Commissioners Ask Sullenberger Report From City Hospital

By PETE LOCHBILER

Prompted by petitions calling for the reinstatement of Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger at Pontiac General Hospital, City Commissioners last night called for a report on the former staff surgeon's suspension.

After an hour of heated debating, they voted to have the hospital board of trustees report first in writing on procedures that led to the Nov. 13 suspension and afterwards meet with them in person to go over the report verbally.

During the debate, in which Mayor William W. Donaldson and Commissioner John A. Dugan opposed the report on grounds that it "sounds like a probe," another commissioner who supported it, Dr. Roy V. Cooley, announced dramatically that he would not run for re-election in March.

"I've been intending not to run again, now I want to make it official," he said.

When the commission failed to act on the petitions, the ousted surgeon's supporters said they would turn to the governor next.

"We intend to deliver the petitions to him in person next week," said Mrs. Kenneth Pawley, 27-year-old mother of four, and the leader of the group of six that appeared at City Hall last night.

"We have 841 signatures so far from patients and friends of Dr. Sullenberger in this area. By next week, we should have a lot more," she said.

Following his ouster, Dr. Sullenberger filed suit against the hospital, its staff and the city demanding reinstatement and $250,000 damages.

VIOLATES STANDARDS

Hospital Director Carl I. Flath, one of the defendents, charged in reply that the surgeon had violated profession standards in 25 cases, in six of which the patient died.

The petition asks help in getting Dr. Sullenberger reinstated "for the care and welfare of his patients." Leader of another group that picketed Pontiac General Hospital last weekend for the same purpose, Mrs. Pawley, of 4725 Oak Vista Dr., Drayton Plains, told the commission:

"Many of Dr. Sullenberger's patients are in need of his care and surgery. But they are denied his care because he is no longer allowed to practice in any Pontiac hospital.

FAITH IN DOCTOR

"We still have faith in our doctor, but have lost confidence in Pontiac General because he was suspended."

Mrs. Pawley described herself as a friend and a former patient of Dr. Sullenberger. She said Dr. Sullenberger also has performed major surgery on her husband, father and another relative, but the latter died tragically, she said, after the suspension.

She explained that her late father-in-law, Benjamin Pawley, of Leonard, had been admitted to Pontiac General last fall by Dr. Sullenberger and had undergone a lung cancer operation by him.

"When Dr. Sullenberger was suspended Nov. 13, I begged the hospital director to allow him to continue Mr. Pawley's post-operative care. But Mr. Flath refused."

She attributed her father-in-law's death Nov. 18 to the fact that the surgeon was no longer able to care for him.

She also asked the commission to investigate Flath's background, alleging that he had left his former post as director of Queens

The feud has been smoldering ever since the Public Safety Building opened last fall. Police officers and police department civilian employes were told to keep their private cars out of the parking lot to avoid crowding out the public.

City Hall employes retained their privilege to park their cars in the lot. This angered the Safety Building workers who charged "discrimination."

Yesterday, two police officers attacked, by hanging "illegal parking" tickets on dozens of cars of City Hall workers. Cries of outrage echoed through the municipal halls.

Embarrassed police officials hastily picked up the tickets and voided them.

City Hall counterattacked today with another order to the police to keep their cars out of the lot. "We'll tow 'em out if we have to," threatened one official.

Little Change Seen in Area's Weather

The weatherman predicts little change in temperature tonight and tomorrow for the Pontiac area. Tonight's low will be around 25-29. The thermometer will register a high near 34 degrees Thursday.

For the next five days temperatures will average near or slightly above the normal high of 33 and low of 19 degrees. Saturday and Sunday will be coldest.

Precipitation will total around one-quarter of an inch as occasional light snow daily except Sunday, with the heaviest most likely Friday and Monday.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 25 degrees. The mercury rose to 28 at 2 p.m.

Predicts New State Tax

DETROIT (AP)—Milton C. Taylor, Michigan State University economist, predicts Michigan will have a personal state income tax in the near future.

"The personal income tax in Michigan has been knocking on the door more than 30 years," Taylor told a meeting of tax experts at Wayne State University yesterday.

County Ponders Problem of Soaring Welfare Costs

How Oakland County can take care of its soaring welfare costs is posing as a big financial headache for officials.

And to make matters worse, it has been ruled by Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, that funds to ease the welfare load can no longer be taken from monies reserved for a new courthouse.

Officials last week revealed they had to turn to this $1.4 million building fund to ease rising welfare costs.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, disclosed today that this reserve now stands at $1,239,409, cut by some $200,000 removed for direct relief last fall.

A spokesman at the Social Welfare Dept. said the present welfare case load, outside of certain strike periods, is greater now than anytime since 1937.

Based on the corporation counsel's opinion, Moore — who last week said there were "no other funds available"—said he was at a loss in solving this welfare problem.

DELINQUENT TAXES

"One way," he said, "would be to borrow against delinquent taxes. But this wouldn't provide much as we have been collecting from 90 to 92 per cent of taxes."

He expressed the fear that if a strike hit this area this year, "it would badly cripple our financial situation."

While he was preparing the 1959 county budget, Moore mentioned the possibility of increasing the welfare appropriation. "But this is up to the Board of Supervisors," he said.

Moore said he would recommend to the supervisors an appropriation increase, "but I don't know now how much."

The 1958 appropriation of $1,050,000 was short of the $1,137,000 spent for welfare last year because the 1958 budget is made in advance, Moore said.

COSTS ILLUSTRATED

Illustrating direct relief costs, Moore listed them as: $426,000 in 1954, $472,000 in 1955, $567,000 in 1956.

The $1,400,000 building fund had been accumulated out of year-end unappropriated surpluses.

An appeal by the county on a lower court ruling that this money had been gathered illegally will soon be before the State Supreme Court.

The old $1,400,000 fund has been accumulated over the years from .1 of a mill collection and sale of properties each year. A soon-to-be-heard Supreme Court case will tell whether this fund was swollen illegally by accumulated surpluses from county departments.

Merritt's opinion, in a letter to Moore, cited a 1943 statute saying these monies "shall not be transferred . . . or otherwise disposed of except for the purpose" of public building construction or repairs.

Moon-Firing Delay Expected

Jupiter C Believed Set for Blastoff, but Winds Make Time Uncertain

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane-force winds in upper altitudes made uncertain today the time when the Army will fire its Jupiter C satellite launching vehicle.

The Air Force Weather Central reported high-level winds of 140 miles an hour. Winds of such velocity could topple the rocket.

On the ground, winds of 20 to 30 miles an hour were forecast this afternoon and there was a chance of even higher winds in squalls along this portion of the Florida coast.

Strict secrecy has been maintained in official circles about the Army's firing plans but it has been generally expected that the attempt would be made this week. In earlier speculation, today or tomorrow had been set as probable dates for the blastoff.

Although there was no official word, the attempt undoubtedly would be delayed until weather conditions are more favorable.

The first and most powerful stage of the Army satellite rocket is a 55,000-horsepower Redstone missile, one of hundreds of ground forces have built for artillery at ranges of about 200 miles.

Kefauver Urges Public Airing of Car Prices

Answers Reuther With Suggestion FTC Hold Hearings at Once

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) suggested today that the Federal Trade Commission go ahead at once with Union Chief Walter Reuther's proposal for "goldfish bowl" treatment of auto price increases.

The Senate's anti-monopoly chairman said he thought the FTC could "hold hearings now if it wanted to" as a device for airing in advance the justification for any new car price boosts.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, opened the Senate investigation of "administered prices" in the motor industry by asking Congress to force big manufacturers like General Motors to publicize the reasons for price increases at such hearings.

He suggested establishment of an independent office of "consumers' counsel" to protect the public.

Reuther was to return as a witness before Kefauver's subcommittee today for questioning by Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) who opposes the UAW proposal for profit-sharing in the auto industry.

Dirksen today described Reuther's profit-sharing plan as "definitely an effort to invade the management field."

"We're going to have to explore that," Dirksen said.

DENIED BY REUTHER

Reuther testified that control over industry is not "the remotest part" of labor's goal, but Dirksen said the UAW's profit-sharing plan is an attempt "to dictate the apportionment of profits" by car manufacturers.

If Reuther is not interested in dictating policy, Dirksen asked in an interview, "why come up with a plan like that?"

General Motors President Harlow Curtice takes the witness stand tomorrow and he will be followed next week by top officials of Ford, Chrysler and American Motors.

In recommending that the trade commission "explore" giving publicity to the price situation, Kefauver stressed that he is "not in favor of making companies give out their trade secrets."

One of the things Reuther said it is difficult to learn is the per unit cost of making each kind of automobile. He suggested this was "one thing we think the committee should ask the companies."

SAYS PRICES 'RIGGED'

Reuther charged that major auto producers "rig" car prices and take fat profits, refusing to utilize production capacity by shaving prices and building more units. The production lag hurts the entire economy, he argued, particularly those industries linked to auto production.

Fare Hike Denied —Bus Firm Plans to Quit Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)— Rose City Transit Co., which provides mass transportation for Portland's 400,000 residents, has served notice it will go out of business Feb. 27.

Rose City made its announcement after the City Council failed to pass an emergency measure granting an immediate fare increase to 25 cents a ride. The fare now is 20 cents.

The Council voted 4-1 in favor but a unanimous vote was necessary to pass the emergency ordinance.

It approved on first reading another proposal to make the increase effective early in March. Only a simple majority is needed for approval of this measure and it apparently will pass when it comes up on final reading Feb. 26.

The company countered the Council's action with a declaration it will continue to operate its motor buses if a fare increase is granted in 10 days.

State Considers Bus Lines Issue

Bill Proposed to Ease Tax-Load on Vehicles in Michigan

A bill to relieve financial burdens on Michigan bus lines was proposed today by three Republican state senators in Lansing, including L. Harvey Lodge, of Drayton Plains.

Lodge and Senators Carlton H. Morris, of Kalamazoo, and Clyde H. Geerlings, of Holland, proposed that local bus lines be exempted from the state motor fuel tax and that the cost of bus tags be reduced.

The tag fee of about $200 a bus would be lowered to $25 by the proposed law.

In commenting on the bill, Earl Dreasher, superintendent of transportation for the Pontiac City Bus Line, said the savings would be substantial.

"We operate 27 buses in Pontiac," he said, "and the lower tag cost alone could make the difference between operating at a profit or a loss."

Police and FBI Comb Nebraska Farm Area

Fear That Kill-Crazy Boy Has Added Companion to His List of Victims

BENNET, Neb. (AP)—Haggard, heavily armed officers began a fresh farm-by-farm search of the Bennet area today seeking clues that will help find a missing pair of teenagers suspected of killing six persons, aged 3 to 70.

Although both were charged with murder today, the urgency of the search was heightened by the fear Charles Starkweather, 19, may even have killed his 14-year-old girl friend, bringing the death toll of the crazed killer to seven.

CARIL FUGATE

CHARLES STARKWEATHER

The fact that five of the six victims were shot in the head, and the sixth, a tiny girl, was clubbed to death, also led officers to speculate about a possible connection with the recent unsolved slaying of Robert G. Colvert, 21-year-old Lincoln service station operator.

His body was found Dec. 1 on a gravel road near Lincoln. He was shot in the head with a shotgun.

Starkweather is a green-eyed, red-haired 140-pounder about 5 feet 5 inches tall, who walks with a swagger. He has no police record other than traffic violations, but is known to be an exeprt hunter and a crack shot.

Caril Fugate, 14, is about 5 feet 1 inch tall, looks about 18. She has dark hair and sometimes wears glasses.

FORMALLY CHARGED

Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheel formally charged the pair with first-degree murder today. He said the Federal Bureau of Investigation has entered the case and a federal warrant will be issued charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Scheele's complaint charged the two specifically with the slaying of Carol King, 16, one of two Bennet High School students found dead in an old storm cellar Tuesday afternoon.

Woman Patent Executive to Address GOP Banquet

The first woman to occupy a top post in the United States Patent Office—Mrs. Robert W. Leeds, assistant commissioner of patents—will be the speaker at the Feb. 12 Oakland County Lincoln Day banquet.

Mrs. Leeds was appointed to the post in 1953, the first time in the 155-year history of the office that a woman has held such a post.

MRS. ROBERT W. LEEDS

The banquet, to be given by the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club, will begin at 6:30 at the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave. Tickets are available at $3.50.

Mrs. Leeds is a widely-known attorney, trademark specialist and author of works in the trademark field. She served on the congressional committee which drafted the Trademark Act of 1946 (Lanham Act), the basic law under which trademarks are now registered.

As assistant commissioner, Mrs. Leeds hears, considers and decides appeals from the rulings of the Trademark Examining Corps of the Patent Office.

U. of M. Professor Says:

Families to Need 2 Cars

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The American way of living ultimately will make multiple car ownership mandatory, says a University of Michigan design expert.

Aarre K. Lahti, associate professor of design, says the future will require bigger big cars and smaller small vehicles. Today's average car, he says, is too small for the vacation-leisure time transportation for the larger families with increasing gear, but too large for every day shopping and commuting.

The solution, he adds, is two cars for the family, a large one and a small one. He predicts the smaller, second car will be electrically powered.

"This shopping-commuting car," says Prof. Lahti, "need not have a cruising range of more than 35 miles per day. Cruising speed of 25 and top speed of 35 m. p. h. are adequate. Its capacity need not exceed that for two adults and a child, but it must have sufficient space for purchases and family rearing equipment."

Standard Oil Cuts Gas Prices Again

For the second time in two weeks, Standard Oil Co. has announced a cut in their wholesale gasoline prices, which is expected to be followed by most major gasoline companies in the Pontiac and Detroit areas.

Standard cut off one cent per gallon on the cost to its dealers today. On Jan. 15, the company reduced the price 2.2 cents a gallon.

A. B. Fraser, the firm's regional manager, said the new price to dealers will be 14.3 cents a gallon for regular and 17.8 cents for premium. There are taxes of 9.7 cents a gallon.

It is expected that most dealers will pass along the price cut to motorists. This is up to the individual dealers, Fraser said.

Problems of Michigan's Shifting Population

Royal Oak Area Typical of Many in State

(Second in a series of articles on municipal problems)

By ROGER LANE
AP Lansing Correspondent

A six mile square in Oakland County just across Detroit's north city limits gives you a perfect picture of one aspect of the Metropolitan fringe problem.

Its quarter of million residents are ruled by 21 local governments. That averages nearly one government for every 1½ square miles.

Crowded within the area are nine cities and villages — Berkley, Clawson, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge and Royal Oak — plus an unincorporated area of Royal Oak Township.

These are overlaid by eight school districts and two special districts, one providing water service and the other rubbish collection for 11 communities. And then there is the Oakland County government.

If some litigation gets straightened out, a drain authority being set up to serve 12 communities in the area in a flood protection capacity will provide a 22nd local government unit.

What has happened outside Detroit has happened, or threatens to, around many outstate metropolitan centers, spreading governmental waste, inefficiency, duplication and costliness.

This means that until a solution is found — through creation of new local governments, as in Southern Oakland County or otherwise — more and more suburban lanes will turn into busy streets filled with pot holes and into lakes after heavy rains.

More septic tanks will back up or overflow into ditches, with awful stench and peril to health.

Last summer, bacillary dysentery broke out on the southern fringe of Battle Creek, infecting a dozen persons including seven in one family. An infant died. The disease was traced to a privy and human sewage.

In 1955, an epidemic of infectious hepatitis, a water borne disease, hit Jackson. There were 101 reported cases, and maybe 10 times as many unreported. Septic tank pollution of fringe area wells was blamed by city health officers.

In the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area of Washtenaw County, both hepatitis and dysentery outbreaks have occurred in the last five years, each hitting close to 150 persons including many children. The dysentery was attributed to discharge of domestic sewage via storm sewers into Paint Creek outside Ypsilanti.

Serious health hazards continue to lurk in scores of communities.

The rush to the suburbs swamped school facilities. New schools were built but mostly for young children.

Generally, fringe dwellers sent teenagers into the central city to high school and junior high, find-

Williams' School Plan to Cost $302,000,000

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams today unfolded a program designed to meet an "educational crisis" brought on by fast-growing populations and Russia's scientific advances.

The governor laid his proposed plans for the 1958-59 fiscal year before the Legislature in a special message dealing with education needs in Michigan from kindergarten through college.

On the primary and secondary levels, he called for stepped up consolidation of school districts and financial penalties against those which pay their teachers less than $4,500 a year.

He also recommended a $7 boost in the level of state aid payments to local districts, raising it to $197 per pupil.

For colleges, Williams proposed faculty pay boosts, added attention to scientific research and development, and a giant bonding program to meet college building needs.

'WON'T COME CHEAP'

Warning that his program wouldn't come cheap, the Democratic governor told the Republican-dominated Legislature:

"We must face one cold, harsh fact in any plan we develop to resolve the educational crisis we face.

The fact is that nothing can be done unless we are prepared to make the sacrifice, primarily financial, which is required."

Williams said he would like to follow recommendations of a finance study commission and peg his school aid formula at $210, but felt $197 was as high as he could go.

As an offsetting factor, he also proposed to boost deductible millage from 2¾ to 3 mills in outstate areas and from 2⅛ to 3⅝ in Detroit. Deductible millage is an equalizing formula for determining the amount of financial help which districts actually collect. Wealthy districts with high property valuations get less than poor districts with less taxable property.

The governor estimated his program would cost about 302 million dollars, taking into account an expected 70,000 enrollment increase next year. The 1957-58 outlay is expected to run about 287 million dollars.

Pay raises are necessary to correct a shortage of qualified teachers in the state, Williams said in proposing a $4,500 salary minimum.

In districts which fail to meet that level, he said, state aid payments should be reduced by the difference between the actual salary and $4,500 in each case where a teacher earns less than 4,500.

The number of school districts in Michigan has been cut from 7,273 to 2,600 since 1920, Williams said, but there still is plenty of room for greater operating efficiency.

CALLS FOR STUDY

He called for studies of school districts in every county which has not conducted one since July 1, 1954, all to end by June 30, 1960. Any district not having an accredited 12-year primary and secondary program by July 1, 1962, should be compelled to set up one through merger with one or more districts, Williams said.

The governor also suggested allocations totaling $1,581,524 for vocational education and retraining, and $200,000 to enable the superintendent of public instruction to launch a re-training program for unskilled workers.

Williams outlined the bulk of his college program in his general budget message to the Legislature yesterday.

Paramount were a proposed $6,221,585 increase in operating and administration costs and $2,239,634 more to Wayne State University to bring it fully under state control under an agreement with the City of Detroit.

Also recommended were $2,875,000 to set up an Institute of Science and Technology at the University of Michigan and $200,000 to clear the way for opening of the Dearborn branch of the U. of M. and the Oakland branch of Michigan State University in the fall of 1959.

Williams' bonding proposals will be disclosed later, but they are expected to recommend 50-million-dollars in bond issues, chiefly for colleges and universities.

"Apathy will be our greatest obstacle, although the Sputniks have disippated much of it," Williams said. "The rallying cry of 'economy,' too often the last refuge of the selfish, will be sounded again and again."

By E. H. SIMS

In the old days we saw lightning rods everywhere. Why have they declined in popularity in recent years?

Lightning rods still work. They have declined in popularity partly because of economic reasons and partly because we have learned more about the habits of lightning, and how to protect ourselves from it.

But lightning rods, connected to the ground by heavy wire, will prevent fire and speed the electrical discharge from roof into the ground. In many old houses the wire connecting the rod itself to a ground has long been severed and the inhabitants are probably unaware that without the wire lead to the ground, the lightning rod cannot serve its purpose and may even tend, slightly, to attract electrical discharges.

Commission Asking Sullenberger Report

CHARGE DENIED

Informed of this allegation today, Flath denied that there was anything mysterious about his resignation. "I and my family had spent four years there and, mainly, we wanted to get back to the mainland," he said.

During the commission debate, Commissioner John A. Carry modified his original motion that the commission "demand full details about the suit and what is going on about it."

"I think it's peculiar that we, as commissioners, do not know the charges against us," he said.

CITY PAYS

Supporting Carry's motion, Dr. Cooley said, "If the hospital loses the suit, the city is going to have to pay it's share of the $250,000. Since this would come out of the taxpayers' pockets and we are the representatives of the taxpayers, we had better find out what's going on."

Dr. Cooley hit particularly hard at what he called the "under cover" way the suspension came about.

"I've looked through the minutes of the board of trustees and can't find a single mention of Dr. Sullenberger's suspension. There's not even mention of a resolution that he be suspended."

MORE FRUITFUL

Dugan finally gave in to Carry's arguments that a joint meeting of commissioners and trustees would be more fruitful if commissioners had an advance report.

"But let's make it a little report, not a 200-page document," he said.

The commission voted down Dugan's motion to forget the report and finally approved Carry's suggestion by a five to two vote. Voting against it were Donaldson and Commissioner Philip Rowston.

City Manager Walter K. Willman, whose only comment during the long session was "I know nothing about this law suit," was asked to contact Flath for the report and arrange a meeting "within a couple of weeks."

Flath said today he probably would ask City Attorney William A. Ewart, who represents the board of trustees, to draw up the report.

Flath said that the actions against Dr. Sullenberger had taken place during committee meetings, and hence were not recorded in the minutes.

"Dr. Sullenberger's name was not mentioned in the resolution to have a special committee study his case for fear the doctor's reputation would be harmed if the committee decided against suspending him," Flath explained.

He denied that he had been asked to resign the Honolulu post because of several incidents that occurred while he was at Queens Hospital.

