Two Officials Back Mayor's Hospital Plan

Carry, Dugan Like Idea of More Building and Less Equipment

Unexpected support for Mayor William W. Donaldson's idea to build more hospital than would be immediately equipped was given by two previously uncommitted commissioners in a surprise move at last night's City Commission meeting.

Support was voiced by Commissioners John E. Carry and John A. Dugan and came after Donaldson "publicly exonerated" the commission at large for his suggestion and took full responsibility for the plan.

Donaldson's plan is to supplement the money voted by Pontiac property owners earlier this month for the construction of an addition to Pontiac General Hospital with voluntary contributions by "civic-minded individuals and organizations."

In a written statement to the commission, he said:

"My suggestion was not an act of subterfuge, or of breaking faith with the taxpayers. We are all determined to give the city a completed hospital with as many beds as it is possible to provide.

"It was a 'trial balloon' only in the sense that it was to test the sincerity of statements made to me regarding interest in our hospital. 'Mine was an act of omission rather than commission. When fully explained, I am sure that no one will condemn me for trying to encourage civic participation.'"

Donaldson added that several doctors and at least two corporations had indicated to him they would be more interested in donating to a hospital or something of that nature, than they would to an auditorium.

Carry was first to line up behind Donaldson at the meeting. (Commissioner Roy V. Cooley had already expressed support for the plan.)

"I wonder if Donaldson's idea wasn't best," Carry said. "They predict Pontiac's population will be 125,000 by 1970."

"I hate to think that by the time this addition was completed it would be completely filled and that we would have to sell another bond issue."

Dugan told the mayor, "Maybe you weren't so far wrong. There are plenty of people who could contribute."

Commissioner Harry W. Lutz interjected:

"You should do exactly what you let the public believe you were going to do."

"The public has been very generous... I'm not going to try to kid the public. Let's do what we said we would do."

Dugan said, "We can keep faith (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Coon Dog Quartet Singing Off Key Bothers Women

DALLAS (AP)—A quartet of women complained about a quartet of coon dogs yesterday before Peace Justice Bill Richburg's court.

One woman told Richburg about a man who kept four hounds trained to hunt raccoons.

"One howls in a bass voice," she said. "Another howls in a tenor."

"And the two others don't howl at all—they just moan," said another woman.

Rejoined the owner: "They never disturb me."

Richburg asked him to move the dogs out of town. The owner said he would.

Carry was first to line up behind Donaldson at the meeting. (Commissioner Roy V. Cooley had already expressed support for the plan.)

Dodge Recalled for Policy Post

Detroit Banker to Form
Plans for Economic Aid to Halt Red Expansion

WASHINGTON (INS)—Former budget director Joseph M. Dodge has been selected to work out a master plan of economic warfare against communism around the world.

Dodge, who was financial boss of Japan during the military occupation, had breakfast with President Eisenhower this morning. An announcement of his appointment is expected soon.

The Detroit banker, who headed the budget bureau during the first 17 months of the Eisenhower administration, is being recalled to help draft a long-range foreign economic policy for the U.S., with special emphasis on Asia.

His appointment will be the first step in the administration's effort to resolve the differences between two groups in official Washington on the problem of an economic offensive against the Reds.

The impasse pits those who advocate more aid to needy nations against financial planners who are fighting to hold down both taxes and the federal deficit.

The behind-the-scenes argument poses questions which Dodge will be called upon to untangle in the conferences with interested government agencies.

Foreign policy planners claim that sizable economic inroads have been made by the Communists in the expansion of capital production in under-developed countries by the use of slave labor.

This group contends that the Reds are expanding their productive capacity, their railroads, highways and power dams at a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Over 55,000 Attend Local Open Houses at GM Plants

More than 55,000 visitors took a close look at the industrial heart of Pontiac yesterday when the three local General Motors divisions opened their gates for the corporation's celebration of the construction of its 50 millionth vehicle.

"We have already started helping General Motors build its second 50 million cars," said Robert M. Critchfield, Pontiac Motor Division general manager.

"But all the time we're doing it, we will remember the tribute of our fine friends and neighbors who turned out 20,000 strong to help us celebrate completing the first 50,000,000."

During the 11 hours of GMC Truck and Coach's open house,

more than 25,000 people streamed through its plants.

"The tremendous response of the people of Pontiac to yesterday's Golden CARnival celebration was overwhelming," said Philip J. Monaghan, division general manager.

Monaghan said the turnout was largest one-day crowd in the division's history.

He said the attendance figures reflected "the keen spirit of teamwork and community pride" that enabled GM to produce 50,000,000 units.

At the Fisher Body division plant, 10,000 visitors watched the division's operations.

"We are gratified at the large number of people that turned out at our division and the interest showed in our operations," said Marvin J. Olson, plant manager.

U-M Warns Students on Extending Holiday

ANN ARBOR (UP)—University of Michigan students were warned today against taking too much time for Thanksgiving this year or they may have less to be thankful for in the future.

The university has been trying out a four-day Thanksgiving holiday for students since 1952. However, university officials said they would discontinue the policy if too many students cut classes Wednesday, the day before the holiday begins, or Monday, the day after it ends.

Ike's New Plane Set for Holiday

Montgomery Will Fly to Georgia With Family for Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flies today in his new Super Constellation to a Thanksgiving weekend vacation at the Little White House on the National Golf Club links at Augusta, Ga.

The President has not yet flown in the bigger, faster and longer-flying Columbine III, which was to be christened by Mrs. Eisenhower just before the takeoff. She and the President's World War II comrade, Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, planned to accompany Eisenhower.

At the gleaming white, two-story frame house on the Georgia golf course, the President will get some rest, do a little work, eat turkey dinner tomorrow, and play plenty of golf and bridge. Montgomery is not a golfer but reportedly is a sharp bridge player.

Eisenhower planned to fly back to Washington Monday morning. Montgomery, now deputy commander of allied forces in Europe, will leave Augusta Friday or Saturday.

The three-tailed, arch-backed new Super Constellation has a range of 4,000 miles and a top speed of 370 m.p.h.

The President's stateroom can be used as an office by day and bedroom by night. It includes a walnut conference table and small work desk, plush gray-green swivel chairs and couches, medium green carpeting and light green wall fabrics. There are two mid-cabin sections for White House aides, and a small galley.

Korean Election Now Top Issue on U.N. Agenda

East, West Both Offer
Plans for Unification of Divided Country

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia and the Western Powers took advantage of a lull in East-West debate in the United Nations today to marshal their arguments on the stormy Korean issue.

The Assembly's chief Political Committee, now occupied with the Indonesian-Dutch dispute over West New Guinea, hopes to turn late this week to the rival plans for unifying Korea. The West and the Communists last deadlocked on the issue at the Geneva political conference in June.

Because of Russia's new policy of trying to win friends in the U.N., delegates speculated that the Soviets might come up with a plan to break the stalemate over supervision of all-Korean elections.

South Korea and her U.N. allies already were reported at odds over a Western compromise plan to settle the election question which torpedoed the Korean phase of the Geneva talks.

South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang has protested that the new proposal, reportedly advanced by Britain and Canada and agreed to by the 13 other U.N. allies, represents a drastic change in position which would take the Korean problem out of the U.N.'s hands.

These sources said it would set up a supervisory commission, similar to the one created in Indonesia, consisting of South Korea, a Communist nation and a neutral.

South Korean President Syngman Rhee has said flatly his people want "no foreign government or foreign nationals" involved in the election. South Korea's Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun is due here soon to take part in the Korean debate.

Western diplomats speculated whether Andrei Vishinsky's death would mean any change in Russia's position on Korea. Ambassador Jacob Malik, who has been named to head the Soviet delegation temporarily, has never been noted for his Western leanings. But Arkady Sobolev, No. 2 man on the Soviet delegation and believed by some observers slated to eventually inherit Vishinsky's chair, has maintained better relations with Western diplomats than any other high Soviet delegate.

31 Children Injured in Schoolbus Crash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thirty-one school children were injured, at least five seriously, when a school bus crashed into a tree here yesterday. The driver said the accident happened when he tried to prevent three musical instruments from sliding against the steering wheel. He was treated for shock.

Driver Harold C. Fetter, 33, was quoted by police as saying the bus went out of control when he reached for the instruments and swerved off the road. The bus was filled, carrying an estimated 60 youngsters.

The bus was returning students from Marion-Franklin High School, south of here, to their homes.

Snowy and Cold Holiday Is Seen for Pontiac Area

Thanksgiving will be a cold, snowy one this year, with a forecast for cloudy skies and snow flurries tonight and tomorrow.

The low tonight will be 31 to 35 with a high tomorrow near 40, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

In downtown Pontiac yesterday temperatures ranged from a freezing 27 to a high of 40. Rainfall totaled .11 of an inch.

Today at 8 a.m. the mercury stood at 36 degrees. At about 9:30 snow flurries brought the temperature down to 34, hitting 36 at 2 p.m.

Manhole Covers Fly in Explosion

Leaking Gasoline at GM
Truck Plant One Cause of Blast, Fire

An explosion believed triggered by an electrical equipment spark at General Motors Truck and Coach Plant 1 this morning sent at least a dozen manhole covers flying as far as 100 feet.

No one was reported injured in the blast and fire which spread from the plant basement to outlying sewer lines on three bordering streets.

Capt. Sidney Owen, of the Pontiac Fire Department, said the 9:30 explosion and fire apparently was fed by gasoline leaking from a storage tank in the plant yard. Although the blast and flames caused damage to the inside of sewer lines and plant equipment, the fire was confined to the basement and sewer tunnels.

One of the heavy covers, weighing about 100 pounds, was reportedly blown to bits. Jagged, four-inch chunks were found as far as 50 feet away from the nearest hole.

Others covers were found from 100 to eight feet from holes on Rapid, Franklin and Bagley Sts., Owen said.

He said the spark apparently came from an automatic electrical pump motor located in the basement.

Operations at the plant, employing about 500 machine shop workers, was suspended about an hour, plant protection spokesmen said.

Thirty firemen, using two pumper trucks, battled the flames for about an hour. All the sewer lines were flushed.

Plant and city officials said a damage estimate has not been compiled.

Viennese Women Prefer Husbands Who Work Well

VIENNA (AP)—Vienna women still demand old world chivalry from their husbands. But most Viennese wives would rather have men who do their jobs well.

A public opinion institute asked Vienna wives what makes a "perfect husband." Listing various characteristics, 2,500 wives mostly agreed he could smoke and drink as long as he was a good worker and a true lover.

Here are some of the qualities the women listed as essential, in order of importance:

Efficiency in his job, faithfulness, being a good provider, kindness, having a sense of humor, intelligence, chivalry, wit, elegance, strength, on the wagon, a nonsmoker.

Strong Protest to Be Sent Reds Via Switzerland

11 Airmen, 2 Civilians
Captured in War, Held on Spy Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced last night it will lodge "the strongest possible protest" against Chinese Communist prison sentences given to 13 Americans who dropped out of sight during the Korean War.

"Utterly false," the State Department said of spying charges which Peiping gave as the basis for prison terms ranging from four years to life.

"The U.S. government will continue to make every effort to effect the release of these men who have been unjustly 'sentenced' to further periods of imprisonment," the department said.

The sentences by a Red Chinese military court, announced by the Peiping radio yesterday, were labeled by the State Department as "further proof of the Chinese Communist regime's disregard for accepted practices of international conduct."

In a separate statement, the Defense Department said the action "illustrates again the bad faith, insincerity and amorality which have characterized" Red China's conduct of its international relations.

It said, "The Chinese Communists... are holding the American servicemen as political prisoners in violation of international law, the rules of war and the Korean armistice agreement."

The State Department said the U.S. consul general at Geneva, Franklin C. Gowen, "is being instructed to emphatically protest... the continued wrongful detention of these American citizens." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

State Funeral Awaits Diplomat

Burial in Red Square
Planned for Vishinsky;
Body En Route Home

MOSCOW (AP)—The body of Andrei Vishinsky was flown home today as the Soviet government announced it would give a state funeral in Red Square to the late deputy foreign minister and chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

Informed sources said the announcement of the state funeral meant Vishinsky, who died in New York Monday after a heart attack, would be buried alongside other Communist notables in the Kremlin wall, behind the Lenin-Stalin Tomb in Red Square.

The chartered four-engine Stratocruiser carrying the huge copper casket from New York landed at Paris shortly before noon. Plans called for the body to be transferred to a Soviet plane for the rest of the journey to Moscow.

Accompanying the body home were Vishinsky's widow Kapitolina; the couple's daughter Zinaida; Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to the United States; and six other members of the Soviet representation in the United States.

Meanwhile, Jacob Malik, Soviet ambassador to Britain, left London by plane last night for New York to replace Vishinsky temporarily as head of the Soviet U.N. delegation. There has been no announcement of Vishinsky's permanent successor.

Annual Christmas Parade Will Be Held Here Dec. 4

The annual Pontiac Christmas Parade sponsored by the Retail Merchants Assn. will be held here Dec. 4 at 9:30 a. m. with 37 colorful floats expected to take part.

John A. Riley will be parade marshal. With seven bands participating, the parade shapes up as the largest to date with religious floats portraying Biblical Christmas scenes.

"In addition, there will be a spectacular toyland float section in which local schools will develop various themes that have particular appeal for the youngsters," said John W. Hirlinger, parade executive director.

"The appearance of Santa Claus with live reindeer will highlight the program," Hirlinger added.

High school bands are scheduled to take part from Pontiac, Lake Orion, Waterford, Oxford, Walled Lake and Avondale. Another band will be formed by combining the three Pontiac junior high groups.

The parade will start at S. Saginaw and Turk Sts., proceed north on Saginaw to Oakland avenue and down Oakland to Sanderson avenue where it will break up.

"It should be the largest and most colorful undertaking of this nature our city has ever witnessed," said Hirlinger.

Upswinging Business, Political 'Peace' Make Thanksgiving '54 Happier Than '53

NEW YORK (AP)—You can find plenty to be thankful for tomorrow. Whether you're a businessman or an employee, and no matter what your personal and individual problems may be, collectively this is a happier Thanksgiving than last.

Count up your blessings and see if some of the following couldn't be added when you gather at the feast:

The U. S. Senate is in recess. Peace, it is wonderful.

A milk-swilling French premier has been in our midst, bestowing priceless free advertising on the dairy industry—which has been having troubles with some of its products, both politically and consumer-wise.

Food prices—especially on the items particularly associated with the holiday—are lower this year. There is every indication that Americans will stuff themselves with more and higher quality food this year than ever before.

Prices in general aren't taking the toll of the pocket-book they once did. Price concessions are numerous, if unpublishized.

The recession has hit much less drastically at most of the country than you expected last Thanksgiving.

In the areas where the recession was concentrated, causing unemployment and sagging retail sales, there's every sign today that it in turn is receding.

Idled workers are punching timeclocks again, weekly paychecks are fatter as work weeks lengthen, fewer persons are applying for unemployment insurance benefits, and so store sales are reviving.

