Area Man Wins in Sweepstakes

What would you do with $140,000?
"Buy a sailboat," says Mrs. James Campion. "Pay off the mortgage," says her husband.

Jail Sentence Policy Altered

'Inadequate Facilities' Cited by City Judge

Citing alleged "inadequate facilities" at the Oakland County Jail, Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum today announced he will no longer sentence certain offenders to terms at the jail.

McCallum also revealed he had amended the jail sentences of ten men to periods of probation because of conditions at the jail.

"I don't want to send anybody in there if they're going to be abused and as it stands I have no way of knowing if they will be," he said.

The suspended sentences included one for soliciting, one for unlawfully driving away an automobile, two for petty larceny, one for driving under the influence of liquor, and five others.

The judge's action follows by one week conclusion of preliminary examination in Municipal Court of a 35-year-old inmate on charges of sodomy.

Salary Budget for County Is OK'd by Unit

Requested Increase $1.3 Million Over Last Year's Figure

A tentative 1967 salaries budget of $8,907,282 for Oakland County employees, calling for an increase of 92 employees and a cost hike of $1,374,000, was approved today by the salaries committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The salaries committee also approved a revised vacation schedule, increasing vacation time for employees with five years or more of service.

County department heads had requested a total of 151 new employees, but this was trimmed to 92 on the recommendation of the County Board of Auditors.

Cost of the new positions is estimated at $528,117. A $600,000 expenditure was included in the tentative budget for salary increases to present employees.

Also included was $125,500 for the county's share of hospitalization insurance premiums for employees.

A year ago at this time 88 new positions were specified in the tentative budget prepared by the salaries committee.

This number, however, was trimmed to only 15 by the ways and means committee before the final 1966 budget was approved last fall.

To meet anticipated 1967 expenditures the county will require an allocation of $98 million to meet minimum requirements when the county allocation board splits the 15 mills in May. The county's present allocation is 5.30 mills.

The proposed salaries budget allows 15 new health department employees of 43 requested. It specifies nine additional employees for the Sheriff's Department and six for the prosecutor's office. These departmental requests were 12 and nine respectively.

VACATION DAYS

Committee members suggested 12½ vacation days for employees with five to 10 years service. Presently employees receive two weeks vacation until they have 10 years service.

Employees with from 10 to 15 years would get three weeks vacation, those with 15 to 20 years 17½ days, and those with 20 years, 20 days.

DeLorean Chairman of Scout Fund Drive

The Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, has named John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, general chairman of its $550,000 Lost Lake Reservation Development Fund drive.

Arthur J. Brooks, president of the council, made the announcement today. In accepting the top post in the campaign, DeLorean pointed out that support must come from "everyone who is interested in the future of our community."

For the first time in the 57-year history of the Clinton Valley Council, the public is being asked to support a major fund drive.

The $550,000 goal is to purchase and develop 2,294 acres of land 15 miles west of Clare.

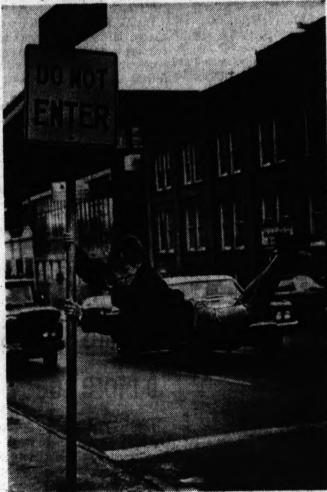

"Scouting prepares the boy of today for the responsibilities he must accept as a man," said DeLorean.

"Wholehearted community efforts throughout this area will enable our scout leaders to be ready to give every boy who is now a Scout, and those who wish to join, the chance to belong to the gang which believes in 'juvenile decency' rather than 'juvenile delinquency,'" DeLorean concluded.

April Vote Due on College Unit

Osteopathic Bill Faces Delay

LANSING (AP) — Supporters of a bill to establish a state osteopathic college authority learned today they'll have to wait until April before the measure is passed by the House State Affairs Committee.

The bill failed by one vote yesterday to clear the committee, and — although backers claim to have that vote lined up — acting committee Chairman Vincent Pettipiece says they'll have to wait until after the April 1 deadline for reporting out bills in the house of origin.

The measure, which would establish a 10-member authority to construct, operate and maintain an osteopathic college, was passed by the Senate last year.

It was held up in the House committee to allow time for study.

Despite objections that the bill would commit the state to appropriate as yet undetermined amounts of money in future years, and that it left many questions unanswered, the bill received six committee votes.

7 VOTES NEEDED

Three committee members voted against it, two abstained and two were absent—including

Chairman John Fitzpatrick, D-Detroit. It needs seven votes to get out of the 13-member committee.

Opposing the bill were Reps. Thomas White, D-Detroit; Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, and Thomas Sharpe, R-Howell.

White said he was concerned as to whether the legislature would be approving "a quality school, and quality schools cost money, or one that is under-financed."

Osteopaths have pledged $8 million toward its construction and say they could get federal funds if the school is backed by the state.

Poll of Doctors Boosts Hopes

Prospects for eventual state support of Pontiac's projected osteopathic college appear as fresh as recent spring breezes.

An air of doubt this winter clouded hopes of state support, but results of a statewide poll of medical doctors and osteopaths indicate possible favorable action on pending legislation.

The statewide poll would appear to preclude any immediate chance of a merger of the two professions.

Amalgamation was the key question raised by the House State Affairs Committee in considering a bill to create a 10-member osteopathic college authority.

'Seeing Saucers Just Sign of Spring'

By BOB CONSIDINE
CHICAGO — Didn't have to be told that spring is here. The flying saucers have appeared. In today's age they are as much a harbinger of the vernal equinox as the crocus and shafts of new love.

The latest visitor from outer space "landed in a swamp" near Ann Arbor Sunday night and successfully eluded the efforts of at least 40 persons, including a dozen police, to get to know it better.

It appears that it was conveyed to earth by four sister UFOs (Unidentified Flying Objects) which skeddaddled back to the cosmos once it had settled down on what one witness declared was a "bed of fog."

A farmer and his son told police they approached, to within 500 feet of the object (they happened to have a very long tape measure with them), observed its blinking lights, noted it was "pitted like coral rock," about the length of a car and shaped like a football.

"Look at that horrible thing!" the son said rudely. Whereupon the visitor from outer space promptly disappeared.

Storm Closes Schools; Cars Abandoned

Blizzard Blamed for 28 Deaths in Plains, North Central States

By the Associated Press
Winter roared back into the western Upper Peninsula yesterday, piling up four-foot snowdrifts and closing schools.

The storm, part of the blizzard that whipped through the upper Midwest the past two days, deposited 11 inches of snow at Houghton and closed schools and businesses in Marquette, Alger, Baraga and Iron counties.

Drifts 5 feet deep blocked streets in Ishpeming on the Keweenaw Peninsula. Scores of autos were reported abandoned on U.P. roads.

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base was closed to all nonessential aircraft. Marquette airport reported 22 inches of snow on the ground.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said that although the brunt of the storm has passed, snow flurries would continue throughout most of Michigan today.

PLAINS STATES

The north central and Plains states were buried today under massive snows. Schools and roads were closed and at least 28 persons were dead.

Nebraska counted 17 dead from the early spring storm. Minnesota and Iowa each had three dead. South Dakota and Wyoming had two deaths each.

The storm hurled a one-two punch of sleet and snow at most of the area. The ice ripped down power lines and powerful winds (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Soviets Said Orbiting 'Spies'

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Soviet Union has orbited 46 satellites which probably were spy in the sky spacecrafts, according to one of the Johnson administration's specialists on Soviet space activities.

"Nobody has suggested anything other than photo reconnaissance" for a particular series of unmanned Cosmos satellites, said Dr. Charles S. Sheldon II, senior member of the National Aeronautics and Space Council's professional staff.

The council is the President's top advisory group on U.S. space policies.

The 46 satellites — launched since 1962, including five this year — "don't fit any pattern" of scientific, navigational or communications-type satellites, Sheldon said.

LOW FLYING

"They fly low — 100 to 200 miles above the earth — and after eight days they disappear from orbit," probably to be recovered so film inside can be removed, the space expert said.

Sheldon, who came to Orlando to speak to local members of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, said he doubts the Soviet Union intends to place warheads in orbit as a threat to the United States, however, as it could not do so without being discovered.

Concerning the race to the moon, Sheldon predicted the Soviets may soon launch a large unmanned space station and follow up with a smaller space-ship with men inside to rendezvous with it.

Sheldon said Wednesday he believes the Soviets could hoist an orbiting laboratory weighing from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds into orbit, "and you could get a lot of people inside a space station that weighs 50,000 pounds."

NEAR FUTURE He also quoted Soviet cosmonauts who suggested the Soviet Union will put up five or more men in the near future.

"The Russians have several options and it's only a guessing

Seek Cityhood Bid Injunction

Novi Petition Was Illegal—Township

NOVI —The township has requested an injunction temporarily restraining the village from further action on incorporation as a home rule city and from setting a date for a special election on cityhood.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore ordered village officials to appear next Monday to show cause why they should proceed with the proposed incorporation.

The township claims in a suit filed Tuesday that a petition bearing 129 signatures, submitted last November to Village Clerk Mabel Ash, was illegal.

The village does not meet the state statute requirement that the area proposing incorporation must contain at least 500 persons per square mile, according to township attorneys Powell, Peres, Carr and Jacques.

The move to incorporate into a home rule city was first proposed last year by a group of local businessmen and industrialists headed by C. A. Smith, a real estate broker and chairman of the Novi Industrial Development Committee.

TO END FRICTION

The group claims that if the village accepted cityhood, friction would end between the village and the small township.

With the exception of three small areas, the whole township is included in the village. A city government would abolish the township in two areas proposed for incorporation.

Should the village incorporate, it would be necessary for the township officials to move into the one subdivision remaining under township control. The subdivision, containing some 100 residents, stands alone in the middle of the village.

Smith has accused the township of doing nothing to encourage industry to move into the area. He thinks the village is moving in one direction and the township in the other.

REGULAR BALLOT

The village had decided that the issue be placed on the March 8 ballot, but proposed to call for a special election to avoid confusion.

Contract Set for State Cereal Beetle Spraying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has awarded a contract to Desert Aviation Service, Mesa, Ariz., to spray up to 1,250,000 acres in Michigan infested by the destructive cereal leaf beetle.

The company will apply the spray with up to eight airplanes, including two B-17s, one Lockheed PV2 and up to five World War II dive bombers.

Says Rochester Educator

'Pools and Auditoriums Are Not Frills'

By JANICE KLOUSER
ROCHESTER — Swimming pools and auditoriums — just frills in today's educational structure?

No, says Schools Supt. Dr. William J. Early emphatically. They are an intrinsic part of a senior high school and are requirements for a full and complete education.

He hopes to convince enough people of this between now and April 25 to secure a favorable vote on a pool and auditorium proposal.

The proposition, which would cost $1.1 million is part of a $7.3 million building program which voters will be asked to approve that day.

"They can have the whole thing for only a ¼-mill increase in taxes," noted Dr. Early. "And it will cost a ¼-mill whether the pool and auditorium are approved or not."

NOT SAVING MONEY

"People who are against the pool and auditorium will not be saving money."

This is the point Dr. Early hopes to drive home. Through the State School Bond Loan Fund, school districts that levy 7 mills for total indebtedness can borrow the additional needed monies from the state at little or no interest.

Rochester now levies 6.5 mills. It can meet the Loan Fund requirement by increasing taxes ¼-mill.

"This law was devised to aid fast-growing school districts such as ours," explained Dr. Early, "and provides for present needs while spreading the debt over a longer period of time."

SECOND TIME

The request for a pool and auditorium is being put to the voters for the second time. It was narrowly defeated last year "only because enough people didn't go to the polls," according to Dr. Early.

"There seems to be enough interest now to warrant bringing it up again as a separate proposal," he said.

Both the pool and auditorium were originally planned in 1954 as part of the high school, to be added as funds became available.

The pool would be a regulation six-lane pool with diving area, instructional area, community locker and dressing rooms, folding bleachers and paved access driveways. It would be located in the south side of the gymnasium.

BROADEN PROGRAM

Dr. Early points out that the pool would broaden Rochester's physical education program by providing daily instruction for grades five through 12.

Until this year fifth and sixth graders have been taking swimming instruction at Oakland University, but increased enrollment at the University makes this impossible this year.

"Swimming is an essential part of a physical education program," said Dr. Early. He points out that a pool is recommended by the North Central Association, the high school accrediting organization.

The community as a whole would also benefit from a pool. It would be used by the YMCA, Avon Youth Recreation Association and other public and service organizations.

TO SERVE MANY

It would also provide a year-round swimming facility for adults and their families, parochial school students and such groups as Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Dr. Early said that based on experience in other communities, the cost of operating a swimming pool is estimated at $10-$12,000 a year, which can be made up in fees and rentals to organizations which use the facility.

From an educational and social standpoint, an auditorium is also important, points out Dr. Early.

Designed to seat 700 persons, the proposed facility would include theater-type seats, a projection booth, coat rooms, ticket booths and paved parking areas. It would be located at the northeast corner of the high school.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES

It would open up opportunities for student participation in dramatics, group instruction, lecturing, musical programs, class meetings, etc., Dr. Early pointed out.

Auditorium Seating 700 Would Serve Entire Community

It would also benefit the community by providing needed space for adult education, dramatic groups, musical organizations, travel series, variety shows and other uses by local organizations.

The only stage facility now available is in Central Junior High School, which was built in 1916.

"It just is not adequate," said Dr. Early.

PLEA FOR PASSAGE

School officials will be carrying the plea for passage of their proposals to as many segments of the community as possible in the next few weeks.

Meetings are scheduled with numerous groups and officials will be available to speak to any group that wants them.

"We want to get as many informed voters out as possible," said the superintendent.

Voting registration deadline is Monday at 5 p.m. in Avon, Oakland and Shelby Townships.

REGISTRATION HOURS

Avon Township residents may register at the township office today and tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. It will also be open from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Oakland Township residents may register with the township clerk at 1800 W. Buell. The township hall at 4393 Collins, will also be open from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Shelby township voters may register at the township hall, 4990 Van Dyke.

Voters must be registered in their respective townships to be eligible.

Oxford Board May Trim Proposed School Budget

OXFORD — A preliminary budget which may have to be pared to keep the school district out of the red is being considered by the board of education.

The roughly estimated $1,012,000 budget is about $100,000 more than anticipated income.

Schools Supt. Roger Oberg

Breeder Gets Award Again

ROME — Howard H. Colby, owner of Colby Dale Farms, has been named a Gold Star Guernsey Breeder for 1965 by the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

This is the seventh year Colby has won the award, based on production records of 59 cows averaging 12,659 pounds of milk and 615 pounds of butterfat.

To qualify for the award, a herd must be registered and show production records at least 15 per cent above the breed average, in addition to meeting rigid health requirements.

said the expected income is about $854,000. This plus a $40,000 cash reserve would almost meet the $1,012,000 figure.

He said, however, that such things as blacktopping will be cut out if necessary in order to avoid a deficit.

"We'll have to wait to see what we get from the county allocation board and what our enrollment will be before we start making these adjustments," said Oberg.

MORE TEACHERS

The $100,000 increase consists of salaries for 10 additional teachers amounting to about $33,000 on the present salary schedule, needed improvements and supplies.

It is presently estimated that instruction will cost $719,000; administration, $46,000; health services, $800; transportation, $74,000; operation, $114,000; maintenance, $43,000; fixed charges, $5,150; and capital outlay, $6,900.

"This is all very rough," said Oberg. "We are just using it for a reference."

Volunteers Sought for School Study

TROY — School district residents are being asked to volunteer for a committee to advise the board of education on a proposed bond issue.

Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith said the committee would study the district's needs then recommend how much money to ask for.

The committee would also help promote the bond issue.

The proposal is scheduled to be on the June school election ballot, although it is expected to be about a month before it is official.

Dr. Smith has suggested a bond issue of $2 million for new school sites and development of existing sites. He said it should take care of the district's future needs.

RECOMMENDED

He recommends five new junior high sites, three new high school sites and 17 elementary school sites.

In other recent bond actions, the name of Alexander Wattles was given to a new elementary school to be built in a section bounded by 17 Mile, Rochester, 16 Mile and Livernois. Wattles was one of the early settlers of Troy.

Bids on the school, a second elementary school, a junior high and a bus garage will be taken April 5.

Talents Shine at Science Fair

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — For awhile this week, the Bond Elementary School gymnasium looked like an up-and-coming rival to the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

There were displays showing chemistry and physics principles and others relating to health, plants, minerals and animals.

There was a miniature elevator that really worked; a stethoscope so you could listen to your own heart; a model of a manned satellite.

In all, 340 projects were displayed at the school's science fair.

The exhibits were assembled by pupils in kindergarten

DISTINCTION

Believed to be unusual in the area, the fair is the only one held at an elementary school in the Farmington district.

With a simple format, this is the kind of project organization expected of junior and senior high school students who enter standard science fairs.

This was the second science fair the school has staged, the first held two years ago.

Principal Weldon Petz said he hopes to keep it biennial so it will not dominate the year's curriculum nor become less interesting to children who participate.

OPEN HOUSE

Projects were assembled Monday and an open house held Tuesday, the latter attracting some 400 persons.

Every child who participated received a certificate of recognition — there were no prizes awarded.

Each display was accompanied by a form on which the child indicated the nature of his project, what he hoped to demonstrate, what he had learned by carrying out the project and whether he had any help from his parents.

Senate Unit OKs Farm Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Taxation Committee today abruptly approved a 2½-fold increase in property tax exemptions for farm equipment.

Farmers, now exempt from property taxes on the first $1,000 in state-equalized value of their equipment, would get a $2,500 break. The increase would cost local units a total of $2 million in revenue, said State Tax Commission Secretary Edward Kane.

Sen. Charles Zoller, R-Benton Harbor, said the exemption increase would be meaningless unless the state reimburses local units for the $2 million.

"They need the money, and if they don't get it from the equipment, the tax rate will just have to go up and the farmer will pay anyhow," said Zoller.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Queens, N.Y., Dist. Atty. Nat H. Hentel put his hot line into operation last night to receive tips on narcotics peddling. The first five calls on the line, taken by Hentel, were:

A man who had the wrong number.

A member of Hentel's staff who complained he couldn't get through.

Another staff member with the same complaint.

A man who said that on four tries he got a busy signal, two no-answers and a disconnect.

A third staff member who told Hentel: "Your wife wants you to come home and bring some bagels."

Finally, the sixth call was what the hot line is all about. It came in at 5:32 p.m. and was a tip about some teen-agers selling pills and marijuana.

An investigation order was issued, then Hentel turned the telephone over to detectives who will answer it regularly 24 hours a day.

Dropout Danny Kaye Entertains Educators

Before 4,000 elementary school principals in Portland, Ore., comedian Danny Kaye confessed that "I was terrible in school."

Even so, Kaye, a high school dropout, was honored by the principals for his work for UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. Kaye has devoted 12 years to raising money for the group, which recently won the Nobel Peace Prize, and to entertaining children around the world.

He got messages from President Johnson and his childhood music teacher in Brooklyn's Public School 149, Miss Peggy Cress. She told him: "You have come a long way."

"I was terrible in that class," Kaye said. "I was terrible in school."

With the ceremonies at the National Education Association sponsored meeting out of the way, Kaye clowning, danced, mugged, conducted a chorus and led a group of costumed schoolchildren in entertainment for the principals.

Another Actor May Turn Politician

Friends of actor Wendell Corey say petitions have been circulated to nominate the 36-year-old actor to run in the 28th Congressional District in California.

Corey, who won election to the Santa Monica City Council last April, would face incumbent Congressman Alphonso Bell for the Republican nomination in the June primary election.

Corey's friends said he would announce his political plans at a news conference tomorrow.

Legislators Disqualified for Office

Regardless of the fact that Democrats Sen. BASIL W. BROWN of Highland Park and Rep. JAMES BRADLEY of Detroit have resolved their income tax delinquency with the Internal Revenue Service, they have a clear duty to resign from the State Legislature.

It ill behooves anyone to pass among judgment on the behavior of others. But the culpability of the two lawmakers in failing to declare and pay taxes due the Federal government renders them unfit for the legislative trust imposed in them. As makers of the law they cannot be breakers of the law.

Both men point to heavy financial pressure in extenuation of their guilt. But it is likely that millions of other Americans who conscientiously pay their income taxes as a prerequisite of good citizenship could relate comparable financial straits.

We think that as a body the integrity of the elected representatives of the people compares favorably with that of any other cross section of American citizenry. But if an agency as sensitive to wrongdoing as a state legislature is to merit respect and confidence its image cannot be besmirched by backsliding members.

In this situation, as in so many other government posts of trust, the dictum that "CAESAR'S wife must be above suspicion" has direct application.

President Sukarno's Loss Is Indonesia's Gain

A net gain for the West stems from the action of Indonesia's ruling military junta in banishing nominal President AHMED SUKARNO to the country on a one-way ticket for the "good of the country." SUKARNO himself is a beneficiary, it would seem, since there was much to indicate that an aroused anti-Communist, anti-Sukarno populace would soon take matters into its own rough hands.

Indonesia and SUKARNO have long been a thorn in the side of the free world since the international playboy and dictatorial ruler maneuvered the string of islands, with more than twice the area of Texas, away from Dutch control after World War II and set up a self-styled Indonesia Republic headed by SUKARNO.

Although the recipient of $583.5 millions of foreign aid from the U. S., Sukarno early oriented himself with the Communists and proved an erratic and chauvinistic chief of state.

Recently, an attempted take-over of Indonesia by Communists—backed by Red China and covertly blessed by SUKARNO—went on the rocks. The coup was thwarted by a patriotic group of the military headed by Lt. Gen. SUHARTO. By way of national face-saving, President SUKARNO was suffered to retain his title though little of his power. But the onetime revolutionary hero couldn't appreciate a good thing when it fell on him, and became so obstreperous and conniving that his de facto bosses finally gave him a well-earned bump's rump.

Reassuringly for the West, Gen. Suharto has replaced the pro-Peking ministers in the Indonesian Cabinet and named a moderate, democratic figure as acting head of state.

Indonesia with a population upward of 100 million is a country rich in raw products and trade potential whose economy could flourish if under a moderate and well-intentioned governmental regime.

Discount Rumor NY Stock Exchange Will Move

If you're in the market for an inside tip, don't take much stock in reports that the New York Stock Exchange has unilaterally liquidated its $50 expansion plan, will pull up tickers and move out of town because the City has proposed a tax increase on stock transfer that would up its present $1-million yield by 50 per cent.

Although the Exchange is understandably blearish about the tax threat, there is scant reason for any of 40 cities interested to feel bullish about prospects for acquiring the trading center.

With Manhattan the acknowledged money mart of the world and the stock market and brokerage establishment so closely keyed to it, we'd say there's about as much chance of the Market bidding Wall Street adieu as there is of Congress running out on Washington.

That is to say, don't sell New York short.

President Is Patient With Labor

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — President Johnson is not the man to magnify in public any differences with individuals or groups so long as he thinks there may be a chance to persuade them to return to camp.

This does much to explain Johnson's easy manner Tuesday when a girl reporter at an impromptu news conference asked about the recent statement of George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Meany had said in the future the huge labor organization would not be allied with either Democrats or Republicans. Johnson told the questioner she was apparently more distressed about this than he was.