One of these concerned complaints by hospital interns and resident physicians that their living conditions were substandard. "As a result, we had their old quarters torn down and put them in a better building," Flath recalled. "Their complaints were not unusual. Most interns and resident physicians complain about living conditions."

Another involved the conviction of a woman employe for embezzling $24,000 from the hospital cafeteria. "I was the one who turned her in and signed the complaint against her," Flath said.

"There was no secret about it. She was able to take advantage of an auditing system that had been set up at the hospital long before I got there."

Starkweather was described as an expert marksman by his brother Rodney. Rodney added that Charles always has been a ready and willing fighter and "always shot his game in the head."

Starkweather and the girl have been sought since Monday night when three members of Caril's family were found slain at their home in Lincoln.

The teen-age pair had been traced south out of Lincoln. When officers converged on a farm 16 miles southeast where Starkweather's car was found yesterday they discovered three more bodies.

BACHELOR, COUPLE

One victim was August Meyer, 70, bachelor at whose farm Starkweather used to hunt squirrels with his father. The other two, their bodies tossed into a storm cellar at an abandoned school site about a quarter of a mile away, were Carol King, 16, and Robert Jensen, her 17-year-old high school boy friend. A pool of blood showed they had been shot outside the cave.

All three had been shot in the back of the head, Meyer with a shotgun and the other two with a small-caliber weapon.

The other three victims, Caril Fugate's mother, Velda Bartlett, 37, her stepfather, Marion Bartlett, 57, and their 2-year-old daughter, Betty Jean, were found dead at the family home Monday night.

When a demand booming out over a police loud-speaker to "come out with your hands up" went unanswered, tear gas shells were lobbed into the farm house. Then a state trooper kicked in a door of a small wash house and saw Meyer's body.

SPURS SEARCH

This discovery spurred the search for Carol King and the Jensen youth, whose families had been searching for them since they failed to return from a ride Monday night.

Everett Broening, one of the searchers, recalled hearing a car speed away from the abandoned school site. He went there and lifted the cellar door and saw the bodies.

In Pentagon Reorganization Plans

Defense Chief Reportedly Receiving More Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Greatly increased authority for the secretary of defense reportedly is included in the administration's preliminary planning for Pentagon reorganization.

Authoritative sources said the tentative recommendations would give Secretary McElroy broad new powers to control military spending.

This would be in line with one of the proposals made to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee by retired Gen. Lucius Clay, longtime adviser and close personal friend of President Eisenhower.

Clay, a member of the Rockefeller study committee which recommended defense reorganization recently, said the secretary now has "practically no control" over money Congress makes available to individual services. He said McElroy could cancel a missile project he found unfeasible, but could not use the funds to finance a more promising missile project under development by another service.

Clay also recommended a single military command, with the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff being given authority to assign roles and missions to the individual services.

There has been criticism in Congress of the dual role of three of the Joint Chiefs, who are responsible for operating individual services while being called upon to do over-all military planning. Only the chairman, who has no vote, is free of direct links and operational responsibilities.

In testimony released this week, however, McElroy said the Joint Chiefs of Staff are doing a good job of military planning for both short-and long-range emergencies.

Don't Believe It: Robins Are Not Sign of Spring

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — What's all this business about the robin being the first sign of spring?

This has been as chilly a winter as anyone could wish for—and New Mexico is full of robins.

At least the valleys are full of them. Apparently the mountains are cold enough to drive them down at this time of year.

The game men say that though generally considered a migratory bird, robins sometimes don't go anywhere in the winter.

Why? The conservation people don't say. It may just be that the robins never read the bird books and don't know they are supposed to go South for the winter.

The Wyoming Game and Fish Department said there were frequent reports of robins wintering in that state.

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — A bus driver was killed and 13 persons injured today when an eastbound bus collided with a large steel-laden tractor-trailer on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Police said the Greyhound bus struck the rear of the tractor-trailer seven miles west of the Reading-Lancaster interchange on the toll highway.

The body of the bus driver was jammed in the wrecked bus for an hour after the crash, shortly after 4 a.m.

Shifting Population Creates Problems

ing tuition payments cheaper. Meanwhile, yesterday's first graders were growing to their teens.

Last fall, enrollment from 30 outside districts in the Saginaw school system topped 2,300, accounting for 12 per cent of the total.

The Saginaw Board of Education voted to slam the door on any more children from outside districts touching the city. City boys and girls need the space, their parents were told.

Lansing school officials recently did the same thing. Kalamazoo did it a long time ago. Others are thinking about it.

High school building costs are staggering to suburbanites with little or no industry to share in paying the bill.

With downtown strangulation, aging populations and deteriorating residential and industrial areas and relatively immovable constricting boundaries, many cities face a prospect of steady decay.

This easily could mean higher taxes, declining property values, worsening services, a drying up of business and fewer and poorer paying jobs.

Civic leadership is being diluted as businessmen, doctors and even city officials emigate to the suburbs, yielding up the right to take part in the city's official life.

The big question, then:

Can city residents and outsiders find a basis for pooling resources and burdens, thus mutually lightening their loads and reinvigorating the communities to which they both belong — but for lines on a map?

$1,800,000 Theft Leads Checked

Patient Thieves Blast Into Montreal Vaults, Take Negotiable Bonds

MONTREAL (AP) — Police today followed a "number of promising leads" in the weekend theft of $1,800,000 in negotiable bonds from a downtown trust company.

Using explosives and acetylene torches, the burglars took an estimated 12 hours to bore holes in two steel and concrete vaults of La Societe Nationale de Difucie, a trust company, and its banking subsidiary, La Caissel Nationale Economie.

"It was a neat, efficient operation," said one police official. "It was like trying to blast their way into an airraid shelter. Some people in the neighborhood said they heard explosions Saturday night and Sunday morning. We heard a lot of stories . . . We have a lot of checking to do."

Henri Oulmet, general manager of the trust company, disclosed the amount stolen was considerably more than had first been estimated.

Ouimet said the robbers did not penetrate to a large steel cabinet within the vault containing an amount "as large or larger than the one they took."

The stolen securities — bearer bonds with serial numbers but no name registered with the issuing source — are negotiable but "not that easy to cash."

"You couldn't just walk into a bank and come out with the money in five minutes," Ouimet said.

Quiz Racketeer on Union Deals

Senate Committee Fires Questions at Joey Fay in Today's Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor racketeer Joey Fay faces quizzing today on any dealings he has had with labor unions since his release from prison.

Fay, convicted of extortion, was paroled from Sing Sing Prison in 1956 on terms which forbid him to engage in union affairs. He formerly was an international vice president of the Operating Engineers Union, which is under investigation by the Senate Rackets Committee.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Fay has "current business associations" with the union and its top officials. Kennedy said he understood they were approved by Fay's parole officer, but wants to get the answer from Fay.

Fay testified yesterday he knew nothing about the millions of dollars that allegedly disappeared from funds of the union's big Philadelphia Local 542 while he and his lieutenants ran it.

Fay acknowedged he has been drawing a $12,600-a-year pension from the union's Local 825 in Newark, N. J., since his release from prison.

The bullet-shaped satellite vehicle itself—six feet, eight inches long—is clearly just another of the small rockets, with the front part devoted to instruments.

Army sources said the satellite rocket assembly is only a slight variation of the Jupiter C that on Sept. 20, 1956, rocketed a substantial payload a distance of 3,300 miles, reaching a maximum altitude of 680 miles.

Papers Need Youths

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dean Earl F. English of the University of Missouri School of Journalism believes there's a great future in news work for young people. Last year, Dr. English told an interviewer his school graduated 110 students and had 563 job offers for graduates.

The Day in Birmingham

'57 Loss of $5,455 Listed in Complete Fire Report

BIRMINGHAM — The complete Birmingham Fire Department activities' report for 1957 was released today, listing the city total fire loss at only $5,455 for the year.

Fire Chief Park Smith said, however, that the value of buildings and property endangered by fires topped 17 million dollars.

"This low loss is a commendation largely to our fire prevention work," he said. "Our fire marshal, George Scott, carries on a continuous campaign and gets excellent cooperation from the city's business people and homeowners."

In addition to firefighting and rescue work, the department has charge of the city's water supply. City-owned wells produced nearly 3½ million gallons of water up to Nov. 20, the report stated.

At that time a switchover was made, with the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority supplying all city needs. Birmingham wells, however, are retained on an emergency basis and can put into operation in a matter of minutes.

Under the direction of Fire Capts. M. G. Fuller and C. G. Nunnelley, six first-aid classes were conducted throughout the year, Smith reported. There were 101 persons trained from the DPW, Eton Park, police and police auxiliary, part-time fire department and ambulance drivers throughout the county.

Among some of the unusual rescue calls answered by the fire department, Smith reported, was one to help free a resident caught under his garage door, another whose leg was caught in a tree and a man whose foot was trapped in a sewer grating.

The department also did standby duty at the arrival of one of the city's youngest citizens, he said.

Mrs. William S. Chisholm, regent of the Birmingham Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the British Empire, received the charter for the new organization yesterday at a tea held in Detroit. Charter members of the group were presented with pins.

Serving with Mrs. Chisholm are Dr. Albert Blakey and Mrs. John E. McNichol, vice regents; Mrs. John B. Heaton, recording secretary; Mrs. Wells Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Lorne Brothers, historian, and Mrs. William J. Lambert, corresponding secretary.

The Senior Men's Club of Birmingham will meet Friday at the Community House.

Mrs. Mary Binkle, widely known area poet and commentator, will show slides taken in the Scandinavian countries.

The club also is planning a discussion group under the direction of G. A. Ziegler.

Police are investigating the burglary of the R. L. Cortwright home, 2366 Northlawn Ave., sometime between 3 and 11:30 p.m. yesterday.

Entry was made by prying open a window, and about $27 in cash was stolen, police said.

The President's plane, Columbine III, touched down in clear weather after circling for 27 minutes over fogbound Kansas City, Grandview, Mo., and Olathe.

An emergency motor caravan, composed largely of Navy automobiles, was assembled to drive Eisenhower into Kansas City where his brother's funeral services are to be held.

Eisenhower flew by helicopter from the White House to National Airport, Washington, today for his trip to attend the funeral of his brother. It was Eisenhower's first use of the new service for such a short hop.

Eisenhower planned to attend private services for his elder brother in the early afternoon, and then fly back to Washington.

Also accompanying the president was his youngest brother, Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. Mrs. Eisenhower remained in Washington.

Meet to Avert Chrysler Strike

Dodge Main Plant Resumes Operations as Firm, UAW Negotiate

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union met today in an effort to head off a strike at the huge Dodge Main plant in Hamtramck.

The plant resumed assembly operations this morning following a one-day shutdown. The company had sent 5,000 workers home Tuesday because of what it called "scheduling difficulties."

The UAW's international executive board has authorized Dodge Main Local 3 to strike, if necessary, to settle "speed-up" grievances. The company denied it had increased the work load on its assembly workers.

A five-day strike notice, served on the company last week, expired at midnight last night. The notice was intended to comply with contract requirements and did not imply an immediate strike threat.

A strike at Dodge Main could idle 70,000 Detroit-area Chrysler workers. The plant, which employs 17,500, is a key supplier to other Chrysler plants here and is headquarters for the firm's shuttle trucking fleet.

Company and union negotiators met 2½ hours Monday. No talks were held yesterday.

The firm's East Jefferson and Kercheval plants were reopened yesterday. They were closed Monday when 4,500 workers were sent home following a walkout in a dispute over production standards.

A company spokesman said a strike would not affect Chrysler's missile plant in Warren. The company has about 4,500 employes at a government-owned plant engaged in producing the Redstone ballistic missile for the Army.

Missing Girl in Detroit Found Unharmed, Cold

Mrs. Jane Wisehart (of 12914 Appleton) found Susan Perruzzi huddled near the garage at the rear of the Wisehart home.

Twenty policemen and between 30 and 50 neighbors and relatives searched for the child throughout last night.

5th Judge Bill Nearing Vote

Movement to Expand Oakland Circuit Court Waiting in Legislature

Expected to be voted on the floor of the House of Representatives in Lansing "in about two or three weeks" is a bill which would provide a fifth circuit judge on the Oakland County bench.

Farrell E. Roberts (R-West Bloomfield Township) said the bill might come up for study by the Judiciary Committee today. He is a member of this committee.

Al six Oakland COUNTY representatives, four Republicans and two Democrats, joined together Jan. 16 to sponsor the bill.

Gov. Williams last year vetoed a similar bill which was favored by Republicans. The joint sponsorship, legislators hope, will aid the bill over any partisan hurdle.

The proposal would call for the fifth judge to be elected next spring.

Pontiac Dance to Honor Circuit Judge Targonski

The General Pulaski Group 2776 (Pontiac) of the Polish National Alliance will hold a dance Saturday night at 9 at the Roosevelt Hotel, in honor of Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Victor Targonski.

Tickets at one dollar will be available at the door or in advance by calling Emil Jaworski, general chairman, at FEderal 2-2713.

Recession Is Topic

DETROIT (AP)— Elliott V. Bell, editor of Business Week, will discuss Monday before the Economic Club of Detroit.

Army Discloses 4 Sites for Atomic Nike Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army disclosed tonight the first four locations for its new Nike Hercules antiaircraft guided missile, which can carry an atomic warhead.

They will be in the New York, Washington - Baltimore, Chicago and Philadelphia areas. Due to go into use in June, the Hercules installations will be at present Nike-Ajax sites.

Nike Hercules is a 100-mile range missile for blasting enemy bombers with either conventional or atomic explosive.

An Army statement said:

"Nike Hercules will give the North American Defense Command, of which the Army Air Defense Command is the United States Army element, its first operational surface-to-air missile which can use an atomic warhead."

However, it is known that "genie" rockets, armed with nuclear warheads, have been the armament of Air Force jet interceptors for some time. These rockets are air-to-air weapons, fired by interceptors against enemy bombers or bomb formations.

The Air Force also has announced it will build the first four of a series of sites for launching its long-range interceptor missile, the Bomarc.

The Bomarc has a range about double that of the Hercules and can work effectively at more than 60,000 feet altitude. The Bomarc launching sites apparently will not be ready before the Army Hercules sites go into operation in June.

Construction of the four Hercules sites, the army announcement said, "is the beinning of a nationwide program of converting the Army's surface-to-surface missiles sites to the dual capability of firing both Nike Ajax and Nike Hercules missiles."

Hudson Introduces Bill for Bi-County Groups

A bill which would create bi-partisan county road and welfare commissions in the state was introduced in the House of Representatives in Lansing today by Leslie H. Hudson (D-Pontiac).

The proposal would require at least one member of the minority party in each county be placed on both commissions.

"By this bi-partisan alignment," Hudson said, "you are assured views from both sides." He cited the bi-partisan makeup on the board of auditors as "working toward an efficient government."

Pontiac Dedicates New Public Safety Building

History was made when Pontiac's first Public Safety Building was dedicated Sunday. This new $950,000 building brings together for the first time our Police and Fire Departments, plus two Municipal courts.

The joining of these services has many advantages. In many instances their work overlaps and with the direction centrally located in one building it should provide for smoother overall operation.

This building is a tribute to all citizens of Pontiac for the splendid support they have given their city. The voters, along with the City Commission, are to be congratulated for giving Pontiac this new building.

High Russian Output Doesn't Help Workers

Although Russia's industrial production is 16 times what it was in 1928, the average Soviet citizen is no better off than he was then.

These facts explain why Russia has made such spectacular advances in military power and scientific achievement. The people have derived no benefit from their hard work and sacrifices.

Production of steel, for instance, lags years behind ours and most of what is manufactured goes back into heavy industry. Last year Russia produced more machine tool units than did the United States. Consumption of steel for power plants, factories, heavy machinery and other capital goods is believed to be near our own.

In this country a good share of steel goes into consumer goods—into automobiles and appliances. Few of these are produced in the U.S.S.R. and no worker makes enough money to own any such conveniences. Perhaps it may be necessary for us to lower our living standard in order to build stronger defenses. But it would have to touch bottom to compare with the Soviet Union.

The power to direct effort and to ignore the needs of its people is characteristic of a totalitarian state. This also can build a mighty war potential. Russia's efforts to lead in military power and science have depended on a bare subsistence standard of living for its people.

Guatemala's Election

Under Guatemala's constitution when no presidential candidate wins a clear majority of the total vote, Congress decides between the top men.

Extreme right wing candidate Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES led the runnerup, former ambassador to United States moderate Col. JOSE LUIS CRUZ SALAZAR by a large majority. Leftist Dr. MARIO MENDEZ MONTEVEGRO was a poor third.

In a special election last October following the assassination of anti-Communist President CASTILLO ARMAS, Supreme Court Justice ORTIZ PASSARELLI was elected President. Claiming fraud a right wing group led by Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES organized riots which forced annulment of the election.

Since then two caretaker governments failed and new elections were scheduled. Now, after that election, the General threatens civil war if Congress does not declare him the new President of Guatemala.

It is feared that Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES might drag Guatemala back to the feudal conditions of the discredited UBICO regime whose repressions led to the near capture of Guatemala by the Communists. They in turn, were held in check by the late President CASTILLO ARMAS.

Guatemala's Congress is controlled by friends of CRUZ SALAZAR and young army officers are said to oppose both leftists and Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES. A sinister note is that the General is being openly supported by Dominican Dictator TRUJILLO.

With the help of the United States, Guatemala made great progress economically and socially under the CASTILLO ARMAS regime. It is to be hoped there will be no setback.

Our Open Winter Contrasts With Some Southern Climes

Ground Hog Day: Feb. 2; Sunday this time; will he come out?

"Not another like it in 45 years," writes

Herman Hasselbach

of Keego Harbor, about the present winter. "Regardless of what the official thermometer readings may show," he says, "it has been the most wide open winter I ever experienced. My fuel consumption up to the present time is not as large as in many winters by Christmas. The ice on some of our lakes has not been safe up to the closing days of January. There's hardly any frost in the ground, pussy willows are budding and the snow has been negligible."

Many of my readers are reporting more winter robins than ever before,

Writing that she's feeding a great variety of birds,

Mrs. Gladys Davis

Pontiac people who went to Texas to escape the winter are sending back gloomier notes than those in Florida. Even at Uvalde,

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Curran

After bringing pennants and a world championship to the Detroit Tigers, climbing into the Hall of Fame, and leaving the game when he was "beaned" by a ball 20 years ago, Mickey, now 54, is fairly fixed financially, but too young to retire. The Second Red Menace

David Lawrence Says:

UAW Is Now Pulling Turnabout

WASHINGTON — Both Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, and the heads of the automobile companies today seem to be on the wrong side of the dispute about profit-sharing plans for the employes.

LAWRENCE

Not so long ago Mr. Reuther's union was very strongly opposed to all profit-sharing plans, while employers in various big companies were sponsoring the idea.

"Profit-sharing," said the monthly bulletin of the UAW's research department a few years ago, "is a step backward. It brings another uncertainty into the worker's life. It makes it impossible for him to depend on the money he hopes to get, and on which his family is planning for the things it wants and needs. Management people this is true. . . .

"Nevertheless, some employers who are for profit-sharing instead of a wage increase, say frankly that they want to make capitalists out of the workers. The idea has a kind of smell of money about it that attracts some people. But workers who have tried to be capitalists in this way have found that the idea is strictly phony . . .

"To hear management people tell it, when they want to put over profit-sharing, their profits depend entirely on how much the individual is willing to sweat. . . .

"On what, then, do the profits depend? Profits depend, first of all, on how much the company can sell, and then they depend on the price the company gets for its product. The worker has nothing to do with either of these parts of the job management must work out in order to make money."

Yet this very week Mr. Reuther, testifying before the Senate's Anti-Monopoly subcommittee, was arguing that unions should have a big say in price-making. He wants a share of the profits to be rebated to consumers, and urges a government agency to hold hearings and, in effect, regulate prices.

The UAW bulletin quoted above goes on to stress the fact that profit-sharing is really a management function:

"A wrong decision on how much inventory should be carried by the firm may wipe out profits, or a large share of them, no matter how hard the worker has worked in the shop.

"Mistakes in buying materials, poor engineering of the product, or in picking the sales manager—these are only some of the factors that go into determining how much profit there will be. These are decisions made by management.

"Under profit-sharing, the workers pay the cost of a bad decision, even though they have no control over how the decision is made. . . .

"There is another reason why employers want flexibility. It makes it possible for them to compete for business, and take the competition out of the workers' pay instead of out of their own profits.

"If business falls off, and management has to scramble for orders, the company with the lowest price gets the business. The profit-sharing company can cut prices—by giving away the workers' share of the profits of the business.

"It means competition by matching one group of underpaid workers against another, and forcing each group into lower and lower pay. That's flexibility. . . .

"That is the UAW position and one for which the union and its membership will continue to fight with everything at hand."

All this was published in April 1949, since which time surely the philosophy of modern business and the principles behind union demands have undergone no basic change.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Deficiency of Riboflavin May Cause Lips to Chap

An Idaho reader writes: "My lips chap so in winter, I think I need riboflavin."

Here we go again!

Riboflavin is otherwise called vitamin B-2 and was formerly known as vitamin G.

DR. BRADY

It is true that riboflavin deficiency may manifest itself by constant chapping of the lips. Or not just chapping, but more annoying and unsightly pallor of the lips particularly at the angles of the mouth with maceration, cracking, sometimes bleeding and formation of crusts. This condition is called cheilosis ($10) — or if that seems a little steep maybe we'll settle for angular stomatitis at $3.50 to $5.

Nutrition authorities estimate that less than 5 milligrams of riboflavin daily will prevent manifestations of riboflavin deficiency. Nevertheless I'd take not less than four 5-milligram tablets daily for not less than two months to determine whether sore lips might be due to riboflavin deficiency.

