The Life of Christ—29

Jesus Returns to Heaven After Blessing His Disciples

By BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

(Bishop Sheen, in yesterday's installment, points out that there were among Christ's most loyal followers those who could not comprehend the fact of His Resurrection. He begins at first tonight, "The body had been stolen." His Apostles thought the women "were imagining things." Following His death Christ made many appearances and finally ascends back to His Father.)

He said God's redemptive purpose was being revealed in the Prophets, and this redemption was to be effective by the death of the God Who became man. Once more there is a total absence of the fact that He was to leave a code or a set of rules. He emphasized the fact that His death made possible the preaching of repentance and the remission of sins to all nations and to all peoples.

He said that it behooved Him to suffer. This indeed was true, because when anyone preaches absolute and Divine Truth to a world that believes in pragmatism, He will be crucified. The only way that He could show the evil of sin, was by revealing what sin could do to goodness, namely, pinion Him to a tree. If sin is a debt, that debt can be paid only by someone Who gave His life in ransom.

It is very likely that He retold for them the story of God telling Abraham to sacrifice his son Isaac as a burnt offering. From the moment of that command, Isaac was a dead man, but on the third day he was released from his death sentence. He probably told them the Psalms wherein it was said of Him:

"Thou shalt not leave my soul in hell,
Nor suffer Thy Holy One to see corruption."

His death alone would have had no efficacy for the removal of human guilt, if He had not broken the bonds of the grave. Arising from the dead, He showed that the Redemption price paid on Calvary was sufficient, and that it was accepted by His Heavenly Father.

Eden Changes British Cabinet With 2 Moves

Macmillan Is Shifted to Foreign Office; Lloyd Elevated to Defense

LONDON (UP)—Britain has a slightly younger Cabinet today.

Prime Minister Eden's first government shakeup shifted Defense Minister Harold Macmillan to the Foreign Ministry and elevated Selwyn Lloyd from supply minister to the defense job.

The new appointments were announced last night after Eden's first Cabinet meeting since he took over Wednesday from Sir Winston Churchill.

They cut the average age of the 18 ministers from 58½ years to 55½ years. Eden himself is 57. The reshuffle involved nine other government posts, including one Cabinet job, two non-Cabinet ministries and six lower level appointments.

The comparatively small number of changes—generally considered about the fewest Eden could make without retaining the Foreign Ministry—increased still more the speculation that he may be planning to call a general election soon, possibly May 26.

Macmillan's appointment to the Foreign Ministry, the post Eden formerly held, had been widely predicted. Like Churchill, he is half American. His mother is the former Helen Tarterton Belles, of Spencer, Ind.

Like both Eden and Churchill he is a staunch friend of the United States and a believer in step-by-step diplomacy.

Lloyd is a genial, bustling lawyer who made his mark as one of Eden's two ministers of state at the Foreign Office. Before taking over the Supply Ministry six months ago, he was Britain's chief delegate at the United Nations. There he gained renown for his agility in debates with Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

East Germany Says Hundreds Enlisting

BERLIN (UP)—Communist East Germany said today hundreds of youths are flocking to join its army.

The government news agency ADN said 200 students at a college in Potsdam have agreed to serve two-year terms in the armed forces.

Another ADN report said 67 students volunteered in the Altenburg area.

The dispatches were part of a concentrated propaganda campaign which opened last month after France approved the Paris treaties for West German rearmament and sovereignty.

It is estimated that East Germany has slightly more than 100,000 men in the army, known as "barracks police," and 30,000 more in air and naval forces.

Pontiac Population Hits 85,000

Says City Must Spearhead Area Water Supply Drive

Pontiac, now a city of 85,000, probably will have to take the initiative in a drive to pipe a plentiful supply of water into this area, City Manager Walter K. Willman said yesterday.

"With the water table going down and industrial and home building expanding tremendously, we are being caught in a vise," Willman told a Rotary Club luncheon meeting at Hotel Waldron.

"It's going to take a lot of money, but I think the city, because of its need and interest, will have to spearhead the effort to bring in a supply of soft, potable lake water."

He said Macomb County, communities surrounding Pontiac and perhaps even Flint might join Pontiac in such a program to bring in water from Lake St. Clair or Lake Huron.

Also foreseen by the city manager was action to solve Pontiac's drainage problem.

"Everytime you build a street or a house or cover the ground in any way less water runs into the ground," he said.

"We are going to need 15-foot drains. We are going to have to ask the people of Pontiac to support this thing by some special assessment, because it's the only way to do it."

"It can cost as much as $300 a foot. The people one day will be faced with the problem and will have to solve it for us."

In the same connection, he said, the Clinton River will have to be dredged in the Auburn Heights section to provide better drainage.

On the brighter side, Willman pointed with pride to the new City Hall rapidly nearing completion at East Pike and Park Sts.

All costs to date have been paid, he said, and "we are in a position to pay all the remaining bills this year."

"It's a magnificent building and something the city can be proud of," he stated.

The next structure on the capital improvement program—a public safety building adjacent to the City Hall—will be financed by the same pay-as-you-go method, he said.

Hunt Ex-Convict in Bank Holdup

Tab Parole Violator as One of Trio Who Got $305,000 in Queens

NEW YORK (UP)—Police and the FBI were looking today for an ex-convict parole violator tentatively identified as one of a bandit trio which robbed a Queens bank of $305,000 in cash.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Thomas P. Cullen said authorities want to question Redmond (Nimby) Cribbins, 48, alias Mike Malloy, about the Wednesday morning robbery of the Chase Manhattan Bank branch in Woodside.

He said last night an unidentified bank employe had picked Cribbins' picture out of more than 200 rogues' gallery photos shown him. He said other employes thought the photo bore some resemblance to one of the bandits, but were not certain.

