Chillicothe Evacuees Mop Up City After Flood

By ALVIN C. ZURCHER
Chillicothe Gazette

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio—Considering itself extremely fortunate despite evacuation of nearly 10,000 persons and inundation of a third of its area, this city of 27,000 was getting back to normal today after being flooded by the Scioto River.

None of the city's four big industrial plants—two paper, one shoe and one making aluminum cooking utensils—suffered material damage.

In fact, three escaped entirely, while at the aluminum plant there was two feet of water at the shipping docks and a foot of water in the boiler house.

Some merchandise, ready for shipment, was damaged, but shipping was being resumed Saturday. All plants will reopen Monday.

The principal business district also was unaffected by the high waters—highest since the disastrous flood of 1913. The present inundation was five feet below the 1913 level, but six feet higher than the major flood threat of 1937.

None of city's utilities were affected, except sewerage facilities, and there was only one known flood-connected death. Residents were returning to their homes Saturday, and the big cleanup is under way.

No estimates of damage have been made. The area under water consists largely of middle-class residences in the east end. Most of the city's better homes are in the west and south sides.

Mikoyan Hints Reds May Extend Berlin Deadline

Twelve Are Still Missing

AP Wirephoto

THREE OF THE THIRTY-THREE LUCKY ONES—Michael Mackachinus, Joe Kislevich and Al Smelster (from left) are served coffee at the Pittston (Pa.) City Hospital after their rescue from flooded mine. Thirty-three coal miners were rescued after the Susquehanna River tore through a cliff and flooded the mine. Twelve miners are still missing.

Still Seek 12 Missing Miners

Fear Gas May Escape Flooded Mine

PITTSON, Pa. (AP) — New problems faced the Wyoming Valley of northeastern Pennsylvania today even as rescue workers continued efforts to reach 12 trapped miners and to stem the steady flow of the Susquehanna River into the valley's coal mines.

Fears were expressed that the river waters pouring into a mine breech in nearby Port Griffith would force poisonous and explosive coal gas to the surface.

★ ★ ★

Councilman Anthony Wycallis of Duryea cautioned residents to keep cellar windows open so that any gas forced to the surface can escape rather than accumulate inside homes.

Twelve mines have been closed as the river waters bubbled unseen through the maze of tunnels criss-crossing under the valley.

★ ★ ★

Little hope remained for the men missing in the flooded workings of the Knox Coal Co. mine in Port Griffith since the Susquehanna burst into a mine tunnel Thursday.

Of the 45 men working at the time, all but the missing 12 made their way to safety through nearby shafts before the rising waters blocked their escape.

A handful of relatives and friends maintained a long, lonely vigil on the slim hope that a chance turn in the blackened tunnels may have led some of the missing to higher ground.

★ ★ ★

Daniel H. Connelly, deputy state secretary of mines, said that unless the breech can be closed, the millions of gallons of river water pouring through "can put all the mines in the valley out of operation."

★ ★ ★

The state and federal government pledged their financial aid to the stricken area. President Eisenhower and Gov. David L. Lawrence declared the region a disaster area, thereby making it eligible for federal aid.

Snowy Surprise Perils Motorists

Pontiac and Southern Michigan Roads Very Slippery After Fall

An unexpected concentrated snowfall this morning made streets in-and-around Pontiac and highways throughout the southern part of the state extremely slippery today.

Although earlier forecasts by the U.S. Weather Bureau called for only occasional "light snow," the snow began falling at 9 a.m. and continued uninterrupted past noon.

A later bulletin early this afternoon predicted that 2-4 inches of new snow would fall in the Pontiac area today. The high temperature today will be about 20, with a low of 14 tonight. A high of 24 was forecast for Sunday.

The snow was expected to subside by early this evening. Winds will be southerly today, tonight and tomorrow at 10-16 m.p.h.

The nation's coldest spots today were Sault Ste. Marie and Gladwin, where the mercury dipped to 14 below.

Oakland County highways were reported snow covered and extremely slippery in all sections. The Pontiac State Police post reported an average of two calls every five minutes this morning asking about road conditions.

The forecast for Sunday in the Pontiac area called for a few light snow flurries, with partly cloudy skies.

All travel south through Ohio was discouraged. Floods, snow and freezing water across highways, including the turnpike, had made driving almost impossible in many sections.

Flood Prevents Saving of Burning Warehouse

From Our News Wires

MEADVILLE, Pa. — Firemen stood by helplessly early today as flames swept through a warehouse in this flood-stricken northwestern Pennsylvania city of 25,000.

Firemen said the blaze broke out early this morning in the warehouse and office of the Race Street Lumber Co. in a flooded section of the city.

The fire fighters used three amphibious vehicles to get to the scene, but were unable to play any water on the burning structures because hydrants were frozen and under water. Floating cakes of ice also hampered the firemen.

"We just had to stand there and watch them go up in smoke," one fireman commented. The fire burned itself out after sweeping through the warehouse, office and several piles of lumber.

Cause of the blaze was not determined. A damage estimate wasn't available, but unofficial sources indicated it may reach in the hundred thousands. No one was injured.

Ice and debris-laden floodwaters swept over levees and flood walls in sections of Ohio and Pennsylvania, chasing 25,000 persons from their homes in twin disasters that brought swift action from the White House.

President Eisenhower Friday night declared flood-stricken regions of the two states disaster areas and authorized immediate federal aid in reply to pleas from Govs. Michael V. Disalle of Ohio and David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania.

★ ★ ★

Ohio, alone, had a preliminary damage estimate of more than 83 million dollars.

Some other conservative damage estimates were placed at 12 million in New York, 3 million in Sharon, Pa., and another 2 million for mine rescue operations around Pittston, Pa.

Some 107 deaths were blamed on weather-caused traffic accidents, exposure, exhaustion, floods and tornadoes. The count began with the first weather barrage Tuesday.

Ohio led the nation with at least 18 deaths. Wisconsin was next with 17, Illinois 13, Michigan 12, New York 10, Indiana 9, Kentucky and Pennsylvania 5 each, Iowa 4, Missouri and Oklahoma 3, Kansas, New Mexico and Texas 2, and Washington and North Dakota 1.

Near-zero temperatures plagued thousands of volunteer flood workers, including National Guard reinforcements, as they struggled through the night to restore broken levees and rescue stranded families.

★ ★ ★

The rampaging Scioto River washed away a levee at historic Chillicothe, Ohio, putting one-third of the city under water in its worst flood disaster since 1913.

Ten thousand persons were left homeless in Ohio's first capital, while another 10,000 Ohioans evacuated their dwellings as swollen rivers cascaded over their banks elsewhere in the state.

★ ★ ★

At Zanesville, already dealt a million-dollar blow by floodwaters, a major fire erupted in the business district early Saturday, enveloping six stores and threatening an entire half-block of business buildings.

Every available man abandoned moping-up exercises to combat the new attack.

Fliers in 51st Day of World Record Endurance Flight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two fliers, stiff and sore from seven weeks in a cramped cabin, droned on today to a new world record for an endurance flight.

★ ★ ★

Robert Timm, 32, Las Vegas, and John Cook, 33, Los Angeles, passed the old record of 50 days, 18 minutes at 4:09 p.m. Friday. They kept right on toward their goal of 60 days. The fliers are helping promote a Cancer Fund drive.

★ ★ ★

"We may stay up now until the engine stops running," Timm crowed. "You can be sure we won't be down in less than another 10 days."

They went on with their four hours on, four hours off stints piloting a single-engine Cessna 172 in the Blythe, Ariz.-Las Vegas areas. They were jubilant, if tired.

Fiery Nightmare Kills 3, Injures 52

MONROE, La. (UPI)—Three were dead today and 52 injured because they had been drawn either by work or curiosity to the fiery derailment of a freight train.

A Missouri Pacific railroad freight caught fire when it was derailed yesterday. Firefighters swung into action and a crowd of 150 onlookers gathered by nightfall.

During the blaze a tank car of liquid butane exploded, hurling flames and metal fragments at wrecking crews, firemen and spectators.

"I heard people screaming and saw them running with their clothes and hair on fire," switchman L. V. Cascio said. He was standing 150 yards away. His clothes were singed and his ear burned.

"The flames mushroomed outward, and touched earth again about 300 yards away. Those farther away were the ones that got it bad," he said.

★ ★ ★

Firemen still fought a blaze this morning which crept dangerously near another derailed car containing hydrocarbon.

Thirty-two victims of the blast were still hospitalized, 17 of them in critical condition, from the butane explosion.

Estimates of damages caused by the spree of explosions ran as high as a million dollars.

NONE HURT AT FIRST

No one was injured earlier in the day when 33 cars jumped the track, setting off fires and explosions, which destroyed 30 of the cars. Flames shot hundreds of feet into the sky during the first explosion.

★ ★ ★

Police and firemen had warned sight-seers to stay away from the scene. Authorities said the second and fatal blast last night resounded over a five-mile area.

New York Grand Jury Charges Murder in Motel Pipe-Slaying

A murder indictment against Eleanor Joann Wilson, 21, of Pontiac was handed down yesterday by a Monroe County (N.Y.) grand jury in the beating of a Syracuse salesman in a suburban motel last month.

Indicted along with Miss Wilson, formerly a night club entertainer and mother of two children, was Joseph J. Sobb Jr., 21, of Rochester, N.Y.

The salesman, George Fisher, 46, died as a result of the Dec. 23 beating.

Naming Sobb as the killer, Miss Wilson told police she met the salesman in a bar and went to a motel with him. She left Fisher at the motel, found Sobb and told him the salesman had a valuable ring.

Sobb obtained a piece of lead pipe at a service station, and the pair returned to the motel, Miss Wilson said. She claims she waited outdoors while Sobb went into the motel.

At first, she denied knowledge of both the robbery and beating.

Accuse Worker of Embezzling Firm's $124,431

DETROIT (UPI)—Allan S. Fowler, who was honored as a "faithful" worker when he retired last summer, has been accused of embezzling $124,431.63 from the Telephone Employes Credit Union which he managed in Detroit.

Fowler, 69, was arrested in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he and his family moved Aug. 22, 1958, after leaving the manager's job he held for 17 years.

At a dinner in his honor when he retired, credit union officials presented him with a year's salary, $9,000, for "faithful service to the credit union."

Judge W. Mckay Skillman signed a warrant yesterday which specifically charged Flowe with embezzlement of $2,382.47 from May 15, 1958 to July 19, 1958.

John T. Lenhardt, a member of the board of directors and treasurer of the credit union, made the complaint against Fowler after a four-month audit of the books.

Lenhardt described Fowler as usually quiet-mannered, but with a fierce temper and a "stickler about the honesty and efficiency of people who worked for him."

Legislator Dies, GOP Gets Edge

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Democrat Dingman, Brings 55-54 Margin

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LANSING — Death of a Detroit lawmaker has upset the balance of power in the evenly-split House and dimmed Democratic hopes of overthrowing GOP control.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Fred R. Dingman (D-Detroit), 69, who suffered a stroke in August and barely was well enough to be sworn into a ninth term Jan. 14, died yesterday of a heart attack while watching television in his home.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has indicated he will wait until after Dingman's funeral Tuesday before announcing plans for a special election.

State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery said it would be possible to pick Dingman's successor at the April 6 election.

But Says West Must Negotiate in Near Future

Stresses Willingness of Soviet Union to Hear Counter Proposals

From Our News Wires

MOSCOW—Russia indicated today it might be prepared to suspend its May 27 deadline for turning over its controls in Berlin to the Communist East German government, provided the West agrees to begin negotiations before that time.

The hint was given by Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan in his first conference with the Moscow press corps since his return from a coast-to-coast tour of the United States.

Emphasizing the Soviet Union's readiness to listen to counter proposals from the Western powers, Mikoyan said in reply to a correspondent's question:

"The fact that we set a deadline on Berlin is nothing abnormal because negotiations cannot go on indefinitely. The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks. If there is good will on the Western side, negotiations could be prolonged for a few days or a few months."

This statement was interpreted here as an indication that the Soviet Union might be willing to extend the deadline set in notes to the Western powers last November if East-West negotiations are under way by that time.

(East German Communist strongman Walter Ulbricht in an interview with UPI correspondent Joseph B. Fleming in Berlin yesterday said it is "absolutely certain" that the Soviets will carry out their plan to hand over all of its "control functions" to the Communist regime by May 30.)

During the conference, Mikoyan made clear his belief that the U.S. government was lagging behind American "political leaders," and "business circles" on the issue of expanding Soviet-American relations.

And he also "noted with satisfaction that in contrast with the recent past, U.S. political leaders have also expressed themselves in favor of improving Soviet-American relations, stressing here the necessity and usefulness of contacts and discussions at all levels."

He added, however, that these views "have not yet found expression in any practical steps by the U.S. government."

With Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko presiding, Mikoyan expressed appreciation to American business leaders and others who entertained him. He criticized the State Department, saying it was backward in seeking to end the cold war.

"Our government has been satisfied by the attention shown by President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles as well as by other officials," Mikoyan said.

"Our government will reply with the same warm hospitality to Americans when they will come to the Soviet Union."

Cuban Court Considering Death Sentence Appeal

HAVANA (AP)—An appeal court considered today the death sentence given in a circus setting at the first public war crimes trial. The two remaining showcase trials were postponed until Monday.

Revolutionary leader Fidel Castro reportedly suggested a radio and television blackout on the other trials in an apparent effort to avoid too much public excitement. An aroused crowd threatened the next two defendants Friday.

Foreign correspondents invited to the trials had criticized the carnival atmosphere of the trial which opened Thursday before 17,000 Cubans and ended Friday morning with many still watching on television.

A sampling of opinion among the 322 foreign newsmen reported to be here indicated agreement with the legal procedure used, however. Better understanding abroad of the provisional government's aims was foreseen as a result of the public trials.

Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, 51, a career army man, was convicted on charges of murdering at least 25 persons in Oriente province, scene of the bitterest fighting in Castro's two-year rebellion that overthrew dictator Fulgencio Batista on Jan. 1.

The 3-man military tribunal that convicted Sosa Blanco sentenced him to die before a firing squad. The tribunal president, Maj. Humberto Sori Marin, announced that a 5-member Superior War Council had agreed to hear Sosa Blanco's appeal.

There was no indication when the appeal court would reach a verdict.

The condemned man's wife Amelia visited him Friday in La Cabana Fortress. "I can't believe everything that was said about him at the trial," she later told U. S. newsmen.

She said she wanted to ask through the press more time "to find witnesses for my husband and to find out if it all is true." The defense did not call any witnesses at his trial. The prosecution called 45.

Both Sides Ready to Finish Cases in Murder Trial

The prosecution and defense are scheduled to present their closing arguments Tuesday in the first-degree murder trial of Raymond L. Alyea, accused of killing a Southfield nursery caretaker.

★ ★ ★

A Circuit Court jury of eight women and five men has been listening to testimony since Jan. 8 before Judge William J. Beer.

Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang, who had called 25 witnesses, will seek to show in his closing statement that the 35-year-old ex-convict from Detroit killed Anthony Jasinski July 31 after robbing him.

★ ★ ★

William R. Beasley, court-appointed attorney for Alyea, a combat Marine Corps veteran, will attempt to convince the jury that Alyea walked in on a robbery of Jasinski and fled, afraid he might be implicated and returned to prison as a parole violator.

★ ★ ★

The jury is expected to receive its instructions from Judge Beer after the closing arguments.

Other hundreds tried to give needed blood donations, for which the hospital had sent an emergency call.

Many victims were brought in on makeshift stretchers and treated in halls. The emergency room filled to overflowing.

The explosion swept one derailed tank car across adjoining U.S. 195, which was closed to traffic by State Police.

The dead were reported burned beyond physical recognition. Only one victim was finally identified. He was O. C. Mitchell, of Lake Village, Ark.

AUTOS BLOCK AMBULANCES

Cars of the hundreds of spectators also figured in difficulties of ambulance drivers who shuttled the blast victims to Monroe hospitals. They lined much of the five-mile strip of highway between this north Louisiana city and the blast site, causing a traffic jam.

A journal box on the axle of one car on the Missouri Pacific train overheated and caused the derailment.

A. R. Liles, a Monroe fire captain, said he was walking away about half a block from the burning pile of railway wreckage when the blast triggered.

He left, he said, when he saw flames start to spew from the car.

"A wall of flame shot across a cotton field," he said. "After the explosion, I saw the flames and didn't look back."

Liles' hair was singed and his coat burned.

Railroad officials indicated they planned to let the fire burn out rather than continue trying to extinguish it because of difficulty in getting anybody near.

Mrs. Hunsinger was scheduled to be sworn in by Supreme Court Justice George Edwards during a bedside ceremony at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital today and was expected in Lansing soon.

★ ★ ★

Only hours before Dingman died, Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, Dingman's running mate in the 10th Wayne County House district and Democratic floor leader, had vowed a determined bid to upset Republican House rule.

"The day will come when more Democrats than Republicans will answer to (daily attendance) roll call and when that day comes we'll see what can be done," Kowalski said.

