Seek Grand Jury Action

State Dairy Probe Asked

Pontiac's smoldering milk price war flared into open battle today as an independent grocers' group prepared to ask Gov. G. Mennen Williams to request a U.S. grand jury investigation "of dairy interests throughout the state."

William Keasey, secretary-manager of the Michigan Retail Grocers Assn., was scheduled to present a "true bill of complaint" to the governor sometime this afternoon.

In announcing the action to the Pontiac Press, Maprice J. Croteau, president of the 198-member Oakland County Retail Food Dealers Assn., charged:

"We have proof that dairy companies have violated the Patman Act in offering discounts and rebates to some merchants and not others. Some of our members have been offered such deals and, in some cases, are now operating under them."

Croteau said the Patman Act, a federal law, provides that discounts cannot be given in a discriminatory fashion to dealers.

He said it will be up to Governor Williams to decide whether the true bill of complaint filed by Keasey justifies asking the U.S. attorney-general to initiate a grand jury probe.

Croteau said today's action was unanimously ratified by a meeting of 46 members of the county association last night.

Such a request for a grand jury investigation was threatened three weeks ago following a slash in milk prices by 45 Pontiac-area association members.

When the members cut prices to 29 cents a half-gallon, they said they were taking the action to bring pressure to bear on the dairies, which, they said, were giving special discounts to chain supermarkets and some independent grocers.

The 35-cent chain price is apparently a cent under the wholesale cost of 36 cents.

Croteau said the dairies usually operate the discount system by sending a rebate check to the grocer once a month.

He said dairies have given discounts to some smaller stores in order to "freeze out" competition; that is, if a merchant promises to stop handling a competitive line.

"They used it as a wedge to open up new accounts too," he said.

Croteau said he had "reason to believe discounting is state wide." He added that he thought from 20-25 per cent of Oakland County grocers were getting discounts.

"What we're asking is equality," he said. "We want to eliminate all under-the-counter discounts.

"We feel if the dairies have excess money to give away in discounts, they should put it back in the farm level, where we feel it is much more needed."

Croteau said he thought the appeal to the governor would be given strong support from the state's dairy farmers and the Michigan Milk Producers Assn.

Croteau added that an open meeting of all independent grocers in the county will be called Monday night.

He said it will be proposed that the grocers eliminate "all handling of milk and cream because we are selling at a loss anyway."

He said grocers had been losing money on milk sales even before the price-cutting war because of the "small margin of profit allowed by the arbitrary prices set by the dairies."

State Enforcing Rules Governing Truck Weight

LANSING (AP)—The state Highway Department reported that as of noon truck weight restrictions will be enforced as follows:

On all blacktop and gravel state trunklines in the Upper Peninsula and in the Lower Peninsula north of U.S. 12.

On all concrete-base trunklines in the Lower Peninsula only north of and including M46 between Port Sanilac and Newaygo

Remember That Tricky Ballot

If You Want Fluoridation You Must Vote 'Against'

Pontiac voters face a tricky ballot on the special fluoridation issue at Monday's spring election.

The proposal reads: "Shall the ordinance prohibiting the addition of fluorides to the public water supply of the City of Pontiac be adopted?"

So, Pontiac voters who believe in fluoridation must vote "Against the Ordinance." Those who oppose fluoridation must vote "For the Ordinance."

Neely Promises More Attacks on Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neely (D-WVa) said today Republican critics of his blasts at President Eisenhower haven't heard anything yet.

He said he doesn't intend to apologize for questioning Eisenhower's churchgoing. Such an apology was suggested in the Senate yesterday by Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa), who said Neely had "struck the lowest of blows" at the President.

"There is just as much chance of my apologizing as there is of the world coming to an end today—in fact a little less chance," Neely said.

Republicans have criticized Neely for saying in a speech at Cleveland earlier in the week that Eisenhower never had been a church member until elected and now is pictured attending services almost every Sunday. Several churchmen also came to Eisenhower's defense.

Urges Repeal of 'Fair Trade'

Committee's Proposal Would Clear Way for Discount Houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government-sponsored committee today proposed repeal of "fair trade" laws designed to prevent cut-rate retail sales of nationally advertised, brand-name products.

If the administration and Congress should follow through, the way would be open for discount houses to spring up everywhere. Merchants would be able to charge whatever they wished for electric mixers, cosmetics, fountain pens and the like—regardless of prices manufacturers want to impose.

The recommendation by the National Committee to Study the Antitrust Laws brought praise from Rep. Celler (D-NY) and some question from Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala).

The study committee also called in somewhat hazy language for legislative curbs on labor union activities that may restrict trade and competition.

The committee report went along with "a condemnation of any merger resulting in an appreciable movement in some market toward monopoly power." But it said a merger in itself is not necessarily an evil and each case will have to be judged on its own merits. And it stood pat on present laws covering mergers.

Paper Reports Salk Vaccine Prevents Polio

UM Officials Tabulating Results of Nationwide Test Are Keeping Mum

NEW YORK (AP) — None of the children who received the Salk polio vaccine in last year's nationwide tests contracted the disease, the New York World-Telegram and Sun said today in a copyrighted story.

The newspaper reported that this was the gist of the report on results of the tests to be released April 12.

Quoting an "unimpeachable medical source," the story said that not one of the 440,000 children who received the vaccine got infantile paralysis, while ordinarily a possible 84 of them might have done so.

"The results of the test," the story said, "should give hope to every mother and father in the world that children will in the future never have to suffer from this crippling disease."

A total of a million children took part in the tests last spring in 217 areas across the nation, and 440,000 of them received the actual vaccine, while others got neutral placebos or no shot at all.

The experimental immunizations were conducted under direction of Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine.

Results were forwarded to Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., of the University of Michigan, who is to make final evaluations of the results.

He says the official report — scheduled for release April 12 — has not been written.

He also said yesterday from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor that "we know nothing about" a New York World-Telegram and Sun story saying the vaccine trials proved 100 per cent effective.

The newspaper, in a copyrighted story, said it received its information from an "unimpeachable source."

Said Francis:

"No information has been released from the polio evaluation center."

The vaccine was administered last spring to first, second and third grade pupils in a series of three doses over a period of several weeks, in numerous areas across the country.

The neutral fluid was given to some, with only those in charge of the program knowing which children received the actual vaccine. This was to assure reliable comparative data in the results.

UAW to Seek Plant Stability

Says Guaranteed Pay Would Stall Trend to Move Factories

CLEVELAND (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers said today its guaranteed wage plan, besides stabilizing worker pay, would discourage "run-away shops" from folding up in one community and transferring to another.

The argument was advanced in a resolution due to be approved by the UAW convention.

The resolution reaffirms support for the year-around pay plan which the union already has served on major auto firms as its main 1955 contract demand.

It also sums up prior union arguments that the annual pay guarantee would protect from pay loss those employes displaced by push-button electronic machines, the new production method known as "automation."

Hollywood Honors Top Performers

FILMLAND'S BEST—Grace Kelly and Marlon Brando pose together with their golden Oscars which they received last night when they were named best actress and actor by the Motion Picture Academy.

WINS FIRST TIME—Eva Marie Saint holds Oscar won as best supporting actress.

Kelly, Brando Take Top Oscars

'Waterfront' Walks Away With 8 Academy Awards

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "On the Waterfront," the movie that Hollywood almost turned down, today held eight Oscars—including Marlon Brando's first—to tie the all-time Academy Awards record.

The brutal, often-sadistic story of labor racketeering on New York's docks made a rout of the 27th annual awards presentation last night.

The eight awards, plus one honorary plaque, equaled the record of "Gone With the Wind" in 1939.

Only Grace Kelly, the dowdy wife of "The Country Girl," was able to steal a smattering of the glory away from the hard-hitting drama of the longshoremen's unions.

The reserved Miss Kelly, with tears in her eyes, took home the best actress award. Even the honor could not shake her ladylike composure. When photographers asked her to kiss Brando on the cheek, she rebelled politely:

"I believe he should kiss me."

Brando, with unrestrained pleasure, enthusiastically kissed Miss Kelly time after time while flashbulbs popped.

Right up to awards time, it had been an unpredictable race for the top actress and actor awards. Bing Crosby, who played an alcoholic actor in "The Country Girl," was in the running against Brando, and Judy Garland was given a 50-50 chance of beating out Miss Kelly. Judy was the sentimental choice for her role in "A Star Is Born."

Joseph Pulitzer Succumbs at 70

St. Louis Post-Dispatch Publisher Is Taken by Death Unexpectedly

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joseph Pulitzer, editor and publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, died about midnight from a ruptured blood vessel of the abdomen. He was 70 years old.

The announcement of his death was made today by his son Joseph Pulitzer III.

Death came unexpectedly. Only Tuesday night he had attended an annual gridiron dinner of the St. Louis Advertising Club. He was at his office yesterday, working at his desk throughout the day and leaving at his usual time.

He became ill at about 9:30 p.m., was rushed to Barnes Hospital where he died around midnight.

Pulitzer through the years stressed the news side first and the commercial end of the newspaper second.

Pulitzer, who headed the Post-Dispatch for 43 years, prided himself with being a working newspaperman. Under his leadership his afternoon newspaper became known as one of the great crusading newspapers of the nation.

Pulitzer was known as a perfectionist and he demanded and got good reporting.

President Opens Cancer Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and smiling 6-year-old Leroy Curtis, of Denver, shook hands heartily today and formally opened the American Cancer Society's crusade to raise 24 million dollars.

Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, chairman of the society's board of directors, introduced Leroy to the President.

The governor told Eisenhower that Leroy had cancer as an infant but now has been cured.

Junk Mail Service Ending at Midnight

WASHINGTON (INS)—Junk mail officially goes into the scrap heap at midnight tonight to the delight of mail carriers and postal patrons tired of the post office's "experiment" with advertising.

The experiment to help reduce the post office department's losses on handling third class mail began Aug. 21, 1953. No one suspected that direct mail advertisers would take up the challenge so gleefully and flood the postal system with advertisings and samples.

Aussie Troops to Malaya

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Australian government today approved sending soldiers to Malaya to assist British troops in the fight against Communist guerrillas.

Dr. Monroe Checks Up

Says Dr. Waters' Evidence Doesn't Hold Up in Spots

"Anti-fluoridation writers have become so careless with their facts that we have had to check up on some of their claims so that Pontiac readers will not be misled," said Dr. John D. Monroe, M. D., director of public health for both Pontiac and Oakland County.

"For example, Dr. John E. Waters, a California dentist, writing in the Press quoted Dr. R. S. Harris, professor of biochemistry of nutrition of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as follows:

"'There has never been demonstrated a need for fluorine for the development or maintenance of perfect teeth or health. Many perfect teeth have absolutely no fluorine in them.'

"I immediately sent a wire to Boston," stated Dr. Monroe. "In reply Dr. Harris stated that he had been quoted out of context and authorized the following statement as expressing his stand and at the same time that of Dr. Frederick J. Stare, M.D. of Harvard University Medical School:

"'We are in complete agreement that fluoridation of a water supply to a level of one part per million as proposed is at present the most effective way to reduce

Recreation Area Being Scoured by 90 Students

Milford High School Boys Helping Rangers Near Proud Lake

The 8-day intensive search for missing 7-year-old Barbara Gaca today spread to Oakland County as sheriff's deputies and high school students scoured at least two areas near Pontiac.

The searchers were spurred by reports that a man resembling the hunted suspect had been seen in the Proud Lake Recreation area and that footprints were found leading into a swampy section near M-59 in White Lake Township.

Sheriff's deputies Harry Jones and Perry Earp dragged the swamp for nearly two hours this morning, but failed to turn up anything.

Ninety boys from the Milford High School were excused from school at 9 a.m. today to aid in another search for Barbara in the Proud Lake Recreation Area.

Intensive search began yesterday when Alfred Masini, park manager, reported that a short, stout man about 51, drove a green automobile into the recreation area Friday noon, and stayed all night without reporting his presence to park officials.

The man was discovered Saturday noon in a boat on the lake, where his outboard motor had stalled. The park crew towed him to shore, and he drove away.

Later attendants found an abandoned tent with a cot, stove, table, and other camping equipment.

The tent had been pitched prior to the recent snowstorm, Masini stated. All articles were taken to Detroit police headquarters for fingerprints.

Masini said, "Although the man involved may not have anything to do with the disappearance of the young girl, all state park managers have been alerted to report anything unusual. This is the first time anything like this has happened in the Proud Lake area."

Members of the Future Farmers of America Club of the Milford High School, along with other members of the junior class, combed the 4,000 acres of the park, under the direction of Erwin Johnson, high school principal, and Hershell Krebbs, the agricultural teacher.

Approximately 100 boys from the high school searched the Highland Recreation Area yesterday, but

Ike OKs Bill Continuing the Present Rates Until April 1, 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—There will be no excise tax cuts tomorrow, and corporations will continue to pay income taxes at the rate of 52 per cent.

The House completed congressional action, and President Eisenhower signed into law last night, a bill which continues both at their present rates until April 1, 1956. They had been scheduled to drop at midnight tonight.

The House voted 386-8 to pass the tax extension bill without the $20-a-person income tax cut which it had written into the measure earlier by a 210-205 vote.

The Senate rejected the tax cut, and a conference committee agreed to eliminate it.

Sylvan Center Open to Public

6 Businesses Included in the Pontiac Area's Newest Shopping Unit

Sylvan Center, newest shopping unit in the Pontiac area, opened its $400,000 six-store building this week with the grand opening planned for Friday and Saturday.

Located on Orchard Lake road near the Middlebelt road intersection, Sylvan Center is in West Bloomfield Township.

Furtney Drugs, Ben Franklin, National Foods, Sylvan Realty, Sylvan Hardware and Linda Lee are the six new stores in the modern beige brick masonry building.

Built by Jack Raisin of the Sylvan Realty Co., the building was designed by Louis Redstone and Allen Agree of Detroit.

Parking area for 500 cars with expansion possibilities to 700 is provided in the shopping center plan and another building will soon be constructed, said Raisin, for a large department store.

Dick Furtney, owner of three other Pontiac drugstores, is managing the new pharmacy which has a drive-in prescription window. There is a 27-stool fountain and a lighted plastic dome which overhangs the prescription area.

National Foods, first of this grocery chain to come into the Pontiac area, will be managed by Robert Amos; Cliff Pulsier will manage the new Ben Franklin dime store which is a branch of the one operating in Keego Harbor.

Ed Verveille will head the Sylvan Hardware. Harry Galperin, owner of the Linda Lee chain of clothing stores, has not announced the manager for the Sylvan Center shop.

Sylvan Realty has floor area for six office suites and a front office area for 14 desks.

Pontiac Delegation Split on Final Vote

Delegates of Pontiac Motor Division Local 653 (UAW-CIO) split on the actual vote on a dues increase for a strike fund at the UAW convention in Cleveland yesterday, according to Robert Boyer, the local's financial secretary.

Boyer said the 18-man delegation voted unanimously against a strike fund in a preliminary vote in the morning. But, he said, the delegates voted 3 in favor and 3 opposing, with 12 not voting on the legislative ballot in the afternoon.

A report in yesterday's Pontiac Press was based on the preliminary vote and stated that all delegates from Pontiac-area locals voted against the strike fund proposal.

Petitions Asking Governor to Halt Fluorine Support

DETROIT—A petition signed by 83 doctors and dentists demanded today that Gov. Williams stop the State Health Department from promoting fluoridation of municipal water supplies.

(There are approximately 2,300 doctors and 1,500 dentists in Detroit, and in addition several hundred osteopaths and chiropractors.)

The petition stated there was "documentary evidence of harm resulting from fluoridated water." The signers also stated that persons desiring fluoride protection against tooth decay could apply fluorides directly to their teeth.

The program of adding fluorides was begun experimentally in some cities about ten years ago, and now 16 per cent of Michigan's population drinks fluoridated water.

Medical experts have stated several times that fluoridation is safe and prevents up to two-thirds of tooth decay in children who drink fluoridated water regularly during their early, teeth-formative years.

Spokesmen at the Governor's office in Lansing said the petition had not yet arrived.

Has Her Own 'Oscar'

Judy Happy Grace Kelly Won Top Actress Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Miss Judy Garland viewed the Motion Picture Academy Oscar awards by television in a hospital where her son was born Tuesday. She said afterwards that she wasn't disappointed when Miss Kelly won.

"After all, I was presented with my own special Oscar," she said in reference to the new baby. "I thought Grace Kelly deserved it. She did a magnificent job in 'The Country Girl.'"

Bing Crosby, who apparently had a ball at the first Academy Award function he has attended in years, wasn't the least dismayed when he lost.

"I knew all along Marlon would win it," he said, laughing. "And he deserved it too. I had honor enough just being nominated."

Bing attended the ceremonies in a set of tails and sported the only top hat seen. He escorted Kathy Grant, a young Columbia starlet whom he dates often. Quip-trading with emcee Bob Hope, he was the entertainment highlight of the nationally telecast show.

"Waterfront" was named best picture of the year. It also received awards for top actor, film editing, art direction, cinematography, story and screenplay, best direction and best supporting actress. And it won a plaque for set decoration.

The winning movie was conceived by director Elia Kazan, writer Budd Schulberg and producer Sam Spiegel. But it was turned down by two major companies. Then Columbia volunteered to release it and it was produced for the comparatively small budget figure of $780,000.

Eva Marie Saint, who supplied the romantic interest to Brando's punchy pug in "Waterfront," was named best supporting actress for her first film role. She was gowned in maternity dress and exclaimed happily at New York's Center Theater:

"I'm so happy I may have my baby right here."

Edmond O'Brien, the only nominee the forecasters agreed on, won the best supporting actor Oscar as the harried procuring press agent of "The Barefoot Contessa."

In other awards, Walt Disney made his familiar trips to the podium. He added two more Oscars this year, bringing his all - time total to 24.

"I know now why he always drives here in a truck," commented Hope.

"Three Coins in the Fountain" was named the best song and "The High and the Mighty" the best music score. This brought a satirical thank-you speech from Dimitri Tiomkin, who said: "I want to thank all my collaborators, Johann Strauss, Richard Strauss, Brahms, Beethoven Mozart and George Gershwin."

The Academy, via an honorary award, partially rectified one of its most grievious oversights. It made a special award to Greta Garbo "for her series of luminous and unforgettable performances."

Miss Garbo, often acclaimed as the screen's greatest dramatic actress, never won an Oscar in her long career.

"Further, we are in complete agreement that there is no reliable information suggesting that it represents any hazard to any group. As scientists interested in extending knowledge, we are interested in having researches continued in the basic causes of tooth decay.

"The fact fluorine is effective in reducing decay does not tell us what causes decay. From the public health viewpoint fluoridation is highly desirable, but it should not slow down basic researches out of which some day may come findings which will make possible full prevention.'"

"Dr. Felix H. Tornabene, Regional Health Officer at Aurora, Ill., replied to another telegram which told of Dr. Waters' quotation of a news item in an Aurora newspaper stating that there had been a tremendous amount of tooth decay in that city where there is 1.2 ppm of fluorine naturally in the water.

"Dr. Tornabene's telegram states that this was a very exaggerated statement made to the newspaper by a group which was interested in setting up a free dental clinic.

"Dr. Waters also listed Joliet, Ill., as a city with 1.3 ppm of fluorine in its water and 25 per cent fluorosis. Upon checking this statement, Dr. L. L. Fatheree, Joliet Health Officer, wired as follows:

"'Joliet water contains natural fluoride concentration approximating 1.3 ppm with NO reported evidence of fluorosis. The erroneous report of 25 per cent fluorosis has been used before in other parts of the country. Apparently it is a part of stock propaganda. We have no knowledge of John E. Waters or his survey.'

"Dr. Waters also quoted a Dr. George W. Heard of Hereford, Tex. as saying that while fluorine may reduce caries, that it also does harm, I checked with Dr. Edward Taylor, D.D.S., Director of Dental Health in the Texas State Health Department, who replied:

"'Dr. Heard has no organized, authentic support for his statements. We found 63 per cent decrease in dental decay with fluoridation.'"

Fluoridation opponents have stated that 119 dentists and 10 physicians were violently opposed to fluoridation in Worcester, Mass. I checked up on that too. Following is the reply of Dr. Alexander Witkow, M.D., M.P.H., Commissioner of Public Health there.

"'The Worcester District Dental and Medical Societies jointly initiated the recommendation that Worcester fluoridate its public water supplies in 1950. On three additional occasions, the Worcester District Dental Society has again endorsed such action. Such endorsement was unanimous on all but the last occasion, when a written poll was set up which would permit individual dentists to revise their stand at any time.

"'The poll taken in March 1954 showed that of 227 members of the District Dental Society, 217 were polled (10 are in military service). Of this number, 171 were definitely in favor of fluoridation, 15 were opposed, and 9 were undecided. No reply was recorded from the remaining 22.

"'I understand that there is a current attempt to bring this poll up to date. To the best of my knowledge, the current status is likely to be more heavily in favor of fluoridation.

"'I understand several petitions have been circulated among dentists by anti-fluoridation forces. One such, signed by a number of dentists in 1951, requested further discussion of the subject.

"'This petition was later publicized, with a paragraph added to the petition after the signatures were obtained, which made it appear to be an anti-fluoridation petition. The petition, approving additional discussion, had been signed by most of the pro-fluoridation dentists.

"'Another petition which was circulated was signed by a number of dentists who did not read the petition and who apparently were verbally misinformed as to its contents. On seeing the final petition, they requested that their names be removed. A number of such requests were filed with the Dental Society.

"'It is obvious that if 171 out of 217 dentists are definitely reported as being in favor of fluoridation, there could not possibly be 119 local dentists who are opposed. There are on record only 15 such opponents.

"'Our Worcester District Medical Society, after a presentation by a dentist opposed to fluoridation, reviewed the matter recently. Not one voice was raised in the Medical Society advocating a change in the Society's stand in favor of fluoridation. On three separate occasions within the past year the Massachusetts State Medical Society has endorsed and advocated fluoridation.'"

Voters to Rule on Pension Plan

Amendment Is Designed to Correct Misworded Regulation

Editors Note: This article explains the charter admendment No. 1 facing Pontiac voters in Monday's election.

Pontiac voters Monday will cast ballots on an amendment designed to correct a mis-worded charter amendment concerning city employes retirment passed overwhelmingly by the electors last November.

The mistake in the November amendment, which was aimed at modernizing the city's pension plan, was in the section dealing with "deferred retirement allowance."

City officials agree that as originally intended, the charter should provide that an employe who has served the city 25 years, or who has served the city 10 years and is over 50 years of age, can leave the staff before reaching "voluntary retirment age."

When voluntary retirement age is reached, he would begin receiving "deferred retirement" pension payments based on the years of service he had actually put in for the city.

Voluntary retirement age is 60 years for general city employes and 55 for policemen and firemen.

The mis-phrased section uses the words "age 65 years" instead of "voluntary retirement age."

Monday's charter amendment, if given approval by a majority of the voters, will change the section back to "voluntary retirement age," the same requirement which has been in the plan since its inception in 1946.

It should be noted the employe would receive his deferred retiremnt allowance, or pension, only if he has not withdrawn any of his own contributions credited to his account in the pension fund.

Search for Barbara in Oakland County found nothing, led by state park rangers and park manager Shuman Worrell.

Detroit police say they have checked out 612 tips without finding a trace of the youngster since she vanished on her way to school a week ago today.

A ransom note and several phone calls reporting her alive have been dismissed as the work of cranks.

A statewide teletype notice was sent last night for James G. Burns, 41-year-old factory worker wanted for questioning in the criminal assault of a child in Cleveland March 18.

Cleveland police sent information on Burns to Detroit because of the similarity of their case and Barbara's disappearance.

Still Claiming Innocence, Banks Draws Life Term

Walter Banks was sentenced to life in Jackson state prison yesterday still claiming his innocence after two first degree murder convictions for the same offense.

Banks, 45, formerly of 116 Wessen St., was convicted March 15 for the second time in Oakland County Circuit Court of the holdup-slaying of Alexander Bell, 53, on April 27, 1951.

He was previously found guilty Feb. 18, 1952, but won a retrail when an error was found in the form of the first jury's verdict. Bell, part owner of a pool hall at 887 Baldwin Ave., was shot and robbed of about $2,000.

Banks denied his guilt again yesterday. Judge George B. Hartrick said he understood the convicted man had always protested his innocence, but now stood convicted after a proper trial.

The Day in Birmingham

New Junior High School Bids Opened, Tabulated

BIRMINGHAM — Further steps toward the building of a new junior high school to serve the northeast section were taken last night.

At a special meeting of the school board bids were opened and tabulated for general construction mechanical and electrical contracts.

Costs of approximately $2,200,000 were listed from about 40 bidders. The board will act on the bids at a later meeting.

The new school is to be built on 20 acres of land between the Grand Trunk Railroad and Adams road south of Derby.

At this week's city Commission meeting an improvement program for U.S. 10 was outlined, to be revised as each project occurs. This will include improved street lighting, traffic signals at Bowers and Oak plus crossovers at both streets, construction of access drives and sidewalk facilities.

Other improvements concern the Lincoln intersection, roadside control and better center parkways.

Amendments Deal With Sewer Issue

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Voters will be asked to decide on amendments to the city charter at the April 4 election. By unanimous recommendation, city commissioners state adoption of the amendments would be in the best interest of all the citizens.

The State Water Resources Commission has ordered the city to discontinue pollution of the Rouge River and the city commission has been working on the problem.

The cheapest method, city commissioners believe, is to combine with the communities to the south in the proposed Evergreen Interceptor District. Alternate methods will provide only temporary relief at a greater cost, officials say.

Amendments to the charter necessary to take this step are the proposed amendments to Chapters 12 and 14 essential to the project. Proposed amendments to Chapter 10 would revise the special assessment procedure and make possible the payment of the City's share of the cost of the proposed sewer in 20 rather than 10 years.

The proposed amendments to Chapter 4 and Chapter 9 have no bearing on the sewer problem but are proposed at this time when the other proposals are under consideration. The amendment to Chapter 9 would bring procedure in line with the general state law which has been changed since the charter was written.

Man Admits Purchases With Bad Credit Cards

A man pleaded guilty yesterday in Circuit Court to purchasing about $2,000 worth of tires and gas with two unauthorized oil company credit cards while traveling from Seattle, Wash. to Pontiac.

Lawrence M. Haddix, 35, will be sentenced April 11, according to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Haddix was arrested here March 25 after using one of the cards to buy eight tires valued at $341 from a local dealer, then reselling them at 4 for $20.

Thieves Get Cash Here in Restaurant Breakin

Thieves took $123.90 from the Eagle's Nest Cafe at 2070 M15 sometime Tuesday night, according to the owner, Mrs. Charlene Hale.

She told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies that the money was taken from a cigar box and a paper bag hidden in the cafe. Northing else was disturbed, she said.

About 65,000 gallons of water are required to produce a ton of finished steel.

Nab 6 Boys in Breakins

MUSKEGON (AP) — Undersheriff Joseph Cherney said the arrest Wednesday of six Muskegon area teenage youths has cleared a long series of burglaries and vandalism complaints in Muskegon County.

He said warrants will be asked charging five of the boys with breaking and entering. A 16-year-old has been turned over to juvenile authorities. Cherney said the gang has admitted taking part in breaking of county business places over the past year.

Meat Prices Go Higher Except for Store Specials

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You'll do well to stick to the specials when you shop for meat for the weekend, reports from the nation's food stores indicate.

The reason is that most meats went higher at wholesale—and therefore at retail—because bad weather cut down on marketing of cattle, hogs and lambs. Meat specialists say they expect lower prices soon, however, as marketing picks up again.

One major chain is boosting prices from two to four cents a pound on sirloin steak, two to six cents on prime ribs, two to four cents on legs of lamb, one to ten cents on pork chops, four to six cents on veal chops and two to four cents on frying chickens.

Here and there, however, prices will be held at last week's levels and items picked for weekend advertising will be lowered in price.

After casting about for weekend features, food market operators have come up with a wide selection of meats. It will be up to the shopper to find out who has the best prices.

Specials mentioned by a number of stores include loins of pork, fresh pork picnics, prime ribs, chuck roast, legs of lamb, smoked hams and round steaks.

Some stores will offer small turkeys because of Palm Sunday and the approaching Jewish holidays.

You might eat less meat and more eggs: Egg prices will be down two to four cents a dozen in markets in many sections of the country. Butter will cost about the same as a week ago.

Pork continues to receive the recommendation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture as a fine buy in meats. The department also hopes you'll eat some raisins and dried phunes, which are plentiful at reasonable prices.

Potatoes, onions, escarole and greens are rated as the outstanding buys by produce men. They also cal your attention to cabbage, iceberg lettuce, broccoli, beets, beans, small and medium-size peppers, pascal and golden heart celery and bunched and topped carrots. The beans, they add, are only of ordinary to fair quality.

Cucumbers, corn, cauliflower and peas are rated "moderately priced," meaning that while they are not high, they're not special bargains either. Asparagus came down a bit this week, but further declines are expected.

Apples, oranges and grapefruit are considered the best buys in fruit. Strawberries fall in the moderately priced classification.

Dads Invite Sons to Annual Banquet

The Donelson-Baptist Church, 2227 Elizabeth Lake Rd. was host to 140 men and boys at the annual Father and Son Banquet last night.

Toastmaster, Stuart Davies, introduced the speaker, the Rev. Norman Vernon of the First Baptist Church at Wayne. His subject was "Now Is the Time."

"It Is No Secret What God Can Do" by Hamblin was sung by Mrs. Al Langdon and the reading "Tigers and White Sox" was given by Betty Morris. Mrs. Arda Leyten also gave a reading, entitled "Harping."

Arthur L. Ewald gave a toast to the sons and Roger Putnam responded with a toast to the dads.

Lioness Has Sextuplets

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Leona, the lioness at St. Louis Zoo, gave birth to six cubs, not five as announced earlier this month. Attendants discovered there were six yesterday. Zoo Director George P. Vierheller said he'd never heard of sextuplet lions and promptly passed around a box of cigars to celebrate the event.

Concrete Mixer Freed

DENVER (AP) — Richard Lanoha, owner of a rent-all company, said he chained a large concrete mixer to the rear of a building Tuesday. When he went to work yesterday, the chain was broken and mixer gone.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Clarence E. Otter

A well deserved rest.

After 25 years of public service to the City of Bloomfield Hills, Clarence E. Otter has decided to retire from public office. He will not seek re-election to the City Commission April 4.

OTTER

For the last quarter of a century Mr. Otter has found time from his many personal endeavors to serve on the City Commission of the city where he lives.

He has spent long and tedious hours formulating many of the present day community developments. To serve your city where little compensation is forthcoming is at times disheartening. The abuse and criticism which a public servant must take many times far outweigh the thanks he receives.

