Thousands Homeless as Flood Crest Rolls On

The United States 150 Years Ago

IN HIS DAY — This is the United States when Lincoln was born in 1809. The 17 states then existing are in solid red, with the shaded red area the territories owned by the United States.

That Was Year Abe Was Born

Boundaries Vague in 1809

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Feature Writer

The young United States was faced with the painful prospect of a divided nation.

Business and political leaders of a whole section of the country were threatening loudly to take their states out of the union. Their cry was: "Repeal or secession!"

But the threat did not come from the slave-holding South; it came from New England.

And it was not 1861; it was 1809, birthyear of Abraham Lincoln, who was to deal later with a more serious secession threat.

At Lincoln's birth, 150 years ago, the United States was a young, growing land of some six million people, 90 per cent of them living on farms and most of them thinking themselves Virginians or New Yorkers rather than Americans.

For most, the Far West was the Mississippi River; the land beyond, the Louisiana Territory, purchased from France only six years before, was almost a myth, a little frightening and remote as the moon.

BOUNDARIES VAGUE

National boundaries were vague. The final dividing line between the United States and Canada was yet to be settled. Shadowy Oregon was disputed with Britain. Spain held Florida and the Great Southwest.

There were 17 states in the union. Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio being added to the original 13. West Virginia was part of Virginia. The whole state of Maine was York County, Mass.

Indians roamed the forests of the Appalachian Mountains. The downfall of the tribal confederacy organized by that amazing Indian leader, Tecumseh, was two years off at the battle of Tippecanoe in Indiana.

ONLY 15 STARS

The American flag had 15 stars and 15 stripes. It would be nine years before Tennessee and Ohio would get their stars and the number of stripes would be cut back to 13, honoring the original states.

The chief political parties were the Republican-Democratic, gaining in strength as the population began shifting to the West, and the Federalist, dying for the want of progressive leadership.

Already the Republican-Democratic party, ancestor to the Democratic Party of today, was showing signs of splitting, with rival factions forming around personalities and economic issues.

3 Million Up in Air

DETROIT (AP)—Officials at Willow Run say the airport took care of 166,118 flights handling nearly 3,000,000 air travelers last year.

A 'Spring' Thaw on Way, Weather Bureau Predicts

Has spring come early to the Pontiac area? Is the weatherman feeling sorry for all the misery he has heaped upon us?

Whatever the answer — the forecast for today and tomorrow, believe it or not, calls for warmer and mild weather.

Tonight will be cloudy and warmer with a low of 30 degrees, and tomorrow the high is expected to be a "sizzling" 42.

However, along with the mild temperatures, will come cloudy skies and occasional rain or drizzle.

Saturday's outlook is for rain or snow turning colder.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 16. By 2 p.m. the mercury had soared to 34.

Bosses Man Planes in Pan Am Strike

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pursers and stewardesses refused to man Pan American World Airways planes here today after a walkout of porters and stock clerks.

The first two flights left on schedule.

The flights, to Nassau and Havana, had supervisory personnel in place of the service crew. Pilots are not involved in the work stoppage.

Pilot Bails Out at 800 M.P.H. and Learns Source of Courage

By GEORGE SMITH
Jet test-pilot

"Okay for takeoff, George," came the dispatcher's voice over my earphones. I stretched out my left hand toward the plane's throttle, and saw that it was trembling. "You're afraid, George Smith," I whispered.

SMITH

And then I seemed to hear another whisper, a woman's voice, saying softly, "Courage is knowing the worst."

I knew the worst, all right. I'd learned it the last time I'd flown an airplane. Nearly a year before . . .

It was a drizzly Saturday morning in February 1955. As test-pilot for North American Aviation I sat at the controls of a needle-nosed F100A Super Sabre.

They cleared me for takeoff and the powerful new engine thrust me into the sky.

SPEED OF SOUND

Out over the ocean it was raining. I climbed up and up through the gray cloudbank till at 7,000 feet I burst out into the sunlight. I kept climbing: 20,000 feet, 30,000. Even in the climb the sleek new plane was approaching Mach 1, the speed of sound—35,000 feet.

Then it happened.

The plane suddenly began to nose over. This happens occasionally as a plane passes the sound barrier; when the pilot pulls the control-stick toward him, the nose lifts again. I took hold of the stick and pulled. The stick would not budge.

The nose of the plane was now heading down in a gradual dive. I grabbed the stick with both hands and strained at it. It was frozen solid. The dive steeped, gaining speed each second: 30,000 feet, 25,000 feet, 18,000 feet, 9,000 feet: I was eight seconds from the water!

"I'm going straight in!" I yelled into my radio.

I knew, all jet pilots knew, that no one had ever bailed out of a plane going faster than sound—and lived. But you bail out anyway.

First get rid of the canopy! I jerked up the armrest of the seat and the roof of the cockpit blew away.

WORLD EXPLODED

Area Delegates Favor Lindemer

Leadership Fight Looms at GOP Convention in Detroit Tomorrow

Sentiment rides with Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer as the 140-member Oakland County delegation prepares to move into Detroit tomorrow for the start of the GOP state convention.

Lindemer, Stockbridge attorney, again found himself opposed for re-election by State Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater), in the on-again, off-again tussle for state chairmanship.

Oakland delegates—the largest single delegation—will surely receive a visit from Smeekens at their Friday night caucus as the two-term senator seeks to revive his bid to take over the state party leadership.

"The sentiment so far is strongly in favor of Lindemer," declared Robert D. Harvey of Huntington Woods, elected last month as leader of the Oakland delegation.

The Lindemer-Smeekens contest appears to be stealing the thunder from the primary objective of statewide delegations.

This will be to nominate 14 GOP candidates for state offices to oppose a like number the Democrats pick at their Feb. 20-21 state convention in Grand Rapids. These will be voted on in the April 6 election.

Two Supreme Court justice nominees, one for superintendent of public instruction, two for University of Michigan regent, two Michigan Board of Agriculture members, one member of the State Board of Education, and six for the new Wayne State University Board of Governors will be chosen.

Still there are no "local son" favorites for these nominations, according to Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county chairman.

Another order of business for the Oakland delegation, prior to the opening of the convention at the Ford Auditorium Saturday morning, will be the election of four members to the 72-member State Central Committee.

Present members are Gordon T. Getsinger and Mrs. John C. Finegan, both of Bloomfield Township, Harry Horton, Royal Oak, and Mrs. Robert B. Lamb of Oak Park. To date only Getsinger and Mrs. Finegan have indicated a willingness to seek re-election, Elliott said.

Local delegates will push for a new means of selecting Supreme Court justice nominees as they spearhead a drive to have each county submit its choices from top lawyers, with the two nominees being picked from these lists. Oakland has already drafted a list of 19.

Salt Supply Much Too Low

Storm Could Cripple Area

Because of a serious shortage of salt, Pontiac and Oakland County traffic could be crippled if another ice storm suddenly strikes, authorities agreed today.

Pontiac, which likes to keep 400-600 tons of salt on hand, had less than 50 tons left this morning.

The city needs about ten times that amount to clear roads after a heavy storm like Tuesday's, said Joseph B. Jewell, Department of Public Works superintendent.

The county situation appeared even more serious. Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer for the Oakland County Road Commission described it as "critical."

Normally, the county has 1,500-2,000 tons of salt stockpiled. There are only 50 tons left, Van Roekel reported this morning.

Continuous bad weather since Jan. 1 accounts for the depletion of stocks, the road officials said.

A shortage of new supplies is slowing stock replenishment to a snail's pace, they warned.

The shortage developed because of a run on the salt produced by the Southeastern Michigan area's two salt mines, in Detroit and Windsor.

So much salt has been expended in the metropolitan area this year that nearly every community is feeling the pinch.

The mines together produce only about 8,000 tons of salt daily, Jewell estimated.

Community trucks have to stand in line at the mines for hours, each waiting for a couple loads of salt, he reported.

Pontiac expects to get five truck loads by Saturday, or about 175 tons, bringing its total supply on hand up to around 250 tons for the weekend.

With only that much salt on hand, trunklines and main arteries could only be partially cleared if a serious weekend storm strikes.

The county expects three or four truckloads today, Van Roekel said.

For the past three weeks, he said, the county has been working with limited supplies of salt, which have run completely out at times.

"Our stockpiles are gone and we are entirely dependent on our daily supplies," he said.

The county has turned to using large quantities of sand, he said, which is inferior to salt because it does not melt ice but only

Bad Weather Tears Up City, County Roads

Pontiac area motorists have added chuckhole dodging to their winter driving abilities, and the penalty for failure to develop the skill is often a spine-tingling or spring-busting jar.

"Please," pleads Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer for the Oakland County Road Commission, "don't call us and complain about the hole.

"We usually know about it and others like it," said Van Roekel, "and are doing everything possible to get rid of them. But the weather's not cooperating."

Van Roekel said miles of county roads have been broken up more this winter than in the past due to the extremes of the weather.

"It's a combination of the greatly varying temperature and amount of water which does the damage," he said.

Repairing chuckholes that dot the county's hard-surface (concrete and blacktop) roads costs the Road Commission between $75,000 to $100,000 added maintenance expense a year, Van Roekel estimated.

Trouble is, he added, that this temporary "cold patching," as it is called, doesn't last long. The mixture of asphalt and sand or sometimes a rock substance breaks up itself with the variance in temperatures.

When spring and warmer temperatures arrive — and precipitation lessens — commission crews repair stretches of streets which have been "cold patched" to a limit where it isn't possible to do anymore.

The record number of pits this season isn't necessarily new break-ups, Van Roekel explained, but repaired ones that have been patched up.

"One day it's a deep freeze, which seems to hold the patch fairly well, and then a warmer and wetter day comes along, and back we go to patching," he said.

Although the county thus far has escaped law suits from angry motorists with damaged cars, Van Roekel said, "We've had many threats of damage suits."

32 Hurt as Train Derails in East

Buckled Track Causes 10-Car Pile-Up Near Baltimore, Md.

From Our News Wires

MIDDLE RIVER, Md. A steel beam fell from a passing freight, buckled a track and derailed an 80-mile-an-hour Washington to New York express train today, injuring 32 persons.

Engineer T. L. Winsey of the Pennsylvania Railroad's derailed "Potomac" said he saw the buckled track as he rounded a bend into the straight stretch about 10 miles east of Baltimore. Winsey said he applied the brakes but the train immediately began to wobble out of control on the bent track.

Only one truck of the locomotive left the rails. The sleeping car behind it stayed on.

The remaining 10 cars of the train derailed, tore up more than half a mile of trackage and came to rest still upright but tilted precariously across three of the four tracks of the PRR's New York-Washington main line.

The steel I-beam, 7 feet 9 inches long and weighing about 250 pounds, was found beside the track. Railroad, police and FBI investigators said it apparently had fallen from a passing freight car. They were attempting to locate the train from which it fell.

A score or more persons were taken to hospitals, but none was reported killed.

Six taken to Johns Hopkins and city hospitals were reported seriously injured. Two hart attack cases also were hospitalized.

The Potomac's passengers, except those taken to Baltimore hospitals, were transferred to the Atlantic Coast Line's Florida Special at the scene and started on to New York. The train left the wreck area at 10:06 a.m.

The engineer, T. L. Winsey of Essex, Md., who lives quite close to the scene of the accident, estimated the train's speed at about 80 miles an hour.

He wouldn't comment on what caused the wreck.

"But it was a pretty rough ride," he added.

Absentee ballots are for voters who will be out of town Monday or who are physically unable to get to the polls.

Monday's primary is a non-partisan runoff to select 10 candidates to run for Oakland County circuit judge in the spring election April 6.

Voters will have a field of 14 candidates to choose from. Each voter may pick not more than five candidates.

New Rains May Spread Indiana Winter Havoc

Warming Weather to Bring Ice Jam Break on Famous Wabash

By The Associated Press

Fifteen hundred Indiana families were left homeless today as the crest of the flooding Wabash river moved downstream after spilling over parts of several cities.

Predictions of rain, starting tonight and possibly continuing into Saturday, added to the danger.

Mild temperatures in the 40s today and the 50s tomorrow indicated the possibility of breakups of ice jams that contributed to the worst floods in 46 years at Peru and Wabash.

The storied banks of the Wabash, marked only by towering sycamores, disappeared under the ice-choked floodwater spreading over vast lowlands as far downstream as Terre Haute.

Rains were expected to start in the flood zones tonight, possibly continuing into Saturday and threatening to add new victims to the 1,500 families already chased from their homes across North-Central Indiana—1,000 of them in Peru alone.

Terre Haute looked like the next major trouble spot with a Wabash crest predicted for Saturday.

In Ohio, the flooding Sandusky River dropped back toward its banks after an ice jam caused the stream to back up, pouring nearly two feet of water into downtown streets.

About 1,500 persons in Fremont, a city of 16,000, were driven from their homes.

Newark, a city of 35,000 in Central Ohio, lost much of its water supply when a dam on the Licking River broke, and forced the closing of schools and industry. It will take a week to repair the dam.

Floods were reported receding in other northern Ohio cities — Findlay, Warren, Van Wert, Paulding and Ottawa.

Dry weather prevailed in nearly all areas east of the Rockies and a warming trend moved into the central part of the country. At the same time, cooler air spread into the Atlantic Coast states.

Says Racketeer Given Reprieve

New York Detective Tells of $10,000 Fine at 'Crime Convention'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New York city detective testified today gangland overlords meeting in Apalachin, N. Y., reprieved a racketeer's death sentence but fined him $10,000 for his activities in the jukebox business.

Lt. James S. Mooney of the New York Police Criminal Intelligence Squad said police information is that the individual was Carmine Lombardozzi, Brooklyn, a hoodlum with a long record.

Mooney told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that Lombardozzi was not permitted to attend a hearing on his case at an alleged crime convention at Apalachin in November 1957.

Instead, Mooney said, Lombardozzi was forced to cool his heels in a garage while awaiting the verdict of a council of higher-ups at the crime meeting.

"This person was scheduled to be killed," Mooney testified, "but

Oak Park Police Officers Accused

Fired Lieutenant Says They Were Allowed to Quit After Crimes

OAK PARK — Ex-police Lt. Joseph W. Roberts, who was dismissed from the Oak Park force for allegedly firing his service pistol into the juke box of a Detroit bar last December, charged today several other members of the force were permitted to resign or were quietly discharged after committing criminal acts.

Roberts, who lives at 15200 Oak Park Blvd., said one policeman was fired after he was involved in the assault of a 14-year-old girl and another was permitted to resign after he was charged with accosting the wife of a Detroit police rookie.

Roberts said three other officers were demoted, fined leave days and barred from promotional exams for taking two 100-pound lead balls from the trunk of a dead man's car.

The charges were expected to be presented to the Oakland County prosecutor's office tomorrow.

Glenford S. Leonard, Oak Park's director of public safety, said some of Roberts' charges were true in part.

He said an officer was discharged last August in connection with the assault of a 14-year-old girl.

"Joe Roberts investigated that case and recommended that the officer be permitted to resign," Leonard said. "Instead, we fired the man. The mother of the girl refused to bring charges."

Leopard said another officer was permitted to resign after accosting the wife of a Detroit policeman.

"But that was a minor incident," Leonard said. "The woman was not harmed in any manner."

Roberts was fired Dec. 12 when he fired his service revolver into a jukebox in a tavern.

Leonard said Roberts was intoxicated at the time "and he never offered to resign."

Thieves Picked Wrong Spot for Burglary

Thieves who attempted to break into a Commerce Township gas station last night quickly found out they'd chosen the wrong place for a soft mark.

Shortly after midnight the burglars kicked in a window of Weber's service station, 3495 W. Maple Rd.

Broken glass flew in all directions, but before the burglars could enter the station two growling German shepherds jumped through the window at them.

Owner Ed Weber, who lives in a trailer next to the station, emerged just in time to see the thieves, hotly pursued by the dogs, jump into a car and speed off.

Chrysler Corp. Has Rough Year

Loss of $33.8 Million Listed for '58; Strike Settled Yesterday

NEW YORK (AP)—America's third largest automobile producer — Chrysler Corp.—suffered its second worst loss in history in 1958 but turned in a profit for the final quarter of the year.

The company reported in its annual financial statement yesterday a loss of $33,824,565 for the year. In contrast, Chrysler's net income for 1957 was $119,952,406, equal to $13.75 a share.

The company president noted that production this year has been curtailed by a 4-month-old strike of some 13,000 employes of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Chrysler's main glass supplier.

He said all Chrysler assembly plants would resume production to fill a backlog of dealer and retail orders as soon as the strike was over.

The strike, which at one time had idled 20,000 auto employes, was settled yesterday in its 129th day.

Chrysler was the second of the big three auto producers to report 1958 earnings.

L. L. Colbert, Chrysler president, blamed the poor showing on a sharp drop in sales resulting from the recession.

"The final weeks of 1958 and the early part of this year offer encouragement for better financial results in 1959," he said.

But even the upsurge as 1958 waned was not equal to the same quarter the previous year. The earnings for the final period of 1957 were $16,000,000 or $1.88 a share. But for the same period in 1958 Chrysler earned approximately $11,000,000 or $1.30 a share.

Directors declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, payable March 13 to stockholders of record Feb. 24. A dividend of 75 cents was paid in the first quarter last year. This was cut to 25 cents in each of the succeeding three periods.

Sales in 1958 totaled $2,165,381,754 in contrast with $3,564,982,510 in 1957. In the fourth quarter, sales were approximately $679,000,000, compared with $819,000,000 in the like 1957 period.

Current assets fell from $90,042,397 at the end of 1957 to $756,262,908 at 1958 year end. There also was a drop in current liabilities, from $514,297,492 to $392,228,464. The result was a drop in net working capital from $425,744,905 to $364,034,444.

The 1958 loss was the second since Chrysler was organized in 1925. In 1932, when the great depression hit rock bottom, the company slid into the red by $11,254,000.

Says Gangland Gave Racketeer a Reprieve

Earlier, in connection with testimony by Benjamin Gottlieb, head of the Majestic Operating Co., Brooklyn, jukebox-vending machine firm, Lombardozzi had been identified as a powerful figure in the New York and Brooklyn coin machine business.

Gottlieb's testiminy was billed as part of the background gainst which the Labor-Management Committee will attempt to pierce the secrecy that has surrounded the Apalachin meeting since the police raided it in November 1957, and rounded up 58 assorted mobsters and others.

Gottlieb told a story of shakedowns he said he was forced to pay to protect his $400,000-a-year business against inroads from rival firms he said were involved with racketeers.

He said one of two Lombardozzi brothers — either Carmine or Daniel—put him in touch with Alex Cohen, head of New York local No. 531 of the United Industrial Unions of America, whe Gottlieb complained to them.

Gottlieb said "it was as much as inferred" that one of the riads on his business place would be called off if he would buy union label stickers from Cohen to place on machines he operated. He said he refused to buy the stickers.

The probers ran into a regular barrage of fifth amendment pleas in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The nontalking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Gepovese of Gibsonia, Pa. and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

The Italian born Zito, 66, who spoke broken English, got into a hassle for saying he refused to answer questions.

Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark) called Zito's replies disrespectful and ordered him to say "decline" instead, but Zito said he couldn't pronounce it.

The Day in Birmingham

Major Crime Rate Up; Most Offenders 17-20

BIRMINGHAM—Major crimes in Birmingham continued to rise last year and showed a 16 per cent over all increase, according to the annual report of the police department.

Most of the crimes were committed by persons in the 17 to 20 year old bracket, it was stated.

The Police department's Junior Division reported 118 local youngsters arrested as compared to 96 the year before while arrests of out-of-town juveniles dropped from 106 to 81 in the same period.

The over-all auto accident picture for 1958 was brightened with a 6.8 per cent drop. Personal injury accidents, however, increased six per cent.

Of the 1,120 accidents investigated, following too closely was contributary cause for 177 of them, according to the police report.

The Auxiliary Police Force of 22 men worked a total of nearly 4,000 hours. They serve with the regular department on traffic and patrols. Parades, sporting events and searches for missing persons are handled by the auxiliary exclusively.

Concluding his report, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said five patrolmen were graduated from the 90-hour basic police course sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan Police Chief's Assn. in cooperation with the FBI.

Eight commanding officers took the police administration course and three officers attended the Michigan State University's special courses in East Lansing along with one detective and three patrolmen.

Birmingham's United Churchwomen will sponsor the World Day of Prayer service at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Kirk-in-the-Hills on Lone Pine road, Bloomfield Hills.

Women from the various churches will take part in the program with music by the Bloomfield Hills High School Choir. The Rev. Harold C. DeWindt, D. D., pastor at the Kirk, will conduct the communion service.

This year's observance, the 73rd, originates with the Christian women in Eygpt.

Lawrence Summerfield, American Automobile Assn. representative, will be guest speaker at the Senior Men's Club meeting tomorrow at the Brimingham Community House.

He will illustrate his talk on "The Upper Peninsula" with a film strip.

The discussion group will take corporations as their topic. They will consider whether or not firms can become too large, and whether they consequently should be broken into smaller organizations.

Birmingham Unitarian Church members will hold their potluck supper at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Embury Methodist Church.

The Rev. Alan Jenkins of the Royal Oak Congregational Church will speak on Carl Sandberg and His Poetry.

Mrs. David H. Goodfellow, publicity chairman, urged teenagers to attend the supper.

Lady Bowes-Lyon Succumbs in London

LONDON (AP) — Lady Nancy Bowes-Lyon, a niece of Queen Mother Elizabeth, died Wednesday after a life beset by tragedy. She was 40 and had been in poor health for several years.

A hospital spokesman said she came to the emergency department feeling unwell and died shortly after. The cause of death was not announced.

Lady Nancy was the daughter of one of the queen mother's brothers, the late 15th Earl of Strathmore, and was the sister of the present earl.

Her first marriage, to automobile executive Lance Robinson, ended in divorce in 1954. Her second husband, John Blair, shot himself in a friend's house in Ireland in 1955.

Lady Nancy had been hospitalized twice in previous years after overdoses of sleeping pills.

News of the death was cabled to the queen mother, who is touring East Africa.

New Method Found for Removing Gland

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — A Czechoslovak doctor claims to have developed a method of removing the pituitary gland by using radioactive gold.

The official CTK news agency explained the gland attached to the brain has been found to have an important effect on some types of cancer, and that its removal in such cases relieves pain and prolongs life.

The agency said that Prof. Josef Pavrovsky, of Prague's First Surgical Institute, injects a grain of radioactive gold into the gland with a special surgical pistol, stopping its functioning.

According to CTK, Pavrovsky's operation takes an average of 45 minutes and all have been successful while the usual method takes several hours and may cause a dangerous brain hemorrhage.

But Watch the Holes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Someday radiation exposure cards will become as much a fixture of wallets and purses as social security cards and drivers' licenses, a meeting of general practitioners was told. Dr. William G. Myers, professor of medical biophysics, said the cards could be similar to meal tickets with squares to punch out for each exposure, such as an X-ray treatment.

Cyprus Accord Expected Soon

Britain Ready to Clinch Early Agreement on Strife-Torn Island

LONDON (AP) — Britain appeared ready today to clinch an early agreement with Greece and Turkey aimed at bringing peace and independence to Cyprus.

The foreign ministers of the three nations met for 3½ hours Wednesday night discussing details of an accord that would end 81 years of British rule over the East Mediterranean island.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu, on emerging from the dinner with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff, was asked if he expected a settlement to be reached.

"We hope so," he replied.

The three were to meet again today.

Zorlu and Averoff flew to London from Zurich immediately after their prime ministers agreed there on principles of a constitution to make the disputed British island colony a republic.

Averoff and Zorlu were pressing the British for an early meeting of all three governments—possibly attended by the three prime ministers—to seal the agreement finally. It was not known how, or at what point, the Cypriots themselves would be consulted.

No date was mentioned so far for the meeting or for an independence target.

He Took It Seriously

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Frank E. Mauritz, 71, was charged with disorderly conduct after police said he tried to climb into the ring at a wrestling match and threatened to shoot one of the wrestlers.

Faithful Pooch's Lonesome Vigil Is Rewarded

TOKYO (AP)—Peanuts, a sad-eyed little mongrel, is flying across the Pacific today to the master he wouldn't forget.

The dog quit his new home and took up a vigil at the Finlaysons' abandoned quarters. Neighbors fed the 2-year-old mongrel but he ate listlessly.

Dog lovers in a group of noncommissioned officers' clubs raised $110.24 to ship the animal to the couple in Oklahoma.

Nickel was used for plating in 1843. But, because of its high price then, it was not generally used until 1870.

No History Link in Happiness of These Lincolns

RAMSEY, N.J. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lincoln Jr., are especially happy on this Lincoln's birthday—and the 6th president of the United States has nothing to do with it.

Their 3-year-old daughter Irene was found alive in woods near the Lincoln's home Wednesday night, after being missing for seven hours.

Lincoln Set Out in His Canoe to Find a Living--and Changed the World

Ever since that fatal scene at the Ford Theater, the name of Abraham Lincoln—whose 150th birthday is today—has had an enduring hold on men's hearts and opinions. What is the secret of this vital influence? A noted American historian, twice a Pulitzer Prize winner, explores the mystery in a searching article, written for The Associated Press.

By ALLAN NEVINS

It is 150 years since Abraham Lincoln opened his eyes in a one-windowed, dirt-floored cabin near Hodgeville, Ky.; it is almost 94 years since Stanton broke the hush at his deathbed with the words, "Now he belongs to the ages."

No statesman ever grew more sturdily than Lincoln grew between 1854 and 1865: grew from a prairie politician to be the beneficent dictator of a great nation in its most terrible crisis.