If Democrats took over, he said, he felt sure they would stay in the saddle through 1960.

Odds favor election of a Democrat to fill the 10th District seat Dingman has held for 16 years. Dingman had 30,140 votes and Kowalski 29,347 Nov. 4 in the two-seat district where Republican candidates got totals of 23,853 and 23,502.

army men. The trials finally were set for Monday afternoon after first being delayed 24 hours.

THREATENED BY CROWD

Their trials are scheduled in the 17,000-seat Sports Palace where Sosa Blanco was tried. Morejon and Grao were brought to the Sports Palace Friday before the first postponement.

They were threatened by a crowd as they were being taken out to return to La Cabana Prison.

An estimated 400 persons surrounded their car, making hostile gestures and whistling and jeering. Troops brought their rifles to the ready position, army trucks carrying more troops took up positions around the car, and the defendants were driven away without a direct clash.

Some 1,000 other prisoners still are being held for trials in the Havana area. The provisional government is expected to admit some newsmen to those trials while keeping out the masses.

Trials continued elsewhere in Cuba. More than 250 persons have been reported executed. Castro has said that not more than 400 will die for what he charges were 20,000 murders during Batista's six-year dictatorship. Reports continued to come in from Oriente of discovery of bodies, believed to be the result of Batista's police work.

In Caracas, Venezuela, where he is making a good will tour, Castro asserted "we will continue to do justice for the crimes committed during the Batista dictatorship . . . (even though) our country is suffering the most criminal, cowardly and vile campaign ever conducted against a people."

"Even though the world sinks, there will be justice in Cuba," he told a wildly cheering crowd of 100,000 in the Venezuelan capitol. He arrived in Caracas yesterday and received a hero's welcome.

Martin's Gift Turned Into Political Issue by Solon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joe Martin's spanking-new $11,000 limousine, an "Auld Lang Syne" gift from the House membership, appears to have become a political issue.

Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) is telling the voters back home that Democrats got the House to provide the chauffeur-driven Cadillac to the ousted GOP leader "just to embarrass Republicans."

Ayres said 22 constituents have written him to protest the decision to keep Martin supplied at taxpayer expense with the limousine and extra clerical help that normally goes only with the floor leader's position.

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) said there was no foundation to Ayres' charge. "I thought it was the decent and proper thing to do," he told a reporter.

Ayres wrote his constituents that McCormack's resolution to provide Martin with the car was approved at the very time that "a movement was under way among Republicans to present a car to Mr. Martin through private contributions."

Therefore, he wrote, "the resolution was clearly political and calculated to embarrass Republicans . . . let us hope it is no indication of the manner in which your money will be appropriated during the next two years by the 86th Congress."

★ ★ ★

McCormack's office said the Democratic leader has received about 50 letters commenting on the House action two weeks ago and "90 per cent of them were favorable."

"Ayres' letter is amusing in its distortion of the truth," McCormack said.

He noted there were two House-adopted resolutions — the one he sponsored to provide Martin with a government-owned limousine and the other sponsored by the new GOP leader, Charles A. Halleck (Ind), to allow Martin the extra clerical help.

The two resolutions together cost the government about $40,000.

Both resolutions were approved in advance by the Republican and Democratic leadership, McCormack said, and they were passed by unanimous consent.

Ayres was a member of the insurgent group that ousted Martin and installed Halleck.

Martin himself said that he has received letters from about 4,000 people expressing their sorrow over his ouster by rank-and-file insurgents. He said he would send a personal reply to each.

★ ★ ★

He said he had received less than a dozen letters commenting on the limousine, but more than half were critical.

★ ★ ★

One of Ayres' correspondents, Roy E. Vernon, of Akron, Ohio, enclosed a one dollar bill and suggested that Ayres pass it around to his colleagues who may have "forgotten what a dollar looks like."

Vernon asked Ayres to return the dollar because "no matter how small it is I still need it—unless you feel that Joe needs it more." Ayres returned the dollar.

Village Players Will Do Comedy 'Born Yesterday'

BIRMINGHAM—For their second public performance of the season, the Village Players of Birmingham have selected the long-run Broadway comedy, "Born Yesterday."

Four performances will be given on Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 6 and 7. Curtain time is 9 p.m.

Playing the male lead of Harry Brook, wealthy junk dealer, is Granville O. Ryan. He has done writing for radio and is now active in producing television shows in Detroit. He has directed former Players hits "Anastasia" and "Come Back Little Sheba."

Tryouts for the feminine lead of Bille Dawn were won by Myra Lee MacPherson. A journalism graduate of Michigan State University, she also is a writer for radio and television and has appeared on Detroit television shows.

Members of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Zonta Club will have a dinner meeting Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the Community House.

Basing their program on their principle theme, the furtherance of aviation for women, they will have George Scott, executive officer of the Birmingham Civil Air Patrol program as their guest. He will talk on CAP activities and show films.

Meeting at the Community House at 10 a.m. Monday, the Ruth Shain International Relations class will hear two reports by Mrs. Joel Warren. She will speak on the changing scene in Germany based on an article written by George Kennan. Her second report will be on "The Delicate Balance of Terror."

It pays to study in grade school. At least that's what a 12-year-old Ohio boy thinks.

★ ★ ★

His grandfather, Earl Lowe of 915 Pilgrim St., promised he would take the boy on a jet airplane ride if the youth earned grades averaging B or better in elementary school.

Tomorrow, Tommy Kinsell of Rocky River, Ohio, and Lowe will fly on the nation's first commercial jet trip to Los Angeles aboard an American Airlines plane.

Tommy kept his end of the bargain during the past three years since he was in the fourth grade.

★ ★ ★

The boy, who wants to be a jet pilot, said he plans to study mathematics in college although arithmetic is his toughest subject in grade school.

Pontiac Water Consumption Rises in 1958

Pontiac's using more water than ever.

During 1958, the Water Department pumped 3,435,022,000 gallons, or 70,539,000 gallons more than the year before.

The average amount pumped every 24 hours was 9,411,000 gallons, according to H. G. Parker, assistant water superintendent.

One reason for the increase was an increase in the number of water users.

★ ★ ★

There were 374 new meters installed last year, 154 stubs and 773 feet of water main, pushing the city's total water main footage to 1,162,768 feet, Parker reported.

During the year, departmental servicemen made 2,200 calls to turn water on or off.

The department's big job was in connection with the Perry street widening project. Forty-one water services were renewed, 37 stubs installed and 125 service lines were cleaned out and extended, substantially increasing water pressure to Perry street homes, Parker said.

As a result of the curb box survey program, 820 curb boxes were repaired, he said.

More than 3,000 soldiers from foreign countries have attended the U.S. Army's Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., since the training program began in 1950.

SHUN SYMPATHY

J. L. VOORHEES

Sympathy is all right in its place but not as one of the building blocks to sturdy manhood. As children all games were contests and if we lost, we quickly found an excuse; our antagonist had an advantage, or didn't follow the rules, or we stumbled, or the sun was in our eyes; our parents sympathized, soothed our ego, we liked it and took that sympathy to manhood. Now we vote yet we cling to rationalization for defeat.

M. E. SIPLE

Shun sympathy. Treat it as you would any enemy. Face life as you find it; win if you can but if defeat comes your way accept it with fortitude and good cheer. Shun the warm shoulder of sympathy; it's debilitating.

Sea-Water Birds, Turtles, Reptiles Weep Salt Away

NEW YORK—Researchers have found that sea birds and turtles and other salt-water reptiles have kidneys that can't eliminate high concentrations of salt, and skins that can't eliminate salt at all, yet they drink only sea water.

They eliminate the salt they must take in by weeping salty tears. Marine birds and several species of marine reptiles, including the loggerhead turtle, diamond-back terrapin, and marine iguana, have salt glands that secrete fluids with double the salt concentration of sea water.

In most species the salt glands are located near the eye and discharge into the corner of the eye; in the marine iguana, the salty fluid is discharged as a fine spray from the nostrils.

His survivors include seven sons and two daughters. His wife died in 1952.

London Loves Its Piccadilly

Famous 'Circus' Being Remodeled but Garish Neon Signs Win Out

LONDON (UPI) — Officials planning to rebuild London's Piccadilly Circus had to choose between sin, signs and garish glitter or dull, dead respectability.

They chose the former — and millions of Londoners cheered.

Picadilly Circus, described as a "beautiful, valgar mess," is to live on in its present form. The thousands of flashing neon lights advertising everything from the beer that is "good for you" to sexy movies (that may not be) will still illuminate "the hub of the empire."

And the street walkers will still ply their trade in the shadow of Eros, the god of love.

Only a few dissenting voices were heard when the London County Council decided not to make any major changes when rebuilding plans came up for discussion. The dissenters were mostly architects. "A neon hell," was one description of the famous intersection. "Tear it down," they demanded.

★ ★ ★

"What I see in Picadilly Circus today strikes me not as being anything beneficial to the British Empire, but an absolute degradation," said Tom Braddock, an architect.

"How can anyone say that there is anything gay, looking at the garish, vulgar advertising matter which surrounds Piccadilly Circus?"

County Councillor Miss Lesley Nettlefold took up the challenge. "Piccadilly Circus is a beautiful mess . . . I know it is garish and vulgar but let us be vulgar and garish and all those things at least at one place in London . . . Hands off Piccadilly Circus."

While the Circus will be retained as a center of London's entertainment world, long-term plans call for the demolition of many old buildings, including the famous Criterion Corner and the London Pavillion movie theater.

New buildings that incorporate illuminated signs in the display will be erected. Underground parking lots and new roads also will be installed

Despite these changes, there will be no "farewell, Piccadilly, goodbye . . ." For no place in all of London, or anywhere in the world where Londoners gather, is so much talked about, so much criticized, and so much loved, as Piccadilly Circus.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Mikoyan Spoke Convincingly but He Actually Said Nothing

This glib tongued MIKOYAN put an amazing case of double talk on TV Sunday night.

Every question that he couldn't answer frankly received the ancient treatment. He talked rapidly and positively without facing the tough subjects at all. In the evasive answers he spoke vigorously and nodded his head to suggest he was "right into the matter." But he was miles and miles away. For those that didn't hear him, I'll make up a sample:

★ ★ ★

QUESTION: "Will Russia give the Hungarians their freedom?"

MIKOYAN: "Russia is deeply sympathetic with all countries everywhere. The Hungarians are no exception and I assure you of that. (Nods head sharply.) We always have their best interests at heart and their progress under our strong leadership is very evident. We are their friends and we admire their glorious history. I am sure this attitude on the part of Russia will be received with applause around the entire world."

★ ★ ★

Well, is there any answer there? Not one smidgeon. He ducks the direct question entirely. His reply is just plain, unvarnished gobbledygook and yet a lot of Americans "ate it up." They thought the guy was tremendous and "was speaking very frankly." Sure. He spoke frankly. But frankly ABOUT WHAT?

★ ★ ★

If he never comes back, it will be too soon.

Oops! . . . . . .

It's here!

The rebuke I drew from ROSCOE BONISTEEL was gentler than I anticipated. In this column I called the Ann Arbor stalwart a Democrat.

Imagine! A boner like that!

And ROSCOE a truly great man.

Anyhooooooo, a very kindly letter says he is certain now that he "has viewed educational policies without political emphasis but rather for the good of education and the University."

ROSCOE, I guaranteed the sanctity of your nonpartisan position.

★ ★ ★

O. K., but now I stand before Mr. Bonisteel, bowed and bloody—cut and bleeding. The old noggin is down. I'm filled with humility and repentance.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS clipping ROSCOE received was mailed from the Philippines. I was aware our circulation in the far Pacific was strengthening, but I actually didn't know we'd crash those distant islands. EARL TREADWELL'S men must be on the ball.

Gas Tax Opposed . . . . . .

"Senator" MCNAMARA must have gotten the nod from back home. He's against the gasoline tax.

★ ★ ★

The cent and a half addition is one of Eisenhower's methods of balancing the budget. Of course, the fast spenders prefer to saddle additional sums on the taxpayers over the years ahead. The free loaders are always willing to shut their eyes to tomorrow and "pile it on."

★ ★ ★

In spite of his bonafide membership in the Senate, it's hard to believe that MCNAMARA carries much weight. But what "power" he does have will be tossed against the gas tax.

I still believe Senator HART will do his own thinking on this question—and everything else.

My old friend JOHN STEWART called and said he wanted to endorse the sentiments expressed in last Saturday's editorial about MIKOYAN. "I agree with your appraisal of the scamp," said JOHN. It's always pleasant to have sound thinkers and students of current affairs like STEWART backing you up. Many, many people have approved.

And in Conclusion . . . . .

You've seen your last Friday night fight on TV. Basketball will fill in to "see how it goes." . . . . . Overheard in the bank lobby: "Yes, vision is definitely affected by glasses—especially after they've been filled and emptied several times." . . . . . I always get a big kick out of the Associated Press' bad debts. For 1959 they show: Argentina, Egypt, France, Italy, Japan, Singapore, Texas, Iowa and Missouri. The total was negligible—less than $2,000 for an organization that is active in seventy odd countries.

★ ★ ★

New York City says Jackie Robinson, former Brooklyn ball player, is being groomed for a political post that could make him the first Negro mayor of New York City. . . . . A Boston radio station defied an unwritten rule and spouted hard liquor commercials. But it dropped them after the protests poured in. . . . . Archie Moore is writing songs. The current one is "Mid December." Actress Joy Harmon, 18, wants to change her name to "Joy Forty Two." Her private measurements are an astounding 42-22-35. "Forty Two is a catchy name," says she, "and it's a symbol to make people remember me." Joy, honey, that 42 will make 'em remember, even if you call yourself Phgytycheegegsky.

★ ★ ★

"The Last Voyage," a movie in preparation, revolves around the sinking of a giant ocean liner. The Isle de France has just been retired from service and if they can buy it at junk price, the famous ship will actually be sunk in the ocean as the cameras grind away . . . . . HARRY WISMER, well known in Oakland County, has just been elected a director of Texas American Oil Corporation. He had a million dollar TV scheme cooked up in the Caribbean when revolutionary forces chilled the deal.

★ ★ ★

Memo to my gals Friday and April: See if you can get our readers a photo of that 42-22-35 damsel. Those figures challenge credulity . . . . . Purely personal nomination for an all around feminine bearcat: Mary Anette Flint . . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's: Pontiac Central debating team; the J's: Mikoyan.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Amos Alonzo Stagg was busy raking leaves when I pulled into the driveway of his Stockton, Calif., home. Now 96, the grand old man of football is far from retired. He still coaches kicking and punting at Stockton Junior College, carrying on an incredible career that began more than 70 years ago.

"By all odds," he said, "faith has been the most important thing in my life."

Stagg explained that his life lacked meaning and purpose before he joined the Presbyterian Church in his youth. The son of a poor cobbler, he worked his way through high school and then through Yale University by living in Spartan simplicity. He developed his legs by running to class in the cold because he had no overcoat.

While studying for the ministry, he pitched Yale to five national baseball championships, praying with each pitch: "God, help me to do my best."

After graduating, Stagg perceived that because he lacked preaching talent he could do his best for God and man on the athletic field, molding young bodies and minds.

A leading sports figure in the century, Stagg contributed the head slide to baseball and the tackling dummy to football, but he counts his greatest contributions in whatever particles of faith he has been able to transmit to the thousands of boys who have played on his teams down through the years.

Day of All Faiths

Week Aims at Influencing Youth

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Youth, more than any other part of life, is a time of choices. What the adolescent decides on any given day matters much more than a similar decision made at the age of say, 35 or 55.

★ ★ ★

To boys and girls living in this crucial period, Youth Week in its 1959 theme puts squarely the challenging question, "Dare we live in the household of God?"

Sponsored by the National Council of Churches, Youth Week extends from Jan. 25 to Feb. 1, including both Sundays. Its purpose is to put the difficult problems of young people in the forefront in the thinking of both church and community.

Printed materials provided by the National Council for the week-long emphasis are aimed at helping youngsters consider, under Christian guidance, the nature and purpose of the church, and the risks and rewards of life within the avowed family of God.

★ ★ ★

CHANGE OF MIND

Moved from Sunday because the third Sunday before Lent outranks it in the calendar, Monday commemorates the conversion of St. Paul, which took place along the road as he journey to Damascus with an order in his pocket to round up all the Christians in that city and bring them, bound, to Jerusalem for trial. Until that dramatic moment Paul, known then as Saul of Tarsus, had been the new church's most violent enemy.

There is no good reason why this particular day should have been selected for this festival. No one knows the actual date of Paul's experience.

We do, however, know two things about it from his own testimony. In I Corinthians, chapter 15, verse 8, he tells us flatly that he saw the risen Lord. And in Galatians, chapter 1, verses 11 to 16, he states that he then and there was commissioned to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles. On the basis of this be an apostle, implying that he had experience Paul made his claim to a directive equal to that of the 12 original apostles.

★ ★ ★

Some of Paul's contemporaries contested this claim. Because a man named Ananias (see Acts, chapter 9, verses 10 to 18) came into the story as the agent of Paul's baptism, these antagonists said the commission was from man and not from Jesus and therefore was not the same as that received by the 12.

