

LBJ Vote Margin Nearing Record 15 Million

Romney Routs Staebler

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney, capitalizing on massive ticket-splitting and gassing a gash in Wayne County, won a second term yesterday and found himself in the national Republican spotlight.

Romney overcame a jarring Lyndon Johnson landslide in the Presidential column and routed Rep. Neil Staebler, thanks partly to votes from nearly 40 per cent of Johnson's backers.

Returns from 93 per cent of the state's precincts gave Romney 1,642,302 and Staebler 1,289,658.

The margin of more than 300,000 exceeded the biggest ever rung up by six-term Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who campaigned extensively on Staebler's behalf.

Williams had won by 290,313 in 1956—ironically another election where the opposition party President won easily.

Romney called his victory "a tremendous outpouring of citizen support for Michigan's unequalled record of progress under Republican leadership in state government."

Although Staebler led at several points early in the tabulating, the texture of the Wayne County returns showed that Romney was picking up more Negro and suburban votes than he did two years ago.

Then when outside reports showed him running as well or better than in 1962, the suspense was over, Staebler had predicted victory based on suburban gains but they never came.

Instead, for example, Romney carried suburban Macomb County with 53 per cent, up 7 per cent from 1962.

The governor did slip from 62 to 57 per cent in Southwestern (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 8.)

Landslide Near Proportions of '36 FDR Win

Sweep Strengthens Democratic Party's Hold on Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson's smashing landslide in the election sent his popularity margin soaring toward a record 15 million votes today. In triumph, he called for a united America facing the world as one.

In late morning, the one state still in doubt was Arizona, home of Republican Barry Goldwater who was deluged in the coast-to-coast tide of votes returning Johnson to the White House. Goldwater was leading in Arizona.

Johnson had won 44 states and the District of Columbia for a total of 486 electoral votes. He needed 270 to win.

Goldwater had five states—Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina—for a total of 47.

There had been nothing like this since 1936 when Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt carried all the states except Maine and Vermont.

AHEAD OF FDR

Johnson's sweep strengthened the Democratic Party's hold on Congress.

With 17 races still in doubt, the Democrats were assured of 281 seats in the House and the Republicans of 137.

SENATE RACES
In the Senate, the Democrats had 66 seats with holdovers and the Republicans 32.

Two Senate seats—in Ohio and Nevada—were still in doubt.

Republican Robert Taft Jr. had appeared in the early morning hours to be the winner in Ohio but late tabulations put Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young into a narrow edge with the final outcome uncertain.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, elected vice president with Johnson, planned to fly to Texas to meet with Johnson.

Senate Races Split in County

Latest Returns Point to Dem Upset in 17th

Late unofficial returns this morning indicated that Democratic and Republican candidates had shared the victory in the race for Oakland County's four State Senate seats in yesterday's election.

The most surprising outcome of the four contests was in the 17th District, where Pontiac Democrat Carl W. O'Brien defeated Lynn D. Allen, Pontiac optometrist, by 38,976 to 33,314 in unofficial returns.

The outcome was not certain until final returns were in. Waterford Township, the last tabulating in the district, gave Dr. Allen a 44-vote majority, but it was far short of the total necessary to overcome O'Brien's lead.

Dr. Allen polled 7,706 votes in Lapeer County to O'Brien's 6,121. Two Lapeer precincts were also late coming in.

In the 18th District, Robert J. Huber (R), mayor of Troy and member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, won easily over Donald J. Oberholzer of Clawson.

In the final count, Huber held a lead of 61,529 to 33,846. This included all 113 precincts in the district.

Another State Senate race that might possibly have had its outcome changed by final returns was in the 14th District, where Republican Paul M. Chandler of Livonia was the winner over his Democratic opponent, James McCarthy, also of Livonia.

The last unofficial count showed Chandler in the lead, 65,271 to 58,367, with 3 Oakland County precincts and one in Wayne County yet to be tallied.

Twelve Farmington Township precincts, as expected, returned a Republican majority, increasing Chandler's lead to (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 1.)

County Democrats Win Clerk, Prosecutor Posts

County Clerk-Register of Deeds David R. Calhoun was ousted from his job by voters yesterday while two other Republican incumbent county officers just barely retained their posts.

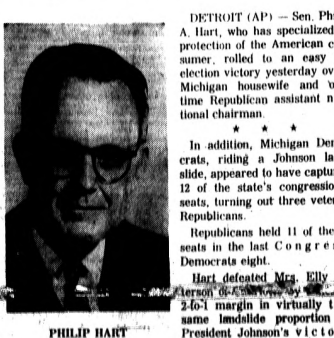

With all but several county precincts reported, results show that Calhoun, 52, lost to John D. Murphy, 50, a Royal Oak journeyman die maker who has 17 years of government experience, by a vote of 132,886 to 128,928.

The only incumbent to receive and then hold a substantial lead over his opponent was Sheriff Frank Irons, who defeated 27-year-old Ruel E. McPherson, a Hazel Park constable.

Just edging their opposition were Treasurer Charles A. Sparks and Drain Commissioner, Daniel W. Barry.

County Republicans had a difficult time in garnering any large margin over the challengers.

PHILIP HART

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, who has specialized in protection of the American consumer, rolled to an easy re-election victory yesterday over Michigan housewife and one-time Republican assistant national chairman.

In addition, Michigan Democrats, riding a Johnson landslide, appeared to have captured 12 of the state's congressional seats, turning out three veteran Republicans.

Republicans held 11 of the 19 seats in the last Congress; Democrats eight.

in the U.S. House of Representatives while Michigan's Auditor General Billie S. Farnum appears to have captured the new 19th District office.

While results of yesterday's elections were incomplete, unofficial totals showed that both men held considerable leads over their opponents.

Broomfield, in winning his fifth term, had received 109,677 votes to 74,681 garnered by his Democratic opponent Frank J. Sierawski of Ferndale, the assistant secretary of state since 1961.

Until the recent redistricting, all of Oakland County was represented by Broomfield.

Margin Very Slim for Supervisor Post

Waterford Township residents yesterday reelected their incumbent supervisor, James E. Seeterlin, by a slim 378 vote margin.

Voters also named an additional Republican trustee and returned to office their Democratic clerk and treasurer.

Seeterlin, a 38-year-old Democrat, lives at 497 W. Walton.

He outpolled his nearest Democratic rival, Frank Johnson, 34, of 3179 Mariner by 214 votes, and incumbent Charles Evans by 407 votes.

Evans, 43, of 370 Riviera, was seeking a second term of office. Richardson, of 6992 Bowley, was a former president of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

TOP VOTE-GETTER
Leading vote-getter among trustee candidates was incumbent Republican Loren Anderson, 44, of 2361 Edinburg.

Vote totals in the trustee race were—Anderson, 4,903; Richardson, 2,339; Johnson, 1,738; and Evans—7,339.

Dems Fulfill Boast to Win Legislature

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats made good Tuesday their boast of gaining control of the Legislature.

The Democrats took over the Senate, 24-14, and domination of the House was all but assured as returns trickled in early today.

The former minority party made inroads in the traditionally Republican southwestern corner of the state and broke two long-standing traditions in Kent County.

Former Grand Rapids Mayor Stanley Davis, became that city's first Democratic state representative since 1916, and Wyoming Democrat George Silemsa was the first member of his party ever to be elected to the legislature from the out-county area.

MORE MODERATE
Republicans and Democrats

alike say they expect the Legislature to take on a more "moderate" tone when it convenes next January. Through a gradual process of attrition, the so-called hard-line conservatives have been eliminated.

The last of these, Sens. Clyde Geerlings of Holland, John Sneekeins of Coldwater, and Paul Younger of Lansing, were defeated in the Sept. 1 primary. Sen. Elmer Porter, R-Blissfield, the 76-year-old dean of the Legislature, decided not to run when he found little left of his old district and strong candidates in surrounding districts.

A Democratic redistricting plan, approved shortly after the historic one-man-one-vote decision of the U.S. Supreme Court last June, was responsible for the sweeping changes in this year's legislative elections.

Democrats had predicted they would take about 60 House seats —superimposing the reapportionment plan on voting patterns of the past. They also planned on a near-tie in the Senate. Democratic estimates ranged from a 19-19 standstill to a 21-17 lead for President Johnson carried the state by a large margin as the result of heavy voting.

Democrats have pledged that they'll be more cooperative and kinder to the minority than the Republicans were. The Republicans have their doubts.

SURPASS HOPES

They did better than they dreamed possible, capturing 24 seats in the upper chamber. Every Senate incumbent survived the election in sharp contrast to the Sept. 1 primary in which eight incumbents lost their jobs.

Despite abnormally slow returns, Democrats were obviously gaining ground in the House. They won 53 seats in earlier returns to the Republicans 18, while Republicans were leading in 22—compared to the Democrats 15. Four districts were unreported.

The delay across the state was believed due in part to the same redistricting plan, which greatly increased the number of multi-county districts.

the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, said early today in Austin, Tex., that "no words were adequate to really express the feeling of this occasion."

"Most of all," he said, "I wish to be equal to your confidence and to the hopes of all of the people of America."

He said that now that the election is over Americans must "face the world as one."

FORGET DIFFERENCES

"I ask all those who supported me and all those that opposed me to forget our differences, because there are many more things in America that unite us than divide us."

Johnson won his first electoral vote in the state, defeating Goldwater in Republican bastions across the nation.

Maine and Vermont fell in his column as did usually Republican Kansas.

Only in the South, where he lost five states, and possibly in Arizona, did his surge fall in the sweep toward the greatest presidential victory of modern times in the largest ever in terms of votes rolled up and margin over his opponent.

The thundering Johnson wave hit the Republican party a shattering blow, engulfing moderates like Sen. Kenneth B. Keating in New York and conservatives like Rep. Bruce Alger of Texas.

But some party members who can be expected to take leading parts in the struggle control of the GOP survived the storm.

Standouts among these were Gov. George Romney who won reelection as governor while Johnson was carrying Michigan handily and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

EXTENT OF VICTORY

The extent of the far-reaching Johnson victory was shown by the count at 10 a.m.

"The popular vote totals gave Johnson 39,904,517, Goldwater 25,142,761."

AS EXPECTED
Johnson said the returns were going "about as we expected."

But he said he wanted to "see all the returns" before making a formal statement.

Mrs. Johnson, visiting old friends at a series of parties, thought it was "a once-in-a-lifetime night."

Law Retains State House Seat

Gaining his largest plurality in four campaigns, incumbent Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, was reelected to the State House of Representatives yesterday.

Law outpointed Mrs. Daniel Brucker (R), his Republican opponent, 16,560 to 6,935 in the race for the 62nd District seat.

According to the unofficial tally, the 58-year-old Law garnered a 9,625-vote margin.

Formerly active in Pontiac municipal government, Law of 27 Miami, served 12 years on the City Commission and two terms as mayor.

Mrs. Murphy, 344 W. Ingoles, is the treasurer of the County Council of Republican Women's Clubs. Her husband, Daniel, is chairman of the County Board of Auditors.

PONTIAC VOTERS
In the only other representative district involving Pontiac voters, a close race was fought in the 63rd District between James F. Carey, 42, of Troy and Robert J. Slingerland of Oakland Township.

Slingerland, of 3201 Lake George, Oakland Township, won 13,682 to 12,305 over Carey, 2681 Bluebrook.

Seven Pontiac precincts are included in the 63rd District. Slingerland defeated his GOP foe 15,901 to 8,127.

Incumbent Supervisor Top Local Vote Getter

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — With 9,723 voters backing his return to office, Supervisor Homer Case was the top local vote getter in yesterday's election.

All contests had been virtually decided in the primary election here, where Republicans face no opposition.

The only winner who was not an incumbent is Ann W. Sheldon, elected to a two-year term on the library board along with incumbent Ralph G. Hesler.

Mrs. Sheldon received 8,804 votes and Hesler 8,813. They had edged Fraser F. Hilder out of the running in the Sept. 2 primary.

All of the library board members appointed when the faculty was established in June of 1963 sought election except Philip Caldwell.

KEPT POSITIONS

Mary K. King, with 8,949 votes and Lucille W. Roehm, 8,701, retained their positions for six-year terms.

The four-year library board terms went to Betty F. Abbott, 8,878, and John B. Ramsey, 8,834.

Running behind Case as second highest vote recipient was Treasurer Arno L. Hulet, the only Township Board member who had faced opposition in the primary.

Hulet had won the Republican nomination over Chas. M. Ritchie and yesterday received a 9,530-vote endorsement.

OTHER TOTALS

Clerk Deloris V. Little was backed by 9,434 voters while Justice of the Peace Alice L. Gilbert polled 9,159 votes.

Totals for the two incumbent trustees were Samuel J. Reeve, 9,030, and Frank Swindell, 8,892.

Michigan's Berrien County, apparently because he would not endorse Republican presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The isolation from Goldwater, who, however, he did not endorse the nationally trounced GOP.

Last night, however, he would say only, "I got into this because I'm interested in serving the people of Michigan for another two years."

Staeble finally conceded defeat at 2:20 a.m. after earlier noting that Wayne County returns were running badly.

NOTED OTHERS
He said other Democratic victories were pleasing, but "as for the race for governor, it is now apparent that Gov. Romney has been reelected. The people of Michigan have spoken and we all abide by their verdict."

He pledged Democratic support to "all programs to build an even greater Michigan of the future."

The victory seemingly thrust Romney, 57, into the ranks of "moderate" Republican officeholders who want to redirect the party.

Even after his election in 1962, Romney had been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate. To be in such contention in 1968, however, he'll almost certainly have to win another election in 1966—either as U.S. senator or to a four-year term as governor.

SIGNIFICANT ISSUE

Through the campaign Staeble, 59, hit at what he called Romney's presidential aspirations. But the most significant issue was economic.

Who was responsible for Michigan's new prosperity? Staeble agreed with Romney that the state was booming. But while the governor said state decisions played a key role, Staeble maintained that decisions of the Kennedy-Johnson administration brought prosperity.

Staeble agreed with Romney that in less than two years Michigan had added $85 million in debt to $85 million in the black. But Staeble said pre-Romney nuisance taxes caused the difference.

Young Takes Lead Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrat Stephen M. Young eased back into a narrow lead at noon today in his cliff-hanging battle to hold his U.S. Senate seat against Republican Robert Taft Jr.

Young overcame an early and comfortable lead by the 47-year-old Taft, running from the start against a record tide of votes for President Johnson in Ohio's election.

The lead seeped several times under the weight of a heavy vote for Young from his home town of Cleveland.

Then, as the uncensored polling places narrowed, Young moved slowly ahead.

The network election service, tabulating returns, reported the peppery 75-year-old Young led Taft by 14,500 votes with only 18 precincts of the state's 13,485 left to be counted.

The secretary of state's office, also making an unofficial count, reported Young ahead by 8,668 votes with 215 precincts left to be accounted for.

Dems Run Strong in Major State Races

Secretary of State

Democratic Secretary of State James M. Hare, 54, won an unprecedented sixth term as he handily beat House Speaker Al-ison Green, 52.

Hare had a comfortable margin over Green with 4,419 of the state's 5,213 precincts counted. The vote at that time was Hare 1,738,455 and Green 839,984.

Hare ran strong in all sections of the state in overwhelming Green.

Hare, a former trustee officer in the Detroit public school system, has been one of the top vote getters in Michigan. He was successful in his first try for elective office when he won the secretary of state's job in 1954. He has held it longer than any other man and Tuesday won again.

The race between Hare and Green was one of the more colorful contests this year, pitting two veteran political figures against each other.

Attorney General

Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, 39, who jousted frequently on legal matters with Gov. George Romney in the past two years, was headed for reelection over Meyer Warshawsky, a South Haven attorney.

Blunt-spoken Kelley piled up a lead of more than 540,000 votes in returns from 4,419 of the state's 5,213 precincts.

Kelley, who won voter approval for a second full term, was in the headlines constantly as he and Republican Romney differed on many matters.

One of Warshawsky's chief charges against Kelley was that he deliberately obstructed the governor's program. The attorney general vigorously denied this.

Kelley's entry into politics came in an unusual way.

A native of Detroit and graduate of the University of Detroit law school, he forsook the big city after his graduation and moved to Alpena to set up a law practice.

He served as Alpena city attorney and as a member of the Alpena County Board of Supervisors. In 1961, former Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson tapped him for appointment to the attorney generalship when the then Atty. Gen. Paul Adams moved up to the State Supreme Court.

FIRST TEN
Kelley won his first term less than a year later.

Board of Education
Democrats gained all eight seats yesterday on the brand new State Board of Education which will take over policy-making duties for a public school system educating 1.9 million young people this year.

Winners of terms ranging from two to eight years included a Negro minister, three college teachers, an optometrist, a medical doctor, a lawyer and a public relations executive. One woman was among them.

Voters turned down a Republican slate that included three members of Republican Gov. George Romney's Citizens Committee on Higher Education, one of them a former congressman — Alvin Brantley of Owosso.

Bentley came closest to breaking the Democratic sweep, picking up 1,666,013 votes to 1,414,961 for Democrat Charles Morton, with 84 per cent of the precincts reported.

Elected to take office Jan. 1 were Charles Morton and Dr. Edwin Novak for eight-year terms. Marilyn Jean Kelly and Carmen L. Belli Quindt for four-year terms and Dr. Leon Fill and Donald M. D. Thurber for two-year terms.

TO SET COURSE
The Board of Education, created by the 1963 Michigan Constitution, will set the course for a school system that is spending some $350 million in state funds this year in educating the nearly 2 million youngsters from Kindergarten through 12th grade.

Court of Appeals

Democratic Lieut. Gov. T. John Lesinski won a seat on the new Michigan Court of Appeals in yesterday's election in which nine seats were at stake.

Detroit Traffic Court Judge John D. Watts and Grosse Pointe/Township Justice of the Peace John H. Gillis won the other two appellate court judgeships allocated to the Wayne County area.

State Sen. John W. Fitzgerald-R-Grand Ledge, had a sizeable lead in the race for the third district's top judgeship.

Voters were divided into three districts in the state, in balloting for the newly-created court. Three judges were to be picked from six candidates in each district in non-partisan races.

WSU, MSU Boards

Democrats won four new university policy-making jobs Tuesday — two each on the Michigan State University and Wayne State University governing boards, which were enlarged by the 1963 constitution.

Clair White and Frank Hartman were elected to the MSU Board of Trustees. William B. Hall and Benjamin Rose were selected for the WSU Board of Governors. All four posts are for eight-year terms starting Jan. 1.

The losers included three Republicans who had been appointed temporarily to the boards by Gov. George Romney and were seeking voter approval to keep their jobs.

Among these was Paul Bagwell, twice an unsuccessful candidate for governor. Bagwell was in the closest match, trailing White 1,419,496 votes to 1,076,965 with 83 per cent of the precincts reported in the MSU race.

The fourth Republican loss was Wilbur Brucker Jr., son of a former Michigan governor. The result gave Democrats a 6-2 margin on the eight-member MSU board and a 5-3 edge on the WSU board.

Massachusetts Ballot Loses in State

Proposal Trails in Most Areas

One of Hottest Issues in the Campaign

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan voters turned down Tuesday a proposal that they use the so-called Massachusetts-type ballot in future elections.

The referendum ran far behind in Wayne County and outstate.

With 4,342 of the state's 5,213 precincts counted, the proposal trailed by about 580,000 votes. The count at that time was 655,709 in favor of the change and 1,942,150 opposed.

Arguments over the merits or demerits were among the hottest of the campaign.

It was the first time in 14 years the voters had been asked to decide by popular referendum the merits of a bill passed by the State Legislature and signed into law by the governor. Democrats collected more than 300,000 signatures to force the referendum.

LAST TIME IN 1950

The last time this happened was in 1950 when voters approved a legislative proposal to permit sale of colored oleomargarine in Michigan.

Under the standard Michigan ballot — the one used in Tuesday's election — candidates were listed by office under a column headed by Democratic, Republican or one of the minor parties.

Having all the candidates in a single column made it easy for a voter to pull his party lever to vote a straight party ticket or mark an "X" on a paper ballot to do likewise.

Democrats, with their slogan "Make It Emphatic, Vote Straight Democratic," said the proposed change to the Massachusetts ballot would confuse voters, clog voting booths and hamper election machinery.

LISTED BY OFFICE

The Massachusetts ballot lists political candidates by office, with the party of each candidate listed in small type under his name. The voter must make each of his choices individually.

Supporters said that straight party ticket by going down the line and marking their choices for each office the Massachusetts ballot would give them more freedom to choose between candidates of different parties. Some Republicans would mean the new ballot proposed "the thinking man's ballot."

Republican Gov. George Romney, in urging adoption of the new ballot, said, "It would make voting more meaningful. It would mean that the voter has the responsibility not only to vote, but to vote intelligently and not blindly."

Dr. James Pollock, professor of political science at the University of Michigan, commented, "It should be pointed out that in Massachusetts and Ohio, to mention only two of the 17 states where the group ballot is used, political parties are not withered but are in fact strong and responsible as they are in Michigan."

Auto Strikes, Kills Boy, 9

Larry Newton Jr., 9, of 3547 Shaddock, Waterford Township, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a truck while on his way home from school for lunch.

The boy was hit by a car driven by Mrs. James Younger, 32, of 1354 Orchard, Waterford Township, on Cass Lake Road, 54 feet north of Shaddock.

Mrs. Younger told police that the boy darted in front of her northbound car on Cass Lake Road from the west side of the street.

Several witnesses substantiated Mrs. Younger's account of the accident, police said. The driver was not held.

The accident occurred at 11:15 a.m. The boy was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Service will be tomorrow at 11 a.m. at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, with burial in Evergreen Cemetery.

3 Circuit Judges Win by Wide Margins

Oakland County's three incumbent Circuit Court judges on yesterday's nonpartisan ballot were given two-year terms by a 2-to-1 majority.

Late unofficial returns showed Judge Arthur E. Moore leading the six candidates with a total of 114,798 votes.

Running neck-and-neck in second and third place were Judge James S. Thorburn with 91,572 votes and Judge Philip Pratt with 91,851.

Virtually out of the running were John E. McGrath, Waterford Township justice of the peace, who polled 51,894 votes; Allen C. Ingle with 51,301; and Southfield Mayor James Clarkson, who received 50,807.

There were still 3 precincts to be heard from at last count, but indications were that the leaders' positions would not be changed by final returns.

This was the first election to the circuit bench for all three of the winning candidates.

Judge Moore is senior judge in years of service, having held the office of Probate Court judge from 1938 until he was appointed circuit judge by Gov. George Romney early in 1963.

A resident of Royal Oak, he became the circuit's executive judge this spring, handling administrative affairs for the seven courts. He is 63.

Judge Thorburn, 44, practiced law in Oakland County for six years before receiving his appointment to the Circuit Court bench in September, 1963.

ARTHUR E. MOORE

Also a resident of Royal Oak, he is a past president of the Oakland County and South Oakland Bar associations and served as attorney for Huntington Woods, Pleasant Ridge and Birmingham School District.

Judge Pratt, 39, a resident of Pontiac, was appointed to the bench last year after 10 years of private law practice.

He is also a former president of the Oakland County Bar Association and is county chairman for Project Hope, a director and vice president of the Legal Aid Society and a director of the Religious Assistance Association.

All seven judges in the Oakland Circuit will be up for election in 1966 for 6, 8- and 10-year terms under the provisions of Michigan's new constitution.

Over 11,000 Votes for Probate Judge

Oakland County Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard, 50, was granted a six-year term in yesterday's election, running unopposed on the nonpartisan ballot.

Judge Barnard polled a total of 11,218 votes in Pontiac, but no official tally was kept in the county's remaining 309 precincts.

Appointed to the probate bench by Gov. George Romney in Feb., 1963, Judge Barnard served five years as a county corporation counsel before his appointment.

He entered law practice in 1941 after graduation from Detroit College of Law. A resident of Troy, he has held numerous township and city offices and is active in youth work.

APPARENT VICTORY

Chandler's apparent victory in County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin's bid for the 15th District Senate seat was highly successful. In the final count, he held an unofficial margin of 42,813 to 24,104 over Republican Berkley Mayor George W. Kuhn.

Levin took an early lead in the contest and his majority continued to widen as final returns trickled in.

attorney, Madison Heights Attorney S. Jerome Bronson won over the GOP candidate Robert L. Templin, 39, a senior assistant prosecutor 133,479 to 129,397, with all but Waterford Township reported.

Bronson, 34, of 23540 Seneca, Oak Park, was an unsuccessful candidate for the office in 1962 against George Taylor.

In 1960 Bronson failed in his bid for a state senate seat.

Sparks defeated Mrs. Lucille D. Marshall of 89 N. Sanford in her first attempt to gain a political office.

Stanley F. Dunn, 47, of 6635 Colby Lane, Bloomfield Township, lost to Barry. Dunn is an engineer. Barry is serving his fourth term in office.

VOTES NEEDED

Unofficial election totals indicated early this morning that Cathoon would have to pick up a number of Republican votes in unreported precincts but the margin he received in this was never enough to offset his opponents' lead.

Cathoon, prior to being appointed clerk in January, had served as the mayor of Huntington Woods for 13 years and had served as the chairman of the Board of Supervisors Drain Committee.

He is a past president of the Michigan Municipal League.

Murphy of 716 Catalpa has been active in the Democratic party for 32 years. In 1938 he defeated the incumbent senator in the primary in the 4th district and then lost the election by a few hundred votes.

FIRST JOB

His first job following high school was a page in the Michigan House of Representatives during the administration of Gov. C. G. Connelley.

He was then employed as a clerk in the Wayne County Clerk's office for two years and from 1935 to 1939 was right-of-way record clerk in the land and legal division of the board of Wayne County Road Commission.

Barry Aide Is Defeated in Arizona Bid

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A top aide to presidential nominee Barry Goldwater went down in defeat in Arizona, and Goldwater had a diminishing lead today.

A third member of the Goldwater camp, three-term Gov. Paul Fannin, was holding on to his edge against Democrat Roy Elson in the race for Goldwater's Senate seat.

The loser was gubernatorial hopeful Richard Kleindienst, a 40-year-old Phoenix attorney and chief delegate-gate in Goldwater's push for the presidential nomination.

His conqueror was Democrat Sam Goldard, a 45-year-old lawyer-businessman from Tucson. Goldard had beaten two years ago in a similar try for the statehouse.

Barry Congratulates LBJ; Won't Quit GOP Control

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater wired his congratulations today to President Johnson, landslide victor in the presidential race. Despite his overwhelming loss, the beaten Republican made it clear he intended to remain at the helm of the Republican party.

The Arizona senator said he will have plenty of time to devote to leading and strengthening the party, "being unemployed as of Jan. 3."

And that, Goldwater said, is what he intends to do.

"I don't feel that the conservative cause has been hurt," he said.

Goldwater said 1968 is a long time off. But, "As of now, I would think they would probably pick another man to run."

FINE WITH HIM

"But, as of now, that would be fine with me."

He said the traditional role of the national ticket, even a beaten one, is to strive, lead and strengthen the party.

"I have no bitterness, no rancor at all," Goldwater said after he strolled to the rostrum of the plush Desert Motel, smiling despite his overwhelming defeat.

OFFERS HELP?

In his telegram to Johnson, Goldwater said:

"Congratulations on your victory. I will help you in any way I can toward achieving a growing and better America and a secure and dignified peace."

"The role of the Republican party will remain in that temper, but it also remains in the party of the opposition when the opposition is called for."

"There is much to be done in Viet Nam, Cuba, the problem of law and order in this country and a productive economy."

"Communism remains the number one obstacle of peace, and I know all America will join you in an honest solution of these problems," Goldwater said.

PARTY WORK

Goldwater told newsmen and a television audience he thought his role in the party would be to work with leaders in Congress and to raise funds for the party.

The Republican nominee said, "Being unemployed, I will have a lot of time to devote to the party."

Goldwater said his defeat, "to some degree, although not a major degree," was caused by Republicans who would not work for the top of the ticket.

Speaking of the turnout for Johnson, Goldwater said, "he did a wonderful job, and as a politician I have to congratulate him for it."

Republicans Get Solid Support From Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama voters, angrily forsaking the Democratic party, have given Barry Goldwater the state's 10 electoral votes and his Republican followers five seats in Congress.

Three veteran Democratic congressmen and two state legislators running for the U.S. House on the Democratic ticket fell behind the crushing weight of the Goldwater landslide. One Democrat survived.

Never since the post-Civil War years of 1872 had anyone but a Democrat been sent to Congress from Alabama. And never in those 92 years had a Republican won a statewide election.

3 Main Factors Sparked LBJ's Landslide Victory

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans of all races, ethnic groups and economic levels joined to hand Lyndon B. Johnson one of the most lopsided presidential victories in history. Only the Deep South stood aside.

A study of election returns in selected precincts by NBC's AP Analysis Electronic Vote Analysis showed three major factors in Johnson's landslide win: —The so-called white backlash among ethnic groups and others upset by desegregation troubles had no significant effect. —As expected Johnson won 88 per cent of the Negro vote, almost 20 per cent better than the Democratic total in 1960.

'FRONTLASH'

—Well-to-do persons normally found in the Republican camp voted for Johnson by the thousands. This "frontlash" of Republicans turning away from Sen. Barry Goldwater was a key factor as a Democratic presidential candidate carried large numbers of major suburban communities for the first time.

Johnson piled up increased margins over the 1960 vote for the late President John F. Kennedy in every area — and with almost every group of voters — in his unparalleled sweep of New England, the middle Atlantic states and the industrial Midwest.

He ran about 12 per cent higher than Kennedy in the big cities of these northern areas and 16 to 17 per cent better elsewhere.

Here are some samples of his votes in the normally Republican suburban areas: In the New York City suburbs, Johnson received 59 per cent of the vote in selected precincts: in Buffalo, 66 per cent; in Pittsburgh 70 per cent; in Philadelphia 56 per cent; in Denver, 60 per cent.

STRONGEST SUPPORT

His support ran strongest in the low and middle income segments but also sharply trimming Republican totals among high income voters.

Even among ethnic groups, where Goldwater strategists expected a backlash to develop, Johnson showed slight gains.

A check of selected precincts showed 79 per cent of Slavic voters going Democratic, Irish voters by 85 per cent and Italian voters by 74 per cent — all up one per cent over 1960.

Goldwater's strategy was to try to turn out the vote in normally Republican areas, work on ethnically mixed groups in key industrial areas and a sweep of the normally Democratic South.

BACK LBJ

But 45 of the most Republican counties in the nation gave 51 per cent electoral vote to Democrat John Johnson.

Goldwater carried only the Deep South states of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Georgia. Except for Georgia, these states gave Johnson the vast majority in 1948 to the States Rights party.

Johnson ran from 1 to 3 per cent ahead of the Kennedy total in Southern cities, suburbs and smaller towns, but trailed about 3 per cent in rural areas, where Goldwater's civil rights stand apparently had its strongest appeal.

In big Northern cities, Johnson carried 74 per cent of the vote. He ran up a 61 per cent margin in major cities of the West. Both represented increases of about 10 per cent over 1960.

NORTHERN SUBURBS

In Northern suburbs, Johnson rolled up 63 per cent, up 17 per cent. He chalked up another 17 per cent gain — to 66 per cent — in smaller towns. He drew 63 per cent of the votes, up 16 per cent, in rural areas.

In the West, Johnson showed a 12 per cent gain in the suburbs to 60 per cent; an 11 per cent gain in smaller towns to 59 per cent, and a 16 per cent jump in rural areas to 60 per cent.

The only area where Johnson trailed Goldwater badly was in the 100 or so counties of the South where Negroes are a majority of the population, but relatively few vote. Here, the Republican garnered about two-thirds of the vote — some 26 per cent higher than the 1960 Republican total.

It was in this black belt area that Goldwater's civil rights stand had its strongest appeal among white voters.

PAST SERVICE

Broomfield, 42, is a native of Royal Oak, and served in the Michigan House of Representatives from 1948 to 1954 and in 1953 was chosen the youngest speaker pro tem in the state's history. He later served on a term in the State Senate.

