Grisly Accident Photos Shown to Kent Drivers

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The sign above the drivers license application desk in the Kent County Sheriff's Department asks:

"Are you next?"

"Its question directs applicants' attention to an adjoining chart which contains 23 grisly photographs of fatal traffic accident scenes this year in the county, outside of Grand Rapids.

Sheriff Arnold O. Pigorsh said the chart, hung last month, has ceased to be a mere thought-provoker for new drivers. He said only 42 photo spaces were allotted and claims the chart will outgrow itself by October if the fatality rate continues at its present pace.

Ike Back in Washington

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower returned to Washington early today after a long Memorial Day weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Freed Flier's Father Pledges to Aid Others

By ROLLAND CAMERON
(As told to the New York Journal-American)
LINCOLN, Neb. (INS) — I happen to be a very lucky father today. My boy, 1st Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, stepped into freedom after 43 months in a Red Chinese jail.

When he crossed the line into British Hong Kong early this morning my wife and I won a long battle with ourselves. We had kept our determination never to lose heart even though we suffered setbacks from official quarters while we did everything in our power to get him freed.

Now we're just as determined to win the next battle. Neither I, nor any member of my family will either want, or be allowed to rest until they're all set free.

This isn't a threat. Nor is it politics. There is no such thing as politics when American lives are concerned.

Our boys in uniform are neither Republicans nor Democrats. When they're fighting anywhere in the world, they're just plain Americans — and they're the individual sons of every single one of us that has stayed behind.

That's why I won't forget, nor will any member of my family forget that we still have a "son" in foreign captivity, just as long as there is a single American in a Chinese jail.

News of my boy's capture came to my wife, Dorothy, and myself on our 25th wedding anniversary. News of his release came three weeks after his 26th birthday. We've got a lot to make up to him for.

But we've got just as much to make up to the others who are still being held. I'm starting to pay off that debt right now.

4 POWs Cross China Border After 2 Years

Freed Airmen Found in Very Good Physical Condition

HONG KONG (AP) — Four weary men came out of Red China today.

"Gee, it's wonderful to be back," Capt. Harold Fischer Jr. of Swea City, Iowa, told an American Red Cross representative as he and three other American fliers imprisoned for two years by Red China crossed the border north of here.

Lt. Col. John Norcross, U. S. medical officer, examined all four and said they were in "very good physical shape."

The men were taken to the Jockey Club in Kowloon on the mainland to change from the faded blue Chinese uniforms they were wearing.

The other three are Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, Lincoln, Neb.; Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Wynnewood, Pa., and Lt. Roland W. Parks, Omaha.

Cameron saw a banjo on a shelf at the Jockey Club and yelled: "What shall we sing, boys?" One of the fliers, already in the shower, belted back "Let's sing 'Cross Over the Bridge'."

LETTER WAITING

Heller was handed a letter from his wife. He walked a little to one side to read it.

Changed into fresh shirts and slacks, the men were taken to Kai-tak Airport. There they boarded the Bataan, the famous C-54, DC-4 which used to be Gen. Douglas MacArthur's personal plane, for a flight to Honolulu and reunion with Boyd A. Smith of Odessa, Tex., it will go via Wake Island and possibly Guam or Kwajalein.

Seventy newsmen crowded the airport ramp. British Royal Air Force police tried to hold them back, but they broke through.

The freed four lined up under a wing of the Bataan for a picture. "How does it feel to be back?" shouted a newsmen.

"Great... It's Wonderful," they chorused.

U. S. HOPEFUL

In Washington U. S. officials informally expressed confidence today that 11 more American fliers held by Communist China will be released in the near future.

Ultimately it is believed the Chinese Reds are aiming at breaking down United Nations trade barriers against Red China, winning U. N. membership and gaining recognition from the United States, Britain and France as a world power capable of sitting in on meetings like those of the Big Four.

McHale Moves to 3rd Round

Irish Joe Carr Joins U. S. Player After Win Over British Champ

ST. ANNES, England (UP) — Big Jimmy McHale of Wynnewood, Pa., and Ireland's Joe Carr led the way into the 3rd round of the British Amateur golf championship today after Bill Campbell, last year's runner-up, had been knocked out in the 1st round by an English "unknown."

McHale, former American Walker Cup player who is making his 5th try for the British title, turned in his 2nd one-sided victory, beating Dr. J. H. F. Thomas of England, 7 and 6.

Carr, Britain's top favorite to regain the title won last year by Doug Bachli of Australia, turned back Alan Thirwell, English champion, 2 and 1. Carr had a 1st round bye.

These 2nd round victories came after Campbell, American Walker Cup captain, had been eliminated. Completion of the 1st round today saw four Americans, paced by Frank Strafaci of Mineola, N. Y., win their matches and three others advance by default.

Other Americans didn't fare so well in early 2nd round matches although Joe Bullins Jr., of Winston Salem, N. C., came through with a 5 and 4 victory.

Richard Ashcroft of England defeated John W. Bailey of Grand Rapids, Mich., 3 and 2.

'Hero' and Young Brother Admit Killing

ADMIT HOLDUP SLAYING — State police said Brighton in a May 19 gas station holdup. The younger William Joles, Jr., 23 (left), and his brother, Daniel, boy had made a hero of his older brother, who had 18 (right), admitted killing Lawrence Jackson, of been a soldier.

Shot Victim to Avoid Capture

Ex-GI, Hero-Worshipping Brother Admit Rifle Murder of Brighton Gas Attendant

EAST LANSING (AP) — Two brothers — one an expert marksman as an Army occupation soldier, the other his youthful admirer — have confessed to the shot-in-the-back slaying of an 18-year-old Brighton gas station attendant.

William Joles, 23, and his brother, Daniel, 18, both of Mesick, confessed the killing after a four-hour grilling last night by State Police.

The older brother, also a deer hunter, detailed how he first shot his victim in the back using car headlights as a guide, then shot him again at almost point blank range.

They confessed to the Brighton slaying after they were arrested for questioning and admitted to an almost similar gas station holdup — without a killing — at Manton, near Cadillac, Saturday morning.

Rewards totaling more than $3,000 have been offered for the slayers who kidnaped and then shot twice through the heart young Lawrence Jackson Jr., of Brighton, May 19.

After they confessed to the crime, the brothers were taken to Howell over night. The Livingston County prosecutor is expected to ask for first degree murder warrants today.

SERVED IN ARMY

The older brother, who served honorably as an occupation soldier in Germany and won medals as a marksman, said he staged the Brighton robbery "to get money to get married."

He detailed in a signed statement how he forced young Jackson out of the car, ordered him to walk up the road, leaned his .32 caliber rifle on the door of the car, used the headlights for a guide and shot Jackson in the back.

"There wasn't anything else to do," he said. "He had seen the license plates of the car."

"Couldn't you have let him walk away?" reporters asked.

"I was afraid of being caught," he said.

The younger brother, who confessed first, said he was driving the car when William ordered him to stop.

"He said he didn't want to be shot. That he wanted to live," young Joles in his sob-wracked confession quoted Jackson as saying. "I asked him what he knew and he said he didn't know anything."

"Then Bill opened the door. I thought he was getting into the front seat. He told the kid to walk straight up the road. It was still dark and you could see him in the headlights. Then he shot and the kid staggered and fell."

The brothers then told how they stopped the car again and the older brother shot into the body at a range of about six feet.

STOLE RIFLE

The death rifle, the brothers said, was stolen from the home of a cousin, Clarence Joles, of Detroit. The brothers returned the weapon after the Brighton slaying and then stole it again for the second holdup where a gas station attendant was robbed and slugged.

Their father, William Joles, is a gunsmith, watch repair and small farmer near Mesick.