★ ★ ★

But there are two other accounts in Acts, and one (chapter 22, verses 3 to 21) says the commission came from both Ananias and the Lord, and the other (chapter 26, verses 9 to 20) makes it appear that Paul had his orders from Jesus right there on the road to Damascus. The question is not very important any more—Paul is now universally known as Paul the Apostle.

He himself, however, deprecates his status, when he calls himself "the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God." (I Corinthians, chapter 15, verse 9.)

'Second-Hand' Smoking Big Headache for Reader

You are welcome to attend our weekend quiz. Please limit queries to matters of general physiology, hygiene, nutrition, and cause or prevention of disease. Questions pertaining to diagnosis or treatment of individual cases are out of order here.

DR. BRADY

Q. "For years I wore glasses because the optometrist said my headaches were from eyestrain. Finally it occurred to me that the headaches developed only when I was confined for hours in a smoke laden atmosphere. I discarded the glasses and never have a headache anymore when I can manage to avoid card parties where everybody smokes. Is this reasonable or just my funny notion?"

Answer—Some persons are hypersensitive to tobacco smoke, just as others are to pollen, egg white, quinine or orris root. So I should say your inference is a reasonable one. In a smoke filled room you would inhale as much carbon monoxide as the smoker does, and headache is the first warning of carbon monoxide anoxia.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I have been reading your column for a long time and I wonder why you so studiously avoid discussing the subject of colitis, when so many people suffer . . ."

★ ★ ★

Answer—First, because the question pertains to diagnosis and treatment. Second, because in most instances people who suffer with the colitis obsession have no colitis. Especially no "mucous colitis." And finally because I have to follow the injunction of Hippocrates: Do Good If You Can, But Do No Harm. So please send me 35 cents and a stamped envelope bearing your address, for my booklet The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene instead of asking me to talk about colitis in the paper.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Is Long or Short Prayer Better?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Joel brings out the fact that colleges and graduate schools rely heavily on the daily newspaper to furnish ideas. And the fact his seminary professor disagrees with one of my cases vetoing long prayers, shows the value of newspapers in stimulating debate. Do you readers prefer long or short prayers in the pulpit? Do you side with this Garrett professor or with me?

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," he began, "one of my professors disagrees violently with your idea that public prayers should be short.

CRANE

"He has clipped your column from our Chicago DAILY NEWS and has pinned it to the bulletin board with his veto thereon.

"Most of us students are on your side, but we must render nominal assent to our professor for we have to make good grades, you know."

NEWSPAPER EDUCATION

Newspapers render a big service to colleges by offering challenging ideas.

Hundreds of colleges use this column regularly in their classrooms. Sometimes the professors agree heartily.

And at other times they disagree just as vigorously. That is a good thing, too, for the truth is much like wheat. It is revealed only when opposite forces come together to thresh the chaf away.

"When two men in a business always agree," said the late William Wrigley Jr., "one of them is unnecessary."

★ ★ ★

A good newspaper thus encourages debate and sincere arguments. It furnishes stimulating ideas and challenges outmoded views.

And newspaper writers welcome such differences of opinion. All that a writer asks is that you quote his views correctly before you take issue with him.

As regards long prayers, for example, I mentioned that a clergyman loses much of his forensic effectiveness during prayer, for his audience then closes its eyes.

Thus, they lose the effect of his gestures, facial expression and movements.

★ ★ ★

Furthermore, Jesus had no fondness for long prayers, as indicated in Mark 12:40, when Christ indicted the scribes "Which devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayers."

Again, Christ said in Luke 20:40, ". . . and for a show make long prayers." When he taught his disciples thee Lord's Prayer, he limited it to about 65 words.

If there were a great virtue in long prayers in public, would not Jesus have given his disciples a long prayer instea of one that takes less than 30 seconds to utter?

BREVITY BY PREACHERS

Dr. Charles Ray Goff, pastor of Chicago's skyscraper Loop Temple, routinely concludes his Sunday morning sermon with a 10-second prayer.

★ ★ ★

Last week I counted the words in it, and it ran to 28.

Even Lincoln's Gettysburg address can be uttered in three minutes and Christ's famous Sermon on the Mount takes about nine minutes.

When we propose to our sweethearts, we use short, simple language, such as, "I love you. Will you be my wife?" No long winded rambling.

Similarly, Jesus urged us to pray in private, as in our closet, and then added:

"But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking."

★ ★ ★

Since long prayers hamper a speaker's effectiveness for the psychological reasons mentioned above, and since Christ vetoed them, what are your arguments for long prayers, Mr. Garrett Professor?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

I would like to show my appreciation for the high quality that has been maintained in the funny section of The Pontiac Press.

I've read the paper for about 15 years and very seldom have I seen anything objectionable.

Lately I've had the opportunity to read other newspapers and it occurred to me that it must take a lot of work to maintain such a standard.

'Eastman Opposition Is to Be Expected'

I've lived here 22 years and I'm for Mr. Eastman. When a crime situation has grown so bad and become a stalemate as this one has, let's back this man. We all know Eastman has nothing against Mr. Straley personally.

★ ★ ★

It's a very hard job to come to Pontiac to clean out crime and graft, and he probably expected the strong opposition he's getting. I realize he's made some mistakes, but let's weigh the good with the bad and study final results.

★ ★ ★

Things are coming to a head and charges must be filed against Mr. Straley. If he stays, we may as well send Eastman back and put up with the situation as it was before we hired him.

'We Berate Castro Yet Dine Mikoyan'

It disturbs me to watch our Congressmen throw up their hands in horror at executions enforced by Castro while we wine and dine one of the more reprehensible representatives of the government with the bloodiest hands in all history. At the same time they ask people here to treat him with utmost courtesy. I would think such an attitude would turn the stomach of any decent man as well as make him take a long, hard look at the people he's elected to represent him in his government. I Swan

'Sunday Beer Ban Will Do No Good'

I fail to see how intelligent people can go along on this Sunday beer ban. Anyone even remotely connected with law, order and decency knows prohibition was the downward turning point of American lawlessness and moral degradation.

★ ★ ★

Do Commissioner Miles and the Pastors' Association really think that bootleggers won't spring up in every block and that decent people won't start bootlegging as they did before. Licensed trade pays innumerable taxes to the City and will be the only sufferer.

★ ★ ★

The Sunday ban will not curtail one drink, because it will be available in a ten-minute ride from the heart of the City.

'Here's My Opinion on Mr. Mikoyan'

My opinion of Mr. Mikoyan: naive, if he thinks he fooled anyone; juvenile, with his answer "we didn't do it, you started it." Haven't you heard your children say this? "I didn't start it, he hit me first."

He's arrogant, rude and didn't fool me. Hope he didn't make you sick. He did me.

'Is This Situation Fair to the Boy?'

I agree with two letters recently: one said keep your mouth shut and the other that it takes courage to stick your neck out but that's what makes a community great.

★ ★ ★

A boy's being detained at the Juvenile Home because he had courage to speak up about the Waterford teacher. He isn't allowed to go back to school where he's an eleventh grade student with a good record. Would it have been better for him to keep quiet. He did a lot of praying before reaching a decision.

★ ★ ★

At the same time the teacher is out and his trial has been postponed twice. Is this justice? If he goes to court he'll probably get probation. He had already been reported and warned before, but only changed residence. The boy isn't my son but I wonder how you'd feel if your son were involved. People expressed more interest in Colossal Carlotta. Maybe they just don't care about serious matters.

He-Man Roles Come Naturally to Bromfield

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sure, sure, John Bromfield, the TV star, was very handsome in his new uniform for "U.S. Marshal"—but my eyes kept straying to his wife, lovely Lari Thomas.

WILSON

When she was a Broadway dancer to have the prettiest legs in town. And just a season or so back, she was known now as we got onto the subject of legs—John's, not hers, because he had sprained one while making a TV film—I noticed as she was pouring us tea and coffee that Lari's were still champions.

"I have to do film fights and chase guys and jump off horses, so my legs are important to me," said Bromfield, who is also "the Sheriff of Cochise" on TV.

★ ★ ★

"I suppose you have a double to do your fights?" I said.

Lari flashed me a warning look that said, "Do you want to get your head knocked off?"

LARI and JOHN

"No, I do all my own fights," the broad-shouldered, muscular Bromfield replied quietly. "And I refuse to do fights with other actors. They mostly don't know how to fight. I work best with fight doubles. They know how."

"They squawk—the sponsors—about me doing my own fights, but if you use a stunt man, you have to move back too far from the camera to be realistic."

Bromfield was a star with the St. Mary's College Galloping Gaels and a heavyweight fighter before becoming an actor. He might as well be a fighter now, waht with the rigid training schedule he has.

"I get up at 4:30 in the morning, study script for an hour, shave and shower, have breakfast, shoot from 7:30 a.m. till 6:15 p.m. . . . go to bed about 9. Saturdays and Sundays I study script. It's a seven day job. And when I'm not shooting, I'm traveling. I covered 120,000 miles since March. Somebody said I was the most traveled actor in Hollywood. It's a killer."

"If it's a killer, how long do you mean to keep it u?"

'Another two years. That will make six years. I figure, sure, you kill yourself, but by then you will have a pretty good income, and you can pick and choose what you want to do next.'

Anthony Quinn Signs Up for Film in Yugoslavia

By LOUELLA O. PARSON

HOLLYWOOD — Anthony Quinn has put his name on a contract to make a picture in Yugoslavia before the end of 1959. Robert Aldrich who will produce and direct has joined forces with the Avala Film Company of Yugoslavia. The plan is to film "Taras-Bulba. The Cossack," based on the novel by the Russian novelist Nikolai Gogol.

The story tells of the Cossack's fight for freedom from the Czar's tyranny in the Eighth Century.

If this is anything like "The Tempest" which was also filmed behind the Iron Curtain, it could very well be another fine picture. "Tempest" is doing very well abroad.

"Taras-Bulba" will be filmed in technicolor and wide screen, and place aboard a transcontinental train," says Castle, "with probably a good chilling murder in each car!"

You can't laugh off these horror movies—they're earning too much cold, hard cash at the boxoffices. Even producer William Castle was pleasantly surprised when his "House On Haunted Hill" broke all records at the Golden Gate Theater in San Francisco.

Bill has had absolutely NO trouble in selling Allied Artists on the idea of a follow-up which will be called "The Haunted Train" starring the same actor, Vincent Price.

"The whole action will take aboard a transcontinental train," says Castle, "with probably a good chilling murder in each car!"

I asked Sol Siegel if he was frightened when he received the letter from the studio pantryman demanding $100,000, or threatening to blow up the Siegel family. "Any man who wouldn't be frightened would be out of his mind," said Sol.

"I told my wife and my son about it so they wouldn't be upset when the FBI men were watching our home."

Sol said he had letters and telegrams from all over the country. The wire that amused him the most was from Nat Perrin who said: "I tell you the agents are ruining the business. Imagine a pantryman asking for $100,000!"

Utica Man Killed as Train Hits Car

Father of Two Dies at Railroad Crossing on Way to Work

STERLING TOWNSHIP—A 26-year-old Utica man was killed on his way to work yesterday when his car was demolished by a train at a railroad crossing on 18½ Mile road west of Van Dyke.

John W. Fenningsdorf, of 42030 Merrill St., was thrown out of his car when a New York Central diesel locomotive rammed the stalled or skidded vehicle. He was the father of two small children.

Center Line State Police were summoned and they said Fenningsdorf was dead on arrival at Warren Memorial Hospital.

The train was damaged but was able to continue on to Bay City less than one hour after the accident. None of the passengers on the train were injured.

Fenningsdorf was on his way to work at the Warhoop Junkyard, 7575 18½ Mile Rd., which is along side the track where the accident happened.

This was the first traffic fatality in Macomb County this year.

MRS. ROBERT H. NELSON

Catherine Casteel Saunders and Robert Henshaw Nelson were married this afternoon at Christ Church Cranbrook. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Saunders and Dr. and Mrs. Harry M. Nelson.

Nelson-Saunders Vows Said in Cranbrook Rite

St. Dunstan's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook was the scene of the wedding of Catherine Casteel Saunders and Robert Henshaw Nelson this afternoon. The Rev. William Norvell officiated at the double ring ceremony before members of the families.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rathbun Saunders of Birmingham and Dr. and Mrs. Harry Monroe Nelson of Bloomfield Hills.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight peau de soie with a rounded neckline accented with Alencon lace and pearls. The bell skirt formed a short chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a pearl tiara and she carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies and magnolia leaves.

SISTERS TAKE PART

Anne Casteel Saunders of Birmingham was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. George W. Black of Mexico, Mo., another of the bride's sisters was matron of honor.

Their identical dresses of American Beauty taffeta were fashioned with harem skirts and basques waistlines, and featured scoop necklines and three-quarter length push-up sleeves. Their headbands were flat bows of matching taffeta and they carried cascade bouquets of lilies.

The bridegroom's brother, Dr. Harry Monroe Nelson Jr. of Philadelphia, Pa., was best man. Ringbearer was Gordon Michael Black.

A family dinner at the Kingsley Inn followed the ceremony. An evening reception was held at the bride's home for relatives and friends.

HONEYMOON IN KANSAS

The bride changed to a muted green and blue plaid tweed suit with a shamrock green brushed beaver hat, sapphire blue accessories and a corsage of orchids before the couple left for a honeymoon to Manhattan, Kan. They will live there while the bridegroom works for his masters degree at Kansas State College.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Arizona where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta. The bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan State University.

Mrs. Saunders wore an ice blue peau do soie sheath dress with a matching hat and accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Nelson was dressed in a cocoa crepe dress with beige satin trim and beige hat and accessories. Both had corsages of pink camellias.

Sorority Marks Founder's Day

A Founder's Day celebration, in honor of Sophia Maier Johnson, was observed by members of Psi Chapter of Sigma Beta Sorority at the Community Services Building Thursday.

The chapter entertained guests from Milford who are forming a chapter of Sigma Beta. Sponsor for the group is Mrs. Gene Russell. Mrs. James DeFlorio was chairman of the social committee.

Spearhead of 14 Women in Congress Works Against Tremendous Odds

How important a role will women play in the new Congress? Who is the congressional "glamor girl"? This is the first of a series of articles by a noted Washington correspondent introducing you to the distaff side of Congress, telling the pleasures and pitfalls that await a woman entering Congress.

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Maybe it's hard to keep a good woman down, but voters and congressional leaders have apparently conspired to give it the old school try.

Out of 534 members of the House and Senate only 14 are of the feminine gender, despite the preponderance of women who are eligible to out-vote men at the polling booths.

GIVEN NO CHANCE

Even those victorious ladies who have run the political gauntlet and won election to the hallowed halls of Congress are never given a voice in the leadership. Few, indeed are able to capture seats on the better committees.

Women, according to some of the crusty old gentlemen who control the workings of the two houses, should not have to be heard—even if they must be seen during working hours.

★ ★ ★

By all odds the most powerful woman member of either chamber is Margaret Chase Smith, the "gentlewoman" from Maine who solely represents the distaff side in the Senate.

Petite, silver-haired, soft-spoken but firm in her views, Republican Sen. Smith succeeded her late husband in the House in 1940, but topped his own career by moving to the Senate eight years later.

★ ★ ★

Ordinarily an amiable middle-of-the-roader, Mrs. Smith captured the national spotlight a few years ago by her controversial authorship of the "Declaration of Conscience" condemning the tactics of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

MOVED FORWARD

Through hard work and the inexorable law of seniority, Mrs. Smith has now advanced to an enviable position in government. She is the fourth ranking Republican on the purse-holding appropriations committee, and third on the colorful Armed Services Committee.

★ ★ ★

Her achievements in a man's world seem less glittering, however, when compared with those of the gentlemen who took the oath with her in January 1949: Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Senators Estes Kefauver, Clinton P. Anderson, Paul H. Douglas and Hubert H. Humphrey.

Incidentally, Mrs. Smith's seniority far surpasses that of the newly-elected Senate Republican leaders Everett M. Dirksen and Thomas H. Kuchel.

★ ★ ★

By and large, GOP women in the House have fared better, and held their seats longer than their Democratic counterparts. Dean of them all is Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, class of 1925, who outranks every Republican on the Veterans Committee and has twice served as its chairman.

Second most powerful woman representative is millionaire congresswoman Francis P. Bolton of Ohio, a member of the sought-after Foreign Affairs Committee, who through her indefatigable travels has become the top House authority on Africa and the Near East.

NOTED FOR WIT

Perhaps the wittiest and most vivacious lady in the House is Rep. Katharine St. George, a wealthy Republican who represents the fashionable Tuxedo Park area of New York State. A first cousin of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt—they held diametrically opposite political views — Mrs. St. George boasts a tenure of 12 years and a seat on the Armed Services Committee.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church of Illinois, another GOP member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, holds a master's degree in political science from Columbia University. A consulting psychologist in New York City during World War 1, she has served continuously in the House since 1950, when she succeeded her husband.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Edna F. Kelly of Brooklyn is the dean of Democratic congresswomen, although she came to the House only eight years ago. An intense brunette who narrowly missed a bullet when Puerto Rican zealots fired on the chamber several years ago, she serves on the Foreign Affairs Committee.

