

He's Smiling but Not Talking

NIXON AND SUPPORTER — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who told newsmen it's still "too early" to talk about an announcement of his presidential candidacy despite Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's withdrawal, chats at his Washington home with a Youth for Nixon pin wearer. The supporter is Joseph Hillings, 22, of Van Nuys, Calif., younger brother of California Atty. Gen. candidate Pat Hillings.

Others Urge Anti-Nixon Drive

Press Rocky for VP Bid

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was under strong pressure today to accept the number two spot on the GOP ticket in 1960 while Democrats viewed his withdrawal from the presidential race with hopeful optimism.

Retired Federal Judge Albert Levitt, 72, of Hancock invited chairman William G. Saltonstall to join him in "another fight against Nixon."

Saltonstall, headmaster of Phillips Exeter Academy, had no immediate comment although he had expressed disappointment at Rockefeller's withdrawal.

County Political Leaders Split on Ford's Chances

Reports that a Michigan congressman's chances for the Republican vice presidential nomination improved with Nelson Rockefeller's explosive withdrawal from the top spot, brought both hot and cold reactions from Oakland County political leaders today.

Saying he would continue to "go all out" for Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids was Oakland County Congressman William S. Broomfield, who said he was the original instigator behind the "Ford-for-vice-president" move.

But Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county GOP chairman from Pleasant Ridge, was cool and noncommittal to what he thought of Ford's chances now that the New York governor suddenly pulled his hat from the presidential ring.

Elliott said he had some "private opinions" about Ford which he wished not to be printed.

On the subject of Vice President Richard Nixon, now apparently the lone GOP presidential contender, Elliott said, "It was the sentiment throughout Oakland County that a vast majority of people were strongly in favor of Mr. Nixon's candidacy."

He then generalized on the subject of who might join with Nixon on the ticket.

"It's vital to the affairs of our country that the vice president candidate should be the number two representative of his party," Elliott said. "I'm sure at the convention in Chicago Republicans will make a selection based on that premise."

On the other side of the political fence, Carlos G. Richardson, chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee, said Republicans would be wiser to come up with a ticket with Nixon "not on it at all."

BETTER CHANCE

Aggregating that Rockefeller's announcement over the weekend enhanced Ford's chances for the vice president nomination, Richardson declared Republicans would have a "stronger ticket" with Rockefeller "on top."

State Hospital Yule Drinking Party Alleged

5 Attendants Ordered Suspended Until Probe; Brutality Also Charged

Five Pontiac State Hospital attendants are charged with staging a Christmas eve all-night drinking bout that awoke a ward of mental patients.

One source accuses the revelers of brutality against one of the patients who walked in on the party in the middle of the night.

The five were suspended Friday pending an investigation which began early this morning. Their names are being withheld by hospital authorities until action is taken, probably sometime tomorrow.

A hospital official said alcoholic beverages are not allowed in the buildings or on the grounds and that no staff Christmas party was sanctioned or scheduled.

The hall where the incident took place bisects a ward of about 35 non-violent patients. They reported the behavior of the attendants, all on duty during the midnight to 8 a.m. shift, to a floor supervisor early Friday.

TELLS OF ABUSE

A source regarded as "reliable," said the five abused a patient who interrupted their activities.

According to the informant, the attendants stripped the man of his clothes, threw the garb in one can and the victim in another.

Hospital Superintendent Dr. Walter H. Obenauf denies the brutality took place. He issued this statement:

"On Christmas Eve, five attendants allegedly were drinking while on duty. During the night, one patient heard the noise and thought it was time to get up."

"He was told to undress and return to bed as it was not yet time to get up."

"The day male nursing supervisor, Wendt Robin, was advised of the infraction of hospital rules when he came on duty Friday morning by patients in the hall where the alleged drinking took place."

"Several patients complained the men were drinking and there was a lot of noise."

"These five men have been suspended. An investigation is being held and appropriate action will be taken."

Son Saves Parents, Cousin Felled by Carbon Monoxide

A Pontiac couple and their 12-year-old nephew narrowly escaped death this morning when they were apparently overcome by fumes from an improperly ventilated gas hot water heater.