The brothers said they threw the rifle used in both crimes in a lake near the father's home following the second holdup.

UAW Requests Workers' Vote on Rival Plans

Reuther Seeks Secret Ballot in an Attempt to Avert Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers today clamped a 24-hour secrecy lid on their strike-threatening contract talks.

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has promised to answer today a challenge from the CIO United Auto Workers to let 140,000 Ford workers decide whether they want the union's guaranteed annual wage or the company's plan for employees to share in Ford ownership and profits.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW, proposed a binding secret vote of Ford workers on the question as a means of averting a strike after midnight tomorrow.

The union reported last week 96,541 Ford workers voted to strike to win a guaranteed annual wage and only 3,828 voted against a strike.

He made the proposal yesterday. A copy of the proposal was included in a letter from Reuther to Henry Ford II, company president.

The company asked for, and the union agreed to, a recess in negotiations until today.

Ford promised an answer "at the bargaining table as soon as we have given it (the union proposal) our full consideration."

Reuther proposed the ballot question be confined to the year-around pay against three proposals in the Ford "package" that incorporate what the company calls its "partnership in prosperity" plan. They are the Ford stock participation, income stabilization and separation allowance plans.

The vote would be taken by an independent agency within two weeks.

The current contract would be extended on a day-to-day basis, and negotiations would continue on other parts of the contract.

The result of the vote would bind both parties to negotiate whichever plan the employees pick.

The company's offer includes a provision for employees to buy Ford stock at half price. Interest-free loans for laid-off workers are also part of the offer.

The big issue of the week will be whether the House and Senate Taxation Committees can agree on a revision of the business receipts tax to balance the budget.

"One Senate leader, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) said flatly that if the tax light is not settled by Friday night the Legislature will have no alternative but to recess.

The big issue of the week will be whether the House and Senate Taxation Committees can agree on a revision of the business receipts tax to balance the budget.

RETURNING TODAY
The lawmakers will return this afternoon from a long weekend recess with some odds and ends to clean up. Today is the last day for passing bills in either chamber.

Senate leaders appeared to be weakening in one respect in their support of their own business receipts tax change. They appeared to concede that the Legislature must raise the 30 million dollars in new revenue which the House advocates.

The Senate bill would raise about 23 million dollars, reportedly.

But neither chamber has shown signs of agreeing on a complex formula for computing the tax on multistate businesses.

Starting tomorrow and continuing through the week, make-up shots will be administered to first and second graders who missed second round Salk inoculations.

The shots will be given at the main office of the Oakland County Health Dept. 15 W. Huron St. and the south county office, 2401 E. Fourth St., Royal Oak.

Second round shots have not been given in all county areas yet because of a lack of vaccine. The make-up shots are only for youngsters from areas where the shots have been given.

The plane hit in a meadow with such force only the tail section remained whole. It burst into flames 50 yards from a house.

Arlyn Bruer, a reporter for the Alamogordo Daily News, who went to the scene with an Air Force investigation team sent to remove the bodies, said "There was nothing left of the plane but the tail. The rest was just mangled wreckage."

Bruer said a woman pilot told him she observed the plane going down. "She saw the plane coming down with its motors stalled," he said.

A board will inquire into the cause of the crash.

The crash scene was 15 to 20 miles north of here.

Air Force spokesman at Holloman said the plane sent no distress signals.

Ford Strike Would Cost Workers $3 Million Daily

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch exclusively sets forth for the first time exactly how much it will cost the 140,000 Ford employees to go on strike against Ford Motor Co., a privately owned concern of the Ford family, never files annual statements which would include such figures.)

DETROIT (UP)—It will cost Ford Motor Co. workers nearly $3,000,000 a day to go on strike Thursday if a settlement of the current contract dispute isn't reached.

The figure includes the $2,690,000 a day Ford workers get in direct wages from the company and an extra $2.50 a day per worker in fringe benefits.

In just three weeks, in direct

AMA Reveals Vaccine Plans

Asks Members to Aid by Cooperating With Voluntary Priority

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Assn. has asked its members to cooperate in a voluntary government priority plan for polio inoculations of children 5 through 9.

In a statement released yesterday through Chicago headquarters, Dr. Walter B. Martin of Norfolk, Va., president of the AMA, said:

"The AMA has been assured that technical problems relating to the safe manufacture of polio vaccine have been worked out and the vaccination program will move ahead."

"In behalf of myself and the AMA Board of Trustees I have assured President Eisenhower that the nation's physicians will cooperate in limiting polio vaccination to children from 5 through 9 until the vaccine is available in larger supply."

He said the physicians will keep a record of each child vaccinated, including the name, age and date of vaccination, the manufacturer of the vaccine and the lot number.

Ex-GI, Kid Brother Admit Rifle Murder

4 and needed money for the wedding.

Both brothers are neat appearing, well spoken and clean cut. Both had pompadour haircuts. The older brother wore a white shirt open at the neck, the younger a yellow sports shirt.

The brothers said they purchased a six-can package of beer the night of the slaying. The older brother said he had "a couple" and the younger said he had "taste of one." Both said they had never used narcotics.

The younger brother appeared most affected by the fact of the killing.

"The poor kid . . . the poor kid . . ." he sobbed several times when telling of the shooting. "Being sorry doesn't help bring that kid's life back," he said later. "God is making me tell about this crime."

ADMIRED BROTHER
He told of how much he admired his older brother and how much he missed him when he was in the service.

After the second gas station hold-up the brothers were stopped by State Police. Although it was only about an hour after the holdup they had changed clothes and were released because they were known by troopers to live in the vicinity.

A checkback made the brothers prime suspects and they were arrested in Grand Rapids Monday after a statewide call was put out.

Turnpike Authority Claims Toll Roads Cut Accidents

The Michigan Turnpike Authority (MTA) today released figures which it claims show a "substantial" reduction in injury and property-damage accidents would be brought about by construction of the proposed Rockwood-Saginaw toll road.

"State police records show 136 persons killed on highways U.S. 10, 23, 24, 25 and M15 during 1954 in sections which will be relieved by the north-south pike," the MTA said.

"Estimated total economic loss in auto accidents in these sections during the year totaled over $15,000,000."

MTA Chairman William E. Slaughter said traffic surveys forecast about 26,000,000 potential toll-road trips yearly from these highways of which some 38 per cent would actually be diverted to the turnpike.

Slaughter said his claim the pike would save lives and money is based on the latest traffic safety figures from other operating turnpikes and national safety officials.

DEATH RATES DOWN
They show, he stated, the average death rate per 100,000 miles, by auto in the nation at 6.3 and in Michigan at 6.6 in 1954. Death rate per 100,000 miles on the New Jersey Turnpike last year was 2.4. The New York Thruway was 2.4 and the Pennsylvania Turnpike 4.2.

"With the Rockwood to Saginaw pike in operation and with the

Shift Announced by State Police

Sgt. Melvin Will, Head of Pontiac Post, Slated to Retire Thursday

Sgt. Melvin Will, commander of the Pontiac State Police Post since 1941, will retire Thursday after 25 years of service, according to an announcement by Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

Named to replace Will was Sgt. Charles H. Mulick, currently assigned at the Operations Office at State Police headquarters at East Lansing.

Sgt. Will, who joined the force in 1930, served at East Lansing, St. Clair, Paw Paw and South Haven. In 1942 he commanded the White Pigeon Post and on June 1, 1944 he was promoted to sergeant and assigned here.

After joining the force in 1937, Sgt. Mulick served at the Alpena, Romeo, Traverse City and East Tawas Posts. He was promoted to sergeant in 1954 and assigned to the Operations and Communications Bureau at headquarters. He holds citations for bravery and meritorious service.

