J., and a veteran snake handler with 33 years of experience, says the many cobra bites together with minute amounts of venom he injected in his body have given him a resistance to cobra venom.

Resistance to the nerve-attacking venom of cobras would be no protection against the poison of a rattlesnake which damages the blood.

Here We Go Again—Manistee Wins Base

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Despite objections of the Air Force and some members of Michigan's congressional delegation, Manistee County, Mich., has won the latest victory in the fight to obtain a proposed jet air base.

A House-Senate conference committee yesterday agreed to switch the controversial base back to Manistee from Kalkaska County, Mich.

The rival Michigan counties have carried on a running fight over the issue for more than two years. The action yesterday by the House-Senate conferees reversed a Senate vote which had specified Kalkaska as location for the base.

Meanwhile, the slow and depressing job of picking through the wreckage of the superconstellation yesterday after a search for clues to the cause of the tragedy.

Detectives Push Hunt for Kidnaped Baby

prearranged message carried by newspapers and television.

Weinberger said he was convinced that the anonymous caller was the kidnaper who snatched the boy from his carriage on the patio of his home in this fashionable suburb July 4.

But police cautioned against over-optimism and said it was "probable" that the baby was still alive.

The kidnaper called at 9:40 a.m. directing Weinberger to notify afternoon newspapers that the increased ransom demand would be met. He said another call would follow.

CRACKPOTS CALL

By midnight, the phone rang 25 times but no further contact was made with the kidnaper. Most of the calls came from crackpots, cranks and the curious-minded.

Detective chief Stuyvesant Pinnell said police are doing everything to cooperate with the family's efforts to recover the child. But he denied that police were getting out of the case so the parents could deal privately with the kidnaper.

"When a felony is brought to our attention," he said, "we have no alternative. We must pursue the case with all the vigor and all the facilities at our command."

TRAP FAILS

Police attempted to bait a trap for the kidnaper. Thursday by placing wads of paper sandwiched between real bills at two intersections near the Weinberger home, in accordance with the kidnaper note found near the baby's carriage. But the ransom envelopes went untouched.

Later the baby's mother, Beatrice Weinberger, 32, broadcast a radio and TV appeal for her son's safe return.

Weinberger issued a statement yesterday saying that his uncle, drug executive Mannie Weinberger, was prepared to write a blank check for the kidnaper.

"My uncle isn't a rich man but he will meet any demand made," Weinberger said. "The kidnaper can fill out the blank check. If there's not enough money in the bank, my uncle will guarantee the amount wrote on the check and it will be given in cash."

The blue-eyed, sandy-haired baby, if alive, is five weeks old today.

He was kidnapped sometime between 3 and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, shortly after the mother had fed him and placed the carriage in the sun on the back patio of the $32,000 ranch house.

The Weinberger home is only three miles from East Meadow where only nine months ago Stephen Damman, 3, was kidnapped from outside a supermarket. He has never been found.

Loaded Revolver Stolen

A loaded .38 caliber revolver was reportedly stolen last night from a home at 467 California Ave., Pontiac police said.

The owner, William Jenkins, said there were four rounds in the .380 gun. He said entry was gained through a kitchen window, where a screen was ripped out, police added.

Poznan Police Replaced by 'Outsiders,' Says Report

BERLIN (U-P) — A West Berlin newspaper said today the entire police force in the Polish city of Poznan has been replaced.

The Independent Telegraph—the first newspaper to break the news of last week's abortive uprising in Communist Poland—said the old police force has been "transported to an unknown destination and replaced by outside policemen."

The switch was made, the paper said, because Poznan police had conducted themselves "passively," and permitted themselves to be disarmed by workers during the riots for bread and freedom.

The paper also said Poznan workers report that preparations are being made in the larger factories for public executions of the rebellion's ringleaders.

In its Berlin-dated dispatch the newspaper also reported the rebellion's death toll has risen above 500. The Polish government has said 48 persons were killed, while unofficial estimates place the figure somewhere between 200 and 300.

The newspaper said its figures were based on information given Western businessmen who visited Poznan's international fair last week.

Auto Crashes From Road; Driver, Passenger Hurt

Two men suffered minor injuries yesterday afternoon when their car went out of control and left the highway on Sashabaw Rd., Waterford Township, Oakland County. Sheriff's deputies reported today.

Injured were: Norman Lawson, 31, of Garden City, the driver, and Arthur Schafer, 37, of Clarkston. Lawson told investigating deputies he lost control of his car when he rounded a curve too fast.

Diamond Rings Stolen

Two diamond rings, valued at $175, were reported stolen from the top of a living room television set yesterday at 137 Wall St., Pontiac police said.

