UAW Hopes High in Today's Talks With Ford

Faubus' Right to Close Schools Heads for Test

Trying to Reach Agreement by Strike Deadline

Wednesday Target Day Looms Close; Chrysler Also in Session

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union headed into weekend negotiations with Ford Motor Co. today with high expectations of a contract offer from the company.

It was the first time that the union, which also was meeting with Chrysler Corp. today, held weekend talks with the auto companies since contracts expired during the Memorial Day weekend. No meeting was scheduled at General Motors until Monday.

Although a company spokesman said the weekend meeting at Chrysler indicated new progress in its talks with the union, the Ford talks held the primary interest.

Ford negotiators were attempting to reach a settlement before a Wednesday deadline set by the union for a strike.

Ford vice president John S. Bugas confirmed that the company would make an offer to the union before the Wednesday deadline but he refused to say specifically that it would come this weekend.

"We are in the process of trying to explore and will make an offer on the basis of our exploration," Bugas said. "I rather expect the offer will be made before next Wednesday but I can't pinpoint it further than that."

But union officials were obviously hopeful that the offer would come during the weekend so the negotiators would have more time to work out any difficulties before the strike deadline.

Before going in to open the Saturday morning discussions, Bugas said:

"Part of the unexplored areas have paths, so we are not in a complete wilderness now. We are approaching clarity in some areas. But I do not want to name these areas. We are walking on eggs most of the time. I really feel neither optimistic nor pessimistic."

"We are making progress but I

Pleasant Weekend to Precede Rain

The weatherman promises fair and warmer tonight and Sunday throughout the Lower Peninsula. Tonight's low will be near 60.

The high tomorrow is expected to reach 85 and the low tomorrow night, 65. Today's southwesterly winds at 5-10 miles an hour will increase to 10-20 miles Sunday night.

Showers spreading over all the state with cooler temperatures is the outlook for late Monday.

Fifty-four was the lowest temperature reading preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 76 at 1 p.m.

Appeals to Khrushchev

Ike Seeks Peace in China

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower today appealed directly to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to urge Chinese Red leaders "to discontinue their military operations and to turn to a policy of peaceful settlement of the Taiwan (Formosa) dispute."

In a 700-word letter to Khrushchev, Eisenhower said that if the Chinese Reds "can be persuaded to place their trust in negotiations and a readiness to practice conciliation," the United States will "strive in that spirit earnestly to the same end."

The United States hopes that an understanding can be arranged through renewed ambassadorial talks with Red China that "will assure that there will be no resort to the use of force" in resolving the Formosa crisis, the President said.

Eisenhower bluntly told Khrushchev that the main issue was whether the Chinese Reds would "accept the vital requisite of moral peace and order in a nuclear age and renounce the use of force as a means for satisfying their territorial claims." He said the off-shore islands never have been under control of the Chinese Reds.

The President warned that U.S. military forces were in the Formosa area to fulfill commitments to Nationalist China to assist in defense of Formosa and the Pescadores Islands.

They are there to help resist aggression—not to commit aggression," the President said.

"No upside-down presentation such as contained in your letter can change this fact."

Eisenhower's letter was in reply to a letter from Khrushchev received here last Monday. Khrushchev accused the United States of aggression in the Formosa area and called for the withdrawal of all U.S. armed forces now there, and said any attack on Communist China would be considered an attack on the Soviet Union.

Without replying directly, the President made clear that he has no intention of pulling out the U.S. forces until the Chinese Reds cease their aggressive military moves and agree to a negotiated settlement of the crisis.

It was the third major U.S. warning in 10 days against any attempt by the Chinese Reds to take the Nationalist-held offshore islands by force.

Meanwhile, in the trouble area, a U.S.-escorted Chinese convoy landed "some" supplies on Communist-blockaded Quemoy Island early today before it was driven off by a Red "saturation barrage," it was announced here.

There was no report of casualties or damage to the convoy or its American escort destroyers, which remained outside the three-mile limit.

A spokesman at U.S. headquarters said four LSM's spent 23 minutes on shell-pocked Liao Le

'Challenge' TV Quiz Show, Fix Suspect, Goes Off Air

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

NEW YORK — "The $64,000 Challenge" television quiz program, accused of a "fix," has been taken off the air.

The cancellation, announced yesterday, "does not concern any accusation made against the show," its producer said.

Last week, the Rev. Charles E. Jackson, a Nashville minister, said he was given the answer to a question in advance when he was a contestant.

Entertainment Productions, Inc. producer of the show, has denied his charge.

The sponsor, P. Lorillard Co., in an announcement yesterday, said it was revising its fall TV programming to get as varied an audience as possible.

Earlier this week, the tobacco company's advertising agency, Lennen & Newell, Inc., reported the sponsor was "greatly disturbed over the unfavorable publicity" received by the show when the minister leveled his charge.

"Challenge" will be replaced by a special news program tomorrow night on CBS. It was to have moved to NBC next week but will be dropped.

Matches in progress, an agency executive said, will be considered ties and the contestants will split the money. Long-time contestant Teddy Nadler has won a record $264,000 in the show.

Cancellation of another TV quiz, the now-defunct "Dotto," touched off an investigation of quiz shows by the Manhattan district attorney's office.

Third Party Predicted for South

Political Bosses Trade Hot Words

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said last night: "I do not believe that open defiance of the law of the land as interpreted by the Supreme Court represents the opinion of the majority of Democrats."

This statement came during a shouted exchange between Butler and the Republican national chairman, Meade Alcorn, who forecast a third party in the 1960 elections.

The two were members of a question and answer panel at the annual Griddle Show of the Kansas City Press Club. Here was the sequence:

Butler (addressing Alcorn): "I see by the papers that you were in Little Rock just before you came here. Did you have anything to say about integration while you were down there?"

Alcorn: "I'll say one thing, Mr. Butler, I can make the same speech in Little Rock as I can in Chicago and that's more than you can do. Have you been in Little Rock lately?"

Butler said he did not plan to go to Little Rock and did not subscribe to the views expressed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, also a Democrat. He said he did not believe a vast majority of Democrats supported a man who "openly flouted the law of the land."

Alcorn: "I'll say we are going to face a much weakened Democrat party in the 1960 elections and a third party . . . made up of southern conservatives who will leave the Democrats at the open invitation just extended by Mr. Butler."

Another heated exchange took place when a questioner said:

"Mr. Butler, we see that in New York State the Republicans have matched you millionaire for millionaire. How much longer are you going to try and kid the people yours is the party of the common man?"

Butler: "The Republicans are simply trying to match Averell Harriman (in the race for governor) with a millionaire, Nelson Rockefeller. There is nothing in the fact that some Democrats have considerable money. They still support government for all the people. They don't represent special interests like the Republicans."

Alcorn: "Well, at least we're not subject to the will of the labor bosses. No labor man like Walter Reuther (president of the United Auto Workers Union) can come into our convention and tell the delegates what they can do or cannot do."

Butler: "If we elect a president there's not going to be any special back entrance at the White House for the Jimmy Hoffas and Dave Becks." (Referring to the president and ex-president of the Teamsters Union).

Alcorn: "Paul, you can't deny that Walter Reuther is going to dictate your candidate in the 1960 election. We're proud we haven't got anything like that in the Republican party."

Fast Recovery Pace Stumping Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pace of the business is stumping the experts, who had expected it to be slower.

The Federal Reserve Board capped a week of favorable economic news yesterday by announcing that industrial production — which took the earliest and steepest nosedive of all the major business indicators—rose 2 per cent last month.

Citing simultaneous rises in employment, retail buying, housing and total new construction, the board summarized August gains in a half-dozen words:

The federal reserve index, which measures output of the nation's mines, mills and factories climbed to 137 per cent of the 1947-49 average. The 3-point rise in the index from July to August is equivalent to a 2 per cent improvement for the month.

"Thus by August industrial production had recovered more than one-half the decline from August 1957 to the April low," the board said.

Few government or private economists last spring, when the index had sagged to 126, were willing to predict more than minor gains by the end of the year.

The board made special note that August's widespread increases in activity included gains in industries which make machinery and industrial equipment.

Such a development usually indicates increased business spending on plant construction and modernization and foreshadows the opening onew job opportunities.

The board's report appeared to confirm the prospect, raised a week ago by the Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission, of an upturn in spending on plant and equipment before the year-end.

Is It Over? Debbie Asks for Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The marriage of Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher, once thought to be one of Hollywood's happiest, is on its way to the divorce courts.

Debbie told her lawyer to get her a divorce yesterday after Eddie blasted her hopes for a reconciliation.

"A breakup was inevitable," said Eddie. "The marriage would have come to an end even if I had never known Elizabeth Taylor. I alone accept full responsibility for its failure."

Debbie seemed surprised and hurt to learn that Fisher wasn't happy with her. In a statement filled with heart-broken candor she said:

"It seems unbelievable to say that you can live happily with a man and not know he doesn't love you. But that—as God is my witness—is the truth."

Attorneys will meet next week to discuss the divorce.

Will Elizabeth Taylor's name play a part in it?

"Any attempt to relieve Miss Taylor from any responsibility falls on completely deaf ears," said Debbie's attorney, Frank B. Belcher. "I'm not going to spare anyone if it is necessary to protect the rights of Debbie and her two fine children."

Turning to Fisher, Belcher said: "There is nothing magnamimous about Eddie assuming the blame for this tragedy. That's exactly wheere the responsibility rests."

Fisher, in a column copyrighted by the Chester, Pa., Times and published today, wrote, "I am still very much in love with my wife."

"If our love is strong enough to overcome this new development, time will tell," he added. "I'm willing to do anything to save our marriage. Whether or not Debbie is, I don't know. Only she can decide this."

The times said the singer had written the column Thursday, one day after he and Debbie had separated.

Staunch Segregationist Brings Suit in Arkansas

Tension Over Little Rock Grows as States' Rights Struggle Swirls On

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Gov. Orval E. Faubus' closure of Little Rock's high schools in the face of a Supreme Court order to integrate them headed for a test of constitutionality today.

The citizen who demanded the test is, paradoxically, a staunch segregationist. She is Mrs. Gertie Garrett, wife of a fireman.

Shortly after Faubus signed a bill enabling him to close the schools, Pulaski County Sheriff Tom Gulley served the governor with a petition for a declaratory judgement on the new law.

Mrs. Garrett's suit will demand a court test of the law's constitutionality.

She also asked a state court for an injunction to prevent Faubus from closing the schools. He has 20 days to answer the suit.

Little Rock sat tense and fearful today while the greatest states' rights struggle since the Civil War swirled through it.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus threw his reserve power into the momentous conflict yesterday when he ordered all Little Rock High schools closed as of Monday, the day scheduled for the fall term to open.

'TO PREVENT VIOLENCE'

He acted because Central High School faced mixing of white and Negro students in classes for the second straight year. He stated he sought to prevent violence that would result if integration occurred.

The governor moved only hours after the U.S. Supreme Court said in effect that Central High, scene of racial riots and guarded by troops last year, must continue integration no matter how violent the opposition.

Faubus' apparent objective is to close the four Little Rock high schools — including all-Negro Horace Mann High—then open Central High and possibly others as

Virginia School to Shut Down

Anti-Integration Law Goes Into Effect First in Warren County

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Warren County, the last Virginia locality in which school integration had been ordered, will become the first to shut down a school under the state's program of massive resistance to race-mixing.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., invoking the extraordinary power vested in him by state anti-integration laws, last night took over—effective Monday—the 1,000-pupil Warren County high school at Front Royal.

He said "under the compulsion" of a federal court order entered less than a week ago, both white and Negro children had been inescapably enrolled in the school as of Monday.

Thus the school closure law, the ultimate weapon in Virginia's war to prevent race-mixing in its public schools, dealt its initial blow to an upper Shenandoah Valley area with a relatively small Negro population. The law automatically closes any school integrated for any reason.

Yet it appeared only a matter of days until the same law might close schools in Norfolk, Charlottesville and possibly Arlington County, a Washington suburb. In all these locations, federal district judges have ordered integration.

Dondero Speaks at Rites Dedicating Seaway Link

George A. Dondero, of Royal Oak, former Oakland County Congressman, was a principal speaker today at Massena, N. Y., at dedication ceremonies for a ship channel linking sections of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The channel is being named for Dondero and for Sen. Alexander R. Wiley of Wisconsin who fought for the passage of the St. Lawrence Seaway bill in Congress.

Dondero said, in part: "We dedicate today an important link in one of the world's most impressive monuments to international cooperation and goodwill.

DONDERO

"We are witnesses to the near completion of the greatest engineering project of our time. The dream of two friendly nations who speak the same language and read the same Bible will soon become a reality.

"If North America has a lesson for the world it is the lesson of the border delineated by the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes; the lesson that it is possible to divide, and yet to share; that it is possible to be independent and at the same time inter-dependent; and that sovereign peoples can work together to bring fulfillment to a great common dream of industry and commerce.

"Let the world take note of what can be accomplished when mutual trust, friendship and understanding chart the course of nations in building a great work for the benefit of all mankind.

"To have had a part in guiding through Congress the legislation that made it possible for the United States and Canada in mutual trust, friendship and understanding to undertake the building of this colossal project is an achievement and satisfaction for Senator Wiley and myself.

"Here stands an unparalleled example to the world of international understanding and good-will. I believe that in the years to come the people of the United States and Canada will, for their own safety and the good of all, walk together in prosperity, in majesty, and in peace."

Board to Tackle County Salaries

Seven Proposed Hikes Expected to Stir Furor in Monday's Meeting

Salaries next year for county employes, reflecting increases for only a handful of top officials, are expected to stir some discussion from the floor Monday when the Oakland County Board of Supervisors meets to pass the 1959 budget.

Supervisors have had a report from their Salaries Committee since last Monday recommending raises for seven elected and appointed officials, but a freeze on all other salaries of 1,080 employes.

The seven are the treasurer, prosecutor, sheriff, clerk, one auditor, one road commissioner and one member of the Social Welfare Commission.

None of these offices received increases last year when other county employes were raised because by law no elected or appointed official's salary can be altered during a term of office.

The report also shows "drastic reductions" in the number of new positions department heads had requested for 1959.

This was necessary, according to Frazer W. Staman, Novi Township chairman of the committee, because the county is confronted with a deficit brought on by an all-time high social welfare load.

The salaries schedule, totaling $5,108,899, will be part of a proposed 1959 budget of $12,285,723.42 which supervisors will be asked to approve Monday.

This budget represents trimming from the preliminary tax allocation budget drafted back in April. Slicing $476,557 from this earlier plan was necessary because the county received a lower tax rate (5.62) than requested (5.90).

The re-adjusted budget, based on the set rate, and the salaries report will be the major order of business when the 82 supervisors of cities and townships convene.

A few committee reports round out the Sept. 15 agenda.

Two Oil Tankers Collide in Mideast

BAHRAIN (AP) — Two oil tankers collided and caught fire at midnight off the coast of Muscat in the Gulf of Oman. Sketchy reports reaching the British navy on this Persian Gulf island said there were casualties but that a number of crewmen were rescued.

The ships were the 10,715-ton French tanker Fernand-Gilabert and the 20,551-ton Melika, flying a Liberian flag.

British navy vessels, including the aircraft carrier Bulwark, joined in rescue operations. About 20 survivors were reported taken aboard the British merchant ship Diligence, while other survivors, including several injured, were reported aboard the tanker Ceres, the navy here said.

In London, reports to the Admiralty said 34 were rescued out of a crew of 40 on the French tanker and 30 out of a crew of 45 on the Melika.

U. S. Asks Reds About 11 Missing

Six Are Reported Killed in AF Transport Crash in Soviet Armenia

MOSCOW (UPI) — American authorities demanded today that Russia disclose the fate of 11 men missing from the unarmed U.S. Air Force transport forced down Sept. 2 in Soviet Armenia.

U. S. charge d'affaires Richard E. Davis demanded also that the Russians let American experts inspect the wreckage of the C130 turboprop transport.

He asked what arrangements the Russians are making to return the six bodies they have admitted finding in the "burned-out aircraft."

The Soviet government formally notified U. S. authorities yesterday that the plane, carrying a crew of 17 on a radio-survey flight, "crashed" 35 miles north of Yerevan, the Armenian capital.

It said the bodies of six men, "evidently those of the crew," were found in the wreckage. The announcement gave no clue to the whereabouts of the other 11 men aboard the plane.

When the big turboprop transport vanished 11 days ago, U.S. Air Force headquarters in Europe said it had been dispatched from its regular base in Germany to take part in a world-wide study of radio-wave propagation.

It was on the way from Turkey to Iran when it was forced down, apparently after straying across the Russian border.

Murdered Pair's Son Again Only Suspect

NEW YORK (UPI)—Authorities today cleared an 18-year-old Negro former mental patient who first confessed he stabbed a Staten Island doctor and his wife to death and then repeatedly denied his story in an all-night session with police.

This left detectives with the couple's 8-year-old son as their only suspect.

The boy told authorities he stabbed his parents Sept. 2. But he also has told his attorney he had nothing to do with the slayings.

Doctors said it could take days, weeks or months to determine whether he actually sneaked up on his sleeping parents and plunged a knife into each of them twice.

Dr. Melvin Nimer died about 30 minutes after he was stabbed. Mrs. Lou Jean Nimer lived about three hours. She tried to describe her assailant to police but they were unable to get any definite information from her.

No trace of the murder weapon has been found.

William Fletcher was seized in Farmville, Va., yesterday and was brought here for questioning about his activities the night the Nimers were slain. His arrest in Virginia resulted from an anonymous telephone tip to New York police.