Recent figures compiled by Ford's chief competitor, Chevrolet, showed exactly why the auto industry is the keystone of the nation's economy.

In turning out 10,000 cars in one day recently, Chevrolet used so much steel it would take a plant employing 20,000 workers to turn out enough steel to keep pace.

It would take a tire plant employing another 10,000 to turn out enough tires. It would take a glass company employing 4,500 to turn out enough glass.

SAME FOR FORD
The figures would be roughly the same for Ford.

The Automobile Manufacturers' Association has compiled statistics showing every job in an auto plant requires another job in a supplier firm. The $14,800,000 the Ford workers would lose in wages each year if they go on strike would be merely the beginning.

Holiday Safety Campaign Here Marked Success

Due to its success here over the weekend, the holiday safety campaign sponsored by the Oakland County Red Cross Chapter will be continued during future holiday critical traffic periods, according to Mrs. Mildred Bennett, executive secretary.

A total of 167 volunteers worked an average of seven hours each a day during the 78-hour holiday weekend. There were 30 cars, manned by radio-ham operators and first aid teams, working a total of 1,169 hours.

The first-aid teams, coordinated by a main dispatch center, rendered aid to injured persons throughout the county after accidents were reported to them by police.

Chairman of the huge operator was Leon Bumgardner. Mrs. Bennett said another chairman would soon be selected for the July 4th project.

The Day in Birmingham Voters League to Decide Position on Bond Issue

BIRMINGHAM—The League of Women Voters has called a special membership meeting for Thursday night at Birmingham High School to decide whether to support a multi-million dollar school bond issue.

The proposition will be on the June 13 ballot. It calls for a $5,500,000 bond issue to pay for an expansion program which includes constructing, remodeling and furnishing certain schools in the Birmingham School District.

League President Mrs. John Rumsey said the meeting would start at 8 o'clock. The membership will be asked to decide whether it will take a stand on "this extremely crucial issue," she said.

"If we cannot put the league on record either way, the Voters' Guide will have to be published with only the 'bare bones' of information," Mrs. Rumsey said, "and no indication of the stand taken by the League, which we know our public awaits."

In an information bulletin to League members, Mrs. Rumsey said the pros and cons of the school bond proposal would be discussed by able and informed people, including Mrs. Charles Blunt, Charles E. James and Bennett Root.

The school board earlier this month, acting on recommendations by a citizens' advisory group, approved placing the proposal on the ballot.

The money would be used to defray cost of building and furnishing five new elementary school buildings, erecting and furnishing additions to five existing elementary school buildings, remodeling the older portions of Adams, Barnum, Pierce, Quanton, Bloomfield Village, Franklin and Walnut Lake school buildings, and acquiring property for future school expansion in the district.

Mrs. Robbins Milbank, assistant to the president of Smith College, will deliver the commencement address at Kingswood School, Cranbrook, June 11.

Henry S. Booth, Bloomfield Hills, C. Theron Van Dusen and Robert Silbar, Birmingham, were elected recently to the board of directors of the Oakland County Citizens League.

Thomas Henderson
Service will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning for Thomas Henderson, 747 Ruffner, Birmingham, at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Henderson died Sunday. He was 69.

Burial will be in the Michigan Memorial Park at Flat Rock. A native of Scotland, Henderson retired from the Wyandotte Chemical Co., Wyandotte, Mich., in 1950 and moved to Birmingham.

Survivors include a daughter, Miss Jessie Henderson, and a son, Henry, at home; a brother and a sister in Scotland.

Queen Declares an Emergency

Eden Given Powers to Protect the Economy of Strike-Torn Britain

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today signed a royal proclamation declaring a national emergency to take effect tonight in her strike-torn nation.

The Queen, vacationing at Balmoral Castle in the Scottish Highlands, gave Prime Minister Eden widespread powers to deal with the rail and dock strikes slowly paralyzing the economic life of Britain.

The Queen signed the proclamation at a meeting with three members of the Privy Council—her advisers.

Eden sought the powers "to protect the nation" as the strike of 70,000 railway engineers and firemen went into its third day with strike leaders asserting "our fellows are determined to see this through."

Under a national emergency, the Prime Minister can call out troops and requisition transport and supplies if necessary to maintain the nation's essential services.

The nation faced its gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926.

Throws Away Tags
NE WLONDON, Conn. (UP)—Officer Joseph Rafferty stopped a woman motorist because her automobile registration plates bore 1954 inserts. The woman promptly showed Rafferty her 1953 registration certificate. When asked where the new inserts for the plates were, she said, "Oh, those, I threw them away."

3 Pontiac CAP Members Get Scholarships

Three members of Pontiac squadron 6318-2 were among 103 Michigan Civil Air Patrol personnel recently chosen to receive flight scholarship awards, presented at Olds Auditorium in Lansing.

The three winners are 2nd Lt. Erma Haynes, 1st Lt. Neal Ulmen and Cadet Frances Affolder. The awards consist of 10 hours dual flight training, which may be taken anywhere in the state, according to Sgt. Dee Robinson, public information officer for the Pontiac squadron.

Miss Haynes and three other members of the squadron will receive Red Cross instructor's cards in first aid June 18. Completing the 36 hour instructor course, besides Miss Haynes were 1st Lt. Robert Turner, Cadets Archie Haynes and Wesley Jennings.

A new Chaplain, the Rev. Wesley R. Wibley, pastor of First Assembly of God Church in Pontiac, joined the squadron this month, Miss Robinson said.

2 Israelis, Egyptian Killed by Artillery

JERUSALEM (AP)—Two Israelis and an Egyptian soldier were reported killed and six Israelis wounded in a heavy three-hour artillery battle yesterday in the Gaza trouble area.

Each nation charged the other with opening fire.

A spokesman said one of the Israeli dead and four of the wounded were civilians. An Egyptian spokesman in Gaza admitted his troops had pumped shells into civilian settlements in the area, in an effort to silence Israeli batteries there, he claimed.

HALF our present work force is making and selling things that were unknown in 1900. There are new careers today in industry, in science, in the arts, in farming—in almost every type of work.

Many of these new careers are open to women—and women are quickly moving into jobs once reserved for men. For instance, there are now 6,500 women engineers, compared to 730 in 1940.

With our population soaring, there will also be a growing demand for people in the "traditional" occupations—such as law, medicine, banking, teaching, merchandising, life insurance, government.

For most good jobs today, higher education is required. That's why millions of families are making sure the children will have money for college, whether or not the father lives to see them through. They can do this through life insurance. Already, thousands of young people have been helped through school by life insurance plans.

And people are using life insurance for many other purposes—to guarantee money for the family in case of the father's death . . . to cover the mortgage . . . to help build an adequate retirement program.

Today, life insurance is owned by 93 million men, women and children. It is America's most popular form of thrift.

Really Digs Him

Thief Sorry He Robbed Home of Sammy Davis

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Joan Crawford now answers to "Joan Steele." (Remember when she was "Joan Tone," Mrs. Franchot? They gave her the Joan Steele tag all evening at a party which the Sonny Werblins threw at Maud Chez Elle. Ex-Champ, Tony Canzoneri gave his daughter Denise a 17th birthday dinner in his new restaurant, then showed her films of his fight with Billy Petrolle when he was at his peak.

"What'd you think of the old man?" Tony asked her.

"Gee, Daddy," she answered, "I didn't know you were such a beautiful dancer."

Jane Wyman had to dress in a sound truck on 50th St. when all-night shooting started inside St. Patrick's Cathedral on "Miracle in the Rain," for of course there are no dressing rooms in the church.