Mrs. Augusta Morris of that address thinks the theft occurred between 1:30 p.m. and 2 p.m., police added.

The Day in Birmingham

Study Zoning and Bonds, Naming of Manager

BIRMINGHAM — Meetings in the near future may bring a new policy for enforcing the Business C zoning ordinance; appointment of a new city manager, and sale of bonds for Parking Lot 3-A.

The planning board will hear on Tuesday the city planner's recommendations on how and why the Business C ordinance can keep Birmingham's growth from creating blighted areas.

The planner, Herbert Herzberg, cites eight areas in his report ready for submission. The ordinance aims to keep areas between retailing and residential zones from losing their land values.

"Allowing and promoting more Business C uses will insure Birmingham's reputation of a fine residential community as well as allow it to become a leader in Southeastern Michigan for the best in retail and service business," he says.

If his interpretation of the ordinance is adopted by the city planners, they will confer on it with city commissioners at a July 17 meeting.

At that joint meeting, Myron E. Snyder's request for Business C zoning of the Southwest corner at Oak and Woodward will be discussed. It has been pending several months.

Naming of the successor to City Manager D. C. Egbert, whose resignation is effective August 1, was expected by commissioners shortly after final interviews that were to have been last week.

Bonds for $305,000 are to be authorized for at the city commission meeting a week from Monday, according to Egbert. They will finance construction of Parking Lot 3-A in the north-east quadrant of the city, and will pay for the lots in the site.

The lot costs were established in a recent circuit court decision. The parking lot when completed, will provide 175 car spaces.

Another discussion expected at the planning commission will be on the requested rezoning of corners on Woodward at Redding. A. L. Kassaban wants his corner north of Redding changed to Business A, while Samuel Franko wishes a similar change for the southern corner. Both have also requested zoning to allow parking in the lots immediately behind their properties.

Office buildings are planned for the corners, one of which now holds a gas station.

A wave of bike thefts is reported by Birmingham police, but is termed usual for the early summer season. Warning for youngsters to watch their vehicles closely was issued.

A small girl on a bike who swerved in front of his car was blamed for his son's head injury by H. H. Kaltman, of St. Clair Shores this week. The boy was thrown against the dashboard as the car swung to avoid the girl, Kaltman said.

had been parked untouched for several days, detectives said.

McGinnis, a Detroit, has a prison record dating back to 1948 and is wanted as a suspect in several Detroit holdups. He was sought here for violation of his parole from Ionia State Reformatory.

He was supposed to remain in Plymouth, Mich., according to his parole terms, but police believe he has been in Pontiac since his disappearance two weeks ago.

During that time, he may have participated in several armed robberies, Detroit police believe.

Police figure McGinnis may have returned to Pontiac as a hideout after the robberies. They believe he was staying at a hotel here.

Officials said McGinnis would be questioned by Detroit police, but that a warrant may be sought here in the shooting Thursday night. A charge of assault with a deadly weapon may be brought, they said.

Four police departments searched for McGinnis after his escape Thursday night. Yesterday, Johnston and Det. Robert Emery tracked down leads to his possible whereabouts.

Three men taken in the ambush will be turned over to Detroit police today as possible suspects in recent holdups, Johnston said.

They are William R. Bale, 24, of 63 Williams St.; Eugene P. Bale, 39, of 2237 Harvard Rd.; Berkley and Edwin C. DeTambles, 22, of 6610 Central St., Detroit. The Bales are brothers.

Livonia police also plan to question the three men, Johnston said. No formal charges have been made against them.

Go Driving in High Style

NEW YORK (INS) — The girl who's invited to dash about in an open sports car next winter has to be dashing in dress, too.

No sedate lap rugs, please. Take an auto robe you can wear.

There is just such a garment: An auto robe coat designed especially for breezy sports car motoring.

It's the brainchild of furrier Charles Aronowicz of New York, who obviously thinks a ride in those long-slung open foreign sports cars merits clothing to match.

He's made a car robe coat that keeps you furry-warm from shoulder to shin, but provides the same lack of bulk for sitting a lap robe gives.

The coat is sleeveless, tipped all the way up the front, and has a split seam from waist to hem in back.

You wear it straight when stretching your legs; in the car, you button each side to your front pockets so that there's no bulge under your hips.

Aronowicz makes the coat corduroy outside, hamster fur inside. These hamsters are not the cute little things you petted in the school lab; they're bigger rodent cousins. Even so, it takes 75 of them to line the coat.

