Beattie Picked by Waterford Jaycees

Named Outstanding Man

A young man who advanced from janitor to general sales manager in his father's automobile agency was named Waterford Township's most outstanding man of the year at a Bosses Night banquet last night.

★ ★ ★

Robert Beattie Jr., 26, was presented with the coveted award before a group of 150 Junior Chamber of Commerce members, their wives and their supervisors at the annual affair in the Waterford Community Center.

Beattie was selected from a list of nine candidates for his outstanding work with Community Activities, Inc., where he served as a board member for some years. He now is treasurer. In 1957 he was chairman of the CAI Fair, one of the main projects that supports the organization.

The outstanding young man is a past president of the Rotary Club, was head of the Michigan Week banquet last year, and has been active in Goodfellows. He is a member of the Angelus Temple in Detroit.

After his graduation from Waterford High School in 1952, Beattie attended Cleary College at Ypsilanti, majoring in business administration. He is married and lives at 3350 W. Walton Blvd.

PRAISED FOR WORK

In making last night's presentation, one of the judges, Irwin Greer, praised Beattie for his work on the CAI, particularly with the fair, and for his willingness to help whenever asked.

★ ★ ★

Other judges in the Man of the Year contest were Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson, Donald Smith, Dr. John Naz and the Rev. Walter Teuwissen Jr.

Jaycee President Arthur Salley introduced the guests last night, then Toastmaster Donald Beedle took over the program.

W. J. Brulet of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. presented a movie on "Communications in National Defense" and Johnson gave a few remarks about the Man of the Year selection.

Harmony Is Keynote as Legislature Opens

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LANSING — Michigan lawmakers convened at noon today in an atmosphere of harmony and with little business of major consequence to transact immediately.

Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski opened the Senate session for the first time since he became president of the upper chamber.

Routine business, the swearing in of members, election of officers, and passage of resolutions setting up the ground rules for conducting the Senate, and House were at the top of today's agenda.

Appointment of committees in the Senate was to be done today, while in the House, committee appointments will be made later—probably next week.

But some of the issues that once caused scars were still boiling beneath the surface.

A new move to strengthen Michigan's civil rights laws was launched as the 71st Legislature assembled.

Rep. George Edwards, Detroit Democrat, heads a group of lawmakers who are sponsoring bills to expand the powers and activities of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Part of the preliminary action in the Senate will be naming of a committee to oversee a recount in the 30th District of the Upper Peninsula where Sen. William E. Miron, D-Escanaba, won re-election over Republican Kent T. Lundgren, Menominee, by a scant 134 votes. Both want a recount.

★ ★ ★

Lawmakers are expected to adjourn tomorrow after a "state of the state" address by Gov. John B. Swainson.

★ ★ ★

They might remain adjourned for a considerable period to permit finishing the recount.

PEARS RENAMED

House Republicans, who edged into a 56-54 majority in the House, tapped Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, for a second two-year term as House Speaker last night. He was unopposed.

County Men Trip Off to Legislature

Oakland County's delegation — sporting a new state senator, two new state representatives, and 5 to 2 Republican ratio — answered the roll today at the opening of the 71st Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Taking their oaths of office for the first time were Reps. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, and Raymond L. Baker, R-Berkley.

Starting off his first term as senator representing Oakland's four years as state representative, was Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, a Republican and attorney from West Bloomfield Township.

Sworn in to start his third term was Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township.

Beginning their second two-year terms in Lansing are Reps. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, and John C. Hitchcock, D-Hazel Park.

With Baker, a retired pharmacist, upsetting former Rep. S. James Clarkson, and Hogan, a Birmingham attorney, filling Roberts' old House seat, the Oakland Republicans find themselves with a 4-3 edge in the House, as well as Roberts in the senior chamber.

In the last session it was an even 3-3 split, with the Senate seat held then by L. Harvey Lodge.

Before he drove to Lansing this morning for the noon swearing-in ceremonies, Roberts looked at what's ahead in the new session, both as far as Oakland County and the state are concerned.

Passage of a bill — being introduced for the third time — to give the county drain commissioner workable control over establishing lake levels was picked by Roberts as No. 1 among the county's 12-point legislative program drafted by the board of supervisors.

Roberts said passage of a "sensible" budget, so that the state doesn't plunge back into the fiscal crisis which has plagued Michigan, was the "primary" order of business statewide.

★ ★ ★

Reapportionment for a new congressional district, replenishing a dwindling unemployment compensation fund, establishing rules for calling a constitutional convention, and reactivating the state's capital outlay program were also listed by Roberts as some of the tasks faced by the legislature.

Fantasy of Foods Tickets 'All Gone'

Enthusiastic Press readers "have bought out the house."

All available tickets for the cooking school, Fantasy of Foods, scheduled for Jan. 24-27, have been taken.

Persons without tickets who desire to attend the sessions at Pontiac Central High School may be seated just before the performance starts at 2 p.m. each day.

Last year there were enough vacant seats to take care of all who came without tickets.

Comedian Fills In for Dutybound Hart

A television comedian singing Al Jolson songs substituted for Sen. Philip A. Hart at the 47th annual banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors last night.

More than 400 persons, gathered at Elks Temple to hear about sunny skies in Democratic Washington, listened instead to "April Showers," Hart, scheduled to address the banquet on his outlook for Washington under President-Elect Kennedy, sent his apologies, saying he was tied down in the capitol by the forthcoming antifilibuster vote.

The Democratic senator told Ray O'Neil, banquet chairman, in a telegram that there was no telling when the vote might come and that he couldn't leave until it was over.

The audience gave Hart a round of applause in absentia after toastmaster John W. Hirtinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, commended his "devotion to duty."

Then on came comedian Harvey King of Detroit, lined up for the banquet after Hart's 2:30 p.m. telegram was delivered to O'Neil.

After-dinner ceremonies included the passing of the president's gavel from James Clarkson, executive vice president of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., who was 1960 president, to Pontiac realtor Rolfe H. Smith, 1961 president.

Bruce J. Annett, a former president of the board and now a director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, presented Clarkston with a plaque from the association and a pair of expensive binoculars, a gift from the board.

Safecrackers Grab $300 at Drayton Store

Night Watchman Tied; Third Such Burglary in Area This Week

Thieves broke into the Wrigley supermarket in the Drayton Plains shopping center, tied up a night watchman and escaped with $300 taken from a safe in the front of the store.

The burglary occurred as township police continued investigation of two safecracking jobs that took place Sunday night.

Some $8,000 in cash and $500 in merchandise was stolen from the Foodtown supermarket and the adjoining HyLand variety store on Highland Road at Williams Lake Road.

About $4,000 was taken from safes in each store, according to the owners.

Earlier last night a porter at Wrigley's Supermarket in the North Hill Plaza near Rochester told sheriff's deputies he scared off two burglars who broke into the store shortly before 11.

★ ★ ★

Willie Netters said the two men entered the front door while he was cleaning up and sped off in a red and white '58 model car when they saw him. Deputies are investigating the incident.

★ ★ ★

The watchman at the Drayton Plains Wrigley's, Russell Farr, 45, of 432 Midway St., Waterford Township, told police he was in front of the store and did not hear two men enter the rear of the building.

Entrance was made by tearing off a ventilator on the roof of the building, kicking a hole in the ceiling and sliding down a rope.

★ ★ ★

The men pointed a gun at Farr, told him to lie down on the floor and bound him with an electric light cord. He was then blindfolded.

★ ★ ★

A double safe in a front office was opened with a blow torch, township police said, and exit was made by smashing a bolt on a rear door.

ERNEST R. BREECH

Ford Gets Resignation of Breech

DETROIT (AP)—Ernest R. Breech, former board chairman, resigned today from the finance committee of the Ford Motor Co. Breech, however, continues as a member of the board of directors.

Theodore O. Yntema, vice president of finance, was named to succeed Breech as chairman of the finance committee.

Breech's action withdraws him from active management of Ford. He became chairman of the finance committee, which was created upon his resignation as chairman of the board of directors, last July.

Breech, 63, of Bloomfield Township, did not attend today's meeting. He was at his winter home in Phoenix, Ariz. Rumors had circulated for some time that he would step out of Ford management altogether.

Henry Ford II, currently both chairman and president of Ford, announced Breech's resignation following a directors' meeting here today.

Arjay R. Miller, vice president and controller, was appointed vice president of finance to succeed Yntema, a director since 1956 and vice president of finance since 1949.

J. Edward Lundy, treasurer, was promoted to vice president and controller, and Richard L. Johnson moved up from assistant to treasurer.

Breech joined Ford in 1946 as executive vice president and was promoted to chairman of the board in 1955.

County Can't Stem Rising Traffic Toll

If last year's average is any indication, Oakland County's next traffic victim will be a 35-year-old father of two, and he will be killed on a Thursday at three minutes before midnight.

The county during 1960 sustained a heavy setback in its constant struggle to minimize traffic deaths.

A total of 111 persons died in Oakland last year as the result of vehicle accidents, according to an unofficial tally kept by The Pontiac Press.

This constitutes an increase of 20 deaths over the previous year when 91 persons perished on county roads.

A glance at the 1960 record shows the head-on collision was the major accident factor resulting in death. In each case a driver was caught over the road's center line at the fatal moment.

Another major cause of fatal accidents were high-speed crashes into stationary objects, such as trees, poles and traffic signs.

Statistics show that ramming a stationary object of any size at 30 miles an hour or more is nearly always fatal to someone in the vehicle.

A total of 23 head-on fatal accidents claimed the lives of 37 persons. Collisions with stationary objects, including stopped vehicles were fatal to 16 in Oakland County last year.

Pedestrians were big losers on area roads and highways in 1960 when 26 were killed. The previous year saw 17 pedestrians die in the county.

The two worst accidents in 1960 occurred Feb. 28 and Oct. 8. Both were head-on crashes. Each claimed four lives.

★ ★ ★

Two other head-on collisions, Jan. 1 and March 14, each proved fatal to three persons.

Three of the other five accidents resulting in more than one death were head-on collisions. The remaining two occurred when one car struck a tree and another smashed into a utility pole.

June and July were the deadliest months of the year. Each claimed 11 lives. Close behind were February, April and October each with 10 traffic fatalities.

Two Victims of Rampage Critically Hurt

Crazed Man Commits Suicide After Melee in Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government building guard went berserk today, shot down four persons and killed himself. Two of his four victims died instantly. The others were critically wounded.

The dead:

John Pledger, 40, a uniformed guard at the main Navy building, Constitution Ave. and 18th St., who took his own life at the end of his shooting spree. Pledger was a civilian employe of the General Services Administration which has custodian duties for all government buildings.

Pledger's estranged wife, Zelma, 32.

Dr. Monroe G. Gregory, 50, of Annapolis, Md.

The wounded:

Augustus Valentine, 37, of 5057 8th St., N.E., a coworker of Mrs. Pledger in the Navy Bureau of Ships, reported in critical condition at George Washington University Hospital.

Theodore Wells, 38, of 212 Madison St., N.W., an employe in the same office, reported in undetermined condition but conscious at George Washington University Hospital.

Police reported the chain of shootings started shortly after 9 a.m. at temporary building behind the main Navy building. Pledger, wearing his blue guard's uniform, walked into his wife's office in the temporary building. Police said they are not certain of what conversation may have taken place but that the 6-foot 200-pound guard had two guns and started shooting.

An undetermined number of bullets were fired in Mrs. Pledger's office where she was fatally wounded and her two coworkers were wounded.

After this, police said, Pledger got into his own automobile and drove to Dr. Gregory's office several blocks away.

Inspector Joseph W. Shimon said Pledger walked through the reception room, passed two waiting patients and a cleaning woman, and entered the treatment room.

Inspector Shimon theorized that there must have been a scuffle between Dr. Gregory and Pledger before the physician was shot and killed.

Police said they are trying to

Halt Airlift Aid to Rebels, Laos Warns the Soviets

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government has threatened to take "appropriate steps" unless the Soviet government stops its airlift to pro-Communist rebels.

In Washington the Soviet Union reportedly has rebuffed a U.S. suggestion that an international control commission for Laos be revived.

The Soviet rejection was said to have been given Tuesday to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

Menshikov held a 40-minute discussion on Laos with Herter at the State Department. The talk was at Menshikov's request.

★ ★ ★

State Department press officer Lincoln White declined to say "yes" or "no" when asked if the discussion had been encouraging. He said Menshikov "came in to discuss the situation in Laos as he sees it from his standpoint."

U.S. SENDS PLANES

The Laotian warning to the Soviet Union, sent to the Soviet ambassador in London Monday, was made public shortly after the United States delivered the royal Laotian army its first armed planes.

Four propeller-driven observation planes, each armed with machine guns, were flown here Tuesday. Two other planes and a number of helicopters are also being turned over to Laos by the United States. The aircraft will be flown by Laotian pilots.

Until now Laos' air force — a small number of helicopters and aircraft used to shuttle supplies to troops—has been unarmed.

A Laotian spokesman said the new armed planes had been requested more than a year ago, and were now needed to check on the movements of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in the north central Plaine des Jarres.

Guatemalan Official Denies Plot on Cuba

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala has confirmed U.S military officers are acting as advisers to army troops undergoing intensive guerrilla training at a hitherto secret base at Retalhuleu.

★ ★ ★

Defense Minister Enrique Peralta Azurdia denied the troops are being trained for any aggressive action against Cuba's Fidel Castro regime. He termed the training "routine activities by the Guatemalan army."

"It should be remembered," the minister said, "that American military and air missions are in Guatemala and normally give valuable advice to our army.

"There are no aggressive intentions in connection with the activities at Retalhuleu."

★ ★ ★

Peralta Azurdia, whose government has broken relations with Cuba and charged Castro with complicity in an unsuccessful revolt here last November, was commenting on a New York Times dispatch from Retalhuleu. Times correspondent Paul P. Kennedy said the United States is supplying Guatemala with training personnel, supplies and other assistance in preparing a commando-type force for a possible clash with Castro's troops.

CUBA TO INVADE?

Kennedy said Guatemalan officials claimed an invasion of Guatemala from Cuba was imminent, while opponents of Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras charged the forces at Retalhuleu were being trained to invade Cuba.

The Miami Herald reported that recruiters, some, of them American, for months have been selecting men from anti-Castro forces in Miami for secret flights to Retalhuleu.

A month ago, the Herald said, the force collected in Guatemala numbered more than 4,000 guerrillas and more than 100 pilots. Many came from Latin-American countries, the Herald said.

In a copyrighted story by James Buchanan, the Herald said the guerrilla training is led by a veteran from the Philippines recruited because of his experience in fighting Huk Communist rebels in the Philippine jungles. He was not named.)

The U.S. State Department declined comment on the reports of U.S. participation in the training in Guatemala.

★ ★ ★

But press officer Lincoln White said in Washington: "The United States under the inter-American defense system is helping practically every Latin-American country excepting, of course, Cuba and the Dominican Republic."

Hoffa OKs Robbing Union, 'Bugging Record' Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa may get a chance today to answer testimony that he advised a mobster it is all right to rob the union—but don't get caught.

★ ★ ★

A secretly made recording was produced as evidence Tuesday in the Senate Investigations subcommittee which is holding hearings on alleged dealings between Hoffa and New York mobster Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo. Investigators identified the recording as a conversation Corallo had with two officials of New York Teamsters Local 239.

Corallo is a former vice president of Local 239. The subcommittee contends he still runs it with the help of stooges.

The recording was made June 30, 1959, almost a year after Corallo ostensibly had resigned his union office.

OTHER WITNESSES FIRST

Jerome S. Adlerman, the subcommittee counsel, said the group wants to quiz Hoffa about the purported conversation but wants to hear some other witnesses first.

The playback by subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., apparently came as a shock to Mack Tane, business agent of Local 239, and Bernard Stein, secretary-treasurer of the local. Both refused to answer questions, pleading possible self-incrimination.

Seated at the witness table, they heard loud, scratchy sounding voices alleged to be theirs, talking in a New York City apartment the district attorney's squad had "bugged."

New York police detectives Edward Straub and Natalie Laurendi testified the recorded voices were those of Corallo, Stein and Tane, with Stein and Tane relaying instructions from Hoffa.

Neither Corallo nor Hoffa was in the hearing room. Investigators said Corallo had gone to England, where he reportedly is organizing a slot machine syndicate.

The recording quoted Stein as telling Corallo: "Tony, the guy told me straight out, and I mean making like my own words.

"I'm saying his words: I don't care if you want to—you want to steal, you want to rob, go ahead, he says—don't get caught, don't get caught.

★ ★ ★

"He says, and he says, listen, you're worried about money. I don't care how you take the money. I don't care how you take it—get it under the table—get it any way you want."

Dillon Eyes Top-Income Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Douglas Dillon indicated today to senators considering his nomination as Treasury secretary that he would like to see top income tax rates cut as part of a general tax review.

The first of President - Elect John F. Kennedy's Cabinet appointees to appear before Congress, Dillon also said he has "liquidated" his investment banking business interests and placed his remaining stocks in a special trust to remove any possible conflict of interest.

While reserving judgment on most tax and other fiscal policies, he indicated several times he favored lowering the "maximum" tax rates. At one point, Dillon said he felt there should be an "intense study of the whole income tax structure."

Then he added this was true "if we reduce overall rates, particularly in the highest brackets," which he termed a counter-inducement to our best efforts.

Fire in Clarkston Destroys House

Empty Building Was Owned by Doctor; Set Damage at $26,000

An empty house owned by Dr. Donald Stackable at 5770 Main St., Clarkston, burned to the ground today as Independence firemen fought the blaze from 12:30 a.m. to dawn.

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Vivian O'Rourke who lives in back of the Stackable residence. She had returned from a short trip and smelled smoke in her kitchen.

Mrs. O'Rourke then saw smoke and flames pouring from the Stackable house and called firemen.

Dr. and Mrs. Stackable had lived in one side of the structure but had moved to 6743 Park Lake Drive recently.

The dentist had used the north side of the house as a dental office, but had moved to his new Clarkston clinic building on M15.

Firemen estimated damage at $26,000. Origin of the fire is unknown.

40 Feared Lost as Yacht Founders

ALGECIRAS, Spain (UPI) — A small yacht carrying Moroccan Jews to Israel foundered off the coast of Spain before dawn today, apparently taking the lives of 40 passengers.

★ ★ ★

Police and port authorities said as far as they know only three persons had been reported rescued from the yacht—the captain and two crew members.

★ ★ ★

They said it was believed there were at least 40 passengers—including men, women and children—aboard.

Reds Plan Congress in October

MOSCOW (UPI) — The setting of the 22nd Soviet Communist party Congress for next October cleared the way today for Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to engage in more globe-trotting as communism's champion salesman.

The congress date was announced Tuesday as first order of business by the ruling party's central committee, assembled here primarily to discuss Russia's farm problems.

The party leaders turned their full attention to agriculture today.

Diplomatic sources said Khrushchev's home work schedule apparently now would permit him to make another visit this spring to the United Nations where last October he stunned the General Assembly by shouting and thumping his table with his shoe. The assembly is scheduled to reconvene in New York March 7.

The premier also has a sheaf of invitations to visit Cuba and several African and Asian nations.

Diplomatic sources said he has been shrugging off all invitations until he was sure of his commitments at home.

Female Triplets, Born in Detroit, Are Doing Well

DETROIT (UPI)—Day-old triplet daughters born unexpectedly to Mrs. Joyce Winn, 35, were reported in good condition today at Bon Secours hospital.

Neither Mrs. Winn nor her husband Byron, 30, knew until X rays were taken a few hours before delivery that there would be a triple birth.

Two of the girls weighed 4 pounds, 8 ounces and the other weighed 4 pounds 12 ounces. They were placed immediately in an incubator.

The Winns have two other children, Joseph, 3, and Mary, 4. Winn has been laid off his job as a parcel delivery truck driver.

Until names are chosen, the hospital has labeled the triplets A, B, and C.

Crime Fears Alter Drive Plans

Mothers to Travel in Daylight

Crime has forced the 1961 March of Dimes "Mothers' March" out into the daylight.

The Mothers' March, previously slated for the evening of Jan. 31, is now scheduled for 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29.

"The recent outbreak of criminal attacks in the Wayne County area, coupled with recent reports of burglaries and assaults in Oakland County, is the major reason for the change in Mothers' March dates," said George W. Kuhn today.

Kuhn is Oakland County March of Dimes campaign chairman.

He said the change was being made in Wayne and Macomb counties at the request of the volunteer marching mothers who did not want to venture on the streets in the evening.

★ ★ ★

"None of our volunteer solicitors has ever been molested in all the years we've been doing the march," Kuhn said.

"However, we felt it is better to be safe than sorry."

The change of date and time will be observed throughout the Pontiac area.

"This is not in any way a reflection on the various police agencies throughout the county. They've always done a wonderful job looking out for volunteers," Kuhn explained.

"On the other hand, it is obviously impossible for police to give safe conduct to the 6,000 to 8,000 volunteers making their rounds at one time," he added.

So, for the first time since it was started in 1951, the Oakland County Mothers' March will be conducted during daylight hours.

$2.54 Per Month More Possible Insurance Hike

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield is seeking rate increases which would cost the average family about $2.54 more a month.

The bill for a family with an income of $5,000 to $7,500 a year would go to $23.62. Other proposed rates would be $9.06 single, up $1.57; and $21.82 for two persons, up $3.55.

State insurance commissioner Frank Blackford said he expected a flood of mail. The services received increases last year.

The Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross) Tuesday asked for a 22.04 per cent rate hike and the Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield) for a 13.5 per cent increase, both effective April 1.

Both organizations report they are operating in the red because of increased costs and operating expenses.

Blue Cross received approval of a 21.4 per cent increase effective Jan. 1, 1959. Blue Shield received an 11.5 per cent increase last May.

★ ★ ★

"We received about 6,000 letters at the time of the last Blue Shield increase," Blackford said. "We've already started to receive mail since it was announced last week the increases would be sought."

About 3.5 million people in Michigan are covered by the two hospitalization plans.

Blackford said the commission already is making plans to hold a public hearing on the rate increase requests in Detroit some time early in February.

One or more hearings also may be held in out-state cities, he said.

"Our department recognizes the impact these requests will have on the public's pocketbook," he said. "Both requests will be given thorough scrutiny and study. In the meantime, we welcome the views of all interested persons."

find out what connection Dr. Gregory may have had with Pledger.

As police reconstructed events, Pledger went from the doctor's office to the home of Mrs. Cora Green, 71, a longtime friend, at 2132 Flagler Place, N. W.

Mrs. Green said in a statement to police that Pledger told her:

"I shot Zelma. I shot Dr. Gregory. I did, I did. I shot someone else, but I don't know who."

Mrs. Green's nephew, Pierre Pettiford, 19, told reporters he heard Pledger say, "I did an awful thing. I don't know whether to kill myself or call police."

Mrs. Green said Pledger then left by the front door and walked to the 100th block of W Street, N. W. Police, who were already on the way to Mrs. Green's home, arrived to find Pledger in a vacant lot fatally wounded.

Laos Warns Reds to Discontinue Airlift

livery of defensive weapons was authorized under the 1954 Geneva agreement giving Laos independence. But protests are certain from the Communist nations supporting the Pathet Lao rebels and the forces of rebel Capt. Kong Le.

The note said the Soviet airlift to aid the rebels had not stopped despite a protest delivered Dec. 31, and that Soviet planes were continuing a daily delivery by air strips and by parachute "of substantial amounts of war material and other kinds of unauthorized military assistance."

Tuesday the government charged that Soviet as well as North Vietnamese troops were invading the country.

Few Western sources here, however, have believed the reports of invading forces were well-founded.

Says Nixon May Not Run Again

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (AP) — A source close to Vice President Richard M. Nixon believes Nixon may forego another bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Robert Finch, codirector of Nixon's unsuccessful 1960 campaign, said in an interview Tuesday: "There is a definite possibility that by 1964 he may feel he can best serve the party in a capacity other than as a candidate for the presidency."

Finch, who is vacationing in Wickenburg with his family, has been an administrative assistant for Nixon since 1958.

Stellato Asks 30-Hour Week

Urges UAW to Accept No Pay Reduction for Shorter Work Period

DETROIT (AP)—A 30-hour work week with 40 hours' pay should be a prime bargaining demand in auto company contract negotiations this summer, United Auto Workers representative Carl Stellato said Tuesday.

Stellato is president of Ford Local 600, which represents more than 30,000 workers at the Ford Rouge plant.

In a full-page statement in Ford Facts, the local's weekly newspaper, Stellato said the International UAW should work not only toward the shorter work week with no cut in pay, but a lower retirement age, cost-of-living protection for pensioners, supplemental unemployment pay and four weeks' vacation with pay.

In addition, Stellato said, the UAW should seek double time for all overtime work and triple time for Sunday and holiday work, paid lunch periods and hospitalization insurance fully paid by the auto companies.

The UAW will draft its demands at a special convention in April. Bargaining begins about July 1.

Add Recovery Room at Pontiac General

Pontiac General Hospital has opened a six-bed recovery room on the maternity floor for 24-hour service for new mothers, it was announced today by Harold B. Eisler, hospital administrator.

All new mothers, he said, will be sent directly from delivery rooms to the recovery area, which has been supplied with emergency medical equipment by each bedside.

The service is designed to bring instant medical care in event of any mishaps following delivery, said Euler.

Previously, the hospital operated only the surgical recovery room on the surgical floor.

Youth Shields Armed Man in $15 Robbery of Pontiac Grocery Store

Holding a 13-year-old as a hostage, an armed bandit robbed a Pontiac grocer of approximately $15 at gunpoint last night.

Chris Rendziperis, 67, 96 Parkhurst St., told Pontiac police the bandit entered his store, the Rendziperis Market, at 100 Auburn Ave., at 8:10 p.m.

The bandit walked up to the meat counter where the boy, William G. Dimas, 48 Auburn Ave., stood.

Sticking what Rendziperis described as a "long-barreled hand gun" in the boy's back, the bandit ordered the grocer to take money out of the cash register and put it in a paper bag.

★ ★ ★

"When the bandit said he needed the money to pay bills, I told him I had bills, too," the grocer said.

"He replied that I should get busy."

Rendziperis said the bandit let him keep some change when he said he needed it for customer's who'd come in later.

The bandit made the boy leave the store in front of him, crossed Auburn, and after walking a short way north on Hill Street, told the boy to "run away."

The youth raced back to the store and Rendziperis called the police.

The bandit was described as between 23-30 years old, 5-feet-3 weighing 135-150, and of medium build. He was wearing a dark waist-length jacket and dark pants.

Cardinal Calls Dick Magnificent in His Defeat

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston today nominated Vice President Richard M. Nixon for "Good Will Man of 1960."

★ ★ ★

In a speech prepared for the Advertising Club of Baltimore, the cardinal said: "If I were asked on this occasion to name the Good Will Man of the year 1960, I would unhesitatingly give the accolade to Richard Nixon, vice president of the United States. During the recent campaign he never exploited the religious or any other issue that would tend to divide the American people."

★ ★ ★

"When he lost the closest national election of the past century, he was magnificent in defeat," the prelate said.

State Week Unit Headed by High School Senior

LANSING (AP)—Diane Perrone, 17-year old senior at Our Lady of Mercy High, Detroit, has been named chairman of the Youth Activities Board for the May 21-27 Michigan Week.

The Michigan Week committee said she is the youngest person ever named to head a state board or committee for the annual observance.

"People probably don't pay enough today for their medical care considering the large number of benefits they receive," an official of Michigan Blue Shield told the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club today.

The speaker was Thomas C. Paton, director of the professional relations division of the hospitalization organization.

"Twenty years ago," he said, "prior to the advent of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, many persons could not pay a rate of $3 a day for hospital care that did nothing more than provide routine nursing."

He said people are able to have the finest hospital and medical care today "because of the vast growth of health insurance, which has kept pace with medical and hospital advancement."

Paton said the average family allots only 2 per cent more of its budget to health care than it did 20 years ago and that physicians receive 7 per cent less of the total health-care dollar than they did in 1940.

Princess Weds Thursday

Royal Father, Son Left in Norway

OSLO (UPI) — When Princess Astrid weds tomorrow, two lonely men—one a king, the other a crown prince—will be all that are left of the norwegian royal family

★ ★ ★

The king, Olav V, 58, has been a widower since 1954, when Crown Princess Martha died. His son, Prince Harald, the heir to the throne, will be 24 next February.

He is a bachelor-student at Oxford and so far there is nothing known of any forthcoming engagement or marriage for him.

The king's two daughters, Ragnhild, born in 1930, and Astrid, born in 1932, are now both lost to royal privilege through their marriages into Norwegian commoner families.

A new marriage for the king is said to be out of the question, and Harald has at least two years of studies at Oxford ahead of him.

★ ★ ★

Rumors are manifold, however. Many sources believe that the Astrid wedding in Asker—described as a family affair by the king—is actually a rehearsal for a bigger event to come, the marriage of Crown Prince Harald to some royal princess from abroad.

TO WED ROYALTY?

It is taken for granted that the young crown prince will follow the rules of royal tradition and marry into a royal house, or at least into a high-ranking noble family.

★ ★ ★

Many a princess has been mentioned through the years, but lately most talk has been about Princess Sophia of Greece as Norway's new crown princess.

★ ★ ★

The Greek royal family will be absent from tomorrow's wedding, and informed sources speculate this is only to avoid undue talk and new rumors of a forthcoming Harald-Sophia engagement.

It is felt here that the king must do something to secure his dynasty, as he is the sole master of the royal house according to the Norwegian constitution.

ROYALTY TO WED COMMONER — Princess Astrid of Norway and her fiance, divorced haberdasher Johan Martin Ferner, will be married Thursday in the village of Asker, 15 miles west of Oslo. They are shown with the princess' pet Pekinese in her apartment in the palace at Oslo recently.

Two RO Psychiatrists Join Pontiac State Staff

Two Royal Oak psychiatrists have joined the staff at Pontiac State Hospital for several months training.

Dr. Gordon Crandall of 234 W. LaSalle St., and Dr. Edward Herman of 134 N. Wilson St., have been psychiatrists at the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of their joining the local staff is to gain experience regarding the treatment program in a state hospital setting.

Bell Hopes to Launch Phone, TV Orb in 1 Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Bell Telephone System said Tuesday it was "hopeful" an experimental satellite designed to furnish intercontinental telephone and television chanels may be launched "within one year."

★ ★ ★

Frederick R. Kappel, president of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., said in a report to stockholders that development of the satellite and ground stations was under way and application has been made with the Federal Communication Commission for microwave radio frequencies for experimental use.

The Bell System reported record operating revenues of $3,009,775,000 for the quarter ended Nov. 30, with earnings of $312,155,000 or $1.40 a share applicable to AT&T stock.

In the same period last year the world's largest corporation posted revenues of $1,876,587,000 and a net profit of $284,575,000 or $1.33 per share of AT&T stock.

For the 12 months ended Nov. 30 Bell System revenues rose to $7,880,384,000 from $7,351,310,000. Earnings were $1,205,954,000 or $5.52 a share against $1,100,781,000 or $5.16 a share a year earlier.

Kappel said in his letter to stockholders that the company's construction expenditures in 1960 exceeded $2.5 billion and would again pass this mark in 1961.

Kappel called the earnings improvement for the reporting period "of first line importance in enabling us to modernize and expand communication facilities and introduce service betterments."

The Bell companies added about 2,800,000 telephones in 1960 and long distance conversations increased 7 per cent, he said. Overseas phoning increased 20 per cent from the prior year.

IONIA (UPI)—Rayfield Thurman, 41, Grand Rapids, was sentenced Tuesday in Ionia Circuit Court to a prison term of seven to 15 years in the stabbing death last September of Charles Anderson, 37, Cordil, Ga.

Thurman, who had been charged with murder in the death, was convicted of manslaughter by a jury last week to climax a four-day trial.

The stabbing took place in a tenant shack north of Lake Odessa where Thurman and Anderson were living while working as tomato pickers on a farm.

Detroit Comedy Hits Rocky Going in Its Premiere

DETROIT (AP)—The new comedy "How to Make a Man" ran out of cash if not laughs on its premiere here. A Philadelphia booking has been canceled and a New York opening on Broadway, scheduled Jan. 28, is uncertain.

The Cass Theater, reporting itself left holding $45,000 in scenery, drew that picture of the Michigan-built show's situation.

Joe Heidt, Cass press agent, said the show completed a nine-day schedule on the weekend but then had to quit because of lack of funds. He said the show lacked capital from the start. The cast included Barbara Britton and Tommy Noonan.

Sets and props were made in Detroit, Ann Arbor and Flint. It was believed the first show built and assembled here for a Broadway showing.

Statistics Show Danger in All Nuclear Bombs

Perhaps you've looked upon disarmament with merely a mild, academic interest. If this be the case, consider the following editorial from The Hillsdale Daily News.

"The government has no intention of disclosing how many big hydrogen bombs we have. But there is inevitable interest in the informed guess by Dr. RALPH LAPP, atomic scientist, that our backlog of bombs comes to around 1,000.

"Lapp was thinking only of those weapons big enough to destroy a major city. And he pointed out that we probably have sufficient nuclear materials on hand to build another 50,000 H-bombs.

★ ★ ★

"We must assume that Soviet experts have the same kind of informed calculations, and that KHRUSHCHEV understands thoroughly what would hit him if he struck first at us.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly awareness of our tremendous H-bomb backlog and our additional nuclear weapons potential must be the big thing which gives the Russians pause today. It can hardly be a comfort to them to know that their country could be substantially ruined by 12 bombs, even though they might earlier, in a surprise attack, have demolished 988 others we held in reserve.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot forget, on the other hand, that a relative handful of H-bombs delivered from Russia could also inflict colossal damage on the United States. Successful retaliation would be small compensation for gazing upon the ruin of our great cities.

★ ★ ★

Newspapers Are More Informative, Complete

During the recent record snowstorm in New York City, a newspaperman in an outlying district was isolated for almost two days.

★ ★ ★

"I listened to every radio and TV broadcast I could find," said he, "but the sum total was a sorry substitute for the newspaper. Absolutely nothing takes its place."

★ ★ ★

The man's so right.

Nothing takes its place.

★ ★ ★

You want the full story of many happenings. A few phrases are far from sufficient. And only the newspaper provides the complete account. This isn't a criticism of TV or radio. They have their places and they fill them adequately.

But so do newspapers.

The newsman concluded:

"TV can't supply highlights and significant details. It can't give perspective to the news or sketch the background of spot news. Even worse, you have to try to remember everything these folks say, because you haven't a printed record of it, such as you get in a newspaper.

"In short, there is not yet a real substitute for newspapers. I don't see how there ever can be."

Old-Time Tiger Fans Remember 'Schoolboy'

To teen-agers and young sports enthusiasts the name LYNWOOD "SCHOOLBOY" ROWE means little, but to the rest of us it is synonymous with the golden era of sports in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

During this period of the mid-thirties, the Motor City was beginning to be tagged the "City of Champions" and to help put the Tigers in this elite category Schoolboy Rowe was striking out batters with his whizzing fast ball. By many he was considered one of the best pitchers in his time.

