Adenauer Sweeps to Victory in West Germany

Truman's Talk Blasts Policies of Republicans

Raps White House Stand on Labor, Power and Federal Housing

DETROIT (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman's fourth visit to Detroit today highlighted the Motor City's Labor Day observance.

Truman arrived at Willow Run airport at 9:55 a. m. (EST). AFL and CIO leaders greeted the ex-President and whisked him to a downtown hotel to await his scheduled Labor Day address from the steps of the Detroit City Hall.

Truman also was scheduled to visit the headquarters of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union and attend a joint AFL-CIO reception at the Detroit Labor Temple tonight.

Local and national labor leaders hope his address will act as a rallying point for Democrats looking to the 1954 congressional elections.

Truman told the Labor Day audience "There are plenty of signs of a return to the old philosophy that the object of government is to help big business."

Truman, who frequently has taken the position since he left the White House that he wanted to "be charitable toward the new administration while it is getting its feet on the ground," said he didn't think the people voted last fall "for a change in the social and economic principles that have made us so strong and prosperous."

Truman's Labor Day address in Detroit, carried over WWJ and WWJ-TV at time of delivery about 12:30 will be rebroadcast on WXYZ at 2:30 and WJR at 9 p.m.

"But that is the kind of change we are getting," he said in a prepared address at a rally of Michigan CIO and AFL groups in Cadillac Square.

He singled out the Administration's policies on interest rates, labor, public housing, power and the government's efforts to balance the budget by cutting national defense appropriations.

"We have to put first things first," he said. "And the security and safety of this nation comes ahead of everything else, as far as

PW Charades Just Too Much for Red Guards

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Charades drove Chinese Communist guards crazy, a repatriate said today.

Lt. Paul T. O'Dowd Jr. of Berkeley, Calif., said the Red guards wanted to know what the prisoners were doing every moment.

"We drove them crazy one week with charades," he said. "They watched until they could not stand it any longer then hauled us up for questioning.

"We all gave them a different name of what we had been doing, each giving the phrase he had been acting out, and that really drove them nuts.

"The next day the order came down that any one playing any one of those games would be punished.

GOV. WILLIAMS

Williams Talks in City Today

To Address Democratic Picnic in Murphy Park This Afternoon

Keynote speaker at a Democratic picnic rally at Murphy Park today will be Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who plans to stop in Pontiac on a round of Labor Day speechmaking throughout the state.

The governor will address Pontiac and Oakland County Democrats at 2 p. m. at the picnic grounds on South East Boulevard.

Williams will drive to Pontiac from Detroit where he is scheduled to speak briefly before introducing former President Harry Truman to Labor Day crowds.

The governor's appearance in Pontiac is being sponsored by the Pontiac Democratic Club, the Democratic Committee and the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

Also on the speakers platform will be Philip A. Hart of Birmingham, the governor's legal adviser; and State Rep. Leaun Harrelson (D-Pontiac). They will be introduced by Mayor Arthur J. Law.

Gov. Williams will fly from Pontiac to Adrian, Grand Rapids and Iron River to deliver other Labor Day addresses following his talk here.

Hormone May Save Crops From Injury

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Discovery of a powerful new plant hormone which suggests possibilities of protecting important crops from injury by chemical weed killers was reported today.

A team of University of Wisconsin horticulturists said they had isolated from plants a chemical which appears to be part of the mechanism which helps plants to grow normally and encourages normal cell arrangement.

They said that when it was injected experimentally into plants in concentrated form it helped them from the injurious effects of purposely applied doses of 2-4-D, the weed-killing chemical which can be bad news to vegetable and fruit crops if it accidentally gets on them in sufficient quantity.

Drs. R. H. Roberts and B. Esther Struckmeyer made their report to the first session of the Annual Convention of the American Institute of Biological Sciences (AIBS), attended by some 4,000 biologists from North, Central and South America and parts of Europe.

White Lake Man Burns to Death in Parked Car

Horn in Burning Auto in Yard Early Today Arouses Family

One traffic fatality, one drowning and one death by fire marred the Pontiac area safety record as the long Labor Day weekend moved into its last day.

The death of a White Lake Township man, whose charred body was found slumped in his burning car early today, is being investigated by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

The dead man, Merle J. Howell, 56, of 501 Lakeview Dr., was found by his daughter and son-in-law, Lucille and Paul Lowes, when they investigated the continued blowing of an auto horn in their driveway at 5 a. m. today.

White Lake Township Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze and they called sheriff's deputies.

Howell, a Wilson Foundry employe, lived with his daughter and her husband.

They told deputies he left home Sunday morning to visit a son and that they hadn't seen him again until they found him in his burning auto.

An autopsy will be performed today to determine the cause of death. Deputies refused to comment on the possibility of foul play pending further investigation.

The traffic victim was Charles B. Graham, 18, of 21078 Bethlawn, Ferndale.

Graham died Sunday at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit of injuries he suffered early Saturday when he was struck by a car at Eight Mile Road and Glenn Lodge.

Driver of the car, Arthur Williams, 19, of Detroit is being held. Police say he failed to stop at the intersection.

Anthony Kott, 50, of 60 Winder, Detroit, drowned in Pontiac Lake yesterday while he was swimming near the home of Mrs. Earl Forrest of Buckingham Drive, where he was visiting.

The body was recovered 45 minutes later in 10-feet of water. Efforts of White Lake Township firemen to revive him were unsuccessful.

Cool, Fair Weather to Continue Tuesday

Cool and comfortable weather continued into the last day of the Labor Day weekend with temperatures this morning in the low 50's and a high of 70 degrees expected this afternoon.

Pleasant weather with clearing skies also is forecast for tonight and Tuesday, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Sunday brought the mercury climbing from a low of 51 to a high of 79 degrees in the Pontiac area.

Today at 8 a.m. the reading was 58, but by noon in downtown Pontiac, the mercury registered 67 degrees.

Allegedly Told Secret Data Connected With Navy Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man who served as executive secretary of President Eisenhower's inaugural committee was said yesterday to have sought a "4 per center" job by quoting secret information about a navy contract.

The story was unfolded, reliable sources disclosed, during testimony taken behind closed doors in June and July by a House armed services subcommittee.

These sources said Warren L. Stephenson, the inaugural committee official, had quoted bid figures and other classified information on a Navy contract for 120,000 aerial rocket launchers while trying unsuccessfully to get a contract to represent a California firm in contract negotiations.

Stephenson could not be reached for comment. His office here said he was out of the city.

A separate investigation was reported to be under way in the Navy Department to learn whether there is a "leak" of secret information.

Rep. Hess (R-Ohio), chairman of the subcommitee, declined to comment on the investigation, but it was learned that a report probably will be made shortly.

Stephenson was described as having sought a contract to represent Century Industries, Inc., of Burbank, Calif., for $2,000 a month or 4 per cnnt of any extra rocket launcher business he obtained for the firm.

He was quoted as having first denied and later acknowledged reciting the Navy information in a May 19 telephone conversation with officials to Century, but as saying he did not know it was classified. Stephenson was said to have testified twice during nine days of hearings held by the subcommittee.

As informed sources related the testimony, this is what happened:

Century engineers developed a procss for making rocket launchers from plastic instead of metal. The Navy bought the patents and then directed Century to share its knowledge with other firms to broaden the source of supply. Bids were solicited as a preliminary to negotitated contracts.

An associate put Stephenson in contact with Robert Q. Parsons, a Century executive. Stephenson recited the bid figures quoted by Century and its main competitors and told Parsons his company needed a Washington representative to obtain more than 25,000 units of the contract. He said his fee could be included in the contract price.

Adm. T. S. Combs, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, testified that disclosure of the number of rocket launchers being sought at that time involved military security, and that quoting of bid figures prejudiced the government's ability to negotiate fair contracts.

U. S. Holiday Deaths: 335; Michigan Counts 21 Dead

At least 431 persons were dead in accidents as the 78-hour Labor Day week end moved through its final day today.

(By United Press)

Traffic deaths were expected to zoom today as millions of fun-seekers take to the highways for the last and most hectic day of the Labor Day weekend.

Auto fatalities seemed to be climbing steadily toward a predicted total of 440.

A United Press survey showed that at least 335 persons had been killed since the start of the holiday at 6 p. m. Friday, 231 of them in traffic. Drowning claimed 33 lives, seven persons died in plane crashes and 64 in miscellaneous mishaps.

At least 21 persons died accidental deaths in Michigan since the long Labor Day weekend got off to its unofficial start at 6 p. m. Friday. The toll included 15 killed in traffic, five drowned and one miscellaneous fatality.

Sixteen-year-old Ann Marie Sevens, a Birmingham High School junior, was killed Sunday at the Metamora Hunt Club. She was riding a horse, which stumbled on a 3½ foot jump and crushed her.

Early-reported drowning victims were Anthony Knott, 50, Winder; William S. Cox, 11, Jackson; George Walker, 85, Boyne City; Wilfred Blaise, 18, Windsor, Ont., and Joseph Buce, 51, Highland Park.

Knott drowned while swimming in Pontiac Lake near Pontiac. Cox drowned in Long Lake north of Harrison in Clare county. Walker was swept away in Boyne River, Blaise stepped into deep water while wading in Edison Lake and Buce fell from a boat into the St. Clair River near Algonac.

The highway toll rose despite a State Police crackdown on traffic violators. State Police headquarters at East Lansing reported that 1,237 tickets were handed out Friday and Saturday, compared with only 493 during the first two days of the 1952 Labor Day weekend.

The worst crash killed three persons early Sunday on US-122 south of Clinton in Lenawee County. The victims were Raymond Parsons, 43, and Randolph Moore, 32, both of Chicago, and Thomas Nash, 42, Rock Island, Ill.

Other multiple death accidents killed 10-year-old Michael Miller of Sault Ste. Marie and his 8-year-old sister, Ann, and Clarence Boston, 70, Marcellus, and Charles Olson, 25, Monroe.

Other single holiday traffic deaths included: Emil Siljander, 43, Chassel; Mrs. Leona White, 37, Flint; Charles Kuhlman, 71, Mendon; James Woodward, 20, Calumet; James Adams, 20, Three Oaks; George Overway, 47, Holland; Ernest Treichel, 59, Bay City; Charles Graham, 18, Ferndale.

This afternoon and tonight most of the estimated 40,000,000 motorists who took to the highways for the holiday will be heading back home, sleepy-eyed, and in a hurry to get home.

Pontiac PW to Reach 'Frisco Wednesday

Pontiac's first prisoner of war to be returned to the United States since the beginning of Operation Big Switch is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco Wednesday aboard the Army Transport Gen. John Pope with 24 other Michigan repatriates.

Other repatriates scheduled to arrive Wednesday include Sgt Charles C. Boyd, Route 3, Utica, and Pfc. Lee Irones, 2179 Sloman St., Lum.

281,930 Go to State Fair Since Friday Opening

DETROIT (AP) — Blessed with ideal weather, the Michigan State Fair drew a near-record crowd of 150,065 yesterday.

The big Sunday attendance boosted the total for the first three days to 280,765. This was only a trifle below the three-day record of 281,930.

Commies Suffer Crushing Defeat From Pro-West

Voters Defy Russian Threats, Reject Nazis, Socialists, Reds

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany launched America's ally, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and his pro-Western government parties on a new four-year term of office today in a landslide election triumph.

Defying Soviet threats, more than 27 million German voters also threw all the Communists out of their Parliament's lower house, crushed a feared Nazi comeback and turned thumbs down on Socialist pleas for German nuetrality in the East-West struggle.

In Europe's most important election since World War II, the West Germans gave an overwhelming endorsement in yesterday's voting to Adenauer's American-backed program for rearming West Germany in alliance with the Western Powers against the Soviet menace.

The grim-visaged old German statesman's Christian Democrat party won 244 of the 487 seats in the Bundestag lower house. That was a majority of one for the party, the first single German faction to win a clear parliamentary majority since before World War 1. With the 48 seats captured by his allies, the Free Democrats, Adenauer held a commanding margin of 97 seats.

Trailing far behind were the opposition Socialists with 150 seats.

Adenauer also could count nominally on the support of the 15 seats won by the German party, the third member of his government coalition since 1949. Doubts were expressed, however, that he would include this faction in his new government.

The election outcome was a catastrophe for the Kremlin and a triumph for the United States. U.S. Secretary of State Dulles had given Adenauer his open endorsement. Soviet Premier Goergi Malenkov had tried to scare the Germans away from the iron-willed, 77-year-old Chancellor with threats of riots and warnings that Soviet-occupied East Germany could never become reattached to a West Germany rearmed on America's side.

Adenauer himself awoke from a sound night's sleep today and said he was happy but not surprised at his smashing election victory.

His chief opponent, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, said that the Christian Democrats had "profited from the big turnout of voters." He observed that his party "held its own very well."

Ollenhauer in the campaign's closing days had made a desperate attempt to turn Dulles' endorsement of Adenauer into a boomerang, assailing it as "insulting" interference in German domestic affairs.

Crash-Landing Survived by 32

All Saved as Northwest Constellation Burns at Washington AF Base

McCORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP) — A Northwest Airlines Constellation, wallowing almost helplessly through foggy skies, crash-landed and burned here early yesterday. The 32 persons aboard escaped death, but 29 were injured or burned.

The 26 passengers included three infants.

The plane burst into flame as its pilot, Capt. Russell Bird of Seattle, attempted to land with only one wheel down and two engines dead.

* * *

Only nine of those injured remained in hospitals today and physicians said none were in serious condition.

The No. 3 engine of the huge Lockheed aircraft failed as the plane roared into the sky from Seattle-Tacoma International Airport at 2:06 a.m. Because of fog conditions, Bird decided to take the craft, scheduled for a nonstop flight to Chicago, into Portland.

He was forced into the landing here when the No. 4 engine conked out. A second engine of the four-engine craft quit soon after.

On the landing approach, only one wheel would come down because of a failure of the hydraulic system. Bird brought the plane down anyway.

* * *

It rolled easily along on the one wheel until its speed slackened. Then the left wing tilted to the ground and gas in the wing tanks burst into fire, sending flames shooting 15 feet.

The huge aircraft swerved from the runway. Crew members worked frantically to loosen safety bel' and help the passengers climb to safety through a sheet of flame.

Bird and Patricia Grivna of McKeesport, Pa., the stewardess, said all of the passengers were out of the plane and safe within one minute after the plane had stopped rolling.

The co-pilot, Dale Moore of Seat-

Holly Prisoner of War Arrives Home; Tells of Cold Mud Huts, Little Food

By JOE HAAS

Twenty-seven months in a Communist Korean war camp was a terrible experience for Pfc. Albert A. DeSmet, 23, of Holly, who arrived hone Sunday.

But he comes home with no apparent ill effects from the long ordeal. His rugged constitution brought him through it all, but with a sobering effect from which he will not recover for years.

Enlisting in February, 1948, he received his basic training at Fort Knox and in a few months was in Korea. He was taken prisoner on May 18, 1951, and was among the first released on Aug. 12, following the armistice signing.

During his POW period he was in Communist Camp 1. He was quartered in a mud hut that had little or no heat in the two winters.

Most of these huts had mud floors, and the prisoners' clothing got in filthy condition. Rats and mice kept company with the prisoners.

Pfc. ALBERT A. DeSMET

The food was mostly boiled rice, with an occasional helping of bread made from rice flour. The rice often had bugs and vermin in it, which DeSmet says the men with him called "raisins," and many of them didn't bother to pick them out, but called them their "meat." Only two "meals" were served daily.

The only real meat served was boiled pork, very fat and often cold and containing maggots When the armistice seemed near the food got better. In the last week they got some beef. It was canned beef and not very palatable.

"The cigarettes which they served us often were made of marijuana, and some of the boys

Birmingham 'Amateur' Unites Soldiers, Families With Short-Wave Radio

BIRMINGHAM — A soldier stationed in Germany says "hello dad" into a microphone and the message is carried by short wave across the Atlantic to Birmingham where the boy's father waits for a live conversation with his son.

The verbal reunion is made possible by Dean Burnett of 1513 Buckingham Rd., an amateur radio operator who has enabled about 100 parents, wives, children and friends to talk to servicemen since 1945.

"Military Amateur Radio Stations (MARS) have been sent-up at various bases abroad and in the United States," Burnett explained. "Operators in the states connect families with them and they line up the boys.

"Sometimes a MARS which I contact has a serviceman who wants to reach someone in another state. Then the phone company gets the party on the phone and I cut into their circuit."

According to Burnett the system is such a fine morale builder that Communist stations in Europe have been attempting to jam MARS wavelengths. "The boys tell me 'Ivan is jamming,'" he said.

The live conversation "adds the personal touch," Burnett said. "People are reassured when they actually hear a voice."

Sometimes the exchanges aren't what one would expect, he noted. "A colonel in the Philippines reached his wife in Chicago and all he talked about was getting an electric razor returned that he had sent home to be fixed."

He recalled one particularly satisfying instance. "I mamaged to connect a chaplain in Germany with his small daughter in Grand Rapids while her birthday party was in progress.

"Poor atmospheric conditions sometimes foul up reception," he said, "but station W8BP will try to contact a serviceman just about anywhere in the world."

Because of the holiday, the Rotary Club has canceled its meeting today. Meetings will resume at the Community House on Sept. 14.

Arthur Blakeslee reports, however, that this won't slow down members' efforts in selling tickets to their benefit dance to be held at 8 p. m. this Friday in the parking lot behind the Briggs Building.

Ticket charge will cover dancing, refreshments and prizes. All proceeds will go toward purchase of a station wagon for the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society.

It will be used to transport the children to and from their homes to Ann Arbor for treatment. Blakeslee said taxis have been their only source of transportation in the past.