They were discovered at 4:45 a.m. by the couple's 26-year-old son when he returned home after spending the evening with friends.

Rushed by firemen to Pontiac General Hospital were Jose Flores, 53, a Pontiac Motor Division factory worker; his wife, Benita, 50; and their 12-year-old nephew, Arnold Ochoa.

They were admitted for treatment of acute carbon monoxide poisoning.

All three persons are in satisfactory condition.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

The son, Jose Flores Jr., a General Motors Truck and Coach Division employee, discovered his father and cousin unconscious in the living room and his mother in the bathroom.

The elder Flores said they must have been overcome sometime shortly after midnight.

At first it was believed that the victims were overcome by fumes from a gas stove in the kitchen but a check by Consumers Power Co. workers disclosed no leaks. The stove, however, was turned on.

Firemen then traced the fumes to the hot water heater.

16th Probable for Paris Talks With Russians

President Also Plans Confab on U.S. Defense at Augusta Tuesday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that a mid-May summit conference in Paris will be satisfactory to the United States.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty mentioned May 16 as probable. But he said a definite date depends upon consultations now in progress with France and Britain.

Eisenhower's decision on mid-May was reached in a telephone conference with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington.

Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission and seven other officials are flying down from the capital Tuesday for what Hagerty called "a general discussion with the President of the international and defense field, including the nuclear program for 1960."

That was broad enough to cover talks about an expected extension of the U.S. ban on nuclear tests. This has been in effect 14 months and expires Dec. 31 unless the administration acts to retain it.

In London, Britain appeared to be swinging over to a mid-May summit meeting despite Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's reported preference for May 4.

British informants said the Western Allies probably will suggest a date — possibly May 15 or 19 — to the Soviet Union within the next 48 hours.

Macmillan, who wants the date settled finally before he leaves next week for a flying tour of Africa, had favored May 4 as the opening day of a summit meeting, responsible sources reported.

REPORT SENTIMENT

But British ambassadors in Washington and Paris — Sir Harold Caccia and Sir Gladwyn Jebb — are understood to have reported sentiment in those capitals favorable to a date in mid-May.

The Western Allies had proposed a summit conference April 27. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev countered with a suggestion of April 21 or May 4, as the Western date would conflict with the Soviet May Day celebration.

May 4 was unsatisfactory to the British because it would interfere with a British Commonwealth meeting.

Asked about reports that May 16 already has been agreed upon by the West, Hagerty said he knew nothing of that. But he said he knew of no obstacle to that date, so far as the West is concerned.

In Paris, the newspaper France-Soir said today the Western Big Three seem to have agreed to propose May 16 to the Soviet Union for the start of the Paris summit conference.

France-Soir said it had learned of the date from informed sources in Paris. Official sources here had no confirmation.

In Moscow, the leading Communist newspaper reported today that agreement to hold an East-West summit meeting next year is being viewed in the United States as victory for Soviet diplomacy.

IMMENSE SATISFACTION

Pravda said in a dispatch from New York that millions of Americans greeted with "immense satisfaction" Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Christmas Day announcement of his readiness to attend a summit meeting.

It said many American newspapers admitted, though indirectly, "that the agreement on a top-level meeting in Paris is a new victory for Soviet diplomacy which believes personal contacts between heads of government to be the best means of settling disputes."

Heart Lights Up With Age

You Are Glowing Older

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO — Birthdays truly make your heart glow. The older you get, the more your heart will actually shine or fluoresce if exposed to ultraviolet or black light.

It shines more because "age pigment" accumulates in living cells of the heart. This pigment is a strange and perhaps very significant fact in the puzzle of why and how we grow old and die.

The pigment shines with a kind of orange light when the heart is inspected with ultraviolet light.

The age pigment concentrating in human hearts, nerves, brains and muscles is being investigated for clues to aging.

NOTED IN EXHIBIT

The story is told in an exhibit today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The age pigment was first noticed many years ago. Main goals now are in trying to isolate and identify it, and determine what it means.

Where the pigment comes from and why are also still unknown. It doesn't seem to be correlated with heart failure, or any particular disease.