Other signs of riboflavin deficiency are a fine, scaly, greasy condition of the skin over the wings and bridge of the nose, above the eyebrows, in the nasolabial folds; magenta, dry, atrophic, painful tongue; burning feet; brown, itching vulvar or scrotal dermatitis (skin inflammation); itching or burning eyelids and photophobia (intolerance of sunlight), in some instances "eyestrain" and twilight blindness which is not corrected by vitamin A.

A familiar sign of ariboflavinosis (riboflavin deficiency) is injection of the little blood vessels on the eyeball, a bloodshot appearance.

But please remember that any or all of these abnormalities may be due to causes other than riboflavin deficiency. If you decide to boost your riboflavin intake for a month or two and experience no noticeable benefit from it, the experiment will have done no harm anyway.

Foods that supply considerable riboflavin are plain wheat, wheat bran, wheat germ, shredded wheat, pecans, almonds, peanuts, dried beans, beet greens (tops), broccoli, alfalfa, dried lentils, fresh or dried peas, evaporated milk, dried milk, cheese, liver, spinach, sardines, fish roe, salmon fresh or canned, dried prunes, milk, eggs, ham, lean beef, water cress, sweet potato.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Selling Improves Self-Confidence

Charley has cleverly diagnosed his own weakness and is bravely trying to plug up the holes in his social armor. Selling is tough on shy introverts, but it makes a man far more self confident and also causes him to have a winning way with women. For girls like articulate men who radiate assurance.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-315: Charley B., aged 23, wants to be a salesman.

DR. CRANE

"But Dr. Crane, I am afflicted with stage fright," he began. "I blush and stutter when I meet a stranger or try to talk in public.

"I was always shy and afraid of people even as a child, so I became a great reader and for further recreation I would experiment in my home chemistry lab.

"But I lost my college sweetheart last year chiefly because I couldn't talk. She actually told me I was too shy and uncertain of myself to win any girl's affection.

"So I have decided to become a salesman. Do you think I should tackle such an extrovertive job?"

WHAT IS CONFIDENCE?

It was quite true that Charley lacked self-confidence. But so do millions of young people.

What is confidence, after all? Just a form of morale which has developed from the fact you have done many things successfully.

Ultimately, the confident person figures: "Just let me get a little experience, even at a strange task, and I'll do it as well as the next man."

That is a victory morale, derived from many previous successes.

You can't feel confident on a canoe trip unless you can swim. You will have stage fright on a baseball diamond unless you have played ball often enough to know the specific duties of a short stop versus a catcher, etc.

Parents should use a check list and deliberately help their kids attain confidence through successful completion of the cutomary obligations of current teenagers.

For example, can your child ride a bicycle? Has he traveled on a bus or streetcar or train or plane? And by himself?

Is your child a member of a Scout Troop, Camp Fire Girl unit, etc? Has he earned his own spending money for years?

Has he talked in public? This includes recitation at Sunday school or publicly saying grace at the table or presiding at a club meeting of the Hi-Y, etc.

Has he spent a single night away from home unattended by his parents? Has he ever been at a camp for a week, as of the Boy Scout type or a church summer camp?

Has he ever had boxing instruction (ideal for self-confidence of timid boys)?

Can he drive a car? Has he ever performed any sales work, as welling magazines house-to-house or operating a newspaper route?

Has he been on dates? Does he know how to carry on conversation with the opposite sex?

BUILD CONFIDENCE

Even if you have reached adulthood, there may be several key fields in which you now lack confidence. So build your own assurance by plugging up those weak spots.

Charley is thus smart in tackling sales work. It is tough on timid folks, but builds up self assurance faster than almost any other job.

But you must memorize your sales talk so the words will flow automatically. Beginners are too shy to think correctly on the spot, so do you memorizing in advance and rehearse often, as before a mirror.

Salesmen have a way with women largely because they can articulate their thoughts in words and feel assured in knowing this very fact.

Send for my booklet "Secrets of Sales & Advertising Psychology," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Sales work is good training for winning sweethearts, even if you don't stay in selling all your life.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Says Hard Times Caused by Greedy Millionaires

Does the system we're under work for all people or just a few? If it works for all, why are six million people unemployed? Why are so many losing their homes? Of the millions who have bought homes in the past three years, only nine per cent will be able to hold on to them. The other 91 per cent will lose them.

Ninety-five per cent of people who are working aren't able to buy what they help produce. Under our system one man will make more in one year than a thousand men will make in a lifetime. While some people roll in wealth, there are men, women and children going hungry and cold. These hard times just don't happen. They are man-made by greed for money.

Wake up, you greedy millionaires, before it's too late. The Bible says it will be just as easy for a camel to go through the eye of a needle as it will be for a rich man to enter the kingdom of Heaven.

'Public's Being Unfair to Sarah'

The public is being very unfair to Sarah Churchill, just because she got on a drunk. She paid the fine and people should forget about it. We have criminals here from foreign countries that have spent a lifetime in crime, been in several prisons and yet we let them stay. Why? Some even become citizens. I don't know how.

Why not deport such people? Why harbor them here, corrupting our American youth? After all, Sarah Churchill didn't commit any crime. Let's get rid of the criminals and let our youth grow up in a healthy country. We've deported some. Let's get rid of the rest.

'Someone Must Run the Works'

How can you run a police department if a man's discharge is going to be discussed, second guessed and scoffed at by people that haven't got a thing to do with it?

If a man can't "cut it" in any business, they replace him. Has every police discharge got to be reviewed and officially given an O.K. by the board of critics in the center field bleachers?

We'll have the worst police department in the country if the chief isn't allowed to hire and fire the men. Someone somewhere has to run and manage everything there is. You can't do it by a vote of people who haven't much idea what's going on.

Gives Answer to Space Query

A reader wants to know why it's so important to travel to the moon. Sen. Lyndon Johnson says control of space means control of the world far more certainly than any control that has been or could ever be achieved by weapons or by troops of occupation. From space the masters of infinity would have the power to control the earth's weather, to cause drought and flood, etc.

Dr. Rabi, the Nobel Prize winning physicist, said the facts presented about warfare have just not penetrated. The problem he indicated is one of survival. We have to solve the problem of living together on this planet or we won't live. He declared that just as the Russians threaten us, we threaten them and that the end of national existence is in sight unless we solve this problem.

Our Pontiac Press editorial writer of Jan. 24 has propounded the most logical facts on the present day political and social questions of the day for this community as well as the country in general. U.S. Education System Under Intense Scrutiny

(Like the weather, everybody's talking about education. But unlike the weather, things are being done about it. Thoughtful questioners are asking: Has the U.S. system failed in the face of Russian scientific achievement? If so, what can we do? This first of three articles explores the future.)

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
AP Writer

Why did the Russians beat us aloft? Why, if we were beaten, couldn't we match them when we tried?

Everyone has an answer. And in most cases, from the expert and the ordinary citizen, it boils down to one thing: something is at fault in our educational system.

Whether this is true, the public clamor for changes no doubt will bring science to more youngsters and someday probably will produce more and better scientists.

How will it be done? The Associated Press, utilizing its bureaus in all parts of the country to try to assess the science education picture in secondary schools, has found numerous ideas.

The survey indicated these prospective developments and trends:

1. Science and mathematics teachers will be required to have more education in their fields and to keep up to date. But they also will be given better tools with which to work.

2. The gifted student, allowed to coast in most schools while his slower brethren hog the teacher's attention, will be offered special courses to challenge his intelligence. He will be allowed to progress at his own speed.

3. Science curricula will be made more attractive, but tougher. And school children will get a much earlier introduction to science, in many cases beginning in kindergarten.

But education denies that the Russian moon alone spawned new educational ideas. Plans for improving science studies were abroad long before the Russians launched their Sputniks, educators say.

"The role played by the Sputniks has been to create changes in public opinion which allow us to do things we have long wanted to do," said Dr. Giles Theilmann, director of instruction in Topeka, Kan.

"The Sputniks have made many people willing to spend some money and do some things," he said.

"With Sputniks orbiting the earth, our education system sits back and smugly views its lavishly furnished home economics departments while biology, chemistry and physics departments are operated with baling wire and sealing wax," said State Sen. Joseph J. Yosko of Bethlehem, Pa. His was a typical indictment.

The senator demanded that school systems rid themselves of a philosophy which permits a "watered-down curriculum." He described as frills such courses as "how to drive a car, cross a street, dance, swim, play, set a table, wash clothes . . ."

On the defensive, education fought back.

"We tried a program for gifted students in 1952," Dr. Theilmann said, "but we dropped it because of the public's attitude. Now some of the same people say we should start such a program."

But education also acknowledged shortcomings.

Iowa administrators agreed with figures in a masters thesis by Harold B. Crawley Jr., a science teacher. These figures show that 15 per cent of the state's high school physics teachers never had a college course in physics, that 21 per cent fail to meet state demands for teachers of science subjects.

Wayland W. Osborn, Iowa's director of teacher education and certification, said the unqualified teach because they qualified years ago when a person with a college degree was permitted to "teach any subject he had the courage to teach."

In Pennsylvania, Dr. Charles H. Boehm said: "It seems to me that with days off for football pep rallies, this holiday and that and other excuses for taking a day off from school, the average student actually receives only 11½ years of education instead of 12."

Boehm, state superintendent of public instruction, proposed a six-day school week, but found few sympathizers.

However, the climate is ripe for proposing changes and educators in at least a third of the states are taking advantage of it.

New York State administrators have proposed a multimillion-dollar program to improve all public school teaching, with the emphasis on science and mathematics.

There have been other more unexpected reactions.

In Livermore, Calif., 237 members of a student body of 780 asked permission to attend summer school in a program designed to permit them to progress as fast and as far as possible.

A long unused telescope was discovered in the cupola of a high school in Manchester, N. H. Dusted off, it became the nucleus for a course in astronomy.

Ninety-three business firms bought scaled-down advertisements and the mechanical staff worked overtime to produce a 16-page Pearl Harbor Day edition of the Adirondack Daily Enterprise at Saranac Lake, N. Y. Publishers Roger Tubby and James Loeb Jr. turned over the $2,005 in profits to establish science scholarships for high school graduates of Saranac Lake and Lake Placid.

In the midst of change, however, educators are throwing up a resistance to "crash" programs. They warn that all students can not be converted into Einsteins simply by placing them in a physics class.

Find Japanese Boat With Bodies of Dead

KOBE, Japan (AP) — Japanese divers today found the sunken hull of the ferryboat Nankai Maru in 120 feet of water in the Inland Sea. Six bodies believed to be from among the missing 170 passengers and crewmen were drifting in the area.

The ferryboat was lost in storms Sunday and yesterday that left Japan with 311 persons dead or missing in 23 known shipping tragedies. The Japanese coast guard said 22 other vessels were lost, damaged or sunk along the Pacific and Inland Sea coasts.

The coast guard said the sunken Nankai Maru was found three miles west of Awaji Island in the treacherous Kii Strait. One of nearly 200 fishing boats dragging the strait 300 miles southwest of Tokyo first detected the wreck.

Coast guard officials believed the two-year-old radar-equipped ship suddenly capsized or broke in the mountainous waves.

Pontiac Dedicates New Public Safety Building

History was made when Pontiac's first Public Safety Building was dedicated Sunday. This new $950,000 building brings together for the first time our Police and Fire Departments, plus two Municipal courts.

The joining of these services has many advantages. In many instances their work overlaps and with the direction centrally located in one building it should provide for smoother overall operation.

This building is a tribute to all citizens of Pontiac for the splendid support they have given their city. The voters, along with the City Commission, are to be congratulated for giving Pontiac this new building.

High Russian Output Doesn't Help Workers

Although Russia's industrial production is 16 times what it was in 1928, the average Soviet citizen is no better off than he was then.

These facts explain why Russia has made such spectacular advances in military power and scientific achievement. The people have derived no benefit from their hard work and sacrifices.

Production of steel, for instance, lags years behind ours and most of what is manufactured goes back into heavy industry. Last year Russia produced more machine tool units than did the United States. Consumption of steel for power plants, factories, heavy machinery and other capital goods is believed to be near our own.

In this country a good share of steel goes into consumer goods—into automobiles and appliances. Few of these are produced in the U.S.S.R. and no worker makes enough money to own any such conveniences. Perhaps it may be necessary for us to lower our living standard in order to build stronger defenses. But it would have to touch bottom to compare with the Soviet Union.

The power to direct effort and to ignore the needs of its people is characteristic of a totalitarian state. This also can build a mighty war potential. Russia's efforts to lead in military power and science have depended on a bare subsistence standard of living for its people.

Guatemala's Election

Under Guatemala's constitution when no presidential candidate wins a clear majority of the total vote, Congress decides between the top men.

Extreme right wing candidate Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES led the runnerup, former ambassador to United States moderate Col. JOSE LUIS CRUZ SALAZAR by a large majority. Leftist Dr. MARIO MENDEZ MONTEVEGRO was a poor third.

In a special election last October following the assassination of anti-Communist President CASTILLO ARMAS, Supreme Court Justice ORTIZ PASSARELLI was elected President. Claiming fraud a right wing group led by Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES organized riots which forced annulment of the election.

Since then two caretaker governments failed and new elections were scheduled. Now, after that election, the General threatens civil war if Congress does not declare him the new President of Guatemala.

It is feared that Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES might drag Guatemala back to the feudal conditions of the discredited UBICO regime whose repressions led to the near capture of Guatemala by the Communists. They in turn, were held in check by the late President CASTILLO ARMAS.

Guatemala's Congress is controlled by friends of CRUZ SALAZAR and young army officers are said to oppose both leftists and Gen. YDIGORAS FUENTES. A sinister note is that the General is being openly supported by Dominican Dictator TRUJILLO.

With the help of the United States, Guatemala made great progress economically and socially under the CASTILLO ARMAS regime. It is to be hoped there will be no setback.

Our Open Winter Contrasts With Some Southern Climes

Ground Hog Day: Feb. 2; Sunday this time; will he come out?

"Not another like it in 45 years," writes

Herman Hasselbach

of Keego Harbor, about the present winter. "Regardless of what the official thermometer readings may show," he says, "it has been the most wide open winter I ever experienced. My fuel consumption up to the present time is not as large as in many winters by Christmas. The ice on some of our lakes has not been safe up to the closing days of January. There's hardly any frost in the ground, pussy willows are budding and the snow has been negligible."

Back from a Florida vacation,

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bargy

of Auburn Heights, phone that they came home to get warm. Their car radiator froze up in Georgia and they battled snow drifts in Tennessee.

Many of my readers are reporting more winter robins than ever before,

Mrs. Violet Finkbeiner

of 121 Ascot Road, being surprised at the number around her premises, although she does not maintain a feeding board.

Writing that she's feeding a great variety of birds,

of 77 Fiddis Ave., admits that the robins act as if they wished they were out of Michigan. Perhaps they haven't heard from Florida.

Pontiac people who went to Texas to escape the winter are sending back gloomier notes than those in Florida. Even at Uvalde, encountered a blizzard and snow drifts that blocked the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Curran

After bringing pennants and a world championship to the Detroit Tigers, climbing into the Hall of Fame, and leaving the game when he was "beaned" by a ball 20 years ago, Mickey, now 54, is fairly fixed financially, but too young to retire. The Second Red Menace

David Lawrence Says:

UAW Is Now Pulling Turnabout

WASHINGTON — Both Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, and the heads of the automobile companies today seem to be on the wrong side of the dispute about profit-sharing plans for the employes.

LAWRENCE

Not so long ago Mr. Reuther's union was very strongly opposed to all profit-sharing plans, while employers in various big companies were sponsoring the idea.

"Profit-sharing," said the monthly bulletin of the UAW's research department a few years ago, "is a step backward. It brings another uncertainty into the worker's life. It makes it impossible for him to depend on the money he hopes to get, and on which his family is planning for the things it wants and needs. Management people this is true. . . .

"Nevertheless, some employers who are for profit-sharing instead of a wage increase, say frankly that they want to make capitalists out of the workers. The idea has a kind of smell of money about it that attracts some people. But workers who have tried to be capitalists in this way have found that the idea is strictly phony . . .

"To hear management people tell it, when they want to put over profit-sharing, their profits depend entirely on how much the individual is willing to sweat. . . .

"On what, then, do the profits depend? Profits depend, first of all, on how much the company can sell, and then they depend on the price the company gets for its product. The worker has nothing to do with either of these parts of the job management must work out in order to make money."

Yet this very week Mr. Reuther, testifying before the Senate's Anti-Monopoly subcommittee, was arguing that unions should have a big say in price-making. He wants a share of the profits to be rebated to consumers, and urges a government agency to hold hearings and, in effect, regulate prices.

The UAW bulletin quoted above goes on to stress the fact that profit-sharing is really a management function:

"A wrong decision on how much inventory should be carried by the firm may wipe out profits, or a large share of them, no matter how hard the worker has worked in the shop.

"Mistakes in buying materials, poor engineering of the product, or in picking the sales manager—these are only some of the factors that go into determining how much profit there will be. These are decisions made by management.

"Under profit-sharing, the workers pay the cost of a bad decision, even though they have no control over how the decision is made. . . .

"There is another reason why employers want flexibility. It makes it possible for them to compete for business, and take the competition out of the workers' pay instead of out of their own profits.

"If business falls off, and management has to scramble for orders, the company with the lowest price gets the business. The profit-sharing company can cut prices—by giving away the workers' share of the profits of the business.

"It means competition by matching one group of underpaid workers against another, and forcing each group into lower and lower pay. That's flexibility. . . .

"That is the UAW position and one for which the union and its membership will continue to fight with everything at hand."

All this was published in April 1949, since which time surely the philosophy of modern business and the principles behind union demands have undergone no basic change.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Deficiency of Riboflavin May Cause Lips to Chap

An Idaho reader writes: "My lips chap so in winter, I think I need riboflavin."

Here we go again!

Riboflavin is otherwise called vitamin B-2 and was formerly known as vitamin G.

DR. BRADY

It is true that riboflavin deficiency may manifest itself by constant chapping of the lips. Or not just chapping, but more annoying and unsightly pallor of the lips particularly at the angles of the mouth with maceration, cracking, sometimes bleeding and formation of crusts. This condition is called cheilosis ($10) — or if that seems a little steep maybe we'll settle for angular stomatitis at $3.50 to $5.

Nutrition authorities estimate that less than 5 milligrams of riboflavin daily will prevent manifestations of riboflavin deficiency. Nevertheless I'd take not less than four 5-milligram tablets daily for not less than two months to determine whether sore lips might be due to riboflavin deficiency.

Other signs of riboflavin deficiency are a fine, scaly, greasy condition of the skin over the wings and bridge of the nose, above the eyebrows, in the nasolabial folds; magenta, dry, atrophic, painful tongue; burning feet; brown, itching vulvar or scrotal dermatitis (skin inflammation); itching or burning eyelids and photophobia (intolerance of sunlight), in some instances "eyestrain" and twilight blindness which is not corrected by vitamin A.

A familiar sign of ariboflavinosis (riboflavin deficiency) is injection of the little blood vessels on the eyeball, a bloodshot appearance.

But please remember that any or all of these abnormalities may be due to causes other than riboflavin deficiency. If you decide to boost your riboflavin intake for a month or two and experience no noticeable benefit from it, the experiment will have done no harm anyway.

Foods that supply considerable riboflavin are plain wheat, wheat bran, wheat germ, shredded wheat, pecans, almonds, peanuts, dried beans, beet greens (tops), broccoli, alfalfa, dried lentils, fresh or dried peas, evaporated milk, dried milk, cheese, liver, spinach, sardines, fish roe, salmon fresh or canned, dried prunes, milk, eggs, ham, lean beef, water cress, sweet potato.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Says Hard Times Caused by Greedy Millionaires

Does the system we're under work for all people or just a few? If it works for all, why are six million people unemployed? Why are so many losing their homes? Of the millions who have bought homes in the past three years, only nine per cent will be able to hold on to them. The other 91 per cent will lose them.

Ninety-five per cent of people who are working aren't able to buy what they help produce. Under our system one man will make more in one year than a thousand men will make in a lifetime. While some people roll in wealth, there are men, women and children going hungry and cold. These hard times just don't happen. They are man-made by greed for money.

Wake up, you greedy millionaires, before it's too late. The Bible says it will be just as easy for a camel to go through the eye of a needle as it will be for a rich man to enter the kingdom of Heaven.

'Public's Being Unfair to Sarah'

The public is being very unfair to Sarah Churchill, just because she got on a drunk. She paid the fine and people should forget about it. We have criminals here from foreign countries that have spent a lifetime in crime, been in several prisons and yet we let them stay. Why? Some even become citizens. I don't know how.

Why not deport such people? Why harbor them here, corrupting our American youth? After all, Sarah Churchill didn't commit any crime. Let's get rid of the criminals and let our youth grow up in a healthy country. We've deported some. Let's get rid of the rest.

'Someone Must Run the Works'

How can you run a police department if a man's discharge is going to be discussed, second guessed and scoffed at by people that haven't got a thing to do with it?

If a man can't "cut it" in any business, they replace him. Has every police discharge got to be reviewed and officially given an O.K. by the board of critics in the center field bleachers?

We'll have the worst police department in the country if the chief isn't allowed to hire and fire the men. Someone somewhere has to run and manage everything there is. You can't do it by a vote of people who haven't much idea what's going on.

Gives Answer to Space Query

A reader wants to know why it's so important to travel to the moon. Sen. Lyndon Johnson says control of space means control of the world far more certainly than any control that has been or could ever be achieved by weapons or by troops of occupation. From space the masters of infinity would have the power to control the earth's weather, to cause drought and flood, etc.