They Had Good Reason for Putting On Speed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Patrolmen curbed a truck yesterday they said was making 80 miles an hour when they first spotted it.

Inside were three boys nervously juggling some items they said they were in a hurry to bury.

Police identified the stuff as three sticks of dynamite and four electric detonator caps stolen a week ago from a construction site.

Trained Bank Men Are Difficult to Find

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The problem of securing trained men for the jobs of bank presidents and bank officers came under study today at the 53rd annual convention of the American Institute of Banking.

Dr. Leroy Lewis, of New York, director of education for the national organization, said, "Finding capable trained people to fill vacancies at the executive level is one of the most serious problems facing banks today."

"It has been said that banking needs 1,000 new bank presidents and 5,000 new bank officers every year."

Judge Turns Down Bailiffs' 'Kind Offer'

HOUSTON (AP)—Judge Byron Johnson complained yesterday he had no ravel for his courtroom.

The judge went right on hearing cases, but declined what the bailiffs called their "kind offer."

She is Linda Koelle, 6, only child of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Koelle Jr. She has paralytic polio, the third such case. The other seven children who contracted the disease after taking the new serum had nonparalytic cases.

Linda was reported getting along very well.

Bob Considine Says:

Wanted: Starving Young Playwrights to Aid

NEW YORK (INS) — If you're ever going to write that hit play, write it soon. My friend John Golden, who has given the theater so many of its golden years, is getting impatient and frustrated.

He took a $300 advertisement in the program of the 1955 Lambs Gambol to say that he and his associates would be most happy to pay for your garret, candle, quill and jug if you'd just get around to submitting a tantalizing first act.

The incredible John Golden wrote or produced the likes of Turn to the Right, Lightnin', 3 Wise Fools, The First Year, Dear Me, Thank-U, Spite Corner, The Serpent's Tooth, Seventh Heaven, Wages for Wives, Pigs, The Wisdom Tooth, Two Girls Wanted, Four Walls, Night Hostess, Let Us Be Gay, Salt Water, That's Gratitude, As Husbands Go, After Tomorrow, Riddle Me This, When Ladies Meet, Divine Drudge, The Bishop Misbehaves, A Touch of Brimstone, Susan and God, Skylark, Claudia, "Theatre," Counselor-at-Law, 3 Is a Family, Made in Heaven, They Knew What They Wanted, The Male Animal, and an exciting assortment of plays named "etc."

LOOKS YOUNGER

John is in his late 39's, though he doesn't look it for an instant, and he has long felt that the only hope of his beloved media is to encourage even younger playwrights to come forward with new thoughts, themes, theories.

On October 1, 1952, at his beckoning, 50 members of the Society of Authors' representatives gathered at the Hotel Biltmore in New York and took under their wing an endowment fund properly named the "New Dramatists Loan Fund." It was more popularly known as "the Benign Pawn Shop."

The general idea was that if a committee composed of nine top-flight agents voted at least 6-to-3 that an unknown's script had possibilities, it could recommend that he/she be presented with enough money to enable him/her to complete or polish the script and go on to bigger and better things.

(Mr. Golden had raised the money for this commendable effort from, among others, John Golde, Gilbert Miller, Walter Vincent, John Hertz, Sr. and Jr., the Messrs. Shubert, Marcus Heiman, George Seaton, Bernard M. Baruch, Irene Seiznick, Mrs. Joshua Logan, William S. Paley, Howard Lindsay, Garson Kanin, Louis Lurie, Gen. David Sarnoff, Max Gordon, Emil Friedlander, Victor Emanuel, John F. Wharton, Robert Coleman et al.)

Alack! Here's what has happened, as Mr. G. composed it in his program ad:
"It seemed a splendid idea at the time—very likely it was—but

IT DOESN'T APPEAR TO BE WORKING, for in the years of the loan fund's existence the committee, probably due to the fact that its members have set very high standards, has granted loans to only three applicants, and unless business improves we may find it advisable to close up the shop.

STILL LOOKING

"The Benign Pawn Shop and its member agents are still looking for new, needy, promising playwrights to help. Applications may be made exclusively to accredited members of the authors' representatives group until the 1st day of October.

The idea will thus have been given three full years.

"I hate to give up, and it is my hope that we may find applicants who can qualify for loans and thus carry on the work, which I still believe to be one of the best plans advanced to help the American theatre."

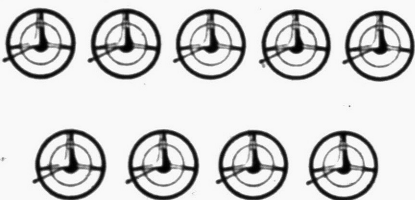

Well, John, I'm game. Here's my idea: It's a story about the Civil War, told from the South's viewpoint. I've got a beautiful, hot-tempered heroine named Charreuse O'Neill, who gets mixed up with a handsome scoundrel (gun-runner, he is) named Rhett Jeeves. Well, Atlanta gets burned to a cinder by the dam' Yankees and Rhett leaves Charreuse in a big rage at the end... but to tell the truth, John, this has been turned down so often by those agents you picked that I know it will never amount to anything—not even a book.

Adlai Stevenson Must Declare Himself Soon

With Mrs. EISENHOWER's health the unpredictable obstacle in the way of the President's candidacy again in 1956, interest shifts to the Democratic ticket which presents many possibilities.

Michigan is primarily interested in the fortunes of our own Governor who has been mentioned several times by Michigan adherents as a possibility. It is a grave question whether G. MENNEN WILLIAMS occupies this same role in the national picture, but still his unqualified success in a pivotal state grants him an automatic consideration.

Of course, the Number One Candidate is Adlai E. Stevenson. He leads the field by a country mile. In fact he leads it so far he can well afford to act a bit coy and kittenish—which he is proceeding to do right now with all the theatrical assurance of a veteran trooper.

AYERELL HARRIMAN, Governor of New York, is possibly one of the top contenders. As Governor of New York, he occupies a prominent post in party considerations and Mr. HARRIMAN has been a "working Democrat" with a record of honorable and faithful service.

New York's vote is tremendously important. Democratic wheel horses figure his name would give the party a flying start in the nation's biggest state. No one laughs at nearly 100 ballots in the Electoral College. However, many people believe that the New York boss awaits definite word from his close ally from Illinois, ADLAI STEVENSON. If Mr. STEVENSON is a candidate, Mr. HARRIMAN will step aside quickly.

Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is of a different mind. If he decides to run, all the Brother Stevensons in the country won't deter him. And apparently, he's of mind to go. He is a colorful figure who will probably campaign vigorously from the start and if he can acquire an A-1 investigating assignment, complete with television and radio rights, he could be a formidable contestant. Mr. Kefauver has been vocal and vociferous in his criticisms of President Eisenhower. We believe a definite part of this was done with a weather eye cocked calculatingly on the presidential derby.

Of course, there are always a goodly number of "native sons" whose names will be bruited about in the public squares. Some of this is mainly for fun; and some of it is with the hopeful idea that the unexpected may happen and lightning strikes without warning.

Governor FRANK J. LAUSCHE from nearby Ohio is a possibility, although he has disclaimed any personal ambitions. His election record in an important State, however, is very significant and he could easily be a compromise candidate if ADLAI STEVENSON bows out.

At the moment, the whole thing seems to depend upon Mr. STEVENSON. If he "wants in," the list of candidates will fade and melt like snow in a July sun. If he declares himself out, the shooting will start in earnest and the cannonading will be heard from "sea to shining sea."

Milford's AFS Students

At least five Milford High School students are glad that the American Field Service exists and that it has an international scholarship program.