Cribbins was released in life parole June 28, 1948, after serving 16 years in prison for the second-degree murder of a New York butcher in a holdup in 1931. Parole officers said he has failed for the past year to make his required reports to them.

He was described as 5 feet 8 inches, about 200 pounds, and with sparse, gray hair.

Cancer Claims 'Vamp'

Actress Theda Bara Dies in California Hospital at 65

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Theda Bara, the screen's original vamp, still famous although out of pictures for more than 30 years, died of cancer last night after a lingering illness.

She had been in a coma most of the time for two weeks. Death was due to abdominal cancer for which she underwent several operations during the last 18 months.

The retired actress, 65, died at the California Lutheran Hospital. She had been there since Feb. 13.

Her passing closed one of the most extraordinary careers in an industry that is full of the extraordinary.

From a simple beginning as plain Theodosia Goodman of Cincinnati, Ohio, she combined slinky brunette beauty and extensive publicity to become world-famed as a ruthless siren who lured men, powerless to resist her, to their ruin.

Her screen name, Bara, was simply Arab spelled backward. The public was told, and it believed that she was an evil, mysterious creature who was born in the shadow of the Sphinx.

Her heyday was the period from 1915 to 1920. Everything about her exuded a mystery that men found irresistible. Women detested her for her portrayals of the seductive adventures and ministers reviled her from the pulpit.

The actress never appeared in a talking picture. Her last picture, Kathleen Mavourneen, was made in 1921 and she formally announced her retirement five years later.

In the same year her last film was made she married her wealthy director, Charles Brabin, and they lived quietly from then on in Beverly Hills.

The picture was based on Rud-

GM and UAW Recess Talks

To Resume Guaranteed Annual Wage Parley After Easter

DETROIT (INS)—Talks between General Motors and the CIO-United Auto Workers, off to a harmonious start yesterday, were in recess for the holidays with a promise that both sides will seek a peaceful settlement.

After a 4½-hour session in the General Motors Building during which GM treated the 20-man union bargaining team to coffee and rolls, Harry W. Anderson, company vice president in charge of personnel, said:

"We are approaching these negotiations with the idea of doing the very best we can to reach a settlement on all the issues and I expect the union boys are doing the same."

UAW Vice President John W. Livingston would say only that his side had reviewed demands for contract changes.

Chief accomplishment yesterday was a tentative agreement on a schedule for future talks.

Plans call for a 5½-hour session next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday and Friday, GM will turn to similar demands from a sister union, the CIO-United Electrical Workers.

Proposed Turnpike Route

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Rockwood-Saginaw Turnpike is routed to begin at a junction with Telegraph Road (U.S. 24) about 5½ miles south of Flat Rock.

It runs northeast to Rockwood, north through Allen Park and then the length of Dearborn along the River Rouge and the Ford Estate.

It would cut Detroit's Rouge Park, cross Michigan west of Southfield and cross Fenkell east of Telegraph. Just south of McNichols, the turnpike would head west across Telegraph and would cross Eight Mile a quarter mile west of Telegraph.

Then it would slash across southern Oakland County, staying just west of Telegraph through Southfield Township and running through Franklin Village and Foxcroft.

It would swing east a short distance north of Lone Pine, again crossing Telegraph, and head through the Bloomfield area, going beneath Woodward just northeast of Hickory Grove.

Beyond that it would swing east of Pontiac and then northwest towards Flint roughly paralleling U. S. 10 to Saginaw.

Engineers Say Revenue Need From Big Cities

Opposition Is Growing in Areas in Path of 113-Mile Highway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Revenue from Detroit area motorists emerged today as a prime factor in the proposed route of the Saginaw Turnpike.

Officials of the Michigan Turnpike Authority confirmed the route of the Rockwood-to-Saginaw superhighway yesterday.

They said the 164 million dollar toll road was laid out along what financial and traffic studies have determined to be "pay dirt" sections, despite opposition from communities involved. Studies showed, MTA officials said, that the route along Telegraph Road between Northwestern Highway and Woodward Avenue, violently opposed by area property owners, would serve an estimated 24,000 motorists daily. This 10 mile stretch, the authority said, is expected to yield $75 yearly in toll fees from each motorist.

A similar situation exists south of Eight Mile Road where the proposed 113-mile route would cut through the estate of the late Henry Ford in Dearborn, despite public outcry.

"We cannot swing the route further west into the country because we need the revenue from the Detroit traffic," said Henry Baker, MTA engineer.

Similarly, the road must swing east to Pontiac to make connections with the state's highly traveled free highways.

William E. Slaughter Jr., MTA chairman, said the route must pass through Dearborn and Rouge Park in suburban Detroit, for the same reasons.

Municipalities in the Detroit area have objected to the proposed route, because, they said, it will injure business, lower property values and blight residential areas.

Dearborn already has gone to court to stop the turnpike. Flint has indicated it will take legal action to have the 1953 state act establishing the authority nullified.

Sen. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) already has introduced such legislation at Lansing.

The newly formed Citizens Protective Assn. of Michigan, headed by a Bloomfield group, is prepared to take similar steps in the dispute.

"The day after the authority approves the route formally, we will go into court," said Robert Vander-Kloot, president.

Slaughter said final approval of the route for the pay-as-you-go road will come only after considerable study and meetings with affected communities.

The cost of the survey to establish the route totaled $400,000. Turnpike officials said the toll road would take about 39 months to build once construction got started. Six restaurants and gasoline stations are planned for three locations along the route, near Dearborn, Pontiac and Flint.

Officials said bonds to finance construction may be sold in October. Total issues are expected to approximate 192 million dollars to cover interest, principal and authority expenses.