Dr. Rabi, the Nobel Prize winning physicist, said the facts presented about warfare have just not penetrated. The problem he indicated is one of survival. We have to solve the problem of living together on this planet or we won't live. He declared that just as the Russians threaten us, we threaten them and that the end of national existence is in sight unless we solve this problem.

'We're Not as Blind as They Believe'

Our Pontiac Press editorial writer of Jan. 24 has propounded the most logical facts on the present day political and social questions of the day for this community as well as the country in general. Some union leaders may think intelligent people are blind to their socialistic ideas, but not so. We can read between the lines.

And when our governor tells us what banks are earning off their depositors, it looks like a lack of mental mathematics. Why not come to earth on practical facts?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Selling Improves Self-Confidence

Charley has cleverly diagnosed his own weakness and is bravely trying to plug up the holes in his social armor. Selling is tough on shy introverts, but it makes a man far more self confident and also causes him to have a winning way with women. For girls like articulate men who radiate assurance.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-315: Charley B., aged 23, wants to be a salesman.

DR. CRANE

"But Dr. Crane, I am afflicted with stage fright," he began. "I blush and stutter when I meet a stranger or try to talk in public.

"I was always shy and afraid of people even as a child, so I became a great reader and for further recreation I would experiment in my home chemistry lab.

"But I lost my college sweetheart last year chiefly because I couldn't talk. She actually told me I was too shy and uncertain of myself to win any girl's affection.

"So I have decided to become a salesman. Do you think I should tackle such an extrovertive job?"

WHAT IS CONFIDENCE?

It was quite true that Charley lacked self-confidence. But so do millions of young people.

What is confidence, after all? Just a form of morale which has developed from the fact you have done many things successfully.

Ultimately, the confident person figures: "Just let me get a little experience, even at a strange task, and I'll do it as well as the next man."

That is a victory morale, derived from many previous successes.

You can't feel confident on a canoe trip unless you can swim. You will have stage fright on a baseball diamond unless you have played ball often enough to know the specific duties of a short stop versus a catcher, etc.

Parents should use a check list and deliberately help their kids attain confidence through successful completion of the cutomary obligations of current teenagers.

For example, can your child ride a bicycle? Has he traveled on a bus or streetcar or train or plane? And by himself?

Is your child a member of a Scout Troop, Camp Fire Girl unit, etc? Has he earned his own spending money for years?

Has he talked in public? This includes recitation at Sunday school or publicly saying grace at the table or presiding at a club meeting of the Hi-Y, etc.

Has he spent a single night away from home unattended by his parents? Has he ever been at a camp for a week, as of the Boy Scout type or a church summer camp?

Has he ever had boxing instruction (ideal for self-confidence of timid boys)?

Can he drive a car? Has he ever performed any sales work, as welling magazines house-to-house or operating a newspaper route?

Has he been on dates? Does he know how to carry on conversation with the opposite sex?

BUILD CONFIDENCE

Even if you have reached adulthood, there may be several key fields in which you now lack confidence. So build your own assurance by plugging up those weak spots.

Charley is thus smart in tackling sales work. It is tough on timid folks, but builds up self assurance faster than almost any other job.

But you must memorize your sales talk so the words will flow automatically. Beginners are too shy to think correctly on the spot, so do you memorizing in advance and rehearse often, as before a mirror.

Salesmen have a way with women largely because they can articulate their thoughts in words and feel assured in knowing this very fact.

U.S. Education System Under Intense Scrutiny

(Like the weather, everybody's talking about education. But unlike the weather, things are being done about it. Thoughtful questioners are asking: Has the U.S. system failed in the face of Russian scientific achievement? If so, what can we do? This first of three articles explores the future.)

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
AP Writer

Why did the Russians beat us aloft? Why, if we were beaten, couldn't we match them when we tried?

Everyone has an answer. And in most cases, from the expert and the ordinary citizen, it boils down to one thing: something is at fault in our educational system.

Whether this is true, the public clamor for changes no doubt will bring science to more youngsters and someday probably will produce more and better scientists.

How will it be done? The Associated Press, utilizing its bureaus in all parts of the country to try to assess the science education picture in secondary schools, has found numerous ideas.

The survey indicated these prospective developments and trends:

1. Science and mathematics teachers will be required to have more education in their fields and to keep up to date. But they also will be given better tools with which to work.

2. The gifted student, allowed to coast in most schools while his slower brethren hog the teacher's attention, will be offered special courses to challenge his intelligence. He will be allowed to progress at his own speed.

3. Science curricula will be made more attractive, but tougher. And school children will get a much earlier introduction to science, in many cases beginning in kindergarten.

But education denies that the Russian moon alone spawned new educational ideas. Plans for improving science studies were abroad long before the Russians launched their Sputniks, educators say.

"The role played by the Sputniks has been to create changes in public opinion which allow us to do things we have long wanted to do," said Dr. Giles Theilmann, director of instruction in Topeka, Kan.

"The Sputniks have made many people willing to spend some money and do some things," he said.

"With Sputniks orbiting the earth, our education system sits back and smugly views its lavishly furnished home economics departments while biology, chemistry and physics departments are operated with baling wire and sealing wax," said State Sen. Joseph J. Yosko of Bethlehem, Pa. His was a typical indictment.

The senator demanded that school systems rid themselves of a philosophy which permits a "watered-down curriculum." He described as frills such courses as "how to drive a car, cross a street, dance, swim, play, set a table, wash clothes . . ."

On the defensive, education fought back.

"We tried a program for gifted students in 1952," Dr. Theilmann said, "but we dropped it because of the public's attitude. Now some of the same people say we should start such a program."

But education also acknowledged shortcomings.

Iowa administrators agreed with figures in a masters thesis by Harold B. Crawley Jr., a science teacher. These figures show that 15 per cent of the state's high school physics teachers never had a college course in physics, that 21 per cent fail to meet state demands for teachers of science subjects.

Wayland W. Osborn, Iowa's director of teacher education and certification, said the unqualified teach because they qualified years ago when a person with a college degree was permitted to "teach any subject he had the courage to teach."

In Pennsylvania, Dr. Charles H. Boehm said: "It seems to me that with days off for football pep rallies, this holiday and that and other excuses for taking a day off from school, the average student actually receives only 11½ years of education instead of 12."

Boehm, state superintendent of public instruction, proposed a six-day school week, but found few sympathizers.

However, the climate is ripe for proposing changes and educators in at least a third of the states are taking advantage of it.

New York State administrators have proposed a multimillion-dollar program to improve all public school teaching, with the emphasis on science and mathematics.

There have been other more unexpected reactions.

In Livermore, Calif., 237 members of a student body of 780 asked permission to attend summer school in a program designed to permit them to progress as fast and as far as possible.

A long unused telescope was discovered in the cupola of a high school in Manchester, N. H. Dusted off, it became the nucleus for a course in astronomy.

Ninety-three business firms bought scaled-down advertisements and the mechanical staff worked overtime to produce a 16-page Pearl Harbor Day edition of the Adirondack Daily Enterprise at Saranac Lake, N. Y. Publishers Roger Tubby and James Loeb Jr. turned over the $2,005 in profits to establish science scholarships for high school graduates of Saranac Lake and Lake Placid.

In the midst of change, however, educators are throwing up a resistance to "crash" programs. They warn that all students can not be converted into Einsteins simply by placing them in a physics class.

Find Japanese Boat With Bodies of Dead

KOBE, Japan (AP) — Japanese divers today found the sunken hull of the ferryboat Nankai Maru in 120 feet of water in the Inland Sea. Six bodies believed to be from among the missing 170 passengers and crewmen were drifting in the area.

The ferryboat was lost in storms Sunday and yesterday that left Japan with 311 persons dead or missing in 23 known shipping tragedies. The Japanese coast guard said 22 other vessels were lost, damaged or sunk along the Pacific and Inland Sea coasts.

The coast guard said the sunken Nankai Maru was found three miles west of Awaji Island in the treacherous Kii Strait. One of nearly 200 fishing boats dragging the strait 300 miles southwest of Tokyo first detected the wreck.

Coast guard officials believed the two-year-old radar-equipped ship suddenly capsized or broke in the mountainous waves.

Hal Boyle Says:

'River Kwai' Director Respects Film Fans

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the mental age of the average movie fan only 14 years?

This has long been the privately held but rarely spoken view of some members of the motion picture industry.

It isn't shared by David Lean, British director of "The Bridge on the River Kwai," who is an odds-on favorite to win an Oscar this year.

"If we lack a larger adult audience," he remarked quietly, "it merely shows we need to make more adult films.

"When it comes to judging the truth and sincerity of a movie, I have a great respect for the verdict of the audience. That is one of the wonderful things about an audience — it has a mass horse sense.

"If they laugh at the wrong place in a movie, nine times out of ten those who made the movie are wrong—and the audience is right.

"An individual, even an individual who makes a movie, may lack horse sense. But a large group usually has it."

Lean, once acclaimed by fellow director John Huston as "the world's best," is a slender, dark-haired artistic genius with craggy brows and brown eyes that hold an animal intensity. His quizzical expression and wry way of talking are both reminiscent of the late Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York.

At 19, Lean quit a post in the office of his father, an English accountant, because "I was tired of adding up figures that other people had added before me and still others would add up after me."

He got a job as third assistant director for a film. One of his chores was to serve as "wardrobe mistress." Then, convinced most pictures are made or lost in the cutting room, he became a cutter for several years.

"I still do my own cutting because I feel it's so important," he said. "It's a lot of fun. You're there practically by yourself, alone with a pair of scissors cutting out little pictures. Quite pleasant."

Although at 49, Lean has been 30 years in the industry he has directed only a dozen films.

All his work bears the stamp of patient craftsmanship and he likes to take his time about it. He spent a full year studying and polishing the script for "Bridge on the River Kwai," another six months shooting and cutting it.

Lean believes Sir Laurence Olivier is the greatest actor alive. But he likes to work with American actors.

"They learn their lines, they get to work on time, and they're keen as mustard about anything they are doing," he remarked. 'It's a long slog—making a picture, and enthusiasm is a wonderful thing to have around. American actors also don't argue about trying a thing in a new way. They like to experiment."

Lean is an admirer of producers Mike Todd and Sam Goldwyn because he feels they are great gamblers.

"The movie world will die if it doesn't have gamblers," he said, "There are no guarantees in it, and if you want to play life safe, you'd better go into another business.

"The big pictures are always big gambles. If you succeed, everyone says, 'Well, how could he miss?' But if you fail, they say, 'After all, what a crazy idea!' "

'Red China' Mothers Returning to U.S.

The mothers are Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y. Accompanied by Mrs. Downey's son William, 25, they are flying home via Manila and Honolulu.

The mothers made no statement before leaving. Red China's Premier Chou En-lai turned down a plea to release their sons but a spokesman held out hope for clemency if the prisoners "behave well."

Man in Expedition to Pole Recovering

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—A member of Dr. Vivian Fuchs' British transantarctic expedition stricken by carbon monoxide fumes was reported recovering today after oxygen bottles were dropped to the polar party.

Dr. Griffiths Pugh, a British physiologist, flew in a U.S. Neptune which dropped oxygen to the party 150 miles from the pole yesterday. He conferred by radio with the Fuchs party's physician, Dr. Allan Rogers, and reported Pratt should "be about in a few days."

Bob Considine Says:

Reds Continue Struggle Against Religion

NEW YORK (INS) — The Kremlin leaders recently have cajoled and confused the West with a series of peace and trade overtures. But communism's brutal war against religious peoples and institutions continues militantly. The principal target since the end of World War II and the seizure of the satellite states has been—and remains—the Roman Catholic Church.

Lino Gussoni, Milap-born priest now at work among the Italian-Americans in the archdiocese of New York, has compiled, written and personally published the terrible box score of that bloody chapter in the enduring story of the Church.

Gussoni calls his work "The Silent Church," a title deriving from Pius XII's vigorous denunciation of totalitarian and anti-religious states in 1949. It is published by Veritas Publishing Co., Inc., 2112 Broadway, N.Y.C. It is dedicated "to all those who, regardless of creed, have made the supreme sacrifice in their testimony to Christ."

INCOME TO CHARITY

The priest, who was urged by the Pope to tell the story to Americans everywhere, is turning all income from the book to the Refugee Relief Fund and the American Brotherhood of the Needy Overseas.

This is not a book that dwells on the indignities and types of death visited upon some incalculable number of priests and their parishioners behind the Iron Curtain. Yet the accumulative effect of its shocking and violent facts is like a whip across the heart.

Gussoni does not loiter to encourage pity or indignation. He lets his facts do that.

The facts are irrefutable. They represent a distillation of tons of evidence spirited out of the slave states, brought out by refugees, or printed in the Communist court records of the countries concerned.

The Communists themselves let slip such acts of courage, under trial, as these bits of testimony:

Yugoslavia's Cardinal Stepinac: "I will tell you what my only crime is. It is that of not falling on my knees before the demands of communism which alone governs this country."

Hungary's Cardinal Mindszenty: "I rest solidly on my positions for God, for the Church and for the Fatherland, because this is the duty which history imposes on me in the service of my people. In the face of the sufferings of my nation, my fate is of no importance."

Czechoslovakia's Archbishop Beran: "Christianity and communism can never be reconciled. He who would attempt such an enterprise would prove that he did not understand history. We will never betray neither the state nor the people, but neither will we betray God or the Church."

The Church is virtually wiped out in the U.S.S.R., its 681 parishes 100 per cent destroyed, all but three of its 980 churches confiscated, along with 200 religious institutions and houses and 300 schools and charitable activities.

ON THE RACK

Elsewhere, the author details, it is either on the rack or being slowly asphyxiated by suppressive law, outright expropriation of property or confiscatory taxes. Communist attempts to start a "state Catholic" religion have been successfully fought everywhere behind the Iron Curtain.

The stroke of a pen nationalized and communized 3,163 schools in Hungary and their 600,000 students . . . Msgr. George Volaj, Albanian bishop of Sappa, who defended people of all religious sects who ran afoul of the Hoxha government, was arrested and shot without trial . . . Communist mobs hooted Archbishop Beran out of his pulpit in the cathedral at Prague . . . Nuns were marched off to concentration camps under machineguns from many Czech cities and many have never been heard from again . . . As many as four priests at a time lined up and shot in Albania . . .

Yet it lives.

The Kremlin should be reminded of the massacre at Nagasaki in 1638 of several thousand Japanese converts to Christianty. The Shogun who ordered the slayings announced "Christianity in Japan is now suppressed."

Two hundred and 20 years later, when Japan was opened to the West, the first missionaries found the hardy faith still flowering. Fr. Gussoni's book is testament to the fact that communism may fall as did the Shogun.

Need for Speed Starts to Panic U.S. Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Things are so rough in Washington even the scientists are starting to panic.

Members of the President's Committee of Scientists and Engineers wanted to tell of a national conference on "America's Human Resources to Meet the Scientific Challenge," to be held at Yale University Feb. 3-4.

So they shipped off the announcement from the National Science Foundation, which paid the postage.

It's only a half mile from the foundation's headquarters to The Associated Press office here, so the word arrived promptly.

And no wonder. On the envelope in red letters an inch high were the words:

"Air mail."

Paulette Believes in Long Engagements

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — Paulette Goddard is an old-fashioned girl who believes in long engagements.

That's why, she says, it has taken her five years to get ready for matrimony with novelist Erich Maria Remarque.

"I just didn't decide on a date," the 46-year-old movie star said demurely. "But I will be married in the near future—before spring—right here in my home town, New York."

The thrice-wed Paulette, who once managed to keep a six-year marriage to Charlie Chaplin secret right up to the divorce, insisted she isn't already married to Remarque.

"I am not married," she said, "I'm going to be married in the near future."

Then how come she was wearing a baquette diamond wedding ring?

"Oh, that," smiled Paulette. "I got that for Christmas, but we just didn't have time to get the license."

And an engagement ring?

"That's in the safe deposit box," Paulette said. "I can't wear ALL my jewels!"

Paulette, wearing little jewelry and just a simple full-length sable coat, admitted there's been an announcement of her forthcoming wedding about every six months during the past five years.

"But not by me," she claimed. "The newspapers announce it—I just don't know how it happens. I keep popping up in the papers all the time."

Didn't her fiance, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," ever ask her to set a date?

"I never discussed it, even with myself," said Paulette deadpan. "I just don't know when I'll be married."

Reminded that she had just said she'd be married soon, Paulette smiled:

"Oh, I will be married in the near future, but I haven't decided on the date."

The brunette actress denied, however, that she might be using an ever-pending wedding as an excuse to avoid things she didn't want to do. Paulette, who left a stage show in Detroit "to marry Erich," said indignantly:

Besides, Paulette noted:

"I sure do believe in long engagements. People who marry fast probably have their reasons, too.

"Honestly, I can't say why I haven't set a date. I have no great messages on love and marriage for the public—who'd be interested?

"But you reporters keep asking, and I answer, don't I?"

In comparison to Remarque, Paulette sure does answer.

"There's nothing to be canceled."

This year, the prospective bridegroom said even less. To a telephone inquiry about his coming nuptials, Remarque gave the shortest possible answer.

He hung up.

Drinks Are on Me—After Funeral Expense

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP)—"If anything is left after funeral expenses, I want you to drink it up," said the will of Eli Stewart, 79.

"I don't believe in tombstones," his will said, "and I don't want no $50 suit to be buried in. I haven't had one in 30 years."

Mysterious 8-Foot Hole Blamed on Sewer-Break

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A break in a sewer line was blamed for a mysterious hole eight feet wide that spread in the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Goddard.

The sewer line was found to be clogged with dirt that had filtered through the leak from the Goddard's lawn.

Mrs. Goddard said a utility company would begin work to repair the break, located some 14 feet below the lawn.

'Eyewitness to Death' . . . by Agatha Christie

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. After several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route, Miss Marple figures that the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, rich manufacturer. She asks Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic—to get herself employed at Rutherford Hall. Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, engages her. In a barn, Lucy pries open a sarcophagus and finds the body of a murdered woman. Mrs. McGillicuddy identifies the picture of the murdered woman as that of the woman she saw in the train. Just before Christmas Martine, the girl Edmund Crackenthorpe, who was killed in the war, was going to marry, wrote Emma asking if she might visit them but later canceled the visit. Emma invites Miss Marple to tea. French police will trace Anna Stravinska, dancer, and ascertain if Lt. Edmund Crackenthorpe was married to a French girl named Martine. They find Anna left the show there and there is no further record. If Edmund had a son, he'd inherit Rutherford Hall and share in the trust. Alfred and Harold are hard up financially.

CHAPTER 24

Inspector Craddock had made an appointment with Harold Crackenthorpe at his office, and he and Sergeant Wetherall arrived there punctually. The office was on the fourth floor of a big block of City offices. Inside everything showed prosperity and the acme of modern business taste.

A neat young woman took his name, spoke in a discreet murmur through a telephone, and then rising, showed them into Harold Crackenthorpe's own private office.

Harold was sitting behind a large leather topped desk and was looking as impeccable and self confident as ever. If, as the inspector's private knowledge led him to surmise, he was close upon Queer St., no trace of it showed.

He looked up with a frank welcoming interest.

"Good morning, Inspector Craddock. I hope this means that you have some definite news for us at last."

"Hardly that, I'm afraid, Mr. Crackenthorpe. It's just a few more questions I'd like to ask."

"More questions? Surely by now we have answered everything imaginable."

"I daresay it feels like that to you, Mr. Crackenthorpe, but it's just a question of our regular routine."

"Well, what is it this time?" He spoke impatiently.

"I should be glad if you could tell me exactly what you were doing on the afternoon and evening of December 20th last—say between the hours of 3 p.m. and midnight."

"That seems to be a most extraordinary question to ask me. What does it mean, I should like to know?"

Craddock smiled gently.

"It just means that I should like to know where you were between the hours of 3 p.m. and midnight on Friday, December 20th."

"Why?"

"It would help to narrow things down."

"Narrow them down? You have extra information, then?"

"We hope that we're getting a little closer, sir."

"I'm not at all sure that I ought to answer your question. Not, that is, without having my solicitor present."

"That, of course, is entirely up to you," said Craddock. "You are not bound to answer any questions, and you have a perfect right to have a solicitor present before you do so."

"You are not—let me be quite clear — er — warning me in any way?"

"Oh, no, sir." Inspector Craddock looked properly shocked. "Nothing of that kind. The questions I am asking you, I am asking of several other people as well. There's nothing directly personal about this. It's just a matter of necessary eliminations."

"Well, of course — I'm anxious to assist in any way I can. Let me see now. Such a thing isn't easy to answer off hand, but we're very systematic here. Miss Ellis, I expect, can help."

He spoke briefly into one of the telephones on his desk and almost immediately a streamlined young woman in a well cut black suit entered with a notebook.

"My secretary, Miss Ellis. Inspector Craddock. Now, Miss Ellis, the Inspector would like to know what I was doing on the afternoon and evening of—what was the date?"

"Friday, December 20th."

"Friday, December 20th. I expect you will have some record."

"Oh, yes." Miss Ellis left the room, returned with an office memorandum calendar and turned the pages.

"You were in the office in the morning of December 20th. You had a conference with Mr. Goldie about the Cromartie Merger, you lunched with Lord Forthville at the Berkeley—"

"Ah, it was that day, yes."

"You returned to the office at about 3 o'clock and dictated half a dozen letters. You then left to attend Sotheby's sale rooms where you were interested in some rare manuscrips which were coming up for sale that day. You did not return to the office again, but I have a note to remind you that you were attending the Catering Club Dinner that evening." She looked up interrogatively.