Two of these students are visitors from overseas, BETTEKE VAN STEENBERGEN from Holland and ERVIN OLSCHORSKY from Germany. They are beneficiaries of a Huron Valley Board of Education decision to waive tuition for foreign AFS scholarship winners.

The educational advantages extended to them have qualified Milford High School to send one or more of its own students to Europe for six to eight weeks. Instead of attending school, however, they will be temporary members of European families during the summer months. Milford students chosen for this honor are MARILYN BUSCH, TOM... MEAGHER and ALAN MCFARLANE....

American Field Service is an outgrowth of a field ambulance corps which served in both world wars. Reorganized in 1947 to promote the publicity and privately financed scholarship idea, AFS brought its first 18 European students to the United States the following year.

By 1950 the plan had developed into an exchange of visits. This year 605 American boys and girls are expected to enjoy the experience of living in Europe. Next year at least 700 foreign students will attend schools in the United States.

This AFS program is a splendid means of furthering international understanding on both sides of the Atlantic. Congratulations are due all those who help make it possible and to Milford's scholarship winners.

The Man About Town She Knows Her Beat

And Can Cover It Almost Without Any Assistance

Graduate: A young person who soon learns what "commencement" really means.

She's a pioneer on her job, and her name is "June." She's a 20-year-old horse in the employ of Maple Leaf Dairy Company, and has been hauling a milk wagon for 16 years, refusing to admit that the automobile has brought the end of the horse and buggy days. In the good company of her driver, Melvin (Stub) Newbegin, who has been her pilot all those years, she delivers milk every day to the residents out Pontiac Motor and Perry Park way. She really needs no pilot, for Stub says she knows the route as well as he does, and goes it alone most of the time, while he calls at the houses. She gives cars their full half of the road, and more if she sees a road hog coming. She rounds all corners with plenty of space, and never dents a fender. She absolutely obeys Stub's demands to stop or start, but is suspicious of a stranger's voice. Until a couple of years ago she was on the job seven days per week, but now gets Sundays off, with liberal vacation allowance. June walks about eight miles per day, which in 16 years figures up to a distance closely approaching twice around the world. She is the pioneer among eight horses still used by her company, the only local horses in such use. Before taking her present job, Stub was a race horse trainer. Perhaps that's why June is still active and in good health at an age that approximates three score years in humans. One of his biggest jobs is keeping June's waist line down, on account of the lumps of sugar and other snacks that her admirers ply upon her. In this he does not enjoy her whole hearted cooperation. Sometimes she snitches.

Showing almost human ingratitude is a cock pheasant that was nursed back to health by Johnson Melrose of Rochester, after it had been struck by his car. It now refuses to leave the premises and fights with the roosters in the Melrose poultry yard.

Evidence that a newspaper cannot please everybody is found in two letters just received. One from

Mrs. Mercedes Mansfield of Lapeer, says, "Those Greta Garbo stories are the most entertaining things I ever read." And Harriman K. Funston of Rochester, writes, "Don't waste any more paper or ink on that Garbo bunkum. Nobody reads it. Tell us more about Arthur Godfrey."

In preparation for the hay fever season, a letter comes from "A Long Time Sufferer," who recommends eating comb honey in good quantities. He argues that since the bees store up pollen in the comb, we can gain a resistance by getting some of the wax into our system.

Otters are supposed to be extinct in the Pontiac area, although we have a lake named for them. The dog of

David Lawrence Says:

Britain Hopes for 5 Years of Stability and Progress

LONDON — England has settled down to what it hopes will be five years of stability and progress.

The general election, which has given the Conservative party a comfortable majority in Parliament, reflected a basic desire for continuity.

There was no appreciable amount of protest against the party in power, and the opposition didn't offer anything attractive.

So the people gave the Conservative party an increased majority—something that no party in power has achieved in 90 years.

LESSON FOR U.S.

American political leaders can derive a good deal of guidance from a study of the British election results. For it is a rare thing also in America when a party in power increases its strength in a subsequent presidential election.

What has been a virtual deadlock between the two major parties in Britain has been broken. The Conservatives actually polled nearly a million more votes than the Socialists did.

Though the total vote of the nation fell off from 82.6 per cent in 1951 to 76.82 per cent this time, the Socialists suffered the heavier defections. There was a definite switch in the voting—or rather a "swing," as they call it here.

Donald McLachlan, political commentator for the "London Daily Telegraph," says:

"After the ordeal by television and radio, the word 'swing' is branded in our minds. No longer shall we watch the neck-and-neck struggle of parties or do quick sums with the totals. We shall look out for percentages of voters who have changed their minds since the last election—the one thing that official results do not give us. We are all swingsters now. Indeed, as more of us realize that two persons in a hundred, by changing their minds, can topple governments, we may take our politics more seriously."

FAMILIAR RING

This has a familiar ring because in America we are constantly hearing about the "independent" vote and how it can shift from party to party and change the outcome of the entire election.

In the British election last week, there were many Socialist members elected by majorities of less than a thousand votes, and many more districts by what must be considered narrow margins.

It means that there was a trend toward the Conservatives which was revealed not only in reduced Socialist majorities but in substantially increased Conservative majorities.

There is no question about it—the margin of 59 seats by which the Conservatives won does not tell the whole story of the basic shift toward conservatism which appeared throughout the country.

The large stay-at-home vote was to some extent, too, a measure of the acquiescence of the electorate in the policies of the Conservative government.

POLLS ACCURATE

The Gallup polls which forecast the result were remarkably accurate—within one per cent, which is, of course, the kind of thing that can be misleading in a very close election like the Truman-Dewey contest in 1948 but which, when it occurs in a decisive result such as was experienced here last week, gives the scientific polling method a great deal of prestige.

There was the usual criticism that polls produce apathy or that they stimulate a desire "to get on the bandwagon." But the newspapers printed them just the same, and the politicians showed worry or pleasure, respectively, depending on which party seemed to be in the lead.

All in all, the British election brought a great deal of satisfaction in many quarters. Some of the Conservatives were glad they didn't get a top-heavy majority which could start feuds inside their party.

Some of the "right wing" Socialists were glad because the country showed no inclination toward "left wing" Socialists, some of whom had a hard time getting re-elected in districts normally safe for Socialist Labor candidates. The Communists got very few votes and elected nobody.

SOCIALIST STRUGGLE

The "left wing" Socialists have an idea they can make more progress now as a minority and can force the other wing of the party to come to them. Undoubtedly a struggle for leadership has begun already in the Socialist Labor party ranks.

As long as Britain stays on a sound economic basis and taxes are gradually reduced, there is little likelihood that the parliamentary life of the Conservative party will be endangered in the next five years.

"But I found that 8 ounce glass of water went down too fast! So I tried another plan.

"For example, the first day I poured exactly 8 ounces or one full measuring cup of water into an ice cube tray, leaving the sections in the tray.

'Sunshine Lady' Urges Persons to Visit Shut-ins on Special Day Sunday, June 5

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

On Sunday, June 5, we will be observing International Shut-ins Day. It is my sincere wish that all organizations in the area will take part in this movement.

The aim of persons interested in promoting the special day is to encourage the practice of friendship for the sick and shut-ins.

I don't believe there is a hospital in the area that doesn't have at least a dozen lonely and forgotten patients. And in my working with these hospitals, I have found them always very anxious to do something for that person. At the TB Hospital the birthday of a patient is never forgotten. And they are given a cake and a lovely gift.

It may seem so little at the time, but I have seen more than one patient who would not have been remembered at all if it hadn't been for this bit of thoughtfulness.