He is a proponent of a firmer foreign policy in Southeast Asia and is the ranking minority member of the Far East and National Security subcommittees.

A former deputy state chairman of the Democratic Party, Farnum, 48, of 3083 Landowood, Waterford Township, has served as assistant and deputy secretary of state.

From 1952-54, he was administrative assistant to the late U. S. Senator Blair Moody.

GOP Leader Urged to Quit

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Republican National Committee Chairman John Martin declared today that Dean Burch should resign as the "near disaster" we have just been through.

Asked who should take the lead in bringing the party back to its electoral roots, Martin said that the party should be reorganized.

"We should start by asking Sen. Goldwater to urge Dean Burch, who was chosen as chairman of the national committee at the senator's request to resign."

"This would permit the national committee to select its own chairman who will not represent to the country the policies and programs which have been so overwhelmingly defeated in the election just completed."

Martin said the San Francisco convention committed the party to "an extreme course with which the people had no sympathy."

Lack of Unity Hurt Republicans—Miller

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — William E. Miller said lack of party unity contributed to the crushing defeat he and his Republican runningmate, Barry Goldwater, suffered Tuesday.

He said the refusal of many state and local Republican candidates to support the national ticket tended to "weaken the Republican position from top to bottom."

However, Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee, said he would make no official statement on President Johnson's landslide election victory until after word from Goldwater.

Miller said he talked by telephone with Goldwater Tuesday night, and they agreed not to comment until the GOP standard bearer had an opportunity to "analyze the vote."

TO FLY HOME
An aide said Miller, a congressman who did not seek reelection to the House, would comment briefly and then fly to his home in Bethesda, Md.

He and his wife, Stephanie, were scheduled to leave Greater Buffalo-International Airport at 2 p.m. aboard the chartered airliner in which they had campaigned.

Miller napped Tuesday afternoon and was sleeping at 5 p.m. when Goldwater called him the first time from Arizona. Miller was not awakened, and the two talked later in the evening.

Miller enjoyed a beef stew dinner and then appeared briefly in the press headquarters behind the home of Raymond J. Lee, election night headquarters for the Miller staff.

NEWS SCANNED
Miller scanned Associated Press copy in the two-car garage that served as a press center.

"Reading more now and enjoying it less," quipped a newsman who had traveled with Miller during the campaign.

Miller laughed and said, "Who's that fellow with a sense of humor?"

VP-Elect Humphrey Joyous in Victory

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey flew to the side of President Johnson today, given an overwhelming mandate to stand "a heartbeat away from the presidency."

He leaves his home state with a parting jibe for Sen. Barry Goldwater, who went to bed Tuesday night refusing to concede the election although Democrats were piling up a landslide.

Triumphantly addressing a weedy but cheery audience in a hotel ballroom hours after midnight, Humphrey joshed: "I think it's a victory, you know. I don't want to disturb anyone's sleep, but I think it is."

Thus the Senate has lost its majority whip and the chief legislator of much of major legislation. Hubert Humphrey, 16 years a senator, moved to the head of the class with the constitutional authority to preside over it and vote in case of ties.

MUCH EXPECTED
But those closest to Humphrey expect he'll be doing a lot more than that under Johnson's leadership.

"They'll work as partners; you wait and see," said one Humphrey associate.

NOW HUMPHREY'S life changes. After he is inaugurated Jan. 20, he'll receive a $50,000 annual salary instead of a senator's $30,000.

Already the trappings of high office have begun to show. Staff and press aides traveling to Texas with Humphrey were ordered by the Secret Service to carry their own luggage to the hotel lobby — to obviate the risk of someone's oblique a bomb in a suitcase.

AGENTS WATCH
About a dozen agents watched over a crowded ballroom as Humphrey attended a victory celebration replete with a crowded buffet and champagne.

They flanked him and his wife as they departed for their suite and less than four hours of sleep before leaving for Texas in "The Happy Warrior," the plane in which Humphrey waged his successful campaign.

Humphrey will travel for the next four years with a Secret Service escort. It joined him unobtrusively during the night.

Humphrey had been expecting an overwhelming victory — and when he got it he was bubbling with happiness.

He thanked Republicans who voted Democratic, his wife, President Johnson's wife, campaign workers and President Johnson.

LBJ'S NIGHT
"This is President Johnson's night," he said. "This is his."

Sylvan Lake Elects Two Councilmen
Sylvan Lake voters yesterday elected two councilmen from a field of five candidates, approved a charter amendment and elected a justice of the peace.

A constable candidate, Frank Stott, received 714 votes. He was unopposed for the two-year term.

John D. McKinlay and Thomas J. McHugh, topped the council race with 485 and 453, respectively.

Other candidates included Fred Grossman, 343; Kenneth Meredith, 286; and John F. Roeper, 256.

The justice of the peace post went to Anthony Kreps. He polled 600 votes, defeating John C. Houston with 289.

THE CHARTER
The charter amendment proposal passed 42 to 32.

The amendment imposed a tax limitation on general fund levies of one per cent of the city's assessed valuation as equalized.

style's 25 electoral votes by capturing 63 per cent of the popular vote, a landslide in the pattern established by Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1930's and 1940's. Late tabulations showed Johnson with 1,479,079 votes, Sen. Barry Goldwater with 870,169.

victory, and therefore it is also yours, because he works for you."

He said Johnson "has truly touched the hearts of the American people."

After a day and a night at the Johnson ranch, Humphrey plans to return to Washington Thursday, then take his family to the Virgin Islands, where "I'm going to be downright lazy for a while."

apportionment, there were no incumbent congressmen.

They also returned five of their current members. Two were eliminated when thrown into primary fights with fellow Democrats through reapportionment. Another ran for governor and lost.

Weston E. Vivian's margin was razor thin over the second district, which sent Meador to Congress 14 years ago. A recount appeared in the office, no matter the final count.

The Ann Arbor News said with only two precincts missing, its figures gave Vivian an edge of 77,052 to 75,310. One of the newspaper's missing precincts in Livingston County, the other, in Monroe.

Network Election Service, with six precincts missing, gave Vivian the edge: 75,435 to 73,918. All the missing NES precincts were in Monroe County, Vivian's best in the district.

Vivian, however, declined to claim victory on the basis of returns available to him. Meador, who voted against the Civil Rights Act, could not be reached for comment.

Democrat Raymond F. Cleveland of Salit State, Marie continued adding today to an 11th district lead that surpassed 12,000 over Knox. But these returns were in question, although both the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News and Marquette Mining Journal said their count indicated defeat of Knox. At 65, Knox is the state's oldest House member and a 14-year veteran.

With 26 precincts missing the conservative Johnson of Battle Creek trailed Paul H. Todd of Kalamazoo 74,668 to 69,348 — a difference of 5,320.

The Battle Creek Enquirer & News said Johnson lost his home county, Calhoun, by some 6,000 votes. The Kalamazoo Gazette reported Todd carried his home county by 5,310.

A late rush carried Republican Rep. James Harvey of Saginaw to victory over his Democratic challenger, State Treasurer Sanford Brown, in a race that saw-sawed much of the time.

Harvey was the seventh GOP incumbent to win back his seat. The four districts left without a congressman through reapportionment all chose Democrats.

John Conyers Jr. of Detroit in the First, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie in the Seventh, State Auditor General Billie Farnum in the 19th, and William D. Ford in the 15th.

cumbent clerk Elmer Fangbner and treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson, both Democrats, were swept into office by wide margins.

Fangbner outpolled his Republican opponent, David S. Smith, by 1,311 votes.

FORMER FIRE CHIEF
The 56-year-old Fangbner, of 3327 Meinrad, is a former Waterford fire chief. Smith, 42, of 3791 Aquarina had served as a township constable.

Fangbner's total was 5,419 to Smith's 7,108.

The 52-year-old Mrs. Olson of 3599 Shoal, defeated her opponent Mrs. Lillian A. Weber, 43, of 4171 Windlate, by 1,532 votes.

Mrs. Olson has been treasurer for the past 7 1/2 years.

JUSTICE TEST
In the contest for 4-year term for justice of the peace incumbent Patrick K. Daly, 35, of 4630 Irwindale, defeated Republican David C. Hertler, 36, of 6252 Waking Lane.

Daly polled 8,333 votes to Hertler's 7,609.

In the race for the 3-year JP term Republican Kenneth H. Hemphstead, 35, of 2660 Walton, polled 7,892 votes to 7,272 for Democrat Robert G. Siaslock, 37, of 363 Tilmor.

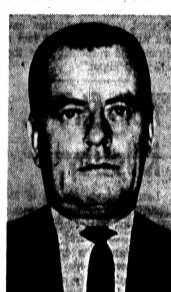

Winning candidates in the constable race were Democrats Donald F. Coffey, 46, of 1160

Wins Senate Post With Ease

Kennedy Unseats Keating in New York

NEW YORK — (AP) — Democrat Robert F. Kennedy won the U.S. Senate seat from New York in Tuesday's election, defeating incumbent Republican Kenneth B. Keating.

Kennedy, 38, who gave up his post as U.S. attorney general and moved to New York to run against Keating, thus became the third son of patriarch Joseph P. Kennedy to be elected to the U.S. Senate.

Kennedy's margin did not approach that of President Johnson, who overwhelmed

Sen. Barry Goldwater in New York.

But while winning as expected in Democratic New York City, Kennedy also ran well ahead of Keating in many normally Republican upstate counties.

In New York City, Kennedy ran ahead of Keating by a 3-2 margin. Keating, a 64-year-old Rochester lawmaker running for his second term, had expected a heavy Republican turnout upstate to counter this. It did not materialize.

It appeared Kennedy would carry the state by a plurality of more than 500,000 votes.

His late brother, John F. Kennedy, who also served in the Senate, carried New York by 384,000 votes in winning the presidency four years ago.

By winning, Robert Kennedy joins his younger brother, Edward, who was reelected Tuesday night as senator from Massachusetts.

With 8,078 election districts

BIG LBJ VOTE
But his margin was not likely to match the all-time 2.5-million vote plurality amassed by Johnson in the state.

The Conservative party candidate, Henry Pataki, received only a relative handful of votes and conceded an hour and 10 minutes after the polls closed. Had the race been close, his votes could have been decisive. But it wasn't close.

Kennedy was surprised by his strong upstate vote. And where Keating was ahead, his margin was thinner than he had expected.

Keating, considered a liberal Republican who had served in both houses of Congress, had campaigned against Kennedy charging him with being a "carpetbagger," who came to the state to seize it as a base for furtherance of his political ambitions.

Kennedy, who had not lived in New York long enough to be able to vote for himself, campaigned against Keating's record, charging it was not as liberal as supposed.

45 Cuba Defectors

Await Transfer to U. S.

OTTAWA (AP) — The Immigration Department says 45 Cubans who defected at Gander, Nfld., will be moved to Halifax pending their entry into the United States.

First reports had given the number of defectors as 44. They walked off a Cubana airliner en route to Prague from Havana when it stopped at Gander for fuel and minor repairs.

SPEAKS AT RALLY — Former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy speaks from the rostrum at a Democratic rally in New York early today after he was conceded the state's U. S. Senate seat that was held by Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating. At his side is his wife, Ethel. On the platform with the pair are his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith.

Dem Congress Victory Reminiscent of New Deal Era

Amazon Dwarfs All Rivers; Shatters Earlier Estimates

WASHINGTON — Scientists who measured the Amazon River's pulse have determined, for the first time, just how big is this biggest of rivers.

Previous estimates had placed the Amazon's volume of flow at about seven times that of the Mississippi. But no one knew for certain.

Last year, hydrologists from the United States Geological Survey, cooperating with the Brazilian government, surveyed the Amazon's waters at various points and at different seasons.

They discovered that the Amazon is actually about 12 times larger than the Mississippi, the National Geographic Society says.

The surveyors found that the Amazon discharges 3.4 billion gallons of water into the Atlantic Ocean each minute, and that its average flow is 7.5 million cubic feet per second — enough to flood an area the size of Texas to the depth of one inch in one day.

By contrast, the Mississippi's average discharge at the mouth is 620,000 cubic feet per second.

Measurements were taken in Brazil at Obidos, 600 miles inland, and at Manaus, at most 900 miles upstream, at the height of the high-stage flow in July and at the low-stage season in November.

Between Obidos and the Amazon's mouth, the hydrologists discovered at least 10 locations where the depth exceeds 300 feet, putting the bed of the river well below sea level.

Besides measuring the rate of flow, the survey team made cross sections of the river at both Obidos and Manaus. At Obidos, the river is 7,500 feet wide and nearly 200 feet deep at the deepest point. Here, on July 16, 1963, was registered a flow of 7.6 million cubic feet per second.

Profiles of the river's bottom, taken with a fathometer, showed it to be mostly a series of sand dunes, rippling over long stretches with underlying layers of dense, gray clay.

Top water in most United States cities is not as chemically pure as that of one of the Amazon's major tributaries, the Rio Negro, the scientists reported.

Above Manaus, the Rio Negro's water was nearly the equivalent of distilled water, and the survey team drank from the river without qualm.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The people have given President Johnson a heavily Democratic Congress that seems so snug behind his program it may evoke memories of those early New Deal congresses that whisked through the proposals of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The new Congress also will feature names that come from the past but may augur power in the future — those early New Deal congresses that whisked through the proposals of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Besides these and other new names in the Senate, the big story of the congressional election was the creation of a House that seemed to shed most of its obstacles to a Johnson program.

This came despite some spectacular Republican gains in the House. They snared seats in the once mighty Democratic Dixie-land of Alabama and Mississippi.

But for the most part, these were votes that rarely ended up on the side of Johnson legislation anyway.

SPECTACULAR GAINS

The Democrats made spectacular gains of their own — upsetting Republicans, for example, in their once-safe bastion of Iowa — and these gains were sure to have heavy impact on the legislative picture.

The House appeared ready to lose its role as a roadblock to such controversial legislation as medical care for the aged, the Appalachian poverty program, and area redevelopment projects.

Kennedy, the 38-year-old brother of the late president John F. Kennedy, took a Senate seat by pushing aside the reelection bid of Kenneth B. Keating, a white-haired Republican who steadfastly refused to endorse Barry Goldwater for president but still fell under the Johnson tide in New York.

Joining Kennedy in the Senate was another young man who swept a Republican incumbent out of office — 36-year-old Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland, a close friend of the Kennedy family and the stepson of former Maryland Senator Millard Tydings.

KENNEDY WING

Kennedy, Tydings and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the 32-year-old youngest brother of the late president who easily won reelection, could form a new, powerful Kennedy wing both in the Senate and in the Democratic party.

But this new wing will not include one whom some observers once considered a sure member — Pierre Salinger. The portly former press secretary of both presidents Kennedy and Johnson — already a senator from California by appointment — was defeated by George Murphy, the former Hollywood song and dance man, who stopped Salinger's bid to win the California seat by election.

By early morning, the Democrats had won 26 of the 35 Senate seats at stake, taking three seats from the Republicans. The Republicans had won eight seats taking two from the Democrats.

AT LEAST 66

This would give the Democrats at least 66 seats in the new Senate — the same as they had going into yesterday's election.

With the final totals still to come in the House, the Democrats had won 264 of the 435 seats, a clear majority. In doing so, they took away 32 Republican places. The Republicans had won 121 seats, gaining nine from the Democrats.

Despite the Republican gains in the South — they picked up five seats in Alabama and one in Mississippi — they dropped their only two Texas House seats.

Both Reps. Bruce Alger and Ed Foreman were upset by Democrats in the President's home state.

ANOTHER SEAT

The Democrats, besides their victories in New York Maryland, picked up another Senate seat in New Mexico, when Rep. Joseph M. Montoya, a veteran of eight years in the house, defeated the Republican incumbent Sen. Edwin L. Mechem.

The Republicans were disappointed when Bud Wilkinson who won so many football games as coach at the University of Oklahoma, failed to win his first contest for public office.

An Oklahoma state senator, Fred R. Harris, defeated Wilkinson in the race for Oklahoma's U.S. Senate seat.

Several familiar Republican names will be gone from the House list next year, including Rep. Ben Jensen, R-Iowa, the ranking Republican on the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

OTHERS MISSING

Others include Reps. Louis C. Wyman of New Hampshire, John R. Pillion of New York, and Earl Wilson of Indiana.

Missing Democrats will include Reps. Arthur Winstead of Mississippi, George Grant of Alabama, and George Huddleston of Alabama.

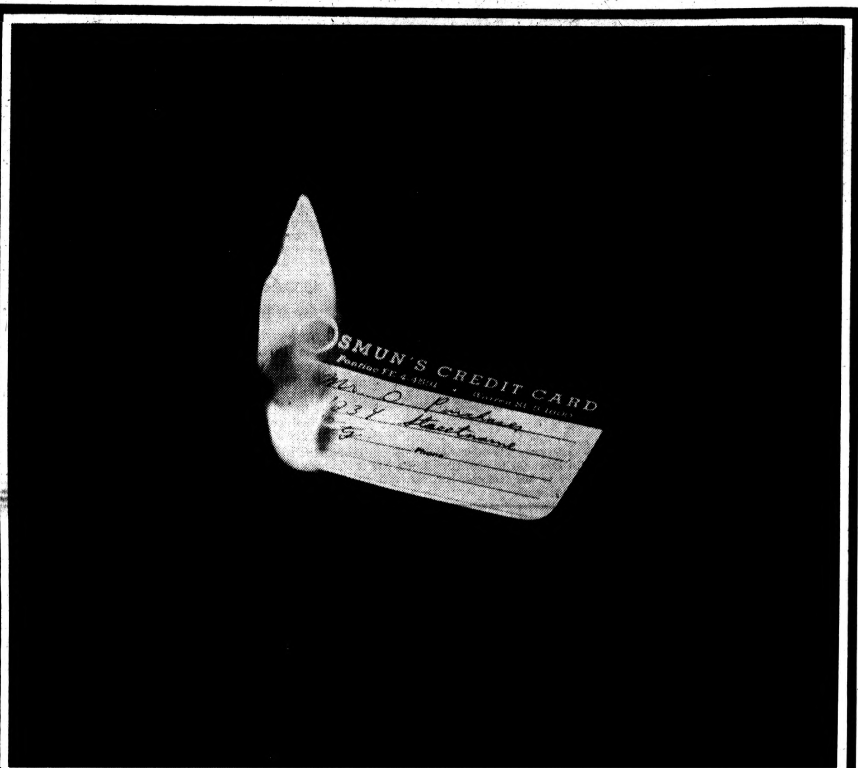

Although Keating was defeated, some moderate Republicans survived the Johnson landslide, including Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Sen. Hiram Fong of Hawaii.

Rep. John V. Lindsey of New York and a number of other house Republicans who refused to endorse Goldwater won reelection.

CHANCE TO PURGE

The gains by northern Democrats and the losses by Southern Democrats indicate a greater chance for success than ever before next year when Democratic liberals in the House try to purge those Democratic Southerners who supported Goldwater in the campaign.

Reps. John Bell Williams of Mississippi and Albert Watson of South Carolina are the targets of the Democratic liberals, who may be a majority within the Democratic party in the House for the first time.

Barry Carried Dixiecrat States

2-Party System Negligible in the South

By JULES LOH
Analysis of Sen. Barry Goldwater's sweep of five southern states offered little evidence today that a meaningful two-party system now exists in deep Dixie. Four of the five were the same ones which abandoned their Democratic traditions in 1948 under the States Rights party banner, and for the same basic reason: opposition to civil rights.

In both cases, the bolt was essentially from a political party rather than toward one.

The Southerners' dilemma now is:

• Will the Republican party, which faces a long winter of readjustment after Goldwater's crushing defeat, accept them?

• If not, will the vote-rich Democratic party take them back?

This time, Georgia joined in the defection with the original four — Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina — and surely it is the Georgia victory which Goldwater savors most.

ONLY STATE

Until yesterday, Georgia was the only state in the nation since reconstruction, which had never deserted the Democratic party.

There, where Negroes are represented in the state legislature and make up 23 per cent of the registered voters, the racial issue was only one of several. There was, primarily, the broad contest between liberalism and conservatism.

Georgia, especially its Old South agricultural areas where Goldwater gained much of his support, traditionally has been recognized as much for its conservatism as for its peaches.

An analysis of the Southern vote shows that Negroes threw more than 91 per cent of their support to the once despised Democrats, and whites in the rural areas joined the newcomers to the urban South who voted Republican.

LED ATLANTA

President Johnson ran well ahead of Goldwater in Atlanta but behind in the rest of Georgia. In 1960 the late President Kennedy split with Richard M. Nixon in Atlanta but Kennedy got 70 per cent of the rest of the vote.

In Alabama and Mississippi, where state political machinery was turned over to Goldwater forces, the Democratic defection was virtually complete.

Alabama voters elected Republicans, Goldwater supporters all, in five of six congressional races, in three cases defeated Democratic incumbents.

In Mississippi, Republican Prentiss Walker, a one-time Democrat, won that state's only congressional contest, defeating incumbent William A. Winstead.

FIRST REPUBLICAN

In Georgia, Howard H. Callaway became the first Republican congressman in 90 years, though Democrats won the other five congressional contests.

In Florida, two Republicans, both incumbents, won reelection.

In the other six states of the old Confederacy — Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Florida and Texas — voters lined up more solidly Democratic than many had been in years.

Tennessee, Florida and Virginia had gone Republican the three previous presidential elections, and Texas joined them in 1962 and 1966.

This time President Johnson led such an onrush of Democratic power that it spilled over into the border states.

Kentucky, for example, in the Republican column the past two elections, gave Johnson the greatest margin in the state's history.

In the South's few pockets of traditional Republicanism, Goldwater failed to match Nixon's 1960 support.

A check of 15 selected precincts showed Goldwater with 72 per cent of the vote, 6 per cent less than Nixon.

BIG CITIES

In the South's big cities, Goldwater ran 2 per cent behind Nixon.

If evidence of a viable two-party system was lacking in the South generally, there was at least one historic breakthrough.

Four Negroes in Macon County, Ala., which has a Negro voting majority, were elected to county offices. Three other Negroes, running as independents, were defeated by white opponents.

Seeking Industries in Need of Water

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Louisville, where the flooded Ohio River caused heavy damage this spring, is advertising for industries that need lots of water. For industrial use, that is, not floodwater.

In a newspaper advertisement, the city boasted that "not one single Louisville industry closed its doors" despite the third-worst flood in a century. The ad asserted that water pumped from the river can fill the needs of almost any manufacturer.

Negro Party Falls Short of Vote Goal

DETROIT (UPI) — The "Negroes only" Freedom Now party fell far short of its hoped-for 100,000 vote total in its first time on the Michigan general election ballot yesterday.

With the statewide returns almost complete, the party's candidate for governor, the Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr. of Detroit, had less than 1 per cent of the total gubernatorial vote.

At that, Cleage was far and away the biggest vote puller on the Freedom Now slate, which included 10 other candidates for state office, three for Congress, and a full complement for Wayne County offices.

The party, founded on the belief that Negroes can only win political power through their own political party, had caused Democrats to worry that in a close election Freedom Now could pull enough usually Democratic votes to bring a Republican victory.

The Freedom Now philosophy was put to its keenest test yesterday in the 1st Congressional District where its candidate, Pontiac attorney Milton Henry, pitted against two other Negroes nominated by the major political parties.

1,000 VOTES

In a total vote well over 100,000, Henry pulled about 1,000 votes.

Freedom Now had been condemned as the "wrong way" for Negroes in Detroit visits during the last week of the campaign by Negro civil rights leader. The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., and by Adam Clayton Powell, Negro congressman from New York.

Self-Inflicted Death Becomes Major Killer

Of the many causes of death that threaten mankind, suicide is one given relatively little consideration, nor has much been done systematically to combat it.

Last year there were 20,260 recorded suicides in the United States.

But the incidence of self-destruction is increasing at an alarming rate. Statistics put it close to the top of the 10 leading causes of death, about on the level of diabetes.

The recorded number of suicides increased 25 per cent over the past ten years. This offers stark comparison with the 13 per cent increase experienced in another area of human fatality — motor vehicle deaths.

The records of reported death from suicide, however, do not tell the whole grim story, say authorities. They point out that:

- For every suicide, six to eight other persons unsuccessfully make the attempt.
- Because of inadequate methods of recording suicides, the number officially so classified is probably a third sort of the actual total.

Belatedly, however, preventative measures against suicide are being taken. Introduced mainly by life insurance companies, whose tables show that in terms of violent death suicide is the only division where death of insured persons is higher than for the population generally, bureaus to forestall it have been set up in four large American cities.

Because self-inflicted death is generally related to psychiatric motivation, psychiatry is the principle weapon being employed against those indicating suicide intent.

What effort have suicide-prevention efforts had?

The head of the New York agency, on a round-the-clock alert basis, says that tangible results are difficult to assess. But in the first year of operation, psychiatrists classified 300 telephone calls as coming from potential suicides whose lives as a result were preserved.

We think the initiatory efforts made in combating the frightening social drain represented by suicide is to be wholeheartedly commended. It calls for earnest support by professional and lay elements the country over.

Choice of President an Electoral Dilemma

It is nearly as certain as the proverbial death and taxes that the prominence of and some little disaffection with the 'electoral college' in the presidential election just held will move Congress again to consider revision of it.

The concept of the founding fathers for election of a president, aware as they were that a tough problem was being dealt with, hasn't worked out according to script.

Framers of the Constitution, motivated by possibility of inequitable representation of the people in divergent plans for the selection of a president, hit upon the electoral college.

It provided for electors for each state equal to the state's senators and representatives. They were as a body to choose the chief executive, and if a candidate failed of a majority, decision would be made by the House, with each state delegation having one vote, regardless of size. Two early elections were settled by the House and another, in 1876, was determined after a Congressional-judicial commission ruled on some disputed electoral votes.

But, contrary to the founders' expectations, by 1824 all but two states were choosing their presidential electors by direct popular vote. Thus voters on election day, whether they know it or not, are voting for electors (whose names may not even be on the ballot) — not candidates.

Recurring criticism of the electoral college so elected is based, of course, on its "winner take all" effect, under which a candidate with a popular vote plurality of but a single vote picks up all the state's electoral votes.

Many would have the president elected by direct popular vote. But opponents say it would be unfair to smaller states and destroy political parties at the state level.

Another proposal — a modification of the electoral college — is a proportional system, whereby a candidate getting, say, 55 per cent of a state's popular vote would get the same percentage of its electoral vote. Such a measure was actually approved by the Senate in 1950, but it died in the House.

There are many more pro and con factors involved that contribute complexity to the proposition.

The odds are long, however, that nothing in the near future will come of attempts to revise the electoral college — which suggests a pretty safe election bet.

Barry Lost Race Before He Began

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater dug his political grave before he ever formally got into the presidential race. After that he sealed it.

Before saying he was a candidate — perhaps when he never dreamed of being one — in speeches and books he expressed views completely out of the mainstream of American life for the past 30 years.

Once in the race he became vague, hedged on some of his unpopular previous statements, and used up an extraordinary amount of his time insisting he was not irresponsible.

It seems incredible that a presidential candidate would feel it necessary to protest he was not "triggy-happy." But he admitted this charge against him by Democrats was one of his worst handicaps.

Thus in the slaughter inflicted on him in yesterday's election by President Johnson, the voters who repudiated him in such overwhelming numbers had to consider two things above all: His views and his judgment.

For a man who proposed to change the long-accepted view of American government — a big one, with broad responsibility for the general welfare — he put on an unimaginative performance. He proposed almost nothing concrete.

His own hand-picked men who ran the party and the campaign for him — his brain trust — must share responsibility for the inadequacies of his performance.

CONSTANT CRITICS

He and they were the constant critics of those as they are but were almost totally lacking on the constructive side in the sense of offering specific solutions for what they said ailed the country.

What they seemed to have in mind, judging from the little they made clear in the campaign and from what Goldwater said before he became a candidate, was this:

A much diminished central government and the elimination of many programs, particularly many social welfare programs.

After his shattering defeat, Goldwater couldn't hope for another try at the White House.

Lyndon—They're Here With The New Lease!

David Lawrence Says:

Election Won't End the Fighting

WASHINGTON — The American people today know the winner of the presidential race, but do they know what was decided by the votes of more than 70,000,000 persons — what issues were resolved and what policies were approved or disapproved?

President Johnson, in one of his speeches last week, said: "I want the mandate of this election to be written strong and clear so that none will mistake the meaning."

The campaign speeches themselves, however, were not clear, and there were plenty of contradictions and paradoxes. Neither the victorious nor the defeated candidate now can boast of a really united party. For when some of the major issues of the day are voted on in the coming Congress, it will be found that, as in previous years, a coalition of Republicans and Democrats will be lined up on one side, while a combination of opponents from both parties will be found voting the other way.

Neither political party has managed to present a clear-cut case, and each has taken refuge in generalities of criticism or rebuttal.

The two biggest issues of the campaign, "peace" and "prosperity," were affirmatively proclaimed by both candidates as their objectives. But a presidential election does not necessarily mean that the views expressed will prevail. There was a considerable reluctance — indeed, a sense of misgiving — among many voters on each side to support the candidate for whom they cast their ballot. It was often a feeling that one party and its candidate represented the "lesser of two evils."

KEEP FIGHTING

It would be a mistake to assume that the election ends the fighting, the debate and the bitter feelings that have been engendered during the campaign. The defeated party will keep on fighting, and there will be many a reference to some of the campaign statements which attracted attention.

The apprehensions of the critics that America is drifting in her foreign policy and could become involved in a major war have not been abated. Nor have fears been dispelled that the economy of the United States is at the moment in the midst of an artificial bomb as billions of dollars of borrowed money are used to prime the pump and as budget deficits keep on indefinitely.

Significantly, neither candidate during the campaign made a prediction as to when the budget would be balanced. The promises of more and more spending were repeated. Yet, as time as well as in America, there is an under current of anxiety lest unduly fiscal policies sooner or later come to a climax.

Dissatisfaction with the nature of the campaign is widespread. The assumption of the politicians is that the people like "folksy" talks, handshaking, and baby-kissing. Attempts to portray a congenial personality are hardly substitutes, however, for an exposition of the issues that face the American people in these troubled times.

NO OPPORTUNITY

It is obvious the minority party had no opportunity to prepare its campaign until after the Republican national convention. It was too short a period in which to present thoughtfully prepared speeches on current subjects. The incumbent administration enjoyed big advantages in publicity.

Neither candidate defined comprehensively what kind of foreign policy the world could expect from the United States if he were elected. The Communists assumed the Johnson policy meant an "accommodation" or concessions, and that his defeat would bring a more resolute position against both Red China and the Soviets.

Bob Considine Says:

We Didn't Invent Way to Pick Those to Govern

NEW YORK — Along about now, somebody is bound to say of the election, "It could happen only in America."

It's a nice comforting thought, but misguided. We didn't exactly invent this gimmick of choosing those who are to govern us in the months and years to come.

The list of candidates who consulted on election day, before pulling a lever or jotting down an "X," originated in Australia 107 years ago, reached us by way of Britain in 1872 and gained acceptance here in 1888.

You didn't vote for LBJ or Barry Goldwater. You voted for an elector who in due course will let Congress know that you voted for him, and thus for the man he represented on election day.

He is empowered to ignore your votes and present the other fellow's name to Congress, but that is seldom the case.

The humiliating electoral college ("Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in Congress") was founded because the Founding Fathers couldn't trust the Great American Unwashed to elect an educated president.

SECRET BALLOT

Colonial America developed the first secret ballot in popular elections, a century after a precedent had been set in Rome for the election, by cardinals and others, of the Pope.

New York produced the first voting machines, in 1892, and it was in this state that the right of women to vote was first seriously proposed.

It happened at Seneca Falls, N.Y., on July 19, 1848, in a "declaration of rights" signed by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and others, Susan B. Anthony took it from there. The 15th Amendment gave voting rights to former male slaves but not their women.

MOST ARTICULATE

The Suffragettes of Emmeline Pankhurst in the early years of this century were some of the most articulate and determined hecklers ever produced. They were pushed around by ugly crowds, jailed, and endured hunger strikes.

Today women's votes are earnestly solicited in most countries of the world, the most remarkable exception being the land with the highest literacy rate, Switzerland.

