UF Drive Still Shy $120,000

With three days remaining in the 1960 Pontiac Area United Fund drive, Semon E. Knudsen, campaign chairman, announced today that $553,656 has been raised toward the UF's goal of $672,500. Making his second progress report of the campaign, Knudsen stated that the money pledged amount to 82.3 per cent of the figure sought in the three-week drive.

Still to be raised is $118,844. Knudsen expressed confidence that the drive would end on a victorious note.

Late returns from the Industrial Division should enable the announcement of the drive's successful conclusion at a victory luncheon of volunteer workers Thursday at the Elks Temple, Knudsen said.

The campaign chairman paid tribute to the hourly employees of the Pontiac Manufacturers Association, a group composed of nine major plants in the city, for "again demonstrating their support" of the UF drive.

"Comprising the bulk of contributors in the Industrial Division, their generous pledges are an outstanding demonstration of community concern for those in need in the Pontiac area," Knudsen said.

Knudsen noted that each year more departments in the Division are reporting 100 per cent participation. Many of them are showing increases this year in employee participation and average employee contributions, he said.

He pointed to the fact that Pontiac Motor Division reported 87.4 per cent employee participation, up from 84 per cent last year, with an increase in the average contribution from $9.24 to $9.28.

Fisher Body increased employee participation from 83.1 per cent last year to 84.8 per cent in the current campaign, with a jump in the average contribution from $9.28 to $11.30.

Knudsen also singled out the Universal Oil Seal Co. for praise in support of the drive. Hourly employees have topped their average contribution from $11.30 in 1959 to $11.74.

The Industrial Division, headed by Calvin E. Werner, has raised $583,716, 94 per cent of its quota of $625,560.

The Commercial Division, Knudsen reported, has raised $102,732, or 58 per cent of its $176,500 quota.

John P. Nigemann, Commercial Division chairman, stated he was "very proud" of the work done by solicitors of the professional groups, led by Robert (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Local 614 Must Submit Books

City Teamsters Have Until 2 P.M. Today to Give Up Records

Pontiac Teamster Local 614 officials had until 2 p.m. today to surrender disputed 1959 financial and membership records to the U.S. Department of Labor, investigating possible violations of the new Landrum-Griffin labor reform act.

If the records aren't turned in voluntarily, Federal Judge Fred W. Kaess said yesterday in Detroit, a suit by the union will be dismissed, leaving the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor-Management free to claim the subpoenaed books.

Similarly subpoenaed records are affected at Local 289 in Detroit, home local of Teamster President James B. Hoffa.

Like Rates Us Most Powerful Nation in History

Ends Tour by Declaring No Need for Big New Defense Programs

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Eisenhower rates America as history's most powerful nation. He says it needs no giant new defense programs or any massive economic shot in the arm from the federal government.

The President ended a cross-country speaking tour on that note Monday night — a nine-day trip billed by the White House as non-political.

Today he flew back to Washington to prepare for putting on his political gloves in a stretch-drive effort to elect the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

In Miami, Fla., Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. said today any claim that United States military power is "second rate" is simply not supported by the facts.

The Cabinet member in a speech which his aides said was non-political, stated among other things: "We have, I believe, every right to deeply resent the many implications now current that we are dispirited" the nation's defensive strength.

His speech was prepared for the annual convention of the Postmasters of America.

Friday — evening Eisenhower will address a nationwide television audience from a rally in Philadelphia. A week from Wednesday will be in New York for another major political address which will be carried coast-to-coast on both radio and TV. He may make additional speeches.

Eisenhower, a native Texan, got a rousing welcome to Houston from a police-estimated crowd of 300,000. He carried Texas in 1952 and 1956, and the backers of Vice President Richard M. Nixon hope the President's great popularity will keep the state in the Republican column Nov. 8.

NOTES CAMPAIGN
At the outset of his address to an audience of about 8,000 at Rice University, Eisenhower smilingly noted there is a political campaign in progress.

Nixon's rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, has been hammering throughout the campaign the contention that U.S. prestige has slipped abroad during the Eisenhower administration. He says America is strong militarily but needs to be stronger, and that the Soviet Union is outpacing this country in rate of economic growth.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is now engaged in the colossal task of building 41,000 miles of superhighways at $1-million a mile.

For many months now, this massive, four-year-old project has been plagued by rumors of widespread mismanagement and corruption.

After nearly five months of on-the-spot investigation across the nation, the findings indicate that some reports of the program's troubles have been exaggerated.

But they also indicate that, around the edges, the project is

Swanson at High Speed Stumping for State Post

LANSING (AP) — John B. Swanson, who already has occupied Michigan's governor chair on a temporary basis, hopes to hold down the state's highest elective office full-time the next two years.

The amiable, 35-year-old Swanson is running at top speed as the Democratic nominee for governor and taking nothing for granted in his campaign against Republican Paul D. Bagwell, 47, a former Michigan State University speech professor.

"Right now, I'm campaigning as hard as I can," Swanson commented during a brief break in a typically crowded 16-hour day of handshaking and speeches that took him from one end of the state to the other.

"Between now and Nov. 8, I intend to work even harder at the campaign," he said. "I am mentally and physically prepared for an all-out sprint to the finish line."

The lieutenant governor declined to make a flat prediction that he would take over the state house reins held by G. Mennen Williams for the past 12 years.

"I wouldn't speculate on the outcome of the election at this date. I do feel, however, that the campaign is going well," Swanson said, adding:

CIA Quizzed About Rumored Opinion Poll

CBS, NY Times Say Survey Abroad Gives Nod to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee staff is checking whether the government has made and kept secret an overseas poll of opinions on U.S. prestige.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of a House Government Information subcommittee, directed the inquiry at the U.S. Information Agency (USIA).

His action followed a CBS radio report Monday that a secret poll made by the agency showed overwhelming belief in other countries that Soviet military strength will surpass that of the United States within 10 years.

Today, the New York Times quoted reliable sources abroad as saying a survey report by the USIA's research division found an almost unanimous belief that the Soviet Union is the leading military power.

George V. Allen, head of the USIA, declined to comment on the broadcast report or say whether or such a poll had been made.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has made a campaign issue of what he calls declining U.S. prestige abroad. Both he and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., have asked the USIA about any polls showing such a trend, but agency officials have replied that no recent poll on the subject has been made.

The White House last week denied a story in the Washington Post that a presidential committee on U.S. information activities had reported a decline in U.S. prestige.

The CBS broadcast said a government report compiled by the USIA research division in August contains the information about which Fulbright had asked.

BIG EDGE BY 1975
The broadcast said the report gave the Soviet Union a slight edge in opinions of which country is stronger today and an overwhelming margin on relative strength in 1970. The broadcast said that despite Soviet gains, however, the report shows a general belief the United States will still have a strong retaliatory ability that will deter Soviet aggression.

A Moss subcommittee aide said the USIA would be asked both whether results of prestige polls are available and if so why they haven't been made public.

"If something has been suppressed we want to know under what legal authority it is being suppressed," he said. "These polls would have been made at public expense and we want to know how they would justify not making them available to the public."

The New York Times story quoted reliable sources abroad as saying that nine or ten foreign countries were surveyed by the USIA during the summer.

A few scattered showers and a high near 60 is the forecast for Wednesday. Mild temperatures are expected through Friday.

Northwesterly morning winds at 8 miles per hour will become southeasterly at 8 to 12 late this afternoon, increasing to 12 to 18 m.p.h. tonight.

Campaigning in Oakland

PLUGS FOR NIXON — Vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge makes a point for the Nixon-Lodge ticket before his talk last night at Southfield High School. Oakland County Republican party leaders estimated the turnout at 3,500 persons, the largest to greet the ambassador to the United Nations during his swing through the Detroit area yesterday.

Lodge Tells 3,500 at Southfield

'Nixon a World Leader'
By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR. An estimated 3,500 persons turned out in near-freezing weather last night in Southfield to hear Republican vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge praise his running mate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, as the best suited, not only to become leader of our nation, but also a world leader.

County Republican leaders were pleased with the reception afforded Lodge during his brief, whirlwind stopover in Oakland County.

They were particularly pleased since county voters won't have an opportunity to hear or see Nixon, who follows Lodge on Michigan Thursday. Oakland County is not on his itinerary.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons had to call out reserve officers to cope with traffic snarls that blocked 10-Mile and Lahar roads before and after Lodge arrived with his police escort.

While the crowd in the Southfield High School gymnasium sang campaign songs and heard county and state candidates speak, former United Nations Ambassador Lodge was down the street being interviewed for a delayed television show.

TALKS WITH A PUNCH
Lodge's message to the cheering, sign-waving, enthusiastic crowd was brief — about 15 minutes — but with a "punch," said a smiling Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county chairman.

Lodge said not only will voters be electing a president on Nov. 8, but they will be choosing a world leader who must not give an inch to Communist pressures and propaganda.

"Here is the leader who can do it," Lodge said, pointing to a photograph of the vice president behind him.

"Here is a man who has never been taken in by the Communists. Here is a man who has never taken what the Communists say on face value. Here is a man who has never given in when they say 'come and get it' on the other side of the line."

When his white convertible pulled up beside the school, first to greet the 56-year-old former newspaperman and Massachusetts senator was another man named Lodge — Sen. L. Harvey Lodge.

"The Michigan Lodges welcome the Massachusetts Lodges," Sen. Lodge said as flash bulbs popped. Sen. Lodge, a candidate for probable judge this year, said he is a "distant cousin" of Lodge, "something like Franklin Roosevelt was to Theodore."

Swainson Sprouting Toward Finish-Line

Democratic party is proof that they are headed in the right direction.

On Sunday through Monday, nearly-Republican territory last week, Swainson drew small but enthusiastic crowds. At a rally in Jackson featuring most of the Democratic ticket, the turnout numbered about 250 in the old state prison now used as an Army.

But local party leaders contended that 10 years ago such a rally would be considered unsuccessful if it drew only 50 persons.

As lieutenant governor, Swainson has taken over the governor's chair on several occasions when Williams was out of the state. He feels this experience has been invaluable.

"I've served six years in the Michigan State Senate—two terms as a senator and one as lieutenant governor," Swainson recalled. "During my second term in the Senate I was elected Democratic Party leader. I feel that the people will be receptive to me because of my legislative experience."

"My opponent, on the other hand, has served one day in government," Swainson said.

The Swainson vs. Bagwell contest has been likened to an elimination battle matching the two leading candidates for the crown of a retiring champion—Williams.

NOT WELL KNOWN

Both contenders have found that they are little known in some sections, even to the point of being called "strangers."

"How do the two candidates differ and why should voters cast their ballots for him instead of his opponent?" Swainson replied:

"I've taken a stand on the issues confronting the State of Michigan by challenging the State of Michigan to the people. I've offered the people programs rather than slogans. I haven't resorted to any election year promises with a Madison Avenue flourish on them."

"My opponent on the other hand has come out for everything in the books and made all sorts of outlandish pledges and promises that are becoming standard operating procedure for the Republican Party."

"He has been evasive. He has distorted the record. He has lied above all—misrepresented his state with his unrealistic attack on Michigan's economy."

"The people I have met around Michigan are not going to buy this. He has spent too much time blackening the reputation of the State in an attempt to win public office."

Thousands View Titan's Flight

Recovery of Missile's Data Capsule at Sea Ends Tests of 'J' Series

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Thousands of people saw Titan No. 25 blaze across the sky on a record 6,100 mile flight to a South Atlantic ocean target area.

Smooth recovery of the missile's data capsule at sea crowned the last scheduled test shot of the Titan 'J' series. These intercontinental missiles are slated to be operational by next summer. Meanwhile, tests will begin on an "AJ" improved version of the Titan.

Monday night's flight from Cape Canaveral was the longest a Titan has made in 18 launches the Air Force called successful. Its tactical-type nose capsule plunged into a 1,100 mile southeast of Ascension Island. At 7:33 p.m., 97 minutes after the launch, the Air Force missile range vessel USSC-42, USSC-42, recovered the capsule.

The Titan's after sunset takeoff punched a weird, luminous sky trail that thrilled spectators at the district in Key West, more than 250 miles south of Cape Canaveral, and Savannah, Ga., 350 miles north of the cape.

A number of persons telephoned newspapers and radio stations about the rocket.

The Titan made its longest previous flight Sept. 29 when it traveled 6,000 miles. It was intended to fly 10,000 miles to the Indian Ocean, but fell short because of premature cutoff of its engines.

The Titan's planned operational range is 6,325 miles. The first of 14 Titan bases scheduled for readiness next summer at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colo.

Nigamian expressed confidence that the professional groups would meet their quota by the campaign deadline.

He also praised solicitors of Waterford Township and Pontiac schools, headed by William A. Shuck, vice chairman. "Both school systems will go over the top," Nigamian predicted.

The Commercial Division chairman stated that both the chapter plans group under Robert Armstrong, and the teams group under Clyde R. Haskill, have reached 50 per cent of their quotas.

Nigamian urged Commercial Division workers to complete their solicitations "as quickly as possible" and to go over the "deadline" almost upon us.

motion, or of the abstentions, which were classified in the government's favor.

"The opposition mustered 109 votes for censure last November when the 1960 budget was involved. Last May there were 122 votes for a censure motion arising over a farming bill."

1.3 BILLION FOR N-Force

This time the issue was the military budget which included $1.2 billion for initial development of a nuclear striking force through 1964.

The fact that censure took the place of a vote on the bill caused many deputies to hold back on expressing their opposition. Had the censure motion won, Debré could have been overthrown. De Gaulle, whose own job was not at stake, probably would have called for new parliamentary elections or a referendum.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where it is expected to get further tough criticism, and finally back to the Assembly.

Socialist leader Guy Mollet, who marshaled the opposition forces, argued that creation of an independent French striking force was a blow at Atlantic integration and European unification and threatened France with isolation from her allies.

Debré denied France would be isolated and said the Atlantic alliance would be stronger if France had her own atomic force.

The Algerian problem now bounds back to the center of the stage.

Gen. Raoul Salan, former commander in chief in Algeria, and a leading figure in the May 1958 revolt that put De Gaulle in power, is waging a personal fight against the creation of a new force giving the Algerians self-determination. He was expected to announce the formation of a new party dedicated to keeping Algeria French.

Jacques Soustelle, a former member of the de Gaulle government, already has announced the formation of a new party and is planning a strategy against the former Premier Georges Bidault and other right-wing opponents of De Gaulle's policy.

Programs Will Mark U.N. Week in Area

United Nations Week in Pontiac will be highlighted by programs tomorrow and Thursday.

A representative of Ghana, Africa, will address an open meeting at the Oakland County Chapter of the American Association of the United Nations tomorrow night in Bloomfield Hills.

The subject of U.N. membership will be tackled in a Wednesday evening program in Pontiac by a panel discussion.

The stormy opening session of the U.N. General Assembly this week has added significance to the homage to the U.N. across the nation this week.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston has called upon Pontiac citizens to be mindful of the importance of the world organization and its role in maintaining peace.

"The world is in increasing danger of a nuclear war which would destroy mankind," he said.

"Our main hope for peace lies in the U.N. and its role as an arbiter of international disputes."

Paul Baddoo, a native of Ghana and president of the All African Students Union, will be the main speaker at the Bloomfield Hills program, which begins at 8 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ-Latter Day Saints, 425 Woodward Ave.

MRS. ROMNEY TAKES PART

A graduate student at Fordham University, Baddoo will be introduced by Mrs. George Romney, wife of the president of American Motors Co.

A spokesman for the chapter said high school pupils would find the program especially interesting.

"Should U.N. membership be universal?" will be the question asked of panelists at the Thursday program, scheduled for 8 p.m. at Washington Junior High School, 719 Kensington Road.

Panel members are Dr. Samuel Shapiro, assistant professor of history at Michigan State University.

There was close competition for governor with Republican Paul D. Bagwell receiving 688 votes compared to 649 for John B. Swainson.

Of the 1,625 students enrolled at Pierce, 1,448 voted, according to eighth grade social studies teacher in charge, William Green.

Waterford Township High School students will vote this week.

SLOGAN CHEERED

When Draper repeated his winning slogan of "Be one of the people for all of the people—Vote for Nixon and Lodge" a cheer went up.

Miss Irene Giacobbi, president of the Oakland Young Republicans and originator of an attractive group of girls who call themselves the "Oakland Girls," presented Mrs. Lodge with a bouquet.

Police and Lodge's aides held their hands full getting the candidate in and out of the car. Lodge asked the driver to get a peek at "the man with the gray hair."

A man jumped on the press table, extended his hand to Lodge and said: "I wish you were running for president."

"I've got my hands full now," Lodge responded.

Lodge's driver couldn't pull away from the school as people, many of them young women and teenagers, reached into the car to get a last look at Lodge. They struggled to shake his hand.

"I've touched him, I've touched him," shrieked one young woman as the car sped off with police sirens screaming.

"Then we will leave communism way, way in the rear where it will eventually dry up and wither away."

reality the federal government is contributing $285 million a year to this program.

The special "superhighway" program began in mid-1956. Under this program the federal government reimburses the states at the rate of 90 cents for each dollar spent.

These superhighways are designed to standards believed necessary to handle traffic in 1975. Fifteen years from now there will be an estimated 111 million vehicles on the roads, compared to 73 million now.

Upon completion, the superhighways are expected to carry about 20 per cent of the nation's traffic, leaving the states at the rate of all cities over 50,000 population.

Since July 1, 1956, about $3.5 billion including federal and state funds, has been spent on the superhighway program.

In that same period $6.5 billion, including $3.4 billion in federal monies, has been spent by the states and federal government on the primary, secondary and urban road program.

At present the expenditure of another $3 billion for superhighways has been authorized, while $3 billion has been earmarked for primary, secondary and urban roads.

The federal contribution for this future construction will be $5,500,000 of the $5,000,000 total.

2,000 MILES SO FAR

What has it all bought and what is it buying?

To date, 3,692 miles of superhighways have been built with federal financial participation to 1975 high-speed standards and an additional 3,139 miles of existing primary roads have been improved to meet needs of the 1960s.

NOT THAT BIG

Most of the rumors of widespread corruption and waste have been predicated on the apparent increase in cost from $27.5 billion to $49.5 billion.

There undoubtedly is a certain amount of waste and corruption in the programs, as there would be in any project so large and diffuse, but there is no evidence that it amounts to $13.4 billion or anything like it.

Uncertain Vote Looms Large

Could Bring Landslide for Either Man, Says Pollster Gallup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pollster George Gallup says the presidential race is still very close but there is enough voter uncertainty to "bring a colossal landslide to either man."

Major shifts have occurred in the final few weeks before each of the last three presidential elections, Gallup said in a copyright interview published today by the magazine U.S. News & World Report.

Unlike many previous elections, he said, "there is a great lack of enthusiasm for either" Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy, and many voters leaning toward either could be shifted to the other.

Putting the estimated total vote at 70 million, Gallup said he finds about 3.5 million potential voters undecided—about the same as in the last two elections.

But he described as a "terribly important" factor "the possible shift of another 6.5 million" who

Russia Is Warned Away From Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange Monday told the Russians to keep their hands off Norway and suggested that further Soviet threats may make Norway reconsider her present policy.

After giving Parliament a report on the U.N. General Assembly session in New York, Lange accused the Soviet Union of waging, an offensive of threats and propaganda causing unrest in the country.

"The question has been raised in many circles whether we, in reality, are faced with the threat of an attack on our country," Lange said.

Nichols Heads Dodge Division

M. C. Patterson Retires After Nine Years With Unit of Chrysler

DETROIT (U-P) — Byron J. Nichols, Chrysler group vice president in charge of automotive sales, has been named general manager of Dodge Division.

He succeeds M. C. Patterson, who is retiring. Patterson, 60, has headed Dodge since July 1956.

Nichols is 47. He has been with Chrysler since 1946. Both Nichols and Patterson were given clean bill of health in the recent investigations of Chrysler's top executives by the corporation's legal counsel and by an independent law firm headed by Thomas E. Dewey.

PROBED FOR CONFLICTS

The probes were to determine whether any Chrysler officers were involved in conflicts of interest.

Patterson, a native of Scotland, joined Dodge in 1951, became divisional vice president in charge of manufacturing in February 1956 and divisional president in 1958.

Chrysler changed its titles in 1958 and Patterson became general manager of Dodge.

Nichols' old job has been abolished, the corporation said, and staff functions have been consolidated under Ed C. Quinn, vice president for sales divisions. Patterson said he had asked to retire before the company's mandatory retirement age of 65 because he wanted more time with his family.

Dr. Yerg succeeds Dr. A. K. Stelzgrove, who will continue serving as a council member. Smith replaces George V. Swenson, who retired from the faculty in June 1960.

MSU Expects Crowded Campus for Homecoming

EAST LANSING (U-P) — Michigan State University officials say they expect the school's population to double this weekend when an estimated 20,000 alumni descend on or near the campus for homecoming.

Highlight for the festivities will be the Michigan State-Ohio State football game, kicking off at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The whole thing starts at 7:30 p.m. Friday with a student pep rally and ends Sunday afternoon when the displays built by some 75 living units on campus come down.

Between, there is a jazz festival following the pep rally, homecoming breakfasts and brunches, a 10th anniversary celebration by the MSU School of Nursing, and alumni stag smoker, sponsored by the Igham County MSU Alumni Club.

Reigning over the homecoming spectacle will be Queen Mary Bevels, 18-year-old East Grand Rapids sophomore. She and her court will be presented at Spartan Stadium and at the Homecoming Dance, in the Big Ten Room at Kellogg Center.

With her will be runner-up Susan Taylor, 20, of Mount Clemens. Miss Taylor will carry the title: "Miss Ohio State."

Mobutu Elects to Stay in Chaotic Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congolese army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu disclosed Monday night in the midst of wild troop disorders that he has canceled his planned trip to New York to plead his anti-Communist cause.

Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, a member of the "high commission" set up by Mobutu to govern the chaotic country, said Mobutu decided to stay here rather than leave the country for 10 days as planned, in midst of the blood-fied crisis.

As Bomboko spoke, Congolese soldiers staged new raids in the African quarter, striking more fear into the city as they searched for supporters of ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba and drove off with jeepsloads of prisoners.

Candidates Battle in Michigan

Dems Hit Foreign Policy; GOP Stays Close to Home

By The Associated Press
Sen. Patrick V. McNamara and Lt. Gov. John B. Swanson both blasted the Republican administration's foreign policy Monday at a U.N. day dinner at Detroit.

McNamara, who is running for re-election, charged that the administration has used the United Nations as what he called "a convenient dumping place for its foreign policy failures rather than an instrument for world peace."

McNamara said the administration had many failures on its record among these he listed:

"Republican blunders in the timing and handling of the U2 plane incident . . . Deterioration of Latin American relations to the point where the United States vice president was stoned and spit upon . . . the Japanese riots which prevented a state visit by President Eisenhower to that country."

Swanson, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, also blasted Republican foreign policy.

"Two-thirds of the world is non-white," Swanson said. "It reacts violently to our inability to solve a Little Rock crisis . . . the Republicans cannot possibly understand the people of Africa and South Asia. They do not even understand the people of Detroit."

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley, McNamara's Republican rival for a senate seat, urged Monday that industrial firms give qualified Negro employees equal opportunities for job promotions.

Speaking before a group of interdenominational ministers at Detroit, Bentley said "there is still some evidence in certain industrial firms that Negroes are confined to jobs at lower levels of the wage scale."

He said it would be difficult to legislate into the fair employment practice commission code of assurances for Negroes that they would be promoted when they prove themselves worthy.

Paul D. Bagwell, Republican gubernatorial candidate, said Monday that the "crying need in our state is to restore fiscal responsibility, eliminate deficits and get back on a sound basis of good government."

In a series of speeches in the Detroit area, Bagwell urged election of a Republican administration to "get Michigan back on its feet" and change the national image of the state which Bagwell said points Michigan as going broke, unable to solve its problems and beholden to big labor.

Former Michigan Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner joined more than 60 veteran Democrats Monday to help support Sen. John Kennedy's campaign for the presidency.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., was the main speaker at the dinner.

Predicts Victory for McNamara

Detroit News Survey Gives Senator 52.6 Pct. of State's Vote

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit News reported today its poll of Michigan voter sentiment indicates Sen. Patrick McNamara, a Democrat seeking re-election, will get 52.6 per cent of the state's vote Nov. 8.