No leader of modern times has grown more steadily in fame and worldwide influence since his death. He is like the mountain peak that at near view seemed little more than equal with its fellows, but that as we recede and gain perspective rises higher and higher above their level.

The romance of his life furnishes part of his appeal. "This man," wrote his Springfield law partner Herndon, "this long, bony, wiry, sad man, floated into our country in 1831 in a frail canoe, down the north fork of the Sangamon River, friendless, penniless, powerless and alone—ragged, struggling for the common necessities of life.

This man, this peculiar man, left us in 1861, the president of the United States, backed by friends, power, fame and all human force."

The self-taught railsplitter reached Washington relatively unknown and untested. He died so trusted that the once-skeptical New York diarist G. T. Strong wrote: "No prince, no leader of a people, was ever so lamented—his name is faithful and true. He will stand in history beside Washington, perhaps higher."

What is the deeper secret of the hold this son of the prairies has taken on the imagination of the world? More books, foreign and domestic, are written on him than on any other civil ruler of the past.

His statue stands in many cities; his writings are in all collections of the classics of the English tongue; his sayings are alike the treasure of the humbler and the inspiration of the great.

The Hindu student, the South African Negro, the British statesman, the Latin-American publicist, find his name what Lord Charnwood called it, "The greatest among those associated with the cause of popular government."

He belongs equally to the masters of statecraft and to plain men and women. Just why is this so?

We would look in vain for the explanation merely in his principal public acts. He was the great emancipator, but he was a reluctant emancipator, who for all his intense desire to free the slaves would have preferred gradual compensated emancipation to an abrupt liberation.

He was an unmatched war leader, but never a highly efficient administrator; two other wartime presidents, Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt, showed more skill in organizing the energies of the nation.

He was a farsighted national chieftain, but never an astute planner with the manysided talents of a Theodore Roosevelt. We reach a partial understanding of his grip on succeeding generations when we turn from his acts to examine two underlying traits, his sagacity and his magnanimity.

The sagacity with which he was always correctly credited did not lie in a simple grasp of what was expedient. It lay in his ability to pierce to the heart of a complex problem, where right and wrong seem inextricably mingled, with unerring logic.

The supreme illustration of this wisdom is offered by his proposal for meeting the terrible national disease of slavery and sectional friction.

From 1854 onward he preached that the nation could not endure half slave and half free; that a crisis must be reached and passed before it could be safe. He was our first statesman to define that crisis without evasion.

What did passing the crisis mean? Not a decision to abolish slavery immediately.

No, simply a decision to put bounds around slavery, to contain it, accepting the principle that within a reasonable time it must be gradually erased; and meanwhile to sit down and calmly consider ways and seasons for erasing it.

This was the one courageous, morally sound, and practical remedy ever proposed for the difficulties of racial readjustment, economic revolution, and regional strife bound up in slavery.

LINCOLN

Its sagacity, had Americans adopted it, would have saved the country a million lives, a mountain of treasure, and a grievous retardation of growth.

His magnanimity, innate and unfailing, matched his sagacity. In the course of a long, bitter war he never once uttered an abusive word about the Southern people.

Throughout that war he maintained his hope that it should end in no mere political reunion, but a reunion of hearts and purposes.

A young Frenchman, the Marquis de Chambrun, who was sometimes at the White House in 1865, tells us that whenever Lincoln heard men talk about putting the conquered South under iron controls, he exhibited an unconcealable "fatigue and weariness."

Lincoln's greatest qualities, however, lay deeper than sagacity and magnanimity. One was his passionate faith in the virtue and strength of the plain people.

God must have loved them, he said, or he would never have made so many of them; you could never fool all of the people all of the time; government of, by, and for the people was not only the best government but the hope of the world.

As an expounder of democracy he had the same fervent faith as a poet he loved, Robert Burns.

Out of his passionate regard for common folk came his unerring instinct for popular sentiment; he knew just how far and fast he could go in leading the country without losing touch with the majority.

Out of it came his consistent refusal to talk down to the people or appeal to their passions. As Lowell said, he never played the Cleon—the demagogue.

Instead, he presented the people with careful arguments, addressed to their reason and their best sentiments. "I beg of you a calm and enlarged consideration of them," he said of one set of reasons.

This instinct for the popular heart made his most memorable public act, the Emancipation Proclamation, seem to good judges just right.

Out of his deep feeling for popular government was born Lincoln's crowning quality: His vision of the larger meaning of the grim struggle he had to conduct.

It was not just a war to determine whether the Union should survive or perish. It was an ordeal to determine whether democracy had sufficient strength to survive, whether America would repay the devotion of the hosts who died for it by seeking "a new birth of freedom," and whether the republic would serve the future of mankind.

From the Bible, from Shakespeare, from long reflection, Lincoln had gained an understanding of the meaning of history. He knew that whatever is done in one part of the globe affects the lot of peoples in other parts.

He knew that the adventure of mankind has but begun, and that the course chosen by a continental power like the United States must have its influence on the long ages to come.

The truest tribute the American people can pay Lincoln on every celebration of his brithday is to try to share his earnest conviction that the republic has a great world destiny; that in every crisis men must do their duty not for the country alone but for all countries, and not for the hour only, but for the long generations ahead.

We Need Men Like Lincoln

On this, the 150th anniversary of ABRAHAM LINCOLN's birth, and year II of the space age, it might be a good idea to recall the great man's formative years to try to strike a balanced view of "education."

Since the first Sputnik we have really given the American education system a real going over. The cry, "Why can't johnny read?" or "Why can't he calculate bigger and more complicated math problems?" has been commonplace.

Americans put great stock in our education system. Perhaps the emphasis is a little one-sided, since it is all pointed to the formal, learned-in-school education.

What about Mr. LINCOLN's type of education to develop one's potential as a human being to the utmost? Most criticism is directed at the schools and the subjects they are teaching.

The facilities are available, but perhaps the desire and incentive are lacking. Pause and reflect what 12 years of public school would have meant to a man like Lincoln, or the opportunity to earn a scholarship to college.

To combat the world's ills and our hope of curbing communism, we need more young people with the desire and will to learn patterned after LINCOLN.

Humanity must pick itself up and not expect the stuff in books to do it all. Sure, it will help, but the drive and desire such as were displayed by LINCOLN is the real answer.

Nothing is easy. It was not a lead pipe cinch for Lincoln to study by firelight. But he did, and the indisputable fact is he acquired a great education by his continuous self-improvement efforts.

We might well use Mr. LINCOLN as an outstanding example of what self-improvement can do. Let's not be too critical and continue to hammer away at the system.

Maybe it's our youngsters, or perhaps the parents. We cannot adequately explain today's American education frustration. But we do know that academic education, open to all, will make the path easier for whatever children there may be today of LINCOLN's stamp.

One thing is certain: Had LINCOLN lived elsewhere than in a democracy, or had his desire to learn been nonexistent, we would not be celebrating his birthday today.

THE newspapers ran a most unusual picture the other day. It was of BRIGITTE BARDOT — up to her neck in clothes.

VALENTINE to Uncle Sam: Our love for you much greater punch would pack if you would take some tax load off our back.

Huron-Saginaw Corner Hazard to Pedestrians

Currently one of the most dangerous spots in Pontiac is the Huron Street sidewalk adjacent to the National Building at the corner of Huron and Saginaw Streets.

The reason: Metal awnings extending out from the south side of the building. During the icy and snowy weather water freezes and forms icicles which in turn melt and drop to the sidewalk.

This condition was prevalent Wednesday and caused much consternation from the walking public.

The existing danger is particularly bad in the afternoons when the sun is from the south. On top of the normal pedestrian traffic, the location is a city bus stop.

Pedestrians waiting for a bus and standing within three or four feet of the building are in grave danger of being hit by falling ice during inclement weather.

The hazard is one that escapes the average eyesight of the passerby until large chunks of ice crash to the sidewalk.

Whatever the remedy is, The Pontiac PRESS feels that immediate steps should be taken to safeguard the citizens walking or waiting for a bus in this area.

The Man About Town

New Lincolnia

Pontiac Man Has Proof to Discount Some Statements

Money to burn: What if you have, somebody's always willing to give you a match.

We've all heard the story about how President wrote the immortal Gettysburg address on the backs of some envelopes while on the train from Washington on his way to deliver it. But a Pontiac man, of 23 Grande Ave., has documentary evidence to prove that this was not the case.

Abraham Lincoln

Victor D. Bacon

Mr. Bacon has a photostat copy of the sheet of regular writing paper on which Lincoln wrote it before leaving Washington, also some corrections and additions which he made on the back of the same paper while on the train.

Considered by millions to be the greatest composition of all history, it has only 267 words, put into ten sentences, and Lincoln spent a trifle over two minutes in delivering it.

Billed as the speaker of the day was that great orator, and he talked for over an hour. The New York, Philadelphia and Washington papers carried his address in full, running into a dozen columns, but they did not mention Lincoln's talk. But historians later came to regard it as the classic of the ages.

Edward Everett,

It was not for several months that what Lincoln said was fully digested. Although not a particular friend of the Great Emancipator, Everett was among the first to place a true value upon it. Not long before Everett died two years later, he wrote: "Lincoln said more in those two minutes than I've said in my entire life."

You may think that fishing has become an exclusive sport in the Pontiac area—that public fishing sites are too scarce. However, a perusal of the annual report of the shows that Michigan has more public fishing sites than any other state, and Oakland County has more than any other among its 83 counties.

Greatness Alone Is Not Enough

David Lawrence Says:

Lincoln Ideas 'Defied' Constitution

WASHINGTON — The nation is celebrating this week the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. Eloquent eulogies are being spoken — and he deserves them all.

LAWRENCE

But if what Abraham Lincoln said just 100 years ago were attributed today to anyone else in public life, the same utterances would be denounced as coming from a "racist," or "extremist" or a person who "defies" the Constitution.

Few people realize how outspoken Abraham Lincoln was against a Supreme Court decision and how he insisted that a mere overturning of precedent in a ruling was not "settled law."

It was just 100 years ago when Abraham Lincoln was debating with Stephen Douglas in the State of Illinois.

Only a few months ago the Library of Congress published a book containing facsimiles of the printers' copy of the stenographic record of Lincoln-Douglas debates "as edited and prepared for the press by Abraham Lincoln."

Following is a quotation from Mr. Lincoln's speech delivered on July 13, 1858, at Chicago:

"The sacredness that Judge Douglas throws around this decision (of the Supreme Court of the United States) is a degree of sacredness that has never been before thrown around any other decision. I have never heard of such a thing.

"Why, decisions apparently contrary to that decision, or that good lawyers thought were contrary to that decision, have been made by that very court before. It is the first of its kind; it is an astonisher in legal history—it is a new wonder of the world."

In speaking further of the Dred Scott decision, Mr. Lincoln said at Quincy, Ill., on Oct. 13, 1858:

". . . But we nevertheless do oppose that decision as a political rule which shall be binding on the voter to vote for nobody who thinks it wrong, which shall be binding on the members of Congress or the President to favor no measure that does not actually concur with the principles of that decision.

"We do not propose to be bound by it as a political rule in that way. . . . We propose so resisting it as to have it reversed if we can, and a new judicial rule established upon this subject."

In a speech delivered at Ottawa, Ill., on Aug. 21, 1858, Mr. Lincoln took up the race question.

He denounced slavery, but then added:

"I have no purpose to introduce political and social equality between the white and the black races. There is a physical difference between the two, which in my judgment will probably forever forbid their living together upon the footing of perfect equality, and inasmuch as it becomes a necessity that there must be a difference, I, as well as Judge Douglas, am in favor of the race to which I belong having the superior position.

"I have never said anything to the contrary, but I hold that notwithstanding all this, there is no reason in the world why the Negro is not entitled to all the natural rights enumerated in the Declaration of Independence, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"I hold that he is as much entitled to these as the white man. I agree with Judge Douglas, he is not my equal in many respects —certainly not in color, perhaps not in moral or intellectual endowment.

"But in the right to eat the bread, without leave of anybody else, which his own hand earns, he is my equal and the equal of Judge Douglas, and the equal of every living man. . . .

"What next? Free them and make them politically and socially our equals? My own feelings will not admit of this; and if mine would, we well know that those of the great mass of white people will not.

"Whether this feeling accords with justice and sound judgment is not the sole question, if, indeed it is any part of it. A universal feeling whether well or ill-founded, cannot be safely disregarded. We cannot, then, make them equals. . . ."

Smiles

We'll bet some of the most comical comic strips are in the Turkish baths.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Soap and Water Solution Best for Treating Wounds

Under the most favorable circumstances a clean (sterile, germ-free) wound, protected and kept at rest, heals at a certain rate. No lotion, salve or other application can make it heal faster or with less scar.

DR. BRADY

Indeed the use of agents which purport to hasten healing or prevent scar formation only retards healing and promotes more scarring.

For small cuts, scratches or abrasions, the most satisfactory first aid and home treatment is immediate application of weak iodine solution or tincture (2 per cent strength) to the cut or scratch and a half-inch or one-inch area of skin around it. Then suitable protective cover or dressing. That's all.

For larger wounds immediate washing with soap and warm water — not just a dab, but copious warm soapy water poured over or into the wound, water that has been boiled first and then allowed to cool enough for comfort.

If the wound is more than skin deep, draw the edges apart with well washed hands and pour the soapy water into it in a steady stream, at least a quart of it, to make sure of washing out any particle of foreign matter which may not be visible.

BEWARE TETANUS

This soap and water disinfection is most important in the first aid treatment of animal or bird bites or scratches, or for wounds sustained in stable, barn, street, field or garden, the environment of the lockjaw (tetanus) germ, clostridium tetani, a natural inhabitant of the intestinal tract of animals. (More about the prevention of tetanus or lockjaw later.)

A puncture, scratch, cut or abrasion that doesn't bleed is more dangerous than one that bleeds, for bleeding itself may wash out foreign matter or germs which may lodge or be embedded in a wound that doesn't bleed.

The only disinfectants, germicides or antiseptics required for first aid or home treatment of wounds are weak or mild iodine solution or tincture (2 per cent strength) for wounds not more than skin deep, and soap and water for deeper wounds—boiled water cooled to comfortable temperature and unmedicated toilet soap.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"A man of outstanding character usually gets that way by associating with men of outstanding character."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Fear Produces Symptoms of TB

Joe was obsessed with fear of TB. He was a brilliant college graduate, too, yet he fell victim to negative thinking. So don't get the idea that hypochondriacs and "worry warts" lack a high I.Q. In fact, the smarter you are, the easier it is for you to become a nervous wreck. Send for the helpful booklet mentioned below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A- 452: Joe X, aged 34, was the newspaper executive mentioned yesterday who consulted a quack about his cough.

CRANE

This unscientific doctor asked Joe if he didn't have night sweats, and then told Joe he should have them, for one of his lungs was entirely consumed by tuberculosis.

That night Joe finally fell asleep. But about 2 a.m. he awakened in a terrific night sweat. Perspiration was actually dripping off his face.

His wife informed me his pajamas were so saturated with this profuse sweating that she had to get him a dry pair.

Joe, of course, was now positive he was dying of TB, for hadn't the doctor asked him about night sweats?

Scared, Joe lay awake for half an hour, but finally drifted off into fitful slumber.

At about 4:15 a.m., he again awakened with sweat trickling off his face and body as if he were chopping wood on a hot summer day.

His wife not only had to get him a third pair of dry pajamas, but she told me she changed both the upper, as well as the lower, sheets for they were saturated with perspiration.

"It looked as if Joe were in a Turkish bath," she added, "for the sweat was dripping off his face, yet it was a cool night in March and our bedroom window was open."

NEGATIVE THINKING

Well, Joe refused to consult a reputable M.D. for he told his wife those night sweats proved he was dying of TB. But his wife insisted he go to a chest expert, anyway.

This physician gave Joe a thorough examination and pronounced him OK.

"Joe, you are as sound as a dollar," he added. "There's not a sign of TB anywhere in your chest."

"Doc, I hope you don't think I'm disrespectful," Joe replied, "but you've made a mistake somewhere for I KNOW I have TB."

So this medic performed the delicate and refined sputum test, which involves injecting the patient's sputum into a guinea pig, which is a very susceptible creature if TB bacteria are present.

The laboratory report was negative. Still Joe denied the facts and demanded a second lab test. It was negative. Joe then insisted on a third.

When the third lab test reported no tuberculosis at all, Joe reluctantly conceded "Maybe I don't have TB."

But please notice those terrific night sweats that rivaled a Turkish bath.

Joe had never had a night sweat before in his whole life. But that quack doctor's suggestion in mid-afternoon that Joe should have night sweats, percolated through Joe's brain.

That night, even when he was sound asleep, this negative idea got across into Joe's autonomic nervous system that controls the sweat glands and Joe perspired heavily.

If you and I tried our best, with our full conscious mind on the task, we couldn't turn on a shower of sweat. Even if we were baited with a $1,000 bill, we still could not produce sweat by conscious effort.

Yet Joe, who was a brilliant college graduate, produced two terrific night sweats even when he was fast asleep, just by his negative thinking.

So please keep an open mind about the matter of psychosomatic medicine.

And send for my booklet, "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (Non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'Pontiac Needs Social Club for Those Between 30-60'

There's a great need in Pontiac for a club of those over 30 and under 60. Seems like everything is geared to the teeners and the golden age group. I know we can better ourselves by taking various courses, but not all can afford it with husbands laid off or working part time.

People in our age group could do amateur plays, book discussions, debating, ice skating, sleigh riding and skiing, etc. There must be many others who see there's a definite need for such a club.

Inbetweener

Southern Negro Against NAACP

We Negroes have lost by forcing integration in the South, and we've made enemies of white neighbors and friends. When we each had our schools, we lived at peace. Most of us didn't want integration, but a small group of fanatics tried to force this on both. We don't want intermarriage any more than whites.

What have we gained by forcing things? Do southern Negroes vote or run for office? Even if we wanted to, our candidate wouldn't be elected. The purpose of this noise about voting is that certain vote-grobbing politicians want to get the northern Negro vote and if they could get votes for us in the South, they'd expect us to vote their party line. Both parties are segregationist in the South. Eisenhower and the Republicans didn't impress us southern Negroes. All he did was wake us up to what his party is trying to do with ultraliberal northern Democrats like Harriman and Rockefeller.

Most of us Negroes aren't members of the NAACP or the Urban League. The Negroes in these organizations are fanatics and radicals who've been misled by men like Adam Clayton Powell of New York who has set himself up as a messiah and switched from the Democratic Party to the Republican and back again. Women and men like Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bates of Little Rock have turned public opinion against us by their trouble-making.

When we Negroes cry "discrimination" every time we fail ourse'ves, then we will not be accepted but will be lumped together into one big stereotype. When we put aside our inborn persecution complex we will truly be a great race and be accepted for what we are. We need an understanding of our problems by ourselves and then by fellow Americans.

Southern Negro

'What Would Abe Think of That?'

If Abe Lincoln looks down and sees our school "closed" because it's snowing hard, what must he think of the country he saved and for which he lived and died? Let's see—he walked six miles, didn't he?

Grandpa

'Let's Have Less News of Murder'

I attend school and have been encouraged by an English teacher to read the daily newspapers. I enjoy reading about world news events, but why must you monopolize such a great amount of space on things so unimportant as stories of parents killing their children and things of that type? It is most depressing to me.

'Write Democrats to Keep Budget'

The President is doing everything he can do to balance the budget and if the free-spending Democrats refuse to pay attention and toss around more dollars than we're going to take in, it simply means more inflation and higher costs for everything.

If you're opposed to this, tell your Democratic representatives in Washington to quit trying to give "free" everything to everybody. It just doesn't work and the only thing it does is to help the Democrat get elected by promising all the boys back home everything they ask for.

Voters have finally reached the dumbest era in the history of this republic.

'Oh, Pontiac Has Speed Limit, Too'

'Do Dump Pickers Have Any Rights?'

I've lived here 10 years and have never been so disgusted as with the decision to close the Kennett road dump to only residents and no picking. How are the ones who depend on these sources to make a living going to live if this is done?

Haven't we got any rights? If we were to call that man the name he called us, we'd be put in jail. Now that the dump is closed to pickers, is he going to give us a job? Are we going to sit back and let him slap our other cheek or see what can be done?

If nothing can be done, what good is the law?

Missiles for Cargo Makes Army Mobile

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — A ballistic cargo missile developed by a San Diego company for the Army can be used for hurtling rations, medicine, communications gear, or ammunition to troops over the next hill or hundreds of miles away.

The missile also can carry a small nuclear warhead. It can be carried and launched by a three-man crew and could be used in small-scale wars to make troops ultramobile.

The cargo rides in quick-disconnect, preloaded payload sections. At least 70 per cent of the BCM is recoverable, but normally the missile is expendable.

Stormy Weather Here

Stone Age men lived for some 9,000 years in Russell Cave, near Bridgeport, Ala.

Suggests Huge New Lock at Soo for Giant Freighters

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A proposed new lock at Sault Ste. Marie should be large enough to handle ships 1,100 feet long and 130 feet wide, a University of Michigan naval architect has advised the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The largest ship afloat on the lakes is 729 feet long and 75 feet wide.

Biggest of the Soo locks, connecting Lakes Superior and Ontario via the St. Marys River, now limits the size of ships to 730 feet, stem to stern, and 75 feet abeam.

Harry B. Benford, associate professor of naval architecture and marine engineering at the university, predicted that once lock restrictions are removed there will be an immediate demand for carriers of increased length and beam.

Benford's study and recommendations were made under contract with the Corps of Engineers, who asked his advice.

While suggesting that the new lock, as a maximum, should be able to accommodate a ship 1,100 feet long and 130 feet wide, Benford said that as a minimum the lock should be able to handle a 1,000-foot ship 100 feet wide.

If the new lock is of proportions he suggests, Benford said Great Lakes shipyards then will be faced with the necessity of making major revisions to build and service new and bigger ships.

Some might be reluctant to bid for their construction, he said, but added that "they perhaps will be encouraged" by the fact that bidding will be limited to the Great Lakes.

The new ships will be too big for the St. Lawrence Seaway — on the other side of Lake Erie. Locks there will be only 800 feet long.

Such giants as he envisions "may be few in number and restricted in ports of call," Benford said, "yet their importance to the local economy will be great.

He predicts that such new giants would require new loading and unloading facilities, and said it is possible their cargo capacity "will be greater than any single receiving port can readily accommodate, adding:

"In such cases, it would not be impractical to split the cargo between various ports."

Benford said that most authorities feel that the biggest cargo commodity will continue to be iron ore, with an ever-increasing percentage of it smelted into pellets of metal before shipment.

"It has been brought forth as a possibility," he continued, "that future technical and economic developments may reverse the present direction of the trade on the lakes. That is, he may find coal and limestone being carried to steel mills on Lake Superior."

Break Dan'l's (Long) Rifle

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Daniel Boone's famed Kentucky long rifle is a short rifle now. Children swinging from the barrel of the muzzle loader on the park statue broke off a two-foot section. It will be replaced.

The nation's first gas company was organized in 1816 by portrait artist Rembrandt Peale and four associates in Baltimore.

Tear Gas Bomb Set Off by Kansas City Mother

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — While dusting her mother's apartment Mrs. Claudette Puckett pushed a button on an object which looked like a tiny flashlight.

The object, a small tear gas bomb, exploded and gas flooded the room. Mrs. Puckett and her two children, aged 4 and 3, fled unharmed but weeping.

Mrs. Puckett's mother, Mrs. Marie Sharp, was at work at the time. She said later, "Somebody gave it (the bomb) to me about two years ago. I just had it around in case an intruder ever got into the apartment."

Just Too Much Trouble

MARION, Ill. (UPI)—The Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce accepted and then rejected a building offered to the Jaycees without charge by the Williamson County Airport Authority for use as a clubhouse. The group turned down the offer when it learned the concrete block building would have to be removed from the airport piece by piece.

Not All by Juveniles

ST. ALBANS, England (AP)—Of the 6,219 recorded offenses in Hertfordshire last year, only 1,142 were committed by juveniles.

Lines Vague in 1809, Year Abe Was Born

by party bickering, was the lame-duck president. He had chosen not to run for a third term. Little James Madison would be sworn in as president a month after Lincoln was born.

Foreign affairs provided the basis for the big political issue of the day; an issue that would reach a climax in the War of 1812, a war that no one in Britain or America really wanted.

Across the Atlantic in 1809, Britain and Napoleon were at each other's throats. Each had set up a "paper" blockade of the other's ports. Neutral American ships and seamen were the chief sufferers.

In retaliation, Jefferson had engineered the Embargo Acts of 1807-08 under which all American vessels were forbidden to leave for foreign ports and foreign bottoms could not carry goods from American ports.

Mercantile New England, the stronghold of the Federalist Party, was struck a hard blow by embargo. Sentiment arose for the formation of an independent Northern Confederacy, sympathetic to the British cause.

The union was preserved, however, when Jefferson, in one of his last official acts, signed the embargo repealer, freeing American ships to trade with all nations except Britain annd France. Lincoln was a month old at the time.

Slavery, the great American issue of the 19th Century, was spoken of only in hushed tones. But, a contemporary gifted with foresight, already could discern the forces building toward the Irrepressible Conflict.

Eli Whitney's cotton gin had been in use for 16 years, vastly increasing the South's capacity for producing cotton and, incidentally, boosting the demand for Negro slaves to harvest King Cotton.

The North was taking its first steps toward becoming an industrial giant—again thanks to Whitney, whose manufacturing system enabled unskilled workmen to turn out quality products in mass.

The demand for more cotton and extension of slavery would drive the South over the brink in '61 and the North's great industrial advantage would win the Civil War that followed.

And, while Lincoln was being born Feb. 12, 1809, in a log cabin in what is now Hodgenville, Ky., a few miles to the southwest, another infant had recently passed his eighth month on earth.