UNIQUE DISTINCTIONS

Several of the donkey party ladies can boast unique distinctions. Rep. Elizabeth Kee (W. Va), who succeeded her late husband in 1951 and has won overwhelming re-election every two years since, has yet to make a speech — in the House, or during a campaign.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Gracie Pfost of Idaho is a one-woman champion of Hell's Canyon Development. Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, a protege of Sen. Wayne Morse, has sponsored an equal pay bill for women. Rep. Leonor Sullivan is the first woman elected from Harry S. Truman's home state of Missouri.

★ ★ ★

Although the nation turned Democratic by a landslide last fall, Republican women captured three new seats while losing only one—that of Mrs. Cecil Hardin of Indiana. Distaff Democrats made no gains, and in fact lost Mrs. Coya Knutson of Minnesota, whose ungallant husband contributed to her defeat by his much-publicized pleas of "Coya Come Home."

Husband Still Has a Son

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband was invited to a dinner given by his former wife at her house to celebrate their son's confirmation. I was not invited. My husband went without me. I think he showed disrespect for me and that he should have stayed away.

★ ★ ★

"Wasn't it wrong for him to go without me, or am I being unreasonable in expecting him to stay away from such gatherings where his son is involved?"

Answer: If the dinner was a small family one given by the boy's mother at her house she need not have invited you and it was not disrespectful to you for your husband to go alone. If, on the other hand, the dinner had been a large one at a club or hotel he should not have gone without you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My mother-in-law died last week. Before her death the women with whom I play bridge every week planned on going to the theater two weeks from today. These tickets were bought over a month ago.

★ ★ ★

"I would like to know if you think it would be proper for me to go to the theater with them, or should I give my ticket to someone else. Please advise me as I don't want to bring criticism upon myself."

Answer: I am sorry but if you go on a theater party so soon after the death of your mother-in-law you will almost certainly be criticized.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My problem is what to teach my young son to call my stepfather. My mother remarried about a year ago. My own father is still living and I see him quite often. My son calls him 'grandpa.' I think it will be confusing to the child to call both men by the same name. Have you any suggestions?"

Answer: He can call your own father "Grandpa" and your stepfather "Grandpa Brown," or if he is to see him often, some more affectionate name such as "Grampy."

Maturity Pays for Women in Brokerage Career

Age Is No Handicap on Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're a woman, preferably over 40, possibly a widow and interested in investments, you can make good in Wall Street. Previous business experience is not necessary.

"Wall Street is one place where age is an advantage instead of a liability," says Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, active general partner in a Stock Exchange firm which recently added her name to its title.

AGE AN ASSET

There are many women who have gone into the brokerage business after middle age and are making great successes. Often they are widows suddenly faced with the responsibility of investing their own money. They start by asking advice of friends and often end up by giving advice to these same friends.

★ ★ ★

"People are likely to have confidence in someone with experience. A woman who has invested her own money wisely can give sound advice to others.

On the other hand, an investor might be charmed by some cute young thing of 22, just out of college, but he wouldn't take her financial advice very seriously."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kennedy, however, is an exception to her own rule. She has been in the investment business since the age of 8, she announces proudly.

WORKED FOR DAD

"My father was a St. Louis lawyer who suddenly got interested in stocks, and he taught me to make a stock chart for him every day," she said. "Later, when he moved to New York and started publishing The Wall Street Analyst, I worked in his office at the age of 15 and later became editor."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kennedy was married at 16 and widowed at 20, at which time she started her Wall Street career in earnest. She has one son, one daughter, and two grandchildren, lives in a Manhattan apartment and spends most of her waking hours studying the market.

Dear Abby . . .

Maybe 'The Thing' Needs Father Who Knows How to Win Respect

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: The letter from the mother with the teen ager problem reminded us of our own situation. We have a high school boy in our family. He wears his hair in a freakish way, rarely bathes or brushes his teeth (That is strictly for squares!). He walks with a vulgar swagger and says all his teachers are slobs.

ABBY

"He smokes, swears and treats his clothes like rags. He talks back and has no respect for anybody. His father is so disgusted with him he calls him 'The Thing.' I am lower than a snake because I won't let this monster drive the family car. He is 15 and we have only three more years of obligation to feed this parasite. I shudder to think of where he will end up." DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: And who raised this "monster?"

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother lives with us and I admit she's a saint. She makes my life much easier (she's a built-in baby sitter, a wonderful cook, etc.) but she has one fault that drives me nutty. When she feeds my baby (16 months old) she sits there telling him stories and every time he opens his mouth to laugh she shoves in another spoonful.

"The baby should be handling the spoon himself but he refuses to try because it's so much fun having Nanny feed him. Should I skip it or say something? I hate to hurt her feelings." PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Let the doctor be the goat and tell "Nanny" that HE recommends that the baby start feeding himself.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My girl friend is getting married this Sunday. A boy I am VERY fond of asked me for a date on that day. Do you think if I asked him to go to the wedding with me he would think I was hinting?" NETTIE

DEAR NETTIE: If you ARE, he will probably think so. If you AREN'T, it won't even occur to him.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 75 who has 9 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. I run a respectable rooming house and no monkey business. One of my roomers is a woman of 43. She has 3 grandchildren and is divorced. She told me herself that she'd do anything to get married again so she could quit working. She is out to rope in my 27-year-old grandson.

"I warned him against her, but he still goes up there to see her. I told her if she didn't lay off my grandson I would evict her, but she claims HE won't leave HER alone. Would I be wrong to throw her out anyway?" L. F.

DEAR L. F.: Your grandson is 3 times 7 and if he wants to see this woman you can't stop him. "Throwing her out" won't solve anything.

Brushing Helps

Hair Condition Part of Beauty

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is true that hair, its natural texture and color and its styling, have a tremendous effect on a woman's attractiveness.

Nothing makes her look dowdier than poorly groomed hair. If her tresses are dull, dusty or covered with lint, or wispy or straggly at the hairline, this immediately adds years to appearance and detracts from the whole picture.

Nightly brushing is a splendid beauty and hair-health routine. It stimulates circulation in the scalp and distributes the oil over the hair, thus adding sheen and overcoming dryness. Even in the case of oily hair this is a good measure because it tends to normalize the little oil in the scalp.

Many women become alarmed when they notice that their hair is shedding more than usual. I think most women find that this is more or less natural if it is not extreme, and if it does not last too long. This may happen at certain seasons or after extremes in weather or following an illness or times of strain. If it continues for a long period, an expert should be consulted.

★ ★ ★

Scaling is also a normal function of the scalp. As a matter of fact, the skin of the head constantly sloughs off dead cells but usually this is not noticeable. Often when a woman thinks she has dandruff she just has a very dry scalp. True dandruff is a skin disease and should be treated by a dermatologist.

★ ★ ★

Women often write asking if alcohol is too drying to use on the scalp and if this will get rid of dandruff. As I already have said, if you have real dandruff you need expert treatment. If your condition is due to dry scalp, alcohol will make it even drier. The best tonics for this condition have little or no alcohol in them.

Constant Foot Care Important

Are you foot-happy? Most people fall into the other category from corns, bunions and callouses.

Feet need constant care as you grow older. A hot foot bath at night, using a foot soap, or a specially prepared foot therapy, may help your feet to feel lighter all the time. The bottled preparations have minerals formulated especially for foot relaxation.

★ ★ ★

The important thing with foot care is to be consistent. You can't wait until your feet hurt, and then expect miracles when you give yourself a treatment. Keep the callouses off with pumice and the nightly foot soakings. Use little pads at the first sign of toughness on a toe that may turn into a corn, and you may ease your entire problem considerably.

★ ★ ★

If your feet have a tendency to perspire, shake foot powder into your shoes before putting them on.

Mail Sack Indicates Teens Fret

One Boy Complains His Girl Smokes Too Much

AP Newsfeature

WHAT'S WITH THE TEEN mail sack? If one is to judge by the volume, it would seem that every young modern has a problem, if that is any comfort to you. Maybe one here just hits your spot, so hope the answers rally the spirit.

★ ★ ★

Q. I have wanted to be a nurse, but my parents say that I will tire of it, that the pay is too small, that I will be unhappy. I am 18 and I never have wanted any other career. What shall I do?

A. Your parents are probably the best judge of your suitability to the job. But if you are truly dedicated to the idea of nursing, the chances are you will love it in spite of problems. The basic motivation of nursing is to serve humanity and if you feel that way about the work, monetary remuneration will be secondary. Nurses are needed more than ever before as hospitals are overcrowded. If one must lend financial help at home, however, perhaps the nursing pay, particularly in the training stage will be insufficient.

Q. My girl smokes one cigarette after another. I am on the football team and am in training. I do not like to smoke anyway. But I am getting tired of seeing this girl with a cigarette dangling out of the corner of her mouth. I like her in every other way, but this habit is driving me mad.

A. Why don't you appeal to the girl on the basis of your esthetic reaction to her smoking? If you mention after a kiss that the tobacco scent is real high, maybe she will slow down.

Q. I am fond of a boy and have been dating him about two years, off and on. He likes me very much and is at my home all the time, even when we do not have a date, as my brother is also a friend of his. We have had an understanding, I guess. Just recently I feel lots older than he, even though he is three months older than I.

We are both 17. I met another boy at a friend's house and he came to call on me on one Saturday night. My "regular" friend dropped in later without being invited. He was very upset to find me entertaining the other boy, and stayed in the living room the entire time. When the other boy left, I told him I thought we had grown apart. He burst into tears and said he assumed we were more or less engaged. What should I do? I do not want to hurt his feelings, but I do not love him anymore, and never could again, because he seems like such a weak individual.

A. The quick excision is better than a lingering death in this case so it would be a good idea to give him a brush-off as soon as possible. If the boy is emotionally disturbed about you and there is no hope of regaining your love for him, all the more reason to call the whole thing off now.

Q. Should I get married before I do my stint in military training? My girl says she will not wait for me and wants to get married now.

A. She must be a pretty unreasonable type. You have not yet reached the maturity to achieve the goals necessary to a smooth marriage. Ask yourself:

(1) Are you really in love (only experience can give you the answer?)

(2) Are you able to support a family at this point even though you may not have carved out your niche for the future?

If the girl does not want to wait, take your chances. If she loves you, she will wait.

Study Reveals Most Women Sew for Fun

Women like to sew—not just to save money—but because they enjoy it, too.

This was the finding of a recent state university study conducted on buying and sewing habits of mothers of subteenage girls.

Interviewers found that 67 per cent of the women interviewed enjoyed sewing for the family—regardless of the family income.

Two-thirds of the mothers sewed for their 10-to-12-year-old daughters—making skirts and school dresses most often, followed in order by blouses, dressup dresses, play clothes, and coats.

Reasons given for sewing were: they saved money (54 per cent); they enjoyed sewing (46 per cent); they could buy better quality fabrics (22 per cent); and they had wider selection of fabric design and color (11 per cent).

Caracalla—the biggest public bath in Rome—could accommodate 25,000 bathers at one time.

Give Entry Requirements for Presbyterian Church

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP)—Officials of the First Presbyterian Church here think people wanting to enroll in the 295-year-old institution have had it too easy.

Impressed by the hardships endured by early church fathers, they have set up a series of minimum requirements which candidates for membership will have to abide by.

Under the requirements, prospective members must:

Attend 10 instruction sessions.

Read almost the entire Bible and pledge themselves to a lifelong study of it.

Pledge some useful labor to the church.

Attend regular worship services.

Pray regularly for the church.

Contribute financially.

Pledge themselves to ethical and moral behavior and to love and respect of all brethren, regardless of race, social status or past life.

The Rev. Albert Fay, pastor of the church, said American churches have grown more and more lax in their membership requirement, adding:

"People have gotten to the point where they need know little, believe little and do little in order to join the church."

Lutherans Vote for Relocation

Church of the Ascension Plans to Hold Services in Leggett School

Sunday will mark the final regular worship service of Lutheran Church of the Ascension in its present sanctuary at 96 Williams St.

★ ★ ★

At the annual congregational meeting last Sunday, members voted 70 to 17 to relocate all services at the Leggett School in Waterford Township, pending construction of a new sanctuary at the new church site on Eason road.

★ ★ ★

The congregation had been dividing services, holding the 11 a.m. worship period in the downtown Pontiac church and the 9 a.m. service in Leggett School.

Beginning Feb. 1, both 9 and 11 a.m. Sunday services and the 10 a.m. Sunday School will be held at Leggett School. A new addition under construction at the parsonage will provide a central location for smaller meetings, such as Luther League, council, committee and staff meetings.

Under the new plan, Communion will be celebrated at the 11 a.m. service on the first Sunday of February, and at the 11 a.m. service on the first Sunday in March.

New councilmen elected to three-year terms are: Robert Elert, Dr. Leonard Klausmeyer, Donald Muehl and Rodney Olson. Leonard Cahow was named to take a council seat for one year, to fill an unexpired term. The new council will meet at 6 p.m. Feb. 1 in the Hotel Waldron.

★ ★ ★

At a meeting Monday, the women's association of the church elected Mrs. Fred Sytz as president; Mrs. Gordon Carlson, vice president; Mrs. Richard Yarger, secretary, and Mrs. Stanley Langdon, treasurer.

Seeking the Favor of God
Every man should strive for the favor of God. Paul sought the favor of God. He said, "For am I now seeking the favor of men or of God? or am I striving to please men? If I were still pleasing men I should not be a servant of Christ." Gal. 1:10. The things which please men do not always please God. Jesus said, "I do always the things that are pleasing to Him." Jno. 8:29. Jesus Christ, the son of the living God, obtained His Father's favor by doing His Father's will. Man, by doing the things God has commanded, pleases God. When one pleases God the favor of God rests upon him. The unthinking man or woman pleases themselves. They never ask, Is the thing I am doing pleasing to God? If we follow the opinions of men we are men-pleasers—but if we follow the Word of God then we please God. Many people are perfectly satisfied with themselves, religious or not, however the thing most important is not, "Am I pleased but is God pleased?" Some never search the Scriptures to see whether the things they have been taught are in harmony with divine truth, the Bible. The early Christians searched daily, should we? See Acts 17:11. Men should remember that the whole trend of religion, (the religion of Jesus Christ) is not to please men but God. Are you seeking to please God? If so you will do just what the Bible teaches, nothing more (for such is to go onward). Nothing less (for such is to fall short). This will please God. Pleasing self is important but pleasing God is more important. See Gal. 1:10 Believest thou this? (To be continued).

Chiefs Put Lid on High Scoring Trojan Quintet

Barge Makes Farewell Appearance by Hitting 27 Points

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Defense won out over offense last night on the Pontiac Central Court.

The Chiefs, who have the best defensive record in the Saginaw Valley having allowed the fewest number of points per game, scored an easy 69-43 victory over Saginaw, one of the league's top offensive units.

It was the lowest total scored by Saginaw this year and not one Trojan player was able to score in double figures. PCH put a net over Saginaw's top two pointmakers, Bob Parker and Jim Gronski, who managed only six and nine points respectively.

For Central, Charley Barge made his farewell appearance by hitting for 27 points. The little guard didn't have his best shooting night as he hit on only eight field goals in 28 attempts, but he connected on 11 of 12 free throws.

He received a standing ovation from the crowd when he left the court in the final period, and was hoisted on the shoulders of the students when the game ended.

Pontiac was never in serious trouble. Parker and Lou Economou hit on their first two shots for Saginaw and the score was 4-4. After that PCH pulled away to as much as 22 points in the first half.

It was 42-21 at intermission and the Trojans never got closer than 17 in the second half.

John Bandy had the range in the first half as he hit on six of 10 attempts from the floor, but the 6-3 forward fouled out at with 4:37 to go in the third period and finished with all of his 15 points scored in the first half.

Once again George Fed, who played the first quarter, took control of the boards with nine rebounds. Harrison Munson came into the game in the second stanza and played most of the second half. He had eight rebounds and seven points.

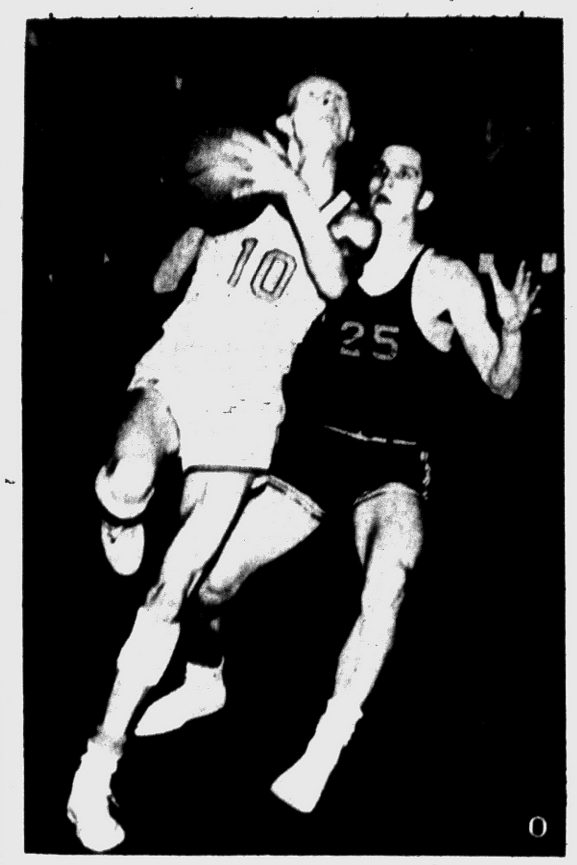

The victory solidified Pontiac's hold on the top ranking in the state. It was the 7th win and 5th in league play for the Chief.