Farmville Police Chief Otto Overton said Fletcher first admitted the slayings, then blamed them on his "brother" and later denied the whole story.

Flown to New York, Fletcher said, "I didn't do nothing."

Members of the district attorney's staff on Staten Island began questioning Fletcher about 9:30 p.m.

Fletcher "denied being on Staten Island at the time of the murder," Braisted said at a post-midnight press conference. Previously, the suspect had admitted being on Staten Island hours before the murders.

The district attorney said Fletcher gave his version of his whereabouts at the time of the crime and police were checking out his story. "Meanwhile, we shall continue to question Fletcher," Braisted said.

The suspect, an unemployed clothing clerk, was treated in the psychiatric department of St. Luke Hospital in Manhattan in August of 1956, police said.

The Nimer boy was committed to the hospital for tests Thursday by a Children's Court judge. He may remain there a few weeks or even months while doctors try to learn whether he really killed his parents.

Ike 'Sneaks Off' for Fishing Trip This Morning

The President went by helicopter from Fort Adams to the farm of W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of Cities Service.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's trip came "somewhat as a surprise to me."

The President planned to remain on the farm near West Greenwich until at least 6 p.m., Hagerty said.

"The President is going to take a day off," said Hagerty, "I hope I don't have to bother him."

UAW Hopes Mount in Ford Negotiations

would be happier if the talks were moving faster," said UAW president Walter P. Reuther.

But Reuther made it clear he would not consider a company offer on anything but the union's four basic demands as a valid offer.

"We have made the company understand that the 1958 negotiations will have to find a solution to the pressing problems which the union outlined as its basic objectives early in the talks," he said.

These objectives include improvement of the union's supplemental unemployment benefit plan to extend the duration of benefits from 26 to 52 weeks; an 11 cents an hour pay hike; a cost-of-living adjustment in pensions of retired workers and company-paid moving expenses for workers whose jobs are shifted to new plants.

The Ford talks took place on "neutral ground" at a downtown Detroit hotel for the first time today. The union has sought to have the negotiations held on "neutral ground" ever since they began five months ago.

Previously the negotiations were held at the Ford office building. General Motors and Chrysler talks were still being conducted at the offices of those companies.

Meanwhile, strikes continued at several General Motors and Chrysler plants despite a plea by Reuther for all the strikes to cease.

Reuther sent a telegram yesterday to all of the 125 GM bargaining units saying the company was attempting to "trap you into striking" and urged them to avoid strikes "at all costs."

Bagwell Asserts Adams Weasels

Says Attorney General Ducks Responsibility in Kierdorf Probe

Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor, denied any attempt to rap four Oakland County circuit judges who turned down Adams' request for a one-man grand jury to investigate the Kierdorf case and hoodlum violence and terrorism.

The Democratic attorney general demanded an apology when Bagwell said:

"I can't help but wonder if this affair is not a deliberate whitewash which, if exposed, would embarrass the present administration during this election year."

This, Adams said, amounted to an attack on the four judges.

"I don't know what secret evidence Mr. Adams may have had in his possession," Bagwell said. "But he has at no time indicated publicly that he had reason to believe a crime was committed in Oakland County.

"The Oakland county judges said they did not believe a grand jury investigation could uncover more evidence in Oakland County than was already in the hands of law enforcement officials."

Bagwell also came out in favor of a controversial proposal to explore for copper in the Upper Peninsula's Porcupine Mountains State Park.

At a joint news conference with Sen. Charles E. Potter, seeking re-election against Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Bagwell said he is convinced mining development is needed to boost the Upper Peninsula's recession-hit economy.

The Day in Birmingham

Baptist Church Pastor Will Leave for New Post

BIRMINGHAM—After nearly 11 years as pastor of the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Emil Kontz has resigned to accept a position as pastor at St. Albans, W. Va.

Since coming to Birmingham, Dr. Kontz has seen the membership of the church increase more than 100 per cent. Church debts have been paid and adjacent property has been purchased for use as a youth center.

Dr. Kontz has been active in many community affairs and has been president of the Birmingham Council of Churches.

He was a radio and television speaker and during the later World War II years, was successful in finding American homes for Hungarian refugees.

He and Mrs. Kontz will move to their new home about mid-November.

His assistant, Dr. Robert Macoskey resigned his pastorate here last month to accept a post with the Baptist College at Philippi, W. Va.

August saw a sharp decrease in accidents and property damage, according to the report of Ralph W. Moxley, police chief.

Total accidents dropped from 55 to 40 over the previous month with the $6,875 property damages approximately half of July's total.

Moxley cited following too closely as the leading accident cause again. He also pointed out that of the 376 accidents this year, it has been a contributing factor in 105.

At its 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting Monday at the Community House, the Birmingham High 12 Club will entertain members of the Exchange, Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary Clubs.

Dr. Charles Pierce of the Metropolitan Methodist Church of Detroit will speak.

The first fall luncheon of the Birmingham Newcomers Club will be held Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Community House.

Mrs. Bruce Butzler, program chairman, said that Mrs. Ray Labbitt, known as Myrtle Labbitt on radio and television, will speak on Portugal.

Axe-Wielding Husband Slain

Frightened Wife Shoots Saginaw Man During Family Argument

SAGINAW (UPI) — A family argument was climaxed today when a woman shot her husband to death while he stood over her swinging an axe.

Mrs. Pearl Trice, 45, told police her husband, Leroy, 57, had told her "woman, I'm going to chop your head off."

In a fit of anger, Trice chopped up a dining room chair and then started swinging the axe at his wife. Mrs. Trice ran to the bedroom and got a .38 calibre pistol. Then she crouched behind a chair, pleading with her husband to put the axe down. When he started moving toward her, she fired several shots at him. Three went through his body and struck the ceiling.

Trice staggered into the bedroom with bullet wounds in the stomach, chest and under the chin. He collapsed on the bed.

Police found his body sprawled across the bed — the axe still clutched in his right hand.

Contests Closing of High Schools private schools with the state paying tuition.

He appears to believe the state thus can avoid forced integration because the Supreme Court has not issued integration orders involving private schools.

The Legislature two weeks ago gave him power to close schools faced with forcible racial mixing in classes. An 1875 law makes the use of public school facilities by private groups legal.

The Justice Department apparently was prepared to throw its weight behind the Supreme Court decision.

That this city is tense and fearful is plain to see.

'NO COMMENT'

Public officials who in the past have shown no hesitancy in expressing their views suddenly began snapping "no comment" to questions.

The corridor of the U.S. district attorney's office was barred by a newly installed gate.

About 150 federal deputy marshals from throughout the nation, some newly recruited for Little Rock action, held lengthy and mysterious conferences and briefings in the Federal Building. Many wore western hats, traditional marshal's headgear.

Talks with persons in stores, on the street, in cafes and elsewhere revealed fears that worse trouble than last year can be expected if Central High is integrated.

The Supreme Court's ruling that integration must proceed immediately at Central High, no matter how violent the opposition, appeared to be the expected decision in official circles here.

HOPE IN PEOPLE

Government officials in Washington clung to the hope that there is strong sentiment among white people in Little Rock for public school education of their children even if it means sitting in classes with Negroes.

The Supreme Court, before it ruled, heard predictions from U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley and Little Rock School Board spokesmen that unless integration were delayed, "bedlam, chaos and turmoil" and destruction of this city's school system would result.

After the ruling, Thurgood Marshall, attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said the ruling cleared the air and "neither the school board nor the governor nor anyone else can even pretend not to know what the law is."

The court did not explain its reasoning in the case, saying that would be announced later.

'ANARCHY TO RESULT'

President Eisenhower, learning of the court's decision, said anarchy would result from defiance of the ruling.

In a statement from his Newport, R.I., vacation headquarters, Eisenhower said, "I appeal to the sense of civic responsibility that animates the vast majority of our citizenry to avoid defiance of the court's orders in this matter."

Suspect Murder Try in Chicago Burning

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police have termed the burns received by a woman murder suspect "an apparent attempt to murder."

Assistant chief of detectives Howard Pierson said Ida Iocco, 24, wanted for questioning in a Philadelphia robbery-murder, was dumped at Weiss Memorial Hospital late yesterday with burns over about 20 per cent of her body.

He said the woman's companions, Anthony Scolari, 26, and his brother Joseph, 23, apparently attempted to burn her to death to prevent her from escaping and telling police where they were hiding.

The two men and the Iocco woman were reportedly fleeing police in Philadelphia who sought to question them in connection with the slaying Aug. 28 of Max Gordon during a holdup.

Wed Couple Can Attend High School

CARO (AP) — It's all right — a judge says so — for 17-year-old Edward Curtis and his bride, Barbara, also 17, to go back to Caro High School.

Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn yesterday ordered the Caro Board of Education to reverse a ruling which kept Edward and Barbara out of school because they were married.

Judge Quinn held the board in violation of the Michigan state constitution's guarantee of public education.

The good-looking youngsters got married last Jan. 30. They were banned under a new school ruling this year against married students

When the couple got married, Edward had completed his junior year and Barbara was a sophmore.

Judge Quinn handed down his ruling in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Following Autumn Spell

East Will Get Warmer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pleasant weekend, after several days of autumn-like weather, appeared in prospect for most of the Eastern half of the nation.

Although it was cool this morning in the Eastern section of the country, warmer air headed into the region. It also was cool in the far Northwest but temperatures near seasonal levels were reported in most other parts of the country.

The cool air in the Eastern sections dropped temperatures into the 50s in the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, and along the Atlantic Coast southward through South Carolina.

Warm air was expected to spread over the Atlantic states from Maine to Georgia and also in the mid and upper Mississippi Valley and southern parts of the Great Lakes region.

In the cool belt in the Northwest, temperatures were mostly in the 50s in the northern half of the Rockies and westward through Washington and Oregon, about 10 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier. Scattered showers sprinkled the region.

Scattered thundershowers also were reported in the southern half of the Rockies and in the southern Plateau region.

Fairly mild weather prevailed from the Gulf Coast region westward through Texas and into Arizona. Southerly winds fanned the warm air northward through the central part of the country, sending temperatures into the 70s as far north as eastern Montana and the Dakotas.

Joyous Reunion for Area Family

Marijke Finally Makes It

Marijke Pennock, 18, was welcomed home today by her joyful Royal Oak family for the fourth time, after being spared by the hand of fate.

There to greet her as she arrived at Willow Run Airport last night were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Pennock of 209½ W. 5th St., and her 10 younger brothers and sisters.

The Pennocks came to the United States nearly two years ago from Holland. But Marijke, their oldest child, had to be left behind because she had been stricken by tuberculosis.

Cured, she was booked to fly to this country aboard the ill-fated KLM Dutch Royal Airliner which crashed into the Atlantic last Aug. 14, killing 99 persons. At the last minute she had been transferred to another flight.

However, before she could join her family she first had to spend five weeks at a sanatorium in the East in order to get government clearance. Yesterday, she was released.

This was the fourth welcome given her by her parents.

One came in Indonesia after she was freed from an internment camp by the British, another in the East Indies when she was released from a tuberculosis sanatorium, and the third in New York.

And last night, Mrs. Pennock, who'd told waiting newsmen that "until she's in my arms, I'll worry," stopped worrying.

Attend Open House at New Post Office

More than 450 postal employes, their families and friends attended an open house last night at Pontiac's new main Post Office, 735 West Huron St.

During the event, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the U.S. Post Office Department, 51 local postal employes received safe driving pins and cards from the National Safety Council.

The highest award, for 25 years of driver safety, went to Manley Walmsley of 968 Beachland St. William Weaver of 20 West Cornell St. also received top honors for 24 years of safe driving.

Awards for alertness, precaution and good driving records for 20 years or more went to Ira Barton of 2048 Cass Lake Rd., Keego Harbor, and Charles Moore of 21 Sheridan St., both 21 years of driving, and Irving G. Quackenbush of 36 Taylor St., 20 years.

All of the awards were presented by Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster, and William S. Broomfield, U.S. Congressman from Oakland County.

Steve J. Couretas of 193 W. Brooklyn St. was presented with a certificate of award sent from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield for contributing a beneficial suggestion to the postal service. Couretas suggested X-ray service for all postal employes.

The Pontiac Post Office, for the first time in its history, now possesses the Green Cross flag, awarded by the Post Office Department for safety. The local Post Office has won the award for its July and August record over 10 other Michigan and Illinois post offices of similar size, according to Miller.

Reflections

J. L. VOORHEES

BE REALISTIC

I have a wholesome respect for a person who has faith in himself but I can't endure one who wears a halo. One who claims he has never made a mistake is nudging the borderline of falsehood; mortals, who do things also make mistakes. I admire the man who invents things, twists an idea into physical, usable shape but only a very few can do this and they admit their limitations. They are realistic.

M. E. SIPLE

All of us have latent abilities far beyond our imagination; the secret is an inventory of known abilities and known weaknesses and bring them into balance. It is the realistic balance that forges the framework of greatness; within this framework everyone can rise to dizzy heights.

Be realistic, climb as high as you can. That's where you'll find your happiness.

Power Plant Radioactivity Strikes in Less Than 3 Days

Nuclear Accident Contaminates Milk

GENEVA (UPI) — British scientists said Thursday radioactivity in milk multiplied hundreds of of times in less than three days when Britain's Windscale atomic plant began spewing forth radiation clouds in an accident last October.

Revealing extensive details of the accident for the first time, the British said radioactive iodine in milk almost immediately exceeded levels calculated to cause thyroid cancer in children. Thousands of gallons of milk were confiscated.

The speed with which the contamination reached milk appeared surprising to delegates at the second world Atoms-for-Peace Conference, since the radiation had to enter milk indirectly through cows eating grass.

Radioactivity could have entered drinking water directly, but the British said no dangerous quantities were found in water. Also, they said that radioactive strontium proved no problem.

The report said there was an unexplained "preferential" release of radioactive iodine.

The accident was blamed on overheating of uranium fuel elements in the Windscale plutonium plant, which is similar to America's plutonium reactors at Hanford, Wash.

The radioactivity poured into the atmosphere through the reactor smokestack.

The British report came as the two-week atoms conference entered its 11th full day of marathon sessions, with 5,000 scientists from 69 nations attending.

Another event was the first full-dress press conference called by the American delegation, headed by Lewis L. Strauss, President Eisenhower's personal adviser on nuclear affairs.

The British described how workmen at Windscale first observed "glowing fuel cartridges" in the reactor, and said: "Subsequently it was found that there were about 150 channels containing uranium cartridges glowing at red heat."

That was on Oct. 10. An attempt to remove the fuel failed because of "wedging due to the distortion of the cartridges." An attempt to cool the reactor by blowing carbon dioxide into the core also proved ineffective.

Huge quantities of water were then pumped into the reactor, and by the afternoon of Oct. 12 the core was cold.

A first sampling of milk in the surrounding area on Oct. 11 showed only .005 microcurie per litre of iodine 131, but on Oct. 12 samplings ran from .4 to .5 microcuries—an increase of 80 to 100 times.

One sampling on Oct. 13, in the direct path of wind from the stack, showed 1.4 microcuries of the radioactive iodine—an increase of 280 times.

The British scientists—H. J. Dunster, H. Howells and W. L. Templeton of the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority—explained that a quart of milk containing one microcurie of radioactive iodine would deliver a dose of 26 "rads" to the thyroid of a child.

They added there is clinical evidence that cancer of the thyroid in children has sometimes followed radiation doses of 200 "rads," which could be expected in a few days if the milk had been distributed.

In adults, the effect would be only one-fourth as great.

Tattoo Needs Revision When Sailor Re-Enlists

TAIPEI (UPI) — The crew aboard the U.S. Navy Destroyer McDermut on patrol in the Formosa Straits has the usual collection of tattoos of mottos, women, anchors, etc., but Seaman D. R. McCullough of Birmingham, Ala., is tattooed with a difference.

On his shoulder McCullough wears the words, "This sailor should go to Heaven. He spent his hitch in hell." McCullough apparently doesn't mean it. He reenlisted recently for six years.

It Seems to Me...

Is Object Thrown Overboard While At Sea Lost Forever?

Everyone enjoys a momentary break in the serious and pressing problems of the day and I recite an amusing little incident that could bring a smile — especially from Old Father Neptune.

He played the leading role.

Finishing a small bottle of nuts aboard the freighter Henry Ford II, and acting on a sudden impulse, I grabbed a sheet of paper and wrote these words:

"This was thrown overboard on my birthday. I'll pay $50 for the return of the sheet.

Harold A. Fitzgerald
Pontiac Press,
Pontiac, Michigan.

The message was placed in the bottle and hurled into the sea. My five companions said the top would leak and certainly no one ever anticipated results for months—if ever—as grand old Lake Huron is a right sizeable sea.

Well—hang onto your hat.

Three weeks to the day it was picked up on the Canadian shore and now it's back in my hands. The following letter came with the note:

"We found your birthday message while taking our dog for a run on the beach at Gobel's Grove, (Ontario). Your 'nut jar' was deposited high and dry. There was a stiff blow earlier in the week which no doubt placed it out of reach of receding waves. You would have got a bang out of the various remarks from my family such as, 'didn't you see the kids that planted this jar,' and 'why didn't the jar break on the rocks,' and 'we missed a real floatin' boatin' birthday party.' It affords us the chance of someday meeting with another great admirer of 'Good Old Lake Huron.'

Yours truly,
WILF GROSS"

I was dumfounded, but there was only one thing to do.

And I did it.

Wilf has the dough.

I don't begrudge him a thin dime of the take, but I'm still flabbergasted.