Voice of the People:

Would Encourage Citizen Opposition to Dump Site

I would like to express appreciation to The Pontiac Press for the recent reporting of the meeting relative to the proposed garbage disposal plan of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission. The report of this meeting and the tour of the affected area has helped to bring to the attention of the public this most important matter.

This proposed dump could create serious hazards, not only for Oxford Township and the Village of Oxford, but for other communities. The health and welfare of many people could be affected detrimentally.

This proposal is an unnecessary and unwarranted imposition on the citizens of this area. We feel this proposal merits the opposition of the citizens of this entire area.

'Not All Hanky-Panky at Bowling Alleys'

In reply to the letter regarding the bow-wow-against-the-women-ought, why pick on the bowling alleys? Each league makes its own rules.

As far as the hanky-panky going on at the bowling alleys, there's no more hanky-panky going on there than anywhere else if that is what a person is looking for.

If "Irate Husband" doesn't trust his wife out for a night of bowling then why doesn't he keep her home?
A TUESDAY NIGHT BOWLER

'What's Happened to the Good Old Days'

What's happened? I remember some years ago when one of Pontiac's leading doctors sat and talked with my husband over five hours, waiting for our baby to arrive. When I went to one of the younger doctors recently, he gave me the feeling he would just as soon I didn't come back. I'm older now and perhaps look out of place in his ultra-modern office, but my bill is paid.

It used to be when you moved into a neighborhood the milkman and a paperboy were at your door wanting to serve you. Now, if you don't live in a block where everyone is served, just try to get service. If you call to have a window repaired they ask you to bring it in and they'll get it next week.

As Thanksgiving neared wouldn't it be nice if each of us did something special for someone needing cheer, friendship or a helping hand?

Readers' Letters Echo "Trick or Treat"

After we had given out our entire supply of candy on Halloween a large group came to our door. Rather than turn away empty-handed I began to wrap freshly baked cookies for them. When my husband called to find out how many were in the group they opened our door, swarmed into the living room and gathered in front of our bookshelves. One spied my soap coupons and asked if he might have them. Another saw our son's picture and asked if he attended Pontiac Central. We gave them cookies and they left.

Sunday morning a neighbor child brought an album containing photos of one of our daughters. It had been kept up in the street in front of a neighbor's house. Afterwards I found other things missing from the bookshelves.

What is the answer? They invade your home, unasked, and steal from you while you are preparing treats. Why do a few spoil the fun for many children?

WONDERING

Halloween is for kids. We live in a subdivision and I don't mind the kids from other places coming in. What gets me is the parents who have to follow the kids around in their cars. Please, next year park your cars and walk with the kids if you have to. The little ones are all excited and run without looking when they cross the streets. Regardless of how slow you drive, they can run into you. I don't like to see any of them hurt.

MRS. WARD NEDDO
5919 SHETLAND WAY

I have great pity for the kids who pulled the acts of vandalism at our house on Halloween. It's too bad they cannot enjoy the real spirit of Halloween without breaking a picture window and writing obscene words on the windows.

of New York concludes that economic features of the market have gone too far to be rolled back. Too many benefits have been received. What the EEC becomes is a matter of concern to our nation. We do need to learn a few lessons in practical self-interest. The EEC offers good schooling in that regard.

It was even remembered that he was intensely humanitarian.

China A-Bomb Forces Reassessment

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Chinese atomic bomb is by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's own admission small.

But we are in possession of it. It is the fruit of our own efforts and of the efforts of Asians.

And small though the Chinese bomb is, it already is causing a reassessment of the world vs. nuclear weapons.

It proved that a nation need be neither rich nor industrially advanced to carry out its manufacture. And even though it may be another 10 years before the Chinese can acquire the means of delivery it marks the beginning of what could be a dangerous shift in what has been called a balance of terror.

Up to now the balance of terror held between the United States and the Soviet Union, each with an ability to destroy the other, has provided the world with its best reason for peace.

With the spread of these weapons come dangerous new problems and temptations which no longer are global in character but local in that they involve neighbors.

INDIA REASSESSSES
Red Chinese possession of the bomb led India at once to reassess its position.

India has the material and the know-how to build a bomb but for the moment has decided against it. Instead India has sought and presumably obtained from the Soviet Union renewed promises of the Soviet weapons promised for her defense against China.

Eventually, it must lead Japan to consider her defensive position.

Ultimately, Israel might be tempted to manufacture nuclear weapons as a deterrent against the Arabs. Israel already has a reactor and limited materials for the making of such a bomb. And Israel knows that German technicians are helping the Egyptians with a rocket system which would be aimed in her direction.

SIMILAR COURSE
The bomb which already is in the hands of France, could provide Germany with the overwhelming temptation to follow a similar course.

And of more immediate importance is the effect the bomb in the hands of the Chinese will have on future relations with the Soviets.

Does it drive the two together or does it force the Soviet Union to turn more and more toward the West?

Dixie Negroes Back Johnson in Mock Vote

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi Negroes gave overwhelming support to the Johnson-Humphrey Democratic ticket in a mock statewide election held by the Freedom Democratic party.

Negro leaders complained "terrorists" kept some Negroes from voting in the four-day mock election.

Final tallies yesterday showed 89,653 votes for Johnson to 14 for Republican Barry Goldwater.

The election was conducted at more than 200 polling places in 16 counties.

SHOW PREFERENCE
The "freedom election" was designed to show the preference of most state Negroes. Only about 28,500 Negroes are registered to vote in Mississippi.

The mock election was open to all Mississippians of voting age.

The balloting also gave a large margin to Negro candidates who had been denied a place on the general election ballot, because of a ruling that they did not meet state legal requirements.

The mock election also aimed at laying the basis for a challenge to the Democratic party credentials of the state's congressional delegation.

Capital Backs Johnson, 5-1

WASHINGTON (AP)—It took Washington voters 14 years to get a chance to back a winner in a presidential election and they did so with a bang, giving Lyndon B. Johnson the district's three electoral votes by a better than 5-1 margin.

The President carried every one of the city's 91 precincts, besting Barry Goldwater by an unofficial tally of 183,746 to 27,627. Said district Republican chairman Carl Shipley: "We were not only defeated, we were also slaughtered by as much as 300 to 1 in some precincts."

The last time residents of Washington voted in a presidential election was in 1800 when there was no District of Columbia and the city was part of Maryland. Washington's vote then went to John Adams who lost to Thomas Jefferson.

The 23rd Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, ratified in 1961, gave the presidential vote to district residents.

New Governor Is Elected by Puerto Ricans

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Roberto Sanchez Vilella was elected governor of this U.S. island commonwealth last night to succeed Luis Munoz Martin, who is retiring after 16 years in office.

Sanchez, 51, a civil engineer and Munoz' closest aide for two decades, was the governor's hand-picked choice. His victory means the Popular Democratic party will extend its rule to 20 straight years.

Munoz and his party are considered responsible for Puerto Rico's rapid economic development and the commonwealth association with the United States.

Candidates Deadlock in Galesburg Election

GALESBURG (AP)—Incumbent Mayor Robert Emmons of Galesburg deadlocked with challenger Warren Wayne in their race in the general election.

Each of the two men got 211 votes. They will draw lots Wednesday night to decide who will get the two-year job. Galesburg has 1,400 residents, and is located near Kalamazoo.

Political Pollsters Wear Big Grins Over Predictions

NEW YORK (AP) — Political pollsters grinned broadly today as they compared their forecasts with President Johnson's smashing defeat of Republican Barry Goldwater.

With a large majority of the nation's voting units reporting, Johnson had obtained more than 62 per cent of the popular vote, biggest popular vote margin in a presidential election since 1900 and approaching the poll forecasts.

PREDICTIONS

Both the Gallup and Harris nationwide polls had predicted that Johnson would get 64 per cent; Goldwater 36 per cent.

Johnson beat the records set by Warren G. Harding in 1920 and Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936. Harding won 60.4 per cent.

BLOCK ISLAND, R.I. (AP) — The voters of Block Island gave their vote to the Democratic candidate for president Tuesday for the first time ever.

President Lyndon B. Johnson received 219 votes and Sen. Barry Goldwater 123.

In 1960, Richard M. Nixon topped John F. Kennedy 246-144.

of the popular vote and Roosevelt 60.8 per cent.

The pollsters' success was a far cry from 1948 when President Harry S. Truman defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey with 50 per cent of the vote against Dewey's 45.6 per cent.

That year Gallup forecast that Dewey would get 49.6 per cent and Truman would get 44.6; the Crossley Poll gave Dewey 49.9 and Truman 44.9; and the Roper Poll gave Dewey 52.2 and Truman 37.3.

A Newsweek magazine poll of 50 Washington correspondents showed 49 predicting a Johnson victory. Their consensus gave Johnson 464 electoral votes to 84 for Goldwater.

ones to predict Johnson's victory.

Time magazine said "Lyndon Johnson will beat Barry Goldwater by 495 electoral votes to 43."

The voters claim Millsfield is the smallest voting village in the nation.

One of Few Republicans to Buck LBJ Tide

Romney Victory Stands Out in Governor Races

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's Gov. George Romney emerged today as the Republicans' champion big-state vote-getter, but his party otherwise had little to crow about in governorship races. Romney, 57, bucked the Lyndon B. Johnson landslide to win a second term, and is certain to rebuild the Republican party in the wake of the crushing defeat of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee.

Romney, a former automobile executive, defeated Rep. Neil Staeble, 51, a long-time power in Democratic politics in Michigan.

In another race which held national attention, Gov. Otto Kerner, 56, of Illinois won a second term, defeating Charles H. Percy, 45, a protégé of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Among the easy winners was

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a close personal and political associate of President Johnson.

DALLAS OIL MAN

Connally, 47, vanquished Dallas oil man Jack Crichton.

GOP National Chairman Dean Burch, who had predicted big GOP gains in the governorship races, proved to be a poor prophet.

In the first 21 races to be decided, for example, the Democrats took 16, including those in Utah and Arizona. The Republicans won five of the 21.

Republicans got some revenge by defeating Democratic Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington, who sought a third term. Rosellini, 54, lost to Daniel J. Evans, 38, a state legislator.

BARRY AIDE

In the Arizona race, Richard Kleindienst, 41, a field director for Goldwater before the San Francisco convention, fell before Sam Goddard, 45, a Harvard-educated Tucson lawyer.

Rep. William P. Avery, 53, a 10-year congressional veteran from Kansas, and Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, 41, were among Republicans who successfully bucked the Johnson landslide.

Avery, who left the House to run for governor, won over Democrat Harry Wiles, 46, an attorney.

IN MASSACHUSETTS

In Massachusetts, former Gov. John A. Volpe, 55, staged a successful comeback by defeating Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti, 41, father of 12 children.

Italian Reds Cite Party Differences

ROME (AP)—The Italian Communist delegation that went to Moscow seeking facts about Nikita Khrushchev's downfall returned last night with reservations on the course the new Kremlin chiefs have taken.

Delegation leader Enrico Berlinguer said Moscow talks confirmed the existence of major differences between the Soviet and Italian parties.

He said the facts would be examined carefully by the Italian party but that now "they do not seem sufficient to cause us to abandon the reserve that our party expressed on the way public opinion was informed."

Peabody who defeated Volpe in 1962.

END DROUGHT

Utah elected its first Democratic governor in 16 years when voters favored Calvin L. Rampton, 50, St. Lake City attorney, over Mitchell Melich, 52, a former state legislator, university regent and uranium firm president.

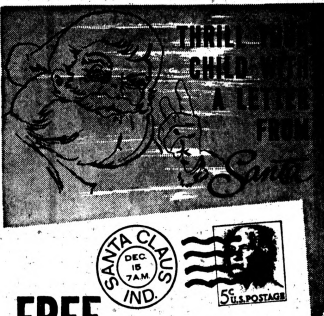

Philip H. Hoff, 40, First Democrat to be elected governor since 1854, defeated Republican Lt. Gov. Ralph A. Foote, 41.

In New Hampshire, Gov. John W. King, 46, repeated his 1962 victory over Republican John Pillsbury, 45, a former state legislator.

Teacher Is a Problem

DEAR ABBY: There is a teacher who should have been retired years ago, but she is still teaching. She seems to get pleasure out of making her pupils miserable. She has been at the same school ever since I can remember, and I have yet to hear a good word about her. She has picked on my son, and has ridiculed and humiliated him more than once.

Now he looks for excuses (sore throat, stomach upset) so he can stay home.

I am afraid to report her to the principal because she might find out who made the complaint and take it out on my son.

What can be done?

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Ask the principal if others have complained about the veteran teacher, and state the problem as you know it—without indicting the teacher.

Boys Club Mothers

Mrs. Harold MacKenzie of Elizabeth Lake Road opened her home to members of the Pontiac Boys Club Mothers.

Mrs. Jack Nelson was selected as the new vice president and Mrs. Herman Dennis, the new publicity chairman.

Cohosting Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. Paul Bruce, Mrs. Frang Lesco and Mrs. Charles Meabon.

Senior League

The Senior League, of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicales met at the home of president, Nancy Hsu, on Sunday.

Diane Cheal and Bruce Hall performed for members and guests.

In your opinion should a boy that age be permitted to go "out" every evening until midnight and on the weekends much later still?

He tells me that other mothers don't even know what time their sons get in because they are asleep. Unfortunately (for him) I am the kind of mother who can't sleep until he is in the house.

Your answer, if printed, might help many mothers because I know this is a common problem. Thank you.

Was Rude to Call Halt

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: The other night I invited several of my girlfriends in to play cards. When they arrived my parents went in to say hello.

They all know my parents. One word led to another and before long they were engaged in conversation.

As it was getting late, I interrupted and said, "I think we had better get started on our game." The next day my mother said I was very rude.

Was I wrong, and if so, how else could I have handled the situation?

A: You should not have broken into their conversation, but at the first lull, it would have been perfectly proper—in fact your duty as hostess—to say, "Shall we start our card game?"

pronunciation of my name in parentheses used to be engraved on new cards?

A: While unusual, the idea is so sensible that I do not think anyone will criticize you.

Q: Will you please tell me if it is considered in bad taste to sign Christmas cards and also to address the envelopes in red ink?

A: Although red ink is not approved for a social usage, there is no objection to handwriting and signing cards in red or other colored ink to match the wording on a gaily informal Christmas card.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

OU Scholarship Group to Give a Fashion Tea

A pre-Christmas sale, fashion show and tea will be presented in the Gold Room of Oakland University next Wednesday from 1 to 5 p.m. OU's scholarship committee is sponsoring the event.

Merchandise to be displayed for sale and special order will be from the committee's Scholar Shop. This is the shop that was part of the Hunt Fair in June and was open later on the grounds of the Meadow Brook Festival.

The fashion show will feature custom clothing, plus hand knits designed especially for the Scholar Shop.

Mrs. Merle Yockey is tea chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. George Mitten, Birmingham; Mrs. Alton J. Deuster, Lake Angelus; Mrs. John E. Windiate, Union Lake; and Mrs. John Cochran, Mrs. Thomas Kruger, Mrs. James I. Arcure and Mrs. Dan S. Holecia, all of Rochester.

Cochairmen of the fashion show are Mrs. Eugene Foley and Mrs. Frank Winton of Birmingham and Mrs. Donald M. Witmeyer.

Scholar shop committee members include Mrs. W. Richard Walsh, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Robert Lytle of Birmingham and Mrs. George Matthews, Rochester.

There will be two presentations of the fashion show, at 1:45 and 3:45 p.m.

Three members of the Dean Coffin family participated in the program at the Village Women's Club on Wednesday.

At the general membership meeting Mrs. Coffin (Winnie) narrated the script written by her husband and titled, "These Hands Extended." Son Howard took the pictures that accompanied the narration.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Fred Mashek of St. Joseph was escorted by her brother, Richard J. Mashek at the recent nuptial ceremony performed by Rev. David Britz in St. Michael's Catholic Church.

She wore off-white silk peau de soie and an imported illusion veil. Camella foliage accented her cascade of white roses and Stephanotis.

With honor matron, Mrs. Chalmers Calme were the bridesmaids Janet Mashek, and junior attendants Susan Gregor and Cathy Calme.

Chalmers Calme was best man for the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Schwartz of Clarence Street.

Ushers included Robert Walsh, Edward Steiny and Joseph Wilheim.

The reception was held in the Amvets Hall, Oakland Avenue.

Church Bazaar Will Feature Games, Prizes

Games, prizes and pony rides will add to the excitement at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church's annual bazaar to be held from noon to 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Marshall Sprague is general chairman of the bazaar and Mrs. Margaret McGuire is ticket chairman. Every year, each of the church societies takes part in the event.

The Guadalupe Guild, with Mrs. Espiridon Muniz as president, will handle the food on Saturday. Sunday's chicken dinner will be prepared by a men's committee. All the guilds of the Rosary Altar Society, with Mrs. Lewis Reynolds and Mrs. Michael Collioty as chairman and the Parents' Club, with Charles Dean as president, are also helping with the bazaar.

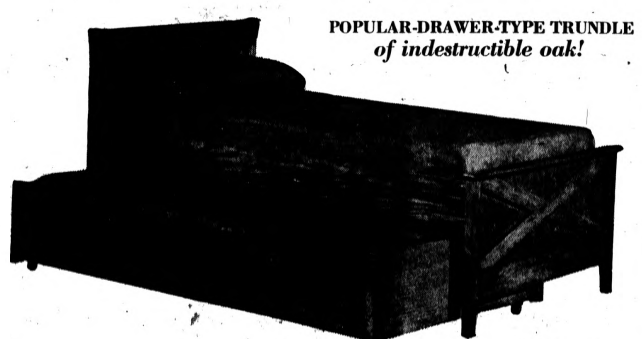

Couple Will Reside in Flint

Clean Carpets Cut Rug Wear

With the kids back in school and the weekends at the beach over, the National Institute of Rug Cleaning advises that the homemaker have her rugs and carpets professionally cleaned.

Sand and gritty dirt which have been tracked onto the carpeting throughout the summer months cut at the rug pile causing excessive and unnecessary wear.

Keep Her Sash in Proper Place

Make a loop such as those that are used at the side of dresses for belts.

Place it in the very center of the back of little daughter's dress.

Pass each end of her sash through the loop and tie. The sash stays neatly in place and the loop isn't visible.

National PTA Surveys the Issues

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first in a series of two articles on a current program being conducted by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pretend there's a rap at the door. You open it to find a neighbor, flashing credentials from the PTA, then asking:

"What, in your opinion, are the critical issues facing the welfare of children and youth?"

Tens of hundreds of persons nationwide are being asked that question. From the thousands of answers, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers PTA is putting together an action program designed to help meet the issues. You might answer — "Well, they drink before they know what drink can do to them. And they smoke too much. They're experimenting with sex and they're bearding children out of wedlock — or else they're marrying too early via shotgun ceremonies."

SECOND BREATH
You take a second breath and say:

"And they're coming down with venereal disease as if it were a status symbol. What's more, there's practically an epidemic of them killing and maiming themselves in auto accidents."

"They don't study hard enough. And don't forget to mention that I think they're scared of the bomb and that maybe they're doing all these things because they think the world might blast its seams any day now."

Such an analysis of the issues facing children isn't far off the main track, according to questionnaires received so far by the collectors of same at national headquarters of the PTA in Chicago.

100,000 OPINIONS

By the time the survey ends, it is hoped that 100,000 opinions will be on file.

Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, president of the PTA, said in an interview that some of the critical issues have been defined, based on a preliminary analysis of the questionnaires returned to headquarters to date.

She is not surprised that many queried to date have named drinking, promiscuity, venereal disease and auto accidents as some of the critical issues in the lives of contemporary young persons.

The unprecedented "action program" of the PTA involves 11 goals aimed at helping youth in the twigs stage into the shape of straight trees — responsible adulthood.

ISSUES REFLECT
The issues reflect responses to the questionnaires. One of the big ones concerns ways of coping with the responsibilities of parenthood, including sex education.

The goal: to enable parents to establish close and affectionate relations with children, provide examples of mature adults, and realize aspirations for themselves and their children in ways compatible with the world of today.

Should Pay Something for Use of Home

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: My son is getting married this month. I am a widow living on Social Security. I told him it would give him a good start if he and his wife come to live in my home, and I will go to live with my daughter.

MARY FEELEY

Now people tell me I should charge my son some sort of rent. I don't know how to go about it, as my son feels he doesn't have to pay anything. But I'm beginning to realize that I will still have to pay taxes and insurance on the house. My tax bill last year was $25.32 and my insurance for the year is about $70. I just didn't think about these things when I made the offer.

I need an answer from you so I'll know how to explain this to my son! Also, I would like to know if I should offer my daughter any rent when I go to live with her and her family.

getting enough value out of my husband's paycheck. I would like to feel that some day I could quit work. But with the situation and the budget set up as it is, it seems impossible.

If you could work out a budget for us, or have any suggestions, we would appreciate it very much.

Mrs. G. A. S., Village of Palm Springs, Fla.

Maybe your basic trouble is that you're separating the two incomes, and for this reason aren't getting a clear picture of the situation. Just forget for a moment who pays what out of whose salary.

Out of your combined incomes of $654, you're managing to save $67.50 a month — $37.50 for the bond and $30 for insurance. That's a little over 10 per cent. And considering your expenses, that's a logical sum.

The fact that so many seemingly minor expenses come out of your husband's salary may give you the feeling that it's being frittered away. But after all, living-involves the minor needs as well as the major ones.

I'd say that, unless your husband's income increases another $40 or $50 a month, you'll find it difficult to quit work —

Mrs. Albert C. Kugler, South Roselawn Street, was recently installed as Mighty Chosen One for Iraq Caldron No. 70, Daughters of Mokanna.

Tablecloth Is Round Again

NEW YORK (UPI) — The revival of round dining tables has brought back the round Victorian tablecloth, with its colorful florals and paisley prints, and ball fringe or deep fringe edging.

Modern interpretations of the old-fashioned round cloth feature machine-washable cottons and sub-spongeable fabrics with non-skid flannel backing.

Among the new plastics are a pearlescent vinyl brocade finish and a simulated fabric texture.

even with the car payments out of the way.

However, never say die when you want something. Keep a record of the total month's spending, including even the miscellaneous items, for a stretch of, say, three months.

Then see where you can start whittling on living costs. See what you're willing to give up in order to quit that job.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

How would you like to make outdoor jackets for your teen-age girls for less than $2 — the ready-made ones like it cost about $25? Gather together scraps of wool left over from almost anything. The colors, prints, checks and plaids aren't important. I have seen the most unbelievable combinations!

Cut the wool scraps into pieces about 4 inches square and join together in a long strip, enough to go from shoulder to hem of jacket. Then, piece strips together until you have the correct width.

The jackets are hip length, with a long front zipper closing and an attached hood. Make yours reversible by lining it with a water-repellent felt cotton.

Sounds wild doesn't it, but my 17-year-old thought it was the greatest.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

After finishing a jumper-type dress, with the two fronts open to the waist, there didn't seem to be enough body. Even after using interfacing to keep the fronts nice and straight they wanted to curl back.

I attached a small piece of the rough burr-type nylon tape to the wrong side of each front of the dress and attached another small piece of the same tape to the right side of my blouses. I just pressed the two pieces of tape together and the fronts are beautiful. The best part of it is that no one is the wiser!

Mrs. Jean Alvey, Kirkwood, Mo., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice Farmer: What mother doesn't want to sew for her daughter? But when you haven't slimmered down yet what do you do to a pattern to make it fit? It is almost essential for us to sew as ready-made clothes are so hard to find for overweighters. Also, what styles would be best?

Mrs. R.R.E.

Dear Mrs. R.R.E.:

Guess this has been a subject that has been avoided by most of us. Your problems aren't too difficult as the pattern adjustments are much the same as for adults. I would choose dark jumpers with print or colored blouses; skirts and blouses or sweaters the same color, rather than contrasting; small dark provincial prints and small checks.

Anything with long lines will be more becoming. Try gored skirts instead of full gathered or pleated skirts. An A-line skirt with a large inverted pleat at the center front and back is also very slenderizing and still gives room for action.

As to alterations, you may add to the bodice and skirt as illustrated. Also change the sleeves (they are probably too small, too). If she has developed a little early in the bust area, you may find the need for adding a dart at the underarm for extra shaping.

NO CLEAN BLOUSES

As I was getting the clothes out for my little girl to wear to school, I suddenly realized (like every busy mother must have at some time or other) that there weren't any clean blouses.

As I looked through her closet, I spotted a darling printed dress that was too short for her.

The color was perfect for a corduroy jumper, so we tried it on and it worked perfectly. The dress answered both a blouse and slip in one. Maybe you all would like to try this with dresses that are beyond lengthening. Just think, another season's wear and the print under the jumper makes a darling petticoat.

BACON-DAWSON

The Leon Edward Bacons (Jill Ellen Dawson), wed recently in the First Baptist Church, Lake Orion, left for a northern honeymoon after a reception in the Oxford home of her parents, the Chester Dawsens. White cotton brocade fashioned the bride's street-length ensemble worn with small veiled hat. She carried white roses. Janice Ann Gibson was honor maid and Carla Rae Dawson, her sister's flower girl. The son of the Leon Bacons, South Leeper Road, Orion Township, had his brother, Donald, for best man at the ceremony presided by Rev. Frank C. Mills.

California's Rejection of Antibias Housing Law Tops Key State Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Californians erased a law against housing discrimination in the hottest issue among hundreds of election proposals in 40 states yesterday.

"I am disappointed," said Gov. Edmund G. Brown, "but I do not regard the election as the end of California's fight against discrimination and segregation in housing."

The state constitutional amendment that wipes out California's present fair housing law and forbids any further legislation on the subject held a firm 3.2 margin in mounting returns.

It gives property owners the absolute right to accept or reject any buyers or renters.

In another vote involving the racial issue, Maryland extended a public accommodations law to require equal service for Negroes in hotels, hotels and restaurants throughout the state. It previously applied only to the city of Baltimore and half of the state's 23 counties.

SLAPPED DOWN

Proposals to legalize gambling were slapped down by voters in three states — California, Arkansas and Washington.

California voters rejected a state franchised lottery, Arkansas refused to legalize gambling houses in the resort city of Hot Springs, and Washington voters said no to licensing bingo, card games, punch boards and pinball machines.

California voters in a busy day also turned down a pay-television proposal, and repealed a state law requiring railroads to fill certain jobs on trains.

The railroad train crew issue in California and other states is the center of a bitter dispute between management, seeking to slash manpower, and unions trying to preserve jobs.

North Dakota and Arizona also repealed train crew laws.

Louisiana voters established the nation's first code of ethics for state officials. It was one of 41 state constitutional amendments crowding the state ballot.

New Hampshire voters apparently approved amendments to restructure the state legislature, giving more weight to votes of urban residents.

But Florida voters thumbed down a reapportionment amendment which had already been ruled inadequate by the Supreme Court.

Among many multimillion dollar bond proposals for state construction, West Virginia authorized $200 million for road construction over the next 10 years.

Hotel Fire Kills 8 in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — At least eight persons, five of them children, perished early today in a fire which swept through an apartment hotel on the city's South Side, hospital and police officials said.

Twelve persons, including two firemen, were hospitalized.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said the victims apparently were killed by smoke inhalation.

Quinn said some 20 of the 120 residents of the four-story brick building, the Dorchester Manor Hotel in the Hyde Park district were rescued by firemen.

Quinn said the fire apparently began in the first floor and spread quickly through the interior of the building. He said flames were confined to the first floor. Quinn said the cause had not been determined. He estimated damage at $30,000.

Small Communities

Vote Not to Unite

MONTAGUE (UPI) — A proposed merger of Montague and Whitehall—two thriving little communities separated only by a channel — was defeated in Tuesday's election by voters in both communities.

At Montague, the ballots were 743 to 187 against the merger. Whitehall voted 626 to 402 against the proposed merger.

Wins Seat on Council in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — In a race that reflected racial issues, Thomas L. Poindexter yesterday won a seat on the Detroit Common Council by defeating Jackie Vaughn III by more than 70,000 votes.

The final unofficial tally gave Poindexter 253,481 votes to Vaughn's 180,577.

Poindexter, who was instrumental in the successful passage of a home owners' rights ordinance in the primary election, led Vaughn in nearly all areas of the city except the heavily-populated Negro areas in the center of the city.

It was the second unsuccessful council bid by Vaughn, a Negro.

Poindexter, a Detroit attorney, credited the passage of the home owners ordinance and "good hard work" for his successful bid.

DETROIT (UPI) — In a race that reflected racial issues, Thomas L. Poindexter yesterday won a seat on the Detroit Common Council by defeating Jackie Vaughn III by more than 70,000 votes.

The final unofficial tally gave Poindexter 253,481 votes to Vaughn's 180,577.

Poindexter, who was instrumental in the successful passage of a home owners' rights ordinance in the primary election, led Vaughn in nearly all areas of the city except the heavily-populated Negro areas in the center of the city.

It was the second unsuccessful council bid by Vaughn, a Negro.

Poindexter, a Detroit attorney, credited the passage of the home owners ordinance and "good hard work" for his successful bid.

Dr. Wayen G. Brandstadt Says:

Body Chemical Important to Memory

Q—Why is it that I can read an article or listen to a speech and understand it perfectly at the time but later can't remember any of it? Is it lack of attention or do I need some kind of vitamin or mineral?

A—Lack of total concentration and fatigue undoubtably play a part in some examples of poor recall. It is now believed that ribonucleic acid (RNA) also plays an important part in our memory.

This chemical is manufactured by the body, but in elderly persons a deficiency may develop. This, coupled with hardening of the cerebral arteries, would account for the increased trouble older persons have in this respect.

Dr. D. E. Cameron in Montreal has tried giving injections of RNA in the veins of aged patients over a period of two weeks. He found a definite improvement in memory as a result.

Giving RNA by mouth also caused some improvement but not as much as when the chemical was injected. This treatment is still considered experimental.

ANY TREATMENT?

Q—Is trichomoniasis a venereal disease? What can be done for it?

A—Since trichomoniasis is commonly transmitted by sexual contact it is technically a venereal disease, but many persons harbor the germ without showing any symptoms. Furthermore it is not a serious health problem and does not endanger the offspring as in the case with other sexually transmitted infections.

Trichomoniasis is the cause of the white vaginal discharge known as leukorrhea.

This was extremely hard to get rid of until the advent of metronidazole (Flagyl). It is important for both husband and wife to take the drug at the same time if reinfection is to be prevented.

Q—My brother died of a melanoma following removal of a large brown mole from his shoulder. Now his 9-year-old daughter has a similar mole on her shoulder. I have heard that if the mole is removed before she reaches puberty there is no danger. Is this true?

BROWN MOLE

A—It is impossible to predict from the appearance of a brown mole on a child whether it will ever become malignant. Since most of them will not if they are left alone, it is better not to remove them at any age unless there is evidence that they are malignant or they are in a location that is subject to constant irritation as from a shoulder strap, collar or belt.

In any case it is usually better to delay the decision about removing a mole until after puberty.

In an adult a brown mole should be carefully examined by the family doctor at regular intervals of about 12 months. (Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

How daily newspapers stood on the candidates:

Newspapers for Goldwater: NONE

Newspapers for Johnson: NONE

IN THE NEWS COLUMNS, THAT IS*

THE professional will never inject into the news columns his opinion of what was said. He will use quotable sources for an evaluation of a candidate's statements.

This advice was given to the staffs of the Associated Press and United Press International earlier this year. It reflects what editors all over the country told their own reporters during this hot and often hectic campaign.

The result was news reported objectively and fairly in the nation's newspapers—millions of words, hundreds of thousands of columns presented in a spirit of fairness and as objectively as is humanly possible.

In doing this, newspapers were fulfilling their historic role of supplying the American public with the facts upon which an informed electorate depends.

In reporting the campaign newspapers did not preach. They did not exhort. They provided the facts. The decision lay with the electorate. Now the people have spoken.

*On newspaper editorial pages, however, it was a different story. Newspapers exercised their traditional right of declaring for a political candidate or party.

359 daily newspapers with a total circulation of 8,977,214 endorsed Barry Goldwater.