Frank Sinatra, not the singer, and his five-piece orchestra will play for the dancing and Paul Pankotan will emcee. There will also be a caller for square dances and Mr. and Mrs. Pankotan will act as judges.

Matthew Cammareri is general chairman. Oscar Peterson and Henry Johnson are handling tickets. Webb Schiefele is in charge of refreshments. Bernard Fowler will take care of prizes and Blakeslee is handling publicity.

Because of the holiday, the City Commission meeting has been scheduled for 8 p. m. tomorrow and the Recreation Board will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Field trips for the observation of birds, insects, plants, minerals and fossils will be planned at the registration meeting of a new course in nature study at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Open to the public, the eight-week course is sponsored by the Detroit Audubon Society and is offered to nature hobbyists, camp counselors, elementary science teachers and family groups.

All meetings after this one, at which nature slides will be shown, are to be held in the field Saturday afternoons and Sundays under the supervision of Walter P. Nickell, Cranbrook Institute of Science naturalist.

Kiwanis Club's first dinner meeting, in the Community House at 6:30 tomorrow night, promises a full program.

Starting things off Sam Dudley, executive director of United World Federalists of Michigan and Indiana, will speak to the group on "Communist Subversive Activity."

In cooperation with the Fire Department and School Board, Kiwanians are spearheading fire prevention work in the city.

Representatives from all the men's service clubs will attend tomorrow's meeting, and a special program timed to coincide with National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10, will be worked out.

Joseph Finnell, a fire safety and prevention engineer, will address the group and outline the need for such a program. Also attending will be Fire Chief Vernon Griffith, Fire Marshall G. Scott and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland.

Communicable diseases showed a decline last month, according to a report from City Health Nurse Mrs. Anyce Gillette. One case of chicken pox was recorded, with six marked up the month before, and there were only two measles cases, with an outbreak of 41 cases in July.

German measles held its own with a showing of five cases during July and August. Mumps victims dropped to two in August, three in July.

A Lions Club board meeting has been scheduled for 8 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Hugo Cloutier, Bennaville Road. No program has been planned for the service club's first meeting back at the Community House this Wednesday. A noon luncheon will be served.

Muirhead's wife, Lillian, 30, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for bruises. His sister Louella, 53, son Neil, 5 months, and stepdaughter Susan Dube, 10, all suffered cuts and bruises, according to the hospital report.

Girl Rider Dies in Hunt Mishap

Ann Severs Pinned by Horse in Fall During Metamora Events

BIRMINGHAM — A riding accident at Metamora Hunt Club Sunday cost the life of Ann Marie Severs, 16, of 915 Kennesaw, Birmingham.

The Birmingham High School student suffered multiple skull fractures when her horse stumbled while competing in the open working hunter class of the hunter-breeder show. The horse tripped on a three and a half-foot jump, somersaulted, and pinned the girl.

Ann had earned a blue ribbon in horsemanship minutes before the accident. She had been competing in horse shows for five years.

Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Severs, she is survived by two sisters, Jane and Kathleen, and two brothers, Roy L. and David Severs.

contracted the habit without knowing it," he says.

The only newspaper the prisoners saw was the Communist Daily Worker, "which none of us believed," he says, "as it never said anything good or truthful about America. Other reading matter was kept away from us, except that of a Communist nature."

News from the outside world was censored through radio, but it kept the boys quite well posted on world happenings in general. This was entirely cut off a week before the armistice was signed, but blared out the news when that happened. Then they were told to line up and get ready for release.

When the guards got suspicious of any of the prisoners they would call them before the commanding officers for questioning. Some of them never came back. Whispering behind the guard's back was dangerous.

"I never was punished by violence," says DeSmet, who states that most of the prisoners got their heads together and decided that the safest way was to say nothing. Everybody always was watched with suspicion.

Continuing, he says, "During 1951 and part of 1952 hundreds of the men in Camp 1 died of dysentery. Practically no medical attention was given them by their captors after they were taken sick. Malaria also claimed many. There were so-called hospitals, but little was done there. I am sure the deaths in that camp numbered 1,600. Most of them could have been saved."

Out of the 1,400 in that camp at the time hostilities ended DeSmet does not think there were more than three or four who turned Communist. Some made a pretense at it in order to get better cigarets and candy.

On the army transport coming home a few of the boys acted somewhat sullen and were suspected of Communist leanings. This matter was cleared up to the satisfaction of all.

The trip home was without incident, but great was the joy of everybody when the Golden Gate bridge hove into sight through the fog. But DeSmet has one complaint to register about it — at one meal they served — rice.

Now at the home of his guardian, Mrs. Rosa M. Stiles in Holly, DeSmet is undecided as to his future. He will rest up for a month or so and, according to his own statement, "get my feet again accustomed to walking on the best ground in the world."

He says that at no time during the 27 months that he was a POW did he see any evidence that assistance from the Red Cross or other similar agency was permitted to reach the prisoners.

Administration Hit in Labor Day Talk

Saying he was a great believer in balanced budgets, the former President said he kept the government budget balanced "until an emergency came along that was a lot more important than all the balanced budgets in the world."

On labor's own front, he said its leaders have the responsibility of holding the gains that labor has made—"Holding them against a spirit of reaction that is using the election results of last fall to get back in the saddle again."

But he also told them they had a greater responsibility, that of acting "not just as the representatives of a particular group, but as leaders in promoting the welfare and progress of the whole country."

"This means," he said, "that labor must act to keep the unions free of corruption and communism, the way George Meany (AFL president) and Walter Reuther (CIO president) are doing. It means that the branches of labor ought to work together, work in greater unity for a common goal—and I am glad to see that your leaders are doing just that."

Truman praised the Wagner Act as "the magna charta of labor's rights" and said:

"I was in the Senate when Congress passed that law, and I am proud to say I voted for it. I was in the White House when the first attempt was made to cripple that law, and I vetoed that effort. But the Republican 80th Congress tried it again. And they over-rode my veto and put the Taft-Hartley law on the books.

"The Taft-Hartley Law is a bad law, and during the last presidential campaign there was a promise made, by the Republican candidate, that it was going to be amended in a way that would correct its injustices. But I haven't read of anything being done along that line — and I've been reading the record.

Of the government's hike in interest rates, the ex-President said it "may be of benefit to the money lenders, but it surely does hurt the rest of the people."

On public power, he said, "The betrayal of the Hell's Canyon project in the Columbia River basin tells the story."

"If they give Hell's Canyon away," he declared, "others will follow. The power lobby is doing its best to take over Niagraa Falls. And the bell will be tolling for the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Rural Electrification Administration and all the rest. All this will mean less power and higher rates, fewer jobs and lower wages."

He then asked his listeners to look what they have done with your immene off-shore oil interests. They have given away billions of your dollars to pay a political debt."

Truman told the audience "you don't have to take these things lying down."

"You can't hope to change the philosophy of those people now in Washington," he advised, "but if you watch them closely and raise your voices loud enough, you may be able to salvage some of these things. After all they are politicians, and they are influenced by public opinion. . . .

At the start of his talk Truman said he had heard former was leading an effort to set up a Michigan Sen. Blair Moody was leading an effort to set up a daily newspaper in Detroit and added:

"I hope he succeeds, because it's about time this great city had a Democratic newspaper. When you think of it, it's an amazing thing that a great city like this — with its thousands of Democrats and union men — has to read newspapers that are for the most part pro-Republican and anti-union. But that's the way it is over most of the country."

Adenauer Sweeps German Balloting

President Eisenhower, vacationing in Denver, was expected to send a message of congratulations to the West German leader, reflecting the keen satisfaction felt by his entire administration.

Secretary of State Dulles, who warned Thursday an Adenauer defeat would be a disaster, said "I'm not surprised" when informed Adenauer's pro-Western forces had won a sweeping victory.

Adenauer's smashing triumph far exceeded the most optimistic prediction of key officials who nervously awaited returns last night, wondering whether Dulles' last-minute endorsement of Adenauer might boomerang. Adenauer's opponents had denounced Dulles' action as meddling in West Germany's internal affairs.

As the vote for Adenauer's coalition swelled to landslide proportions, however, officials here grew progressively more certain Dulles' unscheduled support did not cost Adenauer votes and, if anything, helped.

What Moscow's reaction will be to the humiliating defeat suffered by the Communists in West Germany is impossible to say. The Russians probably were banking more on a victory by the Socialists, who were opposed to German rearmament, rather than on gains by the dwindling Communist party in the Western zone.

Killing Blamed on Cancer Fear

Father Says He Shot Invalid Daughter Rather Than Leave Her Alone

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Fearful that he was suffering from cancer and might have to undergo an operation prompted Herman H. Nagle to kill his 28-year-old invalid daughter so that she wouldn't be left alone, the 54-year-old plant guard declared in his city jail cell here today.

Nagle, who says he is a retired New York City policeman, shot his daughter Betty Virginia to death as she slept in her wheelchair Saturday at their home. Police have booked him for investigation of first degree murder. Betty Virginia was a life-long victim of cerebral palsy.

* * *

The father said in an interview he killed his daughter because he loved her. He said he was afraid he had cancer and she would have no one to care for her.

"I knew eventually I was going to do it," he said, adding that the thought of putting his daughter out of misery had haunted him for years.

Nagle's wife died 14 years ago of heart attack. He said he had cared for his daughter constantly since, with the help of a housekeeper at times.

* * *

"No one knows better than I the torture she went through," he said. "She was completely helpless. I dressed her, fed her and looked after her every need. She was a swell kid and brave. But my mind is clear. I feel what I did was the best way out.

"It's a hard thing to say, but for the first time in years I feel at ease. I killed her because I loved her."

Nagle came here five years ago from New York City with Betty Virginia and another daughter, Lillian, 29, now a first lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps at Tacoma, Wash. She flew here yesterday and saw her father at the jail.

Nagle said he has another daughter, Mrs. Mildred Girschick of Brooklyn, N. Y. He expects her to come here tomorrow with her husband, who Nagle said is an attorney.

Detectives described the slaying as a "mercy killing," which Harry E. Westfall, ex-officio coroner ruled was due to gun wounds at Nagle's hands.

U. N. Assembly May See Red Atom Control Grab

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Many U. N. diplomats believe Russia will make a dramatic attempt at the forthcoming General Assembly to seize the iniative on the stalemated problem of disarmament and atomic control.

These diplomats expect the Soviets to come up with new proposals dealing with both conventional arms and with atomic weapons, including the hydrogen bomb.

There has been some speculation that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov himself might come here to present the proposals, but this has not been confirmed.

* * *

The disarmament and atomic control question already is on the Assembly's agenda. It is generally agreed it will become a major issue of the three-month session opening Sept. 15.

Two developments since the last regular Assembly will have an important bearing on the discussions: the Korean armistice and the Soviet announcement that Russia has produced an H-bomb.

Russia's last major proposals on disarmament and atomic control came in 1949—just after the first announcement that the Soviet Union had exploded an A-bomb.

The Western Powers took the lead at the 1951 Assembly session in Paris and came up with new plans. These led to some slight Soviet concessions, but the discussions soon bogged down again.

Some delegates now feel that the recent announcement of the H-bomb may have been timed to afford a dramatic opportunity for new proposals. Whether or not it was deliberately timed, it does provide a plausible reason for reopening atomic control discussions.

* * *

The Korean armistice has a bearing on the disarmament issue because virtually all delegates, particularly those from Western countries, have insisted that there could be no reduction of arms while the Korean conflict continued.

The Western Powers, backed by an overwhelming majority of the 60 U. N. members, have advocated creation of an international authority to own and operate all atomic facilities from the mines to the plants actually producing atomic energy. They have insisted that this must be done by stages, the first step being a census of atomic weapons and a system of verification. As for disarmement, the West also has insisted that the first step must be a worldwide arms census, carefully verified.

All Escape Death in Crash-Landing

tle, was credited with saving 8-month-old Kimberly Frank of Terre Haute, Ind., from death in the flames.

"I struggled with the safety belt for so long I thought I would never get out," Mrs. Carl Frank, the child's mother, said. "Then when I jumped I dropped the baby. When I struck the ground I went down on one knee and she fell out. The co-pilot picked her up. There were flames on the ground all around us."

Among those aboard the craft were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour of the Armour packing family of Chicago. They both escaped injury.

The plane was the same one which brought Mrs. John Eisenhower, President Eisenhower's daughter-in-law, to Seattle less than two hours before to meet her husband, Maj. John Eisenhower, who had returned Saturday on rotation from Korea.

The plane, described by airlines officials as a total loss, was owned by Eastern Airlines and was being operated under a lease contract by Northwest.

Holtoner, flying a North American F86D Sabre jet, will try for a new world record for 100 kilometers.

* * *

He will follow a closed course around eight pylons on a 62-mile route over parts of three Ohio counties. The last Thompson contest, held in 1951 at Detroit, was won by Col. Fred Ascani in an F86E at an average speed of 635.86 m.p.h.

However, Holtoner is aiming at the world mark for 100 kilometers —675.47 m.p.h.—registered by Jacqueline Cochran in a Canadian F86E at Edwards AFB last June 3.

* * *

Another Air Force pilot, Capt. Harold E. (Tom) Collins of Fairborn, Ohio, will try to exceed Miss Cochran's speed for a new world record for the 15-25 kilometer run.

In this contest, sponsored by General Electric Co.'s Aircraft Turbine Division, the pilot's best 15 kilometers out of a 25-kilometer run is chosen.

Collins, flying an F86D, will make two passes at the straight-away course. The 28-year-old flier, formerly of Port Arthur, Tex., is stationed at nearby Wright-Patterson AFB.

* * *

The helicopter attempt will be made by Capt. Russell M. Dobyns, Norton, Va., stationed at Eglin AFB, Fla.

2. The world altitude record of 21,220 feet set at Bridgeport, Conn., in 1949 by Capt. H. D. Jabbis in the same type of Sikorsky helicopter.

Sunday's air show was marred by an aerial collison, believed the first of its kind, between two Marine Sikorsky H19 helicopters.

Each craft had only the pilot aboard. Maj. William T. Tebow Jr., Quantico, Va., suffered moderate injuries. The other pilot, Lt. P. M. Gish, Cherry Point, N. C., was unhurt.

Both helicopters were considered complete wrecks at a loss to the government of about $500,000.

54-Country World Bank May Finance Nile Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top financial brass from 54 countries meet in Washington this week, to discuss not only the mysteries of international banking but also the ancient romance of how Egypt is made fertile by the annual flooding of the Nile River.

The incidental talks may bring a kind of TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority) closer on the old Nile. The TVA provides irrigation, water power, flood control and a vacation-land to thousands of square miles.

Egypt's finance minister, Dr. Abdel Guelil el Emary, is expected to appear with a project that would eventually double the amount of land on which Egypt grows food for its undernourished people.

Experts say the great Aswan Dam he wants built could assure the best use of the precious waters in the river's 5,600 years of recorded history.

The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, popularly known as the World Bank, is a major source of capital for great development projects. Its president, Eugene R. Black, was in Cairo early this year and Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib told him about the high priority Egypt is giving to the dam.

Egypt itself lacks foreign currency for the expensive machinery and engineers that must come from abroad. The World Bank was the obvious source for a loan. Black was interested. Engineering studies, however had not been completed and no one expected any decision from him.

The bank, whose directors represent the 54 member nations, does not grant loans on a nod from any one man.

On Wednesday the bank and its sister organization, the international monetary fund, will start their 4-day annual meeting at their headquarters here.

Dr. el Emary, as Naguib's top financial and economic adviser, will represent Egypt as its governor on the fund.

Officials in Washington put the possible cost of the dam, with its reservoir, irrigation system, hydroelectric plants and power lines, as high as a billion dollars. Sums as low as 200 million dollars have also been mentioned as the cost of one stage of the development.

No decision on the Aswan Dam loan is expected from the bank for some months.

Its usual procedure is to send at least one survey team to look over the country's general economy. Then the value of the particular project is assessed in relation to the whole picture. Only after that is the loan granted or refused.

Dems Expected to Reject Parley

Prepare for Showdown on Mid-Term Confab at Next Week's Rally

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rejection of a proposal for a 1954 midterm Democratic convention was forecast today among party members preparing for a showdown on the issue at next week's rally in Chicago.

Dixie Democrats who have declared their loyalty to the national party and their willingness to pledge support of its 1956 nominees joined with others who are balking at the loyalty oath requirement in opposing the off-year convention idea.

* * *

Sen. Hill (D-Ala), among others, said any such party gathering could only breed disunity in advance of next year's congressional elections. Hill, an active campaigner in 1952 for former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, has called on all party members to abide by the loyalty pledge.

On the opposite side of the party fence, Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi, who wants the loyalty boat abolished, has attacked the mid-term convention proposal.

The Dixie candidates who will be running for House and Senate seats next year seem to believe in many instances that the less said about the national party's stand on these questions, the better will be their chances of re-election.

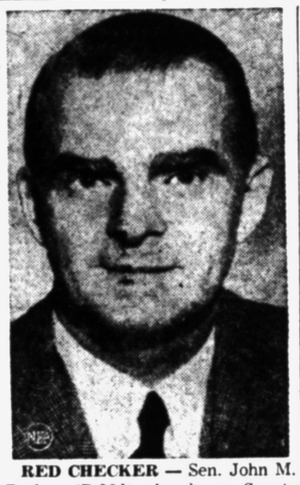
There is some evidence that party leaders, recognizing this view, will attempt to soft-pedal intraparty controversies at the Chicago gathering and concentrate on issues on which all of the Democrats can agree.

In this connection, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), keynoter at a $100-a-plate dinner Sept. 14, is expected to rip into the Eisenhower administration for bringing "big business" into government in Washington.

Douglas said in an interview he doesn't intend to attack either the administration's appointees or their motives but "what I do object to is the philosophy of big business in control of government."