The long hours Mr. Otter has spent on the many and varied problems of his community are appreciated by both the newcomers and the older residents of Bloomfield Hills.

It takes a man with civic pride, and a willingness to share his time so that others may enjoy living in such a fine residential area as Bloomfield Hills.

Over the years Mr. Otter has had this pride and given of his time willingly. He now feels that his civic duty is completed. We agree, and hope that in his retirement he will look back with pride on many of the accomplishments for which he worked so diligently over the last 25 years.

Progress in Washington

There is cause for general satisfaction over the progress made in our national Capital toward better race relations.

It also is pleasing that Dr. Ralph Bunche, the eminent Negro official of the United Nations, is aware of that progress and approves it.

This is additionally important because in 1949 he rejected appointment as Assistant Secretary of State because of the racial situation in Washington where he would have to live.

When a newsman asked him the other day whether he would have any objections to living there now, Dr. Bunche said:

"If my work took me to Washington I would live there. There have been some remarkable changes in the past four or five years. The restaurants, theaters, hotels and now the schools are opening up to Negroes."

The people of Washington have a right to be proud of the change which has taken place and which augurs so well for even happier racial relations in the future.

Man Made Moonlet

Parents may stop laughing at junior's enthusiasm for space travel after reading a forecast that Mother Earth's first artificial satellite will be a reality in 1957.

Not only was this prediction made by the syndicated columnist Stewart Alsop, but he said that the cost of this artificial moon would be $20,000,000. Other details, however, are bound to be a little bit disappointing to devotees of stories about interplanetary travel.

The satellite will be no larger than a soft ball and will weigh no more than 100 pounds. There won't be any room for spatial adventurers as it revolves around the earth 250 miles out in the void.

It will be able to relay back to earth accurate data concerning conditions away out there by means of telemetering devices. Eventually the satellite will disintegrate as it drifts down into dense atmosphere.

But before that, scientists believe, it will be a great help in shaping the design of larger satellites and of intercontinental missiles.

Amendment No. 3

Of the four proposed constitutional amendments on next Monday's ballots, No. 3, the school finance plan is of greatest public interest.

This is the proposal which promises hard pressed school districts a means of financing urgently needed class room expansion. The plan was advanced by Louis H. Schimmel, tax expert and long time member of Pontiac's Board of Education.

If approved by the voters, as it should be, the State would be empowered to issue bonds for $100,000,000. From this fund school districts levying at least 13 mills for debt service could borrow the money needed to finance school construction. These districts would have to continue levying 13 mills until the entire debt to the State fund is repaid.

There are many districts in the State which have been unable to keep pace with the birth rate and residential building boom. In debt to their legal limits, these districts are powerless to cope with this problem.

Amendment No. 3 has the support of Michigan Republicans, the Michigan Education Association and Gov. Williams. It deserves the overwhelming endorsement of voters.

Vote "Yes" on Amendment No. 3.

"I Can Take a Hint"

David Lawrence Says:

Carney's Words Distorted in Attempt to Confuse U.S.

WASHINGTON — About 20 newspapermen and radio commentators recently sat down at dinner with Admiral Carney, chief of naval operations, whom they had invited to give them background information about the Far Eastern situation. The understanding was that nothing was to be attributed to the admiral and no quotations were to be printed. This is customary in such affairs.

All those present respected the wishes of the admiral in their writings or broadcasts, but some who were not present evidently obtained informal comments afterward from those who did attend and these became the basis for some distorted versions of the remarks actually made.

Then the misrepresentations snowballed. Finally Democratic senators took it up from a political angle and demanded to know about alleged differences inside the administration. President Eisenhower was asked about it at his press conference.

It all added up to an attempt to place the chief of naval operations in the unjustified position of having talked out of turn or of holding views at variance with those of the commander-in-chief.

This isn't the first time the so-called "off the record" dinners have caused trouble, and it wouldn't be surprising if they were discontinued altogether, because evidently what is given newsmen in confidence doesn't stay confidential. Until there is some way to keep these meetings on a briefing or background basis instead of being used for sensational stories that are not true, public officials will hesitate to accept the invitations of newsmen for such social affairs hereafter.

Now, what did Admiral Carney say? He gave all the details on Tuesday of this week to the President, and the latter on Wednesday told a press conference that he saw nothing for which to reprimand Admiral Carney.

The best information available is that the admiral did discuss the background of the Formosa situation. So have other military men here in the past, but there is no truth in the claim that the admiral predicted that war would break out in mid-April or that he had recommended to the President the use of atomic bombs on the mainland of China, as some news articles have reported.

In all briefings, there is an analysis of all military factors. In this instance it is understood that Admiral Carney weighed all the different factors involved but made no flat prediction that the war would break out in mid-April. He was discussing, it is said, the capacity of the Communists to make war, the nature of their buildup and the measures that could be taken to meet any attack.

It is most unfortunate that there has been a persistent campaign, particularly among Democrats in the Senate and House, to confuse the nation by declaring that the administration had not clarified its intentions. The President has been saying repeatedly that he would make the final decision as to whether or, when America should intervene with military force, and it is an established fact that nobody else in the government has that authority.

There never should have been any confusion, and there really isn't any now except among those who do not care to give attention to what has been said officially heretofore. The situation is as simple as this:

1. Quemoy and the Matsu Islands are close to the Chinese mainland and are important only if those islands are used as a base for a the Communists.

2. If the Reds could take the islands with ground artillery and surface ships and landing craft, and the Nationalists were defeated, the United States would not have any reason to intervene. This would be an internal Chinese affair.

3. But if the Communists used airplanes and those planes were fought by the Nationalist planes, as it seems certain they would be, then the air battle would surely involve attacks on American bases in Formosa, and hence American military power would have to be invoked.

Now unfortunately, the Communists do not telegraph or telephone to President Eisenhower what their intentions are or when their plans will materialize, if at all, so it is regrettable that Democrats, like Senator Kefauver and others, are seeking to undermine the President by insisting that he outline specificially what America will do and when. That kind of information would be invaluable to the Communists from a military standpoint.

The important thing is not whether the Democratic senators are confused or whether even the newspaper writers are confused. It's important that the Communists shall be sufficiently confused that they will not risk an attack and interject factors that would force American military intervention.

Dr. John Monroe Refutes Claims ADA, AMA Unqualified to Judge Fluoridation

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The opponents of fluoridation have from time to time stated that the American Dental Association and the American Medical Association as such have not carried on research in the field of fluoridation and hence were not qualified to pass judgment on the matter. These associations carry on no research on any subject, but many of their members do so as individuals.

These national dental and medical organizations serve as clearing houses for their members and the results of their researches are published in their respective journals.

Examination of their publications reveals that an enormous number of such studies have been made in the field of fluoridation and the overwhelming mass of evidence emphasizes the importance of fluoridation of communal water supplies for the prevention of dental decay and also of overwhelming evidence that fluoridation in approved quantities does not harm the human body.

John D. Monroe, M. D.
Director of Public Health
City of Pontiac

According to articles in the paper, one reason for advocation of the water fluoridation program is that this appears to be the cheapest way to do the job.

If sincere in this aim of cheapest for the most, the proponents are probably rejoicing over the fact that according to Indiana University experiments, fluoride can now be added to toothpaste with even better results (50 per cent reduction in first year of use) than adding it to water.

One company is ready to put this on the market, thus permitting people who wish it the privilege of buying it at regular toothpaste cost—a much more democratic procedure than forcing fluorides into everyone's water.

With these more recent scientific developments in view, it is well that Pontiac should not be stampeded into adopting fluoridation. Let's be up to date. Vote "Yes" to stop the old fashioned fluoridation scheme.

I am a PTA member and my youngster's welfare is of utmost importance to me. It is frightening to think of the dire consequences of fluoridated water.

Mildred Huttula 41 S. Roselawn

Dec. 9, 1953, the El Paso County Medical Society adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, there is substantial evidence that the water supply of Colorado Springs has contained a surplus amount (2.6 parts per million) of fluorine for about 75 years, be it resolved, that during the long practice of medicine in Colorado Springs it is the considered opinion of the members of the El Paso County Medical Society that we have not experienced any clinical symptoms which can be attributed to the use of such water. It is known, however, that a condition known as 'mottled enamel' can be produced by the use of water containing an excess of fluorine."

Is it not strange that the physicians in this area, with such a high concentration of fluorine in the water, have found no symptoms of the so-called chronic poisoning reported by opponents of fluoridation?

If such a condition really existed, fluoridation would not have the approval of the American Dental Association, American Medical Association, United States Public Health Service, Michigan State Dental Association, Michigan State Medical Society, Michigan Department of Health, Michigan Health Officers Association, and the American Water Works Association. Surely, all these scientists can't be wrong.

Charles A. Neafie, M. D.
Deputy Director of Public Health

More than 30 years ago, we were told by city officials and the Press that our water supply was exhausted. A million dollar bond issue voted for a filtration plant to use filtered and disinfected pond water was abandoned a few weeks after this water was turned into the mains. No one could drink it or stand the smell! I understand the machinery has been sold for junk. A million dollars down the drain with the filthy pond water.

New wells were sunk and our water supply has lasted since then, even with the large increase in population. So much for false propaganda.

One great waste of water is for air conditioning. Another method must be found. Civilian use of water for homes and gardens should come first. Industries could use the soft pond water. Many are near such sources of supply.

Now we have another scheme to monkey with our water supply—fluoridation and chlorination—a form of socialized medicine. A doctor prescribes for each individual patient, not a standard dose for all patients, no matter what disease they have.

Vote "Yes" for the ordinance to stop fluoridation!

Good Teacher Must Love Youngsters, Not Make Mountains Out of Molehills

Let teenagers rate their teachers for they recognize good teaching vs. bad and aren't bribed by an "A" grade. Thus, many will rate a teacher as poor, though she offers them an "A." Good teachers also need a keen sense of humor and social perspective, like the teacher in the chewing gum episode narrated below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-388: Dr. Raymond Hatch is head of guidance and counselor training at Michigan State College.

In a recent address before the teachers at Omaha, Nebraska, he emphasized the value of a good sense of humor.

To illustrate his point, he told about a young first grade school marm with a great desire to launch her youngsters on the pathway to correct English. One day the principal entered her room.

So she decided to give each child a chance to stand up and tell something about his own home.

"Me sleep with Daddy," exclaimed one 6-year-old boy.

"No, no," the young teacher shook her head vigorously, "I sleep with Daddy!"

The boy looked puzzled for a moment.

"Humph," he exclaimed, "then that must have been after I fell asleep."

Imagine her consternation before the principal!

Dr. H. H. Goddard, one of America's pioneer psychologists, has written a recent book entitled "How to Rear Children in the Atomic Age."

He mentions therein the tendency of children to take things literally and to illustrate his point, he tells about a little girl who entered school in the fall.

It was opening day and the teacher had more pupils than she had counted on, so she temporarily seated the little girl down in front.

When the child got home, however, she politely informed her mother that she wasn't going back to school the next day for her teacher told fibs.

The mother protested that the little girl must be in error, but the child vehemently insisted that the teacher was a fibber.

"There were a lot of children who didn't have seats," the little girl said, "so teacher told me to sit on a chair for the present.

"And, Mother, I sat there all day but I never got the present. So teacher is a fibber."

Good teachers require, first of all, a great love for youngsters. That is more important than advanced college degrees, for a sourpuss teacher can ruin the future educational careers of scores of eager tots, despite an M.A. or even a Ph.D. degree.

A good teacher should also have much understanding of applied psychology which includes a sense of humor.

This wide knowledge of people will prevent her losing perspective and making an undue fuss over trivial details, such as chewing gum.

Good teachers see that pupils obey essential rules, but don't make mountains out of molehills.

For instance, a male teacher in a Chicago high school was strolling to the front of the study room when a boy decided to throw his gum into the wastebasket in the far corner.

Since the teacher's back was turned to him, he felt safe. But another boy in an adjacent seat batted the wad of gum as it was in transit and deflected it just enough so that it struck the teacher on the cheek and dropped to the floor.

All the students tensely waited for a blow-up. And the boy who originally threw the gum, was panicky with fear.

But that teacher just shook his head and went "tch, tch" a couple of times; then picked up the gum and carried it over to the wastebasket.

The students immediately gained more respect for him, since he didn't lecture them or order the whole room held after school for punishment.

Send for my "Test for Good Teachers," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus a dime. Then let pupils rate their teachers thereon.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Dr. Brady Defines Words Rheumatiz and Arthritis

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

It is abundantly evident in the letters readers write me that most of them think I'm just facetious or maybe not quite hep to what the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers are doing these days, when I call arthritis "rheumatiz."

If you have any such notion I don't blame you. But I must say that if you cling to that notion after you have finished reading this piece, I'm sorry for you. But just in case you haven't the time or perhaps are interrupted or lost interest before you finish it, please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz. It can't do any harm and, you never know, it may do you or somebody you love a lot of good.

What is arthritis, anyway?

Very likely you harbor a vague fancy that it is some specific, special or particular disease that is more exclusive or fashionable than ordinary rheumatism, and no wonder, when we consider all the hokum the medical authorities hand out.

The term arthritis means joint inflammation, heat, pain, redness and swelling (calor, dolor, rubor, tumor).

The term rheumatism or rheumatiz has no particular meaning today.

If a joint which was perfectly normal yesterday or last week becomes hot, painful, red and swollen, it is probably inflamed, and you may say the joint is inflamed or if you're a gullible customer you may be content to call it arthritis.

To be sure, there are a good many cases of arthritis, pneumococcic arthritis, streptococcic arthritis, gonorrheal arthritis, etc., but when a doctor calls your joint trouble "arthritis" without specifying what kind he thinks it is, watch out. Don't let any doctor string you along like that.

As a rule the joint disability that comes on insidiously, with no noticeable calor, dolor, rubor, tumor, and persists for a year or longer, is not arthritis at all, but just plain degeneration of joint tissues, which, for want of a better name, we may call rheumatiz.

Now I have already stipulated that the term rheumatism or rheumatiz has no particular significance. Maybe it had some vague significance when Osler was writing his book.

Chronic rheumatism, Dr. Osler opined, was "most common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day-laborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp." Whatever the great medical teacher believed about rheumatiz, he did describe also "arthritis deformans," which he thoroughly confused with "rheumatoid arthritis" and "rheumatic gout."

But whatever joint disability Dr. Osler discussed he opined it was due to "exposure to cold, wet and damp, errors in diet," etc. But all the advice Dr. Osler gave about diet for one with this joint disability was "let the patient eat all the good food she can digest." It seems too bad, but Dr. Osler had turned up his toes before the medical profession deigned to recognize the science of nutrition.

In a nutshell I consider rheumatiz is physical degeneration due, in most instances, to lifelong nutritional deficiency.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

non-support of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Our local health department sent a telegram immediately after this statement was released to get the truth about their stand on this issue. In less than 48 hours, we did have the truth which was published by your press.

If in doubt about the authenticity of any information contact your local medical society, your local dental society or the local health department. Let's have less guess work and more scientific facts.

M. M. B.

The front page of the March 28 issue of the Press carried a pro-fluoridation article quoting Dr. J. Knutson, a U. S. Public Health officer. In his statement favoring fluoridation he said that there was no other effective or public health or clinical method of preventing tooth decay.

In the September, 1953, issue of a current magazine, an article appeared quoting a University of California experiment, in which Dr. Herman Becks fed 1,500 persons a high protein, low sugar diet for a year and achieved an 80 per cent reduction in dental decay.

This experiment certainly indicates that there are other effective means of reducing dental decay. Is Dr. Knutson unfamiliar with this material?

If, apparently, one of his statements is unreliable, can we believe his other claims that no harm comes from drinking water treated with sodium fluoride?

Mrs. Mary D. Walter
Route 2, Lake Orion

If PTA members would start a campaign against candy, gum, soft drinks (especially coke, which definitely injures tooth enamel), they would benefit, not only small children's teeth, but those of everyone and their bodies also.

Parents can kill their children with kindness. A diabetic child can die from excessive sweets and be seriously harmed by fluoridated water—the last according to Dr. Waldbott, famous allergist.

All people, young or old, with heart or kidney disease, high blood pressure, etc., cannot use sodium in any form. Some people selfishly want others to pay their dental bills. Many who will have this fluoridation cost assessed for taxes, will have to buy cooking and drinking water.

Our pure well water needs no fluorine or other medication. Parents could do without liquor and cigarettes and pay for fluoride treatment of their children's teeth and be healthier themselves.

Calcium and fluorine are combined in natural water. Sodium fluoride, the most harmful, will be used because it is much cheaper.

Vote "Yes" for the ordinance to stop fluoridation!

Mrs. Lulu Luby
400 Lowell St.

Many of the people in this area work in factories. If you were working on the line, would you be taking your orders from the designing engineer? Of course you wouldn't.

Then why should you take the work of Dr. Waldbott regarding fluoridation? He is a specialist of allergies and in my estimation far removed from being a specialist in dental health.

Most of our physicians are so busy caring for their patients that they do not have time to be going all over the state to oppose something which has been proven safe by all the major health agencies in the country.

D. S.

Have you ever had the opportunity to examine the teeth of children in an average school in an average income neighborhood? If you have, you would know that a large per cent of these children have badly decayed six-year molars, which are the first permanent teeth.

They are six-year molars but at the age of seven are already so badly disintegrated that extraction is the only solution. Are you interested in doing something about this?

If so vote "No" against the ordinance prohibiting fluoridation of the city water supply.

Ruth E. Toepfer
Dental Hygienist
Pontiac Board of Education

Now that we have heard the pro and con on the fluoridation issue, one can't help coming to a conclusion that it should be voted out. Why spend the taxpayers' money on something so controversial?

Our City Manager says and we all know that we need additional sewage and water in Pontiac. To quote Walter K. Willman, "It depends on what kind of a summer we have. If we get a little rain, we may do all right. If we have a protracted dry spell, we may have trouble. It depends on the temperatures and sufficient help from the heavens."

Joseph W. Gable, Water Department chief, said things can get rough "if industry and commercial users keep on using water at the rate they have for the past six months." There's at least 1,000 new homes going up this summer. Let's all vote "Yes" to oust fluoridation.

Common Sense

One disturbing thought about this whole fluoridation business is this: It appears one group claims it's all good and does no harm; another group feels there is a possibility of good to some, but cite evidence of harm to others. This group wanting such feels it should force everybody to drink it.

Personally, I am undecided as to the pros and cons of this dispute. However, even if I felt that fluorine was all good and did no harm, I would feel compelled to vote against this procedure. In our country for any minority or majority to try to force an idea or medication on others is contrary to the personal rights guaranteed by our Constitution.

Those desiring this medication have the freedom to use fluoride tablets or another such form. By what authority are they striving to force their opinion on everyone else?

I am sorry to see the U. S. Public Health Service take part in such an un-democratic movement showing no respect for the rights of the American citizen.

John W. Seddon
253 Michigan Avenue

In a few days we registered voters of Pontiac will have the opportunity to decide the local fluoridation issue. Most of us freely add common table salt to our food. In fact we add it at the table if a sufficient quantity was not added in the kitchen. Yet this salt, sodium chloride, is the nearest chemical relative to sodium fluoride, the salt used in fluoridation.

The natural level of sodium fluoride in Pontiac water is insufficient for the therapeutic levels needed to adequately reduce dental caries. Why not add that tiny, though effective, amount of fluoride salt to our water supply just as we liberally add the desired amount of chloride salt to our food?

True, hydrofluoric acid will etch glass, but hydrocholoric acid will dissolve metal. The sodium salt of both halogens is different in its action from the acid form. The sodium salt is required by the body and is harmless in both cases.

I have grown up in Pontiac and have a mouthful of filled cavities. Let's give the next generation of Pontiac children the real advantages of scientific progress. As a citizen of Pontiac and a student presently in medical school, I intend to vote "against the ordinance" next Monday. Won't you join me?

John R. Slater
187 E. Huron Street

It is comical how wrought up some folks can get over side issues on a subject like fluoridation. One writer appears much concerned that some speakers and writers against this movement are from out-of-town areas.

By the same token those opposing such could express the same concern over the pro-fluoridationists. One of the much quoted dentists lives and works in Birmingham; a pathologist quoted lives in Lake Orion; at a PTA meeting two State employes from out of town were doing all the promotional work.

There are both dentists and medical doctors in the Pontiac area who oppose this program but due to the code of ethics of their professions they prefer to remain in the background of this dispute.

To quote another out-of-towner, Dr. Charles Brusch, B.S., M.D., director of Cambridge Medical Center, "Artificial fluoridation is frought with dangers. Sodium fluoride is a highly toxic protoplasmic poison, 15 times stronger than arsenic. The smaller the dose, the greater the activity"

Do you want this in your water? Vote "Yes" to pass the law stopping this foolishness.

Mrs. John E. McCormick
20 Thorpe Street

Dr. Monroe stated in his article of last week that there were many people against smallpox vaccination but it proved very valuable. There is one difference that Dr. Monroe didn't mention. It is that no one has to be vaccinated that doesn't want it. If fluorine was put into our public water supply, it would be almost impossible for a person, not wanting to drink fluorine, to avoid it.

He would be unable to drink a glass of water in a public drinking fountain, a restaurant or at a friend's home. He wouldn't even be able to drink a cup of coffee in the above places.

I have read every article for fluorine and against fluorine and not one has mentioned what might happen to the family pet. Will fluorine harm our cats, dogs and birds? I believe they are important, too.

Please people of Pontiac, let's vote "Yes" on April 4 and let those who wish to give fluorine to their children buy it and give it to them.

George Backs Island Decision

Senator Sides With Ike on Not Revealing U.S. Stand in Case of Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today he supports President Eisenhower's position in not saying now whether the United States will help defend Quemoy and Matsu if they are attacked by the Reds.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, spoke in an interview in advance of a White House briefing of Senate leaders of both parties.

"I think the President is right about not making any commitments at this time," George said. "Of course, you can't keep people from speculating when high officials make the statements about the situation that they do."

This was a reference to last week's predictions, traced to Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, that the Chinese Communists may attack the Nationalist - held coastal islands around April 15.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he doesn't believe the cause of peace is served by "talking too much in terms of speculation about such things."

The President said he doesn't know that there won't be an attack—"but I do say that if anyone is predicting it will be that soon . . . they have information that I do not have."

New England Eying Seaway

Chief of 6 States Split on Economic Effects of Inland Water Route

BOSTON (UP)—New England states are taking a new look at the vast St. Lawrence Seaway now that it is becoming an actuality to see how it will affect New England's economy.

The new look has divided the governors of the six northeastern states on the question whether New England will benefit or suffer from the project that will add 2,400 miles of coast line to the heart of North America.

"I have held the conviction consistently that the seaway would be injurious to Massachusetts," Gov. Christian A. Herter told the United Press. "However, the Massachusetts Department of Commerce is making a careful examination of the situation as it now exists and I do not feel free to comment further until this study is completed."

Massachusetts Commerce Commissioner Richard Preston said the study to which Herter referred is "several months from completion."

"However," Preston added, "my line has been all along that Massachusetts should look to see how she can gain rather than sit back and wring her hands."

Preston said the seaway "is likely to mean a reorientation of New England industry toward Montreal as a distribution point."

"Montreal is going to be the trans-shipment point for seaway traffic, from shallow-draft boats to deep-draft boats and vice versa. New York and Philadelphia are going to suffer more than Boston, shipping-wise. Boston can actually become an alternate warm-water port when the seaway is frozen over."

ROK Wants A-Cannons to Meet Commie Threat

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea has asked the United States for atomic cannons "to meet the increased fighting power in Communist North Korea," Defense Minister Sohn Won Il said today.

Sohn told a news conference he made the request to U.S. Army Secretary Robert Stevens Tuesday and that Stevens had replied he would try "his best."

Sohn said he told Stevens that the Communists in North Korea were increasing their fighting power "in clear violation of the armistice terms" and that "the United States should give us new weapons to meet the enemy strength."

Cafe's 'Swear Pot' Helps Collect Change for Polio

THREE RIVERS (UP) — The Squeeze In restaurant reinstated its "swear pot" today to help improve the language habits of its customers and at the same time collect some change for next year's polio fund.

"I didn't know people could talk so sweetly until I started passing around the swear pot last July," said Mrs. Josie Beck, who operates the little coffee shop with her husband.

"It doesn't take long for people to change their speech habits if they know they'll have to pay for all their cuss words."

Mr. and Mrs. Beck emptied the swear pot last month and found they had more than $20 to turn over to the polio fund. They set the pot out on the counter again today in the hope of coming up with a larger amount for next year's drive.

"It started off as a sort of joke last summer," Mrs. Beck explained. "Our little place is usually filled during coffee breaks and lunch hours. I guess people don't realize how many cuss words they use in ordinary conversation, but it seemed to me there was an awful lot of swearing and we decided to do something about it."

Mrs. Beck first set a milk bottle on the counter and let the customers know they would have to contribute to the swear pot for the privilege of cussing in the Squeeze In restaurant.

"The rates will be a penny a cuss and double on Sundays," she told the customers.

It wasn't long until the milk bottle was full of change and the honor of being a "swear pot" went to a big, half-gallon jar.

Mrs. Beck said some people contributed dimes and quarters, "probably because of a guilty conscience."

"Sometimes a customer in the course of a conversation will take a deep breath, start to turn purple—and then drop a few coins in the swear pot without saying what he had on his mind," the young woman said.

"At least it's a good way to make people think twice before saying something naughty in public, and the money goes to a good cause."

Crippled Boy Gets Union's Gift Check

CHICAGO (AP)—The AFL Chicago journeyman plumbers union's $10,000 gift to its business agent is being handed over to a union member's hopelessly crippled son.

Stephen M. Bailey, the business agent, said a $10,000 check was given to him by 6,200 fellow members in recognition of his 25-year service. He said last night he turned the check over to the parents of 15-year-old Daniel Ellis, who lost both hands and his right eye in an explosion Jan. 29.

The money, he said, will be used to provide artificial limbs for an education for the boy, who was injured when his toy chemical set exploded.

Treated Like Human, Fined $8 for Speeding

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—George T. Lamb, 61, a carpenter, went before Municipal Judge Philip Bagley on a charge of driving 35 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Lamb, admitting his offense, said he understood courts had found a dog was entitled to his first bite and he thought a motorist should be entitled to his first violation without penalty.

"I wouldn't want anyone to think I treat people like dogs," said the judge. "I'll treat you like a human. Fine: $8."

Three-Township Sewage Authority Set to Undergo Further Investigation

Creation of a sewage authority took another step forward yesterday, as representatives of five Oakland County Townships studied plans for solving their sewage problems on a joint basis.

Troy Township Supervisor Norman E. Barnard, Avon Supervisor C. E. Miller, and Pontiac Township board member Howard C. Decker reported their boards favored continuing the study of the plan.

As outlined by Barnard, the sanitary sewer would collect sewage from the three townships, and carry it to the Detroit sewage system for treatment. The sewage facilities would be jointly financed and owned by the participating areas.

Oakland Township Supervisor Frank Voll and Orion Supervisor Ferris Clark were also present to study the proposals.

"Whether we can set up the authority depends on studies by Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph Main," Barnard said.

Questioned by Main as to whether Detroit could take the sewage, officials there said they would like to see a map of all present similar drains in the county, and the proposed ones, before answering.

Main added that the Detroit system might have the capacity to take the additional sewage, provided that the participating townships submitted only sanitary sewage, and made other provisions for storm water.

Another meeting has been scheduled for April 20, for further reports.

SEWER PLANS — Officials of five Oakland County townships met yesterday to discuss the possibility of creating a sewer authority to serve their areas. Here C. E. Miller, Avon Township Supervisor, Norman Barnard, Troy Supervisor, and Howard C. Decker, Pontiac Township Board of Trustees member, look over proposed plans of the venture. The authority would build a sanitary sewer to carry the sewage from its members into the Detroit system for treatment.

West Bloomfield Will Vote on One-Mill Tax Increase

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The West Bloomfield Township Board has notified residents that a proposal for a one-mill tax increase to pay for the operation of township government will be placed on the April 4 ballot.

In voting to seek the $1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation levy, the board cited an increase in township population from 8,720 in 1950 to 13,500 at the present time as a reason for the additional assessment, saying that this calls for more service especially in the fire and police departments.

"The township has been operating almost entirely on state returned revenues which are based on the 1950 census figures, with no hope of any increase until the next federal census in 1960," officials pointed out.

"Additional services have put a serious strain on the township budget," it was emphasized, "and the most that can be expected from the county allocation board (within the 15-mill limit) is one mill, without depriving the schools within the township."

In voting for the one mill, as equalized, township property owners would pay approximately $1.90 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Township officials also informed voters that all amendments would be found on the top row of the voting machine, with the local amendment in the right hand corner.

Candidates to Speak at Roosevelt School

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Candidates for two high state educational posts in Monday's election and Secretary of State James M. Hare will speak at a public meeting tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. in the Roosevelt School, Keego Harbor.

On hand will be Eugene B. Power, candidate for the University of Michigan Board of Regents, and Dr. Connor D. Smith, running for the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College, said Robert Willihnganz, township Democratic chairman.

Homer Coon, of Keego Harbor, is in charge of the social hour to follow the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Lawyer Reveals Secrets of Reds in Hitler Regime

"Communist Infiltration of Germany during the Hitler Administration" was the topic of lecturer Robert Mills Donihi at the Avondale High School yesterday.

International lawyer and world traveler, Donihi will also speak at Holly High School twice Friday, and is speaking at Goodrich School today.

"Despite the anti-Communist nature of the Hitler government, it was unsuccessful in getting rid of Communist subversion. There are strong indications that the Reds did much to destroy Germany from within, during and before the war," Donihi said.

ROBERT M. DONIHI

During 1945-46 Donihi was a trial prosecutor in the Tojo trial in Tokyo, and he later worked on the war crimes trials in Germany.

In 1951 he was appointed special assistant to John J. McCloy, then High Commissioner for Germany.

A Nashville, Tenn., resident, Donihi was appointed 1952-53 Tennessee chairman for the Crusade for Freedom, by Henry Ford II.

Teachers to Get $400 Pay Raise Retroactive to September 1954

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — The Carver School board of education has agreed to a $400 pay hike for teachers, retroactive to September, 1954.

The salary for teachers with bachelor degrees will now vary from $3,400 to $5,300. A total of $24,000 in back wages will come with the new contracts.

Army Clears 27 Risks at Fort

Eight Other Civilians Working at Monmouth Fired, Records Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army says it has cleared 27 of 35 Ft. Monmouth, N.J., civilian employes who had been suspended as suspected security risks. The other eight have been fired, according to Army records.

