2 Tots Die as Mother Braves Flames in Novi Home

By DICK SAUNDERS and PETE LOCHBILER

Despite a mother's frantic attempts to rescue them, two small children burned to death this morning as fire leveled their Novi Township home.

The woman, Mrs. Leona Shunatona, 32, was taken to University of Michigan Hospital for treatment of burns suffered as she repeatedly braved flames in a futile attempt to save the children's lives.

Novi Township firemen removed the two tots' bodies from a rear bedroom where they apparently had been suffocated to death.

Dead are Robert Shunatona, 5, and Peggy Shunatona, 3½.

Fire broke out in Mrs. Shunatona's home, 2465 Shawood Rd., south of Walled Lake and two blocks west of Novi road, about 8 a.m. this morning.

Two older children, Ellen, 10, and Patricia, 9, had already left for school. A baby, Betsy, nine months, was staying with grandparents.

A neighbor, John Small, of 2450 Shawood, said Mrs. Shunatona came running out of her house, screaming helplessly, "My babies, my babies!"

She ran in and out of the flaming building several times, apparently driven back by flames whenever she tried to enter the children's bedroom.

Small, whose hurried telephone call brought firemen to the scene, said by the time he reached the woman's side, the whole house was burning furiously.

Firemen arrived at about 8:15 a.m. but it took more than an hour to quell the flames sufficiently to enter the one-story frame home to reach the bodies.

Despite pumping of extra water from nearby Shawood Lake, firemen were unable to prevent the flames from completely gutting the small house.

The cause of the blaze remained a mystery, but some neighbors believed there may have been a stove explosion.

Mrs. Shunatona, a waitress at a Novi restaurant, was listed in fair condition at University Hospital. She suffered second and third degree burns on the upper portion of her body.

The mother had been given first-aid at Atchison Memorial Hospital in Northville, before transfer to the larger hospital in Ann Arbor.

She has been separated from her husband for more than a year, neighbors said. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whiteside, live in Milford.

The Novi oTwnship Fire Department was first at the scene, but Commerce Township and Walled Lake Fire Departments followed shortly with more equipment and water.

The house of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McGrath, 2475 Shawood St., next door, was also badly burned on one side. Being of the same type of one-story, wood-frame construction, firemen trained their hoses on it immediately, since the Shunatona structure was clearly beyond saving.

The entire outer wall of the McGrath house was charred, windows were burned out, and electrical wiring was knocked out. Novi Township firemen hurried back to the scene at 11:30 a.m. when it was discovered that a part of the McGrath roof was still smouldering. This was quickly extinguished.

Ike, Governors to Meet Tuesday

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today arranged a Washington conference for next Tuesday with a committee of Southern governors seeking withdrawal of federal troops enforcing school integration at Little Rock, Ark.

His headquarters here left open the possibility he may end his Newport vacation at that time.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary announced the President will fly back to Washington for the Tuesday meeting with five Southern governors.

They requested a conference in a message to Eisenhower yesterday.

Asked whether Eisenhower plans to return to Newport after the meeting, Hagerty replied: "I have no knowledge on that, one way or the other."

Asked then whether there is a chance the President will end his vacation at that time, Hagerty said: "There is a chance, but I don't know for sure."

As for the Washington conference with the Southern governors, Eisenhower today sent this telegram to Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida:

"I will be pleased to meet at the White House in Washington with the committee of the Southern Governors Conference on Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 2:30 p.m. to discuss problems of school integration."

Collins is chairman of the Southern Governors Conference.

The governors had asked Eisenhower for an opportunity to discuss specifically the situation at Little Rock where federal troops have been ordered by the President to enforce a federal court school integration edict.

Girard Denies Warning Shout

Remark Takes Counsel by Surprise; Contradicts All Witnesses

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard surprised his own counsel today by denying under oath that he shouted "Get out" to scare away Japanese shell collectors on a U. S. firing range last Jan. 30.

All prosecution witnesses have testified Girard, or a soldier resembling him, shouted "Get out" or "Get out of here" that day when Mrs. Naka Sakai was killed.

The Ottawa, Ill., soldier is accused of luring her closer then firing a fatal shot from his rifle grenade launcher.

Girard's defense lawyer had intended to use the warning shouts to bolster his contention that Girard was shooing away, not enticing, shell collectors.

Judge Yuzo Kawachi asked Girard whether he said "Get out" or "Get out of here." Girard replied: "No, sir."

"Girard told the truth as he knows it," Maj. Stanley Levin, Girard's army legal adviser, said later.

Itsuro Hayashi, Girard's Japanese lawyer, said irritably: "I'm not ordering Girard how to testify. . . . However, I had believed those witnesses who heard 'Get out of here.'"

Girard also said he had not heard his only companion, Specialist 3.C. Victor Nickel, Inkster, Mich., shout such a warning.

Girard returned to the stand in his manslaughter trial after a 29-year-old illiterate farmer told of seeing an American soldier scatter empty cartridges on the ground then fire twice.

Defense attorneys then began an attack on the practice of scavenging scrap metal on firing ranges. They drew an admission from the witness that it is dangerous.

Kuji Sakai, the farmer, did not identify Girard by name, but said the shots were fired by the "smaller, shorter one . . . the light complexioned one."

UF Kickoff for Advance Gifts

J. C. Penney Featured Speaker

An 82-year-old merchant prince, whose life parallels the Horatio Alger stories, was the featured speaker at the kick-off breakfast today of the advance gifts division of the Pontiac Area United Fund campaign.

J. C. Penney, whose firm opened its 1749th store in the Miracle Mile Shopping Center today, told of the principles upon which his firm operates.

"We welcome competition because we know that the more stores there are the more business is attracted to a shopping area and our store will secure its share of the trade," Penney said.

Telling of his first business venture in a small Wyoming mining town which had 21 saloons and a company store for the miners, Penney said he found hard work, fair competition and cooperation with other merchants was the key to increased business.

He cited many incidents in which fair competition and close cooperation between businesses had revived dying shopping areas. The arrival of a new store in town can be made the occasion for attracting new customer traffic to all stores, he added.

Penney paid tribute to the Pontiac Area United Fund for embodying the principles of the American way of life by getting people together to reach an important goal.

PRIVILEGE TO GIVE

★ ★ ★

"One of our greatest privileges is to give," he said, "and the United Fund, with its 55 community services for health, recreation and welfare, does a vital job in collecting and channeling these funds.

He lauded the special gifts division for enabling Pontiac business to play its role in UF-supported services.

He noted that the minimum goal this year is $612,000, of which business will be asked to give 12½ per cent, or $74,724.

"The more business gives," he told the volunteer workers, "the more individuals will give when they are approached later on."

Penney was introduced by Harold A. Fitzgerald, a UF trustee, who announced that General Motors had donated $115,000 to the 1957 campaign, the same figure as last year.

"Considering that General Motors employment in Pontiac is down somewhat from last year, it is a most generous gift," Fitzgerald said.

Howard W. Huttenlocher, special gifts chairman, served as master of ceremonies. Other speakers were Dr. Dana Whitmer, general UF campaign chairman, and Karl W. Bradley, UF executive director, who distributed campaign kits to the solicitors. Rev. Carl W. Nelson gave the invocation.

Former Pontiac Teamsters Head Mum on Funds

Probers Want to Know What Became of Cash From 1943-1953

A former president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 took the Fifth Amendment yesterday when quizzed by Senate probers in Washington as to why only $300 remained in the local's treasury when it was placed under James R. Hoffa's trusteeship in 1953.

The Labor Rackets Committee at the same time charged that more than $85,000 in Teamster funds were paid to wives of four imprisoned Michigan Teamster officials, two from Local 614.

Daniel J. Keating, 54, a motel owner from Beechwood, frequently hid behind the Fifth Amendment when asked about the condition of Local 614's treasury while he was president-business manager between 1943 and 1953.

He refused to say if he was paid $12,000 to build a house for Hoffa and if his legal fees were paid from union funds.

FOUR WERE JAILED

Keating, along with Louis C. Linteau, 42, of 615 Tennyson Ave., and two Detroit Teamster officials, were sent to prison Oct. 12, 1954 for a $100,000 shakedown conspiracy of trucking contractors.

It was the wives of these four men who, the committee charged, received $85,489 while their husbands were imprisoned.

Linteau appeared before Sen. John L. McClellan's (D-Ark.) committee Wednesday as a witness and told them his wife was paid $700 a month salary after he was taken off the Local 614 payroll following his conviction.

OTHERS CONVICTED

Convicted along with Keating and Linteau following a two-months grand jury investigation was Michael Nicoletti and Samuel J. Marroso. Nicoletti was president of Detroit Local 247 and Marroso was business agent.

Probers said $30,000 was paid in legal fees during the trial of the four.

The alleged payment of $85,000 to the wives of the men was part of $170,000 which Michigan Teamster locals paid the last three years in legal fees for Hoffa aides accused of bombings and extortion, investigators say.

Keating served six months and Linteau five for their part in the shakedown racket. The men demanded and received a fee of five cents per load of dirt excavated from large building projects in Detroit. The contractors were threat-

Excitement Subsides at Little Rock

Weak 'Boo' Only Protest as Negroes Enter School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The "Little Rock Nine," six Negro girls and three boys, returned to Central High School in a guarded Army convoy again today, passed through a line of bristling bayonets, and went inside under the eyes of hundreds of white students watching in silence.

"Boo," shouted one boy. He sounded half-hearted.

This was the only sound that broke the stillness. There were no crowds today, hardly a cluster of bystanders.

Paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division—on guard by order of President Eisenhower—manned stations again around the big, gracefully proportioned school. But they had little to do.

They picked up a man police identified as Lt. Sidney Wolff, attached to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

They said he was carrying a revolver in a shoulder holster and had a rifle in the trunk of his car. He had parked a quarter of a block from the school.

Earlier, the soldiers escorted a white girl, who was weeping bitterly, from the school to a parked automobile. "She's just tired and wants to go home," said a male student with her. "Leave us alone."

ATTENDANCE RISES

Supt. of Schools Virgil Blossom said attendance at Central High rose to 1,350 today—100 more than yesterday. He said enrollment increased at the other two Little Rock high schools as well.

"I think we will let the figures speak for themselves," he said. "They speak louder than anything we could say."

Maximum enrollment at Central High is 2,000.

Outposts, each manned by two paratroopers, were set up, one block from the school, at each of the streets leading to Central High.

At one of them, the two soldiers moved off station momentarily to buy sandwiches from a passing vendor.

Today, the nine Negroes were brought to school promptly at 8:45 when classes began. Yesterday, the authorities waited until 9:20, giving classes a chance to start.

They rode again in the Army station wagon with a jeep in front and another following. An officer and three soldiers were in each jeep.

Curtain Rising on Michigan's Fall Spectacle

LANSING (AP) — The curtain is rising on Michigan's annual color spectacular, the State Tourist Council said.

Fall foliage will be at its peak in the Upper Peninsula starting this weekend, the council said, and within 10 days the whole state will be splashed with crimson and gold of autumn leaves.

Given good weather, Michigan can expect some 2½ million tourists during the fall months, said Robert J. Furlong, the council's executive secretary.

"Our fall color tour inquiries already are 25 per cent over last year's total, indicating the heaviest fall travel business on record," he said.

Furlong said the council will spend about $18,000 on an advertising program aimed at attracting visitors to Michigan this fall.

Haitian Troops Set to Nip General Strike

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Thousands of excited Haitians jammed the streets of Port Au Prince today and truckloads of heavily armed police and soldiers moved in to crush what appeared to be an attempt to start a general strike.

Supporters of former Sen. Louis de Joie, apparently overwhelmingly beaten in last Sunday's presidential elections, said the call was out to shutter all business places. The general strike has been a mighty weapon in months of political strife in Haiti. Half a dozen governments have been dethroned by it.

The governing military junta, which has outlawed strikes, ordered troops and police to break this strike with guns if necessary.

Texas Flooded by Heavy Rains

300 Flee San Antonio Homes; Roads, Schools Closed by Downpour

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Drenching rains swept soggy south Texas again yesterday and rising rivers and streams chased an estimated 300 from their homes in San Antonio.

More rains were forecast today. Downpours of up to 9 inches boosted the totals to as much as 15 inches since Sunday in some spots.

The San Antonio River and tributaries swelled out of their banks here and swirled into streets and homes. Dozens of other creeks and streams in south Texas pushed across lowlands, threatened livestock, closed roads, stranded motorists and kept pupils from schools.

The Freyburg community had 9 inches for a 15-inch total since Sunday. San Antonio had an official 2.07 inches with up to 5 inches in some parts of the city. The official total since Sunday was 8.50 inches.

Weeks Snubs Car Price Cuts

Secretary of Commerce Tells Reuther Industry Is Best Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther found little encouragement yesterday when he made another effort to get government approval of his proposal to slash car prices.

Seeking support from Secretary of Commerce Weeks, Reuther was told by the cabinet officer that car prices are a matter for the manufacturers to decide.

Weeks declined to answer Reuther's request for support directly, but said instead:

"The management of the business enterprises has many factors to consider in setting its prices. It is the best judge when it comes to maintaining the delicate balance between profitable and unprofitable operation.

Th UAW chief had suggested that the "inflationary spiral" might be rolled back by a cut of $100 in the price of next year's cars. He indicated possible concessions at next spring's UAW contract talks in return for such reductions from manufacturers.

The big three auto companies—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—all rejected the proposal.

Weeks told Reuther that he agreed with him on his views about inflation being a threat to the national economy, but added:

"This administration believes that the role of the government in our economy is to maintain a climate where the free competitive forces are given a chance to work."

A similar reply was sent to Reuther by Secretary of Labor Mitchell earlier this month.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Will the weather ever become a cause for wars between nations? Why do some believe in such a possibility?

It is thought by many modern-day thinkers that control of the weather over the earth's surface will one day become a matter of power politics and strategy. If one country can control the weather over another, it will possess life and death power over that country.

If rain, for example, were prevented, all life could eventually be brought to a precarious state of existence. Science as yet knows relatively little about the weather. Rain can be triggered today, by cloud seeding, but no way is yet known to prevent it.

Knowledge about the movement and intricacies of weather still unfolds very slowly to modern-day scientists and control of the weather is probably a long time away.

State, Lansing City Settle Road Dispute

LANSING (AP) — State and Lansing City officials have compromised their differences over routing of traffic over city portions of highways U.S. 16 and M-78.

These are the Detroit-Muskegon and Flint-Battle Creek routes.

Under an agreement announced yesterday, traffic will be one way over part of the disputed segment, and two-way the remainder of the distance.

The dispute began in July when the city defied a state edict for one-way traffic. City workers covered the state's one-way signs and police patrols were dispatched to shepherd traffic both ways.

Shorts Receive Approval at Bloomfield Hills Club

Reason finally triumphs.

At the annual meeting of the Bloomfield Hills Country Club last evening, the membership voted to allow the feminine contingent to wear Bermuda shorts henceforth on the golf course.

This has been a highly controversial subject at the staid and decorous old institution on Long Lake road and it was only resolved after a spirited debate in which many normally inarticulate masculine souls declared themselves freely—on both sides. But the spirit of an emancipated womanhood won a ringing victory.

The winning side was headed by Edwin J. Anderson and George T. Trumbull Sr., with many eager cohorts assisting.

In fact, after the turmoil from this epic-making event had subsided, another member with breath-taking temerity proposed men be allowed to wear shorts, also. This was passed by a shout of acclamation and another tradition was shattered.

The opposition was headed by a one-man rebel named . . . but in the circumstances, his identity should fade into nameless obscurity through a charitable anonymity.

Louis J. Colombo Jr., and Joseph N. Monaghan were returned to the Board of Governors and L. L. Colbert was added. William D. Downey as president was followed by J. Thomas Smith.

Teamster Aide Denies Delegates Hand-Picked

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

An official of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 yesterday denied charges its four-man delegation to next week's convention has been "rigged" to make James R. Hoffa's bid for the union presidency a cinch.

"That is completely erroneous," said Floyd B. Harmon, a business agent for the local. "That is not the facts."

At the same time, Harmon repeatedly refused to elaborate on how the four men were chosen. In answer to numerous questions, he reiterated, "We are complying 100 per cent with the constitution."

A local anti-Hoffa faction this week filed 50 affidavits charging Local 614 officials had violated the International Teamsters constitution in selecting delegates.

A similar group of New York Teamsters have asked an injunction delaying next week's election on grounds delegations were hand-picked to win Hoffa the top seat.

Harmon, 47, of 2990 Barnes St., Waterford Township, said he, Leaun Harrelson, 614 president, Alvy F. Bush, 29, and Frank Orsini, 38, local business agents, would be delegates.

Asked first if the four had been approved by a vote of the total rank-and-file membership, Harmon replied, "That's not the way we run things out here. This is a miscellaneous local."

He explained that such a local consisted of different "divisions" made up of various jobs, while a general local consisted solely of one branch of workers, such as milk truck drivers.

Local 614, he said, was composed of "six or seven divisions." He named only such workers as sand and gravel truckers, car haulers, building supply truckers, and garage men.

Had all the rank-and-file members of these divisions okayed the four delegates, Harmon was asked?

"We are complying with the constitution 100 per cent," was the reply.

He earlier had declared he and the three other delegates were appointed by the executive board, with approval following at "different meetings."

Questioned whether these meetings complied with the constitution and asked when they were held, the official stated, "You're asking me something pretty broad now."

When asked to explain this statement, Harmon's comment was that he "could not remember the dates without going back to the minutes."

But he insisted the different meetings "absolutely included the rank-and-file."

Section 5 of Article III of the constitution states that "all delegates to the International Convention shall be selected by vote at a regular meeting of the local union, or such delegates may be appointed by the executive board of the local union if so authorized by a vote of the local union membership at a regular meeting."

"We are complying 100 per cent with the constitution", was Harmon's remark when questioned if such a regular meeting was held.

On the charge of a "rigged" delegation, Hoffa and 11 other union leaders have been ordered to appear tomorrow in New York before U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts to show cause why the union election should be delayed.

Hoffa, trustee of Local 614 since 1953, is in the drivers seat as the favorite to capture Dave Beck's presidency chair.

Meanwhile, Hoffa is still under scrutiny by the Senate Labor Rackets Committee in Washington.

Harmon said no officials of the Pontiac local had been subpoenaed to appear before the committee.

ened with labor troubles if they refused to pay.

One of four delegates from Local 614 to next Monday's national convention was today named by the Senate committee as having been paid by the union to construct a hunting lodge for Hoffa last year near Iron River.

Alvy F. Bush was named along with Chuck O'Brien, business agent for Local 876 of the Retail Clerks Union. Bush is a business agent for the Pontiac local.

Testimony was given by Harold H. Buddle, former operator of an automobile agency at Iron River. He said he sold property about 40 miles from his home to Hoffa and "nearly every night" saw the two men erecting buildings for the camp.

Committee auditor Carmine Bellino said O'Brien received $2,650 for three months work on the lodge. He said he was unable to tell what Bush received except to say "we know he was on the payroll as a business agent for all of 1956."

Meanwhile, Hoffa's attorney, George S. Fitzgerald, asked for a 30-day delay in quizzing of his client by the Senate committee. The committee had planned to call him for further testimony Saturday.

Chairman McClellan agreed there was "considerable merit" to Fitzgerald's request, which was made as a result of the indictment of Hoffa yesterday in New York on five counts of perjury in connection with testimony before a grand jury in a wiretap case.

Fitzgerald said Hoffa's trial has been set for Oct. 15 on the wiretap charge, and that he is to be arraigned on the same day on the perjury charge.

The attorney, who was commended by McClellan for his willingness to cooperate with the committee, protested that indictments, subpoenas and other actions relating to his clients "are dropping around us like confetti at a county fair."

CHARGE VOTE DENIED

In other testimony yesterday, Floyd Hook, a leader in an anti-Hoffa movement in Pontiac, charged that 2,000 members of Local 614 are kept from voting by officials.

Hook, whose address is unknown, said he had been a member of the local for 14 years until officers refused to accept his dues in 1954.

The insurgent group, which members say numbers around 2,000, are seeking to end Hoffa's four-year trusteeship over the local. They also seek an election from the rank-and-file membership which, they say, has been denied them since Hoffa was appointed trustee by President Dave Beck in October, 1953.

CHARGE TAX EVASION

Keating last year was indicted on four counts of alleged income tax evasion amounting to more than $39,000.

Linteau is awaiting trial after being indicted this year for his part in an alleged GI mortgage home payment racket involving a development in Waterford Township.

The Washington committee entered on a new phase of investigation when they said Hoffa had received payoffs from Detroit restaurant owners.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy promised a further look into the charge made by John Leyhan, a Detroit restaurant man.

Leyhan said he had overheard talk of payments of $1,500 every six months to Hoffa, who is presently bidding for the union's presidency in Miami Beach.

Ted Kartsen, president of the Detroit Restaurant Guild, and Kartsen's brother-in-law, Garrett L. Reading, named in the reported payoffs, quickly denied any irregularities.

They went up the long stairs at the front entrance with two paratroopers leading and two following.

One of the boys, wrestling with an armful of books, fell behind the group. He got the books under control and ran to catch up with the others.

Between 100 and 150 white students clustered around the front entrance. Others were looking out of the windows as the Negroes came in.

The Day in Birmingham

Carleton Smith Will Open Baldwin Library Series

BIRMINGHAM—Carleton Smith, close friend of world leaders, will open the 1957-58 season of the Friends of the Baldwin Public Library when he speaks here on Oct. 9. The program will be in the library auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The November program will bring Tom Patterson, founder and director of planning the world-famous Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Canada, to Birmingham.

Patterson will tell of the Stratford activities, its history and the human interest side as well as the problems involved in the huge undertaking. His Festival has become known throughout this country and Canada by Shakespearean students and lovers.

Two more programs will complete the series for this season, with speakers to be announced shortly.

Tickets for all programs are available to all Friends of the Library. Membership may be made, or information obtained, from Miss Sylvia Parker, through the library or by writing her at 763 North Woodward.

Dr. J. Clark Moloney's film, "Island Hopping" will highlight the dinner meeting of the Soroptimist International of Birmingham at Devon Gables at 6:30 this evening, according to Marion Schmidt, club president.

The Rev. Paul Shippert, pastor of Ascension Lutheran Church, has been named archivist for the district, comprising churches from coast to coast as well as in Canada. The appointment was made by the Rev. H. Eleiner, president of the English District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Mr. Shippert's task will consist of collecting, cataloguing and submitting reports of documents of historical importance concerning churches, pastors and leaders in the English district.

Remodeling of the F. J. Mulholland Store has been completed, along with plans for the grand opening tomorrow and Saturday.

One of Birmingham's oldest commercial establishments, the store has been completely redecorated and modernized. Several new dressing rooms have been added for customer convenience.

The two-day opening will be marked by special sales and gifts.

One of the featured speakers at the PTA Council School of Instruction at Birmingham High School Monday will be Mrs. Charles W. Neidrett of Pontiac.

Mrs. Neidrett is president of the Michigan Congress of PTA. Several other speakers are included on the program which will include workshops on administration, publicity, public relations, programs, membership, legislation, juvenile protection, organization of new PTA units and several other items.

CLEAR & PREVENT CLOGGED SEWERS FOR ONLY $3.95 2-lb. Treatment

IT'S EASY WITH NEW R-D!

AN AMAZING DEVELOPMENT FROM THE HERCULES CHEMICAL COMPANY.

Exclusive new formula contains no lye, caustics or acids — absolutely safe in septic tank, cesspool or city systems.

SO EFFECTIVE . . . YET SO SAFE! Hercules R-D is an exclusive formula of crystals and fine powders developed solely for root removal. It kills only the dangerous root . . . it cannot harm trees, lawns or shrubs . . . in fact, it can't even discolor a single leaf. AND R-D IS HARMLESS TO HANDS OR CLOTHING!

New Hercules R-D chemical formula is the most economical and effective method ever found for preventing and clearing root stoppages. With Hercules R-D, there's no need for expensive labor, the unsightliness and trouble of digging up lawn and pavement. All you do is pour R-D crystals directly from the box into the toilet bowl. The exclusive R-D chemical compound does the rest.

One 2 lb. application of Hercules R-D will not only remove these roots permanently, but will prevent them from forming in your sewage system again! Semi-annual treatment with Hercules R-D will assure you root-free sewer and drain lines.

Simply pour R-D into toilet bowl or directly into sewer line. R-D crystals dissolve and are absorbed by the root. Fast-acting chemical kills the root — but does not harm the tree or shrub.

In most cases, R-D travels through the root and destroys it even beyond the sewer line. And that root cannot grow back into the sewer line to cause stoppage again!

GUARANTEE: R-D MUST WORK OR YOUR MONEY BACK

Use R-D as directed. If it doesn't clear your clogged sewerline of roots and prevent those roots from growing back for 6 months, Hercules will refund the full price.

8-Day Fisher Strike Ends at Ohio Plant

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — An agreement ending the eight-day strike by United Auto Workers at the Fisher Body Division of General Motors Corp. here was reached at 1:30 a.m. today, a company spokesman said.