And then, just as an added fillip, I just received a copy of the Kitchener-Waterloo Record with a two column photo of WILFRED GROSS holding up the bottle, the check and the little dog that aided and abetted old pappy Neptune.

In my mind's eye, right now I can see old Father Neptune arising from the sea, brandishing his trust trident and I hear the reverberating echoes of his call of triumph. Once again, he wins over man.....just as he has done for ages.....and will continue to do forever.

Personal note to my Girl Friday (LILLIAN HOARD): Please send this page to WILF GROSS, E. R. BREECH, HENRY FORD II, and the ship's Captain, SVEN FAGERSTROM.

Party Due for GM Heads...

The other evening at a reception in honor of General Motors' new Chairman and President, I suggested to President JOHN F. GORDON that Chief Pontiac would be very happy to entertain him at a little reception at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club sometime between Christmas and Thanksgiving. He accepted graciously and said he would be happy to meet the local citizens. The 150 men comprising this organization have entertained more than a dozen dignitaries over the past ten years. (I predict a full attendance at this soiree).

Then I invited the Messrs. Donner and Gordon to a full blown formal dinner or luncheon at which we could invite several hundred. They said that new duties had studded their fall calendars and so I suggested it take place sometime after the first of the year. The last time the Chairman of the GM Board appeared at a Pontiac function was more than 20 years ago when we had Alfred P. Sloan. We presented him with the original painting of Chief Pontiac which has been used as an emblem ever since.

Well, there are a couple of happy functions looming ahead.

And in Conclusion.....

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Some 30 years ago, two young men worked in the accounting division of GM's New York office. A few days ago, they shook hands genially and one said: "Did you ever think in those days that sometime you'd be the Chairman of The Ford Motor Company and I'd be Chairman of General Motors?" Whereupon, they both smiled and FREDERICK G. DONNER and ERNEST R. BREECH shook hands all over again. That's the United States. That's why our "system" with all its imperfections is the greatest there is.....GROZA has lost the title of football's greatest place kicker to the Lion's JIM MARTIN.....PHIL HART brought me greetings from BILL MULLER, all-star graduate from The Pontiac PRESS to The Detroit News. BILL's political sagacity draws top billing. We're proud of him.

Had dinner at the new Kingsley, and I'm happy to report it's a scrumptious place in appearance, service and food.....Last week we had a very freakish storm. Most of Wayne suffered a small cloudburst. In Pontiac it rained very hard. Wing Lake saw trees almost bend double and the water come down in sheets. Yet right in the middle Bloomfield Hills escaped the whole mad shebang.....This new Fisher Body paint is positively SENSATIONAL. John Riley's 1957 Bonneville looks today as though it had just come from the assembly line. It should. It was a secret test job of this new product and as John reads these lines, he learns the fact for the first time.

As I've observed in the past, many top ranking executives have top ranking secretaries in both ability and looks. Consider JAMES E. GOODMAN. RUTH BOLTHOUSE falls in both categories—easily. And she's a loyal Pontiac resident.....BEN HARDESTY, DICK KERN, HARRY KLINGLER, JR., and C. E. WILSON JR. just returned from a 10 day trip to Alaska where it rained every day just as it does everywhere else. Even so, they had a good time.....I'm unhappy at the charge of crookedness on TV's $64,000 Challenge. I won't believe it until the accusing minister is substantiated..... Big Game is another one of those quiz programs that should be tossed in the ash can. Its main weakness are the silly idea, the ridiculous props and the amazing ineptness of the contestants..... Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—STEVE ALLEN's TV return; The J's — the horrible color broadcasting on STEVE's returning show. It was absolutely the worst in four years I've watched color TV.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The cartoonist got up to speak first. He told how, lacking a high school education, he had been advised that his talents did not warrent further study in art school. Faith, however, gave him the strength to make the most of what he had. Today he is a top political cartoonist, appearing in more than 100 newspapers.

An engineer told how prayer had helped him solve a difficult construction task. A dentist shared the peace his faith had given him.

These inspiring talks were given at a dinner I attended of the Christian Business Men's Committee International, which has chapters throughout the United States and in 19 countries.

Its aim is to "live consistently seven days a week, employing the study of the Word, prayer, constant vigilance, toward becoming Christian-like in personal, family, social and business life."

Days of All Faiths:

Shofar Calls Jews for New Year

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

"Awake ye sleepers" calls the shofar Monday," and ponder your deeds. Remember your Creator and go back to Him in penitence." For Monday is Rosh Hashana (New Year) the beginning of the High Holidays or Days of Awe, that ten-day period during which each man's fate for the coming year is determined and finally sealed.

The shofar is the ceremonial ram's horn of the Jews, the most primitive wind instrument surviving in modern times. No one can tell how long it has been in use. Probably it had little to do originally with religious services.

More likely its early use was simply to attract the people's attention and call them together to hear announcements which were of community interest. But now it is heard only in the synagogue and has become associated exclusively with religion.

After the reading of the Torah, an expectant hush will fall on the congregation, and the unforgettable shofar ceremony will begin. Jews of all degrees of piety (even the indifferent will be at the services Monday will be stirred in their hearts by the notes of the horn—mighty, majestic, plaintive.

They will be reminded of many things deep and important in Jewish history: of the great faith of their forefather Abraham, who was ready to sacrifice his only son Isaac if God required him to do so; of the giving of the Ten Commandments to the accompaniment of shofar blasts; of the destruction of the Temple at Jerusalem and the years of suffering that followed.

The faith of their fathers has a profound meaning to the Jews, and here at this somber time of the year it is of special significance. For as the individual Jews prays now for foregiveness he pleads the merits of those who have gone before him, hoping that those may in some way help to mitigate his own inadequacy and unrighteousness.

And though Rosh Hashana is a day of self-examination and repentance, it is by no means a day of hopelessness. Part of its message is the fact of man's ability to improve and be renewed. The sound of the shofar reminds also of the glorious time of redemption to come, when Elijah will appear to announce the arrival of the Messiah and the mighty shofar will Lerald from the mountain tops the beginning of freedom and equality for all mankind.

CEREMONIAL HORN

The shofar, though traditionally a ram's horn, could be made from the horn of any "clean" animal. The horn of an ox or cow should not be used, however, because there would be in such an instrument an unpleasant reminder of the Golden Calf, Israel's most embarrassing fall from faith. See Exodus, chapter 32.

THREE BOOKS

Legend tells that three books are placed before God Monday. One, a very thin one, contains the names of all the completely wicked people in the world. No need to spend any time over them. They are immediately condemned to a year of trouble and unhappiness. Another, even thinner, shows the names of those who are completely and absoultely good—and they are immediately rewarded with a year of peace and happiness.

The third book is big and thick, for it contains the names of those ordinary people who are neither all good nor all bad. And in the mercy of God these people have ten more days during which by prayer, penitence, and good works they may earn the right to have their names transferred to the list of the righteous ones.

It is from this legend that the traditional Jewish New Year greeting comes: "May you be inscribed for a happy year."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Facts Prove Argument for Chastity

Doris demands concrete reasons why illicit affairs are wrong. She doesn't want generalized fiats, such as "the church says they are immoral." So I have listed the specific medico - psychological answers below. And you'll find more of such advice in the sex booklets offered today.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-318: Doris D., aged 20, is the girl who was toying with the idea of trial marriage, as mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane," she began hesitantly, "just what specific disadvantages would I suffer by entering into a trial marriage arrangement?

DR. CRANE

"Don't you think it would be well to learn if we were sexually mated and if our personalities harmonized?"

FALSE NOTIONS

You don't become sexually compatible by a clandestine affair or a trial marriage.

Sexual adjustment is something that must be learned by the proper medical techniques.

And you can learn them far better after marriage than in a "sneak" arrangement before marriage.

Moreover, there is nothing so magical about sex, anyway, that you should fret over the idea of being "mismated."

Nobody is mismated who follows the right medico - psychological technique. And every couple is maladjusted who doesn't follow this technique!

So it is all a matter of correct scientific procedure and not of any ignorant "trial" period.

When a young woman consents to premarital relations, she immediately kills her greatest personality charm, namely, her spunk or independence of spirit.

That attracts men far more than cosmetic beauty and shapely legs!

Second, she is likely to contract syphilis and gonorrhea, for these are separate diseases and cause sterility, as well as insanity.

Third, she is likely to launch a baby into life without benefit of legal parents, so it thus has one strike against it.

MORAL YARDSTICK

Whatever does the most good for the most people over the longest period of time, is right and moral.

Illicit sexual affairs obviously do far more harm than good to the woman in the case, as well as to her baby.

And they humiliate the girl's parents, who probably idolized her and made sacrifices for 16 or 18 years to see her educated and well launched upon a happy adulthood.

Parents spend an estimated $15,000 in cash to rear a child through its high school graduation.

Meanwhile, they have worried and fretted over it during the fevers of childhood diseases.

They have often sacrificed needed clothing and other essentials for themselves just so their daughter would be happier.

If that daughter, like Esau, sells out for a messy affair, the girl has pulled a doublecross on her parents.

She figuratively breaks their hearts and causes them lifelong worry as well as humiliation by her selfish sexual escapade.

And what about the boy who may consort with such a girl for a few days or weeks; then run away and leave her with pregnancy plus social shame?

Does such an affair do more good for him or further weaken his character?

Obviously, on the basis of cold mathematics, illicit affairs produce more harm for more people over a longer period of time, than will be caused by moral behavior and chastity.

That's why the churches have ruled against illicit sexual episodes, for the church leaders generally use the mathematical yardstick that what does the most good for the most people over the longest period of time, is right.

So send for my booklet, "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Discuss it in high school hygiene classes or as a church topic, for it shows illicit affairs in their true ugliness and documents everything with facts.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Says Older Worker Should Give Her Job to Graduate

Why can't older people give graduates a chance to work and prove themselves? If some of these older married women who are working and don't need to would let the high school graduates work we would have something to do instead of doing nothing.

I'm a high school girl and work two days a week at a department store as a sales clerk. I've overheard older women complain about the part time help because these women are not working more hours and are not making more commission with the part time help coming in. Some of us graduates have to work because of the father out of work and no money coming in.

First we had to have a high school education and when we have the education where do we go from there? Now what can we do if we are not given the chance?

'All the Hoodlums Aren't Democrats'

There have been letters in the VOP lately suggesting all the bomb throwers and crooks in high places are Democrats. How about shifting a fair share into the Republican party? Every time some one proves he's the scum of the earth, he doesn't start out by saying he's a Democrat. How can these people be so sure what party the racketeers belong to? Let's do some investigating on that.

Dem Donkey

Complains of Turns Made Illegally

If some of you police officers would like to issue a few tickets to many drivers that make illegal left turns from the center lane going from Woodward onto Square Lake road across from Ted's, just be around that corner anytime from 3 to 6 p.m. any day. It takes a pretty dumb driver to make a left hand turn from a center lane at anytime, anywhere, as all of us good drivers know.

Tells Driver's View of Walking Violators

Pedestrians who disregard the "don't walk" sign are a problem to drivers. They're the ones who get caught in the middle of the crossing section while the driver keeps his foot on the brake and in the meantime his "go" sign has turned to caution. He would get a ticket if he were caught crossing the intersection on the warning signal.

If the pedestrian starts from the curb when the sign says "walk," he has plenty of time to get to the other side. The only reason the light changes to "don't walk" is to warn people just starting from the curb that they won't have time to cross before the light for the driver will turn green.

Observer should get a ticket for leaving the curb against the warning signal. It's fixed for his own safety. The pedestrian would be showing his courtesy to the driver by going by the rules.

Another person that should get a ticket is the one who is too lazy to park his car straight into his allotted space while using the municipal parking lot.

Readers Report It Pays to Correct Poor Nutrition

"I wish I could invent a better way to thank you," writes M.L.S., "for your advice on headaches. My horrible headaches are under control since I began supplementing my diet with calcium and vitamin D."

DR BRADY

"For four years I had bad hot flashes with profuse sweating. My doctor failed to help me. I followed the suggestion in your pamphlet, eating three calcium wafers daily. I got immediate relief. Have told several friends about it and they, too, have benefited . . . the only 'thanks' you have had . . ." (Mrs. G. L.)

"Since reading your article about adult tetany I have been taking calcium capsules and for the first time in many years I have been free of painful and frequent cramps . . . the only recurrence was once when I was away from home for a week and neglected to take the capsules." (Miss C.M.E.)

"Three years ago I developed aches in my joints. It would ache and pain in an arm or leg like the dickens for four or five days steadily, then stop, only to start up in neck or hop to some other joint. One day last fall I read what you said about calcium and vitamin D for rheumatiz, started taking it regularly and in a week began to get relief. After the 10 weeks' course, my aches and pains were gone . . . Hope you live forever." (C.M.O'H.)

"I can't begin to thank you for the wonderful help you gave me through your column and the pamphlet on Parkinson's Disease (for the pamphlet send stamped, self-addressed envelope). My balance is perfect and I can now do more work than I had been able to do for years past. Moreover I feel 100 per cent fit as long as I eat my daily ration of calcium and vitamin D . . ." (Dorothy M.G.)

"Happy to report that since I began to follow the high calcium diet and supplement the diet with a suitable daily ration of C and D, I have only the mildest symptoms (I began in the middle of the season last year) and so far this season no trouble at all." (H.H.) (For the FREE Hay Fever pamphlet send stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

"I want you to know how much your recommendation (in Volumette 12) has helped my husband. He has been taking the daily ration of CA, D, I and B-complex for a year and he is much improved." (Mrs. F. G.)

Answer—Volumette 12 is Chronic Joint Disability, 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. The trouble with most victims of physical degeneration of joint tissues, which I call rheumatiz and the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers call "arthritis," is that they follow the regimen I recommend for a few weeks and, if no miracle occurs, they drop it and go back to the plain and fancy nostrums that the merchants of medicine give 'em as long as they care to remain under "treatment." Your husband is an exception.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Many Get Social Security, Still Earn Money Besides

(This is the sixth in a series of nine columns explaining the changes just voted by Congress in the Social Security program.)

By RAY HENRY
(AP Writer)

Many people get Social Security and still earn extra money by working.

But, there are some limits on the earnings. Congress has just raised one of them and it goes into effect Jan. 1.

As in the past, the new limits only cover money you get from work, not other income like pensions, insurance, dividends, interest, annuities or rents. You can receive any amount of money from such income and still draw Social Security.

The change in the earnings limit involves one of the most complicated—and least understood—aspects of Social Security. The best way to understand it is to look at what all the limits will be after Jan. 1, with the new one included:

1. If you're 72 or over, you can draw Social Security payments without regard to how much you earn. For example: You can earn $100,000 a year and still get the payments.

(This is the same as it has been.)

2. If you're under 72 and entitled to Social Security, you can earn up to $1,200 a year and draw Social Security checks for the full year.

(There's on change in this.)

3. If you're under 72 and eligible to Social Security, you can earn up to $100 in any month and still get Social Security—no matter how much your total earnings were for the year.

For example: You might earn $10,000 in three months of a year, but less than $100 in two each of the remaining nine. You can get Social Security payments for those nine months in which you earned under $100.

(This is the earnings limit which has been changed. Previously, you could only earn up to $80 a month and still draw a Social Security check—regardless of your total earnings for the year.)

4. If you're under 72 and entitled to Social Security, you can earn more than $100 in every month of a year and still get some Social Security checks—so long as your total earnings for the year don't go over $2,080.

How many checks you can get depends on how much more than $1,200—that is, $100 a month—you earn. The rule on this is: For each $80 or fraction of $80 you earn above $1,200 you lose one check.

For example: Suppose you're eligible for Social Security in 1959 and you earn more than $100 each month. If your total earnings for the year are between $1,200 and $1,280, you lose one check, but you can get 11. If you earn between $1,280.01 and $1,360 you lose two checks. And so forth. You lose all your checks if your earnings are more than $2,080.

(This limit hasn't been changed. It may appear to conflict with limit No. 3 above. But, if you'll study them closely you'll see that they're different.)

There's also a special limit on earnings for self-employed persons. It hasn't been changed, but it varies so much from person to person that the only way to get a clear understanding of it is to present your case to a Social Security office.

More new freight cars were placed in operation by U.S. railroads in 1957 than in any of the past 30 years with the exception of 1948.

Man, 64, Falls or Jumps Off Bluewater Bridge

PORT HURON (AP) — A man identified by police as Stanley Graves, 64, of Port Huron, fell or jumped 150 feet to his death from the Bluewater International Bridge last night.

It was believed to be the second such death recorded since the bridge connecting Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont., opened in 1938.

Coast Guardsmen recovered the body.

Mother, Youth Guilty in Slaying

Pair to Be Sentenced Sept. 26 for Murdering Father of Six

IONIA (AP)—A Belding mother of six children and her 17-year-old boy friend will be sentenced Sept. 26 on a second dgree murder charge in the April 12 slaying of her husband, Robert McNinch.

Mrs. Marian McNinch, 27, and Larry Fisher, 17, formerly of Midland, entered guilty pleas through their court-appointed attorneys yesterday before Ionia Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis.

Judge Davis ordered the pair held without bond at Ionia County jail pending pre-sentence investigation.

Prosecutor Ronald Van Buren had amended the warrants from an original charrge of first degree murder filed against the pair after their arrest last May 8 at the McNinch home.

Fisher had been a roomer with the McNinch family. In statements given to Van Buren, Fisher told of fatally shooting McNinch with a .22 caliber rifle as the victim slept on a couch in his living room.

The pair said they let the body lie on the couch three days before burying it in a rubble-filled grave near the McNinch home. The death went undiscovered until fellow workers at a Belding factory reported McNinch missing.

