Williams Sends $361 Million Budget to State

Suburban Revolution Threatens Expansion of Cities in Michigan

By ROGER LANE
AP Lansing Editor

(First in a series of articles on municipal problems)

People on wheels . . . the baby boom . . . record incomes for tens of millions . . . easy home financing.

Wrapped together, they spawned the suburban fringe problem, the revolution in American living which threatens to strangle Michigan's metropolitan cities and impoverish suburbanites through taxation.

Revolution?

Yes, although not with clashes of fire and steel, and blood in the streets. A stealthy kind of revolution that began sneaking across the land when the horse and buggy went out. It still moves.

You have to stand back to get a clear picture.

Take Flint, one-time buggy capital and now, ironically, a mainstay of the auto industry that put everybody on wheels.

Flint's boundaries held 13,000 persons in 1900. With auto sales hitting high stride, the number zoomed to 125,000 by 1920. It was 151,000 in 1940, 163,000 in 1950 and an estimated 200,000 last year.

PEOPLE SPILL OVER

The city ran out of room. People spilled outside the limits, a human river overflowing local government banks. Genesee County population outside Flint grew from 76,000 in 1940 to an estimated 150,000 in 1957.

Similar floods, rising fast after World War II, engulfed Detroit and Pontiac, Grand Rapids and Saginaw. They washed over Muskegon, Lansing and Jackson. They hit Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Ann Arbor.

With the people came cars, sometimes two to a family. In 1957, automobile registrations in Michigan were crowding three million—that is, there were seven cars for every four licensed 10 years ago, with little more street space to run on.

PARKING BAD, WORSE

The cars choked the streets, first downtown, then cross town routes and the highways leading to burgeoning new "bedroom communities" on city fringes—communities where people who work elsewhere go home to sleep. Parking got terrible, then worse.

City water plants overloaded. You couldn't sprinkle your lawn anymore on hot summer days, and perhaps the pressure dropped at the kitchen sink.

Depression and war-neglected sewers overloaded, too. When it rained, there were backups in basements never wet before.

Overtaxed sewage treatment plants began to pollute streams and lakes.

Doctor's Suit Set for Spring Trial

Hearing in Early April Seems to Be Assured in Sullenberger Case

Trial of a $250,000 damage suit brought against Pontiac General Hospital by an ousted staff surgeon, Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger, seemed assured today of beginning early in April, as Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams advanced the case for early hearing.

He also hinted that he may ask for an outside judge to try the case to prevent delay in trying other pending cases.

"The attorneys tell me this trial may last a month," he said. "The whole docket would be set behind if we tied up one courtroom for that length of time."

He also advanced another suit against the hospital for early trial yesterday. This one was brought by four general practitioners who are members of the hospital staff.

No specific dates for either trial have been set yet.

FIRST TO COME UP

C. Richard Smith, Circuit Court assignment clerk, said that unless Judge Adams ruled otherwise, the suit by the general practitioners would be tried first since it was initiated first.

In both suits, it is argued that the hospital has no right to make its own rules and regulations concerning the professional qualifications of doctors.

Dr. Sullenberger, who also is asking for an injunction forcing his reinstatement, claims that he was wrongly suspended on grounds that he allegedly violated these rules and regulations. He also denies the allegations.

In answer, the hospital says it must have medical rules and regulations to protect the public. Carl I. Flath, the hospital director, cited 25 cases in which Dr. Sullenberger allegedly violated professional medical standards, in six of which he said the patient died.

The other doctors' rights to practice at the hospital have not been questioned. They argue, though, that the medical regulations there deny them the right to practice certain types of surgery.

The state of Michigan in granting them their licenses to practice, they point out, guaranteed them the right to practice medicine freely. The hospital has no right to limit their practices, they say.

Roy Campanella Critically Hurt

Star Dodger Receiver Suffers Fractured Neck in Auto Accident

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (INS)—Roy Campanella, the Los Angeles Dodgers' all-star catcher, suffered a fractured neck early today when his car overturned in Glen Cove and pinned him "like a pretzel."

ACE RECEIVER

Campanella, one of the best receivers in baseball history, was pinned in the wreckage for 45 minutes. He was removed by police and taken to community hospital in Glen Cove where he underwent a long operation to determine the extent of his injuries.

Doctors said his condition was "critical." A hospital spokesman said, however, they "don't know at the moment if there are any other major injuries."

At noon (EST) the hospital reported that Campanella was "still in the operating room" and there was "nothing new" to report on his condition. A hospital spokesman said exploratory surgery had taken "longer than was anticipated."

Campanella entered the operating room at 8:30 a.m. (EST) for an operation to determine the extent of injuries to his nervous system. It was feared one of his legs was paralyzed.

Police said Campanella was trav-

Army Jupiter-C Set to Launch Earth Satellite

Navy's Vanguard Flop Clears Way for Rival's 30-Pound Moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A mighty Jupiter-C missile stood poised on its launching pad here today, ready for its effort to propel a 30-pound American earth satellite into space. The blastoff is expected tomorrow or the next day.

This is a chance the Army has long awaited. It claims it could have fired a satellite into orbit as far mack as 1955, long before the Soviet Sputniks, if it had not been ordered to stand aside and let the Navy do the job with its Vanguard rocket.

Now, in the wake of the Navy's failure to get the temperamental Vanguard off the ground, there is furious activity around the Jupiter-C firing platform. Obviously, the Army has its go-ahead and is close to its zero hour.

The weather is perfect. The tall Jupiter tower stands in bright sunshine and workmen swarming over it can be seen clearly from the beaches outside the top-secret firing range.

Nobody talks officially but optimism is high.

Many experts have expressed the opinion that the Jupiter-C, a creation of the German scientist Wernher von Braun, has a better chance than the Vanguard to put the first American "moon" into orbit around the earth.

The first Vanguard blew up on its firing pad here Dec. 6 after an immense publicity buildup. Last week, a four-day effort to shoot a second Vanguard ended in failure. Bad weather and mechanical difficulties were blamed.

Following that attempt, the Vanguard was dismantled and there seemed no chance that it could be put back together and readied for shooting for several days. That cleared the way for the flight of the Jupiter-C.

Teamster Legal Aid Fund Held Up by Union Chieftain

DETROIT (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa said today collection of a legal defense fund for union officials has been held up temporarily.

"We decided to wait until we have some large meetings of our people," Hoffa said. He explained he meant meetings of the Western, Eastern, Central and Southern conferences of the union this spring.

In union-connected charges, locals will decide whether to pay costs.

In cases involving officials of the international union's headquarters, that group will make the decision on whether to pay.

The international also would decide whether to aid locals in paying defense costs.

Details of the legal defense fund reportedly vetoed by Hoffa first were made public Jan. 9 by Harold J. Gibbons, St. Louis Teamster vice president. He said he was asking "voluntary" contributions of $1,040, payabable at the rate of $10 weekly for two years.

Hoffa declined to discuss details of a Chicago report saying he had called a halt to collection of funds for legal defense of union officials. But he added: "I have read the story. It isn't correct. I said no such things."

The Chicago reports said Hoffa had ordered refunds to officials who already have made contributions.

The Chicago report of the plan said local officials would pay their own defense costs if they were involved in acts which had no direct connection with the union.

'Austerity' Plan Foresees Deficit of $5,200,000

Intangibles Tax Hike Included in Blueprint for 1958-59 Spending

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams last night sent the Legislature an "austerity" budget of $361,400,000 for general state spending in 1958-59.

His expenditure blueprint, which called for 12 million dollars from the general fund to supplement state school aid, foresaw a deficit on June 30, 1959 of $5,200,000 — even with a $20,600,000 intangible tax increase.

Except in a small way, the proposed budget did not reflect two major bonding plans expected to total about 80 million dollars, with actual spending stretched out three years or longer.

Without the school aid item, the general fund budget was for $349,400,000. This compared with the 34 millions voted by the 1957 Legislature for the year ending June 30. Another five million dollars will be required, mostly to meet rising welfare costs.

Williams in a sense disowned his own recommendations, saying they were far too low. He said he was fenced in by an "economy" course set by the Legislature last year.

He said they did not represent his "judgment as to public needs." Rather, he said, they were "an attempt to sustain temporarily the most effective service levels and activities with the inadequate resources available."

The only substantial increase in recommended spending was $14,900,000 for colleges and education generally, plus the school aid item.

To get the money for this, Williams went as far as he could to remove financing of state building needs from the area of current revenue, and wrap them up in a big bonding proposal he will detail later.

TO ASK BOND ISSUE

Aides said the governor late this week probably will call for 50 millions in bonds for new state construction, about three-fourths of it for state colleges and universities.

Another 30 million dollars or so in bonds will be asked, separately and later on, for state park system improvement and expansion, they said.

The two programs were reflected in the operating budget only by a 3-million-dollar item for servicing the anticipated building bonds.

Instead of the $19,900,000 voted for capital improvements in the current fiscal year, the governor asked only $6,300,000 for 1958-59. Of this, more than half would go for maintenance and similar projects unsupportable from bonds.

Because of the capital outlay

British, Turks Continue Battle

Four Cypriots Shot as Demonstration Enters Its Third Day

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — British troops and Turkish Cypriots battled again today on Cyprus for the third successive day. The British opened fire on the first time, and four persons were killed.

Security forces were braced for still more trouble with the island's Turkish minority, which planned a mass protest in connection with the funerals of two of their people killed in the battling Monday between demonstrators and British forces.

Earlier demonstrations had been sparked by Turkish fears that Britain may cede the island to Greece.

But today the Turks were inflamed by the killing of an aged Turkish man and woman. Both were hit by military vehicles trying to push through stone-throwing mobs.

The British opened fire on a crowd of young Turks trying to enter the walled Turkish quarter of Nicosia to attend the funerals. A number of Turks were wounded.

Van Horn Arraigned

Issue Murder Warrant

Accused of the brutal slaying of the wife of a friend, Billy Van Horn, 24, was charged today with first-degree murder.

Van Horn, an unemployed factory worker, was arraigned on a warrant signed by Waterford Township Justice Donald E. Adams and sent back to Oakland County Jail to await examination February 6 at 1:30 p.m.

He was charged with murdering Mrs. Hazel Murdock, 39, in a drunken rage last Friday afternoon.

Asked by reporters if he still stood pat on his confession of the killing, Van Horn replied that he had changed his mind. He said as police officers led him back to jail:

"I was full of two cases of beer when I confessed. I have thought it all out and I know what I did all that day. I did not kill that woman."

Mrs. Murdock's body was found on the kitchen floor of her home, 127 N. Josephine St. by her husband, Drulard, 55, who had befriended Van Horn to help cure his drinking.

Mrs. Murdock had been savagely beaten, stabbed five times, criminally assaulted and strangled with a metal coat hanger. Van Horn confessed the killing Saturday night, saying he had become angered when Mrs. Murdock ordered him to stay away from her home when he had been drinking.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, who took Van Horn's confession down in a notarized statement, recommended that the warrant be issued today on a complaint signed by Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

Asked to comment on Van Horn's repudiation of his confession, Ziem said:

"He has a right to say anything he wants to, of course. We asked him this morning before bringing the charge against him if he wanted to say anything more to us. He told me that he had no desire to make a further statement."

In court, Van Horn refused to allow the prosecutor to postpone the examination date to Feb. 13, six days more than the maximum period that can legally elapse between arraignment and examination without the accused's permission.

"I want to get this thing over with as soon as possible," said Van Horn, whose air of resignation was in contrast with his former sullen appearance in public.

Ziem had explained that the Feb. 6 date would conflict with a first-degree murder trial he is scheduled to prosecute Feb. 4.

Can Hurt Marriage Chances

Going Steady Too Early?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Going steady at too early an age can hurt a girl's chances of getting married, warns an expert on the subject of the unwed woman.

"It stunts her intellectual and social growth," says Dr. Richard H. Klemer, 39, associate general director of the American Institute of Family Relations.

"Suppose she doesn't marry this boy she's been going with since grammar school. She is then far less intellectually and socially equipped for marriage than girls who have been dating lots of boys.

"And women shouldn't be angry or upset about other girl friends their sweethearts or husbands may have had. They're the ones who polished that diamond in the rough the woman now loves."

Dr. Klemer, interviewed at the institute, added that after a girl passes her early 20s, going steady is desirable if she wants to get married.

"After that age, if she is still flitting from one casual acquaintance to another, it could indicate she is unable to develop the deep emotional relationship needed for marriage."

Changes to Meet Requirements Recommended

County Finds Many Nursing Homes Below Standard

By SYLVIA de STEIGER

At least half of the 50 nursing homes and homes for the aged which house more than 900 people in Oakland County do not meet health department nursing and sanitation standards.

Oakland County Health Director Dr. John D. Monroe reports a check up of the homes resulted in the issuance of only three full licenses this year, of the 31 homes investigated.

In its clamp down to improve conditions, the county department has recommended 25 of the 31 be given temporary licenses from three to six months. By then, they must complete all of the requirements ordered.

"We aren't trying to see how many we can deny. Our main interest is in the care of the patients. Some operators have not had enough experience. Through our department, we hope to check, inspect, aid and suggest in carrying out an educational program," Monroe explained.

"Most of the homes are doing a good job. Some of the items objected to are simple and inexpensive to correct but they are important," Monroe added.

The local department was delegated the authority to investigate the homes by the state health department in November. This department was given the responsibility of licensing the homes in August, 1956. Previously, the county welfare department had the job.

The state adopted a new set of rules and regulations for the homes in July, amending and adding to the law.

Among the new requirements, the supervisor of the home must be a practical or registered nurse and "a person whose qualifications and experience have been reviewed by the state health commissioner and health and welfare of the patients."

All personnel must now have annual chest X-rays.

"Some of them just don't know how to determine a patient's condition and observe if it is changing or becoming critical," Martha Johnson, assistant director of nurses for the department, explained.

Although the new rules became effective in July, many of the homes had not yet conformed, and thus were refused full licenses.

Monroe said the investigations of the remaining 21 homes should be completed within a few weeks and their license status can then be determined.

Last year, under the state department, 40 full and six provisional licenses were issued, according to Nurse Johnson.

Two homes were also closed last year because of inadequate or poor management. One was in Pontiac, the other in Royal Oak.

A full license is granted for one year. Provisional licenses are issued providing the homes improve specified conditions within a designated period of one to three years.

The department doesn't want to issue any provisional licenses this year. They want the homes to be up to par sooner . . . within six months.

A nursing home differs from a home for the aged by making medical and nursing service available to patients. There are 950 beds in county homes. They range from four to 85 beds.

Some of the unacceptable conditions found in the homes cited by Monroe were: The issuance of pain-deadening pills without prescriptions or labels, carrying bed pans through the kitchen, no hand rails in bathtubs or on stairways and poor management in food buying.

He described some of the homes as being run "pathetically" and added, "if there are any shysters running them, they will eventually be found."

The sanitation division's inspections revealed a list of "common" violations which needed to be cor-

Fee Hike Eyed by City Realtors

Board May Propose Raise in Commission From 5 to 6 Pct.

Real estate brokers in Pontiac might follow realtors in Detroit in hiking brokerage fees for selling homes to 6 per cent.

Alcuin G. Kampsen, president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors, indicated today that the recommendation that this commission be increased from the present 5 per cent average to 6 probably will be discussed at a meeting Monday.

"There is some opposition to it but I think it will eventually come to pass here," said Kampsen.

Yesterday the Detroit Real Estate Board recommended to its members that they charge 6 per cent for negotiating home sales.

Most Pontiac brokers now receive 5 per cent, Kampsen said.

He emphasized that if the 1 per cent hike goes through it will be solely a recommendation to 69 Pontiac brokers, not a hard and fast rule they must follow.

The firm of Johnson and Anderson, acting as township engineers, were contracted by the former township board to inspect the Lotus Lake Subdivision.

