

Romney Enters Waterford School Dispute

1 Dead in Benton Harbor

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Mayor Wilbert Smith today declared a state of emergency but was turned down on his request for the dispatch of National Guard troops to this southwestern Michigan city torn by two straight nights of racial violence.

Gov. George Romney said at Lansing, an 18-year-old Negro wounded in last night's gunfire had died, but he declined an immediate call-up of troops.

Romney told newsmen in Lansing, however: "I will take whatever additional steps are necessary to maintain law and order."

Romney indicated some Guard units had been placed under an alert, but refused to say if this specifically were the case. "It won't take us long to move," he said at one point.

In Grand Rapids, Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, commanding general of the 46th Division, said units of the 3rd Battalion, 126th Infantry were being readied.

MUM ON ORDERS

Gen. Simmons declined to say how many men had received orders to report or when they might expect to move out.

Simmons said a platoon from Holland, a similar sized unit from Grand Rapids area and a battalion headquarters unit from Grand Rapids were involved.

Romney dispatched State Police Commissioner Frederick Davids here to take command of some 75 troopers on hand.

Before the governor announced the Negro youth's death, a policeman had told a reporter: "We're expecting more trouble, maybe today."

Cecil Hunt was cut down by bullets fired from a passing car and Police Sgt. Earl Merrill said witnesses saw two white youths in the car.

The shooting came in the wake of a Negro march protesting claimed lack of recreation facilities. The march turned into a rock-throwing melee.

Teamsters, AFL-CIO Eye Election Result

DELANO, Calif. (AP) — California farm workers and agricultural growers waited today for results of a historic labor representation election.

Counting began today, but final official returns could be delayed because of numerous challenges.

Secret ballots, padlocked in black containers, were sped by the Highway Patrol from the Di Giorgio Corp.'s Sierra Vista grape ranch in the southern San Joaquin Valley near Delano to the San Francisco office of the American Arbitration Association.

State Conciliation Service officials said the 15-hour balloting was the first such union representation election held among American farm workers. The outcome could immediately affect only those employed on the one ranch, but the union which wins would hold a strong hand in planned union votes among the state's estimated 80,000 farm laborers.

The AAA, assisted by local and state officials, supervised the balloting to avoid charges of fraud hurled after a similar election June 24. That vote was nullified after the Teamsters Union emerged the victor.

Yesterday's vote pitted the Teamsters against the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

Of 1,800 eligible voters, 1,317 voted. But 70 per cent of the ballots were challenged by either the unions or Di Giorgio, mostly because some voters could not furnish adequate identification.

Men and women — some dressed in their dusty work clothes and others in their Sunday best — filed into Di Giorgio's heavily-guarded bunkhouse to vote. They also could indicate they wanted no union to represent them.

State Dems Expecting 2 Visits by President

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan Democrats are expecting two visits from President Johnson before the November elections. The first is expected Monday, Labor Day.

The Labor Day visit by the President is traditional since the highlight of the day's festivities is a parade sponsored by the United Auto Workers and viewed by thousands lining the streets.

But the appearances were expected to bolster the campaigns of fellow Democrats former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a candidate for the U.S. Senate, and Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., running for reelection in the state's Third Congressional District.

Williams is locked in battle with Sen. Robert A. Griffin for the Senate seat formerly held by the late Sen. Patrick McNamara, a Democrat.

Griffin was named to replace the senator by Gov. Romney. Romney's popularity in Michigan, coupled with the frequent mentioning of the possibility he may oppose Johnson's reelection bid in 1968, also has been given as a reason for two LBJ visits to the state.

Griffin said today he had asked for but was refused an invitation to appear at the Labor Day rally in Detroit honoring the late Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich.

The refusal, Griffin told a news conference, was from Al Barbour, president of the Wayne County AFL-CIO.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had risen 11.19 points to 786.91.

On the New York Stock Exchange, advances outnumbered declines by five to one.

Between 10 a.m. and noon, four million shares were traded, a slower pace than in that period yesterday.

The market yesterday powered its way to a substantial gain in heavy trading.

EAST LANSING (UPI) — State Police provisional traffic figures showed today that 1,404 persons have lost their lives on Michigan's streets and highways so far this year, compared with 1,308 for the same period in 1965.

New standard safety items on all Dodge models include a dual master cylinder brake system, a brake system warning light that signals if there is a loss in hydraulic pressure, impact-absorbing steering column and wheel and four-way hazard warning lights.

The Dodge car lineup includes 53 models ranging from a two-door Dart sedan to the nine-passenger Monaco station wagon.

There are 17 sedan models, 14 two-door hardtops, 11 station wagons, nine convertibles and two four-door hardtops in the Dodge product line. All will continue to be protected by Chrysler's five-year 50,000-mile warranty.

Invites Officials of 11 Districts to Conference

'Must Avoid Making Children Victims of Procedural Problems'

Gov. Romney has asked officials in Waterford Township and 10 other Michigan school districts, to meet with him tomorrow in an attempt to avoid possible non-opening of schools as a result of unsettled teacher contracts.

"It is vital that the needs of teachers, students and the general public be fairly met," Romney said today. "Surely we can avoid making our children victims of any procedural problems."

Waterford's 17,000 students and 679 teachers are slated to return to school next week in Waterford Township, but only the students may show up.

Teachers voted in June not to return to school unless a contract agreement had been reached between the Waterford Education Association and the Waterford Township Board of Education.

After seven months of negotiating, the two sides have failed to reach that agreement.

Teachers are supposed to report back to school next Tuesday, with students slated to return two days later.

The WEA will hold an "11th-hour" meeting Monday night at the Community Activities Inc., building to inform teachers on the status of negotiations.

NOT OPTIMISTIC — WEA President Robert Hutchinson said the WEA is hopeful school will begin on time, but not optimistic.

Under terms of the Michigan Public Employment Relations Act, teachers and other public employees can organize and bargain collectively, but strikes are forbidden.

However, the law no longer includes mandatory penalties for striking.

To a stranger, things may appear normal in the Waterford school district.

Football practice is under way at both high schools. Cheerleaders are going through their repertoire under supervision.

Teacher workshops are proceeding as usual before the start of school, as are other preschool functions.

However, all these activities will cease next Tuesday if an agreement is not reached, asserted Hutchinson, a sixth grade teacher at Hudson C. Overt School.

The WEA had authorized teacher participation in preschool functions, said Hutchinson.

Judy Funsch Dies; Never Reached Goal

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Five-year-old Judy Lynn Funsch, who underwent heart surgery last March, died today without achieving her cherished goal of enrolling in kindergarten.

The end came for little Judy at 5:30 a.m. at the University of Michigan hospital where she had spent six hours on the operating table for removal of an obstruction in a pulmonary vein bringing blood from the lungs to the heart. Exact cause of death was not announced.

The frail child had been home in Flint for several months before returning to the hospital for observation three weeks ago.

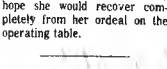

She had looked forward to entering school this fall.

But doctors were not satisfied with her progress. Judy had failed to add any weight to her 25-pound body, tired easily, and remained pale.

DEVELOPED PNEUMONIA — Two months after returning home, the pretty little blonde developed pneumonia for the 19th time in her young life.

Timetable Is Announced on Proposal by Taubman

By L. GARY THORNE

While a timetable was announced last night for consideration of the Taubman downtown redevelopment plan, one city commissioner rebuked his fellow commissioners for ignoring potential traffic problems.

City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, in a rare statement of dissent, also charged that the commission had "already made up its mind" when other sources were still available.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. disclosed the timetable for consideration of the plan proposed by Developer A. Alfred Taubman of Oak Park.

Taylor said the contract would be received next week, a noon luncheon would be held Sept. 13 for public airing of the plan and the formal public hearing and commission action would come Sept. 27.

Irwin said he wanted to "bring out some facts."

Specifically, Irwin charged that plans are underway to close the Auburn-Orchard Lake cross-over — rated the second largest east-west traffic carrier in the city — with no alternate solution being provided.

IMAGINE CONFUSION — "Can you imagine the confusion?" asked Irwin. "And nothing is being done on this. The problem is being ignored."

Irwin said that even though a University of Detroit study, which the city has known about since last spring, has yet to be looked at, the Taubman idea has been accepted.

Banner Year—Dodge

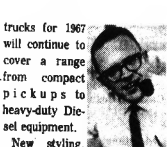

By JERRY ROBBINS
Telegraph Editor
The Pontiac Press

LOS ANGELES — A prediction for a banner year for Dodge was made today by Byron J. Nichols, Chrysler Corp. vice president and general manager of the Dodge Car and Truck Division.

"We have never been more enthusiastic about a new lineup of cars," Nichols told 500 newsmen viewing the new Dodges today at the firm's national news preview in Los Angeles.

"We have spared no effort to assure that, outside and inside, the 1967 Dodge are the best looking, best built and safest cars we have ever offered."

Nichols also reported Dodge trucks for 1967 will continue to cover a range from compact pickups to heavy-duty Diesel equipment.

New styling, engineering refinements and ROBBINS realignment of models are highlights of the Dodge car lineup.

New standard safety items on all Dodge models include a dual master cylinder brake system, a brake system warning light that signals if there is a loss in hydraulic pressure, impact-absorbing steering column and wheel and four-way hazard warning lights.

LUTHER HEACOCK

Ex-Birmingham Official Dies

Luther Heacock, former Birmingham city commissioner and mayor pro tem and long-time member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors died yesterday. He was 78.

Active in many civic affairs, Heacock, of 704 Hanna, served on the city commission from 1934 to 1942 and was mayor pro tem in 1940-41.

He was appointed to the board of supervisors in 1941 and has served continually since then.

For the past eight years Heacock was chairman of the supervisors' buildings and grounds committee which is directly involved in the county's building program.

Prior to that he was chairman of the juvenile affairs and welfare committees of the board.

SERVICE FRIDAY
Service will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home in Birmingham with burial in Greenwood Cemetery.

The family has suggested memorial tributes to the First Methodist Church of Birmingham, which Heacock served as a designed to provide Alabama a trustee.

Surviving are his wife, Ida, a attending segregated private schools.

During the march, 14 persons were arrested for disorderly loitering. One Negro, who led the march for a short time, said the demonstration was to focus attention on what he called a lack of recreational facilities.

At Waukegan, Ill., where a 30 p.m. curfew was again imposed, eviction proceedings were initiated against a public housing tenant who was arrested during recent rioting.

Mayor Robert Sabonian, saving people should not be allowed to use public housing as an arsenal, ordered David Kinder, 24, evicted.

Sabonian talked to 32 Negro leaders during the day, and a rally of 150 NAACP members heard the Rev. H. J. Cook say, "I believe we have a step toward a workable means by which we can solve the problems." He said the problems included segregation in housing and schools and job discrimination.

Sabonian has called off the curfew and said he would hold meetings to resolve racial differences in the city. Sabonian's action came after court-ordered 56 curfew violators Monday night and confiscated automatic pistols, revolvers, axes, hammers, rubber hoses, knives and hammers. There were no incidents last night.

A move is under way among Waukegan Negroes to donate money and blood for six persons burned when a fire bomb set their car ablaze Sunday at the height of rioting in a Negro district.

Frank Harris, acting head of the Waukegan chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the NAACP collected more than $50 plus pledges of blood donations for the victims, one of whom remains in critical condition.

Harris also said the NAACP set up a transportation pool to ferry blood donors to the hospitals where the victims are recovering. The victims are Puerto Ricans.

In Milwaukee, a hearing initiated by recent racial troubles was set for the Wisconsin Industrial Commission to investigate charges of discriminatory practices by social organizations.

The hearings arose from picketing against the membership of Circuit Judge Robert C. Cannon in the Fraternal Order of Elks.

In Montgomery, Ala. the Department of Justice filed a suit which Heacock served as a trustee.

Surviving are his wife, Ida, a attending segregated private schools.

Hearing has already been tentatively scheduled.

Irwin added that the commission should first consider the U. of D results, which he said may or may not have any benefits to the city.

"There's no objection to looking at it," said Taylor in reply, "but neither are we going to delay. Our minds are made up to get something done, but we're not voting on anything without informing the public."

Taylor added: "There's no hanky panky. There is no secret; nothing to hide. We're merely trying to put the necessary catalyst down here and we can't wait much longer."

Detailing deliberations on downtown redevelopment since summer 1965, Irwin said three weeks ago Taubman had made his offer, 1 1/2 weeks after the contract was renegotiated and last week a new contract was presented.

"The crux of the matter has been the breakdown in communications between the city and downtown merchants, labor and ethnic groups," he explained.

Irwin attributed a "feeling of distrust between the commission and citizens" to a lack of conversation.

Stipulating he was not against Taubman, Irwin said the commission had an obligation to evaluate every possible source of information.

"We're building something to last 50 to 100 years."

Irwin said the total cost of the Taubman plan is figured at $3.5 million to be paid off by bonds. He said Taubman will pay $450,000 a year on a lease for the parking area.

According to Irwin, Taubman's payment will not be enough to meet the bond payments so the city will have to make up the difference.

He said this would amount to $75,000 a year. In addition, Irwin said maintenance costs to be paid by the city would reach $60,000 a year, giving a total cost of $135,000 a year.

OTHER SERVICES

Irwin said other services, such as police and fire protection, would not doubt also be needed, hiking the total city contribution to about $200,000 a year.

The District 2 commissioner calculated tax revenue from the Taubman development — an enclosed multi-type shopping center — at $200,000 a year.

Concluding his statement, Irwin commented, "I'm sorry I've rocked the boat. I've always been a team member, but the team ran away with the ball this time."

In rebuttal, Taylor said the city was seeking a solution to its income problems. One vital problem is to bring in new tax base.

NOT A GUESS

He said he wouldn't even guess what added tax base the Taubman complex might bring in.

"Is it wrong to spend tax dollars to get this moving?" he asked.

Taylor said the commission had been delayed three times in its efforts to preview the U. of D. study. He said Taubman also had been refused the opportunity to view the study.

He said the public luncheon to unveil the Taubman plan had been set for Sept. 13 so the U. of D. results could be viewed the night before. Taylor said Taubman would be at both meetings.

Other commissioners, Leslie H. Hudson, John A. Dugan and James H. Marshall, essentially supported Taylor's statements.

Hudson pointed out that the city actually had only one concrete proposal and that was from Taubman.

"Add the present $568,000 budget higher tax collection rate, 1966-67, to an anticipated 1966-67 income of $8,531,000 and it's about $100,000 shy of the estimated $925-million expenditure," Tatroe points out.

Tatroe said the present offer would give the district's 679 teachers $439,000 more than they received last school year or almost $650 more per teacher.

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

According to Tatroe, this would leave the district without a budget balance at completion of the 1966-67 school year, creating a serious financial problem for the following year.

"Add the present $568,000 budget higher tax collection rate, 1966-67, to an anticipated 1966-67 income of $8,531,000 and it's about $100,000 shy of the estimated $925-million expenditure," Tatroe points out.

Tatroe said the present offer would give the district's 679 teachers $439,000 more than they received last school year or almost $650 more per teacher.

3 WISHES

The board is hoping for three things: a higher tax collection rate, $41,000 more in state aid (the district's share of the new $9-million state school aid bill passes) and more student.

Frisco Nurses Back to Work

New Scale Accepted;
Details Not Complete

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nurses in city-operated hospitals went back to work today with the promise of a 15 percent pay boost — the result of their mass strike 24 hours earlier.

"Things are beginning to look normal," said an early supervising nurse at San Francisco General Hospital.

The registered nurses went back to their jobs after reporting "sick" Tuesday in support of their demands for higher pay. They voted Tuesday night to return and accept a pay increase offered by the city.

All 193 registered nurses scheduled for duty in the three public hospitals called in sick Tuesday, causing Mayor John F. Shelley to declare an emergency which he said permitted evading city charter provisions against pay hikes in the middle of a fiscal year.

He offered a new scale starting Thursday ranging from $578 to $703 a month, depending on experience. The range had been $465 to $565.

Although nurses voted 347 to 104 to return, the details in the mayor's offer were not complete. Civil Service commissioners meet today to recommend the increases and the board of supervisors is meeting to pass a special appropriation.

VALIDITY TEST

Needed after those measures is approval by City Controller Nathan Groppe, who says he will not act until courts explore the validity of Shelley's proclamation.

Cooper said the plan would cost the city nearly $900,000 between Sept. 1 and July 1, when the next fiscal year starts.

Nurses, some of whom belong to the California Nurses Association and some to the AFL-CIO City and County Employees Union, demanded restoration of the traditional 15 percent margin by which their salaries exceed those of nurses in private hospitals.

Private hospitals recently boosted their pay.

The city-hired nurses rejected an increase that would have become effective until the next fiscal year but that would have included retroactive payments to cover pay increases lost until then.

Two Proposals Listed in School District Vote

BIRMINGHAM — Residents in the Birmingham School District on Oct. 6 will go to the polls to consider two proposals designed to expand the system's physical facilities and to maintain a sound educational curriculum in the face of rising costs and enrollments.

The voters will be asked to approve:

• Capital bonding totaling $9.8 million for more operating levies.

• A 13.9-mill operating levy.

Schools Administrative Assistant Walter J. Piel said the millage request represents an increase of 2.3 mills over the present 11-mill levy due to expire in December.

He said the extra mills will raise approximately $900,000 in extra revenue.

The Board of Education has determined that revenue from the bond issue will be used to erect, furnish and equip a new junior high school, additions to existing junior and senior high schools, a new elementary school and additions to existing elementary school buildings.

CONSTRUCTION

Construction of a new administration building is also slated as well as improvements to present school buildings and purchase of school sites.

The renewal of the 11 mills and the extra 2.3 mills are being requested to provide for an annual enrollment increase of over 1,000 pupils.

Over the past four years, according to Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith, the system has grown by more than 4,500 students.

Piel said the millage hike is necessary to offset increased operating costs, to attract and hold good teachers with competitive salaries, to keep class sizes at reasonable levels and to maintain a quality curriculum.

AN INCREASE

The 2.9-mill tax boost would mean an increase of $2.90 per $1,000 of equalized property valuation. A board estimate places the debt millage increase needed to pay off the bond issue, at 7.5 mills, or less, said Piel.

Only Birmingham School District property owners will be eligible to vote on the bond issue proposals but all registered voters may vote on the millage proposition.

Pick Adman to Promote UF

Promotion supervisor for Pontiac Motor Division, Charles L. Cousins, has been named district chairman of the 1966 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign.

He will be responsible for preparation of outdoor advertising, special promotional displays and coordinating agency displays in stores throughout the area.

Cousins, of 4815 Sundew, Commerce, Township, also held the display post in 1964, according to William Presshour, campaign publicity and promotion chairman who announced the appointment.

Formerly in advertising, public relations and newspaper work, Cousins has also participated in P.A.U.F. drives since 1963 as an industrial division and advance gifts solicitor.

He currently serves on the board of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic, a U. of A. agency and as a vice chairman of the 1966 Boy Scout Lost Lake Camp Development Fund.

Cousins has been with Pontiac Motor since 1959.

Williams Out of Hospital, Plans Rest

DETROIT (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday left Jennings Hospital where he underwent surgery 11 days ago for removal of several kidney stones.

Williams, 55, planned two weeks of recuperation at his home in Oak Ridge before resuming the campaign for the U.S. Senate.

The former Democratic governor entered the hospital Aug. 15 after complaining of stomach pains.

Doctors diagnosed the illness as ureter calculus, of calcium deposits, lodged in the right ureter which drains the right kidney.

Dr. Albert L. Steinbach, Williams' physician, said one stone was passed spontaneously and another six were removed by surgery on Aug. 19.

Williams was described as feeling well.

House Weighs Interest Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The issue of rising interest rates and their effect on the nation's economy is churning toward House action on a wave of political controversy next week.

The House Rules Committee cleared the way yesterday for House votes on two proposals designed to limit certain interest rates.

The sponsor of one of the bills, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., said the public is demanding "to know who in Congress is against high interest rates."

He said the question "is sure to become a burning issue" in the November elections.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said the interest legislation will be scheduled for early House action, probably next week.

DECLARES WAR—Rep. John H. Buchanan Jr., R-Ala., fed up with the mess and noise of starlings roosting in trees at his home in suburban Maryland has declared war on the birds. Armed with a shotgun loaded with birdshot, Rep. Buchanan sat on the steps of his house last night and squeezed off a few rounds, hoping to discourage the unwelcome visitors.

'Dove'? No, 'Hawk' Battles the Starlings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Per-istence is a congressman with a 12-gauge shotgun shooting into his maple tree.

It's Rep. John H. Buchanan Jr., R-Ala., armed with birdshot for a foray on the patio. "We're going to get them this time!"

Farm 'Boom' Appears Over

MILLINGTON, N.J. (AP)—A funny looking scarecrow that goes boom every 15 minutes of the day and night does a pretty good job scaring birds and deer—just like people, they're another story.

Residents of this town have had about enough of a two-foot-long cannon used by farmer Philip Bardy to chase wild life from his fields.

"The dogs bark all night," one said, "the children cry and some people lie awake waiting for the damn thing to go boom—just like waiting for the other shoe to drop."

And go boom it does. The cannon is timed to boom automatically every 15 minutes.

In the daytime, the cannon is located near a cornfield to scare away blackbirds. At night, it's moved to a tomato and melon patch to frighten herds of deer that had fed there regularly until April 15—the day it was installed.

The Passaic Township Committee has issued Bardy a warning to "cease the operation of your noise-making device" but he has ignored it so far.

The farmer says he was given permission to use the cannon from the New Jersey Division of Wild Fish and Game after an inspector visited his field, shook his head and said, "You've got problems."

Bardy told of experiments in the past with strawman scarecrows, noisemakers that clap together and strings of flapping multicolored flags. He said none worked.

Then he hit on the cannon.

The cannon is a device that uses carbonated water and minerals which build up pressure and fire off the device periodically.

