Two Yule Stories for Children Starting Monday

"Read me a story about Santa Claus, Mommie!"

Does this sound familiar?

The Pontiac Press, next Monday, will start a Christmas serial for children, entitled 'Santa and the Ice King.' It is an adventure story about an Eskimo boy named Oonik, who starts out to find Santa Claus and the Ice King.

Also starting on Monday in The Press is 'Little Gabe and the Golden Stars,' an illustrated strip story.

Payroll Levy Pushed Aside by GOP Solons

Package Would Yield $34 Million; House May Beef Up Total Take

LANSING (AP) — The Senate last night approved a 34-million-dollar Republican package of nuisance taxes to break a legislative log jam.

Senators moved swiftly on the 166th day of the record-long 1959 session, with majority Republicans galvanized to action by the threat of a Democrat 1 per cent payroll tax.

The four bills, all passed on party line votes of 18 to 13, were hustled to the House where the next move in meeting Michigan's cash crisis will come next week.

Their fate was uncertain. But if a final solution was built around them, the package was sure to be enlarged by 20 to 30 million dollars.

There were signs the House, with tacit Senate agreement, would boost the yield by a 26 million dollar, one-shot tap on corporations — to be repaid in tax credits in 1961 and 1962.

House Republicans today started move to beef up the nuisance tax package.

House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) said he hoped for a target date of Dec. 18 as time when a total package of 50 to 60 million dollars can clear both houses.

Pears named a four-man committee to negotiate with House Democrats and Senate members. On the committee were Pears and GOP Reps. Wilfred Bassett, Jackson; Farrell Roberts, West Bloomfield, and GOP Floor Leader Allison Green, Kingston.

Gov. Williams, who has pegged new revenue needs at 110 million dollars, denounced the GOP Senate (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Constitutional Confab Eyed

State League of Women Voters, Jaycees Move for April '61 Ballot

LANSING (AP)—An organized move for a vote in April 1961 on calling a constitutional convention was announced last night.

Mrs. Howard Lichterman, president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan, said a petition drive to get the proposition on the ballot will be undertaken jointly by her group and the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce.

She said the 300,000 necessary signatures were expected to be obtained in the first six months of 1960.

★ ★ ★

The plan calls not only for a con-con vote but for changing the basis of electing delegates to the special convention.

Under the proposal, the convention's makeup would parallel that of the State Legislature—one delegate elected for each representative and one for each senator.

★ ★ ★

The Constitution now calls for a convention comprised of three delegates elected from each of the state's 34 senatorial districts.

STUMBLING BLOCK

This provision has been a stumbling block to Democratic support for con-con propositions in recent years. Democrats have complained it would lead to a rural-dominated conclave, since Senate districts are based on square mileage rather that population.

If the petition drive succeeds, five changes would be written into the existing constitution—including the one affecting the convention makeup—at the November 1960 election.

The proposals that would be placed before voters at that time would:

1. Put the question of calling a constitutional convention on the April 1961 ballot.

2. Change the vote requirement to approval by a majority of those voting on the question. Approval now requires a majority of all those voting in the election.

★ ★ ★

3. Require an election of delegates to the special convention within four months after approval of the convention call.

4. Change the delegate basis.

5. Provide for convening of the convention in Lansing on the first Tuesday in October following the convention call.

Cigar-Lover Lodge Breaks Own Heart

For more reasons than one, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) voted reluctantly last night for a 20 per cent tax on cigar and pipe smokers.

Lodge, a heavy cigar smoker, said he figured it would cost him $150 a year.

The portly Lodge, who smokes upwards of a dozen 30-cent stogies daily and gives others away, buys his cigars monthly in lots of 500. The habit costs him $700 a year, he said.

Riviera Village Caught Asleep by Raging Flood

River of Death Brought by Five Days of Rain Sparks Mass Terror

FREJUS, France (AP) — A massive torrent released by the thundering collapse of a dam left a sluice of death, silt and destruction today along the rich Reyran River Valley in the French Riviera.

At least 140 persons are dead, and 160 missing.

Millions of tons of water backed up behind the 185-foot high Malpasset Dam by five days of heavy rain were loosed upon the peacefully sleeping farm valley Wednesday.

The water smashed houses, uprooted trees, rolled over trucks, derailed trains and broke telegraph and telephone poles.

Hours after—as rescuers began arriving and the waters subsided into the Mediterranean—the full range of disaster became apparent. The four-mile wide valley, 16 miles southwest of Cannes, was a jumbled canal of wreckage and silt.

TOWN OF 13,500

The rushing waters partly flooded this town of 13,500 which was founded by Julius Caesar in 49 B.C., and was one of the landing points in the Allied invasion of southern France in 1944.

The old Roman amphitheater, the town's main tourist attraction, was under water.

Lines of bodies lay in the morgues of Frejus and nearby towns.

★ ★ ★

"About 9 o'clock I heard a terrific cracking," he said. "I screamed to my wife, 'We must save ourselves, the dam is breaking!' Forty-nine million cubic meters of waters (nearly 10 billion gallons) broke loose at one blow, carrying everything with it. My wife and I were able to get to high ground where we spent a horrible night."

MIGHTY ROAR

Sauver Gil, a railway worker, said he heard a mighty roar and the next thing he knew his door was burst open by the surging water.

"By the time I got out of bed the water was at my shoulders," he said. "My wife, her mother and I clung to a mattress. The water kept coming into the house and we were pressed against the ceiling before it started to go down."

Many bodies were discovered in a sea of mud in Frejus.

Fifteen persons, including two children, clung to a shuddering old mill through the night and were saved just before the building collapsed.

The French government proclaimed the valley a disaster area.

The French aircraft carrier Lafayette, formerly the USS Langley, served as a floating hospital and flight deck for 15 rescue helicopters. The U. S. Air Force offered to parachute aid if necessary.

Ike to Address Nation, Depart

Long Trip Starts Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower takes off for Rome tonight on the first leg of a jet-propelled good will tour of 11 nations.

His departure, immediately after a radio-television speech to the nation, will follow a full day's work schedule. It includes a series of conferences and the second meeting this week of the National Security Council, with which Eisenhower has been discussing budgetary and other matters.

The 15-minute broadcast, starting at 7:15 p.m. EST was expected to include both a new plea for settlement of the steel dispute, and an explanation of Eisenhower's purposes in making his extraordinary journey.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday he wants to prove to the people of the world that the United States is a "good partner" with other nations in the quest for a just peace.

★ ★ ★

His travels have one other major objective, apart from the individual problems he will discuss with such leaders as India's Prime Minister Nehru. That is to lay the basis for future summit negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

To that end he will meet in Paris Dec. 19-21 with French President Charles de Gaulle, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The presidential party of 21 persons, traveling by Military Air Transport jet liner, will take off from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., about 8 p.m. tonight. It is due in Rome at noon, Italian time, Friday after a refueling stop at Goose Bay, Labrador.

In the group will be the President's son and his wife, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower; the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder; two speech writers, Malcolm Moos and Kevin McCann; and Robert D. Murphy, Eisenhower's chief diplomatic adviser for the tour.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is staying behind in Washington to make detailed policy preparations for the Paris meeting.

He will be on hand in Paris when the President arrives there late on Dec. 18.

In addition to Italy, he is to visit Turkey, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Iran, Greece, Tunisia, France, Spain and Morocco. He is due home Dec. 22.

Why Did Youth Join Hood in Cold-Blooded Shooting?

By PETE LOCHBILER

Why does a 17-year-old boy who has never been in trouble with the law before involve himself in a holdup with a hardened ex-convict?

Especially when the older man plans to slay the robbery victim in cold blood to prevent his talking?

If Carroll L. Lay knows the answers he won't—or can't express them.

He knows, however that for the sake of $2 he now faces a criminal charge that could lead, on conviction, to as much as life in prison.

Lay was arraigned yesterday on a charge of armed robbery in the $60 holdup and near-fatal shooting of a 19-year-old Highland Township gas station attendant.

Also arraigned on the same charge was Victor Hood, 25, accused of shooting Dale F. Newton in the back execution-style in a merciless attempt to prevent him from talking.

Roy J. Carl, Highland Township justice of the peace, ordered the two held under $25,000 bond each for examination Dec. 10. That is the same day authorities hope Juvenile Court will waive jurisdiction over the third member in the holdup, 16-year-old Theodore A. Mendoza of Lake Orion.

If permission is gained to try Mendoza as an adult, Assistant Prosecutor Edward H. Shigley said he would ask for a postponement in the Dec. 10 hearing so that evidence against all three defendants can be examined together at a later date.

Examination is to take place before Elmer C. Dieterle, West Bloomfield Township justice of the peace.

The holdup Monday night was at a Highland road gas station about three miles from the township hall. Newton is still in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital, paralyzed from the waist down by the bullet that lodged next to his spine.

Merchants Make Bid for Courthouse, Land

A group of downtown merchants has made an offer of $200,000 for the 55-year-old county courthouse and the valuable property it is situated on at Saginaw-Huron streets.

The offer to buy was made in a letter to Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, from George Richman. He said he was a member of the independent group of merchants interested in the property.

★ ★ ★

It was the first offer made for the old building, completed in 1904, and the city block of property bounded by Saginaw on the east, West Huron on the north, Wayne on the west, and a line of commercial shops on the south. It would include the prosecutor's office building.

The group's offer, more than likely to be rejected, comes as a modern $3,000,000 courthouse is being constructed at the county service center on Telegraph road.

The two-story courthouse has not officially been put up for sale yet, nor has its value been appraised, according to David Levinson, Birmingham supervisor in charge of the Board of Supervisors' special courthouse building committee.

"We've got about a year and a half to go before we even get around to it," he said.

However, Richman, president of the Downtown Merchants Assn., said the offer was made because the group felt "somebody should take the ball and see what is going to be done with that valuable property."

He emphasized the offer was not made on behalf of the association.

Say They Didn't Doctor Records of Hoffa's Calls

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two hotel switchboard operators pleaded innocent today to charges of obstructing the Senate Rackets Committee and a grand jury by doctoring hotel records of phone calls made by James R. Hoffa and another union president.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Sally T. Hucks, chief telephone operator at the Woodner apartment-hotel, and her assistant, Violet A. Davis, were indicted yesterday on charges they tampered with phone records of Hoffa and James Cross, president of the Bakers Union.

★ ★ ★

The Woodner is Teamster Union President Hoffa's Washington home. The bakery union, ousted from the AFL-CIO, also has a permanent suite there.

The two women appeared in federal court. They were placed on $1,300 bond for trial Feb. 8.

Barbara No 'Substitute' —but Will She Be Busy!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soft-spoken Barbara Eisenhower, the President's attractive daughter-in-law, will be included in enough state affairs to stagger a queen on the busy 11-nation trip that gets under way tonight.

The White House has emphasized that officially Barbara is not a "substitute" for Mrs. Eisenhower on the 22,370-mile journey which was felt to be too rigorous for the First Lady.

But according to the bulky 34-page itinerary of the President's trip, most of the foreign governments involved are treating her as such.

The itinerary shows that the 33-year-old mother of four children will have most of what little free time the schedule allows in Afghanistan, Tunis and Morocco.

BRIEF VISITS

The President's stays are brief there and, besides that, women in those countries only recently began to come out from behind their veils in public.

The schedule also leaves young Mrs. John Eisenhower out of scheduled meetings and conferences with kings and prime ministers and a handful of stag luncheons.

MRS. JOHN EISENHOWER

But throughout most of the rest of the 19-day trip she is listed as accompanying the President and her husband to eight black tie dinners, formal luncheons in palaces and embassies, some giant receptions (such as the one for 500,000 in India) as well as on such tourist dreams as a helicopter flight over the Acropolis and a trip to the Taj Mahal.

Barbara also will be included in the President's visit to Pope John XXIII.

In addition, she is on the guest list for the Shah of Iran's luncheon for the President and may meet the handsome Shah's new bride-to-be.

The White House schedule does not show any special activities for Barbara apart from the President's itinerary.

But she likely will visit an art gallery or two, hospitals, schools and make other such visits familiar to wives of traveling heads of state.

Spring in December? Sure, We'll Try It

Springlike temperatures in the 50s are predicted for Friday.

Tonight's forecast is for fair and a low of 30-35.

This morning's southwesterly winds at five miles an hour at 10:15 will increase to 18-25 miles an hour late this afternoon and diminish tonight.

The outlook for Saturday is partly cloudy and a little colder.

In northern Lower Michigan and Upper Michigan, Friday's temperatures will continue in the 40s.

Thirty-four was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 45.

IKE'S ITINERARY — This map shows the route President Eisenhower will take on his journey to understanding which will begin tonight when he leaves for Rome. The trek will cover more than 22,000 miles all by air except for a trip aboard U. S. Navy cruiser from Athens to Toulon, France.

The Day in Birmingham

Harlan Building Slated to Be Finished in January

BIRMINGHAM — The 19-suite Harlan Building now under construction is scheduled to be ready for occupancy early in January.

The new deluxe office building is being erected on Martin street, between Bates and Henrietta streets.

The building, designed to meet the growing business and professional demands in the area, will have parking in the rear for most of its tenants.

The building is located a half block from city offices, close to municipal parking lots and the downtown district.

Louis G. Redstone, architect, with offices at 10811 Puritan St., Detroit, said the two-story building is designed to provide the executives and their employes with cheerful and colorful surroundings. The individual offices are arranged around a large skylighted court on each floor.

The building will be entirely air-conditioned, he said. Ceramic and mosaic murals will be placed on the walls at the ends of the spacious corridors.

He said sculptures will enhance the court.

The building is owned by C. Allen Harlan and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Baumgarth.

General contractor for the building is the Chissus Construction Co., 870 Bowers St., Birmingham.

University fo Michigan President Harlan Hatcher will speak to members of the U. of M. Alumnae Assn. this evening following a dinner at Devon Gables.

Hatcher, who toured Russia last Spring, will report on his impressions of that country and its educational system.

He will be introduced by Mrs. Stewart Cram, 1580 Oxford Rd., Birmingham, chairman of the program.

Marian High School, Lahser at 14-Mile road will welcome parents and friends at an Open House Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Margaret O'Reilly of Old Orchard drive, president of the Student Council will have a prominent role in the day's activities.

Draft Air Service Pleas

Reasons why Pontiac should have air service to Cleveland and Pittsburgh were being assembled in document form today for submission next week to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

★ ★ ★

The document supports the city's claim of a "community of interest" between auto manufacturers here and their suppliers in industrial towns in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, and Homer D. Hoskins, manager of Pontiac Municipal Airport, were reviewing an initial draft prepared by Sherwin M. Birnkrant, assistant city attorney.

At the request of the City Commission, the three officials have worked several years to bring airline service to Pontiac.

They already have filed an official exception to the proposed plan which the CAB has under study for more short-haul air service in Pontiac.

ARGUMENTS PREPARED

In support of this exception, the officials are preparing written arguments favoring such service as has been recommended for Pontiac —connection on a north-south route between Detroit and Cheboygan— but contending that even more service is necessary.

The six-page initial draft has more than a dozen pages of exhibits, including letters from industrial leaders expressing the desirability for their businesses of air service to and from Ohio.

The written arguments must be in the hands of the CAB by midmonth. A representative from Pontiac is expected to argue orally in behalf of more air service when the CAB conducts hearings next month.

A number of Michigan cities plus several airlines and the State Department of Aeronautics have indicated they, too, will argue for more service elsewhere in the state, especially connecting Michigan with the states south of it.

The CAB hearing will be on a plan prepared by one of its examiners, Barron Fredericks, after more than three years study of Michigan's air service system.

$200,000 Offered for Courthouse, Land people consisting of several downtown merchants interested in buying the property, developing it, and risking their capital to do so," Richman remarked.

He said the site might be used for a large department store, or turned over to a real estate developer to see what best use it could be put to.

When questioned about whether an offer had been made, Moore refused to say anything other than admit an offer had been received.

★ ★ ★

"I don't even want to tell you about it," Moore said. "It was disgusting."

Richman said his group considered the $200,000 "a realistic figure on the basis of today's market value of downtown property."

One veteran county official said he'd heard a price tag of $900,000 had once been placed on the building and site.

Luther Heacock, chairman of the supervisors' building and grounds committee, said his committee would meet Monday to discuss the offer.

Like Moore, Heacock refused to disclose how much the offer was for or from whom it came.

In discussing the receipt of the proposal, however, Heacock said the bid "wasn't big eonugh."

Richman said he had been assured by Moore that the county could produce a clear title to the courthouse property before the written offer was delivered.

This renewed the 1956 court battle in which a taxpayers group opposed the auditors' methods of financing the new building. The group also claimed the county had no right to dispose of the downtown property because it had been designated for a special purpose.

On June 30, 1828, Stephen Mack, trustee for the old land developing Pontiac Company, conveyed lots 134 and 135 of the original city plat to county commissioners on a condition that a courthouse be erected.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court since the 1956 lawsuit has upheld the right of the county to dispose of the property, according to Charles A. Davis, assistant corporation counsel.

Reservists Seek Toys for Tots

Members of the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center are beginning their annual toy drive in an effort to fill the Christmas stockings of upnderprivileged children in the Pontiac area.

"What we need now are the toys," said Chief Boilertender Robert G. Wade, who is in charge of the project. "Some come from local merchants each year, but many are donated by families in the area."

Anyone wishing to donate articles may call the training center at 469 S. East Blvd.

"All we want are toys that have outgrown their use, are broken or worn," said Wade of 228 Edison St. "Once we get enough, we can swing into high gear."

The reservists will spend their spare time between now and Christmas repairing, mending and painting the donated toys.

Last year they repaired enough toys for 100 families, or an estimated 300 children.

"We've put more men on the project this year and are hoping to make more youthful eyes twinkle on Christmas morning," Wade says.

Wade and Lt. Cmdr. William C. Remick, commander of the Center, will draw their list of deserving families from area church groups.

Final deliveries will begin two or three days before Christmas.

Payroll Tax Plan Out —OK Nuisance Levy

program as "miserable and inadequate, dictated by politics and devoid of either logic or equity."

Hit by the package as it left the Senate were liquor and beer drinkers, persons with the tobacco habit and telephone users.

One bill would hit cigar and pipe smokers, now exempt from state taxes, for four million dollars and cigarette smokers for an additional nine millions.

Two others would double the state's $1.25 a barrel tax on beer and the 4 per cent excise tax on liquor to produce 13 millions more.

The fourth would put a 3 per cent levy on bills of telephone, telegraph and intrastate leased wire users. The annual yield from this source was put at eight million dollars.

The four measures were rushed to passage a few hours after a caucus in which Republicans, badly split for three weeks, closed ranks under the payroll tax threat.

On each of last night's roll calls, only one Republican strayed. Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) joined Democrats in opposing the telephone levy.

Sen. John Minnema (R-Traverse City) defected on the other bills.

The emergency tax bills all carry cutoff dates of June 30, 1961.

Republican leaders said that in November 1960 they looked for a favorable statewide vote opening the way for a penny sales tax increase as a lasting solution to state revenue woes.

The nuisance tax package was a stripped down version of the 73½ million dollar program the GOP majority had ditched only 24 hours before.

Conspicuously missing was 30 million dollars in new taxes on laundry, dry cleaning, auto repair and similar services.

Backers of last night's program hailed it as an answer to the state's immediate revenue needs that was by far preferable to the "evil" of the state income tax Williams has urged.

They relied heavily on predictions of bonanza yields from existing taxes they said diminished need for additional levies.

In the background, but not specifically mentioned, was the likelihood of cashing the 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund to give the ailing state treasury an immediate transfusion.

As a prelude to the nuisance tax votes, GOP strategists brought on the payroll tax for a 10 to 19 turndown, with 18 affirmative votes required.

Fire Lieutenant Quits Over Fuss

Though Assault Charge Is Dropped, He Says Publicity Is Harmful

A Pontiac Fire Department lieutenant against whom a felonious assault charge was withdrawn Tuesday has resigned.

In a letter to Pontiac Fire Chief James R. White, Lt. Raymond R. Fay, 35, wrote:

"I know that there are some who may feel that the publicity created by this occurrence may have been harmful to the department and you as its head.

"I indeed regret this unhappy and unfortunate situation."

Fay said he hoped his resignation would result in eliminating "any embarrassment to the department . . ."

Fay's resignation was accepted by White upon its receipt yesterday.

The felonious assault charge against Fay was dropped after two Orion Township brothers who signed a complaint against the fireman asked that charges be dismissed.

He had been charged with assaulting William H. Whitmire, 19, and his brother, Robert, at their home at 3715 Grafton Rd. on Nov. 6.

The brothers decided to drop the charge Tuesday shortly before a scheduled hearing in Orion Township Heimar G. Stanaback's court.

Fay also had been placed on six months probation after appearing before the Pontiac Civil Service Commission.

Fay originally joined the Fire Department in 1949. He was promoted to lieutenant last year.

Why Did Boy Join Hood in Shooting?

about this," said Justice Carl after the arraignment. "Nothing so coldblooded has ever happened out here. But I can't understand how those kids got mixed up in this."

Hood is a slim, wiry man of medium height with a bold stare and a twist to his thin lips.

The Pontiac man is no stranger to the courtroom. He's spent most of the past 12 years in prison or reform school and was only paroled from Jackson Prison last March.

Hood took the arraignment in stride, fixed courtroom personnel in a steady gaze, replied perfunctorily to the routine questions and yawned several times, as if bored by the proceedings that may send him to Jackson for the third time in nine years.

Continuing to deny any involvement in the holdup and shooting, Hood said he had retained an attorney, but no attorney showed up to represent him.

In contrast, Carroll Lay is a frail looking slight youth — standing only about 5 feet 3 inches — who appears much younger than his 17 years.

His head bowed during arraignment, his eyes on the floor at his feet, the youth spoke only briefly.

No, he had no attorney; yes, he understood his constitutional rights; yes, he wanted to plead not guilty.

After arraignment, Carroll Lay sat hunched over in an office in Highland Township hall, his face buried in his hands.

His father, Van Buren Lay, of 3100 Indianwood Rd., Lake Orion, a factory worker, was able to visit the youth for the first time since his arrest Monday night, a few hours after the holdup.

The father sat down next to his son. Carroll Lay began sobbing.

Jaycees Search for the Year's Top Young Man

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce is conducting its annual search for the outstanding young man of the year.

Cochairmen of this year's Distinguished Service Award committee are Charles L. Lewis and Richard M. Fitzgerald.

The award will be presented at the Jaycees' annual banquet Jan. 20 at the Elks Temple.

The Committee is considering nominations from any person, group or organization. Candidates need not be Jaycee members, but must be between 21 and 35 years old.

They need not be residents of Pontiac, but should have made community contributions here.

Jaycees are also accepting nominations for the title of "Boss of the Year."

Winners in both contests will be picked by an independent panel of judges.

Directors of Goebel to Pick New President

DETROIT (AP)—Directors of Goebel Brewing Co. will meet next week to pick a new president to replace Leroy J. Wallace who confirmed yesterday that he resigned two weeks ago.

Wallace became president last June, succeeding Edwin J. Anderson who left the post to become president and general manager of the Detroit Lions, professional football team. Wallace gave no reason for his resignation.

Dry, Pleasant Weather Holds for Most of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Dry weather, with moderate temperatures, prevailed in most parts of the country today.

The only wet spots during the early morning were in areas from Georgia northward and in the Far Northwest.

Light rain was indicated during the day from the Carolinas northward, with a change to snow flurries in most of New England. Scattered showers in western Oregon and Washington were expected to become mixed with light snow or freezing drizzle through the interior sections and extend into parts of Montana.

Mostly fair weather was the outlook for all other areas.

Reserve Officer Wins Bronze Star

Pontiac Army Reserve Capt. Francis A. Sando, 6600 Castle Dr., Birmingham, was awarded the Bronze Star in a ceremony at the Pontiac Army Reserve Center last night.

★ ★ ★

Sando is commander of B Battery, 4th Howitzer Battalion, 39th Artillery. The medal was presented by Maj. Alvin Brower, battalion commander.

★ ★ ★

It was awarded Capt. Sando "for exemplary conduct" in action before the enemy during the Normandy campaign in World War II. Sando was then a private first class with the 263rd Infantry Regiment.

Sturdivant for Daley in Baseball Trade

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Red Sox today traded catcher Pete Daley to the Kansas City Athletics for pitcher Tom Sturdivant in a straight player swap.

FCC Orders All Stations to Report Fast on Payola

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today ordered every broadcasting station in the country to report promptly whether any payola practice has figured in its operations during the past year.

★ ★ ★

The directive went out to 5,236 stations. It covers both commercial and educational outlets in the standard radio, FM radio and television fields.

The FCC order requires that the stations file sworn statements not later than Jan. 4, covering station operations since Nov. 1, 1958.

Payola is a term covering payments for promoting records.

'SNEAKY COMMERCIALS'

Officials said the object of today's order is to trace down the handling of "sneaky commercials" —plugs on the air which are paid for but not so identified.

The officials noted that the Federal Communications Act specifically requires that all matter put on the air for which a remuneration has been paid to anyone must be identified as a commercial.

Penalties for violations could range from a commission reprimand to a license revocation proceeding.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the communications act provides for criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine or one year imprisonment, or both, for "willful" violations of any of its sections.

Poles Crowd Showroom to Buy Iron Curtain Cars

WARSAW (UPI) — About 300 automobiles made in Russia, Czechoslovakia and East Germany went on sale Wednesday at the state-owned Motorzbyt Showroom and an early sellout was assured.

Hundreds of persons began lining up outside the showroom on Monday in spite of the raw wintry weather. Yesterday, each was given a number corresponding to his place in line and the queue dispersed.

On sale are about 100 each of the Czech-made Octavia Super which sells for around $4,000, the East German-made Wartburg for $3,400, and the Russian-made Moskivch for $5,000. Sales are for cash only.

Robert Fulton built a submarine which he called the Nautilus.

Window Shades Prove Effective Insulators

Do you know that cloth window shades can supply very effective and inexpensive insulation in both winter and summer? Shades fully drawn, greatly reduce the heat loss through the windows during cold weather.

Government's Justified in Student Loyalty Oath

The controversy over the Government's student loan program caused by the loyalty oaths that the students must sign strikes us as a little odd.

One statement is an oath of allegiance to the U.S., somewhat similar in wording to the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The other oath is an affidavit in which the student swears he is not a member of any subversive organization.

The issue came to light recently when Harvard and Yale withdrew from the loan program. Harvard's excuse was that it singled out needy college students "as students of special distrust" by the Federal Government.

A few others took the tack that other recipients of Federal aid such as farmers getting crop aid are not required to sign loyalty oaths. Perhaps they should, since it seems a little ridiculous for the Government to be furnishing aid without an investigation of the party receiving it.

Colleges, because of the nature of training, are many times forums for political discussion and might be logical spots for Communist infiltration. At any rate, it seems reasonable to believe that the Government should not be assisting students that are questionable or subversive individuals.

We have far too many deserving students willing to support their Government 100 per cent without gambling on any unsavory characters.

Since there is no law against Communists, a sworn statement such as these loyalty oaths can be used as a basis for a perjury charge. In several recent cases, this has been one of our most effective weapons.

Mexico Defends U.S. From Mikoyan Attack

Soviet Deputy Premier MIKOYAN recently opened a trade fair in Mexico City. His "hate the U.S." talk at that time drew sharp criticism from Mexico's newspapers. They attacked MIKOYAN, the U.S.S.R. and Communism, warmly defended the U.S. and asked their government to stop these outbursts against "our neighbor to the north."

The people themselves were aroused by such propaganda and heckled the Russian guides. Anti-Communist stickers mysteriously appeared on exhibits and the police had to step in to prevent violence.

There was a time when Mexico would have applauded this hate campaign. In days gone by we have not always respected Mexican rights or national feelings in border, resource and trade disputes.

However, time has improved mutual understanding and the U.S. works closely with Mexico on Latin American problems. Our people are welcomed as friends and allies and the press no longer is anti-U.S. Exchanges of official good will visits between our two countries have increased.

★ ★ ★

Mexico's defense of the U.S. is the result of an enlightened good neighbor policy and is particularly welcomed at this time because of the Soviet Union's success in gaining an economic foothold in South America. Moscow openly offers to help in the development of these countries as a means of "freeing them from U.S. colonialism."

Nations Want Peace but Won't Pay for It

The United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) was established three years ago following the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

★ ★ ★

Some 5,400 men from Brazil, Canada, Denmark, India, Norway, Sweden and Yugoslavia make up UNEF forces. They are scattered along the desert boundary of Egypt and Israel. One contingent is in the Gaza Strip, another at the tip of the Sinai Peninsula and the Gulf of Aqaba. Their mission is to maintain peace and to keep open the Gulf to international shipping.

★ ★ ★

The annual UNEF budget to keep the peace is only $19 million and is split on a budget system. Unpaid assessments now total $20 million. The Soviet bloc has never contributed nor have the Arab countries. Many Latin American nations are in arrears. Yet all national leaders protest their devotion to peace and to U.N. principles although numerous members refuse to contribute their fair share.

★ ★ ★

For its part the United States has paid annual assessments of 32 per cent. Each year we have made extra contributions which would bring our financial burden to about half of the total budget.

It is difficult to understand why any civilized nation would refuse to pay this premium on insurance against war. Also it seems unreasonable to expect the U.S. to pay half the total cost.

David Lawrence Says:

Birth Control Odd Political Issue

WASHINGTON — There's something incredible about the current effort of some groups to make birth control a political issue in America.

LAWRENCE

If voters were to be asked to express their preference for a candidate on the basis of whether he is for or against birth control, it would cut through all blocs and parties, irrespective of religious or party affiliations.

The issue wouldn't be whether a couple of people have the right to have as many children as they please but what right the government has to tell them how to conduct their family affairs.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower has just said:

"I cannot imagine anything more emphatically a subject that is not a proper political or governmental activity or function or responsibility.

"This thing has, for very great denominations, a religious meaning, definite religious tenet in their own doctrine. I have no quarrel with them; as a matter of fact this being largely the Catholic Church, they are one of the groups I admire and respect, but this has nothing to do with governmental contact with other governments.

'WON'T INTERFERE'

"We do not intend to interfere with any other, the internal affairs of any other government, and if they want to do something about what is admittedly a very difficult question, and almost an explosive question, that is their business.

"And, if they want to go to someone for help, they should go; they will go unquestionably to professional groups, not to governments.

"This government has not, and will not as long as I am here, have a positive political doctrine in its program that has to do with this problem of birth control. That's not our business."

While the problem of overpopulation is a serious one, it isn't going to be solved during the lifetime of anyone in American politics today.

Just two weeks ago Sir Charles Darwin, grandson of the world-famous author of "Origin of Species" and himself an eminent scientist and specialist on population problems, made some startling statements in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report."

The exchange ran as follows:

"Q. How widely would birth control have to be practiced?

"A. To be any good, it's got to be worldwide. If you just have it in this country, what's the result? Most of the world in 50 years will be black. Or more likely yellow . . . but you've got to have an educational system. You've got to teach a billion—at least a billion—grownup people how to use it. Well, how many men can a man educate? A thousand, something of that kind. You've got to have over a million teachers just to show people how to use this. You can't get that going in 50 years. So it's out.

"Q. Do you mean that it would take a billion people practicing birth control to stabilize the world population?

"A. You've got to arrange it so that everybody doesn't have, on the average, more than 2.7—I think it is—children. . . .

"Q. Are any nations facing up to the problem of overcrowding and doing anything about it?

"A. Japan is one of the most conscious countries about it. They've succeeded in overcoming some parts of the problem by legalizing abortion, and, for the last few years—I'm not quite up to date on this—they had a million abortions a year. . . .

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Jesus said to him, Rise, take up your pallet and walk.—John 5:8.

★ ★ ★

Oh, on that day, that wrathful day,
When man to judgment wakes from clay,
Be Thou, O Christ, the sinner's stay,
Though heaven and earth shall pass away.

—Walter Scott

"Q. Is their population still increasing?

"A. Their population is increasing still. They've cut the rate down; I think it's below a per cent increase now. . . .

"Q. What effect do you think a nuclear war would have?

"A. . . . What does it mean—100 million dead? One hundred million are replaced in three years. You've got to have a war like that every three years, you see. You must keep to arithmetic on this thing."

Smiles

This is the time of year when there's a lot of shopping that's going to lead a lot of swapping.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Can't Account for Rarity of Throat Ailment Quinsy

A Dulutheran — oh, well, say a Superior man — anyway a man from Minnesota writes:

"In 1942 my tonsils were removed by electro-coagulation by Dr. ——— each tonsil treated alternately at weekly intervals, for a period of ten weeks, during which time I didn't miss a meal nor lose any time from work.

DR. BRADY

"Every year of my life up to that time I had suffered one or two attacks of quinsy, my throat being so sore I couldn't even take a drink of water. Since that time I have had no sore throat at all.

"Dr. ———, now deceased, told me at that time that he knew of no one else in the area who used the diathermy method. I am unable to locate a doctor here now who uses the method, which a relative would like to try . . ."

(Signed — D. A. ———)

Formerly I tried to maintain a directory service, but found it costs more time and money than I can afford. So I cannot tell you what doctor in your community gives this or that treatment.

Quinsy, if I may judge from correspondent's queries, is much less prevalent today than it was in horse-and-buggy days. So is spasmodic croup. And the green sickness (chlorosis).

Rapid transportation and refrigeration account for the low prevalence of chlorosis. Better ventilation and less fear of exposure account for the decreased prevalence of croup.

But there's no accounting for the rarity of quinsy nowadays unless it be that so many children are subjected to tonsillotomy — which the operators call "tonsillectomy."

Then, too, infants and young children today get more calcium and vitamin D — and hence are less predisposed to spasmodic affections such as croup, tetany and colic.

The Country Parson

"If you think high salaries are contributing to inflation, think how much worse it would be if we paid everybody what he thinks he is worth."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Newlyweds Must Put Down Roots

Bill and Jane may enter the divorce court within six months of their wedding day if they don't get integrated into their new community as outlined below. And you in-laws should harden your hearts, so to speak, instead of coaxing the newlyweds back home each Sunday. It's for their best interests, so play ball.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-416: Bill and Jane are a newly married couple.

"Dr. Crane," Bill began, "we have already had a quarrel and it is about the in-laws.

CRANE

"Jane and I live in a town about 90 miles from her parents. And Jane is their only child.

"Her mother expects us to spend every weekend with them. Well, I appreciate the invitation and the delicious dinners she cooks for us.