No date has been set for formal approval of the route.

TWO
City Appoints
Supervisors

Five Incumbents Back on County Board for One-Year Terms

Five incumbents were returned to their seats as Pontiac representatives on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors by the City Commission last night.

Newly appointed were Charles H. Harmon, 336 W. Iroquois, and Mrs. Marie Johnson, 46 Chapman St. Harmon was recently appointed to the City Pension Board. Mrs. Johnson is active in club activities.

Re-appointed were R. C. Cummings, 255 E. Iroquois Rd.; Mrs. Lee Hill, 35 Carter St.; John K. Irwin, 313 W. Huron St.; Carl Hunter, 334 S. East Blvd.; and Willis M. Brewer, 17 Rosshire Ct.

Although the appointments are for one-year, an expected law change by the State Legislature is expected to reduce the number of Pontiac representatives from 10 to 7 within the next few months.

It is likely that the three most recent appointees will be dropped when the law goes into effect.

City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom, Finance Director Oscar Eckman and City Attorney William A. Ewart, appointed automatically, make up the rest of the 10-man Pontiac representation to the county board.

Two Pontiac Dogs
Get Hero Medals

Two Pontiac dogs became contenders for the national title, "Dog of the Year," today after receiving medals and hero citations.

"Champ," owned by Fireman Lawson T. Evans of 240 W. Ann Arbor, and "Buttons," owned by Gordon McKinney of 58 Parke St., were given the awards by Mayor William W. Donaldson. Both dogs are credited with awakening the occupants of their home Feb. 3 after fires broke out in the dwellings.

According to James Sweeney, district representative for the Ken-L-Products of Chicago, only 20 such awards were made throughout the nation last year.

"This is the first time I can recall that two awards were made in one city," he said.

Sylvan Lake Bond
Sale Has State OK

The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved sale of $225,000 worth of bonds by the city of Sylvan Lake to finance a new municipal water system, City Manager Ernest L. Ethier revealed today.

Ethier said he expects bids for the bonds to be accepted through May 18.

Sylvan Lake residents, who approved the new system last June, now get their water from private wells.

Ethier also said drilling work was continuing on a second municipal well to feed the system. One well has already been established.

Teamsters Approve
New 3-Year Contract

Teamsters of Local 614 (AFL) have approved a new three-year contract with some 50 sand and gravel hauling firms, Floyd B. Harmon, the local's business representative said today.

Highlighted by an eight-cent pay increase for each of the three years, the contract will be retroactive to April 1, when the old pact expired.

Besides the pay boosts, the contract calls for a pension plan and increases in health, welfare and other fringe benefits, Harmon said.

Local 614 represents about 2,000 workers in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties. Ratification of the contract was made at a membership meeting Wednesday night, Harmon said.

Minor Changes

The official canvass of Monday's vote on the three city propositions showed the unofficial tally compiled by the Pontiac Press in cooperation with precinct workers was no more than 14 votes off.

The 14-vote discrepancy was in the tally of votes against the anti-fluoridation ordinance. The official count, as verified by the City Commission last night, was 4,297. The unofficial total was 4,311.

Official total of the for-the-ordinance vote was 5,770, the unofficial 5,775.

The unofficial "against" votes on the two charter amendments were identical with the official results: 2,938 on redistricting and 2,811 on the revised pension plan.

Unofficial "for" votes for redistricting were 6,133, official, 6,132. Unofficial pension-favoring votes totaled 6,633, official, 6,638.

A total of 10,383 persons cast votes in the election, City Clerk Ada R. Evans said. Unofficial total was 10,398.

Lesses His Disciples and Goes to Heaven

ness. Those who have had great privileges and who have apparently rejected them, are not to be considered beyond the hope of forgiveness. The conversion of the world starts at home, but it only starts there. Then the Saviour said:

"And behold, I am sending down upon you
The Gift which was promised
by My Father;
You must wait in the city until you are Clothed with power from on high."

They were to tarry in Jerusalem until He would send His Spirit. If He had remained on earth they could have heard His voice, touched His hand, seen His radiant face, but if He left and ascended to His Father and sent His Spirit, then He would be a veritable life to be lived. This Spirit, He said, would recall to their minds all things whatsoever He had told them.

The Spirit would not be a code of morality written either on tablets of their minds or on tablets of stone, but would enter into their will and motivate their actions; penetrate the intellect to see truths beyond the power of reason, encourage them to love the things that He loved, and inspire them to enter into His glory, by dying to the evil of the world.

The Spirit would not be long in coming—only ten days hence. They were to keep their eyes in expectation upon the horizon and their hand upon the door; God in His own pleasure would endow them from a power on high. This power would not only awaken the soul of man from the deadly sleep of sin, but it would also be the comfort of the soul and above all, the source of their sanctification.

After giving them the promise of the Spirit, Our Blessed Lord led His disciples out as far as Bethany and lifted up His hands and blessed them.

"And even as He blessed them He parted them from them,
And was carried up into heaven."

He had promised His disciples that they would follow Him and be with Him, and that He would go to Heaven to prepare a place for them. Great is the contrast between the unimaginable grandeur of the Ascension, and the sober words with which the record is set down. The night of the Last Supper He told His Apostles that He was soon to enter into the glory with His Father that He had before the foundations of the world were laid.

He also told Pilate that He would see the Son of Man coming on the right hand of His power to judge the living and the dead. Now, He becomes the forerunner of Humanity in heaven, for no human foot could ever set itself in any one of the Father's mansions unless He Himself had prepared the way.