Some 1,200 members of newly created Local 549 struck the plant Sept. 18, in dispute over a new contract.

Union and company officials said transfer clauses, seniority and hiring provisions were the chief issues in dispute. Wages were not an issue, they said.

The new agreement will be submitted to a union membership vote for ratification today, the company spokesman said. Details of the agreement were not disclosed, but the company said it covered all of the issues in dispute and a number of other provisions.

A company statement said the strikers would be called back to work as soon as materials to resume production arrive.

Drops Chapter Having Negro

Amherst Frat Chapter Nixed by National for Pledging Colored Boy

AMHERST, Mass. (UP)—Amherst College chapter of Theta Xi Fraternity reports it has been suspended by its national officers following the pledging of a Negro student.

The college news bureau said the suspension was voted last month on authority of the national convention.

Several reasons were cited for the suspension by the national officers. Among them was failure to follow fraternity ritual, lack of respect for national officers and the assertion that Amherst College was inhospitable to national fraternities.

Undergraduate officers indicated the house will operate as a local fraternity until the 1959 national convention, when the matter will come up again.

Theta Xi is the second Amherst fraternity to be suspended by its national this year. Phi Gamma Delta was involved in a similar case last spring.

Michigan Bell Opening Showroom at New Center

J. W. KOKOWICZ

just completed 1½ years as manager of the Pontiac business office.

Should you have more than one telephone in your home?

The showroom opened today at the Miracle Mile Town & County Shoppers City on Telegraph road.

Its attractive facilities are designed to help customers with such questions as:

How many phones should there be in the home? Where should they be located and of what color? How can the telephone be best integrated into family life?

These questions are important ones, if you take your telephone seriously as one of the many modern conveniences found in the well-planned home nowadays.

The showroom's manager, J. W. Kokowicz, thinks there should be as much planning about the telephone as about the television set. He has a staff of specially-trained young ladies on hand to help customers with their planning.

They can take a set of architects' blue-prints and design a telephone system that completely suits the needs of the individual home, said Kokowicz.

Miracle Mile's showroom will be the first in the nation, offering the family with the same advisory service formerly provided only to business.

In addition, the show room will exhibit telephone equipment against varied backgrounds of home furnishings and color schemes.

Kokowicz, has been with the telephone company 16 years. He has

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Fellow officers were wracked by sobs yesterday when they saw what policeman Frank Laudenslager dropped on the floor at headquarters. A tiny round object fell from the officer's shirt pocket and exploded on the floor, spraying tear gas around the room.

Drop Big Leaflet Load

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist air force planes flew over the Red mainland last night on what was described as one of the biggest leaflet-dropping missions of the year. One formation flew low over Nanking, the old Nationalist capital deep in central China.

Was It Drunk Driving?

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A city court judge here yesterday sentenced 61-year-old William Jones to 30 days in jail, suspended, plus a $100 fine and court costs for operating a mule and wagon on a Raleigh road while intoxicated.

A committee report submitted to officials of Belfast, Northern Ireland, urged a ban on curbside parking of private cars throughout the entire downtown area.

Tito-Gomulka Talks Irritating to Moscow

The joint statement of TITO of Yugoslavia and GOMULKA of Poland after their recent meeting in Belgrade follows the regular pattern of Communist pronouncements.

After paying respects to international "socialism" it promised Communist solidarity in foreign affairs and adherence to the idea of peaceful coexistence. This is to be expected from countries bordering Russia.

Both chiefs-of-state were careful to say nothing that might anger Moscow. It was made clear that neither country wants to become embroiled in an open struggle with the Soviet Union but they do want to go their own way without dictation from Moscow.

When TITO went to Warsaw ten years ago, he was denounced by the Kremlin and read out of the Cominform. Russian pressures were applied but aid from the West arrived to help Yugoslavia keep a measure of independence. Many observers, including CLARE BOOTH LUCE, have pointed out that while TITO gives lip service to Soviet ideas, he is de-collectivizing Yugoslavia's agriculture and industry.

★ ★ ★

KHRUSHCHEV can't be happy over GOMULKA's seeking advice from TITO. However, GOMULKA repeatedly assured Moscow of the innocence of his visit and it is not likely that the Soviets will do anything that would bring on another bloody uprising as in Hungary, for which Russia again has been condemned in the United Nations.

Watch Your Speed and Save Money

Do you want to save a little money? Start reading the speedometer on your car.

Although city driving uses up gas like a sponge, highway driving is costly too, if you go fast. At a steady 40 miles per hour your gas mileage will drop 10 per cent from what you will get at 30 miles per hour.

At 60, it will drop approximately 30 per cent; at 80, 50 per cent. Even the cost conscious drivers of today can't loaf along our superhighways at 30 miles an hour.

But consider this: You can save one gallon of gasoline out of every four by driving at 50 miles per hour instead of at 70. And you will be safer besides.

U. N. Won't Discuss Seating Red China

The Steering Committee of the United Nations General Assembly rightly has recommended that the question of admitting Red China not be presented nor debated at this session.

India led the fight to discuss the seating of Red China. The United States was supported by Britain in opposing and the American and British blocs defeated the Asian-African group which favored seating the Communist regime.

It is not only a matter of admitting Red China but Mao Tse-tung demands that Communist China replace Nationalist China in the U. N. In that event the Red regime would have a permanent seat, with veto power, on the Security Council.

Communist China is still an unpurged aggressor. Its intervention in Korea was not directed against the Republic of Korea alone, but the United Nations as well.

Negotiations which led to the cease fire were obstructed and delayed for months. Violations of the armistice occurred repeatedly before and after agreement finally was reached.

The stain of aggression remains and Red China has shown no disposition to make peace with the United Nations.

'Tis the Final Day

Friday Noon Is Deadline on Our Football Entries...

Sorry: What we'll both be if it isn't received by Friday noon.

Tomorrow (Friday) NOON is the final hour that our football contest entries must be received in The Pontiac Press Office in order to qualify in the competition for that $300 in U. S. Savings Bonds. Is yours in the mail?

Make your prediction on the outcome of each of the following games. The contestant who is the nearest correct gets the $300. If you wish, you can clip out the list, checking each winner. If you think any game will be a tie, do not check either team. Every member of your family is eligible to compete. Here is the list:

Sept. 28—Southern Methodist vs. Georgia Tech.
Oct. 5—Maryland vs. Duke.
Oct. 6—Detroit Lions vs. Green Bay Packers.
Oct. 12—Michigan State vs. Michigan.
Oct. 18—Saginaw vs. Pontiac.
Oct. 26—Boston College vs. Detroit.
Nov. 2—California vs. UCLA.
Nov. 9—Georgia vs. Florida.
Nov. 16—Notre Dame vs. Oklahoma.
Nov. 23—Ohio State vs. Michigan.
Nov. 28—Cornell vs. Penn.
Nov. 30—Army vs. Navy.
Dec. 7—Pitt vs. Miami.
Dec. 15—Detroit Lions vs. Chicago Bears.

It now is so late, you'd better make personal delivery of your entries. If you cannot come during business hours, drop entries through the slot in the cement post at the side of the outside front doors. Just lift up the handle and deposit what may mean $300 to you.

Remember, the closing time for the receiving of entries is at noon Friday — and that's TOMORROW NOON.

The Battle Is Joined

Little Rock Decision to Hurt GOP

WASHINGTON — The casualties in President Eisenhower's war against the states will be counted for years to come, but as of today the biggest casualty is the Republican Party.

LAWRENCE

Irrespective of what the President's political advisers may have intended, the action taken in Arkansas will boomerang. If anything were needed, in view of the adverse economic conditions now prevalent, to insure the defeat of the Republican Party in the congressional and presidential elections of 1958 and 1960, it is the hasty, impulsive action taken in bringing back an era of "Government by Injunction" enforced by military power. Labor strikes involving any disorder must now be promptly squelched by federal troops if "equal protection of the laws" means what the President says it does.

For every Negro vote gained by the Republicans, there will be 10 Republican white votes lost in the north—many of them labor-union votes. They will be lost either through stay-at-home tactics or direct voting for Democratic nominees. The President might as well kiss goodbye to his legislative program for the next two years—it will be sabotaged by a vengeful Congress dominated by Southern leaders.

GOP DEFECTION

Resentment is nationwide and, though it may not be a numerical majority in the North as a whole, it means a big enough defection in the Republican Party to swing the electoral vote of state after state.

The issue is by no means sectional. The "Wall Street Journal" of New York, which certainly is not Southern but is a staunch exponent of conservatism in America, had this to say editorially:

"The trouble thus far has been that there has been hardly pause to break the chain reaction. Governor Faubus would not wait and see before he called out the guard. Judge Davies, when asked to delay the desegregation order, was too impatient even to grant a hearing. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People would not wait even a day to test the mob. And the mob, inevitably, would wait on nothing.

"When President Eisenhower acted it was not without pressure and without provocation; he had, up until Monday, proceeded with moderation. But on Monday the dust had hardly settled in Little Rock before the action of the mob brought the reaction of proclamations with their own clear threats of force. The troubled authorities of the city were not given 24 hours to see what they might yet be able to do to handle their city's troubles.

"The people of Little Rock were given less time to act in the spirit of the proclamations. On the evening of Monday the President warned of force. On Tuesday morning he federalized the Arkansas National Guard. By late afternoon Tuesday airborne federal troops were before a stunned Little Rock."

NOT CABINET DECISION

This is a tragic example of irresponsible government—what the Europeans and Canadians, with their parliamentary systems, have always criticized about the American system. For the President did not feel it necessary even to call a meeting of his cabinet or to summon congressional leaders for consultation after Gov. Faubus called out the guard—when there was plenty of time for discussion of the best way to meet the crisis.

The President instead consulted a few lawyers and zealots in the Department of Justice. It was not a cabinet decision. It was the hasty act of a single department. No other point of view had a chance for presentation. Now the whole Eisenhower administration and the Republican Party will suffer irreparable injury.

Government by bayonet has superseded government by the laws of Congress in supposedly free America. The Fourteenth Amendment, allegedly forbidding segregation, was itself ratified illegally by the pressure of military force.

The Country Parson

"Men are more thoughtful of their wives some times than others—they wouldn't think of sending them off to the ball game alone like they do to church."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Active Life Helps Woman Breeze Through 'Change'

"Dear Dr. Brady: I am pushing 49 (the lady doesn't say which way) and my annual physical examination indicates excellent health.

DR. BRADY

"I have always enjoyed walking. As a girl I preferred to cross the Queensboro Bridge from Manhattan to my high school in Long Island City afoot instead of via elevated or trolley. Later I often hoofed it 43 blocks to or from home to where I worked.

"I might drop dead from too much walking one of these days, but so far it has caused no apparent ill effects. My Irish setter and I both benefit from miles of daily walks, and I take care of six rooms, shopping, cooking, plus my clerical job in a bank.

"I've been told (oh well, it doesn't matter) I'm going through the 'change', but to date I'd never know it. No flashes, nothing.

"Why people are ashamed or afraid to walk is beyond me. It's the automobile that is creating laziness. Perhaps it's the fault of the times, not the people."

Since this healthy woman is unaware of any change, why does she call the menopause "change of life"? I have a pamphlet on The Menopause which is available to any one who asks for it and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope. Uninformed women are too credulous concerning this normal epoch of a woman's life.

WHAT TO DO

For women who do suffer with hot flashes I recommend as a start (1) lower refined carbohydrate intake, (2) increased calcium and D intake.

I believe that three to six miles of oxygen on the hoof daily, or the equivalent in other general exercise—swimming, housework, gardening, setting-up exercises—would be a boon to any woman who thinks the menopause is in some vague way a "critical" matter.

Girls brought up with little or no physical education generally regard menstruation as illness, partly because this helps them to evade gym class etc., and partly because they, too, have been told it is illness. And so, as they get older, they are susceptible to all sorts of morbid notions about the "change."

And here's a pamphlet on menstruation—Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women. Ask for it and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. For both pamphlets send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Effects of Smoking Bad for Athlete

Terry is a swimmer who wonders why cigarettes make him short of wind. All coaches and athletes should be interested in the three ways to increase an athlete's wind. And if you have a bad heart, these same rules may help save your life, for lack of oxygen is the cause of heart pain.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-304: Terry F., aged 17, is a high school athlete.

"Dr. Crane, why does a fellow get short of wind if he smokes?" Terry began.

DR. CRANE

"I do a lot of swimming and am captain of our high school swimming team.

"When I smoked, I found I couldn't swim nearly as well as when I quit.

"A lot of people have said that smoking cuts down your wind but I am curious to know just how or why that is true.

"Would you please give us athletes the specific medical reasons?"

ADVICE TO ATHLETES

If you start to peel an onion, your eyes will soon water. Why?

Because of irritating volatile oils that get into the air and affect the eyes and nose.

Irritation thus produces oozing or secretion. You are familiar with this fact in another way, for if you have swung an axe or wielded a hoe, you may have developed red spots on your palms.

Soon, water blisters formed underneath. For irritation of the skin also produces secretion of more liquid. That is a basic law of medicine.

A similar increase in secretion occurs in your windpipe and lungs when you inhale irritating gases or smoke.

And infection, such as a chest cold or "flu," will also cause this extra secretion (phlegm).

If the inflammation thickens this moisture lining of the lungs, you can see why you get winded faster, for the exchange of gases is simply slowed down.

TOBACCO GRAVE

But there is another reason why tobacco makes an athlete short of breath.

For cigarette users inhale more carbon monoxide, via the smoke. And their blood thus has a much higher carbon monoxide content than that of non-smokers.

Carbon monoxide kills the effectiveness of your red blood corpuscles. It "fixes" the hemoglobin so the latter can no longer pick up oxygen in your lungs and carry it to the muscles that are hungry for oxygen.

Oh, the red corpuscles are still circulating in their blood but many of them are now inert. They are useless for carrying oxygen.

Tobacco, however, is not the only thing that reduces your wind. College teams that travel in private automobiles or buses in the winter, may also find that a small amount of carbon monoxide leaks into the car.

It may be just enough to add several seconds to your time in an indoor track meet or swimming meet. And it can pull down your pep in basketball.

So beware of tobacco and closed automobiles. And try to avoid being held up in heavy auto traffic in cities where you may also inhale

Also beware about donating blood just before an athletic contest, especially if your event is a gruelling mile or 2-mile run, or a distance event in swimming.

And if you are anemic, have your physician prescribe an iron tonic, for if you can move up your active red blood cells from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 you have thus added 25 per cent to your oxygen carrying machinery!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets

'We Get So Many Benefits for the Little That We Give'

As we approach the time for the UF drive, I want again to praise the many groups that were so ready to help us during my husband's illness and at his death.

The American Cancer Society answered our every need at no cost to us, and the Visiting Nurse Association was ready to help at any time. Others too numerous to mention were very helpful, too.

No one can realize until such sickness strikes, home how much can be done for the little we give.

Parent and Student Differ on Dress

As another Rochester parent and taxpayer, I agree on using proper discretion in dress but see nothing wrong in clean, neatly pressed jeans on boys up to 14.

We can't afford dress pants for our boys expecially to have them ruined by walking half a mile or waiting for a school bus in unpredictable weather. We send money to school almost every morning for this, that and the other thing, and now they must have a new wardrobe.

I'm all for eliminating extreme dress or hair styles, but let's be sensible. And what about some of the girls? Some of them aren't exactly pleasing to the eye.

Another Confused Parent

As a member of Rochester High student council, I agree levis leather jackets and engineering boots are suitable, if worn properly. Pupils who insist on wearing this type of clothing, about 20 of 650 students, do so with levis below the line of decency, leather jackets with collars turned up and scuffed boots with heel plates to attract more attention. They look more like skid row victims than students. I'm behind our school board who advocates the new rules of school dress.

School Bus Cut Makes Problem

It's like leading lambs to slaughter since Waterford school buses have been taken away. We can warn our children not to talk to strangers or get in cars with them, but can we tell them about speed demons who might run them down?

Many roads have no sidewalks, and cars are parked along the shoulder, making it necessary for the children to walk into the road to pass. The least people can do is to take their cars off the shoulders.

'It's No Wonder We Have Bullies'

Is it a wonder we have so many bullies driving around looking for a chance to beat up on innocent boys, when the Sheriff's Department won't listen to a complaint about a beating? I was referred to the Prosecutor's office, where a gentleman listened and re-referred me back to the Sheriff. Those bullies know they can get away with it, and we'll have more and more unless something is done before, not after, someone is hospitalized or killed.

Explains UF Stand on Boys Club Help

Ex-United Fund Worker asks why UF hasn't contributed to the Auburn Heights Boys Club. The club hasn't appealed for funds until this year. Many worthwhile agencies depend on UF. UF didn't make its goal last year and will have a rough time this year unless it gets full cooperation from everyone. UF has asked us to file a proposed budget for the coming year, and it will consider all our problems while making a decision. Regardless of the outcome, it's hoped everyone in this area will contribute freely to the campaign.

Member of Union Speaks His Mind

I've belonged to a union 35 years and have never seen or heard anything like the Teamsters.

What do other countries think to see union officials free after using union dues for personal interests? Hoffa's been arrested 17 times and convicted in some cases. Is he a fit man to head an organization to represent labor? It's no wonder Russia laughs at us. What has all this investigation cost taxpayers?

The only fit man to head labor is Walter Reuther. They can't get anything on him, even though they tried shooting him.

Girl Questions Sportsmanship

I'm a senior at Clarkston High. My dad was graduated from Oxford High. From clippings and from what he's taught me of sportsmanship conduct at Oxford when he was there, there seems to be a vast difference now (referring to the football game and dance Sept. 20). At Clarkston High we're not taught that kind of sportsmanship and conduct.

Cairo Exiles Dream of Intrigue; Revolution

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP)—This sprawling city of intrigue and mystery has a strange collection of exiles, each of them dreaming of that special assassination, revolution or coup d'etat which will pave the way for their return home.

Emir Abdel Krim el Khattabi, Moroccan rebel leader, is whiling away the twilight years of his life in the spacious gardens of a villa. Grizzled and squint-eyed, he still wears the white cloak, turban, and pointed leather slippers characteristic of the Riff where he gained fame as a desert warrior a generation ago. He is 73.

Ex-Mufti of Palestine Haj Amin Husseini lives in Heliopolis, Egypt. He directs activities of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee.

The mufti has no patience with talk of implementing United Nations resolutions on Palestine or any other compromise of any kind with Israel. Haj Amin wants all Palestine united as an Arab state, and nothing less. He is a bitter enemy of Jordan's King Hussein and is barred from that Arab state. In 1951, one of the mufti's relatives was hanged for the murder of Hussein's grandfather, King Abdullah.

* * *

Three young Jordanians from the old Arab Legion form another sector of the exile population in Cairo. Col. Abdullah Tel was convicted of complicity in the murder of King Abdullah in 1951 and was sentenced to death in absentia. Tel already was in exile in Cairo. In 1949 he concluded his government was trying to make peace with Israel. He then came to Cairo to ask political asylum.

His two comrades here are Maj. Gens. Ali Abu Nuwar and Ali Hayari, who in rapid succession were chiefs of staff of the Jordan army. Both fled Jordan last April and have since been accused of complicity in a plot to assassinate King Hussein.

Why do these exiles gather in Cairo? For one thing, Cairo is the headquarters of the Arab world, with the Arab league centered here. Also, the Cairo press and radio provide ready-made propaganda facilities for such political movements. Money-short exiles also find they can live comfortably and economically in the Egyptian capital, in many respects the most modern of Arab cities.

TIBETAN TOOT — These lasses, probably familiar with the alpenhorn, attempt to draw sound from giant copper Tibetan horn exhibited at the International Fair in Frankfurt, Germany.

Storyland Rising to Awe Children in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Storyland, a children's center with fairytale fantasies brought to life, will soon rise next to San Francisco's Fleishhacker Zoo.

The seven-acre Never-Never Land will be built by San Francisco's Recreation and Park Commission for children of all ages. It will bring to life the favorites of childhood books plus a few space age attractions for the scientific-minded tots.

* * *

At the gateway a 12-foot open book will greet visitors who will enter over a drawbridge and through a magic castle.

In the park youngsters will find:

* * *

A whale's spout drinking fountained and the alligator who swallowed the clock in "Peter Pan." His jaws will be open so children can stick their heads inside.

A village with the dwellings of Little Red Riding Hood and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs plus the House That Jack Built.

* * *

Find Faster Method for Analyzing Coal

ST. JOSEPH — Researchers at a laboratory - equipment company here have developed a high-temperature method of determining the ash-and-sulphur content in coal and coke faster than by present methods.

* * *

Coal ashing under the process is said to require only 10 to 15 minutes compared with one to two hours with other methods. In the process, coal is pyrilyzed in a high-temperautre furnace in a stream of nitrogen to remove volatile substances. This is followed by complete oxidation in a stream of oxygen.

Turns Corn Into Rice

MANILA — The Philippine government has bought from a Masachusetts inventor a 15-ton machine for turning corn into "rice." sachusetts inventor a 15-ton maicult to tell from rice in taste or at least a cereal that's difficult to tell from rice in taste and appearance.

Paste this in your hat . . .

Cut out this chart . . . take it with you . . . look for and ask about these features:

CANVAS COAT FRONT... the canvas coat front is the very foundation of the coat. It is the fabric that is sewn between the lining and the outer cloth, to give your garment added crease-resistance and extra resilience. The canvas in our 'BOTANY' '500' coat is made of a 2-ply cotton warp and 100% wool and hair filling. It is the finest of its type used. That's why 'BOTANY' '500' coats will hold their perfect shape and drape, even after many cleanings.

LININGS... Only the finest quality, highest count linings are used in our 'BOTANY' '500' suits. (Higher count means a stronger lining). After it is woven, every yard of lining is treated and finished according to specifications, to insure you long wear and excellent appearance. You will notice that the color of the body lining perfectly matches the fabric of your suit.

POCKETING... Pocketing is a hidden but very important factor. The pocketing used in our 'BOTANY' '500' clothing, is laboratory tested for its ability to withstand the wear of keys, coins and other metallic objects. It is constructed of lightweight, closely woven cotton, made to take the rub and pull a man invariably gives his pockets.

TRIMMINGS... Pure silk thread is used for all outside sewing and for seams . . . silk thread that is the most resilient, strongest and color-fast money can buy. Buttons are of the highest quality, guaranteed against breakage and fading. Fine all wool fabric which will not fade or shrink is used under the collar. This is known as the "under collar cloth." Notice how perfectly the color blends with that of the fabric of the suit.

COLLARS, SHOULDERS AND ARMHOLES... The collar, shoulders and armholes in all of our 'BOTANY' '500' clothing are constructed in the manner of a custom tailor. Because these operations are all hand done by skilled craftsmen, you will always enjoy perfect comfort and balance at all times.

It will help you judge the quality of the clothing you buy

It's the little things you don't see that make the big difference in the quality of the clothes you buy. To help you determine this quality, we've taken a suit apart so that we can point out some of the things you should look for and ask about the next time you buy a suit.

In doing this, you will notice that we have used the quality and value of 'BOTANY' '500' as a standard. We have done so because in our opinion this clothing embodies all the features essential to the quality you deserve in a suit.

Army to Handle Guard's Payroll

Federalized Troops in South to Cost About $100,000 a Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department states that Arkansas National Guardsmen, called into federal service by presidential order, will be paid from federal funds disbursed through the Army.

The Pentagon was unable to estimate how much additional cost will be involved, but spokesmen said all members of the Arkansas guard will draw pay from the time the call-up was made official. That time was established by Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker as 2:25 p.m. (EDT) Tuesday, the moment Secretary of Defense Wilson signed the document.

Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, Arkansas National Guard commander, estimated the cost at $100,000 a day.

The Defense Department said it does not know at this time which agency or special fund of the executive department will be tapped to defray the cost of federalizing the Arkansas guard. The Army is understandably loath to have the money come out of its already reduced share of the defense budget.

Defense spokesmen said that the question of who will pay will eventually be settled by the executive branch of the government.

The Army said little additional cost will be involved in the deployment to Little Rock of troops of the 101st Airborne Division. All the soldiers are regulars and will draw the same pay and allowances they were receiving before they left their home base at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

One additional cost, which will be borne by the Air Force, is for the fuel used by the C123 transports that flew the soldiers to Arkansas. The total of this transportation bill has yet to be worked out, because sooner or later the Army soldiers will have to be flown back to Ft. Campbell.

Raise Flag to Signal End of Polar Winter

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — A group of U. S. scientists and servicemen at the South Pole raised the Stars and Stripes Monday to commemorate the end of a sunless six-month winter.

Rear Adm. George J. Dufek's headquarters in Christchurch said formalities were necessarily short —the temperature was 88 below with a wind of 15 knots.

Igor the Lizard, Mascot at MSU, Home Again

EAST LANSING (AP) — Igor, the Iguana 5-foot 3-inch South American lizard missing since early August, turned up safe and sound in an East Lansing alley yesterday.