But there was something Johnson could hardly forget even as he tried to make the best of an uneasy situation by saying that in his view the AFL-CIO has always been independent and should be.

The labor organization backed him in the 1964 presidential race and the AFL-CIO backed Democratic presidential candidates in election after election for years.

The AFL-CIO support is a very big and important help to the Democrats.

But now it is irritated with the Democrats and Meany is disenchanted with them, as he explained in a very emphatic and biting way. It was enough to give Democrats some chills about this year's congressional elections.

Meany blasted the Democrats for failing to deliver on promises and laid down political independence as a goal for the AFL-CIO.

"It is quite obvious," he said, "that if we are looking around for a party to adopt and control that we don't want the Democratic party because they can't deliver."

"So we can't buy either party. We don't work for any political party, whether it is Republican, Democrat, or anything else."

ENDORSED CANDIDATES

In recent years, besides 1964, the AFL-CIO endorsed the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, 1956 and 1960.

But Meany suggested labor return to the policy of one of its early leaders, Samuel Gompers: supporting individual candidates on their voting records, regardless of party.

If the Johnson administration figured it had the AFL-CIO in its pocket, the Meany statement may disillusion it a bit—and this may have been Meany's purpose—scare it into paying more attention to labor's demands.

What the administration does from now on to satisfy labor will be more revealing than the President's easy, casual comment Tuesday.

'We Are Making Great Strides!'

David Lawrence Says:

Economic Side Effects Evident

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's hesitancy "to put brakes" on the current economic expansion is understandable, for it isn't easy to know at what point to interject an artificial factor of restraint. But the signs of a fundamental change in the LAWRENCE national economy are plainly apparent.

Thus, the $13-billion appropriation for the Viet Nam war is not far different in economic consequences from a reduction of $13 billion of taxes—an increase in purchasing and an expanded demand for goods.

While the amount being spent on Viet Nam is a smaller percentage of the national income than was the case with the Korean War, it doesn't take many billions of added purchasing power to bring shortages of goods and higher prices as well as a scarcity of employees in certain jobs.

Some effects already are noticeable, however, and cannot be ignored.

There is a lot of talk about a growing "inflation." The average person isn't sure just what it means by the word.

BUYING POWER

If it is explained as a steady decline in the buying power of the dollar in the last few years, it is more readily grasped.

The prices that people pay in general have risen by 17.2 per cent in 10 years, which means that the over-all cost of living has gone up so that it takes $1.7 now to pay for what 100 cents bought 10 years ago.

It is contended nevertheless that the wages and incomes of most people have increased during the same 10 years.

If, for instance, the entire population is divided into the disposable income figure for the nation as a whole, it would appear that there has been an increase of 42 per cent in "per capita" income.

Verbal Orchids

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Muirhead of West Bloomfield Township; 53rd wedding anniversary.

Mrs. E. R. Vogel of 6633 Highland Road; 65th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Burns of Lake Orion; 53rd wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Lizzie Meyers of 56 Noome; 81st birthday.

Mrs. May Allen of 532 Orchard Lake Ave.; 88th birthday.

William Blumester of Rochester; 53rd birthday.

But this doesn't solve the problem of individuals earning relatively low incomes.

Persons with incomes of $10,000 a year or more can absorb increases in food prices better than a family with less than $5,000 income per year. But they are all lumped together in the statistics about income growth.

In 1964 there were 16.7 million families in the United States with an income below $6.15 per week, or $5,000 a year.

This is a smaller number than 10 years earlier, but it still reflects the unevenness of individual incomes. Everybody, of course, has to pay the same prices for food irrespective of income.

ONE REASON

This is one reason why there is pressure now to get through Congress an increase in the minimum pay per hour required by federal law.

The change is eminently desirable, but it also means that, as the lower-rate employees move up, the workers in other groups with higher wage scales will feel entitled to proportionate increases. Thus, a new wage and price structure is formed, irrespective of the ability of other citizens to pay for what they must buy.

All this merely illustrates the pains of evolution as a war of uncertain future is borne by an economy which has already been stimulated artificially by tax reductions and huge deficits in the federal treasury.

It is inevitable that a "war prosperity" will not be allowed to drift on indefinitely without some restraints on prices and wages.

Capital Letter:

Times May Be Right for Romney Sweep in '68

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Some top Republican strategists are speculating that America is about ripe for a religious revival that could sweep George Romney into the White House in January '69.

This novel reasoning comes from some shrewd, hard-nosed politicians who are normally cool to the maverick Michigan governor.

Ruth Montgomery "Romney is not my dish of tea, but this guy has all the religious fervor of a Mormon disciple, which he is. He honestly believes that God talks to him, and on the platform he's a real spellbinder."

"Everybody is worrying about the moral breakdown in the churches, on the campuses, and in the homes. If a lot of coffins are coming home from Viet Nam in 1968, America may well turn to a man who can bring back the old-time religion."

Romney's birth in Mexico would probably not disqualify him for the presidency, since his American parents were only temporarily living there; but a more difficult hurdle for him might be the attitude of the Mormon Church toward Negroes.

He is not in a position to reverse the Mormon tenet that Negroes are an inferior race, but because of his close identification with the church (he's a former president of its Detroit stake), he might be politically saddled with its racial position.

The GOP kingmakers might well ponder, "If not Romney, then who?" Gov. Nelson Rockefeller looks increasingly like a political has-been, as does William Scranton.

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, although attractive, has never been able to set any national fires, and geography is against him.

Charles Percy, who would have been a strong contender if he had won the Illinois gubernatorial race, will probably be out of the presidential running even if he wins the Senate race this fall. Freshmen legislators notoriously lack political sex appeal.

TARNISHED IMAGE
New York Mayor John Lindsay tarnished his image at last week's Gridiron Club stag dinner, by telling a couple of off-color stories on an occasion which traditionally is as clean as a housewife's tooth.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado is a possible longshot, but if the political prognosticators are correctly forecasting the temper of the times two years hence, Romney may be the best bet.

If he wins reelection to his third term this November, at least he'll be the man to watch in '68.

Suggests Citywide Effort to Reduce Litter Problem

The litter problem in Pontiac is becoming worse every year. It is not only an opportunity, but an obligation for the candidates for the City Commission to state what they would do to better this condition.

Many civic groups would again assist in a citywide operation to beautify Pontiac if some official aid were given to maintain improvements made.

Updated antilitter ordinance enforcement; additional receptacles, especially in outlying areas; antilitter signs and penalty warnings conspicuously posted; and distribution of brochures would reduce littering.

Citizens Discuss Waterford School Proposal

Our taxes will be increased two mills whether the Waterford Township school proposals pass or not. This is not a new tax and has no bearing on this issue. These are the last two mills of the original millage we voted for five years ago. By spreading this millage out and using it as needed, new people moving here also shared in these taxes.

The school board is asking us to let them continue at the same level instead of taking the tax reductions we would have if more facilities were not needed. When an increase is indicated, we will be the ones to say yes or no.

MRS. JOHN HOKE
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

In the past the Waterford Township school board has provided all the school facilities the taxpayers could afford. Suddenly we can afford much more. Why? Our ability to pay has not changed, only the ability to borrow. The $13 million bond proposal is another buy-now and pay-later gimmick.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

Mr. Smith says he will vote "no" on March 28 and tries to convince others to join him on the basis of faulty information and statements that have nothing to do with the bond issue. Not once does he mention the real issue—the needs of Waterford children and the need for additional and improved school facilities. The Citizens' Advisory Committee and the school staff have worked hard to bring the facts of this election to the community.

It is my hope that Waterford voters will go to the polls March 28 and respond to the real issues. Will Waterford maintain full-day sessions for all children? Will its programs improve by making library and physical education facilities available? I urge that you vote "yes."

'Mum' to Be the Word on Future LBJ Jaunts

WASHINGTON (U)—The White House says President Johnson's future travel plans probably will be kept secret except for those occasions when he is making a public appearance and large crowds are desired.

A spokesman revealed this yesterday shortly after the President returned to Washington from a hasty — and quietly arranged — trip to New York to attend the funeral of the wife of Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Johnson's destination was not announced until he was airborne.

The spokesman said the New York trip will set the pattern for similar presidential journeys.

This is because, the spokesman explained, speed and surprise are two elements in the President's trips that can add greatly to security.

The need for secrecy will be greatest on trips to large cities where the President would travel past high buildings, the source added.

Will Honor Brakeman for Rescue Attempt

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—An honors banquet is scheduled tonight by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway to salute brakeman Francis Brown of Adrian for heroism in a train fatality. Michael Pellerito, 6, of Holland was killed Feb. 27 when thrown from a bridge over the Black River by an oncoming train. Brown had crawled to the front of the moving locomotive in a vain attempt to reach out and haul the boy aboard.

JOHNSONS AT FUNERAL—President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson leave Temple Beth Elohim in Brooklyn, N.Y., yesterday after attending funeral services for Stella Celler, wife of veteran Congressman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who died Monday at the age of 75. The Johnsons returned to Washington immediately after the service.

Secret Agent of Drug Industry Tells of Wholesale Intrigue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hyman L. Moore—plump, bespectacled, with a penchant for coin collections—was well pleased with his new man.

He moved about the Moore Drug wholesale shop with sureness. He was an attractive asset with a dimpled smile and black hair framing a darkly handsome face.

Moore was so pleased that an hour and a half after David Terpstra was hired last Aug. 1, he gave him a raise.

Yesterday, before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee, Terpstra told how he spied on the H. L. Moore Drug Co. in New Britain, Conn. on behalf of a Philadelphia drug company.

The testimony came in the opening phase of an examination of the snooping tactics in business and government. And, coincidentally, the day after General Motors Corp. acknowledged its use of private investigators to probe the background of a critic.

GET INFORMATION

In the Moore case, Terpstra was an operative of Inter-County Surveys Inc. of New York which was hired by Smith, Kline & French to see how Moore was getting drugs that he sold below recommended prices.

Terpstra used the confidence he gained at the Moore company to compile a report—based on his memory and discarded packing slips—of where Moore was getting his supplies.

Moore charged that the spying was a "Gestapoke" attempt by big manufacturers and suppliers to drive him out of business. He said it had him "so damned scared" he used a pay telephone for important calls, fearing his business phone was tapped.

John Saviano, chief of Inter-Survey, said Smith, Kline & French paid him $6,000 for Terpstra's services. He said the aim was to uncover evidence of fraud costing the company about $90,000.

DIFFERENT RATE

Saviano said other wholesalers were applying a 15 per cent discount rate for retail drug sales while actually selling to Moore. The discount should have been 6 per cent for such sales to Moore.

In a statement, Smith, Kline & French said it disliked using a hired investigator but said it was obliged to do so to see that "our wholesaler distribution" agreements are enforced uniformly.

Subcommittee Chairman Edward V. Long, D-Mo., said the company has "a remedy at law" preferable to resorting to "this type of spying."

At least two other drug companies had access to the Terpstra investigation of Moore's operations, but their identities were not made known by the subcommittee.

Planned Rights Bill Faces a Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is ready to propose new civil rights legislation dealing with housing, juries, schools and public facilities.

The administration's proposed civil rights act of 1966, which faces a tough election-year battle in Congress, has been on Johnson's desk for at least two weeks. There has been no explanation of his delay in transmitting it, along with a message, to Capitol Hill.

Johnson and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach have given several members of Congress private previews of the bill. And once it's submitted, Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee is expected to call immediate hearings.

According to sources who have seen the latest proposal, its chief provisions run along these lines:

NEW PROVISIONS

Housing: Racial discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing—old and new, and even if privately financed—would be banned.

While the attorney general could bring suit where he found a pattern and practice of discrimination, the normal remedy would be for the prospective buyer or renter to bring suit against the seller or landlord accused of discrimination.

Such legislation, which is expected to stir sharp controversy in Congress, would theoretically open up previously all-white suburbs to Negroes, assuming the Negroes could afford to move.

Juries: The administration proposal would be directed at both state and federal jury systems in an effort to end the all-white juries that prevail in many parts of the south.

RANDOM CHOICE

Instead of the "key man system" by which prominent citizens recommend jury lists, prospective federal jurors would be chosen at random from lists representing the entire adult population.

Intimidation: This provision would make it a federal crime — with penalties graduated to fit the nature of a specific crime — to harm or intimidate persons attempting to desegregate public facilities.

It also would empower the attorney general to initiate court action to end harassment or intimidation of Negro pupils (or their parents) who are attempting to attend previously all-white schools.

The intimidation law would go beyond the post-Civil War statute making it a crime — with a maximum five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine — to conspire to deprive others of their civil rights. A beating, under the proposed law, would carry penalties for the state involved. A civil rights murder could carry up to life imprisonment.

Service Is Held

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Funeral service was held Wednesday for Zenas Clark Dickinson, emeritus professor of economics at the University of Michigan. Dickinson died Tuesday. He was 76. He joined the university faculty in 1923 and retired in 1958.

Harassment Made Adoption Impossible

White Family Gives Up on Adopting Negro Child

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — "Have you checked the kids lately? One of them might be gone," a man said menacingly on the telephone.

Such anonymous callers, garbage throwers and other vandals have won, says the Rev. Albert C. Cohen. He and his wife are going to send their adopted Negro child, David, 2, back to the adoption bureau.

"We thought we could stand it," the Protestant minister said yesterday, "but neither of us has the stamina to do the job."

His wife, Ann, said: "It was the worst decision we ever had to make. I know we'll have second thoughts, but we must do it. It's best for David that we stop right now before he's old enough to remember."

Cohen, 38, blaming harassment for their decision, said, "We thought we could stand up and be counted, but we're scared now."

"The judge would have signed the final adoption papers for David next month," he said, "but we have to give up. We've tried."

"We have suffered personal harassment and verbal harassment for almost a year now."

Cohen, a 1949 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, is the Protestant chaplain on the California State College campus here. He served as a line officer in the Navy for five years.

The Cohens, who are white, have four children of their own. They moved to this growing Los Angeles suburb last July from nearby Whittier, where Cohen was pastor of a Congregational church.

"It was all right at first, although all our friends, black and white, told us it wouldn't be," Mrs. Cohen, 33, said.

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

By BILL BRADLEY
All-American Basketball Player
During the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo - where I played basketball for the U.S. team - a Russian-track star gave me a small doll as a token of his friendship.

In return I presented him with the Russian translation of a book which is the most important thing in the world to me: the Bible.
If he reads and studies this Book, I think he may come to understand why I feel so strongly about it.
Once I believed its message intellectually but it took a period of frustration during my freshman year at Princeton before Christ became the central force in my life.

For the first month or so at Princeton things went along pretty well until I got hit with some of those frustrations and doubts most all freshmen have. I worried I wouldn't make my grades, and I also wondered if I'd make the basketball team.

TOUGH EXAM
But the real crisis came at examination time. In particular, I never shall forget a French oral exam. The professor

'Dems to Hold Own in '66 Elections'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - The Democrats will hold their own in the elections this year says Cliff Carter, executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

Carter told a group of party financial backers that majority parties usually lose about 44 seats in off-year congressional elections.

"We will buck this historic and traditional trend," he said.

'Radio Free Europe Reaches 22 Million'

DETROIT (AP) - Radio Free Europe reaches more than 22 million people behind the Iron Curtain and gets an average of 1,000 letters a month from them says the president of U.S. Steel Corp., Leslie B. Wexington.

He told 50 business leaders that RFE has "become an intimate part of the daily lives of a populace highly disenchanted with the governing regimes."

couldn't seem to make a question simple enough to get an answer out of me: I left the classroom discouraged and returned to my room.

There, I threw myself down on the bed and let my emotions take over. Most of the tears I shed were ones of self-pity, though I would have denied it then.

I tried to rationalize about my situation without success. After a while - I don't know how long - I sat up on the bed.

An idea popped into my head. A few days earlier I had received a photograph recording in the mail. It was an album of famous Christian athletes telling about their experiences. They were people I had heard at a Fellowship of Christian Athletes' Conference at Lake Geneva, Wis.

NOT LASTING
I recalled the commitment I had made to Christ two summers earlier at the conference. The experience had been real, but it wasn't lasting. I suppose I turned to the recording thinking I could recapture that moment.

I placed the needle on the band where Bob Pettit, a great professional basketball player whom I always have admired, discusses his faith with the same enthusiasm with which he plays basketball. On the record he said:

"There is another team that I'm part of. I'm not the most valuable member, and I may not be on the first team, but I'm on Christ's team. And here you're not playing for small stakes like a state or national title - here you're playing for the big victory, the victory of Christ in the hearts of men."

His words were on target. Suddenly, I was able to see that I had failed to give Christ His rightful place in my life. I was physically, mentally and spiritually bankrupt.

BURIED IN FILE
The regular disciplines of prayer and meditation and Bible reading that are necessary for Christian growth had been buried in a file with some other items labeled, "Things I know I should do."

My next step was obvious to me. Beside my bed, on my knees, I asked God to forgive me for being so foolish as to think I could run my life or accomplish anything meaningful without Him. I asked Him to take over and guide me in all my actions.

From that day forward things have been different. I don't mean that suddenly all my difficulties disappeared. Christ did not promise that but He did promise to give us strength to handle any problem in life.

As I began to study the Bible, some of His promises became clearer to me. Verses that I had read many times before without understanding now came alive with new meaning.

NEW ADVENTURE
Instead of reading the Bible out of a sense of duty, I suddenly found it a new kind of adventure which I actually enjoyed.

Because I want to be in top-notch condition to play my best, I do not smoke or drink. I have to practice regularly. I must work hard for a good mental attitude. During a game there must be no distractions - just total concentration on basketball.

School Dean Retiring

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) - Stanley L. Smith, a graduate of West Point, will retire next September as dean of academics at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

Christianity has similar disciplines. Like basketball, where there is no such thing as a born athlete, there is no such thing as a natural Christian. It takes work. It requires a devotion to Christ above anything else. You can't go halfway.

Jesus told us what He thought about tepid followers when He said, "because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth."

WIDE APPLICATION
I find wide application in this verse for it tells me that lukewarm dedication in any endeavor is not enough to succeed. This is just one of the truths I have discovered in the Bible, the greatest source of wisdom and really the Book of Life.

Now, perhaps, you can understand why I call the gift I gave to the Russian track star in Tokyo the most important thing in the world to me.

Head-Alma Chasne MacCormery, Arlington, Va., hereville, tells the inspiring story of how the power of thousands joined a minister with his battle with cancer.

Yanks Given Quick Care in Viet Nam

By Esther Van Wagner Tully
WASHINGTON — The American GI has never received better or quicker care and treatment than in Viet Nam today says the man who should know, Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, surgeon general of the Army.

During World War II, only 4.5 per cent of each 100 wounded soldiers could not be saved. During the Korean conflict the figure was reduced to 2.5 per cent.

Today, the percentage of fatalities in relation to the total number wounded is less than 1 per cent, Heaton said.

One reason: "That's a small brave band of helicopter ambulance units and helicopter pilots."

Of this group Heaton paraphrased Churchill: "Never have so many owed so much to so and to hospitals near their homes for recuperation, when help comes fast. In Viet Nam such recuperation gives signs of being prolonged.

Six ailments make up the majority of the diseases treated by the Army Medical Corps in Viet Nam: diarrhea, malaria, respiratory difficulties, head and chest colds, skin fungus infections and hepatitis.

Heaton, while commanding Walter Reed Medical Center here, operated on such famous patients as President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Homecoming May Be Ordeal for Little TB Victims

NORTHVILLE (AP)—For 20 small children who became innocent victims of tuberculosis two months ago, homecoming may prove their greatest ordeal. It took the preschool tots, ranging in age from 2 to 5 years, several days to become adjusted to their new surroundings at the Maybury Sanatorium in this southern Michigan community near Detroit.

They were sent here after coming down with primary TB contracted from a teacher in a day nursery school in nearby Garden City. The youngsters cried a little at first.

"But there may be new tears ahead," said Dr. John Romanik, director of the Children's Building. "When these kids go home, they will be shunned by friends and neighbors as if they had leprosy or the plague."

Often, parents arrange for a welcome-home party, and none of the child's former playmates is that it is gloomy and old. The care, they say, is excellent. One of the 20 tots has gone home already. The others have shown no outward signs of TB and the majority will be discharged in about four months.

But like most TB patients they probably will be met with a coolness they have never before from people in the neighborhood.

And there really is no excuse for such a reaction, said Dr. Romanik and Dr. W.L. Howard, hospital superintendent.

"There are two unwarranted attitudes on the part of the public," Howard said. "First there is a complacency about a crowd at a movie, church or taking TB tests. And secondly, a reluctance to accept the fact infection from these children is zero, absolutely nil."

"As a matter of fact, it is safer to mingle with a group of children who have been disinfected than to join in a crowd at a movie, church or taking TB tests. And secondly, a reluctance to accept the fact infection from these children is zero, absolutely nil."

Exercises Can Work Wonders

CHAPTER 4

Does the very mention of the word "exercise" make you picture a group of athletic girls in old-fashioned bloomers doing strenuous calisthenics at six o'clock in the morning?

If so, then you're out of step with the times, for one secret of modern exercise is that all motions in everyday life can help keep you physically fit, if you know how to use your muscles to the fullest.

When you wake up in the morning, don't just wander out to the kitchen in a daze. Instead, try this simple stretching routine designed to limber up the most determined sleepy-head.

While still in bed, alternately stretch out your left hand and left leg; your right hand and leg. Then S-T-R-E-T-C-H both arms and legs. Now try to stretch every single part of your body—feet, thighs, hands, neck and so on—just as an animal does. Pretend you're a lion cub and really loosen up.

ROLL INTO BALL

Tumble out of bed onto the floor, rolling yourself into a ball by hugging your knees with your arms. Rock back and forth on your spine as far as you can, keeping knees tight against your chest.

Then roll a little extra side-to-side on problem areas—thighs, derriere, shoulders, back, or whatever. Be sure there's a rug or mat under you, by the way.

This morning stretching and rolling routine takes only a few minutes and soon becomes automatic. It helps you wake up and start the day with a smile.

Do you slump, slouch and shuffle into a room, collapse into the nearest chair, and wonder why no one pays much attention to you? The way you walk, sit, bend over and stand adds up to total beauty—the kind that makes all eyes turn in your direction.

No matter how good or bad your figure is at present, it will look better with perfect posture. The most beautiful clothes are spoiled by a sloppy stance, and by holding yourself erectly you can make even inexpensive clothes look marvelous.

If you're too short, take comfort in the fact that you can add at least an inch to your height by standing up straight. If you're tall, good posture is just as important, for you only emphasize your height when you slump and slouch.

Practice posture until it becomes automatic for you to carry yourself with pride. Use any dormant acting ability you may have and pretend you're a princess—proud, regal, careful not to drop the glittering crown you wear on your shining head.

Have you ever seen a princess walking around with her tummy out and her chest caved in?

The spine is a rod or plumb line through the middle of the body. To straighten this line, you have to pull your shoulders as close together as possible, then down.

Pretend there's a string attached to your head behind your ears, pulling your head up. Now, lift your rib cage out of your waistline. Automatically, you have a longer, swanlike neck and a slimmer torso. Stand in this position for a moment to get accustomed to it.

Cling to that line, even when you walk, but try not to become rigid. With a little practice, a regal posture can become second nature.

DON'T FLOD

And speaking of walking, don't just plod around. Always point your toes straight ahead and walk on the balls of your feet, coming down gently on the heels.

When you sit down or get out of a chair, get right next to the chair so that you can feel it against your back leg. Use your back leg as a lever to either lower yourself or push upward.