He was destined to lead his people in a great war, too. He would be Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate States of America.

GM Denies Cadillacs Sabotaged at Factory

DETROIT (UPI)—Reports that cars coming off the assembly line at Cadillac were sabotaged have been denied by General Motors Corp.

A spokesman said a certain number of cars are damaged by accident each day and the number damaged Tuesday night was no higher than usual. Reports yesterday indicated the damage to 50 cars Tuesday night was an outgrowth of labor trouble.

Nothing New in Lincoln Family

Forgot Today's Birthday

MANCHESTER, Vt. (AP) — "Hello Margaret, this is Lincoln. I plan to come down Wednesday or Thursday to see about some letters."

"Well, better come Wednesday, Thursday we are closed for the holiday."

"Closed for the holiday, what holiday?

"Lincoln's birthday of course, you should know."

"Oh, I forgot, I'm as bad as grandpa."

This conversation took place Monday between Lincoln Isham of nearby Dorset, great-grandson of President Lincoln, and Probate Judge Margaret Doherty of Manchester.

The grandpa referred to was Robert Todd Lincoln, only son of the President to reach maturity. Of Robert's three grandchildren, two live in Vermont and the third in Virginia.

Once in Chicago over a half-century ago Robert Todd Lincoln asked his wife "What in the world are all the stores closed for today?" Years later, retelling the story to his grandson Lincoln Isham, he said simply: "I forgot it was pop's birthday."

"Pop's birthday" isn't being marked by the three great-grandchildren today. Isham refused several dozen invitations to participate in the 150th anniversary celebration from Washington, D.C. to the Pacific Coast.

Mary Beckwith, 61, his cousin, lives on the family farm on the south side of Manchester. She plans to spend the day helping milk the cows and care for the Black Angus cattle. On her rare trips to town she drives a small foreign car and wears patched dungarees.

Robert Todd Lincoln Beckwith, 54, Mary's brother, has no special plans either. Retired, a law school graduate who never practiced law, he lives on his 280-acre farm near Urbana, Va., in the warm months and spends winters in Washington.

Lincoln Isham, 67, lives quietly in a large white colonial house surrounded by a picket fence. Dorset is a crisp clean Vermont village in a valley on the west or sunset side of the Green Mountains.

Little Salt Remains for Icy Area Roads

provides traction for a limited period of time.

Liquid calcium chloride (salt) has been used at trunkline intersections and on hills and curves.

Many miles of important state trunklines are in danger of getting little or no treatment in a sudden storm.

The county's main job in case of a storm is to clear Dixie highway, Telegraph, Grand River, Northwestern highway and Woodward between Square Lake road and 10-Mile road.

A few hundred tons of salt would not spread far on these roads. The fate of such important secondary trunklines as M59, M218, M15 and M120 is not pleasant to think about, Van Roekel indicated.

The shortage means that sideroads everywhere are getting almost no treatment, the officials said.

Sand is being used on Pontiac residential streets, Jewell said. But when the sun begins melting the ice that covers sidestreets, large chuckholes will undoubtedly develop, he warned.

Only salt can melt the ice uniformly, and the city doesn't have enough salt to spare for sidestreets, he said.

Chicago Police Hunt Moon Antenna Thief

CHICAGO (AP) — Police are hunting for a thief — maybe from outer space — who stole a new moon watch antenna from the Adler Planetarium.

Director Albert V. Shatzel is puzzled about the theft of the aluminum antenna, which is 25 feet high with a 35-foot cross arm and weighs 150 pounds.

It had been propped against the planetarium awaiting erection atop an 80-foot tower. The antenna is used both for tracking satellites and for transmitting data to other moon watchers, Shatzel said.

What, Shatzel asked, would the thief want with it? He says he doesn't know. Neither do police.

Big Brother of Year Honor to McElroy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy today was honored as the Big Brother of the Year.

President Eisenhower arranged to present the 1958 citation to McElroy during a White House ceremony.

The International Big Brother Movement said the award to McElroy was in recognition of his interest in American youth, particularly in the field of education. Among other things, McElroy served as chairman of the 1955 White House Conference on Education.

The citation is awarded annually to the person the organization says best exemplifies its philosophy in helping fatherless boys between the ages of 8 and 17.

5 PTA Meetings Slated for Tonight in Waterford

Five Parent-Teacher Association meetings have been scheduled for tonight at schools in Waterford Township.

"Your Child's Needs in Junior High School" is the topic Dr. Chandos Reid will discuss following an open house at 7:30 p.m. at Isaac Crary Junior High School.

An assistant superintendent, Dr. Reid has assisted in workshops all over the country. She was a Fulbright lecturer in India.

Beginning at 8 p.m. Superintendent William Shunck will speak on "The Proposed School Building Plan" at the Donelson school.

Also included on the program will be the Donelson School Chorus, under the direction of music teacher Mary Lou Bridwell.

On Feb. 26, parents again will meet at the school to answer questions on the "Opinionaire," forms circulated by the Michigan Congress of Parent Teachers Association as part of a general survey on school conditions.

At 8 p. m. at the Lambert School, John Barson, producer and director of Channel 56 will talk on "Our Stake in Educational Television." A question and answer period will follow.

The proposed "School Bond Issue" will be discussed by Marshall Smith at 8 p.m. at the Monteith School, and the school choir will present several numbers, directed by Mrs. Helen Glenn.

A Founder's Day program along with the presentation of a flag to the school by Cub Scout pack 52 will be part of the program at the Drayton Plains school.

From 7:45 to 8 p.m. parents will register in their children's rooms, and the classroom recording the greatest number of parents present will receive a prize.

Board of Education member Frederick Poole will also present a talk on "Bonds and Millage" following the business meeting.

Lower Union Dues Offsets Fund Charge

DETROIT (AP)—Ford local 600 of the United Auto Workers union plans to cut monthly membership dues by $1, but will also cut staff salaries and lay off 11 employes, Carl Stellato, president of the local, said yesterday.

The dues cut is effective March 1—the day UAW members start paying an additional $1 a month to rebuild the union's national strike fund. The two moves will nullify each other as far as Ford local 600 members are concerned.

Stellato said four staff members and seven clerical workers will be laid off. He said more than 30 other local employes will have their salary cut by five per cent.

Jon Hall to Marry

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Jon Hall and former actress Raquel Torres Ames will be married Saturday in Las Vegas, Nev. Hall's first marriage to actress-singer Frances Langford ended in divorce in 1955. He is 43. Mrs. Ames 40, is the widow of financier Stephen Ames.

Probers View Fatal Runway

Officials at LaGuardia Questioned on Crash of Airliner Killing 65

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of a special congressional subcommittee have inspected Runway 22 at LaGuardia Field, which an American Airlines plane was trying to reach when it crashed into the East River. The Feb. 3 accident took 65 lives.

The five members of the subcommittee spent yesterday questioning airport and airline officials. The chairman, Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) refused to disclose results of the initial, on-the-spot investigation.

Thirty-one bodies remain missing since the new turboprop Electra went down.

A Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman has indicated that a report on the three altimeters recovered from the airliner's wreckage was expected today. The readings on the instruments were not disclosed.

It was hoped that the altimeters might tell why the pilot, Albert H. De Witt, 59, of Decatur, Mich., brought the big plane in so low that it undershot the airport and landed in the river.

The CAB has lifted bad-weather landing restrictions for Electras imposed after the crash, on condition that the new-type altimeters used in the Electras be replaced with the old type.

School Grades Just Don't Mix Well With Cars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What makes Sammy's car run? Sammy does, and it plays heck with his grades.

As in the high school classroom and cars don't mix. Neither do Bs. But Cs and Ds do. And flunkers are the biggest car-owners of all.

These views, certain to get the razzberry in certain select grease pits are those of William Condit, Belmont High School vice principal. He offers these observations:

High school boys are joy-riding right out of an education.

A teenager's stock with the girls may go up when he gets a car, but his marks will go down.

The car-owner may wind up quitting school — or at least athletics—to get a job so he can keep the thing perking.

Social pressures on boys nowadays are strong, Condit concedes. Many a teenager feels he's nobody without wheels. But there's consolation for some in an Idaho study he cites as typical.

Not a single straight-A student questioned owned a car.

Only 15 per cent of the B students owned cars.

But 41 per cent of the C students had cars, and 71 per cent of the D students. And what of the failing students? A spectacular 83 per cent owned cars.

Students usually find their car upkeep and operation costs much higher than they expected.

"It's almost beyond comprehension why parents allow it," Condit says.

He grants there are cases where students need cars. But parents should think it out carefully, he believes, before giving their son the green light.

The Job Must Go On

MANCHESTER, Conn. (UPI) — Mrs. Natali Pfanstiehl of Andover gave birth to a seven-pound girl at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Four hours later, nurses found Mrs. Pfanstiehl at her typewriter writing the Andover column for the Manchester Evening Herald. She's handled the column for three years, but dateline of her story was changed for that day to, "In the Hospital Labor Room."

What's In a Name?

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (UPI)—The commanding officer of the Coast Guard life boat station on Padre Island near here is named Cassius Fish.

Dulles Expects to Be Back Soon

Ike Scoffs at Rumors He'll Retire, Says Story 'Completely Cockeyed'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles approaches illness like a conference with the Soviets: it will be a problem, but he has his plans made and it won't last forever, and when it is over he will have other problems.

Despite physical setbacks which would have floored other and younger men, President Eisenhower, 68, and Dulles, 70, have treated their serious illnesses like temporary discomforts.

Eisenhower, who has had a heart attack and an intestinal operation, and Dulles, who has had surgery for cancer and now faces a hernia operation, seem to look upon the secretary's latest hospitalization with great optimism.

The White House has denied not only firmly but picturesquely speculation that Eisenhower has been discussing with his associates the possible retirement of Dulles.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, is the one who gave picturesqueness to the denial although his figures of speech were mixed: "I can say it (the speculation) was completely cockeyed, doubled in spades."

Dulles brushed off any idea that he might really be out of circulation by telling the President: "I would be available for consultation with you and my associates and would expect, after a few weeks, to resume fully the duties of my office."

17,000 Rebel Fighters in Algeria, Say French

ALGIERS (AP) — The French high command estimated 17,000 nationalist rebel fighters are inside the boundaries of Algeria.

A spokesman told newsmen Wednesday that while the number is insignificant compared with the 500,000 French troops in Algeria, the inaccessibility of rebel centers made them difficult to reach.

SWEET SUIT — Model Ann Grant displays the latest in London play wear. The ensemble consists of striped nylon tights with matching bra and a sail cloth beach bag.

Thief Returns Loot on Ash Wednesday

FREEPORT, N.Y. (AP) — The advent of Lent proved a good influence on a confessed holdup man.

David H. Seidl, 21, walked into a supermarket here Wednesday and sought out the manager, Michael Ambroza.

"Excuse me," said Seidl, "I held up your clerk yesterday. I'm sorry about it. It hurt my conscience and I want to return the money."

With that, Seidl dumped $500 in cash on Ambroza's desk.

Wave Length the Same

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kremer became grandparents twice on the same day. Their daughters-in-law, Mrs. John R. Kremer Jr., and Mrs. Donald B. Kremer — the former in Van Nuys, Cal., and the latter in Winchester — gave birth to baby boys the same day.

Rumor Flies Fast

OFFUTT AIR FORCE BASE, Neb. (UPI) — When the Strategic Air Command was conducting a contest to choose a name for its new B70 bomber, one airman suggester "Rumor." Reason, he said, was that "rumors fly faster than anything else." The B70 later was officially designated as the "Valkyrie."

Bob Considine Says:

Missile Madness Runs Rampant in Capital

WASHINGTON — The sign over the door in the House Office Building was still paint-wet. It read "Committee on Science and Astronautics." Inside, workmen were hammering up walls, moving desks, chairs, and hanging pictures of the Atlas blasting off a pad.

The disorder, the newness, the strangeness, was all symbolic of a capital which has suddenly gone batty over ballistics, mad about missiles, thoughtful on thrust. Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La) is in charge of this one.

There are perhaps a dozen other military and civilian agencies in Washington concerned with space and the research, development and employment of space vessels manned and unmanned. All dream. But none can beat the dreaming that has taken place in front of this particular committee.

When the committee was shaping itself last year Rep. John W. McCormack, the majority leader from Massachusetts, unleashed such dreams as these:

"Where does fantasy end and reality begin? Is it fantasy to say that man may set foot upon the Moon in 1965? Upon Mars and Venus three years later? Dr. Herbert F. York, Chief Scientist for the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency, says these goals may be achieved if sufficient priority is assigned them.

"Is it fantasy to say that man may be traveling almost 670 million miles an hour within 40 years? Perhaps. But Dr. Eugene Sanger, Stuttgart, Germany, thinks it quite possible.

"But long before the year 2000 a businessman in New York will probably be able to write a colleague in Paris in the morning and receive a written reply by noon the same day. Dr. Glauco Partel, founder of the Italian Rocket Association and a propulsion expert, views postal rockets in the near future as a certainty . . . nuclear fuels will make possible continuous flights either within or outside the earth's atmosphere for any desired period of time . . . as much as a year."

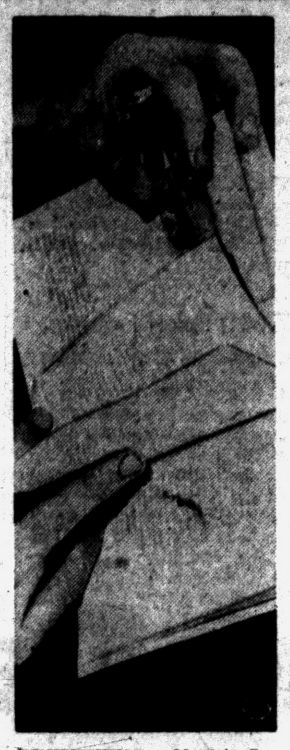

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, former Army research and development chief, is quoted by the committee as saying, "The missile industry is producing such reliable, accurate, miniature parts that some may one day be used to replace worn out human parts. There may well come a day when rocket valves will be at work in the human heart—and we'll be thanking missiles that our hearts beat."

Donald Douglas saw manned trips to and from the moon in 10 years, in a special seminar entitled "The Next 10 Years in Space." George L. Haller, General Electric, saw on the horizon closeup investigation by earthlings of "what the clouds that blanket Venus consist of, whether or not Venus rotates, and whether or not there is any form of life on Mars."

Andrew Haley, president of the International Astronautic Federation, estimated 62,000 miles per second as a needed speed for space ships, and warned, "The sacrifice of human beings (arising from space travel) will be roughly a little higher than was incident to man's conquest of the air."

Frederick C. Durant III, former president of the same federation, told the committee, "I believe that the U.S.S.R. will continue to shock this country rudely, pressing their current advantageous lead. I believe they will send a man into orbital flight and recover him several times this year."

REFRESHING — Munich, Germany, readers can avail themselves of some reading to drink by. This book of poetry has a built-in compartment which contains a small bottle of wine.

Roy Knutson, North American Aviation's space authority, said our own man-in-space would be brought out of orbit and back to earth by "retrorocket, speed brakes and, later, a ribbon parachute.

The point at which the retrorocket is fired would be carefully controlled so that the recovery trajectory would land the capsule on the North American continent in daylight hours." (Ed. note: Around cocktail time, let's say.)

Prof. Sanger swam back before the committee's eye with a chilling description of an enemy's "stationary ultraviolet searchlight in space, which might exert a radiation pressure by means of high energy beams and thus be capable of destroying flying objects up to a distance of several hundreds of miles in a fraction of a second."

He added, casually, that by exceeding the speed of light, using photon power, an American spaceship could make a round trip to a star in 22 years "but during that period 2,000 years would have gone by on earth." He didn't mention the difficulty the returning voyagers would have, making new friends.

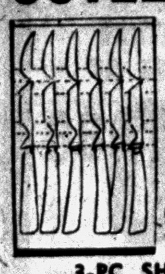

The incredible part of all the above is the growing realization in Washington that it is not incredible at all.

Adm. Perry's Victory and International Peace Mounment rising 352 feet above the water in Put-In-Bay, Ohio, is the second highest national monument. It is second in size to the Washington Monument and is taller than the Statue of Liberty.

Avondale Board Slates Hearing on Baker Ouster

School Head Won't Attend

Says He Will Leave Friday for Meeting in Atlantic City

By LEE WINBORN

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Avondale school board last night scheduled a hearing for ousted Superintendent of Schools Raymond N. Baker Monday evening. But Baker says he won't be there.

The superintendent said after the meeting that he plans to leave Friday on a board-authorized trip to Atlantic City where he will attend the school administrators' annual convention next week.

This is the second time the board has set a hearing date. The previous one was last Friday night, it was called off when Baker's attorney said a bill of particulars listing reasons for his client's dismissal was not presented as he requested.

Some 40 persons attended last night's meeting which started off calmly with the transaction of regular business.

It was after Board President Gordon S. Hamilton called for unfinished business that non-renewal of Baker's contract became the prime topic of discussion. (His contract has not been renewed but he will continue in office until mid-June.)

An Avon Township mother, Mrs. Max Wilson of 4730 Opdyke Rd. read a prepared statement, listing the district's accomplishments during the past 10 years. She concluded by saying she "wondered at the board's motives—with only two members on for six months—in dismissing a man who led us through these accomplishments."

Another mother, Mrs. Earl Wilson (no relation) of 1781 Squirrel Rd., commended the administration for the atmosphere of respect, Geniality and courtesy that she said existed in the system.

Her comments drew an immediate reaction from a third woman who said she had never seen a community in such turmoil. Then an unidentified man asked if Baker was prepared to reveal the reasons given for non-renewal of his contract.

The superintendent said he had received "a second set of reasons, or a supplement to the first set" in the mail yesterday. He added that he had sent the letter to his attorney and was waiting for his recommendation before revealing what the reasons were.

One spectator asked whether the letter was from the board, or was it a majority report. The ouster was favored Dec. 15 by a three to two vote of the school board.

"We have agreed as a majority of the board," Hamilton replied.

One of the two board members who voted against Baker's dismissal, Floyd L. Cobb Jr., said last night he wasn't even aware more reasons had been given.

Hamilton then added that the board had been questioned about its North Central Assn. accreditation as a result of its action.

He said, "It is the duty of the superintendent to keep the board informed. Our superintendent never saw to it that we had a copy of the NCA's rulings."

The school board plans to hold a special meeting next Wednesday night, but whether the situation as it stands today will be substantially altered by that time remains a moot point, they agreed.

Ousted School Head, RAYMOND N. BAKER

Polio Clinic Slated Tuesday at Orion School

LAKE ORION — The Proper Elementary School PTA will sponsor a polio vaccine clinic from 1 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the school.

The Weber and Carpenter School PTAs will be co-sponsors of the clinic which is open to all children and adults in the Lake Orion Community School district.

First, second, third and booster shots will be given, and a fee of one dollar will be charged for each shot.

Persons who wish any further information may call any one of the three schools, a PTA spokesman said today.

Slate Hearing on Fire District

Brandon Board Will Consider Setting Up Separate Department

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The township board last night set Feb. 25 as the date for a hearing on setting up a special fire district in the township and for the discussion of estimated cost of operation and maintenance of the Fire Department under this new plan.

The department now gets an allotment from the township as recommended by the Fire and Police Board. The activities of the department have so increased lately and the funds of the township so depleted that it has become necessary to have a special assessment to operate the department, Township Clerk Helen Jencks said today.

A special election on the fire district issue will be held later this spring after all legal aspects of the question are settled, she said.

The board also okayed two subdivision plats, one for Sanders Estates located on Seymour Lake and Sashabaw roads and the other for Many Elms Subdivision located at Bald Eagle Lake.

The township clerk was authorized to order markers for the Seymour Lake Cemetery which has recently been resurveyed.

The Fire Board presented its proposed budget for 1959 which totaled $9,150. If the new fire district is approved in a special election later this year, the assessment will appear on the tax roll in 1960.

Retail Milk Prices Hit All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agriculture department report showed today that the annual average retail price of fluid milk reached a record high of 24½ cents a quart in 1958. The previous year's average was 24.2 cents.

This represented an increase of 4.7 cents or nearly 23 per cent over the 1950 average.

But there was much smaller change in the farm share. It averaged 10.7 cents last year compared with 10.9 cents in 1957 and 9.9 cents in 1950. Virtually all the increase went to increased costs of marketing the milk.

Girl Scouts Take Part in Investiture Ceremony

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Fourteen members of the newly registered Girl Scout Troop No. 575 of Our Lady of Refuge School participated in an investiture ceremony yesterday at the school.

The Scouts presented a play entitled "Let's Travel by Bus."

Mrs. W. B. Gilkey is leader of the group. She was assisted yesterday by Mrs. Frederick McDermott.

Hospital Elects Romeo Man

Name James Hough Secretary on Board of Directors

ALMONT — James H. Hough of Romeo was elected secretary of the board of directors of the Community Hospital Foundation Inc. last night to succeed Miss Jane Scott of Washington.

All other members of the board were re-elected. They are Leon T. Bishop, chairman; Thomas K. Richards, president; Dr. Louis R. Newlin, vice president; and James D. Ligon, treasurer.

Hospital Executive Director James H. Crary announced that the average occupancy of the hospital for the first 10 days of February was 80.6 per cent as against 55.6 per cent for the 27 days the new hospital was open in January.

Crary added that plans are being made to install extra telephone lines from Romeo and Almont to handle increased business at the hospital and to insure open lines for emergencies.

The board also is preparing for dedication of the new 18-bed wing now under construction which will take place around June 1.

Primary to Decide 3 Township Offices

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The primary election to be held Monday actually will decide the battle for three key township offices.

Since all candidates for township supervisor, township clerk and township treasurer are Republicans, the results of Monday's primary will determine those to assume office uncontested in the spring election April 4.

Bidding for the township supervisor post are Arno L. Hulet, incumbent, and Arthur J. Picotte.

Harvey V. Beggs and Robert H. Dudley, incumbent, will seek the position of township clerk while Homer Case, incumbent and Margaret E. Begovich, compete for county treasurer.

SHARON WHITNEY

The betrothal of their daughter, Sharon Whitney, to Airman 3rd Class Donald R. Phipps is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson P. Whitney of 835 Southwood Dr., Fenton. Airman Phipps is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps of 15160 Fish Lake Rd., Holly, and is currently stationed in England with the U. S. Air Force.

Fathers Night Scheduled by Glengary PTA

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — "Fathers Night" will be observed at the regular monthly meeting of the Glengary Elementary School PTA to be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school.

Richard King, father-vice president of the Glengary PTA, has arranged an entertainment program which features Louis Auger, a professional skier from Montreal, Canada, as guest speaker.

A movie of favorite ski slopes in Michigan will be shown.

Auger, a former instructor, will leave for Europe later this month.

Robert Mosher, new president of the Glengary PTA, will conduct the business meeting. Mosher, a sixth grade teacher, succeeded Mrs. Hubert Wallace, who retired because of ill health.

The list of nominees for PTA offices will be announced at the meeting.

OES Unit in Commerce to Give Square Dance

COMMERCE—A "Swing Your Sweetheart" square dance Saturday night at the Masonic Temple here is being sponsored by Chapter 301, Order of the Eastern Star. The public is invited.

Dancing will be from 8 to 11:30 p.m. with Lee Kane calling to recorded music. A free lunch will be served.

Roy Mayes of 109 Cloverport St., Rochester, and Mrs. Lucinda McIntosh of Middletown, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Mayes, to Thomas V. Jones. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Jones of 1880 School Rd., Rochester. No wedding date has been set at this time.

Canada to Get U.S. Subsidy?

Expect America to OK Two-Thirds Payment on Missile System

OTTAWA (AP) — A U. S. decision to pay two-thirds of the cost of Canada's antiaircraft missile system is expected to be announced soon, informants state.

U. S. and Canadian officials met here to continue work on plans for sharing defense costs and production.

The system of Bomare ground-to-air guided missiles, an electronic control system and new radar stations is expected to cost more than 300 million dollars.

The plan to give Canadian industry a bigger share of the system's contracts is expected to run into heavy opposition in the U. S. Congress and industry, especially with the U. S. government paying most of the bill.

Canadair Ltd. of Montreal, for example, has put in a strong bid for a U. S. government contract for 200 radar picket planes. No decision is expected until March.

The planes would extend northward the distant early warning or Dew Line in the Canadian Arctic.

The joint U. S. - Canada North American Defense Command has recommended the planes be added to the system.

Lakes Route to Get Subsidy

Maritime Group Says Shipping Between Here and Caribbean Essential

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Maritime Administration has reaffirmed a proposed shipping route from the Great Lakes to the Caribbean as an essential foreign trade route eligible for subsidies.

The agency held in April 1957, that the route was essential but said then that the matter would be reviewed again before the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The Seaway will open this spring.

No U.S. flag ships operate at present over the route. But Grace Line, Inc., has applied for subsidized service and the application will be acted on shortly.

The original description of the route has been revised to provide for calls at Canadian ports. However, the agency decided not to subsidize liner service to the east coast of Mexico and Central America at this time. It recommended further study of this service for 1959-60.

Approved were weekly sailings to the north coast of South America, including the Netherlands West Indies, and sailings every other week to Cuba and other islands in the Greater Antilles.

All of the 48 states suffer from ragweed which irritates hay fever sufferers. But, the 49th state, Alaska, has no ragweed. Hay fever is not a problem there.

RISING TIDE — In winter all eyes are on the famous Zouave of the Pont de l'Alma in Paris. Normally the waters of the Seine just touch the base of the statue.