The poll gave McNamara's Republican rival Rep. Alvin Bentley 43.3 per cent of the vote.

The News reported that 3.1 per cent of those interviewed declined to make a choice or favored a minority party candidate.

The News said McNamara had slipped up .9 per cent since results of a previous poll were published Oct. 11 and that Bentley had slipped 5 per cent.

McNamara's margin, however, was less than the 53.3 to 45.9 edge for Democrat Sen. John F. Kennedy in the presidential race and the 54.4 to 43.3 margin of Democrat John B. Swanson for governor.

The News has endorsed Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican nominee for president and Paul D. Bagwell, GOP nominee for governor, but refused to make a choice between McNamara and Bentley.

Northeast Victim as First Snows of Season Hit

By The Associated Press
More snow and rain showers hit the Northeast today after the season's first snowfall left a covering up to nearly a foot in some mountain areas.

Cold gusty winds swept into the Northeast Monday and snow fell from the lower Great Lakes region southward into the Pennsylvania mountains and West Virginia. Eight to 10 inches of snow was reported at Tidewater, a small town in the northwestern Pennsylvania mountains.

Three inches of snow was on the ground at Paxton, Mass., near Worcester, while one-inch falls were reported at Rochester, Syracuse and Oswego, N.Y. Snow fell throughout much of western New York and most of Connecticut.

Airliner Carrying Queen Is Buzzed by NATO Jets

LONDON (UPI) — Two jet fighters sped closely over Queen Elizabeth's plane today as she flew home from Denmark. One of her crewmen termed the buzzing "a nasty moment." He said the clearance was only about 30 feet.

The jets were described as Sabres, a plane of American design used by several European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

The crew of the Queen's Comet jetliner reported the incident after landing at London Airport. They said it happened at about 30,000 feet when the plane was 50 miles north of Eelde, the Netherlands.

In the Hague, a spokesman for the Dutch Ministry of Communications said the planes belonged to the West German Air Force.

Former Congressman in Hospital After Crash

WATERVLIET (UPI) — George Foulkes, 65, former Democratic congressman from the 4th district, was reported in fair condition today at Community Hospital here, being treated for injuries suffered in a traffic accident.

Foulkes served in the U. S. House of Representatives for one term; being elected in the Roosevelt landslide of 1932. Republican Rep. Clare E. Hoffman has held the office since.

Off-Duty Officer Foils Holdup

Wounded Ex-Convict Is Arrested 30 Minutes After Fleeing

DETROIT (U-P) — An off-duty state trooper broke up a robbery attempt at a brother-in-law's store Monday night, shooting and wounding a fleeing holdup man after the latter's gun misfired twice at close range.

In a roundup before the night was over, an ex-convict had been captured along with four companions who police said had raced away from the scene in a car. All had been drinking, police said.

The holdup, gunfire, pursuit and arrests took place within 30 minutes.

James Colvin, 33, of Inkster, former Kentuckian and prison parolee, was taken to Wayne County General Hospital as a police prisoner with wounds in both legs.

GIVE ME YOUR MONEY

Trooper Leo Heatley of the Ypsilanti State Police Post was tending the store of his brother-in-law, Thomas Hill, when he said Colvin walked in with a pistol and demanded: "Give me your money."

The store is in Canby Township in Western Wayne County. Heatley said Colvin aimed his gun at Heatley's chest and pulled the trigger. The gun misfired.

As Heatley dropped behind the counter to get his own gun, the man pulled the trigger again, and again his weapon misfired.

As the two men confronted each other with their guns, Heatley said Colvin declared: "I'm going to kill you."

RUNS TO CAR

With Heatley firing at him, the man ran to the car, parked nearby, and it drove off with him. Heatley took down the license number and called his post.

When picking a mate, it's wise to choose one who's a good cook. Ask Rep. Clare E. Hoffman has held the office since.

Probe 28-Year-Old Suicide of Movie Siren's Husband

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After 28 years, that Bern had for 10 years supported a woman whose maiden name was Dorothy Millette. A few days after Bern's death her body was found in a slough of the Sacramento River, officers said.

Seventy major hospitals in 27 states are now using an all-electric hospital bed which permits fully automatic operation by the patient, saving time for hospital personnel and helping cut hospital costs.

Bern's death in 1932 was listed officially as suicide. Miss Harlow died five years later, at 25, of uremic poisoning. Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said Monday a fresh inquiry is being made because writer Ben Hecht said in a recent magazine article that a suicide note reputedly left by the 42-year-old Bern was a forgery. Hecht charged that Bern was murdered by another woman, whom he did not name.

Hecht's article said film studio officials decided it was better that the public believe Bern killed himself than to let it be known that Miss Harlow could not keep her husband.

MARRIED IN 1932

Bern and the actress were married July 2, 1932. Two months later Bern was found shot to death just outside the door of his bedroom in their Benedict Canyon home.

"When a writer of Ben Hecht's stature puts in public print without qualification that a murder has been committed, it is up to the district attorney's office to investigate the case, no matter how long ago it occurred," McKesson said.

At the time of Bern's death, Miss Harlow could give police no motive for suicide. The next day she tried to throw herself off a balcony, officers reported.

It was then discovered, police

Medics Cite Three Steps to Prevent Heart Attacks

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—A three-pronged program, centered on diet, exercise and weight reduction, is recommended by the American Association as possible means of preventing heart attacks.

The small amount of exercise most persons get at the close of the working day may be the reason America has one of the highest death rates in the world from coronary diseases, doctors said.

It was generally agreed that exercise, a reduction in diet where necessary and elimination of surplus weight were important factors in cutting heart attacks.

Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, director of Chicago's heart disease control program, said that "turning on the television set by remote control, pressing a brake pedal and bending the elbow" were the major after work activities of modern Americans.

SHOULDN'T WAIT
In a symposium on nondietary factors in coronary artery disease, Stamler and other specialists agree in recommending the three preventive measures and said that American males should not wait until middle age to take the advice.

They said that autopsies of young soldiers who died in the Korean war revealed that 30 per cent already had coronary disease.

"People in their 20s and 30s are not too young to begin taking preventive measures," Dr. Caroline B. Thomas, associate professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins University, said.

Among the facts brought to light at the symposium were that there is 10 to 20 times more coronary artery disease among American white men under 30 than among American white women of the same age.

The doctors said that in the U.S. and The difference appears.

Sex differences in incidence of coronary artery disease are not as marked in other countries, they said.

As yet these gains—two weeks before the election—do not appear enough to assure Kennedy's election. The times added in a special election campaign report.

However, the story said, the gains appear to be sufficient to have wiped out the margin credited to Vice President Richard M. Nixon following his nomination.

The report was based on a study of various national and state polls and on interviews with voters and political leaders in the 50 states.

Economists Say U.S. Is Not Going Downhill

Recently The Indianapolis Star answered some KENNEDY charges about NIXON and the current administration. They are thought provoking and we reproduce them herewith:

"As the 1960 presidential campaign has continued, we have seen Sen. JACK KENNEDY resorting more and more recklessly to claims and charges that the United States has deteriorated into a second-class power. Let us examine Sen. KENNEDY's charge that the United States is going downhill economically.

"Prof. Warren G. Nutter, associate professor of economics at the University of Virginia, made this statement after visiting Russia. 'Russia's economy is half a century behind the West.' Nutter made the following comparisons: In steel, Russia is 29 years behind the United States. In coal it is 47 years behind; in natural gas, 52 years.

"Fifty-two per cent of the Soviet population works on the farm. In the United States less than 10 per cent of the population works on farms and we have a surplus of food.

"During the KENNEDY administration, savings deposits in banks and savings shares in life insurance have increased from $83 billion in 1952 to $155 billion in 1959. The number of persons with hospital insurance has increased from 97 million in 1952 to 127 million in 1960. Home ownership has increased from 47 per cent in 1952 to 61 per cent in 1960.

"During these last seven years, the U.S. has enjoyed the highest prosperity in history. Average weekly wages increased from $67 in 1952 to $92 in 1960.

"These evidences of our physical strength serve to show that the American system of free enterprise is a good system and that it functions best when it is freest of governmental interference. Sen. KENNEDY believes in far more governmental control over our lives.

"Sen. KENNEDY claims that there are 17 million hungry, starving Americans. This is the most absurd statement he has ever made. Do you know any starving Americans?"

"The voters should not fall for his promises of pie in the sky. This nation must be kept strong. It must always be alert. And we must never be afraid."

Unequaled Opportunity to Aid African Students

In speaking before the United Nations, President EISENHOWER promised the fullest U.S. cooperation in helping the newly independent African states and pointed out that these people should "be furnished with the mental tools to preserve and develop freedom."

The President declared that they should be aided in developing their own educational facilities and programs. He also said that the U.S. was ready to cooperate in training and educating Africans in this country should the need arise.

During the past few months a large percentage of the 600 Africans studying in Russia has expressed dissatisfaction and withdrawal. Their complaints stem from racial discrimination and Marxist indoctrination that leaves little time for learning.

Many of these students have been permitted to come to this country and resume their studies. After long delay the State Department replied to all these students—go back to Africa and try to apply for scholarships from there. In a circular letter the embassies are instructed to turn down all requests for help by African students.

Those that have been contacted by students feel sure that many more would leave Soviet universities if they could be assured of some help. Most of them are penniless and dependent on their Soviet scholarships. Americans who are in touch with the students advise help and predict an African "stampede" out of Russia if the West would extend aid.

Surely this is a time to cut through red tape and extend a helping hand. These are all top students who have been through Communist schemes and given up scholarships to seek help from the West.

This unexpected and far reaching opportunity for aiding Africa is open to us. Can't we make good use of it or shall we, by delay, discourage and embitter young Africans who will influence the future of their new nations.

This cigarette with a "thinking man's filter" is still around, but whatever became of the thinking man?

The Man About Town

After the Birds

Incidents in Connection With the Hunting Season

Talking point: Any place where two women meet.

Before he had a chance to shoulder his gun after securing his hunting license, Frank Merrillson of Rochester got his bird. A cock pheasant crashed through a window of his home, and was killed.

The birds are being driven into the city.

Paul Allemaire of Clarkston reports having seen a cock pheasant on the courthouse lawn early the other morning while driving through Pontiac.

"I wouldn't feel so bad about only knocking a few feathers out of a cock pheasant when I shot at him," phones Francis Knealey of Lake Orion.

"If he didn't immediately perch on some high ground and crow at me. My second shot also missed."

Even the hen pheasants are taking no chances, as.

Mrs. Randall Torrin of Walled Lake phones that several of them have come up to their poultry yard, and mix with the chickens since the firing commenced.

Known throughout the Pontiac area is Mrs. Robert S. Hetchler of neighboring Grand Blanc, who is the owner of the race horse, "Gold Storm," sensation of the year on our nation's turf.

My Flint correspondent sends word that the Rev. Paul Hart of Pontiac was the speaker Sunday evening at Grace Methodist Church in Flint.

The closing of Detroit's big auto show brings to mind the fact that a Pontiac area man, Werner M. Hoy of our Springfield Township, is the top moving spirit in one of the biggest coming attractions at Cobo Hall. It is the Greater Detroit Builders Home and Flower Show, Feb. 25 to March 5.

There's a Pontiac area echo in the choosing of Al Cicotte, pitcher for the Toronto pennant winners in the International League, as the best minor league baseball pitcher of the year. His uncle was Eddie Cicotte former Chicago White Sox twirler, who lived at Milford.

David Lawrence Says:

Free Speech Means Clergymen Too

WASHINGTON—The three Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico who advised their constituents to vote against Gov. Munoz Marin have stirred up a controversy as to the influence of the church in politics.

But what these three prelates have done is really not new. Advice to voters is given constantly by clergymen of all faiths.

When a public policy or action arises that directly concerns moral issues, churchmen generally feel that they have a right to speak out and tell their parishioners what they think.

In the case of the governor of Puerto Rico, the Catholic bishops feel he has not been right in encouraging birth control. In fact, for years they have insisted that his policies have been promoting abortion and celebrating common-law marriages.

Now, when a new law authorizes the teaching of birth control and allows sterilization, it is natural that the churchmen who differ with that public policy should be expressing themselves and telling their parishioners that they ought not to vote for any officials who support such legislation.

The governor, moreover, has refused to let 500,000 public school children take time off for religious observance, which several states permit. The Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the "released time" system.

Cardinal Spellman has declared that it is wrong to draw the inference that any Catholic would be committing a sin if he or she disregarded the advice of the Puerto Rico prelates.

He endorsed a statement by a Boston ecclesiastical authority who said that it was not something which would have to be reported in any confessional and hence there was no penance or penalty involved, and that the question was "a matter between a Catholic and his conscience."

This is similar to the position taken by Protestant clergymen—namely, that they have a right to advise their constituents on political matters, especially when moral issues are concerned.

Certainly there is precedent for this in many states of the United States where clergymen have publicly favored or opposed legislation directly related to the churches either with respect to tax exemptions of property or the system of releasing children from school in the afternoon to go to religious services.

In recent years many pronouncements have come from churchmen of all faiths on various issues that today are being debated in the presidential campaign.

Thus, a group of Protestant churches a few months ago brought out a report advocating the energetic, active 50-year-old man may suffer from calcium deficiency because his diet does not give him an adequate daily ration of calcium (in such foods as milk, cheese, eggs, greens, skim milk, buttermilk, peas, beans, cabbage, nuts and peanuts).

Or he may get insufficient sunshine on naked skin or insufficient vitamin D to insure good absorption of calcium.

In either case he would be more or less subject to tetany (not to be confused with tetanus), the most familiar manifestation of which is the occurrence of painful night cramps in legs or feet in elderly persons.

"Wedding anniversaries were more impressive in the old days when most folks had only one wedding to celebrate."

the admission of Red China to the United Nations. Other church groups have expressed themselves on different phases of domestic as well as international policy.

The only real dilemma arises when it is asserted that a citizen may be punished or penalized for choosing to differ on political matters from the viewpoint of his pastor or any group of clergymen in his church.

The Catholic authorities, for instance, say that the purpose of the Puerto Rican pastoral letter was merely to express an opinion, which was offered to the citizens for their consideration.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Heel-Away Procedure to Ease Cramps Praised

I tried the method of preventing or relieving night cramps you suggested and found it most effective. I am grateful to you and Dr. Fauer.

I described the maneuver here Monday, June 27, 1959, in my column.

Stretch the calf by thrusting the heel away from you and drawing your toes toward your chest.

A student who learned this maneuver from Dr. Fauer years ago says that in the intervening years he has had cramp in the leg start every night, but he has always stopped it immediately by the Fauer maneuver.

He has never found anyone for whom it has proved unsuccessful. It works if one is flat on his back. So one need not get up and walk the floor on cold nights.

It even works when one is swimming. Occasionally after playing tennis a couple hours the man who told me about the maneuver would dive and a cramp would hit his calf like the thumb in a water line when the water is shut off suddenly.

TURN ON BACK When one dives, the position of the feet in the air is the reverse of the corrective position. In that case the man turns on his back and floats, uses the maneuver, and the rigid calf relaxes promptly.

A man over 60 who plays tennis and swims is evidently an energetic type rather than sedentary, and hence not so likely to suffer from calcium deficiency.

A reasonable amount of exercise daily maintains normal calcium metabolism, that is, good utilization of calcium in the body—which doesn't mean much to the average American, who is ignorant of elementary physiology.

Of course the energetic, active 50-year-old man may suffer from calcium deficiency because his diet does not give him an adequate daily ration of calcium (in such foods as milk, cheese, eggs, greens, skim milk, buttermilk, peas, beans, cabbage, nuts and peanuts).

Or he may get insufficient sunshine on naked skin or insufficient vitamin D to insure good absorption of calcium.

In either case he would be more or less subject to tetany (not to be confused with tetanus), the most familiar manifestation of which is the occurrence of painful night cramps in legs or feet in elderly persons.

The prestige, of course, of any clergyman who possesses the confidence of the community can be said to influence the voters—and there are plenty of pamphlets and documents quoting eminent clergymen of all faiths on the question of separation of church and state.

But unless these contain some coercive or improper language, they are bound to be considered within the right of any organization to express itself and to endeavor to persuade others to adopt the views held by such an organization or association. Free speech covers religious controversies, too.

Heel-Away Procedure to Ease Cramps Praised

In pamphlet P-34, Adult Tetany and Growing Pains, I tell how to use calcium and D to prevent painful night cramps. For a copy of the pamphlet send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For additional copies of this or other pamphlets, include 15c each or 25c for two.

Some five years ago I awoke one morning and started to stretch. Never finished it. Seized with a horrid cramp in left calf. It lasted for a month or so. It seemed, though I was only two minutes late for breakfast.

'Give Voting Serious Consideration'

If we were to be believed we read in the paper, hear what we do over the radio or what we see over the television where the candidates or their party leaders say such things about each other, we could only wonder if there is anyone fit or capable of serving our country or our state as it should be served.

There are many good men capable of being of real service to our government, but if they offer to do so they themselves open to criticism and abuse and you can realize why they hesitate to do so.

It is your duty as a citizen to vote and try and pick the best man. Give the matter serious consideration and do your duty. Be sure and vote.

I think the Democratic party is missing a sure bet. The GOP lay blame for all this country's wars at Democratic doorstep.

Everybody likes and respects a winner. According to history the United States of America has never lost a fighting war. I would say there was a record to be proud of. Should we have another war, and the Republican Party was in office, with their past do-nothing record they might just lose us a war. Stay with a winner.

Doris voices a widespread complaint of wives, so today we'll go to bat for modern women and analyze some of the common faults of husbands. If your mate is silly, miserly, or one who sponges off his female relatives and companions, then mail this Case Record to him. And order the sex booklet below.

CASE G-408: Doris L., aged 27, brings out a common complaint of wives.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "why do you always pick on us women?"

'What Right Do We Have to Islands?'

As one listens to the candidates quibble over the disposal of the off shore islands and Formosa, one wonders by what authority or mandate, we the United States, have this right or privilege. Just imagine a reverse position. Suppose that after our Civil War the British Fleet had set a general order to array on islands in New York harbor and for 12 years leashed and unleashed them with the backing of this fleet. The North would not have put up with this longer than necessary and war would have been inevitable.

None of our allies agree with our far Eastern policy; witness the lone American Divisions in Korea. Nor have they made treaties defending the discredited Chiang Kai-shek. The latter was never elected to office in China and our moving him and his troops to Formosa did not endear us to the Formosans or anyone else in the Far East. Not even the most naive believe that the Chinese wish to conquer the world just because they wish to have back their own islands.

If we would go into a summit meeting or peace conference negotiating from right rather than always emphasizing strength, more progress might be made.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Mothers: Train Sons for Marriage

Doris voices a widespread complaint of wives, so today we'll go to bat for modern women and analyze some of the common faults of husbands. If your mate is silly, miserly, or one who sponges off his female relatives and companions, then mail this Case Record to him. And order the sex booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G-408: Doris L., aged 27, brings out a common complaint of wives.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "why do you always pick on us women?"

"Do you think your own sex is so perfect? So you pick on men for a change, and give us women a rest?"

"Why must we always—DR. CRANE? We've always been men and women, even though they have been unfaithful!"

HUSBANDS, BEWARE Unmarried adult women far outnumber the men in America, so there is more competition to get husbands.

To use a business term, the eligible men are in a "seller's market," while the women are competing in a "buyer's market."

That's one reason why women must make more concessions than men.

But we'll side with the women today on many counts and give you a quick diagnosis of modern men.

Too many males are spoiled by their own mothers so they are unfit prospects for happy marriage. It takes two women to make a

Inquiring Reporter Jackie Out to Find Who'll Be First Lady

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—American voters have two weeks left in which to decide whether they prefer 47-year-old Pat Nixon or 31-year-old Jacqueline Kennedy as first lady. The suspense is murderous, as "journalist" Jackie points out in her weekly political column called "Campaign Wife." While awaiting the birth of a second child in December, she confides that she does not share the traditional American yearning that her son—if she has one—will grow up to be president. Running for that office, she believes, is too arduous.

To the latter point, this correspondent can say "Amens." Spending three weeks flat on my back in traction is the reward for trying to keep up with Pat and Dick Nixon during only one seven-day stretch of campaigning.

Few women share the amazing stamina of Pat Nixon, who effortlessly bore two children and went campaigning for her husband's election to Congress before most maternity cases would have been allowed to walk down the hall to the nursery. She is never sick, never tired.

Jackie Kennedy is apparently as fragile as Pat Nixon looks. As a brand new bride, she broke her leg playing touch football with her husband and sisters-in-law. She miscarried twice before she was able to produce the delightful little blonde Caroline, who will soon be three years old. Fear of another miscarriage has virtually kept her out of the presidential campaign.

except for a few teas, recordings, and the free newspaper column.

Should Jack Kennedy capture the White House, his dashing blonde wife would be the second first lady in history to dabble in journalism. Eleanor Roosevelt sold a syndicated "My Day" diary, only after moving to the executive mansion. Jackie used to earn $42.50 a week writing an "enquiring photographer" column for the Washington Times-Herald.

Her brief newspaper career began and ended on a high note of romance. The day she started to work in 1952, the society columns proclaimed her engagement to John G. W. Haston Jr. of Bedford Hills, N.Y.

A year later, she quite her job on the day that her engagement was announced to bachelor Sen. John F. Kennedy of Boston and Hyannis Port, Mass.

In between these two milestones, the attractive postgraduate sandwiched some memorable interviews with such VIPs as her future husband, his future rival Richard M. Nixon, and her own future rival Pat Nixon.

Jackie sought out Pat in the late fall of 1952 to ask whom she thought would be the capital's leading hostess in the new Republican administration. Mrs. Nixon, with her usual practicality, said it would naturally be First Lady Mamie Eisenhower.

During her brief fling as a career girl, Jackie infuriated Mamie's sister Mrs. George Gordon Moore by waylaying her two little daughters on their way home from school to interview them about their famous relatives.

Mrs. Kennedy would undoubtedly be equally indignant if this happened to little Caroline now, but in those carefree days the enterprising reporter had herself a field day interviewing Mamie Moore, aged 10, and Ellen Moore, 11. The story of their youthful prattling about Uncle Ike and Aunt Mamie made page one and inspired Mrs. Moore to protest to the editor.

Jackie's first taste of journalism came during a trip to London to "cover" the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. Her columns were replete with chit-chat about the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, who happened to be sailing on the same boat, and of gossip from ladies in waiting at Buckingham Palace about plans for the festivities.

The pretty postcard also got herself invited to Madame Pore's party to Lonsdale House the night after the big event, and of it she wrote: "The media fiesta—second only to the coronation—was the show to see in London last week."

Seven years later, Madam Nixon is deserting the Democratic party to support the Nixons, instead of the Kennedys, for first family. Jackie, who covered the '52 presidential inaugural, is rising most of her husband's preparations for a hoped-for one of his own, but at least she's writing a column again.

Should she move to the White House, she reportedly plans to continue it—if Jack is willing.

Writes 2nd Book of Hillsdale Area

Novel Centers on Fight of Ohio, Michigan Over State Borders

DETROIT (UPI) — Merritt Greene, a free-lance writer who has spent much of his life seeking out the historical background of the Hillsdale County area, has written a second novel in little more than a year.

Greene, of Hillsdale, titled his new book "The Curse of the White Panther."

It is a sequel to his first book, "The Land Lies Pretty," and is centered on the border fight between Michigan and Ohio.

Martin Langdon, a New York-reared school teacher whose trip to Michigan in the early 1800s to seek his fortune provided the theme for the first book, is again the main character.

"The Curse of the White Panther" relates how Langdon was court-martialed and sentenced to hang when he tried to prevent the acquisition of property of the local Indians, how he escaped on the eve of the scheduled hanging, his marriage to a half-breed Indian maiden and his service in the militia during the Toledo War.

Greene, as he did in his first book, interlards must fact with fiction in his second novel.

He obtained much of the background for both books through long hours spent with descendants of the Chief Baw Beese and his tribe and some of the information, according to Greene, was previously unrecorded.

Nixon Is Happy With Little Girl's Quarter Donation

Little did Martha Lyle realize what a quarter was worth.

The 7-year-old daughter of the Charles Lyles, 18800 Hillcrest Road, Beverly Hills, returned to her father, a regional director for the Republican county committee, a quarter he had paid her earlier for a Nixon button.

She told her father to send the coin to Mr. Nixon for his campaign.