Saginaw had a poor shooting night with only 14 field goals in 70 attempts for 20 per cent, while PCH connected on 25 of 62 for 40 per cent.

In other SVC games, Flint Central defeated Arthur Hill, 68-60 and Flint Northern dumped Bay City Central, 57-52.

BANDY UP — PCH forward John Bandy (10) goes in for a layup past the defense of Jim Gronski of Saginaw. Bandy scored 15 points all in the first half last night as the Chiefs defeated Saginaw, 69-43, with little difficulty.

Rochester Rolls to 8th; Romeo Defeats L'Anse

With eight players figuring in the scoring, Rochester hit the nets with 31 field goals to defeat Lapeer, 70-60, and stay unbeaten in eight games this season.

This was a Tri-County League game. Another league contest saw Romeo defeat L'Anse Creuse, 57-52.

Rochester broke an 11-11 tie after the 1st period and took a 36-27 lead at halftime. The Falcons never lost the lead although Lapeer cut the margin 48-43 after three quarters.

★ ★ ★

Lapeer had three players in double figures led by Ed Marshall's 14 points, and followed by Jerry Bennington with 12 and John McKillen with 10.

Romeo took a 27-26 lead at halftime after L'Anse Creuse held a first quarter margin of 15-10, and the game stayed close through most of the second half.

With three minutes to play Romeo surged into a 55-50 lead and L'Anse was unable to lose the gap.

★ ★ ★

Dave Watterson with 21 and Reid Olszak with 13 were Romeo's big pointmakers while Ron Skrocki collected 13 for L'Anse.

The win moved Romeo's season record to 4-3 and evened the L'Anse mark to 4-4.

In the league, Rochester is 2-0, Romeo 2-1, Lapeer 1-2, and L'Anse 0-3.

Chief Tankers Defeat Saginaw

Pontiac Central High's swimmers invaded Saginaw yesterday, and returned home with a very neat team victory, 51-41, over the Saginaw High Trojans. The win gave Gene Norris' aquatic Chiefs their 5th season's win against two defeats, and a 3-2 Saginaw Valley Conference record. Arthur Hill is the leader with a 4-0 record.

Without Jim Gibbs and Dennis Roberts, benched because of injuries, rest of the team came through splendidly, led by John Blamy who won the backstroke and individual medley. Barry Horst and Jerry Gavette turned in victories, along with Bruce Norvell's pool record 1:10.9 in the orthodox breaststroke, and the medley relay. Ben Donaldson, Norvell, Jerry Powers and Ron Hockman turned in a 2:01.0 clocking for the event.

Chiefs lost the freestyle relay when a swimmer jumped the gun.

Grads Lead Dondero Over Grosse Pointe

Two mid-year graduates bowed out in a blaze of glory at Royal Oak Dondero last night helping the Oaks upset Grosse Pointe 67-65. Mike Joyce scored 23 and Bill Waldrup 13 in their final game while John Meadows had 26 to pace both teams.

Royal Oak held the advantage most of the way and was coasting along with a 14-point margin with five minutes left when the Pointers made a bid to pull out a dramatic triumph.

Huskies Never in Contention at Cranbrook

Williams Sparks Crane Cagers; Fedynik Makes 19 for Northern

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Northern committed all the basketball sins in the book, Cranbrook capitalized on most of them and the combination produced a nightmare for the Huskies.

The alert Cranes, shooting with telling accuracy and quick to take advantage of enemy miscues, dealt Northern a 58-36 drubbing last night on the Cranbrook court.

Cranbrook's triumph, a surprisingly easy one, was No. 5 this season in seven games. Northern's season record is now just the opposite — two wins in seven starts.

Yesterday's game with the Cranes was an affair that Northern coach Dick Hall would just as soon put out of his mind. It was a night, in fact, that any cage coach would be glad to forget if he was on the short end of the final score.

Cranbrook's compact defense forced the Huskies into repeated errors and more often than not the Cranes turned the mistakes into points on their half of the scoreboard.

The Huskies were never in contention. Cranbrook started rapidly and converted the contest into a cakewalk for the home folks.

With big John Hayden clearing the boards and Jim Williams handling a sizable portion of the scoring chores, the Cranes breezed to a 12-1 lead midway through the 1st quarter and increased their edge to 18-3 entering the 2nd period.

At halftime the Cranes enjoyed a 34-11 cushion and the count was 46-21 at the end of the 3rd stanza.

Cranbrook had complete control of the backboards, due to Hayden's stellar work and some great assistance from Bill Schumann. Three Cranes hit double figures in the scoring column with Williams topping the list on 23 points, 18 in the 1st half. Hayden tallied 13 and Tom Bray added 10.

Sharp shooting Mike Fedynik continued his high point production for the Huskies, swishing 19 to account for slightly better than half of his team's total.

WHO'S EXCITED? — These two pair of legs actually belong to two excited Pontiac Central cheerleaders who had plenty to cheer about as the Chiefs whipped Saginaw, 69-43, for their 7th straight victory last night.

Avondale Jolts Orion in Oakland-B, 45-43

Avondale blasted Lake Orion's title hopes in the Oakland-B last night by taking a 45-43 contest, while league leader Troy was pasting Fitzgerald 49-39.

This gave Troy a two-game lead as Avondale, Lake Orion and Fitzgerald shared second place with 3-2 records.

Orion had a chance in final moments to tie the game on a 1-1 free throw and failed. The Dragons led 27-21 at halftime and Avondale finally tied the game for the first time 38-38 in the final quarter.

★ ★ ★

Two free throws by Dick Smith moved the Jackets ahead 40-38 and it was tied again at 41-41. Herb Harris' jump shot and a free throw made it 44-41 and Avondale hung on the rest of the way.

Orion made good on 13 of 14 free throws in the first half and 21 of 27 for the evening. Barry Sill had 18 and Jim Rechnagle 16 for the losers, as Smith got 10 and Les Bourdo 11 for Avondale.

In another league game, Madison defeated Clawson 45-40, with Rick Moos leading the winners with 19 points.

Ron Hewett and Newt Acton each had 12 for Clawson.

★ ★ ★

Troy came back from a 22-17 deficit at intermission to tie it 31-31 after three quarters. The Colts then jumped to a quick seven-point lead 38-31 and Fitzgerald never caught up.

Don Harned with 15 paced the Colts, while Ron Lickman and Phil Morgan each had 10 for Fitzgerald.

Pros Belt Par at Palm Springs

Jim Ferree Sets Pace Entering 3rd Day of Thunderbird Event

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Par remained anything but a mystery today as Jim Ferree, a young professional with a pleasant North Carolina drawl, led the way into the third round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational tournament.

★ ★ ★

Of the 41 invited pros, only seven were over par 71-71—142 for the 36-hole distance at the Thunderbird Country Club.

Ferree, 27, whose biggest win as a pro was scored in the British Columbia Centennial last year at Vancouver, set the pace with a pair of 66s for 132.

★ ★ ★

One stroke behind were Doug Ford and Wes Ellis Jr., also with 66s yesterday, and Bob Wininger, whose 64 was the best of the par whacking in the second round.

Six strokes off the pace was Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, who shot a 67 yesterday to go with Thursday's 71.

Hustling Vikings Take Command in Final Minutes

Gives Waterford 4 Close Losses in I-L; Southfield Romps

By CHUCK ABAIR

"Give Waterford 10 points in the right places this year and they wouldn't have a league loss," was a remark made last night which certainly sums up the way things have been going for the Skippers in the Inter-Lakes League this year.

Walled Lake had come from behind after trailing most of the way to hand Waterford its 4th defeat in five loop games by a 64-62 count to prompt the observation.

The speaker could have made it eight points since the charges of Jerry Wallace have dropped their four contests by a combined total of seven. Berkley's victory by three has been the biggest margin.

The latest defeat kept Waterford in a last place deadlock with Van Dyke which bowed to Southfield 65-37 last night. Walled Lake and Southfield are tied for 2nd behind unbeaten Berkley with 3-2 records.

★ ★ ★

Some all-out hustle enabled the Vikings to pull out the verdict against their traditional foes. The visitors virtually stole the game away in the final five minutes.

Both teams had played in streaks all evening in the rough-and-tumble affair when Walled Lake suddenly took command.

Down 50-46 with five minutes left, coach John Shadford's alert crew fired in six straight field goals by stealing passes and picking up loose balls.

★ ★ ★

Barry Campbell's four free throws brought Waterford to life again and the Skippers hung on to reach the final two-point difference on reserve Ray Robinson's swisher with 1:24 remaining.

Wendy Meyer had an opportunity to tie it up with a 1-and-1 foul shot situation with only 14 seconds left but failed and then also missed a running one-hander just before the final buzzer.

Waterford held quarter leads of 15-8, 28-23 and 45-40 before the wild closing minutes. The Skippers had a 10-point edge late in the 3rd canto and appeared on their way to pulling away but spunky reserve Gary Wilcoff kept Walled Lake in it with some clutch scoring.

★ ★ ★

Bob Smith topped the Viking scoring with 16 followed by Kirk Evans, who bounced back from a slow 1st half to score 10 of his 14 in the last period sparking the late surge. Wilcoff got 12—10 in the final half. Bill Allen also turned in a good reserve effort with 11.

Dependable Barry Campbell netted 25 for Waterford, 17 in the 2nd.

The loss dropped the Bathers half as he kept the home club going. Dale Mahrle slowed down following a good start but still garnered 15.

Broncos Stay Close Behind Brighton Five

Clarkston Gets Upset by Bloomfield Hills; Milford Bows

The Wayne-Oakland League appears to be settling down to a two-way battle between unbeaten Brighton and Holly with the Bulldogs in the driver's seat not only on their record but also because of the new loop schedule.

The Broncos, who have won six straight and are now 4-1 in the W-O, could keep right on winning with no chance to move up if Brighton does not stumble the rest of the way. The Bulldogs beat Holly in December in their only league meeting.

★ ★ ★

Brighton pulled away to a 32-20 halftime lead after being tied 16-16 and romped from then on paced by Sean Lavan's 25 digits. Cliff Simons hooped 20 for Clarenceville.

Holly tripped West Bloomfield 67-57 while Brighton was walloping Clarenceville 68-46 last night. Clarkston missed a chance to gain a tie for 3rd when the Wolves were upset at Bloomfield Hills, 56-50. Northville bombed Milford 66-46 in the other game.

★ ★ ★

A 26-point performance by George McDaniels and 16 for Ron Moreland offset three steady Keego scorers as Holly always held a slight edge. Barry Johnson topped the losers with 18 with Dennis Alix adding 14. John Lucadam was held to two field goals.

Clarkston, which had to switch the game from its floor to Bloomfield Hills due to a defective furnace, dropped below .500 and saw most of its remaining hopes for successfully defending its crown disappear.

★ ★ ★

The Wolves led by one at halftime and two starting the last period before the Barons caught fire to end a five-game losing streak. Jim Townsend tallied nine alone to lead the big finish bettering the Clarkston team total of seven. Townsend finished with 14 behind Doug Danziger's 18. Porritt matched Danziger for the losers.

Milford couldn't stand prosperity after winning its first last week. The Redskins dropped into a cellar deadlock with Bloomfield Hills. Wade Deal paced Northville with 16, Terry Anderson hit 15 for Milford. A total of 79 foul shots marred the tilt. Northville, Clarkston and West Bloomfield are all 2-3 now in 4th place.

Hard Worker, the Mole

Experiments reveal that to equal the mole's work output, man would have to excavate, in a single night, a 37-mile long tunnel, wide enough to easily permit passage of the body.

Oak Park Victorious

Mike Detmer connected on four fouls and Bob Miles scored a basket to provide Oak Park with a 47-42 come-from-behind win over Madison Lamphere last night. Lamphere had led 40-39 with three minutes to play before the Parkers wrapped up the nip-and-tuck duel. Detmer led both teams with 18 points.

Ferndale, E. Detroit Win

Maples Trip Mt. Clemens

Birmingham took advantage of opportunity to become a "spoiler" in the Eastern Michigan League race by dumping Mt. Clemens 63-52 at Birmingham last night.

The loss dropped the Bathers out of a 2nd place tie with East Detroit which whipped Hazel Park 62-50. Mt. Clemens now is deadlocked with Port Huron for 3rd with Birmingham 4th.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham, getting balanced scoring for the 1st time after previously depending mostly on Merv Gallup, had Mt. Clemens on the run all the way following a 15-7 1st quarter.

★ ★ ★

Larry Kelly and Phil Isbell scored 15 apiece, Phil Russell had 12 and Gallup 11 for the Maples. Dean Carpenter hit 15 in defeat.

Kimball gave Ferndale a scare in the closing minutes slicing a 14-point lead all the way to two before the victors went into a stall and clinched their 5th straight. Toy Palmer sparked Ferndale with 14.

East Detroit led all the way pulling ahead safely in the last quarter. County area scoring leader, Don Petroff, had his eye again tallying 26. Ken Broadley had 18 for Hazel Park.

FAREWELL RIDE — Pontiac Central guard Charley Barge gets hoisted to the shoulders of students after last night's game against Saginaw, in which he scored 27 points. It was Barge's last game for the Chiefs as he is a mid-year graduate. He finished with 456 points for seven games, tops for PCH and the Saginaw Valley.

Almont in Sudden Death Southern Thumb Triumph

A pair of free throws by Don Eschenburg in a sudden-death second overtime period gave Almont a 66-64 decision over New Haven in a battle of Southern Thumb leaders.

The win put Almont and Anchor Bay, which defeated Armada, 43-36, on top of the league with 6-1 marks, while New Haven fell into second place with 5-2.

Other league games featured Memphis over Capac, 37-35 and Brown City over Dryden, 48-21.

★ ★ ★

New Haven missed the chance to win in regulation time when Nate Petty tied it 56-56 and missed his second free throw.

With nine seconds in the first overtime Don Smith's field goal tied it for New Haven at 64-64.

New Haven took three shots in the sudden death and Almont got the rebound and Eschenburg was fouled. He had 15 and Al Forsyth 12 while Petty got 19 for New Haven.

Memphis led by a close margin all the way and outscored Capac from the floor 16 field goals to 10.

★ ★ ★

Mid-year graduation took its toll among the tribal Chiefs who perform in pre-game ceremonies for PCH games. Chief Pontiac Don Mann had his last dance and put his feathers on the head of new Chief Ray Lanham prior to last night's game with Saginaw at PCH.

West All-Stars Win NBA Classic

Pettit, Baylor Divide Honors as Game's MVP

St. Louis, Minneapolis Aces Pace 124-108 Victory Over East

DETROIT (AP)—In five seasons in the National Basketball Assn., bachelor Bob Pettit has captured just about every available honor, but he must share his newest one with rookie Elgin Baylor.

The veteran star of the St. Louis Hawks teamed with the fabulous freshman standout of the Minneapolis Lakers last night for a record-smashing 124-108 West triumph over the East in the ninth annual NBA All-Star game.

Pettit, the NBA's leading scorer, collected 25 points and Baylor scored 24 as the West All-Stars handed another rookie his biggest coaching triumph.

Easy Ed Macauley, until a few weeks ago Pettit's teammate on the St. Louis club, automatically became coach of the Western Division team when he took over recently as coach of the defending world champion Hawks.

For the first time in the nine-year history of the midseason classic, members of the press-radio-TV corps named two players—Pettit and Baylor—for the game's most valuable player award. Baylor gained another distinction because he is the first rookie recipient of the honor.

This one-two punch helped the West out-rebound and out-shoot the taller East team and gave the Western Division its first victory in three seasons and its third in the nine-game series.

For Pettit—rookie of the year in 1954-55, an all-league selection every season and an all-star performer for five years—this is the third time in the last four seasons he has won or shared the MVP award.

The two clubs broke or tied 19 All-Star game records as an Olympia Stadium crowd of 10,541 watched all the action and a national television and radio audience sat in on the last half. However, only six of the records were full-game marks.

Despite the brilliant playmaking of Boston's Bob Cousy, the East stars never got closer than five points.

St. James Surprises Shamrocks, 39-37

Rams Trample Ritas

By H. GUY MOATS

The Rams of St. Frederick lived up to their name, last night, when they butted the hapless St. Rita Suburban Catholic cage loop five for a 53-31 victory that elevated them into a three-way tie for the league lead.