"Thank you, Miss Ellis."

Miss Ellis glided from the room. "That is all quite clear in my mind," said Harold. "I went to Sotheby's that afternoon but the items I wanted there went for far too high a price. I had tea in a small place in Jermyn Street—Russells, I think it is called. I dropped into a New Theater for about half an hour or so, then went home—I live at 43 Cardigan Gardens—The Catering Club dinner took place at 7:30 at Caterers' Hall, and after it I returned home to bed. I think that should answer your questions?"

"That's all very clear, Mr. Crackenthorpe. What time was it when you returned home to dress?"

"I don't think I can remember exactly—soon after six, I should think."

"And after the dinner?"

"It was, I think, half past eleven when I got home."

"Did your man servant let you in? Or perhaps Lady Alice Crackenthorpe—"

"My wife, Lady Alice, is abroad in the South of France and has been since early in December. I let myself in with my latch key."

"So there is no one who can vouch for your returning home when you say you did?"

Harold gave him a cold stare. "I daresay the servants heard me come in. I have a man and wife. But really, Inspector—"

"Please, Mr. Crackenthorpe, I know these questions are annoying, but I have nearly finished. Do you own a car?"

"Yes, a Humber Hawk."

"You drive it yourself?"

"Yes. I don't use it much except at weekends. Driving in London is quite impossible nowadays."

"I presume you use it when you go down to see your father and sister at Brackhampton?"

"Not unless I am going to stay there for some length of time. If I just go down for the night—as, for instance, to the inquest the othe. day, I always go by train. There is an excellent train service and it is far quicker than going by car. The car my sister hires meets me at the station."

"Where do you keep your car?"

"I rent a garage in the Mews behind Cardigan Gardens. Any more questions?"

"I think that's all for now," said Inspector Craddock smiling and rising. "I'm very sorry for having to bother you."

When they were outside, Sergeant Wetherall, a man who lived in a state of dark suspicion of all and sundry, remarked meaningly.

"He didn't like those questions—didn't like them at all. Put out, he was."

"If you have not committed a murder, it naturally annoys you if it seems someone thinks that you have," said Inspector Craddock mildly. "It would particularly annoy an ultra respectable man like Harold Crackenthorpe. There's nothing in that. What we've got to find out now is if anyone actually saw Harold Crackenthorpe at the Sale that afternoon, and the same applies to the teashop place. He could easily have traveled by the 4:54, pushed the woman out of the train and caught a train back to London in time to appear at the dinner. In the same way he could have driven his car down that night, moved the body to the sarcophagus and driven back again. Make inquiries in the Mews."

"Yes, sir. Do you think that's what he did do?"

"How do I know?" asked Inspector Craddock. "He's a tall dark man. He could have been on that train and he's got a connection with Rutherford Hall. He's a possible suspect in this case. Now for Brother Alfred."

Agreeing Hubby Now May Lose His Only Sport

CHICAGO (INS) — William J. Powell, 31, who views marriage as a give-and-take proposition, has averted five suits for divorce filed by his wife, Dorothy, 37, since they were married in 1956 by yielding five times in the interest of marital bliss.

He agreed to turn over his entire paycheck to his wife; agreed to change from night work to day work because she got lonesome at night; agreed to attend her church; agreed to give up television because it interfered with her reading and finally agreed to give up golf and bowling.

But he's got to agree to one more thing because Mrs. Powell is suing for divorce for the sixth time. The latest terms?

Give up beating his wife.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

JAYNE'S P-W for PIN-WORMS

Although the people of the U. S. used natural gas for lighting as early as the 1800's, only in the last 20 years or so has it been extensively used in homes and industries for heating.

The Truth About Air Ride
-and why it's better in a Buick

Every window of every Buick is SAFETY-PLATE Glass

Most cars have always used horizontal leaf springs. Some use horizontal torsion bars. For two decades, Buick has used nothing but upright coil springs at all 4 wheels for better, softer cushioning. And to get the most out of these buoyant upright springs—to bring additional solidity, balance and stability to the ride—Buick developed a new kind of chassis. This exclusive Buick chassis has the rugged roadability of a massive X-braced frame and the true-tracking steadiness of Buick's Rotoflow Torque-Tube Drive. Developed and perfected by 20 years of experience with upright springs, Buick's Miracle Ride Chassis today turns out to be a "natural" for replacing upright coil springs with upright air springs. It's this exclusive chassis engineering experience that gives you in Buick the smoothest, most advanced, most experienced air ride* in the world.

Draws Prison Term for Local Car Theft

Sentenced yesterday to 1 to 5 years in the Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson for car theft was David Chatfield, 20, of 8671 Sashabaw Rd., Clarkston. He was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty.

He pleaded guilty Jan. 13 to unlawfully driving away a car belonging to William D. McNary last month.

Gaither Has Confidence in Inherent U.S. Strength

NEW YORK (INS) — H. Rowan Gaither Jr., who directed preparation of a top-secret report on American security, declared today his "great confidence in the inherent strength of the United States."

But he cautioned against reliance on "crash programs," called for improvements in the American educational system and warned that "the future course of civilization" will be determined by how the U. S. discharges her responsibility for leadership.

Contents of the Gaither Report have not been disclosed by the White House, and President Eisenhower has said they will not be. But one authoritative published version said that the report warned of grave peril to the U. S. from increasing Soviet strength.

The first chairman of the committee of scientists and experts who prepared the report declined to discuss the report itself. However, in an exclusive interview, he gave his views on a wide variety of subjects affecting America's security and future.

"I have great confidence," he said, "in the inherent strength of the United States. There is no doubt about its capacity for leadership nor its capability of discharging this responsibility."

Gaither divided the educational crisis into four major categories and said that "every reasonable scheme should be studied and tried" for improving teaching, improving the content of education, increasing enrollments and providing facilities.

And on the question of foreign aid, he said "It is in our own self interest" to see that democratic Asian and other nations succeed in their battle for better standards of living. He added, "We should continue to provide economic and expert assistance."

The pipe-smoking, 48-year-old lawyer now is chairman ofthe board of the Ford Foundation and a well-rounded man of the atomic age. Born in Natchez, Miss., he received his law degree from the University of California, worked in Washington, practiced in California and served as chairman of the board of the Pacific National Bank of San Francisco, founded by his father.

He became assistant director of the radiation laboratory at Massachusetts Institute of Technology during World War II, organized and became board chairman of the Rand Coproration, which does secret research for the Air Force, and in 1953 became president of the Ford Foundation. In 1956, he was named chairman of the board.

That board experience led to his chairmanship of the Gaither panel. He became ill before the report was finished, remained a member of an advisory committee, but was succeeded in the direction by two co-chairmen.

Royal Oak to Vote on Additional Tax

ROYAL OAK — At a special election Feb. 10, registered school district voters here will cast their ballots on a proposal to continue the additional $5.29 operating tax, now in effect, for another five years.

Present approval for extra tax expires next year.

The tax brings the school district about one-sixth of its total operating budget, or about one-third of the more than $3 million collected locally.

Sentence 1½-15 Years for Probation Violation

Wayne Nix, 20, of 166 W. George St., Hazel Park, was sentenced Tuesday by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty to 1½ to 15 years in the Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson for violation of probation.

After being placed on probation last December for breaking and entering of a Royal Oak building, Nix, when arrested Jan. 22, admitted breaking into several other business places.

Texas, Iowa, California and Illinois, in the order named, are the states most productive in agriculture.

There are less than one-half as many independent banks in the U. S. now as there were in the year 1921.

Zarubin Pays Call on Stassen

Departing Soviet Envoy Said to Urge Continued Disarmament Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Georgi Zarubin, Russia's departing ambassador, is reported to have urged Harold Stassen to continue working for a disarmament agreement.

The meeting between the two men—a secret until yesterday—took place Jan. 15 at the State Department, and was said to have been requested by the Soviet envoy. Stassen is the administration's disarmament adviser.

Informed sources said Zarubin's discussion with Stassen apparently reflected continued Soviet interest in some sort of limited arms reduction agreement.

Stassen is said to have pressed the Russian for a favorable reply to President Eisenhower's Jan. 12 letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin. The President indicated in that message a willingness to attend an East-West summit conference if preparatory talks on a lower level resulted in real progress on major issues.

Reports that Zarubin invited Stassen to visit the Soviet were denied by the sources disclosing the conversation.

Zarubin left Washington yesterday after five years as Soviet envoy here. He planned to leave New York by ship today.

Zarubin's visit with Stassen — reportedly approved by Secretary of State Dulles—came as Stassen was making a behind-the-scenes effort to get U.S. disarmament policy "liberalized."

Indonesian Leader Visiting Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno arrived today for a three-week visit to Japan, the country whose wartime rulers first put him in office.

"I hope this visit will strengthen friendship between Nippon and Indonesia," Sukarno told newsmen as he got off his chartered plane followed by 19 civilian and military aides.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama and Emperor Hirohito's grand chamberlain were on hand to greet the Indonesian leader at the last stop of his swing through India, Egypt, Yugoslavia, Syria, Pakistan, Burma and Thailand.

Some foreign diplomats also were present, but their dean was absent. He is the Dutch ambassador, whose government is the target of a bitter Indonesian campaign to wrest control of West New Guinea from the Netherlands.

Sukarno's trip officially is being made to recuperate from the strain of the recent turbulent events in Indonesia, but so far he has spent most of his time trying to drum up support for the New Guinea campaign.

Plane Forced to Land

SEATTLE (AP)— A Northwest-Orient Airlines DC7C carrying 27 passengers and a crew of five made an emergency landing at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport last night after an engine caught fire on takeoff. No one was hurt.

Alexander Hamilton, drafter of the U.S. Constitution, was born on Nevis, a tiny island in the British West Indies. Area: 50 square miles.

Press Hunt for Boy Lost in U.S. Forest

WILLOWS, Calif. (UP)—Small footprints discovered in the snow raised hopes today that a 12-year-old Tenderfoot Boy Scout would be found alive in Mendocino National Forest. He has been missing since Saturday.

The footprints were found about seven miles northwest of where Dennis Wurschmidt of Willows vanished while playing "capture the flag" with 11 other Scouts. A blizzard struck soon afterward, dumping three feet of snow in the area.

Gus Manolis, head coach at Chico State College, died during the hunt. Two of his friends remained with the body overnight while the third returned to Chico and notified relatives and college officials. Arrangements were made to bring out the body today.

Yugoslav Peasant Girl 'Man,' to Join Army

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—A peasant girl who changed sex is going to serve in the Yugoslav army.

Marija Djolan, 20, an unmarried girl from the village of Rumboci, in Bosnia province, recently underwent a sex-change operation. Marija became Marijan — the male form of the name, came home in trousers and took a man's job.

That wasn't enough for the villagers of Rumboci, who didn't believe the sex change story. Not until Marijan was drafted for regular service in the army and accepted did the neighbors believe that she is he.

Red Dogs Luckier Than State Fidos

LANSING (UP)—Dogs get a better break in Russia than in Michigan, says a woman legislator. Mrs. Lucille McCollough, a Democrat and dog owner from Dearborn, assailed Michigan's dog law as "the most barbaric in the United States of America."

"People who complain about the Russians who sent up the dog in Sputnik should look at what can happen to them right here in Michigan," she told the House Agriculture Committee.

The law now permits a landowner outside a city to shoot a trespassing dog on sight. A proposed amendment would permit farmers and others to kill a dog only if it is molesting livestock or poultry.

Decries Deterioration of U.S.-India Accord

WASHINGTON (UP) — New York food broker Paul W. Sayres said today U.S. diplomatic activity in India "compares most unfavorably with that of the Soviets."

And, he added, U.S.-Indian relations—in diplomatic, economic and social areas—"have deteriorated dangerously."

Sayres, who said he went to India at his own expense to investigate food shortages and problems, quoted an unidentified high official of the U.S. Embassy in India as telling him: "In your talks with the Indian officials, you must always remember that you treat them like 12-year-old children."

By contrast, Sayres said, he found top Indian officials to be "brilliant, well-educated, dedicated men, many of whom were graduates of the leading universities of the world."

McKeon Named Month's Marine

Death March Leader Building New Life as Private in Corps

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (AP)—When then-Secretary of Navy Charles Thomas reduced Matthew C. McKeon's general court-martial sentence for leading the Parris Island, S. C., "death march," the Marine ex-drill instructor vowed:

"I'll try to be the very best private in the Marine Corps."

That was in late 1956, several months after the April 8 night march of Recruit Platoon 71 into a tidal stream where six recruits drowned.

Pfc. McKeon appears on the way toward realizing his vow. He has been named the January "Marine of the Month" by the All Weather Fighter Squadron 114 here, of which he is a member.

McKeon's selection also gave prophetic meaning to Thomas' explanation that he reduced the sentence to give McKeon an opportunity to "build for himself a useful and honorable career . . . I hope and believe that he will avail himself of this opportunity."

The Marine of the Month was chosen by vote of squadron members from among nominees selected for proficiency, bearing, disposition and conduct, McKeon explained.

Air Horse Kills Donkey

NOWATA, Okla. (AP)—Highway Patrolman Bob Able reported a flying horse killed a donkey near here. The horse had flown 140 feet through the air before hitting the donkey, having been struck by a car driven by Sally Amy Boevers of Vinita. She escaped without injury.

Girard Victim's Survivors Get Army Payment

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP) — A U.S. Army claims officer today delivered 629,396 yen ($1,748.32) to the husband and six children of the woman William S. Girard shot to death.

Lt. Col. Joseph L. Haefele, Nocona, Tex., added 604 yen ($1.40) of his own to bring the payment of "consolation money" to a round 630,000 yen. Then he knelt before a Shinto shrine dedicated to the late Mrs. Naka Sakai and knelt again in the mud to put flowers on her grave.

Akikichi Sakai, the husband of the scrap scavenger Girard killed while on guard duty on an Army firing range, said in accepting the money: "I don't want to receive money at the cost of my wife. However, I think to refuse any longer would go against the sympathy of the people so I hereby received this money but I do not thank you for it. . . .

"I will spend it for my children's future including education, clothing and food. Also, I will build a tombstone for my wife."

Girard, 22, was convicted of manslaughter by a Japanese court, given a three-year suspended sentence and sent home to Illinois for discharge. He claimed the killing was a mistake. The court decided he fired on a "childish whim."

Texans Don't Know

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A tourist expert says some natives of the Lone Star State know less about Texas than many visitors. "So many people can't even give directions," Tom Taylor, manager of information and statistics for the Texas Highway Department told the Texas Motor Coach Assn. convention.

The U. S. forest service dates back to February 1, 1905.

Driver in Stew as Meter Scorns His Two Pennies

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Earl Carrier of Oshkosh, Wis., bought himself $1 worth of trouble for two cents yesterday thanks to a parking meter which scorns pennies.

But he got his two cents back, at least.

Police gave this account:

Carrier put two pennies in a downtown parking meter that registered only nickels. When he returned to his car a $1 parking ticket was attached. Carrier stormed into the police station, complaining he never heard of a meter that didn't take penies.

But police said the fine stuck.

The irate Carrier then demanded his two cents back, saying if he paid the fine he was due the pennies. Not so, said the police. Carrier went to the city treasurer's office and again pressed for his two cents.

Treasurer Walt Griffin wearily gave in and plumped two cents from petty cash into Carrier's hand.

Fire Sweeps Through 5 Stores in Allen Park

DETROIT (AP) — Fire swept through five stores in the downtown section of Allen Park last night, causing damage estimated at $100,000 by local fire officials.

Fire Marshal Harry Rowed said the blaze apparently started in an appliance shop, later spreading to a shoe store, photographic studio, sporting goods store and a dress shop.

No one was reported injured although Fireman Tony Pavlis, 28, of Allen Park was overcome briefly by smoke.

Beginners Are Given Instructions

Easy Slopes and Slow Tow Used by Learners

You don't have to be a good skier to enjoy the fun at Mt. Holly Ski Club. In fact, many who come out are just spectators who enjoy watching the activities on the glistening white slopes.

Beginners use an area with easy slopes and a special slow-moving rope tow. There's a specialized ski school for beginner and intermediate instruction.

THE PERFECT 'OUT'

Many women who found they had "nothing to do" during certain hours each week have found skiing the perfect "out." During the week days there is much more room to ski, as the weekends are filled with whole families who have gotten the ski habit.

And you don't have to be concerned about the weather. If there's no snow, Mt. Holly produces it with scientific snow-making equipment.

FULLY ILLUMINATED

Night skiing is popular with many as all rope tows are fully illuminated. This is a time when spectators are thrilled with the view as they watch from the warm atmosphere of the lodge. Mort Graddis, president of the club, says "It's spectators five to one" at night.

There's a special attraction for children, too. Each Saturday and Sunday there are seven Alaskan huskies to pull the young "Eskimos" about on a bobsled!

Five pages today in Women's Section

Mrs. Albert W. Holcomb of Bloomfield Township is an avid skier, and one who can be spotted frequently at Mt. Holly. In fact, skiing is a family affair for the Holcombs.

Your Family Page

"What do you think about the skiing today?" Mort Graddis (center), president of the ski club, asks Murray Titsworth (left), manager of the area, and E. E. Williamson of Lake Orion, a regular and expert skier at Mt. Holly.

Now's the Time to Organize Housekeeping

"I hereby resolve to be a better housewife in 1958."

Rare is the woman who's so expert and efficient she can't afford to improve her ways! What most homemakers need is a plan to organize housekeeping, plus the right equipment.

Are your mops, brushes and sponges the right size and shape — with handles long enough to let you work in a relaxed position? Do you carry a double-compartment pail, to keep suds and rinse water close at hand?

Do you mop up spills and splashes promptly? Do you launder slipcovers and curtains before they get really dirty?

Bridge Winners Tie the Score

Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club announces a tie in first place winners at the Monday session at Elks Temple. Ernest Guy, and Mrs. Kendall Clark and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kushner were the north and south winners. Winning east and west were Mr. and Mrs. Ericson Lewis.

Chapter Holds Skating Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hasse on Uplong drive was the scene of a skating party attended by members of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority and their husbands.

Mrs. Edgar Plympton was chairman for the Saturday evening affair, assisted by Mrs. Ralph O. Allen, Mrs. Carl Rose, Mrs. Jack Andress, Mrs. Ralph Wilson and Mrs. Anthony Grand.

Music Group Holds Brunch and Program

The West Kennett road home of Mrs. Walter Schmitz was the scene of the Tuesday morning meeting of the Pontiac Music Guild. Mrs. Hazel Gessinger assisted the hostess in serving brunch.

Housewife Bags Own Fur Coats

Mrs. Lou Sweet, who hardly looks like the outdoor type, has in over 50 years of trapping and hunting bagged almost every type of big game animal, including 34 bears and a huge elk with seven points on each antler — the second largest trophy on record.

RECORD VERIFIED

The elk, shot 30 years ago, was unknown to record keepers until recently when the New York Boone and Crockett Club, recognized authority on game and trophies, verified Mrs. Sweet's elk head was of record size.

Mrs. Sweet, married to a Montana game and fish commissioner, once ran her own traplines and captured enough beaver and mink to make up fur coats she still wears.

Mrs. Sweet learned to handle a gun when she was 9. She still brings in a deer and elk every hunting season.

Rich Brown Beef Stew Hearty Dish

Mrs. Klem Prefers Onion Soup Mix to Flavor Meat

By JANET ODELL

When the family gathers around the dinner table on these cold snowy evenings, they'll welcome steaming helpings of rich brown stew. This is the sort of dish you can start in the morning and forget until the last half hour before dinner.

Mrs. William Klem, a young homemaker, considers this one of her choice recipes. She makes quarts of it to send north with her husband when he goes hunting. The mother of three youngsters (one just a month old), Mrs. Klem loves to sew, can and ski.

RICH BROWN STEW

By Mrs. William Klem

2 pounds beef
2 tablespoons fat
1 package dry onion soup mix
4 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon sugar
6 carrots, quartered
1 potato per person

Cut beef into 1½ inch cubes. Brown in fat. Add water, soup mix and seasonings. Simmer at least 4 hours, stirring occasionally.

Add vegetables 30 minutes before serving time. Thicken gravy if desired. Serve with brown-'n'-serve poppy seed rolls and tossed salad. Serves 6.

MR. and MRS. LESTER H. PINNER

Dorothy E. Wentworth and Lester H. Pinner were married Sunday in the First Methodist Church. Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wentworth of Bay City, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Pinner of Longfellow avenue.

Couple Exchanges Vows

Married Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Church were Dorothy E. Wentworth and Lester H. Pinner. The Rev. Paul Hart performed the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 250 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wentworth of Bay City. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Pinner of Longfellow avenue.

The bride approached the altar wearing a floor-length gown of illusion net over satin featuring a lace bodice. A sequin cap held in place her fingertip veil of nylon net, and she carried carnations and roses. Pearls were her only jewelry.

Dear Abby....

Just Says Thanks-- Don't Dye for Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About 14 years ago when I was in the service and there was a cigarette shortage at home, my wife took to smoking cigars. At first I thought it would pass because she limited herself to smoking only in the house.

ABBY

The children have seen her smoking cigars since they were small so they have grown accustomed to it, but it annoys me no end. She will smoke a cigar in public and think nothing of the raised eyebrows and snickers she draws from strangers.

I think it is a disgrace and she should limit her cigar-smoking to her privacy. What do you think?

EMBARRASSED HUSBAND

DEAR EMBARRASSED: To each her own—but the little woman should wait until she gets home before she lights up her stogie!

DEAR ABBY: I go with a man who is crazy over blonde hair. I am naturally a dishwater blonde, but he likes it golden blonde. I am a working girl and hate to spend $14 every two weeks to keep it up. I started to, but it got too expensive.