There are signs that the fall pickup is a little better than just seasonal. Industrial production in November, while below a year ago, is showing slightly better than average gains over October and September.

Inventories, subject of drastic shrinkage attempts during the past year, are beginning to be built up again. As a result, order books are filling up and that means jobs for some time to come.

"Peaceful coexistence" is much in the air this Thanksgiving—between the Americans and the Russians, between the Republicans and the Democrats.

Whether it will stick, when the international and congressional chips are down, is another matter. But "peaceful coexistence" is a nice change, even if only in jargon, and one to be remembered when you give thanks tomorrow.

The Day in Birmingham

Planning Board Discusses Basic Policies, Objectives

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—Planning board members took time out from a committee session last night to discuss off-street parking needs with Harry Hirsch, builder, in connection with his proposed business development for the southeast corner of Maple and Cranbrook.

Since his original plans make no allowance for parking, Hirsch agreed to re-work them before seeking final approval.

Then the board settled down to the task of discussing for the second time in about a year an outline of basic policies and objectives of the planning program.

Holiday Drivers Issued Warning

Local Police Will Jail Reckless Motorists Over Thanksgiving

Holiday motorists traveling extensive distances to enjoy the Thanksgiving week end were cautioned today by authorities about possible road hazards and heavy traffic.

Due to rain and snow and possible freezing, Pontiac Police, Oakland County Sheriff's Dept., and State police said driving conditions may make motoring difficult especially on highways.

The three law enforcement agencies said they will jail all drivers found to be operating their autos in a reckless manner or under the influence of liquor.

Although heavy traffic isn't expected in the city, officials fear heavy congestion of traffic passing through Pontiac.

Lt. Joseph Koren, head of the traffic and accident bureau, said that previous Thanksgiving accidents in Pontiac have been minor, and "we hope that drivers will turn up another safe holiday period."

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell warned motorists about driving on county roads, saying that last night's rain which may possibly freeze over before the weekend is over.

He urged holiday motorists to start back early on the return trips before nightfall and allow enough time to avoid speeding.

State police warned all motorists taking chances on highways and speeding to get to their destination in a hurry.

much faster rate than the free world.

If the free nations fail to help underdeveloped Asiatic nations keep pace with this expansion, they say, India, Burma, Indonesia and some of the Arab and Moslem states may be induced in five or ten years to accept Communist tyranny.

This group says that capital is needed for the development of countries with marginal or sub-marginal economies.

The argument is that investments which will be repaid do not actually increase the national debt or the budget deficit.

Financial planners, however, have their eyes on the state of the nation's economic health. In view of the red ink items, they are reluctant to okay huge sums, even if investments are repaid over a period of years.

LANSING (UP)—State Treasurer D. Hale Brake left it up to Gov. Williams today to decide whether he should sell the $80 million dollar Korean veterans' bonus bond issue or leave it to the incoming Democratic administration.

City Planning Director Robert S. Boatman said members hope to pursue the ultimate goals of the board, until a complete report is formed.

A joint meeting with the city commission will then be scheduled. While the outline includes planning for residential and business areas, street systems, parks, zoning a financial program and other aspects, Boatman said the board concentrated on residential planning last night.

As of this afternoon some 7,600 students in the Birmingham public school district are enjoying a long holiday weekend. Classes ended at the usual hour today and will resume Monday morning.

The steadily increasing enrollment figure was given out last week by Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland and does not include some 300 pupils at Our Lady Queen of Martyrs, or a capacity enrollment of 675 at Holy Name School.

A Thanksgiving Day service will be held at 9 a.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church with the Rev. Theodore Wuggazer using as his sermon topic, "Say So." The three choirs will participate, with both the choir and congregation closing the service with the singing of "America, the Beautiful."

Gathering at 8 tonight at the Community House, Rebekahs will hear reports from the district meeting held Nov. 8 in Pontiac.

A Union service, sponsored by Birmingham Council of Churches, will mark Thanksgiving Day here. The Congregational Church will host the service at 9 a.m. with the Rev. Robert S. Graham, of the First Presbyterian Church, as guest preacher.

Orders for wreaths and bulbs will be taken soon by the local Kanabans H.Y. Club. Proceeds will be used toward the program of the group, active in school services, YMCA World Service and other community activities.

A 9 a.m. Holy Communion Thanksgiving service will be held tomorrow at St. James Episcopal Church.

Postponed two weeks was a hearing held by the City Commission this week to rezone a portion of the lots behind the proposed store development of Albert Nelson, at the northwest corner of 14th and Southfield roads.

The zoning change was from single family residence to parking district classification.

Under the city charter if 20 per cent of the abutting property owners file written objections, re-zoning approval must be given by three-fourths of the commission.

Only five of seven possible votes were cast and written objections had been received.

Mayor Charles Renfrew also asked that other property owners attending the hearing send in written opinions on the re-zoning proposal.

Hospital Group Elects Officers Here Yesterday

Eastern Michigan chapter of the American Association of Hospital Accountants, with 35 hospitals represented, met at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital yesterday for its annual election and Thanksgiving dinner.

As a project for 1952, the chapter will try to start a student training program for hospital offices.

Officers elected for the coming year included Richard Westhoven of Detroit Memorial Hospital, president; Harold Craig of Herman Keeler Hospital, Detroit, vice-president; Alvin Pearson of Harper Hospital, Detroit, secretary-treasurer; Philip Cummins of Williams Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, and Sister Jane DeChantal of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, new directors.

Panel speakers at the dinner were Harold Craig, discussion leader, and Al Plotkin, Clarence A. Brinkman and Richard Westhoven. Their subject was "Food Cost Accounting."

Next meeting of the chapter will be Jan. 25.

No Poison Seen in Beach's Body

Autopsy Fails to Back Relative's Claim; More Tests Will Be Made

CHARLOTTE (AP)—State Pathologist Dr. Charles Black of Lansing, who performed an autopsy on the exhumed body of wealthy Michigan philanthropist Fitch H. Beach, said yesterday he saw no evidence of poisoning in the incomplete examination.

A death certificate signed after Beach's death in April of 1952 gave the cause of death as cancer of the prostate gland.

Beach's body was exhumed and the post mortem performed on the order of Municipal Judge Angus MacLeod following the petition of Fred Beach of Chicago, a first cousin, who said he had "reason to believe" the industrialist had been poisoned.

Fred Beach had been disinherited in his cousin's will, which left $500,000 to Mr. and Mrs. John Beatty of Charlotte.

Mrs. Beatty, a niece of Fitch Beach, and her husband came to Charlotte from Indianapolis to attend her uncle in his last illness.

Further examination of evidence of possible poisoning was expected to take at least 10 days. The tests will include microscopic examinations and chemical analysis of specimens of vital organs.

Physicians said laboratory tests would uncover most cases of poisoning but there is a possibility that some cases might go undetected this long after death.

Two Commissioners Back Mayor's Plan

with the public by maintaining the tax rate at $13.80.

Cooley said: "Talk about keeping faith with the people: Conditions may change. We've got to let the people know what the conditions are at the hospital. We should keep faith that way."

Commissioner Harcourt S. Patterson said:

"Maybe I missed the point. But we were given a mandate to build and equip a complete hospital addition—not one-half or one-third of one."

Specifically, under Donaldson's plan, the $3,000,000 approved for the hospital would be used to provide more space than equipment.

Instead of having a hospital addition capable of housing a limit of 150 beds and setting up the 150 beds and other necessary equipment, perhaps only 75 beds would be set up in a building eventually capable of handling 200 or 250 beds.

The hospital board of trustees has gone on record as opposing Donaldson's plan.

Donaldson would up the discussion by pointing out that some decision should be made by the time the revised hospital plans are drawn up several months hence.

"Perhaps in the meantime, some people will come forward," the mayor said.

Just Peanuts to Court but Feast for Monkeys
MADISON, Wis. (UP) — The monkeys at Vilas Park Zoo will have a Thanksgiving "feast" of 600 pounds of peanuts, thanks to a federal court decision.

The court ruled yesterday that the peanuts were "unfit for human consumption" and the shipment was turned over to the zoo.

Text of Curtice's Talk on 50 Millionth Car

Here is the address given by General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice yesterday when the 50 millionth GM car was produced at the Chevrolet Assembly Plant in Flint, by film and soundtrack, the talk was given also in GM plant cafeterias across the country.

The text:

Men and women of General Motors—in this plant and in all our plants all over the United States: My sincere congratulations!

You have just helped accomplish something that has never been accomplished before. This is a milestone unique in the world's industrial history.

That car is the 50 millionth car produced by General Motors in the United States since 1908. Fifty million cars are more cars than any other country or any combination of other countries has ever produced. They represent a production feat that surpasses anything ever achieved by any other industrial organization.

To me this occasion is far more significant than any anniversary—even one of 100 years, significant as that may be. An anniversary marks the passage of a certain length of time without relation to what has been done. In contrast, the production of 50 million cars and trucks has been a positive accomplishment.

It is also an accomplishment in which many people can take pride. The 50 millionth car was put together by you men. The components and parts were built in many different places by many different plants and divisions of General Motors.

The 50th millionth car happens to be a Chevrolet—but, of course, the other car, truck divisions—Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, GMC Truck—contributed their millions of cars and trucks to make this total possible. And so the workers of all those divisions had a very direct part in making General Motors' first 50 million cars.

The employees of our non-automotive divisions also made a contribution because the strength of General Motors derives in large measure from the strength of all its parts. Everyone in GM has a part in making General Motors successful, and a successful company is a good company for which to work.

I would like to pay tribute, too, to another group which made possible this momentous accomplishment. We have 21,000 suppliers who are all part of the team, together with their employees and also the firms which serve them as their suppliers. In fact, the supplier chain goes all the way back to the producers of basic raw materials from the mine, the forest and the farm.

Highly important as members of the team are our 18,000 dealers. Cars can only be produced about as fast as they are sold to customers.

Our shareholders, too, made a most vital contribution because it has been their savings and reinvested earnings that have given us our modern plants and improved tools with which we work.

Another contribution—and one that is not perhaps so obvious—has been that made by other businesses, no matter what their product, no matter where located.

It has taken the cumulative efforts of all businesses, each one adding its bit to the goods produced by others, to raise our national wealth and our national standard of living to the level where we have had a market for our 50 million General Motors cars.

It is interesting to note that almost half of those 50 million cars—almost 25 million—are still on the road today. That speaks well for the quality which has been built into them, but it also signifies something else. It shows that our second 25 million cars have been produced over a recent span of years.

Actually, the records show that it took 32 years to produce our first 25 million cars. The second 25 million cars were produced in just 14 years, even with a world war intervening. That is one measure of our growth and progress.

There is one individual whom I have not yet mentioned, but he is one whom we can never forget for long. Those who do, do not survive for long.

At one time or another some 2,700 different makes of cars were put on the market. Today a bare handful of those original 2,700 survive. The others have vanished. Why? Primarily because their products did not have sufficient appeal to this one person of whom I now speak—the customer.

I realize that to most of you the customer seems far removed from your daily work. He is not, I assure you. He holds the ballot which controls our products and our very jobs. His vote assures the continued acceptance of a product. Conversely, if he withholds his vote, not only is the product voted out of business, but the company along with it and its employees, too.

In General Motors we have been successful in winning the votes of customers primarily because we have constantly striven to build greater values into our products. Our slogan has been, "More and Better Things for More People." It is to the extent that we have lived up to that slogan that we have prospered. It is to the extent that we continue to live up to that slogan that we shall continue to prosper.

Make no mistake about it: ours is a great achievement today. It is one in which all of us can well take great pride. It should inspire us to even greater achievements for the future.

Given our tools and facilities, our resources, our capabilities as workers, engineers, designers and all the others, I find it difficult to place a ceiling on our possible accomplishments. I am sure that the day is not far distant when we shall be celebrating General Motors' 100 millionth car.

At this Thanksgiving time it is fitting that, in company with other Americans, we pause to give thanks, not alone for the manifold blessings enjoyed by us as individuals and by our great Country, but also for the magnificent opportunities that can be glimpsed along the road ahead.

U.S. Will Protest Chinese Jailing of 13

val is the United States' only official contact with Red China, which it does not recognize.

Judged on the basis of past experience with Peiping, it appeared problematical what would come of the protest.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) termed the Red action "outrageous" and urged an investigation by the United Nations. Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) proposed that this country use "force." Sen. George (D-Ga.) said if such incidents continue the United States might have to take "drastic action."

Eleven of the men involved were crew members of a U.S. B29 shot down Jan. 12, 1953.

The downed B29 had been commanded by Col. John Know Arnold Jr., of Silver Spring, Md., said by Peiping to have drawn a sentence of 10 years. His second in command, Maj. William H. Baumer, Lewisburg, Pa., drew eight years.

Peiping said three members of the B29's crew died when it crashed, and that the nine other members were given sentences ranging from four to six years.

Even heavier sentences were announced for two young New Englanders the Red Chinese said were captured Nov. 29, 1952, while dropping supplies to "American" escapees in northeast China.

Washington said they were lost between South Korea and Japan, and that it does not know how they fell into Red hands.

The State Department said the announcement of the prison terms for these two, John Thomas Downey, 27, and Richard George Fecteau, 27, was "the first word we have had that they are being held by the Chinese Communists."

The government said Downey and Fecteau were civilian employees of the Army, and it accused the Chinese Reds of deliberately concealing information about them during the Geneva conference, at which the fate of Americans held in China was discussed.

Downey, from New Britain, Conn., is a cousin of singer Morton Downey. He drew a life sentence. Fecteau, a former Boston University football player from Lynn, Mass., drew 20 years.

The Peiping broadcast said nine Chinese—termed "former officers of the Chiang Kai-shek gang"—were sentenced as American spies in the same case. It said four were condemned to die, four were given life terms and one 15 years.

In Ottawa, meanwhile, it was announced that RCAF Squadron Leader A. R. (Andy) MacKenzie, 41, will be released by the Chinese at Hong Kong Dec. 5 after two years as a prisoner of war.

2 Treated Following Birmingham Collision

BIRMINGHAM — Drivers in a two-car collision at the Hunter-Haynes intersection yesterday were treated for injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Mrs. Wilma Pritchett, 54, of Detroit suffered an injured left hip, and Clarence A. Ferguson, 41, of 172 Sanderson St., Pontiac, received left knee bruises.

Police ticketed Mrs. Pritchett for failure to yield the right of way, after they said she drove into the intersection without waiting for traffic to clear, and was struck by Ferguson's auto.

Auditorium Gets Backing of CIO

Union Council Lends Support to Foundation's Fund Drive

Declaring that "the CIO is dedicated to the responsibility of furthering any and all programs which are for the benefit of the people," the Oakland County CIO Council today endorsed the Pontiac Foundation's goal of a civic auditorium for Pontiac.