From Harvey Berin's summer collection is this town dress of black and white checked cotton. Black accents are in the linen undercollar, bow and patent leather belt. Beaded lace provides a frosty touch to the sleeveless bodice.

Seeks Disposal Plant Answer

Waterford Board Gets Refusal From State on Blank Sewer Request

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Michigan State Health Department has turned down a request for the installation of "blank sewer" systems in the township. A blank sewer system requires the builder to install all the necessary sewer equipment in each home, preparatory to hooking into a main sewer trunkline when it is available. Septic tanks would be used on a temporary basis.

Such blank sewers were previously approved for the Highland Estates. The state group claims it was under the impression that only one such system was contemplated. Watkins Hills No. 2 subdivision is the one under present application for the blank system.

The township board agreed this week the only apparent answer to sewer problems for areas such as Watkins Hills No. 2 where septic tanks are not advisable is a disposal plant to serve the area.

A resolution was passed by the board asking the Pontiac City Commission for permission to extend the present sewer system to include Edgeland, Sylvan Shores and Donelson Park sewers.

Ordinances regulating junk yard dismantling, sidewalks and greenbelt requirements for commercial properties were passed by the board.

The board also agreed to share half the cost of crossing guards for township schools.

Rochester Couple Plans to Make Home in Hawaii

ROCHESTER — Planning to live in Hawaii are Mr. and Mrs. Gary H. Quick, who vacationed in northern Michigan following their recent wedding in Rochester.

The bride is the former Shirley Ann Irwin, 119 S. Alice, Rochester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Irwin of that address.

Her bridegroom, an airman second class, is son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Quick, 609 Ludlow.

For the rites in St. Paul's Methodist Church, the bride chose a gown of imported French lace over satin, with its floor length skirt having a front panel of nylon tulle. Her headpiece of lace with sequins and seed pearls held a fingertip veil.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Mary Payne of St. Clair Shores. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Jeanette Howell, Carole Hubner

Numbers Study Aids Retarded Children

LAPEER — Numbers are helping retarded children find their place in society. Yet numbers, like other abstract ideas, are the most difficult things for the mentally retarded to handle.

Using the abacus and adding machine, children at the Lapeer State Home and Training School are proud that they are learning to do things that the "other" children can do.

The following names are fictional. But their progress is real.

James, 17, is retarded because he is spastic and totally deaf. Six months ago he couldn't hold a pencil. Today he computes grocery bills on an adding machine and shows how he can make change.

Mary, 12, is sadly retarded. She has lived all her short life in the home. Now she writes the numeral "500" on an abacus and beams proudly.

Big, husky boys, 17 and 18 years old, learn to add, multiply and divide on the abacus. Advanced boys buy imaginary clothes from a catalog, paying for them out of imaginary jobs.

The abacus and adding machine have been used since last fall by the 75 children in the primary arithmetic classes.

The plan to use the two number tools was developed by Dr. Andrew F. Schott of Marquette University. He has helped the Lapeer officials with the project.

Dr. Schott tried the plan originally on seven public and parochial schools in the Milwaukee, Wis., area. Normal children in these schools learned arithmetic two to five times faster than the average.

As a public service project, Burroughs Corp., of Detroit supplied the Lapeer home with all equipment, manuals, and machines. They retained Dr. Schott to set up the program.

It fits in perfectly with the school program of teaching the retarded how to take care of themselves and their finances so that they can step out again into society.

It also develops confidence among the children when they find they are doing "things the other kids can do."

"We'll try it again next year," one official said, "by that time we can judge fairly well. At least, it's a definite hope for children who sometimes don't have much to hope for."

Hindu Graduate Visiting North Branch Farmers

By MYRA M. SNOW
North Branch Correspondent

NORTH BRANCH — A 23-year-old agricultural student of northeast India is learning American farming methods while visiting the Elton Bauman family at their farm at 5571 North Branch Rd.

Bibhuti Tiwary has noted that the hurry and bustle of the American routine of work and play is much different from his native land.

He is a graduate of Banarash Hindu University in northeast India. His home is situated in the Buhar state, where he lives in a farm village. He owns and operated a 500-acre farm tract just outside the village.

Speaking three languages besides English, his background and experiences have made him a stimulating companion for the adult Bauman as well as the four young sons of the family, the Bauman report.

His stay at their farm is a period of his participation in the International Farm Youth Exchange project.

The sharp drop in night temperatures compared to daylight hours is a change from Indian weather, he says.

Having completed nearly three of his six months in the U. S., he will go from North Branch to Kansas for the remaining time.

Traffic Moving During Project

LAKE ORION — Contractors Lewis & Frisinger, on the M24 project between Pontiac and Orion, are now working on Saturdays to make up for time lost during the wet weather earlier.