The Pentagon disclosed last night the completion of action in the cases of the 35 workers who were suspended under government loyalty procedures. The Army said all 27 of those cleared were reinstated but that three later quit.

Charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that espionage was widespread at Ft.Monmouth, an Army signal center, figured in his row last year with Army officials. McCarthy, then chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, claimed Army officials tried to get him to drop his probe of Monmouth. Denying this, Army officials said they wanted a different kind of an investigation than McCarthy was running.

Dream of Pay Raise Comes True—Partially

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — A dream came true — after a fashion — for Lucian J. Ciresi, confidential clerk in the district attorney's office who had complained that he was the "forgotten man" as far as pay raises are concerned.

One night he dreamed that he had received a raise at last. The next morning he learned that his semi-monthly check would be boosted by $6.71.

What his dream failed to point out was that Ciresi had just passed 55 and his contributions to the New York State Retirement System were reduced.

Texans Argue Fate of Old Courthouse

CARTHAGE, Tex. (AP)—This east Texas area is sharply divided over what to do with the 70-year-old Panola County Courthouse, says Miss Margie Neal, a former state senator.

Some want to raze the castle-like old building. Others want to preserve it intact. County officials moved into a new building about a year ago, but the old structure has been used for community meetings and singings.

It was decided once to leave the issue up to the voters, but a question arose as to such an election's legality. Now county commissioners must decide but say they would rather somebody else handle the hot potato.

Hal Boyle Says:

Oscar Eludes Top Boxoffice Star

NEW YORK (AP)—Pore old Duke. Hollywood has handed out its annual Academy awards, and again Duke was passed by.

This year Duke—better known as John Wayne—knew in advance he wasn't going to win one of those prized $90 gilded Oscars. Although theater owners voted him the top boxoffice star of 1954, he wasn't even nominated for an Academy award.

Wayne has been in some 150 pictures but never won an Oscar. As a matter of fact he has been nominated only once—for "Sands of Iwo Jima."

Yet he has been among the "Golden Ten" boxoffice kings for six straight years. He has topped the list three times, a record excelled only by Bing Crosby (5) and Shirley Temple (4).

While a number of Oscar winners have risen to fame and then disappeared, old Duke keeps riding along to the plaudits of the people who matter most in the movie business—the popcorn public.

Over a shirt-sleeve breakfast of three eggs and a chunk of ham the size of a cocktail table the rangy 6-foot-4 actor seemed undismayed that an Oscar has eluded his trophy shelf for another year. Chin up—that's old Duke.

"Sure I'd like to win one," he said, as he interrupted a grin with half a fried egg. "The Academy awards are important. They've helped give size to our industry. They hand us back a little of the dignity I feel we deserve. As a group motion picture people have proved pretty fair citizens."

Wayne doubts he'll ever haul home an Oscar, partly because the action roles he plays don't call for the dramatic gamut that most often win awards. But he does get annoyed at the movie literati who, perhaps miffed by his popular appeal, question his acting ability.

"I wonder what they think acting is?" he asked. "I've been earning a living as an actor for more than 25 years. I don't go in for chi-chi or the dirty shirt school of acting. Perhaps nobody but another actor knows how difficult it is to play a straight character part."

The big fellow estimates the pictures he's been in have earned the industry 200 million dollars in the last quarter century, but says he's no millionaire himself.

Wilson Orders Writings Check

Military Men, Civilians Must Submit Material Set for Publication

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary Wilson today ordered that military men and civilian employes of the Defense Department submit to his office for review any material on military matters they prepare for publication.

His directive covers all speeches, press releases, photographs and "other information." It requires that the manuscripts be submitted for review "before submission to the publisher or editor."

Last year, Wilson directed the heads of the three military services to discourage their officials from lending their names to magazine articles and writings about their official duties. But as interpreted, Wilson's order did not extend to lesser officials and officers.

Today's directive covers all employes of the Defense Department and all of the military services and specifically forbids, for the first time, the submission to a publisher or editor of any manuscript before it has been cleared.

Expert Traces Most Inventions Back to Nature

SALT LAKE CITY (UP) — Stanley Mulaik, University of Utah zoologist, contends there's virtually nothing new in the world—not even radar and jet propulsion—that hasn't been tried in nature.

Mulaik said that jet propulsion has been used for ages by dragonfly numphs and squids. Bats navigate on a principle that he said is almost identical with sonar and radar.

Tin snips and nutcrackers? Mulaik compared these with the claws of a lobster.

A hypodermic needle, the zoologist noted, is the same as the stinger of a scorpion or the fangs of a rattlesnake.

The pipes of an organ and a tiny whistle built in the trachea of birds; the iris diaphram, commonly used to regulate light for cameras, and the eye of an owl operate on the same principles.

Mulaik's favorite oddity in nature is a comparison of the modern whale harpoon and the tongue of a woodpecker. Just the same, he insisted, except for size.

Sailboat Matrimony

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — That cliche about the "sea of matrimony" is more than a phrase to Mrs. Nobel Guthrie. She met and was wooed and won by her husband aboard a sail boat. Dr. Guthrie, then a student at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., was building the boat when he was interduced to his wife-to-be. "He put me to work sanding and painting his boat," Mrs. Guthrie recalled.

Japan exported 75,986 bales of raw silk in 1954, more than half of it to the United States.

Comics Code Takes Effect

Some Recent Issues Bear Seal of Approval of Censor Group

This month, for the first time, comic books are appearing on news stands with a new look—a seal saying, "approved by the Comics Code Authority."

The seal indicates that the comics of 24 publishers are now being examined by comic "czar" Charles F. Murphy and his staff. These publishers put out 388 magazines, though they are not the entire comic book industry. They formed the Comic Magazine Association of America and asked Murphy, a former New York City judge, to be "czar."

Better Homes & Gardens magazine reports on the progress made by that association in its drive to clean up the comics in a recent issues. Three illustrations in the article point up corrections of comic strip elements considered undesirable: Ridicule of a boy wearing glasses, undue emphasis on violence and death, and suggestive art work.

Murphy told the publishers he must have complete authority to administer a code that would give comic books a face lifting. He got his way. The code was patterned after standards already established by the motion picture, radio, and television industries.

The code imposes 30 restrictions. Among them: "Crimes shall never be presented . . . to create sympathy for the criminal, to promote distrust of the forces of law and justice, or to inspire others with a desire to imitate criminals."

. . . "The treatment of love-romance stories shall emphasize the value of the home and the sanctity of marriage . . ."

One section stipulating that no comic magazine use the words "horror" or "terror" in its title stopped publication of 33 comic books at one fell swoop. Restrictions govern the content of comic book advertisements. A final clause gives Judge Murphy the right to stop elements or techniques that violate the spirit of the code, if not the letter.

How will he code effect comic books? The best way to find out is to examine books with the "approval" seal that appear on news stands this month.

Realtors Decide 'For Sale' Signs Both Good, Bad

WASHINGTON (UP) — "For sale" signs can be good and bad, according to a survey of the real estate business by the Secretaries Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Some realtors think the signs are silent salesmen, and do an effective job of advertising.

Others think they pose an open invitation for house-hunters to ring the doorbell and ask the owner for information, thus bypassing the real estate broker.

The council based the following findings on reports by secretaries of 277 real estate boards:

1. Only a handful of communities outlaw the signs.

2. "Gentlemen's agreements" on the non-use of for-sale signs rarely work.

3. Most real estate boards are not concerned with complete elimination of the signs, but would like to reduce the number in use.

Thrift 'T' Joins 3 R's in New York School

MOHAWK, N. Y. (UP) — Another letter besides the three R's is important to students at the Mohawk Central School.

The letter "T" stands for thrift, which is a "must" for the students. About 1,300 of them carry bank books to school each week to make deposits.

This is the fifth consecutive year of the thrift program. School officials said many bicycles, radios, vacation trips, cameras, etc., have been bought by the pupils with their savings.

Kindergarten Pupils Get 'Driving' Lessons

LIVINGSTON, N. J. (UP) — School authorities in this community have taken to heart the warning of traffic experts that safe driving should be learned at a young age.

A course in highway safety is being conducted in kindergarten classes complete with miniature cars and an electrically operated traffic light.

When youngsters learn to obey the signals, they are issued small driving licenses.

THE EASTER STORY—4
Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet

At the Last Supper Jesus got up from the table and washed the disciples' feet. When he came to Peter, the disciple asked him why he was doing it. Jesus said Peter would know later why he washed his feet. Then he told all the disciples that if he, their Lord and Master, had washed their feet, they ought to serve each other in the same spirit. He said he did it to give them an example that they should follow. After the supper they all sang a hymn and left the upper room where they had eaten and went to the Mount of Olives.

This is the fourth of 12 stories on Easter. Each story's picture is drawn like a stained glass window. You can look at your church's windows for ideas on how to best color this series.

Tomorrow: Peter sleeps in the garden.

THE LITTLE BLUE DUCK — An Easter Story — BY WALT SCOTT

School Board Member Speaks

Maurice Croteau Backs Fluoridation

Support of fluoridation was voiced today by Maurice Croteau, Pontiac business man and member of the Board of Education. His statement follows:

"For many years I have been vitally concerned with the progress of health, religion and education in the City of Pontiac. These factors are recognized as the basis to which any community can point with civic pride.

"We have school systems, both public and parochial, that compare favorably with any in the country. These systems are guided by highly trained and educated personnel.

"Our churches are a monument to the various faiths and provide adequate facilities for free worship. These, too, are fortunate to have highly trained personnel to administer the needs of the various religious groups.

"Our health program is recognized as the guardian of public health in the City of Pontiac and Oakland County. It has enjoyed close co-operation with the Oakland County and Michigan State Medical and Dental Societies.

"It is ever alert to the many complex problems of our rapidly growing community and the tremendous social changes that are with us. These agencies work hand in hand with the various civic and welfare groups. I'm sure that they have the respect and confidence of all our thinking citizens.

"Recently, much has been heard regarding the fluoridation of our public water supply. Personally, I'm not in position to properly evaluate all the scientific findings that have been presented in favor of fluoridation; neither, am I influenced by the petty, personal opposition, who have presented no logical reasoning for their opposition.

"Therefore, I will be guided by those individuals and national agencies who have devoted many years to thorough study and research. In their opinion this is a safe and sound economical procedure to materially reduce dental decay. This, today, is a national problem among our ever increasing youth of this country.

"Let's give our children the benefit they so rightfully deserve and support the program for fluoridation."

Reds Decide to Return German Masterpieces

MOSCOW (AP) — The Council of Ministers of the Soviet Union announced today it has decided to return Rafael's Sistine Madonna and 749 other art masterpieces to the Dresden, Germany, museum.

The paintings were brought to Moscow by Russian troops at the end of the war and have been here ever since.

Two Youths Fined for Dumping Trash

For dumping garbage and trash along Squirrel road in Pontiac Township, two youths were fined and two others face court action.

Henry Kettonen, 17, of 154 N. Aster St., and James Hall, 17, of 788 Ann St., Birmingham, pleaded guilty before Pontiac Township Justice Robert Hodge and were fined $25 and $25 costs each.

The other pair, Cecil Tanner, 18, of 323 Michigan Ave., Pontiac and Richard Wells, 17, of 643 Northway Dr., Pontiac, pleaded innocent and were released on $100 bonds. They will appear before Justice Hodge April 8.

All four were arrested by Oakland County Deputy Sheriff Wilson Gardner Tuesday. He said he followed a trail of trash and garbage for a half mile and found the boys driving along the road shoveling the refuse from the back of an old truck.

Sect Re-enacts Death of Christ on Western Hill

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP)—A man in a long, pastel-colored robe toiled up a rocky hillside carrying a 12-foot cross.

It was Krishna Venta, who calls himself master of the WKFL Fountain of the World religious sect, performing a predawn reenactment of the Crucifixion yesterday.

Members of his sect, dressed as Roman soldiers, swung at him with cloth whips and spat at him as he climbed the path up a slope in windswept Box Canyon, high above the San Fernando Valley.

At the top he stretched out on a heavier cross, was lashed to it with leather thongs and was raised upright. He stayed there for 23 minutes, his feet resting on a bracket on the cross, as television and news cameras photographed the scene.

Venta said afterward that the ceremony was held yesterday because March 30 is the date of the Crucifixion. The WKFL sect is in a four-day holy period which began Tuesday when Venta solemnized three marriages within the order. The WKFL initials stand for Wisdom, Knowledge, Faith and Love.

Owosso Man Is Injured in U.S. 10 Collision

Grant C. Kinsey, 51, of Owosso, was treated for head cuts at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday after the car in which he was riding collided with another on U.S. 10 in Springfield Township.

The driver, Charles M. O'Conner, 44, also of Owosso, told sheriff's deputies he was attempting to avoid a collision with another car when he skidded into one being driven by Jack Spencer, 32, of 1186 Tull St., Pontiac. Neither O'Conner or Spencer was hurt.

Traffic Deaths Hit Lowest Point Since Feb. 1950

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's smallest traffic death toll for any month since 1950 was recorded in February.

The National Safety Council made the announcement today.

It reported fatalities numbered 2,270 in February, the lowest monthly total since February, 1950, when 2,258 were killed.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, pointed out further significance: 13 of the last 14 months have shown either a decrease or no increase in the United States motor vehicle death toll in comparison with the corresponding month of the previous year.

He concluded:

"The death toll is coming down despite a constant increase in the number of cars and miles traveled. The trend indicates a real desire by the public to drive safely."

The traffic death total for the first two months of this year was 5,170—a 3 per cent drop from the toll of the corresponding period of last year.

Sister Is Killed, Another Hurt as Car Hits Group

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—Six sisters were walking home from school yesterday along a country road. An automobile plowed through the group, killing one girl and injuring another critically.

Jeannie Lucille Moore, 6, was killed. Her sister Carron Lee, 10, suffered fractures of the pelvis and both legs.

Highway Patrolman N. E. Tinnin said the car driver, W. L. Stott, was being held for investigation.

4 'Nonpartisan' Candidates Aim for High Court Seats

(Editor's Note: This is the last of four articles dealing with the men and issues in the April 4 spring election.)

LANSING (AP)—Two justices of the Michigan Supreme Court will be elected at the spring election from four so-called "nonpartisan" candidates.

The court candidates are on a separate ballot without party designation and the voter may choose two in any combination he wants. But two were nominated by the Republicans and two by the Democrats under Michigan's peculiar nonpartisan judicial election law.

The Republican nominees are Chief Justice Leland W. Carr of Lansing, the only incumbent on the ballot, and former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake of Stanton.

The Democratic nominees are both circuit judges and both former attorneys general, Stephen J. Roth of Flint and Eugene F. Black of Port Huron.

To take them alphabetically:

Black is a former Republican attorney general elected under the banner of the late Gov. Kim Sigler. He later broke with the Republican Party and accepted Gov. Williams' appointment to the Circuit Court at Port Huron. He has since been re-elected to another term.

The outstanding political iconoclast in Michigan, Black has attacked the Supreme Court as being "archaic" and "reactionary."

Black, 52, studied law in the office of a circuit judge and briefly attended the University of Michigan. He has a reputation as an aggressive and shrewd trial lawyer. He served on a naval subchaser in World War II.

The story is that Carr persuaded Sigler to select Black as his attorney general. True or not, Black has directed his campaign fire at the other Republican nominee, Brake, who once served with him on the State Administrative Board.

Brake, 64, has a long record in government. He was 13 years prosecutor of Montcalm County, 3 years a high school principal, 8 years a state senator, and 12 years state treasurer—being defeated for the first time last fall. He is a graduate of Albion College and the University of Michigan Law School.

For many years Brake has been a leading advocate of strengthening and preserving local government. He organized and heads the Michigan Institute for Local Government to instruct school pupils and teachers in the workings of government. He operates a 600-acre farm in Montcalm County.

Justice Carr, 72, towers physically and professionally. He graduated from the University of Michigan Law School and was assistant attorney general from 1913 to 1919. He was appointed to the Ingham County circuit bench in 1921 and was re-elected continuously until 10 years ago when he was appointed to the Supreme Court. He was re-elected in 1947.

Although buried in the dim vastness of the Supreme Court, Carr still is remembered as the grand juror who picked Kim Sigler as his special prosecutor and thus formed the famed Carr-Sigler investigative team which unearthed corruption in the State Legislature.

Roth, 47, was Williams' first attorney general and earned a wide popularity with both Republicans and Democrats. He was born in Hungary and brought to the United States when he was 5 years old.

Balloting Briefs:

211 County Precincts Represented in Election

Balloting in Monday's spring election will take place at 211 precincts in Oakland County. Figuring an average of seven workers at each polling place, an estimated 1,477 persons will be involved in election work during the day.

The controversial fluoridation proposal and two charter amendments in Pontiac are expected to swell the city's turnout to between 10,000 and 12,000. In 1953, 5,247 city dwellers voted.

Polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 8 p. m.

Some 227,000 county citizens are registered to vote, compared with 220,000 at the spring election two years ago, according to County Clerk Lynn D. Allen. Nearly 27,000 Pontiac residents are registered, said City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

Voting Errors Are Listed

Oakland County Clerk Lynn D. Allen and Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans joined today in urging voters to cast their ballots correctly Monday.

They warned that a mark other than an "X" inside the circle or square beside their choice of candidate or proposal will disqualify the ballot.

To be correct, the voter should clearly mark an "X" within the box or circle, with both its lines meeting inside the box or circle.

Some of the more common errors made by voters, they said, are:

1—Making a "check" mark, rather than a cross.

2—Writing "yes" in the box or circle.

4—Failing to have the lines of the cross intersect inside the box.

Mrs. Evans reminded Pontiac voters that a "For" vote should be cast on the fluoridation ballot by those OPPOSED to adding fluorides to city water, and an "Against" vote should be cast by those FAVORING fluoridation.

Voters Who Have Moved May Return to Old Units

Oakland County voters who will be absent from their communities on election day Monday, or who have moved into a new governmental unit since registering, need not lose their franchise.

A state constitutional amendment approved last November allows voters registered in one unit, who move into another too late for re-registration, to return and ballot in their old precinct.

Registration closes 30 days before election, but under the new law citizens who have moved can ballot in their former precinct on all but special local proposals.

A returning voter need only sign an affidavit at the polls indicating his old and new addresses. A person may only vote in his old precinct once, then he must register in his new unit.

Those who will be away from home on election day can obtain an absentee ballot at their local clerk's office through Saturday. They can either vote at the clerk's office or pick up a ballot and mail it back.

The ballot must reach the clerk by Monday. Only the voter himself can obtain one.

Old Schools Unmasked

CONCORD, N. H. (UP) — A study of New Hampshire's public schools showed that more than half of the buildings are over 50 years old.

Four Liberty Ships Recalled for Duty

WASHINGTON (UP) — Liberty ships, the troop and cargo-carrying heroes of World War II, are called up for duty again.

Four Liberty ships will be commissioned this year for atomic sentry duty for the Navy. They will patrol the Atlantic as radar station ships as part of the Continental Air Defense Command.

The YAGR-1, the first Liberty ship to be converted, is at Norfolk, Va., getting its radar equipment installed. After commissioning, both ship and crew will take a shakedown cruise for training purposes.

The Liberty ships will be under the operational command of Rear Adm. Albert K. Morehouse.

Strings Attached to Will

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—Miss Bernice D. Moore and Miss Jane E. McKeamin were left the bulk of the $120,000 estate of their aunt. But they must remain single to keep the money.

Whom Will You Believe? Asks Pontiac Housewife

"The opponents of fluoridation quoted from speeches by Dr. Charles Betts, 'Dr.' E. H. Bronner, and Dr. Royal Lee," says Mrs. Roslyn Wyman, an active member of Pontiac's Parent-Teacher group which has actively supported fluoridation of Pontiac's water supply. "Here are extracts from the report of the American Dental Association on these men:

"Dr. Charles Betts claims fellowship in the American Assn. for Medico-physical Research. This is an organization of faddists devoted to the idea of healing with electrons and several other unscientific but apparently profitable methods. He also is known for his opposition to vaccination, pasteurization and other accepted public health measures.

"E. H. Bronner of Los Angeles is one of fluoridation's most active and loudest opponents. After many speeches charging Communist plots to take over the country, the Clinton (Iowa) Herald became suspicious of him and started investigating.

"Bronner left town when it was discovered he was an escapee from the Elgin, Ill. State Mental Hospital. He calls himself a physician but no official confirmation can be found of Bronner's educational background or professional record.

"Dr. Royal Lee is engaged in the profitable business of selling pamphlets. He is a graduate dentist who never practiced. His company, Vitamin Products, was permanently restrained from misbranding by the federal court at Milwaukee. In 1952 Lee was found guilty and fined $800 for misbranding a product claimed to be effective in 41 diseases and conditions including 'weakness in hot weather, sensitivity to bright light, falling hair, brittle nails and restless sleep'."

"Consider the type of people referred to as reference by the opponents of fluoridation and consider the American Medical Assn., the American Dental Assn., and the American Public Health Assn., and the many other reputable organizations which have gone on record as proposing fluoridation as a safe, effective method of preventing tooth decay.

"Will you be scared by the "fear smear" campaign? Or will you trust those who have saved millions from disease and vote 'against' the ordinance prohibiting our citizens from the benefits of this public health measure?"

Ferguson Set to Leave for Post in Philippines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), now U. S. ambassador to the Philippines, will leave Detroit Saturday for Tokyo and Hong Kong en route to his new post in Manila.

Ferguson had a date today (9:30 a.m. EST) with President Eisenhower at the White House, apparently to say farwell.

FIRST TO FLY—Ever since the days of Icarus' unsuccessful flight to the sun, man has been trying to fly like a bird—by flapping wings. He never succeeded, but he has just now produced the world's first mechanical bird, shown above. It is powered by rubber bands connected to a drive unit under the wings. Launched into the air, the wings flap and the "bird" swoops, soars and dives like a real one. Wings and tail of the toy are covered with mylar polyester film, which makes them very rugged.

Payoff Backfires in Hockey Gimmick

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—A business promotion gimmick by a local department store at American Hockey League games in Buffalo backfired—in an odd way.

The store offered a $5 merchandise ticket this season to each person returning to the announcer's table any puck accidentally shot into the audience.

Three pucks had gone into the crowd during a recent contest when the announcer put on his spiel about the merchandise tickets.

A few minutes later no less than nine youngsters were lined up eagerly at the table, each holding a puck for the $5 payoff.

Crackup in the Family

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Driving to work, Francis J. Duntz and Vernard L. Duntz collided. They are brothers.

Sentences Culprits to Sunday School

MUSCATINE, Iowa (UP)—Police Magistrate Nathan Hoefflin sentences juvenile delinquents here to Sunday School—and he's never had a "two-time loser."

In the past year, 20 young persons who appeared before him were ordered to go to church or Sunday School each Sunday for a year.

The 79-year-old judge said those youngsters "don't become repeaters." They're kept under the watchful eye of ministers who are tipped off in advance about their new members.

Church leaders help out by keeping Judge Hoefflin informed about the attendance of their charges. The judge said he also had one parent agree to being "sentenced to church," and that man "became a fine member of the community."

Meat Business Brisk, City Official Discovers

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP — James E. McCue, deputy public safety commissioner, is fed up with the meat business. That is because so many people called his nonlisted telephone number and gave him orders for such items as steaks, pork chops and hot dogs.

His unlisted number was listed erroneously in a telephone directory as the number of the meat department of a super market.

Now McCue has obtained a new nonlisted number.

Slubber-Doffer Among Today's Puzzling Jobs

BOSTON (UP—Workers in Boston's employment security office sometimes wonder what the English — or is it the American? — language is coming to.

Modern industry, it seems, has an ever-increasing number of peculiar terms to describe various jobs, and these frequently throw the office for a loss.

For example, a placement expert might pick up the phone and hear a voice asking for a slubber-doffer right away.

"A what?" the expert asks.

"A slubber-doffer. And while you are at it, you might send along a pay cheater."

Thomas Mersandante, the employment security manager, has kept abreast of most of the industry's colloquialisms, but sometimes even he draws a blank.

Employers report openings for screen apes, nose crimpers, pickling and passivating men, batboys, knockout men, back-breakers, crumb packers, snowmen and raisin washers. What do they mean?

Well, 'according to Mersandante, a screen ape shakes waffle from particles of raw synthetic rubber on mechanically agitated machines.

A nose crimper places containers over the ends of metal aircraft lights. A pickling and passivating man coats metal parts with a protective film to prevent corroding.

A knockout man frees metal castings from inverted molds and a backbreaker removes surface crust from aluminum reduction pots. A batboy removes the felt from machine spindles.

A snowman chops ice and heavy frost from refrigeration pipes, and a crumb packer is actually an expert who can fill holes evenly.

A raisin washer?

"That's easy," Mersandante said. "He washes raisins."

Deceptive Deer

NORTH SULLIVAN, Me. (UP) —The deer weren't at a complete disadvantage during the hunting season. Von Grant watched two hunters walk down a woods road, their guns ready. He noticed a deer, which had frozen into immobility at their approach, suddenly shake its head and reveal its perfect camouflage—after they were 50 feet past.

Most leprosy is found in hot, damp climates, and least in very dry climates.

Development of Atomic Power Poses Many Problems for U. S. Companies

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Building the atomic bomb was a ferociously complicated process.

But it is beginning to seem like child's play compared with bringing atomic energy to ordinary peaceful uses. Take electric power, for instance.

This may be the first great field where the atom goes to work. American power consumption tends to double every 10 years. The economy demands more and ever more electricity.

Technically, you could have atom-generated electricity in your home today. Engineers know how to hook a nuclear reactor to a generator and take off electric power. But it is too expensive to be competitive with ordinary power.

Suppose you are the president of a big electric power company. The Board of Diectors is in session. One of them asks:

"How big is in the difference in cost?"

"Pretty big," you answer. "Power rates vary all over the United States. On the average, however, I'd say that with present techniques, atom-electricity would be at least twice as costly. That's only an estimate."

Q. Will new techniques cut costs sharply in the future? A. Let's take just one big phase of the problem. Nobody yet knows how to transmute atomic energy directly into electricity. You still need turbines, generators and all the conventional equipment. The nuclear reactor merely takes the place of one part of the machine. Now suppose a method is found to convert atomic energy into electric power without those intermediate steps? Then, no doubt, atomic electricity would be more than competitive with the processes we are using now."

Q. Apart from that, what will it cost to build a nuclear reactor? How long will it take? A. Between 40 and 50 million dollars, and four to five years. It depends on the size of the reactor.

Q. So if we started today, it would be around 1960 before we had any atom electricity. A. That's right. And you've touched on another part of the problem. We decide to build a reactor and it's about half finished when somebody comes along with a new design, more efficient, lower operating costs, and so on. In a technical field moving ahead as rapidly as atomic energy, that can easily happen. In other words, our reactor could be obsolete before it ever turned out a kilowatt.

Q. You mentioned operating costs. What about them? A. That's an uncharted sea. No private industry has operated a reactor. So we just don't know much about the costs, or amortization factors, output, personnel expenses, safety.

Q. Safety? What's the problem there? A. Well, fortunately, there hasn't been a serious reactor explosion in America. But suppose one did explode near a city. The blast itself could be serious. Now picture, in addition, a radioactive cloud boiling down on a crowded community, poisoning the air, the food, even the water.

Q. Suppose we decide to go into the atomic business? Where do we start getting the information? A. Mainly from the AEC. We would need a license. And we would have to get security clearances first for the engineers and everybody else who might be directly connected with building the reactor.

Q. As a broad, general question—would you say the government really wants private industry in the atomic energy business? A. Everything seems to indicate it does. For instance, if we come forward with a workable proposition, the AEC will give us certain advantages—the loan of fissionable fuel without charge, and making available their laboratories for specific research studies, and so on.

Q. Well, finally, do you think we should come in? A. I don't see how we can stay out. Here's a big, new field with tremendous potentialities. Sure, the costs and the problems are staggering. But this isn't the first time American industry has taken on a big, tough job—and it won't be the last.

Geese Participate in Defense Exercise

KINGSVILLE, Ont. (AP) — The Canadian Defense Research Board has enlisted flocks of geese in a northern defense study—known as Exercise Wood Duck. The experts hope to learn what birds do to radar screens.

The geese are flushed every afternoon from the Jack Miner bird sanctuary north of here. They head south toward Lake Erie, across a radar beam.

Teams of observers report by walkie-talkie to radar centers in the area on the progress of the flight while scientists study the screens. Photographs and technical data gathered in the weeklong study will be tabulated and assessed.

Sparkman Slams GOP Yalta Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said today a GOP summary of the Yalta conference papers was an attempt to disgrace former President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He predicted the 51-page document, compiled by the staff of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and released late yesterday, would react against that party.

"This effort to pin the label of disgrace on Roosevelt is bound to react," Sparkman said. "The American people will always remember his great leadership that won for his country the most terrible war in history."

The GOP document says Roosevelt knew three months before the February 1945 conference between the United States, Britain and Russia that Russia was prepared to enter the war against Japan; that "the A-bomb was in Mr. Roosevelt's pocket one month before Yalta"; and that Alger Hiss was "given all documents and top secret files which set forth what the United States delegation planned to do at Yalta."

Bob Considine Says:

Ike's Teacher Earned $50,420 for 55 Years in Profession

NEW YORK (INS)—Dear President Eisenhower:

Received a letter today from a friend of yours who taught you in the fifth and sixth grades at Abilene, Kans. He's 86-year-old Elmer S. McCormick. You saw him briefly, in the pressing crowd during the 1952 campaign, and you've written him occasionally since reaching the White House.

Mr. McCormick, who lives at 3935 Murdock Avenue, in the Bronx, is a prime example of the meager financial returns from a teaching career, a subject close to your heart. He toiled for 55 years teaching American youngsters in Kansas, Idaho and Oregon and earned a total of $50,420.

Oregon pays him an $81 a month pension. He augments this by selling a refrigerator device from door to door in the Bronx, has a new wife who fills in as a New York schoolteacher, and is a whiz on those giveaway programs on radio. He won his home and much of its furnishings that way, he tells me.

"I lived in Abilene 15 years and taught our Ike two years, his years in grades five and six," he wrote. "They seem to be making things tough for Ike but I'll bet he will come out on top.

"He was a real good boy when I had him," the old teacher went on in his kindly way. "Quite a help to me around the playground. He could sure handle boys, just as later in life he could handle men. I didn't see him for thrity-forty years until one day here in New York when he was campaigning. I was just another face in the crowd, but he remembered me and we shook hands. Didn't have time to tell him how I was getting along, but that was hardly the place anyway."

Mr. President, the next time your people issue a report on the teaching profession in this country, and the state it is in, it might be wise brighter after that and he spent most of his time there, after a tour of duty in Idaho. Oregon pays him his pension. He was unemployed from the time of the stock market crash until 1936, when he hooked on at Columbia City, Oregon, for $1,800 a year. His last job, the one at Paisley, paid him $2,250 for the year.