★ ★ ★

The SCHOOLIE was a local hero. His every move was followed by the press, and he was an extremely colorful figure on and off the diamond.

★ ★ ★

His untimely death marks the passing of a great sports figure. Memories of this gangling pitcher with his fast ball will remain for years with old-time Tiger fans.

THOSE who are hoping to leave the earth soon in space ships must be tired of living dangerously.

The Centennials

That Have Figured in the History of Pontiac City

Capital punishment: What's deserved by those who choose pictures for hotel rooms.

In order to clear up a centennial problem that seems to be bothering quite a number of the good readers of this column, a clarification is made.

This year we are celebrating the centennial of the incorporation of Pontiac as a city. The official date of that event, which was in accordance with a special act of the Michigan State Legislature, was March 15, 1861.

Pontiac had previously been an incorporated village for 24 years. It was made such by one of the first acts of the state legislature following Michigan's admission to the union in 1837. The official date of our incorporation as a village was March 20, 1837.

A centennial celebration held in 1916 was to mark the 100th anniversary of the coming of the first white men to the present location of Pontiac.

However, they were itinerant trappers and did not locate here, the first permanent white settlement on the present site of the city being two years later.

A constant subscriber to this paper for 55 years is

David Lawrence Says:

Transition Period Long and Risky

WASHINGTON — Many people have been led to believe by newspaper reports of conferences between outgoing and incoming officials that the period in government since the election has been a "transition"—a sort of preparation for a mere change in personnel on a specific day.

LAWRENCE

Actually, the transition, in its truest sense, has not begun yet and will not start until after inauguration day. It may last a year or more.

★ ★ ★

Just now the government is passing through a period of reshuffling of high positions. Many of the top officials either have resigned already or are preparing to do so in a few days.

As they pack their personal files and arrange to move their families, official business is necessarily piling up for their successors.

The incumbent official is in a dilemma. If he takes a positive position on a controversial subject, members of the opposite party will criticize him for not waiting for his successor to take whatever action the latter may wish.

The other day, for example, when the United States government was provoked by the Castro regime in Cuba to the point described by President Eisenhower as the "limit to what the United States can in self-respect endure," there were Democrats in Congress who openly insisted that the President should have left the matter of severing diplomatic relations to be decided by the Kennedy administration.

This is a narrow view, since responsibility is not in recess—it is continuous till noon of inauguration day.

The prevailing tendency, on the other hand, is to let most things slide. What is worse, the new officials cannot possibly learn in a few days all the background they need to help them formulate important policies.

Some idea of the meaning of "transition" in government is given by Laurin L. Henry in a historical analysis just published in book form by the Brookings Institution of Washington. It is entitled "Presidential Transitions," and says in its introduction:

"The inauguration reunites popularity, influence and formal authority in the presidency, but in some respects the shift of power is only beginning. The new president and the associates he brings into the government now must begin to learn their jobs, fulfill their commitments, and recast governmental policies in light of their own objectives.

"This process will require adjustments in the relations of the president with Congress, foreign nations, domestic interest groups, political parties, the federal bureaucracy, and other institutions impinging on the presidency.

'CRISIS FOR ALL'

"The arrival of a new administration is a crisis for all these groups, as well as for the presidency itself. The duration of the crisis will vary among sectors of governmental activity; in some areas the new administration may establish itself and restore stability within a few weeks; in others the instability may persist until the midterm congressional elections or longer.

"In most respects, however, it seems to take about a year for an administration to put its stamp on basic policies and institutions and settle down to its characteristic modes of behavior."

More important perhaps is the "transition" which goes on within the victorious political party and among its supporters throughout the country. For a long period they have been on the offensive, with almost daily criticisms about alleged inadequacies of the incumbent administration.

★ ★ ★

They now find it necessary to try to put into effect the broad promises of campaign days or to explain persuasively why "campaign oratory" is a species of political behavior that must be forgiven.

The public, too, somehow has to be persuaded to undergo some kind of "transition."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Kindness, Understanding Way to Cure Problem

"Thank you so much," writes a Minnesota reader, "for the help we received from your pamphlet on bed-wetting. It 'cured' our son, who was 5. We had always been kind about this, as you have advocated, but the boy himself was beginning to feel desperate about it. But now that battle is in the past, and he is in the first grade and doing fine in school, too." (Mrs. D. W. S.)

DR. BRADY

A five-year-old desperate?

I remember, when I was 5 and wet the bed, hearing mother and aunt discussing whether just soap or ammonia was better for washing. I remember, too, that my good parents never punished, scolded or shamed me for wetting the bed. But I never felt desperate about it, I'm sure. Maybe a little sorry now and then. If my parents ever felt desperate about it they didn't show it.

If I seem to dwell on this unnecessarily it is because I hope to reach the hearts of parents of bed-wetting children, that is, who complain bitterly about it and say they have scolded, shamed, ridiculed and punished the bed-wetter but without avail.

Perhaps there's no heart there to reach or perhaps it would be more effective just to slap back their ears until they whimper for mercy.

Many young draftees had to be house-broken at their training base before they could be assigned to duty in World War II. Once I had a patient, the oldest of several children in the family, who had an appointment to West Point but feared he'd be rejected because he wet the bed.

He was a healthy boy and good patient—or rather, a good pupil. We worked it out together—he had perfect control of his bladder in his waking hours, so why not keep control of it during sleep? We thought constantly along this line through the spring. Well before examination time in June the youth was OK and happily started on his military career.

Gentle, persistent and always patient and sympathetic application of this psychotherapy corrects the habit in most cases, whether supplementary medical treatment is required or not. I gave the young man a placebo to keep him and his parents mindful of the fact that he was under my care.

For further advice about the correction of the habit send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the free pamphlet The Habit of Bed-Wetting.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words, about pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People:

Varied Comments Voiced on Praying for Murderer

Your editorial regarding the attitude of a lay minister reminds me of the "shop talk" about capital punishment. Also the article "Sick Inmates Worry Warden" (Jan. 6) is enough to give one pause.

The Ten Commandments were given directly to the people who heard the voice of God through Moses. Included was the sixth commandment: "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

There remained the question what to do if one breaks the commandment. Included in the judgments which were then outlined to Moses was this: "He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall surely be put to death." (Exodus 21:12)

To suppose that Christ came to do away with this law is to be mistakenly sentimental and wishy-washy. Jesus expressly stated that He was not come to destroy the law, but to fulfill it. Although God is able to redeem a repentant murderer, His mercy is tempered with justice and society must face this reality.

★ ★ ★

Psychiatrists can classify murderers after the crimes are done; taxpayers can pay their room and board; while not enough funds are available to care properly for citizens in other categories who, through no fault of their own, are the responsibility of society.

Russell Carlisle

374 Alberta Boulevard

Your editorial concerning the funeral sermon of Betty James was most unchristian.

The reverend was compelled by conscience and a sense of duty as a spiritual advisor to try and instill forgiveness and compassion in her friends and relatives. If he had done any differently he would be a hypocrite.

Judge not lest you be judged.

I hope the people will take the reverend's advice and pray for all sinners. "Forgive them Father for they know not what they do."

Mrs. L. W. Day

Clarkston

Thanks for your realistic article in regard to the idea of praying for the murderer of Mrs. Betty James.

We have no capital punishment in the State of Michigan and we are sitting ducks for the mad dog criminals that prey upon us — and get away with it.

When will "we" have enough? Evidently the murderers think we are gluttons for punishment. We need laws with teeth in them and not so much prayer.

J. M.

The James family has my deepest sympathy but I do not agree with the opinion expressed in your editorial.

Why shouldn't the minister pray for the man who beat and killed Mrs. James? A needless killing such as this is terrible, of course, but perhaps this man is worse off than the James family. He may be insane or extremely desperate. Desperation leads to many horrible things.

Christ taught that we should have compassion for all sinners. Everyone deserves mercy.

A Compassionate One

Your editorial truly shows what you are in regard to prayer being said for the murderer of Mrs. James. My Lord Jesus Christ prayed for those who hanged Him on the Cross. St. Stephen prayed for the Jews that stoned him to death, and I am quite sure that St. Peter also prayed for those who hanged him on the cross upside down at Rome.

We Christians are to do good and bless them, pray for them - our enemies, yes, even murderers.

John Hillman

Waterford

That minister who prayed for the murderer right during the funeral ceremony just encourages killers. Why should anyone pet and condone human slaughter during the funeral to encourage others on the border line. There are too many do-gooders who are impractical and who haven't seen enough of the rotten side of life to have good judgment.

Halsey

If there were a thousand more editorials like the one in The Press on praying for murderers, at the final ceremonies for the victims and a thousand juries were forced to read them, convictions would follow and murder would lessen.

T. H.

Killers are afraid of swift and certain punishment themselves and they recognize no other law. Kindness, prayer and forgiving are wasted. Murder is only held in line through fear of swift, just punishment.

Henry

I don't care whether you favor capital punishment or oppose it, you can't support prayers for the killers at the very funeral of the victim. This is a plain lack of Christianity to me.

Enid

What Michigan needs is capital punishment. Let the people vote on this issue.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Prize Contesting Interesting Hobby

Mrs. Crane and I became contest addicts the first two years of our marriage and won many prizes, including two of $1,000 apiece. So we can o.k. William Sunners hobby 100 per cent. However, you better hang on to your regular job and use contesting as a zestful hobby. It's tops for married couples, as well as invalids and retired oldsters.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G - 475: William Sunners, aged 56, has been a high school teacher for many years in New York.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," an acquaintance began, "he had developed his hobby into a lucrative business.

"For he enters prize contests literally by the hundreds. Over the past few years, he has won 50 watches, 4 diamond rings and 3 new automobiles, plus 6 TV sets, 20 radios, 5 refrigerators, etc.

"A year ago his salary amounted to $8,600 but he had meanwhile won over $10,000 from contests.

"So he has decided to quit his teaching and concentrate solely on contesting."

Prize contesting is a fascinating hobby for everybody, since it perks up your mind, even if you don't win a cash award.

There are usually three types of prize contests. The first is the "manual," wherein you cut out jigsaw pictures and simply paste them together.

Then you send in the completed picture. As a variation, you may just sign your name to a coupon, and mail it in, where it is deposited with others, and a few lucky winners are drawn by lot from the total.

Second, there is the "mental" type of contest, in which you are to coin a new name or slogan for a product, or write a 25-word letter telling why you like it.

As a variation, you may be asked to complete the last line of a limerick rhyming jingle.

A third form of contest is a combination of the above. You may thus be required to do some manual or "scissors" work, but a "rider" is also attached requiring you to submit a 25-word letter.

$50 MILLION PRIZES

It is estimated that as high as $50 million each year go into prize contests, for they are a very effective type of modern advertising.

Usually, all that is required is that you submit a box top or a soap wrapper or some other proof of purchase, along with your entry.

Semi-invalids and paraplegics, as well as retired folks past 65, will find that prize contesting is a decided morale booster and mental tonic.

Young married couples, too, will find that it welds husband and wife together in a constructive mutual hobby.

And if you have children of school age, they also delight in working with Daddy and Mother in looking up data in history books or an encyclopedia.

Apart from the zest of looking for a cash award, contests are a boon from the medical angle, for they extrovert your attention off your own aches and pains.

And they rejuvenate old folks, for they turn your thinking from the yesterdays and focus it on the tomorrows.

For you begin to look forward with eager zest to the mailman's visits, as soon as you have mailed your contest entries.

Such "forward thinking," said Emerson, is the test of youth!

But send in several entries and don't stop with just one contest, for then you will grow disheartened if you fail to win.

But with many other entries in the mail, you can always bolster your ego by thinking, "Oh, well, I may win on the contest to be announced next week."

Send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," for it contains a section on "Prize Contesting." Enclose stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for Dr. Crane's psychological charts and pamphlets.

Consumers Not Afraid of Slump

Few Expect Recession to Be Extended, Says U. of M. Survey

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The American consumer has become increasingly aware of the current business recession, but it hasn't shaken his confidence in the economy, the University of Michigan says.

In interviews with 1,400 persons before and after the presidential election, the U of M survey research center found:

Consumers are slightly uneasy about current business conditions but are not alarmed. Few expect a long depression or a deepening of the current recession.

The consumer's attitude toward the economy and purchasing which deteriorated sharply in early 1960, has been virtually unchanged since the middle of last year.

More people are currently concerned about job security and employment opportunities than at this time last year or the year before. They are also less optimistic about personal finances.

Dr. George Katona, director of the consumer study, said the interviews revealed attitudes are "consistent with the general notion that the recession will remain mild."

In the area of purchasing, there was a "pronounced rise" in intentions to buy new cars, clothing and major household goods.

Red Radio Spices Up Propaganda

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Communist world radio spices its propaganda broadcasts with entertainment and educational programs, the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) reports.

The agency said in a report on the activities of Communist-controlled international broadcasts between 1948 and 1959, that the "heavy" propaganda programs are supplemented with "light" programs, ranging from scientific and cultural shows to quizzes, polls and language lessons.

★ ★ ★

The report also said "the most spectacular development . . . was the rapid growth of Communist China's international broadcasting effort" to the point where the Bamboo Curtain radio was second only to Russia in its attempts to woo free nations to the Communist orbit.

★ ★ ★

Over-all, USIA said, Communist broadcasts have multiplied by five since 1948 to a total of some 3,000 hours weekly in 55 languages. The report did not include Yugoslavia.

In contrast, the agency said the United States now broadcasts 565 hours a week in 36 languages and supplements this with some 2,400 hours a week of prepackaged, locally originated shows.

Negro Youths Stage 'Stand-In' at Bay City Rink

BAY CITY (UPI)—A group of Negro youths is staging a "stand-in" demonstration at a roller skating rink here.

The youths said the demonstration is to protest Monday night closing of the rink, Skateland.

A year ago, a suit was filed in Circuit Court charging Skateland with racial discrimination.

The suit was dropped when Skateland agreed to let Negroes use the rink on Monday nights.

The Rev. Obie Mathews said the rink now claims to be a private club and has been closed on Monday nights. Mathews, a Negro minister, said the "private club" claim is not substantiated.

Firm Takes Over Grand Rapids Plant

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Bell Fibre Products Corp. of Marion, Ind., today took over a 210,000-square-foot former Jarecki Corp. plant in Grand Rapids for an undisclosed sum.

Bell, a manufacturer of corrugated containers, plans to start operations at its new site Feb. 1.

★ ★ ★

William J. Farrell, industrial commissioner for the Greater Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce who negotiated the sale, said the move will mean new jobs in Grand Rapids.

The Bell firm is the first new industry brought to Grand Rapids in a chamber drive starting last month.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Will Request Sewer Fund

Board to Ask $65,000 From U.S. to Study County Problem

The board of supervisors has approved a request of $65,000 from the federal government to start a study of sanitary sewers for Southwest Oakland County.

The board of public works, governing body of the department of public works, was authorized yesterday to make the request to the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Chicago.

It is another step of the department to map out master plans of sewers for the county.

The proposed study would cover the Huron River basin and the remainder of the Rouge River basin, R. J. Alexander, DPW director, said.

* * *

He said he expected to hear within 60 days whether the funds will be approved.

Supervisors yesterday also approved setting charge of a dollar per 1,000 cubic feet for sewage disposal for community sewer lines maintained and operated solely by the DPW. The board of public works asked creation of the rate.

Oak Park Firm Sues Union for $1.5 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The Dura Corp. of Oak Park sued Local 626 of the Allied Industrial Workers Union, AFL-CIO, for $1.5 million.

The suit, filed in federal court Tuesday, charges that the local authorized a strike against Dura's Ypsilanti plant before using regular procedures outlined in the contract between the company and the local.

J. Thomas Smith, president of the firm, said 350 men walked off the job Friday in a dispute over the layoff of a material handler.

The plant makes auto convertible tops.

Carl Caldwell, chairman of the local's bargaining committee, said the strike was over contract interpretation.

The suit was filed under the Taft-Hartley Act, seeking damages for loss of profits, business and production and injury to customer relations.

Fire Damages House on Thornville Road

METAMORA—A blaze set off by sparks from a defective chimney did an estimated $1,000 damage to a frame home about four miles southeast of here early today, according to Lapeer County sheriff's deputies.

Deputy James A. O'Neill reported that the fire caused damage to the roof and gable of the 5-room frame home at 4519 Thornville Road, owned by George Shadow of Detroit.

O'Neill said the Metamora Fire Department had the blaze under control in about half an hour. The only occupant of the home is Jess Warren who rents the house from Chadow, according to the deputy.

Spot 3 Russian Missile-Tracking Ships in Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia has deployed three missile-tracking ships in the Pacific in a move that may indicate some new space spectacular is in the works, the Navy reported today.

The ships appeared to be bearing down on an area in the Pacific, 1,050 miles southwest of Oahu, Hawaii, where previous Russian missiles have been fired.

The Navy said that late Tuesday the three ships were in a large triangular ocean area centered 1,200 miles west of Oahu. The nearest ship was 400 miles west of Midway Island.

On their present course and at the 10-knot speed they are making, the Navy said the ships should reach the previous impact area by Saturday.

The area consists of 44,800 square miles.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. I am planning to raise guppies but I can't seem to keep the babies alive. Is there a special food I should give them? Marian Haines, Emerson, N. J.

A. It is regretable, but the brilliant-hued guppie is something of a cannibal. The parent fish have the unfortunate habit of eating their offspring. That is probably why you have experienced difficulty in keeping the little ones alive.

* * *

What you should do is remove the father a few days before the mother is to give birth. Put the mother in a breeding trap or a tank heavily planted with bushy vegetation. This allows the youngsters to escape.

Once the little fish have grown for five or six days, they become too big to be swallowed by the parent fish. Since the female guppy will give birth to 50 to 90 offspring a month, it is the ideal choice for a beginner interested in raising fish.

Age Conference Split on Health Insurance Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—An apparent stalemate on how the health needs of older people should be financed cropped up today at the White House Conference on Aging.

One section of the conference voted 190-99 to ask Congress and President-Elect John F. Kennedy to push for immediate passage of a Social Security health insurance plan for the aged.

* * *

Another section voted 165-122 against the Social Security approach, which it called "unnecessary and undesirable." It favored retaining the present limited legislation passed by Congress last year to aid needy older people.

Apparently, both views will become a part of a final report from the conference which will be submitted to Kennedy and Congress.

Roa's Son Revealed as Ad's Backer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cuban physician who helped organize the Fair Play for Cuba Committee told Senate investigators Tuesday most of the money for an advertisement favorable to the Fidel Castro regime came from the son of Cuba's foreign minister.

Dr. Charles A. Santos Buch, assistant pathologist at the New York hospital of Cornell Medical School, testified at a hearing before the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Internal Security.

He said a full page ad inserted in the New York Times cost $4,600 or $4,700 and that a campaign to finance the advertisement was carried out "among New York intellectuals."

"How much did you raise to pay for the ad?" asked Jay Sourwine, committee counsel.

"About $1,100."

"Where did you get the rest?"

"Raulito Roa."

"Identify him."

"He is one of the permanent delegates of Cuba to the United Nations."

"Is he a son of Cuba's foreign minister, Dr. Raul Roa?"

"Yes sir."

Buch said he was an original booster for the Castro revolution and was "one of the organizers and founders" of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

Some American students have been visiting in Cuba under committee sponsorship.

In a statement in Havana they criticized the Senate subcommittee for its announced intention of investigating the Fair Play group.

Land Near Airport Goes to University

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two large parcels of surplus federal property in Michigan, embracing 156 acres and 38 buildings, soon will be turned over to the University of Michigan, Rep. George Meader, R-Mich., said Tuesday.

Meader said he had been informed by the General Services Administration that it has authorized transfer to the two tracts — known as the 30th air division property and the Packard property — to the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

He in turn will transfer the property to the university for use in scientific and educational projects.

Meader said he understood the property would be transferred at no cost to the university.

The two tracts adjoin the east side of Willow Run Airport near Detroit. The university now operates the airport.

NINE DAYS TO GO — Workmen today continue construction of inaugural stands in front of the Capitol, just nine days before the event Jan. 20. John F. Kennedy will take the oath of office as president from the columned, covered stand directly in front of the building's main entrance. Photographers will record the event from the elevated stand at right. Scaffold below the flag and at upper center is being used in final work on the extended new front of the Capitol.

New Supervisor Is Introduced

He's Louis A. Demute; Board Membership Up to 85 After Census

County supervisors yesterday met the newest addition to the board of supervisors, since its expansion to 85 members due to the 1960 census.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board, introduced Louis A. Demute, 305 Lexington St., Royal Oak. Demute is a real estate broker.

The board's old membership of 83 jumped by two because of the law passed by the 1960 legislature creating a new population formula for the apportionments of city supervisors. Oakland pushed for the new law, realizing it would have a sharp climb in population since the 1950 census.

With the latest census certified, the cities of Royal Oak, Madison Heights, and Southfield each gain one more supervisor, while Ferndale must drop one of its present five.

Only Royal Oak has acted so far.

Pontiac was not affected by the new formula.

Townships are allotted only one supervisor each, regardless of population.

Welfare Loss $50,000, Reports Pontiac General

Losses on indigent patients zoomed upward again at Pontiac General Hospital last year, the hospital said today in a report that it carried almost three-fifths of the Oakland County welfare load.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, predicted today that when final accounts are finished next week the losses will top the $50,000 mark.

* * *

Through stringent controls on admissions and long negotiation with the Oakland County Board of Social Welfare on rates, the hospital had brought losses down to about $42,000 in 1959, compared with a high of $75,000 the previous year.

Losses reflect the difference between county ceilings on charges to welfare patients and what the hospital considers the actual cost of treatment.

The average daily cost per patient at the hospital is set by Michigan Hospital Service at $39.95. When 1960 began, the county ceiling was $36.25, but a new contract July 1 raised it to $38.

* * *

Euler said that of 1,699 county patients treated in Oakland County hospitals last year, 1,001 of them were admitted to Pontiac General, or nearly 59 per cent of the total.

* * *

William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak admitted 302, according to Euler's figures; St. Joseph Mercy Hospital 154 and Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital eight.

* * *

St. Joseph carried a higher proportion of indigent patients in previous years. But with withdrawal of State Department of Health approval of the hospital last year on grounds of overcrowding, St. Joseph became ineligible for reimbursements from the county and was left on its own as far as welfare patients were concerned.

Euler cited the St. Joseph situation as the main reason for the increased burden at Pontiac General.

"The statistics again point up the fact that we carry the bulk of the indigent patient load of the county, despite the fact that we have no public or private subsidies to cover our losses," Euler said.

* * *

Claiming the hospital was a "dumping ground" for indigent patients from South Oakland County, the board of trustees in 1959 ordered the hospital administration to refuse indigent patients from elsewhere than the Pontiac area, except in emergencies.

Hollow auto crankshafts made of ductile iron are about 40 per cent lighter than those made of forged steel.

Five Area Folk Active on Cultural Commission

Area residents appointed to the steering committee of the newly formed Michigan Cultural Commission are Mrs. Walter P. Reuther (center) of Rochester and Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt of Birmingham. They chat with their national adviser, choreographer Agnes DeMille, following the commission's second meeting Tuesday. Mrs. Reuther is a member of the commission's dance committee and Mrs. Roosevelt serves on the music committee.

Five area residents have been appointed to the steering committee of the newly formed Michigan Cultural Commission.

Bloomfield Hills members include Henry Scripps Booth, Robert Hatt and Mrs. Aline Saarinen. Others are Mrs. Walter P. Reuther of Rochester and Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

As members of a 10-man committee chosen by the commission they will explore policy problems relating to strengthening cultural activities of Michigan's citizens. They will seek broader participation by the people in affairs of their cultural institutions.

★ ★ ★

Since its inception last month, the commission, the only one of its kind in the nation, has been diligently pursuing new ways to enrich the state's cultural life.

Under the chairmanship of William Birenbaum, assistant vice president of Wayne State University and director of Detroit Adventure, some 60 commissioners met Tuesday at Ford Museum with two consulting commissioners, choreographer Agnes DeMille and Lloyd Goodrich, director of New York's Whitney Museum of Art. Along with Jose Ferrer, film producer and actor, and composer Aaron Copland they will serve in an advisory capacity in statewide surveys by committees of the commission.

Honorary consul George Bashara (second from right) representing Lebanon addressed students and faculty Tuesday at MSUO on "America's Stake in the Middle East." With him for the second consular talk of the university's International Festival were (from left) Mrs. George I. Goodwin of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Bashara and Mrs. Genevieve Maxwell, journalist with the Daily Star of Beirut. Mr. Bashara considered the strategic location of the Middle East, its oil supplies, and our need for the friendship of its people to be our country's stake in that part of the world.

Beware of Red 'Olives'

United States foreign policy "must not be gauged to U.S. domestic politics," George Bashara Sr., consul of Lebanon at Detroit, declared yesterday.

"Nor must the U.S. be fooled by any olive branch that goes out from Peiping or Moscow," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bashara, a Detroit attorney, spoke before an audience of students and faculty at Michigan State University Oakland. His talk was one of a series by foreign consuls in connection with MSUO's International Festival.

Stressing the U.S. stake in the Middle East, Bashara said:

"We cannot overemphasize the fact that the very existence of the United States hinges on the struggle between the free and the slave worlds."

The U.S. must be concerned with the Middle East "because of its strategic position and its oil reserves"—70 per cent of the world's total, he said.

Sitting on parts of four continents, the Middle East has been marked by every conqueror as the prime area which must be controlled in order to win the world," he said.

★ ★ ★

In an earlier speech, Norman Dancker, German counsul at Detroit, said the German film industry is suffering from the political division of the country and Berlin.

Dancker said films produced in the West German Republic are not allowed into the Communist-controlled sectors.

As a result, he said, the German audience is diminished by more than half.

Daughter Should Be Very Proud

By The Emily Post Institute

QUESTION: I have a number of exquisite handmade banquet cloths with matching napkins of the finest linen which were made to order. These were my mother's and have her initials on them. I have offered them to my daughter who is now engaged and she and her fiance would like to have them.

★ ★ ★

The only question is whether the initials, which are not those of my daughter, will make any difference. My opinion is that heirlooms, antiques, etc., are valued by people who appreciate the ownership of such things and no excuses need be made when using them. Instead, they should be used with pride. May I have your opinion on this?

ANSWER: You are absolutely right and your daughter should be very proud to have such fine linen marked with her grandmother's initials.

★ ★ ★

QUESTION: I received a birthday card from a friend this morning and enclosed in the card was a single handkerchief. I would like to know if it is necessary to write a thank-you note for it?

ANSWER: One should always thank the donor of a gift whether it be valuable or inexpensive.

Abby Warns Barmaid:

You'd Better Give Up!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I work in a tavern and have met lots of men. The one I love I met here four years ago.

ABBY

He says I am the only girl he's ever loved and if it weren't for his children and his religion he would get divorced and marry me.

His wife is a nagger and doesn't appreciate anything he does for her. He spends almost every night with me.

How dumb can she be not to catch on? She keeps having one baby after another just to hold him. How can I get her to give up? Print this, she might take the hint.

STANDING PAT

DEAR STANDING: How dumb can YOU be? You're not taking the hint yourself. Your boy friend's wife isn't having all those babies without some help from her husband. Obviously she has no intentions of giving up. Why don't you?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My wife has needed to go on a diet for years but she kept putting it off. Suddenly she announced that she and a man who works with her are going to have a weight-losing contest.

Whoever loses the most weight in six weeks has to take the other one out for a steak dinner. Just the two of them.

I trust my wife but I don't like the idea of her going out and having a good time with another man.

His wife is all for it because she wants him to lose weight. I'm glad my wife is finally going to diet but I don't like the way she's going about it.

Am I making something out of nothing? Or should I go along with it and wish them luck?

JEALOUS HEART

★ ★ ★

DEAR JEALOUS: It sounds like a good-humored, wholesome contest with a healthy objective. Go along with them and wish them luck—and may the biggest loser win!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: If the general public could see the thousands upon thousands of important letters, expensive greeting cards, announcements of all kinds, and priceless snapshots that are being fed into our incinerators every day, they'd soon realize that anything worth mailing is worth a legible return address.

Soprano and Cellist Captivate Group

Musicale Program 'Outstanding'

By CHRIS GAENSBAUER

Roma Butler Riddell completely captivated the audience of Tuesday Musicale members who heard her sing at the meeting in Grace Lutheran Church fellowship hall on Tuesday afternoon.

This newcomer to the Detroit scene is a polished artist with a fine lyric soprano voice. Phrases such as "warm personality," "delightful appearance," "good diction," "fine musical sense," and "great dramatic ability" came to mind while listening to her.

The voice, although not big in volume, was capable of penetrating climaxes and was always expertly controlled.

The most compelling number was probably the closing one, Magda's Aria from Menotti's opera "The Consul." This demanding composition was sung with great variety of vocal timbre and emotional impact and ended with a soaring climax that thrilled the audience.

Equally well received were the German lieder and the group of Creole-French folk songs so artistically sung by Miss Riddell.

Also with the French songs was the much loved aria, "Il est doux, Il est bon," from Massenet's opera "Herodiade" to which Miss Riddell brought a sweet and tender lyricism.

Taking second spot on the program only in length of performed numbers was Mary Lee Eliason, cellist member of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, and well known in this area for her excellent musicianship.

* * *

Her firm technical control and deep mellow tone was apparent in the slow movements of the "Vivaldi Sonata" with which she opened her one group. Contrasting with the classical purity of the Vivaldi was Mendelssohn's "Midnight" which followed. This is a frankly romantic work, and Mrs. Eliason's effective interpretation made it a pleasing one to the listeners.

* * *

The final number by the cellist was a "Christmas Plantation Song" by Gardner Reade. This had the pathos and appeal of a sung spiritual and sounded disarmingly simple while testing the performer's ability with sections of double and occasional triple stops. The effect of saccharin sweetness was dissipated by clusters of very dissonant chords in the piano accompaniment.

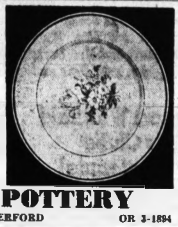

Unobtrusive but expert piano accompaniments were played for Miss Riddell by Lawrence LaGore, head of the piano department at the Detroit Conservatory of Music. The excellent accompaniments for Mrs. Eliason were played by Mary Wignall who is a member of Tuesday Musicale, known for her fine soprano voice.

Members were greeted at the door by Mrs. A. A. Heintz and Mrs. W. E. Rorabough. Mrs. C. W. Buck and Mrs. M. L. Buck arranged the centerpiece for the tea table at which Mrs. J. A. Rammes and Mrs. E. H. Voelker presided.

Serving on the social committee were Mrs. Floyd Compton, chairman, with Mrs. E. V. Russell as cochairman. Assisting were Mrs. George Shearer, Mrs. Frank Syron, Mrs. Webster Francis, Mrs. J. L. Heley, Mrs. Charles Harmon and Mrs. Ralph Beebe.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"Is there some magic stitch that I can use so the end of the facing doesn't show where I have hand sewn it to my dress?"

Mrs. I.G.H.

The lower end of the facing should NOT be hand stitched to your dress. If you have under-stitched your facing at the neck-line, (this is really very important), the facing will never creep up at the neckline. This also means that it will not have to be completely sewed down around the lower edge. Simply tack the lower edge of the facings to any of your seams, such as shoulder seams, etc. This will sufficiently hold the facing in place. Those tiny stitches you refer to will only give your garment a "home-made" look.

★ ★ ★

"Dear Eunice,

"I thought perhaps your fans would like to know how I save your columns. I cut each question apart and paste them onto a small file card. These are placed in an old recipe file and I mark the divider cards COLLARS, SLEEVES, HEMS, etc. In this way, your helpful hints are at my finger tips when I need them and I don't have to go through a stack of columns."

Your Sewing Fan.

★ ★ ★

"Dear Eunice,

"Please tell me the difference between a "slotted seam" and a "welt" seam. I have seen both terms usd in describing ready-made clothes.

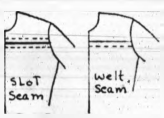

Mrs. G.J.

These are both decorative seam finishes. A slotted seam is a part of the seam left open and either matching or contrasting fabric is placed under this opening.

A welt seam is a seam that has been top stitched from the right side of your garment, any desired distance from the seamline.

When making either of these decorative seams, allow extra width to your seam when cutting the garment out. Your seams should be about 1" wide in these areas.

SLOT SEAM: The part of the seam that you desire to have this decorative detail should be machine basted with the largest stitch of your machine. Press this seam open and place a 1½" strip of the same fabric or contrasting fabric under this area. From the right side of your garment, machine stitch ¼" to ½" on each side of the seam. This could also be hand-picked if desired. Now remove the machine basting and you will have a very attractive detail.

WELT SEAM: Machine stitch on the regular seam line. Press both edges of your seam in one direction. Now machine stitch from the right side of your garment, any distance from the seamline that is desired. This is usually ⅝" to ¾" from the seamline.

★ ★ ★

"Dear Eunice,

"I would like to sew a leather jacket but am not sure of how to go about it. I would appreciate any help you could give. Thank you."

Miss J.S.

In this limited space, I can only give you a few important pointers. Be sure of the fit before you begin, your seams can be taken in but cannot be let out without leaving permanent stitching marks. Do not use pins for stitching, use chalk.

Leather can be cut in any direction, it has no straight or bias. Use an average length stitch and a slightly larger machine needle. For top stitching, use a smaller length stitch. Incidentally, top stitching will keep the seams flat and is also an attractive detail.

Ease leather into your machine slowly. Measure ends and watch both pieces constantly, being careful not to stretch either one. Stitch with seam tape on top, pulling tape a little tighter. Clip tape after stitching to avoid pulling. Use rubber cement to anchor the fronts and the hem. Always use a firm, woven type interfacing.

To press leather, lay brown paper on the right side of the leather and press with a warm iron. You may also press on the wrong side of the leather with a warm iron and no paper. Hope these few tips will help you with your jacket.

Leather is very popular today and can be used in many attractive ways. Pocket welts on tweeds, buttonholes and buttons, belts and the front of jackets can be leather to compliment your wool fabric.

Please send all questions to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Missing the Boat

If you have a very slender neck, skip the boat neckline even though it's being shown this year. It's a difficult neckline for many women.

In Just Eight Weeks

You CAN Look Younger!

This girl is doing a Marathon exercise for the waist. From this position drag hands up leg as you raise trunk and pull back to right. Continue bending and pulling back.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You can look from five to 10 years younger eight weeks from now! This is no idle fancy of mine. I have seen it happen over and over again in my classes and know it to be true because of hundreds of letters from readers who join my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon each year.

Whenever you see a beautiful woman, one who remains lovely as she grows older, you can be sure that she has taken advantage of all we know today about nutrition, exercise, and skin and hair care.