Farewell, Delightful Springtime

Gray skies will continue to hover over the Pontiac area although the weatherman promises more seasonal weather—late today and tomorrow.

Hazardous driving warnings were posted for northeast and northwest lower Michigan with predictions of freezing rain and sleet for the area tonight. The mercury is expected to drop to a low of 23 tonight.

Snow flurries are forecast for Tuesday with a high expected of 39.

A warm air mass pushing northward from the Gulf of Mexico had sent temperatures soaring the last few days.

Temperatures will average near the normal 26 to 34 degrees for the next five days and the normal low of 8 to 20. Precipitation will average one-tenth to six-tenths inches with occasional snow.

Easterly winds recorded at 10-20 miles this morning will shift to northeast by tonight and northeast to north Tuesday.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was recorded at 39 degrees. By 1 p.m. the mercury read 35.

Two Detroit Thefts Appear Pro Jobs

DETROIT (AP)—Two weekend burglaries in which jewels and furs valued at $25,000 were stolen gave police a theory today that a gang of skilled professional jewel thieves is operating in Detroit.

Police said about $13,000 worth of furs and jewels was stolen last night from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bankel of 1650 Normandy.

Kellner said the burglars were believed to be the same who stole $12,000 worth of jewelry at the home of Aubrey H. Ettenheimer of 4040 Outer Drive West Saturday night.

WHITLEIGH, England (UPI) — A couple who planned to give away their fourth baby so they could afford a television set have decided against it because of pressure from the neighbors.

Williams, 35, makes $21 a week as a landscape gardener.

"We have three boys," he said, "that's all we wanted. It was either keeping the baby that is coming or getting the telly. I couldn't afford both."

OPEN DOOR NOW

Republican quarters viewed the move as an open door to the White House for Nixon.

Democrats claimed Rockefeller's withdrawal boosted their chances for capturing the presidency in 1960. They said Nixon would be an easier candidate to beat than Rockefeller.

A nationwide survey by United Press International indicated Rockefeller would be under ever increasing pressure from within the Republican Party to accept the number two spot on the GOP ticket.

Michigan Economist Sees Record Production

Speaks of Full Employment During 1960

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chances are good for full-employment prosperity in 1960, a Michigan economist told the American Economic Assn. today.

Paul W. McCracken, University of Michigan economist, made the prediction in an address prepared for delivery to a joint session of the economic group and the American Statistical Assn.

These are two of the 12 organizations holding simultaneous annual meetings here at the Conference of Allied Social Science Associations. Some 7,000 economists, statisticians and others are attending.

McCracken said total production may climb to a record total of about 510 billion dollars. This would mean a gain of about 30 billion dollars over the 1959 rate and implies a drop in joblessness to about 4 per cent of labor force.

McCracken, a former member of President Eisenhower's council of economic advisers, said three threats exist to attainment of the goals. He listed them as:

1. The possibility of another long steel strike after the Taft-Hartley injunction expires late next month or a settlement generally.

2. A shortage of credit. McCracken predicted that tight money will "not seriously jeopardize the expansion," but said interest rates may go even higher.

3. An excessive rise in prices. There is a prospect of some inflation in 1960, he said, but probably not more than 2 per cent in the cost of living index.

This, the economist said, "Would not be a bad performance for the third year of a vigorous expansion."

The decade of what has been called the golden sixties will bring some additional problems along with the promise of high prosperity based on growing population and widening markets, McCracken said.

The foremost one, he indicated, is that the number of people maturing and needing jobs will increase sharply.

As against the average of about 900,000 new entrants to the labor force annually in past decade, he said, the average will be nearly 1,300,000 a year between now and 1965 and more than 1½ million annually from 1965 to 1970.

"The business outlook for the months ahead is excellent. Production is hitting peak levels in an effort to 'catch up' with a tremendous backlog of new car orders from Pontiac customers," he added.

"Rising income and employment and a high level of consumer confidence are among the guiding factors for a prosperous New Year," according to Knudsen.

"The past year, a most rewarding one for Pontiac, has seen our car forge ahead in sales to the top of the medium price field," Knudsen stated.