In return, Martha received a letter from the vice president thanking her for her "devoted and enthusiastic support" and saying how proud he was to have her on his team.

But even more important to Martha was the autographed picture of the Nixon family.

Vote Total May Top '56 by Five Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next month's presidential election may bring out five million more voters than the 1956 contest—between President Eisenhower and Adlai P. Stevenson.

An Associated Press compilation of estimates from state officials and political experts in the 50 states indicated a record 67 million votes next month from the 84 million eligible to cast ballots, compared with 62,027,040 votes from an estimated 80 million eligibles.

Free Press Endorses Republican Bagwell

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Free Press Monday endorsed Republican Paul D. Bagwell for governor.

The Free Press, in an editorial, clearly in favor of a sales tax increase to help solve the state's financial problems and in support of the constitutional convention proposal on the Nov. 8 ballot.

It also said "it should be apparent to all by this time that Michigan needs to take a new direction."

tion. To do so will require fresh and forthright leadership in Lansing. Mr. Bagwell is best qualified to provide it."

The Free Press said Democrat John B. Stenhouse has failed to say specifically where he stands on the tax question and is opposed to the constitutional convention proposal.

It added that his "reticence leaves him open to suspicion that, if elected, he will be the tool of the UAW."

"In choosing its next governor," the Free Press said, Michigan cannot afford to buy a pig in a poke."

GM Abandons Corvair Claims

Drops Advertising of Gas Mileage Figures After FTC Edict

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. has agreed to abandon certain gas mileage advertising claims for its compact Corvair. The claims were considered illegal by the Federal Trade Commission.

The FTC announced Sunday GM has signed a stipulation agreement "to stop representing that the Corvair will deliver 33 miles per gallon of gasoline under specified driving conditions, or that the car will deliver any gas mileage figure not in accordance with the facts."

While the agency considered the challenged advertising false and misleading — and therefore illegal — the stipulation did not constitute an admission by GM that it violated the law.

The questioned advertising concerned the 1960 model Corvair. However, FTC attorneys said the language of the agreement is broad enough to bar any misleading mileage claims for the present and future Corvair models.

NEEDN'T FILE COMPLAINT — Potential FTC cases frequently are settled through stipulations.

The FTC frees the agency from the necessity of filing a complaint which could lead to protected hearings and legal maneuvering.

Under the agreement, GM said it would "discontinue claims that the Corvair averaged 27.03 miles per gallon of regular gasoline in the Mobilgas-Economy Run and that the results of the Pure Oil Economy Trials proved the car will deliver 25 per cent to 40 per cent more miles per gallon than a conventional automobile."

She Wins Honor as Great Britain's Best in the Flesh

LONDON (AP) — A plump, middle-aged schoolteacher has been elected Britain's No. 1 nudist, but she's keeping it a closely guarded secret from the kids in her class.

Muriel Clark became the first-ever woman president of the British Sun Bathing Association at the nudists' centrally heated annual meeting here at the weekend.

"It's a great honor," she said. "But, oh, dear, what would the children say?" "And what will the women's think? Some of them are a bit funny. They can be rather sensitive about things like this, you know."

NY to Ask U.S. Funds for K's Police Protection

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner plans to ask the federal government to pick up the police force overtime bill for guarding Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and government heads who attended the U.N. General Assembly session.

The overtime cost has been unofficially estimated at about $5 million. Wagner said he planned to ask that the money be provided from President Eisenhower's $150 million special contingency fund under the Mutual Security Act.

Quads' Mother 'Thanks God' for Healthy Boys

DETROIT — "I thanked God each time I realized another one had been born well and healthy," Mrs. Gerard Guinane said Monday as she saw her quadruplet boys for the first time.

"The delivery didn't seem too bad—well, a little more difficult than with Anthony and Stephen," she said, speaking of her other two sons.

Guinane looked worse for the wear than his wife.

"There's no denying this is a shock—even though we expected the babies. I must say it will be nice. Now we have our own basketball team — plus one reserve," he said.

The children are in incubators and all are doing well, doctors said. They were born Sunday.

Kalamazoo Wins Award as Nation's Safest City

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—Safety-conscious Kalamazoo has been reaping award after award since the establishment of the Kalamazoo Area Safety Council in 1947.

So there was little surprise last week when the National Safety Council singled out Kalamazoo as the nation's safest city.

The National Council named Kalamazoo as the first Green Cross City in the U.S. and New Jersey as the first Green Cross State in the nation.

Both Kalamazoo and New Jersey will receive the new "Flame of Life" award for outstanding safety promotion, and Kalamazoo's award is scheduled to be delivered to Mayor James S. Gilmore Jr. today.

Stanley G. Peck, secretary of the Kalamazoo Area Safety Council, said the organization looks with pride on the safety record compiled in Kalamazoo.

In the 13 years since the local council was founded, Kalamazoo reduced the number of lost-time injuries in industry by 81 per cent despite rapid expansion of plants and personnel.

There were no industrial fatalities in the city in 1959 and only three traffic fatalities occurred in Kalamazoo last year.

Pyle said traffic safety measures include guards at all school crossings and a pedestrian ordinance which prohibits jay walking in blocks protected at both ends by traffic lights.

He also pointed out that the Kalamazoo Traffic Court has been cited several times by the American Bar Association for outstanding work in the field of traffic safety.

And the institute of traffic engineers has recognized as exemplary "the outstanding work of the Kalamazoo City Traffic Department in the maintenance and proper placement of traffic signs and signals."

While proud of the work done by the Kalamazoo Area Safety Council, Peck said the city's record could not have been accomplished without public awareness.

"The people's attitude determines a community's progress in the field of safety," Peck said.

City officials plan to prominently display the "Flame of Life" award — a metal base surmounted by a piece of glass in the form of a tapered flame — not only to remind citizens of their job well done, but also to focus attention on safety in the days ahead.

Catholics in Puerto Rico Still Upset at Vote Order

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Bitter controversy continued unabated today over a pastoral letter by Puerto Rico's Roman Catholic bishops forbidding their flock from voting for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party.

Puerto Rico's bar association planned a meeting Nov. 4 to discuss the bishop's letter, which attacked Munoz' ruling party because it had passed legislation permitting the teaching of birth control and allowing sterilization of mental defectives.

Republicans and independents Monday briefly picketed the residence of one of the signers of the letter, Bishop James McManus, at Ponce, on the south coast. The pickets carried placards saying "We believe in God but protest against his representatives" and "What have you said about Kennedy's statements on the subject?" When police arrived, the demonstrators left.

The three bishops themselves appeared divided over whether a Catholic vote for Munoz Nov. 8 would be a sin. Both Bishop McManus and Bishop Luis Aponte Martinez of Laredo said it would be a "sin of disobedience." But the third signer, Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan, called the vote "a matter between a Catholic and his conscience" and did not go into the matter of sin.

Health Secretary Guillermo Arbona said in an interview that the law permitting public teaching of birth control has not been applied for the past 10 years.

Birth control information, he said, was "strictly a medical matter between a physician and his patient," and the Health Department gives such information only when it is requested.

The law permitting sterilization of mental defectives was repealed earlier this year. Arbona added, "The Popular Democrats have no formal connection with the Democratic party on the U.S. mainland, although the Republican party in the commonwealth is affiliated with the mainland Republicans. The Catholic hierarchy is backing the new Christian Action party."

11 Plead Guilty to Loitering

Three Others Deny Charges After Raid by Vice Squad

Eleven of 14 persons arrested in a police vice squad raid on an alleged illegal gambling establishment early Sunday pleaded guilty to loitering charges before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday.

They were fined $25 apiece or five days in Oakland County Jail.

Police made the raid on the home of Carrie Travis, 38, at 514 Hughes St., at 5 p.m. They said the home had been under surveillance three weeks.

Miss Travis was charged with the illegal sale of liquor and maintaining an illegal gambling establishment.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

She pleaded not guilty to both counts and was released on $200 bond on each count.

Clayton N. Knepfer, 48, of 3078 Pompey St., Waterford Township, and Dawsey E. Keller, 38, of Hammond, Ind., both pleaded not guilty to loitering in an illegal gambling establishment. They were released on $200 bond.

Judge McCallum set trial for the three for Nov. 2.

Pleading guilty were:

Lillian J. Acosta, 25, of 186 Prospect St.; Jesse Acosta, 24, of 500 California Ave.; Benjamin Acosta, 26, of 196 Raeburn St.; Joseph L. Acosta, 32, of 307 Perry St.; and Ruth McDermott, 24, of 86 Cottage St.

Castro to Grab 139 U.S. Firms

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government early today ordered the confiscation of 139 American-owned firms in Cuba in retaliation for the American embargo on most exports to Cuba.

A new nationalization decree approved at a post-midnight Cabinet session last untouches some 200 American companies, most of them comparatively small. The bulk of the billion-dollar investments in Cuba has been taken over at various times in the past two years.

The value of the confiscated firms could not be determined immediately. Prior to today's decree the U.S. Embassy had estimated that some 380 operations still wholly or partly owned by Americans were valued at about $250 million.

The latest government decree cited Washington's recent embargo on all American exports to Cuba except food and medicine. The decree called the embargo "exceptional aggressiveness" and "designed to strangle our economy."

Notable exceptions to the new nationalization included the Mon Bay Mining Co., an $85 million nickel and cobalt operation in eastern Cuba. Among the firms nationalized were Sears Roebuck, Woolworth's and the operating firm for the U.S. government's Nicaro nickel plant, which has a $110 million book value.

Also still untouched was the big U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo.

British Gold Creeps Up Again to $38.36

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold on the London bullion market opened at $37.80 an ounce today and quickly jumped to $38.36. Monday's closing price was $37.80.

The rush to buy gold, which began last week, persisted despite official denials that the United States plans to increase its bullion price of $35 an ounce. The price of gold on the London market is fixed by five companies that handle the metal.

Boulevard Look Debate Tonight

Expect Commission to Keep Authority Over
Use of Sidewalks

A majority of the City Commission is expected tonight to vote down opposition and keep control over "the boulevard look" in downtown Pontiac.

Up for final debate is the measure, hotly contested two weeks ago, reserving to the commission the final say-so over Community National Bank's plan to erect sidewalk awnings around its Saginaw Street building.

The first of its kind, the plan has to be licensed by the city, since the awnings would be supported by poles set in the sidewalk.

Although beautifying downtown was roundly applauded, Commissioners Robert A. Landry and Milton R. Henry maintained such effects should be licensed routinely, without any special consideration by the commission.

In answer, Mayor Philip E. Rowston contended that use of sidewalks was a special privilege, that each plan should be weighed separately.

Scheduled hearings: On plans for a water main on Kennett Road, Stanley to Garfield; on an assessment roll for curbs and gutters on Cameron Avenue, Baltimore to Mt. Clemens; and on rolls for sidewalks on the north side of Willard Street and the west side of Jessie Street.

The Cameron, Willard and Jessie projects have been the subjects of protest petitions.

Rocky Chews It on Campaign

Doesn't Knock the Lox

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller made a bage-munching, lox-chewing, fig, salami, chocolate ball and éclair-stuffed campaign field trip to Upper Broadway Monday.

Rockefeller and a group of Republican legislative candidates invaded a 5th Street and Broadway supermarket to pin "Click With Dick" buttons on patrons and purchase $3.07 worth of 69-cent-a-pound kosher salami.

The governor and his entourage picked up 35 cents worth of figs, then stopped at a bakery for a bag of eclairs and chocolate balls, for which Rockefeller paid.

Emerging from the bakery, the governor made his way to a delicatessen where he ordered 50 cents worth of bagel and lox sandwiches.

PROPRIETOR PAYS

The proprietor picked up the check although the governor offered to pay.

Rockefeller pinched a few habes' cheeks before declaring the Kennedy-Johnson team showed in the recent session of Congress that "it couldn't get anything done."

With this he wound up his political tour for the day.

Pro-Western Sheikh of Qatar Abdicates

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—The pro-Western ruler of the Persian Gulf state of Qatar, Sheikh Ali Bin Abdullah al Thani, has abdicated in favor of his son, Sheikh Ahmed.

A British government spokesman in Bahrain said the ceremony took place in the presence of British political agent Frank Ward and acting political resident, Morgan Man. The spokesman added: "The succession was agreed by the ruling family in the traditional manner."

The announcement added that the retiring ruler's nephew Sheikh Khalifah Bin Hamad became heir-apparent. The new ruler is believed to hold pro-Western views similar to his aging father, while the new heir-apparent is said to be a supporter of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Information, Please! Is Routine for Police

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—"How long should I boil crabs?" a voice on the phone asked policeman J. J. Bodine.

Bodine forwarded the question to Sgt. John Gilham, then repeated Gilbert's reply of "about 20 minutes" into the phone. "Thanks," a man said, "my wife said the police would know."

STOP, I SAY! — Pamela Gramham, 2½ years old and weighing 35 pounds, was doing all right with Rullah, a 170-pound Great Dane, after picking up his leash at San Francisco dog show. Until Rullah heard his master's call, that is.

State Has 17 Seeking Another Term

Congressmen Fight for Their Seats

By United Press International
Michigan congressmen apparently like their jobs. At least 17 of them are seeking another term in the U.S. House of Representatives. Only Alvin M. Bentley, who wants a promotion to the federal upper chamber, is stepping out.

Ten other Republicans and seven Democrats have the "incumbent" designation on the ballot. Barring unforeseen turnovers of historical party preference in certain areas—and voters are notoriously fickle—only four present representatives might face a serious threat from their opponents.

Included in the threatened group, which still must retain the favored role, are three Republicans and a Democrat.

Doubt shadows the race in the 6th District, where Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain seeks a third term, the 11th District seat of Victor A. Knox, William S. Brownfield in the 18th District—all Republicans—and Democratic Rep. James G. O'Hara's seat in the 7th District.

The six Democrats holding the congressional seats from Wayne County, Reps. Thaddeus M. Macfarlane, Charles C. Dillig, Jr., Louis C. Rabaut, John D. Dingell, John Lesinski and Mrs. Martha Griffiths, are virtually certain to win re-election.

Seven outstate Republicans who are bidding for re-election also seem in little danger. The GOP is virtually assured of having Bentley's seat again, too.

The seven incumbents each won their seats in 1958 by a margin ranging from comfortable to huge. Included in the group is Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, 85-year-old veteran congressman from Southwest Michigan's 4th District who is seeking his 14th term.

Others are Reps. George Meader in the 2nd District, August E. Johansen in the 3rd, Gerald R. Ford Jr. in the 5th, Robert P. Griffin in the 9th, Elford A. Cederhertz in the 10th, and John B. Rens-net in the Upper Peninsula's 12th District.

Former Saginaw Mayor James Harvey should have little trouble keeping Bentley's 8th District seat for the GOP.

The lone Democrat in danger of returning to private life is James G. O'Hara in the 7th District of Huron, Lapeer, Macomb, Sanilac, St. Clair and Tuscola counties.

Republican Robert J. McIntosh is again challenging O'Hara, who won by a scant 2,788 votes out of more than 172,000 cast in 1958. O'Hara only carried one county—his native Macomb—but that was enough to swing the election to him. Population growth, which includes Detroit Democrats moving to the suburbs, plus his own popularity could well be enough to keep O'Hara in office.

The Republican is most dangerous in Knox, who represents a county area of the Northern Lower Peninsula and the Eastern Upper Peninsula.

Premis M. Brown Jr., son of the one-time U.S. senator and representative, is making a strong bid for the seat. Brown failed in 1958 by nearly 4,000 votes out of more than 79,000 cast, but figures to be stronger this year.

In the 6th District of Ingham, Livingston and Genesee counties, Chamberlain won over a fellow East Lansingite—Michigan State University professor Don Haysworth—by nearly 1,000 votes out of more than 177,000 cast in 1958. This year, Democrats sent Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke to bat.

The other seat which Republicans are fighting to keep is held by Brownfield in a district which includes only Oakland county. He is being challenged by retired Air Force Col. James Kellis.

Brownfield won the seat for the second time in 1958 by polling better than 10,000 votes more than his opponent. Nearly 200,000 votes were cast for the congressional seat.

But an increase of nearly 30,000 in voter registrations could mean an increase in Democratic voting strength in the district.

'She Hasn't Changed'

Miss America's Family to Share Friday Event

MONTAGUE (AP)—A proud and happy father, looking at his 13-year-old daughter in the role of Miss America, says "she hasn't changed."

Robert M. Fleming, whose daughter, Nancy Anne, presides as America's ideal girl, adds:

"I think she's developed more poise as she's gone along, but that's only to be expected."

Fleming, his schoolteacher wife Virginia, and their five younger children share public honors Oct. 28-29 with Nancy at a three-city homecoming celebration honoring Miss America.

The schedule of events covers the chemical industry twin towns of Montague and Whitehall and nearby greater Muskegon.

Fleming was disappointed when Miss America's pageant officials banned a proposal that Nancy Anne and her family ride Vice President Nixon's train from Grand Rapids to Muskegon next Thursday. The Miss America title is kept free of political implications.

"But I dearly would like to have done it," Nixon's my boy," says Fleming.

He and his wife have seen Nancy only once since she was her crown—they visited briefly Oct. 13 at Lansing.

"We had a wonderful time, but she seems a bit homesick."

and quite anxious to get back here and see everybody," Fleming said. "Nancy was pretty well tied up at her Detroit auto show appearance," he added, "and we didn't even get to talk with her by phone."

Mrs. Fleming is scheduled to relieve her daughter's official chaperone temporarily next month on a swing through the Carolinas and back to Atlantic City, N. J., for a Miss America "family dinner."

It's going to nip into the Fleming family funds. His wife, says Fleming, "took some extra money down to the Michigan Education Association meeting in Grand Rapids to do some shopping for the trip."

Rocky Recalls Tight GOP Convention

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller made a new reference Monday to "control" of the Republican national convention that nominated Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president.

The Republican governor was on a walking tour in Manhattan in behalf of the GOP national ticket when the subject arose.

"Why aren't you running?" a woman asked him in a Broadway bakery.

"I went out and looked around, and I figured those who were going to control the convention had made up their minds already," Rockefeller replied without hesitation.

His comment came at a time when the New York Daily News poll reported that Sen. John F. Kennedy was leading Nixon in the quest for New York state's 45 electoral votes.

Businessmen Talk Markets, U.S., Politics

DETROIT (AP)—Two business leaders say the American public needs a better understanding of business in order to help the United States regain world trade leadership and that businessmen ought to take more part in politics.

Rudolph F. Banow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, made the first point and Arthur H. Motley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the second in talks here Monday.

Banow told the Economic Club of Detroit that through lack of understanding of business the public fails to see its stake in this nation's world trade. He said "the whole world is taking markets from America."

Motley discussed the chamber's practical politics course in a talk to a Chevrolet management group of General Motors. He said the course is being taken by more than 100,000 persons in 1,300 communities.

Choral Groups to Do 'Holiday in Bronze'

Voices to Ring Out Thursday at Waterford Concert

Linda Lawson. They have been preparing for weeks for Thursday's big event which is open to the public. Tickets for the 8 p.m. affair are available at the high school gymnasium door.

Director Richard Meier takes choral members of Waterford Township High School's Music Department through their paces, preparing for their annual fall concert. He receives enthusiastic response from a group of eager performers who have been preparing for the big event all fall. Mr. Meier also directs the choral group which initiated an exchange program at the Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores in Monterrey, Mexico this summer. Many Waterford chorus members participated in the program.

Pat Her on the Back, Says Abby

Look, She Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Hers—So What?

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I rent a room to a woman whose husband is doing time. She works nights in a cafe and I will say this for her, she is decent and is loyal to her man. There is one thing wrong with her, Abby. She talks about her husband like he was away at Harvard.

ABBY

bragging. How can we quiet her down in a polite way?

NERVES ON EDGE

DEAR NERVES: If she wants to "pat herself on the back"—let her. And add your praise. If there were more women like your roomer, there would be fewer "repeaters." A convict needs to know he has someone who loves him to come home to.

DEAR ABBY: My problem about her husband is not indecency. He said he was on his own property and was breaking no laws. I asked, "What would the neighbors think if I went out in the front yard attired like that?"

He replied, "They'd probably think I married you for your money." How do you top a comedian like that?

GRACE

DEAR GRACE: Why try? DEAR ABBY: I wish to supplement your answer to "Hurt Hostesses" concerning her refusal to accept a gift-wrapped can of coffee. It's time people realized that SOME folks do not always want to be on the receiving end.

I know a few people who want to do all the giving and buying and never any taking. As a result I avoid them because they embarrass and obligate me. I can pay my own way and want to reciprocate but am deprived of this pleasure.

Chronic givers must have some sort of inferiority complex that compels them to "buy" their way. Please pass the word on to others who insist on giving and refuse to accept.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper, when eating in a restaurant, to ask for a paper bag to take home—the meat one has not finished eating? This is NOT for the dog, you understand.

DEAR CONSERVATIVE: It's proper, intelligent and acceptable.

Weds Diane Oakley

Takes Bride in Midland

Dr. Theodore M. Greenhoe officiated at the double-ring nuptials of Diane Oakley of Midland and Richard C. DeBerger Saturday in the chapel of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, Midland.

A church reception, with the bride's parents, the Philip S. Oakleys, as hosts followed the mid-afternoon ceremony read before a background of yellow and white carnations.

The bridegroom is the son of the Gilbert J. DeBergers of East Russell Street. Fashioned of waltz-length white satin, the bridal gown featured a bell-shaped skirt with inverted pleats for fullness. The scoop-neck molded bodice was styled with three-quarter sleeves and a flat Dior bow at waistline.

The shoulder-length veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl-trimmed tiara. Mounted on the bride's white satin-covered Bible was a white orchid with ivy streamers.

Betty Oakley, her sister's honor maid, wore blue silk tulle, and light blue bridesmaid's dresses were arranged in her colonial bouquet.

Lloyd Cunningham of Kalamazoo served as best man for his cousin, George B. McNaney of Lincolnwood, Ill., seated the guests with the bride's brother William, junior usher.

Pink cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. Oakley's navy blue princess-line lace dress. Mrs. Russell pinned golden cymbidium orchids to her scoop-neck, princess-style beige brocade. Her accessories were brown. To begin the honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the new Mrs. DeBerger chose an olive green wool suit and black accessories. The couple will live in Pontiac.

MRS. RICHARD DEBERGER

Orchard Lake Couple Observe 50th Anniversary

The Robert Malcolms are observing their golden wedding anniversary today at their home on Commerce Road, Orchard Lake.

The couple lived on the Malcolm Farm at Green Lake until 1935 when it was sold and subdivided into part of Westacres.

Their daughter, Mrs. Douglass Tuttle, and granddaughter Karen, live at Union Lake. Mrs. Malcolm is the former Edith Crooks.

Just Can't Afford to Take Part

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it possible to refuse to take part in a wedding? If so, how, can this be done graciously? A girl I know, but who is not an intimate friend, is going to be married in the not-too-distant future and I have heard indirectly that she is planning to ask me to be her maid of honor.

While I am flattered to think that she likes me well enough to want me to take part in her wedding, I do not feel that I want to go to the expense of buying bridesmaid's clothes for someone who is not an intimate friend. I would very much appreciate your help in this matter.

Answer: The only thing you can do is to tell her that much as you would like to take part in her wedding, you really can't afford to buy bridesmaid's clothes at this time and regret that you have to refuse.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am confronted with the problem of how to serve dinner correctly when we have guests at table. I have no maid to help me. Each place at table is set with a dinner plate and I would like to know how the meat, which my husband carves and serves at the table, is put on these plates.

Does each guest pass his, or her, plate to him so that he may put the meat on it? This seems rather awkward to me.

Answer: Instead of setting your table with a dinner plate at each place, put them in a pile on the table on the left of your husband who puts a piece of meat on each plate and then hands, or passes, it to the person for whom it is intended, starting with the lady on the right.

Married in Candlelight at Presbyterian Church

MRS. D. P. FITZPATRICK

After candlelight nuptials Friday evening in United Presbyterian Church, Auburn Heights, the Daniel P. Fitzpatricks left for a honeymoon in Southern Michigan.

The Rev. William Palmer performed the ceremony against a background of white roses, snapdragons and chrysanthemums.

The former Anna Lee Jones is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Jones of Greenville, Ohio, and James Jones of Gladstone Place.

LACE OVER TAFFETA

Fashioned of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, the bridal gown fell into a chapel sweep train.