Michigan Voters Show Their Independence

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT — The year 1964 may go down as an historic "Year of the Ticket-Splitters" in the rest of the nation—but in Michigan it was merely a repeat performance for its traditionally independent thinkers.

Tuesday's election results gave President Johnson, a Democrat, a smashing victory in the Wolverine State. But at the same time, Gov. George Romney, a Republican, scored a triumph that was even more impressive in some respects.

In dividing their ballots, many Michigan voters were simply voting for the candidates they felt best qualified for the job, regardless of political party affiliation.

Such attitudes are regarded with extreme displeasure by many politicians who believe that now is the time for every good man to come to the aid of his party for to better or for worse.

REJECT PHILOSOPHY

In Michigan, however, the voters repeatedly and historically have rejected this philosophy and split their tickets in election after election.

In six of the past nine elections, the state has voted for a president of one party and elected a governor of the opposite party.

And since 1932, the state also has swung back and forth from Republican to Democratic in the presidential campaigns. Before Tuesday's election, it wound up with an even 4-4 split in choosing between the two major candidates.

It was with the national loser twice: Wendell L. Willkie in 1940 and Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

Since 1932, Michigan has favored the Democratic candidate for governor in 10 elections and the Republican in seven. Six of the 10 Democratic victories were consecutive two-year terms for G. Mennen Williams.

No figures are available on how many Democrats crossed over to vote for Romney or the number of Republicans who rejected Goldwater in favor of the Democratic President.

But a sizeable chunk of the Michigan electorate always has exercised its right to remain aloof from either party and switch back and forth on the ballot at will.

In Tuesday's returns, Romney took about 40 per cent of the vote in traditionally Democratic Detroit. This is seven per cent more than his share in 1962 when he defeated former Gov. John Swainson.

At the same time, and in the same place, Johnson was scored an eight per cent improvement over the late President Kennedy's 1960 showing in the Motor City. Johnson got about 79 per cent of the Detroit vote.

VOTE ANALYSIS

An NBC electronic vote analysis showed that although Romney garnered only about 12 per cent of the Negro vote, a slight increase from two years ago, it was about six times the fraction polled by Goldwater against Johnson. Negroes cast about one out of every 12 Michigan votes.

In areas surrounding Detroit, Romney captured 50 per cent of the vote, up six per cent from his 1962 vote. This area includes part of Wayne County, and Macomb and Oakland counties, which altogether, have over 1/3 of Michigan's ballot potential.

IMPROVEMENT

Approached from another angle, Romney's victory also reflected improvement over his campaign two years ago in support from Jewish, Slavic and middle-income elements.

Returns from selected precincts indicated the governor scored an eight per cent rise in his share of the middle-income vote for 50 per cent.

Among the Democratic-oriented Jewish and ethnic groups, Romney showed gains of seven and nine per cent over 1962. But he still captured only minority shares.

His 27 per cent of the Slavic vote — which includes Hamtramck's Polish-dominated population — contrasted with about 12 per cent attained by Goldwater.

SIZABLE GAINS

In his sweep, the analysis indicated Johnson registered sizable gains by almost any standard of comparison over what Kennedy was able to achieve in his nip-and-tuck race with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

This also held for Sen. Philip Hart, who posted much wider margins over Elly Peterson, his GOP opponent, than he did in 1962 when he won his first-term election over incumbent Sen. Charles Butler.

Romney's improved showing among all segments of the population undoubtedly will not escape the attention of those in the Republican party who are looking ahead to 1968.

Seriously considered its presidential timber this year, Romney appears destined to be among the front runners for the presidential nomination in 1968.

TOP OFFICIAL

"I think he has excellent qualifications for the White House."

said one top state GOP official. The immediate job ahead, of course, is to finish the job he has started as governor—but it is not too soon to look ahead four years.

National Committee Chairman John Martin said the day after the San Francisco convention that Romney might become the presidential nominee next time around.

Tuesday's election could be the first major step in that direction.

Solon Is Challenged on Vote

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, D-N.C., was challenged by a Republican poll watcher yesterday when he went to vote in his home precinct here.

Mary Hassell Van Dorp challenged the veteran Congressman on the grounds that he could not enter the voting booth wearing an LBJ button.

Bonner demanded that she show him legal proof that a voter cannot enter a booth wearing a candidate button.

They consulted the books and found reference only to banners and placards.

Whereupon Rep. and Mrs. Bonner cast their votes.

Helped VP's Political Rise

Mrs. Humphrey 'Real' Person

By MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The last time Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey was at her home here it was between campaign trips. Telephones were ringing, typewriters were clacking and workers were scurrying through her house.

She simply went into the kitchen and started making beef soup for everybody.

Muriel Humphrey is that kind of person — genuine and informal, a friend said.

HELPS CLIMB
The wife of the vice president-elect helped him climb up the political ladder. She once said she had been a door-bell pusher and precinct worker since 1943, when her husband ran for mayor of Minneapolis.

In this past campaign she went to 32 states for the Democratic ticket. Her husband said she was such a good campaign-er she was the one selected to go to Alaska and Hawaii to represent the top two men on the ticket.

She says she isn't a politician — "I just try to get out and meet people and let them get to know me and, of course, tell them about Hubert."

As for campaigning, she said she liked it — "It's nice to be useful."

SPEECHES

In the speeches she made, she said often that, "As a wife and mother — and now a grandmother — I feel very strongly that election of the Johnson-Humphrey ticket is crucial to the welfare of our children."

She doesn't look grandmotherly at 52. Her silver hair is cut in a short bob, with bangs, and she's a petite size.

The Humphrey home in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., is obviously one where children grew up — a basketball net over the garage door, a concrete shuffle board on the back porch. The children's joke box has been removed from the paneled recreation porch, for they're older and away now.

FAMILY

Daughter Nancy, 25, is now Mrs. C. Bruce Solomonson of Burnsville, Minn., with two young daughters. Hubert Jr. (called Skip), 22, and his wife are students at American University here. Robert, 20, is a sophomore at Mankato State College in Minnesota. And Douglas, 16, is a junior at Shattuck Preparatory School in Faribault, Minn.

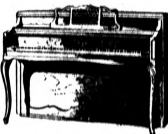

Mrs. Humphrey was born and grew up in Huron, S.D., and met her husband there. She is an accomplished pianist and takes great pride in her sewing. She is also one of those wives who helped her husband through school in Depression days by working.

For a while, she made sandwiches for Humphrey to sell to fellow students at a dime apiece.

Johnson to Review Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the election behind him, President Johnson is due to plunge into a global review of U.S. foreign policy in the next few days.

The war in South Viet Nam and a dangerous and growing crisis in the Atlantic Alliance are his first concerns.

This policy review could reshape the pattern of U.S. relations with the European allies, according to present thinking of administration policy makers, because of the disarray in NATO.

It may also bring about a revision of Johnson's plans to address a NATO meeting in Europe and talk with French President Charles de Gaulle and other leaders before the end of the year.

His chief advisers now believe that pending policy studies the trip should be delayed until next year. But the final word is up to Johnson, himself.

TO MEET WILSON

The President is scheduled to meet here in a month or six weeks with the new British prime minister, Harold Wilson. Meanwhile, some consideration is being given to his sending a special emissary abroad to take a first-hand look at European developments.

In a few days Johnson is expected to confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other top advisers either here or at his ranch in Texas, depending on his personal plans. His advisers have urged him to get as much rest as possible following the rigors of the campaign.

Johnson's triumph at the polls yesterday was interpreted by administration officials as a mandate to carry on the main lines of established, bipartisan policy, including efforts to improve relations with Russia and reduce the risks of nuclear war.

Yet changing world conditions — among them the Kremlin shake-up last month and Red China's nuclear explosion — are said to require decisions adapting basic policy to new U.S. initiatives.

STRENGTHENS HAND

Persons close to Johnson also regard the election outcome as vastly strengthening his hand in dealing with foreign governments. Not only has it provided evidence of popular support of his general policies in the foreign field, but it has also ended his temporary status as successor to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The President is said to be deeply concerned about taking practical steps quickly to rebuild allied unity as far as that may be possible. But there is little hope here that de Gaulle, whom officials regard as the central figure in the present turmoil over Western Europe's future, can be persuaded to cooperate.

France is now actively fighting the U.S. plan to form a NATO seaborn nuclear force, which West Germany strongly supports. De Gaulle, according to diplomatic reports from European capitals, has warned West Germany that success in the Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF) project would wreck NATO. Some officials here regard this as virtually a French threat to abandon NATO.

In a dispute with West Germany over grain prices, de Gaulle has also threatened to halt French participation in the European Common Market.

SUPPORT DE GAULLE

On this issue the United States and other European allies generally support de Gaulle's insistence for a settlement of the grain price problem and feel that West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard should take firm action to get an accord.

The war in South Viet Nam is a source of growing concern in the administration for two reasons. One is the desire to find new ways, if any exist, of moving toward the successful conclusion which would establish peace and security in Southeast Asia against Communist subversion.

The other is a belief that North Viet Nam and Red China may be near some major decisions themselves on whether to intensify their efforts to drive the United States out and take over the area. Related to this situation, but far broader in total impact, are the change in Kremlin leadership with the ouster of Premier Khrushchev last month. China's entry into the nuclear arms race and maneuvers by Moscow and Peking to reduce the rift between them.

Perhaps, the most serious for study by Johnson are whether measures can be devised to offer greater assurance of protection to such countries as India and Japan against the time when Red China will actually possess nuclear weapons and the means to deliver them on distant targets.

Few Changes Expected in LBJ's Cabinet Team

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson may make a few changes in his Cabinet, but he is expected to keep intact most of the top-level team he inherited from the late President John F. Kennedy.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon are virtually certain to stay.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges also are good bets to continue in office.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wright could remain where he is, or he might be shifted to attorney general, a post vacated when Robert F. Kennedy resigned in August to run for the Senate in New York.

Other possibilities for attorney general include Nicholas Katzenbach, who is now acting attorney general; Abe Fortas, a Washington attorney and former assistant secretary of interior who is one of Johnson's most trusted confidantes; and Leon Jaworski, a Houston, Tex., attorney whom Johnson admires.

SECRETARY SHIFT

Should Wirtz be shifted, his replacement as Labor secretary might well be William Dougherty, former head of the Letter Carriers Union and AFL-CIO vice president, who is now U.S. Ambassador to Jamaica.

Dougherty also has been mentioned as a possible replacement for Postmaster General John A. Gronouski. But Gronouski did Herculean work in the campaign, trying to offset the "white backlash" among Polish-Americans and other ethnic groups.

He has told intimates that he has every expectation of remaining in the Cabinet.

Anthony J. Celebrezze, known to be unhappy in his job as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. He played practically no part in the election campaign, and it will surprise few in the Cabinet if he departs from the Cabinet.

NEGRO POSSIBLE

Among those mentioned as possible successors are a Negro — Whitney M. Young Jr., executive secretary of the National Urban League — and a woman — Mrs. Esther Peterson, now assistant secretary of Labor and Johnson's special adviser on consumer affairs.

Johnson has made no bones about his desire to keep Rusk, McNamara and Dillon in the three top Cabinet jobs. He holds all three in very high esteem.

A few months ago, Rusk gave friends the impression he would resign after the election. But he now gives every sign of being willing to stay.

He seems to have gained the President's confidence — and control over foreign policy — to a much greater degree than he had during the early months of the Johnson administration.

AVOIDS QUESTIONS

McNamara turns aside questions about his future with the statement that it would be "inappropriate" for him to discuss the matter with anyone save the President.

But McNamara does not act like a man who is preparing to resign. On the contrary, he is deeply enmeshed in forward planning of defense on a five-year basis.

And no one jumped into the campaign more forcefully when it came to defending the administration on issues in his jurisdiction.

Johnson wants Dillon to stay, and the Republican treasury secretary probably will accede to the President's request for two reasons.

First, he is the kind of man who always serves his country where he is best able to do so. Second, a return to private banking would seem very tame to a man of Dillon's restless intellect after the enormous challenge of managing the federal exchequer.

New Heroes Emerging to Head Battered Republican Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of Sen. Barry Goldwater's stunning defeat, the battered ranks of Republicans yielded a new set of heroes today.

Each walked his own careful campaign path and each won a personal victory against great odds.

From their ranks could come the GOP standard-bearer for 1968.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney backed the Democratic tide to win another term. He had accepted his party's choice of Goldwater, but withheld endorsement.

In California, former Hollywood movie star and dancer George Murphy stepped lightly over former presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger to win a U.S. Senate seat.

(Murphy backed Goldwater but reserved the right to differ with him on such issues as civil rights, and once refused to be photographed with Goldwater.)

By contrast, the Republican fallen included some notable Goldwater supporters.

In Illinois, Charles H. Percy, a young Eisenhower Republican and considered a shining light in the party, failed in a bid for the governorship against incumbent Otto Kerner. (Percy said he had made 85 speeches for Goldwater's candidacy.)

Even in Goldwater's home state, Arizona, Republican Richard Kleindienst, strong Goldwater supporter and friend, failed in his bid for the governorship, beaten by Democrat Sam Goddard.

In Maryland, incumbent Sen. J. Glenn Beall had put off Goldwater endorsement—but late in the campaign, on a Goldwater visit to Maryland, the Arizona warmly endorsed Beall, and Beall reciprocated. Beall lost his Senate seat to the bid of Joseph Tydings.

In Texas, Congressmen Bruce Alger and Ed Foreman, leading conservatives and Goldwater supporters, failed for reelection before Democratic challenges.

Even Republicans lukewarm to Goldwater or opposed to him had to face the anti-Goldwater, pro-Johnson tide.

In Pennsylvania, Republican

stalwart Hugh Scott, a reluctant supporter of his party's ticket who proclaimed "I'm my own man," won a close reelection to the Senate. In Hawaii, Republican Sen. Hiram Bann kept Goldwater out of his campaign and won reelection.

On the opposite side of the

The inventory of fallen Republicans grew longer in the congressional side.

ledger, in the Deep South where Goldwater won his only major victories, his name worked a kind of magic that made political history.

In Alabama five Democrats fell to Republican challengers for seats in Congress. In eastern Georgia, another Democrat fell. There was still another Democratic upset — in Missisissippi. In all but the Mississippi victory, the Republicans were strongly announced for Goldwater.

In the Senate, two strong Goldwater supporters won — former Arizona Gov. Paul Fannin and Nebraska's incumbent Roman L. Hruska.

Electrical Problem Delays Mars Probe

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A problem with an electrical relay system in the booster rocket today forced a one-day postponement of an attempt to launch the Mariner 3 spacecraft to Mars.

The launching was rescheduled for Thursday in a period between 1:22 p.m. and 3:17 p.m. (EST).

Mariner 3 is one of two twin probes the United States plans to launch toward Mars this month. Mariner 4 is being readied on an adjacent launch pad. Its firing date will depend on how well the first shot fares in the early stages.

Ornithologist Arlie W. Schorger estimates there were from 3 to 5 billion passenger pigeons when America was discovered. Today there are none.

Summary of Election Results From the Area

W. Bloomfield Dems Fail to Unseat GOP Incumbents

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Submitting their first slate of local candidates, Democrats made a healthy showing here but fell far short of unseating any of the Republican incumbents.

They did, however, sweep two Citizens party members off the library board.

Democrat Betty A. Meyers, 2,375.

They were successful over Joyce L. Kaplan (D), 2,224, and incumbent Carol H. Sader (C), 1,111.

Democrat Zell H. French tallied 2,351 votes to win a four-year term over Citizens party candidate Glenn R. Johnson, an incumbent who received 1,113. There was no Republican candidate for this spot.

W. Roy Hawkins, Republican incumbent candidate for a two-year term on the library board, won reelection by a 3,555-2,204 margin over Democrat Henriette Friedman.

Republicans, who entered their first slate of local candidates in the election two years ago, saw all of their nominees victorious at the polls yesterday. All were incumbents.

Supervisor John C. Rehard, seeking his third full term, captured 3,565 votes to win over John N. Doherty (D), who received 2,569.

High vote getter was Treasurer Lillian S. Warner, who was unopposed. She polled 4,213 votes to be returned to office for her fifth term.

CLERK TALLY

The 4,135 votes cast for Clerk Dorothy M. Chamberlain overwhelmed the 1,965 of Democrat Georgia M. Tinsman.

Incumbent trustees Emmett DeConick and John F. Warren received 3,703 and 3,705 votes respectively to retain their seats against opposition from Democrats John A. Marble, 2,248, and John V. Nahabedian, 2,146.

Elmer C. Dieterle kept his Justice of the Peace post by a 3,515-2,468 margin over Frederick O. Evans (D).

Both incumbent Joseph D. Nephew (R), 3,777, and Lee Brooks (D), 2,350, won constable posts.

2 Lapeer Townships Back GOP

With a lack of opposition from Democrats, slates of Republican candidates were voted in by the electorates in the nearby Lapeer County townships of Dryden and Metamora yesterday.

All the Metamora candidates were incumbents with the exception of one write-in winner.

In Dryden Township incumbent Supervisor Stillman J. Elwell received 448 votes, Lawrence Wilson 443 for clerk and incumbent Treasurer Paul Hilliker, 437.

Arthur Wood polled 438 for trustee, and no votes were cast for two constable openings for which there had been no candidates.

Ross Reynolds received eight write-in votes for justice of the peace, a post which also had no candidate.

Next highest was Clare Davis, with four write-in votes, discounting some write-ins for former Justice Nathan Valentine, now gone from the community.

509 VOTE

A total of 509 of the township's 602 registered voters cast ballots.

About 85 per cent of Metamora Township's registered voters swept an unopposed Republican slate of incumbents back into office.

Supervisor Harold Best tallied 358, Clerk Doris Hobbins, 363, and Treasurer Mary Kurek, 348 votes.

Appointee Trustee Frank Best polled 351 and Justice of the Peace Mark Russell 338 votes. No candidates filed for a single constable opening, and George Schenkel received one write-in vote for the post.

GOP Incumbents Win in Holly Twp.

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — All Republican incumbents retained their uncontested leadership in yesterday's Holly township election, with Supervisor Seeley Tinsman capturing the largest number of votes.

Tinsman was back by 953 electors, Clerk Jess E. Furubush by 928, Treasurer Madeline Lockwood by 927 and Trustee Russell C. Barrett by 867.

Vote totals for the four constables were William J. A. Wood, 790; Frances Temming, 785; Franklin P. Allen, 748; and Glen Savory, 713.

Re-elected to the library board were Mildred E. Montgomery, 846, and William G. Lankton, 798. Loran Hamilton won 838 votes and Theodore H. Owens 796 to return to their parks commission posts.

LOUIS F. OLDENBURG

Leads GOP to Victory in Highland Township

HIGHLAND — Louis F. Oldenburg, supervisor since 1947, received 1,342 votes to lead the Republican party to victory here.

Oldenburg's Democratic opponent, C. William Prince, tallied 521 votes.

The only successful Democratic candidate was Myrtle M. Clark, who won a seat on the library board with 615 votes.

There were two board positions available and Republicans had nominated one candidate, Kathryn E. Lancaster, who received 1,195 votes.

DEMOCRAT WINNER — Democrat Florence A. O'Grady, with 613, was unsuccessful in her library board bid.

GOP INCUMBENTS — Among the Republican incumbents returned to office were Clerk Norman Waters, 1,337 over 508 for Elizabeth E. Veresh (D); Treasurer Roy J. Carl, 1,208 over 625 for Betty J. Chyz (R); and Trustee George A. Volkert, 1,288 over 562 for James P. O'Grady (R).

Republican Earl Rie, unopposed for a justice of the peace post, received 1,265 votes.

All candidates for constable were unopposed Republicans. Herbert R. Major polled 1,261 votes to join incumbents Clarence Carlson, 1,273; Charles L. Cooper, 1,261 and Homer W. Hay, 1,255.

Clerk Squeaks By; Treasurer Loses

Big Margin for Orion Twp. Supervisor

ORION TOWNSHIP — Supervisor John Lessiter (D) was returned to office by a large margin yesterday, but incumbent clerk Margaret Stephen (R) barely made it, by a 27-vote majority.

In a major upset, incumbent Treasurer William D. O'Brien (R) lost out to Myrtle Longpre (D), 1,742-1,661.

Lessiter polled 2,499 votes to Republican Clarence Rossmann's 1,823 to retain the supervisor post, bettering 1963's victory margin of 1,339-943 over Republican Albert J. Rhodes.

Mrs. Stephen edged Democrat William A. Schwickert by 1,715-1,688, a much closer margin than the 300-vote difference which gave her a victory over the same opponent last year.

Incumbent Trustee Harold Gussell (D) and W. Dale Spear (D) won the two trustee positions open, receiving 2,009 and 1,890 votes, respectively.

GOP Takes Key Posts

Dems Fail in Avon Twp. Bid

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Democratic party has, with one exception, failed in its bid to return to township government. It was the first time the party had been on the ballot in six years.

Voters yesterday gave the nod to Republicans in all key races.

Incumbent Supervisor Cyril E. Miller received 3,975 votes in his successful try for a 12th year at the helm, defeating Democrat Louis W. Berklich, who polled 2,624.

Incumbent Clerk Thelma G. Spencer almost doubled her opponent's tally in receiving 4,549 votes to James Effield's 2,301.

TRUSTEE SWEEP

Incumbent Trustee Wayne V. Holman polled 3,920 and fellow Republican candidate Clarence E. Shaw 3,637 to sweep two trustee vacancies for the party.

Losers were Edward J. Huebel, 2,573, and Leonard Pasanti, 2,304, both Democrats.

Republican Samuel A. Howlett, unopposed for Justice of the Peace, garnered the highest total on the township slate with 4,365.

GOP candidates filled three of the four constable vacancies, incumbent Garfield J. Franklin polled 3,501, Robert D. Lewis 3,728 and Sidney S. Sonnenberg, 3,494.

The other opening went to Democrat William K. Benson, who received 2,768 votes. He was the only successful candidate for that party tallying over 200 more votes than Republican John Paddubny who polled 2,506 in an unsuccessful try for constable.

Incumbent Hudson G. Hill and Marion G. Smith, unopposed for two library board openings, received 4,200 and 4,251 votes, respectively, for the GOP.

The Republican near-sweep guarantees continuation in office of one of the most experienced trios of top township officials in the county.

With Miller's 11 years as supervisor and Mrs. Allen's 30 years of experience goes Mrs. Spencer's 26 years of township government background.

3 Townships Show Trend of Preferring Single Party

In three Oakland County townships where the party in power faced some opposition, voters followed a trend of supporting one slate.

The Republican party was victorious in Commerce and Oakland townships while the Citizens party retained its leadership in Rose.

Commerce

Supervisor Thomas C. Tiley and Trustee Robert H. Long, the only incumbents opposed in yesterday's election, were returned to office with the rest of the Republican slate.

The 1,908 votes cast for Tiley gave him a victory over the Democratic candidate, John R. Daly, who polled 1,638.

Long received 2,060 over the 1,372 cast for Robert N. Dodd (D).

The vote totals of other Republican incumbents were Clerk Harry H. Helvey, 2,473; Treasurer Blanche H. Cummins, 2,580; Justice of the Peace John C. Weick, 2,502; and constables Guy Cahoon, 2,310 and Harold Small, 2,414.

Oakland

In the only race in Oakland Township Democrat Ray A. Cornett failed in his bid to unseat Republican Supervisor Frank J. Voll Sr.

The tally was Voll, 603, and Cornett, 389.

Others retained in office were Clerk Lucy Alt with 944 votes; Treasurer Robert Barkham, 852; Justice of the Peace Bill Jenkins, 767; and Constable

Lester Robbins and Robert N. Williams, 746 and 725 respectively. All are Democrats.

The only other Republican on the ballot was incumbent Trustee George Lyon, who was unchallenged for another term. He polled 615 votes.

Rose

A Citizens party victory here gave the township four new officers and returned two incumbents.

C. Milton Nelson polled 355 votes to win the supervisor's post over Allan H. Hill (R), who received 207. New trustee is James J. Alexander, who won 328 votes while his Republican opponent Jack Thorby polled 219.

Other successful Citizens party candidates included Ben East, who tallied 327 votes to 215 for Dewayne Hallett (R) in the Justice of the Peace race, and George W. Wilson, who won the constable post with 317 votes over the 211 cast for Claude Curtis (R).

Incumbent Clerk Mildred J. Jones (C) was returned to office by a 428-112 margin over Isabel Dearborn (R). Esther R. Downing, incumbent treasurer who was unopposed, tallied 449 votes as another successful Citizen party candidate.

Sticker Bid Loses Out in Groveland

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — The sticker candidacy of incumbent Constable James Algoe ended yesterday's election here but did not alter the pattern of victory for Republican nominees.

Algoe, who was defeated in the Republican primary, collected 126 votes as a sticker candidate, falling behind Republican nominees Fred Hauer, 403, and Theodore Schmidt, 307.

Democrat Bernard Burek polled 166 votes in his bid for one of the two available posts.

In the only other contest, Leonard Boyler (R) won the justice of the peace job over Irene Burek (D) by a 385-121 margin.

George Gray (R) captured 452 votes to become treasurer. Republican incumbents returned to office are Supervisor Earl Blinewald, 477; Clerk Donald Titworth, 452; and Trustee Carl Lozier, 439.

WAIT THEIR TURN — Like many another elector, those in Orchard Lake had to stand in a long line at the village hall yesterday to vote. Pending the expected approval of a city charter Dec. 8, they may have been casting their last ballots for West Bloomfield Township officials. In case the charter is not accepted, they also reelected three village commissioners who would begin new terms in January. Vote totals were John C. Hall, 316, and Charles M. Newman, 312, for 3-year terms and Everett R. Casey, 321 for a 1-year term.

In Macomb Townships

Voting Follows Familiar Pattern

Voting followed a familiar pattern in three nearby Macomb County townships yesterday.

Unopposed Republican incumbents were swept back into office in Bruce and Washington townships while the Democrats again scored heavily in Shelby Township.

Voters also endorsed the single proposition in any of these townships when they granted Washington Township permission to provide separate fire protection for the half of the township north of 29 Mile Road, excluding the Village of Rome.

Another part of the proposal asked for an assessment to pay for the fire protection which would amount to one mill or one dollar per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The request was granted by an overwhelming vote of 303 to 101.

Also in Washington Township

R. Eugene Inwood paced all of the incumbents to be elected to his 19th term as supervisor. He received 1,948 votes.

CLERK FOLLOWS

Right on his heels was Clerk Alton J. Donaldson with 1,033 and Trustee Hazel M. Stone with 1,024.

Treasurer Charles A. Curtis polled 1,008 votes with Justice of the Peace Charles R. Beck Jr. garnering 984.

Incumbents Gerald Alward and Harold Fritz led the field for the four constable vacancies, tallying 1,024 and 973 respectively. Also elected were Fred C. Haldeman, seeking a constable post for the first time, with 959, and incumbent Paul H. Faulker Jr. with 950.

Leading the field in Bruce Township was Clerk Edward Sutherland with 918 votes.

TREASURER CLOSE

Close behind him was Treasurer Hazel Kohlhaugen with 910 and Supervisor Jerome Schoof with 903.

Also reelected were Trustee Wilbert G. Donaldson who tallied 884 votes and constables James A. Reynolds and Charles Meeker with respective vote totals of 842 and 836.

A total of 15 write-in votes were cast for Francis A. Castelletto to fill the vacant justice of the peace post for which no candidates previously had filed.

Local attorney Edward A. Jacob polled the next highest write-in total with 10 votes.

Sutherland said eight more votes were cast in Bruce Township yesterday than in the 1960 presidential election.

In Shelby Township it was a clear cut victory again for Supervisor Lorin E. Evans (D) who outpolled his Republican challenger Xenophone J. M. a guire by a vote of 3,713 to 2,167.

TOP VOTE-GETTER

Top vote-getter, however, was Clerk Mae Stecker (D), running unopposed, who tallied 4,499 votes. Next was Treasurer Jack B. Millard, (D), with 4,465.

In the race for the two trustee openings Democrat Clifford Pemberton, won one seat with 4,854 votes and incumbent Walter B. Ohlinsky (D) the other with 2,754. Lower was the lone Republican on the ballot, Edna Brown, with 2,808.

The justice of the peace vacancy was filled by Kenneth Cole who received 4,379 votes.

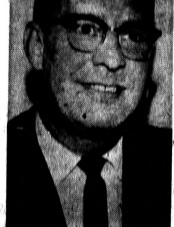

Filling four constable vacancies are incumbents Joseph D. Moore and Harold Howcroft with 4,200 and 4,186 votes respectively and Charley Wallace, 4,183 and Edward White, 4,172.

The biggest turnout of voters in its history was recorded in the township with 7,348 going to the polls.

An estimated 22 billion pieces of advertising, primarily third-class mail, went through the mails in the nation last year.

Independence Twp. Reelects Supervisor

yesterday as he outpolled his Democratic opponent L. D. Riley 1,878 to 1,167.

Top vote-getter in the township election was incumbent GOP Clerk Howard Altman who received a total of 2,097. He was unopposed.

Also unopposed was incumbent Treasurer Kenneth L. Johnson, a Democrat, who polled 1,639 votes.

Republican Merle Bennett was reelected as a trustee. He received 1,717 votes of 1,223 for his Democratic opponent John C. Poage.

Unopposed for Justice of the Peace was Republican Robert Cerr who garnered 1,972 votes. Reelected as constables were Robert Phillips, 2,003; Peris Holcomb, 1,993; and H. William Yoh, 1,844. The three, all Republicans, were unopposed.

3 Townships Back GOP

All Candidates Unopposed

Springfield, Oxford, Lyon Slates Elected

Unopposed Republican slates were swept in by voters in Oxford, Lyon and Springfield townships yesterday.

All the Lyon candidates were incumbents, while Oxford had two new officers and Springfield one.

Lyon

Supervisor William K. Smith, 57, and Clerk F. Lyman Joslin, 58, led the slate of unopposed Republican incumbents who were returned to office.

Treasurer Alfred W. Haack received 562 votes and Trustee Allen McCrory 559.

A four-year justice of the peace post went to Edward C. Bourns, who polled 558 votes, while Charles T. Roby got the nod from 543 electors in his bid for a 2-year justice term.

Constable Charles Mackey received 521.

Oxford

An unopposed Republican slate was voted in by the Oxford Township electorate.

Incumbent Supervisor Lee B. Valentine polled 1,186, incumbent Clerk Nina H. Chamberlain, 1,217, and incumbent Treasurer Luella Francis, 1,201 votes.

Appointee William C. Offer was continued in office as trustee with 1,129 votes and incumbent Justice of the Peace George E. Meads Sr. received 1,188.

Four candidates filled an equal number of vacancies for constable posts.

Incumbents reelected were Albert Roberts, 1,165; LaVern N. Robinson, 1,078; and Edward LaDouceur, 1,096. Elwyn B. McPherson gained the remaining position with 1,064 votes.

Incumbent library board member Florence R. Oberg tallied 1,195 and William Matus received 1,076 to win the other board post.

Springfield

Incumbent Treasurer Eva M. Walters, whose reelection was supported by 625 electors, was the top vote-getter in an election in which Republicans were unopposed.

The only successful candidate who was not an incumbent was James P. Halsey, who won one of the constable posts with 577 votes while incumbent Elwyn C. Hillman was returned to the other with 584.

Vote totals of other successful Republican incumbents were Supervisor John L. Carey, 610; Clerk Oscar R. Wall, 624; Trustee Lloyd E. Miller, 599; and Justice of the Peace Emmett J. Leib, 601.

Witness Throws a Boomerang at Defense Lawyer

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A defense attorney was attempting to discredit the testimony of a woman state's witness during a trial in Buncombe (Asheville) County Superior Court.

"You just finished a prison term yourself, didn't you?" the attorney demanded. "Yes, that's right," the witness replied. "Yes, you were convicted of forgery. Right?" The witness answered, "That's right."

"What did you forge?" the attorney continued. "Nothing!" "Nothing!" the attorney thundered. "What on earth were you doing in prison?" "I wish you'd tell me," the witness replied. "You were my lawyer."