"But I also realize that we are supposed to settle down in our own city and shoulder our proper church and civic duties.

"We cannot become happy if we are constant commuters each Friday night to Jane's parents.

"Jane cries, however, and says her mother would be crushed if we didn't go home each week to visit them, so can you referee our debate?"

IN-LAW DANGERS

Young married couples should heed Bill's wise remarks, for we Marriage Counselors can't add much to them.

When you marry, you brides and grooms swear to forsake all others and cleave to each other.

Now that "forsaking others" does not mean you shall not visit or defer to your respective in-laws to a reasonable degree. But when you rent or buy a home in a residential area, you are supposed to become a helpful part of that town and neighborhood.

In colleges, we find that the students who flunk out, are likely to be those who run home every weekend to be with mamma.

★ ★ ★

They miss the school activities and religious life of the campus. They even drop out of the athletic and social life as they become further tied to parental apron strings.

TESTS FOR NEWLYWEDS

And the very same danger threatens a young married couple who constantly must go home to one or the other parental domiciles each week.

You in-laws should have enough sense not to urge the young couple to make such treks back home every week. If you newlyweds wish your marriage to be a success, then follow this tried and tested prescription:

(1) Join a church in your new neighborhood and become active therein at once.

(2) Become members of the Women's Society of the church, the Men's Club and some civic group.

(3) Ration your trips home, after the first six weeks of marriage, to not more than once per month.

Otherwise, you will miss the continuity of your local church and civic affairs and begin to feel like a transient instead of a citizen.

If you wives get lonely and homesick, that means you aren't properly integrated into the new community, or have too much spare time.

So push yourself into some constructive additional work. Volunteer to teach a Sunday School class or work with the Girl Scouts or Camp Fire Girls.

Or call your YMCA and find out where effective helpers like yourself can do some good.

(4) Within six weeks after settling in your new home, you should know 50 local people by name and face. Count them. If you are under that number, you are not circulating properly in your new city.

For further specific advice to newlyweds, send for my 200-point "Rating Scales for Married Couples," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Pass them around to other newlywed friends.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Quit Living in Past; Lack of Recreation's to Blame'

In regards to the writer of "Poor Recreation Is No Excuse," I disagree very strongly. Maybe when the writer was a teenager they considered reading a book and pulling taffy as fun.

★ ★ ★

But times have changed, don't adults understand this? Recreation is very important to teenagers. It keeps them busy and out of trouble. In Clarkston there's no recreation except ice skating in winter and swimming in summer.

★ ★ ★

We teenagers aren't interested in the same things now days as you were 20 years ago. We can't be expected to be, in the modern age in which we live.

Decent

Why be such a stuffed shirt? It's people like you who make a town like Clarkston. Try bringing yourself up to date and maybe a few boys like those in Clarkston would have a chance.

★ ★ ★

All these boys are the finest you'd ever want to know. They're boys and live in a town that offers them nothing. Why don't a few of you people that have shown yourselves as the "people of Clarkston" forget a few of your clubs and form a dance club for teen-agers?

Unbutton your stuffed shirt, live in the present and try helping instead of criticizing.

This will be followed up by a teen-ager with bad breath, before a guy appears to shake off his dandruff. And don't forget your liver bile and stomach acid in action, and last but not least, see mouth germs and sinuses drain.

'Big Shots Lack Some Advantages'

I'm wondering how long the working class people are going to sit back and let them tax us to death. Write the State and tell them we'll clean house if they tax our hard earned wages.

How about the Veteran Committee start looking for men that can take their place? We need a change.

What's wrong with taxing lawyers and doctors. You can hardly get a receipt out of some of them. I just paid a lawyer $238 and can't get a receipt to show what he charged for. I haven't received a thing to show he even worked on the case.

Readers Respond to Fed Up Woman

Fed Up and Up shouldn't say "girls," because by the time women are ready for second marriages, they aren't girls any more. They're middle-aged women. Unless they're Hollywood stars.

★ ★ ★

The trouble with unhappy marriages is that some women try to build their happiness on someone else's sorrow. So if you have made your bed hard, guess you'll have to lie in it.

Just remember prayer changes things. Get prepared for that third marriage. It could mean happiness.

Married Happy

Crack Volunteers Carry Daggers, Wear Cloaks

GI Group Trains for Guerrilla War

By JOHN FIEHN

BAD TOELZ, Germany (AP) — Those heavily armed men moving through the rainsoaked underbrush are U.S. Army soldiers training for guerrilla warfare.

They belong to the 10th Special Forces Group, a crack unit of volunteers assigned to organize resistance deep in enemy territory in any future war.

Col. Michael Paulick, of Gresham, Neb., says the 10th Special Forces Group is no cloak and dagger unit. But most of his men carry daggers — and some wore cloaks to protect them against the steady drizzle.

The group has no counterpart in Europe this side of the Iron Curtain.

Highly skilled in demolition, communications, weapons, parachute jumping and first aid the men rank as top combat soldiers. They must volunteer three ways—for airborne duty, for a six-year stretch in the Army and for Special Forces duty.

ABOUT 1,500 MEN

Nobody is accepted without at least two years of active service in the U.S. Army.

The unit's strength is a classified matter but probably it can muster around 1,500 men.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets call the group an outright spy organization. That is understandable since these men would try to organize guerrilla activities in Communist areas in case of war.

With the help of local populations hostile to the Communist regime, the men of the 10th Special would blow up railroad bridges, smash communication lines and in general harass the enemy.

It's officially denied, but men of the 10th Special Group may, at times adjust their battle dress to the necessity of their area of action. Some of the guerrilas have been seen in knee-length leather pants and green woolen raincoats, looking just like Bavarian farmers.

★ ★ ★

The men represent a cross-section of America's populace, but there seems to be a stress on persons having some Slavic background. An officer says some have relatives behind the Iron Curtain.

Many speak Russian fluently. Most of the others have a fair knowledge of at least one language spoken behind the Iron Curtain. But only U.S. citizens can serve in the group.

★ ★ ★

Before entering the group, all men must undergo rigid physical tests. Discipline is strict and training hard.

For weeks combat operational teams live in the open under adverse weather conditions. Each man carries a 60-pound pack containing the essentials of guerrilla warfare.

"Special Forces exist to serve the free people of the world as an additional deterrent to aggression and a potent weapon to be used if the over-all deterrent fails," Col. Paulick says.

★ ★ ★

"Our very existence provides the enslaved peoples of the world with the knowledge that they are not forgotten and that when war comes they will be given the means to fight for their own freedom."

Western Union Opens Facsimile Network

NEW YORK (UPI) — Western Union opened Tuesday the first public facsimile communication network, linking New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The speedy electronic reproduction system, called "Wirefax," reduces letters, drawing, graphs, charts and advertising layouts to electronic impulses for inter-city transmission.

The message is recreated on paper at the receiving station and delivered to the recipient like a telegram.

First-day subscribers who participated in the opening ceremonies here included American Express, Chase Manhattan Bank, First Boston Corp., and Young & Rubicam.

Opening ceremonies also were held in the other cities linked by the system.

Western Union Wirefax rates indicated that a 600-word message on a 7½ by 9 inch sheet of paper could be transmitted from Washington to San Francisco in six minutes for $7.90, compared with the $36.95 it would cost to send a 600-word telegram for immediate delivery. Wirefax eliminates the possibility of errors in transmission, the firm said.

GRIM FORECAST — An "exploding" world population will produce, by the end of this century, mass starvation and unrest unknown since the end of the Middle Ages. So said Britain's Sir Charles Darwin, above, on a visit to industrialist Cyrus Eaton at Cleveland, Ohio. Sir Charles, grandson of the 19th century naturalist who wrote the "Origin of Species," is in this country for observances marking centennial of the work on the theory of evolution.

Olivier, Leigh Admit Marriage at Low Point

LONDON (AP) — The first couple of the British theater, Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh, admit they are having marital troubles but say "they can best be worked out without help from anyone outside."

Asked Wednesday about published reports concerning the couple's private life, the 52-year-old actor said:

"We have been married 19 years now and marriages do go through ups and downs—it would be surprising if they didn't—this is a personal affair and there is a bit of a strain."

Book Describes National Parks

America's Wonderlands Name of 512 Pages and 390 Pictures in Color

WASHINGTON — The National Park System sweeps in a magnificent panorama from Hawaii to the Virgin Islands, encompassing the icy beauty of Mount McKinley, the subtropical mystery of the Florida Everglades, and countless other natural wonders.

The splendor of 24 million acres of public property comes to life in "America's Wonderlands, the National Parks," just published by the National Geographic Society.

Its 512 color-bright pages portray 82 scenic areas. The volume contains 466 pictures, 390 in natural color, many spreading over two pages.

In a foreword, Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president and editor of the society, writes, "The society proudly presents 'America's Wonderlands' to its members and to the public, so that all may know our national parks and how well the men dedicated to them serve our Nation."

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, relates in the introduction how the park system began. In 1870 an Army surveying party explored the Montana Territory for five weeks. Awed by its steaming geysers, falls and canyons, the men gathered around a wilderness campfire and conceived a plan to preserve the area. Their efforts were so vigorous that Congress established Yellowstone two years later as the first national park in the world.

★ ★ ★

"America's Wonderlands" depicts many of Yellowstone's features, including a mountain that is turning itself inside out. From the depths of Terrace Mountain, hot springs bring lime to the surface and deposit it in ledges. It becomes a light porous rock which is building up at the geologically swift rate of six inches to a foot a year.

The book takes the reader to the most distant park, Hawaii National Park, where the Halemaumau crater is known as the drive-in volcano. A visitor can park his car and walk a few feet to the brink of eternity — protected by a stout wire fence.

★ ★ ★

Another far-off park, Katmai National Monument, a wilderness preserve in Alaska, is so isolated that a volcano can erupt there unheard and unseen. Not until smoke and ash drift over the settled part of Alaska is the explosion known.

WILDLIFE IN ACTION

Wildlife animates the pages of the book. A snakebird gulps a fish. A coyote brings home food to its young. An alligator slides through the Everglades. A grizzly bear sniffs the chill, thin air of Mount McKinley.

Paintings, maps, and drawings help explain the natural forces that create the beauties of the parks.

HE-MAN SPORTS coat makes young fellow in family happy at Christmas time. This one comes in all wool dark-toned check pattern with metal buttons.

Cravat Reigns as Gift Item

Nothing Can Tie a Tie for Him but Make It One He Wouldn't Afford

Pleasing a special man at Christmas takes more caring than cash.

Whether he is an 11-year-old builder of space ship models, a dashing bachelor or harassed father, he is bound to succumb to the special flattery of knowing you cared enough to learn exactly what he wants.

According to one retail store, the much joked-about gift necktie is actually a top item on the average adult male's wanted list.

To please the clothes-conscious male, pick out the items that prove you know his tastes, habits and needs.

If he has dozens of ties to go with the brown suit and only one or two for his gray, select neckwear to go with the gray suit. But remember, he is the one to wear the ties, so even if you think his taste is too conservative pass up the more flamboyant numbers.

Some of the new panel designs or new striped patterns should satisfy you both.

And make your selection luxurious, a tie he'll love but might hesitate to buy for himself, like the new Rajah ties.

Knit sport shirts are another popular item. You won't need to know all the specific measurements as for business shirts. Salesmen can help select the right size if given approximate height and weight.

Outside of the clothing departments, hobbies offer your best bets for successful gift giving, whether he is an ardent fisherman or a collector of stamps.

Taste and Need Dictate Gift, Not Costliness

A little Christmas gift to coworker, employer or secretary often is more of a problem than it need be. Select a gift that is personal in its appropriateness to the recipient's needs and tastes.

However, don't make it intimate or expensive enough to cause embarassment.

For the boss who regularly mislays his pen or runs out of ink, a secretary might choose a desk pen with piggyback ballpoint refill.

A secretary will welcome a dainty purse-size ballpoint pen, decorated with feminine floral or jewel-like designs.

If she likes to travel or is planning a major vacation trip, a trip book with maps and other information as well as space for a complete trip log will make the experience even more enjoyable in recollection.

* * *

There are trip books specially planned for domestic or overseas travel. A framed print of her favorite painting or one that reflects her hobby is a thoughtful gift.

Michigan Bell Shifts Personnel in Michigan

DETROIT (UPI)—Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Wednesday announced a series of executive shifts involving personnel here and at Saginaw and Grand Rapids.

John W. Bigford, superintendent of commercial department activities in central and northern Michigan, was transferred to New York with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s marketing department.

Richard G. Cotton, a personnel supervisor here, will succeed Bigford with headquarters at Saginaw. John R. Driver succeeds Cotton.

John N. Veneman, head of plant operations in the Southern Division at Grand Rapids, was named commercial department superintendent in the Gratiot Division which includes part of Detroit and an area north to beyond Port Huron.

Robert E. Diefenbach, general plant supervisor here, will succeed Veneman. Dan F. Smith of the Gratiot Division, will take Diefenbach's place.

Only two of Canada's 10 provinces—Alberta and Saskatchewan—do not border on salt water.

80 Pct. of Rich Stock Goes to Missouri Firm

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A Missouri firm has announced an agreement to acquire 80 per cent of the common stock of Rich Manufacturing Corp. of Battle Creek.

* * *

Sterling Aluminum Products Co. of St. Charles, Mo., said Tuesday that the 80 per cent will be acquired by a swap of 42 shares of its own stock for each 100 shares of Rich Common.

Rich employs about 450 at its plant here. The corporation makes valves for internal combustion engines.

* * *

Sterling, which employs 600, produces auto pistons and aluminum castings.

Williams Renames Two to Basic Science Board

LANSING (AP)—Carl A. Hoppert, Michigan State University chemistry professor, and Dean W. Rumbold, Ferris Institute biology professor, Wednesday were re-named to the state board of examiners in basic sciences.

The re-appointments, for terms ending in October 1965, were announced by Gov. Williams. Senate confirmation is required.

Sudan Airways, operating in northeast Africa and the Middle East, is planning to extend its operations to London, Rome and Athens.

Pastel Shades in Nursery Have Dark Side, Too

This year's room-darkening window shades must be seen to be appreciated. A dainty bedroom or nursery can have pastel colored window shades that are also light-proof. This "miracle" is brought about by first painting closely woven shade cloth with dark colors to shut out every ray of light. Then they are finished with enough coats of special pastel paint to hide the basic dark colors.

Priced a bit higher, they are worth every penny of their extra cost, as they are also washable, flame-proofed and extremely pretty.

Tax Collections Up Last Month

State Sales Levies Top November 1959 Despite Drop in Car Sales

LANSING (AP) — Despite a sharp drop in car sales because of the steel strike, state sales and use tax collections in November showed a solid rise over the same month last year.

The monthly tax collections are considered a reliable barometer of general business conditions.

The State Revenue Department reported November sales and use use-tax collections on October business at $33,681,082. This compared with $25,999,553 for same month a year ago.

Clarence W. Lock, deputy revenue commissioner, said about four million dollars of the increase came from the one-cent use tax hike declared illegal by the state supreme court. This still left about a $3,600,000 increase over last year.

★ ★ ★

"Most of the increase was due to a general improvement in business over last year," Lock said. "Auto collections were only slightly improved over last year and were down sharply from the previous month because of the steel strike."

Sales and use tax collections on new and used car totaled $3,300,000 compared to $6,099,505 the previous month.

"That's the only cloud on the horizon," Lock said. "We expect tax collections on car business to be even worse next month. But from what we hear around the state, general business and retail sales are holding up pretty good."

Sales and use tax collections since July 1 total $159,011,917 against $127,256,373 for a corresponding period last year.

About 13 million dollars of this increase came from the temporary one cent use tax boost of which two to three millions probably will be refunded, Lock said. But he noted collections independent of the use tax hike still rose about 19 millions in the five-month period.

Business activities tax collections during the month totaled $8,774,725 against $6,180,195 a year ago. The cigarette tax take was $3,993,491 compared to $3,968,880.

Lady Astor, 80, Insults Friend; (No Joke, Either)

LONDON (AP) — Lady Nancy Astor, the fiery viscountess from Virginia, gave a classic demonstration Tuesday night of how not to open an art show.

The man who is writing her biography, 70-year-old Maurice Collis, happens also to be a part-time painter.

★ ★ ★

He invited the inimitable Lady Astor to open his exhibition—44 pictures priced between $40 and $200.

★ ★ ★

Nancy, 81 next birthday, took a quick look at the nonrepresentational paintings.

Then she jumped nimbly onto a window sill and exclaimed:

"Mr. Collis, I am appalled and staggered by your paintings. They make me feel 10 years older than I look. And no woman likes that."

Collis and his distinguished guests fidgeted uncomfortably.

★ ★ ★

"If I said what I really thought about these paintings, you'd run me out of the gallery," she said.

★ ★ ★

"I hoped I would get used to the modern school, but you have put me back 10 years. Now I know why there are so many mixed-up kids. From now on I am going to be more lenient about them."

United States postage stamps were first issued in 1847.

FTC Is Probing Payola Scandal

Hints That Money Paid DJs by Record Firms Is Type of Bribery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says it is making an intensive investigation of alleged payoffs by recording companies to disc jockeys to promote their records.

FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner said investigators are checking on possible violations of the law by record firms in payments made to television and radio disc jockeys. Several sections of the country are being checked, he said, naming New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago as among them.

'BRIBERY IS VIOLATION"

Kintner said "commercial bribery" has been recognized as a violation of the FTC Act in several court cases.

FTC sources said privately that action was likely against several record firms under a section of the act which bans deceptive and unfair trade practices they did not name any companies.

★ ★ ★

The FTC investigation was revealed as another government agency, the Federal Communications Commission, was preparing to open a hearing Monday into radio and TV program practices.

★ ★ ★

The hearing is aimed at finding whether the FCC has authority to regulate program content, or whether new legislation is needed. The inquiry stems from House committee disclosures about fixed TV quiz shows.

FLYIN' HIGH — Whisky, a circus poodle is only practicing his rope-skipping act here but he looks like he could join the high wire act without much trouble. The dog belongs to the Bertram Mills Circus that is now in winter quarters in Ascot, England. The circus is rehearsing for its Christmas season at London's Olympia Stadium.

Budget, Missiles to Battle It Out

Both Major Problems Will Provide Scramble for Next Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—It will be budget-balancing vs. the missile gap in the center ring when the presidential election year Congress meets next month.

President Eisenhower signaled his awareness of the forthcoming conflict between Republicans and Democrats with news conference comments Wednesday outlining the administration's position on both issues.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower told the reporters that everybody who is a taxpayer —ought to be thinking about what would happen if the government doesn't curb inflation by balancing its budget.

The President also cautioned against giving way to any "tremendous hysterical urge" to abandon manned bombers and immediately put all the country's defense eggs in the missile basket.

This advocacy of balanced forces in a period of defense weapon transition seemed certain to be seized upon by Republicans in Congress to combat Democratic efforts to blame the administration for space failures and the lag behind the Soviet Union in military missiles.

Republicans will be on the defensive in the space and missile argument. But they are happily looking forward to the chance to boom the drums for the balanced budget they contend is necessary to prevent inflation.

TIGHT FIST? — Franklin B. Lincoln, Wall Street lawyer and former Navy counsel, has been appointed by President Eisenhower to supervise the country's multibillion-dollar defense program. His title will be assistant defense secretary.

Dallas on Couch: Big Difference Between Sexes

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—Men in Texas are more masculine than their brothers back East, a Yankee psychiatrist claimed Wednesday.

Not only are the men more masculine but the women here are more feminine than their eastern sisters.

Dr. Blaine E. McLaughlin of Philadelphia gave Dallas a quick psychoanalysis and pronounced it more optimistic, healthy and sane than cities in the East. He is attending a convention of the American Medical Assn.

Fuel-Seeking Eskimos Plead for Natural Gas

BARROW, Alaska (AP)—Let us use some of this Arctic land's plentiful natural gas, Eskimos ask.

Government offices, agencies and homes in this most northern United States town, on the Arctic Ocean, burn it for heat and light, state Sen. Eben Hopson wrote President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

But his repeated appeals, and those of other Alaskans, to government agencies have been turned down cold, Hopson wrote. He is an Eskimo and father of eight children.

"Going right by my own home is a large gas pipe which supplies gas to nearby federal offices," the Democratic legislator wrote.

"However, my family and all the other natives in Barrow are forbidden from tapping into this or any other pipeline."

★ ★ ★

Coal costs $42 a ton here. The population of about 1,300 is 5-1 Eskimo.

He said he has been advised the question is now in the hands of the joint chiefs of staff.

"If you, as President of the United States, can help my people who are poor and in desperate need of inexpensive fuel, we will be forever grateful," Hopson wrote.

★ ★ ★

His letter was mailed Nov. 23. He has had no reply.

The government created a Naval petroleum reserve in this area years ago.

Clearing House Wants Names for Yule Baskets

The Pontiac Area Christmas Clearing House, a United Fund project, is now taking applications for Christmas baskets.

The deadline for applications is Dec. 18. No names will be accepted after that date.

Those with little or no income, or otherwise qualifying for Christmas assistance, may apply in person any weekday at the basement office of the clearing house at the Pontiac Salvation Army Citadel, 29 W. Lawrence St.

The office is open from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Clearing house officials said needy families should register now in order to avoid a last-minute rush.

Area civic, fraternal and service groups planning Christmas aid programs have been asked to get their list of deserving families from the clearing house.

Candy Barr May Not Wiggle Out of This One

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Buxom, baby-faced stripper Candy Barr may be behind bars today for the first time in her long battle to wiggle out of a 15-year prison sentence for hiding marijuana in her brassiere.

Britain, Russia Plan Exchange

Agreement to Run to April 1961 on Visiting Musicians, Scientists

LONDON (AP)—Britain and Russia Tuesday signed a new educational, scientific and cultural exchange agreement to run until April 1961.

Scientists, students, industrial specialists, agricultural research workers, musicians and artists will be exchanged.

The agreement sidesteps the issue of Soviet jamming of British broadcasts.

"Both parties agree to undertake studies in the immediate future with a view to normalizing relations in the field of broadcasting," the agreement said.

Georgi Zhukov, president of the Russian state committee for cultural relations, arrived in Britain Nov. 22 to negotiate the pact. It is similar to cultural pacts Moscow recently signed with the United States and the United Arab Republic.

Britain's famed Old Vic Shakespearean theater troupe and the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, with its Conductor Sir Thomas Beecham, will go to the Soviet Union.

The Leningrad Symphony will visit Britain next year for the Edinburgh Festival. The ballet company of the Leningrad Korov Theater and a Ukrainian Folk Song Ensemble also will visit Britain.

The two countries agreed that during 1960 three specialists from each country will be exchanged to acquaint themselves with "modern practice in chest surgery."

Bois Blanc Island Best for Deer, Kill Reveals

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Bois Blanc Island, lying off the Straits of Mackinac in Lake Huron, lays claim to being Michigan's most fertile deer hunting spot.

The 640 hunters who tramped the island between Nov. 15 and Nov. 30 killed 331 deer, a ratio of a little better than one kill for each two hunters.

Over the state as a whole, the Michigan Conservation Dept. estimates that approximately 500,000 hunters got fewer than 125,000 deer.

Bois Blanc yielded 47 deer to 176 bow and arrow hunters in the no-gun season Oct. 1 to Nov. 5.

'Ideal Career Diplomat' Gets High State Dept. Post

LIVINGSTON MERCHANT

By United Press International

Career diplomat Livingston T. Merchant, 55, was once praised by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as "the ideal of a foreign service officer."

★ ★ ★

Merchant, a veteran of 17 years with the state department, was named by President Eisenhower Tuesday as undersecretary of state for political affairs. He takes over the post vacated by ace troubleshooter Robert Murphy.

★ ★ ★

Associates say that one of the tall, slender and square-faced Merchant's greatest attributes is his ability to quickly summarize a complicated problem in a simple and lucid manner.

He stands high in the esteem of President Eisenhower. Merchant recently traveled to the Canal Zone for on-the-spot negotiations aimed at settling U. S.-Panamanian treaty differences.

★ ★ ★

At Dulles' request, Merchant accompanied the late secretary on many globe-trotting diplomatic missions. Side-by-side with Dulles, he played a major role in preparing the United States' position at the big four summit meeting at Geneva in July 1955.

He is an expert on European and Far Eastern affairs and has been a top-drawer foreign policy adviser in both the Harry Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

★ ★ ★

A native New Yorker, Merchant is an affable leader with a diplomat's debonair bearing. He talks in a gravelly, but kind voice, sometimes wears glasses and smokes heavily.

He is an untiring worker who puts in long hours and has what his colleagues describe as an "almost superhuman nervous and mental stamina." He often works 18 to 20 hours a day on a pressing diplomatic problem.

★ ★ ★

Merchant joined the State Department in 1942. He rose rapidly to become assistant secretary for European affairs, where he handled many NATO affairs, and in 1956 was appointed U. S. Ambassador to Canada.

His last post was a deputy undersecretary for political affairs.

Merchant and his wife Elizabeth, have a son and two daughters.

★ ★ ★

Are Amazed at Some Countries' Ideas

Japanese See Selves as Others Do

TOYKO (UPI) — The Japanese are seeing themselves as others see them. Their reaction was a mixture of amazement and amusement.

Hundreds of Japanese flocked to an exhibition called "Japan Misrepresented" at the plush Mitsukoshi Department Store in the center of Tokyo.

Textbooks from three dozen nations make up the exhibit, which is sponsored by the International Society for Educational Information and supported by four Japanese government ministries anxious to correct the distorted picture of Japan that emerges from these books.

MISINFORMATION

From an Australian textbook, visitors to the exhibition learned that the rickshaw is the major mode of transportation in Japan's cities, surpassing motor vehicles.

Many of the Japanese have never seen a rickshaw, but all of them had just come off streets choked with the heaviest motor traffic in Asia.

In an American geography book they saw a photo of a "modern" Yokohama silk mill that their grandmothers might have worked in, but certainly not they.

Most of the texts were published in the last two or three years, yet they give the impression that Japan is a quaint little land of rickshaws, dainty gardens, geisha girls, Mt. Fuji and little else.

★ ★ ★

The books, designed chiefly for primary school children, portray a Japan that passed away 30 or 40 years ago. Few youngsters reading them would get the impression that this is the leading industrial power in Asia, a nation as modern in most respects as any Western nation.

Some of the books show a Japan that never existed at all.

An Indian primer shows a Chinese coolie pulling a fat, mustached mandarin in a rickshaw and calls it a modern Japanese street scene.

Thousands Homeless in Indonesian Revolt

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — J. P. Schoenholzer of the International Committee of the Red Cross said Tuesday that 600,000 persons are homeless on the Indonesian island of Celebres as a result of the still-sputtering revolt against the Jakarta government.

Schoenholzer, who returned recently from a three-month mission to Indonesia, said another 20,000 persons are homeless in Sumatra.

England Refuses Jet Sales to Cuba

LONDON (AP) — Britain Wednesday announced a turn-down of Cuba's request for 15 new jet fighter planes until tension in the Caribbean subsides.

★ ★ ★

Some months ago, Cuba asked Britain to supply 15 Hawker hunter jet aircraft in exchange for 15 out-dated piston engine Sea Furies which the British had sold to the government of former President Fulgencio Batista.

The United States earned 800 million dollars from foreign visitors in 1958, while American tourists spent more than two billion dollars abroad, including 536 million in Europe.

He is currently on a tour of nine Michigan cities. Fribley will discuss current disabled veterans' problems, with special reference to the 1959 Veterans' Pension Law.

★ ★ ★

The firm's board of directors also named Vincent J. Crampton executive vice president.

Seventh Child Born to Charlie Chaplin

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Charles Chaplin's wife Oona gave birth today to her seventh child—an 8 pound, 1 ounce girl. She is to be named Annette-Emilie.

★ ★ ★

Oona, 34-year-old daughter of the late American playwright Eugene O'Neill, was reported doing well. Chaplin arrived at the clinic five minutes before the baby was born. Beaming happily, he saw newsmen soon afterward and announced the baby's name. The 70-year-old comedian and Oona now have five girls and two boys.

Assails Adams on Tax Decision

Michigan Retail Assn. Upset by Ruling on Sales Levy Brackets

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Retailers Assn. Wednesday branded a recent decision by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams as "politically inspired."

★ ★ ★

Otis F. Cook, executive vice president of the association, said Adams was wrong in recently giving an opinion that the group's recommended sales tax schedule was illegal.

Adams said breaking points in the sales tax schedule should come on 17, 49 and 83-cent levels.

Cook has recommended Michigan retailers use the breaking points of 17, 38 and 68 cents.

$20 MILLION UNCOLLECTED

He said retailers already pay out of their own pockets because they cannot collect from the consumer.

Cook accused Adams and the revenue department of "attempting to write tax brackets into a law where no such brackets exist."

"Too many public officials," said Cook, ". . . are seemingly willing to throw aside any barrier, legal or otherwise, to force an unwanted tax (income tax) upon the citizens of Michigan."

★ ★ ★

He said Adams' ruling was an attempt to increase pressure for the income tax.

Benson to Undergo Operation Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will undergoe an operation for removal of his gall bladder at Walter Reed Army Hospital tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The hospital announced the secretary entered the hospital yesterday following a period of intermittent acute attacks of gall bladder colic. The attacks started after his recent trade and goodwill trip to Europe.

★ ★ ★

Benson is expected to be in the hospital 10 days to two weeks.

Undersecretary of Agriculture Trude D. Morse will serve as acting secretary in Benson's absence.

Royal Oak Again Asks Tax Boost

ROYAL OAK — For the third time this year residents will be asked to approve an increase in millage for the support of their public schools and $2 million for school construction.

★ ★ ★

The proposed increase is 2.25 mills for five years.

About $1,500,000 of the $2 million for school building would go for construction of a junior high school; the balance of the money would be used to relieve overcrowding in the elementary schools and for fire prevention and sanitary improvements.

★ ★ ★

The building program is being proposed as a bond issue requiring an increase of .75 mills for one year.

Both of these proposals failed in a special March election and in June at the regular school board election.

Students in the existing junior high schools are attending half-day sessions for lack of space.

County Goodfellow Sales Planned Friday, Saturday

Goodfellows in four Oakland County communities will be out in force to sell their annual special editions of The Pontiac Press within the next two days.

Money collected in the paper sales will go toward helping needy families at Christmastime, to provide toys for underprivileged children, and for Christmas parties in the area schools.

The special editions will be sold Saturday afternoon in Highland Township at four different locations.

They are: M59 and Duck Lake road in East Highland; M59 and Milford road; at the stoplight in the village of Highland, at the M59-Green Ridge road intersection in West Highland and at Clyde.

Sales chairman in Highland Township is George Volkert.

The Goodfellow edition of The Pontiac Press will be sold in Addison Township Friday evening and Saturday, according to Elmer Powell, paper sale chairman.

The Goodfellows will be stationed at the main intersections in Leonard and Lakeville and at Campbell's Corners.

Money raised by the sale is used for the annual Christmas party for Addison Township youngsters and Christmas baskets for needy families.

TROY SALE

The Goodfellows in Troy will be selling The Press at all main street intersections in the city tomorrow afternoon and evening. Proceeds will be used to fill Christmas baskets for families in dire straits during the Christmas season.

Robert White has charge of the Troy Goodfellow paper sale.

The four crossings where Avondale Goodfellows will be stationed to sell The Press tomorrow evening and Saturday are South boulevard at Adams road, Crooks and Auburn roads, Adams and Auburn road and Rochester and Auburn road.

The money they receive from the annual sale is also used for Christmas baskets, plus toys for underprivileged children and a Christmas party for Avondale youngsters later this month.

William Richards is sale chairman in the Avondale area.

Hospital Boosters Idea Born in Pain

A Bloomfield Township woman suffered a painful foot injury in a home accident and was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital only to wait more than two hours for treatment.

Mrs. Helen Petrakis, 141 S. Williamsbury Rd., was duly registered when she arrived at the hospital's emergency room three weeks ago.

It was busy that night. She was told to sit down and wait her turn.

"In a straight back chair, I waited and waited and waited," she says. "I was thinking how uncomfortable the bench was."

The pain bothered her and she was distressed during those long waiting minutes at the sight of others worried and in pain.

"I had time to think," she recalls. "I wondered why the place was so drab, why the walls were such an ugly color green. I saw a woman worried about her baby. There was a man whose arm appeared to be broken. I wished there was a place to put my coat."

Mrs. Petrakis was discomforted, but not angry. She is not suing the hospital.

She is, in fact, a Gray Lady, and from this recent unpleasant experience intends to help the hospital so that others won't have to face a similar situation.

★ ★ ★

The housewife volunteer called many friends and spoke to hospital officials soon after her distasteful experience in the emergency room. She had an idea.

From administration to doctors to civic leaders to volunteers, Mrs. Petrakis' plan blossomed into what is now known as the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Boosters' Club.

It is dedicated to helping individuals or groups for the betterment of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Its membership is anonymous. They don't care to receive credit, says Mrs. Petrakis. They do it for a purpose and for the fun of it.

"We hope to be a permanent organization," says Mrs. Petrakis. "The need for help at St. Joseph's is tremendous. It serves so many people and its funds are very limited. The hospital is quite old. A lot could be done."

The first project of the boosters' club is to redecorate and refurnish the surroundings of the emergency room.

The organization, which is a separate and autonomous group of people with no responsibility to the hospital administration, will hold its first function 15 days from now to give others an opportunity to help.

The semiformal dinner dance will be held 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18 at the Orchard Lake Country Club. Entertainment will be provided along with Frank Paul and his orchestra.

"Be a booster," says Mrs. Petrakis.

Plan Introduction of School Official at Avondale

The affair is open to the public.

India Asked to Act in Marine Kidnaping

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The United States has asked India to take criminal action against members of Communist China's consular staff in Bombay for the alleged kidnaping of Marine Sgt. Robert Armstrong last Friday.

A spokesman for the U. S. consulate general said a formal complaint was filed with Indian authorities Tuesday.

Indian police reported today that the key Chinese in the incident, Chang Chien-yu, had not been arrested.

Chang is believed to be hiding in the Communist Chinese consulate.

Students Flock Intern Program

Pontiac General Gets 11 Times More Inquiries Than Spots Available

More medical students than ever before are expressing interest in Pontiac General Hospital's intern training program.

More than 225 inquiries — almost 11 times the number of internships available — have been received so far, said Dr. John D. Marra, medical director.

The interest reflects increased respect for the hospital's educational program, he believes.