This week has been proclaimed "Pontiac Foundation Week." The foundation is a trusteeship aimed at gathering funds for civic improvement.

"This program of the Pontiac Foundation is a program organized for the benefit of all the people of Pontiac," said Fred V. Haggard, council president.

"In comparing Pontiac with Grand Rapids, we are far behind that city where civic-minded people promoted a project similar to this one."

"We should visualize the position the city of Pontiac would be in if large meetings and conventions could be held here, bringing in many people to the city, and thus bringing much progress."

Haggard urged CIO members to contribute to the foundation.

Remington Dies After Attack in Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—William W. Remington, former government aide serving a three-year term for perjury, died today at the federal penitentiary here from injuries suffered in an attack at the prison.

Wilkinson reported that Remington was found by his quarters' officer in a dazed condition on the second floor stairway landing below his third floor dormitory quarters. He said that part of the prison was occupied by a small number of prisoners, consisting of night workers in for the day, and by janitors.

Remington, in the attack, suffered lacerations of the face and head and a probable fractured skull.

Revised Hospital Contract Drawn

City Commission Okays Architect's Agreement for Changes in Plans

A resolution passed last night by Pontiac City Commission approved a new contract with local architect Leo J. Heenan for revision of construction plans for the $3,000,000 addition to Pontiac General Hospital.

The original plans drawn by Heenan in 1946 called for additional facilities which would cost over $4,000,000 at present construction costs, commissioners explained.

Some $24,000 paid Heenan for work done previously on the hospital plans will be credited on the new contract.

The new contract allows Heenan a five per cent fee for architectural work, or $150,000 of the $3,000,000. He is to use about $5,000 of his fee to engage a architectural consultant approved by the hospital board of trustees.

The resolution authorizes the hospital board to work with Heenan "to a point where plans and estimates can be submitted to the city commission for their final approval prior to advertisement for construction bids."

Pun Still the Only Form of Comedy That Gets Groan Instead of Laugh

By EDDIE CANTOR

I know of only one type of comedy that gets a groan instead of a laugh. The pun. I understand that psychiatrists say this reaction is usually from someone who wishes he'd thought of the line himself. To these jealous Joes and Janes, I give warning—read no further!

Once a-pun a time, there was a chap by the name of Alfred G. Vanderbilt who will long be remembered for his love of horses and for giving birth to this now much-quoted tale: Two horses were out for a morning run and one horse said to the other, "I can't remember your name, but your pace is familiar."

The bigger the man—the more atrocious the pun. Take Noel Coward, for instance. When a friend told him: "Noel, I just bought a gorgeous French poodle for ten dollars—quite a bargain, don't you think?" Coward answered, "Yes, and you ought to be very happy because a bargain dog never bites!"

The most famous punster of them all is Groucho Marx. At a nightclub recently, a male vocalist—not too good—was giving out, and Groucho's brother, Chico, said: "That guy's a regular Crosby!" Without removing the inevitable cigar from his mouth, Groucho cracked: "Yes—a Crosby 'tween a foghorn and an air raid siren!"

I saw a letter yesterday from a young man who works in a fruit and vegetable market. He proposed to his girl this way: "Darlin' Sweet Patootie: You're the apple of my eye, so Honey-dew lettuce get married. If you say we canteloupe, it will squash my hopes. Love is calling and this is the time tomato-oh Sweet-heart."

"The wedding ring I bought set me back two hundred berries. I know it's salad of money, but it's a fourteen-carrot ring. Marry me and you'll be grateful, and in a year from now you'll be the happiest woman alive pushing that baby cabbage."

Are you still groaning? Let me give you the payoff: The gal turned him down and eloped with a guy from Pennsylvania!

Effervescent for things like that, I wouldn't have a column.

New Stars Discovered Are Out of This World

PARIS — Thousands of new stars made their movie debut recently but they will never go to Hollywood.

The film was made at the Paris observatory through a powerful telescope beamed on the center of the milky way.

Andre Danyon, director of the observatory, said the stars had never been noticed before.

About 17 per cent of U. S. workers were women in 1890 compared with around 30 per cent today.

Turkey-Stuffed Citizenry to Find Good Meat Buys

The nation's food stores, figuring you'll get your fill of turkey tomorrow (and the leftovers the next couple of days), will offer a good variety of meats at special prices this coming weekend. High on the list are legs of lamb, pork loins and pork chops veal and frying chickens. Meat specialists say leg of lamb prices will be lower than in recent weeks.

Pork loins and chops have come down somewhat at wholesale. Veal roast and veal chops are considered especially good buys. Chickens continue abundant and cheap.

Beef still is on the high side, but a number of markets plan to feature prime ribs at reduced prices. Steaks will cost about the same as last weekend.

Egg prices will be down in most areas. One big chain plans to cut prices by from two to as much as eight cents a dozen. Prices failed to go up this fall, as they usually do. And what's more, the Department of Agriculture sees even lower prices at least through next February.

Produce specialists are still providing a good list of worthwhile buys in vegetables. They consider eggplant, cabbage, radishes, greens — kale, collards and turnip tops — and potatoes to be outstanding buys.

And on their list of good buys are tomatoes, sweet potatoes, cauliflower, cucumbers and onions.

Limes are the No. 1 buy in fruit, these experts report. You'll also get good value in avocados, apples, oranges, grapefruit and emperor grapes. Tangerines are rather high-priced, although they've come down some in recent weeks.

U-M Seeks Home for Statue of Bunyan

ANN ARBOR — Paul Bunyan stands alone in a locker room at the Michigan stadium today, while officials try to find him a home.

The six-foot trophy of Bunyan, the mythological giant lumberjack of the North Woods was offered by Gov. Williams last year to the annual winner of the Michigan-Michigan State game.

Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, Michigan athletic director, said "We're building a new administration building and we'll find an appropriate place for it."

Michigan won the trophy by virtue of its 33-7 defeat of Michigan State two weeks ago. Michigan State won the trophy the first year by defeating Michigan 14-6.

Signs Point to Decline in Cost of Living Index

WASHINGTON — New living cost figures are due from the government today with advance signs they will show a decline for the third straight month.

A new drop would mean a penny-an-hour pay cut for a million workers in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment manufacturing industries, whose wages are revised quarterly according to changes in the governments living cost index.

An acre of good farm land usually will provide forage for 10 to 12 young pigs and the necessary breeding stock.

GM's Big Show

General Motors really poured it on. Tuesday's big event was a classic. More than half a hundred plant cities clear across the continent watched the celebration through a closed television circuit. TOM KEATING, Chevrolet's general manager, presented HARLOW H. CURTICE with a gold key to the golden car and then Mr. CURTICE delivered an exceptionally well rounded and well grounded address. Earlier in the day, a Flint parade saw the bands playing, the flags flying and a carnival spirit gripping Flint that extended to far flung GM citadels.

Here in Pontiac, the event started off with a luncheon for several hundred business men at Pontiac Motor Division. Following this, the group adjourned to the Pontiac auditorium. PHILIP J. MONAGHAN, General Manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division, presided and he handled his assignment with neatness and dispatch.

The main talk from Pontiac was delivered by Milo J. Cross who did splendidly and who spoke with assurance and eclat. Both Messrs. Cross and Monaghan commanded an attentive audience that listened closely.

The high light of the proceeding was the talk by President HARLOW H. CURTICE. Mr. CURTICE made an exceptionally favorable impression upon his Pontiac audience. He talked simply, directly and covered his subject well. If the GM prexy had a manuscript on the lectern, it remained unused and untouched. He discussed the affairs of the gigantic corporation which would be of interest to the audience that was scattered across the land and he did so very capably.

Pontiac listened intently.

Mr. CURTICE employed a few figures but at no time did he surfeit his audience with a mass of related and unrelated mathematics or corporate dogma. He kept his talk alive and confined to affairs of direct concern to his listeners. The Press prints his address elsewhere.

He acquitted himself in splendid fashion. The previous afternoon, Mr. CURTICE addressed a large group of press and radio representatives in Detroit and there, too, he handled himself well. Giving a hundred newspaper and radio men carte blanche to fire a barrage of questions, requires a definite something many men never acquire.

All in all, the big GM day was a smashing affair. It attracted national attention. Pontiac is very fortunate to be allied so closely with this vital and successful organization.

MPA Backs Safety Plans

Newspapers of Michigan no doubt will support an expanded 1955 program for greater highway safety.

This became evident after a meeting at Kellogg Center attended by the Michigan Press Association's traffic safety committee and representatives of the State's Safety Commission.

Heading the list of recommendations endorsed by MPA was that urging Legislative appropriation of funds needed to enlarge the present 720 man State Police force by 150 next year. Funds also were proposed to strengthen the driver-record file by the addition of sufficient clerks and equipment.

Another, and we believe extremely important suggestion, is that means be devised to raise the money needed to increase behind-the-wheel training in high schools.

Finally, it was agreed that county or community safety councils be organized, that local safety programs be supported and that teenage driver conferences be continued and expanded.

The Press is behind this program 100 per cent. Especially do we wish to emphasize the need for more State Police. A test last Labor Day weekend in which 688 National Guardsmen aided, proved that increasing the patrol force decreased accidents. Authorities estimated that the additional patrols saved at least 10 lives in the three day weekend.

Reservists Win E Plaque

Though winning special distinction is a long time habit of Pontiac's Naval Reservists, it still is a pleasure to applaud their latest achievement.

That was the winning of an E plaque for efficiency and second place among the 139 Surface Divisions in the Ninth Naval District. The award was based on the unit's board strength, attendance, active duty training and advancement rate of its personnel.

Acting as the presentation committee for the Naval District were Capt. J. S. CHAMPLIN, Capt. W. K. RHODES and Comdr. H. E. LONG. In presenting the plaque they congratulated Lt. Comdr. M. A. EVANS and his well trained reservists. We know we speak for the entire community in adding our congratulations.

The Man About Town

Quite Outstanding

Our County Takes Stellar Role in State's Program

Intellectual: Often a person who uses more words than necessary to tell more than he knows.

That Oakland County is quite outstanding in our state's setup as an outdoor recreational area was conclusively brought out at the annual meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Association at Detroit this week. Maps and other material on display there show our county stand out above all others. Among the eight counties in this corner of the state, Oakland has more lakes, parks and other facilities to attract the tourist than the other seven combined.

In connection with this General Motors Golden CARnival, an interesting note comes from

Martin Oglesby, now living in Detroit and retired. He writes, "I worked on the last Oakland car to be built and on the first Pontiac car, drove an Oakland for many years, and six members of my family now are driving Pontiacs."

In an across the table dinner conversation with that irrepressible and fiery Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn, he says, "Anybody from Pontiac is our neighbor, especially since our Camp Dearborn is located in your county, near Milford. It is a part of that county's great recreational facilities, which are world beaters." He says he prefers to be called "Orville," as it sounds better than what most people call him.

Pontiac's veteran disciple of the rod and gun,

Charles M. VanBuskirk, started his shooting with muzzle loaders. The other day in a camp in the northwoods, in quest of his buck for the 70th odd season, he modernized his activities by taking part in a recording program to be preserved for posterity.

Oakland County's own Lieutenant Governor-Elect,

Philip A. Hart, is introducing an innovation in politics. He's visiting factories and thanking the employees for their support in the recent election.

With a keen memory dating back around the four score year mark,

George Haddrell of Oxford says he rarely has picked pansies and dandelions in his yard in the latter part of November, as he has this year.

There's plenty of evidence even one month before the holiday, according to Postmaster Leslie H. Dean, Sr., that the Christmas mailing will exceed that of 1953—which was an all time high.

When she saw deer tracks Monday in her garden in Huron Gardens,

Mrs. Mercedes Johnston had suspicions which proved to be well founded. Early Tuesday morning she saw the deer.

Avid Members of Local Theatrical Group Urge Your Support for Live Productions

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

In reference to the recent letter concerning live dramatic presentation in Pontiac, we agree wholeheartedly that there should be a live theatre group in a city of 70,000.

As members of a local amateur group called "Circle Players," we are attempting to meet that need. Our group, sponsored by the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation, attempts to present at least two 3-act plays each year. We also have presented several one-act plays and shows for various hospital, fraternal and civic organizations.

All persons who are interested in joining and supporting are invited to attend Circle Players' meetings, which are held each Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Pontiac High School or contact the director, Pat Stites, Rt. 3, Clarkston, phone Maple 5-3975. Even though you may not be able to take an active part in the Circle Players, we welcome your support through attendance at our plays.

Glad Bingo Is Dead, Says Daniel M. Scott

The bingo issue is now dead, the people have spoken. As one who saw neither vice nor virtue in the game, I am glad it is now all over.

Our modern Pharisees can now crack down on some other field of entertainment while Christ and his Commandments are buffeted around by the mob.

But we of the common herd can now, take heart because the Editor of this, The Pontiac Press, who took such a solid stand against bingo with a pre-election editorial will no doubt continue his role of custodian of public morals and wage an all-out war against the real evils of our day.

Fashion Writer 'Tops,' Says Taimee Surola

I want to express my appreciation for the recent fashion articles by Judith Clemence. Also for those written by her in the past.

Her articles and reports are tops and particularly in comparison to several Detroit papers which I have followed avidly for several years.

The Press is to be praised also for its choice of fashion writers.

 Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Woman's Intuition Must Be Developed --- Heredity Has Nothing to Do With It

Intuition is supposed to be a feminine possession. How is it related to men's hunches? Do you think there is anything magical about such things or are they acquired by training?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-375: Martha C., aged 26, models dresses in an exclusive salon. She was one of my psychology students in an evening class.

"Dr. Crane, do you believe in intuition?" she asked one night after class. "I have noticed that I react to people very quickly and often quite successfully, but without knowing exactly why."

"I just feel that they are going to like a certain evening gown, and I can almost predict in an instant whether they will buy or not."

"My boy friend and I have argued over this so-called woman's intuition. Many times I can tell what he is thinking about or anticipate what he is going to say before he utters a word."

"I tell him it is because of woman's intuition and is born in us. He says it is simply accidental or chance, and just like what men call a hunch. What is a psychologist's explanation of intuition, Dr. Crane?"

Martha and her sweetheart are both right and both wrong. Woman's intuition is not just a chance or accidental affair. But it is not inborn or inherited. Women develop their intuition much as habits are developed in other lines of human activity.

When a man has a hunch, he possesses a vague feeling that something is right or wrong, but doesn't have available the formal arguments or facts to justify his presentment.

But because he is correct so often in these hunches, he recognizes that there must be something to them. He tends to ascribe them, therefore, to some magical power.

Psychologists recognize that we react to many objects and other stimuli without being fully aware of the fact. When we sit down at a desk or telephone, for example, we may pick up a pencil and make all sorts of drawings at the very time we are carrying on an exciting conversation.

Consciously we may not have noted the pencil at all, but in the margin of our field of attention, the pencil stimulated the eye and led to the smooth functioning of our old established habit of writing. This marginal realm of attention is the same as the subconscious mind.