Seed pearls and idescent sequins accented the scalloped neckline of the fitted bodice, styled with long sleeves.

Faculty Wives Planning Party

Waterford Township Faculty Wives Club will sponsor a get-acquainted party for all Waterford Township faculty wives at 8 p.m. Wednesday in John D. Pierce Junior High School.

After discussing and voting on a proposed constitution, members will decide on a speaker for the February meeting. The game court whist will follow.

Chairmen for committees planning this first activity of the year are Mrs. Jerome Owecke, Don Maxwell, Mrs. Gerald Justin, Mrs. Edwin Cavell, Mrs. Lawrence Murray and Mrs. Charles Sayre.

Tangerine carnations, arranged in a cascade, complemented champagne silk brocade for Mrs. Carl Pike of Rochester, the bride's attendant.

On the regalia side were Carl Pike, best man, and ushers James Hulen and John Rathka Jr., both of Auburn Heights.

For travel, the bride wore a blue wool sheath dress with lighter blue accessories. The couple will reside in Pontiac.

TANGERINE CARNATIONS
Tangerine carnations accented Mrs. Jones' two-piece ensemble of navy wool gabardine for her daughter's wedding and church reception.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick chose moss green lace over taffeta, beige accessories and a shoulder corsage of tangerine carnations.

Have You Tried This?

Dip French Fried Twists Into Sugar When Cool

By JANET ODELA

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe has several versions. This is the first one we have seen that uses evaporated milk which makes it more economical. The recipe makes a lot of twists and may be just the thing you are looking for for a Halloween party.

Mrs. Richard O'Connor is one of the most charming and efficient young homemakers we know. The mother of five youngsters, she manages to participate in a few outside activities. She belongs to St. Gerard's guild. Sewing is one of her hobbies.

HUNGARIAN TWISTS

By Mrs. Richard O'Connor

1 cups sifted flour
1/2 pound butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 large can evaporated milk
1/2 cup water to thin milk can
2 tablespoons baking powder
1 tablespoon vanilla

Cream butter or margarine with sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add rest of ingredients.

Roll out on floured board 1/4-inch thick. Cut into strips. Twist each strip or the into a knot. Fry in deep hot fat until golden brown. Drain on brown paper.

When well drained, dip in granulated or confectioners sugar.

Slides in a new projector are from a small horn that may be as changed by the inaudible sound much as 100 feet away.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Cup cule from a clever mother: "Weaning Jeanie was quite easy, because I let her play with a small-mus-type cup long before she knew what it was for. This gave her a chance to get acquainted with the strange object. At first she fingered it and peered into it. After a week I put a bit of milk into it. She tried to get it with her fingers. No luck and she finally spilled it out. Next day I tried another bit of milk and showed her how to lift the cup. She drank the sip without ado... the cup had become an old friend."

Cup-drinkers, bottle-feeders or self-feeders, all need plenty of protein to keep them growing. Gerber's Strained and Gerber's Baby Food are rich in protein, provide important B-vitamins, too. Only selected Armour cuts are used for these quality meats. Special processing removes most of the fat to insure easy digestibility. 100% pure meat, of course, with just enough broth to give a smooth, moist texture.

Armour Meat Protein is complete protein, supplying all the essential amino acids that build and re-build vital body tissues.

Little appetites have their ups and downs, even as yours and mine. The best antidote I know for a lagging appetite: (1) Offer food without urging. (2) Serve small portions of favorite foods. (3) Rotate colors and kinds of food.

Little appetites usually rise 'n shine when the menu features one of the tasty Gerber's High Meat Dinners. Especially savory because they combine lots of juicy meat with garden-good vegetables. The happy result? Exceptionally bright flavor and a generous assortment of nutrients, including body-building protein, blood-building iron and niacin, an important B-vitamin for baby's general well-being. Weber-Catlin Nuptials Read in Milford Church

Against a background of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, Lois Marie Catlin of Milford pledged vows to James C. Weber before the Rev. Howard Short, Saturday evening in Milford, Methodist Church.

A cascade bouquet of white roses complemented the floor length bride's gown of white Chantilly-type lace over net and tulle for the daughter of the Chester J. Catlins of Milford.

The softly-molded bodice was designed with scoop neckline and seed pearl applique, and three-quarter length sleeves. Fingert veiling fell from a pearl tiara.

Maid of honor JoAnn Reynolds of Highland, in white-length gold tulle, carried white carnations and Mary Jo roses. Carmen Weber and Velma Catlin, sisters of the couple, in emerald green satin, held white carnations and pink roses.

Son of the James C. Webers of Monticello Avenue, the bridegroom had Norman Smith for best man.

Donald Lee, Richard Blinn, Michael Cadwallader, of Pontiac, and Frederick Dymond of Brighton, seated some 150 guests.

Soprano Scores for Musicale

Phyllis Smith Wins High Praise From Recital Audience

By ETHEL FORMAN

A large and appreciative audience heard soprano Phyllis Smith in a benefit scholarship recital Sunday evening.

Sponsored by Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, the concert was heard at Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

Progressing through compositions by Gluck, Scarlatti and Puccini to selections from "Porgy and Bess" and sweetly sung selections, Miss Smith's performance displayed a poise and grace rare in one so young.

A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, Miss Smith has studied the past three years at the New England Conservatory and Boston University.

PIANIST EXCELS

Sharing the limelight with the singer was young and talented pianist Deanna Relyea who provided excellent support and sympathetic accompaniment.

Miss Relyea, often heard in duo-piano concerts with her brother Gary, is a pupil of Mark Wesell.

Miss Smith's voice, though neither big nor brilliant, showed excellent training and fine musicianship.

In the Scarlatti "Se Florindo e fedele," her voice completely captured the feeling of lightness essential to this solo.

In a group of songs that followed, a variety of moods was displayed. Hart's "Lullabye" and Moore's "Now May There Be a Blessing" showed Miss Smith's excellent breath control.

Selections from "Madame Butterfly" which closed the first half of the program were beautifully sung and displayed a sensitive insight into the emotional depth of this opera.

TENOR ASSISTS

It was in the second portion of the program, in the spirituals and selections from "Porgy and Bess," that Miss Smith completely captivated her audience.

With tenor John Leonard providing wonderful assistance, Miss Smith opened this portion with "Bess, You Is My Woman Now."

In this and other numbers from the familiar opera and the four spirituals arranged by Roland Hayes, Miss Smith's voice was so warm and pleasing that her enthusiastic audience demanded three encores.

The final encore, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," was delivered with haunting quality, a capella.

This Designer Wants No 'Amusing' Styles

By RUTH MILLETT

"My aim is never to make a woman look foolish, but always better."

Those sensible words came from the mouth of the award winning Italian designer, Ferdinando Sarni, an Italian nobleman by birth, and a noble man in any woman's book.

Few of the men who design clothes seem to care how foolish women look in the fashions they dream up.

All women hope when they go shopping for clothes to find something in which they will look "better." But often that's not so easy.

Too many fashions only make her look foolish. Women can often be stamped into wearing foolish-looking clothes—but they don't really like them.

They buy ugly fashions for a variety of reasons: Because their feet get tired and they finally give in and buy something they don't want. Because they want to be in style—and will wear anything, so long as it is the very latest fashion. Because nobody—but, perhaps, a tactless husband—ever tells them that they look ridiculous in an unbecoming fashion.

But the more designers there are who think like Sarni, the happier we women will be; the more clothes we will buy and the more willing our husbands will be to pay for them.

It may be "amusing" to design "amusing" clothes. But women aren't amused.

So watch that climbing hemline!

designers. The short, short skirt may be amusing. But it does nothing for most women's legs—and it's mighty uncomfortable to sit in.

Danish Gal Has Dual Life

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a rare movie star who will let a reporter see her with hair flattened in pin-curls, wearing no makeup.

It's probably an even rarer foreign minister's wife who will receive in a pink quilted robe.

Helle Krag, who is both, had no compunction the other morning. It was 9:30 a.m. and she had been up late at social functions for the king and queen of Denmark, who were winding up their U.S. visit.

It seemed logical enough for the pretty blonde to curl up in an easy chair, bare feet tucked under her, to discuss her acting career; her husband, Otto Jens Krag, Denmark's foreign minister; and what they had been doing during his three-week stint as head of the Danish delegation to the United Nations' General Assembly.

Mrs. Krag, as Helle Virner, is a famous stage and screen star in Denmark. She has been an actress for 15 years, but is still in her twenties. None of her 26 movies has been brought to this country.

"They're just shown in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Germany," she said in excellent English.

Her husband approves of her career, she said, and she likes to keep working "a little."

"WORK IS GOOD"
"You never know what will happen in your life, and it's good to have some sort of work."

She met Krag—who is 11 years her senior—at a party for Indonesia's Sukarno. "It was May 16, 1959," she recalled. "He introduced himself and we talked two minutes. We met again July 3, and were married July 31. I had seen him fewer than 10 times, but I knew he was the right man."

"We have a baby boy named Jens Christian. He is 3 months and 14 days old, and I miss him terribly."

In New York the Kragas attended various affairs as part of the entourage of King Frederik IX and Queen Ingrid, visited the Arts of Denmark exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, went to plays and window-shopped.

"You've wonderful stores, but I can't buy. The clothes are too expensive. The only things I got were for the baby. But I have a good dressmaker at home."

She added with remarkable candor: "I have a problem anyway; I'm size 12 at the top and 14 in the hips."

At home, she said, she tries to help her husband in his political career by giving parties.

"In Denmark, wives don't get out and campaign for their husbands as women do here," she said.

Her husband, who was economic counselor to the Danish Embassy in Washington from 1950-52, was

Utica School Bond Issue Before Voters Dec. 5

$3.98 Million Proposal, Plus 2 Others on Ballot

By DON FERMOYLE
UTICA — A $3.98 million bond issue will be one of three proposals to be put before voters in the Utica Community School district in a special school election Dec. 5.

Also on the ballot will be a $100,000 proposal for construction of administration offices and a request for a five-mill operational tax in the district.

All three proposals were recommended by the Citizens Committee on Schools and the School Building Needs Council. The recommendations were accepted by the Board of Education at a special session last night.

The bond issue will be voted on only by property owners in the school district while all electors will be qualified to vote on the other proposals.

If approved, the cost of constructing the administration offices will be financed through a one-year tax levy of 75 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation as equalized.

The millage request for school operation is a two-mill increase over the current operational millage which runs out this year.

MORE STUDENTS DUE
The extra millage and new buildings are necessary, because enrollment in the district is expected to grow by some 300 students next fall.

Approximately 1,500 more students than are presently enrolled should be in school here by the fall of 1962, according to these groups.

To handle the extra enrollment, a new 20-room elementary school and another school half that size will be ready by next fall if the bond issue is approved.

Work on this part of the building project would start in February, the board reported. The cost of the 1961 expansion program is estimated at $1,750,000.

About $2,145,000 will be spent in 1962 when another full-sized elementary school and a combination elementary-junior high school will be constructed.

The bond issue also will provide $100,000 for one year's interest costs and $10,000 for legal fees.

The construction of administration offices is an issue defeated twice in the last two years.

The last bond issue in the school district — for $2,886,000 — was approved June 8, 1959. It gained approval after two $5.5 million issues were defeated.

The 1959 bond issue was beaten in three out of the four precincts, but received enough support in the Dresden Village precinct to pass by a 218-vote majority.

The building needs council and citizens committee will enlist the aid of Parent-Teacher Associations to conduct door-to-door campaigns prior to the election.

Special emphasis in the campaign will be in Dresden Village where there are a great majority of voters with school age or pre-school age children.

Council Seeks to Lift Limit on Yearly Pay

SOUTHFIELD — Councilmen here have been working without pay since August and they intend to do something about it.

The council is considering a charter amendment to take off a limitation of $860 paid them yearly for attending 48 scheduled meetings.

However, by the first of August council members had already attended 48 meetings with five months to go.

According to the charter there should only be 48 meetings annually for which members are paid $20 for each session.

At last night's meeting the city attorney was instructed to take the necessary steps so that the matter could be put before voters in the February primary election.

In the meantime councilmen won't be eligible for a paycheck until Jan. 1, 1961.

Boy Critical After Being Hit by Car

TROY — A 10-year-old boy was reported in critical condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, after being struck by a car yesterday at John R. Road and South Boulevard.

Injured was Robert McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McDowell of 6829 John R. The boy suffered a fractured skull and face lacerations, according to nurses at the hospital.

Robert was struck by a car driven by Jacob H. Heinberger, 38, of 4143 Betty St., Utica.

Heinberger told Troy police that he had just passed another northbound car and was pulling into the right lane on John R. Road when he heard a thump.

Heinberger said he immediately stopped his car, got out and found the boy lying by the road. The accident occurred at 6:15 p.m. Heinberger was not held by police.

Robert's father is an employee of the General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Troy Property Requests Fail

CITY COMMISSION TURNS DOWN REZONING OF TWO RESIDENTIAL SITES

TROY — Two requests to rezone property in the city, both presently classified as residential sites, failed to win approval of the city commission last night.

One of the parcels, which was recommended for rezoning to allow manufacturing, is located on John R. between 14 Mile and 15-Mile roads.

The property is located in the Warren School District and at an earlier meeting Commissioner Louis Yonick said that any rezoning of this type should be done to benefit the tax base in the Troy School District.

The other defeated rezoning proposal concerned property in the Summit Park Subdivision near Livernois Road north of 15-Mile Road.

The commission decided not to allow this classification from Residential 2 to Business 3.

However, approval was granted to allow an alley west of Livernois in Summit Park Subdivision to be vacated.

The architects' recommendations on the city's proposed Department of Public Works garage was referred to City Manager David E. Firestone for study.

Firestone will report on his findings at a special meeting of the commission Monday.

Chairman of Commerce Township fund drive is Mrs. Victor Green. Heading the campaign for the Wall Lake business district is Caesar Cullar and Mrs. R. C. Hughes is directing the drive for the Commerce village area.

Contract Is Awarded for 3 School Projects

ROCHESTER — The contract for three elementary school building projects was awarded last night by the board of education to Leslie Construction Co., Ferndale.

The firm's low base bid was $281,488. This amount covers cost of building an addition to Meadow Brook School, to cost $158,328, and an addition to Hamlin School, costing $123,120.

The major portion of the elementary building fund allocation will go toward construction of the new Howard L. McGregor Elementary School, The Ferndale company's bid on this project was $136,000.

According to school officials, work on the three building projects will begin "any day."

The Board had budgeted $300,000 for elementary school expansion, and after the architects and administrators complete their study of cutting costs on about six alternatives, the total expenditure should be about $289,000, they said.

The low bidder's total figure, including alternates was about $203,000. The remainder of the total $300,000 will include $48,000 for architects' fees and a like amount for equipment and furnishings.

The new McGregor School will have 14 classrooms, a library, general use room, multipurpose room and service areas.

Six classrooms plus a library and general use room will be added at both Hamlin and Meadow Brook schools.

Turnout Is Poor in Lake Orion

SANITATION HEARING FAILS TO ATTRACT CITIZENS WHO OBJECTED TO CONDITIONS

LAKE ORION — Village Council President Irvine J. Unger termed "disappointing" the small turnout of citizens for a sanitation hearing last night.

Unger said the only conclusion he could reach was that residents here are satisfied with the present method of garbage and trash disposal in the village.

Officials from Lake Orion, Orion Township and Oxford practically outnumbered the scattering of citizens in the audience at the Lake Orion Youth Center.

"We were under the impression that it was a problem," Unger said, "but we can see now that the people who complained about the two-mill tax for garbage collection are not too worried about it."

The council president said the village's only problem now appeared to be a satisfactory method of paying the cost of trash pickup and disposal, which now is handled by a private firm.

There were a number of suggestions made on methods of paying for the service, but no final decision was reached.

Plan Church Dinner

ORION TOWNSHIP — A bazaar and swiss cake dinner will be held by the Women's Society of Christian Service at 5 p.m. tomorrow at Howard Methodist Church, Silver Bell and Bald Mountain roads.

Ocelot Wins in Lathrup

Things Get Purrry Quiet

An ocelot of noise in Lathrup Village dwindled to a mere purr yesterday.

Thrown out of court for insufficient evidence was the case against Mrs. Edith McNeal, 33, of 7390 E. California St., who was ticketed by city police for keeping a South American ocelot for a pet.

Some 50 ocelot enthusiasts were on hand for the trial before Justice of the Peace James K. O'Leary, who immediately dismissed the case upon learning that the complaining officer never saw the animal when he wrote out the ticket.

Police said they had received several complaints from neighbors about the cat, which is about a foot high, a yard long and looks like a baby leopard.

"MAKE GOOD PETS"
Mrs. McNeal has claimed all along the her 10-month-old ocelot Wendy is not dangerous and gets along fine with her three other pets, two cats and a dog.

The cat lovers at the trial agreed that the small animals made good house pets, and were ready to testify in behalf of Mrs. McNeal if necessary.

Also on hand to testify if needed was Frank McGinnis, director of the Detroit Zoo.

Members of the Detroit Safari Club, headed by Secretary-Treasurer George Mattis, were present too.

Police Chief Thomas Tellefsen testified that the closest he had come to the animal was the opposite side of a screen door and that the only thing he knew about ocelots was what he read in the encyclopedia.

Until the city attorney can be consulted, Chief Tellefsen said his department would make no further move against the ocelot owner.

The attorney is in the West-hunting wildcats.

BARBARA JEAN BRANDT

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Brandt of 286 Wimpole Drive, Rochester, announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara Jean to Merlin J. Doran Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin J. Doran of 8671 Sashabaw Road, Independence Township. A Jan. 28 wedding is planned.

First of a thousand happy hours!

Forgive him if he takes the long way home. For the temptation is great when the day is fine—and the car is Cadillac—and the name on the title is yours.

The first thing he senses, as he glides out onto the boulevard, is comfort. The car is so generous in its interior dimensions that he can really stretch out and relax.

And what a wonderful outlook he has on the world about him! Wherever he looks, he finds himself surrounded by vision.

Then, as the miles float by, the car's true brilliance in motion begins to unfold.

Cadillac's improved power steering, he finds, has taken the last degree of effort out of handling. Its great new engine is a veritable symphony of controlled power and precision. And its new ride is smooth and quiet almost beyond belief.

So it goes—until he turns at last into that familiar driveway.

And the wonder of it is that, if he is like most owners, he'll spend more than a thousand such delightful hours in the driver's seat before a single year has passed.

In fact, it is doubtful that, in all the world of possessions, there is another that provides such lasting pleasure—in such constant measure—as a new Cadillac car.

Have you thought of adding a Cadillac to your happiness?

This is the perfect season to make the move—and an early order will assure you a full year with the current model.

Broomfield, Kellis in Hot Race for Congress

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The challenger is just as sure that it's about time a Democrat represented Oakland County in Congress as the challenged incumbent is that he should be given another two years.

Holding these divergent views, as one of the sharpest contests for the 18th congressional district seat in years moves toward the day of decision, are challenger James G. Kellis, Democrat, and Rep. William S. Broomfield, Republican.

Broomfield, 38, has represented Michigan's only District which consists of a single county since 1956, about the same time Kellis was clearing out a long governmental and military service career in intelligence.

The challenger's home is Berkeley while the challenged calls Royal Oak his home when he's not in Washington.

The 43-year-old Kellis, an immigrant from Greece at 15, stands to be the big beneficiary of a revolutionized Democratic party in the county. This concerted effort at home will not be enough, Kellis frankly admits. He sees his opportunity of winning Broomfield's seat heavily dependent upon Sen. John F. Kennedy winning the White House.

His Democratic backers point hopefully to Broomfield's 10,574 vote plurality over his 1958 challenger, Leslie H. Hudson, in saying this is the year. Kellis predicts a victory for himself by from 5,000 to 10,000 votes.

In his first presidential election vote-pulling contest, Broomfield in 1956 won the seat over his Democratic opponent, Paul Sutton, by a 33,449-vote margin — 141,053 to 107,604.

Just as Democrats sense a change, Republicans are pretty sure — but not overconfidently so — that Oakland County will remain theirs. Before Broomfield, Republican George A. Dondero held the seat for 24 years.

Broomfield is running hard — but not scared, he insists — so as not to disappoint his party's faithful. Since the historic-look tail session of Congress ended in August, he's been scurrying between hundreds of coffee hours, playing host in his mobile trailer campaign office, and putting in many guest appearances from dawn until midnight.

Kellis, who survived the primary runoff with five other candidates, including several seasoned campaigners, to win the Democratic nomination Aug. 2, isn't to be outdone. He's out making the circuit, too. However, he hasn't been able to cross paths with his opponent long enough to sell Broomfield on a face-to-face debate like those between Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Broomfield's reluctance to accept several such debate challenges, Kellis says, is because he is "deficient" on many issues. Kellis is anxious just to discuss, particularly foreign policy and the country's alleged intelligence failures.

Broomfield answers that he's satisfied to let his record stand for itself.

NEW TO POLITICS

For a political neophyte, who didn't toss his hat into the ring until 75 days before the primary, Kellis is campaigning like a seasoned veteran.

The father of three daughters, Broomfield has made a steady climb in position since he first was elected to represent the county's Fifth Legislative District in Lansing in 1948. During his six years in this capacity he served as speaker pro-tem of the House — the youngest in its history — for the last two years.

He moved over to the State Senate in 1954, declining a chance for re-election in 1956 to seek his present job which opened with Dondero's retirement.

Many see Broomfield's climb as not stopping in the House.

Kellis naturally has other plans for Broomfield. He hopes to stop the ascension where it is now.

The Democratic challenger is as new to politics as he was a veteran Air Force officer. Enlisting as a private in 1936, Kellis left the service in May of this year as a colonel. He was 28 when he was made lieutenant colonel.

He served behind enemy lines in the Balkans and China with the Office of Strategic Services and later was with the Central Intelligence Agency, which succeeded the OSS in 1947. In Washington he served as acting chief of operations for Allen Dulles' CIA.

He's taken a leave from his post-service position as political science instructor at the University of Detroit, where he served as commandant of the ROTC for four years before his discharge.

Kellis has two boys.

In most of his campaigning around the county — from union shops to neighborhood get-togethers — Kellis has concentrated on the subject he knows best — the nation's intelligence and security. He has urged that Dulles be replaced as director of the CIA.

Should Kennedy win the election — and Kellis loses to Broomfield the ex-colonel might be a likely replacement himself. The soft-spoken candidate has said, however, he wouldn't take the job.

He surprised many by suggesting a Republican friend of his, Charles Brown, who served with him in the OSS and CIA.

Broomfield and Kellis agree on one point — the number one issue confronting America is peace and how to maintain it. Both disagree strongly, however, on the current status of where the United States stands today on this crucial issue.

"The prime issues of peace, justice, freedom and prosperity

certainly will continue to be important," Broomfield said. "We should continue our present policy of peace through strength, maintain an adequate, balanced defense not dependent upon one mode or method and continue our search for a means of effective world disarmament and easing of world tensions."

Kellis said: "I stand for a more positive foreign policy rather than one that has been based on too much reaction to Soviet initiative, in other words, a defensive policy on our part."

ADDITIONAL MISTAKES

The "one man personal diplomacy" of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles died with him, Kellis said. "And this led to additional mistakes, noncoordinated policy and finally no policy at all," he added.

Other service connected posts held by Kellis included being deputy director of intelligence and plans for NATO and director of the organization's atomic and missile school.

Broomfield has been stumping the county saying the burden of paying for the Democratic platform of Sen. Kennedy would fall on the federal government in almost all instances. And taxpayers would be asked for more, he said.

He's also for a faster cutback in farm subsidies than advocated under Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's program.

Broomfield might have made a big step toward possible service (if re-elected) on the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House when in August he joined other lawmakers from around the country on a tour of NATO bases in Europe. He said he found America's prestige abroad high. Kellis and his party say otherwise.

During this presidential year campaigning, Broomfield, an insurance salesman before he entered politics 12 years ago, has received a helping hand from vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot

Lodge's visit to the county yesterday and the visit earlier from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Kellis was side-by-side with Kennedy during his Labor Day talk in Pontiac.

The man who urged him to enter politics came to Oakland County recently to help Kellis. He was Minnesota Congressman John A. Blatnik, who Kellis met in the OSS. Blatnik knows Broomfield, too. He served with him on the House Public Works Committee.