11 Teamster Locals Vote on Tieup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Teamsters Union locals in 11 Western states began voting today on an agreement reached Friday to settle the 34-day-old tieup of long haul trucking.

Approval of the agreement was anounced by negotiators for the Teamsters' Western Conference and employers after lengthy federal mediation.

The strike-lockout, which began Aug. 11 with a walkout by the Central Valley Joint Council of Teamsters in California, idled some 100,000 workers for 1,200 trucking firms.

Man-Satellite May Be Near

Speculation Is Aroused by U. S. Army Plans for Super-Booster Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army plan for constructing a super-booster rocket engine is arousing speculation the Pentagon may be contemplating an attempt to put a manned satellite in orbit.

The speculation was sparked yesterday with a Defense Department anouncement of a two-million-dollar Army contract award for a mommoth booster with an aim of "placing very large payloads into orbit."

The announcement, however, gave no further indication of the type of satellite being planned for launching by the new booster.

The booster, missilemen's term for the first stage of a multistage rocket, will have a thrust of 1½ million pounds — approximately eight times more powerful than any existing propulsion unit in America's rocket arsenal.

The contract was awarded to North American Aviation's Rocketdyne Division.

Supervision of the high priority project was assigned to the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency.

The announcement of the Army contract said the superbooster will consist of a cluster of already tested rocket motors packaged into a single unit.

The chief element will be a motor similar to that used in intermediate and intercontinental range ballistic missiles such as the Army Jupiter and the Air Force Thor and Atlas.

Tire Blows, Man Killed

WAKEFIELD (AP) — Craig E. Avery, 19, of Cincinnati, was killed and Gerald L. Siegal, 19, also of Cincinnati, was injured critically Friday when their car blew a tire and rolled over on U.S. 2 near here.

Japanese Seek to Indict Airman

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese police today recommended indictment of a 19-year-old California airman on charges of gross negligence causing death for the fatal shooting of a Japanese youth.

Director General Hisashi Sogabe of the Saitama Prefecture police told newsmen that documents will be sent to the prosecutor's office Monday recommending indictment of Airman 3C. Peter E. Longpre, of Lakewood, Calif.

If convicted in a criminal court on the charge, which is similar to manslaughter under U.S. laws, Longpre could be sentenced to three years in prison or fined $139.

Ten New Polio Cases

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's polio count reached 311 today as 10 new cases were reported. At this time last year only 135 cases were listed. Health Cmsr. Joseph Molner urged all persons to be vaccinated but said schools would not be closed because of the epidemic.

Remember Wood in Color Scheme

When you're planning a color scheme for a room, remember that wood is a color, too, points out an extension specialist in home furnishings at Michigan State University. The wood color should influence your choice of other colors for the room.

Dear Abby:

What About Man Who Combs Wispy Hair Over Bald Spot

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Everyone in our office howled over the letter from the woman who complained because her husband was getting bald and had a crew cut thereby making him look like a picked chicken. Our boss is also balding, but he won't face it. He hangs onto the few very long wisps of hair he has, drapes them around his head in a most artistic fashion. He looks positively ridiculous! On HIM a crew cut would look better." THE OFFICE GANG

"DEAR ABBY: I seldom write to newspapers but this little item has been bothering me for a long time and I thought if you'd mention it in your column it might do some good. I work in the circulation department of a newspaper. So many carriers have trouble collecting their money. Some customers make the boys come back three and four times.

"Don't these people realize that the carriers are in business for themselves and they have to pay for the newspapers whether they collect their money on time or not? If they knew how hard those boys work to get their collections in on time, they would think twice before turning them away. This goes for all newspaper boys — whether they are 6 or 60. Give those kids a break, Abby, and print this." GRACE U.

DEAR GRACE: By the Grace of Grace — it's printed. Happy collecting, boys!

"DEAR ABBY: I am a boy 14 and had a job (if you want to call it that) for the summer. My father told me to go to a certain place and apply for a job. I got it without any trouble. There was nothing for me to do and I was only in the way. I heard from one of the girls who works here that my father was paying my salary. I would rather have played baseball this summer. What do you make of a deal like this?" IN THE WAY

DEAR IN: Your father "meant well" but he was off base a country mile in the way he handled the situation. "Cooked up" jobs for youngsters are a handicap to those who fall heir to them. A boy who doesn't have what it takes to get a job of his own doesn't deserve to have one.

"DEAR ABBY: It's a known fact that a woman should look glamorous for her husband at all times, but if I don't put my hair up in pin curls and wear a net at night I am a mess the next day. I can't fuss with my hair during the day because I work with him! My husband doesn't like the way I look at night but he wants me to look "just so" during the day, so what should I do?" MIDDLE-AGED WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Perhaps you need a new permanent so that you wouldn't have to pin-curl your hair every night? If that's out — shop around for a cute new hair net. They have them now.

Correct Reasons

Eating Not Always the Answer

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Underweight persons often make desperate efforts to gain weight. They stuff themselves, eat lots of rich foods, and then toss about on their beds for nine hours each night. Then, when the end result is a poor complexion and a stomach ache, they decide to give the whole thing up and from then on blame their underweight on glands or ancestors.

However, when you persevere and do overcome the reasons for underweight and correct them, you often will notice a great improvement in the condition of the hair and the nails. "Beauty" is one of the by-products of a well-nourished body.

It is necessary to furnish the body with the materials it needs, but it is also essential to proper weight to assimilate an adequate amount of what you consume. Sometimes persons who are underweight eat large amounts, but stay thin. If you do not assimilate well, you never will put on those needed extra pounds.

Here is where vitamins play an important part. The vitamin B family has been found to help in assimilation as well as in increasing the appetite. You can eat your fill of fat-building foods, but unless you have vitamins to work for you, it does you no good.

Milk is an excellent food because it gives you so many elements you need. Other important aids to that figure you will want to keep are lots of sleep, rest to avoid nervous tension, lack of worry, outdoor life, mild exercises, and a properly balanced diet with lots of calories in small packages thrown in — such as cream, nuts, and oils.

A gain in weight often is important for beauty's sake as well as health's. Healthy and beautiful hair is dependent on a healthy body, and is one of the happy results of a well-balanced and sane routine.

Husband Is Being Too Fussy

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: We've moved into an apartment house made up of six units all built around a small park. My wife believes it is right and proper for her to speak to strangers—men, mind you, as well as women—whom she sees out in the park or at the mail boxes. I have noticed that other women do not bid me the time of the day or remark about the weather, and I, of course, would wait for them to speak first.

"I'm afraid that my wife's friendliness will be misunderstood and that it would be more prudent for her to stick to conventional rules. Will you please give your opinion?"

Answer: The old saying that "The roof of a friend serves as an introduction" might to a certain extent serve in a communal dwelling. Meeting the same people day after day, it would hardly be improper to say "good morning."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am giving a lunch party for a bride-to-be and am a little uncertain as to the seating arrangements. Due to the size of my dining room I cannot seat more than ten and will have to use a card table for the other four in the living room, but close to the door of entrance.

"Will you please tell me whether I should sit at the large table or at the card table? Also, where should the bride and her mother be seated?"

Answer: You must sit at the head of the dining table with bride on your right and her mother on your left. Seat your own family or most intimate friends at the card table.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If someone whose face is not familiar bows to you, do you bow or ignore this seeming stranger?"

Answer: You bow! It is certainly better to bow to a stranger than to cut an acquaintance whom you have failed to recognize.

Herbert Sondheim

Herbert Sondheim likes his hemlines to make as much news as necklines and waistlines. Here, in this simple sheath that gently skims the figure (you can fit it more closely if you prefer), he uses a bias fold trim on the wide, boat neckline, down the front button closing and again as a knee-high band on the front panel only.

Wonderful in sheer wool with satin or faille as the contrast, it can also be made in faille with braid or with self-trim on a challis print, or warp-printed silk.

From this chart select the one size best for you.

Confident Living

Sudden Insight Brought Release From Strain, Care

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

DR. PEALE

The time was three in the morning. The place, a white-pillared Southern mansion — the kind usually seen in movies about the Old South. And the character was a businessman from a northern city. Suffering from a nervous upset, he was visiting in the home of his South Georgia friend in an attempt to find peace and rest.

The visitor just couldn't sleep. His mind kept whirling. Finally, after tossing restlessly for a while, he got up and paced the floor. He stood by the open window and looked out into the night.

A gleaming moon was sending silvery beams through the tall pines, and the moonlight fell softly on the lawns that stretched beyond. The serene and glorious night was filled with the fragrance of flowers. The deep quiet was interrupted only for the far-off muted barking of a dog.

The disturbed man sadly contemplated this serenity and said to himself, "God has filled the whole world with peace, but there is no peace in me." He turned from the window and resumed his restless pacing around the room.

FOUND THE WORD

Then, he noticed a little booklet on a night table and picked it up. It was a devotional magazine called The Daily Word. He leafed through it and came to these words:

"My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

These words fascinated him with their strange, melodic beauty. He read them aloud and sensed their soft, healing touch.

Then came one of those powerful insights that remodels lives. "I see, Lord, what You mean," he soliloquized. "You fill the world with peace, but You reserve for the heart of man a deeper peace than that with which You fill the world. I know now that my sins and my weaknesses have kept me from knowing this deeper peace.

"It isn't hard work or tension or worry; it's my wrongdoing that has built up this nervous upheaval in my mind. I confess all to You and ask You for Your peace. I can no longer live without it."

GOD TOOK OVER

Suddenly there came to this man one of those spiritual experiences that can take place in a human life when a person really wants a better life. A strange quietness overcame him and with it a deep drowsiness. Completely relaxed for the first time in months, he went back to bed and fell into a sound sleep.

In succeeding days he sought and finally found the everlasting peace of God. He felt a sense of deep inward healing.

This is a true story, told from life. Responsible for strain are the conflicting currents of social life, business, political and international affairs—and the noise and confusion in which many live. Yet more profoundly the causes of tension lie in our inner lives—in our hates, fears, in our wrong attitudes and actions. It is in this personal area that real healing must take place.

HOW AVOID STRAIN?

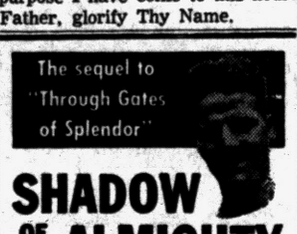

How, then, may you live without strain? Mentally and spiritually cleanse yourself of inner conflicts. Face yourself honestly and eliminate anything at all which can subtract peacefulness from your mind. But, of course, the deeper healing—the kind that lasts and fills life with joy—comes from God.

Here is a suggestion that can give you God's peace. Every day, perhaps a dozen times during the day, repeat and reflect upon these words: "Peace I give unto you ... Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

This will greatly help you to live without strain.

(Copyright, 1958)

Now is my soul troubled. And what shall I say, "Father, save me from this hour?" No, for this purpose I have come to this hour. Father, glorify Thy Name.

In synagogues throughout the world, religious services on Sunday evening and Monday will be marked by prayers of repentance and contrition.

The Hebrew term for the new year is Rosh Hoshana (beginning of the year). The sacred period, known as the days of penitence, reaches its climax with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement which begins on the evening of Sept. 23 and continues throughout the following day.

On Rosh Hashanah day and at the conclusion of Yom Kippur, the Shofar or ram's horn is sounded in the synagogue as a call to conscience.

In many Jewish homes the dinner meal on Rosh Hoshana Eve includes the eating of a bit of bread dipped in honey as the symbol of the hope for a sweet year.

Reform Jewish services will be held at Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake Rd., at 8:30 Sunday evening with Rabbi Nathan Hershfield preaching on "The One and the Many."

At 10 a.m. Monday, the rabbi will speak on "The End and the Beginning." The Temple Youth Group under the direction of Stanton Walker will conduct the service at 2 p.m. Monday for the Junior Congregation. Jacob Meyer will sound the ram's horn at both services.

The choir will sing with Rebecca Gould and James Rosenthal, soloists. Charles A. Wilson is director and organist.

Traditional Jewish services in Congregation B'nai Israel, 143 Oneida Ro., will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday; and at 8 a.m. Monday and Tuesday.

"Life's Holiest Moments" will be Rabbi Israel Goodman's sermon topic Monday morning and on Tuesday morning he will preach on "What Is Required of Us?"

Under the direction of Melvin Goldman, the choir will assist in the service. Joseph Jacobson and Cantor Lazarus Hershovitz will conduct the liturgical music, and Charles Jacobs, president of the synagogue, will present some English readings.

State Superintendent, Tabernacle Preacher

An eight-day series of evangelistic services will begin Sunday night at the Evangelistic Tabernacle, 2800 Watkins Lake Rd. The meetings will start each evening at 7:30.

Rev. Harry Hock, state superintendent of the Brethren In Christ Churches, will be the speaker. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Seeress Right Many Times

Predicts World War III in October

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Jeane Dixon, the favorite seeress of senators, ambassadors and White House intimates, has peered into her crystal ball and come up with the alarming prediction that Red China will plunge the world into war over Quemoy and Matsu next month.

"The Red Chinese will take those islands," she said grimly. "Nothing will stop them, including the immense loss of life that will result from the fighting."

Mrs. Dixon, whose amazing predictions have electrified Washington officialdom for many years, said that before the end of October, the United States will "find itself in a corner," with enormous international loss of prestige.

The amateur seeress, the wife of a prominent Washington realtor, said the fighting she sees next month in the Formosa Straits "will actually kick off World War III."

The big war, she claimed, will come more slowly, "but will see Russia, then Egypt and a number of North African countries lining up behind Red China."

Mrs. Dixon sees heavy troubles gathering for the U.S. She believes that for a time we will be "going it alone," without the help of our traditional ally, Great Britain. Britain now recognizes Red China, rather than Chiang Kai-shek's nationalist regime on Formosa.

Jeane, whose crystal ball has in the past permitted her accurately to predict the death of President Roosevelt, the partition of India and Pakistan, the Kremlin replacement of Georgi Malenkov by Nikolai Bulganin, the launching of the Sputnik and many other world-shaking events, has for many years been foretelling that Red China would trigger the third world war. The time now, she says, is nearly at hand.

The seeress insists that World War III will be of relatively short duration, without the mass fighting that marked its two predecessors. Nuclear weapons will be used, she foresees, but not the huge atomic and hydrogen bombs that can iwpe out whole cities in an instant.

Mrs. Dixon predicts that after Russia has come to the aid of Red China, she will then seize the peace initiative, "and will come out on top" with greatly increased world power.

The most tense period known to American history will come in 1964, Jeane predicts, when a civil war is seriously threatened. After that, she believes, the war-weary world will enjoy a long period of peace.

Justice Deplores 'Get Tough' Policy:

Says Today's Youth More Obedient

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Halloween stunts 30 or 40 years ago would create banner headlines on youthful vandalism today, a Michigan Supreme Court justice said Friday.

Justice George Edwards, speaking at the annual U.S. conference of mayors here, said today's younger generation "is, as a whole . . . better educated, more religious and more inclined to law observance than we were."

"The 'get tough' policy widely advocated as a cure for juvenile delinquency—the use of a policeman's night stick or a taste of jail for youthful first offenders," he said, "is, in my view, more likely to help make confirmed criminals, rather than cure them."

"Juvenile delinquency . . . constitutes a major factor in the production of our eventual total crime cost," he said. "Origins of delinquency are found in the family life and the early environment of the child."

Divorce, parental illness or death, poverty, alcoholism and mental illness cause family disorganization producing juvenile delinquency, Edwards said, and human behavior can be changed if treatment is given early enough "in his formative years and the courts have the proper tools available."

He said the "tools" included classrooms of about 25 and not 40 students, a youth bureau in police departments, an adequate probation staff, facilities for neglected children, modern detention homes to handle children in small groups and adequate psychiatric service for the juvenile court.

Accidental Explosion Rocks A-Test Zone

ATOMIC TEST SITE, nev. (AP) —An accidental explosion of a quantity of fissionable material shot dust and debris into the air at the Nevada Proving Ground yesterday. No one was hurt.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the material was at the bottom of a 500-foot shaft and was being used to test safety factors of several nuclear weapon designs. No other details of the explosion were given.

The AEC said it was confident no measurable airborne radiation was carried from the site.

The AEC also said the first full-scale test in the final phase of the 1958 series — a low yield balloon shot — has been postponed from Tuesday to Thursday next week.

Pontiac Traffic Club to Meet Here Monday

The Pontiac Traffic Club will meet for the first time this fall, for a 6:30 p.m. dinner session Monday at the Waldron Hotel.

Tom LaVier of Kramer Bros. Freight Lines will show a move on handling less that truckload lot freight, and highway safety.

'Unfixed' TV Quiz Show Would Be Boring Affair

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Much ado about the TV quiz show fix.

It always shocks the public to learn that there has been hanky-panky in an institution considered to be on the up and up.

This latest scandal only reflects on the public's gullibility—or the cynicism of showmen. What people lost sight of is that TV is still show business, and show business is not too far removed from the carnival.

The shill, the huckster, the patent medicine peddler—all those denizens of the carnival have their counterparts in TV. They are better dressed and their pitch is smoother, but their function is essentially the same—to entertain and sell.

Certainly not all quix operators are as heavy-handed as those who ran the late, unlamented Dotto. Probably none is so imprudent.

But all quiz producers are in a fight for ratings and sponsor acceptance. This demands a show that will draw audiences week after week. You can't do it by pulling a couple of citizens off the street and pitting them against questions from the encyclopedia.