The American Medical Assn. has approved 19 internships for the hospital next year, a figure which takes into account the 380 beds the hospital should have in operation when the expansion program is completed.

Inquiries about the available posts — and a few early applications — have been received from undergraduate medical students in schools all over the country and Canada and Puerto Rico as well, Dr. Marra said.

A little less than half the inquiries were from other foreign countries, he said.

Deadline for applications is Jan. 20 for those students who plan to become interns after graduation this June.

Efforts of Three Men Bring Farm Annual Press Award

This year's Oakland County "Dairyman of the Year" award was won through the efforts of three men.

The trophy was presented last night to Pine Row Farm at 611 Snell Rd., north of Rochester, owned by Greene Fenley Jr. and managed by Adolph W. Engler, with Harold Hill as herdsman.

The coveted trophy is awarded annually by The Pontiac Press when dairymen from throughout the county get together at their banquet. Last night's event was at the Commerce Masonic Temple.

Pine Row Farm was judged by Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. managers as having the best dairy herd in Oakland County for the past year.

The award was presented to Engler and Fenley by Dick Hanson, Pontiac Press suburban editor.

Factors considered in chosing a winner are:

High production of milk and butterfat as shown by records; improvements during the year in production, housing, breeding and feeding; a satisfactory breeding program that will constantly improve the herd; and approved practices of management and feeding.

Judges Gerald Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers and Paul M. Salmon agreed that Pine Row Farm has been carrying out a sound dairy program for a number of years.

CITE CONTRIBUTION

Both the farm owner and manager have made a great contribution to dairying in Oakland County through use of approved operating methods, they said.

The winning record was made on a herd of 48 registered Holstein cows. They set an average last year of 12,850 pounds of milk and 464 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Altogether there are 112 head of registered Holsteins on the 287-acre farm. Of these, 60 head are milkers. The farm rents an additional 160 acres.

★ ★ ★

Serving as toastmaster of the evening, last year's winner of the Dairyman of the Year trophy, Frank Ruggles, introduced guest speaker Dr. G. Malcolm Trout of Michigan State University Dairy Department.

Dr. Trout spoke on experiences during his recent visit to Russia and showed films taken during the tour.

He told of the difficulty in trying to see a Soviet milk processing plant in operation.

Communist officials refused him permission to make the plant tour, so he went to such a plant in Moscow without their permission.

He talked his way in at the gate and made a complete tour of what he described as the most modern and largest milk processing plant he has ever seen.

'GOOD TO GET OUT'

But the real high point of his Russian visit came when he finally boarded a plane to leave that country, said Dr. Trout. It was good to get out, he commented.

Observations made by Dr. Trout when he left the Red officials behind to discuss his wishes clearly showed that behind a facade of marvelous development, life in Russia is a "very drab affair."

His films illustrated this when pictures taken off Moscow's main street showed row after row of log cabins serving as homes—this in the fourth largest city of the world, he remarked.

★ ★ ★

Legislature Deals Bagwell a Slap

LANSING (AP) — Politically, the Senate's nuisance tax decision was a slap in the face to Paul D. Bagwell, defeated 1958 Republican candidate for governor.

And it possibly provided a foretaste of a clash for the 1960 GOP gubernatorial nomination between Bagwell, Michigan State University faculty member, and Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo).

As his party's titular leader, Bagwell last week counseled a payroll tax solution to Michigan's "dire" cash crisis.

To Arraign Four in Break-Ins

Alleged Members of County Burglary Ring; 12 Others Implicated

Four alleged members of a 16-member burglary ring are in Oakland County Jail awaiting arraignment Monday on breaking and entering charges before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

★ ★ ★

They are William H. Dickson, 18, of 2121 Durham St., Utica; Paul D. McIntyre, 20, of 3170 Gerald St., Rochester; Raleigh Wilson, 18, of 2382 Longview St., and Jason M. Edgerton, 21, of 2344 Longview St., both of Avon Township.

★ ★ ★

Dickson, whose arrest by sheriff's deputies last Friday led to the arrest of others, is awaiting trial here in Circuit Court for the October burglary of a bus garage in Rochester.

The four appeared before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green yesterday and waived examination. All were returned to the county jail, unable to post $2,500 bonds.

When Dickson was arrested Friday he admitted being responsible for 18 break-ins during the past two years, officers said. Most of them took place in the eastern half of the county.

Dickson implicated 15 other members of the alleged ring. Nine are juveniles and all have admitted knowledge of the burglaries, officials said.

A fifth adult, Gregory L. Holder, 21, of 2466 Barclay St., Utica, a probation violator, may be turned over to Macomb County authorities, said Sheriff's Detective Alphonse Anderson. Meanwhile, he's being held here.

Attacker Foiled by Adams Kin

Apprehend Man Who Terrifies Daughter of Attorney General

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—An ex-convict was captured early today after a second attempted attack on a Radcliffe girl in two years.

★ ★ ★

The student, Mary Adams, 21, of East Lansing, Mich., daughter of Michigan Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, heard the man approaching her bed, screamed and telephoned police.

The intruder, believed to have entered by forcing a ground floor bathroom window at Founders House, fled to an adjoining room and down a fire escape.

Police cordoned off the area and spotted the suspect who fled on foot. The chase ended when the man ran up a blind alley and Policeman Cyril Hynes fired two shots into the air. The man came from behind a row of ash barrels with his hands up.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said he had served a term at Concord Reformatory for a knife-point attack on another Radcliffe girl last year.

The Adams girl is a first year graduate student at the Harvard-affiliated woman's college.

Gas Fumes Overcome 3 in Shelby

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Three workmen, one from Shelby Township and two from Detroit, were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while working 25 feet underground at the Curtiss-Wright plant here last night.

Stricken were Peter Weber, 19, of 53224 Garland Dr., Shelby Township, and John Krencewicz, 44, and Bill Strange, 41, both of Detroit.

They were installing a test cell in a pit using a gas-driven welding machine. According to Acting Shelby Township Fire Chief Marvin E. Meitz, the canvas they had put up around them had cut off their fresh air intake.

The three were removed from the pit and taken to the plant protection gate on 23-Mile road where firemen gave oxygen to the two Detroit men.

★ ★ ★

Weber was able to sit up and ride to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, in a police car. The other two were taken by ambulance.

Weber and Strange were treated and released. Krencewicz is listed in satisfactory condition but will remain in the hospital for observation, doctors said.

Broomfield Hits Farm Subsidies

Waste in Government Topic of Congressman Before Rotary Club

Giving federal subsidies to large farming interests and depriving the small farmer is "probably the best example of waste" in Washington, declared Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) yesterday.

He said the farm subsidy program, which has now mounted to $10 billion in agricultural products, costs taxpayers $3½ million a day.

Speaking at the noon luncheon of the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club, Broomfield attacked the farm subsidy program and unappropriated public works program which, he said, were attached to a bill "solely to assure that certain congressmen and senators would be re-elected."

Broomfield, a Republican, criticized the expenditure of $5 million to buy a Washington hotel to provide offices for members of Congress. He said after the purchase it was found that the floors were too weak.

★ ★ ★

When they were building the tunnel to connect the new Senate Office Building with the Capitol, "they missed the Capitol and ended up in a park," Broomfield said.

★ ★ ★

"It cost several thousand more dollars to find it, too," he said.

Of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill, Broomfield told Rotarians President Eisenhower's appeal to the people helped produce "the minimum bill a responsible Congress could pass."

Lt. Guilloz, Berkley Policeman, Dies

Berkley Police Lt. Raymond Guilloz, 53, died of a heart attack yesterday at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital just a few hours after admittance.

He was stricken at his home, 3036 Buckingham Dr., Berkley.

Lt. Guilloz had been a member of the Berkley Police Department since 1941.

Surviving are his wife, Helen; three daughters, Mrs. George Lenz of Berkley, Mrs. Carl Hanmack of Detroit and Mrs. Bert Zybrands of Garden City; nine grandchildren, a brother and a sister.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Sawyer Funeral Home in Berkley.

Talent Agent of Stars Found Dead at Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Talent agent Wynn Rocamora, former artistic director for the Hollywood Bowl, was found dead at his home Wednesday. Police called it suicide.

Rocamora, 52, left a note saying he was "sick physically and mentally and couldn't go on."

★ ★ ★

Rocamora's clients included singers Dorothy Kirsten and Helen Traubel, actresses Maureen O'Sullivan, Gloria Swanson and Miriam Hopkins, and columnist Louella Parsons.

Her Birthday Present? Hubby Gift-Wrapped

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—Staff Sgt. Richard J. Marcum showed up at home the other day—wrapped as a birthday present.

The Air Force veteran was swathed in paper and bedecked with a ribbon—courtesy of his buddies.

Tuesday was Mrs. Marcum's 22nd birthday. And Marcum had a letter for her from his topkick saying:

"No birthday without a husband present could be enjoyable. I'm detailing your husband to you—to work or use as you see fit.

"I recommend that he start out by serving you breakfast in bed, wait on you hand and foot and do the floors and dishes."

Marcum, 27, from Flint, Mich., followed orders.

Marcum's superior, Chief Warrant Office Lawrence Lambert, sends the same letter whenever the wife of one of his men has a birthday. Why?

When Lambert was a youngster on a farm near Saxon, W. Va., he recalled, "my birthday was the one day I didn't have to work."

But when Lambert joined the Army in 1935, he was astounded to learn "no one there appreciated my birthday."

Lambert vowed he'd do something about this if he ever got a position of authority. And he did.

"For the last 20 years ever since I made buck sergeant," he recalled, "I've been giving my men off for their birthdays and their wives' birthdays. I reckon I've given about 2,000 days off."

Lambert switched to the Air Force after World War II and now heads 14 rugged paratroopers at the tiny El Centro Auxiliary Landing Field.

AUDIOPHILES keep Santa hopping looking for something new in sound reproduction. An integrated tone arm, cartridge and stylus is good gift for stereo-hi-fi bug. This one by Shure has an imposing description of "stereo studio dynetic."

Repainted Toys as Good as New

Try Coat of Nontoxic Enamel on Metal; or Wax on Wood

Painting old toys—whether for your own children or to give away to a hospital or orphanage—is a fun way to spend the days before Christmas. It's a boon to the budget, too.

Beat-up toys which look fit for the rubbish heap are saved simply by applying a fresh coat of paint. Remember when selecting paints that young children love bright colors—especially brilliant reds, blues and greens.

Since children have a habit of sticking toys in their mouths and chomping on them, the only safe type of paint to use is one labelled non-toxic. Never use house paint.

Safest of all, tell your paint dealer about your toy-painting project and let him recommend the paint most suitable for the job.

★ ★ ★

Begin by washing wooden toys and allowing them to dry thoroughly. Sand smooth any rough spots. If there are deep dents or cracks in the toy, plug these with water putty. After cracks are filled sand over lightly before enameling. Have several brushes on hand, including an artist's brush for painting small toys.

★ ★ ★

If you have removed the finish from a toy and want to retain the natural wood look, apply two coats of varnish, after sanding the entire surface lightly.

Another simple way is to apply several coats of linseed oil and then wax the toy.

If it's a metal toy you want to refinish, first remove any dust from the surface by rubbing with steel wool. Wipe free of all dust with a clean cloth and then cover any bare spots with a coat of rust-inhibiting primer. Use a non-toxic enamel for the final coat.

Youth Will Have to Wait for Fourth Trip to Altar

CORUNNA (UPI)—William Forman, married and divorced three times at the age of 21, is going to have to wait a while before he takes his next bride.

Circuit Judge Michael Carland granted Forman his third divorce Tuesday, ending a marriage that lasted only about a month.

But Carland included in the decree an order barring Forman from marrying again for two years. Carland said such orders were permitted under Michigan law.

President Will Address GOP Diners on Jan. 27

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower will address Republican fund-raising dinners in 70 cities and 41 states Jan. 27 over closed-circuit radio and television.

GOP project Chairman Vernon Stouffer said yesterday that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and GOP National Chairman Thruston Morton and other Republican leaders also would speak. About 100,000 persons are expected to attend the "Dinner with Ike" series.

The majority of the dinners will be linked by closed-circuit television. Radio will link the other cities.

In 1956, the 56 dinners in 33 states raised $5,500,000 for national and local GOP organizations.

Seized Vessel Was Operated as Con Game

DETROIT (UPI) — A Greek-owned ship, seized in Lake St. Clair by U. S. deputy marshals for non-payment of bills, was operated as a "gigantic legal con game," an attorney has charged.

The ship, Theodoros A, which sailed under Panamanian registry, was seized Nov. 8 and has been tied up here while authorities search for its owners.

U.S. District Judge Arthur F. Lederle Tuesday signed orders permitting the ship's cargo of grain to be unloaded before it rots, and providing for eventual sale of the vessel to meet the claims of creditors.

An attorney representing the creditors charged that its owners had it sail from port to port piling up unpaid bills while the owners collected cargo charges.

Creditors' claims are piling up steadily and may run as high as $250,000. But the rusty old ship is estimated to be worth only about $50,000.

The ship was on its way to Venezuela with a cargo of grain when it was seized. The grain shipper, International Milling Co., said it planned to unload the grain today and ship it by rail to Baltimore for transfer to another ship.

The firm also said it planned to sue the owners—if they are ever located—for the $48,000 it paid to ship the grain plus the $100,000 it will cost for the new rail-ocean shipping.

Plan, Money, Courage Can Save 'Downtown'

DENVER (AP)—What does it take to "save" the downtown business district of a modern city?

The mayor of one such city said yesterday it takes a plan, money, and much courage. The mayor is Glenn Allen and the city is Kalamazoo, Mich., with a current population of about 75,000.

Allen is attending the American Municipal Assn. convention, where the subject of urban renewal and downtown revitalization has come up frequently.

The Kalamazoo plan, Allen said, was a downtown mall similar to that employed in other cities as a means to lure shoppers and business establishments back from the suburbs.

The test period at Kalamazoo showed the mall to be a success, said Allen—so much so that the city's 1960 budget includes an appropriation to lengthen the 900-foot mall another two blocks.

"There's no question in my mind that this concept will be adopted by more and more cities," he said.

"The downtown sections of cities must be saved, and Kalamazoo has shown that this method works.

"It took a lot of political courage to adopt the plan, but it paid off. The people like it.

★ ★ ★

Allen said property owners and the city shared equally the $60,000 cost of ripping up a downtown street two blocks long and installing playgrounds, fountains, flower beds and a long center strip seeded to grass.

"Sure, we were criticized for spending $30,000 in city funds for a project to benefits downtown businessmen," Allen said.

"But the city spends 10 times as much on projects that benefit outlying shopping centers. These projects aren't so dramatic and don't attract the attention something spectacular like the mall does."

The mayor said the downtown improvements inspired by the mall and the return of business activity will provide tax returns that will more than make up for initial expense.

★ ★ ★

"Three years ago, the assessed valuation of our downtown section dropped one million dollars," he said. "As a result, the mill levy on property throughout the city had to be increased to make up this tax revenue loss."

Sculptor Asking Pay for Gold Aadland Statue

MIAMI (UPI) — The late Errol Flynn commissioned a gold-plated nude statue of his 17-year-old protege Beverly Aadland to put on the mantle at his Jamaica estate, a sculptor said Wednesday.

Sepi Dubroyni said Flynn commissioned him to sculpt the reclining figure shortly before the actor died last month of a heart attack.

Dubroyni, who has done Ava Gardner, Jayne Mansfield and Linda Christian in brass, said he wants $5,000 from Flynn's estate for the Aadland in gold and will sue for payment.

He also had done Anita Eckberg in gold and recently finished Brigitte Bardot.

Five thousand dollars is his standard price, Dubroyni said.

The sculptor said he works from photographs and that Miss Aadland had posed nude in Havana for the gold statue. He showed the photographs, which also included Flynn.

★ ★ ★

"Errol was a good pal of mine, so we never signed anything when he commissioned me to do this," Dubroyni said. "It was almost done when Errol died. He wanted it for his home in Jamaica."

Dubroyni finished the 18-inch reclining nude on Monday.

In the two years following the removal of World War II price controls in 1946, the cost of living increased more than 30 per cent.

JOHN CURTSINGER

$5,000 Reward Up for Unionist

Offer by Teamsters in Puzzle Over Missing Official of Local

CINCINNATI (AP) — Local 100 of the Teamsters' Union has offered $5,000 reward for information "leading to the conviction of those persons responsible for the disappearance" of missing union official John Curtsinger.

Curtsinger, a trustee of the local, hasn't been seen since he left his home in Florence, Ky., Nov. 9 to attend a union meeting here.

His automobile was found two days later on a Covington street near the Ohio River.

Algin Roberts, Kentucky State Police detective, said he believes Curtsinger either is in the Ohio River or has fled from the area.

'SUICIDE ON MIND'

Roberts, who has been investigating the case, said, "At least we know suicide was on his mind. If he carried it out, I don't know."

Curtsinger was involved in an intralocal squabble between forces opposing Teamsters International President James R. Hoffa and those favoring Hoffa.

The local officers were elected on an anti-Hoffa slate.

★ ★ ★

Last summer, the pro-Hoffa group seized control of the union headquarters for a few hours after a fight with the anti-Hoffa officers.

Curtsinger was hurt in the brawl and subsequently filed charges against one of the rebel group.

Ben Gettler, attorney for the local, said "I think there is a likelihood that John Curtsinger met with foul play. At least, there is a 50-50 possibility."

NO NAMES

He declined to name any names in connection with the wording of the reward offer.

U.S. Tourists Avoid Vacationing in Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of free-sipending American tourists are bypassing Fidel Castro's Cuba for other Caribbean countries, travel officials here say.

The loss to Cuba runs into millions annually.

The decline in Cuba's tourist trade is blamed upon anti-American statements by high Cuban officials and reports of incidents in Havana.

"You can't blame the tourist," one travel agent said. "He doesn't want to go where he's not welcome."

'NOT WANTED'

Travelers have said: "Why should we spend our money in a country where we're not wanted?"

All of the major steamship lines have canceled Havana as a port-of-call on their winter cruises. These lines in the past have carried an estimated 30,000 tourists to Havana each year. One line, the Holland-America, alone carried 10,000.

★ ★ ★

Hotels in Havana have been badly hurt by the drop in tourist visits. The Hotel Havana Riviera, built in 1957 through a federal loan, was taken over last week by the Cuban government. The hotel was losing $10,000 a day, officials said.

The Havana Hotel Assn. recently announced it would appeal for government subsidies.

The Cuban Tourist Commission office here said that in 1957—the latest reporting year — 2,804,112 tourists visited Cuba and spent 58 1-3 million dollars. There were 381,600 American visitors, 31,000 of them on cruises.

A commission spokesman admitted that 1958 and 1959 "have been very bad years."

An official of the "Call Mr. Foster" travel bureau was more explicit. "The tourist trade in Cuba is practically nil," he said.

"I don't see how you can get any comparative figures when you don't have any tourists to speak of."

Old Abe Lincoln Brought to Life in School Row

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A class of seventh graders has challenged the Kentucky Education Assn.'s proposal for a 10-month school term.

★ ★ ★

In a letter to the "State Legislature of Kentucky" the 31 students at Martin School in Floyd County put it this way:

"If some of America's great leaders such as Abraham Lincoln attended school only three months or less a year, why should we attend 10 months?"

★ ★ ★

The pupils said the extra money which would be involved could be used for other things — even for teacher salary increases.

Detroit Mailers Vote to Remain in IMU

DETROIT (AP)—Mailers at three Detroit daily newspapers have voted to retain the independent International Mailers Union Local 4 as bargaining agent in a National Labor Relations Board election.

Members of Detroit Mailers Local 40 of the International Typographical Union had requested the election. The ITU was replaced by the IMU as bargaining agent after a 1957 election.

ITU mailers picketed the newspapers last September, forcing a three-day shutdown which ended after a federal judge ordered the pickets to disband.

Radioactive Iodine Slows Racing Heart

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—The use of radioactive iodine has produced good results in the treatment of persons with "racing heart," a Los Angeles, Calif., physician reported Wednesday.

Iodine "cooked" in an atomic reactor, said Dr. Elio Corday, lowers the body's chemical activity.

"And for reasons not fully understood as yet, this slows down the patient's racing heart."

Waterford Plans to Issue Calendar of Coming Events

More than 100 survey report forms were mailed to every church, service club and organization in Waterford Township this week by the Recreation Department in a new Community Calendar project.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of a Community Calendar is to identify the scheduled dates of major programs of township group, in order to minimize the conflict of specific dates when projects are being planned.

The new calendar will be published in January and in July, and should be a valuable guide to township events, according to director Tom Belton.

Organization leaders who have received the forms have been asked to complete and return them as soon as possible before the first publication in January.

Leaner Meat Preferred Today

Diet Trend Hits Pork Producers

CHICAGO (UPI)—More and more Americans are trying to keep from getting fat and this is causing a reaction in the barnyard.

The authority for this information is the Federal Reserve Bank. Federal reserve statisticians have taken a long look at the meat price situation and concluded today that consumers (or people) are showing an increasing desire for lean meats.

Part of this desire has been reflected in a shift from pork to beef consumption. But the buyer has also increasingly preferred leaner pork cuts, too — hams, loins, picnic shoulder and Boston butt.

An American Medical Assn. nutrition counselor said much of the change is due to advertising which stresses the danger of eating too much fat.

"It has not been proven that fat is connected with heart disease," said Eugene Stevenson. "The studies are still in the experimental stage. But advertising and newspaper articles, plus a desire to cut down on calories, is having an effect on meat consumption, in my opinion," he said.

Another nutrition expert said the growing consciousness of proteins and calories is also influencing the producers of livestock.

"They have to provide what the homemaker wants," said Rita Campbell, nutrition director of the National Livestock and Meat Board. "Processors are trimming off more fat, and so are the retailers."

This year, lean cuts account for more than 71 per cent of the total carcass value of hogs, compared with only 50 per cent in 1909, according to the bank. Fat cuts declined from 27 to 17 per cent in the same period.

LARD SLIPS

In part, this increase in lean meat values reflects the declining value of lard, it said. Lard is at a record low of less than 8 per cent of total value, compared with 20 per cent 50 years ago.

The federal reserve experts suggested the change in the public's taste for meat might hold a ray of hope for farmers, whose hogs are now selling at the lowest level since March 1956.

If breeders and producers in the future would market a hog with lean cuts comprising 48 to 50 per cent of the total weight, instead of the current 38 per cent, its value would probably increase 15 per cent on the basis of the present trend, it said.

But the bank cautioned that more work was necessary to change buying and selling habits in any substantial way.

And farmers are not likely to produce large amounts of meatier animals without the promise of an adequate price incentive, it added.

Morton Sees Possible GOP Control of House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton told President Eisenhower Wednesday there is widespread "evidence of Republican resurgence" throughout the country which could win the GOP control of the House in 1960.

Morton, who is also senator from Kentucky, reported to the President on the results of his recent 60-day tour of the country following the adjournment of Congress.

PROPERLY BROWNED toast has competition from pop-up toaster in yellow, pink, aqua or white. Thermostat controls doneness of waffles, bread or muffins.

The first Republican convention was held in Philadelphia in 1856.

Poor President! What'll He Do With That Bull?

BOMBAY, India (AP) — President Eisenhower may end his goodwill mission to India by taking home a zoo — or at least two tigers, a bull and a couple of lions.

★ ★ ★

The health minister of Madhya Pradesh State, Rani Padvavati Devi, announced that she will present Eisenhower with two Royal Bengal tiger cubs recently captured in the jungles of Central India.

★ ★ ★

The government of Andhra Pradesh State has announced it will give him a bull of a rare Indian breed when he visits the New Delhi World Agricultural Fair.

★ ★ ★

Tokyo Pampers Her Tipplers With Soft Beds, Nursing Care

TOKYO (UPI) — Come cherry blossom time next year, Tokyo's tipplers will rate among the world's most pampered people.

★ ★ ★

Two "drunkards' protection stations," one with seven rooms and the other with 23, will be at their service by that time.

When they've quaffed a few too many, the inebriates will be gently guided to one of the protection stations and put under the care of a four-man staff.

First, a courteous desk sergeant will check them in, take their home address and phone number to get in touch with relatives and lock up valuables.

Then a soft-spoken, but firm patrolman will see them to their rooms, each a comfortable 10 feet by 5 feet, and station himself in the corridor outside to make sure nobody wanders out and hurts himself.

A male nurse to treat emergency cases and a janitor to tidy up will round out the staff.

SOFT BED AND FLOOR

The rooms will have soft beds, running water, linoleum floors with half an inch of spongy fiber underneath to cushion falls and walls padded with foam rubber to keep self-destructive types from butting themselves senseless.

Behind these protection stations, which will cost the Japanese capitol a total of 7,875,000 yen ($21,598), is the same remarkable concern for the welfare of the drunkard that has led some people to call Japan "the drunkard's paradise."

The drunkard is a man with a temporary disability. He has to be cared for. In the courts, he is generally treated leniently. During particularly festive holidays, women in Japan's big cities often form "stretcher corps" to clear drunkards from the streets and keep them from being run over.

Impatience with the often destructive antics of drunkards is growing, but the drunkard still rates extra special care here.

"Drunkards are not criminals," said Kenroku Koike, chief of the crime prevention department of the Tokyo metropolitan police.

"JUST A RARE BINGE"

"A lot of them are good family men out on a rare binge. They have a guilty conscience to begin with. Putting them in a jail cell, the way we do now, just makes them feel so much more guilty that they may go out and get drunk all over again the minute we turn them loose."

★ ★ ★

Besides, Koike said, sipping a cup of green tea, drunkards are a nuisance at police stations and interfere with normal operations.

In furnishing the protection station, the police drew the line at piped-in music and air-conditioning. They don't want permanent boarders.

"We're not worried that the same men will turn up again and again for rooms at the stations," Koike said. "We figure their wives will see to it they don't make it a regular habit.

Tokyo is not the first Japanese city to build such stations. Nagoya and Yokohama both have one in operation now, and 14 more are planned for major cities throughout Japan.

Koike said the Nagoya police are highly pleased with the success of their station.

The Nagoya and Yokohama stations are coeducational, with eight rooms for men and two for women. The Tokyo police are making theirs for men only.

"The ladies usually aren't as troublesome as the men," Koike gallantly declared, "and when they are, they're not nearly as strong."

U.S. Department of Agriculture figures indicate that the U.S. wheat surplus of more than a billion bushels, is enough to produce 60 billion loaves of bread — or 25 loaves for every person on earth.

Twelve Simple Rules Make a Safe Holiday

NEW YORK (UPI) — The International Association of Fire Chiefs has made public a list of 12 rules to keep the Christmas tree from becoming a fire hazard.

Ninety-two persons died of fire during last year's three-day Christmas weekend, the fire chiefs said.

Their precautionary rules:

★ ★ ★

1. A small tree can be just as pretty as a big one, and proportionately less dangerous.
2. Keep it outdoors until you're ready to trim it.
3. Don't bring it in until "just before Christmas."

4. Set it up in the coolest part of the house, away from radiators, heaters or fireplaces. Stand it in water.

5. Use fireproof decorations. Use no cotton or paper trimmings unless they are flameproofed.

6. Don't put electric trains, or other electric toys, under the tree or near it.

★ ★ ★

7. Use electric lights, never candles. Inspect each socket and all wire to make sure lights are in good condition. Discard sets with frayed wiring. Look for UL label, indicating approval by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., when buying new lights.

★ ★ ★

8. Provide a switch for the tree lights at some distance from the tree.

9. Don't leave the lights on when you're away from home.

10. Inspect the tree from time to time to see whether needles have started to turn brown near the lights. If they have, move the lights.

11. When needles begin to fail, take the tree down and discard it — outdoors.

12. Discard gift wrappings promptly and safely after presents are opened.

DEPARTMENT CHANGE — Neil H. McElroy, left, resigned Tuesday as secretary of defense, and President Eisenhower chose Thomas S. Gates, right, to succeed him. Gates now is deputy secretary of defense. McElroy is returning to the soap business in Cincinnati after having held the defense post for 26 months. Gates, in private life, is an investment banker. McElroys resignation is effective immediately.

Boneless Animals on Venus?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scientist has suggested that boneless animals perhaps similar to jellyfish may abound in oceans on Venus.

The suggestion came from Dr. Harrison Brown of the California Institute of Technology. He and other scientists participated in a news conference at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Thursday.

The scientists agreed that life on Venus seems more probable as a result of the discovery that the planet's atmosphere contains water vapor.

All agreed that existence of water on Venus, if it isn't too hot, indicates the possibility and perhaps the probability that the planet supports life.

The Venusian atmosphere contains an enormous amount of carbon dioxide compared to the amount of the same gas in the earth's atmosphere. On Earth, much of the atmospheric carbon dioxide has been carried down in rain and has combined with surface rocks to produce limestone.

Limestone is the hard stuff of bones. Brown suggested that the relatively larger amounts of carbon dioxide in the Venusian atmosphere may mean that planet is covered with seas.

This would prevent limestone-forming contact between the gas and the planetary rock.

"So if life exists on Venus," Brown said, "it might not have any bones."

Santa Will See Mustache Mail This Time 'Round

Santa is the Wilmington Businessmen's Assn., which sets up a special mailbox each year for children's letters.

★ ★ ★

Christmas is coming and on Wednesday the association got out the old mailbox—the one with Santa's mustache for a lid — and opened it.

There were 452 letters from last year, some of them not just addressed to the "North Pole." Apparently some people mistook the box for a real mailbox. Thirty-four friends of one man didn't get their cards.

He'll get them back. Other letters, lacking return addresses, will be forwarded, with an explanatory letter from the post office. The association might get some curt replies.

"Our faces are red in retrospect," said a businessman. "This year we'll check it daily. It's only intended for Santa and it was put away last year unopened."

A recent survey found that more than nine out of 10 pregnancies in the United States end successfully.

U.S., Reds Sift U.N. Space Committee

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Working against the calendar, the United States and the Soviet Union are stepping up behind-scene efforts to reach agreement on the makeup of a U.N. committee to study ways to keep outer space peaceful.

Both the U.S. and Soviet delegations kept a tight lid of secrecy on the negotiations, but Soviet informants hinted privately there was about a 50-50 chance the two nations would come together on a division of seats for a permanent U.N. committee.

Prodding the negotiations was the new target date for the Assembly to end its 1959 session — Dec. 12 — set Wednesday by the steering committee. Earlier the group had hoped to close out by Dec. 7.

Chief imports of Russia are metals and machinery.

Space Agency Befuddled by Voluntary Gift

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Lester Lehn had a little trouble getting the federal government to take his $100. He gave the Treasury a rather original idea and they didn't know what to do.

★ ★ ★

Lehn, owner of a Trailer Sales Agency, wants to help the federal space agency build a rocket that will put the Soviets to shame.

The U.S. Treasury spent three months trying to decide in which account to put Lehn's $100. Finally, Lehn had to tell them.

He suggested an open account so any citizen could contribute to the cause. His $100 was accepted and he sent another $100 check.

And someone else added $1.40 to the cause.

National consumption of ice cream is expected to total 577 million gallons in 1959.

Woman-Hater Gives Up Fast of One Week

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Woman-hater Elmer (Jet) Simrell's tummy got the best of him.

His "fast until death," aimed at forcing newspapers to publish his lengthy views on the "over-emancipation" of women, is a thing of the past.

Simrell, 48, broke down Tuesday night and ended his fast by tackling an order of beef, soup, salad, coffee and bread.

His weight fell from 128 pounds to 112 pounds after he started his fast by turning up his nose at Thanksgiving turkey.

He is held in the county jail on a federal charge of threatening the lives of several judges involved in his divorce case.

Wants Preference Vote Along With Primary

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie thinks Idaho should conduct a presidential preference election at the same time it holds regular primaries in presidential election years.

Smylie says he will ask the 1961 State Legislature to authorize such an election.

"If I were a delegate I would like to have the guidance of a preference vote by the members of my party," Smylie said.

Researcher Bryon Radcliffe explains that the home will test plastic floors among other materials. There'll also be plastic water lines.

Gen. Snyder, 78, Ike's Doctor, Sticks Close by Him on Trips

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sprightly man 78 years old has an important assignment among those accompanying President Eisenhower on his grueling trip abroad.

Eisenhower takes off tonight on a 23,000-mile tour to three continents, and at his side will be Maj. Gen Howard McCrum Snyder. As personal physician to the President, Snyder seldom is far from Eisenhower's side—even when off duty. He and his wife live in an apartment not far from the White House.

★ ★ ★

Called from retirement three times since 1945, Snyder still is on active duty in the Army. He has been a doctor and a soldier for half a century.

★ ★ ★

For years he was a crack surgeon, but no longer wields a scalpel.

Snyder will be 79 Feb. 7 and still is as lean and erect as a young cadet.

A handsome man with a crop of white hair, Snyder is a popular favorite around the White House—with the Eisenhower family and all the others.

A WEARING TRIP

Eisenhower's 19-day goodwill mission to 11 nations in Europe, Asia and Africa adds up to perhaps the most wearing journey any president has ever undertaken. And at 69 with a history of three major illnesses in the last four years, Eisenhower is not a man about whom any doctor could rest easy on this trip.

Snyder and other Army physicians gave the President a head-to-toe physical examination just a few weeks ago and pronounced him in excellent health except for chronic bronchitis.

★ ★ ★

That's a generally comforting finding for Snyder. But he and his colleagues never forget that previous medical checkups flashed no warning in advance of Eisenhower's 1955 heart attack, the surgery he underwent for ileitis in 1956, and the minor stroke he suffered late in 1957.

★ ★ ★

On this tour, as in the case of all other Eisenhower trips away from Washington, it can be taken for granted that Snyder has arranged all along the three-continent route for any emergency medical care Eisenhower might need.

Snyder or the assistant White House physician—Air Force Col. Walter R. Tkach—accompanies Eisenhower on every trip he makes. They always are on duty or on call when the President is in Washington. One doctor or the other also always is available for any care Mrs. Eisenhower may require when she is not with the President on his travels.

★ ★ ★

The two physicians have no outside practice, but they sometimes advise and care for top members of the White House staff.

Expecting Jump in Liquor Sales

Holiday Gifts to Bring Total for Fall Months to $560 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are expected to spend more than 560 million dollars on holiday gifts of distilled spirits this Christmas.

★ ★ ★

"This represents a 10 per cent increase over the unofficial estimates of $511,896,000 spent during the 1958 holiday season," says Walter Jahn, marketing director for Schenley Industries, Inc.