Buchanan has waged war on hundreds of starlings he says mess up his yard. He's tried shining lights in their faces, banging garbage can lids, yelling and noise makers.

"They pay no attention," he says. "But this time, it's me or them! My wife and children went to Birmingham to escape. They're coming home Monday."

"The birds will be gone by then or I'll know the reason why!"

So Tuesday night, dressed in a business suit, armed with a friend's shotgun, 6-foot-4 Buchanan waited in his back yard at dusk for "the arrivals."

FIRES INTO TREES
By dark, the trees were settled with screaming starlings. Buchanan—whose only hunting score to date has been one rabbit—fired into trees in the front yard and one in the back yard.

Birds fluttered aloft. He bagged lots of leaves and one bird.

It's against the law to shoot firearms in the suburban Westmoreland, Md., area and police told him last week to stop. Buchanan then wrote 300 letters to neighbors outlining his battle plan and asked them not to squeal on him. Apparently they didn't. No police showed up.

Buchanan's battle is the latest in antistarling action around Washington. Tens of thousands of the birds live in the city in the winter, migrating to suburbia for summer.

"This summer," Buchanan vows, "is the last one they're spending at my house—even if I have to cut down all my trees!"

U Thant Expected to Reject New Term

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U Thant returns tonight from a week's trip to Latin America to announce whether he will remain as U.N. secretary-general. His decision will be sent to all 117 U.N. delegations tomorrow.

The impression among many U.N. diplomats is that despite unprecedented international pressure, the Burmese diplomat will say that he is not available for another five-year term after his current term expires Nov. 3.

Others speculate that he will leave the door open to serve for at least two or three more years. Most agree that an unqualified no would set off another round of diplomatic effort to persuade him to change his mind.

Pressure to keep him in one of the world's most demanding jobs has come from virtually all of the 117 N.N. members, including the major powers and such influential groups as the 61 Asian and African nations.

It has come also from world leaders—President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin.

Even 176 members of the U.S. Congress joined in a telegraphed appeal, and some U.S. newspapers have published editorials urging him to remain.

Thant, 57, is mindful of criticism that he will be taking a kind of "stop the world, I want to get off" attitude if he leaves the United Nations at a time of deepening crisis for both the organization and world affairs.

But associates say that against this he has weighed a number of considerations both inside and outside the world organization.

Tremors Hit Mid-Alaska; No Injuries

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Two tremors that jolted central Alaska Tuesday were only 1.000th as strong as a devastating quake that hit the area two years ago, seismologists said.

But Alaskans, reminded of a quake that killed 113 persons and caused $300-million damage, rejected references to the tremors as being small.

The tremors were recorded two minutes apart, their epicenters placed in the Cordova-Valdez area of Prince William Sound. Little damage and no injuries were reported.

'Shriver Not Part of It' Powell Pushes Poverty Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Shriver should resign as head of Adam Clayton Powell proposed the Office of Economic Opportunity "to raise black Americans" to full equality—and said through a spokesman two days ago there is no room in his plan days ago he does not intend to resign.

6 Area 4-H's Awarded Trips

E. Lansing Exhibit
Excellence Rewarded

Three Oakland County 4-H club members and three from Lapeer County were awarded educational trips at the State 4-H Show in East Lansing last week for the excellence of their demonstrations.

The most coveted prize, the annual Chicago trip, was awarded to only 21 4-H'ers out of the more than 3,000 who took part in the State Show, held on the Michigan State University campus.

The winners included Rosemary Theriot and Sue Vasquez of the Oakhill Club, who performed clothing demonstrations, and Karin Rose of the Paint Creek Valley Club, for her sheep demonstration.

SIDE TRIP

They will visit business, industry and transportation centers in the city and take a side trip to the Purdue University Urban Development Center in Hammond, Ind.

Winners of the annual Traverse City trip, scheduled for Sept. 30-Oct. 3, included Arthur Curry of Almont and Malcolm E. Barclay of Metamora.

This trip is designed to give 4-H'ers a look at the economic life of a community and the chance to learn about careers, cultural life, business opportunities and educational development.

Legal Snarls Snag Sewer System Plans

LAKE ORION — A lawsuit and an outdated contract are holding up final approval of the issuance of general obligation bonds to finance a proposed $1.1-million sewer system in the village.

At a hearing in Oakland County Circuit Court the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission withheld final approval because of a pending lawsuit brought against the village last year by the Lake Orion Homeowners Association.

The suit alleges that the cost of the proposed system is unreasonable.

The hearing was held Monday at the request of the state attorney general who is seeking to stop pollution of Paint Creek, allegedly caused by sanitary sewers being hooked up to storm drains.

Townships Try to Open Dump

Brandon, Groveland and Independence township officials are taking steps to comply with state law in the hopes of reopening a dump that was closed two weeks ago.

At a joint meeting last night, the three township boards hired Howard Kelt of Clarkson to draw up engineering plans which would permit the dump to be reopened as a sanitary land-fill.

The state and Oakland County health departments cited unsanitary conditions when they closed the dump on M15 north of Oakhill.

Officials said they would not approve reopening until an engineering description of the entire layout, an operational procedure plan and cleaning of the present site were completed.

Labor Charges Facing Board

Unfair labor charges have been filed against the Avondale Board of Education on the grounds that it violated Section 205 of the Public Employee Relations Act when it permitted the teachers' bargaining agent to be present at a hearing last night.

The charge was filed with the National Labor Relations Board by Bernard Fieger, Detroit attorney, on behalf of Grace Sayers, an Avondale teacher who was to have had a hearing before the board.

Fieger said the board violated Miss Sayers' right to present her grievances without the presence of the bargaining agent, in this case the Avondale Education Association.

He said the hearing, regarding Miss Sayers' transfer from the position of reading consultant to classroom teacher, was set up as a closed hearing and that the AEA had no right to be present.

The hearing was set up because Miss Sayers claims she was demoted when she was made classroom teacher. The board contends that because her salary was not lowered, she was not demoted.

Brandon Township Supervisor Richard R. Wilcox said the plans are scheduled for completion in three weeks. They must then be approved by the health departments.

Once the dump is reopened, however, it may be leased to a private operator who would apply for a license and run it on a private basis, Wilcox said.

"It's just too expensive an operation for the township to run," he said.

Brandon and Groveland townships each pay one-quarter of the operational cost while Independence, with its larger population, has been paying one-half.

If the dump is run as a private operation, Wilcox said, the residents would be charged individually.

He said the dump will have to be cleaned up and run as a sanitary land-fill, which means that the refuse must be covered with dirt each day.

In recent months, residents near the dump had complained of excessive smoke from burning, odors and the presence of rodents at the 10-acre dump.

Since it was closed down, residents have been using a privately owned dump.

Slim Pickings for Safecrackers in White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Burglars who hauled away a two-foot-high safe after breaking into a township construction firm last night may be in for a surprise if they get the safe opened.

Darwin Richman, part owner of D & H Richman Excavating Co., 1095 Union Lake, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies the safe contained only two dollars cash.

In addition, Richman said, company papers and various check books were locked in the safe.

Deputies said entry to the building was gained by smashing into a large plate glass window.

Tire tracks outside the building indicated the thieves fled with the safe in a car, deputies said.

School Opens on Sept. 8

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — All students in West Bloomfield schools, except those in kindergarten classes, should report to school for a full day of regular classes, on Sept. 8.

Regular morning and afternoon kindergarten sessions will begin on Sept. 9.

Walled Lake Bond Issue Aims at 2nd Senior High

WALLED LAKE — The board of education on Oct. 5 will be seeking voter approval of a $9.7-million bond issue package designed largely to finance construction of a second senior high school.

The board has estimated that $7 million of the issue will be spent on the new facility.

The total cost to the taxpayer for the complete bond issue will be $1 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, a 1-mill levy hike.

The district is currently levying 6 mills for debt retirement. The bond issue will raise this to 7 mills.

Schools Supt. George G. Garver said the project will be paid for, in part, through the State School Bond Loan Program.

PROVISIONS

The provisions of the program state that a district levying 7 mills for debt retirement is eligible for a loan if the 7 mills are not sufficient to pay off the debt obligations of the district.

The loan does not have to be paid off until such time as the 7-mill levy raises more money than is needed to meet the district's building debt.

Garver pointed out that the present Walled Lake High School is housing 1,800 students, 500 more than it was designed to accommodate. He said the school, he said, has approximately 150,000-square-foot of floor area.

"By today's curriculum needs, this is marginal. The areas that are especially inadequate are the shop and vocational education facilities. The new high school will place heavy emphasis on these areas," said Garver.

Plans for the new building indicate that it will contain about 225,000-square-foot. The figure breaks down to 150-feet-per-student with an enrollment of 1,500.

The present high school would offer 116-square-feet per student with a similar enrollment.

SPACE TODAY

Most high schools being built today provide about 155-square-foot per student, Garver said.

Garver pointed out that part of the reason for the size of the school is an auditorium which will seat 900 persons and will serve all four of the system's secondary schools.

Improved vocational education and shop facilities also account for large areas, he said.

"This building is designed to be very compact with most of its space utilized for teaching purposes," the superintendent said.

He estimated that 10 per cent more of the building would be used for instruction than in the typical school building.

Garver pointed out that a $55,000 bond proposal to finance a swimming pool at the new school will also be on the ballot.

He said the pool can be built at this price only if it is done in conjunction with the construction of the rest of the high school.

He emphasized that approval of the pool proposal would not raise taxes beyond the 1-mill required for the high school alone.

The amount not covered by the levy will be financed through the State School Bond Loan Program.

$798,000 Pay Hike for County Proposed

A salaries boost of $798,000 next year for Oakland County employees was proposed yesterday by the personnel policies committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The pay hike, which represents an average 8.5 per cent increase over present wages will be presented tomorrow to the supervisors' ways and means committee.

Final approval of the salaries for 1967 as well as for the rest of the county's budget for next year is scheduled for the Oct. 3 meeting of the supervisors.

Proposed yesterday was $560,320 in raises to present employees and $230,681 for the hiring of 34 new people.

Recommend County Hire 34 Workers

Hiring of 34 new employees by Oakland County was recommended yesterday by the personnel policies committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The recommendation will be considered tomorrow by the supervisors' ways and means committee.

Highest number of new employees, eight, was proposed for circuit court.

This includes two new judges, two officers, two court reporters and two secretaries.

A third judge actually will be elected in November but this juror will replace deceased Judge Stanton G. Dondoro. It is not a budgeted new position.

NEW EMPLOYEES

Probable court will receive four new employees according to the proposal and three each are earmarked for the Board of Auditors, Clerk - Register, Probate Juvenile Division and Children's Village.

Among departments allotted two new employees were these of the sheriff and prosecutor.

Probate Court judges were raised $2,500.

County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman and the Probate Court judges were raised $2,500.

Circuit Court judges were given a raise of $1,800 which hikes this salary to $39,000 from $37,200.

The top salary for sheriff's deputies was raised $600, from $8,900 to $9,500.

Also included in the proposal was $18,000 for emergency salaries and $8,979 in reserve for adjustments.

HIGHEST BOOST

Highest remuneration increase was proposed for the chairman of the County Board of Auditors and the minimum increase for all employees was $400.

Present Board of Auditors Chairman Daniel T. Murphy now receives a salary of $18,000 plus $4,000 for the board chairmanship. A salary increase to $18,000 plus $5,000 for the chairmanship was approved by the committee.

The chairmanship appointment is made each October by the Board of Supervisors.

County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman and the Probate Court judges were raised $2,500.

CURRENT SALARY
Dr. Berman's salary is $22,500 now and $25,000 is proposed for next year. Probate judges were raised from $28,500 to $29,000.

Circuit Court judges were given a raise of $1,800 which hikes this salary to $39,000 from $37,200.

The top salary for sheriff's deputies was raised $600, from $8,900 to $9,500.

Francis X. Trombley, 18, of 1313 Thorpe, suffered leg fractures and a broken wrist in the accident, according to a hospital spokesman.

Pontiac police said Trombley's motorcycle collided with an automobile driven by Robert B. Kobran, 41, of 541 Fox River, Bloomfield Hills, at Auburn and Opdyke.

Pedestrian Overpasses

Bridge Action Taken

Added steps were taken last night by the City Commission toward erection of two more pedestrian bridges in the city.

In separate actions, the commission approved a $38,928 contract on a bridge across Wide Track at Whittemore and received a deed for additional right-of-way for a bridge across Kennett in front of Alcott School.

The contract was with the Spartans Sign Co., while the deed for an additional 10 feet of right-of-way was received from the Pontiac Board of Education.

In other business, an ordinance was introduced to combat harassing or molesting telephone calls. The ordinance, slated for adoption next week, sets a penalty of $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

Final action was taken last night to permit the establishment of fire lanes on private property at the request of the property owner.

Action was deferred two weeks on proposed rezoning of a nearly seven-acre parcel at Woodward and the future East Boulevard extension for a small shopping center.

Personal service rezoning for the southwest corner of Orchard Lake and Chapman was approved. Also approved was residential-3 rezoning for Newman AME Church property at the northeast corner of Bagley and Brush.

A public hearing was set for Sept. 13 on paving Lounsbury, Oakland to Lakeside. Cost estimates were presented showing an assessed cost of $19,147, city cost of $24,210 and a total cost of $44,490.

Two paving projects, proposed paving on Maxwell and Jordan and Mount Clemens to the south line of the subdivision, were deleted from the 1966 paving program because of protest petitions.

The board is also expected to consider a township board request for a 90-day extension on its decision to purchase a 27.5-acre school-owned park site.

Special School Election on Waterford's Agenda

Slated for discussion at tomorrow night's Waterford Township Board of Education meeting is the special Oct. 5 school reorganization election.

Residents of this neighborhood are expected to seek support at tomorrow's meeting, slated to get under way at 7:30 p.m.

Voters in the Waterford Township School District are eligible to cast ballots in the election which proposes to merge the Dublin-Walled Lake and Oxford-North Oxford school districts.

A small portion of White Lake Township, now part of the Waterford school district, would be annexed to the Walled Lake system under the single-proposition county plan.

Committee members decided to include the sheriff's department wage scale in the proposed budget despite the fact that union bargaining has met an impasse.

The sheriff had been designated the employer in the union petition but the county contends that the board of supervisors has the budgetary control.

A ruling from the State Labor Mediation Board is awaited.

Judge Views Auto Safety Clearly

In today's "Reviewing Other Editorial Pages" space there appears an enlightening exposition on automobile safety and the cogent summation of a California judge in denying a claim for damages against General Motors involving an accident to a Chevrolet Corvair in which a teen-age driver met death.

The judge's common-sense analysis of the voluminous testimony covering 15 weeks of trial admitted some badly-needed fresh air into the stuffy chamber wherein the many-phased subject of vehicular safety has been argued and distorted.

In the court's decision is telling refutation of the outpourings of self-styled safety authority Ralph Nader. It clearly puts major responsibility for safe motoring where it belongs — on the shoulders of drivers.

The California case may well assume landmark status and go far to dispel the hysteria and curb the legal blackmail that have demeaned the area of objective auto safety.

We heartily commend the decision of Judge BERNARD S. JEFFERSON and recommend that it be given the wide dissemination it merits.

Congress' Spending Invites Inflation Perils

Congress appears to be on its way to appropriating substantially more money than the President has requested in his budget—excessive as that is. The Council of State Chambers of Commerce has reported that appropriation bills are running a billion dollars above Presidential recommendations.

The Council warns that either Congress must restrain its spending now or face the prospect of increasing taxes later. The only other alternative is more deficit financing, a further cut in the value of the dollar and more inflation that would mean a continuation of the wage-price spiral.

The latter would also mean further loss of confidence in the dollar, an aggravated balance of payments problem and millions of consumers looking around for someone to blame when the purchasing power of the family paycheck shrinks still further.

This has been the pattern in the past and will continue to be so in the future until the people recognize that government spending and government fiscal policies are the primary causes of the cost of living index ticking like a time bomb toward ever-higher levels.

Lawmakers responsible for promoting inflation should be fired by the voters, just like reckless employees in any business. It's your money they are squandering, not theirs.

Let's Not Switch Control of Power Companies

The Federal Power Act of 1920 provided for government licensing of hydroelectric projects. The Act was passed to make hydroelectric sites available to investor-owned enterprise and development. The record of progress of the Nation's electric power supply since then surpasses all other nations. Output records have been constantly broken and rates have steadily declined in the face of rising costs, public debt and inflation.

The Water Power Act permitted licenses for as long as 50 years, with a provision for renewal of government acquisition of the plants at expiration of leases.

By 1971, licenses for some 50 hydroelectric projects that have paid the Government billions of dollars in taxes come up for review by the Federal Power Commission and Congress.

It will now be interesting to see whether the renewal of licenses for these great publicly-regulated, investor-owned, taxpaying enterprises will be used as political footballs to try and further the program of the advocates of government ownership of the power industry in the U.S.

We hope that no fire will be started to burn lease renewals in order to promote a greater tax-exempt, government-owned power monopoly. Let the power industry go ahead for the next 50 years under taxpaying, regulated private management. This would clearly demonstrate our belief in freedom of opportunity, the primary economic freedom for which the United States stands as the world's leader.

LBJ Bearing Up Under Criticism

AP News Analyst

But life-long politician Johnson knows it's par for the course for a president to get his lumps in a congressional election year like this and he seems to be bearing up comfortably under the burden of unhappy events.

Republicans, looking to the November elections, have been pecking away at him.

The war in Viet Nam is perhaps his biggest political handicap. Prices and interest rates have gone up. His wage guidelines have been shattered. Inflation is a constant danger. And street riots continue in some cities.

The Republicans claim they will capture 40 House seats.

TRUBLE

If they captured just 15 or 20 Johnson would have trouble getting his "Great Society" programs through during the next two years.

If they lost only 15 or 20 seats in the House, the Democrats would still have numerical control but not voting control, since conservative Democrats team up with Republicans too often for Johnsonian comfort.

For example: One of his pet programs — rent subsidies for the poor — just passed through the House by a four-vote margin, despite the Democrats' 2-1 majority over the Republicans in total numbers.

But Johnson says he doesn't think the elections will make any unusual changes in House and Senate.

RISE IN PRICES

As for rising prices and wages: Twice in the past two weeks he gave a warning that could mean he will call for price and wage controls if the spiral keeps going up. Yet, the way he said it sounded mild.

He simply called on labor and business to show self-restraint for, otherwise, he said, the government might have to take other measures to control inflation.

While expressing deep sympathy for the condition of impoverished Negroes, he spoke out against riots in the streets, calling on whites and Negroes to show self-discipline and reliance on justice and the law.

Republicans generally back Johnson on the war but are his constant critics on his handling of it. A number of Democrats have done it, too.

Johnson hasn't soft-pedaled the war.

But the one thing which seemed to leave him speechless was the Gallup poll report that Democrats prefer New York's Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to Johnson for the presidency in 1968.

Asked for an explanation of this, Johnson said he had no explanation.

It's Downhill All the Way!

David Lawrence Says:

Club Rift Is Rights Extremism

WASHINGTON — Many unbelievable things have occurred since street "demonstrations" began to be championed a few years ago, but nobody would have predicted that, in the name of "civil rights," the right of privacy would be invaded.

Now the LAWRENCE home of a judge on the bench in Wisconsin has been picked for 11 days just because he belongs to a private club that doesn't have any Negro members.

Wisconsin's National Guardsmen had to be called to aid the police in maintaining order when the residence of Circuit Court Judge Robert C. Cannon in Wauwatosa, a town near Milwaukee, was surrounded by pickets who in turn drew hecklers.

If it is wrong for private clubs to choose for their members persons they wish to enroll — either of one race or one religion or one point of view in politics or business or anything else — then the phrase "civil rights" loses its meaning.

What is being witnessed is a form of extremism which grows out of the failure of top officials in government and leading members of Congress of both parties to speak out against "demonstrations" and "marches" which can provoke violence as a result of the bitter feeling engendered.

SPECIFICALLY EXEMPTED

Congress, in its "civil rights" legislation, has again and again specifically exempted from governmental intervention any private club or organization.

It has stipulated only that racial discrimination must not be practiced in any school or facility maintained by the federal or state or city governments or to which government funds are supplied.

As for restaurants and hotels, it has been written into law that only those businesses which affect "interstate commerce" come under the statutes which ban racial or religious discrimination.

Fraternal orders have always been considered private. The Eagles' lodge to which Judge Cannon belongs is similar to many other lodges and fraternal organizations.

SHOULD BE PRESENTED

If there were any merit in the contention that private clubs should not be allowed to discriminate, such a viewpoint should be presented to the members of Congress and state legislatures.

The people's representatives have the right, to change the Constitution and the law at any time and include private clubs in the same category as public schools and other public institutions.

The right to send protests to their representatives is available to all citizens, so no disrespect to the people would result if street "demonstrations" that have an unconstitutional purpose were prohibited.

There are plenty of ways for opinions on all issues to be expressed in public forums without resorting to "demonstrations" that arouse passions.

Unfortunately, not enough effort has been directed to ways to educate the people on how they may lawfully combine to change the constitution or to get legislation passed to enforce the principle of law and order as embodied in the existing constitution.

Bob Considine Says:

2 Doctors Score Victory in War on Worm Disease

NEW YORK — A comparatively simple cure has been found for a villainous disease which is currently killing, by slow degrees, about 150 million people.

The malady is schistosomiasis, the invasion of the bloodstream by worms shed by fresh water snails.

The incidence is light in the U.S. but appalling in Egypt, many parts of South America and Africa.

It is now the most important infectious disease of man, supplanting malaria.

Dr. Edward I. Goldsmith said today at New York Hospital - Cornell Medical Center.

The young surgeon and the famed parasitologist Dr. B. Kean of the same center, have combined forces — a rare alliance in medicine — to war on worms.

The Goldsmith - Kean system is built around a filter. The blood is drained out of the body, led through the filter, then pumped back in.