A completely unfixed quiz show would be as dull as half an hour of aspirin commercials. Contestants must be screened for human interest and glibness. Showmen feel they must also be coached to come up with cute remarks and dramatic plucking of answers from their perspiring brows. So it shouldn't be too surprising that some took the next step—slipping answers to predetermined winners.

Not cricket, you say?

Maybe not, but that's show business, chum.

Rattlers Getting Bigger

STAMFORD, Tex. (AP)—Those rattlesnakes that turn up every year at the Jimmy Muehlstein home here are progressive reptiles. The other day the Muehlsteins found one in the front yard with seven rattles. Last year a snake with six rattles appeared in the garage adjoining their house. The summer before — you've guessed it — they discovered one with five rattles, also in the garage.

Your Neighbor's House

Langs' Home Replaces Old Cottage

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Just a month ago, on a perfect summer afternoon, we took the pictures on this page. We were greeted by a family in bathing suits. They were participating in one of their favorite summer sports — water skiing. Sounds a bit chilly now, doesn't it? The Charles Langs' are sports enthusiasts.

Many long time residents of the Pontiac area will remember when the J. L. Van Wagoners had a summer cottage at Maceday Lake. Built about 1892, it was the first cottage on the lake. A few years ago the Van Wagoners sold it to the Langs who at that time lived in Grosse Pointe.

In March of 1957 Mr. Langs started tearing down the old cottage. He is an architect and builder so did or oversaw all work on the house. Three months later the family moved into a 64x40 foot home.

Running down the family roster, we have: Anne who graduated from MSU in June, was married a week ago and now teaches in Flint; Susan who will be attending MSU this year; Lesley who's almost 14 and looks like Jane Powell; Jim who's 11; and Tom, aged 8. There's a dog too. Once there was a pet crow, but he disappeared soon after a story about him appeared in the Press.

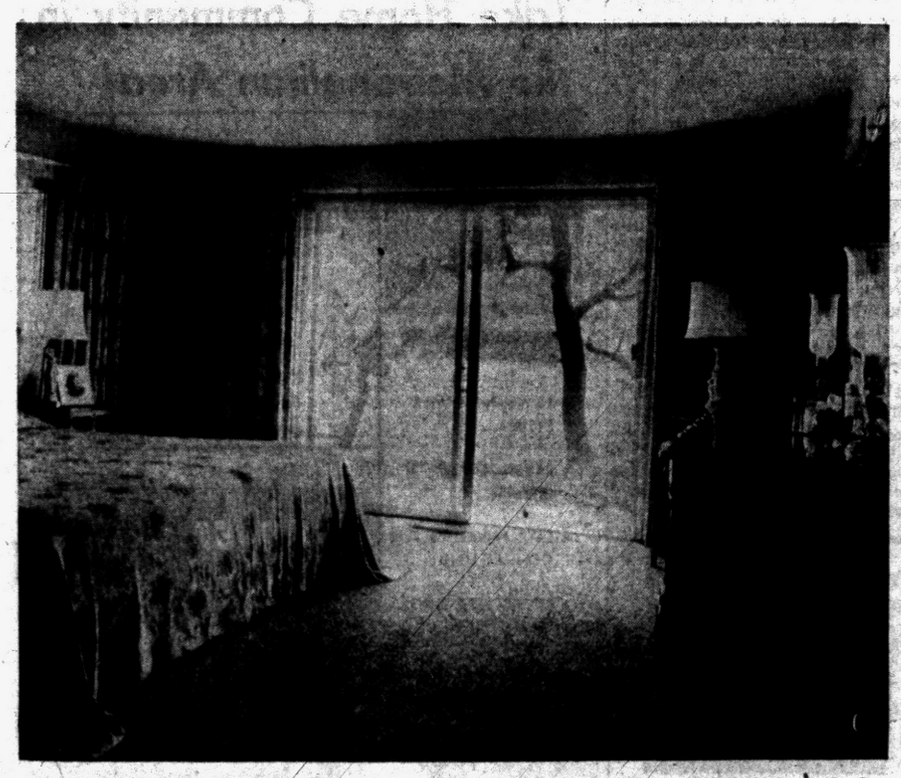

Mr. Langs had all the technical details about the house right at his finger tips. Some of the terms we don't understand too well. But we know enough to appreciate the fact that a trion electronic precipitron (honest!) cleans the air in the house, leaving no grease or dust.

We understand that the humidistat controls the humidity (but don't ask us how it works) and we liked the lights that work on

LAKE HOME — This contemporary red brick home belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langs of Maceday Lake. They tore down an old summer cottage to build a house big enough to house their family of six children. In doing so they managed to preserve the beautiful trees on the lot. The windows on the right are in the two front bedrooms. There is space for outdoor living up here and down at the lake. A six inch overhang shades the house. Mr. Langs planned and built it just a little over a year ago.

OPEN TO THE LAKE — The master bedroom has sliding glass doors opening onto a patio. When the draperies are pulled back, the Langs have a magnificent view of the lake. These gold brocaded draperies match the bedspread. Carpeting is the same throughout the house — a tweed. Furniture is Provincial style.

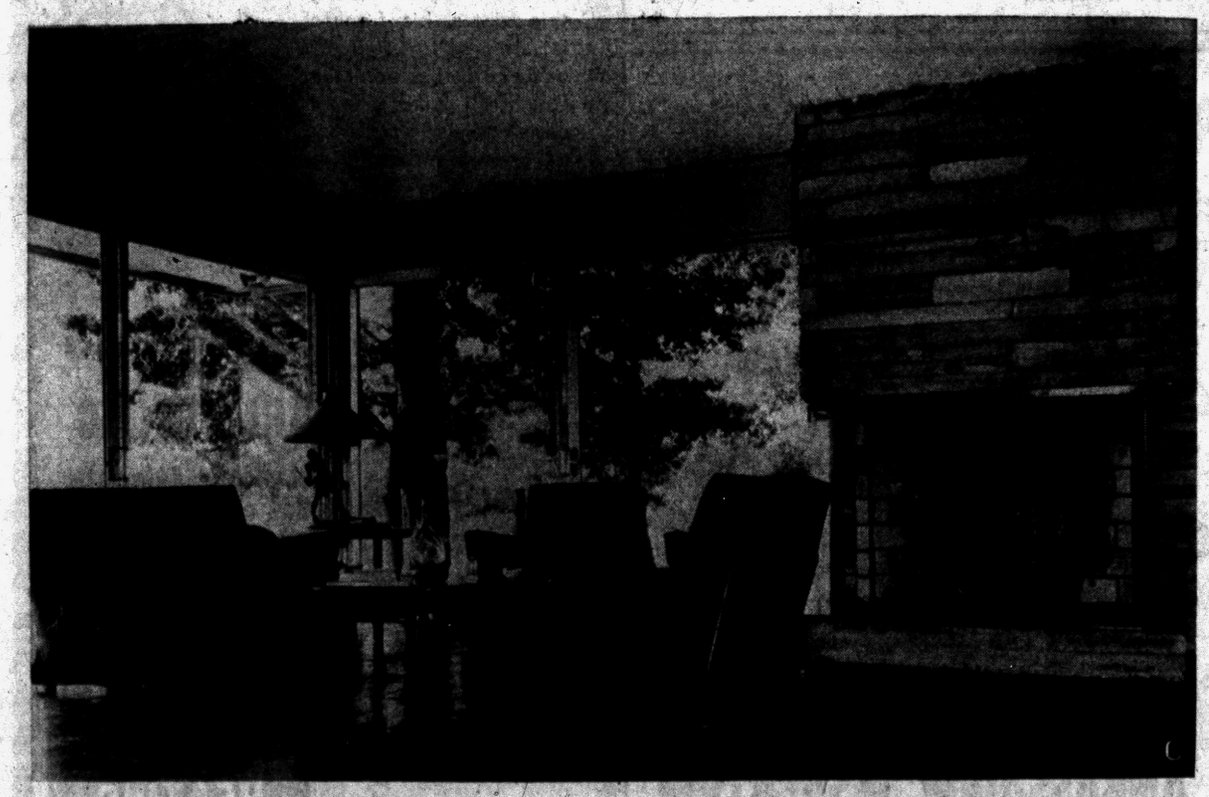

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp

OVERLOOKING THE LAKE — The view of the lake is the main attraction in the living room. On three sides of the room there are floor-to-ceiling sliding glass doors. The draperies are on a track built into the ceiling. That glamorous looking sectional sofa is covered in vinyl plastic. In front of it is a marble coffee table. A little spinet piano stands against the wall near the bedroom hall. The ceiling is made of soft plaster, nearly two inches thick. The floor is covered partly in tweed carpeting, partly in slate. This slate area allows swimmers to come in the front door and walk through to the kitchen without hurting the carpet. All light fixtures are recessed and are controlled by rheostats.

Knife Edge Put on Cards

CINCINNATI — A knife edge on playing cards that is invisible to the naked eye is put on by machinery in the manufacturing process. It permits the cards to slip in and out of the pack easily during shuffling and delays fraying so the cards will last longer.

SPECIAL PICNIC SEATS — This picture didn't get in last week's layout on outdoor living areas, due to "circumstances beyond our control." But we think a picnic table that has special high benches for the children is worth mentioning. Frank Irish of Rochester did a little sawing and hammering before he set the table out near the stone wall. Three little Irish girls enjoy their picnic lunch.

Walnut Is Tops for Furniture

What characteristics should you look for in furniture you buy? Comfort and attractive design are important of course, furniture experts point out, but equally vital are various properties of the wood which affect performance.

Chief among these are strength, stiffness, hardness, shock resistance and bending strength. All have vital bearing on how well the material will stand up in the face of constant rugged wear.

It is more than a coincidence that walnut, the beautifully grained hardwood which has been preferred by the furniture style leaders for a number of years, possesses these qualities in exceptionally high degree.

A study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Products Laboratory shows, for example, that in structural strength walnut tops the next most popular furniture wood by 18 per cent to 33 per cent.

In stiffness, according to the study, walnut's superiority ranges from 19 per cent to 33 per cent. In hardness, too, the margin in favor of walnut is 33 per cent or more.

The laboratory's tests disclosed that walnut's shock resistance is approximately 54 per cent greater and that its bending strength is 17 per cent higher than the second most popular wood.

Easy to Zone Heating

Zoning a hot water heating system can be achieved with a minimum of dependable equipment. Only one boiler is needed and no complex controls. One good way to zone a system is to have a separate pump and a separate thermostat for each zone. Zoning is especially desirable in split-level homes.

Watch Out for Logs With Carpenter Ants

In the cool of the evening this time of year there's nothing like a nice warm fire in the living room.

Less heart-warming is the fact that frequently the logs may be infested with carpenter ants, which in a warm room come out and crawl around the house, creating a nuisance. The insects get into the wood during the summer when it is stored in the yard or woodshed.

One way to guard against the ants is to spray the logs with a residual-type insecticide. It kills them before they can ever leave the wood box.

Cloth Net for Vise

When working with small parts at your workbench, use a cloth net so they won't drop to the floor. As illustrated, the cloth is supported on a wire frame from the under side of the bench top. The heavy wire is bent into a U-shape.

Four-Bedroom Home Needs No Painting

rheostats. We also appreciate the fact that the Langs' will never have to do any painting in their house.

The exterior is red brick. A six foot overhang keeps out the hot sun. All concrete walks around the house are tinted pale green which is easy on the eyes. The house has a partial basement.

All glass doors—and there are lots of them—are thermopane glass one inch thick. The windows are the same type of glass, but only half an inch thick. All window sills are marble.

SLATE'S THE ANSWER

There are 721 feet of slate in the house. Where there is not slate, there is carpeting. The Langs' wanted a house that the children could dash in and out of without hurting the floor. The slate was their solution.

Walls are covered with vinyl grass cloth which could be hosed down if necessary. All lighting is indirect, even on the outside of the house. Hi-fi music is piped outside, but not inside.

This means that when people are down at the lake, they can hear the music; yet it is not too loud in the house. There are 25 telephone outlets in the house; one is down on the boathouse deck.

From the road one enters the house by a hallway. At the right is a pink tiled powder room and the kitchen. Straight ahead is the living room. At the left, just this side of the living room, is the hallway to the bedrooms.

The green, brown and red slate kitchen floor is highly polished. Everything spells efficiency and ease of upkeep. There are no curtains at the windows, only rust colored ruffles. On the window sills there are numerous potted plants in aqua colored containers.

The refrigerator and freezer hang on one wall. Below is counter and storage space. All cabinets are steel with limed oak bases and doors. Hardware is brass.

ELECTRONIC OVEN

The dishwasher, washer-dryer and sink are all sandalwood color to match the refrigerator-freezer. Next to the range top stove is an electronic oven. Mrs. Langs says this cuts her cooking time to a minimum.

At one end of the big kitchen there is an old fashioned round oak table. The oak chairs have rust colored cushions. This table was bought by Mrs. Van Wagoner's mother at the time of her marriage. Next to it, under the window, is an old schoolmaster's pine desk.

The living room is 31x21 feet. At the fireplace end and extending into the kitchen the floor is slate. The fireplace was built in this spot so that anyone working in the kitchen could enjoy watching the open fire. In the window corner next to the fireplace there's a conversational grouping of chairs around a low table.

There are windows on three sides of this room—great floor to ceiling ones, doors in fact, that slide back to let in the outdoors. The company that makes these windows has been interested to see how they work in a Michigan winter; they have been used mainly in California. The Langs were comfortable all last winter.

Beige draperies can close any part of this window wall. Made in 10 foot sections, the draperies are mounted on a track built right into the plaster.

Another ceiling track takes care of Philippine mahogany accordion doors. These have a switch and can be made to close off the dining area of the kitchen or the entire fireplace end of the living room. The ceiling itself is soft acoustical plaster.

Opposite the windows is a bookcase wall of red stripe mahogany. In front of this is a pair of brown lounge chairs.

The large curved sectional sofa nearer the front of the room is upholstered in vinyl plastic. We were a bit surprised when Mrs. Langs came in from the lake in her swimming suit and sat down on the sofa. Then she explained that it was meant to take such treatment.

The Langs' house has four bedrooms. The boys share one; Anne and Susan share another. Lesley and her folks have the two front bedrooms, both of which have doors opening onto the front patio.

Lesley has a king size bed with a brocaded pink spread. The draperies match the spread. Her furniture is blond. All closets in the house have louvered doors.

In the master bedroom the brocaded spread and draperies have a gold background. This room has its own bath and two closets. Just outside the glass doors is bamboo furniture to invite relaxation. Inside the room the furniture is Provincial.

Behind the Langs' house there is a guest house. Down by the one is down on the boathouse lake is a boathouse with a deck where guests and family spend warm days. Everything is geared to close family living.

New 'Oil-Type' Finishes Give Custom Look

Modern chemistry has solved the problem of giving furniture and other wood products the rich luster of hand-rubbed oil finishes, utilizing efficient production methods and eliminating the tedious hand effort involved in the old-fashioned method.

Oil has long been considered one of the most beautiful of finishes for certain woods, such as American walnut. A true oil finish is obtained by rubbing boiled linseed oil into the wood in repeated applications. Often it takes weeks or months to obtain the desired effect.

Many furniture makers are now using an "oil-type' finish, made of resins and other chemicals. Some formulas include polymerized linseed oil followed by subsequent coats that protect the wood. It produces a finish which many claim to be identical in appearance with the hand-rubbed original.

Developers of the new process claim several advantages for the "oil-type" finish. Care is easier, they say, because it provides greater protection to the wood.

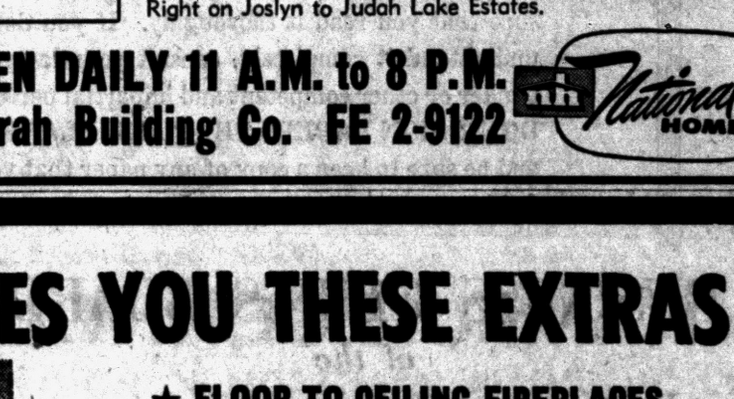

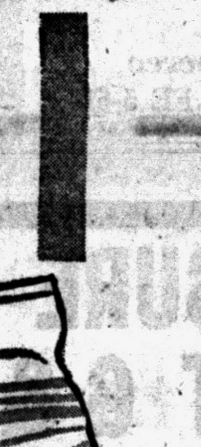

True oil finishes still can be obtained. Homemakers choosing th should remember that, for the finest in upkeep, additional oil should be rubbed in periodically, according to the furniture manufacturer's instructions.

Wet soil should never be plowed because it becomes too hard for growing crops when the moisture evaporates.

FIVE COMFORTABLE ROOMS — This floor plan shows the room arrangement in either the full or partial basement versions. If no basement is wanted, the stairs and vestibule back of the kitchen become storage space and the washer and dryer move into the right rear corner of the kitchen area.

Small Ranch Filled With Building Economy

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

You can save money at every turn in building this smartly-styled, three-bedroom ranch house because the architect has filled it with built-in economies.

The goal of Architect John S. Burrows Jr. in developing design X-23 for The House of the Week was to produce a house to fit families with moderate incomes who want sound planning and good styling in a house they can afford.