The lizard had been missing since Aug. 7 when it escaped from the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity house at Michigan State University. Herb Wendt, a junior from Tawas City, was keeping the lizard as a fraternity mascot.

Police theorize that the recent cold snap forced the tree-climbing lizard down from some tree hideout.

Cuticle Cutter Saves Imprisoned Employe

TULARE, Calif. (AP) — A cuticle cutter possibly saved a Tulare City Hall employe's life. He used it to free himself from the inside of a locked vault.

Orval Nelson, 22, a draftsman in the city engineer's office, entered the vault to inspect some maps.

The door blew shut and the inner lock jammed.

Nelson attracted attention by rapping on the inside of the vault. For an hour Police Chief Ed Houck, Fire Chief Ben Jones and others tried to open the door.

Then faint metallic clickings were heard inside. Workers tugged on the handle and the door opened.

New Light Improves Seaplane Operations

JOHNSVILLE, Pa. — A "self-orienting channel-light support" developed at the Naval Air Development Center here is said to permit seaplanes to approach and land more safely.

The light support, for seadromes (aero-nautical sea lanes) is expected to eliminate collision obstacles and to provide safer high-intensity directional lighting for night landings and take-offs.

The floating end of the anchored support is geared to maintain rigid vertical and horizontal directional lights and to compensate automatically for tides and wave variations.

Total world production of uranium metal in 1956 was estimated to be between 14,000 and 15,000 tons.

Gun Accident Kills Son of Irish Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The son of Irish Ambassador John J. Hearne was shot and killed yesterday.

Police said a pistol in the hands of a friend discharged accidentally.

Police Capt. Albert Embrey said the pistol was fired by John E. Kieffer Jr., 22, in an office building where Kieffer's father operates the Universal Research and Consultants, Inc., a public relations firm.

Police quoted young Kieffer as saying the shooting occurred when he started to take the pistol from a drawer. Kieffer added, police said, that young Hearne also reached for the weapon and might have touched the trigger.

Driver Right in Guess of What Ails His Car

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Al Kalmbach took his car to the garage and complained of a strange noise.

The mechanic asked what the racket sounded like, and Kalmbach said, "Can't help you much, it's kind of hard to describe. It's sorta like stones in the hubcap."

When Kalmbach returned he asked, "What was it?"

Growing Tobacco New Ulster Hobby

BELFAST — Northern Irelanders have suddenly awakened to the fact that their climate is ideal for the cultivation of tobacco.

The moisture in the air gives the leaf a heavy nicotine content, experts in Belfast say, and more and more people are trying their hand at growing it. An English tobacco growers' association is sending free seeds to Ulster people. Finished tobacco will cost about four cents per ounce if cured at home, or 11 cents an ounce if sent to a tobacco works for curing, it is estimated.

One housewife in the Knock area said: "I'm trying it. If it will save me any money — I like a cigarett myself — so much the better."

Many Enjoy Floating-in-Air in 'Space' Test

RANDOLPH FIELD, Tex.—Researchers at the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine here found that weightlessness of the kind to be encountered in space was thoroughly enjoyed by about half of 47 persons exposed to such a condition.

A third of the group had opposite reactions—motion sickness, vomiting, fear, and anxiety.

The remainder said their sensations were "neither unduly pleasant nor exactly comfortable."

The persons tested were exactly balanced during the short period when a jet plane's inertial pull at the top of an arc equaled the pull of gravity.

At Schiphol Airport in Amsterdam, Holland, airline passengers can see ships sailing above them. The airport's runways are 13 feet below sea level along side a canal.

Girl Motorists Fined; Misused Flip-Tops

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Improper use of the flip-top opening in a foreign auto's roof cost three 17-year-old girls $10 each yesterday in police court fines.

Arresting officers said they stopped the car Sept. 18 after noting two of the girls perched on the car seat with their heads extending through the convertible top opening.

Judith R. Little and Marcie Sue Kraige pleaded guilty of riding on a portion of a vehicle not intended for passengers. Driver Mary J. Koskey pleaded guilty to allowing them to do so.

Adjacent to Little Rock School

Integration Hard on Lawns

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — The middle class residents along a one-block stretch of Park street facing Little Rock's Central High School are making the best of the unprecedented situation across their front lawns.

Residents in these 10 comfortable houses are taking matters in their stride, outwardly impervious to the disturbance to their familiar surroundings.

During the past few weeks, National Guard troops, city police and many hundreds of people have occupied the narrow strip of asphalt and grass separating their homes from the embattled high school.

Today they awoke with federal troops patrolling the reaches outside their windows. Their reactions:

"We don't like all this mess that has occurred here, especially the mess that's been made of my front lawn," explained one woman shaking her head.

LAWN RUINED

"The mess" caused by milling crowds of onlookers has left her lawn like a football field after the fourth quarter.

Others were concerned with more than their lawns.

E. G. Bylander, whose well kept house faces the center of the high school, said he was more concerned with the integration problem across the street than the incidental inconveniences.

"The shrubs and the grass will grow back next year," Bylander mused, "but the dispension and trouble aroused in Little Rock—God only knows how long it will be with us.

"We just take it as it comes, around the house. Everyone has been considerate. Friends call my wife every day and invite her out. But she is safe enough right here."

Mrs. Eddie Dunn, who has lived in the spotless white dwelling at the south end of the cordoned block for 30 years describes the situation as a mild inconvenience.

'NO REAL TROUBLE'

"We have trouble getting in and out with the crowds out front. So do the milkman and postman, but we've had no real trouble.

"As for violence, well, we're better protected right here with all those soldiers than anyone else in town."

An elderly woman who lives with her daughter at the other end of the block and prefers, like some others, to remain unidentified, sighed, "Just look at those shrubs.

"Of course, it's not natural with all those crowds and soldiers around but we live pretty normally.

"No one has lost any sleep or missed meals, though I do stay inside the house and just look out the window most of the time."

Another resident said she refused to walk through the crowd without her husband as an escort.

"He walks me down to the bus stop on the corner in the morning and meets me at night. Then we go inside and stay. You never can tell about the people out there."

The most nonchalant of the residents, a Central High School teacher who moved in at the start of the school term and the present trouble, says she finds it "not too upsetting."

"But I'll still be mighty relieved to see it end."

Bulldozers Ruin Peace of Thoreau's Walden

BEFORE BULLDOZERS ARRIVED, Walden looked just about as it must have when Thoreau lived along its shores.

NEW BEACH CONSTRUCTION on Walden shores recalled Thoreau's words about "making earth bald before her time."

By BILL MAHONEY
NEA Staff Correspondent

CONCORD, Mass. (NEA) — A tired, disordered landscape greeted the eyes of the ambassador from India as he arrived at a clear, cold lake nestled near here.

G. L. Mehta had come to tell a gathering of the influence a famous Concord citizen had had on India. He also came to pay homage to a "famed cutural shrine" — a Walden Pond as near to nature as when that famous citizen lived there.

But things had changed since the days of author-naturalist Henry David Thoreau. Bulldozers had recently bitten into a great area to form a new beach. Beer cans, papers, all sorts of debris littered that area. And citizens here and across the nation were in revolt.

The county commissioners apparently didn't reckon on such a revolt when they began their "reconstruction program."

The Concord Red Cross had asked that another beach be formed in the interest of children's swimming classes. For years there had been a large beach at one end. The rest of the shoreline remained natural.

PRESERVE SHRINE

The only man-made shrine is the pile of rocks surrounded by a chain fence that marks the spot where Thoreau built his hut.

A Committee to Save Walden leaped into the battle. The 17-year-old Thoreau Society, which counts members all over the nation, said the commissioners had failed "to preserve the Walden of Emerson and Thoreau . . ."

Assurance has been given by the commissioners that uprooted trees would be replaced and the raw, torn area covered with sod. The question of the beach is still being debated.

The replanting represented something of a victory to those who have tried to preserve the spot to which thousand make a pilgrimage annually. The 64-acre pond long has been threatened by the encroaching environs of Boston.

Thoreau lived at Walden a little more than two years. Contrary to popular belief, he was not a hermit. His Walden sojourn was his way of reducing life to its essentials so that he might study and write without the interruptions of town life.

His writings — especially "Walden" — have had world-wide influence. His essay "Civil disobedience" was the base for Mahatma Ghandi's passive resistance movement in India. Tolstoy said "Walden" had a great effect on his life. The first book purchased in Brentano's bookstore in Paris after World War II was a copy of "Walden."

Thoreau long ago wrote what he would have to say in such a controversy as the present one: "If a man walks in the woods for love of them, for half his days, he is esteemed a loafer; but if he spends his whole day as a speculator, shearing of those woods, he is esteemed industrious and enterprising — making earth bald before her time."

More Families to Own Cars in Near Future

NEW YORK — According to the National Petroleum News, the number of automobile-owning families in the United States will rise in the next few years, reaching 41,200,000 by 1962 and 47,500,000 by 1967, a 32 per cent increase in a decade.

Stamp Books Issued

Exports Top Billion

NEW YORK—American aviation exports in 1956 exceeded a billion dollars for the first time since World War II, reaching a total of $1,044,487,000 compared with $728,514,000 in 1955.

Hazard and Nuisance

Troy Against Airport

TROY—City commissioners here have gone on record as being "unalterably opposed" to the proposed Northwest Detroit airport in nearby Sterling Township.

Faced with a similar situation a year ago, when the airport was proposed for the Warren area, commissioners took little action. Residents, however, expressed the idea that the air traffic would be a hazard as well as a nuisance, and many expressed strong opposition.

Today, with the shift to the north, commissioners declare the construction of the airport will stifle residential development for their comparatively new city. It will also, they feel, result in a blight to those areas already under development for dwellings.

In a resolution adopted by commissioners, they state the airport will be "inherently dangerous" to homes and schools. The resolution went on to say that there are other airports already operating in Wayne County which are capable of serving the area.

Residents, city officials feel, will be forced to assume extra tax burdens from which they will derive little benefit, as increased auto traffic creates a demand for new and better roads. They point out, too, that the proposed location is 20 miles from downtown Detroit, representing a travel time of nearly two hours.

Commissioners George W. Ford and Ernest W. Gray declined to support the resolution.

10-Year Legal Struggle for Patent

Riches May Await Inventor of Radar After Long Battle

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Radar manufacturers are setting up their legal antennae to detect what effect a new patent will have on their industry.

For electronics companies will soon have to start paying Col. William R. Blair sizable royalities unless they can prove he is not the first United States inventor of radar or devise an electronic warning system of their own.

Although the patent provides the government with a royalty free license, the retired 82-year-old Signal Corps scientist could still strike it rich through the commercial sales. He now lives in Fair Haven, N. J.

Because of the high stakes and tight rope legal aspects involved, both sides are hesitant to talk about the case.

William D. Hall, Blair's attorney, says, "I assume all major electrical companies are investigating the validity of the patent."

And an official of the Electronics Industries Association voices a similar statement about other radar manufacturers.

No one knows for sure how much money the former Army officer stands to make. But it is believed the royalties will at least top a million dollars.

Recently interest has been focused on a rumor that Blair is thinking about selling his patent rights. Hall doesn't deny this might happen. "I suppose Col. Blair would consider selling if anyone offered him enough money," the attorney says.

These are the latest developments in a scientific and legal struggle that began more than 25 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Shortly before 1930, while serving as chief of the Signal Corps Laboratories in Fort Monmouth, N.J., Blair figured out a way to bounce short radio waves off an airplane to determine its distance and direction. In 1937 he demonstrated his first complete radar set to government officials. Its success sparked Uncle Sam to order radar productiion for use by the Army.

WARTIME SECRECY

Because the project was shrouded in secrecy, Blair was not allowed to file for a patent until 1945. This restriction resulted in a series of legal barricades which took him 12 years to hurdle.

Patent law is loaded with complex technicalities. In order to get a U. S. patent, a man must prove that he conceived an invention first or that his idea is sufficiently different from similar ones.

There is also a statutory bar which knocks out an inventor's chances of getting a patent if a similar device was patented or described in a U.S. or foreign publication more than a year before he filed his application.

While Blair was getting his invention into shape, Britain, France and Germany were working on radar projects with especially rapid advances being made by the English scientists. Also other Americans were developing radar systems.

By 1945 Blair found himself pitted against an army of opponents, here and in Europe, who either claimed to have originated the whole warning system or an essential part of it. And the one year statute of limitations prevented him from doing anything about it.

Finally Congress passed a special act which wiped out the statutory bars in Blair's case. But the struggle to satisfy the Patent Office continued until Aug. 20 of this year. On that date, Blair was officially recognized as the father of radar in the United States.

COL. WILLIAM R. BLAIR

Wants Army to Decide Just How Tall He Is

DES MOINES (AP) — Big Jim Smith wishes the Army would make up its mind how tall he is.

The induction station said he was 6 feet 5½ inches and thus eligible for the draft. So he quit his job, shipped his family's effects home to Peoria, Ill., sold his car and reported to Chicago for a draft physical.

The draft board measured him at 6 feet, 6¾ inches — too tall for induction. The Army's limit is 6-6. He was not inducted.

San Lazzaro Stirs Armenians

Isle Center of Heritage, Culture; One of Richest Knowledge Treasuries

WASHINGTON — Gazetteers tell San Lazzaro's story in a few terse words: "Small island in the Lagoon of Venice."

To Armenians throughout the world, however, San Lazzaro is a fragment of the lost homeland. This bit of Italian soil is a center of their heritage and culture, and one of the richest treasuries of Armenian knowledge in the western world.

LIVE ON ISLET

Living on the tranquil islet are the Armenian Mechitarists, an order of scholarly monks who collect, translate, edit and publish works about Armenia.

Reddish buildings of the monastery rise from the glassy blue lagoon. The library holds more than 35,000 volumes, including every known book about Armenia and Armenians. It preserves Armenian translations of world classics, and more than 2,000 priceless manuscripts dating from the 5th century, the Golden Age of Armenian literature.

Almost any shred of Armenian fact or lore can be found there, perhaps a 3,500-year-old recipe favored by the ancient gourmet, King Shara. Or the origin of a popular proverb such as, "Whether I eat or not I shall have the fever, so better eat and have the fever!"

FOUNDED BY PRIEST

San Lazzaro is the creation of a learned priest, Mechitar the Comforter, who founded the Catholic monastery on the site of an old leper colony in 1717.

Time seems to have stood still. The church lifts its curious onion-shaped tower above the sunny cloisters and terraces. Gardens remain cool and green with vines, fig trees, oleanders, almonds and cypresses. Decade after decade, visitors are welcomed with smiles, Armenian coffee, and a special cordial the monks make from cherries.

The old guest book shows distinguished names: Longfellow, Ruskin, Gladstone, King Edward VII (when he was Prince of Wales) and Lord Byron.

Oddly enough, Byron put San Lazzaro on the map; his name and memory are still revered. The romantic poet went into retreat there in 1816 for an extraordinary reason:

"By way of divertissement," he wrote a friend, "I am studying daily, at an Armenian monastery, the Armenian language. I found that my mind wanted something craggy to break upon; and this, as the most difficult thing I could discover here for amusement, I have chosen, to torture me to attention. It is a rich language, however, and would well repay anyone the trouble of learning it."

There is no reason to suppose that Byron distinguished himself as an Armenian scholar, but monks of San Lazzaro are credited with reviving Armenia's classic tongue —"the Language of the Book." This awesome, majestic way of expression sounds like thunder out of the hills.

One scholar spent years translating Milton's "Paradise Lost" and Homer's "Iliad" into the eloquent language. Another produced a great epic that was nearly done when fire consumed the manuscript. Undismayed, the old monk set to work anew, completing 20 books and 22,000 verses before his death seven years later.

Though Armenians cling proudly to their language and traditions, few in the western world have seen the ancestral soil. It has been overrun by Assyrians, Medes, Persians, Greeks, Parthians, Romans, Byzantines, Mongols, Saracens and Ottoman Turks. About half of the old homeland is included in present-day Soviet Armenia.

Soon to Set Gas Pumps to Driver's Exact Need

NEW YORK — It may soon be possible to set gasoline pumps to fill a motorist's exact need. Although present pumps can automatically fill tanks, the new ones can be set to deliver a specific number of gallons or dollars' worth. If the customer's estimate is wrong, the nozzle will guard against overflow.

Flu Cancels Change of Papal Guardsmen

ROME (AP)—Asian flu has forced cancellation of the changing of the guard at the Pope's summer palace at Castel Gandolfo.

The guard corps, with its striped breeches, steel breastplates and halbards, totals 83 officers and men.

Sixteen are on duty during papal residence at the palace. They change every three weeks with 16 new guards from the Vatican.

Vatican sources said the next change, due on Monday, had been canceled "to prevent spread of Asian flu to the summer palace."

These sources said 16 Swiss Guards at Vatican City were stricken with the flu, but that there had been no cases so far among the guards at Castel Gandolfo.

Asian flu has reached epidemic proportions throughout Italy, with a million cases reported and 23 deaths.

Attacker Tries Suicide in Jail

Negro Youth Charged With Tossing Lye Will Get Mental Exam

NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Kessler, 17, accused of throwing liquid lye in a classmate's eyes, has been sent to Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric examination after an apparent suicide attempt.

A grand jury yesterday indicted the Negro youth on six counts of assault and maiming. He attacked news photographers as he was being taken to the courtroom.

Monday a prison guard found Kessler in his cell holding a noose made from a bedsheet, and also a preliminary psychiatric report from Kings County Hospital.

The eyesight of David Ozersky, 16, victim of the attack last week in a Brooklyn high school classroom, was reported yesterday as improving. Doctors said the sight in the youth's right eye was nearly normal, and his left eye was improving. Ozersky is white.

The liquid lye splashed 20 other pupils and a teacher.

The burned boy and his father, Benjamin Ozersky, have filed a $600,000 claim against the city. They charge police and school officials dodged responsibility after the Ozerskys asked protection for their son.

Brooklyn Man Kills 3 Tots, Slashes Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — A Brooklyn father went berserk with a knife last night, killed his three infant children and slashed his commonlaw wife. The man was critically wounded as he fought arresting patrolmen.

Police said Isidro Toledo, 35, wielded the knife after a violent argument with Margareta Ralat, 32.

Stabbed fatally were Ann Theresa, 2; Ferdinand Louis, 1; and Isidro Jr., 3 months. The mother was not injured seriously.

Two probationary patrolmen, summoned by neighbors, said Toledo tried to assult them. One officer drew a gun and shot him.

Post Office No. 2 Will Open Oct. 1

North Pontiac People Can Go to New Station in Les Hudson Store

Residents living on the north side of Pontiac won't have to go to the downtown post office for service any more.

Beginning Oct. 1, Pontiac Post Office Station No. 2 will begin operations in the Les Hudson Hardware Store, 1475 Baldwin Ave., near Walton Blvd., Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean announced today.

The purpose of the contracted station where money orders, stamps, registered mail, parcel post as well as letter business can be transacted is to relieve some of the downtown parking congestion, Dean added.

This station will be set up similar to Station No. 1 which is located in Andrew's Store, at 526 N. Perry St.

Loyal Oil User Sheds Light on Dark Mystery

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Officials of the state-run electrical system said today light is dawning on this dark mystery: Why backwoods farmers make so little use of newly installed current.

A district inspector said one old cottage dweller told him she found the electric light very useful.

"I always switch it on at dusk," she explained, "so that I can see to fill my oil lamps."

Sleeper Resents Train Going Right Over Him

DETROIT (INS) — Jack Rogers, 45, of Detroit suffered only scratches last night when a switch engine and two freight cars passed over his body while he slept between the rails of a Zug Island spur track.

"It's a heck of a thing, a man can't lie down and sleep in peace anymore. I don't like being run over by railroad trains. I never did like railroad trains."

Vote to Continue School Picketing

Waterford Parents Call Meeting for Sunday on Bus Situation

Waterford Township parents picketing the board of education offices and the school bus garage since Monday decided last night to continue their efforts toward safe delivery of their children to school.

A township - wide meeting scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday at the Community Activities building on Williams Lake Road, was called by the group at a meeting in the home of Ralph Blair, 6527 Elizabeth Lake Road.

The parents have protested children having to walk along narrow roads close to traffic.

The school board has continued bus service on the same level as last year, despite a cut in state aid.

Assistant Supt. of Schools James Den Herder explained today that the State Department of Public Instruction has been meeting with school officials to solve the problems caused by the cut in aid.

Strict Adoption Rules Bring Hardship

By RAY HENRY

Feb. 20, 1954 was one of the happiest days in the lives of Verne and Elizabeth Ovens.

After a long year of waiting, the Milwaukee welfare agency had decided to let them adopt a son. They'd never been able to have a child of their own.

But, there was a technicality.

Seven-month-old Michael could not legally take the Ovens' name for a year — the trial period for adoption in Wisconsin.

Then, on Aug. 22, tragedy hit. Verne Ovens died.

A few weeks later, Mrs. Ovens visited her Social Security office. She was told she was eligible for monthly payments as Mr. Ovens' survivor and because she was caring for six-year-old Kathleen whom the Ovens had adopted a few years earlier.

But she was told she couldn't collect any additional money for young Mike. The Social Security law says a child isn't entitled to monthly survivor's payments unless he (1) has been legally adopted, or (2) is in the same status as a legally adopted child under the laws of the state where he lives.

Michael wasn't a legally adopted child and wasn't considered as such by Wisconsin law.

To Mrs. Ovens, this seemed unfair. Furthermore, she needed all the financial help she could get to care for Kathleen and Mike while they were growing up.

First, she turned back to her Social Security office. She asked to have Mike's case reconsidered. She got the same answer: Mike's not eligible.

Then, she asked to have her case put before a special Social Security referee. He would hold a formal hearing and perhaps reverse the first decision.

He held the hearing, but he didn't change the decision.

TWO POSSIBILITIES

Now, only two roads were open to her: Go to court or ask her congressman to apply his wits to Mike's case.

She chose the latter and wrote Rep. Henry S. Reuss, who represents Mrs. Ovens' Milwaukee area. He said he wasn't optimisitic about her chances, but would do his best.

Not long afterwards, he put a bill before the House of Representatives asking that the Social Security law be ignored in Mike's case.

The bill made little progress last year. So Reuss, almost as persistent as Mrs. Ovens, introduced a bill in the House again this year. In the meantime, Mrs. Ovens had formally adopted Mike.

This year the bill got more consideration. On June 18, it passed the House and was sent to the Senate. On Aug. 26, in the last days of this year's Congress, the Senate passed the bill and sent it to President Eisenhower.

On Sept. 7, the President signed the bill. Usually, the President doesn't comment on putting his name on a bill which involves only one person. But, he considered Mike's case unusual.

Here's what he said:

"Ordinarily I would not be inclined to approve special legislation which not only sets aside a provision of general law, but also calls for payments from a trust fund. However, I agree with the Congress that application of the existing law to this situation tends to defeat the purpose of the program.

"This case seems to me to illustrate the need for reconsideration of the strict criteria of the Social Security Act. It is my hope that next year the rule on adoption in the Social Security Act may be modified to permit all children like Michael to receive the benefits which should be theirs."

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

ANIMAL QUIZ

QUESTION: Is the buffalo vanishing?

ANSWER: By the middle of the 19th century the American buffalo, or bison, had disappeared east of the Mississippi River. And in the west only two wild herds of the big shaggy beasts were alive in 1900. Now they are protected by the government. There are refuges for buffalo in several states and in national parks. The number is growing, but they will never be nearly so numerous as they were before the white man came. Once they roamed over North America in huge herds. The Indians used them for food and their hides for clothing. When the white man started moving west, he often slaughtered them uselessly.

FOR YOU TO DO: Go see a buffalo if one lives near you in a park or zoo.

Empire State Beacon to Be Kept Turned Off

NEW YORK (AP)—A beacon near the top of the Empire State building will be kept turned off until Nov. 1 so as not to interfere with the migration of birds.

The building management said the light had been blacked out for the period in agreement with the National Audubon Society because it confuses birds when they have to fly at low levels in cloudy weather.

Planned Approaches for Straits Bridge 13 Years Before Ground Was Broken

By TOM SHAWVER

LANSING (AP) — Thirteen years before ground was broken for the Straits of Makinac Bridge, far-sighted highway planners began to pave the way for its erection.

With the bridge in mind, a 4,200-foot rock-filled causeway was completed in 1941 on the north side of the Straits where the water is comparatively shallow.

Bridge officials estimate the project, now enlarged to serve as the approach highway, saved them about three million dollars when the time came to span the Straits.

Building of the causeway was only the first of a myriad of highway problems posed by the 100-million-dollar bridge. Some involved engineering difficulties; others, hassles in offices of state agencies.

Traffic engineers for the Bridge Authority predict that 1,927,000 will cross the five-mile span next year and that the number will climb to 2,023,000 by 1969.

CONNECTING HIGHWAYS

Clearly, the project called not only for adequate approaches to the bridge, but for four-lane connecting highways and a reappraisal of all highways leading to the Straits as well.

The Bridge Authority, set up by the Legislature to build and operate the structure, early ran into opposition from the State Highway Department on its planning for the approaches.