REFRESHENING ITSELF

The filter nets the worms and the blood swiftly rejuvenates itself, with being relieved of its onerous traffic.

The female of this species of worm lays 300 eggs a day. It does not take long for the arteries of victims to become unable to handle that explosive increase in parasites.

The doctors have submitted their first paper on the development to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Even in the sobersided and conservatively phrased language of such tracts, it makes exciting reading.

Nader's Turn ...

The Philadelphia Inquirer

Nader indicted Bernard S. Jefferson have one thing in common: both have written about the 1966-through-1963 Corvair. Nader is a young Washington lawyer who doesn't work at it, at least not publicly. He became a best-selling author with the sensationalized "Unsafe at Any Speed" and overnight a self-appointed safety expert without technical training.

Jefferson is a judge sitting on the California Superior Court bench. What he has written about the Corvair won't become a best-seller except at General Motors' headquarters and at Chevrolet dealerships.

Nader indicted the Corvair in his 41-page opening chapter and eight pages were devoted to detailing a suit against General Motors by a driver who lost an arm when a Corvair crashed in California.

GM's insurance company settled the suit for $70,000 — probably GM's first mistake in view of later developments — after three days of testimony during which it was brought out that an apprentice mechanic had improperly inflated the tires.

Nader dismissed with one three-line sentence favorable judgments for GM in two other suits which had been settled when he sat down at his typewriter.

Altogether more than 1.6 million Corvairs have been sold since its introduction but work in fresh and shallow water, as in the rice paddies of the world.

A number of American GIs contracted the disease in the Philippines during World War II, after swimming in polluted waters.

"We can't operate on 250 million victims," Dr. Goldsmith sighed. "But we could handle a lot of selected cases and, I feel, save them."

Question and Answer

REPLY

No. He and his wife are buried in St. Mary's church, Battersea, England.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

sales have sagged from a high of 317,000 in 1961 to less than 64,000 so far this year.

There have been rumors the car would be dropped but E. M. Estes, has stated it will be continued through 1967. It also is doubtful if the car will be discontinued after that. GM people now point to Judge Jefferson and what they view as an important victory in their fight to defend the only American-made car with a rear engine.

Jefferson turned out 70 typewritten pages on the Corvair. After 15 weeks of trial in a suit that sought $1.7 million damages on the grounds that a Corvair involved in an accident fatal to a teenage driver was poorly designed and had bad handling characteristics.

Jefferson's authorship was based on 3,500 pages of testimony from 43 witnesses including race drivers, engineers, police and highway authorities. There were films of Corvair track tests, engineering studies comparing the Corvair favorably and even superior to other cars of its size and weight in the area of roadability, visits to the death site and other courtroom exhibits — even one that duplicated the false impression created by the drawing in Nader's book.

Jefferson also noted that, although the accident occurred in 1960 and the owner of the Corvair had driven it 4,000-6,000 miles himself without difficulty in controlling the car, the suit was not filed by the father of the de-

Voice of the People:
Believes Millions Share Disaffection for Viet War

Too many Americans do not think for themselves. They hate the Viet Cong because they are killing our boys in Viet Nam. They fail to consider that our boys have been sent thousands of miles to kill them and destroy their country.

The only way to stop the threat of communism is to show the starving peoples of the world that our way of life is better. The millions of dollars we send to aid other countries never gets to the needy and as long as there is hunger and want, communism will spread. I can see only one reason for our boys being in Viet Nam and that is to protect the American rubber interests and perhaps other investments.

It doesn't seem fair that the cream of our youth should be sent over there to fight, while the President's son-in-law and his daughter's boy friend and the Vice-President's son can stay here and enjoy life. If this sounds unAmerican, I'm sorry, but this is the way I feel and I am sure millions of other Americans feel the same.

The Pontiac Press is to be congratulated on its editorial cartoon concerning the evils of pornography. Parents should be particularly concerned when "teachers" advise a bookstore in the Pontiac area to "sell obscene publications openly because school children will get them on the sly otherwise."

Are Laws to Control Dogs Unenforceable?

I am incensed by Dr. Bates' statement that male dogs cannot be kept at home. There is a law that says all dogs must be kept at home. No one should have to put up with stray dogs nor should females have to be spayed.

Most people keep their dogs home but there are always some who let their dogs run loose. My dog left his own yard just once in five years.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL—Sister Eamon, 85, a fainting victim, is taken from ambulance at a Hong Kong hospital today after she and seven other nuns arrived in Hong

S. Oakland Mayor Clouds 8 Nuns Reach Hong Kong After Red China Ouster

HUNTINGTON WOODS (AP) — The mayor of Huntington Woods said Tuesday he will recommend that his city with draw its approval of binding arbitration to solve a highway controversy.

Mayor Gordon R. Bryant said he would ask the City Commission to declare its approval of arbitration as "null and void."

Binding arbitration had been proposed to settle the route of an I-696 freeway after a number of suburban Detroit communities failed to agree on where the highway should be located.

Bryant said he changed his mind about arbitration because of the failure of Pleasant Ridge, Roseville and the Legislature to support the plan.

He informed Gov. George Romney and Director Howard E. Hill of the State Highway Department of his opposition in letters Tuesday.

HONG KONG (AP) — Eight weary Roman Catholic nuns — victims of the purge in Red China — arrived in Hong Kong today.

Sister Eamon, 85, the former Mary O'Sullivan of Ireland, fainted as she prepared to leave Chinese soil and had to be carried across the border to Hong Kong in a baggage cart.

She and Mother Mary of the Cross, 76, the former Winifred Duff of Canada, were hospitalized suffering from general fatigue. A spokesman said they would stay in the hospital several days.

The other six were taken to a convent.

ALL HEALTHY

"All of them are healthy," a nun at the convent said, "but they're all very tired and they would like to rest."

One of the nuns was on crutches because of injuries in an accident several years ago.

The nuns were attached to the Sacred Heart Academy in Peking, a girls' school run by the Franciscan Missionary of Mary. Last Thursday, members of the militant young Red Guard, on a rampage against foreign influences, invaded the school, hoisted the Red flag over it and plastered the walls with demands that "foreign devils" get out of China.

The nuns said the teen-agers forced them to stand for about 30 minutes against a wall with their heads bowed. The Communist government closed the school and expelled the nuns.

The women ranged in age from 40 to 85. They are natives of Canada, France, Greece, Italy, Ireland, Poland, Scotland and Switzerland.

NEW YORK — No sooner do you ask, "Why don't they?" than you find that they often have.

This column complained recently that it was time all stores adopted see-through packaging with the bottoms of meat and vegetable containers also clear so the shopper can check the total quality of the product.

Well, all stores haven't yet. But at least seven supermarket chains have, reports Tony Wal-dwyer of Monsanto, which makes plastic packaging.

Wal-dwyer writes that clear meat trays in assorted sizes are being used. Soon his firm will also market clear produce trays as well.

KEYS

That column also complained why not attach small keys to the base of toothpaste tubes, to roll the tube as the paste is used?

To which Mrs. Shirley Dvoretz of Flushing, N.Y., replied that she located one manufacturer, Crawford Industries of New York City, which makes keys of various sizes to fit tube sizes.

The keys ended for Mrs. Dvoretz "a particular nuisance . . . as my toothpaste tubes have always looked as though they have been trampled on, sat on, stepped on, and squeezed in as many different places as possible."

NEW COMPLAINT

Mrs. Charles L. Schmidt of Rumson, N.J., wrote of her pet peeve. "Why," she asked, "don't they put catsup in wide-mouthed jars like mayonnaise, for instance? The first company who does that will have my patronage for life."

Invitation Must Include Her Mate

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I were invited to a dinner party last week at the home of a woman who is a close friend of mine.

However, we hardly know her husband and I wondered if it were necessary to invite them both to dinner to repay her, or if it would be sufficient to ask her to a bridge party or luncheon—Mrs. C. Paton.

Dear Mrs. Paton: Asking your friend to a woman's party would scarcely repay her for her invitation to you and your husband.

You don't necessarily have to ask her to dinner, but whether you choose a barbecue, a cocktail party or whatever, the invitation must include him, too.

Dear Mrs. Post: I want to give my best friend a monogrammed pin for her birthday this month. However, she is planning to be married in December. Should I have the pin marked with her maiden or married initials?—Kathy.

Dear Kathy: It would be unwise and possibly unlucky to have a pin monogrammed with your friend's future married initials so far in advance of the wedding.

If you do not wish to choose a gift without a monogram, use her maiden initials. She can continue to wear the pin marked in this way after her wedding.

"How to Plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this brand-new 16-page booklet will help in preparing for the perfect wedding.

Talk Before Marriage

Discuss Monetary Matters

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am money-minded when I probably should have only "love" on my mind, but I have a question to ask.

I am engaged to be married in December, and my fiancé and I have never talked about money. I know he has a good job, but I don't know how much he makes. I don't even know if he carries any insurance other than what he has on his car.

I look and intend to work a while after I'm married, but I don't know if I should plan on supporting myself or not. Should we have a joint checking and savings account? Would it be wrong of me to bring up these things before we are married?

DECEMBER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: It would be wrong NOT to! Every couple should work out a budget together before marriage and decide how much to spend on rent, entertainment, insurance, clothing, and even daily allowances. And don't forget to anticipate vacations, illnesses, and accidents. (All kinds!)

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that a seven-months' baby would not have any eyebrows or fingernails.

Well, our dear little neighbor girl was married barely seven months and she had this beautiful child with long fingernails and plenty of eyebrows. Everybody in town is talking, and the girl's mother really thinks it is a seven months' baby.

This girl finished college and had a lovely white wedding. Please put your answer in the paper.

WANTS TO KNOW
DEAR WANTS: You are off base a country mile and several months. Seven-month babies DO have fingernails and eyebrows. And now, what's your problem, lady?

DEAR ABBY: SQUEAMISH sure burned me up complaining because her own mother tasted the food with the same spoon she stirred it with!

I was glad you put her in her place, Abby, and told her by this time she surely must have developed an immunity to her mother's "germs." I wonder if it ever occurred to "SQUEAMISH" that all mothers "taste" their small children's food first to see if it's too hot for them to eat?

And I've yet to hear of the first baby dying of the disease called "MOTHER'S GERMS." Thanks.

Teach Use of Washing Machine

Here's an idea for a summer course you won't find in the catalogs. Homemakers take advantage of warm-weather months to teach hubby how to use the washing machine. What better time to brief him on a vital household chore than when the kids are away at camp, or he has a few days off? Show him how to measure detergents and bleach, what the knobs and buttons do. He may squawk—but the knowledge can come in handy some day when illness of some other circumstance takes you "out of action" temporarily.

Boned lamb shoulder is excellent to use for curry. Remove any fat on the pieces before cooking.

Impressions of Europe Sent Home by Student

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — A Michigan coed says the thing that surprised her about Europe was the open display of affection by the people.

"I had no idea they were like this," said Sharon Naughton of Gilbert Lake Road. "Every European I have met and talked to has been very eager to show me his country. They don't really differ from Americans — their customs are just different."

Miss Naughton is one of 60 American students taking part in a study and travel tour organized by the Hope College Summer School.

While in Vienna for four weeks, she is living with an Austrian family.

"Through these summer courses, I have been able to not only go sightseeing but also hear a series of lectures which have helped me a lot to understand what I have seen," Miss Naughton said.

"I think my outlook has been broadened by meeting and talking with people, by seeing all the paintings, sculpture, architecture and by living in different homes."

After she leaves Austria Sharon plans to tour some more with two girlfriends.

MRS. T. F. SCHLINK

Vows Said in Recent Ceremony

Leaving for a northern honeymoon after recent vows and reception in the Stone Baptist Church were the Thomas F. Schlinks (Nancy Jean Cornell).

Their parents are Mrs. Wilfred A. Stocker of Pleasant Drive, the late Theron Cornell, and the Julius Schlinks of Livernis Road, Avon Township.

With her floor-length gown of white lace over organza the bride wore an illusion veil with organza headpiece. She carried white roses.

Attendants at the rite performed by Rev. Lawrence Dickens were Mrs. Gordon T. Starick, Mrs. Ralph Graves, Sherry Sebaske and Deborah Schlink.

Lisa Douglas was flower girl, Jeffrey Starick, ring-bearer, and Timothy Cornell, candleboy.

With best man Gordon Starick were ushers Ralph Graves, Anthony Cornell and David Armstrong.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Pair

The Church of Christ, Sylvan Lake, was the setting for the recent marriage of Stephanie Ann Frederick to Ralph Lee Purget, son of the Frank Purgets of Hulbert, Okla.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ray Frederick of Cameron Street and the late Mr. Frederick.

A church reception followed the candlelight ceremony performed by Glen W. Mellott, minister.

The newlyweds are residing in Edmond, Okla. where he is enrolled at the Central State College.

Entertaining Americans

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 70 per cent of Americans entertain guests at least once a month and 25 per cent have guests once a week, says a housewares manufacturer.

These statistics were revealed at a seminar on trends in food preparation, service and storage.

Can Reduce Stuttering by Commending It

Newest approach to the problem of stuttering is to urge a child who has it to stutter voluntarily, and then praise him for doing it well. It's an old idea in reverse.

Children in the age group six to ten are especially difficult to reach with any usual form of speech therapy, says Hugo H. Gregory, director of Northwestern University's stuttering and voice research program.

They are too old for the "play school" method and too young for the "direct approach" use.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

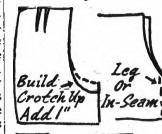

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I'll be going away to college for the first time this fall and want to take a lot of good looking slacks with me because they allow us to wear them to class at the school I'll attend. I can't possibly stretch my clothing allowance enough to buy them ready-made. Yet, when I make them myself, they are always too baggy in the seat and don't fit like the ready-made ones. None of us in our sewing class last year were able to get them to fit right. What are we doing wrong?

Betsy B.

Dear Betsy:

If slacks are baggy in the seat, it is caused by too much length in the crotch seam. The ready-made slacks usually have a very short crotch and are much more comfortable and becoming.

From all the good reports that have come in from everywhere, the new pants pattern I told you about is absolutely the greatest yet. One pattern has 12 different styles and one size fits everyone. There are detailed instructions for every possible type of figure alteration. You can't help but come up with a perfect fit.

This pattern is not made by one of the popular pattern companies. It costs a little more, but is well worth it. If you can't find it (since it is rather new), send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press for more information.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Claire P. Richardson, Houston, Pa., has won a Tailor Trix board for her following idea.

"Take any plain jumper pattern, make it up in a summer cotton, leaving the left side seam open to the thigh bone. (Be sure to add an extra inch to the side seams so you will have a nice wide allowance to turn back and hem). Make a pair of bermuda shorts in the same color or contrasting fabric. Result: a new version of the grasshopper skirt and shorts. This eliminates wearing a blouse which makes it much cooler for the summer."

Handknitted garments provide a livelihood for the women of the Bohus Province in Sweden. Dr. Emma Jacobsson has directed activities in the area for 25 years. The perfectly made garments are sold in specialty shops in many parts of the world.

Women Save Economy

There is something special to the creations that come from the knitting needles of the housewives of Bohuslan Province in Sweden. The cardigans and their matching accessories — scarfs, caps and gloves — are all gems.

But there is more than elegance to Bohus knitting. There is the story of a woman's ingenuity and how it was instrumental in saving the province from economic ruin.

The woman, Vienna - born Dr. Emma Jacobsson, is now in her 70's but she is still active in guiding the native industry which grew from her idea over 25 years ago.

At that time Dr. Jacobsson was the wife of the Governor of Bohuslan. The province, dependent largely upon the sea and the abundant supply of granite to support its economy.

SLUMP
By the late 1830's, however, the quarries had begun to feel the impact of changing times. The granite blocks which they supplied to pave the roads and streets of Europe were being replaced by concrete and asphalt. On top of this came World War II which completely stopped shipments of the paving stones. Families started to move out in search of new jobs.

Dr. Jacobsson, a Ph. D. in Natural History, was close to the crisis as the Governor's wife. With the men idled, she hit upon the idea of recruiting a womanly skill, and soon the ancient handicraft of knitting was harnessed.

The stilled dynamite and pneumatic drills were replaced by flashing needles as an important source of family income. If effectively applied the brakes to the population shift.

Bohus Sticking (which translates to Bohus Knitting) did not begin production of its prized sweaters at its inception. At first, the women turned out small decorative items for the home and for Christmas.

MOST POPULAR
The decision to concentrate on sweaters came after Dr. Jacobsson noted that dolls wearing uniquely designed sweaters were outselling everything else. She concluded that similar sweaters made for people would be equally well received.

The Bohus knitters turn out sweaters in some ten basic styles. But the patterns and color combinations can be as varied as there are individual knitters.

From the beginning Dr. Jacobsson has laid down rigid requirements governing quality, and over the years they have been maintained, if anything, toughened.

Garments worthy of the Bohus label are made of specially selected yarns, scrutinized for perfection from sheep through spinning, dyeing, sorting and grading.

Each finished item must be flawless.

Gothenburg still remains the heart of Bohus Knitting, with a network of knitting centers spread up and down the coastal strip. Dr. Jacobsson has long served without compensation. She terms her contribution "humanitarian work" helping those who need money to supplement their incomes and at the same time keeping alive of the traditional Bohuslan handicrafts.

Grangers Wed in Double-Ring Rite

Reception in Northwood Inn followed the recent marriage of Linda Joy Connors to William Howell Granger in the beautiful Savior Lutheran Church, Bloomfield Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. William Connors of Troy and the George Grangers of Woodlane Road, Independence Township, are the newlyweds' parents.

ORGANZA GOWN
The bride's gown of white organza and Chantilly lace was fashioned with matching rounded court train. A petal headpiece capped her imported illusion veil.

For the double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Donald G. Zill she carried white pompons surrounding a cross of pink roses.

With Marcia Connors, her sister's maid of honor, were bridesmaids Wynonia Clasob, Auburn Heights, and Linda Gwinn of Troy. Cindy Stevens was flower girl and Paul Boehmer, ring boy.

Edward Granger stood as his brother's best man. Another brother, Charles, with Vince Ruscillis of Chicago, were groomsmen.

MRS. W. H. GRANGER

Four cousins of the bridegroom, Roger, Larry and Robert Davis, and Ernest Farrar, were ushers.

After a northern honeymoon the newlyweds will be attending Michigan Technological University in Houghton.

Detroit Hunts for Teachers

By the Associated Press
Detroit, the state's largest school system, faced teacher problems on two fronts today while Springfield teachers, on the other side of Michigan, threatened not to report for work.

A Detroit public schools official Tuesday said the city needs 500 to 600 more teachers by next week.

Dr. Robert LeAnderson, assistant superintendent for personnel, said one cause of the shortage was failure of the school board and the Detroit Federation of Teachers to reach agreement on a new contract. The city normally has more than 10,000 teachers. The teachers are to report to schools next Tuesday and classes begin the next day.

RESIGNATIONS

Resignations of teachers have been higher than average and applications have been lower than average since last October, LeAnderson said.

"Apparently teachers who might come here are going to the suburbs, where contracts already have been reached and they know what their starting salaries will be," he said.

Both sides in the contract dispute have expressed mild optimism that a settlement can be reached this week.

Meanwhile, teachers failed to report Tuesday for scheduled preschool meetings at the Springfield School District near Battle Creek.

LABELED STRIKE

Springfield Schools Supt. B. Bruce Fellers called the absence a strike.

But Robert G. Nicholson, president of the Springfield Education Association, said "You can't have a strike until you have a contract and know when and where you are supposed to be employed and for what salary."

"These conditions have not been determined," Nicholson said.

The Michigan Labor Mediation Board said it will hold a fact-finding inquiry into the Springfield dispute.

NO DATE SET

The board named Howard A. Cole of Ann Arbor as the fact-finder, but there was no announcement when the inquiry would be held.

State labor mediator Edward Connors, who twice has met with both sides in the dispute, said he had reported the impasse in negotiations to the mediation board.

Meanwhile, in the Detroit suburb of Ferndale, talks between teachers and the Ferndale Board of Education broke off when the board negotiator reportedly walked out of a meeting with a representative of the State Labor Mediation Board.

Request Guards

Rights March Sanctioned

CICERO, Ill. (AP) — Cicero city officials have agreed to sanction an open-house demonstration Sunday and will renege a request for National Guard protection against possible violence.

A city spokesman said Gov. Otto Kerner would be asked today to call up Illinois National Guard units to patrol the march by 1,000 demonstrators.

Christy Berkos, town attorney, announced Tuesday after a meeting with Robert Lucas, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Congress on Racial Equality, that a parade permit will be issued without the customary 30-day waiting period.

"Probably the main reason for waiving the 30-day waiting period and issuing the permit," Berkos said in an interview, "was that we didn't want to create a violent situation."

AVOID VIOLENCE

He said that "by not issuing them a permit we certainly wouldn't have deterred them. They would have marched anyway. We want to make this a nonviolent thing."

A scheduled march of 3,000 civil rights demonstrators last Sunday was postponed after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and city officials agreed Friday to continue negotiations.

Immediately after King announced the postponement, sev-

Meany Backs Policy of Red Containment

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany called today for continuation of the policy of "containment of Communist imperialism."

In a speech for the 48th annual convention of the American Legion, Meany rejected "every form of isolationism as suicidal and out of date." He also rejected preventive war as a fatal fallacy.

"President Johnson," he said, "deserves the whole-hearted support of the entire American people and freedom-loving people everywhere — for his policy of determined resistance to Communist aggression while striving tirelessly for a negotiated peace and helping the (Vietnamese) people to rebuild their war-torn country. Any other course would lead to catastrophe."

Johnson drew applause from the Legionnaires Tuesday when he said that American fighting men, faced with an enemy using unfamiliar tactics, "are beating him in engagement after engagement."