He has offered to foot the bill if I go back to golden blonde again but I don't think it is right to take the money from him. What do you think?

DISHWATER BLONDE

DEAR DISH: You've got the right idea, Honey. Thank him nicely but don't dye for him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee and have four children. We live in an apartment building. About a year ago a man who lost his wife moved in and we became very friendly. He is much older than I but I think a great deal of him.

He has bought me and the children all kinds of presents and has given me money. Now he thinks he should have the same privileges a married man has with a wife. I think I owe him nothing. Please give me your opinion.

APT. DWELLER

DEAR DWELLER: Your accepting money and gifts was as good as a "go" signal. Give him back his gifts and the money—and you'll owe him nothing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are godparents to a boy who is now 17 years old. We have sent him a nice gift every Christmas and every birthday, but we never hear whether he receives the gifts unless we ask him.

I say that we should stop sending him gifts and my husband says we should continue. Who is right?

FORGOTTEN GODPARENTS

DEAR FORGOTTEN: Just send him a nice card at Christmas and on his birthday to let him know he has not been forgotten, and let it go at that.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LYNNE: You are three times seven. If you want to gamble, don't play for anything you can't afford to lose.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

But They're Afraid to Be Different

Men Get Lift From Bright Attire

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Last week I wrote about men. Today I am wondering why men go on pretending that they are naturally conservative in dress? The idea that it is more manly to wear dull clothes is smartly contradicted by decorative military uniforms. And the belligerent males of the toughest species among birds exhibit dazzling attire.

It seems that timid church mice are dressed more like the average modern businessman when he goes to the office.

However, there is hope! Catch him on the golf course or the beach, at the races, skiing or skating, or sunbathing in his own backyard and you will see brightly colored shirts, shorts, jackets and sweaters.

In the matter of ties even the most conservative men are blooming forth in some brilliance. Here is one speck of attire where a man can show a trace of individuality even when wearing the most mundane suits, shoes and shirts. Some years ago the average man even shunned colorful ties. Remember the "undertaker ties"—thin black knit ties which were popular?

I think men respond to a change of pace in their dress just as women do, but from early boyhood on they fear to be different in such matters from others of their sex. So, they are slow to adopt new styles and new colors. Women are much more daring.

When men do wear the bright vests and leisure coats, ties and shirts and sports clothes, they find them refreshing. They, too, react to color and change.

Today I am suggesting to women that they take a hand in keeping their men youthful in outlook. Don't let them continue to be sartorial introverts.

Spruce Up Old Dresses With Hand-Knit Trimming

DALLAS (INS) — An out-of-style dress can be spruced into this year's fashion with the substitution of a knitted fabric for part of the original or by addition of some hand-knit trim.

There are many fancy jerseys in the fabric stores nowadays which look like bulky knits, and knitted cuffs and waistbands are available too. And you can always knit the bulky new part to last year's dress.

To give your old dress the new knitted look, cut off the old self-collar and make a deep "V" halfway to the waist, or cut an oversize square or oval neckline.

Fill in with the knitted material, using the cutout portion as a pattern, or substituting the neckline from another pattern.

Adding knitted sleeves to your old dress is another way of adding newness and comfort to a dress that perhaps has always been uncomfortable because the sleeves were too tight or the wrong length.

When sewing in by machine, keep tensions loose and stretch the knitted portion a little as you stitch.

Silk Sacks Influenced by Orient

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The silken chemise has a cocoon curve and a kimono collar in the hands of San Francisco's Fashion Group Designers.

For cocktails, a moongold brocade costume has a 40-inch coat with back fullness and an off-neck kimono line collar, worn over a straight skirt of the same pale gold fabric.

An evening ensemble in heavy black silk shows the waistless dress with a curving overlap in the skirt back and a cocoon-shaped short-sleeved coat.

Supple capeskin and silk team in another costume. The gold capeskin coat, closing with overlapping curves, is lined in the gold-gray-and-white silk print of the dress.

Lustrous black silk in a sheath, so relaxed it is almost a chemise, is topped with a low-collared boxy jacket lined with cherry blossom gold brocade for a theater suit.

She's Never Cast as Second Fiddle

FT. JACKSON, S. C. (AP)—Pfc. Mary Jane Garner of Cleveland, Ohio, has talent that nobody can deny.

The 20-year-old Ft. Jackson Wac plays second fiddle to nobody on the base when it comes to playing these instruments—the piano, the organ, xylophone, vibraphone, harmonica, drums, and bagpipes.

Aim Toward Major Goal to Make This Year Good

And Enjoy Life Today Rather Than Always Waiting for Tomorrow

By RUTH MILLETT

For any woman 1958 will be a better year if—

She gets at least one major goal for herself so that she will be working toward some end, instead of just living through 365 more days.

She eliminates enough non-essential activity to enjoy the things she does and to appreciate some of the wonder and beauty of the world around her.

She begins to act on the theory that today is much more important than tomorrow and that it is foolish to keep putting off until some future time the things she wants to do for herself and for others.

She makes up her mind that, since she can't change the persons she has to get along with either at home or at work, she won't let them annoy her to the point where they make her miserable.

She learns to like whatever age she is, which isn't too difficult since all ages have their rewards as well as their problems.

She sets reasonable instead of impossible standards for herself, so that she isn't forever frustrated because she can't do this or that as well as someone else.

She sets her own pace and decides for herself what is important and what is unimportant instead of trying to keep up with the Joneses.

She learns to laugh, easily and often, especially at herself, and at minor "catastrophies."

She doesn't make her work harder by dreading it, putting it off, complaining about it or telling herself she will never get it done.

She sometimes stops to remind herself of all the reasons she has for being thankful.

A panel discussion "Communications From Campus" was held by members of University of Michigan Alumnae Club of Pontiac when they gathered at the home of Iama Hook on Ogemaw road Tuesday evening.

Aim of the program was to discuss various programs being carried out at the present time on many American campuses which show specific areas in which colleges and universities are attempting to meet students' individual needs.

Three coeds from the University of Michigan and one from Oberlin College led the discussion. Michigan sophomore Normalee Braid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Braid of Rosewood drive, told of the relationship between high school grades and college work.

U. of M. senior Judith Palmer, daughter of Mrs. A. W. Palmer of Dakota drive, discussed a survey conducted among students concerning selection of high school courses in preparation for a liberal arts education and possible fields in which more interpretation is needed.

Michigan freshman Judy Elwell, daughter of Mrs. Grace Elwell of Dick avenue, discussed the program of early college entrance sponsored by the Ford Foundation, in which 12 colleges are participating.

Oberlin College junior Patricia Day, granddaughter of Mrs. Ray T. Stroupe of Rosewood drive, reported on the honor system at Oberlin that is entirely student-controlled. Patricia is one of the nine members serving on the Honor Board.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Harry J. Richards, chairman, Mrs. Earl V. Martin, Maud VanArsdale and Marion Lehner.

Jacqueline Spratt Weds in Lutheran Church Rite

Married Saturday evening were Jacqueline Ann Spratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spratt of Clarence street, and Nicholas Wassil, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wassil of Detroit.

White gladioli banked the altar of Ascension Lutheran Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Jacqueline Ann Spratt and Nicholas Wassil. The Rev. William La-Fountain performed the ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spratt of Clarence street. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wassil of Detroit.

For her wedding Jacqueline chose a gown of de-lustered satin which swept to the back forming a large bow accented by a chapel train. The square neckline of Alencon lace was studded with sequins and seed pearls, with embroidered lace medallions appliqued over the skirt and back bow.

Her fingertip silk illusion veil was secured by a half hat studded with seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a cascade arrangement of shattered white carnations and stephanotis centered with five red roses.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Acting as best man was Lawrence Wagner of Livonia. Guests were seated by Steven Spratt, brother of the bride, Denton Hanford of Kalamazoo and Donald Way of Pennsylvania.

Following the reception the new Mrs. Wassil changed to a beige suit topped by a shoulder cape trimmed in fur, a pheasant hat and dark brown accessories. A corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids completed her ensemble.

Mr. Wassil is a senior in mechanical engineering at the University of Michigan where he is affiliated with Zeta Psi fraternity. The couple will reside in Ypsilanti.

We Win When Self-Respect Chases Fear

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Chuck's French teacher is always checking on kids. If Miss Coe tells you to write a translation, you never know when she may materialize beside your desk and stand there watching to see how you do it.

One day after she'd done this to Chuck during a test, he was so resentful his father noticed it. Explaining his anxiety, Chuck shouted, "I can't stand it when she stands over me. The old snoop!"

"Why don't you tell her how you feel?" his father asked.

Chuck exploded: "She'd fail me!" he yelled, 'She'd get so sore at me she'd fail me!"

"It's better to risk failing than to go on feeling so mad," his father said.

The statement seemed crazy to Chuck. But later up in his room, it began to make sense. He suddenly decided to give up his hope of a passing grade in French to tell Miss Coe he couldn't work when she stood over him.

NEED VANISHES

But the next day, he found all need to protest to her had gone. When, as usual she came down his aisle, he found he didn't care whether she stopped at his desk or not. She'd lost all her power to disturb him.

Indeed, as she passed to check on the kid three seats behind him, he felt a little sorry for her. He thought, "Gee, I'm glad I don't have to worry all the time that somebody's going to cheat me."

He got an excellent term mark in French.

I don't wonder. Chuck had applied the principle given us by Jesus when he said, "Whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it."

When we are willing to give up some important things another person can give us for the sake of our self-respect, we also give up fear of the person—and his power to deprive us of that thing.

This principle works whether we are Chuck fearing Miss Coe's power to deprive him of promotion, whether we're an employe fearing the boss's power to take our job or a wife fearing an in-law's power to destroy her marriage.

It is our fear of the person's power that makes us hate him. Once it's overcome, we are at peace with him. Our new, accepting tolerance usually saves us our promotion, our job and our marriage.

We retain them through giving them up.

Asks Guests to Wipe Off Their Shoes

Woman's Request Considered Rude by Husband

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening after dinner neighbors of ours dropped in to pay us a visit. It had rained most of the day and the streets were still wet.

"I had scrubbed and waxed all my floors that day and so when these neighbors came in, I asked them to please wipe their shoes and explained that I had just cleaned all my floors. My husband took me to task later and said that I was very rude. Will you please tell me if such a request was out of order?"

Answer: I am sorry but you really should have assumed that your neighbors knew enough to wipe any water and mud off their shoes before entering your house. It was rude of you to let them feel that you doubted this.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is proper for the man's parents to announce the engagement of their son or do the girl's parents alone have this privilege? My son's fiance is from another city and if the announcement is put in her home town paper alone our friends here will not see it.

"We have a great many friends whom we would like to know of our son's engagement. Would it be proper for me to announce it in our local newspaper?"

Answer: The engagement is announced by the girl's parents. However, after the announcement is made, you could quite properly send a notice to your newspaper saying that 'the engagement of Miss Mary Jones of Los Angeles has been announced to Mr. Henry Grey of this city."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to write a letter to Princess Grace of Monaco. Will you please tell me how to address the envelope correctly and also the poper salutation?"

Answer: The envelope would be addressed to H.S.H. Princess Grace of Monaco. And the salutation would be either "Your Highness" or "Your Serene Highness."

Clinton Valley Scouts Acquire Wilderness Camp

Situated Along Au Sable River

New Base for Advanced Learning of Woods-Lore Ideally Suited

A 20-acre site on the Au Sable River has been obtained by the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council camping, Council President John W. Hunt of Farmington announced today.

Located in Oscoda County, about six miles east of Mio, it includes 600 feet of frontage on a bend of the Au Sable River.

"This new base for advanced camping is a truly wonderful addition to the council's facilities," Hunt said. "It also provides access to the wide expanses of adjacent State forest lands for the practice of scoutcraft and participation in outdoor sports," he said.

Hunt pointed out that the wooded site is on high ground. The water is fast and ideal for canoeing and fishing.

Name of the new base is to be "Ausagawam." Suggested by Ted Pearson Jr. of Oxford, chairman of the council camp development committee, the name combines Au Sable with Agawam, the name of the council's camp on Tommy's Lake near Lake Orion.

Pearson said scout units are expected to begin using Ausagawam early this summer. The council will make rigid rules regarding the amount of supervision necessary for scout units when they use the base.

TO INSTALL WELL

"After about eight years of seeking just the right site for an outpost type of camp," Pearson said, "we are thrilled with this layout and location. We will soon install a well for drinking water, and eventually, construct a building for the storage of equipment."

There are no plans, he said, for the development of Ausagawam as a complete camp, with sleeping cabins and other permanent facilities. "We want to keep the place as it is, a wilderness site ready to provide new outdoor experiences for the council's older scouts and explorers."

NO BETTER SPOT

Hunt, Pearson and Scout Executive Edward H. Leland of Pontiac, who have inspected Ausagawam, enthusiastically report that "there can hardly be a better spot in the state for a wilderness base."

Camp Agawam will continue to be operated at capacity, but no longer has sufficient space for the council's growing number of boys and expanding program of activities. For some time, the council has needed an adventure site for troops and explorer posts which had adequate camping experience and leadership.

Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council now has 9,000 boys and 3,000 leaders active in its programs in an area which comprises northern Oakland and Macomb counties.

Romeo Student Named in Talent Search

ROMEO — Stephen K. Burns, 17, a Romeo High School senior, was one of 40 boys and girls named finalists yesterday in a nationwide science talent search.

He will go to Washington to compete with the other winners for $34,250 in scholarships and awards during a five-day Science Institute beginning Feb. 27. Stephen was the only Michigan finalist in the 17th annual search conducted by the Science Clubs of America.

How did the versatile, studious Romeo youth react to the announcement?

At his home, 147 Church St., he took the good news in stride. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Burns, however, said they were so excited they hardly slept all night.

It was no accident or lucky break that strapping six-foot one-inch Stephen was judged among the nation's most promising teen-age scientists or engineers.

OTHER HONORS

He has entered national science contests for the past four years — since he was in the eighth grade — and has won either top honors or honorable mention several times.

A local expert in electronics, he has been called upon to head lighting committees for high school plays and the productions of the Romeo Players. Stephen also has rewired radios for Romeo civil defense officials.

HIGH IN CLASS

He ranks near the very top of his senior class, and as a junior was elected to the National Honor Society.

Stephen, however, hasn't confined his interests to research. He plays the baritone saxophone in the High School Band.

STEPHEN K. BURNS

This year's science talent search attracted 25,039 applicants, the largest number in the history of the competition. The winners come from 21 states and the District of Columbia.

New York led all states in the number of winners produced — eight boys and one girl. Six of the nine come from New York City and vicienty. Illinois and California tied for second place with four each. Massachusetts placed third with three.

The most promising boy or girl scientist among the 40 will win a four-year, $7,500 grand scholarship prize. Second place is a $6,000 scholarship; third place, $5,000; fourth place, $4,000, and fifth place, $2,000. Each of the other winners will receive a $250 award.

Following devotions, a film made available by Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc., Rochester, will be shown. It will demonstrate the technique of training dogs to lead the blind.

Woman's Screams Rout Purse Thief

FERNDALE — A thief was routed by a 70-year-old woman when he attempted to steal her purse yesterday afternoon at St. James Convent, 238 W. Hazelhurst St.

Mrs. Emily McCabe, a cook in the convent, told Ferndale Police a man entered the kitchen and grabbed her purse from an open cupboard. Her screams brought two of the nuns of convent running to the scene.

Swiss Village Water Pipe Set

Project to Begin Soon as Village Council Passes Approval of Plans

LAKE ORION—The installation of water pipe to Swiss Village will begin immediately following approval by the Village Council Monday night.

Steel pipe will be used, except across the lake to Victoria Island. James Baynes, Oakland County Drain Commission engineer, told the council the state requires the more expensive ball-socket type cast iron pipe there.

The project will begin now in order to complete it while the ice is safe.

Representatives of the Child Guidance Club appeared before the council with a request to lease the lot at the foot of Flint street for their swimming program this summer.

They said the club is willing to set up a dock and necessary facilities in order to increase the number of youngsters in the six-week program.

The group also hopes to utilize the afternoon hours when the water is warmer.

The council indicated approval of the plans. It said the village will let them use the area, but that it cannot be leased or closed to adjacent property owners.

The proposal to assess each home owner six dollars annually for garbage collection legally could not be placed on the ballot in the opinion of Village Attorney Harry Slater.

Therefore, the council indicated, when the present garbage pickup contract with the Bushmann Company expires, other collection alternatives may have to be found.

Either residents will have to assume responsibility for their own garbage or the village will have to find another method of raising funds to pay for the collection.

Toughest automotive tests of all time prove

LOW-COST PLYMOUTH LOOKS, RUNS LIKE NEW—AFTER 58,000 MILES

Other tests included acceleration, ride smoothness, gas economy, handling ease. The 58,000-mile veteran performed like new!

One of the Plymouths above is fresh from the assembly line. The other, a veteran of the toughest test run of all time: 58,000 continuous miles in 58 days. A thousand miles a day through 37 states.

We put both cars through the same exacting tests. Acceleration. Gas economy. Handling ease. Braking efficiency.

The results: the Plymouth that had driven 58,000 miles—the equivalent of 6 years on the road—could hardly be told from new. Like the new Plymouth, it zoomed from 0 to 40, 40 to 60 in a matter of seconds. In a 40-mph "panic" stop, it halted within 38 inches of the new car. And in the vital area of gas economy, careful tests proved that the 58,000-mile car delivered almost the exact same mileage as the new Plymouth. It rode with a smoothness and handled with an ease that astounded even veteran test drivers... men who had thought they'd seen everything.

What does it all prove? Just this: from the day you buy it, to the day you trade it in, your new Plymouth will take you to wherever you're going... faster, smoother, easier, safer. You get more value now... and you look forward to more dollars when you trade.

Why not see your Plymouth dealer now? He'll give you a fair appraisal of your present car. Then you'll see how easy it is to own America's biggest automotive value.

Plymouth stays young and proves it!

TAKES HONOR — Mrs. Glenn Mason has a good chance of being the oldest woman entry in the Pontiac Press Bowlerama at 68. The active local kegler can win a prize just by entering regardless how she bowls if no one tops her age.

Search Still Continues for Two Oldest Bowlers

The search is still on for the two oldest in the Press Bowlerama.

Currently, the honor among the women is 68-year old Mrs. Glenn Mason of Pontiac. Stephen Bone, 67, is the men's oldest entry thus far.

$1,000 Jackpot Quite Possible in '58 Tourney

Don't discount your chances of hitting that coveted "300" game and filling your pocket with $1,000.

Two bowlers proved that it was possible during 1957 when Bill Furlong and Walt Rennhack turned the trick.

An oddity, they did it on two alleys which are being used as sites for the 1958 Bowlerama, Motor Inn and Huron Bowl.

There have been several games in the area in the past two months which have gone over 290, one a 298 and another a 299.

Pontiac Central Routs Saginaw, 81-59

Chiefs Display Best Balanced Effort of Year

Munson Sparks Attack With 26 Points in SVC Victory

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Any resemblence of the Pontiac Central basketball team of last night to the one of last Friday was purely coincidental.

The defeat knocked Saginaw out of a three-way tie for first place in the Saginaw Valley Conference and gave the Chiefs a 3-3 mark in the league.

Junior center Harrison Munson had the best night of his prep career as he pumped nine field goals of 15 attempts and eight free throws for 26 points.

Charley Barge added 15, John Bandy, 10, Jerry Williams 11 and Bill Hayward nine. On the boards as well as in the scoring column, Pontiac had good balance.

Munson took 15 rebounds, Williams grabbed 10 and Hayward got nine.

Except for the 4-4 and 6-6 tie to start the game, Pontiac never lost the lead. At intermission it was 37-33 and after three quarters it was 57-46. The Trojans fell apart completely as PCH widened the gap to 25 points at one time.

Center Gary Potts, who was the villain for Pontiac last Friday, was held to only four points on one field goal and two free throws. The tall Saginaw quint pulled down only 26 rebounds in comparison to Pontiac's 50.

In shooting, Pontiac hit 29 times in 65 attempts, while Saginaw connected on 21 in 68 tries.

"We hustled and we worked our patterns better than at any time this year," said coach Art Van Ryzin, "don't count us out yet."

Bowlerama Money List Presents Easiest Odds

Bowlers who travel long distances, as often as hundreds of miles, to enter a tournament, have only to check the prize list of the 1958 Pontiac Press Bowlerama to realize the better odds in their own back yard.

Thus far this year, area teams have traveled to Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Owosso, Jackson, Flint and even to Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, to compete in tournaments of thousands of entries.

Five-player teams of men and women have gone and returned empty-handed but with travel and lodging costs. One team reported it spent $125 for its trip, came back with a $25 prize to be split among five people. Most came home with nothing.

Look at the Bowlerama odds this year. If the same number of 400 men which entered the 1957 Bowlerama enter the 1958 tournament, at least one out of eight is assured of at least $10.

If the total of entries of men for the 1958 Bowlerama reaches 500, then 70 bowlers or one of every seven entered is assured of winning a prize.

Regardless of entries, the top three places in each of the men's and women's divisions is guaranteed. The Press has added $400 in money and prizes to assure the prizes.

Based on 400 men entries, the 4th place winner down to the 50th man can start from $75 and go down the scale to $10, the lowest prize.

For women the odds are even greater than last year. If 100 women enter the tournament, the same figure as in 1957, one of every nine women is assured a prize, plus all ties.

The 12 or more women can win from $250 down to five dollars, and if 150 women enter the odds favor one out of six.