When going down stairs, cross one foot in front of the other slightly, toes pointing outward slightly, and bend your knees deeply. To go up stairs, lift yourself with your head and chest held high—imagine you're floating up—and don't hold on to the banister.

You don't have to work out in a gym to improve your figure: sports, dancing, even walking will help keep you trim and healthy.

Try to spend an hour each day walking briskly out-of-doors. Never ride when you can walk. Walking does wonders for your entire figure, helps bring the bloom of roses to your cheeks, clears your head and makes you feel and look better all over.

Just try it for one week and see. TOMORROW: The big clean-up.

muth, Invitations; Mrs. Adrian Ish, decorations; Mrs. William G. Wright, program; and Mrs. D. Richard Veazey, publicity.

Wife Asks 'What Name to Use?'

By The Emily Post Institute

Question: My father-in-law was married last week. He and his new wife have never met, are coming to spend a weekend here with us, and my problem is, what to call her. I call my father-in-law Dad and I used to call my mother-in-law Mother, but I don't think I can call this woman the same thing. Would it be wrong to call her by her first name?

Answer: If your father-in-law's new wife is much older than you and your husband, you should call her Mrs. So-and-so. So the woman in your letter and she has indicated that she would like to be called by a more intimate name.

If she is young and friendly you can, shortly after meeting her, start to call her by her first name.

DANCING TOGETHER

Question: Last evening a group of women in their mid-thirties went to a dinner in a hotel where there was dancing. A few of the women in our party got up and danced together.

I thought this in very bad taste. I have been accused of being prudish because I disapproved of this. I would like your opinion.

Answer: Had they been teenagers, that would have been one thing; but since they were women in their mid-thirties, I couldn't agree with you more.

IN CAR

Question: When two boys (I am a junior in college) go out on a double date, where should the boy who is not driving and his girl sit if the driver's girlfriend is picked up last?

Do they get into the back, leaving the driver alone like a chauffeur, or do they sit up front with him even though it means the first girl will have to climb out and in again when the second one is picked up?

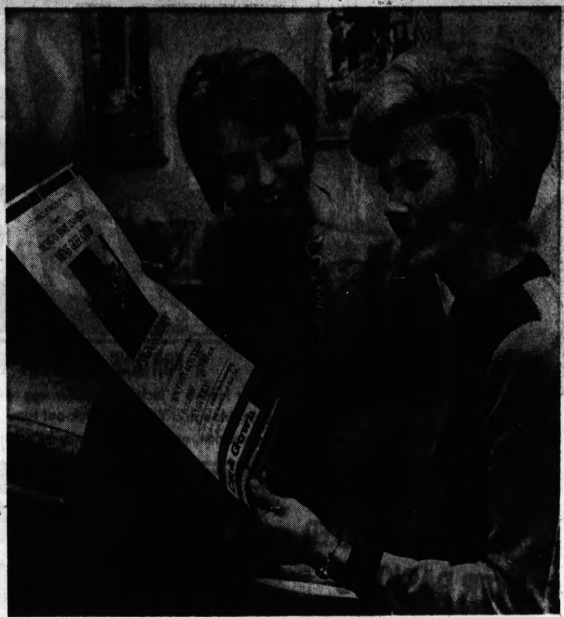

Answer: Even though sliding in and out of a low car is a nuisance, it would be pretty unfriendly for the non-driver and his date to get into the back.

If the driver's date is left off first when they go home, again the other should climb out of the back and join the driver in the front for the remainder of the ride.

Details concerning the remarriage of a widow and divorcee are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Second Marriage."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Self-Made Expert Better Read That Writing on the Wall

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker has taken up the hobby of analyzing handwriting. I never believed in things like that, so when she asked me for a sample of my handwriting, I just laughed and said, "No thanks, skip me."

Well, she got hold of my handwriting from an office memo and went ahead and analyzed it anyway. She told our co-workers that my handwriting revealed "criminal tendencies" and that I was "over-sexed."

Abby, I have never been arrested in my life, not even for traffic violation. And in my 30 years of marriage I have never been unfaithful. How does an innocent person defend himself against such insults.

VIRGIL DEAR VIRGIL: Accusations of this kind are extremely damaging to one's reputation. Tell her there is a law against making such statements, and it is called slander.

And if she can read the handwriting on the wall, she had better analyze that in a hurry and either provide proof for her statements or retract them.

DEAR ABBY: We live in an apartment and the walls are quite thin. The people next door have an 11-year-old son who takes piano lessons. Every time the kid doesn't do something right, his punishment is extra practice time on the piano.

This kid has been doing an awful lot of extra time lately, and it's usually on Saturday and Sunday mornings when we would like to sleep. Should we say something to them about this disturbance? Don't tell me to report it to the landlord. They own the building.

Homemaking Is Class Subject

Mrs. Mary A. Hardy, extension home economist for Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties, will instruct a new four-session class at the Waterford Township High School. Beginning on Monday at 7:30 p.m. the class will cover ideas on helping young homemakers reach their goals through the wise use of money, time, energy and skills.

To register call or write: the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, North Saginaw Street.

There is no charge for the course.

DEAR NO: If the practice session begins unreasonably early in the morning, tell them. It's their privilege to punish their son, but not their neighbors.

DEAR ABBY: The first 6 years of our marriage we had 5 children. My work was never done, and I felt tired and dragged out all the time. Just like a woman, I took it out on my husband.

The poor guy used to sit in bars just to get away from my nagging and complaining.

Then I read a letter in your column that was almost identical to my own situation. You said, "Mothers of small children seem to forget that their husbands need love and attention, too."

Quit feeling sorry for yourself and concentrate on your husband. No matter how many complaints you have, keep quiet, and find something to compliment him on. Kill him with kindness.

Well, I felt like killing him, so it was worth a try. At first it was a real effort, but it kept getting easier. Pretty soon he got sweeter to me, and it was easy to be nice to him.

That was a year ago, and I am just getting around to thanking you for an answer to a letter I didn't write. But it worked for me.

Rules Are Changed for Wedding News

Starting on April first, new rules regarding engagement and wedding news will go into effect. If pictures are desired for both occasions, there must be FOUR months between them. Girls announcing their engagements in April may not have both engagement and wedding pictures, if they are married before August.

No engagements are announced less than a month before the wedding date.

WEDDING PICTURES

While The Press prefers to receive wedding stories and pictures before the event, pictures will be accepted not later than two days after the ceremony (that is, Tuesday for Saturday weddings).

For out-of-town weddings, this deadline is extended. The Pontiac Press makes no promise to use every picture submitted but some printed mention of the event will be made.

NO CHARGE

There is no charge for editorial space, but it cannot be reserved. No promises can be made regarding size of picture nor its position.

All pictures are kept for two months, then discarded. They may be called for any time after publication.

Still Swaddling

NEW YORK (UPI)—Swaddling, nixed by most American mothers, still is practiced in Yugoslavia, Mexico, Russia, Japan and some other nations, reports "Medical World News," a publication for doctors.

According to a recent British study, swaddling of infants benefits the infants and their parents. The British scientists, headed by Dr. E. L. Lipson, found that swaddling reduced the heart and breathing rates, diminished crying and increased the amount of sleep. They said effects were due entirely to restraint of the limbs.

Stainless Is Sure to Endure

In the antique shop of the 21st century the chairs and tables people exclaim over may be made of metal.

Furniture being created today may well take its place next to the styles which have long been popular — Early American — English Georgian — French Provincial, etc.

Stainless steel furniture is not new, but it is about to take a more important place in the decorating world.

Not only is it practical, but it can be beautiful and need not look cold. The strictly contemporary individual will hail it with glee; the more traditional will find that it fits into even "period rooms". Other metals and metal finishes provide a wide variety of styles to satisfy many tastes.

Laminated table tops, vinyl or leather upholstery and chip-resistant metal finishes make the new furniture attractive to young homemakers.

Sgt. Cummings and Texas Bride Return to Area

Marines Sgt. Harold R. Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mathews of Forestlawn Street, is home from Beirut, Lebanon where he has been stationed for the past two years. He served as a security guard for the U. S. Embassy.

While in Lebanon he married the former Barbara Lawrence of Dallas, Tex., who was employed overseas by the United States Government.

The newlyweds will be honored at a reception and homecoming party Saturday evening in the home of Sgt. Cummings' twin brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cummings of Richmond Avenue.

Sgt. and Mrs. Cummings leave for a visit with her family in Dallas and from there journey to Camp Lejeune, N.C. where he will be stationed.

Now it's the Courreges look for dining. Clean-lined chairs, their continuous-tubing frames finished in pristine white, have distinctive slung-strap backs of pumpkin vinyl. The vinyl is repeated in the recessed table apron for a go-together look. White laminated plastic table top measures 36x48 inches, 36x60 inches with matching leaf added. The five-piece Contemporary grouping, which is available in a wide range of table top and upholstery patterns, with frames finished in white or chrome, is by B. Brody Seating Company, Chicago. Available in area.

Completely practical for a young family, this metal provincial-style dining group by B. Brody Seating Company adds a note of elegance to the room. The extension table is surfaced with a new fruitwood pattern laminated plastic. Table and chair legs are finished in bronze tone. Available in area.

Stainless steel furniture takes its place in the decorating world. Here it is shown in sleek contrast to a traditional French chair. At present, a local outlet for this new chair is not known.

Hamburger Recipes Are Good Stand-bys

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
SOS . . . SOS . . . SOS
... Calling all readers. I seem to have dozens of recipes for cakes, cookies and desserts and all too few for main dishes and salads.

Can't you help make this column more versatile by sending in your favorite idea for the needed foods?

Mrs. Richard Soucy has already done so with three good hamburger recipes, two of which we're printing.

The first is a quick recipe for Sloppy Joes.

SLOPPY JOES
By Mrs. Richard Soucy
1 pound hamburger
1 onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour

1/2 teaspoon Worcester-shire sauce
1/4 cup catsup
Cook meat, onion, salt and pepper until meat loses its red color. Stir occasionally. Blend in flour. Add 1 1/2 cups water, then rest of ingredients.

Simmer, stirring occasionally, 15-20 minutes. Serve on hamburger buns. Makes six servings.

Here's her recipe for an easy meat loaf.
1 1/2 pounds hamburger
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup raw oatmeal
1 package onion soup mix
4 eggs
1/2 cup milk
Mix all ingredients together. Shape into flat loaf in bread pan, leaving 1/2-inch space around loaf. Add 1/2 cup water to pan. Bake one hour at 350 degrees. Makes six servings.

Dieting? Then fried foods, rich sauces and gravies should be taboo.

Crumble crisply cooked bacon and add to buttered noodles to be served with veal or chicken.

Idea for Spot to Conceal Key Not So Unusual

BOISE, Ida. (AP) — After work, Mrs. Harold Hodges slipped into a gold-colored 1966 sedan in the parking lot, reached under the seat, pulled out the ignition key and drove to her hairdressers.

She had arranged in advance for her son to leave the car in the lot with the key under the seat.

At the hairdressers, she called home to ask her daughter-in-law to put the roast in the oven.

She was shocked to learn that her car was still in the family garage. Her son had not driven it to the parking lot as she had asked.

Mrs. Hodges called the police and found that Webb Cox, who works in the same office as Mrs. Hodges had reported his gold-colored car "missing."

Save time when sewing by running short seams against a hot lighted electric bulb. This presses seam open satisfactorily.

The engagement of Helen R. Romo to Lee G. Reyes, son of Mrs. Connie Reyes of South Paddock Street, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trinidad Romo of Taylor Road, Pontiac Township.

Glow Away

Dried materials such as thistle, driftwood and seed pods take on a special glow when sprinkled generously with either silver or gold dust.

Looking Ahead

Before starting on a trip, mark the route on your road map with a yellow or light green color. The printing on the map will show through these colors.

Heat and moisture do the job in ironing, not pressure. Don't waste energy bearing down on the iron.

Want Price? Fix Up House Before Selling

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money
Management

Planning to put your house up for sale? Then take it for granted you'll have some homework to do first. Experienced real estate agents will tell you no prospect is going to look at your property through your eyes.

It may be a dear and comfortable refuge to you, and never mind the fact that the paint is peeling in the foyer and some of the hardware is missing from the kitchen cabinets. You don't even notice the minor irritants anymore because they're so familiar.

But how about the prospective buyer? Can you ask him for indulgence as well as money? Not and get it, too.

So start taking inventory now. Some of the improvements you'll need to make will cost you a little money. But spending it in the right places is no gamble. It's an investment.

WHAT TO CHECK

Here's a check list to begin with:

Tidy up the outside premises. Shovel the snow or mow the lawn. Get any refuse or broken bicycle wheels and such out of sight. See that the front stoop is free of ice or mud.

Repaint woodwork or walls that won't stand the light of day. There's no profit in telling a prospect how things could look. Show him.

A good washing may save the cost of repainting—both outside and in. Make sure the windows shine. Keep the windows clean.

Have leaky faucets, stained tubs and basins? Scrub up and replace the washers. A prospect will be critically interested in how well all the plumbing works. If a plumber is required, call him in now.

How can you pep up the kitchen? Inexpensive new curtains, new hardware, fresh taping for work counters? Remember that kitchen and bathrooms are key areas in appealing to a prospect.

LIGHTING IMPORTANT

Call in the carpenter if there are any loose door knobs.

warped windows or doors, or drawers that won't close snugly. Tidy up the closets. Orderly arrangement of the contents makes the closet space appear roomier.

Check carpeting and railings on stairways. One little tripping and the prospect has something unpleasant to remember you by. Give some thought to the lighting. Would more wattage provide a more cheerful atmosphere? Would rearrangement of lamps make a room more inviting?

Never forget that you have to spend a little money in order to make a lot. So be as critical as you can of your home.

One more word: when your real estate agent is showing the house, don't tag along. Let him do the talking about price, terms and whatever else is on the prospect's mind.

He has a lot more experience in this field than you have.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

No woman can be quite so stunning as the tall one who capitalizes on her height instead of regretting it. She can wear spectacular accessories and high-style clothes which are more or less lost when worn by a shorter woman. That's one reason for the above-average-height of most models.

Along with above-average-height must go much better-than-average posture. Beautiful posture is essential if your height is to be a positive value rather than a negative one and if you are to be impressive. Carry yourself like a queen and stand just as tall as you can, spine straight, tummy in, hips under, and knees and shoulders relaxed.

You can wear heavy exotic earrings, chunky bracelets and carry chic big pocket-books with ease and assurance. No delicate pearls for you! So far as shoes, you can take into consideration the height of your husband or date and how they feel about it. There is surely no problem here!

There are so many attractive shoes with shaped heels which are not high. In fact you will be lost in style with a lower heel (shoe not man).

You can wear the big beautiful flashy dramatic colorful prints which are so popular today and which the shorter or fat woman cannot get away with. I would not advise you to wear stripes which go up and down. If you are madly in love with a dress which has stripes be sure that they go round and round you. You can break the impression of height with tops and bottoms of a contrasting color. For instance, a light blouse and a dark skirt or vice versa, or a dress which has the same. Wide belts of a contrasting color are flattering. Any buttons or design should go across instead of up and down.

If you have a small bust and large hips, you should choose a light top and a dark skirt. If your bust is large but your hips are not slim, reverse the technique.

Never be self-conscious about being above average in height or even tall! This is an advantage as you grow older too.

Frankenmuth Vows for Richard Beutels

Honeymooning in Chicago are the Richard Alan Beutels (Corinne Florence Bleke) who were wed recently in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Frankenmuth.

A dinner-reception in the High Life Inn, Saginaw, followed the afternoon ceremony performed by the bride's grandfather, the Rev. Oscar Fedder of Chicago.

Parents of the couple are the Walter F. Blekes of Frankenmuth and the William F. Beutels of Pinhurst Road, Independence Township.

LACE BODICE
An Empire bodice of illusion lace highlighted the bride's gown and train of white satin fallie worn with veil of silk illusion.

She held a nosegay of white Phalaenopsis orchids and lilies of the valley.

With honor matron, Mrs. Roger Groulx of Madison Heights, were bridesmaids Dee Kowalski, Detroit; Pamela Pullis and Mary Nerowski, Royal Oak, and Mrs. William Beutel, Oak Park.

Timothy Jockwig of Lansing was best man. Ushering at their sister's wedding were Bert Bleke, Valparaiso, Ind. and Dwight Bleke, along with William Beutel and Lewis Wint, Clarkston.

The bride was graduated from the Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing and her husband is enrolled for graduate study at Michigan State University.

MRS. RICHARD ALAN BEUTEL

Corinne Florence Bleke, daughter of the Walter F. Blekes of Frankenmuth and Richard Alan Beutel, son of the William F. Beutels of Pinhurst Road, were wed recently in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Frankenmuth.

Widow's Life Is Dedicated to Service

DEXTER, Mo. (UPI) — It might be hard to believe, but Mrs. Geneva Massey really gets letters from women thanking her "for my kindness to their husbands."

"These are the times I know I am doing a worthwhile job," Mrs. Massey says of the letters.

Mrs. Massey's job since 1951 has been to volunteer for more than 3,700 hours at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Poplar Bluff in southeast Missouri, almost 55 miles from her Dexter home.

Mrs. Massey, a widow since 1938, also is a nurse's aide at a convalescent home and does other volunteer work at a clinic.

She does the volunteer work, Mrs. Massey said, because her husband, a World War I veteran, told her that he appreciated the work of volunteers when he was hospitalized before his death.

Brian Arrives

Word comes from Chicago of the March 20 birth of a son, Brian Charles, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Gasche (Karen Eicher). Grandparents are the David Elchers of Winterberry Drive, West Bloomfield Township.

Post Marks 47th Year

A gala party in honor of its 47th birthday was held by the American Legion No. 20 and its Auxiliary recently in the post home.

Dr. Lynn Allen spoke at the event where Mrs. David Warlow served as toastmistress.

Guests included Commander and Mrs. Ralph Bogart, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Agnes Dunt, Mrs. Pearl Brooks and Mrs. Ray Jewell.

Some Dress Tips

For a practical way to hold some ties on the inside of your closet door, put a cup hook on either side and stretch a heavy rubber band between them. The ties will not slide off.

• If you still have trouble tying a bowtie, do it just like you put the bow knot on a shoelace. Then look at a mirror to smooth it out.

• You can restore the shiny look to scuffed and grimy rubbers by applying liquid shoe polish.

Silence Often Says a Lot

How much time do people actually spend in talking?

Careful measurements show that it's only for a total of 10 to 11 minutes daily, on the average, with men ranking about equally with women, an anthropologist reports.

"The standard spoken sentence takes only 2½ seconds," explains Dr. Ray L. Birdwhistell of Temple University Medical Center. We do far more communicating with body movements, with our eyes and eyebrows, facial expressions, hands and shoulders, and also with our silences that sometimes can say a very great deal, he adds.

The Tragic Toll

Half a million children under 5 years of age accidentally consume poisonous substances every year. About 500 of them die.

Efforts to Form New Cabinet Prove Fruitless in Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia's new leaders met again with President Sukarno today without reaching agreement on a new anti-Communist cabinet to cope with the nation's political and economic chaos.

The meeting brought Sukarno together with a presidium of key civilian and military representatives who have been trying to forge a cabinet for four days. Another meeting was scheduled later today, sources said.

There was concern in some quarters that unless the presidium reached a decision on a new cabinet soon, the students who toppled Sukarno's 100-man cabinet would again stage street demonstrations.

Meanwhile, Jakarta remained calm and the military shortened the nightly curfew by 3½ hours. While the presidium deliberated, influential political parties expressed their support for Gen. Suharto, the new strongman.

The powerful Moslem party Nahdlatul Ulama issued a statement saying there is "strong ground for endorsing and supporting" Suharto. It urged the government to move against manipulators and graft and corruption, increase productivity and reject foreign aid which has strings attached.

The Catholic party also announced its support for Suharto and called for a new foreign policy that would be "independent and active and guided by national interests."

Sukarno appeared at a Pakistani reception Wednesday night and declared: "I am still president of Indonesia. I am still supreme commander of the armed forces. I am still leader of the Indonesian revolution."

Sukarno appeared in good humor and wore a field marshal's uniform. He spoke in English.

"Abroad they say I have been toppled," he said. "Abroad they say I have been ousted. Abroad they say I am a sick man, nearly dying. Abroad they say I am nearly committed suicide. Abroad they say I have asked the Manila government for asylum."

"I am not a sick man. I am quite healthy. I have not been ousted. I have not asked the Philippines for asylum. I never tried to commit suicide because I love life."

2 Unions May Strike for Pay

Airline Mechanics, Miners Seek Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unions which represent 100,000 soft coal miners and 34,000 airline mechanics are threatening to strike in support of demands for pay increases which exceed the administration's wage guidelines.

Neither threatened walkout is imminent, however.

At a New York meeting Wednesday, the National Policy Committee of the Independent United Mine Workers of America gave union officials the go-ahead to call a strike to support efforts to gain a 4 per cent pay raise for the 100,000 soft coal workers in 25 states.

But the union would first have to give a 60-day notice of intention to terminate the present contract, and there was no indication when such a step might be taken.

FIVE AIRLINES

At about the same time, the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists issued a statement here that it would strike five airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — unless a deadline in negotiations is broken by April 23.

The machinists seek a 15 per cent pay hike.

President Johnson has called repeatedly on unions to hold wage demands within 3.2 per cent on the theory that such an increase would be offset by productivity advances and therefore would not be inflationary.

A strike by the mine workers would be the first major one in the industry in 17 years.

POLICY COMMITTEE

The policy committee took just 25 minutes to authorize the union's leadership to call a strike. Union officials planned to return here Thursday to continue negotiations with representatives of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

The association represents 60 per cent of the industry and normally sets wage patterns for other mine owners.

In seeking a 4 per cent increase over the current daily pay rate of $26.25, the mine workers' union contends the soft coal industry is one of the most automated in the nation with an average annual increase in productivity of about 5 per cent since 1964.

The machinists union has refused to submit the airlines dispute to arbitration by the National Mediation Board.

Soviet Ship to Receive U.S. Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet ship that has run out of money for supplies will be able to get funds from the United States, says the State Department, but not until a request comes through proper channels.

The ship, the Vityaz, pulled into Manila Bay needing $4,000 to replenish its stores.

It asked the American Consulate in Manila to supply the funds in the form of a guarantee to the Philippine government.

The consulate relayed the Soviet request to Washington for instructions.

Officials here said yesterday they would be happy to help out the ship but added that the request must come from the Soviet foreign ministry.

The ocean survey ship is participating in an intergovernment oceanographic study sponsored by the United Nations. There was no indication why the ship ran out of funds.

U. of M. Prof to Face Congress Incumbent

DEARBORN (AP) — John T. Dempsey, a political science professor at the University of Michigan's Dearborn Campus, said Wednesday he would oppose incumbent Democrat John Dingell in the 16th Congressional District this year. Dempsey, a strong supporter of Gov. George Romney, said Dingell's record "has not been really impressive."

Tiring but Profitable

Washington Party Circuit Just Full of 'Live Wires'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Goblets clink, Champagne bubbles, waiters stand erect in stiff white collars. A combo plays under the Picasso and an ambassador dines on a table in candlelight.

It's a Washington party on the diplomatic circuit, one of 200 a month, 1,800 a season.

It's an extension of office hours redone in dinner jacket. For many diplomats, it's the most profitable part of the working day.

