'Coup Against Indonesia's Sukarno Crushed'

DEATH NEAR — Five men, tied to stakes in front of a sandbag barricade, await death before dawn today in Saigon's market place. The five, convicted of criminal offenses, were in no way related to Viet Cong activities. Seconds after this picture was made, the men were executed.

Country's Fate Still Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials reported today, hours after a political upheaval in Indonesia, that the fate of the country was still unclear.

There was concern in diplomatic quarters here over the possibility of a Communist bid for power which could put the populous island nation under Red Chinese domination — but officials insisted that the Communist issue was as uncertain as any other for the time being.

Report President and Defense Chief Safe; Rebel Leaders Jailed

TOKYO (AP) — Indonesian Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution has crushed an uprising against President Sukarno and both he and Sukarno are safe and well, Radio Jakarta reported tonight.

The broadcast announcement came a few hours after a Revolutionary Council led by Lt. Col. Untung, a battalion commander in Sukarno's bodyguard, announced it had seized power and proclaimed itself "the source of all authority."

Study Gives Facts on Financial Status

Special To The Pontiac Press
NEW YORK — How well are Pontiac residents making out financially, compared with people in other areas?

What portions of the local population are in the middle and upper income brackets?

Most local families are doing better than they did a year ago and much better than five years ago.

As a result, more of them are now in the "over $4,000" income brackets and fewer in the lower brackets than is the case in most sections of the United States.

The findings are contained in a copyrighted study released by Sales Management. It details, for every area of the country, how its income is distributed and what share of it goes to each segment of the population.

OU Welcomes Bill on Funds

Oakland University welcomed yesterday's decision of the Michigan legislature to consider passing a $1.2-million excess college enrollment appropriation bill which had been vetoed in a slightly different form last month by Gov. Romney.

"With our enrollment up 36 per cent," said Troy Crowder, OU's director of public relations, "this is great news for Oakland."

The number of students at OU jumped from 1,812 last year to 2,458 this fall, according to official enrollment figures released today.

Reconsideration of the adjusted contingency bill was the major item added to an autumn agenda which now stands at 32 items.

Today is the deadline for introduction of bills concerning agenda items.

The $1.2 million had been included as part of the 1965-66 budget when Romney vetoed it.

The money was to be distributed to the state's smaller colleges in event their enrollments went beyond the predicted maximum.

SHARE FOR OU

Should the new form of the bill pass, it is estimated OU's share would fall between $100,000 and $200,000.

Romney said at the time of his veto that a supplemental appropriation could take care of excess enrollment if the situation arose.

Other state colleges and universities which would probably qualify for the additional aid are Northern, Eastern, Western and Central Michigan universities, Grand Valley State, Ferris State and Michigan Tech.

Majority Democrats had intended to add the item earlier.

QUICK ADDITION

In fact, such an appropriation bill already had been introduced and reported to the Senate floor from committee before Republicans pointed out the topic wasn't on the agenda. It was quickly added.

Cong Losses Reported Big

Day-Long Mekong Battle One of Largest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U. S. military spokesman today reported one of the biggest battles in the Mekong Delta in months, with 88 Viet Cong bodies counted and another 100 guerrillas believed killed or wounded.

The spokesman said four government battalions — more than 1,500 troops — fought a day-long battle yesterday with an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong about 20 miles west of My Tho.

U. S. Army advisers were with the government troops. U. S. casualties were described as very light.

The South Vietnamese suffered light casualties in the fighting, the spokesman said, but took moderate losses when the Viet Cong ambushed a river boat bringing reinforcements.

In the air war, B-52 bombers from Guam staged their 36th raid of the war. Their target was a suspected Viet Cong position in Quang Ngai Province, 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Four Americans were killed in the crash of a U. S. Army helicopter from the 1st Cavalry Division at An Khe. Enemy action was not a factor. Three other Americans were killed in North Viet Nam when the Communists shot down two planes on a bombing mission 55 miles south of Hanoi.

U. S. military authorities said one of the planes, an F105 Thunderchief, was apparently shot down by a surface-to-air missile. Three other planes have been reported down (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Official Appalled at Acquittal

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (UP) — Special Deputy Thomas Coleman, acquitted of manslaughter charges in the slaying of a New England civil rights worker, today still faced an assault charge and possible further action by Alabama's outraged attorney general.

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers declared he was "appalled" at the freeing of Coleman and an aide said Flowers was studying whether any further "legal avenues are available" for prosecution.

Coleman, 32, was cleared of manslaughter charges yesterday by an all-white jury in the Aug. 20 shotgun killing of Episcopal seminary student Jonathan Daniels, 26, of Keene, N. H.

Coleman still faces trial on an assault charge in the wounding of the Rev. Richard J. Morris of Chicago, a Roman Catholic priest, in the same incident.

Flowers, who attempted unsuccessfully to delay Coleman's trial so he could try for a murder indictment, said the acquittal represented "the democratic processes going down the drain of irrationality, bigotry and improper enforcement of the law."

U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said such acquittals "are the price we have to pay for the jury system."

"I think this kind of result is expected from time to time," Katzenbach said. "It is difficult to get convictions in some areas."

Civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King said the verdict shows that "justice is almost an impossibility in the South" and again points out the need for federal antilynch legislation.

He said the acquittal "will encourage others to perpetrate violence with impunity upon Negroes and civil rights workers."

The American Civil Liberties Union in Washington asked Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black to halt all court proceedings in Lowndes County, pending a hearing on charges that Negroes and women are excluded from the county's juries.

Lockheed, GE Get Call for 700-Seat Transport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has set out to build the world's largest airplane — the C5A, capable of carrying up to 700 passengers.

The task of developing a new producing airplane bodies, wings, tails and other parts larger than ever before flown, was assigned yesterday to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s Georgia Division at Marietta, Ga.

The 40,000-pound-thrust jet engines — four to a plane — will be produced by the General Electric Co. of Cincinnati.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara estimated it will cost about $2 billion to develop the plane, produce the initial Air Force order of 58 and place the transport in operation by 1969.

The air frame project, accounts for about $1.5 billion of the cost, the engines about $500 million.

The giant plane will weigh almost 350 tons, twice the gross tonnage of the largest U. S. military cargo plane now in service, the Douglas C133 project transport.

CARGO CAPABILITY

McNamara said the C5A will carry three times as much cargo as the Lockheed C141 jet freighter, which he called the most modern and efficient transport in the world today.

TRANSPORT DESIGN — The Defense Department yesterday announced the awarding of a multimillion dollar contract for development of the nation's largest transport plane, the C5A. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara made the announcement at a news conference, releasing this artist's conception of the plane at the same time.

County's CD Director: Scandal Is Unlikely Here

Chances of a civil defense scandal in Oakland County, similar to the one brought to light this week in Bay County, are very remote.

This was the observation of Oakland County Civil Defense Director Wallace C. Crane who based the statement on tight controls in effect here.

Crane said that all requests for civil defense materials from county municipalities and police departments must be approved by the civil defense office.

The municipality or law enforcement agency may then make the purchase at the federal surplus center in Jackson, which is operated by General Services Administration (GSA).

Billing for all such purchases goes to the county civil defense office which, in turn, bills the actual purchaser.

COUNTY HANDLING

All transactions of this nature are handled through the county accounting department.

Besides the tight controls on the purchase of surplus items for civil defense use, the actual use of these materials is closely scrutinized, according to Crane.

"If a given community has a certain number of gas masks in its possession, we expect to find this number of masks on inspection," Crane said.

Crane called the alleged misage of equipment and shortage of funds in Bay County an unfortunate incident which casts a shadow over all civil defense organizations.

LEVIED CHARGES

The charges were levied by the State Auditor General's Office following a six-week investigation of the Bay County civil defense operation.

Acting Auditor General Allison Green said his office also is pursuing legal action relating to Atlantic and Gladwin counties' civil defense functions.

Detroit Area Population Boom Is Seen

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's three-county metropolitan area will grow by 1.4 million persons to 5.1 million by 1980, a study released Thursday indicated.

The study was made by the United Community Services. Its results were made public at the group's fall assembly here.

The study predicts population will grow mostly along the Edsel Ford, the Chrysler and the John Lodge freeways, engulfing eventually Ann Arbor.

Detroit's Metropolitan Airport will become the focal point of a sub-regional center, such as Northland, and the area around Westland Center in Nankin Township will experience rapid population growth, the study predicted.

PUBLIC WELFARE

Public welfare agencies will have to cope increasingly with problems created by a growing percentage of old people, of broken homes and of children affected by such breakups.

Manufacturing will provide relatively less employment, declining from 41 per cent in 1960 to 35 per cent of total employment in 1980, and more persons will work in service businesses, the study predicted.

Over-all prosperity is expected to increase, but the gap between top wage earners, such as investment bankers and bottom-income workers, such as parking attendants, will increase, according to the study.

The study recommends that social service agencies decentralize their services to keep up with spreading population and charge fees as clients become more affluent.

Man Is Guilty in Knife Death

A Detroit man was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday in the fatal stabbing of a fellow worker this summer.

Joseph E. Strawther, 28, was charged with first degree murder, but an Oakland County Circuit Court jury returned the verdict on the lesser offense after deliberating about three hours.

Judge William J. Beer will pronounce sentence at 9 a.m. on Oct. 26. Strawther faces a maximum 15-year prison term.

Strawther was found guilty of the July 14 slaying of Quintan Williams, 39, also of Detroit, during an argument in West Bloomfield Township.

The men, employed by a Detroit lumber company, were tearing down a home on Locklin Road that had burned.

The dispute started when Strawther accused Williams of stealing his wallet, according to Sheriff's deputies.

Alaska is organizing boroughs similar to counties in other states to take responsibility for rural schools. The state has no counties.

Pontiac State Bank to Build 3 Branches

Construction of three new branch offices in the Pontiac area was announced today by Pontiac State Bank.

Milo J. Cross, board chairman, made the announcement.

Designed by Harry Denyes & Associates of Pontiac, all three offices will have the same Early American architecture similar to the four new offices opened in 1964.

Two of the projected branch offices are to be completed about May 1, 1966. Construction is to begin about Nov. 1.

These offices are to be located in Waterford Township at 3166 W. Huron, just east of Elizabeth Lake Road, and 4750 Dixie Highway, near Floradale.

RELOCATING BRANCH

The latter office will house the present Drayton Plains branch which is being relocated because of the lack of sufficient space and parking at its present quarters.

The third office will be located on Lodge, between Madison and LeBaron, across from the Pontiac Motor Division Engineering building.

Construction on the third office is due to begin July 1 next year with occupancy planned for Dec. 1, 1966.

Cross said all the new buildings would have eight teller windows, three drive-in windows, safe deposit boxes, night depository, new modern banking equipment and ample free parking.

afforded by "average income" figures alone.

The breakdowns reveal whether high average income in a particular locality results from a concentration of wealth at the extreme-end of the income scale or whether it represents a more uniform distribution among the population as a whole.

The report for Pontiac shows a high level of income and a better than average distribution.

On the basis of figures for last year, 70.9 per cent of local households have $4,000 or more in cash available to them out of their incomes after payment of their taxes.

It is a higher proportion than elsewhere throughout the United States, where only 63 per cent of the households are in the plus-$4,000 brackets.

The rate in the East North Central States is 69.1 per cent.

As to other groupings in the report, 17.6 per cent of the local families are listed as having $7,000 to $10,000 after taxes; 35.1 per cent fall in the $4,000 to $7,000 category; and 13.1 per cent in the $2,500 to $4,000 class.

Nationally, the figures portray a population that is growing more affluent year by year.

MINOR GAINS

Despite the good times, however, the Social Security Administration reports that only minor gains have been made in improving the lot of people in poverty circumstances.

It finds that there are still 34.1 million persons in that group, only 1.2 million fewer than a year ago.

Erratic Weather Prevails in September

After registering normal readings the first part of the month, September's weather took an erratic turn.

On the 18th, the temperature soared to 90, then reached the same high point the next day.

Not only was it warm and humid during the day, but nighttime temperatures fell to lows of only 70 on the 18th and 69 the following day.

Then, after a gradual cooling-off period, the thermometer fell to a crisp 38 the night of the 27th after registering a high of 82 and low of 40 the previous day.

The mean temperature for the month was 64.4 which compares to 63.7 for the same month a year ago and a mean of 69.3 last month.

MONTHLY RAINFALL

Rainfall in September was 1.75 inches compared to 1.15 inches in the same month a year ago. Precipitation last month was 2.24 inches.

Normal rainfall for September is 2.44 inches and the normal mean temperature is 65.1.

Despite below-average precipitation last month, rain fell 11 of the 30 days, with a half-inch downpour on the 22nd the highest recorded for the month.

Sunshine brightened 19 days of last month even though some rain fell on six of these days.

The greatest single-day temperature variance occurred on the 17th when the reading rose from 30 to 87 as a cool spell gave way to a late summer heat wave.

by missiles in North Viet Nam this year.

In Saigon, five convicted murderers and rapists were executed but a sixth man, reportedly a Viet Cong agent, was spared.

The execution took place before dawn in the market place. The government refused to say whether the reprieve of the sixth man resulted from recent Communist threats to execute more American prisoners if the South Vietnamese killed more Viet Cong men.

Reliable sources said the Viet Cong made radio contact with a U. S. Army observation plane. They said the guerrillas gave the position of the 41st South Vietnamese regiment conducting a major operation here.

Coup Said Crushed in Indonesia

nist, Nasution was considered the major obstacle to Communist demands for increased civilian control of the army.

Radio Jakarta, while under control of the Untung rebels, had announced formation by the revolutionary council of a new, 45-member cabinet with perhaps a dozen Communists.

However, D. N. Aidit, leader of Indonesia's party, was not a Communist party, was not on the list.

REPORTED SHOT

The government radio of Malaysia — a nation Sukarno has vowed to crush — reported tonight that Nasution was wounded in the attempted coup and General Yani and Panjaitan had been shot and killed. There was no confirmation.

The power move by Untung began yesterday, Radio Jakarta had reported, when Untung declared that certain generals and the CIA planned a coup.

The revolutionary council labeling its movement the "30th of September operation," had moved rapidly to attempt to secure its hold.

It had announced it would establish civilian-military councils in the provinces, districts and villages.

Untung is a shadowy unknown, unlisted in military lineups because of his relatively low rank.

Sukarno has been playing military officials and Communist party officials against each other to preserve a balance of power, but recently he has been increasingly responsive to the communist demands.

Indonesian Communists have repeatedly called for a break in relations with the United States, but Sukarno had not done so despite his opposition to U.S. policies in Southeast Asia.

T. E. revolutionary council, during its control of Radio Jakarta, declared that the CIA "has been very active lately, especially after President Sukarno was seriously ill in the first week of August this year."

Chamber of Commerce Moving to New Office

BIRMINGHAM — Today is moving day for the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce.

After spending three weeks in temporary quarters, chamber administrators have moved into a suite "that's a little less temporary."

The new quarters are in Room 251 of the Briggs Building.

The chamber was among those businesses and professions routed from offices in the Savings and Loan Building by a Labor Day fire.

The second floor of the building was gutted and much of the first floor destroyed in the blaze.

SHIFTS OPERATION
So the chamber temporarily shifted its operations base to 850 E. Maple, as the guests of three local attorneys.

Its new suite includes two rooms, which executive director Knowles Smith is attempting to furnish with pieces either borrowed or received as gifts.

Desks, chairs, a file cabinet, typewriters and office machines still are needed, Smith said.

He noted that surplus mimeograph and adding machines are a little hard to come by.

REGULAR HOURS

Now located — if not settled — in its own office, the chamber will maintain regular weekday hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Meanwhile, the chamber's house and quarters committee is attempting to work out a permanent arrangement.

Some 150 persons are expected to attend the Monday night Ladies Night program of the Birmingham Hi-12 Club.

The evening will begin with a 6:30 dinner at the Community House.

Car Trade Pact Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's controversial auto trade pact with Canada will be put into effect the new auto trade pact with Canada won Senate approval Thursday night by a 54-18 roll call vote.

The measure goes back to the House, which passed it previously, for consideration of amendments attached by the Senate.

If the House balks at the changes, the bill would go to a conference committee for an attempt at evolving a compromise.

The bill would permit the tariff-suspending trade agreement, signed by the U.S. and Canadian governments last January, to go into immediate operation. It was negotiated with the understanding that Congress must give its consent.

LBJ to Sign Immigration Bill at Statue of Liberty

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has chosen the Statue of Liberty for signing into law the historic immigration reform bill.

He'll fly to New York Sunday and sign the measure at the base of the statue, a beacon to millions of immigrants who flocked to America's shores.

The President will remain in New York overnight to meet with Pope Paul VI Monday. The House approved the immigration bill Thursday by a vote of 320 to 69. The Senate then sent it to the President by voice vote.

STRONG BACKING

Sponsors of the measure, which had the strong backing of the President and of his predecessor, John F. Kennedy, say it will increase immigration to the United States to 355,000 a year, about 60,000 more than at present.

The measure will repeal in three years the national origins formula under which Eastern hemisphere nations received immigration quotas in proportion to their share of the U.S. population in 1920.

The effect was to encourage immigration from northern Europe and discourage that from southern and eastern Europe. Opponents of the quota system called that formula discriminatory.

The bill sets an annual ceiling of 170,000 on Eastern Hemisphere immigration and 120,000 on Western Hemisphere. The Western Hemisphere quota, effective July 1, 1968, is the first of its kind.

OUTSIDE QUOTA

Husbands, wives, minor children and parents of U.S. citizens will be admitted outside the quotas.

But no more than 20,000 may be admitted each year from any country outside the Western Hemisphere.