The odds are possible only because the greatest portion of the entry goes to the purse and because The Press has added to the purse.

Basing it on the same number of entries as in 1957, one of every eight men is assured a prize for qualifying, and after qualifying one of every six has a crack at the top three guaranteed prizes.

Giants Get Finigan

Trade Complete by Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have acquired first baseman Gail Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil from the San Francisco Giants in exchange for infielder Jim Finigan and cash.

The trade, announced by the Tigers yesterday, was made over the weekend in New York but was held up until the Giants could obtain waivers on Harris and Virgil.

The Tigers did not disclose the amount of money involved but said it was above the $20,000 waiver price. It was estimated the Tigers gave $25,000.

The 26-year-old Harris hit .240 and collected nine home runs in 90 games last year with the Giants. Virgil, 24, batted .235 in 96 games. He will be sent to the Tigers' American Assn. club in Charleston, W. Va.

Finigan spent last season with the Tigers after he was acquired in a trade with the Kansas City Athletics. He batted .270 in 64 games.

Adams Absolves Boston 'Brass'

Wings' Boss Says He Didn't Infer Howe's Injury Was Inspired

DETROIT (AP) — Jack Adams, Detroit Red Wings general manager, said he was not criticizing the Boston club or its officials when he accused two Bruin players of deliberately injuring Detroit's Gordie Howe.

Adams said Sunday that Leo Boivin and Real Chevrefils staged a "dirty play" that sidelined Howe for a month with two broken ribs.

The Red Wings official said yesterday he was standing by his statement about Howe's injury but said he did not mean to infer the incident was inspired or directed by the Boston management.

"Certainly this was not my intention," he said. "I have too high a respect for men like Milt Schmidt (Bruins coach) and Lynn Patrick (Bruins general manager) to believe they would direct any such action."

Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, said he would make a full investigation of the incident and ask Adams for an explanation of his accusations.

SPARKS CHIEFS — Harrison Munson (50) played his finest game of the season last night in sparking Pontiac Central to an 81-59 victory over Saginaw on the PCH gym. Bill Hayward (40) watches Munson take a rebound away from Saginaw's Tyler O'Keefe. Hayward also played an outstanding game for the Chiefs.

Mike Walsh, senior guard on the University of Detroit basketball team, is on his way to a new school free throw record. The little ballhawk has an .846 average in 14 games, having hit on 71 of 84 shots. The Titan season record is .767.

Don Stewart, Muskegon's All-State quarterback, has announced he will enter Michigan State University after his graduation from high school next month.

Alex Karras, Iowa's two-time All-America tackle, makes his professional wrestling debut Thursday at Des Moines, Iowa. Karras will grapple with Al Montana in a special one-fall match.

The Cleveland Indians have signed 18-year-old Robert Butts, a University of Missouri freshman, to a professional baseball contract. Eight other clubs sought the youngster, an outfielder-1st baseman.

A monthly contest for recreation pool players started in the city this month. "Shorty" Joe Vasquez won 1st prize for the month of January with Carlos R. Lopez placing 2nd and Rocky Rodriguez 3rd.

Contestants in the Ladies Elks keg meet last weekend included a mother-daughter doubles team from Ann Arbor. Cathy Svetanoff has the only triplicate in the tourney with three 128s.

City Recreation Dept. league bowler, Jim Fink, 32, had a pleasant birthday when he rolled a 279 at Land-O-Lakes yesterday. He is a 161 average bowler.

Wayne State's longest continuous basketball rivalry is the annual game with Western Ontario, which this year reached its 10th straight season. The longest rivalry is the series with Central Michigan which this season stretched to 46 games.

15 Backs Among Lions' Choices

Beginning with the fifth round, the NFL went through the roll call of teams 26 times. The first four rounds were conducted in November to lessen the pressure of bidding by Canadian teams for top collegians.

The Lions took All-America tackle Alex Karras of Iowa and center Wayne Walker of Idaho in the November pickings. Their other two selections were lost earlier in trades.

Detroit paid the penalty for winning the championship by choosing last in each round yesterday. Their fifth round choice already had been traded to Cleveland. It was part of the deal that sent Lew Carpenter to the Cleveland Browns and brought Roger Zatkoff to Detroit.

Lewis was the only well known player the Lions drafted. But coach George Wilson said he didn't expect to get much in the draft.

He hoped for about four or five players who can make the team next season. Wilson figures that would be enough new blood to keep up with the rest of the league. He also hopes to acquire a good running back in a trade with the Chicago Cardinals, Green Bay Packers or Philadelphia Eagles.

The other Detroit draftees:

Back Ralph Pfeifer of Kansas State, guard Harold Outten of Virginia, guard Carl Kopfer of Bowling Green, tackle Phil Blazer of North Carolina, back Jim Lottin of Alabama, tackle Ben Paolucci of Wayne State, tackle Elliott Schaubach of William & Mary, back Claude Chaney of Dayton, end Harold Boutte of San Jose State, back Barry Moroney of Cincinnati, back Ken Webb of Presbyterian, end John Scheldrup of Iowa State, back Gerald Mohlman of St. Benedict's, tackle George Rinquist of Central Michigan, guard Walt Guarasich of Southern California, center Bill Austin of Auburn, back Larry Carrier of Kansas, back Dave Bottos of Murray State, tackle Bill Curry of Western Kentucky, back Jim Whestaff of Idaho State, end Buddy Nidiffer of South Carolina, back Frank Destino of South Carolina, back Dave Whitsel of Indiana, quarterback Jim Cook of Auburn, tackle Joe Bruce of Middle Tennessee State, tackle Don Agers of Missouri Mines, end Jack Pitt of South Carolina, back Henry Hersog of Kentucky and back Tom Bronson of Tennessee.

Mikes Fall, 50-36; Holly Upset

Eaglets Nip St. Fred

By CHUCK ABAIR

It should be safe to say by now that St. Frederick and Orchard Lake St. Mary are a pair of evenly matched basketball teams. Twice the local rivals have met this season and each time it took an overtime period to decide the outcome.

Each such thriller has turned out in Orchard Lake's favor, the latest being a 48-44 triumph at St. Mary last night. The Eaglets triumphed 50-48 in a sudden death finish earlier.

Two big field goals by jump shot artist Stan Moniuszko turned the trick for Orchard Lake as St. Fred went scoreless in the overtime session.

Elsewhere around the area, Bloomfield Hills came up with the surprise of the night, upsetting Holly by a 49-32 count; St. Michael hit an exceptionally "cold" night bowing at Royal Oak St. Mary 50-36; Highland Park St. Benedict moved another notch closer to the Suburban Catholic title by blasting St. Rita 60-26 and Milford whipped Clarenceville, 63-54.

Rochester trampled Oxford 59-20, Linden nipped Ortonville 60-57, Utica defeated South Lake 59-50, South Lyon edged Howell 51-46 and Lapeer lost in overtime to Flint Mandeville, 56-51, in other action.

Moniuszko had carried St. Mary on his shoulders all the way before scoring the clinchers. He finished with 27 points, 16 in the last half, and Mike Wiktor added 11.

Tom Derocher tallied 14 and did yeoman work on rebounds to pace the losers. Joe Keller hit 12 on long one-handers.

St. Fred held one-point leads following the 1st two periods but trailed 36-33 after the 3rd. The Rams opened the 4th with four successive baskets and a foul to go ahead 42-36 before St. Mary came to life again.

The Eaglets kept hacking away and Moniuszko's corner jump shot finally deadlocked the count at 44-44 with 2:05 remaining. Three chances to clinch the issue before the buzzer failed. But it was settled early in the 5th period.

St. Michael fell behind early and never could get clicking. Art Robak topped the losers with 13 while Paul Smuts' 15 led Royal Oak. Larry Gacki's 24-point night made it easy for St. Ben to make it 10-0.

Bloomfield handed Holly its 4th straight loss and won its 2nd in three starts as Bob Elston meshed 24. Milford also made it two victories featuring a balanced offensive.

Rochester breezed from the start as Oxford lost its 9th. Carl Montross had 15. Ortonville lost a tough one as Ted Follis paced the cause with 22. Big last quarters made the difference for Utica and South Lyon. The Lions were down by 13 at halftime.

Three boys hit 12 or more in defeat for Lapeer featuring 15 for Jerry Bennington.

Orion Pair in Lead

County Point Race Same

There seems to be no letup to the scoring achievements of Lake Orion's senior forecourt pair of Jim Drake and Nick Neira as they roll along dominating the Oakland County point-getting race.

They combined for 57 last time out, 2nd best showing of the year, to gain more ground on the field. Drake has headed the county since the early games and now has a 24.3 average.

Neira dropped to 3rd last week but bounced right back with 27 Friday to regain 2nd behind his teammate with an even 22. Rick Moos of Madison is now 3rd again with 20.3. Moos has the top overall scoring total of 185.

Steady Leroy Parks of Clarkston ranks 4th at 19 and John Herrington of Waterford has 18.9 to complete the 1st five.

The county area list has a new leader in Larry Gacki of Highland Park St. Benedict. He has 20.3 to exactly 20 for Jim Ward of Imlay City, who had led for several weeks.

John Studebaker of Cranbrook led scoring with 25 points. Bill McClory had 17 for the Sandwich Ont. club.

New Gun Feather-Light

Finish Called Too Gaudy

By JACK PATTERSON

We have often toyed with the idea of light-metal gun barrels, as an assist to portability, and now we have the chance to see how the idea works out in practice.

PATTERSON

A major arms outfit has recently introduced its model 572, a slide-action .22 caliber with an aluminum-alloy barrel. Weighing in at a feather-light four pounds, this gun is portable, all right, and should find favor among plinkers who aren't interested in lugging around useless weight.

Unfortunately, the finish of the gun has been jazzed up in a most un-gunlike manner. The model we examined had a bronze-colored barrel and receiver, characterless blond stock and fore-end, chrome-plated magazine and rear sight.

The overall effect is indescribably gaudy and affronts the sensibilities of shooters who think of guns in terms of blue steel barrels and dark walnut stocks.

A companion model has "Crow Wing Black" ironwork and though we haven't seen it, it couldn't help but be an improvement.

We probably wouldn't be so surly on the subject of latter day gunsmithing if we hadn't just finished appraising some examples of the gunsmith's art of a generation ago. Examining top-grade L. C. Smiths and Meriden Parkers, with their excellence of line, balance, and workmanship doesn't leave one with much enthusiasm for today's models, designed more with an eye to simplicity of production than to pleasing the sportsman.

As a spur to lagging gun sales other new models by several manufacturers will shortly be on the market. Among them will be a single-shot automatic .22 and a shotgun with a short stock for youngsters.

We are not entirely clear on the advantages of a single-shot automatic, but there should be quite a demand for a gun designed for the beginning shooter.

Business opportunity for the week: Since most gun actions are beyond the patent protection stage and are in the public domain, why couldn't some enterprising young gun nut "borrow" the best features of various guns of a type and set up shop in, say, Japan, where low labor costs would permit construction of the "perfect" gun at a marketable price? It's a thought, anyway, and Japan isn't a bad place to hang out, particularly in the springtime.

Forestall Accidents on Ice

Anglers Should Mark Holes

A resident of East Long Lake, today pointed up a very important situation affecting every person who enjoys ice-fishing, skating or other winter sports on the ice-covered lakes of Oakland county.

Following what could have been a tragic affair, Monday aftrnoon, when her 8-year-old son Geoffery fell through an abandoned spearing hole in the lake ice, Mrs. Howard Cary suggested:

"Ice-fishermen should be more considerate of others who are equally entitled to use of the ice for skating and other sports, and never leave an open hole unprotected, or inadequately marked. "If they move their shanties, or seek another spot from which to fish, they should immediately proceed to cover the hole with brush, or by other means so that any one would know there was a dangerous spot there."

Geoffery and his 10-year-old brother Robert were together when the former stepped into an unprotected hole, dropped to his chest in deep water. Another boy, nearby aided Robert in pulling his brother out.

"If the other boy had not been there the incident might have had a tragic ending," says Mrs. Cary. The time was near dusk and few others were on the lake.

There is no regulation, Mrs. Cary says she was told, whereby fishing holes must be protected. "With many children on the ice, on the numerous lakes of the area, I believe it is important that every fisherman keep in mind the possible danger an open, abandoned hole can offer, and mark the place adequately."

What the Long Lake woman says about uncovered, abandoned fishing holes, is correct. An inspection of most any area where fishing is under way, would reveal altogether too many of these open holes.

It's like Mrs. Cary says "Protecting others from possible danger is just a courtesy sportsmen should offer for the privileges of enjoying their sport."

Dogs Are Individualists; Have Own Personalities

There are personalities — and personalities, whether in the human relationship or in the world of animals. The confirmed addicts of horse-shows, or dog-shows, such as the recent fine Pontiac Kennel Club all-breed exhibition will tell anyone each individual animal has a definite character.

French bulldog, Ch. Bouquet Neuvel Ami (bulldogs). An even-tempered disposition, friendly, but not as "snooty" as the picture might lead some to believe.

Shelley Shows 'Magpie Trails' at OCSC, Tonight

General membership conference for Oakland County Sportsmen's Club tonight will be highlighted by the appearance of Howard and Ruth Shelley and their fine color film, "The Magpie Trails." It's a picture story of old lumbering days in the wilderness of northern Ontario, made last summer.

A business session, with probable action on details of the July-August World Skeet Championships, will also be held at this time. The big event takes place at OCSC.

Pioneer Saddle Club Has Winter Contests

Pioneer Saddle Club doesn't stop its activities when winter settles in, as demonstrated by the recent weekend competition at Lake Orion. The usual races were held during a good program.

Club holds its first membership conference of the year, next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Oxford K. of P. Hall.

Winter competition is designed to keep the horses in good condition and active for the opening of spring events. Fifteen horses were in the weekend event.

M-L Holds Dinner

A dinner and informal program will be held for Multi-Lakes officials and others in the clubhouse at Reed's Lake, Saturday night. Clayton Adams is handling arrangements.

M-L also holds its annual installation and membership party Feb. 22 at which time Weldon Payne will be inducted as the 1958 president.

Archers Plan Ball

Oakland County Sportsmen's Club archers have completed plans for their annual ball set for Feb. 8 in the clubhouse at Waterford. Frank Lawrence (FE 2-5641) are handling the tickets.

Westerman Reviews Anti-Lamprey Fight

LANSING — "Big Hope for the Great Lakes," a review of recent advances in lamprey control, is featured in the January-February issue of "Michigan Conservation," the Conservation Department's bimonthly magazine.

The article, written by Fred A. Westerman, chief of the department's fish division, discusses the new chemical treatment of streams which may bring about control of fish - destroying lampreys.

Solunar Table

Anglers and hunters in Oakland county may find some help in determining best hours for their sports during the ensuing week. The solunar periods, listed below have been prepared by John Alden Knight from his Solunar Tables, designed to set up times in which game and fish may be the most active. Major periods last for an hour to an hour and a half. Minor periods are somewhat shorter.

Campanella's Career Probably Finished

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Roy Campanella, the jovial Los Angeles' Dodgers' catcher, lay paralyzed in a hospital today, his brilliant but injury-scarred career probably at an end.

Three times the most valuable player in the National League, Campanella remained in critical condition after suffering a broken neck when the car he was driving skidded overturned and crashed into a pole in the rain early yesterday morning.

While physicians termed a four-hour operation a success, there seemed little doubt but that he never would swing a bat or don a mask again.

"It could take anything from two months to years before he even walks again," said Dr. Robert Sengstaken, who headed the seven-man team thae performed the operation.

"He won't be able to play before a year, and in my opinion, he would be foolish if he continued playing baseball. But he is not my patient, so I won't advise him."

Dr. Sengstaken added that he expected Campanella to recover to a normal state, but at the same time warned that it is possible that he won't recover completely from the paralysis.

The physician explained that Campanella suffered a fracture and dislocation of cervical (vertebrae) five and six.

"He is paralyzed from just below the shoulder to the toes," said Dr. Sengstaken. "He cannot push his arms out or grasp, but he can pull his arms in if they are held out for him."

If the fracture had been an inch or two higher, Dr. Sengstaken observed, Campanella woud have died.

The fact that Campanella, a squat 215 pounds, has heavy neck muscles, probably helped save his life. However, they also caused the operating team to take some additional time.

At 36, it is extremely doubtful that Campanella could return to the Dodgers as a first-string performer. He has fared poorly the past two years and many observers thought that his age was responsible.

Yet the happy-go-lucky catcher always said that they would have to tear his uniform off to keep him away from the field. He loved the game and never made any secret of the fact that he considered himself fortunate to be in the major leagues.

Over the years, Campanella, who joined the Dodgers in 1948, has been plagued by injuries—a bad hand which required two operations, a dislocated thumb, a fractured index finger and a broken knee cap.

SUCCESSOR — John Roseboro has been mentioned as a possible successor of Roy Campanella as catcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Campanella was critically injured in an auto accident which may have ended his baseball career.

Two Teams Tied for 1st in Waterford Cage Play

White Swan moved into a 1st place tie with Ryeson's in the Waterford Recreation Basketball League Tuesday night by defeating the Junior Chamber of Commerce, 74-50 at Isaac Crary gym.

A 20-4 bulge in the 4th quarter brought White Swan its one-sided win. Harry Dearborn led the winners with 23 points while Charley Hagyard made 15 for the Jaycees. Ryeson's and Swan now have 4-1 records.

Boxer Says He Was Doped

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Two "heart-shaped" pink pills that may have contained narcotics were the focal point of an investigation today involving welterweight Andrew Brown of New Orleans and ranking middleweight Charley Joseph.

Brown, released from state prison seven months ago on parole from an armed robbery sentence, claimed he was doped before his fight Monday night against tenth-ranked welterweight Lynch of Hartford, Conn.

Brown contended he was given the two pills to ease pain in his jaw before he stepped into the ring against Lynch. Brown claimed the pills were given him by Joseph, who is ranked seventh among middleweights by ring magazine.

Joseph was present at a boxing commission hearing yesterday and vigorously denied he gave the pills to Brown. Joseph also claimed he wasn't in Brown's dressing room.

Brown was an 8-5 favorite over Lynch, but put on a disappointing, listless performance and lost by a wide margin.

Protects His Golf Future

Mayer Rejects Chance to Accumulate $50,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Suppose somebody offered you a chance to make $50,000 in less than eight months. No hard work. Just a couple or three friendly rounds of golf a week.

You'd jump at it? Not Dick Mayer, the National Open golf champion. Faced with the proposition, he gave it a flat "No."

"A lot of things were involved," the dapper, blond professional from St. Petersburg, Fla., said today. "It wasn't income tax. Goodness knows, I can use all the money I can get this year.

"But such a program would be pretty demanding and it would take me away from the golf circuit. Golf is my life. I don't intend to jeopardize that."

Mayer, whose National Open and Tam O'Shanter "World" championships last year rocketed his official income to $65,835 and his unofficial take to nearly $100,000, had an option on the additional $50,000 as a result of his Tam O'Shanter triumph.

He won $50,000 cash and was given the option of playing 50 exhibitions at $1,000 each over a period from January through August.

Mayer told George S. May, the Tam sponsor, he would be willing to take 20 of the exhibitions in about a three-month span. But this did not suit May's business demands. So it was no deal.

Such golfers as Lew Worsham, Bob Toski, Julius Boros and, the 1956 winner, Ted Kroll, accepted the exhibition bonanza and their golf careers went into sudden tailspins. Toski is the most graphic example of this. He never has been able to regain bigtime status.

"I have other business enterprises now and they take some of my time," Mayer said. "Also I wanted to be able to pick my tournaments and concentrate on golf in order to keep my game alive. This wouldn't have been possible under the May program which demands television and other appearances in addition to golf."

Collide in TV Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of knockout-powered heavyweights, Wayne Bethea of New York and Young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles, clash tonight at Chicago Stadium in a nationally televised 10 rounder.

Bethea, 24, is a 7-5 favorite in the scrap that will be beamed by ABC starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Royals Suffer 1st Loss in City Loop

Cellar-dwelling Southfield handed the league-leading Lakeside Royals their 1st defeat of the season last night in Class A city basketball, but the runnerup Knights of Columbus failed to gain any ground by falling to Shaw's Jewelers.

Bob Neff scored 24 points to pace Southfield's 67-59 upset win over the Royals. The Jewelers downed the Knights 66-53 behind the 23-point firing of Ernie Wagner.

'56 GOP Slogan Given Fourth 'P' —Preparedness

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1956 Republican campaign slogan of "Peace, progress and prosperity" has a fourth "P" (for "preparedness") in the 1958 version.

William H. Rentschler of Illinois, national campaign director of the Young Republican National Federation, suggested the new battle cry in a talk to some 300 Young Republicans attending a five-day leadership training school.

Rentschler said President Eisenhower got the campaign off to a good start in his speech last week in Chicago and added: "Now it's our job to get the story of Republican peace, progress, prosperity, and preparedness across to the voters. We have high hopes that our efforts will reach a crescendo in November and turn the tide in Congress."

Jerry Lewis Interested in Portraying 'Schnozz'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Before Jerry Lewis took off for the Sands in Las Vegas, director Michael Curtiz asked him if he would be interested in playing Jimmy Durante in "Schnozzola," the life of the beloved Jimmy.

"What did you say?" I asked Jerry.

"I gave him a definite 'Yes,' because I admire Durante as much as any man I've ever met," said Lewis, "And I know the Gene Fowler book will make a great motion picture."

Jerry was in great form in his act. His father and mother were celebrating their 33rd wedding anniversary sitting ringside, and Jerry had a cake for them. His father, who has a good voice, sang and whistled so loudly in approval of Jerry's act I was nearly deafened. But he has a right to be proud of his son.