The estimates are based on quarterly sales figures, Jahn says.

In 1958 the apparent consumption of distilled liquor in October, November and December was 68,612,000 wine gallons while the average for each of the first three quarters was slightly more than 47 million wine gallons.

"The excess—which gives us our $511,896,000 when converted from wine gallons into dollars—is attributed to holiday gift buying because no other factor can explain the marked difference," Jahn says.

Coach Aubrey (Dit) Clapper of Buffalo in the American Hockey League, scored 228 goals in 20 years as a hockey player.

Europe Wants Nuclear Force

Claim Pool Is Needed Outside U.S. to Defend Western Area

PARIS (UPI)—Powerful voices in Europe called Tuesday for the creation of a European nuclear striking force to work in close association with the U. S. Strategic Air Command (SAC) in defense of the West.

The proposal was submitted to the seven-nation Western European Union (WEU) Assembly by its defense and armaments commission. It was the center of debate in Wednesday's second day of the WEU Assembly.

The project, outlined on behalf of the committee by British Laborite Fred Mulley, said the new force was necessary in order to insure a concerted response by the nations of Europe to any Soviet attack aimed at Europe itself.

The committee report said the plan was based on the principle that "the American strategic nuclear guarantee has lost its former value" and that the United States could not be expected to risk nuclear reprisals against itself by coming to the aid of Europe in the event of a localized attack on the continent.

★ ★ ★

The main part of the committee's proposition was "the creation of a European strategic nuclear force aimed at preventing strategic aggressions against Western Europe and associated with the American Strategic Air Command (SAC.)".

Committee spokesman Mulley pointed out that Britain was the only European country which presently could provide the basic materials for the European pool.

He said that because of this situation the project would make it necessary to revise existing agreements between the United States and Britain which prevent an exchange of nuclear information.

He said the European atomic striking force could only be provisional "in the absence of any agreement on disarmament or on the creation of a "non-nuclear club'."

Spends $182,000 for Medieval Book

LONDON (AP) — New York dealer Hans P. Kraus Tuesday paid $182,000 for a 13th century illuminated book. It was the highest price ever paid at auction of a book or manuscript and broke a 30-year record, dealers said.

★ ★ ★

Kraus made his bid for a copy of the Apocalypse, printed in St. Albans, England, about 1250.

The previous auction record of 33,000 pounds—or $158,400 at the pound's value then—was paid by J. P. Morgan in 1929 for the Bedford Book of Hours.

★ ★ ★

The copy of the Apocalypse came from the library of the late Byson Perrins, the British steak sauce manufacturer.

Former Senator Potter Rejects Commission Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Michigan Republican Sen. Charles E. Potter has turned down a White House offer of a $20,000-a-year post on the U.S.-Canadian Joint Commission because he wants to remain in business.

"I'm most appreciative of the offer," Potter told a newsman here Tuesday, "but I have reluctantly had to turn it down."

Potter said business commitments he has assumed since his defeat for re-election last year have made it impractical for him to accept the post.

The six-member commission oversees water problems along the U.S.-Canadian border. One of three American seats on the commission was vacated with the death this year of Douglas McKay of Oregon.

Potter also confirmed he has been hired as executive director of the committee of American Tanker Owners, Inc. A committee spokesman said Potter will represent the 14 member companies "before the various government agencies concerned with tanker matters as well as before Congress.

Potter already was a member of three other business firms.

Dedicate Haviland School

The newly opened Laura S. Haviland Elementary School in Waterford Township was dedicated last night by school officials and Parent-Teacher Assn. organizers. The program took place in the lobby.

Superintendent of Schools William Shunck presented the building to the public, and Rev. Roy Lambert gave the dedication speech.

Under the temporary chairmanship of Mrs. Alvin DeLisle, there was an election of officers and acceptance of the new Parent-Teacher Assn. by-laws.

Officers elected were Eugene Griffin, president; Mrs. Alvin DeLisle, mother vice president; Rudolph Waara, father vice president; Mrs. Paul White, teacher vice president; Mrs. Curtis Thompson, recording secretary; Mrs. John Maturo, corresponding secretary; Reginald Rieths, treasurer; and Mrs. Sam Calcote, historian.

★ ★ ★

Following the Board of Education policy in selecting names, the $350,000 school was named in honor of Mrs. Haviland's contribution to Michigan's advancement.

She was a pioneer who started a school for orphan children, helped escaping slaves in the Civil War and eventually became an author.

Former principal of the Four Towns School in Waterford Township, Mrs. Sally Johnson, is now principal of the Haviland School.

Work as Usual at Site of Blast

Five Injured Yesterday Constructing a Sewer for Southfield Area

Work was going ahead as usual today on the Farmington sanitary sewer project in Southfield, where five workers were burned in a gas explosion 37 feet below ground yesterday.

Richard L. Castle, chief engineer for the Oakland County Department of Public Works, said the work crews experienced only one day's delay in pouring concrete yesterday while the explosion was being investigated.

Hurt in the explosion were John Canon, 29, Ralph Hooks, 25, Vernice Nelson, 23, Grady Nelson, 25, and Alex Bryant, 45, all of Detroit. They were employed by the joint contracting firms of Leo & Capello and Pasitto & Forest.

All five men were reported in satisfactory condition today in a Detroit hospital. They suffered burns on the hands, face and neck.

The accident, caused when a pocket of marsh gas exploded from undetermined causes, occurred in a deep sewer tunneling project at the intersection of Eight Mile and Shiawassee roads.

The tunnel was being dug for the sewer pipe. You do this by first making an open shaft from grade down, then going entirely underground in two directions from the shaft. The injured men were in the east heading of the tunnel, Castle said.

Tunneling, as opposed to normal trench construction, is done where the sewer pipe has to be laid exceptionally deep.

Seek Leaders for Youth Work

Urban League, 4 UF Agencies Explore Need of Southwest Pontiac

The Urban League of Pontiac and four Pontiac Area United Fund youth service agencies will meet with representatives of 40 organizations tonight in an attempt to secure additional volunteer leadership for an expanded youth service program in the city's southwest area.

★ ★ ★

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Community Service Building.

Present will be Mrs. Donna LaMacchio, executive director of the Girl Scouts; Van R. Braidwood, Pontiac district executive of the Boy Scouts; Mrs. Doris Beck, executive director of the Camp Fire Girls; and Pat Kelly, teen-age program director of the YWCA.

"We have been snowed under with requests from the children of the area for additional recreational planning," said Everett Spurlock, the Urban League's executive director.

ON LIMITED BASIS

"At present these four agencies function in the area on a limited basis and are anxious to expand their services," Spurlock said.

"We have the heaviest concentration of children in the southwest area, with little youth participation in recreational programs.

"We have complete facilities in the churches and schools to carry out expanded programs," Spurlock noted.

★ ★ ★

"What we desperately need is volunteer leadership by the parents so that an expanded program can succeed.

"We want the organizations present at the meeting to spread the word throughout their own groups and help us enlist these volunteers," he said.

Spurlock said tonight's meeting is open to all interested.

Rocky Slates Southern Trek

Will Visit Missouri, Texas, Florida Before Word on Candidacy

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is planning now to sweep into border and Southern states before disclosing his presidential intentions around the turn of the year.

Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida are being added to a final pulse-feeling tour which already included Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

A fellow Republican governor, who didn't want his name used, said he has a hunch that Rockefeller's decision will be against trying to snatch the Republican presidential nomination away from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

And from a Nixon rooter, Gov. Harold W. Handley of Indiana, came this political appraisal:

"There is no question that if he'll bide his time, Rockefeller will be president of the United States. But this isn't the time."

★ ★ ★

About a dozen governors, off and on, are here for meeting of various committees of the National Conference of Governors. The number keeps changing, as some leave, others arrive, and still others cancel out because of poor flying weather.

Rockefeller put in a belated, dramatic appearance here late Wednesday and promptly held a news conference.

The main point of it was that he now is planning visits to four extra states on an aerial expedition that takes him first to South Bend, Ind., Dec. 12. It winds up Dec. 18 at a spot in Florida which still is to be determined.

Telegraph offices in the little Asian nation of Cambodia handled 40,000 telegrams in 1958.

Chrysler Shuts Down, but Only for Week

DETROIT (AP) — Auto assembly lines were idle at Chrysler Corp. today as the firm became the second automaker to suspend production because of steel shortages.

But the shutdown will last only a week. Chrysler said it will resume output of its compact Valiant and Imperial passenger cars and Dodge trucks Dec. 9.

Chrysler's last assembly line to close was at the East-Jefferson plant in Detroit yesterday. General Motors Corp. shut down its last auto assembly line early last month because of shortages caused by the steel strike.

Earl Beatty, 54, Wed to 18-Year-Old Beauty

MIDHURST, England (AP) — Earl Beatty, 54-year-old peer with three American ex-wives, married an 18-year-old British beauty today over her father's objections.

The greying nobleman's fourth wife is Diane Kirk, former debutante and London model. They were married in the registrar's office of this Sussex market town, a few miles from Loxwood, where her father runs a mushroom farm.

Lord Beatty is the son of British World War I admiral and second earl of the line. His three previous marriages all ended in divorce.

Detroit Doctor, Expert in Obstetrics, Dies

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Harry M. Kirschbaum, noted researcher in obstetrics and gynecology, died yesterday at his home. He was 59.

A heart condition forced Kirschbaum to retire from active practice two years ago.

Kirschbaum was chief of obstetrics and gynecology during World War II at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio.

He was a graduate of Wayne State University's College of Medicine and studied in Vienna, Berlin, London and Paris.

U.A.R. Angers Britain Already

Relations Back a Day; Report of Museum at Death House Stirs

LONDON (AP)—One day after resuming diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic, the British government was stung Wednesday night by a report that the U.A.R. is going to make a museum out of the house in which a captive British officer was suffocated during the Suez invasion.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd cabled Britain's newly appointed charge d'affaires in Cairo, Colin Crowe, to find out the facts from the Egyptian government and report back to London.

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said the museum will show the rope with which 2nd Lt. Anthony Moorehouse was tied and sketches showing how Egyptian partisans kidnaped him.

★ ★ ★

Moorehouse was seized by Egyptian commandos in Port Said about a month after the cease-fire which ended the 1956 war.

When British troops began combing the area, he was locked in a small metal cupboard. The Egyptians returned once to feed him, but as the hunt intensified, they felt it unsafe to return again.

Moorehouse was left for two days. He lapsed into a coma and died from suffocation. Later his body was handed over to the U.N. Emergency Force and was flown back to England.

In the corridors of the House of Commons members called the Cairo newspaper report "shocking and insulting."

Town Has New Mayor

SWARTZ CREEK (AP) — This new city southwest of Flint elected William Young its first mayor Tuesday night through the City Council at its first meeting. The town has a population of 3,399.

Road Post Race Augurs City-Township Shuffle

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The way things are shaping up in the run for Lee O. Brooks' Oakland County road commissioner job, the Board of Supervisors will soon have to name a new chairman pro-tem.

★ ★ ★

Should present Chairman Pro-tem Hiland M. Thatcher, currently said to be out in front for the $7,500 post, be elected Dec. 14, supervisors will have to name his successor on the Board.

It is expected that supervisors will waste no time. They'll probably elect a new chairman pro-tem following the election for road commissioner.

All this might not be necessary if Thatcher were to lose. Talk around West Bloomfield is that should this happen, Thatcher would be reappointed to succeed himself as supervisor, and would probably hang onto the job as chairman pro-tem.

Already two supervisors—both of them from townships—are being mentioned for Thatcher's job. Relative newcomers to the Board, they are Frank Webber of Addison Township and Arno L. Hulet of Bloomfield Township.

Webber, in his fourth year on the Board, and Hulet, in his third, were mentioned from among 24 township supervisors at a township supervisor meeting held last month. Thatcher said they undoubtedly will be nominated from the floor Dec. 14.

Election of the chairman pro-tem, then, will be a key one, with the possibility that he could be the Board's next chairman. Each April the two top men on the 83-member Board are elected.

Although for the past several years the custom of alternating the two posts between township and city supervisors each year has been skipped, due to Chairman Delos Hamlin's and Thatcher's popularity, Thatcher's possible departure could signal its return.

3 YEARS AT POST

Representing West Bloomfield Township, Thatcher has been chairman pro-tem since 1956. Hamlin, in that position in 1955, was first elected chairman in 1956.

"I expect they (supervisors) will name a rural vice chairman," predicted Hamlin of the city of Farmington.

He said everything, of course, depends on whether Thatcher gets Brooks' old job, which will become vacant Dec. 31. Brooks resigned in October due to ill health.

★ ★ ★

Thatcher, a supervisor since 1948, is counting on the election. He resigned, effective Dec. 10, as supervisor at a November meeting of the township board.

MANY IN WINGS

The singling out of Webber and Hulet leaves several veteran township supervisors with 10 or more years service on the Board in the background. They, like any city supervisor, however, could be nominated for the chairman pro-tem post from the floor.

Township supervisors are expected to push hard for a successor to Thatcher from a township, hoping he will be next year's chairman.

Although Hamlin is respected by city and township supervisors alike, there has persisted on the Board for some time a friendly rivalry between the two blocs. City supervisors outnumber those from townships more than two to one.

★ ★ ★

Bidding for Brooks' position with Thatcher are Clayton G. Lilly, former Ferndale supervisor, and Marshall E. Taylor, Walled Lake supervisor. There may be other unannounced candidates.

In letters sent out recently, Lilly is attempting to win endorsement from city supervisors to outdo Thatcher's endorsement by an association of township supervisors.

All supervisors will nominate and elect Brooks' successor at their December meeting.

Saginaw's Churches Oppose Race Track

SAGINAW (AP) — The Saginaw Council of Churches says it plans to protest to the State Racing Commission about a proposed $1,500,000 parimutuel harness track at nearby Birch Run.

★ ★ ★

The council said yesterday it will present protest petitions to Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis at a Dec. 17 public hearing.

In the council's resolution, it urges the racing commission not to give license to "this gambling vehicle."

★ ★ ★

The proposed track would be located at the Dixie Motor Speedway about 12 miles south of Saginaw on U.S. 23 and U.S. 10.

Illiterate? . . . No Communications?

India Knows 'Ishayi' Is Coming

(Editor's Note: An American called Ishayi Hawar will visit India next week, and India's common man knows it despite widespread illiteracy and limited communications. What do some of India's 400 millions, in their native wisdom, think of the Eisenhower visit? The AP sent one of its Hindu-speaking staff to find out.)

By RANGASWAMY SATAKOPAN

NEW DELHI (AP)—Bhola Nath, 28, is a gardener in the village of Mehrauli eight miles from Delhi.

He understands a burra burra sahib (very very big man), a great general of the second world war, soon will arrive to tell the Indian commanders how to deal with the Communist Chinese.

* * *

These he knows about most recently from hearing of Red China's raids at the Indian border.

Bhola Nath understands the general is being sent by the Amrika Badshah (American emperor) to help Prime Minister Nehru out of trouble.

Bhola Nath says the Amrikan general will tell how Amrika got rid of the Lal Janda Wallahs (red flag people) and how it could be done in India . . .

SNAKE CHARMER

Jung Bahadur, 40, is a snake charmer of the village of Meerut. He has a wife and three children.

He has heard people say that a big Amrikan commander is coming to help get rid of the red flag people.

Largely the same view is held by Lal Kishen, 37, painting lamp posts on a New Delhi street.

Lal Kishen says the Amrikan Rashtrapati (President) will promise to help India get its territory back from China.

Lal Kishen understands the President's name is Ishayi Hawar. In Hindu Ishayi means Christian, or follower of Jesus . .

Rikhi Ram, 18, is a domestic servant. He has been hearing for some time that India is to be visited soon by the Amriki Badshah.

Rikhi Ram is vague as to why the Badshah is coming.

But he understands the Badshah is making a tour of some friendly countries including India; also that Nehru visited Amrika some years ago and became good friends with the Badshah, who now is repaying the visit.

Rikhi Ram did not know the name of the Badshah.

At the agricultural fair in New Delhi a group of women squatted for a moment's rest from carrying baskets of earth on their heads to a construction project.

Of course they knew the Amrikan Maharajah was coming—he was to visit this very fair where an Amrikan exhibit is being built.

But why is not the Rani Saheba (the Queen, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower) coming?

Is she unwell? Is she too old? Is she with child? Or is she in purdah (veiled and secluded) and forbidden to travel in public?

Asked to Repay Visit of American Governors Early Next Spring

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va (AP)—The American governors who went to the Soviet Union last summer have invited their counterparts to repay the visit.

* * *

The invitation, not yet made formally, suggests the trip be made early next spring, but leaves the time open.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, of Delaware, chairman of the National Governors Conference, said the chairman of the Soviet districts would be expected to pay their own way.

* * *

He said formal invitations are to be issued through the State Department and the Soviet Embassy.

Boggs made the announcement Wednesday night. He said he had no idea what portions of the country the Soviets would want to see.

* * *

The governors gave unanimous support to a proposal by the roads committee that the governors ask President Eisenhower and congressional leaders for a conference early next January to discuss beefing up the cut-down federal superhighway program.

Damp-Eyed Johnny Ray Faints on Acquittal

JOHNNIE RAY

DETROIT (AP) — "My prayers have been answered," said a tearful Johnnie Ray Wednesday when he revived after fainting at hearing a jury's verdict that he was innocent of a morals charge.

The singer passed out when an all-woman Recorders Court Jury announced its decision after deliberating 50 minutes.

* * *

Ray, 32, had been charged with accosting and soliciting. A Detroit policeman testified that Ray had made an indecent proposal outside a Detroit tavern Nov. 21. Ray denied the charge.

The jury retired after hearing an hour-long charge by Judge Elvin Davenport in which he said that policemen have no right to entice persons into unlawful acts.

Patrolman Eugene Caviston of the Detroit Police Department's vice squad told the court he and two other officers went to the bar knowing that Ray was there. The singer pleaded guilty to a similar charge here in 1951 and paid a $25 fine.

* * *

Ray testified that he met the policeman at the bar and invited him to a party at his hotel room. He said Caviston introduced himself as a salesman and asked for Ray's autograph.

Says El Paso, Texas, Isn't In the Union

GREELEY, Colo. (AP)—A witness startled principals at a District Court trial Wednesday when he was asked: "Were you born in the United States?"

"No," replied Pete Martinez, a convict at the State Penitentiary. "I was born in El Paso, Texas."

Judge William E. Buck made no effort to stop the titter which greeted the remark.

BETTER DAYS AHEAD — Ten-year-old Lin Suk-fong's load will be lightened soon since she has been selected as the first Hong Kong child to be helped by the Foster Parents' Plan. Propose Fishing Reef of Junked Automobiles

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A group of men interested in fishing has proposed that an artificial reef be created in the Atlantic Ocean about five miles off Jacksonville Beach by dumping old automobiles and other scrap in a place where the water is about 60 feet deep.

The Beach Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the idea as a feasible one for providing a good fishing spot.

NEW SENATOR AT CAPITAL — Norman Brunsdale, left, new Republican senator from North Dakota, and Gov. John E. David, center, of North Dakota, talk with Vice President Richard Nixon at the Capitol. Brunsdale recently was appointed successor to Sen. William Langer (R-ND), who died last month. Nixon, busy with his duties, will delay announcing his future plans until February.

Too Busy as Vice President for Earlier Campaign

Nixon Plans Hat-in-Ring in February

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon expects to delay until after Feb. 1 any announcement that he is seeking the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

If he can preserve this schedule Nixon will be able to confine to a little more than five months the limited campaigning he now expects to do before the Republican convention in Chicago next July.

There are indications that if Nixon could control events, he would be happy to go along tending to his duties as vice president for even longer. But the near necessity of entering the March 7 New Hampshire primary may force him out into the open early in February.

★ ★ ★

Nixon's associates think he is doing so well that they are going along willingly with the vice president's decision that the less public eagerness he displays for the nomination the more likely he is to get it.

They figure this offers a sharp contrast to the scramble among top Democratic contenders to meet the voters at every crossroad months ahead of the time that party's convention makes its choice of a nominee.

★ ★ ★

Because he is convinced he will have to run on the Eisenhower administration record, Nixon wants to spend as much time as possible in the next few months helping share the GOP program in executive agencies and helping put it over in Congress.

★ ★ ★

In line with this idea, the vice president is expected to delay setting up any formal campaign organization or appointing a campaign manager. He may decide to be his own manager.

This doesn't mean Nixon is overlooking any bets or that he is taking it for granted he will get the nomination.

He has Leonard W. Hall, former GOP national chairman, working diligently to line up delegate strength. He is going along with the formation of Nixon clubs. He will make speaking appearances at frequent intervals.

This soft-sell approach could be upset, of course, if Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York should come out in the open as a candidate for the GOP nomination earlier than expected.

Last Vessels Rush to Clear Seaway

MONTREAL (UPI) — The tail-end of the season's last convoy of ships to go through the St. Lawrence Seaway before the winter freezeup plowed through thin ice toward the last lock today.

★ ★ ★

Seaway officials said the last ship was expected to reach this eastern entrance of the 139-mile waterway by tonight. They warned the ships to get clear of the canals and locks "with the fastest possible speed," because ice had started forming on the system's locks.

Ten European vessels and 19 lakers were in the Seaway Wednesday.

Write That Letter Today

By MARIE DAERR
NEA Columnist

"Please don't treat us like children, when we know we are adults."

This plea, addressed to "workers in homes for the aged and friends in general," comes from a reader who signs herself "The Old Woman," but whose viewpoint and language are as young as springtime.

She lives in a philanthropic home and gets her spending money from her state's old-age assistance program. Writing as one who knows, she gives some practical pointers on the care and treatment of older people.

"Why don't towns where there are a large population of older people, and maybe even an old folks' home, keep their sidewalks in decent condition?" she writes. "Rough walks, broken pavements, small stones to get under one's heel and trip one, bicycling children—all in an area intended for walking—these do not encourage the aged to go beyond their gate.

Churches should meticulously sand their icy entrances, have rails along steps and even on steps leading to chancel. Old people dislike having to ask for communion to be brought to them in the pew. They also dislike being helped too much.

"A touch on the elbow shows a friendly hand is near. But officious 'help' can cause a fall. And falls are humiliating and lay old people up, sometimes permanently.

"Old people like to be taken out to museums and other recreation spots. But I'd like to suggest that the host or hostess should ask out one, or at the most two, people at a time.

"This makes us feel the invitation is prompted by personal interest, not charitable impulse. Each of us likes to think she is still good company.

"We like to see a few younger people. I know I do feel dreary when I'm too much with old people exclusively. It is hard enough to endure your own gradually failing powers, without watching your friends' progress in the same direction!

"Letters, frequent and newsy, are a vast consolation, when visits can't be managed. Letters once a week, say, from children; once a month from grandchildren; post cards on those days when letters can't be managed.

"I hope these comments will help those who try to help us. Kindest regards to you all."

And a salute to you, young, "Old Woman!" Your letter was "loaded" and I hope you scored a bull's-eye!

Christmas celebrations became so irreligious during the Middle Ages that when the Puritans came to power in England they forbade all celebrations, both religious and secular.

Miniature Trees Easy to Make With Wire, Stick

Would you like to make miniature Christmas trees? It isn't hard.

Take a stick as long as you want your tree to be high. Use florist wire to fasten branches of evergreen to it. Begin with very short pieces of evergreen at the top of the stick.

* * *

Wire these up and down the stick graduating the size of the evergreen branches until you are within six inches of the base of the stick.

Push the end of the stick in a colored crock or vase or one that has been gilded. Fill the container with sand then pour melted paraffin over the top of the sand so that it will support the tree.

New England Said No

In New England, settled by the Puritans, Christmas celebrations were forbidden by law from 1659 until 1681.

Retail prices of food in the United States rose 4.3 per cent from December 1952 to December 1958.

Says Insurance for Aging Is Vital

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says health insurance for the aging is vital.

He says he favors a system that would preserve private health insurance and, when necessary, supplement it with government action.

Rockefeller, a potential candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, expressed his views Tuesday in speaking at a conference sponsored by the Community Council of Greater New York.

Molasses Candies Still Have Old Appeal

Sea foam candy is a variation of divinity. It has the taffy flavor addition of unsulphured molasses and this same molasses also gives the candy smoothness of texture. Once the sugar, unsulphured molasses and water are combined and stirred over heat until the sugar dissolves, there is no more stirring until the candy reaches the soft ball stage. The reason why this candy, and so many other homemade varieties, are not stirred in this final boiling period is to prevent the formation of sugar crystals which give a granular texture to candy.

* * *

Molasses nut crunch is a variation on brittle, no stirring-until-thickened is required. The taffy or caramel flavored candy is turned into a pan and cut into squares when cool.

Molasses taffy is one of those old-fashioned classics which never loses its appeal. It should be made of a night when youngsters or family members can help pull it into light colored candy ropes. That means the cooled taffy is rolled into a ball with lightly buttered fingers and then pulled until light in color and ready to harden. Then it is stretched into a long rope, ½-inch wide, and cut into 1-inch pieces.

Molasses Sea Foam Candy

2 cups sugar
½ cup unsulphured molasses
½ cup water
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

Combine sugar, unsulphured molasses and water in 3-quart saucepan. Place over medium heat. Stir until sugar is dissolved; boil without stirring until temperature on candy thermometer reaches 250 degrees or when small amount of syrup dropped in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until stiff; add syrup in a steady stream, beating constantly. When mixture is stiff, fold in vanilla and nuts. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto waxed paper. Yield: 1 pound.

Molasses Nut Crunch

1 cup unsulphured molasses
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon baking soda
2½ cups chopped nuts

Combine unsulphured molasses, sugar and butter in a 2-quart saucepan. Place over low heat; stir until sugar is dissolved. Cook over medium heat, until candy thermometer reaches 270 degrees or when small amount syrup dropped in very cold water separates into threads which are hard, but not brittle.

* * *

Remove from heat, stir in baking soda and nuts. Turn into greased 8-inch square pan; spread quickly. Cut into squares when slightly cool. Yield 1¾ pounds.

Molasses Taffy

1½ cups unsulphured molasses
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon lemon or rum flavoring

Combine unsulphured molasses, sugar, butter and vinegar in a 3-quart saucepan. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil. Boil until temperature on candy thermometer reaches 260 degrees or when small amount of syrup dropped in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat; stir in flavoring. Pour into greased 15 x 10-inch baking pan.

When mixture is cool enough to handle, pull until light in color. Roll into long rope ½-inch thick. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Wrap pieces in transparent plastic wrap. Yield: 1 pound.

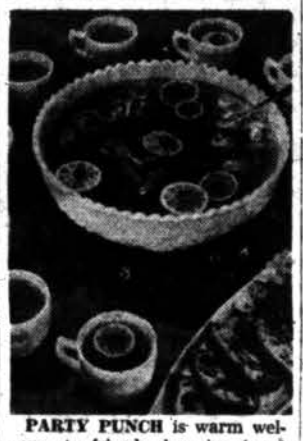
MOLASSES CANDIES — Candy making season is coming up . . . either for holiday gifts or for sharing with friends of an evening get-together. Sea foam, taffy, and crunch candies calling for unsulphured molasses are of the never-fail variety which means they are easy-to-make and sure-to-please.

Vegetables 'n' Eggs

Now here's an idea to lure your man to the skillet: Saute onions and green pepper rings in butter until onions are limp. Break eggs carefully over vegetables. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and chili powder and fry until eggs are set.

Lemon for Garnish

Round lemon slices, to be served with fish, look particularly attfactive if you sprinkle them with paprika and perch a tiny sprig of parsley in the center of each. If you want to be really fancy, notch the edges before garnishing.



PARTY PUNCH is warm welcome to friends dropping in at Christmas. Teenagers will appreciate own apple juice punch, punch table with nibbles.

Crunchy Bread Highlights Salad

Here's an unusual recipe for a shrimp salad that combines the crunchy texture of garlic flavored croutons with the meatiness of shrimp and the tastiness of fresh vegetables. Serve it as a main course, as a late supper snack or as a salad for a real gourmet touch with any meal.

Shrimp Salad with Croutons

1 clove garlic
4 tablespoons butter
4 slices day-old bread
1 package frozen peas, cooked and chilled
1 cup cooked small shrimp
4 tablespoons (¼ cup) mayonnaise
1 tablespoon cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 whole green onions, finely sliced
2 pinches sweet basil
2 pinches salt

Rub large bowl well with a cut clove of garlic. Then mash or mince remaining garlic and mix with melted butter in a small frying pan. Remove bread crusts and cut bread in small ½ inch cubes. Brown cubes in the garlic butter over a low heat, tossing until light brown and all the butter has been absorbed; cool.

* * *

Combine peas, shrimp, mayonnaise, cream, lemon juice, onions, and sweet basil; toss and salt to taste. Stir in garlic croutons just before serving. Serve on shredded lettuce. Serves 4.

Corned Beef Sandwich

For those children who carry their lunches to school, here is an excellent starter. Combine ½ cup ground corned beef with 1 teaspoon chopped sweet pickle relish. Add prepared mustard to taste and spread mixture between slices of white or rye bread.

Anise-Like Seeds Flavor Rye Bread

Hearty bread with special flavor.

Iowa Fennel Bread

½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt
½ cup dark molasses
1 teaspoon fennel seed (crushed)
½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups boiling water
2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup warm (105 degrees) water
6 cups sifted white flour
2 cups rye flour

Into a large (4-quart) mixing bowl stir together the sugar, salt, molasses, fennel seed, butter and boiling water until butter melts; cool to lukewarm. In a small bowl, sprinkle yeast over ½ cup warm water; stir to dissolve; add to mixture in large bowl.

Stir in 4 cups white flour; mix at slow speed on electric mixer for 10 minutes. With spoon beat in remaining white flour and rye flour (batter will be heavy and elastic but too sticky for kneading. Scrape batter from sides of bowl; cover with a clean cloth; let rise in a warm (80 to 85 degrees) place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour).

With about 25 strokes beat down batter. Turn batter into two well-greased loaf pans (each 9 by 5 by 3 inches; spread tops evenly. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until batter reaches ¼ inch from top of pan (about 1 hour). Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 40 minutes, or until well browned. Remove from oven and turn loaves out at once onto wire rack to cool.

Pork High on Low Price List of Week's Bargains

Tremendous pork values may be found in almost every possible fresh or smoked cut this week and an unusually large number of budget items in both pork and beef are being featured. Though wholesale fryer prices are higher, fryers are also one of the best due to "special" retails.

This is the time to start to buy nuts and dried and candied fruits. All markets have complete displays of all varieties. It might be a wise idea to vary your selection of varieties for recipes according to the quantities available and the corresponding prices.

PORK: The trade terms the condition of the pork market "sloppy." At the beginning of Thanksgiving week smaller hog runs caused some price increases, but since that time supplies and prices have see-sawed up and down. However, retailers are passing on the savings obtained when the product was at a low point in some of the most tremendous consumer pork values this year.

All roasts, steak, schops, spareribs, bacon and ham may be found at the low point of the year. A great number of markets are also displaying budget cuts—liver, kidneys, neckbones, hocks and pig feet — to ease strained pocketbooks.

FISH: Perch continues to be the fresh fish in most plentiful supply. There are also a few herring, smelt and Canadian whitefish arriving in the markets, along with ample supplies of fresh ocean fish. Quantities will depend upon the weather. At the present time some markets are displaying low prices on cod, halibut and haddock.

★ ★ ★

EGGS AND DAIRY: Egg prices remain at about the same levels of a week ago with medium sizes being about 10-12 cents a dozen less than the large Grade A eggs. Medium sizes are the better buy.

All markets are featuring oleomargarine which has recently taken a dip in price. They are also beginning to spotlight cheese loaves and boxes and a variety of party cheeses — snack cups, links and dips for holiday entertaining.

FRUITS: Apple prices remain unchanged and large supplies of Delicious and McIntosh varieties are available—a few Jonathan and other varieties. Top quality avocados are arriving from California in unusually heavy supply and low price. To date, more banana imports are arriving than a year ago and prices are relatively low.

The rate of movement of oranges to market has been about 20 per cent above last year. California Navels have matured well and prices are lower than last year. Cool weather has also improved the quality and supply of Florida oranges.

December is the peak period for marketing tangerines, but Temple oranges and tangelos will probably not reach volume until after the first of the year. The proportion of seedless grapefruit is considerably higher this year and the proportion of fresh fruit to market is at a little higher rate than a week ago.

★ ★ ★

VEGETABLES: Lettuce prices have also fluctuated due to the finishing or opening of new growing areas, and weather conditions. Brussels sprouts and broccoli remain reasonable in cost and there are still some fine specials on Michigan mushrooms.

The weather has improved in Florida but too late for the fall tomato crop. Though harvesting is increasing and quality is improving, prices are still relatively high.

Florida weather also played havoc on other vegetables. Cabbage supplies are short, only limited supplies of beans prevail, and corn supplies are barely holding their own. However, though prices are quite high, celery shipments are increasing daily. Sizes are small due to heavy rains and heavy stripping. The rapid drop in radish prices is evident in the number of features.

Retailers know that the approaching holiday season is the time for nuts and fruits. There are huge displays of many varieties. Supplies of almonds are record large this year and prices are at an all-time low. Filberts are also 20 per cent more abundant than last year.

★ ★ ★

However, pecans are at a post-war high due to a short crop or damage by rains, and walnuts are also short in supply. In deciding whether to shell or buy already shelled, remember that you'll need 2 pounds of almonds, pecans or Brazil nuts to give a pound of nutmeats; 2¼ pounds of English walnuts; and 2½ pounds of filberts.

Tricks With Ground Beef Save Cook's Time

Here are three quick time savers in preparing ground beef. If ground beef patties are to be honored at the evening dinner, simply roll the ground beef on a flat surface to the thickness desired. Cut into rounds with a large cooky cutter . . . presto, patties.

To prepare individual meat loaves, place ground beef mixture in muffin pans. To lessen the time required in cooking a meat loaf, place the mixture in a shallow 9-inch square baking pan instead of the regular 5 x 9-inch loaf pan.

CANDIED PUDDING CANDLES — This holiday dessert can be made even weeks ahead of the time you want to serve it. Freezing just improves its flavor. In addition to candied fruit there are bits of fig newtons in the pudding. Letters are hard sauce; the wicks marshmallow chunks.

Frozen Pudding Like a Candle

Here is a new Christmas dinner dessert recipe which will save precious hours on the big day if it is prepared now, packaged in freezing containers and placed in the freezer. They look like Christmas candles when unmolded.