Today a well-proportioned figure, good posture, a clear complexion, good grooming, and verve which comes from good health and selfconfidence, add up to beauty.

These are within the reach of any woman who wants them enough to work for them.

IN EIGHT WEEKS

The wonderful thing is that just eight short weeks can make such a difference! Let me give those of you who are joining my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon a few hints.

Measure and weigh yourself only at the end of each week. The pounds do not drop off day by day. You may not lose for a few days and find that you have lost two or three pounds on the next day. It is discouraging to weigh every day and it means nothing.

Also, do not be disheartened if you lose successfully for a while and then come to a standstill. This is a normal part of a reducing period of any length. Just keep on counting the calories, and soon the pounds again will begin to drop away.

Start out very slowly with your exercises if you have not been doing any. Otherwise, your muscles will become so sore that you will not continue them. Anyway, you should build up gradually for the sake of your heart and your muscles.

★ ★ ★

If you wish to join many other women who are going to have fun seeing how much they can improve themselves with my help, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

PEP YOU UP SCHEDULE

January is a long and dreary month . . . but an excellent one in which to try out new and interesting ideas on self improvement. Retain your youthful appearance by retaining a young attitude.

Three important factors are: 1. ENERGY. You must eat correctly. Neither under or overeat and consider food value.

2. EXERCISE. Pick any form of recreation you enjoy and stick with it.

3. PROPER REST AND MENTAL ATTITUDE. Discipline yourself on late hours and your mental and emotional outlook.

Dirt Gardeners Discuss Birds

The Dirt Gardeners made dried flower arrangements at Tuesday's meeting in Adah Shelly Library.

Mrs. Rose Thomas talked about the winter feeding of birds, and Mrs. Vivian Tubbs showed slides on how to attract birds to the garden.

Hostesses were Mrs. Chester Dlugoszewski and Mrs. Robert Playter.

Cavity Catcher

(NEA) — Make a practice of visiting your dentist once every six months. Although you can do a good deal to protect your teeth against decay by careful brushing and proper diet, you'll never win the fight without the help of your dentist. Only he can track down cavities while they're still small and no serious threat.

Check for Effect

(NEA) — Jewelery is meant to accent your ensemble. Don't pin it on any-old-way. Study its effect in the mirror before sallying forth.

Ironing Treated

NEW YORK (UPI) — To remove a wrinkle in a resin-treated fabric first steam iron the area to flatten and heat the material. Then, apply vinegar with a medicine dropper to the wrinkle while the cloth is still hot.

The fabric should be left to absorb the acid for a minute or two. Then rub the iron over the area until the material is dry. The directions come from Gerda Petersen, extension clothing specialist at the University of Nebraska.

Easy to Care for

(UPI) — You'll see many fancy fabrics in the new party dresses for little girls. There are washable velveteens in deep rich tones plus new dacron organza, and batistes in ice cream pastels. Despite their deceptively fragile appearance, these pale sheers couldn't be easier to keep clean and ready to wear. Frequent laundering in soap or detergent suds, plus minimum ironing, is all that's needed.

Daughters Call...Lyndon Dashes

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The phone rang raucously on the busiest desk at Capitol Hill. The big, rangy Texan ignored it as long as possible, and then reached for its clamorous throat. The call must be important, or it could never have cleared his large and efficient staff.

"Daddy," sighed a soft voice at the other end of the wire, "you'll just have to come and help me. I've found the most heavenly suit, but it might be just a little too sophisticated for me."

★ ★ ★

Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson grinned and began to relax. His desk pad was crowded with appointments and reminders, but here was a challenge that obviously called for the kind of expert judgment that only a man like himself could provide.

★ ★ ★

Buzzing for his confidential secretary, he explained the crisis and headed for a Washington department store. Thirteen-year-old Lucy Baines and her 16-year-old sister, Lynda Bird, were eagerly awaiting their father's arrival in the ready-to-wear department.

This was the first time they had summoned their father alone —without mother along—to pass judgment on their feminine purchases. They knew by experience, however, that when Lady Bird Johnson met her husband at apparel shops, he invariably had her buy more than she had in mind.

MOM WAS SICK

This time they dared to call because their mother was sick in bed with a virus. Lyndon, flattered to be consulted on such a weighty matter by the junior misses in his family, came through with flying colors.

The four-piece blue wool suit, complete with matching sport coat, was exactly right for his younger teen-ager, be judiciously decided.

★ ★ ★

"Why, it wasn't too sophisticated at all," he recalled with fatherly pride. "Lucy is the only one in our family with blue eyes, so the suit looked like it was just made for her."

★ ★ ★

Second lady-to-be Lady Bird, more adept than Lyndon at seeing through feminine wiles, is appropriately suspicious of the lure that Lucy Baines offered her father, to get him to the store.

"I just can't get over Lucy worrying about anything in the world being too sophisticated for her," she mused ruefully. "She's been bull-dozing me for too long about ushing ahead too fast, and trying to get into clothes more grown up than she is."

HE BUYS MORE

The girls were right about hitting other pay dirt with father in tow. After okaying the purchase of Lucy's blue suit, the millionaire Texan agreed to buy Lynda a beige one of similar design. He also bought them something else, but let their mother tell it.

"He filled a need that I should have performed for them a long time ago," the winsome lady drawled. "The poor little souls didn't have anything decent to cover their backs in the way of a bathrobe, so Lyndon bought them spectacular gold-colored ones that match."

★ ★ ★

The mother and two daughters wasted no time in purchasing their inaugural ball gowns while they were in Texas for the Christmas holidays. They went together to Nieman-Marcus in Dallas, and tried on quantities of eye-stoppers before settling on the ones they will unveil next week.

★ ★ ★

And what is Lady Bird doing in this last stretch before becoming second lady? In the quaint old-fashioned prose that is her trademark, she confided:

"I'm trying to draw together all the threads of my life, and making sure that all my kin in and Alabama cousins are invited to the inauguration. I keep having dreams that I might forget my shoes, or some of my oldest and dearest friends."

New York leads the nation in buckwheat production.

About 30 million people migrated from their homes in search of economic and political security from 1945-60, it is estimated now by the Population Reference Bureau.

Must Haul or Bawl

Give Mount Snow Job

IRON MOUNTAIN (UPI) — Everybody talks about the weather, but in Iron Mountain they're doing something about it.

★ ★ ★

This Upper Peninsula community, whose economy counts heavily on the business that comes here with skiing enthusiasts, normally has at this time of year about 20 inches of snow on the ground.

Today it has less than one inch, and in the first 10 days of January the snowfall has totaled only .13 of an inch.

★ ★ ★

The lack of snow on the Pine Mountain ski area was cutting heavily into the ski business.

Tuesday, trucks began hauling snow from a nearby lake and packing it on to one 3,500-foot long ski run on Pine Mountain.

★ ★ ★

More than 300 truckloads of snow will be required, but the community hopes the huge task will bring at least a few skiers to town, until the weather gets back to normal and covers the whole mountain white again.

Sterling Twp. Girl Is Hothouse Rhubarb Queen

Carol Keeler, 17, Tops 11 Others

To Reign Over Annual Utica Festival Feb. 11; Starts Her Appearances

By LEE WINBORN
Suburban Editor

UTICA — "I never dreamed it would be me," breathed pretty, brunet Carol Keeler, 17, when her name was announced last night as Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Queen.

A senior at Utica Community High School, Carol won the coveted crown over 11 other attractive Macomb and Oakland county contestants.

The competition was held in the local high school auditorium.

The new queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kraft of 5875 Creek Drive, Sterling Township. She was 1960 Homecoming Queen at Utica High School.

Named first maid of honor was Pat Avereyn, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Avereyn of 14249 27-Mile Road, Washington. She is a senior at St. Augustine High School, Richmond, and has dark brown hair and hazel eyes.

Julia Hellebuyck, 18, was chosen second maid of honor. Also a senior at Utica Community High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hellebuyck of 36000 24-Mile Road, Macomb Township.

THE SEQUENCE:

The 12 queen candidates first met the judges informally at a dinner at Trinity Lutheran Church before going to the high school.

They first appeared on stage there in street dress for interviews by Emcee Patricia McRath, owner of Alicia's Bridal Salon, Pontiac.

Next the contestants returned on stage individually to display their talent, which ranged from a rhubarb pie-baking demonstration to a modern jazz dance number.

The new queen modeled a dress and reversible jerkin she had made herself, showing how she could adapt it for casual or more formal wear.

The first maid of honor gave the declamation, "I Speak for Democracy." The second maid sang "Danny Boy."

Before the three judges arrived at their decision the girls came back on stage in formal attire for a final screening.

The judges were Dale Bottorff of Clair Martin Flowers, Detroit; Don Milnar of George's Hairdressers, Utica; and Richard Lachowski of General Motors Technical Center, Warren.

TO REIGN AT FETE

The queen will reign over the sixth annual Rhubarb Festival Feb. 11 at Utica Community High school. The event is sponsored jointly by the Utica Rotary Club and the Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Growers' Association.

Already Carol has begun her busy round of activities planned to publicize the forthcoming festival. She made a radio appearance early today, and tonight will be among the nine queens attending the annual legislators' dinner at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center.

OTHERS NAMED

Other contestants for the rhubarb queen title, in addition to the three top winners, included Geraldine Meershaert, 17 of Mount Clemens; Pat Borowy, 19, of Warren; Cynthia Chaffee, 17, of New Haven; Elaine Staugh, 18, of Utica; Patricia Nightingale, 20 of Shelby Township and Mary Drogosh, 18, of Rochester.

Also Michalene Brys, 20, and Sherri Reinhardt, 18, both of Mount Clemens; and Pat Thompson, 17, of New Haven.

The queen was sponsored by the Utica Rotary Club and the two maids by the Marketeer Group. Charles Hanlon was contest chairman.

Woman Gets 2 Oxford Posts

Mrs. Patricia Tyrrell Named to Village Clerk and Treasurer Offices

OXFORD — Mrs. Patricia Tyrrell, who has served as deputy clerk here for the past two years, last night was named to the positions of village clerk and treasurer by the Oxford council.

* * *

The appointment will fill two vacancies created by the resignation of Village Manager Ralph W. Precious, 31, who will leave here April 21 to take up a new post as city manager of St. Johns.

Mrs. Tyrrell, 26, said no salary was set for her dual position as yet. She reported that the posts of manager and assessor also are likely to be combined.

Three applications for the village manager's job were received last night and more are expected by the Jan. 24 meeting.

* * *

Mrs. Tyrrell said the council probably will start screening candidates for the vacancy at its Feb. 14 session.

Unlike many neighboring communities, the positions of manager, clerk, treasurer and assessor are appointive offices in Oxford.

Before being employed by the village, Mrs. Tyrrell worked at a certified public accountant's office in Birmingham. She lives at 30 W. Burdick St.

County Men Involved in Fraud Trial

Ten men, three from Oakland County, have been ordered to stand trial in Detroit's Recorder's Court on charges of fraud and false advertising in the sale of allegedly used carpeting.

* * *

Judge Joseph Gillis issued the order. The men had appeared before Gillis for preliminary examination.

The Wayne County prosecutor charges that 500 carpet buyers were cheated out of a half million dollars between January 1957 and July 1960.

The buyers contend that the quality of the carpeting was misrepresented.

* * *

The defendants were associated with firms at 11711 Woodward Ave. which used the names of Tri-State Carpet Wholesale Distributing Co., Wear Ever Carpet Co., State-Wide Carpet Co. and Royce Management Co.

The three Oakland County men are Earl Scrap of 21011 Ridgedale St., Oak Park; Ralph Rose of 23621 Tessmer St., Madison Heights and Chris Mullay of 29750 Nine Mile Road, Farmington.

Scrap has been released on $1,000 bond and Rose and Mullay on $500 bonds.

The other defendants have been released on $1,000 and $500 bonds.

Each of two charges carry a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $2,000 in fines.

Okay Bank Purchase of Milford Parking Lot

MILFORD — Free parking for downtown shoppers using the municipal lot is virtually assured with the acceptance by the Village Council of a proposal made by the Community National Bank.

The bank proposed several weeks ago to purchase the 116-car lot for the amount needed to retire the bonds used to construct the facility four years ago. It then would lease it back to the village for $1 a year.

There still is a $54,000 balance on the original $65,000 bond issue used to finance construction. The village already has paid off about $10,000 of the issue.

In offering to purchase the parking lot, Wayne Deegate, manager of the Community National Bank here, told the council, "There are no strings attached."

He said the offer was made to the village in order to guarantee free parking to shoppers.

'AIM IS SERVICE'

"The village has a parking problem and the bank is taking the opportunity to remedy it," he explained. "Our only aim at the bank is to do the village a community service."

On learning of the council's acceptance of the offer yesterday, Deegate said he would notify bank officials immediately. He said the next step would be to have legal papers drawn up for the transaction.

Under the proposed agreement the village would lease the parking lot for five years with an option to renew for an additional five years. This would allow the village to maintain and police the facility.

* * *

The Milford Chamber of Commerce currently is renting the lot from the village for approximately $165 a month in order to provide free parking for shoppers.

When the bank made its proposal to the council, the Chamber of Commerce was petitioning merchants to participate in a program to rent all the downtown parking spaces.

Archie Noon, president of the local business organization, said merchants hope the council will abandon metered parking on downtown streets with the acceptance of the bank's proposal.

However, the council has yet to take action on the Chamber of Commerce suggestion.

Group to Study School System

Walled Lake to Set Up Citizens Unit of 60 to 65 Next Month

WALLED LAKE — A citizen group to study the future needs of the Walled Lake school system will be established next month, School Supt. Clifford H. Smart said today.

Smart said he has been directed by the board of education to form a committee to investigate the needs of the school district over a five-year period.

Formation of the study group is not expected to begin until after Jan. 30 when the school board holds a special election. Voters will be asked that time to renew a four-mill operating tax.

The proposed citizens committee will be made up of members of active organizations in the area, Smart explained. Committee members will be nominated for positions by their own clubs.

The superintendent said the study group will have 60 to 65 persons on various subcommittees studying the problems associated with schools.

Projected enrollment figures indicate that additional school facilities will be needed by the fall of 1962.

The current student population in the school district is 6,340 and is anticipated to increase by 500 students by September 1962.

While the increase is expected to be spread throughout all grades in the system, the largest growth will come from the elementary and high school levels, Smart pointed out.

Facilities for junior high school students will be adequate for a number of years, Smart said.

5 Former Secretaries to Answer MSU Quiz

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University officials say questions on farm policy, directed at the five former secretaries of agriculture appearing during the annual MSU Farmers' Week, have started pouring in.

The five, Henry A. Wallace, Claude R. Wickard, Clinton P. Anderson, Charles F. Brannan and Ezra Taft Benson (who retires this month) will speak briefly here Feb. 1.

Believes Arson Caused Fire in W. Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A fire that destroyed a vacant house here early this morning will be investigated by the state fire marshal.

West Bloomfield Township Fire Chief Herbert Morgan said the fire marshal has been contacted since he believes the fire was the work of an arsonist.

The eight-room, frame house at the corner of Pontiac Trail and Green Lake Road is less than two miles from where another vacant house in Commerce Township was destroyed by fire last week.

Arson is blamed for that fire and also is being investigated by the state department.

Morgan said the house that was destroyed today has been vacant for about six years and was owned by Russell Dragsdorf of 7265 Pontiac Trail, West Bloomfield Township.

Firemen were called to the scene shortly before 5 a.m. It took more than two hours to control the blaze.

Mrs. Frances Covert Won't Run

Election Tradition to End in Avon Twp.

By DON FERMOYLE

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residents of the township are accustomed to seeing the name of Mrs. Frances O. Covert on election ballots here every two years. And they're just as used to voting for her.

But Mrs. Covert, who has never lost an election in 32 years as a public official, will not be running for re-election to her present post as Avon Township clerk in the Feb. 20 primary.

A small, alert woman who was something of a reluctant candidate when she first launched her political career in 1928, Mrs. Covert says she is stepping aside this year to give younger people the opportunity to take over the office.

It was over 32 years ago that Mrs. Covert, then a single woman who kept house for her father, was asked to run for the post of village treasurer in Rochester.

She at first refused to enter public life when village officials asked her. But she later changed her mind, and she has held a full-time job ever since.

In 1930, Mrs. Covert was elected township treasurer and two years later she won her bid for the position of clerk, an office she has filled ever since that time.

Although a former vice president of the Republican Women's Federation of Oakland County, Mrs. Covert makes no claims to being a politician.

"I'm a businesswoman," she said. "And I've enjoyed the opportunity this job has given me to meet people."

GROW UP TOGETHER

Mrs. Covert calls the Avon community "my township." It's understandable since she and the township grew up together. Her family home is only three doors away from the township hall at 427 Pine St.

When she first took office here, Avon Township had a population of only 6,961, which included the village's 3,354 residents.

"There were only 28 subdivisions when I first took office in the township," recalled Mrs. Covert. "Now there are 106."

She has seen the development of more services for residents, the addition of more full-time officials to handle these services and the growth of the township population to 21,377.

Mrs. Covert said the civic pride shown by citizens here is one of the things that pleases her most about her association with the township.

* * *

"There are more people interested in the community," she said. "One of the great changes here has been the development of boards and commissions which work with township officials."

"The men who work on these boards serve without pay. They have been a fine group of gentlemen. I have enjoyed the contacts I've made with the people I worked with over the years."

Always active in clubs and in her church, Mrs. Covert figures she will find plenty to keep her busy when she closes her old roll-top desk for the last time April 7.

The desk has been hers since it first came to the township hall in 1930. She doesn't know what will be done with it, but she has plenty of memories to take with her.

Most of them have been good ones, too.

MRS. FRANCES COVERT

Catholic Bishop Deported by Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —The expulsion of Haiti's leading Roman Catholic bishop, orders for the deportation of four other priests and closing of the church paper threaten a new crisis in President Francois Duvalier's relations with the Vatican.

* * *

The bishop was the second Catholic prelate deported in less than two months. Duvalier's government charged both were interfering in its efforts to root out Communist and pro-Castro students from the University of Haiti. But back of both cases was Duvalier's suspicion that the churchmen were friendly to his political foes.

Bishop Remy Augustin, 50, apostolic administrator, was put on a plane for Puerto Rico by police Tuesday night 14 hours after he had been taken from his bed and arrested. He was not allowed to take along even his false teeth.

In San Juan, Bishop Augustin denied any connection with any antigovernment group and said, "I don't know why I was arrested and deported."

* * *

The Haiti-born bishop had been running church affairs in this predominately Catholic Negro country since November, when Archbishop Francois Poirier, 56, was deported to his native France on charges he had given a $7,000 check to aid striking university students.

The archbishop denied the charges and the Vatican protested the "grave episode."

Police closed down the Catholic newspaper La Phalange and rounded up four other Catholic priests—Fathers Paul Bellec, vicar general of the archbishopric; Francois le Nir, its secretary-general; Jean Baptiste Bettebourg, rector of Port au Prince's largest Catholic high school, Saint Martial, and Emile Callec.

A government decree ordered the four priests deported.

UAL Would Drop 1 City With Merger

LANSING (UPI) — Five of the six cities served by Capital Airlines will receive the same service if a merger of Capital and United Airlines is approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board a United official said Tuesday.

* * *

Robert M. Ruddick, United vice president, said his firm planned to "fly it just as it is" if the proposed merger is approved.

Ruddick and two other United executives were here as part of a tour of cities now served by Capital.

Capital now serves Grand Rapids, Lansing, Saginaw-Midland-Bay City, Flint, Muskegon and Detroit. Detroit is the only Michigan city in which United and Capital service overlap.

Ruddick said service to Muskegon would probably be dropped if the merger is approved.

CAB Member Against Drinking Aboard Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John S. Bragdon, a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, said Tuesday "Air transportation would be safer" if the airlines were prohibited from serving alcoholic drinks to passengers.

Bragdon said he would vote for such a ban if the issue came before the five-man board, which regulates many aspects of commercial aviation.

Bragdon expressed his view in a dissent from a board order approving a voluntary airline industry agreement restricting service of drinks.

* * *

Under the agreement stewardesses may serve not more than four ounces of distilled spirits (two drinks) or 26 ounces of wine or 24 ounces of beer.

QUIET HELPER — Mary Pickford (right) "America's Sweetheart" of yesteryear's movies, now is 67 and a delegate from Los Angeles to the White House on Aging now meeting in Washington. Mrs. Mary Cleverly, assistant commissioner for housing of the elderly of the Public Housing Administration, greets Miss Pickford. The ex-actress has been studiously avoiding the limelight and concentrating on doing a good job for the aged

Mary Pickford Works for Better Care of Aged

By G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The Irish have a toast that goes: 'May the devil chase you every day of your life and never catch you.' I'm just trying to stay ahead of the devil."

The self-styled "wild Irishman" who said that is Mary Pickford, "America's sweetheart" of a bygone era and still pretty enough at 67 to recapture the title, hands down.

Miss Pickford is here as a delegate to the White House Conference on Aging and she came to work, not to see and be seen.

In one of Tuesday's discussion groups she sounded out other delegates on the idea of a central reference bureau in each city for elderly people.

WANTS CLEARING HOUSE

Her idea: In each city there would be one easy-to-remember, easy-to-dial telephone number where elderly people could call whenever they were in any sort of trouble.

"Each community needs a clearing house for information on housing, health, economics and entertainment," she said. "There are so many welfare organizations now that our senior citizens don't know which one to call when they're in trouble.

"A clearing house would eliminate a lot of red tape and it would insure that the people who are in trouble would be promptly helped."

Her idea, or some form of it, may be incorporated into the final recommendations of the conference.

Socialists Split in Belgian Strike

Leftists Reject Move Toward Peace by More Moderate Segment

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Left wing trade union leaders rejected a peace move by moderate Socialists today and ordered workers to carry on with their attempt to bring down the government with strikes.

The decision created a deep split in the Socialist party between the extremists who want to throw Premier Gaston Eyskens out of office and the moderates who are ready to dicker with the government.

Meeting under Deputy Secretary General Andre Renard at Liege, the regional Congress of the Socialist unions proclaimed continuation of its "standing order—total general strike."

The union leaders also called on their followers to abandon security measures in plants.

This would mean that blast furnaces and coke ovens would be cooled, mines would flood as water-pumping stopped and maintenance at gas and electric power plants would be halted.

The government already has put army guards at key industrial nerve centers to prevent such drastic measures.

State Justices Available

LANSING (AP) — State Supreme Court Justices John R. Dethmers and Harry F. Kelly, whose terms expire this year, said today they will be available for renomination at the Republican convention in Detroit Feb. 3-4.

Bosh, Says Vicki Benet

Frank Actress Hates Ways of Native Land

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Here's a French actress who has as much use for France as the Algerian rebels.

Vicki Benet, a well-rounded blonde who is as sexy as Gallic females are supposed to be, knocks everything about her native land including its fashions, women, weather, sanitation facilities and cabs.

She doesn't dig the old country.

"The French people have stifled themselves," she said. "They all have their hands out for tips. They've become stingy and lost the old joy of living they used to be famous for."

Recently returned from a visit to her family in Paris, Vicki was mistaken for an American tourist because of her clothes and hairdo.

"Everyone over there seems to hate Americans. I found out the hard way," Vicki added. "Because I was decently dressed I was mistaken for a tourist.

"French women used to be the best-dressed females in the world. Now they are pleased by the 'shabby look.' They all have copied Brigitte Bardot's sloppy hairdo and fashions. They look dirty."

Vicki, who has a featured role in Jerry Lewis' new picture, "The Ladies' Man," was just as harsh on French males.

"They have lost their good manners, and seem determined to scare off the tourist business. When my uncle gets in a taxi he is quick to tell the driver that he is a Frenchman and doesn't want a roundabout tour of the city to run up the bill.

"And the traffic is horrible, worse than the Hollywood Freeway at rush time," she said.

"I've spent most of the last 10 years in the United States where I've become accustomed to the wonderful cleanliness. I was appalled on my last visit to France by the sanitary conditions of the markets and restaurants.

"And I'll never again be able to get used to their coeducational bathrooms in public places.

"Speaking of public places, like the opera and theaters, I've never seen such filthy places. Everything is dirty and grimy. Even the great Louvre is in terrible shape and in need of soap and paint."

Her disenchantment with things French has led Vicki to lose all trace of her accent. But the look in her gray eyes still smacks of Gallic coquetry.

★ ★ ★

"I was born and raised in Paris, but I could never live there again. You never see French people smile any more, and perhaps they have good reason."

Starving Congo Refugees Prompt Appeal for Food

ROME (UPI) — Members of the food and agriculture organization (FAO) were summoned to an emergency conference today on means of feeding 150,000 starving refugees of tribal and political warfare in the Congo. FAO officials said 200 men, women and children are dying every day in the Baluba refugee area between Luluabourg and Bakwanga.

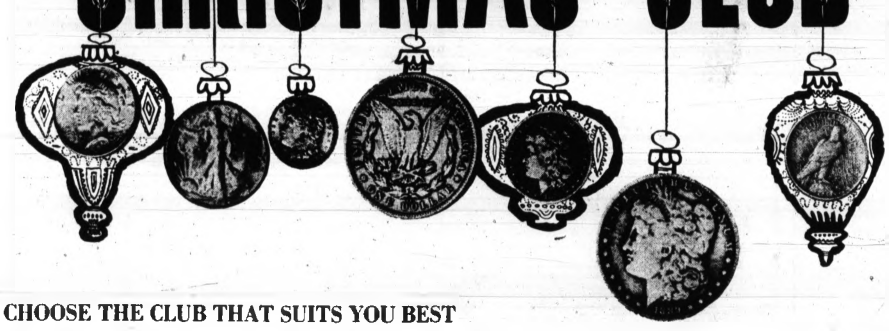

The United Nations agency appealed to member nations for $3 million in aid to start a massive food flow to the strife-torn African republic which has been in turmoil since last summer.

American consumers spend about 27 per cent of their disposable domestic budgets to buy food supplies.

Gentlemen:

We recently ran a full page, three color ad in the Pontiac Press on our Carlo Americana Home, which is located at Airport and Williams Lake Roads in Waterford Township.

I want to convey to you our appreciation for the excellent cooperation your staff afforded us in this promotion, and also to advise you that the response we got from this ad far exceeded our expectations. As closely as we can estimate, the ad drew approximately 1000 prospective home buyers the first weekend. Our sales have been excellent, and once again our faith has been reaffirmed in newspaper advertising. Unquestionably the usage of color in this ad greatly increased its impact.

Best wishes for the holiday season, and again sincerest thanks to you and your staff for the fine results you obtained for us.

Yours very truly,

Filibuster Vote Prospects Dim

Liberals Block Attempt to Refer the Dispute to Rules Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leadership move to sidetrack a fight over strengthening the Senate's anti-filibuster rule fueled fresh controversy today and left prospects for a vote in doubt.

A motion to refer the dispute to the Senate Rules Committee for study was offered late Tuesday by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana with the backing of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

But liberals of both parties rose in protest and Mansfield's attempt to obtain agreement to vote on the motion Friday was blocked.

Ever since the Senate met Jan. 3 it has been caught up in a dispute over whether to change its rules to make it easier to break a filibuster. It now takes a two-third majority of senators voting.

DOESN'T WANT FIGHT

Mansfield, in moving to refer the issue to the Rules Committee for hearings, said he wanted to avoid a long, disruptive fight at the start of the session that would delay action on President-elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program.

As chairman of the Rules Committee, he pledged to leave no stone unturned to bring back for action later in the session a measure to place a tighter curb on filibusters.

★ ★ ★

Leaders of a bipartisan group of 25 senators backing a proposal to permit debates to be limited by the vote of 51 senators, or a majority of the 100 members, protested this course.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., said that if Mansfield's motion were adopted, it would be "a black day for the Senate, the country, and particularly the leadership of the Democratic party."

Swainson Names 8 to Fill Vacant Posts

LANSING (UPI) — Eight names were sent to the Senate Tuesday by Gov. John B. Swainson to fill vacancies on state boards and councils.

The appointments were part of about 100 Swainson said he would make which required Senate confirmation.

★ ★ ★

They were:

Advisory Council of Tuberculosis Sanatoriums: Leon Fill, Huntington Woods; Winthrop N. Davey, Ann Arbor; Paul T. Chapman, Detroit and Andrew McCormick, Houghton.

State Board of Control for Vocational Education: Benjamin M. Rose, Wyandotte; Joseph McCusker, Detroit, and Mrs. Blanche Burgess, Colon.

New Air Disaster Theory

Did 'Ham' Trigger Crash?

NEW YORK (AP)—Did a ham radio operator unknowingly play a part in the Dec. 16 airliner collision over New York City?

The possibility was raised Tuesday at a Civil Aeronautics Board inquiry into the disaster which killed 134 persons.

★ ★ ★

Edward Lowe, a CAB air safety investigator, said it was possible that an amateur radio operator working near the Colts Neck, N.J., radio navigational transmitter may have interfered with the signal.

"This may be way out in left field," Lowe said outside the hearing room. "But this is a complete investigation and we want to leave no stone unturned.

TO ASK HELP

He said the CAB planned to ask the Federal Communications Commission for help in the inquiry.

The Colts Neck transmitter, near Red Bank, is one of three radio stations which pilots use to establish navigational fixes at the "Preston" holding area over New Jersey. The ill-fated United Air Lines DC8 jet was supposed to circle "Preston" while waiting for instructions to land at Idlewild Airport.

★ ★ ★

Instead, it shot past "Preston" at 504 m.p.h. and rammed into a Trans World Airlines four-engine Constellation, killing 128 in both planes and 6 on the ground in Brooklyn.

Six U.S. Ships Return From Patrol Off Laos

Chrysler Realigns Parts Administration

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. Tuesday announced an administrative realignment of its Michigan parts plants affecting its Marysville and Center Line facilities.

Effective Jan. 16 managers of the two plants will report directly to the general plants manager of Mopar warehousing operations rather than to a base operations manager.

★ ★ ★

Harry McCavana, who has been base operations manager, will return to Marysville as plant manager, a post he held prior to 1957. C. F. Malane, who succeeded McCavana as manager at Marysville, will remain there as superintendent.

No operational changes are contemplated, a spokesman said.

Pontoon Party Craft Also Popular

Americans Go In for Houseboat Hobby

NEW YORK (UPI)—It won't be as huge a business as trailer homes by far, but the houseboat is starting to intrigue Americans on a big scale.

Along with it, another shallow water craft, the pontoon party boat propelled by an outboard motor, is having an extensive boom.

About 40 boat builders are making houseboats and pontoon party boats this year, twice as many as four years ago, editor Charles A. Jones of the boating industry said today.

"It's impossible to guess the dollar volume of this business," Jones said, "but it's substantial. The houseboats sell for from $2,000 to $10,000 and the pontoon party boats from $300 to $1,500.

Nearly all are trailable on the highways. You need a separate trailer for the pontoon boat, but the trailable houseboat is an amphibian with wheels that fold up."

A few of the houseboats have inboard engines, but most operate with outboards. Several outboard manufacturers make special heavy duty engines for the slow speed craft.

In this country houseboats of the past either were the shanty craft of bayou fishermen and trappers or luxury barges used in Florida waters by the very wealthy.

In Britain and France, on the other hand, the medium priced houseboat has been popular for generations.

Many of England's rivers are virtually lined with them every summer. The English houseboat is not usually trailable, though.

Jones said the great appeal of the houseboat is that it's a summer cottage that can be moved easily. Moorings are easy to rent on lakes and streams or salt water bays as a rule.

If you can't get close enough to the bank for a gangplank, you can use a dinghy to get back and forth.

Although houseboats aren't seaworthy enough for rough water, or very fast, an astonishing number of them do make the trips all the way down the Inland Waterway to Florida from the New Jersey shore.

And it's no problem at all to make a five-mile run on a lake or bay to a fishing grounds on a reasonably calm day.

Lots of elderly folks are buying houseboats as retirement homes in southerly waters. Others use them just as beach and lakefront cabins are used, for weekends and vacations.

You can have electric lights, a refrigerator and TV, bottled gas and running water plumbing on all except the very cheapest—even a telephone.

The pontoon party boat, propelled usually by a 3 h.p. motor, is used for swimming and fishing parties, as a platform base for skin diving enthusiasts and, in winter, for duck hunting.

★ ★ ★

They consist just of a wood platform mounted on pontoons made of simple steel or aluminum tanks.

Occasionally the tanks are made of plywood. Some are expandable, that is, they can be made larger as the family grows.

15 Area Men Drafted; Month's Quota Is 35

Oakland County draft boards have been given a quota of 35 inductees for February, according to the state selective service system at Lansing.

So far this month 15 young men from the Pontiac area have been drafted into the army.

The five from the city are William A. Russell, 66 Earlmore St.; Juan R. Martinez, 329 Hughes St.; Willie Diggs, 413 Harvey St.; Leland D. Holloway, 38 Hazel St.; and Lawrence M. Daigre, 251 Luther St.

Inducted from the surrounding area were Rodney C. Walz of Highland; Alfred D. McConley, Drayton Plains; Richard A. Boston, Farmington; Frederick C. VanHorn, Rochester; and Terrence D. Anderson, Waterford.

Also, James H. Lamb, Farmington; David F. O'Brien, Walled Lake; Ronald F. Critss, Clarkston; Albert D. Hecht, Rochester; and Raymond H. Krajewska, Rochester.

Michigan's total inductees for February will be 351.

Work on Xway at Clare

CLARE (AP)—The highway department has announced that work has started on a 4.1-mile stretch of U.S. 27 freeway between Clare and Harrison. The project, extending north to M61, will cost $982,000, the department said.

Three million Mexican Indians speak only their tribal language.

Norge Recalls 850 at Muskegon Plant

MUSKEGON (AP) — Approximately 850 laid-off employes of Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. will be recalled to their jobs in about two weeks.

The announcement by company spokesmen marks the first major employment upswing at Muskegon in at least six months.

Harold R. Sharpe, director of Norge industrial relations, said the proposed recall follows a sharp increase in demand for the company's new line of refrigerators and freezers.

He said the work opportunities are restricted to former employes and indicated no new hiring is planned.

Adlai Associate Given No. 3 State Dept. Post

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy today completed the State Department high command with the appointment of a close political associate of Adlai E. Stevenson as undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

Kennedy, back at the seaside home of his parents after a week of conferences in New York, Boston and Washington, gave the foreign policy job to George W. Ball, 51, a Democrat who has a background of service in government and now is a Washington attorney specializing in international law.

Ball long has been a chief political adviser to Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, recently picked by Kennedy to be ambassador to the United Nations.

Selection of Ball was announced by the president-elect as he turned to concentrated work on his Jan. 20 inaugural address. With the $20,000-a-year job as undersecretary for economic affairs, Ball will be the No. 3 man in the State Department.

Shortly before flying to Palm Beach from Washington Tuesday night, Kennedy also completed the top echelon of the Treasury Department.