Large, boring, exciting, intimate, opulent — regardless, it's an intrinsic link in the capital scene, a tableau enacted up to 30 times a night from the mansions on Foxhall Road to the embassies along Massachusetts Avenue.

LESS RESTRAINED

Conversation in an atmosphere of hors d'oeuvres and rustling gowns is bound to be less restrained than that during the day.

Where else would one learn: Vice President Humphrey can out of money on his Asian trip and borrowed $7.46 from Thailand Ambassador James Thompson to buy Muriel some Thai silk.

The Marquesa de Merry del Val, chief wife of the Spanish ambassador, thinks Tulsa, Okla., is one of the "most beautiful places in the world."

Romanian Ambassador Petre Balceanu considers cocktails a "business" and drinks milk before every party.

BOX OF FLOWERS

Federal Communications Commission Chairman Henry got a casket size box of flowers from actress Carol Channing as a gag, so big that pallbearers had to move it around.

Food goes native. The Turkish have grape leaves, the Arabs have lamb, the French serve pastries and the Koreans pine nut soup.

One market caters exotic foods to embassies and says that without parties it would be a bankrupt. When there are no guests, virtually all the embassy crowd eats American foods.

Drinks are light: tomato juice, grapefruit juice, ginger ale. The tipsy diplomat is not common. Most envoys go to extremes to avoid drinking too much.

BATTLE PLAN

At an average ambassador might attend three cocktail parties and a dinner nightly with this battle plan: nothing the first round, fruit juice the second, a weak whisky the third round, wine with dinner and no after-dinner drink.

The result is a great savings for the host on liquor, particularly if he's lucky enough to have the first party.

Dieting is common. But so are retound ambassadors.

Washington party-goers familiar with the 120 embassies tend to view diplomats as tourists.

sort of the passers-by in their own embassies. This kind of conversation is inevitable.

CHIT CHAT

"When the—s were here, this room had maroon drapes, much more sophisticated." "Remember the portrait over the mantle? The—s took it home." "I liked last year's party, but remember the wild one in '58."

Dress is tricky. If you attend functions requiring different attire, you either: change in the car, rush home between parties or wear one outfit and bear the remarks.

Some have sought attention by purposely wearing a long gown to an informal gathering, indicating a busy schedule, a fact which brought this remark from former Postmaster Day recently:

"Really, I'm serious. I'm ill, strolled out of a gathering recently and, asked what he'd been doing, replied he was settling the affairs of Southeast Asia.

long gowns so often that many shop incognito at a low-budget store off Connecticut Avenue. Parties and politics are Siamese twins.

Ghana canceled its national day celebration after that country's change in power recently. Syria, after a political shift at home, kept its celebration. Charge d'Affaires Dia Allah el-Fattal, explained to guests: "We consider it a movement, not a change of regime."

SOLVE PROBLEMS

Hostilities, aid programs, and political visits are known to have been worked out at social functions. It's said that former French Ambassador Herve Alphand got more done in 15 minutes at one of his wife's parties than in a week of office work.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., strolled out of a gathering recently and, asked what he'd been doing, replied he was settling the affairs of Southeast Asia.

Fear Is a Big Barrier for Alabama Negro Candidates

(EDITOR'S NOTE—For the first time this century, Negroes are running for public office in a dozen rural counties of Alabama. What are their views? What of the new Negro voters? The reaction of white residents? The following report is based on a 1,000-mile trip through the counties involved.)

By DON McKEE

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Negro candidates are discovering they must convince not only white voters but some Negroes as well that it is time for political changes in rural Alabama. Fear still is a reality in some areas.

"Some Negroes think it is not time yet to elect Negroes," said Rev. Frank Smith, a civil rights leader in rural Wilcox County. "They are afraid the Negro wouldn't know what he is doing. They seem to have that inferiority complex."

There are 46 Negroes running for public office and another 24 are running for the state legislature in the 19 counties. The Black Panther party committee posts in the Black Belt, that girdle of rolling cattle farms, timberlands and Negro shanties across Alabama.

Some will be elected. How many is uncertain because of splits among the Negro voters and the narrow margin of white or Negro voting majorities in some areas. Until recent months, there were few Negro voters in the Black Belt counties. The Voting Rights Act changed that.

NEGRO ATTITUDE

The Negro attitude ranges from outright opposition to Negro candidates to hopes of biracial politics and the militancy of the Black Panther partisans.

White reaction often is that of weary head-shaking, sometimes alarm and occasionally resignation.

The Black Belt seems quiet. Perhaps the racial struggle, long fought in the streets, is moving into the political arena. "Sometimes I think it is too quiet," said Henry McCaskill, 50, a Greensboro, about 50 miles northwest of Selma. "Like waiting for a time bomb to go off."

PROFICIENT AT JUDO

McCaskill, 5-10, weighs 247 and is proficient at judo and karate as a result of 13 years in the old Army Air Force.

He is running for sheriff of Hale County against three white men. McCaskill is the only Negro running for any office in his county. Why?

"The Negro," he said, "is still overcome with the shadow of fear. If we ever overcome fear, we have it made."

Negroes have a slight voting edge in the county. But McCaskill, a Baptist preacher and Jew-

SURE OF WINNING

In adjoining Green County, Sheriff William Lee is confident of winning reelection even though he must get about 1,000 Negro votes to do so. Lee, in fact, laughed about his opposition. And one Negro candidate said Lee would get many Negro votes.

The challenger is Rev. Thomas E. Gilmore, 24, a Baptist preacher and project director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Gilmore, who wears a tall black hat with fur-like fringes, said he was running in order to combat the fears that Negroes have for white persons and law enforcement officers.

"I feel this is one of the first steps in getting rid of fears," he said. "The sheriff will get about as many Negro votes as I will. White votes — very few."

There is a split among the Negroes, apparently. Two Negroes are running for the same office against a white candidate. Rev. Peter J. Kirksey, who is on the slate that includes Gilmore, is running for the Board of Education against Martin L. Goodson, a farmer and ex-steelworker.

"There's a great big doubt that Gilmore will be elected sheriff," Goodson said. "From what people say they don't think at this time that he could handle that position adequately. They don't feel the time is ripe enough for law enforcement to be entrusted entirely in Negro hands."

In Perry County, Negroes are divided.

"Some didn't like the slate of candidates and got disgruntled over it," said Lawrence Johnson, 73, a retired farm agent who runs the cooperative store of the civil rights group in Marina, 30 miles northwest of Selma.

"Some will vote for white candidates," he said.

One of the Negro candidates in Perry County, Rev. Ohio L. Scott, is a brother of Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. King is the SCLC president.

Scott, a slender man of 35, is a candidate for tax collector. He has two white opponents. In Wilcox, Negro candidate Lonnie Lee Brown Sr., seeking a state Senate seat, shook hands and gave out leaflets at Boykin Yellow Bluff and Beatrice.

IMPROVE SITUATION

"We hope to improve the whole economic situation," he told a frail Negro woman at a ramshackle store in the all-Negro community of Boykin.

The candidate talked with W. D. Brown, a schoolteacher.

"I think we, as Negroes," said the teacher, "are going to play it smooth. We are not going to make the mistakes we made before."

He would not commit himself. But he said: "We have been on the outside. Now we are on the inside. About a hundred years ago we lost our influence, maybe by acting too fast."

At Eufaula, on the eastern boundary of Alabama, there are 13 Negro candidates running in Barbour County — home of Gov. George C. Wallace. Nine of the Negroes seek seats on the Democratic Executive Committee.

But in this county, the Negro voters number about 2,500 less than the white voters. John Kelly Jr., a Negro leader and candidate for the Board of Education, said a renewed registration drive was under way and possibly could add 2,000 voters.

The candidate for sheriff is Wesley McNear, 32, a bachelor and apprentice mortician.

"Even if I lose," he said, "the sheriff will be almost forced to hire a Negro deputy. One way or the other we win."

In Lowndes County — between Selma and Montgomery — the third party move of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee seems to have succeeded. Negroes are not concerned about party but rather about persons.

GOOD START

"I think it will be a good start," said Gardelia White, a Negro. "The main purpose is to get some Negroes in office and straighten out some of this."

The committee's Stokely Carmichael said candidates for the Lowndes County Freedom party, under the Black Panther emblem, will be chosen May 3 at a mass meeting.

In Selma, Rev. J. D. Hunter, 48, is running for the Dallas County Board of Revenue — the governing authority — and he opposes the white incumbent.

"Negroes are restless," he said. "And one reason is they feel there has been taxation without representation. I would like to help create a better atmosphere."

"I believe there is a possibility we can work together."

"Things are not going to be right until we can."

Drives Car for Exercise

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Retired banker Richard S. Burnett thought a good way to get exercise would be to raise dogs. But Heidi, his 22-month-old Doberman Pinscher, has a more vigorous gait than Burnett had in mind.

So every morning Heidi trots, alongside Burnett's car and the only exercise he gets is holding her on a leash out the window.

'Mine Safety Changes Won't Cut Coal Profits'

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Robert Holcom, president of the National Independent Coal Operators Association, says amendments to a federal coal mine safety law passed last week would not affect the profits of small mines.

Holcom said small-mine operators were exempted from provisions of the safety code by the amendments.

Medicare Drive Is in Last Stage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Social Security Administration is staging an intensive stretch drive to get a yes or no answer from the 2 million older who still have not said whether they want Medicare insurance against doctors' bills.

With one week to go before the deadline, about 85 per cent of the nation's 19 million eligible elderly have signed up.

As of today, Social Security has received enrollment cards from about 16 million men and women over 65.

Another 1 million have indicated they do not want the coverage. That leaves 2 million still to be heard from.

The insurance coverage is available at the bargain rate of $3 a month. Benefits begin July 1, but the deadline for enrollment is March 31, next Thursday.

FINAL EFFORT

In an effort to reach as many of the remaining 2 million during the coming week, Social Security district offices will be open on Saturday this weekend, and will remain open evenings until 9 next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

In addition, simplified application forms will be available at all of the nation's 34,000 post offices.

A special task force of 1,800 temporary employees, hired just for the month of March, will be making telephone calls from Social Security district offices as a reminder to persons who have not yet returned the application cards mailed to them weeks ago.

Social Security officials anticipate that this activity may result in doubling during the final week the flow of applications which has been averaging about 500,000 a week.

BY DEADLINE

Thus, by deadline time, all but about 1 million of the eligible old folks will have had the chance to say yes or no.

Those who fail to sign up by March 31 may have to wait two years before they get another opportunity to come into the program.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress to provide a grace period for late enrollees. But no one knows when or whether it will be enacted.

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Contracts Awarded for Building Work

The Pontiac Board of Education last night awarded $273,661 in construction contracts for work at two elementary schools and voted a special expenditure of $70,750 to replace a boiler at a third school.

The construction money is scheduled for building of additional classrooms at Franklin School, 661 Franklin and Emerson School, 859 Emerson.

Dale E. Cook Construction Co. was awarded the general contract in the amount of $187,306; H.H. Stanton Plumbing & Heating the mechanical trades for $18,700.

Board members voted monies from the school district's contingency fund for construction of a new boiler at Owen Elementary, 43 E. Columbia.

The project had been presented to the board March 9 as part of the administration's staff studies requesting allocations not included in the preliminary budget.

COMPLETION DATE
Richard C. Fell, asst. supt. building and staff personnel, said installation of a new boiler is scheduled for Sept. 1 of this year.

In other business, board members approved without exception an increase in out-of-district student fees for summer school, creation of a new administrative position at each high school, and a purchase of a potential site on the city's north side.

Summer school rates were established for secondary school students within the district at $20 for two hours; $30 for four hours; and $45 for six hours for the six-week course.

Pupils residing outside the school district will be assessed an additional $5 above fees for students from the Pontiac district.

NEW POSITIONS
Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer was given approval by board members to begin efforts to fill newly created administrative positions at Pontiac

Northern and Pontiac Central high schools.

The position at Pontiac Central would be that of an assistant principal in addition to two already at the school.

The new assistant would be assigned to management of student control, discipline and individual problems.

At Northern, the addition would be enlargement of a presently half-time assistant post to full-time status.

OTHER DUTIES
The administrative assistant is in charge of the attendance function in addition to other management duties.

The board formally approved allotment of $5,000 towards purchase price of a 55-acre site in Pontiac Township near the intersection of Shimmings and I-75.

The site was selected by board members earlier this year for possible future use as location of a new junior high school north of Kennedy Junior High.

Population in Latin America is growing at the rate of 2.5 to 3 per cent annually, almost twice as fast as the rest of the world put together, the World Health Organization reports.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations... the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way.

late from left fielder Willie Horton, who picked off a fly ball off the bat of Frank Bolling. The ball was deep enough to permit Jones to scamper home. The run mattered little, however, as the Tigers won, 3-2.

Tigers Now 10-2 After Tight Win

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Things have been going so smoothly for the Tigers lately that they even got away with giving up a couple of runs Wednesday.

Hank Aguirre and Terry Fox combined for another stellar pitching performance as the Tigers whipped the Atlanta Braves, 3-2 for their seventh straight victory and 10th in a dozen Grapefruit League games. Both Atlanta runs were unearned.

Aguirre said he felt better warming up than in the game but added he was satisfied with his six innings work.

Aguirre's toughest inning was the fourth when Rico Carby hit a leadoff single and Mack Jones followed with a double in the right field corner.

Frank Bolling walked to load the bases but Aguirre got out of the jam by striking out Dennis Menke and getting pinch-hitter Jim Beauchamp to hit into a double play.

Singles by Mickey Stanley, Dick Tracewicz and Willie Horton gave the Tigers their first run in the first inning. They added another in the third without benefit of a hit. Stanley walked, stole second, went to third when pitcher Arnold Unschuch threw the ball into center field on a pickoff attempt and scored as Jim Northrup bounded out.

Northrup picked one of Billy O'Dell's offerings to launch his third triple of the spring lead-off in the sixth. He scored the eventual winning run on Don Wert's infield hit down the third base line.

MFL Adds New Team

The membership in the Midwest Football League swelled to six today with the addition of the Detroit-Rouge Steelers.

The Steelers, who'll play their home games in River Rouge, were granted a franchise by club owners in the MFL last night.

Acceptance of the Steelers organization climaxed a month-long investigation of the organization by MFL Commissioner John Abel of Pontiac.

Abel, who met with the group last week, came away impressed with the Steelers and recommended to club owners that the organization be admitted to the MFL.

The Steelers are owned by a group of 15 businessmen headed by Roy A. Berger, city clerk in River Rouge.

LEAGUE MEETING

Abel said that representatives from the Steelers would meet with officials from the other clubs in the league at the scheduling meeting in Dayton, Ohio, April 22.

Other members of the MFL are Pontiac, Flint, Lansing, Ypsilanti and Dayton.

Groups from two other cities — Saginaw and Columbus, Ohio — have approached the MFL concerning information on franchises, but Abel said it's unlikely that any action could

Gord Howe 'Outlegs' Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — Gordie Howe, who has scored more National Hockey League goals than any man in history, takes them any way he can get them. The veteran Detroit Red Wing star, playing his 20th NHL season, scored the winner in a 3-1 victory over New York Wednesday night when he shot kicked off his leg and into the Ranger goal.

The Steelers will play a full league schedule this fall.

Paul Parks, president of the Pontiac Arrows Football Company, reached agreement with coach Lyle Wells earlier this week on a 1966 contract, and Parks said the group would have season tickets available within the next two weeks.

Wells, who lives in St. Clair Shores, led the Arrows to the championship last year, clinching the season with a 7-5 victory over the MFL All-Stars at Wisner Stadium.

It was Howe's 28th goal of the season and the 624th of his fabulous career. Earlier he had helped set up rookie defenseman Bob Wall's first NHL goal.

That one tied the game after Ranger defenseman Jim Neilson had scored the only goal of the opening period. "I'll take it," grinned Howe. "We won and that's what counts."

It was an important triumph for the Wings—their fourth in the last five games. With third place Toronto idle, the victory left the Wings just one point back of the Leafs. Toronto has three games in hand with seven to play to only four for Detroit.

Ex-Ranger Dean Prentice started the play that led to Howe's winner. He passed the puck to defenseman Bert Marshall, who got off a wrist shot from the Ranger blueline. Howe was cruising in front when the puck hit his leg and skipped by Cesare Maniago at 7:27 of the third period.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Pardee, outside linebacker who retired from the Los Angeles Rams last year to become assistant football coach at his alma mater, Texas A&M, rejoined the Rams Wednesday.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, virtual medley, Ohio State's Bob Hopper in the 200-yard individual medley and Bill Craig of USC in the 100-yard breaststroke.

One memory of things past is the problem of dead heats. A new timing device, developed at the University of Michigan, judges finishers within fine-line allowances of five one-millionths of a second.

Coaches have been trying different methods of contending with the rarefied air. Dr. James Counsilman moved his Indiana team into the spacious 1,450-seat Cadet natatorium nearly a week ago to get thoroughly acclimated.

INDIANA FAVORED Experts look for the Hoosiers to surpass the University of Southern California Trojans who beat them 285 to 278½ in last year's meet. The nation's outstanding college diver, Ken Sitzberger, is defending his one and three-meter titles for Indiana. Other Indiana standouts are Olympians Bob Windle and Kevin Berry.

North Carolina State and 10 other teams also checked in early to get the hang of Rocky Mountain air and water.

On the other hand, coaches at USC, and Olympian-studded University of Michigan students to keep their boys at home and arrived here only Wednesday.

Roy Saari on USC is defending the three records he set last year in the 200, 500 and 1,650-yard freestyle events. Another multi-title defender is Gary Dill of Michigan State in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke.

Other standouts defending individual records include Tom Trethway of Indiana in the 200-yard breaststroke, Carol Robie of Michigan in the 400-yard indi-

ROUGH WORK — Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas (16) fought the Boston Celtics for this rebound during the fourth period of their NBA playoff game in Boston last night. In the play is Wayne Embry (15) of the Royals, K. C. Jones (left) of Boston and teammate John Havlicek (17). Cincinnati won, 107-103, to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five series.

Royals Trim Celtics in Opener of Playoff

BOSTON (AP) — "We came to play and they came to win," said Boston Celtics' Coach Red Auerbach after his defending National Basketball Association champions got off on the wrong foot in the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs.

The comment summed up the series opener after the Royals outshouted the favored Celtics 107-103 to send the series to Cincinnati for the second game Saturday night with the Royals holding a 1-0 advantage.

The Western Division semifinal playoff opens tonight in Baltimore with the Bullets getting the home court advantage for their meeting with the St. Louis Hawks.

"The money game, baby, we won the money game," cried big Wayne Embry as the Royals entered their dressing room after upsetting the Celtics. The underdog Cincinnati team seemed as surprised as the crowd of 9,510 that they had taken Boston much easier than the score indicated.

CREDITS DEFENSE — Royals' Coach Jack McMahon credited his defense with the victory, as did Jerry Lucas, one of the heroes of the big victory.

"The defense did it, the defense did it," repeated McMahon. "It's one thing to talk about it and another thing to play it as tough as we did."

Auerbach felt it was a game where everything went right for the Royals and nothing went right for the Celtics.

"Everything we did in the first quarter was wrong," he said reflecting on Boston's sorry performance in which it scored only 17 points.

"We were just as bad in the third quarter," he added. "We cut the lead to three points and then we gave up the ball three times without taking a shot."

"Our shooting was worse than the percentage (400 per cent on field goal tries) indicates," Auerbach said. "The percentage went up at the end when they let us in for those easy layups."

Astros' Muscleman After Team Berth

By the Associated Press
Frank Howard is ready to head north. Dave Nicholson hopes for a trip south.

"They met before starting their respective travels, and the result was a 13-7 exhibition victory for Houston over Washington Wednesday."

Nicholson drove in six runs with two homers for the Astros while Howard unloaded a 500-foot homer for the Senators.

The homer was the first of the spring for the monstrous Howard, but the previous lack of the long ball hasn't bothered the outfielder, who has been spraying enough other hits.

"I'm ready to go north," the 6-foot-7, 255 pounder said. "I wish the season was starting now. I've never felt this way before so early."

Nicholson, on the other hand, would like to feel that his luster performance against the Senators will help him headed south—from Oklahoma City to Houston.

AFTER POSITION
The 26-year-old Nicholson is trying to win a job in the Astro outfield, but he is on the roster of Houston's Pacific Coast League farm team at Oklahoma City.

"I'm getting about a hit a game, and I'm not striking out as much," the one-time bonus baby said. "At least they (the Astros) keep playing me. I hope that means something."

The White Sox and Detroit extended their winning streaks Wednesday, Chicago edging Cincinnati 4-3 for its sixth straight and the Tigers nipping

Atlanta 3-2 for their seventh in a row.

The New York Mets increased their record to 4-3, rallying for five unearned runs in the ninth inning and a 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh. Bill Mazeroski's error started the rally, and Jim Hickman's two-out, run-scoring single capped it.

Minnesota edged Philadelphia 5-4 on Rick Renick's ninth-inning homer while eighth-inning homers by Clete Boyer and Bobby Murcer gave the New York Yankees an 8-6 verdict over Boston.

FOUR RBI'S
Bill Bryan drove in four runs with a homer and a single, leading Kansas City past Baltimore 11-9, and Lou Brock helped St. Louis to a 6-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers with two singles and a double.

In two more one-run contests, the Chicago Cubs topped California 4-3 on Ron Santo's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning, and Cleveland trimmed San Francisco 2-1 on run-scoring singles by Fred Whitfield and Max Alvis in the ninth.

Clay (Hodges) Appears Class of Big Boxers
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Clay Hodges of Los Angeles, a 6-foot-4, 265-pounder who moves like a little man and his like a big one, and Louisville's gifted lightweight Marcus Anderson are the top men in the 39th annual National Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament.

Two defending champions are still around going into Friday night's semifinals and finals. They are the Miller brothers of Fairview, Mont. — flyweight Roland (Boom Boom) Miller of the Minneapolis team and bantamweight Mel Miller of the Billings, Mont. team.

Los Angeles, defending team champion, is close to another crown with 14 points, Minneapolis has 12, Cleveland and Kansas City 10 each. All four teams have three men each in the semifinals.

U. S. Horse Takes Sweepstakes Race
DONCASTER, England (AP) — A Black Saturday looms for England's legalized bookies following the victory of the American-owned and bred Riot Act in the Lincolnshire Handicap.

Riot Act, owned by Mrs. John F. C. Bryce's Mill River Stud at South Arlington, Vt., won the one mile Lincolnshire Wednesday as the 6-1 favorite in a packed field of 48 horses.

The Lincolnshire, on which the Irish Sweepstakes was based, also was the first in what is known as the Spring Double, linking the Lincolnshire and the Aintree Grand Steeplechase.

PCH Thinclads Open Saturday in Huron Meet

12 Lettermen; Strong in Field Events

Strength in field events and experienced depth in distance races mark the Pontiac Central track team that will debut Saturday.

The Chiefs will participate in the annual indoor Huron Relays at Eastern Michigan University.

Coch Dean Wilson is building the team around 12 lettermen. Leading the veterans is Don Lavalais who high jumped 6-5 and long jumped 22-3/4 last spring. A sore knee has hampered his preparations for the EMU meet.

"Don should be able to clear 6-7 or 6-8 this spring," said Wilson.

Hurdler Bill Tipton could become one of the best in the state. His best time in the high hurdles last year was 14.7 seconds. His fastest trip over the lows was 19.8.

Tipton, however, has been forced to miss several practices because of the flu.