Mr. President, it all adds up to $50,420 for 55 years in the profession. Ask your general accounting office to figure out the average. I knew you'd want to know about him.

Respectfully—
Bob Considine

Soviet to Shuffle Farm Leaders

Will Appoint 'Tens of Thousands' in Effort to Increase Output

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said today the Communist party and the Soviet government plan to appoint new managers for "tens of thousands" of Soviet collective farms in a further effort to step up production.

The party organ's account said the new bosses would include "particularly experienced workers of the party and government organizations and enterprises, scientific research institutes and other establishments."

The plan was made public by Nikita S. Khrushchev, the party's first secretary, in a speech to farmers and party workers at Voronezh yesterday. Pravda quoted him as saying the decision was made by the party central committee and the Soviet Union's Council of Ministers (cabinet).

Khrushchev said the plan would apply "primarily to farms which are lagging behind" and was aimed at weeding out inefficient and corrupt managers.

The party chief also warned tractor operators and farmers they must make maximum use of their machinery. Anyone who damages or treats tractors and other implements negligently, he said, should be punished the same as anyone damaging growing crops.

Claim Socialite Widow Beat Mate With Crop

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—A prominent widow was under indictment today on charges that she beat her husband with a riding crop several hours before he died in what police called an apparent suicide.

The indictment, returned yesterday by a Union County grand jury, accused 51-year-old Mrs. Lucille Schroeder, of Summit, of atrocious assault and battery.

Her husband George Baker Schroeder, 50, a lawyer, was found dead in his bed Jan. 19. At the time, County Physician George Hoerre said the cause of death was an overdose of a barbiturate.

Unit Charter Presented to Cub Pack 29

Presentation of the unit charter and court of awards highlighted this week's meeting of Boy Scout Cub Pack 29, sponsored by Hawthorne School fathers.

James Card, institutional representative, received the charter for the new pack from Glenn Lackey of the Pontiac District Commissioner's staff.

Edward Burling, pack committee chairman, presented registration cards to committeemen. Awards included: Bobcat badge, Michael Parks; wolf badges, Terry Mills, Robert and Ronald Card; bear badge and gold arrow, James Johnson; lion badge, Billy Grayson; silver arrow, Richard Brockie.

McLouth Co. Expansion Is Completed at Gibraltar

DETROIT (AP)—With the opening of a new cold rolling mill at suburban Gibraltar, the McLouth Steel Corp. has completed a 100-million dollar expansion program, company officials said today.

The new plant, built at a cost of 20 million dollars, went into production Monday. It will produce 500,000 tons of cold rolled sheet steel annually, mostly for the auto industry.

Guess Who Needs It

DENVER (AP)—This note, signed by assistant city editor Wes French, was left on the Rocky Mountain News city desk last night: "Dear Boss: You told me to send reporter Bob Stapp to get a story on the memory course at Denver University. I forgot."

Britain's Next Prime Minister—4

Eden, Once Dude, Now Going Bulldog Style

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON (NEA)—Britons are seeing a new Sir Anthony Eden these days. Gone is Eden the glamour boy. Now it's Eden in carpet slippers and smoking a pipe. The handsome, 57-year-old British foreign secretary is trying hard to acquire the bulldog look.

His recent illness, from which he has made a remarkable recovery, has mellowed him.

His divorce in 1950, which continues to scandalize the Church of England, has made him more human in the public eye.

Finally, his marriage in 1952 to a woman 23 years his junior—Clarissa Churchill, only niece of Sir Winston Churchill—has completed the humanizing process.

Eden is no longer the prima donna of the foreign office. His associates blame the gall bladder trouble from which he suffered for years for the tantrums which he used to throw regularly. Now Eden has a smile and a kind word for underlings.

Reddish blonde, blue-eyed Clarissa Eden, 34, has inherited more than a little of her Uncle Winston's character and wit. Not content with being a Churchill, she has worked as a movie press agent, a feature editor of Vogue magazine.

Before that she deciphered code at the foreign office, where she could watch the rising star of Eden from a distance.

Clarissa made Anthony get down on his knees and propose three times before she accepted him. Then Anthony came down with jaundice and the announcement of their engagement had to be postponed.

Clarissa's antics have given rise to many anecdotes. Once she overpaid a New York taxi driver $40 because "he was so nice, and we got talking about England." Another time, in reporting the loss of $2,000 worth of jewelry, she told police that she kept the jewels in a butter dish under the kitchen sink.

Anthony Eden today is a much poorer man than when he took office as Lord Privy Seal 20 years ago. His salary as foreign secretary is only $12,000 a year, which taxation reduces to $6,000.

He has given up the directorships of several enterprises, including the Westminster Bank. He has sold the house in Chesterfield street, where Beau Brummel once lived, as well as Binderton, the Eden estate in Sussex.

His tailor in St. James Street complains, "Mister Eden hasn't been in to see us for months."

EDEN AND A FREQUENT VISITOR—"We thought alike without consultation," Sir Winston Churchill noted in his memoirs.

Weekends the Edens sneak away to a tiny cottage in Wiltshire, which Clarissa owns. Visitors are often startled to come upon Eden, the fashion plate, wearing an old pair of slacks and working in the garden.

Wherever he goes, however, Eden is relentlessly pursued by "the boxes"—the brown leather cases stamped with the Royal cipher which contain important foreign office documents.

EDEN AND ANOTHER CHURCHILL — As his second wife, Sir Winston's only niece, Clarissa, completed the humanizing process.

Eden, according to one of his associates, has been known to place a dispatch box at the end of a rose bed, and to open it only after he has finished weeding a row.

The Edens' most frequent visitor is, of course, Uncle Winston. Between Churchill and Eden a close bond of friendship exists, strengthened by the family tie. When it's not politics, it's painting they discuss, for both are amateur artists, and Eden is proud of his art collection, which includes a Constable, a Corot, two Derains and a Degas.

"We thought alike without consultation," Churchill has noted in his memoirs.

Churchill paid his finest tribute to Eden in a letter which he wrote in 1942, on the eve of Sir Winston's second visit to Washington, to the late King George VI. Written in the darkest days of the war, the letter still stands as Churchill's political testament. It reads:

"Sir—In case of my death on this journey I am about to undertake I avail myself of your majesty's gracious permission to advise that you should entrust the formation of a new government to Mr. Anthony Eden . . . who is in my mind the outstanding minister in the largest political party in the House of Commons."

Cattle Aristocrats

Aberdeen-Angus Roaming Ike's Farm at Gettysburg

WASHINGTON — Sleek black Aberdeen-Angus, hornless aristocrats of the beef cattle world, hold a new honor: Representation on the farm of America's First Family.

President Eisenhower already has a few head of "Black Angus" on his 189-acre farm at Gettysburg. He has received a certificate giving him the grand champion heifer of the Ohio Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association show at Columbus in April.

Although notable for beef production, Black Angus are comparative newcomers to the United States. The first bulls were imported from Scotland as recently as 1873, long after the introduction of the breed's fellow aristocrats, Shorthorns and Herefords.

The breed is native to northeast Scotland where the counties of Aberdeen, Kincardine and Angus (formerly Forfar) abut the North Sea, the National Geographic Society says. The stretch of cattle country lies about 1,000 miles north of Chicago's latitude. The climate is rugged and chilly.

In hills washed by Scottish mist from the sea, thrifty farmers have raised Aberdeen-Angus for many generations, often calling them by different names. The breed is known as "Buchan humlies" in the Buchan district of southern Aberdeen. Angus cattlemen refer to them as "Angus doddies." These and similar Scotch terms — "dodded," "humble," "homyl" and "humle" — all mean hornless.

But the many-named cattle's origin is lost in unwritten history. Some Scotsmen believe they sprang as sports from black cattle with horns; others think they were brought by Norsemen from Scandinavia, where hornless cows have a record.

Not Very Likely

ST. JOSEPH (UP)—Mrs. Jennett Kerr told police she didn't report theft of her wrist watch for three months because she thought maybe an "honest person" would return it.

More About a New Card Game

What Makes Calypso Tricks—How You Can Win Them

By OSWALD JACOBY
(Second in a Series)

TRICKS: The player at the left of the dealer takes any card out of his hand and puts it face up in the middle of the table. Each player in turn does likewise, so that there are four cards in the middle. These four cards are called a trick. There are thirteen tricks in each of the four deals of a Calypso game.

THE LEAD: The first card of any trick is called a lead. The player at the left of the dealer makes the opening lead. For the rest of that deal, the winner of a trick leads to the following trick. When the next deal begins, the opening lead is made by the player to the left of the new dealer.

FOLLOWING SUIT: After any lead, each of the other three players must follow suit by playing a card of the same suit as the lead—if this is possible. If a player cannot follow suit, he may play any card that happens to be in his hand.

TRUMPING: When a player cannot follow suit he may, if he so chooses, play a card of his trump suit (provided, of course, that one of the other suits was led). Such a play, called trumping or ruffing, is very likely to win the trick.

A player need not trump if he cannot follow suit. When a player's own trump suit is led by somebody else, he must follow suit; and this follow-suit-play is not considered a trumping play.

WHAT WINS A TRICK: When nobody trumps, a trick is won by the highest card of the suit led. The cards in each suit rank as in bridge or poker:

Ace (highest)—king, queen, jack, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 (lowest).

For example, suppose that you lead the jack of diamonds and that each player follows suit with a lower diamond. Your jack wins the trick. Even if one of the other players followed suit with another jack of diamonds (there are four of these cards in the complete pack) you would still win; when identical cards are played, the first is higher.

Take another case. You lead the jack of diamonds, and the ace of clubs is played by the player whose trump suit is hearts. That ace of clubs is not a trump, but merely a discard. The trick is won by the highest diamond, unless somebody trumps.

When a player leads his own trump suit, his lead is treated as though it were the ace. His card will surely win the trick unless some other player trumps.

For example, when the spade player leads the deuce of spades he can win the trick even though everybody else plays a higher spade.

When a player trumps, he will win the trick unless somebody plays a higher trump. Suppose, for example, that a spade is led and that none of the other three players can follow suit. The second player trumps with the ten of diamonds. The third player overtrumps with the jack of hearts. The last player, whose trump suit is clubs, must play the queen of clubs (or the king or ace) to win the trick. If he played the jack of clubs, the first jack (hearts) would win the trick.

Mechanized Politics

BARRINGTON, R. I. (UP) — Rhode Island Democrats held a "drive-in" political rally. You did not even have to get out of your car.

30 Million Bushels of Wheat on Ships

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP)—Nearly 30,000,000 bushels of wheat are stored in the "mothball fleet," but the dealers already wonder where to put next year's harvest.

Pete Stallcop, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest grain Dealers Association, said the loading of 9,851,866 bushels in 43 ships at Olympia, Wash., and 19,958,166 bushels in 87 ships at Astoria, Ore., has been completed.

He added that shifting the wheat to the ships took a "tremendous pressure" off storage space in the region, but that there is likely to be another storage space shortage for next year's harvest.

Calls It Mass Medication

California Dentist Opposes Fluoridation

The Rev. Robert Garner, head of the Citizens Fair Government League, has asked the Press to publish the following statement prepared by Dr. John E. Waters, D.D.S., of Coronado, Calif.:

"Even if fluoridation would do all that is claimed for it, as my previous articles have shown it does not do, without harm to anyone subject to it, it should be rejected for the one reason that it is a most ridiculous and unscientific method of mass medication in which there is no control whatever of the dosage of the patient, nor of who is to be dosed.

"When a physician prescribes a five-grain aspirin tablet he does not care if it is taken straight, with a swallow of water, or with a glass full. What he is concerned with is the quantity, the five grains.

"The average child of 8 years or under does not drink over one pint of water per day. Milk, formulae, fruit juices, etc., provide its liquid requirements.. But laborers, such as welders, roofers, laundresses, and others working in hot environments, commonly drink from one to two gallons of water per day.

"The person drinking one gallon of water per day at 1.0 ppm of fluorine ingests the same amount of fluorine as the person drinking one pint per day at 8.0 of fluorine. Unfortunately, the laborer rarely has the opportunity to use bottled water free from fluorine contamination, while on the job.

"Worst of all, whereas it is claimed that the child using fluoridated water may benefit from it, the laborer getting the greater quantity can have no such hope . . . all he can possibly receive is harm.

"The American Dental Association, of which the writer is a member, conducts a program of suppression from its members and the public, of information adverse to fluoridation. Prior to starting the fluoridation program, journals of the Association and its component Societies carried articles showing both sides of the question.

"Since that time journals associated with the Association no longer carry adverse articles and reports whereas journals not under the Association's control are generous with adverse data.

"Not only does the American Dental Association suppress such information, but by adding a new section to its by-laws shortly after it went all out for fluoridation, it denied its members the right to publicly oppose fluoridation or any other program approved by the Association.

"In 1950, by revision of the by-laws, a section on Public Education was added, there having been no section on that subject theretofore:

"'Section 20. Education of the Public. A dentist may properly participate in a program for the education of the public on matters pertaining to dentistry, provided the program is in keeping with the dignity of the profession, and has the approval of the dentists of a community or state acting through the appropriate agency of the dental society.'

"In the face of that by-law it is little wonder that few dentists are willing to risk the reprisals possible for its violation. The writer has been told that if he opposed fluoridation he might expect to be called before the Committee on Ethics and probably expelled from the local Dental society.

"To date this has not been done, and it is not now believed the Society would dare do it. But one federal and one assistant district attorney have advised that the proviso in Section 20 says in no uncertain terms that a member of the American Dental Association may not oppose publicly any program approved by that Association or one of its components.

"Fluoridationists endeavor to place chlorination and fluoridation on equal levels. Chlorine is placed only in water known to be contaminated. It is intended to have its effect only in the water, prior to ingestion, and in fact the water will remain as bacteria-free after the chlorine evaporates as it was before.

"Note, also, that the chlorine rapidly evaporates, especially if the water is heated only a little. Fluorine is added, not to affect the water, but as a medicine to affect the user only after it is ingested.

"Instead of evaporating on heating, it concentrates as the water boils away. Also, certain root vegetables when cooked in it absorb the fluorine to high concentrations within the vegetable.

"Fluoridation is a medication just as much as is vaccination, etc. Taber's Cyclopedic Medical Dictionary defines: 'Medication. 1. Treatment with remedies. 2. Impregnation with medicine.' 'Medicine. Preventive. The practice of preventing disease.'

"It is impossible to get around the fact that in fluoridation the desire is to have the fluorine so act in the body as to prevent dental decay, even as Vitamin D is given to both prevent and cure rickets.

"Summary: No requirement of the human body for fluorine has ever been established. Its harmful effects on the human body are well established. It should be kept at as nearly zero in human nutrition as is practicable."

Play No Favorites

MUSKEGON (UP) — Muskegon police, who play no favorites when they issue overtime parking tickets, gave one to Fire Chief Wallace F. Gannon. But he didn't have to pay a $1 fine because he was using his official red car on official business.

Boy Steals to Obtain Return to Reformatory

SOUTH SHIELDS, England (UP) —A 10-year-old boy, who gave himself up to police for stealing $6.80 from his aunt, told magistrates in juvenile court today he wanted to go back to reform school because "they have television there and I liked it."

The boy's father said he served time in reform school last year for stealing and "when he got back he said it had been smashing. They had plenty of sweets and went to the pictures."

The boy got his wish.

CELIA MERRILL TURNER

JACK BOESEN

Symphony Claims Top Musicians

Editors Note—This is the second article dealing with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra in which the writer explains the duties of two of its important members.

By FLORA WAGER

The "chief engineer" or conductor of the Pontiac Symphony is Francesco DiBiasi who comes to Pontiac from Detroit where he is a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He is well qualified as a director and performs the prodigious feat of conducting concerts entirely from memory.

The two "assistant chiefs" are Celia Merrill Turner, associate conductor, and Jack Boesen, concertmaster.

Mrs. Turner is well known to Pontiac and Birmingham audiences as a violinist, conductor, and for her work in Will-O-Way Playhouse where she is the director of the Apprentice Theater.

She received her violin training at Michigan State College under Michael Press, and later at the Julliard School of Music in New York City under Hans Letz. She won a three year fellowship in the Julliard Graduate School under Albert Stoessel and received a diploma in conducting.

In competition with 50 other conductors, she won the opportunity to make her debut in conducting with the WPA symphony in New York City, which later broadcast in a series of concerts over a New York radio station.

In 1943, she enlisted in the Armed Forces and graduated from the Army Music School at Fort Meyer, Virginia.

She served three years as a master sergeant, conducting a WAC band, and in the Armed Forces Radio Services where she played violin, made arrangements and assisted in conducting under Meredith Wilson.

Mrs. Turner has been guest conductor with several symphonies and served as conductor for stage presentations in Detroit.

She has composed two operas, a string quartet and several small numbers which have been presented to Detroit audiences, among which was her "1947 March of Dimes Fashion Fantasy" which was presented in Music Hall and played by the Detroit Symphony.

In 1954, Mrs. Turner was appointed associate conductor for the Pontiac Symphony. In this capacity, she must drill the orchestra in the technical phases of preparing the music and conduct in the absence of Mr. DiBiasi. When not conducting, she is playing in the first violin section.

She is married to Kenneth Turner Jr., and is the mother of two children.

Jack Boesen, concertmaster of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra for three years, is one of the orchestra's most valued members. It is his particular task to supervise bowings and intonation of the string players, and to lead the first violin section with his own performance.

He began studying the violin at the age of seven. Within a few months, he astounded audiences in school and church programs by his fine feeling for the instrument.

His first teacher was Henry Matheys, a prize-winning graduate of the Paris Conservatory and former member of the New York Philharmonic.

He won many scholarships, including two consecutive summers at the American Music Camp, where he studied with the world-famous Leon Samatini. Later he was offered other scholarships, one of which he accepted at Oberlin Conservatory of Music.

For the past thirteen years, Mr. Boesen has been a member of the first violin section of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He was concertmaster with the Scandinavian Symphony on their recent European tour.

Mr. Boesen has appeared frequently as soloist, and is prominently known for his extensive activities in the field of chamber music.

Hats Ultra-Feminine, Says England

This year's hats, say English milliners, will be ultra-feminine. Collections shown in London reveal that the little half-hats are out and that the new hats will feature large brims and ornate trimmings.

Plumes, feathers and sequins, all together on the same hat, will give ordinary daytime hats that "cocktail look."

Augustana Choir Thrills Audience Wednesday

By GEORGE PUTNAM

The famous Augustana Choir appeared last night before a capacity house at Pontiac High School Auditorium. The program was arrayed with the finest literature which was appreciated by the average concert-goer and the educated musician alike by its excellence of performance.

The perfection of this highly trained college chorus gripped the audience so that music as a communicative art was at its best.

The choir was organized by Dr. Henry Veld in 1931 when he combined two organizations of the Augustana Campus—The Jenny Lind singers, a ladies group, and the Wennerberg male chorus for an Orchestra Hall appearance in Chicago.

The group, the majority of which are not soloists, or even members of the Music department, are selected singers. They demonstrated all the qualifications necessary for good vocal technique and gave proof of excellent discipline and training by their ability to withstand a most difficult and extremely taxing program.

They have sung consistently two and three concerts each day for the past two weeks. The summation of this tour will be in Chicago April 2. Their stamina and vitality were apparent throughout the evening.

To Dr. Veld goes the full credit for establishing and maintaining throughout the past 25 years the excellent results which were produced in the Pontiac concert.

His judgment in selecting the finest music in vocal literature from all periods gave his singers an opportunity to execute their abilities in all styles of singing. The program gave the listeners a most interesting and most satisfying experience.

Dr. Veld stands as a peer among collegiate choral conductors. The response from the group came not only from his conventional conducting movements, but also from his fingers, his eyes, and his face.

One realized that even these outward gestures were dwarfed by an even greater response—that of the awareness of an inner feeling between singers and their conductor. The sixty-four singers produced a oneness of effect in their appearance in dress as well as their ensemble singing.

The program opened with the massive motet "Blessing, Glory, and Wisdom" by Bach. This unaccompanied work with its contrapuntal development gave ample opportunity for deep expression.

BARBARA HAGERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Hagerman of Barker drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Gary B. Hiscock of the U.S. Navy. He is the son of Mrs. Elmer Hartz of Williams Lake road. No date has been set for the wedding.

Shirtwaist Hits Las Vegas' Top Resort Spots

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS)—The classic shirtwaist is stylish '55 wear even in the plush resorts like Las Vegas.

Done in formal fabrics, like sleek satin or featherweight raw silk, the shirtwaist promenades fashionably at evening in the glittering showrooms of the big hotels on the famous Las Vegas "strip."

And cotton shirtwaists make equally stylish appearances/daytimes either in the gambling rooms or at nearby scenic spots like Hoover Dam and Lake Mead.

Judging from well-dressed women seen at such spots as the Desert Inn, The Sands, The Sahara and the Flamingo, the shirtwaist as evening wear is definitely a la mode.

Most women wore pastel colors; and used all the regular dress-up accessories—fancy evening slippers, beaded purses, plenty of jewelry (mostly baroque pearls) and fur or fancy wraps.

The full-skirted shirtwaist with full-length or three-quarter sleeves was favored. All were street-length, and some were two-piece affairs instead of dresses.

Dance Club Elects New Officers

Decorations with an election motif set the scene for 40 couples of the Allemanders Square Dance Club meeting held recently at Donelson School. A box lunch preceded election of officers.

Lester McKinney was named president, with B. H. Klinkhamer, vice president; Mrs. Mary McFadyen, secretary; and Peter Martin, treasurer. Elected to the board of directors were Egon Walser, Gene Denham and Marion Baumgartner.

Serving on the decorating committee were Mr. and Mrs. Walser, Mr. and Mrs. George Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bruestle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Feekart and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Whitmere.

Skin Color Changes

Your complexion changes from season to season. Keep this in mind when buying cosmetics or hats and scarfs.

Majestic in its manifestation praising God, the various sections were shown careful attention as the work developed.

Precision in the attacks and releases, delicate nuances, and tonal colorings were all skillfully handled. The pianissimo and fortes were all that one would desire whether in the moving passages or in the stentorian chords.

A pleasant contrast greeted the audience in the appearance of the Jenny Lind chorus when they sang the "Ceremony of Carols." This modern work by the young English composer gave the women ample opportunity to demonstrate the extent of the female voice as to timbre, range, and dynamics.

The six contrasting carols were sung with each section carefully blended. "Deo Gracia," with its rousing, syncopated passages was well received, as was the sweet, plaintive "There is No Rose of Such Virtue." For an encore the girls sang Brahms' "The Sandman" in a delicate and ethereal manner.

Accompaniment for these selections was provided by Roger Nyquist, a member of the choir. His sympathetic playing could not be underestimated in providing the colorful background for the changing moods of these selections. It was a brilliant, artistic performance. Mr. Nyquist was also at the piano with the Wennerberg Chorus.

The men opened their group with "The Last Words of King David" by Virgil Thompson. This virile composition with its dissonances and suspensions produced a rich, well-blended group of singers. "Silent Strings" by Bantok was appreciated by all with the effortless crescendos and sustained passages.

This group closed with "Make Me Merry" — a 15th century carol arranged with solo flute skillfully played by Bonnie Church. The men responded effectively with a German folk song "Guten Nacht" in which they seemed to caress each note in their fond farewell to their loved one.

A highlight of the evening for many listeners was the "Mass in G" by Vaughan-Williams. In this extremely difficult motet for double choir we again were able to see the choir at its best — namely, the organ-like tone and clean entrances. It was a tremendous undertaking to program this work.

The second part of the program was highlighted with "Jesus and Traders" by the Hungarian Kodaly. This description of Jesus driving the money changers from the temple is one of the favorites of the choir. The emotional appeal with its sharp contrasts makes this selection a challenging number to sing.

In Rachmaninoff's "Blessed is the Man" the long phrases were well handled, as were the pianissimo passages. The singing of "Revecy Venir du Printans", in the original old French, and the rhythmic and choral changes made this selection another outstanding number. It was particularly well done.

In addition to singing in French, Latin, and German, the group did two songs in Swedish — "Tonerna", or "Vision" by Sjoberg, a Swedish folk song with exquisite sustained humming accompaniment, and "Tryggare Kan Ingen Vara," a traditional Swedish hymn.

This latter number, with Pontiac's own Mrs. Victor Lindquist as soloist, was used as an encore and is the traditional closing number of the choir. Mrs. Lindquist was a former soloist with the choir.

The program came to a glorious conclusion with "The Great Angelic Host" by Grieg, a stirring religious folk song rich in harmony and deep in religious feeling. For a second encore the audience sat in complete silence for "Carol of the Drum."

The response of the audience was ample proof of our appreciation of the finest music we have by a truly great choir As this is the only appearance of the choir in Michigan, it was a rare privilege to have a singing organization of the highest calibre appear in our city. This concert was sponsored by the St. John's Lutheran Church of Pontiac, and Christ Lutheran Church of Waterford.

St. Joseph Guild to Fete Husbands

Plans are in the offing for a cooperative dinner to fete husbands of members of St. Joseph Guild of St. Benedict Church, following a meeting held last evening.

Thirty members of the group were entertained by Mrs. Nelson Hunter of West Iroquois road, who was assisted by Mrs. Otis Allen and Mrs. Eugene Wellman.

Projects for the ensuing year were taken up and will be discussed further at a meeting scheduled for April 18.

Future Historians Will Miss Years of Digging for Hidden Information

Keeps Mum for Friend, Sorry Now

Nothing to Do Now but Let Experience Teach Lesson

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: A friend of mine who had just recently returned from a trip, came to see me the other afternoon and we had a very nice visit.

Before she left, she asked me not to tell Mrs. B., a mutual friend, that she had been to see me. I didn't like to be placed in this position, but I agreed not to say anything.

Several days later Mrs. B. came to see me and during our conversation asked me if I had seen Mrs. A. since her return, and what could I say but that I hadn't. I feel terrible about being untruthful, but just how does one handle a situation of this kind?"

It would have been better to tell Mrs. A. right off that you would not yourself volunteer any information to Mrs. B., but that if she should ask you point-blank whether you had seen her, you would have to say, in all truthfulness, that you had.

The only thing to do now is to remember this experience in the future and avoid getting yourself into a similar situation.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if a hostess is supposed to consult a guest for whom she is giving a party as to the people she would like to be there?

Answer: There are times when, for example, an older hostess wanting to give a party for a young person and not knowing younger people herself, must ask the guest of honor for a list of her young friends.

But under most circumstances, a hostess giving a party for someone gives it entirely by herself and the guest of honor has nothing whatever to do with the arrangements.

Dear Mrs. Post: Whom does a woman living alone seat at the opposite end of the table when she has people in to dinner?

Answer: If a member of her family is present, he is seated opposite her. Otherwise, she chooses the man whom she knows best. If she knows no one better than the others, then it doesn't matter which man happens to be given this place.

Repairing Leather Books Hints Retirement Plan

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some people calculate and plan and figure odds and play it clever, and never get anything but disappointment and frustration.

Other people just go ahead and do what interests them and what comes along to do, and end up with a great success. Mr. K. is of the latter type, and his story couldn't be more dramatic if he had planned it that way—which he didn't!

Mr. K. is married, with three children now in college. Many years ago, when the children were young, Mr. K. inherited a library from his grandfather.

It was one of those lavish, Victorian - type libraries, consisting of over a hundred volumes, magnificently bound in leather—but the books themselves were passe, written by authors long since forgotten, so the resale value was not very high.

But the leather was beautiful so Mr. K. began studying all about fine bindings and learned how to care for them with the proper oils and waxes and so forth.

A few were in need of repair and one year he took a course in bookbinding and repairing.

Through the years Mr. K. got very skilled at it and in fact a couple of people asked his help when one of their fine books needed repairing.

After a while he began to put small advertisements in his local paper and got a few jobs with people who had fine libraries. He expanded his interest to the care of leather accessories—desk sets and cigarette boxes and lamp bases and things like that. He is now a recognized authority in his town on the subject of leather.

"And," Mr. K. told me happily, "I have no retirement problem at all. When I leave the firm in ten years, I intend to expand my activities and make leather accessories, as well as repairing and cleaning and caring for them."

Leather is a fascinating material, and I have reason to believe I may have a nice little bread-and-butter sideline!"

Pewter Is Popular

New pieces of pewter are reproduced in old colonial patterns. There is a bigger demand for it today than in recent years.

Blames Our Mechanization for Loss of Real Knowledge of Top Personalities

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Historian Cecil Woodham-Smith is sorry for the researcher of the future who, because of an embarrassment of riches, will miss all the fun of having to spend strenuous years digging in cellars, attics and libraries for scraps of information to weave mosaic-like into his chronicle.

The fact that in years to come there will be too many records rather than too few is due, I imagine, partly to radio and television and partly to the extreme history-consciousness today that makes people carefully bank-vault every snippet of paper.

When Serge Rubinstein, the draft - dodging financier, was murdered awhile back, investigators found he had kept ledgers for years of everything—even incoming and outgoing telephone calls.

Police checked literally thousands who had had some contact with him—including two surprised friends of mine, a reporter who had interviewed Serge in 1950 and a theatrical producer who had tried to persuade him to invest in a Broadway show 11 years ago.

On a higher plane, a library has already been built to house the papers of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and plans are complete to put those of Harry S. Truman under one roof. Also, President Eisenhower hadn't finished half his term before an Eisenhower Museum was established.

Moreover, contemporary historians and those on the "inside" no longer await the judgment of time to start writing about national and international figures. Books full of estimates of, and anecdotes about, prominent men pour out during their lifetimes. So Mrs. Woodham-Smith is obviously right.

The historical detectives of the future will do their original research from microfilm, tape recorders and kinescaopes in a soundproof reference library.

But I wonder if perhaps the very modern methods that preserve so much won't at the same time prevent posterity from learning the more important fundamentals about today's hero.

Everybody will know that he ate ice cream for breakfast and had a taste for flamboyant neckties, but what he felt when deeply moved by anger or sorrow will be forever lost, because instead of writing letters about it he will telephone or telegraph his deepest feelings.

When President John Quincy Adams was informed of his mother's death, he sat down and wrote a memorable, moving letter to his father. That letter, with many others of his, has come down to us and sheds important light on Adams' character.

If it had been 1955, there would have been no letter. Instead, Mr. Adams in Washington would have picked up the telephone and talked to his father in Boston, or simply hopped a plane.

Maybe Alexander Graham Bell, Samuel F. B. Morse and the Wright Brothers couldn't really be considered enemies of the historian but we can certainly chalk them all up as having contributed to making intimate correspondence extinct.