Pouring of the concrete began this week just north of Scripps Road. Traffic will be kept moving on the concrete at all times, so commuters from the area will not have delaying detours.

The highway department requests, however, that during the operation the 35-mile limit be observed, and extra caution used where the actual work is progressing.

The total project includes seven miles of new pavement, part of which replaces the old.

Former Teacher in Marlette Weds in Lansing Rite

MARLETTE — Ireta LaSalle, Muskegon, and William George Gregory exchanged nuptial vows recently in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Lansing.

Miner Meindersma, Zeeland, nephew of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Henry Haan, Battle Creek, sister of the bride, attended the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory are spending their honeymoon at St. Clair and Port Huron.

They will make their home in Muskegon.

Jesse Cooper Reunion

MARLETTE — Officers were elected for the coming year at the recent Jesse Cooper family reunion held here with Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper as hosts.

Mrs. May Schell of Cass City was named president and Mrs. Mike Wolfe of Saginaw is new secretary. The reunion next year will be held in Mayville, with Mrs. Alice Jeffrey as hostess.

Expect Issues to Raise Vote

FARMINGTON — Interest of voters who wish to cast ballots in the August 7 vote on the race track proposal and the proposed incorporation of Section 12 as a village is expected to increase registration figures in this area.

Monday has been set as the last day for residents of both city and township to register for the general primary election.

Township citizens may register at the township offices in the Town Hall from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday.

City residents may register during the same hours at the city clerk's office in the Municipal Building.

Methodist Youth Fete Detroiters

LAKE ORION — The Youth Fellowship of the Lake Orion Methodist Church is presenting a group from the Cass Avenue Methodist Church of Detroit, with a dinner at 6:00 p.m. at the church. Co-chairmen are Jackie Sibley and Gayle Winkler.

The Detroit group will lead the young people's devotional service at 6:30; and will present the entire regular evening vesper service of the church at 7:30.

Hollywood Headlines

Filmdom's Big Boulevard Lacks Legendary Glitter

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD — So they've started to give Hollywood Boulevard a face-lifting. From the looks of the place, major surgery is in order.

Hollywood's civic leaders have long fretted over the fact that millions of tourists come here every year to view the town's glamor and go away disappointed. The geographical area of Hollywood is only a shade more glamorous than Passaic or Pocatello.

With their retail business ebbing, the businessmen formed the Hollywood Improvement Assn. and hired top-notch planners Pereira and Luckman.

The association plans to spend $1,627,800 during the coming year for colored sidewalks, dazzling street lights and specially designed news stands, street signs, trash cans, etc. The names of 2,000 stars of the past and present will be imprinted on the sidewalks.

That's all very nice, but the boosters will have to do more than that to make the boulevard live up to its reputation. Let's take a trip down the faded street and see what we see.

We start at Gower and head west. For two or three blocks we find car dealers, parking lots and a mortuary. Then comes Pantages Theater, site of the Academy Awards. But on the 364 other days of the year, it's just another movie house.

Hollywood and Vine can scarcely match Times Square or other famous intersections. It is bounded by two office buildings, a department store and a restaurant. Continuing westward, we find little in the next few blocks but clothing stores, delicatessens and the Warners Theater, which now houses Cinerama.

From there we see pawn shops, juice stands, bowling alleys, surplus stores, brasserie shops, bars and close-out sales. The tone is lifted somewhat by the Egyptian Theater ("Oklahoma!") and a few good stores.

Things pick up a bit with the Hollywood Paramount and Grauman's Egyptian.

man's Chinese, by far the favorite tourist trap because of the famous footprints. Then we see the modernized Roosevelt Hotel, the stately old Garden Court apartments and a few other buildings until the boulevard ends its so-called glamor section at Labrea Avenue.

That's Hollywood Boulevard. Civic planners have long-range plans to improve it but you can see that they've got a long way to go.

April-May Tractor Death Toll Was 14

EAST LANSING — Twelve farmers and two children were killed in tractor accidents on Michigan farms in April and May of this year, a compilation showed today.

Richard G. Pfister, extension farm safety specialist at Michigan State University, said most of the accidents could have been prevented.

FOLLOW THESE RULES

Pfister said these are the lessons learned from study of them: Don't allow children to ride on a tractor with dad. Protectors should be put on power take off shafts. Tractors should not be operated within 20 feet of a steep bank. Tractors should be kept off steep slopes.

Rear view mirrors are needed on tractors when hauling machinery or loads that obstruct vision to the rear.

Speed of travel should be carefully adjusted to operating conditions.