Kolar and Purseer claim that they have paid Johnson and Anderson their share of the inspection fee. A meeting is scheduled for sometime this week for all people involved to get the matter clarified.

$361 Million Budget Submitted to State

maneuver, the governor was able to recommend a total increase of $22,100,000 in proposed operating expenditures, more than two-thirds of it for education.

This was possible notwithstanding an increase in overall general fund outlays, excluding the school aid item, of only $8,500,000 over the 1957-58 spending rate fixed by the Legislature last year.

Besides education, only the areas of mental hygiene and public welfare service came in for increases of more than one million dollars. Cutbacks were recommended in spending for health and public safety and defense.

This compared with an original estimate for the current fiscal year without the intangibles tax hike, of 336 millions. In recent weeks, budget experts pared the figure to 316 millions to reflect the economic slump.

The revenue estimate for next year was predicted on a business upturn.

Williams said it was noteworthy that recommended expenditures were 158 million dollars less than agency requests. More than "water" was squeezed out in the reduction, he said.

HIKE FOR MENTAL AID

He called for $68,200,000 for mental hygiene purposes, an increase of $2,000,000—the largests recommended in any operating area outside education.

Much of this would go for adding 180 employes, mostly to mental hospital staffs. He also asked establishment of three new child guidance clinics and one for adults.

And he urged roughly $600,000 more for LaFayette Clinic, Hawthorn Center, Children's Psychiatric Hospital, the Neuropsychiatric Institute and the Mental Health Research Center.

In this, he said, greatest emphasis was placed in research and training activities. A meaningful comparison of allotments proposed for various mental institutions could not be made because available figures for the current year fail to reflect employe salary increases given during the year.

The governor asked $57,400,000 for public welfare service, up two million dollars. But the indicated increase is something of an illusion, he said, because the spending rate for welfare programs, especially direct relief, already has risen because of lengthening rolls.

He said $607,622 was asked to finance a reduction in caseloads for individual social workers in hopes resultant closer screening of welfare applicants would lower the number of recipients about 1,000.

MILLION FOR REHABILITATION

One million dollars was urged for vocational rehabilitation. He said this would enable the state to qualify for a federal grant of nearly $1,600,000 and ultimately reduce welfare costs by restoring handicapped citizens to economic independence.

The governor said the state could get by on $300,000 less for public health and allied purposes because of a changing picture in tuberculosis.

A declining number of patients are being treated, he said, and it was "assumed" some local sanitoria will give up TB care, thus losing eligibility for state subsidies.

A gloomy tone pervaded the message as though Williams would have been shaking his head if he read it to the lawmakers.

In places, he asked for a few more state probation and parole officers, a couple of more employes for the Municipal Finance Commission, $15,000 for an Atomic Energy Commission and so on.

But there were many more passages like this:

"In other areas the outlook is even less hopeful.

"In the Corporation and Securities Commission, the Department of Labor and the Workmen's Compensation Department reductions in present programs will be necessary, and their present inability to provide adequate service will continue."

RITA GETS LICENSE FOR FIFTH MARRIAGE — Actress Rita Hayworth and producer James Hill fill out an application for a marriage license in Santa Monica, Calif. They said the wedding, the fifth for Rita and the first for Hill, will take place early next month, with a honeymoon to follow in Europe.

Reuther Seeking to Compel Airing of Pricing Plans

WASHINGTON (INS) — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther asked Congress today to "put the public at the bargaining table" by forcing big producers like General Motors to air price boosts in advance at federal hearings.

The red-haired UAW-CIO chief charged that "extortionate price increases" in the auto industry have contributed to inflation and the current recession.

Reuther, who is advocating a profit-sharing plan in the auto industry, denied industry's claim that wage hikes have caused the higher prices.

He said in a prepared statement that GM could have absorbed all wage increases since 1955 and "still have made profits after taxes exceeding 20 per cent return on net worth."

Reuther was the first scheduled witness in the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee investigation of "administered prices" in the giant auto industry. He was to be followed by GM President Harlow Curtice on Thursday, and by Ford, Chrysler and American Motors executives next week.

CONSUMERS' COUNSEL

The UAW boss urged Congress to create an independent office of "consumers' counsel." This office, he said, could intervene on behalf of consumers in a review of contemplated price increases in any "monopoly - controlled industries."

Once findings by the agency had been published, Reuther explained, the corporation involved would be "entirely free" to boost prices if it wished.

But the public, he said, would then "have the means" to decide whether the increase was justified. He said this would have a "wholesome effect" on both unions and management in wage negotiations.

Committee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said his group did not intend to "mediate a wage dispute" or lay the basis for prosecution against labor or management.

He said it wished to determine whether antitrust laws are adequate to assure the "fruits of competition to the American public."

ADDITIONAL CLAIMS

— Price increases imposed by the auto corporations have been "up to $5 for every $1 gained in wage increases."

— The vast expansion of auto plant and equipment has been almost entirely paid for by consumers through "extortionate price increases."

—Competition between the "big three" producers doesn't affect prices—"there is no price competition." He said GM is the "price leader" and smaller firms will not attempt to undercut its price. Reuther said Ford in 1957 made a "double" price boost on some models to virtually match those of Chevrolet.

—GM price policies are "intended to insure 20 per cent net profits even if plants operate only 36 weeks per year." Reuther said he singled out GM because it is the price leader.

Many Nursing Homes Found Substandard

Henry Costantino, assistant sanitation director, said the biggest problem was sewage disposal. Several homes would have to dig new wells because the present ones were less than the required distance from the sewage disposal system.

New septic tanks and tile fields would have to be replaced by some homes to prevent "sewage from coming to the ground surface."

Some need booster heaters to provide the 170 degree temperatures for rinse water in washing dishes. Others violated the law by drying dishes with towels. Many homes did not have the required thermometer in each refrigerator.

Proper facilities for cleaning and disinfecting bed pans were not available in some homes. "Some washed them in a bathtub," he added.

The new rules require records and reports of communicable diseases, poisoning, and foodborne disease and poisoning; each patient admitted to a home must be examined by a physician before or promptly after admissions; a record of admitting diagnosis and treatment plan must be kept; all medicines and individual prescription must be kept in locked cabinet and narcotics be locked up inside another locked cabinet; record detailed death reports; quarterly physician's notes on each patient; and detailed record of all accidents.

The above new rules also had not been observed in the management of many of the homes.

This year, local departments have a "critical" list of rules which must be obeyed before a full license is issued. The list will grow yearly until 1962 when all of the rules must be in effect.

The department intends to conduct follow-up inspections of the homes about six times during the year, Monroe said.

A district or countywide meeting with health officials and home operators will be set up soon. These would be held to interpret the rules, discuss care of patients and proper diets and rehabilitation programs with the operators, he added.

Suburban Revolution Threat to Expansion

A dozen other problems were born or intensified—problems of fire, police and health protection, rubbish pickup, lighting and paving new streets.

BUSHELS OF MONEY

Solutions cost money, bushels of it. Cities jacked up tax rates and assessments, and floated bond issues.

Between 1947 and 1957, city tax levies tripled in Jackson, Flint and Saginaw, and nearly tripled in Battle Creek. The Muskegon levy jumped to 3½ times its 1947 size. Levies doubled or more in many smaller cities.

Statewide, city debt boomed to well beyond a half billion dollars, more than twice 1947, with nearly all the extra borrowing to finance sewer and water supply improvements.

School districts bonded like fury to build more classrooms and get boys and girls out of improvised setups in corridors, gymnasiums, utility rooms and basements. School debt shot up five times what it was, and neared a half billion dollars.

City tax bills got so high they became another argument for living outside. Before this, houses were going up on the city fringes in clusters. That exploded in size like kernels of popcorn.

The pioneer fringe dwellers wanted "lebenaraum"—half-acre lots for their children and dogs to play on, fresher air, a glimpse of the sunset, a two-car garage and FHA financing.

PEACE FOR A TIME

They had dug a well for water or hooked onto the city system. A septic tank and drain field served for sanitation. Mostly, the children went into town to school. The latter day pioneers found the peace they sought.

All this changed when the trickle of migration to the suburbs grew to a stream, and suddenly to a torrent.

Cities were spawned almost over night in corn fields, cities without sewers, paved streets, schools, policemen, firemen, street lights, hydrants, rubbish collection and parks—or some combination of these—and an ill-suited rural type of government to provide them.

Thus arose the urban fringe problem, perhaps the knottiest of our time in domestic government.

The Day in Birmingham

City Commissioners OK Rejection of Lowest Bid

BIRMINGHAM — City Engineer Grover Serenbetz was backed by commissioners last night in his opinion not to award the Pine-Raynale sewer project in the Quarton Estates Subdivision to the firm which submitted the lowest bid.

In declining to accept the low bidder, the Vito Trucking and Excavating Co. of Hazel Park, Serenbetz said:

"It is not that we feel the company poorly equipped or unable to handle large contracts. Nowhere in the firm's background, however, can we find any evidence of experience in this type of work.

"The Vito firm has done a great deal of excavating on many large eling alone about 3:30 a.m. (EST) in Glen Cove, where he makes his home, when the auto skidded jobs, but it has never handled a sewer installation alone," Serenbetz said.

L. R. Gare, city manager, and Serenbetz said that the nature of the project and the April 15 completion date demand a lot experience.

Eleven members of the Birmingham Police Department, are eligible for examinations being given Friday and Saturday for three promotions in the department, according to Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley.

Examinations will be for lieutenant, one sergeant and one detective post. Final results will be known about 10 days after the examination, he said.

Two men had a narrow escape from death last night in Bloomfield Township.

Police Chief Norman Dehnke said Frank Dibble, about 50, of Elkton and his son, Robert, 26, of Saginaw, had pulled off the road at Telegraph and Square Lake Rds. to change a tire.

As they were placing the wheel on the rim, the tire exploded, knocking both men into the middle of Telegraph road, Dehnke said.

The son was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, suffering minor concussion. The father was treated and released.

The annual March of Dimes will be held in Birmingham tomorrow.

Area captains have announced that the drive will not necessarily follow the pattern of the Porch light campaign. Solicitors may make their neighborhood contacts during the afternoon, they said.

First Presbyterian Church Congregation and Corporation will hold their yearly meeting at the church at 8 p.m. Thursday. Reports of all the church organizations and those of the board of trustees will be heard.

Ace Dodger Catcher Injured in Accident

When the accident occurred, the ball player was only about a mile and a half from his home in the Long Island community.

Dr. W. Spencer Gurnee, who heard the crash outside his home, and was the first person on the scene, said:

"Campanella was thrown from the driver's side of the car to the passenger side and was pinned on the passenger side all up in a little ball and had to stay that way until we could get him out of there.

"He was very dazed and I gave him a heavy sedative in the car.

NO FEELING

"Campanella said, 'I can't feel anything in my legs. I can't move my legs.'

"Campanella's car bounded off a pole, overturned and turned around, then turned around in the direction in which it was going.

"Maybe he went to sleep. He said he skidded on wet pavement, but he never went into the S-turn at all."

"I was the first one there. Roy was twisted up like a pretzel. He was pinned in and couldn't move.

"It took about 45 minutes to get him out of there. I gave him a sedative—morphine—while he was still pinned inside. Finally, a wrecker came and put the car upright.

"Roy was on his stomach. He kept yelling to me, 'Get me out, get me out.'

"I told him, 'I'm a doctor. Stay in there.'"

"I gave him four nembutal capsules and told him to chew them. Then I gave him another shot of morphine at the hospital.

"He doesn't feel pain now. He went into shock."

Van Horn Appears in Justice Court

ed attorney by taking him before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty this week to have one selected. Van Horn said he had no money to hire an attorney to act on his behalf.

Meantime, Visiting Circuit Judge Hiram Smith of Livingston County has dismissed a petition asking that Van Horn be committed to Pontiac State Hospital as an alcoholic.

Of two court-appointed psychiatrists who examined Van Horn, one said he needed treatment for drinking and the other said he didn't.

"Both psychiatrists have to agree on the treatment in order to commit a patient," said Judge Smith. "Therefore I'm dismissing the case. In my opinion, now that a murder has occurred, this case would be better handled in Circuit Court anyway."

Dr. Abraham Tauber certified treatment was necessary because of Van Horn's "irritability, hostility and admitted excessive use of beer and resultant threatening and homicidal feelings toward his family and in-laws."

Dr. L. Jerome Fink described Van Horn as a "criminal psychopath with an impulse-ridden character," but noted that he was not an alcoholic.

"He is definitely not insane," Dr. Fink said.

The petition had been filed by Van Horn's wife, Audrey, 24, who said her husband had been drinking "to excess for a long time." When under the influence of alcohol, she said, he would "fly into terrific rages."

She cited his "constant brutality" as her reason for separating from him last September and return to Pontiac with their 18-months-old son to live with her parents. "He repeatedly struck me about the head and face when he had been drinking," her petition stated.

After Van Horn followed her to Pontiac, she stated, he repeatedly telephoned her home threatening her mother and ten-year-old twin sisters. Once he threatened "to choke my mother to death," she said, and "to dynamite the house."

George H. Burt, vice chairman of the social welfare board, recommended to Probate Court two days before the killing that the State Department of Mental Health arrange to commit Van Horn in a Chicago hospital.

In discussing the inability of Probate Court to commit Van Horn, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore said yesterday that the fault does not lie in commitment procedures.

"What we need are better facilities for alcoholics who may become mental patients. There are people who become dangerous under the influence of alcohol.

Northeast Doused for 3rd Day

Snow, Rain Plague U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and rain again plagued much of the nation today with the Northeast quarter of the country getting a January dousing for the third straight day.

In the vast area from Minnesota and Iowa eastward, there was light snow. At the eastern edge of the bad weather—the Atlantic Coast—rain fell.

The greater Boston area reported flooding as two rivers — the Neponset and the Charles—went out of their banks. Both were at flood stage with the Neponset expected to rise two feet over flood stage and the Charles three feet over flood stage.

Moderate snowfall resulted in extensive slippery sections on state highways in Gogebic, Houghton and Marquette areas of the Upper Peninsula.

A combination of light rain or snow created slippery spots, some rather extensive, on state highways in the Benton Harbor area and the southern half of the Kalamazoo area of the Lower Peninsula.

Judge's Order Returns Horse to Home Stable

Judge Doty granted the writ on the request of Hoyt L. Wilson, 28, of Detroit, who charged that his mare was being held illegally by trainer Ben Simms in a stable in Novi Township.

Surrendering the pacer to a member of the county sheriff's posse, Simms explained he was only holding Dusty as collateral to collect more than a thousand dollars he said Wilson owed him for stabling the horse.

The judge ruled Wilson was the rightful owner regardless. It is believed to be the first time since 1870 that such a writ was used to recover a horse.

The march will be conducted in South Lyon Friday night.

Would Give Michigan Millions

Study Income Tax Plans in Use by Other States

DETROIT (AP) — Students of Michigan's tax structure were told today that the Wisconsin state income tax if applied in Michigan would have yielded 224 million dollars in 1956.

Income tax laws of four other states, if effective here, would have yielded as follows: Iowa's, 90 million dollars; Maryland's, 165 millions; Massachusetts', 164 millions, and New York's, 186 millions.

The data, worked up by its research staff, was presented to legislative and citizen members of the tax study group headed by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) on the Wayne State University campus.

Interest in the income tax report was heightened by the state's current dire financial straits coupled with private talk among many lawmakers that such a tax is just around the corner for Michigan, with 1959 the likely year of adoption.

A second research report reviewed by the group dealt with the corporation franchise tax, source of 47 million dollars last year for general purpose state spending.

Several possibilities for making the franchise levy more productive were discussed.

The Conlin study still is in its early stages. No conclusions have resulted.

The income tax report, by Milton C. Taylor, Michigan State University economics professor, said that 29 states now depend on this levy, or 31 if New Hampshire and Tennessee are counted.