Women have had to rely on keener observation of the facial expression, the changes in vocal intonation, and the movements and words of their associates, than have men, because they have less muscular strength to gain their ends.

Where boys took what they wanted by brute force, girls had to coax and wheedle and wait for the opportune moment. They became better social detectives, as a consequence.

I couldn't understand it, but the health commissioner seemed to think the demonstration settled the question of rabies in man.

About the same time there was an extraordinary outbreak of rabies in the community—according to the newspapers. One case was particularly impressive. A young child in apparent health was left alone in the house for an hour or two. When the parents returned they found the child in convulsions. The child died several hours later.

What could have caused a healthy child to go into convulsions and die like that? No, no, the child didn't find a package of candy coated strychnine pills and eat them. The health department decided that the child had rabies. A neighbor recalled that a strange dog

A child came home from school complaining of a sore throat and the smog. Her mother put the child to bed and doctored her. In the early morning the child awoke and complained of tightness in her chest, began coughing and lost consciousness. She choked to death. Parents say smog did it, said the headlines.

Her physician said smog "could have been a complicating factor." At the same time a group of representative physicians of the community assured public officials that the smog, though irritating and annoying was not injurious to health.

One of the untoward effects of aspirin, even in small doses, is "alarming edema of the face and throat."

The question in my mind is, how much aspirin was there in the medicine the child's mother gave her in the mistaken belief that such pain-killers as aspirin (acetylsalicylic acid) phenacetin (acetophenetidin), acetaminol (phenylacetamide) and antipyrin (aminopyrin) have some remedial value.

David Lawrence Says:

Objective of Communists Is Still World Revolution

WASHINGTON — "Peaceful co-existence" has just been given a punch in the eye by Communist China with the announcement that the Peiping government has decided to imprison 15 American airmen, with sentences ranging from four years to life.

This means that the truce agreement adopted at Panmunjon — which set forth specifically that all prisoners captured during the Korean War were to be returned — has been flagrantly violated.

In the face of such a conspicuous disregard of a written pledge, it will be asked how any one in Great Britain or in any other country can seriously recommend that Red China be admitted into the United Nations.

The episode underlines clearly that it is the failure of the Red China government to show herself capable of honoring her obligations, rather than her de facto control of any particular territory, which has caused both the Democratic and Republican members of Congress to unite almost to a man to oppose recognition of Red China or its admission to the United Nations.

Just how many more American prisoners who fell into the hands of the Communists in the Korean War are still alive and being held for ransom can only be conjectured, but undoubtedly the news will increase the agony of many of those parents who have been told their sons are missing and presumed dead.

For there is no way of telling how many more American boys the Communists hold and how many they will bring forth from time to time in an effort to blackmail America into favoring admission to the United Nations. Some of the Americans who have already been repatriated say they had heard about prisoners being kept for bargaining purposes. Now this report is being verified by the action of the Peiping government.

It is more than a coincidence that on the same day the news came about the sentencing of the American airmen the President of the United States was expressing his skepticism about peaceful co-existence in very much the same vein as did Senator Knowland of California, Republican leader of the Senate, a few days ago.

Whether Mr. Eisenhower knew beforehand the facts concerning the Chinese decision to hold the 15 airmen has not been disclosed, but the newspapersmen who interrogated him at his press conference did not know about it because the dispatches concerning the affair had not been received over the news tickers when the correspondents assembled at the White House.

The President, however, was quite pointed in what he did say about Russia. He declared that, while, of course, the Russians lately have been talking in a different tone than they have in the past, every study he had ever seen about communism reveals that there is one underlying, unchanging motive—world revolution and dominance by a centrally controlled Communist world state. Mr. Eisenhower added that Communist methods and tactics retreat and advance but the free world cannot lose sight of their basic objective.

But even more significant was the President's handling of the phrase "peaceful co-existence." He said "co-existence" itself has a relatively simple meaning and implies that you co-exist so long as you are not trying to destroy someone else. But he emphasized that the word "peaceful" is an adjective which has many connotations and that, if we are talking about those words in the sense of hailing ourselves into complacency while the other fellow is not friendly or peaceful, then it is something to watch very closely.

Mr. Eisenhower was particularly forceful as he discussed a question propounded to him by "The Christian Century" correspondent, who read the objectives recently stated by the World Council of Churches which met at Evanston, Ill. Those objectives concerned "universal enforceable disarmament," the prohibition of atomic weapons, and the conviction that "it is possible for nations and peoples to live together in a divided world."

The President thought these ideals were all right as goals, but he pointed out that the world is also made up of a lot of selfish and greedy people of ignoble qualifications and qualities. He said peoples were of a dual nature and that, if anybody thinks the United States can be in a better position in the pursuit of peace by being weak, he must disagree 100 per cent.

He said he couldn't say it too emphatically, but he hoped we wouldn't try again to find peace in the world by disarming ourselves and being weak and unready.

Mr. Eisenhower might have added that nowhere in the most respected books on Christian ethics is there to be found any doctrine which condones the suicide of the individual or the suicide of the state.

Baering Down

(International News Service)

What happens to the partisan law of selfish-defense when a senatorial investigation does a political somersault in mid-air?

We would like this question settled before the turkey turns to hash. The walls have ears, the keyholes have eyelashes and the freshly honed finger of suspicion veers with the election results.

This paint job on stalemates has already happened in the first twenty days of Stevenson's real estate boom in ground swells.

A dealer in extraneous emoluments and adjacent nepotism pleaded innocent with Republican intentions. After the ballot boxes were measured for loaded bias and specific grabby he switched to the Democratic form of standing mute. He was not to be quoted for hiccupps.

We are not claiming clannish slantivity nor jurisdictional intimidation by political kissing cousins.

Remember this transfused jury was paneled on the first Tuesday of November by a difference of opinion with a corroboratory recount.

It represents the will of the people and the wont of the politicians. It is a packed jury under constitutional supervision. Noboc/ is using an amendment for an umbrella nor a point of order for galoshes.

Nevertheless, the majority is on the other foot and the galled jape winces. The election tore the blindfold off Justice and the dear old lady settled for a pair of smoked glasses.

This is not trivial enough to rate a channeled exhibition via bell, book and television. We have pegged a decided trend against the rising of party linen in mammoth stadiums.

Have we finally acquired national balance by changing sides on the see-saw? Or shall justice get drive-in service with the partisan motor running?

Health Commissioner Tries to Prove Animals Can Give Rabies to Humans

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Some 15 years ago the head of the health department in a large city, incensed by my teachings about rabies, promised to show me evidence which would make me change my mind. I assured him I'd be everlastingly grateful if he could dispel the nightmare human rabies.

Not long afterward he invited me to come to his health department office. He escorted me to the laboratories. A young man in charge showed me a rabbit in a cage. The rabbit sat munching feed. The rabbit would die in I forget just how many days, the young man said. The animals had been inoculated with a suspension of the dried spinal cord of another animal that had died of rabies.

I couldn't understand it, but the health commissioner seemed to think the demonstration settled the question of rabies in man.

Announce New Way to Relieve Pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism Without Pills!

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name InfraRUB. The price of InfraRUB is only 98¢ for a large tube. InfraRUB is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

Czech Delegates Named for Talks

Soviets Apparently Will Hold Moscow Confab Despite Opposition

BERLIN (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia today announced appointment of a delegation to attend the European security conference the Soviet Union proposed be held Nov. 29.

The announcement, published by the East German government news agency, ADN, heightened speculation that the Soviets are going ahead with plans to hold the meeting in Moscow next week, even though only Soviet satellites have agreed to attend.

Previously Soviet quarters in East Berlin said the conference plan would be dropped altogether if only the Soviet bloc nations accepted.

British officials in London, however, had predicted that the Kremlin would assemble its allies in Moscow anyway to conclude a formal military organization as a counter to the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Soviet bloc is bound by mutual assistance treaties and trade accords but, so far as is known, has no formal interlocking military alliance under a single command.

The Soviet government on Nov. 13 proposed that an all-European conference to set up a system of collective security be held Nov. 29 in Moscow or Paris. In addition to the European nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the United States was invited to participate and Communist China was asked to send an observer.

Western leaders dismissed the proposal as another move to block West German rearmament.

To date the conference invitation has been accepted only by Red China and seven East European satellites.

McKay Slams Public Power as a 'Monopoly'

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay says public-owned power is a "federal monopoly."

In a speech before a Manufacturing Chemists Assn. dinner last night, McKay scoffed at public power and social security theories and said "I'm proud to stand up and say I'm a product of private enterprise."

He said that in his home state of Oregon "we don't want bureaucrats coming out and telling us how we're going to live—we'll tell them."

The country "is being handed a lot of socialistic propaganda," he said. The theory of "security from the cradle to the grave" is "impossible" and "hogwash," he said.

"If the nation ever reaches the point where (individual) security becomes a primary objective, we're headed for the rocks," he said.

West German Guards Start 3-Day Maneuver

DONAUEWERTH, Germany (AP)—A fast-moving "enemy" force crossed the Danube River within 10 minutes today as 12,000 West German frontier guards opened a three-day field maneuver.

The exercise is to test the effectiveness of the 18,000-man force as front-line defenders against a surprise attack from the Communist East.

The four-year-old frontier force is trying to show it can cope with an initial attack and fight a delaying action until help arrives.

Key Dem Solon Agrees With Ike

Senator George Backs President's Views on Dealing With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) today gave key Democratic support to President Eisenhower's assertion that the United States will not let Russian talk slacken this nation's defense build-up.

George said in an interview he believes the President charted "the right course" in telling his news conference yesterday America intends to keep its guard up and will talk peace only after the Communists have shown some evidence of real sincerity.

As the prospective chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the new Congress, George is the recognized spokesman for Senate Democrats on international issues.

"The President has correctly stated what I also believe our relationships with Russia and the Communist world should be," he said. "I agree with him that we must examine every faint ray of hope for peace."

"But there is no doubt in my mind that the Communist movement contemplates the domination of the world. Until Communist actions begin to square with their more peaceful words, we must follow the course laid out by the President."

Thank You, People of Oakland County

Yesterday was a wonderful day for Pontiac Motor!

It was a day we will long remember for the great pleasure it gave us to welcome the nearly 20 thousand visitors who came to the Pontiac plant to help us celebrate a great achievement—the building of General Motors' 50 millionth car.

In a greater sense, we were celebrating something even more important. We were celebrating the progress we have made together; the things we have been able to do to create better, more enjoyable lives for ourselves, our community and for America.

We are looking ahead to General Motors' next 50 million cars; to the still brighter tomorrows which we can share through our mutual efforts.

It was good of you to join us in such great numbers. We were happy to see you. We at the Pontiac Motor Division are very proud of the part we have all played in General Motors' great accomplishment and in the things which lie in store for the great automobile which proudly bears the name Pontiac!

On this Thanksgiving Eve we give thanks for the many blessings received by us as individuals, for the freedom we enjoy in our great country and for the unlimited opportunities that lie ahead.

Highhanded Attitude About Women in Business Does Good for No One

Guest May Ask How to Get Plate

Advised Never to Send Check in Replacing Item

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "At a lunch party recently it was my misfortune to break a bread and butter plate belonging to my hostess' set. I felt terribly over this but my hostess told me not to give it a second thought as the set was open stock and the plate could be replaced easily.

However, I do not know where the china was bought. I would like to know if it would be proper to send her a check to cover the cost of replacing the plate?" Do not send a check! Ask her please to tell you where the set was bought as you want very much to replace the plate. If she won't tell you, then you can't do any more.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a divorcee with a three-year-old daughter. I was married in a suit the first time and would like to have as nice a wedding as good taste will allow this time.

I was wondering if it would be proper for me to be married in a long dress with a train and live as long as it isn't white? Also, may engraved invitations be sent out, or must they be handwritten?

I am sorry but a long dress with a train and a long wedding veil would, I think, be criticized. An ankle-length dress (or one of ballerina length) with a short veil in matching color would be permissible. Personally, I think handwritten invitations would be nicer, but if you are asking a great many people, engraved invitations would be permissible.

Dear Mrs. Post: When going down a long receiving line at a wedding, is it necessary to shake the hand of each person?

Not unless you know each very well and for that reason want to greet them. Ordinarily, you greet the bride and groom and merely bow to the others as you pass by.

Teenagers Find Posture to Be Big Problem

Posture is something that's a literal pain in the neck to most teenagers. Weary to yawning of endless heckling by parents to "sit up straight," they get out of the house and fold up like a wet club sandwich. Comfortable at last, they think.

True, the fault lies with parents, too. Boring nagging promotes nothing but periodic defiance. But a teen-ager coming into young womanhood should take a look at herself in a three-way mirror before she decides she wants to be permanently slumped.

The cold truth is that clothes just aren't cut for slumped shoulders and a one-hipped stance. Most gals get frustrated when they can't look like the ad after they've bought the dress. A comfortable straight stance (not the ramrod look) will erase dress wrinkles and uneven hems.

It's true that when she first goes into the alarmingly rapid series of changes that turn her from a barrel to a woman with a waistline and a bosom, a gal is unused to her new self. She slumps to hide what she scarcely knows is her own.

But the minute she's ready, and it can't be too soon, a teen-ager should shed the pretzel posture and look full-sized, curves and all. No parental nagging, no gym class, no glamor course can do it—only herself.

Girl Must Discourage Jr. Shadow

Boy Friend Can Give Assistance in Big Project

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm a junior in high school—and my problem is a boy in the eighth grade! Stu is big for his age, and for some strange reason is interested in me. He trails me wherever I go. I've tried ignoring him, getting mad at him, being sarcastic, but to no avail.

"I live in a college town and usually go out with a sophomore in college. He and the other college guys are beginning to notice my shadow, Stu. I would desperately love to get rid of him. Have you any suggestions?"

For one thing you might tell your college sophomore about Stu and ask his ideas for lopping off your shadow. He'll undoubtedly laugh with you over your previous maneuvers, and may come up with a slick one of his own.

He may have noticed your constant companion and wondered about it. But if you tell him what's up he'll know it's not because you particularly like it that way. And you can relax on the point that Stu might be blocking your progress.

Then you can surround yourself with a bodyguard. One or two other girls with you whenever you're wandering around without a real date. Stu won't be able to crash through that interference. There will be too many of you at once, and he might give up.

Or you could deflect Stu with a little help from one of the prettiest girls in the eighth grade. Enlist her in your cause. Persuade her to try to take Stu off your hands. Tell Stu that this girl has a crush on him so he'll begin to take notice of her. Talk her up big as the perfect girl for him. Tease him about her. Egg him into trailing around after her.

Then tackle him head on. Smiling, but very reasonably explain to him that he's wasting his perfectly good time, and yours. Tell him how he bothers you and why. Insist that if he really likes you he'll do as you ask—and that is to leave you strictly alone.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like a boy who lives in another state. We get along very well—that is, when he comes down. I want to tell him that if he doesn't come down more often we'll just have to call it quits. But I don't exactly know how to say it so I won't hurt him. I really like him very much. Could you please help me?"