Tennis Flannels Take Stripes Into Spring

PARIS (INS) — Striped tennis flannel is tops this spring. Anything made of this fabric with either black, grey, blue or pink stripes, will have the 1955 fashion touch.

Jacques Griffe proposes a tailored, man-styled coat of white flannel with black stripes. It is straight and double-breasted with eight black buttons. Balmain has designed a princess coat in white flannel with pink stripes worn over a matching skirt and a pink jersey top.

All the Paris fashion designers used tennis flannel for some of their suits and two-piece outfits. Balmain's suit is classic, tailored in white with grey stripes.

IF hip slimmer—

Capelet berthas are in fashion again. This gives shoulder width and so makes hips seem slimmer. Softens the neckline, too.

Miss H. S.—The new fashions make a point of pretty necklines and collars with lace collar, cuff treatment, sometimes rhinestone or jet beaded, having sophisticated appeal. Wide collars set away from the neckline give shoulder width, so hips seem smaller.

Must Share for Lasting Relationship

Show Your True Personality So He Can Decide

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: How do you go about holding on to a boy friend? I'm 14 and rather nice looking (most people say). I know lots of boys and have gone out quite often with them.

"But I can't seem to make the dating last longer than a month. I'm in all sorts of activities at school and church and I go to parties and dances. But nothing seems to work.

"I know how to talk and I dress properly and I'm by no means bashful. But not one of the boys I've known has ever asked me to go steady with him. The big question is: how can I make that happen?"

Some steady dating is pure self-preservation. A lad who's not too sure of his ability to hold a girl in the face of competition will sign her up at once to a steady deal. That assures him her undivided attention.

Then there's steady dating that is based on real friendship. Dating for the sake of dating ends, and dating steadily begins because two people really like each other and want to be together as much as possible.

It might very well be that you've never yet had a chance to get to know any one boy that well. Your brief flurries with all the boys you've known may have been dating for the sake of dating, with no real effort made on your part to get to be strong friends.

When the next flurry starts remember that you have to give of yourself to make a relationship stick. Shared thoughts, impressions, confidences and experiences will draw you close.

Interest, enthusiasm and appreciation will make him feel comfortable, important, necessary. That's when he'll decide he doesn't want to go with anyone but you.

"Dear Miss Woodward: In this small town it's an unwritten law that you only go with one boy at a time. If you are seen with him no one else will ask you out. So what to do? I'm going with a boy now though I'm not quite 14.

"I don't want to go with anyone else, yet people say we're too young to go steady. When we go any place it's usually to a show or skating and his folks take us. Do you think we're too young?"

I don't think you're too young for such occasional nice times with a boy you like and his family. But perhaps it's too early to consider it really "going together" inasmuch as you're not independent enough to go out under your own steam.

At the moment you're accepting (with your parents' permission) the invitations that come your way. If you won't, even in your own mind, consider it going steady perhaps the rest of your friends won't either. You needn't be pushed into going steady until the time is ripe.

The Life of Christ—22

Apostles Ready for Shock of Jesus' Death

(The "Transfiguration" came under discussion in yesterday's installment of "The Life of Christ." It is Bishop Sheen pointed out that three major scenes of Christ's life took place on mountains: the Mount of the Beatitudes, The Mount of the Transfiguration and the Mount of Calvary. All three hills, said Bishop Sheen are related one to the other. On the mountain top where Christ became transfigured Peter, once more, tried to dissuade Him from going to Jerusalem to be crucified. Thus did Peter become the spokesman of all those who would enter into glory without purchasing it by self-denial and sacrifice.)

By BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

When God sets up a cloud, it is a manifest sign that there are bonds we cannot break. At His Baptism, the Heavens were opened and now, at the Transfiguration, they open again to install Him in His office as Mediator, and to distinguish Him from Moses and the Prophets. It was Heaven itself that was sending Him on His mission of saving men, not the perverse will of men.

The purpose of the Transfiguration was also to strengthen His Apostles for the impending blow of His death. By itself, this show of glory could have brought His earthly life to a fitting climax, if there were no sin. His own spotless life deserved the crown without the cross, the glory without the suffering.

Thus thought Peter too. But neither Peter, nor James nor John could probably have endured the shock of defeat, had they not first been strengthened by the sight of Jesus in His glory—a forecast of what He would be after the Resurrection. It was these three to whom special revelations would be made after His Resurrection. This perfect knowledge of His future glory alone could sustain them for Calvary. Then when John at the foot of the Cross, would hear Him say: "My God! My God! Why hast thou abandoned Me?" he could recall the assuring words from the Father in Heaven: "This is My Beloved Son."

Another interesting reference to His act of ransom was a parable that is almost autobiographical, namely, the parable of the dishonest tenants. The rulers had just been questioning Our Lord as to the authority by which He acted. The position that they took was that they were representatives and guardians of the people, and, therefore, they must prevent the people from being misled.

Our Lord answers them in a parable, showing them the kind of guardians and guides they were. He points out several steps in the planting of a vineyard: it is furnished with all the necessary appliances, has a wall around it, a wine press and a tower. God had enclosed His people with His own hands, and prepared them to be a fruitful vine. The letting out of the vineyard to those who tended it, meant the commitment to His own people of a responsibility.

This commitment began with Abraham, who had been called out of the land of Ur, and with Moses, who gave his people commandments, and the worship of the true God by which they emerged from the wilderness of barbarism.

The next scene is one in which the owner of the vineyard claims the returns, namely, fidelity and love of God. Our Lord describes that the messengers who are the prophets, were subjected to cruel treatment and often murder. The more God pleaded with them, the more bitter they became.

Under figure of speech He is saying that a special Providence which had protected and defended His people against all enemies, should have prompted them to have been grateful. Then Jesus draws the last arrow from the quiver of the parable and said of the owner of the vineyard, Who is His Heavenly Father:

"He still had one messenger left,
His only Beloved Son,
Him He sent to the last of all;
They will have reverence.
He said
For My Son."

He sets Himself apart from the servants or the prophets and tells His auditors that He comes from the owner of the vineyard, God Himself. Christ here presents Himself as God's last appeal to the sinful world, a supreme gift of infinite love. The Father hopes that His Son will be counted as standing for Himself, and the gratitude and affection and reverence that are due to Him, will be shown to His Son. And Our Lord, continuing the parable says:

"But the vine-dressers said among themselves,
This is the heir, come, let us
kill Him,
And then His inheritance will be ours.
So they took Him and killed
Him
And cast Him out of the vineyard."

Crown Easter Table With Lamb

Savory Herbs Season Roast

Garnish Holiday Platter With Jolly Bonnets of Turnip and Egg

Leg of lamb is the prize Easter roast. But smaller families may choose a lamb shoulder roast or a boned and rolled cut, sized just right for the number to be served.

A "rack" of lamb is a generous roast that usually is cut into the flavorful rib chops.

Have the "foil" or paper-like outer covering removed before roasting. Rub the meat well with honey for a beautiful golden brown and flavor accent. We like a few tiny slivers of garlic inserted deep in the meat before roasting.

Garnish the Easter platter with gala edible bonnets made of thin slices of yellow turnip topped with halves of hard-cooked eggs.

Small circles of carrots make the flower trim and are fastened to the turnip slice and egg with food picks.

Leg of Lamb With Herb Bouquet

1 5-to-9 pound leg of lamb, trimmed
1 teaspoon rosemary
2 tablespoons salad oil
½ teaspoon dried sweet basil
1 tablespoon paprika
1 clove garlic, peeled, mashed
1 glass mint jelly.

Combine rosemary, salad oil, sweet basil and paprika. If the fell has not been removed, use a paring knife to cut and pull it from the top of the leg.

Rub the leg thoroughly with the seasoned oil. Let the roast stand in the refrigerator two to four hours before roasting.

Place leg of lamb fat side up on a rack in a roasting pan. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) 2½ hours.

Spread half a glass of mint jelly over the surface. Continue roasting about another hour. Spread remaining jelly over roast.

Serve medium (175 degrees) or well done (182 degrees). 12-14 slices.

Let Liver Marinate

Next time you have liver on the menu, let it marinate in French dressing (in the refrigerator, of course) about an hour before you cook it.

Soft-Drink Omelet Boasts Extra Fluffiness, Flavor

Kathrine Wellingbrook of Worcester, N. Y., food expert and inventor of new recipes, urges us to try her soft-drink omelet.

By the simple trick of using carbonated beverage as the liquid, the eggs seem to gain tenderness of texture—a delicacy of flavor—and a fluffiness that won't fail.

You can even reheat a fluffy soft-drink omelet which has been stored overnight in the refrigerator, and it will emerge from the pan hot, puffy, tender.

The action of the soft drink is at its best when the carbonation is high.

To assure this, have the beverage chilled and open the bottle just before using. (Recap for further use with a plastic or rubber closure.)

For plain or savory omelets try gingerale, lemon-lime (colorless type), cola or club soda.

Soft-Drink Puffy Omelet

4 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
White pepper
¼ cup soft drink
1 tablespoon butter, margarine or bacon fat

Add salt and pepper to egg whites; beat until they flop in soft peaks. Beat yolks until thick and heavy; gently stir in soft drink until blended. Fold yolk mixture into beaten egg white.

Melt fat in a light frying pan (about 10-inch diameter); tip pan to coat sides. Let pan get very hot; just before fat begins to smoke, remove from heat, quickly slip in omelet mixture and cover pan.

Return pan at once to low heat and cook five or six minutes. Turn off heat and let omelet remain in covered pan for about three minutes.

Remove cover; make a short cut at each side where omelet is to be folded; if necessary, loosen from sides of pan with spatula, top pan and push omelet gently with a spatula onto a hot platter, folding it as you slide it from the pan.

(A four-egg omelet is supposed to serve four, but this one is so good, it's usually devoured by two or three.

Note: To reheat cooked omelet after refrigeration, place in greased pan, cover and warm over moderately high heat for two or three minutes.

Onion Omelet: Stir grated onion with juice into yolks (2 teaspoons for each 4 eggs).

Cheese Omelet: Brush folded omelet with melted butter or margarine, sprinkle with grated cheese (any kind), and run under broiler until cheese melts.

Making a number of sandwiches? Stack two or three of them and cut them all at once with a sharp bread knife.

Lard Suggested for Economical Deep-Fat Frying

Just about everyone likes foods fried in deep fat. When properly fried, these foods are crisp, wholesome and digestible,' says home economist Reba Staggs.

Lard is a thrifty shortening to use for deep-fat frying. It can be reused, too, when you take care of it.

After you have used it, clarify it with raw potato, if necessary. This is done by cooking a few slices of raw potato in the deep, hot lard.

Then strain the lard and store it in the refrigerator.

Temperatures of 350 to 385 degrees are best for frying in deep, hot lard.

Use the lower temperatures for uncooked foods such as potatoes and the higher temperatures for cooked foods such as meat croquettes.

Serve Potatoes in Easter Style

Baked potatoes, Easter style, are suggested by Kathryn B. Niles. She is the author of the new book, "Food Preparation Recipes," and certainly knows her victuals.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes, Easter Style

Dash of pepper
Four medium to large potatoes, freshly baked
¼ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup hot milk
½ teaspoon ground pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons grated onion
4 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped. (If desired, reserve several slices for garnishing).

Cut baked potatoes in half crosswise or lengthwise. Scoop out pulp, taking care not to break the skins (shells).

Mash pulp thoroughly. Add remaining ingredients and blend thoroughly. Refill potato shells.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes, or until thoroughly heated and tops are delicately browned.

Serve Italian Cream Cake Adapted for U.S. Tastes

American cooks who like to serve Italian-style suppers will be interested in this quickly made cream-cake dessert.

Ever taste Zuppa Inglese—that Italian sweet with its layers of rum-soaked sponge cake, custard filling and topping of whipped cream and candied fruit?

This cream cake is a relative of Zuppa Inglese; in typical American fashion it substitutes a special lemon syrup for the rum flavoring and uses an instant pudding mix for the custard filling.

Italian Cream Cake

1¼ cups sugar
¾ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons aromatic bitters
⅛ package vanilla instant pudding mix
1 cup milk
2 8 or 9-inch sponge cake layers
1 cup heavy cream (whipped)
Sliced citron
Candied cherries

Mix sugar and boiling water; stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Cover and boil one minute. Uncover and boil five minutes without stirring.

Add lemon rind, lemon juice and bitters; cool. Add instant pudding to milk; mix according to package directions; chill.

When ready to serve, place a sponge-cake layer on serving dish. Drench with lemon syrup. Spread with vanilla pudding mixture. Cover with second sponge-cake layer.

Sprinkle lightly with lemon syrup and top with whipped cream. (Any remaining syrup may be passed with the dessert or stored in the refrigerator for later use.)

Garnish with slices of citron and candied cherries. Makes eight servings.

Discover Thrill of Avocado Pie

The current season has brought the largest California avocado crop in history. Calavo growers expect to market over 3-1-3 million flats between now and June. From them we get a few pointers on how to buy avocados.

Avocados are ready to eat only when soft. They are ripe when picked, but only the slow softening develops the creamy, nutlike flavor.

To test for softness—hold in palms of hands and press gently. If the fruit "gives" readily (feels soft) it is ready to eat.

If you pinch or poke, it will bruise the soft flesh and cause dark spots to appear.

If firm, leave these at room temperature until soft. This may take two, three or four days.

Sea Foam Avocado Pie

1 large avocado
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 teaspoon grated lemon or lime rind
⅓ cup lemon or lime juice
2 egg yolks
Few grains salt
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
Avocado for garnish

To prepare avocado, cut into halves and remove seed and skin. Force fruit through sieve to make 1 cup pulp.

Combine condensed milk, lemon rind and juice, lightly beaten egg yolks and salt and stir until mixture thickens. Fold in avocado.

Turn into baked pastry shell and chill several hours. Garnish with balls cut from avocado with French ball cutter or one-half teaspoon measure, if desired.

AVOCADO PIE — Avocado Pie is a California delight. It can become a Michigan delight any time you want to make it. This unusual pie needs no cooking and can be made just a few hours before it is to be eaten. One avocado makes a 9-inch pie.

Yogurt Tops Peaches

Syrup Blends Nuts, Apples and Berries

Of course the good flavor of this new topper is due to apples. Try this simple, delicious topping. To make a cook's life easier, buy quick-frozen waffles. Or mix your own.

Apple-Nut Cranberry Syrup

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped pecans
1½ cups maple-blended syrup
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash of salt
1 cup thinly sliced tart apples
½ cup raw cranberries, chopped coarsely

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add pecans; brown lightly; remove nuts. Add syrup, cinnamon and salt to butter in saucepan. Add apples and cranberries; cover; simmer 10 minutes.

Remove cover; simmer three minutes longer. Remove from frozen waffles which have been heated according to package directions. Makes about 2 cups.

Stuff Meat Roll With Potatoes

Baked Stuffed Meat Roll
1 pound potatoes
3 tablespoons melted butter
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon celery salt
2 eggs
1 tablespoon minced parsley
¼ pound chopped raw veal
1 pound chopped raw pork
¼ cup minced onion
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon rosemary
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup quick-cooking rice cereal

Peel and cook potatoes. Drain well and mash. Add butter, one-half teaspoon salt and the celery salt. Beat and add one of the eggs.

Add parsley and whip lightly until smoothly mixed. Cool slightly.

Place chopped veal and pork in mixing bowl. Add remaining egg, the onion, remaining 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, rosemary, catsup and rice cereal. Mix well.

Pat out in even layer on sheet of waxed paper, about 8x12 inches. Spread potato mixture over meat to within one-half inch of the edges. Roll up like jelly roll.

Place on greased shallow baking dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) until meat is thoroughly done, about one hour.

Serve cut in slices, accompanied by a mushroom cream sauce, or a creamed vegetable.

Makes six-eight servings.

Serve ready - prepared tomato sauce — the meatless kind — over slices of hot meat loaf.

STUFFED MEAT ROLL—The ever popular and easy meat loaf takes on a new look when it is stuffed with mashed potatoes and served with a smooth mushroom sauce. Roll it like a jelly roll. It's meat and potatoes all in one. Garnish with radish roses and watercress.

Shrimp Treat Rightly Named

Sameone said the Shrimp Goodovers dish is rightly named. On tasting, folks beg to have it over and over again. It calls for regular kitchen shelf foods, yet is a gourmet type of treat.

Another good point, this shrimp dish uses up leftover bread and is simple to fix. Moreover, it is highly nourishing.

Shrimp Goodovers
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 slices bread
1 can shrimp
½ cup grated cheese
1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, with juice
1 small onion, minced
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Butter the bread, then cut in one-half inch cubes. Arrange alternate layers of bread, shrimp, cheese and mushrooms in buttered 8-inch round baking pan 1½ inches deep.

Combine onion, eggs, milk and seasonings. Pour over shrimp-bread layers.

Add Curry to Sauce

Add a little curry powder to the cream sauce you've made for boiled onions. Serve with broiled chicken and steamed rice. A green salad with coarsely grated carrot or carrot curls in it will add color and crisp texture to this menu.

Cornmeal Lends Texture to Yeast-Raised Tea Ring

Nothing, but nothing you can bake equals the tantalizing smell of a yeast-raised coffee ring browning in the oven.

Fill the ring with dried fruits, sugar and lemon rind—as we do in this recipe—and you'll have the most delicious aroma in the world wafting through the house.

Serve this coffee ring to "just the family" and they'll love you dearly. Or make it for guests when they come over in the evening to watch television or play a game of bridge.

Have the ring baking in the oven when your company arrives so they can get a delightful whiff of what's to come.

The texture of our coffee ring is interesting because the dough has cornmeal in it. You'll feel proud when you serve it because it will have such a professional appearance.

After it is baked and you drizzle confectioner's sugar frosting over it, sprinkle it with a few nuts.

To make the frosting, just moisten confectioner's sugar with a little water and lemon juice so it is the right consistency to drop from a spoon.

Apricot-Prune Tea Ring
2 cakes compressed or 2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup water
1½ cups scalded milk
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
6 to 7 cups sifted flour
2 eggs (lightly beaten)
1 cup enriched yellow cornmeal
Extra melted shortening
Apricot-prune filling
Confectioner's sugar frosting
Pecans or walnuts (coarsely cut)

Crumble or sprinkle yeast in water; use lukewarm water for compressed yeast and warm (but not hot) water for dry yeast; stir until dissolved.

Pour scalded milk over shortening, sugar and salt; stir until shortening melts; cool to lukewarm.

Stir in 2 cups of the flour and the lightly beaten eggs; stir in softened yeast, then the cornmeal. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny—about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl and brush lightly with extra melted shortening. Cover with tea towel and let rise in a warm place until double in size—about one hour.

Punch down; let rest about 10 minutes. Divide dough in half. Roll half of dough to form oblong about 9 by 15 inches.

Spread with half of apricot-prune filling. Roll up tightly, beginning at wide side. Seal well by pinching edges of roll together. Place sealed edge down in partially closed ring on lightly greased cookie sheet.

With scissors, make cuts two thirds of the way through the ring at 1½-inch intervals. Turn each section on its side. Treat remaining half of dough the same way.

Let rings rise until almost double in size—about 25 minutes. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Apricot-Prune Filling
1 cup chopped dried apricots
1 cup chopped cooked prunes
2-3 cup water
1 cup sugar
Grated rind of half a lemon

Mix apricots, prunes, water, sugar and lemon rind. Cook, stirring often, over low heat until thick. Cool.

Corn-Fed Americans

If all the corn packed in the United States last year had been divided evenly, every man, woman and child in the country could have had six cans.

How to Simmer Food

If you want to keep a stew or other food at the simmering point, when you are cooking it over a top burner on the range, make sure that the surface of the liquid barely ripples. Simmering means to cook just below the boiling point.

Parsley Sparks Salad

That parsley you bought for garnishing languishing in the refrigerator? Remember it gives a wonderfully fresh taste to salads. Snip lots of it fine with your kitchen scissors and add to cabbage or carrot slaw, mixed greens, cucumbers or tomatoes.

Good Teatime Snack

Spread bread with butter and sprinkle with celery seeds; cut into strips and place on a cookie sheet. Toast in a hot oven. Good with tea for that 4 o'clock pick-me-up.

You can use leftover liquids drained from cooked, canned or frozen fruits in gelatin dishes.

Salad Points Up Flavor of Tuna

Be sure to take a day off this week and do some very special shopping. Make your dinner the day before. And what a dinner it is! A crisp tangy Cranberry Cabbage Salad Mold and your favorite tuna fish casserole.

Make your salad and casserole the day before. All you need do before dinner is pop the casserole in the oven and turn the ruby-red salad mold onto crisp chicory. Heat a package of brown 'n' serve rolls and you're ready.

And just watch how bright, tangy and flavorsome the meal becomes when you set the Cranberry Cabbage Salad Mold on the table. It's a flavor that belongs with fish.

Cranberry Cabbage Mold

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 pound can jellied cranberry sauce (crushed with fork)
1 cup finely shredded cabbage
¼ cup diced celery
½ cup chopped walnuts

Place gelatin in custard cup. Add cold water. Let stand two minutes. Place cup with gelatin in pan of boiling water and heat until gelatin is dissolved. Add to crushed cranberry sauce.

Fold in cabbage, celery and nuts. When mixture begins to thicken, pour into one large mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve on chicory.

Make Use of Giblets

Cut up those cooked chicken giblets and heat them with any leftover chicken gravy; serve over fluffy rice. Or add the giblets to an egg salad sandwich for the lunchbox.

CRANBERRY CABBAGE MOLD — Cabbage salad in a cranberry gelatin mold is a wonderful addition to a meal that features a tunafish casserole. The tangy flavor and ruby red color of cranberry sauce really belong with fish.

Authority Tells the Right Time to Season Meat

If you've been puzzled about when to season meat for cooking, here are some seasoning tips.

According to meat expert Reba Staggs, a roast may be seasoned before, during or after cooking.

For broiling, season the meat after it has browned on one side, before turning it. Season the second side after it has browned.

For pan-broiling, season the meat after it has been cooked on both sides.

When you brown meat for braising or cooking in liquid, season it after it has been browned.

However, if the meat is floured before it's browned, the seasoning may be mixed with the flour.

If you will be cooking the meat in liquid and won't be browning it first, add seasonings to the cooking liquid.

For pan-frying, season the meat after it becomes brown on both sides.

Small Fry Favorite

Small fry like this dish. Cook chopped beef lightly in a skillet and mix with cream sauce. If lean beef is used, add a little fat to the skillet when you are cooking it, but not too much!

Mix cottage cheese (the creamed variety) with grated carrot and finely grated onion; serve on salad greens for a luncheon salad.

Flour used in cake-making fully. Sift the flour onto a piece should always be measured care- of waxed paper, then spoon lightly into the measuring cup and level off with a spatula.

STUFFED EGGPLANT — Eggplant, stuffed with a delicious mixture of fresh vegetables, is a prime favorite for meatless meals. Green peppers, celery and tomatoes lend zest to the blander eggplant.

Zesty Stuffing Brings Out Delicate Eggplant Flavor

Eggplant, one of the oldest of all cultivated vegetables, is also one of the most popular foods in some sections of the globe.

In Greece and Turkey and other lands of the Near East, hardly a meal is served without this delicious vegetable. Cooks in those countries generally bake the eggplant in its skin or simmer it in oil or meat stock to preserve the delicate flavor.

Lamb and eggplant are extremely good together. The Armenian shish kabobs almost always include cubes of eggplant along with lamb, onions, tomatoes and possibly mushrooms and green pepper.

Eggplants are quite bland. They need seasonings to bring out their best flavor. Onions, garlic, green peppers, tomatoes, all add tastiness.

About the only time when eggplants are used alone is when the slices are dipped in batter and fried in deep fat. The crispness of the batter adds interest to the softer, smoother vegetable.

Stuffed eggplant is one of the most popular ways of serving this colorful vegetable. There are many different recipes for stuffing it. Some people use bread. Others favor meat. One of the most appetizing methods is to stuff the vegetable with a mixture of chopped fresh vegetables.

After the dish has cooked in a covered baking dish until the vegetables are tender, the cover is removed and a mixture of bread crumbs and crisp, fried bacon is sprinkled over the top. It is then baked for an additional time until golden brown.

This is an economical and delicious dish. By omitting the bacon, it is also good for the center of a Lenten vegetable plate.

The home economists in the test kitchen of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association have developed these interesting ways of serving this age-old vegetable.

Stuffed Eggplant

1½ to 2 pound eggplant
Boiling water to cover
½ pound ground lean beef
1 tablespoon shortening
¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¾ cup sliced celery
2 cup diced fresh tomatoes
½ cup diced green pepper
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 slices crisp bacon
1 tablespoon bacon fat

Wash eggplant, cut in half, lengthwise. Remove pulp to within one-half-inch of the skin. Parboil in boiling water to cover, about five minutes. Remove from water, place in a baking dish.

Brown meat in shortening along with the onions. Add parsley, celery, tomatoes, green pepper, 1 cup of the bread crumbs, salt and black pepper. Fill eggplant with the mixture. Cover.

Bake one hour or until tender in a hot oven (400). Crumble bacon, mix with the remaining one-half cup bread crumbs and bacon fat. Sprinkle over eggplant. Bake, uncovered, 15 minutes or until brown. Yield: Six servings.

Eggplant and Ham Sandwich

1¼ pounds eggplant
½ cup milk
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ cup shortening
6 slices (¼ pound) sliced, cooked ham

Peel, wash and slice eggplant, crosswise, one-fourth-inch thick (12 slices). Dip in milk and flour mixed with the salt and black pepper. Brown on both sides in shortening (add shortening as needed.) Arrange in two slices per serving with ham in sandwich fashion.

Yield: Six servings. Makes delicious main dish.

Slaw Glamorized by Fruit, Cheese

Fruit and Slaw Luncheon Plate

⅓ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper
3 cups finely shredded cabbage
3 canned cling peach halves (well drained)
1 cup (8 ounces) cream style cottage cheese
¼ cup drained crushed pineapple (if desired)

Mix mayonnaise, vinegar, mustard, salt and pepper to taste. Pour over cabbage and mix lightly.

Stir cottage cheese and pineapple (if used) together lightly. Arrange mound of cabbage mixture on each salad plate.

Top with peach half cup side up and fill with cottage cheese. Makes five servings.

Cereal Varies Cake Favorite

Here is an unusual recipe for a really delicious pineapple upside-down cake. Quick-cooking rice cereal is used as the main ingredient . . . this gives a very interesting texture and a delightful crust. Incidentally, this cake will be most welcome to anyone with an allergy to wheat.

Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

2 tablespoons butter
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon ginger
9-ounce can sliced pineapple
7 maraschino cherries
2 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup quick cooking rice cereal

Melt butter in bottom of 9-inch round baking dish. Combine one-half cup sugar and ginger. Spread evenly over bottom of baking dish. Place drained pineapple and cherries in design over sugar mixture.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, gradually adding all but 2 tablespoons of the remaining one-half cup sugar.

Beat egg yolks and last 2 tablespoons sugar until fluffy and lemon-colored. Add salt and rice cereal to beaten yolks. Mix well, then fold into beaten egg whites.

Pour batter over pineapple, spreading evenly. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until cereal is cooked through, about 40 minutes. Remove from oven.

Run knife around edge of pan, then invert on serving plate. Yield: Six Servings.

Serve Sprouts Often

Frozen Brussels sprouts are widely available and so nutritious that they can be used often to good advantage in family menus. Try serving them with browned butter and toasted almonds. Or team them with cream sauce and a topping of crisp crumbled bacon.

For Delicious Pears

Canned or home-cooked pear halves look pretty and taste good when their cavities are filled with apricot puree and they are surrounded with a soft custard sauce.

Try Delightful Sauce

A wonderful sauce for spooning over casseroles, rice, tuna loaf or cereal dishes is made with a small can drained chopped mushrooms, can cream of chicken soup and a can of zestfully seasoned deviled ham. Mix these ingredients well and heat over moderate flame. Such a sauce!

Team fresh grapefruit sections and grapefruit juice with canned pineapple chunks for a refreshing dessert after a fish or meat dinner.

SANITARY DIAPERS, garments, bedding are important to baby's health protection. Always disinfect them with Roman Cleanser Bleach. It whitens and removes stains as it makes baby clothes sanitary—without extra work.

HOT CROSS BUNS—Hot! Hot! Hot! That's the all-important word in Hot Cross Buns. Rich with egg and fruit and prettily crossed with sugar frosting, they're delicious when served hot. Serve them as soon as they come out of the oven, or reheat them in aluminum foil.

Easter Season Tradition Demands Hot Cross Buns

Good Friday without Hot Cross Buns? Why, you might just as well think of Christmas without Christmas trees. Of course some people eat them daily from Ash Wednesday till Easter morning. But even those who are not that Hot Cross Bun conscious try to get their fill of them over the Easter weekend.

If you buy your Hot Cross Buns ready made from the bakery, get enough for several meals. Then pick up a roll of aluminum foil at the grocery counter because when you reheat them in the foil they taste just as luscious as though fresh from the baking pan. Here's the easy, effective aluminum-foil way for reheating buns and rolls:

Place buns on a large piece of aluminum foil and wrap up, overlapping the edges of the foil, but not sealing. (This makes the package easy to open). Heat in a hot oven (375-400 degrees) 15 minutes.

Place the package in a bread basket or on a plate, opening and folding back the foil just before the buns are eaten. Foil may be reclosed to keep any remaining buns hot until the end of the meal.

Now if you want to make your own rolls, the recipe below will give all you ever dreamed about in a super Hot Cross Bun. Just sweet enough, just spicy enough, with a light but moist texture that melts in the mouth.

Omit the cross and you have a fruity, sweet bun for any day in the year — and it's our bet that you will make them many a day long after Easter is past and gone. And of course you can use aluminum foil, too, to reheat those you don't eat up at the first meal.

Hot Cross Buns

½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup boiling water
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
¼ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
2 eggs
4 cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup nonfat dry milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup currants or raisins
Confectioners' sugar frosting

Put sugar, salt, and butter in mixing bowl. Add boiling water and stir until butter is melted; cool until lukewarm. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into the warm, not hot, water and stir until dissolved. Stir into cooled sugar-shortening mixture with one whole egg plus one egg yolk. Save white to use later.

Sift together flour, nonfat dry milk and cinnamon. Mix with currants or raisins; add half to yeast mixture and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour mixture.

Place dough in a warm, lightly greased bowl. Cover bowl with a cloth and put in a warm place free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently for about one minute. Roll out about one inch thick. Cut into 2-inch circles and place close together in two 9-inch round 1½-inch deep cake pans, lightly greased on bottoms only.