Harold Boone and Joe Dickie return in the mile. Pole vaulters Ken Frank and Earl Pelt both bettered 12 feet in 1965 and Joe Smith was over six feet in the high jump.

QUARTER-MILERS

Bill Hollis had a 1:39.1 clocking in the 880 last year. There is an abundance of experience in the 440 with Karel Williams, Art Wiggins, Bob Turpin and Larry Lewis back.

The Chiefs are not expected to be strong in dashes and sprints.

"This could change," said Wilson. "It depends on how well the sophomores and juniors come along."

Among the leading sophomores are miler Larry Hurst, long jumper Robert Johnson, sprinter Walter Noel, pole vaulter Walter Terry and hurdler Alton Wilson.

The Chiefs will compete against 62 other Class A schools in the Huron Relays starting at 1 p.m. Class B competition is scheduled Friday at 2 p.m.

Sailor Sinks; Still Leading

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Larry Marks and Dick Hughes of England in Murchacha Four, crossed first in the fifth heat of the World 505 Yachting Championships off Adelaide today.

John Cuneo of Australia, captained his boat, Darling Kestrel, but refueled it and finished in second place just ahead of Denmark's Paul Elvstrom. Jim Hardy, Australia, was fourth across the line.

Under the points system for the world 505 Championships, this gives Cuneo a clear lead with only 4½ points lost and one heat to go. Hardy is in second position with 7 points lost, Elvstrom third with 9½ and Marks fourth with 11½.

Baseball on Defense

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — would bankrupt the Braves' organization.

NO OFFER

Braves Board Chairman William C. Bartholomay was quoted as saying he never received a "bribe" offer from any Wisconsin resident to purchase the baseball team. He said efforts to interest Wisconsin investors to share equally with his group in stock ownership of the club shortly after its purchase in 1962 were unsuccessful.

The grey-haired, poker-faced magistrate has been asked by the state to order the Braves' return to Milwaukee this season unless another National League franchise is awarded the city.

But the defense told Judge Roller that to do so would be a financial catastrophe for the Braves.

Baseball attorneys quoted from a deposition of Braves' President John McHale in an effort to show the effect of such an order on the club which now calls Atlanta its home.

"It would be disastrous," McHale said in the deposition. "It

Modest Cassius Says He'll Quit if Chuvalo Wins

TORONTO (AP) — A suddenly modest Cassius Clay says he'll retire if George Chuvalo strips him of his heavyweight title next Tuesday night.

"I'd have to retire," he said Wednesday after sparring eight rounds in preparation for his 15-round scrap against the Canadian champion from Toronto.

"Once I lose, that's it." But there seems little chance of that happening. Clay, is a lopsided favorite.

One Toronto bookie said a few small operators are taking bets with Clay a 6-1 favorite.

Driver Dick Petty in '500' Pole Post

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Richard Petty of Bandolero, N. C., looking to his first race since the Daytona 500 when he injured a hand, has captured the pole position for Sunday's $77,000 Atlanta 500.

Petty shattered track records Wednesday as he led eight qualifiers, roaring with his 1965 Plymouth through four laps on the 1.5 mile track at an average speed of 147.742 miles an hour. His fastest lap was 146.148.

The old track records were 146.47 for the four-lap run and 146.886 for a single lap set in 1964 by Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill.

WORD OF CAUTION — Erwin Smith, 70-year-old Rockford, Ill., driver looks at the sign he has installed on the rear of his car which gives other motorists a message he thinks they should heed. Smith says he has never been in a serious traffic accident.

S. African Woman Battles Apartheid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — To associates, Helen Suzman is the conscience of South Africa. To political foes, she is a constant harassment. She is the most outspoken critic of the government's apartheid policies, which call for the races to live apart. For five years she has waged a lonely battle in Parliament against apartheid laws and practices.

Her Progressive party is contesting for 24 seats in next Wednesday's national election, which will name 170 members of the House of Assembly and no doubt restore Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd to power.

Mrs. Suzman, backed by hundreds of young enthusiasts, is battling to retain her own seat in the Houghton district, in a wealthy area suburban to Johannesburg. Her opponent is of the United Party, the main parliamentary opposition. Verwoerd's party considered its prospects so slim in this district that it did not nominate a candidate.

FAIRLY GOOD
Mrs. Suzman's own chances seem fairly good, but her party's hope of gaining many seats in Parliament is slight. She is now the party's only representative there.

Her position is that the government heaps injustices on people simply because they are nonwhites. The term "non-white" is used here to cover both black Africans and those who have mixed blood, generally including East Indian ancestry, and are called colored.

Mrs. Suzman believes her chances of getting action would be brighter if South African women were more like Americans.

"Compared with other countries, South African women don't pull their weight sufficiently in public and political life," she says.

WOMEN GROUPS

"In the United States there is a very active and powerful League of Women Voters and the Federation of Women's Clubs with membership running into millions. Something similar here would be a great help to women, many of whom are political eccentrics."

She visited the United States in 1962 under the State Department leader program and studied race problems in the South.

She says her interest in politics stems from a desire to see social justice. She first entered Parliament as a United party member 13 years ago. When that party's liberal wing broke away to form the Progressive party, she became one of the splinter group's ardent campaigners and won her Houghton seat on their ticket in 1961.

Ever since, she has been a thorn in the government's side. "I despise the idea of nonwhites being kicked around from pillar to post," she says.

She argues this way: The present peace in South Africa has been won at a price the whites didn't have to pay. The nonwhites had to pay the price — forced removal from homes in which they had lived for years to accommodate the government's residential segregation program; low wages, barriers to their progress in industry, poverty, malnutrition, pass laws, deprivation of rights and responsibilities on grounds of color alone.

WHITE ELECTORATE
She holds that the job of the Progressives is to persuade the white electorate that the present peace in the country cannot last when nonwhites' grievances are left unattended.

"The time to make reasonable concessions is now while we are in a position of strength," she says. "Social change should be permitted, not forbidden."

She has made more than 100 major speeches against the government's policies.

Often when she speaks in Parliament, members of the Verwoerd party acknowledge her impact by chanting "Listen to the Mother Superior." She is impervious to gibes and hasn't hesitated to tell Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster that she wanted him to "keep his mouth shut."

RACIAL GRIEVANCES
"The racial grievances we are apparently ready to bequeath to our children are shocking to contemplate," she says.

"I don't see the hard crust of apartheid being denied in the foreseeable future. Yet I cannot see how the nonwhites' present uneasy peace can continue forever. Black nationalists and white nationalists will have to come together some time."

"The blacks are simply not going to be able to take over here as they've done in other parts of Africa. What I envisage is not a black takeover but genuine black-white participation in the country's government.

"The black states of independent Africa may insist on universal adult franchise, but we don't have to satisfy them."

SATISFY CITIZENS

"We have to satisfy our own African citizens and I'm sure they would settle for less than that. There must be a reasonable compromise, with a qualified franchise, based on education and ability, whereby the African would have a real right to participate in the government of a multiracial South Africa."

Mrs. Suzman, 49, comes from a rich family. She was once a lecturer in economics at Witwatersrand University, her alma mater. Her husband, of almost 30 years is a physician. Their young daughter is at medical school; the older married daughter is an art historian in London.

For recreation she swims, plays bridge, and golfs. Her golf handicap has jumped from 11 to 17 and she suggests:

"Golf and politics just don't mix, especially when you're the political one-man band I've been for years."

Iron Cross Latest Teen Fad

United Press International
The old iron cross, a symbol of Nazi Germany awarded to Hitler's troops, has become a new fad among many American teen-agers too young to remember World War II.

A nationwide survey showed today that teen-agers from the boroughs of New York City to the beaches of Southern California are decorating themselves with replicas of the iron cross and anything which looks like it, including Maltese crosses and Army marksmanship medals.

In some areas, especially among the motorcycle set, teen-agers have donned World War II German helmets and worn swastika insignias.

"They're one of the hottest novelty items we've had in the past five or 10 years," said a spokesman for Swank, Inc., in New York City, which manufactures the items.

"We prefer to call them Maltese crosses," the spokesman said.

ARE RELUCTANT

Some store owners are reluctant to handle them because of the remembrance of World War II, he said, "but we tell them they're not Nazi crosses, but Maltese crosses."

Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., who called attention to the fad earlier this week, said, "I would imagine that 90 per cent of the teen-agers don't know what the crosses mean."

But if the youngsters don't, their elders do.

Robert Wilkins, principal of Pierson Junior High School in Kansas City, said he first saw one of the crosses hanging from the neck of a schoolboy in a hallway.

RECOLLECTION

"The first recollection that came to my mind when I saw it was of a big German tank during World War II," he said. "I didn't like the connection."

Louis Sherman, who operates a war surplus store in Milwaukee, Wis., said the iron crosses are "quite popular" but he stopped selling them.

"I'm a member of the Jewish faith and I don't believe in this sort of thing," he said.

Junior Editors Quiz on Lighthouses

QUESTION: How can lighthouses be built right in the sea?

ANSWER: Few ideas are more dramatic than that of a lighthouse flashing its steady beacon through a night when waves seem determined to tear it apart.

Lighthouses have been built as aids to mariners since the days of Egypt. The granddaddy of ancient lighthouses was the Pharos, an imposing tower constructed on the island of Pharos, near the city of Alexandria, in the 200's B.C.

This became one of the seven wonders of the world. The first lighthouses did not have lamps, but burned wood in huge baskets or receptacles, as we see by the lighthouse of the 18th century.

As oil began to be used, the modern lighthouse with a lamp developed. A number of lighthouses have been built which seem to stand right in the sea, like the one in our picture.

Actually, there is a reef or rock ledge underneath, as you can see by the dotted lines.

These ledges are generally exposed at low tide, allowing the builders to get at them to bolt down the first tier of stones with metal rods.

Sometimes a cofferdam of sandbags is built around the spot to keep the water out. Notice (left) how each granite block locks into the next ones, holding the mass together.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the fascinating story of ancient Alexandria, home of the Pharos. It lies on the Nile Delta, where that river empties into the Mediterranean Sea. It is still a great city, with the new name of Al-Iskandariyah.

Allies Kill 501 Viet Cong in 24 Hours

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An unrelenting display of firepower from ships, planes and artillery cost the Viet Cong 501 killed in the past 24 hours while U.S. fighter-bombers caused new mayhem along North Viet Nam's truck and rail routes, allied officials reported today.

On Saigon's outskirts, South Vietnamese troops and planes mauled and scattered a 700-man Communist force early today after it daringly attacked a government armored regiment's headquarters at Go Du within gunshot of a large American troop concentration.

The Reds made off with four American-made tanks in the raid on the headquarters 12 miles north of Saigon, but Vietnamese forces destroyed two and recaptured the others. A spokesman said 71 Viet Cong were killed.

The largest toll was claimed by South Korean forces in Operation Pierce Tiger 285 miles northeast of Saigon. Korean officers said 214 Communists were killed, 117 captured and 281 persons detained Wednesday in the central coastal ricefields around Qui Nhon. It was the largest Korean operation to date.

COSTLY TO ALLIES

The tide of battle also was costly to the allies.

The U.S. military command reported 80 Americans killed, 316 wounded and 17 missing or captured in the fighting last week. This compared with 100 killed, 808 wounded and eight missing or captured the week before.

The number of South Vietnamese killed rose from 131 to 232 last week but the number of missing declined from 97 to 73. Vietnamese wounded are not disclosed.

Communist losses reported by the allies declined sharply during the week of March 13-19, with 627 killed and 59 captured compared with 1,234 killed and 106 captured the week before.

REST FOR THE WEARY — Exhausted and depressed, these Marines rest after capturing an enemy position during recent fighting near the hamlet of Bich Nam, southwest of Da Nang in South Viet Nam. The Marine casualties mounted when they landed by helicopter in heavy Viet Cong fire. The Viet Cong had them surrounded and pinned down through a night of battle.

Concept of Mobility

Army Air Arm May Sprout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army planners are considering formation of new, swift air cavalry regiments and squadrons which could replace or supplement tank-equipped armored cavalry fighting units.

Cavalry units are used chiefly for reconnaissance and screening missions. For example, three armored cavalry regiments are posted in West Germany along the Iron Curtain. In event of an enemy probe, these regiments likely would be the first to make ground contact.

Air cavalry regiments, using helicopters for movement, would be considerably faster and would cover more ground in less time than armored cavalry outfits driving tanks and jeeps. Creation of new air cavalry represent a further extension of the air mobility concept.

The success of the 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division in Viet Nam has encouraged Pentagon officials to consider widening the extent of helicopter-mounted fighting units.

The new budget requests funds to convert one regular Army division, either infantry or airborne, to an air cavalry organization with about 438 helicopters.

Beyond that, there have been suggestions that still another air cavalry division may be formed by next year.

Helicopter production is growing slowly and the demands of the war in Viet Nam are so heavy that the second air cavalry division may not come into being until late this year. Currently, there are 1,000 helicopters in Viet Nam being used to haul troops to battle areas and to provide fire support against Communist guerrillas and other Red troops.

NO REGIMENTS

There are currently no air cavalry regiments in the U.S. military structure. There are some air cavalry squadrons and troops organic to divisions and as part of armored cavalry regiments, but only a minor part. An air cavalry regiment probably would be formed of three squadrons and would total some 3,000 men and possibly about 275 helicopters.

British Polls Point to Labor Party Landslide

LONDON. (AP) — With Brit-April Fool's Day, the polls have again's national election only a almost perfect record in pre-week from today, all the public dictating the winning party in opinion polls point to a landslide past elections.

Since polling began on a national scale after World War II, 14 of the 15 surveys published in known only after the votes are the last six elections have pre-announced—in the early hours of dicted the outcome correctly.

The only one wrong was the Daily Express poll of 1964, which gave the Conservatives a margin of 0.8 per cent of the popular vote in an election that turned out to be a cliff-hanger. The Labor victory margin was only 4.9 per cent.

MAJOR POLLS

The major polls now in operation are the Gallup poll, the National Opinion poll, the Daily Express poll and the Research Services. They give Labor an average lead of about 11 per cent, and it hardly varied since the campaign began two weeks ago.

Try for Sheepskin ---Thanks to Sheep

KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — There are still enough sheep in Rhode Island for two students to work their way through college shearing them.

Charles Henry III and Thomas Noyes said, good shears have become as rare as blacksmiths.

So the two students at the University of Rhode Island's School of Agriculture have gone into business clipping the critters for spring.

The Daily Mail's National Opinion poll, published today, gives Labor 50.5 per cent of the votes of those questioned, the Conservatives 38.3 per cent, Liberals 7.6, others and undecided 3.8 per cent. It said Labor's lead of 12.2 percentage points had fallen from 13 points a week ago.

Gallup, published in the Daily Telegraph, shows Labor's lead down to 8.5 points compared with 12 points two weeks ago. After excluding 7 per cent "don't knows," the poll gives Labor 50.5 per cent, Conservatives 42 per cent, Liberals 7 per cent, others 0.5 per cent.

British polls are based on the assumption that their samples can be extended uniformly throughout the country. Thus, a margin of 5 per cent in the popular vote and the polls should lead to a margin of about 100 seats in the 630-member House of Commons. But British voting patterns are not that uniform, and here is where the statisticians run into trouble.

BIGGER MARGINS

In some mining districts of Wales or Yorkshire, for example, Labor MPs have margins of 20,000 votes or more over their Conservative opponents.

A "national swing of several percentage points may give Labor a few thousand more votes in such a district—but it still elects only one member of the House of Commons.

And prime ministers are named on their Commons majority, not on the size of the popular vote.

In 1961, Labor actually won more than half the popular vote, but many votes were wasted in the safe Labor seats, so the Conservatives won control of Parliament.

Hunt for Canoeist

ELK RAPIDS (AP)—A search by Antrim County sheriff's men and U. S. Coast Guard units continued without success for Earl Jackson, 38, of Kalkaska, reported missing since Tuesday when he set out by canoe for a fishing trip on Elk Lake.

In some mining districts of Wales or Yorkshire, for example, Labor MPs have margins of 20,000 votes or more over their Conservative opponents.

Tot Had Big Time on Stroll

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was a beautiful day for a stroll yesterday. So Brian Kramer, 2, clutched a nickel in his hand and set out in his pajamas while his mother slept.

He got as far as 6th Ave. and Clement St., where Patrolmen John O'Connor and Francis Gannon gave him a lift to the Richmond District Police Station.

Brian loved it there. He got doughnuts, played around with the typewriter and tried on a cop's hat.

After an hour or so, Brian was reclaimed by his mother, Esther Kramer.

He still had his nickel when he went home.

Baby Okay After Fall

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP)—A 15-month-old baby girl fell 50 feet from a Sausalito luxury apartment but landed unharmed in shallow San Francisco Bay waters. She was quickly rescued by her father.

The child, Adair Erhard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Erhard, wiggled through a second-story balcony railing Wednesday, police said. The mother saw her falling and the father raced downstairs and pulled the baby out of two feet of water.

She was examined at Marin General Hospital where she was pronounced unharmed.

State House Gets Lobbyist Control Bill

LANSING (AP) — Prompted by one lobbying scandal and the threat of another, a House committee has reported out a bill to tighten restrictions on lobbyists. The bill as reported out requires the lobbyist for more than one group to file a separate registration form for each, paying a $10 fee for each.

The House Policy Committee has placed a measure before the House which would require a lobbyist to report every three months to the secretary of state.

The report would have to show "the total amount of monies paid and obligations incurred by the lobbyist himself or any agent in connection with, or relative to, his activities as legislative agent for the preceding quarter, except that he need not include his own personal living and travel expenses."

Aft. Gen. Frank Kelley earlier this week obtained warrants against Kenneth Gremore, executive director and lobbyist for the semipublic Peoples Community Hospital Authority.

PUBLIC FUNDS
Gremore and Frank Rodwell, the organization's former treasurer, were charged with unlawfully using or allowing to be used the organization's public funds.

A Senate bill was killed in the House earlier this month after reports circulated that House members received hints of campaign contributions in return for passage of the bill.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, later confirmed the reports, saying several House members came to him to report they had been indirectly approached.

The lobbying bill has been in the House Policy Committee since last year.

The lobby bill also hits at the problem that has come up in the past—that of the lobbyist who

Science Quiz

By ROB BROWN

PROBLEM: Permanent pictures of magnetic fields.

NEEDED: A magnet, some white cardboard, iron filings, an atomizer or water sprayer, salt, a can of aerosol spraying paint.

DO THIS: Place the card over the magnet, sprinkle the iron filings on the card, tap lightly and they will assume a pattern representing some of the lines of force of the magnet.

TWO WAYS

There are two easy ways for preserving the patterns.

1. Use the atomizer and spray salt water on the iron filings. Repeat after a few hours and let the experiment stand overnight. The next morning the outline of the filings will remain on the card as rust, and the filings will fall off the paper.

2. Set up the card with iron filings as before, but this time spray the card lightly with a dark color of paint from the aerosol can. When the paint dries, a permanent record of the pattern of the iron filings will remain. Brush off any loose iron filings.

According to Science News, the rust method of preserving the image of magnetic lines of force was described by a sixth grade boy, David Power, of Bala-Cynwyd, Penn.

The paint spray method leaves the filings pattern in white on a dark background. The salt water method makes rust on white.

Ford Predicts Tax Hike Bid

House GOP Leader Discusses Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., said Wednesday he is sure the administration will ask for a tax increase.

In discussing inflation with newsmen, the House Republican leader said he does not believe President Johnson can avoid asking for an increase before November.

There has been speculation that if a tax increase were to be requested it might be delayed until after the November elections.

Johnson said Tuesday he does not want "to put on the brakes too fast" and has not decided whether to propose a tax increase.

CHECK INFLATION

On the question of dealing with inflation, Ford said one way to check it is to reduce federal expenditures and another is to increase taxes.

Johnson, at his news conference, called attention to some recent economic readings that are on the noninflationary side.

Referring to Johnson's remarks, Ford said he thinks the President "should talk to housewives" who have to go to the market.

Ford also said he thinks the increases in the wholesale price index "ought to be a warning."

Apollo Ship Developed 'Hot Spots' in Test

Russia-China Quarrel Forces Both Nations to Reconsider Relationship With the West

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The increasingly angry quarrel between Russia and Red China has now reached the stage where each country must consider radical changes in its relations with the West.

The turmoil in the Communist bloc exceeds even that of the Atlantic alliance where France is pursuing a policy of independent action strikingly similar to the self-assertion of Red China against Russia.

The Johnson administration is under heavy pressure from its China policy critics to find some way to ease tensions and improve relations between Peking and Washington.

But any real change in this relationship in the near future is ruled out by the experts, even

'Viet Is Seed of Future War'

U. S. Would Be Bitter at Defeat—Expert

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — An authority on China said today that the Viet Nam war could lead to "a direct military or political confrontation" between Communist China and the United States.

Prof. Lucian W. Pye of Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) believes the confrontation might become military if the United States is defeated or is forced to withdraw from Viet Nam.

"If the United States loses, the next time China pushed her, the U. S. would go right for the jugular vein — mainland China," said the quiet-speaking scholar who also is a government adviser on China.

Pye's theory is this: If the United States sustains a battlefield defeat or is forced out of Viet Nam, the American people might force a confrontation with China because "they would be very bad losers."

A United States victory in Viet Nam, Pye contends, would cause China to lose face in Asia and therefore would not be as threatening.

SAME LETDOWN

"If the confrontation comes and China loses, it will be the same kind of letdown as happened with Russia after Cuba (the 1962 missile crisis) when Russia's power was weakened in the eyes of the world," said the 37-year-old political scientist who was born in China of American missionary parents.

Deteriorating Sino-Soviet relations would make any American-Chinese confrontation more direct, he said in an interview with United Press International.

In a less bleak appraisal of the future course of U. S.-Chinese relations, Pye expressed the view that China will undergo "Great and very hopeful" political changes following the death of Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist party and therefore the most powerful man in China.

Initially after the death of the 72-year-old Mao, who has been reported ill for some time, Pye expects China would be governed by even stricter leaders.

But in the long run he believes younger intellectuals would take charge and chart a more flexible course.

those among the critics. All recognize that in China's present attitude of bitter political hostility to the outside world, the United States is slated for some years yet to play the role of archvillain.

The latest blast in the Peking-Moscow dispute came Wednesday with China's publication of an angry note rejecting an invitation issued Feb. 24 to send a delegation to the Communist party congress opening in Moscow next week.

This is the first time the Red Chinese have decided to boycott such a meeting.

The break having reached this point U.S. and other Western diplomats are looking at various possibilities for dramatic realignment in the world: —Soviet leaders Leonid I. Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin may conclude a nonaggression pact or some other kind of friendship agreement with French President Charles de Gaulle when De Gaulle visits Moscow in late June. —The Soviet chiefs also, or alternatively, may generate unexpected new enthusiasm for a treaty with the United States and Britain to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

—Red China, while pressing revolutionary programs in Latin America, Asia and Africa, whether any or all of these possibilities will come to pass. What is apparent is that relations among the great powers are in a state of accelerated change, bringing in a period which holds a grave risk as well as hopes for improvement.

Sanitary Sewer System Is Urged by County Officials

By JOE MULLEN
A sanitary sewer system is the only ideal method of sewage disposal as far as officials of the Oakland County Health Department and Department of Public Works are concerned.

They view septic systems as adequate on a temporary basis. Cesspools are out of the question by present day standards.

Robert T. Coleman, director of environmental health for the County Health Department, looks to the day when the county will be served generally by sewer systems.

This goal is shared by the DPW, according to its director, R. J. Alexander.