The signing ceremony will be carried out at a desk to be set up at the base of the statue—a gift from the people of France in 1886—on Liberty Island, formerly Bedloe's Island.

Johnson will be the third president to visit the island. The first was Grover Cleveland who dedicated the 151-foot statue in 1886. Franklin D. Roosevelt went there on Oct. 28, 1936 to mark the 50th anniversary of its dedication.

Volcanoes Add Riches to Soil

WASHINGTON — Despite the death, havoc and devastation caused by volcanoes, they are not all bad.

More than 500 volcanoes are active today, most of them lying along the so-called "ring of fire," a belt circling the edges of continents surrounding the Pacific Ocean.

Some of the world's most violent volcanoes have erupted on this belt.

Although volcanoes have caused much loss of life and destruction, they have also been responsible for the formation of great plains, such as the Deccan Plateau of India and the Columbia River plateau in the U.S.

They have also built such islands as the Aleutians, Hawaii and Iceland.

RICH NUTRIENTS

A volcanic eruption adds such rich nutrients as potash to the soil, helping to create good farmland.

Useful gases are brought to the surface from deep inside earth, such as sulfur that changes into a solid.

Tin, tungsten and gold, as well as other metals, have been brought up from the hot inner depths of the earth to where they can be mined.

Many diamonds have been found in necks of old volcanoes.

'RING OF FIRE'

The Pacific "Ring of Fire" stretches along the Aleutian Islands, down through Japan and the Philippines, into Indonesia and up the western coasts of South and North America.

The Mt. Taal volcano, which erupted so disastrously for the first time in 54 years on Sept. 28, is part of the "Ring of Fire."

Another active volcanic area lies in the Mediterranean Sea, including the tiny island of Vulcano that gave the fiery mountains their name.

The Romans believed that the hot lava fragments and clouds of ash, spattering from the mountain's chimney, came from the underground forge of Vulcan, blacksmith of the gods, as he hammered out thunderbolts for Jupiter, king of the gods, and weapons for Mars, god of war.

Bill to Remove Big Mac Tolls Faces Uncertain Legislative Future

LANSING (AP)—The legislative body that have swirled for years around the $100 million Mackinac Bridge were muddled a little more Thursday with appearance of a bill to eliminate tolls entirely.

The measure, sponsored by six House Democrats, was filed for introduction, but for some unexplained reason was not actually introduced in the House.

Two other measures were introduced Wednesday — one Republican, one Democratic. The Democratic measure received prompt committee approval.

Some Senate leaders, meanwhile, are predicting that any bridge legislation has virtually no chance in that chamber this fall.

LATEST MEASURE

The latest measure calls for immediate lifting of the tolls, a four-year gasoline tax of one cent per gallon to pay the cost of maintaining the bridge and to buy back the $99.8 million in revenue bonds still outstanding against the structure.

It calls for abolition of the Mackinac Bridge Authority as soon as the bonds are paid off and the transfer of the bridge and all property to the Highway Department.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Arthur Law, D-Pontiac, did not appear to have the blessing of the House leadership, without which it would have little chance of passage.

Signing the bill with Law were Democratic Reps. Bill Huffman of Madison Heights, Albert Sheridan of Taylor, Bruce Monks of Mount Clemens and Warren Goemaere of Roseville. Bridge tolls now are $3.75 one way for passenger cars.

U.S. Takes New View of Space Defense Map

Ever since the United States unexpectedly found itself left at the starting gate in a race with the Soviet Union to exploit the uses of space, the military potentialities of that new environment have been subject of debate, indecision and postponement.

For various reasons, not the least of which has been our desire to confine war or the possibility of war to the surface and near-surface of the planet, the military has been relegated to a back seat in our national space programs.

Such a policy, critics have long argued, makes about as much sense as telling the Navy to keep out of the ocean.

This is not to say that the secondary role has not been an active or productive one. Besides the development of new systems and techniques, scores of secret satellites have been launched to perfect spies-in-the-sky that can carry out photo reconnaissance of the earth, detect nuclear explosions, spot the blast-offs of missiles.

And, of course, every U.S. space project from Explorer I to Gemini V, has produced scientific fallout ultimately having military applications.

Now, nearly eight years after the first Sputnik, we have announced our intention to orbit five Manned Orbital Laboratories, beginning in 1968.

Consisting of a Gemini capsule attached to a 42-foot-long cylinder, which will serve as laboratory and living quarters for two men on month-long flights, they will be designed, in the words of the President, to provide "new knowledge about what man is able to do in space" in terms of the defense of the Nation.

Whether the U.S.S.R. has anything comparable in the planning has not been revealed. There is no doubt that it possesses the capability.

Given that capability in the kind of world we live in, the MOL is a regrettable but necessary elevation into outer space of man's age-old need to be forearmed against his fellowman on earth.

W. Germany Election a Vote for Democracy

The recent national election in West Germany accomplished two positive ends, both favorable to the United States and the West:

It made Chancellor Ludwig Erhard his own man; It released Bonn from the grip of the tenaciously arbitrary hand of venerable Konrad Adenauer.

As Minister of Economics in Chancellor Adenauer's cabinet, ERHARD had long been recognized as the guiding light in West Germany's amazing economic recovery since World War II.

But two years ago, as the time came for the aging Adenauer to relinquish the reins of power, he unaccountably opposed the decision of Christian Democratic Party chiefs to name ERHARD as his successor.

The election more than established ERHARD as the nation's leader in his own right. With 87 per cent of the electorate casting ballots (American voters please note), the chancellor gained a 2 per cent increase of the popular vote over that given Adenauer in the election four years ago.

Although Adenauer had long professed friendship for the United States and its international objectives, he had shown contradictory tendencies with respect to nationalist issues.

He had drawn increasingly close to French President Charles de Gaulle as the latter took aim on two key elements of German policy: A strong, unified NATO organization; and a progressive, viable Common Market concept.

ERHARD, on the other hand, is a dedicated supporter of free trade in Europe and between Europe and the other Atlantic nations. He wants to see Britain in the Common Market.

Above all, the election shows West Germany's post-war democracy continuing to function smoothly and with a high degree of stability. Nothing could be more comforting at a time when governments around the world are distinguished mainly by instability, dissension and insecurity.

People should oppose nudism primarily for the reason that in nearly all cases, the less one sees of a person's anatomy, the better he or she looks—especially he.

Supreme Court Needs a Writer

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The present Supreme Court, thoroughly sensitive and responsive to the times and perhaps the most courageous court in American history, is in one way as old-fashioned as its ancestors.

That's in the way it writes its opinions. Too often they sound like a private dialogue with the legal profession. And too many are tough going even for lawyers.

The reason: Ramblings, obscurities, poor organization, lack of literary discipline, and the failure to keep the reader always in mind, whether he's a lawyer or not.

There might have been some excuse for this in the 19th century when the court dealt with problems which did not affect the general public as quickly or directly as today. But today there is no excuse.

The court, like any agency of government, has an obligation to reach the people as clearly as possible. For its own sake the court should try, since it has long been under angry and often distorted criticism.

In this problem of letting the people understand its actions, the court could be doing for itself what it is now depending on others to do for it.

Before the opinions are published in law books — called United States Reports — the court's official reporter, with the justices' approval, prefaces these opinions with explanations called "headnotes."

If lawyers need this additional enlightenment, the average reader certainly does.

Justice Tom Clark provided a beautiful example of how it could be done earlier this year when he wrote the majority opinion throwing out the conviction of Billie Sol Estes for swindling because his trial was televised against his will. Clark stated the problem and decision in the first paragraph.

ALL COULD UNDERSTAND

No one able to read could have had trouble understanding the whole opinion. A professor of law at Catholic University here, Arthur John Keefe, writing last May in the American Bar Journal, said: "If the Vatican can reform its church procedures, the Supreme Court ought to be able to come into the 20th century."

Topics Vary for Red Congress

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — The planned Communist party congress scheduled for this spring probably will be held in March.

Reliable sources also say the party's 23rd congress in Moscow will deal with the ideological state of the Communist world in the post-Khrushchev era.

It also will take up the economic and political structure of the Soviet Union as well as Soviet leadership and the state of the world Communist movement, the sources say.

The Sino-Soviet conflict, it was reported, will figure prominently in the discussions, along with the future of the concept of peaceful coexistence with the West.

A decision in principle to call a new full-dress Soviet party congress was taken by the party's Central Committee which just ended a three-day meeting in Moscow with decisions on major industrial reforms.

Their key target is to provide industry with great incentives to cater for real consumer and investment needs, instead of aiming at the mere fulfillment of fictitious quotas, laid down by central authorities and often divorced from reality.

The Supreme Soviet was to meet today to approve the Central Committee's plans. But the major ideology decisions have been reserved for the projected party congress which may involve problems of the Kremlin political and party leadership, the sources said.

The great issue to be tackled is the rift in the Communist camp and the relationship with China which has been going on from had to worse and has been virtually paralyzing the Kremlin's freedom of action.

Peking has made considerable inroads into Moscow's influence in the Communist world and in the battle for leadership of the unaligned nations in Africa, Asia and Latin America, though not as much as is claimed by the Mao Tse-tung regime.

Efforts to find some accommodation with Peking by the successors of ousted Premier Nikita Khrushchev have failed.

Peking has lately been attacking them savagely for following an imperialist course in collusion with alleged United States aggression.

Lately, there have been suggestions from among the pro-Soviet Communists that the time can no longer be put off when a clear-cut decision must be taken for Moscow and Peking to part publicly because the continued feud is seriously undermining the entire international Communist movement.

Another important issue to be tackled is the future relationship within the Soviet bloc where the growing trend toward greater independence is necessitating a reorganization of the Warsaw Pact alignment.

The party congress, it was hinted, also may provide the occasion for possible shifts within the Soviet leadership which have not taken place during the current Central Committee meeting.

Loss of 2 'Ghosts' Leaves Big Gap on LBJ Team

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's loss this month of two of his top wordsmiths pointed up, in a more conspicuous manner than usual, the importance of a chief executive's speech-writing team.

For Johnson, as well as his predecessors, the planning and processing of speeches is a team effort with the President setting forth an outline of what he wants and then acting as final editor—or rewriter—of what he accepts.

Every team has its standouts, and for Johnson over the last year or more, the top-notch prose was Richard N. Goodwin, a 32-year-old phrasemaker who did almost as much writing of 1960 campaign speeches for the late President John F. Kennedy as Theodore Sorenson did.

Goodwin was able to make a transition from JFK style to LBJ style and authored some of the current President's major addresses.

These included the 1964 speech at Ann Arbor, Mich., that launched the "Great Society" as a program and a slogan, and the Howard University speech this year that gives unprecedented depth to presidential concern—and intentions for action—in the field of Negro rights and responsibilities.

RESTLESS IN ANONYMITY But Goodwin, restless in the anonymity of ghostwriting for two presidents, decided to accept a $15,000 fellowship at Wesleyan University's Center for Advanced Studies.

The other departing staff man with a flair for words is Horace Busby Jr., who apparently did more writing for Johnson as vice president than in the White House.

Busby has been given informal credit for the Gettysburg, Pa., speech several years ago in which Johnson noted that Lincoln had freed the slaves a century ago but that Negroes still were not fully free in this country.

But Busby, after formally joining the White House staff in April 1964—reluctantly, because of a wish to stay in his management consulting and newsletter business—got few major speech-writing assignments. Over recent months, he was Cabinet secretary.

Whether this was why he decided to leave as of next Friday, or whether some other reason was behind his decision, is something that only Busby and Johnson know at present.

Who are the President's speech-writers now that Goodwin and Busby are gone? Presidential assistants Jack Valenti, Harry McPherson, Douglas Cater, McGee Bundy, and several others play a big role in that department. Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers used to and may again.

But there are reports around the White House that Johnson is shopping around now for someone else to fill Goodwin's shoes. And probably for more than one, as adjournment of Congress nears and prospects rise for a cross-country speaking trip by Johnson this fall.

Yet Different

The Washington Evening Star

There was one more demonstration in front of the White House but it was different from any of recent memory. The demonstrators, who came from many parts of the country to the number of 10,000, were all respectably dressed and well-kempt. Women wore dresses. Men wore shirts and ties and many, despite the heat, carried suit coats over their arms. They were shod in socks and shoes, not sandals. There were no beards and hair was trimmed neatly.

More unusual still, the object of the demonstrators' protest was not the United States government, but the government of the Soviet Union. From Lafayette park, the demonstrators marched to a petition of protest against Soviet treatment of Jews in Russia. Not surprisingly, no one answered the door at the embassy. The group returned to the park, where a light will

'State Needs Facilities for Retarded Children'

Now that Ricky Thorpe has made the front page, it must be obvious there is an extreme need for facilities for these children in Michigan. Since retarded children are in the minority, it's time those of us with normal children joined with parents of the retarded to demand action. Many of these children, when given the proper care early enough, can be taught to lead constructive lives. I urge you to write to our Governor and demand that action be taken.

'Adults Just Watched as Youth Was Beaten'

What's wrong with the human society? Last Friday when Rochester played Utica in football, a 14-year-old Utica youth was severely beaten on Rochester High School property.

Adults sat and watched this take place and no one would come to the boy's aid or bother to call the police until the youth's sister ran to the school and called for help.

Were they all afraid of getting involved? Suppose this boy would have been killed, would they be proud to say they saw it happen?

Urges Citizens to Watch for Opportunists

There is a move afoot by extremist groups throughout the United States to take over the various levels of the PTA. These groups, PTA and the extremists, can be the breeding ground for great difficulty in maintaining personal liberty.

An organization called "Let Freedom Ring," launched an attack on the PTA for cooperating with the Federal Education Office and for supporting UNICEF, saying that these moves would lead to a federalized system of education and contributed to the cause of world government. UNICEF is there to help children.

Watch for these people who will attack without trying to understand. They sport liberty, yet they would deny others the right to question information and its sources. They deny people the right to their opinion. Watch them, they are opportunists.

'Are Our Legal Society Efforts Duplicated?'

Is the title "Friend of the Court" a misnomer? It appears this office is nothing more than a built-in lobby for ex-wives to the judges of this county.

Would it not be better for either party having a gripe to hire an attorney to process the case as they would in an original divorce case? Through investigation the Friend of the Court could give an honest and unbiased opinion. We have a legal aid society and I do not think we should duplicate its efforts.

burn until today as a sign that the oppressed Jews in Russia are remembered in America.

It is a cause that all Americans can sympathize with, even though not much can be done beyond what has been done. The speakers at Sunday's gathering said the question should be brought before the United Nations, but, again, there is no reason to hope for much from such a discussion.

Beyond agreement with the cause at issue, the demonstration itself furnishes a needed reminder that orderly protest can still take place without benefit of unmanly conduct, that other nations besides our own can furnish Americans with cause for alarm, and, finally, that the often derided American middle class, and for that matter the middle-aged, are quite capable of reasoned and deeply felt protest against injustice.

A Sudden Expert

The Memphis Commercial Appeal

Dr. Martin Luther King has been very busy with civil rights ever since he became famous. Hardly a week goes by without a visit to some distant spot, in addition to his numerous regular chores.

We would have considered it impossible for him to crowd into his busy schedule a study of foreign affairs, wars around the world and faults of the United Nations. But here he is announcing that Red China should become a member of the United Nations and that bombing of North Viet Nam should be stopped.

Sen. Thomas Dodd D-Conn. has spoken for a great many of us when he says Dr. King "has absolutely no competence to speak about complex matters of foreign policy. And it is nothing short of arrogance when Dr. King takes it upon himself to thus undermine the policies of the President and of the United States."

New Post Created by OCC Board

A new Oakland Community College vice presidency was created last night as the board of trustees revised the college's projected administrative structure, lowering the net annual salary by $104,000.

In the administrative organization change, 13 proposed intermediate positions were eliminated to create the vice president-campus administration post and boost the responsibilities and salaries of three key administrators.

The new vice presidency will become effective next September. A salary of $20,000 was specified.

Presently the college has two vice presidents, one in charge of curriculum and the other in charge of business affairs.

Eliminated by the board were projected positions of two student personnel deans, nine assistant deans and two health services directors.

CONCENTRATED RESPONSIBILITY

The board felt that these positions, proposed in the original administrative organization plan could be eliminated with the concentration of responsibility to the top level.

Total annual salary saving for the 13 positions is computed at $121,000.

The new vice presidency and pay increases for the three administrators with expanded duties will cost $27,000 annually, but the net savings of $104,000.

Dr. Richard Wilson was named dean of instruction with a $3,000 salary increase to $15,000.

GRANTED INCREASES

Increases of $2,000 were granted to Arthur Jalkanen who was named dean of personnel and to Robert Froelich who was appointed director of campus services.

These appointments and the promotion of Associate Dean Irving Levinson to dean of faculty on the Highland Lakes campus at a salary of $14,000 all are effective today.

In other business last night the board approved language revisions in its pending $7 million bonding resolution which it originally authorized in August.

The bond issue to underwrite construction of new campus facilities must be approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

TO OPEN BIDS

College officials expect to open bids on the first phase of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Oct. 12 but prospects of opening this campus in January 1967 as planned are remote.

College President John E. Tirrell said it appears now that construction can be expected in the summer of 1967 due to conditions in the construction industry.

Farewell Signal to Cut Contact With Mariner 4

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory planned to send a "farewell and well-done" signal through 191 million miles of space today to Mariner 4, the spacecraft that photographed the face of Mars last July 14. Scientists said the signal would cut off the U.S. spacecraft's high-power antenna as Mariner 4 soars on in its orbit around the sun.