"Initial sales of the 1960 Pontiac constituted the best introduction period ever experienced. Barring any repetition of the recent steel shortage, deliveries of our new models should continue to increase," he said.

Surprise, Surprise— That's Key Reaction to 'Won't-Run' Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delight and dismay, depending on the political viewpoint, greeted Nelson A. Rockefeller's weekend announcement that he wouldn't be a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. But above all the reaction was surprise.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who now appears unopposed for the Republican nomination next year, kept his own counsel. He was said to be astounded by Rockefeller's Saturday announcement in Albany, and at first would not believe it.

Nixon praised Rockefeller and said he still would play a key role in the Republican Party. But he said the Rockefeller announcement would not speed up his own plans for a formal announcement on his own that he will seek the nomination. He refused to talk about possible running mates.

IKE SILENT

President Eisenhower made no comment.

A thread that ran through the comment from Republican leaders across the country was the hope that Rockefeller would reconsider and run for vice president on the Nixon ticket. But the New York governor turned that idea down.

Democratic comment generally took the line that the Republican party was in control of conservatives, that Rockefeller appeared too liberal for them.

Rockefeller's backers expressed their disappointment. New York State GOP Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said it was bad news to millions of people he said "are firmly convinced that Nelson Rockefeller can provide leadership with the vision, decision and action so essential to our nation in the fateful years ahead."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), another Rockefeller supporter, said he has "a tremendous future ahead of him" and added, "I hope that he will still see his way clear to take the vice presidential nomination, which would make a sure-winning ticket."

In this he agreed with a Nixon backer, New Jersey GOP Chairman Carl Erdman. "Our opinion polls," Erdman said, "have shown Nixon is preferred by New Jersey Republicans over Rockefeller 76 per cent to 20 per cent. Nixon for president and Rockefeller for vice president would be an absolutely unbeatable team."

Other comment:

Former Federal Judge Albert Levitt of Hancock, N.H., who started Rockefeller for president movement in New Hampshire: "The nomination of Nixon by the Republicans in July will mean a victory for the Democratic Party. Most of the voters who wanted Rockefeller will not work for the election of Nixon."

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), former Republican national chairman: "It shows the Republicans can compose their differences and move as a united party."

Rhode Island, a Republican: "I'm generally opposed to an elected official not serving out his term of office. I think Rockefeller ought to devote another three years to New York state."

Meade Alcorn, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut and former national chairman: "I predict there will be an overwhelming demand at the national convention that Rockefeller accept the vice presidential nomination."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH): "Rockefeller is to be commended for placing obligation to citizens of New York above whatever personal ambition he might have."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY): "It will be good news for all Republicans that Governor Rockefeller will continue to participate in national Republican policy development notwithstanding that he will not be a candidate."

Prince Charles Reads of Nativity, Touches Mother

WEST NEWTON, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II bowed her head with emotion Sunday night as her son and heir stood at the altar of a 15th century church and made the first official public utterance of his royal life.

The voice of 11-year-old Prince Charles was clear and composed as he read one of four lessons from the Bible at the annual service of nine carols in the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, in this village near the royal family's Sandringham estate.

While his mother, his father Prince Philip, his sister, Princess Anne, 9, and other royal relatives looked on, Charles held the Bible firmly and read the passage from St. Matthew about the coming of the Three Wise Men to Bethlehem. Queen Elizabeth, who is expecting her third child early next year, seemed close to tears as the young prince spoke.

Drunk Drivers Jailed

DETROIT (AP) — Five motorists who were convicted of drunken driving over Christmas were sentenced in Detroit traffic court Saturday to jail terms ranging from 10 to 90 days. Five others accused of drunken driving will be tried later.

Girl Survives Crash of Plane Killing 3

RUSTON, La. (AP) — Virginia Arnold, 11, was in critical condition today from injuries suffered in a plane crash that killed her parents and a brother.

The family's private plane plunged into a field Sunday near Sibley, 15 miles northeast of here, killing Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Arnold Sr. of Duncan, Okla., and their son, Robert Jr., 20.

James Dugdale, a farmer, found Virginia still strapped in her seat about 15 yards from the wreckage.