You like the boy, but unfortunately he's too far away to do you much daily good. Your dates are few and far between. But there are perfectly obvious circumstances that keep you apart.

Can't you go on liking him even so? Must you call it quits? You don't have to in order to enjoy the local fun. You can keep him in a specially reserved corner of your mind and heart, while you merrily (and without a serious thought) join in the social life that's going on around you where you live.

HOLIDAY HANDS

Will your hands be a compliment to you at Thanksgiving dinner?

In a way, well groomed hands are more important than hairdos. Many times you can wear a hat when dining but did you ever see anyone eat with their gloves on? Of course, we can hide our hands under the table cloth, but how much better to extend them!

An occasional professional manicure makes the job of hand grooming much easier. Form the habit of pushing back the cuticle each day when washing your hands. Do this with the corner of your towel or with an orange stick. Also smooth the free edge with an emery board to prevent breaking. Buffing the nails make them stronger and smoother.

To reside in Kalamazoo are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Scott. The bride is the former Geraldine Marie Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mr. Chester Herald of Clarkston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott of Glenwood avenue.

Our Lady of the Lakes Church in Watford was the setting for the 12 o'clock ceremony which was performed by the Rev. F. J. Delaney before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white satin, fashioned with long sleeves and cathedral train. A tiara of seed pearls secured her veil of illusion and she carried an arrangement of spider chrysanthemums and a white prayer book.

Mrs. Duane Creech of Auburn Heights attended her sister as matron of honor. Other attendants were Gwen Herald of Clarkston, sister of the bride, Mercedes Donnelly of Royal Oak and Mrs. Al dred Ostrander of Watford.

The attendants' gowns were of American Beauty red velvet, fashioned with boat necklines. They wore white tulle tiaras and matching accessories.

The matron of honor carried an arrangement of white carnations and the other attendants carried arrangements of red and white carnations.

Following a reception in the Knights of Columbus Hall the new Mrs. Scott changed to a two piece rose dress with black accessories of for an eastern tour.

Baby's Cold Not Bad as Elders'

The tiny baby gets a cold. He will have it more mildly than the rest of the family and not seem to suffer much. The worst part of it, to his parents, will be the squeeks, whistles and gurgles when he tries to breathe through his bubbly nose.

If it seems to bother him while he's taking his bottle or nursing, you might try this aid: get a small-bulbed ear syringe; cut the sharp nipple down to a rounder one and use it to take the runniness out of his nostrils.

Don't stick it far up his nose or try to get up too much suction, which will hurt him. Sterilize it often.

You're not of siren stuff. Avoid exaggerations of the long torso, conform to your figure type in more youthful dress.

MISS U. F.—The longer torso moves into fashion. But there's still the natural waistline silhouette for those to whom it is more becoming and that is for the not-five-foot-high, unquestionably too short of leg to lower the belt.

French Fry Pineapple in Batter

Hot Fruit Fritters Are Mrs. Brimm's Specialty With Ham

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Now that pineapple spears are again available in the can, you will be interested in this tasty recipe for pineapple fritters. Mrs. Page Brimm serves them often, says they are exceptionally good with ham. If you are entertaining at morning coffee, these fritters would be a good accompaniment.

Mrs. Brimm is a young working mother of two pre-school children. There is no time in her life at present for many social or club activities.

PINEAPPLE FRITTERS

By Mrs. Page Brimm

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
1 can pineapple spears, drained
Mix and dry ingredients. Add milk and egg. Mix well. Dip pineapple spears into the batter and fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees) until brown. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with confectioner's sugar. Serves 6-8.

Cobb Hints Remedy for Floor Draft

By HUBBARD COBB

Back in the old days there were so many assorted cold drafts kicking about in the average home that no one paid them much attention. Today, however, houses are so tight that if you have a draft—even a small one—it stands out like a cold sore thumb.

Most drafts originate around windows because there is usually a small crack where the window sash joins the frame. The way to fix these leaks is with weatherstripping. Almost every kind of weatherstripping will do a good job but some will last for the life of the window and others are only good for a season or so. It's pretty much a question of how much you want to pay—the more expensive types will give the longer service.

If you don't have to open or close the window during the cold weather and need something that is easy to install try some of this caulking tape. It makes a good tight job and goes on in a big hurry.

Drafts around the floor usually originate at the baseboard where the wall joints the floor. The cure here is to install a strip of quarter round molding to cover the crack between floor and baseboard. In homes where there is no insulation in the outside walls, you get a lot of drafts about the house from the wind blowing through the wall cavity. Insulating the wall is the best remedy but if this can't be done, stop up the cavities at top and bottom by plugging the openings in the wall in the basement and attic with insulation.

Ambition Plus Severity Make Bad Combination

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The other day I got a very high-handed and bossy letter from a woman who signed herself "A Woman Executive."

"I want you to do a piece," she commanded, "aimed at the little ditty, giggling, overdressed 'cuties' who call themselves business girls. They swarm into the offices, gossiping about their boy friends. They only care about getting the work done, so they can get paid and buy clothes and try to snare a husband."

"They are a disgrace, and they keep employers from taking women workers seriously. They leave the minute they're finished."

and never stay late or take work home, and they give all women workers a bad name.

"So please do a piece telling them to mend their ways." Actually, it seems to me, it is women like the writer of this letter who give working women a bad name. I can just picture her: She is bound and determined to get to the top, where she'll have power to push people around. She is incapable of seeing anyone else's point of view.

Because she is burning with ambition, because she has a low opinion of marriage—and probably of men, too—she thinks everybody else should feel the same way.

She makes a fetish of working late, so everybody will see what a hard worker she is. She wouldn't be caught dead leaving without a brief case bulging with work. Her clothes are coffee planned for a minimum of trouble—and a minimum of becomingness or attractiveness. She probably speaks curtly, and thinks "Please" and "Thank you" are for the birds.

No, my dear, I am not going to criticize the young girls. You say yourself that they get their work done, and I'm glad they like pretty clothes, and have the gift of laughter, and have boy friends to gossip about.

My suggestion is that you examine yourself carefully—with the help of a good minister or doctor—and see why you have such a chip on your shoulder. If you can change your own point of view, you'll have a happier life—and a lot better chance of getting to the top the right way!

Lovely Woman Can Spoil Effect by Appearance

Every woman likes to be an individual, but there are times when it's imperative that one be as inconspicuous as possible. One of these occasions is a large party or reception.

The question of acceptable practice on gloves for handshaking has become more confused since the President's wife has elected to shake hands with gloves on.

It would probably be easiest and most relaxing if you take both your gloves off when you enter the receiving line and carry them, with your bag, in your left hand.

A lovely woman, correctly dressed, can spoil her entire appearance with an unfortunate handshake. When your turn comes, give your hand with a clear gesture. Give a firm slap and then let go.

If it's a man you're meeting, he may really shake your hand. Join in—don't let him shake a limp fish. On the other hand, don't feel compelled to give a violent pumping motion to someone who has no intention of doing anything but giving you a handclasp.

Babies Can Take Lots of Bumps

A neighbor's baby fell from his carriage to the cement sidewalk. She, in a panic, rushed him to the doctor's office. The doctor's comment—"You're more scared than he is. There's not a thing wrong."

Which proves again that Baby is pretty indestructible. He needs a tender head out of the buggy daily, but there needn't be a fuss when he takes a bump while walking.

He scarcely notices it until you give him a lot of attention and petting. Then he's off. He can scream like a radio heroine once he's learned he gets kissed for it.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Never worry because you can't afford to give an expensive gift. It is better to give the smallest gift than to decide you can't give anything good enough.

It was Longfellow who said: "Give what you have. To someone it may be better than you dare to think."

Try a Silk Shirt

If you sew, investigate the possibility of making yourself a silk shirt. Try one with long sleeves, tiny pleats or ruffles down the front. Dignity and good style for any age come with such classics that are inexpensively made.

Hold Off Pup's Bath

Puppy's first bath shouldn't come until he's past the three-month stage. Be careful when you initiate him; cotton in ears, no soap on the face. Until he's old enough, let daily brushing keep him clean.

Mrs. D. B. Hogue Has Workshop

Mrs. Donald B. Hogue was hostess in her Fairgrove avenue home Tuesday afternoon for a meeting of Tuesday Musicals Workshop.

This year's course of study is the history of "contemporary music." Mrs. Hogue presented one phase of this study for Tuesday's meeting. She discussed "new music" as developed in Europe during the latter part of the 19th century—the bridge between Romanticism and present modern music.

As an illustration, Mrs. Rebecca Gould accompanied by Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer presented a group of songs. Mrs. H. G. Woolcock, accompanied by Mrs. Addison Oakley presented a group of religious works.

Mrs. Woolcock presided at the tea table for the social hour following the program. Mrs. Donald V. White was assistant hostess along with Mrs. E. D. Foley.

Watch That Bluing

Laundry hint: Bluing is fine to use to neutralize the yellow tint of white fabrics and make them appear white. But be sure to read the label on your bluing to see if it contains iron. If it does, your clothes must be thoroughly rinsed to remove the last traces of soap before bluing is added. Otherwise the soap and the iron in the bluing will combine to form rust spots on the clothes.

Symphony to Sponsor 4 Concerts

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will present four Young People's Concerts this season sponsored by the Junior Leagues of Birmingham and Detroit, the Women's Association and the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony.

Valter Poole will conduct the programs. Miss Lauretine Collins, director of school-community relations for the Board of Education, will be guest commentator. The four concerts on the "World of Music" series are scheduled at 11 a.m. the Saturday mornings of Dec. 18, Jan. 15, Jan. 29 and Feb. 12 in the Masonic Auditorium.

Designed as a "refresher course in music" for parents, and as a real education for children, the programs feature music and soloists selected for entertainment appeal.

The first concert, a Christmas Program, features cartoonist Stuart Hample. Sketching in time with the 103 member Detroit Symphony, Mr. Hample brings to vivid life the stories told by the classics.

The concert includes a first performance for the Metropolitan Detroit area of Earl McDonald's "Children's Symphony."

Chairman of the series is Mrs. Robert Wardrop. Suburban chairman is Mrs. William B. Bachman Jr. Dr. Edith Roach Snyder is the Pontiac chairman. Her assistants are Mrs. Robert Grant and Mrs. Merlin Sanderson.

Reserved seats for the series are available at the Symphony office, Detroit Masonic Temple building.

Ready Sketches of New School

Million Dollar Building in Rochester Planned for 50 Acre Site

ROCHESTER — At a special meeting with the High School Planning Committee, the Board of Education has presented sketches and preliminary plans for the new $1,000,000 high school building.

The building will be located on a 50 acre site at the corner of Livernois and Pontiac Roads. Because of traffic conditions, the main entrance will front on Livernois Road.

Plans call for a low, rambling one-story structure arranged on the heights surrounding an amphitheater.

The first phases of the unit will include 25 classrooms, including science department, shops, home-making, library and art facilities. Also included is a guidance center, administrative offices, and large cafeteria-student center area.

Lack of funds makes it impossible to include in this phase of the building program an auditorium, gymnasium, music department, or swimming pool.

The entire facility is being planned in order to be easily expanded for future growth as soon as additional funds can be obtained.

Lewis B. Arscott, school board secretary, explained that the cost of the type gym this community needs "will run approximately $250,000. That is one-fourth the money we have remaining for the high school."

"In order to include the gym, too much of the rest of the building would have to be postponed," he added. "We realize the importance of physical education in the high school program, and we hope the community will see fit to provide a gym at an early date."

The high school planning committee gave unanimous consent to proceed with the plan.

Area Residents Vote Dec. 7, 14

Big Candidate Slate Confronts Residents of Keego, Walled Lake

Completion of the incorporation process is slated for one area, and the preliminary step toward such status will be taken up in another area during December special elections.

Walled Lake residents will go to the polls Dec. 7 to decide on adopting a proposed charter, and Keego Harbor residents will ballot Dec. 14 on whether they favor incorporation.

The Walled Lake incorporation is a step ahead of the Keego move, since Walled Lake residents approved incorporation last June, and named an 11 member commission to draw up a charter.

Yesterday was the Walled Lake deadline for filing nominating petitions for the seven councilmen positions, created if the charter is approved. Fourteen residents turned in petitions with charter commission secretary Clifford Smart.

Seeking election are Chester Budd, Ralph Bussmyer, Charles Fisher, Gerald Hazen, Mrs. Eva Kopietz, David Martens, Dan McVety, and Clements Phillips.

Others are Charles Riffenburg, Lewis Rourke, Norman H. Smith, Marshall E. Taylor, Harry W. Thomas, and Joseph Wiltse.

Competing for the single post of justice of the peace are George E. Feldman, Sr., and Charles S. Rose.

The area to be incorporated along with Walled Lake includes three square miles of Commerce Township bounded by Commerce, Decker and 14 Mile Rds., and a line slightly beyond Ladd road to the west.

The census at the time of the vote showed 2,569 residents.

In Keego Harbor a Dec. 6 meeting has been set by the Chamber of Commerce to acquaint residents with the topic of incorporation as a city.

Dr. D. L. Foxman, club secretary, announced the meeting, which will be held at 8 p. m. in the gymnasium of the Roosevelt High School.

A panel has been arranged to discuss the questions that incorporation raises in the minds of residents.

The Chamber of Commerce has secured Louis Schimmel and Ada R. Evans, Pontiac tax expert and city clerk, respectively; Howard Wideman, Sylvan Lake mayor pro tem, and John Estes, incorporation attorney.

Also on the panel will be H. M. Thatcher, West Bloomfield Township supervisor, and a member of the Michigan Municipal League of Ann Arbor.

In addition to balloting on the incorporation, voters will also elect nine commissioners, who will draw up the charter for the proposed city.

Nineteen residents, including three women, have filed petitions as candidates for the charter commission. The nine receiving the highest number of votes will be elected, if incorporation is approved.

The Dec. 14 election date was set by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors after a census count showed a population of 3,186 in the area.

School district boundaries will not be affected by incorporation.

As outlined, the city would be bounded on the Waterford Township and Sylvan Lake on the north, the city of Sylvan Lake on the east, the Grand Trunk Western Railway on the south, and the village of Orchard Lake and Cass Lake shoreline on the west.

RO Favored Over Maples

By JACK SAYLOR

Final curtain comes down on the 1954 prep football season in Oakland County Thursday with the playing of the traditional Royal Oak-Birmingham Thanksgiving Day game at Birmingham.

Royal Oak, the county's top Class A team this year, ranks as a heavy favorite to make it 3 straight over the Maples in this, the 43rd renewal of the venerable series.

Jim Manilla's Acorns have won 7 of 8 games, losing only 1-0 to Grosse Pointe, heralded in some circles as the best in the state. Royal Oak has lost only 4 games in the last 3 seasons while winning 22.