Kellis has the support of the AFL-CIO, while his opponent has another union — Teamsters — training all guns on him because Broomfield voted for the labor reform Landrum-Griffin bill.

Kellis, however, has sounded an emphatic "no" to offers from Jimmy Hoffa's union to help him defeat Broomfield for the $22,500-a-year job.

Since his arrival in the Capitol dome Broomfield has opposed pork-barrel public works measures which, he says, for the most part are merely to put another feather in a politician's cap."

He has also fought against increased federal control and spending. He says these problems belong rightfully to local governments.

BLAME DEM CONGRESS

Broomfield, a native of Royal-Oak, refers his opponent to the Democratic majority of Congress when Kellis says he has been able to pass but one bill in his four years in Congress. Right off the bat Broomfield cites one of his latest measures, that one for the disclosure of congressional expense accounts.

Broomfield is an Eisenhower Republican, having supported the President in the great majority of his legislation.

Replying again to Kellis, he cites his efforts for new post offices in the county, and funds for urban renewal and airport construction.

Political observers view the 18th District as being marginal this year. It can go either way, they say. Both Broomfield and Kellis don't have to be told this.

Both are campaigning down to the wire for that winning margin.

State Senate Race Parallels the Campaign for Governor

Michigan's fiscal condition and economic climate are getting a thorough airing by Democrat S. Jerome Bronson and Republican Rep. Farrell E. Roberts in their campaigns for Oakland County's 12th District seat in the State Senate.

The contest closely parallels that being waged by gubernatorial candidates Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson and Paul D. Bagwell.

Michigan, Bronson claims, has been harmed by what he calls "Republican obstructionism and slanders."

Rep. Roberts, on the other hand, reminds his opponent that it's been a Democrat—Gov. Williams—in the governor's chair the past 12 years.

As it is being worked in to the presidential race, the question of experience enters the Bronson-Roberts contest also.

Roberts says his four years in the House of Representatives, in which he represented the heavily Republican 3rd District, will help him should he be elected to the higher chamber of the legislature.

Although he has no political experience, the 38-year-old Bronson, an attorney practicing in Oak Park, has proven to date that he can overcome some political obstacles.

In the Aug. 2 primary, Bronson was a surprise winner. "It was one of the biggest surprises of my life"—over his AFL-CIO-backed opponent, former Windsor mayor Joseph T. Stadnik.

Stadnik also was the "more qualified" of his Democratic opponents as rated by a controlling splinter group of the county party.

But Bronson got the most votes, more than double what Stadnik and the other Democratic opponent, Robert H. Chapin, received.

TO FOLLOW LODGE
Either Bronson or Roberts, also an attorney, will fill the position being vacated by Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, a Republican. Lodge did not seek re-election. He preferred to run for the county's new probate judgeship instead.

Roberts, 35, of 2488 Lafayette Dr., West Bloomfield Township, describes himself as a "respectable Republican," a term Bagwell had hung on himself.

Bronson has labeled his opponent as an "I'm-against-almost-everything candidate, voting, Bronson question, Roberts supported the proposal put forth by the League of Women Voters and Junior Chamber of Commerce from the start.

On this subject Bronson agrees. Here is where the Democratic candidate disagrees, however, with Swainson.

"We in Michigan need a legislature which reflects the needs of people," Bronson said. "We do not have such a legislature now, nor do we have a Constitution which is

Roberts is favored by the Teamsters Union Joint Council 43 in Detroit.

Saying the endorsement was unolicited and not altogether welcomed, Roberts wrote the union and explained certain stands which might possibly bring about a repudiation.

He told Owen B. Brennan, union vice president, that he backed Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, all the way in his support of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill.

Roberts received no answer.

FRIENDLY CONTEST

Bronson has raised the union question very little in public appearances. He said he is waging a "friendly" contest with Roberts.

At some rallies Bronson takes on the appearance of Harry "Give-'em-Hell" Truman in his loud, arm-waving denunciations of the Republican senators.

"I have never run for political office before although in prior years I was certainly on the verge of it," Bronson said. When asked what the "S" in his name stands for, Bronson jokingly says "senator."

Since his graduation from the Wayne State University Law School in 1954 Bronson has been engaged in the practice of law.

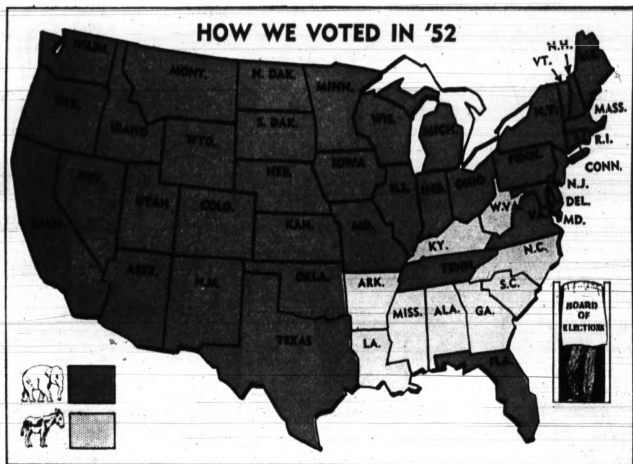

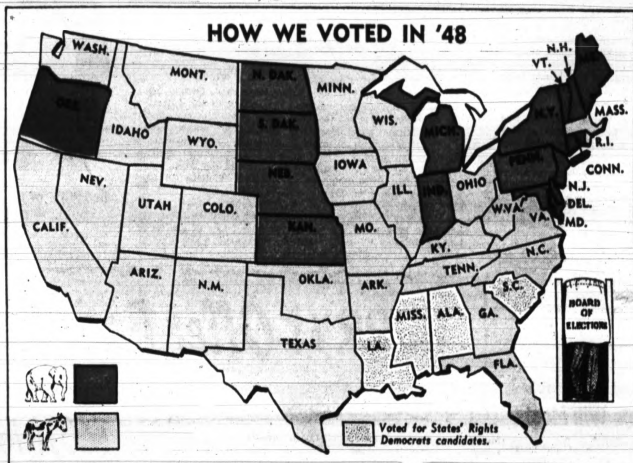

One of Roberts' campaign pledges is that a "performance audit" should be made of all state departments and agencies as a major means of achieving economy in the state government.

It is on the subject of how Michigan can dig itself out of the red ink that Bronson and Roberts follow pretty much party lines. Roberts favors the one cent sales tax increase while Bronson strongly opposes it.

With Republicans accusing Swainson of dodging whether he's for a state income tax or not, Bronson comes right out and says he's for it. He said what degree of the tax has to be left to fiscal experts.

Should a constitutional convention be approved by voters one of the changes that should be made is the elimination of restrictions on tax allocations, Roberts said. Seventy per cent of taxes are today allocated for specific purposes, he said.

"This is bad government."

JOINS PROSECUTOR

He returned from the service to join the staff of the prosecutor's office in Oakland County as an assistant.

During the past session of the legislature Roberts was chairman of the House Labor Committee, vice chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and a member of the committees on revision of the Constitution and marine affairs.

Admits Killing Fellow Inmate

Jackson Prison Convict From Commerce Twp. Used Kitchen Knife

A convict from Commerce Township has admitted fatally stabbing another prisoner in Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson, according to State Police Detective Sgt. Charles Southworth.

The victim, James Taylor, 20, of Wayne, was stabbed in the neck after being brutally beaten with a blackjack by a third prisoner Monday. Taylor died two hours later while undergoing surgery in the prison hospital.

According to Sgt. Southworth, Donald Daugherty, 30, of Commerce Township, has admitted wielding the death weapon — a kitchen knife snatched from the prison mess hall and used to stab Taylor.

Police said Daugherty told them he had been "having trouble with Taylor for three weeks. . . . I woke up in the morning and decided to kill him."

Gerald Hansen, administrative assistant to the warden, said Taylor had refused sexual advances made by Daugherty.

Other prisoners told state police they saw Taylor struck twice on the head by fellow prisoner Kenneth Cramer, 25, of Kent County with a crude blackjack fashioned from a cloth-covered rock.

Daugherty then jumped Taylor, who was locked down from the blows, and struck him in the throat with the eight-inch knife, witnesses said.

The prisoners had liberty in the cell block where the stabbing occurred, Hansen said.

Taylor, whose left side was crippled by polio, was serving 2 to 5 years for attempted larceny.

Daugherty had been sentenced to 15 years in Oakland County Circuit Court March 11, 1957, for breaking into the Wixom Elementary School during the nighttime.

His sentence was extended 15 months to five years for carrying a concealed weapon — a knife — behind the prison walls.

Cramer is serving a 20- to 25-year sentence for assault with intent to murder. He and Daugherty were described as "close friends" by other prisoners.

Tilden Sewer OK'd by Waterford Board

Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson last night recommended establishment of a special assessment district for installation of 13,004 feet of sewer line on North Tilden Street, and the township board approved the plan.

Cost of the project has been estimated at $18,750 to the 780 houses, from Navarro to West Huron Streets, to be connected to the main line. Individual costs will vary because of the different amounts of front footage and lot area, it was pointed out. However, the owners will pay from $500 to $700 over a 10-year period for each assessment. A public hearing has been set for Nov. 7.

In other business, the board tabled action on an agreement presented by Pontiac attorney Calvin Patterson, representing owner of the Cooley Lake Road dump, Thomas M. Sanders of 625 Cooley Lake Road.

The new agreement will have a 30-day cancellation clause and the township will bulldoze the area when necessary. Sanders objected to the township board's suggestion that he furnish fill dirt to cover the debris.

Theft of Steel Reported by Pontiac Firm

Pontiac police were searching for steel thieves today.

Company officials of Conner Fabricators, Inc., reported to officers yesterday that burglars entered the establishment at 535 Goring St. by breaking a panel from a door, then made off with an undetermined amount of steel.

A spokesman for the firm said that during the past three months 20 tons of steel valued at $4,000 was stolen from the building.

This was the first time the building had been burglarized, however, he told police.

Johnson Says Nixon Ignores Big Issues

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Lynn B. Johnson accuses the Republicans of bypassing what he terms the great issues and talking only "about two islands, 9,000 miles away from Miami, and Mr. Kennedy's religion."

The Democratic vice presidential nominee, ad-libbing to fill out TV time Monday night, said: "We can't get the Republicans to talk about any of the great issues—help for the farmers, better schools or care for the aged—or Cuba."

The islands are Quemoy and Matsu, Nationalist Chinese outposts off the coast of Red China, extensively discussed by Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon and Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy in their television debates.

Polaris Investment Goes Up $181 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America's investment in the Polaris missile program was pushed close to the $3 billion mark today with the award of a $181 million contract for development of longer range versions of the submarine-launched rockets.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s missiles and space division, Sunnyvale, Calif., received the new contract for research and development on Polaris missiles that will have ranges of 1,500 and 2,300 miles.

The present Polaris missile, which will go into operation aboard the submarines George Washington and Patrick Henry the end of the year, has a range of 1,200 miles.

The new contract brought Lockheed's share of the total to $1,088,000,000—$608 million for research and development and $480 million for production of flight test vehicles and first models of tactical weapons.

Candidates Give TV Crews the Shivers
By BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — The working stiffs who staged and directed the Nixon-Kennedy television debates won't be crushed if the two call it quits.

"I've never seen such finickiness," an official of the American Broadcasting Co. was telling us, after the fourth debate emanated from ABC studios here.

Nixon insisted that the temperature of the studio be between 66 and 67 degrees.

His people explained that he's inclined to sweat if the room is warmer than that — and sweating might be interpreted by the audience as nervousness or dismay.

"Kennedy's people told us that the studio would have to be 72 degrees, no more, no less. 'So we split the difference. We had it at 70.8, Nixon didn't sweat and Kennedy didn't freeze.'"

Dems Termed Top Inflationists

Statistical Bureau Feels Drop in Security Prices Would Be Temporary

NEW YORK (UPI)—The International Statistical Bureau says that if the pollsters are right and a Democratic victory occurs, we must view the next four years as more inflationary than if a Republican victory were to occur.

The bureau feels that to sell securities because of a Democratic victory, other than as a temporary action, is unrealistic.

Standard & Poor's thinks the market has substantially discounted the possibility of a mild recession in the early part of 1961. While the lows of late September may well be tested, S&P says, it believes that the list is in a bottoming-out phase.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says it probably would be premature, at least for traders, to take a constructive attitude toward cyclical industries at this time but feels that longer-term investors should start building up positions in such depressed industries as residential housing, chemicals and aluminum.

Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis writes that average stock prices have given up part of their exuberant overvaluation rather than discounted a business recession. At this high level, it says, the market seems to be expressing the hope that share earnings, recently down in many cases, will soon turn up.

Eleanor Tells What to Expect

Warns Future First Lady

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt warned the nation's next first lady Monday to dress carefully because "you will feel that you are no longer clothing yourself; you are dressing a public monument."

"Every move you make will be photographed, every piece of clothing will be watched with a critical eye," the widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt told Mrs. Richard Nixon and Mrs. John Kennedy one of whom will move into the White House next January.

The former first lady, writing in the current issue of Redbook Magazine, also offered this advice:

— Don't bring any furniture, china, silverware or linen to the White House. "All of these are provided in abundance."

— Don't go around rearranging all the furniture. "One treats the Lincoln Room with respect."

— Leave reception lines for five minutes every hour. "I still suffer from what I call my 'White House' feed."

— Have the railing on the White House stairs dusted every half hour to avoid complaints from persons wearing white gloves.

AL Owners Meet Wednesday

Expansion Is Topic as Club Brass Convene

10 Teams by 1962 Is Their Goal; Athletics No. 1 Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — American League club owners meet here Wednesday to consider expansion to 10 teams by 1962, but the problem of possible franchise shifts could postpone an announcement on which two cities will be added.

The key problem is Kansas City, where the A's are about to be sold. The new owners may want to move the club to Los Angeles, a prime target for the AL after the National League's three years of success in California.

There also may be a reshuffle of a possible shift of the Washington Senators and perhaps of the Cleveland Indians. Attendance figures are the basis of the franchise problems, although Cal Griffith, president of the Senators, has termed the reports "a lot of baloney."

If as AL owners finally publicize, there are no problems over existing franchises, then Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth probably will become the American's ninth and 10th teams. Several cities have applied for AL franchises, including Oakland and Toronto, but Minneapolis-St. Paul has a new stadium (long a turn for the Senators) and Dallas-Fort Worth offers the AL a chance to avoid a shutout in Texas such as the NL accomplished in California.

The matter of finally following the NL into league in itself may be enough of a hassle in itself to make a two-day meeting.

A pro-California group is headed by Dan Topping, co-owner of the New York Yankees, who started an attempt for entry into Los Angeles as soon as the National League began working toward a return to New York.

But there also is an anti-California group among the AL owners. Griffith, for one, said he would rather not be the owner to gamble that Los Angeles is a two-team town.

Professional Rules Apply

Free Substitution Slated for Gator Bowl Contest

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Gator Bowl football game Dec. 31 will be played under free substitution rules.

George Olsen, general manager of the Gator Bowl Association, today announced the plan to hold the game between two college teams under professional rules.

"Everyone would benefit from such a change," Olsen said. "We would expect a more wide open offensive game with the players doing their specialties."

More than 75 per cent of college coaches who responded to polls by Don Faurot of Missouri and Ray Elbert of Illinois last year said they favor free substitution rules for all college games.

Several coaches have been outspoken this fall against the so-called wild card substitution rule which permits one player to enter at any time, but still generally restricts entry and makes it necessary to coach players on both defense and offense.

One such critic, Coach Ray Graves of Florida, predicted recently that the rules committee will legalize free substitution for the fall and bring the college game more in line with the way it is played by high school and professional teams.

If so, the teams that play in the Gator Bowl game would get a jump on others with three weeks of coaching and one game experience in the two-platoon system.

Gator Bowl officials feel it will be a more interesting game for the spectators and be better all around for coaches, players, officials and sports writers, Olsen said.

"We plan to include in our contract that the rules and regulations of the respective conferences will be adhered to with the exception of the following:

Hopes to Hit .300 in '61

Musial Gets AP Comeback Award

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If Stan Musial has his wish, he'll make an even bigger comeback in 1961 than the one that earned him The Associated Press' National League Comeback Player of the Year award for 1960.

"I'd like to hit over .300 next season," the St. Louis Cardinals' all-time great said today, "and 255-35 points below his previous career low. He worked hard during the winter, though, and set a goal to hit .300 in 1961."

Musial will be 40 on Nov. 21. Musial got the nod for a mid-season spurt that carried him and the Redbirds into the highest echelons of the NL. Many thought Stan was washed up following the 1959 campaign when he fell off to .255-35 points below his previous career low. He worked hard during the winter, though, and set a goal to hit .300 in 1961.

MUSIAL HONORED — Stan Musial is handed a baseball by his daughter Jean, 21 months old, after it had been announced that he was named National League Comeback Player of 1960 in a poll of baseball writers by the Associated Press.

Each Player Gets $8,417.94, Before Taxes

Pirates Count Series Cash

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, baseball's latest team of destiny, finally have reached the point where they can pocket the profit of the World Series monies. One full share of destiny was worth $8,417.94, before taxes.

That was the figure announced Monday by baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. A full share of the losers' pool amounted to $5,214.63 for the New York Yankees.

The Buckle's total $28,500.82 that was split into 33% full shares divided among 28 persons — Manager Danny Mortaugh, players, coaches, their trainer and clubhouse attendant — and 12 cash awards totaling $4,500, divided among the best boy, clubhouse assistants, the groundkeeper, part-time players and betting practice pitcher Virgil Trucks.

The Yankees, generous as usual, split their overall take of $191,000.95 into 35 1/3 full shares, divided 41 ways, and 11 cash awards totaling $6,750.

Both the winning and losing shares were far short of the records set a year ago when the Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago White Sox played two payoff games in the 100,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum. The Dodgers' record winning share was $11,231.18, while the White Sox collected a top losers' share of $7,725.17.

Moore Blanked, Still Leads NHL

Montreal Winger Holds 2-Point Edge Over His Nearest Rival

MONTREAL (AP) — The pickings were so poor in the scramble for scoring points in National Hockey League action last week that Montreal's Dickie Moore, who was shut out completely, found himself still leading the early season parade.

With 14 points on nine goals and five assists, Moore held a two-point margin over his closest pursuers.

The NHL's official statistics, released today, showed only two players among the first dozen leaders could squeeze out three points for their week's work.

Jean Beliveau of Montreal scored two goals — most in that department for any of the top men — and one assist. Norm Ullman of the Detroit Red Wings collected one goal and two assists.

Beliveau and Ullman separated themselves from a five-way third place tie of a week ago and moved into joint occupancy of second place, at 12 points, with the Canadian's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion. The Boomer has seven goals and five assists and the others a 4-8 record each.

Henri Richard of Montreal is alone in fifth place with 11 points. The Pocket Rocket scored one goal and one assist last week for his 47 total.

Rathmann, Ward to Team for '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Rathmann of Miami and Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, who finished one-two in the 500-mile Memorial Day auto race last May, will be mates on a Texas team in next year's Indianapolis classic.

The Indianapolis Star said reports that Ward, the 1959 winner, would break his successful relations with car owner Roger Wilke of Milwaukee were confirmed Monday by car builder A. J. Watson of Glendale, Calif.

Watson said he will build two new cars for Kenneth Rich and Paul Lacey of Dallas, whose "Ken-Paul Special" was driven to victory by Rathmann this year. He will be mechanic on the one assigned to Ward and veteran Chick Hirschman will continue to work with Rathmann.

State Has Tough Task Saturday

Strong Ohio State Will Invade East Lansing for Homecoming

EAST LANSING — The famous Ohio State "four yards and a cloud of dust" offensive should make this a standout homecoming football attraction at Michigan State Saturday.

The Buckeyes rushed an even 300 yards while beating Wisconsin 34-7 last Saturday. They also proved they could pass, hitting six of eight tries for 75 yards and two touchdowns.

Bob Ferguson, the burly Buckeye fullback who scored twice, will be well remembered by the Spartans. Ferguson went 52 yards for a touchdown against MSU last year in a game won 38-14 by Ohio State.

Michigan State's scores of 21-0 over Notre Dame and 35-0 over Indiana the last two times give promise of a great offensive season.

Both teams have only one Big Ten loss and are the last ones with a practical chance of catching unbeaten Iowa and Minnesota in the race for conference honors.

The Spartans used 13 backfield men to pick up their 240 yards rushing against Indiana.

However, the leading MSU scorer, fullback Carl Chatham, sprained a knee scoring one of the five touchdowns against Indiana. The Wayne City player was hit from the side and sent to the locker room.

Stout and the Yankees came to a parting of the ways last week.

Under now departed Manager Casey Stengel, incidentally, the Yankees pocketed full shares amounting to $66,006.05 for their work in 10 World Series. Only Yogi Berra, Coach Frank Crosetti, and of course, Casey himself, were in on all the loot since Stengel took over in 1949.

That broke down to a full share of $1,527.75 for the Milwaukee Braves, $991.30 for the St. Louis Cardinals and $501.58 for the Dodgers, who placed behind the Pirates in the National League. In the American, the Baltimore Orioles' full share was $1,564.68, the White Sox' $935.00 and the

Hungary—Note: Love Your Foes

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarian footballers were told today they should learn to love their opponents, not call them dirty names.

The newspaper Nepszombat said a Communist society expected certain rules of "human togetherness" to be honored and those who broke them should be "re-educating."

Nepszombat said it was all too frequent for one player tackling another to say: "How are you, you fine, you."

And for the other to reply: "I'm fine, you."

It said there were too many kicks on players and too many blows when the referee was not looking.

"We must learn men as human beings, guided by their love of a socialist community, who honor, in fact, their opponents," Nepszombat counseled.

After Sebe's disabling injury, Billy Clements, who had been a spectator, was pressed into service in the striped shirt brigade.

Young Peters scored the Wings' first two goals in the first stanza and by the time it ended the scoreboard read 5-0 Detroit.

There was little hockey and much shoving and bumping through the second period as tempers started to stretch toward the big explosion of the final session.

Top Seven Unchanged

Mississippi 2nd, Syracuse 3rd

Iowa continued as the No. 1 football team in the country for the second straight week in The Associated Press ratings today — and this time the Hawkeyes were going away.

When they took over as top team last week, they moved out of Mississippi by just two points. This week, they compiled 438 points to 335 for the Rebels. Thirty-four members of the 46-man voting board placed the Hawkeyes first, Nine others had Mississippi in first place and five awarded the No. 1 spot to Syracuse, which finished back in third place with 357 points.

The points were figured in the usual order of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second place and so on down the line. All told, only 19 teams received votes.

There was little change from last week's ratings because only one team, in fact, first lost, Purdue, which had held down the 10th spot, fell before Iowa, 21-14, and as a result bounced out of the select company.

Michigan State, on the basis of its 35-0 victory over Indiana, edged its way into the No. 10 position.

The first seven teams remained unchanged. No. 4 was Navy with 290 points, followed by Missouri with 283, Minnesota with 267, and Baylor with 191.

Ohio State and Washington changed places. A week ago, the Huskies were in eighth place, and Ohio State ninth. The Buckeyes moved up to No. 8, after downing Wisconsin, 34-7. Washington barely edged Oregon State, 30-29, after trailing almost all the way.

The switch in positions was emphatic. No. 4 was Navy with 290 points, followed by Missouri with 283, Minnesota with 267, and Baylor with 191.

This week, Iowa plays tough Kansas while Mississippi goes against Louisiana State. LSU was the last team to beat Ole Miss in 1959. But the Bengals from the bayou haven't been able to get up enough scoring power this year to prevent much of a threat. Their record is 1-5.

Syracuse also has a problem against Pitt, and Navy meets Notre Dame. Missouri plays Nebraska. Minnesota gets a breather in Kansas State. Baylor tackles Texas as Christian and Ohio State engages Michigan State. Washington has a date with Oregon.

The top 10 teams with first-place votes, season record and points scored:

1. Iowa (4) 35-0 438
2. Mississippi (2) 34-0 436
3. Syracuse (3) 30-29 435
4. Navy (4) 29-0 290
5. Missouri (2) 28-0 283
6. Minnesota (4) 26-0 267
7. Baylor (5) 19-0 191
8. Ohio State (3) 18-0 183
9. Washington (3) 17-0 178
10. Michigan State (3) 16-0 163

Ferris Nears Perfect Year

By The Associated Press
Never in its long gridiron history has Ferris Institute had an undefeated, untied season, but the present-day Bulldogs are only two steps away from such an accomplishment.