It would be very nice if the school teachers would find out the name of a home-bound school child and have her students shower them with friendly notes. Our stores are full of

There are those signs on doors that make... Your soul a little lonely... As they inform you that this way... Is for "Employees Only"... You cannot penetrate that place... You cannot go in there... Richard Kincaid Replies to Mrs. Patterson's Letter

A reply to Mrs. Patterson in regard to tree removal on West Long Lake Road. I must say I am very surprised to find in this modern day someone so abjure to progress.

I am in a position to know that during the summer of 1954 there were several elm trees on West Long Lake Road across from the C. E. Wilson home and west of Franklin Road that were sampled for Dutch Elm disease, and they were found to be infected by this fungus.

According to record this disease is spreading at an astounding rate, and in all probability would have infected a great number of the trees that were removed in behalf of progress. This is in reply to Mrs. Patterson's statement that the trees were not sick.

As for many people being glad to drive over this despicable piece of pavement, I cannot agree. I should think it more likely they were lost and stumbled on the road by mistake. It is my opinion anyone who paid hard-earned money for their car would not subject it to the pounding it would take driving over West Long Lake Road.

Hal Boyle Says:

Ohio Industrialist Takes Positive Step in Problem

NEW YORK — Everybody complains about juvenile delinquency in America. But who is doing anything to reward earnest teen-age kids who do face up to their responsibilities?

Industrialist W. W. Sebald of Middletown, Ohio, fell to brooding over this a year ago.

"I got tired of hearing about nothing but delinquent kids," he said. "We are living in flush times, and I think children are too used to taking money from their parents—two few are developing their own initiative and earning their own way."

"But it isn't enough merely to complain. We need to put a focus of attention on the kids who go out and do things for themselves."

Sebald, president of the Armco Steel Co., found his own answer in a series of "self-reliance awards" for high school seniors in Middletown and Ashland, Ky. helped by members of the Junior Chambers of Commerce in the two towns, he has handed out $3,000 from his own pocket in prize money to some 20 students "for doing the most they can with the best they have."

The prizes range from $50 to $400, and they have uncovered heartening evidence of hundreds of teen-age boys and girls working hard against all kinds of handicaps to win achievement.

"We were rather surprised at the amount of self-reliance we did find," admitted Sebald, who is now ready to dig deeper into his pocket to help the idea of the contests spread to other towns.

Examples: One youngster was working 97 hours a week, and still attending school... An honor student had borrowed money to buy a farm for his father... A girl was paying all her expenses in school by holding three outside jobs at the same time... A boy, also working his way through school, still managed to contribute 10 per cent of his earnings to the church he attended.

The $400 prize winner in Middletown this year, Willie Napoleon Clements, a Negro youth, worked 52 hours a week at three jobs. He delivered newspapers, worked in a wholesale produce house and clerked in a grocery store. Yet he also played on the high school football and track teams, took part in school plays, was active in his church, and was elected to the National Honor Society.

Sebald himself is a self-made man. Starting as a $30 a month office boy with the steel company 49 years ago, he worked up through the ranks to his present post, which last year paid him $245,000.

During his own high school career he drove a laundry wagon during the day, played in a dance band at night.

"It wasn't a matter of necessity," he recalled. "My family was well off. But they never had to buy my clothes after I was 13 years old. I didn't want them too. I wanted to make my own way."

Sebald would like to see other individuals and organizations do more to encourage teen-agers to day who show a willingness to accept responsibility.

"Self-reliance made this country," he said. "It is a basic thing in America, and we have to preserve it."

Calcium Deposit Is Result of Injury, Not Its Cause

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

My mother, aged 59 years, has shoulder bursitis (writes Mrs. H. V. A.) and thinks it is from too much calcium in her system.

That's ridiculous, as she never drinks milk, never eats eggs, eats very little fruit and hardly any salads. Her evening meal is meat, potato, vegetable. The rest of the time she lives on bread and coffee. She won't listen... (Mrs. H.V.A.)

If mother's bursitis is as painful as the right shoulder bursitis I had some years ago, I can sympathize with her. Two or three times I cried so piteously with it that a medical colleague came in and gave me a shot of morphine.

It was not until my bursitis was over with that I learned about the needle treatment (and I don't mean morphine), but that's a subject for a piece to follow.

In the course of six weeks, under diathermy (deep heat) treatments, passive movements by physical therapists and gradually increasing active movements or exercises (which were somewhat painful, but necessary if I was to regain full use of the shoulder) I made a complete recovery.

A year later I suffered a fracture of the opposite shoulder. X-ray films of both shoulders (for comparison revealed a calcium deposit in the right shoulder bursa—calcification. Mind, now, for ten months before that, not the slightest discomfort or impaired use of the shoulder.

Whether the bursa is still calcified I don't know or care. An X-ray film would probably show the calcium deposit, or possibly it is no longer there, but no matter. What I'm trying to make clear is that despite what the neighborhood fishwives, the saireygamps, Ben Told, Mrs. Sumsey, the trick specialists or the "clinic" racketeers may say about it, the deposit of calcium or calcification anywhere in the body is the consequence of inflammation, infection, or injury and not the cause of it.

Long study of pathology gives me the assurance to say this—and I challenge contradiction by any qualified physician or pathologist.

How much "too much" calcium or "too much" vitamin D may be "clinic" racketeers, et al., are careful not to specify.

How much calcium and/or vitamin D may be the proper medicinal dose in any circumstances is a question for the attending physician. It is not in my province.

NOT DOSING

In this column and elsewhere I recommend no more calcium and/or vitamin D than a person should get from his everyday diet and/or exposure of naked skin to sunshine or skyshine.

It is absurd to imagine that one who gets an adequate daily intake of calcium and/or vitamin D is more likely to have calcium than one who doesn't.

If you have chronic joint disability, please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatism. If you'd like to know more about calcium feeding, high calcium diet, and the everyday manifestations of calcium deficiency, in close 25c in addition and ask for Little Lesson 26. The Calcium Shortage.

Send letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

kill your ravenous appetite, you can employ my dehydration plan if it isn't too hot or you aren't doing heavy manual labor.

It limits men to 1,200 calories of food per day and women to 800. But to take the edge off that appetite, reduce your fluid input. Drink just one glass (8 ounces) of fluids the first day; two glasses the second, and three glasses per day from the third through the tenth days.

DIVERTS ATTENTION
 The restricted fluid not only makes your mouth cottony, but it diverts your attention from food to liquid. You may crave water but will be quite content on your food intake.

And don't indulge in folderol of fancy menus: like a single lamb chop with cauliflower, etc., for those are not easy to obtain, especially if you dine at restaurants.

Just count your calories, remembering that an egg is approximately 100 calories, as is a medium hot dog, a banana, an apple and an orange, as well as a medium potato. So eat as you like, with this final warning:

Always include 400 to 600

Woman Travels From Belgium to Meet 2-Year-Old Goddaughter at Cooley Lake

Therese Elizabeth Schulte of Cooley Lake is two years old today. That's nothing unusual, except for the fact that her godmother came all the way from Brussels, Belgium, to help celebrate Tresi-Lou's birthday and meet her goddaughter for the first time.

In 1947 Tresi-Lou's mother was attending a religious conference in New York City. While there she met Louise Vanderpoorten, a young Belgian business woman. The brief acquaintance ripened into a friendship through correspondence.

When Mrs. Schulte's third child, a daughter, was born, Louise Vanderpoorten became her godmother.

Mrs. Schulte's sister, Mrs. Leonard Romka of Mt. Clemens, served as proxy godmother at the christening ceremony.

Now traveling in this country on business — her firm exports home heating equipment from American factories — Miss Vanderpoorten took time out to spend 24 hours with her goddaughter.

Although unable to be here today for the actual birthday, godmother and goddaughter shared

(Man! what Variable Pitch Propellers do for Dynaflo Drive!)