* * *

Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee, and former President Truman also will speak briefly at the dinner. The following night Stevenson will report on his world trip.



RED CHECKER — Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md), heads a Senate subcommittee which will open hearings about Nov. 1 in an investigation of Communist penetration of labor unions. The committee will check violations of existing laws and determine whether there is any need for further legislation to eliminate the Communist influence in labor organizations.

Labor's Day

This year in contrast to some recent Labor Days, the element of crisis is less of a factor in Labor's outlook.

There have been some dislocations due to defense cutbacks and some further adjustment may result from the end of hostilities in Korea.

Despite these, employment nationally remains at record high levels. Nothing has happened internationally to suggest that any further sharp cuts in our defense program are likely for several months.

We don't share the views of those who see in these adjustments a gloomy outlook. On the contrary we think it is better for everybody to forget the pessimists and look ahead with the realism recently shown by Crawford H. Greenewalt, president of Du Pont corporation.

Mr. Greenewalt said those who fear a downturn believe business is unequal to the tasks of peace. He pointed out that of our total production of $360 billion, Government bought only $50 billion, or about one-seventh. The people, and that means all of us, are buying the rest.

The possibility of lower taxes next year and of somewhat less inflationary Government spending seem to us signs that our expanding economy can absorb necessary adjustments without shock.

On this annual holiday it is fitting to remember the great contributions Labor has made to our national security. Through two world conflicts and the Korean War our workers have kept the Nation supplied with the tools of defense. Moreover, the overwhelming majority of them have been solidly behind their leaders' fight to drive Communists out of unions.

Remembering all this we look ahead confidently with a salute to the men and women workers of America who have done so much to make our Nation great.

Perhaps the main reason there's more trouble in the world than ever before is that there are more people in it than ever before.

More Smoke Than Fire

Quick action by U. S., Britain and France gives promise that the latest and apparently contrived crisis over Trieste will fizzle out.

Representatives of the three powers have assured Italy that they would regard any attempt by Yugoslavia to seize part of Trieste as a breach of the Italian Peace Treaty. The truth is that there is more smoke than fire in this "crisis."

In fact there is room for suspicion that rumors of Tito's plans were encouraged by Premier Pella's new Italian government to divert public attention from domestic problems.

Actually Yugoslavia's seasonal military maneuvers were well advertised in advance. Invited guests include Gen. Sir John Harding, chief of the British imperial general staff. This doesn't sound like preparation for any sneak attack.

Under the Italian Peace Treaty Trieste was made into an international zone. Troops of the United States and Britain are occupying the northern section, Zone A. Yugoslav forces are holding the southern part, Zone B. The treaty also provides that occupation would end when internationalization had been completed. This has been blocked by Russia.

★ ★ ★

Both Rome and Belgrade know, however, that U. S. and British troops would defend U. N. interests in Trieste. They also know that any clash over the city would weaken the West and make these two countries more vulnerable to Russian aggression.

U. N. Chief's Good Sense

U. N. General Assembly owes Secretary General Dag Hammarskold a vote of thanks.

He earned it by the manner in which he has handled the cases of the 11 Americans fired by the U. N. for refusing to answer questions about their loyalty. A four member U. N. tribunal ordered reinstatement and back pay for four of the 11 who wanted their jobs back and damages for the seven who preferred cash settlements.

Mr. Hammarskjold, however, has announced that he will not reinstate the four and that he is referring all 11 cases to the General Assembly. He explained his action is based on his belief that it would be "inadvisable from the point of view which it is my duty to take into consideration."

While the Secretary General didn't explain further, it is clear he realizes public opinion here is violently opposed to U. N. employment of Americans who haven't been cleared as loyal.

It is to be hoped this matter will be handled from here on out with as much good sense as Mr. Hammarskjold has displayed. If it is, the justifiable storm aroused by the tribunal's ruling should subside and much further damage to U. N.'s prestige in this country will be averted.

Latest Oakland County outdoor development of the Michigan Department of Conservation to be pushed forward by it is the comprising 6,015 acres and the largest in the county. It is located exactly midway between Pontiac and Flint, and on both sides of the Dixie Highway which bisects it for five miles. In Holly and Groveland Townships, it also is midway between Detroit and Saginaw. Already under way is the department's program to make it a year round recreational center. It is largely an area of rough land, with several lakes and streams and dozens of beautiful picnic sites afforded by the timbered tracts. It is dominated by Haas Hill which overlooks the Dixie Highway and affords a view of several hundred square miles. Several miles of new roads and trails are being built. Many of the picnic tables and other conveniences already are in place.

John Hatchett Denies FEPC Tells Employers Whom They Are Forced to Hire

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature).

David Lawrence's article in the Pontiac Press Sept. 2 should serve as a warning to all liberal minded people and especially to the American Negro that the bigots are still at work.

His unwarranted and vicious attack on F. E. P. C. should never have been printed. In fact, he should be sued for calling F. E. P. C. "a piece of legislation that tells employers whom they shall hire". F. E. P. C. is anything but that.

Men like David Lawrence, who advocate a policy of appeasement towards the South, are no better than such southern diehards as Talmadge and Byrnes.

Lawrence is not an ignorant man, but a clever one whose goal is to maintain the false doctrine of white supremacy at all costs.

So, wake up you Northern Democrats and beware of such a man who insists that the only way the Democratic party can be united is by abandoning its civil rights platform and surrendering wholeheartedly to the South and its racist doctrine.

Florence Diehm Urges Greater Cooperation

With due credit to the business office for the good job it has done in running the TB Sanatorium, I believe a better understanding among the medical supervisor, business manager and board of directors could be obtained.

The recent squabble has left the patient with many anxieties, I, an ex-patient, must rely on the Sanatorium staff for out-patient guidance. X-rays must be read and other tests reported. In this I found Dr. Phillips not only cooperative but very understanding.

He sacrificed his own convenience for the patients' comfort. So his patients could enjoy a radio and conference room, and the janitors another room, he relinquished an office for himself. The Sanatorium has lost a great friend and fine doctor.

As for coercion in signing Dr. Phillips' reinstatement petition, all the patients I visited were anxious to sign. Our Patients' Benefit Assn. desires a better medical and business management relationship.

Revenue Boss Andrews Declares War on Cheating, but Meets With Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—T. Coleman Andrews, the internal revenue commissioner, figured when President Eisenhower appointed him last winter it would take him two years to reorganize the revenue service.

He guesses now it will take a little longer. When he's finished, Andrews says, he will tell his boss, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. Then if the Eisenhower administration wants him to stay, he'll decide about staying.

But he says that if anyone inside the administration attempts to force him into favoring anyone, an individual or a corporation, no one will see him for the dust as he goes out the door.

* * *

He expects no such pressure, he says, and adds that he explained fully his plans to Humphrey and received the secretary's full approval. Andrews says he is working in two directions:

He's decentralizing — putting more authority in the field offices to make decisions on tax settlements, less in Washington; and he's putting more manpower into checking tax returns, less in other kinds of jobs.

So far, Andrews says, he has received wide approval for the steps he has taken from the public and members of Congress. But he concedes the reaction to his reorganization has not been unanimous.

* * *

The main complaint against him, he says, has come from a few "Washington tax practitioners," which, in effect, means tax lawyers.

But some members of Congress, those on committees dealing with tax and finance matters, are waiting for Andrews to give them a fuller explanation of what he is doing.

Some of them feel Andrews and Humphrey rushed the reorganization without giving them time for consultation. Congress could, of course, pass legislation at its session next year undoing Andrews' reorganization, or part of it.

* * *

Andrews himself minimizes criticism from the Capitol, expressing the view that when he sits down with some of the law makers this month any differences between them will be ironed out easily.

The Washington tax "practitioners," he says, have an understandable interest in seeing the revenue service more centralized in Washington. This is the point he makes:

Previously when an individual or corporation had a tax dispute with the government, involving a lot of money, the first step toward a settlement was taken in the field office nearest the taxpayer.

* * *

But the decision there—that the taxpayer should get a refund or pay more than he thought he should have to—was not final. The case then came to Washington for review by a special group in the main office here, called the post-audit division.

So far as the bureau was concerned this groups decision, reversing or upholding the field office, was final.

Andrews says it was when a case came here from the field for final review that the Washington tax specialist, hired by the taxpayer to look after his interests, usually got in on the case.

Andrews abolished this post-audit division. In most instances now the field offices will make the final decision.

* * *

Washington tax lawyers say complaints about Andrews' reorganization come not only from them but from tax lawyers, and some accountants, around the country and that their concern is centered on what they say they fear will be a lack of uniformity in administering the tax law.

One of these lawyers emphasized there was uniformity when there was a central supervision point like the post-audit group to see that the various field offices gave the same kind of decisions.

Now this lawyer says revenue employes in nine different regions will be making the final decisions. Andrews says there never was absolute uniformity but that to suggest there will be none under his plan is to say the national headquarters of the revenue service is incapable of keeping control over the service.

* * *

Besides, Andrews says, the rulings which set the pattern for decision will be made in Washington.

The same tax lawyer mentioned above says he thinks too much decentralization may lead to crookedness in the field offices which now will be under less direct control from Washington. Andrews' comment on that is this:

"The field is going to be only as honest as the headquarters and we here in Washington certainly don't intend to sell out the taxpayers and the administration."

Girls Hungry for Tips on Etiquette, Says Zelda

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Zelda is the type of woman who leads an abundant life. She stimulates her associates to better deeds. She doesn't limit her educational efforts to her own big family, but serves as a sparkplug in P-T-A and church work, too. She is the type who should be enshrined on Mother's Day.

Case H-379: Zelda Cozean is the mother of 6 youngsters and lives in Farmington, Missouri. She typifies an ideal American mother.

"Dr. Crane, will you please mail me 10 copies of your 'Test For Mothers' and also 10 copies of the 'Test for Fathers,' and send them at once?" she asked.

"For I'm to handle the program for our county P-T-A, and the general topic is 'How to be a Good Parent.'

"Years ago I secured many of your bulletins by way of the newspaper and they have certainly helped me in rearing my family, as well as in community and church work.

"I wish I could write more fully about it all, but I am always so rushed with my six children and outside activities that I never get all my tasks finished from one day to the next.

"However, I take time at least once per year to rate myself all over again on your 'Test for Mothers.'

"But, I never make the same score. For I fall down on some counts but raise my standing on others.

"For instance, when I am carrying a baby, I drop in church work and P-T-A activities.

"And I don't get to read as many stories to my little ones. But I work hard to offset those losses by letting the children assumes more responsibility and launching group projects, so that raises my score.

"By means of these Rating Scales I have found that rearing my family has been a happy, wonderful adventure.

"And I have employed them with equal success in teaching a Sunday school class of teen-age girls. We adopted the Compliment Club idea as a means of putting the Golden Rule into daily action.

"Then we'd report our results each Sunday morning. And I also assigned the 'Tests for Sweethearts.' Over a period of several Sundays we would discuss them.

"They seemed delighted to have me show them how to acknowledge an introduction, and how to walk properly, etc.

"Then there was the Women's Missionary Society. When our study of family life grew insipid or theoretical, I simply pepped things up by using your "Test for a Good Wife."

"I'd rapidly read some of the items on that test and let them rate themselves. You could tell by each woman's face whether she passed each item with flying colors or failed on it.

"Most of my original tests disappeared during the meetings for they were passed on from one woman to another.

"But they served their purpose so well, that I want 10 sets of the 'Parents Tests' for my P-T-A county meeting next week. Then the leaders can take them back to the local chapters of their P-T-A and have something useful for program material during the year."

Mrs. Cozean's experiences have been duplicated thousands of times by you readers who are Program Chairman of your groups.

Be grateful the modern newspaper is such an ally of happier homes, better teaching in the schools, etc., for such aids were not available even 20 years ago.

Acetyl-Salicylic Acid (Aspirin) Safest of All Pain-Killers, Claims Dr. Brady

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

After long consideration I am constrained to say that I know of no analgesic (pain-killer) that is safer than acetyl-salicylic acid (aspirin).

At the same time I quote from Bastedo's Materia Medica, Pharmacology and Therapeutics (authoritative textbook), this statement:

"From aspirin, death has resulted from 0.3 and 0.7 gm. (5 and 10 grains), and 30 gm. (1 oz.) have been recovered from. There may be petechial (small spots) hemorrhages in stomach or serous membranes, glomerulonephritis (inflammation of kidneys) and hepatic (liver) and cardiac (heart) damage . . . feelings of weakness, collapse, angioneurotic (giant hive) swellings of face, throat, skin rashes rarely death."

On two or three occasions I have taken 5 or 10 grains of aspirin (the cheapest make the druggist can supply, for aspirin is just aspirin no matter what price) to relieve ache or pain and it worked admirably.

In Little Lesson No. 2, the C V D booklet, about heart and artery troubles, there is a chapter on the Abuse of Analgesic Drugs, in which I say:

"Not only for safety but for the most efficient action of the medicine, it is an excellent rule to lie down for an hour, at least, whenever you take any analgesic drug, whether aspirin, acetanilid, antipyrin, aminopyrine or one of the barbiturates."

If I could not remain lying down for an hour after such a dose I wouldn't take the medicine at all.

To the best of my knowledge there is no scientific evidence that these analgesic (sense deadening) drugs have any remedial or curative effect other than to benumb ache, pain or the fidgets regardless of cause.

Yet there are innumerable nostrums, the active ingredient of which is acetanilid, for instance, purporting to be good for colds, neuralgia, neuritis, grippe, lumbago, rheumatism, headache, sore throat or what have you.

And millions of ninnyhammers or knuckleheads taks these nostrums in the belief that the drugs will "break up" such ailments.

A characteristic sign of acetanilid poisoning or of acetanilid addiction is cyanosis — bluish skin, nail lips. This livid hue is due principally to interference with the oxygen-carrying function of the hemoglobin.

Besides this tell-tale bluish or purplish appearance, another characteristic effect of acetanilid and phenacetin (or, as they are called in various nostrums, phenylacetamide and acetphenetidin) is severe anemia.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Heat Bursts Window as Car Cooks in Sun

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — A heat wave cooked a car to such a high temperature that the rear window blew out.

Girl Upset Because Her Special Beau Was Caught Kissing Some Other Lass

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: For over a year Bill has been taking me to the proms and big dates. We both date others, but he only takes other girls to the show and small dates, saying I'm his special girl for the big doings.

"Since I've gone with him, he has never kissed another girl and I've never kissed another boy. But last week a friend of mine caught him kissing another girl.

"Should I ever let him kiss me again? Do you think it was wrong for him to do that?

"He claims she asked him to and though he didn't like her, he took advantage of her offer as any other boy would do. Should I believe him? Should I give him another date?"

A friend of yours caught Bill kissing another girl and galloped to tell you the tragic news. When quizzed, he honestly admitted it and gave a perfectly rational masculine explanation.

I personally think enough has been said on the subject between you. That little kissing game can poison your relationship with Bill if you keep thinking about it and talking about it.

For game is all it was. The same sort of game boys play when they catch a girl under the mistletoe. It doesn't matter whose girl she is; any girl who allows herself to get caught is fair game. And nobody's supposed to have permanently hurt feelings over it.

Of course, believe him. Yes, have more dates with him. Yes, let him kiss you. Yes, stop taking it so seriously.

Can't you dig up enough feminine tolerance to smile and chickle over a boy just being a boy?

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like Pat very much, but when he is with me he keeps talking about the other girls he has dated.

"Also, in a kidding way, he tells the other boys that they can take me out. What should I do—tell him about it or keep silent and do nothing?"

Pat's idea of a gag has you down. He doesn't want you to get the idea that you matter a hoot to him, so he's playing down your importance to him.

In much the same way that a mother who's cross with her offspring says she's willing to trade him for one used 2-cent stamp. She certainly doesn't mean a word of it.

And I doubt if Pat does, either. He talks about other girls because he thinks it sounds big, it impresses you and he doesn't know what else to talk about.

He offers you to the other boys as though you were so much excess baggage, just to make you feel unimportant.

If you tell him about it, what can you say? That you're hurt, supposed to be amused! He's just playing a boy's game.

You Adore Your Garden? Put Up Floral Draperies

The well-known New York decorator suggested using fabric to provide color keyed to your type.

For the outdoor woman, the one who cherishes her garden and indulges in sports, Pahlmann advised bringing the air of the outdoors into her home.

He said: "Her windows should begin with Venetian blinds to admit all the light possible and should be given a lavish drapery threatment of a crisp chintz patterened with florals to draw attention to the windows and the view outside."

For the more formal atmosphere of the active clubwoman Pahlmann suggested the increasingly popular monochromatic range of violet — with a curtain fabric featuring blooms of lilac, wallpaper in a muted mauve tone and upholstery in tints ranging from China-pink to lilac and purple-blue.

The busy career woman gets a special tip from the New York decorator. He urged: "Spend plenty of time selecting one patterened fabric to your liking, then adopt this pattern's color scheme to the entire room."

Because the beige and brown color range is relaxing and a softly sheer fabric flatters a business woman's "at home" personality, Pahlmann advised something like a water lily print done on filmy organza with shades of bronze, gold, coral and pink over pale pink Venetian blinds, and solid-colored upholstery fabrics with nubby textures in gold, bronze and coral.

For the maximum effect of spaciousness, Phalmann recommended that walls, window valance and blinds match in a deep shade of blue-turquoise; black drapery fabric thickly shot with copper threads, black nubby upholstery for sofa and white copper-threaded fabric for chairs.

Housewife Wants Job as Home Typist for a Biological or Chemical Company

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Mrs. J. C. J. has written to ask me about the possibility of typing reports and so forth at home for biological and chemical firms.

Most women I know who have done this usually have managed to find work either because the firm they had worked for previously remembered them, and was willing to make such an arrangement, or because they conducted a very good direct mail campaign to this type of company.