Candied Pudding Candles

2 packages instant vanilla pudding
2 cups milk
1 pint heavy cream, whipped until stiff
1 teaspoon rum flavoring
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, drained
1 pound jar mixed candied fruits
1 pound package fig newtons, each cake cut into 9 cubes

Prepare pudding according to directions on package using 2 cups milk instead of 4 cups. Whip cream and fold gently with the rum flavoring. Fold in remaining ingredients. Spoon into 4 one and one-half pint size square containers. Seal, mark contents on the lids and freeze.

To serve, slide out of tapered containers. Fill pastry tube with hard sauce, to which a drop of artificial food coloring has been added. Spell out NOEL on the molds and top with a chunk of marshmallow pulled into the shape of a wick. Serve with hard sauce or whipped cream.

Sounds Like Dagwood

Chili chicken salad made with diced chicken, cooked kidney beans, chili powder, salt, pepper and mayonnaise makes a heaping-good filling between toasted burger buns.

A little sugar added to an apple-bread stuffing for duck helps bring out flavor.

Quick, Easy Grill Stars Rice, Pork and Fruit

A good time will be had by all! This is easy to predict when you highlight an important occasion with some taste-captivating fare. Fare like a "Gala Grill with Orange Rice."

As "work-sounding" as this may seem, it's actually one of the most effortless dishes to prepare. You just broil hearty slices of Canadian style bacon along with tasty, colorful fruit kebabs while you prepare the rice. And this is quickly done, too, when you use packaged pre-cooked rice.

Just be sure there's plenty of all three satisfying items when it's time for serving.

Gala Grill with Orange Rice

16 canned pineapple chunks, drained
8 cooked prunes, pitted and drained
4 canned spiced crab apples, drained
2 teaspoons butter, melted
8 slices (¼ inch thick) Canadian style bacon
¾ cup water
¾ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups packaged pre-cooked rice
½ teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter

Place fruit alternately on 4 skewers. Brush with melted butter. Broil fruit kebabs and bacon slices 2 to 3 inches from heat for 5 or 6 minutes, turning to brown evenly.

Meanwhile, bring water, orange juice, and salt to a boil in a saucepan. Stir in packaged pre-cooked rice. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 5 minutes. Add grated orange rind, sugar, and 2 tablespoons butter, mixing lightly with a fork. Arrange rice, bacon, and fruit kebabs on a serving plate. Makes 4 servings.

Ever Broil Raw Shrimp in Shell?

Just right for you and a friend!

Shrimp-In-The-Shell

1 pound medium shrimp (about 24 to the pound)
¼ cup butter
1 very large or 2 small garlic cloves
½ teaspoon salt

Wash shrimp in cold water; drain; do not shell. In a small saucepan melt butter over low heat. Peel and crush garlic and add to butter.

Arrange unshelled shrimp in one layer in a shallow pan—one that is just big enough to hold shrimp will be best. Pour butter-garlic mixture over shrimp; sprinkle with salt. Broil about 4 inches from high heat about 10 minutes—shells will be pink and shrimps cooked through. Spoon juices in pan over shrimp.

Serve drained shrimp in the shells with lots of paper napkins; eaters remove shells. Serve juices remaining in shrimp pan as a sauce in which to dunk shelled shrimp; small Chinese teacups are good for serving individual portions of this sauce. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Shrimp Filling

Canned shrimp are soft enough to mash with a fork for sandwich fillings. Add the seafood to soft cheddar cheese and mix in a little chili sauce for a delicious spread.

Quick Potato Patties Are Made Ahead

Good menu when the mother of the family comes home late!

Quick Potato Patties

1 envelope instant mashed potato (from a 7-ounce package)
1 tablespoon butter
White pepper
2 tablespoons flour
Butter or margarine (for frying)

Cook potato according to directions on envelope, using the amount of water, salt and milk called for. Beat in butter and pepper to taste; cool. Turn into covered container and refrigerate overnight.

★ ★ ★

Make into 8 patties; dip in flour. Brown in hot butter in skillet. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Cook the potatoes and chill them, as recipe directs, the day before you prepare this jigtime supper; then they will be ready to make into patties at the last minute.

Try Two Vinegars

Make a quick-and-easy salad dressing with a packaged Caesar salad dressing mix by using two tablespoons tarragon vinegar and one tablespoon cider vinegar instead of the 3 tablespoons vinegar called for.

Homemade Candy Is Wonderful

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Making candy is a time-honored custom in the American home. Taffy pulls were a part of the social life of our pioneer ancestors. Mamie Eisenhower made fudge for young Ike. Homemade candy is always a treat.

★ ★ ★

Most of you are familiar with the fudge recipe that calls for evaporated milk, marshmallow creme and chocolate bits; the recipe is on every jar of marshmallow creme. We experimented with this recipe a bit.

★ ★ ★

When we ran out of chocolate bits in the middle of fudge making, we substituted half a package of caramel bits and half a package of butterscotch bits for one package of the chocolate. It made delicious fudge. Then we made the same recipe using all lemon bits. That was good too.

Here's a little different fudge recipe for Christmas giving. You pour the fudge into a foil pie pan, decorate it with nuts and candied fruit and package it in transparent plastic film. It's truly a . . . .

Sugar Plum Pie

1½ cups evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
1 12-ounce jumbo package (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 jar (4 ounces) mixed candied fruit
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Combine evaporated milk and sugar in 3-quart saucepan. Place over moderate heat and bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly (about 5 minutes). Continue to boil vigorously 7 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add semi-sweet chocolate morsels and stir until smooth.

Turn into buttered 9-inch aluminum foil pie pan. Combine fruit and nuts; sprinkle over surface, pressing firmly into fudge. Chill. Yield: 2 pounds.

★ ★ ★

In the center of the box of pictured candy there are pralines. These are easily made and a welcome change from chocolate confections.

Maple Pralines

1 cup maple syrup
2 cups confectioners sugar
½ cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon butter
1½ cups broken pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine maple syrup, confectioners sugar, and butter in a saucepan. Cook, stirring occasionally, to the softball stage (236 degrees). Remove from heat and add nuts and vanilla. Immediately beat until creamy. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto waxed paper. Makes 10-12.

★ ★ ★

Less sweet is this candy made with evaporated milk and chopped dried apricots. It will look pretty in a box of assorted confections.

Apricot Candy Roll

3 cups sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup finely chopped dried apricots
¼ cup butter
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Combine sugar, evaporated milk, apricots, butter and salt in saucepan. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil. Boil, stirring occasionally, to the soft ball stage, 236 degrees. Cool to lukewarm (120 degrees). Add vanilla and nuts and beat until stiff enough to knead.

Place on bread board and knead until smooth. Shape into four small rolls about an inch in diameter. Place in the refrigerator to chill for several hours. Cut into small slices.

★ ★ ★

This last recipe is most unusual. It's for wine fudge made with fruit flavored gelatine and your favorite wine. The pastel colors of these candies will glow among the darker kinds.

Wine Fudge

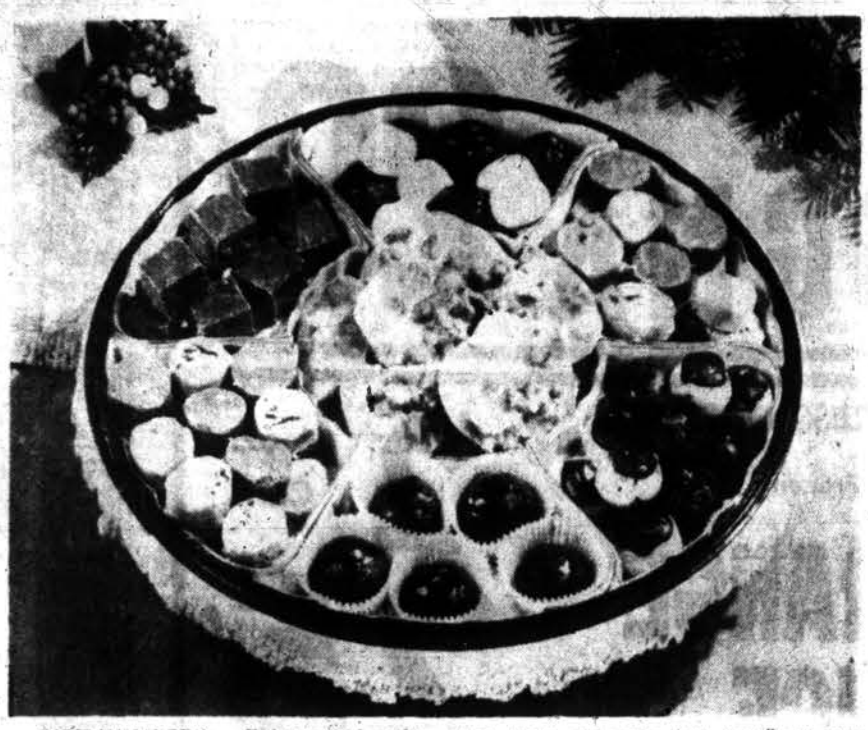
3½ tablespoons (½ package) fruit-flavored gelatin (any flavor)
1¾ cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon soda
½ cup milk
¼ cup wine
2 tablespoons butter

Combine gelatin, sugar, soda, milk and wine in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 232 degrees).

Remove from heat; add butter. Cool to lukewarm (about 120 degrees). Then beat until mixture thickens and loses its gloss. Turn at once into greased 8x8-inch pan. When firm, cut into squares. Makes 20 to 24 pieces, or 1 pound fudge.

★ ★ ★

NOTE: For strawberry-flavored gelatin use Sauterne. For lemon-flavored gelatin use Muscatel and chopped walnuts.



HOLIDAY CANDIES — Christmas and candy just go together. The art of making candy is not a difficult one. Make up a variety of unusual sweet treats, and serve them proudly to your guests or package them for gift giving.

Hearty Soup Made From Ham Bone

Here's what to do with the bone from Sunday's ham.

Split Pea Soup With Franks

1 pound package (about 2 cups) green split peas
2 quarts water
1½ cups chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery leaves
1 cup diced carrot
3 bay leaves
1 ham bone, salt, pepper, water or stock
½ pound (about 4) frankfurters

★ ★ ★

Turn peas, water, onion, celery, carrot, bay leaves and ham bone into a large saucepan or kettle. Bring to a boil. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until peas are so tender they are mushy—about 1½ hours.

★ ★ ★

Remove ham bone; force soup, including vegetables, through strainer or food mill. Add salt and pepper to taste. (Makes about 2 quarts.) Thin, to suit taste, with water or stock, adding seasoning as necessary. Slice frankfurters into soup and reheat.

Frozen Peas Cooked With Scallions

Excellent way to cook frozen green peas for a group.

Green Peas Frances

1 bunch (about 8 large) scallions
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
2 packages (each 10 ounces) frozen green peas
Pepper

Cut root ends from scallions; remove leaf tips and any blemished leaves. Wash in cold water; drain. Cut scallions (including green leaves) into slanting thin 1-inch lengths; there should be 3 cups.

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add scallions. Cook gently, stirring often, until wilted; remove with rubber spatula to retain butter. Add boiling water, salt and both packages of peas to skillet. Cover and boil gently until tender — no more than 5 minutes. (If peas are in block, break up before covering.)

Drain peas; add onions to them in skillet along with pepper to taste and, if desired, extra butter; reheat. Makes 8 servings.

Polish Noodle Dish Includes Vegetables

Ever tried the Polish way of teaming green cabbage with noodles?

GREEN CABBAGE AND EGG NOODLES

8 ounces (1 quart) medium egg noodles
4 quarts boiling water
1 tablespoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large onion (cut into thin strips)
6 cups (1 pound) thin strips green cabbage (lightly packed)
1 teaspoon salt, white pepper
1 medium or large tomato (peeled and seeded and diced)

★ ★ ★

Cook the noodles in the boiling water with the 1 tablespoon salt just until tender; drain in colander. Melt butter in 12-inch skillet; add onion and cook until lightly browned. Add cabbage, salt and pepper to taste; cook a few minutes, turning over several times.

Add drained noodles and tomato; toss with cabbage mixture until extremely hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Teens Need Protein in Breakfast Menu

Sadly enough, nutrition surveys indicate that teenagers generally do not eat a properly balanced breakfast . . . the type of breakfast which their growing bodies require. Breakfast, too often, is a gulp-and-dash affair or worse yet, is completely skipped in the rush of teen-age activities.

A breakfast meal should contain plenty of high quality protein and one of the best sources of high quality protein is meat. Meat gives the individual a satisfied feeling and helps to eliminate those mid-morning hunger pangs.

This Teen Breakfast is one that will provide the necessary ¼ to 1-3 of the daily food nutrients needed by the individual at the first meal of the day.

TEEN BREAKFAST
Apricot Shreds
Broiled Lamb and Bacon Patties
French Toast Apple Jelly
Milk

★ ★ ★

For preparation of the patties, simply purchase some ground lamb. Shape the patties and wrap in bacon before retiring the night before. Then in the morning, slip the patties under the broiler and broil 8 to 10 minutes, until they are browned, turn and brown on second side.

Other meats available for breakfast use include bacon, sausage, chipped beef, breakfast beef or ham slices.

Buttery Noodles

NEW YORK (UPI)—Savory buttered noodles are delicious with ham steak, broiled chicken or hamburger. Cook 8 ounces of medium egg noodles according to package directions. Drain and toss with one-third cup of butter, melted with one-third cup of slivered almonds and 2 teaspoons of celery seed.

Dear Abby Says Idle Talk Is Dear

He Who Steals My Good Name . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Two of my girlfriends and I got together and we started talking about another girl. They said some things about her that were very damaging to her reputation. (They were not true.) I am sorry to say that I joined in and did my share of talking. The rumors got around all over school and she found out who started them. Now I have lost her friendship. She is a very nice girl, Abby. I never realized how much harm could be done by just talking about a person.

ABBY

I hope that everyone who reads this will benefit from it. I caused a lot of tears to be shed and I pray she will forgive me. I couldn't feel worse if I had robbed a cripple of his crutches.

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: To confess a wrong and ask forgiveness is a step in the right direction. Now promise never to do it again. For those inclined to be loose of tongue—a little simplified Shakespeare: "He who steals my purse steals trash, but he who steals my good name, enriches himself not and makes me poor, indeed."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My sister has a big hairy wart on her nose. She is always trying to shave it. We tell her she might get it infected, but she doesn't pay any attention to us. Can she get an infection from this or can't she?

SICK OF ARGUING

DEAR SICK: She can.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am making my daughter's school wardrobe. She is a fourth-grader and very fashion-conscious. She requested a straight skirt. Personally, I think a full skirt would look better on her, but she specifically asked for a straight skirt because she says all her friends have them. My older sister opened her big mouth. She says I am crazy to let a 9-year-old girl have what she wants. I say, my daughter might not LOOK as well in a straight skirt, but she'll be happier with it because she'll be like her friends. What do you say, Abby?

MOTHER M.

DEAR MOTHER: I say you are right! I wouldn't carry this philosophy to extremes by allowing my child to "have things" merely because her friends have them. But when it comes to clothes, if it isn't too "way out"—let her have what she wants.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FOOTLOOSE": There are also a few things "loose" in your head. The reason married women look so good to you is because someone else supports them.

Teens Will 'Hang the Green' Friday

City YWCA Tells Holiday Plans

Holiday activities at Pontiac's YWCA get under way Friday with the traditional "Hanging of the Greens." Y-Teens, their brothers, sisters and friends will supervise activities at the Y on Franklin boulevard, trimming four trees and arranging evergreen and ornaments throughout the building.

Also on the agenda at the YWCA is a meeting of both Golden Age groups for a dessert luncheon and program on Monday. Mrs. Ben Zannoth of Detroit will play Christmas music. Mrs. Roy McBeth of Detroit will speak on the Christmas theme and the Senior Girls Ensemble from Pontiac Central High School will sing. Santa Claus will distribute gifts.

Two parties will be held Wednesday. While girls and women of the morning classes have a cooperative luncheon to celebrate the close of the term, the preschool children in the nursery will be visited by Santa Claus who will return the following day to visit the Thursday nursery group. The Board of Directors will have a Christmas luncheon meeting Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Y staff will gather on Dec. 15 for a luncheon and exchange of gifts. Other activities include the annual Christmas party for the Pontiac State Hospital Y Group on Dec. 16 under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary Anglemier with Mrs. Allan Monroe as cochairman.

The annual USO holiday dance at the National Guard Armory on Dec. 17 will bring out the Y-sponsored Hostess Corps. Y-Teens will assist in the cloak room and serve soft drinks.

On Dec. 18 the Junior High Canteen will have its Christmas party at 7:30 p.m. Patricia Kelly, teen-age program director, will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Carrothers.

The general membership will gather for the Christmas Observance with families and friends from 3:30 to 5 on Dec. 20. Mrs. M. H. Slater, membership chairman, and Mrs. Robert Nelson, cochairman, will be in charge.

An announcement of gifts to the YWCA's World Fellowship Fund by all groups within the association will highlight the program.

★ ★ ★

Pajama parties for the various Y-Teen clubs are scheduled for the week between Christmas and New Year's Day.

Christmas calendars have been sent to members of the association.

Recipe Addition

There should be 2 heaping tablespoons of lard added to the fruit cake recipe that ran Wednesday.

Genius — Can Be Handled With Too Much Care

Gifted Child Needs Normal Life to Develop Talents

(Editor's note: With the increased interest today in education of the gifted child, the views of this distinguished symphony conductor who began the study of piano at 7, add fresh thought to the discussion.)

By WILFRID PELLETIER

The word genius — whether in music, painting, literature or the sciences, is much abused. When applied to a gifted child, it is most unfortunate. Doting parents and equally doting friends, who ecstatically praise a youngster as a genius often provide a dangerous stumbling block to development in his chosen career.

During my many years at the Metropolitan Opera and as the conductor of the New York Philharmonic and Montreal Symphony Youth Concerts, it has been my privilege to meet many young people of undoubted talent.

While it is true that my profession is music, much of what I have to say holds true for any young person who is gifted, no matter where his or her talents lie.

While the arts play an important role in the lives of many, the handicap of precocity may be as much of a detriment to the embryo scientist as it is to the talented young musician, painter or writer.

Genius must be carefully nurtured, and the full flowering of these youthful abilities stems from the wise and understanding help of these best qualified to guide by virtue of their knowledge and the experience that comes with maturity.

Too often young talent becomes lost because misguided parents and uncomprehending teachers tend to confuse precocity with true ability. The talented child, paraded before his elders, tends to become precocious and precious.

Too much adulation gives him and his family a false sense of values. This gives the child a premature sense of arrival and a feeling that he is ready before he has built a solid foundation for the perfection of his art.

But preparation for a chosen career must be tempered with an awareness of every child's need for a normal life. He or she must take time for health, lay, youthful companions and other interests that make him a part of his age group.

A child must be a child, and this should be the happiest period of his life, before he takes on the burdens so inevitable for the adult. They cannot be pushed and driven only to study or practice.

We should remember the strong need that all children have for youthful pursuits. The adolescent, no matter how gifted should be encouraged to get into sports such as tennis, swimming, baseball and football, and to participate in school and community activities.

Do not make the mistake of over-protecting the child. The law of averages and nature itself will take care of Johnny or Mary's artistic fingers or bow arm.

Minor youthful accidents are normal. — all a part of growing up. Emphasis for the little girl should be first to develop into the healthy feminine creature she was meant to be — this will add to her growth and charm in her chosen field.

NEEDS ROUNDING

Also I cannot stress enough the need for the well-rounded education of the young genius. Though this is an age of specialization, there is always the danger that the child will become one-sided — will have no time for basic learning. There is much to be said for the study of liberal arts for the young budding scientist, painter, architect or engineer.

It is like the physician who must have a thorough training in general medicine and knowledge of the world and human problems, before he can become a specialist.

All the arts are related, and all the extra curricular wisdom youth can absorb, is all to the good. You will find that a Heifetz is also a table-tennis champion, a connoisseur of art and well versed in world affairs.

Roberta Peters and Rise Stevens, stars of the Metropolitan Opera are very successful mothers and homemakers and you may recall that Einstein was a fine violinist and tremendously interested in literature and drama.

Wise parents and teachers will recognize this as a major factor in the development of the boy or girl who will become the scientist, artist or musician of tomorrow. It will contribute to the making of a better citizen of the future and the fullest expression of his gifts.

Wrap her in loveliness, your tribute to her loveliness this holiday season. A reversible outsize stole by Glentex is magnificently self-fringed. Rich brocade on one side, it's heavy ink black satin on the other.

Omitting Good Night Not Rude

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my parents had several friends in for bridge. I greeted them when they arrived and shortly afterwards excused myself, left the room and went to another part of the house to read. At ten thirty I went to bed.

"The next morning mother reprimanded me for not going into the living room to say good-night to her guests, and said that she was ashamed of my behavior. Mother is a stickler for etiquette and sometimes carries it to an extreme, so I would like to hear from you whether I was rude in not saying good-night to these guests."

Answer: You were not really rude because your mother's guests probably thought you did not come in to say good-night so as not to disturb their game. Your mother though, is right, and unless you said good-night when you left the room, you should have come back to say it before going to bed.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I'm a prospective bridegroom and will have to travel a considerable distance for the wedding, which is taking place in my fiancee's home town. My friends who are to be my ushers, as well as my brother, the best man, all have to travel the distance too. I would like to know if I am obliged to pay their train fare, or do they pay this themselves?"

Answer: You pay their hotel expenses unless they are invited to stay in the houses of relatives or friends of your bride. You do not, however, pay their train or airplane fares. Of course there are exceptions, and if for instance, one of your best friends could not afford to be one of your ushers if he had to pay for a long trip, you might pay it for him.

"Dear Mrs. Post: As is customary in this company, I'm being given a dinner when I retire, which will be soon. I'd like to know what is correct when the guests rise to drink a toast to me. Should I rise too or remain seated?"

Answer: You remain seated until the others have all drunk the toast, and then you rise, bow, smile, say "Thank you" and then sit down again.

Too Many Patients

Nurse's Role Confusing

WINNIPEG, Canada — Are nurses frustrated because of the illusion that they are Florence Nightingales, ministering angels and mother substitutes?

Montreal management consultant Clark Middleton - Hope says they are.

He told a hospital administrators meeting the image nurses have of themselves eventually frustrates them and often ends when they quit or switch their type of work.

"Nurses are confused as to their role and function," he said.

"This has serious implications. A wide discrepancy exists between what the nurse conceives her role to be and the demands made on her as a full-time nurse.

"With the shortage of nurses the problem has severe implications for many hospitals. The large number of patients under the care of each nurse increases the demands on her time and make it physically impossible for her to give the kind of intimate bedside care traditionally thought to be part of the professional nurse's role."

★ ★ ★

Middleton - Hope said that nurses can't get real satisfaction from their work because "frustration develops as the nurses simultaneously try to meet demands of the hospital and the demands imposed by her conception of her role.

"The strain is overwhelming."

This Grandpa Was One in a Million

By RUTH MILLETT

Can three generations live happily under one roof? The answer too often accepted today is a blunt "NO." Nursing homes are filled with homeless old folks "put out of the way" by married children who think that sharing their homes with an ailing, elderly parent would wreck their marriages and ruin home life for their children.

That is why this letter from a reader needs to be published. She writes:

★ ★ ★

"My nine children benefited from living with their paternal grandfather. When my husband and I were married twenty years ago, we lived with his father, who was a widower.

"As the children arrived, grandpa always had time to rock a sick child, fix broked toys, play ball, teach nursery rhymes and tunes. He was often my baby sitter in the evenings after the smallest ones were tucked into bed.

"That sounds as though he were our slave, but he had his own friends and interests. He came and went as he pleased. He never interfered with our discipline.

"He never bought favors or love from the youngsters. He always collected every nickel he ever loaned them. That is why we all loved and respected him.

"When he had his first stroke, he wanted to remain at home. The children all pitched in to help care for him. The boys would come home from a basketball game and tell him all about it.

"He could see the six school children get on the bus in the morning and watch for them to return each afternoon. All that gave him a determination to get up and walk again — and he did.

★ ★ ★

"The following summer he was unable to do any physical work. But he could sit on the tractor seat and supervise the boys, teaching them how to operate the farm machinery.

"He was happy to see them willing to take over his jobs and took pride in teaching them how to do a job right.

"Grandpa was bedridden again with a second stroke from which he did not recover. But during his last illness the girls took pleasure in fixing him his favorite foods. As they fed him, he would teach them Dutch words and make little jokes.

"Grandpa knew how to live and how to help, and let others live. Some of this rubbed off on his grandchildren, all of whom are better, kinder people for having had a grandfather as an important member of the family circle."

Sweet 16 no longer is the age when a girl first puts on high heels, reports the Shoe Fashion Service.

Gilbert's Youth Poll Finds:

Teen-Agers Feel Secure, but Save Anyway

By EUGENE GILBERT

Today's teen-agers are children of prosperity. Born during the prosperous war years, they have lived through long periods of good times with only an occasional recession.

Most, excepting those who saw their family's economy shaken by the 1957-58 recession, haven't felt the numbing fear of depression. And this is reflected in their attitude toward their financial futures.

We asked 680 American teen-agers: "Do you feel secure about the future financially, or do you try to pinch every penny?"

Seventy-three per cent said they feel secure, 24 per cent said they spend with care, and 3 per cent did not answer.

"My father has enough money to take care of me now," says a 17-year-old Atlanta girl, "and I feel capable of getting a good job later."

An 18-year-old Philadelphia youth says, "I have saved about $400 of my own and have $800 besides. My ability to work at almost anything will see me through."

CONFIDENT

Even many of those who say they spend carefully face the future with confidence. A 15-year-old girl from Creve Coeur, Mo., says she spends with care even though she feels secure because "the more money I have to spend later, the better."

* * *

Another girl, a 17-year-old from Omaha, says she spends carefully "because I don't have enough to go to college."

When it comes to saving, the youngsters are about evenly divided.

Fifty-three per cent of these citizens of tomorrow dig the frugal ant who cut his coat according to his cloth, as the saying goes.

But 4 per cent go along with the proverbial grasshopper who thinks "the world owes me a living." Many of these, however, say they don't earn any money or they don't receive a large enough allowance to save.

* * *

Dennis Chitwood, 17, of St. Louis, says saving "teaches me for later life" while 15-year-old Gloria Girard of Hartford, Conn., feels her savings "will come in handy in the future."

Ronald Harrison, 18, of Omaha, is one of the minority who views the future with supreme confidence. "I spend all on my record collection," he says.

Naturally, we wanted to know what the youngsters were saving for, so we asked the more thrifty ones.

First on the list was money for gifts. Second in importance was education. "I don't want to be a ditchdigger," says a 15-year-old boy from Mt. Pleasant, Tex., who is saving for college.

The third major consideration, particularly for the girls, was money for clothing. Other items which figured high were entertainment, vacations, and cars.

Sixty-nine per cent of the savers find it best to save every week, as against 19 per cent who save by the month and 9 per cent who save only when there is something left over.

"By the end of the month," says a young miss from Portland, Ore., most teens will find money gone — unwisely spent."

When we asked the youngsters' opinion of whether teen-agers should try to save money every week, 58 per cent said yes, 39 per cent no, and 3 per cent were undecided.

* * *

How do Mom and Dad figure into the savings picture?

When we asked tomorrow's breadwinners whether their parents urge them to save, 72 per cent said they do as against 24 per cent who said they do not.

And in most instances, the young people don't resent their parents' urging.

* * *

"It is in my interests," says 18-year-old Sheldon Lewis of Chicago.

Time is precious when it hangs so lightly on a golden chain. The pendant watch by Coro is centered in a huge textured flower and may be worn swinging from the neck or pinned where you will. So giftable at a price you'll love, its imported Swiss one-jewel movement is guaranteed for a year.

Mother Should Guide Grooming

Little girls take to water like ducks. And they like to dress up and have their hair fixed. It just comes naturally.

* * *

A mother should guide her daughter in good grooming habits but she shouldn't stress them to the point where a child becomes a prissy primper.

Salt Water Hard on Suit Zippers

Modern zippers are made to withstand innumerable launderings, but they do have a "catch." They still rust when over-exposed to salt water.

That's one more reason why bathing suits should be laundered in soap or detergent suds after every expedition to the surf or salt water pool.

Fashions Outshine Christmas Tinsel

By DOROTHY ROE

Women of all ages will outshine the Christmas tree this year.

The most brilliant and elegant holiday fashions in many years will be seen this winter, as designers turn out a rash of fabulous metallic brocades, satins and velvets for festive wear.

LONG AGAIN

Long evening gowns are in the evening picture once again in greater number than in the last 10 years. These are seen in satins, brocades, chiffons and beaded or sequinned silks, sheath silhouettes. The trend is toward covered shoulders and body-molding lines. Few of the strapless, bouffant styles are seen.

Formal fabrics such as metallic brocades, chiffons and satins are widely used in casual styles for evening wear—the gold brocade shirtwaist dress and trench coat are prime examples.

Belt Buckles Grow Larger

Designer Luis Estevez favors the giant buckle for belts. He shows the buckles with wide cummerbunds on everything from shirtwaist dresses to cocktail and evening gowns.

Waists are tightly cinched at the natural line. Some wide sashes trail to the floor over both slim and full skirts.

You'll be seeing many street-length theater costumes, consisting of slender dress and matching furtrimmed or fur-lined jacket, in vivid brocades and satins.

The velvet dress with white lace trimming also stages a comeback this season, usually in black for grown-ups, in all colors for little girls.

It's a lush and lavish season, when women can shoot the works on holiday glitter.

It's easy to tell when a father has a teen-age daughter: his bank account is in two figures, and his phone bill is in three . . . Some girls won't get married till they meet the right man; others won't stop getting married till they do likewise. —Earl Wilson.

Hands Will Give Away Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When a famous actress is portraying a role on the stage, her voice and facial expressions play an important part in the picture or rather the personality she is creating.

However, the way she stands, sits, moves and the manner in which she uses her hands are just as impressive. Actually, when portraying age it seems to me that these are much more effective than lines in the face. A woman can have a lineless face and yet appear old when she assumes the postures and mannerisms and walk of the aged.

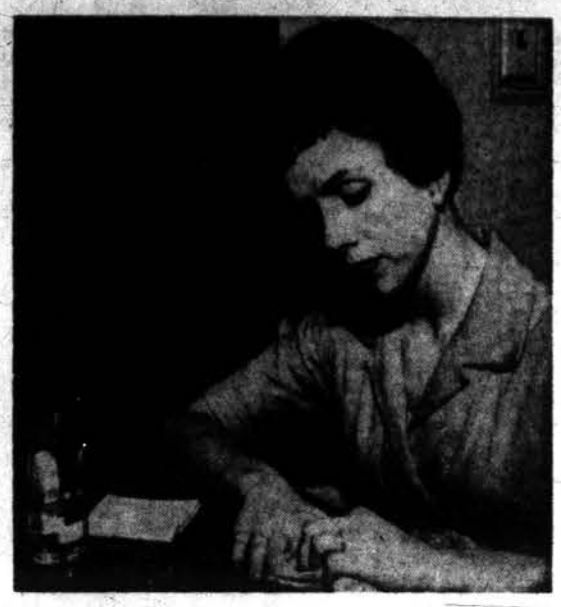
A woman's hands tell a lot about her. If she drums on the table or chair arms, we know she is the tense, nervous type. She does not appear to be calm and gracious. If she uses exaggerated gestures, we feel that she is making up for lack of inner security and poise.

GESTURES EXPRESSIVE

Gestures which have meaning in expressing our thoughts and emotions add color to conversation if they are not overdone, but they always should be smooth and graceful, not twitchy or nervous. Many gestures are most expressive, such as a gentle shrug of the shoulders.

Tenseness makes graceful movement impossible. When the shoulders are pulled back rigidly, it spoils our appearance, and when the hands are stiff in motion they are unattractive. Try the following to loosen them up and to relax you if you are the tense type.

Let your arms hang at your sides. Relax your wrists and fingers and shake the hands. You should feel as though your hands and fingers might fly off into the air any moment.



Choose an oily polish remover. This is not drying to the cuticle.

You can't have graceful, attractive hands if you neglect your nails. Here are a few hints about nail care. Your nails can look very distinguished without polish, if they are well manicured. Many chic women wear colorless or very light pink polish except for dressy occasions.

Most women do better with emory boards than with a steel nail file.

Choose an oily polish remover. This is not drying to the cuticle. The majority of us should use cuticle oil or cream especially during winter months. If you wish to make your fingers appear more slender and longer than they are, keep the nails long but not too pointed—more like ovals. Colored nail polish makes the fingers look more tapered.

Tomorrow: With Exercise You Can Gain in Hips and Not Elsewhere."

Golden Glamour

There's a wealth of gold in new jewelry. In precious or costume form, the metal is smooth and textured, burnished and bright in the same piece of jewelry. It is twisted and woven into new forms. Gold coloring is found in pearls, beads, and textured beads. Also important are semi-precious stones in the gold-color family like topaz, and amber.

Good Hangers

Wool garments will keep their lines indefinitely if hung on sturdy, well-shaped hangers and in sufficient space to hang freely in the closet.

A Partnership

Hats, hair and dress silhouettes have entered a three-way partnership for a complete ensemble look, say analysts for a trade publication. Hats have tall graceful shapes to balance the width of the silhouette; evening clothes are opulent to go with cocktail hats; and hat and hair are styled to go together.

For Christmas Cards

She Turns to Her Diary

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Whenever it's Christmas card sending time, Mrs. Cecil Cook opens the latest of her 134 diaries and goes to work.

Her Yuletide greetings are the kind that friends write and ask about if they are left out. Those who get them often send "thank you" letters.

"Yet," explains Mrs. Cook, "our cards are so simple. They are only pictures of the kids and a mimeographed letter with a resume of the eventful happenings in the Cook family. For more than a decade and a half they have traced the family clan from the first child on up to all four children."

* * *

Mrs. Cook credits her late father, O. B. Keeler, a famous sports writer for the Atlanta Journal and biographer of golfer Bobby Jones, with starting her on diary keeping at the age of 15.

"When my first child was born," she says, "I kept a diary for him and so on with the rest of my children. I write in them every day . . . stick pictures and clippings in from time to time.

"Right now I have 134 diaries. My memory is terrible and this is the only way I have to remember things about my children."

Exchange Vows in Home Rites Before Fireplace

On a northern Michigan honeymoon are S. Sgt. and Mrs. Stanley Jencks who were married Saturday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Robinson of Tull road.