The Apostles must have noticed as He blessed them upon leaving, the great scars of Redemption on His hands. Peter in particular must have recalled that they were the same hands that saved Him from the Galilean waves; Thomas must have lamented that it was the hand that He was bidden to touch to be cured of His doubt; all of the Apostles must have remembered that He showed to them those same sacred hands to remind them that this was the mission for which He came to earth. But now that they were believing, the marks at this time were less the memories of a Crucifixion, than the record of a love of One Who lay down His life for His sheep.

Pilgrims Pray
Where Christ
Was Betrayed

JERUSALEM (U)—The ancient olive trees which have come to symbolize immortality in the Holy Land formed the background for a quiet service by 14,000 pilgrims at the foot of the Mount of Olives last night.

The group gathered in the Church of All Nations, in the Garden of Gethsemane, for an hour of silence in memory of Christ's agony in the garden on the night of his betrayal.

The church altar supposedly is formed from the rock on which Christ knelt and on which sweat and drops of blood fell as he prayed, "Not my will but Thine be done."

In the garden beside the church stand eight massive twisted olive trees. Some botanists estimate they were a thousand years old the night Christ prayed in the grove. The trees are carefully tended by brown-robed, skull-capped Franciscan monks and friars who spend their lives working and praying in the cloister attached to the church.

Seek Revised
Election Code

Senate Delays Action
to Allow Broomfield
to Submit Measure

The State Senate yesterday delayed action on a revised Michigan election code to allow Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) time to submit a measure making it mandatory for precincts to post results before closing on election day.

"Newspapers can work all night trying to round up results, then find some precincts have closed before totaling their votes," said Broomfield.

"The sluggish rate of returns from some precincts this year should make the Senate realize the need for tacking this on the election code as an amendment."

(One outstate precinct had still not reported its complete tally today, four days after the election.)

"This election was very close," the Oakland County Republican said. "There was a great deal of interest and I think the people have the right to know the results the following day."

He said the amendment was prepared by State Elections Director Robert Montgomery and is backed by other state officials.

Another Broomfield proposal would require precinct election inspectors to start canvassing votes immediately after the polls closed. Such canvasses would be public and doors to polling places would remain open during their duration.

The altered election code is designed to speed returns from smaller precincts and require county clerks to keep offices open election days.

It would restrict paper ballot precincts to 1,000 registered voters. Machine precincts would have a 600 maximum.

Fire Hits Residence
of Birmingham Man

BIRMINGHAM—Fire did damage of approximately $3,000 to the building and $3,000 to contents, firemen believe, at the home of Arthur Green, 1469 Holland, yesterday.

The blaze was discovered by neighbors who turned in the alarm. Both Green and his wife were working.

The fire was believed to have started in the area of a defective television set, and spread through the house. It broke several windows before being discovered by the neighbors.

Errors in Canvass

Having completed its review of four of the city's six voting districts, the Oakland County Board of Canvassers today reported only routine errors have been uncovered.

No significant errors, such as have been found in canvasses of other areas in the state, have been discovered, according to Mrs. Sarah Garrett, of Commerce Township, board chairman.

Also serving on the board, which will complete the canvass next week, are Mrs. Minnie Sherwood, of Pontiac, and Carlos G. Richardson, of Waterford Township.

Seek Revised
Election Code

Senate Delays Action
to Allow Broomfield
to Submit Measure

The State Senate yesterday delayed action on a revised Michigan election code to allow Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) time to submit a measure making it mandatory for precincts to post results before closing on election day.

"Newspapers can work all night trying to round up results, then find some precincts have closed before totaling their votes," said Broomfield.

"The sluggish rate of returns from some precincts this year should make the Senate realize the need for tacking this on the election code as an amendment."

(One outstate precinct had still not reported its complete tally today, four days after the election.)

"This election was very close," the Oakland County Republican said. "There was a great deal of interest and I think the people have the right to know the results the following day."

He said the amendment was prepared by State Elections Director Robert Montgomery and is backed by other state officials.

Another Broomfield proposal would require precinct election inspectors to start canvassing votes immediately after the polls closed. Such canvasses would be public and doors to polling places would remain open during their duration.

The altered election code is designed to speed returns from smaller precincts and require county clerks to keep offices open election days.

It would restrict paper ballot precincts to 1,000 registered voters. Machine precincts would have a 600 maximum.

Fire Hits Residence
of Birmingham Man

BIRMINGHAM—Fire did damage of approximately $3,000 to the building and $3,000 to contents, firemen believe, at the home of Arthur Green, 1469 Holland, yesterday.

The blaze was discovered by neighbors who turned in the alarm. Both Green and his wife were working.

The fire was believed to have started in the area of a defective television set, and spread through the house. It broke several windows before being discovered by the neighbors.

Find Only Routine
Errors in Canvass

Having completed its review of four of the city's six voting districts, the Oakland County Board of Canvassers today reported only routine errors have been uncovered.

No significant errors, such as have been found in canvasses of other areas in the state, have been discovered, according to Mrs. Sarah Garrett, of Commerce Township, board chairman.

Also serving on the board, which will complete the canvass next week, are Mrs. Minnie Sherwood, of Pontiac, and Carlos G. Richardson, of Waterford Township.

Red Party Boss Raps Farmers

Khrushchev Slaps at Failure to Use Initiative to Boost Crop Output

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev wound up a top-level agricultural conference last night by chiding Soviet farmers for failing to show initiative in boosting their crop output. The session, closing a three-day farm managers' parley in the Kremlin, was part of the mammoth Soviet campaign to boost lagging food production and especially the output of grain and live stock.

Khrushchev has been attending a number of such meetings throughout the Soviet Union, but the Kremlin conference took on particular importance in view of attendance by Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Minister of Electric Power Stations Georgi Malenkov and other top Soviet officials. The meeting was held for agricultural leaders of the Russian Republic, largest of the 16 Soviet republics.