If Mrs. J. C. J. can manage to begin on a part-time basis in some such company's office, or perhaps to take a month's temporary job with one, it will give her an opportunity to demonstrate her ability and pave the way for their ready acceptance of a homework arrangement.

If not, I would suggest that she go to her public library and get a copy of the Standard Advertising Register, which lists all companies according to the product which they make.

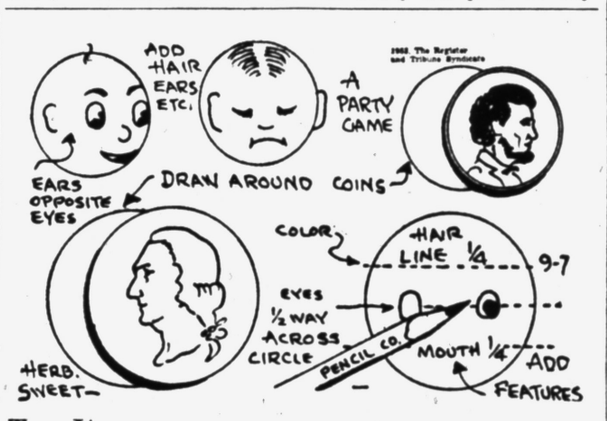
In this way, she can get a list of all manufacturers of biological and chemical products located in her territory.

She might then address a very businesslike letter to the Personnel Director, asking if she can come in and talk with him about the possibility of work at home, indications, and — if she can arrange to do so — her willingness to pick up and deliver the material.

If she knows the dictaphone, her task will be that much easier.

By means of such a letter, sent to a sufficient number of companies, she will doubtless end up with a home typing job.

However, as I have just said, the best way for a woman to get typing work at home is first to take a temporary job in the employer's office, prove to him how conscientious and able she is, and make him realize that it will be worth the extra trouble involved to have her do his typing at home.



Try It

Practice Drawing Faces

Here is a way to have some fun and you do not need many materials to do it. You will need some plain scrap paper, some coins and a pencil.

Perhaps you think that you cannot draw, but learning to draw for most people, and even artists, is to know the different proportions of things. Here is a way to learn how to draw simple faces — and it is fun!

Use a coin to make the circle of the face. Now, you are ready to draw in the featureas. If you would just start and draw them in any place, I bet that you would think that they looked mighty queer, but you would not know just what was wrong.

Here is a rule to follow. In a face the eyes are in the middle of the head. Surprised? I was too when I first learned this. Put the eyes in the middle.

The hair should come one-fourth of the way down from the top, and the mouth should be one-fourth of the way up from the bottom. Ears should be on the same level with the eyes. How does the face look now?

Try side views or profiles as you become better. This makes a good party game too, for you can try to draw pictures of each other.

Aluminum Foil Keeps Oven Clean

When young sons and daughters become the family's experimental cooks, a wise mother saves herself work by keeping the bottom of the oven lined with a sheet of aluminum foil.

Spill-overs don't char the oven and a runny failure is easier to clean up.

Shampoo Awnings

You can shampoo your fabric awnings by scrubbing them on their frames and rinsing them with a garden hose. Dry them before you store them away.

Hints Make Easy Window Washing

A few drops of kerosene and a little bluing added to the soapsuds will make your windows sparkle.

PETUNIA!

I stand completely humbled.
It's made with Roquefort dressing
And bacon, crisp and crumbled.

BISHOP-BRACKEN

Youngsters Will Benefit If Parents Prune Away Some of Their Protection

Mike is a small boy I've known since he was born. I've seen him incredulous and over-excited on Christmases and birthdays. I've seen him carried to bed, content and secure in his father's arms.

But joy in its pure state I didn't see in Mike until the afternoon he returned from his first day at school. He scrambled up the steps and said to me with shining eyes: "I took myself to school today all by myself."

Mike was not scared of his first day at school. Nor had his parents been afraid for him. They hadn't fooled themselves. Realistic people, they knew it was his first real venture into the world without them.

They knew it might mean his first encounter with outside hurt and injustice from which they could not shield him. This didn't bother them one bit, for they regard human experience with these things not as disastrous, but as beneficent.

I suppose that a grapevine which comes under the farmer's pruning shears might conceivably regard its injury as disastrous.

That would be because the unreasoning vine could not appreciate the function of the pruning shears. To the vine, the shears would represent hurt instead of stimulation to growth.

That's not my own encouraging figure of speech for parents of small ones approaching their first day at school. It originated with an infinitely more wise and tender friend of children who said: "My Father purgeth every branch that it may bring forth more fruit."

Let's try to remember this idea of the benefits of pruning away some of our parental protection for our small ones' first day of school.

We're not unthinking vegetables. We're human beings endowed with reason and experience, so that we should be able to see our child's future in the round, with seasons of hurt alternating with seasons of fruitfulness.

We're going to have to sooner or later if we're going to be peaceful and trusted parents. We're going to have to use our reason and experience if the outside hurts and injustices are to be explained and absorbed.

If we can't see it this way, it's apt to be because our own prunings still appear so cruel that we've not been able to grow away from them.

Otherwise we could not possibly want to shield Jimmy and Betty from first days at school, first days on jobs—or first days at anything that lies ahead of them.

Oven-Proof China Blends Informality, Good Looks

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Sunday-best china, and fine linen and formal silver — or pottery that's gay and suits easy-to-serve meals?

It once was believed that the two opposite advantages never could be rolled into one, but they have been, in new dinnerware that has the good points of both and more than a little new smartness of its own.

It has the quality that always sets china apart, chipping and cracking resistance and the special ability to withstand oven heat so serving pieces can beat a straight path from the kitchen to the table.

It's styled to look well with easy-to-care-for linens and silver or stainless steel, but has china's extra good looks.

In tones of wood, pewter and copper are motifs appropriate to the pieces, for example, an old coffee mill on the coffee pot, a butter mold on the butter plate, a pickle fork on the relish dish, a magnified sugar crystal in the bottom of the cup.

Mrs. B. A. J. "Is it possible to make a slipcover for a channel-back chair?"

Best slipcovering results come from following the lines of the original upholstery — that is, making seams in the slipcover in the same places they appear in the permanent cover.

Make a muslin pattern, cutting strips to fit each channel section, and baste it together and fit it on the chair back before cutting the slipcover fabric.

Mrs. D. H. "Our kitchen has ceiling-to-floor cabinets which cover one entire wall. They are now varnished, but we intend to remove the varnish and paint them.

"Should the cabinets be white to match the color of the woodwork or should they be light olive green, the color of the upper walls? The lower walls are white."

Either white or green would be successful. Have you thought of a green wood stain instead of paint? Since the varnish must be removed, the wood will be in condition for staining, and stain effects are good looking and new.

Pair to Make Their Home in Denver

Nancy Dodds Weds Ralph L. Cotton in Christ Church Rite

BIRMINGHAM — Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Dodds were hosts at the wedding reception of his daughter, Nancy, Saturday afternoon in their home in Willow Lane.

Nancy was married in Christ Church Cranbrook at four-thirty to Ralph L. Cotton of Denver, Colo. He is the son of Mrs. J. Glenn Donaldson of Denver and the late Dr. Cotton.

The bridal gown was of candlelight tulle over satin with Pointe de Lyon lace outlining the neckline and forming princess lines down the bouffant skirt and sweeping train. A princess cap of the same lace held a tiered finger-tip veil and she carried white orchids and stephanotis.

Jane Dodds was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Grace Mack of Birmingham, Mrs. Gerald M. Dick, Mrs. Louis C. Wollenweber Jr., sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ernest K. Cotton, all of Denver.

They all wore strapless ballerina frocks of Elizabeth-blue net with matching shrug jackets. Their head bands were of blue net and they carried blue daisies.

Ernest K. Cotton was his brother's best man and ushers included Louis Wollenweber Jr., James and William Dodds, brothers of the bride, William Bryans and Duval Harvey of Denver.

For her wedding trip to Northern Michigan the bride wore a gray suit and matching hat. They will live in Denver.

4-Step Process Returns Beauty Overnight

If you want to try a beauty treatment that works overnight, costs nothing, and is effortless and unfailing — it's sound sleep. Sleep rests your body and clears your mind. And it's your best defense against the harsh record the day's work and worry may imprint on your face.

A current magazine says that sleep will freshen your looks as nothing else can. Your mirror will bless you when you wake, if you take a quiet half-hour every evening to spend on yourself. Let the night work to shape your hair, soften your hands, smooth your skin — and the long hours of rest will truly be "beauty sleep."

Your bedtime beauty routine should be a matter of easy habit. Any woman who really cares will work out her own pet system, but here is one suggested in the article that works well.

1. Sit down and leisurely brush your hair. Each stroke will liven the luster of your hair, and as you work, tension will flow away.

2. Wash off make-up with soap and warm water, or cream or both. When your face feels clean, apply some emollient cream and let it stay until you are ready for bed. Even if your skin is oily, you need a slick of cream over eye, mouth, and throat lines. Remember, nothing does more to keep your skin fine and silky than a nightly facial.

3. Fix your hair to stay prettily in place tomorrow. It may need a complete resetting. If so, do it up in pin curls or on curlers, and tie on a fetching night band. If your curls are in good shape, comb them into your best hair-do, slip in a few strategic pins, and cover all with a net.

4. Then step into a comfortably warm scented tub, and bathe slowly and so to bed — clean, relaxed and aware that time spent tonight saves trouble tomorrow.

'Brain' Kettle Makes Coffee

The electric kettle is a streamlined, polished aluminum pot with a non-heating handle and a close-fitting lid. It comes complete with its own wired and easily lifted stand, and a small attached plug-in unit equipped with a switch.

Once switched on, the kettle will boil the water, fill the waiting coffee pot or tea cup, and switch itself off—all automatically.

If it is not filled with water, the "brain" comes into action — the kettle refuses to be switched on. Nor can it boil dry—when the water is gone it turns itself off.

Mattress Care Tips

Are you giving your mattresses proper care? They should be aired daily, turned and vacuumed or brushed once a week. If there are any soiled spots, you might try sponging them with a little soapy water, then sponging again with clear water; dry quickly with an electric fan.

Coming Events

Pontiac Toastmistress Club will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in Hotel Waldron.

Quick Sewing Circle will meet Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Gennie Bowles, 25 Lewis St., with a cooperative luncheon at noon.

Zone Eight Past Presidents Club, MOMS of America, Inc., will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. George Dodman, 3076 Martell St.

Keep Attachments for Vacuum Handy

House beauty and family health depend much on effective cleaning, says an editor of a popular woman's magazine. Store the vacuum cleaner attachments where they can be taken out easily so as to make the most convenient use of them.

Vacuum cleaner attachments pick up dust without spreading it. There are dozens of uses for dusting tools that some homemakers never have thought of, which all add up to this advice: get acquainted with your vacuum cleaner.

Honeymooning in Northern Michigan

Honeymooning in northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Bell, who were married Saturday evening in the Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The bride, the former Joan Pearl Frederiksen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Frederiksen of Baldwin avenue. The Gilford E. Bells of Elm street are Raymond's parents.

Rev. Richard D. Lobb, the bride's cousin from Grand Blanc, performed the service before 200 guests, assisted by the Rev. H. E. Ryan.

MRS. RAYMOND E. BELL

The floor-length skirt was inserted with lace, and a lace Juliet cap held her fingertip veil. A lavender orchid surrounded with stephanotis and ivy was arranged on a prayerbook for her bouquet.

Mrs. Harold E. Bell was matron of honor, wearing a lavender gown of nylon tulle over taffeta with rows of tiny tulle ruffles accenting the skirt and attached stole.

In similar gowns of yellow and blue were the other attendants, Dorothy Bell and Mrs. Laverne Silvis. They all carried Carrolton bouquets of gladioli in shades to match their gowns.

Mr. Silvis performed the duties of best man and the bride's brother, Gerald, seated the guests with Wilmer Plass of Flushing.

Mrs. Bell chose navy blue crepe with lace inserts and seed pearls trimming the neckline. Her accessories were pink, and her corsage was of pink rubrum lilies.

Joan later changed to a pale gray wool dress with black velvet accessories and the orchid from her bouquet, for the wedding trip. On their return from northern Michigan, the new Mr. and Mrs. Bell will reside on Elm street.

Birmingham Man, California Girl Plan Wedding

In Corona DelMar, Calif., the engagement of Velma Gates Cass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pliny Cass, to LeGrand A. Daly of Birmingham was announced.

He is the son of Mrs. LeGrand Daly of Glenn Terraces and the late Mr. Daly. He attended Cranbrook School and Vermont Academy and was graduated from Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif.,

The engagement of Miss Cass was announced last Saturday at a tea at her home. She is a graduate of Occidental College in Los Angeles.

Mr. Daly is stationed at present at Camp Gordon, Ga. They are planning a winter wedding.

Solemnize Chatterton-Simpson Nuptials

Under an arch entwined with carnations, in the First Baptist Church, High Point, N. C., Billie Iris Simpson became the bride of Richard G. Chatterton, son of the Glenn Chattertons of Sylvan Lake, Saturday evening.

The Bryan Simpsons of High Point, N. C., are her parents.

For the 8 o'clock cermony, the bride was dressed in white Queen's Choice lace over slipper satin. The dress featured a fitted basque, high stand-up collar and full skirt ending in a chapel train.

In yellow net over taffeta with pleated net stoles were Mrs. Elmer Simpson and Anne Simpson, matron and maid of honor. Their arm bouquets were of asters and carnations.

MRS. RICHARD G. CHATTERTON

Deborah Porterfield wore white ruffled organdy with a garland of white flowers and carried rose petals for her duties as flower girl. Marvin Brown carried the ring.

Jerry Chatterton was his brother's best man. The bride's brother, Elmer Simpson, seated the guests with Bill Thomas, Harold Gill, Bill Clark, all of High Point, N. C.

Toast colored lace was worn by Billie's mother for the occasion, and Mrs. Chatterton wore azure blue satin with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids.

After a reception at the home of the Elmer Simpsons, the bride changed to a silk shantung dress of paradise blue with a matching jacket and black accessories for the wedding trip to Niagara Falls. On their return, the couple will live in Royal Oak.

Mother Should Encourage Sub-Teen Girl's Interest in Beauty Gadgets

There is no substitute for an easy relaxed coat. Large plaid for the tall, non-fattening stripes for the small woman.

Miss C. L.—The impact of suburban living dictates the stunning loose wrap and belted coat. The large overplaid design if you are over five feet tall or the diagonal striped for practically all women.

Many Found Wiring Was Inadequate

Summer Provided a New Lesson for Homeowners

By HUBBARD COBB

Each summer people learn all sorts of wonderful things.

This summer a lot of people learned that too much exposure to the sun will produce a burn; that exposure to poison ivy will produce an itch and that too much cold lobster, ice cream and pickles will take some of the joy out of living.

Lots of people also learned that the wiring in their homes was very inadequate.

Generally speaking, people don't have much trouble with overloaded electrical circuits in summer because they don't use too many electrical appliances, but this summer things were different because of room air conditioners.

Now a room air conditioner doesn't use a vast amount of current, but in far too many homes it used just enough to cause trouble. Fuses blew, lights went dim, wires got warm and electrical appliances didn't work properly.

Now this was not the fault of the fuses, the lights or the appliances. It was just the fact that too much current was being used for the size of the wires in the house.

Some people got around this little headache by using larger fuses and some of these same people had a little fire because of those over-size fuses.

The only practical solution to this problem is either to have an electrician install additional circuits or increase the size of the existing wire.

Installing additional circuits is not too much of a job — installing heavy duty wires is quite an undertaking unless you are going into an extensive remodeling job.

LISTEN, LADIES! How come even the most finicky of housewives—for some strange reason that is never explained—like to traipse around the place in bare feet? Slippers are just as comfy—and safer!

Get Family in Top Shape for Christmas

Who wants to think about Christmas now, except those who dream of cooler weather? Maybe the people we always envy, those lookers-ahead who always do things while we just think about them.

Since many Christmas gifts come in sizes, a fact which many recipients would like to hide, there's a way to solve the size problem and "recondition" a family in the process.

The mother of the family—the actual instigator of family events—could announce that with fall and winter coming there's going to be a family program of recreation. The men are going hunting, and there'll be skating, skiing, dancing and icefishing. Just for health and safety's sake the family should be in good physical condition.

The first thing on the program will be a weighing-in and measurement session. No doubt the days at the beach will have revealed the family's true shape! The next will be a revision in meal planning, menus which build up or take off weight — nutritional foods which the skinnies eat with trimmings, the fatties eat plain.

But where does Christmas come in? Think a minute. There really isn't much time between now and the big day. Getting in trim for hunting season will take a couple of weeks, then a couple more for skating and skiing, and the wonderful pre-Christmas affairs that follow Thanksgiving.

The reconditioning program will become a day to day habit of better living, and the ultimate result —smaller than last year's for the fatties, and similar gifts for the slim ones in more glamourous sizes.

Our One-Yard Wonder is a sew-easy Wonder — and a Wardrobe Doubler, too! Whip it up in a jiffy —mix it, match it with everything this fall! Note the new slim lines —the off-center back pleat for style and walking pleasure. Quick, sew it now!

Pattern 4686: Misses' waist sizes 24, 25, 26, 28, 30, 32 inches. All given sizes 1 yard 54-inch.

Predict All Paint Will Be Odorless

WILMINGTON, Del. (INS)—The Dupont Co. is predicting that all interior paints soon will be odorless.

The concern has introduced odor-free finishes in semi-gloss and gloss enamels as well as in flat wall paints.

Both Hubby, Wife Garbed Unsuitably

By EMILY POST

A wife writes "The other day, after my husband and I arrived home from shopping in the hot city, I changed into shorts and my husband made himself comfortable by removing his shirt. After awhile the doorbell rang and it was two very dear friends of ours.