Wants Repeal of Detroit Port Authority

LANSING (UPI) — A Detroit Democrat today said he would call for legislative repeal of the Detroit Port Authority and set up machinery within the Michigan Waterways Commission to prepare for opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Rep. Edward H. Jefferies (D-Detroit) said the present authority, in existence about six years, has accomplished "almost nothing" in establishing dock facilities at Detroit because the federal government wouldn't recognize the authority's power to act.

Jefferies said Michigan's extensive shoreline gives the state a high potential in world trade and "what we need now is action to develop this potential."

He said the Detroit Port Authority has spent about $250,000 and "the only result we have is a collection of statistics."

Appealed to Ike in Little Rock Riots in '57

Reveal Mayor Asked for U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann of Little Rock, Ark., appealed to President Eisenhower for federal troops when mob violence blocked Central High School's racial integration program in 1957, it is now disclosed officially.

In a telegram, Mann asked for the troops "within several hours," saying "situation is out of control and police cannot disperse the mob."

The text of the mayor's wire was included in a 7,500-word document released by the Justice Department.

The document was a communication which Herbert Brownell, then Attorney General, addressed to the President on Nov. 7, 1957, Brownell's last day in office.

It summarized the legal advice which Brownell gave the White House, leading to the stationing of troops at the high school, and which will be published in full in a forthcoming new volume of "Opinions of the Attorney General."

When Eisenhower sent the troops to Little Rock Sept. 24, 1957, the question of whether Mann had asked for them was one which went unanswered in both Washington and Little Rock.

Three days later, the Justice Department denied in fact that it had had any telegram from Mann. Technically this was true since the telegram had gone to Eisenhower.

Mann would neither confirm nor deny to reporters in Little Rock that he had requested troops.

The question had factors of political importance, involving as it did the issue of whether Eisenhower acted on his own motion or sent the troops in response to local appeal.

Brownell's communication to Eisenhower traced the history of the Little Rock crisis, use of the Arkansas National Guard by Gov. Orval Faubus to prevent the attendance of nine Negro students at Central, the federal court injunction against such use of the guard, and the rioting which occurred on the school grounds Sept. 23 after the guard was withdrawn.

The Attorney General's communication said Mayor Mann wired President Eisenhower the next morning:

"The immediate need for federal troops is urgent. The mob is much larger in numbers at 8 a.m. than at any time yesterday. People are converging on the scene from all directions. The mob is armed and engaging in fisticuffs and other acts of violence.

"Situation is out of control and police cannot disperse the mob.

"I am pleading to you as President of the United States in the interest of humanity, law and order, and the cause of democracy worldwide to provide the necessary federal troops within several hours.

"Action by you will restore peace and order and compliance with your proclamation."

In the proclamation referred to, the President had appealed to the people of Little Rock to obey the federal court integration order and preserve peace.

Social Security Tax Due

Farmers Must Pay in April

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Most farmers, like other self-employed people, must figure, report and pay their Social Security tax before April 15.

But, how farmers must do the job can differ greatly from the way it must be done by other people working for themselves.

This results because you—as a farmer—may be able to figure the earnings on which you must pay Social Security tax in three ways and pick the way which best fits your situation:

1. If your net earnings were $400 or more in 1958, you may report your net earnings up to $4,200 and pay tax on it.

For example: Suppose Frank Jones had net earnings of $3,800 in 1958. He must report the entire amount as Social Security earnings and pay tax on it.

2. Or, if your gross farm income is more than $1,800 and your net earnings are less than $1,200, you may report $1,200 as your net earnings and pay tax for 1958 on that amount.

For example: Suppose John Smith farms 50 acres of land and from this farming had a total cash income of $2,200 in 1958, but after deducting expenses from the operation of the farm, he has net earnings of $1,000. Under this rule, he can report $1,200 as his net earnings.

3. Or, if your gross income was not more than $1,800 in 1958, you may report two-thirds of your gross income as your net income and pay tax on this amount.

For example: Suppose Carey Johnson farms 40 acres and had a gross profit of $1,780 in 1958, but after deducting his farm expenses, he has only $800 in net earnings for the year. Under this rule, he may report and pay tax on $1,186.67 (two-thirds of his gross income of $1,780).

The odds are that you'll have to use rule one in figuring your net earnings and Social Security tax. Your net earnings were too high to fit under the other two rules.

But, if you do have a choice, here's a good rule to follow: Always use the method which will give you the highest net earnings even though it means you'll have to pay a higher tax.

The reason: Future Social Security payments will be based on what your Social Security record shows as net earnings. The higher the net earnings shown, the higher your future payments.

If you're engaged in farming and in one or more trades or businesses, your net earnings from self-employment are the combined net earnings of all your activities.

If you're in a farm partnership, your net earnings from self-employment should include your entire share of such earnings from the partnership including any guaranteed payments.

Internal Revenue will provide you with a special form and instructions on the payment of your Social Security tax along with your regular federal income tax forms.

The tax you must pay on your net earnings for 1958 will be the same as that paid by other self-employed people—3⅜ per cent of your net earnings up to $4,200.

Thus, if your net earnings from farming was $4,200 or more, your total tax will amount to $141.75.

Singer Thinks Mother Will Attend Wedding

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Singer Anna Maria Alberghetti says she thinks her mother will attend her April wedding to composer-arranger Buddy Bregman despite the older woman's opposition to the match.

"I was hoping my mother would be resigned to my wedding to Buddy by now," Anna said yesterday. "I thought she had. When I told her about it she was calm and we talked about it but she still says she won't come to the wedding.

"But I think she will."

Mrs. Vittoria Alberghetti has opposed her 22-year-old daughter's plans to marry Bregman, who is divorced from his first wife and has a 6-year-old son.

When Anna announced Tuesday she was going ahead with the marriage plans, Mrs. Alberghetti said, "I will not attend the ceremony. I said I was going to be sick the day the marriage took place. I am still going to be sick."

Mrs. Alberghetti said she opposed the wedding because of Bregman's divorce. Both she and Anna are Roman Catholics and natives of Italy.

State Appointment Hits Senate Snag

LANSING (AP) — James W. Bowden, state labor commissioner named by Gov. Williams last month, may encounter difficulties in gaining Senate confirmation.

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), whose Senate business committee screens appointments, said he had received complaints from within and outside the legislature about handling of the appointment.

Hutchinson said they were directed at the Governor's failure to promote Neil B. McArthur, deputy commissioner, to the post rather than at Bowden or his qualifications.

Bowden's predecessor, Russell White of Owosso, was ousted a year ago when turned down by the Senate because of close ties with Solidarity House, United Auto Workers union international headquarters.

Like White, Bowden, 59, a Lansing tool maker, is a long time member of UAW local 652. The commissioner's job pays $8,500, the deputy's $6,750. McArthur served in an acting capacity until Bowden was named.

Trio Nabbed After Splitting

Arrest of Girl and 2 Boys Ends 4-State Crime Spree

GREELEY, Colo. (AP) — A crime spree crossing four states ended yesterday with the arrest of a girl and two boys, all 19, police said.

The boys were arrested here—one in a car used in a New Mexico kidnaping and the other in a hotel room.

Connie Walker of Austin, Tex., was arrested in Cheyenne, Wyo. She signed a statement admitting armed robberies and kidnaping, police said.

A bulletin for the trio's arrest was put out after Mrs. Johnnie B. Burnett, 41, of Ridgefield, Conn., told New Mexico authorities she had been kidnaped at gunpoint in Albuquerque, N. M., last Sunday.

Mrs. Burnett said she was forced to drive to Santa Fe, N. M., where the teenagers freed her unharmed and continued on in her automobile.

Sheriff's Deputy Harold Burger spotted the car here yesterday and stopped it. The driver, William Frank Stolz, was arrested. A search of hotels turned up his companion, David Danjin, in a dingy room.

Police Lt. Carroll Long and Patrolman Leo Malcolm broke down the door and were confronted by Danjin, aiming a gun at them.

"Then he turned and ran to a corner of the room and threatened to kill himself," Long said. "But he gave up."

Sheriff Pat Burmeister said the youths, both from Detroit, admitted verbally a series of armed robberies in Texas, New Mexico and "on the way up here from Santa Fe."

In Cheyenne, Police Chief Fred Schmoker said the Walker girl's statement admitted eight robberies and burglaries, most of them in Texas. He said she told of joining forces with the boys until their car broke down near Albuquerque.

No charges have been filed.

Bagwell, GOP Leaders Huddle on Policy

LANSING (AP)—Republican legislative leaders and Paul D. Bagwell, titular party head, have begun a series of periodic huddles on GOP policy matters, including legislation.

The first session was held yesterday following breakfast in a Lansing hotel. Bagwell was the party's governor candidate last fall.

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), who attended, said discussions were general.

New auto speed records, ranging up through 265 miles per hour, were established by American drivers on the world's major tracks in the past 12 months.

Innocent of Murder After Fourth Trial

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP)—Warr Applegate is a free man after being tried four times on a charge of murdering his baby daughter.

An all-male District Court jury Wednesday found him innocent in the 1954 death of 16-months-old Dana Applegate. He had been charged with putting arsenic in a soft drink bottle and causing the child's death.

Applegate was convicted in his first trial, but won a new trial on appeal. The second and third trials ended in hung juries.

The aircraft worker lived in a trialer court at Douglass, Kan., at the time.

Now They Know Why Ike's Plane Landed 'High' in Georgia's 'Soup'

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — Backstairs at the White House:

The officers and men at Moody Air Force Base outside Valdosta, Ga., are still talking about the landing made there Feb. 4 by the Columbine III, the military air transport set aside for President Eisenhower.

With the Chief Executive aboard, the Columbine flew south last week for the annual Eisenhower quail shooting expedition on the south Georgia estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

The Columbine in these trips usually lands at Spence Air Base, a training center for air cadets outside Moultrie, Ga. Spence, however, was closed in by miserable weather and Col. William G. Draper, the Columbine pilot and Air Force aide to the President, decided to try Moody.

Thunderstorms and heavy rains were sweeping the area. The press plane, a commercial liner chartered from Eastern Air Lines, landed at Moody about an hour before the President.

When Draper got over the field, conditions were too bad for landing, even with the fine instrumentation aboard the Columbine and the navigational aids offered by the big air base. Draper circled the area for about 40 minutes, then let down through the soupy, wet weather.

The ceiling was around 400 feet when reporters and Air Force personnel saw the Columbine break through the menacingly dark weather and walls of rain. An Air Force colonel asked, "Does he always come in so high with the Columbine?"

Instead of landing at the forward end of the runway, the Columbine seemed to come down at an unusually high angle and touch down about midway the length of the landing strip.

This necessitated using virtually the full strip to brake the ship on the water-slick runway and turn her toward the flight control building where the landing ramp was waiting.

After the presidential party motored away from the field, personnel at Moody understood why the Columbine seemed to have landed "high." On one side of the ship, particularly around the starboard side landing gear, there was a lot of mud and grass.

Then the story was pieced together. When the Columbine lowered through the soupy weather to her point of touch down, her first point of impact put the landing wheels on one side of the ship into the grass and dirt, instead of hitting the concrete runway.

Draper quickly threw the power to his engines and the Columbine lifted up momentarily. Then Draper brought her back down in the center of the runway, giving the onlookers hundreds of yards away the impression that the ship had come in high.

For experienced transport pilots, this is a somewhat routine flying problem when the weather is bad. But it is a problem that seems, at least, to become much more pressing when the passenger aboard is President of the United States.

Actually, Draper was considering taking the President on to Tampa, Fla., for a landing before he decided to go into Moody. A wide weather front was closing down airports all over the Southeast.

At one time while he was circling over south Georgia, Draper was notified that conditions below him at Moody had fallen beneath minimum safety standards. In other words, the ceiling had dropped close to zero.

But reports from the field indicated that the worst of the weather was blowing over and Draper took advantage of the first break to get his plane on the ground relatively near—67 miles away—to the President's destination.

When the Columbine takes off from Washington, Draper usually alerts one or more alternate landing fields if there is any question about the weather at the primary destination.

The command at Moody, for example, was notified of the possibility that the President might arrive there. This word was passed to Moody two hours before the Eisenhower party took off from Washington.

The final hour of the southward flight of the Columbine last week still sticks in the minds of White House personnel aboard as the roughest time they ever experienced in the air.

But the President seemed to ride through it in better shape than most of his staff. He was wisecracking about the bumpy, wet weather when he stepped from the plane at Moody.

Sylvan Getting New Manager

Firestone Sworn In at Council Meeting Last Night; Replaces Barry

David E. Firestone was sworn in last night as Sylvan Lake's new city manager. Administering the oath of office at the Council's regular meeting was Clerk-Treasurer Marjorie B. Willson.

Former village manager of Imlay City, Firestone replaces Louis G. Barry who resigned the post last Dec. 1 to take another position.

Firestone's first official statement was, "I have started to gather figures for the 1959-60 budget."

During the next month the council's attention will be on formation of a budget to be introduced at the March meeting.

Mayor William B. Taylor asked the Council to give official thanks to Earle D. Knapp, acting city manager for nearly two months, in appreciation of his efforts.

On Taylor's recommendation, the Council agreed to pay Knapp for the extra hours work he spent filling the position.

Other business included a motion by councilman John N. Doherty to replace existing 1,000-unit street lights on Orchard Lake road at Lakeland and Woodland streets with 2,500-unit lamps.

The motion also called for installation of 2,500-unit lamps on Orchard Lake at Warwick and Beverly streets. The Council adopted the motion.

A new sewage system plan with Pontiac was read and discussed. The present sewer service, in which sewage is piped into Pontiac for disposal, is paid for by taxpayers of Sylvan Lake.

The cost is $18 per year for each taxpayer, payable twice annually. The new plan would be paid for on a metered basis.

All sewage piped into Pontiac would be metered and Sylvan Lake would pay 16-cents per 1,000 cubic feet of sewage. Councilmen tabled a decision on the matter pending further discussion with Pontiac officials.

Talks will center around estimates of costs under the new setup in relation to present costs, making proper budget adjustments, and the time that payments would be due.

The Council also voted to reappoint Ralph Cromis to another three-year term on the city's Board of Review. Cromis' last term expired last Dec. 31.

Misery of Past, Promise of Future Drive the Flagelados to Sister Paula

FORTALEZA, Brazil (AP) — Near the barracks, twood fires crackle under eight big kettles full of beans and rice. A sweating cook stirs the beans.

In five hours, the meal will be served. For every four persons there will be a quart can of beans, another of rice and a chunk of bread; powdered milk for the children.

They ate last at 8 a.m. There is no noon meal.

The smell of the beans cooking drifts out to the people sitting along the barracks wall. Sister Paula said: "They came here half starved to death, most of them. Now they wait for ships to take them to new homes."

Sister Paula, a soft-spoken Roman Catholic nun, is the director of Getulio Vargas Hospedaria, a migration center for the Whipped Ones.

The Whipped Ones — flagelados in Portuguese — have fled here from parched farms of drought-stricken Ceara, one of the eight states in Brazil's dry northeast. They were peasants in the northeast; now they are below that. A Whipped One has nothing.

Since last April—the height of a drought that started in December 1957 — 23,000 Whipped Ones have come to Sister Paula. Her job is to feed them, clothe them, soothe them, medicate them, process them for shipment, and pray for them.

Since April, 721 of them—mostly children — have died at Getulio Vargas.

"It is pitiful," said the nun. "This is their last hope. To come here, they walk for days without eating. The children cannot do it. We try to bring them back to good health. Sometimes it is too late. They come here to die, some of them."

Sister Paula has a staff of 10 and two part-time doctors, a part-time dentist and a few nurses.

Getulio Vargas once was a rubber workers training camp with facilities for 600 men. Now 4,000 flagelados are here.

Food comes free from the government. There may be shortages, but food does not often run out. Sister Paula is an insistent woman.

Sometimes there is meat. When supplies are up, there are two meals a day; when they are low, there is one.

Sitting in the shade waiting for the ship, the flagelado wonders about it all. To come here he has made an extremely serious decision—to move his family 1,000 miles up the Amazon to begin life anew, in a land that may be strange to him.

Some peasants face starvation rather than move away. This inborn desire to stay home is a major reason more of the northeast's 2½ million flagelados have not migrated.

Drought hits there about once every seven years. The northeast cannot feed its 20 million people unless vast sums are spent on dams and irrigation canals. Some 20 years the northeast may be such work is under way, and in productive.

The government proposed to give the flagelados land in areas that are fertile and lack only people. But some say there is no guarantee the flagelado will stay on new land once he hears the rains have come back to his old territory.

Rail Work Rules Called Outdated

Association Head Says Featherbedding Costs Roads Half Billion

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The railroads have started an assault on rail labor work rules which they claim are "rooted in the horse and buggy era of 40 and more years ago."

Daniel Loomis, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, was the railroad's spokesman. The controversy over work rules — which management says permit "featherbedding" — could tie up the nation's rail system in a strike this autumn.

Loomis called upon leaders of train operating brotherhoods to join with railroad management in asking President Eisenhower to name a nonpartisan group to study the roads' work rules. He spoke at the annual meeting of the National Assn. of Shippers Advisory Boards.

"Such a special commission," Loomis said, "should go to work immediately, well in advance of any transportation crisis, preparing an independent and objective appraisal that will protect the welfare of our country, the solvency of the railroad industry and the security of its workers."

A three-year moratorium on changes in work rules is scheduled to expire Oct. 31. This moratorium agreement was signed in 1956 by rail brotherhoods and management.

Loomis defined featherbedding as pay for work not done, for services not performed, and said it cost the industry more than 500 million dollars annually.

"Imagine what half a billion extra dollars a year could mean if plowed into repair work," Loomis said.

Loomis outlined what he described as "the three most damaging areas" of featherbedding. He listed them as:

First, the mileage-day pay system which provides that when locomotive and freight train crewmen cover 100 miles, they get a basic day's pay. Passenger trainmen put in 150 miles.

Loomis said this work rule was standardized in 1919, when a freight train did take about eight hours to go 100 miles.

"A passenger train now covers the 900 miles between New York and Chicago in about 16 hours", Loomis said. "But the railroad by no means pays just two days' pay for the engineers' services. No, the carrier must pay over nine basic days' pay for each crew position on the 16 hour run."

Second, the jurisdictional rules such as those barring train crews from crossing district and seniority boundries. As an example, Loomis said the Chicago-Denver passenger run of 1,034 miles requires eight different engine crews, each putting in an average of about two hours.

Third, rules which require "useless crewmen on trains and other equipment—for firemen who tend no fires and extra brakemen who handle no brakes."

Loomis acknowledged, "the job of breaking the featherbed chains around our industry is going to be the most difficult labor issue ever faced in railroading." He noted half a million railroad jobs have been lost in the last dozen years and said, "I am not attacking railroad labor."

"If you are tired of hearing about railroad troubles," Loomis said, "I can assure you that the railroads are tired of telling you about their troubles. We are sick of being the problem child of the American economy."

Famed for Blonde Spies, Secret Agents

Orient Express Still Runs in Europe

WASHINGTON— The Orient Express, Europe's romantic railway train has carried more blonde spies, king's messengers, burly secret agents, and discomfited Englishmen through the pages of fiction than any other train in the world.

Passengers riding the Express today may find it a little different from other continental trains. It has the usual first and second-class compartments and the usual delays at frontiers. The trip from Paris to Istanbul takes about three and a half days.

Its reputation as a train for spies and international adventurers probably stems from the fact that it crosses so many countries as it streaks eastward across Europe.

STARTED IN 1880S

The history of the Orient Express goes back to the 1880s when railways united Paris with the Balkans, the National Geographic Society says.

The Express still operates along the same axis, although it now has several different routes and branches. The Arlberg Orient Express and the Simplon Orient Express are well known to international travelers.

The Orient Express's trunk line runs from Paris through Strasbourg and Munich to Vienna. From Vienna it plunges behind the Iron Curtain to Budapest and then swings through Bucharest or Sofia to Istanbul.

At Istanbul travelers may change to another train and ride as far as Baghdad in Iraq. With its various alternate routes, the Express links perhaps a score of European countries to southwest Asia.

The railway connection between the Balkans and western Europe developed amid political intrigue, wars, and revolutions during the second half of the 19th Century. That was the period when the Balkans were earning the sobriquet, "powderkeg of Europe."

In 1881 a four-power convention, consisting of representatives of Austria-Hungary, Serbia, Bulgaria, and Turkey, made final provisions for the completion of the new international rail line through Bulgaria.

Though two of the nations at the parley have passed into history, the Express still runs through their former territories.

In 1921 a traveler described it as "the main artery of travel to the East." In wartime 1942, it was noted the Express was "fast but stuffy, overcrowded."

Today, the Express's more romantic-minded passengers may think of the minarets of Istanbul, the old-time cafes of Budapest or Count Dracula in Transylvania, but few passengers go past Vienna. Though the Orient Express bursts through the Iron Curtain, its passengers cannot do so with equal ease due to the difficulty of obtaining the required visas.

The journey today is speedy and efficient, but only a handful of diplomats who avoid airplanes are likely to complete it. As a conductor told one traveler, "Now even spies can't get the necessary travel permits."

BANG-UP JOB — Doing a booming business in West Berlin, Hertha Bahr pauses for a smoke. As Germany's only woman dynamite expert, she placed the charges to blow up the 100-foot-high main portal of the Lehrter Railway Station, behind her. The portal was all that was left from a demolition job carried out by Allied bombers during World War II.

Open 1,053 Churches

NEW YORK (AP) — Every three days for the last eight and a half years, a new Methodist church has opened in this country, on the average. This is shown by a report of the national division of the Church's Board of Missions. It says 1,053 new churches have been organized in the period, an average of 124 a year.

Song Favored by Cliburn May Win Writer Prize

MOSCOW (AP) — The composer of the popular song, "Moscow Evenings," which the American pianist Van Cliburn helped make known abroad, is among leading candidates for a Lenin Prize this year, the awarding committee has disclosed.

It said the light music composer, V. P. Solovyev-Seboy was among the music prize finalists, along with Armenian composer Aram Khatyaturian for the new ballet "Spartak" and the violinist David Oistrakh.

Will Ask June GOP Primary

State Convention to Consider Change; Fight to Oust Lindemer Seen

DETROIT (AP) — Norman Stockmeyer, Wayne County Republican chairman, says the Republican state convention will be asked to change the gubernatorial primaries in Michigan from August to June.

The state convention will be held Saturday at the Ford Auditorium in Detroit.

Paul D. Bagwell, the defeated Republican candidate for Governor last year, will keynote the party's state convention.

Bagwell is backing Lawrence B. Lindemer for another two-year term as Republican state chairman. So far there is no announced candidate against the 37-year-old Stockbridge attorney.

However, a fight by conservatives to oust Lindemer as chairman appeared to be taking shape today.

It promised to enliven an otherwise tame GOP gathering Friday and Saturday at Detroit and test the prestige of Bagwell, titular party head.

The long smouldering move against Lindemer, Stockbridge attorney often classed as a "modern" Republican, was brought into the open yesterday by Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater).

The 33-year old manufacturer, entering his second term in the Senate, tentatively announced his candidacy for the top GOP organization post.

Smeekens said a firm decision would be made after soundings of delegate sentiment in Detroit Friday afternoon and evening.

I want to Live!
THE TRUE STORY OF BARBARA GRAHAM . . . WHOSE MURDER TRIAL SHOCKED THE WORLD!

An Important Message from the Manager . . .
I HAVE SEEN THIS POWERFUL FILM . . .
LET ME TELL YOU ABOUT IT!

Here is the true story of a beautiful B-Girl, branded a murderess — but this wasn't the only mark that life and her underworld "friends" had seared on her body. There were the marks of the petty crimes she committed — stains that all the police blotters in the country couldn't soak up.

And there were the scars you couldn't see. The scars that Barbara Graham, the party girl, carried in her heart . . . one for every man.

The Press screamed for her conviction. Then a Pulitzer-Prize winning reporter, Ed Montgomery — who had led the pack howling for a-guilty-of-murdr-verdict . . . uncovered startling evidence that shed doubt on her guilt . . . and her story became something more than it was — a story that will never die!

It took courage to bring Barbara Graham's real-life, real-shock story to the screen . . . her affairs . . . her mistakes . . . her trial . . . a thousand incidents defied the censor.

And to all this add the superb performance of SUSAN HAYWARD, who was awarded the Film Critics Award as the Best Actress for 1958! I can truthfully say it is one of the greatest pictures I have ever seen . . .

Sincerely yours,
ART SANFORD, MGR.

WE URGE YOU TO SEE IT FROM THE BEGINNING AT 1:00—3:10—5:15—7:25—9:40

Cuban Show Business Needs Gambling to Live

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Covering the far-flung show business scene:

Entertainment is trying to stage a comeback in Havana, and some progress is being made. But the once-thriving Cuban show business won't resume until gambling is reinstated in the big hotel-casinos.

Like Las Vegas, the Havana night spots can flourish only with the aid of the take from the green-topped tables. The Havana Hilton, still operating as a hotel, closed its supper-room show after 10 couples appeared for a performance.

The Tropicana, a fantastic place in a jungle setting, is again presenting a lavish show and doing big business. But few tourists were in evidence.

The lack of American visitors is beginning to hurt. The new Cuban government appears to be making an effort at fence-mending. Billboards in Miami proclaim: "Now Cuba is free. We welcome our American friends — Fidel Castro."

How does Miami compare to the show biz scene in Las Vegas? There is much similarity during the peak winter tourist season in Miami. (Oddly, the big season in Las Vegas is summer).

Escapees from the frozen north crowd into the night clubs of the luxury Miami Beach hotels to watch shows that are as good — in some cases, identical — as those in the Nevada town. Prices are higher in Miami since there is no gambling to absorb the cost.