* * *

He named Henry H. Fowler, also a Washington lawyer who has served in a number of government positions, as undersecretary of the Treasury.

Kennedy also announced the appointment of Angier Biddle Duke as chief of protocol in the new administration.

Duke, 45, formerly was a Foreign Service officer in Argentina and Spain, and now is president of the Council on Inter-American Affairs, a private organization, and a member of the New York City Executive Committee for the United Nations.

* * *

Kennedy arrived in Washington from New York in mid-afternoon Tuesday and for six hours engaged in a series of business conferences.

Negroes Go to Classes; No Trouble

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Two teenage Negroes today quietly sat down in classes with white students after federal court rulings swept aside nearly two centuries of segregation at the University of Georgia.

* * *

Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, went to psychology and zoology classes respectively.

No one bothered them. There was the usual flow of students making their way to the 9 a.m. classes in a score of buildings spread out over an area of more than two miles.

Some of the white boys and girls cast curious glances at the two Negroes. Others paid no attention. Some spoke to them. It was just another day starting at one of the nation's higher educational centers.

A young freshman adviser walked into Meigs Hall, where psychology classes are held, with Miss Hunter.

* * *

While all was quiet in the university town, there were rumblings in Atlanta of further displeasure with integration on any level.

House Speaker George L. Smith and State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. expressed the opinion that the present appropriations law automatically cuts off funds to the university when integrated. But regardless of their views, normal operations proceeded.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver has said an order must be signed by himself as head of the Budget Bureau before there would be any cutoff.

The U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday refused Georgia's plea to further delay integration at the school.

* * *

Vandiver said the appeal to the highest court exhausted the state's legal remedies. Earlier he had been stopped from closing the university by U.S. Dist. Judge W. A. Bootle's temporary injunction against cutting off state funds.

Director of Prisons Protests TV Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, has asked the American Broadcasting Co. to withhold the second installment of a television program about Al Capone's transfer to Alcatraz Prison 28 years ago.

* * *

Bennett, in a telegram to ABC Tuesday said: "I vigorously protest totally unfounded implications reflecting on the integrity of the officers of the Bureau of Prisons as depicted last week in 'The Untouchables.'"

Straw Man Ready for Fidel's Ax

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro soon may announce to his people that the strength of his people's army has frightened off the American aggressors he claimed would invade Cuba before Jan. 20.

* * *

Government-controlled press, radio and television continued to trumpet warnings that invasion would come before President Eisenhower turns over the White House to John F. Kennedy.

* * *

Big headlines still denounced the U.S. Navy maneuvers in the Caribbean and the visit Monday of the supercarrier Franklin D. Roosevelt to the base on Guantanamo Bay.

But the rank-and-file defenders of the island seemed to be losing some of their enthusiasm for the 24-hour alert. Cold, heavy rains that flooded the trenches and gun emplacements and soaked the olive-clad legions manning them were a contributing factor.

Small Fire Inside Home Overcomes City Man

A fire in a Pontiac home last night caused an estimated $250 damage. The occupant of the house, Louis J. Detmer, 57, 140 Mt. Clemens St., was overcome by smoke.

He was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Firemen said the fire was caused by a lighted cigarette in a waste pape rbasket. It was confined to a cupboard beneath the kitchen sink.

Employes of City to Study Recreation

David R. Ewalt, parks and recreation director, will turn college professor in an adult education course beginning at Michigan State University this month.

* * *

Ewalt will teach municipal recreation administration, beginning Jan. 25.

The course is one of three arranged for municipal employes in Oakland County by City Manager Walter R. Willman and his administrative staff, working with the MSUO Continuing Education Department, headed by Dr. Lowell Eklund.

Courses in local planning and supervising methods, beginning Jan. 23 and 24 respectively, will be taught by MSUO staff members. All three classes will meet once a week, 7-9 p.m.

* * *

It is the second year the city has cooperated with MSUO in arranging such instruction.

Bill for New District Reaches Legislature

LANSING (AP)—A bill designed to create a new 19th Congressional District for Michigan and equalizing the population in the state's other 18 districts was submitted to the legislature today.

The measure was drawn up by Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, who said he expected vigorous opposition because the reshuffling will cut into some existing district boundaries.

The 19th District was authorized by population gains in the state over the past 10 years.

Montgomery said the new district would be created from parts of the present 13th, 15th, 17th and 18th (Oakland County) districts.

McNamara to Place Cash in Trust Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert S. McNamara, while serving as secretary of defense, says he plans to put the money received from sale of his Ford Motor Co. stock into a trust fund similar to one created by President Eisenhower in 1953.

* * *

McNamara, 44, president of Ford Motor Co. before he agreed to serve in President-Elect John F. Kennedy's Cabinet, received more than $1.3 million for sale of 24,705 shares of Ford stock.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the proposal was being examined by his committee staff to see whether it complies with existing laws on conflict of interest.

Sees Catholic Dictatorship Under Kennedy

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the world's largest Southern Baptist Church, said Tuesday night America is headed for a dictatorship under the Roman Catholic Church.

* * *

He said he could see for the future "persecutions just like those in Spain and Argentina during this generation."

Dr. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, bitterly fought John F. Kennedy's nomination and election as president because Kennedy is Catholic.

Dr. Criswell spoke to more than 3,500 Baptists, ministers and lay leaders attending the annual Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference.

* * *

He predicted an "all-out Protestant struggle against catholicism in an effort to keep America free," and said one of the two faiths will win the 80 million Americans who now are uncommitted to any religious belief.

Castroites Demonstrate

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)— Pro-Castro groups demonstrated late Monday night in downtown Buenos Aires, burning effigies of Uncle Sam, breaking a window of the U.S. Information Service and stoning a branch of the First National City Bank of New York. Refugee Chinese Wait and Wait to Go Home

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — President Chiang Kai-shek's capital-in-exile is a smoky, dusty, weatherbeaten city crowded with tens of thousands of homesick Chinese.

The Nationalist Chinese fled to Taipei 10 years ago seeking temporary shelter until they could fight back to the China mainland. They are still here.

For nearly nine years, the Kuomintang government virtually prohibited any major civilian construction which might suggest that the Nationalists were settling down in Taipei to stay.

But quietly in the past year scaffolding has been erected around ramshackle buildings and new foundations dug where shacks once stood.

Like mushrooms after a spring rain, new apartment houses, modernistic office structures and a mammoth wide-screen movie theater started sprouting in a city old beyond its real age.

★ ★ ★

New neon signs sparkled at night, and huge rubber advertising balloons, popularized in Tokyo, floated for the first time in Taipei's smoggy skies.

Taipei, only 140 miles east of Communist China, held its first beauty contest in history one year after the Quemoy crisis, and threats of war seemed far away.

But the skyline is broken by anti-aircraft guns perched atop buildings and, beyond the city's four corners, by Chinese-manned Nike Hercules missiles which can blast a flight of planes from the sky with one shot.

By historic coincidence, this city of 20th-century exiles was conceived nearly 300 years ago as a home for wanderers from mainland China.

In 1695, an official of China's Manchu dynasty, Chen Laichang, obtained imperial permission to develop the city that became Taipei.

The fingerprints of Japan's 50-year rules of Formosa from 1895 to 1945 are pressed indelibly into the face of Taipei, a city of some 900,000 population.

The Japanese ruled Formosa from a five-story brick building with a center tower piercing the sky. Today that building in downtown Taipei is Chiang's headquarters and the seat of the defense ministry.

One block away stands a gray, soot-stained Victorian mansion, built as the official residence of the Japanese governor when Emperor Hirohito was crown prince. Now the government guest house, the mansion is the scene of Taipei's biggest diplomatic receptions.

A dinner jacket for the guest house? Not in Taipei, where government officials earn miserly salaries and "black tie" means a dark business suit or the high-necked tunic and slacks popularly known as the Sun Yat-sen uniform.

Movie theaters are packed to near capacity every night. The city offers little else in the way of entertainment outside the home.

The government, preaching austerity and urging full dedication to the task of defeating the Communists, frowns on public dancing and prohibits public cabarets.

But for the benefit of American GIs, officials permit a group of night clubs to operate along a street nicknamed "Sin Alley" where painted hostesses dance in exchange for cups of tea costing about a dollar each.

★ ★ ★

And, from the Japanese occupation of Formosa, the Chinese inherited one institution of pleasure which they had never experienced on the mainland—"girlie restaurants," a sort of poor man's Japanese geisha house where comely waitresses permit themselves to be hugged between courses.

★ ★ ★

On the outskirts of Taipei, the government built the show-place Grand Hotel, primarily for foreign visitors, one of the most ornate hotels in all Asia.

But most Taipei Chinese live in tiny frame houses, stained by the sewage of the sky. There many wait for that day when they will go home again. And wait. And wait. . . .

If you live within your income you'll live without worry — and without a lot of other things, too . . . One of the troubles with parents these 'days seems to be that they don't hit bottom enough. — Earl Wilson.

John D. Jr. Insists on Only One Senior

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller tells the story about his father, John D Rockefeller Jr.

When John D. Rockefeller Sr died the social register felt the Junior would become John D Rockefeller. But Junior felt ther was only one John D. Rockefel ler and continued to maintain hi identity as Junior.

The social register wouldn't g along with his wishes. Finally h sent it a check signed "John D Rockefeller." The register got t back from the bank marked "n funds." That won the argument

ROBBERY ENDS HAPPILY—Haasan Zeghabe (right), who robbed a Los Angeles bank last November because he was broke and jobless, shakes hands with Judge Thurmond Clarke Monday in Los Angeles after the jurist gave him a 10-year suspended sentence and probation. Zeghabe's wife Joni, and his children, Nadya, 11, and Kameel (right), 10, witness the scene. It was Nadya who successfully won her father's temporary release from prison at Christmas by writing a letter to Judge Clarke, assuring him that her "father would never rob a bank again." As the Zeghabe family prepared to leave the courtroom, Nadya kissed the judge upon the cheek and told him: "Thank you for giving us our daddy back. We need him."

Riot Is Suppressed in Texas County Jail

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Over a hundred police and sheriff's officers overwhelmed about 40 prisoners Tuesday night after a riot broke out in the Bexar County jail.

The officers, in some cases engaged in hand-to-hand combat, smashed the uprising after prisoners, complaining of food and clean-up details, set fire to bedding and smashed windows and lights. No serious injuries were reported.

Swainson Tells Him of Jobless Count

Kennedy Promises to Back the State

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson reports he has high hopes that the new Kennedy administration will provide a "national impetus" to the economy that will benefit Michigan several ways.

Returning from a half-hour conference with the president-elect in New York Tuesday, Swainson told newsmen he received assurances that the administration will back programs benefiting Michigan in critical areas of unemployment, medical care for the aged and aid to education.

Swainson said he asked for the conference to advise Kennedy of Michigan's needs in these and other areas.

"I was most enthused over his response," said Swainson. "There was a relaxed and warm rapport and I feel the president-elect is most aware of the problems which concern our state."

He said Kennedy agreed that Michigan, with 227,000 or eight per cent of the total labor force unemployed as of Dec. 15, has a critical joblessness situation.

"I brought his attention in particular to the fact that a current high surplus inventory (more than one million unsold cars) means more layoffs are coming before the situation improves," Swainson said.

"He agreed that the auto industry is so vital as to make this a matter of national concern."

Swainson said Kennedy assured him that the new administration will be responsive to aged medical care and federal aid to education needs.

"These are both areas of deep concern in Michigan," said Swainson, "and the president-elect is aware of that."

Swainson told Kennedy that in Michigan one in every 12 persons is 65 years of age or older, and that the total now figures at 600,000 to 650,000 and is expected to reach 800,000 by 1970.

In discussing the state's educational problems, Swainson told Kennedy that Michigan, with 45,000 new students entering school each year, is the nation's third fastest growing state.

The governor said he emphasized the point that Michigan will continue to help itself in these critical areas in addition to seeking federal assistance.

3 Drown as Car Plunges Off Ice

GLADSTONE (AP) — Three men drowned last night in little Bay De Noc when their auto plunged off the ice into 12 feet of water.

Drowned were Ray Zanon, 27, and John Manes, 37, both of Niagara, Wis., and Fred Cattlan, 47, of Norway, Mich.

A companion, Edward Vermeulen, 52, of Norway, managed to swim to shore.

State police said the men were driving their car on the ice and apparently failed to see where the ice ended. Troopers said the three victims apparently stood on top of the submerged car for a while but then went under.

We Get Caught Up on New Food Products

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You know how busy you have been for the past month and how you had to let some things slide. We have done the same thing. It's been weeks since we've mentioned new products to you.

The editorial staff here at The Press had a chance before the holidays to taste the new nut and date bread mixes. They are unbelievably fast to make. The finished product is excellent.

There is also a new mix for a cinnamon streusel coffee cake. This a friend tried for us and reported it very good.

Just last week while shopping, we saw packages of the new apple pancake mix. This cinnamon-flavored mix has tiny nuggets of fruit in it. Use it for waffles, too.

For several years now we all have been using salad dressing mixes and finding them most convenient. The latest addition to this line is an onion salad dressing mix.

FREEZE-DRY

The freeze-dry process has been used to prepare the chicken in one soup and the mushrooms in another on our new products list. This revolutionary preserving process is likely to be the most widely used process in the future because the food does not shrink in size or change texture.

Both chicken rice soup and mushroom soup come in packages and take only minutes to prepare. Use the latter for a sauce too.

Mushrooms appear in another product, this time a mushroom gravy. This is the third in a line of ready-to-heat gravies. We use all three at our house in the interests of speed and good eating.

Spanish rice has a seasoning all its own now with a new dry seasoning mix. This is a combination of spices, seasonings, onion, red peppers, green bell peppers and parsley. You need not use tomato with this mix for Spanish rice.

Another seasoning is designed especially for seafood, but it can be used in all fish dishes. It can be blended with crumbs, added to melted butter or sprinkled on the fish itself before cooking.

Add to your list of instant puddings a caramel and a pineapple cream flavor; they bring to 8 the number of these puddings one company makes.

★ ★ ★

This last item isn't a food, but a new stove or counter mat. The bottom is rubber to withstand heat and to cling to surfaces. The top is heavy textured aluminum foil, coated with a hard acrylic film. These mats come in five kitchen colors.

Spanish Salad

Arrange sliced white meat of chicken alternately with thin slices of Grueyere or Swiss cheese on salad greens, top with mixture of chopped tart apples and minced celery and for the dressing blend together 2 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. This makes an attractive dish to serve the girls at luncheon.

Try Using Frosting Mix for New Popcorn Balls

How long's it been since you had a popcorn ball? Crunchy, chewy and absolutely delicious, these carmel flavored balls have an extra added attraction . . . salted peanuts . . . mixed right in!

No need to start by burning sugar to get this caramel flavor . . . just use the new caramel frosting mix! With a few additions it makes a perfect syrup to coat the popcorn before making into balls.

Display the balls in a large wooden bowl or gaily wrap separately in colored paper and tie with fancy ribbons and give as favors at your next party for the kiddies. Either way, they'll be a welcomed surprise.

Caramel Popcorn Balls

1 package Caramel Fudge Frosting Mix
¼ cup soft butter
¼ cup cream
½ cup light corn syrup
8 cups popped corn
½ cup peanuts, if desired

Empty contents of frosting mix pkg. into large saucepan. Add butter, cream, corn syrup. Mix all ingredients; cook over med. heat to 250 degrees or hard ball stage.* Pour over popped corn and peanuts in buttered bowl; stir constantly. Butter hands; shape mixture lightly and quickly into twelve 3" balls. Coll and wrap in waxed paper or cellophane. Tie gaily with colored ribbon.

*Drop a little syrup into a cupful of cold water. When the syrup can be pressed together to hold a firm ball that is still plastic but not rigid, it has reached the hard ball stage, 250 degrees.

Success Tip: Popcorn is quite hot when syrup is first poured on it. May use large spoons to divide popcorn (on waxed paper) into 12 mounds. When cool enough not to burn hands, mold lightly and quickly into balls.

Some cooks like to brush the bottom of a pastry shell (to be used for a custard filling) with beaten egg yolk.

Look to Liver for Nutritious Meat Dish

In our search for better meals, let's not overlook liver.

Most markets offer several varieties of this vitamin and mineral rich "meat." There are the mild and tender calf liver and lamb liver, either of which is luscious when pan-fried and garnished with bacon or onion rings, and the less expensive and consequently more popular beef liver (buying hint: select the lighter beef liver; it's usually more tender.)

* * *

Cheapest is pork liver, the flavor of which is pronounced, but the nutritional value of which is high. Finally, there are chicken livers, those melt-in-the mouth delicacies that so many homemakers ignore.

* * *

Let's begin with the last; they're too good to pass by! One of the truly better recipes in our collection is one called Country Rice Pie.

Country Rice Pie

½ pound chicken livers, coarsely chopped
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ cup uncooked rice
1½ cups water
½ teaspoon salt
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup, undiluted
2 tablespoons BT Sauce
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento

Heat oven to 350 degrees (moderate). Saute' chicken livers and celery in butter until livers are brown and celery is tender-crisp. Cook rice in boiling salted water, according to package directions. Combine rice with ¼ cup soup, 57 Sauce and pimiento. Mix well with fork.

Firmly press rice mixture into bottom and sides of well-greased, 9-inch pie pan. Drain chicken livers and celery; combine with remaining soup. Pour mixture into rice crust. To prevent edge of crust from becoming dry, cover it with 2-inch strip of aluminum foil. Bake 15 minutes. Remove foil and continue baking 15 minutes.

Allow pie to stand 10 minutes before serving. Cut into 6 wedge-like pieces. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

* * *

Rice and beef or calf liver is combined with chopped nuts and dried currants, sauced with tomato ketchup and served piping hot in cabbage leaves which have been cooked until just tender. Dolma Rice it is called. This one is Near Eastern in origin while the previous recipe is American farm-born.

Dolma Rice

½ pound liver, diced
¼ cup chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup water
½ cup rice
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup dried currants
¾ teaspoon salt
6 cabbage leaves

Lightly brown liver and walnuts in butter. Combine with remaining ingredients except cabbage in top of double boiler; bring to boil over direct heat. Cover; cook, stirring occasionally, over boiling water 45 minutes or until rice is tender. Serve hot in cabbage leaves, cooked just until tender. Make 4 servings.

* * *

Many people braise the less tender cuts of liver. We prefer to marinate them several hours in apple cider vinegar seasoned with parsley, garlic, bayleaf and onion.

Marinated Liver

1 pound beef liver
½ cup cider vinegar
½ cup water
2 tablespoon minced parsley
2 cloves garlic, halved
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 medium onions, sliced
1 teaspoon flour

Cut liver into 5 or 6 serving pieces. Combine vinegar and next 5 ingredients; pour over liver; marinate 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Remove liver from marinade; discard garlic and bay leaf.

In large skillet, saute' onions in butter until tender crisp; push to side of skillet. Add liver; saute' until tender. Remove liver from skillet; keep hot.

Blend flour and marinade in skillet. Cook, stirring constantly, until hot and bubbly. Serve sauce over liver. Makes 5-6 servings.

Cranberries Really Good on Halibut

A festive dish for a festive fish! The dish is the ever-popular cranberry sauce, flavored with orange and ginger. The fish, equally popular, is white-meated, flaky halibut, which is usually bought in steak form, frozen in convenient packages, ready for the broiler or oven.

* * *

For a company fish dinner, the National Fisheries Institute suggests the following menu:

Halibut With Cranberry Sauce
Broiled Halibut Steaks
Cranberry Sauce Supreme
Peas and Mushrooms Parsley Potatoes
Cottage Cheese Salad Dinner Rolls
Pumpkin Pie Coffee

Plan on one small halibut steak or half a large steak for each serving. Place fish in preheated broiler pan. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and lemon juice.

Place pan in broiler 3 inches from heat and broil 3 to 5 minutes. Turn steaks, brush again with butter, sprinkle with seasonings and lemon juice and broil 3 to 6 minutes longer, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

* * *

Cranberry Sauce Supreme

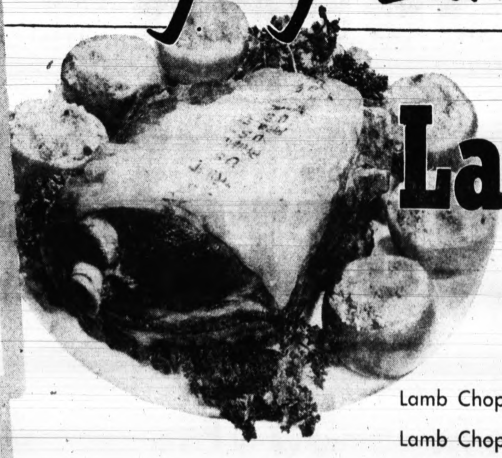

Combine 2 cups fresh cranberries, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup orange juice, ½ cup water, ¼ cup slivered crystalized ginger (or pinch of ground ginger). Serve as a relish with fish steaks. Makes about 3 cups sauce.

Honey a Useful Sweet to Keep in Cupboard

Honey in the morning, honey on the evening, honey at suppertime and inbetween meals. Anytime is honey time if you've got a sweet tooth or need quick energy.

For those who prefer a natural, unrefined sweet around the house, honey is the classic answer. Honey can turn up in some of the likeliest — and some of the unlikeliest — places and be surprisingly good, and good for you.

Here are some quick tricks with honey to prod your imagination and probably you'll want to take it from there and develop your own honey habits.

Honey Sauces

Blend ½ cup honey, ¼ cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and few grains salt. (excellent on gingerbread.)

Melt 1 cup honey, ½ cup butter together, serve hot over waffles. Mix 1 cup chocolate syrup, ½ cup honey, serve over sponge cake.

Honey Butter

Blend ½ cup honey, ½ cup butter. Cover tightly and store in refrigerator.

Bring 1 cup water to boil, add ½ cup honey, 2 tablespoons lime juice, 1 cup raisins. Simmer 15 minutes and serve over baked ham.

Honey Sandwich Fillings

Beat until fluffy 3 tablespoons honey and a 4-ounce package cream cheese. Add ½ cup nuts, chopped finely.

Mix ½ cup honey with 1 cup crunchy peanut butter.

Mix ½ cup honey, 1 cup almond butter and ¼ cup currants.

Honey Glazes

Bake a ham until nearly done. Remove skin and baste with 1 cup honey, mixed with 1 tablespoon lime juice and pinch of salt.

Cook 18 small carrots in a little water until tender. Add 6 tablespoons butter and ⅔ cup honey and simmer until brown, turning once or twice.

Peel six ripe bananas, place in buttered baking pan, pour mixture of ½ cup honey, 1 tablespoon lime juice and 1 tablespoon butter and pinch of salt over them. Bake 15 minutes at 350.

Prepare six grapefruit halves for serving, put 1 tablespoon honey in each center and broil 15 minutes. Top with fresh strawberry.

Honey Hints

Lightly grease cup or spoon so honey will pour more readily.

* * *

A small portion of honey adds greatly to keeping properties of cakes, breads, pie crusts and icings.

Reduce liquid in recipe by ¼ cup when using 1 cup of honey in place of 1 cup of sugar.

Keep honey well covered to preserve its quality.

Store honey at room temperature.

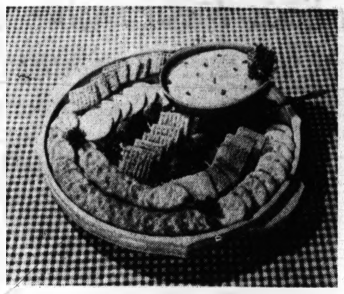

Use a generous pan when cooking honey. It tends to foam or boil over.

Freezing honey breads and cakes intensifies the honey flavor and aroma.

Onion Soup Old Recipe

A recipe for "onion soup the Spanish way" found in an 18th Century cook book makes a delightful wintertime offering. Peel and slice 2 large Spanish onions, cook gently in ⅓ cup Spanish olive oil until very soft, then pour on 6 cups boiling water, pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, a "handful" of minced parsley, a pinch each of powdered cloves and mace and two tablespoons of vinegar.

Let it "boil fast" a quarter of an hour, says the old recipe, then pour the soup over poached eggs on toast in soup plates. Nourishing and delicious.

DIPPER'S DELIGHT — Cottage cheese pickle dip offers a quick solution to the snack problem when guests drop in unexpectedly. To prepare the palate tingler blend ⅓ cup of pickle relish, well drained, into 2 cups of cottage cheese. Add ½ teaspoon each of minced onion and parsley and dashes of salt and pepper. Weight watchers will appreciate your thoughtfulness, too. For there are only about 15 calories in a tablespoon of the dip. Low calorie dunkers might be melba toast, wheat wafers and crisp crackers.

Hawaiian Touch Adds Fruit to Meat Course

Not just everyone can afford a Hawaiian vacation but everyone and anyone can dream, can't they?

Better yet, they can read about their distant dreams or even prepare foods native to these Islands of enchantment, Hawaii.

Some of the recipes native to this locale feature the main ingredient, either meat, fruit or vegetable, coated with a light batter and lightly browned or deep-fat fried.

Hawaiian Veal Treat

2 veal round steaks, cut ½ inch thick
12 canned pineapple spears
1 egg
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cut veal steaks into 6 pieces. Pound steaks to ¼ inch thickness. Place 2 pineapple spears on each piece of veal steak and roll like a jelly roll. Fasten with wooden picks or skewers.

Beat together egg, flour, salt and pepper. Dip veal birds in batter and then lightly brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Place birds in a greased 8 x 8-inch baking dish.

Cover and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 15 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Dates in Winter Salad

Perk up winter menus with a new salad idea. Dissolve a 3-ounce package of lemon-flavored gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Cool; add 1 cup gingerale and chill until almost set. Fold in 1 cup sliced tart apples and ¼ cup EACH chopped fresh California dates, celery and pecans. Turn into 6 individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve mayonnaise with a very light sprinkling of ground ginger.

President Likely to Be Panning for Gold in His Budget Message

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There seems sure to be a tint of gold in President Eisenhower's last State of the Union message Thursday and in his final budget next Monday.

The problems of the loss of gold and its running mate, confidence in the U.S. dollar, haven't gone away just because prices for the metal on the London free market simmered down after October's spectacular flurry.

The gold outflow continues, despite U.S. Treasury steps to stabilize its world price and calm fears about the dollar's status.

The basic causes for the outflow in gold will show up in the news budget — in the overseas spending asked for defense and aid of other nations, in any policy announced toward U.S. private investment abroad, and in the probable chances of getting a balance in federal outgo and income which would further bolster confidence in the dollar.

Other causes, outside our direct control, will remain in maneuverings abroad. These include the desire of private hoarders to buy the metal as a hedge against the still rumored and vigorously denied devaluation of the U.S. dollar, and even the game the Soviet Union may be playing with its own big supply of gold overhanging the market.

REDS HOLD UP

The Soviets can keep the supply of gold on the free market smaller by withholding sales of their gold. They usually sell gold to meet their own trading deficits with Western nations. When they don't sell gold they help to keep the gold supply thin, and this means the price can be bid up easily when private hoarders around the world want it enough.

★ ★ ★

Or the Soviet Union could dump gold on the market and disrupt it for the time being by undercutting prices — although this would help the U.S. Treasury by drying up demand for its metal bold at the official price of $35 an ounce.

★ ★ ★

Reports from European financial markets indicate the Soviets haven't been doing anything about gold for three months. And one of the things the international financial markets is watching, and probably the U.S. Treasury also, is what the Soviet Union is doing or seems likely to do.

But to date the problem primarily has been one of big deficits in world trading and other financial payments. These have risen in the last three years because this government and its citizens have been sending more dollars abroad in aid, military spending, investments, travel spending and for imports than they got back for exports, returns on investments, and the comparative trickle of foreign travel here.

This gives foreigners, and in time their central banks, extra dollars. Under our law, other nations and their central banks can, if they wish, turn these dollars into the U.S. Treasury for gold at $35 an ounce, plus an 8-cent handling charge.

★ ★ ★

The three-year deficit and the accompanying loss of gold has given rise in some foreign quarters to beliefs that the United States eventually may have to devalue the dollar—that is, make it worth less in gold by hiking the price of gold. Those believing this have bought gold for their private hoards.

★

Both the old and the incoming U.S. administrations say devaluation isn't even being considered. But both agree that something must be done to cut the annual dollar-payment deficits.

★

One way is to increase our exports—but these now are running ahead of imports by around $3 billion a year. Another is to cut spending abroad for foreign aid and on military and diplomatic spending. We have another task force in West Germany asking it to help shoulder some of this load.

The upcoming presidential message may give clues as to how we are faring and what more we hope to do in balancing our payments with the rest of the world.

Architect Likes College Set in Heart of City

CHICAGO (UPI) — Minoru Yamasaki, architect for Wayne State University in Detroit, says he sees many advantages to building a University in the heart of a city rather than in the suburbs.

"The urban university can be an oasis, in a sense a walled city within the city," he said. "City traffic can be kept outside. The city's noise does not have to leak through.

"At the same time, the city university can uniquely complement the city. It can add to it.

"On Sundays when the students are not at the university the people of the city can enjoy it. At Wayne, the courts are filled on Sundays with people enjoying the beauty of the setting."

Yamasaki was in Chicago to address the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Tougher Athletic Code Studied by NCAA

North Carolina, Arizona, Loyola on Probation

New Legislation Would Restrict Members Even More Than Now

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A tougher athletic code than that broken by North Carolina, Arizona and Loyola of New Orleans was before the National Collegiate Athletic Association today.

New legislation would provide for a national letter of intent, a general five-year eligibility rule, a stiffer transfer rule and limitations on the use of foreign athletes.

But while it was the bigger schools who made the news Tuesday, the NCAA's small colleges were expected to dominate today's formal session and kill most of impending rule changes.

There was little sympathy expressed by the small ones when North Carolina, Arizona, and Loyola each were placed on probation for one year by the powerful NCAA council.

However, preliminary round table discussion on the key legislation indicated the smaller schools, which dominate the sprawling organization, feel it is up to the institutions and their conferences to legislate the question of athletic eligibility.

★ ★ ★

North Carolina and Loyola, as part of their probation, were barred from post-season championships. And other basketball tournaments cooperating with the NCAA. Arizona, whose guilt came from football violations, received probation only with no additional sanctions.

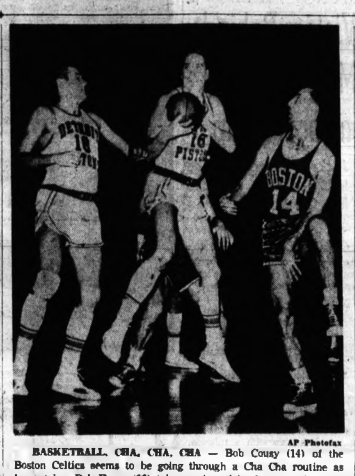

But the seventh-ranked Tarheels of Coach Frank McGuire managed to split a morning-night doubleheader. After a morning shellacking here that barred them from a shot at the national title, they beat Wake Forest 83-72 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game at Chapel Hill. It was North Carolina's ninth victory in 11 games. Loyola (4-7), plays it's next game Friday night with Memphis State.

★ ★ ★

Arizona's probation stemmed from regular monthly cash payments to football players, conducting an in-season tryout for a football player and transporting a prospective player to the campus for a summer job prior to enrollment at the university.

The NCAA said Arizona's penalty would have been more severe but that the university has cooperated fully and also has agreed to fire two assistant football coaches in June.

North Carolina came under fire for excessive expenses in basketball recruiting and for paying the expenses of varsity players' parents to the annual December Dixie Classic.

BASKETBALL, CHA, CHA, CHA — Bob Cousy (14) of the Boston Celtics seems to be going through a Cha Cha routine as he watches Bob Ferry (16) take a rebound in the game between the Pistons and Celtics in St. Louis last night. At left is Bailey Howell. The Pistons were trounced by the Celtics, 118-98.

Los Angeles Shakes Slump but Pistons Keep Losing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers are beginning to show signs of snapping out of their losing ways. They have climbed out of the Western Division cellar in the National Basketball Association and if they can cellar Cincinnati in their next two games they will be virtually tied with the Royals.

★ ★ ★

The Lakers outlasted the New York Knicks Tuesday night in Los Angeles, 117-104.

In a doubleheader at St. Louis, the Boston Celtics dropped the Detroit Pistons, 118-98 and the St Louis Hawks stopped Cincinnati, 119-110.

★ ★ ★

Cliff Hagan of the Hawks and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati waged quite a scoring duel and Hagan won it with 33 points to Robertson's 31. It was a close game through three periods, but in the last quarter St. Louis outscored the Royals, 33-24.

★ ★ ★

Boston bounded back from its Sunday defeat and outscored Detroit through the first three quarters. Detroit got 29 points in the last quarter to Boston's 26, but there wasn't much doubt of the outcome at any time.

★ ★ ★

Tom Heinsohn topped the scorers with 25 points for the Celtics and his teammate, Frank Ramsey, contributed 21.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles opened up with a big lead on New York and, midway in the second quarter, had a 20-point bulge. Elgin Baylor topped the scorers with 35 points for Los Angeles and Willie Naulls paced New York with 29.

★ ★ ★

New York Coach Carl Braun announced after a disputed foul call that he would play the game under protest. But after the final gun he said he would not file a formal protest, because of the disparity in the score.

PCH Tanker Sets Record

Ben Donaldson, Pontiac Central's outstanding freestyler, set a state record in the 400 yard freestyle last night as the Chiefs scored a 58-47 victory over Flint Southwestern in the Central pool.

★ ★ ★

Donaldson, who just missed the mark by six-tenths of a second last week against Bay City, did it in a time of 4:13.5. The state mark is 4:15.

Donaldson also scored a victory in the 200 yard freestyle and as usual shared double-winner honors with Bruce Norvell who won the breaststroke in 2:08.1 and the 160 yard individual medley in 1:53.8.

Dick Doerr scored a 1:06.4 win in the butterfly and was second behind Norvell in the breaststroke. Bud Oster won the 100 freestyle in :58.2 and was second in the 40 yard freestyle.

★ ★ ★

Southwestern won both team relay events.

Holly, Dales, PCH Among Rated Quints

Holly, Ferndale and Pontiac Central are the three Oakland County schools who hold places in their respective classes in the first basketball poll this week.

★ ★ ★

The Broncos from the upper part of Oakland County held fourth place in class B, which had River Rouge as the leader.

Holly enjoyed high ranking two years ago when the Broncos went all the way to finals of the state tournament before losing to the current poll leader River Rouge.

Saginaw held the top spot in class A with five straight victories on the ledger thus far. Lansing Sexton, two time state class A champion which defeated Pontiac Central in the finals last year, held 2nd place in the ratings.

★ ★ ★

Ferndale, the class of the Eastern Michigan League was perched in 6th place while Pontiac Central with two losses in the first three games managed to sneak into 9th place.