"When I turned and saw that my husband had not put on his shirt, I was terribly embarrassed. They stayed only a short while and then left.

"I thought my husband was very wrong in not having excused himself to put on his shirt, but he argues that I was just as unsuitably dressed to receive visitors and that being the case I should have changed, too."

Answer: I agree with you that your husband should have put on his shirt; and although not as important, I think it might have been better if you had put on a skirt.

Dear Mrs. Post: Since I've broken my plans to be married, this leaves my girl friend, who was to have been my maid of honor, with a fairly expensive dress which she has bought and paid for.

I feel terrible and want to do whatever is my duty about her expense. What is customary in such a case?

Answer: If it is a dress that she will have no future use for, and you can afford it, you should pay for it. Otherwise, you should share the expense insofar as you are able.

Dear Mrs. Post: After my brother's death, my sister-in-law remarried. Is she still considered my sister-in-law?

This has caused considerable argument in our family. I claim she is no longer related, but other members of my family disagree.

Answer: It is a question of your affection. You may call her your sister-in-law or not as your and her feelings dictate.

Dear Mrs. Post: What should be done in the way of showing appreciation to the friends, and strangers, who have answered appeals to supply blood for my husband?

Answer: You can't do anything more than thank them sincerely.

Jewels Need Care

Jewelry requires special care, especially pearls, which can be damaged by perspiration, grease or heat. Therefore, pearls should be kept in a separate case and restrung every four months with knots between each pearl.

One of the most beautiful prints to be seen in many a year is this lovely full-bloomed rose design on worsted crepe. Strikingly fashioned in a scooped-necked slim sheath with its own rib-cage bolero jacket, it's a perfect costume for afternoon and on into evening.

One thing leads to another. A sub-teen girl's interest in her mother's beauty aids can develop into good grooming habits that will last a lifetime.

Daughter Will Learn Good Habits

Show Her How to Keep Immaculate, Well-Groomed

The day your sub-teen daughter starts to get interested in the pretty things you keep on your dressing table and in the bathroom presents a golden opportunity to get her started on a grooming routine of her own.

Naturally she's more interested, a first, in the gadgets than she is in the grooming. But any mother who is a real opportunist will consider this a means to an end, and start working accordingly.

Keep your lipstick under lock and key, if you like, and store your face powder in the highest shelf.

But when it comes to the gadgets you use for the essential grooming that goes under your cosmetics — let her get as curious as possible about them. Leave them out where she can reach them. Then show her how to use them.

Explain what the pretty body brush is for, and she'll still be interested when you get to the part about smoothly clean elbows, knees and ankles — and their importance to a girl whether she's little or big.

The fun of sudsing it up and using it gives her a new interest that leads to a good habit which will serve her well for the rest of her life.

When daughter asks about your back brush, show her how to use it. She will find out that soapsuds and massage make her back and shoulders feel good. By the time their appearance is important to her, this basic beauty care is a well-established habit.

Don't shudder when your little girl reaches for your complexion brush. Instead, show her how to lather it up and use it properly.

Face-washing takes on new and attractive importance in her mind. Its importance becomes permanent after a while — and assures her of a lovelier skin when she needs it.

Even those prominent grime-catchers, nails and knuckles, can benefit from an interest in a nail brush. Show her how to use it now — and help her form a habit that will lead to attractive hands later.

Help her get this permanently fixed in her mind — and she's set firmly on the road to the good grooming and beauty that will stand her in such good stead always.

Eggplant With Sauce Delicious

Mrs. Ruggers Has Sugden Lake Home; Likes This Recipe

By JANET ODELL
(Pontiac Press Food Editor)

Are you tempted whenever you see the shiny purple eggplants at market? Mrs. Frank Ruggers of Sugden Lake has a recipe that uses this beautiful vegetable in a casserole dish.

With a home on the lakeshore, Mrs. Ruggers is able to enjoy swimming and ice skating. In the winter she also likes to bowl. She is expert in needlework and crocheting.

CREOLE EGGPLANT
By Mrs. Frank Ruggers

Peel and slice an eggplant in ½ inch slices. If the eggplant is unusually large, cut the slices in half. Salt and dip in egg and bread crumbs. Fry in a small amount of fat until brown.

Place browned eggplant in casserole, cover with a layer of canned spaghetti sauce. Repeat these two layers until the casserole is full. Sprinkle with grated Romano or other sharp cheese. Bake in a 350 oven about one hour or until tender.

Tires, Batteries Jinx Most Cars

But they require care and consideration if they are to perform well. During 1952, more than 50 per cent of all car breakdowns were directly attributable to tire and battery trouble, which could have been avoided by pre-trip foresight.

This figure was given to me by officials of the American Automobile Association, which conducted an extensive survey of motoring misfortunes over the past year.

According to their statistics, tire trouble, either flats or blowouts, accounted for 25.98 per cent of all car breakdowns. The next highest total, 25.56 per cent, can be laid to different types of battery trouble.

"Can't-starts," such as wet wires and dirty points, caused a total of 11.87 per cent of all highway trouble. Only 10 per cent of all forced stops required the special and expensive services of tow-trucks for more complex car difficulties.

Meet Mr. Nutley Is New Comedy

Actor to Find Himself Involved in Mixups at Girls' College

NEW YORK — Academy Award winner Ray Milland will make his television debut as star of "Meet Mr. McNutley," a new weekly situation comedy series which has its premiere on television Thursday, Sept. 17.

As Professor Ray McNutley, head of the English Department of Lynnhaven College for Women, Milland makes full use of his exceptional talent for comedy.

Professor McNutley is handsome, charming, intelligent and just absentminded enough so that his reactions to normal environmental stimuli set off a chain reaction of humorous mix-ups.

Straightener-upper is his beautiful, understanding — though resigned — wife, Peggy, played by Phyllis Avery, petite blonde actress who made her mark on Broadway as the feminine lead of "Winged Victory."

Stern and unyielding, Dean Bradley frequently has occasion to doubt the sanity of the head of her English Department.

Completing the cast is Mr. McNutley's best friend, Pete Thompson, to be played by hefty ex-footballer Gordon Jones. Pete, always with the best of intentions, manages to get McNutley's foot on the path of ruin, frequently despite the Professor's better judgment.

"Meet Mr. McNutley" is written by Joseph E. Connelly and Robert Mosher, the same comedy writing team that penned the "Amos 'n' Andy" series.

Veteran director Charles Barton, who had the same assignment on "Amos 'n' Andy," will direct "Meet Mr. McNutley."

SCHOOL DAZE — Academy Award winner Ray Milland makes his television debut as Ray McNutley, a charming, intelligent but quite absent minded English professor at Lynhaven College for Women. The new series titled "Meet Mr. McNutley" will begin on Thursday, Sept. 17.

Funeral Service Today for Dr. Lee Thurston

LANSING (UP) — Service will be held today (at 2 p. m.) for Dr. Lee M. Thurston, U. S. commissioner of education who died in Washington last Friday.

Thurston, a noted Michigan educator who was state superintendent of public instruction before taking the Washington position, will be buried Tuesday at Central Lake, his birthplace.

Hurricane May Brush New England Coast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau warned hurricane "Carol" will brush against the New England coast today but predicted it would then veer away toward the sea.

"This is still a dangerous storm," the bureau warned in a special morning bulletin on the third hurricane of the season.

Highest winds were estimated at 100 m.p.h. near the storm center, due to pass to the east of Nantucket, Mass., around 9 or 10 a.m., EST.

First locks and keys were made by an Egyptian locksmith out of wood.

Rita Hayworth, Dick Haymes Still to Marry

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Rita Hayworth said last night that she loves crooner Dick Haymes and is going to marry him as soon as possible.

"I'm 100 per cent behind Dick in all his troubles," the actress told a reporter. "I love him and I will marry him here as soon as possible."

Haymes, a native of Argentina, has been having immigration trouble since he flew to Hawaii last spring to visit Miss Hayworth. In addition, his wife Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes has sued him for divorce in California.

* * *

However, it was reported that Haymes will seek a Nevada divorce from his wife when he has satisfied this state's six-week residence requirement on Sept. 20. A tentative date of Sept. 24 has been set for his marriage in Las Vegas to Miss Hayworth.

The U. S. immigration service is seeking to deport him, claiming that because he signed a waiver from military service during World War II as a citizen of a neutral country he is ineligible to become an American citizen. The immigration service contends that by leaving the continental United States (to visit Rita in Hawaii) he laid himself open to the deportation proceedings. Haymes is fighting their action.

California Boys' Motto: 'State Fair or Bust'

SOMEWHERE NEAR THE State fair, Calif. (AP)—Two 13-year-old boys were arming like pioneers today on a 100-mile covered wagon trek to the California State Fair at Sacramento.

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A lone Allied military policeman stood guard today at this tent city which for 33 days was the scene of frenzied activity during the exchange of Korean War prisoners.

CUSHING, Okla. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Lee Stiles was questioning a suspect about forged checks.

The suspect pointed out he was a stranger in town and had earned the checks as a farm laborer. Stiles asked where the farm was.

"Just outside of Cushing," was the answer.

"Three miles west on State Highway 33."

Saginaw Men Rescued After Sailboat Capsizes

BAY PORT (AP) — Three 23-year-old Saginaw men were rescued from Wildfowl Bay last night after clinging to their capsized 18-foot sail boat for two hours off Sand Point.

They were Percy Tophan, Nicholas Sneltzer and James McGovern.

They were spotted from shore and an alarm sounded. The rescue was made by three Bay Port commercial fishermen: Floy Harder, Robert Harder and Don Kitzman.

Their boat was upset in a sudden squall and overturned in 15 feet of water a mile off shore.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By Billy Rose

LOST: 30 YEARS. Will finder please return them to Billy Rose. Liberal reward and no questions asked.

Last Sunday I celebrated my 54th birthday, and if anyone wants to know how it feels to be 54, I can answer in one word — ouch!

ROSE

Only yesterday, or so it seems, I was watching Christy Mathewson at the Polo Grounds and daydreaming about Mary Pickford. Only yesterday, Helen Morgan was sitting on her first piano, Calvin Coolidge was wearing a funny Indian hat, and TV was merely a monogram.

Only yesterday, I was unlined, undaunted and uninhibited, and on the rare occasions when I could afford a taxi the driver used to call me "Mac."

Suddenly — crash! bam! thank you ma'am! — I'm three decades older and cab drivers are calling me "Pop."

Softer and weepier, professor.

Back in the days when a weenie was festive fodder, I could skate all day, run the 100 in 11 seconds, and get all the sleep I needed in my history class.

Today, when I sit down, I'd just as lief they didn't play "The Star Spangled Banner" for a few minutes.

As for the snows of yesteryear, I finally know where they are — they're piled up around my temples.

Come to think of it, though, the 20th Century and I are about the same age, and the Century's not doing so bejabbers either. When we were both in knee pants, as I remember us, we were both a lot easier to take.

For one thing, there weren't so many chips on our shoulders and, for another, there weren't so many kinks in our heads.

True, I might throw a bag of water out the window at a kid, and Teddy Roosevelt might throw a bag of adjectives at Nicaragua, but that was about the extent of our delinquencies.

Today, I regret to report, I'm a lot more ornery, and as for the Century, it considers the year lost if it doesn't wipe out a population or so.

I admit there was plenty of room for improvement in what I remember as "the good old days." To begin with, the average Joe was underpaid, and "unemployment insurance" and "old age pensions" were considered naughty words. But I sometimes wonder if we haven't paid one heck of a price for the progress we have made.

* * *

Take the case of the average young fellow today. As soon as he gets to the point where he can start to save a little money, he runs smack into a dead end called taxes and, barring a miracle, he can't stay anywhere but put. His chances of pulling an Horatio Alger are practically nil.

* * *

"You're an average guy," the Century says to him, "and I've gimmicked it up so that you'll remain average."

As if that weren't enough, the Century has recently thrown us the meanest curve of all: we're scared of our lives.

Thanks to the scientific Peeping Toms, we figure to spend the rest of our days standing on one foot waiting for a cup of hydrogen to drop out of the sky. Sure, we're still cracking wise, but our laughter, as I hear it, has thinned down to a nervous giggle.

But enough of crying over spilled years. To be fair to it, the Century has produced plenty of good along with the bad.

For the first time, with an assist from penicillin and other medical knick-knacks, most of us have a chance to hit the three-score-and-ten they're always gabbing about.

Then too, when we get hot under the collar about taxes, there's air conditioning, and when the atom bomb gives us cold feet, there's central heating. Et cetera and so what?

Most reassuring, however, is the fact that the newfangled comforts haven't deprived us of a lot of the old ones.

In the interest of exact journalism, I'm happy to record that, supersonics notwithstanding, there's still room in our neon-splattered lives for flowers, friends, music, moonlight, screwballs, spangles and bedroo mslippers.

But whether this will be true 25 years from today, deponent sayeth not.

That, in a chowder-headed way, about sums up my feelings upon reaching the age of 54, which isn't 45 spelled backwards.

The point of this piece, if it has a point, is that this cockeyed century and I have a lot in common and, as I mull it, neither of us has much to brag about.

Had we used the sense that God gave geese, we'd both have a lot more to celebrate.

Incidentally, I can't go along with that nonsense about growing old gracefully. Gracefully my eye! Kicking and screaming is more my style.

Lansing Man Killed in Kentucky Crash

CRITTENDEN, Ky. (AP) — A Lansing, Mich., man was killed and his wife and son injured in a head-on collision of two automobiles on US-25 north of Crittenden yesterday. An Ohio man also was killed in the accident.

The victims were Clarence Henderson, 52, of Lansing, driver of one of the cars and Neal Cornwell Duffman, 39, of Rawson, O., a passenger on the other auto.

Mrs. Fern Henderson, 47, and her son, Clarence Jr., 22, were injured and reported in fair condition today at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington.

Harold G. Laytart, 27, of Findlay, O., driver of the second car, was in the same hospital in critical condition.

Last PW's Dad Finds Long Wait Was Worthwhile

NEW YORK (AP) — For 32 days Jack Watson hunted in vain for the name of his son, Sgt. Martin R. Watson, on the lists of war prisoners freed in Korea.

As a printer for the New York Times, Watson worked daily on the pages carrying the names of freed Americans.

Watson went away for the Labor Day weekend, asking his fellow printers to watch for his son's name and leaving with them an address where he could be reached.

The word from Korea was that the last exchange would include 110 prisoners. The names came in, and Watson's was not listed.

News came that one more American would be released. The 111th name was Sgt. Martin R. Watson.

Watson's co-workers quickly got word to the father of the 30-year-old sergeant, who also had been a prisoner of the Germans in World War II.

When the Conquistadores failed to find cities or mines of fabled wealth in the region that was to become New Mexico, the country was saved from possible abandonment by the courageous Franciscan friars.

Gen. Dean Treated in Tokyo Hospital

TOKYO (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean relaxed today in an Army hospital as doctors began a two-week treatment of amoebic dysentery he contracted in three years as a captive of the Reds.

Dean, 54, attended his first religious service in more than three years yesterday.

The Medal of Honor winner said he plans to return to South Korea on the invitation of President Syngman Rhee, but he did not say when.

He indicated he would retire from the Army shortly after his return to the United States.

Meanwhile, two South Koreans were held in jail in Seoul on charges of leading Dean into Communist hands after he was separated from his battered 24th Division in July 1950.

Grass Fires Still a Hazard, Pontiac Fire Chief Warns

Autumn Winds Spread Flames

Burn Leaves, Grass in Container, Schroeder Tells Residents

Although cooler weather has reduced the danger of grass fires somewhat, Pontiac Fire Chief John F. Schroeder warned residents today to be on constant guard while burning trash and leaves.

He pointed out that high winds in autumn make grass fires twice as dangerous.

"The danger of such fires spreading to buildings increases greatly at this time of year," said Schroeder.

The fire chief also advised parents to keep matches away from children as many grass fires in the autumn and fall are caused by children setting fields afire after school."

Grass fires were linked directly to the amount of rainfall.

"In September of 1952," said Schroeder, "not one grass fire occurred because heavy rains kept fields damp most of the month."

Due to the drouth conditions and extreme heat during the latter part of last month, 30 grass fires were reported.

The chief also cautioned residents to observe safety rules when burning leaves this fall.

"Residents should burn leaves or grass in containers in a place where the smoke won't interfere with neighbors," he pointed out.

"Don't burn them in improved streets where the fires will endanger autos, trees or homes.

Hotel Roof Good as an Airport for Helicopter

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An aircraft company executive landed a small helicopter atop the 16-story Biltmore Hotel late yesterday to avoid a two-hour traffic delay on the highway from Dayton Municipal Airport.

Joe Mashman, assistant director of contracts for the Bell Helicopter Co. Texas division at Fort Worth, flew the nine miles from the National Aircraft Show to the hotel in about 12 minutes.

The rooftop is about 25 by 35 feet, but Mashman said he had plenty of room.

It was purchased for a reported $50,000 from the Antlers Hotel Corp., which bought it in 1948 from Bradley. He owned it from about 1900. The 11 acres and 27 buildings were said to have a market value of $400,000.

Hold Husband in Killing

FLINT (AP) — Mrs. Odessa Webb, 35, was killed Sunday by a shotgun charge that struck her in the head. Police arrested her husband, Jesse, 35, on suspicion of murder. Police said an investigation disclosed that a family argument preceded the shooting.

Bachelor Shortage True: Only 61 to Every 100 Girls

WASHINGTON (AP) — No wonder single girls suspect there is a shortage of available young bachelors. It's true.

The Census Bureau went into the problem today, analyzing last year's supply of "eligible" civilian males as against the number of young women of marrying age.