Grosse Pointe has administered the only defeats Royal Oak has suffered in the past 2 seasons. Meanwhile, Birmingham, under new head coach Carl Lemle, has broken even in 8 games. Two of the wins, over Eastern Michigan champion Hazel Park and East

Detroit, were regarded as upsets. Southfield and Cranbrook also fell to the Maples. Losses were to Mt. Clemens, Ferndale, Port Huron and Berkley. Birmingham hasn't won 'The Little Brown Jug' game since 1951 when all-star Tom Tracy paced the Maples to a 27-0 victory.

Royal Oak won in 1952, 1954, and again last year, 28-0. While 2 great backs, Jack Drawbaugh and Dick Nash, were lost by graduation, capable replacements were found in Roy Soldan and Darrell Harper.

Along with quarterback Frank Finney and halfback Dick Pitcher, they give the Acorns a formidable backfield. The 170-pound Soldan has averaged better than 5 yards a carry and tallied 9 touchdowns this season.

Harper and Finney have 3 touchdowns each and 5 touchdowns passes have been caught by 2 outstanding junior ends, Bud Allen and Bob Kelly. Other leading Acorn linemen are tackle Ed Bartz and guard Dick Ulrich.

Royal Oak has yielded only 39 points in 8 games, which attests to its defensive strength. Birmingham has scored 80 points, while giving up 104.

Common opponents of the 2 teams are Hazel Park and Ferndale. Royal Oak downed the Parkers, 19-7, while Birmingham scored a 7-4 upset, Royal Oak trounced Ferndale, 27-0, which in turn blanketed Birmingham, 28-0.

Royal Oak has a wide edge in the series, winning 21 games to 14 for Birmingham. Seven games ended in ties.

John Appleford has carried Birmingham's offensive load and has scored 4 touchdowns. Maples also boast a fine end in Bill Watkinson, who has scored 2 touchdowns and booted 8 conversions.

Comparative season records:

ROYAL OAK	BIRMINGHAM
Hasel Park 19-7	Southfield 6-9
Gr. Pointe 9-7	Cranbrook 21-12
Wyandotte 27-12	Mt. Clemens 12-19
Monroe 6-0	Ferndale 0-28
Fordson 27-7	Hazel Park 7-4
Pontiac 13-0	E. Detroit 13-19

Lincoln, Dodge American Winners in Pan-Am Test

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—Quiet has replaced glory and death today on the 1,908-mile Pan-American highway.

The 5th annual Pan-American road race ended here yesterday with the precise drivers of Lincoln, Ferraris, Dodges, Porsches and Alfa-Romeos taking the major share of the $117,200 prizes.

Records were broken in the large sports, small sports and small U.S. stock car divisions.

Death struck seven during the world's longest and most dangerous road race which began last Friday on the Guatemalan border. During the five years of the event, 18 have died as cars rocketed northward along treacherous mountain roads which range from sea level to more than 10,000 feet.

Umberto Maglioli, speed crazy Italian often called "The Madman," led four Ferraris to the finish line. He was followed by Phil Hill, Santa Monica, Calif., and Franco Cornacchia and Luigi Chinetti, both of Italy.

Maglioli left for Mexico City a few hours after the race, proclaiming that "I could run another race like this tomorrow—and win."

The American stock car divisions, Ray Crawford of Pasadena, Calif., led a team of Lincolns for the Ford product's third straight victory in the big stock division, and Tommy Drisdale of El Paso, Tex., spearheaded a Dodge sweep on the small stocks.

Walt Faulkner of Long Beach, Calif., in a Lincoln and Keith Andrews of Colorado Springs, Colo., in a Cadillac, were second and third behind Crawford.

"The highway was pretty good most of the way, except in spots," Drisdale said. "Of course I'm very happy, but it was rough competition to the end. I wish we'd been a bit better equipped—with racing hubs for example."

Hans Hermann of Germany, in a dramatic display of small car speed, won the small European sports division by 24 seconds.

Purdue Ace Completed 63 Passes for 1,019 Net Yards

CHICAGO (AP)—Purdue sophomore Len Dawson took passing and total offense honors in Big Ten football play this year while Iowa halfback Eddie Vincent was the leading runner.

According to statistics released by the Western Conference today Dawson completed 63 of 122 passes for 1,019 yards. He fired seven touchdown passes and had a completion average of .516.

Dawson also led in total offense, netting 924 yards. Vincent netted 566 yards from scrimmage, including a 96-yard run for a modern conference record. He had a 6.9 yard rushing average.

Howard Cassidy of Ohio finished second with 472 yards, for 5.4 average. Iowa's Earl Smith was the Big Ten's leading scorer with 48 points, three more than Bobby Watkins of Ohio State.

End John Kerr of Purdue was the top pass receiver. Kerr grabbed 15 passes for a high of 261 yards. Another end, Ron Kramer of Michigan led the punters with a 41.4 yard average.

In team statistics, Ohio State topped the league in rushing with an average of 239.1 yards and was first in scoring with a 26-point average.

Grand Scale Catering Feeding the Fans Big Job at Army-Navy Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—How would you like to have 102,000 hungry guests drop in on you next Saturday afternoon?

That's what will happen at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium when Army meets Navy in the annual service academy football classic.

Satisfying the hunger pangs of the huge crowd—most of them out-of-towners—is believed to be the largest single-feeding operation of its kind in the nation each year.

Using last year's game as the average, each Army-Navy fan will consume Saturday afternoon: A hot dog and a half, a fifth of a beef sandwich, a fifth of a fried chicken box lunch, more than a cup of hot chocolate, a fourth of a bag of peanuts and a third of a cup of coffee.

Last year's coffee situation was a sore spot with planners of the

Joe Perry of 49ers Takes Commanding Lead in NFL's Race for Rushing Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joe Perry, of the San Francisco 49ers has taken a commanding lead in his quest for a 2nd straight National Football League rushing crown as his nearest competitor, Paul Younger of the Los Angeles Rams, rode the bench with injuries last weekend.

Perry has gained 778 yards in nine games this season for an average of 86.4 per game.

The former Compton Junior College back, who gained 1015 yards last season, is averaging about nine yards less per game than Steve Van Buren, former Philadelphia Eagles star, when he set the league rushing record of 1146 yards in 1949.

Younger, who has gained 610 yards, is followed by John H. Johnson, of the 49ers, with 552.

Rainbow Trout Travels 500 Miles in Swim

Footloose Fish Travels From Lake Michigan to Lake Erie

LANSING (AP)—In less than a year a footloose rainbow trout traveled from northern Lake Michigan to the easterly end of Lake Erie.

The state conservation department reported a trout marked with a numbered tag for identification purposes was released Oct. 26, 1953, in the Black River of Mackinac County.

It was caught last Oct. 18 in a commercial fishing net near Port Dover, Ont.

During its travels through Lake Huron, the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and three-fourths of Lake Erie, the trout grew to 20 inches long, double its planting size, and 3 1/2 pounds, several times its release weight.

The department said the 500-mile trip is the longest recorded in this state.

Notre Dame's Brennan Is UP's Coach of Week

NEW YORK (UP)—His next big job is to make the Rose Bowl folks even happier than they are already over the New Year's day game.

His boys are 14-point favorites next Saturday, but he thinks they may have a bigger problem in beating de-glamorized Southern California than they did last week in trouncing Iowa.

He's the United Press coach of the week, Terry Brennan of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, and by all odds he's the freshest coach of the year.

World's Flyweight Title Is on Line

TOKYO (AP)—World flyweight champion Yoshio Shirai of Japan puts boxing's smallest crown on the line here Thursday night against Pascual Perez, temperamental Latin from the Pampas.

The 15-round outdoor scrap is expected to draw 25,000 to a baseball park.

Baseball Men Give Thanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Why some baseball men are thankful this Thanksgiving:

CASEY STENGEL, Yankees' manager — for Baltimore acquisitions Bullet Bob Turley and Don Larsen, who along with Whitey Ford and Bob Grim, give him the nucleus of a fine pitching staff with which to try and regain the American League championship.

WILLIE MAYS, New York Giants — for the guy who told him to quit swinging for home runs and concentrate on winning the National League batting championship which he did with a .345 average.

LEO DUROCHER, Giants' manager — for Lou Perini and his associates, who so magnanimously sent pitchers Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle his way last winter.

CHARLIE DRESSEN, Senators — for Clark Griffith, who will give Chuck a chance to prove he's a better manager than a letter-writer.

RALPH KINER, Indians — for Hank Greenberg's crystal ball which shows he will hit 30 homers and drive in 100 runs for Cleveland next season.

DUSTY RHODES, Giants — for Bob Lemon, off whom he hit the climactic 10th inning home run in the 1st game of the World Series to start his phenomenal chain of timely pinch-hits.

21 State Prep Teams Finish Clear Seasons

Dearborn and Grosse Pointe Lone Class A 11s to Make Grade

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Twenty-one high school football teams finished the 1954 season with perfect unbeaten, untied records.

But only two of these teams were in Class A—Dearborn (9-0) and Grosse Pointe (8-0).

Number of teams with all-winning records is four less than year, when 25 posted perfect marks.

There are three repeaters from the 1953 list—Jackson St. Mary, Homer and Iron River.

As a result of two straight all-winning seasons, Iron River holds the state's longest victory string with 20. Homer has 18 in a row and Jackson St. Mary 16 in a row.

These exclusive figures were compiled for the Associated Press by Dick Kishpaugh, veteran statistician from Kalamazoo.

Two newcomers to Michigan high school football made the select list. Eau Claire, which took up football for the 1st time in 1953, won all seven of its games this year. Flint St. John started football in 1952 and won all six of its games in its 3rd year of competition.

The number of unbeaten, untied teams—21—is slightly smaller than the average in recent years. This can be traced to the unusually small number of Class A teams which escaped with perfect marks.

The yearly Class A average is four, but only Grosse Pointe and Dearborn made the grade this season.

Waterfowl Season Closes at Sunset

By UNITED PRESS
The 1954 duck and geese season ends at sunset today with prospects of a good shooting even though the large flocks of migrating birds have passed their peak in Michigan.

Rough weather is expected to stir up birds who are "rafting" in deep water and drive them into gun range.

The season has been generally good with 1,456 Canada Geese being taken at the Swan Creek high banks last week, more than double that of 1953.

Cardinals' Dick Lane moved into 1st place in pass interceptions with seven, one more than Paul Cameron, Pittsburgh, and Jim David, of Detroit.

Baltimore Writer Backs Paul Richards in His Recent Deal Sending Three Players to Yankees

By GAYNE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Baltimore fans do not agree unanimously with this agent that their Orioleer got plucked by the Yankees in last week's earthshaking player deal. Maybe a Baltimore fan, having suffered, is in better position to evaluate the transaction than an outsider.

In a gallant effort to be fair to Paul Richards, the Oriole general manager who fathered the trade and was criticized so enthusiastically, we give you Spencer Davidson, who writes to us emotionally from the Baltimore Evening Sun as follows:

"I'm one of the Oriole fans who sweated all through the summer with the ball club last season and was cheered considerably when we finally coaxed up to seventh place when the season ended. And if any body was taken, the Yankees were."

"Let's take the Baltimore players (traded to the Yankees) in ascending order. Don Larsen is as good as traded. After all, we gave him a car last year for being the most valuable player on the team."

"You seem considerably elated with Turley's strikeout total (185) last season. But don't forget to read all the statistics. For every one he struck out he walked another one (181)."

"So don't get the idea that us yokels got taken by the big, bad Yankees, or that we're about to ride Richards out of town on a rail. Richards didn't get where he is by being taken. By the end of next season he'll be the one who can sit back and say, 'I told you so.'"

Potent Attacks to Collide in Service Classic

Army and Navy Rank One-Two in Offensive Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Never before have Army and Navy — or any other two teams — come up to the climax game of the football season so well equipped statistically for perfectly balanced offense.

Army has the most productive offense in the country and Navy is No. 2. NCAA service bureau statistics for major colleges showed today. Both have shown a rare degree of versatility in setting off strong running with exceptional passing.

In fact the Cadets, who rank No. 1 in rushing, are also on the fringes of a couple of all-time passing records for yards per try and yards per completion. Navy, using short passes more than Army, has No. 10 ranking in the passing tables to Army's No. 12, and No. 9 in rushing.

These are the only two major teams in the country among the leaders in both ground and air categories.

And in addition, Army has compiled some awesome per-play figures.

Statistics show that Army has gained, all told, 439.4 yards a game. That's a level only four teams have surpassed in previous years. Navy, in 2nd place, has 401.3 yards a game, 3rd-place Texas Tech 400.7 and 4th-place Mississippi 399.

Army-Navy passing records are almost identical on a yards-per-game basis, Navy averaging 133 and Army 130.3. But Navy has completed 79 out of 154 for 51.3 per cent. Army only 45 out of 97 for 46.4 per cent. Navy has thrown for 12 touchdowns, Army for 10.

All these Army-Navy operations have paid off in points, of course. Cadets are 4th nationally in scoring with 33.9 points a game and Navy is 7th with 32.

Leader in this respect is UCLA, which completed a perfect 9-game season last Saturday with 367 points, an average of 40.8. It's not likely to be caught by Arizona, 2nd with 35.1 and one game to play, or Texas Tech, 3rd with 34.5. Wichita's 32.4 and Oklahoma's 31.7 rank between Army and Navy while Miami at 26.4, Mississippi at 25.9 and Denver at 25.3 round out the top ten.

Purdue seems to have the passing title wrapped up with 177.3 yards a game and its season complete. California, also finished, has 172.4 and 3rd-place Mississippi, averaging 161.2, would need 323 air yards against Mississippi State Saturday to move ahead. Fourth place Oregon is also through and 5th-place Notre Dame needs 498 yards in two games to lift its 159.5-yard past Purdue's level.

Boxer's Suit Rejected by Federal Judge

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A federal judge has ruled a boxer's privacy is not necessarily invaded by the showing of fight films years after the actual bout.

U. S. District Judge Albert L. Watson held yesterday that boxer Al Ettore's private rights were not infringed upon by the television showing of 18-year-old films depicting a knockout by Joe Louis.

Ettore had contended his rights of privacy were invaded by the telecast, claiming he gave no permission for the film to be used.

Ettore had sued the Philco Television Broadcasting Corp., and the Chesapeake Manufacturing Co., sponsors of the telecast on a national network.

Terp-Missouri Contest Will Affect Bowl

Tatum Dispels Notion That Non-League Tilt Is Unimportant

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland's showing against Missouri tomorrow will have as much bearing on its chance of going to the Orange Bowl as any other game this season, coach Jim Tatum said today.

The Maryland coach sought to dispel a notion he said was held by many that only Atlantic Coast Conference results will count in picking its representative. Missouri belongs to the Big Seven.

Atlantic Coast Conference choice lies between Maryland and Duke. They have identical overall records of 6-2-1 going into their final games, Maryland against Missouri and Duke against North Carolina Saturday.