Khrushchev said too many collective farm managers were relying on Moscow to do their thinking and warned that they had better learn quickly to use their own judgment.

Under the new setup, he said, farmers had a chance to sow what crops they thought best for their own region. But, he said, too many had failed to meet the challenge and were content to follow blanket directives.

Moelich, who has been in service in the Coast Guard, Navy and Air Corps, enlisted in the Marine Corps yesterday. His first service was in the Coast Guard from 1942 to 1946. Three months later he joined the Navy, leaving in February 1948 as an air corpsman. He enlisted in the Air Force in June 1948 and was discharged a technical sergeant a year ago.

Moelich said he thinks he always wanted to be a Marine, but it takes a long time to decide what you want.

Whip Up Paints, Use Starch, Soap

Did you know that you can whip up the most beautiful "paints" out of laundry starch, food coloring, and soap flakes?

Pre-school agers, who dote on finger painting, will love these homemade paints. And you can relax in the knowledge that all splashes can easily be washed up afterward!

Just mix laundry starch with water, to the right consistency for starching clothes. Then separate the mixture into as many parts as you want different color paints.

Add a different food coloring to every batch and thicken the mixtures by stirring in some soap flakes. The soap makes it all nice and slippery, and more fun to work with.

Little fingers will be fascinated to dabble around with such grand stuff. This kind of paint can't hurt washable fabrics or surfaces—including junior!

Romeo Readies New Facilities

Expansion Program Has Students Moving Into Classrooms

ROMEO—Classrooms continued to be completed as the expansion program in the Romeo Community Schools district approaches its final stage.

A section of the fifth grade and one of the sixth grade are now in the processing of transferring into two new classrooms completed this week in the new addition to the South Elementary School.

School Superintendent T. C. Flippula announced today that as more rooms are finished, the seventh and eighth grade classes will be moved from the Maple School into the new addition.

Also in the process of completion is the new vocational-agricultural building, adjacent to the high school. The painters are expected to begin work there next Monday.

All of the four rooms added to the new Washington School, are now occupied, and upon completion of the Romeo buildings, 18 new classrooms will have been added to the district's facilities, including the two to be located in the vocational-agricultural building.

The $450,000 bond issue to cover this expansion program was approved by the voters April 3, 1954.

In addition to hearing the report on the building program at a special meeting last night, the board of education voted to request the Macomb County Tax Allocation Board for 10 mills from the 15 mill limitation for the school budget.

Mrs. Marion Engel, first grade teacher in Romeo, was granted a year's leave of absence. The board also approved the request of Miss Helen Starkweather, high school art instructor, that she be allowed to attend the National Art Convention in Cleveland next week.

Michigan Girl's Chickens Lay Easter-Colored Eggs

GRAND RAPIDS — Judy Johnson, an eight-year-old Grand Rapids poultry hobbyist, has a ready-made supply of Easter-colored eggs.

Her flock of rare Araucana chickens lays eggs in pastel shades of blue, pink and green. The chickens are a special strain bred from a South American origin.

Judy's birds, 13 of them, are seven-eighths Araucana, sprinkled with Ancona, Barred Rock, Leghorns and Brahms. She reports that the hens are specialists. Each produces a single color in the eggs.

Judy's father is C. E. Johnson, farm editor of the Grand Rapids Press. He says feeding has no effect on the shell colors of the eggs. Poultry scientists report the shell color is decided by the chemistry of the hen, he added.

The color is continuous throughout the shell material, rather than merely a surface tint.

Judy reports the naturally colored eggs taste the same as ordinary white or brown eggs found on the normal market.

This service is free. Mrs. Jackson points out that it is not necessary to fill a complete table. Hostesses will greet each guest at the door and place them at tables if desired.

April 14 Talks Set for School

Commission Is Slated to Answer Questions Before April 19 Vote

KEEGO HARBOR — Final questions on the new city charter and incorporation will be taken up at next Thursday's meeting at Roosevelt School, to clear the air before the April 19 balloting.

Charter Commission Chairman Charles Leat will conduct the public meeting, scheduled for 8 p. m. at the school.

Members of the charter commission will be present to answer questions on the charter or the new city, and hope to clear up all indecision and misunderstanding before residents step behind the voting curtain to cast their ballots.

The polls will be open April 19 for residents to vote on the proposed charter for the city of Keego Harbor. At the same time, voters will select a five member city council, a justice of the peace, and a constable.

If the charter is not approved, the candidates will not be considered elected.

Residents of the area voted in favor of incorporating as a city Dec. 14, 1954, splitting away from West Bloomfield Township.

Since that date, a nine member charter commission has prepared the charter for approval of voters. Approval of the document, and naming seven city officials will complete the incorporation process.

Nine residents have filed nominating petitions for the five council posts. They are George Harris, Benjamin E. Covey, Joseph Nichols, Wilma Webb, Chester Wolfe, Samuel Whitmore, Russell Greig, John Loveland and John Selman.

Arnold W. Soper and James Southard are seeking the position of justice of the peace, and Glen Munger and Glen E. Smith are both running for the single constable post.

John D. Wilson and Winship Braidwood polled 117 and 89 respectively, taking the two trustee posts from Norman Schneider, 72, and Kenneth Fick, 83.

D. H. Hobson, with 146, and Chester Hobson, with 120, received the justice of the peace jobs, over A. Heussner, 41, and John McCready, 71.

Lee Brown won the justice of the peace vacancy term with 116 ballots, over Grant Travis with 69, and John Sharp had 105 votes to win a similar post from Albert Hyslop, with 78. Ernest McCready was unopposed for board of review, and received 149 votes.

Develop Grain Protectant to Preserve Wheat Crops

Michigan wheat fields, which earned farmers an estimated $62,000,000 last year as the state's third-ranking money-earning crop, may benefit from research recently completed at Kansas State College.