★ ★ ★

This win was the 6th, against one defeat. Orchard Lake St. Mary and St. Benedict of Highland Park hold the same record. Both were idle last night, affording the Rams their opportunity to square things. Rest of the "way home" will be rough for all three.

While the Freds were winning, Pontiac St. Michael ran into trouble at Ferndale St. James. The Shamrocks never got in front until the last two and a half minutes, but couldn't hang on, and the James boys went on to win, 39-37.

St. Frederick shut out Ritas in the first period, 15-0, then just coasted along, with just about everybody on the bench getting into the act. Eight of the nine who got in contributed to the total. Tom Derocher, who played little more than half the game, and little Mike Reed, set the scoring pace with 13 and 11, respectively. Game honors, however, went to St. Rita's Paul Kaminski, who collected 14 points.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's workout, and that was about all the contest was, sharpened the Rams for their 2nd collision of the season with cross-town rival, St. Michael. The battle is set for next Tuesday at Pontiac Central's gymnasium. St. Frederick won the first encounter, 49-36.

The big difference between Shamrocks and St. James, last night, was on three free throws by Neil Kiernan, in the last minute.

★ ★ ★

Shamrocks had trailed up to the last three minutes, not by much, at any time. Dick Williams flipped a fielder at the two and a half minute mark to give Mikemen an edge, 37-36. It was their first lead, but did not last very long. Kiernan was fouled going in for a shot. He converted both attempts to make the count 38-37, then was fouled again. He made that one good, also, for the final score, as time ran out.

★ ★ ★

Tom Dabbs fired 15 points for game honors, with Art Robak accounting for nine. Larry Yezak and Jim McGowan each had nine for St. James.

PGA Seniors Begins Tuesday

Watrous Bids for 4th Title

Ageless Al Watrous of Oakland Hills starts chasing his 4th Professional Golfers' Association Seniors' Championship next Tuesday but the caliber of the field will make the chase mighty difficult.

The 59-year-old pro from Birmingham will be confronted with a record entry list numbering nearly 300 and including some of the game's immortals.

The 20th renewal of this famous tournament will run over a 72-hole medal play route Tuesday through Sunday at the PGA National Golf Club in Dunedin, Fla.

Among Watrous' contenders will be defending champion Gene Sarazen, another timeless wonder of the links, and Mortie Dutra, 1955 champ.

Watrous and Eddie Williams, who will also compete, are the only golfers to win the PGA Seniors' crown three times. Watrous won the title in 1950, 1951 and 1957. Williams took it in 1942, 1945 and 1946.

Sarazen and Jock Hutchison Sr. are two-time winners of the event. Sarazen first won the tourney in 1954, then repeated last year. Hutchison won the first tourney ever held in 1937 and again in 1947.

The tournament is restricted to professional golfers who have passed the half century mark in years. Thirty-three sectional champions won all-expense trips to Dunedin for the national event.

Several names on the entry list are newcomers to the senior ranks who represented the "cream of the crop" on the pro tour in years gone by.

Among those just reaching the 50-year-old mark and thus qualifying for the Seniors' test are Jug McSpaden, Dick Metz, Paul Runyan, Toney Penna, Ky Laffoon and Jimmy Thomson, one of the longest hitters off the tee in golf history.

Other stalwarts of yesteryear in the field include Sam Byrd, Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero.

Smith, veteran head pro at Detroit Golf Club and known as the "Johlin Ghost" during his heyday, turned 50 last May and planned to compete in his first Seniors' test this year. But Smith broke his left arm in a fall at his home last week and will be forced to miss this show.

★ ★ ★

The prize money will total more than $10,000 with the winner receiving $1,200 plus his expenses to England this summer to meet the British champion for the world's crown.

Watrous won the world's title two years ago, but Sarazen bowed to England's Norman Sutton in the international playoff last summer.

MSU Skaters Win

EAST LANSING (UPI)—A last minute power play goal by Michigan State's Ed Pollesel gave the Spartans a 5-4 victory over Minnesota last night in a Western Intercollegiate Hockey Association game.

Auerbach's Remarks Backfire

East Coach Eats Words

DETROIT (AP)—Red Auerbach is a coach who talks a lot, and something he said may have played an important part in the West's 124-108 victory over the East in the National Basketball Assn. All-Star Game last night.

"I think Red fired our boys up a little," said winning Coach Ed Macauley. "At least, I know I used his remarks before the game and at halftime, and we won."

Auerbach, coach of the defending Eastern Division Champion Boston Celtics and therefore coach of the East stars, told the NBA luncheon gathering yesterday:

"The East will win the game, because the East players have more pride than the West players."

Of course, Macauley predicted at the same luncheon that his Western Division stars would win the ninth annual All-Star clash. But the rookie coach did it in a matter-of-fact way and did not bother to list the reasons why.

Macauley worked his West squad through a Thursday afternoon practice. Auerbach elected to let his squad rest, and at the luncheon meeting chided Macauley for scheduling the workout.

"My players don't need practice," he said, looking toward Macauley. "They play enough during the rest of the season. We'll have a meeting an hour or so before the game. That'll be enough."

Apparently it was not enough and Auerbach became a losing All-Star coach for the first time in three tries. Macauley, the Most Valuable Player in the NBA's first All-Star Game in 1951, captured the prize in his first attempt.

Olmedo Tops MacKay in Aussie Tourney

ADELAIDE (AP)—Peru's Alex Olmedo, the new glamor boy of amateur tennis, pulled out a 5-set victory over his U.S. Davis Cup teammate, former University of Michigan star Barry MacKay, today and moved within a single stop of the Australian National Championship.

Playing with a strained stomach muscle which forced him to serve at never more than a three quarter pace, the 25-year-old University of Southern California student trimmed his close pal from Dayton, Ohio, 3-6, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 in steamy heat and occasional sprinkling rain.

The triumph put the part-Inca youth into the final on Monday when he will play top seeded Australian Neale Fraser, who beat Bob Mark, his fellow countryman, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Then the Roof Fell In

Breaking a 12-12 tie to go ahead 40-15 at halftime, Lakeview breezed to a 66-33 walloping of Utica last night. The Chieftains, who had two successive three-point quarters, had 11 different scorers.

'M' Sinks Gophers

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Michigan dumped Minnesota's swimmers 65-40 last night, taking nine out of 11 events to their 21st consecutive dual meet. Carl Wooley and Tony Tashnick led the Wolverines with two firsts each.

High Pressure Selling—
Beware of It!
Salesmen who use "high pressure" are usually trying to put "something over on you" — trying to make you buy something you don't want.
"High pressure" selling, especially by strangers is always a tip-off to when you are being snared into some shady deal or fraud.
Don't let the "something for nothing" and "tomorrow-will-be-too-late" appeal get you into trouble.

Holds Promise for Holly

Gravel Firms Merging

HOLLY — The biggest business deal in several years here was announced today by Charles A. Fellows, president of J. P. Burroughs & Son, Inc., of Flint. It means a big expansion in its line of business, and much added excavation and development here, he said.

The Holly Sand & Gravel Co., with extensive holdings near the Dixie highway and Grange Hall road, five miles northeast of this village, is merging with three Burroughs subsidiaries.

★ ★ ★

These include the Oxford Mining Co. of Pontiac, the A. S. Lefler Gravel Co. of Davison and the E. P. Brady Co. of Flint. All have holdings here, near those of the Holly Sand & Gravel Co.

In completing the merger, the old subsidiary names will be eliminated, and the enlarged firm will be known as the Holly Manufacturing & Mining Co.

★ ★ ★

The change means a big expansion in the Burroughs sand and gravel operations in the Holly area. Already one of the largest businesses of its kind in the state, the merger makes possible a greatly enhanced development of the holdings which are located midway between Pontiac and Flint.

★ ★ ★

Long known to hold extensive sand and gravel deposits, the property is located among the Groveland hills, and has possibilities that could mean considerably expanded employment in this area.

Welsh Is Free to Run

LANSING (AP)—Mayor Thomas S. Welsh of St. Clair Shores today was free to run for re-election this spring. Gov. Williams announced yesterday that he was dismissing removal charges against Welsh.

The class is divided into sections for various age groups with Mrs. Jack Baker, Mrs. Milton Hogg, Mrs. Edward A. Beaupre, Tom Shull, Mrs. Leonard Griffin and the Rev. Perry A. Thomas serving as instructors.

background for LIVING

ON VOORHEIS ROAD — The Victor Masons moved into this red brick tri-level home at the corner of Voorheis road and Colrain drive last August. From the front the house looks as if it has only one story. In reality there are three bedrooms and a bath on the upper level and a family room, utility room and bedroom on the lowest level. Ray Construction Company of Pontiac did the building. The Masons formerly lived in Pioneer Highlands.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gerls

ANTIQUE PINE—Wall cupboards in the kitchen, the table, chairs and benches are all made of antique pine. The floor is beige and brown, resembles pebbles. On the wallpaper herbs are pictured and uses for each given. The painted walls are coral. Coral is repeated in the fringe on the curtains and in the marbleized lines of the counter tops. At the left is the dining room.

Your Neighbor's House

Tri-Level Brick Home Suits Needs of Victor Masons

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When you have six children, a two-bedroom house is too small for comfort. This was the situation in which the Victor Masons found themselves and which prompted them to build a new home. They were living in Pioneer Highlands.

They found an odd shaped lot on the corner of Voorheis road and Colrain drive in Donelson Park. The lot would be almost square if one side didn't bulge out. They have 88 feet along Voorheis, but this widens to 102 feet across the back of the yard.

Ray Construction Co. built a red brick tri-level home for the Masons. From the front it looks like a ranch home, but an upper and a lower level are built on the rear.

It was Gary's thirteenth birthday the day we took pictures. On the blackboard in the family room Happy Birthday greetings were written and signed by all the family. After Gary come two girls, Judy who's 11 and Denise who's 8; Mark is 6, Monica, 5 and Kevin is 18 months. Monica is the only blue-eyed child in the family. Incidentally, Mrs. Mason looks neither old enough or harried enough to be the mother of six lively youngsters.

A bookcase planter is the only dividing line between living room and entrance hall. This living room is the pride and joy of the adult members of the family. Mrs. Mason says she and her husband sometimes sit there when all the children are down in the family room and just relax.

The floor is carpeted in blue with a textured design in blue and white. Walls and the bookcase planter are pale blue; the cove ceiling is white.

White draperies of nylon and dacron are gathered at each side of the big windows. Austrian shades of the same material control the sun.

All furniture has frames of antique finish cherry; the desk has a white antique finish. The large sectional sofa in the corner is upholstered in gold satin with a metallic thread in the material.

On either side of the cherry pedestal table in front of the window there is an armless chair, upholstered in aqua. A large arm chair is covered in beige linen and the fourth chair in the room has a flowered covering.

GOOD TRAFFIC FLOW

Traffic flow throughout this first floor is good. You can come in the front door and cross the end of the living room to reach the stairs up to the bedroom level or down to the family room. Behind the kitchen a hallway allows the same flow of traffic.

The dining room is definitely separated from the other rooms. It has the same carpeting, the same window treatment and the same blue walls as the living room. However, the lower part of the walls is paneled in cherry-finished mahogany.

There is a mural of an 18th Century town on the wall opposite the window. Though small, the room is spacious enough for the oval cherry table that takes care of the whole family on special occasions.

More meals are eaten at the antique pine drop leaf table in the kitchen. Captain's chairs at either end and benches along each side seat the eight Masons.

The knotty pine cupboards are finished in the same antique tone as the table. Hardware is black. The floor is pebble linoleum in shades of beige and brown.

Three walls are painted coral while the fourth one and the soffit are papered. This white paper has an herb design in coral, aqua and gold. Coral fringe trims the white curtains. Counter tops are marbleized with a hint of coral in them.

The back door leads into the garage, then to the back yard. There is room in this double garage for lots of storage.

On the upper level there are three bedrooms. At one end of the hall the three girls share a room. They have green walls and random rag rug carpeting in shades of pink and green.

Four-tiered ruffled curtains in crisp white dress the windows. All three beds are covered with white organdie embroidered spreads over pale green. Each little girl has a "crazy" pillow on her bed.

At present, Kevin has a room to himself. He still sleeps in a crib, but a youth bed in the room can be used by other members of the younger generation when an extra bed is needed.

Kevin's room is painted gold. He has the same rag rug carpeting as the girls. His crib is yellow. Brightly colored toys march across the yellow curtains and a matching quilt.

BEIGE AND GREEN

The bathroom which opens into the hall and the master bedroom is beige and green. Tile and fixtures are beige. The walls are green. Curtains have a brilliant harlequin pattern in green, brown and orange. The rug is orange.

In the master bedroom the carpeting is purple. Walls are a delicate pink. All furniture is finished in antique white.

There is an embroidered organdie spread like the ones in the girls' room; this one is underlaid with orchid. The windows have white Austrian shades and flowered chintz curtains. There is one chair upholstered in blue and white.

The wall above the stairs is interesting. The plaster has been textured in a diamond shaped pattern. On the lower level there is the family room, the utility room and the older boys' bedroom.

Old cars and old ships are part of the decorating in the boys' room. Bedspreads and curtains are made from a sailing print. Above the desk there are pictures of antique cars. Walls are beige. The furniture is blond wood.

The family room is on ground level. It has a door to the back yard and a large six-light window draped in white chintz. The floor is corktone tile.

Except for the fireplace wall, the walls are Philippine mahogany. The end wall is red brick with two wrought iron bird decorations and a grandfather's watch clock.

The large braided rug is a mixture of brown shades. There are two large, overstuffed chairs. Against the long wall is an aqua sofa. At one end there's a table for snacks during TV programs.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

A—Your building materials dealer should be able to supply you with pamphlets and printed instructions. For a complete description of insulation, how it works, and what it can do to improve your living conditions and help save you money, write to the National Mineral Wool Association, 2906 Americas Building, Rockefeller Center, New York 20, N. Y., for the booklet, "How to Be More Comfortable and Live for Less." Enclose 10 cents to cover costs of handling and postage.

Q—What's the best type of weatherstripping for a door?

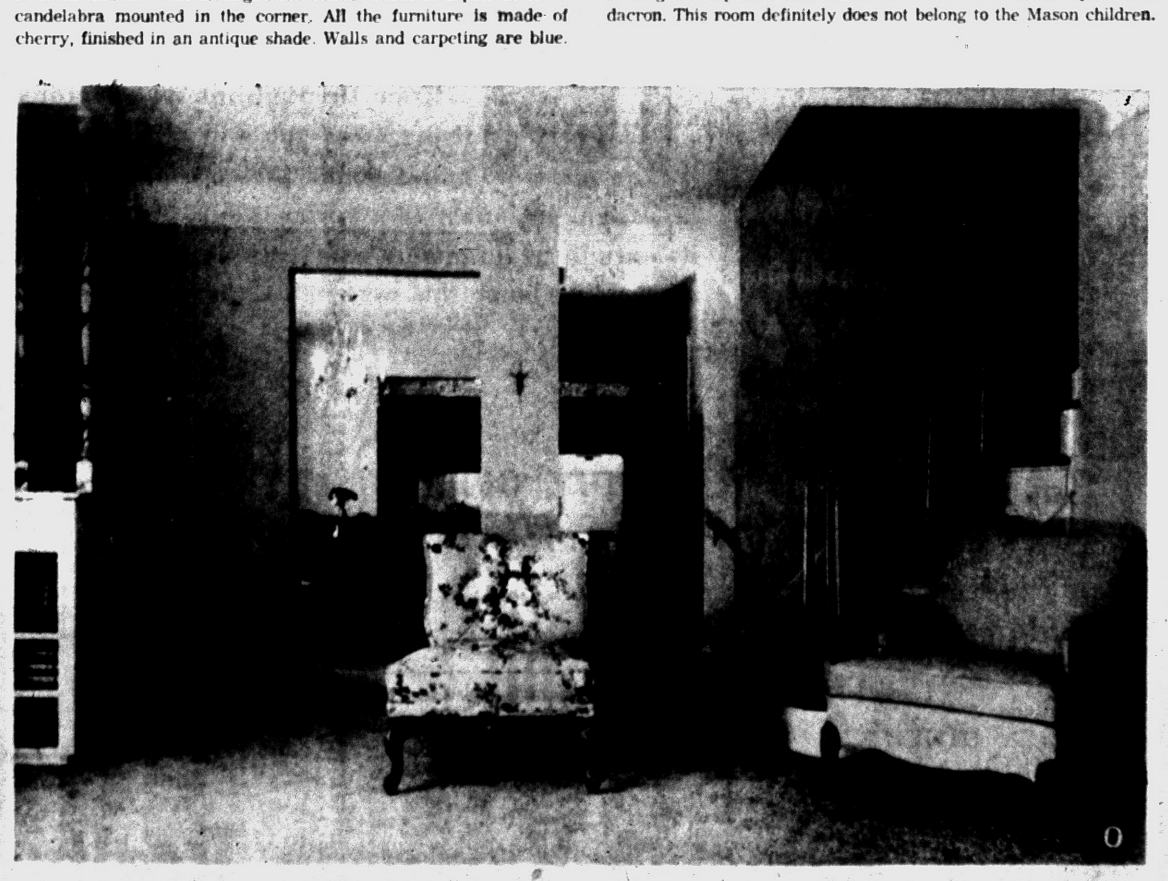

A—Interlocking weatherstripping generally is the most effective. This consists of two parts—one for the door and one for the frame. When the door is closed, the two parts lock together, providing a seal that effectively keeps breezes and dirt out and heat in. It should be installed by a professional weatherstripper.