Women Buy Hatpins to Defend Themselves

NEW YORK (AP)—A survey of department stores shows that the rise in New York City's subway crime has been accompanied by an increase in sale of hatpins as long as five inches. Apparently women are preparing for self-defense.

LAST-MINUTE PERSUASION—Republican Mrs. Jack Witrow of 3199 Interlaken and Democrat James Barnes of 4430 Orchard Lake make a final stab at getting support for their respective candidates at the West Bloomfield Township Hall. They took care not to step within 100 feet of the polling place, a radius marked by the flag.

Brandon Dem Loses in Upset

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—Political newcomer Richard R. Wilcox, a Republican, upset Democratic Supervisor Alex R. Solley's bid for a fifth term yesterday by a four-vote margin.

Solley, who had been in the township's top office for eight years, polled 671 votes to 675 for his opponent.

Despite the close tally, Solley said he had no plans to seek a recount.

Mrs. H. Lucille Saunders, a Democrat, and Republican Marvin L. Featherston, the incumbent clerk and treasurer respectively, both were reelected.

Forester Gets New Position

Moves From Lapeer to Imlay City Office

IMLAY CITY—Al J. Phillips, forester for the State Conservation Department in this area, has moved from the Cooperative Extension Service office at Lapeer to the Conservation Department District office at Imlay City.

The move is in line with the reorganization program of the Conservation Department, and will not change the woodland assistance program.

Under the program, anyone owning five or more acres of woodland may request assistance.

Phillips does private consulting work in St. Clair, Lapeer, Sanilac, Macomb and Oakland counties.

Personnel from the Parks and Recreation and Geology Section of the department are also expected to move into the Imlay City district office, in order to improve communications and service.

Glass-Container Use Numbers 1,480 a Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The average American family each year uses the contents of about 1,480 bottles and jars, reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute. This is more than any other rigid container.

Some glass packages come into the home and are discarded after their contents are used. Others, like milk bottles, made many trips. Products packaged in glass are counted in the thousands. They range all the way from sweet milk to sour pickles and far beyond.

Avon Garden Unit to Meet Monday

AVON TOWNSHIP—The Stiles branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold its November meeting Monday.

The gathering will take place at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Floyd Hawks, 3706 Orchard View.

On the agenda will be a morning workshop devoted to making holiday decorations.

Following luncheon, members and guests will welcome Mrs. James Haman, head of Gray Ladies Chapter, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, who will be speaker of the day.

Education Week Observance

Modern Math to Be Featured

ROCHESTER — The teaching of modern mathematics, or "the New Math," began in Rochester Community Schools just seven weeks ago.

But the new method of imparting mathematics skills and knowledge will be in the limelight next week as the schools observe National Education Week.

Newspaper articles, PTA meetings and brochures, as well as classes for adults in the subject, have focused attention on modern math since the start of the school year.

Next week's observance will therefore stress the progress of the program in Rochester Community Schools, rather than explain the subject.

Robert D. McKenney, mathematics coordinator for the schools, said that modern math seems to have produced more enthusiasm for the subject than did the old methods of teaching mathematics.

PARENTS JOIN IN

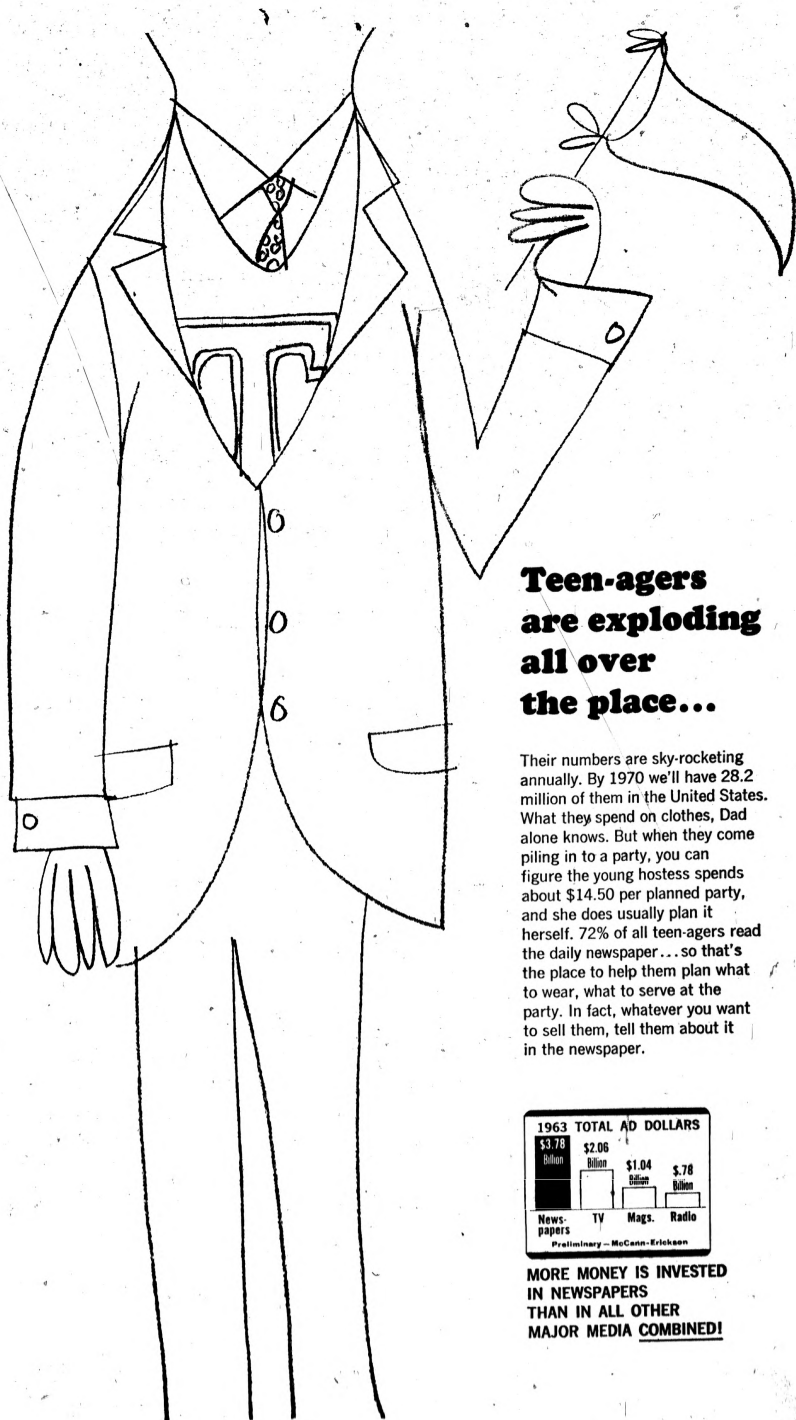

According to McKenney, parents are joining teachers and students in agreement on the value of the new approach, which emphasizes understanding rather than rote learning.

A course entitled "New Mathematics for Parents" has been offered for the past two years through the adult education program, and some 150 parents have already attended classes.

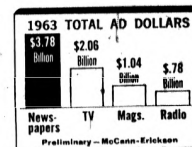

McKenney said that National Education Week will find Rochester Community Schools in excellent condition in the area of mathematics.

The U.S. Patent Office receives about 850 applications daily, and it takes nearly three years to get a patent granted.

Teen-agers are exploding all over the place...

Their numbers are sky-rocketing annually. By 1970 we'll have 28.2 million of them in the United States. What they spend on clothes, Dad alone knows. But when they come piling in to a party, you can figure the young hostess spends about $14.50 per planned party, and she does usually plan it herself. 72% of all teen-agers read the daily newspaper... so that's the place to help them plan what to wear, what to serve at the party. In fact, whatever you want to sell them, tell them about it in the newspaper.

MORE MONEY IS INVESTED IN NEWSPAPERS THAN IN ALL OTHER MAJOR MEDIA COMBINED!

A Lot Easier Out of Office

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—When a new state park lodge was opened, former Gov. Bert Catts was among the speakers at the dedication.

His opening statement was a tacit summary of life away from the spotlight.

"One great advantage of being a private citizen again," he remarked, "is that now nobody expects me to say something brilliant or witty every time I open my mouth."

To Honor Teacher for Long Service in Milford Area

MILFORD—Margaret Muir, who has devoted 50 years to teaching in the Milford area, will be honored at a reception at Milford High School Sunday.

Sponsored by the Huron Valley Education Association, the affair will start at 2 and end at 5 p.m.

Miss Muir has taught in the area since 1914 and in the Huron Valley Schools since they consolidated in 1949.

Friends and former students of Miss Muir are invited to attend the reception.

TV Helping Find Cancer

VANCOUVER (AP)—Television is used every day here to help find cancer.

From initial studies in a screening room of suspect tissues, chief technician Denys R. Lock then uses a powerful microscope to help transmit a picture of the tissue to a 34-inch TV screen.

India Food Rationing Could Be Political Bomb

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is embarking on the most ambitious project of his five months in office. It could make or break him politically.

Disregarding warnings from political lieutenants, Shastri has ordered his New Delhi government to institute strict food rationing in all of Kerala State, 1,100 miles away in southern India.

If the New Delhi government can swing this, Shastri will press for rationing throughout India as a means of avoiding disaster in the nation's critical food shortage.

Shastri tried to convince the chief ministers (governors) from all states that there should be immediate rationing in all cities of more than one million persons. They expressed doubt that the New Delhi government could handle the administrative burdens of such a plan, but Shastri forged ahead in Kerala.

NO RESISTANCE
He faces no effective resistance from local politicians in Kerala. The New Delhi government took over all affairs of state there earlier this year when Shastri's local regime was tossed out by a Communist-backed no-confidence motion in the legislature.

The plan is that each of the estimated 20 million persons in Kerala be guaranteed a basic ration of six ounces of wheat and four ounces of rice daily.

Reinforced police squads will check all food shipments to see there is no smuggling in or out of the state. Smuggling in other parts of India have been a major problem and it remains to be seen whether the police forces will be enough in Kerala. There are no plans to use the army.

The rationing program places Shastri on the spot because in the next week, as it gets underway, his government will assume responsibility for feeding the entire state.

SPECIAL REPORT

COMPLAIN TO SHASTRI

Police cordons will disrupt the normal flow of grain for private sales and any complaints about food shortages in future will be directed at Shastri, not the grain shop on the corner.

What worried many of the chief ministers was whether the New Delhi government, with a reputation of being entangled in bureaucratic red tape, could even handle the paper work of fairly distributing food grain in a state of 14,992 square miles.

Rationing has been proven almost unenforceable in other parts of India that tried it.

Home Minister G. L. Nanda, who must carry out Shastri's orders, says lack of natural resources has held India back, "but administrative capacity was an even more limiting factor in our development."

For Shastri, the gamble of trying rationing may be the lesser of two evils.

He has been under increasingly heavy criticism in recent weeks as the food shortages became more critical and political unrest spread. To do nothing would only increase the criticism.

President Relaxes After Casting Vote

Relaxed and smiling after casting his vote in this central Texas town of 500, the President and Mrs. Johnson stopped by his homestead for about 20 minutes. Some 50 newsmen stopped with him.

They got a brief demonstration of how to bring water up in a bucket from a well, a rambling history lesson on the homestead and the hill country around it, and a personal tour of the unoccupied white frame house.

Johnson even defied superstition a bit, posing with Mrs. Johnson in a swing on the porch of the house, where he said he closed his 1941 campaign for the U.S. Senate, the only political race he has lost. But that was by only 1,311 votes, he reminded newsmen.

around Mrs. Johnson, he mentioned the one election which he lost to former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel. Suddenly singling out a photographer, he asked, "Have you voted absentee?"

"No sir," was the reply, "I'm from Europe."

CALLS TO FRIEND

Before Johnson left, he called to a friend and campaign worker, Mrs. Bill Stribling. "If Blanco County goes Republican, it's your fault," he said, smiling.

"I've done everything I could possibly do," she said, "and I'm still trying."

Johnson votes in Blanco County, where the homestead is located, although the LBJ Ranch is 15 miles away in Gillespie County.

Dies of Crash Injuries

DETROIT (UPI) — Albert Bonmainville, 32, Windsor, Ont., died yesterday from injuries suffered Sunday when his car smashed into the side of the Detroit approach to the Ambassador Bridge to Windsor.

STOPS AT WELL

Walking through the gate of a white split-rail fence, Johnson stopped by a well in the front yard while reporters gathered around.

After a little difficulty untying a knot on the bucket, Johnson drew it up, describing how his father used to do the same thing every morning.

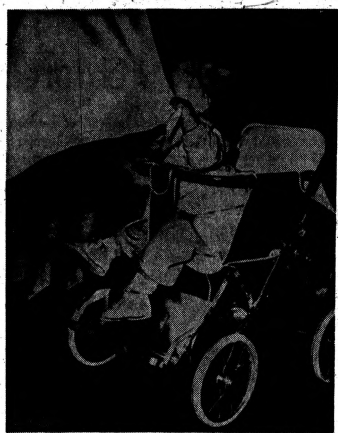

He then started around back of the house — and pointed to what he said was a stone fort his grandfather had built in the 1850s. He also gestured toward some trees, saying, "The one consistent thing about my forebears is that they never located anything except by live oak trees."

In the house, the President put on his glasses to admire a display of glassware his mother had collected. Then, stepping into the kitchen, he acted out a 30-year-old scene where he said his father had told his mother the "boy" didn't have better sense than to pay $6 an acre for some land in the area.

WORTH MORE

"It's worth about $75 to $100 an acre now," he told a newsman.

From the kitchen, the President and Mrs. Johnson moved to the front porch and a wicker swing. With his arm

Pall Hung Over Poll

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — No-body stayed around the voting booth at Johns Creek School longer than necessary.

The polling place had an unmistakable aroma — despite fans, deodorants and such. Perhaps it was a holdover from Halloween pranks, but somebody turned a skunk loose in the school Monday.

It was covered in the cafeteria and used the only defense at its disposal.

Terrorists Blow Up Pumping Stations

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Terrorists blew up seven U.S.-owned pumping stations and a 24-inch crude oil pipe Tuesday near El Tigre in eastern Venezuela, causing more than $100,000 damage.

Authorities said the terrorism apparently was timed by the Castroite — Communist Armed Forces for National Liberation to coincide with the U.S. election. The facilities are owned by Mene Grande, a subsidiary of Texas Gulf Co.

Fruit Cakes Must Season

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Candied fruit is in the stores now and it's time to think about your holiday fruit cakes. Election is over and life has settled back to a semblance of normalcy.

If you like the dark rich type of fruit cake, here's just the recipe for you. Leaving the fruit and nuts whole or in large pieces creates a stained glass effect when the cake is cut.

Dark fruit cakes need a month or two of aging for best flavor.

Raisin Bourbon Fruit Cake Deluxe

1 (15-ounce) package dark or golden seedless raisins
1½ cups mixed candied fruits and peels
¾ cup whole candied cherries
¾ cup candied pineapple chunks
¾ cup citron chunks
1½ cups candied orange peel chunks
1 cup pitted dates
½ cup bourbon
¾ cup brown sugar (packed)
½ cup butter
4 eggs
¼ cup golden molasses
1 cup walnut halves
½ cup pecan halves
1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon baking powder

Combine raisins, candied fruits, peels and dates with bourbon. Cover and let stand overnight.

Beat brown sugar and butter until very light and fluffy. Beat eggs until thick and combine with sugar mixture. Blend in molasses. Stir in fruits and nuts.

Resist flour with salt, spices and baking powder into batter. Mix until well blended. Turn into greased 9 or 10-inch tube pan, lined with greased brown paper. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 3½ hours or until cake tests done. Make 1 (9 or 10-inch) tube cake.

One of our readers has asked for a recipe for chocolate fruit cake. We hope she sees it here.

Chocolate Holiday Fruit Cake
¾ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder

½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 package (6 oz.) chocolate morsels
1-3 cup butter
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon orange extract
3 eggs
¼ cup water
1½ cups mixed candied fruit, finely chopped
1 cup finely chopped nuts

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and soda. Add chocolate over hot (not boiling) water.

Combine and beat until creamy butter, brown sugar and orange extract. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in melted chocolate. Add flour mixture alternately with water. Fold in fruit and nuts.

Pour into greased and floured 1½ quart ring mold. Bake 35 minutes at 350 degrees.

TO GLAZE

Remove from oven and brush hot cake immediately with corn syrup. Arrange in desired design on top of cake ¼ cup mixed candied fruit, coarsely chopped and nut halves.

It is also possible to make a chocolate fruit cake by adding four squares of bitter chocolate, melted, to your regular fruit cake recipe. Add just before the eggs.

Another novel fruit cake recipe is one that calls for bananas. The mashed fruit helps keep the cake moist. This is a light fruit cake.

Festive Banana Fruitcake

2-3 cup shortening
1-3 cups sugar
4 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cups sifted flour
5½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups mashed bananas
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
2 cups mixed candied fruits and peels
¼ cup raisins

Preheat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Beat shortening until creamy and glossy, or 2 minutes at medium speed on electric mixer. Gradually add sugar, beating until light and fluffy after each addition. Add eggs and beat until thick and pale lemon in color.

Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with bananas to first mixture; blend thoroughly after each addition. Blend in nuts, candied fruits and raisins. Pour batter into a greased 8-inch circular spring-form pan. Bake for 60 to 70 minutes. Cool.

Make Banana Glaze and spread on top of cake. Garnish

Banana Glaze
1-3 cup mashed banana
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pound sifted confectioners' sugar

Combine all ingredients. Mix until smooth and well blended. Makes about 2 cups.

Please Male Taste With Hash Breakfast

On a blustery cold morning, the man-of-the-house may require special breakfast tactics to get him moving. Why not open a can of corned beef hash at both ends and push out the molded meat-potato mixture?

Cut this into 1-inch slices, pan fry in drippings long enough to heat through and serve topped with poached or fried eggs. It'll be a happy 'good morning to you, too!

Dress Up Recipe

It's time to think of cookies for the Thanksgiving holiday. A favorite spice-flavored drop cookie may be used; add chopped candied fruit, raisins or currants and nuts.

Green, White, Orange

Instead of serving one vegetable for dinner, serve three. Vegetable Trio combines zucchini squash, celery and canned carrots. Cut two small zucchini squash and a stalk of celery into half-inch chunks. Cook until just tender in part of the liquid drained from a pound can or jar of sliced carrots. Add drained pepper and a bit of butter.

New Version of Old Dish

Prepare a simple, yet flavorful main course for late evening or brunch.

Chili-Poached Eggs
16-20 cooked asparagus spears
4 eggs
Chili powder
4 slices toast

Poach eggs, arrange asparagus on toast, and top each with poached egg. Sprinkle lightly with chili powder (or curry).

If Bones Are Short Roast It Longer

Most rib roasts wear the short compact look these days because the retailer has removed the short ribs. As a result, the compact rib roast has approximately the same diameter as well as the same roasting time as a boned, rolled rib roast.

If the beef rib roast has been left with the ribs long, that is, 7 to 9 inches, it will require less roasting time than that roast which is compact and measures 5 to 7 inches.

New Mixture for Nibbling

Make up a batch of this nibble food for your next card party.

Popcorn Medley
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 quart unsalted popped popcorn
1 1/2 cups (1 3-oz. can) chow mein noodles
1 1/2 cups bite-sized shredded wheat biscuits
1 cup pecan halves
1 teaspoon basil
Melt butter or margarine in large skillet. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt and garlic powder. Add popcorn, noodles, bite-sized wheat biscuits, and pecans; toss gently until well-coated. Sprinkle with basil. Place on cookie sheet and heat in a slow oven (250 degrees) for 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool.

Q.

Deerfoot Farms
Pure Pork Sausages are leaner?

LESS SHRINK

See?

We cooked three different brands of pork sausages. All three brands were the same size when we started. Deerfoot Farms Sausages (the ones in the middle) were much bigger after they were cooked. They have less shrink per link because they're leaner.

Deerfoot Farms Brand Pure Pork Sausages are leaner because they're meatier. And because they're meatier, they're tastier. They're made with sweet, choice cuts of pork, including meaty hams and tenderloins.

Deerfoot Farms Brand Pure Pork Sausage links are packaged in aluminum trays for cooking convenience. Also in one pound rolls. Made fresh daily in Michigan.

Made and guaranteed by Hygrade.

SAVORY LAMB—Featuring delicate, light dumplings made with sifted unbleached flour, this lamb stew will be a specialty you'll enjoy serving often.

Feathery Dumplings Grace Lamb Stew

With the coming of cooler weather, food preparation again will be concentrated in the kitchen and there will be a family demand for hot and hearty main dishes.

Stews and soups offer the opportunity to use less expensive cuts of lamb with a variety of vegetables. Slow even cooking gives tenderness to the meat and blends the flavor of the meat with the vegetables and seasonings.

The French have a word for it, "pot au feu," a savory combination of meat, broth and vegetables. Literally translated, the word means "pot on the fire."

Cubes of economical lamb shoulder—meat used for soups and stews are delicious when cooked properly.

Savory Lamb Stew
1½ pounds lamb shoulder, cubed
Seasoned unbleached flour
2 tablespoons shortening
2 cups water
4 medium-sized onions, sliced
6 medium-sized carrots, sliced
6 medium-sized potatoes, diced
½ teaspoon rosemary
Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups sifted, unbleached flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ cup shortening
1 cup milk

Coat lamb with seasoned flour. Heat shortening; add lamb and cook until lightly browned on all sides. Add water. Cover; cook over low heat 45 minutes.

Add onions, carrots, potatoes, rosemary and salt and pepper. Cover; cook until vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally.

Sift flour, baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt together. Add parsley. Cut in shortening. Add milk and blend. Drop by tablespoons into lamb mixture. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Ever add a little celery salt to creamstyle clam chowder?

Unusual Topping Is Broiled on Cake

To satisfy that sweet tooth most of us have, there couldn't be an easier remedy than broiled Peacout Frosting. Its chewy texture is equally satisfying when spread on plain cake or used to top Halloween's perennial favorite — doughnuts. Extra nutty flavor is provided by the California Sherry used as the liquid.

Broiled Peacout Frosting

½ cup (firmly packed) brown sugar
¼ cup peanut butter
¼ cup California Sherry
1 cup shredded coconut
Put sugar, peanut butter and Sherry in a mixing bowl; beat with a fork until well blended. Add coconut; mix well. Spread mixture over top of cake when it comes from the oven; broil slowly until frosting is lightly browned. Let cake cool in the pan before cutting. This makes sufficient frosting for the top of a 9-inch square cake.

Lace With Sherry

A good way to tease appetites is with a Tomato Soup Appetizer. Combine and heat canned condensed tomato soup and milk. Stir in some sherry to taste and remove from heat. Serve in individual cups with a garnish of grated sharp cheese.

Wine and Herbs Add Flavor to Veal Stew

Veal, sometimes neglected by cooks, makes elegant fare.

Special Veal Stew

2 pounds boneless veal stew meat
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon each salt and paprika
¼ teaspoon dried rosemary
¼ cup oil
¼ cup dry white wine
1 can (10½ ounces) consommé
¼ cup finely chopped onion
3 large carrots, pared
3 large celery ribs
1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms
Trim any excess fat from meat; cut into generous chunks. Roll meat until well coated in a mixture of the flour, garlic powder, salt, paprika and rosemary. Brown slowly in heated oil until a rich brown on all sides.

Sprinkle with any remaining flour mixture; add wine, melted consommé and onion. Cover and simmer until almost tender — about 1½ hours.

Cut carrots diagonally into ½-inch thick slices; cut celery the same way. Add to meat with mushrooms and their liquid. Cover and continue cooking until vegetables are tender 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Nutritious Farina Binds Meat Loaf

Any time of year is right for serving Cereal — Ham Loaf, but the holiday season is perfect. It is so easy to clothe the entire in complementary garnishes. And so sensible to keep the budget in line by stretching ground meat with flavorful breakfast cereals.

Take this festive Cereal-Ham Loaf, plain or malt-flavored farina extends and binds the coarsely chopped ham and pork. If you are giving a dinner party, you may well wish to try it.

Before packing the cereal-ham mixture into a loaf pan, arrange pineapple slices in the bottom. When the baked loaf is turned out on a platter, spoon heated canned cranberry sauce down the center for a striking crimson effect.

In addition to binding meat loaves, breakfast cereals such as farina, are excellent for ingredient use in many recipes as they are inexpensive, convenient, add flavor and texture. Even more important perhaps, they make nutritional contributions of protein, B vitamins, and essential minerals.

Cereal - Pineapple Ham Loaf

1 can (8½ ounce) sliced pineapple

apple (or 4 slices)
Water
2 eggs
¼ cup farina, plain or malt flavored, uncooked
1½ pounds coarsely ground smoked ham
½ pound coarsely ground lean pork
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon liquid smoke (optional)
1 can (1 pound) cranberry sauce

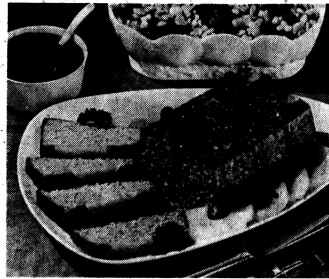

Drain pineapple slices; save syrup. Place pineapple slices in bottom of 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Add water to pineapple syrup to make 1½ cups liquid.

Combine liquid and remaining ingredients except cranberry sauce; mix well. Pack into loaf pan, keeping meat loaf flat on top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until done, about 1 hour. Let stand in pan 10 minutes.

Turn out and serve with hot or cold cranberry sauce, as desired. Yield: 6-8 servings.

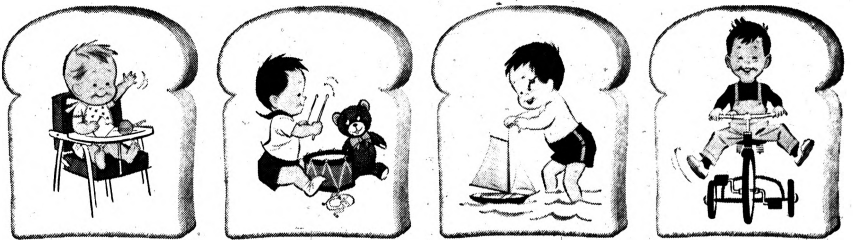

Cream Dressing

Ever dress an apple and celery salad with heavy cream seasoned with salt, paprika, prepared yellow mustard, sugar and paprika?

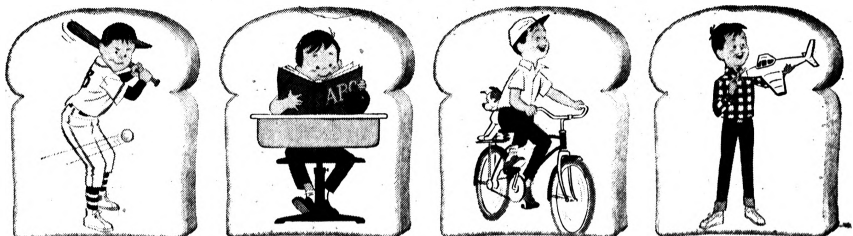

HAM LOAF—Cereal-Pineapple Ham Loaf is a marvelous entree for a dinner. Guests will love this good meat loaf and so will a hostess, for farina used as the binding agent helps make the loaf easier to slice.

BREAD BASKET — Stew will take on added interest when served in an unusual manner. Here you see it in a bread basket. This is a quickie meal as canned beef stew is used.

Scoop Out Loaf to Hold Stew

It's late. You know the family will be starving by the time you get home. You can't spend much time on dinner. A can of beef stew and a round loaf of unsliced bread will save the day.

Not only will you have dinner on the table in double quick time, but you'll be praised for the novel way you serve the main course.

Beef Stew in Bread Basket

24 ounce can beef stew
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons mustard
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 pound round loaf unsliced
Vienna bread

Combine beef stew, catsup, and mustard. Simmer 15 minutes. Slice off top of bread and scoop out center to form basket. Spoon beef stew mixture into hollowed out bread. Top with chopped onion.

Place in a shallow bowl. Cut bread into wedges and serve topped with hot stew.

Men Cooks Can Win $10,000 in New Contest

Now is the time for all men, who have a flair for cooking indoors or outdoors, to enter America's Cookout Championship.

Your favorite recipe could qualify you as one of 25 finalists who will participate in this national barbecue competition "for men only" next April in Hawaii.

And to top everything, wives go along with their husbands—a gorgeous seven-day trip, velvet carpet all the way, and expense free.

Who knows — that quick, easy dish served at your own outdoor parties could win a cash award of $10,000 in 1965's Hawaiian cook-off.

Recipe entries must include title, ingredients, and a description of how the barbecue main dish is prepared. All entries must be submitted before October 31 to America's Cookout Championship, Post Office Box 37, Los Angeles 51, Calif.

From time immemorial, peanuts and peanut butter have been featured mainstays of Halloween fun. This year prepare a delightful peanut butter-bacon mixture flavored with Muscatel and curry powder for a hot and savory canape.

Peanut Butter-Bacon Canapes

½ cup peanut butter
1 (3-oz.) package cream cheese
¼ cup California Muscatel
2 strips bacon, cooked crisp and crumbled

Dash of curry powder

7 or 8 slices bread, crusts removed

Mix peanut butter and cream cheese; blend in wine; add bacon and curry powder. Toast slices of bread on one side; spread peanut butter mixture on untoasted side; cut each slice in four squares or triangles. Broil just until bubbly and delicately browned. Serve at once. Makes 28 to 32 canapes.

Today's Turkey Is Boneless

A boneless young turkey roast brings new menu variety to fall or holiday meals. Accompanied by a Molded Relish Salad the turkey roast is especially fine for buffet service during the holidays.

The boneless turkey roast will be most welcome by the host because it requires no carving, only slicing to serve.

Simple directions for roasting or oven broiling are on the wrapper of the frozen turkey roast. The roast may be cooked without pre-thawing or thawed in the original wrap on a tray in the refrigerator.

Since refrigerator thawing takes 2 to 3 days, most people will prefer to begin the roasting from the frozen state.

Home economists recommend that the turkey roast be cooked in a covered roasting pan with a little moisture added. The 4 to 6 pound frozen roast will take 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 hours.

The roast is brought to an internal temperature of 180 to 185 degrees on a roast meat thermometer in a 350 degree oven.

For those who want turkey with stuffing, a loaf poke of old-fashioned bread, cornbread, or sausage stuffing can be baked in the oven right along with the turkey roast.

And of course, no turkey menu is complete without cranberries. That's why the glistening Molded Relish Salad contains a package of frozen cranberry relish.

MOLDED RELISH SALAD

First Layer

3 ounce package strawberry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
10 1/2 ounce package frozen cranberry relish
2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
Dash of salt

Dissolve strawberry gelatin in boiling water. Add cranberry relish, lemon juice, orange rind, and salt. Pour into 1 1/2 quart ring mold which has been lightly greased. Chill until set.

Second Layer

3 ounce package lemon gelatin
1 1/4 cups boiling water
2 cups miniature marshmallows
13 1/2 ounce can crushed pineapple
3 ounce package cream cheese
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
Dash of salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Shrimp Dish Prepared Fast

It takes only a few minutes to make a wine-flavored main dish if you rely on some of the new convenience foods — the easy way. Food editors saw and tasted examples of some of these modern methods when they attended the California wine industry's event at the annual Food Editors Conference in New York.

Here's one combination: frozen mixed vegetables with onion sauce, plus shrimp, plus a can of frozen main noodle. The finished dish will have outstanding flavor because white dinner wine, such as California Sauterne or Chablis, is substituted for part of the usual water in cooking the frozen vegetables.

To serve the casserole in style, pour glasses of the same wine well chilled, as the mealtime beverage.

Crisp 'n Creamy Vegetables with Shrimp

2 (8-oz.) packages frozen mixed vegetables with onion sauce
1 cup water
1/2 cup California Sauterne, Chablis or other white dinner wine
2 tablespoons butter
1 (4 1/2-oz.) can devalued shrimp
1 (3 oz.) can chow mein noodles

Prepare vegetables according to package directions using 1 cup water and 1/2 cup wine. Add butter and drained shrimp. Heat, and when piping hot, turn into a serving dish and top with oven-crisped chow mein noodles. Makes 5-6 servings.