Donald A. Wilbur, professor of entomology at Kansas State, said today a liquid grain protectant has been developed there that will arm the wheat farmer against grain infestation.

The wet spray was developed after five years' research, Wilbur said, and may supply a remedy to the problem of grain infestation at the individual farm level.

He said the spray is particularly effective against various types of beetles that annually infest the nation's wheat fields.

The protectant was sprayed on grain in storage, Wilbur said, and left only a small deposit of a toxicant used in many food processing plants.

"Grain that is treated as directed is perfectly safe for human and livestock consumption and its germination is in no way affected," Wilbur said.

He said the best results were reported when the spray was applied at a ratio of two gallons to each thousand bushels, a cost of about two-and-a-half cents per bushel.

Brandon Hikes Pay of Officials

Increases Approved for Supervisor, Clerk for Next Year

ORTONVILLE — An increase in salaries for local officials was approved at the annual Brandon Township meeting.

The supervisor's pay was increased from $1,500 annually to $2,000. Next year the clerk will receive $750, a $250 boost over the current rate of pay.

The treasurer's post was set at a flat $1,200, and the board of review will receive $15 per day of service.

Township residents present favored a $1,500 appropriation to the Ortonville Public Library, and $300 for the Ortonville Cemetery.

Another $150 was voted for the Mt. Pleasant Cemetery at Oakwood.

Orion Valley will direct the group of 119 young people who come from 46 schools within a 150 mile radius of Ann Arbor, and one student from Traverse City.

Purpose of the Michigan Youth Symphony is to provide talented teenagers with the opportunity of playing great symphonic music, according to Phil Haddrell, musical director at Milford High School.

Rehearsals are held throughout the school year on alternate Saturdays, and membership is open to students from 12 to 22 years of age who pass the auditions and are properly recommended.

The University of Michigan Extension Service sponsors the project every year. Two from Milford were represented at last year's concert.

Train-Stopping Performance Ends in Court

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. — Alvin Hernon lay down on a Long Island Rail Road track yesterday and stayed put until a frantic motorist halted his electric train just 20 feet away.

Hernon rose, dusted himself off and said to an unidentified friend, "Okay, there's the train." The friend hopped aboard.

In 1st District Court at nearby Mineola, Judge Samuel Greason asked the 25-year-old Hernon, a laboratory technician:

"What were you trying to do, commit suicide?"

"No, sir," replied Hernon. "I was trying to stop this train for my friend."

Hernon said he and his friend had stopped at a few taverns before he pulled a body block on the Manhattan-bound train.

The judge, advising him to "take the pledge," suspended sentence on a disorderly conduct charge.

FEATURED AT EXHIBIT — Mrs. William Tiberg of 144 Ogemaw waters a few of the 70-odd varieties of African Violets she is growing in her home. The local woman was featured yesterday with her plants in an exhibition sponsored by the county extension service at West Bloomfield Town Hall.

Exhibits African Violets

Visitors to an open house and exhibition yesterday in West Bloomfield Town Hall, sponsored by Oakland County Extension Service, saw a display of African violets that led many of them to ask the exhibitor about growing the attractive indoor flowers.

Kept busy during the afternoon answering questions about her hobby was Mrs. William Tiberg of 144 Ogemaw, who ranks as something of an amateur expert in growing these imported plants.

Since she became interested in African violets about a year ago, Mrs. Tiberg says she has learned a lot "that you can only get from experience."

The delicate, tropical plants must be grown in special earth, given just the right amount of water, and have the proper amount and kind of light.

"Growing them isn't exactly hard," Mrs. Tiberg comments, "it's just tricky." She pointed out, for instance, that in her home they grow best under fluorescent lighting.

New Hybrid Corn Resists Bird Damage

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Ohio Experiment Station reports development of a new hybrid corn which shows promise of reducing bird damage.

The variety has a long, durable husk that covers the ear completely and does not open up easily. Thus the birds can't get at the kernels very readily.

Experiments carried out on test plots in 1954 showed that the new variety had yields 12 per cent higher than corn subject to damage by birds.

African violets usually are started from leaves, which sprout roots when placed in water. Mrs. Tiberg has also started plants from seeds, but says this is more difficult.

She has some 71 different varieties in her home, many of which

Cranbrook Set for Daffodil Time

10,000 Yellow Blooms Expected by Mid-April in Hillside Gardens

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — If the sun shines and the ground defrosts, ten thousand yellow daffodils are expected to pop into bloom by mid-April in the gardens of Cranbrook House.

So that visitors may see this golden acre, the gardens will open to the public April 16 instead of May 1 as in previous years.

The daffodils were planted two years ago in memory of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth, founders of the six Cranbrook Institutions.

They are located on a sloping hillside which is part of the 40-acre gardens and park area surrounding Cranbrook House where the Booths lived until their deaths a few years ago.

April and May visitors to the Gardens will see early spring blooms including flowering cherries and crab, forsythia, iris and tree peony.

In addition to the flowers the gardens are decorated with replicas of French, Italian and Chinese sculptures and fountains, as well as carvings found at Pompeii and art works commissioned expressly for the grounds.

As in the past the gardens will be operated by alumni of Kingswood and Cranbrook Schools. Open hours are Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m. Garden clubs and other organizations may make advance arrangements for special weekday tours.

A fee of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children is earmarked to help deserving students gain scholarship aid.

Supports Climbing Vine

With string or wire, small staples and a can of plastic wood, it is easy to provide support for a climbing rose or vine that you want to train along a brick, stone or stucco wall.