The Chiefs have won four straight games and are figured to improve enough to give Saginaw a battle for Saginaw Valley Conference honors and in the poll.

Perennial power, Highland Park, was again listed among the top 10.

A panel of sportswriters in each class will select the weekly poll for the Associated Press. Two members of The Pontiac Press sports department are listed on panels, Bruno Kearns on the class A panel and Bill Cornwell on the class B panel.

PCH, I-L Mat Teams in Action Thursday Night

A return to action for Pontiac Central and a full Inter-Lakes League schedule will make for a busy evening of prep wrestling Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs, now 3-2 in duals, travel to Royal Oak Dondero.

A big Walled Lake at Pontiac Northern battle heads the I-L slate. Waterford will be at Farmington and Southfield visits Berkley.

Port Huron will be at Fitzgerald, Northville is host to Redford Union, Oak Park meets Edsel Ford and Hazel Park is at East Detroit.

Lake Orion will make its 3rd attempt at a dual triumph in its opening year in the sport tonight as guest of the Pontiac Northern Jayvees. Jim Johnston has been a standout for the Dragons.

Rangers, Woodward City Hockey Victors

Bob Piaskowski scored four goals and netminder Dennis Dahlman posted a shutout as North Woodward Heating whipped the Drayton Spades, 6-0, in a National division City Junior Hockey League game yesterday at Northside Park.

The Mountain View Rangers, still undefeated, walloped the Pontiac Boys Club, 8-3, in another National loop game. Tom Petrie tallied four goals and Les Sullivan and Chip Caruso each clicked twice for the Rangers. Cliff Harris connected twice for the Boys Club. The Rangers scored five goals in the 1st period.

Two National circuit games are slated Thursday at Northside. Baldwin Pharmacy meets the Spades at 6 p.m., followed by a 7:30 battle between the Sylvan Flyers and North Woodward. The annual tournament in both leagues begins Saturday.

Serious Problems Face Grid Rules Committee

PITTSBURGH (AP) — General Bob Neyland can't predict what the NCAA Football Rules Committee will do with the suggestions for rule changes, but every proposal will be discussed fairly, he says.

The former coach at Tennessee and advocate of single-wing football will preside at the committee's meeting Friday through Sunday at Miami Beach, Fla.

Neyland also termed "utterly stupid" anyone who wants to follow professional football rules in adopting a college code.

★ ★ ★

"The rules committee has a real serious problem it's trying to solve," Neyland said. "We will consider every suggestion from every soul on its merits. And, we're going to do the best we can to satisfy the situation.

"The committee is trying to do the best it can for college football. I have a completely open mind, and so does everyone on the committee."

The committee found itself in the middle of a wide difference of opinion at last year's convention. The American Football Coaches Association proposed free substitution, but the body of NCAA delegates went on record against it.

Neyland explained how the committee will go over the proposals received this year.

"First, we will hear the coaches' proposals from Jack Curtice (newly-elected AFCA president) and we will discuss them," he said. "Then we will take care of the suggestions we receive from individuals and groups all over the country. We have not received a directive from the NCAA yet," he said.

The AFCA this year has proposed, by a 6-4 margin in balloting by districts, the return to free substitution. It also wants the committee to legalize sideline coaching among other things.

★ ★ ★

As for comparing college and professional football, Neyland said:

"When we do that, we're utterly stupid. They're different games entirely. We should operate the college game the way we think it should be operated, and the pros should do the same."

★ ★ ★

Returning to the committee's problems, Neyland said the group can't satisfy everybody. As an example he cited the "wild card" substitution rule, which was the outcome of last year's hassle.

★ ★ ★

"I heard from every part of the United States," he explained. "A few people didn't like it. Many more thought it was a good compromise. I personally think it worked out as well as any rule we ever adopted.

★ ★ ★

"Some coaches complain they made mistakes in keeping track of their substitutions. Well, all coaches make mistakes."

BOWLING BEAUTY

NO. 3—FITTING OUT

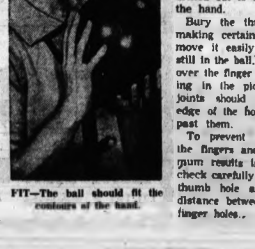

By DEE PURCELLO
AMF Staff of Champions

You can't hope to bowl your best unless you have good shoes and the ball fits comfortably in the hand.

I suggest that a beginner use a house ball for a while to determine what weight and types best suits. After you have bowled a while and perhaps want to join a league, purchase a ball that is drilled out to fit the contours of the hand.

Bury the thumb in the ball, making certain you are able to move it easily. With the thumb still in the ball, extend the fingers over the finger holes, as I am doing in the picture. The middle joints should reach the inside edge of the holes, or be slightly past them.

To prevent possible injury to the fingers and to realize maximum results in rolling the ball, check carefully for the size of the thumb hole and for span, the distance between the thumb and finger holes.

FIT—The ball should fit the contours of the hand.

Finals to Be Staged Week Later; Victors Go to Grand Rapids

Forty young boxers, all entertaining hopes of entering the state tournament, will compete in the district Golden Gloves tournament to be held Saturday, January 14th and January 21st at Clarkston Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

The tournament, being sponsored by American Legion Post 63, will have entries from three major areas, Pontiac, Clarkston and Port Huron.

Winners at Clarkston will earn their way to the state finals at Grand Rapids, February 17-18, and from there to the finals in Chicago in March.

A big scramble should take place in the welterweight novice class which has nine entries.

★ ★ ★

The top scrap could be in the novice heavyweight division featuring Jack Vess, 245 pounder from Clarkston against Carlton McMellon of Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

The open heavyweight class is still uncontested. Lone entry is Casper Bass a 218 pounder from Port Huron who is expected to be a strong contender for state honors.

In the light heavyweight open division, Mike McDowell, last year's district runnerup is back for another crack. Jerry Harrel of Pontiac, recently out of the Army is a contender along with Harvey Wilson of Port Huron.

Melvin Beach of Port Huron and Buck Buckhester of Pontiac will match speed and power in the middleweight open class.

Ruben Flores of Pontiac, who won the state championship in the 147 pound novice class last year, is back in the tournament but in the welterweight open class.

This should be a top flight bout will Bill Cadman of Port Huron, who lost to Flores in the state championship, returning for another crack at the champion.

Entries in the welterweight novice class include Frank Richmond, Chuck Saunders, Rodger Jenks and Bert Montross of Clarkston; Tony Rubie, Butch Grandwood of Pontiac; John Tillman, Jim Jeffries and John Yeager of Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

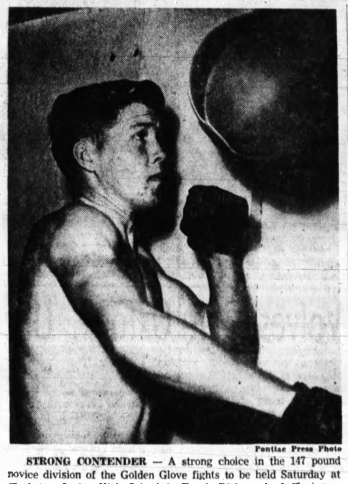

Among the lightweights entered are Charley Wolfe and Mike Ockerby of Clarkston; Elwen Brown, Dick Malone and Dick Guezar of Pontiac and Ed Williams and Charles Lloyd of Port Huron.

The respective trainers of the teams are Bill Strange of Pontiac, Leo Armstrong of Clarkston and Roosevelt Noble of Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

Tickets are available for the opening night at various locations in the Pontiac-Clarkston areas and at the junior high ticket window.

Tickets for the finals will go on sale Monday, January 16th only in Clarkston.

Giants' New Coach Labels Browns as 'Team to Beat'

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Sherman, the new head coach of the New York Giants, tabs the Cleveland Browns "the team to beat" in the Eastern Division of the National Football League next season.

★ ★ ★

"I think that Philadelphia will have trouble without Norm Van Brocklin," said Sherman, who Tuesday signed a three-year contract to succeed Jim Lee Howell. Van Brocklin, the Eagles' brilliant quarterback, retired after leading them to the league championship the past season.

★ ★ ★

"I don't like to make predictions this early," said Sherman, "but I feel that we should be right up there with the Browns, Pittsburgh and St. Louis could make a run of it, too."

Sherman's appointment was announced by Wellington Mara, the Giants' vice-president, who disclosed that Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi was his club's first choice. Lombardi was an assistant coach of the Giants for many years before moving to Green Bay.

★ ★ ★

"We went after Lombardi right after the close of the 1960 season, but he told us his obligations at Green Bay would not permit him to consider the job," Mara explained. "We had a mutual understanding when he went to Green Bay that he would get first crack at the job if it became available. We are certain that Sherman will make a fine head coach."

Lombardi, who piloted the Packers to the Western Division title in 1960, has three years remaining of his five-year contract with Green Bay. He was Sherman's predecessor as the Giants' offensive coach and this year led Green Bay to the NFL's Western Division title, losing the championship to Philadelphia, 17-13.

★ ★ ★

Sherman said he would meet with his assistants, Harland Svare, Ken Kavanaugh and Ed Kohlman, next week. Another assistant will be named later.

"There's a lot of work to be done," said Sherman. "First, we'd like to line up as many of our draft choices as possible. We already have signed Bob Gaiters and he was the kind of a player we were looking for. He's big, strong and can really move."

Gaiters was the major college rushing and scoring leader the past season while at New Mexico State.

Hazel Park Tops PNH Wrestlers

Pontiac Northern lost a wrestling match to Hazel Park last night by a score of 32-14.

Injuries and the flu bug hampered Coach Bill Willson's Huskies.

Northern posted four victories. Ben Chancey, 103 pounds, pinned Hazel Park's Larry Green. Winfred Miracle, 154, Jerry Heard, 165, and Dave Fox, 180, were the other PNH winners.

Hazel Park grapplers won four of their eight matches by falls.

The setback was the first of the season for Northern's matmen. They had won three dual meets. Hazel Park is now 5-0.

Northville travels to Flint Rock and Royal Oak Kimball is at Fitzgerald in area wrestling meets tonight.

Victors Behind Most of Way in Local Scrap

Jackets Remain Close to Fitzgerald in Race for Oakland B Title

By CHUCK ABAIR

Determination and clutch foul shooting are combining to make an Oakland B championship contender out of Avondale.

★ ★ ★

The Yellowjackets stayed hot on the heels of victorious front-runner Fitzgerald by rallying to nip Lake Orion 57-53 last night before 1,000 fans at the Dragon court.

Fitzgerald downed Oak Park 46-42 as Troy was bouncing back to hammer Clawson, 78-50.

The Avondale boys who won their 3rd close game in five nights, seem to play like men with a mission. They never appear too disturbed about the score but keep plugging away.

★ ★ ★

It was a close contest as the score indicates but Orion actually held the upper hand the greater part of the time.

Avon came from behind to lead 14-13 at the opening period. It was 33-30 Orion at halftime and 42-39 for the home team after three quarters.

The down-but-far-from out Jackets tied the count quickly starting the last eight minutes of play. It was knotted twice more before Dale Yarger's two fouls — his only points of the tilt — put the visitors ahead to stay with 5:22 to play.

★ ★ ★

But Peel and Les Bourdo added twin-pointers as an important Orion basket was nullified because a Dragon had naked for time out just before the shot. Two charity tosses by Bucky Craven and a Tom Reed jump shot cut the score to 54-52 with 2:27 to go.

A fumbled pass with 40 seconds left helped kill any final Green and White hopes. Three foul points added icing to the victory cake.

Tim Burt of Avon headed both teams with 22 points making some key baskets on rebounds. Jim McDonald's 16 included 10 free throws.

Craven, driving well, hit six straight shots after a cold start and finished with 18 for Orion. Reed was close behind with 17.

It marked 2nd straight time Dick Bye's team had won while making less field goals. Avondale tallied 19-for-29 fouls including 10 of 14 in the 4th period.

It was one of Orion's top showings thus far. The Dragons, who were edged on shooting 34 to 32.3 per cent, had a chance to pull away with a seven-point lead and Avon having a ragged spree midway in the 2nd quarter.

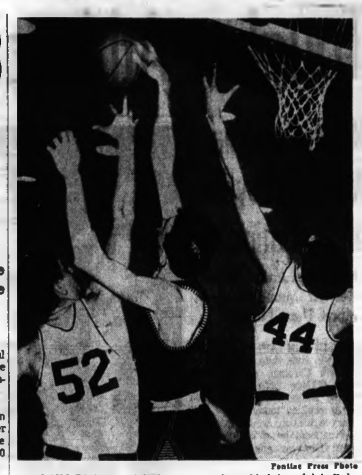

Fitzgerald had to struggle after being in the van 25-12 at halftime. Duane Pisarek made the deciding goal with 32 seconds to play. Two free throws made it certain. Pisarek totaled 24. Bob Goldenberg hit 17 for Oak Park. Troy dominated its game after trailing in the 1st quarter. Pete Davidson and Ron DePauw garnered 18 points apiece for the Colts. Bob McArthur hooped 15 for Clawson.

Stars 'Fade' in Finale

A 3rd-period letdown was fatal to the Pontiac Stars last night as they lost a 6-3 decision to the Beaver Athletic Club in a Detroit Senior 'A' Hockey League game at Hellmann Field. The Beaver team scored three goals in the 3rd stanza. Huey Remley tallied two goals and Dick Plourde one for the Stars, who now have a 3-4-1 record.

LONG REACH — A little more reach enabled Avondale's Dale Yarger (dark jersey) to grab this rebound. Lake Orion players are Mike Ruch (52) and Tom Reed (44).

St. Fred Gains on Leader

Shamrocks Bow, Eaglets Win SCL Contests

St. Frederick moved into a strong position to challenge Royal Oak St. Mary for 1st place in the Suburban Catholic basketball race last night by romping 56-36 at St. Clement while the southern county school was being dumped from the unbeaten ranks.

Orchard Lake St. Mary moved into 4th place by downing St. James 58-54. St. Michael dropped a 55-52 verdict to St. Benedict at Madison Junior High. St. Rita wielded the axe on ROSM 61-60 in overtime.

St. Fred breezed to a 15-2 opening quarter advantage and never had any trouble the rest of the night. It was 33-9 at halftime with the losers owning only one field goal. Coach Gene Wright emptied the bench the rest of the way.

Ted Dobski paced the Rams with 25 points. Mike Reed added 11. Tom Delamielleure hit 14 in defeat.

Orchard Lake held on after twice blowing big leads in the final quarter due largely to the efforts of Glen Hass, who garnered 13 of his 24 points in the last eight minutes.

The Eaglets had led 26-18 at halftime and 41-28 after three periods. St. Janice got started towards a 26-point 4th session by getting the 1st seven made by the two teams. It was 55-46 with 3:55 to play. Four successive Ferndale baskets cut the difference to just two with the clock showing only 20 seconds remaining. Hass made two free throws to clinch the issue.

Tom Tomaszewski followed Hass with 13. Neil Kiernan fired in 22 and Dave Smith 14 in defeat.

★ ★ ★

Seven St. Benedict free throws in the last period helped bring about the St. Mike downfall climaxing a see-saw contest.

The Shamrocks held quarter leads of 15-13, 25-24 and 41-28.

Zito sparked the winners with 21. Al Tuomy and Mike Keesling caged 14 each for the losers.

★ ★ ★

Roy Leo was the big St. Rita hero. His field goal as the final buzzer ending regulation play forced the overtime. Then he made the only basket of the overtime for the clincher. Leo spoiled a gallant Royal Oak comeback after the victors appeared well set with a 51-37 lead early in the 4th period. Leo swished a total of 28 besting Jim Bliss of the vanquished, who had 27.

St. Fred is now one game behind RO St. Mary at 2-1. St. Rita took over 3rd place. St. Mike dropped into a three-way deadlock for 5th.

Victors Belt Oxford; Utica Bows

Clarkston got back on the winning side of the ledger in convincing style Tuesday night walloping Oxford 66-36.

★ ★ ★

Utica suffered a 61-40 blasting at Warren. Madison Lamphere remained unbeaten by socking Birmingham Groves 63-39. Benedictine tripped Royal Oak Shrine 66-60 and Saginaw Buena Vista ripped North Branch 77-60 in other games.

Clarkston rushed an early 16-8 lead and was never pushed very hard after making it 34-14 at halftime.

Ten Wolves scored topped by Gar Wilson with 15. Dick Miller's 9 was high for Oxford. The Wildcats only totaled nine field goals.

Warren had an easy time. It was 37-16 at the half intermission. Jim Moshenko and Ed Gratt swished 10 each in defeat.

The game at Groves stayed interesting for two quarters. With only a 21-20 lead, the Rams broke things wide open and pulled away after the rest period. Phil Freer, top scorer with 18, and playmate Joe Murray featured the big last half. Tim Reardon hit 19 for Groves.

Shrine was ahead 42-36 at halftime. It was tight from then on. Jerry McCoulloch topped Royal Oak with 22.

Les Frampton rung up 23 points and Lynn DeGrow 15 but they were far from enough to prevent another North Branch setback. Buena Vista hit 20 or better in three periods. The scoreboard read 20-9 at the 1st quarter and 42-25 at halftime.

Maples Lose; Lakers Topple Walled Lake

Birmingham Seaholm went down to a damaging 70-54 Eastern Michigan loss at Port Huron last night. Royal Oak Kimball whipped Hazel Park 55-38 in another league game.

West Bloomfield went back to being a nemesis for Inter-Lakes quintets by tripping Walled Lake 66-60.

Seaholm turned in a strong opening half showing leading 19-17 at the initial period and 36-33 at halftime. But a Port Huron pressing defense changed things completely from then on.

Sandy Henry sparked the victors with 21 besting Maple Hap Dunne, who clicked for 18. Seaholm is now 1-2 in the EML.

Kimball had things easy following at the half. Bill Chilton and Craig Kirby swished 15 apiece for Royal Oak. Gary Davis got 17 for the Vikings.

Unbeaten Mt. Clemens took a half-game lead over idle Ferndale in the EML race by rallying for a 57-47 triumph over East Detroit. The Bathers are now 3-0 in the league while East Detroit stands 0-3.

Down by nine after one quarter of action, coach Art Paddy's Lakers roared back to go ahead and held off a late Walled Lake bid.

West Bloomfield scored 24 in the 2nd period for a 35-33 edge and stayed in charge most of the last half. A seven-point spree cut the Laker lead to 58-58 with 2:42 left on the clock but Jim Lucadam hit four and Gary Render three to kill the threat.

Bob Sias tallied 23 for West Bloomfield. John Maragos and Bill Carter got 16 apiece for W'hite.

Lancers Hit Slump, Bow to Ypsi Cagers

The combination of a shooting slump and the enemy taking over backboard control in the last half foiled Emmanuel Christian's hopes for a 2nd straight basketball win last night.

Ypsilanti St. John held a 33-3 advantage over the last 13 minutes to triumph 58-37 after trailing.

Emmanuel held a 28-26 halftime advantage and made the first six points of the 3rd quarter — all baskets by shooting ace Tom Sutton — to lead by eight but then the visitors began taking charge paced by the rebounding of Bob Boasey, who scored 23.

Ypsi took a 40-34 lead into the final period and kept rolling aided by seven free throws.

Sutton finished with 14. Bruce Yuille added 13 for the Lancers.

Flint Central Rips Northern by 72-49 Score

Flint Central deadlocked Pontiac Central and Arthur Hill for 2nd place in the Saginaw Valley Conference basketball standings by racing to an easy 72-49 victory over arch-rival Flint Northern last night at the IMA Auditorium.

The Indians, Chiefs and Hillites now share the runnerup position with 2-1 records. Over-all, it was the Indians' 4th win in five games.

Cloyee Dickerson and Jim Toles sparked the Indians' well-balanced offense with 16 and 15 points, respectively. Northern, which meets the Chiefs Friday at Pontiac, is now without a victory in six games, three in the Valley.

The Indians piled up a 34-18 halftime lead and were never seriously threatened. A Viking flurry at the start of the 3rd period cut Central's lead to eight points, but the Indians quickly pulled away again.

★ ★ ★

Arthur Hill lost a non-conference game Tuesday. The Hillites dropped a 61-47 decision to defending Class A state champion Lansing Sexton at Saginaw for their 2nd setback in six starts.

Coaching Group Picks Stanford Mentor as Prexy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The American Football Coaches Association has elected Jack Curtice of Stanford as president to succeed Charles (Rip) Engle of Penn State.

The association also elected other officers and trustees Tuesday and presented awards to three coaches.

Elected were William Murray of Duke, first vice president; Woody Hayes of Ohio State, second vice president; Len Casanova of Oregon, third vice president; D.O. (Tuss) McLaughry, executive secretary-treasurer.

Andy Gustafson of Miami (Fla.) was elected to the board of trustees. Present trustees were re-elected.

Receiving awards were Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech, the Pop Warner Conference plaque for his pre-game prayer; Ray Eliot, assistant athletic director at Illinois, the Amos Alonzo Stagg award; and Engle, an award for service to the association.

Trotters Post 5th Class D Triumph

Unbeaten Tuck's Trotters breezed to their 5th Class D City League basketball victory of the season Tuesday night, a 73-28 rout of Northside at Lincoln Junior High.

Ted Hoffman and Larry Blackburn each scored 18 points and Mike Copenhaver tallied 17 for the Trotters. Wayne Gonzales swished 14 for Northside, which is now winless in five games.

In the other Class D contest, the Warriors defeated Westside Kiwanis, 46-33. Larnell Draper bagged 22 points to pace the Warrior attack while Otis Dairs netted 13 for Kiwanis.

Prep Hits 108 Points

CASSETT, S. C. (AP)—Kenneth Robinson scored 108 points in a high school basketball game here Tuesday night. Robinson's team, Midway High School, defeated Ruby 118-30.

The 6-foot-1, senior missed only six shots from the field. He had rang up 57 points at the half.

Robinson has been averaging about 70 points per game, playing about two quarters a game.

Mickey Mantle struck out 125 times last season yet slugged 558, second to Yankee teammate Roger Maris' 561.

No. 5 Baseball's Unforgettable Games

Old Alex Fans Lazzeri and Wins 1926 World Series for St. Louis Cards

By JOE REICHLER and BEN OLAN

Grover Cleveland Alexander, whose 373 victories tie him with Christy Mathewson for the most National League games ever won by a pitcher, won 30 or more games three successive seasons.

He hurled four one-hitters in one year and turned in 16 shutouts in a single campaign. But he is best remembered for his strikeout of Tony Lazzeri in the 1926 World Series between the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees.

On June 22, 1926, when Alex was 39, the Cubs asked waivers on him and he was claimed by the Cardinals. He managed to pick up nine victories to help the Redbirds into the Series against the Yankees.

After Herb Pennock had beaten Willie Sherdel 2-1 in the opener at New York, Manager Rogers Hornsby called on Alex. He whipped Babe Ruth and Company 6-2, retiring the last 21 Yankees in a row.

A LEGEND BEGINS

When the Series moved to St. Louis, the Yanks won two out of three and came back to Yankee Stadium with the pleasant prospect of merely splitting even to win the title. They might have made it, too, if it hadn't been for Alexander. Old Pete rose up to beat them in the sixth game 10-2 to even the Series at three-all.

It was here that legend, pro-

Grover Cleveland Alexander warms up before a game.

ducing some misconceptions, began over the story of Alexander. Jesse Haines started the seventh game for the Cardinals against Waite Hoyt. Babe Ruth got the Yankees off in front with his fourth home run of the Series in the third, but the Cards went ahead 3-1 in the fourth.

The Yankees nudged Haines for one in the sixth and really began to go to work on him in the seventh. Earle Combs walked to open the inning and Mark Koenig sacrificed.

* * *

Ruth was intentionally passed and forced by Bob Meusel. Hornsby took no chances with Lou Gehrig and ordered another intentional pass, thus filling the bases and bringing Tony Lazzeri to bat.

OLD ALEX TAKES OVER

Hornsby came out to the mound and took the ball from Haines, who had developed blisters on his fingers from hurling so many knuckle balls. Presently the gaunt figure of Alexander came shuffling toward the mound from the bull pen.

* * *

Alex had worked a full game only the day before and had been out most of the night. Old Pete took a few warm-ups, tightened his belt, adjusted his cap.

* * *

Tenseness gripped the crowd. Lazzeri took the first pitch for a strike. Then he drove a liner to left, foul by inches, which would have cleared the bases. Old Alex side-armed a fast curve on the next pitch.

* * *

Lazzeri swung for the fence — and missed. The side was out.

Stalking down the years, this high moment has often been portrayed as the last out in the ninth. But there were still two innings that had to be played. Alexander retired the Yankees one-two-three in the eighth.

* * *

With two out in the ninth, he gave Ruth a base on balls. Meusel came to bat, and Ruth attempted to steal second but was thrown out by Bob O'Farrell to Rogers Hornsby, who made the tag on the Babe. The game was over.

* * *

The Cardinals had won their first world championship, and 39-year-old Pete Alexander had made it possible.

Palmer Delivers the Message

Don't Forget, Golfers — 2-Stroke Penalty's Back

By BILL CORNWELL

Just in case Arnold Palmer didn't get the message across, here's a gentle reminder to Oakland County area golf addicts:

The two-stroke penalty for an out-of-bounds shot has returned.

Palmer himself made the announcement with dramatic impact last Friday in the opening round of the Los Angeles Open, although he certainly was an unwilling spokesman.

Shooting one-under-par golf as he reached the 508-yard par five 9th hole, Palmer laced his tee shot straight down the middle and the huge gallery sensed another birdie in the offing for the 1960 National Open champion.

PALMER

Then Palmer proceeded to belt four consecutive No. 3 wood shots out of bounds, the first two going to the right and the second pair to the left, for a total of eight strokes in penalties.

His next No. 3 wood shot landed on the green from where he putted twice for a monstrous 12. Toss out the eight penalty strokes and Palmer would have had the birdie four that the fans were anticipating.

Palmer wound up with a 77 which was such a deficit that he failed to make the midway cut the next day, an almost unbelievable occurrence in his case.

Bob Goalby eventually won the L. A. Open with a 72-hole total of 275 over the Rancho golf course.

Palmer was the first "name" golfer to be affected by the revival of the two-stroke rule, which went into effect on Jan. 1, 1961. Palmer's unlucky day was Jan. 6.

The United States Golf Association tried the "loss of distance only" rule on a trial basis in 1960, but the experiment was unsuccessful in the eyes of USGA officials because the "soft" one-stroke penalty tended to discourage ball-searching and also caused undue delay.

* * *

Hence, the two-stroke penalty was reborn with the turn of the new year.

* * *

So remember, golfers — if you hit the ball out of bounds this year, it will cost you two strokes, not just one.

SHORT PUTTS

The Detroit District Golf Association will no longer be known by that name. Because of increasingly widespread activity and a constantly growing outstate membership, the Detroit District tag has been dropped and the organization will now be called the Golf Association of Michigan. Present GAM membership stands at 63 with four new members expected.

* * *

Mac McElmurry, for three years Warren Orlick's assistant at Tam O'Shanter, is the new head pro at Knollwood. He replaces Joe Thacker.

* * *

Scioto Country Club's withdrawal as host to the 1961 Western Open tournament has WGA officials scurrying around hunting for a site. Lansing and Grand Rapids are among the bidders for the tourney, which last year was held at Detroit's Western Country Club.

Probation Hurts Tarheel Cage Glory

Sad Night for Detroit, North Carolina

By United Press International

All illusions of grandeur vanished for the Detroit Titans who absorbed a crushing 85-63 defeat by an aroused Marquette quintet.

The loss not only snapped a 23-game home-court winning streak but also killed Detroit's flickering hopes for a prominent role in the national rankings.

It's also going to be a sad season for North Carolina's basketball team, but the Tar Heels are doing all they can to share their misery with others.

Bitterly upset by the one-year probation imposed on the school by the NCAA Tuesday for recruiting violations, North Carolina fought back the only way it could—on the basketball court. The Tarheels did a good job of it last night, coming from behind to whip a strong Wake Forest team, 85-74.

The loss was particularly severe on the Deacons since they entered the game with a 5-0 mark in Atlantic Coast Conference play, and high hopes of continuing on to the league championship and an NCAA post-season tournament berth. While they're still in strong contention for the title, it's going to be much harder now.

* * *

The Titans may now have to scramble in order to nail down a second straight post-season tournament bid, considered to be an absolute certainty early last month when coach Bob Calihan's team was undefeated and was ranked number five in the nation.

Ron Glaser, with 21 points, Dick Nixon, with 20, and Don Cojis, with 18, sparked the Hilltoppers while Detroit's Dave DeBusschere walked off with the game scoring honors by dunking in 23.

Detroit connected on only 22.5 per cent of its shots from the floor during the first half and, in contrast, Marquette pumped in 51.5 per cent.

The Titans will try to regain some of their tarnished glory when they invade Notre Dame Saturday night.

In other major games, St. Bonaventure walloped Gannon, 103-71; De Paul topped Ohio University, 69-60; Rice whipped Texas Christian, 82-60; Texas beat Texas Tech, 63-55; and Southern Methodist defeated Baylor, 75-64.

De Paul survived a second-half scare before notching its 10th victory of the season without a loss.

Memphis Pulls Big Upset, Dryden Scores 13 Points

If New Haven wins the Southern Thumb League championship a lot of credit will go to Memphis.

* * *

The Yellow Jackets pulled a major upset last night by downing Brown City, 49-33. New Haven remained unbeaten with 54-51 triumph over Armada.

Capac topped Dryden by the almost impossible score of 61-13 to remain a game behind New Haven. Anchor Bay kept Almont winless, 60-51.

Brown City players went completely cold in the first half as the Memphis gym and left the floor at the intermission on the short end of a 24-6 score. The Yellow Jackets had no trouble protecting this lead in the last two quarters.

New Haven was hard pressed to win its sixth game. Defending champion Armada lost the game in the final minute when New Haven's Gene Harris scored his only three points.

Armada's Julius Straub took game honors with 20 points. Armada is 2-4 in the league.

Thirteen Capac players hit the scoring column in the one-sided win over Dryden. None scored in double figures. The halftime score was 27-6. Capac is 5-1 and Dryden 1-5.

An 18-6 lead at the end of the first quarter carried Anchor Bay to its win over Almont. Leonard Leader tallied 21 points for the winners. Dale Hobson scored 17 and Tom Ballard 13 for Almont.

The win gives Anchor Bay a 3-3 mark. Almont is winless in six games.

Fred Wahls topped Memphis with 18 points. John Barber added 12. The Jackets are now 3-3 in league play. Brown City is 4 -2.

Tigers Go Back to Wearing 'D' in Old English

DETROIT — A broken tradition was restored when it was announced that the Detroit Tigers in 1961 will resume wearing home uniforms decorated with an Old English initial "D" on the shirt and cap.

For one year only in 1960, the Tigers appeared at home with the word "Tigers" lettered in script across their shirts and an identifying number below the last couple of letters on the left side.

The return to the Tigers' distinctive white flannels of previous seasons will be complete — including the restoration of navy blue piping on the uniform shirt and down the sides of the pants. Caps and solid color socks also will be navy blue.

The only numbers to be worn at home will be displayed on the players' backs.

On the road, the Tigers' gray uniforms will be marked "Detroit" in arched block-type letters across the chest. Numbers on the sleeve as well as on the shirt back — another innovation in 1960 — will be retained on the road uniforms.

Ohio University spurted in front soon after the intermission, but nine straight points by De Paul guard Howie Carl put the Blue Demons back in front for good. Carl had a total of 26 points for the night, the same as Ohio U.'s Bunk Adams.

Obedience Trial Is Often Overlooked at Dog Shows

Three Divisions in Local Show at Retail Store

But Leading Attraction Will Remain Judging Best in Show

By DON VOGEL

When most people think of a dog show, they visualize members of the different breeds being paraded or posing before the judges.

Often overlooked is the interesting obedience trials taking place in three areas off to the side of the main show rings. Obeying commands and retrieving are the big items in this class.

About 55 dogs will be entered in the obedience trial at the Pontiac Kennel Club's annual indoor show Sunday, Jan. 22, at the Pontiac Retail Store.

There are no breed divisions in obedience. The entries are classified as novice, open or utility. The novice and open groups have A and B classes. The utility division is for the top dogs in obedience.

The tasks are fairly simple in the novice class. But as a dog wins and moves toward the utility field, the judges expect near - perfection in the routines.

In this latter division, the dogs must show they obey voice, hand and whistle signals; can make blind and scent retrieves; double retrieves and other complicated efforts. The utility class will have the lowest number of entries in the obedience field. The two novice groups will have the most dogs.

The big feature at any dog show is the judging of the different breeds and variety groups for body conformity, looks and gait. Many spectators think the judges select only the best looking dogs. When the final choice has to be made between a half dozen different breeds for best in show honors, all the finalists eye.

The Pontiac Press awards the Best of Show trophy to the ultimate winner. About 500 canines will compete for this trophy.

The junior showmanship competition at the PKC show is always one of the highlights.

There will be two novice divisions for boys and girls 8 to 12 years old and from 13 to 16. The graduate novice class is for boys and girls 8 to 19 who have won in junior showmanship competition. The open division is for youths 10 to 16.

Handling is the only skill considered in junior work. The merits of the dog do not count.

NICE CATCH — Foster Fawcett of 10105 Elizabeth Lake Rd. took this 10¼-pound northern pike on a tipup just before dark last Thursday. Fawcett was picking up his lines on Upper Straits Lake when the big fish came along.

Big Northern Loses Fight With Upper Straits Angler

Foster Fawcett was a surprised angler when he reached down for the line to his tipup on Upper Straits Lake last Thursday afternoon.

* * *

He had pulled the rig out of the water and retrieved part of the line then left the hole for a minute to do something else. When he returned and started to reach for the line, he found all 70 feet of it gone from the spool.

"I knew a pike had taken the minnow, but I didn't realize he would be a big one," said Fawcett who lives at 10105 Elizabeth Lake Road. "When I jerked the line he jerked back, then I knew I had something large hooked."

The northern gave Fawcett a good fight before being overcome. A gashed, half frozen hand was one of his rewards for landing the prize.

"When I got the pike up to the hole, I reached in and tried to grab him behind the gills," said Fawcett. "I missed but he didn't."

The pike's teeth had raked the back of Fawcett's right hand and drawn blood. He succeeded in grabbing the fish on the next stab into the ice water.

The fish was taken to a store on the shore near where Fawcett had been fishing. It tipped the scales at 10½ pounds and was 35 inches long.

The action took place just before dark.

Upper, Middle and Lower Straits Lakes continue to be good places for pike. But the fishing has slowed considerably the last week. This seems to be the situation on most area lakes.

Fishermen who are in the right

Union and Elizabeth Lakes continue to be the most consistent on panfish. Big bluegills are being taken early in the morning on Union.

Cabless are hitting on Kent and Deer Lakes. Night fishing is productive on Kent.

* * *

Rainbow trout have been coming from Deer Lake. Trout lakes seem to be Elizabeth, Deer, Cemetery and Island.