SOUTHERN AREA
Coleman said sewage disposal poses little problem in the southern area of the county which generally is served by the City of Detroit sewage treatment system.

The situation is different elsewhere.

"Our sanitarians actually spend more time on sewage disposal inspections in the northern half of the county than on food handling inspections," Coleman said.

"This is because septic systems are used in most of this area."

He termed the efficiency of septic systems as a "tolerable minimum."

OXFORD METHOD
Despite the extensive use of cesspools in Oxford, Coleman said he knew of no other community where this sewage disposal method was used significantly.

"Oxford is unique in this matter," Coleman said.

"There may be isolated cases where they are used elsewhere but very few."

The Oxford problem came to light Feb. 16 when the health committee of the County Board of Supervisors refused to approve rebuilding of five business places damaged by fire until adequate sanitary sewage disposal was installed.

BASEMENT CESSPOOLS
All of the business establishments used basement cesspools for sewage disposal as do many other commercial and residential units in the village.

A solution to the problem would be the establishment of a village sanitary sewer system.

South of Oxford, a major sewer project for the central part of the county is already nearing the construction stage.

Presently, the DPW is negotiating a contract with seven county municipalities plus the northern portion of Pontiac for the proposed Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

$16.5 MILLION
The $16.5-million project is expected to serve a population of 210,700 by 1990, according to Alexander.

Included in the project are the townships of Avon, Pontiac, Waterford, Independence, West Bloomfield and Orion and the cities of Pontiac and Orchard Lake.

The system will connect to the Dequindre Interceptor which the City of Detroit will extend from 14 Mile to 23 1/2 Mile.

Hopefully, the project will get under way later this year and be completed in a year.

SHARE COST
Besides sharing in the cost of the Clinton-Oakland trunkline, the participating municipalities, including Pontiac, also would pay for their individual internal sewer systems.

Internal systems would feed into the trunkline.

Alexander estimated interest of $127,500 on the 30-year bond issue for a total project cost of $28,827,500.

PROJECTED POPULATION
Waterford Township, with a projected population of 85,000 and an anticipated 24,286 connections, would pay about 40 per cent of the total. Pontiac's total cost would be $968,000.

Avon Township will contribute about 26 per cent while Pontiac's share will be 6.1 per cent, Orion Township, 4.7 per cent and Orchard Lake, 1.4 per cent.

West Bloomfield Township's share will be 6.1 per cent, Orion Township, 4.7 per cent and Orchard Lake, 1.4 per cent.

Latest Fad Requires

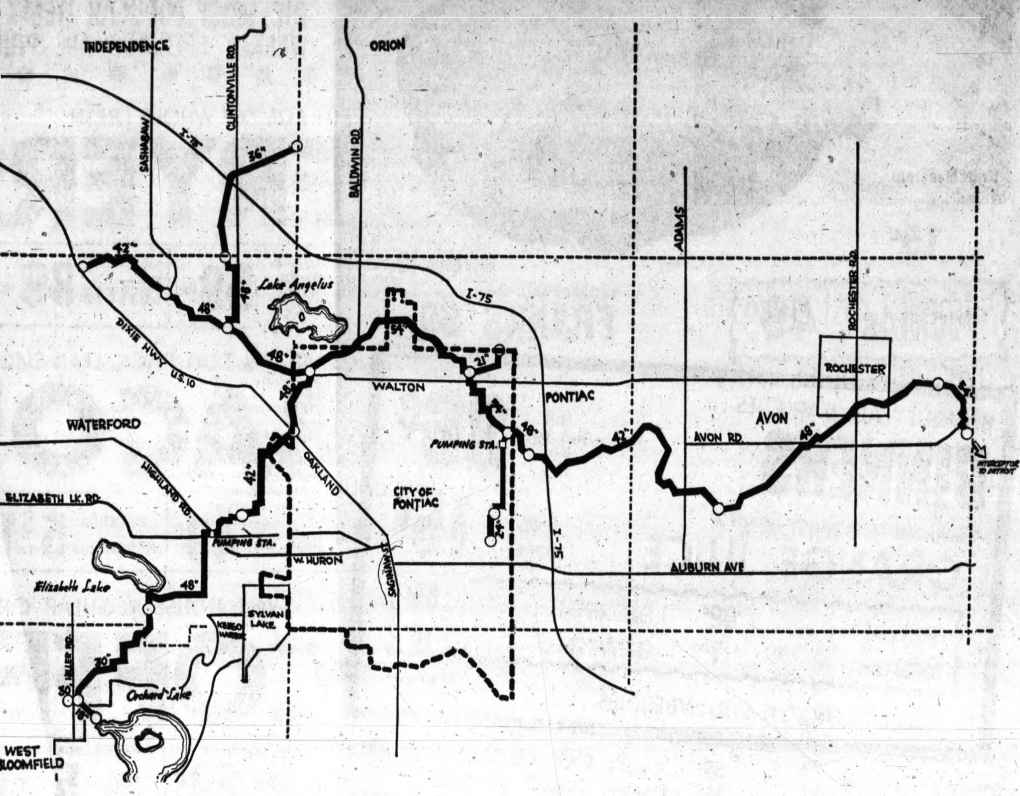

Cliff, Car, Match

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police have had a fence constructed in hopes of quelling the latest teen-age fad. Officers said yesterday teen-agers recently have stolen cars, set them afire and shoved them over cliffs "just for the thrill of watching them explode."

Auto theft inspector Rudy Niete said, "It's become quite a fad among the high school kids."

3 Zoning Bids Are Opposed

Waterford Board Will Consider 4 Requests

Four rezoning requests, three of them recommended for denial by the Waterford Township Planning Commission, will be considered at a future meeting of the Township Board.

Proposals recommended for denial by the planners are:

• A request to rezone from local business (C-1) to extensive business (C-2) a parcel at 1700 M59 for which the applicant proposes to enlarge a restaurant establishment.

• A request to rezone from general business (C-2) to light industrial district (M-1) a parcel at 5340 M59 for establishment of retail stores and offices.

• A request to change from C-2 to multiple dwelling residential district (R-2) a parcel on the northeast corner of Pontiac Lake Road and M59 for apartment units.

According to planners, the existing land uses at 7670 M59 and 5340 M59 are legally nonconforming. The planners feel that the parcel at 5340 M59 is not a proper location for manufacturing zoning.

The third request was recommended for denial because the applicants did not furnish relevant information such as site plans.

Recommended for approval was a request to rezone from single family residential (R-1A) to R-2, a parcel on Malcolm Drive for construction of 88 apartment units.

PAVING POSSIBILITY

The planners recommended to the Township Board that the applicant should explore the possibility of paving Malcolm Drive to his property.

Tabled were requests to rezone three parcels at 5371 Cooley Lake; two from commercial recreation amusement (RA-2) to single family (R-1B) for two houses and one from RA-2 to R-2 for construction of eight apartment units.

Also tabled was a special approval request by First Baptist Church of Drayton Plains to build a church.

The planning commission will hold public hearings April 28 on four rezoning requests and a special approval request.

Snakebites Not as Rare as You Think

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Snakebite accidents are a lot more common in the United States than most people realize.

Instead of only 1,000 or 2,000 a year, as some recent estimates have shown there have been almost 6,700 poisonous bites during at least one 12-month period.

By sending questionnaires to 5,335 hospitals, 36,627 physicians, Dr. Henry M. Parrish of the University of Missouri School of Medicine, Columbia, made what he called the first systematic, nationwide snakebite study.

He found that during 1959, the year covered by the questionnaire, there were 6,680 poisonous snakebites, of which 52 per cent were to people under the age 20.

Legs took most of the punishment (58 per cent), while only 4 per cent of the bites were on the body.

"Upper extremities" made up the rest. North Carolina suffered more than any other state, with 18,79 poisonous bites per 100,000 population. Maine, however, had not a single bite.

Rattlesnakes were apparently the worst offenders, accounting for more than a third of the 2,836 victims who were actually hospitalized. Next in line were copperheads (28.6 per cent) and cottonmouth moccasins (7.3 per cent).

Federal Grant for Recreation Land Is Due

Congressman Billie S. Farum, D-19th District, announced today that the Waterford Township School District will receive a $20,158 federal grant under the Open Space Land Program.

This grant will aid the school district in acquiring 20.6 acres of recreation land in the suburban Pontiac area.

The land consists of two sites: Waterford west playground and Houghton playground.

Farum said these sites will be used for baseball diamonds, playgrounds and track and field activities.

The federal grant will cover 50 per cent of the total estimated project cost of $40,316.

Spaghetti Helps Stretch Protein Foods

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When spaghetti is served at your house, does the family cut it up before eating or do they wind it around their forks? If you have young children, the latter method can be a rather messy.

How you eat spaghetti is not the point — how you prepare it is.

All pasta (spaghetti, macaroni and noodles) should be cooked in large quantities of boiling water. Because spaghetti and macaroni double in amount when cooked, be sure to use a big kettle.

Do not overcook spaghetti that is to be baked or frozen. The baking or reheating will complete the cooking. Nine to 12 minutes is usually enough. Stir occasionally to keep spaghetti from sticking.

Ground beef, luncheon meat and swordfish are appetizingly combined with spaghetti in the following recipes.

CREAMY SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE

1 lb. ground beef
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup shredded carrots

2 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce with cheese
2 beef bouillon cubes, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
8 oz. spaghetti, cooked
6 slices bacon, cooked crisp

Brown beef and onion; add celery, carrots, tomato sauce with cheese, bouillon cubes and salt. Simmer 10 minutes. Stir in milk and 3 slices bacon, crumbled; remove from heat.

Place 1/2 cooked spaghetti in 2-quart casserole, pour 1/2 sauce over, top with remaining spaghetti and sauce. Garnish with 3 strips bacon. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 minutes. Serves 5 to 6.

LUNCHEON MEAT TETRAZZINI

2 cans (12 ounce each) luncheon meat or chopped ham

1/2 cup thinly sliced onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups milk
1 cup half and half or undiluted evaporated milk
1 can (6 ounce) sliced mushrooms, undrained
1 package (7 ounce) spaghetti, cooked and drained
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
1/2 cup sherry (optional)
1/2 cup shredded Parmesan cheese

Cut one can of luncheon meat or chopped ham into 6 even slices. Make 6 or 8 slashes on one side of each slice, not quite through. Cut remaining can of luncheon meat or chopped ham into 1/2 inch cubes.

Saute onion in butter or margarine. Blend in flour, salt and mustard. Add milk and half and half. Cook stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Stir in undrained mushrooms, meat cubes, spaghetti, olives, sherry (if used) and 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese. Pour into shallow 2-quart casserole.

Arrange meat slices on top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 15 minutes. Sprinkle remaining 1/2 cup cheese over top. Return to oven until mixture is hot and bubbly, about 5 to 10 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

SPAGHETTI WITH SWORDFISH

1/2 cup butter or margarine
Dash garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 swordfish steaks (1 1/2 pounds)
Salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
1/2 cup silvered toasted almonds
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Melt butter in saucepan; add garlic powder, pepper and lemon juice. Brush swordfish with some of butter mixture; sprinkle with salt. Broil 3 inches from heat source 5 to 8 minutes per side, or until fish flakes easily.

Meanwhile add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

LUNCHEON MEAT TETRAZZINI

Oatmeal Crust Encloses Layers of Apples, Nuts

Apples are the hidden flavor-maker in these delicious cookies. Better make plenty. They melt away when guests have nibbled their first one — seconds, and thirds must be on hand.

Apple Walnut Bars
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned uncooked)
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup shortening, melted
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 cups thinly sliced peeled apples

Mix and sift flour, salt, baking soda and cinnamon. Add remaining ingredients except nuts and apples. Mix until smooth.

Press half the dough in bottom of greased 9-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle walnuts over dough. Arrange apple slices over walnuts.

Roll remaining dough between 2 sheets of waxed paper to form a 9-inch square. Remove top sheet of waxed paper. Place dough over filling. Remove other sheet of waxed paper. Press dough lightly around edges.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Cut in bars. Makes 16 bars.

APPLE WALNUT BARS — Here's a cookie recipe that is a bit different. A layer of sliced apples and chopped walnuts is sandwiched between two layers of oatmeal crust. Serve warm with ice cream as a dessert or cold as a cookie.

Almond Pie Has Syrupy Layer Inside

Better make the servings rather small when "Golden Almond Pie" is on deck for dessert — it's pretty rare! Two kinds of syrup go into the making of this party pie, which has crisp sliced almonds sprinkled on the crust as well as on top.

Almonds supply most welcome crunch and flavor in an array of pies, cakes, cookies, hot breads, salads, soups, vegetable dishes and meat and fish casseroles and sauces.

Golden Almond Pie
3 eggs
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup sliced almonds
Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
Beat eggs lightly. Blend in sugar, syrups, salt, flavorings and butter. Place half of almonds in bottom of pastry shell. Pour syrup mixture over almonds. Sprinkle remaining almonds on top.
Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cool. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Care in Buying Frozen Fish Pays

For the best quality, buy frozen fishery items from storage cabinets that register zero degrees or below, and in which the packages are not stacked higher than the load line. Avoid packages not uniform in shape, for a dip in the package indicates thawing.

If the package thawed somewhere en route from the processing plant to the consumer, there will be frozen liquid inside the package. Top quality frozen fishery products should have little odor.

Keep frozen fishery products at zero degrees until ready to use. Thaw in the refrigerator overnight, put the entire package into a plastic bag and thaw under cold running water. It is not advisable to thaw frozen fishery products at room temperature. Once fishery products are thawed, cook them. Do not thaw and refreeze.

Chop Filberts for Pancakes

The pancake continues to enjoy one of the greatest success stories among foods. It has found its way into mealtime menus, from breakfast stacks, smothered in syrup to sophisticated desserts like French Crepes. And the pancake, in whose honor eating places have been named, is a fine party refreshment, needing only fragrant coffee as proper accompaniment.

These Sour Cream Filbert Pancakes are particularly appealing because of the delicious nut flavor.

Sour Cream Filbert Pancakes
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup water
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup toasted wheat germ
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 egg
1/2 cup finely chopped filberts

Combine all ingredients except filberts. Beat or blend until well-mixed. Stir in nuts. Bake on moderately hot griddle, turning when underside is golden brown. Makes 8 to 10 pancakes.

SWEET TREATS WITH A FRENCH ACENT — It's easy to devise dozens of devastatingly rich-tasting, yet calorie-trimmed, desserts when you start with this simplified recipe for Basic French Custard Cream.

Try French Pastries

Take your choice from "the dazzling array of tempting pastries and creamy confections shown here. Typical of the sweet treats you might expect to find in a French pastry shop, all of these (and a baker's dozen more) can easily win a permanent niche in your own repertoire of favorite sweets.

Different as they look and taste, each of these desserts is based on one fundamental recipe, Basic French Custard Cream (creme patissiere).

Quick and exceptionally easy to make, the following good and basic recipe relies on a convenient-to-use, new pantry shelf staple, non-dairy powdered creamer to provide extra richness of flavor and satiny smooth creaminess at but a fraction of the calorie cost of fresh cream.

Another calorie-saving ingredient, the non-calorie sweetener, sucaryl, is used in preference to sugar, since it provides delightful, natural-tasting sweetness without any of the calorie penalties of sugar.

BASIC FRENCH CUSTARD CREAM
(Creme Patissiere)

3 egg yolks
2 teaspoons sucaryl solution
½ cup non-dairy creamer
¼ cup flour

1 cup boiling water
1½ teaspoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla (or ¼ teaspoon vanilla and other flavoring as desired)

In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, combine egg yolks and sucaryl; beat for 2 to 3 minutes until mixture is pale yellow. Combine creamer and flour; beat into egg yolks. (Mixture will be very thick.)

Gradually beat in boiling water in a thin stream. Place over moderate heat and beat vigorously with a wire whip.

Salads are Improved by Smidgin of Sugar

A long-time secret of French salad dressing goodness is that smidgin of sugar. Not as flavoring, this time. Sugar is added to blend-the contrasting sharp vinegars, smooth oils, the zesty herbs and spice flavors.

Mixed at table, the practiced server lightly sprinkles the sugar over the ready to serve greens—pauses an instant (permitting the leafy moisture to be sugar-absorbed) — before tossing in the finished dressing. The less flair-minded, practical cook may kitchen-mix the sugar into the dressing first.

CHIFFON-TYPE FRENCH CUSTARD CREAM
(Creme Sahiti-Honore)

For a cream puff filling, or for a chiffon-type dessert cream, fold 3 stiffly beaten egg whites into the Basic French Custard Cream, or into any of its variations, while it is still warm. Chill before using.

Bake Cheese Egg Cakes on Griddle at Table

During the Lenten season when meatless main dishes are in great demand, the egg again has a starring role. In this particular scene its supporting cast is sharp cheddar cheese and they team up beautifully in a new and exciting entree "Cheese Eggstacy Cakes."

The slightly beaten eggs are combined with flour and seasonings — plus just a hint of onion for extra spark. Shredded cheddar cheese is stirred in just before the thick batter is poured onto a hot griddle or skillet.

Cheese Eggstacy Cakes
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine eggs with onion, flour, salt, pepper and baking powder. Stir in cheese. Heat butter or margarine in skillet or on griddle, just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour ½ cup amounts of mixture onto hot skillet or griddle. Brown well on both sides, turning once. Serve immediately with spiced fruit or other relish. Makes 4 servings.

CHEESE EGGSTACY CAKES—They look like little pancakes, but they're really more of an omelet. Full of sharp Cheddar cheese, they're an excellent main dish selection for Lent. Try them some time for a brunch.

British Elections Wear Cloak of Tradition

LONDON (UPI)—Decked out in an embroidered coat, knee breeches and a purple tricorn hat, London's common crier stood on the steps of the Royal Exchange in the heart of the city and rang his bell for attention.

"Oyez, oyez, oyez," he belted.

Then, in stentorian tones befitting a solemn pronouncement, he robed out Queen Elizabeth's royal proclamation announcing dissolution of parliament and a new general election.

Politicking and government apart, Britain's March 31 election is just another good excuse to bring out the pomp and ceremony on which people in these tradition-minded islands thrive.

Everyone gets into the act from the publican who serves his beer an hour longer than usual on election day to the queen dissolving the old Parliament and opening the new.

VOTING STYLE

Even the style of voting dates from the middle ages. It's done with crosses on little bits of paper. Voting machines aren't used in Britain.

NEW PARLIAMENT

Then the crier took over, roaring out the command for an election and a new Parliament within 30 days of dissolution, excluding Sundays and public holidays.

Royal messengers hurried around London, posting copies of the proclamation in public places, among them on a board adjacent to the Horse Guards sentry boxes in Whitehall, a place familiar to tourists.

The lord chancellor then issued his writ calling an election and the campaign got under way.

When the nation goes to the polls next week, only the queen and her immediate family, members of the House of Peers, prisoners and lunatics may not cast a ballot.

People with close royal connections like Lord Snowdon, Princess Margaret's husband, are allowed to vote. They seldom do, however, so as to avoid any political taint touching the royal family.

Although the queen cannot vote, she is required to cancel all engagements on election day and hold herself in readiness to act as head of state. Her presence in the country March 31 is obligatory.

If the Labor party is returned to power, Wilson will simply pick up the reins of government where he dropped them upon dissolution March 10 and set about reorganizing his administration.

SEEK AUDIENCE

But if his party loses to the Conservatives, he will seek an audience with the queen at Buckingham Palace and formally tender his resignation as prime minister and first lord of the treasury.

Shortly after his visit, the queen would summon Conservative party leader Edward Heath — he cannot go until sent for — and ask him to form a new government.

In the official audience room, a special chamber near the queen's private quarters on the second floor of the palace, Heath will kneel and kiss the monarch's hand to signify his acceptance.

Then he will go away, form his cabinet and inform the queen when he is ready. The new ministers subsequently will be called to the palace to pledge their loyalty to the crown.

On April 18, the 44th British Parliament of modern times will assemble at historic Westminster where the first order of business will be to elect the speaker — Dr. Horace King.

And three days later, the queen will ride in a golden coach through the streets of London to perform the official opening ceremony before red-robed peers and morning-suited members of the House of Commons gathered together in the ancient House of Lords.

Three new ideas in one Easter suit

The one-button jacket... a fresh new approach to fashion. Trim in line and lean in look.

The texture of silk... all-time favorite for warm-weather enjoyment. Seen here in a handsome interpretation.

Decorative and worsted... for the consistently neat look that keeps its press but doesn't hold a wrinkle!

The Fifth Rose. You don't see it. You drink it.

The Fifth Rose is what we call our new taste. This new taste makes Four Roses one of those rarest of things: a whiskey that actually tastes good. Not just smooth, and not bland. But good. And if that's not enough for you, this whiskey has another thing going for it: it holds its own in a mixed drink. (A trick that supposedly only the old-fashioned heavy whiskeys could pull off.)

As you'd expect, this new taste wasn't something we came up with overnight.

Far from it. For one thing, we had a cupboard full of 1,500 different whiskeys to work with. And before we found just the right combination (some 50 different tasting whiskeys and grain neutral spirits in all) a lot of new gray hairs had appeared on the scene.

If you want a good tasting whiskey that stays good tasting no matter what you mix it with, ask for the whiskey with the Fifth Rose.

Better known as Four Roses. $4.52 $2.85

Western-Style Viet Killer Collects Cong for Bounty

By TOM TIEDE
TAN AN HOI, Viet Nam — (NEA) — Nguyen Van Rat, 32, is a curious fellow. A blend of pomp and preposterousness, cowboy hats and combat boots he struts through this village for all the world like an Oriental Hopping Cassidy.

Indeed he presents an almost comical figure. Except nobody laughs at Mr. Rat. Not for very long, anyway.

Mr. Rat is a headhunter. A sadistic killer who stabs his victims in their sleep, blows them up with explosives, or strangles them with his slender fingers.

But, of course, Mr. Rat is not a rat in the strict sense of the word. He is on our side, you see, and the only people he disposes of are Viet Cong. VERY EFFECTIVE

And dispose he does, with awe-inspiring efficiency. By his own count he has stabbed, hanged, throttled, suffocated, bayoneted, quartered, bayoneted or stoned to death 1,654 Communist conspirators over the past 17 years.

He did away with his first at age 18. Since then he has averaged one killing a week. "How do you know the count?" he has been asked. "I keep their ears," he answers.

Nguyen Rat's colossal contempt for the enemy in this conflict is rooted in a couple of distasteful things. One, his mother, father, grandmother, grandfather and two sisters were butchered by the Cong and, two, he is paid handsomely for each proven Communist killed.

BOUNTY HUNTER
He is, in other words, a bounty hunter. His sympathetic and generous government pays him $10 for every adversary he kills and $15 for every foreign weapon he confiscates.

Thus endowed, Mr. Rat, a sometime dunglump worker, has become rich and idiosyncratic.

His boots are handmade, his outlandishly camouflaged coveralls tightly tailored, his inch-long fingernails meticulously manicured into silento sharpness.

He has a two-inch hunk of gold wrapped around one finger and some smaller pieces wrapped around several showy teeth.

ANNUAL MEETING
Notice is hereby given that the Pontiac Township Annual Meeting will be held on Saturday, April 22nd, 1966, at 1:00 P.M. in the Township Office, 1000 Centre Street, Pontiac, Michigan.

LEONARD TERRY
March 24 and 25, 1966

He wears sideburns, a mustache, a goatee, a tied-down 45 pistol, a wrapped around 30-caliber carbine, and a dainty necklace. He is, quite naturally, a ladies' man. And he has six kids to prove it.