Judges to Appoint Lawyers for Misdemeanor Suspects Who Can't Afford Counsel

LANSING (AP) — Michigan judges will have to appoint lawyers for persons charged with misdemeanors who cannot afford to hire counsel, according to a recent Michigan Supreme Court ruling.

The order began drawing criticism Tuesday as judges and court officials said they saw some ambiguity in it.

"I guess this means we'll have to appoint counsel for every old drunk, ask him how many bottles he had and then whether he intended to drink them," said

Detroit Recorder's Judge Elvin L. Davenport.

The key paragraph of the ruling reads:

"In every prosecution, where in the accused is charged with a felony or with a misdemeanor, upon conviction for which the accused may be jailed for 90 days or more, the following procedure must be followed:

"First, that he is entitled to a trial by the court or by a jury; second, to have counsel, and that, in case he is unable to provide counsel, the court will, if the accused so requests, appoint counsel for him."

Some court officials expressed wonder over the phrase "90 days or more." In Recorder's Court, aides wondered whether the high court meant to limit the appointment of free lawyers to those who faced jail terms of from 90 days to a year, or whether it meant to include all the misdemeanors.

In that court, as in many others most misdemeanors are punishable by up to 90 days in jail and or a $100 fine. Some others, however, are punishable by up to a year in jail.

State Court Administrator William A. Hart said he believed the ruling included all misdemeanors. Chief Supreme Court Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh was not available Tuesday for elaboration on the ruling.

Wilson Finds Winning Tempo

Baltimore Boos Boog's Boner

Powell acknowledged he had received such instructions, but said he didn't consider Blair's looping drive a fly ball.

TRIES GREEN WEENIE — Mrs. Delvin Miller, part owner of Hambleton horse Carlisle, holds a replica of the Pittsburgh Pirates' green weenie good luck charm. The Pirates have been winning with the green weenie around since Mrs. Miller's husband won Pittsburgh's Harry Walker and asked for a loan of the charm to put the phammy on one of his other Hambleton horses. Miller, a Pirate fan, says the horse was named after Carlisle, Paul and New Pennsylvanians must stick together. When the charm could not get to DuQuoin, Ill., on time, Mrs. Miller bought a balloon and painted it green, hoping it'll work for Carlisle as it supposedly does for the Pirates. The race will be run today.

Angrv Giants Keep Rolling

By The Associated Press
Herman Franks is mad at a writer, Willie Mays is mad at a pitcher and the Phillies are mad at Jim Hart.

Hart busted up what had been a relatively close game between San Francisco and Philadelphia Tuesday night with a three-run homer in the eighth, sending the Giants to a 7-1 victory and keeping them tied with Pittsburgh for first place in the National League.

Giants' manager Franks, in the meantime expressed his keen displeasure with a reporter who had written that Herman was making the club jittery. In fact, Franks refused to hold his post-game interview until the culprit had been banished from his presence.

Mays, however, was more than willing to talk about Phillie Phanatic pitcher Rick Wise who decked Willie with a tight pitch early in the game.

"That stuff won't get you anywhere," Mays said. "If he had come up again, we would have brushed him. The pitchers know it. We take care of ourselves."

SPARKING PLAY
With Hart and Tito Fuentes providing the punch, the Giants took very good care of themselves indeed Tuesday. There was Hart's 30th homer, Fuentes' fourth, sparking play in the field and tight pitching from Bob Bolin and Frank Lytle.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh's downed Houston 8-2. New York crushed Los Angeles 10-4. Cincinnati took St. Louis 6-4 and Chicago beat Atlanta 5-3.

The Giants took a 3-1 lead into the eighth and only fine glove work by Fuentes, Rolin, McCovey and Mays kept the Phillies' total at two.

Willie Starrell's bases-loaded single drove in two runs in the eighth and tight pitching from Lytle at the Pirates kept pace with the Giants. Roberto Clemente drove in his 96th run of the season, a personal high. The defeat snapped Houston's win streak at six games.

TWO BEHIND
The Dodgers fell two games off the lead as the Mets got to Sandy Koufax for five runs in the third inning. Koufax, won 22-8, walked three men in the second inning and forced in a run. Jerry Grote doubled in a pair for the Mets in the third.

Cincinnati extended its win streak to seven games as Pete Rose hit two home runs and Deron Johnson hit his third in two days and 20th of the season.

Tam O'Shanter Pro Triumphs in Tournament

Stan Brion of Tam O'Shanter teamed with Doug Wheeler and Clyde Skinner last night in winning the Autobahn Pro-Am at Carl's Golfland.

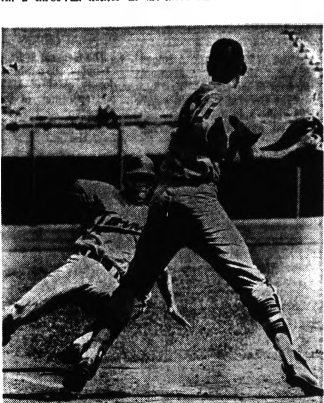

The threesome shot a best-ball 20 on the par-3 layout, and Brion came back in the pro division to secure a 23 to set a course record and lead the pros.

WINS 3RD STRAIGHT IN LIGHTNING EVENT
POINT ALBINO, Out. (AP) — Selimaker Bob Seidelman of Cherry Hill, N.J., glided to his third consecutive victory Tuesday in the qualifying races of the North American Lightning Class Championship on a breezy Lake Erie.

Seidelman, a former North American title holder, a 18-foot white-hulled boat, Idiot, topped a total of 100 points. He tops a list of 30 sailors in the 104-boat fleet who move into Wednesday's championship flight.

Bruce Goldsmith of Chicago, who grabbed 1-3 finishes, was runner-up to Seidelman, with 105 points. One point behind Goldsmith was Charles Malbrie of Youngstown, Ohio, who posted 4-1-2 finishes, for over-all third place.

Ernie Banks provided the Cub seventh. It was his 36th of the season with a three-run homer in the third inning. Hank Aaron to 102, marking the eighth season. Ken Holtzman's shutout. Aaron has driven in 100 or more with a three-run homer in the last runs.

COMING HOME — Minnesota Twins' Cesar Tovar sails toward home plate on an attempted steal during the fourth inning of a game with the Washington Senators in Minnesota yesterday. Tovar was an easy out for catcher Paul Casanova. With Tovar on third, Twins' Jimmy Hall attempted to steal second. Casanova threw the ball to teammate Ed Brinkman covering at second and Brinkman whipped the ball back to home in time to nail Tovar. Twins won, 3-1.

Ladies Know Home Layout And Prove It

A pair of Women's District Golf Association golfers have proved they know their home course well.

Playing on their familiar Barton Hills layout, Mrs. Keith Le Clair and Mrs. Frank Richman finished one-two in a field of 54 yesterday in the weekly WDGA outing.

Mrs. Le Clair, WDGA medal play champion, carded a 38-38-76, while Mrs. Richman finished three strokes off the pace with a 41-38-79.

Mrs. R. S. McKee of Country Club of Detroit posted an 86 for third place and Helen Grinnell of Detroit Golf Club fired an 87 for fourth.

Navy's Bellino Just Another Joe

By The Associated Press
Joe Bellino, former all-American Heisman Trophy winner who ran Navy into the Orange Bowl in 1961, is just another Joe today. He and his football classmates and his trophy are all on the shelf.

The Boston Patriots of the American Football League seem to have brought down the Navy into the Orange Bowl for the first time when they asked waivers on him Tuesday, a day that sent many others to the sidelines in the AFL and the National Football League.

NFL teams had to be down to the 43-man limit by midnight Tuesday and AFL teams, preparing for their 40-player maximum later in the week, also lowered the bar.

Bellino, 28, who entered the Navy for four years after his college career, was hampered by injuries last season when he began his try for a comeback as a runner and flanker with the Patriots. He never got off the ground this year.

Joining Bellino on the AFL sidelines is another former college great, Sandy Stephens, who was erased from the roster of the Kansas City Chiefs. Stephens, an all-America who led Minnesota into the Rose Bowl, was trying to make it as a full-back after failing as a 244-pound quarterback in Canadian football.

Gals Go Overtime in Golf Tourney

Twenty-seven holes weren't enough to determine the second flight winner in the Tuesday morning Silver Lake Ladies Golf League annual tournament recently.

Helen Swett and Bea Moberg deadlocked with net scores of 127 after the regulation 27 holes and Mrs. Swett then moved into the winner's circle after nine extra holes.

The championship flight was paced by Bea Staven whose 113 was total was two strokes better than runner-up Bobbie Cruikshank's 115.

The tournament's low net score was the 110 Dawn Zannoth posted in leading the first flight by nine strokes over Irene Danjel. The third flight winner was Donna Jacobs (133) with Gloria Frank (148) the runner-up.

Broncos Rope Ex-NFL Player

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos of the American Football League were ready to put National Football League veteran Buddy Homphrey on the active roster, but not wanting to lose him, either, signed him to a development contract Tuesday.

A Bronco spokesman said the contract would keep the eight-year veteran quarterback on a tryout basis with the club, but would prevent another club from signing him away from Denver.

Video Putting Doug Sanders in Tourney

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — If Doug Sanders wins the $200,000 Curling Golf Championship opening today on Royal Birkdale, those who lost can blame it on television.

"I wouldn't even be here, if it were not that I have to do a television golf show in Britain," the 33-year-old Sanders said, as he managed only one round of practice before the 72-hole medal play started.

"It's too far to come for one tournament at this time of the year and I suppose that is why some did not make it."

The biggest total purse in the golf world failed to attract Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, but with Sanders, U.S. Open champion Bill Casper, Gary Brewer and Phil Rodgers on hand the tournament had four of the top six money winners in America.

Casper has racked up $113,000 this year and is 4 to 1 favorite to win the tournament. Sanders has won $70,000 officially and another $20,000 in unofficial purses. He stands at 6 to 1 along with Rodgers.

Top Women Golfers Play Medal Play Tourney Set at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Six of the top women golfers in the country battle each other beginning Thursday for a top prize of $10,000 in the richest ladies' golf event in history.

The field of six lady professionals will compete in the first World Series of Golf over the Springfield Country Club course, and all six entries are assured of at least a $2,500 windfall. The tournament will be worth $32,000, a new high for a LPGA event.

The last golfer to qualify for the World Series was Clifford Ann Creed, who tied for 12th place last weekend in the 54-hole Glass City Classic at T-1460. She picked up $385 in the tournament to become the fifth leading money winner for 1966.

The Glass City event was won by Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth, Tex., in a sudden-death playoff, but Miss Haynie already had qualified for the World Series by winning the Ladies' PGA.

Others in the six-woman field are Mickey Wright, the Western Open champion, Sandra Spuzich, the Women's Open champion, Kathy Whitworth, the titleholders champion and leading money winner, and Carol Mann, the second leading money winner on the LPGA tour.

The 36-hole medal play tournament will wind up with the final 18 holes Friday.

Golf Great Struggling Along

Is Palmer's Magic Fading?

(Is Arnold Palmer through as a top match golf pro? Has he lost that finishing drive that made him the idol of the fairways? Will Grimsley, who has followed Palmer's brilliant career from the start, tell both sides of the Palmer story in three-part series.)

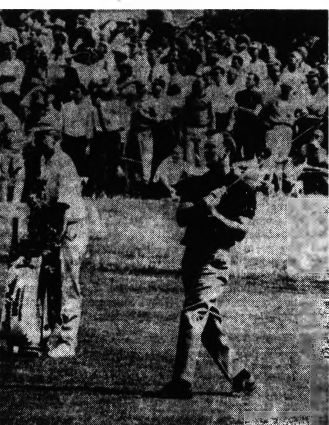

The old frame of mind—that fierce competitive drive and wave of supreme confidence—apparently is the key to the future of this greenskeeper's son who has amassed a fortune and become the idol of golf galleries throughout the world.

Is Palmer through? Has the frame died. And have the juices that once carried him to national victory after victory quit flowing?

Many observers contend so. Arnie vigorously denies it.

Still, Palmer must live with the realization that he has collected only four tournament victories in the last two years.

ARNIE'S ARMY — In his heyday, Arnold Palmer drew such large galleries that the fans became known as Arnie's Army. The last couple of years, however, this army has been fading away as Palmer has won few golf titles.

Cassius Clay Opens Title Fight Camp

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay was scheduled to resume training at a Frankfurt gymnasium today in preparation for his title fight against Karl Midlenberger of West Germany, Sept. 10.

McHale May Take

New Role in Club's

Plan, Report Says

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves plan to make several staff changes in the next few days that are expected to put baseball veteran Paul Richards in a key position.

The Associated Press learned Tuesday night

Richards, former general manager of the Baltimore Orioles and the Houston Astros, reportedly will take over the duties of general manager, although he may not be given the title.

Richards has been working with Atlanta rookies the past two months as director of instructor, but his hiring touched off speculation that he would be named field manager for 1967.

Richards, 57, former manager of the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore, said when he was hired that he would not manage again, but he did not rule out a job as general manager.

John McHale has been general manager of the Braves since 1959, and has also held the title of president since 1961.

FIVE YEARS

During the past five years the Braves have not finished higher than fourth in the National League.

McHale reportedly is relinquishing control of team operations at the request of William C. Bartholomay, chairman of the board of the Braves and the club's biggest stockholder.

Bartholomay, who questioned about the report, said "we are in the process of evaluating our whole staff for next year, not necessarily to make changes but to define their roles."

He would not confirm or deny a report that Richards would take over as general manager, but said changes would be made "in the next few days."

There have been reports of a rift between Bartholomay and McHale recently, with the disagreement accented last week against John Sharpe of Canada Tuesday night in a full-state of who Richards flew to Los Angeles to join the club without the approval of McHale.

Richards was fired by the Houston Astros last winter in a dispute with Houston owner Judge Roy Hofheinz.

British Lions Triumph

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — The touring British Lions defeated the New Zealand Wimmerley champion, George Juniors 9-3 in a rugby match against Chris Bovett of Australia.

HUNTINGDON VALLEY, Pa. — Arthur Ashe Jr. was not acting modest when he expressed his embarrassment about the "national Arthur Ashe Day" held in his honor Tuesday. He simply was being frank.

"This is greatly premature," said the 23-year-old UCLA graduate and only Negro to gain a place on the U.S. Davis Cup team.

"Frankly, I'm embarrassed," Ashe told reporters at the Philadelphia Country Club, as he received a statue of himself and testimonial dinner.

He said he felt especially bad because of the timing of the event, which attracted the world's top amateurs only two days before the National Singles championships at Forest Hills, N.Y.

"It dragged the other players here just before the nationals," Ashe said. "I'd do the same for them. I'm good at arm twisting."

Spain's Manuel Santana, who is the defending titlist at Forest Hills, summed up the feelings of the other players.

"Look, it was only a game, not a real match," the Spanish star said.

"We're good friends of Arthur. If they'd have something like this for me in Spain, he'd do the same for me."

He said he was not bothered playing on clay just before the Nationals on grass.

EIGHT GAMES

Each exhibition consisted of eight games, and the tennis stars — who included Santana, Fred Stolle, Clark Graebner, Dennis Ralston, Marty Riessen, John Newcombe, Cliff Drysdale and Jim McManus — for the most part looked like they were warming up for the Nationals.

Thumb Pheasant Population Declines

SW Michigan Outlook Bright

Rate Oakland County Same as Year Ago

The collapse of pheasant hunting in the Thumb now appears complete — at least for a long time to come.

Results of the recent mail carrier census for the Conservation Department shows a 37 per cent drop in pheasants in this area that at one time had a national reputation for its excellent ring-necked game.

Fortunately for hunters, the tallies by 850 carriers shows pheasants to be about the same in the remainder of the state.

Because of the large drop in the Thumb, however, the overall picture for Michigan is down 10 per cent from a year ago.

Pheasant numbers in the Thumb have declined steadily for the last 10 years. But the hunters didn't start shying away from this area on opening day until about three years ago.

Gunsners started staying away from the Thumb in droves last year and the local residents may have heard, Sanilac and northern Tuscola counties pretty much to themselves when the season opens Oct. 20.

MAJOR DECLINE

The decline has been estimated at 70 to 90 per cent, depending on the area, in the last 10 years.

The mailmen reported that broad sizes were substantially down throughout all of Huron, St. Clair, Saginaw, Sanilac and Tuscola counties. These are counties where pheasants have lost sizeable chunks of nesting and winter cover to intensive farming.

The outlook for Oakland County is about the same as last year. A slight increase is noted in the western tier of townships. The northern townships will be about the same and the northeast down slightly.

The carriers, who logged more than 400,000 miles of record-keeping reported that the supply of pheasants is about the same as a year ago in southeastern Michigan (Macomb, Leawards, Monroe, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties).

The south-central region (Clinton, Eaton, Gratiot, Ingham, Ionia, and Shiawassee counties) and the tri-county area of Allegan, Ottawa and Muskegon are in the same category.

Percentage-wise, the birds made their biggest gains in the southwestern area of Barry, right at the Conservation Department's headquarters in Barry. Cass, partment's Region II Repair Shop in Gaylord.

Pheasant hunters will find Sept. 16, are 28 firearms contraband listings of the firearms being offered. Bid forms will be available from these departments, a range from a $15 Mauser to a $75 Winchester at Gaylord.

Veteran Shooters Dominate in Skeet

A pair of veteran shotguns dominated the field last week-end in the Michigan State Skeet Championships at the Detroit Club near Walled Lake.

Ted Hannafor of Warren won the 410 gauge with 90 x 100 and didn't miss another regulation target as he took high overall honors with 396 x 400.

Ains Borsum, of Baldwin bested Hannafor in a shootoff for 28 gauge honors and outgunned nine others for the all gauge title. All 10 had 100s.

Hannafor was edged in a 20 gauge shootoff with Orville Budd of Muskegon.

Knotty Problem Finally Solved by Area Angler

Mrs. (Norma) Townsend was having trouble keeping her line from tangling with her husband's while fishing the Blind Sucker River east of Grand Marais.

She silenced his criticism by hooking a 17-pound northern pike, the battle to subdue the fish took 40 minutes and Mrs. Townsend reported that "I couldn't talk afterward from screaming so much during the landing."

Probe Fish, Game Violations

Federal Officers Kept Busy

Late last fall a Michigan deer hunter returned home from a highly successful foray to his native Pennsylvania.

He happily related, as is the habit of most deer hunters, how he shot the buck that came to Michigan draped over the top of his car.

Six months later the "Feds" were on his trail.

It seemed this deer hunter had purchased a resident Pennsylvania license when he should have bought a nonresident tag. After the season closed in the Eastern state, a conservation officer was tipped off to what the Michigan man had done.

William Fuchs, Supervisor of the Interior Department's Bureau of Fish and Game offices in Michigan was contacted.

Fuchs located the hunter and explained that he not only had violated Pennsylvania law, but could be charged with transporting illegally taken game across a state line — a federal offense — and bringing the deer illegally into Michigan without a valid license from another state.

"He could have been charged with the last two offenses," said Fuchs, "but he took care of the Pennsylvania violation by mail and that was good enough for us."

Illegal transportation of fish and game into Michigan makes up the bulk of the work for Fuchs and other federal officers in Bay City and Escanaba.

A 10-year veteran of Law Enforcement with the Bureau of Fish and Game, Fuchs said the most common violations handled are transporting illegally taken fish and game into Michigan and failing to observe the allowable quotas when returning home from a hunting or fishing trip to Canada.

"A great majority of the trouble stems from those Michigan fishermen or hunters who go to other states, buy resident licenses; are caught; charged with a violation; then return home before they appear in court," Fuchs reported.

"Unless we can prove that they transported fish or game across a state line, there is little we can do about it," he continued. "But we are asked to investigate."

"Many times all we have to do is point out that there is a warrant waiting back in the state where the violation took place and the offender usually takes care of the situation by mail."

"Many of these license violators take place where the person has friends or relatives and he wants to return for visits. It would be embarrassing to get there and then be arrested on an outstanding warrant and jailed."

Fuchs, who came to Michigan from Port Clinton, Ohio, last March, said most of the violations from Canada are people trying to bring home more fish or ducks than the law allows.

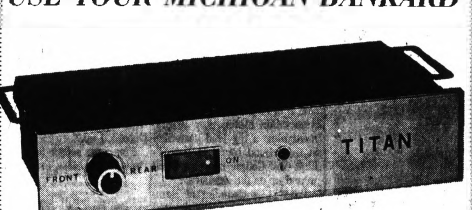

He said that the Interior Department is continuing its fight against illegal shooting and sale of waterfowl. However, little work is done in the area of illegally taken venison being transported across a state line unless the conservation departments in the states involved ask for assistance.

Waterfowl and migratory birds are under federal jurisdiction, but other game is under the control of the individual states.

Lucky Pilot Is Back Home

Brought Down Twice on N. Viet Missions

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — "Went for unscheduled swim. All A-OK. Your son, Rick."

That was how Lt. Robert F. (Rick) Adams wired his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan W. Adams of suburban Edina, that he'd been shot down over North Viet Nam the first time.

When he plunged into the Gulf of Tonkin last Oct. 5, Adams, 25, became the first pilot to survive a direct hit to his plane by a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile.

The second time he was shot down, the Navy pilot was flying fighter support for a mission during raids on oil storage depots in the Hanot-Haiphong area on July 12. A helicopter rescued him.

ARRIVES HOME

"I'm famous for being the most shot-down pilot in the war," said Adams, his face smeared with his mother's lipstick after he arrived in Minneapolis Tuesday.

"All the wrong kind of firsts." Apparently the Navy did not agree. The pilot was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in the first ball-bat, and later received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

When hit the second time, by ground fire, Adams said, "I was burning pretty good." His F8 Crusader was "a big ball of flames. I had lost control of it but was headed in the right direction."

Beatles Collect $146,000 in 27 Minutes, 10 Songs

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The Beatles have come and gone, collecting $146,000 for morning 10 songs in 27 minutes.

By way of social commentary, their pay exceeded the combined annual salaries of the President and Vice President of the United States.