Aid Will Be Based on It

U. S. Housing Chief Calls Inter-Urban Plans Vital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal housing chief has called for intercommunity urban planning to head off a trend toward "muscle-bound metropolises with stranded suburbs, overtaxed to maintain minimum service."

Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason, in making the plea, also announced that his agency will base its aid to communities on the degree of areawide cooperation shown by the individual localities.

This policy, Mason said, "is in accord with the 1959 Housing Act which authorized 20 million dollars to help state and urban planning activities. Mason said it directs that such grants "to the maximum extent feasible, cover entire urban areas having common or related urban development problems."

How this will be implemented was explained in a separate statement by Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner David M. Waters.

He said states applying for planning assistance to smaller towns will be required to show that such planning will embrace the total urbanized area, including fringe areas and adjoining localities.

Metropolitan, state and regional planning proposals must encompass unified planning for the area involved, rather than only portions of it, Walker said.

Such planning also must cover the basic essentials for sound urban development. This includes comprehensive land use studies to guide residential, commercial and industry expansion and projections of necessary public works — such as streets, thoroughways, schools, sewer, water and recreational facilities.

Congress has allocated 20 million dollars for urban renewal planning. About nine million has been committed and appropriated. Another two million has been appropriated for the current fiscal year that started July 1. States or communities must match the federal grants.

"It is estimated that in the next decade our urban population will increase by another 30 million persons," Mason said. "Unless we prepare now to handle this influx properly, we can destroy the very benefits that urban living offers."

Mason said that properly directed urban growth can enrich the growing communities of home owners "but failure to recognize the urban challenge can undermine it."

Failure, he said, will mean "declining central areas which are the prime energy source for employment, cultural, and distribution facilities for the entire area; and with mounting municipal costs and crime and delinquency rates."

The Pacific ocean comprises about one-half of the world's water surface, is larger than the entire land surface, and covers about one-third the entire area of the globe.

Sugar Quotas Sticky Problem for Congress

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress tackles revision of the U.S. Sugar Act early next year with the big issue likely to be Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Many people in this country and in such places as Brazil, Mexico, Peru, the Dominican Republic, and the Philippines will be watching with interest and deep concern to see how the issue is met.

The Sugar Act regulates marketing quotas for domestic and foreign suppliers of sugar to the United States. This country's market is much sought after because the prices paid for sugar in the United States usually are two to three cents a pound above the world market price.

THREE QUESTIONS

The questions about Cuba really are three:

1. Should marketing quotas for foreign areas be revised because of a belief in some quarters that Prime Minister Castro's agrarian reform and other policies will wreck sugar production in Cuba?

2. Should Cuba's quota be cut, as a measure of punishing Castro? Some people consider Castro a loud-mouthed dictator who hates the United States.

3. Regardless of Castro, should marketing quotas be revised to give a better break in quotas to other countries and to best sugar producers in 22 states, and cane sugar producers in Louisiana and Florida?

There is always political pressure from domestic and foreign areas when sugar legislation is before Congress.

POLICY ASPECTS

Besides there are important foreign policy considerations for countries other than Cuba.

In 1956, for example, President Eisenhower promised the Philippine Republic, which had no increase at all in its quota that year, that it certainly would be considered when quotas are revised again.

Brazil levels its enormous trade with the United States, entitles it to a sugar marketing quota. Mexico is a nation which has shown its friendship for the United States in many ways. It wants a quota increase.

Peru also counts itself a good friend of the United States. It feels it never has had a really fair break of U.S. quotas.

The Dominican Republic calls

That Paunch Won't Keep You Warm

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you've developed a bit of padding the natural kind, around your middle, don't think that your job keeps you, out in the open and you need the fat to stay warm.

Fat isn't worth much as insulation, say Defense Department scientists who have been studying Eskimos, reindeer, seals and various Arctic animals. In a compilation of papers headed "The Polar Biography," the scientists say that:

"From observation of the native Eskimos it would appear that the thickness of subcutaneous fat varies with the excess of nutrition relation to needs for insulation." In short, if you're fat it's because you eat too much and he around too long. Such padding doesn't protect you much from the wintry blasts.