These two states tax income from intangibles.

In 1957, the state income tax ranked third in revenue productivity for all state governments for $1,563,000,000. The general sales tax, used by 33 states, brought in $3,291,000,000 and state motor fuel taxes $2,821,000,000.

Eighteen states now have both sales and personal income taxes, Taylor said. Only three have neither.

Four times, the question of adopting a state income tax has been put to Michigan voters and turned down, the last time in 1936.

On the tax pattern and yield question, Taylor supplied these criteria to make his comparisons more meaningful:

Wisconsin has tax rates graduated from 1.2 to 10.2 per cent, exemptions in tax (that is, tax credits) of $14 for married persons and $7 for each dependent and limited deductibility of federal income taxes.

New York has rates from 1.7 to 7 per cent, exemptions of $2,500 for married persons and $400 for each dependent and no federal income tax deductibility.

Iowa's rates range from eight-tenths of one per cent to 4 per cent, a tax credit of $24 for married persons and $12 for dependents and federal deductibility.

Maryland and Massachusetts both employ flat rate taxes, the former 2 per cent and the latter 2½ per cent.

Maryland taxes net investment income at 2 per cent for the first $500 and 5 per cent of all income over $500.

Massachusetts has a 23 per cent surtax due to expire in 1959, taxes, interest and dividends at 6 per cent, income from annuities at 1½ per cent and net gains from intangibles at 6 per cent.

Taylor said it wouuld be a fairly simple matter to design an income tax for Michigan geared to a predetermined yield, say 100 million dollars a year. He said most states, income taxes follow the general patern provided in the corresponding federal levy for ease in administration and taxpayer convenience.

She Expects to Visit Moon Before Retiring

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — Aviatrix Ruth Nichols expects to be flying to the moon about the time she starts drawing social security.

"Within the next 10 years," grinned the 56-year-old "First Lady of Aviation." And neither age, weight nor sex will be a deterrent to space travelers, she added.

Miss Nichols, who has just set a new unofficial women's altitude record by zooming 51,000 feet in a supersonic jet, says that feat was "just as easy as sitting in a rocking chair."

"There may be a great deal of discomfort in the early space flights, but as we learn to negate the force of acceleration, it won't be just the thin, young people who make space flights."

"Anyhow," smiled the blue-eyed, red-haired veteran woman pilot, "if I have to I'll reduce from my present 149 pounds."

Miss Nichols, who holds more first places and records than any other American woman pilot, has been flying since she was 18—"but not as much now as I'd like to."

FEW OPPORTUNITIES

"There are few opportunities for women pilots today except as instructors or as cargo pilots," she noted. "I think girls who want to take part in the coming space industry better study engineering."

Miss Nichols, who doesn't own a plane because "I can't afford it—even a small twin-engine plane costs $75,000," does most of her flying now as a lieutenant colonel in the Civil Air Patrol. Her altitude feat in a TF102A interceptor was performed on a "familiarization flight" with an Air Force colonel.

"I think it's the highest any woman has ever flown," Miss Nichols said with satisfaction. "We were doing 871 miles per hour, probably nearly 1,000 m.p.h. in dives."

"There was no sensation of height or speed. We might have been standing still—and the same thing will be true of space ships."

Miss Nichols admits her "lifelong love affair with flying" has brought her not only almost every honor in aviation but a broken back, a broken leg, a crushed nose and a burned hand.

PIONEERING MISHAPS

"But those were accidents incurred in pioneer record flying," she emphasized. "In regular commercial and private flying, I've never had a scratch!"

She noted statistics prove that the average commercial flight is safer than driving an auto, and grinned: "Most fliers drive very slowly in autos—they're too close to other people on the ground."

Miss Nichols, who says anybody afraid of flying is just suffering from a "human fear of heights," optimistically awaits the day when youngsters take school courses bearing on flight as casually as they now take driving instruction.

"The space industry is going to be a great industry of the future," she said. "But the new planes have so many instruments and gadgets we need highly skilled maintenance men more than anyanything."

Plunge Through Ice Kills 3 Ontario Boys

CHATHAM, Ont. (AP)—Three Chatham area boys drowned Sunday when they plunged into seven feet of water while attempting to cross McGregor's Creek on ice here.

Dead are Robert Milben, 13, and his half-brother, Kenneth Price, 7, both of Chatham; and their cousin, Alfred McCathern, 10, of Chatham Township.

A witness told police he saw the boys venture onto ice which covered all but the center of the pond. He said they were wearing knee boots and officers said they apparently tried to wade across the opening stretch.

Venezuela Regime Gets Army Backing

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's revolutionary junta was bolstered today by a pledge of all-out support from the armed forces.

The pledge was delivered to the junta president, Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal, last night as the new regime made progress in bringing order out of the turmoil that followed the ouster of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

Defense Minister Jesus Maria Castro Leon told Larrazabal the armed forces were "united in the most absolute form in their decision to support absolutely the present government." Larrazabal declared the pledge gave his five-man group the needed power to ensure peace again.

Call Girl's Talk to College Class Called Mistake

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Dr. Oliver Willham, president of Oklahoma State University, said bringing a prostitute to the campus to lecture to a criminology class was an error.

"I can assure the public it will not happen again," Willham said. "We must have academic freedom but information presented to the students must be carefully prepared."

Prof. Le C. May, in whose class o. upperclassmen and graduate students the prostitute appeared, said he was going on with plans to bring the students first-hand knowledge of underworld characters.

Man Stands Mute to Robbery Charge

One of two men accused with holding up a third man in Hazel Park last month of $160, stood mute to an armed robbery charge when he was arraigned yesterday before Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick.

Judge Hartrick entered a plea of innocent for Eugene A. Michels, of 11463 Young St., Warren. He is held in the county jail after he could not post a $3,000 bond.

To be sentenced Feb. 10 for the same robbery, will be Walter Hossele, of the same address as Michels. He pleaded guilty when arraigned Monday before Judge Hartrick. He also is in the county jail for failure to post a $3,000 bond.

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy for a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. After several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route, Miss Marple figures that the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, rich manufacturer. She asks Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman, who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic—to get herself employed at Rutherford Hall. Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, engages her. In a barn, Lucy pries open a sarcophagus and finds the body of a murdered woman. Mrs. McGillicuddy identifies the picture of the murdered woman as that of the woman she saw in the train. Just before Christmas Martine, the girl Edmund Crackenthorpe, who was killed in the war, was going to marry, wrote Emma asking if she might visit them but later canceled the visit. Emma invites Miss Marple to tea. When Miss Marple suggests Emma may make a successful marriage, the brothers are not overpleased. Lucy received offers of marriage, of a partnership, and of employment from the brothers. French police will trace Anna Stravinska, dancer, and ascertain if Lt. Edmund Crackenthorpe was married to a French girl named Martine.

CHAPTER 23

On Craddock's return Sergeant Wetherall was waiting to report with gloomy relish:

"Accommodation address, sir — that's what 126 Elvers Crescent is —quite respectable and all that—"

"Any identification?"

"No—nobody could recognize the photograph as that of a woman who had called for letters—but I don't think they would anyway—it's a month ago, very near, and a good many people use the place. It's actually a boarding house for students."

"She might have stayed there under another name."

He added—

"We circularized the hotels—nobody registering as Marine Crackenthorpe anywhere—On receipt of your call from Paris, we checked up on Anna Stravinska—she was registered with other members of the Company in a cheap hotel off Brook Green — mostly theatricals there—she cleared out on the night of Thursday 19th after the show—no further record—"

Craddock nodded. He suggested a line of further inquiries—though he had little hope of success from them.

After some thought, he rang up Wimborne, Henderson and Carstairs and asked for an appointment with Mr. Wimborne.

In due course, he was ushered into a particularly airless room where Mr. Wimborne was sitting behind a large old-fashioned desk covered with bundles of dusty looking papers. Various deed boxes labeled Sir John ffoulkes, dec. Lady Derrin, George Rowbotham, Esq., ornamented the walls; whether as relics of a bygone era or as part of present day legal affairs, the Inspector did not know.

Mr. Wimborne eyed his visitor with the polite wariness characteristic of a family lawyer towards the police.

"What can I do for you, Inspector?"

"This letter—" Craddock pushed Martine's letter across the table. Mr. Wimborne touched it with distasteful finger but did not pick it up. His color rose very slightly and his lips tightened.

"Quite so," he said, "quite so! I received a letter from Miss Emma Crackenthorpe yesterday morning, informing me of her visit to Scotland Yard and of—ah—all the circumstances. I may say that I am at a loss to understand—quite at a loss—why I was not consulted about this letter at the time of its arrival! Most extraordinary! I should have been informed immediately . . ."

Inspector Craddock repeated soothingly such platitudes as seemed best calculated to reduce Mr. Wimborne to an amenable frame of mind.

"I'd no idea that there was ever any question of Edmund's having married," said Mr. Wimborne in an injured voice.

Inspector Craddock said that he supposed—in war time—and left it to trail away vaguely.

"War time!" snapped Mr. Wimborne with waspish acerbity. "Yes indeed, we were in Lincoln's Inn Fields at the outbreak of war and there was a direct hit on the house next door, and a great number of our records were destroyed. Not the really important documents, of course; they had been removed to the country for safety. But it caused a great deal of confusion. Of course, the Crackenthorpe business was in my father's hands at that time. He died six years ago."

"I daresay he may have been told about this so called marriage of Edmund's—but on the face of it, it looks as though that marriage, even if contemplated, never took place, and so, no doubt my father did not consider the story of any importance. I must say, all this sounds very fishy to me. This coming forward, after all these years, and claiming a marriage and a legitimate son. Very fishy, indeed. What proofs had she got, I'd like to know?"

"Just so," said Craddock. "What would her position, or her son's position be?"

"The idea was, I suppose, that she would get the Crackenthorpes to provide for her and for the boy."

"Yes, but I meant, what would she and the son be entitled to, legally speaking — if she could prove her claim?"

"Oh, I see." Mr. Wimborne picked up his spectacles which he had laid aside in his irritation, and put them on, staring through them at Inspector Craddock with shrewd attention. "Well, at the moment, nothing, but if she could prove that the boy was the son of Edmund Crackenthorpe, born in lawful wedlock, then the boy would be entitled to his share of Josiah Crackenthorpe's trust on the death of Luther Crackenthorpe. More than that, he'd inherit Rutherford Hall, since he's the son of the eldest son."

"Would anyone want to inherit the house?"

"To live in? I should say, certainly not. But that estate, my dear inspector, is worth a considerable amount of money. Very considerable. Land for industrial and building purposes. Land which is now in the heart of Brackhampton. Oh yes, a very considerable inheritance."

"If Luther Crackenthorpe dies, I believe you told me that Cedric gets it?"

"He inherits the real estate—yes, as the eldest surviving son."

"Cedric Crackenthorpe, I have been given to understand, is not interested in money?"

Mr. Wimborne gave Craddock a cold stare.

"Indeed? I am inclined, myself, to take statements of such a nature with what I might term a grain of salt. There are doubtless certain unworldly people who are indifferent to money. I myself have never met one."

Mr. Wimborne obviously derived a certain satisfaction from this remark.

"Harold and Alfred Crackenthorpe," he ventured, "seem to have been a good deal upset by the arrival of this letter?"

"Well they might be," said Mr. Wimborne. "Well they might be."

"It would reduce their eventual inheritance?"

"Certainly. Edmund Crackenthorpe's son—always presuming there is a son—would be entitled to a fifth share of the trust money."

"That doesn't really seem a very serious loss?"

Mr. Wimborne gave him a shrewd glance.

"It is a totally inadequate motive for murder, if that is what you mean."

"Oh! So the police have been making inquiries? Yes, Alfred is almost incessantly in low water. Occasionally he is very flush of money for a short time—but it soon goes. Harold, as you seem to have discovered, is at present somewhat precariously situated."

"In spite of his appearance of financial prosperity?"

"Facade. All facade! Half these city concerns don't even know if they're solvent or not. Balance sheets can be made to look all right to the inexpert eye. But when the assets that are listed aren't really assets — when those assets are trembling on the brink of a crash —where are you?"

"Well, he wouldn't have got it by strangling his late brother's widow," said Mr. Wimborne. "And nobody's murdered Luther Crackenthorpe which is the only murder that would do the family any good. So really, Inspector, I don't see where your ideas are leading you."

The worst of it was, Inspector Craddock thought, that he wasn't very sure himself.

Seek Mental Patient In Mother's Death

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Police today pressed an intensive search for Billy Joe Burns, a 24-year-old former mental patient wanted for question in connection with the mutilation slaying of his mother.

"We can't waste any time," said Chief of Detectives Clyde Grigsby. "We don't know whether he's dangerous to others or not."

The head of Mrs. Edna Burns, 56, was found by some children yesterday in the vestibule of a Catholic church here. Police later broke into the locked Burns home and discovered the headless corpse in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor.

Burns was released from a mental hospital last year, Grigsby said.

Rossellini Asks Court to Annul Tie With Ingrid

ROME (AP) — Roberto Rossellini has asked a Rome court to annul his marriage to Ingrid Bergman. The actress is not contesting the Italian film director's suit.

Rossellini claimed Miss Bergman was "still technically married" to Dr. Peter Lindstrom when she married the Italian film director by proxy in Mexico May 24, 1950. Fraudulent marriage is a legal ground for annulment in Italy, where divorce is not legal.

Waste Millions, Says Scientist

Withdrawal of Support From Nearly Completed Projects Cited

WASHINGTON (INS) — A top scientist said today millions of dollars have been wasted by the "arbitrary" withdrawal of support from research projects as they were about to bear fruit.

Dr. Lloyd Berkner, president of Associated Universities, Inc., said money twice was denied for what he called "first class rocket research" at the Naval research laboratory since World War II.

Berkner told a House Government Operations subcommittee that he has little doubt that work on the Vanguard earth satellite project would have been much advanced but for interruptions in research.

He said that "research simply cannot be turned on and off at will." He said it is imparative that research be freed of budget fluctuations if the U.S. is to keep in the forefront of scientific progress.

Junior Editors Quiz on CINDERELLA

QUESTION: Was there a real Cinderella?

ANSWER: Cinderella is the beautiful, mistreated heroine of a fairy tale which has delighted children in almost every country. It is the story of a girl in ragged clothes whose jealous stepsisters made her sit among cinders in the chimney corner. But Cinderella's fairy godmother helps her attend a ball where she charms the prince of the kingdom, who manages to marry her.

Stories like that, of Cinderella were known to the Egyptians thousands of years ago and are found in German folk tales of the 16th Century. The English version is the translation of a story written by Charles Perrault, a Frenchman, in 1696. Sometime, some place, there must have been a girl like Cinderella, but it doesn't seem probable that she had a fairy godmother, a pumpkin carriage and a glass slipper, too.

Parents Foiled; Young Britishers Married in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Tessa Kennedy and Dominic Elwes, the young British couple who were foiled by her father in efforts to marry in Britain, finally were wed here last night, a Cuban notary public said.

Notary Oscar Rangel said he secretly married the 19-year-old runaway heiress and the 26-year-old son of a society painter at his downtown office. He refused to give any details.

Other sources said the young lovers planned to remain in Cuba for some time. They flew from Curacao Sunday night and remained in seclusion.

How the two got around a required two-week marriage waiting period was not immediately explained. Some persons speculated they had posted official notice of intention in advance of their arrival here.

Progress Hindered by Our Double Standard

American parents and citizens don't particularly like it when a lot of the blame is tossed at them for this country's lag in education and hospitals.

But let's face up to it since it is true.

As citizens, many times we are an odd lot. You could say in some instances we live by sort of a double standard. When we analyze the situation, it seems rather selfish. But perhaps it is just human nature.

Just think for a moment of our private lives. We all want the best. Check over what we all expect for our every day existence. A good automobile, TV sets, dishwashers, hi fi, deep freezers, new homes, new clothes of the latest styles and plenty of toys for the children.