To the adult, a Beatles concert must be viewed as a social phenomenon, since it is impossible to enjoy as entertainment. Even those with a failing for some of the Beatles songs can find little pleasure because of insubstantiality.

The Thomas group made its third annual pilgrimage to hear the Beatles. Nancy, 18, and ready for college, showed no disenchantment for the mop-tops. Janet, 14, was in the full throes of fandom. Caroline, 8, was a new entry and not lacking in enthusiasm.

FITTING SITE
This year the concert was in Dodger stadium instead of Hollywood Bowl, and it seemed more fitting for the event to take place in a sports arena rather than a citadel of longhair music.

Dodger stadium looked somewhat like the Berlin border. Burly guards stood at the bottom and midway of each stairway leading to the field. Uniformed policemen with helmets and billy clubs lined the field, some of them communicating with walkie-talkies. Behind them were three rows of hurdles, then came a newly erected wire fence.

Preliminary acts poured a torrent of noise through the 27-speaker, 2,000-watt public address system while the 40,000 onlookers grew restless and stared at each other. There was much to stare at. One bearded chap on my aisle wore the head-dress and robes of an Arab sheik, another sported a green velvet cape.

The girl next to me with the orange page-boy bob turned her head and I discovered she was a fellow.

IDOLS ARRIVE
At 9:33 the Beatles came out of the dugout at third base and it was noisy. Oh yes, it was. Signs began to unfurl all over the grand: "We love you!" "Dallas fan club follows the Beatles."

The guards at the bottom of the aisles eyed the writing masses uneasily. There was a charge of excitement in the crowd as a handful of teenagers leaped out of the bleachers and raced toward the handstand at second base.

Police quickly captured the invaders and led them off in handcuffs as the onlookers booed. Later an officer on the field was hit in his rear by an orange hurled from the upper deck. The crowd cheered.

At 10 p.m. the Beatles had finished their labors and disappeared into a tent behind the handstand. Two limousines raced from the tent and out of the ballpark amid screams. Review by the Thomas girls: "They didn't sing enough new songs. George's hair was a mess. Paul was the only one who tried to please. They seemed bored. But they're cool. Yes, they're cool. I love the Beatles."

Explosive Thugs Blast Building

CADILLAC (AP) — Burglars breaking through a roof vent and then blowing a hole in an eight-inch concrete block wall escaped with an undetermined amount of cash and goods from a Giant Way department store here Monday night. Police said the thieves also blew the store's safe open, using a wet rug to muffle the explosion.

Now a name... soon a legend.

First Lord in History Pregnant

LONDON (AP) — For the first time in history, a member of the House of Lords is pregnant.

The Countess of Erroll, 40 — who is also Hereditary Lord High Constable of Scotland — announced Tuesday night that her fourth child is due in November.

"I am absolutely thrilled," said the countess. "I suppose it is something of a record to be the first peeress to have a baby after taking her seat in the House of Lords, but frankly I hadn't given it much thought."

The upper house of Parliament was a jealously guarded male preserve until 1958, when life peeresses — whose titles die with them — were allowed in. They are made peeresses for long records of achievement which usually put them past the age of child-bearing.

BOX OFFICE OPEN AT 7 P.M.

By BOB SOLT, launch a new practice of educational HURON (AP)—A kind of organized education. On opening day the high school, and one that may even be all program called "modular called a revolution in education, scheduling."

is about to envelop students. The program will halve the parents, teachers and others in time pupils spend in supervised classrooms, nearly eliminate certain basic course requirements that have been part of the Marine City and St. Clair County High schools this fall may look like any other school opening, don't. But the opening day, and the will spend in the classroom by year to follow, will be unlike at least 40 per cent.

any other as both high schools. The program, says Edward Trudell, Marine City High principal, "puts an end to the old student attitude of 'Here I am, teacher. Teach me.'"

"Under the program, students will have to learn that a principal or teacher is no longer riding their backs. They must learn to control themselves as they have never been permitted to do before, and to think and act with responsibility and maturity. Actually, this new approach is a frightening thing to them. But it also means that the only limit to what they learn will be their own ambition," Trudell said.

Trudell explains modular scheduling this way:

A module is a unit of measurement. In both high schools, one module will be 20 minutes. The idea is to take these segments and join them into classes of 40, 60 or more minutes.

"NOT SENSIBLE"

The old practice used to be that 60 minutes would be allotted to each subject, whether it was physics or typing. This is not sensible. It doesn't take every student the same time to learn a lesson. Also, it isn't realistic to assume that every school course, whether it be physics or typing, should have the same number of classes has been doubled, more than half of the 64 courses will have been in just one class, and this means quite a change in class scheduling.

Reducing the classroom time means both high schools will be able to increase the number of courses. In "old" Marine City High School, the maximum was 40. Starting in September there will be 84 courses offered.

Classes have been added to every department. But while the number of classes has been doubled, more than half of the 64 courses will have been in just one class, and this means quite a change in class scheduling.

One of the new courses of interest will be world and American drama. Only eight are controlled in the course. Ordinarily a school would have to eliminate a course because of the small enrollment.

There are still some basic requirements each student will have to complete in four years to get a diploma.

The new program requires one course in math, one year of physical education, three years of English, one semester of speech, and U.S. history and government. Once the student meets these requirements, he is assured of having the 22 credits to graduate, he can make out of his own schedule.

Each parent must sign this child's registration form, while the class schedule. While the student will have more choice and freedom to select than ever before, it still remains for the parents who must become more actively involved than ever before to know the goals and ambitions of their children," Trudell said.

Viet Pledge Said 'Must' for State GOP

DETROIT (AP) — Richard Durant, leader of a conservative faction in Michigan's Republican Party, Tuesday urged the State Central Committee to approve a resolution calling for "complete and total victory in Viet Nam."

In a telegram to GOP State Chairman Elly Peterson, Durant warned that the defeat of such a proposal at last weekend's Republican State Convention could be turned by Democrats into a smear of the GOP.

"I respectfully urge that you call a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee without delay for the purpose of officially passing an appropriate resolution, stating unequivocally that the Republican party of Michigan stands firmly in favor of winning in Viet Nam," Durant said.

Durant told newsmen that the decision at the convention to defeat the Viet Nam proposal was "a terrible mistake."

Democrats, Durant said, can make it seem that Michigan Republicans "are reluctant to place themselves on record for anything but a cynical attempt to buy votes by urging benefits to Viet Nam veterans in the future, instead of giving complete support for their bloody struggle now, when it counts."

Durant said he felt the resolution was defeated at the convention mainly because of automatic opposition to any proposal from the 14th District, where Durant is chairman.

Durant, a former member of the John Birch Society, has clashed with Gov. George Romney and other Republican leaders frequently in the past.

At the convention, Romney denounced what he described as "fake conservatives" infiltrating the convention.

Durant said he felt Romney's remarks were directed not at him but at Donald Lobsinger, chairman of a right wing Detroit group called Breakthrough.

Lobsinger, a 14th District delegate, was hustled off the convention floor when he tried to raise a banner calling for support of the Viet Nam war effort.

$50,000 Damage in Barn Blaze

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Fire Tuesday destroyed more than $50,000 worth of corrugated moldings used for silo construction and the barn in which they were being stored. The blaze razed the barn owned by Ralph Baird on the outskirts of Charlotte and about 1,800 moldings owned by the C & B Silo Co. of Charlotte. City firemen, who fought the flames for more than two hours, said cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. No one was injured.

House Nixes One Inclusion

Transit Post Is OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's proposal to create a cabinet-level department of transportation has passed the House and appears likely to win Senate approval later this year.

The House passed the measure by a 336-42 vote late Tuesday after handing the administration a setback by voting 280-117 to remove the Maritime Administration from the Department of Commerce.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., second-ranking member of the Senate Government Operations Committee, said later he expected his group to approve its version of the bill sometime after Labor Day.

Although consideration by the full Senate will be delayed by an expected lengthy civil rights debate scheduled to start Sept. 1, Jackson said he anticipates Senate approval before the congressional session ends.

Kalamazoo Teen Drowning Victim

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — An 18-year-old Kalamazoo youth drowned in Gull Lake yesterday when the boat in which he and a companion were riding overturned.

Authorities said Joseph Van Bruggen drowned when his outboard turned over as he was pulling toward shore to try to fix some engine trouble. His companion, John Mcquire, 14, Kalamazoo, managed to reach shore safely.

Hare Defends Motor Vehicle Point System

LANSING (UPI) — Secretary of State James Hare yesterday defended the state's motor vehicle point system of penalizing driver with traffic violations.

Hare said if the state were to succumb to the recent criticism of the Automobile Club of Michigan about 700,000 persons would be suspended yearly for poor driving records.

The automobile club, after an investigation of the driving records of motorists involved in fatal accidents during the July 4th holiday, charged some of the drivers, because of their record, should not have been on the highway.

According to the auto agency's findings, more than half of a list of 10 errant drivers had more than the maximum 12 penalty points allowed under the state system before a driver is called on the carpet by the secretary of state for his driving record.

"If the Department of State were to suspend drivers according to the manner described by the automobile club, every person who, during his driving lifetime, is assessed 12 violation points would be suspended," Hare said.

SUSPENSIONS

"If the AAA pattern were followed, about 700,000 persons yearly would be suspended rather than the 50,000 persons suspended under the current mechanics," he added.

The auto agency based its study on the traffic records of motorists dating as far back as 1943.

Hare announced the state department would conduct an impartial study of Labor Day traffic fatalities to match another study being planned by the auto agency.

Hare said some of the agency's facts were in error in its recent study.

Drought Effect Eyed

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Large areas of the United States are in the grip of a prolonged drought. What effect will it have on farm production—and on the supply and price of food for city dwellers? The following dispatch, second of a two-part series, reports on the outlook as seen today by the Agriculture Department.)

By CARLO J. SALZANO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Agriculture Department experts predict that total farm production this year will be only slightly below last year's record, despite the drought which parched large parts of the nation this summer.

The tentative forecast is for 1966 crops totaling about 7 per cent below those of 1965.

Increased rainfall and cooler weather in many areas during August brightened the outlook for late plantings.

"The overall picture looks good at this time," a high Agriculture Department official told UPI. "Based on current weather and August crop reports, we don't anticipate any abnormal drop in production."

The situation varies considerably, however, from one state to another, and even from one crop to another.

In the Northeast, which has been in the grip of drought for five years, Pennsylvania farmers reported in late August that recent rains had greatly improved prospects for hay, pastures, late corn, fruits and vegetables.

But farmers in Maryland and Delaware were still critically in need of rain.

Massachusetts reported its cranberry crop holding up the aid of recent showers, and anticipated a large harvest of 800,000 barrels.

New Jersey and New York reported corn supplies short in some areas but generally moderate to good.

TOBACCO OUTLOOK

The outlook for flue-cured tobacco in Virginia was reported good while tobacco moisture remained short in the northern part of the state and improved in the southwestern section.

Tobacco was reported nearly harvested in South Carolina, 75 per cent in bloom in Kentucky — compared with 90 per cent this time last year — and two weeks behind last year's harvest in Tennessee.

The tobacco belt was expected to come up with nearly 1.8 billion pounds this year, down from 1.9 billion last year. The yield per acre, however, was expected to remain at 1,896 pounds.

Moving to the Midwest, the area is expected to come through with 4 million bushels of corn, down 6 per cent from last year.

DROPPED REFLECTED

Adverse weather conditions earlier in the season were reflected in a drop in the anticipated yield of corn per acre. The forecast for this year is 67.8 bushels an acre, compared with 71.1 last year. The 1960-64 average yield was 62.2 bushels per acre.

Recent weather has been beneficial to the corn crop but some fields in Kansas, Missouri and southern Illinois previously damaged by extreme heat and dry weather have showed little reaction to improved growing conditions.

Corn prospects improved and development was reported near normal in Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota and Nebraska. Favorable moisture conditions kept soybean prospects high, the department reported. Adequate moisture brought continued improvement through the lower Mississippi Valley and the Southeast.

COTTON CROP

Also responding to favorable August weather conditions this month was the anticipated crop of 10.8 million bales of cotton.

The anticipated yield was 530 pounds per acre, four pounds higher than last year when nearly 15 million bales were produced.

The small grain picture showed the harvest progressing in the Northwest but delayed by frequent showers in the northern Great Plains. Small grain harvest is nearing completion in Washington and Oregon.

As for wheat, yields were running better than expected in Washington where 81 million bushels were forecast. The anticipated yield was 40 bushels an acre, compared with 42.5 last year.

WHEAT HARVEST

The wheat harvest is well ahead of last year in Montana. Winter wheat seeding has started in the Texas plains area and in the western panhandle of Oklahoma.

Drought conditions that affected crops during the earlier part of the season covered a wide area.

Weather observers said severe-to-extreme drought was experienced in the big wheat growing states of Kansas and Oklahoma, and other parts of Montana, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada.

Weather observers said severe-to-extreme drought was experienced in the big wheat growing states of Kansas and Oklahoma, and other parts of Montana, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada.

Fresh Innocence Seen in Miss Dennis

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Blondes are either dumb or nice.

Sandy Dennis is the nice kind.

In an evil world she has a growing-up Alice in Wonderland quality. She makes a man wish he were younger and that she was the girl who lived next door. If life were kinder, she's what a fellow would wake up and find under his Christmas tree, right next to his brand new Flexible Flyer sled.

She has an air of sweet uncrushed innocence that makes a guy wonder whether it would be more fun to lead her astray or chivalrously protect her from the fall designs of some other rascal.

AFTER 16 YEARS But after 16 years and two hits on Broadway, the postal clerk's green-eyed daughter from Hastings, Neb., really doesn't need protection from anybody.

"I'm having a wonderful time," said Sandy during a luncheon break on the set of "Up the Down Staircase," in which she plays an English teacher in a tough New York high school.

Dispute Erupts Over JFK Film Wisconsin Hapalus Argue Use of Movie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Midwestern congressmen were embroiled in an argument yesterday over the alleged partisan political use of a government film on the life of the late President Kennedy.

Rep. Glenn Davis, R-Wis., said his probable opponent in the November elections, James P. Buckley, was using the U.S. Information Agency film "Years of Lightning, Day of Drums" to help raise campaign funds.

Davis said a planned showing of the film by Buckley's campaign committee flouted the intent of Congress which indicated that the movie could not be used for partisan political purpose.

In Milwaukee, Buckley said he was using the film legitimately and that money raised by the film would be used for the Kennedy Memorial Foundation.

It is her first starring film role. She entranced Broadway audiences in "A Thousand Clowns" and "Any Wednesday."

NEW BRACKET

It took Miss Dennis a decade to reach the $17,500-a-week bracket in show business, but she has no bitter memories of her struggling years.

"I enjoyed it," she said practically. "I was out of work sometimes for as long as a year, so I lived on unemployment insurance. It wasn't bad."

As Sandy talks, she has a little girl habit of shaking her shoulder length, corn tassel hair and closing her eyes. It's quite endearing.

"I like making films," she said, "but I still like the theater and habits of the theater because I am more used to them."

LIKES TEACHER

"Ideally, I suppose that I'd rather do only plays — and make as much money as you can making movies. But that's impossible."

She and her husband, musician Gerry McGovern, live in a five-room apartment on the upper West Side here. She prefers a quiet home life, hopes to have two children but says she is in no hurry for motherhood at this stage of her career.

This is the kind of a girl Sandy is: "I like animals, seeing old movies, country life, outdoor smells and the feeling that only Fridays give you. Blue, and white English plates and yellow wild flowers, shopping for antique furniture and buying all kinds of books, Mexican food, and although I don't have a hobby, I like the colors of opals, pearls and gemstones."

HATES SHOPPING

"I hate shopping for clothes so much that I wear for years the same things that don't even fit me. Other things I dislike are being pushed, the odor of burning garbage, tea, the taste of peppermint and brusqueness or rudeness in people. I honestly believe I am never, never rude."

"But I am stubborn. That's my biggest fault. Once I decide on something I have to give up and admit I'm wrong."

HER PHILOSOPHY

"I'm not really old enough or wise enough to have come to a philosophy of my own — except maybe: Stay out of trouble and keep your nose clean."

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The University of Michigan's campus newspaper yesterday said the school administration should have resisted a subpoena ordering the release of membership lists of three "left" organizations to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Charging the administration with an "abdication of responsibility," an editorial in the Michigan Daily said the university should have tried to thwart this "dangerous disregard for freedom of speech and inquiry."

The university disclosed earlier this month it had given the House committee a list of 85 students and teachers who belong to campus chapters of the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs, Students for a Democratic Society and the Committee to Aid the Vietnamese People.

The committee had subpoenaed the membership lists. Criticizing U of M President Harlan Hatcher for not being present when the decision was made to comply with the subpoena, the newspaper said, "This abdication of responsibility is made more appalling by the complete absence of President Hatcher from the discussions and the final decision and the evident failure of his vice president to persuade him to participate in them."

"The university should take the initiative in organizing a conference of the major national universities to agree on a joint policy concerning governmental threats to campus political dissent," the editorial said.

Sandwich Holds Lamb and Kraut

The new hero of the day is lamb on the lamb as it broils or grills on skewers.

Cool, tangy kraut is a refreshing accompaniment for the barbecued lamb. The crunchy texture is ideal for sandwiches or a zesty relish.

The cubes of lamb... from fine Milk-fed spring lamb... are cut from the shoulder or leg and are perfect for marinating in a mixture of oil, kraut, juice and seasonings. Let them stand several hours or overnight, and reserve the sauce to brush on the lamb as it broils or grills on skewers.

Serve with vegetable relishes, icy cold milk and plump blueberries. And for convenience sake, use paper plates, napkins, cups and individual paper bowls for the fruit.

Shrimp and Rice Is Quick Dish

Saute cooked rice in butter until coated. Add chopped cooked shrimp, crisp bacon crumbles and 1 or 2 beaten eggs. Heat, stirring, then mix in chopped western iceberg lettuce.

Quickly pack into heated pyrex bowl. Unmold on a footed plate for an Oriental look. Serve at once.

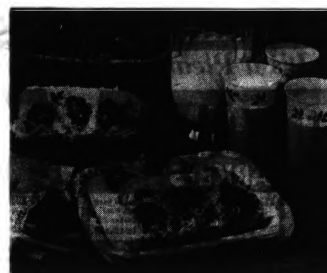

Kraut-Lamb Heroes

1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup sauerkraut liquid or vinegar
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons ginger
1/2 teaspoon pepper

3 to 4 cloves garlic, halved
2 pounds boned lamb shoulder, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
2 cups well drained sauerkraut
1/2 cup grated carrot
1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
1/2 cup mayonnaise
8 long (7-inch) French or Italian rolls, split

Combine oil, kraut liquid, salt, ginger, pepper and garlic in bowl; add lamb. Cover and marinate several hours or overnight. Mix together kraut, carrot, raisins and mayonnaise; chill. Skewer lamb; reserve marinade.

Broil lamb kebabs 3 to 4 inches from heat source 5 minutes per side, or until desired doneness, brushing twice with marinade. Heat rolls. Fill with lamb and kraut relish. Makes 8 servings.

KRAUT-LAMB HEROES — An inviting new hero for backyard or picnics away from home consists of crisp, zesty kraut topped with broiled-to-perfection lamb cubes. The use of printed paper plates and cups makes the table colorful and the clean-up simple.

Light and Dark Either Way

Should you brown boneless cubes of beef or lamb when preparing stew? What about meaty bones for stew?

In either case, to brown or not to brown depends upon personal preference. Brown in lard or drippings or broiling in seasoned flour and then browning gives an attractive brown color to stew or stock. It does add flavor.

If you prefer a light colored stew and need a light colored stock, then simply cover the meat with water and simmer.

Some meats which are cooked in liquid are not browned. These include tongue, corned beef brisket (fresh brisket is often browned first, however), cured and smoked hams, kidneys and heart.

SHORT RIBS WITH FRESH PLUMS — deliciously with short ribs in this flavorful Tart-sweet fresh California plums contrast pot roast.

BY JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor While I was getting material ready for this article on plums, I read that California grows 50 varieties and that there are 2,000 varieties in the world. I guess I won't enumerate them for you.

We see only a few kinds in local stores, I have bought red ones, yellow ones and purple ones. The green ones I haven't purchased yet.

The smooth little deep purple egg-shaped plums are Italian prunes plums and the ones that are dried for prunes. But they are excellent to eat fresh and to use in recipes.

You usually have to let the fruit ripen a few days after you have bought it. Keep plums and other fresh fruit (and tomatoes) at room temperature, but not in the sun. You and your family will enjoy these plum-good recipes.

FRESH PLUM PARFAIT
2 cups crushed unpeeled fresh plums

1 cup sugar or sugar to taste
1/4 cup fresh orange juice
1/4 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
Vanilla ice cream
Chopped nuts, optional
Combine plums, sugar and orange juice in saucepan. Mix well. Bring to boiling point; reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 12 to 15 minutes or until sauce has thickened. Cool and stir in vanilla. Arrange alternate layers of vanilla ice cream and Fresh Plum Sauce in parfait glasses, beginning with ice cream and ending with sauce. If desired, top with a few chopped nuts. Six servings.

Short Ribs
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
5 to 6 lbs. short ribs, cut in serving-size pieces
3 tablespoons oil
1 cup beef broth
1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
18 fresh plums, halved
Combine flour, salt and black pepper. Dredge short ribs in flour mixture. Heat oil in a large, heavy saucepan. Ad-short ribs, a few at a time, and brown on all sides. Add beef broth; cover and simmer slowly 1 hour.

Short Ribs

Refrigerate overnight. Next day remove fat. Place short ribs on plate and reserve.

Add sugar, cinnamon, allspice and vinegar to liquid. Bring to a boil, stirring frequently. Boil 1 minute. Return short ribs to pot. Cover and simmer 1 hour or until tender. Add plums and cook 5 minutes longer. Yield: 6 servings.