Those frequent meetings Rouben Mamoulian is having in New York with Sugar Ray Robinson are not to find out how good Sugar Ray's chances are against Carmen Basilio in their February 14th fight.

Although it's supposed to be a secret, director Mamoulian is coaching Sugar Ray in the role of Sporting Life, one of the important roles in "Porgy and Bess." Before you think this is far fetched, remember that Sugar Ray turned song and dance man several years ago and was a big hit in night clubs in Paris.

If he shows enough promise, Rouben will bring him back to the coast and Sam Goldwyn will make an extensive test.

Mike Todd Jr., once and for all, settles the gossip about any break with his father. He telephoned me to say that Herman O'Dell has been with the Todd Company for a long time and will shortly be announced as president of the Michael Todd Company.

Mike Sr., is in Russia so I couldn't try to coax him to tell me what the project is, and Mike Jr., is sworn to secrecy. And how about those interviews with Liz and Mike in the shadow of the Kremlin!

Teachers' Salaries Keeping Ahead

WASHINGTON — According to the National Education Association, which recently made a survey of 413 urban school districts throughout the country, city-school salaries are keeping a jump ahead of the rising cost of living.

Salaries scheduled in the 1957-58 school year for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees, the NEA reports, average out to a medium of $4,000 a year for the 18 big cities in the survey having more than 500,000 population, and $3,000 for those in cities ranging in population from 100,000 to 500,000, and also in cities of 30,000 to 100,000 population.

These mediums represent increases of 6.7 per cent, 8.6 per cent and 7 per cent, respectively, over those of a year ago.

OK Extension of Storm Drain

Perry Park Trunkline System to Serve New Northern High School

City Commissioners voted last night to spend city funds for an extension to the Perry Park storm drain trunkline system to serve the new Northern High School.

The new drain, smaller than a standard trunkline, would drain the western grounds of the new school, said City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn. The eastern grounds drain in another direction, he added.

"It also will serve homes in the area and complete the trunkline drainage of the district," said Wrenn.

The new line had been included in the original plans for the Perry Park drain but had been delayed last year because of limited city funds with which to match special assessments, Wrenn said.

The rest of the project, excluding laterals, began last year on a special assessment basis and at a total estimated cost of $225,000.

"The property owners who would benefit by this new drain have already paid their special assessments. That is why the city has to put up the money now," Wrenn said.

The laterals in the project are to be installed at a later date when curb and gutter work is put in on a special assessment basis. Although property owners will have to contribute to the curb and gutter cost, the city has promised to install the laterals at no extra cost, Wrenn said.

Commissioners dropped plans for another pipeline project last night. This was a proposed combined sewer extension to service the Pontiac Trailer Coach Park, 229 E. Walton Blvd.

"It would cost about $90,000 and would have to be built on a special assessment basis, but would not benefit any property owners along the way," said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

"I doubt that anyone except the trailer camp, which proposed the idea, would be willing to pay for it," he said.

Soys Hit Skids, Grains Weaken

A weaker vegetable oil market started off rather heavy selling of soybeans and after the prices had sagged around a cent a bushel, stop-loss selling began and carried the setback to as much as 2 cents a bushel at times.

The deferred wheat contracts which had been supported fairly steadily in recent sessions slid around half a cent. Other grains fluctuated mostly in minor fractions.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ½ to ¾ lower, March $2.16⅛; corn ¼ to ½ lower, March $1.09½; oats ¾ to ⅞ lower, March 62½; rye ¼ to ⅞ lower, March $1.23½; soybeans ⅝ to 1½ lower, March $2.22⅝; lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $11.45.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Syrian Cabinet gave final approval yesterday to union of Syria and Egypt. Syrian Premier Sabri Assali predicted proclamation of the united Arab state within the "next few days."

President Shukri Kuwatly was reported as confirming expectations that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt will be the union's president, subject to a plebiscite which presumably will approve the Arab hero overwhelmingly. Kuwatly is expected to become vice president.

Steels, Motors Draw Action

NEW YORK (AP)— Steels and motors were active as the stock market moved higher in early trading today.

Leading stocks gained fractions to around a point. There were a few losers.

After an uneven start the market moved ahead as the leading steel and motor shares picked up steam.

Chrysler went up about a point as its satellite-carrying Jupiter-C missile awaited firing in Florida. General Motors also was in demand and ahead a good fraction.

U. S. Steel, with record yearly earnings announced after yesterday's close, advanced a major fraction. Bethlehem also rose fractionally in good turnover.

Youngstown Sheet and Republic Steel were other gainers. Ford was steady.

Thermoid, yesterday's market leader with a good gain on heavy buying for control of the firm, backed down fractionally today. Cooper-Bessemer, aided by a good earnings report, rose 1¼ to 20½ on 1,500 shares.

An association to fight for the extension of Northwestern Highway from Detroit to Fenton, as originally planned, has been formed.

The association is composed of representatives of communities bordering on Northwestern Highway, who are desirous of seeing the road extended now.

The group was formed in protest against State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie's postponement of the extension until other projects in a five-year plan are complete.

Acting President Bill Under Study

Eight-Man Commission Would Decide When to Shift Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders were reported today to have agreed upon a bill to permit a vice president to act as president in case of a chief executive's disability.

A special subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee was hurriedly called into session after the draft of the bill was prepared. It has been the subject of high-level, closed-door conferences for about two weeks.

The bill would provide that the vice president shall discharge powers and duties of the office of president as acting president under these circumstances:

1. If the president himself certifies in writing to Congress and the vice president that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office.

2. If a commission on presidential inability determines that he is unable to discharge those powers and duties.

The legislation would create this commission of eight members, six of whom would have to agree on any determination for it to be effective.

Members of the commission would be the vice president as nonvoting chairman; the speaker of the House of Representatives, the president pro tempore of the Senate, the secretary of state, the leaders of the two major parties in the House of Representatives, and the corresponding Senate leaders.

'58 World Almanac Lists Global Shifts

NEW YORK — Spectacular changes in world affairs vitally affecting the security of the United States were major forces that swayed national policy in 1957, according to the new World Almanac and Book of Facts for 1958.

Citing the sensational success of the Soviet Union in launching the first Intercontinental Ballistic Missile and sending a satellite whirling around the Earth, the annual backs up its views with a full report of American and foreign diplomacy, an analysis of the meaning of events, and official figures from world chancelleries.

The World Almanac and Book of Facts is published by the New York World-Telegram & Sun in two editions: paper $1.35; cloth $2.00.

3,000 Thunderbirds Already Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Ford Motor Co. said today more than 3,000 advance orders already have been received for its forthcoming four-passenger Thunderbird.

The company pointed out the new Thunderbird has not yet been advertised, shown in dealerships, or even priced.

William Clay Ford, company vice president in charge of product planning and styling, said the advance orders, based on the average selling rate of the former two - passenger model, represent two full months of sales.

The new Thunderbird, according to the company, cost $30 million to bring to the market. It is 24 inches longer, four inches wider and has 1.5 times as much trunk space as the two-passenger edition.

Ford said the handling and performance characteristics of the two-seater have been maintained in the new model.

To Peer Over Edge of Space

Sees Scientists Getting Flying Platform

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists will soon have a flying platform to peer over the edge of space, an Air Force balloon researcher said today.

Maj. Richard H. Braun described balloons he said would soon be able to follow the eye of a hurricane or act as a platform for the testing of nuclear weapons high in the atmosphere.

Present balloons he said can carry 2,000 pounds to some 100,000 feet.

Balloons will soon be able to carry loads of four to five tons as high as 100,000 feet, he told a joint meeting of the American Meterological Society and the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

Braun, an officer of the Air Force Cambridge Research Center, Cambridge, Mass., added that balloons will soon be developed that can rise to heights of 150,000 feet—almost 29 miles.

At 110,000 feet, 99 per cent of the earth's atmospheric pressure is below you.

Plastic balloons also can be used, the major said, to carry Air Force men into the stratosphere to test bailout techniques.

Cameras could be carried aloft to photograph clouds and measure the amount of the sun's light the earth reflects.

Blasts Williams for Recession

Potter Says Michigan's Rise in Unemployment Preceded Nation's

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) today accused Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams of "saddling the state with chronic unemployment" and trying to make President Eisenhower the scapegoat for it.

"Williams is whirling like a dervish in a frantic search for a scapegoat when all he needs to do is look in the mirror," said Potter.

The senator called a letter from Williams to President Eisenhower last Friday "A shabby attempt to pin (Michigan unemployment) on the administration."

Williams told the President 320,000 Michigan workers or 11 per cent of the labor force are jobless as a part of the national recession. He asked for special help, possibly in the form of more defense contracts.

"It is a national problem, arising from national causes," the Governor said.

Potter, in a statement, countered that Michigan unemployment preceded the national recession and called Williams' letter "nothing less than doubletalk."

"Until a few months ago," the senator said, "Michigan, victim of Williams' 'soak business' campaign, was the only blot in a national picture of full employment and rising income."

Potter's statement strongly indicated that Michigan unemployment will be the prime issue in the state's political campaign next fall.

Republicans have blamed the situation on the Governor's tax and labor policies. Democrats have attributed it to national economic policies and automation in the state's predominant auto industry.

Role in Auto Production Growing for Plastics

DETROIT (AP) — Plastics are gaining a bigger role each year in the production of automobiles, Charles A. Chayne, General Motors vice president, said today.

Addressing a meeting of the Society of Plastic Engineers here, Chayne sad the average 1957 four-door sedan contained 15.4 pounds of plastics.

This is only .41 per cent of the car's total weight, he said, but it represents a substantial increase from the 3.84 pounds per car 14 years ago.

There is small chance that plastics will replace steel in the near future, he said, because steel provides the stiffness needed to "design more structure into less space."

Grand Jury Probes Brooklyn Violence

Asks Children to Boycott Crime-Ridden Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—The foreman of a special grand jury investigating crime in Brooklyn public schools has suggested that parents have their children boycott schools where crime is prevalent.

Foreman A. George Golden made the suggestion at a jury session yesterday.

At the time, the grand jury had not yet learned that George Goldfarb, 55, principal of violence-tormented John Marshall Junior High School in Brooklyn, had plunged to death from the roof of his home.

County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz promised to study Golden's proposal, which was made in the form of a question.

"Is there anything in the law that could prevent thousands of mothers and fathers from having their young children boycott the schools until something is done?" Golden asked.

Leibowitz said he will confer with Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver and report back to the grand jury.

When notified of Goldfarb's death, Golden said the jurors will call in Board of Education officials to find out whether the principal had been under pressure or had been threatened with disciplinary action for reportedly telling the jurors last Thursday that he would like to have a policeman stationed inside his school.

The grand jury and Leibowitz favor stationing a policeman in every school in the city. This suggestion has been turned down by the Board of Education, School Supt. William Jansen and Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy.

It was disclosed that Goldfarb had notified the police he wanted a patrolman stationed inside his school. A later request was mailed Monday night.

When Jansen was told about this, he said the Board of Education "would certainly have approved his request."

Last week a 13-year-old white girl at John Marshall reported she had been raped in the school basement by an unidentified Negro boy.

The rape resulted in Goldfarb's appearance before the grand jury. He was due to appear again yesterday.

Order of Moose Aiding Widow, Nine Children

CHICAGO (AP)—Life began anew today for a widowed mother and her nine children. They moved into Mooseheart, a community 37 miles west of Chicago operated by the Loyal Order of Moose.

Mrs. Opal Moon, 37, and her children will remain at the Child City until each child has graduated from high school. The youngest is 18 months old, the eldest 16 years. A Moose spokesman said the organization will spend more than $100,000 caring for the family by time the youngest child leaves high school.

Mrs. Moon, a resident of Seattle, arrived with her offspring yesterday.

She was widowed July 9, 1957, when her husband Benjamin died of heart seizure at Sitka, Alaska, where he had gone to establish himself in business. He left no insurance or estate.

The father was a member of the Moose.

Rock Cave-In Fatal to 4 Montana Miners

ROUNDUP, Mont. (AP)—A mine cave-in crushed four men to death beneath an estimated 15 tons of rock late yesterday. Six others escaped injury.

The tragedy occurred inside the horizontal tunnel of the Mountain Queen mine about 32 miles east of here. The mine is leased to the Atomic Energy Commission plant at Hanford, Wash.

An investigation was started immediately, by federal, state and union officials.

One of those narrowly missed by the thundering rockfall was Jack Boyle of Roundup, president of the Mountain States Mining Co. which owns the mine.

He was one of 10 men working to clear rock from a slide Sunday or early Monday. Nearly 30 other coal miners were near the mouth of the tunnel when its roof of sandstone and other rock began to fall.

Would Strengthen Great Lakes Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—Use of experienced Great Lakes pilots on ocean-going vessels entering the St. Lawrence Seaway is being urged by the Coast Guard.

Vice Adm. Alfred C. Richmond, Coast Guard commandant, told a House Merchant Marine subcommittee yesterday that such a step is necessary to avoid "a greater probability of serious marine casualties."

He also recommended a bill that would require ocean-going ships to adhere to the same safety regulations within the Great Lakes as vessels sailing solely in the lakes area.

Canadian and U. S. laws now require Great Lakes ships to carry sailing masters certified as experienced in the navigational problems of the Great Lakes. No such provision applies to ocean-going vessels which are entering the lakes in increasing numbers.

Two Get $1,500 in Suit Against Andrea Doria

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Antonio Vicini and her daughter Maria, 4, have been awarded $1,100 each in a suit arising from the July 1956 collision between the ocean liners Andrea Doria and Stockholm.

The two, both passengers on the Andrea Doria, had asked for $7,500 each from the Italian line, claiming shock and mental anguish. The award was made by Probate Judge Joseph B. Murphy.

The Detroit residents were returning from a visit with relatives in Serraville, San Marino. Fifty-one persons lost their lives in the collision off the coast of Massachusetts.

Show Booming After 2 Years

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two years ago almost everybody around NBC-TV shook their heads about Albert McCleery and his "experiment."

"Politely," recalls one NBC executive, "we referred to him as an extreme visionary. We really thought he was slightly off his rocker."

In the fall of 1955, McCleery came up with the idea of putting an hour-long drama series on five days a week and in color.

It was plainly mass production drama in a medium that had already proved itself the most hearty devourer of talent in show business history.

"We gave him a month at best," says the executive, "and then we figured that was a give-away of three weeks."

HELPFUL SALES PITCH

But McCleery sold his idea to the network, helped a little by a sales pitch that particularly appealed to RCA, parent of NBC.

Since then, NBC Matinee Theater has passed the 500th daytime show and surprisingly set a standard of quality that many a nighttime drama show could use.

Its audience is estimated by the rating services at around 12 millions daily, making it one of the most successful operations in the network program.

Bulk of the audience is in the East where it hits about the time the housewives want to take an hour's rest before the kids come home from school.

MOVIEMAKERS WATCH

It comes on at lunchtime in Hollywood, where it has an important audience in, of all places, the paneled offices of the movie moguls.

"It's the best screen test in town," says one movie bigwig, "and the cheapest. I can tell whether a new girl will photograph well in color and, more important, I can find out if she can act."

At least two dozen of the younger crop in the movies were discovered by a producer watching TV while eating lunch in his office. Among them are Inger Stevens, Lita Milan and Fay Spain.

It's Folly to Trust Guys Like Jonathan Winters

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Never trust a guy from Ohio (me included). The "Italian golf pro" whom Jonathan Winters is palming off on the public on the Jack Paar program—delicious accent and all—is really the son of a great B'way comedian, and it's a wonderful practical joke.

WILSON

Peter Townsend doesn't say so—but on his tour, he's leaving people with the impression that he still expects to marry Princess Margaret "sooner or later" . . . Gossip has it that publicity-shy Jayne Mansfield objected to the magazine publishing those nudes of her—unless they'd run them in two issues, giving her twice as much space. The magazine denies it).

Peggy King's beau, Composer Andre Previn, gets his divorce in September. "We'll probably be married," declares Peggy, "at 12:01 a.m. the next day!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Betty Hutton rejected the Latin ¼'s $12,500-a-week offer; the cafe thought Tallulah Bankhead's 17G-per request was too steep . . Rock Hudson says he'd like to do a B'way show—but nobody's asked him . . . Italian actress Marisa Allasio's date was actor Bob Evans.

MARISA

Dinah Shore's sponsor paid an extra 60Gs to bring her show here for two weeks . . . Sal Mineo'll get a private tutor—he's too busy to attend Adelphi College . . . Aly Khan brought a batch of riding breeches, at $250 each . . . The Dodgers made a huge decision—they'll stick with their blue and white colors in L.A. (Instead of red, white and blue) . . .

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Most people look for three things in a home—a big back yard, a big front yard and a small down payment.

Bud Collyer tells of the kid who asked his mother if he could go out and watch a solar eclipse. "All right," she said, "but don't stand too close!" That's earl, brother.

QUESTION: Did Nero fiddle while Rome burned?

ANSWER: Nero, who ruled Rome 1900 years ago, was very cruel and even murdered his mother, wife and stepmother.

When a great fire swept the imperial city in the year 64, it was whispered around that Nero cared so little for the sufferings of his people that he sang and played his harp while the buildings burned.

Actually there is no historical evidence of this. People probably just started the story because they hated Nero so much. But even today when a public official fails to act in a crisis it often is said that he is "fiddling while Rome burns."

FOR YOU TO DO: This picture shows Nero sitting in a Roman stadium with his thumb pointed down. This thumb's down signal was a famous one in ancient Rome. See if you can find out what he meant by it.

$10 goes to Dave Kyner of Waterloo, Iowa, for this question. If you have a good one submit it on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: Why is England called John Bull)?

Doolittle in Spotlight Again

Foresaw Soviets Gaining

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

If James Harold Doolittle were an "I-told-you-so" type, he could look back exactly four years with much pride.

For on Jan. 27, 1954, Doolittle went on record as saying:

"It is extremely likely that the Soviets are ahead of us in the development of the long-range ballistic missile."

Doolittle, better known as "Jimmy," has been in the spotlight often during the past 35 years. He's there again as head of the National Advisory committee which is submitting to President Eisenhower Monday a report on the space age.

Doolittle, 61 last Dec. 14, is a retired Air Force lieutenant general. He is now vice president of the Shell Oil Co.

During his story-book life, Doolittle has won practically every air award in existence. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for leading 16 B25 bombers on the first World War II raid over Japan on April 18, 1942.

In the 1920s and early 1930s, he broke many air records. He won international races and achieved fame for courageous "firsts" such as blind flying and the first one-stop cross-country flight.

He was born in Alameda, Calif. His father, a carpenter, got the gold fever and took the family to Alaska in search of gold, returning to California shortly before World War I. Jimmy joined up in 1917, but had to sit out the war as a stateside instructor.

He left active service in 1930, but was called back at the beginning of World War II.

Doolittle was married to his high school sweetheart, Josephine Daniels, in 1917. She has won awards and citations for her contributions to aviation, notably service rendered to organizations that help wives and children of flyers.

She also contributed two sons to the Air Force, James Jr. and John, both pilots.

Doolittle apparently finds it difficult to take his mind off flying, even on a fishing trip. He went fishing in Maine in 1955. He didn't have much luck with the fish, but he ran into two young men and talked them into joining the Air Force.

Lassie's Owner-Trainer Sued for Second Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rudd Weatherwax, owner and trainer of a number of movie dogs, including Lassie, has been sued for divorce for the second time in a year.

Mrs. Mae Esther Weatherwax alleged cruelty in an action brought in Superior Court yesterday.

Mrs. Weatherwax, 47, filed a similar suit against the 51-year-old trainer last March, but later dropped it.

France Passes Bill on Algeria

Assembly OKs Election Law, but Limited Home Rule Held Up

PARIS (AP)—A new election law for rebellious Algeria won final legislative approval from the National Assembly 292-249 yesterday but a bill to provide limited home rule was held up by a dispute with the upper house.

Premier Felix Gaillard pushed both the controversial measures through the Assembly on first reading Nov. 29 by demanding votes of confidence. Although designed to relax French rule in Algeria, they preserve control from Paris of the North African area's defense, foreign affairs, and finances.

Both plans have already been rejected by Algerian rebels, who have been fighting for independence for more than three years. The French have said they cannot hold elections until peace is restored to Algeria.

The election law equalizes the votes of French and Arab residents of Algeria. In the past, although the Arabs outnumber the French 10-1, the voting system was rigged to give the French control.

To keep Algeria's French settlers from being swamped by the Arabs, the home rule bill would divide the territory into six or seven regional administrations, with the boundaries drawn along racial lines. It also promises a federal regime someday.

The Assembly approved the home rule bill 310-234 but knocked out some amendments made by the Council of the Republic, the French senate. This required return of the bill to the Council for another vote.

AF Gunfire Target Falls Into Building

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — "Thank God I had gotten up to go into the bedroom."

Mrs. John Redden, 51, described her feelings after an Air Force aerial gunfire target crashed into the two-story Redden apartment building, showering plaster on the kitchen table where she had been having coffee yesterday.

No one was injured. Also in the building were her husband, 50, and daughter, Mrs. John Bassick Jr., 26, and Mrs. Bassick's son Steven, 3.

Six feet long and weighing 15 pounds, the target struck with a noise that sounded like a "bomb" to Mrs. Redden. It punched through the roof and knocked two holes, one 18 inches in diameter, in the kitchen ceiling.

The target broke loose from a T33 jet speeding back to O'Hare field after maneuvers over Lake Michigan. The pilot, 1st. Lt. Oscar Dardeau, said he was not aware he had lost the target until he landed.