Now take another look at public affairs and see where we stand. How many of us in the last few years have driven to the voting booths in fine cars and there cast our ballots against bond issues? This is our privileged right as citizens.

Many times our "no" vote will be cast and we turn right around and go on a shopping spree for a new stove or refrigerator. The vote was against improving schools or hospitals.

There can be no doubt that schools and hospitals, not just in Pontiac, but across the nation have suffered immeasurably. Some pretty sad chapters have been written about some of the services available.

Certainly this does not mean we do not have many fine schools and hospitals. Many are first rate institutions. However, some are far below standard.

Why? It must be that we just won't face the facts.

We all expect and demand the best possible services for ourselves, but when it comes to something as intangible as public institutions, we shrug our shoulders and look the other way.

In this rich, resourceful country we could have them if we really wished it. If you are an average citizen, you can't doubt this. Just turn the key in and look around: nothing much substandard there.

Congress to Discuss Higher Service Pay

The most significant part of the military pay bill submitted to Congress by President EISENHOWER would base increases on merit and not on length of service.

Compensation would be geared to special skills and ability. This is aimed at keeping capable men in the services after they have been trained at public expense. The recommendations are substantially those submitted 10 months ago by the CORDINER Committee and approved by the former Defense Secretary WILSON. They were held up by the Budget Bureau for fear the plan would prove inflationary.

The committee conceded that its recommendations would cost more at the beginning but contended that by 1962 or earlier the savings in defense costs would amount to $5 billion. However, if the proposed increases are approved, the cost in 1959 would drop $200 million, to $10.5 billion, because the budget calls for 83,000 fewer men in uniform.

On July 1 under the bill a six per cent increase in base pay would go to 1.1 million men in service two years regardless of merit ratings. On the same date some 700,000 other men and officers would qualify for larger raises under a new base-pay scale. Draftees and newly enlisted volunteers and officers just beginning their service would continue at the present rate. The new pay hike is intended as an incentive to keep men in the services.

Congress should adopt at least some major provisions. The services could then make better use of their skilled and expensive-to-train personnel, 90 per cent of whom at the present time do not re-enlist but enter civilian employment at much higher pay.

Never Hit a Guy When He's Down

David Lawrence Says:

Today's Events Bear on Outcome

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Every now and then a "communique" could be issued to take account of the concurrent happenings around the world in the "cold war."

Thus, in the last 48 hours the following developments have occurred which could have a significant bearing on the eventual outcome of the momentous conflict between the East and the West:

ANKARA, Turkey — The United States, along with Great Britain, has just pledged its moral and military support to the countries of the Baghdad Pact — namely, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan. Secretary Dulles, present at the conference, recalled that Congress had authorized the President to use America's Armed Forces to assist any nation or group of nations against armed aggression by international Communism. Mr. Dulles assured the Baghdad Pact countries that "they can be confident that mobile power of great force would, as needed, be brought to bear against any Communist aggressor." He said the Mideast "long has been coveted by the Russians," who have intensified and enlarged their "effort at subversion."

CAIRO—Syria and Egypt—which lean toward the Soviets—are joining their governmental structures together to form a united front against the rest of the Middle East.

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McElroy gave details of President Eisenhower's $39.8-billion defense budget to the House Appropriations committee and said that, if new scientific or production developments made possible a further speed-up in missile work, he would come back with supplemental requests for more money.

MOSCOW—"Pravda" said that some 50 million persons were undertaking various technical studies in the Soviet Union and that two million were studying various branches of technology at the university level.

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower sent to Congress a message recommending that the federal government spend one billion dollars over the next four years, with an additional $600,000,000 from the states, for 5,500 graduate fellowships to encourage students to choose science as a career, and to provide financial support for teachers in mathematics and science.

MOSCOW—"Pravda" revealed that in 1957 the Soviet Union produced 50 million tons of steel for the first time in its history.

NEW YORK—Steel production in the United States was disclosed as running at an average rate of 75 million tons a year, which is the lowest rate in nearly 10 years.

LONDON — Defense authorities said that the value of the Cyprus base for purely British "brush-fire" operations in the Middle East had been reduced by political developments. At the same time they said that the role of Cyprus as a strategic air base for the support of the Baghdad Pact was a question very much in the minds of the council which is meeting in Turkey and one which the NATO powers would eventually have to settle.

WASHINGTON — An agreement just made between the United States and the Soviet Union provides for a broad range of cultural exchanges between the two nations, including medical and agricultural experts, for a two-year period. There is provision also for an exchange of broadcasts from time to time on international political problems, and exchanges of motion pictures and technical groups. This agreement was the result of three months of negotiation.

It is too early as yet to appraise the possible scope of this agreement and its value to the Soviets. But unquestionably the cultural programs have been used in the past by the Communists as a means of enhancing their own prestige in various parts of the world.

The impression will be conveyed that the United States is really sympathetic to the educational and cultural programs of Russia despite the despotism that controls the Soviet empire. This development may yield a big propaganda advantage to the Communists.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. — Philippians 3:14.

There is not a heart but has its moments of longing, yearning for something better, nobler, holier than it knows now. — Henry Ward Beecher.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Sleeper Caught Napping on Nutrition Know-How?

"I'm always nodding or falling asleep. No matter if I have had a good night's sleep, as soon as I sit for a while . . . That is my only complaint. I'm 53 and enjoy almost perfect health. I do no somersaults but "touch the toes" exercise every morning . . . Sincerely yours, (Mrs. D. P.)"

DR. BRADY

Gazing into my crystal ball, I see that you, like 40 million others, live in the Great Lakes Basin, where soil, water and food (meat, eggs, milk, vegetables, fruit, cereals) locally grown contain little or no iodine.

Physicians and health authorities know this, and in daring moments they have even urged people to use iodized salt in place of ordinary salt in cooking and at table. Ostensibly their purpose was to insure daily intake of at least a trace of iodine for everybody.

But this timid suggestion has been followed by only a minority of the population, perhaps because the physicians and local health administrators have wagged their chins constantly concerning the "dangers" of "too much" iodine.

SOME ARE SCARED

I know, from correspondence with people in the Great Lakes Basin, that many of them are afraid to use iodized salt. This seems silly in view of the fact that one gets more iodine in an ordinary serving of shrimp, crab, oysters, lobster, salmon or codfish than anyone is likely to get in a week from iodized salt.

I can't tell the story of the function of iodin in nutrition in the space available here. Please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet The Iodin Ration. I spell it iodin without the final "e" to indicate that it is food, not medicine.

There may well be other explanations for the tendency to nod or fall asleep as Mrs. D. P. does, but anyway it can do no harm to bring her daily intake of iodin up to the level required for good nutrition; and I hope she will do so, as described in the pamphlet. If she does I shall expect a report next spring that she is right up on her toes.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Relates Incident to Warn Other Mothers of Danger

The snow and ice which have covered most of the secondary roads in this area the past several days have made the hilly portions very attractive to kids with sleds.

Despite repeated warnings against such sport, my young son, 7, was sledding recently and coasted right into the path of an auto. The driver's vehicle damaged the sled a little, but because of his complete control of his car, my little boy was not harmed at all. The driver's concern for the boy's safety, though not at fault himself, made me grateful for his careful driving which averted a real tragedy.

This letter may also serve to alert other mothers to keep their youngsters from sledding on roads. We'll not soon forget the incident. I'm still shaking a little inside.

Defends Work of Housewives

It seems the working wife who complained about too much company in the evenings might need a vacation or layoff. I sure hope employers who need to cut down will consider laying off those women who don't need the work for a living or support of a family. I've heard factory working men complain that some women don't have to work very hard and still draw the same pay.

Why is it some men think their wives and mothers don't work hard just because they don't bring home a paycheck? Here's to all women who work at home, have no regular hours or shifts and are always on the job, even if they don't get paid overtime.

They don't get too many coffee breaks, either, but they are always willing to put the pot on for company and keep the cooky jar filled.

Woman Discusses Adult-Child Relation

Some time ago I wrote of a theater manager who knew how to handle youngsters. He knew that prevention of misdemeanors is better than cure. The time between opening the doors and the first feature was filled by getting the children to sing words of a popular song on the screen. Children who are singing and clapping don't find time to rip the seats.

This manager also knew how to deal with show-offs. He gave them the stage where they had a chance to bounce their fat little egos before an audience—sometimes with surprising results.

The secret of adult-child relations is to view each stage of growth with respect. The child needs more than a pal for a parent, and the parent can't evade responsibility by giving his child more freedom than he can safely handle.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Pentagon is jug-handled by malfeasance in corridors instead of offices.

We have as much chance of getting away from lobbyism as we have from peels in the kitchen. There is too much sotto oratory in the whispered commercials.

In times of national stress and peril the lobbyist will always put his shrug to the wheel.

It has been gift-wrapped in admonitory preambles but never effectally quarantined. The answer is in a hat if you tip it to the right guy.

Bureaucracy marches in tottered tempo from desk to desk. It operates in a five-corridored warren as well as in a multi-tunneled hutch.

It gave Billy Mitchell his preferential come-uppance. It memorialized Jib Gavin as the heir to the referendum and cat-call.

How does that affect the rocket program? Were we better off in the spy solstices when we had secrets to be stolen?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

America Needs Moral Rebirth

Norman worked hard to make his store a success. He was popular with customers and unusually capable. Yet he couldn't make the proper profit. So he finally appealed to the home office and they discovered the difficulty. Discuss this case at Sunday School. We need a great revival in American morality!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Despite my best efforts," he informed me, "I found that I wasn't attaining my proper profit for the company.

DR. CRANE

"So I finally asked the home office for advice. They made a secret investigation.

"And they soon found the difficulty. My butcher and two clerks were looting us of merchandise.

"Then they would carry out old boxes and other rubbish through the storeroom to the incinerator at the rear.

"But as they'd pass through that storeroom, if nobody else was present, they'd throw a few cans of fruit or vegetables into the rubbish cart.

"Sometimes they'd include an entire case. Then they'd quickly transfer the stolen goods to their parked car and then casually dump the trash into the incinerator.

"I never dreamed that this thievery was going on. And I was certainly glad it was the spotters from the home office who detected that my butcher was guilty, for I had considered him one of my closest friends."

WHY PEOPLE STEAL

People will steal for a wide variety of reasons. Sometimes they have a grudge against authority and like to strike back at their strict parents by violating rules.

This lawlessness is thus a first cousin to the behavior of the atheist and the communist, who may espouse those alien doctrines to strike back at a too domineering father.

But the latter forced too much religion down the throats of their protesting youngsters. So in later life those children strike back at their father, though indirectly, by advocating the very opposite viewpoint.

If the father was religious, they espouse atheism. If the dad was a go-getter American business leader, the child may advocate communism.

But other petty thieves steal to get even with a boss whom they dislike or who doesn't pay them what they think they deserve.

This is obviously an unfair attitude, however, for whenever you accept a job with a stated wage, that means you voluntarily agree to the terms.

It is unsportsmanlike to try to pad your own meager pay check by later looting the cash register or stealing merchandise. That's a juvenile reaction.

But Dr. Laird's data show that 60 per cent of Americans are guilty of such petty thefts, lying and cheating.

So America needs a rebirth of morality. No wonder Billy Graham and Oral Roberts, as well as scores of similar talented religious leaders, are finding that millions of Americans want to turn over a new leaf.

It is high time we quit yelping constantly about the juvenile delinquency in America and began to focus more attention on parental delinquency.

The YMCA and Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, CYO and smilar splendid moral agencies are doing a good job with our teenagers.

But if the adult population is setting such a bad moral example, then don't blame such a breakdown on our present moral agencies.

Get behind your church. It is the major educator of all Americans as regards the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

Congress and labor union heads cannot legislate morality. It must be taught. Are you doing your bit to help America become more honest and truthful?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Will 1958 Be the Year That Changes the World?

A strange man in Los Angeles known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astounding 64-page booklet analyzing famous world prophecies covering these times. Written in 1951, it successfully predicted that the next great world crisis would be in the Near East (Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Jordan, Turkey). It shows that four of the greatest prophecies could not come true until the present time. But now they can and the years that change the world are at hand. Great dangers but still greater opportunities, confront forward looking people in 1958.

"The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement of power in mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

These strange methods were found in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it.

He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

The 64-page booklet he is now offering free to the public gives guidance for those who wish to prepare themselves for the momentous days ahead. It gives details of what to expect, and when. Its title is "Beware of These Days!"

The book formerly sold for a dollar, but as long as the present supply lasts, it is offered free to readers of this notice.

For your free copy of the astonishing prophecies covering these momentous times, as revealed in this 64-page book address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. 172-A, Los Angeles 4, California. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard or in an envelope will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free book have been printed.

Novel System to Police Hoffa

Federal District Judge to Name Watchdog Committee Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal district judge arranged today to launch a novel monitor system to watch over James R. Hoffa's activities as president of the giant Teamsters Union.

The plan already has been approved by Judge F. Dickinson Letts as the compromise settlement of a lawsuit, and the jurist will sign necessary papers and name the monitors today.

The lawsuit, being dropped under the compromise, was filed by 13 Teamsters members from New York who sought to prevent Hoffa from taking over as union president. They contended his election at the union's Miami Beach convention last October was rigged.

Under the settlement, Hoffa was allowed to take over the presidency of the 1,400,000-member truckers union, the nation's largest labor organization, but with three monitors to advise him on democratic procedures and union fund safeguards.

Hoffa is not bound to take advice from the monitors but has said he will give "serious consideration" to their views. The union's officers agreed to handl union money and property as legal trustees and to avoid any business ties that might compromise their union functions.

Under the plan the union will name one of the three monitors and the plaintiffs in the suit a second. Together, the plaintiffs and the union will name the third or, if they cannot agree on one, Judge Letts will name the third, who will be chairman of the watchdog group.

HOW TO DEAL WITH YOUR TENSIONS

The quest for peace of mind—or for good mental health, which is another name for it—is universal. We have to work to achieve it. Following is one of a few simple, ready-to-hand actions which may help you.

WORK OFF YOUR ANGER

If you feel yourself using anger as a general way of behavior, remember that while anger may give you a temporary sense of righteousness, or even of power, it will generally leave you feeling foolish and sorry in the end. If you feel like lashing out at someone who has provoked you, try holding off that impulse for a while. Let it wait until tomorrow. Meanwhile, do something constructive with the pent-up energy. Pitch into some physical activity like gardening, cleaning out the garage, carpentry or some other do-it-yourself project. Or work it out in tennis or a long walk.

This is one of eleven simple suggestions that can be helpful if they are applied diligently. If you would like further information, write for the free new booklet: "How To Deal With Your Tensions," written by top experts in the field of psychiatry. Address: Better Mental Health, Box 2500, New York 1, New York.

Published as a public service by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

Bob Considine Says:

Young's Advice -- 'Leave the United States'

NEW YORK (INS)—R. R. Young was carried north from Palm Beach, dead by his own hand, in the private car that symbolized his legendary success.

The car has a handsome dining room, private bedrooms and baths, a drawing room with deeply upholstered furniture, a fine old brass-railed observation platform, a speedometer on the wall that once told the tycoon how fast it was he traveled about his railroad empire.

This was the funeral caisson of the tense and dedicated little man who once worked as a 28-cent-an-hour laborer and died in the billiards room of a 25-room Palm Beach mansion built by Addison Mizner.

I had a strange and abortive interview with Young a few years ago at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. His company—Chesapeake and Ohio, then—owned that fabled resort. The one-time laborer who had battled and sometimes defeated Wall Street had just finished a round of golf with his good friend, the Duke of Windsor. He epitomized the American Success Story.

WHAT ADVICE?

The interview ended after one question. I asked him what advice he would give to a young man starting out today as broke as he himself had been at the dawn of his spectacular career.