Coach Sam Ketchman is guiding his Bulldogs along with a 6-0-1 record. Ferris has one of the state's most potent offenses, having rolled up 186 points for a game average of 31. The Bulldog defense is just that—Bulldog—has yielded only two touchdowns all year.

The lowest margin of victory Ferris has had is 19 points, and only Milwaukee and Lakeland have been able to score on the Bulldogs. Ferris has won three on the road, two at home and another on a neutral field.

The Bulldogs' top point-getter is Dave Smith, who continues to lead the state in scoring with 75 points. Unless someone comes along with a fantastic spree in the closing weeks of the campaign, McNally will make a runaway of the individual scoring.

Closest to McNally's speedster from Battle Creek, is Paul D'Arras of Northern Michigan with 48 points. Four players have 36 points apiece, and three others have 30 apiece.

Frank Novak, an import from Massachusetts, is the state's top touchdown passer. The Northern Michigan junior quarterback has tossed six scoring passes. Ralph Abata of Michigan Tech, Jim Suth of Kalamazoo, Ed Chlebek of Western Michigan and Bob Lusky of Detroit have five touchdowns passes.

Michigan teams hold a 35-16-4 edge over out-of-state rivals. Home teams have won 36 times, visitors 34. Michigan teams hold a big edge over invading clubs from other states, beating them 19 times on home turf, losing 9 and tying 1.

Ferris, the state's only undefeated team, faces Rolla Anderson's inexperienced and light but always game Hornets from Kalamazoo this weekend, and this appears to be the only major hurdle left for the Bulldogs. They close the follow-up week against a Wilmington team that has been an easy target for so-so Ohio Conference teams.

Here are the standings for Michigan college football teams:

Smith Still Leading AFL in Rushing

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Houston's Dave Smith, for the seventh straight week, leads the American Football League in rushing. The 204-pound fullback from Greendale, Wis., has carried 72 times for 304 yards and a 4.2 average. Alan Miller of Boston, with 265 yards on 47 carries and a 5.7 average, is second.

George Miranda, the passing and kicking specialist for Houston, retained his scoring lead. The Oilers quarterback has racked up 63 points on four touchdowns, 21 extra points and eight field goals. Gene Mingo of Denver is second with 55 points and New York's Bill Shockley is third with 44.

Ken Hall, of Houston, has taken over the kickoff return lead with a 35.3 average and Abner Haynes of Dallas is tops in punt returns with a 16.6 average.

Paul Maguire of Los Angeles, sporting a 41.4 average, leads the punters with Davidson right behind with 40.1.

Kansas City Fisherman Wins Trophy

By DON VOGEL

For the second time in 9 days, Union Lake (failed to be kind to the fishermen on the World Series of Sport Fishing tour.

The fact that few fish were caught Monday didn't keep Harold Ensley of Kansas City, Mo., from taking top honors in the series. He barely edged Don Staser, Lansing mailman, who made a gallant bid to win on the last day.

Ensley, an outdoor broadcaster, was presented with the giant trophy Monday night during a banquet at the Bonnie Brook Country Club.

Marvel Tourist, Vostok, Pa., coal miner and state champion, winner of the first round last week at Union Lake, was third, Harold Lehn, a Benndig, Minn., guide, was fourth and Claude Rogers of Virginia Beach, Va., the combined world's salt and fresh water champion, placed fifth.

Col. Edward Eagen, former New York state boxing commissioner, and now chairman of President Eisenhower's People-to-People Sports Committee, presented Ensley with the trophy. Mrs. Roy Martin of Panama City, Fla., received a silver tray for being the women's champion. Her only competition was Mrs. Asta Moller of Iceland. Mrs. Martin also outfished her husband.

Success of Gophers Selling Pro Tickets

CHICAGO (AP)—The unbeaten record of the Minnesota Gophers has stimulated advance ticket sales for the Minnesota Vikings, the 1961 entry of the National Football League. Bert Rose said Monday.

Rose, the Vikings' general manager, said: "Our feeling certainly is that college and pro football can live side by side. The fact that Minnesota has won five games in a row has started people talking more football in the area. It has helped out our pre-season ticket sales which now have reached 31,000."

The pre-season target is 25,000, and Rose said some people in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area feel this will be reached by Dec. 7.

band, the mayor of Panama City, and holder of 19 world salt water records.

Staser came within one ounce of winning the championship. He hit the dock at Dunham's Landing with less than a minute to spare before the deadline. His catch almost beat Lehn who took the day's honors with a northern pike.

The unusual part about Ensley's victory is that he was top fisherman only once on the 9-day tour. He took a limit of walleyes on a lake near Trout Lake Friday to gain a lead he never gave up.

The contestants tried their luck on seven lakes, fishing Union Lake at the start and close of the tour. The 57 anglers on the tour were from 19 states and five nations.

They pulled in fish ranging from bluegills to rainbow trout. Rogers got the trophy for catching the largest fish on the tour, a 14-pound northern pike at Escanaba on Little Bay de Noc.

Much of the competition took place in below-freezing temperatures.

The top foreign angler was Jose Pinto of Costa Rica who placed seventh. Pinto's greatest claim to fame was falling asleep the first day at Union Lake. He continued to hang a line over the side while napping.

'Dear Old Rutgers' Spirit Has Returned

NEW YORK (UPI)—In college football once again today the kids are ready to "die for dear old Rutgers."

That's the explanation from Columbia coach Buff Donnell for the weekly wave of upsets. It is due primarily, he says, to emotional and psychological reasons as much as to physical activity.

"The older, I've seen everything crop we had after the war is gone," he explains, "and we're back again in an era of emotions."

This is the reason, he avers, behind such unpredictable events as Purdue whipping Ohio State, 24 to 21; Ohio State beating Wisconsin, 34 to 7, and then Wisconsin upending Purdue, 24 to 13.

"There is more emotion than ever has been," insists the former Duquesne, Boston University and pro coach who is trying to "eliminate" what he refers to as "the Columbia spirit."

"Columbia for years has played with a defeatist attitude," snorts the quiet but highly-competitive Donnell. "It seems to be a built-in feeling that we fight like blazes to a certain point and then it's all over as if they expected to lose or are expected to lose. Overcoming this 'Columbia spirit' is my biggest problem but, fortunately, we are back in an era in which spirit and emotion once more are workable factors."

The published point spreads are a major factor in contributing to the "upset," too, Donnell holds.

"It can work two ways," he argues. "Sometimes when a team reads where it is a seven or 15-point underdog, it gets fired up and goes out and wins with a 'fish-within' attitude. On the other hand, reading where they are seven or 15-point favorites can steady a team which lacks confidence in itself."

Syracuse is a prime example, Donnell says, of how point spreads can affect a team.

"They were rated overwhelming favorites in some of their early games, couldn't get fired up and therefore barely pulled through," he analyzed. "But now it looks like they've found themselves and become fired up just as they hit the big games."

The value of the emotional lift is supported by Capt. Asbury (Red) Coward, the World War II hero who is director of athletics at the Naval Academy. Because the undefeated Middies, he says, are a definite "surprise."

"At the risk of being called coray," Red illustrates, "we have gone this far so well because of the closest unity and the highest spirit — because of hustle and spirit which has spread through and is shared by the whole brigade."

At Navy they have what they call "3,000 blue and gold specials." That means every man in the academy is solidly behind the team.

"They hold tremendous rallies and even the seniors are busting in the college game today," Coward exclaims. "And, in what you might describe as 'this of course, has a potent effect on the team and defeated, too."

the kids put out even better than they know how."

As a scare in point, he told how sophomore Steve Hoy of Santa Monica, Calif., came all the way up from fourth string to become a first team guard. And Jim Laper of Iowa City came off Navy's Olympic crew to nail down an end berth.

"Spirit and emotion has made them winning football players," cut them in Donnell. "It's the major item and even the seniors are busting in the college game today."

And, in what you might describe as "this of course, has a potent effect on the team and defeated, too."

Lakers' Home Opener Ruined

Drop 1st Los Angeles Game to New York Before Only 4,008

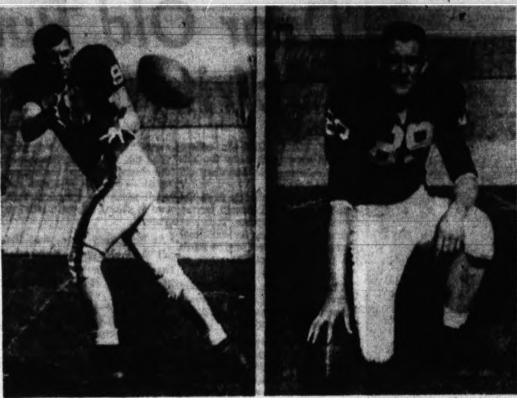

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The debut of the Los Angeles Lakers in their new home in the Sports Arena was an artistic and financial disappointment. The New York Knickerbockers won their first game of the 1960 National Basketball Association season 111-101 Monday night. Only 4,008 occupied the arena's 14,871 seats.

Charlie Tyra, Richie Guerin and Willie Naulls paced the Knicks in the scoring column with 22, 18 and 18 points respectively. New York picked off 49 rebounds to 38 by the Lakers. But the slowness of Laker star Elgin Baylor to find the basket was Los Angeles' biggest setback.

Although Baylor led both teams in scoring with 25 points, it was almost two minutes before the close of the first half before he connected for a field goal. New York outscored the Lakers in every period, holding them to 21-45 at the half and 81-73 after three periods.

"Except for some mental laps, we would have been ahead at the end of the first half," said Laker Coach Fred Schatz. Jerry West, highly publicized Laker backcourt man from West Virginia, was held to nine points. Darrall Imhoff, a star with California's team last year, contributed only five to the New York cause.

The teams meet again tonight.

WISCONSIN ENDS — Two first University of Wisconsin ends, Henry Derleth, left, and Pat Richter, will be going against Michigan Saturday at Madison. The Badgers, loaded with sophomores, lost to Ohio State 34-17 last Saturday.

Bay City Leads AP Poll

By The Associated Press — Bay City Central, always one of Michigan's toughest high school football teams, finally scrambled to the top of the Associated Press high school rankings today.

The Wolves of Elmer Engel, a bristling team for weeks as Ann Arbor occupied the top spot, soared to the top in overwhelming fashion as Lansing Eastern knocked off previously undefeated Ann Arbor.

The loss dropped the Pioneers into fifth place.

Bay City nearly lost, too, as Midland fumbled at the Bay City 22-yard line in the final seconds and preserved Central's 14-13 triumph.

Bay City Central received all but two of the first-place votes of the sports writers and broadcasters who serve on the AP panel of experts.

Dowagiac retained its first-place hold in Class B by beating South Haven and Manistee in the No. 2 spot by edging Cadillac.

'Iron Man' Feat Helped by Paul Brown's Laugh

By GEORGE ESER — PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chuck Bednarik said today inspiration and anger toward Cleveland Coach Paul Brown for laughing at him drove him to the unusual feat of playing 38 minutes and a key role in the Philadelphia Eagles' 31-20 victory over the Browns Sunday.

The former Penn All-American center said Brown laughed at him "real loud" when someone blocked him hard near the Browns' bench in the second quarter.

"He laughed real smirkingly," Bednarik said, "as if to say, 'You dumb jerk. You don't quit because you get hurt.'"

"I hollered back something at him that is unprintable, but in the heat of battle you're liable to say anything. Anyhow, his laughing annoyed me."

"We wanted to win badly from the start for the previous humiliating loss but when he laughed that only made me want to win worse. The weather helped me go the 38 minutes, too. It was a cool day, about in the high 40s."

"And then there's the mental thing, no matter what we do in life, if you tell yourself you can do something, you can. I kept talking to myself saying, 'You're not tired, and I wasn't.'"

Bednarik, who played most of the game with a pulled leg muscle, said he worried more about Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, and Bobby Mitchell — because no other team has a combination like them — corner linebacksers have to help by coming back into the center of the line to stop Brown, you have to contain Mitchell because once he skirts a corner he can fake so well he doesn't need blocking."

The 35-year-old Bednarik played what he felt was the best game of his 16 years in college and professional football.

His offensive blocking was outstanding and his hard tackling helped stop halfback Mitchell, allowing him only 25 yards in 14 carries, as the Eagles handed the Browns their first National Football League loss this year, and pushed them into third place in the Eastern Conference.

The Eagles moved into second place, averaging a previous 41-24 loss in Philadelphia Sept. 24 when Mitchell gained 156 yards in 14 carries and scored two touchdowns on runs of 30 and 31 yards.

Pontiac Kepler Hits 702 Series in Detroit Loop

Pontiac's Shirley Pointer made bowling history last night when she rolled a 702 series in a Detroit league.

Reportedly, no other area woman has ever rolled a 700 series. Mrs. Peggy Bender, secretary of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association, said today that records kept since 1933 show no previous 700s.

Shirley turned the trick with games of 235, 236, 233. The opener was her best single of the season.

The veteran of 15 years in bowling is averaging around the 188 mark. She is active this season in one league at Huron Bowl and two in Detroit.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. If we have our female kitten neutered, will it definitely be changed and will she get fat?—Mrs. J. P. Trymack, Morristown, N.J.

A. Spaying a cat is often more necessary than choice. Having to find homes for two or three litters a year is no small task. Many humane societies will not allow female cats to be adopted unless they are neutered, as the unwanted cat population could reach staggering heights.

Unless your cat is pedigreed or you have hundreds of friends on a kitten waiting list, spaying is advisable. Even the older cat who has been a mother can safely undergo the operation under normal conditions.

Your kitten will retain her natural hunting instincts that provide exercise, and her fastidious tastes seldom allow her to become a glutton, so there is usually no weight problem. There is rarely a change-of-life consequence after the operation that causes a disposition change.

Ford Sees Pickup in British Car Field

LONDON (UP)—Henry Ford II has predicted that "by the spring, things will start to pick up again" in the sagging British automobile industry.

"I am convinced that it is only a temporary situation," Ford said at a motor dealers' luncheon here.

"After all, we couldn't go right on in a boom condition forever. Things have to slow up some time. It is happening in America, too."

"I think once the smoke has cleared away by the spring, things will start to pick up again."

Four of Britain's five big automobile firms have reduced staffs and cut back production because of a slump in auto sales.

Ford said that despite the fall-off in trade his firm would plan for expansion. "World trade today is buoyant," Ford said.

"In spite of the international uneasiness . . . the demand for a more comfortable, more secure life goes on."

State Sales Tax Take Exceeds 1959 Figures

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan sales tax collections in August increased to $27,407,694 from $27,288,480 in previous year.

Collections in the Detroit Metropolitan area went up from $13,239,969 in August, 1959, to $13,312,064 this August.

In Wayne County collections were $9,620,040; Oakland, $2,500,551; and Macomb $1,191,473.

UF Drive Still Shy $120,000

With three days remaining in the 1960 Pontiac Area United Fund drive, Semon E. Knudsen, campaign chairman, announced today that $553,656 has been raised toward the UF's goal of $872,500.

Making his second progress report of the campaign, Knudsen stated that the monies pledged amount to 82.3 per cent of the figure sought in the three-week drive.

STILL TO BE RAISED IS $121,844

Knudsen expressed confidence that the drive would end on a victorious note.

Late returns from the Industrial Division should enable the announcement of the drive's successful conclusion at a victory luncheon of volunteer workers Thursday at the Elks Temple, Knudsen said.

The campaign chairman paid tribute to the hourly employees of the Pontiac Manufacturers Association, a group composed of some major plants in the city, for "again demonstrating their support" of the UF drive.

"Comprising the bulk of contributors in the Industrial Division, their generous pledges are an outstanding demonstration of community concern for those in need in the Pontiac area," Knudsen said.

Knudsen noted that each year more departments in the Division are reporting 100 per cent participation. Many of them are showing increases this year in employee participation and average employee contributions, he said.

He pointed to the fact that Pontiac Motor Division reported 82.2 per cent employee participation, up from 84 per cent last year, with an increase in the average contribution from $9.24 to $9.28.

Fisher Body increased employee participation from 83.1 per cent last year to 84.8 per cent in the current campaign, with a jump in the average contribution from $9.28 to $11.30.

PRaises COMPANY

Knudsen also singled out the Universal Oil Seal Co. for praise in support of the drive. Hourly employees have topped their average contribution from $11.20 in 1959 to $11.74.

The Industrial Division, headed by Calvin J. Werner, has raised $337,734, 54 per cent of its quota of $625,500.

The Commercial Division, Knudsen reported, has raised $102,752, or 38 per cent of its $195,500 quota.

John P. Niggemann, Commercial Division chairman, stated he was "very proud" of the work done by solicitors of the professional groups, led by Robert Armstrong, group vice chairman.

Niggemann expressed confidence that the professional groups would meet their quota by the campaign deadline.

He also praised solicitors of Waterford Township and Pontiac schools, headed by William A. Shuglek, vice chairman. "Both (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

PLUGS FOR NIXON — Vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge makes a point for the Nixon-Lodge ticket before his talk last night at Southfield High School. Oakland County Republican party leaders estimated the turnout at 3,500 persons, the largest to greet the ambassador to the United Nations during his swing through the Detroit area yesterday.

Lodge Tells 3,500 at Southfield

'Nixon a World Leader'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
An estimated 3,500 persons turned out in near-breezing weather last night in Southfield to hear Republican vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge praise his running mate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, as the best suited, not only to become leader of our nation, but also a world leader.

County Republican leaders were pleased with the reception afforded Lodge during his brief, whirlwind stopover in Oakland County.

They were particularly pleased since county voters won't have an opportunity to hear or see Nixon, who follows Lodge into Michigan Thursday. Oakland County is not on his itinerary.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons had to call out reserve officers to cope with the traffic snarls that blocked 10-Mile and Lahar roads before and after Lodge arrived with his police escort.

While the crowd in the Southfield High School gymnasium sang campaign songs and heard county and state candidates speak, former United Nations Ambassador Lodge was down the street being interviewed for a delayed television show.

TALKS WITH A PUNCH
Lodge's message to the cheering, sign-waving, enthusiastic crowd was brief—about 15 minutes—but with "a punch," said a smiling Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county chairman.

Lodge said not only voters be electing a president on Nov. 8, but they will be choosing a world leader who must not give an inch to Communist pressures and propaganda.

"Here is the leader who can do it," Lodge said, pointing to a photograph of the vice president behind him.

"Here is a man who has never been taken in by the Communists. Here is a man that has never taken what the Communists say on face value. Here is a man who has never given in when they 'come and get it' on the other side of the line."

When his white convertible pulled up beside the school, first to greet the 38-year-old former newspaperman (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

"Between now and Nov. 8, I intend to work even harder at the campaign," he said. "I'm mentally and physically prepared for an all-out sprint to the finish line."

The lieutenant governor declined to make a flat prediction that he would take over the state house reins held by G. Mennen Williams for the past 12 years.

"I wouldn't speculate on the outcome of the election at this date. I do feel, however, that the campaign is going well," Swainson said, adding:

"I feel that the response of the people to the programs of the Democratic party is proof that we are headed in the right direction."

On a swing through predominantly-Republican territory last week, Swainson drew small but enthusiastic crowds. At a rally in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Ike Rates Us Most Powerful Nation in History

Ends Tour by Declaring
No Need for Big New Defense Programs

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Eisenhower rates America as history's most powerful nation. He says it needs no giant new defense programs or any massive economic shot in the arm from the federal government.

The President ended a cross-country speaking tour on that note Monday night—a nine-day trip billed by the White House as non-political.

Today he flew back to Washington to prepare for putting on his political gloves in a stretch-drive effort to elect the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

In Miami, Fla., Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. said today any claim that United States military power is "second rate" is simply not supported by the facts.

The Cabinet member in a speech which his aides said was non-political, stated among other things: "We have, I believe, every right to deeply resent the many implications now current that we are dissipating" the nation's defensive strength.

His speech was prepared for the annual convention of the Postmasters of America.

Friday evening Eisenhower will address a nationwide television audience from a rally in Philadelphia. A week from Wednesday he will be in New York for another major political address which will be carried coast-to-coast on both radio and TV. He may make additional speeches.

Eisenhower, a native Texan, got a roaring welcome to Houston from a police-estimated crowd of 30,000. He carried Texas in 1952 and 1956, and the backers of Vice President Richard M. Nixon hope the President's great popularity will keep the state in the Republican column Nov. 8.

NOTES CAMPAIGN
At the outset of his address to an audience of about 8,000 at Rice University, Eisenhower smilingly noted there is a political campaign in progress.

Jack and Dick Slug It Out Over Education, Inflation

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today there are new frontiers ahead for America, but Sen. John F. Kennedy is not prepared to cross them.

Nixon told a crowd police estimated at 5,000 persons in Marietta, Ohio, that his Democratic rival is "dangerously downgrading" the United States by saying that it has lost prestige in the world.

Noting Kennedy's "new frontiers" campaign slogan, Nixon said these frontiers exist. But he said the Democrats offer the country nothing new for the future.

"They are going to try to ride across these new frontiers in the same old jallopies that were broken down in 1953 and useless now," he said.

"Yes, there are new frontiers, but they will not be crossed by downgrading this country and weakening it."

Nixon was greeted by a small crowd when he got off his campaign train in Williamsport, Pa., to drive to Marietta for his first speech of the day.

The Marietta crowd, massed in front of an armory, in the sunny but frosty morning, was largely silent during his talk, but warmed up at the end.

Nevertheless, the programs are afflicted by problems ranging from simple ineptitude to brazen fraud—and taxpayers are footing the bill.

Every time you buy a gallon of gas, you contribute four cents to the federal government's share of highway building costs. You pay an equal amount, or more, in state gas taxes.

Just to pay the federal government's 20 per cent share of a $1-million superhighway project requires consumption of 22½ million gallons of gas.

Due to the vastness of the great federal program, even five months' investigation could not (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

House Probers Ask CIA About Rumored Poll

CBS, NY Times Say
Survey Abroad Gives Nod to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee staff is checking whether the government has made and kept secret an overseas poll of opinions on U.S. prestige.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of a House Government Information subcommittee, directed the inquiry at the U.S. Information Agency (USIA).

His action followed a CBS radio report Monday that a secret poll, made by the agency showed overwhelming belief in other countries that Soviet military strength will surpass that of the United States within 10 years.

Today, the New York Times quoted reliable sources abroad as saying a survey report by the USIA's research division found an almost unanimous belief that the Soviet Union is the leading military power.

George V. Allen, head of the USIA, declined to comment on the broadcast report or to say whether such a poll had been made. Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has made a campaign issue of what he calls declining U.S. prestige abroad. Both he and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., have asked the USIA about any polls showing such a trend, but agency officials have replied that no recent poll on the subject has been made.

The White House last week denied a story in the Washington Post that a presidential committee on U.S. information activities had reported a decline in U.S. prestige.

The CBS broadcast said a government report compiled by the USIA research division in August contained the information about which Fulbright had asked.

BIG EDGE BY 1975
The broadcast said the report gave the Soviet Union a slight edge in opinions of which country is stronger today and an overwhelming margin on relative strength in 1975. City Teamsters Have Until 2 P.M. Today to Give Up Records

Pontiac Teamster Local 614 officials had until 2 p.m. today to surrender disputed 1959 financial and membership records to the U.S. Department of Labor, to end long-running charges of racketeering.

If the records aren't turned in voluntarily, Federal Judge Fred W. Kaess said yesterday in Detroit, a suit by the union will be dismissed, leaving the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor-Management free to claim the subpoenaed books.

Similarly subpoenaed records are affected at Local 289 in Detroit, home local of Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

Both locals sued Oct. 4 to quash the subpoenas, contending the labor reform law was illegal because it attempts to regulate the internal affairs of a union beyond collective bargaining procedures.

In seeking the subpoenas, the Bureau of Labor-Management said there was "reason to believe" that the two locals had not filed "true and accurate" reports required under the new labor law.

A new nationalization decree approved at a post-midnight Cabinet session left only about 250 American companies, most of them comparatively small. The bulk of the billion-dollar pre-Castro investment in Cuba has been taken over at various times in the past two years.

Uncertain Vote Looms Large

Could Bring Landslide for Either Man, Says Pollster Gallup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pollster George Gallup says the presidential race is still very close but there is enough voter uncertainty to "bring a colossal landslide to either man."