Mysterious Malady Hits Elk Herd Again

The same mysterious malady that hits a few Michigan elk each year has struck again.

* * *

State game researchers are still looking for the cause and cure.

Latest tests on a sick cow elk taken from Pigeon River state forest, home of most of the herd, have turned up no trace of an infectious disease or parasites. It is under observation at the Rose Lake wildlife experiment station northeast of here.

Elk suffering from the malady eventually die as they lose weight and gradually waste away. Affected animals wander away from the herd and appear tame.

* * *

State game pathologist Dale Fay speculated that the sickness may stem from a hereditary condition. It strikes about three to six elk annually, not enough to affect the general health of the herd.

Jimmy Peters 5th in BCHL Scoring

Two Chatham skaters hold the scoring lead in the Border Cities Hockey League but the Junior Red Wings hold an eight-point lead ahead of Chatham in the standings.

Bob Dale with 61 points and Ross Columbus with 52 are the top scorers.

Pontiac's Jimmy Peters is in fifth place in the scoring with 19 goals, 19 assists for 38 points.

Disagreement Causes Beresford to Resign

LANSING (AP) — Trout Unlimited an organization dedicated to the preservation of that species of fish, has announced the resignation of Vic Beresford as executive director, secretary-treasurer and news-quarterly editor.

Beresford, one of the prime movers in founding the organization, said he resigned at the request of the board of directors.

A spokesman for the organization said the request was the result disagreements in philosophy between Beresford and some board members.

Shortage of Funds Hits Conservation

Gerald E. Eddy, director of the State Conservation Department, has some interesting predictions to make on the conservation outlooks for 1961.

By GERALD E. EDDY

LANSING (AP) — Conservation in Michigan will advance in 1961. But there will be no major strides because the department is hobbled by a shortage of funds.

* * *

Hunting and fishing will be good, generally, with game and fish populations at the levels of recent years. The state parks situation, critical for many months because of budget limitations, is due for improvement. Emphasis on multiple use of state forests will be strengthened.

Research in game and fish management will be concentrated, for the most part, on work already under way with few new projects on schedule. In geology, the picture is bright in some spots, not so bright in others.

For more than a year the Conservation Department has been operating within a rigid austerity program mainly because of a decline in revenue from fishing license sales. Money from these sales goes into the state game and fish protection fund from which appropriations are made for activities related to interests of hunters and fishermen.

As the new year gets under way, the fund is $1 million short of what it should be. To offset the decline in revenue and thereby prevent further cutbacks the Conservation Commission is proposing to the legislature that the resident fishing license fee be raised from $2 to $3; that a general rod license be required to fish in the Great Lakes; that the price of the trout stamp be raised from $2 to $3.

* * *

If these raises are approved, conservation in Michigan in the year ahead may be able to maintain goals already reached. Without the increases, serious setbacks are in store. Hence this financial situation looms as a major consideration for the new year.

A quick glance at the conservation picture for 1961 brings other things into focus. Small-game hunting should be fair to good. There is no reason to believe that the pheasant crop will be down, and grouse are on the upswing of their ten-year cycle which is due to reach its top in 1962. The waterfowl season may be better than in 1960, but still will be under par.

A prediction at this time of the deer situation for next fall would be premature. However, this much can be said: so far, this winter is off to a good start compared with the last two. The animals have a much better chance of coming through without severe losses.

* * *

The fawn crop of 1960 is down the past season here this and will be reflected in the 1961 season. By commission action, the antlerless kill will be limited to crop damage areas next season, unless unforeseen factors enter in to throw the herd out of balance with its range.

* * *

For the fisherman, the new year will be about the same as last year. As in the past, the growing competition among boaters, skiers and anglers will be a major problem. Legislative controls appear imminent, but whether or not they will be put into effect in 1961 is a question at this time.

In management of state parks, the situation is better than it has been in several years. An entrance permit requirement will provide revenue for retirement of a $3 million bond issue for land acquisition and improvements.

Multiple use of state forests will guide forestry practices in 1961. In addition to management for wood products, there will be forest cuttings and plantings for wildlife. Recreation seekers will find more campgrounds. More nature trails will be developed and marked.

* * *

There are definite needs in conservation research on the new year's horizon, but meeting them will depend largely on the financial situation. Fish population studies of the Great Lakes waters is one of these. There is little doubt that such studies could find new locations for those who like to catch smallmouth bass and walleyes.

* * *

We want to know more about the fish-carrying capacity and productivity of inland lakes, too. There is a possibility that methods used to control the sea lamprey in the Great Lakes may also be effective in control of the chestnut-sided lamprey, particularly in the Manistee River. This should be studied. Cause of the winter mortality on wild trout in streams should be determined.

Research in game management, especially in habitat and nutrition should be expanded. There again, money is the determining factor.

In land management the problems in 1961 will have to do with protecting the public domain against unreasonable demands of private interests, and the determination of ownership rights in bottomlands in lakes and streams. With more money available for the expansion of the parks system, the problem of getting the most for these new dollars will also be of prime importance.

In geology activities, 1961 promises to be a good year for oil and gas production, and for non-metallics—gypsum, salt, sand and gravel. But in production of high-grade copper and iron, the picture is not a bright one.

* * *

These then, are conservation's major considerations as the new year gets under way. Progress is in store, generally, but there are no foreseeable stand-out developments.

State Lawmakers Divided on Deer Herd Management

United Press International

Conservation-minded legislators are up in arms, along with many other outdoor sportsmen in the state, about deer management policies.

* * *

Members of the 1961 state legislature who answered a United Press International questionnaire on the major and minor issues coming before them in the next session were almost equally split on the answer to the deer problem, but the opponents of present policy were more vocal than the rest.

Several cited deer management among the top five issues of the 1961 session.

"The deer problem is most vexing, other than paying our bills," said a leading Republican senator.

* * *

The present system of deer herd management by the Conservation Department was attacked by lawmakers who viewed the past season, in which the deer kill dropped substantially, as an indication of need for a change in policy.

* * *

Sportsmen have lost faith in the present department the Legislature should take control.

Let's stop the antierless deer kill until more fool-proof estimates of the herd can be made," were typical comments from the lawmakers.

Of those in favor of maintaining control by the Conservation Department, as opposed to giving the Legislature control, one member of the State House seemed to represent the general sentiment. "The Conservation Department may be making some mistakes, but the Legislature would make bigger ones," he said.

Opinions were widely split on whether to maintain, qualify, cut down, or completely eliminate the special seasons on antierless deer. Several lawmakers felt control over special seasons should be transferred to county units which could better estimate the herd in their areas.

Fish Expedition at Lake Oakland Set for Feb. 26

Oakland County's 16th annual Ice Fishing Expedition will be Feb. 26 at Lake Oakland.

Members of the Chief Pontiac Post of the American Legion are in charge of the event. Marshall Charter has been named ice fishing king for the event.

This special fishing day was revived in 1960 after missing several years. It is for men only. Charter said tickets would become available this weekend.

Beaver Island to Get Trapped Wild Turkeys

Wild turkeys will be planted on Beaver Island in northern Lake Michigan if the State Conservation Department can trap enough of them in Allegan state forest.

* * *

Department men hope to live-trap about 20 turkeys during the next few weeks and fly them to the island for immediate release. They will use a large weighted net fired by two motar-like cannons.

The same method was used successfully in trapping geese and other birds that live in flocks.

Wild turkeys were planted in several areas of the state in 1954 and flourished most successfully on the Allegan state forest. The flock now numbers between 600 and 700 birds, almost the saturation point, game men said.

* * *

Until the birds are firmly established on Beaver Island, they will be fed by artificial means, the department said.

Fish Derby Saturday

The annual ice fishing derby at Metropolitan Beach will be Saturday from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Awards will be given for the heaviest total perch catch and the longest perch in three divisions.

Denies Signing Texan Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Tackle Dick Mill says he signed a contract with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League because "that's where I want to play."

Mills Tuesday denied he had signed with the Dallas Texans of the American Football League, saying:

* * *

"I signed what they told me was an option. If they told me the truth when I signed that paper, I was not signing a contract for any services."

Mills, the Lions third draft choice, said he telephoned Detroit President Edwin Anderson and was told not to worry because Dallas would have no claims.

* * *

Dallas Coach Hank Stram previously said his club signed Mills first. "But Detroit apparently convinced him that our contract was not valid."

The Texans picked Mills in the ninth round of the AFL draft.

Learning in Field Still Good

'Outdoor Education' in Classrooms

LANSING (UPI) — "Outdoor education" used to mean the hunting and fishing lore passed from father or grandfather or uncle to son or grandson or nephew.

It was mostly of the "how to" variety. How to tell an oak tree from a maple; how to tell which way a rabbit was running from tracks in the snow, or how to coax a duck into gun range.

Now, youngsters can get at least a basic "outdoor education" just by reading books or attending classes.

Much lore of the outdoors is still taught youngsters by taking them into the field of course. A real appreciation of wildlife, wilderness, hunting and fishing must be partly inborn and partly learned from watching respected companions in the field.

But the teaching techniques of the classroom are coming more on by the college of education at and more into use—particularly as Michigan State University,

Many other groups carry on much the same type of program.

Basically, what the teachers in these areas do is to encourage the use of the outdoors as a means to learn about nature, and to instill appreciation of natural resources and intelligent use of them in youngsters.

Therefore, the "field trip" in organized outdoor education is similar to the "hunting trip" by dad and son.

Included in the avalanche of publications dealing with outdoor education are pamphlets and books dealing with how to teach about the outdoors, what to look for in the outdoors and how to behave in the best interests of conservation and recreation.

One chief benefit of the organized efforts to teach the value of nature is that youngsters who otherwise might not be exposed to the ideas get a chance to take part.

A prime example of outright instruction in the proper way to behave in the outdoors is the hunter safety training program of the Conservation Department.

In it, youngsters are shown how to handle firearms, how to make sure what they are shooting at and how to protect themselves in the woods.

With more people hunting and fishing than ever before, it is more important that each outdoorsman respect the rights of others and recognize his own obligations to conservation of wildlife-in-nature.

Another phase of the modern "outdoor education" in the outdoor education project of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation carried on by the college of education at Michigan State University.

WHAT BIG TEETH — A huge man-eating tiger shark, weighing 1,500 pounds, is displayed in San Francisco's Fishermen's Wharf after being caught in a fishing net a few miles north of the Golden Gate bridge. There has been a recent invasion of the waters in the area by sharks and swimming is practically non-existent.

Predict Bounty on Coyotes Will Be Last One Removed

By the Associated Press

The mournful "Ki-yoo-oo-oo" of a coyote's howl is one of the most spine-tingling sounds of the wild country.

For many a city-bound easterner, the vision of a night-prowling coyote, head uplifted in a lonely serenade to the moon, is symbolic of the wild West.

* * *

Coyotes, though predominantly westerners, have made themselves at home in Michigan since the early days of the century. They moved into the state in the wake of forest fires and vast logging operations that created desirable living conditions.

Twenty-six years ago, prodded by farmers and stockmen, the legislature put a bounty on their heads. Since then, the state has paid out about $1,275.00 in coyote bounties.

For the past 15 years, the total of bountied coyotes has ranged between 3,000 and 3,900, indicating the population is neither increasing nor decreasing significantly.

It indicates also that bounty trapping and shooting removes only the surplus animals without reducing the breeding stock.

On an average, about 65 to 70 per cent of the bountied animals are trapped, 15 per cent are killed by hunters and 20 per cent are dug from dens. About 90 per cent are taken in the Upper Peninsula, furnishing a fairly sizable income for a few trappers who take their work seriously.

Usually, between 20 and 30 of them turn in two dozen or so for bounties, collecting $15 for males and $20 for females. Only Minnesota with its flat $25 bounty, is more generous.

State conservation officials, strapped for funds for a wide variety of programs, would like nothing better than to do away with the coyote bounty, along with those paid for bobcats and foxes to the tune of about $175,000 a year. They cite voluminous evidence indicating that bounties are a total waste of money, failing in their chief purpose of controlling predator populations.

"I have said it more than once, however, that the coyote bounty will be the last to go," said Ray Schofield, department game biologist. "The opposition to removing it would be loud and strong.

* * *

"Coyotes feed largely on dead deer, rabbits and other wild animals," but they are more destructive, agriculturaly speaking, than other animals, especially where sheep are concerned," he said.

"Some people insist they would get out of hand if we removed the bounty, all evidence to the contrary."

Coyotes, clever and elusive, are increasingly becoming a popular game animal in Michigan. Hunting with packs of hounds is a growing sport in the northern areas of the Lower Peninsula where they abound.

Off Drummond Island and in other sections of the eastern Upper Peninsula, some hunters have fashioned queer propellor-driven contraptions called air sleds for chasing coyotes across the ice in winter.

Coyotes, it seems, like to skirt the islands and river banks in forages for food, setting themselves up as easily spotted targets for the hunter and his hound.

Sight-In Day Award Received by OCSC

The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club has received a public service award from the National Rifle Association for its part in the national Sighting-In Day held last year.

The OCSC is one of several hundred clubs in the nation that inaugurated the sight-in program. As a service to shooters, NRA club ranges were opened to help them check their shooting equipment and to increase safety in the field.

Kellogg Foundation Aids MSU Sanctuary

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Bird fanciers will soon have expanded facilities to follow their hobby, thanks to a well-known Michigan benefactor of educational institutions.

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation, which has provided funds for educational projects throughout the state, recently provided $433,750 in a grant to improve Michigan State University's Kellogg bird sanctuary near Battle Creek.

The sanctuary has been a sight-seeing attraction for about three million people in the 30 years since the late W. K. Kellogg gave it to MSU.

Don't Try to Be Big Shot, Though

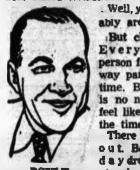

Daydreams Can Lift You Above Emptiness

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Does the world sometimes seem too big for you

Well, it is.

Do you sometimes feel small, futile and lost—an overwhelmed human zero in an inhuman wilderness called civilization?

BOYLE

Well, you probably are.

But cheer up. Every normal person feels that way part of the time. But there is no need to feel like that all the time.

There is a way out. Become a daydreamer — at whatever time of day you need it most.

★ ★ ★

Some people sneer at daydreamers as impractical. They are usually unimaginative people who had only one dream in their lives. They put this dream into harness and beat it with a whip until it got them what they wanted out of living.

★ ★ ★

Then they discover that wasn't really all they wanted from life after all. So they lose their faith in dreams of any kind. In their own frustration they try to knock down everybody else's dreams. Such people are knotheads.

The easiest way we small cogs can feel more important than the machine is through daydreams. They are the emotional elevators that lift us above emptiness and nonentity.

But there are two types of day dreamers, and it is essential that you become the right one.

★ ★ ★

The boss walks by your desk and says, "Hello." If you automatically wonder, "What did he mean by that—is he going to fire me?" you are a fearful daydreamer. This is the wrong kind. You will dwell only in dreams of dread, and nothing is more pitiful.

★ ★ ★

But if the boss says "Hello" to you, and you immediately begin to figure what changes you'll make in company policy when he takes you in as partner, you are on the right track. You are a constructive daydreamer. Dreams give you security and hope, and that's what dreams are for.

Here is how the successful daydreamer operates in fantasy:

He sips a glass of cheap red wine in a cheap restaurant, and at once becomes a Paris boulevardier dawdling over champagne.

He may be only a clerk, but if they put two telephones on his desk to answer, he assumes in his head the role of Wall Street tycoon.

★ ★ ★

He bets $2 on the long-shot in the first race at the track, and plans to parlay his winnings by betting them on every other long-shot of the day. Sometime, somewhere, every long-shot will come in first, and if this should be the right track and the right day he will go home a multimillionaire.

★ ★ ★

He robs Ft. Knox single-handed, gives half the money to charity, buys Texas with the other half, and never goes to jail.

He sees the picture of a film star on the front page of a newspaper held by the passenger next to him on the bus. Before he gets to the end of his ride, he has married half a dozen movie queens—and tossed them aside without alimony.

He lifts a pair of binoculars to his eyes, but he doesn't see a robin in a tree. He is Lord Nelson at Trafalgar.

★ ★ ★

The great virtue of daydreaming is that you can be anybody, go anywhere, do anything—but escape any responsibility for your decisions or actions. You make of life a game—a pretense guiltless of hypocrisy.

There is only one danger. The daydreamer knows true happiness only if he doesn't try to translate his impossible dreams into deeds. That way lies disaster.

It is all right for a mouse to daydream that it is a dinosaur only so long as it doesn't try to attack a cat.

OK Group to Study RO Twp. Problems

A citizens committee, initially to study the economic and social problems of Royal Oak Township, areas in the county, was approved yesterday by the board of supervisors.

It was urged by Probate Court Judge Arthur E. Moore, who told supervisors coordination was necessary "in our efforts to improve the underprivileged communities of the county.

It will be the third committee to be established to probe into the township, which borders on Wayne County along Eight Mile Road.

Creation of what the board of supervisors was told would be a citizens economic welfare committee, to be appointed by Chairman Delos Hamlin, caught Township Supervisor Elwood Dickens somewhat by surprise.

★ ★ ★

"I knew they were working on something like this but didn't know when it was coming," Dickens told The Press.

He expressed hope that the new committee would be successful, and at the same time expressed disappointment of the number of committees assigned to the same task.

"I would hope that this would be the one to coordinate over all others," Dickens said.

Cleveland Plane Promised City

Flights From Pontiac to Ohio City Should Start in Spring, Says Officials

One-plane service between Pontiac and Cleveland should be inaugurated this spring, a North Central Airlines official said Tuesday.

The company is scheduled to begin an initial Detroit-Cleveland hop Feb. 1 as an extension to flights serving cities in Eastern Michigan. Frank N. Buttomer, North Central vice president in charge of sales and traffic, said the number of initial Detroit-Cleveland hops was curtailed temporarily and designed to favor the Michigan cities generating the most traffic at present.

The company wants to gain experience in the route before scheduling more flights, Buttomer said.

He said "undoubtedly" one-plane service benefiting Pontiac would begin April 30, when summertime schedules start.

Buttomer said Pontiac's "poor showing" in generating traffic last month was not a factor in the decision to postpone inauguration of Cleveland service here.

"We never expected that service inaugurated in the wintertime would get off to a good start," he said.

"But we had to start it in December because that's when the Civil Aeronautics Board authorized it. We expect Pontiac traffic will pick up in the spring."

The Airlines carried only 43 outbound passengers from Pontiac last month.

Warns Gas Heater for Trailer Lethal

LANSING (AP) — The State Health Department has asked all trailer owners and dealers in Michigan to be on the watch for some 60 trailers described as "lethal gas chambers."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, identified the trailers as Midway Travel Trailer models equipped with Akoolwall, Model 642 heater.

★ ★ ★

The defective heater, without a vent, already has resulted in the death, of carbon monoxide poisoning, of a Maryland man, Heustis said.

"Death will stalk users of these trailers until all 60 of them are located and the heaters converted to safe ones," Heustis said.

State School Administrators Meet Thursday

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— Proposed school legislation, a new accreditation formula for schools and changes in the teacher certification code are expected to be the controversial issues as school superintendents meet here Thursday and Friday.

★ ★ ★

About 500 educators will attend the annual midyear conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, will give his recommendations for an improvement in state school aid. It is expected he will go along with a recommendation by educators for an 8 per cent hike, an increase of about $20 million a year.

Gov. Swainson will give his views on education Friday night.

Grain Dealings Tend Toward Weakness

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market tilted toward weakness today in slackened early transactions on the board of trade.

Soybeans started off generally firm to strong but settled back after posting gains of major fractions to more than a cent in most contracts. In less than 20 minutes losses ranged to small fractions.

However, dealers said the easier tone all around probably was due more to slower demand than to any selling movement. There appeared to be no new influences either way in the trade.

Temporary Workers Laid Off at Pontiac

Pontiac Motor Division did lay off a small number of "temporary employes" last Friday, but a spokesman said the layoff was not due to production cutbacks which caused layoffs in the rest of the auto industry.

The spokesman said the persons laid off were not part of the permanent production force, but were "temporary employes" hired until production of the new 1961 Pontiac and Tempest reached programmed efficiency.

He said more of the same type employes would be laid off this week and next.

Market Trading Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly in active trading early this afternoon

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .10 to 225.70 with the industrials off .10 rails unchanged, and utilities off .10.

Changes of most key stocks were very small but there were a few moves of a point or so in either direction. In fact, the fairly sharp losses of some blue chips weighted the average to the downside although more stocks advanced than declined in the over-all list.

Brokers saw the market as consolidating some of the gains made in its 1961 rally. It was noted that profit taking on this rally was being countered very evenly by steady reinvestment demand.

★ ★ ★

Steels, drugs, oils, and aircrafts were mostly higher. Rails rested after their recent advances and were narrowly mixed. Farm implements and electrical equipment declined. Many groups were mixed.

Most of the leading steelmakers maintained a very narrow upside edge but U.S. Steel erased a fractional gain and traded about unchanged.

Ford was outstanding in its group, rising 1¼ to 69⅜ on a block of 6,200 shares. Chrysler and General Motors showed little change. American Motors was steady.

Losses of a point by Eastman Kodak and a well over a point by General Electric and Union Carbide dragged at the average. Westinghouse Electric was fractionally lower.

Approve Study of County Insurance Program by 3

A study of Oakland County's insurance program, under fire recently for not being based on competitive bids, will be made by three county supervisors to be appointed by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors.

Supervisors yesterday approved the study, to be completed within 90 days upon the suggestion of Curtis Potter, Royal Oak supervisor.

★ ★ ★

Potter and fellow Royal Oak Supervisor Harry W. Horton have been critical of Pontiac insurance broker Howard W. Huttenlocher holding nearly 35 per cent of the county's insurance policies as long-standing agent of record.

Potter yesterday would not accept an investigation of the insurance program by Corporation Counsel Norman R. Barnard, as suggested by the ways and means committee, believing this would only result in what Potter called a "biased opinion."

My suggestion would get it back to the grass roots, Potter said.

The committee will be asked to study and evaluate the premiums and coverage of the present insurance and bonding program of the county and to recommend "any possible areas where a savings may accrue to the county."

Barnard said he expected Hamlin to appoint the committee sometime next week.

Conventional Water Tower Wins Okay

A low bid of $42,220 from the Chicago Bridge & Iron Co. for construction of a conventional-type water tower to serve the new county courthouse was approved yesterday by the board of supervisors.

Acceptance of the bid climaxed many discussions whether the county should build the conventional-type stock design tower or a so-called more modern water sphere type.

Settling on the conventional type, supervisors said meant a savings of $12,335 to the county.

★

Shunck will be introduced to the group as the president-elect of the MASA. He was selected by the 600 members by mail recently.

★ ★ ★

Shunck's new position will in no way interfere with his present job as Waterford's school superintendent, he said.

OKs Bond Exchange for MSUO Project

The State Municipal Finance Commission has authorized Oakland County to issue $360,000 in revenue bonds in exchange for others previously issued toward construction of a sanitary sewer system at Michigan State University Oakland.

★ ★ ★

R. J. Alexander, director of the department of public works, said the new bonds will be spread over a 2-year period instead of the original issue of $370,000 over five years.

★ ★ ★

He said development in the area being served by the system has not been "as great as originally expected," and that funds from connection charges and treatment rates were not sufficient to retire the bonds over five years.

FUTURE CAR? — The McLouth Steel Corp. of Detroit has unveiled this concept of a car of the future at the Society of Automotive Engineers convention at Cobo Hall in Detroit. It is a stainless steel full-sized model that could be used for a monorail system of the future.

Stresses Future Use of Steel

Engineers See Car on Monorail

Stressing the use of stainless steel, the McLouth Steel Corp. of Detroit has placed on display a full-sized model of an auto of the future which could be used with a monorail rapid transit system.

The car is part of the firm's display at the Society of Automotive Engineers convention being held in Cobo Hall, Detroit.

"Many transportation engineers and planners believe that future travel will rely heavily on monorail systems for the safe, convenient and rapid transportation of people and goods between distant points," McLouth engineers said.

"Nearly all systems proposed to date make use of multipassenger vehicles or 'trains,' but few, if any, have considered the monorail as a means of transporting personal vehicles from point to point so that the traveler may have private transportation at his destination," they added.

Affixed to a platform or "pod" which is mounted on a section of the monorail track, the vehicle demonstrates how it could be carried safely at speeds exceeding 100 miles per hour aside from traffic and weather delays.

★ ★ ★

As the McLouth display shows, at the start a vehicle similar to the model would enter a station where it is secured to an electronically controlled platform or "pod."

The pod would be positioned on the monorail track and from there to the predetermined destination the driver has nothing to do but enjoy the scenery.

The speed of the vehicle, the distance between vehicles and the departure from the monorail at the destination point are all controlled electronically.

Upon arrival, the car is released from the pod, the driver assumes control, and the pod is ready for the next traveler.

Knocks Building Off Foundation

5 Hurt as Car Runs Wild

HAZEL PARK — Five persons were injured last night when a car being driven about 80 miles an hour blew a tire, plowed through a wooden fence and cut off a large steel electric sign, then knocked a 600-square foot building off its foundation.

All five were taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Damage to the building, the Twin-Kiss Ice Cream Drive In at 23022 Stephenson Highway, is estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000 by part-owner William Newville.

Driver of the car, John Brown, 23, of Hazel Park, is in satisfactory condition with facial lacerations. Rosemary Posan, 19, of Warren, has two fractured legs and multiple lacerations of face and hands. Her condition is fair.

★ ★ ★

Jacqueline Attanasio, 25, of Hazel Park, is in satisfactory condition with a broken left foot. Sandy Walle, 18, of Hazel Park received lacerations of the scalp and multiple bruises. She is in satisfactory condition.

Jerry Mixer, 23, of Hazel Park, has lacerations of the face and right elbow and is in satisfactory condition.

Brown told Hazel Park police that he and Mixer had picked up the girls and were taking them to a party at the Metropolitan Club in Hazel Park.

He said he was in "a hurry" because he was late.

Hazel Park police say the car traveled 179 feet before it hit the building. When the electric sign in front of the building was cut off, at ground level it electrically charged 10 houses in the area. Hazel Park firemen called because police feared one of the homes might catch fire.

Consumers Power Co. was called to repair the wire.

★ ★ ★

The building was knocked off its foundation to a 90-degree angle, hanging over adjacent Pearl Street.

Charles A. Hatter, 18, 292 Rapid St., was placed on six months probation yesterday after pleading guilty to a simple larceny charge before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

He was accused of the theft of a pair of shoes from the Hill Bros. Shoe Store, 125 W. Huron St.

Store manager Anthony P. Zografos called police after another employe spotted Hatter sticking a pair of shoes in the back of the waistband of his trousers.

Charles Miller, 192 Luther St., pleaded guilty to the charge after being arrested by Pontiac police vice squad officers yesterday afternoon.

Officers found ten books of numbers slips in the car.

Defense Control Center Plans Shelved by County

Plans for a civil defense control center for the county were shelved yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The board of supervisors voted 43-34 not to hold a special meeting only on details of the proposed $422,400 center. The board chose to table the matter until the county learns what the federal financial participation in the project will be.

The postponement of action brought a sharp denunciation and warning from Charles E. Cardon, Oak Park supervisor and chairman of the board's civil defense committee.

"The tragic part of this thing is that no one else has the guts to tell you of the possible danger in this," he said. "You can't wait for Santa Claus in Washington to provide funds before you move."

"Right now a saboteur could blow the county communications to blazes."

★ ★ ★

Realizing that the ways and means committee would propose to table the project, Cardon left Tuesday's agenda with a motion for the special explanatory session.

David Levinson, chairman of the ways and means committee, which would be asked to appropriate more than $900,000 in county funds toward the center, protested the move as being out of order.

Upon the recommendation of Cyril E. Miller of Avon Township, a roll call vote was taken to table Cardon's motion.

'WOULD KILL WORK'

Another member of Cardon's committee, Marshall E. Taylor of Walled Lake, said Levinson's tabling proposal "would kill all of the work we've done for two years."

"Your committee anticipates that the new Congress may take some action which may assist the board in determining whether further expenditures for this project are warranted," Levinson said.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Cardon's committee announced that Lewis C. Jarrendt, county civil defense director, has been authorized to build a model fallout shelter for public inspection in a Royal Oak home at Troy and 11-Mile roads.

Alert Police Officer Nabs 2 in Building

An alert Waterford Township policeman early today caught two men taking money from automatic washing machines at a laundromat located at 2468 Elizabeth Lake Road, near Highland Road.

Officer Raymond Wilhelm was on his way back to the police station when he spotted Ronald Olsen, 227 Voorheis Road and Robert E. Davis, 26 Sesan St., trying to pry open coin boxes on the machines with a screw driver.

The officer parked his car some distance away and walked back warning the men that they were under arrest. The two submitted without protest and were lodged in the Oakland County jail on a charge of breaking and entering.

Delay Hearing of Alleged Killer

Lawyer for Hamilton Asks Postponement to Study Case Longer

Examination of Keith I. Hamilton, accused of slaying two of his wife's brothers, has been postponed until Jan. 25.

Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum granted the postponement at the request of the 25-year-old former preacher's court-appointed attorney, John T. Rogers.

Rogers said he needed more time to study the case prior to the holding of the pretrial hearing.

Hamilton, who police say admitted the killings "on impulse," is being held without bond in the Oakland County Jail.

He is charged specifically with the murder of his brother-in-law William R. Smith, 27, of 75 Lincoln St., the night of Jan. 2.

William R. Smith and his brother, Melvin, 28, were killed instantly by single shots fired into their heads at close range with a deer rifle.

Hamilton at one time held a preacher's license from the Beulah Holiness Church and the Wesleyan Holiness Church, but never from the Wesleyan Holiness Association.

Detroit Police War on Crime Upsets Churches

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Council of Churches today voiced "grave concern" over current procedures of the Detroit police department and called for the establishment of an emergency public committee to evaluate charges and counter-charges regarding police treatment of minority groups.

Harold C. McKinney Jr., director of the council's public affairs department said the committee formation was suggested to "ensure the restoration" of community confidence in "the fairness and integrity of our law enforcement agencies."

"Protestant religious leaders, including all our ministers and lay leaders, from churches predominately minority group in membership, are wholly in accord with sound police measures to apprehend all individual criminals, and to drastically reduce the current crime level," McKinney said.

Attempt Car Arson in Avon Township

The attempted arson of a car in Avon Township last night was being investigated further today by sheriff's deputies.

★ ★ ★

Jarvis Lamb of 404 Winry Road saw flames shoot up from under his car parked in front of the house at 8 p.m., in time to run out and move the vehicle.

He recalled seeing another car stop momentarily in front of his house seconds before, but said he paid little attention to it then.

★ ★ ★

Deputies found remnants of a Molotov cocktail (a gasoline-filled bottle with rags stuffed in the top as a fuse) which had exploded under Lamb's car.

They believe vandals attempted the arson.

Strike Perils NY Freight Shipments

NEW YORK (UPI)—The strike by 660 ferry and tug boat crewmen threatened today to paralyze nearly all freight shipments to the nation's largest city.

Sympathy tie-ups by truckers and rail workers imperiled delivery of fresh and preserved foodstuffs, fuel and other essential goods.

Everything from meat to automobiles faced the cutoff.

The strike started Tuesday and led to an immediate tie-up of 51 tugs, which power hundreds of freight-carrying barges, and nine ferries which carry 30,000 commuters to work daily from New Jersey across the Hudson River to Manhattan.

November High Set by Car Registrations

DETROIT (AP)—New car registrations set a record for the month of November of 543,042, R.L. Polk & Co., industry statisticians, reported Tuesday.

Total registration, including imported cars, for the first 11 months were 6,032,372 compared with 6,026,500 for the full year of 1959.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LYDIA Healey who passed away January 11, 1960.
The depths of sorrow we cannot sound,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And what a blank it has made in our home.
Her memory we shall always keep,
Sadly missed by Ray.

IN MEMORY OF JOHN SANDstrom who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 11, 1960. Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by his wife Harriet, daughters Sally and JoAnn, granddaughters and sisters.

AND THE WALLS come tumbling down at 41-43 Pine St., where city DPW crews are wrecking a two-story apartment building to make way for a municipal parking lot. Just north of The Pontiac Press, the parking site extends through to Wayne Street, a block east, where a two-story office building at 113 Wayne is to be leveled. Both buildings were bought by the city for parking last summer. The county jail can be seen in the background.

Salute to Ike Uninspired, Lacks Real Human Warmth

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — The salute that NBC-TV tossed to a five-star patriot last night rates just one star in my table of organization.

Titled, "Tribute to a Patriot," the full-hour special set out to honor President Dwight D. Eisenhowever. As a celluloid scrap book of familiar mementos culled from a life that is filled with achievement, the program served its purpose nicely. Ah, but what it might have been.

James Stewart, the narrator, began at the beginning and took us right to the present. In some broad steps he introduced us to a number of the President's boyhood pals, teachers and Army colleagues.

The program moved rapidly through the "Crusade in Europe," Columbia University, NATO and the presidency. The final quarter-hour was devoted to formal tributes by various wgrld leaders, news secretary James Hagerty, Vice President Nixon and President Elect Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Chet Hagan's script was accompanied by newsreel clips, videotape, still photographs and recordings. There were two musical interludes, both supplied by the West Point Glee Club.

What was missing? Let's say too much of the hour was predictable, familiar and uninspired. Too many of the tributes were too formal, filled with language usually reserved for letters which accept the resignation of the firm's most important and honored executive.

A keener feeling for the little vignettes that reveal the warmth of human personality was needed in this program. To be sure, there were brief glimpses of what the tribute could have been.

NBC's Merrill Mueller, for example, in recalling Gen. Eisenhower's mood on the eve of D-Day gave the program a badly needed lift. Capt. Harry Butcher and Gen. James Van Fleet also put some spirit into the otherwise cool proceedings.

★ ★ ★

The program should have pulled in some D-Day GIs, some British Tommies who encountered the general during the campaign in the ETO. It should have had contributions from Eisenhower's brothers, his wife, his son, his grandchildren.

It should have offered brief comments by unknown Americans as well as the VIP's who have had contact with Eisenhower in recent years.

By putting the tribute on a more personal, grass roots level, I think, NBC would have presented a more meaningful, trenchant program.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: "Romanticism in Music," a 90-minute special featuring an all-star cast headed by Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic, will be presented on CBS-TV Sunday, Jan. 22.

ABC Radio has paid "in excess of $350,000" for exclusive broadcast rights to the Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johannson heavyweight championship fight scheduled for Monday, March 13 at Miami Beach. The fee is said to be the largest of its kind in broadcasting history.

Paul Whiteman will conduct the "Telephone Hour" orchestra in an anniversary performance of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" on NBC-TV Friday, Feb. 3.

"The Dave Garroway Today Show," marking its ninth anniversary on NBC-TV this Friday, will play it for laughs with visits by comedians Jack E. Leonard, Jan Murray and Morey Amsterdam.