But, they added, they will try to reestablish contact in the summer of 1967, when Mariner 4's orbit will bring it back toward earth, as close as 29 million miles, for a possible return of the 21 historic Mars photos.

Threat of New Taal Eruptions Detected

MANILA (UPI) — Scientists today detected new alarming signs from Taal volcano as rescue teams pressed ahead with the grim task of recovering victims of last Tuesday's violent eruption.

There were conflicting reports of casualties.

The official tally from government relief agencies stood at 150 confirmed dead. But scattered field reports from police said 389 bodies had been recovered.

Officials in Batangas Province estimated that at least 2,000 persons died.

A UPI team flew over the volcano this morning and spotted smoke pouring from the rim of the main crater for the first time.

The Tuesday eruption came from a new crater on the southwest corner of Taal Island.

The weather bureau's geophysical observatory confirmed that smoke has been detected for the first time in the main crater. It also said two minor tremors were recorded last night and early today.

Chief volcanologist Arturo Alcaraz, who has been conducting regular ground and aerial surveys around the volcano for the past three days, said the danger of new and deadlier eruptions remained.

Frogmen of the Philippine Navy continued to search the waters surrounding Volcano Island for bodies of victims believed to have drowned while fleeing from their homes during the pre-dawn darkness Tuesday.

They recovered 41 bodies yesterday. They expected more to be found today.

Ground teams from the constabulary (national police) were also dispatched to Volcano Island to dig through the devastated villages, which were buried under thick volcanic muck and ash, for bodies and to guard against looting.

RETURN TO DESOLATION — A family returns to the wreckage of their home, destroyed by the eruption of the Taal volcano, south of Manila in the Philippines. Volcanic ash covers nearly half of the 12-mile-square island, situated in Lake Taal, and the death toll is estimated tentatively at 500.

Writing Progress Hampered

Some Children Slow in Developing Coordination

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Dear Dr. Nason: Our son has just started in the fourth grade. He repeatedly amazes our adult friends with his mature conversation and intelligent questions. He shows great promise when ever he puts forth some effort. Since the first grade he has read with the top group throughout each year. He readily gives oral answers to questions.

But he balks when it comes to putting replies on paper. Most of his work has been incomplete. He has received after-school help in writing, beginning in the first grade, to no avail.

As he is getting more homework in the fourth grade than he has had previously, he may be in for deeper trouble. Why is he procrastinating toward written work and how can we help him?

S. C., Erie, Pa.
Your son may have been slow in developing the coordination necessary for handwriting. His behavior follows the usual pattern of late bloomers in this regard.

In any event, it should now be possible for him to practice handwriting until he can write with ease.

Once this handicap has been removed he will need to establish new habit patterns regarding homework. It is difficult if not impossible to force habit patterns on boys of his age.

The best results can be obtained by discussing the matter with him and enlisting his cooperation. He should plan to behave differently toward homework.

You can help him in his endeavor by showing kind firmness and patient persistence.

Dear Dr. Nason: Although our nine-year-old fourth-grade son has many problems in school, his most aggravating one is spelling. Orally, he is able to spell perfectly. His problem comes in writing the words on paper. He has always been a slower student. His span of attention varies with his interest. Any help you can give us would be appreciated.

F. A., Livingston, N. J.

Encourage your son to use his spelling words as material for handwriting practice. As he writes the words over and over, attempting all of the time to improve his handwriting, he should "see" in his mind how they are spelled.

The facility he gains in his handwriting will in itself allow him to put more concentration on the spelling of the words he is writing.

Dear Dr. Nason: I would be interested in part-time teaching. I had my education in Holland and would like to teach either French or German. I have never taught.

Could you give me some information? Inquire at your local board of education.

With no idea of the extent of your college training, I cannot advise you regarding public school teaching. However, many teaching assistants will be needed in programs for the teaching of English as a second language. Some of these positions will not require teacher certificates.

Group Reports Rise in Rabies Cases in '64

CHICAGO (AP) — The journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association says laboratory-confirmed cases of rabies in animals were 20 per cent higher in 1964 than in 1963.

The journal, published in Chicago, says in its current issue there were 4,784 confirmed cases nationally in 1964. Most of the increase was among skunks and foxes, it said.

Test Tube Life Is Step Closer

By Science Service
URBANA, Ill.—Creation of life in a test tube appears to be closer than scientists have dreamed possible.

Progress in the synthesis of RNA, or ribonucleic acid, is reported from the University of Illinois, where 51-year-old Prof. Sol Spiegelman used a purified enzyme to get the self-duplicating material going in a test tube. He mixed the enzyme with RNA virus genes and four triphosphates.

Ribonucleic acid is the material of which the genes, or reproducing molecules, of certain viruses are composed.

Starting with a copy of a viral RNA, new RNA is synthesized and this can in turn direct the formation of genes and reproduce indefinitely.

Dr. Siegelman was one of the first to discover the role of RNA as the messenger for genetic information. His more recent discoveries include keys to the genetic messages carried by RNA.

EXPLAINS WORK

With his four co-workers, the professor of microbiology explains his synthesis work in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

He plans to give a further report Oct. 13 during the National Academy meeting at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Cites Danger of Syndicate

'Crime Organization Too Big in Michigan'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Organized crime in Michigan is "far too big," says the State Police officer in charge of fighting it.

"We talk about communism and the danger it is to our society, but I suspect the syndicate is a more pragmatic danger because this can take away our freedom and can run our government if we let it," said Lt. Raymond H. McConnell, head of the State Police Intelligence Division.

"You learn how powerful the syndicate is when you try to prosecute a case. The difficulties become very real," said the trim, gray-haired veteran of 25 years' state police service.

"It is hard to deal with," he said, "because you have to have facts to publicize and you don't get many facts in dealing with the syndicate."

ASSIGN CORPS

State Police have a corps of detectives assigned to the problem, but officials are reluctant to saw how many. They also protect the men with a ban on photographs and publicity.

Even then, McConnell said, it's only three or four years before the man's face becomes too well known to syndicate operators.

"As soon as a man becomes known, we have to transfer him out of the division," he added. McConnell said the intelligence division, formerly called the rackets squad, is interested basically in "those things we feel are syndicate controlled."

"We aren't interested in the local bingo or poker game, but the syndicate gets a piece of every numbers game in the state," he added. "It is a monster."

PNH Back in the Swing of Things

By ALICE TURNER
As the first weeks of school come to a close, students at Pontiac Northern once again find themselves in the swing of it all. The student council designated Northern's Oct. 2 game with Waterford Township High School as homecoming game.

Primary election for homecoming king and queen was held Tuesday by seniors. The field of 38 nominees, which included the representatives from each of the senior homerooms, was narrowed down to 2 semifinalists.

Mary Harroun, Sherry Johanson, Barbara Nelson and Adele Vorac will vie for the title of queen.

CANDIDATES FOR KING

Semifinalists for king are Alan Benson, Jerry Davis, Ted Lemanski and Nick Ochso. The final election will be Oct. 12 when the student body will select the homecoming monarchs.

In addition to the 681 new sophomores at PNH this year, there are also 19 new and replacement teachers.

Senior Monika Wazlawczyk, one of the many new faces, is Northern's exchange student this year from West Germany.

PCH Assembly Boosts School Spirit

By HELEN COLLIAS

For the new sophomore at Pontiac Central High School, the first few weeks can be hectic. Confused to begin with, they are also teased by upperclassmen.

The school's many organizations, functions and traditions are helping to make the transition more fun-filled and memorable.

Frequent pep assemblies for all class levels spread school spirit. This year's first assembly was held last Friday.

Led by peppy cheerleaders, students soon forget grade levels as sophomores, juniors and seniors rallied in support of the Chiefs.

Heading this year's cheering squad is Diane McCall. Fellow cheerleaders are Judy Almas, Carol Meckert, Cindy Gown, Eileen Hackett, Linda Jackson and Jo Johnson.

NEW MEMBERS

New members include Deborah Gordon, Pamela Harrington, Victoria Leczel and Jo Lynn Yansen. Mrs. Charles Smith, art director, chose and developed the squad.

Pontiac Central's award winning band, in new uniforms, will add color to the half-time festivities. Dennis Blanchard is the high-strutting drum major this year.

Amplification of school spirit is shown by the soaring membership of Central's Student Union. It is supervised by faculty member John Zimmerle and senior Frank Deni.

Last night Clarkston's student government presented the premier showing of the popular suspense movie, "Cape Fear."

The first of nine monthly movies, "Cape Fear" was shown in the high school auditorium.

With all the homecoming activities being held next week, anxieties, tension and work are mounting for Clarkston's students.

This morning, before the student body, the homecoming queen and her court were crowned. Four girls were nominated by each class.

Wednesday at 8 p.m. the "Jolly Junior" girls will meet the "Mighty Senior" girls in the second annual "Powderpuff" football game.

Students Keep Busy at BHHS

By LINDA McNEILL

As the third week of the school year at Bloomfield Hills High School is completed, numerous activities and clubs are off to an excellent start.

One of the major activities for all three classes is getting their floats ready for the homecoming game. This year's game will be played against Milford High School Oct. 23.

New to BHHS this year is an acappella choir consisting of 18 boys and 18 girls. Because of its size, Clarence Luchman, music instructor, plans to enter competitive events that the Jacks and Jills, BHHS singing groups, did not qualify for.

The Jacks are four boys and the Jills, nine girls. The Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts presented an exhibition of French paintings last week.

In charge of the art department is Connie Oskson, a graduate of the University of Kansas. She hopes to have more art exhibits on display as well as exhibiting art works of various BHHS students.

NEW COURSE

Offered at Bloomfield this year is a new course, experimental psychology. It is available to seniors with a B average. Charles Price, English teacher, is the instructor.

Others are Martha Forman, Nancy Gately, Carol Gaydos, Patricia Machiela and Ann McLean.

Also included are Darlene Morrissey, Christine Mason, Diane Nickol, Sandra Norman and Joy Pepper.

Concluding the list are Lupe Rojas, Diane Shane, Susan Strait and Beth Vershure.

The cappella choir has chosen new officers. They are Tom Howard, president; Gerald Murphy, vice president; Constance Banderling, secretary; and Cindy Gowen, treasurer. Director of the choir is Michael Dempsey.

They are Niki Clayton, Chris Dawson, Kathy Doig, and Ann Dunlap.

Milford High Students Greet New Principal

By RICHARD WIXOM

Students of Milford High School welcome James Drue, the new principal. Another newcomer to the administration is Dr. Truman Owens, superintendent of schools.

The sophomore class elected Diana Nealer, president; Larry MacQueen, vice president; Ruth Ann Clay, secretary; and Rick Yeager, treasurer.

MAKING PLANS — New student body officers hard at work on plans for Emmanuel High School's homecoming are (from left) Patricia Gidcomb of 1275 Cherrylawn, secretary; Janet Sly of 1872 Packer, vice president; Kenneth Stephani of 1205 Merry, chaplain; and Ronald Morgan of 29 West End, president. Both girls are from Bloomfield Township and both boys from Waterford Township.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Doctors Still Hunt Muscle Cramp Clues

Q—My husband often gets severe cramps in his toes and legs. What causes them and what can be done for them?

A—The search for the cause of muscle cramps goes on but as yet no one has come up with a satisfactory answer.

It has been pretty well established that they are not due to any disease in the blood. BRANDSTADT vessels that supply the cramping muscles.

One theory is that there is some defect in the mechanism by which the lactic acid that builds up in overworked muscles is cleared away.

Although calcium deficiency is not the cause, many victims get relief by taking calcium lactate or calcium gluconate.

HEAT RELIEF
Others have been benefited by Chlorothalidate or quinine.

Two of my friends who have suffered from time to time with severe cramps that interfered with sleep have found that heat gives relief.

One gets out of bed and soaks himself for about 10 minutes in a hot tub.

The other wears wool socks to bed and uses an electric foot warmer.

Q—My doctor says I have Bowe's disease. So far it is limited to the skin on my forehead.

Is it cancer? What is the best treatment?

A—What you probably have is Bowen's disease. It is characterized by a precancerous scaly or crusted nodule on the skin, usually at the junction of skin and mucous membrane.

Since the lesion tends to become cancerous it should be removed promptly. The disease rarely recurs.

Q—My doctor says I can take Domnamine tablets a day indefinitely.

Are they habit-forming? What side effects do they have?

A—This combination of digestive enzymes with belladonna, phenobarbital and other ingredients is given to relieve spasms in the digestive tract.

The side effects from a large dose or prolonged use include blurred vision and dry mouth.

The drug should not be taken by any one who has glaucoma or an enlarged prostate.

The phenobarbital is habit-forming.

Q—The doctor says my father, 61, has amyotrophic lateral sclerosis and that nothing can be done for it.

Might he not have some other disease with similar symptoms?

Can anything be done to arrest it?

Is there any hospital that specializes in this disease?

A—In this disease certain muscles become rigid, then waste away.

The cause is unknown and there is no satisfactory treatment.

There are several diseases in which the findings are similar but they all have about the same final outlook.

Any large hospital with a good neurological service would have staff members thoroughly trained in its diagnosis and care.

Since the disease closely resembles muscular dystrophy you might get more detailed information by writing to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, 1700 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Freeway Buying Biased--Negroes

DETROIT (AP) — The State Civil Rights Commission said Thursday it has authorized hiring of independent appraisers to investigate Negro charges that they were unfairly treated in property purchases for a freeway.

Donald Holtrop, a field representative who has been studying Highway Department property purchases for 1496 through Lansing, said he was not certain whether independent appraisers would be used, though. He said his study would be completed next Wednesday.

Demand Probe of Blue Cross

Firm Breaks Contract With Grant Hospital

LANSING (AP)—Angry legislators have demanded investigation of Blue Cross as a result of the insurance agency's decision to drop a contract with Grant Community Hospital.

Sen. Jan B. Vanderploeg, D-Muskegon, was quick to "declare war" on Blue Cross because of its action. He claimed to have received other complaints about Blue Cross from small hospitals.

A spokesman for Blue Cross said insurance participation was withdrawn from the 22-bed hospital located in Grant, a community about 25 miles north of Grand Rapids, because it had "inadequate facilities and services."

Daniel Kehoe, director of hospital affairs for Blue Cross, said the insurance firm's action means individuals who have Blue Cross service and enter Grant Hospital would receive the maximum nonparticipating sum of $15 instead of full coverage they normally would receive.

Legislation already is being prepared for a full-scale investigation of Blue Cross procedures and on legislative control.

GREAT CONCERN
"There is great concern over the power and control the Blue Cross exercises over whether a hospital can expand or exist," said Senate Majority Leader Raymond D. Dzendzel, D-Detroit.

"We hope to clear up this intolerable and unfortunate situation at the next session," he said.

"All Grant Hospital and other small hospitals in the same predicament need is time to work out its problems but the Blue Cross won't listen to any plea for more time. They say the contract is canceled as of Thursday midnight," Vanderploeg said.

The hospital serves about 700 patients in Grant and patients from six surrounding counties.

MIGRANT WORKERS
Vanderploeg said the area has the greatest concentration of migrant workers in Michigan and "they receive their hospital treatment in Grant."

"Closing this hospital will be a financial tragedy for this community and an added hardship for patients who must seek the nearest hospital in Fremont, 17 miles away," Vanderploeg said.

The Blue Cross action followed a meeting of its representatives with seven legislators seeking an extension of the cancellation time.

However, Blue Cross said it had to stick by the decision of its board of directors who set the qualifying rules for the agency's service.

Bill Asks for Tax Relief

LANSING (AP)—A bill introduced by Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, would extend to renters over 65 tax relief similar to that approved earlier for elderly property owners.

Young's bill, presented Thursday, implements the stated desire of majority Democrats in the Legislature to take care of renters, who were shut out of the senior citizen tax relief bill passed in April.

Young said an estimated 100,000 households would receive an average rebate of $63. The State Department of Administration, however, estimated the annual cost at $18 million, nearly twice Young's estimate.

The annual reimbursement would be limited to persons earning less than $5,000 who have lived in Michigan the previous seven years and whose rental quarters are not assessed at more than $10,000. Such an assessed value would have a true cash value of about $20,000.

EQUAL AMOUNT

The rebate would be an amount equal to the taxes paid on the first $2,500 in assessed value of the property.

Gov. George Romney supported in the spring a senior citizens tax relief package which included help for renters. But the over-all cost of Romney's plan was less than the combined cost of Young's bill and the estimated $15 million property owners' relief package approved in April.

Labor Unit Study Seeks More Funds

LANSING (AP)—It will cost another $2,500 or so to investigate methods to upgrade the State Labor Department, says Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit. Bradley is chairman of the House Labor Committee and co-chairman of a special joint committee studying the Michigan department and comparing it with departments in other states.

The joint committee, with a $2,500 grant from each house, has visited the U.S. department of Labor and departments in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Fidel: Offer Not Propaganda

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro offered an open-door policy today, including two free flights daily, to Cubans wishing to leave the Communist-dominated island for the United States.

Castro, in a statement broadcast by Havana Radio, elaborated on his offer of Tuesday in which he said he would allow any Cubans to leave their homeland to join relatives or go into exile in the United States.

U.S. officials at that time voiced doubt of Castro's statement, saying it was a propaganda move.

"The North American State Department declared that if my words of Sept. 28 related to those who desired to leave for the U.S. were serious, I should make the proposal through diplomatic channels, in which case the State Department would give it a most careful consideration," Castro said.

MAINTAIN RIGHT

The prime minister said in the broadcast, monitored here, that "we maintain the decision that from Oct. 10, we will give absolute guarantees and facilities to all those who wish to come to Cuba by their own means or to pick up their relatives."