Cut a deep cross in each biscuit with a sharp knife or scissors. Brush tops with slightly beaten egg white. Put in warm place, free from draft, and let rise until doubled in bulk, about one hour.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) until tops are deep golden brown and bottoms are golden brown and firm, about 15 to 20 minutes. Fill cross in tops of buns with confectioners' sugar frosting; using a toothpick or a cornucopia made of waxed paper.

Confectioners' Sugar Frosting

Mix together one-half cup sifted confectioners' sugar with one-eighth teaspoon vanilla and enough of the remaining egg white or water to make a good spreading consistency.

Barbecued Chops Are Quick 'n' Easy

Looking for a little different way to prepare your dinner pork chops? Then barbecue them this quick and easy way—they're mighty good!

Barbecued Pork Chops

4 pork chops
Salt and pepper
4 slices onion (¼ inch thick)
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoon lemon juice

Brown chops in a little hot fat; drain off fat. Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper and top each with a slice of onion. Sprinkle with brown sugar.

Combine catsup and lemon juice and pour over chops; add a little water to cover bottom of skillet.

Never Apologize for Food, It's Smart to Use Mixes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Why are women so apologetic about using prepared mixes?. I'm getting a little tired of complimenting my hostess on some delicious food and having her say, "I suppose I shouldn't tell you, but I made it from a mix."

And why not? The brains of some of the country's best home economists have been used to make these mixes foolproof and good tasting. Competition keeps them on their toes. The big companies can't afford to put out poor products, and the little companies fall by the wayside if they do. Why shouldn't we take advantage of all this?

There are, of course, valid reasons why you don't use a particular mix. Sometimes prepared foods are more expensive, and your limited budget says you must prepare your own. Homemakers who are trying to keep the milk bill down can make a less expensive instant cocoa mix with dry skim milk than any they can buy. There's no question about it—you do pay for the convenience of having some of your work done.

Many of you have a particular recipe for a cake or other dessert that you think can't be equalled by a prepared mix. I feel that way about a special gingerbread recipe I use, also my cheese-cake recipe. So I shall continue to make those two things "from scratch", as it were.

Since I always have corn meal on hand, I mix up my own corn bread and corn muffins during the colder months. But corn meal has a distressing habit of attracting certain cereal pests in summer time, thus becoming unfit to eat. So all summer I buy and use prepared corn bread mixes. There is no difference in taste.

Sauce Peps Up Duck

Barbecue sauce is delicious over chicken; but it's also good with duck. Roast the duck (cut in quarters) by your regular method, but baste often with the sauce.

Marinate cooked snapbeans in a tangy French dressing. Serve on salad greens with sliced egg for a good luncheon salad.

For women who are scared to tackle yeast doughs the ready mix doughs are the perfect answer. By following directions these cooks can get the feel of yeast dough and perhaps, in time, tackle their own recipes.

Theres no doubt that prepared mixes save time. Leading the fantastically busy lives most of us do, we welcome even a small time-saver. There's no law compelling a woman to spend so many hours a day in her kitchen. Long hours of "slaving over a hot stove" are out of fashion. Everyone prefers a more relaxed and cooler hostess and mother.

Recently a friend said to me, "I like to add my own individual touches to food I prepare from a mix." There's the answer for most of you.

Try out the various ready-prepared foods. Continue to use the ones that really save you time and money. Make these your very own by some distinctive touch. Another friend made a birthday cake for me not long ago. She used a packaged angel food, adding chopped nuts and maraschino cherries to the batter. It was delicious.

Above all, please don't apologize for any of your food. No one will think less of you for taking advantage of all the help you can get. Definitely, no food editor will. Just be glad that American industry gives us all the opportunity to be such good cooks. Concentrate on giving your family the Basic Seven foods and stop worrying whether they come out of a box or from the work of your hands.

Supper for the Crowd

The crowd coming over for supper? Serve a big hot potato salad with broiled frankfurters, buttered rolls and lots of fresh vegetables to eat out of hand. Choose radishes, carrot and celery strips, cauliflowerets and strips of fennel for the fresh vegetable tray.

Toast Jam Sandwiches

Ever serve toasted jam sandwiches? To make them, remove the crusts from thin slices of fresh bread; spread the bread with apricot or raspberry jam and roll up diagonally. Fasten the rolls with toothpicks and toast in a hot oven.

It's Easy to Cheese It! Food Tastes Better, Too

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Have you ever stopped to count the number of cheeses available in the dairy section of any supermarket? Neither have I, but it must be tremendous. The whole world sends its cheese to be enjoyed in this country.

While the Pontiac area has no particular cheese to contribute to the world's supply, the residents do consume their share. One store reports that on weekends when specials are run, about 5,000 pounds of cheese are sold! Most homemakers we know keep several kinds of cheese on hand at all times.

In a little booklet put out by the National Dairy Council there are several suggestions for the care of cheese:

"Store perishable soft cheese as carefully as you do milk—in the refrigerator in a tightly covered container; buy in amounts to be used in a short time. Other cheeses keep well in a cold place if wrapped so that air is kept from the cheese.

"Refrigerate packaged cheese in its container, using additional waxed paper or laminated foil, if necessary, to rewrap the cheese . . . If mold forms in time, it may be scraped away with no harm to the cheese. Should cheese dry, grate it and keep in covered container.

"Cheese (except cottage cheese) tastes its best when served unchilled. Take it from the refrigerator long enough before serving to reach room temperature."

Processed cheese is a blend of one or more types of cheese. It melts readily and smoothly. Here's a recipe using this kind of cheese:

Barbecued Cheese Potatoes

4 large potatoes, peeled and sliced thin
1½ cups milk
¼ cup chopped onion
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon catsup
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tobasco sauce
¾ cup processed American cheese, finely diced

Combine all ingredients and pour into a Dutch oven or heavy skillet. Cover and cook over very low heat on top of range until potatoes are tender, about 1 hour. Serves 6-8. Serve with grilled beef patties and crisp green salad.

Bread and cheese are natural friends. Add ¼ cup shredded cheese for each cup of flour in your favorite biscuit recipe or to each cup prepared mix . . . Add ½ cup cheese for each cup flour in making waffles . . . Make pinwheels of plain biscuit dough, using shredded cheese to cover the rolled-out dough first. Buy Brown 'N' Serve rolls, press cube of American cheese in caraway seeds; with finger, bury cheese in bun; bake. Sprinkle grated Parmesan cheese generously on buttered slices of French bread; toast in broiler.

For a quick dessert, soften cream cheese with fruit juice; mix with diced, dried fruit and spread between slices of date-nut bread or between gingersnaps.

Alternate Tokay grapes and balls of Blue and cream cheese mixed with ground walnuts on cocktail picks . . . Or, make balls of minced ham and cheese moistened with mayonnaise.

Cheese belongs in our diets. Once you get well acquainted with it, you'll agree that cheese in your refrigerator at all times is as necessary as flour and sugar in your canisters.

Fillets Packed by Size

Haddock fillets are packed according to size — large and small. Fillets from small haddock average about two per pound and are now most plentiful and the best buy, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

When making scrambled eggs, beat eggs wth a fork in a paper bowl.

Sweeten Heavy Cream

Kitchen tip: Add sugar and flavoring to heavy cream you are whipping after beating long enough so the cream has begun to thicken. Two to three tablespoons of confectioners' sugar is about right for 1 cup of cream.

Follow 10 Tips for Preparing Better Coffee

Here are some tips on better coffee-making:

1. When you take your coffee from the refrigerator, measure out enough for your brew and then return the tin promptly to the refrigerator.
2. Keep coffee-maker clean. Wash thoroughly after each use. Keep cloth filters moist in cold water.
3. Scald coffee-maker just before using. This eliminates any stale odors.
4. Start with freshly drawn, cold water.
5. Use fresh coffee. The vacuum container assures you roaster-fresh coffee.
6. Measure accurately. Both water and coffee should be measured carefully to insure uniform results.
7. Never reuse coffee grounds. And never run water through coffee grounds twice.
8. Use full capacity of coffee-maker for the finest brew.
9. Watch your timing. When you have found the exact best time for coffee as you like it, stick to it.
10. Try new coffee recipes occasionally. It will increase your enjoyment of America's favorite drink.

Commander of Nautilus Tells About Builders' Trials

By ELROY C. FAY

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The crew of the Nautilus suffered an "agonizing" few minutes when trouble which later proved minor grumbled a warning as the atomic submarine backed away from her dock on her first trial.

This and other incidents in the now completed builders' trials of the Nautilus were related today by Cmdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson, the Nautilus' skipper; Lt. Dean L. Axene, executive officer; and others of the crew in a news conference.

Wilkinson said that the performance of the huge undersea boat and nuclear power plant have proved amazing.

But he also disclosed the moments of worry when "bugs" common to any new craft appeared while "the eyes of the world were upon us."

The difficulties, all quickly corrected, were these:

1. Two small fires in electrical panels on the first dive.

2. A loose screw on the casing of a reduction gear box on the port propeller shaft which startled the crew as the submarine moved out from her dock Jan. 17—and which compelled maneuvering the boat on one of the twin propellers until the trouble was discovered and fixed.

3. A lashing storm with 12-foot waves and winds up to 30 knots—which stove in a plate on the outside sheathing of the conning tower structure and ripped up some deck planking but did no damage to the pressure hull of the boat.

In this storm, during one of her trial runs at sea, the Nautilus rolled as much as 27 degrees while surfaced. Some personnel, including some of the ship's company, Wilkinson said with a grin, were "quite green at times."

The skipper said, in answer to questions, there has been no dangerous radiation from the submarine's atomic fire box at any time.

He explained that the Atomic Energy Commission has a table worked out which shows that a person can absorb as much as 300 units of radiation steadily without resulting in any reduction of life expectancy or other dangers.

In the case of the Nautilus, the average per week per man has been only about 5 units with the highest for any crewman only 45 units—"well under tolerance," he said.

Only once did news conference questioning turn to questioning about an article Wilkinson has written for the Saturday Evening Post and which has prompted a study by the Defense Department looking toward probable issurance of an order banning such writing.

A reporter asked Wilkinson if there was any data on the performance contained in his article.

Wilkinson answered that "to the best of my knowledge there is no performance data." He added that there was mention of firing dummy torpedoes in practice which already had been announced officially by the Navy.

It was Axene, the executive officer, who mentioned the "agonizing few minutes right after we got under way" in the first test.

Wilkinson explained the boat was backing down from the fitting out pit when an engineering officer "reported a rubbing sound in the starboard turbine."

Steam power was shut off on the port shaft and a "creep" speed applied, using electrical power developed by the steam generators.

Cautiously the new submersible backed out into the stream, made a full turn and headed away. Then it was discovered the alarming noise was caused by the mere rubbing of a plate, something fixed simply and quickly.

At no time did the ship go off atomic power.

Wilkinson explained that the sound was startling because it could have meant something as a bad blade in the steam turbine.

The skipper termed the ship's performance "revolutionary and amazing."

Wilkinson issued a prepared statement in conjunction with the news conference.

Debate Bill Forbidding Employe Discount Plan

LANSING (AP)—The Senate showed initial hostility to legislation which would hit at one form of discount buying.

This is the practice of employers buying specific articles at wholesale through their purchasing departments and then selling them at cost to their employes as an accommodation.

The Senate yesterday shelved a bill to forbid the practice, then relented on a roll call showdown and held the bill for further debate Tuesday.

Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor), the sponsor, argued that the practice was injurious to retail business and that it robbed the state of sales taxes.

State Senate Gets Election Law Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Senate has had its first peek at a major revision of state election laws.

It was explained to the chamber and set for debate Tuesday.

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland), chairman of the Senate elections committee, said that group had droppped its original plan to make it harder for minority parties to get on the ballot.

The bill will combine the state and presidential ballots.

The bill proposes to raise the standards of precinct election workers and require them to list their political affiliations, Geerlings said, but the committee has agreed to drop its previous plan to limit the age of such workers to 65 years.

Geerlings said the bill will seek to speed up election returns and eliminate errors by limiting the size of precincts using paper ballots to 800 registered voters and requiring one voting machine to be provided for each 600 voters in machine precincts. The committee dropped a proposal to limit machine precincts to 1,400 voters.

Stolen Safe Is Blamed in Crash of Getaway Car

MARTINSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Muscular burglars lugged an empty 600-pound safe 30 feet to a car last night at the Querry Motor Co.

The car, a new one owned by David L. Querry, was found later, wrecked on a road a few miles away. The safe was intact. Querry said its weight probably caused the car to overturn.

He said the burglars, in their haste, left behind the only cash in the shop—$10 in a cashbox which had been on top of the safe.

Top of the Mark Makes People Tipsy

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — No one has ever cried farewell, cruel San Francisco! and then leaped from the famous Top of the Mark —but all lesser of man's emotions have spilled over here.

To step out of the Mark Hopkins Hotel elevators onto this 19th floor lounge for the first time, at sunset, is to be socked in the stomach.

You are circled in fire. You can reach out and stroke blue mountains. The Golden Gate shimmers and blinds your eyes. You are weak of knee, damp of palm, gone of head and then, to compound the collapse, they offer you a martini.

This has been going on, in the interiors of normally sensitive people, for 18 years. The sudden agony of seeing San Francisco, laid out in layers of light below this glassed-in, cocktail-equipped crows' nest, has made men cry and women grow faint, has clinched many marriages (and occasionally a divorce), has prompted maharajahs to give fabulous jewels to waiters.

The city has other lush hotels, but none has attempted to capitalize especially on the view. The Fairmont Hotel, across the street on Nob Hill from the Mark Hopkins, has seven lavish lounges, and the Huntington and St. Francis hostelries have equally hospitable "rooms." To these go the local citizens, to the Top go the tourists.

Manager of the Top of the Mark is a debonair, sentimental fellow named John Hensley. He still gets the stomach whammy, even after 17 years, when "nature and San Francisco put on an especially good show," So of course he understands his clientele thoroughly.

"This is possibly the only bar in the world," he says, "where the people get tipsy upon entering, and have to sober up on whisky."

The fairy tale beyond the circular plate glass walls affects different people different ways, he says.

During the war, pathos and nostalgia darkened further the dim interior of the "Top of the Mark." The northwest corner, which overlooks San Francisco Harbor, was known as "weeper's corner," for the U.S. Navy. Families would bid goodbye to sailors and then rush to the Top of the Mark Hopkins to wave, unseen and sobbing, in this corner at a departing ship.

So sentimental are soldiers and fliers about the Top that a B29 in World War II and a conquered Korean hill were named after it.

The northwest corner is also famous, to Hensley, as reunion corner. It is where servicemen were weepingly welcomed home by their girls. It is also the spot where Cary Grant and Barbara Hutton patched up their broken marriage.

"It ended in divorce, as you know," Hensley points out, "but on the night they decided to try again after a long separation, they —and I—were very happy." In recent years, Babs has returned often and always insists on being seated in the northwest corner—once even walked out when it was overcrowded. Grant comes back too. "But doesn't care where he's seated," says Hensley.

Nearly every internationally-known personality who has visited San Francisco in the last two decades has seen the Top.

"Harry and Bess Truman were here," recalls Hensley, "and Mamie and Ike. Madame Pandit visited and I would call her the loveliest lady customer we've had."

Clement Attlee is the only guest Hensley knows of who has criticized the fare. Introduced by navy men to a drink called "depth bomb" (a shot glass of bourbon dropped into a stein of beer), the labor leader took a sip and bleated:

"This may be the most horrible experience of my life!"

1,800 Indians Attend Schools in America

WASHINGTON (UP) — More than 1,800 Indian students are being educated in American colleges and universities, India's embassy announced.

Muni Lal, India's director of information service, said approximately 80 per cent of these students are studying science in order to take part in India's vast economic and technical development program.

"Two hundred are on scholarships," Lal added, "while the rest are financing their own education."

The greatest concentration of Indian sudents is in New York City, More than 300 study there. Michigan and California come next.

Pre-college age Indians also are being educated in the United States.

"Among embassy personnel alone, 25 children are enrolled in the school system in Washington," Lal said.

About half of these attend public school; the others are in private schools.

Farm Land Sales Gain

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Interest in the buying of farm land picked up in most of the northern cornbelt states during 1954 because of favorable weather and high farm income. The U. S. Department of Agriculture said the farm market was not really active "but the better farms found ready buyers."

GIVING MATSU THE ONCE OVER—Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, inspects aircraft positions of Chinese Nationalist forces on Matsu Island. Officials in Washington report a build-up of Chinese Communist forces opposite Matsu and Quemoy, and many feel that Red China may be heading for a clash with Chiang's forces in this area.

Urges More Help for Private Charities

LA CROSSE, Wis. (UP) — A University of Wisconsin sociologist has warned that American must not drop private charity work in the advent of increasing governmental activity in the field.

Prof. Arthur Miles told the Family Welfare Association at its annual meeting here that "critics want to know why we need to support private agencies when public welfare has become one of the three largest services of government in America."

The answer, he said, is that voluntary philanthropy performs an important pioneering function in our social and economic system. Miles pointed out that "any civilized community aware of its religious heritage will continue to pioneer."

"Simply because there is little poverty in our midst we should not abolish" such private services as relief for the needy, assistance for the disabled, nursery schools and playgrounds, he said.

Miles, who heads the University of Wisconsin's department of social work, said that "with less than three per cent of our national income going for all types of private philanthropy, we should increase the amount of our expenditures for these services."

Nail-Glue Truss for Roofs Shown

Purdue Claims Method Results in Cheap, Solid Construction

URBANA, Ill. (UP) —Research in home building techniques has produced the design of a nail-and-glued roof truss which provides one of the strongest and most economical types of truss construction yet developed.

Test results of the truss were announced by Purdue University and the University of Illinois building experts who said the nail-glue truss surpassed eight other types of roof construction for strength.

The new technique was developed at the Wood research laboratory at Purdue by Stanley K. Suddarth and Byron M. Radcliffe, both assistant professors of forestry, and by Hans Granum of the Norwegian Building Institute, a Fulbright scholar at the University of Illinois Small Homes Council.

The nail-glued trusses can be built at the site and require no special equipment. The glue provides the bond to hold the truss members together, and the nails provide the pressure necessary while the glue sets.

Instruction sheets on how to build the trusses were distributed to more than 400 builders who attended the Small Homes Council's annual short course in residential construction.

Half of Medicine New Since 1940

Patients Urged to Let Doctors Decide on Use of Wonder Drugs

More than half the prescriptions now written by doctors could not have been written 15 years ago. These call for antibotics, wonder drugs like penicillin, aureomycin, and terramycin that today have become household terms.

Though most patients are content to let the doctor "be the doctor" and follow his advice exactly when taking antibiotics or other medicines, a few may cause him trouble. One is the person who says, "I've got a bad cold, Doc. Give me some penicillin.

The other is horrified when the doctor prescribes penicillin or another antibiotic. His protest is, "Don't give me that, Doctor! I've heard about the awful reaction it causes."

Such attitudes can backfire miserably on family health, for instance, a patient, or a patient's parents, will not let a doctor administer necessary medicines. Or, in other cases, if a patient had his way, he could be taking an antibiotic that might cause him serious harm.

It is almost impossible to name a substance that cannot produce harmful reactions in human beings if exposure is adequate. Table salt can be poisonous to some persons with advanced heart cases. Too much oxygen can be toxic, though oxygen is essential to life. The sting of a bee can in very rare cases change body chemistry to produce a fatal anaphylatic reaction. Such a reaction has also in extremely rare cases been caused by antibiotics such as penicillin.

This is an important reason why the patient should follow exactly his doctor's instructions when it comes to taking these newer drugs. If he notices any unusual reaction, such as skin rash, hives, a burning sensation, or nausea, he should tell the doctor about it.

It's also a good idea to keep a written record in the medicine cabinet of potent drugs prescribed for the family. Make brief notes about unusual after effects. Next time the doctor comes, he may need those notes for reference.

Blaze Hits Plant in Waterford

Fire at Dostal Foundry Forces One-Day Layoff of 40 Workers

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Fire which damaged a section of the Dostal Foundry and Machine Co. at 2500 Williams Dr. early this morning forced a one-day layoff of some 40 of the plant's 165 employes.

The blaze, which broke out shortly before 5 a.m., was confined principally to a wooden cupola on top of the asbestos roof above the die casting machine.

Sparks from hot coke were believed to have ignited the roof, and Edward P. Smith, Waterford Township acting fire chief, set damage tentatively at $2,000 to $3,000.

Four trucks from Waterford and one from the Clarkston Fire Department fought the blaze for approximately 2½ hours, Smith said. The fire was reported by a workman at the plant.

Employes who are out today probably will work Saturday to make up the lost time, according to Russell K. Dostal, owner of the firm.

Business Group Invites Industry to North Branch

NORTH BRANCH — To discuss inducements to draw potential industry to this area, a local representative group of 29 industries met at the American Legion Hall this week, invited by the North Branch Business Men's Association, according to Clare Orr, president.

The sum of $3,000 was subscribed for the purchase of a 10-acre tract, paralleling the Grand Trunk railroad tracks, north of the North Branch Elevator Co.

This land will be an outright donation, as a concession to a potential industry to locate and operate in this community.

Foxy Kids Scheming to Avoid Polio Shots

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Some youngsters in Ohio County tentatively scheduled to receive the Salk polio vaccine in April apparently have found what they think is a way to escape the dreaded needle.

Jack Clemm, administrative assistant in the City-County Health Department, said today that many of the consent forms sent to parents via the first and second-graders in the county schools have never reached home.

Clemm said, 'Evidently in some cases the children either feared the inoculation or lost the paper and said nothing about it at home." He said the matter was called to his attention by queries from parents.

Insurance Firms Pay Big '54 Hurricane Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—Insurance companies have paid out or are paying out about 325 million dollars in damage claims for three major hurricanes last year, it was estimated today.

Carol, Edna and Hazel caused about one and one-third billion dollars damage to the northeast, but only a small part of this whopping destruction was covered by insurance.

The National Underwriter, a trade newspaper, figured the total.

To Raise Funds for Gym

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—A group of 61 businessmen volunteers has launched a community campaign to raise $40,000 to equip the new St. Francis School gymnasium for added service as a civic center and banquet hall.

Patty Andrews Opens Alone at Latin Quarter

Steve Allen—who's going to Hollywood to play the life of Benny Goodman, and take his TV show there for several weeks—recently got $10,000 for a couple of afternoons of extra work. He told his manager, Jules Greene, "You know something? I'm not worth this much!"

Is Broadway again moving uptown?

With the Coliseum going up in Columbus Circle, a 50-story office building due to replace the B. & O. station, and more and more TV theaters uptown, it's possible. Naturally Bob Olin, the restaurateur, foresees his spot at 60th and Central Pk. West becoming the "new center of Broadway." He has what he calls a "mental option" on the first floor of Brooks Costumes for expansion when the hordes start coming.

Kitty Kallen Gains Fame the Hard Way

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sometimes fame comes fast, sometimes you have to work like the dickens for it.

Kitty Kallen took the latter route. She has been a name in the show world since the early '40s, when she sang with the Jimmy Dorsey and Harry James bands. She went on to success as a single, replacing Ella Logan in "Finian's Rainbow" and singing in the better clubs. She also became a regular with Martin and Lewis on their personal tours.

She made good money, but she worked hard for it too. She knew that the only way for a singer to get firmly established nowadays is via hit records, and she had never been able to make much of a dent on discs.

She sank $5,000 into a recording session. Decca liked the number, "Are You Looking for a Sweetheart?" and offered to release it. The firm agreed to sign her to a contract if the platter sold more than 20,000 copies. It sold 240,000, and she got her deal.

One day she was in the Decca office when a new song arrived from a couple of amateurs of Richmond, Va.—newspaperwoman Edith Lindeman and disc jockey Carl Stutz.

Kitty took a fancy to the tune and recorded it. The title was "Little Things Mean a Lot," and she reports that it has sold 1,900,000 copies in this country and is now No. 1 in England and Australia. She followed it with "Chapel in the Moonlight," another big hit.

"Sure, the records have changed my career," she admitted. "I was doing all right before. But when I played a club, I had to use special material and I had to work hard. Now they just want to hear the records I've made."

Decca is the parent company of Universal-International, so it was natural that the studio put in a call for Kitty's services. She now has one of the leads in "The Second Greatest Sex" and there's talk of a one-picture-a-year deal.

Nebraska Governor for Death Penalty

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Victor Anderson says he is a "firm believer in capital punishment."

He made the comment in reviewing the "wait them out" fight with eight mutinous inmates who holed up in the state penitentiary jail building with two guards as hostages. The rebellion began Sunday morning and ended early yesterday without bloodshed when the convicts gave up and released the guards.

"If there is ever a bill in the Legislature to abolish capital punishment, I'll be the first to oppose it," Anderson said.

While he did not say so directly, he indicated he felt the threat of death in the electric chair may have saved the lives of the guards.

Ex-POW Fined as an AWOL

Private Held 6 Years by Russia to Pay $396 for Absence

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Pvt. William A. Verdine, a Soviet prisoner for six years, was fined $396 today by a military court which convicted him of being absent without leave.

He could have been sentenced to six months in jail, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances. The 28-year-old Sarks, La., soldier will not receive pay for his time spent in Red prisons. A military spokesman said his pay would begin as of Jan. 29, 1955—the day the Soviets released him in Berlin.

The court, made up of three officers and four enlisted men, deliberated only for 10 minutes before returning a verdict. It reconvened to consider a sentence.

Verdine told the court he was tortured but resisted during his imprisonment including two years in the Soviet labor camp at Vorkuta in Siberia.

After the sentence an Army announcement said Verdine had been "returned to duty."

It was his first night as a free man since a roving patrol of East German police picked him up the night of Feb. 5, 1949.

Canine Mayor of South Miami Buried in Style

SOUTH MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—There was a funeral procession, flowers, tears and silent prayers yesterday for Stinky.

"Some people might think it silly that we could love a dog so much, but he brought us so much happiness and enjoyment," said Mrs. S. Wilhelm.

She and her husband, who own a funeral home, made burial arrangements. There was a custom-made casket.

Stinky, a 7-year-old brown and white mongrel, had been unofficial canine mayor of South Miami for six years, since the day a group of University of Miami students left him here. He was killed by an automobile.

Burial was in the back yard of Mrs. Sylvia Martin, the town clerk.

"He was a real gentleman dog," Mrs. Martin said. "He was a real politician, or rather a diplomat. He made friends with everyone. A lot of people could have learned a lot from Stinky."

Movie to Depict Hitler's Finish

Austrian Film to Show Last Days and Death of Dictator

VIENNA (UP) — A grim-faced group of men wearing Nazi SS uniforms carried two blanketed humans to a shallow grave near Vienna's Schwechat Airport a few days ago and doused them with the contents of gasoline cans.

As one of the troopers knelt to strike a match, a bawling voice ordered:

"Stop! Stop! we're going to do it all over again."

The "Nazis" relaxed and lit cigarettes. The "bodies" rolled out of the blankets and stretched. Helpers refilled the gasoline cans with water.

Then G. W. Pabst, the director, gave final instructions for shooting the most dramatic sequence in a new film called "The Last Act," a re-enactment of the last 10 days of Adolf Hitler and his mistress, Eva Braun.

The film's climax depicts the burning of their bodies outside Hitler's Berlin bunker in April 1945.

Erich Maria Remarque, who wrote "All Quiet on the Western Front," has scripted the new film from the book, "Ten Days to Die" in which Judge Michael Musmanno of Pittsbugh, Pa., reconstructed the violent series of events that led Hitler and Eva to suicide and ashes.

Original blueprints used in the construction of Hitler's underground bunker were used to build a replica in suburban Vienna. Most of the film is being shot inside the bunker.

Furniture, carpeting and wall pictures duplicate the real thing as closely as possible.

Hitler's private secretary, Mrs. Traudl Junge, who escaped from the bunker, came here to act as technical adviser.

The film is being made by the Cosmopol Film Company, with Carl Szokoll as producer. Szokoll, a member of the Austrian resistance movement against the Nazis, also produced "The Last Bridge," Austria's most successful postwar movie.

Szokoll, already under heavy fire from German newspapers and illustrated magazines, which claim the film's subject is "too delicate," said that "Hitler actually is not the main figure of my new film although he is in the center of the story.

"I simply want to hit dictatorship, show how dangerous it is if a nation's fate is in the hand of a single man, a manager of catastrophy such as Hitler was," he explained.

The picture stars Albin Skoda as Hitler.

Yanks Deal Blackwell, Gorman, Kryhoski to A's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some folks think the New York Yankees blew their chance for a sixth straight American League pennant last year when they sold Vic Raschi, star righthanded pitcher, to the St. Louis Cardinals before the season opened.

It's hardly likely that George Weiss, the Yankees' shrewd general manager, will be criticized for his latest deal—the sale yesterday "in excess of $50,000" for three players to the Kansas City Athletics. Two of the players not only have dubious futures, but dubious pasts as well.

The straight cash deal sent veteran pitcher Ewell Blackwell, reliefer Tom Gorman and first baseman Dick Kryhoski to the A's. Blackwell, now 32, established himself as the righthanded "whip" in 1947 with Cincinnati. But he's had his troubles since. The Yanks just put him back on the active list—he voluntarily retired last spring with a sore arm. He appeared destined for a release.

Gorman, 29, has been up and down in the Yanks' system since 1946. He had a 10-7 record in three tries with the Bombers. Kryhoski, 30, has been known to swat a ball out of the park, but at other times he's hit around .260.

Both Gorman and Kryhoski have played in Kansas City before, when that town was an American Assn. stopping place.

The deal was a whopping surprise. The Yankees reportedly had feelers out for Arnold Portocarrero, a solid righthander with the A's.

While the sale was being settled, the Yankees were involved in their final Florida game of the spring. It was an atrocious thing, finally ending because of darkness after 12 innings in a 10-10 tie with the Philadelphia Phillies. Johnny Kucks, the Yankees' bright rookie pitcher, and Jim Owens, the Phils' promising young hurler, were slapped around for the first time in their exhibition trials.

Baltimore and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader. The Orioles made off with the first game, despite only three hits, as Hoot Evers homered with a man on for a 3-1 decision. Pittsburgh got the nightcap 2-0, with rookie southpaw Roger Sawyer and righthander Elroy Face holding the Orioles to two hits.

Pete Runnels had three hits and a walk, good for two runs driven in, to lead Washington's 13-hit attack in an 8-5 decision over Cincinnati. Rookie Rudy Minarcin was shelled for six Senator runs in four innings.

Milwaukee and Brooklyn, high on the contender list for the National League pennant, battled 1-1 until the eighth. Then Jim (No-Hit) Wilson walked four and gave up a Sandy Amoros single for two runs that made it a 3-2 Dodger victory.