CBS-TV's "Steel Hour" for Wednesday, June 7, is scheduled as a pickup from Pittsburgh of Gene Autry's rodeo stars in action.

Waterford's Belton Takes Minnesota Job

Recreation Head to Quit March 1

Thomas W. Belton, Waterford Township recreation director for the past eight years, has announced his resignation effective March 1. He will become superintendent of parks and recreation at Austin, Minn.

When Belton first came to the township, there were eight programs in operation and the annual budget was $17,000.

THOMAS W. BELTON

Now there are more than 30 recreational programs in full swing with a yearly budget of $81,000. The school board and the township board sponsor the projects.

The Golden Age Group, Fashion Your Figure Club, various ball leagues, summer day camps and 11 summer playground activities are among those organized under Belton's supervision. Adult swimming lessons, and the latest — class piano lessons — have added to the leisure-time activities.

Belton, 32, lives with his wife Jane and two children James, 4, and Deborah, 18 months, at 4150 Motorway Drive.

★ ★ ★

After graduation from Michigan State University in 1953 with a bachelor of science and a major in administration of public recreation, Belton attended several training institutes conducted by the National Recreation Association.

He was assigned to the Special Services Division in Tokyo during World War II.

In 1955 Belton was named Waterford Township's Outstanding Young Man of the Year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Belton's memberships include the American Institute of Park Executives; National Recreation Association; and Recreation Association of Michigan, of which he was treasurer in 1958. He is a past district commissioner of the Michigan Softball Association, and last year was vice president of the Northern Detroit Metropolitan Area Recreation Executives Association.

★ ★ ★

Belton's new position in Austin (population 30,000) will not involve a noticeable increase in salary, but he will have an annual budget of $120,000 for operation of a well-established recreation department.

City to Let Bids on Fire Station

April 15 Set as Date on New Headquarters at Civic Center

After reviewing initial plans for the proposed Civic Center headquarters fire station, City Manager Walter K. Willman said today that April 15 is the target date for letting of construction contracts.

Willman, Fire Chief James White and representatives of O'Dell Hewlett & Luckenbach Associates met yesterday to discuss the development of preliminary plans.

The Birmingham architectural firm, designer of the Civic Center library, was retained last month to design a two-story building with a partial basement, containing 30,000 square feet of space or more, at a ceiling price of $378,000, including architectural fees.

The price does not include costs of the site, purchased during the past two years across East Pike Street from the Public Safety Building. Nor does it include equipment.

Willman said he hoped construction would be under way by the time of the official centennial observance in June.

Old Mill Tavern Is Approved as Corporation

The Waterford Township Board has accepted and approved a request to change the Old Mill Tavern in Waterford from private ownership to a corporation.

Veteran restaurateur Louis Dorman Sr., wants his sons and daughters to share in the operation of the Old Mill, and the group has set up a board of directors, with Dorman as president.

His son Louis Jr. was elected vice president, and a daughter, Mrs. Harold Jacobs of Plymouth, named secretary-treasurer. Others on the board are Mrs. Donald E. White and Mrs. E. J. Lally of Waterford Hill, and son Robert M. Dorman and Mrs. Dorman Sr.

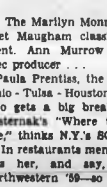

Known throughout the area as a favorite eating place of visiting dignitaries, top-brass politicians and tourists, the Old Mill Tavern has been in the Dorman family for the past 25 years.

Before that the senior Dorman, his father and brothers were in the restaurant business in Flint.

Bashkirov plays in Carnegie Hall in New York tonight.

He is on a two-month tour of the United States as part of the U.S. - Soviet cultural exchange program.

"I think we should have more cultural exchanges," he said. "Our countries need to become more friendly with each other."

Would Tighten Narcotic Laws

Group Wants State to Stiffen the Penalties for Dope Possession

EAST LANSING (AP) — The legislative committee of Michigan law enforcement agencies says it has sponsored proposals to tighten state narcotic laws and protect public officials against nuisance criminal actions.

These were among more than a dozen bills sponsored or approved at a prelegislative meeting at state police headquarters of the group, representing associations of chiefs of police, sheriffs, circuit, recorders and municipal judges, justices of the peace, the state police and attorney general's departments.

The narcotic law amendment, sought by the Detroit Police Department, is intended to stiffen penalties for possession of narcotics — a plea sometimes used to escape the minimum 20-year sentence for selling narcotics.

The measure to safeguard public officials in lawsuits, would allow only prosecutors and the attorney general's office to authorize warrants. It is intended to "reduce the type of action intended only for its nuisance and revenge value," the committee said.

★ ★ ★

Currently a citizen can have a warrant issued by making a complaint and filing a $10 bond with a justice of the peace.

Other proposals sponsored by the committee include:

★ ★ ★

—Amendment of the chemical test law, to prevent persons from demanding the test while barring its use in court.

—Amendment of the law covering larceny from a motor vehicle to include motor boats and airplanes.

All forms are to be returned to the post office when completed.

Broomfield Has 5 Bills for House

Asks City Road Bonds Be Guaranteed by the Federal Government

A plan to provide federal guarantees for municipal public works bonds was among five bills introduced by Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, in the House of Representatives.

★ ★ ★

Other bills would: permit voluntary pension plans for the self-employed; increase allowable outside income provisions for widows with children receiving social security; increase outside earning provisions for those who have retired under social security, and require humane trapping devices for game on federal lands.

Broomfield said the municipal bond bill would place the full faith and credit of the federal government behind water supply, sewer and antipollution facilities.

"Interest costs to communities could be reduced considerably and costs to the federal government would be negligible," he said.

Broomfield introduced the bill last year, but if failed to clear through the House Banking and Currency Committee. "I have picked up some support from municipal groups and civic organizations for this plan, and it has been received very favorably," he said.

★ ★ ★

Social security changes to permit a greater amount of outside earnings are a "necessity," said Broomfield. "Present amounts are unreasonable and are working a great hardship on many widows and senior citizens."

County Can't Stem Rising Traffic Toll

If last year's average is any indication, Oakland County's next traffic victim will be a 35-year-old father of two, and he will be killed on a Thursday at three minutes before midnight.

The county during 1960 sustained a heavy setback in its constant struggle to minimize traffic deaths.

A total of 111 persons died in Oakland last year as the result of vehicle accidents, according to an unofficial tally kept by The Pontiac Press.

This constitutes an increase of 20 deaths over the previous year when 91 persons perished on county roads.

A glance at the 1960 record shows the head-on collision was the major accident factor resulting in death. In each case a driver was caught over the road's center line at the fatal moment.

Another major cause of fatal accidents were high-speed crashes into stationary objects, such as trees, poles and traffic signs.

★ ★ ★

Statistics show that ramming a stationary object of any size at 30 miles an hour or more is nearly always fatal to someone in the vehicle.

A total of 23 head-on fatal accidents claimed the lives of 37 persons. Collisions with stationary objects, including stopped vehicles were fatal to 16 in Oakland County last year.

Pedestrians were big losers on area roads and highways in 1960 when 26 were killed. The previous year saw 17 pedestrians die in the county.

The two worst accidents in 1960 occurred Feb. 28 and Oct. 8. Both were head-on crashes. Each claimed four lives.

★ ★ ★

Two other head-on collisions, Jan. 1 and March 14, each proved fatal to three persons.

Three of the other five accidents resulting in more than one death were head-on collisions. The remaining two occurred when one car struck a tree and another smashed into a utility pole.

June and July were the deadliest months of the year. Each claimed 11 lives. Close behind were February, April and October each with 10 traffic fatalities.

Laotians Warn Soviets to Stop Airlift to Rebels

Russia Rejects U. S. Idea for International Control Commission

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian government has threatened to take "appropriate steps" unless the Soviet government stops its airlift to pro-Communist rebels.

In Washington the Soviet Union reportedly has rebuffed a U.S. suggestion that an international control commission for Laos be revived.

The Soviet rejection was said to have been given Tuesday to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

Menshikov held a 40-minute discussion on Laos with Herter at the State Department. The talk was at Menshikov's request.

★ ★ ★

State Department press officer Lincoln White declined to say "yes" or "no" when asked if the discussion had been encouraging. He said Menshikov "came in to discuss the situation in Laos, as he sees it from his standpoint."

U.S. SENDS PLANES

The Laotian warning to the Soviet Union, sent to the Soviet ambassador in London Monday, was made public shortly after the United States delivered the royal Laotian army its first armed planes.

Four propeller-driven observation planes, each armed with machine guns, were flown here Tuesday. Two other planes and a number of helicopters are also being turned over to Laos by the United States. The aircraft will be flown by Laotian pilots.

Until now Laos' air force — a small number of helicopters and aircraft used to shuttle supplies to troops—has been unarmed.

★ ★ ★

A Laotian spokesman said the new armed planes had been requested more than a year ago, and were now needed to check on the movements of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in the north central Plaine des Jarres.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. spokesman said the delivery of defensive weapons was authorized under the 1954 Geneva agreement giving Laos independence. But protests are certain from the Communist nations supporting the Pathet Lao rebels and the forces of rebel Capt. Kong Le.

The note said the Soviet airlift to aid the rebels had not stopped despite a protest delivered Dec. 31, and that Soviet planes were continuing a daily delivery at air strips and by parachute "of substantial amounts of war material and other kinds of unauthorized military assistance."

Tuesday the government charged that Soviet as well as North Vietnamese troops were invading the country.

★ ★ ★

Few Western sources here, however, have believed the reports of invading forces were well-founded.

Beattie Picked by Waterford Jaycees

Named Outstanding Man

A young man who advanced from janitor to general sales manager in his father's automobile agency was named Waterford Township's most outstanding man of the year at a Bosses Night banquet last night.

★ ★ ★

Robert Beattie Jr., 26, was presented with the coveted award before a group of 150 Junior Chamber of Commerce members, their wives and their supervisors at the annual affair in the Waterford Community Center.

★ ★ ★

Beattie was selected from a list of nine candidates for his outstanding work with Community Activities, Inc., where he served as a board member for some years. He now is treasurer. In 1957 he was chairman of the CAI Fair, one of the main projects that supports the organization.

The outstanding young man is a past president of the Rotary Club, was head of the Michigan Week banquet last year, and has been active in Goodfellows. He is a member of the Angelus Temple in Detroit.

After his graduation from Waterford High School in 1952, Beattie attended Cleary College at Ypsilanti, majoring in business administration. He is married and lives at 3550 W. Walton Blvd.

PRAISED FOR WORK

In making last night's presentation, one of the judges, Irwin Greer, praised Beattie for his work on the CAI, particularly with the fair, and for his willingness to help whenever asked.

★ ★ ★

Other judges in the Man of the Year contest were Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson, Donald Smith, Dr. John Naz and the Rev. Walter Teuwissen Jr.

★ ★ ★

Jaycee President Arthur Salley introduced the guests last night, then Toastmaster Donald Beedle took over the program.

W. J. Bruilet of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. presented a movie on "Communications in National Defense" and Johnson gave a few remarks about the Man of the Year selection.

Partisan Issues Ready to Boil Over Any Time

Bills Affecting Civil Rights, Jobs Group Ready for Introduction

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The scars from two years of partisan battling were hidden today as lawmakers convened in the 1961 session of the Michigan Legislature.

But some of the issues that caused the scars were still boiling beneath the surface when the gavels banged at noon in the House and Senate.

A new move to strengthen Michigan's civil rights laws was launched as the 71st Legislature assembled.

Rep. George Edwards, Detroit Democrat, heads a group of lawmakers who are sponsoring bills to expand the powers and activities of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

The two measures were ready for introduction shortly after the legislature was gaveled into session at noon.

Little other action except the mechanics of organizing for the business at hand was expected.

Part of the preliminary action in the Senate will be naming of a committee to oversee a recount in the 30th District of the Upper Peninsula where Sen. William E. Miron, D-Escanaba, won re-election over Republican Kent T. Lundgren, Menominee, by a scant 124 votes. Both want a recount.

Lawmakers are expected to adjourn tomorrow after a "state of the state" address by Gov. John B. Swainson.

★ ★ ★

They might remain adjourned for a considerable period to permit finishing the recount and to clear the way for action on the issues to come before them.

PEARS RENAMED

House Republicans, who edged into a 56-54 majority in the House, tapped Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, for a second two-year term as House Speaker last night. He was unopposed.

Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett of Jackson, long-time member of the important ways and means committee, supplanted Rep. Charles A. Boyer of Manistee as speaker pro-tem in a secret vote at the GOP caucus. It was the only contested office.

Rep. Allison Green was retained for a fourth term as majority floor leader and Norman E. Philleo, a 30-year legislative employe, was named for another stint as House clerk.

Pears said Republicans expected that all 56 Republicans would be in their seats to assure formal election of all the GOP choices.

Democrats were expected to re-elect Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit as minority leader.

Senate Republicans, who outnumber Democrats 23-12, already have re-elected Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair as GOP caucus chairman. Sen. Harold M. Ryan, D-Detroit, was favored for election to another term as minority leader.

Civil rights bills have been introduced unsuccessfully in the House for four straight years. The new measures, carbon copies of others killed in committee last year, would convert the Fair Employment Practices Commission to a human relations commission.

County Men Trip Off to Legislature

Oakland County's delegation — sporting a new state senator, two new state representatives, and 5 to 2 Republican ratio — answered the call today of the opening of the 71st Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Taking their oaths of office for the first time were Reps. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, and Raymond L. Baker, R-Berkley.

Starting off his first term as senator representing Oakland's four years as state representative, was Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, a Republican and attorney from West Bloomfield Township.

Sworn in to start his third term was Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Beginning their second two-year terms in Lansing are Reps. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, and John C. Hitchcock, D-Hazel Park.

With Baker, a retired pharmacist, upsetting former Rep. S. James Clarkson, and Hogan, a Birmingham attorney, filling Roberts' old House seat, the Oakland Republicans find themselves with a 42 edge in the House, as well as Roberts in the senior chamber.

In the last session it was an even 3-3 split, with the Senate seat held then by L. Harvey Lodge.

Before he drove to Lansing this morning for the noon swearing-in ceremonies, Roberts looked at what's ahead in the new session, both as far as Oakland County and the state are concerned.

Passage of a bill — being introduced for the third time—to give the county drain commissioner workable control over establishing lake levels was picked by Roberts as No. 1 among the county's 13-point legislative program drafted by the board of supervisors.

Roberts said passage of a "sensible" budget, so that the state doesn't plunge back into the fiscal crisis which has plagued Michigan, was the "primary" order of business statewide.

★ ★ ★

Reapportionment for a new congressional district, replenishing a dwindling unemployment compensation fund, establishing rules for calling a constitutional convention, and reactivating the state's capital outlay program were also listed by Roberts as some of the tasks faced by the legislature.

Adlai Associate Given No. 3 State Dept. Post

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy today completed the State Department high command with the appointment of a close political associate of Adlai E. Stevenson as undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

Kennedy, back at the seaside home of his parents after a week of conferences in New York, Boston and Washington, gave the foreign policy job to George W. Ball, 51, a Democrat who has a background of service in government and now is a Washington attorney specializing in international law.

Ball long has been a chief political adviser to Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, recently picked by Kennedy to be ambassador to the United Nations.

Selection of Ball was announced by the president-elect as he turned to concentrated work on his Jan. 20 inaugural address. With the $20,000-a-year job as undersecretary for economic affairs, Ball will be the No. 3 man in the State Department.

Shortly before flying to Palm Beach from Washington Tuesday night, Kennedy also completed the top echelon of the Treasury Department.

Negroes Go to Classes; No Trouble

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Two teenage Negroes today quietly sat down in classes with white students after federal court rulings swept aside nearly two centuries of segregation at the University of Georgia.

Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, went to psychology and zoology classes respectively.

No one bothered them. There was the usual flow of students making their way to the 9 a.m. classes in a score of buildings spread out over an area of more than two miles.

Some of the white boys and girls cast curious glances at the two Negroes. Others paid no attention. Some spoke to them. It was just another day starting at one of the nation's higher educational centers.

A young freshman adviser walked into Meigs Hall, where psychology classes are held, with Miss Hunter.

While all was quiet in the university town, there were rumblings in Atlanta of further displeasure with integration on any level.

House Speaker George L. Smith and State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. expressed the opinion that the present appropriations law automatically cuts off funds to the university when integrated. But regardless of their views, normal operations proceeded.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver has said an order must be signed by himself as head of the Budget Bureau before there would be any cutoff.

The U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday refused Georgia's plea to further delay integration at the school.

Vandiver said the appeal to the highest court exhausted the state's legal remedies. Earlier, he had been stopped from closing the university by U.S. Dist. Judge W. A. Bootle's temporary injunction against cutting off state funds.

To Get Tax Refunds

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Five million New York State taxpayers were assured today of receiving state income-tax refunds totaling $30 million.

Comedian Fills In for Dutybound Hart

A television comedian singing Al Jolson songs substituted for Sen. Philip A. Hart at the 47th annual banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors last night.

More than 400 persons, gathered at Elks Temple to hear about sunny skies in Democratic Washington, listened instead to "April Showers." Hart, scheduled to address the banquet on his outlook for Washington under President-Elect Kennedy, sent his apologies, saying he was tied down in the capitol by the forthcoming antifilibuster vote.

The Democratic senator told Ray O'Neil, banquet chairman, in a telegram that there was no telling when the vote might come and that he couldn't leave until it was over.

The audience gave Hart a round of applause in absentia after toastmaster John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, commended his "devotion to duty."

Then on came comedian Harvey King of Detroit, lined up for the banquet after Hart's 2:30 p.m. telegram was delivered to O'Neil.

After-dinner ceremonies included the passing of the president's gavel from James Clarkson, executive vice president of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., who was 1960 president, to Pontiac realtor Rolfe H. Smith, 1961 president.

Bruce J. Annett, a former president of the board and now a director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, presented Clarkston with a plaque from the association and a pair of expensive binoculars, a gift from the board.

Yeggs Get $300 at Drayton Store

Waterford Police Probe Third Safe-Cracking in Area This Week

Thieves broke into the Wrigley supermarket in the Drayton Plains shopping center, tied up a night watchman and escaped with $300 taken from a safe in the front of the store.

The burglary occurred as township police continued investigation of two safe cracking jobs that took place Sunday night. Some $8,000 in cash and $500 in merchandise was stolen from the Foodtown supermarket and the adjoining Hy-Land variety store on Highland Road at Williams Lake Road.

About $4,000 was taken from safes in each store, according to the owners.

Earlier last night a porter at Wrigley's Supermarket in the North Hill Plaza near Rochester told sheriff's deputies he scared off two burglars who broke into the store shortly before 11.

★ ★ ★

Willie Netters said the two men entered the front door while he was cleaning up and sped off in a red and white '58 model car when they saw him. Deputies are investigating the incident.

The watchman at the Drayton Plains Wrigley's, Russell Parr, 46 of 622 Midway St., Waterford Township, told police he was in front of the store and did not hear two men enter the rear of the building.

Entrance was made by tearing off a ventilator on the roof of the building, kicking a hole in the ceiling and sliding down a rope.

The men pointed a gun at Parr, told him to lie down on the floor and bound him with an electric light chord. He was then blindfolded.

★ ★ ★

A double safe in a front office was opened with a blow torch, township police said, and exit was made by smashing a bolt on a rear door.

★ ★ ★

When the thieves left, they told Parr they would call police. That was about 2 a.m., he said, and it wasn't until three hours later that an anonymous phone call was received by the Oakland County Sheriff's department, who referred the call to the Waterford Township police.

Mild Weather Will Prevail Rest of Week

The weatherman says temperatures will continue mild with the high in the low 30s until Sunday or Monday when temperatures will be somewhat colder again.

★ ★ ★

Tonight's low will drop to 15 to 20 degrees. Thursday and Friday will be generally fair.

Precipitation will total less than one-tenth of an inch in showers and occasional light snow Sunday or Monday.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 27 degrees. At 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 41.

Guatemalan Official Denies Plot on Cuba

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala has confirmed U.S. military officers are acting as advisers to army troops undergoing intensive guerrilla training at a hitherto secret base at Retalhuleu.

★ ★ ★

Defense Minister Enrique Peralta Azurdia denied the troops are being trained for any aggressive action against Cuba's Fidel Castro regime. He termed the training "routine activities by the Guatemalan army."

"It should be remembered," the minister said, "that American military and air missions are in Guatemala and normally give valuable advice to our army.

"There are no aggressive intentions in connection with the activities at Retalhuleu."

★ ★ ★

Peralta Azurdia, whose government has broken relations with Cuba and charged Castro with complicity in an unsuccessful revolt here last November, was commenting on a New York Times dispatch from Retalhuleu. Times correspondent Paul P. Kennedy said the United States is supplying Guatemala with training personnel, supplies and other assistance in preparing a commando-type force for a possible clash with Castro's troops.

CUBA TO INVADE?

Kennedy said Guatemalan officials claimed an invasion of Guatemala from Cuba was imminent, while opponents of Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras charged the forces at Retalhuleu were being trained to invade Cuba.

(The Miami Herald reported that recruiters, some of them American, for months have been selecting men from anti-Castro forces in Miami for secret flights to Retalhuleu.

(A month ago, the Herald said, the force collected in Guatemala numbered more than 4,000 guerrillas and more than 100 pilots. Many came from Latin-American countries, the Herald said.

(In a copyrighted story by James Buchanan, the Herald said the guerrilla training is led by a veteran from the Philippines recruited because of his experience in fighting Huk Communist rebels in the Philippine jungles. He was not named.)

The U.S. State Department declined comment on the reports of U.S. participation in the training in Guatemala.

★ ★ ★

But press officer Lincoln White said in Washington: "The United States under the inter-American defense system is helping practically every Latin-American country excepting, of course, Cuba and the Dominican Republic."

Hoffa OKs Robbing Union, 'Bugging Record' Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa may get a chance today to answer testimony that he advised a mobster it is all right to rob the union—but don't get caught.

★ ★ ★

A secretly made recording was produced as evidence Tuesday by the Senate Investigations subcommittee which is holding hearings on alleged dealings between Hoffa and New York mobster Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo. Investigators identified the record ing as a conversation Corallo had with two officials of New York teamsters Local 239.

★ ★ ★

Corallo is a former vice president of Local 239. The subcommittee contends he still runs it with the help of stooges.

The recording was made June 30, 1959, almost a year after Corallo ostensibly had resigned his union office.

OTHER WITNESSES FIRST

Jerome S. Adlerman, the subcommittee counsel, said the group wants to quiz Hoffa about the purported conversation but wants to hear some other witnesses first.

The playback by subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., apparently came as a shock to Mack Tane, business agent of Local 239, and Bernard Stein, secretary-treasurer of the local. Both refused to answer questions, pleading possible self-incrimination.

★ ★ ★

Seated at the witness table, they heard loud, scratchy sounding voices alleged to be theirs, talking in a New York City apartment the district attorney's squad had "bugged."

New York police detectives Edward Straub and Natalie Laurendi testified the recorded voices were those of Corallo, Stein and Tane, with Stein and Tane relaying instructions from Hoffa.

Neither Corallo nor Hoffa was in the hearing room. Investigators said Corallo had gone to England, where he reportedly is organizing a slot machine syndicate.

★ ★ ★

The recording quoted Stein as telling Corallo: "Tony, the guy told me straight out, and I ain't making like my own words.

"I'm saying his words; I don't care if you want to—you want to steal, you want to rob, go ahead, he says—don't get caught, don't get caught.

★ ★ ★

"He says, and he says, listen, you're worried about money. I don't care how you take the money. I don't care how you take it—get it under the table—get it any way you want."

Dillon Says He Won't Ask Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Douglas Dillon, selected to be secretary of the treasury in the Kennedy administration, said today he has no intention now of recommending a temporary tax cut to give the economy a lift.

★ ★ ★

He also told the Senate Finance Committee at a hearing on his appointment that if would be entirely up to Congress to decide whether to delegate authority to the president to raise or lower taxes.

And, in reply to questions about the drain on U.S. gold as a result of the adverse international balance of payments, he said he believed the problem could be solved in a way that would not adversely affect the economy of the free world.

Dillon said, however, that he did not want to discuss in public session the steps that might be taken.

The hearing was the first by a Senate committee on any of the Cabinet appointments announced by President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

Others are planned later in the week, and Democratic leaders hope that all of the Cabinet officers-designate can be cleared for Senate confirmation shortly after Kennedy's inauguration on Jan. 20.

Fire in Clarkston Destroys House

Empty Building Was Owned by Doctor; Set Damage at $26,000

An empty house owned by Dr. Donald Stackable at 5770 Main St., Clarkston, burned to the ground today as Independence fire men fought the blaze from 12:30 a.m. to dawn.

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Vivian O'Rourke who lives in back of the Stackable residence. She had returned from a short trip and smelled smoke in her kitchen.

Mrs. O'Rourke then saw smoke and flames pouring from the Stackable house and called firemen.

Dr. and Mrs. Stackable had lived in one side of the structure but had moved to 6743 Park Lake Drive recently.

The dentist had used the north side of the house as a dental office, but had moved to his new Clarkston clinic building on M15.

★

Firemen estimated damage at $26,000. Origin of the fire is unknown.

Crime Fears Alter Drive Plans

Mothers to Travel in Daylight

Crime has forced the 1961 March of Dimes "Mothers' March" out into the daylight.

The Mothers' March, previously slated for the evening of Jan. 31, is now scheduled for 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29.

"The recent outbreak of criminal attacks in the Wayne County area, coupled with recent reports of burglaries and assaults in Oakland County, is the major reason for the change in Mothers' March dates," said George W. Kuhn today.

Kuhn is Oakland County March of Dimes campaign chairman.

He said the change was being made in Wayne and Macomb counties at the request of the volunteer marching mothers who did not want to venture on the streets in the evening.

★ ★ ★

"None of our volunteer solicitors has ever been molested in all the years we've been doing the march," Kuhn said.

"However, we felt it is better to be safe than sorry."

The change of date and time will be observed throughout the Pontiac area.

"This is not in any way a reflection on the various police agencies throughout the county. They've always done a wonderful job looking out for volunteers," Kuhn explained.

"On the other hand, it is obviously impossible for police to give safe conduct to the 6,000 to 8,000 volunteers making their rounds at one time," he added.

So, for the first time since it was started in 1951, the Oakland County Mothers' March will be conducted during daylight hours.

$2.54 Per Month More Possible Insurance Hike

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield is seeking rate increases which would cost the average family about $2.54 more a month.

The bill for a family with an income of $5,000 to $7,500 a year would go to $33.62. Other proposed rates would be $9.06 single, up $1.57; and $21.82 for two persons, up $3.56.

State insurance commissioner Frank Blackford said he expected a flood of mail. The services received increases last year.

The Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross) Tuesday asked for a 22.04 per cent rate hike and the Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield) for a 13.5 per cent increase, both effective April 1.

Both organizations report they are operating in the red because of increased costs and operating expenses.

Blue Cross received approval of a 21.4 per cent increase effective Jan. 1, 1959. Blue Shield received an 11.5 per cent increase last May.

★ ★ ★

"We received about 6,000 letters at the time of the last Blue Shield increase," Blackford said. "We've already started to receive mail since it was announced last week the increases would be sought."

★ ★ ★

About 3.5 million people in Michigan are covered by the two hospitalization plans.

Blackford said the commission already is making plans to hold a public hearing on the rate increase requests in Detroit some time early in February.

One or more hearings also may be held in out-state cities, he said.

"Our department recognizes the impact these requests will have on the public's pocketbook," he said. "Both requests will be given thorough scrutiny and study. In the meantime, we welcome the views of all interested persons."

served in a number of government positions, as undersecretary of the Treasury.

Kennedy also announced the appointment of Angier Biddle Duke as chief of protocol in the new administration.

Duke, 45, formerly was a Foreign Service officer in Argentina and Spain, and now is president of the Council on Inter-American Affairs, a private organization, and a member of the New York City Executive Committee for the United Nations.

Kennedy arrived in Washington from New York in mid-afternoon Tuesday and for six hours engaged in a series of business conferences.

Reds Plan Congress in October

MOSCOW (UPI) — The setting of the 22nd Soviet Communist party Congress for next October cleared the way today for Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to engage in more globe-trotting as communism's champion salesman.

The congress date was announced Tuesday as first order of business by the ruling party's central committee, assembled here primarily to discuss Russia's farm problems.

The party leaders turned their full attention to agriculture today.

Diplomatic sources said Khrushchev's home work schedule apparently now would permit him to make another visit this spring to the United Nations where last October he stunned the General Assembly by shouting and thumping his table with his shoe. The assembly is scheduled to reconvene in New York March 7.

The premier also has a sheaf of invitations to visit Cuba and several African and Asian nations.

Diplomatic sources said he has been shrugging off all invitations until he was sure of his commitments at home.

Female Triplets, Born in Detroit, Are Doing Well

DETROIT (UPI)—Day-old triplet daughters born unexpectedly to Mrs. Joyce Winn, 35, were reported in good condition today at Bon Secours hospital.

Neither Mrs. Winn nor her husband Byron, 35, knew until X rays were taken a few hours before delivery that there would be a triple birth.

Two of the girls weighed 4 pounds, 8 ounces and the other weighed 4 pounds, 12 ounces. They were placed immediately in an incubator.

The Winns have two other children, Joseph, 5, and Mary, 4. Winn has been laid off his job as a parcel delivery truck driver.

Until names are chosen, the hospital has labeled the triplets A, B, and C.

Strike Perils NY Freight Shipments

NEW YORK (UPI)—The strike by 660 ferry and tug boat crewmen threatened today to paralyze nearly all freight shipments to the nation's largest city.

Sympathy tie-ups by truckers and rail workers imperiled delivery of fresh and preserved foodstuffs, fuel and other essential goods.

Everything from meat to automobiles faced the cutoff.

The strike started Tuesday and led to an immediate tie-up of 51 tugs, which power hundreds of freight-carrying barges, and nine ferries which carry 30,000 commuters to work daily from New Jersey across the Hudson River to Manhattan.

Says Nixon May Not Run Again

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (UPI) — A source close to Vice President Richard M. Nixon believes Nixon may forego another bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Robert Finch, codirector of Nixon's unsuccessful 1960 campaign, said in an interview Tuesday: "There is a definite possibility that by 1968 he may feel he can best serve the party in a capacity other than as a candidate for the presidency."

Finch, who is vacationing in Wickenburg with his family, has been an administrative assistant for Nixon since 1958.

He declined to name the school. Staebler said he had not made a decision. The post would be a temporary one, probably for one semester, he said.

Stellato Asks 30-Hour Week

Urges UAW to Accept No Pay Reduction for Shorter Work Period

DETROIT (UPI)—A 30-hour work week with 40 hours' pay should be a prime bargaining demand in auto company contract negotiations this summer, United Auto Workers representative Carl Stellato said Tuesday.

Stellato is president of Ford Local 600, which represents more than 30,000 workers at the Ford Rouge plant.

In a full-page statement in Ford Facts, the local's weekly newspaper, Stellato said the international UAW should work not only toward the shorter work week with no cut in pay, but a lower retirement age, cost-of-living protection for pensioners, supplemental unemployment pay and four weeks' vacation with pay.

In addition, Stellato said, the UAW should seek double time for all overtime work and triple time for Sunday and holiday work; paid lunch periods and hospitalization insurance fully paid by the auto companies.

★ ★ ★

The UAW will draft its demands at a special convention in April. Bargaining begins about July 1.

Add Recovery Room at Pontiac General

Pontiac General Hospital has opened a six-bed recovery room on the maternity floor for 24-hour service for new mothers, it was announced today by Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

All new mothers, he said, will be sent directly from delivery rooms to the recovery area, which has been supplied with emergency medical equipment by each bedside.

The service is designed to bring instant medical care in event of any mishaps following delivery, said Euler.

Previously, the hospital operated only the surgical recovery room on the surgical floor.

Bandit Uses Boy as Hostage

Youth Shields Armed Man in $15 Robbery of Pontiac Grocery Store

Holding a 13-year-old as a hostage, an armed bandit robbed a Pontiac grocer of approximately $15 at gunpoint last night.

Chris Rendziperis, 67, 96 Parkhurst St., told Pontiac police the bandit entered his store, the Rendziperis Market, at 100 Auburn Ave., at 8:10 p.m.

The bandit walked up to the meat counter where the boy, William G. Dimas, 48, Auburn Ave., stood.

Sticking what Rendziperis described as a "long-barreled hand gun" in the boy's back, the bandit ordered the grocer to take money out of the cash register and put it in a paper bag.

★ ★ ★

"When the bandit said he needed the money to pay bills, I told him I had bills, too," the grocer said.

"He replied that I should get busy."

Rendziperis said the bandit let him keep some change when he said he needed it for customer's who'd come in later.

The bandit made the boy leave the store in front of him, crossed Auburn, and after walking a short way north on Hill Street, told the boy to "run away."

The youth raced back to the store and Rendziperis called the police.

The bandit was described as between 25-30 years old, 5-feet-3, weighing 135-150, and of medium build. He was wearing a dark waist-length jacket and dark pants.

Cardinal Calls Dick Magnificent in His Defeat

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston today nominated Vice President Richard M. Nixon for "Good Will Man of 1960."

★ ★ ★

In a speech prepared for the Advertising Club of Baltimore, the cardinal said: "If I were asked on this occasion to name the Good Will Man of the year 1960, I would unhesitatingly give the accolade to Richard Nixon, vice president of the United States. During the recent campaign he never exploited the religious or any other issue that would tend to divide the American people."

★ ★ ★

"When he lost the closest national election of the past century he was magnificent in defeat," the prelate said.

"People probably don't pay enough today for their medical care considering the large number of benefits they receive," an official of Michigan Blue Shield told the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club today.

★ ★ ★

The speaker was Thomas C. Paton, director of the professional relations division of the hospitalization organization.

"Twenty years ago," he said, "prior to the advent of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, many persons could not pay a rate of $5 a day for hospital care that did nothing more than provide routine nursing."

He said people are able to have the finest hospital and medical care today "because of the vast growth of health insurance, which has kept pace with medical and hospital advancement."

Paton said the average family allots only 2 per cent more of its budget to health care than it did 20 years ago and that physcians receive 7 per cent less of the total health-care dollar than they did in 1940.

Statistics Show Danger in All Nuclear Bombs

Perhaps you've looked upon disarmament with merely a mild, academic interest. If this be the case, consider the following editorial from The Hillsdale Daily News.

"The government has no intention of disclosing how many big hydrogen bombs we have. But there is inevitable interest in the informed guess by Dr. Ralph Lapp, atomic scientist, that our backlog of bombs comes to around 1,000.

"Lapp was thinking only of those weapons big enough to destroy a major city. And he pointed out that we probably have sufficient nuclear materials on hand to build another 50,000 H-bombs.