It's The Hardtop with Four Doors!

Here's the new hit in hardtops that's taking the country by storm — Buick's pioneering and pace-setting 4-Door Riviera. The "convertible" look, with no center posts — but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers. Shown here in the low-price SPECIAL model — also available in the high-powered CENTURY Series. Both now in volume production to insure prompt deliveries.

IN A land vehicle, there's never been anything like the magic a pilot gets with his variable pitch propellers.

He can angle the blades of his propellers for performance as he heads his plane down a runway — to get quick take-off and climb. He can switch the angle of those propellers for economy aloft — to get more mileage from the fuel in his tanks.

As we said — there's never been anything like that in a land vehicle. But there is now. It's in a Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo — and you can take the word of thousands of excited owners of new Buicks that it's the closest thing to wheeled flight...

Because you have twenty propeller-like blades whirling in oil inside your Dynaflo unit...

Because you can switch the pitch of those propeller blades from high-economy angle that gives you top gas mileage in cruising — to high-performance angle that gives you action plus...

And because, when you call for that action by pressing the gas pedal way down — you get it split-second quick and silky smooth — an instantaneous power response for get-away, or for a sudden safety-surge of acceleration when needed.

It's a solid, soaring, pulse-quickenning thrill — unlike anything you ever felt before — and robustly bolstered by wallowing new horse-powers raised to record might.

It's something you definitely ought to try — just to know what's really new in automobiles — and to see for yourself why Buick sales are zooming to an all-time best-seller high.

Drop in today or tomorrow and we'll gladly arrange matters — show you, too, the prices that are keeping Buick in the tight circle of America's top sellers.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Says 'Match-Making Is a Dubious Business'

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
"Dear Miss Woodward: My girl friend is crazy about my cousin, and he acts as though he likes her, too, but he won't do anything about it.
"I'm trying to get them together.
So what should I do?"
Answer: Match-making is a dubious occupation. Yet that's what you're letting yourself in for.
He may like her, but he won't like being pushed around by you.
And if you don't do something your girl friend will feel let down.
But what can you do, actually,

but expose them to each other and let nature take its course? You can see to it that they're both at your house at the same time, then you can leave them to their own devices.
Give them a chance to get better acquainted while you go about other business. Without your presence, your cousin might get up his courage to do something about her.
"Dear Miss Woodward: I recently broke up with my boy friend.
"I've made several attempts at reconciliation, but he has made no effort to go along with me.

So I've decided to leave it as it is.
"But how shall I act toward him now?"
Answer: You've done all you can, apparently, to patch things up with the lad. He isn't interested.
So let it be while you go your merry way. Be polite and nice when you see him.
You needn't act as though you loathe him for letting you down, breaking your heart, disappointing you.
Speak to him whenever you meet, but don't seek him out.
"Wash him out of your hair!"
and get busy devoting yourself to someone else. The busier you are at that, the less aware of your old beau you'll be.

You won't notice him around or care what he's up to. You'll close the door firmly on that old love, so nature can take a new course.
"Dear Miss Woodward: Recently he told me pointblank that he wanted to be boss. I've always been under the impression that a steady deal is on a 50-50 basis.
"He's very jealous, and when I tell him so he thinks I like someone else and want to break up.
"How can I get along with a guy like that?"

Answer: Otherwise you like him, and all goes well? So let him be boss.
Few relationships are true 50-50 deals. One is usually more dominating than the other. So go along with him until you're faced with something you can't take.
Then quietly, gently, tactfully get yourself out of it. Avoid attentions to other boys that will make him jealous, then pretend not to notice it if he turns green.
Play up to him to restore his self-confidence.
You can't reform him. You can't boss him around. You have to take him as he is and put up with him if you want to get along with him.

Mrs. Wm. J. Lacy's
Swiss Steak Made
Quick 'n' Easy Way

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
Here's an idea for all the new brides who are just learning to cook. Condensed mushroom soup makes an excellent gravy or cream sauce. Mrs. William J.
Lacy uses it to give round steak a different flavor.
Kentucky born, Mrs. Lacy has a pleasing, soft speaking voice. She enjoys her two sons and their activities. For her own activities, she includes membership in the Lucy Webb Hayes group of her church and a Bridge club.
MUSHROOM SWISS STEAK

Pan fry round steak until it is brown. Season with salt and pepper. Add either a can of condensed mushroom soup or a can of mushroom steak sauce. If desired, one-half cup of canned tomatoes may be added. Cover and let simmer until the meat is very tender.

Open Those Paint-Stuck Windows
Handyman Says
Bead Removal,
Linseed Oil Helps

By HUBBARD COBB
According to one of our experts, one of the best ways to cool a house is to open a window.
Trouble is that in a lot of homes there are a lot of windows that won't open for all the money in the world.
About half the stuck windows you find are stuck because someone was a little too generous with paint when the sash was painted and now the paint has formed a seal between the sash and the frame.
Often you can cut through this seal by running a knife blade down along the seam between sash and frame.
Another trick is to take a block of wood, hold it against the side of the sash and hit it with a hammer. Move the block up and down along each side of the sash and tap away with your hammer.
If all goes well, and it often does, the sash should loosen up.
Sometimes none of these ideas work and then the best thing to do is to remove one of the little stop beads along the side of the window-frame that hold the sash in place.
These are usually held in place by small finishing nails or wood screws. You just have to remove one of the beads—it's seldom necessary to take them both off.
Once the stop beads is out of the way the sash can be pulled out of the frame.
Take some sandpaper and remove any accumulations of paint from along the edge of the sash—also on the frame where the sash moves up and down.
Before you put the sash back into place, give the edges of the sash a coat of linseed oil. This will prevent the wood absorbing moisture and swelling up.

Keep this in mind: An oculist or ophthalmologist is an M.D. who

An optician is a man who grinds

Back Door

Offer an Excuse for Her Request

By EMILY POST
A reader asks: "Will you please tell me if my neighbors could take offense at being asked to use the back door when they drop in to see me during the day?"
"Our front door opens directly into the living room as the streets out here are not as yet paved, a good deal of sand and mud is tracked through the house, and much of this could be avoided if they would use the back entrance."
"I would appreciate hearing what you think about this?"
Answer: Under the circumstances you give. I think explanation to them would make your request understandable and surely no one could take offense.
Dear Mrs. Post: When the knife has not been used during the meal, should it be picked up at the end of the meat course and laid with the fork across the plate so it will be taken out when the plate is removed?
Answer: It should be left where it is.
In correct formal service the table is cleared of the salt cellars and pepper pots and unused silver, and crumbed before desert by the person waiting on table.
If there is no one waiting on table, the unused silver would be left until the table is cleared after the meal.
Dear Mrs. Post: While visiting my son and his wife I went to church with them on Sunday. They belong to a different church than the one that I do and the service was unfamiliar to me.
Rather than do something to which I was not accustomed, I simply sat throughout the service. My son thinks that I made myself conspicuous by doing this and that I should have knelt when the others did.
Did I do the wrong thing?
Answer: You are certainly not expected to do anything that is against your own religious beliefs, but I do agree with your son that you should have followed the example of others insofar as you were able—such as standing when they stood and sitting when they sat.

Linen Tablecloths Whiter if Bleached

When you are planning ahead for company dinner and you look at your best linen tablecloth, it may not look as dazzling white as you like.
Pop it into the washing machine with your favorite detergent plus the new chlorine dry bleach. In the regular cycle of the washing machine it will be as white as white can be.
No matter how fine the linen,
you can use the new chlorine dry bleach, for it will not harm the fabric; just follow the directions on the label.