Young regarded me at length and then said, in an icy blue manner, "I would advise him to leave the United States and seek his fortune in almost any other country. Opportunity has died here." And with that he turned and was gone.

A good friend of mine who did public relations for Young begged me to forget the whole thing . . . and I did, until the headlines recalled the bitter brew that a poor boy had found in the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Albert Bigelow, a World War II hero turned pacifist, announced over the weekend that he will endeavor to outflank the Navy he once served with distinction.

He and three associates will attempt to halt the scheduled American H-bomb tests at the Eniwetok proving ground by sailing their 30-foot ketch "Golden Rule" into the restricted area in the Pacific.

Bigelow will find the 50,000 square mile area almost as well-patroled as the Nevada proving grounds, where he and 20 fellow pacifists were arrested last August for stepping over the line at Camp Mercury, Nev.

FINE-TOOTH COMB

The Navy steams and flies patrol over the Pacific region like a great fine-tooth comb. The case of the Japanese tuna fishermen who were dusted with the radioactive debris of a huge H-bomb in 1953 cost the U. S. $2,000,000 in reparations and much loss of face in Asia. Hence the patrols.

After Bigelow's press conference on Sunday reporter James Waldo Fawcett additionally questioned the rugged 51-year-old Connecticut architect and painter. He asked him what would happen if the Navy boards his ketch. Quaker Bigelow replied, "I think I may suggest to the officer in charge of such a boarding party that he is acting the part of a pirate. The U. S. Navy, you know, was organized to deal with pirates."

Suffer Lead Poisoning

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—Six families living on the edge of the city dump are being treated for lead poisoning. Dr. A. R. Morton, the city health commissioner, said they had been burning old automobile batteries for fuel and had been poisoned by the fumes or by contact with the batteries.

The older members of his brood of four boys and four girls, who range in age from 14 to about 3 years, are proud too. The younger ones, according to their father, are asking: "What do deans do?"

REPRESENT CORPS

One thing deans do is represent the corps at all official and state functions here. Sometimes deans and their wives have to go to as many as four and five shindigs in a single evening.

The Sevilla-Sacasas live in a spacious, beautifully furnished English-type mansion in a quiet residential section of the city with handsomely landscaped grounds and a fine swimming pool — perfect for big-league entertaining.

I went to one of the first parties the ambassador gave in the house. It was small and informal.

THEIR BIGGEST FAN

The ballplayers, agog that anyone "should be nice to us now," were feted at a poolside buffet luncheon by their biggest fan, with the three older Sevilla-Sacasa boys begging for autographs along with their dad.

Dear Abby....

Forgetful Expectant Mother Deserves Hubby's Patience

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married four years and we have one child, 3 years old. My wife lost a baby last year and now she is pregnant again.

ABBY

It seems every time my wife gets pregnant she gets very absent-minded. I tell her something in the morning and she forgets it by noon!

Another thing — she can't seem to hang onto anything! She drops dishes and breaks them left and right. Do you think this is due to her condition or what?

MARK

DEAR MARK: Pregnant women have been known to forget things—and also fumble. Try plastic dishes and a note pad on which to write down "things to remember." Be patient. She's carrying a heavier load than you.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with boys who go to a school dance, but don't dance—they just stand around in bunches like bananas! A girl hates to go up and ask a fellow if he will dance with her because everybody's looking and if he refuses, you feel like a dope.

PATTI

DEAR PATTI: Girls who stand around in groups of 8 or 10 will never get asked to dance because boys are embarrassed to approach a girl with 16 or 20 eyes on him. Break it up into groups of twos and threes and see what happens. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I am so worried I don't know which way to turn. My beautiful 21-year-old daughter is crazy in love with a fellow who isn't worthy of her.

He came for her last evening and she looked beautiful in her new formal and he said right in front of her father and me, 'Please take off those heels or you will make me look like a shrimp!" (He is short). So she laughed it off and put on some flats (with a formal).

I cried all night. What do you do with a girl who is too much in love to know when she's being mistreated?

WORRIED MOM

DEAR WORRIED: Love is not only blind, it is sometimes deaf. If your daughter can "laugh it off," she has a healthy attitude. P. S.: If SHE doesn't feel "mistreated," don't give her any ideas.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boy friend whom I like very much. He comes over here almost every night but he brings a friend with him. I serve them beer and pretzels and he and his boy friend sit and play cards all evening.

He tells me he cares for me but he sure doesn't act it. How can I get him to pay more attention to me, or should I just tell him to play cards somewhere else?

IGNORED

DEAR IGNORED: Don't be a "dummy." If he doesn't deal you in . . . deal him OUT!

CONFIDENTIAL TO PRACTICAL NURSE: You are very IMPRACTICAL. As long as his wife is still living, stick to reading the thermometer and quit reading his mind.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Wise Person Learns the Art of Relaxation

Escape the Rush of Modern Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Consider for a moment the rush of automobiles, trucks, subways, buses and elevateds. Think, too, of the clang of fire engines and the jangle of telephones, the screeching of sirens; constant pressure—rush of committee meetings, civic and church work—always going somewhere in a hurry and coming back on the double to do pressurized cooking or get a meal out of a can!

Now is it any wonder that the psychiatric wards in hospitals have been increasing in size every year with patients who just cannot take it any more? We always seem rushed, in business or pleasure, or just to get across the street with a whole skin.

I appreciate the thrill of competition. I know the excitement of shooting the works for a goal ahead. Yet I sincerely believe that the clever men and women of today just won't live that way.

They escape the rush periodically and lessen the strain habitually because they have learned the art of relaxation. They understand the wearing force of modern life and protect themselves against it.

It is possible to work in a relaxed mood just as it is possible to rush while sitting down. The former approach to life gets you there sooner with more. If you will probe the habits of those persons who seem to accomplish so much, who appear to have inexhaustible energy, you will find that they have learned tricks in relaxation.

USELESS WORRY

They have learned that they cannot afford the energy expended in useless worry over nonessentials or in griping, that hurry leads to inefficiency, that the world will still be here tomorrow, and doing very well, even if they did not do all of the things they had planned to do that day. They know that sensitiveness and anger are poisons.

Take time out periodically from the rush of the world. It will still be there when you get back.

Many folks are so impressed with the need for doing successful thing that they rush from one thing to another without ever taking time out for physical rest or spiritual calm. They leap out of bed in the morning, dash all day long and toss themselves to sleep at night. What a way to live!

You also will find that most clever people have a few exercises and health habits in their energy first-aid kits. Most of them have formed the habit of short rest periods and have become so expert that, at a moment's notice, they can completely relax or even sleep for 10 or 15 minutes.

If you would like to have my relaxing exercises, send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 24. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Teens Have Strict Code for Behavior of Parents

They're Concerned About Impression Mom, Dad Make on Their Pals

By RUTH MILLETT

All parents are conscious of the impression their teenage sons and daughters make on friends of the parents.

But some parents don't seem to realize that their teenage children also are concerned with the impression the parents make on the children's friends.

For instance, a teenage girl is embarrassed if her mother tries to act like her sister and wants to be treated like one of the crowd. Any teenage girl prefers to have her mother act like a mother and also to act her age.

A teenage boy hates to have his parents remind him to "be careful" when he starts off in a car with a group of his friends, or to have them tell him in the friends' hearing when he is expected to be home. All such warnings and instructions aren't nearly so resented if made in privacy.

A teenage girl is embarrassed when her friends come to the house if her mother doesn't look neat and well-groomed. The teenagers themselves may be in blue jeans with shirttails flapping, but Mom is expected to look trim.

A teenage boy doesn't want to be questioned on where he has been and what he had been doing in front of his friends. If there is to be a question and answer session he fervently hopes it will wait until he hasn't an audience.

A teenage girl or boy doesn't like to have his parents and their friends act too gay or drink enough to be rowdy. They expect dignity from parents and resent it when the parents refuse to be dignified.

No teenager of either sex wants his parents to make themselves conspicuous in public any way. It pains a teenager to see Pop being the life of the party or Mom losing her temper and giving someone a piece of her mind.

Teenagers' standards for their parents are as strict, if not stricter, than parents' standards for their teenagers. And parents do well never to forget that fact.

Spicy Grape Lime Mold Different

By JANET ODELL

When next you have time to browse in the special canned goods section of your grocery store, look for a can of spiced grapes. You'll need them to make this delicious salad that Mrs. Lee Griffith likes to serve with ham.

Mrs. Griffith is active in Beta Sigma Phi sorority, the Birmingham Women's Club and her church group. The mother of three youngsters, she likes to cook.

SPICED GRAPE SALAD
By Mrs. Lee Griffith

1 can (number 3) spiced grapes
1 package lime gelatin
Mayonnaise

Drain grapes. Dissolve lime gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Measure juice from grapes and add enough cold water to make 1 cup. Add and let gelatin chill until partially set. Fold in grapes.

Pour into shallow pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares to serve. This gelatin may be thin when it is to be used as a meat garnish. For salad use a smaller pan and make thicker. Serve with mayonnaise or your favorite dressing.

Nutritionist Lashes Out at Cure-Alls

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A University of Michigan nutritionist said Americans are wasting "millions of dollars" each year foolishly on cure-all medicines, tonics and reducing pills.

Adelia Beeuwkes of the U. of M. School of Public Health pointed out that the public spends the money "for promises, pamphlets, products and pills which offer very vague, unscientific guarantees for curing illnesses, being healthy and losing weight."

More and more information, she said, is being made available from scientific sources, and "more and more attempts are being made to capitalize on this new information by unscrupulous manufacturers of worthless—and often harmful—curealls, tonics and reducing pills."

Miss Beeuwkes added:

"The truth is that nutrition education and information have not yet even permeated the teacher-training levels, so we can not expect the public to recognize the phonies."

GI's Wife Objects to Doing Shopping for Friend

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is in service and consequently we have the privilege of buying at slightly reduced prices (due to lack of profit) at the base exchange. A friend of mine (whose husband is not in service) has asked me several times if I would buy some things for her when I do my shopping.

"She is not entitled to this privilege and I think it is a gross imposition on her part to ask me to do this and it places me in a very embarrassing position. Can you suggest a tactful way to refuse without seeming rude?"

Answer: You can and should tell her that as it is strictly against the rules, your husband will not allow you to buy anything at the base exchange that is not for your own use.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally, when my wife is not at home, one or another of her friends telephones and asks to speak to her. When I announce that she is out, I am asked, 'Where is she?' or 'Where did she go?'

"I consider such questions in poor taste and not the other person's business. Will you please tell me how I can give an evasive answer without seeming rude?"

Answer: This would depend on how intimate a friend of hers is asking the question. In any case, you can answer, "I'm sorry, but I really don't know."

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine has told me that when addressing wedding invitations or other social envelopes, it is not proper to write the city and state on the same line but that each should be written on separate lines. Will you please tell me if this is correct?"

Answer: This is not very important, but to write the state on a separate line is preferable.

Add Perky Ribbon

A perky ribbon in the hair is an easy way to add a fresh look to a youngster's coiffure. But both the hair and the ribbon need to be shining clean for the best effect. After sudsing and rinsing a ribbon, iron it with a medium hot iron and you're in business again.

Annual Dinner Planned by Child Guidance Clinic

"What Can a Community Expect of a Child Guidance Clinic?" will be the subject of an address to be given by Dr. William H. Kelly, assistant director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, when the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic and its Birmingham and South Oakland Branches hold their annual dinner meeting at Northwood Inn Feb. 6.

Dr. Kelly followed his medical training with graduate work which led to his certification by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology in 1942.

He has been director of the Michigan Children's Center in Lansing, the Norfolk Mental Hygiene Center, Norfolk, Va., the Memorial Guidance Clinic, Richmond, Va., and the Memorial Foundation, also in Richmond.

At the dinner particular note will be made of the progress made in Oakland County this year with three clinic offices serving county residents. The main clinic at Pontiac completes its 14th year, the Birmingham Branch marks its second anniversary and the South Oakland County Branch finishes its sixth month.

The increased services being offered to children with emotional and personality problems living anywhere in Oakland County will be highlighted.

Adopt Bold and Brassy Accessories

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Bold and brassy accents dispel winter gloom in living room, dining room and hall accessories.

There's no need to change the water for the giant golden blossoms in a tall turquoise vase on a black coffee table. They are artfully fashioned of metal to bloom eye level with any 6-foot members of the family.

This lightweight brass tubing also makes smart wastebaskets, with a liner. And it is swirled into planters for wall and window, and shallow bowls to hold fruit and flowers.

RICHARD E. SOUSLIN

Richard E. Souslin, son of Mrs. Floyd Souslin of Savoy drive, has received a B.S. degree in engineering from the University of Michigan and has been commissioned an ensign in the United States Navy to leave for Athens, Ga., on Feb. 1. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering society; Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering honorary fraternity, and Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary.

Potatoes and tomatoes are both members of the nightshade plant family.

Most Wanted Coed to Have Math Degree

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The most wanted girl of 1958 will be the coed with the degree in mathematics.

That's the word from the University of California, Los Angeles.

Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, UCLA vice chancellor, says:

ALMOST DOUBLED

Although the number of girls majoring in math has almost doubled in the past three years, it can't satisfy the booming demands of industries and schools needing teachers.

Industry places a dozen or more requests for each graduate, and during the 1956-57 school year, the UCLA office of teacher placement received 616 requests for teachers with backgrounds in mathematics.

Only seven graduates, including one coed, were available.

AARON L. MIDDELTON

Graduated Sunday from Western Michigan University with a bachelor of science degree in vocational education was Aaron Lee Middelton, son of Mrs. Gale Weber of Welsh road.

Evening Hats Hide the Hair

The latest styles in 1958 headgear leave a little hair lying around loose for daytime but cover the head completely for evening.

Berets, turbans of a modified nature and similar soft-lined, off-the-face but over the hair hats are smart and stylish for afternoon wear.

But for theater or other dressy evening outings, Juliet caps that cover the hair completely and tie under the chin for demuure styling are tops in fashion.

The Pentagon's cooling system is roughly equivalent to melting 28.6 million tons of ice each 24 hours.

Vamp Look Is Favored After Dark

PARIS (INS) — The French fashion house of Patou today discarded the sack in favor of a sexy look for after dark.

The line this year was designed by Mademoiselle Mad, once the Mad Carpentier designer, and it bears the woman's touch with its bewitching, curvy and feminine evening wear.

Mad avoided extremes by making women look youthful in the daytime and vampy at night.

Patou's daytime schoolgirl look was based on Peter Pan collars, hip - length middy blouses and swirling, knife-pleated skirts of conservative knee-covering length. The outfits were topped with a loose suit jacket decorated by demure camellia corsages.

In one case, a black rose was needed to fill in the very low U-shaped neckline on a shapely sheath.

Fire Sweeps Village Hall

Pontiac Press Photo

LANDMARK AFIRE—Firemen from six communities fought to bring a noon hour blaze under control, Monday, at the Franklin Village Hall. The building is believed to have been standing for more than 100 years. Owned by the Franklin Community Association, it housed village offices and was a meeting place for many local civic groups. The fire gutted the attic portion, as well as the second floor rooms in the rear.

Six Units Battle Franklin Blaze

FRANKLIN — Village officials here have estimated that damages from a fire which roared through part of the Franklin Village Hall Monday will reach between $18,000 and $25,000.

BLAZE FOUGHT

The noon blaze was fought by firemen from six communities. The Franklin Village fire house stands adjacent to the village hall, and a good deal of the fire fighting was done from its roof.

No one was injured. Beside the Franklin volunteer firemen, companies from West Bloomfield Township, Keego Harbor, Bloomfield Township, Southfield Township and Novi were at the scene.

Volunteer firemen and village officials spent until nearly 8 p.m. cleaning up the rubble and moving papers and furniture from the building.

The hall is located in the heart of Franklin Village on Franklin road at Vincennes avenue.