Mark out the path you want the rose or vine to follow, by pressing rounded knobs of the plastic wood on the wall at intervals of one or two feet. The plastic wood will adhere firmly to the wall. When it has hardened, drive a staple into each knob and run the guide wire or string through the staples.

bloom all year round. In her experiments, she has tried countless types of plant foods, methods of starting and other variations in violet culture.

Mrs. Tiberg is a member of the African Violet Society of America, and hopes to start a chapter of that national organization in Pontiac if she can get enough people interested in a local club.

Besides raising African violets, Mrs. Tiberg also manages her home and sees to the needs of a son and daughter, both students at Webster School.

Proper Surgery Can Save Trees Considered Lost

Many a fine old tree whose heart is being eaten out by decay, or with considerable dead or broken branches, can be given a new lease on life by intelligent surgery.

Tree cavities gradually increase in size until through lack of nourishment the tree starves, weakens, and eventually dies. Dead or broken branches should be removed as soon as observed.

Trees are an essential part of any home, and a house is not a home until the grounds about it are planted.

Trees should be given attention at all times. A tree needs sunshine, water, food, regular spraying for the control of diseases and insects and periodic pruning to keep it within bounds, or to remove dead and damaged wood.

Nature supplies the sunlight and most of the water—we must supply the remaining care. The home gardener can care for the smaller trees but the care of the larger trees should be left to a qualified arborist.

Make Garden Irrigator

An efficient garden irrigator can be made out of an old, leaky hose that you may be planning to consign to the dump heap. Plug the free end. With an ice pick or awl, punch holes at six to eight-inch intervals all along the section of the hose that will lie in the garden when it is stretched out. Keep water pressure low.

Small Gardener Feels the Itch to Dig In

By JOE HAAS

Usually one of the first to feel the green thumb urge in the spring is the man who gardens only in a small way. He is strictly a home gardener.

Once more he has been fascinated by the colored pictures in the seed catalogs. His last year's experience may have proven to him that pretty pictures can lie, but again he is willing to be intrigued by them.

He likes the smell of the outdoors, the aroma of freshly stirred earth and the budding trees and plants, and even sing with the birds.

He reflects on last year's queer feeling in his hands after the moist dirt dries on them, and may even wince a little when memories of the backaches haunt him.

He recalls how the weeds grew faster than his vegetables, an dhow the bugs that feasted on them neve would recognize an armistice—nor the flies and mosquitoes that feasted on him.

But those vegetables were worth it all when they reached the table. Nothing like them ever came off the market. So the small gardener again is sharpening his tools.

We've all heard the old gag that no man should plant a garden larger than his wife can weed, also the one about keeping the seed envelopes to put his crop in them.

We know several people who raise plenty of vegetables on a fraction of a city lot. A little advance planning always intensifies the production. Artificial fertilization and use of the sprinkler also help a lot, both in early yield and size of the product.

If you plan a garden, you should now be getting the ground in shape for radishes, lettuce, peas, beets, onions, beans, carrots and some greens. Tomatoes and cabbage plants can come a little later. You'll probably get them from a grower.

It soon will be time to plant that green corn, and it is a good plan to watch and cover up nights if it comes above ground before the last spring frosts. It also is advisable to get a few hills of early potatoes under way if you have space.

The vine vegetables, such as squash, melons and pumpkins, can be mixed in later among other garden truck, where the have plenty of room to crawl around and produce. Watch out for mixed pollination.

Any family who starts raising its own vegetables will invariably keep it up in future years.

MUCC Meet Hears Views About Deer Herd Control

Representatives of some 20 sportsmen's clubs from Oakland, Genesee, and Livingston counties, all affiliates of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, met this week at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, Waterford.

District Field Representative, Aubrey Hutchinson, conducted the meeting, which covered many items of interest for hunter and fishermen.

The controversial deer management problem aroused top interest, with both pro and con arguments. A final tally of voting clubs indicated the Genesee County Sportsmen's Club, and the Michigan Grouse and Field Trial Clubs were definitely against continuance of discretionary power in the hands of the Conservation Commission.

This being the final district meeting prior to the annual June convention in Escanaba, election of board members was held.

Results were: Howard Shelley, Oakland County Sportsmen's Club (3 years); Kenneth Workman, Royal Oak Rod & Gun Club (2 years); Warren Neuschwander, Multi-Lakes Conservation Club (1 year), and John Strzynski, Genesee County Sportsmen's Club (1 year). Executive officers will be chosen at the annual convention in June.

Erskine, Lemon, Roberts Only 3 to Go Route

Sullivan, Trucks Fail to Last; Zauchin Hits Another Homer

By The Associated Press

Only three of the 16 pitchers who probably will be on the mound in next week's major league openers have gone a full nine innings in this spring's exhibition games—and only one of the three came off with a victory.

Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Philadelphia's Robin Roberts are the only National League openers to go all the way. In the American League, Cleveland's Bob Lemon is all by himself, although New York's Whitey Ford entered the ninth but left with nobody out in a losing decision.

Erskine alone won, shutting out Washington 6-0 with difficulty Wednesday.

Roberts went nine Sunday, but lost to Boston 4-2. Lemon missed against the New York Giants 5-1 Tuesday.

Here's what the probable opening day pitchers who saw action yesterday did:

American League
 Boston — Frank Sullivan went eight innings, allowing one hit in the first four frames, but missed the decision as Philadelphia won in the 10th 4-3.

Chicago — Virgil Trucks (19-12) went seven innings against St. Louis, left with a 6-5 lead after a four-run fourth in which the Cardinals' Bill Virdon hit a three-run homer. Sox won in ninth 7-6.

Kansas City — Alex Kellner (6-17) went seven innings, gave up nine hits in 5-2 defeat by Norfolk of Class B Piedmont League.