He made no sacrifices with styling or design, but he used what he calls "controlled measurement planning." This simply means that mass-produced building components can be used throughout the house, sharply cutting waste in materials as well as reducing labor costs.

Burrows, a man with wide experience in planning small home projects for U.S. government developments, is serving this month as an American delegate to the Congress of the International Federation of Housing and Planning in Liege, Belgium.

His design offers optional basement plans. There can be a full basement, a partial basement—or no basement.

Here are the full details of Design X-23 described area by area for an easy-to-see picture of the house:

THE LIVING AREA

The living and dining rooms occupy a large area at the right rear corner. The area is 20 feet across the back and 20 feet from back to front.

Set within this area are a fireplace and a guest closet. The dining room is reached through a swinging door from the adjacent kitchen.

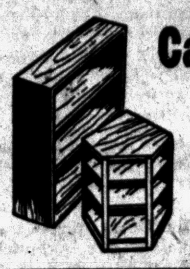

Should the third bedroom be used as a den, its area may be linked with the dining and living rooms by opening a folding door. Or, at the owner's option, this fold-

Home Comfort Money in Bank Booklet Says

One luxury that actually costs less in the American home is comfort.

A pipe dream? No, it's true, and a new booklet now available to home owners tells exactly how.

The booklet describes how proper insulation in a house gives the home owner and his family greater comfort at lower operating costs for heating and air conditioning.

It tells how insulation works, why it is necessary to comfort and health the year around, and what it does to save money, winter and summer. The booklet also tells how to install insulation yourself or how to go about having it installed professionally.

Copies can be obtained for 10 cents each from the National Mineral Wool Association, 2906 Americas Building, Rockefeller Center, New York 20, N.Y. Ask for the booklet, "Insulation and Your Home."

New Versatile Drill Has Special Gears

A versatile, lightweight, ⅜" Ball-Rite Drill is being introduced by the Cummins Power Tool Co., manufacturer of fine portable power tools, combining all the convenience and ease of handling of a ¼" drill with extra power, and extra capacity, the compact new tool operates at ideal speed for drilling metal and for fast-drilling wood.

Particularly useful for working with carbide-tipped bits in stone, tile and concrete, the Cummins ⅜" drill features specially heat-treated gears, accurately meshed for smooth operation, while a cool-running motor delivers sufficient power without stalling.

A full four-finger pistol-grip handle provides perfect control when in use.

Careful Planning Spells Home Luxury

ing door can be a permanent wall.

Full-height awning windows overlook the rear terrace from the dining-living room and a door opens directly onto the terrace from the dining-living area.

THE SLEEPING AREA

This section has three bedrooms and two baths, and a center hall. The two front bedrooms have double exposures, but the windows are high and do not interfere with wall space. There are two closets in each of these bedrooms.

The third bedroom, which may double as a den, has one closet and two high, awning-type windows. The master bathroom has a full tub and is private.

The family bathroom serves the other bedrooms. It has an alcove tub, a double vanitory and is placed to serve handily as a guest lavatory.

The kitchen can be reached from the front or rear doors. There are awning sash windows at the front of the kitchen. A frosted glass, daylight window separates the kitchen and the vestibule.

A vestibule inside the rear door gives access to the garage, to the cellar and, up three steps, to the 10 by 12 foot kitchen. Just outside the perimeter of the kitchen is a utility closet.

Kitchen appliances and fixtures are arranged in a U. They include a double sink, a counter range, wall oven, refrigerator and work counters. The laundry room, heating plant and utilities are in the basement.

If the house is built without a basement, the vestibule and stair areas become storage space and the washer and dryer move into the right, rear corner of the kitchen.

THE CASUAL AREAS

In the basement version, there is space for a playroom with a fireplace in the basement. There is a rear terrace, 14 by 20 feet.

There are 11 closets and a 12 by 20 foot garage for storing the car. Additional storage room is provided in the basement. There are closets and a work bench in the garage.

Dry-wall construction inside is specified because it is practical and economical. This is a budget house but the cost-cutting features don't show.

THE EXTERIOR

Outside walls are of brick and stone veneers, of colored prefabricated panels and sash, and vertical redwood siding. Asphalt shingles are specified for the roof. Awning sash windows, wood louvers, window boxes and a brick chimney complete the outside details.

Design X-23 has overall dimensions of 45 by 50 feet. Minimum lot, 60 by 100 feet, recommended. The habitable area has 1,380 square feet. The garage has 264 square feet. There are five rooms and two baths.

Fall's the Time to Clean, Repair House Gutters

Whether or not you plan to paint your house this fall, do plan on touching up the gutters. And if you do plan to paint, the job will go faster if you eliminate this time-consuming operation ahead of time.

If the paint looks worn, if rust spots are beginning to show through, it's past time to get at the job.

When you mount the ladder for your inspection tour, take along a wire brush to get rid of debris and a screwdriver with which to explore rust spots.

Dislodge debris and check the metal underneath. If the metal is sound, repainting may be all you need to do.

Plan periodic cleaning even though you're sure the gutters are sound. Water builds up wherever there's debris. It spills over, stains walls, injures foundation plantings.

If you want to minimize this task in the future, you might consider installing gutter guards. These screenlike affairs are sold by nearly all hardware stores.

Metal that's rusty should be cleaned and sanded before painting. The wire brush will remove large particles. Use emery cloth for final cleaning.

Before painting, give the sanded spot a prime coat. Old-fashioned red lead is always suitable, and you may have a can of it tucked away from a previous job.

Modern rust-preventing paints can be applied over a thin coating of rust on sound metal with little danger. In either case, be sure to remove large flakes of rust and all loose dirt.

If there are tiny holes or cracks in the metal, spread asbestos roof coating over the spot after priming it.

To seal larger openings, make a patch using roofing felt, fiberglass cloth, heavy aluminum foil or deck canvas.

To apply the patching, first spread a coating of asbestos cement over the cleaned spot. Place the material over that. Then spread more roofing cement. Cover all the edges.

If the rusted-out section is extensive, use a piece of metal for the patch. It must be the same material as the gutter. Otherwise an electrolytic action will set in and your patch will go to pot in a few months.

Two dissimilar metals, such as aluminum and galvanized steel—although each is rustproof—will corrode when placed together in the presence of water.

Even though corrosion may not have started yet, it will if such a mixture exists. If you find that you have aluminum gutters held with galvanized nails, it might be worth all the work required to change the nails.

Wood Stays Strong

Age does not effect the strength of wood, reports the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. It says tests made of the famed Octagon house in Washington, D. C., built 150 years ago, judged the timbers as strong as the day they were installed. The Octagon House served as President Madison's home when the British burned the White House in 1812.

TOOL HOUSE YARD DIVIDER — Here's an idea for an attractive yard divider separating work and play areas which doubles as a tool house on one side and storage shed for lawn furniture and summer play gear on the other. The butterfly roof gives it a winged effect and drains roof water away from lawn. Board-and-batten siding of western red cedar matches home siding. Design is simple frame construction of Douglas fir 2x4s.

Handyman Uses Fall for Repair Round-Up

Make a checklist of fall repairs just as soon as you can. Determine what jobs can be handled indoors some cool evening or rainy Sunday afternoon. Plan to do the outdoor work immediately.

Start checking at the top of the house. If shingles on your roof flap in the breeze, imagine what they'll do in a driving storm. Renailing will put them to rights. Asphalt roofing cement will take care of small cracks in shingles and in flashing.

Gutters should be free of leaves and other debris, hangers should be secure.

It's a good idea — as a safety precaution — to work with someone when you check the roof and other high parts of your house. Maybe you can arrange with a neighbor to help him with his high work if he helps you.

Check last year's calking. (This should be done before you do any painting.) Calk around door and window frames, other joints where moisture might collect. Dig out wworn, brittle calking and replace.

If you don't own a calking gun, purchase of one might be a good investment. Be sure to clean it thoroughly when you're finished using it. Otherwise, the hardened compound will make it useless.

Don't paint just because it's the right season for it. A good paint job will last several years. Check for exposed worn spots on wooden siding, for exposed nail heads that may be rusting. Sand and paint those spots.

If you have a brick house, or a brick foundation, check the mortar between the bricks. Renew it wherever it breaks and crumbles with a little probing.

Fill gaps between foundation and sidewalk where they come together with tar or asphalt compound.

CRACKED WALKS

Repair cracks in concrete walks and drives. Letting them go will only make them worse as alternate freezing and thawing enlarges them. Use ready-mix concrete and mix it with water as you need it. Use one of the new chemical bonding agents — either the type you paint on the crack or the kind that's mixed with the patching compound — to save you the job of chipping out the old material.

When you remove the screens, mark damaged areas and fix screens some time when the weather keeps you indoors. Wash them thoroughly before putting them away for the winter.

Gather garden tools and clean them. After you've removed the mud, go to work on the rust with a steel brush and steel wool. File the edges of spades and hoes so they'll be sharp and ready to use next spring. Sand wood handles.

Before you store tools for the winter, wipe lubricating oil over the metal parts, linseed oil over the handles.

Drain the garden hose and coil it neatly. Don't leave any kinks in it.

Get out the snow shovel. Clean it if it needs it, file the edge so thtat it's good and sharp. Hang it where you can get to it easily.

Clean out the seed and fertilizer spreader, wash, dry, and store.

Are You Ready for Cold Days?

If you want your home to feel cozy as well as look that way when the cold weather sets in, Minneapolis-Honeywell engineers warn that good heating is the key to your wintertime comfort. Put a thorough furnace checkup at the top of your list of things to be done before decorating this season.

Call the serviceman: have him examine flues for cleanliness, inspect the furnace parts for perfect performance and seal chinks or cracks in the furnace itself or the chimney to prevent heat loss. Radiators, too, should be given a cleanliness and performance check and, if faulty, repaired immediately.

Because proper automatic control of the heat supply is of great importance during the future frosty days, make sure that the thermostat you now have is in good working order, or have it replaced with a newer model which will insure the temperatures you want in your home as the weather changes.

Choose a unit that will best fit the individual needs of your house and family: one type is semi-automatic designed to turn the heat on in the morning but can be turned back in the evening when you retire, while a third unit is fully automatic, turning the heat on in the morning, off at night at pre-determined hours each day.

If there were some cold rooms, some warm ones in your home last winter, the solution to the problem may be in "zoning" the house into heating areas and installing separate thermostats in each of the areas for individualized temperature control. Latest and most efficient system for winter comfort is a "team" of electronic thermostats, one of which is outside the house to literally anticipate weather changes and signal for automatic functioning of the thermostat indoors.

Once the working parts of your heating system have been put in top condition, take the time to che to see that the warmth which it provides wil lbe kept inside where it belongs. Adequate insulation in "trouble spots" such as a drafty attic or cellar or along north walls is the best solution.

Navy to Probe Noise of Stars

Plans Radio Telescope to Explore Mysteries of Distant Universe

WASHINGTON — Radio waves from the stars constantly bombard the earth.

To tune them in better, the United States Navy has announced plans for a radio telescope that will be the biggest in the western world. Costing $60 million, the huge instrument should enable astronomers to probe deeper than ever before into the mysteries of the universe, the National Geographic Society says.

The new radio telescope will be set up at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory near Green Bank, West Virginia. The West Virginia mountains provide exceptionally low radio-noise levels —an important consideration when scientists are trying to detect the faint murmurs of the stars.

Radio astronomy stems from the work of Karl Jansky, an engineer for the Bell Telephone Laboratories. When he began his epochal research, Jansky had no idea that he would make one of the most important discoveries of 20th-century science. All he was trying to do was find out what caused static on transatlantic radiotelephone messages.

Jansky noted a peculiar noise: "Very weak . . . very steady, causing a hiss in the phones." Methodically, he eliminated one possible cause after another. Finally in 1933 he announced that the source of the trouble lay at the center of the Milky Way—about 26,000 light-years away!

The surprising discovery revolutionized the ancient science of astronomy. No longer did astronomers have to depend on optical instruments alone: they had suddenly been given a wholly new tool for finding out what lies in the distant reaches of space.

They began building radio telescopes, instruments something like television sets but many thousands of times more sensitive. With this new equipment, they discovered that radio waves reach the earth not only rfom the sun and near-by planets, but from patches of faintly luminous gas and from clouds of hydrogen drifting among distant stars.

Boy, 10, Dog Find Man, Near Death

WAYNE (AP) — State Police today credited a 10-year-old boy and his dog with saving the life of an elderly man who had been missing from his home for four days.

John Stephenson, 86, of Wayne, was found lying face down in a field near his home last night by Ronnie Freese of Wayne.

"About one more night in this cold weather and he probably would have had it," said Trooper Kenneth L. Yuill of the Ypsilanti post.

Stephenson was taken in semi-consciousness to Wayne County General Hospital, where he was reported in critical condition from exposure.

Police said they believed Stephenson had been lying in the field since Monday when he wandered away from home. Stephenson, a widower, lived alone. Neighbors reported his absence.

The trooper said Ronnie and his dog were playing in the field when the dog came across Stephenson.

3 Accused Burglars Bound to Court Here

Three men charged with safe robbery and burglary were bound to Circuit Court on both counts yesterday by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

John R. Gibson, 34, of 590 S. East Blvd.; Louis J. Morgan, 29, and James W. Johnson, 25, both of Detroit, will be arraigned in Circuit Court Sept. 22.

The trio is accused of burglarizing Lou's Drug Store, 493 S. Sanford St., on the night of Aug. 17 and stealing $5,000 in narcotics, blank travelers checks and a check protector.

They were apprehended by Detroit detectives Aug. 30 while checking on narcotics sales.

Urges Elders to Work

BERLIN (UPI) — East German Minister for Health Luitpold Steidle urged Soviet zone residents yesterday not to stop working at the age of 65 but to keep toiling for the regime "voluntarily."

Admits Lack of Technique

Reporter Pilots Jet on His First Flight

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is what it is like to fly a jet.

I didn't fly one long, and I definitely didn't fly one well. But I did fly one.

The plane was Lockheed's new "Jetstar" — the twin-engined, 10-passenger beauty Lockheed hopes to sell to the AirForce as an executive transport and trainer.

It was not only my first shot at flying a jet, it also was my first ride in one.

We took off from nearby Andrews Air Force Base. It felt more like we catapulted off. With the first surge of screaming power, we were shoved against the back of the seats. The ground flashed by in a blur.

In 15 minutes, the Jetstar was touching 30,000 feet—and in those 15 minutes, the 10 passengers were flat on their backs. This million-dollar baby climbs almost straight up.

But as we streaked up and the ground fell away, I got my first impressions of what the jet age will mean to the average guy who flies.

After the first sensation of take-off speed, there is really no sensation. Vibration is completely absent. The cabin is somewhat noisy, but remember this is a military utility plane, not a plush airliner; and the noise level is no greater than in a conventional piston-engine aircraft.

HIGH SKY BLUER

At 40,000 feet, the sunlight seems brighter, the sky bluer. Nor are you conscious of your speed (upwards of 550 m.p.h.) once you level off. Only when you bank sharply are you aware that you're going almost 10 miles every 60 seconds; then your stomach feels like a high speed elevator.

The Lockheed representative asked me if I'd like to try my hand at the controls.

"Sure," I said trying to be nonchalant. My nonchalance was slightly spoiled when I tripped on the step leading to the cockpit. But once I settled down in the left-hand seat and gripped the controls, the pilot knew he could relax. Or did he?

"You ever flown before?" he asked.

"Viscounts and DC-7's," I said confidently. (I didn't bother to tell him that in both cases the Viscounts and DC-7's were simulators parked safely on the ground).

CONTROLS SENSITIVE

The controls were sensitive. It felt like power-steering a car on ice.

"Turn right 60 degrees," said the pilot.

I gently turned the wheel. The Jetstar responded easily. But I felt that sinking sensation in my stomach. When we completed the turn, the pilot chuckled.

"You have to keep her nose up in a bank like that," he said. "You've lost 3,000 feet in 11 seconds."

Slightly unnerved, I climbed back to 40,000 feet. A few minutes later, an Air Force colonel tapped me on the shoulder.

"My turn now," he smiled.

I went back in the cabin and critically observed the clonel's flying technique. He did somewhat better.

10-Year Dream Nears Reality

Oertel Finally in Majors

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — For Chuck Oertel the past ten years have seemed like the passing of many generations.

It was back in 1949, his senior year at Pontiac St. Frederick, that Oertel's fondest dream was to get into the Major Leagues. And it was just two weeks ago that the Baltimore Orioles finally bought him from the Louisville Colonels, a member of their farm system.

Since he was signed by the St. Louis Browns in 1950 his climb up the ladder of success has been plagued with injuries, illness plus a service hitch. He was constantly on the move in the minors, from Georgia to Wisconsin to Texas to the West Coast and from there back to Texas and then Louisville in the Midwest and finally to Baltimore.

Many players would have been discouraged by the shuffling, but the burning desire of getting a crack at the Big Leagues stayed with Oertel.

"I love this game and I'm going to do my darndest to stick with Baltimore," said Oertel last night as the Orioles prepared to meet the Tigers in the game at Briggs Stadium, "it sure has seemed like ages since I signed my pro contract."

.."I know I wont get to play much now as the club is still fighting for a spot in the top half of the division, but I've known Paul Richards for quite some time, and he gives a guy a pretty fair test before letting him go," Oertel added.

"When we go into spring camp at Miami, I think I'll get the chance," he continued.

This is his 7th year in pro ball, excluding two years in the Marines, and during his tour around the minors he can account for several outstanding seasons.