* * *

Vows were exchanged before a fireplace banked with white chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of pink taffeta and matching veiled headpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean of Pontiac attended the couple.

The newlyweds will make their home at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Nails Are Telltale

Fingers and fingernails often can tell a doctor much about his patient's general physical condition. Ridges running horizontally across a nail, nails that split and break easily, all may be warning signals that it is time to eat a better diet, get more sleep, fresh air and exercise.

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lois Lundell Higgins of Chicago looks about as much like a cop as I look like Marilyn Monroe.

But this tiny flat-foot in spike heels has a long and notable record in crime prevention in Illinois, and nationally. And she can, if necessary, handle a revolver with as good an aim as any man on the beat.

★ ★ ★

"I'm very lady-like about a gun," said Mrs. Higgins, "but very effective."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Higgins, 49, five feet, two inches tall, blue-eyed and gray haired, is director of the Illinois Crime Prevention Bureau. She also is president of the International Association of Women Police and a member of the crime prevention committee of the International Association of Police Chiefs, whose convention brought her and her husband to New York last week.

NO GUN, SHE SAYS

She no longer carries a gun on the job — that was in her early days as a policewoman in Chicago. Now, she explained in an interview, she is a combination administrator, investigator and lecturer.

She and her colleagues in the bureau average 1,000 crime prevention talks a year before everyone from police to high school students.

The bureau, organized in 1949, works on a "three strikes against crime" program of education, research and legislation. Cooperating with it are a crime prevention council, consisting of representatives from city, county and state police departments, and a committee of citizen volunteers.

★ ★ ★

One of its major accomplishments, she said, is legislation making extremely severe the penalty for narcotics peddling.

★ ★ ★

"I am convinced," said Mrs. Higgins, "that the narcotics trade is part of a Communist program to wreck the young people of the free world. Of course, the money to be made is a factor. But we must remember that most of the narcotics come from Red China and the satellite countries."

Mrs. Higgins, a native of Milwaukee, and graduate with honors from Mount Mary College in her home town, started her career in social welfare.

It was while assigned to a domestic relations court in Chicago that she met Frank Higgins, then a bailiff but now a city building inspector. The couple will celebrate a 25th wedding anniversary next year.

HE FORGIVES HER

I asked her husband whether he took a lot of kidding, being married to a policewoman. "Oh, sure," he said, "around Chicago they used to call me Mr. Lois Higgins. But I forgive her. She's a good cook."

The couple has two children — Frank Jr., 22, studying law at Harvard, and Mary Lois, 18, a student at Mount Mary.

★ ★ ★

"I would like to see my daughter go into some phase of police or social work," said Mrs. Higgins. "It is a splendid field . . . that old idea that a policewoman is more brawn than brain is all wrong. Today's law enforcement agencies are looking for both men and women with a strong academic background, preferably in social studies.

★ ★ ★

"We certainly need more women . . . they are equipped by nature with a protective, caring-for instinct. If we had more formers, we wouldn't need so many reformers.

"Youth crime is our major crime problem, not only here but worldwide. I had heard this, so recently I did a round-the-world trip to find out for myself. They have teen gangs in Tokyo and Manila as well as New York and Chicago."

Garden Group Learns About Arrangement

The Lake Angelus branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association was guest of Mrs. Charles F. Kuhn, of North Lake Angelus road, for dessert-luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. Clinton Disbrow of Pearce Floral Co. demonstrated the arrangement of flowers and greens for the holidays. Members then experimented with the plant material and planned to distribute Christmas baskets.

Christmas Party and Veteran Gifts Set by MOMS

Mrs. David Edwards opened her Jessie street home for Tuesday's meeting of MOMS of America, Inc., Unit 2.

Committees were appointed for the Dec. 15 husband-and-guest Christmas party. Those attending will bring gifts for veterans at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Working with Mrs. Edgar Thomas on kitchen arrangements will be Mrs. Carl Cox, Mrs. Lilly Collins, Mrs. Frank Van Horn and Mrs. John Brewer.

Mrs. Maude Place will be in charge of the dining room with Mrs. Harry Sibley, Mrs. Clarence Hickmott and Mrs. Carl Malkim assisting. Dinner will be cooperative.

Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Worth Eastman were appointed membership chairmen.

Plans were completed to send the men in service Christmas cards.

The fur stole goes to new lengths—so long they can double as capes or coats. One popular style will have a full coat front and a short stole back. Another stole looks like a serape, one side in white ermine, the other black-dyed Russian broadtail. A funnel boa stole of Russian sable has open ends that look like huge muffs.

Trinkets Needn't Be Educational, Expert Says

Do Your Toy Shopping With a Child's Viewpoint

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Shop for toys with a child's eye view, says a staff member of the Child Study Association of America. And for a change, don't worry about whether the toy is educational, so much as whether it is fun.

"There is nothing wrong with educational toys," said Miss Josette Frank, an author of two guides to children's reading. "The trouble is, we have become so purposeful about it.

"We tend to forget that all play is educational.

"Children learn from everything they do.

"It is the adults who need to be educated in their approach to buying for the child.

"We've gotten so educated about games," said Miss Frank. "They teach geography. Or science. Yet checkers or parchesi are just as educational."

She approves of plain books of assorted sizes and shapes for the small set because they stimulate the imagination of the child; teach him to do things for himself; hold his interest, sometimes for years.

But she sees little point in giving blocks with the alphabet or numbers on them. "Having numbers or letters taught a child at three won't make him a wonderful reader, wonderful mathematician, or wonderful anything just because you start him early. A child's progress partly is a matter of innate ability, partly readiness."

WIDOWED MOTHER

Miss Frank, widowed, the mother of two and grandmother of three children all under five years of age, lectures on various facets of child-rearing and has written "What Books for Children?", "Your Child's Reading Today" and a child's study pamphlet called "Television: How to Use It Wisely with Children."

★ ★ ★

I asked Miss Frank what she thought of the modern practice of stating the age bracket on toys—"for the three-to-five age group," "the five-to-seven" and so on.

"Well, I suppose it's better than nothing," she said. "But you still have to know the aptitudes and interests of the individual child.

"I remember one Christmas when my daughter was just big enough to enjoy presents. I went out of my way to get all the things the experts said were right for a tot. So what happened? After we had unwrapped them, she tied all the paper and strings together and dragged them around for hours."

Miss Frank gave these other suggestions in toy shopping:

—Do include some toys with short-range of pleasure; others for the long range. The short range might be one of the mechanical toys; the long range, those assorted blocks for building.

—Do give some sturdy toys, and some which don't cost much but interest the child in what makes them turn, tick, or go, so he can take them apart if he wishes. "There's nothing more fun for children than an old clock," she said.

—Do give some toys which invite parental participation, but not parental monopoly. "There's the old saw about junior getting an electric train from, and for, father," she said. "But a small boy might like tools to help his father at a workbench; a little girl, a vacuum so she can sweep as mother does."

Tots Overcome Speech Defects Easier

By DR. DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE

What is a speech defect? And when is it serious?

No baby speaks clearly and we certainly do not consider the early mispronounciations a defect. But by the age of 5 a child should:

Speak distinctly.

Make his meaning clear.

Speak with a voice that is pleasant to hear.

If your child falls short of this standard he may have a speech defect that needs attention.

But the things that might be wrong are many. Some are simple and of no great significance, some are more serious.

But even the simple ones are better off treated. It's hard on anyone to go through life not quite able to get his meaning clearly across to others. Even if the defect is not that serious an unpleasant peculiarity in speech can be a handicap.

Treatment of speech defects is more successful in childhood. Grown people have to work harder to overcome their speech peculiarities.

BASIC CAUSES

Only about 20 per cent of all speech defects are due to faulty structure in the child.

Such conditions as cleft palate and cerebral palsy and loss of hearing do interfere with normal speech, but the vast number of speech defects grow out of the things that happen in the life of the child, things that influence his personality and the way he looks and thinks about the world in which he lives.

The most common defect among young children is faulty articulation, the child does not use his tongue, lips and jaw to the best advantage.

No child is born with the ability to start right off talking correctly.

All children mispronounce many words, but as they get older and hear correct speech they gradually improve their own diction. It is normal for a 2-year-old to "frow" a ball but a 5-year-old should "throw" it. Two-year-olds have "muvvers," but 5-year-olds should have "mothers."

"R" is a troublesome sound. Little folks often eat "wolls" instead of "rolls" and when they ask for "lam" instead of "ham" it causes confusion.

All children do these things. Why do some outgrow them and some hang on to their baby speech?

Maybe the child's speech is poor because he has not had a good example to follow, either because your own speech leaves something to be desired or because you don't talk to him enough.

Maybe you have repeated to him his own cute little baby sayings until he gets the idea that's the way it should be. Or maybe you pay too much attention to his speech and are forever nagging him to speak clearly.

Finally he becomes balky and just won't try any more. You never do a child a service to harp on his defects. It's better to just ignore his mistakes but always say the words correctly yourself. After a while he picks up the right way.

BABY TALK

But if at 5 your child hasn't outgrown his baby talk you will probably need some help in correcting his speech.

It would be wise to get in touch with a good speech therapist who can analyze your youngster's difficulty and help him overcome them.

Ask your doctor to recommend a speech therapist.

If you have trouble locating one, write to the American Speech and Hearing Assn., Wayne State University.

They will send you a list of qualified therapists in your area.

Hot Water Best

Home laundry tests show that white wash-and-wear resin treated cottons wash cleaner and stay whiter if washed in hot rather than warm water. The experts say that white wash-and-wear cotton shirts require less pretreatment when washed in hot water.

For Happy Family

Do you know that psychologists recognize that clean clothes and clean surroundings provide a lift to everyone's spirits? Every homemaker should consider her washing machine her best friend in keeping family morale at its highest peak.

Find New Use

Some women have found another use for the bedjacket in addition to wearing it while they read in bed. They've discovered that it's handy for keeping the shoulders warm when they wear a sleeveless gown on a cold winter's night.

Two out of three housewives found newspapers to be the most helpful advertising medium in the buying of food products, according to an Illinois Consumer Survey.

Survey Shows 45 Pct. Kept 1st Auto

Compacts Creating 2-Car Families

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — The new small cars introduced by the "big three" auto makers this year may be speeding a trend toward two-car families in the United States.

A survey by Ford Motor Co. of persons who purchased that company's new small car, the Falcon, showed that more than half of them were not trading in another car.

In other words, the purchase of the new small car was just frosting on the cake for the auto industry—it was picking up new sales, not just selling a different type of car to someone who would have bought one of the company's other cars if the small one was not available.

Of course, the survey was taken on a small group of persons because the new small cars haven't been on the market long enough yet for a detailed survey, but it is the best available at this time.

★ ★ ★

It showed 13 per cent of the persons buying the small car had not owned a car previously, 45 per cent owned another car but intended to keep it, 19 per cent were trading in an old car and 23 per cent failed to answer the questionaire.

EXPECT TREND

This is about what the auto companies expected when they made the decision to market the smaller cars.

But not everything went as expected.

In cases where the small cars replaced another car, the low-priced cars were hardest hit. There had been many predictions about which areas of the market would be hit hardest by competition from the small cars but few of them mentioned the low-priced market.

Some predicted the medium-priced market would suffer most, others said the foreign car market and still others said Rambler and Studebaker Lark, the first two domestic small cars. But few said the low-priced car market.

But sales figures since the introduction of the small cars showed the percentage of the market taken by the low-priced cars dropped from 52.4 per cent in September to 44.4 per cent in November.

Medium-priced cars sales dropped from 24.7 per cent of the market to 24 per cent while sales of high-priced cars climbed from 2.5 to 3.3 per cent and small sales jumped from 20.4 to 28.3 per cent.

The foreign car market also was being hit by the new American cars.

In September, foreign cars accounted for 57.4 per cent of all the small cars sold in the United States. After the introduction of the "big three" small cars, the foreign cars dropped to 33.2 per cent of the small car market in November, despite the fact that American producers were unable to produce all the cars they could sell because of steel shortages.

Rambler and Lark dropped off when the "big three" small cars first were introduced, going from 42.6 per cent of the small car market to 32.5 per cent from September to October, but they picked up slightly in the second month after the introductions, climbing back to 33.4 per cent.

Army Lab Technician Recovers From 'Plague'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army revealed Wednesday that one of its technicians in the Ft. Detrick, Md. biological warfare laboratories incurred but recovered from a case of dread pneumonic plague.

The patient was identified as pilot 1st Class Ralph H. Powell, 22, of Vanleer, Tenn. He was ill from Sept. 1 to 15.

The Army emphasized that early diagnosis of Powell's illness was of the "utmost importance" in his recovery. He apparently acquired the virulent disease accidently during his work at the laboratory.

Powell has been under observation since he was discharged from the hospital, and has shown no after-effects. No other cases have been reported.

Every precaution, including burning of the atmosphere before it is discharged from the laboratories, is being taken against any spread of the disease, the army said.

"Pneumonic plague is a respiratory disease which may start with symptoms similar to a cold or influenza," the Army said. "It progresses into pneumonia.

"If caught within 20 hours of the first symptom, its treatment with antibiotics is usually effective. Rapid diagnosis is of the utmost importance."

Billing Error Uncovered —It's a Matter of Utility

MT. STERLING, Ky. (AP) — A Mt. Sterling hardware store discovered last year it had been paying a supply store's water bill for 14 years because of a meter mixup.

★ ★ ★

It's all squared now.

The supply firm discovered this week it had been paying the hardware firm's electric bil for 1 15 years for the same reason.

Bad Checks Also a Threat

Counter Counterfeiters —They're Active at Yule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman warned today that the busy Christmas shopping season is the busiest time of the year for passers of counterfeit money.

"Crowded stores and inexperienced temporary clerks provide the ideal setting for operations of the counterfeit note passers," Baughman advised shoppers, merchants and cashiers.

The best way to check a suspected counterfeit note is to compare it to a known genuine bill of the same denomination, the secret service chief said. In most cases, he added, defects in the bogus bill will show up immediately.

In the 12 months ended last June 30, the secret service seized nearly two million dollars in bogus bills and arrested 343 counterfeiters. In the previous year, seizures totaled $700,00 and 335 counterfeiters were arrested.

PHONE POLICE

Baughman advised storekeepers to try to delay anyone passing a phony bill and to call the police. If the passer leaves, he said, the merchant should write down his description and the license plate number of his car.

Vigilance should also be exercised in cashing Treasury checks, Baughman said. Persons accepting forged checks, like those taking bogus bills, are losing money.

Since many forms of identification can be stolen, counterfeited or obtained fraudulently, merchants especially should be wary of strangers who seek to cash government checks Baughman said. True payees generally cash their checks where they are known, he noted.

★ ★ ★

A good way to detect counterfeit money, Baughman said, is to study the portraits. In the genuine bill, the portrait stands out distinctly from the oval background. The eyes appear lifelike and the background is a fine screen of regular lines.

In the counterfeit, the portrait is dull, smudgy or unnaturally white. The oval background often is dark and the lines are irregular or broken.

Another part of the bill to watch is the rim of the colored seal. The saw tooth points should be even and sharp, not irregular or broken off.

U.S. Ballet Due for Russian Debut

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Ballet Theater will perform next summer in Russia, traditional home of ballet, it was announced today.

One in Charge of Private Passage

Senate Janitors Titled

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate's official "laborer in charge of private passage" turned out to be a janitor with a fancy title.

But no one seemed quite sure where the private passage is.

Aides to Joseph J. Duke, Senate sergeant-at-arms, said the title is a relic of the early days of Congress and has no relation to the actual assignment of John M. Price, who holds the position.

They said also that the title has no relations to the job of Donald L. Bryant listed on the official Senate payroll as "female attendant, ladies retiring room." Bryant was described as holding a regular job as a janitor.

The strange titles turned up in an official Senate payroll report made public Monday. The report said Price received $1,322.67 wages in the three-month period of July 1 through Sept. 30, and Bryant received $1,040.07.

Another puzzler was a title "keeper of stationery." Andrew J. Kramer, who holds the post, said he is in charge of a shop in the basement of the old Senate office building where senators buy their personal stationery and various other items. Kramer was listed as receiving $2,951.94 in the three-month period.

Ribicoff Charges U.S. Caused Road Turmoil

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut said Wednesday the possibility of reduced federal allocations for interstate highways has caused turmoil and confusion in an area which once was "a model of federal and state cooperation."

"This is a cause of great worry and great concern to all the states," Ribicoff said in an interview.

Give Your Tree Plenty of Water

What's Holiday Without Tradition but Keep It Safe and Happy

What's Christmas without a tree, even if it's a homemade version of branches and bows?

In most homes, no matter what age, folks like to follow traditions of decorating that they learned from parents and grandparents.

For this reason, it should be a happy occasion and safe. A drying evergreen and flammable decorations make a crackling fire, the National Safety Council points out.

Here are some tips to cut down on tree hazards during the holidays:

★ ★ ★

1. Don't buy your tree too early. And when you do buy it, keep it in a cold spot (unheated garage) until ready to set it up.

2. Before setting up the tree, saw off about an inch of the trunk. The old cut is sap-sealed and prevents water absorption.

3. Keep the tree away from radiators or other sources of heat. Use a water-containing holder to keep it fresh and lessen danger of fire.

The council also warns not to use lighted candles near evergreens, other flammable decorations or curtains.

★ ★ ★

It may be nice to come home to windows lighted with Christmas decorations but for safety's sake turn on tree lights, and others only when someone's in the room. Check wiring before using to see if it's frayed or sockets are loose.

Boy, 15, Admits Killing Girl, 12

California Lad Can't Explain Knife Murder in Fig Tree Hideout

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Clifford Fortner, admitting Wednesday night that he stabbed and killed Lorna Lux in the 12-year-old girl's fig tree hideout, told police:

"I don't know why I did it. Something just came over me."

Booked on a charge of murder, Clifford was held in the Marin County Youth Guidance Center. He will be arraigned today.

Lorna's body was found Monday morning, Nov. 16, by Clifford's younger brother, Norman Jr., 13, in the Kentfield Grove hideaway about 200 yards from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lux.

Young Norman's discovery touched off the investigation which ended with Clifford's statement to two sheriff's inspectors in the principal's office at Kentfield Elementary School Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Inspector Marco Mellovich said Clifford re-enacted the crime at the scene and gave this account:

After a Saturday night high school football game, Clifford slipped from the house after midnight and met Lorna. They had intercourse and "then something came over me."

★ ★ ★

Clifford smashed at the girl's head with a flashlight. He knocked her unconscious and then attempted to hang her to a big tree. Then he picked up a steak knife and stabbed her to death, Mellovich said.

Army Tests Purchase Habits of Soldiers

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — The Army paid some 5,000 enlisted men at Aberdeen Proving Ground in $2 bills this week in an effort to determine the buying habits of soldiers.

Col G. F. Powell, deputy commander of the post, ordered the distribution of 175,000 $2 bills, which represents almost 10 per cent of Aberdeen's $3,750,000 monthly payroll for 10,000 military and civilian workers.

The Army said it hopes to receive reports on the "informal survey" from banks, grocery stores and other retail establishments.

PNH 'Scouts' Have Hopes of Beating PCH Cagers

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Back in the Fall of 1944 a front page picture in The Pontiac Press appeared showing a handsome blond-headed 2-year-old kid holding a gold star flag.

In those days a gold star flag meant that a member of the family had given the supreme sacrifice in the war.

For John Patrick McCarthy the flag had little meaning. He did not realize that the flag was a poor substitute for the life of his dad, who was killed in the invasion of France.

He only knew that his dad had just gone away a few months earlier after spending a couple weeks with him at their home on Hiller road. The memory he had was the living image of his dad. He had little realization that his dad would never come home again.

★ ★ ★

That same year, in a little Ohio city of Wauseon, the local high school there was enjoying a great unbeaten football season.

JOHN IN 1944

JOHN IN 1959

What bearing did one have on the other?

Just a couple weeks ago, almost on the same date of The Press story 15 years ago, Wauseon High School had its first unbeaten team since the 1944 season.

Playing tackle on this unbeaten team was a 17-year-old blonde who was one of the outstanding linemen on the team. His name—John Pat McCarthy, now a 185-pounder who once lived on Hiller road and who once attended Our Lady of Refuge school.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

First observations from the first night of the basketball season:

The stupidest foul in basketball is still the call made on rebounds. We reiterate that when man learns to walk on air, or control his body movement in midair, there might be justification for calling these fouls.

The most aggravating situation, which should be called for a technical, is when a player persists on shooting the ball long after a floor violation whistle has blown. This kills precious seconds off the clock for the other team and officials are lax in allowing the shots.

CAGEY CHARLEY SEZ:

Oh, my, our friend Cagey Charley got by with an even split of four games on Tuesday, as favored Clarkston fell to Ortonville and Rochester handled Avondale.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow, Cagey Charley sez—

Waterford over Wayne, Orchard Lake St. Mary over St. Rita, Ferndale over Southfield, West Bloomfield over Clarkston, Holly over Bloomfield Hills.

Four Linemen Named to Play in Copper Bowl

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Names of four linemen who have agreed to play in the second annual Copper Bowl football game in Phoenix Dec. 26 were announced today.

★ ★ ★

Two will play for the Southwest all stars and the other two for the National all stars in the charity tilt.

The Nationals will have Bill Burrell, Illinois guard, and Charles Janerette, Penn State tackle. Janerette will also play in the Optimist All American Bowl at Tucson Jan. 2.

★ ★ ★

Southwest linemen who have accepted bids are Al Henderson of Colorado State University and his teammate Jim Eifrid.

New Pro Grid Loop Adds More Collegians to Draft List

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The fledgling American Football League held its second college draft in two weeks last night, picking 161 more collegians, five from Michigan.

Halfback Darrell Harper of Michigan was drafted by the Buffalo franchise. Dallas took lineman Grady Alderman of Detroit. Denver selected back Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan and Tom Chapman of Detroit. Minneapolis-St. Paul chose little All America back Walter Beach of Central Michigan.

Earlier this week, in the rival National Football League draft, Harper and Alderman were selected by the Detroit Lions, Chapman was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals and Beach was picked by the New York Giants.

Goggin Sets Pace in Senior Event

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Still a rugged competitor at 53, defending champion Willie Goggin is leading after the first round of the $20,000 U.S. Senior open golf championship.

The San Jose, Calif., golfer broke the Bermuda Dunes Country Club record with a 6-under-par 66 yesterday and a three shot lead. He got seven birdies and one bogey and needed only 125 putts for his 33-33—66.

Art Bell of San Francisco and Ferdie Catropa of Massapequa, N.Y., tied for second at 69.

Yesterday's contestants, the second half of the 551-man field, take a rest today as the first half start the second round. The field will be cut to 100 for the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday.

Dodgers Will Use Coliseum Again in 1960

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will be back in the Coliseum next season.

Their return was made certain yesterday when the Coliseum commission's baseball committee approved a new contract proposal which would cost the Dodgers about $500,000. Last year the ball club paid a little more than $319,999 for use of the 90,000-plus capacity stadium.

They also played — rent-free—three World Series games in the Coliseum. But if the Dodgers get into the 1960 World Series, they'll have to work out additional rental terms with the commission.

Press Award to Include Nine Sports

PCH-PNH Teams to Vie for All-Sports Trophy

Nine different athletic teams at Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern will have a stake in attempting to win the All-Sports trophy initiated by The Pontiac Press.

★ ★ ★

The huge 3-foot trophy will be a perpetual award held by the school which accumulates the most number of points in the various competitive sports against each other.

Each sport will have a value of 100 points during the school year. The results of the various athletic events between PCH and PNH will be engraved on the trophy, thereby keeping a complete history of scores between the two schools.

If the schools meet twice in one sport during the season, the 100 points will be divided with 50 points for each contest.

★ ★ ★

The first step in the battle for the trophy will take place Friday when the cross-town rivals meet on the basketball court at PCH.

This will be the official start of competition for the trophy although the two schools did meet in swimming, wrestling, track, basketball, baseball and tennis last year.

Because PCH dominated the results of those athletic events the trophy will find a temporary haven with the Chiefs. After the present school year in June, the trophy will be held by the school which accumulates the most number of points.

In last year's competition, Northern won only in wrestling, 24-22 while losing 8-1, 7-5 in baseball; 78-40 in basketball; 58-34 and 61-35 in swimming.

Since the teams did not meet in football this year the grid teams will not bid for their points until next season. There will be a total of 900 points toward the trophy in a season.

The All-Sports trophy, a triangular three-tiered award, was approved unanimously by the Pontiac Athletic Council and accepted by athletic directors Ed Graybiel of PCH and Elden Johnson on behalf of the two schools.

"This award should really stimulate athletic competition between the two schools," said Graybiel, "and the important thing is that every team is given equal status toward winning the trophy."

"Such an award gives importance to our less publicized teams, and gives the athletes in the entire sports program of both schools more recognition," said Johnson.

Pontiac Press Photo

ALL SPORTS TROPHY — The nine athletic teams of Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern will all have a stake in the huge All-Sports perpetual trophy which has been awarded by The Press. Sports Editor Bruno Kearns presents the award to athletic directors Ed Graybiel (center) of PCH and Elden Johnson of PNH, who accepted the trophy on behalf of their respective schools. The first event to officially launch the battle for the trophy takes place Friday night when the city rivals meet on the basketball court.

Huskies, Chiefs Meet on Friday in Central Gym

Northern Players See Crosstown Rival Whip Edsel Ford

By BILL CORNWELL

A keenly interested gathering of basketball "scouts" watched from the corner balcony of the PCH gymnasium Tuesday evening as Pontiac Central opened its 1959-60 season with a 52-44 victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

These "scouts" happened to be members of the Pontiac Northern basketball team which squares off against the Chiefs Friday night in the same PCH gym at 8 o'clock.

★ ★ ★

If they were apprehensive about opening their own season tomorrow against an opponent as respected and feared by all rivals as the Chiefs, then they must have gone home with their confidence somewhat boosted after seeing Art Van Ryzin's team pressed hard to win.

★ ★ ★

Northern coach Dick Hall was also an interested observer, but whether his confidence was boosted as much as that of his players who have to do the job could not be determined.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs were anything but impressive while coming from behind to defeat Edsel Ford, although they did look quite respectable in the 4th period when they made their winning stretch drive.

Until their 4th period run, they were erratic in nearly every phase of the game of basketball — shooting, passing, rebounding, etc.

Despite their faulty performance, it goes without saying that Northern will be a decided underdog when the two schools line up for the tipoff.

This will be the 2nd meeting between the two crosstown foes. They met on the hardwoods for the 1st time last February at PNH in Northern's 1st year of varsity competition and the Chiefs raced to a one-sided 78-40 decision.

The Huskies will be especially outmanned around the backboards where they cannot hope to match the Chiefs in the art of grabbing rebounds.

★ ★ ★

Agile backboard springers like forward George Fed (6-2) and center Bradell Pritchett (6-4) should be too much for Hall and Co. to handle.

Hall's game strategy is uncertain, but the best strategy in the world will do the Huskies little good unless they can hit the basket with remarkable shooting percentage. In all likelihood, a missed shot by the Huskies will be a lost ball.

Mike Fedynik, Northern's top point-maker last season, and guard Bruce Norton, leading passer and play-maker, are the keys to the Huskies' efforts against PCH.

★ ★ ★

Just as Edsel Ford had the advantage of one game's experience over the Chiefs Tuesday, so will Van Ryzin's forces hold the same advantage this time.

At any rate, the Northern scouting party left the PCH gym Tuesday with its hopes buoyed for an upset and the Chiefs can be sure that the Huskies will gun at them with all barrels in tomorrow's battle.

Britisher Dave Charnley Beaten

Brown Keeps Title on TKO

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, a skittish 34-year-old, stopped another charge of youth last night when he beat Britisher Dave Charnley on a technical knockout.

And a few minutes later the champion said he would be ready to fight again only a week hence.

★ ★ ★

Brown didn't have any particular fighter in mind but declared he would like to get somebody for Dec. 9.

"No use wasting all that training—that's the hardest part of it," he explained. "I'm not hurt and I'm ready to go."

Charnley, the 24-year-old ex-boilermaker from Dartford, Kent, who is called "the midget Marciano" because he has shoulders and neck like a heavyweight, never was in the fight with the Baton Rouge, La., Negro, making the eighth defense of his title in 39 months. It tied the number of defenses by Benny Leonard, who set the record in the lightweight class before he retired undefeated in 1925.

★ ★ ★

Brown was leading by as many as five points in the fifth round when he lashed out with a left and then a right and crimson spread down the right cheek of the 24-year-old Briton as a deep cut opened over his eye. Charnley put his glove to his head and staggered back just as the bell rang, ending the round.

Charnley shuffled to his corner and while his handlers worked over him, Referee Jimmy Webb raised Brown's hand and led the champion to the center of the ring.

Arthur Boggs, manager of Charnley, claimed it was a butt that caused the cut but that it was unintentional. However, Webb ruled that it was a hard right and that Brown had won on a technical knockout in the sixth round since the fifth was over when the fight was stopped.

★ ★ ★

Brown verified that it was a right that put Charnley away. He said he got the British fighter on a right uppercut following a left.

"That's the one that ripped him open," said Brown. "But I could have knocked him cold anyway if I hadn't cut him."

The crowd could believe that. Charnley appeared to have little chance with the veteran Brown, who used a 3½-inch reach advantage to keep Charnley away from him.

★ ★ ★

Lou Viscusi, Brown's manager, was noncommittal on his fighter's future plans. "That's a little too soon for Joe to fight again—Dec. 9," said Viscusi.

A crowd of about 6,000 paid $32,720 for the nationally televised fight. Counting the TV money of $40,000, the total was $72,720. Brown got about $25,000, Charnley $12,000.

Referee Webb had it 50-46 for Brown under the 10-point system, Taylor voted 49-46 and Judge W. H. Cornelius figured 50-45. The Associated Press scored it 50-45.

Once-Feared Hope Loses Opener of Cage Campaign

By The Associated Press

Hope's days as a feared basketball power are over.

★ ★ ★

The Dutchmen, defending MIAA champions and quarter finalists last season in the NCAA college tournament, opened their campaign Tuesday night and lost 74-71 to Northern Michigan. It was Hope's first defeat in three years on its home court.

Northern Michigan was led by Wayne Munson's 34 points, which helped overcome a six-point deficit with 12 minutes left. Warren Vanderhill and Ray Ritsema—the only holdovers left from last season's fine team topped Hope. Vanderhill had 28 points, Ritsema 18.

Central Michigan's veteran array jumped to a big early lead and coasted to a 73-45 triumph over Alma in the opener for both. Carl Williams led Central with 14 points in a game postponed 24 hours by light failure in the Chippewa's gym.

Adrian came from nine points behind at halftime and whipped Ferris 73-66 behind Ray Rolley's 19 points. Dan Dobryczynski topped Ferris with 20 points.

Aquinas, with Jim Reece netting 21 points, won its fourth game in five starts by dumping Grand Rapids Junior College 88-73.

1st Loss Since Oct. 17

Leafs Stop Montreal, 1-0

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens have found out that they "can't win 'em all" in the National Hockey League. But even when they do lose, they make it close.

The Toronto Maple Leafs nipped Montreal 1-0 last night and in the process snapped the Canadiens' unbeaten string at 18 games. The setback also broke the league leaders' eight game winning streak.

★ ★ ★

Veteran goalie Johnny Bower and winger Frank Mahovlich combined to hand the Canadiens their first defeat since Oct. 17 when the New York Rangers beat them 4-2. During the span Montreal won 15 times and had three ties.

The 35-year-old Bower posted his second shutout and turned aside 28 shots in outclassing netminder Jacques Plante. Mahovlich, in the Toronto dog house for his lack of scoring, converted a rebound midway in the first period for his fourth goal of the season.

In the only other game of the night, the Chicago Black Hawks and the Boston Bruins played a 2-2 tie. Ron Murphy's goal late in the final period enabled the Hawks to deadlock the game, which was marked by fights and penalties. All the goals were bunched in the last stanza.

The Swami Association has gone into retirement until another football season with a new president at the helm.

Swami Abair pulled the top position out of the fire last Saturday by whipping Swami Cornwell, the defending champion, four games out of six they had different to overcome a one-game deficit and win by one.

Swami Cornwell could have won again by dividing the six contests but failed to do so as Georgia, Vanderbilt, Colorado and Baylor came through for Swami Abair.

The unpredictable football took some of its craziest bounces of all time this season giving the Grapevine pickers fits on several occasions. The crystal ball was smashed long ago.

Some weeks it was hard enough to have a .500 percentage the way the surprises were going in prep, college and pro ranks.

Swami Cornwell had led right from the opening session except for one occasion when Swami Abair had a big weekend to make it a tie. The new president also lost out by a single game two years ago when Swami Kearns was top man. Watch out for Swami Moats next fall.

The final standings were as follows: Abair (222-106-9-.677); Cornwell (221-107-9-.674); Kearns (210-118-9-.640); and Moats (203-125-9-.611).

New president Abair made a few parting picks just for kicks before taking some rest pills. They were Syracuse over UCLA, Hillsdale over Texas A & I, Lions over Cards, Colts over 49ers, Giants over Cleveland, Steelers over Bears, Rams over Packers and Eagles over Redskins.

Will Kuharich Return to Pros?

There's No Indication That Notre Dame Grid Coach Is Leaving

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's 40th annual civic football banquet was held on the same note of confidence that the Irish concluded its 1959 campaign.

★ ★ ★

Reports that head coach Joe Kuharich, winding up his first season with a 5-5 record, was preparing to return to the pro ranks seemed completely unfounded at last night's banquet.

Kuharich, the Rev. Edmond P. Joyce, executive vice president of the university, and Athletic Director Ed Krause all discarded rumors that the former Washington Redskins coach might leave his alma mater.

★ ★ ★

In other circles an informed source told The Associated Press that Kuharich hasn't even thought of leaving the school. The source said Kuharich's main ambition last year was to leave the professional coaching and return to college ranks, which he would have done even if it had not been to South Bend.

6TH ROUND TKO — World lightweight champion Joe Brown holds his right hand as the winner of the championship fight last night in which he scored a 6th round TKO over British challenger Dave Charnley. Charnley's right eye was cut in the 5th and the referee ended the fight after the round.