He said the Cuban government would provide two free flights to transport Cubans to the United States, presumably to Miami where the large majority of Cubans seek haven after fleeing their homeland in small boats, 90 miles across the treacherous gulf stream to the Florida Keys.

Castro charged that the United States, by cutting off flights to Cuba, "compelled those persons (Cubans) to make the trip (to the U.S.) in most risky conditions, a thing that they have exploited without scruples with a propaganda end."

The Communist leader also charged that the United States was "impeding" entry to the United States of those persons "whom they have already given permission to do so, many of whom had relatives residing in that country."

The broadcast termed as "ridiculous" a U.S. charge that Castro was attempting to export propaganda from the move.

There are about 60 million air trips a year throughout the world, according to a United Nations report.

Soviet Russia is now building 673 merchant ships of all types, aggregating 6.45 million tons.

Post Office Hopes to Take Bugs Out of Zip System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal authorities are confident they can iron out some kinks that have taken a bit of zip out of the zip code.

There's nothing wrong with the five-number code itself, postal planners insist. But they concede they have found what they call "some small bugs" in the complex of 535 sectional centers organized to put the zip into the nationwide routing and distribution of mail.

Outgoing Postmaster General John A. Gronouski celebrated the establishment of the last of the elaborately plotted centers July 1 with the proud declaration that the center network provided the core of "the first all-new mail distribution and routing system since the advent of the railroads."

Gronouski, now preparing to take up the post of ambassador to Poland, also said the sectional establishment would assure the sending of all mail "by the most direct route possible to its destination."

But there's precisely where the bugs got into the act. It appears that in some places the appointed rounds of mail deliveries are more roundabout than the most direct routes envisioned by the planners.

Gronouski was not the first postmaster general to decry primary reliance on a distribution system which, despite increased use of airplanes and motor vehicles, was geared to mail trains.

As late as 1930, there were more than 10,000 trains carrying mail, about 27 billion pieces of it. Now more than 82 billion pieces of mail are moving each year, but there are only 1,100 mail trains.

Primary dependence on trains led naturally to the designation of postal gateways to which mail from a distance was routed for redistribution, as for example, to Jacksonville for distribution through most of Florida.

Having decided to use the best available means of moving the mails, postal experts spotted 553 sectional centers around the country at the apparent hubs of converging transportation links and assigned to each center some 60 or 70 satellite post offices.

That's where the zip code gets into the system, for the first three digits identify the sectional center.

But that's also the place in the system where some trouble is brewing. A postal aide describes the simplest form of the problem this way:

Towns A and B are 30 miles apart, and historically mails have moved between them directly. But the experts, looking at the country as a whole and looking to the future availability of better transportation, attached the two satellite towns to separate hub centers.

Strict adherence to the letter of the master plan could mean, then, that mail addressed from one town to the other would go first to a sectional center, and could travel two or three times the direct mileage between them. For the code directs mail from one center to another for redistribution to its own satellites.

The Post Office Department hopes to overcome some congressional and industry objections and be able to enforce compulsory use of the zip code and the presorting of mail by bulk users by Jan. 1, 1967.

That in itself will loosen many of the log jams that have plagued post offices for years, for Washington estimates that business mail now accounts for 90 per cent of the total national volume.

And to make the zip system work at maximum efficiency, Congress must abolish the traditional postal caste system and establish a single class for all but bulk and parcel post mailings that would move by the fastest and, hopefully, the most direct route by land, sea, water or air.

'Pollution Plans Only Partial Help'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Great Lakes senators were told Thursday it would take $20 billion over a 10-year period to eliminate pollution in their region.

What's more, they were told, present programs promise only partial help, and the job may never be done.

This was the report of H. W. Poston of Chicago, federal director for water pollution control in the Great Lakes area, at a conference of senators from the eight lake states.

Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, called the meeting for a discussion of an emergency program to meet the pollution problem.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., urged the group to back creation of a Great Lakes water authority to take jurisdiction over water resources and pollution problems in the area. He also urged federal grants for sewage facilities be increased from $150 million to $1 billion annually.

Lausche asked Poston, representing the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, how much money will be available next year under present programs, augmented by the recently enacted Water Quality Act.

Poston reported these shares: Wisconsin $3,007,000; Illinois, $6,220,000; Indiana $3,377,000; Michigan $5,101,950; Minnesota $2,734,950; New York $9,888,150; Ohio $6,136,500; and Pennsylvania $7,037,350.

Altogether, Poston said, Great Lakes states will receive about $43 million a year for sewage treatment works under the newly expanded federal program.

Most Cuban Exiles Are Looking to the North

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban refugees who used to keep their bags packed, for "Manana, we return," have had to repack them to include woollens. Instead of going home, most are heading north in a giant nationwide resettlement program from this semitropical exile haven.

Today, nearly seven years and 300 million American taxpayer dollars after the refugee movement started with Fidel Castro's ascent to dictatorship, nearly 300,000 Cuban exiles are scattered throughout the United States.

Some 80,000 remain in Miami. The Cuban refugee center, operated by the Health, Education and Welfare Department, reported that of these, only 16,000 remain on federal assistance rolls. They get a maximum of $100 per family monthly plus health, education, and surplus food benefits.

During the peak refugee year, 1963, care for the expatriates cost taxpayers $66 million. The center's budget request for fiscal 1965-66 is $32,800,000.

KEEP COMING

Refugees keep coming. Most arrive by small boat, a hazardous undertaking across waters exiles call "death corridor," guarded at the south by Castro gunboats. During July, a normal month, 140 boat refugees registered at the center.

Other Cubans leave their homeland by the two airlines remaining from Havana to Western nations—Mexico and Spain. Diplomatic sources reported there is a waiting list of 35,000 for one-weekly planes to Madrid. About 800 arrive in Mexico monthly. Most try to reach the United States in Miami, resettlements exceed the arrivals.

To date, 92,000 refugees—240 during the typical week ending Aug. 30—have been relocated through the center from Miami to other U.S. cities. Resettlement means they go off relief. Additionally, more than 100,000 who entered the United States at points other than Miami or who did not register at the center, live in this country.

It is amazing that a refugee program of this magnitude is being carried out so smoothly and with only a minimum of friction," said Stevens R. Renfrow, resettlement director.

BEING ASSIMILATED

"Cubans are readily being assimilated into the community life of 2,000 cities in the 50 states."

Generally they are happy at jobs that are lined up for them before resettlement, Renfrow said.

Juan Cobo, vacationing here after resettling in 1963 in Milwaukee, Wis., where he is a church custodian, echoed reports received from refugees in many cities that "the Americans have received us with open arms."

Least integration with the Americans was reported in New York City, which has the most "resettles"—12,815. There, most Cubans were settling into a large Spanish-speaking colony.

ANOTHER EXCEPTION

Another exception is Miami,

where the Cubans live mostly within their own colony. Sometimes rumblings—but nothing serious—come from workers who feel Cubans have taken their jobs or from businessmen feeling they are being squeezed out.

Negroes picketed a downtown Miami drugstore recently, charging it favored refugee employees over Negroes. The store, denying this, sued to prevent the picketing.

Even in Miami, children are becoming Americanized while their parents strive to have them cling to Cuban customs.

Alma Ceballos, 14, a high school senior, explained: "Exile means you know you are forgetting your language and customs and you try to do something about it, but you can't."

'YOU PRAY'

"It means you pray at night for the Communist government to fall—and then you wonder what you will do if it does."

Besides the many thousands of refugee children, who generally assimilate quickly, others estimated at 50,000 to 100,000 have been born in this country of exile parents. They are Americans.

States which have received more than 1,000 resettled refugees are: New York, 29,949; New Jersey, 11,329; California, 9,114; Illinois, 4,567; Massachusetts, 3,850; Texas, 2,631; Pennsylvania, 1,775; Louisiana, 1,729; Ohio, 1,194; Florida, 1,133; Connecticut, 1,114; Virginia, 1,060. The District of Columbia has 1,024.

Canada's divorce rate rose to 44.7 for each 100,000 of population.

YANKEEES AND SAMURAI, by Foster Rhea Dulles. (Harper & Row $6.50). It was 84 years from the time the first U. S. envoy to Japan presented his credentials to the Shogun until the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

This study of the United States' role in the emergence of Japan into the modern world tells how relations were established, how they grew warm, and how they finally cooled because of the rivalry of the two nations in the Pacific.

Dulles, who has spent many years in the Far East, does not minimize Perry's historic role, but he makes it plain that others played a much larger part in later years in influencing the direction Japanese-American relations were to take.

THE SHAPE OF AUTOMATION, FOR MEN AND MANAGEMENT, by Herbert A. Simon (Harper & Row $3.95). Professor Simon, dean of Carnegie Institute's Graduate School of Industrial Administration, discusses the future of automation and the outlook for people in a world in which machines will do most of the thinking.

Simon believes that "in our time, computers will be able to do anything a man can do."

"I believe that computers and automation will contribute to a continuing, but not greatly accelerated, rise in productivity, that full employment will be maintained in the face of that rise, and that mankind will not find the life of production and consumption in a more automated world greatly different from what it has been in the past."

His cool, reasoned presentation and forecast is a reassuring answer to those who see in the computer a Frankenstein monster that eventually will be capable of making man obsolete.

WHEN THE NEW DEAL WAS YOUNG AND GAY, by Charles Hurd. (Hawthorn, $5.95). Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the first president to switch from the hard to the soft collar.

Although it is a minor detail in this account of the first term of the New Deal, it says a lot about the informality and modernity that Roosevelt brought to the White House.

Hurd covered the president for the New York Times, and his account combines such personal details with the broad background of the political and social changes Roosevelt brought about.

Holly Teachers Will Negotiate

HOLLY — Teachers will meet with Holly Board of Education trustees Monday night, not as faculty members but as labor negotiators.

The unique twist in the teacher-school board relationship has been brought about by modification of the HEA represents a majority of the faculty, according to Schools Supt. Russell Hadden.

NEGOTIATING RIGHTS

He said the commitment on sole negotiating rights will be in effect for a year.

The Michigan Education Association in August began a statewide program to establish "good faith" bargaining relations between its affiliates and school boards.

At that time, Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary, announced an education program to help teachers better understand the procedures and purposes of the new legislation.

"It is our hope that within the next few months every Michigan school district will have provided a working program of negotiations between educators and school boards," he said.

ONE OF FIRST

The Holly association is one of the first in Oakland county to receive recognition as sole bargaining agent.

After receiving the designation, the HEA's salary committee requested that salary negotiations be reopened immediately.

Richard Jacobson, high school social science teacher, is chairman of the nine-member committee that will meet with the board Monday at 9:30 p.m. in the high school library.

The salary schedule approved in February, with HEA endorsement, included raises ranging from $200 to $500.

BASE SALARY

Base salary for a teacher, with a bachelor's degree and no experience was jumped from $4,900 to $5,100 over the 1964-65 salary schedule.

The program does not include a health insurance plan which the HEA had suggested be partially paid by the board.

The insurance would have cost the board about $100 per teacher.

However, the salary schedule was some $100 above that requested by the association.

cations the State Legislature made this year in the Hutchinson Act.

The act guarantees the right of public employees to form labor organizations and to negotiate with public employers.

By school board resolution this week, the Holly Education Association (HEA) was granted sole negotiating rights with the board.

The decision was made on the

Troy C. of C. to Hear Expert

TROY — Irving Rubin, nationally known metropolitan transportation authority, will be the featured speaker at the first dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday at Sylvan Glen Golf Club.

He will discuss the importance of adequate provisions for transportation and unimpeded traffic flow in the planning of a growing community.

Plans are now under way for the 1966 Michigan Week. The Chamber's Michigan Week committee is discussing the possibility of an enlarged Trade Fair which was held this year in the Troy High School gymnasium.

Tentative plans call for a tent city. Several large outdoor sites are under consideration.

Several appointments have also been made by the Chamber. R. W. Rammler of Ford Motor Co. and Cleve B. Masson of Sears Roebuck & Co. have been named to the board of directors.

VICE PRESIDENT

Marvin Reinhardt, board member, has been appointed vice president of the Chamber to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Ron Rounsaville.

State Adopts U.S. Rules on Grading Milk

EAST LANSING — Michigan has adopted the U.S. Public Health Service recommendations for the production of Grade A milk, both on the farm and in the plant. The new law will become effective July 1, 1964.

Alvin Rippen, food-science specialist at Michigan State University, said the USPHS recommendations have recently been revised and provide the most up-to-date standard in the United States. The specialist said the recent standard is the result of cooperative planning between the USPHS, industry specialists, universities and U.S. dairy organizations.

Michigan's milk inspection laws have always been adequate but minor differences have existed between the state law and those outlined in the USPHS ordinance. The big advantage of the new law is that there will be uniformity of inspection.

The specialist hastened to say that because, the new act is being adopted does not imply that the quality of Michigan milk has been poor. It is simply a refinement of inspection procedures.

The inspection responsibility will rest with the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Cities and counties may still inspect, Rippen said, but they will essentially be following the same USPHS standards.

FEW CHANGES

Processors who have been in compliance with the Michigan State law for Grade A milk production will find relatively few changes necessary because of the new standard, Rippen noted. Few changes will be necessary on farms. A bacteria count of less than 100,000 per milliliter is required for milk under the new standard, as under the old.

More state inspectors will be required due to more frequent inspection, the MSU specialist points out. However, there will probably be less duplication of inspection.

East Lansing Man Named State Agriculture Director

B. Dale Ball of East Lansing has been named director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

He replaces George S. McIntyre, who has served as director of the department for the past 12 years. McIntyre resigned recently to accept a position with Michigan State University.

Ball was born on a Livingston County farm. He worked his way through Michigan State University and was graduated with a bachelor's degree in soils, farm management and animal husbandry in 1939.

He taught vocational agriculture for five years at Yale and Lapeer.

He then served six years with the Soil Conservation Service before joining the Michigan Department of Agriculture as coordinator of institutional farms and herds.

He was named deputy director of the department in 1963.

Ball was named director of the department Wednesday by the five-man Commission of Agriculture.

Troy Boy's Parents Return 'Feeling Relieved'

10, 20, 40 ACRES

DETROIT (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thorne returned home from Miami Thursday night convinced they had done "the best thing we could" for their 13-year-old mute and mentally retarded son.

Visibly tired, Thorne, 48, and his wife, Maynie, 44, of suburban Troy, alighted from an airliner at Willow Run Airport to face newsmen.

Richard (Ricky) Thorne, abandoned by his mother at Miami's International Airport Sept. 21, has been placed in an unnamed Dade County, Fla., school for mentally retarded children by a court order. The boy's identity was not learned for three days. His parents cannot see him again for a year.

Mrs. Thorne told newsmen she was "afraid that people would get the wrong impression" about why she abandoned Ricky.

FIRST CONCERN

"It's because we love him," she said. "He has always been our first concern."

Ricky suffered encephalitis when he was 18 months old and the disease left him mute and retarded, she said. She said she abandoned the boy because he was becoming increasingly difficult to handle and she had all selfish but now I won't have to worry about him and I can think of myself."

Mrs. Thorne said leaving her son at the Miami airport "was the hardest thing I ever did in my life. When I left him... I just walked away. I knew if I looked back I couldn't go through with it."

Visibly upset, Mrs. Thorne told of the parents' farewell to their son at the private school in Miami.

"I was nervous," she said. "I was hoping he'd forgive me. I was afraid he would feel that 'Mom' had let him down again."

"But he came through. He's a great little guy. He's worth fighting for. I wouldn't have stuck by him all this time if he wasn't."

Unusually beautiful 240 acres being divided. Hills and valleys, woods and knolls, ravines and hilltop sites. This picturesque countryside will appeal to those who seek peace and quiet amongst nature's unspoiled rustic beauty. Near Milford, Kensington Park, Camp Dearborn and General Motors Proving Grounds. School Paper, Administration in Million-Dollar Hassle at U-M

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — An expected $1-million gift to the University of Michigan by one of the school's regents has stirred a sharp controversy between administrators and U-M's student newspaper.

Regent Eugene B. Power, Ann Arbor, denied that an editorial in the student paper, the Michigan Daily, helped sidetrack his $1-million gift to the $3-million theater planned as part of U-M's two-year, $55-million fund-raising campaign.

The editorial in the student newspaper said the donation by Power was "detrimental to the academic growth of this institution," asking he reconsider the idea.

The paper said an announcement of the gift would be made, but none was forthcoming from either Power or U-M President Harlan Hatcher.

The editorial said the gift for the theater would jeopardize other programs it considered more important, including a residential college.

TIE UP MONEY?

The student editors said the $1-million gift would tie up another $2 million of the $55 million needed for the building fund.

The editorial said "the Residential College, a small liberal arts institution that could restore the feeling of personal instruction here, may well never get off the ground because of the diversion of funds, and because the legislature will never foot the entire bill for the college."

Hatcher called the paper's reasoning "erroneous, based on rumor and presumption, and premature."

He added that the residential college would be financed by federal, state and private funds alike.

KNEW OF STORY

Power said he knew of the editorial, printed last Tuesday, before it was published. He said it was "inaccurate and in bad taste."

Power, founder of University Microfilms Co., sold his firm to the Xerox Corp. and is a member of the board of directors at Xerox.

It was learned that Power donated 20,000 shares of Xerox stock to the university in January 1964, which would be worth more than $800,000 now.

Also, the Daily editors said Hatcher has set up a committee to contact builders for the theater.

In the editorial the Daily said "If you want your (Power) name emblazoned on a building, let it be one of the Residential College structures."

Power said his involvement with the theater idea "was common knowledge, but as to the extent, time and place, that has yet to be announced and I don't know when that will be."