But for all of this peacock pagantry, Mr. Rat lives a rodent's life. Last year, while he slept his house was blown and gutted by avenging Viet Cong. He escaped, but some of his family didn't.

It was neither the first nor the last time his enemies have tried to trap Mr. Rat. There have been 10 nearly successful attempts but only one of these drew blood.

Now, Viet guerrilla groups are offering an unprecedented $5,000 reward for him dead, not alive.

The price interests Mr. Rat. "A lot of money for one poor man," he says. But as far as frightening him: "No. One gets used to ducking."

DOESN'T FLINCH
To be sure, Mr. Rat shows no sign of flinching. His increasing confrontation with the Cong, in fact, is only adding to his grisly production.

Where he used to hunt only one at a time, he now tries two or three. His record is a dozen, his average now 16 a month. The more he kills, however, the less Mr. Rat can bring back. Disliking the burden of hauling home cadavers, he has resorted to simply chopping off a victim's head and returning it as proof of kill and, of course, as product for payment.

Thus they call him The Headhunter. Thus they speak in hushed whispers when he's in town.

At the sound of his footsteps and the glitter of his exaggerated garb, young girls blush, young men sweat, children star dumbfoundedly and policemen look the other way.

And nobody, but nobody, laughs. Tennessee Valley Authority electricity is distributed by 188 electric systems.

Irish Character Is 'Boyle-d' Down

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Being Irish is a pleasure, not an industry. Now that St. Patrick's Day has come and gone, I'd like to clear up some misconceptions about the Irish—as far as I have known them.

Some years ago, in a burst of youthful perception, I wrote in exclamation a favorable piece about the Irish. Answering the question "What is it to be Irish?" this was a point I made:

"On St. Patrick's Day, to be Irish is to know more glory, adventure, magic, victory, exultation, gratitude and gladness than any other man can experience in a lifetime."

A lonesome friend said, "Well, that's very nice, but the year has 365 days. How does it feel to be Irish the other 364 days?"

Well, some of the Irish I've known are like this: Life is their favorite challenge but death is not their worst enemy.

CELEBRATE BIRTH They celebrate birth as they do departure. They are proud of a child being born and aren't particularly sad if a relative over 80 yields a final breath. They know they'll meet him in heaven.

Some regard the Irish as too brash on earth, and perhaps they are. Their conduct, however, reflects a confidence in heaven.

But sure as they are of eternity, nothing breaks an Irish family's heart more than if one of their young ones is called to God sooner than they want to let him go.

Performance is the flower of the Irishman's desire. Joy is part of his way.

EXTREMELY LOYAL He is fantastically loyal but his biggest quarrels are among his own.

He loves horses and the shenanigans of their sleek sides and the betting upon their abilities. But he can walk as far or run as quickly as any man on earth. He himself is a horse on foot.

His mouth runs even faster. He is a great talker, a proclaimer, an arguer, a seeker after evidence.

Sometimes he puts his swift foot into his fast mouth. Then he gets himself into trouble.

HE'S GENEROUS He is generous. Since he has never owned his own country completely, he will lend his shirt to anybody—and borrow the other fellow's coat right back.

This personal improvidence stops at the military level. Other countries respect his talent there. They like to hire him to run their operations by land and by sea and by air because his pride under stress is to achieve purpose with the least loss.

Reckless and careless as he may be of himself, he is thrifty in command of others.

It is part of his nature never to divorce a wife—or an opportunity.

In psychological terms, the Irishman is a manic-depressive and a paranoid. He joys and weeps with or without reason and secretly feels the world mistakes him. He laughs in sorrow and sorrows in laughter.

He is both a pagan warrior and God's soldier, earth's adventurer, heaven's sentinel.

'Local, State Regimes Yield Responsibility'

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — The federal government has taken on new programs because of abdication of responsibility by state and local governments says Luther H. Hodges.

Hodges, former secretary of commerce under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson, told a college audience that a child talking each level of government looks to the level above it for funds.

Hopes Rise for Recovery of H-Bomb

PALOMARES, Spain (UPI) — Hope rose sharply today that a U.S. H-bomb lying in 2,500 feet of water off the Spanish coast would be recovered soon.

Spanish government sources predicted early recovery of the thermo-nuclear weapon lost in the crash of a B-52 bomber more than nine weeks ago.

The 22-foot, two-man submarine Alvin made several dives yesterday, apparently trying to secure a cable to the weapon so it could be moved to a safer position before being lifted out of the water.

The Alvin is trying to drag the bomb to an underwater platform, about 300 feet under the surface, where U.S. Navy divers can secure cables to it.

NO INTEREST IN TV — This 4-year-old gorilla at the Pittsburgh Zoo recently lost his mate and zoo officials yesterday installed a television set to provide companionship for Foreign Scene

Finns Live in Red Shadow

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the fall of 1961, Finnish President Urho Kekkonen returned to Helsinki from a visit to the United States and wryly demanded: "Is the republic still standing?"

It was a reflection of one of two bitter facts of life which the Finns have had to learn since 1939. One is the absolute necessity for getting along with her huge neighbor, the Soviet Union, and the other is that whatever may happen the Finns must depend upon themselves.

Together they form the key-stone of Finland's foreign policy. Internally, as well, the proximity of the Soviet Union exercises a profound influence.

For this reason also this week's Finnish elections take on special importance. For the first time since 1958 the Finns see some hope of political stability.

In Finnish foreign policy and on their side the Finns feared Russian demand for bases on Finnish territory.

CRISIS AVERTED

Kekkonen's diplomacy forestalled a crisis and the Finnish voters bowed to an implicit Soviet demand that Kekkonen be reelected.

In 1963 Tanner retired from Social Democratic leadership. Taking over as new party chairman came a mild-mannered moderate, a newspaper editor named Rafael Passio and a move to bring the party back from its political exile.

In this week's parliamentary elections, the Social Democrats emerged the big winners. As Socialists, the Social Democrats long since have abandoned Marx but in combination with the Agrarians they could bring to Finland the political stability it needs.

But the final outcome may depend upon the Russians.

Taxes on property supplied nearly 45 per cent of local and state revenue throughout the nation last year.

Largely because of their special relationship with the Soviet Union and the resultant sharp political divisions within their own boundaries, Finnish history since 1958 has been one of a succession of weak coalition governments and dismal failures.

UNIFYING FACTOR

The single unifying factor has been Kekkonen, the president and seemingly the only politician the Russians trust.

Among the approximately 4.5 million Finns, approximately 25 per cent vote Communist.

The other two largest parties have been the Agrarian, recently renamed Center, and the Social Democratic party made up of right-wing Socialists. Kekkonen is an Agrarian whose term in office extends to 1968.

SPECIAL HERO

Especially distasteful to the Russians was Social Democrat leader Vaino Tanner, who became a special hero to Americans when he led the Finns in their hopeless war against the Russians in 1939.

Tanner as much as any man is credited with keeping the Finns out of the Russian satellite orbit.

In 1961, Kekkonen was forced to break off his American visit because of Russian fears that a Social Democrat-backed candidate might take over the Finnish presidency in elections scheduled for 1962.

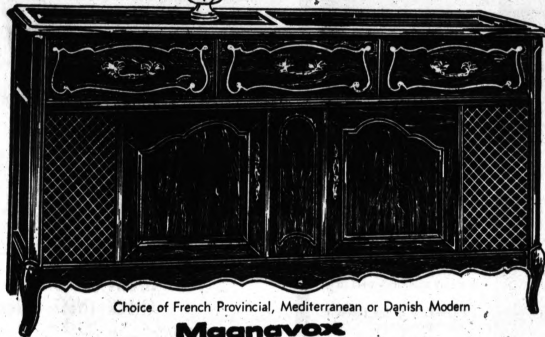

The Russians feared a change

Tax Measure OK'd by Senate

Offers Local Units
Assessment Options

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved Wednesday a one-year, local option version of a tax assessment bill said to be worth $5.5 million to Detroit. Republicans and Democrats worked out a compromise making the measure acceptable to outstate areas and permitting it to go into effect this tax year.

The House was expected to go along with the Senate amendments but there was some question whether Gov. George Romney would approve the measure.

The bill, in essence, permits local units to apply either straight line depreciation schedules or accelerated depreciation schedules to business personal property this year only. The accelerated schedules will go into effect everywhere next year.

YEAR OF GRACE

Designed mostly for Detroit, the compromise measure in effect grants one more year of grace to local governments trying to adjust to state tax commission regulations without losing too much revenue.

Industry had fought for required use of accelerated depreciation schedules. This permits the value of machinery and equipment to be written off at a high rate when it is fairly new and at a slow rate later. This is similar to the way a new car depreciates in value.

Straight line schedules, sought by governments with a high industrial tax base, require an equal writeoff each year whether or not equipment quickly loses some of its value. Detroit officials testified at an earlier hearing that they would lose $5.5 million in revenue if accelerated depreciation were used instead of straight line.

PERMANENCE

As passed by the House, the bill would have made straight line schedules permanent. But Senate Democrats had to give in to Republican one-year, local option demands so they could muster enough votes to give the bill immediate effect.

Without immediate effect, it would have been meaningless for this tax year and only accelerated schedules could have been used.

Republicans still opposed the bill on a 21-12 vote, but gave it immediate effect. Closing date for tax boards of review was extended to April 4 so local units could take advantage of the measure.

Last year the legislature had directed the tax commission to implement its new accelerated depreciation schedules over a two-year period instead of one year. Wayne, Macomb and Oakland County units had complained then that a complete switch would cost them too much money.

REQUIREMENT

The over-all changeover is in line with a constitutional requirement that all property be assessed at 50 per cent of true cash value. Previously some areas had assessed business personal property at a higher rate than real property.

Romney indicated last year he would not go along with further delay in implementing the depreciation schedules. But Wednesday, he would not say whether or not he'd sign the bill.

Teens Likely Building Target

Will the nation's home builders be selling to teen-agers in the years ahead?

Could be, says the Tile Council of America, mindful that half of the people living in the United States at the end of this decade will be under 25 years of age.

The trade association of the nation's ceramic tile manufacturers, who supply an important building product for new homes, cites a continuing drop in the age of home buyers as an indication of this possibility.

FHA recently reported that the average 1965 FHA home-buyer was 33 years old, younger than ever before.

Younger buyers plus the apparently continuous rise in standards of living may spell many changes in the appearance of the nation's homes, the Tile Council says.

LIKELIEST RESULT

More custom-built homes with less conventional designs seem to be the likeliest result of the trend, the Tile Council figures.

Increased variety in styles as well as in the individual building components has been evident in new home construction since the end of World War II.

Ceramic tile itself has had many face liftings in that period

Felt weather stripping glued to the underside of each rocker on a rocking chair will keep chair from being noisy and marring the floor.

Variety's the Beat

Home Show's a Swinger

Waterford Township Jaycees anticipate an attendance of 10,000 this weekend for their 12th annual North Oakland County Home and Sport Show at the Community Activities, Inc. building, 5640 Williams Lake.

The show will begin tomorrow night at 6, continuing until 11. Saturday and Sunday, the show will maintain hours of noon through 11 p.m.

Last year's 3-day event attracted 8,500 persons.

About 40 booths will be set up inside the CAI building, according to Jaycee officials.

Among items displayed by merchants and manufacturers will be boats, campers, carpeting, water softeners, aluminum siding, wigs, furniture, slot racers, appliances and sewing machines.

CAMPER DISPLAY

In addition, there will be a camper and house trailer display on the blacktop outside the building.

Also on exhibit will be a lightweight motorcycle which was driven to a world speed record.

Admission for the show is 50 cents. Children will be admitted free. Free parking is available, according to the Jaycees.

Several prizes will be awarded, including a motorcycle donated by Roy's Harley-Davidson Sales, 203 W. Montcalm.

DRAWINGS

Several boothholders also will present prizes following drawings.

Each boothholder will hold keys for the "Treasure Chest," from which 60 prizes will be given away.

Spectators can request keys to try to open the "Treasure Chest" and receive a prize.

"Treasure Chest" prizes range from desk lamps and lawn equipment to electric tooth brushes and carving knives.

PIXIE CONTEST

Winners of the Pixie King and Queen contest will be crowned Sunday. For boys and girls aged two to four, the contest is sponsored by the Waterford Township Jaycee Auxiliary.

Pictures of about 40 children have been submitted for entry in the contest. Each picture will be attached to a box with a money slot.

Boxes containing the most money will constitute the king and queen.

The Jaycee Auxiliary also will operate a booth featuring baked goods and candy.

CONCESSIONS

A concession stand will be operated by the Jaycees. Special chicken dinners will be sold as will hamburgers and hot dogs.

A mouth-to-mouth resuscitation class will be offered by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Games will also be offered as a part of the entertainment.

DOOR PRIZE — Gayanne Mansfield, Waterford Township's Junior Miss, sits atop a motorcycle which will be the main door prize at the North Oakland County Home and Sport Show this weekend at the Community Activities, Inc., building, 5640 Williams Lake. Miss Mansfield is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mansfield, 5186 Durnham.

$5,000 in Proceeds Is Club's Aim

Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce expects proceeds from the three-day home and sport show to total about $5,000 from boothholders' fees, door receipts and food sales.

It would represent about one-third of the Jaycees' annual budget of $15,000.

Proceeds will be used to finance two $800 scholarships for high school seniors, special community projects and youth sports projects, including Junior Olympics, golf, tennis and bowling.

Wells Serve 26 Pct. of U.S. Public

There are more than 10 million private wells in the United States, serving about 26 per cent of the population.

New wells are being sunk at the rate of at least 1,000 per day.

There are several reasons for this. For one thing, it indicates that the pace of housing is outstripping municipal water supply systems.

For another, people are growing tired of the chronic water shortages that they have to endure for months at a time, year after year.

Finally, groundwater, found "deep in the bowels of the earth," is virtually always "pure" water or is easily treated. It's not subjected to the constant pollution and contamination to which surface waters often are exposed.

PREDICT BOOM

Many water supply experts are predicting a genuine boom in the growth of private wells, not only for private homes but to supply the water for the many theaters, bowling alleys, shopping centers, restaurants, etc., that are springing up beyond municipal water mains.

Modern compact pumps that are virtually noiseless and maintenance-free come in a large range of sizes to serve both private homes and commercial and institutional establishments.

A qualified plumbing contractor or water systems dealer not only will do a reliable installation job, he'll help the prospective buyer select the right-size pump for his needs.

What's more, he will obtain and maintain records on the depth of the water, its mineral content and so on, and this information always is available to the owner for his future use should a larger water supply, servicing or any other "attention" be needed at some future time.

Acclimatize Your Plants

Tropical plants will feel more at home in Northern climates if you make sure they've been professionally conditioned by growers in your area.

The pros acclimatize tropical plants with the right soil mixtures and grow them in unglazed red clay flower pots to insure healthier roots and proper drainage.

Tropicals should be guarded against too much light and water.

When you next paint your home, try using a single color scheme with variations throughout. It makes everything appear larger.

Fish stories are not the normal fare in this corner, simply because the purpose here is to examine means by which fish can be caught, not lost.

But a rather intriguing tale came to my attention, and I can't resist passing it along.

Last month, Harry Miller and Rocky Robinson went fishing on the Mitchell One off the island of Eleuthera in the Bahamas. Their purpose was to test new tackle.

Midway in the afternoon, Harry tied into a bull dolphin, or perhaps it was the other way around. In any event, the battle was on. Harry fought the good fight, and after 25 or 30 minutes came out a winner.

House Plants More Colorful

The Easter parade of spring house plants is more colorful than ever this year. Professional plant growers have come up with some radiant new hues to enhance your house plant collection.

Clay-potted Easter lilies, always popular in their traditional whites, take on additional drama in new shades of orange, lemon and even red and bronze tones.

Timed to reach bloom just before Easter, these lovely floral heralds of spring should be purchased in the tight bud stage so they'll blossom after you get them home.

Lilies like plenty of water, but should not be soaked. That's why professionals and prize-winning amateurs keep them in unglazed red clay pots, so excess moisture can escape slowly. Keep lilies in sunny windows, at temperatures between 65 and 70 degrees.

Deep rose red colors are new features in the popular hydrangea family, another Easter best seller. And, as always, you'll find an interesting variety of colors in professionally grown tulips, hyacinths and crocuses.

BUDDING STAGE

Many florists and garden centers will have them in the budding stage, together with new shades in the dramatic gloxinia and amaryllis varieties.

Multicolored white and pink azaleas, which fit so beautifully into any setting, are available in both the new compact sizes, as well as in the longer-stemmed varieties.

Colorful caladiums, fittonias and new varieties of table ferns, which are staging a big come-back in home decoration, can add interest to your Easter plant gift selections.

All Easter flowering and foliage plants should be kept in porous red clay pots to give them better environments for longer, healthier lives.

The dolphin was a good size, roughly 40 pounds, and, when brought aboard was promptly deposited in the fish box. Harry was happy, Rocky was happy.

The dolphin wasn't

After 10 minutes, a gentle thumping was heard from the direction of the fish box. It got louder and louder and then the lid to the fish box began to rise rhythmically.

"Some fighter," said Rocky, admiringly.

HATCH OPENS

Harry was about to agree when the lid flew open. He leaped from his chair, dashed to the fish box, put both hands on the lid and pushed frantically downward.

The lid closed, but another mighty thrust ripped it from Harry's hands, and the dolphin came straight up and out of the box.

Rocky, aghast, just stood there, while Harry lunged for the fish. He didn't make it. With a vigorous flip, the dolphin was over the side and gone.

Harry looked at Rocky. Rocky looked at Harry.

"Who will believe me?" asked Harry at last.

"Don't ask me," said Rocky. "I only saw it."

There should be a moral here someplace, but the only one I think of is: A fish in the box is worth two in a boat.

On Unnecessary Service Calls

Home Owners Waste Many Dollars

Home owners are annually wasting $1½ billion in unnecessary service calls.

Many times, a repair bill can be avoided by locating the trouble and fixing it yourself, says the Construction Research Bureau.

For example, if an electric appliance does not work, plug it into another socket.

The first outlet might be defective and the appliance okay. Sometimes, an extension cord may be at fault. Try another one.

Perhaps an overload has caused a fuse to burn out or a circuit breaker to trip. If the lights in the same room fail to go on, this is probably the case.

ANOTHER FUSE

Insert another fuse of the

To Shower Took Power in Old Days

You had to be a pretty hard individual to take a shower in the 1800s, when this method of bathing first won attention.

The showerheads were at least eight inches in diameter.

When the shower was turned on, the torrent of water that rushed down was strong enough to knock over an off-balance bather. No wonder it was called a rain bath—though flood bath might have been more accurate.

Only the men dared to take showers. Timid women were afraid they'd be washed right out of the room, so they stuck to bathing in their claw-footed tubs.

Today, showers are equally popular with both sexes. Modern showerheads have a sleek and modern look and have adjustments that permit full-flow or a fine spray.

NEWEST TYPES

Some of the newest types have as many as eight different adjustments to the water flow. There are controls that temper the water and compensate for changes in water pressure — so the bather gets exactly the temperature he wants.

No modern bathroom is considered complete without a shower. Tub enclosures come in beautiful colors and styles and are watertight.

You can also get shower enclosures for installation in small areas that can't accommodate a full bathroom—thereby easing some of the bathroom rush hour problems in families with otherwise inadequate facilities.

A quality installation consists of a shower, handsome enclosure and a receptor tub with built-in seat.

same strength. If this blows out or the circuit breaker keeps tripping, don't fight it. Consult an electrician.

If a new appliance is being used, consult the book of instructions to make sure you know how to operate it.

When the refrigerator begins to defrost and the light is out, make sure that the cord is plugged in the wall socket and that the temperature dial is correctly set.

It may be set too low for the shelves. Manual defrosting should be accomplished before the ice becomes one-quarter inch thick.

SMELL OF GAS

Should the smell of gas pervade the kitchen, it may well be the pilot light has gone out. This can happen if a draft blows through the room or the pressure drops below normal.

The pilot light on top of the range can easily be relit. If it's the one in the oven, open the doors to let gas escape before relighting.

Tile flooring that is correctly installed seldom, if ever, gives difficulty. But if it were not laid properly or if an excessive weight were abruptly dropped on a section of the floor, a tile might possibly become loosened.

You don't have to call a flooring expert to fix it. Remove the tile and show it to your dealer who will tell you the proper adhesive to use.

REPLACE TILE

Simply apply the adhesive and replace the tile. Always be sure to let the tile set at least three days before washing the floor.

If your automatic washer refuses to run it may be (1) that the hose has kinked (2) the loading door is not shut fast (3) the load is too heavy or unbalanced (4) suds are clogging drain (5) water faucets are not turned on or (6) more than one cycle button has been pushed.

When an automatic dryer stops, check controls to see if setting is right.

See whether door is closed. If it's a gas unit, the main valve and pilot light should be fully on.

Wash Pillows in Cloth Case

When washing foam rubber pillows, put them in a cloth case. Soak in the machine, turning the pillow over once in the 5 to 10 minutes.

Do not agitate the pillows nor dry them in the dryer.

Dry pillows outdoors if possible. If not, use a fan inside to dry them.

See that the lint screen is clean and that the exhaust valve is not clogged.

If the clothing is unusually wet or the temperature in the room is colder than usual, set timer for a longer period.

Some things are best left to repairmen. These include TV sets (except for checking antenna and lead-in), repairs to gas or oil furnaces and anything that would be a physical strain on the amateur or that requires special training and tools to do the job right.

Facilities May Be Overloaded

Plan Vacations in Advance

The Outdoor Recreation Association has issued a warning to sportsmen to make their summer vacation plans and reservations early this year because the nation's prosperity is expected to cause an overloading of many outdoor facilities.

The international association — which is comprised of professional guides, outfitters, lodges, resorts and campsites — reports that reservations at the top-rated facilities will not be available much longer.

Bob Blair, president of ORA, said, "If last summer is any indication, many favorite fishing and camping facilities will be filled during much of the summer."

Although many facilities are expanding to accommodate more sportsmen this year, "The demand may be greater than the supply," Blair said.

"Outdoorsmen have more money and more time for vacationing than ever before," according to ORA's president.

Blair said there are sufficient accommodations available for sportsmen who plan in advance and write for reservations. Without advance planning, sportsmen and their families may find it difficult to find a place to stay at the last minute.

PUBLIC SERVICE

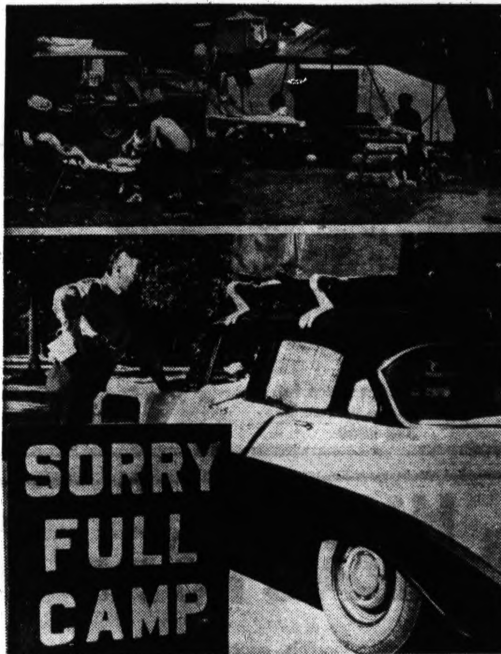

ORA offers a free public service to help outdoorsmen plan extended vacations or weekend outings near home. Information is furnished on hunting, fishing or camping in any specific geographical area in the U.S., Canada, India, Mexico and New Zealand.