Double Cut Past Pivot

DOUBLE CUT AT POST
By JOE LAPCHICK
St. John's U. Basketball Coach
Written for AP Newsfeatures

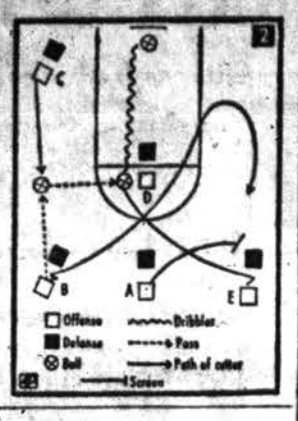
In this play the first man past the post is the decoy. The second man is the intended shooter.

★ ★ ★

The play begins with B passing the ball to C who cuts out to receive the ball. C then passes to post D. Player A moves behind E's defensive man to form a screen. Player B feints to left and drives fast to his right.

Player E times his cut so that he runs right off the tail of B As he gets near the post he takes a short pass from D and dribbles in for the shot.

TOMORROW: Return Pass to Post.



Spartan Cagers to Open Season at Home Tonight

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State starts off its basketball wars giving away height tonight — a situation the Spartans will have to face up to all season.

Opponent for the non-conference opener is Bowling Green, which warmed up by bowling over Hillsdale 99-31 Tuesday night. The Ohio school tied for the Mid-American championship last season and went into the NCAA playoffs.

★ ★ ★

Bowling Green has Ron Parson at 6-8 and Jim Routson at 6-6. The Falcons also feature a great jump shot artist in Jimmy Darrow, who has scored 1,035 points in 48 games over two years for a better than 21 point per game average.

Bishop, Juday Gain All-State Football Honors

2 Area Boys on 'B' Squad

DETROIT (AP) — Al Van Wie, coach at Petoskey High School, calls him "the finest high school back I have ever seen."

The people in Michigan's Upper Peninsula call him "The Manistique Missile."

But whatever you call him, there's no question that Ron Rubick is one of the finest high school players ever to cavort on a Michigan gridiron.

Rubick ran away with the balloting for the 1959 Associated Press Class B All-State football team announced today.

The senior from Manistique, only 5-feet-8 and 170 pounds, does everything and does it well in combining speed with power.

Rubick set an all-time Upper Peninsula season scoring record of 183 points—and in just eight games, too. He picked up 1,381 yards rushing on 102 carries for a 13.5 average.

His three-year career mark is 294 points and 2,963 yards in 324 trips for a 9-yard average. Needless to say, he was named "back of the year" by Upper Peninsula sports writers.

★ ★ ★

The AP's Class B team of 1959 is full of stars.

Every one of the backfield men is a versatile, two-way performer with plenty of scoring punch.

Quarterback Ron Bishop of Royal Oak Shrine is being hailed as one of the greatest high school passers ever to perform in the Detroit area. He astounded veteran coaches with his tremendous ability in the Soup Bowl game when he completed 19 of 38 passes for 275 yards—despite a losing effort by his team.

Terry Duncan of Kalamazoo University High and Alan Gibbs of Battle Creek Lakeview round out the first team backfield.

The ends are Dan Underwood, top man on Dowagiac's high-ranked squad and a youngster who overcame a crippling illness to compete in athletics, and Ron Elston, an all-around star from Eaton Rapids.

Tackles are Pete Wonders of Iron Mountain, the Upper Peninsula "lineman of the year," and Dwight Sobczak of Detroit St. Anthony.

The guards are a pair of lean, fast seniors—Bill Juday, a Northville lineman who stole the headlines from a herd of fine backs, and Doug Hanlon of Grandville.

A repeater from the 1958 first team, Hanlon is rated by coach Rex Roseman as "the best I've coached."

Center on the first team is Jerry Gates, a rangy veteran from Port Huron St. Stephen.

Illinois Grid Job Wide Open
Mills Denies That Field of Candidates Has Been Narrowed to Two CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois football coaching job still is wide open, says Athletic Director Doug Mills in face of a report the field has been narrowed to Pete Elliott and Dave Nelson.
The Chicago Tribune says either Elliott, University of California coach, or Nelson, Delaware coach, will succeed Ray Eliot who retired after 18 years as head Illinois football mentor after replacing Bob Zuppke, who had held the post 29 years.
"The job still is wide open and I am still canvassing the field," Mills told The Associated Press. "The list of candidates has not been narrowed by any means. I am still talking with top prospects. We are not at liberty to say who is on our list. Nobody but myself is interviewing candidates and I should know if the choice has been narrowed to Pete Elliott and Dave Nelson, and it has not."
Mills said it is hoped Eliot's successor can be named before Dec. 16 when university trustees hold their monthly meeting in Chicago.
A report that Elliott may be hired by Illinois prompted a Cal denial and a promise to fight such a switch.

3 Prep Hoop Leagues Start Friday; Skippers to Open

By CHUCK ABAIR

Tomorrow will be only the second big night of the new basketball season but already three area high school leagues will be swinging into action.

There will also be several interesting battles featured by Waterford's opener against Wayne at home and a Ferndale-Southfield clash.

Another highlight of the evening will be the entry of Birmingham Groves into the area sports scene.

The Wayne-Oakland, Oakland B and Southern Thumb are the leagues moving into the serious business early.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston, rated the W-O favorite before it was known Johnny Parks would be missing, hopes to bounce back at West Bloomfield following a surprising trouncing by Ortonville. The Lakers lack height and experience. Defending champion Brighton visits Milford fresh from an easy tuneup triumph.

Bloomfield Hills is guest of Holly as Bob Pence makes his debut as head man of the Broncos. Clarenceville visits Northville rounding out the slate.

The Oakland B has a big one right off the bat with Avondale entertaining Fitzgerald. Avon, like Clarkston, was the loop favorite but took a trouncing Tuesday outside the league. New member Oak Park goes to Clawson and 1958-59 winner Troy hosts Madison in the other games.

★ ★ ★

Heading the Thumb slate is a clash between contenders Almont and Armada. Anchor Bay is at New Haven. Brown City vs. Capac and Memphis travels to Dryden.

Waterford and Wayne both had rough going a year ago but the Skippers lost key boys Barry Campbell and Bruce Mahrle while Wayne has four starters back and a good transfer. Bill Bryce, Ed Stigers and Ray Robinson are Waterford vets.

Ferndale is expected to start off another good year by whipping rebuilding Southfield. Groves will make its debut at home meeting Inkster Cherry Hill.

★ ★ ★

Cranbrook plays its 2nd game in three nights at Hazel Park, Farmington entertains, Livonia Bentley, Millington opens at Maple Grove and Warren Lincoln visits Mt. Clemens in some of the other non-leaguers.

★ ★ ★

Romeo swings back into action after a great showing last season at home against Roseville. Royal Oak Dondero will be heavily favored to get by city rival Kimball.

Pistons Face Baylor, Wilt vs Pettit

Everything BIG About Friday's Olympia Pair

DETROIT (UPI) — Everything about tomorrow night's National Basketball Association doubleheader in Olympia Stadium here is BIG.

Seven-foot one-inch Wilt Chamberlain, phenomenal rookie for the Philadelphia Warriors goes against defending NBA scoring champion Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks in the opener.

High scoring Elgin Baylor and the Minneapolis Lakers face the Detroit Pistons in the nightcap.

Detroit desperately needs its 11th win of the season to stay in contention for the top spot in the NBA Western Division, currently held by the Hawks.

★ ★ ★

The Chamberlain-Pettit duel alone was expected to pack the Piston home stadium.

In Chamberlain's only other appearance in the Motor City, 9,121 fans packed University of Detroit stadium, and many were turned away at the gate. The Warriors beat the Pistons handily in that one.

The Pistons will be well rested for their first game since last Saturday.

"We've just come through about as tough a one-month schedule as I've ever seen in the NBA," said Piston coach Red Rocha. "All in all, we came out of it in good shape."

Detroit played 17 games in 24 days since Nov. 3, winning eight and losing nine.

"With a break or two along the way we'd be in first place today," Rocha said. "But we're close enough to St. Louis to make a run at the championship before the season is over."

★ ★ ★

The Pistons held first for slightly over two days during November, but were knocked out by the Hawks.

Injuries contributed to the Pistons so-so showing in recent weeks. But forward Earl Lloyd and guard Dick McGuire are back in action and the Pistons should be at full strength for Friday's game.

Whatever the outcome of the games, the twin bill at Olympia figures to be the best night financially and crowd-wise for the Pistons this year.

"It looks like this will be our biggest night—both in attendance and money — in three seasons," said Piston General Manager Nick Kerbawy.

It looks like simple arithmetic. Big name players are big attractions, and big attendance means big money.

Hawks' 4-Game Winning Streak Halted by Nats

By The Associated Press

Don't look now, but here comes the rampaging Syracuse Nationals to challenge Boston and Philadelphia for Eastern division supremacy in the National Basketball Assn.

★ ★ ★

The Nats broke the St. Louis Hawks' four-game winning streak last night as they beat the Western division leaders 130-121. In the opening game of a doubleheader in Syracuse, the Cincinnati Royals handed New York its ninth defeat in 10 games, 135-118.

★ ★ ★

Syracuse, in posting its third victory in four starts, drew within 1½ games of the second-place Warriors and 3½ games of the front-running Celtics in the Eastern division race. The Nats hold a comfortable 5½ game bulge over the cellar-dwelling Knicks.

★ ★ ★

Hal Greer, Johnny Kerr and Dolph Schayes provided the Nats with a balanced scoring display and Bob Hopkins helped put the shackles on Bob Pettit, the Hawks' top point-producer. Greer hit for 29 points, Kerr 27 and Schayes 25. Pettit clicked for only 18. Cliff Hagan topped St. Louis with 37 points.

★ ★ ★

Jack Twyman, the league's leading scorer, netted 39 points as Cincinnati climbed to within one game of third place in the Western division. The Royals went on a 13-point tear late in the third quarter to overcome an 81-69 New York advantage.

The Knicks closed to within four before Cincy caught fire late in the game to put the outcome out of reach. The Royals sank 50 field goals for a club record.

★ ★ ★

Richie Guerin was high for New York with 29 points. Med Park contributed 25 for the Royals.

After the game the Knicks optioned veteran Ray Felix to the Allentown Jets of the Eastern League. Felix, a 6-11 center has been used sparingly this season. The roster cut left New York with 10 players.

Majors Expect Clash With New Continental League

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The first head-on clash between the majors and the proposed third major league — the Continental — may take place Tuesday when they all meet separately but under the same roof at Miami Beach.

★ ★ ★

The American and National, spurred by Commissioner Ford Frick, are expected to make known their positions on expansion of their eight-club leagues.

The Continental League, aware of Frick's pressure on the majors, has called a meeting of its own to coincide with those of the majors. Branch Rickey, president of the five-team circuit, will fly down from New York, prepared to respond when the majors state their positive intentions.

American League President Joe Cronin will call on his three-man fact-finding committee to report its findings for internal expansion for 1961. The committee was selected during an October meeting in New York when the league announced it was seriously considering expansion to 10 teams by 1961. The meeting stemmed from a Minneapolis group's request for a franchise. Minneapolis-St. Paul is one of the five founding members of the Continental League. The others are New York, Denver, Toronto and Houston.

George Kirksey, associated with the Houston franchise, met with Frick earlier this week in an attempt to clear up all misunderstandings that had cropped up in recent weeks. He indicated he came away satisfied.

"We of the Continental League are convinced more than ever that the only practical method of expansion is through a third major league," he said. "Expansion of the majors to nine or 10 or more teams is inconceivable. It will never work.

★ ★ ★

"We are waiting for the American League to state its intentions. We know the National has no thoughts of expanding. If the American League declares it will expand, to say 10 teams, and designates two of our cities for franchises, we will relieve those two cities of their obligations to us, if they so request, and look elsewhere to complete our eight-team league. This talk of possible expansion has caused confusion and uncertainty among our people."

Frick said he expects some kind of a statement on expansion from the two majors.

"As commissioner of baseball" Frick said, "I have three great obligations. One is to the public, another is to the players and the third is to the minor leagues.

"I must guard against players being sold down the river or the minors being sold down the river.

★ ★ ★

"They (the Continental League) must comply with the conditions they agreed to at a meeting with the majors in New York. When they have eight clubs, a pension plan for the players and have satisfied the minor leagues for their territorial loss, then they will get favorable consideration.

★ ★ ★

"I will even go a step further. I will be their biggest and best rooter. I will carry the torch for them. If they comply with these conditions, they will find that the best friend they have is the commissioner of baseball."

Par Due for Beating in Florida Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Biltmore golf course par of 35-36—71 appeared destined for a beating today as 150 sharpshooters tee off for the first round of the 72-hole, $25,000 Coral Gables open tournament.

★ ★ ★

The once-famed layout, scene of major competitions in the 30's and early 40's, was given a good going-over yesterday in the pro-amateur competition. Fifteen entrants shot par or better. Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., carded a sizzling 66.

★ ★ ★

The 18-hole record is 65, set by Jimmy Thomson in 1937. Norton Smith set the 72-hole record of 281 in 1935. The 6,563-yard, water-pocked course once was known as "the course with a 40-mile coast line." It has been altered somewhat since its glory years, but basically it is the same.

Most of the "name" pros of the tournament tour are on hand for the event, which runs through Sunday.

Shamrocks Delay SCL Start Until Saturday

Eaglets Host Ritas, Rams Away Friday

All but one Suburban Catholic League basketball squad will raise the loop's title campaign curtain this weekend in a fast show of relative powers.

★ ★ ★

Only one Pontiac area quintet will show its 1959-60 combination before the home folks. One other area club delays its formal season's and league opener until Saturday. All other SCL clubs get away on 12-game schedules Friday night.

Orchard Lake St. Mary will entertain St. Rita at Orchard Lake, and the Eaglets are solid favorites over the Vikings. OLSM is rated as possibly the "team to beat" this year, as they embark upon a defense of their 1958-59 championship.

St. Frederick, with four of last year's starters back, gets its opening test at St. James where new coach Bud Farmer has been driving his new crew of six regulars from last winter, and could make it interesting for the Rams.

★ ★ ★

North Side St. Michael mentors get an opportunity tonight to look over their 2nd round foes, RO St. Mary, who tangle with an all-senior, all-last year starters St. Benedict. The Shamrocks do not open until Saturday night at St. Clement.

Eaglets will probably start veterans Glen Hass, junior guard and top scorer back (211), senior guard Don Duszynski, (133 points last winter), fine playmaker, junior Stan Krojulecki and newcomer Bob Sissen and center, junior Tom Tomaszewski at 6-2, the squad's tallest player.

"I'm just keeping my fingers crossed," Shamrocks' mentor, Jim Niebauer reports. We'll go along working hard and doing our best and see how we come out," he added.

★ ★ ★

As far as experience goes, the North Siders will have four of their 1958-59 starters going for the opener. Only player of experience lost was able scorer Chuck Steinhelper.

George Drake, pivotman, Pat Campbell, playmaker, Tom Dabbs, and junior Art Robak, a key man last season are the returning starters. Other lettermen, all of whom saw lots of action in the 1959 campaign, include Don Mountain, Dick Williams and Al Tunny, juniors.

Big Jim Huren, a sophomore, could help, if he comes along OK. Jim was a reserve last winter.

Despite the loss of two top point-makers from last year's five, coach Gene Wright figures he still has the potential in this winter's Ram outfit "of beating any team in the league. Competition for places is keen and I feel our bench is going to be stronger. We expect great things from this squad."

Rams' starters are expected to be Phil Bieri and Jim Kennedy at forwards, Ted Dobski, center, and scrappy little Mike Reed and either Chuck Guibord or Jack O'Reilly at the guards.

Lubanski Defends Title

Match Game Event Begins

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Lubanski of Detroit and Charlotte Grubic of Steelton, Pa., will open defense of their titles in the world's invitational match game bowling championship which starts today in the Chicago Coliseum.

A field of 128 top men keglers pursue a first prize of $5,000 in the nine-day marathon meet whose finish will be televised nationally. The No. 1 target for 64 feminine stars is a top prize of $2,500.

Lubanski, bowler of the year in 1958-59, averaged more than 213 pins for 100 games in running away with the crown last year. Mrs. Grubic had a sizzling battle with Elvira Toepfer of Detroit to win in 1959 by a five-pin margin.

Only other former champions of the meet returning are Don Carter of St. Louis and Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The men will bowl six games a day and the women four through Sunday. Their high 47 scorers in each division then will be joined by Lubanski and Mrs. Grubic for match game finals Dec. 8-11.

Bowlers from 22 states, including Hawaii and Alaska, are in the field.

Enter Tennis Final

MELBOURNE (AP) — Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil and English star Christine Truman entered the final of the Victorian womens' doubles tennis championship today with a 7-5, 6-4 victory over Australians Fay Muller and Mary Hawton.

Demeter Stalls Six-Man Trade

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Los Angeles' refusal to include outfielder Don Demeter stalled a six-man player trade parley between the Dodgers and the Washington Senators today.

The Dodgers had offered shortstop Don Zimmer, outfielder Ron Fairly and pitcher Danny McDevitt or Clem Labine for slugger Roy Sievers, pitcher Russ Kemmerer and second baseman Reno Bertoia. The Senators insisted that Demeter be substituted for Fairly and were rebuffed by the Dodgers.

★ ★ ★

Consequently, the Senators, still searching for a shortstop and center fielder, turned to the Chicago White Sox. They offered the same trio for Chicago's Sammy Esposito, Johnny Callison and a catcher, either Earl Battey or John Romano.

★ ★ ★

Not a single deal was completed yesterday although every club reported trade talk. The feeling was that no deal would be engineered until the major league meetings in Miami Bach next week.

Join South Grid Squad

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two University of South Carolina players Wednesday accepted invitations to play in the North-South Game Dec. 26 at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

The South team newcomers, fullback John Saunders and tackle Ed Pitts, were All-Atlantic Coast Conference choices.

All-Star Pin Points

By BILLY WELU
UNIQUE GRIP

Organize your bowling. All top bowlers have their own systems, ideas and little peculiarities they develop, usually for some specific reason.

I have a unique grip, made necessary by a finger injured in childhood. It would take a volume to cover all the variations, but if you follow this condensed version of normal bowling procedure you will never be far wrong.

Check your footwork. Walk naturally to the foul line. Keep your feet close to the ground. I almost shuffle.

Synchronize your motion so that you will arrive at the foul line with the left foot in a slide, the right arm ready for release. Fingers apply lift to the ball naturally. Don't twist, turn or jerk. Follow through.

Adjust to varying lane conditions. Keep cool. Practice.

These points cover all of the basics in bowling. There is one other factor that you'll develop after you master these points—confidence.

UNIQUE—Billy Welu uses a peculiar grip, necessitated by a childhood injury, with middle and ring fingers so close together they act as one finger.

Cardinals Have Woes Like Lions

Sunday's Game Is Contest of Fumbling Teams

Pro Cards Have Young Personnel on Squad With 2-8 Record

DETROIT (AP)—There are a couple of football teams worse off than the Detroit Lions, and one of them is coming to town Sunday.

The Chicago Cardinals present an interesting contrast. They have a young club that has done literally nothing this season.

The Lions have an older club that has done little more.

These two clubs haven't met in regular season play in 10 years. Back in those days, the Cardinals were a major factor in the National Football League. They have been a team of changing coaches and rapid turnover in player personnel since then, and have not been a real factor in any title chase since 1948.

The 1959 Cardinals boast of a tricky offense but it is a fact that even the Cardinals have had a tough time on some Sundays figuring out the tricks. The Chicago club, winning only 2 of 10 games, leads the NFL in fumbles.

The Lions are running a close second in fumbles and have a 2-7-1 record.

★ ★ ★

The Lions "discovered" fullback Nick Pietrosante on Thanksgiving Day, when the rookie from Notre Dame rushed for 134 yards in 17 carries.

It was likely Coach George Wilson will again go with Earl Morrall at quarterback, and have Pietrosante, Hopalong Cassady and Jerry Reichow in the backfield with Morrall.

The Cardinals will start King Hill at quarterback, Bobby Joe Conrad and John Crow at halfbacks and Mal Hammack in the backfield. Crow is one of the league's top runners with 589 yards in 114 tries for a 5.2 average. There isn't a Detroit player in the rankings.

Browns in Key Battle With Giants

49ers Await Colts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don't be surprised if San Francisco's underdog 49ers turn the Baltimore Colts every way but loose Saturday in their top 'o the heap battle in the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

That this might happen is the quietly considered opinion of 49er Coach Howard (Red) Hickey. The Colts are 6-point favorites.

What with his star quarterback Y. A. Tittle on the bench, and amid the fire predictions of the crepe hangers, you might think that Red would be charting the shortest routes to the bomb shelters at Kezar Stadium. Not so.

Hickey figures the 49er defensive unit—"in the best shape of the season" — can corral the Colts, notwithstanding the 45-14 shellacking they gave the 49ers in Baltimore a couple of weeks back.

★ ★ ★

And, if the offensive unit clicks behind sub quarterback John Brodie—look out!

The 49ers and Colts are tied for the NFL leadership with 7-3 records. This will be the showdown, earning for the winner at least a tie for the league's Western Conference title. Chicago's Bears are two games back.

★ ★ ★

The way Coach Paul Brown is talking, the outcome of Cleveland's game with the New York Giants in Yankee Stadium Sunday will depend on the strength of the Browns' reserves. Rookie reserves, at that.

"This team is in the poorest physical shape of any I've had in a long time," Brown said after the week's first practice last night.

"We'll do our best, but we're hurting. Jim Ray Smith and Mike McCormack didn't even dress today.

★ ★ ★

"Then Ray Renfro pulled a thigh muscle—did it just running down the field. And I don't think he will play. You don't usually come back and play a few days after pulling a muscle."

"Walt Michaels didn't work out today. A bone in his hand is broken.

"And Lou Groza still is bothered by back trouble, and it's tough for him to block.

"Everything's happened to us at once. You don't hide the facts from yourself. And they — the Giants — know we're hurting — their ball team knows about it."

★ ★ ★

If all this adds to confidence already voiced by some Giant players and their coach, Brown won't mind. Counting the 1958 playoff, Cleveland has lost its last four games with the Giants. Another defeat would enable the New Yorkers to wrap up their third division title in the last four seasons.

But before you run out and bet your wad on the Giants and give long odds, it's only fair to point out that Brown has not discounted his club's chances of upsetting the Giants. There was no quiver of despair in his voice as he enumerated his club's mistakes. He did it as a factual rundown on a streak of bad luck.

Fitzgerald Beats Utica

PNH Tankers Sink Eagles

Three swim meets involved members of the new North Suburban Swim League last night.

Pontiac Northern started its season with a 69-15 victory over Madison Heights at the PNH pool, while Fitzgerald was dunking Utica, 63-33, and Southfield beating Redford Union, 65-31.

Northern's captain Lee Barrie set a varsity record by doing the 200 yard freestyle in 2:17.6. Madison failed to take a first, and gained most of its points on third place finishes.

Jim Tuttle, Bill Ratliff and Wally Johnson scored double victories. Tuttle took the 50 yard freestyle and 100 yard freestyle. Johnson scored wins in the 100 yard butterfly and 200 yard individual medley, while Ratliff won the diving event and 100 yard breast stroke.

Fitzgerald, the league favorite used its depth to sink Utica. Utica's victories came in the 100 yard freestyle with Bernie Johnson and in the 200 yard individual medley with John Deshaze, and the 200 yard relay.

Southfield won all but one event, led by Jerry Carley a double winner in the sprints.

Commerce Rally Comes Too Late

Clarkston 5 Hangs On to Get 50-46 Victory in City League

A terrific 18-point rally in the 4th quarter fell short as Clarkston hung on for a 50-46 victory over the Commerce Lakers in a Class D City League basketball game last night at Pontiac Central.

Leroy Parks netted 18 points to pace Clarkston, which piled up a 44-28 edge at the three-quarter mark. Al Hart of the Lakers took scoring honors with 23.

Jim Poteet bagged 27 points and teammate Bernie Stafford contributed 19 as Booth Homes trounced Walled Lake, 65-34, in the other "B" contest. Jim Jelsch had 10 for the losers.

Eastside Shopping nosed out Field's Landscape, 49-47, in a Class C game at Pontiac Northern after the two teams entered the 4th period in a 35-35 tie. Jack Johnson of Eastside and Field's Bud Hayward each collected 19 points.

Roger Reynolds connected for 14 points to feature Town & Country's 54-32 rout of the Pontiac Police, also in the "C" division. Smokey Burgess made 14 for the Police.

Two Class C games are slated tonight, both at PCH. Town & Country meets Smith's Fuel Oil at 7 o'clock, followed by an 8:30 tussle between Eastside and the Police.

Pesky in Texas League

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Former Detroit Tiger infielder Johnny Pesky has been named manager of the Victoria club of the Class AA Texas League.

Pesky played several seasons with the Tigers after beginning his career with the Boston Red Sox. He later played briefly for Washington before becoming a manager in the Tiger minor league system.

Cranbrook Cagers Beaten in Opener

Cranbrook opened its 1959-60 basketball season on a losing note last night, dropping a 58-50 decision to Kennedy Collegiate in Windsor.

The Cranes held a 16-12 lead at the end of the 1st quarter, but Kennedy moved into a 25-24 halftime edge and stayed in command the rest of the way. The Cranes trailed by a 42-32 margin entering the 4th period.

John Seeley scored 14 points to pace the Cranbrook attack and teammate Jim Williams added 10. Bill Vanlith and Tom Hadely each netted a dozen for the winners.

Toledo Coach Resigns

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Harry Larche, head football coach at the University of Toledo for the past 3 seasons, Wednesday submitted his resignation to university President William S. Carlson.

★ ★ ★

The Rockets finished the season with a 2-7-1 record and went winless against their six Mid-American Conference foes this season. The Toledo record under Larche in three seasons was 11-15-1.

Mt. Holly Slope Draws Crowds Over Weekend

Snow Making Machine Provides Skiers With Early Start

Who needs a big snowfall from the skies to go skiing? There has been no exceptional snowfall as yet, but more than 800 skiers still enjoyed themselves last weekend at the Mt. Holly Ski Club.

The snow making machine at Mt. Holly has provided two weekends of skiing thus far and the popular slope on Dixie Highway has been packed with the early ski bugs.

The temperatures at Mt. Holly are often a few degrees colder than in the city, and last Sunday in a nippy 28 degrees the crowds were lined up to use the two tows in operation.

"We will be ready to put all the slopes in operation within another week," said Mort Graddis, the owner.

★ ★ ★

The skiing has been especially good at night when the temperatures have fallen and snow making machines operate more effectively.

"As long as the temperatures get down below freezing at night, the 40 degree days have had no effect on the skiing," said Graddis. "We are continuously making snow."

The first group of high school skiers participating in the high school program at Mt. Holly and Grampian turned out yesterday with clubs from Waterford, Walled Lake and other high schools getting an early start.

An expected 25 high schools, totaling 3,000 students are expected to take part in the program this year. The schools will alternate each week between Mt. Holly and Grampian Mt.

Information can be obtained at the ski clubs or the respective schools.

HOLLY SKI TEAM — Mt. Holly Ski Club has a new pro and instructor this season. Peter Weber, prominent German ski professional from Munich (left) and instructor Steinn Jakobsson, who hails from Iceland, comprise the teaching staff at Mt. Holly. The Holly site has had one slope open the past two weekends, using the snow machine.

Skitatorial

Skiing is no longer the rich man's sport.

There was a day, just a few short years ago, when those who wanted to enjoy a weekend of skiing would have to pack and head for a site hundreds of miles away.

The cost of mileage, lodging, food and equipment wasn't something the average sport enthusiast could very well afford.

★ ★ ★

The great growth of skiing can be attributed to one big factor—bringing the ski slopes closer to the city, the greater centers of population.

Four years ago area skiing was nil. Today the five major ski clubs in the Pontiac area are seeing a great skiing boom.

An office worker or production worker can leave the job on any day of the week and in a matter of minutes enjoy himself with a couple hours on the slopes.

He is able to obtain rental equipment, take lessons and practice on good moderate slopes for less the cost than the mileage which was once needed to go to far away sites.

★ ★ ★

Teen-agers, who were once frightened away from the sport, are now more active than at any age range. Ski schools have provided all the enjoyment possible on practice slopes within teen-age allowances.

Because of the proximity of the slopes, skiing participation has become a daily sport rather than just a weekend expenditure.

In the four years since area ski clubs have blossomed, the growth of ski participation has jumped up 600 per cent in this area, and the fact is that almost 90 per cent are people who have never been on skis before getting started at the local clubs.

★ ★ ★

The sports participant is accepting the philosophy that if "you can't get away from the winter then learn to enjoy it—go skiing."

Summit Expecting Active Ski Season

The Summit Ski Club, with one of the largest areas south of Bay City, is preparing for an active season.

Located in the heart of Tyrone Hills, via 18 miles on M-59 to Fenton Road and another 7½ miles to Foley Road, Summit offers 10 runs, 7 electric tows, with completely equipped ski shop under instructor Bob Hard.

Hockey Meeting Dec. 10th

The Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department is conducting a Hockey Managers' meeting on Thursday, December 10th at the Parks & Recreation Department office in Pontiac's City Hall, 35 S. Parke St. Meeting time is 7:00 p.m.

Because of the number of requests the Parks & Recreation Department will conduct two hockey leagues this season if there is enough interest. One league will be for boys 13, 14 and 15 years of age, and the second league will be for boys 16, 17, and 18 years of age. All boys who are interested in playing hockey should organize teams within the proper age classification and have a representative attend the managers' meeting at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, December 10th.

General rules, governing league play; game scheduling; and the hockey program in general will be discussed and set up at the managers' meeting. All games will be played at the two official hockey rinks at the Northside softball field off Edison and Montcalm Streets here in Pontiac.

Some evening games under the lights will be scheduled during the week, although most games will be played on weekends. Further information in regards to the hockey league schedule for 1959-60 can be had by calling the Parks & Recreation Department, FEderal 3-7131.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There'll be few surprises from Michigan's basketball team this season.

The Wolverines, who unexpectedly forced their way into Big 10 title contention the last several seasons, opened a campaign devoid of promise last night. With M. C Burton and George Lee graduated, the Wolverines lived up to their advance billing.

Pittsburgh, without All America Don Hennon, crushed the Wolverines 73-57 and completely dominated the action.

Soviets Will Seek 1st Olympic Skate Title

Miss Violetta is the girl's physical education instructor at PNH. She holds many ski titles, including the women's state inter-collegiate championship.

Christie Slopes Not Operating This Week

The ski slopes at Mt. Christie will not be in this weekend.

Officials at the club are hopeful that weather conditions may warrant putting all facilities in use next weekend.

"We would rather wait until we can get all facilities in operation with natural snow rather than use the snow machines for opening only one slope," said the Mt. Christie spokesman.

SNOW FLIGHT — Francisco De Floria of Predazzo, Italy, trying for a spot on his country's Winter Olympic team, sails high in a practice run at training camp in northern Italy's Alps. Five men and five women will represent Italy in the Alpine skiing events at the Olympics in February at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Skiing Sunday at Grampian —Only Maybe

Skiing is not expected this weekend at Grampian Mt. unless there is a rapid change in weather conditions.

"We were hoping to start operation this weekend," said Joe Kosik, "but as it appears we will have to delay it at least another week."

Kosik did say however that should the temperatures dip below freezing by Friday and stay that way on Saturday, then skiing would be available on Sunday.

Ike Criticizes Oath Rejection

Says He Understands Feelings of Schools but Cites Student Need

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday he understood why some universities objected to the special loyalty oath required of students seeking government loans, but he deplored their refusal to participate in the program.

The President was asked at his news conference what he thought of recent action by some colleges and universities, including Harvard and Yale, withdrawing from the student loan program set up the Defense Education Act. Latest figures showed that 11 universities withdrew from the program; five refused to participate at the outset.

In reply to the question, the President said he had disliked one part of the oath but had signed the bill so the entire program could be put into effect.

Eisenhower went on to say that he personally was ready to take an oath each morning that he was loyal to the United States and was not a Communist. He added that he could understand, however, why one group would resent being singled out for a particular kind of oath.

★ ★ ★

The oath in the student loan program requires applicants to swear loyalty to the United States and to deny membership in any organization seeking to overthrow the government of this country.

The President said he believed the basic citizenship oath would be adequate.

But he also said he deplored the fact that some universities, because of the oath requirement, had refused to participate in the program and thereby prevented students from being eligible for the loans.

FIGHTS BAD BREATH — Carey Baldwin, director of San Francisco's Fleishhacker Zoo sprays away at a big problem as Bubbles, the hippopotamus, obligingly opens wide. Moscow Radio Praises Treaty on Antarctica

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow radio Wednesday praised the new 12-nation Antartica treaty, saying it could set the pattern for wider and more important peace pacts.

"The antartic, which is larger than, say, Europe, has now been proclaimed in fact a zone free of nuclear weapons," said Tass commentator Victor Kharkov. "Why could not such fruitful cooperation be achieved with regard to other continents?"

The 30-year treaty to preserve the antarctic for peaceful scientific exploration was signed in Washington Tuesday.

Says Birth Control Aid Refusal by U. S. Would Be Disgrace

DETROIT (UPI)—The executive director of the Church World Service said Wednesday it would be a "disgrace" if the United States refused birth control aid to underdeveloped countries.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Dr. R. Norris Wilson, who represents the National Council of Churches as head of its overseas relief arm, said contraception was the only immediate means of avoiding starvation in many underdeveloped nations.

And he said the United States had a direct responsibility to provide public funds to aid nations facing this threat.

Dr. Wilson expressed his views on the controversial subject at a press conference at the opening of a meeting of the National Council of Churches here.

★ ★ ★

"There is nothing immoral about family planning," said Dr. Wilson, "anymore than there is anything immoral about eliminating disease to lengthen the age of a person.

"The United States, through medical aid, has helped bring about the problem of overpopulation," he said, "and it has a moral obligation to help combat this problem."

But Dr. Wilson said family planning was only part of the solution.

"We also must have more technological progress to provide more food in the underdeveloped nations," he said.

He pointed out that it took 50 centuries to bring the world's population to the one billion mark in 1834 but only 100 years to add the second billion. By 1965, the world will have a population total of three billion, he said, and by the year 2000 it would reach six billion.

"The world is growing so fast now that technological advances to provide more food can't keep pace," he said. "We need contraception to allow the technological advances to catch up."

Dr. Wilson said he did not believe a program of family control should be a political issue in the United States because "it is a human problem, not one of politics."

★ ★ ★

He said the Church World Service, with the tacit approval of the National Council of Churches, already was aiding birth control programs in at least a dozen nations.