Las Vegas jumps until dawn. Not Miami. It's an early-to-bed town, and most of the shows have trouble mustering a full house for the late performance. Showmen say the late shows are getting more and more sparse in clubs throughout the country. The nation seems to be losing its taste for midnight revelry.

Business appears to be good along Broadway — amazingly so in view of the lackluster legit season. When you see the crowds pouring into the theaters on 44th and 45th streets, you wonder how the stage could be so lusty here and failing elsewhere. This is one of the worst seasons within memory for touring shows.

Ike Asks Hike in Contributions

International Monetary Fund, World Bank Need More Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today urged Congress to approve immediately a $1,575,000,000 increase in this country's gold and dollar contribution to the International Monetary Fund, a 50 per cent increase.

In a special message, Eisenhower also asked a doubling of the United States subscription to the capital of the World Bank — from $3,175,000,000 to $6,350,000,000. This new quota, however, involves no cash outlay.

Other member nations are being asked to do the same.

"There is real urgency for prompt action," the President said.

The increases, unanimously recommended by the governing boards of the 68-nation financial institutions, are necessary to keep their resources abreast of expanding world trade and the rising demand for investment capital in underdeveloped lands, he said.

The big chunk of cash for the monetary fund would not unbalance Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget for fiscal 1960 if Congress provides it as requested before July 1.

The President reminded Congress that three-fourths of the goal will come from other countries. The other member nations are being called on for proportionate increases in their quotas, and three — Canada, Germany and Japan, would put up additional sums because of their relatively rapid recent economic growth.

Money Testers Give Their OK to New Coins

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — President Eisenhower's commission for testing money has given its okay to a virgin batch of coins.

The dimes, quarters and half dollars are hard to beat for weight and purity, the commission declared Wednesday at a sort of fashion show for the coins at the Philadelphia Mint. The money was turned out by the Philadelphia and Denver mints last year.

Two dozen distinguished citizens of nine states and the District of Columbia, making up the President's Assay Commission for 1959, looked over the coins at an annual February ceremony here.

The worst the commission could find was that such and such a dime was 73-100th of a grain light, or this half dollar was a shadow of a speck too hefty.

Of 280,963,912 silver coins produced by the Philadelphia and Denver mints last year, 28,171 were taken out at random throughout the year and placed in a deposit box.

The trial of the pyx, which is the true name of the day-long annual ritual, was a custom among the Greeks and Romans and among the Anglo-Saxons in the time of the crusades.

In October 1792 the first assay commission gathered in Philadelphia, then the nation's capital. That was the year the mint was established.

Eye Chicago, Philadelphia for Convention

GOP Choice Down to 2?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Choice of a site for the 1960 Republican national convention appeared today to have narrowed down to Chicago or Philadelphia.

That is the speculation of some national committee officials, who say a late July or early August convention is a good bet. Some other sources, while agreeing Chicago and Philadelphia now hold the lead, say the choice is still open. No decision is expected before April.

Meanwhile, Democratic committee officials predict the full committee at its meeting here Feb. 27 will resist Chicago and Philadelphia protests and uphold a site committee's selection of Los Angeles for the Democratic convention. The Democrats have fixed July 11 as their convention starting date.

Republicans who recently received convention city bids from half a dozen cities deferred a recommendation until they could visit some sites and get proposals in writing. The full committee will meet in April to act on a site recommendation.

San Francisco is believed by some party officials still to be a contender for the GOP conclave, but others argue a California selection would appear to show committee favoritism for a probable home state candidate for the presidential nomination, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The same thing would apply to Los Angeles. New York, also a bidder, by the same token would provide a home base for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is a potential opponent of Nixon for the nomination.

Miami Beach, the sixth bidder for the GOP meeting, is short of television cables and may be scratched for that reason.

Republicans met in San Francisco in 1956, in Chicago in 1952 and in Philadelphia in 1948.

Batter Breads Beaten but Never Kneaded

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

One of our Rochester readers wrote us concerning a recipe for white bread that does not have to be kneaded. We do not know the exact recipe she refers to, but we are sure she is talking about batter bread.

Batter bread has a higher proportion of liquid to flour and rises only once, either in the bowl or the baking pan. When doubled in bulk, batter looks moist and somewhat rough with small bubbles just under the surface. The top is not tightly stretched as in a dough but slightly rounded and soft.

Batter bread is often baked in a casserole and is sometimes known by that name. Using an electric mixer to prepare it makes it an easy bread to make. It is really delicious although it is a little coarser than bread which has been kneaded.

For a starter try this plain Casserole Bread:

Casserole Bread

1 cup milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1½ tablespoons shortening
1 cup warm water
2 packages dry yeast
4½ cups sifted flour

Scald milk and stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle dry yeast into water and stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Add flour and mix with the electric mixer or by hand until well blended. This takes about 2 minutes.

Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 40 minutes or until more than doubled in bulk. Stir batter down. Beat vigorously, about half a minute.

Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole; or an 8x8x2 pan; or two medium bread pans; or an 8-inch tube pan. Bake uncovered at 375 degrees for about one hour. Makes one large loaf or 2 small loaves. Bake small loaves about 40-45 minutes.

Lent is here and with it the season of Hot Cross Buns. This year you can make them the batter way if you like. We have for you a wonderful new and easy recipe that you won't find anywhere else.

You'll probably want to serve these buns the year around. If you want to leave out the cinnamon when they're not to be Hot Cross Buns, that is all right. Even first-time bakers will be successful with this recipe.

Batterway Hot Cross Buns

1¼ cups warm water (110-115 degrees)
2 packages active dry yeast
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Shredded rind of 1 lemon
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup soft shortening
2 eggs
½ cup currants OR seedless raisins

Pour the warm water into a large mixing bowl, and add the yeast. Let stand a few minutes, then stir to dissolve.

Add half the flour, the sugar, the cinnamon, lemon rind, salt, soft shortening and egg. Start the mixer on medium speed (or beat by hand) and beat until smooth . . . 1½ to 2 minutes.

Stop mixer. Add the rest of the flour with the currants and stir in by hand until the flour disappears. It will take about 1 to 1½ minutes.

Scrape down batter from sides of bowl. Cover bowl with waxed paper and let rise in warm place until doubled . . . about 30 minutes. Meanwhile grease muffin cups (18 large, 24 medium, OR 40 small).

Stir down batter in 20 to 25 strokes and spoon into the muffin cups, filling half full. Let rise in warm place until batter reaches tops of muffin cups . . . 20 to 30 minutes. Preheat oven to 400 degrees (moderately hot).

Just before baking, brush tops of buns with milk or cream and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake 10 to 15 minutes or until well browned on sides and tops. Remove from pans and cool on racks. Make cross with thick icing: 1 cup confectioners' sugar, a pinch of salt, 1 to 2 tablespoons hot milk or water.

Broil Grapefruit Halves for Good Light Dessert

When weather is chilly and time is short, broiled grapefruit is an easy dessert. Choose one heavy for its size suggests the Marketing Information Agent. This is a sign of thin skin and lots of juice.

Cut the grapefruit in half, remove the center and loosen the sections. Sprinkle with brown or white sugar, spiced with a dash of cinnamon, mace, nutmeg or all three. Dot with a tablespoon of butter and place the fruit about four inches from the broiler flame. Broil for ten minutes or until the top of the fruit is golden brown.

Apple, Cranberry Sauces Blend in Molded Salad

One day some enterprising maker of kitchen convenience items is going to bring out a clip-and-save file organized so that the contents can be placed under such main categories as Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter. Subdivisions will enable the file owner to find quickly her favorite saved recipes for soups, main dishes, salads and desserts which are particularly seasonal.

When all this happens we expect the Fall and Winter compartments will soon contain a galaxy of cranberry recipes. True, we can buy canned cranberries the year around; but when the nippy days come and the time for frequent entertaining is with us again . . . how cranberries do shine!

But whether you file your recipes tidily or in a shoe box (going through it occasionally to see what you don't want to try again), here's one cranberry dish we believe you will make once and promptly place the recipe within easy reach.

It is, first, delicious; second, quick and easy; third, a very decorative item for any table. Apple sauce does something nice for the texture of this salad, and cinnamon adds a flavor surprise. And so we call it—

Spiced apple surprise salad:

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 15-ounce jar (1½ cups) apple sauce
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 (1-lb.) can whole-cranberry sauce
½ cup chopped celery

Mix gelatine with sugar and salt. Heat ½ cup apple sauce to a rolling boil. Add to gelatine mixture and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add remaining apple sauce, mayonnaise, lemon juice, lemon rind and cinnamon. Blend with rotary beater. Pour into a refrigerator tray.

Quick chill in freezing unit (without changing control) 10 to 15 minutes, or until firm about 1 inch from edge but soft in center. Beat until fluffy. Fold in cranberry sauce and celery.

Pour into a 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on chicory and top with thin wedges of peeled apple. Yield: 6 servings.

Apple Cake Has Blue Cheese Top

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cheese and apple cake go together like cheese and apple pie.

Sift 2 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Add ¼ cup milk, 2 beaten eggs, and ¼ cup melted butter and mix until just blended. Spread over bottom of greased 11-by-7-by-2-inch baking pan.

Top with 4 medium apples that have been pared, cored, sliced and mixed with 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ cup flour. Cover with ¼ cup (about 1¼ ounces) crumbled blue cheese. Bake in 375-degree oven 45 minutes or until cake tests done. Serve warm or cold with cream.

Bake 'Em Together

Dutch potatoes are a good winter dish, suggest Michigan State University extension home economists. Core several pared medium potatoes and draw a wiener through each. Place in baking pan with a pat of butter and salt on each potato. Add 2 cups of milk in bottom of pan. Bake in medium oven (350 degrees) for one-half hour, turn the potatoes, and bake for another half hour.

Bake Cornbread in Ring Mold Fill Up Center

Interesting accompaniment to creamed fish.

Cornbread Ring

1 cup sifted flour
1 cup enriched yellow cornmeal
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup soft shortening

Sift together the flour, cornmeal, salt and baking powder. Add minced onion, egg, milk and shortening. Beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) just until smooth — about 1 minute; do not overbeat.

Pour into well-greased 1½-quart ring-shaped baking pan. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 20 to 25 minutes. Loosen sides of cornbread ring with spatula; turn out. Serve at once.

Center may be filled with creamed finnan haddie, topped with hardcooked egg and garnished with parsley sprigs.

Citrus Fruits Please Eye, Taste

Attractive winter salads are mainly a matter of arranging the fruit so that it has lots of eye appeal and the guests look forward to helping themselves. Here, big cartwheel slices of California navel oranges are used to set off a salad of sliced apples and grapes. The same arrangement could be followed for individual plates, too. Good to serve with this citrus salad:

Lemon French Dressing

½ cup fresh lemon juice
⅓ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed

Combine all ingredients and shake well before serving. Makes approximately 1 cup dressing.

Citrus fruits are always a "best buy" for health and the budget. There is a plentiful supply in the markets now so try these lemon and orange-tanged drinks . . . for the road to recovery if you have a cold . . . or for just plain pleasure if you don't.

Hot Honey Lemonade

3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
3 tablespoons honey
1 cup boiling water

Combine ingredients and mix thoroughly. Stir with cinnamon stick if desired. Makes 1 serving. Maple syrup may be substituted for the honey for a change.

Buttered Lemonade

½ cup fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
3 cups boiling water

Combine lemon juice, peel, sugar and butter in a saucepan. Add boiling water. Stir well until butter is melted. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Spiced Nightcap

1 cup cold water
10 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon, broken
½ cup honey
3 cups boiling water
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
4 to 5 lemon twists

Combine cold water, cloves and cinnamon. Boil for 10 minutes. Add honey and bring to a boil. Pour in boiling water and lemon juice. Cut lemon pieces ¼x1-inch long. Twist them and place one in the bottom of each cup. Add the hot liquid and serve at once. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Hot Spiced Citrus Tea

5 cups freshly boiling water
5 tea bags or 5 teaspoons tea
10 whole cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ cup sugar
½ cup fresh lemon juice
½ cup fresh orange juice
3 orange cartwheel slices

Pour boiling water over tea. Add cloves and cinnamon. Allow to steep for 5 minutes. Strain tea and add sugar and citrus juices. Heat just below boiling point. Serve hot with half a cartwheel slice in each cup. Makes 6 servings.

WINTER ORANGE SALAD — Orange pinwheels make an attractive salad plate when arranged around a center of thin apple slices and small bunches of grapes. You will not only please your family's taste but also contribute to their health with this vitamin-packed salad. For dressing try a lemon French dressing.

Onion Pie Will Win Applause

An onion pie — made somewhat like a Quiche Lorraine — is one of those marvelous dishes that permeates the air with such a delightful aroma while it's cooking that it makes everyone ravenously hungry.

No one will be disappointed at eating time, either, because the rich cheese and custard mixture sparked with Tabasco is delicious. The thinly sliced onion adds texture as well as flavor. Grated Swiss and Gruyere cheese are used and since both are bland, Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning, is essential.

Onion pie is versatile enough to fit many occasions. Small wedges served at a cocktail party become the talk of the town and yet the pie is just right for a family luncheon or supper dish, served simply with a green salad.

Tabasco Onion Pie

3 eggs
½ cup milk
½ cup light cream
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ pound Swiss cheese, grated
¼ pound Gruyere cheese, grated
1 tablespoon flour
1 9-inch baked pastry shell
1 large onion, thinly sliced and cut into quarters

Beat together eggs, milk, cream, salt, Tabasco and nutmeg. Combine grated cheese and flour; sprinkle evenly in pastry shell. Pour in cream mixture. Top with onion slices.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes; reduce heat to slow (325 degrees) and bake 30 minutes longer, or until point of knife inserted in center comes out clean. Yield: 6 servings.

Don't Crack Plaster

Apply a small cross patch of cellophane tape over the spot on your plastered wall in which you want to drive a nail to hold a picture. Then hammer the nail in and you will not have cracked plaster to dismay you.

Honey Long Prized as Natural Sweet

Are you one of those who may know honey as just another means of satisfying an occasional sweet tooth?

Honey is a natural food that has a long history to substantiate its goodness. Even in prehistoric times pictures show that man sought honey. In the earliest times of recorded history Loney was used in Egypt, the Biblical lands, India, China, Classical Greece and Rome, Continental Europe, and Britain.

Honey was used as a food and an ingredient in a beverage. Sometimes it was offered on the sacrificial altar. It was so much prized that it was accepted by some in payment of taxes.

Honey was a part of the social customs, as, for example, in Egypt where a husband had to promise his new bride that he would keep her supplied with honey. Sometimes honey stood for goodness, as in the observance of the Jewish New Year when an apple would be dipped into honey to signify prosperity and peace.

Just as in the ancient world honey was highly regarded and versatile, so today honey is known to be pure, valuable in food content, and adaptable to many uses.

Bacteria which harm human beings are unable to grow in honey. Honey is composed largely of sugars that are readily absorbed by the body and do not tax the digestive system. For these reasons honey is an excellent food for infants and for those who are ill or who need quick energy in work and play.

Honey as a sweetener is delicious with fresh fruits and fruit drinks, on breakfast cereals, and as topping for ice cream. In cooking and baking and canning and preserving honey is also useful.

Honey lends its tasty goodness to canned fruits, to jellies and to marmalades. To convince yourself of this all-around goodness of honey as a food, try the following kitchen-tested recipe.

Honeyed Apples and Cranberries

6 medium-sized apples
½ lb. (1¾ cups) cranberries
1¾ cups water
½ cup honey
1½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cinnamon sticks

Pare and core apples and place in flat-bottomed pan. Add cranberries and water and simmer 5 minutes, turning apples once during cooking period. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until apples are tender. (Turn apples carefully during cooking so they are evenly red.)

Remove apples to dish in which they are to be served, skim the cranberry sauce, and pour around apples. Cool. Cover tightly and place in refrigerator until ready to use. Approximate yield: 8-10 portions.

Mistake Made on Date Cake

Because of the interest shown in Mrs. Forrest Thompson's recipe for Date Cake, we are reprinting it today. There was an error, we are sorry to say, in Monday's recipe.

We'll just keep our fingers crossed that this copy will get from our typewriter, through the typesetter and the proofroom to the page in the paper with no mistakes. Honestly, we don't make them just to confuse you!

DATE CAKE
By Mrs. Forrest Thompson

⅔ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1½ cup boiling water
1⅓ cups sifted flour
Dash of salt
1⅓ cups oatmeal

Cream shortening and sugar. Dissolve soda in boiling water. Sift flour and salt and add alternately with water. Stir in oatmeal.

Put half of this mixture on the bottom of a greased 8x8x2 pan. Cover with date filling and spoon rest of cake mixture over the top. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Filling

1 package (10 oz.) dates
½ cup sugar
½ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon butter

Mix together and cook to a paste.

Sauerkraut Loses Top Popularity

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Sauerkraut — often hailed as the Germans' most popular dish—trailed far behind in a recent poll of favorite foods.

Economic report, a publication of West Germany's Federation of Industries, said 16 per cent of those polled preferred a variety of sausages, frankfurters and hamburgers.

Soups followed with 13 per cent, fresh vegetables, rice and spaghetti with 8 per cent and potatoes with 7 per cent.

Sauerkraut brought up the rear with only 3 per cent.

Pork, Poultry and Fish Are in Food Limelight

Almost everyone will agree that the weather is worse, but the food situation is better this winter than last. This week pork, poultry and fish are meats in the limelight. Other meats are at about the same prices they have been. Citrus and apples dominate the fruit counters. Some fresh vegetables are increasing in supply, while others are showing effects of rain and cold weather in the south.

MEAT IN THE MARKETS—The emphasis you find on pork loin cuts is related to a slight drop in wholesale prices of loins. Center cut chops may fit into your plan when you want a quick meal. If it's a long-cooking oven meal, a pork loin roast may be your choice.

Three medium size pork chops weigh about a pound. You can count on about 2½ servings from each pound of loin roast.

Perhaps your family will choose a fryer this week. Supplies are about 15 per cent larger than a year ago at this time. Ample quantities and a slight wholesale price decrease partly explain the attractive retail prices you may find.

Have time, a sharp knife or kitchen saw and want to save on your food allowance? Then save several cents a pound by cutting the fryer into cooking pieces in your kitchen.

Notice that fryers come in different sizes. Those weighing under 2½ pounds are easy to broil in the oven or barbecue on a rotisserie.

Gryers weighing over 2½ pounds usually cost more per pound than the small ones because of quality and the fact that they have more meat in proportion to bone. The larger fryers are perfect for frying on top of the range in an uncovered pan in the oven or in an electrical fry pan.

Choosing fish? There are many varieties in fresh, frozen and canned form. When comparing price, remember that fresh or frozen fish fillets serve three people from each pound. Fresh dressed fish will serve only two. If you select whole fish, buy a pound per person. Three ounces of canned fish is considered an average size serving. Smelt, cod, haddock, halibut, ocean perch, tuna and some salmon fit the low to moderate cost bracket.

Considering present wholesale prices for beef, it is easy to understand why ground beef is around 60 cents a pound. Farmers have fed cattle to heavy weights of tender top quality grade, while supplies of lower grade beef which retailers would normally use for hamburger are small.

If you are looking for real economy, barbecued lamb breast might meet your need. Lamb shoulder at 50 to 60 cents is 19 to 24 cents a serving.

OTHER THAN MEAT—Citrus is in plentiful supply and quality is good. The price you pay depends upon the size and the variety you choose. The larger sizes bring the higher prices.

Small size Jonathan apples are a good choice for snacks, salads or pies. They are firm and juicy, and the small sizes are very reasonable in price.

Cold weather at shipping points and light supplies are related to smaller quantities and poorer quality of some fresh vegetables in the markets. Vegetables not affected include: tomatoes, escarole, endive, radishes, celery, broccoli and cabbage.

Two large-size eggs in place of a serving of meat will cost less yet will give the same amount of protein. And if eggs are of the same grade and size, why not choose the carton marked "mixed" for a few cents less per dozen than "all white"? The color of the shell is determined by the breed of chicken, nothing else. Inside the shell, the eggs are the same.

Please Children With Popcorn Heart

POPCORN HEART — A big red heart made of popcorn provides an edible centerpiece for a Valentine's Day party. When refreshment time arrives, simply slice the Valentine and serve with hot chocolate or a cola drink.

An ideal children's party snack should be pretty and good-to-eat, but should not spoil the youngsters' appetites for dinner. Here's a popcorn heart for Valentine's Day that fills these requirements and is easy to make besides. You may put it together well in advance of party day and it will remain fresh and delicious. Serve with a cola drink or hot chocolate.

Youngsters will have a wonderful time helping to make the popcorn heart. To add a final touch, they can write "Happy Valentine's Day" across the top with white frosting.

Popcorn Heart

3 quarts popped corn
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup water
2 cups granulated sugar
½ cup butter
1½ teaspoons red food coloring (or as desired)

Put popped corn into large buttered bowl. Combine sugar, corn syrup, water and butter in saucepan and stir over moderate heat until sugar is dissolved. Cook to 260 degrees F. (soft crack stage). Add red food coloring to cooked syrup.

Pour red syrup over popped corn mixing with buttered spoon to coat each kernel thoroughly. Press mixture evenly in buttered heart-shaped mold (eight inches wide). Cool and unmold onto waxed paper.

When slicing, dip knife frequently into very hot water.

Walnuts Have Unusual Uses

It's easy as well as pleasant to keep the holiday season alive all through the winter, even after the Christmas tree is down, the decorations packed away, and the youngsters are back in school. One of the pleasant holdovers is walnuts, which can be used and served in so many delicious ways.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says the big crop of walnuts harvested last fall offers assurance that we can use chopped walnuts in cakes, cookies and nut bread, walnut halves on cupcakes, and keep whole nuts in the nut bowl for a long time to come.

Among the many uses for walnuts suggested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, there are three that are unusual enough to attract your attention: One is to toast 'em; another, use 'em for hors d'oeuvres; the third, hexing witches.

If the natural flavor of walnuts can be improved, toasting is the one way to do it. Boil the nut meats for three minutes, spread on a cookie sheet, dot with butter, bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with salt and serve hot.

For an hors d'oeuvre that's different, use cream cheese to hold two walnut halves together.

To hex a witch, according to an old superstition, place a walnut under her chair when she's sitting in it, and she won't be able to get up.

Useful things, walnuts.

There Is a Difference

Garlic powder and garlic salt are two different products; watch out, when you are following a recipe, to use the specific ingredient called for. The same warning applies to onion powder and onion salt.

Stuff Celery Stalks With Ham Relish

This appetizer is equally popular with men and women.

Stuffed Celery Sophia

1 cup finely ground cooked ham
½ cup old-fashioned cooked dressing
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
Cleaned dry celery stalks
Paprika

Mix together well the ham, dressing and pickle relish. Fill celery stalks with mixture; if desired cut in wedges. Sprinkle with paprika.

Local Child Study Clubs Meet

Mrs. Dana (Elinor K.) Rose, columnist, was guest speaker at the annual luncheon of the combined Child Study Club groups in the Pontiac area, held Wednesday afternoon at the Rotunda Inn.

"Relax, Chum" was Mrs. Rose's topic. This topic was taken from the title of a book she has written on human thoughts and actions from birth to maturity.

"I'd like to know why other mamas have children who hang up pajamas," was one of her witty comments on children. She also told stories about a child entering kindergarten for the first time and a father whose daughter had a pajama party.

Mrs. Neil Nelson of the Child Culture Club was chairman of the affair; Mrs. Jorma Sarto of Child Culture Club gave the invocation.

In charge of the program and introducing the speaker was Mrs. William Shunck of Waterford Child Study Club Group I. Mrs. William Baer and Mrs. Norman Dunn of Waterford Club Group II were in charge of decorations with Mrs. Arthur Tyrell of Junior Child Study Club in charge of hospitality.

Child Study Club Group III was in charge of reservations, with Mrs. Ralph Humphries chairman. Publicity was under the direction of Mrs. Paul Gorman of the same club.

Mrs. Norman Dunn, left to right, vice president of Waterford Club Group II helped with the decorations which carried out a Valentine motif. At the luncheon, she chats with guests, Mrs. Walter Godsell and Mrs. William Belaney.

Mrs. Jorma Sarto, left, of Child Culture Club gave the invocation. Mrs. Richard DeWitt was in charge of tickets for the Junior Child Study Club.

Both seem to be enjoying the witty comments of guest speaker Mrs. Dana Rose.

Dr. Dreyfus Addresses Secretaries

Dr. Lee S. Dreyfus, assistant director of radio and television and assistant professor of speech at Wayne University, spoke at the dinner meeting of the Pontioak Chapter of the National Secretaries Association in the Hotel Waldron Wednesday evening. His topic was "TV, Kids and Comics."

He stated that parents do not supervise the reading of their children closely enough and that 98 per cent of children read comic books "which usually aren't comical."

Some comic books are ideal because they serve as an introduction to the classics, he observes, "but it is up to the parents to keep a child's reading level on a high caliber."

Consider Your Weight When Shoe Shopping

The shoe style which is most becoming to you is directly connected with your weight. This may sound strange but it's true.

If you are plump, avoid the backless and toeless pump or sandal. Jamming your feet into these shoes will not make either you or your feet look smaller. It will only serve to emphasize your weight and make you look top-heavy.

Best bet for the plump gal is the neat pump with a heel that's neither too high nor too slender.

Keep Up Exercises

Marathoners Now Look, Feel Better

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For some of the women who joined my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon this is about the seventh week. Others started their routines later. However, the large majority of entrants have been following directions for a few weeks now.

If you are one of these by now you are experiencing a wonderful change in your appearance as well as in the way you feel. People probably are saying things like "You look wonderful! You have lost weight," or "What have you been doing? You look years younger than the last time I saw you!"