The New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians had a slug fest in their final Arizona game of the spring. Six home runs were hit, four by the Tribe, but Foster Castleman's single won it for the Giants in the ninth, 12-11.

Solly Drake, promising young center fielder with the Chicago Cubs, was put on the shelf by a broken leg and dislocated ankle in a slide during an intrasquad game.

BACK IN TIME — Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, reaches around New York Yankee first baseman Bill Skowron's mitt as he slides headfirst back to first in Wednesday's game at Clearwater, Fla. Divided Opinions

Coast Fighter Victor Over Aging Willie Pep

PARKS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Two judges gave Gil Cadilli a split decision over comeback Willie Pep last night. But the referee, writers and uncounted TV watchers figured Willie, aging former world featherweight champion, was the winner.

Young Cadilli, 22, of San Jose, Calif., started Pep's right eye bleeding in the fourth round of their 10-round fight before 3,000 Airmen and a national television audience.

Before the bleeding eye slowed him down, Pep, 32, had been building a good point margin over the boring-in California boxer, a mate of middleweight champion Bobo Olson in manager Sid Flaherty's stable.

Many Airmen booed the verdict. There were some cheers.

In San Francisco, indignant TV fans grabbed their telephones. Sports desks of both the Examiner and Chronicle reported a flood of protesting calls.

One phoning fan said the decision was so bad, "Even my children complained." Another said, "Boxing is getting as bad as wrestling."

Judges Eddie James and Tommy Bosnich each gave Cadilli 56-54 point victory. Referee Jack Downey called it 58-52 for Pep. The AP card was 55½-54½ for Pep under California's 11 points a round system.

Rocky's Beak OK; Says He's Ready to Fight

All Set to Take on Challengers During This Year

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano says he is ready for two title defenses this year—and that's how sure he is of his nose.

"My nose is okay now—I've boxed close to 90 rounds and several times have been hit hard on it without the cut breaking open," said Rocky, who was in Chicago en route to San Francisco to open training for his title scrap with England's Don Cockell May 16.

Marciano's beak was badly split near the tip in his last fight, with Ezzard Charles Sept. 17 last year.

The champion said if he beat Cockell without further injury to his nose he hopes to meet the Archie Moore-Nino Valdes winner next fall. They fight May 1 in Las Vegas, Nev.

"If one of them wins impressively, we'll be glad to take him on," said Rocky's manager, Al Weill. "We never refused to fight anybody providing he was in demand by the fans.

"As for Rocky's nose—we won't know for sure until he is hit in a fight, with six ounce gloves. That's why this match with Cockell is so important."

Anderson Sees Finish to Pro Football 'War'

Lion President Says Common Draft Would Solve Problems

DETROIT (UP) — Detroit Lion president Edwin J. Anderson said today his recommendation for a common draft date for the National and Canadian Football Leagues may bring about his prediction of peace between the leagues "within the next 12 months."

Anderson voiced his prediction in a radio interview (over station WJR) last night.

"All the difference between the National Football League and the Canadian League will be ironed out within the next 12 months," Anderson said in the interview.

He said the common player draft was the "best possible" solution offered up to this time.

"Someone may think of a better one before then but I'm sure we'll have an end to this needless battling for players within a year," he said.

"Canada drafts in November and the NFL holds its draft meeting in January," Anderson said. "Therefore, when NFL teams approach rookies, we find they already were contacted by Canadian clubs as early as November.

"We have no desire to maintain war with Canada, but we have no choice under these circumstances," the Lions president said.

"I want to promise the fans that we will field a team that will be in contention this year. Our league is strong and we expect to be around for some time."

Anderson also said the Lions "have nothing against Tom Dublinski" who jumped to Canadian football and avoided process servers when the Lions started legal action to retain him, "but we want him back," he added.

Hack Expects Better Outfit

Manager Sees Chicago NL Nine Moving Up From 7th Place

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Stan Hack thinks the Chicago Cubs will move up in the National League standings after occupying seventh place the last two years.

"We have to build a strong outfield and a pitching staff," Hack said. "One thing that will be apparent to our fans is that we have a lot more speed. I feel our defensive play will be much better.

"The big problems are center and right field and both jobs are wide open. Gale Wade and Jim Bolger are battling for center field now that Solly Drake is out. And Frankie Baumholtz, Hal Rice, Jim King and Ted Tappe all are in the running for right field."

Drake, 24-year-old Negro speedster up from Des Moines, suffered a fractured small bone and a badly dislocated right ankle in a slide at second base during a intrasquad game yesterday. He is expected to be hospitalized three weeks and out of action possibly for half the season.

After another intrasquad game today the Cubs will leave Friday for San Antonio, Tex., and a pair of weekend games.

Veterans Report College Boxing Is in Good Health

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — The World Series of college boxing opens today amid assurances the sport is in fine health.

Sixty-one boxers from 17 schools in the United States and Hawaii climb into the ring in quest of the national team title and nine individual championships. The first bout starts at 1:30 p.m. MST (3:30 p.m. EST).

The assurances college boxing is in good health come from two veterans in the sport, Crip Toomey, chairman of the NCAA Boxing Rules Committee, and Johnny Walsh, boxing coach at the University of Wisconsin since 1936.

Army, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania State announced recently they were dropping the sport.

Both Toomey and Walsh admitted college boxing would miss the four Eastern schools. But they expressed confidence the four colleges would continue intramural programs and eventually return to intercollegiate competition.

And, they said, the addition of eight other schools, mostly in the South and Southwest, more than offsets the loss.

What caused the four to withdraw from college boxing?

Both men agreed it was individual problems and not maladies which afflicted the entire sport. They pointed to Idaho State College, Louisiana State, Wisconsin, San Jose State and other institutions where college boxing is booming.

Chileans Riot at Soccer Game

Four Killed in Rush to Enter Stadium for Championship

SANTIAGO, Chile, (AP)—Football soccer fans, attempting to enter the stadium for the finals of the South American championships, got out of hand and caused a riot that killed four persons last night. Police estimated that approximately 50 others were injured in the "near panic."

Many of the injured were trampled and crushed by the crowd, which surged forward when the stadium doors were opened — catching many of those waiting near the entrance off balance.

Argentina defeated Chile 1-0 to win the championship, while Peru beat Uruguay 2-1 for third place.

Golfers Invade Wilmington for Azalea Tourney

Bob Toski Returns to Defend Title, Prepare for Masters

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Golfers and flowers vied for attention today as the seventh annual Azalea Open, a $12,500 tournament, got under way.

The city's million azalea blossoms, hit by a severe weekend cold wave, were not at their normal peak of beauty, but the sponsoring Wilmington Athletic Assn. was pleased by the golf prospects after corraling its finest batch of talent in the tournament's 7-year history.

The 4-day, 72-hole chase for top money of $2,200 listed most of the active tournament stars, nearing the end of their winter grind which began in Miami last December.

Even little Bob Toski is here, seeking to repeat his 1954 Azalea triumph when his 273 led the field by three shots. Toski, last year's No. 1 money man, has been on an almost exclusive exhibition diet since he won the world championship tournament last summer. But he's here to tighten his game for next week's Augusta, Ga., Masters as is Lloyd Mangrum, back in competition after a spell of illness.

They'll have their hands full with the competitively sharp Mike Souchak, Gene Littler and Tommy Bolt, each a double winner this season, as well as Shelly Mayfield Bob Rosburg and Eric Monti, all of whom have collected winner's checks during the tour.

Pressing them are Ted Kroll, Johnny Palmer, Fred Haas and Billy Maxwell who, although lacking a first place finish, rank with the leading coin collectors.

Three National champs, Ed Furgol of the U.S.; Pat Fletcher of Canada and Australian Peter Thomson, the British titlist, also lend class to the field of about 150.

The field will be shaved to the low 60 pros and ties and 10 amateurs after tomorrow's second round.

Chicago Bears' Suit Under Way

Pro Grid Team Seeks to Collect $325,000 From Canadian Club

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The $325,000 damage suit filed by the Chicago Bears Professional Football Club as a test case has been ordered to trial.

Federal Judge John W. Holland refused to dismiss the suit yesterday but set no date for trial.

The suit was brought against the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Professional League; Carl W. Voyles of Vero Beach, Fla., auto dealer who served as general manager and head coach of the Tiger-Cats in 1954; and James F. Dempsey Jr. of Miami, former star with the University of Florida.

The Bears claim Dempsey "jumped" his $6,500 contract to play with the Tiger-Cats last season and further allege that the Tiger-Cats "raided" the Bears squad through efforts of Coach Voyles.

ITALIAN RABBIT

Overnight soaking of rabbit in red wine gives this dish its appeal. Defrost your rabbit, cut in serving pieces, place in a deep dish and cover with red wine, setting in refrigerator to marinate overnight.

Melt 4 tablespoons butter in a deep skillet and in it saute until tender 2 medium onions which have been sliced and quartered. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour, add 1 cup of wine from the rabbit, 1½ cups water, 1 can mushrooms and liquid, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 bay leaf, ½ teaspoon parsley flakes, a pinch of oregano and ¼ teaspoon thyme. Bring to a boil, add rabbit, cover and simmer 1½ hours or until rabbit is tender.

Spartan Radio Man Was Busy for Six Hours

EAST LANSING—Bob Shackleton, sports director for Michigan State's radio station WKAR, was really a man in motion during the finals of the state high school basketball championships in State's Jenison Fieldhouse.

Within a six-hour period he did the following: Rushed his wife to a Lansing hospital; hustled to the fieldhouse to broadcast 2 prep games; after this game sped back to the hospital to greet a new daughter; bought gift cigars and made it back to the fieldhouse to voice two more games.

Eddie Arcaro Rates Nashua as Possible New Citation

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Arcaro, the nation's No. 1 stakes jockey, thinks Nashua is capable of becoming as great a horse as Citation — maybe even greater.

But, said Arcaro today, the future book favorite for the Kentucky Derby still has to prove it, and he would rather withhold the superlatives until he sees what the Belair Stud beauty does in the derby and the other Triple Crown classics.

Just in from Florida, where he piloted Nashua to a thrilling victory Saturday in the $148,750 Florida Derby at Gulfstream, Arcaro awaits the opening of the New York season tomorrow at Jamaica.

"Certainly, I've got to be awfully high on this dude, but it's a little premature to try comparing him with Citation. We know what Citation could do. He would smother his field.

"Now this Nashua, he could be anything — nobody can tell what the future will bring. He's not as good as he will be later — he won't level out and do his best—just enough to win."

Arcaro pointed out that last August when Nashua defeated Summer Tan by only a neck in the Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga, he should have won easily. Nashua beat the same colt by a scant head in the Belmont Futrity.

Pittsburgh Fans Like 'Less-Popular' Sports

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh's veteran track coach Carl Olson believes the people of this city could be made to like track and field, wrestling, gymnastics and other such sports.

Says Olson: "The interest is there. All it needs is proper promotion plus imagination on the part of the people who run the program."

Proof of the interest was the 4,000 who came to the Pitt Field House to see a Swedish gymnastic team.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, champions of the American League, also lead the circuit in the number of 10-year veterans. The Tribe has nine. Four are pitchers — Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn and Hal Newhouser. The others are catcher Jim Hegan, outfielders Ralph Kiner and Dave Philley, and infielders Hank Majeski and Vic Wertz.

Solons Sign Petition to Have UD-MSC Play

LANSING (AP)—Twenty-four state senators have signed a petition asking Michigan State College to play football with the University of Detroit, Sen. Charles S. Blondy (D-Detroit) said today.

Blondy said he had sent a petition with the 24 signatures to President John A. Hannah of MSC.

"The University of Detroit and Michigan State College are natural rivals and they would undoubtedly fill the stadiums," Blondy said. "MSC and U of D would both profit by this arrangement."

Bailey Takes Tebbetts' Warning, Begins Hitting

ORLANDO, Fla., March 30 (AP)—All this week Manager Birdie Tebbetts has said catcher Ed Bailey must prove himself to stay with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Bailey, 23, took the words to heart yesterday. The .197 hitter smashed a two-run homer in the fifth and banged a single which started a three-run spurt in the eighth.

The Reds defeated the Washington Senators 5-1.

Ready to Pay Off?

Harris' Youth Movement May Send Tigers Into AL's First Division During '55

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Bucky Harris takes over a "coming" ball club at Detroit where a youth movement is about ready to pay off in first division dividends.

Shortstop Harvey Kuenn, outfielders Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle and catcher Frank House already have made the grade. Harris thinks J. W. Porter will make it in left field and counts on solid pitching help from a crop of hard-throwing rookies.

"Everybody seems to think it's between Boston and us for fourth place," said Harris. "I think we've got a good change of beating out Boston and, if Chicago stubs its toe, we could move up into third.

"We're coming with a flock of good kids and some fine prospects in the organization. Maybe in two or three years it will be us instead of Cleveland or New York that they'll be picking to win the pennant.

"If Ferris Fain is sound, our infield will be all right. I would like to come up with a good, solid utility infielder and the front office is trying to buy one. As it is now, we've just got to hope nobody gets hurt."

Once again Harris finds himself with a young club, well along in the rebuilding process, and a front office that is determined to go all the way.

"I've got five kid pitchers who can really throw hard," said Harris. "All of them won't make the jump from the minors this year, of course, but I don't see how they all can miss. I may go North with as many as 15 pitchers."

The five Harris mentioned were Frank Lary (15-11 at Buffalo), Bill Fronts (7-5 at Buffalo), Duane Maas (11-3 at Wilkes-Barre and 7-4 at Buffalo), Paul Foytack (4-7 at Buffalo) and Bill (Bud) Black, just back from the Army.

Lary, 24, probably will take a place in the starting pitcher rotation with Ned Garver (14-11), Steve Gromek (13-16) and Billy Hoeft (7-15). The other starting job has been set aside for Bob Miller, the left-handed bonus baby of 19 who has made Harris' eyes pop.

Ray Herbert (3-6), George (Zinker Ball) Zuverink (9-13) and Al Aber (5-11) will handle the relief work. Bob Schultz (18-11 at New Orleans) also looks good.

Fain's knee operation of last summer plus the further complications of an accident during the winter, left the 33-year-old first baseman on the doubtful list when camp opened. He has made a slow recovery however and will open the season, barring a re-injury to the right knee.

Kuenn (.308) and Ray Boone (.295) are set at short and third. Bonus boy Reno Bertoia (.162) is the other infielder sure of a job.

The outfield is the real solid strength of the Tigers' youth program. Kaline (.276) is going into his third big league season at the age of 20. He has tremendous speed and a fine arm. Tuttle (.286) made it last year in center.

Porter is the fair-haired boy of the training season, a possibility for Rookie of the year. Converted from catcher to outfield, the former St. Louis Brownie prize, has nailed down the left field job.

Adams Says Canucks 'Will Be Rougher Than Ever'

DETROIT (AP)—Many think it's merely a psychological maneuver, but General Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings warns that the Montreal Canadiens "will be roughter than ever" if and when they reach the finals of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"They've forgotten about the Richard incident, and are playing serious hockey," Adams said. "Even though the Rocket is out, the Canadiens still have plenty of good players.

"If they beat Boston to get into the finals, they'll be rougher than ever. Remember, they would like to get even with us."

The Canadiens are within one game of getting another crack at the Wings. They lead the Boston Bruins, three games to one, in their best-of-seven semifinal series. The two teams play in Montreal tonight, and a victory will send the Frenchmen into the finals, which would open in Detroit Sunday night.

With 13 straight victories—one shy of the all-time National Hockey League record — the Red Wings are bucking the law of averages, and Adams admits it.

"The percentages are against us," he said. "There has to be a letdown sooner or later."

It is in fear of this letdown, many experts feel, that Adams is warning his team to beware of the big, bad Canadiens.

The Red Wings reached an emotional peak in the closing weeks of the season to nose out the Canadiens for their seventh straight championship. Whether they can continue the same brilliant brand of hockey in the finals remains to be seen.

At any rate, one more triumph and the Wings will tie the record of 14 consecutive victories, established by the Boston Bruins in the 1929-30 season.

The Detroit players are surprisingly calm about it all. They were relaxed as could be on the train ride from Toronto after completing the four-game annihilation of the Maple Leafs.

Their only gripe, in fact, was that Capt. Ted Kennedy of the Leafs refused to congratulate them after the final game. Kennedy shook hands with Bob Goldham, an old teammate, then skated off the ice. He didn't even look back at the other Red Wing players.

Team 9 Victor in Archery Loop

Members of the winning team are Tom Adams, Frank Lawrence, Polly Babin, Helen Orr and Joe Gannon. Adams also posted the season individual high score (free style) with 265 of a possible 300.

Jim Hargraves was high in instinctive shooting with 213. Polly Babin's 193 led the women shooters instinctively, while Sue Smith had 155 for the high free style mark.

The league will hold its banquet Tuesday, April 5, at 6:30 p.m. in the Drayton Presbyterian Church with dinner and archery movies planned. The league was sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation department and was instructed by Jack Smith.

Inter-City Amateur Bouts Slated Tonight in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's best amateur boxers will mix it up tonight at Chicago Stadium in the 28th annual Intercity bouts between Chicago and New York.

The big show is expected to draw 13,000 fans. It climaxes more than three months of city and sectional tournaments in 48 states and Cuba and will bring together the best available 16 amateurs from an original field of 25,000.

New York will be trying for an unprecedented second straight team victory in the series, having won 5 matches to 3 in last year's intercity bouts.

The Gotham battlers, however, lag far behind in the rivalry, having won only six times while Chicago has piled up 14 triumphs. There have been seven ties.

Chicago's chances for a 1955 team crown may have been lessened by the loss of two outstanding team members. Jess Bowdry, St. Louis 160 pound winner of Chicago's Tournament of Champions, was dismissed from the squad for disciplinary reasons. Dick Wall of Idabel, Okla., the 147-pound titlist, had to pass up the intercity competition because of studies at the University of Oklahoma.

Eight preliminary fights, starting at 9:30 p.m. (EST), will be followed by the championship competition. Team points are awarded only in the title fights.

State Outlines Stream Projects for This Year

LANSING (AP) — Work will start on seven river and watershed projects as soon as weather permits, the state conservation department said today.

Channel work, stream bank fencing and upland planting will complete a major watershed project on the Cedar River in Clare and Gladwin counties.

Workers will plant some 100,000 spruce trees along the north upper branch of the Cedar in Gladwin County.

Tree plantings and channel work is scheduled on the headwaters of the Manistee River in Crawford County. Upland plantings are scheduled on the Fox River in Schoolcraft County. Channel work is planned for the Huron River in Washtenaw County.

Survey and study work is planned on two other streams, the White River in Newaygo County and Pine Creek in Dickinson County.

Underdog Bruin Team in 'Last Ditch' Stand

Lose Henry and Flaman for Rest of Series With Canadiens

MONTREAL (AP)—The underdog Boston Bruins, down two games and beset by injuries, make a last-ditch attempt tonight to keep their Stanley Cup NHL playoff hopes alive against the Montreal Canadiens.

The Bruins trail Montreal 3 games to 1 in their best-of-seven semifinal series. Their chances received a severe jolt yesterday when it was learned that Goalie Sugar Jim Henry and defenseman Fern Flaman will be sidelined the rest of the series.

Henry suffered a fractured jaw Tuesday night when he was hit by a shot off the stick of Calum Mackay. He finished out the game despite the injury and was beaten 4-3 on rookie Don Marshall's overtime goal. Flaman received a Charley horse in the second period of the game.

Coach Milt Schmidt of the Bruins said Long John Henderson, who alternated with Henry most of the season, will be in the nets tonight. Don Cherry, a defenseman recalled from Hershey of the AHL, may fill in on defense for Boston.

Lynn Patrick, general manager of the Bruins, said he thinks Boston still has a chance to win the series and advance into the finals against defending champion Detroit. The Red Wings eliminated Toronto in four straight games.

Montreal Coach Dick Irvin said he plans to go along with the same lineup as he used Tuesday, meaning that goalie Jacques Plante will play the entire game. For the first three games Plante and Charlie Hodge shuttled back and forth in the nets.

Kaycee Park to Be Ready for AL Opener, April 12

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Municipal Stadium will be ready for 35,000 customers when the Kansas City Athletics make their American League debut against the Detroit Tigers here April 12.

That's from Bert Senter of the Winn-Senter Construction Co. which took on a special trades partner, Del Webb of New York Yankee affiliation, for the job of rebuilding old Blues Stadium up to major league standard.

Bill MacPhail, public relations director of the Athletics, said advance season ticket sales and requests for single game tickets indicate all of the 30,920 permanent seats will be occupied for the opener and that standees will boost the crowd to about 35,000.

Season ticket sales, including boxes and reserved seats, total about 5,100. The number is expected to be boosted considerably before April 12.

Senter said today that rebuilding — actually construction of a new stadium — was ahead of the time schedule.

Modern Living Making College Gridders 'Soft'

Unconditioned Knees Easily Injured Due to Lack of Exercise

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Modern living has made the knees of college boys so loose that they have to be conditioned before they are ready for football and other violent sports, the nation's family doctors were told today.

Many boys are so enthusiastic about entering competition that they have to be held back, and the help of doctors is needed to restrain them in some cases, said Eddie Wojecki, head athletic trainer at Rice Institute, Houston, Tex.

Wojecki was backed up by Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, University of California football coach, who said that the human knee was not made for the stresses of the gridiron.

Both Wojecki and Waldorf participated in a panel discussion before the American Academy of General Practice. They urged the family doctors to take more of an interest in injuries to athletes.

Unconditioned knees, Wojecki said, are subject to sprain because in modern everyday life the legs do not get enough exercise to develop muscles strong enough to resist twisting stresses.

Heights' Burton Ruled Out of Spring Sports

LANSING (AP)—A basketball player just can't be allowed to slug the referee—accidentally or on purpose.

That was the official finding of the executive committee of the Michigan High School Athletic Assn., meeting on the case of M. C. Burton, star center of the Muskegon Heights team.

Burton remembered "grabbing" the official and the official said he was hit during a mob scene that followed one of the state high school tourney quarter-finals.

Burton, husky 6-3 Negro, was ruled ineligible for high school competition for the remainder of the year.

Nine-Game Schedule for Tartar Grid Team

YPSILANTI (AP) — Michigan Normal announced today it will play a 9-game football schedule this fall. Only new team on the slate is Baldwin-Wallace, which replaces Wayne University.

The schedule:

Sept. 17—Hope; Sept. 24—Hillsdale; Oct. 1—at Baldwin-Wallace; Oct. 7—at Western Illinois; Oct. 15—Illinois Normal; Oct. 22—Southern Illinois; Oct. 29—at Eastern Illinois; Nov. 5—Central Michigan; Nov. 12—at Northern Illinois.

Injured Boxer Still in Poor Condition

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Bryan Thompson entered his second day on the critical list at St. Francis Hospital today after being knocked out in his first professional fight Tuesday night.

Hospital authorities said the 23-year-old Philadelphia Negro middleweight regained consciousness for a short time last night, long enough to learn where he was. Then he lapsed back into a coma.

Konno, Wardrop to Duel

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Two of the world's great freestylers were headed for a showdown today as the National AAU swimming championships open at the Yale Pool.

Ford Konno, Ohio State's diminutive Hawaiian, has passed up defense of the strength-sapping 150-meter championship he won last year, aiming his sights instead on retaining his 220 and 440-yard freestyle crowns.

Challenging him in both events will be Michigan's Jack Wardrop, 20-year-old Scot who has taken Konno's measure in the 220 in both the Big Ten and National Collegiate (NCAA) meets.

Konno barely edged Wardrop at 440 yard in the NCA championships last week. They'll meet in the 220 tomorrow and in the 440 Saturday.

Tonight's opening and only event an apparent tossup due to Konno's absence, has attracted 21 entries.

Highly rated are George Breen, of Cortland (N.Y.) Teachers, the Eastern champion; Bill Yorzyk, of the New Haven Swim Club; Oscar Kramer, of Argentina, and Oklahoma University's Graham Johnston, a native of South Africa.

Top swimmers from five continents are entered in the three-day meet, among them some 20 American champions.

Yoshi Oyakawa, another Hawaiian from Ohio State, is back to defend his 100-yard backstroke crown. He also took the 150-yard backstroke last year, but that event has been lengthened to 220 yards.

Other defending AAU champions are Harvard's Dave Hawkins, of Australia, in the 100-yard butterfly; Dick Fagden, youthful Rhode Islander, in the 220-yard breaststroke, and Michigan's Burwell (Bumpy) Jones, individual medley winner in 1954.

Trials and finals in 11 individual and 2 relay events will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

ABC Pace Revives With Changes All Down Line

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Scoring pace in the 52nd American Bowling Congress tournament picked up tempo again yesterday as changes in all the major divisions were recorded.

New names appeared among the leaders in the open team division, singles and doubles while the ABC auditors shuffled the all-events division around a little.

The tournament goes into its 6th day today and another big assault on the standings is expected to come by the weekend. Junie McMahon will bring his Chicago team into town Sunday. It will be the 1st 1,000 average team to make a bid.

Hotel Olds quintet of Lansing, Mich., fired a 2,877 on the final squad last night to move into a tie for 7th place in the team standings. Paul Vincent led with a 646, opening with a 234 game and following with a 212 and 200. The team had games of 976, 916 and 985.

The 3,015 shot by Howard's Clothes of St. Paul, Minn., still sets the pace. The total would have been good enough to win 20 previous ABC's.

The singles changes were also on the board today. Jack O'Leary of Cincinnati moved into a tie for 4th place with a 668 series on games of 178, 276 and 214. His 2nd game was the 4th best single of the tournament.

Charlie Dunakin of Paulding, Ohio, shot the day's 2nd best singles total with 665 and moved into 6th place. Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee still leads with his big 738 series.

John Conti and John Anas of Toledo, Ohio, altered the doubles standings with a 1,224 count, good for 7th place. Ralph Moorman and William Berding of Cincinnati are the pace setters with 1,260.

Deer Immobilized by Furious One-Day Storm

LANSING (AP)—The furious one-day storm that hit northern Michigan last week has forced deer to stay close to swamps and lowlands, the state conservation department reported today.

The department said that in some areas of the Upper Peninsula, the snow had piled up to three and a half feet—the deepest of the winter. Temperatures ranged from five below to 50 above.

The Gaylord and Traverse City districts were also hard hit by the storm. Less hardship for the deer herd was reported from the Baldwin, Gladwin and Mio districts.

Landry Returns to ND to Coach Frosh Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Jack Landry, former Notre Dame backfield star, has been named coach of the Irish freshman football team.

He was chosen yesterday to succeed Frank (Blacky) Johnston, who resigned to become line coach at the University of South Carolina.

Landry was a workhorse fullback for Notre Dame in 1948-50. In his last year, he carried the ball 109 times for 491 yards, an average of 4.5 per carry.

Billy Hoeft Escapes Bucky's Doghouse

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Billy Hoeft may be the kind of pitcher who shows his stuff only when the chips are down or when the opposition is toughest.

The chips were down yesterday and Billy knew it when he took the mound against the Boston Red Sox in the Tiger's last Florida appearance of the spring against outside competition.

The word was already out from Manager Bucky Harris: Show us something this time, Billy, or you'll be singing those bullpen blues.

After two previous appearance by Hoeft, both ineffecitve, Harris had decided that unless his young southpaw could show some of his early brilliance, he couldn't chance having him on his regular hurling staff. On top of that, Detroit was fighting a four-game losing streak.

Faced with Bucky's stern ultimatum, both Hoeft and the Tigers proceeded to come through in fine style as the Tigers whipped the Sox, 9-3.

Hoeft held Boston to three scattered hits in six scoreless innings, the longest stint of any Tiger pitcher this year. At the plate, Detroit pounded three Sox hurlers for 14 hits, with six players connecting for two blows apiece.

Hoeft struck out five and gave up only four walks in facing 24 men, six over the minimum. The Tigers held a 9-0 lead when he turned over the mound to George Zuverink, who gave up three runs in the final inning on a triple by Sammy White.

Hoeft also pitched his way out of a couple of tight spots, once in the 3rd with men on 1st and 2nd, and once in the 4th with men on 2nd and 3rd and only one away.

The hits off Hoeft were doubles by White and Jimmy Piersall and a single by Billy Consolo.

Detroit had a field day with Red Sox starter and loser, Ike Delock, who hardly looked like the same rookie who had pitchehd 10 scoreless innings previously. Ten of the Tigers' 14 hits came off him in his four-inning workout.

Red Wilson's triple to right field was the big hit for the Tigers in a three-run 2nd inning and J. W. Porter's triple to right center climaxed a six-run scoring outburst in the 4th that sent Delock to the showers.

The Tigers will play an intra-squad game today before packing up for a six game road trip that will wind up their exhibition schedule. The 1st will be played in Atlanta, Ga., Saturday.

Good With Trout Fly

Fishing Pal Discusses Angling Talent of Eisenhower, Finds Him an Expert

NEW YORK (INS) — President Eisenhower's demonstrated preference for golf over squirrels on the White House lawn might lead one to the impression that the chief executive is not a nature lover.

Such is not the case, according to Aksel Nielsen, a Denver banker, who is the president's favorite fishing partner. Nielsen insists that Ike likes fishing—dry-fly fishing—better even than golf.

Quite a few presidents have been posed, in efforts to "humanize" them, with fishing rod in hand, and many of them have managed to look stiffly uncomfortable as if wondering what the heck it was all about.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, is recognized as a real "expert" with the trout fly. In fact, he frequently has turned instructor at Nielsen's Colorado fishing camp, teaching the rudiments of angling to people like Jim Hagerty, his press secretary, Sgt. John Moaney, his valet, and the Secret Service men who tag along wherever he goes.

Nielsen, discussing the President's fishing habits with Alfred M. Lansing in the current Collier's magazine, indicates that Ike is a bit on the old-fashioned side when it comes to equipment. He still prefers a bamboo rod and a hand-winding reel.

The favorite Eisenhower fly, Nielsen says, is an obscure brown-and-white design called a house and lot "because it gets all over the place."

"He's happiest when the fish are giving him a play—when they're not terribly eager to strike, but are so darn intrigued by his flies and the way he's laying them down that they spurt over to take a look. You know—what fishermen call 'turning' the fish.

"Ike doesn't necessarily care about catching a lot of fish. He just likes to know he's turning them. It's competitive fishing—Ike outfoxing the fish."

First Smelt Run of Season Now Under Way

LANSING (AP)—The smelt are off and running!

The state conservation department reports the 1st smelt run of the season in Grass Creek, Antrim County.

With warming weather, runs are expected in other Great Lakes streams that are yearly producers.

State Body Opposed to Monroe Causeway

LANSING (AP)—The state conservation department went on record today as being opposed to a Detroit Edison Co. proposal to construct a causeway that would block the old channel of the Raisin River at Monroe.