He said the differences between the Catholic and Protestant churches on birth control are not as great as politics have made them appear.

"The Catholic Church has said it would be in favor of birth control if a new more effective means could be found which would not conflict with its religious views," he said. "We, too, believe there is a need for a more effective means of controlling birth.

"But we believe it is no more a violation of the natural law to control birth than it would be to bring children into the world when we know they will die."

Says Both Sides Bungled at Normandy

Rommel's Stature Debunked by Author

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel of Germany was Britain's favorite enemy — perhaps America's too—in War II.

But after a 10-year study, author Cornelius Ryan has concluded the Allies were a bit overkindly in their estimates of the dashing Nazi armor genius.

BOYLE

"Rommel has been sometimes portrayed as a high-minded military idealist who played war as a big exciting game," said Ryan, author of an account of the Allied invasion of Normandy on June 6, 1944.

"The truth is he was a Hitler favorite bitterly resented by the career officers of the regular German army.

"Actually, Rommel was a very ambitious man willing to trample on anybody to get ahead. He was an utter politician. He was a fine tactician, but he simply didn't have the depth of training to handle the defense of Europe against the invasion."

His study convinced Ryan that Field Marshal von Rundstedt, who nicknamed Rommel "Marshal Bubi"—the baby marshal — was the superior soldier.

He feels that the Allied beachhead would have been in direr peril—perhaps even thrown into the sea—if Von Rundstedt had been allowed to carry out his plans for a massive counterattack on the third day of the landings, instead of attacking piecemeal on D-Day itself, as Rommel ordered.

But both sides bungled their own intelligence reports badly, and says Ryan: "Plans were tossed out the window on that day, and in the final irretrievable moment when the soldiers met face to face, history voted for the Allied guy."

It is impossible to get a completely clear view of what goes on in a major battle. But Ryan gives as clear a picture as we ever will get of what actually happened in those first few mighty hours as an Allied armada of 5,000 ships bearing 200,000 troops hit the Normandy coast.

Ryan, a Dublin-born war correspondent who flew over those beaches himself on D-Day, set out 10 years ago to track down the survivors—French, German, English and American.

After a search of several years, he located 6,300 "survivors." Further mail questionnaires reduced the figure to 3,000.

THEY WEREN'T THERE

"I found every soldier had his own D-Day, but it wasn't always the D-Day in Normandy," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Some men who thought they were in Normandy actually were in the Pacific at the time. A group of 198 men thought they went over on a destroyer with Gen. Eisenhower on D-Day, but as Ike didn't land on D-Day I had to discard their stories.

"One man claimed he carried Field Marshal Montgomery's bag ashore on D-Day, but Montgomery was gardening on D-Day."

After cross-checking the accounts of some 700 individual soldiers, Ryan finally used 400 he felt stood up from all angles. He also studied scores of reports, hundreds of diaries and captured German documents. He accumulated 11 file cases of material and plans to give it to a museum.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to be fair to both sides, the German as well as the Allied, political affiliations or controversy," Ryan concludes.

"In the final analysis, command had little to do with either victory or defeat on D-Day. The outcome was determined by the actions of the individual men who

Defense Secretary Plans News Parleys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. says the Defense Department and all its officials have an obligation to see that the maximum amount of information is made public.

He plans to hold news conferences at least every two weeks and says he will encourage the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to meet with newsmen and answer questions dealing with "factual" matters.

Gates held his first news conference Wednesday a few hours after he was sworn in to succeed Neil H. McElroy as defense chief. McElroy had not met with reporters for several months before a farewell news conference Tuesday.

Pennsylvania State University graduated 19 students at its first commencement in 1861. More than 2,500 calibred degrees in 1959.

Vending Machine to Take, Change Paper Money

NEW YORK (UPI) — Universal Controls, Inc. and Universal Match Co. will market jointly automatic ticket vending machines that will accept paper money, it was announced Wednesday.

The first application of the greenback-eating machines will be for the sale of pari-mutuel betting tickets. It was learned that the first installation probably will be at a Florida race track late in February.

★ ★ ★

Universal Match will provide a device that is capable of recognizing and accepting $1 and $5 bills made by Universal Controls. Later systems will handle railroad and bus tickets with change returned in both bills and coins, the announcement added.

Christmas Starts Early for Retail Store Buyers

Christmas comes earlier than you think.

It comes to some while New Year's parties are still an echo. It comes while rough winter gives way to gentle spring.

Buyers start the wheels rolling right after Christmas. They check figures of the last year. How much did they sell of this item? How much of that?

Records on the volume of sales for all merchandise handled are sent to department store heads. And by April both buyers and store heads are poring over them.

★ ★ ★

On the basis of such records, the store executives judge what to buy for the coming Christmas.

Meanwhile, window designers are not idle. Starting in February, or as early as New Year's, plans are drawn up for Christmas window displays.

Preliminary sketches are studied, rejected, and modified. Then sets are designed.

By the end of spring, everything is down on paper. The problem that will occupy the summer is who will build the sets. Although most department stores have workshops, they are small because of space limitations and are equipped for little more than maintenance work.

Outside bidders are called to handle the carpentry and painting.

Manufacturers start their Christmas preparations in October and November of the year before. The toy industry starts, in some cases, many years before. Its annual Toy Fair occurs in March.

At the fair, buyers order as much as 60 per cent of what they expect their Christmas requirements will be. Right after the fair, the wholesalers begin work on their catalogues.

Many other people are involved in early Christmas preparations.

Greeting card artists, Santa Claus outfitters, prospective Santa Clauses who attend schools to learn the art, craftsmen patiently laboring over handmade toys, Christmas sales help learning the ropes, salesmen pushing Christmas items, and inventors thinking up new gadgets for the season.

Macmillan Accepts Invitation to Italy

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan Wednesday accepted an invitation to visit Italy early next spring.

A government spokesman said Macmillan will travel to Italy "probably while Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is in France." Khrushchev's two-week journey to France will begin March 15.

The invitation to Macmillan was issued by Italian Premier Antonio Segni at the conclusion of their talks here.

Diesels for Montreal?

Study Under St. Clair River May Help Commuters

OTTAWA (AP)— Pioneer air-pollution studies at Sarnia, Ont., may mean a transportation boon for hard-pressed Montreal commuters.

In probably the first extensive study on this continent of tunnel pollution by Diesel engines, a team of railway and government scientists learned lessons two years ago which now may be applied to Montreal's tangled commuting problem.

Their work may pay still bigger dividends because, as a sequel to the tunnel studies, scientists have launched an investigation into the circumstances under which cancer-causing and other smoke particles are produced through inefficient functioning of Diesel motors.

In the Sarnia study, months were devoted to planning. Then, working 'round the clock during a three-day period, about 50 scientists, engineers and technicians did an on-the-spot investigation of the mile-long Canadian National Railways St. Clair tunnel linking Sarnia with Port Huron, Mich., under the St. Clair River.

SAMPLE ATMOSPHERE

The scientists sampled the tunnel atmosphere and came up with evidence that railways could safely employ Diesels instead of costly electrically-powered engines after improvements in ventilation.

Savings in terms of frequency of movement of trains through the tunnel were important.

By switching to Diesel from electric power, the railways could use the tunnel more often with bigger loads.

The only alternative was uneconomic — another under-the-river tunnel that would probably have cost around $50,000,000.

Applying similar sampling methods and analyses to the three-mile-long Mount Royal railway tunnel linking northern Montreal suburbs with the center of the city, the scientific team is trying to determine whether a similar switch to Diesel from electric power is possible there.

Thousands now use the Mount Royal tunnel's electric trains daily.

If Diesels can be safely employed, service improvements for commuters and financial savings for the railways may result.

Seven Area Men Enlist in Marines

Seven Oakland County area men enlisted in the Marine Corps through the Pontiac Marine Recruiting Substation in November.

The Pontiac men were Harold R. Cummings of 482 E. Kennett Rd., Larry B. Hoenstine of 743 E. Mansfield Ave.; and James E. Evans of 276 Elm St.

The others were Gerald D. Steffer and Daniel M. White, both of Waterford Township, Jerome A. Sattler of Avon Township; and Gorden D. Graham of Shelby Township.

Appoint Conservator for Marilyn's Mother

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A court has appointed a conservator to handle the affairs of Gladys Eley, 57, actress Marilyn Monroe's mother.

★ ★ ★

The court named Inez C. Nelson, Miss Monroe's ex-business manager, after being told the actress approved.

★ ★ ★

Because of illness, the court was told, Mrs. Eley, also known as Gladys Baker, is confined to a sanitarium and cannot handle her own affairs. Miss Monroe did not attend the hearing Wednesday.

Steelmen Hold Split Confabs

Federal Mediators in Separate Talks After Ike's Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators hold separate sessions today with steel management and union representatives as both sides await another appeal tonight by President Eisenhower for settlement of the steel strike.

★ ★ ★

The President said Wednesday that when he makes a brief television address tonight before leaving on his foreign good will tour he will insist that the two sides get together.

★ ★ ★

"If we can't get anywhere on this thing, then finally the government just cannot sit idly on its hands," he added.

"But, I do believe that the day that we abandon free collective, honest free collective bargaining, it is going to be a sad day for the United States."

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower gave no hint of what the government might do if the 80-day court order which halted the 116-day strike expires on Jan. 26 without a settlement. Under provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, the workers then would be free to walk out again. The T-H law provides for no further federal action.

What might the government do if it cannot sit idly on its hands?

★ ★ ★

One possible government move would be to suggest terms of settlement. But under present law, both sides would be free to reject the recommendations.

★ ★ ★

Another possibility would be for the President to ask Congress for new power — perhaps compulsory arbitration — for use in such a deadlock in a key industry.

Movie Director Ford Is Acquitted Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie director Patrick M. Ford Wednesday was acquitted of a felony drunken driving charge.

It was the second trial for the 38-year-old son of Producer-Director John Ford. His first ended in a jury disagreement.

Ford was arrested May 19, 1958, after a collision with a car driven by Darwin F. Fielding. Police said Ford failed to pass a sobriety test.

Actors' Books Run Good to Bad

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The woods are full of actor-authors these days as book publishers seek the gold already discovered with best sellers by Lillian Roth, Pat Boone, Art Linketter and others.

The volumes multiply. They range from the sensational to the inspirational. Some are fairly intriguing. Some should never have been written. Nearly all have the same sound—the tinkling of ego orchestrated by a literary aide. The ghost is always present, either sharing billing on the dust jacket or lurking in the misty background.

THOMAS

"The Autobiography of Cecil B. De Mille" is a view of the public face of the great movie-maker. It is written with the same outward dignity with which C. B. spoke, yet he is able to tell stories on himself. The book gives an interesting account of the film industry's beginnings and workings of the De Mille machine. If the man himself fails to emerge, perhaps it is because he was more devoted to legend than reality.

★ ★ ★

"Goodness Had Nothing to Do With It" is an almost incredible account of Mae West's man-to-man conquest. "The various men in my life can claim a great many things," she writes, "but never that they had a dull time." Readers may so complain especially if they reach the entrance of the latter-day musclemen—"The pattern of my life continually kept little groups of men conveniently at hand."

★ ★ ★

"Ed Wynn's Son" is one of the better versions of the now standard confessional type of autobiography. The reason is the intriguing relationship between Keenan Wynn and his "Perfect Fool" of a father. The younger Wynn tells frankly of his lifelong fight to escape the shadow of his father—"For most of my life, I resented him beyond reason."

"With Powder On My Nose" is a charming account of how Billie Burke faces her mature years. It might be called "how to be happy though a grandmother," for it is loaded with good sense for those who want to enjoy useful later lives. She talks about everything from baby-sitting to wearing hats.

★ ★ ★

"I Like What I Know" is the story of Vincent Price's long romance with art. It is breezily written and includes photos from his collection.

"The Way I See It" contains the reflections of Eddie Cantor after 67 years of a full and famous life. It features a lot of wisdom and good show talk.

Ike-Nehru Talks on World Issues

Will Include Dispute With Red China and Anything Else

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today said his talks with President Eisenhower probably will range over the entire world situation, including India's border dispute with Communist China and anything else.

★ ★ ★

Terming his meeting next week with the U.S. President "most important," Nehru told his monthly news conference:

"I want to chat with him about the lead he has given toward finding a way out of the entanglements in which the world finds itself."

★ ★ ★

In a move to pin down the Chinese population in India, Nehru announced all foreign nationals — except those from British Commonwealth countries — are being required to register with the government. Previously, foreigners who had lived in India prior to August 1943 were not required to have residence permits.

★ ★ ★

Nehru made clear the new rule was prompted by recent demonstrations in Calcutta siding with Red China in the border dispute.

CBS to Kill Plugs for Prizes

Only Sponsor's Product Will Be Allowed Time for Commercials

NEW YORK (AP) — Starting Jan. 1, the Columbia Broadcasting System will eliminate from television shows commercials advertising products other than the sponsor's.

The ban — latest CBS cleanup move — strikes at a little-publicized but profitable practice of charging manufacturers for having their products used as show prizes.

★ ★ ★

The new rule, issued Wednesday by Joseph H. Ream, CBS vice president in charge of standards and practices, ordered that all prizes be paid for out of a show's budget.

Also barred are free plugs for airlines and other transportation facilities.

The new rule is also expected to stop television personalities from using their programs to promote other commercial activities in which they have an interest.

★ ★ ★

A main program affected by the CBS policy will be Art Linkletter's "House party," which identifies donors of gifts.

Outspoken Montgomery Emerges Unscathed

LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was in more trouble in the House of Commons Wednesday—this time for defending South Africa's racial policies.

But he came out of the skirmish unscathed. War Minister Christopher Soames rejected suggestions that he put a gag on the outspoken old soldier.

★ ★ ★

Indignant Laborites, still smarting under Monty's pre-election remark that people voting Labor were "barmy," criticized a speech he made in Johannesburg two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

Montgomery was reported as saying a U. S. resolution on South African sparthied was internal interference and that Negroes in South Africa are no worse off than Negroes in the United States.

Probes Hot A-Pile, French Engineer OK

PARIS (AP)—A French atomic engineer, clad in heavy protective clothing, crept through searing heat to the heart of an atomic pile to learn why it had stopped functioning. He apparently suffered no ill effects.

★ ★ ★

In reporting this Wednesday, the French Atomic Energy Commission said that such an operation had previously been thought too dangerous to undertake.

★ ★ ★

After the engineer had proved a man could approach the pile, other technicians followed him in relays and the pile was put back into operation.

Final Plans Due for New Schools

Waterford Twp. Board Will Wrap Up Project; Architects Named

A special Waterford Township Board of Education meeting will be held at 7:30 tonight to make final plans for two new elementary schools, according to Superintendent William Shunck.

The schools will be located on a nine-lot site on Pontiac Lake road, south of the present high school, and on Merrie road north of Pontiac Lake road. The architectural firm of Smith & Smith has been awarded the contracts.

Construction bids for both schools will be opened at a special meeting Dec. 22.

Further consideration will be given the plans for a second senior high school to be constructed on a 55-acre site on Bender street off Hatchery road.

It is expected that the high school will cost some $2,500,000. The three schools are part of the $5,000,000 school bond issue approved by voters last March.

Japanese Politician Back From Red China

TOYKO (AP)—Kenzo Matsumura, an influential leader of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's Liberal-Democratic Party, returned Wednesday from a 50-day visit to Communist China.

He reported there was room for closer cultural and trade ties between Japan and the Red-held mainland.

★ ★ ★

Matsumura is the latest of a series of important Japanese visitors invited by Peiping for visits which observers believe are aimed at softening Japan's anti-Communist stand.

Acquire Foundry Firm

COLDWATER (AP) — A Detroit group which operates the Bay City Foundry Co. has acquired the Homer Foundry Corp. of Coldwater in a stock transaction deal. The financial details were not disclosed. The Homer firm, which has been located in Coldwater since 1920, employes 150 workers in the production of iron castings for diesel and marine engines.

Full blood Indians make up about 15 per cent of the population of Mexico.

Light colored eyes are more sensitive to glare than dark eyes, says the Better Vision Institute.

Come-ons Grossly Distorted

Millions Lost to Mail Order Rackets

(Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on different gyps and dodges that hoodwink Americans of millions of dollars each year.)

By BERNARD GAVZER

NEW YORK (AP) — Across the nation, the mail order business is playing an important part in the economy.

Mostly it represents solid enterprises offering valuable goods and services, but there are also some very sour apples.

"There are really few outright mail order rackets," says a National Better Business Bureau expert.

"After all, Uncle Sam is the store and these sharp promoters don't want to change tailored suits for striped ones, prison variety."

Van Miller, an NBBB vice president, says this of shady mail order schemes that bilk the public of millions of dollars each year:

"They usually have the same outstanding characteristics. There is gross exaggeration and gross distortion.

They are seldom plainly fraudulent, but they certainly are misleading. They usually cling to one point — about which there may be no argument — and parlay it into a glowing account of pure wonder."

* * *

Mail order schemes cover just about every conceivable item. Miller lists a few that brought an avalanche of complaints to the NBBB:

A pocket-sized portable radio, promoted as a miracle-radio that never wears out and can be taken on planes, trains automobiles, ships.

As a bonus, there's a direct-circuit personal earphone speaker. "This radio is a simple crystal set using a germanium diode crystal," says Miller. "The earphone is permantenly attached simply because you could hardly hear a thing without it.

'And while the impression is that it can be heard anywhere, the promoter merely says that it can be taken anywhere.

"The company promoting this item is now in temporary receivership as a result of action taken by the New York attorney general."

* * *

Another operator promoted a nine-inch doll with blonde hair down to her shoulders and 10 different dresses, all for 59 cents.

"The drawings and the wording of the promotion gave the impression that this was a dimensional doll and that the costumes were miniature dresses," says Miller. "But it was all simply printed — the doll on cardboard and the dresses on paper.

The promoter wasn't lying by calling it a doll because by definition any representation of a human being or animal is a doll."

CAR GIMMICKS PROMOTED

"Next to a man's body — which gets love and attention — is a man's automobile," says Miller. "And so there are always gimmicks being promoted for cars."

One described by Miller was a device that promised to radically reduce gasoline consumption. It is a hollow tube about two inches long which is inserted in the high tension wire between the coil and distributor.

* * *

Laboratory tests conducted at the request of the NBBB showed that the device actually decreased, rather than increased, the delivery of ignition energy to spark plugs.

What defense is there against being hoodwinked by sharp mail order operators?

Says Miller: Try to deal only with recognized firms. If in doubt, call your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

* * *

Take advantage of the promise to refund money by returning the goods in the stipulated time.

* * *

Almost all the operators offer money-back guarantees and pay them automatically.

Even so, says Miller, the refund demands ru nabout 2 per cent of the total number of purchasers.

Tomorrow: The "advance fee" schemes.

Punch Offered in Hot Wassail

Spiced and Sweet, It's a Gesture of Welcome; Comes From England

As traditional a part of Christmas as holly and plum pudding is the holiday punch bowl, brimming with a spiced and sweetened drink.

This tradition goes back to the days of Elizabethan England when the start of the Twelfth Night festivities was heralded in the royal banquet hall with the entry of stewards carrying aloft a huge wassail bowl.

The stewards passed the bowl from one person to another along the banquet table.

In time, each home began to keep its holiday wassail bowl ready to offer the carolers stamping through frosty streets, singing the same Christmas carols we still enjoy today.

Combine 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, ⅛ teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Heat to boiling. Add 2 bottles dry Spanish sherry and heat again until it starts to boil. Then remove from heat. Beat yolks of 6 eggs until thick and very light in color.

Slowly add hot wine, stirring constantly. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake 6 tiny apples or crabapples until just tender but not soft. Place these on top of foamy wassail just before serving. Sprinkle the whole with nutmeg, preferably from nutmeg grinder. Serve hot. Makes about 20 servings.

Chamber Sells Public Bridge: And Folks Buy

WESTERLY, R.I. (AP)—Somebody is selling a public bridge on U.S. Route 1 — and finding takers.

The sellers are members of the Westerly-Pawcatuck area Chamber of Commerce.

Purchasers get a certificate containing such phrases as "This deed legally binding in no respect whatsoever" and that it was sold by "hucksters not qualified to sell anything."

Members of the Chamber of Commerce said they will use the proceeds for Christmas decorations.

The bridge spans the Pawcatuck River between Westerly, R.I., and Stonington, Conn.

Fairly Active Market Climbs

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its upward push early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Oils, steels and motors were actively traded with gains running to a point or more. Elsewhere movements in both directions were largely held to fractions.

Turnover slackened after the usual burst of opening transactions and was running behind the pace in recent days. The period of tape lateness at the start was comparatively brief.

Richfield, up nearly 2, and California Standard, up almost a point, benefited from a published report of a new producing well in their joint Alaska operations.

'I'LL PUNCH HIS NOSE' — This was Mickey Rooney in the storm between the palms with TV host Jack Paar. Rooney here is telling a friend of his plans for Paar's nose after Paar "invited" him to leave his TV show Tuesday night, saying Rooney was drunk. The tiff since has been patched up and Mick will appear on Paar's program tonight in a kiss-and-make-up session.

Broadcasters Vote Ad Purge

Network Heads Say They Will Cooperate With Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—The broadcasting industry Wednesday pledged cooperation with the government in an attack on deceptive television and radio commercials.

The pledges were given by presidents of the major networks at a 90-minute conference called by Chairman Earl W. Kintner of the Federal Trade Commission.

In opening the session Kintner said broadcasters must work with federal agencies to dispel what he called "a pall of suspicion" which has fallen over the industry in the wake of the TV quiz scandals.

★ ★ ★

Donald H. McGannon, chairman of the TV Code Review Board of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, said action to tighten industry advertising standards will be taken at a board meeting Friday and Saturday.

He said it has been proposed that the industry set more rigid requirements for acceptance of commercials which include demonstrations of product qualities.

Robert E. Kintner, president of the National Broadcasting Co.; Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and Oliver Treyz, president of the ABC Television Network, all said their organizations carefully screen all advertising matter presented on network shows.

Jackie Gleason May Out-Chaplin Charlie

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jackie Gleason is going to make a bum out of Charlie Chaplin—professionally, that is.

Jackie won't discuss it, but I've learned he's likely to do a heart-tearing movie in Paris next fall, playing a deaf mute concierge named "Gigot." Jackie's written the story himself.

WILSON

It won't be exactly Chaplinesque, more "Gleasonesque" (just happened to invent a word there; do you like it?) Gleason's quite a gifted writer. About 12 years ago he used to send me short stories. I never used many of them—the author wasn't known.

Textillionaire Saul Brown blew $10,000 giving an eight-week wedding anniversary party for his son Dick Brown and lovely Eva Gabor. Saul was dancing at the party, with Eva's sister, Zsa Zsa, who whispered to Eva, "Don't be surprised if I wind up being your mother-in-law, dolling."

the hospital after he had his heart attack. Douglas, telling about it his first night out, said: "Paar has been very concerned about my illness and he's also been damned nice."

Bob Hope got a good report on his eye condition while here—also a check from Jackie Gleason paying up a World Series bet . . .

Mainbocher, so they say, pulled out of "Goodbye, Charlie" (the Lauren Bacall show) because of "costuming problems" . . . Rockefeller lieutenants are canvassing old Willkie clubs for support: is Rocky hoping to stampede the convention as Willkie did? . . .

Jack Paar and Jack Douglas, the writer-humorist whom he fired, have made up. Paar and his wife Miriam visited Douglas in Dick Clark's bosses claim they are standing solidly behind him despite B'way rumors to the contrary. Clark's affidavit saying he never took anything of value is their simple reason . . . By the way, the N.Y. d.j.'s are the "cleanest" in the country. They are mostly well-paid and ethical.

★ ★ ★

To be perfectly fair to Alan Freed and all d.j.'s who had no TV budgets to pay singers, and required record firms to put up the scale salary then paid to the singers, this deal was a very happy one with the record companies and the singers—it was generally considered a "good promotion."

School Loans Skyrocketing

State Districts May Borrow $100 Million by Fiscal Year End

LANSING (AP) — Local school district borrowings this fiscal year probably will top 100 million dollars, the State Department of Public Instruction estimated today.

School districts already have borrowed $52,440,675 with only five months of the fiscal year completed.

"In most instances, the schools are finding it necessarry to pay higher interest fees for the money they must borrow to keep their schools running," said Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

"Also, in most instances, the money they are paying out in interest fees was not planned for in their school budgets. This is money being taken away from the education of Michigan boys and girls."

Michigan schools borrowed more than 75 million dollars last year and the interest is estimated at 2½ million dollars, Bartlett said. If the figure is just matched this year, he noted, the interest cost will run to five millions for the two years.

"This money could hire 1,000 teachers at a salary of $5,000 or provide new facilities for 5,700 elementary school students," Bartlett said.

Playwright Tennessee Williams was born in an Episcopal Church rectory in Columbus, Miss.

'Kiss and Make Up' Tonight

Rooney, Paar Patch Up Spat

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney and Jack Paar cooed at each other like lovers after a spat, broke off long enough for some furious new cries of foul, and then started cooing louder than ever today.

The acrobatics of the two seasoned showmen weren't hurting either one—or their publicity.

★ ★ ★

But you had to be on your toes to keep up with it.

Paar smilingly told his television audience Wednesday night: "Mickey Rooney is a helluva nice guy. I'm darn sorry, Mickey."

That satisfied the actor. Happy, too, was Rooney's personal manager, Red Doff, who announced that tonight's show will go on as originaally planned in a kiss-and-make-up session between Paar and Rooney Wednesday. Rooney once more will be his guest on the show.

★ ★ ★

"The whole thing is smoothed over now," Doff said.

That wasn't the way he felt a couple of hours earlier after hearing secondhand accounts of Paar's comments on the air. At that time Doff furiously declared he would not let Rooney appear with Paar.

It all started Tuesday night. Paar accused Rooney of being drunk on his show. Rooney walked out—by invitation.

★ ★ ★

They patched it up in a tense hotel room drama—in which four aides on each side eyed one another cautiously outside the door, the way Paar tells it.

It's doubtful the publicity attending the ruckus will impair the rating of tonight's show. This, despite Paar's quizzical comment to his audience: "Strange it's so big in the papers."

Even the thorniest issue between them was settled. That was the barb left by Paar's remark Tuesday night as Rooney made his exit:

"It's a shame. He was a great talent."

Paar Wednesday night explained it away. He told the actor in their man-to-man talk: "You were a great talent—but you weren't a great talent last night."

Rooney acknowledged he had a few drinks before going to the studio. He was celebrating the first anniversary of his fifth marrige — this on to Barbara Ann Thomason.

TV News and Reviews

Jolly Jose Ferrer Romps Through Marriage Spoof

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—I don't think anyone enjoyed watching Sid Caesar's comedy hour as much as guest Jose Ferrer did in being on it.

★ ★ ★

Ferrer had a wonderful time portraying a conscienceless emcee of a TV bride-and-groom show called, "Surprise Wedding" and, later, the devil in a spoof of opera.

★ ★ ★

His meaty enthusiasm and comic flair was the show's highlight.

The CBS-TV special, called, "Marriage—Handle With Care," was the second in Caesar's series of four for U.S. Steel. It had more laughs in it than the first but still had too many pedestrian touches to be considered a big success.

The funniest skit was the "Surprise Wedding," where Ferrer kept smiling and delivering commercials through utter pandemonium. The uproar developed when Ferrer tried to marry off Caesar and Audrey Meadows before a TV and studio audience. She was willing. He wasn't, to put it mildly. How he fought!

★ ★ ★

He ended up marrying the wrong girl—and happy about it. It was an uproarious spoof of outrageous types of TV programs. My chief reservation about it was that it was picking on a theme that has been clobbered before.

TIMING SLIPS

The opening skit compared marriages of 1890 with those of today and while it had some ingenious prop gags, it also had a fairly obvious theme. Some slipups in timing spoiled some of the sight gags.

A final skit, the opera spoof, was rather aimless, although Ferrer and Caesar did a beautiful bit of hand-haggling during the opera.

Marge and Gower Champion also were on hand for work in the skits and in a dance number. They are very clever dancers and players. Connie Francis sang three songs in her animated style.

DIALING AND FILING: Perry Como's easy-going TV style was in sharp contrast to his NBC-TV guest, Dolores Gray. Her approach is too hard and slick to blend with Como. And it was wrong for her to attempt the fluffy, "Wouldn't It Be Loverly."

★ ★ ★

Last week, the Ozzie and Harriet episode on ABC-TV was concerned with a fund-raising campaign by Harriet and her friends. Last night's episode dealt with a fund-raising campaign by sons Ricky and David and their pals. If I have to choose, I'd pick the first as the better show.

Cultural note: Faye Emerson defeated Cliff Arquette in an honest-injun Indian wrestling bout on last night's Charley Weaver Show on ABC-TV.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The "future" schedule for CBS-TV's Playhouse 90 has dropped the proposed Paddy Chayefsky teleplay about beatniks. Paddy is too busy to write it.

The news that Frank Sinatra is calling his Dec. 13 one-hour special on ABC-TV, "An Afternoon With Frank Sinatra," led a TV official to comment: "Might be more interesting to show, 'An Evening With Frankie,'" Anyhow, the special will start at 8:30 p.m. (EST).

ABC-TVs daytime quiz show, Music Bingo, is being scrapped Jan. 1. About Faces, a Ralph Edwards show, takes over.

★ ★ ★

A monthly, hour-long series, "World of the Mind," will debut on ABC-TV either Saturday, Dec. 12 or Dec. 19, 4 p.m. (EST), Originating at the New Haven, Conn., campus of Yale University, the series will feature Yale professors discussing art, drama, philosophy, etc.

Vice President Richard Nixon leads the 71st annual Tournament of Roses Parade, which NBC-TV televises on Friday, Jan. 1.

'5 Finger Exercise' Beckons Too Subtly

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK — Peter Schaffer, a new British playwright, impresses me as being a potentially fine dramatist whose first effort, "Five Finger Exercise," is considerably less than the London reputation that accompanied it into the music box last night.

★ ★ ★

The assumption has to be that Shaffer set out to write an extremely subtle play involving strong but muted human emotions presented in a series of variations on a theme, as witness his use of the musical-term title.

★ ★ ★

Still lacking a certain skill that should come with more experience, he has been too subtle for his own good. He has solid meaty dramatic situations at hand but is reluctant to get at the heart of any of them.

Viet Nam-Turkey Road on Conference Agenda

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — An Asian highway to connect Viet Nam with Turkey will be among projects to be considered at the third Zonal Conference on International Highways, which opens here today.

The highway would pass through Burma, East Pakistan, India, West Pakistan, Afghanistan and Iran.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan will be host to the seventh annual regional meeting of the American College of Physicians Friday and Saturday in conjunction with St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. More than 200 Michigan doctors are expected to attend.

Singer Anita Bryant Will Wed Disc Jockey

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Anita Bryant says she's engaged to a Miami, Fla., disc jockey.

The 19-year-old singer who commutes between shows in Hollywood and Chicago said she and Bob Green, 25, of radio station WINZ plan to marry sometime next summer and live in Miami.

Miss Bryant appears on the George Gobel television show in Hollywood and Don McNeill's Breakfast Club in Chicago.

Hungarian Red Gives Warning

'Bourgeoise Ideology' Still Strong, Claims Politbureau Man

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — A top-ranking Hungarian Communist Wednesday warned the Party Congress in Budapest that "bourgeoise ideology" is still strong in Hungary.

★ ★ ★

"Bourgeoise ideology" is Communist terminology for anticommunism.

The warning was made by Gyula Kallai, a member of the ruling polit bureau, who discussed problems of education, culture, science and schools.

Only yesterday Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev praised Hungarian Communist leaders for recapturing the confidence of the people in a speech before the congress. He said the fever generated by his denunciations of Stalin coupled with the mistakes of the then Hungarian party leaders sparked the 1956 freedom revolt.

Kallai said intensive and effective ideological and political education of the people must be pursued. He also advocated acceleration of the "Marxist-Leninist" education of the Hungarian army.

Research by AEC Rises 11 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) reported today its research and development work on nuclear weapons increased 11 per cent last year despite a virtual halt in test atomic explosions.

★ ★ ★

The AEC said in its annual financial report that nuclear weapons development and fabrication costs amounted to $492,000,000 for the year which ended last June 30, up to 11 per cent over the previous year.

★ ★ ★

The report showed that the net cost of AEC operations last fiscal year reached $2,500,000,000, up 9 per cent over the previous 1958 fiscal year.

Father Divine's Krum Elbow Is Being Sold

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —One of Father Divine's heavens —Krum Elbow, across the Hudson River from the Hyde Park estate of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt—is being sold.

The late Howland Spencer, a bitter political foe and distant relative of Roosevelt, sold the 350-acre tract to the Negro cult leader and his followers in 1938.

★ ★ ★

Spencer said at the time he wanted to test Divine's theories against Roosevelt's. He said Roosevelt's New Deal was ruining the country through expenditures. Father Divine opposed debt.

Divine's shouting followers, who took such names as Faithful Mary and Bunch of Love, gathered at Krum Elbow, one of several heavens operated by Divine, during the 1930s and 1940s. They could get a room for $2 a week and eat chicken dinners for 15 cents.

"Peace—it's wonderful!" they shouted.

★ ★ ★

Father Divine, once a Baltimore odd jobs man, asked his followers to turn over to him all their worldly goods. In return, he provided them with their needs. He has been out of the limelight in recent years.

Spencer died in 1957.

Walter R. Seaman, a Highland, N. Y., hardware merchant, said Tuesday he is buying Krum Elbow, possibly for use as a club for the aged. He said the asking price was $92,000, but declined to say what he is paying.

The estate has not been used in recent years by Divine's followers. A custodian has been caring for the property.

23 Notables Rally to the Defense of Chessman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convict-author Caryl Chessman's bid to escape the gas chamber has gained support from 23 professional people, including noted psychiatrist Karl A. Menninger, TV star Steve Allen and writer Aldous Huxley.

Dr. William F. Graves, former staff physician at San Quentin Prison, where Chessman has been held in Death Row for 11½ years, also signed the "friend of the court" plea submitted Monday to the Supreme Court by Chessman's attorneys.

The Supreme Court is expected to decide within a few weeks whether to grant the convicted rapist a hearing. The appeal is against a California court decision that directed the death penalty for the eighth time.

In the past two decades there has been a sharp decline in the average patient's hospital stay. Twenty years ago, the Health Information Foundation says, the average stay was 12.5 days. Now it's only 8.5 days.