Braise Veal

Veal chops and steaks, unlike beef chops and beef steaks, should be braised for top flavor. They should be browned in a little hot fat, then cooked in a covered pan with a small amount of liquid — water, bouillon, fruit or vegetable juice, or tomato sauce — until the meat is easily pierced with a fork.

1/2 cup whipping cream
Dissolve lemon gelatin in boiling water. Add marshmallows and stir until melted. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Add syrup from pineapple to gelatin. Chill until partially set. Blend in cream cheese, sour cream, and salt. Add to lemon gelatin mixture. Stir in pineapple and nuts. Chill until partially set. Whip cream and fold into gelatin mixture. Pour over first layer. Chill until set. Serve with turkey roast.

Macaroni-Meat Salad Has Place in Lunch Box

Elbow macaroni and leftover roast lamb can be combined in a hefty main dish salad which will provide variety in the carried lunch. The recipe developed by the National Macaroni Institute contains vegetables, too, and is almost a complete meal in itself.

A few crackers, a vacuum bottle of cold milk or hot coffee (depending on the age of the lunch-toter) and fresh fruit round out the lunch.

Macaroni Lamb Lunch Box Salad

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons grated onion
2 1/4 teaspoons seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon crushed marjoram
Dash cayenne
1 package (10 ounces) frozen French style green beans, cooked and drained
2 cups diced cooked lamb
1 cup grated carrots

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again.

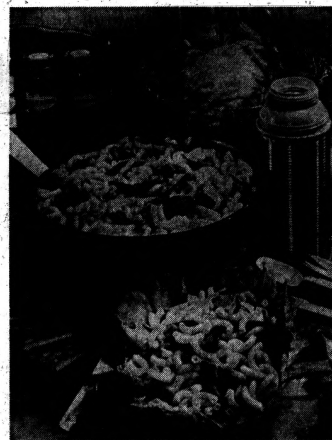

Blend together oil, vinegar, onion, seasoned salt, marjoram and cayenne. Combine in large bowl with macaroni and remaining ingredients. Toss and chill. Makes 6 servings.

Note: For lunch box, arrange well chilled salad in lettuce cup and wrap in aluminum foil or pack in plastic or paper container.

Nontime Noodles and Beef

1 pound ground beef
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
Dash pepper
1 package (1 1/2-ounce) onion soup mix
3 1/2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
Grated American cheese product

Spice Book Will Inspire

If you have been denying yourself the pleasant excitement of cooking with spices because you've always thought such recipes must be quite complicated, you are in for a happy surprise.

The American Spice Trade Association has published a 48-page booklet titled "The Magic of Spices," which contains over 200 shore recipes and suggestions for spicing convenience foods.

On leafing through this gaily illustrated book, you will find such appetizing short recipes as Herbed Fried Chicken, Ginger Peaches and Waffles, Mustard Baked Eggs, Imperial Crab Casserole, Santa Fe Chili and many other savory dishes for family and company meals.

There is a Pick-a-Spice Chart, too, which gives suggested uses for some different spices and spice blends and an equally useful Add-a-Spice chart which lists quick and easy ways of bringing a touch of variety to your own favorite recipes.

"The Magic of Spices" can be ordered from the American Spice Trade Association, 76 Beaver Street, New York, N.Y. 10005, for 25c a copy.

Fresh Pears Can Be Used as Dessert

Pears were restricted to the gardens of kings in ancient days and thus were treated like rare jewels. But today's "butter fruit," unlike rare jewels, is plentiful and within the average homemaker's budget.

More than half of the 1964 pear crop will be accounted for by Bartlett, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service. These are the popular bell-shaped, green to yellow pears so abundant this fall.

One averaged-sized raw pear contains only 100 calories, yet has the taste of concentrated sweetness. This makes pears popular for dessert, whether served fresh along with cheese and crackers, or with a very little effort, dressed up for fancier fare.

Picture a pear sundae, for example — sliced pear halves with a scoop of ice cream in the hollowed out center and a topping of caramel or ginger sauce poured over all.

To cook a slightly more creative, yet quite simple dessert: wash, halve and core 6 pears and place skin side down in a greased baking pan. Combine 1/2 cup white sugar with 1/4 cup brown sugar. Sprinkle each pear half with 1 tablespoon of the sugar mixture and dot with 1 teaspoon butter. Sprinkle with cinnamon and remaining sugar mixture.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes, until sugar is caramelized. Bake pears several times during baking with melted sugar.

Protein Rich Salad Is a Main Course

The gang coming? A salad will do if you have a hearty dessert.

American Salad

3 cups cooked macaroni shells
1 can (1 pound) kidney beans
1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat, diced
2 cups diced cucumber
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon tabasco sauce
1/2 cup commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Toss together the macaroni, beans, meat and cucumber. Mix the mayonnaise with the mustard and tabasco; mix in sour cream; toss with first mixture; sprinkle with parsley. Chill. Makes 6 servings.

CHILI STUFFED TOMATOES—Looks good! 'Tis good! Tomatoes stuffed with ground meat and beans, beautifully seasoned, and delicious as a main dish.

Fill Whole Tomatoes

Serve Chili in Different Way

The dangle of right red chili peppers tied together for drying is ever so handsome when you're trying for a south-of-the-border decor for your kitchen—even though you may actually use the much more convenient chili powder in cooking.

Called a ristra in Spanish, whole chili peppers cut from the string, one or two at a time, are used to give zip to Mexican and Latin American dishes. Mingled with the chili peppers in characteristic Mexican dishes are such other aromatics as cominos (cumin), oregano, garlic.

All these spices, in ground form, have been blended by experts to make the very popular chili powder which ranks high on the spice shelves of the United States. Some manufacturers like to add ground cloves, allspice, onion powder or other spices.

Even though chili-flavored dishes originated in the border states of the Southwest and have been most familiar as the blend which makes chili con carne so appetizing, the whole country— young and old—now enjoys the aroma of the chili blend.

Most chili powder eventually ends up in chili con carne—a small wonder—but it's also a natural in all kinds of other stews and casseroles; in meat loaves and marinades; in shellfish and cocktail sauces; with beans, sweet corn and sweet yellow vegetables.

One of the flavorful things you can do with chili powder is to use it in stuffings for vegetables.

Add Sharp Sauce to Vegetable

Mustard gives tang to a sauce for Brussels sprouts.

Brussels Sprouts with Mustard Sauce
2 tablespoons each butter and flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 teaspoons prepared mustard
3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup light cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pound Brussels sprouts, cooked

In a saucepan, melt the butter over low heat; stir in the flour and salt, then the prepared mustard, milk, light cream and lemon juice. Cook gently, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour over hot drained cooked sprouts. Makes 5 servings.

SAFFLOWER MARGARINE FOR WHITE SAUCE

Everyone has at some time in life known a really superb cook. If you know more than one, you are indeed fortunate, and it just might be that you are one of these people yourself. Cooks perform their magic with the simplest of ingredients and plenty of imagination. One kitchen magician I know says she starts off with a white sauce and continues from there. A good basic white sauce can go on to be cream soup or a base for the casserole. It can be gravy or the difference between plain green beans and Green Beans Parisienne. Let's start with the white sauce itself, remembering that the magic is in the choice of ingredients. You use Shedd's Safflower Margarine as a spread and use it for baking! Make the white sauce with Shedd's Safflower Margarine, too.

Melt 1/4 cup Shedd's Safflower Margarine in saucepan over low heat.
Blend in 1/4 cup flour.
Gradually add 2 cups milk. Always use low heat or make the sauce in a double boiler to keep the delicate flavor. Use a large spoon for blending the flour and keep stirring as you add the milk. When thickened, keep the sauce hot over boiling water. Add salt and pepper as needed, of course. 2 cups cooked, sliced potatoes, 1 tbsp. chopped chives and a little more milk makes potato soup. Slice up some sharp cheddar cheese in the sauce and pour over cooked macaroni for a casserole. For gravy, simply add the basic sauce to the pan drippings after the roast has been removed. Put a little curry powder in the sauce and serve on left-over lamb curry. Those beans? The white sauce, plus 1/2 cup chopped onion and a small can of drained mushrooms with cooked green beans. The white sauce must be smooth which means stirring constantly and you must start with the best ingredients, which simply means Shedd's Safflower Margarine.

BETTER FOR YOU better tasting, too

Now you can get even the fussiest members of your family to eat all those vitamin packed vegetables. Use Shedd's Safflower Margarine to add fine flavor to everything you cook and bake. And Shedd's Safflower Margarine is GUARANTEED lower in saturated fats than any margarine available in grocery stores.

Wine in Sauce Flavors Fowl

Wary of spending the evening in the kitchen while your guests enjoy themselves elsewhere in your home?

If so, then Chicken Frolsch is for you.

Chicken Frolsch may be prepared in advance of your guests' arrival, then popped into the oven an hour before it is to be served, hot and delicious. Your guests will think you're a magician when they taste this savory dish, which may be augmented in any way you choose.

Chicken Frolsch

4 chicken breasts, split in half
2 tablespoons oil or shortening
Salt
black pepper
1 cup water
1/2 cup Sauterne wine
1 package chicken gravy mix
1 package sour cream sauce mix parsley flakes

Brown chicken in oil or shortening, and season with salt and pepper. Place in an 11x7-inch baking dish.

In a saucepan, combine water, wine, gravy mix, and sauce mix, and bring to a boil. Pour over chicken. Cover with foil.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour, or until tender. Sprinkle with parsley flakes before serving.

Canned Ham Slices Hold Golden Filling

Your elegant china and fine silver will be in order when you star these Golden Treasure Ham Rolls at the dinner table.

The preparation and serving is made easy when the ultimate in hams is used—a delicately smoked canned ham.

Their special canned ham is fully cooked in its natural juices, cured to a sweet, milk flavor, and hickory smoked. You can be assured that every slice of this exciting new ham will be all meat because each is uniformly lean—no excess fat—therefore, no waste. These canned smoked hams come in 1 1/2, 3, 4, 5, and 10-pound sizes to fit your every need. A 1 1/2 pound canned ham will serve six, a 10-pound ham will serve forty.

Since the new hickory smoked, canned ham is fully cooked, it is ready to slice for sandwiches or cold plates, or can be heated to an internal temperature of 130 degrees for the best baked ham ever.

Remember—keep the hams refrigerated both before and after opening.

Golden Treasure Ham Rolls are made with slices of canned ham and a delicious stuffing of cornbread and grated carrots. The rolls are baked in a sauce of orange juice and brown sugar—just long enough for the delicate flavor to permeate the stuffing.

Serve the ham rolls with spears of asparagus glistening with butter and peach halves—each with a dollop of Gold Apricot Dressing. You will truly have a meal 'par excellence'.

Golden Treasure Ham Rolls

12 slices smoked canned ham (thinly sliced)
3 cups crumbled corn bread
1 1/2 cup shredded carrots
3/4 cup water
3/4 cup orange juice
3 tablespoons light brown sugar
1/4 cup butter, melted
1/4 teaspoon powdered cloves

Cook the grated carrots in 3/4 cup water until tender. Combine crumbled corn bread, cloves, carrots and liquid, and butter. Place 1/4 cup mixture on each ham slice.

Roll and secure with wooden pick. Arrange in baking dish. Dissolve brown sugar in orange juice and spoon one half of the mixture over ham rolls. Cover baking dish with lid or foil.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Baste once with remaining orange juice mixture. Makes 12 rolls.

Apricot Gold Dressing
Mash 3-ounce package cream

GOLDEN TREASURE—Delectable ham rolls, buttered asparagus, and peach halves topped with a dollop of gold dressing... truly an elegant meal. The ham is the tenderest, most delicious canned ham available. It is fully cooked and hickory smoked right in the can for a goodness that just can't be beat!

Slow Beater Speed

Mixing a cake batter in an electric mixer? Slowly decrease the speed when you are ready to lift out the beaters from the bowl; this way the beaters practically clean themselves of batter.

Pink and white and ladylike

Pink on the outer side, lined inside with white. Ladylike, indeed. Frivolous, almost—if it weren't so soft and lovely—and so delicately scented. You'll wonder why no other tissue has ever been made this way... and how we make it so soft. But understand... Aurora is not a secret. Tell your friends.

Nationals Play at Home Nov. 28

Pontiac's Pro Cage Squad to Open Season on Road

By JERE CRAIG

The Pontiac Nationals' attempt to establish a professional basketball foothold in town is set to begin Nov. 14 on the court at the Grand Rapids Civic Center.

A 40-game schedule recently drawn up by the North American Basketball League has the newly formed Nationals playing three road games before making their first local appearance.

That will be Nov. 28 Saturday on Pontiac Northern High School's floor against the Chicago Bombers. Both the Chicago and Pontiac squads are classified as traveling teams.

The Nationals do have two home dates, though, to enable local backers to test fan support. Chicago, which will be the opponent both times, does not have a home court.

The second Pontiac visit is planned for Jan. 30 when the two will have a Saturday night double-header.

NABL officials offered the scheduling this way since it would place fewer financial obligations on the Pontiac franchise during the "introductory" year.

Each home game requires a $450 guarantee for the visiting team.

Coach Bob Bolton has had 15-20 high caliber players working out in early practice sessions and he expects to decide on the roster nucleus by the end of the week.

Several top flight former college and pro cagers are among the candidates, although much work must be done on conditioning and team play for the fast circuit.

Included among those working out are two former Pontiac Central star athletes, Harrison Munson and Felix Brooks. Neither has played pro basketball previously but both have encouraging a amateur background.

Several former Midwestern Professional League standouts have worked out with the Nationals. This includes Willie Meriwether and Henry Hughes, both with the defunct Holland team, and Charlie North and John Morgan, who were at Battle Creek.

Dick Dzik, Al Cech and Frank Cholewicki have University of Detroit backgrounds;

Bud Acton stood out last year at Alma; Dave Gunther played at Iowa and in the American Basketball League; and Pete Tillotson starred at Michigan.

All are bidding to join the 6-10 ex-Western Michigan ace Bolton on the Nationals' roster. Another solid candidate is 6-2 Manny Jackson, formerly with Illinois and the Harlem Globe Trotters.

Local businessmen are attempting to arrange a meeting with NABL officials in town to finalize the details for the Pontiac franchise.

Ticket sales are pending.

'New' Pistons Face 'Old Ones' Tonight

Bullets Visit Detroit Five for NBA Game

Big Summer Trade to Receive Scrutiny in First Meeting

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit fans have their first chance tonight to compare first hand the results of last winter's big trade with the Baltimore Bullets.

As in previous swaps in which they sent away All-Star performers George Yardley and Gene Shue, the Pistons have not been a particularly favorable reaction over the trade.

Entering tonight's 8 o'clock game at Convention Arena, Detroit is 2-7 and Baltimore 4-5.

DOING WELL

Unfortunately, for Pistons' officials, Howell and Ohl are enjoying their new surroundings. Howell has averaged 20.2 points per game to rank fourth among National Basketball Association scorers. Ohl has a 17.6 average and is tied for eighth with teammate Walt Bellamy.

The Bullets have four players among the top 10 with Gus Johnson leading the way in second place with a 22.0 mark. Ferry has a 19.5 average while Hunter and Jones are seeing limited action.

Meanwhile, Dischinger has been able to average only 12 points per game in a Detroit uniform. There has been an 11.1 average and a 5.8 mark. Ray Scott tops all Pistons with a 15.0 mark. Coach Charley Wolf has moved Dischinger from forward to guard during the last three games and he averaged 19 points at that spot.

It'll be "homecoming" for six members of the Bullets. In addition to Howell, Ohl, Ferry, Hunter and Jones, guard Kevin Koughney was once Detroit property. The Pistons let him go on waivers and since he has been averaging 12 points while leading the Bullets' fast break—the type of guard Wolf has been looking 1½ years to find.

Sonny Liston Thins Ranks of Spar Mates

By the Associated Press
PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Sonny Liston — dubbed the Big Bear by Cassius Clay — is already bearing down on his already dwindling supply of sparring partners.

On the three survivors Liston made these lasting impressions Tuesday:

1. Knocked out Curtis Bruce, 2. Wobbled newly acquired sparmate Art Wright of Detroit so badly he could not go beyond one round though scheduled for two.

3. Knocked out one of Amos Lincoln's teeth.
Liston will try to capture the heavyweight title from Clay Nov. 16 at Boston Garden.

Shoe on Other Foot in Purdue-MSU Tilt

CHICAGO (U) — Purdue's title-hungry Boilermakers may find the Big Ten football shoe on the other foot at Michigan State Saturday.

"Michigan State expects to play its best game of the season," Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty told the Chicago football writers' weekly meeting Tuesday.

"We will be in our best physical shape in several weeks and I think we'll be just as spirited as Purdue," Daugherty said in a telephonic report.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf, whose Purdue club shares the Conference lead with Ohio State at 4-0, followed Duffy on the phone, expressing concern that Michigan State (2-2) in Conference play has just hit its stride.

In 1961, Purdue ruined a Michigan State title bid with a 7-6 upset. In 1957, Purdue's 20-13 victory was the season's only setback for the Spartans. And, in 1953, Purdue's 6-0 triumph ended a 28-game Spartan winning streak.

Now, Purdue invades Michigan State with four successive triumphs since its lone defeat, 34-15, by Notre Dame Oct. 3. With an over-all 5-1 record, the Boilermakers are ranked 10th in the AP's national poll. Michigan State has a current 3-4 mark.

TITLE THREAT

Coach Bump Elliott of Michigan, the Big Ten's only other remaining title threat, said he expected Saturday's meeting with brother Pete Elliott's Illinois.

U-M Attackers Work on Sweeps for Illini Tilt

ANN ARBOR (U) — The University of Michigan Wolverines concentrated on their ground game Tuesday.

The offense ran plays sweeping around end while the defense prepared to stop the running attack of Illinois on Saturday.

Defensive halfback Rick Sygar and Dick Rindfuss, who suffered slight injuries in last Saturday's 35-0 victory over Northwestern, returned to practice as did halfback Carl Ward who had been ill.

'Friends' on Gridiron Help Tulsa QB Garner Awards

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A good receiver is a passer's best friend and Jerry Rhyme has a lot of good friends.

Rhyme, the University of Tulsa's quarterback and Associated Press Back of the Week for the second time this season, has plenty of talented catchers for his passes.

Last Saturday, they grabbed 35 of 43 he put up giving him 488 passing yards and 594 yards in total offense as Tulsa blitzed Oklahoma State 61-14. That gave him three more major college one-game records — most completions, most passing yardage and most total offense yardage.

'FINE BLOCKER'

Rhyme gives plenty of credit to his receivers, but added, "Those blockers are just as good friends."

He's especially high on the "awfully fine blockers" in the backfield, Bob Daugherty and Bill Godes, who double as Tulsa's runners.

Rhyme's receivers are mostly smaller guys — led by 3-foot 10

Howard Twilley — but he says they're so good all he has to do is get the ball to them.

He does so successfully he's had only four interceptions out of 294 passes this year and has thrown more than 70 straight times without losing one.

Of Twilley, who has caught 57 passes for 716 yards and eight touchdowns, Rhyme says, "I wouldn't trade him for anybody. He has great timing. I don't believe he's missed four passes all year that he's been close to."

OTHER CHOICES

If defenses concentrate on Twilley, Rhyme has several other choices. Even Mark Maddox, who isn't a prime target as tight end in Tulsa's pro-style offense, has caught 10 passes for 110 yards and three touchdowns.

Rhyme seems certain to set at least one more record Saturday against Memphis State. He needs only two completions to break the career record of 386 — and nobody has ever held Rhyme and his friends to just two completions.

But he's not the only Tulsa player with a chance at records. Twilley needs only 14 more catches for 232 yards to break the receiving marks of 70 passes for 1,007 yards set last year by Baylor's Larry Elkins.

Receivers in Top Ten

Lions Rate on Offense

NEW YORK (U) — Quarterbacks Earl Morrall and Milt Plum of the Detroit Lions rank among the 10 leading passers of the National Football League. Dale Coggill and Terry Barr rate likewise among pass receivers.

Official statistics announced today place Morrall, sidelined for the season because of injury, in seventh place and Plum in 10th. Coggill and Barr have the same respective positions among receivers.

John Unites of the Baltimore Colts leads the passers with 67 completions in 169 attempts for a total of 1,548 yards and 14 touchdowns and a 9.16-yard average. Johnny Morris of the Chicago Bears tops the receivers with 33 receptions for 532 yards and one touchdown.

Barr has 27 for 545 yards and five touchdowns.

Chiefs Battle Flint Eleven

Huskies Bid for 2nd Win at Wyandotte

Pontiac Northern's chances of gaining gridiron respectability this season have faded, but an opportunity still remains for Pontiac Central to move into the first division of the Saginaw Valley Conference race.

Both teams have road dates Friday night. Northern travels to Wyandotte and Central journeys to Flint to meet Southwestern.

Northern's Huskies are enroute to the worst record in the team's history.

They own a 1-6 record, losing the last six in a row, and they will enter the game against Wyandotte a two touchdown underdog.

Wyandotte has racked up a 4-3 mark and captured the Border Cities League championship with a 41 record.

TIME OFF

After Friday night's encounter, the Huskies will take a week off to prepare for the meeting with PCH which is set for Nov. 21 at Wiener Stadium.

Pontiac Central's Chiefs also got off to a bad start, losing their first four games, but the team turned in victories in its last two outings and now shares sixth place in the league with Saginaw.

If the Chiefs knock off Southwestern (2-5) and Flint Northern (2-2-1) the following week, they could move into a tie for fourth providing Flint Central (5-0) trimmed Midland (2-2-2) in a Nov. 14 tilt.

Central's recent surge into the winner's circle was accompanied with a rugged defense.

The Chiefs downed Bay City Handy, 7-0, and clipped Saginaw, 12-6.

Opponents ripped the Chiefs for 45 points in the first two games, but the last four foes have collected only 20 markers.

Ex-Tiger Vic Wertz Still Soft-Hearted

NEW YORK (UPI)—This is a story that should have been told during the World Series or else kept quiet at least until Christmas.

It is being told now because any time really is the right time to disclose an unselfish deed and because the man behind that deed, former major leaguer Vic Wertz, would never divulge it even if he lived to be 100.

Most people remember the 39-year-old ex-outfielder-first baseman as a left-handed, long-ball hitter who spent 20 seasons in the American League with the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns, Baltimore Orioles, Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and Minnesota Twins. They may also recall he was the victim of one of Willie Mays' most fantastic catches during the 1954 World Series and that he suddenly was stricken with polio a year later.

As a ballplayer, Wertz was always known as a guy with a heart as soft as marshmallow.

He hasn't changed a lick even though he's a businessman now with his own beer and wine distributorship in Mt. Clemens. Wertz went into heavy debt 10 years ago when, while still playing ball, he started the venture with three modest delivery trucks, a franchise and a barrelful of hopes.

He worked tirelessly building the business to where he now has 16 trucks and employs 25 men.

SALES IDEA

Vic suddenly hit on an idea to stimulate sales last summer. He would conduct a contest among his drivers. Those who showed the biggest percentage of increase in sales over the year would be his personal guests on an all-expenses paid round-trip to the World Series and the World's Fair.

Originally, Wertz planned to take about a dozen of his drivers, but as the summer moved along and the competition among them became so keen, he began to feel all of them deserved to win.

So the soft-hearted one-time slugger finally invited all those who wanted to go.

Fighter Is Showman

Boxing Back to Normal Hysteria?

NEW YORK (NEA)—A minor-status heavyweight named Dick Wiperman may go down in history as the man who reined boxing to normal.

The place was Madison Square Garden. The occasion, the first nontelevised regular Friday night fight.

For six rounds Wiperman had been cutting Jim Beattie—6-10, 242 and the tallest fighting structure in the world—down to size. In the seventh, for no visible reason, the referee halted the bout, awarding Beattie a technical knockout.

Wiperman raved and ranted and tried to seize the ring microphone to air his woes, expressed with the delicacy of an enraged dockworker, to the delighted indignant spectators, most of whom seemed to agree with him that "we wuz robbed!"

It was just like the good old days, before boxing had its month washed out with soap and was dressed up like Little Lord Fauntleroy for coast-to-coast television. Such open displays of raw emotion were standard procedure then, as matchmaker Teddy Brenner of the Garden recalled.

ONE PUNCH

"We had the same thing, in reverse, out in Milwaukee one night," Brenner said. "Irish Bob Murphy was fighting a midweight named Chuck Hunter. For two rounds absolutely nothing happened and the audience audibly and rudely expressed its disapproval."

"In the third, Murphy—who had the wallop of the 100 proof Irish whiskey he drank—hit Hunter a hook, and Hunter was out like a horse player when a loan shark calls for his dues."

"The crowd expressed great disapproval. With perfect aplomb, Murphy grabbed the ring mike, silenced the audience with a hand wave and began a speech."

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "I know you can appreciate the finer points of boxing. You have just seen one of the great exhibitions of boxing skill."

"This man," he continued, motioning toward Hunter, still sitting half-dazed in his corner,

"is one of the finest exponents of the noble art of self-defense I ever met. I learned more from him in three rounds than I learned in my whole previous career."

"By the time Murphy had finished, the audience was applauding madly—and even Hunter was cheering."

Brenner then recalled the instance of Rocco Prozano, a Connecticut lightweight, who had fought just about everybody around and barred nobody—well, practically nobody.

"A guy named Freddie Russo had won four times from Rocco," Brenner said, and Prozano drew the line at him. Rocco was signed for a 10-round semifinal on a police benefit card in Bridgeport and at the last minute his opponent took sick. Russo was substituted without Prozano's knowledge.

"When the fighters started to dress—all in the same room—Prozano noticed Russo and said 'What are you doing here?'"

"I'm on the card," Russo replied.

"Good luck," said Prozano.

"When they got in the ring and Rocco discovered he was fighting Russo again, he was fit to be tied. The first light blow Russo hit him, Prozano, who had never been knocked out, sank gently to the canvas. The referee started to count."

"1, 2, 3, 4, 5," he counted. When he realized Rocco had no intention of getting up, the referee started to lecture.

"6—get up Rocco. 7—Prozano, you won't get paid if you don't get up. 8—You're a bum, Rocco."

"After 9, the referee gave Prozano a full 20-second lecture. Rocco looked up at him and said, in a loud, clear voice, 'You go to hell. You can fight him yourself.'"

"Prozano then said his head down on the canvas and waited for the referee to pronounce the fight over."

"6—get up Rocco. 7—Prozano, you won't get paid if you don't get up. 8—You're a bum, Rocco."

Seaholm Unit Set to Defend Harrier Title

There's a strong chance that an Oakland County team will walk a waltz with the state Class A cross-country championship Saturday at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

Birmingham Seaholm is the defending champion, and the Maples showed they still have a lot of power by taking the regional run last week at Cass-Benton Park.

The Maples are expected to find their toughest competition in Milford (second at Cass-Benton) and Royal Oak Dendero, winner of the Rouge Park regional.

The top two schools in each of the state regionals qualified for the finals along with the top ten individual runners in each regional.

Seaholm has a candidate for individual honors in Scott Bradley, who led the runners at Cass-Benton with a time of 10:21.

Other county runners shooting for the title include Tom Kearney of Bloomfield Hills and Bill Hollis of Pontiac Central.

BOWLING

Eight-point sweeps played key roles in last week's Huron Bowl Classic and Huron Wednesday Night "A" results.

The Friday Classic had position night and the quality Market improved its first place hold by taking all eight from then runner-up Calbi Music when Jerry Perna (227-644) and Jerry Harnack (241-610) hit in a 3063 team effort.

Herk's Auto Supply overcame a 3065 by Veterans' disposal (whose Bob Lawson had 247-794) to gain a split and move into second place.

The top individual performance, however, was by Farm Maid Dairy's Larry Angott who hit 279-706.

Meanwhile in the "A" circuit, Andy's Service commanded all eight points from Savoy Motel and jumped into first place past Huron Cleaners, who lost six of eight to Higginbotham Siding.

Larry Crake of All-Star Lounge bowled 643 and Al Pake of Huron Bowl League 262.

YOUTH SCORES

Teen-ager Howard Menzies, Jr., of the Lakewood Lanes' Class A Thursday night 100 rolled 244-247—686 for Gallagher Cotton Mills.

At Home's Lanes Friday in the 9 p.m. House League, Joe Roerick posted a 237-604, Roger Woodcum 201-213, Tom Frezelle 223, Jewell 200-224.

The 300 Bowl Wednesday Nite Ladies Classic listed Helen DeQuis with 235, Clare Olsen with 533 and the Trade Fair team with a 19-0 league-leading mark.

Friday's Royal Bowlerettes loop was paced by Madge McGowan's 281-564 and Daphne Yenna's 204-529.

Mary Lou Huggins had 210-586 and Barbara Gustine 212 for top scores in the Airway Lanes First League last week. The Pontiac Motor Tempest bowlers were led by Bill Hansel (252-265-647) and Sonny Santacruz (243-620).

Auburn Lanes activity included a 583 by Rosemarie Markus and 212-515 by Norma Methner in the Wednesday afternoon Ladies League.

The Coffee League that morning saw the Butterfingers with a half-game lead over the Four Nuts in the battle for first place.

The scoring cap was on that night in the Cooley Lanes Senior House League. Jim Edwards of Redford Bowling Supply hit 267-672.

League leading Double Cola had 237-635 by Larry Angott and 242 by Roger Overmyer.

Bowlers interested in being certified for American Junior Bowling Congress instruction can attend the school planned for Friday and Saturday in Muskegon or Monday and Tuesday in Ann Arbor. There is no charge; and additional information is available from Gen Bradley at FE 2-5344.

State Teams Score Better Grid Marks

By The Associated Press

Michigan's 18 collegiate football teams appear on their way to bettering their over-all record of last season which saw them finish a dozen games below the 500 mark.

Albion, one of seven state teams which will close out the campaign this Saturday, needs just one more victory to complete an unbeaten, untied season. The MIAA champion Britons are 7-0.

At least four state teams are assured of finishing with a winning record. Six turned the trick last year.

A half dozen teams are below the broken even point for the season and only one, Detroit, has any chance of making it up to .500.

ALL EVEN

Over-all, state teams now have a 50-50 record.

Michigan, quarterback Bob Timberlake scored 16 points in the Wolverines' victory over Northwestern and took over the individual scoring lead with 57 points. Albion's Russ Wallis has 56.

Jaycees Back Wisner Tilt

Bob Hill Sharpens Arrows' Attack

The Macomb County Arrows are riding along at a 500 mark in the Midwest Professional Football League this season after winning the title in 1962 and 1963, and one of the big reasons for their decline was the loss of the smallest man on the team.

The little man was Bob Hill of Armada who suffered a broken wrist back in September while showing a high school quarterback how to take a snap from center.

The Arrows had pinned their hopes on Hill, a 170-pound 5-5 halfback, to carry them to another title.

With Hill out of the lineup, the Arrows started to slide and they will enter the game at Wisner Stadium Saturday against Dayton's Colts with a 4-4 record.

The Arrows are out of the league race, but they would like to avenge an earlier 21-15 loss at Dayton. The Colts scored in the final three minutes to take the decision.

MACOMB FAVORED

Macomb will be favored to tame the Colts, and the big reason the Arrows rate the edge is the probable return of Hill to the lineup.

"I'll know Friday if the doctors are going to take the cast off," Hill said. "If they do, I'll be available."

Coach Lyle Wells would like to have the little speedster back to bolster the offensive attack.

Hill led the team in scoring last year with 113 points. He collected 17 TDs, kicked two

Sports Stadium Financing OK'd in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia voters have approved a $25 million bond issue for construction of a sports stadium in south Philadelphia to be used by the Philadelphia Phillies' National League baseball team and the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Complete but unofficial returns showed 238,023 voting yes for the stadium, while 195,907 voted no.

The Phillies and Eagles had previously agreed to 30-year leases for the proposed, 60,000-seat stadium, but insisted on a clause giving them exclusive rights to the new stadium.