Former highway commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, cool toward the whole project, maintained the Authority should pay for the more than 6,000 feet of approaches. The Authority just as firmly maintained they were a responsibility of the Highway Department.

For well over two years while the bridge foundations were rising in the Straits, the dispute continued. Finally, in 1956, a compromise agreement provided for the Authority and the federal government to split the costs of the short south approach in Mackinaw City.

On the longer north approach, the government will pay half the cost, the Authority 32 per cent and the Highway Department 18 per cent.

The Authority, however, has made all its payments under protest and has served notice it will appeal the agreement after the bridge is opened to traffic.

BEYOND APPROACHES

Beyond the approaches, the Highway Department footed the bill for building connecting highways and interchanges.

At the south end, 1.3 miles of four-lane expressway connect U.S. 23-27 and U.S. 31 at a cost of about 1½ million dollars.

At the opposite end an interchange and expressway connecting with U.S. 2, plus widening of U.S. 2 to four lanes to a point 3½ miles north of Castle Rock, will cost another 2½ million.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie also has talked of building a new four-lane divided highway from St. Ignace to Sault Ste. Marie, 53 miles north. This is the only route designated by the federal government as an interstate highway, thus entitling it to get 90 per cent federal aid.

The bridge itself is part of the vast inter-state system. Its role in linking Michigan and other Midwestern states with North Central states and Canada is a big one.

Mainly for that reason, Mackie says it's possible that two four-lane highways will lead to the bridge from the south. One would be the contemplated north-south route on the interstate system which runs from Toledo north past Detroit and Bay City and Saginaw.

U.S. routes 27 and 127, splitting the state through the middle, might be the other.

Four American and British oil companies are building a new oil refinery in Turkey at a cost of $48 million dollars.

May Let 42 Youths Keep Passports

BALTIMORE (AP) — A State Department official hinted today that 42 young Americans who violated a ban on travel to Red China may be allowed to keep their passports if they promise not to do it again.

★ ★ ★

Roderic L. O'Connor, department security and consular affairs chief, said decisions will be made "fairly and expeditiously" on the cases of the travelers, 37 of whom are still in Red China.

★ ★ ★

O'Connor said in a speech before the Advertising Club and the Federal Bar Assn. of Maryland that the department will follow "a fair procedure" in judging the cases—"one which should not inflict undue hardship upon them but which still upholds the law."

Most fatal traffic accidents take place within 25 miles of the victims' homes.

Slagle to Head State Doctors

Dr. Saltonstall Named President-Elect for '58; Delegates Also Chosen

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dr. George W. Slagle of Battle Creek waited induction yesterday as president of the Michigan State Medical Society, meeting in Grand Rapids for its 92nd annual convention.

He succeeds Dr. Arch Walls of Detroit.

In house of delegates elections last night, Dr. Gilbert B. Saltonstall of Charlevoix was named president-elect. He will take office at the MSMS annual convention in 1958.

Dr. K. H. Johnson of Lansing and Dr. J. J. Lightbody of Detroit were re-elected respectively as speaker and vice speaker of the house of delegates.

Elected to five-year terms on the MSMS council were: Dr. Joseph F. Beer, St. Clair; Dr. E. S. Oldham, Breckenridge; Dr. D. G. Pike, Traverse City, and Dr. O. J. Johnson, Bay City.

Re-elected for two-year terms as delegates to the American Medical Assn. were: Dr. W. A. Hyland, Grand Rapids; Dr. J. S. DeTar, Milan, and Dr. C. I. Owen, Detroit. Re-elected alternate delegates for two-year terms were Dr. W. W. Babcock, Detroit, Dr. Johnson and Dr. E. F. Sladek, Traverse City.

Will Need Large Lake

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — A University of Texas expert on Radiological waste disposal said it will take a lake the size of the state and 15 feet deep to safely dilute all the strontium 90 which will be produced by 1990. Dr. Earnest F. Golyna, professor of sanitary engineering, described strontium as "one of the bad actors" among radioactive wastes and said the supply would be about 15 tons in 33 years.

Brucker Puts Army First

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, who bears military responsibility for halting racial violence in Little Rock, has the kind of personality and background southerners like in their public figures.

That description of the Army chief, a former governor of Michigan, was offered by a Pentagon associate who cited Brucker's military record, his personal courtliness, a flair for old-fashioned oratory and a "politician's memory" for names.

Until Tuesday Brucker was known mainly as a secretary who fiercely loves the Army and did much to restore its morale after the public wrangle between the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy and high Army officials in 1954.

President Eisenhower, declaring a federal court order for integration of a Little Rock high school was being willfully obstructed, federalized the Arkansas National Guard and ordered other U.S. troops used as necessary "for the removal of obstruction of justice."

The responsibility for carrying out the order was delegated to the pink-cheeked, balding Army secretary whose cherubic appearance is somewhat deceptive.

Brucker had the kind of youth a successful American is supposed to have—attending public schools in Saginaw, Mich., carrying newspapers, working on a farm, and waiting on tables to help pay college expenses.

Then he went to the Mexican border with the Michigan National Guard, and that is a coincidence. The use of guardsmen in those border disturbances, the Army says, was the last instance, until yesterday, that state troops were federalized in peacetime.

Brucker got home from the border in time to go to France with the 42nd "Rainbow" division. He saw action at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Arogonne drive. He came out of World War I a first lieutenant with the silver star.

Although his father, Ferdinand Brucker, had been a Democratic congressman, Wilber Brucker became an earnest young Republican about as soon as he became a lawyer. He was attorney general of Michigan at 34 and was elected governor less than three years later, in 1930.

His bid for re-election was swept away in the New Deal Democratic deluge. And Brucker held no more public office until the Republicans returned to power nationally. He worked tirelessly, however, in party posts.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, whom Brucker had met at a business executive's club in Detroit, tapped him to become general counsel of the defense department in 1954.

The next year, Wilson recommended Brucker as the successor to Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens, who resigned after the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Brucker has said the two high points of his life were serving with the Rainbow division and becoming civilian head of the Army. By the time he was named secretary he had already demonstrated his devotion to the Army—and earned some in return—by standing up to McCarthy in the hearings on the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, a dentist, who refused to answer questions about communism.

Here's Lineup on Inflation

Living Costs Hit Peak; Farm Income, Factory Pay Also Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—The two sides in the inflation lineup show clearly today in figures released as the autumn season gets under way.

One side is the rising cost of living which pinches everyone. The other side is rising farm income, increasing dollar return for many manufacturers of nondurable goods, for many services, for many workers.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that for the twelfth straight month the cost of living has risen. It's at a record high, in case you hadn't noticed. But the BLS at the same time reports a longer factory work week added 33 cents in August to the weekly tax pay check of factory workers, on average, putting earnings 3 per cent above a year ago. Consumer prices, however, are 3.6 per cent above last year. Under the rules of inflation, you rarely win.

Housing costs, including gas rates, higher interest on mortgages, rose—but so did the operating costs of builders and utilities.

While prices at the grocery were climbing toa record level 117.9 per cent above the 1947-49 average, the Agriculture Department reports that farm income is rising, too.

This time last year it was running at an annural rate just above 12 billio dollars. The department believes it is now about 500 million dollars higher than that. Climbing prices for many products of the farms and ranches, coupled with near-record output, is doing the trick.

The department says that farm costs are also above those of last year. The farmer, however, like the factory worker, has at least a temporary gain in that income outstripped costs in the most recent sprint.

Consumers have some more crumbs of good luck, too. While the prices of many retail items, like the 1958 autos, seem sure to be higher, the prices of many raw materials that manufacturers in general are buying are well below their peak.

Boy Awarded $250 for Lost Home Run

DETROIT (AP) — Damages have been awarded to 11-year-old Eugene W. Bader, whose home run in a sandlot baseball game was spoiled because a cocker spaniel bit his leg.

The boy sought $3,000 in damages from the dog's owner, Carmen Karmey, but the award was trimmed to $250 in a judgment handed down by Common Pleas Judge David C. Vokes.

Eugene testified that Karmey's daughter Celeste, 12, was rooting for the other team and sicked the dog on him as he was running between second and third base. The boy said he would have scored a homer except for the bite.

Kent County to Test Warning System

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A new radio voice-warning system for broadcasting disaster alerts will be tested Friday by Kent County civil defense officials.

It consists of a short-wage radio to broadcast disaster warnings from a civil defense transmitter to monitoring units which will be offered for sale to schools, hospitals, factories, churches and individuals.

Jack Barnes, county civil defense director, said each unit will cost about $220, but added that civil defense will share half the cost for public service group installations.

"We are particularly interested in seeing the units installed where there are large concentrations of adults or children," Barnes said.

Pat Anthony, a combat jumper with the U.S. 11th Airborne Division, is now chief lion trainer handling 10 lions and tigers with the Hamid-Morton Hunt Brothers circus. Anthony studied lion training under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

Bob Considine Says:

Integration Hardest Nut to Crack Since 1861

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — This city was as quiet as a mouse the night it was occupied by federal troops. Elements of the 101st Airborne Division from Fort Campbell, Ky., entered without opposition or the firing of a shot and after a time began patrolling the darkened grounds of Central High School.

Half a block away, under scalding bright lights, a junior varsity football game was being played before almost empty stands, and the thin chants of Aficionados sounded through the night. The troops were in full battle gear, somber as the night.

"We've got a technical problem here," a reporter said to two of them as they paced back and forth on the side lawn, the barrels of their guns jutting like rugged antenae. "Are airborne troops paratroops?"

"We can't answer," a boy said, his chin moving firmly in the leather chin strap that bound his glinting helmet to him.

There would be a long night ahead, but the worst would be the dawn and what it might present.

TOUGHEST ISSUE SINCE '61

The integration problem—toughest constitutional nut to crack since 1861 — comes in many forms, many faces. On the first plane leaving New York in the direction of Little Rock after the federalization of Faubus' Irregulars, sat Robert Montgomery. He was headed for Washington, the first stop.

* * *

The former film star had been summoned, as usual, to supervise the President's TV appearance, the speech "From the House of Lincoln." Lincoln, at Gettysburg, might have wondered if reason was tottering, if he had been approached just before going on and tested by cameraman, cosmetician and klieg lighter. ("We'll have to lighten up that beard a bit, Abe.")

The world changes, and one of its changes is not only the existence of television but the medium's rules and regulations which keep it aloof from the message it imparts, be it in reference to soap or segregation.

This is not without reason. If Ike had been amateurishly presented, his momentous words would not have reached their marks. The performance had to be right and sure. Hence the hurried call from Newport to New York. Hence the presence on the plane of a first class pro, and gentleman, Montgomery.

WOULD POLL NEGROES

It would be interesting to take a poll of Negroes of school age in the South and discover how great is the percentage of those who do not want to integrate in previously all-white schools.

Surface indications say it would be a large percentage. Only a tenth of the Negroes eligible to matriculate this year at Central High reported for school. The others have gone off to the city's modernistic Horace Mann High, all Negro.

Gov. Frank Clement's Negro maid, who has two teenage daughters, said to him just after the bombing of the Nashville school, "I've worked hard for you and Mrs. Clement, haven't I?"

The Governor of Tennessee said, with surprise, "Why, of course. You've been a wonderful worker and nobody appreciates it more than we do, as you know. Why do you ask?"

"Because I would work eight times harder than I have in the girls out of a white school," she said. "They're good enough to go to any school, and I'd like them to know that and have other folks recognize that. But I just don't want them to go to a white school, and I never will."

The pilot on the plane that brought us here strolled back among the swarm of reporters and cameramen aboard and said, laconically, "You Northern fellows give a one-sided picture of the Little Rock problem. We've got to read the papers down South to get the truth."

5 Quit Draft Board to Protest Ike's Act

OAK GROVE, La. (AP)—The five members of the West Carroll Parish (county) draft board resigned in protest of using federal troops in the Little Rock integration dispute.

* * *

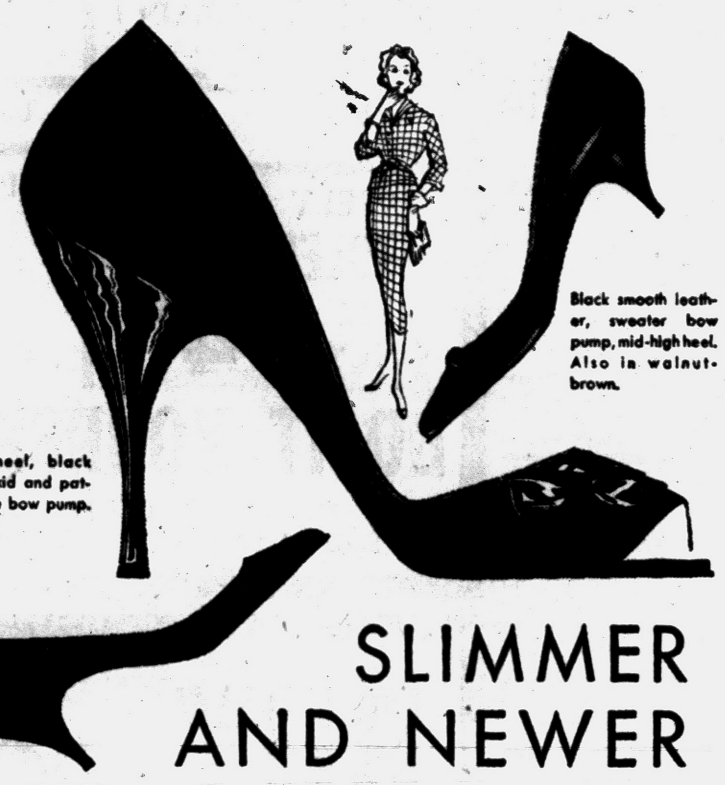

The board issued this statement yesterday to Brig. Gen. Raymond Hufft, state adjutant general and head of state selective service system:

* * *

"We will not lend our support or time to be instrumental in any way in calling into the service any of the young men of our community for such a purpose. We cannot help but wonder if the people of Hungary, in protesting rulings made arbitrarily by a commissar, were not also branded by leaders of the Soviet Union with the Russian equivalent of the word 'mob' and thereupon subdued by the Russian equivalent of federal troops."

Negroes Enjoy Day at Central; All Report 'No Jeers or Insults'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—After the first full day in high school with white classmates, what does a Negro girl think about them?

"They are anxious to find out what we are like. They are torn between their parents and their own minds. They just don't know what to do."

That's the opinion of Minniejean Brown, one of the nine Negro students who attended classes at Little Rock Central High yesterday while U. S. Army paratroop units stood guard.

All nine said that they heard no jeers or insulting remarks.

"Today was a very exciting day," said 15-year-old Minniejean.

"I had a good time," said Melba Pattillo, 15-year-old 11th-grader. "The only incidents were very, very minor."

She said, "When I walked into one class a boy got up and made a speech, urging the other students to walk out. He told the others that they were 'chicken' if they didn't walk out. Then the teacher told him to leave and he left. Everybody else stayed."

The exuberance of the two Negro girls—both plump and large for their age—was in sharp contrast to the reticence of the other Negroes, but all the stories were similar.

Melba said that she did, but Minniejean said that she had trouble with a locker and was a little late getting to the cafeteria. "But I had invitations from seven white girls," she said.

Elizabeth Eckford, 15, contacted at home, said that she sat with two or three of the Negro students.

At a press conference attended by three of the girls, Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, told the students not to answer a few questions.

One of these was the question of whether soldiers escorted the students between classes. Most of the questions were answered glibly.

Mrs. Bates described Elizabeth as the "star of the show." That undoubtedly is true as far as people outside Arkansas are concerned.

She has received more than 100 letters and she said that not one of them was critical. They bore postmarks from many foreign countries and from states outside the South.

One New Zealander put the address this way: "Elizabeth Eckford, ???, Little Rock, Ark." A picture of Elizabeth and a howling crowd of whites was pasted on the envelope. The letter was delivered.

A letter from a woman in Oceanside, N. Y., said:

"Take heart from the thought that there are many white people like myself, my family and my friends who wish to send you our support and encouragement."

A letter from Raymond O. Garcia of the Philippines said:

"It is indeed unfortunate for a great nation like yours is—the United States—who is called and recognized as the leading champion of democracy, to be rocked by the rush of racial discrimination. However, I still have faith in the majority of Americans."

How do the Negro parents feel?

"We have done a lot of thinking about this thing in the past 24 hours," said William L. Roberts, just before his son Terrance left for school yesterday. "It's almost more than she (Mrs. Roberts) can stand. We decided to go ahead."

Almost all the parents are native in well-defined Negro areas; the homes of others are located near white areas. They live in houses that range from poor to average by white standards; generally very good compared to other Negro homes.

At least three fathers have seen military service. Cartelyou Walls, 38, father of Carlotta Walls, served with an antiaircraft unit in the South Pacific. W. B. Brown, Minniejean's father, was in the Army in World War II and was once stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., the base of the paratroopers now at Central High.

Ernest Green said that his father, L. S. Green, served in World War II.

H. C. Ray, 68, the father of Gloria Ray, 15, said that he is a "retired agricultural agent." He said that he studied at Tuskegee Institute under the famous Negro agricultural scientist, George Washington Carver.

All of the students except Elizabeth live within 8 to 14 blocks of Central High. Elizabeth lives about 30 blocks away but she would have to travel several miles if she attended Horace Mann, the only Negro high school.

Perhaps the most unusual ambition is that of Thelma Mothershed. She wants to be "executive director of the NAACP."

Troubles Appear to Slow Teamster Drive for Hoffa

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — An expulsion threat by the AFL-CIO and a perjury indictment against James R. Hoffa appeared to have dampened the Teamster Union's pre-convention meetings today at Miami Beach.

Individual union leaders adopted a "wait and see" attitude in the wake of the new blasts which seem to have slowed — if not stalled—the Hoffa for union president bandwagon.

The convention officially opens Sept. 30.

The vice president of the million and half member union was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in New York on five counts of perjury, stemming from his testimony on the alleged wiretapping of telephones in his Detroit headquarters.

(This development came as the AFL-CIO Executive Council, also meeting in New York, officially ordered the Teamsters to "clean house" within 30 days or face expulsion from the parent body.)

Hoffa, for the first time since the pre-convention meetings began a week ago, did not meet with newsmen yesterday. Retiring Teamster President Dave Beck, who also has indictment troubles, refused to comment on either the AFL-CIO order or the new Hoffa indictment.

Hoffa's two chief opponents for the presidency, Milk Drivers boss Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago and Thomas L. (Honest Tom) Hickey of New York, indicated that they might merge if necessary to block Hoffa's election, which some predict may occur on the first ballot.

Other developments in the sessions were:

—Haggerty and Hickey forces claimed a combined total of 1,500 of the 1,800 votes to be cast by convention delegates.

— Supporters of the Chicago candidate challenged the credentials of more than 100 delegates representing so-called "paper" locals and locals now in trusteeship. Haggerty's supporters complained they got "a royal run-around" in these challenges.

—Peter J. Hoban, chief spokesman for Haggerty, charged that Hoffa owes what strength he has in the union to "the same type of fear psychology that created Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin."

Hoban said that if a secret ballot were employed, Haggerty would be elected to the presidency by a "four-to-one margin."

Although AFL-CIO President George Meany refused to specify what union leaders should be ousted in the cleanup, the Haggerty and Hickey forces stepped up their campaigns to contrast the AFL-CIO findings with their own reform platform.

TIME NECESSARY

Hickey told newsmen it would "take a long time for the union to repair the harm that has been done and to rebuild the confidence in the eyes of the public and the Teamster membership itself."

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the Senate Rackets Committee told newsmen there is a "50-50 chance" that Hoffa will be ordered to testify by Saturday on charges made yesterday. Two of the charges were:

—He got "payoffs" of more than $3,000 a year for the last six or seven years from the Detroit Restaurant Guild, an employers' organization, for whom he "settled" a strike several years ago.

— An undisclosed number of Michigan "government officials" have had what Kennedy called "financial arrangements" with the Teamsters, including John McElroy, a Wayne County Highway Commission official and a labor negotiator for the Restaurant Guild.

$3.25 Total per Car

Straits Bridge Toll Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll for crossing the 5-mile 100-million-dollar Mackinac Bridge will be $3.25 per automobile, regardless of the number of persons it carries.

The toll on the State Highway Department ferries has been $2.75 per car, plus 25 cents for the driver and each passenger. Two persons crossing the ferry in a car would pay $3.25.

The new bridge will serve U.S. 31, which sweeps up the west coast of the state; U.S. 23, which runs along the eastern shore, and U.S. 27, which splits the middle of the Lower Peninsula, plus U.S. 2, which drops down from Sault Ste. Marie to the northeast and then swings across the Upper Peninsula to enter Wisconsin at far northwestern Ironwood.

Dad Wishes Sick Son Could Weep Again

NEW HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP) — "When Bobby was little I used to become annoyed if he cried in the night and woke us up. How I wish he could cry now."

It was Joseph Spierer speaking yesterday from the hospital bedside of his son Robert, 8, who has been in a coma most of the time for the past two months.

Robert's plight began with a bike accident July 9. The boy was taken to Long Island Jewish Hospital, seemingly recovered rapidly, and was discharged after two weeks.

Then, on Aug. 2, the Spierers heard a cry in the night: "Help me. My head hurts. Don't leave me, daddy."

Robert's daddy didn't leave him. Spierer let his job slide, although his employer, an electronics firm, still pays part of his salary.

Back in the hospital, neurosurgeons have operated on Robert's brain twice. Said Spierer: "The doctors tell me there is not much hope. My boy is failing. Some days his face is exactly like a death mask."

Spierer said he couldn't leave the boy, who hasn't spoken since that fateful August night.

"Suppose he did say something and I wasn't there to hear it?" the father said. "He asked me not to leave him. If he sees me there he knows I have hope that he is going to live."

"Now when I sit there at night and hear other kids crying out in the ward, I hate myself," he said.

Jewish New Year Celebrated

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

At sundown last night the year 5718 began for a segment of Pontiac's population. Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year is being celebrated. For the othodox and conservative Jews the holiday lasts until sundown on Friday. For the reform group it ends today at sundown.

* * *

Candles twinkled on many tables last evening as Jewish mothers began the traditional New Year's Eve feast. The table in each home was set with the best linen, china and silver.

In the center of the table a loaf of cholla (Jewish bread) was covered with a clean white napkin.

STARTING THE NEW YEAR — Mrs. Marvin Finkelstein of Argyle avenue lights the candles that symbolize the beginning of Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year. Three-year-old Marcia and five-year-old Arnold watch wide-eyed, while Mr. Finkelstein looks on approvingly. The table is set with the best linen and the nicest china. In the center is a loaf of cholla, the traditional Jewish bread. This must be covered with a napkin until after the candles are lit. Other Rosh Hashana foods on the table are a dish of honey and a decanter of sacramental wine.

In olden days the grandfather of the family used to make this wine. Now, of course, it is all pressed and bottled commercially and is available everywhere.

After the candles were lit, the cloth was removed from the cholla and the feast began. First of all there was chicken soup with kreplach in it. Kreplach is dough with meat inside, sort of like ravioli.

* * *

Gefullte fish is a must for Rosh Hashana dinner. For the Finkelstein family in the accompanying picture this delicacy was prepared by Mr. Finkelstein's mother.

Roast chicken was their main course, with potatoes and a tossed salad. Everyone dipped pieces of the cholla into honey. This practice gives the children something sweet to start the new year. A fruit dessert followed.

Happy New Year!

Lowly Carrot Flavors Pork

Pork tenderloin is usually thought of as deluxe party food, for the meat is the most tender of all pork cuts, it is small, and it is often priced higher per pound than other pork cuts. Accounting for its high price is the fact that the meat is delicious in flavor, it has no bone — every bit is edible — and it is easily prepared for four or forty.

An unusual cooking ingredient for pork tenderloin is carrot, yet the earthy vegetable gives a delightful flavor to the sweet meat.

Pork Patties With Carrot Sauce

1 whole pork tenderloin (about 1¼ pounds)
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup bouillon
1 large carrot, grated

Cut tenderloin crosswise into two-inch thick slices. Flatten slightly with meat hammer or edge of heavy plate, then brown in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Add seasonings, bouillon and carrot; cover and cook over low heat 45 minutes or until meat is tender. Remove meat from skillet and thicken drippings. 5 to 6 servings.

Jelly Dots Meringues

Small fry will enjoy this: Beat an egg white until it is foamy, then gradually beat in a couple of tablespoons of sugar along with a dash of salt and a quarter teaspoon of vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls of vanilla pudding and put a tiny blob of red jelly on each miniatur meringue.

Poultry giblets include the heart and gizzard of the bird. They can be used along with the neck and wing tips for stock.

When you are buying a waste basket for your kitchen, look for one that has no grooves so cleaning will be easy.

Split Pea Soup Best With a Ham Bone

A palatable pair that is especially delicious served on the first brisk days of fall is split peas and ham. Soup, of course, is the best way to combine the two, and ham flavored split pea soup is a long-time favorite.