Plum Fritters

14 fresh plums
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
1 egg
Vegetable oil for frying

Wash and drain plums. Cut into halves and remove pits. Pour vegetable oil into electric frypan to a depth of 1 inch and preheat to 360 degrees.

Meanwhile, sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together into a small mixing bowl. Mix evaporated milk and egg thoroughly using a whisk or fork. Add to flour mixture, mixing only until dry ingredients become moistened.

Dip each plum half into batter so that it is well coated, then fry in hot fat until golden brown, about 2 to 3 minutes on each side. Remove from pan and drain on paper toweling.

Serve hot with syrup or dust with confectioners' sugar, if desired. Makes 28 fritters.

Ever saute cooked egg noodles in bacon fat? Delicious with Paprika Chicken!

Plum-Good-Eating Pie

4 cups halved, seeded fresh purple prune plums (about)
1 cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg or mace
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
pastry for double-crust pie

Cut plum halves once crosswise. Half fill pastry-lined 9-inch pie dish with purple plums. Mix together dry ingredients. Sprinkle half over fruit. Add lemon juice. Add remaining dry ingredients. Dot with butter.

Cover with crust with a few slits cut in center. Seal edges. Bake in 425-degree oven 35 to 45 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream, ice cream, hard sauce, or a nippy Cheddar cheese. Makes 8 to 8 servings.

Spices and lemon may be omitted, with 2 tablespoons orange juice and 2 teaspoons grated orange rind used instead.

To freeze Purple Plum Pies: if freezing two-crust pies unbaked, do not cut slits in top crust. For lard-top or other open design tops, first cover closely with foil or moisture-vapor-proof film, or freezer paper.

Wrap entire pie in choice of above. Seal, label, date. Freeze rapidly.

If baked, cool baked pies thoroughly, then wrap. Place level in freezer so juice won't leak out. Use within 4 months.

To use frozen Purple Plum Pies: if frozen unbaked, remove wrappings from frozen pie. Make slits in top crust. Bake at 425 degrees 40 to 60 minutes for Deep-Dish Pies and Two-Crust Pies. If frozen baked, remove wrappings from frozen pie. Heat in 375-degree oven 35 to 60 minutes for either type pie.

Sucaryl Is Sweetener in Low-Calorie Drinks

Lemonade, anybody? Or perhaps some iced tea? No one will turn you down when you offer either of the following delightful, calorie-trimmed summer drinks.

Each of these frosty-thirst-quenchers has a tantalizingly delicious taste, and each is guaranteed to provide soothing refreshment on a scorching hot day.

Weight watchers should remember that calories in sugar-sweetened iced drinks mount up fast. In the following cool and calorie-controlled recipes, all surplus calories which come with ordinary sweetening have been eliminated.

Completely sugar-free, these drinks rely on the calorie-free sweetener, sucaryl, to provide delicious tasting sweetness.

BERRY PATCH LEMONADE (Low-Calorie)

1 cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons sucaryl solution
6 cups water
1 pint fresh strawberries, hulled and puréed
Combine all ingredients; chill. Shake or stir before serving over ice in tall glasses. Garnish with whole strawberry and mint.

Makes 2 quarts or 8 servings; each 21 calories; 0.5 gram protein; trace of fat; 5.5 grams carbohydrate. (With sugar 128 calories.)

CLARET LEMONADE (Low-Calorie)

1/2 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon sucaryl solution
3 cups water
2 cups claret wine
Combine all ingredients. Pour over ice in tall glasses. Garnish with mint.

Makes 1 1/2 quarts or 6 servings; each 61 calories; trace of protein; no fat; 2 grams carbohydrate. (With sugar 133 calories.)

Use Leftovers for Barbecue

When outdoor chefs turn in their tall hats and are ready to clean up their smoky, ash-crusted grills, it's time to turn to the range for barbecuing.

Start with a slow-cooking pot-roast that carries a barbecue flavor. This is contributed by catsup, vinegar, brown sugar and onion. A good cut of meat to use comes from the beef chuck or shoulder, advises meat expert, Reba Staggs. It's an arm pot-roast, identified by the small round bone.

Or, choose blade pot-roast with a slender "seven" shaped bone.

Should there be any of this pot-roast left, slice the beef thin for some of the best barbecued sandwiches you've tasted.

Barbecued Pot-Roast
3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 medium onion, sliced
Brown pot-roast in lard or drippings. Season with pepper and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Mix remaining ingredients and add to pot-roast. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 1/2 to 4 hours or until tender. Thicken liquid for gravy. 6 to 8 servings.

REAL BARBECUE — Pontiac Area Campers enjoyed barbecued beef at last weekend's camping session. From the left are chefs, Jack Lightcap, First Avenue; D. W. Torley, Delaware Drive; and G. A. Rossi of Detroit. They started their fire at 5:30 a.m., using charcoal water-smoked history and green apple wood. The meat cooked from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Butter and bottled barbecue sauce were used for basting. One hundred and fifty people ate 104 pounds of beef. Everyone agreed the venture was a great success.

Cooked Beef Makes a Hearty Salad

Even a French woman will applaud an American homemaker when she tosses the last of the roast beef into a salad!

Why French? Well, they have a reputation for being among the thriftest of culinary artists using leftovers.

Those last two cups of beef from the roast, be it a standing rib, sirloin tip or pot-roast make a wonderful supper salad when the meat is first marinated in dressing, explains Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Hearty Beef Salad
2 cups cooked diced beef
1/2 cup French dressing
1/2 cup diced cooked potatoes
1/2 cup cooked green beans
1/2 cup coarsely grated carrots

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms, tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 8 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get gentle Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—small, easy-to-take tablets—special sizes for children and adults.

1/4 cup chopped sweet pickle
2 diced hard-cooked eggs
1/2 cup mayonnaise
4 to 6 lettuce cups
Pour French dressing over beef cubes and marinate for 1 hour in refrigerator. Chill potatoes, beans, carrots, pickle and egg. Moisten with mayonnaise and mix lightly. Serve in lettuce cups. 4 servings.

Meat Stuffing Adds Flavor Between Two Slices of Ham

A subtle way of extending both meat and meat flavor is by using a stuffing with it.

When the stuffing is as completely harmonious with the meat as this raisin-apple combination, then homemakers might well congratulate themselves on a good thing.

It's easy to find ham slices approximately one-half inch thick, says Reba Staggs, meat authority. In fact, at this thickness, the retailer usually packages them by two rather than singly.

The stuffing, moistened with orange juice, goes in between the ham.

HAM SLICE WITH FRUIT STUFFING
2 ham slices, each cut 1/2-inch thick

Fruit Stuffing
3 cups soft bread crumbs

1 cup diced apple
1/2 cup seedless raisins
2/3 cup orange juice
1/4 cup melted ham or bacon drippings
1/4 cup granulated sugar
Brown sugar
Whole cloves

Combine bread crumbs, apples, raisins, orange juice, drippings and 1/4 cup granulated sugar. Mix lightly.

Spread one ham slice with Fruit Stuffing. Place the second ham slice on top. Stick wooden picks through one slice into the other to hold slices in place.

Spread surface of top ham slice with brown sugar and stick with cloves. Place on rack in open roasting pan.

Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 1/4 hours. Remove picks. 6 servings.

CHEESE RICE PUFFS — This is an interesting way to serve rice, one that goes well with any seafood. Cheese and egg whites are added to the rice which puffs up nicely when it is baked.

Cheese and Rice Dish Is Puffy

Seafood dinner in the offing? Now hear this: For a change of pace, serve little dishes of Cheese Rice Puff! There's an ocean of flavor and delightfully different texture in each serving, and the making of it is as easy as the dish is good.

More, when served in shells that match the piscatorial origin of the main dish, or in pretty individual bakers, or even in a large single casserole, it's about as attractive as an entire accompaniment can be. Cook rice especially for this dish, if you wish, or use leftover cooked rice. It is as simple as A-B-C to reheat cooked rice: add two tablespoons water per cup and cook, covered, four to five minutes.

Frozen rice (which will keep at zero degrees several months when properly packaged) should be thawed before reheating. The flavor of Cheese Rice Puff is particularly compatible with the delicacy of seafood, as it is positive but not overpowering. It's a nice accompaniment, too, when eggs are the main dish, and the milder-flavored meats, veal and pork, and chicken taste even better when it is the vegetable attraction.

Cheese Rice Puff
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups hot cooked rice
3 tablespoons milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons grated onion
3 egg whites
1/2 cup shredded sharp cheese
Paprika
Stir butter into rice to melt. Add milk, salt and grated onion, mixing well. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into rice mixture. Spoon into greased shallow baking dish or individual bakers. Top with cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 375 degrees 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Murder Warrants Sought for 4 Teens

DETROIT (UPI) — Police today were seeking murder warrants against four teen-age "greasers" in connection with the fatal beating of 18-year-old Rick Farwell, a member of a rival youth faction the "frats."

Farwell died last night of severe brain hemorrhages.

Doctors said the June high school graduate had not regained consciousness since he was admitted to a local hospital last Sunday.

The four "greasers" — youths who wear tight pants, pointed shoes and slicked down long hair — had been arraigned yesterday, shortly before Farwell's death, on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Police said the youths were among six who allegedly beat the rival "frat" member to teach him "to stay away from our girls."

"Frat" is teen-age jargon for England, 19, and Robert Brock youths who wear Princeton hair-cuts and Ivy League clothes.

Arrested and held in lieu of bonds ranging from $1,500 to $2,500 were Donald Keaton, 20, his brother, Daniel, 17, Terry

Key Witnesses Set to Testify

Peace Corpsman Charged With Killing

MWANZA, Tanzania (UPI) — Two key prosecution witnesses were to be called today in the murder trial of a U.S. Peace Corpsman accused of fatally beating his wife because he thought she planned to be unfaithful.

The two witnesses, as yet unnamed, were expected to be villagers from Maswa, where and his wife Peverly, 23, taught school.

Kinsey is accused of beating Peverly, of Riverside, Conn., to death with an iron bar and rock on a hillside near Maswa last March 27.

Kinsey claims she fell to her death from a high rock. If found guilty, he could be hanged.

The prosecution's contention that Kinsey killed his wife because he believed she planned to be unfaithful was steadily assailed yesterday by defense counsel Byron Georgiadis.

ASSAULTS CHARGE — Georgiadis repeatedly demanded the withdrawal of "heinous and slanderous" charges that Kinsey's wife of 18 months intended to be unfaithful.

He said the prosecution had no evidence backing up the allegation.

The prosecution maintains Kinsey noted his belief that his wife planned infidelity in his diary the day before she died.

But Georgiadis got an important prosecution witness, arresting Police Inspector Martin Kifunta, to admit the allegedly incriminating diary notation concerned almost word for word with a passage in the novel "Cremory in a Lone Tree" by Wright Morris.

Georgiadis claimed Kinsey, an English literature teacher, was in the habit of writing literary quotes in his diary.

Death Claims Ex-City Official

Dana G. Taft, 92, former head of the water collection Dept. for the City of Pontiac, died yesterday after a short illness.

Taft was born and raised in Pontiac and for the past 45 years had made his home at 23 Florence Avenue.

He worked for the City for 38 years, retired in 1949 and then worked at the Community National Bank from 1950 to 1960.

He was a member of F. & A.M. No. 21.

Services will be held 1:30 p.m. Friday at Donelson-Johns Funeral Home with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Graveside service will be conducted by F. & A.M. No. 21.

Surviving are two sons, Robert L. of Pontiac and Marcus J. of Greenville, Ohio; three daughters, Mrs. Richard Kimmins of Pontiac, Mrs. George Savage of Detroit, and Mrs. Victor DeBeke of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Also surviving are nine grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

MUDDY ESCAPE — A Vietnamese woman, face and clothing covered with muck, is questioned by a government Ranger in a Viet Cong hamlet in the Mekong Delta some 140 miles southeast of Saigon last week. The woman plunged with her husband into a mudhole usually the domain of pigs and water buffalo when government troops fired into the village. They surfaced only to breathe until soldiers discovered them. She was released but her husband was held as a Viet Cong suspect.

2 Businesses Hit by Thefts

Thieves broke into an office building in Independence Township early yesterday, escaping with office machines valued at more than $3,000, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies were told. Victims by the burglars were Kelt Engineering Co. of 5852 Ortonville, and Clarkson Real Estate of 5856 Ortonville, both located in the same building.

Howard Kelt reported the theft of a calculator valued at $1500, a typewriter worth $100, and an adding machine valued at $245.

Missing from the real estate firm, according to James Navarre, were two electric typewriters worth an estimated $1,200.

Entry to each office was gained by breaking a rear door window, deputies said.

German Women Now Bringing Out the Facts

CHANGING TIMES—Three West Berliners reflect the new look in West German women. They are more sophisticated in their dress, coiffure and carriage. BERLIN (AP) — Brunhilde — that Wagnerian prototype of big, bosomy German womanhood — has shaped up.

Not that all German women ever conformed to the big Wagnerian or plump country Gretchen types. But since World War II, changes in grooming habits, better clothes and a greater emphasis on staying in shape have brought out a lot more of what probably had been there all along.

Says a British girlwrecker who lived in Germany for years: "German girls today have a sexiness — an aura — about them that makes them a pleasure to behold."

Chief characteristics of today's German girl may be described as a naturalness not impaired by too much makeup, a straight carriage that enhances a general long-limbed look, and good figures shown to advantage by a fluid-drive motion allowed by not-too-firm foundation garments.

New Madness Sweeping Over Chinese

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
"These are unusual days in Peking," said the Soviet Communist Party paper Pravda in one of the year's ranking understatement.

With dimming suddenness, the Russians found out just how unusual. The Soviet charge d'affaires in Peking set out Aug. 21 from his embassy on the Street of Growing Prestige for a routine courtesy call on a visiting African dignitary. He never made it.

The car, flying the Soviet flag, was halted by a barricade in the form of a giant portrait of Mao broke over old China with the suddenness of a summer storm. A day before, the press carried orders from Chen Po-ta, newly a full Politburo member and chief of the purge known as "the great proletarian cultural revolution." To teen-agers members of the "Red Guards" and the "Red Flag Fighting Teams" — Chen addressed the exhortation: "To guarantee that our fatherland will never change color, smash all kinds of monsters."

While police looked on approvingly, teen-age mobs in semimilitary uniforms and red armbands surrounded the Soviet car, howling quotations from Mao's works. The diplomat turned back to his embassy.

Intriguing Aspects of Little H.R. 28

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON—To the naked eye, there is little to distinguish H.R. 28 from the scores of other minor bills introduced in Congress each year.

It would authorize the U.S. government to turn over to the State of Florida a 20-acre plot of land near the Cape Kennedy space center for use as an educational facility.

There is nothing very strange or startling about that. Such things happen all the time.

However, someone told me that if I obtained a copy of congressional hearings on the bill I would be intrigued by it. I did and I was.

The story behind H.R. 28 was outlined to a House armed services subcommittee as follows:

RESEARCH AREA

A few years ago, Air Force and civilian officials persuaded, or at least encouraged, the University of Florida to build a graduate engineering and research center at Cape Kennedy.

A 20-acre site on the base was selected and in 1964 the state leased the property for 30 years at a nominal rate of $100 a year.

It then proceeded to erect a $550,000 graduate school on the land. So far so good. Except one small detail.

The subcommittee was informed that, separately, the state funds could not be used to operate the school unless the state itself owned the land.

"This indicates an oversight on someone's part," commented Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., who is prone to understatement.

HE AGREES

"I think that is probably the answer," admitted Rep. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., sponsor of the bill to solve the problem by giving the state title to the land.

Unfortunately, however, another hitch developed. The Air Force insisted that the measure include a provision that was unacceptable to the state. The subcommittee then put the bill aside for further study.

There the matter rested until last February when the state agreed to accept the disputed provision. But before the subcommittee got around to acting on the bill, still another difficulty arose.

The Navy reported last month that the graduate school may be too close to its missile loading pier. If such proves to be the case, the Navy said, the $550,000 edifice will have to be moved.

Early Warning for Eye Disease

By Science Service
LONDON — Early warning of disease which will affect vision can be obtained by measuring the minute electrical currents produced by the eye.

After several years of research at the Institute of Ophthalmology, the technique has now been adopted for daily use at the Moorfields Eye Hospital in London.

The eye tests are similar to cardiogram recordings but electrical signals produced by the eye are more complicated than those from the heart.

The tests record "messages" which the brain receives from the eye, and particularly from a specially sensitive spot at the back of the eye which is connected with detailed vision. The records are then fed into a computer and analyzed.

From the results, it is possible to tell if the blood supply to the eye is adequate, if the nerve cells are damaged, and if the eye's chemistry is normal.

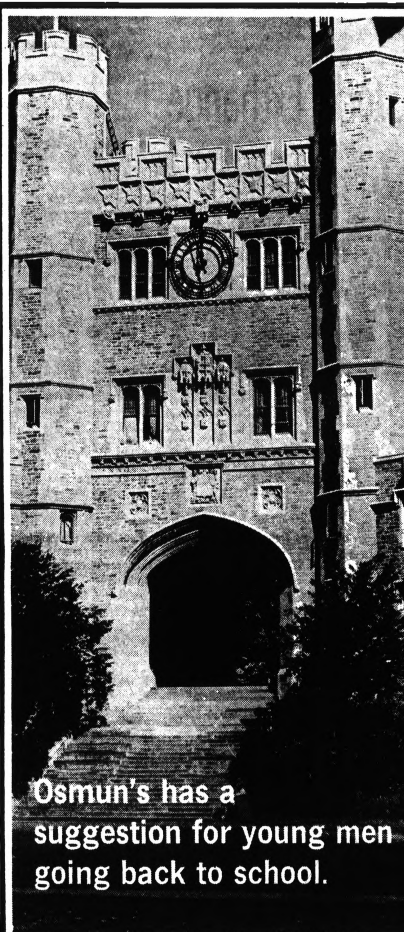

VERY SENSITIVE

Sensitivity achieved in the tests is such that it is possible to distinguish between layers of cells lying less than a thousandth of an inch apart.

The technique is also useful if surgical repair to the eye is being considered.

If vision is affected by damage to the front of the eye, perhaps by a scar on the cornea, a surgeon can tell from the test whether vision will be good when the damage has been repaired.

The tests also yield useful information concerning children with "lazy eyes" and elderly people suffering from cataract.

Mart Continues Strong Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued a strong rally early this afternoon despite some mild profit taking. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 11.19 at 3,386.91.

The market advanced from the opening after the first half hour profit taking trimmed some gains and brought about some net losses among glimmer stocks. The general market remained well advanced, however, and a new buying drive ensued. Glimmer stocks were in the forefront once again. The color

Analysts still called it a rally from an oversold condition. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3.1 to 280.2 with industrials up 5.1, rails up 1.7, and utilities up 1.1.

Truong delivered a personal

Javits, Kuchel See Hope for Gains by Moderates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two GOP senators expressed confidence today that Republican moderates will increase their party strength as a result of the November elections.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said in separate interviews they do not believe the outlook is quite as gloomy as it was painted in a report of the Council of Republican Organizations.

The CRO, representing 10 progressive organizations, said Tuesday night that with things going as they are Barry Goldwater might be right in predicting that party conservatives will control the 1968 GOP convention, just as they did in 1964.

The CRO said that moderates are leaderless, lack financing and are being silenced by party "unity" efforts on the part of national chairman Ray C. Bliss and Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee who may try again.

RESTORATION?

"We are just coming on the scene when something can be done to restore moderate control of the party," Javits said. He added that the necessary preliminary to this "is to elect some Republican moderates to office. I think that is going to happen in New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Kentucky, for example."

"Instead of the next convention's looking like that of 1964, I think it is going to look more like that of 1952, when the moderates defeated the conservatives with the nomination of Gen. Eisenhower."

Kuchel said he is satisfied majority of rank and file Republicans are the kind of moderates who supported Eisenhower's programs enthusiastically and will make their weight felt at the polls.

Attire Change Brings End to Plant Strike

GARDINER, Ore. (AP) — Pat Morris is back at work with 315 other employees at the International Paper Co. plywood plant, but she is not wearing the same clothes she wore when a strike began a week ago.

Mrs. Morris, 35, whose measurements are 38-27-38, was suspended because her jeans and sweater were too tight and too distracting to male workers, the company said.

Local 2135 of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union called a union spokesman said the decision was made to return to work on the assumption that Mrs. Morris was not suspended, but merely sent home to change clothes.

CHANGES ATTIRE

She worked Tuesday night in loosely fitting coveralls.

Soviets Ban Report on JFK's Murder

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has stopped distribution by the U.S. Embassy of a Russian language text of the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, an embassy spokesman said today.

The Foreign Ministry called the report "slandrous to the Soviet people" and its distribution "improper and inadmissible," the spokesman said.

It was understood the Soviets objected to parts of the report that included comments by Lee Harvey Oswald on his life in Moscow.

The report held that Oswald alone killed Kennedy, that the assassination had nothing to do with his life in Moscow and the Soviet Union had no connection with the crime.

There was speculation in Moscow that distribution of the report was stopped because it contradicts the Soviet version of the Kennedy assassination as a right-wing conspiracy of "Texas oil barons."

OBJECTS TO ACTION

The embassy objected to the ban, denied the Soviet charges and asked the foreign ministry to reconsider. But the spokesman said there was little chance the foreign ministry would reverse itself.

Senior American diplomats could not recall another case of the Soviets making the Embassy in step distributing an official American document.

They said, however, that the Warren Commission report was unprecedented, as there was no way of comparing the ban on it to earlier bans.

"The Republican party will start winning elections again when it faces up to the problems of the 20th century and advocates sensible solutions that appeal to the majority of Americans," he said.

"HAS ROOM"

"The party certainly has room for genuine conservatives but it has no room for reactionaries who oppose every single attempt to solve the problems of the people."