In his debut at Baxley of the Georgia State League after signing with the Browns, he hit .352, set a league record with 29 triples and was the league's all-star third baseman.

The next two seasons were spent at Appleton in the Wisconsin State League where he hit .352 before entering the service.

After his discharge he became the property of the Baltimore Orioles and he was assigned to San Antonio in the Texas League in 1954.

A broken arm wrecked his 1955 season but he still played 92 games and hit .292. In 1956 he went to Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League and again he lost 45 days during the season in the hospital with a liver ailment.

He was back at San Antonio in 1957 and was the team's all-star outfielder in the Texas League. San Antonio baseball fans gave him a "night" during which he was presented with numerous gifts.

This has been a healthy year for him, physically and at the plate with the Louisville Colonels. His batting average climbed from .240 in April to .317 by mid-August, and during those weeks in August he was the league's hottest batter. He moved into second place in the American Association right behind Denver's Gordon Windborn the league's leading hitter.

He has appeared in every game thus far with the Orioles, primarily as a pinch hitter. Richards has the team battling the Tigers for a chunk of the first division money and the rookies aren't apt to see too much action because of this.

At 27, Oertel is a rookie, but he figures he's got a lot of good wear in those legs and he hopes to make a strong bid next spring.

SACRIFICE FAILS — Reno Bertoia of the Tigers was forced out at 3rd base on this play in last night's game when Frank Lary bunted right to drawn-in Baltimore 1st sacker Bob Boyd attempting to sacrifice two teammates along. Brooks Robinson is shown taking the throw. Lary later tripled and scored ahead of Al Kaline's homer as the Bengals broke a 1-1 tie in the 8th to triumph.

Detroit Grabs 3-1 Win With Record-Equalling Time

DETROIT (UPI) — Frank Lary and Al Kaline made it short and sweet for the Tigers last night and as a result of their 3-1 victory over Baltimore, Detroit pulled within two games of third place while holding onto fourth by a half game.

The Tigers did it in record-equalling time. It took one hour and 54 minutes to subdue the Orioles to tie the mark for the shortest game at Briggs Stadium this season.

Lary, who could file non-support charges against his mates for all the help they've given him recently, tripled to the 380-foot mark in right center to open the eighth inning with the score tied at 1-1.

It looked like Lary should have used a heavier bat and tried for a homer when Harvey Kuenn popped weakly to second baseman Billy Gardner and Coot Veal was fooled by veteran knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm. Veal went fishing for a outside pitch and struck out.

Other than the third inning when the Tigers tied the score, they had only one man as far as second base until Lary tripled. It appeared Wilhelm would get out of the jam until Al Kaline belted a 1-1 pitch into the lower deck in left for his 15th homer of the year.

Lary moved quickly through the ninth inning against three pinch hitters. Dick Williams flied to left and Al Pilarcik drew Lary's third walk. But Bob Hale grounded into a game-ending doubleplay, the second pulled by Detroit in the game.

Lary, in winning his 15th against 14 defeats, had a man on base in every inning but the seventh and eighth. The Birds stranded eight runners.

The Orioles took a brief lead in the third when Wilhelm sliced a single to right with one out. Rookie Willie Tasby walked and Bob Boyd bounced one just over Lary's head to fill the bases.

Gene Woodling used the same maneuver and by the time the ball came down, Lary had no play with Wilhelm scoring. But Bob Nieman forced Tasby at the plate and Gus Triandos grounded out.

The Tigers pushed over their first run when Reno Bertoia doubled off the left field screen and Red Wilson was hit by a pitch. Lary tried to sacrifice them along but Boyd was waiting for the bunt and threw out Bertoia at third. Kuenn followed with a single to score Wilson before Veal hit into a doubleplay.

Jim Bunning, who's finished only one game since pitching his no-hitter was scheduled to wind up the series today against Detroiter Milt Pappas (9-9), or Hector Brown (6-4).

Ex-Champion, Collegian Clash for Amateur Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lanky Charlie Coe, the ex-champ who has been beating unknowns, today meets little known Tommy Aaron, who's whipped some big names, for the National Amateur golf championship.

The U.S. Golf Assn. couldn't have designated two greater opposites for the 36-hole final if it had tried—a veteran against a youngster whose home town doesn't even have a golf course.

Coe, a 34-year-old oil broker from Oklahoma City, won the title in 1949 and never has come this close again although playing in each subsequent tournament.

Aaron, a former all - Georgia quarterback at Gainesville High, who now attends the University of Florida, stands 6-2 and weighs 185. This is his first U.S. Amateur although he has won the Southeastern Conference crown twice.

In yesterday's semifinals, Coe downed Cincinnati salesman Roger McManus, 3 and 2, while Aaron overwhelmed UCLA's Dick Foote 10 and 9. The par busting southerner's margin was the largest since Billy Maxwell of North Texas State, now among the top pros, whipped J.C. Benson by the same count in the 1951 semifinals. Billy went on to win the title. Still, it didn't match Coe's 11 and 10 victory over Rufus King in the 1949 final when Charlie tipped the scale at a scanty 125.

Each finalist has won seven matches over the 6,680-yard Olympic County Club Lake Course.

Coe defeated Tom Ford of Phillipsburg, N.J., Dick Giddings of Modesto, Calif., Art Hoff of LaGrange, Ill., Bob Gardner of West Orange, N.J., Dan Morgan of Fresno State, Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., and McManus. None had a national reputation.

Aaron beat a crew that included former National champion Dick Champman, NCAA champ Phil Rodgers, and Chuck Kocsis, Royal Oak, Mich., the U.S. Amateur runner-up in 1956.

For 117 holes here, Aaron has been two strokes under par, Coe has been 11 over for 133. Coe also played 65 holes last weekend in the America Cup victory, making a total of 198 in seven playing days.

Crippled Chips at Northern

Central Has Lost 10 Players During Drills for Tonight's Contest

MARQUETTE (UPI) — A crippled Central Michigan team plays Northern Michigan here tonight and Michigan Tech is host to Mankato State in the season's state football openers.

Kentucky is at home against the University of Hawaii, Drake is at South Dakota State, Florida State meets Tennessee Tech and Bradley plays Iowa Teachers in some of the other lidlifters. Xavier of Ohio and St. Joseph's of Indiana clash Sunday rounding out the first weekend of grid action.

Central's loss of 10 players during the past week due to injuries and other reasons has given Northern confidence for an upset.

Starting halfback John Palmer and a sophomore quarterback were declared ineligible, five players are hurt or sick, two others recently quit the squad and one never showed up for pre-season workouts at CMC.

Earlies, Thelvius Winieckie, first team IAAC fullback in 1957, had announced he was dropping out of school for a year.

Northern, trying to move up in state grid circles, has six starters back headed by quarterback Tom Schwalbach. Michigan Tech will be seeking revenge for a 28-0 by Mankato last fall.

Aussie and Briton in Net Semifinals

TORONTO (AP) — Top-seeded Mal Anderson of Australia met Britain's Bill Knight and Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., tangled with Luis Ayala of Chile today in the semifinal round of the international tennis tournament here.

This marked the second major event in the past week in which no American has advanced as far as the semifinal round. In the U.S. championships which ended last Sunday, the American delegation was on the sidelines for the semifinals.

Dick Savitt, former Davis Cupper from East Orange, N. J., was the last American hope, and he went down to a 6-1, 6-2 defeat at the hands of Bedard yesterday.

Cincy Interested in Hutch, Says St. Louis Report

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Globe-Democrat said Friday night Fred Hutchinson, reportedly out as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals next year, will be considered for a similar post with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Jack Herman of the Globe-Democrat, with the Cardinals in Milwaukee, telephoned General Manager Gabe Paul of Cincinnati and asked whether Hutchinson is a candidate for the managerial post with the Redlegs.

"Absolutely," Paul was quoted as saying.

7 UCLA Seniors Decide to Play First 5 Games

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It took UCLA's seven five-game football seniors less than three minutes Friday to decide they'll play the first five games of the season.

The restriction, imposed as a penalty by the Pacific Coast Conference, requires that the games played be consecutively.

The players, all first stringers, made their decision in a conference with Coach George Dickerson. They are center Dick Butler, All-America left end Dick Wallen, tackle Jim Dawson, quarterback Steve Gertsman, right tackle Bill Leeka, left half - tailback Don Long and left guard-left tackle Clint Whitfield.

Turley Wins 21st, Burdette No. 17

Series Foes Match Shutouts

United Press International

Lew Burdette and Bob Turley, the probably starters for the opening game of the World Series, have convinced their managers they're both ready to go right now.

There was really "nothing" to choose between them last night.

Burdette pitched a three-hit 6-0 shutout over the Cardinals to reduce the Braves' pennant-clinching "magic number" to six, while Turley hurled a four-hit 5-0 shutout against the White Sox to shave the Yankees' combination to three.

Hank Aaron made Burdette's 17th victory a breeze when he drove in four of Milwaukee's runs with his 29th homer and a triple and double.

The victory for Turley was his 21st of the year and he thus became the first Yankee pitcher to reach that total since 1951 when Ed Lopat and Vic Raschi both equalled it. The Yankees clinched the game with a three-run burst off Ray Moore in the fourth inning.

Gil McDougald drove in the first run when he singled with the bases full and two more runs followed on a forceout and Earl Torgeson's error.

Cleveland edged Boston, 5-4, Detroit beat Baltimore, 3-1, and Kansas City whipped Washington, 4-3, in other American League games.

In the National League, San Francisco took a pair from Philadelphia, 5-2 and 19-2, Chicago defeated Cincinnati, 7-5, and Los Angeles licked Pittsburgh, 7-3.

Rocky Colavito furnished the Indians with their winning margin over the Red Sox when he clouted his 35th homer with the bases full in the seventh inning. The blow was enough to give rookie Gary Bell his 10th victory although he yielded to Jim (Mudcat) Grant in the eighth. Ted Bowsfield was the loser.

Pete Runnels and Ted Williams each collected one hit in three tries to continue in a virtual tie for the A.L. batting crown.

Bob Cerv slammed his 34th homer and Hect or Lopezcontributed his 16th as the Athletics moved up into sixth place. Ray Herbert was the winner and Pedro Ramos the loser. Roy Sievers hit his 37th homer for the Senators.

The Giants set a N.L. record for runs scored in a single game this season when they put together 17 hits for 19 runs in the nightcap of their twin-bill with the Phillies. The Giants also held the previous mark of 16 runs scored against the Dodgers on May 13. Jim Davenport, who collected four of the Giants' hits, climaxed an eight-run first inning with a three-run inside-the-park homer that helped Johnny Antonelli to his 15th victory.

In the opener, Al Worthington came to the relief of winner Ruben Gomez in the eighth inning and struck out three men with the bases loaded. Willie Mays' two-run single in the ninth clinched the game for the Giants.

The Cubs tied a 28-year-old club record of 171 homers in a single season when Dale Long and Walt Moryn each connected against the Redlegs. Bill Henry, last of three Chicago pitchers, held Cincinnati to one hit over the last four innings and gained credit for his fifth win. Joe Nuxhall suffered his 11th setback against 12 victories.

Roger Craig of the Dodgers, recalled from the minors earlier in the week, won his first game in the Majors since Sept. 7, 1957 when he stopped the pirates on seven hits. Duke Snider drove in four runs with his 14th homer, two singles and a double, while Dodger rookie Ron Fairly hit his first major league homer. Ronnie Kline absorbed his 15th defeat.

DENVER (AP)—The old pros chased after two young Californians today in the third round of the $20,000 Denver Open Centennial Golf Tournament.

At the halfway mark after yesterday's shooting, Tommy Jacobs of Whittier paced the field with 65-67—132, eight under par for the 6,642 - yard Wellshire municipal course.

John McMullin, Fair Oaks, Calif., was in second place two strokes back with 66-68—134.

Musial Still Unworried

Ashburn Takes NL Lead

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Stan Musial, sidelined indefinitely by a leg injury, says he's not worried about losing out in his bid for an eighth National League batting title.

"Don't worry about me, all I have to do is get into the game," the St. Louis Cardinals' star said last night. "And I'll be back as soon as I can swing a bat."

The NL batting lead was wrestled away from him last night by Richie Ashburn, the Philadelphia Phillies' fleet outfielder. The Braves' Hank Aaron climbed closer in third place while leading Milwaukee to a 6-0 victory over the Cardinals.

"I'll be in there at the finish," the 37-year-old Cardinals first baseman grinned. "It looks like a four-man duel to the end."

Ashburn has a .339 average, one point better than Musial who leads Aaron by two points. The Milwaukee outfielder is two points ahead of the San Francisco Giants' Willie Mays, figured by Musial as the fourth man in the race.

"As far as Stan is concerned, he's ready to play right now," said Cardinal Manager Fred Hutchinson. "But we know better. He's really hurting and can't swing a bat. It's entirely possible that he'll sit out the rest of the trip."

Card trainer Bob Bauman said, "I'd be lying if I said he could play in two or three days." Bauman added that Musial doesn't want to back into the title and "I have to fight him to keep him on the bench."

Musial has been in and out of the line-up for the past nine days with muscle ailments in his left leg. He aggravated the trouble last Tuesday in St. Louis and the leg has been puffed up.

Lions, Eagles Clash Tonight in Oklahoma

Two Detroiters to Be Dropped After Exhibition

Lewis and Christiansen Sidelined but David Will Play

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Final examinations come tonight for at least two Detroit Lion rookies.

Coach George Wilson has to lop off two more aspirants by tomorrow and he'll use tonight's sold-out contest in the University of Oklahoma's stadium against the Philadelphia Eagles as the final test.

Unless he shows more zip than he had to date, a No. 1 prospect for cutting is fullback Ralph Pfeifer of Kansas State. Pfeifer is best remembered for leaving the Lions' Cranbrook camp when he got lonesome for his bride. He returned after a week.

"This is the last pre-season game," Wilson said. "After this one we start playing for keeps."

The Lions still have an exhibition contest left at Cleveland with the Browns next week but Wilson said he'd go with the units he'll use during the regular season in that one. Up to now he's given every rookie a chance to make the squad.

In the Eagles, the Lions face one of the up-and-coming teams in the Eastern Division. A large share of the Eagle hopes rest on the arm of a Western Division veteran—Norm Van Brocklin.

The Philadelphians have a fleet of fine backs including Michigan State's Clarence Peaks and Walt Kowalczyk, Bill Barnes and Tommy McDonald and good receivers in Bob Walston, Andy Nacrelli and Pete Retzlaff.

McDonald returns to the stadium where he gained All-American honors. He was named outstanding college football player of the year in 1956 and quarterbacked the Sooners to three straight unbeaten seasons.

The Lions, who have shown little on offense in four games to date, losing to the All-Stars and Cleveland and New York, will be without rookie halfback Danny Lewis.

Lewis, with an ailing knee, and Jack Christiansen, with a sore ankle, are sidelined. Jimmy David said he would be ready to play despite having four teeth removed Thursday.

The Lions were installed as one-touchdown favorites to mark up their third victory in as many starts against Eastern rivals. The game will be broadcast beginning at 9 p.m., EST. There will be no television.

Flint Central Top Contender, PCH Picture Uncertain

Bay City Again SVC Choice

(This is another in a series of prep football roundups covering Oakland County and area leagues. Monday we cover the South Central and Southern Thumb leagues.)

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Every year when the top class A prep football teams are listed, many of the teams in the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference can be found among the best.

This year the coaches of the SVC are passing the buck as to picking its league champion, but anyway you look at it Bay City Central is still defending champ and is the team expected to carry the banner of the conference.

Flint Central, with 14 lettermen, the most returnees in five years under coach Bill Doolittle, is picked as the strongest possibility for dethroning Bay City.

Saginaw Arthur Hill expects to relinquish the cellar and make a stronger bid this year with Flint Northern, Saginaw and Pontiac Central relegated to the bottom half of the standings.

Coach Elmer Engel at Bay City has 20 lettermen back from the 1957 team which held the top position in the state for a long time until losing its only game, 20-14, to subsequent state champion Midland.

The Wolves still have aerial artist Jerry Gross, all-state candidate, returning at quarterback along with veteran Butch Kokaly in the backfield.

Several top players including all-state end Jim Schultz tackle Dick Tews, center Tim Plum and halfback Ken Swinicki are gone but coach Engel has adequate replacements in end Bob Bishop, center Jim Kanicki and halfback Dick Post.

Engel says this year's team is "very doubtful," but the other coaches disagree and say Bay City is "loaded."

Pontiac Central, in its second year under coach Jesse MacLeay, will have 17 lettermen from the 3-5 season of 1957.

The Chiefs could do better this year in overall standings but there is little hope of improving the 1-4 mark in the league.

Fred Staley, who took over the quarterback duties as a sophomore behind Dick Whitmer last year after Whitmer was shifted to fullback, is back to call the signals with help in the backfield from veterans Larry Douglas, Harrison Munson and Isaac Jones.

Pontiac's lone SVC win last season came against Arthur Hill, but this year coach Kurt Kampe of the Lumberjacks expects a better campaign with a young speedy team.

The Arthur Hill backfield is well stocked with junior fullback Joel Garinger, a 210 pounder, along with halfbacks Joe Mason and Phil Bird a pair of 175 pound backs.

Flint Central will have speed in the backfield with halfbacks Ron Watkins and Art Thrash, both 150 pound seniors, and the Indians have a good nucleous of linemen with tackle Ken Hardin and guard Norm Walworth the co-captain heading the list.

Coach Doolittle lost quarterback Mike Stillwagon but Dick Kucharski, a junior, and Jerry Jellis a senior appear to be filling the gap.