Vacuum Wand
Cleans Walls
Safely, Easily

Not so many years ago the system for cleaning walls was to climb a shaky stepladder, lean this way or that precariously while wiping the ceiling or walls, only to discover after climbing down from the lofty perch that the entire "cleaned" surface had been left a mass of streaks.
You cannot rub a soiled wall or ceiling with a dustcloth and have it "come clean." If no grease is present the household vacuum cleaner will remove the dust pre-fectly, and with the long wand which comes with the kit of attachments, the homemaker can stand firmly on the floor without any physical risk whatsoever.
Furthermore, with the attachments so easy to use, dusting can be done frequently, thus preventing for a long time any appearance of soil.

Vukovich Dies in Crash, Sweikert Wins

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Curly-haired, boyish Bob Sweikert, of Indianapolis, will pick up a check of about $75,000 at the 500-mile auto race victory dinner tonight and somebody will accept at least $7,500 for Bill Vukovich's widow.

Vukovich, an intense little Slovenian mechanic from Fresno, Calif., driving in his fourth straight Memorial Day race when he died in a flaming wreck that took five cars out of the race yesterday.

He won 50 of the first 56 laps before he died, at $150 a lap. There were seven casualties in the bloodiest Memorial Day race since 1930. Seven cars smashed up in a single accident. The wrecks brought the winning speed down to 128.209 miles an hour, compared with Vukovich's record 130.84 set last year.

Vuky had escaped injury late in the 1952 race when his steering failed and Troy Ruttman came on to win. He won in 1953 and 1954, and was going after the first three-in-a-row series in the Speedway's history.

Walt Faulkner, of Long Beach, Calif., long-time competitor against Vukovich, unknowingly pronounced his memorial before the race. "Vuky is the greatest race driver in this era," he said in a casual conversation. "You can beat him only if his car fails or he wrecks. You'll never beat the man."

Yesterday's race started off as a tremendous duel between Vukovich and Jack McGrath, of Inglewood, Calif., the early leader in four of the last five Memorial Day classics.

In spite of a gusty wind, the two veteran drivers fought for the lead as if they were in a dirt track sprint.

McGrath, starting in the front row, won the first two laps, Vuky, starting in the second row, gradually took command and set a record of 136.212 miles an hour for the first 125 miles.

McGrath's ignition system failed and he was through at 135 miles. Sweikert, Tony Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, Ill., Sam Hanks, of Burbank, Calif., and 1954 national champion Jimmy Bryan, of Phoenix, were coming hard but not gaining on Vukovich when the big wreck happened with stunning suddenness.

Rodger Ward, of Los Angeles, lost control coming out of the southwest turn, Johnny Boyd, fellow townsman of Vukovich driving in his first 500, locked wheels with Al Keller, another Speedway rookie from Green Acres, Fla., and both cars flipped.

Vukovich didn't have a chance. His Hopkins Special plowed into the wreckage and bounced end over end. It went over the wall, hit a safety patrol car and stopped upside down, in flames.

Tony Bettenhausen was 2nd, Jimmy Davies 3rd.

LPGA Tourney Likely to Be Back Next Year

Forest Lake Officials Pleased With Success of Event

The future of the Wolverine Ladies Open golf tournament looks secure.

While no official action can be taken towards sealing the event's return to Forest Lake Country Club until the entire membership decides, it looks at this point as though the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour will be invited back.

Both club president Blaine Eynon and tourney chairman Bill Newberry expressed the belief that Forest Lake would host the event again in 1956.

Proettes and amateurs alike, who played in the event, had nothing but words of praise for the work of Newberry and his various committees, Dale Weitzel and his crew for the superb condition of the course, and the tourney as a whole.

Betty Hicks, 4th place finisher in the event and publicity chairman of the LPGA, told Eynon after the prize presentations that the complimentary remarks made by the proettes were said in all sincerity.

"Believe me," she said, "I hear all the gripes in the locker room—and there were none."

The tournament survived rocky circumstances to become a success. First, there were reportedly to be no stars on hand. Babe Zaharias and Jackie Pung were ill. Patty Berg, Betsy Rawls, and Louise Suggs had prior commitments and couldn't play here.

However, nobody could find fault with the brand of golf exhibited by the 17 members of the LPGA.

Williams Hits for the Cycle in Three Tilts

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams has hit for the cycle in the three games he has played since returning to the Boston Red Sox lineup last Saturday.

The big slugger, making his fifth comeback with the club, has belted a homer, a triple, a double and a single in his 12 official times at bat. He has scored one run and driven in four.

PHS Golfers Start Slowly, End Year OK

Six wins against three losses, 2nd place in the Saginaw Valley Conference, 3rd in the regional, and 9th at the state meet—that's the record compiled this season by Pontiac High School's golf team.

Coach John Matur's linksmen started slowly and unimpressively, dropping three of their first four dual meets. But they hit their stride by mid-season to fashion a 5-game winning streak and qualify for the state meet with a 3rd place finish in the regional tournament.

Squad's most brilliant individual performance was recorded by junior Tom Cross, who single handedly put the Chiefs into the state tourney finals with a 1-under-par 70 at Brighton's regional. His 77 at Battle Creek, two shots back of Jackson's Bob Zimmerman, was good enough for co-runner-up honors. Cross received a medal for his effort.

Sam Snead's Golf Clinic

Let's pretend that here you stand ready to start swing action with a slight preliminary wiggle. The idea of the wiggle is to take the tenseness out of the swing, to relax. After that little preliminary wiggle the back swing is under way with that all-together (arms, hips, shoulders) movement. Not all good players use this method of starting the stroke but it's a good one for players who tend to become too tense and rigid in the address position. Others are content to get the tenseness out of their stroke simply by a preliminary wiggle of the club over the ball. Either method will help you get your swing flowing smoothly but I think the one described first is best for most players.

Only missionaries and 60 Wai Wai Indians inhabit southernmost British Guiana. These few people live in four villages close to Essequibo, travel by water, and seldom penetrate the jungle except to hunt, says the National Geographic Society.

Left-Handers Setting NL Pace, Righties in the AL

NEW YORK (AP)—Left-handed hitters are doing the best batting in the National League while in the American League the players with the most impressive averages bat from the right side.

Among the first five leaders in the National League batting competition, only Brooklyn's Roy Campanella is a righty swinger. He's tied for fourth place with Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati at .333. Kluszewski is a lefty batter as are Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, the pace-setter with a .383 average, runner-up Don Mueller of New York, who is at .363 and Bill Virdon of St. Louis, a .336 hitter.

In the American League, the first three—Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline of Detroit and Vic Power of Kansas City—are right-handed swingers. Fourth-place Mickey Mantle of New York is a switch-hitter and Hoot Evers of Baltimore, in fifth place, is another righty hitter.

Kuenn, resting a leg injury, batted only three times last week. He had two hits and raised his average six points to .379. Kaline,

Lord Pick Takes 6th in Row at Hazel Park

DETROIT (AP)—Lord Pick won his 6th straight race by taking the feature trot at Hazel Park Harness Raceway last night. His time was 2:04 3-5, the slowest mile the 4-year-old has trotted this season.

Gayleway, driven by owner Clyde Fischer, finished only a neck behind.

Foy Funderburk, who drove Lord Pick, also won the 6th race with Hennessey Hanover.

Bags Holiday Ace

Fred Harrison of Mansfield, O., played a round of golf Monday at Pontiac Country Club. He made it a fine holiday affair with a hole-in-one, sinking his tee shot on the No. 8 hole with an 8 iron. His father, J. Harrison, and Fred's wife made up a threesome. Harrison had a 79 for the 18-hole round. The couple was visiting at the J. Harrison home, 514 Second Ave.