The fire was caused by a defective heating system, which caused the building's chimney to become overheated, Franklin Fire Commissioner William Albee said.

The blaze was confined mostly to the rear of the three-story wood frame building along the chimney inside the rear wall. However, it spread throughout most of the attic, climbing along wooden rafters. Damage from smoke and water was extensive.

Mrs. Faye Hauk, village clerk, said she reached the hall at 8 a.m. and found the oil furnace out. She called for repairmen and returned when the furnace was working at 9:15 a.m. When she finished her work, in a second story office in the front of the building at 10 a.m. she was relieved by Walter K. M. Rodgers, another village employe.

Rodgers told firemen he thought he smelled wood burning around 11:30 a.m. He went to the rear of the building and turned off the furnace, but said he noticed no fire or smoke. At about 11:50 a.m. he heard the fire siren and suddenly realized the hall was on fire.

He said he took some records with him and left. Mrs. Hauk ran into the burning building twice to save valuable records from destruction. The blaze was brought under control in an hour.

Lapeer Woman Found Guilty

Jury Reaches Verdict of Manslaughter After Deliberating 5 Hours

LAPEER — A Lapeer County Circuit Court jury yesterday found Mrs. Juanita Tucker, 44, guilty of manslaughter in the fatal shooting Nov. 2 of her brother-in-law, Neil Kirby, 35.

Mrs. Tucker was tried on a charge of first degree murder.

The jury of seven women and five men reached its verdict after deliberating about five hours. It made no recommendation for leniency.

Defense attorneys for Mrs. Tucker were Herbert Devine of Flint and Kenneth Smith of Lapeer. They sought to prove that the shooting was accidental and unpremeditated.

Lapeer County Prosecutor George D. Lutz was assisted by Assistant Prosecutor Carl Williams, who originally had charge of the case while Lutz was away.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT — Ordinarily it's the firemen who go to a blaze, but when the Franklin Village Hall caught fire Monday, it was the blaze that came to the firemen. The three-story frame building, shown here with smoke seeping from the roof and water streaming down its sides, is adjacent to the Franklin Volunteer Fire Department Engine House, in the foreground. Firemen used their own building in fighting the blaze, as is evidenced by a hose and ladder descending from the roof.

Oxford Township Sets Polio Drive in Evening

OXFORD — A three-minute sounding of the fire siren will announce the beginning of the Mothers' Porch Light March on Polio in Oxford Township Wednesday evening, Mrs. Albert Roberts, drive chairman, said.

Eighty-five mothers are scheduled to make a door-to-door drive from 7 to 8 p.m. in Oxford, Oakwood, Thomas and the surrounding lake subdivisions. Porch lights should be turned on to welcome the canvassers, Mrs. Roberts said.

Sugar was considered a medicine until about 1750.

Romeo Blaze Interrupts Birthday

Fire Starts in New School

ROMEO — Superintendent of Schools T. C. Filppula was observing his 40th birthday quietly last night when the fire whistle sounded. Instinctively he rushed to the telephone and learned that the new Romeo High School Building was the scene of the blaze.

An electric heater had set fire to a wooden enclosure filled with straw which protected the water main from freezing. The blaze occurred in the boiler room of the new school now under construction just west of the village limits.

Volunteer firemen were summoned by nearby residents, and they extinguished the fire in a matter of minutes. They removed the charred wooden frame and pitched the smouldering straw out of a window.

Damage to the building was slight, Filppula said, thanks to the prompt action of the local fire fighters.

This is the second fire in the Romeo Community School District during the current school year. The first occurred in October when $6,000 damage was caused by a fire in the heating plant of the present high school building.

Considering New High School for Madison Heights

MADISON HEIGHTS — A bond issue of about one million dollars for a new high school is being considered by the Madison Heights School Board. Voters may be asked to approve it some time in May, or sooner, Superintendent of Schools F. Foster Wilkinson said this morning.

The new plans call for the high school to be built unit by unit.

Wilkinson said the board had instructed architects to draw up plans for a unit or units of school not to cost more than one million dollars this time.

Deadline for Men Only Five Days Away

'58 Bowlerama Near

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The 1958 Pontiac Press 2nd annual Bowlerama will get under way next week with men qualifying at two sites. However, male bowlers have only until this Sunday midnight to submit their entries.

Last year a total of 400 men and 100 women entered the qualifying rounds at Land-O-Lakes, Auburn Lanes and Dixie Recreation, and 52 of them shared the purse with the men's champion getting $425 and the women's champion $205.

The odds in the 1957 tournament were something less than one for every 10 entries. This year, basing them on the same number of entries as last year, the odds are even better.

For 400 men entries, one of every 8 bowlers is assured of sharing the purse of at least $10. The purse list goes from $450 for the men's champion down the line to $225 for runnerup, $125 for third, $75 for 4th, $50 for 5th, and down to the last qualifier $10 for entering the finals.

The women's purse has also been boosted. Of 100 entries, at least 12 plus ties will share the fund, starting with $250 for first place, $125 for runnerup, $75 for third place, and down the line to the 12th place.

Should the women's entries reach 150 and greater, the odds will favor one of seven and even one of six to enter.

TOURNAMENT IS HANDICAP SINGLES

The Bowlerama is based on 70 per cent handicap of 200 scratch for sanctioned bowlers of the ABC or WIBC who are residents of Oakland County.

Average to be used is for the 1957-58 season as of the week of November 1st. Any bowler who has bowled 18 games starting in the 1957-58 season in September, can merely check his average for the week of November 1st.

Those who did not bowl 18 games prior to November 1st, just have to use their average as of December 31st, 1957.

This does not eliminate bowlers who have not completed their required 18 games until January 1958. They need only to submit their highest league average for this period to qualify for entry.

All averages will be checked with league secretaries and the ABC and WIBC.

Bowlers who bowl outside of Oakland County can enter providing they reside in Oakland County. They should indicate their league and bowling site on their entry forms.

QUALIFYING BEGINS FEBRUARY 8-9

Men will begin qualifying Saturday morning, February 8th, and also on Sunday, February 9th.

Qualifying will start at 10:00 a.m. at Montcalm and Howe's Lanes and continue until all rounds are completed. On Sunday at the two same alleys, qualifying will start at noon.

Men have the privilege of denoting whether they wish to qualify on Saturday or Sunday.

The site and time for each bowler will be printed in the Press on February 5th and 6th.

The top 12 per cent of all men entered will go into the finals at Huron Bowl, Saturday, February 22nd, commencing at 10 a.m.

The women will qualify Saturday, February 15th, at Motor Inn, and the finalists will also go to Huron Bowl on the 22nd.

NUMEROUS TROPHIES AND GIFTS

Besides the purse, a total of 18 trophies and merchandise gifts will be won by bowlers.

And there is the $1,000 bonus for any bowler who hits the perfect "300" game in either qualifying or the finals.

The oldest man and woman bowler entered will receive a handsome aluminum set of glasses.

The highest actual series in qualifying for men and women will be awarded a bowling ball; bowling bags will go to the best actual single game in qualifying for men and women; bowling shoes will go to best actual series in the finals; trophies will go to top qualifiers, to the champions, to the runnersup; and to best husband-wife team in the finals a table bowling lamp.

All this, and only five days for men to submit their entries, and women just 12 days.

Maison From Hillsdale, Spartans' Wulff Other Michigan Choices

Club owners resumed drafting at the fifth round of a scheduled 26 rounds. Four choices were made by the teams in December.

Four players from Michigan were included in the first three rounds.

First to go from the state was Bob Jewett, Michigan State end who was drafted by the Chicago Bears. His selection was followed immediately by the Washington Redskins who picked up Jim Van Pelt of the University of Michigan.

Tighe Plans to Crack Down

DETROIT (AP) — Jack Tighe returned last week to the city of his greatest triumphs — Flint, Michigan.

He kept a big crowd listening and laughing for an hour or so, then stayed around until the wee small hours exchanging small talk with baseball fans.

It was in Flint where Tighe led the local team to first and second place finishes in the old Central League in 1948-49. The Flint fans remembered him from earlier years, though, when he managed the Muskegon team in 1940-41.

They put the Detroit Tiger manager "on the spot" with some of their questions and a couple of his old-time friends, in a friendly manner, shot "loaded" questions at him.

Tighe told the group: "A year ago I talked too optimistically about the Tigers' chances. I thought we had pretty good talent, and I didn't think I was so lousy a manager that I'd foul it up too much."

Then he went on to point out that the Tigers of 1957 were the second poorest American League club in total chances handled, that shortstop Harvey Kuenn handled 222 fewer chances last season than he did in 1955, that there will be a different relationship between players and their manager when the 1958 season comes around.

"I think I was too close to them last year," said Tighe. "Too much of a buddy and not enough of a boss. Things will be different this year."

"He gave the fans some rather alarming information: Tiger pitchers gave up more home runs than any other staff in the league last year, led the league in hit batsmen.

"And our pinch hitters?" he said. "When we sent some fellows up to pinch hit last season, the opposing pitchers just looked at them and laughed."

He did promise that some things will be different. He believes that Billy Martin will drastically alter the club's spirit. Said Tighe:

"Last year we had no one out there on the field to keep our players alert. Martin will do that. He'll talk to our pitchers and make them think—he'll make everybody hustle. A manager can talk all he wants but when the players take the field, you have to have someone out there with them who is a 'take-charge- guy. Martin is that guy."

Tighe said he plans to alternate Gus Zernial and Charlie Maxwell in left field, use Al Kaline in center and Kuenn in right. "Kuenn has good hands and good judgment—I think he'll take that outfield job with no trouble."

Tighe hopes Ray Boone can play 100 games at first base. He says the club is not as strong in the catching department as it needs to be. He believes the pitching staff—as a unit—is as good as any in the league. The Tigers need more relief help, he said.

Al Watrous Ties for 6th Place

Sarazen Wins Seniors

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

Gene Sarazen was talking after a brilliant last round rally enabled him to capture his second PGA Seniors golf championship yesterday with a 73-71-74-70—288 chart.

When Sarazen teed off he was in a tie for 4th place, five strokes behind Mortie Dutra of Calexico, Calif., who had led all the way, three shots behind Ed Burke of New Haven, Conn., and two behind Charles Sheppard of West Newton, Mass.

But while Sarazen was firing his two-under-par 70, Sheppard was taking a 75 for 291, Burke a 78 for 293 and Dutra an 82 for 295.

Bill Black, of Ludington, Mich., shot a 75 to tie Burke for 3rd place and Jules Blanton of West Palm Beach slipped in with a 72 for 294 and 5th place, dropping Dutra into a tie for 6th with defending champion Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., and three others. Par for the 6,589-yard PGA National Course is 35-37—72.

Watrous finished like a champion but, as he said, it came about three days too late.

Watrous, the 1957 winner, fired a two-over-par 74 in yesterday's final round for a 295 total and a tie for sixth place.

He saved one of his best shots of the tournament for the final hole — a 6-iron approach that sent the ball dead to the flag, missing the hole by less than half an inch and rolling about 14 inches past. He knocked in a wobbly putt for his birdie.

Pistons Wallop Warriors, 115-93

Paced by rangy Gene Shue, the Pistons trounced the Philadelphia Warriors 115-93 for the fourth straight time at home and moved six games ahead of the Minneapolis Lakers for third place in the National Basketball Assn.'s Western Division.

The Pistons set a fast pace from the outset, connecting on 47 per cent of their shots from the field in piling up a 53-39 first-half advantage. The Warriors were successful on only 27 per cent of their shots in the period.

The only period the Pistons were at a disadvantage was in the third when the Warriors outscored them 31-29, but Detroit moved away with ease in the finale.

Shue led the victors with 25 points followed by George Yardley and Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton, each with 19. Tom Gola was high for the Warriors with 18.

The Pistons' Dick McGuire tied an NBA record in the first period with nine assists as Detroit connected on 14 of 25 shots, taking a 29-19 lead.

The game marked the 31st in succession in which the Knicks have scored 100 points or more. Richie Guerin tallied 22 and Willie Naulls 19 to pace the winners. Pontiac's Guy Sparrow added 12. Dick Garmaker topped the Lakers with 17.

Yardley Keeps Scoring Lead

But if he is to be moved, then it looks like Dolph Schayes of Syracuse will do it on his foul shooting ability. Yardley leads Schayes percentage wise 27.4-25.4, and in total points, 1,313 to 1,221.

Yet Schayes has been popping in foul shots at a .905 average while Yardley is not even among the top five in the league.

Clyde Lovellette of Cincinnati replaced Bob Pettit of St. Louis in third place with 1,091 points to Pettit's 1,087.

Antonelli May Be Traded

Tiger-Giant Deal Unsettled

NEW YORK (AP)—On the threshold of one trade, the San Francisco Giants today were looking ahead to the possibility of dealing away ace lefthander Johnny Antonelli.

Right now they are in the process of clearing waivers on first baseman Gail Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil in order to trade the pair to Detroit for Jim Finigan.

Vice-president Chub Feeney admitted that the deal with the Tigers was just about wrapped up except that the waivers from the rest of the National League on Harris and Virgil have not been received.

"But," he said, "I anticipate no difficulty. We should know later today or tomorrow if the other clubs waived on the two players. When it goes through, we'll announce the deal in San Francisco."

While no one was admitting it, the word was that Cincinnati had offered the Giants catcher Ed Bailey and infielder Alex Grammas for Antonelli.

Asked if the proposed bartering involved big-name players, Feeney answered:

"Very definitely."

Finigan, when and if he becomes a Giant, may not even be a regular. If Ray Jablonski holds up on third and Danny O'Connell on second, Finigan could wind up on the bench.

Pirates Sign Virdon

Chisox Sign Goodman

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox announced the signing of three more players today, including infielder Billy Goodman obtained from Baltimore in a December trade.

Last season Goodman batted .294 and has a lifetime major league average of .306.

Trosky, son of the former White Sox and Cleveland first baseman, had a 14-10 record for Davenport, Iowa, in the Three I League.

Dees Idle, Retains Long Big Ten Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana scoring ace Archie Dees, although idle all week because of examinations, remained far in front in the Big Ten all games basketball scoring race.

Dees is averaging 25.5 points with 306 points in 12 games. His nearest rival is Frank Howard of Ohio State who has 279 points in 14 games for a 19.9 average.

Wheaton Cagers Rip Wayne State, 88-54

DETROIT (AP)—Wheaton built up a 22-point lead in the first half and went on to defeat Wayne State, 88-54, in an intersectional basketball game last night.

Mel Peterson and Bob Whitehead led Wheaton with 19 points each. Winfield Henry was high for Wayne State with 17.

Wheaton now has a 13-1 record. Wayne State is 4-6.

Three St. Fred Players Dropped for Season

The basketball hopes of St. Frederick's Rams were dealt a severe blow today when coach Gene Wright announced three players had been suspended for the remainder of the season for breaking training rules.

The trio includes Nick Nickerson, the team's 2nd highest scorer, starter Dick Kast and reserve Dennis Hall. Steve Pose and Phil Bieri will replace Nickerson and Kast in the starting lineup for the crucial game at Orchard Lake tonight.

"I had to take the action for the good of the team. It's a real kick in the teeth. The boys were coming along good and it began to look last week like we had a real good ball club. I think these other kids can step in and pick up the load. I'm sure they'll give it everything they got," said Wright.

Will Investigate Injury to Howe

NHL President Also Wants Full Report on Adams' Charges

MONTREAL (AP)—The injury of Detroit Red Wing star Gordie Howe is going to be the subject of an investigation by the National Hockey League.

Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, said last night he wants a full investigation of Howe's injury in a Saturday game and a full report on Red Wing Gen. Mgr. Jack Adams' accusations.

Adams charged that Real Chevrefils and Leo Boivin of the Boston Bruins injured Howe in "dirty play."