Chrysler May Pace Market

Aluminum Auto Engines by June?

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Chrysler engineers are working on a new six-cylinder aluminum engine, it is expected to be ready in time for introduction on the Valiant, Plymouth and Dodge so it could be cast of either iron or aluminum.

It hoped at first to cast this engine in aluminum for its 1960 model cars, particularly the Valiant, and could have had it ready in time for introduction on the Valiant, sources say.

But some Chrysler engineers felt it was not wise to bring out the engine on a hurry-up basis, particularly because the corporation already was making one major engineering change in its 1960 models, unitized body construction.

Many Chrysler engineers still are particularly anxious to get a jump on the rest of the industry in bringing out a water-cooled aluminum engine, however, and they are pressing for introducing it in the middle of the current model year as a running change, sources say.

CHRYSLER AHEAD

line of aluminum engines within three years.

He said he expected four of the aluminum engines to appear within the next two years and three were scheduled for introduction in 1961.

Automotive engineers, however, say Shireff is too conservative. They say Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Valiant, Plymouth, Dodge Dart and possibly Dodge will have aluminum engines on their 1961 models and every American-made car—except possibly Lark and Cadillac, will have an aluminum engine by 1962.

A spokesman for Aluminum Corporation of America (Alcoa) said his company is involved in more than 10 programs aimed at developing aluminum engines for passenger cars.

Unlike the aluminum engine on the Corvair, those planned for the future will be water-cooled in the same manner that current cast iron engines are.

Aluminum engines offer the motorist a large weight saving and greater dissipation of heat, both of which contribute to greater gasoline economy.

These attributes have led more than one auto company to try to experiment with an aluminum engine. Pierce-Arrow tried it in the 1920s, Pomeroy in 1923 and Marmon in 1930, Franklin in 1922, but none was successful.

The main problem was that aluminum was too expensive. It took new casting techniques to cut its cost. There were some problems about its strength and chemical reactions it touched off, too.

Special antifreeze had to be developed because old types reacted chemically when they came into contact with aluminum.

But both the auto and aluminum industries feel these problems have been licked now and all companies are racing full speed ahead toward aluminum engines in all types of cars.

Bob Considine Says:

Ike, Nixon Open New Frontiers

NEW YORK — This, of course, was the first year in our history that a President and a Vice President made foreign tours anywhere nearly as farflung as those undertaken by Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Nixon.

Their separate trips were of incalculable aid to the prestige and understanding of the United States. Their freedom of movement, the places they visited, the things they said, the boons they openly or tacitly promised, heralded a historic change in American foreign policy.

In hardly half a year — he died in May — the policy of John Foster Dulles was reversed to such a degree that at year's end it smacks of the policy of a secretary who might have lived and died before Pearl Harbor or Fort Sumter.

Mr. Eisenhower has delegated to Mr. Nixon more authority and more dignity of office than any president before him allowed a vice president.

He has sensibly made the vice presidency the next most important job in government, a far and useful cry from the not-too-fanciful image of the vice presidency drawn by Victor Moore as Vice President Alexander Throttlebottom.

Yet, to a reporter who covered both Nixon's trip to Russia and Poland and Eisenhower's recent one to 11 nations it was interesting to note the chasm that still divides the two posts — from the standpoint of importance.

The world bows to the president of the United States, but it feels it can still calp its veep on the back.

Nixon was literally assaulted by Khrushchev on the first day they met in Moscow. Earlier the same day he was the victim of a vicious double-cross when his efforts to help buy some tickets to the American exhibition for a group of Moscow workers boomeranged into a frontpage story in which a worker charged that he tried to demean the workers and accentuate their poverty.

FOUGHT BACK

Khrushchev was downright insulting. Only the fact that he is the ablest political scrapper that his party possesses kept Nixon from being knocked out.

Once he sensed that Khrushchev was dead serious, and was out to make him admit the fallacy of America's world posture, Nixon's head cleared and he fought back with great skill and impact.