Green Book Rules Social Life

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS
Esther Van Wagner Tufty

About this time every year the society hostesses and those who aspire to be grab the new edition of "The Social List of Washington" as it comes off the press to see who is listed and to gossip about the people who have been dropped.

Actually "The Green Book" (so called because of its attractive green suede cover) is as much an official reference book as it is a social register.

Publisher Carolyn Hagner Shaw, in an interview, said the book recognizes that unlike other cities Washington, as the nation's capital, has an official society and so every member of Congress is listed although he might not be considered "society" back in his state.

Even the Communists must be named in the Diplomatic Corps listings.

More than ever the new 35th annual edition reflects the everchanging, transient character of the fast-growing international capital. Some 900 new names are included and 700 dropped for one reason or another.

LBJ NO HELP

President Lyndon Johnson has caused Publisher Shaw a lot of headaches by the way he moves his appointees around "like a game of chess."

Mrs. Shaw is recognized as the social arbiter of Washington and many a newcomer unaccustomed to official protocol or social forms peculiar to the nation's capital seeks her advice which is given without charge to subscribers.

A common social problem is seating a dinner table where rank must be recognized. A French Ambassador once walked out on a dinner when he was seated below his rank.

Slim, trim "Janey" Hart, wife of Senator Philip Hart (D-Mich.) is the only congressional wife who flies her own plane, sails her own yacht, and is a sophomore in George Washington University, although the mother of eight school age children.

She does all this with casual aplomb. Her freshman year was spent some years ago at Manhattanville College, Long Island, New York. She's now seeking, she said in an interview, a BA degree majoring in history and political science.

She commented "Now that the four older children are away at school and I don't have to drive the other four to and from school, I have the time to finish my college education."

Many asked her "What use can you make of this education?" and she has a ready answer: "enjoy life more with a greater understanding." Besides, she is "enjoying going to classes."

NICE PROBLEM

How to go to 82 parties and see Washington, too, is the vexing problem for the women in Washington for the World Bank and International Monetary conference. Many embassies are having parties as the delegates come from some 103 countries, and the private parties are numerous.

Mrs. George D. Woods, wife of the President of the World Bank, is helping by providing personal guide and car service, shopping information, a Washington map in seven languages, and hints on what to wear where.

Two Are Returned. From Trip Abroad

Dr. Leo Wasserberger and his mother, Mrs. George Wasserberger of Illinois Avenue, have just returned from Naples, Italy and a tour of Austria, Germany and France.

The doctor participated in the International Lightning Class Association sailboat races in the Bay of Naples.

Nimble fingers jovially employ an assembly line technique as members of several area elderly persons' organizations count literally thousands of supplies for packaging of Pontiac Area United Fund Drive campaign kits. Helpers on this project for the past several years include (from left), Mrs. Glenn Steinhilper of Osmon Street,

American Association of Retired Persons; Mrs. Charles Kokotek, Melrose Avenue, Pontiac Area Senior Citizens Council; Fred Kline, Oneida Road, American Association of Retired Persons; and H. D. Lockwood, Lakeview Street, Local 594 Retirees Club.

PSH Retirees Given Dinner

Two women who are retiring after 78 years of service to Pontiac State Hospital were honored Thursday evening at a dinner in Holiday Inn.

Miss E. Grace Clark, hospital dietician, started her work in 1925. Mrs. Zell Miller, nursing service supervisor, began in 1927.

Hospital employees sponsored the dinner.

Gal Has Nose Trouble

DEAR ABBY: This isn't exactly a problem, but here goes: I have an extra-sensitive sense of smell.

Whenever I come into a room where there is a dog owner, I can SMELL it. No matter how clean people keep themselves, I know immediately when I get close to them that they have a dog at home.

ABBY

Please don't think this is a slam against dogs or dog owners because some of my best friends have dogs, although I, myself, have never had one. When I mention this to some dog owners, they think I am imagining things, and I am sure there are some who think there is something wrong with me. Maybe there is, but so far I have never guessed wrong. If you use this letter, sign me like your opinion on this.

CAREFUL: There's safety in numbers. Go with a group, but not with one man alone and you won't have to worry about what his wife will think.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who runs around with other women and, when confronted by his wife, he always says, "Well, I always come home to you, don't I, Honey?"

What is that supposed to prove? TENNESSEE SAP: DEAR SAP: It proves that your husband wants to have his cake and eat it, too — with your blessing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONCERNED PARENTS: Do not interfere. Young people have their own special way of measuring affection. I have been told of a girl, 12, who came home from state-eyed and informed her parents that a certain boy "liked" her. When asked how she knew, she said, "Because every time he passes me in the hall he kicks me!"

Her father said that the day she comes home with two black eyes he would know she is really "in love." They didn't interfere and the girl got over this boy and a dozen others before finding "the one."

"SNIFFY" DEAR "SNIFFY": If what you say is true (and it could be), I advise you to keep it to yourself. Dog owners will be more insulted than flattered to be detected by your nose. And friends are worth more than a few scents!

DEAR ABBY: I am a young lady of 20. I work in an office with seven men, who are all married. I am single. The nearest eating place is four blocks away, so sometimes when it rains several of the men have asked me to have lunch with them as I don't have a car.

I have always declined because I don't think it's right for a single girl to lunch with married men. And, besides, I don't want any of the wives to get the wrong idea. I would

Ask Pals Before You Phone Him

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: I dated a boy quite steadily for three months. He seemed to like me and enjoy my company.

He has suddenly stopped calling me and I can't imagine why as we had no quarrel or misunderstanding. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to call him.

I don't want him to think I'm pursuing him and yet there may be a serious reason why he hasn't called, and he may think I am not interested enough to find out. Will you please advise me?

A: To save embarrassment to yourself and to him, it would be best to try to find out through a mutual friend whether or not he is ill or whether he has found a new interest.

If you find he has been ill, then you may quite properly telephone to ask how he is feeling.

PRESENT FOR GROOM

Q: Will you please tell me if it is customary for the bride to give the bridegroom a wedding present, and if so, what does she give him?

A: The bride need not necessarily give a present to the groom, but she usually does if she can. Generally it is something permanent and for his personal use — ranging from cuff links to a watch or a ring.

Getting Married? Don't Strip Savings

By MARY FEELEY Consultant
in Money Management
"We are planning to get married. Can we afford it?"

That seems to be the number one question on the hit parade with young people just out of high school or not quite out of college.

"He says we should have $3,000 saved," writes a girl from Birmingham.

"Can you possibly give me some idea of what furniture will cost us?" asks a young man from Alliance, Ohio.

A college student in Bellwood, Illinois, says her fiancé is making $100 a week take-home pay, with a monthly car payment of $131. "But we'll probably have $2,000 to start with, to buy furniture, etc."

Well, courage and optimism are mighty fine things to start marriage with, and some couples have made it on very little else. But enough money to buy the necessities does help to keep the odds in favor of a happy home.

FURNISHINGS COSTLY

Furniture and a car, of course, are the main concerns of most of these young people.

'Jack' in Pulpit Gets a Helper

BENTON, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Jack Horton noticed his young daughter pinching children and shooting paper wads at youngsters while he was preaching at a revival. After the service, he scolded her for her actions. She replied: "You preach to 'em. I'll keep 'em awake."

One Trip Does It

Use baskets and carts to make one trip do the place of several as you do your housework.

And in some cases, both come under the head of necessities, where jobs involve complicated transportation.

But let's just consider the problem of furnishing a small apartment. I asked a young bride if she would itemize the pieces she bought and add up the total. It came to $5,250.

This sum included $500 for TV and stereo, plus $800 for a dining room table and eight chairs and $250 for a buffet. Here's what they got for the remaining $3,700:

Living room: sofa, carpeting, upholstered wing chair; three tables; two coffee tables; three lamps; draperies and rods; two bookcase units; breakfast. Total, $2,400.

She decided not to economize on carpeting ($450) but did economize on draperies and rods ($40).

Bedroom: chest — on — chest; double dresser; two night tables; headboard and dual beds; mirror; carpeting; three lamps; dual size bedspread; draperies and rods. Total, $1,300.

She confesses she paid a big price for the bedspread and some throw pillows, and put $1,000 into the chest-on-chest arrangement, plus the dresser, two night tables, the headboard and dual beds and mirror. The draperies and rods came to $50, the carpeting to $150.

REALISTIC APPROACH

This couple had saved a substantial amount to begin with, and it's obvious they were buying furnishings they expected to live with for a long, long time. I don't say this is the only way to approach furniture buying. Many couples can and do just start with a few major pieces, and fill in with inexpensive things as they go along. But it doesn't always pay to buy the least expensive furniture — because even then it's all going to add up to a tidy sum. And there may be nothing really "for keeps."

Also, I think there's a tendency to forget how much accessories — lamps, end tables, coffee tables, etc.—really increase the sum total. And yet some of them are necessary for even moderate comfort.

I simply say be realistic. If there are a few thousand dollars in the bank on the wedding day, that's fine. But don't tag it all for furniture, or all for a car—or all for both. Because there will be other demands, emergencies, and wants. Stripping the savings account right down to its bare bones is not the best way to start a marriage.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Art Institute Gets Bequest

DETROIT — Collecting art treasures was the absorbing pursuit of John S. Newberry Jr. for some 35 years, until his death in Paris, France, last October at the age of 54.

A man of impeccable taste in art, Newberry collected oil paintings, watercolors, prints, drawings, lithographs and sculpture.

He generously made his treasures available to many temporary exhibitions, and made many frequent gifts of these to The Detroit Institute of Arts and to other museums during his lifetime.

On Oct. 13, The Detroit Institute of Arts will introduce to Detroit John S. Newberry's bequest to the museum: a selection of watercolors, drawings and sculpture. The exhibition will be on display through Nov. 14.

Look Beyond Retirement

EAST LANSING — If you're fast approaching retirement age, take a good, long look at what you're going to do after you reach the "cut-off" at 65. "Don't hide your head in the sand like an ostrich and refuse to look at what's coming," Lennah Backus, a retired

Michigan State University staff member told a conference of homemakers recently. Mrs. Backus is a former family life specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at MSU. "You can expect greater satisfaction from retirement years if you have a thought out plan," she emphasized.

Approaching the later years means you need to give thought to your health, a comfortable place to live, something to do and something to live for, Mrs. Backus summarized.

"Get a good physical examination once a year, and then follow the doctor's advice," she stressed. "Learn to accept the minor aches and pains that may come with increasing age."

She noted that you must make an effort to practice good nutrition, since lack of appetite and interest in food often plague older people.

SLOW DOWN

She added, "Don't burn the candle at both ends. Ease into a slower pace gradually before you actually retire."

In considering your financial situation, do a thorough study on how much you have and how much you will need.

"Unfortunately, many women face widowhood as well as retirement, and then they are suddenly faced with financial decisions."

"Even though you may shy away from the idea, see a lawyer to make out a will. You can also get financial advice from him or a financial counselor in a bank," Mrs. Backus urged.

Where to live poses a big problem for retired people.

TRY IT OUT

If you are considering retiring in Florida, or some community for older people, spend some time there before you make a definite commitment, she suggested. Find out if you can be happy away from your family and surrounded by older or mixed age groups.

Covering Buttons

If you are placing covers over button molds, wet the pieces of material before smoothing them on and attaching the backs.

If the skin of an adult were spread out flat, it would cover about 18 square feet.

Earring Trays

Inexpensive plastic egg trays make good earring trays and for the woman who has scores of earrings, the trays can be stacked, each tray adding only three-fourths inches in height.

Do electric dryers really cost less to buy?

Do you really get no-charge service?

Do kids like ice cream?

The answer to the last question, of course, is a rousing YES! And that goes ditto for the first two questions.

Model for model electric dryers cost from $20 to $40 less than gas dryers. You can easily check for yourself at any appliance dealers.

Every electric dryer is backed by Edison's No-Charge repair service. No charge for any electrical parts. No charge for labor, either. So you don't have to worry about unexpected repair bills. Remember, Edison is the only utility company in this area that offers no-charge repair service.

Can you get this kind of worry-free assurance with a gas dryer? Sure—with a manufacturer's repair service policy—but it will cost you up to $120 over the first five years of operation alone!

One thing more. Edison's money-saving No-Charge repair service applies even if you don't buy from Edison—so long as the dryer is electric and you get your electricity from Edison.

When you add up the facts, you find that an electric dryer can save you up to $160 in just a few years. That can keep the kids in ice cream for a good long time.

PS. If you buy now, from a participating dealer, the low price you pay includes the cost of wiring, if any's needed.

House OKs Federal Pay Hikes Feared Inflationary by Johnson

More women are turning to it. At present there are 300 in the careers in veterinary medicine, profession.

WASHINGTON (U)—The House has approved a two-step pay raise for 1.8 million federal employees that President Johnson says could be inflationary.

But the members have reversed themselves and knocked out of the bill an automatic raise for themselves.

Federal workers would get a 4 per cent across-the-board raise this year and a larger one next year based on cost-of-living increases and raises in private industry since last year.

The two-year cost would be about $1.6 billion, compared to the $406 million Johnson's recommendation for a single 3 per cent raise this year would cost.

The bill goes to the Senate which is expected to pay attention to Johnson's warning that the House bill could wreck his nomination wage-price policy.

At a recent press conference,

the President called the House bill "disastrous."

The House-paid scant heed, devoting most of its time and effort to a proposal by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., that would have written into permanent law a system giving members of Congress, cabinet officers and federal judges automatic raises equivalent to those granted top-salaried government workers.

Udall, who tried unsuccessfully to get the provision into last year's federal pay raise bill, said it was needed to bring order to the federal salary structure.

Other members, however, called it "a dodge" to avoid facing up to future salary increases for Congress.

NEXT CONGRESS

This year's provision could have meant an increase of $3,000 to $4,000 for members of the next Congress. Congressional pay is now $30,000 a year, the members having voted themselves $7,500 increases last year.

On a nonrecord teller vote, with the members walking down the aisle to be counted, a motion to eliminate the provision was defeated, 135 to 111.

But Rep. James T. Broyhill, R-N.C., who offered the motion, forced a roll call. There was a heavy switching of votes and the motion carried, 238 to 140.

Student 'Club Football' Grows at Non-Varsity Colleges

NEW YORK (UPI)—A strange new phenomenon—club football—is spreading.

Unofficial club teams sponsored by students and usually coached by students are popping up at certain major colleges that long ago dropped out of the varsity football race because of prohibitive costs.

The kids raise all the funds with card parties, raffles, ticket subscription drives and pleas for alumni contributions—anything to help fill the autumn void created by the loss of their varsity teams. And some games are drawing up to 15,000 at $2.50 per.

At Fordham, once a top power, the response since last season's drop has been so great they're talking about restoring varsity football in three years.

New York U., Manhattan, Seton Hall and Georgetown are other leaders in the eastern grass roots movement.

Fordham hopes to line up a coast-to-coast schedule next season with stops at the University of Chicago and University of San Francisco.

TITANS MENTIONED

Santa Clara, Detroit and Carnegie Tech, old-time powers, also have been in touch with the Fordham people and the possibilities are high among other colleges that couldn't keep up with the Joneses when varsity costs began to soar.

Student control and financing are "complete at these colleges with 'club' teams. The colleges, in turn, usually provide certain school facilities including training rooms and locker space.

"We scored one major breakthrough this year," says Fordham coach Jim Lansing, the only paid tutor in the group. "We had enough money this fall to invest in a $400 movie outfit to record scrimmages as well as games."

New York U. and Fordham both had original turnouts of more than 100 candidates this fall, including "some who can play football."

"We spent $2,400 for 33 uniforms," says Lansing. "So that's our squad—33."

Fordham's practice games so far this fall produced a 27-14 victory over Hofstra freshman and 24-6 over Columbia frosh.

"That doesn't tell us much since those boys were just out of high school," Lansing admits. "But eventually I feel we could be playing small colleges as well as the good club teams."

And later—who knows?

20 Fast Racers in Grand Prix

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (UPI)—The 20 fastest race cars in the world began practice today for the only international race held in America this year, the Grand Prix of the United States.

The 230-mile race, one of 10 held throughout the world for the international driver's championship, will be staged Sunday afternoon. A crowd of more than 100,000 is expected to jam this normally quiet tourist resort area to view the race.

One of the first to jump into his car for practice was 20-year-old Mexican champion Pedro Rodriguez, who has replaced world champion John Surtees as the lead driver for the Ferrari team. Surtees was seriously injured when his Lola sports car crashed during a practice run for the Canadian Grand Prix last weekend.

British Anglers Hook Trophy From Yanks

ULLAPOL, Scotland (AP)—British fishermen defeated American anglers Thursday in the first contest for the America Cup.

The trophy was competed for during the European Sea Angling Championships here.

The home team hauled up 11¼ pounds of fish against 37½ pounds caught by the Americans.

Belgium won the European team title for the heaviest catch with 144 pounds. A 49-year-old Englishman, George Harris, took the individual title with a total haul of 152 pounds.

PCH BOOTHER — End Bob Boyce, a 6-0, 180-pound junior, has put a good foot into the ball for the No. 2 rated Chiefs this season. He's available for double duty tonight at Flint Northern.

Lerna struggled around in 39-37 but said: "I reckon I got some of the bad blood out of me. Today's another day."

Player and Harold Henning of South Africa led the team chase with a total of 142 after the first round. They were followed by Belgium, China and Spain at 143 with Australia next at 145 and Italy and Canada at 146.

Argentina, Hawaii, Colombia, United States, and Japan were bracketed at 147. New Zealand and Puerto Rico were one stroke behind at 148.