Major shifts have occurred in the final few weeks before each of the last three presidential elections, Gallup said in a copyright interview published today by the magazine U.S. News & World Report.

Unlike many previous elections, he said, "there is a great lack of enthusiasm for either" Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy, and many voters leaning toward either could be shifted to the other.

Putting the estimated total vote at 70 million, Gallup said he finds about 3.5 million potential voters undecided—about the same as in the last two elections.

But he described as a "terribly important" factor the possible shift of another 6.5 million "who

Nichols Heads Dodge Division

M. C. Patterson Retires After Nine Years With Unit of Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Byron J. Nichols, Chrysler group vice president in charge of automotive sales, has been named general manager of Dodge Division.

He succeeds M. C. Patterson, who is retiring. Patterson, 60, has headed Dodge since July 1956.

Nichols is 47. He has been with Chrysler since 1940.

Both Nichols and Patterson were given clean bill of health in the recent investigations of Chrysler's top executives by the corporation's legal counsel and by an independent law firm headed by Thomas B. Dewey.

PROBED FOR CONFLICTS

The probes were to determine whether any Chrysler officers were involved in conflicts of interest.

Patterson, a native of Scotland, joined Dodge in 1951, became divisional vice president in charge of manufacturing in February 1955 and divisional president in 1956.

Chrysler changed its titles in 1958 and Patterson became general manager of Dodge.

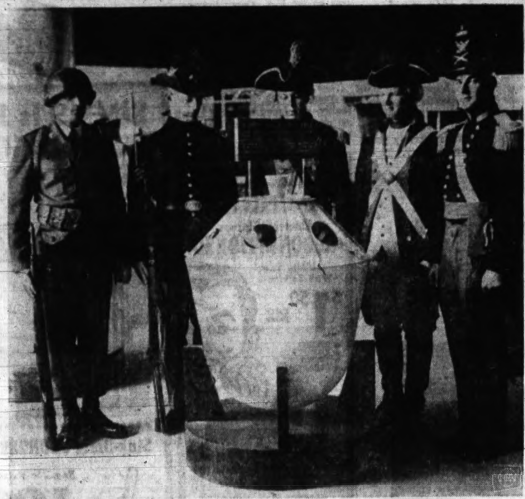

Nichols' old job has been abolished, the corporation said, and staff functions have been consolidated under Ed C. Quinn, vice president for sales divisions.

Patterson said he had asked to retire before the company's mandatory retirement age of 65 because he wanted more time with his family.

Seeks U.S. Support Over New Guinea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Malaya's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman arrives today to seek U.S. support for his new plan to end the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea.

The 58-year-old Malayan leader, flying in from Toronto, starts a three-day official visit with full military honors and a red carpet welcome from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

The tunku—a title meaning prince in Malay—has told U.S. officials he would ask President Eisenhower to support a United Nations trusteeship over West New Guinea under Indonesian administration.

State Department officials said the Malayan proposal would receive sympathetic consideration, but they expressed doubt the United States would abandon its customary neutral position.

The school is located near Fuerstenwalde, 60 miles east of Berlin, and is called Camp Mollenberg.

"Algerians are going in great numbers to East Germany, ostensibly to seek employment," the intelligence men said in an interview.

Pravda Admits Fashion Scene Pretty Glum

LONDON (UPI)—Life is pretty bleak for the clothes-conscious Russian, according to the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda.

"Too many fabrics are of a grey and tasteless color," Pravda said in an editorial quoted by Moscow radio and monitored here.

Clothing is "old-fashioned" and footwear "unattractive and shoddy made," Pravda said, adding:

"The textile workers, for instance, produce from year to year badly-dyed artificial silk clothes in dull colors. Buyers have had enough of them . . . and yet plaid in a heavier artificial cloth are insufficiently produced."

"As a rule the footwear we produce is hard-wearing and durable but it is often unattractive."

Pravda also lamented the lack of goods for children and the shortage of furniture and spare parts for motorcycles, radios and television sets.

State VFW Pushes Six-Point Program

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars are pushing a sixpoint legislative program hammered out over the weekend in a meeting of VFW state officers at Grand Rapids.

Renovation of the ROTC program at Michigan State University and establishment of a national cemetery at Fort Custer are among chief goals.

Other aims adopted by the council of administration, Michigan VFW governing body, are:

A committee to study the Veterans' Homestead Tax Exemption Law; establishment of a permanent Senate committee on veterans affairs; passage of a separate liberal pension program for World War I veterans and setting of limits for new state grants to veterans group.

The conference drew approximately 2,000 VFW officers.

Killer Raby Dies in Jail-Break Attempt

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Clarence Leon Raby, who became one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals after he shot and killed two men, was shot to death Monday night as he tried to shoot his way out of jail.

A deputy, Kenneth Milligan, was wounded as he shot it out with Raby in the jail's corridor.

Police were holding two women for investigation in connection with the break attempt.

Raby, 27, was being held in Knox County jail pending trial at nearby Clinton, Tenn., on two murder charges and two robbery charges.

Officers said Raby called officers to his fourth floor cell on the pretense he wanted to make a statement in connection with another death, in his case.

He pulled a gun on them and said: "I'm getting out of here."

MSU Expects Crowded Campus for Homecoming

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University officials say they expect the school's population to double this weekend when an estimated 20,000 alumni descend on or near the campus for homecoming.

Highlight for the festivities will be the Michigan State-Ohio State football game, kicking off at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The whole thing starts at 7:30 p.m. Friday with a student pep rally and ends Sunday afternoon when the displays built by some 75 living units on campus come down.

Between, there is a jazz festival following the pep rally, homecoming breakfasts and brunches, a 10th anniversary celebration by the MSU College of Nursing, and an alumni-stag smoker, sponsored by the Ingham County MSU Alumni Club.

Reigning over the homecoming spectacle will be Queen Mary Berls, 18-year-old East Grand Rapids sophomore. She and her court will be presented at Spartan Stadium and at the Homecoming Dance, in the Big Ten Room at Kellogg Center.

With her will be runner-up Susan Taylor, 20, of Mount Clemens, Miss Taylor will carry the title: "Miss Ohio State."

Investigation Triggered by Article Probe 28-Year-Old Suicide of Movie Siren's Husband

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After 28 years, the district attorney's office is again investigating the death of writer-producer Paul Bern, husband of the late Jean Harlow.

Bern's death in 1932 was listed officially as suicide. Miss Harlow died five years later, at 26, of uremic poisoning.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said Monday a fresh inquiry is being made because writer Ben Hecht said in a recent magazine article that a suicide note reportedly left by the 42-year-old Bern was a forgery. Hecht charged that Bern was murdered by another woman, whom he did not name.

Hecht's article said film studio officials decided it was better that the public believe Bern killed himself than to let it be known that Miss Harlow could not keep her husband.

MARRIED IN 1932 Bern and the actress were married July 2, 1932. Two months later Bern was found shot to death just outside the door of his bedroom in their Benedict Canyon home.

"When a writer of Ben Hecht's stature puts in public print without qualification that a murder has been committed, it is up to the district attorney's office to investigate the case, no matter how long ago it occurred," McKesson said.

At the time of Bern's death, Miss Harlow could give police no motive for suicide. The next day she tried to throw herself off a balcony, officers reported.

It was then discovered, police said.

Dissolve House for Jap Election

Pro-West Government of Ikeda Will Launch Campaign Sunday

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's House of Representatives was dissolved Monday in preparation for a general election Nov. 20.

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's pro-Western government is officially launching its campaign Sunday with clarification of what it calls the confusion over Japan's military and economic ties with the United States as the No. 1 issue.

The 467-seat House, in which Socialists and other leftists have opposed the U.S.-Japan security treaty, was dissolved with the reading of an imperial rescript signed Sunday night by Emperor Hirohito.

The voters will choose a new House in the election; Japan's eighth since World War II. The majority in that House will select the new government.

Ikeda, 60, took over the pro-Western government in July from Nobusuke Kishi, who was forced to step down following massive leftist demonstrations against the security pact and a projected goodwill visit by President Eisenhower last June.

Britain to Disperse H-Bomb Depots

LONDON (UPI)—Britain plans to scatter its underground-H-bomb warehouses in Cyprus, Aden, Singapore and East Africa, the Daily Express said Monday.

The country's nuclear arsenal and jet bomber force are "to be dispersed to avoid destruction in case of a sudden enemy attack on England, the newspaper said.

The bombs eventually will be replaced by the U. S.-built Skybolt rocket when it becomes available, increasing the versatility of the counter-attack potential, the Express said.

The newspaper predicted the stocks of bombs "will be big enough to destroy many Russian cities if Britain should ever be attacked."

Reuther Asks 'Big Three's' Aid

Wants Help in Forming a Labor-Management Conference

DETROIT (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, following up a speech here this week by President Eisenhower, Sunday invited the "big three" auto companies to join the Union in establishing a permanent automobile industry joint management-labor conference.

The purpose, he said, would be to provide the mechanics for "joint action aimed at the achievement of mutually desired objectives that would promote the national welfare."

Reuther said the proposed conference should not be concerned with bargaining but rather "divorced from the atmosphere of conflict and haggling that too often surrounds the collective bargaining table."

He proposed that the conference might start by considering such subjects as economic growth, inflation, import competition and technological change.

Eisenhower said here this week that "labor and business leaders must sit down in a calm atmosphere and regularly discuss — far removed from the bargaining table — their philosophy, their needs, and above all, their common responsibility to this free nation."

Reuther sent a letter urging establishment of the conference to presidents L. L. Coker of Chrysler, Henry Ford II of Ford and John F. Gordon of General Motors. He also sent a letter telling of his proposal to Eisenhower in which he said "We are hopeful that the impetus given to this idea by your speech will lead to its favorable consideration" by the auto companies.

Christian Dems Gain in Two German States

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats scored sizable gains in local elections in two West German states Sunday. The gains failed to threaten the Socialist majority in most municipal and district parliaments in the largely industrial state of Hesse. In rural Rhineland-Palatinate, traditionally a Christian Democratic stronghold, the Adenauer party also registered a strong advance.

Kentucky Wonders: Where's Bluebird?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The bluebird, commonly associated as the bearer of happiness, is becoming hard to find in Kentucky.

State Ornithologist Burt L. Monroe estimates the bluebird population is off 85.90 per cent, because of freezing weather which killed many birds last spring and careless use of poisonous insecticides and weed killers.

William G. Duncan of Louisville, a champion of the bluebird, said he checked 200-500 bluebird nesting boxes in the area and found only one nest.

Modern public libraries, supported by taxes of the public, were hardly known in the United States before 1850.

The sea contains up to 276 parts of gold per million parts of water, most of it impossible to extract.

Rocky Chews It on Campaign Doesn't Knock the Lox

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller made a bagel-munching, lox-chewing, fig, salami, chocolate ball and éclair-stuffed Rockefeller and a group of Republican legislative candidates invaded 43rd Street and Broadway supermarket to pin "Click With Dick" buttons on patrons and purchase $3.07 worth of 60-cent-a-pound kosher salami.

The governor and his entourage picked up 35 cents worth of figs, then stopped at a bakery for a bag of eclairs and chocolate balls, for which Rockefeller paid.

Emerging from the bakery, the governor made his way to a delicatessen where he ordered 95 cents worth of bagel and lox sandwiches.

PROPRIETOR PAYS

The proprietor picked up the check although the governor offered to pay.

Rockefeller pinched a few babies' cheeks before declaring the Kennedy-Johnson team showed in the recent session of Congress that "it couldn't get anything done."

With this he wound up his politicking tour for the day.

Pro-Western Sheikh of Qatar Abdicates

MANAMA, Bahrain (U)—The pro-Western ruler of the Persian Gulf state of Qatar, Sheikh Ali Bin Abdullah al Thani, has abdicated in favor of his son, Sheikh Ahmed.

A British government spokesman in Bahrain said the ceremony took place in the presence of British political agent Frank Ward and acting political resident Morgan Man. The spokesman added: "The succession was agreed by the ruling family in the traditional manner."

The announcement added that the retiring ruler's nephew Sheikh Khalid Bin Hamad becomes heir-apparent. The new ruler is believed to hold pro-Western views similar to his aging father, while the new heir-apparent is said to be a supporter of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—"How long should I bull crane?" a voice on the phone asked policeman J. J. Bodine.

Bodine forwarded the question to Sgt. John Gilbert, then repeated Gilbert's reply of "about 20 minutes" into the phone. "Thanks," a man said, "my wife said this police would know."

State Has 17 Seeking Another Term

By United Press International
Michigan congressmen apparently like their jobs.

At any rate, 17 of them are seeking another term in the U.S. House of Representatives. Only Alvin M. Bentley, who wants a promotion to the federal upper chamber, is stepping out.

Ten other Republicans and seven Democrats have the "incumbent" designation on the ballot. Barring unforeseen turnovers of train assets—and voters are notoriously fickle—only four present representatives might face a serious threat from their opponents.

Included in the threatened group, which still must retain the favored lot, are three Republicans and a Democrat.

Doubt shadows the race in the 8th District where Rep. Charles Chamberlain seeks a third term, the 11th District seat of Victor A. Knox, William S. Broomfield in the 18th District—all Republicans—and Democratic Rep. James G. O'Hara's seat in the 7th District.

The six Democrats holding the congressional seats from Wayne County, Reps. Thaddeus M. Macgregor, Charles C. Diggs Jr., Louis G. Batelli, John D. Dingell, John Ledinski and Mrs. Martha Griffiths, are virtually certain to win re-election.

Seven outside Republicans who are bidding for re-election also seem in little danger. The GOP is virtually assured of having Bentley's seat again, too.

The seven incumbents each won their seats in 1958 by a margin ranging from comfortable to huge. Included in the group is Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, 85-year-old veteran congressman from Southwest Michigan's 4th District who is seeking his 14th term.

THERE ARE OTHERS

Others are Reps. George Mendel in the 2nd District, August E. Johansen in the 3rd, Gerald R. Ford Jr. in the 5th, Robert P. Griffin in the 9th, Elford A. Cederberg in the 10th and John B. Bennet in the Upper Peninsula's 12th District.

Former Saginaw Mayor James Harvey should have little trouble keeping Bentley's 8th District seat for the GOP.

The lone Democrat in danger of returning to private life is James G. O'Hara in the 7th District of Huron, LaPorte, Macomb, Sanilac, St. Clair and Tuscola counties.

'She Hasn't Changed'

Miss America's Family to Share Friday Event

MONTAGUE (AP)—A proud and happy father, looking at his 18-year-old daughter in the role of Miss America, says "she hasn't changed."

Robert M. Fleming, whose daughter, Nancy Anne, presides as America's ideal girl, adds: "I think she's developed more poise as she's gone along, but that's only to be expected."

Fleming, his schoolteacher wife Virginia, and their five younger children share public honors Oct. 28-29 with Nancy at a three-city homecoming celebration honoring Miss America.

The schedule of events covers the chemical industry twin towns of Montague and Whitehall and nearby greater Muskegon.

Fleming was disappointed when Miss America, present official banned a proposal that Nancy Anne and her family ride Vice President Nixon's train from Grand Rapids to Muskegon next Thursday. The Miss America title is kept free of political implications.

"But I dearly would like to have done it—Nixon's my boy," says Fleming.

He and his wife have seen Nancy only once since she won her crown when they visited briefly Oct. 13 at Lansing.

"We had a wonderful time, but she seems a bit homesick."

is again challenging O'Hara, who won by a scant 2,768 votes out of more than 172,000 cast in 1958.

O'Hara only carried one county—his native Macomb—but that was enough to swing the election to him. Population growth, which includes Detroit Democrats moving to the suburbs, plus his own popularity could well be enough to keep O'Hara in office.

The Republican is most danger is Knox, who represents a 16 county area of the Northern Lower Peninsula and the Eastern Upper Peninsula.

Frederick M. Brown Jr., son of the one-time U.S. senator and representative, is making a strong bid for the seat. Brown failed in 1958 by nearly 4,000 votes out of more than 70,000 cast, but figures to be stronger this year.

In the 6th District of Ingham, Livingston and Genesee counties Chamberlain won over a fellow East Lansingite—Michigan State University professor, Don Hayworth—by nearly 8,000 votes out of more than 177,000 cast in 1958.

This year, Democrats sent Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke to do battle.

The other seat which Republicans are fighting to keep is held by Broomfield in a district which includes only Oakland county. He is being challenged by retired Air Force Col. James Kelis.

Broomfield won the seat for the second time in 1958 by polling better than 10,000 votes more than his opponent. Nearly 200,000 votes were cast for the congressional seat.

But an increase of nearly 30,000 in voter registrations could mean an increase in Democratic voting strength in the district.

It's going to nip into the Fleming family funds. His wife, says Fleming, "took some extra money down to the Michigan Education Association meeting in Grand Rapids to do some shopping for the trip."

Rocky Recalls Tight GOP Convention

NEW YORK (U)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller made a new reference Monday to "control" of the Republican national convention that nominated Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president.

The Republican governor was on a walking tour in Manhattan in behalf of the GOP national ticket when the subject arose.

"Why aren't you running?" a woman asked him in a Broadway bakery.

"I went out and looked around, and I figured those who were going to control the convention had made up their minds already," Rockefeller replied without hesitation.

His comment came at a time when the New York Daily News poll reported that Sen. John F. Kennedy was leading Nixon in the quest for New York state's 6 electoral votes.

Businessmen Talk Markets, U.S., Politics,

DETROIT (U)—Two business leaders say the American public needs a better understanding of business in order to help the United States regain world trade leadership and that businessmen ought to take more part in politics.

Rudolph F. Banow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, made the first point and Arthur H. Moley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the second in talks here Monday.

Banow told the Economic Club of Detroit that through lack of understanding of business the public fails to see its stake in this nation's world trade. He said "the whole world" is taking markets from America.

Moley discussed the chamber's practical politics course in a talk to a Chevrolet management group of General Motors. He said the course is being taken by more than 100,000 persons in 1,300 communities.

Pat Her on the Back, Says Abby

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I rent a room to a woman whose husband is doing time. She works nights in a cafe and I will say this for her—she is decent and she is loyal to her man. There is one thing wrong with her, Abby. She talks about her husband "lark" he was away at Harvard. She is forever bragging about how "he is there only because he took the blame for somebody else" and "his term was five years but he is getting out sooner for good behavior." I know she deserves a pat on the back, but she is getting on my nerves with all her bragging. How can we quiet her down in a polite way?

ABBY

NERVES ON EDGE
DEAR NERVES: If she wants to "pat herself on the back"—let her. And add your praise. If there were more women like your roomer, there would be fewer "repeaters." A convict needs to know he has someone who loves him to come home.
DEAR ABBY: My problem is a vulgar husband. All summer he moved the lawn in his swimming trunks. His excuse was he wanted to get a tan. I said it bordered on indecency. He said he was on his own property and was breaking no laws. I asked, "What would the neighbors think if I went out in the front yard attired like that?" He replied, "They'd probably think I married you for your money." How do you top a comedian like that?

GRACE
DEAR GRACE: Why try?
DEAR ABBY: I wish to supplement your answer to "Hurt Hostess" concerning her refusal to accept a gift-wrapped can of coffee. It's time people realized that SOME folks do not always want to be on the receiving end.
 I know a few people who want to do all the giving and buying and never any taking. As a result I avoid them because they embarrass and obligate me. I can pay my own way and want to reciprocate but am deprived of this pleasure.
 Chronic givers must have some sort of inferiority complex that compels them to "buy" their way. Please pass the word on to others who insist on giving and refuse to accept.
DEAR ABBY: Is it proper, when eating in a restaurant, to ask for a paper bag to take home the meat one has not eaten?
DEAR CONSERVATIVE: It's proper, intelligent and acceptable.

Weds Diane Oakley

Takes Bride in Midland

Dr. Theodore M. Greenhoe officiated at the double-ring nuptials of Diane Oakley of Midland and Richard C. DeBerger Saturday in the chapel of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, Midland.

A church reception, with the bride's parents, the Philip S. Oakleys, as hosts followed the mid-afternoon ceremony read before a background of yellow and white carnations.

The bridegroom is the son of the Gilbert J. DeBergers of East Russell Street.

Fashioned of waltz-length white satin, the bridal gown featured a bell-shaped skirt with inverted pleats for fullness. The scoop-neck bodice was styled with three-quarter sleeves and a flat Dior bow at waistline.

Betty Oakley, her sister's honor maid, wore blue silk taffeta, and light blue whimsie. Tailsman roses were arranged in her colonial bouquet.

Lloyd Cunningham of Kalkaska served as best man for his cousin, George B. McNaney of Lincolnwood, Ill., seated the guests with the bride's brother William, junior usher.

Pink cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. Oakley's navy blue princess-line dress. Mrs. Russell pinned golden cymbidium orchids to her scoop-neck princess-style beige brocade. Her accessories were brown.

To begin the honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the new Mrs. DeBerger chose an olive green wool suit and black accessories.

The couple will live in Pontiac.

Just Can't Afford to Take Part

By EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it possible to refuse to take part in a wedding? If so, how can this be done gracefully? A girl I know, but who is not an intimate friend, is going to be married in the not-too-distant future and I have heard indirectly that she is planning to ask me to be her maid of honor.

While I am flattered to think that she likes me well enough to want me to take part in her wedding, I do not feel that I want to go to the expense of buying bridesmaid's clothes for someone who is not an intimate friend. I would very much appreciate your help in this matter.

Answer: The only thing you can do is to let her that much as you would like to take part in her wedding, you really can't afford to buy bridesmaid's clothes at this time and regret that you have to refuse.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am confronted with the problem of how to serve dinner correctly when we have guests at table. I have no maid to help me. Each place at table is set with a dinner plate and I would like to know how the meat, which my husband carves and serves at the table, is put on these plates.

Does each guest pass his, or her, plate to him so that he may put the meat on it? This seems rather awkward to me.

Answer: Instead of setting your table with a dinner plate at each place, put them in a pile on the table on the left of your husband who puts a piece of meat on each plate and then—hands, or passes, it to the person for whom it is intended, starting with the lady on the right.

Married in Candlelight at Presbyterian Church

MRS. D. P. FITZPATRICK

After candlelight nuptials Friday evening in United Presbyterian Church, Auburn Heights, the Daniel P. Fitzpatricks left for a honeymoon in Southern Michigan.

The Rev. William Palmer performed the ceremony against a background of white roses, snapdragons and chrysanthemums.

The former Anna Lee Jones is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Jones of Greenville, Ohio, and James Jones of Gladstone Place.

LACE OVER TAFFETA

Fashioned of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, the bridal gown fell into a chapel sweep train.

Seed pearls and iridescent sequins accented the scalloped neckline of the fitted bodice, styled with long sleeves.

Wearing a fingertip veil of silk illusion caught by a crown of pearls and rhinestones, the bride held a cascade of stephanotis and ivy centered by a white orchid.

Tangerine carnations, arranged in a cascade, complemented champagne silk brocade for Mrs. Carl Pike of Rochester, the bride's attendant.

On the square side were Carl Pike, best man, and ushers James Hulen and John Rathka Jr., both of Auburn Heights.

TANGIERINE CARNATIONS

Tangerine carnations, accented Mrs. Jones' two-piece ensemble of navy wool gabardine for her daughter's wedding and church reception.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick chose moss green lace over taffeta, beige accessories and a shoulder corsage of tangerine carnations.

Start Diet Today

(NEA) — If you need to shed a few pounds, start your diet today. Don't tell all of your friends that you're beginning a diet next week. You won't. Start with the next meal and don't talk to anybody about it. Your friends may pretend to be interested but honestly, they won't be.

Have You Tried This?

Dip French Fried Twists Into Sugar When Cool

By JANET ODELL
 Pontiac Press Home Editor
 Today's recipe has several versions. This is the first one we have seen that uses evaporated milk which makes it more economical. The recipe makes a lot of twists and may be just the thing you are looking for for a Halloween party.

Mrs. Richard O'Connor is one of the most charming and efficient young homemakers we know. The mother of five youngsters, she manages to participate in a few outside activities. She belongs to St. Gerard's guild. Sewing is one of her hobbies.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 3

Cup cue from a clever mother: "Weaning Jeanie was quite easy, because I let her play with a small-mus-type cup long before she knew what it was for. This gave her a chance to get acquainted with the strange object. At first she fingered it and peered into it. After a week I put a bit of milk into it. She tried to get at it with her fingers. No luck and she finally spilled it out. Next day I tried another bit of milk and showed her how to lift the cup. She drank the milk without ado... the cup had become an old friend."