Ham and Split Pea Soup

1 ham bone
2½ quarts boiling water
1½ cups split peas
1 medium onion, sliced
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1¼ cups cubed cooked ham

Simmer ham bone, water, peas, onion and seasonings in large covered kettle for two hours. Discard bone. Strain soup through coarse sieve.

Little Loaves of Bread Will Intrigue Family

The current trend in some fine restaurants is to serve individual loaves of freshly baked bread. That's an attractive idea homemakers can use to get their families and themselves to eat an adequate breakfast.

Spiced Oatmeal Raisin Bread

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
1 1-3 cups buttermilk or sour milk
2 tablespoons melted fat
¾ cup raisins

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, salt, and spices. Add rolled oats and mix thoroughly. Combine buttermilk with slightly cooled fat. Add to flour mixture with raisins. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Pour into four well-greased 4¼x2¼x1¼-inch pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Turn out onto rack to cool.

Note: If preferred, this bread may be baked in a well-greased 9x5x3-inch pan in a moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees F.) about 1 hour, or until done.

You can bake a supply of these individual loaves and keep in your freezer. Place in a warm oven for a few minutes and you have homemade bread for breakfast.

Buttermilk Means Tender Griddle Cakes

Sift together the dry ingredients for these griddle cakes the night before; then mix them quickly the next morning.

Buttermilk Griddle Cakes

1¼ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon double acting baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 egg
1¼ cups buttermilk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and sugar. Beat egg with rotary beater (hand or electric) until it begins to get thick and pale yellow; beat in buttermilk and partly cooled melted butter. Add sifted dry ingredients and beat until just smooth.

Bake on hot greased griddle unless manufacturer's directions for griddle call for no greasing. Turn griddle cakes when they are bubbly on top. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Difference in Grade Decides Beef Cost

Do you ever wonder why the difference of twenty cents a pound can be found in the same cuts of beef? There could be several reasons states the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, but most likely the reason is the difference in grade.

* * *

Prime and choice grades of beef come from grain-fed cattle. These have a thicker covering of fat on the outside with more thin fat streaks running through the lean. Naturally these grades will be more tender and will cost more.

Standard grade beef comes from young range cattle that have been feeding on grass. Range fed beef will have more lean, less fat and will need moist heat to cook it tender.

If twenty cents a pound makes a real difference to you, you might choose more range-fed cuts for roasts, stews and other dishes cooked with moist heat. Although these cuts have less distinctive beef flavor, they are just as nutritious as the higher grades.

To steam a vegetable, place it in a perforated pan over rapidly boiling water; cover the pan tightly.

Study Grape Spoilage Rate

Did you ever hear of deliberately making grapes spoil so they'll keep beter? That's what many California grape growers are doing these days, as a result of some research done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Only a few grapes are sacrificed in a "spoilage test" to show the grower which of his grapes will keep longest in cold storage.

It's the Emperor variety on which the spoilage test is of most value. Emperors are the dark red grapes that come to market from Thanksgiving on during the winter, after most other grapes are gone.

The spoilage test works this way: As the grapes are harvested, the grower or shipper selects a single grape from each box, and marks them so he knows which box each grape came from. The boxes go into cold storage, but he leaves the one-grape samples in a covered container where it's warm and humid. He wants these grapes to spoil quickly. Some of the grapes may spoil in only two or three days; others will still be in fairly good condition at the end of 10 days.

That's the guide to removing the boxes from storage. The ones most likely to spoil will be shipped to market first. Those that will keep best are left in storage longest. The tests mean better grapes for us at the fruit counter and a saving to the grower, by cutting his losses from spoiled grapes.

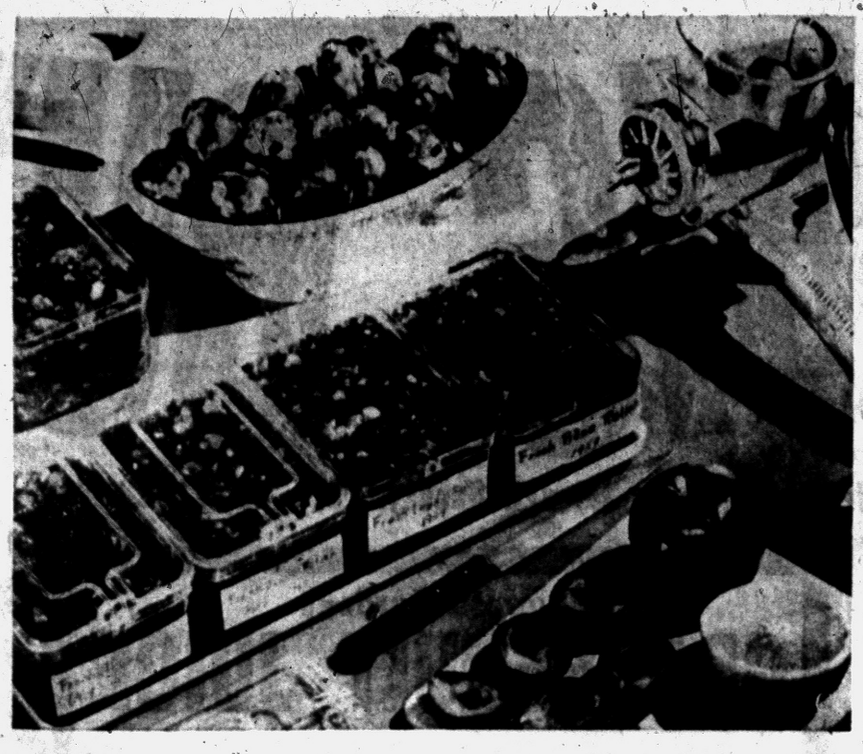

Powdered Cream Is Secret of Good Gravy

The secret of this never-fail gravy success lies in the use of instant powdered cream . . . and it's easy to follow this simple recipe:

For each cup gravy, measure 2 tablespoons drippings back into skillet, add 1 cup water and blend. Mix 4 tablespoons instant cream with 4 teaspoons flour and shake into water. Bring to a full boil, stirring. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Never lumps!

Vinegar Has Many Uses

A dash of vinegar in your dishwater will do double-duty. It will both keep your hands from getting detergent red and rough and also make the dishes gleam.

FRESH PRUNE RELISH — Fresh Prune Relish may be made now while those large, sweet fresh Italian prune plums are coming into our markets from Idaho, and stowed away in your freezer to enjoy with holiday foods.

Put Prunes in Meat Relish

Good news! Idaho's fresh Italian prune plums are here again, in good supply and reasonably-priced. As pretty a "purple plum" (as it is sometimes called) as you'll ever find, this fruit—grown in Idaho and shipped into our markets now for a few weeks' sojourn — is large, sweet, delicious. Fresh prunes are so good eaten out of hand that we're likely to overlook the fact that their all-too-short season can be extended into the winter and spring by stowing some away in our freezers.

Right now, serve this easy-to-do, no-cook relish with lamb, veal, pork, or poultry. And, while you're at it, make up some extra to freeze for the times when you need a meat accompaniment on short notice. We suggest that it be frozen in small containers, ones that hold only enough for one meal. Small quantities freeze and defrost quickly. If attractive plastic or glass containers are used for freezer containers, they may also perform as serving and storage dishes.

For variety, divide a recipe of Fresh Prune Relish in half. Pack one portion plain, and add fruit and spices as suggested under "variation" to the remainder.

Wonderful Fresh Prune Relish

16 fresh Italian Prune plums, halved and pitted
1 medium-sized orange, quartered
1 medium-sized apple, peeled and quartered
1 and ½ cups granulated sugar

Put fruit through moderately-coarse plate of food chopper. Add sugar. Mix thoroughly. Pack into tightly-covered containers; let stand overnight in refrigerator before serving. Serve cold. Yield: 3 to 3½ cups. Note: If to be frozen, allow ¼ inch minimum head room for small containers.

VARIATION: Prepare relish as directed, adding 1 cup scissor-cut seedless raisins, two-thirds cup chopped walnuts, dash of ground cloves, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon.

Zucchini Squash Takes to Dressing With Sauces

By International News Service

Zucchini can become a family favorite with a little dressing up. Here's one way to do it.

Beat three eggs, add a cup of milk, salt, pepper to taste and a tablespoon of instant minced onion (also known as onion without tears).

Pour over six sliced, parboiled squash. Bake in moderate oven until set, about 40 minutes.

Combine one can condensed cream of celery soup, one cup shredded processed cheddar cheese, one-fourth cup sherry wine and two tablespoons chopped fresh parsley. Cook over low heat until cheese melts. Pour over hot vegetable.

Baked Pears Alamode

You'll need about half a cup of sugar when you're baking a half-dozen pears. Core and peel the pears, then sprinkle them with the sugar and add just enough water to cover the bottom of the dish; cover and bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 30 minutes or until the fruit is tender. Wonderful served quite warm with vanilla ice cream.

Heavier Meat Supplies Offer Fall Meal Variety

There's a nip in the air and spring in the walk now that fall has officially arrived. Most homemakers turn to more roasts, stews and pot roasts to please the extra appetites. Those who like to cook-out still take advantage of warm days for grill cookery.

Although beef and pork are the top attractions at the meat counter, poultry is a good value from a price standpoint states the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Concord grapes, fall squash and the big apple harvest are signs of fall. Every grocery store, farmer's market and roadside stand boasts of the bountiful year.

MEATS—Last week lower pork prices was news in red meat. Some pork cuts are a few cents less again this week, but so are many beef choices. Several retailers report larger beef supplies and lower prices in accordance with this.

If you want steak for broiling choose a tender cut that grades U.S. Choice or Prime or choose one of comparable grade. If you want a steak for braising as when you make "Swiss" steak a lower grade will fit your needs for several cents less per pound.

The number of hogs being marketed continues to increase. You may find special prices on some smoked cuts. If you prefer a lean pork roast or steaks, the Boston butt is a wise selection.

If outdoor weather does not cooperate, and you still want barbecued chicken or turkey, make the oven do. Prices of both chicken and turkey range between 39 to 49 cents per pound.

PRODUCE—The Michigan apple outlook is as bright as its apples. Although the crop is not as large as the 12 million bushels harvested in 1956, between 9 to 10½ million bushels is expected.

You are most likely to find Wealthy, McIntosh, Delicious and Jonathan varieties now. Wealthy, McIntosh and Jonathan are all-purpose apples which means they make sauce, pies, bake and fit into salads or lunchboxes.

Three medium-size apples make a pound, but most are sold in 4

Until frost, Concord grapes are pound bags. This size package is about right for two luscious pies or for the week's lunches. It fits easily between the refrigerator shelves for cool crisp keeping.

ready for jelly or jam. You will recognize them by their blue-black color. They are medium-size, mild in flavor with slip skins. If you must store grapes for more than two days, sort them, then spread on trays and refrigerate. Save washing until just before you serve them.

Frost will close the tomato season. Rains have caused much loss and waste due to splitting and cracking, and already out-state supplies are being shipped for use in our markets.

An adventure in good eating is golden meated squash. It's a large family headed by the big Hubbard variety. If you have not tried Acorn, Butternut, Buttercup and Delicious, there are pleasant meals ahead. Fall squash are either baked, steamed or broiled.

EGGS — Larger egg supplies are responsible for the slight change in price this week. Today, the small Grade A eggs represent the best egg buy.

Remember Good Ol' Days

Remember those long-ago summer mornings when the whole durn family took turns cranking the ice-cream freezer? The ice cream itself was so deliciously cold and rich that the children squealed with delight! Even today, homemade ice cream is a dessert that everyone anticipates with joy.

If you're convinced that homemade ice cream is a "must" for your next dessert, by all means, try a wonderful new recipe for Coffee-Butterscotch Ice Cream. It's just as smooth and creamy as the old-time variety and the flavor is a marvelous blend of two favorites, mellow butterscotch and zesty coffee. For an added touch of lusciousness, top your ice cream with a swoop of whipped cream and sliced bananas.

Coffee-Butterscotch Ice Cream

1 cup sugar, divided
⅓ cup ground coffee
1½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
1½ cups whipping cream

Caramelize ½ cup sugar in a heavy skillet. Add coffee to milk, bring to scalding point and strain. Add strained milk slowly to caramelized sugar, stirring constantly. Add remaining sugar and stir until dissolved. Add a little of the hot mixture to egg yolks and return to pan. Cook, stirring constantly, about 2 minutes. Cool. Add vanilla. Whip cream and fold in.

Freeze in large refrigerator tray. When firm, turn into chilled bowl, break up with spoon and beat until smooth. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Serve with whipped cream and garnish with sliced bananas. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Vary Onions by Weather

Let the thermometer choose your onions for you. That's not such a strange idea as it may seem at first. As a matter of fact, at this time of year when it's almost impossible to predict whether we're going to have weather for swimming or for frostbite, it's a good idea to have your larder stocked with three different ypes of onions. They're all plentiful, according to the Department of Agriculture, and prices are moderate.

You can count on some more warm days, it's difficult to find any vegetable more refreshing than cool green onions. Perhaps you'll want to include them in a relish tray, along with radishes, carrot sticks and buds of cauliflower.

For those bright, mild days which we like to think are typical of early Fall, you'll want a mild Spanish onion for slicing and topping a hamburger or some other hot sandwich. The Spanish onions are the largest onions you'll find on the market these days, averaging about three inches in diameter.

Some of them are white and some are yellow. Some people insist the white ones are a bit milder than the yellow ones, but you can get some argument on that point.

When the temperature skids downhill, and you wonder if you should cover the zinnias to protect them against frost, your thoughts also may turn to creamed onions, or beef stew, or vegetable soup enriched by the inimitable flavor and aroma of onions.

For this, you'll want some medium Yellow Globe, onions. These are the most oniony of all onions, they're round, like the Spanish onions, but smaller, averaging only about two inches in diameter. And they speak with authority.

No celery in the house when you want to make a chicken or lobster sandwich or salad? Substitute chopped toasted almonds and you'll achieve a desirable crunchy texture.

Broiled Blue Cheese Peps Up Hamburger

Few foods take to the glamor treatment as well as an old-fashioned hamburger sandwich. This version produces Blue Cheese Beefburgers.

Mix well ½ pound ground beef, 1 tablespoon anchovy paste, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons enriched flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Blend in ¼ cup milk. Split 4 enriched hamburger buns. Spread with butter or margarine. Spread meat mixture on bottom halves of buns. Scatter ¼ cup crumbled blue cheese over meat mixture. Cover with bun tops.

Serve Surprise Potatoes

Perk up the taste of baked potatoes by mashing pimiento cream cheese with a little evaporated milk. Roll into walnut-sized balls, and pop them into the jackets of the finished bakers.

Some cooks like to rub a little salad oil over the cut surfaces of cheddar cheese that is to be stored in the refrigerator to help prevent mold and drying. The cheese should be wrapped tightly, of course.

NICK'S, EARL'S AND HURON — OPEN SUNDAY

DESSERT TRAY — Put your entire dessert on one large plate or tray. Serve it at the table or carry it into the living room or out onto the porch. This watermelon filled with fruit salad and surrounded with doughnuts can double as between-meals refreshments also. Serve a creamy pineapple dressing with it.

Creamy Fruit Dressing Points Up Colorful Salad

Refreshing fresh fruit in a dewy green watermelon shell will make a meal a cool pleasure. Take one third of a watermelon and cut a slice from the bottom so the section will stand level on a plate. Scoop out the center meat and remove the seeds. Cut six large scallops in the top edge of the rind. Fill shell with your favorite fresh or canned fruits, berries and melon balls.

Show off the fruit-laden watermelon to best advantage by serving on a circular tray surrounded by snowy white powdered sugar doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. This picture pretty treat will be perfect as afternoon party refreshment or dinner dessert.

Fruit Cream Dressing

⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup pineapple juice
2 eggs, separated
Whipped cream

Combine ½ of sugar with cornstarch and salt. Add ¼ cup cold pineapple juice. Stir until smooth. Add remaining juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Beat egg yolks. Add ½ of hot mixture to beaten yolks and stir egg yolk mixture into hot starch mix. Cook 1 minute stirring continually.

Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Add remaining sugar gradually beating constantly. Continue beating until egg whites are stiff and shiny: fold into pineapple mixture. Cool. Pour into tightly covered container. Chill in refrigerator until used. Just before serving combine with whipped cream using 1 part whipped cream to 2 parts of salad dressing base. Yield: 1 cup salad dressing base.

Pears Insulate Ice Cream

These Igloos, kinfolk of the Baked Alaskas, are really very simple to make, once you've perfected your timing. The ice cream must be very hard, the broiler very hot, the meringue and pears ready to go. The golden pears act as insulation for the ice cream, and the special, delicate pear flavor changes character with each new ice cream flavor you try.

Pear Igloos

For 8 desserts you'll need a meringue made by beating 2 egg whites stiff, gradually adding 6 tablespoons brown sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt. When the meringue is shiny and stiff add flavoring — any kind you like to complement your ice cream flavor.

Halve and core 4 fresh pears, top with a spoonful of hard ice cream (you'll need about a pint for the 8 halves) and swirl with meringue. Quickly perch pears on crushed ice in pan and broil 3 or 4 inches from the flame until golden.

Garlic Butter Is Good on Halibut

So much halibut has been caught, frozen and distributed widely that no matter where you live, the National Fisheries Institute tells us, you'll be able to buy this popular fish. Right now there are 2,733,000 pounds of halibut frozen mostly in steak form, ready to be thawed and cooked for delicious eating—some 800,000 pounds more than at this time last year. That's a lot of good eating because there is little waste to a halibut steak — just one easily removed bone.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the best way to prepare this fish is to broil or bake it. Any leftover fish is easily flaked for creamed dishes or salads because its delicate flavor blends well with other foods and flavors. Preparing it with garlic butter, as follows, has always been popular.

Halibut Broiled With Garlic Butter

2 pounds halibut steaks, ¾" to 1" thick
1 clove garlic, split
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Paprika

★ ★ ★

If fish is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature, or place the entire package, unopened, in cold water. Wipe steaks with damp cloth or paper toweling. Make garlic butter by putting butter and garlic in saucepan over low heat until butter melts. Remove garlic and discard.

Sprinkle both sides of steaks with salt and pepper. Place fish on preheated greased broiler pan. Brush with melted garlic butter. Sprinkle with paprika. Broil 5 to 8 minutes.

Cut tomatoes in half and fry in butter; remove from pan and stir a little flour into drippings. Add milk or light cream for a sauce, along with salt and pepper to taste.

Fresh bread, cut into very fine crumbs, may be used for coating chicken pieces to be fried. Dip the lightly drained chicken in flour, then in a beaten egg, and finally into the crumbs.

PEAR IGLOO — A "Pear Igloo" is just the bit of drama you need to top off a simple company supper. Fresh pears serve as insulators to keep the ice cream firm as the brown sugar meringue toasts in the oven.

New Angel Food Mix Base of Luscious Dessert

Back to school time also means club-time and evenings of entertaining. And, luckily, as the air turns crispy you acquire a yen to try a new recipe . . . or those you cut out and saved during the summer months.

Here's a cake, named Riviera Delight, you will want to add to that "will try soon" list. The cake is an intriguing new product, a lemon-custard angel food cake mix; the frosting, a scrumptious homemade blend of orange, whipped cream and toasted nuts or coconut.

The sunshiny yellow angel food cake mix is just as moist, high and light as your regular angel foods. The flavor is tangy and unusual. Tests in the Betty Crocker kitchens and by homemakers across the country indicate the cake rates extra high with men!

While the cake teams well with fruits and fluffs, too, this frosted party cake will bring compliments upon the hostess.

Riviera Delight

1 package lemon-custard angel food mix
3 or 4 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
⅓ to ½ cup orange juice (1 large orange)
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup whipping cream, whipped stiff
½ cup toasted chopped blanched almonds or coconut

Bake cake in tube pan as directed on package. Split onto three layers. Put layers together and frost with icing.

For icing, mix egg yolks, sugar and orange juice in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until it thickens, about 15 minutes. Stir in rind and cool. When cool, fold in whipped cream and almonds.

You can substitute evaporated milk for cream in many candy recipes if along with every cup of milk you add a tablespoon or two of butter or margarine.

Corned Beef Leftovers Useful to Last Bite

Leftover sliced cooked corned beef makes a delicious sandwich when it is coupled with shredded green cabbage mixed with French dressing.

Ground leftover cooked corned beef may be mixed with grated cheddar cheese and a little mayonnaise and sweet pickle relish or finely chopped pimiento-stuffed olives. Use this as a spread for crackers to be served with tomato juice; or use as a filling for grilled sandwiches.

Chopped cooked corned beef may be moistened with a little well-seasoned white sauce or chili sauce and used as a filling for turnovers made from pie dough.

The chopped corned beef may be used along with rice as a filling for stuffed green peppers or scooped-out whole tomatoes that are to be baked.

Quick Spaghetti Sauce

Use Powdered Cream in Lemon Frosting

Give your plainest cake a real lift with Tangy Lemon Frosting. This is the easy-to-use recipe that calls for instant powdered cream.

Combine 3 tablespoons instant cream with ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 package (1 lb.) confectioners' sugar. Add 4 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Blend until thoroughly mixed and smooth.

Let Kids Roll Their Own!

Your grade schoolers will want to bring some of their friends home for after-school snacks. With very little effort you can make a "party" out of these occasions. Let the children help get ready the night before. They'll like the affair even more if they do.

Coconut Popcorn Balls

1 cup sugar
½ cup corn syrup
½ cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons butter or margarine
½ cup whole seedless raisins
3 cups salted popcorn
3 cups tender-thin flaked coconut

Combine sugar, corn syrup, water, and salt in large saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring occasionally; then cook, without stirring, until a small amount of syrup forms hard ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 266 degrees F.) Add butter and raisins; stir well.

Add warm popcorn and 1 cup of the coconut; mix thoroughly. Cool slightly. Shape mixture into balls and roll in remaining coconut. Makes 3 dozen 1-in. balls or 1½ dozen 2-in. balls.

COCONUT POPCORN BALLS — Let your youngsters bring their friends home from school for a party. It need not be elaborate — just some coconut popcorn balls and milk in funny face glasses. Put the decorations on with a bit of frosting.

Duo of Cheeses Means Better Flavored Dish

Golden Cheese Souffle

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Cayenne pepper
¾ cup milk
¾ pound mild cheddar cheese (finely grated)
¾ pound sharp cheddar cheese (finely grated)
4 large eggs (separated)

Melt butter over low heat in a 2-quart saucepan. Stir in flour, salt and a dash of cayenne. Add milk all at once; cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly. Stir in cheese (keeping heat very low or using an asbestos pad) until melted; remove from heat.

Beat egg yolks slightly; beat in some of the cheese sauce; return to saucepan, beating vigorously as you do so. With clean rotary beater (hand or electric), beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold in cheese mixture until there are no white blobs.

Turn into a 1½-quart ungreased baking dish; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until high, golden brown and firm on top. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Cereal Snacks Have Real Teenage Appeal

The United States Children's Bureau reports that the chief dietary problem for parents of teen-agers is to see that the foods eaten meet the increased energy requirements without sacrificing any essential elements. It is also important that the foods be offered in a form which will be eaten cheerfully.

Research at Iowa State College reports that teen-age boys consumed about 13 to 17 per cent of their total day's intake in snacks; teen-age girls, about 16 per cent. Too often teen-agers concentrate on "empty calorie" foods for their snacks. Since snacks play such an important role in the diet of teen-agers, it is important that they make a real nutritional contribution.

Here is a suggestion for homemakers faced with the problem of what to serve the hungry, teen-age, football crowd. Cereal Toffee Squares served with cocoa or milk meet the requirements for an adequate snack for teen-agers. This chewy confection rates high in taste appeal and is packed full of good nutrition. The breakfast cereals in the recipe contribute high-quality protein, B vitamins, essential minerals, and readily available food energy.

CEREAL TOFFEE SQUARES
Cooky Mixture

1-3 cup butter or margarine
½ cup creamy-style peanut butter
1 pound marshmallows
1 tablespoon milk
4 cups crisp corn puffs, puffed wheat, puffed rice, or pre-sweetened puffed cereal

Topping

2 (6 ounce) packages semi-sweet chocolate bits
½ cup salted peanuts, chopped
¾ cup of any of above cereals*

*The cereal used for the topping should be the one selected for the cooky mixture.

Combine butter, peanut butter, marshmallows, and milk in a heavy Dutch oven. Place over low heat and stir constantly until all ingredients are melted and smooth. Add cereal and stir until all cereal is coated with peanut butter mixture. Remove from heat and turn mixture into 2 greased pans 11¾x7½x1¾ inches. Press into even layer.

Melt chocolate bits in top of double boiler. Spread ½ of chocolate over each pan of cookies and sprinkle tops with chopped peanuts and cereal. Cool. Cut into bars or squares. Yield: About 96 squares.

Carrots Are Topped and Everyone Saves

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that only five years ago almost all carrots came to market with their tops on. Sometimes the storekeeper would twist the tops off before he sold them to you; or maybe you'd carry home a bunch of tops.