★ ★ ★

"We must assume that Soviet experts have the same kind of informed calculations, and that Khrushchev understands thoroughly what would hit him if he struck first at us.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly awareness of our tremendous H-bomb backlog and our additional nuclear weapons potential must be the big thing which gives the Russians pause today. It can hardly be a comfort to them to know that their country could be substantially ruined by 12 bombs, even though they might earlier, in a surprise attack, have demolished 988 others we held in reserve.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot forget, on the other hand, that a relative handful of H-bombs delivered from Russia could also inflict colossal damage on the United States. Successful retaliation would be small compensation for gazing upon the ruin of our great cities.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Lapp's estimate underscores afresh the need to search urgently for some sort of disarmament agreement."

During the recent record snowstorm in New York City, a newspaperman in an outlying district was isolated for almost two days.

★ ★ ★

"I listened to every radio and TV broadcast I could find," said he, "but the sum total was a sorry substitute for the newspaper. Absolutely nothing takes its place."

★ ★ ★

The man's so right.

Nothing takes its place.

★ ★ ★

You want the full story of many happenings. A few phrases are far from sufficient. And only the newspaper provides the complete account. This isn't a criticism of TV or radio. They have their places and they fill them adequately.

But so do newspapers.

The newsman concluded:

"TV can't supply Highlights and significant details. It can't give perspective to the news or sketch the background of spot news. Even worse, you have to try to remember everything these folks say, because you haven't a printed record of it, such as you get in a newspaper.

"In short, there is not yet a real substitute for newspapers. I don't see how there ever can be."

Old-Time Tiger Fans Remember 'Schoolboy'

To teen-agers and young sports enthusiasts the name Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe means little, but to the rest of us it is synonymous with the golden era of sports in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

During this period of the mid-thirties, the Motor City was beginning to be tagged the "City of Champions" and to help put the Tigers in this elite category Schoolboy Rowe was striking out batters with his whizzing fast ball. By many he was considered one of the best pitchers in his time.

★ ★ ★

The Schoolie was a local hero. His every move was followed by the press, and he was an extremely colorful figure on and off the diamond.

★ ★ ★

His untimely death marks the passing of a great sports figure. Memories of this gangling pitcher with his fast ball will remain for years with old-time Tiger fans.

The Man About Town

The Centennials

That Have Figured in the History of Pontiac City

Capital punishment: What's deserved by those who choose pictures for hotel rooms.

In order to clear up a centennial problem that seems to be bothering quite a number of the good readers of this column, a clarification is made.

This year we are celebrating the centennial of the incorporation of Pontiac as a city. The official date of that event, which was in accordance with a special act of the Michigan State Legislature, was March 15, 1861.

Pontiac had previously been an incorporated village for 24 years. It was made such by one of the first acts of the state legislature following Michigan's admission to the union in 1837. The official date of our incorporation as a village was March 20, 1837.

A centennial celebration held in 1918 was to mark the 100th anniversary of the coming of the first white men to the present location of Pontiac.

However, they were itinerant trappers and did not locate here, the first permanent white settlement on the present site of the city being two years later.

Inaugural Early Birds

David Lawrence Says:

Transition Period Long and Risky

WASHINGTON — Many people have been led to believe by newspaper reports of conferences between outgoing and incoming officials that the period in government since the election has been a "transition"—a sort of preparation for a mere change in personnel on a specific day.

LAWRENCE

Actually, the transition, in its truest sense, has not begun yet and will not start until after inauguration day. It may last a year or more.

★ ★ ★

Just now the government is passing through a period of reshuffling of high positions. Many of the top officials either have resigned already or are preparing to do so in a few days.

The incumbent official is in a dilemma. If he takes a positive position on a controversial subject, members of the opposite party will criticize him for not waiting for his successor to take whatever action the latter may wish.

The other day, for example, when the United States government was provoked by the Castro regime in Cuba to the point described by President Eisenhower as the "limit to what the United States can in self-respect endure," there were Democrats in Congress who openly insisted that the President should have left the matter of severing diplomatic relations to be decided by the Kennedy administration.

This is a narrow view, since responsibility is not in recess—it is continuous till noon of inauguration day.

The prevailing tendency, on the other hand, is to let most things slide. What is worse, the new officials cannot possibly learn in a few days all the background they need to help them formulate important policies.

Some idea of the meaning of "transition" in government is given by Laurin L. Henry in a historical analysis just published in book form by the Brookings Institution of Washington. It is entitled "Presidential Transitions," and says in its introduction:

"The inauguration requires popularity, influence and formal authority in the presidency, but in some respects the shift of power is only beginning. The new president and the associates he brings into the government now must begin to learn their jobs, fulfill their commitments, and recast governmental policies in light of their own objectives.

"This process will require adjustments in the relations of the president with Congress, foreign nations, domestic interest groups, political parties, the federal bureaucracy, and other institutions impinging on the presidency.

'CRISIS FOR ALL'

"The arrival of a new administration is a crisis for all these groups, as well as for the presidency itself. The duration of the crisis will vary among sectors of governmental activity; in some areas the new administration may establish itself and restore stability within a few weeks; in others the instability may persist until the midterm congressional elections or longer.

"In most respects, however, it seems to take about a year for an administration to put its stamp on basic policies and institutions and settle down to its characteristic modes of behavior."

More important perhaps is the "transition" which goes on within the victorious political party and among its supporters throughout the country. For a long period they have been on the offensive, with almost daily criticisms about alleged inadequacies of the incumbent administration.

★ ★ ★

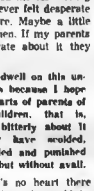

They now find it necessary to try to put into effect the broad promises of campaign days or to explain persuasively why "campaign oratory" is a species of political behavior that must be forgiven.

The public, too, somehow has to be persuaded to undergo some kind of "transition."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Kindness, Understanding Way to Cure Problem

"Thank you so much," writes a Minnesota reader, "for the help we received from your pamphlet on bed-wetting. It 'cured' our son, who was 5. We had always been kind about this, as you have advocated, but the boy himself was beginning to feel desperate about it. But now that battle is in the past, and he is in the first grade and doing fine in school, too." (Mrs. D. W. S.)

DR. BRADY

A five-year-old desperate?

I remember, when I was 5 and wet the bed, hearing mother and aunt discussing whether just soap or ammonia was better for washing. I remember, too, that my good parents never punished, scolded or shamed me for wetting the bed. But I never felt desperate about it, I'm sure. Maybe a little sorry now and then. If my parents ever felt desperate about it they didn't show it.

If I seem to dwell on this unnecessarily it is because I hope to reach the hearts of parents of bed-wetting children, that is, who complain bitterly about it and say they have scolded, shamed, ridiculed and punished the bed-wetter but without avail.

Perhaps there's no heart there to reach or perhaps it would be more effective just to slap back their ears until they whimper for mercy.

Many young draftees had to be house-broken at their training base before they could be assigned to duty in World War II. Once I had a patient, the oldest of several children in the family, who had an appointment to West Point but feared he'd be rejected because he wet the bed.

He was a healthy boy and good patient—or rather, a good pupil. We worked it out together—he had perfect control of his bladder in his waking hours, so why not keep control of it during sleep? We thought constantly along this line through the spring. Well before examination time in June the youth was OK and happily started on his military career.

Gentle, persistent and always patient and sympathetic application of this psychotherapy corrects the habit in most cases, whether supplementary medical treatment is required or not. I gave the young man a placebo to keep him and his parents mindful of the fact that he was under my care.

For further advice about the correction of the habit send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the free pamphlet The Habit of Bed-Wetting.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 lines long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Prize Contesting Interesting Hobby

Mrs. Crane and I became contest addicts the first two years of our marriage and won many prizes, including two of $1,000 apiece. So we can o.k. William Sunners hobby 100 per cent. However, you better hang on to your regular job and use contesting as a zestful hobby. It's tops for married couples, as well as invalids and retired oldsters.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G - 475: William Sunners, aged 56, has been a high school teacher for many years in New York.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," an acquaintance began, "he had developed his hobby into a lucrative business.

"For he enters prize contests literally by the hundreds. Over the past few years, he has won 50 watches, 4 diamond rings and 3 new automobiles, plus 6 TV sets, 20 radios, 5 refrigerators, etc.

"A year ago his salary amounted to $8,600 but he had meanwhile won over $10,000 from contests.

"So he has decided to quit his teaching and concentrate solely on contesting."

Prize contesting is a fascinating hobby for everybody, since it perks up your mind, even if you don't win a cash award.

There are usually three types of prize contests. The first is the "manual," wherein you cut out jigsaw pictures and simply paste them together.

Then you send in the completed picture. As a variation, you may just sign your name to a coupon, and mail it in, where it is deposited with others, and a few lucky winners are drawn by lot from the total.

Second, there is the "mental" type of contest, in which you are to coin a new name or slogan for a product, or write a 25-word letter telling why you like it.

As a variation, you may be asked to complete the last line of a limerick rhyming jingle).

A third form of contest is a combination of the above. You may thus be required to do some manual or "scissors" work, but a "rider" is also attached requiring you to submit a 25-word letter.

$50 MILLION PRIZES

It is estimated that as high as $50 million each year go into prize contests, for they are a very effective type of modern advertising.

Usually, all that is required is that you submit a box top or a soap wrapper or some other proof of purchase, along with your entry.

Semi-invalids and paraplegics, as well as retired folks past 65, will find that prize contesting is a decided morale booster and mental tonic.

Young married couples, too, will find that it welds husband and wife together in a constructive mutual hobby.

And if you have children of school age, they also delight in working with Daddy and Mother in looking up data in history books or an encyclopedia.

Apart from the zest of looking for a cash award, contests are a boon from the medical angle, for they extrovert your attention off your own aches and pains.

And they rejuvenate old folks, for they turn your thinking from the yesterdays and focus it on the tomorrows.

For you to begin to look forward with eager zest to the mailman's visits, as soon as you have mailed your contest entries.

Shaw Shaw's "forward thinking," said Emerson, is the test of youth!

But send in several entries and don't stop with just one contest,

for then you will grow disheartened if you fail to win.

But with many other entries in the mail, you can always bolster your ego by thinking, "Oh, well, I may win on the contest to be announced next week."

Send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," for it contains a section on "Prize Contesting." Enclose stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped self-addressed envelope and 50 cents in coin (pins and pennies cost you less) for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

"Do you suppose God is impressed by the size of a pledge made by a fellow who doesn't intend to pay anyway?"

Voice of the People:

Varied Comments Voiced on Praying for Murderer

Your editorial regarding the attitude of a lay minister reminds me of the "shop talk" about capital punishment. Also the article "Sick Inmates Worry Warden" (Jan. 6) is enough to give one pause.

The Ten Commandments were given directly to the people who heard the voice of God through Moses. Included was the sixth commandment: "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

★ ★ ★

There remained the question what to do if one breaks the commandment. Included in the judgments which were then outlined to Moses was this: "He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall surely be put to death." (Exodus 21:12)

To suppose that Christ came to do away with this law is to be mistakenly sentimental and wishy-washy. Jesus expressly stated that He was not come to destroy the law, but to fulfill it. Although God is able to redeem a repentant murderer, His mercy is tempered with justice and society must face this reality.

★ ★ ★

Psychiatrists can classify murderers after the crimes are done; taxpayers can pay their room and board; while not enough funds are available to care properly for citizens in other categories who, through no fault of their own, are the responsibility of society.

Russell Carlisle

374 Alberta Boulevard

Your editorial concerning the funeral sermon of Betty James was most unchristian.

The reverend was compelled by conscience and a sense of duty as a spiritual advisor to try and instill forgiveness and compassion in her friends and relatives. If he had done any differently he would be a hypocrite.

Judge not lest you be judged. I hope the people will take the reverend's advice and pray for all sinners. "Forgive them Father for they know not what they do."

Mrs. L. W. Day

Clarkston

Thanks for your realistic article in regard to the idea of praying for the murderer of Mrs. Betty James.

We have no capital punishment in the State of Michigan and we are sitting ducks for the mad dog criminals that prey upon us — and get away with it.

When will "we" have enough? Evidently the murderers think we are gluttons for punishment. We need laws with teeth in them and not so much prayer.

J. M.

The James family has my deepest sympathy but I do not agree with the opinion expressed in your editorial.

Why shouldn't the minister pray for the man who beat and killed Mrs. James? A needless killing such as this is terrible, of course, but perhaps this man is worse off than the James family. He may be insane or extremely desperate. Desperation leads to many horrible things.

Christ taught that we should have compassion for all sinners. Everyone deserves mercy.

A Compassionate One

Your editorial truly shows what you are in regard to prayer being said for the murderer of Mrs. James. My Lord Jesus Christ prayed for those who hanged Him on the Cross. St. Stephen prayed for the Jews that stoned him to death, and I am quite sure that St. Peter also prayed for those who hanged him on the cross upside down at Rome.

We Christians are to do good and bless them, pray for them - our enemies, yes, even murderers.

John Hillman

Waterford

That minister who prayed for the murderer right during the funeral ceremony just encourages killers. Why should anyone pet and condone human slaughter during the funeral to encourage others on the border line. There are too many do-gooders who are impractical and who haven't seen enough of the rotten side of life to have good judgment.

Halsey

If there were a thousand more editorials like the one in The Press on praying for murderers at the final ceremonies for the victims and a thousand juries were forced to read them, convictions would follow and murder would lessen.

T. H.

Killers are afraid of swift and certain punishment themselves and they recognize no other law. Kindness, prayer and forgiving are wasted. Murder is only held in line through fear of swift, just punishment.

Henry

I don't care whether you favor capital punishment or oppose it, you can't support prayers for the killers at the very funeral of the victim. This is a plain lack of Christianity to me.

Enid

What Michigan needs is capital punishment. Let the people vote on this issue.

All Presidents Seem to Need Coterie of Close-Lipped Pals

By MERRIMAN SMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Backstairs with the president-elect:

The incoming and outgoing presidents have something more in common than golf. Their friends run somewhat to type and they're rather constant in their attendance.

Moreover, the trait of having a small circle of friends and seeing the same people regardless of location seems to be presidential, rather than a distinctive manner-ism of an Eisenhower or a Kennedy.

President Eisenhower received extensive publicity, some of which he regarded as quite adverse, for having several friends who seemed to turn up wherever he traveled — from Scotland to Palm Springs.

George E. Allen of Washington, Gettysburg and Palm Springs; W. Alton Jones and William E. Robinson, both of New York, were prime examples.

Now it seems that President-Elect John F. Kennedy has a somewhat similar close circle of friends — men of means and similar recreational tastes.

Among these are Earl E. T. Smith, former U.S. ambassador to Cuba and a well-fixed figure in the private banking world of New York and Palm Beach.

Charles Spaulding, a young New York investment man and former schoolmate; L. K. (Lem) Billings, a young New York advertising executive, and Grant Stockdale, Miami real estate man, ardent golfer and former football star at the University of Miami.

These men all were in Florida recently playing golf and seeing the president-elect almost daily. Then he shifted headquarters to New York for a few days and there they were again.

NOT IN LINE

The frequency of their presence in the Kennedy orbit does not, however, mean they're in line for high government office or necessarily that they will occupy positions of detectable influence outside the government.

At this stage at any rate, they're personal friends and recreational companions, a type which all relatively recent presidents seem to have had at close hand.

Former President Truman certainly had a number of close buddies who were with him almost constantly when he was away from the White House.

These men had instantaneous and frequent access to him, but despite what some of his more severe critics may have maintained, this proximity did not result necessarily in influence over presidential action or thought.

NEEDS CLOSE PALS

It may seem that with constant association, a certain interchange and acceptance of opinions would be inevitable.

So it may be over a long period, but with most presidents, a social or personal friend who tries with noticeable energy to sell a point of view or course of action sometimes vanishes abruptly from the White House scene.

The speed of his departure may be in ratio to the urgency of his special pleading.

Every president, however, seems to need a fairly small group of friends with whom he feels completely at ease, around whom he can blow his top, to whom he can be unrestrainedly jubilant or dejected without the danger of his behind-the-scenes attitudes being relayed to the public.

White House staff members, the cabinet and leaders of Congress usually pack far more punch when it comes to influencing a president than his closest personal friends.

3 Bond Issues Key to Improvements

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Three separate bond issues totaling more than $15 million must be sold this spring if Grand Rapids is to move ahead on an ambitious program of improvements.

The City Commission has been asked to recommend action after its service committee conferred with the city engineer and finance officials on problems of financing:

1. A $9,650 million water revenue bond issue for the proposed $5 million Lake Michigan water filtration plant plus $4,650 million for transmission mains and other improvements.

2. A $3 million sewer revenue bond issue for construction of trunk sanitary sewers into newly annexed areas.

3. A $2,385,000 downtown parking revenue bond issue to add 662 off-street spaces.

Set Trial Date in Assault of Officer in Strike

GRAND HAVEN (UPI) — The Ottawa County Circuit Court has set a Feb. 3 as the trial dat for Paul A. Delp, 19, Hopkins, who is charged with striking an officer during a strike last fall at the Holland General Electric Co. plant.

Three other men still face charges as a result of picket line action in the Holland labor dispute.

Q. I am planning to raise guppies but I can't seem to keep the babies alive. Is there a special food I should give them? Marian Haimes, Emerson, N. J.

A. It is regrettable, but the brilliant-hued guppie is something of a cannibal. The parent fish have the unfortunate habit of eating their offspring. That is probably why you have experienced difficulty in keeping the little ones alive.

* * *

What you should do is remove the father a few days before the mother is to give birth. Put the mother in a breeding trap or a tank heavily planted with bushy vegetation. This allows the youngsters to escape.

Once the little fish have grown for five or six days, they become too big to be swallowed by the parent fish. Since the female guppy will give birth to 50 to 90 offspring a month, it is the ideal choice for a beginner interested in raising fish.

Dems Settle Family Spat

Rename 2 Southerners, Pick 3 New Chairmen, Liberals Given Posts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats peacefully settled a family matter Tuesday by appointing committee chairmen, shuffling committee assignments and passing out committee posts to new lawmakers.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., was renamed chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., was retained as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee over the protests of Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

Clark opposed the reappointments because Byrd did not support President-Elect John F. Kennedy in the election campaign and Eastland attacked the Democratic platform because of its strong civil rights plank.

Three new chairmen were named —Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to succeed Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson as head of the Space Committee; Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., as chairman of the Interior Committee, and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., as chairman of the Rules Committee.

* * *

Coveted seats on the Foreign Relations Committee were assigned to Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

Liberal demands for a greater voice in party affairs were met by slightly enlarging the powerful Senate Democratic Policy Committee.

Tennessee was the last of 11 June 8, 1961. South Carolina led states to secede from the Union—the way, on Dec. 20, 1860.

Five Area Folk Active on Cultural Commission

Area residents appointed to the steering committee of the newly formed Michigan Cultural Commission are Mrs. Walter P. Reuther (center) of Rochester and Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt of Birmingham. They chat with their national adviser, choreographer Agnes DeMille, following the commission's second meeting Tuesday. Mrs. Reuther is a member of the commission's dance committee and Mrs. Roosevelt serves on the music committee.

Five area residents have been appointed to the steering committee of the newly formed Michigan Cultural Commission.

Bloomfield Hills members include Henry Scripps Booth, Robert Hatt and Mrs. Aline Saarinen. Others are Mrs. Walter P. Reuther of Rochester and Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

As members of a 10-man committee chosen by the commission they will explore policy problems relating to strengthening cultural activities of Michigan's citizens. They will seek broader participation by the people in affairs of their cultural institutions.

★ ★ ★

Since its inception last month, the commission, the only one of its kind in the nation, has been diligently pursuing new ways to enrich the state's cultural life.

Under the chairmanship of William Birenbaum, assistant vice president of Wayne State University and director of Detroit Adventure, some 60 commissioners met Tuesday at Ford Museum with two consulting commissioners, choreographer Agnes DeMille and Lloyd Goodrich, director of New York's Whitney Museum of Art. Along with Jose Ferrer, film producer and actor, and composer Aaron Copland they will serve in an advisory capacity in statewide surveys by committees of the commission.

Honorary consul George Bashara (second from right) representing Lebanon addressed students and faculty Tuesday at MSUO on "America's Stake in the Middle East." With him for the second consular talk of the university's International Festival were (from left) Mrs. George I. Goodwin of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Bashara and Mrs. Genevieve Maxwell, journalist with the Daily Star of Beirut. Mr. Bashara considered the strategic location of the Middle East, its oil supplies, and our need for the friendship of its people to be our country's stake in that part of the world.

Beware of Red 'Olives'

United States foreign policy "must not be gauged to U.S. domestic politics," George Bashara Sr., consul of Lebanon at Detroit, declared yesterday.

"Nor must the U.S. be fooled by any olive branch that goes out from Peiping or Moscow," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bashara, a Detroit attorney, spoke before an audience of students and faculty at Michigan State University Oakland. His talk was one of a series by foreign consuls in connection with MSUO's International Festival.

Stressing the U.S. stake in the Middle East, Bashara said: "We cannot overemphasize the fact that the very existence of the United States hinges on the struggle between the free and the slave worlds."

The U.S. must be concerned with the Middle East "because of its strategic position and its oil reserves"—70 per cent of the world's total, he said.

Sitting on parts of four continents, the Middle East has been marked by every conqueror as the prime area which must be controlled in order to win the world," he said.

In an earlier speech, Norman Dancker, German counsul at Detroit, said the German film industry is suffering from the political division of the country and Berlin.

Dancker said films produced in the West German Republic are not allowed into the Communist-controlled sectors.

As a result, he said, the German audience is diminished by more than half.

Daughter Should Be Very Proud

By The Emily Post Institute

QUESTION: I have a number of exquisite handmade banquet cloths with matching napkins of the finest linen which were made to order. These were my mother's and have her initials on them. I have offered them to my daughter who is now engaged and she and her fiance would like to have them.

★ ★ ★

The only question is whether the initials, which are not those of my daughter, will make any difference. My opinion is that heirlooms, antiques, etc., are valued by people who appreciate the ownership of such things and no excuses need be made when using them. Instead, they should be used with pride. May I have your opinion on this?

ANSWER: You are absolutely right and your daughter should be very proud to have such fine linen marked with her grandmother's initials.

★ ★ ★

QUESTION: I received a birthday card from a friend this morning and enclosed in the card was a single handkerchief. I would like to know if it is necessary to write a thank-you note for it?

ANSWER: One should always thank the donor of a gift whether it be valuable or inexpensive.

You'd Better Give Up!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I work in a tavern and have met lots of men. The one I love I met here four years ago.

ABBY

He says I am the only girl he's ever loved and if it weren't for his children and his religion he would get divorced and marry me.

His wife is a nagger and doesn't appreciate anything he does for her. He spends almost every night with me.

How dumb can she be not to catch on? She keeps having one baby after another just to hold him. How can I get her to give up? Print this, she might take the hint.

★ ★ ★

DEAR STANDING: How dumb can YOU be? You're not taking the hint yourself. Your boy friend's wife isn't having all those babies without some help from her husband. Obviously she has no intentions of giving up. Why don't you?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My wife has needed to go on a diet for years but she kept putting it off. Suddenly she announced that she and a man who works with her are going to have a weight-losing contest.

Whoever loses the most weight in six weeks has to take the other one out for a steak dinner. Just the two of them.

I trust my wife but I don't like the idea of her going out and having a good time with another man.

His wife is all for it because she wants him to lose weight. I'm glad my wife is finally going to diet but I don't like the way she's going about it.

Am I making something out of nothing? Or should I go along with it and wish them luck?

★ ★ ★

DEAR JEALOUS: It sounds like a good-humored, wholesome contest with a healthy objective. Go along with them and wish them luck—and may the biggest loser win!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: If the general public could see the thousands upon thousands of important letters, expensive greeting cards, announcements of all kinds, and priceless snapshots that are being fed into our incinerators every day, they'd soon realize that anything worth mailing is worth a legible return address.

Soprano and Cellist Captivate Group

Musicale Program 'Outstanding'

By CHRIS GAENSBAUER

Roma Butler Riddell completely captivated the audience of Tuesday Musicale members who heard her sing at the meeting in Grace Lutheran Church fellowship hall on Tuesday afternoon.

This newcomer to the Detroit scene is a polished artist with a fine lyric soprano voice. Phrases such as "warm personality," "delightful appearance," "good diction," "fine musical sense," and "great dramatic ability" came to mind while listening to her.

The voice, although not big in volume, was capable of penetrating climaxes and was always expertly controlled.

The most compelling number was probably the closing one, Magda's Aria from Menotti's opera "The Consul." This demanding composition was sung with great variety of vocal timbre and emotional impact and ended with a soaring climax that thrilled the audience.

Equally well received were the German lieder and the group of Creole-French folk songs so artistically sung by Miss Riddell.

Also with the French songs was the much loved aria, "Il est doux, Il est bon," from Massenet's opera "Herodiade" to which Miss Riddell brought a sweet and tender lyricism.

Taking second spot on the program only in length of performed numbers was Mary Lee Eliason, cellist member of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, and well known in this area for her excellent musicianship.

* * *

Her firm technical control and deep mellow tone was apparent in the slow movements of the "Vivaldi Sonata" with which she opened her one group. Contrasting with the classical purity of the Vivaldi was Mendelssohn's "Midnight" which followed. This is a frankly romantic work, and Mrs. Eliason's effective interpretation made it a pleasing one to the listeners.

* * *

The final number by the cellist was a "Christmas Plantation Song" by Gardner Reade. This had the pathos and appeal of a sung spiritual and sounded disarmingly simple while testing the performer's ability with sections of double and occasional triple stops. The effect of saccharin sweetness was dissipated by clusters of very dissonant chords in the piano accompaniment.

Unobtrusive but expert piano accompaniments were played for Miss Riddell by Lawrence LaGore, head of the piano department at the Detroit Conservatory of Music. The excellent accompaniments for Mrs. Eliason were played by Mary Wignall who is a member of Tuesday Musicale, known for her fine soprano voice.

Members were greeted at the door by Mrs. A. A. Heintz and Mrs. W. E. Rorabough. Mrs. O. W. Beck and Mrs. M. L. Buck arranged the centerpiece for the tea table at which Mrs. J. A. Ramsnes and Mrs. F. H. Voelker presided.

Serving on the social committee were Mrs. Floyd Compton, chairman, with Mrs. E. V. Russell as cochairman. Assisting were Mrs. George Shearer, Mrs. Frank Syron, Mrs. Webster Francis, Mrs. J. L. Helvy, Mrs. Charles Harmon and Mrs. Ralph Beebe.

IN MAYO CLINIC — Famed author Ernest Hemingway is slated for release from the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., within the next two weeks after undergoing medical treatment since Nov. 30. A clinic spokesman said neither Hemingway nor his wife, who accompanied him, would permit disclosure of his illness. Hemingway registered at the clinic under an assumed name, but was recognized during one of his daily walks at the institution.

'Big Lie' Stays Popular With U.S. Enemies

By PEEL NEWSOM
(UPI Foreign News Analyst)

"Alice in Wonderland," U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said of Fidel Castro's charge that the United States plans to invade Cuba.

A decade earlier, his predecessor, Ambassador Warren A. Austin, used even less nicety to denounce a Soviet propaganda attack in the United Nations.

"The big lie," Austin called it.

While the world shrinks almost daily with new communications developments to ascertain the truth, diplomacy of the big lie and the unchecked charge expands in usage.

It is generally agreed at the United Nations that Castro fabricated his U.S. invasion charge as a cheap, flag-waving stunt designed to unite the Cuban people, who show increasing signs of bemusement and bewilderment.

★ ★ ★

But for two weeks—this is third time it has been done — the big lie has been drummed into headlines around the world, inflaming anti-American opinion where there is a field for such incendiarism. And nothing really has been done about it.

The United States formally and vigorously denied it had sent a letter to Latin American countries openly advertising an intention to invade Cuba.

The idea patently was ridiculous. Even had there been such an intention, the last thing would have been to announce it in advance.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Ros took up two days of the Security Council's time to throw the diplomatic kitchen sink at Washington. He finally admitted all he knew about the alleged letter on which the Cuban charge was based came from a newspaper dispatch.

NO ACTION TAKEN

Quite rightly, the Security Council refused to act.

Sage Tingfu Tsiang, the veteran Nationalist Chinese ambassador, said the council should have passed a resolution declaring the charge groundless on the basis of the evidence.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin gave a new twist to the big lie diplomatic technique.

All right, he said in effect, the United States says it has no intention to invade Cuba. Let them prove it.

He did not say how the United States could not act to prove it did not intend to invade. Contrarily, it could prove its intention to stage an invasion by doing so.

★ ★ ★

Ros made wide-swinging charges about alleged invasion bases in Florida and Guatemala.

★ ★ ★

The United Nations has the power to investigate such charges. It could send a commission for a first-hand look — both here and abroad. But that would not have suited Castro's purpose and probably would have brought a Soviet veto.

Russia charges a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane flew over its territory. It then refused an impartial investigation of the U.S. denial.

The Soviet Union snuffs out a Hungarian freedom revolt and then shouts righteous indignation against charges it is interfering in Hungary's affairs.

New Zealand's Sir Leslie Munro, an able and impartial diplomat, jurist and journalist, had been waiting two years for permission to verify the situation for the United Nations through a trip to Hungary.

The feeling grows in diplomatic ranks that it is not enough to sweep unchecked charges under the carpet. The United Nations should investigate them.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, a frequent target for big lie marksmanship, told the General Assembly last month:

"Many may be tempted to ask whether facts, or truth, or law no longer count and whether it is possible to debate without respect for some basic rules of debate, as developed in parliamentary life, either as regards form or as regards substance."

Need 2 Elections for Delegates

Committee for Con-Con Likes Partisan Plan for Choosing Workers

LANSING (AP) — The legislature will provide for two special elections for partisan selection of delegates to a constitutional convention if a bipartisan legislative committee gets its way.

The joint Senate-House committee agreed Tuesday on the general framework of a plan to choose delegates if the convention proposal meets voter approval at the April 3 election.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said committee members favor a primary election in June "after school is out and before vacations begin."

The final election, they said, should be held in September, following Labor Day. An estimated $125,000 would be saved if the election were held Sept. 12, date of Detroit's primary election, said Louis A. Urban, the city's election director.

A constitutional convention, if one is called, would assemble Oct. 3 to begin drafting a constitution to replace the 1908 constitution. It would require voter approval.

★ ★ ★

The legislative committee, appointed by Republican and Democratic caucuses in both houses, rejected a proposal by Citizens for Michigan to conduct a primary election for selection of delegates the same day as the regular spring election in April.

City clerks from Grand Rapids, Midland and Detroit and Thomas B. Cable, Wayne County elections director, told the committee the joint election would confuse voters and elections workers and pose serious mechanical problems in precincts using voting machines.

Employes of City to Study Recreation

David R. Ewalt, parks and recreation director, will turn college professor in an adult education course beginning at Michigan State University this month.

Ewalt will teach municipal recreation administration, beginning Jan. 25.

The course is one of three arranged for municipal employes in Oakland County by City Manager Walter E. Willman and his administrative staff, working with the MSUO Continuing Education Department, headed by Dr. Lowell Eklund.

Courses in local planning and supervising methods, beginning Jan. 23 and 24 respectively, will be taught by MSUO staff members. All three classes will meet once a week, 7-9 p.m.

★ ★ ★

It is the second year the city has cooperated with MSUO in arranging such instruction.

About a dozen persons, including four women, were arrested.

We Get Caught Up on New Food Products

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You know how busy you have been for the past month and how you had to let some things slide. We have done the same thing. It's been weeks since we've mentioned new products to you.

The editorial staff here at The Press had a chance before the holidays to taste the new nut and date bread mixes. They are unbelievably fast to make. The finished product is excellent.

There is also a new mix for a cinnamon streusel coffee cake. This a friend tried for us and reported it very good.

Just last week while shopping, we saw packages of the new apple pancake mix. This cinnamon-flavored mix has tiny nuggets of fruit in it. Use it for waffles, too.

For several years now we all have been using salad dressing mixes and finding them most convenient. The latest addition to this line is an onion salad dressing mix.

FREEZE DRY

The freeze-dry process has been used to prepare the chicken in one soup and the mushrooms in another on our new products list. This revolutionary preserving process is likely to be the most widely used process in the future because the food does not shrink in size or change texture.

Both chicken rice soup and mushroom soup come in packages and take only minutes to prepare. Use the latter for a sauce too.

Mushrooms appear in another product, this time a mushroom gravy. This is the third in a line of ready-to-heat gravies. We use all three at our house in the interests of speed and good eating.

Spanish rice has a seasoning all its own now with a new dry seasoning mix. This is a combination of spices, seasonings, onion, red peppers, green bell peppers and parsley. You need not use tomato with this mix for Spanish rice.

Another seasoning is designed especially for seafood, but it can be used in all fish dishes. It can be blended with crumbs, added to melted butter or sprinkled on the fish itself before cooking.

This last item isn't a food, but a new stove or counter mat. The bottom is rubber to withstand heat and to cling to surfaces. The top is heavy-textured aluminum foil, coated with a hard acrylic film. These mats come in five kitchen colors.

Spanish Salad

Arrange sliced white meat of chicken alternately with thin slices of Gruyere or Swiss cheese on salad greens, top with mixture of chopped tart apples and minced celery and for the dressing blend together 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. This makes an attractive dish to serve the girls at luncheon.

Try Using Frosting Mix for New Popcorn Balls

How long's it been since you had a popcorn ball? Crunchy, chewy and absolutely delicious, these caramel flavored balls have an extra added attraction . . . salted peanuts . . . mixed right in!

No need to start by burning sugar to get this caramel flavor . . . just use the new caramel frosting mix! With a few additions it makes a perfect syrup to coat the popcorn before making into balls.

Display the balls in a large wooden bowl or gaily wrap separately in colored paper and tie with fancy ribbons and give as favors at your next party for the kiddies. Either way, they'll be a welcomed surprise.

Caramel Popcorn Balls

1 package Caramel Fudge Frosting Mix
½ cup soft butter
½ cup cream
½ cup light corn syrup
4 cups popped corn
½ cup peanuts, if desired

Empty contents of frosting mix pkg. into large saucepan. Add butter, cream, corn syrup. Mix all ingredients; cook over med. heat to 250 degrees or hard ball stage.* Pour over popped corn and peanuts in buttered bowl; stir constantly. Butter hands; shape mixture lightly and quickly into twelve 3" balls. Coil and wrap in waxed paper or cellophane. Tie gaily with colored ribbon.

*Drop a little syrup into a cupful of cold water. When the syrup can be pressed together to hold a firm ball that is still plastic but not rigid, it has reached the hard ball stage, 250 degrees.

Success Tip: Popcorn is quite hot when syrup is first poured on it. May use large spoons to divide popcorn (on waxed paper) into 12 mounds. When cool enough not to burn hands, mold lightly and quickly into balls.

Some cooks like to brush the bottom of a pastry shell (to be used for a custard filling) with beaten egg yolk.