Happy days! That is a wonderful boost, but even better is the feeling you have of being more attractive! I already have advised you in general terms how to remain at your ideal weight once you reach it.

To be more specific, when you have lost the correct number of pounds, add 300 calories to your daily intake. Stay on this diet for a week and watch the scales. If you continue to lose, add 200 more calories daily. Try this for a week.

Continue adding calories until you remain the same weight. The daily requirement for remaining at the same weight depends on many factors such as individual metabolism, physical activity and so forth. You can determine how many you need with a little experimentation.

Many women have written to say that they have lost inches from measurements and to ask if they must continue their exercises after Marathon is over. If you really wish to take a lovely figure down the years with you, yes!

Also the health benefits of regular, daily exercise cannot be overestimated. You already know how much more energy you have and how many annoying little physical discomforts have disappeared since you have been exercising. Why not continue this beautifying and healthful habit?

You can still join my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon if you would like to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks time. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Wants Easy, Inexpensive, Effective Hair Remover."

Must you continue exercise after Marathon is over? If you really wish to take a lovely figure down the years with you, yes!

Weight Is Grave Problem—Abby

Little Girl Fears for Life of Daddy She Dearly Loves

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My Daddy is so fat it isn't even funny. He is 5 feet 5 and when he stands on our scale the needle goes to 250 pounds and stays there because that's as high as the numbers go. I think if there were more numbers it would go higher yet. Mom is scared to death that she is going to be left a widow with four children.

ABBY

"We love our Daddy very much and want him to live a long time. Can you help us, please?" LOVES DADDY

DEAR LOVES: Your mother should make an appointment for your Daddy to see the doctor, who will examine him and put him on a diet. If your Daddy loves you (and I'm sure he does) he will keep that appointment. Clip this and stick it in your Daddy's valentine as a reminder. Good luck!

"DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is a very lovely person but she doesn't understand little children. When I come to visit with her with my son, who is only four years old, she gives him very strict orders that he is not to touch this or that. If he happens to touch something he isn't supposed to, she puts him in a cage.

"The cage is clean, but it is still a cage. She came by it when a wild hyena was shipped to her from Asia (she has written books on the Tasmanian Wolf and Mammals of Africa, India and Asia.) My son cries every time I tell him we are going to visit Gramma. Should I continue to take him there, or leave him with friends when I go?" DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR DAUGHTER: A child does not belong in a cage! If you can't discipline him well enough to keep him out of the cage, I suggest you leave him with friends, or ask Gramma to come to your house.

"DEAR ABBY: This has been on my mind for a year and I am going to get it off. I had a group of relatives over to my house and we all sat around looking at some old family snapshots I had placed in an album. Shortly after they left I noticed that some of the pictures were missing. The pictures were of me and my cousins when we were little kids, also of my aunt and uncle.

"These pictures were priceless and everyone screamed and hollered when they saw them. I think a cousin of mine took them because the aunt and uncle (now deceased) are her parents. Should I come out and accuse her or should I snoop around her place sometime to make sure she has them before I mention it? Please help me solve this as I don't want to cause trouble." SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Do not snoop around looking for the pictures. Tell the cousin you suspect (privately) that the temptation was understandable. Also that a reproduction can be made from any photo, and if she has your pictures to please duplicate them and return the originals.

"DEAR ABBY: I am going with a fellow and I think I am in love with him. He says he is in love with me but he is asking me to prove my love by letting him read my diary. I have nothing to hide although it is very personal in spots, but I wonder if I should show it to him? I would like your advice." BLANCHE

DEAR BLANCHE: Only you can decide whether you want to share with him your innermost secrets. In my opinion, a man who insists on reading a girl's diary needs to grow up a little.

Trains Practical Nurses

Pontiac Press Photos

The ever-fascinating study of anatomy and physiology is one of the most enjoyable classes for students at the McAuley School of Practical Nursing.

By MARGARET BROWN

"A person trained in a program that gives nursing care under the supervision of a registered nurse or a licensed physician." This is the definition of the title "practical nurse," according to Mrs. Ralph Sherrod, director of the McAuley School of Practical Nursing, a department of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here.

And the staff at McAuley, representing a number of the nation's top-ranking colleges and universities, is unquestionably well qualified to supervise such a training program.

Director Mrs. Sherrod earned a B. A. Degree from State Teacher's College, Montclair, N. J., and later chose to enter the field of nursing, receiving a B. S. Degree from Wayne State University. She has done graduate work at Yale and Columbia Universities.

FACULTY MEMBERS

The faculty includes Teresa Molinari, a Stanford University graduate with a master's degree in nursing from Yale University; Mrs. Ronald Poland, University of Michigan School of Nursing graduate; and Nettie Jane Penwell, a graduate of Methodist Hospital, Indiana, and the University of Seattle.

Established in 1953 under the direction of the Religious Sisters of Mercy, the school admits 40 students twice a year, in March and September, to undergo training in the one-year program.

Approximately two-thirds of the students reside in dormitories, while married women live at home during training. The girls undergo clinical experience at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

During their first week of nursing arts instruction, the students immediately are conditioned ". . . to begin thinking about the patient," relates the director, who also offers the girls helpful study techniques at this orientation period. Miss Penwell begins teaching the students basic nursing information, such as ethics and anatomy and physiology.

START AT 7:30 A.M.

At present half of the trainees are learning medical and surgical nursing, while the remainder of the class is working in the obstetric and pediatric ward, as part of the clinical period which begins four months after enrollment. The girls must be on the floor at 7:30 a.m. and attend classes from 2-4 p.m. each afternoon following duty.

Practical nursing has gained much status in recent years, says Mrs. Sherrod, and the number of applications at McAuley is constantly on the rise. Students for the class which will enroll this March already have been selected, she adds.

The school is one of 14 practical nurse training centers in Michigan. Age limit for entering any such program is 18 through 50. Only two classes at McAuley School have graduated older women thus far, and the hospital director reports that generally they ". . . study hard and worry more."

Students under 25 applying must have a high school education, while exceptions are made for older applicants who otherwise qualify. In addition, admissions are made on the basis of a personal interview, aptitudes, and health status.

Upon graduation and passing of state board examinations, a practical nurse's chief duty is bedside care. She may, however, do private duty practice under the supervision of a physician, work in a doctor's office, a plant, or with a visiting nurse's association.

CAN BECOME TECHNICIAN

If a practical nurse desires to go a little deeper into any particular facet of nursing—surgery, for example—she may study further in an "in-service" training program and become a technician.

Mrs. Raymond I. Fraley is coordinator at the McAuley School of Practical Nursing. A parttime staff is comprised of the Rev. Edwin Schroeder, who teaches ethics, and Mrs. Robert Stireman, hospital dietitian, who instructs in nutrition.

Testing for next September's class is scheduled to begin in mid-February. Any interested persons may call the school for further information.

Studying doesn't stop when classes are dismissed at the school. Nights in the dorm are spent reviewing assignments or doing supplementary reading, so vital to understand clearly and keep pace with fast-moving advances in modern medicine. Busy with text books are Yvonne Koprince, left, and Constance Romanelli.

Let Husband Do Inviting of Friends

Young Girl Is Addressed as Miss Jane Doe

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband was transferred here to this city two months before my young daughter and I could join him. During this time he became friends with several of his fellow employes and has been invited to their houses to parties and to dinners. Now that I have joined him he thinks I should reciprocate by inviting these people to our house.

"But I think since I am the newcomer I should wait until they call on me (or at least meet them) before extending any invitations. I am eager to be hospitable but I also want to be correct. Will you please help me?"

Answer: Since your husband has definitely become friends with these people, he can perfectly well invite them to your house and in this way introduce them to you. I suggest that in this special case he (not you) write invitations to those he knows best, and say: "My wife has arrived! Will you and Mrs. —— dine with us this Saturday (at whatever time). I do want her to have the pleasure of meeting you."

"Dear Mrs. Post: My eight-year-old daughter received a birthday card yesterday from a friend of mine addressed to Mistress Jane Doe. I have never seen this form of address before and wondered if it was correct. I always thought a girl was addressed Miss from the time she was born until the day she married."

Answer: You are right and the use of Mistress in this case is wrong.

Indian Discovery

That favorite beauty aid, witch hazel, which has been produced commercially for 93 years, was actually in use in this country before the Pilgrims landed. The Indians discovered witch hazel as a remedy for skin ailments

Castor Oil Even Aids Eyelashes

The girl with scanty eyelashes need not endure them if she will give them some care. Each night, give them a light brushing with castor oil just before bedtime. A few weeks of this will start showing results. The same method can be used to stimulate the growth of eyebrows.

The reason lies in a combination of the castor oil with brushing. Castor oil has long been known to stimulate hair growth. The brushing helps it along. This is a far more satisfactory method of having long lashes than wearing false ones.

The length of time that it will take before your lashes improve depends on the state they were in when you started. It also depends on how faithful you are with your brushing routine.

Lemons, Peroxide Remove Nicotine

Smoking leaves a detracting mark of nicotine-stained fingers. Women who have badly stained fingers may need to cut down on their smoking.

But no matter how much or how little you smoke, soak hands in lemon juice or peroxide to keep them white.

Phyllis J. Young Becomes Bride of William O. Puddy

Phyllis Jean Young and William O. Puddy Jr. were married Saturday evening at Emmanuel Baptist Church. Dr. Thomas Malone officiated at the ceremony before 250 guests.

Mrs. Fred Young was matron of honor. She wore an orchid colored dress with pink and white carnations.

Best man was Richard Hollis of Auburn Heights. Ushers were Frank Puddy of Waterford; Fred Young, the bride's brother; James Gibson and Robert Hollis, Kenneth Brown, the bride's cousin, was organist and the bridegroom's brother, George Puddy was soloist.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall. For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a blue suit. The couple will live on Hardisty street.

Mrs. Young wore a two-piece blue dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Puddy was dressed in a navy dress with a navy hat.

Parents' Faults Show Up When Child Is in Hospital

DETROIT (AP)—It's not always the misbehaving hospitalized child who causes doctors and nurses grief. It's often his parents.

That's the belief of Dr. Arnold Melnick, president of the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Assn.

Dr. Melnick said yesterday parents frequently cause the major difficulties for doctors and nurses when their children are in the hospital. He spoke to a joint meeting of the American College of Osteopathic Pediatricians and the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

"Some sneak candy to babies whose appetites are none too good anyway," said Dr. Melnick, chief of pediatrics at the Delaware Valley Hospital, Philadelphia

"But the greatest fault of parents is untruthfulness," he said. "Above all, there must be truthfulness in dealing with child patients.

"Many parents feel that when their child is ill they are being punished for some neglect. Such persons are likely to indulge in bedside weeping that is bad for the patient.

"There are parents who use the family doctor to threaten disobedient children."

"Untoward psychic effects from hospital stays usually are temporary," Dr. Melnick said. "These include fears, sleep problems and loss of ability to do things for themselves.

"On the other hand, many children leave hospitals more mature than when they entered. This results from the advantages of being under the wise care of nurses and doctors."

Let Mixing Spoon Rest on Sponge

Where to place a stirring spoon without messing up the stove or counter is always a problem.

An extra lid or dish helps. An easier device is to use a clean sponge on which to rest a spoon. Then just squeeze the sponge through suds after using.

What Young People Think

Life Can Be Miserable for Peeved Teeners

By EUGENE GILBERT

Man has an infinite capacity for bothering his fellow man.

It's the steady progression of small annoyances that frequently makes humanity seem so inhumane.

Leaving the cap off the toothpaste, playing the hi-fi set too loud, putting too much starch in the collars and cuffs, finding lipstick marks on a drinking glass, failing to put the garbage out at the appointed hour—these are the petty peeves that bring torture into everday life and provide grist for the divorce mills.

Young people, who often seem to take life as they find it, are not immune to these little molehills of irritation which in time become mountains of smouldering suffering.

In a nationwide survey we learned that teenagers have an endless list of private gripes and petty peeves that they would like to see blotted out.

MOST HAVE PET PEEVES

Like the Lord High Executioner's list in Gilbert & Sullivan's "Mikado," here are a few of the inconsiderate citizens who never would be missed by America's teenagers.

The indefatigable gum chewers.
Teachers who give surprise tests.
Comrades who dress or talk too loudly.
People who don't turn off faucets.
Name droppers.
Place droppers.
Attention beggers.
Cigar smokers.
Nail chewers.
Those who are constantly going on new, sensational diets.

"And don't forget the guys who are always slugging you on the shoulder," pleads Carl Pullen, 15, of Sac City, Iowa.

"Or the weekend guests who always leave the lights burning when they leave a room," adds Nancy Mitchell, 18, of Washington, D. C.

Housewives who never get around to cleaning their houses seem to bug 15-year-old Steven Leffert of Los Angeles.

'OLD RELIABLE'

Most teenagers — 70 per cent — have been nursing the same pet peeve for a goodly portion of their young lives without learning to live with it or to conquer it.

Only 20 per cent are constantly acquiring new peeves, either to add to their collection or to replace old ones.

The remaining 10 per cent either didn't know or were too peeved to answer.

Judy Mendell, a long suffering 17-year-old high school senior from Augusta, Maine, said very few things in life really irritate her, but the few seem to remain constant and even grow more annoying with the passage of time.

Similarly, Helen Fiona of Raleigh, N. C., reports that her pet peeves are few in number, seldom vary, have been there for years and are "incredibly hard to get rid of."

On the other hand, Gregg Wilson, 17, of Jackson, Mich., finds that variety can be both the bane as well as the spice of life, at least where minor irritations are concerned.

"I often get new ones," said Gregg of his pet peeves. "As I mature, certain thing no longer bother me, but new ones arise."

Slightly more than half (56 per cent) of the youngsters interviewed said they tried to keep their peeves under control by avoiding the sore spot or the person who causes the annoyance, but a complacent 33 per cent said they just sat back and accepted their peeves as part of the nuisance factor in life.

"Why fight the inevitable?" asked 17-year-old Kevin Coughlin of Jamaica Plain, Mass.

"I accept them," explained 16-year-old Scott Bradford of Exeter, N. H., "because I know I can never change them."

WHAT'S REACTION?

But how do they act when face to face with the old object of torture, the lingering sore of so many years?

Nearly half, 40 per cent, frankly admitted that they blew their stacks. Slightly more, 43 per cent, managed to keep control.

About 10 per cent kept calm most of the time but admitted an occasional blow-up in the face of an old pet peeve.

Some, under duress, gritted their teeth, muttered under their breath, became sullen or speechless. Others, of a more volatile nature, confessed to more dynamic behavior.

"I occasionally start screaming," confided 17-year-old Sharyn Borgeson of Duluth, Minn.

"I may start throwing things," admitted Nancy Jordan of New Rochelle.

Most, however, said they were forced to do what the rest of the human race does when confronted with a pet peeve: suffer in silence, doing the slow burn with tight-lipped determination to cover up the turmoil raging within.

Some Subtle Ways to Please the Men

By RUTH MILLETT

You'll make a hit with a man if—

You are more interested in getting him to talk than in getting him to listen.

You not only ask his advice occasionally but take it when he gives it and report back if all turns out well. "I'm so glad I listened to you—" is music to any man's ears.

You toss a bouquet instead of a brickbat when another woman is being praised.

You keep your voice low and pleasant and easy to listen to.

You never offer him any unasked-for advice or insist on supervising him when he does a job for you.

You don't ask stupid questions. If you know something of what he is talking about and really want to know more you can ask intelligent questions. If you know nothing about it and don't really care one way or the other your questions are sure to sound stupid and to be irritating.

You pay him subtle compliments. Too obvious compliments, coming from a woman, may embarrass a man—but any man will glow if he receives a subtle compliment. He'll remember it, too.

You look attractive enough to be a credit to him. Never believe your looks don't matter to a man.

You register when he talks. Women who listen with half their minds do nothing for a man's ego.

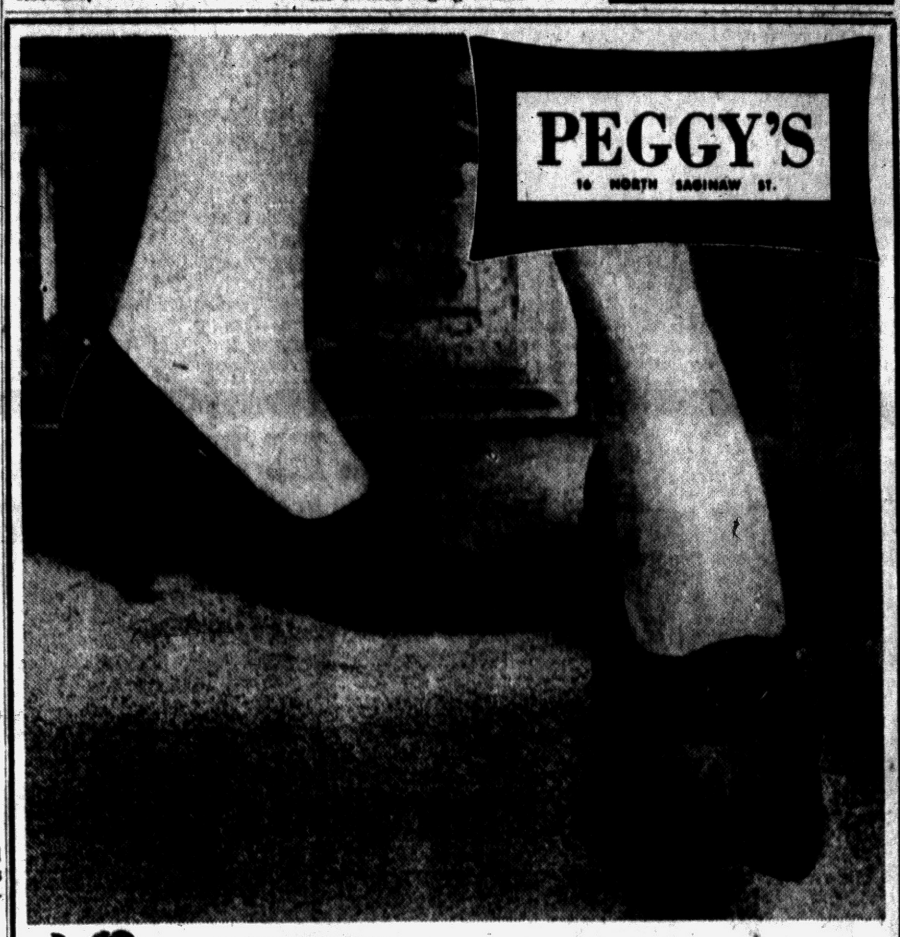

You are perfectly at ease and sure of yourself. A woman who is ill-at-ease makes a man uncomfortable.

You dress to please him instead of dressing to impress your friends. You'll look better, too.

You are gracious to other people. A woman's rudeness or lack of sympathy for others makes a man uncomfortable.

You consistently build him up and don't try to prove that you are superior to him in any way.

Hal Boyle Says:

Maureen Can Do Anything—on the Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — There is very little Maureen Stapleton can't do well on a stage.

And—to hear her tell it—there is practically nothing she can do well offstage.

"I can't cook," she said. "I keep having this nightmare of waking up some morning and hearing my husband say, 'How about cooking some coffee and toast?'

"And I hate housekeeping. My dream house is one you don't have to clean or dust at all. You just take a hose and wash it down."

Miss Stapleton, who has hazel eyes and a shoulder-length mop of midnight-colored hair, has been called the "American Anna Magnani." She is rated one of Broadway's finest actresses, and is noted for her ability to play powerful, emotional roles.

But in real life, Maureen insists, she is weak as water and afraid of practically everything. She was so afraid that for a long time she slept with a knife and scissors under her pillow for protection.

"Now I'm getting better—I keep them in a drawer," she said. "I'm just a good, sensible neurotic girl."

She isn't joking about her phobic fears. They are very real to her.

"What am I afraid of?" she asked. "You name it — literally everything.

"Basically, I guess I just have no faith in the machine age. My husband told me, 'Once they made the wheel, you were in trouble.' And it's true.

"I don't like high buildings. I'm afraid something will fall off one of them and hit me. I hate planes. I've only flown once. I hate trains and cars, too. So it's kind of tough for me to get through 24 hours.

"But one thing I don't have is claustrophobia. I got off scot free when they were handing that out."

Maureen, a native of Troy, N.Y., worked as a night clerk in the Hotel New Yorker here while waiting for Broadway to discover her. She hit stardom in the Tennessee Williams play, "The Rose Tattoo."

Now she's about the busiest girl in town. She recently finished her first film. She is currently starring on Broadway, and rehearsing a part in a television play.

"I like to keep working," said Maureen. "I'm very disciplined as an actress—but not in any other way."

One of the things she isn't disciplined about is dieting. She loves food, says she can't really imagine how anyone ever really could get tired of eating.

"My real ambition, from the age of 6, was to be Jean Harlow—but alive," she said.

"Now it's beginning to look like I won't make it. I'm too fat. It's hard to look glamorous when you weigh in at 155."

Besides weight, Maureen says her biggest enemy is time. She'd like it to stand still — or march backward.

"I can't stand to have life go on," she said. "That's why I like to stay up and watch the late movies on television. With them it's always 1935."

No Reason to Pay Fine, Says Judge

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI) — Mrs. Joanna T. Mendes, 24, was fined $35 after she pleaded guilty to driving recklessly and without a license, but she explained she couldn't pay the money because she was on relief.

So Superior Court Judge Eugene L. Jalbert decided to continue the case indefinitely, pointing out to Mrs. Mendes: "If I fine you, we'll have to get money from the state to pay the state."

For two years Billy Hoeft's name has popped up amid trade winds at Briggs Stadium.

Each time, however, the Tigers retreated when a deal for Hoeft seemed closer.

Ex-general manager John McHale felt that past Tiger trades in which southpaw pitchers were traded had always turned out for the worst.

Before going to Milwaukee McHale made it known he was taking Hoeft off the block, because he thought the lefty still might come through.

Now the Indians are again entertaining notions toward Hoeft. They wanted to give up Ray Narleski last spring for either Hoeft or Ray Boone.

Boone eventually lost his trading power and the Tigers got nothing for him in the deal with the White Sox.

Hoeft's value as trade bait will also vanish with another bad year. This is something the Tigers will have to watch for closely when spring camp opens.

3 OFFICIALS SILLY

The experiment of the Inter-Lakes Conference of using three officials on the floor for a basketball game is a fizzle.

It adds nothing to the game except an extra man to crowd the floor and added expense, and another whistle. If the league wants a third official it would be more wise to put a striped shirt on a neutral person and put him at the table as a timer.

Too many games are being decided because of inadequate timers who become so engrossed in the game they forget about the clock.

Of the 107 calls taken, 80 wanted the score of the Pontiac-Flint Central game. Tuesday night and Wednesday morning there were 60 calls asking for the PCH-Highland Park and Flint Northern-Flint Central games.

Lane Believes He Can Whip Champion Now

MUSKEGON (AP) — Kenny Lane figures the time is ripe for him to take lightweight champion Joe Brown's title away.

The No. 1 lightweight contender watched Brown's successful defense against Johnny Busso last night on television in his Muskegon home.

Lane liked what he saw.

"I think I could beat him now," Lane said.

The Muskegon southpaw dropped a close decision in a championship bout with Brown last summer at Houston.

Pistons Score Rare Victory

Detroit Quintet Gains 118-114 Overtime Win Over Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Detroit Pistons accomplished last night what had proved a nearly impossible task in the past 11 seasons — they beat Syracuse in the World Memorial here.

After losing 33 of 34 games on the Nats' home court, the Pistons came through with a thrilling 118-114 overtime victory in the National Basketball Assn. game.

Phil Jordon provided the winning punch with 30 points.

Syracuse's Larry Costello's set shot with two seconds left tied the score at 104 and threw the game into overtime.

Boston's Celtics took a 120-118 victory over Philadelphia last night to reduce the magic number to seven. St. Louis wasn't scheduled but Minneapolis didn't help by knocking off Cincinnati 106-105 in a game in San Francisco.

Beer May Help Bring Phillies to New Jersey

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New Jersey's hopes of enticing the Philadelphia Phillies across the river into Camden County may be hitched to beer.

At least that's the way Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth sees it.

Dilworth, pessimistic for the first time over the outlook for a new Philadelphia stadium, said yesterday that "beer might defeat us even though it would cost more to finance a stadium in New Jersey than here."

Dilworth was referring to New Jersey laws which would permit sale of beer in a stadium on Sunday. Pennsylvania law does not permit this.

Joe Brown Retains Lightweight Crown

Aging Champion Defeats Busso in 15 Rounds

Wants to Defend His Title Again Soon to Avoid Rustiness

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Brown, an aging fighting machine that hasn't started to creak, beat young Johnny Busso with comparative ease last night then said he wanted another fight real soon.

The world's lightweight champion, defending his title for the sixth time in two years, declared he would meet Busso again "or anyone manager Lou Viscusi lines up." But he just wanted action.

"I get rusty when I'm inactive," said the skinny little Baton Rouge, La., Negro. He really hasn't been very inactive except that he tried an overweight fight with Busso in Miami four months after his last defense of the title—and lost.

But Brown showed no effects of inactivity last night as he whipped Busso—this time with both in the lightweight limit—by a wide margin.

Referee Jimmy Webb scored it 148 for Brown, 131 for Busso; Judge Ernie Taylor, Brown 147, Busso 138, and Judge Bill Cornelius 149-140 Brown.

A crowd of 11,033—the largest ever to see a fight in Texas—watched the little destroyer throw a blasting right that knocked the strong young man from New York through the ropes and onto the ring apron in the ninth round. Throughout the fight Brown kept his right working overtime and he had Busso's face a bloody mask at the finish.