Department of Agriculture market men did some checking on what happened to carrots sold with and without tops. They found that carrots got to consumers in better condition, with less loss if the tops were taken off and the carrots were packed in plastic bags. Further, the grower could get more carrots in a refrigerator car, and it took less ice. A saving all the way around. The result: Today, about 85 per cent of our carrots come to us in plastic bags and with no tops.

Minted Carrots and Grapes

1 bunch carrots
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dried crumbled peppermint leaves
2 tablespoons water
1 cup stemmed seedless grapes
½ teaspoon sugar

Pare carrots; cut into thin rounds. Melt butter in skillet (about 10 inches) over low heat; add carrots and cook gently about 10 minutes; stir occasionally. Makes 6 servings.

Canned Apple Sauce Is Time Saver for Mom

With children back on school schedules, Mother must have meals ready Johnny-on-the-spot. And that's where ready-to-use apple sauce comes in handy. A big spoonful of apple sauce topping the breakfast cereal adds extra zest and nourishment without extra effort.

A dish of apple sauce mixed with a handful of raisins or nuts serves as a quick luncheon dessert. As an after school snack, apple sauce can turn up as a spread for bread that will carry youngsters till mealtime without spoiling their appetites.

DEVILED SHRIMP — Deviled shrimp and eggs kept hot before serving in a chafing dish will save last minute preparation. Cottage cheese with peach slices and blueberries is a tasty accompaniment along with crusty rolls and butter. Serve ice cream with cookies for dessert and fresh cold milk for a beverage.

Sauce Livens Shrimp, Eggs

Shrimp and eggs make a hearty combination when prepared in a tasty cream sauce piqued with mustard and paprika and served directly from a chafing dish onto crispy Chinese noodles. Rich in protein the dish may be served as a flavorful main dish for family or friends. Toast baskets or points may be substituted for the noodles if desired, or the creamed shrimp and egg mixture may be served in baking shells hot from the oven. Lemon wedges or slices will add a tart garnish either way it is served.

Try this recipe over the weekend or for a buffet supper when time is short and a special dish will simplify your work as a hostess.

Deviled Shrimp and Eggs

¼ cup butter
2 teaspoons minced onion
¼ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon paprika
Dash of cayenne
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 cups cooked shrimp, halved
3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
2 cans Chinese noodles, or
6 toast baskets
Lemon slices

Saute onion and pepper in butter in saucepan over low heat, do not brown. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk, stirring constantly and cook until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add shrimp and eggs. Heat slowly, stirring occasionally until thoroughly heated. Serve over Chinese noodles or in toast baskets, or toast points. Garnish with lemon wedge or slices.

★ ★ ★

If preferred the shrimp may be put in baking shells, topped with buttered crumbs and baked for 15 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees. Serve in the shells. Makes 6 servings.

Mustard Adds Zing to Fruity Meat Relish

Golden pineapple garnish: This popular pineapple garnish will capture relish honors when served with hot or cold ham, chicken or veal or as an accompaniment for seafood salads. Drain 1 No. 2 can of pineapple tidbits and save the syrup. In a saucepan combine ¼ cup of sugar, ½ cup of orange juice, ½ cup of the pineapple syrup drained from tidbits, and bring to a boil.

★ ★ ★

Men Like Cheese in Dressings

Salad dressings provide one of the greatest opportunities for today's homemakers to be creative. Men recognize this, too, and seem to change venturing into the kitchen at this point in meal preparation.

★ ★ ★

Here is a dressing that is likely to draw male assistance and compliments from your family and friends. The rich blue cheese and condiments will be a fitting crown to many of your salads. Be prepared for requests for the recipe.

Blue Cheese Dressing

1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon oreango
2-3 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
1 1-3 cups salad oil
½ cup crumbled blue cheese

Combine mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt, oregano, vinegar and sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Gradually add oil, beating constantly. Fold in cheese and mix well. Serve with tossed vegetable or green salad. Yield about 2 cups dressing.

Four layer pans of cake may be baked at one time; two pans go on the top shelf of the oven and two on the lower shelf. Alternate the pans on the racks so one does not cover the other.

Come Out to the Antique Fair!

Pontiac Press Photos

"Come to the fair" if you want to see the sights, say Jonathan Roberts of Middlebelt road and Deborah Walsh of West Long Lake road. They display some of the antiques you'll see at Will-O-Way Playhouse today through Saturday. Sponsored by the Michigan Animal Rescue League, Inc., the Antique Fair is raising funds for the shelter on East boulevard.

"I'll have to get 'Old Nell' in shape for the fair," W. R. Walsh of West Long Lake road said. He knows that proceeds will help the building fund and will enable the league to care for more animals.

Snitchin' cookies from Grandmother's old cupboard is David Merrill of West Long Lake road. You'll see the cupboard if you attend the antique show this week.

GOP Notes Progress by Women

More Than Ever Are Holding Jobs in Government

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, in presenting its 1957 progress study on women in public service, says it is not aiming to set women apart but is charting their gains to show them what they can do.

★ ★ ★

"It is encouraging to women to see that they are making gains, and it is valuable to men to see the variety of responsible posts women are holding," explained Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee and director of the Women's Division.

IN PUBLIC INTEREST

"In the conduct of our government on all levels we believe it is to the interest of both men and women that women have a part — that their voices be heard and that qualified women be given opportunities to serve," she added.

In the last four decades—since 1916, when the first woman, Jeannette Rankin (R-Mont) was elected to Congress — Miss Adkins says women have made excellent progress in winning elective and appointive offices in municipal, county, state and federal governments.

There are now some 576,000 in the last category. Women, according to the non-partisan survey, constitute about 21 per cent of the federal government's entire civilian personnel.

An estimated 10 per cent of these are in the high salary brackets.

Is Monarchy Too Expensive for Modern England?

Queen Elizabeth is photographed while on tour. Her allowance is $1,300,000 a year.

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON (NEA) — If a cat can look at a Queen, a United States congressman can look at a Queen's dress bills.

Or so reasoned Congressman Harold R. Gross (R-Iowa) who dragged Queen Elizabeth II's finery into a congressional debate not long ago.

AMERICAN FUNDS?

Specifically, the lawmaker wanted to know how much American aid to Britain was being diverted to pay for the two tons of clothing which, he alleged, the Queen took with her on her recent state visit to France.

With Elizabeth coming to America in October, the high cost of monarchs is bound to come up again.

Is royalty too expensive? A costly bauble that the welfare state cannot afford? Should the royal family set the nation an example by pulling in its belt?

Certainly, the $1,300,000 a year voted by Parliament as the Queen's personal allowance (Civil List, it is called) is a whopping salary by any standard.

When another three millions dollars is added to this for the maintenance of the royal family, plus its palaces, plus the royal yacht, the bill is enormous.

NOT MUCH HIGHER

Yet the Queen's defenders argue that Elizabeth's Civil List is only $14,000 more than that fixed for her great-grandfather, Edward VII, in 1901, while the cost of living has more than trebled since that date.

Far from spending her money on clothes, the Queen pays out $860,000 or nearly two-thirds of her allowance to run the royal household, including food, staff wages, gas, lights and fuel, motor cars, laundry, telephone and telegraph service.

Also, Elizabeth is probably the world's biggest party-giver. As Britain's "hostess with the mostest," she entertains some 30,000 persons a year, which comes under the heading of maintaining British prestige.

Out of the Queen's purse come such miscellaneous expenses as $9 for every set of triplets born in Britain, $75 to the poet laureate who keeps odes on tap for historic occasions, and $840 a year to the keeper of the royal swans.

MUST PAY FARES

To lighten her financial load, the government keeps the Queen's seven palaces and her eight royal houses in repair, and the Royal Navy comes through with one million dollars a year for the upkeep and operation of the royal yacht, Britannia.

It can be argued that the Queen actually doesn't cost the British taxpayer a cent. For under a deal worked out by George III in 1760, she turns over all income from the crown lands to the government in exchange for her Civil List.

As the income from crown property runs to $3,500,000 a year, the taxpayer comes off well in the deal, some apologists maintain.

FIRST TARGET

Whenever British Socialists get out the economy axe, Buckingham Palace is designated as their first victim. This 600-room palace, they argue, is a white elephant requiring an enormous staff of maids, footmen, gardeners, carpenters and electricians to run.

The fact that most of the palace staff other than clerks and domestics belong to trade unions appears to cut no ice with the Socialists, who favor turning the palace into council flats.

As against its overhead costs, Buckingham Palace has sentimental value, however. It is the first place humble Britons turn to in time of trouble or jubilation.

Some even appear to take comfort from the sight of the Queen's gold-emblazoned standard flying from its mast, as a sign that the Queen is in residence.

MARATHON TASK

Running Buckingham Palace is a marathon task. There is a half mile of carpeted corridor to be vacuumed each day, 350 clocks to be wound, silver to be polished, flowers arranged. Ten men work all year round just keeping the windows clean.

In the old days departing guests were nearly knocked down by palace footmen in their rush to blow out the candles and wrench them from their chandeliers. Such "palace ends," when sold at the shops, fetched high prices.

William Fortnum, footman to Queen Anne, made enough money off "palace ends" to retire and open up Fortnum and Mason's, today London's swankiest food purveyors.

Today, the candles are gone, but there are 2,000 light bulbs requiring constant replacement.

Birmingham 'Y' Slates Auditions

YMCA of Birmingham will be the setting Saturday for auditions for five children's plays. Tryouts for youngsters between 8 and 18 will be held by the newly organized Hurdy-Gurdy Players.

Gene Scrimpsher, director of children's productions for Detroit public schools, and Gil Oden, curator of theater arts from Detroit Institute of Arts, will direct the season's plays.

Teenagers Favor U.N. but Most Don't Understand It

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Most teenagers in this country know very little about the workings of the United Nations and what it was set up to do, but nearly all of them are in favor of it.

Ask for a show of hands in favor of the U.N., as we did in dozens of communities across the country, and 95 per cent of the boys and 94 per cent of the girls respond enthusiastically.

But ask how many know anything about the U.N. and only 23 per cent of the boys' and 30 per cent of the girls' hands will be left in the air.

The striking lack of knowledge about a subject so often in the news became apparent when teenagers were asked where they thought the U.N. had failed most to live up to expectations.

One girl, 17 years old and a high school junior, answered: "It has failed in getting people to brush their teeth after every meal."

MIX UP GROUPS

Many confused the U.N. with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the current disarmament talks in London and the Point Four program of the Marshall Plan.

Most seemed to take it for granted that Red China already was a member and knew little of the current world controversy over whether it should be admitted.

Of the slim minority who professed a knowledge of the workings of the U.N., 52 per cent said they acquired most of their information in school, 19 per cent from radio and television, and 18 per cent from newspapers and magazines.

Less than 2 per cent had ever visited U.N. headquarters in New York, but this is not surprising since the survey was done on a nationwide basis and many never had the chance.

This group was able to back up its claim to knowing something about the U.N. by providing reasonably intelligent answers to questions of its failures and triumphs.

FAILURES CITED

Among the failures cited were:
1. Failure to act in the Hungarian revolt.
2. Abuse of the veto power by the Communist bloc.
3. Inability to make member countries obey decisions.
4. Failure to maintain world peace.

Among the triumphs cited by teenagers:
1. Ending the Korean War.
2. Quick action in the Suez crisis.
3. Reduction of trade barriers.
4. Promoting agriculture, health and education in underdeveloped countries.
5. Aiding children around the world.

Less than 3 per cent of the total survey group, which included both those who knew nothing of the workings of the organization, thought that the United States should withdraw from the U.N.

About 15 per cent thought the U.N. worked effectively "all the time," nearly 80 per cent answered "now and then," 2.6 per cent checked "seldom" and 2.4 per cent answered "not at all."

"Sure the U.N. is not perfect," admitted a New York City boy, "but then again what is?"

A 17-year-old Chicago lad, Dennis Sloane, applauded the U.N. for "keeping larger countries from taking advantage of smaller ones."

SHE'S DISGUSTED

On the other side of the ledger, 15-year-old Wendy Hansen of Normandy, Mo., was "disgusted and disappointed" with the world organization for "letting Russia and her friends get away with murder."

"They are doing only half their job," complained 15-year-old Dorothea Olson of Whitestone, N. Y.

Robert Schwartz, 17, of Jersey City more or less agreed with both sides, admitting the past failures but hopeful of the future.

"The U.N. has great unused ability for good," he answered, "however, its potential has never been realized."

Edythe Krampe of College Point, N. Y., commented on the failure to mention the word God in the U.N. charter and saw this omission as part of its overall failings.

"They have tried to achieve peace by themselves," she said, "when peace comes from trust and faith in God."

'WONDERFUL JOB'

Karen Hanks, 16, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., thought that "for such a young organization, the U.N. has done a wonderful job.

A Flushing, N. Y., girl, 14-year-old Gloria Scozza, was in complete agreement.

"It is mighty difficult to maintain peace, as many forget, and they are doing a good job," she commented.

Another New York girl said the "basic aims of the U.N. are good, but it should have more publicity, become more a part of our every day living."

Lingerie Adds Feline Touch With Leopard

NEW YORK (INS) — This year the fashionable woman will make herself more feline by wearing leopard skin.

★ ★ ★

Leopard or leopard prints are popular for collars, belts, hats, pocketbooks and shoe trim. Blouses, raincoats and even earrings have turned up with spots.

EVEN LINGERIE

But now the people who dream up styles have gone one step farther — they have designed a leopard skin matching bra and girdle set.

The bra has a black dacron leno elastic body, but the main section of the bra is done in startling satin with a leopard print.

The matching girdle is a pull-on with a dip-down waist for comfort and comes only in black. The main portion of the girdle is nylon power net, but both front and back panels are done in satin leopard print to match the brassiere.

The leopard set is an extreme example of the increasing importance being placed on decorative undies to make women high style and fashionable from the skin out.

Demands of Steady Girl Tame Male at Early Age

Future Husbands Not Likely to Rebel Against Housekeeping Chores

By RUTH MILLETT

In the book "Utopia 1976," in which Morris L. Ernst attempts to predict what life will be like in that year, he says the husband of the future will share more in homemaking chores.

I don't know how his other prediction will turn out, but I suspect that with this one he has hit the nail on the head.

Among teenagers, it is plain to see that the male is being tamed at an early age, not by "mom" but by his steady girl friend.

From 14 on, the boy who dates knows exactly what is expected of him. He conforms to the pattern without any sign of rebellion.

If he likes a girl, the only way he can be sure of getting dates with her is to ask her to go steady. So he settles down to one girl at a time.

Once he is going steady, he meekly observes all the rules that govern going steady among his own crowd.

A RIGID SCHEDULE

That probably means that he telephones his girl either once or twice a day at a set time. He takes her out a certain number of evenings a week.

He writes her every day if he is out of town. He remembers all special occasions with a gift. He gives her some symbol to wear that announces to the teenage world that he belongs to her.

Boys who can be that domesticated at 14 aren't likely to balk much a few years later at whatever kind of marriage pattern their wives set up.

If they are expected to spend their free hours mopping floors, looking after the children, etc., I can't see them suddenly rebelling on the grounds that they are men and homemaking is a woman's job.

No, I think they'll ease into the role of partner in housekeeping without a struggle. They may even think it's Utopia!

Cuddle Baby in the Daytime for Quiet Night

LONDON (INS) — The British Medical Association reported today that fathers have to pace the bedroom floor with bawling babies during the night because mothers fail to cuddle the children enough during the daytime.

Psychologists at the London University Child Study Center, led by Terence Moore, made the investigation for the association.

They studied 200 London babies representing all social classes and found one clear-cut link—babies not nursed enough during the day are the most likely to cry at night.

The psychologists are satisfied this attitude deprived the babies of some basic need which affected their sleep.

The study also showed that babies who sleep a lot during the day are not more likely to wake up after midnight, that keeping the child awake during the day is no insurance against a disturbance at night.

Satin Beats Shapeless New Styles

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — American sportswear designers have figured out a way to beat the bosomless styles Paris couturiers have decreed for fall and winter.

CHARMS REVEALED

Your suit can be as boxy, bosomless and generally shapeless as the latest styles demand. But take off the jacket and reveal a satin blouse and no man can overlook your curvaceous charms.

★ ★ ★

The satin blouse designers will go so far as to concede the eased waistline by creating overblouse styles that fit loosely around the waist. But when you're dealing with satin, you can't hide curves completely.

★ ★ ★

The satin overblouses make up for their lack of midsection appeal by adding extra emphasis to the necklines with big bows directly beneath modest V necklines, or else combine mandarin-type collars with sunburst darts for further top interest.

GOLD THREAD

Another blouse attraction is satin combined with gold metallic thread for a tailored blouse that strictly stresses glamor.

Car Owner Runs 'Taxi' for Friends

Feels Imposed On Since They Never Share Costs

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I own a car. Quite often I go out with a group of friends to different places. The friends expect me to call for them at their houses and then bring them back home again — actually giving them taxi service.

"Not once does any of them offer to defray any of the expenses for this special accommodation. They don't seem to realize that these trips cost me money. In addition to putting gasoline in the car, I often have to pay for parking.

"I am beginning to feel that I am being taken advantage of. I feel they could at least reimburse me to the extent of what it would cost them for public transportation. Can I possibly suggest this to them, or must I, as the owner of the car, assume this expense and say nothing?"

Answer: If the extra expense of calling for your friends and bringing them home is of consequence to you and you can determine what it amounts to, you would be justified in asking them to reimburse you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate it if you would tell me whether or not it is correct for a girl, when she is asked for a date by a man, to invite him to come to her house for dinner instead of their dining out? In other words, is it improper to turn a man's invitation to dine out into your invitation to dinner at home?"

Answer: If your mother does not wish you to dine out with a man, you would be entirely correct in telling him so and inviting him to dine at your house instead.

Exercise to Correct Round Shoulders

Slumping Menaces Beauty, Health

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women go into immediate action when it appears that the waistline is saying goodbye to youthful slimness, or when the thighs bulge or any other figure defect appears.

Yet these same women, who see to it that they remain well-proportioned, often allow themselves to slump. They fail to realize what a handicap to good looks round shoulders are.

The most expensive clothes fail in verve when worn by a woman who has this sort of poor posture, while an inexpensive gown or suit looks chic when worn by a woman with a gallant carriage.

Not only are round shoulders unattractive, but when you slump you are certain to "let go" with abdominal muscles. Round shoulders also almost always lead to Dowager's Hump and to an older looking neck and chinline. This posture is definitely aging. It crowds the heart and lungs and induces chronic fatigue.

A mild case of round shoulders can be corrected if you begin corrective measures soon enough, and even more severe forms can be improved, but it takes real determination to do either. Once a woman realizes how important the correction of this defect is to her, there is hope.

LOOK AT YOURSELF

Actually, many women are not conscious of the fact that they are acquiring round shoulders. Look at yourself side view in a long mirror and stand naturally. Ask your friends and family if you have fallen into this habit.

The following exercise is a splendid corrective motion toward a flat back: Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place your feet flat on the floor. Arms rest on the floor at your sides. Raise both arms upward, shoulder width apart.

Stretch arms backward until arms rest on the floor overhead. Drag the arms forward to starting position, keeping the arms on the floor and as close to the side as possible. Continue slowly.

If you would like to have my exercise routine which is corrective to round shoulders, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Stress Safe Ranges

Requirements for gas ranges have been worked out by committees on which are representatives from the National Bureau of Standards, U. S. Bureau of Mines, U. S. Public Health Service, U. S. Bureau of Human Nutrition & Home Economics, American Home Economics Association, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Canadian and American Gas Associations. Each range must meet minimum requirements for safety, efficient performance and durability before it can be made available to homemakers. Gas range owners find that servicing and repair costs are negligible.

Mary Ann Samson Wed

Three hundred guests witnessed the marriage Saturday morning of Mary Ann Samson and Donald V. Menard. The Rev. Norman Thomas performed the ceremony in St. Michael Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Samson of Robinwood avenue are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. S. E. Downes of Milford and J. M. Menard of Lake Angelus road.

For her wedding the bride chose a waltz-length gown fashioned in princess style of Franch lace over satin and featuring long pointed sleeves. She carried an arrangement of white carnations with her rosary entwined.

A cousin of the bride, Audrey Samson, was the maid of honor. Jeannine Muto, another cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and Theresa Samson, a sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Serving as his brother's best man was Leo J. Menard. Girard Menard, also a brother of the bridegroom, Rex Lamreaux and Donnie Bruce seated the guests.

River Is Laundry

On the banks of the rivers in Thailand, each floating house has a porch with steps leading down to the water where men and women wash their clothes. Each person brings an extra garment when he takes his morning bath and washes it well as he stands on the porch steps, then beats it to soften it.

Career Girl Needs Balanced Meals

The career girl who tries to get by on a doughnut and coffee in the morning, a hamburger and soft drink at noon, a can of soup and a sandwich at night, is asking for trouble.

She needs three balanced meals a day to keep her hair, her skin, her nails, her teeth and eyes at their best. She needs good food for sound health.

It's far better to budget clothes money very wisely, to figure out at the beginning of each season what she can buy and to have a few good clothes rather than a jammed closet.

By shopping carefully, a girl can build a basic wardrobe to which she can add new fashions each season.

Cabbage for C-Ration

A half cup of cabbage supplies about a third of the amount of Vitamin C suggested for each day. Since a pound of fresh cabbage gives eight servings when eaten raw, you pay about one cent per serving. To preserve the vitamin content, keep cabbage in the hydrator of your gas refrigerator until ready to use. Prepackaged cut cabbage should also be kept tightly covered until used.

Keep Office Call Brief

If you stop by a friend's office for any reason other than a business call, be sure to make your stay brief. No matter how cordial your friend is, few business or professional men have time to sit and chat for more than 10 minutes during working hours.

Use Gas Incinerator

Every month more than billion paper milk containers have to be burned in homes across the U.S.A. Add to that the containers from frozen foods, cereals and paper picnic accessories and it is no wonder we have smog and smoke in cities and suburbs. The gas incinerator does an efficient job of burning trash. Refuse disappears with a minimum amount of smoke and smell and results in very little ash.

Will Instruct Class

It has been announced that Mrs. Alex Bartholomew was named instructor for Pine Lake Art Class when that group meets Oct. 2 at 10 a.m. in West Bloomfield Township Hall. The group will be the "Ten Commandments".

Consider Neighbors

If your neighbors are close, be considerate of them in such matters as keeping the volume of your radio or TV turned low, keeping your children from running over your neighbors' lawns and flowers and letting your next-door neighbors have some privacy when they entertain out-of-doors.

Reheat Ham in Oven

The best way to reheat a canned ham is an easy way with an automatically-timed and temperature-controlled gas range. Set the oven at 325 degrees and bake to an internal temperature of 125 degrees. If you do not have a meat thermometer this means about 8 to 10 minutes to the pound if the ham is at room temperature. A chilled ham taken from the gas refrigerator will take slightly longer—about 12 to 15 minutes per pound.

Saints are sinners who keep on trying.
— Robert Louis Stevenson

Let Interest Guide Your Studies

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Leonardo da Vinci once said, "Just as eating food that we don't like tends, in the long run, to spoil the digestion, so studying subjects that we don't find interesting tends, in the long run, to spoil the mind."

I think of that every year at this time.

Naturally, in our formal education, in high school and to some extent in college, we have to take good basic courses, whether they fascinate us or not, so that we'll have an adequate grounding to get along in life.

But after that, in our adult education projects — in the courses we take of our own accord—we would do well to let interest and enthusiasm be our only guide.

"But I have to take some courses in accounting," a man writes. "Not that I like it—I hate it! But it's necessary in order to advance in my job."

Well, if advancement in your job depends on learning more about subjects you can't stand, it ought to be clear that you're in the wrong field!

It is bttter to move into a field you love, where taking courses is a real joy and where you can advance to the top with half the effort.

"Please suggest an evening course which will be cultural and help me overcome my lack of education," writes an older woman.

MUST INTEREST YOU

Well there again, nothing is going to be cultural for you unless it interests you.

History of Art can be a very cultural course. But if it bores you, none of the so-called culture will rub off on you.

If is fascinates you, it will spark you into reading all sorts of books on art, clipping pictures, studying ancient Greece, visiting galleries and museums. But if it bores you, it will go in one ear and out the other.

It is better to browse through the catalogue of your evening schools and see what course really gives you a glow.

It might be decoration, millinery, ceramics or French. Whatever it is, if it interests you it will bring you to life and evoke all kinds of allied talents and activities.

MAKES MILLINERY

First, she started looking for unusual materials. Then she went to the city, wandered around the museum and found odd and wonderful old drawings of hats which gave her terrific ideas.

In the process, she became fascinated with the history of costumes. The last I knew she was reading Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" and 'carlyle's "History of the French Revolution!"

Where she'll go from there is anybody's guess. But one thing is certain, she'll be an educated woman.

Your own instinct, your own enthusiasm, is the most valid guide you can have toward your intellectual development. There are good, deeply seated, psychologically sound reasons why one thing interests us and another doesn't. Don't ignore these reasons or you'll regret it.