It isn't often that coach Andy MacDonald and the Flint Northern Vikings are not listed as conference contenders but there is a large crop of seniors among the nine returning lettermen who could surprise the other league members.

Fullback Jim Pearod is back to head the backfield with tackle Roy Anderson and guard Dave Munerlyn leading the line crew.

Saginaw has a new head coach in former assistant Jim Blenkhorn, but his inheritance of foot ball lettermen is not bright.

Only five return while 27 lettermen were lost from the third place team of 1957.

Here is how the teams are picked in the Saginaw Valley for 1958:

1. Bay City Central
2. Flint Central
3. Arthur Hill
4. Flint Northern
5. Pontiac Central
6. Saginaw

CHIEF SIGNAL CALLERS — Junior quarterback Fred Staley (11) and senior Bill Davis (13), will be Pontiac Central's field generals in the Saginaw Valley Conference wars this year. Staley was the regular quarterback in the latter part of the 1957 season after Dick Whitmer was shifted to fullback. The Chiefs are expected to better their 1957 overall record.

Scrimmages Today for Spartans, 'M'

Injury-riddled Michigan and highly-rated Michigan State were planning full-scale scrimmage sessions today in order to get some indication of how well their 1958 candidates can work in regular game situations.

Four Wolverine stalwarts were slated to miss today's important contact session. They were fullbacks John Herrnstein and John Walker, halfback Brad Myers and end Gary Prahst. Two others, including Royal Oak's Darrell Harper, were on the doubtful list.

Walker, the former Walled Lake great, came up with an ankle injury yesterday after recovering from a hip ailment. The rugged sophomore is expected to be able to practice again Monday.

Duffy Daugherty expects some interesting results when he matches his first and second teams at East Lansing. There could be some changes following the contest due to Duffy's constant comment: "I don't want two good teams just one best team and one good one."

Daugherty also expected to get a good look at his three impressive placekickers under fire. They are Dean Look, Sammy Williams and Dan Follis.

Over at Brighton, Wally Fromhart had plenty to smile about after observing his U. of D. Titans in another scrimmage.

One of the bright lights of the session was sophomore passer Tony Hanley. The California boy, who was recommended to the Titans by former Tiger Jim Small, completed his only three attempts to give him 26 completions for 41 flips and 13 TDs in six sessions. Veteran Lou Faoro fired two TD aerials yesterday and ex-Orchard Lake St. Mary star Jerry Leszczynski tallied one of the running scores.

Fast Outboard Field Set for Season's Big Finale

Outboard boat racing fans of this area will have their final fling Sunday, for the 1958 season. Oakland County Boat Club's site at Sylvan Lake will be the scene of a full program of competition for both hydroplanes and utilities, in all classes. With a fast field of entries, as of today, some thrilling brushes are anticipated.

This American Powerboat Assn. sanctioned event gets under way at 11 a.m. with races for both divisions, in classes A-B-C-D. Belle Isle Outboard Club from Detroit has a full list of entries. Others will come from northern Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin and many Michigan areas.

One of the drawing features of this race meet is that it provides the drivers with a chance to pad their year's point totals towards possible championships.

Warriors Sign Cervi to 2-Year Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sassy Al Cervi, hot-blooded professional basketball veteran, signed a two-year contract Friday to coach the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn.

Cervi, 41, succeeds George Senesky who was moved upstairs to a front office job by owner Eddie Gottlieb after three years as coach. Terms were not announced.

Cervi, who started in professional basketball in 1935, last coached the Syracuse Nats. He left in 1956, his ninth year as coach. He won the 1955 NBA title and his Syracuse teams never were out of the post-season playoffs.

Tuna Ignore Anglers in International Test

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (AP) — Teams from Mexico, the British Commonwealth, Cuba and the United States roamed far and wide in ideal weather but again drew a blank in the International Tuna Fishing Tournament.

The tournament heads into its third and final day Saturday without a single bite on record.

A bright sun, a gentle northwest breeze and temperatures in the high 60s Friday presented ideal conditions. But there wasn't a nibble.

Truculent Buck Takes Dislike for Gal Golfers

PETOSKEY, Mich. (UPI) — There's a spikehorn on the loose in the Petoskey area and the local golfing gals are more than a bit concerned.

The young deer, it seems, has a dislike for women golfers.

Petoskey's Winter Sports Council keeps the buck in a pen as a tourist attraction. But the spikehorn has escaped twice in the past two weeks.

Both times, the deer headed straight for the Bay View Country Club and interrupted ladies at play.

The latest escapade involved Mrs. Harry Levinson of Petoskey. She was lining up a putt when the deer ran up and started licking her hands, face and knees.

Mrs. Levinson tried to discourage the unwelcome guest. When she bent down to putt, the spikehorn charged like a billy goat and butted her. Then the deer picked up her ball and started off with it.

Four men finally came to the rescue of Mrs. Levinson and chased the deer into a nearby woods.

Galimore Sparks Bears' Victory

Scores 4 TDs Against Browns; Wade's Aerials Beat San Francisco

By The Associated Press

Willie Galimore . . . Billy Wade . . . attendance.

That ujst about sums up last night's action in the National Football League.

Galimore, the fleet youngster from little Florida A&M, continued his brilliant pre-season performances, scoring four touchdowns, one a 95-yard kickoff return, leading the Chicago Bears to a 42-31 victory over Cleveland. The Bears, now 5-0, are the only undefeated team in exhibition play.

Wade, the No. 1 Los Angeles quarterback with the departure of the veteran Norm Van Brocklin, accounted for 313 yards in the air as Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 40-38, completing all 11 pass attempts in the first half and winding up with 18 out of 26.

In the other game, Chicago's Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh 21-7.

The attendance for the three games was almost 140,000—an average of well over 45,000!

Sunday School Unit to Open in White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The White Lake Presbyterian Sunday School unit, which has been under construction the past two years, will be dedicated Sunday morning, according to pastor Robert von Oeyen.

The dedication day service will begin at 10:45 a.m., combining the regular Sunday School classes with the church services.

The young people will assemble in the new building and march into the main sanctuary with their teachers, where the Rev. Kenneth G. Neigh, D.D., will accept the keys to the building. He also will lead the dedication and present the sermon.

Because the men of the church have helped build the unit, the cost of the $45,000 structure has kept the 10-classroom building far below its true valuation, the Rev. von Oeyen said.

Situated on a 2-acre site, the new one-floor Sunday School is four steps down from the main sanctuary of the ten-year-old church, located on White Lake road.

The public has been invited to attend the Sunday morning service.

Then a molten bearing alloy (copper, white metal, or other) is blown from an air pistol onto the inner surface of the rotating ring. After cooling, the bearing is turned to the correct dimension on a lathe.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(24)—What Does It Mean?

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

Which will it be? A missile against a city or a mission into space? Man has nowhere to look for the answer but to himself. If he is worthy of the knowledge his mind has brought him, we need not fear the choice. If he is not, the Space Age may write his epitaph.

Viewed from an orbiting station, man will be able to see half his small world in a glance and circumnavigate it in 90 minutes. For the first time, the idea of "one world" will — or ought to — have real meaning. The conquest of space will of necessity be an international cooperative undertaking.

More than a physical challenge to man, space will pose moral questions — but only the old questions in new frames of reference.

On the other hand, man's adventure into space can benefit his world in many ways. Satellites could bring world-wide radio and television communication, extreme long-range weather forecasting. Gravity-free observatories, hospitals and research stations could orbit the Earth. New industries and opportunities, and a new face to life on Earth, should result from the terrific impetus given to science by the Space Age.

Looking heavenward, man of the 21st century will become ever more conscious of the unthinkably distant stars. Like his primitive ancestor before him, he will feel a closeness to them he has not felt for ages.

Man will ponder more deeply the question of other life in the universe, and his own place in this staggering prospect of infinite worlds. Someday the questions will be answered — not by him, nor by his children, nor his children's children — but someday.

Smaller Auto Speculation Pushed by Chrysler Entry

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The smaller auto and its place in the U. S. market continues to be a hot subject in car industry circles.

New impetus has been given speculation about smaller vehicles with Chrysler's announcement it is going full tilt into small car competition and aims at a big slice of the market.

Chrysler recently acquired a share in Simca, French auto concern. It has said it will seek 15 per cent of the smaller car market in this country next year. How much that would amount to still is a question. L. L. Colbert, Chrysler president, says U. S. motorists probably will buy 400,000 foreign-made cars next year.

All industry authorities do not agree with Colbert on this estimate. At the same time they know competition for the smaller car market will be hotter than ever next year with all U. S. car makers in the fight.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will be importing smaller cars for this competition; American Motors and Studebaker-Packard will be producing them on their U. S. assembly lines.

Meanwhile, GM, Ford and Chrysler are going ahead with plans for building their own smaller autos. All have been developing such cars. Some tooling orders have placed.

There still is doubt among the larger automotive companies whether the smaller car market will be large enough to yield a profit to all the producers getting into it. Industry circles generally expect GM and Ford to start producing their smaller cars in this country in mid-1959.

How far Chrysler has progressed with its development work has not been disclosed. However, Chrysler has intimated it will be ready with a domestically-produced smaller car when the market appears to warrant its introduction

Many months are required to get any new car from blueprint to assembly line stage. After design ideas have been finalized, tooling commitments have to be made. Somewhere along the line of tooling commitments the manufacturer has committed himself to an investment too great to permit a change of plans.

Some industry experts say this already has happened with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Whether it has or not, there is wide difference of opinion among industry experts about U. S. market potentials for the small automobile.

Some experts say the market will continue to grow. Others say it will peak at not more than half a million units annually.

There is more general agreement among the industry's top executives that markets outside the United States will expand broadly in the years ahead. Most of this demand would be met by smaller units built abroad. It would not be a major factor in whether General Motors, Ford and Chrysler build smaller cars in this country.

With Chrysler's holdings in Simca each of the big three now has overseas facilities to meet increased demand abroad. Chrysler has only a 25 per cent interest in Simca, but industry experts believe this will be further increased to give Chrysler a part in deciding questions of styling and design.

Bank Head Outbluffs Gangster

DETROIT (AP)—A branch bank manager outbluffed an armed holdup man and calmly directed his capture yesterday.

Four customers and 20 employes were in the Manufacturers National Bank in suburban Northville when a man identified by police later as Richard A. Valpey, 35, Fort Myers, Fla., walked in with a note in his hand.

Valpey shoved the note at Leo Kalota, 30, bank manager. It demanded $12,000 in $100 bills and said Valpey had a bottle of nitroglycerine and a loaded gun in a briefcase.

After reading the note twice, Kalota turned to his secretary and said distinctly, "Please ring the police."

"When I said that, the man made a motion toward his briefcase and I made one toward my desk drawer," Kalota said. "Then we just sort of looked at each other and the police came running in."

Valpey was held on a charge of attempted robbery.

Man Escapes Injury When Car Overturns

A Mt. Clemens resident escaped serious injury early today when his car skidded into a culvert on Auburn road and overturned, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Robert K. Young, 29, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. He told deputies he was going west on Auburn, in Avon Township, at about 50 miles an hour when an unidentified auto pulled out in front of him.

Young swerved to avoid a collision and skidded about 60 feet into the culvert, said deputies.

Arrest Ends Chase in Heavy Traffic

A Clarkston man who led Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies on a wild chase last night is being held today on a reckless driving charge.

James M. Miskimins, 25, of 6868 Snowapple Drive, was arrested after a 6½-mile chase, said Deputies Donald J. Johnston and Medward J. Tessier.

The deputies said they first saw Miskimins going north on M15 at a high rate of speed as they waited for a light at Washington St. and M15, in Clarkston.

They gave chase in what they described as "heavy traffic." Miskimins swerved in and out of traffic causing several minor property damage accidents, the deputies reported.

When they finally caught him in Ortonville Miskimins told them he was on his way to an area hospital to pick up his wife.

Covering Fighting at Quemoy

AP Correspondents Under Fire

TAIPEI (AP)—Three Associated Press correspondents in the past two days have been under heavy fire from the Communist shore guns battering Quemoy Island.

The AP men are correspondents James Carey and Gene Kramer and photographer Fred Waters.

Cary in World War II was a tank company commander who was twice wounded and who won the Silver Star for gallantry. He rode a Nationalist supply ship to Quemoy beach yesterday under the heaviest Chinese Communist barrage to date but escaped injury.

Waters, a World War II veteran who covered the entire Korean War, and Kramer were shelled yesterday while observing an abortive Nationalist landing attempt on Quemoy. They had to duck shells again just after dawn today to board the Chinese Nationalist transport plane that flew them out of Quemoy to Taipei. Despite the blasts and flying shell fragments, they were not hurt.

A week ago Waters and AP newsman Forrest Edwards, another veteran newsman of Korean War coverage, were caught in an earlier Communist shelling when Red gunboats opened on a Nationalist landing craft trying to land troops on Quemoy at night.

Diver Escapes Killer Whale Off California

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — This could have been a modern version of Jonah and the whale — with a sadder ending. But skin-diver John E. Fletcher is happy to report it isn't.

The 41-year-old San Leandro, Calif., diver stared into the cavernous jaws of a 30-foot killer whale or white shark yesterday after it had sent him spinning.

Scared, but unhurt, he scrambled into a boat to join three companions. They had heard the warning shouts from a crowd on the beach and climbed into their boat seconds before.

It's a New Gleason Who Starts Season

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It had been whispered around Broadway that the Jackie Gleason who returns soon to live TV will be a "new Gleason" who has joined the Anti-Saloon league and considers anybody who would stay out beyond 11 p.m. to be definitely loathsome.

WILSON

"They even said you were feuding with Toots Shore," I pointed out one recent afternoon.

"I'm not mad at Blubber," grinned Gleason, sawing with one finger at a mustache he has grown for a Playhouse 90 show, "The Time of Your Life," in which he plays a barfly.

"I'll prove it—when I shave this thing off I'm going to send it to Toots in an envelope," Jackie said.

"Toots," he went on, "is like a dame. If you don't call him on the phone, he gets mad. I didn't see him while I was dieting because I knew if I went in I would meet the Haig & Haig Brothers and would be off.

"I'm down to 220 now," Jackie pulled the top of his trousers forward and showed me the gap.

"This is the only suit I can wear now," he added happily.

"What about your own new half-hour show?" I asked. We were in the City Center Ballroom, downstairs, where he'd been rehearsing for the Playhouse 90 show. We sat talking across a table that was bare except for a couple of discarded coffee cartons.

"I haven't even thought about it yet," he insisted. "But we'll have offices at CBS and the main office'll be up in Peekskill, where I've built a whole building."

"Could you tell me what Buddy Hackett'll do?" I asked.

"No. Somebody could easily steal the idea. But Buddy for the first time will be seen as himself. He'll do characters, too, but there'll be times when he'll be Buddy Hackett.

GLEASON

"It's like with me. At times I come out as myself. Good or bad I come out as myself," He laughed. "I don't know whether that's a promise or a threat."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Gregory Peck wanted to rent Rockefeller Plaza for a big barbecue (to publicize "The Big Country") but couldn't get it.

Zsa Zsa Gabor'll give a Gay '90s party for "Baby" Pignatari when he returns from Europe soon . . .

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Comic Joe E. Ross of the Bilko show figured out a great way to keep looking young: "I hang out with old people." That's earl, brother.

Good TV Season Seen by Network President

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis G. Cowan, president of the CBS Television Network, sees a coming season of good television for the home viewer, a season marked by improved quality in production.

Although speaking chiefly of the outlook for CBS-TV, he says of the industry in general:

"There are three networks for sure this year. That's good for the networks, and so it is good for the public. It also should be remembered that the networks are making commitments for the 1958-1959 season just as the nation is beginning to move out of a recession."

The entertainment programming trend on CBS-TV, he says, is to long dramatic shows and programs combining comedy, variety and music.

As a creative force in television and radio, the man who developed "The $64,000 Question" and numerous other popular programs, Cowan is worth listening to.

Using 40 half-hour units as the basis of prime evening viewing time, it turns out that only five will be taken up by quiz and panel game shows on CBS-TV. There will be eight half-hour units of Westerns and adventure programs.

"Compare those eight to the proportion of Westerns and adventure stories turned out annually by the movies and book and magazine publishers," said Cowan, "and I think you'll find that our network is producing a smaller proportion."

CBS-TV will be the only network offering an hour or more of drama five nights a week, Cowan pointed out.

Cowan is as concerned with the field of news and public affairs as with entertainment.

Discussing this phase of the network's operation, he said:

"We have a well-qualified corps of seasoned newsmen. We have the staff in depth. Our important function is to utilize these people in meaningful study of the world about us rather than in endless talk. That is what we have been doing. It is what we shall continue to do."

Eastern Will Offer Four Courses Here

Bowling Alley Manager at Elks Temple Robbed

Howard Fields, of 2763 E. Walton Blvd., manager of the Pontiac Elks Temple bowling alley, was robbed of $75 by two men as he walked to his car in the Elks parking lot about 2:15 a.m. today.

Fields told police the men, apparently unarmed, grabbed him and took his wallet. Finding no money, they returned the wallet to him and ewnt through his pants pockets where they found the cash.

Clayallee, a four lane boulevard in Berlin, is named for Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former U.S. military governor of Germany.

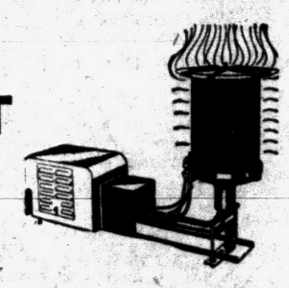

Present production of diamonds in South Africa is valued at more than 50 million dollars annually.