Little appetites have their ups and downs, even as yours and mine. The 3 best antidotes I know for a lagging appetite: (1) Offer food without urging. (2) Serve small portions of favorite foods. (3) Rotate colors and kinds of food.

Little appetites usually rise "in shoe when the menu features one of the tasty Gerber High Meat Dinners. Especially savory because they combine lots of juicy meat with garden-plot vegetables.

Exceptionally bright flavor and a generous assortment of nutrients, including body-building protein, blood-building iron and vitamin, an important B-vitamin for baby's general well-being. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Weber-Catlin Nuptials Read in Milford Church

Against a background of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, Lois Marie Catlin of Milford pledged vows to James C. Weber before the Rev. Howard Short, Saturday evening in Milford Methodist Church.

A cascade bouquet of white roses complemented the four-length bridal gown of white Chantilly-type lace over net and tulle for the daughter of the Chester J. Catlins of Milford.

The softly-molded bodice was designed with scoop neckline and sheer pearl applique, and three-quarter length sleeves. Fingert veil fell from a pearl tiara.

Maid of honor JoAnn Reynolds of Highland, in waltz-length gold tulle, carried white carnations and Mary Jefferies, Carmen Weber and Velma Catlin, sisters of the couple, in emerald green satin, held white carnations and pink roses.

Son of the James C. Webers of Monticello Avenue, the bridegroom had Norman Smith for best man.

Donald Lee, Richard Rinn, Michael Cadwallader, of Pontiac, and Frederick Dymond of Brighton, seated some 150 guests.

MRS. JAMES C. WEBER

After the church reception, the new Mrs. Weber donned a gray wool sheath for the honeymoon in Northern Michigan. The couple will live in Milford.

Pink-roseade complemented Mrs. Catlin's sheath dress of navy blue silk crepe. Wearing Copenhagen blue Chantilly lace over white, Mrs. Weber chose a corsage of bronze and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Soprano Scores for Musicale

Phyllis Smith Wins High Praise From Recital Audience

By ETHEL FORMAN

A large and appreciative audience heard soprano Phyllis Smith in a benefit scholarship recital Sunday evening.

Sponsored by Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, the concert was heard at Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

Progressing through compositions by Gluck, Scarlatti and Puccini to selections from "Porgy and Bess" and sweetly sung spirituals, Miss Smith's performance displayed a poise and grace rare in one so young.

A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, Miss Smith has studied the past three years at the New England Conservatory and Boston University.

FINANIST ENKELS
Sharing the limelight with the singer was young and talented pianist Deanna Relyea who provided excellent support and sympathetic accompaniment.

Miss Relyea, often heard in duet piano concerts, with her brother Gary, is a pupil of Mark Wesel.

Miss Smith's voice, though never her big nor brilliant, showed excellent training and fine musicianship.

In the Scarlatti "Se Flindoro e fedele," her voice completely captured the feeling of lightness essential to this solo.

In a group of songs that followed, a variety of moods was displayed. Harry's "Lullabye" and Moore's "Now May There Be a Blessing" showed Miss Smith's excellent breath control.

Selections from "Madame Butterfly" which closed the first half of the program were beautifully sung and displayed a sensitive insight into the emotional depth of this opera.

TENOR ASSISTERS
It was in the second portion of the program, in the spirituals and selections from "Porgy and Bess," that Miss Smith completely captivated her audience.

With tenor John Leonard providing wonderful assistance, Miss Smith opened this portion with "Bess, You Is My Woman Now."

In this and other numbers from the familiar opera and the four spirituals arranged by Roland Hayes, Miss Smith's voice was so warm and pleasing that her enthusiastic audience demanded three encores.

The final encore, "Singing Low, Sweet Charlie," was delivered with haunting quality, a capella.

Broomfield, Kellis in Hot Race for Congress

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL, JR.

The challenger is just as sure that it's about time a Democrat represented Oakland County in Congress as the challenged incumbent is that he should be given another two years.

Holding these diversified views, as one of the sharpest contests for the 18th congressional district seat in years moves toward the day of decision, are challenger James G. Kellis, Democrat, and Rep. William S. Broomfield, Republican.

Broomfield, 38, has represented Michigan's only District which consists of a single county since 1956, about the same time Kellis was closing out a long governmental and military service career in intelligence.

The challenger's home is Berkley while the challenged calls Royal Oak his home when he's not in Washington.

The 43-year-old Kellis, an immigrant from Greece at 16, stands to be the big beneficiary of a revolutionized Democratic party in the county. This concerted effort at home will not be enough, Kellis frankly admits. He sees his opportunity of winning Broomfield's seat heavily dependent upon Sen. John F. Kennedy taking the White House.

His Democratic backers point hopefully to Broomfield's 10,574 vote plurality over his 1958 challenger, Leslie H. Hudson, in saying this is the year. Kellis predicts a victory for himself by from 5,000 to 10,000 votes.

In his first presidential election vote-pulling contest, Broomfield in 1956 won the seat over his Democratic opponent, Paul Sutton, by a 33,469 vote margin — 141,668 to 107,699.

Just as Democrats sense a change, Republicans are pretty sure — but not overconfidently so — that Oakland County will remain theirs. Before Broomfield, Republican George A. Dondero held the seat for 24 years.

Broomfield is running hard — but not scared, he insists — so as not to disappoint his party's faithful. Since the historic bobtail session of Congress ended in August, he's been scurrying between hundreds of coffee hours, playing host in his mobile trailer campaign office, and putting in many guest appearances from dawn until midnight.

Kellis, who survived the primary runoff with five other candidates, including several seasoned campaigners, to win the Democratic nomination Aug. 2, isn't to be outdone. He's out making the circuit, too. However, he hasn't been able to cross paths with his opponent long enough to set Broomfield on a face-to-face debate like those between Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Broomfield's reluctance to accept several such debate challenges, Kellis says, is because he is "deficient" on many issues. Kellis is anxious just to discuss, particularly foreign policy and the country's alleged intelligence failures.

Broomfield answers that he's satisfied to let his record stand for itself.

NEW TO POLITICS

For a political neophyte, who didn't toss his hat into the ring until 73 days before the primary, Kellis is campaigning like a seasoned veteran.

The father of three daughters, Broomfield has made a steady climb in position since he first was elected to represent the county's 17th Legislative District in Lansing in 1948. During his six years in this capacity he served as speaker pro-tempore of the House — the youngest in its history — for the last two years.

He moved over to the State Senate in 1954, declining a chance for re-election in 1956 to seek his present job which opened with Dondero's retirement.

Many see Broomfield's climb as not stopping in the House.

Kellis naturally has other plans for Broomfield. He hopes to stop the ascension where it is now.

The Democratic challenger is as new to politics as he was a veteran Air Force officer. Enlisting as a private in 1936, Kellis left the service in May of this year as a colonel. He was 28 when he was made lieutenant colonel.

He served behind enemy lines in the Balkans and China with the Office of Strategic Services and later was with the Central Intelligence Agency, which succeeded the OSS in 1947. In Washington he served as acting chief of operations for Allen Dulles' CIA.

He's taken a leave from his post-service position as political science instructor at the University of Detroit, where he served as commandant of the ROTC for four years before his discharge.

Kellis has two boys.

In most of his campaigning around the county — from union shops to neighborhood get-togethers — Kellis has concentrated on the subject he knows best — the nation's intelligence and security. He has urged that Dulles be replaced as director of the CIA.

Should Kennedy win the election — and Kellis has to Broomfield the ex-colonel might be a likely replacement himself. The soft-spoken candidate has said, however, he wouldn't take the job.

He surprised many by suggesting a Republican friend of his, Charles Brown, who served with him in the OSS and CIA.

Broomfield and Kellis agree on one point — the number one issue confronting America is peace and how to maintain it. Both disagree strongly, however, on the current status of where the United States stands today on this crucial issue.

The prime issues of peace, justice, freedom and prosperity

certainly will continue to be important," Broomfield said. "We should continue our present policy of peace through strength, maintain an adequate, balanced defense not dependent upon one mode or method and continue our search for a means of effective world disarmament and easing of world tensions."

Kellis said: "I stand for a more positive foreign policy rather than one that has been based on too much reaction to Soviet initiative, in other words, a defensive policy on our part."

ADDITIONAL MISTAKES

The "one man personal diplomacy" of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles died with him, Kellis said. "And this led to additional mistakes, noncoordinated policy and finally no policy at all," he added.

Other service connected posts held by Kellis including being deputy director of intelligence and plans for NATO and director of the organization's atomic and missile school.

Broomfield has been stamping the county saying the burden of paying for the Democratic platform of Sen. Kennedy would fall on the federal government in almost all instances. And taxpayers would be asked for more, he said.

He's also for a faster cutback in farm subsidies than advocated under Vice President Richard M. Nixon's program.

Broomfield might have made a big step toward possible service (if re-elected) on the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House when in Europe he joined other lawmakers from around the country on a tour of NATO bases in Europe. He said he found America's prestige abroad high. Kellis and his party say otherwise.

During this presidential year campaigning, Broomfield, an insurance salesman before he entered politics 12 years ago, has received a helping hand from vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot

Lodge's visit to the county yesterday and the visit earlier from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Kellis was side-by-side with Kennedy during his Labor Day talk in Pontiac.

The man who urged him to enter politics came to Oakland County recently to help Kellis. He was Minnesota Congressman John A. Blatnik, who Kellis met in the OSS. Blatnik knows Broomfield, too. He served with him on the House Public Works Committee.

Kellis has the support of the AFL-CIO, while his opponent has another union — Teamsters — training all guns on him because Broomfield voted for the labor reform Landrum-Griffin bill.

Kellis, however, has sounded an emphatic "no" to offers from Jimmy Hoffa's union to help him defeat Broomfield for the $22,500-a-year job.

Since his arrival in the Capitol dome Broomfield has opposed pork-barrel public works measures which, he says, for the most part are merely to put another feather in a politician's cap.

He has also fought against increased federal control and spending. Kellis, however, has sounded an emphatic "no" to offers from Jimmy Hoffa's union to help him defeat Broomfield for the $22,500-a-year job.

BLAME DEM CONGRESS

Broomfield, a native of Royal Oak, refers his opponent to the Democratic majority of Congress when Kellis says he has been able to pass but one bill in his four years in Congress. Right off the bat Broomfield cites one of his latest measures, that one for the disclosure of congressional expense accounts.

Broomfield is an Eisenhower Republican, having supported the President in the great majority of his legislation.

Replying again to Kellis, he cites his efforts for new post offices in the county, and funds for urban renewal and airport construction.

Political observers view the 18th District as being marginal this year. It can go either way, they say. Both Broomfield and Kellis don't have to be told this.

Both are campaigning down to the wire for that winning margin.

State Senate Race Parallels the Campaign for Governor

Michigan's fiscal condition and economic climate are getting a thorough airing by Democrat S. Jerome Bronson and Republican Rep. Farrell E. Roberts in their campaign for Oakland County's 12th District seat in the State Senate.

The contest closely parallels that being waged by gubernatorial candidates Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson and Paul D. Hagwell.

Michigan, Bronson claims, has been harmed by what he calls "Republican obstructionism and slanders."

Rep. Roberts, on the other hand, reminds his opponent that it's been a Democrat — Gov. William G. O'Connell — who's held the post 12 years.

As it is being worked in to the presidential race, the question of experience enters the Bronson-Roberts contest also.

Roberts says his four years in the House of Representatives, in which he represented the heavily Republican 3rd District, will help him should he be elected to the higher chamber of the legislature.

Although he has no political experience, the 36-year-old Bronson, an attorney practicing in Oak Park, has proven in state that he can overcome some political obstacles.

In the Aug. 2 primary, Bronson was a surprise winner. "It was one of the biggest surprises of my life," over his AFL-CIO-backed opponent, former Wixom mayor Joseph T. Stadnik. Stadnik also was the "more qualified" of his Democratic opponents as rated by a controlling splinter group of the county party.

But Bronson got the most votes, more than double what Stadnik, and the other Democratic opponent Robert H. Chapin, received.

TO FOLLOW LODGE

Either Bronson or Roberts, also an attorney, will fill the position being vacated by Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, a Republican. Lodge did not seek re-election. He preferred to run for the county's new probate judgeship instead.

Roberts, 38, of 2406 Lafayette Dr., West Bloomfield Township, describes himself as a "responsible Republican," a term Hagwell had been using himself.

Bronson has labeled his opponent as an "I'm-against-almost-everything candidate, voting, Bronson said, more on the line of the conservative Republican senator than along the lines of liberal Hagwell. "I've supported Paul Hagwell since his first campaign," Roberts said.

Roberts, a commander in the Naval Reserve, was ready to wash his hands of politics earlier this year until Lodge made his judicial aspirations known. He jumped into the senate race immediately.

With his district's GOP backing, he easily won election first in 1956.

FARRELL E. ROBERTS
State Senate, Republican

and again two years ago. When he lost in Lansing Roberts shares Keego Harbor law offices with West Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dietler.

The Republican candidate received a degree from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1944 and his law degree from the University of Michigan Law School in 1948. From 1950 to 1952 he served during the Korean conflict.

JOINS PROSECUTOR

He returned from the service to join the staff of the prosecutor's office in Oakland County as an assistant.

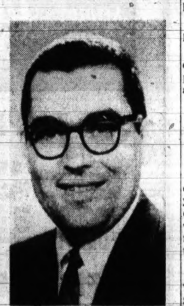

During the past session of the legislature Roberts was chairman of the House Labor Committee, vice chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and a member of the committee on revision of the Constitution and marine affairs.

On the constitutional convention

question, Roberts supported the proposal, put forth by the League of Women Voters and Junior Chamber of Commerce from the start.

On this subject Bronson agrees. Here is where the Democratic candidate disagrees, however, with Swainson.

"We in Michigan need a legislature which reflects the needs of people," Bronson said. "We do not have such a legislature now, nor do we have a Constitution which is modern, uncluttered and unambiguous."

S. JEROME BRONSON
State Senate, Democrat

"Being an optimist at heart, and having confidence in people, I am confident that a constitutional convention may well streamline our outmoded present Constitution."

Swainson is for constitutional revision by separate amendment, but is opposed to the convention idea.

TAKES ISSUE

Bronson, of 2450 Seneca St., Oak Park, takes issue, too, on the core question with the AFL-CIO whose council in the county has now endorsed him for election.

Bronson feels, he said, that his opponent cannot "point the finger at me as the hand-picked candidate of Solidarity House" because he only gained the backing with the elimination of the previously favored union candidate.

"This is bad government."

Roberts is favored by the Teamsters, Union Joint Council 42 in Detroit.

Saying the endorsement was unsolicited and not altogether welcome, Roberts wrote the union and explained certain stands which might possibly bring about a repudiation.

FRIENDLY CONTEST

Bronson has raised the union question very little in public appearances. He said he is waging a "friendly" contest with Roberts.

At some rallies Bronson takes on the appearance of Harry "Give 'em Hell" Truman in his loud, arm-waving denunciations of the Republican senators.

"I have never run for political office before although in prior years I was certainly on the verge of it," Bronson said. When asked what the "S" in his name stands for, Bronson jokingly says "senator."

Since his graduation from the Wayne State University Law School in 1954 Bronson has been engaged in the practice of law.

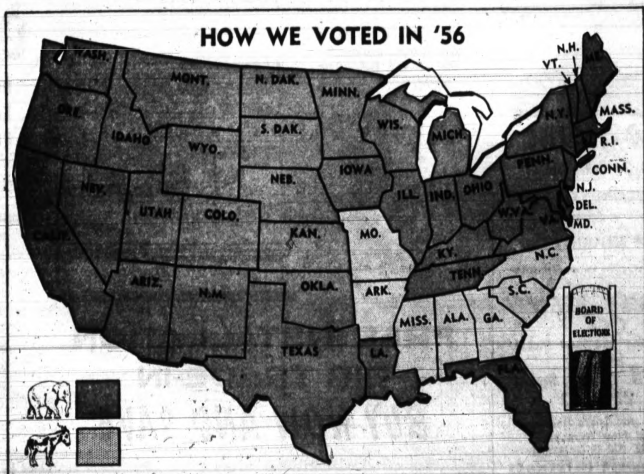

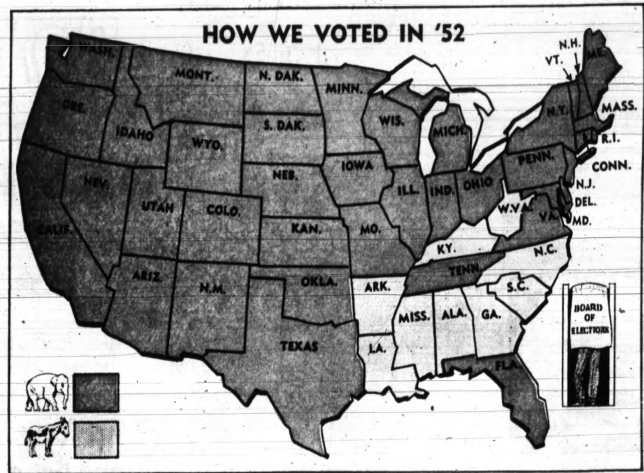

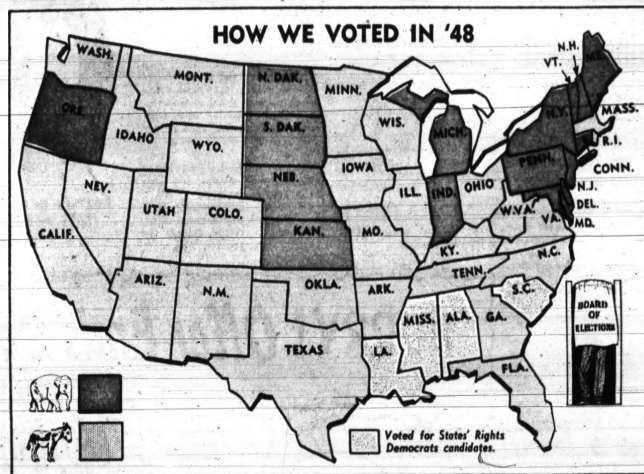

One of Roberts' campaign pledges is that a "performance audit" should be made of all state departments and agencies as a major means of achieving economy in the state government.

It is on the subject of how Michigan can dig itself out of the red ink that Bronson and Roberts follow pretty much party lines. Roberts favors the one cent sales tax increase while Bronson strongly opposes it.

With Republicans accusing Swainson of dodging whether he's for a state income tax or not, Bronson comes right out and says he's for it. He said what degree of the tax has to be left to fiscal experts.

Should a constitutional convention be approved by voters one of the changes that should be made is the elimination of restrictions on tax allocations. Roberts said. Seventy per cent of taxes are to-day allocated for specific purposes, the elimination of the previously favored union candidate.

"This is bad government."

Call Golf Simple, Easy Game

Soviets Spoof at U.S. Sport

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

This is a new Red approach to what the Soviets have long labeled the decadent game of English lords and American millionaires. It is just about as accurate as the old Commie line, which pictured golf as a "pastime in which the rich dawdle about and use child labor to carry the heavy implements."

The game has been opposed, in their era, by Lenin, Stalin, Molotov and Trotsky. By now it has been completely stamped out.

In fact, since the revolution Russia is the only civilized country in which, if the term "Golf widow" were employed, it could be literal.

Golf is such an exasperating—such a humbling game—that Americans could only hope Russians would take it up. After all, why should we suffer all this recreational agony while they live it up drinking vodka on the Volga?

But researchers for "Golf Magazine" report it's most unlikely the Soviet will take up golf in the near future. There are two basic reasons:

ARISTOCRAT'S GAME
First, the game is remembered as the pastime of the aristocrats in Czarist Russia.

There were two nine-hole courses, one in Moscow and another in St. Petersburg, private clubs for nobility only. Came the revolution and the greens became red. Only the tradition of the 19th hole remained alive.

Second, the Soviet Union likes winners. And it is the judgment of some Western athletic experts that the Soviet athlete is not naturally equipped for golf; he has poor golf hands—short, stubby fingers; he has short hands; a figure more solidly packed than a snail; a tendency to become mischievous.

"Golf" research shows that although Communist distance runners, weight lifters, wrestlers, cross country skiers and speed skaters are the world's tops—these sports depend on muscle and conditioning. In athletics requiring more technique and/or grace, such as our duellers' delight, the Soviets are below par.

Besides, the country's kids are so busy designing missiles, they don't have time to caddy.

And what self-respecting Communist would play a game where he could be caught holding the bag?

Order Bible Decision to Be Reconsidered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday ordered a Philadelphia court to reconsider a decision that reading the Bible and reciting the Lord's Prayer in Pennsylvania schools violates the U.S. Constitution.

The high court based its action on a change in the old Pennsylvania law requiring the Bible reading and prayer.

The new law, unlike the old one found illegal, provides that students at the request of their parents may be excused from participating while the Bible is being read and the Lord's Prayer recited.

The Supreme Court vacated the judgment of a special three-judge federal court in Philadelphia holding the old law unconstitutional.

The high tribunal sent the case back to that court "for such further proceedings as may be appropriate" in light of the new law.

Swainson Lead Grows in Poll

News Survey Indicates His Vote Total in State Parallels Kennedy's

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News poll said Monday Democrat John B. Swainson has widened his lead over Republican Paul D. Bagwell in the race for governor of Michigan.

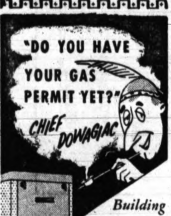

The poll said Swainson now has 54.4 per cent of the vote against 42.3 per cent for Bagwell. The Swainson percentage compared to the 53.3 per cent for Democrat John F. Kennedy in the presidential race which the poll reported Sunday.

Swainson picked up support among young voters and triumphed the Republican margin outstate since the last report of the gubernatorial poll two weeks ago. His total increase was 3.1 per cent. Bagwell lost 2.7 per cent.

All three Detroit daily newspapers—the News, Times and Free Press—now are out in support of Bagwell. The Times announced for him on Sunday and the Free Press Monday. The News gave him its support a week ago.

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass reported Monday the last two stations in the Soviet Union's Pacific Tsunami (tidal wave) warning network have been set up on the Kurile Islands. Other stations are located on Sakhalin Island and the Kamchatka Peninsula.

Tass said they will radio information to coastal cities of the Soviet Far East and all countries on the Pacific.

Perform Surgery on Youth's Eye

An emergency eye operation was performed last night on an 18-year-old Warren youth who was injured in a hunting accident yesterday in Avon Township.

A spokesman for Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, where the operation was performed, reported the condition of William Vanderhoff is satisfactory today.

The chances of saving the sight in Vanderhoff's left eye are good, he said. Final results of the operation will not be known until the bandages are removed, the hospital authority said.

Vanderhoff was hunting in a wooded area bordered by Snell and Rochester roads shortly before noon when pellets from his own gun ricocheted off a tree and lodged in his eye, according to sheriff's deputies.

He was taken to Avon Center Hospital and later sent to Henry Ford Hospital for surgery.

Market Stages Slight Recovery

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market recovered a bit in moderate trading early today.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered losers by about 2 to 1.

The opening was active and the ticker tape lagged briefly as early blocks were disposed of. Then turn-over slackened.

The list was carrying through on a recovery movement which began late Monday after the averages dipped to about the 1959 lows on an intra-day basis.

The economic news continued bad. Steel mills were reported scheduling sharp cutbacks in production.

Fractional gains among most of the leading autos, chemicals, oils, rails and electrical equipments helped keep the market narrowly on the plus side. Steels, utilities and building materials showed a tendency to sell off.

While the price of gold bull jumped in London, gold stocks were unchanged to lower.

A few stocks rebounded from sharp losses Monday. Texas Instruments recouped more than three.

Goodrich, Chrysler and Air Reduction moved about a point each. Moderates gains were made by Ford, Woolworth, Boeing, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Kennecott, U.S. Steel, General Electric, Western Pacific, Eastern Air Lines and American Tobacco.

Union Carbide and U.S. Gypsum dropped about a point each. Bethlehem eased. Slightly lower were Republic Steel, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, International Nickel and Johns-Manville.

U.S. Steel, U.S. Gypsum, Ford, Woolworth, Boeing, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Kennecott, U.S. Steel, General Electric, Western Pacific, Eastern Air Lines and American Tobacco.