"I would like to clear up an impression that our Orange Bowl team will be picked on the conference record," Tatum said.

"The contract says that the Atlantic Coast Conference will send its 'most representative team' by a vote of members."

Tatum said the seven conference teams probably will be polled Saturday night or Sunday after the outcome of Duke's game is known.

"If the conference thinks Maryland is the most representative, there's no doubt we will accept," Tatum said.

The fact that Tatum is impressing on his squad that "every game counts" bars any mental letdown by Maryland against Missouri.

NY Ring Body Probes Television Donations

NEW YORK (AP) — The state athletic commission will determine next Tuesday whether television "donations" were paid to a manager guild by welterweight contender Vince Martinez or his managers.

Bill Daly and Tex Pette, co-managers of the Paterson, N. J. boxer, contend they made $100 contributions for each of Martinez' TV fights to the New York Boxing Managers Guild out of their own 22-2-3 per cent share of the fighter's purse.

Phil Martinez, brother of Vince, claims that $800 for eight TV fights, was taken from the full purses and handed over to the NYBMG. Thus, he contends, part of Vince's money was given to the Guild as a donation which Phil calls "tribute."

36 Forest Fires Listed

LANSING (UP) — Thirty-six reported fires in Michigan burned 143 acres of forests and grasslands last week as dry foliage and an influx of hunters created a late season hazard, conservation officials reported today. Frosty temperatures this week have nearly eliminated the hazard, field workers said.

Liberalized Substitution

MIAA Coaches Plan Return to Platoon Football If NCAA Doesn't Make Move

ALMA (AP) — The Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. (MIAA) voted 6-1 yesterday to further liberalize its football substitution rules next year unless the NCAA takes similar action in the meantime.

Coaches of the seven small Michigan conference schools appeared ready to go back to the two-platoon system or at least considerably more liberal substitution than now permitted under NCAA rules.

The NCAA has a meeting scheduled for New York in January. The MIAA will meet again in Lansing in March.

Coaches Lloyd Eaton of Alma and Frank Waters of Hillsdale are leading the campaign against the NCAA rules. Eaton was elected president of the coaches group for next year.

This year the MIAA permitted players taken out in any period to return during the final four minutes of the period. Under NCAA rules this can be done only in the second and fourth periods.

Coaches said the big schools were grabbing off most of the two-way players. And they said that with smaller squads the smaller colleges need to shuffle the players in and out more often.

They also contended that two-platoon football makes a better game, enables more players to see action and results in fewer injuries.

Other colleges in the conference in addition to Alma and Hillsdale are Hope, Adrian, Kalamazoo, Olivet and Calvin, although Calvin is not yet eligible for league competition in football.

Uclans Dominate Coast's All-Star College Eleven

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — International News Service all-star team for the Pacific Coast is dominated today by UCLA, nation's No. 1 team, (INS), with five players.

The All-Coast team, compiled from a sampling of observers up and down the coast, is big, strong, fast and agile, an outfit to make any coach's mouth water, and some are of All-America caliber.

Uclans who received the accolade for the coast are tackle Jack Ellena, guard Jim Salisbury, guard Sam Boghosian, and backfield men Primo Villanueva and Bob Davenport.

UCLA dominated the Pacific Coast as no other collegiate team

Fitzgerald, Tigers' 'Voice,' Has Retired

DETROIT (UP) — Edward T. Fitzgerald, whose voice was known to millions of baseball fans who visited Briggs Stadium during the past 16 years, has retired as publicity director of the Detroit Tigers.

There was no official notice of Fitzgerald's retirement because that's the way "Fitz" wanted it. His chief duty was to publicize ball players, never himself. Doc Fenkel, his aide, will fill Fitzgerald's post.

Clarkston Merchant 5 Opens With Victory

Clarkston Merchants' basketball team opened its season Tuesday in the Clarkston gymnasium with a 64-54 victory over the Clarenceville Merchants in a Class A exhibition.

Gus Birtsas led the winners with 20 points, while Ed Hintz added 18 and Dom Mauti 15. Game honors went to Clarenceville's Joe Pacacha with 30 points. Clarkston will compete in Pontiac's Class A City League.

CASE—Unvarying Footwork
Shadow bowling, as I practiced it, wasn't fun. That I admit. Sliding to the foul line and delivering an imaginary ball was, in fact, kind of ludicrous to me.

That was, however, because I, as an ambitious pupil, didn't realize the value of shadow work as given by former world match king Jimmy Smith. I did

It for days, for weeks, until the old master finally handed me a ball and let me fire away.

My slide finish at the line had become so accurate, so exact, that my left foot fitted perfectly into a chalk outline Smith drew, and I immediately had a free, easy delivery with good control.

There was one point Smith emphasized particularly: I had to stride in a straight line, so that my foot, on the third step, was dead center, as sketch shows. My footwork had to be unvarying.

Teams Collide in Thanksgiving Tilt Tomorrow

Buddy Parker Doesn't Look for Easy Time in Game

By LLOYD NORTARD

DETROIT (UP) — Green Bay's stout losing effort against the Lions Sunday didn't impress the oddsmakers. Detroit has been installed as a 16-point favorite over the Packers in tomorrow's rematch at Briggs Stadium.

That's two points more than the Lions were figured to win by in the first meeting of the two teams, which saw Green Bay battle right down to the closing gun before dropping a 21-17 decision.

Packer coach Lis Blackburn said today: "We'll run into an aroused championship team whose dignity has been ruffled."

Coach Buddy Parker of the Lions doesn't look for an easy time in the Thanksgiving Day match. He would be willing to settle for a 1-point victory.

"The Packers are a sound defensive team," Parker said. "And they've got a passing attack that can cause plenty of trouble. Green Bay gave us a scare last Sunday and we aren't expecting a picnic in the rematch."

Victory over the Packers would move the Lions within one triumph of the National Football League's Western Division title and a crack at a never-before-attained 3rd straight league championship.

Parker hopes the Lions can wrap up division honors in a hurry. Two years ago, Detroit was forced to play off with Los Angeles for the division title and the Lions had to defeat the New York Giants on the final day of the 1953 season to avoid another playoff.

"It would be nice to go into the last two regular season games without having to worry about the outcome," Parker said.

Parker said guard Dick Stanfel injured his back at Green Bay and will be out of the lineup "indefinitely." But the Lions can't gamble on securing a replacement since it would necessitate putting Stanfel on the injured reserve list for 30 days. The championship game is scheduled Dec. 26 and Parker is hopeful Stanfel will be healed by that time.

Lou Creekmur will be moved over from tackle to fill Stanfel's vacant spot. Thurman McGraw, recently returned to the roster after being on the injured reserve list for 30 days, will probably take over Creekmur's old spot.

Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corp. will sponsor a nationwide broadcast of the game on radio and television, starting at noon. About 175 television stations and 500 radio stations throughout the nation will carry the game. An area 75 miles around Detroit, including Toledo, Ohio, will be blacked out although the game is a sellout.

Debbie Reynolds
One of MGM Stars in 'Jumbo'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — "Jumbo" has been reactivated and will star Debbie Reynolds and other top MGM players.
It cannot be made in either June or July, because Eddie Fisher tells me that he and Debbie will take two months off for a honeymoon when they marry in June.

"We're not going to be married in December," Eddie said, "because we want plenty of time to ourselves."

He said that he and Debbie had a wonderful time when she was in the East. She came home Monday and he gets here Friday.

The producer-director-writer team of Roger Eden, Stanley Donen and Leonard Spigelglass will do the same chore for "Jumbo" that they did for "Deep in My Heart."

Immediate marriage is not for Liberace, he tells me.

"When I get married, I want to be the aggressor and court the girl myself," he said. Lee didn't say who he had in mind, but it didn't take a big brain to guess.

He said that he's getting as many of his recordings out of the way as possible and is doing his Christmas shows now.

"You see, I'm starting at Warner's 'Sincerely Yours' in April, and I'm busy, busy, busy. Irving Wallace is writing the story and Henry Blanke will produce."

"Have you seen Joanne Rios?" I asked him.

"No, I haven't," he answered. "I've been too busy."

The search for the femme lead in "Kiss Me Deadly," the Mickey Spillane story starring Ralph Meeker, is ended. Robert Aldrich has signed Cloris Leachman, the New York television actress who is currently appearing in "King of Hearts" on Broadway.

Miss Leachman played the Mary Martin role in one of the "South Pacific" road companies, and producer Aldrich believes that she will be a great addition to motion pictures.

She will also do "Kitty Foyle" on TV Dec. 2. Remember, that's the picture that won Ginger Rogers an Oscar some years ago.

The day before Judy Garland went into Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, I talked to her and she told me that she was playing golf that afternoon with Jeanne (Mrs. Dean) Martin.

"Do you think you ought to take such strenuous exercise?" I asked.

"I feel so well that I want to keep active," she said.

Perhaps Judy exercised too much, because immediately after that golf game she didn't feel very well. However, she is home now and no serious damage done.

She expects her baby in four months, and Judy is being careful not to gain too much weight.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Director Anatole Litvak is marrying Sophie, famous French model, next month in London.

Lana Turner checked into the Palm Springs Tennis Club for a week's rest, Lex Barker, who is busy at Universal-International, isn't with her. She spends her time sitting in the sun in front of her bungalow.

Let Us Give Thanks

This Thanksgiving, let us be thankful, as children are thankful, for the wonderful little things of life; the taste of good food, the joy of familiar things, the laughter of children, the love of dear ones.

So our employees may enjoy Thanksgiving with their own families... we will be closed Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

Hal Boyle Says:

Amazing Armenian Builds $23 Million TV Business

NEW YORK (UP)—"You must find security within yourself," said Sarkis Tarzian. "Trying to find it outside yourself is like chasing the rainbow."

Tarzian, who came here from Turkish Armenia at the age of 6, long ago conquered his own self-doubts. His first night in this country he slept in an alley in Philadelphia. Today, at 54, he operates a television, radio and manufacturing empire in Bloomington, Ind., that grosses $23,000,000 a year.

The success saga of this amazing Armenian is based on his philosophy that "there is nothing in life that can give you more pleasure than taking a new idea—and making it work."

He decided in grammar school he wanted to be an engineer, and in high school won a scholarship that put him through the University of Pennsylvania. During summers he worked at 40 cents an hour as a factory laborer to earn his spending money. "So I wouldn't be a burden on my parents."

When he was graduated in 1924, he looked around for a new field and found it in radio. In the next 20 years he became a top design engineer for first Atwater Kent, then RCA.

In 1944, Tarzian quit and with $40,000 he had saved began mass producing TV turners for other manufacturers. Gradually he added other items which his skill as a practical engineer taught him he could turn out most efficiently. He expanded steadily, acquired a radio station, added a TV station and made it show a profit from the start.

Tarzian now has a payroll of 2,600 and is Bloomington's biggest single industrial employer. He is a strong booster of the advantages of living in smaller cities.

"I believe it is a good long range plan for industry to decentralize and give people an opportunity to earn a livelihood in their own communities," he said.

"Life is really better in a small town, and you can get more out of life in one. Why should a boy have to leave his home town and go to a big city merely to earn a living? It shouldn't be necessary."

Tarzian is active in community affairs. He and his wife—they have two children—work as a team. She handles personnel problems, he supervises engineering production.

"Making money is merely incidental," he said. "Today business operates in such a way that you have to gamble a dollar to make half a cent profit. If money is all you're after, you're foolish to gamble at 200-to-1 odds. You'd do better to put your money in tax-free bonds."

"The only reason for taking risks is for the pleasure of trying to do something new—and getting it done. The money is the end, not the means."

In a world of neurotic fears that assail millionaires as well as paupers, Tarzian, whose hobby is reading science and philosophy, sees no personal reason for being afraid.

"The only people who are afraid are those who know they aren't doing what is right," he said. "When you know you are doing what is right, you have your security inside you—and that's the only place you'll ever find it."

Henry Refuses Post at Illinois University

NEW YORK (UP)—Dr. David D. Henry, executive vice chancellor of New York University, said yesterday he had asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration as president of the University of Illinois because of the "deplorable" degeneration of the selection procedure into "a process of public review."

Henry's decision was first made known in Detroit, where an Illinois trustee was scheduled to meet with Wayne University officials today to investigate an anonymous unfavorable report sent to the Illinois board relative to Henry's former presidency of Wayne.

Henry said in a statement issued by his office here that he had at no time sought the position at Illinois nor agreed to accept it if offered.

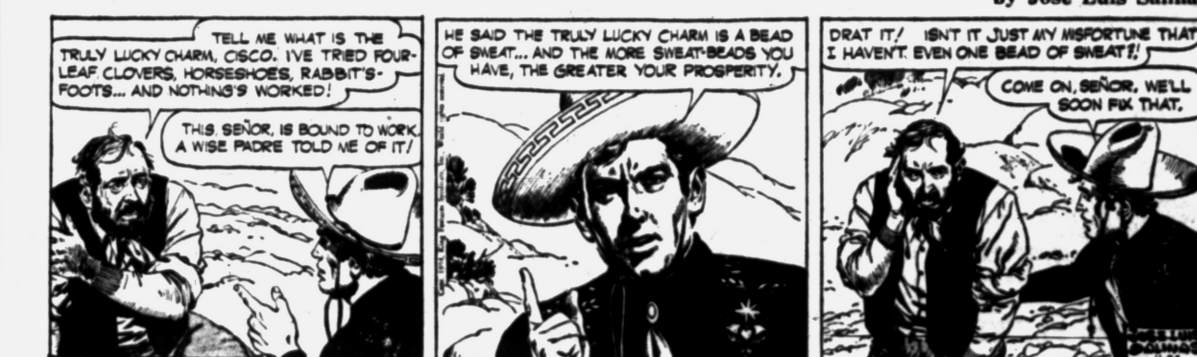

Henry was said to be one of five persons whose names were under discussion by the board and the only one who has been interviewed by the board so far.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

The heart of Ebenezer Scrooge was only slightly colder than the cell in which his only employee, the wretched Bob Cratchit, toiled.

When Scrooge's nephew, Fred, dropped by to wish his uncle a merry Christmas, and to invite him to Christmas dinner, the old curmudgeon turned on him with "Christmas? Bah! Humbug!"

"Every idiot who goes about with 'Merry Christmas' on his lips should be boiled with his pudding and buried with a stake of holly through his heart!" roared Scrooge.

Slaying Suspect Sent to Hospital

Mother of 5 Accused of Feeding Rat Poison to Daughter

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Eileen Bell, 28, who is charged with murder in connection with the rat poisoning death of her 2½-year-old daughter, Ruth Ann, was ordered taken to Torrance State Hospital today.

State police say Mrs. Bell, the mother of five children, admitted putting rat poison on a piece of bread Nov. 10, then having another child give the bread to Ruth Ann because she was hungry and cried.

Judges Ivan McKenrick and George W. Griffith ordered the woman committed to the mental institution for 90 days after two physicians examined her.