"It was a lousy, dirty, uncalled for—anything you want to call it," said Adams.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Shooting spares is a "must" in building up your average. I always preach to my classes that the easiest way to add 10 pins to your average is to convert one spare more per game that you're now missing.

The bowling stars you see on television are all excellent spare shooters. As a matter of fact, they were fine spare shooters long before they became good strike bowlers. The good bowler rarely misses a spare, whereas the average bowler will usually miss one or two or more, each game.

The first step in successful spare shooting is to decide what angle is best. For instance, we show the 2-4-5 spare today being shot from the left so the ball hooks into the 2-4. The 2-pin will knock over the 5.

Chiefs Out to Regain SVC Prestige

Pontiac Battles Saginaw Quintet at Home Tonight

Game at PCH Starts Second Half of Loop Cage Schedule

The Chiefs and Trojans tangle for the second time in four days. Last Friday, Saginaw closed the first half of 10-game league schedule by swamping Pontiac, 71-57.

Tonight the two teams begin the last half of the SVC card, which has five games to go, and the high-flying Trojans will take the role of favorites.

Saginaw, currently the 10th ranked team in the state in class A ratings, has won seven of eight games, its lone loss coming at the hands of Flint Central.

Flint Central, also 7-1, and Flint Northern, 6-2, are tied with Saginaw for the conference lead. All have 4-1 marks.

Any mathematical chance Pontiac may have to the title, lies in a five game victory streak in the league for the Chiefs and a complete downfall of the top three.

Pontiac could hand all three of the leaders a setback on the PCH gym, and two of the pace setters could knock each other out, but help must come from either Arthur Hill or Bay City to pull a couple upsets.

Neither Flint Central or Flint Northern was expected to make such serious bids for the title. Pontiac and Saginaw were the preseason favorites.

Saginaw is a tall quintet, and the Trojans demonstrated their shooting ability as four players hit in double figures last Friday, led by Gary Potts' 19 points, Willie Thompson's 16, Larry Rousseau's 16, and Bob Parker's 10.

The Chiefs could upend the Trojans, but unless seniors Dick Whitmer and Jim Skinner regain early-season form, the PCH junior array of John Bandy, Charley Barge, Roosevelt Alexander and Harrison Munson may not be able to handle the veteran Saginaw team.

Munsan has not been consistent on the boards, Bandy has been erroneous on the floor and Barge may be hampered with a reinjured ankle.

If this be the game for the Chiefs to snap out of their slump, then Pontiac can regain some ground in the SVC.

Pro Wrestling Slated Feb. 5th

Professional wrestling returns to the Pontiac area with a show slated for the Pontiac Guard Armory on Wednesday evening February 5th.

Featured on the card which is sponsored by the National Guard 106 Ordinance with Lee Campione of Owosso as Promoter, will be the Donavan Brothers, Doug and Red, in a tag team bout against Gentleman Jim Hady and Al Warshawski of Pittsburgh and Grand Rapids.

Two mighty midget musclemen, Tito Infante and Pee Wee James will oppose each other, with Lumberjack Steve Zold and Bob Marion in the other bout.

Freds-St. Mary Meet Tonight

A battle of local rivals involving two of the top three teams in the Suburban Catholic League will feature a 15-game area prep basketball slate tomorrow night.

The big one will match the Eaglets of Orchard Lake St. Mary against Gene Wright's St. Frederick cagers in a return match of rivals. St. Mary won out in overtime on the St. Fred court, 50-48.

Two other SCL contests, one involving St. Michael, a pair of Wayne - Oakland games and some independent tilts complete the Tuesday schedule.

A lot is riding on the outcome of the Ram-Eaglet clash for both schools. It is currently a duel for 2nd place but a win for St. Mary could keep the Eaglets in the running to chase unbeaten St. Benedict down the wire.

Orchard Lake has bowed only to St. Ben in seven loop starts with four successive victories since but must keep rolling to stay in contention for title honors.

St. Frederick provides a rough obstacle. The Rams have bowed only to St. Benedict in six games since the 1st meeting with OLSM and are eager for revenge. A Fred triumph would deadlock the teams for the runnerup slot and virtually hand the crown to St. Benedict.

The Rams are fresh from walloping St. Michael and have the scoring power to stop the Eaglets with the likes of Tom Derocher and Nick Nickerson hitting the hoop consistently. Derocher bosted his average to 18 with 25 Friday. Nickerson is 11.3.

St. Mary has topped 50 in exactly half of its games led by veteran sharpshooters Stan Moniuszko and Art Goisdzinski. Moniuszko got off to a slow start this year but has swished in 63 points in his last four games. Goisdzinski had a 14.8 average.

The St. Michael five will be trying to get back on the winning side after two successive batterings at Royal Oak St. Mary while Ferndale St. James hosts Center Line St. Clement. The Shamrocks defeated Royal Oak here earlier.

Wayne - Oakland action will have Clarenceville traveling to Milford and Bloomfield Hills at home against slumping Holly as the league begins the 2nd half of its schedule.

Milford will be looking for revenge for a two-point setback at Clarenceville and its 2nd victory. Clarenceville has only won two. Holly is smarting from three straight beatings and anxious to take it out on somebody but may face another busy evening with Bloomfield improved.

The most local independent contest is not expected to be much of a tussle as Rochester takes on Oxford at home. The Falcons are now 8-3.

West Virginia Still Tops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

West Virginia's Mountaineers no longer are unbeaten, but they still rank the top-heavy choice atop today's Associated Press college basketball poll—based on games through Saturday.

Duke's stunning 72-68 upset ended West Virginia's winning streak at 14 last night, but came too late to be reflected in the balloting by the nation's sportswriters and broadcasters.

Two other top 10 teams—sixth-ranked Oklahoma State and eighth-ranked Kentucky — were knocked off last night.

Oklahoma State, which had climbed a notch by running its winning streak to 12, was beaten 70-64 by Houston.

Kentucky was trimmed 71-52 by Georgia Tech. Kentucky now is 12-4.

Thomas Ochiltree Writing for Hal Boyle

LONDON (AP)—If your Christian name is Thomas do you sometimes get the uneasy feeling that you are a member of a dying tribe?

Aren't you sometimes surprised, as I am, that you so seldom meet another person with the same name?

Go to any cocktail party and you will run into three or four Bobs and as many Bills, but how often do you see another Tom?

After all it's an ancient name—the name of one of the Apostles. Every language in Christendom has its form of the name.

But do people in the English-speaking world call any of their boy children Tom any more?

For me, at least, this is an important personal matter. If Thomas and its inevitable diminutive Tom are going to die out all together in time, I would like to get the word now.

J. W. Leaver started the Times' correspondence with a letter listing the most frequent Christian names given children whose birth or adoption was announced in the newspaper during 1957.

Among the boys, John headed the list as it did in 1956. It was followed by David, James, Charles, Richard, William, Christopher and so on—but Thomas was nowhere in sight.

Ernest Barker — presumably a friendly neutral since he is not one of us — subsequently wrote that the great days for Thomas came before the middle of the 16th Century.

It was one of England's leading names soon after Archbishop Thomas a Becket was murdered in Canterbury Cathedral in 1170.

"The name Thomas came in with the Norman conquest, flourished after the martyrdom of a Becket and faded with the Reformation," Barker suggested.

Presumably the falling off in the name is about the same on both sides of the Atlantic even though Americans have Thomas Jefferson, one of the great Founding Fathers; and the English have Sir Thomas More, lord chancellor, scholar, author and wit who was executed in 1535.

Thomas Bodkin, a true member of this vague fraternity of Toms, showed how things have gone recently in a letter to the Times.

"The name Thomas has usually been borne by some member of my own family since the Bodkins took their place among the Twelve Tribes of Galway in the 12th century. If I am asked why I have failed to maintain this tradition I can only reply that my wife demurred to having any of our five daughters christened Thomasina, and I hoped until it was too late that they might have had a brother," he wrote.

Pay Initiation Fee in 157,500 Pennies

The prank backfired, however. Fraternity President Phil Resnick said the 15 will march in cadence to a bank today, each carrying two bags of pennies worth $105.

Not Filming Musicals Like They Used to Do

By BOB THOMAS

Twentieth Century-Fox, onetime haven of Alice Faye and Betty Grable, has only one out-and-out musical in the works—"Can Can"—and it has been postponed again and again. Paramount, where Hope and Crosby once cavorted, promises only an Elvis Presley film and possible the life of jazzman Red Nichols.

Warner Brothers, which started the musical trend of the 30s with Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler and company, has scheduled "Damn Yankees" and no other tunefilms.

RKO, which gave Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers to the world, is dark, and Universal - International is grinding to a halt on all films. Columbia has planned no big musicals.

MGM, long the citadel of the musical, is doing its bit. But the effort is a fraction of its once-heavy schedule. The only "pure" musicals on the 1958 slate appear to be the Broadway hits "The Boy Friend" and "The Bells Are Ringing."

Of course, there are a number of rock 'n' roll quickies being made, but they hardly add much luster to the screen.

To get back to the original question—What has happened? I offer these observations:

1. Musicals are expensive to make. In an economy-minded era, studios can't afford them. Arrangers, musicians, etc., that are needed to sustain musical production.

2. More and more films are being made by independent producers. With an eye toward costs, they tend to steer away from the musical.

3. Musicals are a costly risk. While they were surefire in war times, when everyone sought escapist entertainment, they are by no means a cinch to recoup their heavy costs now.

4. American audiences get a surfeit of music on TV.

5. The musical makers have run out of ideas.

But this report doesn't sound the death knoll for musicals. The public will always welcome entertainment on a scale of "Oklahoma," "The King and I," "My Fair Lady," "An American in Paris" and "Music Man."

Hold Court Hearing on Caribou Parking

A hearing on the necessity of off-street parking on the Caribou Inn property in the heart of Clarkston, was held yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court before Judge George B. Hartrick, but no action was taken on the matter.

A jury will be picked Feb. 18 to determine a fair market price for the land, to be paid the owner of the inn, Ernie Felice.

Last month the village council authorized its attorney Milton Cooney to instigate condemnation proceedings against the property, after almost two years of studying the off-street parking matter.

Denies State Easy on Dope Peddlers

DETROIT (AP)—State Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) has labeled as "downright false" a statement he attributed to a columnist that Michigan narcotics sale law is less severe than Ohio's.

Ryan said he referred to a Drew Pearson column which said that Ohio's new law giving 20-year prison terms to convicted dope peddlers had driven them into Michigan and Illinois.

Wrigley Plans Area Expansion

Oakland to Share in $20 Million Building Program This Year

Oakland County will share in a $20,000,000 store and warehouse expansion program announced Monday by ACF-Wrigley Stores.

Of the 20 million total, 15 million will be spent for 24 stores and a warehouse in Michigan. Walled Lake is listed as the site for one of these, with construction slated to start this year.

ACF-Wrigley sales will be boosted to 450 million dollars this year by the 45-store expansion, the bulk of which will be completed in 1958, according to Nathan W. Lurie, vice chairman of the board of directors.

Ford Takes Lid Off New Thunderbird

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. plans a soft-top convertible model in its four-passenger Thunderbird line in which the top retracts fully into the trunk space area.

After the retracting soft-top folds into the trunk, the trunk deck moves back into place, concealing the top. The same principle is used by Ford in its retractable hardtop convertible.

The first of the new line of Thunderbird models, a four-passenger hardtop, is scheduled for introduction next month. It replaces the former two-passenger model, discontinued several weeks ago.

The new hardtop will be presented in 12 solid colors and 36 two-tone combinations. The soft-top convertible will be offered in 12 body colors with white, green, blue or black top.

In Weather Manipulation

Sees Future Red Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard T. Orville, chairman of the Advisory Committee on Weather Control, says the Russians one day may be capable of freezing Florida or turning the Midwest into a permanent drought belt.

He cited many suggestions by American physicists that might achieve intercontinental weather control.

One calls for spreading a material to increase the evaporation of the Gulf of Mexico. This would use up heat from the sun and alter the climate along the Gulf.

Another group has suggested spreading a chemical that would curb rainfall from the Gulf of Mexico, where much of the weather of the United States is spawned.

A third suggestion involves spreading lamp black over ice or snow at the poles. The black soot, the idea goes, might melt these regions, send the water pouring into the oceans and raise the level of the Atlantic Ocean in the New York City area to the street level in Times Square.

Last month Orville reported in Washington on the findings of the Weather Control Committee. He said weather control could have results more disastrous to the United States than atomic discoveries.

The committee is now finishing a final report to be presented within a few weeks to President Eisenhower.

Visiting Judge on Bench Here

To Allow Holland More Time on Twelve Town Drain Case

Oakland County will have a visiting judge on the Circuit Court bench for four days next week to allow Judge H. Russel Holland more time to reach an opinion on the Twelve Town storm drain case.

Judge William J. Weipert Jr., from the 38th Circuit of Monroe County, will be here beginning Feb. 4.

C. Richard Smith, assignment clerk for the Oakland court, said Judge Weipert will hear only civil cases through Friday, Feb. 7. All will involve jury trials as the first term of court begins Monday.

Judge Holland has had the drain case under advisement since December, but because of a heavy load of cases has been unable to hand down an opinion.

Southfield and Troy began suits against the Oakland County Drainage Board charging irregularities in setting up project costs. It is also charged that the state statute under which the $41-million project was established is unconstitutional.

Willman to Seek Parking Fund

Will Ask City Approve Appropriation to Run Municipal Lots

City Manager Walter K. Willman will ask the City Commission tonight to appropriate funds from the 1958 budget to run the city's municipal parking lots.

He said he expected the expenditure would be less than the $115,000 anticipated in revenues from parking meters.

Wall St. Calm After Early Stir

Suicide Taken in Stride

NEW YORK (AP)— Wall Street yesterday took the suicide of Robert R. Young in stride.

The stock market ticker was delayed an hour and 27 minutes in arranging an opening in New York Central stock. Young, who took his own life at West Palm Beach, Fla., last Saturday, was chairman of the railroad.

Brokers reported an avalanche of orders, on both buying and selling sides, for Central stock and it took time to arrange the opening price.

New York Central finally opened at $15.37, off 12 cents from Friday, and closed at $15.50, unchanged. It was the third most active stock on the list.

Cave-In Gobbles Fence, Threatens Texan's Home

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Teacher Arthur E. Goddard, who has watched a mysterious hole in his front yard spread menacingly toward his house for three days, said today he isn't really worried that it will gobble up his home.

"The city is going to have to do something when that street caves in," Mrs. Goddard warned. The dog sat beside the hole all day, backing away and howling as it spread, inching slowly toward the house.

The hole was discovered Saturday when it was four feet wide and five feet deep. The Goddards erected a fence around it, but the fence tumbled into the hole, which has spread to a width of eight feet.

Grains Moving Slowly on Mart

CHICAGO (AP) —Early grain futures dealings were light and slow on the Board of Trade today and the market generally was weak.

The small demand for corn came mostly from northwest brokers and one commission house was a fair buyer of soybeans but neither was sufficient to absorb all offerings.

Traders said there was nothing in the early news to stimulate more than a moderate volume of dealings either way.

After about an hour of trading, however, the market had firmed up somewhat with wheat and some other contracts going to the plus side fractionally of yesterday's closes; wheat was unchanged to ⅜ higher, March $2.17⅝; corn ⅝ lower to ¾ higher, March $1.09¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, March 62½; rye ¼ to 1 cent higher, March $1.24½; soybeans ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, March $2.24⅜; lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundred lbs. higher, March $11.60.

Old Malt Firm May Quit Detroit

Supplier for Breweries Claims City Tax Burden Too High

DETROIT (AP) — An 81-year-old Detroit malt firm says it plans to move because of what a spokesman described as excessive city taxes.

Otto C. Krohn, secretary of H. W. Rickel & Co., wrote the city council that the company is considering three sites where he said taxes are lower.