The CRO said conservatives already have started "national promotion" for Ronald Reagan, GOP candidate for governor in California, as a potential 1968 presidential nominee. Kuchel has yet to say whether he intends to support Reagan in his state race.

At Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower spent a half an hour Tuesday discussing domestic and foreign issues with GOP candidates.

COPTER COLLISION — The wreckage of a helicopter operated by the Los Angeles radio station lies against fire in background after it collided with a police helicopter near the Dodger Stadium parking lot in Los Angeles yesterday. Rail Strike Effects Spread; Opposition to Bill Mounts OTTAWA (AP) — The effects of Canada's nationwide rail strike continued to spread today as opposition mounted to the government's formula for ending the walkout.

The walkout involving 17 railway unions has left seven rail ways shut down since Friday and domestic telegraph services also paralyzed.

Union leaders complained that a proposed 8 per cent interim wage increase is too low, involving at least 5,700 men in and spoke out against a provision for compulsory arbitration.

In Montreal, a meeting of union officials representing 20,000 Quebec strikers called the bill "completely unacceptable."

SIMILAR VOTE

In Quebec City, strikers voted against a return to work under terms of the legislation. Strikers in Saint John, N.B., cast a similar vote.

Plant shutdowns and layoffs involving at least 5,700 men in Ontario and the Maritimes were announced Tuesday, and more are imminent.

RAILWAY WORKERS

Railway workers across the country were hardly critical of the bill intended to end the strike. It calls for the interim pay increase and renewed bargaining under threat of compulsory arbitration.

The railways also complained, wondering where they would get the money to cover the interim increase.

STIFF OPPOSITION

In Ottawa, Health Minister Allen J. MacEachen said the government will stand by its bill in the face of stiff opposition in the Commons by Conservative and New Democratic parties, both committed to vote for an amendment which would have the effect of killing the bill.

MacEachen stressed that the raise is only an interim increase and that the 118,000 strikers can expect to win a final settlement of "not less than 18 per cent," a figure recommended by conciliation boards involved in the dispute.

LARGEST OF THE INDUSTRY

Largest of the industry shut-downs is at McKinnon Industries Ltd., which makes engines and parts for General Motors of the Canada.

General Motors spokesman said production could be affected by the end of next week, direct and indirect threats. Peo-Oshawa, where GM employs 12,000 workers. The rail tie-up estimates say the Viet Cong came as GM and other car makers mobilizing its underground movement as never before.

Teen Editor Takes Glee in Doing Adult Analysis

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I asked Beth Satchel, a teen-age editor, to write a piece blasting us adults . . . and she did! "Why can't adults find some hobby besides analyzing teenage children?" Beth demands. "Every adult is a headshrinker and it's our heads they shrink!" "Some of you adults aren't exactly subdued when you meet a celebrity. At the Mary Griffin show, I sat next to a woman who kept hitting me. To emphasize that Arthur Treacher had just signed her autobiography book—twice!"

"You'd be surprised at us teens' nerve. "After seeing 'Generation,' my friend and I sneaked backstage hoping to see Sandy Baron, a bright young comedian. "There were two doors, one marked 'Stage Door.' We began knocking on it, not wanting to wind up on the stage. After 10 minutes of knocking and getting no answer, we opened the door. It was the broom closet. "An usher took pity on us and led us to Sandy Baron and we became friends.

"The only adults half-way willing to listen to teens are certain columnists. Earl Wilson digs teens (or at least tries to).

"Remember when Earl dressed up as a maintenance man to get an exclusive interview with Brigitte Bardot? I call that 'teen spirit'."

"I dressed up as a little girl and went over to Robert Sales' office. I explained to the man at the desk I was Soupy's child and was swooned to meet him in his office.

"Naturally, I got booted out. I failed to realize Soupy's got two boys!

"I HAVE to admit certain teens get carried away with a crush. When I was about 10, my mother forbade me watching an entire Jerry Lewis movie. I laughed so hard at Jerry that I—well, as I heard my mother tell some of her friends—'kept regurgitating.'"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

ABC-TV reporter Cindy Adams was asked by the Egyptian Embassy to write a biography of Nasser. Her husband, comic Joey Adams, is delighted. "She wrote one for Sukarno—and took what happened to him!" . . . Singer Dolores Gray and wealthy real estate man Andrew Grevelle said at the Barbary Room they'll wed Sept. 24.

Jane Morgan, who'll open the Persian Room's fall season, may be introduced by Mayor Lindsay . . . The Robert Thom (Millie Perkins) named the baby Lily . . . Jack Lemmon took his wife and director to see the Village Gate show.

Carroll Baker's husband, director Jack Garfield, will make a film for Arlie Shaw's company . . . Anthony George, now touring in "Fanny Hill," may get the lead in Julie Styne's "The Natives Are Restless."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bobby Goldsboro tells of the acolyte who married a penniless nonentity: "Not only was she dropped from the Social Register—but she couldn't get into the Yellow Pages."

Status of Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Status of major legislation:

LABOR
WAGE-HOUR—Administration bill to raise the $1.25 hourly minimum wage to $1.60 minus civil rights request would be by Feb. 1, 1968, and cover about 8 million more workers.

CIVIL RIGHTS
HOUSING — President's omnibus civil rights request would seek fair selection of state and federal court juries; provide new legal protection against violence directed at Negroes and rights workers; and give the UNEMPLOYMENT COMMISSION — Johnson asked to seek school and public facilities to liberalize and make uniform unemployment compensation payments in the states.

House: Passed bill leaving out single family and owner-occupied provision to set federal paid apartments under five unit standards for paying benefits, and outlawing "blockbusting." Senate: Approved bill restoring Senate: Leaders plan to by pass committee and bring House bill to floor Sept. 16.

CRIME
GUNS — President has asked curbs on mail order sales of firearms.

Senate: Judiciary subcommittee has held hearings, awaiting Senate action.

NATIONAL SECURITY
DEFENSE — House and Senate have passed separate versions of a $58-billion defense money bill, the biggest since World War II.

VIET CONG — House Committee on Un-American Activities has approved a bill opposed by the administration that would make it a criminal offense for Americans to send aid to groups such as the Viet Cong or to solicit such assistance. It would also prohibit interference with military traffic in the United States.

Senate: No bill, no action in prospect.

HOUSING
SLUMS—President has asked Congress to authorize a pilot program under which entire slum neighborhoods would be physically and socially rehabilitated. The $2.3-billion cost would be spread over six years, with about 60 or 70 cities participating.

House: Banking Committee approved modified version. Senate: Approved $1.2 billion, two-year version.

CONSERVATION
POLLUTION — Senate Public Works Committee exceeded administration plans, approved $5.9 billion, five-year program for cleaning up major river basin waterways.

House: Public works committee approved $2.3 billion, four-year program.

TRANSPORTATION
DEPARTMENT — Johnson asked Congress to establish a cabinet-level department of transportation including the Federal Aviation Agency, Bureau of Public Roads, Coast Guard, office of the under secretary of commerce for transportation, Maritime Administration, and safety functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Civil Aeronautics Board plus smaller agencies.

House: Debate under way. Senate Government operations committee is considering.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATACOMBS

QUESTION: What were the catacombs like?

ANSWER: The Early Christians living in Rome had a very difficult time, for the Roman emperors made serious efforts to stamp out the new religion.

Christians were, however, allowed to hold property. Furthermore, the Romans had a respect for decent burial.

The result was that when the Christians began to bury people in crypts or vaults under the churches, the Romans made no objection.

The burial passageways, which were called catacombs, were high but narrow, lined with grave openings on the side, in which the dead were placed.

Walls were of plaster, decorated in place with large paintings of saints and martyrs in fresco.

They constructed mazes of passage ways, with secret openings which only they knew about.

Finally, Rome became a Christian state. The last of the catacombs were built about A. D. 150.

After A.D. 400, they were no longer used for burial. Now Christianity was above ground; the gloomy catacomb days were forgotten.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color our catacomb picture with dark mysterious colors so that only the torch flares out with a yellow note.

Alcohol Pains Hit Patients

By Science Service

LONDON — Violent agonizing pain after drinking was experienced by some of a group of 155 tumor patients, all of whom were found to be intolerant of alcohol by a Glasgow, Scotland, physician.

Two elderly women were distressed to find they could no longer take even the smallest sip of common wine at their church.

Many regular drinkers gave up alcohol completely and dared not resume it, but five men with Hodgkin's disease whose pain was not so severe said they took analgesic tablets before drinking.

Pain at the site of the disease was common. For example, pain occurred at peripheral lymph node enlargement sites, including the neck, armpit and groin in 14 persons with Hodgkin's disease and in one with cancer of the nose and throat region.

Cancer of the mouth or tongue, of the breast, of the cervix and other tumor sites also caused localized pain.

Bleeding from the site of the disease occurred in 14 patients after drinking alcohol. Two of them had noncancerous tumors.

Effects described by two other women with cancer were: a terrible sensation in arms and legs like thousands of germs moving about inside, and of a sudden "flapping inside her head as if everything was loose."

The patients were reluctant to report the symptoms as they knew they sounded absurd.

Waterford Teacher Strike Looms

1 Dead in Benton Harbor

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Mayor Wilbert Smith today declared a state of emergency but was turned down on his request for the dispatch of National Guard troops to this southwestern Michigan city torn by two straight nights of racial violence.

Gov. George Romney said at Lansing an 18-year-old Negro wounded in last night's gunfire had died, but he declined an immediate call-up of troops.

Police said shots fired by two white youths in an auto wounded the Negro last night after a line of police had driven a rock-throwing march back to its starting point.

Police said the victim was Cecil Hunt, 18, of Benton Harbor.

The shooting came after an unruly crowd of about 300 Negroes marched into a downtown area, throwing rocks and bottles at police and newsmen. The shots were fired after the crowd had been forced back into a Negro section and was beginning to break up into smaller groups.

During the march, 14 persons were arrested for disorderly loitering. One Negro, who led the march for a short time, said the demonstration was to focus attention on what he called a lack of recreational facilities.

At Waukegan, Ill., where a 7:30 p.m. curfew was again imposed, eviction proceedings were initiated against a public housing tenant who was arrested during recent rioting.

Mayor Robert Sabonjian, saying people should not be allowed to use public housing as an arsenal, ordered David Kinder, 24, evicted.

Sabonjian talked to 32 Negro leaders during the day, and a rally of 150 NAACP members heard the Rev. H. J. Cook say, "I believe we have made a step towards a workable means by which we can solve the problems." He said the problems include segregation in housing and schools and job discrimination.

Teamsters, AFL-CIO
Eye Election Result

DELANO, Calif. (AP) — California farm workers and agricultural growers waited today for results of a historic labor representation election.

Counting began today, but final official returns could be delayed because of numerous challenges.

Secret ballots, padlocked in black containers, were sped by the Highway Patrol from the Di Giorgio Corp.'s Sierra Vista grape ranch in the southern San Joaquin Valley near Delano to the San Francisco office of the American Arbitration Association.

State Conciliation Service officials said the 15-hour balloting was the first such union representation election held among American farm workers. The outcome could immediately affect only those employed on the one ranch, but the union which wins would hold a strong hand in planned union votes among the state's estimated 80,000 farm laborers.

The AAA, assisted by local and state officials, supervised the balloting to avoid charges of fraud buried after a similar election June 24. That vote was nullified after the Teamsters Union emerged the victor.

Yesterday's vote pitted the Teamsters against the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

Of 1,800 eligible voters, 1,317 voted. But 30 per cent of the ballots were challenged by either the unions or Di Giorgio, mostly because some voters could not furnish adequate identification.

Men, and women —, some dressed in their dusty work clothes and others in their Sunday best — filed into Di Giorgio's heavily-guarded bunkhouse to vote. They also could indicate they wanted no union to represent them.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. disclosed the timetable for consideration of the plan proposed by Developer A. Alfred Taubman of Oak Park.

Taylor said the contract would be received next week, a noon luncheon would be held Sept. 13 for public airing of the plan and the formal public hearing and commission action would come Sept. 27.

Irwin said that "bring out some facts." Specifically, Irwin charged that plans are underway to close the Auburn-Orchard Lake cross-over — rated the second largest east-west traffic artery in the city — with no alternate solution being provided.

Timetable Is Announced on Proposal by Taubman

By L. GARY THORNE

While a timetable was announced last night for consideration of the Taubman downtown redevelopment plan, one city commissioner rebuked his fellow commissioners for ignoring what he felt were potential traffic problems.

City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, in a rare statement of dissent, also charged that the commission had "already made up its mind" when other sources were still available.

State Dems Expecting 2 Visits by President

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan Democrats are expecting two visits from President Johnson before the November elections. The first is expected Monday, Labor Day.

The Labor Day visit by the President is traditional since the highlight of the day's festivities is a parade sponsored by the United Auto Workers and viewed by thousands lining the streets.

House Weighs Interest Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The issue of rising interest rates and their effect on the nation's economy is churning toward House action on a wave of political controversy next week.

The House Rules Committee cleared the way yesterday for House votes on two proposals designed to limit certain interest rates.

The sponsor of one of the bills, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., said the public is demanding "to know why in Congress is against high interest rates."

He said the question "is sure to become a burning issue" in the November elections.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said the interest legislation will be scheduled for early House action, probably next week.

An appearance for Williams, however, would be minus Williams, since the former six-term governor has been ordered by his physician to spend the next two weeks recuperating from an operation to remove kidney stones Aug. 18. He left the hospital yesterday.

Williams is locked in battle with Sen. Robert A. Griffin for the Senate seat formerly held by the late Senator Patrick McNamara, a Democrat.

Griffin was named to replace the senator by Gov. Romney. Romney's popularity in Michigan, coupled with the frequent mentioning of the possibility he may oppose Johnson's reelection bid in 1968, also has been given as a reason for two LEO visits to the state.

Judy Funsch Dies; Never Reached Goal

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Five-year-old Judy Lynn Funsch, who underwent rare heart surgery last March, died today without achieving her cherished goal of enrolling in kindergarten.

The end came for little Judy at 5:30 a.m. at the University of Michigan hospital where she had spent six hours on the operating table for removal of an obstruction in a pulmonary vein bringing blood from the lungs to the heart. Exact cause of death was not announced.

The frail child had been home in Flint for several months before returning to the hospital for observation three weeks ago.

She had looked forward to entering school this fall.

But doctors were not satisfied with her progress. Judy had failed to add any weight to her 28-pound body, tired easily, and remained pale.

DEVELOPED PNEUMONIA

Two months after returning home, the pretty little blonde developed pneumonia for the 19th time in her young life.

Judy's surgical ordeal stirred hundreds of persons into writing cards and letters expressing hope she would recover completely from her ordeal on the operating table.

"Hey, Mom. I like these chunk-style mashed potatoes."

No Settlement After 7 Months of Negotiating

Meeting on Monday May Decide Whether Walkout Occurs

Some 17,000 students and 679 teachers are slated to return to school next week in Waterford Township, but only the students may show up.

Teachers voted in June not to return to school unless a contract agreement had been reached between the Waterford Education Association and the Waterford Township Board of Education.

After seven months of negotiating, the two sides have failed to reach that agreement.

Teachers are supposed to report back to school next Tuesday, with students slated to return two days later.

They'll be given a choice whether they still want to exercise the walkout at an "11th-hour" meeting Monday night at the Community Activities, Inc., building, providing a contract is not reached by that time.

WEA President Robert Hutchinson said the WEA is hopeful school will begin on time, but not optimistic.

Under terms of the Michigan Public Employment Relations Act, teachers and other public employees can organize and bargain collectively, but strikes are forbidden.

However, the law no longer includes mandatory penalties for striking.

To a stranger, things may appear normal in the Waterford school district.

Football practice is under way at both high schools. Cheerleaders are going through their repertoire under supervision.

Teacher workshops are proceeding as usual before the start of school, as are other preschool functions.

However, all these activities will cease next Tuesday if an agreement is not reached, asserted Hutchinson, a sixth grade teacher at Hudson Court School.

The WEA had authorized teacher participation in preschool functions, said Hutchinson.

COME TO HALT

Negotiations between the WEA and schoolboard had been going on since the first part of this year.

But negotiations, which have been conducted by a representative from the Michigan Labor Mediation Board since June, have come to a halt.

Fact-finding proceedings, in which attorneys from both sides present testimony before a hearing officer, are tentatively slated to begin tomorrow.

However, this process would carry past the school opening dates, according to Hutchinson (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

County Officials Hear of Court Plans

District courts serving population areas of 50,000 are being considered by the State Legislature, two Oakland County legislators reported yesterday.

Conducting a public forum on proposed reorganization of the Michigan court system Sen. Sam M. Levin, D-Berkley and Rep. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park outlined the district court plans.

Some 30 persons including Oakland County officials, township supervisors and municipal judges attended the session at the county courthouse.

be formally considered by the legislature next year.

The main concern of those present at the forum was that both citizens and police be able to attend court in their own community.

Township officials cited the inconvenience and loss of police power at home when both citizens and police must appear at the present central justice court in Pontiac.

Among the supervisors who urged nearby court services in the reorganization were Homer Case of Bloomfield Township and William L. Mainland of Commerce Township.

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said he agreed on the concept of having a court close to the people.

Also in agreement was Eugene A. Moore, chairman of the Oakland County Bar Association, committee studying the county-wide court system replacing the justice courts.

Suggesting that salaried magistrates be considered for routine type cases was Oak Park Municipal Court Judge Burton R. Shiffman. Mainland concurred with this idea.

Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore suggested that a map be prepared showing the present court locations and those to be proposed.

It was brought out during discussion that in outlying areas it would require four to five townships to make up a district.

VanderVeen said the space leased to Standard will still leave room for a future computer-type service he is endeavoring to establish.

Negotiations are continuing with two other airlines to provide service to Cleveland and Chicago direct from Pontiac.

VanderVeen said Standard's service is actually a new service to "feed" the major flights out of Metro.

Standard will lease office and counter space in the terminal building at Pontiac Municipal Airport and also pay $300 a year in landing fees.

Acting Airport Manager J. David VanderVeen said the two flights a day, five days a week from Pontiac to Metro.

The so-called "feeder" flights will leave Pontiac at 8:30 a.m. and 2:27 p.m. The one-way cost will be $7, according to VanderVeen.

The school board contends it would have the financial yield to WFA demands.

Williams, 55, planned two weeks of recuperation at 17 Grosvenor Pointe home before resuming the campaign for the U.S. Senate.

The former Democratic governor entered the hospital Aug. 15 after complaining of stomach pains.

Doctors diagnosed the illness as ureter calculi, of calcium deposits, lodged in the right ureter which drains the right kidney.

Dr. Albert L. Steinbach, Williams' physician, said one stone was passed spontaneously and another six were removed by surgery on Aug. 19.

Williams was described as feeling well.

It was not immediately disclosed where he would resume his campaign against Republican Sen. Robert Griffin.

He said this would amount to $75,000 a year. In addition, Irwin said maintenance costs to be paid by the city would reach $60,000 a year, giving a total cost of $135,000 a year.

Frisco Nurses Back to Work

New Scale Accepted; Details Not Complete

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nurses in city-operated hospitals went back to work today with the promise of a 15 percent pay boost—the result of their mass strike 24 hours earlier.

"Things are beginning to look normal," said an early supervising nurse at San Francisco General Hospital.

The registered nurses went back to their jobs after reporting "sick" Tuesday in support of their demands for higher pay. They voted Tuesday night to return and accept a pay increase offered by the city.

All 193 registered nurses scheduled for duty in the three public hospitals called in sick Tuesday, causing Mayor John F. Shelley to declare an emergency which he said permitted evading city charter provisions against pay hikes in the middle of a fiscal year.

He offered a new scale starting Thursday ranging from $578 to $703 a month, depending on experience. The range had been $465 to $565.

Although nurses voted 347 to 194 to return, the details of the mayor's offer were not completed. Civil Service commissioners meet today to recommend the increases and the board of supervisors is meeting to pass a special appropriation.

Validity Test Needed after those measures is approval by City Controller Nathan Cooper who says he will not act until courts explore the validity of Shelley's proclamation.

Cooper said the plan would cost the city nearly $900,000 between Sept. 1 and July 1, when the next fiscal year starts.

Nurses, some of whom belong to the California Nurses Association and some to the AFL-CIO City and County Employees Union, demanded restoration of the traditional 15 per cent margin by which their salaries exceed those of nurses in private hospitals.

Private hospitals recently boosted their pay. The city-hired nurses rejected an increase that would have become effective until the next fiscal year but that would have included retroactive payments to cover pay increases lost until then.

There's no objection to looking at it," said Taylor in reply, "but neither are we going to delay. Our minds are made up to get something done, but we're not voting on anything without informing the public."

Taylor added: "There's no hanky panky. There's no secret; nothing to hide. We're merely trying to put the necessary catalyst down here and we can't wait much longer."

Detailling deliberations on downtown redevelopment since summer 1965, Irwin said three weeks ago Taubman had made his offer, 1½ weeks ago the contract was renegotiated and last week a new contract was presented.

"The crux of the matter has been the breakdown in communications between the city and downtown merchants, labor and ethnic groups," he explained.

Irwin attributed a "feeling of distrust between the commission and citizens" to a lack of conversation.

Stipulating he was not against Taubman, Irwin said the commission had an obligation to evaluate every possible source of information.

"LASTING" "We're building something to last 50 to 100 years."

Irwin said the total cost of the Taubman plan is figured at $2.5 million to be paid off by bonds. He said Taubman will pay $450,000 a year on a lease for the parking area.

According to Irwin, Taubman's payment will not be enough to meet the bond payments so the city will have to make up the difference.

He said this would amount to $75,000 a year. In addition, Irwin said maintenance costs to be paid by the city would reach $60,000 a year, giving a total cost of $135,000 a year.