Conservation Director G. E. Eddy said he had informed army engineers in Detroit that construction of a solid causeway would prevent use of the channel as an ingress and egress to Lake Erie.

Eddy said his department favored construction of a bridge or a culvert that would allow free passage of boats.

He said hundreds of property owners and fishermen in the Monroe area had registered objections to the proposal for a solid causeway.

Sanction Set for M-59 Oval

Pontiac Speedway Will Race Under Banner of NASCAR

Races at the Pontiac M-59 Speedway this season will be run under the sanction of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR), it was announced Wednesday night.

Ed Jones of Utica and Pontiac, named earlier this week as chief steward for NASCAR in this area, will supervise the sanction of racing in Michigan, including Motor City Spedway and Flat Rock Speedway, both leased by promoter Andy Barto, as well as the Pontiac track, managed by Don Pike.

Previously, Jones' organization, CARS (Continental Auto Racing Society), had been named as the sanction holder for the Pontiac track. Under the new agreement, it's NASCAR.

Points towards NASCAR's national championship will be awarded for races at the M-59 oval, thus drivers competing there will have a 3-way chance for honors, local circuit, state and national.

In addition the NASCAR sanction will bring nationally-famous stock car drivers in for one or two late model stock car races this summer.

Take It Easy!

'Itchy' Fishermen Are Told to Have Patience

ANN ARBOR (AP) — With fishermen caressing their equipment and keeping an eye on the calendar, a sympathetic University of Michigan professor says "take it easy. There are reasons to wait."

The 1st target of fishermen, says Prof. Karl F. Lagler, head of the University's school of fisheries, would be northern pike and pickeral.

Generally speaking, "when the ice goes, you can go," Lagler says, but he cautions that the legal pike season doesn't begin until April 30.

Lagler says its a waste of time to try to catch the pike while they're spawning anyway. But as soon as the spawning season is over, it is the time for action. Then "fish for them in shallow water, around reeds or other cover and reel slowly."

Lagler says that there's no closed season on the underrated suckers. "Even though they're full of small, pesky bones, the meat is firm and sweet. If you go after suckers, fish the riffles with small hooks, barely covered with worms.

But fishermen will have to wait for two of the best-tasting, most popular fresh water fish, walleyes and perch. Fish for them in the bottoms of deep holes early in the spring—but not too early; the season opens April 30.

"Muskellunge and bass get into the swim a little later," Lagler says. The best catches are made with slowly reeled plugs. Open season on bass begins late, June 18.

The challenging, dogged trout is safe until April 30. But some fish, notably the bluegill, sunfish, rock bass, yellow perch and crappie, are available all year round.

NBA Big Finale Starts Tonight

Syracuse Is Favored in First Game Over Ft. Wayne Pistons

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)— Pro basketball's final playoff series opens tonight with the home-court Syracuse Nationals favored over a Fort Wayne five that has never won a National Basketball Assn. game in Syracuse.

The Pistons, who eliminated the defending champion Minneapolis Lakers, must battle the Nats here twice before the best-of-seven series shift westward.

More than 8,000 fans are expected to crowd into the War Memorial Auditorium tonight. Another full house is expected for the Saturday afternoon tussle, which will be televised nationally with the Syracuse area blacked out.

Winter Weather Halts Swimmer

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — Continued bad winter weather last night forced another postponement of the scheduled attempt of Janice White to swim the Strait of Juan De Fuca.

A weather conference found that strong winds were still blowing in the strait.

Because of the unsettled weather, officials did not set a new date for the swim.

The postponement is the second for the 18-year-old Toronto swimmer. Originally she was to take off at 3 a.m. yesterday. Bad weather forced postponement until 4 a.m. today.

Miss White, daughter of Lester G. White, general manager of Dominion Magnesium Co. of Toronto, said she is ready to swim when the weather is settled.

The chubby 18-year-old wants to conquer the chill strait in a 22-mile swim, starting three miles from where famed distance swimmer Florence Chadwick made her unsuccessful attempt last year.

Harness Driver Will Direct Famed Farms

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Harness driver Harry Harvey is giving up competition to become superintendent of Del Miller's famed Meadowlands Farms near here.

For the past few years Harvey had assisted Miller as a driver. In addition to owning the farm, Miller is one of the top drivers in the country.

Harvey won the 1953 Hambletonian Stake with the filly Helicopter, a race which paid $117,000.

Bill McGowan was a major league baseball umpire for 30 years.

LaSorda Making Bid for Dodger Bullpen

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Tom LaSorda made a strong bid for the Brooklyn Dodgers' bullpen forces yesterday. One of only two leftys available for relief work (the other is bonus kid Sandy Koufax), LaSorda came on with the tying run at third to fan pinch-hitter Jim Pendleton on three pitches for the final out in a 3-2 Brook victory over Milwaukee.

'Name Bowl' Football Game Suggested to End Hassle Over MSC vs. MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — One very simple, yet practical and profitable, suggestion has been advanced to settle once and for all the name-change hassle between Michigan State and the University of Michigan.

It is this:

To have the rivals play a "name bowl" post season football game to decide the issue.

This would be a winner-take-all affair.

If the Spartans win, MSC co-eds would immediately rush out on the field to stitch a huge "U" for university on the Michigan State football jerseys.

If Michigan won, Michigan State would be forbidden for all time from seeking university status — even if prexy John Hannah comes around again with the request on the 200th anniversary.

The winning team would also collect all the gate receipts.

The swag would probably be enough to pay for changing the stationary at Michigan State if the Spartans won.

Or if Michigan won, another 50,000 seats or so could be added to the stadium.

As an added do-or-die incentive, the loser would have to accept and permanently display prominently the Paul Bunyan trophy donated by Gov. Williams that has received such shabby treatment.

There's a little matter of the legislature legalizing such an affair.

But the law-makers have said they are sick and tired of the whole business.

They'd like to get along to other matters they think are more important.

So with the promise that they would be allowed to go back to arguing over the highway program along with some handfuls of tickets on the 50-yard line, the legislators might be appeased.

For still another attraction, partisans of the two schools could stage a name-calling contest between the halves.

Just think of the gate the game would draw.

Titans Drop Tartars From Cage Schedule

DETROIT (AP)—University of Detroit has dropped its old rival, Wayne University, from its basketball schedule, athletic director Ray Null announced today.

Six Teams File Entries in 'A' Baseball Loop

Play Begins Week of May 16; Irish Re-named PBF Prexy

Six teams were represented at the first manager's meeting of the Class A City baseball league Wednesday night.

Included, with their managers, were General Motors (Paul Parks), L. C. Anderson Jets (Walter Drake), CIO 594 (Art Hearn), Don Nicholie Real Eastate (no manager named as yet), Auburn Merchants (George Shanks), and Elks 723 (David Lee).

The Nicholie team, which competed in Class D last season, will be composed of high school and college boys and has permission to begin play after the prep season is ended, which will be about 2½ weeks following the regular opening of the "A" season.

Action in the league, co-sponsored by the Pontiac Baseball Federation and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation department, is slated to begin the week of May 16. Additional entries will still be accepted and interested teams should contact the recreation department at FE 3-7131.

A meeting of the PBF followed the manager's meeting and Charles Irish was re-elected president for a 3rd term. John Abel was named vice-president and the secretary-treasurer is David Ewalt.

Trotters Assume 4-1 Edge on Collegians

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Harlem Globetrotters had a 4-1 edge over the College All-Stars today as their cross-country basketbal tour stopped off for an afternoon-night doubleheader.

Ed Fleming, the jump shot nifty from Niagara, joined the Collegians and scored 29 points ast night at Hershey, Pa., but it wasn't enough to do the job and the Trotters won 74-64. Walter Dukes led the Trotters with 17 points.

Cup Play on Video

While the Red Wings await the outcome, hockey fans in the area can watch the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins battle it out in their Stanley Cup semifinal round tonight.

The telecast from Montreal may be seen on CKLW-TV (channel 9) starting at 9:30 p.m. Montreal leads in the series, three games to one, and a victory in tonight's game would send the Canadiens into the finals with the Red Wings at Olympia in Detroit Sunday night.

Reports From Majors' Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Second Baseman Pete Runnels is the Washington Senators' leading batsman with a .372 average for the spring training season so far.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Manager Casey Stengel and coach Jim Turner, trying to set up six certain starters for the season, have tagged the New York Yankees' next pitching assignments for White Ford, Bob Grim, Tom Morgan, Eddie Lopat, Bob Turley and Johnny Kucks, in that order.

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Manager Eddie Stanky, who said his St. Louis club was the best defensively in his four years as manager, had good news from pitcher Vic Raschi before the club broke camp in Florida yesterday.

Raschi, sidelined with a slipped spinal disc, said he threw "extra hard for 10 to 15 minutes" and "outside of a little stiffness felt no pain."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Bobby Shantz, the Kansas City Athletics' little southpaw, apparently suffered no ill effects from being struck in the head by a hard hit ball. He was released from the hospital yesterday and will be able to start throwing again tomorrow.

COLUMBUS, Ga. — The Chicago White Sox gave Al Brazle, 40-year-old southpaw relief pitcher, his unconditional release before starting an eight-game, seven-city tour in Columbus against the St. Louis Cardinals today.

SARASOTA, Fla. — Lefthander Mel Parnell is ready to resume his role as the leading pitcher on the Boston Red Sox mound staff.

Parnell, two-time 20-game winner who sat out most of last season with a wrist injury, puts it this way:

"I've never had a better spring training. This is the 1st year I haven't suffered from shin splints since I've been with the Red Sox. I think it's mostly due to the conditioning program laid down by (manager) Mike Higgins."

North Carolina Frosh Clobber Cranbrook 9

The North Carolinians sewed up the contest with a 9-run outburst in the 1st inning.

Executives Get Twisted

By MARGARET LATHROP

My quest for today is to find a dramatist's head to break a bottle of champagne over and christen him "Executive's Defender." And I hope he will show up soon, before big business executives collectively jump from their capitalistic penthouse offices as a result of current undermining of their characters at the hands of script writers.

The "practical" business man has come in for rather more than his share of distortion, misunderstanding and downright misrepresentation in radio, TV and stage presentations. The executive, the boss, the head cheese has been made to appear either a knave or a fool—selfish, grasping, stupid and banal, or driving in cruel indifference the unlucky slaves working for him.

The novel has dealt him some body blows through the years. From the Babbitt, a pompous dumb bore of Sinclair Lewis, right up to John Marquand's new Willis Wayde, a pompous dumb bore with swimming pool, the plain business guy or industrial giant has been sold short.

Why? Writers don't really like executives very much. They don't know them. They don't understand them. And yet it is they who must interpret the personality of the man of business.

As a group, writers are inhospitable to the idea of working under supervision, an attitude which predisposes them against any boss. The thought of having to toe a line drawn by a "superior" sets literary nerves ajangle. The word-finding genius insists on being free—to work or not work, to say or not say, as the spirit moves him.

Small wonder that a recent TV play called "Patterns," which pictured an executive who wasn't racing around his office distributing aspirin and rose petals, gaily assuring the hired hands that working for him was fun, fun, fun, almost threw one columnist into a coma of delight. Delight that he as a writer had never encountered the torment of big business and never would, so long as his unsteady fingers could find the "I" key on the typewriter.

Where is the writer who has known some real life executives and is willing to write about them? Instead of collecting a few distorted shadows from sheer ignorance?

How about a story of a business tycoon who works not eight hours a day, but 20? And instead of implying that he reached the top by inheriting Dad's business, cheating the stockholders and cutting the ground from under three vice presidents — how about showing him digging ditches, stoking furnaces and waiting tables to go through college? Rising through the ranks as a result of ambition and ability?

And why not give him better dialogue than brickbats? "Okay, boy, let's quit horsing around. Shoot straight and talk turkey. It's a good deal!"

Even at the risk of weakening big business, it might be a good thing for some script writer to work under an executive long enough to know what he is talking about. On the other hand, the poor scribe might be so shattered by discipline and responsibility he couldn't write another doggone word . . . and where would we be then for entertainment?

Rubber Insulation — Devised for Motors

CHICAGO — The electrical engineer's dream of an all-rubber insulation system for electric motors has moved from the research world of experimentation into the practical world of everyday reality, on the basis of an announcement made today by executives of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee.

Using an extraordinary type of rubber derived from rock, development engineers at Allis-Chalmers have perfected a completely new all-silicone-rubber insulation system for large motors and generators.

This new kind of insulation increases the power per pound ratio, of electric machines and extends their service life far beyond the limits of machines built with conventional insulating materials.

This new life-giving, weight-saving insulation system, which displaces such standard insulating materials as mica, resins, asbestos and fibrous glass, is made possible by the extraordinary heat stability of Silastic, the silicone rubber developed and produced by Dow Corning Corporation.

Gina, Scelba Agree

Dearborn Unveils Fleet of Yellow Police Cars

DEARBORN (UP)—This automobile manufacturing city replaces its police cars every year. And it prefers bright colors—the brighter the better.

This year's fleet, unveiled yesterday, is goldenrod yellow. The 23 cars replace 23 that were fire engine red.

Said Mayor Orville L. Hubbard: "Dearborn Police drive bright-colored cars because they want to prevent violations, not trap citizens. In Detroit, they use black cars so they can sneak out and nab motorists or stop on a side street and talk to pretty girls."

GM Plans Dealer Clinic on Displaying Used Cars

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors today announced plans for a widespread used-car appearance clinic for GM dealers.

The program is to be introduced to dealers and used-car managers at more than 100 dealer meetings to be held in 28 training centers within the next few weeks.

W. F. Hufstader, General Motors vice president in charge of distribution staff, said:

"Immediately following these meetings, appearance clinics will be conducted at which we expect to train more than 10,000 GM dealer employes in the latest and best techniques of used-car appearance reconditioning.

"Those attending the clinics will perform interior and exterior appearance operations of all kinds. New methods of sheet metal repair will be introduced using plastic materials that are faster, better and more economical."

Gas Furnace Shipments Set Record in February

Shipments of gas-fired warm air furnaces set a new high for the month of February of 46,100 units, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. It was an all-time record for that month.

The estimate is based on a telegraphic survey of GAMA's house heating manufacturers expanded to represent the entire industry.

Wife of Rescued Jet Pilot Lives Up to AF Bravery

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — In the words of pretty Mary Ellen Legner, Air Force wives "are supposed to expect such things—but I don't think I'll ever get used to it."

She was smiling as she said it but the words didn't seem to come easily.

Brunette Mary Ellen, mother of an infant daughter and who is expecting another baby, is the wife of Lt. Ronald J. Legner, 24, the jet pilot saved from death in a spectacular Lake Huron rescue yesterday.

Lt. Legner's plane caught fire, apparently from burning unfired rockets, and he abandoned it by parachute. With a helicopter and other jets overhead, a fishing boat picked him up unconscious from the cold water.

At Selfridge Field base hospital he was reported recovering from exposure today. He'll soon return to duty.

"Air Force wives try not to think about such accidents," Mrs. Legner said, "but how can you when you hear the planes roaring overhead all day long."

Mrs. Legner, 23, lives at the base with her husband and daughter Patrice Ann, 9 months.

Lt. Legner recalled his experience grimly. But he was also happy to be safe.

"There wasn't much time to think when smoke began pouring into the cockpit," he said. "In another 15 seconds the plane would have been blown to bits."

Legner and another pilot were on a rocket-firing training mission.

A base spokesman said a "malfunction" in the rocket firing mechanism prevented their firing and apparently caused the blaze in the plane.

Legner was flying at approximately 4,000 feet at 600 miles an hour when he pressed the automatic ejector button that tossed him out of the plane.

"My parachute opened and after that I don't remember anything much," he said.

An Air Force board is investigating the cause of the rocket failure.

Mixed Market Moves Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market improved today after a mixed start.

Prices in early dealings went from between 3 and 4 points higher to fractions lower.

Bath Iron Works, which lost 10 points yesterday, gained 3¾ at 66½ shortly after the start today. General Dynamics opened on 2,000 shares off ¾ at 76 and then reversed itself and added 2¼ at 79. It was down 3¼ yesterday.

Baldwin - Lima - Hamilton, the most active stock of the past five sessions, opened today on 6,500 shares up ½ at 22¾. General American Transportation opened on 9,800 shares off ¾ at 61. Foster Wheeler, up 3¼ yesterday, gained 3 points today in early dealings.

Parke Davis opened on 4,500 shares up ¼ at 49⅞. It is one of the big producers of the new Salk polio vaccine.

Higher were Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), American Locomotive, International Nickel, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, and United Aircraft. Lower were International Telephone, American Smelting and Union Carbide.

Yesterday's market was sharply lower with selling concentrated in the final 30 minutes of trading. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1.80 at $158.50.

Parke Davis Tells of Salk Evaluation

DETROIT (AP) — Parke Davis & Co., which has produced enough Salk polio vaccine to immunize more than five million people, has conducted its own evaluation of Salk vaccine among 2,000 Will County, Ill., children.

The results, however, were not revealed in the company's announcement last night.

Parke Davis President Harry J. Loynd previously said it would take the company until May 1 to finish an order placed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Commercial vaccine made after May 1, Loynd said, will be in "extremely limited supply" at first. He said commercial vaccine will cost $6 per complete immunization.

Aeroquip Purchases California Company

JACKSON (AP) — Aeroquip Corporation today announced the acquisition of Marman Products, Inc., of Los Angeles, Calif., manufacturer of pipe clamps, flex joints and valves, for an undisclosed price.

Marman products makes the Marman clamp, widely used in the aircraft industry for joining pipes and other conduits, as well as for connecting accessory parts to jet and conventional airplane engines. Marman has also been active in developing related products, such as flex-joints, valves and strainers — essential components which can be inserted in pipe lines, and efficiently fastened using the Marman clamp.

Broomfield Makes Report on Area Legislative Issues

State Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) today said a bill to streamline the Oakland County Board of Supervisors is still under consideration by the Senate Municipalities Committee.

A highway financing measure, which might prove the beginning of an extensive road-improvement campaign in the county, is being fought over by a joint Senate-House conference committee, Broomfield stated.

The senator also reported on four other proposals designed to benefit this area.

The plan to cut down the number of county supervisors was offered by Broomfield at request of a special committee of Oakland's governing body.

It would leave the township supervisors on the board at their present 25 level, but reduce city strength from 64 to 43. Pontiac's representation would drop from ten to seven.

The plan would streamline the board at the same time protecting city supervisors from a more drastic cut now provided by law when total board membership reaches 75 as would occur sometime this year.

Wayne County also has ability affecting its supervisor-strength in the Municipalities Committee, said Broomfield. "I expect the Oakland plan will be reported favorably and passed, but possibly as an amendment to the Wayne proposal," he stated.

The highway bill was passed by the House calling for a hike in both the gas tax and truck licensing fee. The Senate passed an almost completely altered version calling only for 1½-cent per gallon increase in gas taxes.

A Senate amendment ruled out population as a factor in determining amounts each county would receive to spend on roads other than state trunklines. This would hurt Oakland considerably, said Broomfield.

A conference committee is attempting to work out the Senate-House differences concerning the highway bill, Broomfield explained. "I expect no action on the road bill now until after Monday's election," he stated.

The two legislative bodies are also battling over how soon Oakland County will receive a fourth circuit judge.

The House has passed amesaure authorizing Gov. Williams to appoint another judge to take office Jan. 1, 1956. The Senate approved the bill, but said the jurist would have to await election in Nov. 1956 thus not taking office until 1957.

Another conference committee is slated to debate the judge issue, said Broomfield.

Broomfield said he has compiled material on the spread of Dutch Elm disease in the Oakland County area and is preparing to ask for a higher appropriation to fight the tree-killing affliction.

A bil to set aside $100,000 to help finance joint state-local water supply surveys will probably come to the Senate floor for consideration within a week, the senator forecast.

Areas with greatest need, such as Oakland County, would get top prioririty for financial help in solving their water problems.

Broomfield said he is investigating a proposal made to the governor last week by Oakland Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore aimed at finding quarters for the large backlog of mental defectives waiting admittance to the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Moore advocated moving tuberculosis patients in the Howell Sanatorium to other TB institutions who have empty beds and housing feebleminded persons at Howell.

1.7 Million GIs Assured Raise

Eisenhower Will Sign Military Pay Boost Into Law Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 1,700,000 members of the armed forces were virtually assured today of a pay raise starting tomorrow.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he expects President Eisenhower to sign during the day a bill rushed to him by Congress late yesterday. Carrying out an administration request, it would aid primarily career servicemen.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote after about an hour of discussion yesterday. The House, which had okayed it earlier, accepted by voice vote some minor Senate changes.

The pay raise averages 12 per cent for career service personnel. It is estimated to cost 750 million dollars yearly. With a few exceptions, the measure provides only for raises in base pay, and in hazard bonuses for such specialists as submariners, divers, paratroopers and demolition experts.

Personnel in the lower grades would receive the largest percentage boost. Not counting food and quarters allowances, the pay boost averages out to 13 per cent for officers and 11.7 per cent for enlisted men. To benefit, officers must have three years of service and enlisted men and warrant officers two.

The legislation is aimed at halting what Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee told the Senate is "an alarming turnover" in the nation's active fighting forces during the past two years. He said that period had seen the "lowest re-enlistment rates in history."

Mother and Son Join Air Force, Train Together

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—When 17-year-old Charles M. Vines of Bessemer, Ala., told his mother last month that he wanted to join the Air Force, he hardly expected her to say:

"I think that's a fine idea, son. In fact, I'll join up with you."

That's how it happened that both Mrs. Mildred L. Vines and Charles are going through basic training at Lackland Air Force Base.

Although Lackland has had numerous father and son teams in training, it is the first time in its 13-year history that a mother and son reported for initial training.

The two were sworn in at Montgomery, Ala.

"I've wanted to join the Air Force for a long time," said Mrs. Vines. "Now that Charles is old enough I see no reason not to realize that ambition."

Give-Away to Deal in Unclaimed Property

Walt Framer Plotting Again

Strike It Rich Producer Creates Surprise Show for Unlocated Heirs

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Television producer Walt Framer, who made a fortune giving away other people's money, now has cooked up what he describes as a billion-dollar give-it-back show.

Framer, who owns and produces the daytime Strike It Rich and Big Payoff, says there's more than one billion dollars floating around the country unclaimed. It consists of forgotten bank deposits, corporation stocks owned by shareholders who can't be located, unclaimed real estate and the like.

He plans to bring the owners and their unclaimed property together on a TV show tentatively entitled Billion Dollar Bankroll. He estimates he can restore an average of at least $50,000 a week to the rightful owners with the aid of a firm that specializes in locating people who have moved about a lot.

The unsuspecting owner of unclaimed money or property would be persuaded on some pretext to attend the telecast as part of the regular studio audience. Then during the show he'd be called to the stage and presented with his windfall.

Starting date of the show and the network haven't been decided yet.

Mrs. Ike Sends Roses, Prayers to Doomed Girl

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has sent a bouquet of roses and "my prayers" to a pert 6-year-old blonde girl suffering from a brain tumor.

The girl, Linda Carpenter, of nearby Kent Village, Md., is not expected to live. The tumor was discovered after she injured her head last month in a sledding accident.

The White House said yesterday the First Lady sent the roses to Linda in George Washington University Hospital after reading about the little girl's plight. Accompanying the bouquet was this note:

"Dear Little Linda,

"I do hope that when this little note reaches you it will find you greatly improved. The thoughts and prayers of all of your friends have been with you ever since the accident on Feb. 3 and I wanted you to know that my prayers, too, are numbered among them.

"My best wishes to you, Linda,

Mamie Doud Eisenhower."

Says Mental Illness in 'Epidemic' Stage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators received testimony today that mental illness has reached proportions "in the nature of the greatest epidemic or plague" this country ever experienced.

Dr. Leo H. Bartemeier of Baltimore, chairman of the American Medical Assn. council on mental health, joined other spokesmen for medical and psychiatric groups in testifying before a Senate Public Welfare subcommittee.

Subcommittee Chairman Hill (D-Ala) and 29 other senators are sponsoring a bill to provide federal grants to some representative group of medical, psychiatric and rehabilitation experts.

Two Escape as Rock Ignites Car Gas Tank

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Two persons scrambled to safety last night just before their automobile exploded when its gas tank was ignited by sparks from a flint rock.

Mrs. Ruth Brilhart, a schoolteacher, and Edward Caldwell, her 81-year-old father, escaped unharmed but their car was a total loss.

Police said three teen-age boys rolled the rock down a hill and into the street as the car was passing. The boys, charged with destroying property, were released in custody of their parents.

Careful With Clothes

UNION, S.C. (AP)—Fire Chief J. W. Sullivan entered a smoke-filled dry cleaning establishment on his hands and knees to find the source of a fire. Inside, he saw a man checking slips on a long row of clothing. The man selected a pair of trousers and walked out. Later he sought out the owner of the shop and paid the charges for his trousers, explaining he hadn't wanted them damaged by smoke.

Bride Planning to Wed Physician for Third Time

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A young couple from Ecuador learned yesterday proxy marriages are not recognized in Missouri so they applied for a marriage license.

Dr. Pablo Davalos, a hospital resident physician here, married his 19-year-old bride Helena by proxy Feb. 25 while he was here and she was in Riobamba, Ecuador. She arrived here recently.

"For her it is the third marriage to me," Dr. Davalos said. "For me it is the first. She was married by the church and then by the law in Ecuador while I was here."

Said the bride:

"He will be convinced after this."

State Selects Negro for 'Mother of 1955'

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's nominee for mother of 1955, Mrs. Gonzelle Mathis Bailey, is the first Negro ever to be given that honor.

Mrs. Bailey has been nominated by the 1955 Michigan Mother Committee. She will compete for the U. S. title in New York City this May.

The committee cited Mrs. Bailey, wife of Bruce Bailey of Detroit, with her lifelong dedication to community work, maintaining her home on her husband's salary as a crane operator, and furthering the education of her four children.

A native of Waco, Texas, Mrs. Bailey was the first Negro woman in Michigan to join the Red Cross Motor Corps.

British Incomes Rise

LONDON (AP)—Personal incomes in Britain rose 6 per cent last year, from 38¼ to 40½ billion.

Pittsburgh is one of the foggiest places on the North American continent.

U.N. Emissary Off to Palestine

Canadian General Will Try to Bring Peace to Egypt-Israel Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. truce chief for Palestine heads back to Jerusalem today for a new try at bringing peace to the strife-plagued border between Israel and Egypt.

Backed by two disputing nations, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns planned an early morning huddle with delegates of the Western Big Three before taking a British airliner back to his Middle East headquarters.

The council condemned Israel Wednesday for its Gaza raid Feb. 28 in which 38 Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed.

In another session yesterday the 11-nation group adopted a second resolution calling on Burns to build up a campaign against the illegal border crossings he says spark the shootings and retaliatory raids.

The first step in his new peace program will be to set up mixed Egyptian-Israeli border patrols. With his U.N. officer observers, they will keep an eye on trouble zones where Arab refugees try to sneak back into their former homeland.

Sewage Plan Devised

FLINT (AP)—Flint and Genesee County officials have arrived at what they hope will be an answer to their joint sewage problems. The county is planning to build a disposal plant adjacent to the city plant on city property to be large enough to take care of future Flint needs.

Baby Care Classes Start Again Monday

Second series of classes in baby care, jointly sponsored by the city and county health departments, will begin Monday.

Designed for expectant parents, the eight weekly classes cover nutrition, hygiene, bathing, mixing formulas and anatomy.

Instructor for the series will be Miss Helen Clark, public health nurse with the Oakland County Health Department.

Classes are scheduled each Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in room 119, Pontiac High School. Registrations may be made at the first class.

Church to Employ TV

BALTIMORE (AP)—Palm Sunday and Easter services will be televised in a closed-circuit arrangement by the Northwood-Appold Methodist Church, which faces an overcrowding problem. The Church expects 1,000, but seats only 600. The arrangement would permit the left-over 400 to see and hear the services in the church.

Red China Will Maintain Memorial to Sun Yat-sen

LONDON (UP) — Gen. Morris (Two-gun) Cohen, former aide to China's first president, Sun Yat-sen, says Communist China has promised to perpetuate Sun's memory.

Cohen said he had called on Hu Han Hsiang, Red China's recently appointed charge d'affaires in London, to ask him if Sun's memorial in the Chinese Embassy would continue to be maintained and honored.

In October 1924 Sun was kidnaped by members of the then imperialist Chinese legation and kept prisoner for several weeks in an upper room of 49 Portland Place which eventually became the Chinese Nationalist Embassy.

Sun eventually was freed through the good offices of an English friend, Sir James Cantile, and finally returned to China to overthrow the Manchu dynasty and became the father of the revolution" which established the republic.

For nearly 60 years the room in which Sun was kept prisoner has been maintained as a memorial by a succession of Chinese ambassadors.

On Jan. 6, 1950, when Britain de-recognized the Nationalist regime, the embassy was vacated and has remained so ever since.

With the appointment of Red China's first diplomatic envoy last October, however, reservations were undertaken and there was some question as to whether Sun's memorial would be maintained.

Cohen, a lifelong friend of Sun Yat-sen, went to the Chinese charge d'affaires to find out about this.

"I was received by a counsellor named Li Hsin — a Cantonese," Cohen said. "He assured me that the room in which Dr. Sun was imprisoned would be maintained as a memorial in its original state. I asked him particularly if I could make this public and he agreed most cordially and courteously."

Cohen said he regarded Red China's avowed recognition of Sun Yat-sen as "most significant" and a "stepping stone" to China's peaceful unification.

"Although I am a member of the tribe of Israel I am not a prophet of Israel, but it is my belief that China will be unified a great deal sooner than the world at this moment believes," he said.

"When China is unified it will mean economic salvation for the United States and Europe for at least 100 years."

Repeat Performance

Head-Hunting Custom Stopped on China Border

NEW DELHI (UP) — India's Northeast Frontier Agency (NEFA) has succeeded in stopping head-hunting in the tribal areas that form the northeast border between India and China.

NEFA, which has been operating for three years, did the job without firing a shot. The task was completed by gaining the friendship of the tribes and persuading them to change their customs.

The job was not easy, for the culture and art of the tribes was based on the possession of human heads. The warrior who had taken the largest number of heads was entitled to the largest tomb after death and for him were built great bamboo horns, 400 feet long.

And for centuries the elders of the village have pointed with pride to the rows of human heads which they secured as trophies in wars against their neighbors.

There's Slip Indeed Between Seed, Weed

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — Cliff Hutchinson, Wisconsin Agriculture Department publicist, had to admit a rather embarrassing error.

In a press release he mentioned a meeting of weed controllers to be held by the University of Wisconsin Extension Service. He had the dates correct, but it was supposed to be a meeting of seed dealers.