National League
 Cincinnati — Art Fowler (12-10) worked last five innings but missed decision in 9-1 victory over Lynchburg, Class B Piedmont League.

Philadelphia — Robin Roberts (23-15) pitched seven innings, gave up six hits and left trailing 2-1 on Norm Zauchin's two-run homer as Phils beat Boston in 10th r.e.

St. Louis — Brooks Lawrence gave up three runs in fifth before leaving with 4-3 lead over White Sox in game won by Chicago 7-6. In other games yesterday, Baltimore beat Pittsburgh 2-1 and the Giants beat Cleveland 6-5 to end their exhibition series with nine victories apiece.

Congress Nines End Training for Charity Tilt

Tie, 8-8, Winds Up Daytona Beach Drills for Lawmakers

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Congressional baseball teams wound up "spring training" last night by battling to an 8-8 tie. The game was called after five innings "because of fatigue."

Rep. Glenn Davis of Wisconsin pitched the route for the Republicans and contributed a double to his own care.

Rep. Torbert MacDonald of Massachusetts held the Democratic mound for four innings, was bounced for Lud Ashley of Ohio, then was rushed back in by manager Syd Herlong of Florida when Ashley filled the bases on walks.

Each team used just about all of its 18 players. Substitutions were fast and furious; at times it was anybody's guess who was hitting especially when substitutes were sent in for substitutes.

The exhibition series is still tied, the Democrats and Republicans having split the two previous contests. The Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce brings the congressmen here to "train" for their annual game for charity in Washington in July.

Rhonda Fleming Surprise Star

First TV Role Proves Her Dramatic Ability in 'Stage Door' Lead

By ATRA BAEZ

NEW YORK (INS) — Biggest surprise to come out of "Stage Door," (Best of Broadway, TV) Rhonda Fleming. An actress. Known in Hollywood for her bathing suitability, Miss Fleming tackled the role of a Hollywood actress known for the same essentials . . . and the only scene she didn't steal she wasn't in.

This was Rhonda's first brush with live TV and is undoubtedly the first of a long series.

Gore Vidal did the TV adaptation of the Edna Ferber-George Kaufmann hit that opened on Broadway in 1936, starring Margaret Sullivan, and was later made into a movie with Katherine Hepburn.

"Stage Door" is the story of a group of struggling actresses living in a Broadway theatrical club, reminiscent of Manhattan's Rehearsal Club.

Limited time necessitated cutting the characters down to digest-size, thereby losing a good deal of the original impact of the play. But what was done was done well.

The "bit" parts show . . . outstanding, Nita Talbot, as a wise-cracking member of the star-struck menage, and Peggy Ann Garner, frighteningly effective in the role of an actress who would rather die than fail.

Diana Lynn did her best with the Sullivan role which always seemed to us to be over-noble and too dedicated-to-art to be plausible.

Elsa Lancaster as the boarding house landlady was Elsa Lancaster, and Victor Moore seen briefly as a producer, almost broke up the cast by saying a word he shouldn't have said. Nonetheless the show went on.

The production was also seen in color. Philip Dunne's "Broadway" a smash during the prohibition era, will be seen in next week's Best of Broadway and Dunne will do his own adaptation.

MONKEY SEE—J. Fred Muggs and Phoebe of television's "Today" must have been frequenting movie balconies lately. From the looks of things they picked up an idea or two from last row romancers.

AEC Cheered by Four Offers

Receives Proposals to Build Atomic Electric Power Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has announced with gratification that it has received four proposals to build electric power plants that would be run by atomic energy.

The plants would have a combined generating capacity of 453,000 kilowatts. They would be built in Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan and Nebraska. They would cost about 150 million dollars in all, with the proposers bearing 80 to 90 per cent of the cost.

The AEC would share some of the expense, under what it calls its Power Demonstration Reactor Program. It has a fund of 75 million dollars "for general acceleration of the civilian power program."

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said in a statement: "We established this program last January in the hope that it would encourage wider participation in the development of nuclear power technology."

"Our aim was to advance the time when nuclear power will become economically competitive. The response we have received is most gratifying. The fact that four proposals have been made is, in itself, notable."

"But the significant point is the extent to which the proposers are prepared to risk their own capital. This willingness to assume risks is evidence of the vigor of competitive enterprise. It is also another indication of this nation's faith in the peaceful future of the atom."

The general areas of the proposed plants, their capacity and estimated dates of completion, are: Chicago, 180,000 kw, 1960; western Massachusetts, 100,000 kw, late 1957; Detroit, 100,000 kw, late 1958; and Nebraska, 75,000 kw, 1959. Three are to be built by private power groups and the Nebraska one by a public power district.

There is already under way, at Shippingport, Pa., an 84 million dollar nuclear power plant which is a joint project of the AEC and the Duquesne Light Co. It may be making electricity sometime in 1957.

Also, Consolidated Edison will build an atomic power plant, using only private funds, 40 miles up the Hudson River for New York City. It is planned for operation by 1959.

2 Building Groups Win Wage Boosts

DETROIT (AP)—Two large groups in the Detroit Building and Trades Council (AFL) won substantial wage increases in contracts signed yesterday.

The contracts were not due to expire until May 1. Union officials said it was the earliest settlement in 18 years.

Benefited by the agreements were 10,000 construction laborers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties and 2,500 sheet metal workers in Detroit.

The laborers won a 5-cent pay increase, boosting their hourly wage to $2.40. They also won a 5-cent vacation benefit and 5-cent holiday package next year.

The sheet metal workers were given a 12½-cent hourly wage boost. Their wage now is $3.52 an hour, including insurance, vacation and pension benefits.

Other building tradesmen were not affected by the settlements.

There are about 54½ million children under 18 in the United States, an increase of 13 million since World War II.