Two Proposals Listed in School District Vote

BIRMINGHAM—Residents in the Birmingham School District on Oct. 6 will go to the polls to consider two proposals designed to expand the system's physical facilities and to maintain a sound educational curriculum in the face of rising costs and enrollments.

The voters will be asked to approve: Capital bonding totaling $9.8 million for more buildings. A 13.9-mill operating levy.

Schools Administrative Assistant Walter J. Piel said the millage request represents an increase of 2.9 mills over the present 11-mill levy due to expire in December.

He said the extra mills will raise approximately $900,000 in added revenue.

The Board of Education has determined that revenue from the bond issue will be used to erect, furnish and equip a new junior high school, additions to existing junior and senior high schools, a new elementary school and additions to existing elementary school buildings.

Construction of a new administration building is also slated as well as improvements to present school buildings and purchase of school sites.

The renewal of the 11 mills and the extra 2.9 mills are being requested to provide for an annual enrollment increase of over 1,000 pupils.

Over the past four years, according to Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith, the system has grown by more than 4,500 students.

Piel said the millage hike is necessary to offset increased operating costs to attract and hold good teachers with competitive salaries, to keep class sizes at reasonable levels and to maintain a quality curriculum.

AN INCREASE The 2.9-mill tax boost would mean an increase of $2.90 per $1,000 of equalized property value. A board estimate places the debt millage increase needed to pay off the bond issue, at 7.5 mills, or less, said Piel.

Only Birmingham School District property owners will be eligible to vote on the bond issue proposals but all registered voters may vote on the millage proposition.

Promotion supervisor for Pontiac Motor Division, Charles L. Cousins, has been named display chairman of the 1966 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign.

He will be responsible for preparation of outdoor advertising, special promotional displays and coordinating agency displays in stores throughout the area.

Cousins, of 4815 Sundew, Commerce Township, also held the display post in 1964, according to William Fries, campaign publicity and promotion chairman who announced the appointment.

Formerly in advertising, public relations and newspaper work, Cousins has also participated in P.A.U.F. drives since 1963 as an industrial division and advance gifts solicitor.

He currently serves on the board of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic, a U.F. agency, and as a vice chairman of the 1966 Boy Scout Lost Lake Camp Development Fund.

Cousins has been with Pontiac Motor since 1959.

There's no objection to looking at it," said Taylor in reply, "but neither are we going to delay. Our minds are made up to get something done, but we're not voting on anything without informing the public."

Taylor added: "There's no hanky panky. There's no secret; nothing to hide. We're merely trying to put the necessary catalyst down here and we can't wait much longer."

Detailling deliberations on downtown redevelopment since summer 1965, Irwin said three weeks ago Taubman had made his offer, 1½ weeks ago the contract was renegotiated and last week a new contract was presented.

"The crux of the matter has been the breakdown in communications between the city and downtown merchants, labor and ethnic groups," he explained.

Irwin attributed a "feeling of distrust between the commission and citizens" to a lack of conversation.

Stipulating he was not against Taubman, Irwin said the commission had an obligation to evaluate every possible source of information.

"LASTING" "We're building something to last 50 to 100 years."

Irwin said the total cost of the Taubman plan is figured at $2.5 million to be paid off by bonds. He said Taubman will pay $450,000 a year on a lease for the parking area.

According to Irwin, Taubman's payment will not be enough to meet the bond payments so the city will have to make up the difference.

He said this would amount to $75,000 a year. In addition, Irwin said maintenance costs to be paid by the city would reach $60,000 a year, giving a total cost of $135,000 a year.

U Thant Expected to Reject New Term

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — U Thant returns tonight from a week's trip to Latin America to announce whether he will remain as U.N. secretary-general. His decision will be sent to all 117 U.N. delegations tomorrow.

The impression among many U.N. diplomats is that despite unprecedented international pressure, the Burmese diplomat will say that he is not available for another five-year term after his current term expires Nov. 3.

Others speculate that he will leave the door open to serve for at least two or three more years. Most agree that he is unqualified to would set off another round of diplomatic effort to persuade him to change his mind.

Pressure to keep him in one of the world's most demanding jobs has come from virtually all of the 117 N.N. members, including the major powers and such influential groups as the 61 Asian and African nations.

It has come also from world leaders—President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin.

Even 176 members of the U.S. Congress joined in a telegraphed appeal, and some U.S. newspapers have published editorials urging him to remain.

Thant, 57, is mindful of criticism that he will be taking a kind of "stop the world. I want to get off" attitude if he leaves the United Nations at a time of deepening crisis for both the organization and world affairs.

But associates say that against this he has weighed a number of considerations both inside and outside the world organization.

Tremors Hit Mid-Alaska; No Injuries

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Two tremors that jolted central Alaska Tuesday were only 1-1,000th as strong as a devastating quake that hit the area two years ago, seismologists said.

But Alaskans, reminded of a quake that killed 113 persons and caused $300-million damage, rejected references to the tremors as being small.

The tremors were recorded two minutes apart, their epicenters placed in the Cordova-Valdez area of Prince William Sound. Little damage and no injuries were reported.

'Shriver Not Part of It'

Powell Pushes Poverty Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell proposed today a $95-billion, 10-year campaign "to raise black Americans to full equality — and said there is no room in his plan for Sargent Shriver, and poverty program director.

Shriver should resign as head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, perhaps to become undersecretary of state. Shriver said through a spokesman two days ago he does not intend to resign.

Powell suggested that a man like Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara or Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz be put in charge of an economic equality drive linking the war on poverty, manpower retraining and economic development. The Negro congressman said

DECLARES WAR — Rep. John H. Buchanan Jr., R-Ala., fed up with the mess and noise of starlings roosting in trees at his home in suburban Maryland has declared war on the birds. Armed with a shotgun loaded with birdshot, Rep. Buchanan sat on the steps of his house last night and squeezed off a few rounds, hoping to discourage the unwelcome visitors.

Farm 'Boom' Appears Over

MILLINGTON, N.J. (AP) — A funny looking scarecrow that goes boom every 15 minutes of the day and night does a pretty good job scaring birds and deer — but people, they're another story.

Residents of this town have had about enough of a two-foot long cannon used by farmer Philip Bardy to chase wild life from his fields.

"The dogs bark all night," one said, "the children cry and some people lie awake waiting for the damn thing to go boom — just like waiting for the other shoe to drop."

And go boom it does. The cannon is timed to boom automatically every 15 minutes.

In the daytime, the cannon is located near a cornfield to scare away blackbirds. At night, it's moved to a tomato and melon patch to frighten herds of deer that had fed there regularly until April 15 — the day it was installed.

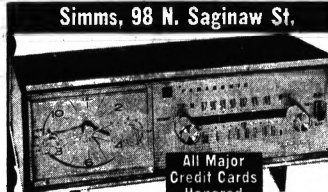

The Passaic Township Committee has issued Bardy a warning to "cease the operation of your noise-making device" but he has ignored it so far.

The farmer says he was given permission to use the cannon from the New Jersey Division of Wild Fish and Game after an inspector visited his field, shook his head and said, "You've got problems."

Bardy told of experiments in the past with strawmen scarecrows, noisemakers that clap together and strings of flapping multicolored flags. He said none worked.

Then he hit on the cannon. The cannon is operated with carbonated water and minerals which build up pressure and fire off the device periodically.

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary with a dinner hosted by their children for some 80 guests at Kingsley Inn Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Grogan of Berkshire Drive and Watkins Lake. Their children are Mrs. Stanley J. Janiczak, Mrs. James M. Maher, and son Donald F., all of Detroit; and Robert D. of Brookfield, Wis., Carl F. of Berkeley, and Mrs. John M. McClure of Livonia. On hand to enjoy the festivities is Mrs. Dan Grogan, 94, mother of Mr. Grogan, who resides with her son and daughter-in-law. The couple has 21 grandchildren.

Invitation Must Include Her Mate

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I were invited to a dinner party last week at the home of a woman who is a close friend of mine.

However, we hardly know her husband and I wondered if it were necessary to invite them both to dinner to repay her, or if it would be sufficient to ask her to a bridge party or luncheon—Mrs. C. Paton.

Dear Mrs. Paton: Asking your friend to a woman's party would scarcely repay her for her invitation to you and your husband.

You don't necessarily have to ask her to dinner, but whether you choose a barbecue, a cocktail party or whatever, the invitation must include him, too.

Dear Mrs. Post: I want to give my best friend a monogrammed pin for her birthday this month. However, she is planning to be married in December. Should I have the pin marked with her maiden or married initials?—Kathy.

Dear Kathy: It would be unwise and possibly unlucky to have a pin monogrammed with your friend's future married initials so far in advance of the wedding.

If you do not wish to choose a gift without a monogram, use her maiden initials. She can continue to wear the pin marked in this way after her wedding.

How to Plan and Budget Your Wedding: by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this brand-new, 16-page booklet will help in preparing for the perfect wedding.

Talk Before Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am money-minded when I probably should have only "love" on my mind, but I have a question to ask.

I am engaged to be married in December, and my fiancé and I have never talked about money. I know he has a good job, but I don't know how much he makes. I don't even know if he carries any insurance other than what he has on his car.

I work, and intend to work a while after I'm married, but I don't know if I should plan on supporting myself or not. Should we have a joint checking and savings account? Would it be wrong of me to bring up these things before we are married?

DECEMBER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: It would be wrong NOT to! Every couple should work out a budget together before marriage and decide how much to spend on rent, entertainment, insurance, clothing, and even daily allowances. And don't forget to anticipate vacations, illnesses, and accidents. (All kinds!)

To get your copy, send a quarter to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Well, our dear little neighbor girl was married barely seven months and she had this beautiful child with long fingernails and plenty of eyebrows. Everybody in town is talking, and the girl's mother really thinks it is a seven months' baby.

This girl finished college and had a lovely white wedding. Please put your answer in the paper.

WANTS TO KNOW
DEAR WANTS: You are off base a country mile and several months. Seven month babies DO have fingernails and eyebrows. And now, what's YOUR problem, lady?

DEAR ABBY: SQUEAMISH sure burned me up complaining because her own mother tasted the food with the same spoon she stirred it with!

I was glad you put her in her place, Abby, and told her by this time she surely must have developed an immunity to her mother's "germs." I wonder if it ever occurred to "SQUEAMISH" that all mothers "taste" their small children's food first to see if it's too hot for them to eat?

And I've yet to hear of the first baby dying of the disease called "MOTHER'S GERMS." Thanks.

They're One Step Ahead

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK — No sooner do you ask, "Why don't they?" than you find that they often have.

This column complained recently that it was time all stores adopted see-through packaging with the bottoms of meat and vegetable containers also clear so the shopper can check the total quality of the product.

Well, all stores haven't yet. But at least seven supermarket chains have, reports Tony Waldeyer of Monsanto, which makes plastic packaging.

Waldeyer writes that clear meat trays in assorted sizes are being used. Soon his firm will also market clear produce trays as well.

KEYS

That column also complained, why not attach small keys to the base of toothpaste tubes to roll the tube as the paste is used?

To which Mrs. Shirley Dvoretz of Flushing, N.Y., replied that she located one manufacturer, Crawford Industries of New York City, which makes keys of various sizes to fit tube sizes.

The keys ended for Mrs. Dvoretz "a particular nuisance . . . as my toothpaste tubes have always looked as though they have been trampled on, sat on, stepped on, and squeezed in as many different places as possible."

NEW COMPLAINT
Mrs. Charles L. Schmidt, of Rumson, N.J., wrote of her pet peeve. "Why," she asked, "don't they put catnip in wide-mouthed jars like mayonnaise, for instance? The first company who does that will have my patronage for life."

A. J. Omans Are in the North for Honeymoon

Airman 1C and Mrs. Andrew James Omans (Cynthia Ann Curtis) left for a northern honeymoon after recent vows and reception in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Curtis, Linda Vista Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Omans of Sylvan Lake.

Pearl-crested Alencon lace applique accented the bride's gown of white satin worn with illusion veil with floral crown. She carried white and pink roses.

With Kathy Curtis, her sister's maid of honor were Mrs. Thomas Kalush, Nancy Williams and Theresa Woolley as bridesmaids. John McIntyre was best man. Seating guests were Joseph Phillips, Michael Omans and William Curtis.

The new Mrs. Omans is a graduate of Oakland University. Her husband is stationed at Kincheloe AFB.

William J. Brinker Is Wed in Indiana Ceremony

Greeting their wedding guests in the Cutler's Chateau were the William John Brinkers (Marilyn Eileen Hardman) who were wed recently in St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Their parents are the Ray Hardmans, North Manchester, Ind., George H. Brinker, Edmore Drive, and the late Mrs. Brinker.

Belgian lace accented the bride's A-line gown of white linen and was gathered into a linen pillow for her floor-length veil of illusion.

Mrs. Robert Shortreed attended her sister at the double-ring rite performed by Rev. Emanuel.

With Howard Brinker, best man for his brother, were the ushers Donald Chezik, North Manchester, and William Warnhoff, Crown Point, Ind.

After a wedding-trip to northern Michigan, the couple will continue graduate studies at Indiana University in Bloomington.

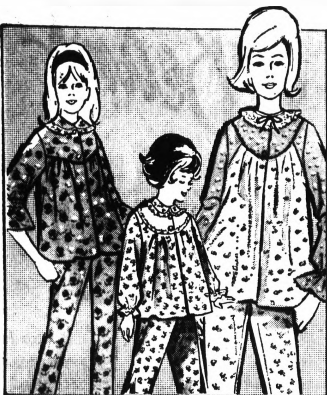

Wed recently in St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, Fort Wayne, Ind., were Marilyn Eileen Hardman, daughter of the Ray Hardmans, North Manchester, Ind., and William John Brinker, son of George H. Brinker, Edmore Drive and the late Mrs. Brinker.

2 State High Schools Launching a New Education Practice — Modular Scheduling

By BOB SOLT

PORT HURON (AP)—A kind of revolution in education, called a revolution in education, is about to envelop students, parents, teachers and others in part of this area.

On the surface, the opening of the Marine City and St. Clair American high schools this fall may look like any other school opening. But the opening day, and the year to follow, will be unlike any other as both high schools launch a new practice of education. On opening day the two high schools will have a program called "modular scheduling."

The program will have time pupils spend in supervised classrooms, nearly eliminate certain basic course requirements that have been part of the Marine City and St. Clair American education for decades, give students greater freedom and cut the time a student spends in the classroom by 20 to 40 per cent.

The program, says Edward Trudell, Marine City High principal, "puts an end to the old student attitude of 'Here I am, teacher. Teach me!'"

Under the program, students will have to learn that a principal or teacher is no longer in the back of the room. They must learn to control themselves and act with responsibility and maturity. Actually, this new approach is a frightening thing to them. But it also means that they will learn to take responsibility for what they learn to each subject, whether it was physics or typing. This is not tangle there will be 84 courses sensible it doesn't take every offered student the same time to learn. Classes have been added to a lesson. Also, it isn't realistic every department. But while the number of classes has been doubled, more than half of the course, whether it be physics or typing, should have the same length of time to teach it, Trudell said.

One of the new courses of speech, and U.S. history and government. Once the student meets these requirements and is assured of having the 22 credits stars all slowly wheeling about to graduate, he can make out a central axis. The earth's sun makes a full revolution every 230 million years.

Each parent must sign this 230 million years.

Sandwich Holds Lamb and Kraut

The new hero of the day is brush on the lamb as it broils or grills on skewers.

Cool, tangy kraut is a refreshing accompaniment for the barbecued lamb. The crunchy texture is ideal for sandwiches or a zesty relish. Seedless raisins and grated carrot are sprinkled throughout for added color and flavor.

Serve with vegetable relishes, icy cold milk and plump blueberries. And for convenience sake, use paper plates, napkins, cups and individual paper bowls for the fruit.

Shrimp and Rice Is Quick Dish

Saute cooked rice in butter until coated. Add chopped cooked shrimp, crisp bacon crumbles and 1 or 2 beaten eggs. Heat, stirring, then mix in chopped western iceberg lettuce.

Quickly pack into heated pyrex bowl. Unmold on a footed plate for an Oriental look. Serve at once.

Kraut-Lamb Heroes
 1/2 cup salad oil
 1/2 cup sauerkraut liquid or vinegar
 1 tablespoon salt
 2 teaspoons ginger
 1/2 teaspoon pepper

3 to 4 cloves garlic, halved
 2 pounds boned lamb shoulder, cut in 1/4-inch cubes
 2 cups well drained sauerkraut
 1/2 cup grated carrot
 1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
 8 long (7-inch) French or Italian rolls, split

Combine oil, kraut liquid, salt, ginger, pepper and garlic in bowl; add lamb. Cover and marinate several hours or overnight. Mix together kraut, carrot, raisins and mayonnaise; chill. Skewer lamb; reserve marinade.

Broil lamb kebabs 3 to 4 inches from heat source 5 minutes per side, or until desired doneness, brushing twice with marinade. Heat rolls. Fill with lamb and kraut relish. Makes 8 servings.

KRAUT-LAMB HEROES — An inviting new hero for backyard or picnics away from home consists of crisp, zesty kraut topped with broiled-to-perfection lamb cubes. The use of printed paper plates and cups makes the table colorful and the clean-up simple.

Light and Dark Either Way

Should you brown boneless cubes of beef or lamb when preparing stew? What about meaty bones for stew?

In either case, to brown or not to brown depends upon personal preference. Brown in lard or drippings or dredging in seasoned flour and then browning gives an attractive brown color to stew or stock. It does add flavor.

If you prefer a light colored stew, then simply cover the meat with water and simmer.

Some meats which are cooked in liquid are not browned. These include tongue, corned beef brisket (fresh brisket is often browned first, however), cured and smoked hams, kidneys and heart.

SHORT RIBS WITH FRESH PLUMS — Tart-sweet fresh California plums contrast deliciously with short ribs in this flavorful pot roast.

 Pontiac Press Food Editor

While I was getting material ready for this article on plums, I read that California grows 58 varieties and that there are 2,000 varieties in the world. I guess I won't enumerate them for you.

We see only a few kinds in local stores. I have bought red ones, yellow ones and purple ones. The green ones I haven't purchased yet.

The smooth little deep purple egg-shaped plums are Italian prune plums and the ones that are dried for prunes. But they are excellent to eat fresh and to use in recipes.

You usually have to let the fruit ripen a few days after you have bought it. Keep plums and other fresh fruit (and tomatoes) at room temperature, but not in the sun.

You and your family will enjoy these plum-good recipes.

FRESH PLUM PARFAIT

2 cups crushed unpeeled fresh plums

1 cup sugar or sugar to taste
 1/4 cup fresh orange juice
 1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

Vanilla ice cream
 Chopped nuts, optional
 Combine plums, sugar and orange juice in saucepan. Mix well. Bring to boiling point; reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 12 to 15 minutes or until sauce has thickened. Cool and stir in vanilla.

Arrange alternate layers of vanilla ice cream and Fresh Plum Sauce in parfait glasses, beginning with ice cream and ending with sauce. If desired, top with a few chopped nuts. Six servings.

Short Ribs

1/2 cup flour
 2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

5 to 6 lbs. short ribs, cut in serving-size pieces
 3 tablespoons oil
 1 cup beef broth

1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice

2 tablespoons cider vinegar
 12 fresh plums, halved
 Combine flour, salt and black pepper. Dredge short ribs in flour mixture. Heat oil in a large, heavy saucepan. Add short ribs, a few at a time, and brown on all sides. Add beef broth; cover and simmer slowly 1 hour.

Refrigerate overnight. Next day remove fat. Place short ribs on plate and reserve.

Add sugar, cinnamon, allspice and vinegar to liquid. Bring to a boil, stirring frequently. Boil 1 minute. Return short ribs to pot. Cover and simmer 1 hour or until tender. Add plums and cook 5 minutes longer. Yield: 6 servings.

Plum Fritters

14 fresh plums
 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon sugar
 1 cup evaporated milk
 1 egg
 Vegetable oil for frying

Wash and drain plums. Cut into halves, and remove pits. Pour vegetable oil into electric frypan to a depth of 1 inch and preheat to 300 degrees.

Meanwhile, sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together into a small mixing bowl. Mix evaporated milk and egg thoroughly using a whisk or fork. Add to flour mixture, mixing only until dry ingredients become moistened.

Dip each plum half into batter so that it is well coated, then fry in hot fat until golden brown, about 2 to 3 minutes on each side. Remove from pan and drain on paper toweling.

Serve hot with syrup or dust with confectioners sugar, if desired. Makes 28 fritters.

Ever saute cooked egg noodles in bacon fat? Delicious with Paprika Chicken!

Plum-Good-Eating Pie

4 cups halved, seeded fresh purple prune plums (about)

1 cup granulated sugar
 3 tablespoons flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg or mace
 2 tablespoons butter

2 tablespoons lemon juice
 pastry for double-crust pie

Cut plum halves once crosswise. Half fill pastry-lined 9-inch pie dish with purple plums. Mix together dry ingredients. Sprinkle half over fruit. Add lemon juice. Add remaining dry ingredients. Dot with butter.

Cover with crust with a few slits cut in center. Seal edges. Bake in 425-degree oven 35 to 45 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream, ice cream, hard sauce, or a nippy Cheddar cheese. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Spices and lemon may be omitted, with 2 tablespoons orange juice and 2 teaspoons grated orange rind used instead.

To freeze Purple Plum Pies: If freezing two-crust pies unbaked, do not cut slits in top crust. For lattice-top or other open design tops, first cover closely with foil or moisture-vapor-proof film, or freezer paper.

If baked, cool baked pies thoroughly, then wrap. Place level in freezer so juice won't leak out. Use within 4 months.

To use frozen Purple Plum Pies: If frozen unbaked, remove wrappings from frozen pie. Make slits in top crust. Bake at 425 degrees 40 to 60 minutes for Deep-Dish Pies and Two-Crust Pies. If frozen baked, remove wrappings from frozen pie. Heat in 375-degree oven 35 to 50 minutes for either type pie.