Males were rated eligible at 21 through 27, because men are generally about 3 years older than women at their first marriage.

After eliminating servicemen living in barracks in this country and in overseas posts, the bureau turned up these comparisons:

There were only 61 eligible civilian males in the 21-22 age group for every 100 girls of 18 and 19 last year. There were 89 of such males per 100 girls in 1950, but then the draft bit into the supply.

Things were better but not perfect for the single women aged 20 through 24.

In that age group there was .94 of a man of 23-27 years for every woman. Back in 1950 there were 1.05 men, meaning a man for every girl and 1/20 of a man left over.

From 25 on up to age 35, the bachelor girl finds a better chance, statistically speaking.

There are 115 single civilian men for every 100 women at that stage, but the bureau does not appraise the males' willingness to wed.

Census takers found that the number of married persons and families reached record levels last year regardless of these matchmaking problems and despite a drop in the total number of young people of marrying age.

The latter decline was due to lower birth rates in the depression years of the early 1930s.

There were 76½ million married persons in 1952, a gain of about one million from the previous year.

The report, titled "Marital Status and Household Characteristics" also showed that in 1952:

There were two divorced women who have not remarried for every divorced man who had stayed single.

There were about three widows to every widower. (Because husbands usually are older than their wives and less likely to outlive them, also because men have higher mortality rates age for age, and older men have higher remarriage rates than older women.)

28 Area Scouts in Honor Group

Will Be Initiated Into Order of Arrow at Fall Conclave

Twenty-eight Boy Scouts of the Clinton Valley Council will be initiated this fall as members of the Order of the Arrow, a national society of honor campers.

The initiation will be part of the annual fall conclave at Camp Agawam, according to Donald Hardy, secretary of Chippewa Lodge 29. He said the date for the program will be decided later.

Candidates for the honor society were elected by members of their troops and were "called out" as candidates in colorful Indian ceremonies at Camp Agawam during the summer.

Candidates are:

Roland Conrell, John and Tom Poponea, Ronald Cummings, Robert Hoisington, Nelson Kirby and Harold Richards, all of Pontiac; Norman Probert, Mallory Berube, both of Waterford Township; Bob Harrison, Oxford; Paul Heil, Lyle See and Bob O'Neil, all of Milford; and Eddie Barnum, Kenneth Gordon, Louis Guildemeister and James Marsh, all of Farmington.

Two Priests Murdered Near Red China Border

HONG KONG (AP)—Two Chinese priests were brutaly cubbed to death today and police blocked roads leading to Communist China in a search for the killers.

Athough officers said robbery was the motive, friends asserted they were slain because they were strongly anti-Communist.

One victim, the Rev. John B. Ching, 40, was editor of the anti-Red church newspaper, Kung Kao Pao. The other, the Rev. Peter Ngai, 50, occasionally worked on the paper.

Oakland County 'Legislature' Governs 400,000 People

By PATRICIA A. WOOD

About once a month a gavel bangs at 1 Lafayette St. and the 85-man "legislature" which governs Oakland County takes up the reins that control service to 400,000 people.

This "legislature" is the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Its mid-morning sessions — infrequent but packed with action — open with roll call in the high-ceiling, galleried hall or Oakland County Office Building in Pontiac.

Nearly every action of this board affects 169,000 people living in the county's rural areas — more than the population of any two county cities combined.

At the board's hands to tax is $845 million worth of property — cities and subdivisions, farms and factories, vacant lots and business buildings.

Entrusted to its care is county property worth at last $7 million — the children's home, infirmary, jail, courthouse, office buildings, and wide acreage waiting for development.

Partly or completely under its jurisdiction are the departments which issue marriage licenses, record property deeds, pick up stray dogs, keep roads repaired, and provide police protection throughout rural areas.

Only 25 of the 85 men on the board are elected.

The other 60 are appointed by the commissions or councils which govern the county's 14 cities — and are responsible to them.

Thus the cities — the heavily-populated spots in the county's 900 square miles of land — hold vote control of the board. Pontiac has the heaviest bloc of votes, with 10 supervisors representing its citizens.

Concentrated in these cities, however, are about 231,000 of the county's citizens and almost two-thirds of its taxable wealth — some $540,000,000 worth of factories, businesses, and dense residential neighborhoods.

City residents, except for paying county taxes and using services, scarcely ever feel the weight of county government. The county's responsibility for roads and police protection — and most county laws — ends at city limits.

The law gives a township only one supervisor — no matter how many residents it has.

But for cities, the law sets up a sliding scale, depending on population. Cities with less than 3,000 residents are alloted two supervisors; with 3,000 to 4,000, three; 4,000 to 9,000, four; and so on.

On the average, now, every 6,700 township residents have a supervisor on the board.

Every 3,800 city residents have one there.

Sylvan Lake, for instance, has slightly more than 1,000 people — yet has two seats on the board. Waterford Township with 24,000 people, has only one.

And as subdivisions grow and mature into new cities, the city-township vote ratio will increase.

The city supervisor, though, makes little money for his county governmental work. Pay is $10 for every board or committee meeting he attends.

Township supervisors; however, receive regular salaries set by their own township boards; as their year-round duties in the townships are as full-time as a city manager's job.

MEMBER OF A CHAIN—This lake is a member of a chain of Oakland County lakes and is located in a township with a large water area. Most of it lies within a village that has a name that reminds one of lakes, and it has an area of about 350 acres. One of the roads near it follows a great Indian trail. Still don't recognize it? Turn to page 19 for its name and history.

Tito Proposes New Settlement

Place Trieste Under International Control, Says Yugoslav Leader

OKRAGLJICA, Yugoslavia (AP)—The world studied a new proposal from Yugoslavia's President Tito today for the disposal of Trieste. He wants the big Adriatic port placed under international control—with Yugoslavia to get the rest of the disputed territory.

Tito made his proposals yesterday in a speech to a cheering crowd of more than 250,000 Yugoslavs packing this hamlet five mile from the Italian border.

* * *

Tito said the controversy with Italy over Trieste had reached a stalemate, but that he was still willing to settle the issue through direct negotiations with his neighbor.

Previously the Yugoslav leader had advocated Italy and Yugoslavia administer the Trieste territory jointly, with details to be worked out between the two governments.

* * *

Tito accused the Italians of having "imperialist designs" on Yugoslavia but scoffed at recent Italain charges that Yugoslavia plans to annex the southern zone of the territory, which Yugoslav troops have occupied since World War II.

"Why should we?" he queried. "We are already there." And in firm but moderate terms, he added that Yugoslavia would not surrender "a single inch" of her zone.

POW Exchange Ends in Korea

U. N. Fears Reds Have Not Sent Back All Who Want to Come

SEOUL (AP)—Americans freed on the final day of Operation Big Switch boarded a troopship for home today while fears mounted that the Communists had not sent back all Americans who wanted to return.

The U. N. Command prepared to hand the Communists a list of "missing" persons—men like Capt. Harold Fischer of Swea City, Iowa.

* * *

Fischer, a Sabre jet pilot, shot down 10 MIGs before failing to return from a mission over North Korea April 7, 1953.

Two days later Peiping radio said Fischer had been captured.

Yet the big Korean War prisoner exchange ended Sunday and Fischer was not among the last 111 Americans freed.

For three years, Allied intelligence officers have compiled a list of men believed to have been captured.

* * *

Operation Big Switch returned 3,597 Americans. Operation Little Switch in April returned 149. Some Americans died in camp.

The list, minus the names of all those men, will be handed the Communists shortly with the demand that they produce or account for the missing men.

The last group of returned Americans added a bitter finale to a month of stories of brutality in Red stockades.

* * *

These were fliers who, under relentless physical and mental tortures, signed false "confessions" that they waged germ warfare.

They said they did so under a strain that buckled human endurance. Some held out for months, but the Reds continued their tortures even after the armistice.

A Kansas pilot captured 13 months ago said the Reds were still after confessions as late as early Sunday—just a few hours before they handed back the last of the prisoners they said wanted to return.

Jerry Vale, 23, Promoted as the Next Big Vocalist

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — At 22, Jerry Vale used to dream about some day being a recording star for Columbia Records and singing with Percy Faith's orchestra. At 23, he made it.

And Mitch Miller, Columbia's director of artists and repertoire and probably the single most influential person in the record business, thinks Jerry is our next big singer.

Miller says Vale is sure to "happen" — record-talk for becoming a star — but it may not be yet.

"The public has to get to know a new voice," he says. "It took Clooney two years. Jerry will happen, too, and he'll last a long time."

Which is OK with Jerry, a likeable youngster who is living his dream and enjoying every moment of it. He was singing in a small suburban New York night club when Insetta heard him.

Together, they worked hard on Vale's voice and style, sitting in Insetta's kitchen and making tape recordings until 3 in the morning. He'd sing one song hundreds of times. It paid off.

He still sings every new song he records many times, until he and Insetta are positive it's perfect.

THE POPULAR SIDE: Guy Mitchell says he dreams, the night before an opening, something horrible. "I usually dream I come on stage and I've forgotten my shoes, or else that I'm there and the band doesn't show up."

Opera and TV star Marguerite Piazza, just signed by Capitol, may be teamed with Gordon MacRae on pop records.

POP SINGLES: "Choo-Choo Train" and "This Too Shall Pass Away" (Doris Day, Columbia); "A Dear John Letter" (Pat O'Day and the Four Horsemen, MGM); "Cornflakes" (Les Baxter, Capitol); "Elaine" (Percy Faith and Mitch Miller, Columbia); "Go and Leave Me" (Jim Lowe, Mercury); "Too Young to Tango" (Joel Gray, MGM); "Poor Little Piggy Bank" (Frankie Laine and Jimmy Boyd, Columbia).

POP ALBUMS: Capitol out with four fine new albums — "The Goodman Touch" features Benny and some of his smaller combos; "Premiered by Ellington" has the Duke playing songs he introduced. "Moods for Starlight" is Francis Scott and his orchestra in restful background music; "The Anthony Choir" features Ray Anthony's trumpet and vocal chorus on old favorites.

CLASSICAL: A first recording of Debussy's "La Boite a Joujoux" ("The Box of Toys") is a must for Debussy collectors. This is a ballet score, pleasantly played by pianist Menahem Pressler on MGM.

Indian Affairs Head Seeking 'Equality'

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP)—Glenn L. Emmons, newly appointed U.S. commissioner of Indian affairs, told some 1,500 Cherokees yesterday the government is striving for "equality for the Indian people as compared with the rest of the population."

Cancer-Fighting Cobalt on Way to North Italy

OTTAWA (AP)—The first shipment of radioactive Canadian cobalt to be shipped out of North America was on its way today to a hospital in northern Italy.

Philippine School Told to Admit Non-Saluters

MANILA (AP) — A local school has been ordered by the Supreme Court to admit 20 children it had refused to enroll for two years because they would not salute the Philippine flag during school ceremonies.

The children's parents filed a petition in court denying Communist or any other political affiliation. They said they respected the flag "not by ceremony, but by actual obedience to the laws it represents."

Hogs Paid for Airport

BOSTON (UP) — Much of the land that now is Logan Airport was acquired by Samuel Maverick in 1633 in exchange for a fat hog each year. The Court of Assistants granted "Nodles Island" to Maverick for "paying yearly to the General Court either a fat wether, a fat hog or 40 shillings in money."

Sensitive Speeders Can Blush in Private

ENID, Okla. (AP) — The City Council has authorized a painless —well almost — method of paying traffic fines.

An innovation at the new police station, to be completed in January, will be a drive-in teller's window at which offenders may settle accounts without the humiliation of entering the station.

Dodgers' Furillo Vows He'll 'Get' Durocher

Furillo, National League batting leader with a .345 average, had his hand in a cast today. He will be out of action for about 10 days.

* * *

"I'll get him the next time I see him," he gritted through his teeth while undergoing treatment in the clubhouse. "The next time we come face to face, whether on the street, on the field or anywhere, I'll let him have it. He'll not get away next time."

Furillo and Durocher engaged in a brief wrestling match in front of the Giant dugout during the second inning of the Giant-Dodger game yesterday. They grabbed each other around the waist before a blow could be struck and grappled furiously on the ground. They were separated by players from both clubs.

"Just tell him I'll be there," he said.

The rhubarb began when Furillo was hit on the right wrist by a pitch from Ruben Gomez. He charged out to the mound and made threatening gestures toward the Giant pitcher but was restrained by the umpires. He finally took his place at first base and calm appeared to be restored when the infuriated Dodger right fielder suddenly made a dash for the Giant dugout. He was met in front of the dugout steps by Durocher and the scuffle followed.

"I heard him (Durocher) jabbering away at me from the bench," Furillo explained. "I couldn't distinguish what he was saying. But when he beckoned to me to come out and meet him, I saw red."

Durocher denied saying anything to Furillo or beckoning to him.

* * *

Plate Umpire Dusty Boggess put both combatants out of the game, under the baseball rules. It was not immediately learned whether any fines would be meted out.

* * *

This was the second time this season that Furillo became embroiled in an argument with the Giants following a "dusting" incident.

Pontiac Entry Is Eliminated in ABC Test

Ortonville Wins First Game, Drops Next Two at Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK (Special)—Ortonville, up against the toughest draw in the annual state ABC tournament, came up with one strong victory before being eliminated by two powerful opponents.

Pontiac entry was forced to go 11 innings in the opener Saturday morning as it nudged Big Rapids 1-0. Saturday afternoon Dearborn shoved across four runs in the top of the 11th to hand Ortonville its first loss, 5-1.

Then, on Sunday morning, Plymouth Auto Club ousted Ortonville from the meet in a thriller, 2-1. Dearborn and Plymouth were tagged pre-meet title favorites along with defending champion Kalamazoo.

In its stirring victory over Big Rapids, John Zubalik doubled to start the bottom of the 10th inning and came in when the rightfielder overthrew 3rd base on the play. Becket hurled the route for Ortonville and allowed but three hits, all by Dever.

Roy Campanella Boosts Chances for MVP Honors

Smashes 38th Home Run Sunday to Break Mark for Catchers

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)

Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers entrenched himself more securely yesterday as the leading candidate for the National League's Most Valuable Player award. He slammed his 38th homer of the year, breaking Gabby Hartnett's 23-year-old record for home runs by catchers.

And in the American League, Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians put in a strong bid for the junior circuit's MVP prize with his 38th home run. This gave him the league lead by one over Philadelphia's Gus Zernial.

Campanella drove in two runs as the Dodgers whipped the New York Giants 6-3. He thus raised his runs-batted-in total to 133, equaling the major league record for catchers set by Bill Dickey with the 1937 New York Yankees.

Rosen's homer helped the Indians beat the Chicago White sox 4-2 and take undisputed possession of second place. It also enabled him to break his own league record for most home runs by a third baseman—37 in 1950.

The Dodgers' magic number is eight. Leading Milwaukee by 11 games, the Brooks need win only eight of their remaining 18 games to clinch their second straight flag no matter what the Braves do in their remaining 18 games.

Eddie Mathews, still trying for Babe Ruth's homer record, blasted his 45th to help the Braves defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 in the first game of a double-header. The Cards rallied in the closing innings to earn a 3-3 tie in the second.

Ted Williams hit his eighth home run since returning to action last month as the Boston Red Sox swept both ends of a double-header from the Athletics 8-4 and 4-0.

Larry Doby's two-run homer in the sixth snapped a 2-2 tie and gave Cleveland's Art Houtteman the victory over Virgil Trucks of the White Sox.

Development of Malkim Area Is Now Under Way

Project First in a Five-Year Program by City Park-Rec. Department

Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has now undertaken the development of the Malkim Park School area, located on the corner of Walton Blvd. and Joslyn Roads.

This property was purchased from the Board of Education for the development of a park on the north side of town.

Plans are prepared for the construction of two baseball diamonds, three softball diamonds, tennis courts, shuffle board courts, rest rooms, picnic areas, and children's play areas. A local contractor is now grading the entire area.

This is the first step in a 5-year program for the development of the Malkim area facilities and the first new development of a major park in a number of years in Pontiac. This is only part of a continued expansion program the Parks and Recreation Department has planned, Director Dave Ewalt reports.

Minnesota Baseball Is Relative Matter

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP)—It's never a rarity when amateur baseball players in Minnesota's Iron Range leagues hit one for the relatives. A generous share of the relatives play on the same team.

The Orr Pelicans, for instance, have two-father-son combinations. Six more of the players are cousins and two others are brothers.

Three teams in two different leagues have twin brother combinations and two others have father-son tandems.

In 1952 the scorekeepers screamed whenever Orr and Embarrass hooked up. There were seven Kings in one lineup and seven Lamppas in the other.

Silver Cup Today's Target for Speedy Seattle Craft

DETROIT (AP) — The squat, smooth-riding Slo-Mo-Shun V, of Seattle, Wash., with Lou Fageol behind the wheel will attempt today to take another speedboat trophy away from Detroit.

The Seattle craft, owned by Stan Sayres, was a favorite to win the Labor Day Silver Cup trophy race on the Detroit river. Sayres already has taken the famed gold cup away from Detroit and successfully defended it on Lake Washington earlier this summer with another Slo-Mo-Shun.

Trying to keep the Silver Cup at the Detroit Yacht Club will be five Detroit hydroplanes — Jack Schafer's Such Crust III; Such Crust V, Gale II; Miss Great Lakes, and Wayne, which began racing several years ago as the original Notre Dame. A seventh possible starter is Miss Super-test, of Toronto. The Canadian craft, however, has yet to qualify — at 60 miles an hour — for the right to start.

The Silver Cup trophy race will be run in five 12-mile heats, to be run off an hour apart starting at 1 p. m. Eastern Standard time. Because each craft will have to make four circuits of the three mile course the prospect for unusual speed marks is not very good.