As the vice president's trip progressed, he was systematically subjected to the best-planned worst-executed heckling I've ever seen. "Workers" approached him wherever he was led, even in the bowels of a copper mine near Sverdlovsk, and confronted him with such puzzlers as "when will your imperialistic forces be withdrawn from Germany?" — and "have your scientists any conscience about poisoning the atmosphere with strontium-90?"

Nixon would stop and with great earnestness attempt to answer carefully trained actors, or party workers, who had little knowledge of the very questions they had been trained to ask.

On the other hand, the greatest deference was shown the President as he swung through Rome, the Vatican, Ankara, Karachi, Kabul, New Delhi, Agra, Teheran, Athens, Tunis, Toulon, Paris, Madrid and Casablanca. His visits were all but visitations. It was said that his was almost a Messianic welcome.

HAD IT MADE

In truth, no Messiah ever had it made as well as Ike. He engendered downright rapture in countless millions of persons strikingly different in their ways of life. Men of impressive stature in the world — and as different in race and training and philosophy as, say, the Pope and Nehru — met the President with respect and open pleasure.

There were no taunts, no pickets, never a barbed word in an editorial. In Italy the rains and winds and erosions of nine years had failed to erase completely the blotched old wall signs reading "Eisenhower — another Keeserling" and the Communists who put those signs there when Ike was head of Shape fought now to bid him welcome.

The prospect of his being accosted by a leader who demanded explanations of U.S. policy, or of being pestered by a heckler, were unthinkable. For him to have been humiliated or threatened as Nixon was during his Latin American trip, well, that would have been many leagues beyond unthinkable.

Two trips — as different as night and day. But alike as two peas in the basic spirit that prompted them. The nation's slow awakening to the fact that it must tell its good-hearted story from the lips of its most important elected officers — not from those of career diplomats, or even a minister as sincere and dedicated as Mr. Dulles.

Father Rescues Four of Family

But Fails to Save Girl as He Uses Truck to Snatch Fire Victims

MONROE (AP) — Warren Krause backed his dump truck against his burning home in nearby Exeter Township yesterday and managed to rescue his wife and three of his children. A fourth child died in the flames.

The 36-year-old father was awakened by smoke and flames to discover the two-story house ablaze. He failed in an initial attempt to reach a second floor bedroom where his daughters, Trudy, 7, Joy, 4 and Gay, were sleeping.

Krause managed to carry a son, Ronald, 4, to safety from a living room couch where he had been sleeping, then returned to carry his wife, Eva, outside.

Krause, who is in the house wrecking business, backed his truck against the burning home, climbed atop it and smashed a window on the second floor. He crawled inside, handing down Trudy and Joy to his wife. But smoke and flames kept him from reaching the other girl.

Gay was found by firemen lying on the floor of her bedroom.

Steel, Motors Remain Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices were mixed with steels and motors firm as the stock market today began the last week of 1959.

Pivotal issues showed gains or losses going from fractions to about a point.

General Time, which soared 26 1/2 points last week, dropped about 4 on profit taking.

Ampex, still retreating from its recent strong advance, fell 5 1/2 to 100 1/2 on an opening block of 5,300 shares.

U.S. Borax, responding to news of record sales and tripled earnings over the previous fiscal year, advanced more than a point.

Fractional gains were posted for such stocks as Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Westinghouse Electric, DuPont and Eastman Kodak rose about a point each. Losses were shown by Goodyear, Caterpillar, General Dynamics, Raytheon, American Cyanamid, Loew's, Luggitt & Myers, Merck and Santa Fe.

The ticker tape was late briefly in the initial wave of transactions, then trading slackened to a moderate pace.

Tax-loss selling continued, the weekend news on steel negotiations brought no encouragement. Hope remained, however, that the market might muster enough strength for the traditional Christmas-New Year rally.

Cigarettes Had King-Sized Year

And King-Sized Brand Took Top Sales Honor for First Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's cigarette companies had a king-sized year, increasing sales to an all-time record 453 billion cigarettes and boosting a king-sized brand to the best-seller spot for the first time.

Business Week magazine's annual survey of cigarette sales showed they were up 3.8 per cent from the previous year. The magazine said it appeared the industry's prospects are "the brightest in several years."

"The cancer scare, while causing occasional ripples in the stock market, seems to have lost its deterrent effect on smoking," it said.