Krohn said a survey revealed Detroit had a heavier tax burden than three other cities in which Rickel & Co. has competitors. He said the firm made a profit of $140,000, after taxes, for the fiscal year that ended July 1, 1957.

The firm is a supplier for Detroit breweries.

The council referred Krohn's letter to the city's Board of Assessors with a request for an immediate report.

Answers to Many Letters

Tell Facts of Social Security System

By RAY HENRY
(First of two articles)

A number of articles raising doubts about the financial soundness of the Social Security system have appeared recently.

As a result, I've received many letters from old people alarmed about what they've read and fearful about losing their Social Security.

To get some official answers to the doubts raised, I put a series of questions to Marion B. Folsom, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The questions and answers appear in this and my next column.

Folsom not only is the top federal official in Social Security today, but he was one of the founders of the Social Security system 22 years ago and has been involved in every major change since then.

QUESTION: Mr. Secretary, is there any truth in the claim that the Social Security system could run out of money and there would be none left to make payments?

ANSWER: First, let's understand how the system is financed. Both employes and employers who are covered by the system pay Social Security tax. This tax goes into a special government trust fund. From it comes the money to make Social Security payments and to pay the cost of running Social Security. By law, the money may be used only for these purposes. Any tax money not needed to pay benefits and administrative expenses, is invested in interest-bearing government bonds. Over the years since 1937 when Social Security started, the tax collected always has been more than the expenses. As a result, there is now about 23 billion dollars in the fund. Incidentally, this was the way it was planned so that the system would have built-in protection against ups-and-downs in the expenses and income.

Q. But, will the income from the tax and the money in the trust fund be enough to make all the future payments?

A. I don't think anyone need be concerned about getting the payments due him. Because the number of people receiving payments is expected to grow steadily for the next 50 to 75 years, Congress has provided for increases in the Social Security tax every five years until 1975. According to the best long-range estimates our experts can make, the income from the tax and the interest on money in the fund should be enough to make all future payments.

Q. Then, who are some people talking about the system "running in the red?"

CAROL BETH JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hayse of 3916 Morgan Rd., Gingellville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Beth Jones, to Michael L. Wethy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Wethy of 4423 Homesite Dr., Gingellville. A July 19 wedding is planned.

A. The system is not running in the red. The income from the tax and interest on money in the old-age and survivors insurance trust fund was $7,100,000,000 in the 12 months before last July 1, that is, the 1957 fiscal year. Payments and operating evpenses were $6,700,000,000. So, the trust fund actually increased by 400 million dollars during the fiscal year just ended. It is true that we did pay out more in Social Security benefits in that period than we originally had expected, and we will pay out more than we estimated we would in the 1958 and 1959 fiscal years.

Q. Is the income going to equal outgo in 1958 and 1959?

A. No one can predict precise dollar figures in a program so big and subject to so many variations. But it seems probable that payments will about equal or be slightly less than income in 1958. In 1959, the payments no doubt will be somewhat greater than the income.

Q. Isn't this kind of deficit operation something to be concerned about?

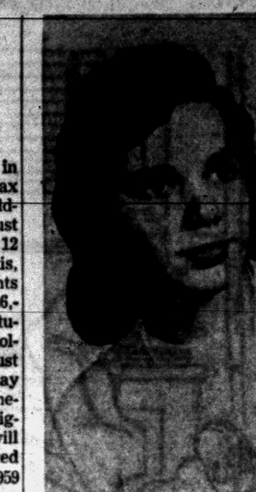
A. Not at all. As I indicated, the law already calls for an automatic tax increase in 1960. With this additional money, we expect a considerable excess of income over expenses in 1960. Then, the trust fund will start growing again. It was expected from the beginning that there might be short periods before tax increases when payments would equal or exceed income, but the trust fund is plenty big enough to take care of such periods. And, after all, that was one of the purposes in providing for a trust fund.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)



MARTHA JANE POWELL

The engagement of Martha Jane Powell of 7275 Sandy Beach Dr., Waterford Township, to Daniel Joseph Revoir of 6270 Barker St., Drayton Plains, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Powell, parents of the bride-elect. Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Revoir. He is a graduate of Waterford Township High School, where Martha, a senior, will graduate in June. A September wedding is planned.

Not dead to us who loved him,
Not lost but gone before;
He lives with us in memory,
And will forever more.
Missed by wife, sons, daughter.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF PEARL E. McDonald, who passed away two years ago today, Jan. 28th.
You have left a beautiful memory,
And a sorrow too great to be told
But to us who have loved and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.
No morning comes, no night returns,
But what we think of you.

Actor Wearies of Nice Guy Tag

Currently Starring in CBS Television Serial 'Hotel Cosmopolitan'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Did you ever notice that actors who play tough guy roles seem to be more memorable than actors who play nice guy roles?

Donald Woods, who holds something of a record for nice guy roles on television, in the movies and in theatrical road companies, has been pondering this for a long time.

"I want to play a tough guy," says Woods. "I want someone to believe that I'm not just a nice guy."

NEVER UNKIND

As a very nice guy indeed he is seen every weekday on Hotel Cosmopolitan (CBS-TV), a job he thoroughly enjoys. He also has been and is seen frequently on numerous dramatic shows — always as a nice guy, however.

A fellow who was discussing this situation of nice guy roles with Woods the other day at the Lambs Club suggested that to be known as a tough guy you have to act like a tough guy.

He proposed that Woods overturn the table, pretend to slug him and he would fall. This episode might then be decribed by a sydicated columnist and a new Woods would emerge to the public.

Woods, looking slightly shocked, replied, "But the Lambs Club would bar me for three months."

INTERESTING POINT

Woods raises an interesting point, however, when he says that "television should do more experimental casting than it does."

Woods plays the host on Hotel Cosmopolitan. He memorizes his lines on the train while traveling to and from his home in Old Greenwich, Conn. He also is the host on the Percy Faith Hour of Music on CBS Radio on Sundays.

Rules Death Caused by Fall, Not Auto

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Coroner Frank J. Staffan says Priscilla Jane Moore, 25, died of a broken neck in a fall Saturday and not because she was accidentally run over by a car as first reported by police.

Capt. Rolland J. Gainsley of the Ann Arbor Police Department said yesterday Miss Moore apparently was struck and knocked down by a stalled car she was trying to push up a slippery incline at her home.

Gainsley said the woman's mother, Mrs. E. Lucille Moore, moved the car unaware that her daughter's body was underneath. Gainsley quoted the coroner's report as ruling Miss Moore died instantly and said he did not believe the car's wheels ran over her body as first thought.

Chief Cochise Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television's Chief Cochise, actor Michael Ansara, has taken a bride. Ansara, 34, star of "Broken Arrow" and actress Barbara Eden, 23, announced they were married Jan. 11 in St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church, Los Angeles.

YEARNS TO BE TOUGH — Actor Donald Woods, who stars in the CBS-TV serial, "Hotel Cosmopolitan," is tired of playing nice guys in television, movie and stage dramas. He wants to tackle a rough, tough, Bogart-type role. "Hotel Cosmopolitan" is presented Monday through Friday at noon.

For $5,000 Elsa Will Stand on Her Head

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—In one of TV's crazier moments, Jack Paar recently asked Elsa Maxwell, "Were you ever on Ed Sullivan's show?" and she flipped back, "No, I'm no acrobat!"— thus starting something.

WILSON

A rumor spread that Ed offered Elsa $5,000 to stand on her head. "He has'nt, but for $5,000 I'd do it," Elsa guffawed. "Of course I can do it. I did yoga with Lady Elsie Mendl years ago!"

I was about to tell Ed and Steve Allen to rush to sign her, when I remembered that I'm about to do a show, so I offered her the $5,000 myself.

Don't sing with those guys, Elsa. Our show'll be in April—when the studios won't be so draughty.

Roxanne Arlen, blonde Hollywood starlet has a problem. Her ex-husband, Richard Gilman, Detroit airplane supply salesman, is en route here trying to make up. She divorced him last year. She said he objected to the way she wiggled when she walked. "Wiggles," as the L.A. papers called her, has now learned that he no longer objects to her wiggle.

ROXANNE

Jackie Gleason—rested and ready to do a monthly TV show next fall—"won't be bothered at all" if CBS pitches him against his old adversary, Perry Como, on Saturday night.

He may do a "Cafe Mardi Gras" night club show with himself in sketches . . . guest stars . . . $250,000 budget. He might appear Sunday nights somehow strengthening the Ed Sullivan battle. When he "relaxed" (ummm, boyeee!) at Toots Shor's the other day, he made clear that a head-on with pal Perry "might make things more interesting."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Henny Youngman's off to LA to see about playing a cowboy on Betty Hutton's TVer. Gen. Grant's Grandson to Get Key to Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—More than a century ago Ulysses S. Grant had to fight his way into Richmond. But the Civil War general's grandson, Ulysses S. Grant III, will have an easier time getting in next month — he will receive a key to the city.

2 Autos Collide, Husband, Wife Get Together

DETROIT (AP)—There was a loud crash as the two cars came together. The drivers bolted out of their vehicles, looked at each other and cut short what might have been twin torrents of harsh words.

"Mike!" exclaimed Mrs. Helen Omell.

Pontiac Motor Picks Recipients of Prizes

Names of 20 Pontiac Motor Division employes have been drawn for prizes from the division's entries in the General Motors $500,000 Golden Milestone letter-writing contest.

Top prize in the contest is a $35,000 home, and Pontiac General Manager S. E. Knudsen has announced that if the winner of the home is a Pontiac Motor Division employe, he will receive $5,000 toward the purchase of suitable land.

Letters submitted must tell what GM's 50th anniversary "means to me, my family and my community."

California Kite-Flier Has Narrow Escape

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Tom Mazi, 17, who flew a 12-foot kite Sunday with a plastic-insulated wire, is alive to tell about it today because the wire was too light to carry 4,000 volts.

Police said the wire melted immediately and broke the contact when it fell over two 4,000-volt power lines.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. men said he would have been electrocuted if the wire had not melted.

3 Area Men Arraigned on Charge of Larceny

Two Pontiac men and a Waterford Township man stood mute when arraigned yesterday before Circuit Court Judge George B. Hartrick on a charge of larceny from a Bloomfield Township building last November.

Judge Hartrick entered pleas of innocent for Lawrence A. Marsino, of 370 E. Tennyson Ave., Michael Rivenbaugh, of 42 Allen St., and Roy Darwin Olmstead, of 1111 Airport Rd. All three are free on $100 bonds.

Barber is a member of the Oakland County Young Republican Club and a similar club at Michigan State University where he is a junior.

Old West Comes Alive for Austrian Actress

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Austrian actress Romy Schneider, 19, who had expressed a wish to see the western United States as it appeared to the pioneers, got her wish.

Upon her arrival at Los Angeles International Airport yesterday, she was met by Ironeyes Cody, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian costumed in feathered headdress and buckskins.

Miss Schneider was fitted with a similar headdress and was made an honorary Cherokee.

Dismiss Most Work Disputes

Hope Expressed Here for More Labor Council Help in Oakland

Fifty-six per cent of the claims which have come before the Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) have been dimissed "for lack of probable cause," according to Rev. Allan A. Zaun, a member of the two-year-old commission.

In a progres report luncheon held Monday noon at the Waldron Hotel, it was pointed out by John G. Field, executive director of the commission, that scarcity of funds have prevented establishing more than five FEPC advisory councils.

Field said such councils should be set up in all 15 labor markets in Michigan.

He expressed hope that Oakland County would soon have a 30-man council of community leaders to aid the FEPC in eliminating unfair employment acts.

"From Pontiac," Field said, "I can only recall five or six cases which have come before the commission."

Continuing his statewide report to some 70 persons, Zaun said there have been but two claims which ended up in court. "Thirty-eight per cent were adjusted and six per cent dropped," he reported.

Officials Say Reds Get Better of Deal

Cultural Exchange Pact Approved

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON (INS) — American officials admitted privately today that Russia got the better of the new U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange agreement.

They said most of the exchanges agreed to were Russian proposals and the Reds have more to gain from them, notably in the fields of agriculture, industry, science, medicine and education where the U.S. is superior.

PACT PRAISED

Nevertheless, President Eisenhower was joined by congressional leaders of both parties in praising the broad exchange agreement announced yesterday after three months of negotiations in Washington.

Between 500 and 1,500 Russian citizens in all walks of life are expected to enter the U. S. annually under the two-year pact, and upwards of 3,000 Americans may visit the Soviet Union each years.

U. S. officials pinned their hopes for success of the agreement on the impact the American high standard of living will have on Russian visitors to the U. S.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Eisenhower said he hopes "a better understanding will result between the people of the U. S. and the Soviet Union" and called upon Russia to carry out the agreement "in the same spirit which has animated the negotiations."

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Theodore Green (D-R. I.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had high praise for the agreement. Johnson hailed it as "one of the most important events in many years" and "an essential first step" toward breaking down barriers of suspicion and distrust.

The agreement calls for extensive exchanges of delegations in the cultural, scientific, technological, industrial, agriculture, educational, TV-radio and sports fields.

OK AIR TRAVEL

It also contains an agreement "in principle" for establishment of direct air travel between New York and Moscow. Officials cautioned, however, that this must be completely egotiated and is at least a year off.

Officials admitted privately that a careful analysis shows the U. S. failed to achieve its principle objectives. At the outset of the talks last Oct. 28, the U. S. called on the Soviets to relax censorship of the press and radio, to quit jamming radio broadcasts from other countries and to agree to a periodic exchange of radio and TV broadcasts on "commentaries on world events."

The TV-radio agreement calls for "an exchange of broadcasts devoted to discussion of such international political problems as may be agreed upon between the two parties." But the U. S. had to agree to let Russia veto any program which it considers would "not contribute to a betterment of relations between the U. S. and U. S. S. R."

The U. S. obtained no agreement for lowering of press and radio censorship bars by Russia, or cessation of its jamming of foreign radiobroadcasts beamed to Russia.

The two areas of agreement on other TV-radio exchanges—those covering scientific, technological, industrial and sports broadcasts, and classical, folk and contemporary musical productions — were both Russian proposals.

This was true, also, of the broad agreement on exchange of motion pictures. Officials admitted, too, that this agreement permits Russia to select films which depict the U. S. as a gangster-ridden, anti-racial, poverty-stricken nation.

Girl Murderer Adjudged Sane

Will Be Sentenced on February 10 for Death of Her Roommate

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Suzanne Elaine Soule, found sane by the same jury which convicted her of second-degree murder in the slaying of her roommate, will be sentenced Feb. 10.

Her conviction carries a five-year to life sentence. The actual term is set by the State Adult Authority.

Superior Court Judge Frank Blum said at the end of the sanity trial yesterday he will recommend she be transferred from Corona State Prison for Women to a state mental hospital for extensive psychiatric treatment.

The sad-faced 20-year-old former typist from Freeport, N. Y., was convicted of the bludgeoning and stabbing of Catherine (Kit) Elvins, 19, Seattle, last July 24.

Foreman Robert J. Foster said the jury had stood at 11-1 for sanity for more than three hours. The lone holdout, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Cavanaugh of San Bruno, said later: "There's an awfully thin line between the definitions of medical and legal sanity."

Foster said: "We thought it was an impulsive act, a crime of passion. There was definitely malice but not premeditation."

Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson, in pleading for a first-degree murder verdict which would have meant death or life imprisonment, had argued Elaine had killed in order to get possession of a check for $160 Miss Elvin had.

Kent Williams, 30, of Ypsianti, appeared before Ypsilanti Municipal Judge Edward D. Deake, on a charge of receiving stolen property in connection with the burglaries. Examination was also asked for him.

Plows Used Uniquely

WELLS BEACH, Maine (AP) — There was no snow, but the snow plows were put to good use anyway. They were used to clear a path for fire equipment after high seas piled slippery seaweed outside the fire station.