Mayor James H. J. Tate has said that since the stadium would be publicly owned, he doubted that such a clause could be of any use. He has turned the problem over to the city solicitor for a ruling.

field goals and booted five extra points.

ALMA GRADUATE

He is a 1958 graduate of Alma College. During his gridiron career at Alma, he was a second team all-conference selection for two years and earned honorable mention on the Little All-American team in 1957.

The game will get under way at 8 p. m. at Wisner. A Pee Wee tilt will precede the pro contest and the Pontiac Central High School band will perform at halftime.

The game is being sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce. Tickets are $1.50 and $2.

Four Cities Bidding for Gold Cup Race

DETROIT (UPI)—Four cities have submitted bids to the Unlimited Hydroplane Commission to sponsor the 1965 Gold Cup races, it was learned Tuesday.

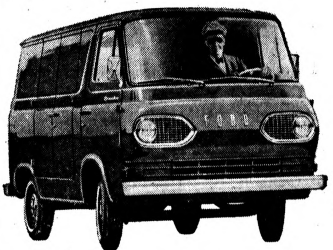

J. Lee Schoenheit, chairman of the American Power Boat Association, said the cities submitting bids were Detroit, Seattle, Madison, Ind., and Harrah's Club of Reno and Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Detroit has been the site of the last two Gold Cup races.

Milford is headed for its first football championship since 1961 and the Redskins may also produce the 1964 Oakland County scoring champion.

Holly's Mark Phelan leads the scoring race with 97 points, with Milford's Jim Ward holding down second place with 85 markers.

Although Ward trails by 12 points, he is favored to wind up on top because of the schedule.

In the final two games, Milford, leading the Wayne-Oakland League with a 6-0 mark, plays Clarenceville and South Lyon. Both have porous defenses so Ward could have a field day.

On the other hand, Holly plays Bloomfield Hills, a unit that isn't a soft touch, and closes with Fenton, a squad that has given up only 13 points in seven outings.

Nestled in third place, 25 points off the pace, is halfback Jim Haviland of Kettering.

George Hoey, of Flint Central, continues to pace the Saginaw Valley Conference race with 48 points. Pullback Tom Crannell of Saginaw Arthur Hill is in the runnerup position with 37 points.

In the area race, Harry Hoffer of Almont leads the way with 93 markers.

Unexpected Help as Skippers Win

A fellow who wasn't supposed to run showed up last night to lead Waterford's cross-country team to a 21-34 victory over Kettering.

John Meyer, who suffered a dislocated knee cap two weeks ago at home, led the Skippers across the finish line in a time of 11:27, 10 seconds off the course record.

Behind Meyer came Bill Grey (W), Dave Arcand (K), Tom Grahl (W), Steve Kiewel (W), and Dave Chambers (K).

The victory gave the Skippers 100 points in their battle with the Captains for the All-Sports Trophy, given annually to the school which amasses the greatest number of points in varsity competition between the two. The winner of each sport receives 100 points.

Higgins, Torch to Receive Kokanee

Salmon Stocking Program Scheduled for State Next Spring

Plans to stock Higgins and Torch lakes next spring with kokanee salmon from Colorado were announced today by the Department of Conservation.

The project will mark the start of a long-range effort to establish the kokanee, a landlocked strain of Pacific Coast sockeye salmon, in a broad list of Michigan waters.

The kokanee (pronounced KOH-kuh-nee) will be the first introduction of a gamefish species into Michigan on a large scale under the new state fish management program adopted by the Conservation Commission last June.

Dr. Howard A. Tanner, chief of the Department's Fish Section, said the kokanee was selected for the first introduction "because costs will be low, the stock can be easily obtained, and the chances for success are excellent."

He pointed out that Connecticut, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York all have developed fishable populations of kokanee salmon in suitable waters within recent years.

Dr. Tanner detailed the plan for the Michigan project as follows:

In late December or early January, the fish section will obtain up to two and a half million kokanee eggs from Colorado. A Michigan crew likely will go to Colorado's Granby Reservoir to net ripe kokanee spawners, strip eggs and mill, and ship the fertilized eggs home by air.

The eggs will go to department hatcheries at Wolf Lake and Harrietta, for hatching and rearing to fry size.

The fry will be planted in Torch and Higgins Lakes in early spring.

This process will be repeated during each of the following three years. By the end of 1968, Dr. Tanner hopes brood stocks will be firmly established in the two lakes, and Michigan will have its own source of eggs.

"We selected Torch and Higgins for the first plantings because they are big, cold, and deep and do not have large numbers of predator fish to eat up the young kokanee," Tanner explained.

He noted that kokanee have an unusually well developed homing instinct and, upon reaching maturity, can be expected to spawn in the very same places where they originally were stocked as fry.

For that reason, planting sites will be chosen with an eye to easy future netting operations. Kokanee spawn either in streams or on gravelly lake beaches.

Future plans call for extensive stocking in Lake Michigan and such inland lakes as Crystal, Charlevoix, Walloon and Leelanau.

The kokanee has a normal four-year life cycle. Like most species of salmon, it spawns once and dies. At maturity it is about 14 inches long and weighs about a pound, although individual specimens may run larger.

During most of its life the kokanee is a silvery color, resembling a lake-dwelling rainbow trout.

Both sexes turn a deep red with dark blue backs as spawning time approaches, and develop hooked jaws and humped backs.

The flesh is a deep pink, almost red, and is similar to lake trout in flavor and texture. It turns whitish and soft during spawning but is still suitable for smoking.

As a sport fish, the kokanee is best caught by trolling in open, fairly deep water. Once a school of fish is located, they are easily taken on red-colored lures.

A trailer hook baited with a worm or salmon egg adds to the effectiveness of the lure.

LIGHT TACKLE. Tanner said the kokanee fights hard on light tackle, with frequent jumps. Its mouth is tender and requires a light touch on the rod.

Because any uncaught four-year-old fish will die anyway after spawning, angling regulations probably will be made liberal to insure the largest possible harvest and minimum waste.

The kokanee feeds on plankton (microscopic plant and animal organisms found in lake water) and therefore will not compete with other gamefish for food, Tanner said.

"We see no possibility that the kokanee could turn out to be an undesirable introduction," he commented. "There is no danger that it will become 'another carp'."

Other species under active consideration by the fish section for a Michigan trial include the striped bass and the silver salmon.

Longer Birds Fall to Guns

Press Pheasant Derby
Led by 4 1/4-Incher

Hunters are having difficulty finding pheasants this season, but the ring-necks falling before their guns are averaging longer than in past seasons.

The Pontiac Press Pheasant Contest has had four roosters entered that exceeded 40 inches. This has never happened before in the history of the contest.

Current leader in the length division is a 4 1/4-inch pheasant downed last Saturday by Arthur G. Sabourin, 144 Euclid. He collected the impressive bird in Pontiac Township.

While the ring-necks are longer, the weight division has dropped off from its four pounds-plus average of the last five seasons.

The heaviest entered is three pounds, 12 ounces, taken by James Turner of Troy north of Lakeville.

A $50 savings bond will be awarded for the longest rooster and a $25 bond for the heaviest. All residents of Oakland County are eligible and the entries must be brought to The Press sports department between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The deadline for entering is noon, Nov. 11. Pheasant hunters report seeing numerous deer this fall in the northern part of the county. Several good bucks have been observed.

U.S. Olympic Riders Victims of 'Breaks'

NEW YORK (AP)—Four-time Olympian Bill Steinkraus looked back today on the United States disappointing, sixth-place finish in the Prix Des Nations jumping at the Olympic Games and decided it was the breaks of the game.

"Certainly," admitted Steinkraus, "we had hoped to win the gold medal. We knew we had one of the best teams with fine horses. But you needed six good rounds in the Olympics two each from three riders and we got five."

The one bad tour was by Tomboy with 20-year-old Mary Mairs of Pasadena, Calif., aboard. Tomboy, upset at the muddy going, clopped 11 fences in the rain the first time around.

BIG POINT "The big point to keep in mind is that this sort of thing could happen to any rider, and, as a matter of fact, it probably does sooner or later," said Steinkraus. "It was just an extremely bad break that it happened to Mary at the time it did."

And not give me any of that business about pressure. Mary won the Pan-American Games gold medal on the same horse. The pressure was just as strong there and she came through.

"This was just one of the breaks of the game. Over the coming years, Mary will win a lot more events for us than she will lose."

Even if the United States was disappointed in the Games, the National Horse Show, which goes into its second session in Madison Square Garden today, shows signs of being a success.

Coach Bert Denemethy's squad finished 1-2-3 in the Demore Memorial Challenge Trophy event Tuesday night. All had clean rounds. Miss Kumer, on Untouchable, won in 49.5 seconds. Steinkraus, riding Sijon —who is just returning to action—was second in 50.7 and Frank Chapot of Wallpack, N.M., handling Manon, was third in 53.1.

JACKS OR BETTER Rookie Neal Shapiro of Glen Head, N.Y., piloting Jacks Or Better, was out of the money.

Eighteen-year-old Jim Day of Toronto, up on Mr. Dunahue, won the West Point Challenge Trophy class in the Tuesday afternoon session. Steinkraus, handling Sam Lucas, was the top U.S. rider, finishing fifth.

The Hood, owned and ridden by Ben O'Meara of Montville, N.J., captured the open jumper class. Navy Commander, sent in by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Ore of Chapel Hill, N.C., took the working hunter, middle and heavyweight class, while Little Fiddle, belonging to the My Play Stable of Guilderland, N.Y., was the victor in the working hunter, lightweight, class.

Depressurized Guns for Hunting

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Internationally known outdoor columnist John Alden Knight, who prepares the weekly Solunar Tables for The Pontiac Press, gives his views on deer hunting—gained from over 50 years of experience—in this article.)

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT

The great American hunter is becoming a lazy stiff. He is doing this in a day and age of push-button housework, rapid transportation and with the full and benign blessing of the arms and ammunition manufacturers of this nation.

Today, with the aid of lovely optical assists in the form of multi-powered telescopic sights, he can set up his 338/6.2 altered depressurized magnum which comes equipped with a muzzle brake in standard models and pot an animal in either eye at 500 paces. I think it is too bad.

To begin with, they cost too blasted much!

But since the introduction of the Japanese imports, truly fine optics at a price that makes me wonder how the workers manage to live, everybody and his twin brother is sporting these black tubes on top of their pet rifles.

At best, they are nothing more than a compensation for ineptitude!

We have become a nation of stump-sitters, not stalkers! We perch like a homesick seagull on a rocky promontory and glass a region a half county in size.

Spotting our game, we move leisurely, not with too much stealth, as the silly animal thinks that we are still home in bed... he's eating his breakfast at a mere 800 yards from our position. So it is meander down into what looks like a good shooting point, set up our sights by precalibrated tables for range and then touch one off.

"Why not try something this year? Take that 'idiot tube' off your rifle and go out and stalk and kill a piece of big game on your hind legs.

Get off in the brush and track something down as a hunter was meant to do when the sport was first designed.

When and if you do, I promise you a sense of accomplishment far in excess of the one you gain simply by squeezing off a shot at a live target. Let's change the name of the game to hunting, not shooting.

Court Action Near on Braves' Move

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Braves have stated in briefs filed in U.S. District Court that the major portion of the corporation's business has been transacted in Chicago since Oct. 5, while Milwaukee County briefs term the Chicago operation an "off season executive office."

The briefs were filed Tuesday in preparation for Thursday's hearing when Judge Robert E. Tchan is to decide on jurisdiction of the county's legal action to block the baseball club's proposed move to Atlanta, Ga.

The county said it was "almost inconceivable" that a corporation which has operated in Milwaukee for 13 years could transfer its principal place of business to Chicago in four days.

FUEL CARRIER BURNS — A Florida truck driver died yesterday in this wreckage of a 30-foot-long tractor trailer loaded with 8,150 gallons of jet fuel which was transporting from Tampa to McCoy AFB near Orlando. Witnesses at the scene say the truck's brakes seemed to lock causing it to hit the end of the bridge and overturning the trailer. Orlando and Air Force firemen fought the blaze for three hours before bringing it under control.

WASHINGTON (AP) — People are inclined to feel a bit let down after a national election. They are glad that it's over of course. It is a relief to be rid of the tumult and the shouting. And yet, even those who were on the winning side are likely to have a temporary touch of mopishness.

This is a natural result of emerging too suddenly from the high pressure atmosphere of a political campaign. In severe cases, it may even result in "the bends."

The postelection adjustment would be easier if we had something on which to taper off — something to help fill the void.

I thought it might be good therapy to occupy ourselves with something political, like maybe a public opinion poll.

STILL LOVED

I have prepared, therefore, a postelection questionnaire that should make voters feel they are still loved and wanted even though the campaign has ended.

If the election were held again tomorrow would you: (Vote the same way?) (change your vote?) (Think something fishy was going on?) (Undecided.)

At what point did you decide how you would vote? (Before the campaign started.) (When handed a ballot.) (When handed a cigar.) (Still undecided.)

Were you generally pleased by the election results? (Yes.) (No.) (Yes and No.) (Undecided.)

What in your opinion gained the largest number of votes for President Johnson?

To what extent do you think the two candidates were helped by their vice presidential running mates?

(None.) (Very little.) (Very much.) (Didn't know they had one.)

Much has been said and written about the tactics used by both candidates. In your opinion was the campaign:

(Clean clear through?) (Washday bright?) (Stronger than dirt?) (Fresh as all outdoors?)

What do you regard as the turning point of the campaign?

Troop Activity Suspended

Announce Truce With Bolivian Rebels

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — The government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro announced last night a truce had been reached with rebellious army and air force units that revolted earlier in the day.

The armed forces chief, Gen. Alfredo Obando Candia, said all troop activity had been suspended while he seeks to "clear up any misunderstanding among the military."

La Paz, the capital, appeared calm while Paz Estenssoro dickered through emissaries with the rebels in the interior to save his threatened government. But some observers contended only Paz Estenssoro's resignation could end the crisis quickly.

In a broadcast from Cochabamba, Vice President Rene Barrientos repeated a demand that Paz Estenssoro resign.

Barrientos broke with the president last month and went to Cochabamba, where he appeared to be the leader of the uprising.

MAKES OFFER

Barrientos said Paz Estenssoro had offered to head a military junta demanded by rebels but that this had been rejected.

The rebel radio claimed all government troops in Oruro, Sucre, Camiri, Viacha, Santa Cruz and Robore and some in La Paz had joined the revolt, but the government said only units in Oruro, Cochabamba and Santa Cruz had bolted the regime.

Political quarters viewed the situation as extremely grave for the government of Paz Estenssoro and would not rule out the possibility that he would fall.

In a radio broadcast, the president blamed the uprisings on Communist plotters and ambitious army officers and declared he would not falter in defending the nation against them.

NEW REVOLT

The Ingavi Regiment and the Air Force Technical School in La Paz, which rose in rebellion in the early morning hours but surrendered after two hours, were reported to have rebelled again.

National police and the president's militia were said to be moving to resist them.

Barrientos declared the rebellion would triumph and denounced what he called the massacre of students and rebellious tin miners last week. It was for this reason that Cochabamba is in revolt, he said.

"I shall continue with my comrades until the very end," Barrientos declared. "I am with those who have taken arms and continue to rise up in the entire country."

ORGANIZING

Even in La Paz, there were reports that military groups were organizing to support Barrientos, an air force general.

Gen. Alfredo Obando Candia, chief of the armed forces who was seized for a time by the La Paz rebels, broadcast an appeal to the armed forces to preserve unity under his command.

Paz Estenssoro met with Obando and the defense and interior ministers.

Gen. Rene Leyton, minister of public works, and Jose Fellman Velarde, the president's private secretary, left La Paz for Cochabamba to meet with the rebels.

REPORTS LOYALTY

Obando in his broadcast insisted that all units in the provinces had remained loyal except the Cochabamba garrison. Radio Nacional, broadcasting in Cochabamba, repeated that there had been army uprisings in Santa Cruz, Sucre and Potosi.

Communications were cut between Sucre and Potosi and La Paz, but informants insisted the situation was normal in Santa Cruz.

No fighting was reported anywhere in the country. But heavily armed patrols of national police and the president's militia once more patrolled the capital.

QUESTION: What is inside a cell?

ANSWER: All living things are made of the very small units called "cells." There are extremely small animals (the amoeba is an example) composed of a single cell.

But the bodies of human beings are so complex that billions of cells are needed. Most cells are so small that 4,000 of them lined up sideways would only measure an inch across.

It was the invention of the microscope which gave mankind the opportunity to look closely into these tiny structures and see what they were like.

Using an early microscope, Robert Hooke, in 1665, looked into the structure of plants and saw they were composed of millions of little box-like shapes. He called them "cells" because they reminded him of the cells in a prison or monastery.

Later it was seen that inside each was a central spot, the nucleus, and inside of this another, the nucleolus (1 and 2). Cells are filled with the mysterious living "protoplasm" which scientists, as yet, have not analyzed completely.

The rest, the "cytoplasm," performs chemical tasks. Our body cells have different shapes and perform different jobs as (A) making muscle, (B) digesting food and (C) making the structure of our brains.

FOR YOU TO DO: While human cells are very small, a great deal has been learned about them, using such models as the electron microscope. See what you can find out about modern microscopes.

A Teen-Age Dilemma

Why Did Good Student Suddenly Sour?

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Adolescent behavior often puzzles the experts as well as parents. One moment a youth demands independence in the running of his affairs while the next he may revert to being a small boy wanting the help and protection of his parents.

DR. NASON

Most parents are as anxious to have their offspring take responsibility as the teen-agers are to assume it.

But the process of transfer is often difficult. The situation is well described in a letter from a reader:

"My 18-year-old high school freshman was an A student until the sixth grade. He received a smattering of B's in the sixth and seventh grades and one failure in grade eight.

"Both my husband and I have quizzed him on current material each night and have made certain all his homework was finished.

"Now that he has started high school I feel he should not be so dependent on us to think of everything; to remember to hand in papers, do assignments in advance of their due date; to arrange study time wisely, etc.

"He is not doing well in any of his subjects. But he seems overly interested in the extracurricular activities.

MADE HIM DEPENDENT

"I realize I have made him dependent by arranging everything for him and I cannot hope to make him self-reliant overnight. But where should we begin and how can we help make this transition easier for all of us instead of hectic?"

Before discussing steps for the transference of responsibility, let me instill a word of caution. The problem may not be one of responsibility alone.

Parents should look first for specific shortcomings in a student's learning skills such as handwriting and reading. They should also be sure that eye-sight, hearing and physical condition are satisfactory.

Once these special trouble areas have been eliminated as possible causes of deteriorating grades, parents should turn their attention to planned behavior to achieve a solution.

The first step is to gain the cooperation of the youngster. Once he grasps the idea that if he plans to behave in a certain fashion, he is ready to make the next step.

The student is now ready to plan the way he will study one of his subjects. He must figure out, with your help, how to improve his class responses, his reviews, his test scores. If the problem is beyond the two of you, try to enlist the help of a teacher or student adviser.

From a single subject the planning can be extended to all the other areas in which he should be assuming more responsibility.

The parent must show continued interest, releasing responsibility to the youngster as he demonstrates through his actions and higher grades that he is ready to assume it.

I have known cases where it took a full year to accomplish the transfer; in others it went more rapidly.

Johnson Victory in State Biggest Presidential Rout Since 1928

DETROIT (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson trampled Barry Goldwater by an unprecedented million-plus vote margin Tuesday in the state's greatest White House rout since 1928.

Johnson's victory ratio of about 2-1 was Michigan's highest since Republican Herbert Hoover polled 70 per cent 36 years ago.

From virtually every geographical section and human grouping in the state came the futility of Johnson votes. Goldwater led in only five of the state's 83 counties as tabulation passed the nine-tenths mark and showed:

Johnson 1,979,461; Goldwater 977,255.

NEVER IN DOUBT

The outcome was never in doubt as the President rolled to an early margin in Wayne County of better than 3 to 1.

When traditional Republican strongholds, such as Berrien, Kent and Ingham counties showed for Johnson, the rout was evident. Each of those counties had gone to Republican Richard Nixon in 1960 by more than 60 per cent. They flipped this time.

Preelection polls had shown such potential margins that some Democrats refused to believe them.

The most optimistic party leaders predicted victory by 750,000 votes.

A whopping 98 per cent of Michigan's sizable Negro community picked Johnson, up 13 per cent from what John F. Kennedy polled in 1960.

The President took 89 per cent of the vote from low income areas, a 14 per cent hike over Kennedy's figure according to an electronic vote analysis.

Over-all in Detroit — a city with many Negro and low-income voters — Johnson garnered nearly 90 per cent.

Gov. George Romney's refusal to endorse Goldwater put one crimp in the Arizona's Michigan campaign from the start. Republican leaders said privately that fund-raising was hurt by the split.

Goldwater practically appealed for an endorsement when he visited Michigan in late September — his only trip to the state. Romney did introduce the senator, but offered no support.

In the final week, Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, the state volunteer organization, verbally exploded over issuance of voter instructions by Romney supporters on how to split a ticket for Johnson and Romney.

The state Republican organization cooperated with the Goldwater people but in virtually every community there were three campaign headquarters. Romney Volunteers, Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, and Republican.

Johnson, by contrast, had complete Democratic support. He visited the state twice, sent running mate Sen. Hubert Humphrey three times and consistently led in the five available polls by about 2-to-1.

Democratic candidates all called for his reelection and those who were in any trouble openly appealed for a coalition ride. Hardly any Republicans did that with Goldwater. For Johnson it was an ironic twist. When Johnson was nominated for vice president in 1960, Gov. G. Mennen Williams stood on the floor of the Los Angeles Sports Arena and boistered "No!" when a unanimous nomination was asked for.

Johnson did not even come to Michigan during the 1960 campaign. This year Williams helped lead the welcome.

Goldwyn Film Highlights

A Trip Down Nostalgia Alley

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Samuel Goldwyn has sent this department a volume which contains facts and photographs of 50 of his major films.

Mr. Goldwyn seldom does anything without a purpose, and the book is aimed at merchandising his movies to television. Commercialism aside, the book offers a pleasant occasion for the veteran and an inveterate movie-goer to stroll down nostalgia alley.

THOMAS
William McGraw, Council Director, said it now appears that the total tourist business for the 1964 calendar year will be about $800 million. This compares to an estimated $727 million for 1963.

Winter business in early 1964 showed an increase of only about two per cent over the previous year because of marginal weather for winter sports during much of the period.

"Excellent weather early in the summer season sparked a recovery from the slow start and it now appears certain that we will have an over-all increase in business this year of more than 10 per cent," McGraw said.

SUMMER SURVEY
More than 66 communities, tourist groups and attractions participated in the summer survey of business.

Among the indicators cited as reflecting the summer increase were:

—A 26 per cent increase in inquiries for Tourist Council vacation planning literature through September.

—An increase in Mackinac Bridge traffic of more than five per cent for the year, six per cent in July and 13 per cent in September. August showed some decline, attributed to a rainy spell.

HEAVY TRAFFIC
—Heavy traffic volume increase in camping in state parks and a two per cent overall camp use through mid-August.

—A 10 per cent summer increase in Detroit-Windsor "Tunnel" traffic and a 6.6 per cent increase in Ambassador Bridge traffic.

Comments from communities reporting increases included such phrases as "one in a million summer," "best yet," "a good year," and "a fine tourist season."

Several communities said the 1964 season would have been better except for a rainy period in mid-August.

Others of my favorites included "The Hurricane," directed by John Ford; "Sam Wood"; "Stella Dallas," King Vidor. No doubt about it, Sam always picked—and sometimes fought with — good directors.

The Goldwyn musical comedies always seemed to have a Ziegfeldian touch — gorgeously mounted, lacking in the best talent, but lacking in that rare breath of spontaneity that makes such entertainments complete delights.

Goldwyn has bravely included his biggest mistake in the 50. In 1934 he was convinced that Anna Sten would become a brilliant star. He gave her the glamor treatment but the public did not respond. She was dropped and her career ended. Goldwyn's mistake was not to see the public's reaction.

Tramp Ship Travel Has Its Benefits

WASHINGTON—Want to see Tramp ships may be the answer.

Thousands of travelers who have more time than money, annually take to the high seas aboard wandering cargo freighters.

The popular belief that a tramp ship is an inferior type of cargo vessel is a misconception.

The term tramp applies only to its wandering itinerary and conditions of employment, the National Geographic Society says.

Regular freighters operate on fairly fixed schedules and stop at predetermined ports, but a tramp goes wherever the charterer wishes it taken. Cargo determines schedule and route.

VARIABLE SCHEDULE
A tramp, for example, may be chartered to carry steel from England to Brazil; on arrival she might be hired to load coffee for New Orleans; and upon arrival there take on sulphur for England.

Sometimes a ship will be on regular freight service one month, tramping the next.

More than 2,000 tramp ships ply the high seas today much as they did in Greek and Roman times.

Passengers often find that when it comes to living conditions, tramps may resemble palaces.

SPACIOUS COMFORT
Modern tramp ships carry up to 12 passengers in spacious, air-conditioned staterooms which can include adjoining sitting rooms, private bathrooms, and picture windows instead of portholes.

Food depends on the ship's nationality.
Scandinavian ships take smorgasbord for granted which may include roast pigeons in cream, crabmeat, and smoked eel.

SOME HAVE GAMES
Some tramp freighters have shuffleboard, card tennis and small swimming pools.

Retired at sea
Leisurely cruising aboard a tramp proved so economical and pleasant that one elderly American retired at sea.

He found that sailing around the world was more fun and less expensive than retiring on land.

Handicap Is Advantage
Blind Man Follows Three Careers

WINNIPEG (AP)—George Cohen of Montreal sees his handicap as an advantage in his job as public relations officer, fashion writer and adviser to Canadian dress designers and hairdressers.

"No one ever forgots me," Cohen, on a cross-country tour for a client, explained that he has been totally blind for 20 years.

He was a professional dancer when he lost his sight at 27 because of glaucoma. In the next three years his sight returned more than 60 times before he became permanently blind in 1944.

"Once I knew I was permanently blind I could build my future accordingly."

While in a hospital in 1945 Cohen was given plasticine to exercise his hands.

WORK IN CLAY
"I soon found I could simulate the shape of people's heads in clay more rapidly than the average sculptor."

He submitted one of his plasticine works to a committee at the Montreal Museum. The judges, unaware he was blind, awarded him a scholarship to study under some of Canada's leading sculptors.

"I knew then there be no limitations to my life and I began to be interested in the world of business and writing."

Pretty soon a Montreal newspaper asked me to write a regular column of humor. For my material I just wandered around listening to people talk and wrote them up the way I heard them.

My readers never knew of my affliction and I had a wonderful time."

For every dollar the federal government spends on hospitals and health centers under the Hill-Burton program, three dollars are contributed from state and local funds.

through hotel transoms in search of divorce evidence. The end of a major campaign also ends the eminence of the professional poll takers. Instead of chronicling how by hour the feverish changes of the national public political pulse, they have to return to such ordinary sad questioning as, "If your wife died, would you remarry?" and "As a teenage high school girl, what qualities do you look for in a perfect husband?"

Almost everybody says at the conclusion of a political struggle or a war, "It was an awful bore. Thank goodness, it's over and we can get back to common sense living."

But the fact is that most of them are lying. The fact is that it is struggle that brings excitement to our lives, and nothing bores us more than periods without struggle and doubt.

Now that it is all over for the time being, who do you really think will win in 1968? How can we wait four long years to find out?

small, out-of-the-way ports allow passengers to go ashore for shopping and sightseeing.

But most of all, life on a freighter is inactive.

A delectable opportunity to let time slide by while you inhabit a world apart from the conflicts and aimless bustle of a raucous, landslide hive of activity," beamed one tramp ad.

OLD LEGEND
An old legend holds that Dick Whittington, a poor boy apprenticed to a medieval merchant, once tried to run away from London. As he was leaving, the church bells called, "Turn back, Whittington, Lord Mayor of London." He returned, grew up, and fulfilled the prophecy by serving four terms.

Almost from the beginning, St. Mary-Bow was known for unlucky events. In 1090 the roof collapsed, killing several worshippers. In 1271 the steeple fell, killing many others.

These and other misfortunes prompted a folk tradition, popularized by John Stow, to write, "Poor Whittington, who was killed by the church bells, which were then called 'the bells of St. Mary-Bow'."

The disastrous London fire of 1666 nearly destroyed the church but it was rebuilt by Christopher Wren. Though Wren designed more than 50 other churches for the burned-out city, he favored St. Mary-Bow. Its famous steeple, a masterpiece of the great architect, towers 222 feet high and is topped with a nine-foot dragon.

BOMBED AND GUTTED
The climactic tragedy came in World War II. During the 1941 blitz, the church was bombed and gutted. Although the tower withstood the holocaust, the famous bells crashed to the ground and were buried in rubble.

Work was begun in 1956 to restore the church. Fragments of the old bells were gathered and recast with other metal to form 12 new bells. Each was inscribed with a passage from the Psalms. The initial letters of the texts form the name, "D. Whittington."

In 1961 the Duke of Edinburgh set the bells chiming again in the tower. After an up-hill campaign, a £100,000 money was raised to complete a $1,200,000 restoration project on the church itself.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Archie House, who was only 16 when he joined Company 1 of the 33rd Michigan Volunteers and sailed for Cuba to help fight the Spanish-American War, recently recalled his landing near Siboney.

The greatest danger wasn't enemy bullets, he said, but his own equipment.

"It was June 27," House said.

"It was hot, maybe 90 degrees. We landed wearing no underswear, heavy blue woolen jackets and trousers, leggings that came up to your knees over the trousers. We had the Springfield 45-70—it carried a bullet so heavy it used to call the light artillery, that rifle. It'd kick you over a 100-foot fence."

Each man, he said, carried a 50-pound pack and ammunition belts holding 40 to 50 rounds of the finger-sized bullets.

House is national commander of the 18,000 surviving veterans of the war.

Bells of Bow Ringing Again

London's Cockneys Smile Easier Now

WASHINGTON—British Cockneys smile easier these days now the fabled "how bells" again are ringing in London's most historic church.

Only persons born within the sound of the bells are Cockneys, or true Londoners, according to tradition. They are hard-working, hoppy-go-lucky chaps who either drop their "nitches" or add them when they shouldn't.

"Fing" is a thing, and a "favey" is a father, "Apples and pears" means up the stairs.

The bells were silent for nearly 20 years after a bombing in World War II. With the restoration of the bells followed by the reconstruction of the Church of St. Mary-Bow in the business heart of London in June, 1964, Cockneys feel the war is finally over.

The history of 89-year-old St. Mary-Bow is filled with lore and "divers accidents," the National Geographic Society says.

The original church was built with stone arches, or bows, in 1070 during the reign of William the Conqueror. From its architectural form, the church's popular name is probably derived.

Still existing, as a part of the foundation, is a Norman crypt containing bones.

PRIDE BIKES
Distinguished cyclists agree with the devotee who called the bicycle "the most ingeniously simple, efficient, and economical means of transportation and recreation ever devised by man." It was not always so.

An 18th-century French bicycle consisted of a rough wooden bar supported on two wheels and carrying a sparse-paddled saddle. The device had no steering mechanism, no pedals, and no prospect of success. A modification of the vehicle put the front wheel in a movable fork, and a vola—bike steering was born.

A French blacksmith, Pierre Lallemant, migrated to Connecticut in 1866 and patented the idea of putting pedals on the front-wheel. His heavy wooden machine with iron-shod wheels gave a tooth-rattling ride and was applied called the "boneshaker."

In England, the boneshaker was transformed into the precarious high-wheeled bicycle with the saddle well over the large front wheel. Known as the "ordinary," it was the first really practical bicycle. But it required courage and persistence to master. An instruction manual advised, "It is an excellent thing for a beginner to learn to fall properly." Dismounting was, in fact, a controlled crash.

INTRODUCED HERE
The ordinary was introduced to America at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876. It was immediately popular, and improvements appeared in rapid succession. Improved tubing, pneumatic tires, wire spokes, spring seats, and, at last, brakes.