However, in trial runs over the course, Fagoel, a Kent, Ohio, motor manufacturer, has made the circuit several times at better than 80 miles an hour, with straightaway bursts unofficially estimated at more than 100 miles an hour.

Waterspout Sinks 6 Boats, Ends Regatta

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Yachting took on an unexpected hazard here recently. A waterspout sank six boats participating in a regatta, dunking 18 sailors.

The boats were taking part in the St. Andrew Bay Yacht Club elimination series. A rainsquall approached, and suddenly the funnel of the waterspout formed and swept over the sailboats.

"We were upended and found ourselves in the water," said Harold Dill, one of the yachtsmen. "I looked around and saw all the other boats in the same fix."

Coast Guard and other craft picked up the 18 men and women who were tossed into the water. None was injured. Then the Coast Guard towed the sunken boats to the yacht basin.

Venturi, Littler Grab Spotlight From the Top Amateur Stars

MARION, Mass. (AP)—Two young newcomers, Californians Ken Venturi and Gene Littler, stole the show from the established amateur links stars as the United States team belted its way to a 9-3 victory over Great Britain for the 1953 Walker Cup at the Kittansett Country club.

The old pros blinked as the 22-year-old Venturi thumped James C. Wilson 9 and 8 and Littler beat the veteran Gerry Mickelson 5 and 3 in two of the eight final day singles matches.

Venturi, a recent San Jose State college graduate, was only 2-over-par for 28 holes and the 23-year-old Littler was one-under for 33. British team captain Lt. Col. A. A. (Tony) Duncan gave the pair an added plaudit when he credited the Americans' 13th win in 14 starts to their power-packed lineup. "To borrow your baseball term you boys had a better bench than we did," Duncan said. "We were strong in spots but we can't possibly match you from top to bottom in the lineup."

British chances of making a strong showing in the U. S. Amateur Golf Championship at Oklahoma City next week looked weak after their Kittansett performance.

General Motors Squad Handed Two Losses in Coldwater Tourney

Morton's Garage of Kalamazoo handed GMC its 1st loss on Saturday, 9-2. Winning pitcher Gene Posthumos limited the Pontiac nine to three hits, while her teammates rattled Gerry Bender for seven safeties.

Coachers were ousted from the double-elimination test Sunday, when they lost to Grand Rapids' Cards, 5-3. Cards jumped into a 3-0 lead in the 2nd inning, and never were headed. Winning run crossed the plate in the 4th, when outfielder Mary Ann Palmer singled, advanced on a walk and a hit batter and scored on a single by shortstop Ardie Pannis.

West Virginia Manager Cheerleader This Year

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — The enthusiasm and acrobatics of student football manager Bill Garvin at West Virginia University football games last season were rare things to watch.

The youth's antics touched the imagination of college officials and students alike. As a result, this football season Garvin will be a varsity Cheerleader.

FIVE YEARS AGO—The Yankees recalled 11 players from their minor league farms for the stretch drive.

Tigers Again Scent 6th Place

DETROIT (AP)—Only a game and a half out of sixth place, the Detroit Tigers were home today for a holiday double-header with the now third place Chicago White Sox.

A double victory, plus a double loss by Philadelphia to Washington, would catapult the Tigers into sixth place, a spot they haven't seen for two long years.

Tigers managed to salvage the third of their three-game series with St. Louis Sunday and thus increased their advantage over the eighth-place Browns to three games. The score was 5-2.

Boston, meanwhile, was licking Philadelphia in both ends of a double-header, 8-4 and 4-0.

If, as things turned out, the Tigers had swept their three-game series in St. Louis they could have come home in sixth, instead of seventh, place. But St. Louis thumped them 14-4 in the opener and 1-0 in the second.

In hopes of turning back the White Sox twice today, manager Fred Hutchinson called on young Billy Hoeft (8-13) and veteran Ned Garver (9-10) to do the pitching. Manager Paul Richards countered by nominating Bob Keegan (4-4) and Mike Fornieles (8-6).

Even if they split, the Tigers don't expect to lose any ground to Philadelphia, because Washington has named its ace, Bob Porterfield, who has an 18-10 record, to oppose the A's in one of their games. In the other the Senators will use Walt Masterson (9-11).

Ted Gray and Ray Herbert teamed up Sunday to pitch the Tigers to their 5-2 victory in St. Louis. They got two big lifts from shortstop Harvey Kuenn in the form of run-scoring singles.

Kuenn had three RBI's for the day. Two of them came in the eighth when he singled behind a double by Matt Batts and two walks. In the second Kuenn singled Walt Dropo Home.

Detroit got a run in the opening frame on Fred Hatfield's double and Jim Delsing's single. A third-inning run came as Delsing beat out a bunt, Bob Nieman singled and Dropo doubled to center.

Fistic Crossroads

Layne, Charles Meet in Critical Tests Tuesday

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweights Ezzard Charles and Rex Layne reach the crossroads of their fistic careers tomorrow night. One more loss for each and they can just about say goodby to the big time.

* * *

Charles, the former heavyweight champion, risks his title hopes in a Philadelphia 10-rounder with rugged Harold Johnson, the No. 2 light heavyweight contender. The Cincinnati Negro was upset by Nino Valdes in Miami Beach a month ago and must win to keep in contention.

Johnson, who whipped Valdes decisively, has been clamoring for a shot at light heavyweight champion Archie Moore's crown. A victory over Charles would not only force Moore's hand but would also vault the Philadelphia Negro into leading contender's role among the dreadnaughts.

It's an outdoor bout in Connie Mack Stadium but will be fought even if it rains. Promoter Herman Taylor has pitched his ring close to the grandstand and has arranged for a canvas canopy over the ring. All of the spectators' seat will be covered. The press will occupy the only field seats.

* * *

Layne, flattened in one round by Earl Walls last July 3, meets his conqueror in a return 10-rounder at the Salt Lake City Fair Grounds stadium. This is the last chance for Layne, who was dropped out of the rankings after his kayo loss to the Edmonton, Alta., Negro, at Edmonton. Walls vaulted from nowhere into No. 8 ranking and can bolster his position with another victory.

* * *

Neither of the bouts will be televised. The gates in each city may hit around the $50,000 marks.

New Handbook on Fish Will Settle Disputes

ANN ARBOR—Anglesr, do you ever get into arguments about the identity of fish, what their normal size is, what they like to eat, or how they should be caught?

Well, the current edition of "Fishes of the Great Lakes Region," by Prof. Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Fisheries, and Dr. Carl L. Hubbs of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif., will answer those questions and many more.

The book identifies and describes every one of the 232 fish in the Great Lakes area, has 26 color illustrations, 201 identification photographs and 89 other illustrations, and contains notes on angling methods for game fish.

It may be obtained from the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills.

Game ended in a 6-6 tie. So the theater manager and the team coach agreed that the youngsters should get the free tickets anyway.

Pontiac Sailor Writes Interview With Williams

Carlron "Red' Humes, Pontiac sailor stationed at the 14th Naval District Public Information Office at Pearl Harbor, last month had an opportunity to interview Ted Williams on his way back to the United States.

Williams, then a Marine Air Force captain, stopped over at Honolulu briefly while enroute from Korea, where he had flown 3o combat missions. He was returned to the U. S. and released from service after contracting an ear ailment.

Humes, Pontiac High School graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zinser of 346 Osmun street. He has been stationed at Pearl Harbor for the past two years.

One-Armed Pro Says Disability Is No Handicap

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP) — Ralph K. Ebling, one-armed pro at the Haverhill Country Club, says a physical handicap is often no handicap at all. Many times it spurs a golfer to greater performances on the links.

Ebling, who lost his left arm when nine years old, became a pro at 17 and has served at clubs across the country. His scores are constantly in the low 70's.

He says that if he hadn't been handicapped he might still be a 90 golfer. The loss of his arm, he explains, caused him to concentrate more fiercely on the game.

New York Racing Snarl Building to Big Upheaval; Tracks Must Draw Crowds Back From Jersey

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—Within a short while a large sporting upheaval is slated to hit New York. It is a matter of racing, now in the worst snarl anyone can imagine.

Racing has reached such a low in New York that only one reason can be offered. Everyone concerned, owners, the racing commission, Gov. Dewey and his legislature, looking back to Mayor O'Dwyer, have handled every detail far below par.

* * *

Owners had two poor tracks and wretched conditions to start with at Jamaica and Aqueduct. Then the state and city hooked a 16.6 tax, including breakage, on the receipts without any notable complaint from the track owners.

* * *

Need for a big change in conditions at the two tracks was so bad that avaricious state and city officials began to demand a change. But nothing was done about reducing the tax bite, raising the tracks low allotment or easing the horse-player's burden.

As a result thousands fo horse players began last spring to desert local tracks for Garden State, Monmouth and Atlantic City. These tracks soon began to lead New York tracks by many thousands. They also led in decency of treatment to the average horse player.

* * *

One group of horsemen even blacklisted New York tracks in favor of Jersey tracks. No wonder. Conditions can't be compared.

Now the job of rebuilding New York tracks, outside of Belmont, will be a tough one. The percentage against the customers must be cut down. The state must do better by the track. Both must do much better for the customer.

* * *

Somewhere from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 must now be spent to take care of the situation. The trend away from New York must be stopped, and this can't be done in any hurry.

* * *

Part of the miserable situation must be charged to the horse player. He has taken his treatment too long and too placidly. You can't blame the owner, in a way, for refusing to believe that the average player is anything but a clod, a hunk of insensibility.

He stands in blazing suns, in heavy rains, frequently at places where he can barely see the track. He is pushed, shoved, and trampled on. He is also charged 16.6 per cent to bet.

Seixas Is Title Favorite, but U. S. Is Real Winner

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — Razor-sharp Vic Seixas is favored to take teammate Tony Trabert today for the national tennis championship but, win, lose or draw, the real winner is a fellow named Uncle Sam.

* * *

American hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup soared to an all-time high when these two U. S. amateur net titans chilled Australia's 18-year-old boy wonders in yesterday's semifinals at the West Side Tennis Club.

Seixas, the current Wimbledon champion, first powdered stocky, hard-stroking Lewis Hoad 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. Then Trabert, not to be outdone, blasted Ken Rosewall, the Australian champion, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

The decisiveness of the Americans' double-barreled victory sent the spirits of U. S. tennis officials spiraling.

Seixas and Trabert, who will carry American Davis Cup colors against the Aussies at Melbourne in December, will square off after the women's singles final today.

* * *

Driver Finishes Boat Race Under Big Difficulties

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Ed Cantine is a man who likes to finish anything he starts—like yesterday's 92-mile outboard motorboat race on the Connecticut River from here to Essex and back.

His boat lost two needle valves, its throttle broke, it ran out of gas, he lost his helmet and finally, his crew pit was somewhere else on the river when needed.

So the South Salem, N. Y., man jumped out of the boat and, while swimming, towed it across the finish line.

Port Huron, Midland Meet for 'B' Crown

LUDINGTON, (AP) — Port Huron and Midland, who battled 12 innings Sunday before Midland won a 4-3 decision, meet today for the Class B State Men's Softball title.

Albion, a 5-3 winner Sunday, will tangle again today with Flint for the Class B girls championship. Before bowing, however, Flint knocked out Midland's defending champions, 10-2.

SUNDAYS 'RESULTS:
Men's Class B — Adrian 5, Calumet 1 (x); Midland 4, Port Huron 3 (12 innings); Port Huron 3, Adrian 0 (x).

Gregory Fires Two Blistering Cards in Finale

Has 69 in Morning, 66 in Last Round of Play at Highland Course

Detroiter Jack Gregory fired a 10-under-par 206 at the Highland Country and Golf Club over the weekend to win the annual Michigan Publinx golf championship.

A field of 113 pay-as-the-play golfers started in Saturday's 18-hole qualifying round, with the low 52 entrants advancing into Sunday's 36-hole windup.

Gregory posted a 69 in Sunday's morning round and closed with a blistering 6-under-par 66. On his final 18 holes, Gregory posted seven birdies and equaled regulation figures on 10 holes.

Runnerup spot in the meet went to Royal Oak Policeman Wally Smith, who was two strokes back of Gregory at 208. Chuck Thornton and George Greenhaugh shared third place with 211s, while Tony Novitsky and Len Cunningham each had 213, good for fifth. Roy Iceberg, Pontiac's defending champion and tournament director, finished in a 6-way tie for seventh.

A consolation best-ball meet, for golfers failing to qualify for Sunday's finals, was won by Cort Hall of Holly and Bill Swope of Detroit.

Much 'Bowl' Experience

Fourteen rookie members of the 1953 Detroit Lions team had "Bowl" experience before joining the pros. Included were the Rose Bowl, Sun Bowl, Blue-Gray, North-South, East-West, Senior Bowl, Orange Bowl, Cotton Bowl and the Hula Bowl.

Jackie Kirkwood of Clairton, Pa., is the smallest player on the Brandeis University football team. He is five feet seven and weighs 150 pounds.

Mark-Ye-Well, Trick Knee and All, Still Favorite

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Calumet's injury-hexed Mark-Ye-Well, only horse in history to win nearly a million dollars with a trick knee, is the probable 7-5 favorite in a classy field of 15 named for today's 26th running of the world's richest mile race, the $166,700 Washington Park Handicap.

Foaled with what is known as a stifle, or trick knee, which occasionally pops out, Mark-Ye-Well didn't go to the post until he was a 3-year-old last season. He cleaned up in Chicago with four big victories and last winter took honors at Santa Anita.

With this word from Jones, and Eddie Arcaro aboard as usual, the expected crowd of 38,000 is figured to make Mark-Ye-Well the favorite in the "miracle mile," climax of the Washington meeting.

U.S. Celebrities Meet Delayed Again on Sunday

Tournament Officials Halt Play for Second Straight Day

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A band of weary and water-logged golfers set off today on a marathon, 36-hole grind in an effort to wind up the National Celebrities Tournament before the snows come.

* * *

Officials yesterday called off the third round of the tourney for the second straight day—with only nine of the 60 players still out on the course.

All the scores were canceled and play today resumed at the halfway mark with Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., still leading with a 7 under par score of 137.

Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., skidded to a 76 yesterday after a record-equaling 64 the day before. Both of those scores were wiped off the books.

* * *

The best rounds turned in yesterday were by Jack Isaacs, pro at Langley Field, Va., and Ed (Porky) Oliver, the veteran Ryder Cupper from Palm Springs, Calif., who was celebrating his 38th birthday. Isaacs came home with a 4 under par 68 and Oliver had 69.

With the scores back at the halfway total, Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., retains a second-place tie with Nary and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., all at 139. Bassler, Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff, N. Y., and Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., are tied for fifth, each at 141.

Daytime Loop Planned

A meeting to organize a "night owl" bowling league will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the West Side Recreation. Night-shift workers desiring to enter a day league should attend the meeting or call Sam Perna or Louie Tenuta at FEderal 4-0168.

TODAY A YEAR AGO — Maureen Connolly won the national women's tennis championship for the second straight time defeating Doris Hart, 6-3, 7-5.

Final Water Ski Show Today at St. Clair

Last of the popular daily water ski exhibitions at St. Clair Metropolitan Beach will be given at 3:30 p. m. today. After the holiday, no parking tolls will be charged except on the week-end of Sept. 12-13. Beach will be open daily for picnics and other outings; bathhouse will be open on all warm days and the food bar will be open daily.

Boat-launching ramp, which has handled up to 400 boats on a single day during the summer, is expected to receive even heavier use during September.

Shoup Is Still Setting Records

Hal Shoup, former Pontiac High and Michigan State College swimming star, shattered two records recently in the All-Japan Air Force swimming championships at Itazuke, Japan.

Now an Air Force 2nd Lt. stationed at Taegu, Korea, Shoup set new meet records of 2 minutes 2.4 seconds in the 150 meter individual medley and 2:03 in the 200-meter backstroke and placed 2nd in the 50-meter free style.

He was a state champion while at Pontiac High, and won All-America honors while swimming for Michigan State in 1950-51-52.

One Beach Stays Open

One of the two Kent Lake bathing beaches at Kensington Metropolitan Park will be closed after today. Martindale Beach will be open daily through Sept. 20 and again on Sept. 26-27. The grill as well as the bathhouse will be in operation on these days.

Boat rental dock will be kept open at least through Oct. 4, perhaps longer.

Less Travel for Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Navy football team will travel less miles this fall than they have recorded in many seasons. The only long jaunt on the Midie schedule for 1953 is an Oct. 13 trip to South Bend, Ind., to play Notre Dame. The team plays five road games and will travel approximately 2,516 miles.

Better at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Detroit Tigers have beaten the tailend St. Louis Browns only one time in 10 encounters this season in their own Briggs Stadium, but Sunday's 5-2 win here gave them a 6-5 record in Busch stadium.

Thus St. Louis, while in the cellar, has a 14-7 record against the Tigers.

Michigan's Defense Now Looms as Most Important Problem for Coach Bennie

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan today prepared to switch its emphasis to the defense following an offensive football scrimmage that was satisfying to coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

"From here on, the defense looms as a more important problem than the offense," he told reporters after a two hour Saturday scrimmage on Ferry field.

Oosterbaan said he was concerned about Art Walker and Capt. Dick O'Shaughnessy. Walker, Michigan's ace tackle, missed the scrimmage with a knee injury incurred during the summer but aggravated by the early workout. O'Shaughnessy suffered from the excessive heat early in the week losing considerable weight, and was not up to par at the center or guard spot he worked.

The scrimmage was almost completely an offensive one. And Oosterbaan promised an immediate shift in emphasis now to the defensive phase of the game.

Offensively, the varsity struck quickly and effectively. Baldacci quarterbacking, halfback Ted Kress and Tony Branoff and fullback Dick Balzhiser, the regulars moved easily down the field. Balzhiser scored both touchdowns on short plays, Branoff contributed a 40 yard pass to end Tad Stanford and a lateral to Kress in a play that covered about 60 yards.