Berta Lee Cooper and Foy Daryl Freeman were married Saturday in Gingellville Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Bert H. Cooper are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Freeman.

MR. and MRS. FOY D. FREEMAN

Berta Lee Cooper Weds

Gingellville Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Berta Lee Cooper and Foy Daryl Freeman. The Rev. William Miles performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Bert H. Coopers of West New York avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Freeman of Baldwin road.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown fashioned of lace and net over taffeta with a bodice featuring tiny buttons down the back and a bouffant skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was secured by a pearl tiara. She wore a pink and white sweetheart rose corsage.

For a reception for 100 guests held in the church parlors the bride's mother chose a mint green taffeta dress with black accessories and Mrs. Freeman wore a turquoise and white linen dress with brown accessories. They both wore corsages of yellow roses.

Meet Ernest Adler--Success by a Hairline

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Ernest Adler probably is the only person in the world who, when asked to define atomic fallout, might describe it as "a dandruff condition on somebody like Jayne Mansfield."

He is a hairdresser to the stars. Known in the entertainment racket as "The Comb," he lives, sleeps, talks hair.

Occasionally he has 60 hairdos to execute in one hour before a TV show.

"Like today," he said, looking itchy. "I've got to fly over to Baltimore in a few minutes and do a (wave) set, and then get back in time for 'The Big Record.' Patti Page has a change of hair style with every change of dress on that show, have you noticed?

"On the Ed Wynn show last week, I had just 45 minutes to do eight stars plus the entire chorus. Thank heavens chorus girls and stars are easy to work with — it's those people in the middle who give me trouble."

People in the middle?

"Oh, the bigger the star, the easier they are to work with, you know. And the chorus girls are not chorusy at all; they're fantastically agreeable.

SOME ARE FUSSY

But the people who are not playing a very big part or a very small one — they're the sensitive types.

"They're always so desperately sure you're not giving them the same attention the stars get."

Adler, personal hair dresser to more big-wigs (you can take that both literally and colloquially) than any other stylist in these parts, is not about to reveal which wheel wears the phony . . . false hairpiece, that is.

"But I will say that almost everybody on Broadway and TV must pin false hair into their own from time to time. You simply can't switch a coiffure entirely, in —say— a one-minute commercial break.

"The 'My Fair Lady' cast, which I 'did' is especially loaded with hairpieces: $5,000 worth at least, I should say. In one scene — the 'Ascot Gavotte' number—everybody has a fresh hairdo built into her hat."

With only 30 seconds, often, in which to change the "do" of a star's hair, Adler travels with pockets bulging with witch hazel and cologne, which set a hairstyle in mere moments.

He also carries a special liquid which both cleans and sets hair in 15 minutes — but he's not giving out the name because the product is so combustible that the spark of a cigarette might lead to a scalp of the coiffure.

Adler says that, except for nights when he has more than three shows to "do heads on" (at which times he is as split up as a bleached hair with a bad permanent), he loves his work and all the women in it.

He "adores" Polly Bergen, loves Faye Emerson, is crazy about Judy Garland, et. al., and gets his biggest kicks out of seeing them look beautiful — from the ears around — on their big nights and matinees.

"It's very satisfying work, and a hairdresser is most important. Sometimes, if a star has a coiffure she doesn't feel comfortable in, she'll give a bad performance — ask any of them.

And it works the other way, too: "I did Rise Stevens for the opening of the Metropolitan last year," he recalls proudly. "The critics didn't give the opera so much — but her hair got rave reviews!"

Large Textile Mills Planned for Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon — Plans are being developed for the establishment of large textile factories in Ceylon, with an annual production capacity of 85,000,000 yards of cotton textiles, the amount now imported each year.

At first, cotton will be imported from Egypt and elsewhere; eventually about 100,000 acres will be brought under cultivation in Ceylon to produce the required 30,000,000 pounds of cotton.

The plan calls for the building within five years of five spinning mills with 25,000 spindles each.

Price of Prize Poultry Sets Per Pound Record

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS) — Chicken —$46 a pound.

Not a prediction of prices to come, but the price paid for 12 prize chickens purchased by the H. K. Webster Co. of Lawrence, Mass., at a contest here.

Douglas Pyatt, 13, of Farmington received $1,518 for his poultry.

Let's face it. The bark about Eastern football is stronger than its bite.

We keep hearing about the return to power of East Coast grid teams. We agree, the big Eastern schools are getting stronger, but not too strong for anyone except other Eastern teams.

Last week's Oklahoma romp over Pittsburgh was just another black mark in the so-called return of Eastern power.

The Ivy League, once a powerful circuit, is now just a second-rate conference. If you classify the college leagues by classes, the "A" circuits would include the Big Ten, Pacific Coast, Southwest, Atlantic Coast and by itself Oklahoma.

The Ivy League, Skyline, Missouri Valley, Southern and the Big Eight, which has been adequately called Oklahoma and "seven dwarfs," are only second best.

The East can rave endlessly about its return to power but right now Eastern propaganda is its strongest point.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Writers from all over the Midwest have just finished their tour of the Big 10 football camps and the final concensus favored Michigan State for the title.

One national publication picks Minnesota, another predicts Iowa and still another calls it for Michigan. So as it looks, it's anybody's race.

Northwestern is expected to move into the top half of the conference for the first time in many years, and it seems hard to believe that Ohio State is to be relegated in the second division of the league.

How are we picking the Big 10? In order we see, Michigan State, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State, Iowa, Northwestern, Purdue, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

We can't see Bobby Cox as the only reason for putting Minnesota on top, and the Buckeyes have too strong an alumni to finish out of the top four.

The Inter-Lakes conference, now a class A league, is the "mister-in-between" of prep football. The status of the league is too big for class B and outclassed by established class A teams. In the polls, Walled Lake was a top team in the B poll last year, but could go unbeaten all this year and may be lucky to get mentioned in A polls.

The answer for leagues seeking recognition lies in the adage, you are only as good as the competition you play.

Pontiac Shuffles Lineup for Friday

Sexton Wants Chiefs' Scalp

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Foes on Pontiac High's football schedule, such as Lansing Sexton which lost a last second 13-12 decision to the Chiefs last year, are eagerly showing their teeth this season.

Wyandotte got revenge last week, now is Lansing Sexton's turn. "That loss in Pontiac hurt us badly last year, it wrecked our confidence," said Sexton coach Buck Nystrom. "This is definitely a key game for us Friday night," he added.

Nystrom looked over his 19-6 loss to Muskegon last week and commented, "We did everything but win that game. We outgained them on the ground, we ran 58 plays to their 35, but just a few individual mistakes killed us," he said.

The Big Reds have eight lettermen returning, headed by several big linemen and small but speedy backs. Big men in the line are the tackles, Nick DeVoe at 6-feet-2, 220 and Gary Williams, at 6-feet-3 and 215. DeVoe is a junior and Williams, who is the son of Michigan's governor, is a senior.

At Muskegon, the Big Reds led at halftime, 6-0, before faltering. "We have a strong first unit, but little reserve depth, so we faded in the late stages," said Nystrom.

Two serious injuries came out of the Muskegon game for Sexton. Darrell Penner, defensive halfback, will be out of action with a leg injury, and a doubtful starter will be regular end Thad Fiebeck.

"Fortunately, our strongest position is at end so we will have a couple of seniors, Bob Kenny and veteran Tom Shipp at the terminals," Nystrom added.

Shipp was the regular center last year but was moved to end so as to utilize the abilities of pivot Darrell Rolfe a 175 pound junior.

Pontiac coach Jesse MacLeay keynoted in drills this week more work with the defensive unit. "Our defensive work was definitely our weakness last week," said the Chief coach.

Sophomores have been getting more attention and presently five are on the roster. Soph Charley Brown has been moved up to a varsity guard spot and another yearling, Isaac Jones, a 155-pounder will see duty in the backfield.

Without its running attack, Pontiac's offense is relatively null. Only one pass was thrown and incomplete last week. This may be Staley's cue for moving to the second string signal calling role.

A squad of 38 players will leave for Lansing Friday afternoon. Those traveling to the game should take M16 (Grand River to Lansing) and Michigan avenue to the other side of the Capitol building, one way street to McPherson where Sexton is located. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Wolverines Fly to Coast Today With Injuries

Oosterbaan in Doubtful Frame of Mind Because of Recent Drills

The Wolverines were to arrive in Los Angeles tonight to play the Trojans in Memorial Coliseum Saturday.

"I'm looking forward to finding out what this team can do," Oosterbaan said prior to departure. "Who'll assume the leadership left when Ron Kramer, Terry Barr and Tom Maentz graduated."

Oosterbaan feels four weeks of practice didn't supply him with the answers.

"Only a game can do that," he said.

Michigan's progress apparently is impeded by an injury to fullback John Herrnstein. Herrnstein has yet to fully recover from knee and ankle injuries suffered three weeks ago. He has been slowed and doesn't cut as sharply as he did during his fine sophomore season.

Michigan, therefore, isn't as far advanced as it was a year ago. Mainly it is due to the injury to the player Oosterbaan expected to pick up much of the graduation slack.

He too, hurt a knee the first week. Later he suffered a bruised hip and missed many scrimmages, included two of the three game-style Saturday workouts.

Despite their injuries, both Herrnstein and Prahst are expected to start against the Trojans. But they won't be 100 per cent effective.

The starting team will be an all-veteran cast, but six of the starters were substitutes last year. This is another reason for Oosterbaan's doubts.

The Wolverines ran through their final stiff workout yesterday. They practiced plays, defense, kicking and going to the line of scrimmage from a huddle.

Thirty-eight players made the trek to the coast. The plane carried the first three strings, plus an extra end, guard, center, quarterback and right halfback.

O'Malley Gets New Proposal

4th Transfer Agreement Goes to Dodger Leader, LA City Council

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposed agreement covering transfer of the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles has been revised a fourth time and sent to the president of the National League baseball club.

Details of the proposal were expected to be presented today to the Los Angeles City Council, which must adopt the agreement in the form of an ordinance before the deal can become final.

Approval must come, of course, from Dodger President Walter O'Malley in New York.

Harold C. McClellan, the industrialist who negotiated with the Dodgers for the city and county of Los Angeles, said last night that the Brooklyn team will be here next year, barring obstruction by the City Council. McClellan, now in the East, told a local newspaper by telephone after being apprised of the revised offer:

UCLA Attacks PCC Penalties

Athletic Director Says Firing of Coach Would Have Eased Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pacific Coast Conference penalties against UCLA probably would have been eased, the school's athletic director has testified, if head football coach Red Sanders had been fired.

Athletic Director Wilbur Johns, appearing yesterday before a state assembly subcommittee investigating California schools and their position in the conference, also said UCLA is intent on going its own athletic way in the future.

Johns said Dean Orlando Hollis of the University of Oregon asked him in May, 1956, on the way to a PCC meeting at Victoria, B.C., to tell the terms of Sanders' contract at UCLA.

Johns said a few days later after penalties had been imposed against UCLA for illegal aid to football players, "a conference emissary told one of my assistants that there would be a lessening of those penalties if we would fire Sanders."

Hollis, Oregon's faculty athletic representative, admitted last night that he did ask Johns the terms of Sanders' contract.

Hoeft Whips Chicago, 5-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Hoeft led the Detroit Tigers a step closer to a first-division finish last night when he snapped the Bengals' six-game losing streak with a brilliant 5-0 shutout victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The lefthander scattered five hits and struck out eight in gaining his ninth win against 11 defeats. It was Hoeft's first shutout since 1956.

The Tigers backed Hoeft's performance with an eight-hit attack on four Chicago rookies and reserves, including a home run by Bob Wilson with the bases empty.

The defeat was handed to 17-year-old Jim Derrington who was making his fifth start of the season for the White Sox. Chicago also used Dixie Howell, Jim McDonald and rookie right-hander Stover McIlwain in trying to put down the Tiger barrage.

The Bengals scored their first three runs in the third inning after Derrington loaded the bases on two walks and a single by Jim Finigan. The first run was forced across when Derrington walked Harvey Kuenn.

Howell gave up another run in the fifth after Finigan walked and Ray Boone singled him home from second. Wilson ended the scoring with his four-bagger off McDonald in the sixth.

McIlwain walked two men and allowed two singles in the ninth but got through without giving up another run.

Hoeft's shutout was threatened only once: that was in the eighth inning when Sherman Lollar rapped a pinch double down the line and took third on Ted Beard's bouncing single.

There was only one out at the time, but Hoeft got Nellie Fox to hit into a double play.

The only other hits off Hoeft, who walked only two men, were a fourth-inning double by Minnie Minoso and a pinch single by Walt Dropo in the fifth.

Three Injuries Hold Key for MSU Opener

EAST LANSING (AP)—Three former cripples probably hold the key to Michigan State's football fortunes this fall.

Big names in the starting lineup for the opener with Indiana Saturday are team captain and tackle Pat Burke, right half Walt Kowalczyk and end Dave Kaiser.

Burke is the team leader elected by the players themselves and a key linesman. Kowalczyk is expected to be the best groundgainer and fiercest bruiser in the backfield. Kaiser is State's best all-around end.

All suffered leg injuries last season but have been nursed back to health by Dr. James Feurig, team physician.

Burke missed the latter part of last season because of knee injuries and for a while was on crutches. After a slow start this fall, he has whipped himself into top shape and won back a starting position after a brief demotion to the second string.

Kowalczyk, a standout as a sophomore, was slowed by injuries last season but has come back strong.

"Having fellows like those three playing to the top of their proven ability can make your team," commented coach Duffy Daugherty. "And we found out one season (the 3-6, 1954 year) that injuries can break you."

Players missing signals were called out to take a run around the practice field as an incentive to a sharpened memory.

City Horseshoe Loop Ends Season Tonight

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's City Horseshoe League will end its 1957 season tonight at Oakland Park with the top eight pitchers taking part in a double elimination tournament.

Pontiac's team defeated the Waterford League pitchers for the 2nd time this year Tuesday night at Oakland. Pontiac had an 83-35 superiority in singles and a 57-32 edge in doubles.

Anyone interested in joining the city league next year should contact the Parks and Recreation Department. Officers for 1958 are John Vitton, president; Leonard Skaggs, vice-president, and Ed Justin, secretary-treasurer.

Circuit Court Orders Dates for Northville

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County Circuit Court judge yesterday ordered state racing commissioner James Inglis to allot October harness racing dates to Northville Downs.

Judge Frank Fitzgerald upheld the contention of the Michigan Horseman's Club, Inc. that Inglis acted contrary to logic in refusing to approve the proposed meetings.

That Is the Question for Ray

To Fight or Not to Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson says he doesn't know yet whether he'll seek a return bout with newly crowned middleweight champion Carmen Basilio.

"I'm undecided now," said the four-time holder of the 160-pound crown, who was dethroned by Basilio Monday night. "It's unfair to try and pin me down. I want to get a few days to relax and think it over."

Basilio, pointing out that Sugar Ray has a contract for a return bout, said "the return is up to him."

Truman Gibson and Harry Markson, officials of the International Boxing Club, said that nothing would be done until Basilio's co-managers, Joe Netro and Johnny DeJohn, confer with IBC President James D. Norris in about two weeks.

Robinson said that if he did decide to fight he would like it sometime in February.

Gibson said if the fight was made for February, Chicago, Miami and New York were the likely cites.

Asked if he would appear at the New York State Athletic Commission hearing on Tuesday to tell about bribe offers he said he received, Robinson made light of the whole affair.

"The hearing will be nothing at all," he said.

He said it was a "silly thing bringing up an old something."

Fight in Saginaw Is Moved Indoors

SAGINAW (AP) —A double main event fight card here tonight has been moved indoors because of a forecast of cool weather.

Promoter Hank Steinert said the bouts would be held in Saginaw Auditorium instead of at Veterans Memorial Stadium as originally scheduled.

The double main event will pit Pat Lowry of Toledo against Willie Barboie of Toronto in a welterweight fight and Duke Harris of Detroit against Gus Rubicini of Toronto in a middleweight encounter. Both bouts are scheduled for 10 rounds.

Wings Considering Signing 1st Negro

SAULT STE MARIE (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings said today that John Utendale of Edmonton, a Negro, may be given a tryout with the Wings' Edmonton farm club.

The Wings break camp today and head back for Detroit where a decision will be made on whether to sign Utendale. He would be the first Negro player in the Red Wings organization.

Selectors Fall With Rochester

Good Picking From First Grapevine

Defending champion Bruno Kearns again was in the lead by missing only one game, the Rochester-Davison contest. In fact all the choices favored Rochester and the Falcons upset the dope by losing 13-0.

Probable Series Starters Rapped Hard

Buhl and Ford Both Defeated in Tuneup Tries

Musial, Williams Near Batting Titles; Tribe, A's Hit 10 Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Righthander Bob Buhl and southpaw Whitey Ford, both spotted for starting jobs in next week's World Series, hardly looked the part in closing warm-ups for the championship playoff.

Buhl, who had won nine in a row, was rapped for six hits and four runs in the eighth as the St. Louis Cardinals nailed second place with a 4-1 victory over the National League champion Milwaukee Braves yesterday.

Ford, picked to open the Series Wednesday for the New York Yankees, was tagged for four singles and two runs in the nightcap ninth as the American League champs split a twi-night pair with Baltimore, winning 5-1, then losing 4-2.

It likely was the final regular season start for Ford (11-5), although he may work a few frames in Sunday's schedule-closer at Boston. Buhl (18-7), however, probably will get another start Sunday, against Cincinnati, since he ranks No. 3 on the Braves' staff (behind Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette) and probably won't appear in the Series until the third game, a week from Saturday.

While Ford and Buhl were finding things tough, Stan (The Man) Musial and Ted Williams zeroed in on the Major League batting crowns.

Musial, whose pinch-single scored the tying run for the Cards, gained two points for a .351 average. Willie Mays of the New York Giants, Musial's closest challenger in his bid for a seventh title, was idle and stayed at .333.

Williams was 2-for-3 in Boston's 7-6, 11-inning victory at Washington, and picked up two points for a .386 average. Yankee Mickey Mantle, next at .365, didn't play, resting his china legs for the Series.

In the other NL game, Chicago's Cubs junked Cincinnati's hopes for a share of third with a 7-5 victory over the Redlegs.

In the AL, it was Detroit 5, Chicago 0, with Billy Hoeft blanking the White Sox on five hits; and Cleveland 9, Kansas City 7, with the two clubs cracking 10 home runs, one shy of the Major League record.

The Red Sox had homers from Frank Malzone, who smacked a pair, Jim Piersall and Jackie Jensen. Malzone's second broke it up in the 11th.

The Tribe hammered six home runs, with Vic Wertz tagging a pair of two-run shots in the eighth and ninth that nailed it for Hoyt Wilhelm, the ex-Giant-Card hurler who gained his first AL decision. Woody Held homered twice for the A's.

West Bloomfield Loses to Melvindale Harriers

West Bloomfield runners finished 2nd and 3rd yesterday, but the Lakers were defeated by Melvindale, 26-29, in a dual cross country meet at Melvindale.

The Lakers' Steve Rogers took 2nd place and teammate Dick Thies came home 3rd. Eugene Jurkewicz of Melvindale finished 1st over the shortened course in the time of 10:17.

WEDNESDAY'S HOME RUNS
Jensen, Piersall, Malzone 2, Red Sox; Schult, Killibrew, Senators; Berra, Yankees; R. Wilson, Tigers; Robinson, Lynch, Flood, Redlegs; Williams, Maris, Brown, Werts 2, Colavito, Indians; Martin, Held 2, Power, Athletics.

Maple Gridders Keyed Up for Bay City

Spirit High at Birmingham

By BILL CORNWELL

The Birmingham High School football team will be a positive underdog against Bay City Friday night, but the Maples hold no fears about the approaching conflict.

"They have a fine mental attitude this season and they're really keyed up for this game," Lemle said.

There are no serious injuries in the Birmingham camp and the Maples will be at full strength for the invasion of the powerladen Wolves.

Jack Palmer, 210-pound tackle, is the only ailing player and he is sound enough to see part-time duty. Palmer is bothered by a recurring backache and must be spelled off occasionally. Roger Kissam, a 185-pounder, is his replacement.

Gibson failed as a ball carrier last year, but he has shown marked improvement this fall and it was his tremendous work in the 1957 season opener that helped defeat Cranbrook, 19-7.

Coach Elmer Engel's Wolves are loaded with veterans, led by junior quarterback Jerry Gross, halfback Ervin Kokaly, end Jim Schultz and 204-pound tackle Dick Tews.

"We'll be able to match them in weight offensively," Lemle said, "but they'll have an advantage of a few pounds on defense. I think we can equal them in overall team speed," commented Lemle.

The Maples concede their underdog role and are well aware of the difficult task at hand. But they have no qualms about going all-out in an effort to spring what would surely be one of the season's greatest upsets.

"We believe we have a good chance to win," stated Lemle. "Our showing against Cranbrook last week was the best opening game performance of any Birmingham team I've coached in my four years here," he added.

A full house is expected at kickoff hour. Of the 350 tickets allotted to Bay City, 300 have been sold and nine bus loads of Bay City supporters are making the trek to Birmingham.

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has reorganized its 1957 Midget football program for boys in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Under this new setup, youngsters will participate twice a week after school.

Football fundamentals will be stressed in the new program. After-school sessions will be conducted Monday through Thursday, followed by Saturday morning workouts. The program begins next week.

Baldwin, St. Michael and McCarroll youngsters meet Mondays and Wednesdays at McCarroll while other practices are scheduled at Bethune, LeBaron and Webster on the same days.

Tuesday and Thursday drills are slated at Crofoot, Emerson, Wever, Wilson and Wisner fields while boys from Central, McConnell, St. Frederick and Trinity Lutheran gather at Oriole Field on the same days.

Saturday morning sessions at Oriole and Lincoln will apply to actual game situations fundamentals learned during the week. Physical education teachers from the Pontiac school system will be in charge of the program.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

First, the thumb should fit into the thumb hole loosely and comfortably. Because your thumb has a tendency to swell slightly as you bowl, make sure the thumb hole is large enough to allow for this, too.

After you have your thumb in the thumb hole, lay your hand flat over the finger holes. The middle joint of your two middle fingers should be about one-quarter of an inch past the near edge of the holes.

Another way to measure correct span is illustrated today. With your thumb and fingers holding up the ball, insert a pencil under your palm. If the pencil fits in easily and snugly, your span is about right. If you have trouble inserting the pencil, your span is probably too wide. If it fits too loosely, your span is too narrow.

BARON ACE — Senior tackle Chuck Mezey heads the Bloomfield Hills forward wall which gets a stiff test against Holly tomorrow afternoon. He scored a touchdown after recovering a fumble in the Barons' opening win.

Holly at Bloomfield Hills in W-O Feature Tomorrow

One of the top early season games which will help determine where the power lies this season in the well-balanced Wayne-Oakland League is set for tomorrow afternoon when new loop entry Bloomfield Hills hosts a big, rugged Holly eleven.

The Barons were rated a darkhorse in pre-season forecasts and started off on the right foot by winning their W-O opener over Clarenceville last week while Holly was being tied by Grand Blanc.

Holly came out of its 1st start in good physical shape and is rated the favorite due to its size and experience advantage. The Broncos have a veteran backfield led by Amos Bradsher and one of the best defensive men in the area in tackle Phil Tinsman.

A siege of flu hit the Bloomfield Hills camp this week and sidelined several boys including scoring ace Jim Kearney. "We only had 11 players out for practice one day," said Coach Don Hoff today.

He expects everyone to be ready to go by game time. A change in the backfield will have Doug Danziger, who missed the lidlifter with a broken nose, taking over quarterback and Bob Elston moving to halfback. Kearney and converted tackle Chuck Mezey round out the unit.

Another game certain to have league race will match Milford and Clarkston at Clarkston. Both won openers last week in impressive fashion.

Howe, Sawchuk Pace 6-2 Win

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The one-two punch of the Detroit Red Wings paced the Red Wings to a 6-2 win over the Edmonton Flyers here last night.

One punch was provided by Gordie Howe, the defending National Hockey League scoring leader. Howe figured in his team's first three goals, scoring two himself as the Wings rolled up 47 shots.

Punch number two was goalie Terry Sawchuk who turned aside 27 shots, yielding goals only to Norm Ullman and Gerry Leonard.

In addition to Howe's pair, Dutch Reibel, Guy Fielder, Lorne Ferguson, and Bill McCreary scored for Detroit as the Wings won their third exhibition victory in four starts. The fourth game was a 3-3 tie.

Four Trophy Tests for Amateur Trials

Twenty-ninth annual amateur hunter trials, at Metamora Hunt, Saturday, Sept. 28 will have four important trophy events on the 10-class program. Events begin at 10 a.m. with the green hunters class, conclude with the event for hunters ridden by professionals.

Class 4 is the Elizabeth Nichols McEneaney challenge trophy, for thoroughbred working hunters. The J. Deane Rucker Perpetual award (Class 6) is for Corinthian hunters ridden by amateurs. Metamora Hunt Perpetual Challenge (Class 7) is for hunt teams and the Blackthorn Perpetual trophy (Class 8) is for other than thoroughbreds working hunters.