GOLD SOFA — The gold satin sectional sofa focuses attention on itself and the wall arrangement above. There is a pair of brass candelabra mounted in the corner. All the furniture is made of cherry, finished in an antique shade. Walls and carpeting are blue. The chair at the right is aqua while the one just showing at the left is beige. Draperies and Austrian shades are white nylon and dacron. This room definitely does not belong to the Mason children.

FOR THE CHILDREN — The six young Masons consider this room their headquarters. Wood paneled walls, tile floor and sturdy furniture combine to make it almost child-proof. Young Kevin twirls the dial on the television while his older sister, Monica, looks up from her magazine. Isn't that clock on the end wall something? It could have belonged to Paul Bunyan, had he ever worn a watch. This room has an outside entrance and is situated half a story below the main floor of the house.

THE WIDER VIEW — This interesting view of the first floor of the Mason home was taken from the living room. In the distance you can see the kitchen; at the left and closer to the camera is the dining room. At the right is the stairway leading up to the bedrooms; just beyond it is the stairway to the family room. Notice the interesting treatment of the stair wall; that is textured plaster, not wallpaper.

New Roof Insulation Introduced by Dow

A new insulation designed especially for use under built up roofs was introduced today by The Dow Chemical Company at the National Association of Home Builders Show.

Trademarked Roofmate, the product is characterized by President Leland I. Doan as a "substantial addition to Dow's line of building products and an indication of more to come from chemical research in the building products field."

Roofmate consists of expanded polystyrene boards wrapped in laminated kraft paper. Measuring two feet by four feet, the boards come in thicknesses of 1, 1¼, 1⅝ and 2 inches depending upon the insulating value needed.

While priced in accordance with prevailing industry schedules, Roofmate, according to Dow, offers several outstanding advantages.

It has one of the lowest heat transmission rates of any commercially available insulation. Because it is waterproof its insulating efficiency does not deteriorate with age, as there is no moisture penetration to weaken the material's structural properties. In most cases additional vapor barrier is not needed.

Roofmate is extremely light weight, each one-inch board weighing roughly three pounds. This makes an easier job of laying the insulation, Dow says, results in reduced labor costs, and lightens roof loads.

Inspite of its light weight, Roofmate has a compressive strength of 3,000 pounds per square foot, providing a firm base for roofing materials and good resistance to wear and tear during roof construction.

An ordinary pocket knife can be used to fit Roofmate around chimneys and vent stacks. The material is non-toxic, non-irritating to touch, and is applied with conventional roofing techniques.

Dow has developed a simplified packaging system, utilizing tapes, which eliminates the cleanup job normally associated with paper wrappings.

According to Dow officials, Roofmate is part of the company's program to adapt its expanded polystyrene (Styrofoam) to a variety of specialized insulating uses. In 1957 Dow brought out Scorbord, another Styrofoam product designed for insulating foundation perimeters and cavity walls.

Dow says that in addition to industrial flat or low-pitch roofs, Roofmate holds promise for residential use with gravel roofs.

It will be produced initially at at Dow's Allyn's Point, Connecticut, plant. Other production units will be set up as indicated by geographical demand for the product.

New Fire Horns Blast Warning

Inexpensive warning horns, powered by their own self-contained supply of a nonflammable liquefied gas and triggered by a simple heat-sensitive device, can help prevent tragedies such as the recent Chicago school fire by warning of fire conditions before a blaze gains headway.

Installed in areas where fires are most likely to start, such as furnace rooms and fuel or waste storage areas, the devices emit an ear-piercing blast of sound (rated at 100 decibels or more) for five minutes or longer after being activated by heat. Fusible metal plugs, which melt at a predetermined temperature releasing the liquefied gas to blow the horn, make these safety devices self-contained units, requiring no wiring or external controls.

Developed several years ago and now used widely in industrial, commercial, home and apartment house applications, the warning horns depend upon a liquefied gas, such as "Freon" propellent, as their source of power.

"Freon" is ideal in such applications because it changes readily from a liquid to a gas when released by melting of the fusible plug. A little of it goes a long way in blowing the horn, for in changing to a gas, the nonflammable "Freon" expands 240 times its liquid volume.

Pinks, grays and blues are continuing to be the most popular bathroom colors, according to a survey of nearly 3,000 ceramic tile contractors.

Floors in New Home Need Early Care

Careful attention to first treatment pays off in added years of good looks underfoot.

If waxing a floor is your answer to the finishing problem, first thing to do is to make sure the floor is as clean as it can be.

Scrape, if necessary, to remove odd bits of plaster or paint. Floor may be finished. If not, wood sealer should be applied before the wood is washed. Check this item with the builder, to be certain.

Hot water and a mild soap or detergent will do your cleaning job for you. That cleanliness tip, of course, goes for tile-covered flooring, too.

Keep Safety First Always

Popular Old Homes Need Careful Checking Prevue

New families are going for old homes these days, according to real estate men.

Agents find that many of their resale transactions involve younger couples with growing families and elderly folk whose children have grown up, married or for various reasons no longer live with parents.

Reasons cited for the appeal of used homes include the charm of architectural styles not being found in new houses; the presence of natural materials such as brick, ceramic tile, wood and slate; the satisfactions of "mellowed" landscaping, and the comfort of "established" neighborhoods.

To minimize chance of disappointment in buying a used home most authorities recommend getting an architect's advice. If this is not possible, then the following points should be checked carefully:

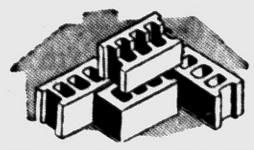

1. Roof. Should be straight when examined from outside. Inside, inspect ceilings and attic for evidence of leaks.
2. Walls. Should be straight and plumb. Check masonry walls for cracks and basement walls for leakage. Inside plaster wall may have insignificant cracks, but patches should be flat. Walls of ceramic tile in kitchen, bathroom and other heavily used areas indicate quality construction.
3. Floors. Should be free of warpage. Check floor joists exposed at the ceiling of the basement for sagging. As in the case of walls, floors surfaced with ceramic tile eliminate need for redecorating or renovating.
4. Doors and windows. If door and window frames are not level or if doors and windows stick, it may indicate that the walls have settled unevenly.
5. Plumbing. Open all faucets. If any pipe is corroded enough to slow passage of water, it will be shown by flow from faucet connected to the corroded pipe.

Engineers Find Ways to Combat Corrosion

Among the problems that had to be pondered and overcome by manufacturers of gas water heaters is the fact that 18,000 chemically different kinds of water are dispensed to homemakers by U.S. water works. This meant finding materials for plumbing and water-heater linings that would resist rust and corrosion induced by many types of water.

Engineers of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association found part of the answer in glass-lined gas water heaters, and the problem was further solved by using plastic dip tubes. The dip tube is the pipe that carries cold water down through the tank to a point over the burner where it is heated.

The low, flat-roofed home can be given a look of greater height and better balance through a combination of vertical board-and-batten siding with a raised platform floor.

You'll Unzip Windows for Cooler Rooms

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Plastic windows with zipper fasteners may soon show up in American homes.

Sigurd Sundby, a Norwegian inventor, won a silver medal for the idea at the Inventors Fair in 1957 and now has a crew of nine men working full time to fill orders for the windows.

He said his windows are designed to diffuse the sun's rays and deflects heat in the summer.

Steel Wool Cuts Shine

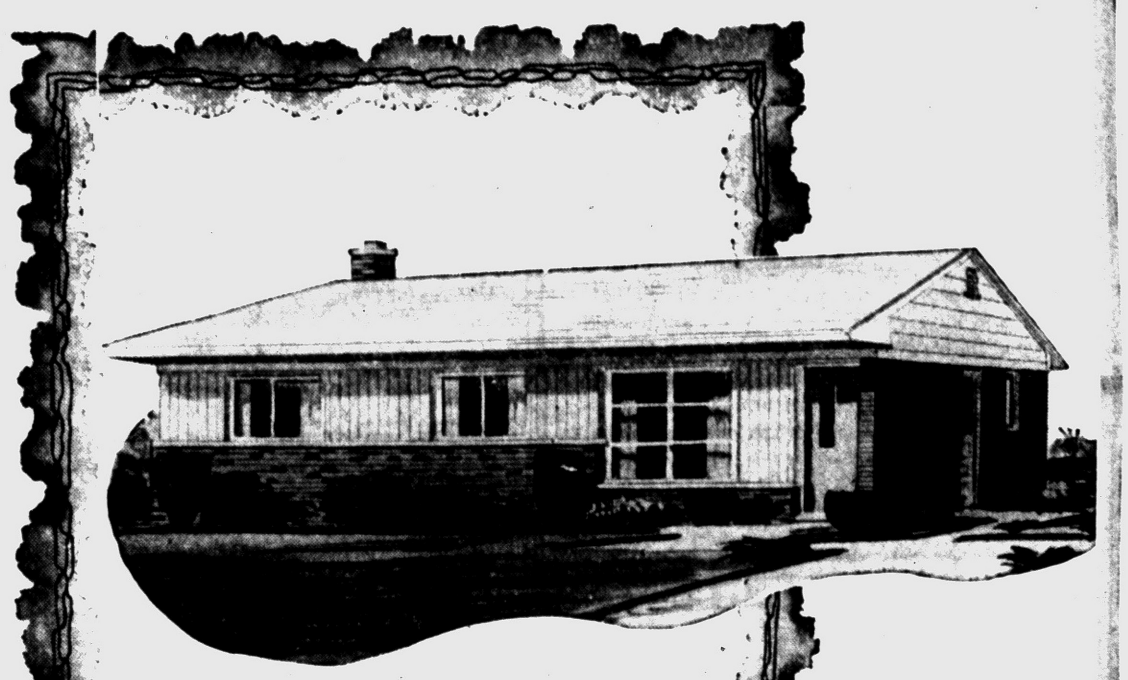

Clear lacquer applied to wood produces a shine that may have too much gloss for some purposes. There are several ways of cutting down this shine. One of the easiest is to buff lightly with a fine steel wool.

Use of Color Furthers Safety

Walls of dark, enclosed stairwells throughout the house should be painted white, ivory or yellow—the colors with the highest reflective power—and should be well illuminated. Dabbing the light switches with luminescent paint for easy location is also a good idea.

Where there are small children or elderly members of the household, it's wise to draw attention to all thresholds by applying floor enamel in a color to contrast with the surrounding floor colors.

Garage doors that slide forward and up into the roof of the garage are head-bumpers. A bright hue painted along the bottom edge of the door will be a constant reminder of the hazard involved.

Where there are low pipes that might spell trouble, they can be painted yellow, which has the highest visibility. And industry has learned that painting dark corners white tends to reduce the habit of tossing rags, papers and other litter ino those corners.

Red should indicate where the home fire extinguisher is kept. Fuse boxes should be painted with light-colored or luminescent paint, as they usually must be located when the house is dark. The emergency first-aid cabinet might be iedntified with green paint, a color traditionally associated with safety.

Astronomical Sum of FHA Aid Has Been Given

According to official government reports, in its 25 year span the FHA has insured mortgages on nearly five million homes and 800,000 rental units. Approximately twenty-two million loans were insured for modernization and repaired.

★ ★ ★

Dollar value of the FHA insured mortgages and loans is astronomical, totalling about $53 billion. FHA insured home mortgages run to $35 billion, rental project mortgages to $7 billion and modernization and repair loans to $11 billion.

Of these amounts, $16.4 billion in home mortgages have been paid off, as have $2 billion on rental project mortgages. Of the $11 billion in modernization and repair loans, $9.75 billion have repaid.

★ ★ ★

The entire FHA operation is self supporting. All U. S. Treasury advances to the agency have been returned, plus $20 million interest. Reserves of more than $600 million have been accumulated. In addition, the agency has returned some $80 million to home buyers from insurance premiums.

★ ★ ★

"The FHA program represents one of the finest examples of industry and government working together with no cost to the taxpayer," Mr. Nielsen said. "This cooperation of government and private initiative has enabled literally millions of families to own their own homes or to find good rental accommodations. Much of the tremendous growth of our cities and the establishment of totally new communities can be traced to the FHA."

Which Way Door Opens Important in Kitchen

Inefficient kitchens usually have many problems. But one factor common to most is the number of doors and the way they open into the room. Cupboard doors sometimes shut light out of adjacent cupboards. Doors to other rooms often create traffic ways where you want to work.

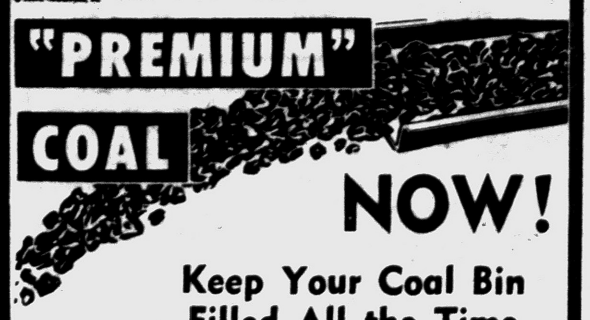

Refrigerators are now available with doors that open to the right or to the left. This permits you to have the door open towards a counter or table top. When you shop for your next refrigerator ask to see the new gas models. Be sure to specify which way the door should open for your kitchen.

CHAPTER XXXV

"No castles. I want a white house with a shadowed patio and a river nearby where all the village women wash the clothes. Can you play the guitar?"

"I could try."

"After dinner, we could sit in the soft air in the patio, and you could strum—"

"—a soft air?"

"Darling"—She looked at him with awe— "that was almost funny. Did you mean it?"

"It just slipped out. Would you prefer Spain to Canada?"

"It sounds a bit unpatriotic, in a way, but you must admit that there are still parts of Canada where they hand you a pickaxe and tell you to hack down the virgin forest and throw yourself up a log cabin."

"There are parts of Spain in which you have to guide your plough in and out of rocks and boulders."

"Could you make a living in Spain?"

"If I couldn't you could. Drink your wine. I want to—get you away from all these people, get you to myself, get you into my arms."

She put her elbows on the table and stared at him thoughtfully.

"Something's worrying you."

"Yes."

"You don't really mind what the company thinks, do you?"

"I'm sorry for poor old Sir Claud. He's not going to like this wholesale dispersal of his customers."

"But there's something more than that on your mind—isn't there?"

★ ★ ★

"Yes. But I don't want to talk about it until tomorrow."

"Nor do I. It's about Maurice Tarrant, isn't it?"

He hesitated.

"Yes."

"Well, don't be too hard on him."

★ ★ ★

"Haven't you noticed something?" Angela asked. "Yes." Angus' eyes went to the narrow band round her hair—the small scarf, gay with printed fans. "But this isn't an anniversary."

"I wore it because I thought you'd feel better if I reminded you that I love you with all my heart."

"I . . . Angela, my darling . . ."

"Stay just the way you are until you've paid the bill and got me into a less populous spot. You love me?"

"I love you."

He got back to the hotel calm and refreshed, and realized that it was for this that she had sought him out and spent the evening with him. She loved him—but she loved him unselfishly. The word helpmeet, which he had considered out of circulation, came into his mind and brought with it a new warmth and trust.

When he went to say good night to Ferdy, he found him gloomy. Four from ten, he told Angus dejectedly, made four empty places, and there had never, in all his experience, been a single empty seat on a Green Empress.

It was not, he acknowledged, Angus' fault, if a lady had to have hysterics, then she had to—but for a driver with a clean sheet, this series of upsets was the worst possible misfortune.

"I've brought you bad luck, Ferdy, and I'm sorry. But . . . there won't be six in the morning. There'll only be five."

Ferdy stared at him, his mouth agape.

"Five, sir? You mean somebody else has gone and dropped out?"

"Somebody else is going to be dropped out—by me. And if you don't mind, that's all I can tell you at the moment. Tomorrow, I'll give you the whole story."

"You don't have to, sir," said Ferdy, his countenance brightening. "I wish we'd got rid of that young spark before ever we crossed the Channel. With him goe, I'll feel a lot better. You've cheered me up, sir."

HE SLEPT UNEASILY

Angus slept uneasily, and woke early. Having bathed and dressed, his first visit was to the Admiral. He found him in a loose, much-darned dressing gown, drinking his morning tea.

"Just been in to see my sister," he announced, as Angus entered. "She's had a good night, and she's feeling more like herself."

"I'm glad, sir. And you?"

"Me? I'm fine. Fine. There's another Empress coming in this evening, I understand?"

"Yes, sir. She'll be in at about five. She's on her way home from Seville."

"Might get a chat with one or two of her passengers. I shan't feel so marooned. What time are you off?"

"Not until midday, sir, it's not a long run."