Detroit halfback Tom Hendricks, Ypsilanti fullback Dave Hill and Ed Hickey, stubby senior halfback from Anaconda, Mont., turned in good performances as the varsity scored half a dozen times on the reserves.

Game Proves Profitable

Football Coach Mistakes Reporter for Colleague

Tucker, a Waco scribe, was attending the Texas Coaching School. He hadn't seen Neely to talk to him face to face in about 10 years although often conversing with the coach on the telephone.

The sports writer was talking to Catfish Smith, coach of East Texas State College, and Frank McKinney, a coach at Kilgore High School, when Neely sauntered up.

Jess inquired of Catfish about his football prospects then he did the same with McKinney. Not recognizing Tucker but thinking he was a coach, Neely asked Jinx about his prospects.

Tucker carried it along. He lamented that they were putting him on the spot this year, that while he had excellent backfield prospects his line wasn't strong and that while he might win the district championship he would be a dead duck in the State reace.

It was the next day before Neely found out he had been talking to his pal, Tucker, instead of a coach.

It's Time Out!

Midland, Detroit Left in Tourney

Today's Test Could Be Deciding Test for Softball Title

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Midland, Mich., and Detroit meet tonight in what could be the deciding game of the men's East Central Regional softball tournament.

Midland, only undefeated team in the double-elimination competition, gained its final berth by beating Cincinnati, 4-1 yesterday. Then Detroit, beaten once, came back and made the finals by edging Cincinnati, 5-3. It was Detroit's third win of the day.

Should Detroit win tonight, a playoff will be necessary to determine whether it or Midland represents this area in the world title competition in Miami, Fla., later this month.

Other scores yesterday Detroit 2, Columbus 1; Detroit 8, Pittsburgh 2; Columbus 9, Washington Court House 0.

Spinning Lures to Replace Bait Fishing in 50 Years

ANN ARBOR — Fishing in 50 years will shift in type from bait and fly-casting to spinning, says a University of Michigan natural resources professor.

Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the Department of Fisheries, said recently that people will fish more for fun and less for meat as the population grows and the demand on Michigan's resources increases.

The old-timer who says that fishing isn't as good as it used to be is right in one way, because there will be fewer fish per person. But if measured in total pounds of fish taken out and the pleasure to fishermen, "better than ever."

Lake-trout fishing, despite the sea lamprey, which has virtually wiped out today's supply, will be good in 2,000 A. D. for both commercial and recreational purposes, he claims. With Federal support and control of breeding, lampreys and lake trout can be put back in balance.

Fishermen may look forward to having an easier time of it in 50 years, he says, because by that time there will be many new hints about where, how and when the fishing is best.

Michigan's water areas will not have changed much, but there will be fewer waters open to the public unless the government provides more public fishing sites and state parks. Lagler believes that this will be done.

LABOR DAY

Cutting Tools & Supplies

W. Pike Corner Cass

Hal Boyle Says:

Americans Work Harder Than Ever on Labor Day

It gives the boss 24 hours in which to escape from the critical eye of the working man. It gives the conscientious employe the same respite from his stern duty of reminding the management there are not enough towels in the washroom.

The theory behind Labor Day is great—that is, to honor labor by abstaining from it. And it is a sound theory so far as it goes, because any kind of work looks better from a distance than it does when you get involved in it.

The trouble with Labor Day is that it lives up to its name instead of the theory behind it. Both boss and hired hand work harder playing on Labor Day than they do playing they are working on an ordinary day. They put out enough foot pounds of energy on Labor Day to turn every wheel in America for a week.

Why not save all this wasted energy? Why not have a "No-Labor-and-no-play" Day?

As it is now millions of Americans must work on Labor Day in order that other millions may play. That is the way our civilization is geared.

But how about a law creating a national public holiday on which everybody and everything would be forbidden to do work of any kind, or play in any way? The law would apply to men, animals and machines. It would enforce complete and absolute rest from dawn to dusk.

All beaches, filling stations, bars, restaurants, theaters and highways would be closed. All power plants would be shut down. There would be no television or radio programs, no ball games, no newspapers printed. The zoos would lock up, too, thereby denying the caged inhabitants the pleasure of laughing at human visitors.

Cops could stay home and cool their bunions as no burglar would dare burgle on that day.

The only human institutions allowed to remain open would be a few hospitals, as no law can keep a fellow from dying, falling ill, or getting himself born. Hens would be permitted to go on laying and cows to give milk, as there isn't much Congress could do to stop them either.

But for everybody else—repose, peace, no work or duties or energy wasting pursuit of pleasure of any kind.

What a silence would fall in every city, as fresh winds cleansed them of all smoke and factory fumes! How serene all America would seem! Nobody doing anything excpt just lying in bed resting . . . dozing . . . dreaming . . . resting . . . all day long.

Well, it's a fine goal, this "No-Labor-and-No-Play" Day. There's only one thing wrong with it. It wouldn't work.

It would drive Americans stark crazy. They couldn't possibly sit or lie still that long. They aren't made that way. They either have to be doing something or going somewhere!

By 10 a.m. the housewives would be saying to their husbands, "law or no law, this house is going to be cleaned. And you get up, you loafer, and help me."

By noon, to keep from breaking the law at home, the husbands would be out breaking the law everywhere else, and every saloon would have a back door open. The highways would be jammed by mid-afternoon, and bootleg gas would be selling for a dollar a gallon.

Before nightfall every city would sound and smell the same as usual, and 160,000,000 happy lawbreakers across the nation would be telling each other:

"I guess we showed the government it can't make an American take a holiday lying down."

Hot Youngsters Change Minnow Tank Into Pool

A big bait tank where C. Burton Snyder keeps live minnows for fishermen has been taken over by the youngsters for the duration of the summer.

Snyder came out to inspect his minnows one morning, but found the children in the tank instead. The bait dealer took it calmly and set up a club for hot children. Nobody over eight years old may join.

Dulles Confers With President

No Rift Between Ike and Himself, Secretary Tells Reporters

DENVER (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, declaring he knows of no rift between himself and President Eisenhower, confers with the Chief Executive today regarding a variety of foreign policy problems.

Dulles arrived at the President's vacation headquarters from Washington last night for the Labor Day conference and was asked by newsmen who met him at the airport:

"Mr. Secretary, is there any friction between you and the President?"

"Not that I know of," the Cabinet officer replied.

The question was prompted by a published report that Eisenhower summoned Dulles to Denver because he was "gravely concerned" and "displeased" by certain Dulles statements last week on foreign issues.

On Saturday the summer White House called the report "completely untrue." Assistant Presidential Press Secretary Murray Snyder added, however, that he personally did not know what Eisenhower's reactions were to remarks Dulles had made on the issues. They deal with West Germany, India, Trieste and Japan—and touched off angry criticism abroad.

In West Germany, for example, the Socialist party denounced Dulles' endorsement of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's bid for re-election.

* * *

Asked what foreign policy problems had brought him to Denver, Dulles replied:

"I have a docket of about 10 matters."

The President and his secretary of state have not had a face-to-face conference since Aug. 10, when Dulles stopped here en route to Washington from Korea and Japan.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended 10 a.m. services at the Lowry base chapel yesterday, then were guests at a reception given there by officers and their wives.

It was Mrs. Eisenhower's first public appearance since she went to church with the President Aug. 9, the day after they arrived here for a vacation.

* * *

The First Lady has been bothered by Denver's mile-high altitude. Friends have said she was completely exhausted the first two or three weeks of her stay.

The lake pictured today on page 13 is a member of a chain of Oakland County lakes. It is located in a township with a large water area.

Most of this lake lies within the corporate limits of a village that has a name that is mindful of lakes. It closely borders one of the largest lakes in the county.

It had a part in the early Indian lore and legend of this part of the state. It has an area of about 350 acres.

With the other two members of its chain, it gives evidence of the manner in which the glaciers scraped great indentations in the terrain.

It is about two miles long and one-half mile wide in its widest part. It is surrounded by paved highways, but at no point do they touch its shores. A great Indian trail is followed by one of these roads.

This lake now is generally surrounded with year-round homes. Many of its banks are particularly adapted for building purposes. Orginally its shores were heavily wooded.

It was one of the first lakes in the county to attract the early white settlers. They established a post office with the same name close to its shores. This post office received its mail through Pontiac and was discontinued over a half century ago.

No river or creek flows through it, and it has no substantial inlet or outlet. Its waters are kept pure and fresh and at a normal level by the many copious springs in its depths.

Among the early landowners on the shores of this lake were the Cruice, Walls, Cowan, Richardson, Wilson, Eagle, Dandison, Dickie, Watts, Crickmore, Thrush, Emmendorfer, Borland, Halfpenny and Doherty families.

If you have not already guessed the names of this West Bloomfield Township body of water, it is Upper Straits Lake, most of which is included within the limits of Orchard Lake Village.

Disney Bubbles Over With Pep for His Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One element characterizes all movies bearing the Walt Disney label. That is enthusiasm. It is not hard to account for. It comes from the head man himself.

I have known Disney for a long time and I never fail to marvel over his enthusiasm, as well as his honesty.

He is concerned with many films, but the most interesting project is his true life adventure series. These, starting with "Seal Island" four years ago, have been unusually successful although they followed no movie pattern.

The first four won Academy Awards, to the surprise of critics who didn't reckon with the Disney eagerness. These pictures, as you know if you ever go to a movie, tell the life cycles of ants and whales, apples and otters, penguins and parsnips.

A series on people is new. It will detail the modes and manners of folks in little known parts of the world, telling their struggles for existence and the urge for self perpetuation, just as the eight films on birds and beasts have given close-ups of their lives.

Disney maintains a lively interest in every report from every camera crew. Men now are trying to find a migration of whales. They're looking in several oceans. One naturalist in Illinois has 25 cameras pointed at assorted vegetables and fruits. A professor and his wife are in the Falkland Islands, down in Patagonia, to record the life of the penguin.

In all, Walt says he has 31 camera crews scattered about the world. Some write him frequently, some rarely. In the first seven months of this year they sent him 625,000 feet of film—enough for 100 long features.

Some of these naturalist-cameramen do it for fun. Like Stephen Briggs, former chairman of the board of the Briggs-Stratton Manufacturing Co., who filmed some of the scenes for "Water Birds" in the Florida Everglades. When Disney asked Briggs how much he wanted for his work, he asked that the check be made to the National Audubon Society.

The penguin specialist is Olin Sewall Pettingill Jr., of Carlton College, Northfield, Minn. He's taking a sabbatical year, at Disney's expense, to study penguins.

"You never know where you're going to get material," Disney told me. "It comes from lecturers, hobbyists, amateurs. We look at every bit of it and we're glad to have it."

I wondered if a notice like this wouldn't inspire cameramen to flood the studio with film. Walt's eyes lighted up in anticipation.

"We look at thousands of feet every day, so a few more thousand won't hurt us. Besides, we might get just exactly the scenes we need for another picture."

Walt thinks the comedy highlight of all the nature pictures was the bear scratching sequences in "Bear Valley." It ran for 3½ minutes on the screen but it took a patient cameraman three weeks to film it.

"We're told each picture gets better," said Disney. Of course, we think so, too. But how are you going to top the last one? That's what worries us—in fact, that's a big worry in Hollywood.

We've been trying to top 'Snow White' for 15 years — and we can't do it. What could the seven dwarfs do again. Nothing. Just nothing.

"You remember 'The Three Little Pigs'? Best short we ever made. And I got talked into making some more little big pictures, to my everlasting embarassment. No one ever heard of them. A successful picture is great, and we like to make them. But they're a pain in the neck when you follow them, as you must."

Proteges Come to Aid of Playground Coach

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Back in 1932 Wilbur Folsom started coaching youngsters at San Diego playgrounds. Among the youngsters was Maureen Connolly, the tennis queen.

When Folsom needed medical attention badly some time ago, some of his former pupils (he figures they total nearly 20,000) wrote to others. Contributions came in, and today Folsom is coaching youngsters again, with medical care assured for years ahead by a "trust fund" set up by his "kids."

Best known species of the wading bird family is the sacred ibis, common in the Nile basin, where is was venerated by the ancient Egyptians.

Goebel Sales Up, but Profits Down

DETROIT (AP)—The Goebel Brewing Co. of Detroit and Muskegon, and Oakland, Calif., has announced that its sales for the first six months had broken all previous records.

Goebel President Edwin J. Anderson said that profits were down however due especially to a second quarter wage increase that was retroactive to April 1.

Sales were up some 24,000 barrels, but dollar sales increased only $847,000 over the similar period in 1952.

Net profits for the first six months of 1953 were $628,914 or 42 cents a share.

Rockabye Drivers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Judge Phil Canale thinks lack of sleep is more dangerous than too much to drink when a person is dirving. He made the statement in fining Charles Prescott $21. Prescott was involved in a crash after going to sleep at the wheel of his auto.

Pupils Help Officials Save Burning Equipment

White Man Covers Old Indian Mounds

This area is not as rich in Indian lore as some others, but Nicholson finds much to fill all the hours he can devote to his avocation.

Although he can tick off dozens of worthwhile sites for exploration, Nicholson complains, "It's very frustrating at times. Homes have been built on some. Many are plowed in farm fields and roads have been cut through others."

In Nicholson's opinion, the mound builders "apparently were the only Indians who made a serious attempt to live in this area."

Now, the white man is so industrious in his living and building habits that it's difficult to locate good specimens of this ancient life he said.

Art Stabled, but Horses and Buggies Are Out

The Taos Artists Association said the stable-gallery will house year-round exhibitions of paintings. Just one house rule: No horses or buggies allowed.

Want Cons Uniformed

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—The municipal employes' union asked the city council to arrange for some sort of uniform for prisoners in the "chain gang."

Union officials said the public thinks these prisoners are city employes. The "chain gang," which has no chains, is made up of prisoners assigned to outdoor jobs for failure to pay fines for minor offenses.

Ammo Plants Are Safe Spots to Work

JOLIET, Ill. (UP) — Ammunition production is one of the nation's safest industries, according to statistics of the National Safety Council and information released by the Ordnance Ammunition Center.

In 1952, jobs in an Army ammunition plant were only one-fourth as hazardous as work in the average industrial factory.

The 100,000 workers in these ammunition factories are only one-third as likely to be injured on their jobs as they are in automobiles. They are only one-fifth as likely to be killed as they would be if they were farm workers, Safety Council figures showed.

Old Stone Axes Grew on Trees

Primitive Man Placed Rock in Cleft of Limbs Which Merged

WASHINGTON — Since early man first picked up a conveniently shaped stone and hacked at a e or branch that stood in his way, the axe has been his basic and most important forest tool.

In its long history the axe also has been a valuable weapon, and it has taken some highly specialized forms in both peaceful and warlike employment, says the National Geographic Society.

Early chopping stones were little different from scraping stones or knives until man learned to lash the stone to a handle for additional leverage. The axe was probably the first weapon or tool to have a handle.

Attaching a conveniently shaped stone to a handle was such a natural thing to do that the axe was developed separately in almost every human culture. The best available stone was used in every case, flint where it could be found and granite or some other hard stone in its absence. Eskimos, having no stone or timber, made both axe head and handle of bone.

The first stone axe heads were lashed to their handles with animal sinews or leather. Then it was discovered that if the handle were split to accomodate the head, a more effective instrument could be made. As a further development primitive man found he could "grow' axes. A shaped head, possibly chipped flint, would be placed in a clift young tree or branch. The living wood, attempting to heal its wound, would grow around the head, holding it firmly in place.

With the coming of the Bronze Age man discovered that the metal axe head could be cast with a hole for the shaft, and the axe took on the general shape it has today. In the Iron Age the hole was either cast or punched out at the forge.

The one piece iron axe head served man for centuries. The axes that Abraham Lincoln used to split rails probably were forged from a single piece of iron. Now the best heads are composed of at least two pieces — an iron butt with a hole for the shaft and a steel blade, or blades, welded on to the butt in a forge, then tempered and polished to a hard toughness capable of taking and holding a sharp cutting edge.

Development of the axe as a weapon paralleled that of the peaceful woods tool. Probably the two were one and the same for a long time, used to fell trees, crush the head of an enemy, and hunt game.

Gradually the two grew apart, the weapon reaching such distinctive forms as the throwing hatchet of the ancient Gauls and the battle axes of the Middle Ages.

The throwing hatchet was a small, bronze-headed axe that could be thrown with great accuracy, and was one of the most effective weapons in the Gallic arsenal. The battle axe was valuable to mounted and armored men. It combined the weight and crushing power of the mace with the cutting edge of the broadsword.

Ram on a Rampage Rams Bull, Kills Cow

The ram first butted the bull in the side of the head, knocking it to the ground. Then the sheep butted the cow in the head, killing it instantly.

Termites Try to Take Toppling Town Court

"We gave them some stuff that will terminate the termites' tenure," said Rufus Parks, county construction chief.

But Judge Thomas McLoughlin, who would prefer a new building, said: "This courthouse is so weak a weighty decision would tumble it."

Stop Back in 2053

GREENLAND, N. H. (UP)—Mrs. Mary E. Lane, 100 years young, is looking forward to the next "social visit" to her doctor. While observing her century anniversary, she remarked that that was the only sort of visit she ever paid him.

Newest Elevator Is Passenger-Operated

CHICAGO (AP) — A caution light signal installed in automatic elevators has been patented by a Chicago business man. Charles W. Lerch, elevator consulting engineer says the green light for up and red for down still will be used, but an orange caution light will serve to prevent passenger collisions.

Lerch says elevator operators are on the way out in most cities from coast to coast, and his caution light signal will elimiate the necessity of the operator saying, "Let 'em off, please."