'M' Ready for Georgia

MSU-Illinois Key Defenses

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Pity those guys who play defense when Illinois and Michigan State clash in a Big Ten Football opener here Saturday. They are liable to have their pride hurt.

Coming into the contest the defensive units of both teams have a right to feel a little proud. Illinois has surrendered only 12 points in splitting its first two games this season, and MSU has allowed only a field goal in its two victories.

However, there is evidence to suggest that the defensive records may be based on a case of the best defense being a good offense.

The MSU offense, for example, has given up the football inside Spartan territory only three times during 13-3 and 23-0 wins over UCLA and Penn State. The opposition therefore was faced with a drive of more than 50 yards to reach the goal line on 11 of 14 offensive series in those two games.

ILLINOIS REBOUND STRONGLY

Illinois scored six touchdowns in rebounding from a 12-10 upset at the hands of Oregon State to shatter Southern Methodist, 42-0, last week. That means the Illini defense had the Mustangs' offense pretty well backed up after the ensuing kickoff.

The running and passing statistics show that both clubs have been fairly liberal on defense. Illinois has given up 353 yards rushing and 144 passing, while MSU has yielded 232 on the ground and 168 through the air. Illinois has blanked MSU three times in recent years, winning 16-0 in 1958, 13-0 in 1963 and 16-0 in 1964. That 1963 whitewash ended MSU's championship hopes and sent the Illini to the Rose Bowl.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan won't have to wait long to find out what chance it has of keeping its winning streak—now at eight games—going and repeating as Big Ten football champion.

The Wolverines close out their nonconference schedule by playing host to Georgia Saturday.

It marks the first of three straight games against three of the Top Ten teams in the country.

GEORGIA 10TH

The Wolverines are ranked seventh, while Georgia slipped into the elite group for the first time this week and placed 10th.

Next week's foe, Michigan State, is ninth and will be followed by much improved and a second-ranked Purdue, the last team to defeat Michigan.

The Wolverines are favored to take their third straight victory despite sluggish performances in their first two outings.

Georgia, which has upset Alabama and beaten Vanderbilt in its two starts, has proved to be an opportunistic team. Both of its interceptions recorded so far have been returned for touchdowns.

Michigan, on the other hand, has fumbled the ball away seven times and had three passes intercepted in its two outings.

The Michigan ground attack, which appears to have lost little of its punch, is expected to be strengthened by the return of halfback Jim Detwiler.

This marks the second meeting between the two schools. The Wolverines downed the Bulldogs, 26-0 in 1957.

Michigan officials estimated a crowd of 57,000, smallest of the season here to be on hand.

Judy Bell Faces Scottish Champ in British Golf

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Judy Bell, 29-year-old bespectacled Curtis Cup golfer from Colorado Springs, Colo., faced Scottish champion Mrs. Belle Robertson today in the next stage of her bid for the British women's title.

The two were scheduled to clash in the quarter-finals of the St. Andrews old course—the weather would be as rough as ever. After three days of heavy rain, Thursday was drier but players had to contend with a swirling wind.

Miss Bell scored her biggest triumph of the week by downing Ruth Porter, the British Currier Copper 3 and 2 in the fourth round in the morning. Then she went on to defeat Connie Lugton of Scotland by 3 and 1 in the afternoon to make the last eight.

North Farmington's junior varsity football team posted its second straight shutout yesterday in downing Waterloo Kettering, 14-0.

Chuck Hill, Mike McCoy and Dave Douglas scored for the Raiders.

FINANCES ARRANGED

MONTREAL (AP)—The Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Thursday night that financial arrangements have been made with the city of Montreal and a distillery to double the prize money of the Canadian Open to $200,000 for 1967.

Lead at Stake for No. 2 PCH

Pontiac Central's Chiefs have a lot of catching up to do to even their series with Flint Northern.

In 34 meetings since 1932, the Flint squad has opened up a won-lost record of 25-9.

Emmanuel Host to Country Day in Morning Tilt

Emmanuel Christian will return to the football picture tomorrow, playing host to a strong Country Day team.

The Emmanuel squad, playing only a five-game schedule, opened with a 19-0 setback at Linden two weeks ago. Coaches at Emmanuel reduced the schedule to five games this year because of the small squad, numerically, hoping that a break after each game would reduce the number of injuries to the team.

It worked in the first game, so the Lancers will enter the tilt against Country Day at full strength. The game starts at 10 a.m. on Golf Drive field.

Cranbrook (6-1) will be looking for its first victory with a 8-0 tie at Howe Military Academy in Indiana. Game time is 2 p.m.

RECENT SUCCESS

Although the Vikings have enjoyed a great deal of success in the PCH series, the Chiefs have dominated the game in recent years, winning three of the last four outings. Last year, PCH won, 7-6.

In the Inter-Lakes League, Pontiac Northern is looking for its first victory of the season in an 8 p.m. tilt at Walled Lake. Farmington was playing host to Waterloo this afternoon, (3:30).

Another key game on the afternoon slate had Clarkston invading Bloomfield Hills (3:30). Under the lights in the W-O, West Bloomfield journeys to Holly, Northville entertains Clarensville and Milford has a date at Brighton.

Kettering travels to Romeo for a 7:30 p.m. game that opens the Tri-County League season, and Lapeer entertains L'Anse Creuse in another league outing. Oxford has a non-conference tilt at Imlay City.

In the Oakland A. Avondale opens its home season at 8 p.m. with Warren Cousino providing the opposition. Elsewhere in the O-A, Clawson visits Lake Orion, Rochester has a date at Warren Fitzgerald and Madison journeys to Troy.

Horse Show Sunday at Golden H Corral

The Golden H Corral will be the site of a horse show Sunday starting at 10 a.m.

RESERVE MEET

The county reserve meet will be held at the same time. This means that there will be about 350 runners at the starting line.

Hazel Park Is Favored in County Harrier Meet

A high-powered field of 140 runners will be competing for top honors tomorrow in the annual Oakland County cross-country meet at Bogie Lake Country Club.

Joe Dickie was third for the Chiefs.

Lindler broke the Multi-Lakes record with a 10:04 clocking as Walled Lake tied Pontiac Northern, 23-28.

Dave Kay of the Huskies was second. Other FNI finishers were Nick Ochoa, fourth; Dave Johnson, fifth; and Dave Pruett, sixth. Don Copitts of the Vikings was third.

A Waterloo course record of 11:09 was established by Farmington's Bob Donovan as the Skippers were whipped 15-46. Bruce Anderson of Farmington was second and George Jackson third.

Jim Lindler of Walled Lake and Hazel Park's Ken Leonowicz are expected to battle for individual honors. PCH's Bill Hollis and Bloomfield Hills' Sterling Speirn also are contenders.

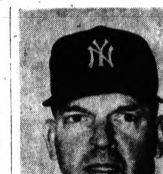

In junior varsity meets, Bay City Central won with PCH's Ernest Griffin taking individual honors, Bloomfield Hills triumphed, 27-28; Waterloo won, 26-29; and Walled Lake was victorious, 27-28.

Bengals Slate Best Pitchers in Final Tilts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers will send their best pitchers against the Washington Senators in the final series of the season beginning tonight.

With his eyes looking ahead to 1966, Tiger Manager Charley Dressen will pitch Denny McLain 15-6 against the Nats tonight, Mickey Lolich 14-9 Saturday and Joe Sparrna 13-7 Sunday in the season finale.

The three have won almost half of the club's games this year.

Meanwhile, the Tigers named 20 of their top prospects to play in the Florida Winter Instructional League.

The pitchers included are Ron Chandler, Rickey Clark, Mike Killebrew, Bill Newton, Nick Ross, Bill Seifert, John Skulley, Rick Young, Vern Holgrave and Leo Marante.

Catchers John Sullivan and Jim Wayland will also go down to Florida along with infielders Dave Campbell, Larry Haggit, Tom Matchick and Larry Rojas.

Dodgers Rely on 1-2 Punch

By The Associated Press

Getting stronger as the season grows shorter, the Los Angeles Dodgers' one-two punch of Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale has dropped the San Francisco Giants perilously close to the canvas for a 10-count.

In fact, the way the pair has been pitching, the Dodgers may not even need them to deliver the knockout blow.

That climactic punch conceivably could come tonight following Drysdale's three-hit, 4-0 victory over Milwaukee Thursday night.

The triumph, their 13th straight, kept the National League-leading Dodgers two games in front of the Giants, who defeated Cincinnati 5-3, and put the leaders in this position:

If the Dodgers, with Claude Osteen pitching, beat the Braves again tonight and the Reds and 21-game winner Sammy Ellis down the Giants, Los Angeles will have its third pennant in the last seven years.

MASTERSPIECE

Drysdale's masterpiece came just 24 hours after Koufax shut out Cincinnati on two hits marking the second time in the last six days that the prodigious pair has pitched consecutive shutouts.

Against St. Louis last Saturday and Sunday, Koufax pitched a five-hit, 2-0 victory and Drysdale hurled a five-hit, 1-0 triumph.

"This is the best stretch of pitching a team of mine has ever enjoyed," said Manager Walter Alton, who has watched his staff allow only two runs in the last 60 innings. "I've also never had a team that finished a season as strong as this one."

Drysdale, who threw an average of only 19 pitches an inning against the Braves, said he never felt stronger. He also suggested that trainers Wayne Anderson and Bill Buhler should receive much of the credit for the pitching streak.

"They're the best in baseball, and they've kept us in great shape," he explained.

The shape Koufax and Drysdale have been in has been phenomenal. Together they've recorded 48 of the Dodgers' 95 victories — Drysdale is 23-12 and Koufax is 25-8.

The left-handed Koufax has a 2.06 earned run average and eight shutouts while the right-handed Drysdale has a 2.78 ERA and seven shutouts.

LONE AL GATE

In the only other NL game St. Louis annihilated Houston 19-4 while Minnesota edged Baltimore 7-6 in the only American League contest.

Drysdale retired the first 14 Braves, then gave up a two-out single to Felipe Alou in the fifth inning. He rapped two singles himself, driving in the second run and raising his average to .302, best on the team.

Los Johnson collected three Dodgers hits while John Roseboro added two and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

The Giants won only their third game in the last nine when pinch hitter Orlando Cepeda, batting .161, clouted a 3-2 pitch from Joe Nuxhall for a two-run homer, with one out in the ninth inning.

Frank Robinson had put Cincinnati ahead 3-2 with a homer in the eighth, but the Giants tied it in the bottom of the inning on Alex's single. Giants' starter Juan Marical was forced out of the game in the seventh with a dislocated left thumb suffered in a baseline collision.

St. Louis amassed 19 hits against Houston with Lou Brock and Curt Flood getting four each. Gerry Bucher drove in five Cardinal runs while Phil Gagliano knocked in three.

Holly's Jim Ray started against St. Louis and lasted two-thirds of an inning. The rookie right-hander yielded six runs on six hits and three walks before being pulled.

It was his second loss in as many starts since being called up by the Astros from Amarillo of the Texas League.

By JERE CRAIG

Responsibility — the accepting of which is a mark of maturity — plays a prominent part in determining the success of a bowling league.

The way members of a league respond to it particularly at the beginning of a new season determines how smoothly and enjoyably the operation will be for the bowlers, their league officials and the establishment personnel.

Officers for the coming season have already been chosen. But are they ready, and do they understand what is involved in their positions? The same can be asked of team captains.

The handling of funds, the compiling of scores, and the settling of grievances are the foremost duties of the officers. The league president is primarily an overseer, running the infrequent meetings and supervising the other officers.

If anyone has the best opportunity to influence most the image of a league, it is a team captain with his capability or inability to monitor the actions of the bowlers.

The captains are the intermediaries between the bowlers, the officers and management. They should reflect the good conduct expected of the members as well as demand cooperation and promptness.

Each year new men, women and even junior bowlers are put in many positions of responsibility.

Wings' Goalie Joins Scoring

DETROIT (AP) — Goalie Roger Crozier picked up an assist and held the Detroit Red Wings' No. 1 line to two goals in the team's first intra-squad game Thursday.

The only goals scored against Crozier in the Red's 5-2 victory over the Whites were by Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio. Andy Bathgate, moved to center on the line by Manager-Coach Sid Abel, assisted on each.

Touch Football Upset

A 40-yard pass and run play from Dick McDonald to Larry Olson gave the Offenders a 6-0 upset win last night over first place Motorcar Bandits in Pontiac Recreation Touch Football. The second game, was a rainout.

Conquering Twins Welcomed Home

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Minnesota welcomed its conquering Twins home early today, and heard Club President Cal Griffith boast, "I hope we take it in four straight from the National League club."

He didn't really mean he expected the Twins to win the World Series in four games, but what else do you tell 3,000 fans who waited up to two hours in a cold wind to get a glimpse of some baseball heroes?

The Twins, who clinched the American League pennant in Washington last Sunday, arrived home at 12:40 a.m. after winding up a three-game series at Baltimore with a 7-4 victory.

EARLY ARRIVALS
Even though local radio stations kept them well informed of the expected arrival time, hundreds of fans started showing up early—some by 10 p.m. Many of the early arrivals celebrated in the bar at the Twin Cities International Airport. A bunch of the boys were whooping it up pretty good by 10:30.

"Bring on those Dodgers," one college-type yelled. Griffith poked his head in the bar just to see what was going on.

A middle-aged woman strode up to him and said, "Hello there, Robertson." Griffith looked sheepish and replied, "I'm not Robertson, my name is Griffith."

The woman paled. "Oh, my God, then you must be," she said. "All she could think to do then was to grab the startled Griffith and kiss him on the cheek."

That's the kind of night it was.

CHILLY
It was 45 degrees when the Twins' chartered plane set down, but a strong northwest wind made it feel like 25.

Fans bundled in blankets, overcoats and jackets lined the runway.

Tony Oliva drew the biggest cheer, with Mudcat Grant and Zoilo Versalles close behind.

Grant, a 21-game winner for the regular season, was asked how many more he thought he would win. "I hope you can count on three in the Series," he said.

Oliva, asked if he would win the league batting championship, grinned his patented grin.

and said, "Maybe, you never know."

There were brief remarks by Griffith, Manager Sam Mele and the Twins' player representative, Bob Allison. All thanked the fans for their loyalty, but Griffith's comment about taking the Series in four straight was the only startling revelation.

The players did not dally, whisking away to their waiting cars to go home.

The official celebration will

Icing the Football

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (NEA)—Minnesota Vikings coach Norm Van Brocklin speaks in awe of Bob Walden's tremendous punts.

"He kicks them so high," says the coach, "that they come down with icicles on them."

TIRE TALK

One of the great things about the powerful cars we drive today is the smooth, quiet way we can cruise at 70 m.p.h. So smooth, so effortless, so quiet is a speed of this kind that we tend to forget what an accumulated power 70 m.p.h. represents.

Perhaps we can understand the speed better if we talk in terms of the time it takes to stop. At 70 you will react to a warning in $\frac{3}{4}$ of a second — so you travel 77 feet before you move a muscle. And then with your tires and brakes in good condition, a panic stop takes another 218 feet! In other words, it takes the length of a football field — 100 yards — to stop!

If these figures shock you — here's another disturbing thought: if your tires are badly worn, or they're cheapies — designed for price instead of performance — then a football field may not be room enough.

The plain fact is that all tires don't stop equally well, corner equally well, or wear equally long. That's why we're so careful when we recommend a tire to you. We keep remembering that football field. We mean it when we say, "We sell tires as though your life depended on it!"

MIAA Gridders Clash

By the Associated Press
Western Michigan and Central Michigan start league play, and Albion opens its defense of the MIAA title in the top games on this weekend's state college football schedule.

Eastern Michigan gets a head start on the rest of the teams when it plays host to Ohio Northern tonight.

Western Michigan is at home against Miami, Ohio, in its Mid-American Conference opener, while Northern Illinois is at Central Michigan to kick off the IAC campaign.

Albion, unbeaten last year but a loser in its two non-conference games this season, is at Alma. Hope is at Adrian and Kalamazoo at Olivet in the other league games.

Michigan Tech is at Winona State, Hilldale at Northern Michigan, Wayne State at John Carroll, Ferris State at St. Norbert, Wis., and Northwood at Parsons, Iowa, in the others.

WMU Coach Bill Doolittle said he was "happy but not satisfied" with the Broncos first two victories.

He pointed out that while the defensive line has yielded but 71 yards rushing in the two games, rival teams have completed 36 passes in 75 attempts for 416 yards and three touchdowns.

Miami, a loser to Purdue and Xavier in its two previous outings, holds an 18-4 edge in the series.

CMU, 0-3, faces another toughly in Northern Illinois. Northern is the only unbeaten team in the league and is favored to cop its third crown in as many years.

TWO LOSSES

Albion Coach Morley Fraser said his team "learned much offensively and defensively in the first two encounters and looks forward to meeting Alma which our scout says is 50 per cent better than last year."

Northern Michigan, which boasts the best record in the state with a 3-0 mark and is fifth-ranked nationally, will be out to avenge a 16-7 setback at the hands of Hilldale last year. The Dales' Bruce McLennan, leading scorer in the state last year, is in contention again with 18 points in two games so far.

Forfeited Grid Game in Ohio Valley Stands

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ohio Valley Conference Commissioner Art Guepe has declared East Kentucky's forfeited game of its OVC football game to Austin Peary will stand.

The Sept. 18 game, which Eastern won 35-30, will go on the books as a 1-0 win for Austin Peary. Eastern discovered it had inadvertently used an ineligible player.

Dry Summer, Fall Hard on Perennials

Summer and early autumn have been extremely dry. Keep watering until the ground freezes to help your perennials and deep-rooted plants through the winter if there has been little rain in your area.