Busso's nose bled from the third round on, smearing Brown's trunks with bright red. Brown also cut Busso's cheek with a stinging left hook and he had one of Busso's eyes almost closed in the last round.

Brown did his most effective work as a counter-puncher. It was a counter that whirled Busso through the ropes. The gritty 24-year-old climbed back into the ring immediately and went after Brown with both hands. Busso pressed the fight until the late rounds when he appeared to be a most weary youngster.

The difference in the ages of the two fighters was supposed to give Busso an advantage but the 33-year-old champion seemed in much better shape at the finish than Busso.

The crowd paid $61,155 — more than $8,000 under the record set by the Brown-Kenny Lane fight last July here—and with $40,000 from television, total receipts came to $101,155. Brown got 40 per cent and Busso 20.

Brown's $40,462 makes his total earnings in the last nine months—when three of his title fights were held in Houston—close to $125,000.

Brown weighed 134 pounds while Busso was a fraction under 135. There had been some apprehension that Busso, who Viscusi describes as "the biggest lightweight I ever saw," would be weakened by having to make the weight.

But Brown said "Busso was extremely strong tonight." He just wasn't as strong and tough as the amazing little Negro from Louisiana over the 15 rounds.

There's little apparent reason for a defensive player to throw his glove or any part of his equipment at a batted ball. It's usually a reflex action.

What is the penalty for doing it? Here is a theoretical case. How would you call it?

Gus Bell of Cincinnati is the batter, facing Robin Roberts of the Phillies. Bell leans into one of Robert's fastballs and drives it on a line into center field. Richie Ashburn, seeing he has no chance to make the catch, throws his glove at the ball. He misses it by inches as it rolls to the wall. Bell, however, falls down rounding second base and is tagged out in an ensuing rundown.

Do you think that:

a. Bell is automatically entitled to three bases?

b. He should get two bases?

c. He is out?

Answer: C—Ball is out. The batter is entitled to three bases only if fielder deliberately throws his glove and touches the ball. Misses do not count.

Boston Takes 3rd, Montreal Ups Lead

Red Wings Face Rangers Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The once-postponed rematch between Gordie Howe and Lou Fontinato could take place tonight when the Detroit Red Wings meet the New York Rangers at Detroit Olympia.

But both teams have more on their minds than fighting. There's considerable hockey to be played with the Stanley Cup playoffs less than six weeks off.

The Red Wings and Rangers are in danger of missing out if they don't mend their ways. The Wings especially are on thin ice with a five-game losing streak. They are eight points behind fourth-place New York in the battle for the final playoff berth.

The Rangers haven't fared any better than the Wings since taking a 5-0 shutout here a week ago. New York has lost three straight and yielded possession of third place last night. The Boston Bruins moved in, beating the Rangers 5-3.

The Bruins are in third place in the National Hockey League today on the strength of an 8-2-2 streak that has also moved them within three points of the runner-up Chicago Black Hawks.

The Bruins have a chance to close the gap tonight when they meet the Black Hawks in Boston.

Last night, Bronco Horvath, carrying the Bruins on his back the past few games, scored the tie breaking goal with less than eight minutes remaining.

Montreal whipped Toronto 5-2 in the only other game.

Horvath, who scored three times in Boston's 4-1 victory Sunday night, picked up Vic Stasiuk's rebound and beat sub goalie Bruce Gamble from 10 feet out. Stasiuk, who had two goals and two assists, tallied an insurance marker with three minutes left.

Gamble, filling in for the injured Gump Worsley, did not distinguish himself. He was out of position on several of the Bruins' goals. The 20-year-old netminder was called up from Vancouver of the Western League Tuesday.

The Bruins, who were in fifth place a month ago, trailed 3-2 following a goal by New York's Red Sullivan in the second period. But Jerry Toppazzini tied it for the Bruins early in the third.

Big Jean Beliveau had three goals for the league-leading Canadiens. Don Marshall and Marcel Bonin got the others while Bert Olmstead and Barry Cullen scored for Toronto. The triumph enabled Montreal to increase its first place margin to 12 points.

U.S. Pucksters Trip Norway, Meet Sweden

OSLO (AP)—The U.S. National ice hockey team, unbeaten in six warmup games for the March 5-15 World Championships in Prague, Czechoslovakia, departed for Sweden today under orders to "shoot more."

"Our boys do not shoot enough," said coach March Ryman, a Minnesota business manager. "We are shaping up fine. But we still have our problems."

The Americans trounced Norway 7-0 last night in a fast game.

Hagen Gave Stature to Golf Professional

(This is another of a series on Walter Hagen, one of our great names of golf, who is retired and lives near Traverse City.)

By CLANK STOPPELS
Grand Rapids Press Sports Writer

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—In reflecting today, Walter Hagen perhaps is proudest not of his tremendous record of golf conquests but the manner in which he gave new stature to the golf professional.

Up until about 1920 (Hagen won his first major title in 1914), golf professionals were restricted almost entirely to their shops. Seldom, and only by special invitation, was the club professional allowed to set foot in a clubhouse locker room, dining room or refreshment bar.

Hagen changed all that. It was at the site of a French Open championship that Hagen enlisted the support of a couple of Great Britain's stars. "If they don't allow us in the clubhouse we'll pull out of the tournament," he told the pair, somewhat skeptical of what they possibly could accomplish.

Hagen won his point—and a big barrier, for the first time, was broken. Inside of two or three years professionals on both sides of the Atlantic had access to portals which before had been closed to them.

Before 1915, few professionals made better than $50 weekly. Seldom did a top pro receive more than $75 for a major exhibition. By 1915, Hagen had upped the price to $250-$300.

Hagen never will be forgotten for his razor-sharp appetite for winning. He mercilessly cut down foe after foe, particularly in head-to-head PGA competition. His record of 29 consecutive match play victories stretching through five straight PGA tournaments may never be equalled.

Hagen was the master strategist and needler. Always wild off the tee, the Haig forever was coming out of nowhere to psychologically crush the foe. "The idea always has been," he says even today, "to get the ball into the cup. How you get it there doesn't matter one whit."

Hagen and Bobby Jones collided only once in match play, in 1926 for the "world championship of golf."

The match was booked for 72 holes. Hagen took a commanding lead at the start, holing several tremendous putts, and finally closed Jones out by a whopping 12 and 11 margin.

"Bobby was not playing at his best that week," Hagen says today, "and nothing I did could go wrong. It was just one of those things."

3 More Tigers Ink Contracts

DETROIT (UPI)—Rick Ferrell, acting general manager of the Detroit Tigers, left for his home at Greensboro, N.C., en route to the Tiger training camp at Lakeland, Fla., Wednesday, after announcing three more players signed their contracts.

The latest three, bringing to 26 the total number of Tigers who have signed their contracts, were pitchers Pete Burnside and Don Lee, and Negro switch-hitting infielder Maury Wills.

Burnside, a southpaw, had an 11-7 record with Phoenix last year and Lee, a right-hander, was 14-7 with Charleston. Wills batted .253 for Spokane in 1958.

25-Year Pros In Action

The tournament, for golfers who have been in the pro ranks 25 years and more, has a purse of $3,500 for the two-day medal event and Clarence Doser of Vero Beach, Fla., fired four birdies on the back nine to take the opening day lead with a 4-under par 68.

Three veteran golfers checked in with 70's, including Billy Graham of Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Others at 70 are Leland Gibson of Kansas City and Frank Commisso of Rochester, N. Y.

Watrous, the only man in history of the tourney to win the title twice in a row, was at 71 along with Gunnard Johnson of Minneapolis.

The Oakland Hills pro set the low record in 1957 with an 8-under par 67-69—136.

Last year he won it with even par card as soaring raw winds and low temperatures hampered play.

A field of 75 is competing this year.

2 State Powers Clash Saturday at East Lansing

MSU Is Shaky Big Ten Leader and Wolverines Still Are Contenders

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Big Ten basketball standings could be further scrambled here Saturday night when Michigan and Michigan State run head-on in their only meeting this year.

This has been an anything-can-happen season. The Spartans remain on top of the standings mostly because rival claimants have been killing each other off.

State has a shaky lead on a 6-2 record but Indiana (5-3) is pressing right behind and Michigan still is very much in the running with a 4-3 mark.

The past weekend was a prime example of the dog-eat-dog character of the fight.

Indiana came from behind to overcome Michigan 84-79 although M. C. Burton scored 31 points for the Wolverines. Meanwhile, Purdue played spoiler by upsetting MSU 85-81 after John Green fouled out with 9:08 remaining.

Then, as a Monday night stunner, both winners were losers. Illinois, loser of five straight, thumped Indiana 89-83. Wisconsin, with six straight losses, dumped Purdue 91-86.

A scoring duel is sure Saturday night between Green and Michigan's Burton. Green has a 20.2 scoring average and Burton has hit for 24.1. Green also is still the conference's top rebounder.

A crowd better than 13,000 capacity is assured for Jenison Fieldhouse. Reserved tickets for the game were sold out more than two weeks ago, and the 7,000 general admission tickets are expected to be gone long before game time.

Hands Hope 1st Loss Tightening MIAA

Calvin in Big Upset

By United Press International

Calvin College pulled the upset of the year in the MIAA basketball race last night.

Second-place Calvin pulled a step closer to the top by handing leading Hope College its first loss of the season, 66-62.

The fighting Knights, sporting a 7-2 record to compare with Hope's 8-1 mark, led at halftime 41-35, but needed a last minute rally to pull the game from the fire.

Hope was leading by four points with 57 seconds to go when Calvin got two quick baskets to tie and one to go ahead. Bill Woltersdorf scored four of his 17 points in the last minute.

Although Hope had the taller team, Calvin outrebounded the Dutchmen. Calvin had a slightly better shooting average, 25 of 65 for 38 per cent compared with Hope's 22 of 65 for 36 per cent.

Warren Vanderhill was high man for Hope with 19 points, followed by Paul Benes with 17.

Each team has five MIAA games remaining. Hope faces Kalamazoo, Hillsdale, Olivet and Albion. Only Kalamazoo and Adrian are in the first division.

A three-way tie for third place in the league developed when Kalamazoo beat Alma 58-55 and Albion nipped Adrian 49-47. Alma, Adrian and Kalamazoo all have 5-4 records.

Adrian jumped off to an early lead but couldn't hold it. At one time the Bulldogs held a 12-1 margin and were ahead at the half 28-25.

Jerry Masteller and Garth Richey each had 12 points in pacing the Britons to a second-half comeback. Ray Rolley was high man for Adrian with 22 points.

Alma also blew a 31-22 halftime margin when the Hornets came from behind in the fourth quarter.

Kalamazoo caught Alma at 40-40 with six minutes left and then pulled ahead to stay.

Loyola University (Ill.) broke open a tight ball game with a 12-point splurge at the first of the second half and held on to beat Western Michigan 86-81.

The Ramblers jumped into the lead at the start, although the margin was held to one and two points much of the first half. Loyola held a 42-39 lead at the intermission. Western cut the margin to one point, 51-50, early in the third period but Loyola spurted with 12 straight points to put the victory out of reach.

In the only game tonight, Hillsdale is at Aquinas.

Start Trial of Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — Former club owners testified Wednesday on the impact of major league radio—TV broadcasts on minor league attendance in the trial of a $250,000 suit against big league baseball.

All agreed that the practice of airing major league games into minor league areas was injurious to the minors.

The suit, which names each of the 16 major league clubs and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, was brought by Frank D. Lawrence, onetime owner of the now defunct Portsmouth, Va., club in the Piedmont League. He charges that the majors' radio-TV policy forced him to suspend operations in 1955.

Lawrence testified Wednesday that Portsmouth attendance "naturally fell off" after the start of the big league broadcasts, adding that the club started to lose money in 1950 and continued to show a deficit through 1955.

Crother Mann Boyd of Jacksonville, Fla., owner and operator of Jacksonville in the South Atlantic League until 1952, testified, "we couldn't sell our own games," after the start of major league broadcasts in his area.

Frank L. Longinotti of Memphis, one-time co-owner of the Southern Assn. club there, testified along the same lines.

Former Lion Ace Quits Grid Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Don Doll, former Detroit Lion ace defensive halfback, has resigned as backfield coach at the University of Southern California effective at the end of the month.

"I'm leaving to consider several outstanding opportunities in and outside of coaching which I find myself unable to turn down," Doll said. "My new job will be announced within a week."

Doll, 32, starred at USC and then played pro ball with the Lions, Washington Redskins and Los Angeles Rams. After retiring from the NFL he served a year as backfield coach at the University of Washington and as head coach at Contra Costa Junior College.

Iowa Cager Ineligible

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Ron Zagar, outstanding sophomore Iowa basketball player, was declared scholastically ineligible for the second semester Wednesday.

Zagar, 18, of Depue, Ill., had started the Hawkeyes' last three games.

Yale Sets Swim Victory Record

NEW YORK (AP)— Yale's swimmers hung up a dual meet winning record Wednesday night when they defeated Columbia 57-29 for their 176th successive triumph under 68-year-old Coach Bob Kiphuth.

The old record of 175, also established by Yale under the tutelage of Kiputh, was established between 1924 and 1937. It was broken by Harvard in the final meet of the '37 season.

Under Kiphuth, who retires this year, Yale swimmers have won 526 dual meets and lost only 12.

Northern Wins 1st on 2 Free Throws

After suffering 10 straight defeats they finally hit the jackpot. The Pontiac Northern cagers in the American division of the City Basketball League won their 1st game of the season last night.

Two foul shots by Dave Moczarski as the final buzzer brought Northern a 47-46 victory over the Jefferson Jets on the Lincoln Junior High court. Jeff's Allen Manley took individual game scoring honors with 22 points while Dave Plourde tallied 16 for the winners.

Yanks Invoke Electronics to Reveal Scores

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees will install a $300,000 scoreboard at Yankee Stadium in time for the 1959 season opener. The board will be 113 feet wide and 45 feet high, all controlled electronically and convertible to football.

There will be a changeable message area of seven lines with eight letters to the line at the bottom of a 75-foot center tower. Unusual days, rulings and other pertinent information can be flashed from the press box to the fans at a moment's notice.

General Manager George Weiss said it would take more than three weeks to set the large panels in place. From blueprint to installation, a six-month period was required.

Jack Heppinstall, Michigan State trainer who will retire next summer after 45 years of service, figures he has used more than 900 miles of adhesive tape.

PCH Can't Overlook Bay City Quintet

Wolves Come to Town Friday for Valley Tilt

Chiefs Eye Showdown With Flint Northern on February 20

By BILL CORNWELL

The Saginaw Valley Conference basketball championship may be decided next weekend at Flint, but it would be wise for Pontiac Central to concentrate on Friday's league struggle in its own back yard.

Downtrodden Bay City Central, the biggest disappointment of the 1958-59 Saginaw Valley campaign, invades the PCH gym tomorrow night for a conference battle of vital importance to the Chiefs.

It would be all too easy for coach Art Van Ryzin's cagers to look beyond the Wolves and focus their attention on the Feb. 20 fight with Flint Northern. Teams have been known to do this sort of thing before and the oversight has been often costly.

The Wolfpack, expected to be a strong contender for the SVC title, finds itself sharing the loop cellar with Saginaw Arthur Hill on a 1-6 record.

Last Friday the Wolves nosed out Saginaw High, 68-67, for their 1st Valley win since young Bill Ullenbruch left Walled Lake to assume the coaching duties in the 1957-58 season.

PCH cannot afford to forget about the rangy Wolves who are still dangerous and more capable than their lowly record indicates.

If the Chiefs slip past Bay City, the Valley crown probably will be settled once and for all when they clash with Northern on the following Friday at Flint.

Northern took a half-game lead in the title chase Tuesday with a 69-65 win over city rival Central. The Vikings now stand 7-1 and the Chiefs can post the same won-lost mark by disposing of the Wolves.

Pontiac Northern, fresh from a 48-44 victory over Lake Orion Tuesday, has a rematch with Detroit Thurston tomorrow evening in the Motor City. Thurston, which helped the Huskies inaugurate their new gym this season, is one of the three teams Northern has managed to conquer in its 1st cage campaign.

St. Michael and St. Frederick, with their Suburban Catholic League slates finished, play a couple of pickup foes. St. Fred plays host to St. Francis de Sales while the Mikes visit Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows.

The Wayne-Oakland race reaches the showdown stage with league-leading Brighton at Clarkston and runnerup Holly at Northville. Holly trails Brighton by one full game and this may be the best and possibly last chance for Leroy Decker's quintet to pull even with the front-runners.

Birmingham hopes to put a crimp in Port Huron's sails when they collide in an Eastern Michigan League contest at Birmingham. Port Hunon is tied with Ferndale and East Detroit for 1st place.

Inter-Lakes action finds luckless Waterford at unbeaten Berkley, Southfield at Walled Lake and Farmington at Van Dyke. Avondale goes to pace-setting Troy and Orion entertains Madison in the Oakland B circuit.

Orchard Lake Loses 2nd Game

Falcons, Keego Hoop Victors

One favored team had to come up with a big last quarter to avoid defeat while another was beaten in a pair of makeup games involving area rivals last night.

Rochester rallied to down an impressive Avondale quintet 62-57. Walled Lake trailed all the way then had a big final period but still bowed to West Bloomfield, 69-64.

Orchard Lake St. Mary dropped a 47-44 verdict to Detroit St. Andrew and Capac got by Armada 51-45 in other contests. Three of the four tilts were postponed from Tuesday.

The Yellowjackets led most of the 1st half. The Falcons gained a 46-46 tie as the 3rd period ended and then finally took command in the last eight minutes putting on an 11-point scoring spree to pull away.

Four of Rochester's six players in the game scored in double figures topped by Gene Lothery's 20. Darryl Thorpe paced inspired Avondale with 24. Rochester is now 10-1, Avondale 5-5. RHS had won 73-40 at Auburn Heights.

West Bloomfield had its best offensive night of the year in whipping Walled Lake for the 2nd time. The Lakers, sparked by the scoring and playmaking of John Lucadam, were breezing along until the host Vikings came up with a 20-7 edge in the last quarter.

Keego took an 18-point lead into the final session after leading all the way on some outstanding shooting. Barry Johnson hit 20 and Lucadam 18 for the victors. Kirk Evans of Walled Lake swished 25.

It was West Bloomfield's 5th victory in 12 games and snapped a five-game losing string. The Vikings are now 6-5.

Orchard Lake's setback was only its 2nd of the winter in a game arranged as a tuneup for this weekend's Catholic tourney.

The Eaglets saw a nine-point advantage go down the drain in the 4th period while being outscored 18-6. Chet Wlodkowski hooped 16 for the losers.

Armada blew an 8-point lead early and Capac dominated play the rest of the way as Bob Aguinaga, John Kersten and Jim Kalbfleisch combined 39 points.

Ken Montgomery topped Armada with 14.

Rochester won 38-30 and West Bloomfield romped 72-45 in Jayvee games.

Chief Matmen Lose; PNH vs. Skippers

Winning the 1st five matches, Flint Northern went on to hand Pontiac Central a 33-10 wrestling defeat at the PCH gym last night.

Glen Sherman, 133, scored a pin, 165-pounder Gerald Reid won a decision and heavyweight Ron Evans gained a draw for the Chiefs points.

John Weibley and Ermino Trevino turned in good performances in dropping close decisions. Bill Stevens posted an easy win for the home team in an exhibition.

Pontiac Northern invades Waterford for a local battle, Walled Lake is host to Dearborn, Royal Oak Kimball goes to Southfield and Royal Oak Dondero meets powerful Hazel Park tonight.

Sinks Bowling Ball

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Joe Pieri, a bowler with a 180 average, rolled games of 150, 156, and 143 Tuesday night, stepped outside and tossed his ball into the Niagara River.

Ralph Pederson, a native of Norway, is in his second season as assistant basketball coach at Tulane. Pederson starred for the Green Wave teams from 1948 through 1952.

Two Grid Aides Leave MSU

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The revolving door at Michigan State football coaches office spun again yesterday. Two left and one entered.

Danny Boisture, head coach at Redford St. Mary, was named —subject to approval of the State Board of Agriculture — to fill one of the vacancies created when assistant coaches Buck Nystrom and John Polonchek were named to follow Sonny Grandelius to Colorado.

Athletic Director Biggie Munn disclosed last night he had approved the hiring of Boisture, a University of Detroit graduate.

Munn said he knew of no other prospects for the Michigan State coaching staff.

He said the "entire picture" on football coaching at Michigan State will be discussed Sunday when head coach Duffy Daugherty returns from a coaching clinic in California.

Munn, who coached Grandelius, Nystrom and Polonchek, said he did not know what spot Boisture would fill in the Spartan staff.

Munn emphasized the action was not official until approved by MSU's governing board.

11th Frame

By CHUCK ABAIR

A kind of a "300 Fever" has set in among some of Pontiac's outstanding bowlers during the past week with one fellow reaching the charmed circle and three others taking good shots at it before faltering.

Jim Csizmadia started it with his perfect one Feb. 4 at Huron Bowl. Monroe Moore totaled 290 at the same place Feb. 6 at the same time Walt Honchell was firing a 277 at Land-O-Lakes. Then Monday J. Kirkpatrick turned in a 299 at West Side.

Kirkpatrick left only the 10 pin standing in his effort, bringing a chorus of sighs as everyone in the league stood around waiting and hoping. Honchell got nine strikes in a row but left the 2, 4 and 5 pins on the 1st ball of his 10th frame. He wound up the game with a strike and then started his next game with three straight.

Big scores have become almost commonplace at Huron and West Side this season but Land-O-Lakes has certainly had its share in recent weeks. Co-proprietor Lee Miller Sr. set a good example there the other day with a 266. His cousin, Paul, rolled a 715.

The women also seem to keep getting better all the time. Some of the latest records show Ruth Peterson with a 250 at Lakewood Lanes, R. Belanger 239-634 and B. Boehmer 225-623 at Huron and P. Ouellette 222 at Cooley Lanes.

Such names as Frank Lovse, Gene Hubbuck and Diana Rigotti may be joining some of the top men and women locally in a few years.

The trio and several others have been starring in a Pontiac Central High School League managed by Mike Andonian. The Lucky Strikes won the 1st half of the schedule. Another 10-week slate is underway. If a different team wins the 2nd round bowl-off will be arranged.

HERE 'N' THERE

Red Wing veteran Red Kelly revealed at the fine St. Benedict banquet here Monday that he had joined the ranks of keg proprietors. He opened a 12-alley place in Simcoe, Ont. Mickey Mantle just opened one with 32 lanes.

Betzi Waisanen of Pontiac and Royal Oak's Alice Havrenk will have a rolloff to decide the all events actual crown for the Elks Ladies National which ended Sunday. They tied at 1604. Six Birmingham residents took part in an accountants keg meet at Detroit recently.

Art Barnes and his son was a Parent-Son tourney at East Highland Recreation . . . E. Kriewall at 268 and D. Bilemaster 256 reported from Utica . . . Many area teams listed for the Men's State now in progress . . . Detroit will be represented in the Midwest Blind playoffs at Milwaukee this weekend.

Morning—Chevy panel hustles over causeway to St. Petersburg.

Chevy panel steps lively in Florida...runs day and night, delivers 19.3 miles per gallon!

This '59 Chevy panel is on the go, morning, noon and night; it covers as much as 587 miles a day . . . runs so constantly that its engine never cools off completely. Yet Mr. Clark Farber, the Tampa Tribune's circulation manager, reports that the truck is delivering 19.3 miles per gallon!

This year, the light-, medium- and heavy-duty trucks of the 1959 Chevrolet Task-Force fleet are out to whip anything that comes their way—and they've got what it takes to do it!

Take the panel pictured above, for example. Powered by the '59 Thriftmaster 6 with new economy-contoured camshaft, it's building a sensational economy record, despite the sizzling pace of its work. That's typical of the way Chevies of all sizes are turning-to on the most challenging jobs in America. The way they're made, with tough-built truck components, they make the hardest hauls look easy!

If you have a job that puts a truck on its mettle, see your Chevrolet dealer!

And What to Do When You Get One

How to Keep From 'Catching' Cold

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At least 100,000,000 wretched citizens will lift their faces from handkerchiefs this winter and announce glumly:

"I seeb do be gatchig a code."

Most of them will wonder, amidst their sniffling and sneezing misery, why medical science doesn't isolate the cold virus and develop a vaccine against it.

The answer to this question is both complicated and discouraging, according to scientists at the National Institute of Health who have spent years in research on mankind's most prevalent illness.

They have learned that the "simple" ailment which most people call a common cold is actually a whole spectrum of respiratory infections. The symptoms of these infections are remarkably similar, but they are caused by at least 50 different viruses.

Vaccines already have been developed, and are being used by the armed forces, against several of these viruses which are known to cause frequent epidemics among military recruits.

A researcher at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., thinks he has identified a virus which causes about 30 per cent of the civilian colds.

A "cure" for colds is even more elusive than a vaccine.

Americans spend hundreds of millions of dollars each winter on cold remedies. They dose themselves with pills, sprays, cough syrups, lozenges, nose drops, inhalors, steam kettles, ointments, mustard plasters and whisky.

Sometimes they badger their doctors into giving them injections of antibiotic drugs.

None of these things will speed recovery from a cold, said a spokesman for the National Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases (the branch of the National Institutes of Health that deals with respiratory illnesses.)

"The best thing to do when you feel a 'cold' coming on is to go to bed for a day or two," he said. "This rests your body and gives it an optimum chance to mobilize its own defenses against the infection. It also lessens your opportunities to infect others, or to pick up secondary bacterial infections from others.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR

"Take a couple of aspirins, if you wish, to relieve the discomfort. If you want to treat the specific symptoms of your ailment with nose drops or gargles or cough syrups, ask your doctor to recommend something. But don't expect any of these things to make you well. The most they can do is provide temporary relief of local discomforts."