By the middle 1880's the "safety" bike with moderate-size wheels, chain drive, and brakes had evolved. A drop-frame model allowed ladies to ride with decorum—provided they had a proper escort.

The Gay Nineties ushered in cycling craze when the rubber tire, the pneumatic, and the Minute Murphy, who attained that speed on a bicycle, was a national hero.

The craze died as the automobile developed. In recent years, cycling has made a strong comeback, though it's not a fad—yet.

ALBANIA REDS ONLY ONES TO BOYCOTT FETE

MOSCOW (AP)—Delegations from Red China and all other Communist bloc nations except Albania will attend the Bolshevik Revolution celebrations in Moscow Saturday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

Premier Chou En-lai will head the Chinese delegation, according to a broadcast from Peking by the New China News Agency.

This decision could indicate a veiled Chinese move for reconciliation of the differences that developed during the administration of Nikita Khrushchev, the ousted Soviet premier.

The celebrations could provide the Chinese and the Russians a ready platform for reconciliation talks or a chance for the Peking leaders to sound out the Russians on what they now plan to take following the order of Khrushchev.

Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomułka and Hungarian Premier János Kadar have announced they would head their country's delegations, which could foreshadow a summit meeting with the new Soviet leaders.

Old Veteran Recalls His Cuba Landing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Archie House, who was only 16 when he joined Company 1 of the 33rd Michigan Volunteers and sailed for Cuba to help fight the Spanish-American War, recently recalled his landing near Siboney.

The greatest danger wasn't enemy bullets, he said, but his own equipment.

"It was June 27," House said.

"It was hot, maybe 90 degrees. We landed wearing no underswear, heavy blue woolen jackets and trousers, leggings that came up to your knees over the trousers. We had the Springfield 45-70—it carried a bullet so heavy it used to call the light artillery, that rifle. It'd kick you over a 100-foot fence."

Each man, he said, carried a 50-pound pack and ammunition belts holding 40 to 50 rounds of the finger-sized bullets.

House is national commander of the 18,000 surviving veterans of the war.

55 Million Cyclists Pedal Around U.S.

WASHINGTON—A rapidly growing army of cyclists is pedaling the United States into a new golden age of the bicycle. Some 55 million bicycle riders now pedal along American streets. They range from four-year-olds propped up by "training wheels" to active octogenarians keeping their arteries soft.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the heart specialist, recommends a daily ride on a bicycle as a means of keeping physically fit. The 77-year-old physician is an ardent cyclist himself.

Cyclists in the United States are frustrated by the dominance of the automobile. Quiet country roads are rare these days, but Boston, Chicago, and Washington are among the cities leading a revival of bike paths, the National Geographic Society says.

A few cyclists have the hazards of big-city traffic, snaking their way easily through lines of slow-moving cars. A New York executive—who pedals through Manhattan with an attitude case strapped to his bike—witnesses the convenience and discounts the danger. "It's really quite safe," he explains.

"Everyone thinks, 'Look at that fool on the bike. Let's stay away from him.'"

INTRODUCED HERE
The ordinary was introduced to America at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876. It was immediately popular, and improvements appeared in rapid succession. Improved tubing, pneumatic tires, wire spokes, spring seats, and, at last, brakes.

By the middle 1880's the "safety" bike with moderate-size wheels, chain drive, and brakes had evolved. A drop-frame model allowed ladies to ride with decorum—provided they had a proper escort.

The Gay Nineties ushered in cycling craze when the rubber tire, the pneumatic, and the Minute Murphy, who attained that speed on a bicycle, was a national hero.

The craze died as the automobile developed. In recent years, cycling has made a strong comeback, though it's not a fad—yet.

ALBANIA REDS ONLY ONES TO BOYCOTT FETE

MOSCOW (AP)—Delegations from Red China and all other Communist bloc nations except Albania will attend the Bolshevik Revolution celebrations in Moscow Saturday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

Premier Chou En-lai will head the Chinese delegation, according to a broadcast from Peking by the New China News Agency.

This decision could indicate a veiled Chinese move for reconciliation of the differences that developed during the administration of Nikita Khrushchev, the ousted Soviet premier.

The celebrations could provide the Chinese and the Russians a ready platform for reconciliation talks or a chance for the Peking leaders to sound out the Russians on what they now plan to take following the order of Khrushchev.

Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomułka and Hungarian Premier János Kadar have announced they would head their country's delegations, which could foreshadow a summit meeting with the new Soviet leaders.

Youth Injured in 2-Car Crash

A 19-year-old Bloomfield Township youth remained in serious condition today following a two-car crash at the corner of Telegraph and Maple yesterday morning.

Richard E. Howard, 1457 Club, is being treated for a concussion at Royal Oak's William Beaumont Hospital.

Witnesses told Bloomfield Township police Howard made a left turn from the inside rather than the protected turn lane.

His southbound vehicle was hit by a car driven by Daniel Weiswasser, 49, of Detroit. Weiswasser and a passenger in his car were treated for injuries they sustained and were released from the hospital.

'Clamdigger' Gives Status

PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—This town originally was a fishing village, then a summer resort for turn-of-the-century New Yorkers, and now has become a busy suburb of 26,000 residents, many of whom commute to New York City.

The hard core of original town families are known proudly as Clamdiggers.

To tell a Clamdigger from a non-Clamdigger (or Johnny-comelately) is simple: a true Clamdigger's father must have been born before the advent of the railroad—in 1905.

Bittersweet Period Follows Campaign

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A bittersweet time follows an American national political campaign.

After the votes have been counted, no matter what the outcome is, a mixture of gladness and sadness sweeps the land.

All the winners and losers aren't necessarily those whose names were on the tickets as candidates.

Most of those who merely played the role of voters say they are pleased the quadrennial ordeal of democracy is over. They set about quickly regaining the friendships they lost in the heat of partisan argument.

WHY LOSE BUDDY
After all, why lose a lifelong golfing buddy just because he was in favor of Archibald J. Marmaduke for Congress when you thought yourself the country would fall apart if James Aloy or O'Fortepesake didn't get the job?

The truth in the sober light of reality the day after the election is that the nation still faces the same troubles it did before, and the problems it confronts look neither larger nor smaller.

Both the winning and losing candidates are left with a feeling of wounded vanity and considerable distrust. The winner is suspicious of those who didn't jump on his bandwagon at the very start; the loser is convinced that he was sabotaged by those in whom he placed his dearest trust.

There are others to whom the decisive verdict of the ballot brings woes.

BUTTON MAKING
Let us consider the manufacturer of campaign buttons. What is he going to do with those thousands upon thousands of unsold emblems for Archibald J. Marmaduke for Congress when medes J. Marmaduke or James Aloyus O'Fortepesake?

He must go back to putting out those doleful jocular buttons that say things like "Oh, you kid" or "I'm for you baby." There are also the society ladies who every four years get a big thrill out of working for a political party, and thereby saving the republic from its foes. Between elections they must try to find a feeling of importance by laboring for more obscure causes, such as distributing rice bowls to needy Sioux Indians, getting the Watts of Africa to adopt George Bernard Shaw's alphabet, or spreading the principles of sanitation among Greenwich Village beatniks.

Consider also the plight of the private eye who has reaped a golden harvest trying to dig up dirt on the early life of prominent candidates. From this fruitful vineyard they are deplayed back to the unglamorous chore of standing on each other's shoulders in order to peer

Copter Delivers LBJ Vote

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP)—Democrats used a plane and a helicopter yesterday to whisk a retired farmer more than 100 miles to assure one more vote for President Johnson.

Word was received that A. L. Arnett, 86, was visiting in Rochester, Ind., and was unable to return to his home near Columbus to vote.

Don Thompson, county Democratic chairman, said a private plane was sent to pick up Arnett at the Rochester airport and fly him to Franklin, north of here, and a waiting helicopter.

The helicopter, used for campaigning by Lee Hamilton, 9th District Democratic congressional nominee, was ready to fly Arnett to a polling place near his farm.

through hotel transoms in search of divorce evidence. The end of a major campaign also ends the eminence of the professional poll takers. Instead of chronicling how by hour the feverish changes of the national public political pulse, they have to return to such ordinary sad questioning as, "If your wife died, would you remarry?" and "As a teenage high school girl, what qualities do you look for in a perfect husband?"

Israeli Premier
Survives Motions
of No Confidence

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol's government survived three motions of no confidence yesterday in Parliament.

The opposition motions accused the government of failure in handling the dispute over German scientists working for Egypt and condemned the government's "inability" to enforce the recall of the scientists to Germany.

Israel has been protesting about scientists from Germany in Egypt, alleging that they are helping Egypt's arms program.

Two of the motions were defeated by 55-25. A third under 71-25.

Vogue of Feminine Wigs
Boon to Masculine Wags

By EARL WILSON
Wigs are sweeping the country... and the world. There was a dispatch from London the other day about Kim Novak being robber of "$15,000 worth of wigs and costumes" she wore while filming "Moll Flanders."

I suspect the wigs were stolen by some boy friend who got disenchanted after discovering he was kissing Kim's wig... not her hair real.

But it's a good thing because now the wigs can send their wigs to the beauty parlor and don't have to go themselves. Of course, they don't pick up as much gossip that way.

Larry Mathews, the beauty parlor magnate who's made wigs for Carol Channing, Sybil Burton, Irene Dunne, Jayne Mansfield and Tuesday Weld, actually has a limousine wig pickup service.

"A chauffeur will pick up the woman's wig at her home in the morning, and we set it and comb it. The chauffeur gets the wig back to the owner so she can wear it that night," says Larry.

I even heard a story about a Hollywood actress who had too many martini one night, looked in the mirror in a powder room, and said, "Is that my head, or Larry Mathews?"

El Morocco Proprietor Edwin Perona says he expects the switch-over to John Mills & Co., who got the liquor license with a new application, to take place within two weeks... Joe E. Lewis told Charles Castleman, the violin virtuoso, "I'm a music lover myself... my apartment is full of diminished fifths."

Photographers claim no girls want to pose with clothes on now... "Broadway Bob" appeals to me to tell his gal, Linda, that he was selfish and stupid, and please don't marry that jerk, but to wait for him... Marlene Dietrich'll visit the Latin to cheer Van Johnson... Liz Taylor, about the redwood nude statue of herself for "Sandpiper," cracked: "I hope nobody tries to scratch a match on me."

LBJ Landslide Crushes Goldwater

Romney Routs Staebler

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney, capitalizing on massive ticket-splitting and gouging a gash in Wayne County, won a second term yesterday and found himself in the national Republican spotlight.

Romney overcame a jarring Lyndon Johnson landslide in the Presidential column and routed Rep. Neil Staebler, thanks partly to votes from nearly 40 per cent of Johnson's backers.

Returns from 93 per cent of the state's precincts gave Romney 1,642,302 and Staebler 1,299,058.

The margin of more than 300,000 exceeded the biggest ever rung up by six-term Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who campaigned extensively on Staebler's behalf.

Williams had won by 280,313 in 1956—ironically another election where the opposition party President won easily.

Romney called his victory "a tremendous outpouring of citizen support for Michigan's unequalled record of progress under Republican leadership in state government."

Although Staebler led at several points early in the tabulating, the texture of the Wayne County returns showed that Romney was picking up more Negro and suburban votes than he did two years ago.

Then when outstate reports showed him running as well or better than in 1962, the suspense was over. Staebler had predicted victory based on suburban gains but they never came.

Instead, for example, Romney carried suburban Macomb County with 52 per cent, up 7 per cent from 1962.

The governor did slip from 62 to 57 per cent in Southwestern (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Johnson Asks Nation to Face World as One

Gained Vote Tide by Taking Traditionally Republican States

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson rode a massive tidal wave of votes to a smashing victory over Sen. Barry Goldwater and promptly called on all Americans to "face the world as one."

Elected with him in the deluge which some key Republicans survived was Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who in January will fill the present vacancy in the vice presidency.

The 56-year-old President, who has served 354 days since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, said early today in Austin, Tex., that no words were adequate "to really express the feeling of this occasion."

"Most of all," he said, "I wish to be equal to your confidence and to the hopes of all of the people of America."

He said that now that the election is over Americans must "face the world as one."

FORGET DIFFERENCES

"I ask all those who supported me and all those that opposed me to forget our differences, because there are many more things in America that unite us than divide us."

Johnson won his first elective White House term by battering down Republican bastions across the nation.

Maine and Vermont fell in his column as did usually Republican Kansas.

Only in the South, where he lost five states, and possibly in Arizona, did his surge falter in the sweep toward the greatest presidential victory of modern times — the largest ever in terms of votes rolled up and margin over his opponent.

LIMITED SOLACE

It left Goldwater, the conservative who offered "a choice, not an echo," with the limited consolation of having carried Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, and perhaps his native Arizona.

The thundering Johnson wave hit the Republican party a shattering blow, engulfing moderates like Sen. Kenneth B. Keating in New York and conservatives like Rep. Bruce Alger of Texas.

But some party members who can be expected to take leading parts in the struggle certain to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Latest Returns Point to Dem Upset in 17th

Late unofficial returns this morning indicated that Democratic and Republican candidates had shared the victory in the race for Oakland County's four State Senate seats in yesterday's election.

The most surprising outcome of the four contests was in the 17th District, where Pontiac Democrat Carl W. O'Brien, at last count, held a lead of 29,290 to 22,904 over Republican Lynn D. Allen, Pontiac optometrist.

Twenty-four Oakland County precincts, 23 of them in Waterford Township, and two Lapeer County precincts were still to be heard from, but the Waterford count was almost certain to increase O'Brien's plurality.

Dr. Allen polled a majority of 7,690 to 5,639 in 25 of 27 Lapeer County precincts.

HOLDS LEAD

At last count, Huber held a lead of 60,027 to 32,157, with only six precincts in Pontiac Township yet to be tallied.

The only State Senate race that might possibly have its outcome changed by final returns was in the 14th District, where Republican Paul M. Chandler of Livonia was apparent winner over his Democratic opponent, James McCarthy, also of Livonia.

The last unofficial count showed Chandler in the lead, 43,183 to 39,956, with 20 Oakland County precincts and one in Wayne County yet to be tallied.

TEMPLEIN BEHIND

The 12 Farmington Township precincts were expected to return a Republican majority, and observers doubted that McCarthy could overcome his opponent in the final returns.

Winners Undetermined in Tight County Races

Winners of most Oakland County offices were still undetermined early today.

Tight races, coupled with the fact that a half-dozen communities had not completed their tabulation of votes, was responsible.

Several of the incumbents, with the exception of Sheriff Frank Irons, held only slim margins over their Democratic opponents with less than 300 of the county's 332 precincts reporting.

The incumbent clerk-register and prosecutor were losing. All incumbents are Republicans.

All during the evening a seer saw battle in returns revealed that Republicans were suffering the early hours of the morning from President Johnson's overwhelming win and it wasn't until that several of the incumbents took the lead.

TEMPLEIN BEHIND

Republican candidate for prosecuting attorney, Robert L. Templein, also was losing to his challenger, Madison Heights attorney S. Jerome Bronson when incomplete and unofficial returns were tabulated shortly after 10 a.m.

Bronson, 34, of 23540 Seneca, (Continued on Page A-3, Col. 1)

Hart Wins; Dems Gain Seats

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, who has specialized in protection of the American consumer, rolled to an easy reelection victory yesterday over Michigan housewife and one-time Republican assistant national chairman.

In addition Michigan Democrats, carried along by the Johnson landslide, captured nine of the state's 19 seats in Congress for certain, and appeared to have bagged two others.

They even had an outside chance for a 12th seat. In the last Congress Republicans held an 11-8 margin.

Hart defeated Mrs. Elly Peterson of Charlotte by a nearly 2-to-1 margin in virtually the same landslide proportion as President Johnson's victory

Broomfield, Farnum Both Far in Front

It appeared late this morning that a Republican and a Democrat will represent Oakland County in Washington.

Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield yesterday retained his 18th District seat

Opposing Farnum was Pontiac businessman and attorney Richard D. Kuhn, 35, of 265 Gateway.

The incomplete voting results from the western portion of the county, which is the 19th District, shows that Kuhn received approximately 30,000 votes to Farnum's 37,000 tallies.

Seeterlin Wins in Waterford

Margin Very Slim for Supervisor Post

Waterford Township residents yesterday reelected their incumbent supervisor, James E. Seeterlin, by what appears to be a slim margin in partial returns.

Voters also named an additional Republican trustee and returned to office their Democratic clerk and treasurer.

Democrat Seeterlin led former supervisor Elmer R. Johnson by 355 votes with 22 of 23 precincts reported.

Seeterlin, 38, of 4597 W. Walton, polled 7,820 votes in the 22 precincts to Johnson's 7,465.

SUPPORTED WATER SYSTEM

During his first two years in office Seeterlin had strongly supported the township's proposed $7½ million water system.

Some township sources felt the supervisor's slim vote margin was due to a negative public reaction to the planned system.

In the trustee's race both GOP candidates were winners. Thirty-six-year-old E. Frank Richardson out-pollied his nearest Democratic rival, Roger Johnson, 34, of 3719 Mariner by 266 votes, and incumbent Charles Evans by 415 votes.

Evans, 43, of 370 Rivera, was seeking a second term of office. Richardson, of 6692 Rowley, was a former president of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

3 Main Factors Sparked LBJ's Landslide Victory

By W. E. RAGSDALE JR., NEW YORK (AP) — Americans of all races, ethnic groups and economic levels joined to hand Lyndon B. Johnson one of the most lopsided presidential victories in history. Only the Deep South stood aside.

A study of election returns selected precincts by NBC's AP Analysis Electronic Vote Analysis showed three major factors in Johnson's landslide win:

—The so-called white backlash among ethnic groups and others upset by desegregation troubles had no significant effect.

—As expected Johnson won 68

per cent of the Negro vote, almost 20 per cent better than the Democratic total in 1960.

"FRONTLASH"

—Well-to-do persons normally found in the Republican camp voted for Johnson by the thousands. This "frontlash" of Republicans turning away from Sen. Barry Goldwater was a key factor as a Democratic presidential candidate carried large numbers of major suburban communities for the first time.

Johnson piled up increased margins over the 1960 vote for the late President John F. Kennedy in every area — and with almost every group of voters — in the unparalleled sweep of New England, the middle Atlantic states and the industrial Midwest.

He ran about 12 per cent higher than Kennedy in the big cities of these northern areas and 16 to 17 per cent better elsewhere.

Here are some samples of his votes in the normally Republican suburban areas: in the New York City suburbs, Johnson received 59 per cent of the vote in selected precincts; in Buffalo, 66 per cent; in Pittsburgh 70 per cent; in Philadelphia 56 per cent; in Denver, 60 per cent.

Creek, whom Third District Republicans sent to Congress 10 years ago. With 39 precincts missing, Todd led by 5,314.

Democrat Raymond F. Clevenger may have knocked out a nother Republican veteran, Rep. Victor A. Knox, in the 11th District. A tabulation of 461 of the district's 474 precincts gave Clevenger a 12,395 edge, but this tabulation was in question.

Billie Farnum in the 19th, and William D. Ford in the 15th.

RETURNING DEMS

Democrats going back to Congress include James A. O'Hara of Detroit, John D. Dingell of Dearborn, Lucius N. Nedzi of Detroit and Martha W. Griffiths, the state's only woman member.

It was certain before the election that Michigan would become the first state since Reconstruction Days to send two Negroes to Congress at the same time.

Goldwater's strategy was to try to turn out the vote in normally Republican areas, work on ethnically mixed groups, key industrial areas and a sweep of the normally Democratic South.

BACK LBJ

But 45 of the most Republican counties in the nation gave 51 per cent of their vote to Democrat Johnson.

LATE RUSH

A late rush carried Republican Rep. James Harvey of Saginaw to victory over his Democratic challenger, State Treasurer Sanford Brown, in a race that saw-sawed much of the time.

Harvey was the seventh GOP incumbent to win back his seat.

Goldwater carried only the Deep South states — Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Georgia. Except for Georgia, these states gave their electoral votes in 1960 to the States Rights party.

Johnson ran from 1 to 3 per cent ahead of the Kennedy total in Southern cities, suburbs and smaller towns, but trailed about 3 per cent in rural areas, where Goldwater's civil rights stand apparently had its strongest appeal.

GOP Leader Urged to Quit Lack of Unity Hurt Republicans—Miller

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Republican National Committee Chairman John Martin declared today that Dean Burch should resign as GOP National Chairman in the wake of "the near disaster we have just been through."

Asked who should take the lead in bringing the party back after President Johnson's overwhelming defeat of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Martin told the Associated Press:

"We should start by asking Sen. Goldwater to urge Dean Burch, who was chosen as chairman of the national committee at the senator's request to resign."

"This would permit the national committee to select its own chairman who will not represent to the country the policies and programs which have been so overwhelmingly defeated in the election just completed."

Martin said the San Francisco convention committed the party to "an extreme course with which the people had no sympathy."

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — William E. Miller said lack of party unity contributed to the crushing defeat he and his Republican gunningmate, Barry Goldwater, suffered Tuesday.

He said the refusal of many state and local Republican candidates to support the national ticket tended to "weaken the Republican position from top to bottom."

However, Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee, said he would make no official statement on President Johnson's landslide election victory until after word from Goldwater.

Miller said he talked by telephone with Goldwater Tuesday night, and they agreed not to comment until the GOP standard bearer had an opportunity to "analyze the vote."

TO FLY HOME

An aide said Miller, a congressman who did not seek reelection to the House, would comment briefly and then fly to his home in Bethesda, Md.

He and his wife, Stephanie, were scheduled to leave Greater Buffalo International Airport at 2 p.m. aboard the chartered airliner in which they had campaigned.

Miller napped Tuesday afternoon and was sleeping at 5 p.m. when Goldwater called him the first time from Arizona. Miller was not awakened, and the two talked later in the evening.

Miller enjoyed a beef stew dinner and then appeared briefly in the press headquarters behind the home of Raymond J. Lee, election night headquarters for the Miller staff.

NEWS SCANNED

Miller scanned Associated Press copy in the two-car garage that served as a press center.

"Reading more now and enjoying it less?" quipped a newsman who had traveled with Miller during the campaign.

Miller laughed and said, "Who's that fellow with a sense of humor?"

VP-Elect Humphrey Joyous in Victory

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey files to the side of President Johnson today, given an overwhelming mandate to stand "a heartbeat away from the presidency."

After a day and a night at the Johnson ranch, Humphrey plans to return to Washington Thursday, then take his family to the Virgin Islands, where "I'm going to be downright lazy for a while."

He leaves his home state with a parting jibe for Sen. Barry Goldwater, who went to bed Tuesday night refusing to concede the election although Democrats were piling up a landslide.

After a day and a night at the Johnson ranch, Humphrey plans to return to Washington Thursday, then take his family to the Virgin Islands, where "I'm going to be downright lazy for a while."

Triumphantly addressing a weary but cheery audience in a hotel ballroom hours after midnight, Humphrey joshed: "I think it's a victory, you know. I don't want to disturb anyone's sleep, but I think it is."

Alabama Goes Big for GOP

Thus the Senate has lost its majority whip and the chief engineer of much of major legislation. Hubert Humphrey, 16 years a senator, moves to the head of the class with the constitutional authority to preside over it and vote in case of ties.

Party Wins Electors, 5 Seats in Congress

MUCH EXPECTED

But those closest to Humphrey expect he'll be doing a lot more than that under Johnson's leadership.

"They'll work as partners; you wait and see," said one Humphrey associate.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama voters, angrily forsaking the Democratic party, have given Barry Goldwater the state's 10 electoral votes and his Republican followers five seats in Congress.

Now Humphrey's life changes. After he is inaugurated Jan. 20, he'll receive a $50,000 annual salary instead of a senator's $30,000.

Never since the post-Civil War years of 1872 had anyone but a Democrat been sent to Congress from Alabama. And never in those 92 years had a Republican won a statewide election.

Already the trappings of high office have begun to show. Staff and press aides traveling to Texas with Humphrey were ordered by the Secret Service to carry their own luggage to the hotel lobby — to obviate the risk of someone's sticking a bomb in a suitcase.

Only Rep. Armistead Selden managed to stand up under the massive avalanche of pro-Goldwater States Rights sentiment which swept Reps. George Grant, Kenneth Roberts and George Huddleston out of office and shattered the congressional hopes of two newcomers among the Democratic nominees.

AGENTS WATCH

About a dozen agents watched over a crowded ballroom as Humphrey attended a victory celebration — replete with crowded buffet and champagne. They flanked him and his wife as they departed for their suite and less than four hours of sleep before leaving for Texas in "The Happy Warrior," the plane in which Humphrey won his successful campaign.

ALL BUT FIVE

The Republicans led in all but five of the 61 counties where the votes had been counted.

NEWS SCANNED

Miller scanned Associated Press copy in the two-car garage that served as a press center.

"Reading more now and enjoying it less?" quipped a newsman who had traveled with Miller during the campaign.

Miller laughed and said, "Who's that fellow with a sense of humor?"

The voter turnout of more than 600,000 was the heaviest ever recorded in a presidential election in Alabama.

Humphrey had been expecting an overwhelming victory — and when he got it he was bubbling with happiness.

He thanked Republicans who voted Democratic, his wife, President Johnson's wife, campaign workers and President Johnson.

A state of 10 Republican electoral votes pledged to the Arizona senator for president gained a commanding 5-2 margin over an unpledged Democratic ticket committed to no candidate.

LBJ'S NIGHT

"This is President Johnson's night," he said. "This is his night."

DECLINES COMMENT

Wallace declined to comment on President Johnson's election or the defeat of the Democratic congressmen and a score of county officials in Alabama.

Sylvan Lake Elects Two Councilmen

Sylvan Lake voters yesterday elected two councilmen from a field of five candidates and approved a charter amendment and elected a justice of the peace.

Gov. George C. Wallace, who sponsored the unpledged electoral movement in the Democratic primary but exerted little effort to get the nominees elected, voted at his home town of Clayton in rural Barbour County, which voted for Goldwater 5 to 1.

A constable candidate, Frank Stott, received 714 votes. He was unopposed for the two-year term.

Boston Hotel Hit by Blaze

John D. McKinlay and Thomas J. McHugh, topped the council race with 488 and 453, respectively.

Other candidates included Fred Crossman, 343; Kenneth Meredith, 286; and John F. Roeper, 256.

BOSTON (UPI)—A small fire broke out today in a service elevator shaft of the Somerset Hotel in the Back Bay.

VOTE ON CHARTER

The charter amendment proposal passed 482 to 326.

The amendment imposed a tax limitation on general fund levies of one per cent of the city's assessed valuation as equalized.

Former Gov. John A. Volpe, a candidate for reelection, had left the building shortly before the blaze broke out.

His running mate, Elliot Richardson, a candidate for lieutenant governor, was believed asleep in his room in the hotel.

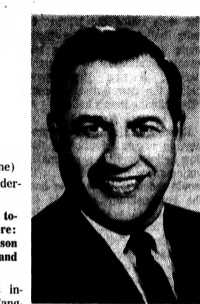

The fire was reported two fires, one in the elevator and one in the ballroom.

However, hotel officials said it appeared that the smoke or steam seen in the ballroom actually was coming from the kitchen.

The 56-year-old Fangboner, of 3237 Meind, is a former Waterford fire chief, Smith, 42, of 3791 Aquaria had served as a township constable.

JUSTICE COMMENT

In the contest for a year-term for justice of the peace incumbent Patrick K. Daly, 35, of 4630 Irwindale, defeated Republican David C. Herter, 36, of 6252 Waking Lane.

He is a proponent of a firmer foreign policy in Southeast Asia and is the ranking minority member of the Far East and National Security subcommittees.

Fangboner's incomplete total was 8,048 to Smith's 6,799.

The 52-year-old Mrs. Olson of 3599 Shual, defeated her opponent Mrs. Lillian A. Weber, 43, of 4171 Windward, by 2,431 votes.

Daily polled 8,024 votes to Herter's 6,763.

In the race for the 2-year JP term Republican Kenneth H. Hemstead, 35, of 2660 Walton, polled 7,556 votes to 6,950 for Democrat Robert G. Siskoff, 37, of 383 Tilmor.

Waterford Township, has served as assistant and deputy secretary of state.

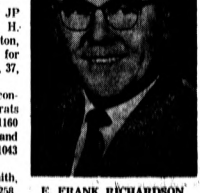

From 1952-54, he was administrative assistant to the late U. S. Senator Blair Moody.

Winning candidates in the constable race were Democrat Donald F. Coffey, 46, of 1160 Tee Dee, with 7,964 votes, and Gerald C. Carter, 46, of 1043 Ilira, with 7,443 votes.

TEXAS DEMS WHOOP IT UP

DALLAS (AP)—Exultant Democrats celebrated today a smashing, across-the-board election victory that crushed Republican hopes of turning Texas into a true two-party state.

F. FRANK RICHARDSON

Led by native Texan Lyndon Johnson, the Democrats won every statewide contest and even out-pulled the GOP in such traditionally Republican strongholds as Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

President Johnson won the

New Heroes Emerging to Head Battered Republican Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of Sen. Barry Goldwater's stunning defeat, the battered ranks of Republicans yielded a new set of heroes today.

Each walked his own careful campaign path and each won a personal victory against great odds.

From their ranks could come the GOP standard-bearer for 1968.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney bucked the Democratic tide to win another term. He had accepted his party's choice of Goldwater, but withheld endorsement.

In California, former Hollywood movie star and dancer George Murphy stepped lightly over former presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger to win a U.S. Senate seat. (Murphy backed Goldwater but reserved the right to differ with him on such issues as civil rights, and once refused to be photographed with Goldwater.)

By contrast, the Republican fallen included some notable Goldwater supporters.

In Illinois, Charles H. Percy, a young Eisenhower Republican and considered a shining light in the party, failed in a bid for the governorship against incumbent Otto Kerner. (Percy said he had made 85 speeches for Goldwater's candidacy.)

Even in Goldwater's home state, Arizona, Republican Richard Kleindienst, strong Goldwater supporter and friend, failed in his bid for the governorship, beaten by Democrat Sam Goddard.

In Maryland, incumbent Sen. J. Glenn Beall had put off Goldwater endorsement—but late in the campaign, on a Goldwater visit to Maryland, the Arizonan warmly endorsed Beall, and Beall reciprocated. Beall lost his Senate seat to the bid of Joseph Tydings.

In Texas, Congressmen Bruce Alger and Ed Foreman, leading conservatives and Goldwater supporters, failed for reelection before Democratic challenges.

Even Republicans lukewarm to Goldwater or opposed to him had to face the anti-Goldwater, pro-Johnson tide.

In Pennsylvania, Republican

stalwart Hugh Scott, a reluctant supporter of his party's ticket who proclaimed "I'm my own man," won a close reelection to the Senate. In Hawaii, Republican Sen. Hiram Fong kept Goldwater out of his campaign and won reelection.

On the opposite side of the

ladder, in the Deep South where Goldwater won his only major victories, his name worked a kind of magic that made political history.

In Alabama five Democrats fell to Republican challengers for seats in Congress. In eastern Georgia, another Democrat fell. There was still another Democratic upset — in Missisissippi. In all but the Mississippi victory, the Republicans were strongly announced for Goldwater.

In the Senate, two strong Goldwater supporters won — former Arizona Gov. Paul Fannin and Nebraska's incumbent Roman L. Hruska.

BREAKS TRADITION—Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of Republican President Theodore Roosevelt, casts her ballot in Washington, D.C., yesterday, breaking the family GOP tradition by voting for President Johnson. It was the first time in her 80-year life span that she has voted for a Democratic presidential nominee.

Electrical Problem Delays Mars Probe

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A problem with an electrical relay system in the booster rocket today forced a one-day postponement of an attempt to launch the Mariner 3 spacecraft to Mars.

The launching was rescheduled for Thursday in a period between 1:22 p.m. and 3:17 p.m. (EST).

Mariner 3 is one of two twin probes the United States plans to launch toward Mars this month. Mariner 4 is being readied on an adjacent launch pad. Its firing date will depend on how well the first shot fares in the early stages.

Ornithologist Arlie W. Schorger estimates there were from 3 to 5 billion passenger pigeons when America was discovered. Today there are none.