"Probably the biggest problem facing the industry is the profusion of sizes, shapes and varieties of brands."

The new top-selling cigarette was Pall Mall, replacing Camel, which had led sales figures for 10 years.

Pall Mall registered a 10.3 per cent increase, the magazine said. Camel also increased sales, however, for the first time in eight years, by 8 per cent, to rank as second favorite. Third through sixth places in sales stayed with the same brands as last year: Lucky Strike, which showed a decrease in sales; Winston, which showed an increase; Kent and Chesterfield, both of which showed decreases.

"The biggest gain in sales was shown by Salem, a mentholated, filtered king-size smoke, with a 38.5 per cent sales gain which jumped it from 10th to 7th place in the rating."

Business Week said all of the companies showed bigger earnings per share than the previous year, with a combined record high of 272 million dollars profits after taxes.

The magazine estimated that 33 million men smoked an average of 21 cigarettes a day and 24 million women smoked an average of 19 cigarettes a day. Gross sales were almost six billion dollars, the magazine said, or 1.75 per cent of the nation's total disposable consumer income.

Probe Synagogue Attack in Germany

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) — Police in this Rhine city sought today to determine whether the Christmas-Eve desecration of a synagogue here was part of a large-scale anti-Jewish movement.

The local leader of the German Reich Party and several other persons have been arrested in connection with the attack on the synagogue, whose walls were daubed with swastikas and the words "Jews get out."

The two chief suspects, Arnold Strunk and Paul J. Schoenen, both 25, are members of the Reich Party.

Krupp Jig Steals Chatter at Party Given by Soraya

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (UPI) — A Gypsy jig made Harold Krupp of the German industrial family the life of the party at an all-night shindig here last night by ex-Queen Soraya of Iran.

Krupp, who escorted Soraya to the party, staged a solo demonstration of the eardrums and then led others among the 14 guests in the Hungarian Gypsy dance.

The wealthy German, who appears to have displaced Italy's Ramondo Orsini in the ex-queen's affections, sat next to her and chatted animatedly through most of the evening, which ended at 2:30 a.m.

They started the dancing, but did not dance together often—or check to check.

Ford Sees Top Quarter in History

Police today delivered more new cars and trucks in the final quarter of this year than in any similar three months in division history, a Ford Motor Co. official predicted today.

J. O. Wright, company vice president and Ford Division general manager, forecast that by the end of 1959 Ford dealers will have delivered more than 1,800,000 vehicles.

He said daily sales of cars and trucks from the Oct. 8 introduction of 1960 models through the second 10 days of December have averaged 6,167 units per selling day.

Wright also predicted that the division's first quarter production schedules next year will be the highest in history and 35 per cent over the same 1959 period. He said Ford already has produced more than one-half million 1960 models, including some 93,000 Falcons.

Sheriff Said Drunk Again

LANESING (UPI) — Ingham County Prosecutor Jack Warren today was to decide whether to charge Sheriff Willard Barnes with drunk driving for the second time in three months.

The husky sheriff was stopped the day before Christmas by a state trooper near East Lansing, running his 1960 model car with a flat tire and a nearly ruined rim.

State Police Capt. Bert Yungler, commander of the East Lansing District Post, said Barnes was drunk and his condition was noted by a national guardman, East Lansing and Michigan State University police and state troopers.

Barnes was found guilty last October of drunk driving on U. S. 16 near Williamston, and his appeal of the decision is pending in Circuit Court.

Under Michigan law, a sheriff could not be arrested by anyone but a coroner, therefore state police could not arrest Barnes when they stopped him, but did ask for a warrant on the charge.

Three persons were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released yesterday morning after being injured in a two-car collision at South boulevard and Adams road, Pontiac Township.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies identified the injured as Willard Riegel, 46, and his wife Frances, 39, of Escanaba, and Addie C. Riegel, 19, of 2332 Tyler, Detroit.

The Detroit girl was a passenger in the car driven by Robert S. Dabish, 17, of 748 Lawrence, Detroit. He was not hurt. Deputies said the accident occurred in a heavy fog.