What can you do to avoid catching cold in the first place?

The most important thing is to stay away from people who have colds. This is often not feasible. But you should do your best to keep a few feet of clean air between yourself and any person who is in the sneezy-drippy stage. That's when colds are most contagious.

Taking care of your general health — through proper diet, adequate sleep, good personal hygiene, etc. — will help to build up your resistance to colds. Some people, however, seem to have a natural susceptibility to respiratory infections, no matter how healthy they may be otherwise. The doctor's don't know why.

Researchers are also more or less in the dark about the precise role of "thermal factors" in respiratory infections.

Some people seem to catch cold when they are chilled, others when they get overheated. Some are rendered easy marks by wet feet, others by sitting in drafts.

About all that can be said with certainty is that none of these things "cause" a cold.

They simply lower the body's resistance to invasion by viruses. And individuals vary greatly in how they are affected by heat, cold and dampness.

"You just have to know yourself, and use a little common sense," said the NIH spokesman.

Folks in Trouble Turn to Army

Many Mercy Missions Carried Out by U.S. GIs in Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —It has become automatic for people in trouble to turn to the American armed forces for help—and get it.

Emergencies are strictly routine for American soldiers and airmen stationed around Europe. What follows is a brief selection of mercy missions carried out in recent years, based on information supplied by the services themselves:

Ingrid Kief, a 12-year-old girl in Ludwigshafen, Germany, is suffering for a heart disease which will take her life—unless she can get to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., for a delicate operation.

Ingrid's mother could never earn the $5,000 for the operation, certainly not in the limited time left for the girl.

United Press International told Ingrid's story one day and UPI's Frankfurt bureau was flooded with calls from Army and Air Force units all over Germany. They asked just one question: "How can we help?" Ingrid will get her operation.

Last August, a German soldier was hospitalized in Coblenz, suffering from a disease which left him bleeding continously. Specialty prepared frozen blood plasma was flown to Coblenz by Army helicopter and the Air Force hospital at Wiesbaden sent plasma by special courier flight. The soldier will survive.

One example concerns the Wagner Festival at Bayreuth last summer. Getting from Nurenberg to Bayreuth can be troublesome, train and bus schedules being what they are. Army authorities agreed to let a German civilian airline use its Bayreuth field, and music lovers were airlifted to the festival from Nuernberg.

And then there was a four-year old girl with whooping cough. A doctor told the child's mother that she needed an airplane ride. The mother contacted American officials at Bad Kissingen and the girl was flown back and forth over the town of Schweinfurt. When the coughing stopped, the plane landed —another mission of mercy completed.

East German Girls to Help Settle Russians

BERLIN (AP) — About 25,000 girls are going to be shipped to new farming areas in the Soviet Asian republic of Kazakhistan, to make the boys there mind their manners among other things.

The East German news agency ADN reports the impending feminine migration.

Soviet papers recently printed complaints that young male settlers in the frontier territory were getting sloppy in their dress and manners because there were no young women around.

The girls, said ADN, have volunteered "to help the quick development of this rich territory."

Now He Can Read

GARY, Ind. (AP)—William Lasenby might be an easy target right now for a book salesman. Someone broke into Lasenby's home and stole his television set, phonograph and his radio.

Wayne State Control Fight On

House GOP Wants to Save Bill Stopping Board Elections

LANSING (AP)—Control of Wayne State University grabbed the legislative spotlight today, temporarily over-shadowing the state's grave money problems.

House Republicans have joined in a last-ditch effort to save a bill designed to head off April 6 election of a six-man board of governors for the university.

Democratic - Republican wrangling over the issue briefly diverted attention from the tax and cash crisis that has held the center stage since the Legislature convened a month ago.

Gov. Williams' plan to mortgage the 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund laid in cold storage, waiting for a majority of House members to call it up for debate. But the GOP proposal for public vote on a four-cent sales tax was slated for House debate late today along with one to clear the air of doubts on the legality of a graduated income tax.

With both houses planning to adjourn tomorrow, neither proposition will come up for a roll call before next week.

Only a last-minute compromise offered by Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) saved a bill to make the Wayne board appointive instead of elective.

Democrats, anticipating a sweep of the six positions in the spring election, killed the Senate-approved measure for appointment of a seven-member board by the governor. They revived it when Waldron suggested a combination appointive-elective board for the next four years.

Wayne State, formerly run by the City of Detroit, comes under full state control July 1.

Wayne County Democrats yesterday introduced a resolution proposing to give Wayne State the same autonomy as the University of Michigan and Michigan State University. Both of the latter schools operate under elective boards responsible to state government only for appropriations.

Two-thirds of the House and Senate must back the proposal for it to go on the April 6 ballot as an amendment to the constitution.

Weather Balloon Soars to Record 146,000 Feet

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP)—An Army Signal Corps weather balloon set an altitude record for balloons of 146,000 feet. That's almost 28 miles.

The Signal Corps said it tops by several thousand feet the previous high for a balloon, either manned or unmanned.

The ascent was made here Jan. 30 to test an improved synthetic fiber. The Signal Corps announced it Wednesday.

A special radio equipped "hypsometer" attached to the balloon measured the altitude. It is accurate to a fraction of 1 per cent, the Signal Corps said.

Selling Weakens Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Liquidation weakened the grain futures market again today in early activity on the Board of Trade.

Offerings were fairly well absorbed, however, and the setback was limited to minor fractions. Dealers said the selling appeared to be partly a continuation of the profit-taking which turned the market downward rather sharply in yesterday's late trading.

After an absence of one day, Yugoslavia was back in the market for another cargo of wheat, taking about 350,000 bushels of hard for shipment next month.

The Department of Agriculture also accepted subsidy bids of four to five cents a bushel on 1,083,000 bushels of corn for export this month and next.

Wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, March $1.99⅝; corn ⅛ to ¾ lower, March old type contract $1.14⅝; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, March 66⅝; rye unchanged to ⅝ lower, March $1.36⅛; soybeans ⅝ lower to ⅛ higher, March $2.19¾.

SEC Stops Trading in Jacobs, Bon Ami

WASHINGTON (AP)—All trading in the common stocks of F. L. Jacobs Co., and the Bon Ami Co. has been prohibited by the Securities and Exchange Commission for 10 days.

The action was taken, the commission said, "to prevent fraudulent, deceptive or manipulative acts or practices."

The New York Stock Exchange suspended trading in the stocks of both firms last year. The SEC action goes farther and bars trading in Jacobs on the Detroit exchange and trading in either company's stocks in over-the-counter markets.

A hearing will be held here March 16 to determine whether Jacobs common should be suspended or withdrawn from listing on the New York and Detroit exchanges. A similar hearing in the Bon Ami case will be held March 23.

Lincoln Birthday Quiets Market

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the general rule among key issues.

Among the wider movers, Lukens Steel rebounded more than a point from its 3-point loss of yesterday. American Telephone added another point or so as it resumed its rise.

Chrysler gained a fraction in the wake of news that it made a nice pickup in fourth quarter earnings despite its 1958 deficit. Other automotive shares showed little change.

The steels, aside from Bethlehem which dipped a fraction, were mainly on the upside by small fractions. January Steel production was reported the highest monthly output since mid-1957. Plus signs were shown by U.S. Steel, Republic and Jones & Laughlin.

Oils were irregular in the wake of reports of lower prices for crude. Standard Oil (New Jersey) was down a fraction. Other price changes were quite narrow.

Nonferrous metals drifted off slightly. Fractional losers included Anaconda and Aluminum Ltd.

Rails, airlines, aircrafts and chemicals were mixed.

Semiholiday conditions prevailed in the financial district as banks were closed.

Develops New Ignition System

Use Transistors to Improve Performance of New Unit

TOLEDO (AP)—Electric Auto-Lite Co. today announced development of a high-voltage, transistorized ignition system for automobiles. The company said it is a major development in automotive engineering.

The unit is contained in a single package slightly larger than the conventional ignition coil, which it replaces.

It can be installed in minutes in any battery ignition system and is compatible with other conventional auto electrical components, the company said.

Auto-Lite said the new system provides maintenance-free ignition, lifetime distributor contact service and eliminates condensers. Also eliminated, it continued, are starting failures and poor starting due to "blued" contact points.

Conventional ignition output is often 50 per cent less at high speeds than at low speeds. Auto-Lite says its transistorized unit provides top ignition performance at all speeds.

The system will be available to the public first as special equipment for private car owners. Auto-Lite said it probably would be optional equipment for autos purchased from dealers by 1961 at the latest.

A new heavy-duty transmission for trucks has 12 speeds in one gear box controlled by one lever.

Pilot Finds Source of Courage

off beside me, except that the boom never stopped. It was the air outside rushing past at nearly 800 m.p.h.—a sound no one had ever lived to describe.

I don't remember squeezing the seat-ejection trigger, but when the plane hit the water five seconds later I was not in it.

I don't remember anything, in fact, of the six days after that cannon exploded beside me. Flight engineers and doctors have told me what happened. As I shot out of the diving plane, I slowed down so fast that for an instant I weighed 40 times normal.

BLOOD VESSELS BURST

My blood vessels burst, my eyeballs strained at their roots, my internal organs tore loose. The wind snatched off my helmet and mask, my shoes and socks, my watch, even the ring on my finger. It tore my lips and nose and rushed down my throat.

Then my parachute opened and I floated down to the sea.

I did not sink because the wind that had blasted down my throat had inflated my stomach like a rubber ball. I was hauled from the water by a fishing boat and sped to a waiting ambulance.

Doctors labored around the clock to keep me alive.

As I gradually became conscious, I was aware at first only of pain. Then, as memory returned, I was gripped by something far worse, fear.

I lay there in that high hospital bed and felt fear settle down like the white sheet over me. I wasn't afraid I would die; I was afraid I might live.

NURSE HAD FAITH

And then Nurse Cole walked into my room. Her face had the good-humored confidence of a woman whose tranquil life has never known the slightest upset.

When she took this job as special nurse, doctors doubted that I would live. Mrs. Cole did not. The idea of my dying even amused her slightly.

"Live through such a leap as that, and then die in bed!" She could hardly keep from smiling. Her faith filled the room like something you could touch.

One night, when the pain was bad, she filled the tub in the bathroom with boiling water. For five hours she dragged heavy, wet towels from there to my bed and placed them against my back, going from bathroom to bedroom like the pendulum on a tireless clock.

It was that night that I suddenly said to her, "Tell me about yourself." And slowly, softly, she told me.

Her husband had installed metal skylights on buildings until he had fallen and broken his back. The break was complicated by TB of the spine and for a long while he was unable to walk.

To support her family, she had worked as a nurse until she caught typhoid fever from a patient. She, too, would never really be strong again, but they had gone ahead and bought the turkey ranch they'd always wanted, only to watch it burn to the ground one terrible night.

She came to the bed with another steaming towel, and I opened my eyes to stare at her. She had the happiest face I'd ever seen.

"Where do you get the courage to keep going?" I whispered at last.

She looked at me in surprise.

"What? That's what courage is!" she said. "It's knowing the worst—and discovering that, in God's world, the very worst can't really hurt you . . ."

So now, sitting there on the runway, I heard that gentle voice again. "Knowing the worst, and knowing that, in God's world . . ." I shoved the throttle full forward and felt the great thrust of the engine as the plane sped down the runway and up into the sky.

Rockefeller Plan Fate Uncertain

Tax, Spending Ideas Criticized as Too High, Too Low

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The fate of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's record-smashing New York state tax and spending plan was still anybody's guess today, despite the biggest, wordiest budget hearing in recent years.

The Republican governor's $2,014,000,000 budget drew sharp criticism Wednesday, both from taxpayers who felt he was spending too much and from those who wanted him to spend more.

More than 1,000 turned out for the hearing, and 68 speakers talked for eight hours before the Legislature's fiscal committees.

Despite the clamoring and wrangling, the budget outlook remained unchanged. That is:

1. The Legislature will cut the state's first two-billion-dollar budget as much as it can—and that may not be much.

2. It will not take on any big new spending programs.

3. It will try, perhaps unsuccessfully, to soften the 150-million-dollar income-tax boost that Rockefeller has proposed.

Most of the crowd seemed to agree on only one point—they were not satisfied with the budget.

Bids Farewell to Giant B36s

AF Monsters Retired as Smaller, Swifter Jets Rule the Sky

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—The last B36 bomber will roar out from Biggs Air Force Base here today on a flight to Fort Worth's Carter Field.

Then the big queen with the Sunday punch that was never used will be history. It will be a memorial in Fort Worth, where it was manufactured.

In its 10-year life span, the giant 10-engined (six props and four jets) bomber never saw action. But the Strategic Air Command credited the craft with preventing atomic war through its global readiness.

She was the first intercontinental bomber and could have bombed the Soviet Union from bases in the continental United States — and then gone on to land on friendly soil.

But although continually modernized with newer radar equipment, the big plane couldn't keep pace with the jet age.

On the ground, she carried her tail higher than Orville Wright flew his first airplane. Her wingspan was greater than the distance Wright flew that first craft.

The B36 leaves her last vapor trail today and her going airmen say, marks the end of a queen's reign. She will be replaced by smaller, lighter and infinitely faster jet planes.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF SAMuel G. Campbell who passed away Feb. 12, 1956. Sadly missed by wife, son and daughters.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY father Samuel G. Campbell who passed away Feb. 12, 1956.
You bid us not farewell
You said goodbye to none
Your loving heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew you were gone.
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb
And so he closed your weary eyes
And whispered peace be thine
Sadly missed by daughter, Anna.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR father, George Schnaidt, who passed away 27 years ago today, February 12. In our lonely hours of thinking, thoughts of you are always near, we who love you, miss you sadly, as it dawns another year. Sadly missed by his loving family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR son, Edward F. Spencer Jr., who passed away February 12, 1949.
Deep in our lives is a lonely spot
Your bright face used to fill
But naught can take your memory
That shines there and always will
Sadly missed by mother and father.

Mayor of Berlin Honors Lincoln

Willy Brandt Goes to Springfield for Birthday Banquet, Tribute

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Abraham Lincoln's hometown celebrates his 150th birthday today with a banquet and tributes from West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and other statesmen from around the world.

A crowd of about 1,400 persons was expected to jam the state armory tonight for the $17.50 a plate dinner designed to rival the banquet held here in 1909 to mark the 100th birthday of the great emancipator.

Brandt, himself the leader of the Western section of a city half enslaved by communism, was to deliver the principal address in honor of the Civil War President who left Springfield in 1860 to lead his nation away from another kind of slavery.

The theme of the banquet was Lincoln as a "world figure" and the guest list bore out the theme.

In addition to Brandt, Ambassadors Sir Harold Caccia of Great Britain and Herve Alphand of France were slated to speak briefly.

Brandt, his wife and party were scheduled to arrive here by air from New York and be welcomed by Gov. William A. Stratton and Springfield Mayor Nelson O. Howarth.

Their schedule took them then directly to Oak Ridge Cemetery for a wreath-laying ceremony at Lincoln's tomb.

Russian Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov politely turned down an invitation to the dinner and an opportunity to hear the man who is the symbol of West Berlin's fight for freedom from Soviet domination.

The Eisenhowers Will Join Queen to Open Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly to Montreal, Canada, June 26 to join Queen Elizabeth for ceremonies marking the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The White House said the ceremonies will take place at St. Lambert Lock near Montreal.

The President and the First Lady will join Queen Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, aboard the royal yacht Britannia at Montreal.

The White House said the Eisenhowers probably will fly back to Washington immediately after the ceremonies.

Cara Williams Offers Secret of Unpopularity

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Beautiful redhead Cara Williams — who's an Oscar possibility for her performance in "The Defiant Ones" —was telling us why she won't get it. "I'm unpopular," she confessed while at dinner. "And why am I unpopular? Because I'm frank." For example, when a man asked her at dinner, "Do you mind if I smoke a cigar?" she quickly answered, "Not if you don't mind me being sick!" After she broke up with her husband, John Barrymore Jr., following a quarrel over his needing a haircut, a Hollywood friend said, "Thank God, they didn't bust up over anything trivial."

WILSON

Pvt. Steve Lawrence, bedecked in gold braid, epaulets, etc., because he's soloist in the U.S. Army Band, told us at the Steve Allen show that his uniform's so flamboyant that all sorts of Army officers salute him in Washington. (Ike saluted him three times.)

CARA

The Terry Moore-Gene McGrath divorce — obtained in Panama — becomes final Feb. 28.

"Remember when Ozzie Nelson was the orchestra leader at the Hotel Lexington; and Jack Benny was selling Jello on the radio with Kenny Baker tenoring; how Jackie Cooper used to tear hearts out as a child actor; Dinah Shore was cooing into a microphone at WNEW; when Big Crosby's ork leader was Lennie Hayton and Arthur Godfrey was doing an all night radio show?"—Ted Green.

Open Highway Office in Pontiac

Expect City to Be Hub of Huge State Road Building Program

A district office of the Michigan State Highway Dept. has opened in Pontiac and will be officially dedicated March 10 by Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The office is located at 926 Featherstone Ave.

It will be headquarters from which 40 highway personnel will coordinate the construction, maintenance, testing, and right-of-way transactions for the Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair county area.

Such work formerly was carried on in the department's Redford office along with similar activities involving Wayne and Monroe counties. Overcrowded facilities necessitated the shift to Pontiac.

J. A. Wills, district engineer who will manage the new Pontiac District 9 office, said one reason Pontiac was selected was that it soon will be the hub of mammoth highway construction programs in this section of the state during the next five years.

The 6,400-square foot building on Featherstone, built expressly for lease to the highway department, is the first of the department's 10 office buildings designed solely for the department's use.

The first alarm was reported about 2 a.m. No other details were immediately available.

'Meet Mr. Lincoln' Scores Catching Civil War Mood

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — I am inclined to believe that despite what the Chinese say few pictures are really worth 1,000 words.

Much of the display ground out by TV, for example, is hardly worth any. But I suppose that's the way the fortune cookie crumbles.

However, "Meet Mr. Lincoln," a Project 20 undertaking beamed out by NBC-TV last night, was an elegant exception. Using still photos gathered in the Lincoln emporia of this country, "Meet Mr. Lincoln" stitched together a half hour of considerable richness.

Backstopped by a Robert Russell Bennett score that laced tunes of the period around its husk, the show stacked its photos in an artful pile which gave its 30 minutes immediacy and pulse.

It had movement and even more important, a feeling of contact with thet Civil War period.

SHORT SHOTS: CBS-TV's U. S. Steel Hour presented an adaptation of Leo Tolstoy's "Family Happiness" last night that teetered precariously on the edge of fudginess.

Gloria Vanderbilt in the lead role gave an uncomfortably uneven performance — she is as yet unable to tap her insides and she lacks sufficient technique to take her way through.

But Miss Vanderbilt does have an earnestness, a touching willingness to please and an intelligence that makes her an interesting possibility for the future.

It was a mistake to throw her in last night against Jean Pierre Aumont, who insulates himself inside his playing.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Jack Webb's new series, The Black Cat, is shaping up as the replacement for NBC-TV's Behind Closed Doors which has the wobbles . . . ABC-TV's Pat Boone will go into the film production business starting this summer . . . Bob Hope racked up a 27.4 Trendex for his NBC-TV hour special Tuesday, out-clipping all of his CBS-TV and ABC-TV opposition.

Theologian Rips Sunday School Bible Stories

OMAHA (AP) — Sunday School spoils children, theologian Dr. Marcus Barth said today.

This is because all they hear for some time is "Mama loves me, papa loves me, teacher loves me, God loves me. Comes age 12 or 14; they discover other people in the world and all hell breaks loose," Dr. Barth remarked.

Dr. Barth, a member of the federated theological faculty of the University of Chicago, gave his views in a talk prepared for a meeting of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches.

He said Sunday Schools chop up Bible stories so that "Egyptians never drowned, John the Baptist was never beheaded."

"The real life, that shows people as they are, is cut away," so that the story presented is "canned food, carefully prepared, but the vitamins are gone," Dr. Barth said.

Detroit Fire Forces Many Into Icy Streets

DETROIT (AP)—A fire in a west side apartment building forced hundreds of persons — many of them children — to flee into icy streets today.

At least five persons were rescued from upper floors of the four-story, 56-unit apartment building by firemen. No one was reported injured but one fireman was treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the basement of the Grand Boulevard area building (7550 Hanover). It was discovered at 6:30 a.m. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Many of the children, clad only in thin night clothes, were bundled into police cars to escape frigid early morning temperatures.

License Tag Office Sets Later Hours

The Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's Office will remain open until 7 p.m. Friday, Willis M. Brewer, branch manager, announced today.

"This is for the benefit of drivers who have yet to purchase 1959 license plates before the Feb. 28 deadline," he said.

The office, 94-96 E. Huron St., will remain open to 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 20, and Friday, Feb. 27, and until 5 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 21.

On Saturday, Feb. 28, it will be open as long as there are customers in line, Brewer said.

The office will continue to open at 9 a.m. weekdays and Saturdays, and will be open until 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday for the rest of the month and until 1 p.m. this Saturday.

Jet Marks Up Record

NEW YORK (UPI)—A commercial airliner record of four hours and five minutes from San Francisco to New York was claimed yesterday by a Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 jet on a pilot training flight. The old mark was four hours and 38 minutes.

Teacher Leaves Million to Grosse Pointe Center

GROSSE POINTE (AP) — A retired schoolmaster who died last week has left one million dollars for an auditorium in the Grosse Pointe civic center.

Still Snowed Under?

Trombly Taking Absence Leave

New Action Follows About-Face on Plan to Retire

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Probate Judge Joseph V. Trombly of Macomb County says he is tired and needs a rest, therefore, he is taking an indefinite leave of absence.

The announcement came yesterday after the State Employes Retirement Board accepted withdrawal of his retirement application.

The president of the Macomb County Board of Supervisors, Bernard J. Kalahar, said Trombly asked him if he could have a paid leave of absence.

"I have no authority to tell him to take a leave or not to take one," said Kalahar. "However, I advised him to take one and told him it was a good idea."

Various groups, including the Macomb County Bar Assn., have urged Trombly to retire.

Trombly filed his retirement application Feb. 4. He wired the governor Tuesday that he wanted to cancel the request.

The state retirement board then held that there was no proceeding before it.

"It appears somebody wants to fire him and that's not the business of this board, nor is it the proper way to go about it," said Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski, chairman of the board. "I don't think we should act as a firing board."

Discuss Raise in Sick Leave Accumulation

The Board of Education tonight will discuss increasing from 60 to 100, the amount of sick leave days teachers can accumulate, at its bi-monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m., 40 Patterson St.

The request for increasing sick leave days accumulated was made to the Board by the Certified Personnel Committee, a Pontiac teacher organization.

The Board will also consider special appropriations for library books for Pontiac Northern High School and for football equipment at the new high school.

Congress Convenes to Honor Abe Lincoln

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Congress of the United States gathers in joint session today with pomp and humility to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln on the 150th anniversary of the birth of the first Republican president in a Kentucky log cabin.

Southerner and Northerner — Democrat and Republican — came together to hear poet Carl Sandburg praise Lincoln as the man who enabled the Union to prevail.

Sandburg used many quotations from Lincoln. Among them:

Lincoln, wanting Congress to break and forget past traditions —"The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate for the stormy present. We must think anew, we must act anew, we must disenthral ourselves."

A written notation to Congress in 1862—"In times like the present men should utter nothing for which they would not willingly be responsible through time and eternity."

Claim Lasting Effect for Oral Antiseptic

CHICAGO—A reduction of mouth odor and a lowered bacteria count for an entire day resulted from a single application of a new oral antiseptic, a dental researcher claims. Dr. Howard E. Lind, director of Sias Laboratory, Brookline, Mass., reported to a group of doctors here that immediately after an application of the liquid antiseptic, hexetidine, mouth odor was reduced 95 per cent and total bacteria count was cut 94 per cent. A reading taken 10 hours later showed that mouth odor remained reduced 75 per cent.

The antibacterial action of the drug was discovered by a Northwestern University Dental School scientist.

Musk Ox Is No Ox

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—The musk ox really isn't an ox at all, according to research by the University of Vermont. The zoology department said blood samples showed that the musk ox is closer to sheep and goats than to cattle.

Scientists Seek Ingredients for Virus Cocktail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists are beginning to wonder about possibilities of producing a "virus cocktail" — a vaccine containing a mixture of about 25 different viruses.

There's nothing immediate about it, but it is one of the means being considered in the search for a better attack on the common cold and other undifferentiated respiratory diseases.

Dr. Robert Huebner of the National Institutes of Health mentioned the possibility in an article in "Public Health Reports," issued by the Public Health Service.

He said that if it were found possible to produce a properly constituted, safe and effective multi-purpose vaccine of this character, the idea would be to inject it in children at about the time they also get shots against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and polio.

During the past decade, he said, scientists have uncovered about 70 previously unrecognized viruses, including about 25 that cause various forms of respiratory illness, much of it in children.

Automatic Device Runs Tape Recorder

CHICAGO—An automatic method of loading tape recorders has been developed at the Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Armour researchers have produced a self-threading cartridge which consists of a flanged spool and a graded leader with a catch. It is designed so that the catch engages with a prethreaded leader in the mechanism. With it, no threading is necessary and when forward recording or playing is completed an end leader reverses the drive for rewind.

The magazine can be operated at any speed. The self-threading device can be installed on most conventional machines.

Originals Preserved

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — A collection of original manuscripts of songs by Broadway composer Jule Styne is in the George Arents Rare Book Room in the Syracuse University Library. Styne presented the manuscripts to the university while visiting his son who is a student there.