Take stock of the situation before heavy frost seals the soil and if the water reserve seems to be deficient, a thorough soaking is in order.

Your broadleaf and other evergreens especially will welcome a long, but gentle, drink.

Mulches will help your plants through the severe winter but do not apply the covering around the plants until after cold weather has arrived.

The cold nights will harden the crowns and stems. If you apply the mulch before this occurs, the plants will not have built up enough protection against long, hard cold.

MULCH PROTECTS

the hardest problems of nursing plants through the winter.

Plants under snow are generally well insulated. Areas exposed to prolonged cold, sudden rises and drops in temperatures, and prey to rough, damaging winds, suffer most.

Gradual cooling in the fall winterizes a plant. The water content is diminished and the more concentrated sap is better able to stand the cold.

Sudden cold will freeze excess water in a young plant's tissues and break the cells.

Evaporation of moisture in evergreens also is a cause of trouble.

There are excellent sprays available at your garden which if applied when the temperature is above freezing, will provide protection.

If the leaves of your trees seemed to drop off prematurely this fall, it could be due to the drought. Give the tree a good drink before severe cold sets in.

STATUS SEEKER — Sherman Kendall of 6067 Van-Syckle, Waterford Township, points with pride to his ambitious squash plant. Planted in the middle of the garden, the determined plant pulled its way up in the world by crossing the garden and climbing the branches of a 6-foot shrub.

Agricultural imports from Mexico into the United States have increased by 65 per cent the last 12 years.

Autumn Is Perfect for Seeding

One of the many reasons for starting lawns in autumn is the excellent sprouting lawn seed generally enjoys then. So long as the cheapest lawn seed on the shelf is not sought out, chances are a purchaser will get seed of quality lineage, almost 100 per cent sproutable.

It is the magic of autumn weather that transforms this good seed into husky green shoots, just as the season when their "chances in life" are best.

If you test lawn seed in a germinator, where humidity is constant and the sprouting temperature ideal, something the equivalent of 60-degree nights and 80-degree days — good bluegrass shows tiny shoots in less than a week.

Fine fescues, the other basic component of quality seed blends, produce husky sprouts even more quickly.

AUTUMN BEST
Outdoors, the environment might not be quite so ideal as in a germinator.

But if you water frequently and mulch, so that the soil surface never dries out completely, autumn temperatures create a situation similar to that found ideal in the seed germinator.

Within two weeks there should be a fuzz of green from lawn seedlings made in August or early September.

Of course once the seed has sprouted, it takes more than just water. Most soils benefit greatly from the mixing-in of fertilizer at the time the seed-bed is prepared.

If you failed to fertilize then, or if you merely upgraded an old lawn with top-flight seed, later feeding with a lawn-type fertilizer is certainly advisable before winter really sets in. But don't fertilize young grass until it is old enough to have been mowed; new sprouts are tender, and burn more easily than does established grass.

Aerate Potted Plants to Make Soil Friable

To help aerate your potted plants, rake the top of the soil about a half-inch with a kitchen fork occasionally. This also will help water to penetrate the soil to the roots.

Algerian Alfalfa Resistant to Weevil

New Holland's Grassland News says a strain of Algerian alfalfa could provide the breeding stock needed to develop weevil-resistant alfalfa.

The Algerian strain interferes with the egg laying habits of the adult alfalfa weevil, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture report.

If the bottoms of rosebud stems are charred with a match flame, the flower will stay in the bud stage longer.

2nd Annual Big Pumpkin Search Is On

The second annual Big Pumpkin contest for youngsters under 18 years of age is underway. The sponsor is the Men's Garden Clubs of America.

Deadline for entering is Nov. 1.

Last year's winner of a $25 U.S. Savings Bond was Hilda Thompson of Pheba Miss, who grew a 98-pounder.

There are 15 other prizes. The grower must send a picture of the pumpkin or curcubit and himself and certification of weight to George Spader, executive secretary Men's Garden Clubs of America, Morrisville, N.Y.

Refrigerate Apples for Short Storage

Apples can be stored for several days in your refrigerator. Michigan State University horticulturists say an outdoor pit or cellar is good for long-term storage of sound apples which are not over-ripe.

GRAND PRIZE — Mrs. Bessie Shepard, C-1 of Pontiac Mobile Home Park, 229 E. Walton, holds with pride the mobile community's top award for plot landscaping. A portion of the prize winning garden is seen in the background. Judging the contest were Leslie H. Huston, city commissioner, and Don Haigh of Haigh Trailer Park Real Estate Sales, Detroit.

Gardener's Fall Chores in Full Swing

In late summer, cooler weather gives gardeners relief from the heat of summer.

You'll notice plants perking up with greener foliage and more blossoms.

Late summer and early fall are prime times for building better lawns.

Grasses prefer cool weather generally. Lawns have more vigorous growth in spring and fall when temperatures are moderate.

LAWNS SUFFER

Most lawns suffer during the summer months.

Disease, drought, weeds, erosion, compaction and just plain wear, all take their toll.

Drought has been a big factor in lawn damage in many areas this year.

With cooler weather, the turf will go a long way toward correcting these conditions by itself.

Here are tips to give your lawn a big boost:

First step is to eliminate the weeds. Hand digging will do for just a few weeds, but an effective herbicide should be used or extensive weed problems. Use 2,4-D or 2,4,5-TP for broad-leaved weeds.

Read and heed the labels.

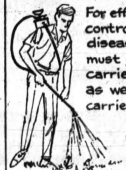

CRABGRASS ANNUAL

Crabgrass is an annual and will die with the first real frost.

HOME GARDENER'S Notebook

STOP WEEDS & PLANT DISEASES

If you have serious garden problems check with a qualified expert.

For effective control of garden diseases you must get rid of carrier-insects as well as carrier-weeds.

Rake out the dead weeds to give the grass a better chance to recover. Plan now to apply Dacthal to stop crabgrass in the spring.

Spray about lilac-blooming time.

Now apply fertilizer and limestone to give the grass a lift so that it will have an opportunity to harden off before the ground freezes.

Apply 6-8 pounds of a 10-4-4, 10-5 or 8-4-4 turf fertilizer per 1,000 square feet.

Apply 50 pounds of ground limestone per 1,000 square feet if none was applied last spring.

Your local garden supplier can advise you on soil testing for the most accurate fertilizer to use on your ground.

To give a complete carpet of grass for your home grounds, sow seed on any bare spots, roll firm and water well each day until seedlings are well established in the old bare spots.

Hyacinths Add Pleasant Odor to Your Garden

Many gardeners do not know that the hyacinth can be brilliantly-hued, pastel or pure white.

This sweet-smelling flowering bulb blooms over a many-week period each spring, charming all who are lucky to be close enough for a whiff of its heady perfume.

The Dutch hyacinth is gradually becoming known for its versatility in this country.

Formerly, the crisp flower with its tiny florets and perfect silhouette, was planted in geometrically-patterned, formal beds in an effect of haughty elegance.

Now the cheerful hyacinth is equally at home in contemporary gardens where it can be planted singly or in groups among evergreens or flowering shrubs.

Cultivates Garden Despite Handicap

Alton H. Carlton, 88 years old, may be confined to a wheelchair, but he still cultivates a large garden from his chair. • Carlton is a brother to Doyle Carlton, governor of Florida from 1929-33.

His wheelchair cultivation is a continuation of the life he has enjoyed since he was 10 years old and began working outdoors herding cattle.

Until three years ago, he managed to supervise his ranch aboard his 32-year-old horse, Ranger.

Peru Songbird Gets
Raves Again in U.S.

By DAVE SMITH
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Yma Sumac, the five-octave songbird from Peru, is making more like a hummingbird these days, flitting around the country in a new spurt of career activity.

Last spring the exotic beauty announced she intended to recapture her popularity in the United States, after a virtual silence in this country for nearly a decade.

Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra under conductor Zubin Mehta.

In between the flock of U.S. engagements, she'll sandwich the rest of the world, which she never neglected in all the years of her absence from U.S. stages.

Much of her hope was pinned on an August appearance in the Hollywood Bowl — her first there since August of 1950. And she was scared to death, she admitted — afterward.

"My first number went fine," she says, "but in the second, my legs were shaking so much I was afraid I might fall. Thank heaven for floor-length gowns. Nobody saw."

STARED AT MOON
"And when I sang 'Clair de Lune' — did you see the moon that night? Well, I just stared at it while I was singing and thought, 'Help me, help me. Just let me get through to-night.'"

She needn't have worried. She drew raves for her performance.

The legendary Sumac voice revealed itself as a still unique instrument — ranging easily from baritone crooning to stratospheric warbling in the coloratura range.

If anything, at 43, Miss Sumac has developed more power and more control over her immense voice, without seeming to have sacrificed any of the flexibility and liquid ease for which it was noted when she first made headlines in the late 1940s.

BROUGHT BOOKINGS

Her Hollywood Bowl homecoming did just what she hoped it would, she says. It got her bookings all over the country. Less than a week later she laid them out for five straight nights in Santa Barbara, Calif., then rested a bit before flying down to Peru to sing in the ancient Chimu city of Chan Chan, near Trujillo.

Then, back she comes, to sing Oct. 16 in Montreal, a month of dates in San Juan, Puerto Rico, and concerts in Denver, Chicago and New York.

Next February comes, one date that she's looking forward to with special relief: An appearance in Los Angeles beautiful music center with the Los

Happy-Sister

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Marlon Brando's sister, an Illinois farm wife, says the actor's son was "happy living on the farm."

Mrs. Francis Loving of Mundelein, Ill., was given custody of the boy, Christian Devl, 7, in a court ordered visit last February.

The mother, actress Anna Kashfi, is seeking a modification of the order.

Mrs. Loving testified Thursday that when the boy first arrived last March he engaged in name-calling, hair-pulling and spitting. After he had been there for awhile, she said, "He said he loved us and loved living on the farm."

Final arguments in the case were scheduled today.

ADOPTED VIET TOT — Mrs. Sandra Kendall takes 10-month-old Michelle Marie in her arms after her husband, who adopted the girl in Saigon, arrived home in Lansing from Viet Nam yesterday. Army Spec. 4 William Kendall apologized that the girl was "a bit nervous about press conferences."

Parents' Wait Ends

Viet Baby Arrives 'Home'

LANSING (AP)—A little Vietnamese baby, brought home from the war by a Lansing soldier, was getting acquainted with her new American mother today in a happy ending to bleak immigration problems.

Thursday, Mrs. Sandra Kendall was a nervous expectant mother pacing the waiting room at Capital City Airport.

Then she ran across the runway into a long embrace with her husband, Army Spec. 4 William Kendall, and her first child, 10-month-old Michelle Marie, an adopted orphan.

That ended a tense waiting period in which Kendall once thought he might have to leave the little girl in Saigon because federal authorities would not recognize the adoption under Vietnamese law.

Blonde mother

"She's starting to tolerate me now," the attractive, blonde adoptive mother said a few hours later.

Meanwhile, Kendall started catching up on sleep. He and Michelle Marie had spent a total of 36 hours on an airplane since leaving Saigon Tuesday and Kendall had been up all night Wednesday on the flight to Lansing.

Black-eyed Michelle Marie, whose natural parents were killed near Saigon, had a lipstick smudge on her cheek as the Kendalls turned to an impromptu airport news conference.

Frightened by the crowd, the baby began crying and Kendall apologized, "She's a bit nervous about press conferences."

FROM ORPHANAGE

Kendall adopted the girl from an orphanage on his 30th birthday, last March 11, and news that a visa finally had been arranged came two weeks ago, on Mrs. Kendall's 28th birthday.

Rep. Charles Chamberlain, R-Mich., and Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., interceded with the state department to obtain the visa.

Even during her airport waiting, Mrs. Kendall already was a very proud parent, discussing her shopping for baby clothes—"I'm afraid they'll all be too small."

Talking Michelle Marie in her arms on the airport runway, she pointed proudly and said: "See, there are those eight teeth I was telling you about."

11 POUNDS

Mrs. Kendall said Michelle Marie weighed just 11 pounds and was suffering from bug bites when her husband first saw her as a 3-month-old baby in the orphanage.

"He didn't want that to happen again," she said, referring to the Kendalls' scare when they were unable at first to obtain the visa.

3 Jackie Letters Sold

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three letters written by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and one penned by Lee Harvey Oswald, her husband's assassin, were among a vast assortment of memorabilia sold last night at auction.

Mrs. Kennedy's letters, written to actor Basil Rathbone, went for $1,800.

Also among the 214 items sold by Charles Hamilton Autographs, Inc., were:

- Sixteen other Oswald items, all offered for sale by his mother, including the assassin's baptismal certificate.
- Several letters and notes written by President John F. Kennedy, including one to a 95-year-old lifelong Republican thanking her for voting for him.
- A Beatles' program, autographed by the mop-topped British foursome.

New Korean Structure Honors U. M. Personnel

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — A colorful building, named "Freedom House," has been dedicated at this truce village in Korea's demilitarized zone to honor United Nations Command personnel killed since the Korean armistice was signed. The structure, built by the South Korean government, is a pagoda flanked by two exhibition rooms showing South Korea's developments in various fields.

California Boy Cheats Death in Battle With Plague

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In the woods near his home the little boy found a chipmunk. It was strangely tame and docile and it trembled as he cuddled it in his hands.

The boy didn't know the chipmunk was dying. Nor could anyone know that a flea hopped from the tiny creature and later hit the boy.

BACILLUS MOVING

Within hours, the bacillus of bubonic plague was beginning to move through the bloodstream of five-year-old Johnny Cox.

Bubonic plague, the "black death," probably has killed more persons than all the wars in which mankind has engaged.

Johnny Cox was in grave condition when he was taken to a hospital Sept. 17. There was a prompt diagnosis, although less than one per cent of the nation's doctors has ever seen a case of plague.

Massive shots of antibiotics followed. As days passed, the progress of the disease slowed, then halted.

GOING HOME

Doctors reported Johnny should be able to go home early next week.

Dr. Edward Shaw, head of the department of pediatrics at University of California Medical Center, San Francisco, said Johnny had the least serious form of bubonic plague. The type is known as "sylvatic plague" from the Latin word for woods or forest.

Sylvatic plague has been discovered among wild rodents in 131 counties of 15 western states. It is transmitted by fleas and is found in field mice, ground squirrels, rabbits, prairie dogs, chipmunks and other creatures of woods and fields.

Johnny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox of the Northern California foothill community of Shingletown, Shasta County. His father is employed in a lumber mill.

BECAME ILL

A day or so after the chipmunk incident, his family was visiting in Santa Rosa, 50 miles north of San Francisco.

Johnny became ill. His fever soared and he had chills. His head ached. There were sharp pains in his arms and legs, and swelling of the lymph glands in the neck, armpits and groin.

At Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital two pediatricians, Dr. Louis Manachof and Dr. George Rostel, held urgent consultations and came up with the diagnosis — the plague. Emergency treatment began.

On Sept. 21, Johnny was transferred to the University Medical Center in San Francisco. Under direction of Dr. Shaw, the diagnosis first was double-checked. Some fluid from the boy's bone marrow was applied to a couple of experimental mice. They died.

BOY TREATED

Treatments began to build up the use of sulfadiazine and anti-biotics such as streptomycin, and the more recently developed tetracyclines.

By Sept. 27, Johnny was able to tell reporters who visited him at the hospital: "I had a chipmunk once, but it died. I don't like chipmunks anymore. I'm not going to play with them anymore."

There have been three cases of sylvatic plague in California in the past five years, with one death.

The more virulent plague type, the black death, is carried by fleas on infected rats. It killed a fourth of the population of Europe in the 1300s. From the late 1800s into the early years of this century, more than 10 million died in Asia.

In 1899 bubonic plague entered New York City from South America — carried by ship-borne rats — and the next year it came to San Francisco, probably from Hong Kong. It also has appeared in New Orleans and Seattle.

But wherever it has showed in this country, the U.S. Public Health Service has been able to stem it with quarantines, sanitation — and rate extermination programs.

Electric heat is the clean, modern heat—no flame, no fumes. It's a snap to install—costs less, too—because it's more compact and needs no flue. And only electric heat is 100% efficient; the heat is created right where it's used.

It's also economical. You can buy an attractive, low-operating-cost unit for as little as $35-$40 (plus thermostat and installation). And we're talking about a unit that can turn a 12' x 20' polar region into a tropical delight. Just dial the exact warmth you want, and you get it. Comfortable heat from head to feet.

So why shiver your timbers in a chilly bedroom, den, or basement any longer? There's a low-cost electric heating unit for every situation, including yours. Give us a call. We'll send an Edison Heating Specialist to discuss equipment, installation, and operating cost with you. There's no obligation, of course.

Michigan Hosts 175 High Schools at Annual Band Day

Sturgis Bass Drummer Sets Fast Tempo

Utica Majorettes Cheer For A Touchdown

Sophomore Dick Vidmer Sparks 'M' Victory

Cotton-candy clouds drifting across a deep blue sky warmed by the September sun set the perfect backdrop for the University of Michigan's 17th Annual Band Day, a half-time feature of U-M vs. California football game.

Dressed in uniforms of many colors, 14,500 musicians and twirlers pranced their way across Michigan Stadium Saturday, their brass and white fiber glass euphoniums bobbing like morning glories in a gentle breeze.

High schools represented included 174 from Michigan and one from New York state. The program of five selections was introduced by the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and closed with "America The Beautiful."

Thousands of rainbow-hued plumes, jiggled in unison as the batons of the twirlers rose and fell like silver pistons.

Dr. William Revelli, director of the U-M Marching Band, and George Cavender, associate professor and assistant band director, coordinated the half-time extravaganza.