Philippines Girl Is Church Guest This Weekend

ROCHESTER — Ruth Malicsi, 20-year-old college student from the Philippines, is a featured guest of the youth of St. Paul's Methodist Church here this weekend.

The occasion of her visit is the annual Youth Mission Parley, designed to give youth a greater understanding of the mission imperative of the church, a church spokesman said today.

Miss Malicsi, who was honored at a reception last night, was to be speaker and soloist a a church-wide banquet tonight and will appear at all church meetings on Sunday.

A product of Methodist Missionary activity in the Philippines, Ruth is studying at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, where she is preparing to return to her island home to serve her people as a teacher.

She will show slides of her native land and be a resource person for several church groups. While in Rochester she is a houseguest of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Douglas Parker.

Contempt of Court Is Charged to Lawyer in Temple Bombing Case

ATLANTA (AP) — A balding 35-year-old industrial engineer was acquitted Friday night of dynamiting the Atlanta Jewish Temple but his defense attorney went to jail for contempt of court.

★ ★ ★

George M. Bright left the courtroom a free man for the first time in three months when a jury of 12 men acquitted him after deliberating two hours and eight minutes.

★ ★ ★

His attorney, white-haired and portly Reuben Garland, was led to jail to start serving 40 days for contempt as the aftermath of numerous clashes with Judge Jeptha Tanksley during the 11-day trial in Superior Court.

Bright's first trial ended in a mistrial last December. The jury then split nine to three for conviction.

★ ★ ★

Bright contended that he was innocent, that he was with a woman when The Temple on famed Peachtree Road was bombed before dawn on Sunday, Oct. 12. Damage was estimated at $96,000.

Social Security Expert Says:

$240 Can Be Saved on Tax

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

You may be entitled to claim a special break on your 1958 income tax return if you're 65 or older and had fairly high income from private pensions, annuities, interest, dividends or rent.

The Internal Revenue Service has labelled the break "retirement income credit." Being entitled to th credit, can mean a tax saving to you of as much as $240.

★ ★ ★

To claim it, you must meet certain requirements as to your prior earnings, present earnings and age. They are:

Age—You must have been 65 by the end of 1958.

Present earnings — You must have had income in 1958 from pensions, annuities, interest, dividends or rents which is taxable. This income is your "retiremetn income" upon which the credit is based.

(Social Security, railroad retirement and veterans payments from the government are not considered as "retirement income" for this purpose.)

Prior earnings—You must have earned income of more than $600 a year in in any 10 years prior to 1959. The IRS will consider that you meet this requirement if you're the widow or widower of a deceased spouse who met the requirement before death.

★ ★ ★

What does it mean if you meet these requirements?

You may be eligible to cut your tax bill by 20 per cent of your 1958 "retirement income." But, the amount of retirement income to which the 20 per cent is applied can't be more than $1,200.

For example: Suppose your only income in 1958 is a taxable pension of $3,000 from a former employer. Your "retirement income credit" is 20 per cent of the first $1,200 of your $3,000 pension or $240. If you had no dependents, the income tax on your pension would normally be $305. But, your retirement income credit is $240. So, you subtract the $240 from the $305 and your actual income tax for 1958 is $65.

In addition to the 20 per cent only applying to the first $1,200 of your retirement income, there's another limitation on the amount of retirement income credit you can claim for 1958.

If you're between 65 and 72, you must reduce the $1,200 — before you apply the 20 per cent — by any Social Security or railroad retirement payments you received and by any wages or salary you received in excess of $1,200. (People 72 or older can ignore this limitation.)

For example: Suppose your 1954 income was a taxable pension of $3,000 from your former employer; $600 in Social Security and $1,500 from odd jobs during the year.

Your retirement income base of $1,200 must be reduced by the $600 in Social Security and the $300 in excess of your earnings over $1,200. Thus, the $1,200 is reduced by $900.

Now, apply the 20 per cent to the remaining $300. This means your retirement income credit is $60. So, you subtract the $60 from the income you would normally pay and you get the actual tax you must pay.

To help you claim this credit, the IRS has a special form which must be attached to your regular tax return. If you have any doubt as to how to figure the credit or whether you're eligible for it, you should get an official answer from the nearest IRS office.

Expected Larger Increases

Overtime Operations Spur New Car Inventories

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — New car inventories have grown as a result of overtime operations by most of the auto makers. However, the increase has not been as great as was expected in most industry quarters.

The Jan. 1 count put dealer stocks at 740,925 units. That was approximately 80,600 cars above the Dec. 1 total.

The cars currrently on hand are about a 39-day supply at the prevailing rate of retail sales. Unofficial sales reports showed a modest drop in daily deliveries, although top industry executives say the current demand supports their earlier predictions of greatly improved profits for manufacturer and merchandiser this year.

Nevertheless, there will be a further increase in dealer inventories during the present month. Factory output thus month will approach the 550,000 unit mark. Retail deliveries will not match that total.

The inventory survey disclosed an estimated 55,000 foreign-built cars on hand Jan. 1. This compared with an estimated 52,500 units in dealer stocks a year earlier.

The smaller imported cars apparently have lost none of their appeal to U.S. motorists. The foreign car display at the Chicago auto show attracted undiminished interest. Many who saw the biggest single showing of imported cars appeared especially interested in price tags.

Whether American motorists will buy a half a million of the smaller imported cars this year as has been suggested in some quarters is yet to be determined. Estimates of last year's imported car sales range from 377,000 to 387,000. Through November of last year the 1958 total was about 328,000.

Volkswagen, leading in foreign car sales in this country accounted for about 71,000 deliveries in January-November last year. The VW total was up about 24,000 units from its total for like 1957.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler continue to avoid any disclosures about their smaller car plans. It is known, however, that all are pushing preliminary work, looking to a possible introduction of the smaller units for the 1960 model year.

Industry chroniclers hear that General Motors has its work farthest advanced. Speculation is that GM will be able to present the new car with the rest of its 1960 models late next October; that Ford will be ready about Dec. 1 and Chrysler soon thereafter.

If this speculation is correct just about every styling and engineering detail of the new smaller cars already has been decided upon. Just as much time is required to put one of the smaller units into production as is needed for a normal new model introduction.

★ ★ ★

Battle Flares Up on Natural Gas

Consumers, Panhandle Fight Buying Plan of Michigan Consolidated

DETROIT (AP)—Another battle over natural gas distribution in Michigan from the supplier source was in motion today.

★ ★ ★

It was set off by a proposal that Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. be permitted to continue as a buyer of an annual 46 billion cubic feet of gas from Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

Michigan Consolidated, saying for a $5,400,000-a-year rate increase, made the proposal to the Federal Power Commission in Washington yesterday.

Both Panhandle Eastern, calling the move "camouflage," and Consumers Power Co., a patron of Panhandle, immediately took exception. Thus a new fight built up.

★ ★ ★

Michigan Consolidated, in effect, asked revocation of the FPC's authorization to Panhandle Eastern to quit its gas distribution in the Detroit market March 15.

For years, Michigan Consolidated, as a customer, and Panhandle Eastern, its supplier, have been at odds over their gas purchase and distribution policies.

Dan E. Karn, president of Consumers Power, made this statement regarding Michigan Consolidated's allocation plan.

"This plan is wholly unsatisfactory to us. It would give us only 2 billion cubic feet of gas a year instead of the 13 billion provided by the Panhandle plan.

"We need the full amount of gas urgently in order to take care of our presently connected business. We will oppose the proposed allocation."

Gar Wood Sales Up

AUTHENTIC EARLY AMERICAN — This rambling eight-room home combines the warm homespun flavor of early American architecture with modern step-saving convenience. There are three bedrooms and two baths downstairs, and space for two additional bedrooms and another bath upstairs. Despite the imposing appearance, the finished area of the basic house covers only 1,476 square feet.

Modern Step Saving Plan Fits into Colonial Design

If you love a crackling winter fire, the simple beauty of early American furniture, the homespun warmth of a big wide-open kitchen, here's a house that's sure to stir your colonial blood.

It's as American as apple pie, with all the flavor and charm of its rustic ancestors — including picturesque outside stairs to the second floor.

Although it looks like a rural mansion, thee house is not excessively large. The habitable area of the first floor is 1,476 square feet. On this level are three bedrooms, living and dining rooms, immense family kitchen and two baths. Another two bedrooms and bath can be added upstairs.

Architect Rudolph Matern didn't provide for defense against Indians in designing X-42 in the House of the Week series of distinguished homes, but little else in early American architecture was ignored.

A long low porch runs across the living room wing. On the inside, just to the left of the entrance foyer, a curving staircase sweeps upstairs. To the right, at the end of the long living room, a panelling above separates a pair of bookcase-cupboard combinations.

While the atmosphere created by the exterior and principal interior features of the house has a nostalgic scent of history, the floor plan is arranged for modern living.

The living room has a wide window (more than 10 feet) in the front and sliding glass doors in the rear to provide outside view both to the front and back. Both glass areas, however, are set back under the overhanging roofs on each side so that the glaring mid-day sun does not penetrate the room.

Six large windows provide plenty of cheerful sunlight and air in the big family kitchen, divided about equally between food preparation area and play or relaxation area. The double "L" arrangement of the kitchen cabinets and work counters puts all facilities within handy reach while promoting the feeling of spaciousness.

Two casual areas are available outside, the inviting front porch and a terrace in the rear reached through the living room's sliding glass doors. This rear terrace enjoys considerable privacy, since it is enclosed on three sides.

SLEEPING AREA

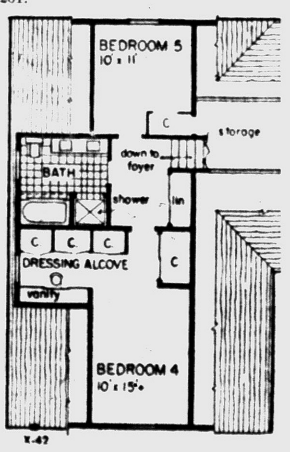

The three bedrooms on the first floor are contained in the front wing and completely isolated from the remainder of the house. The main bath has double basins and a luxurious master bedroom has a full bath all its own. This beautiful main bedroom is more than 17 feet long, and has a big bow window in addition to two regular windows.

The plan provides for two additional bedrooms and a big bath upstairs. These could be finished at a later date if you are working on a tight budget. One of these bedrooms includes a dressing alcove.

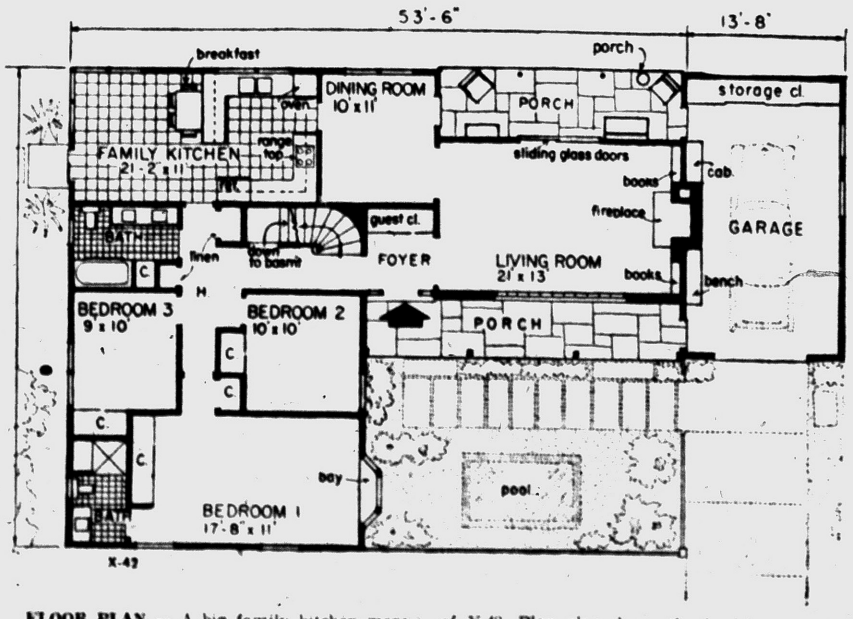

As usual in Matern plans, the house has a spectacular amount of storage space. There are 14 closets for clothes and linen in bedrooms and hallways.

Low headroom storage space on the second floor over the living room (reached either from an upstairs bedroom or the outside stairway) covers more than 300 square feet. The oversize garage contains still more storage, plus cabinets and a workbench. The house also has a full basement, covering 1,400 square feet plus.

X-42 is 67' 2" wide and 40' 10" deep. The first floor has 1,476 square feet of livable space, the second floor another 566. Garage has 336 square feet and porches 261.

SECOND FLOOR—Two bedrooms and bath can be added in the expansion attic.

FLOOR PLAN — A big family kitchen more than 21 feet long is one of the attractive features of X-42. Plan also shows the luxurious master bedroom and impressive living and dining rooms.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOHN F. Turnbull who passed away Jan. 24, 1957.
The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day
But never will the one I love
From memory pass away.
—Marjorie Turnbull

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR brother, John Turnbull, who was taken from us Jan. 24th, 1957.
Gone is the face we loved so dear
Silent the voice we loved to hear
But not too far for sight or speech
But not too far for love to reach
Sadly missed by brothers & sisters.

IN MEMORY OF HARRY W. Ashbaugh who passed away January 25th, 1951, eight years ago.
O, how sweet it will be in that beautiful land
So free from all sorrow and pain
With song on our lips and with harps in our hands
To meet one another again
Sadly missed by your loving family, Mrs. C. J. Bradford.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear mother, Minnie Schramm, who passed away January 25, 1955.
There is a face that is always with us.
There is a voice we would love to hear.
There is a smile we shall always remember.
Of the one we love so dear
Sadly missed by her three daughters.

Dan Dailey Goes Dramatic in Jazz Story

Versatile entertainer Dan Dailey makes his television debut in a straight dramatic role when he stars in "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home?", drama of show business life set in Dixieland jazz on the General Electric Theater, Sunday 9:00-9:30 p. m., Channel 2.

★ ★ ★

Cornet-playing Dixieland bandleader Bill Bailey (Dan Dailey) has seen better days than his current hinterland tour of one-night stands in Texas. In an accident, Bailey's playing hand is injured, and in a small hospital he commiserates over the bad luck that may ruin forever his show business career.

After doling out the last of his cash to return his band members, Bailey is paid a visit by Sara Wilson (Patricia Barry), an attractive, young music instructor at nearby Brazos College. Her proposal that he lecture the students on jazz techniques is laughingly refused by Bailey, until he reconsiders his financial status.

At the college, Bailey's off-beat approach to academics and his authoritative knowledge of jazz brings about a remarkable interest among the music students.

The school enters Bailey's prize pupils in a jazz festival in Dallas and the Dixieland group garners first place and a trip to New York to appear on the Ed Sullivan Show on network television. Before the TV cameras, Bailey is pressed into leading the group with his classic cornet style, the collegiate crew is a smash success, and offers for engagements pour in.

With a new-found success in his grasp, Bailey mulls over the offers, when Sara Wilson also makes a proposal—to return to Brazos College where his talents are needed.

Background music was supplied by an aggregation of veteran Dixieland all-stars. Vocals to the title song were performed by songstress Helen Hume.

11:15 morning service Sunday in observance of National Youth Week.

HORNS IN—Dan Dailey makes his TV debut in a straight dramatic role of a cornet-playing Dixieland band leader in "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home?" The story of show business life is featured on the GE Theater Sunday night at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

The Gingellville fire department fought the blaze which was confined to the kitchen where the stove was located.

Strine estimated the damage to be $150 and no one was injured.

Russia Blocking Atom Ban Talks

U. S. Officials Charge Reds With Trying to Shift Blame to West

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American officials charged today that Russia is blocking progress at the nuclear ban test talks in Geneva and trying to shift the blame onto Britain and the United States.

★ ★ ★

They said Russia obviously was trying to obscure the fact that the Western powers have made a substantial concession in an effort to reach agreement on continued suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

★ ★ ★

This was the conclusion of top U.S. officials after an analysis of Russia's Thursday statement in which the western powers were accused of trying to "bring about failure" of the Geneva talks by raising technical problems.

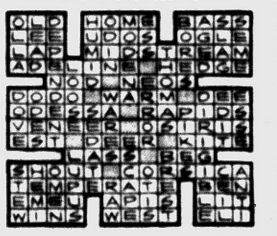

Batista Left Will Behind but No Cash

HAVANA (UPI) — Mrs. Fulgencio Batista's safe deposit box yielded her husband's six million dollar will but no cash to back it up, it was reported today.

Batista's handwritten will of Jan. 17, 1957, bequeathed 2.26 million dollars in cash and 3.74 million in securities to his children, authorities reported.

Although there was no cash, revolutionary government authorities found a cardboard box full of $1,000 bonds of yet undetermined value.

PORCUPINES DO NOT SHOOT QUILLS

Quills are used entirely for defensive purposes. The notion of shooting quills may have arisen from the fact that loose ones sometimes falls out when the animal bristles them. 1 — "Chambers Encyclopedia." 2 — "Century Dictionary." 3 — "Popular Pallacies." — A.S.E. Ackerman.