Cranbrook Soccer Team Blanks Canadians, 2-0

The Cranes dominated the Canadians all the way. Both goals came in the 3rd period with Pete King and John Studebaker doing the scoring.

Tigers Sign Teenage Catcher to Contract

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Tigers announced today they signed 18-year-old catcher Carl Hartman to a minor league contract.

Hartman, a sophomore at Bowling Green, comes from Lorain, Ohio. He played in the National Amateur Baseball Federation tournament at Flint this summer.

He is scheduled to report to Tigertown in Lakeland, Fla., in February to train with the Tigers' Class A Augusta team.

Hungarian Is Named Wayne Fencing Coach

DETROIT (AP) — Istvan Danosi, who coached the Hungarian Olympic fencing team in 1948 and 1952, has been named fencing master at Wayne State University.

Skippers Tackle Rugged Lapeer

All-State halfback Tom Wilson is no longer around, but Lapeer still promises to be a rough opponent for Waterford Friday night when the two schools lock horns on the Lapeer gridiron.

The Panthers have a bone to pick with coach Dave Freeman's Skippers, who did an admirable job of stopping Wilson here last year while scoring a 20-13 upset win.

Wilson, one of the greatest prep backs in recent state history, has followed in the footsteps of brothers John and Pat by matriculating to Michigan State University and his departure from Lapeer brought sighs of relief from all rival coaches.

But coach Jack Fitzpatrick has not lost all of his football talent. He has one of the fastest backfields in Lapeer history this season, headed by halfback Richard DeBeaubian and fullback John McKillen.

The Panthers also have Larry Collier, a halfback of three years experience, and veteran end Dick Coulter. End John Englert, a transfer from Rochester, starred in Lapeer's 7-6 victory over Caro last Friday.

SKIPPER — Halfback Jerry Nelson, one of Waterford's few bright lights in last Friday's 26-0 loss to Royal Oak Dondero, will carry the ball for the Skippers tomorrow night at Lapeer. Nelson is a 5-foot-6 scatback weighing only 145 pounds.

Co-favorites with Walled Lake this fall in the race for Inter-Lakes Conference honors, the Skippers probably learned some valuable lessons last week while bowing to tough Royal Oak Dondero, 26-0, and they get a shaky vote of confidence tomorrow.

Waterford opens its drive for the Inter-Lakes title a week from Friday at Farmington.

Walled Lake, 26-12 winner over Redford Union in its season opener, will be a top-heavy favorite to dispose of visiting West Bloomfield tomorrow night. The Lakers dropped their opener to Milford, 28-20.

Other non-league games Friday featuring Inter-Lakes teams are Rochester at Farmington, Berkley at Royal Oak Kimball, Southfield at Ferndale and Van Dyke at Mt. Clemens.

Durelle Wins in 10-Rounds

Unanimous Decision Scored in TV Fight From Olympia

DETROIT (AP) — German heavyweight Willi Besmanoff says he is sure of two things after losing a unanimous decision to Yvon Durelle: He must learn more about the way boxing matches are scored in this country, and Durelle would not last five rounds with Archie Moore.

Besmanoff, at 189 pounds, spotted the British Empire light-heavyweight champion nearly 12 pounds but was content to box instead of punch until the last couple of rounds.

Durelle carried the fight to Besmanoff and scored with looping lefts to the head. He landed the more telling punches although Besmanoff scored more frequently. There was nothing close to a knockdown.

Judge Jack Aspery scored it 46-45, Judge Ed Waggonlander 47-38 and Referee Tom Briscoe 46-44, all for Durelle. The AP scored it for Durelle, 46-45. The fight was scored under the five-point-must system.

Olympia Sets Fight

Sees Shortage of Skilled Help

Labor Undersecretary Urges Firms to Revise Manpower Policies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Undersecretary of Labor James T. O'Connell last night predicted there will be a tight supply of craft workers and professional people for at least 10 years.

Appealing for a broadening of training programs, O'Connell told the seventh annual Ohio Apprenticeship Conference that "the human hand and the human brain are still the best assets of a mass production economy."

"I think you will be shocked," he said, "to learn that there are no more skilled craftsmen—mechanics and machines, toolmakers and carpenters—on the job today than there were five years ago. We had better mend the flaws which are permitting large segments of our manpower to lie fallow."

O'Connell said that in the Middle West the St. Lawrence Seaway project has dramatized the need for more skilled manpower, while other parts of the nation still are sleeping.

"Even before the seaway is completed, its effects are being felt," he said. "New plants are going up. New businesses are springing up. There is a need for highways and railroads to carry the expanded trade into the Great Lakes ports.

O'Connell said that industry itself must revise its thinking concerning "manpower policies borrowed from less exciting and less confident periods of our history."

Those hiring workers must proceed on the basis of the individual's merits and qualifications, without regard to race or sex or whether the worker is over 45, he declared.

Ike May Let Congress Vote on Seaway Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has been asked to give Congress a voice in deciding under what jurisdiction the St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. shall operate.

The Corporation, the agency authorized by Congress to construct and maintain the U. S. portion of the 27-foot-deep international waterway, is now under the jurisdiction of the Defense Department. Eisenhower, meanfime, has before him a proposal to put it under the Commerce Department.

At the request of Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Rep. Blatinik (D-Minn), Chairman Buckley (D-NY) of the House Public Works Committee wired Eisenhower, asking him to postpone action on the proposed transfer "until the appropriate committees of Congress have had an opportunity to discuss (with the administration) the implications of such a move."

New Cab Driver Has Hectic Day First Time Out

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The first day Dennis Matheis spent as a cab driver was a hectic one.

As it turned out, he went to the wrong bar. But he quickly picked up a customer. A man met him at the door and ordered Dennis to "take off in a hurry."

Dennis did. But a police car stopped him after several blocks and arrested the passenger on a charge of slugging a bartender. Dennis didn't collect the $1.35 cab fare.

The cab office then told Dennis to pick up a passenger at a downtown office building. Dennis went into the building and the door locked behind him.

He and the prospective passenger were locked inside for two hours until a man with a key was reached by telephone and came down to unlock the door.

Railroad Brotherhood Gets Nod of AFL-CIO

NEW YORK (INS) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council has approved admission to the labor federation of the 169,999-member Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

AFL - CIO President George Meany told a news conference that the Brotherhood is changing a previous ban against membership for Negroes.

He recalled that the union now has about 2,000 Negroes in its membership, and said:

"We are satisfied that the Brotherhood is taking the question up and will dispose of it in line with the policy of the trade union movement."

Pacific Coast Welcomes Rain to Quench Fires

YREKA, Calif. (AP) — A welcome storm was heading into the northern Pacific Coast today with the promise of relief for the hundreds of volunteers battling a raging fire in the Klamath National Forest.

The fire on the California-Oregon boundary was contained on its northern flank late yesterday after burning over 9,600 acres. Several hot spots on the eastern flank were expected to be controlled today.

Latest Version of Flaming Youth

Wagner-Wood Combo Filmland's No. 1 Romance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood's No. 1 romance of the moment concerns the 1957 version of flaming youth, Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner.

It's enough to make a fan magazine editor coo with delight. Natalie is to the present generation what Joan Crawford and Lana Turner were to previous ones, and Bob, a longtime darling of the younger set.

When Natalie had to go to the Adirondacks for locations for "Marjorie Morningstar," Bob was there and present on the set every day.

Love?

Natalie declines comment. She learned with Elvis Presley, it is difficult to carry on a romance in public.

"There never was anything between Elvis and me," she said. "How could there be? We never had enough time alone.

"My biggest mistake was going to visit him at his home in Memphis. I didn't realize people would make such a circus out of it. . ."

She said they first met when both were under contract to 20th Century-Fox. They didn't have romance in mind then. She was a child actress of 9. He was a teenager.

Meanwhile, Natalie's career has been booming. Her biggest break to date is "Marjorie Morningstar," the Herman Wouk best-seller, which provides one of the plum roles of the year.

"We tested 20 girls for the role and considered hundreds," said producer Milton Sperling. "Among those under consideration were Elizabeth Taylor, Audrey Hepburn, Claire Bloom and other names . . .

"I chose Natalie because she did a sensational test. I think this picture will establish her as a big star."

Lowell Thomas' New Cinerama Thrills

Striking Portrayal of Asia

NEW YORK (INS) — Lowell Thomas' "Search for Paradise" opened in New York Tuesday night with such spectacle and realism that the audience ducked to escape waters flowing over the screen.

The film is straight travelogue.

As the film's guiding spirit, central figure and narrator, Thomas states that the trip was undertaken by himself and two companions in search of a Shangri-La where man could find escape from the turmoil of the present-day world.

Of spectacle there is a fascinating abundance. Impressively photographed in Technicolor and Cinerama, the picture surveys the mountains and lands and rivers of Asia with striking effect.

FEATURES CORONATION

The camera explorers made their way by plane and jeep, on horseback and on foot. The coronation itself is shown in picturesque details, from the preparations for the event in Katmandu to the crowning of King Mahendra and the attendant festivities.

The film also includes a visit to the Island of Ceylon and the Buddhist temple of Lankatilaka. There's a stop-over in the little known country of Hunza where the game of polo originated and is still played.

At one point the adventurers take an exciting ride in a rubber raft down the rapids of the swirling Indus River. So realistic is that scene that many of the onlookers at the Stanley Warner Theatre last night ducked down in their seats when the high waters appeared to be spilling out into the audience.

From its shots of rugged mountain passes in the Himalayas to its shots of whizzing jet flights in Florida, the film provides interesting and informative glimpses of far-away places and peoples.

10 Presumed Dead in 2 Aerial Collisions

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Navy spokesmen say 10 fliers aboard four planes are presumed killed in two aerial collisions during NATO maneuvers in the North Atlantic.

The massive maneuvers of 100 warships and 700 plages were suspended immediately and ships and planes turned to a daylong search. Two bodies were recovered.

The four planes disappeared yesterday as ships and aircraft of seven NATO nations were operating between Iceland and Norway.

Two pilots were presumed killed in the collision of two F4D Sky Ray jet fighter planes from the U.S. carrier Saratoga.

Later the other two planes collided only five miles from the scene of the first accident. Involved in the second crash were two S2F Sentinel trackers each carrying two officers and two enlisted men from the aircraft carrier Essex.

Pay Less if Slender

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Zeta XI Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority figured to pad its treasury by making each member forfeit one penny for every inch of waistline. Mrs. John Bruce, chapter president, said it turned out both the members and the pickings were pretty slim. At most they forfeited 30 cents. The minimum penalty was 23 cents.

AFL-CIO Approves Trainmen Affiliation

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council has approved a request for affiliation from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The BRT, now independent, has 160,000 active members in the United States, 20,000 in Canada and 30,000 on the retired list.

Approval by the council, the top AFL-CIO body, was announced by the federation's president, George Meany, after yesterday's meeting here.

Meany said the federation had given assurances that the BRT would move to eliminate from its constitution the provisions excluding Negroes from membership. He said 2,000 Negroes already hold cards.

Watermelons, which originated in Africa, were first brought to U.S. shores by Massachusetts colonists in the late 1620's.

U.S. Seems Headed for Big Crime Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Based on figures for the first six months, the United States is headed for another record number of crimes this year.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover estimated yesterday that 1,399,670 major crimes were committed through June 30, or one for each 122 persons in the nation.

His report was based on data supplied by police departments throughout the country.

Group to Meet for Tax Study

Eight-Man Commission to Consider 4 Problems of Administration

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Gov. Williams' study commission on tax administration will meet for the first time here Oct. 7, Commission Chairman E. Blythe Stason of the University of Michigan said today.

The eight-man commission was formed to make recommendations for improvement of tax administration in Michigan. Gov. Williams said he hopes the commission will make its findings in time for the 1958 session of the Legislature.

Stason said the commission will study four tax problems:

1. Whether tax collecting functions should be transferred between existing agencies.

2. Whether tax gathering should be consolidated.
3. Whether tax reporting forms and payments should be consolidated.
4. Whether procedures for administrative appeals on taxes should be revised.

Goebel to Discontinue Plant at Muskegon

MUSKEGON (AP) — Goebel Brewing Company's Muskegon plant is scheduled to discontinue operations Friday as the result of 'extraordinary costs and other factors arising from production problems."

A letter to the plant's 60 employes from Edwin J. Anderson, company president, said the move was permanent.

Goebel has operated the plant since 1946. Anderson noted it has accounted for less than 10 per cent of the company's production. He said its operations would be absorbed by expanded facilities in Detroit.

South Africa Charting New Finance Firm

PRETORIA, South Africa — The nominal capital proposed for a new industrial-finance corporation being set up in South Africa is 5,000,000 share of £1 ($2.80) each.

It has been suggested that the Industrial Development Corporation — a Government-owned corporation with issued capital of £40,100,000 — and the South African Reserve Bank subscribe for a million shares each. The remainder would be offered to a selected list of financial institutions.

Cement-Floor Finish Does Combination Job

NEW YORK — A New York concern specializing in chemical products has developed penetrating finishes which it says conbine the functions of curing agents, hardeners, and sealers in one coat, reducing upkeep and dusting of cement floors.

The product, applied before the cement has set, employs new "membrane curing" finishes that also act as water barriers to reduce the likelihood of moisfure's being trapped between the floor slab and the carpeting or other cover.

Big Plastic Roof Made

CONCORD, N. H.—A New Hampshire manufacturer has built a plastic roof large enough to cover three football fields for the United States pavilion at the 1958 Brussels World's Fair.

Road Program Speeded

WASHINGTON—During the first year of the new multibillion-dollar federal highway-building program, ended June 30, Government funds obligated for preliminary engineering, rights of way, and construction totaled $2,223,000,000, or $223,000,000 more than the total of federal funds authorized for the year.

Policemen Chase After Stagecoach

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP)—Night owls were amazed when they spotted a police cruiser chasing a stagecoach through the streets.

The stagecoach, drawn by an auto, finally collapsed during the wild ride, dropping a door here, a wheel there.

Police came upon the remains and the abandoned auto, then went to work tracking down the culprits.

★ ★ ★

Four youngsters were arrested but released after they promised to pay the stagecoarch's owner, I. J. Derossett, $600 for the wrecked stagecoach.

★ ★ ★

Professor Says Rock 'n' Roll Needed by Youth

ANN ARBOR (INS) — A University of Michigan psychologist believes "rock 'n roll" and what it represents is necessary and useful to modern youth.

He added:

"A person can go either way when troubled from within. He may become a hoodlum or straighten himself out.

He suggested "re-education" of parents to combat the problem.

New Circuit Analyzer Finds Shorts Speedily

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. — A new short cut for locating short circuits enables an aircraft-manufacturing firm here to test 1,200 different electrical circuits on airplanes in less than a minute.

The circuit analyzer, which the company will make and market, can be operated by a novice after only an hour's instruction. It cuts hours to less than 5 seconds for every 100 circuits in today's complex aircraft.

Corn and Soys Show Stability

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn and soybeans steadied on the board of trade today with other grains holding at about yesterday's closing levels.

There was some short-covering in corn and beans on forecasts for freezing weather in Minnesota and the likelihood of scattered frosts in other parts of the corn and bean producing belt.

Wheat started unchanged to fractionally higher, influenced by some commercial buying and a little export business. Also, a lake steamer left Chicago for Buffalo, N.Y., today with 253,000 bushels of wheat and this helped stimulate the bread grain.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ¼ lower to ⅝ higher, Dec. $2.16½; corn was ¼ to ½ higher, Dec. $1.20½; oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, Dec. 65½; rye was ⅜ to ⅝ higher, Dec. $1.28; soybeans were up 1 cent, Nov. $2.29½; and lard was 2 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, Oct. $11.30.

City Grade Pupils to Get Afternoon Off

Children in the Pontiac public elementary schools will take the afternoon off tomorrow while their teachers work so that city schools can receive state aid.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac public schools, has received permission from the Board of Education to dismiss the children from school in the afternoon so teachers will have time to submit data on forms used to compute state aid.

★ ★ ★

Whitmer said compilation of data and filing these reports with accuracy involves considerable time. The children were dismissed last year for the same purpose.

Slack Follows Fast Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market got off to a good start today, but activity slackened somewhat in early trading and initial gains were shaved a bit.

The brisk start at the opening, when advances of around a point were scored by several favorites in fast-paced dealings, was apparently an extension of the late rally that prevented yesterday's downturn from turning into a rout.

Ahead fractions in early trading were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, U.S. Rubber, Boeing Aircraft, RCA, Anaconda, Du Pont, General Electric, Pennsylvania Railroad, Jersey Standard and Royal Dutch.

Up around a point were Youngstown Sheet and Dow Chemical.

Opening blocks included: American Telephone off ¾ at 168 on 3,000 shares; Chrysler up ¾ at 72¾ on 2,000; General Electric up ⅝ at 61⅛ on 1,500; General Motors up ⅛ at 39⅞ on 5,000; Rhodesian Selection Trust unchanged at 2¼ on 7,000 and Southern Railway down ¼ at 34¼ on 2,000 shares.

Farmington Justice Hits Driving Law

Ingle, speaking for the Michigan Justices of the Peace Assn., told Secretary of State James M. Hare in Lansing:

"Juries are reluctant to convict drunk drivers because of the mandatory provision. In my own mind, the whole subject is open to question."

Chrysler 'Plows' to Curb Inflation

Colbert Says Company to Invest $130 Million This Year and Next

MIAMI BEACH (INS) — Chrysler Corp. President L. L. Colbert said today his company is investing 130-million dollars this year—and probably the same amount in 1958—in plants and equipment as its contribution in the battle against inflation.

Addressing some 350 newsmen from all parts of the country attending the preview of 1958 Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler and Imperial passenger cars and Dodge Truck models in Miami Beach, Colbert said:

"One of the greatest contributions that can be made by key industries toward the slowing down of inflation is to invest in more efficient tools of production.

"This means plowing back profits. It sometimes means borrowing funds in the money market, as we at Chrysler did three years ago. It always means planning ahead to match future needs with future facilities."

However, the auto company executive warned that despite the efforts of his company and other big industry to improve products and create new ones, "the threat of continued inflation is a shadow across the face of what is potentially a very bright future."

Colbert said the fast growing population of the country and other factors point to a six to seven million annual new car market for the next few years, adding:

"And in the early 1960s it may be that a seven million car year will be considered just average."

Colbert said that his company built 1,213,000 cars during the current model year, a mark "very close to the number of cars we produced in the highly successful 1955 model year."

He attributed Chrysler's success this year mainly to "the widespread popularity of its car styling." He added:

"The most important single fact about this year's automobile market is the fact that the aerodynamic shape with the flying wedge functional tail fin has established a definite new trend in the taste of the motoring public."

Due to an acute shortage of shipping space, it is being sold in the black market, a textile firm in Karachi, Pakistan, has advised its agents in Dacca, East Pakistan.

Delights Town Coming of Show

Barry Sullivan Series of Sea Stories Begins on TV Tonight

By DICK KLEINER

ROCKPORT, Mass. — (NEA)— It's Saturday night in this seacoast resort on Cape Ann. There's not a sound, except for the lonely screech of seagulls and the lapping of the water on the rocky shore.

★ ★ ★

But drive a few miles out, to a place called Folly Cove, and suddenly you hear the happy sound of a party.

And it's a good show, judging by the script quality and the cast's past performances. And also, judging by the amount of work they put in—14 hours a day, six days a week, working on each show.

A GALA AFFAIR

You walk in and there's a piano going — John Epstein, executive producer, at the controls—and featured actor Paul Burke is banging vegetable brushes on the back of a frying pan and Barry Sullivan is shaking homemade maracas (coffee cans, half-full of rice) and bearded cameramen are singing and pretty girls are passing trays full of pizza pie and everybody is helping themselves to drinks out of paper cups at the bar.

This has become, through the summer, the big social event of the week in the Rockport area. Not only the "Harbourmaster" company, but even the local citizens take part.

The wife of an artist—Rockport is a big artists' colony—says there was some objection, initially, from diehards who prefer the status quo at all costs. Gradually this has melted away.

Now the cast and crew of the show are known by everybody in town, greeted by first name, well-liked by all.

AWAIT PREMIERE

And Rockport, which will get credit in the show, is eagerly waiting the first show, due nationally via CBS-TV tonight. Many of the townspeople have been impressed into service as extras.

Only problem is that Rockport, which gets its TV from Boston, will see the show on Saturday nights, since Boston will use a delayed filming. And, as the artist's wife pointed out, that will conflict with the parties.

The singing continued for hours. All the old-timers were sung, with feeling, by the cast and crew. More pizza. More people picked up pots and pans and anything and joined the largest rhythm section in New England.

"We didn't ask for musical ability when we assembled the company," Barry Sullivan said. "It all just happened. Everybody gets along so wonderfully and it seems like we all have the same interest in music.

"But I suspect, from now on, if we need replacements, we'll have to find out if they can sing."

Sullivan, a New Yorker, never had the urge to go to sea as a boy. But now, after skippering the Blue Chip around Rockport harbor, he likes it.

"I might get my own boat," he says. "I just might do that."

SEAGOING STUIO

The filming of the ocean parts of the show are done from either a raft, anchored about a mile off shore, or a fishing boat, the Naomi Bruce II, which is a seagoing studio.

The Atlantic, off Cape Ann, can get a little bouncy. And the crew dreads the days when they have to go out where the boats rock and roll.

Cameras start sliding, footing is treacherous on the slick deck, and even after several months of it there's usually somebody who gets sick.

Even the actors have had touches of seasickness. Once, the director said he was very grateful the show was being filmed in black-and-white.

Several Nations Oppose Debate

Cool to Dulles' Plea to U.N. Discussion of the Syrian Situation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles apparently faces opposition from several key countries to his plea that the United Nations discuss Soviet arms shipments to the Middle East.

Italy, Japan, Greece and Saudi Arabia have made it clear within the past few days they believe backstage diplomacy rather than public debate would be more effective in easing tensions.

Dulles, reportedly undisturbed by their attitude, was described as confident of enough support from other countries to put across his proposal.

Britain and the commonwealth countries along with many Latin-American nations are reported ready to back any American move to focus world attention on the dangers of Soviet propaganda and arms deliveries.

Crown Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia is reported to have made known his government's opposition to such public debate on the Middle East during his call on President Eisenhower Monday.

The Saudi Arabian Prime Minister also is known to have suggested that as a matter of tactics Dulles soften his outcries about the danger that a Soviet-armed Syria poses in the region.

Italian Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella took somewhat the same line in a meeting yesterday with Dulles at the State Department.

Japan's foreign minister, Aiichiro Fujiyama, is understood to have advised Dulles to play down the Syrian situation lest too much outcry drive the Syrians deeper into Moscow's embrace.

The Greek government also is reported to be very cool to Dulles' idea, fearing that any full-fledged U.N. debate would add to rather than diminish Middle East tensions.

Fearful Villagers Return

POSADAS, Argentina (AP) — Brazilian villagers who fled in terror to Argentina after a gunfight began crossing the border to their homes today. Squatters in Santo Antonio in the southern tip of Brazil fought a battle with a colonization company's employes. The villagers fled, fearing involvement, but Brazilian officials have promised they will not be prosecuted.

Fire-Fighting Smokey Bear May Get Mate

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Forest Service carries out its plot, the bachelor days of Smokey the bear are numbered.

Right now, officials of the service are making plans for a new home for the popular fire-fighting bruin at the Washington Zoo. And the plans, complete to an artist's sketch, include accommodations for a Mrs. Smokey.

How Smokey's legion of youthful admirers—he receives up to 2,000 letters a day—are going to react to this bit of news is something that the Forest Service isn't discussing publicly.

Nor has the service yet picked any mate for Smokey, a 7-year-old black bear of the "cinnamon phase." Officials would perfer that his prospective mate be of the same strain, possibly 4 or 5 years old.

She may even be of Canadian origin, since the Canadiens, too, have taken up Smokey as a symbol of forest fire control.

Smokey has lived in conventional caged quarters since he was brought to Washington in 1950 after being rescued, a badly burned and frightened cub, from a fire-devastated area of the Lincoln National Forest in New Mexico. It was this experience that led the Forest Service to make him the popular symbol of a drive to save the nation's forest lands from fire.

Hair Stylist Plans 'Girls Day' at New Miracle Mile Center

The Donnell Hair Stylists shop, which opens at the center today, has announced that Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays will be "Little Girl's Day" at Donnell's.

Donnell's will trim the young ladies' coiffure at half-price on those days, said the shop's owner and manager, Donnell Thomas.

The hair-stylist was trained at the Virginia Farrell school in Detroit and is a member of the Junior Virginia Farrell Hair Styling Group.

A Detroiter, Thomas operated a styling shop in Detroit for five years, prior to moving to the Miracle Mile.

City Council Assists Him Get Bike Back

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Allan R. Pike got back his lost bicycle with the aid of the city council.

The bike had been sold at a police auction. Pike proved to the council the police had improperly confiscated it from in front of his University of Michigan dormitory.