Lower Michigan Dull,

but U.P. Is Colorful

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan said Thursday Upper Michigan's woods are "ablate with fall color," but "color tours" of Lower Michigan will not be very profitable this weekend. Heavy rain and wind storms have slowed the coloring process in Lower Michigan, a club spokesman said.

Anti-Sukarno Revolt Said Crushed

TRANSPORT DESIGN — The Defense Department yesterday announced the awarding of a multimillion dollar contract for development of the nation's largest transport

Lockheed, GE Get Call for 700-Seat Transport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has set out to build the world's largest airplane — the C-5A, capable of carrying up to 700 passengers.

The task of developing a new producing airplane bodies, wings, tails and other parts larger than ever before flown, was assigned yesterday to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s Georgia Division at Marietta, Ga.

The 40,000-pound-thrust jet engines — four to a plane — will be produced by the General Electric Co. of Cincinnati.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara estimated it will cost about $2 billion to develop the plane, produce the initial Air Force order of 50 and place the transport in operation by 1969.

The air frame project accounts for about $1.5 billion of the cost, the engines about $500 million.

The giant plane will weigh almost 350 tons, twice the gross tonnage of the largest U.S. military cargo plane now in service, the Douglas C-130H transport.

McNamara said the C-5A will carry three times as much cargo as the Lockheed C-141 jet freighter, which he called the most modern and efficient transport in the world today.

OU Welcomes Bill on Funds

Oakland University welcomed yesterday's decision of the Michigan legislature to consider passing a $1.2-million excess college enrollment appropriation bill which had been vetoed in a slightly different form last month by Gov. Romney.

"With our enrollment up 36 per cent," said Troy Crowder, OU's director of public relations, "this is great news for Oakland."

The number of students at OU jumped from 1,812 last year to 2,459 this fall, according to official enrollment figures released today.

Reconsideration of the adjusted contingency bill was the major item added to an autumn agenda which now stands at 32 items.

Today is the deadline for introduction of bills concerning agenda items.

The $1.2 million had been included as part of the 1965-66 budget when Romney vetoed it.

The money was to be distributed to the state's smaller colleges in event their enrollments went beyond the predicted maximum.

SHARE FOR OU
Should the new form of the bill pass, it is estimated OU's share would fall between $100,000 and $200,000.

Romney said at the time of his veto that a supplemental appropriation could take care of excess enrollment if the situation arose.

Other state colleges and universities which would probably qualify for the additional aid are Northern, Eastern, Western and Central Michigan universities, Grand Valley State, Ferris State and Michigan Tech.

Majority Democrats had intended to add the item earlier.

QUICK ADDITION
In fact, such an appropriation bill already had been introduced and reported to the Senate floor from committee before Republicans pointed out the topic wasn't on the agenda. It was quickly added.

'City Growing in Affluence' Cong Suffer Big Losses in Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. military spokesman today reported one of the biggest battles in the Mekong Delta in months, with 88 Viet Cong bodies counted and another 100 guerrillas believed killed or wounded.

The spokesman said four government battalions — more than 1,500 troops — fought a day-long battle yesterday with an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong about 20 miles west of My Tho.

U.S. Army advisers were with the government troops. U.S. casualties were described as very light.

The South Vietnamese suffered light casualties in the fighting, the spokesman said, but took moderate losses when the Viet Cong ambushed a river boat bringing reinforcements.

In the air war, B-52 bombers from Guam staged their 36th raid of the war. Their target was a suspected Viet Cong position in Quang Ngai Province, 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Four Americans were killed in the crash of a U.S. Army helicopter from the 1st Cavalry Division at An Khe. Enemy action was not a factor. Three other Americans were killed in North Viet Nam when the Communists shot down two planes on a bombing mission 55 miles south of Hanoi.

U.S. military authorities said one of the planes, an F105 Thunderchief, was apparently shot down by a surface-to-air missile. Three other planes have been reported down by missiles in North Viet Nam this year.

In Saigon, five convicted murderers and rapists were executed but a sixth man, reportedly a Viet Cong agent, was spared.

The execution took place before dawn in the market place. The government refused to say whether the reprieve of the sixth man resulted from recent Communist threats to execute more American prisoners if the South Vietnamese killed more Viet Cong men.

Army Credited With Foiling Bid to Grab Power in Indonesia

TOKYO (AP) — Indonesian Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution has crushed an uprising against President Sukarno and both he and Sukarno are safe and well, Radio Jakarta reported tonight.

The broadcast announcement came a few hours after a Revolutionary Council led by Lt. Col. Untung, a battalion commander in Sukarno's bodyguard, announced it had seized power and proclaimed itself "the source of all authority."

GEN. NASUTION

Country's Fate Still a Mystery

Concern Voiced Over Role of Red Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials reported today, hours after a political upheaval in Indonesia, that the fate of the country was still unclear.

There was concern in diplomatic quarters here over the possibility of a Communist bid for power which could put the populous island nation under Red Chinese domination — but officials insisted that the Communist issue was as uncertain as any other for the time being.

Reports reaching the state department from the U.S. embassy at Jakarta, the capital, were described as preliminary.

The reports, from Ambassador Marshall Green, generally paralleled those in news dispatches from the Far East, which were based on what the revolutionary council was saying about its own authority and the events which put it in power.

LI. Col. Untung, described as assistant of President Sukarno's bodyguard and the apparent head of the revolutionary move, was described by Washington experts as a political unknown.

ROLE UNCLEAR
They refused to characterize him as either pro-Communist or pro-Western.

The nature of the early reports from Indonesia, however, describing the installation of the new council as a step to counter a planned coup by military leaders in the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, was generally interpreted here as meaning that the action was anti-United States and probably pro-Communist.

For several years, the populous island nation has been swinging closer and closer to the Red Chinese orbit, and it appeared that the Communist issue might be a vital element in the present emergency.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said early today that preliminary dispatches from the embassy showed that something irregular was happening in Jakarta but the shape of events was not clear.

"We'll be watching the situation closely," McCloskey said. "But we can't define it now and can't comment on it."

October Whirls In on Westerly Winds

October breezed in this morning on westerly winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour. Skies mostly cloudy will clear late today.

Cooler temperatures are forecast for tonight, the low slipping to 38 to 45.

Skies will be partly cloudy tomorrow with temperatures warming up to 57 to 64. Sunday's prediction is partly cloudy and slightly warmer.

The low mercury reading prior to 8 a.m. was 51. The temperature at 1 p.m. was 56.

DEATH NEAR — Five men, tied to stakes in front of a sandbag barricade, await death before dawn today in Saigon's market place. The five, convicted of criminal offenses, were in no way related to Viet Cong activities. Seconds after this picture was made, the men were executed.

County's CD Director: Scandal Is Unlikely Here

Chances of a civil defense scandal in Oakland County, similar to the one brought to light this week in Bay County, are very remote.

This was the observation of Oakland County Civil Defense Director Wallace C. Crane who based the statement on tight controls in effect here.

Crane said that all requests for civil defense materials from county municipalities and police departments must be approved by the civil defense office.

The municipality or law enforcement agency may then make the purchase at the federal surplus center in Jackson, which is operated by General Services Administration (GSA).

Billing for all such purchases goes to the county civil defense office which, in turn, bills the actual purchaser.

COUNTY HANDLING

All transactions of this nature are handled through the county accounting department.

Besides the tight controls on the purchase of surplus items for civil defense use, the actual use of these materials is closely scrutinized, according to Crane.

"If a given community has a certain number of gas masks in its possession, we expect to find this number of masks on inspection," Crane said.

Crane called the alleged misuse of equipment and shortage of funds in Bay County an unfortunate incident which casts a shadow over all civil defense organizations.

LEVIED CHARGES

The charges were levied by the State Auditor General's Office following a six-week investigation of the Bay County civil defense operation.

Acting Auditor General Allison Green said his office also is pursuing leads relating to Arenac and Gladwin counties' civil defense functions.

Man Is Guilty in Knife Death

A Detroit man was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday in the fatal stabbing of a fellow worker this summer.

Joseph E. Strawther, 28, was charged with first degree murder, but an Oakland County Circuit Court jury returned the verdict on the lesser offense after deliberating about three hours.

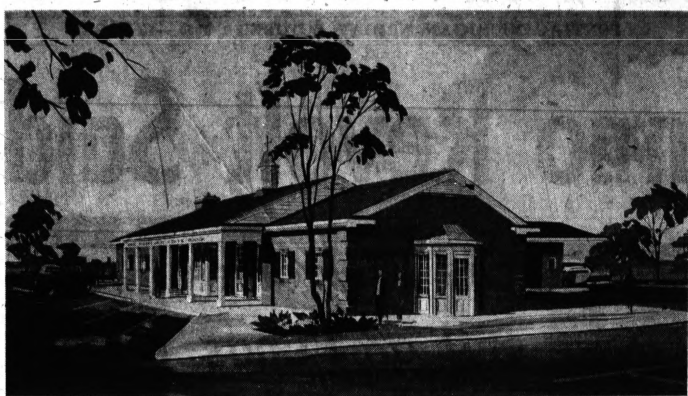

Judge William J. Beer will pronounce sentence at 9 a.m. on Oct. 26. Strawther faces a maximum 15-year prison term.

Strawther was found guilty of the July 14 slaying of Guittman Williams, 39, also of Detroit, during an argument in West Bloomfield Township.

The men, employed by a Detroit lumber company, were tearing down a home on Locklin Road that had burned.

The dispute started when Strawther accused Williams of stealing his wallet, according to Sheriff's deputies.

Alaska is organizing boroughs similar to counties in other states to take responsibility for rural schools. The state has no counties.

Sketch Shows Design Of New Pontiac State Bank Branch Offices

Pontiac State Bank to Build 3 Branches

Construction of three new branch offices in the Pontiac area was announced today by Pontiac State Bank.

Milo J. Cross, board chairman, made the announcement.

Designed by Harry Denyes & Associates of Pontiac, all three offices will have the same Early American architecture similar to the four new offices opened in 1964.

Two of the projected branch offices are to be completed about May 1, 1966. Construction is to begin the first of November.

RELOCATING BRANCH

The latter office will house the present Drayton Plains branch which is being relocated because of the lack of sufficient space and parking at its present quarters.

The third office will be located on Joslyn, between Madison and LeBaron, across from the Pontiac Motor Division Engineering building.

Construction on the third office is due to begin July 1 next year with occupancy planned for Dec. 1, 1966.

Cross said all the new buildings would have eight teller windows, three drive-in windows, safe deposit boxes, night depository, new modern banking equipment and ample free parking.

Actress Malone Makes Progress, but Still Critical

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Dorothy Malone was "definitely making progress," but was "still in critical condition," Cedars of Lebanon Hospital spokesmen reported today.

Miss Malone, 40, underwent surgery to remove blood clots from her lungs last week. Thursday, spokesmen said, "she said she was very tired from the ordeal."

"She is still taking massive doses of antibiotics, but she's speaking in her normal voice," said asked about her children and her family," they said.

Miss Malone has two daughters, Mimi, 5, and Diane, 3, by her former husband, actor Jacques Bergerac.

Two Mute Children Found in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A citywide search for two pupils from a Detroit school for mute and deaf children ended Thursday afternoon, 19 hours after it had begun.

Police said Linda Jean Burge, 10, and James Spears, 16, were in "fairly good spirits" when found in southwest Detroit.

Ronald Pietryko, 13, of Detroit, who accompanied Linda to a drugstore Wednesday night, told police she left with Spears when he offered her a ride on his bicycle.

Relief From Chill Nil

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UP)—Workers at the Federal Land Bank office moved into their new office earlier this month. Yesterday was a bit chilly so they tried to light the gas furnace. They couldn't. Someone had forgotten to put in a gas line.

Erratic Weather Prevails in September

After registering normal readings the first part of the month, September's weather took an erratic turn.

On the 18th, the temperature soared to 90, then reached the same high point the next day.

Not only was it warm and humid during the day, but nighttime temperatures fell to lows of only 70 on the 18th and 69 the following day.

Then, after a gradual cooling-off period, the thermometer fell to a crisp 36 the night of the 27th after registering a high of 52 and low of 40 the previous day.

The mean temperature for the month was 64.4 which compares to 63.7 for the same month a year ago and a mean of 69.3 last month.

MONTHLY RAINFALL

Rainfall in September was 1.75 inches compared to 1.15 inches in the same month a year ago. Precipitation last month was 2.24 inches.

Normal rainfall for September is 2.44 inches and the normal mean temperature is 65.1.

Despite below-average precipitation last month, rain fell 11 of the 30 days, with a half-inch downpour on the 22nd the highest recorded for the month.

Sunshine brightened 19 days of last month even though some rain fell on six of these days.

The greatest single-day temperature variance occurred on the 17th when the reading rose from 50 to 87 as a cool spell gave way to a late summer heat wave.

Study Shows City Higher in Affluence report, 17.6 per cent of the local families are listed as having $7,000 to $10,000 after taxes; 35.1 per cent fall in the $4,000 to $7,000 category; and 13.1 per cent in the $2,500 to $4,000 class.

Nationally, the figures portray a population that is growing more affluent year by year.

MINOR GAINS

Despite the good times, however, the Social Security Administration reports that only minor gains have been made in improving the lot of people in poverty circumstances.

It finds that there are still 34.1 million persons in that group, only 1.2 million fewer than a year ago.

Chamber of Commerce Moving to New Office

BIRMINGHAM — Today is moving day for the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce.

After spending three weeks in temporary quarters, chamber administrators have moved into a suite "that's a little less temporary."

The new quarters are in Room 251 of the Briggs Building.

The chamber was among those businesses and professional men routed from offices in the Savings and Loan Building by a Labor Day fire.

The second floor of the building was gutted and much of the first floor destroyed in the blaze.

SHIFTS OPERATION

So the chamber temporarily shifted its operations base to 950 E. Maple, as the guests of three local attorneys.

Its new suite includes two rooms, which executive director Knowles Smith is attempting to furnish with pieces either borrowed or received as gifts.

Desks, chairs, a file cabinet, typewriters and office machines still are needed, Smith said.

He noted that surplus mimeograph and adding machines are a little hard to come by.

REGULAR HOURS

Now located — if not settled — in its own office, the chamber will maintain regular weekday hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Meanwhile, the chamber's house and quarters committee is attempting to work out a permanent arrangement.

Some 150 persons are expected to attend the Monday night Ladies Night program of the Birmingham Hi-12 Club.

The evening will begin with a 6:30 dinner at the Community House.

Mailers, Times Reach Accord

NEW YORK (AP) — A stepped-up drive to settle the 15-day-old AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild-New York Times strike was expected today following an accord between the Mailers Union and publishers.

The Mailers and the Publishers Association of New York reached agreement Thursday on the key issue of job security. With the prime stumbling block removed, special mediator Theodore W. Kheel said he expected remaining minor issues to be settled today.

"The effort now will be to concentrate very intensely on solving the Times-Guild dispute," Kheel said.

Kheel had asked the Guild and the Times on Wednesday to submit packaged proposals to speed up negotiations. The Guild agreed Thursday to draw up its proposals, but as negotiations ended Thursday night it appeared that each side was waiting for the other side to act first.

New Post Created by OCC Board

A new Oakland Community College vice presidency was created last night as the board of trustees revised the college's projected administrative structure, lowering the net annual salaries outlay by $104,000.

In the administrative organization change, 13 proposed intermediate positions were eliminated to create the vice president-campus administration post and boost the responsibilities and salaries of three key administrators.

The new vice presidency will become effective next September. A salary of $29,000 was specified.

Presently the college has two vice presidents, one in charge of curriculum and the other in charge of business affairs.

Eliminated by the board were projected positions of two student personnel deans, nine assistant deans and two health services directors.

CONCENTRATED RESPONSIBILITY

The board felt that these positions, proposed in the original administrative organization plan could be eliminated with the concentration of responsibility at the top level.

Total annual salary saving for the 13 positions is computed at $131,000.

The new vice presidency and pay increases for the three administrators with expanded duties will cost $27,000 annually, thus the net savings of $104,000.

Dr. Richard Wilson was named dean of instruction with a $3,000 salary increase to $15,000.

GRANTED INCREASES

Increases of $2,000 were granted to Arthur Jalkanen, who was named dean of personnel and to Robert Froelich who was appointed director of campus services.

These appointments and the promotion of Associate Dean Irving Levinson to dean of faculty on the Highland Lakes campus at a salary of $14,000 all are effective today.

In other business last night the board approved language revisions in its pending $7 million bonding resolution which it originally authorized in August.

The bond issue to underwrite construction of new campus facilities must be approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

TO OPEN BIDS

College officials expect to open bids on the first phase of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Oct. 12 but prospects of opening this campus in January 1967 as planned are remote.

College President John E. Tirrell said it appears now that completion can be expected in the summer of 1967 due to conditions in the construction industry.

Farewell Signal to Cut Contact With Mariner 4

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory planned to send a "farewell and well-done" signal through 191 million miles of space today to Mariner 4, the spacecraft that photographed the face of Mars last July 14.

Spokesmen said the signal would cut off the U.S. spacecraft's high-power antenna as Mariner 4 soars on in its orbit around the sun.

But, they added, they will try to reestablish contact in the summer of 1967, when Mariner 4's orbit will bring it back toward earth, as close as 29 million miles, for a possible rerun of the 21 historic Mars photos.

Escape Plot Possible

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — The Sonoma County sheriff's office is checking the possibility that at least one of the 10 prisoners in the county jail has thoughts of escape. Guards found three sawed bars on a shower window and four pieces of hacksaw blades.