Mrs. Bell was a "low type moron" who tortured her children, the physicians reported.

If Mrs. Bell responds to psychiatric treatment her case will be presented to the Cambria County grand jury.

William Bell, Mrs. Bell's 26-year-old husband, is charged with assault and battery with intent to kill and is being held under $10,000 bail.

Young Producer Plans Carefully

Sleeping Beauty Ballet
Most Important Part of Annual Extravaganza

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UP)—There is at least one television program that no one can complain about on the grounds that it's been too frequently. It is given only once a year.

"Thanksgiving Festival Hour of Music" is the program, and the title explains why it turns up only on the last Thursday of each November.

The sponsor has been presenting the show for six straight years, which covers TV's big-time career, and is inclined to feel a little superior in the face of all the talk this season about spectaculars and extravaganzas. Thanksgiving Festival has been a one-hour super-special from the beginning.

Even more unusual is the fact that the same producing, directing and writing teams have handled the program from the start. Its producer, Alan Cartoun, now 29, is still the youngest producer in TV.

"We operate on the theory that having a big-name star is not a guarantee of a big show," Cartoun said. "A thoroughly artistic production, with or without personalities, that is built carefully after painstaking planning for the maximum entertainment of the whole family is the only successful formula for a true television spectacular."

"We're even using part of the same technique we originated back in 1948 with the first show. That involves the use of two studios. The radio and half the video will originate in one studio. Only video will come from the second studio."

"That means we can have the ballet sequences done in a studio where there is no sound equipment, with the result that the listeners will get no distracting sound of dancing feet. Also, scenery in that studio can be moved at will without danger that any of the noise reaching a microphone."

"We coordinate the action in the two studios through a central control room."

One of the important items in the program this Thursday will be an unusual version of "The Sleeping Beauty," combining the spoken word, a special musical score, ballet, animation on film and pantomime.

Walter Hampden, dean of male stage stars, will narrate the 20-minute version of the famous fairy tale. Animated cartoon mood bits on film will be integrated into the live action as an essential part of the story and not just for background effect. None of the characters is depicted in the film, however. Beverly Lusford, an eight-year-old dancer and actress from Atlanta, Ga., will play the princess as a little girl.

Debbie, Eddie Met Through Pontiac Man

For Hollywood's current turtle doves, the soon-to-be-married Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher, it was not love at first sight.

It fact, it was a Pontiac man. Neil Wasserberger of Pontiac was first introduced to Debbie and Eddie—over in Korea.

Wasserberger at the time was an Army liaison man coordinating activities between the Army and the Actor's Guild. He was stationed in Tokyo, where he costumed shows and handled relations. In December 1952 he went to Seoul, Korea, in the same group with which Debbie traveled. She arrived on the scene as part of a "Christmas package" of stars for the holidays.

Eddie Fisher was there, singing in a quartet. It was then that Wasserberger introduced the two at an officers' club.

But the time was not ripe for them to be smitten by Cupid, for it was not until they met again—in the United States that Debbie and Eddie fell in love.

Fake Royalty Repeats, Sees Another Premier

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—New York's phony royalty has now been out-phoned.

The Brooklyn-born "Maharajah of Barata" who faked his way into "The Egyptian" premiere weeks ago just did it again Wednesday as "Count Henri Louis Bonaparte, descendant of Napoleon."

Albert Carlo, 44, night club designer, who has a regal-looking Van Dyke, got into the premiere of "Desiree"—was interviewed on TV, given a special VIP sticker for his car, ushered through police lines, and photographed for the papers along with Merle Oberon and Prince Christian of Hanover.

"I did it because they said they were going to keep phony out of premieres after I did it at 'The Egyptian,'" Carlo says. Telling the French Tourist Bureau he was on a scavenger hunt, he got stationery, faked a letter to 20th Century-Fox, was sent free tickets, and arrived with Mrs. Elsa Martin and daughter who speak fluent French.

Fearing his own lingo'd give him away, he wore a hearing aid and asked that his "wife" speak for him.

"My husband does not hear well," she said. Under the caption "Royalty," a picture of "The Count" appeared in one paper. Tex McCrary interviewed him for radio... not entirely unsuspecting.

"He looked like he had makeup on, but the earphone threw me," McCrary said.

Carlo, who said it was a "protest against the pomp of premieres," plans another stunt at another premiere, but won't hint what it is. In fact, he was non-committal to us commoners who asked him about it.

"That's the way it is with us royalty," he said.

Bejeweled Zsa Zsa Gabor was with her sister Eva's boy friend, textillionaire Dennis Slater, at the Myron Cohen-Kean Sisters' big Copacabana opening, acting mighty, mighty chummy. "I haf not steal him," Zsa Zsa said. "My sister ees in California, so I am keeping her boy friend away from some other girl."

Showgal Jeanne Williams, a Nashville honey, tells us she got a brown mink stole worth about $1200 through the mail without a return address or anything except a note: "To keep you warm while you're looking for a job." Jeanne, recently fired from "Kismet," says she hasn't any idea who sent it, except: "I'm quite sure of one thing—it was a man."

Romantic Montgomery Clift kept holding Elizabeth Taylor by the neck at the premiere of "The Last Time I Saw Paris"—and Van Johnson, very nervous, wore red socks again with his dinner jacket. Special police protected Liz, who's expecting soon.

A Boston playgoer, seen walking out with his hat and coat after the first act, was asked why he was leaving.

"Well," he answered, as Joe Harrington tells it, "I've just seen the first act, and I'm sure that the author who wrote that, also wrote the second act."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Audrey Hepburn's expecting... Kay Thompson unveiled a new nose at her big Plaza opening... Anne Nichols invited Nancy Carroll who played in the movie of "Abie's Irish Rose" to the Broadway opening... And the widow of Bob Benchley. 'Twas Benchley who helped make the show a hit by rapping it weekly... Pretty Gloria Talbott's making her film debut in Filmmakers' "Crashout"... Mrs. Ray Anthony served divorce papers on the maestro... Katie Hepburn sneaked off the liner Independence; she went through a cargo entrance with long-shoremen.

Earl's Pearls... A pal complained to Joyce Bryant about a psychiatrist's prices: "If he thinks I'm gonna pay it, he ought to have his head examined."

WISH-IT SAID THAT: "Remember, half the people aren't interested in hearing about your troubles and the other half are glad you're finally getting what you deserve." Seng News.

Woman Hurt Falling When Lawn Caves In

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP)—A 65-year-old woman was pulled to safety yesterday after her front lawn collapsed and she was plunged 7½ feet into a mine breach.

Mrs. Catherine Murphy of nearby Shaft, Pa., was injured critically when her front yard virtually disappeared in the cave-in. Alden Hertz, member of the William Penn Fire Co., was lowered into the yawning hole and pulled the woman to safety.

She was taken to Locust Mountain Hospital here and was reported suffering from internal injuries, a fractured nose, possible fracture of the left hip and other injuries.

An old mine barrier, beneath the surface, was blamed for the collapse.

Deaths Last Night

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Lemon L. Smith, 73, organizer and president of the Bankers Investment Trust of America, New York, from 1928 to 1950, retired lumber operator, and correspondent for the United Press and Johnstown Tribune at the Versailles Peace Treaty Conference.

Even People With Trouble Have Reasons for Thanks

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—"But what have I to be thankful for?" some people say—and they go around looking sad and bewildered. Not only at Thanksgiving but a good part of the time.

In certain cases, I'm sure, their query seems justified because of recent bereavement or illness, because of a lost job, the shock of a broken marriage, the loss of confidence due to some setback to one's pride.

But even though there's more than mere self-pity behind the question, the answer still could be "plenty!"

We nearly all do have lots to be thankful for. The deeply religious among us know that at all times, whatever the trials and ailments of the mind and spirit.

But even the less religious-minded should keep tight clutch on that guiding thread of life—there's plenty of blessings along with the woes! To count your blessings isn't being a rosy-glasses, Pollyanna sort—it's a clear sure way to see the good in life, the comfort, the hope.

People who simply cannot do this—who speak and think and dwell only on their problems, or sadnesses—always remind me of some young couples during the war.

feeling most thankful about, you'd get a surprising bunch of answers, I'm sure.

One might say "because Jimmy's going to live," another, "because I got a raise." An old woman might tell you, "Because I still have my health," and a young one, "because I'm going to get married." A school kid might say, "Well, gosh, we beat the Trojans 142 to 98 at basketball," and his father might say, "Because this city beat that scallywag politician Smith so badly in the election, he'll never be heard from again."

No matter what the reply, don't underestimate its importance. One man's boon has often been another's boredom, but if it strikes any heart as a blessing, then a bell rings somewhere.

And the entire experience of feeling grateful instead of angry, rich instead of robbed, blessed instead of beaten down—that's just another way of putting the lovely word, "Thanksgiving."

U.S. Files Suit for $20 Million

Action Seeking Return of War Surplus Vessels From Greek Tycoon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has filed a suit asking $20 million dollars from Aristotle Socrates Onassis, the Greek shipping tycoon, and his associates for alleged illegal use of American war surplus vessels.

Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers announced the action was brought in U.S. District Court at New York City.

The government seeks the earnings of 16 ships obtained by the Onassis group from the U.S. surplus fleet in the years 1948 through 1951.

Under the law, the surplus vessels could only be sold to bona fide American citizens.

The government now has criminal indictments pending against Onassis and his associates, charging fraudulent acquisition of the vessels through misrepresentation that the purchasing corporations were controlled by American interests, and so were eligible to buy the ships.

In the recovery suit, the Justice Department charges that when the 16 ships were bought, actual control of the purchasing corporations was in the Onassis group, all of whom were aliens.

The court was asked to enter an order declaring that the title to these vessels and all of their earnings since they left the surplus fleet are the property of the United States.

Thirteen of the vessels have actually been seized by the U. S. government during the past 15 months when they put into American ports. The other three are tabbed for seizure at any time they touch the United States.

Onassis makes his headquarters in the former Casino at Monte Carlo to which he bought several years ago as an office. However, he is now in New York City, and the Justice Department said the $20 million dollar recovery complaint was personally served on him there.

In addition to Onassis, the suit names as defendants: Merope Onassis Koniakidis, Constantine Koniakidis, Nicholas Koniakidis, Sociedad Arizona Panama, Sociedad Maritima Miraflores Litada, Petroleum Carriers of Panama, Inc., Transatlantica Financiera Industrial, United States Petroleum Carriers, Inc. and Victory Carriers, Inc.

SEOUL (AP)—More than 10,000 high school students today demonstrated against all-Korean elections to unify the peninsula.

INDIAN LORE—SYMBOLS

Pictured above are some typical symbols of American Indian tribes. Some of the famous Indian tribes' names are displayed in the picture's border. The Indians used this picture writing to decorate shields, canoes, teepees and other objects. You can copy these to decorate the drum you made yesterday, or color them, cut out and paste on your drum.

Select the symbols you like best from today's drawing and put them on the drum. You can use water colors, crayons or colored pencils. The Indians used paints made of crushed rocks, or of plants.

Indian names usually were taken from things familiar in their life. Some common Indian names were Running Deer, Sparkling Water, Clouded Moon and Bright Star. You can see that Indians paid a great deal of attention to weather, the seasons, and plant and wild life.

If you would like to have a real Indian name for yourself, here are some you could select: A Cherokee boy might be named Nakwise (pronounced KNOCK-WEE-SEE), which means Star. A Cherokee girl might be named Kamama (pronounced KAH-MAH-MAH), meaning Butterfly.

A boy of the Blackfoot tribe with the name Star would be called Kakatos (pronounced KAH-KAH-TOES). A girl of that tribe named Butterfly would be known as Aponi (pronounced AH-PHO-NEE).

Denver Real Zoom Town as New Money Pours In

By MARGARET LATROBE

DENVER — You couldn't call it a boom town, although in the days of the Silver Dollar Saloon it might have been that. In those days it was gold and silver strikes which worked prospectors into a lather; then cattle, railroads, mills and federal agency concentration made Denver a very sizeable spot on the map.

Today it is a zoom town, running a close race with uranium strikes and industrial expansion in the stretch — and no end in sight.

From downtown, the elderly Brown Palace Hotel watches the new money interests nudging the old-money crowd, without apparent annoyance at the changing scene. In its lobby are eastern investors, Texas investors, Colorado investors with ready cash and ready interest in the fast-moving whirligig.

The new money and old money fight isn't too serious, the way I heard it. Just the same old humorous snobbery of every village or metropolis the world over. "Who are these awful people?" is still heard from the old guard, but without the carpetbagger sting. After all, their Pop rode into Denver on a mule in 1860 or maybe around 1900—and who the hell are you, driving up in the flashy convertible with the wad of money? Going into business, eh? There really aren't too many openings here, you know.

But the new set finds Denver just exactly the place for new business. Wages are relatively low, but prices are high as the elevation, enough to make you sort of lightheaded.

We didn't hear much open talk about uranium. Just an occasional offhand mention of taking the vacation up in the mountains where it didn't hurt to do some prospecting before cold weather set in.

Said howdy-do to the mayor and his lady, who were sauntering along the sidewalk in the early evening. Didn't know us and we didn't know them. Just said howdy, neighbor. But mayor or somebody sure put some A-1 traffic regulations into practice. Nearly all streets are one-way. When the lights change at busy intersections it looks as if some crazy square dance were in progress. A fandango which had got fouled up from a miscall from the fiddle section. When the light flashes "Walk" — they do, in all directions. Diagonally, crisscross — any way at all. Keeps down broken fibula, tibia and necks.

Friendly and terrific Denver, I'll be back some day. With maybe a little mooah, if there's a place for some real new money.

GIs in Korea to Start Having Milk on Menu

SEOUL (AP)—American soldiers in Korea will get milk on the menu next week for the first time since the 8th Army's arrival in Korea. Five hundred thousand cans of recombined whole milk were unloaded in Pusan Tuesday.

The Army plans to provide each soldier by early next year with half a pint of milk a day, four to seven days a week.

Recombined milk is made of frozen cream and dried skim milk.

Rennel Faith Pays Off in Weight Loss

Wise Rennel users who parade their courage and determination can expect good results from Rennel Concentrate. Wishing will not do it. The next step is yours. Reduce your weight and guard your health. Mrs. George Porter, R. No. 2, Jonesville, Mich. writes: "At 57 years of age my weight was up to 200 lbs. I began using Rennel and in 10 weeks I had lost 28 lbs. That was several months ago and I have kept that weight even though I am eating all the short cakes and ice cream I want. I am still taking Rennel two days a week as a regulator and find it to be one of the best. Soon I will take Rennel again as directed and get down to 150 lbs. I feel sure Rennel will do it for me."

You too can regain your pride, health and your natural figure. If you are value minded and Rennel wise you will ask your druggist for liquid Rennel. Ask for free booklet. If not pleased with the very first bottle return it to the manufacturer for refund. Price $1.48.