For information, sportsmen should write the Outdoor Recreation Association, Lovejoy, Georgia 30250. State whether you wish to hunt, fish or camp; proposed vacation dates and the geographical areas to be visited.

The association also is publishing a directory of 100 favored hunting, fishing and camping spots. The annual publication is called the Outdoor Guide, and the 1966 issue came off the presses this month. The price is 50 cents.

The Guide also contains articles on camp cooking, cooking wild game and fish, Tiger hunting in India and a set of tips for wives of outdoorsmen.

The publication is designed to enable a sportsman to plan a complete vacation. Information is included on rates for accommodations and the costs of many extra services. Complete regulations and license fees are listed on hunting and fishing in the U.S. and Canada.

CROWDED PLACES — The camping boom continues and this has caused problems for area outdoors enthusiasts who seek a camp site in Southeastern Michigan. The "Sorry Full Camp" signs can be seen almost every summer weekend at many state-owned campgrounds.

Entertainment Sink Gains Popularity

The popularity of the entertainment sink is growing by leaps and bounds, right along with the continuing popularity of the family or recreation room. The newest entertainment sinks come with a large variety of built-in or optional equipment.

You can get them with ledges containing wells for bottles, ice buckets or soap drawers. Some come with corner gooseneck faucets or glass-filler faucets for installation in tight places.

You can get them with blenders and soap and lotion dispensers. Extra ledges to widen the basic sink, for convenience and a luxury look, also are available.

Other items growing in popularity for installation at the entertainment or kitchen sink include instant hot water or ice-water dispensers and ice-making machines.

Igniter Device May Replace Gas Pilot Light

The pilot light on the gas range, that infernal flame that maddeningly refuses to be an eternal light, may soon go the way of unicorns and dodo birds.

One manufacturer has introduced an electronic igniter, reports Business Week, to replace pilot lights on gas stoves and clothes driers.

The "electronic match" — which issues a spark to ignite the gas — uses a silicon-controlled rectifier. The device, which costs $10 to $20, saves its price in gas over a few years.

The company adds another advantage: Stoves, when not in use, won't radiate heat because there's no pilot light burning. It's not likely that you ever considered that flame a great heat producer, but take it for what it's worth.

Home Office Comfortable, Convenient

Film Available on Methods of Improving Home

With 96 per cent of home owners doing their own decorating and spending an estimated $30-billion this year on home improvements, a timely film, "Home Decorating Made Easy," is being made available by the American Society of Interior Design.

It has been produced to offer professional practical advice to do-it-yourselfers at a time when home owners are busily engaged in decorating and renovating.

This 14 minute, 16 mm color film is packed with a wealth of time saving, inspiring ideas on ways to improve and decorate the house as well as easy methods to install beautiful resilient tile floors.

It is available free on a loan basis to women's clubs, PTA's and other groups.

It is best for use in kitchens and bathrooms.

some of the most attractive offices can be found in homes. These offices reflect good taste, advance planning, adequate storage space, and easy maintenance.

Home offices are found in various sections of the house. Many still are located in the basement, but other businessmen are converting a porch into a spacious and attractive work area. In larger houses, a seldom-used parlor or first-floor bedroom can be modernized.

Many men are handling the improvement work themselves, and they enjoy the creative aspect of the project. Easy-to-handle materials, such as plastic wood-grain planks, can be put up quickly over solid backing or framing. No finishing is necessary and the paneling is washable.

In addition, the businessman with a home office realizes an income tax deduction.

Pint-Size Plumbing Gaining Popularity

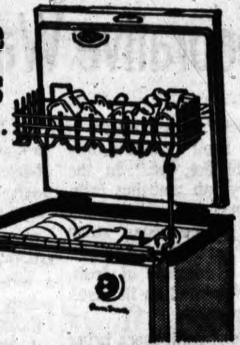

Junior-size plumbing fixtures have been available for many years, but they've never enjoyed much popularity. Now, they're coming into their own. You can get "juvenile" lavatories, water closets and tubs to furnish complete bathrooms.

The theory is that youngsters learn important habits of cleanliness, sanitation and order when they have their own bathrooms, and they carry these habits with them into later life.

Pediatricians and sociologists claim that a child should be washing his own hands by the time he's 2 years old.

The secret for encouraging this habit is to make it easy to do — hence the need for a junior-size lavatory where he can easily reach the bowl and the soap.

Suitable for Contemporary, Traditional

Decorative Wallpaper Now on Market

The French had a word for it — "trompe l'oeil" which simply means "fool the eye." In the 18th century, an amusing fashion flourished for embellishing walls with garden vistas, stone balustrades and carved moldings, even a compote of fruit, all cleverly painted on in fascinating perspective.

Now current wallpapers bring the same choice to every hand talented enough to snip and dip.

For provincial tastes there are tiles, the delicate Delft of Holland and the bold scrolls of Spain, authentic in design, with crumbled edges to delight an antique buff and dark lines of grout for the final touch of realism.

Tradition suggests these for dadoes, then ringed in a neat row around the ceiling, framing windows and doors with color, splashed across a chimney front or behind the kitchen range.

The flavor of a faraway farmhouse is complete when tiles combine with crusty white papers that capture the look and feel of stucco or the pebbled walls of Greek peasant houses.

DECOR UNLIMITED

Architecture by the roll provides decor unlimited and all in a matter of creative minutes.

Walls of books in bright colors, some in neat rows, some entrancingly askew, are seemingly real enough to take from the shelf.

Broad garlands of flowers might ornament screens, border a wide doorway or festoon at ceiling height.

A hand-forged iron grillwork in crisp black and white, is shadowed to create the illusion of an airy space beyond.

NEW COLLECTION

One new collection experiments with rotogravure printing to achieve three-dimensionality that invites an exploratory touch for a print of bamboo blinds, complete with wiggly string and faint silhouette of leafy branch behind; walls of weathered shutters with a bit of blue seen through the louvers; elaborate marquetry paneling in dark and light wood tones; smooth white pebbles set in sand.

And for op art enthusiasts, there's even the trick geometry of shifting shapes in black and white.

Most dashing shortcut of all comes with borders, prepasted and needing just a splash of water to appear hand-stenciled on the wall.

Some of these are generously wide, in fact made to the measure of the space between kitchen counter and wall cabinet or the soffit area at the ceiling.

Others are neat and narrow to frame wall panels, create columns at room corners, bring decorative detail to doors and shutters, or even furniture.

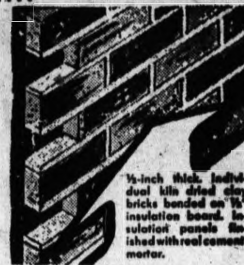

Outdoor decorating advice will be available at the Flower & Garden Show of Michigan, March 26 through April 3 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

Motivation Study Is Sought on Home Buyers' Whims

Why do people buy or not buy new homes? Who in the family is most influential in this decision? What are the factors in the home-buying decision?

To get the answers to these and other questions relating to home buying, the National Housing Center Council—a group of 40 major manufacturers of products and materials for the housing industry—called together their marketing experts here last week to discuss a major buyer motivation study for the housing industry.

The 50 specialists and staff of the National Housing Center, parent body of the council, heard four research firms present proposals for carrying out the buyer motivation study.

The house means different things to husband and wife, one research expert noted. "It's no longer a question of shelter for most families; home represents a psychological purchase."

"The nesting instinct makes a woman want her own home, but to a man the home may only represent the final act of married responsibility."

CONCERNS CONCERNED

Concern for the attitudes about home ownership is not new in America's housing industry. Most concerned are the nation's builders and the manufacturers who supply them.

The National Housing Center Council members, affiliated with the National Association of Home Builders, sponsored the meeting as a first step toward directing future industry growth.

Buyer attitudes alone are not enough, conference participants agreed. "Other factors—high land cost, labor shortages, tight money—may completely offset whatever you are able to do to influence the purchase of new housing," one specialist pointed out.

Long-range market prospects—those within the next 10 years—are not necessarily the same as those today, the conferees were told. The trend toward teen-age marriages and the housing needs they create, along with housing for the elderly, housing for returning servicemen and encouragement of more home ownership by low income groups all will take on a added importance in future years.

SECOND HOME

The "second home" or vacation home market is also looked to as a possible area of expansion.

As one program participant pointed out—"like the airline industry 20 years ago, the home building industry is looking for future ways to expand."

"The jets of today are a far cry from the planes of the '40's. Housing concepts may be just as revolutionary in the next 20 years. We need to be ready for the jet age in housing."

Proper Surface Preparation Important to Good Paint Job

We are sure that readers sometimes must get tired of being told that preparing the surface properly is a prime requisite of a good paint result.

We are even more certain that writers and authorities get just as tired of passing along that advice.

But the fact remains that reiteration of the warning is necessary.

A leading paint manufacturer recently stated that failure to prepare the surface properly remains the single most important cause of poor results among do-it-yourself painters.

He said his statement was the result of an extensive survey and that it applied equally to interior and exterior painting.

DIFFICULT

Why this preparation neglect should thrive is difficult to determine, except that perhaps most persons are unwilling to spend as much or more time getting ready to paint as they do in the actual painting.

Yet, except in rare instances, some washing, scraping, sanding and or priming is necessary before the application of the paint. When this is not done, peeling, spotting and many other so-called paint failures are almost inevitable.

In such cases, the paint itself gets the blame. It is true that poor quality paint has a very definite effect on the result, but not nearly as much nor as often as the lack of sufficient preparation.

(You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P. O. Box 954 Jamaica, N.Y. 11431.)

GREASE, DIRT

In the kitchen, it is especially important that grease and dirt first be removed before any paint is applied.

Sometimes, over a long period of time, the original paint in a kitchen becomes discolored in such a uniform fashion that it doesn't appear to be very dirty at all. Yet a vigorous scrubbing in a small area soon will uncover the actual color and make it very apparent that a thorough overall cleaning is necessary.

It is an unusual kitchen indeed whose walls and ceiling do not require some sort of cleaning before being painted.

This is true even when it is planned to use one of the priming preparations which help to prevent the splotchy appearance that comes from painting over dirt, grease and other foreign material.

In other rooms in the house, it is wise to wipe down the walls with a clean, dry cloth although there may be no visible signs of dirt.

This takes off dust that may have accumulated there.

This dusting should be done shortly before the painting so that a new layer doesn't form between the time of the cleaning and the application of the paint.

Whether painting inside or outside the house, remember this fundamental: paint doesn't grip properly over a glossy surface.

Thus, if there are any glossy areas, they should be sanded or gone over with steel wool. If then is necessary to brush off the grit or metal particles before the painting.

A lot of trouble? Sure. But it's something that has been done if you want your paint job to look as though it had been done by a professional.

448,060 Ducks Bagged

Early Teal Hunting Proved Helpful

WASHINGTON (AP) — The experimental early teal hunting season last year "demonstrated the opportunity for providing additional hunting if sportsmen are willing to learn waterfowl identification," according to Director John S. Gottschalk of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Gottschalk reported that the experimental season in which 20 states in the Central and Mississippi Flyways participated last September provided 257,180 additional days of hunting for sportsmen.

It also helped the bureau gather information on the early migrating blue-winged teal.

Bureau surveys, Gottschalk said, show that 201,972 free teal-hunting permits were issued in the 20 states and that 448,060 ducks were bagged.

All three species of North American teal — cinnamon, green-winged, and blue-winged — were legal game during the season.

The objective was to permit additional hunting of the early-migrating blue-winged teal.

"The birds killed during this experimental season came from populations that normally migrate early and are generally unavailable to hunters during the regular duck-hunting season," Gottschalk said.

He added that one of the studies conducted indicated an illegal kill of 13,000 wood ducks, 7,200 mallards, and 14,000 ducks of miscellaneous species. Approximately one-half million wood ducks are normally killed each year during the regular season.

How the additional hunting time will affect teal populations is still unknown, he continued.

Blue-winged teal have a high natural mortality and the additional kill may have taken many birds that normally would have died of natural causes.

The kill of blue wings was twice the number taken during the previous year's regular season in the two flyways.

The states that participated are: Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and those portions of Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming that lie east of the Continental Divide.

Antiquing Kit Is Beneficial

Antiquing with the new short-cut kits is an easy way to make old furniture look like new or give a new piece of furniture the charming appearance of age.

However, if undercoating or color toner are to be applied with a spray gun, the coating must first be thinned to insure an even flow of paint.

Two tablespoons of mineral spirits should do the job.

SALES & SERVICE

Fix Up Summer Homes Now

Early spring is the time to prepare your house in the mountains or at the seashore for the summer, advises the Construction Research Bureau, clearing house for building information.

Even before going to inspect it, you can pave the way and save time by a few phone calls.

Notify the phone company when service should be resumed. You'll need lights; you'll require electricity for the oil burner and refrigerator.

If you heat and cook by electricity, then it's even more important.

If you heat by oil, have the dealer check the tank supply, see that the furnace is in A-1 shape and that the chimney is clean.

MIGHTY CHILLY

A house that has been unoccupied all winter can be mighty chilly.

If you cook or heat by gas, you will want this service renewed. Make sure pilot lights on range and in oven are lighted so fumes will not escape.

When the house was closed for the winter, the water was turned off between the cellar and the main shut-off.

All the pipes and the traps under sinks, water closets, tubs, lavatories and showers were drained. Now they must be refilled and the water pump checked.

CALL PLUMBER

If you are not an expert do-it-yourselfer, have a plumber put your water system back in shape. It's a job that takes experience.

Last summer, you'll recall, you decided to put new flooring in some of the rooms but it seemed such a bother with all the furniture in place.

Now is the time to do it. Floors of solid vinyl tile that don't even need waxing would be excellent for the living room with its log fireplace.

For the guest room you could select Au Naturel vinyl asbestos tile, one of the newest creations.

PAINT WALLS

Now is a good time to paint walls and ceilings that need a fresh coat.

Be sure to inspect the attic to see if winter storms have leaked through. You may even discover that squirrels or other wild life have taken refuge under your roof.

It's not too early to look over slips and drapes that have been stored away. They will need cleaning or washing and some may need replacing.

Hard as the task may seem, solace is to be found in the happy summer days that lie ahead.

Cut an empty milk carton on half and use it in your refrigerator as a tray to hold small bottles.

Plumber Can Repair Noisy Annoyances

The adage that children should be seen and not heard is pretty old-fashioned, but the same isn't true of your household plumbing. Most people are extremely irritated by the whistling, chattering and hammering sound that sometimes emanates from their plumbing. Most noises are due to high-velocity water being forced through pipe that is too small. The whistling sound usually originates at tee's or bends.

The installation of a pressure-reducing valve generally solves the problem, although in severe cases, part of the pipe sometimes has to be replaced.

Chattering usually is due to loose pipe or fixture parts and is eliminated by firmly securing them.

Water hammer is the thumping noise you hear when a faucet is turned off suddenly. It's corrected by adding small air chambers or shock absorbers at appropriate points.

CALL PLUMBER

You should obtain the services of a qualified plumbing contractor to correct this condition. Most do-it-yourself attempts are hit-and-miss and seldom work.

While many householders have to resort to the above measures to silence their piping, families who are building new homes have recourse to a better remedy: They avoid the problem by making sure that the pipe used is of large-enough diameter.

The difference in cost between barely adequate and generous-sized piping is small compared to the convenience gained.

What is adequate size? Your qualified plumbing contractor will be glad to advise you. Among other things, he'll make sure the piping is large enough to handle future additions of water-using appliances.

STUBBED-IN

Many buyers of new homes go a step farther. If they feel their present circumstances won't permit the immediate installation of desired water-using equipment, they have the pipe stubbed-in at points of future use.

The pipe "waits" there behind the walls or under the floor until the family is ready to install the extras — such things as bedroom vanities, entertainment sinks in the recreation room or on the patio, hot and cold water in the garage, a powder room off the living room, and so on.

Since the plumbing contractor keeps permanent records of the hidden pipe, when the time comes to install any of the extras, his men can connect them to the pipe with a minimum of mess and at less cost than if he then had to add the extra pipe at these additional points of use. and now boasts over 300 different colors, sizes and shapes for walls, floors and counter-table tops.

Once in demand for its durable characteristics, it is now also valued for its decorative possibilities.

GREATER CHANGES

Greater changes at a faster pace are in store for home builders and buyers alike, the Tile Council says.

If the quantity of presnet U.S. buildings will be doubled by the end of this century to accommodate population growth, as government statistics indicate it must, and if young buyers with large incomes have anything to say about it, U.S. homes of the not-too-distant future will bear little resemblance to those of today.

New Concrete Mix Stops Guesswork

There's a new concrete mix which comes complete with the exact amount of water.

The package has a unique pouch - within - a - pouch construction; you don't even have to open the container to mix its contents.

Hunters Foiled Again.

Tally Ho... Yoicks!

LONDON (UPI)—The master of the fox hounds drained the stirrup cup and proudly led his bulging dogs into the fields.

Tally Ho! ~
There was a fox scampering along in plain view to the left. Yoicks!

So why were the hounds tearing off in the opposite direction?

The answer was that the hunt saboteurs had struck again. The dogs were following a false trail they had put down.

Fox hunting, which Oscar Wilde once described in its aristocratic days as the pursuit of the uneatable by the unspeakable, is not exactly fighting for its life here.

It is believed to be more popular than ever with even working-class city folk renting horses to join the less expensive, more democratic hunts.

But it now has powerful opponents. A growing number of Britons are not convinced the pursuit of a fox to exhaustion by a small army of cavalry and its eventual tearing to pieces by dogs represents the best way to keep down vermin.

They think a shotgun is cleaner and quicker.

The well-financed League Against Cruel Sports leads this campaign with newspaper advertising, television talks and school lectures. Recently it awarded a silver medal to Miss Gendolen Barter who saved a fox at Blean in Kent.

Miss Barter came upon members of the Thanet and Herne Hunt digging out a fox which had gone to earth in a hole. She jumped into the hole herself and wouldn't leave until the police were called.

A spokesman for the league said they were proud of Miss Barter and hoped her example would be followed nationally. Otherwise the league does not take direct action.

But the hunt saboteurs do.

They are mostly young and impassioned and sometimes try to block the hunters with placards and banners. On more than one occasion this has led to a brisk exchange of fisticuffs during which the fox sauntered safely home.

The hunt saboteurs use many methods, most of which blue-blooded fox hunters regard as distinctly unethical. For example a romantic female dog, produced at the psychological moment, is apt to disrupt a hunt.

But the false trail gambit is the favorite.

Plant Array
Can Be Easy

Succulents will give you an easy, interesting way to start a spring house plant collection. Most are green plants but some will surprise you with colorful blossoms.

Give them fairly sunny locations and moderate water.

Some succulents you'll find in porous red clay pots include the attractive jade plant, Sedums in many attractive shapes and sizes, and kalanchoes, which are year-around favorites.

Various types of retaining walls, from railroad ties to Ohio bluestone, will be shown at the Flower & Garden Show of Michigan, March 26 through April 3 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

In a recent television discussion advocates of fox hunting insisted they were friends of the farmer only interested in clearing the poultry-eating fox from his farms.

Raymond Rowley, chairman of the League Against Cruel Sports, believes he has evidence that will refute this argument. A spokesman hinted that Rowley is amassing proof that fox hunters secretly breed foxes for the hunt and added.

Homes Copy Motel Interiors

Interior designers are doing an about-face and are now creating motel rooms for homes.

The motel look is seen more and more in homes throughout the nation these days, claims Marcel Lutwak, executive director of Chicago's Ascot House and Essex Inn. "For years motels made every effort to simulate home and gracious living.

"But now motel rooms have become so attractive and comfortable-looking that interior designers are looking to them for ideas for furnishing modern homes and apartments," says Lutwak.

The motel executive points out that the precise, careful planning that goes into motel decor can offer many ideas to homemakers in layout and furnishings. "Motels are a product of much imagination and through to please a broad cross-section of the population.

"They strive to achieve a cross-section of tastes and preferences, avoiding gaudy extremes and offbeat design. In a sense, too, that is what the goal of the typical home should be, providing for pleasant everyday surroundings through furnishings that blend many ideas into a correlated pattern of design."

WIDE VARIETY

Motels have been furnished in Early American, Spanish, Western, French, Italian — practically every design known to appeal to the traveler — all with emphasis on function rather than frill, and many of these effective motifs in decor can provide ideas for home design.

Lutwak offers some hints for home furnishings based on motel design concepts:

- Multiple-use pieces designed because of motel space-economics are especially important in the modern home or apartment. For example, the desk or breakfast table that quickly converts into a dining room table is almost a must in homes and apartments with small or no dining rooms.

- Choose pieces not only for comfort, but to please your senses, too.

- Clean, contemporary furniture is especially effective when it is enhanced by strong colors and rough textures.

- A piece or two of a different style can add great charm to a room. For example, it is very dramatic to place an antique table or lamp between two very modern chairs.

- If you keep background colors soft it makes a room seem larger and gives it a more open feeling.

- When planning your furnishings, keep in mind that every room must have a focal point — the area of most visual appeal.

"The days of buying an all-of-a-kind-suite of furniture are past," states Lutwak.

"This is the era of mixing styles, periods, and materials.

To do a really effective job of furnishing your home, you must have a genuine desire to acquire furniture and accessories that express your individuality, character and interests."

Lutwak has not only been responsible for furnishing the Ascot House and Essex Inn, but has been deeply involved in the design of the Aristocrat Inns' two other motels, the Acres and Avenue, and the soon-to-come lake front McCormick Inn.

"Motels don't just happen, they are planned with care — even down to such frills as antique door knobs.

"The modern home, too, isn't just happening. It should be planned — for simplicity and comfort, function with some frills, formality with personality — with today's highly mobile family in mind," he concludes.

Check Double Door Space

Double front doors set a gracious tone for guests as they approach your home, and they're popular in today's trend to greater elegance.

As a remodeling project, a double entry depends for its success on space available on porch and in entry hall, and on proper balance in size and placement on the front exterior wall.

But don't dismiss the idea just because there's not quite enough space in the hall. Install the second as a "dummy" so that only the first can be opened. The space behind it is ideal for a hall closet.

Year-Round Hose Is Out

A new type of garden hose which can be used the year round in all kinds of weather has been developed by U. S. Rubber Co.

The new hose remains flexible at low temperatures and highly resistant to weathering or attack from ozone and sunlight, W. M. Condon, product manager of hose for the mechanical products division, said.

The hose is made of a new kind of synthetic rubber called Royalene, which retains its flexibility at temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero.

Plastic hose can become stiff and hard to manage even on cool summer days. This occurs when cold water passes through it and when it is used in shady locations.

Royalene, Condon said, is always supple — even when you wash your car at temperatures which hover just above the freezing point.

WON'T CRACK

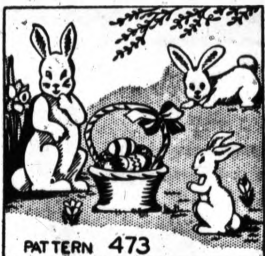

In addition, it will not crack due to ozone or weathering which often occurs with other rubbers.

Royalene has been tested for more than 2,000 hours in a laboratory "weather box" without deterioration. Under the same conditions other rubbers cracked in 10 to 12 hours.

"Leave it outside in all kinds of weather — hot or cold — and the hose will always be usable," Condon asserted.

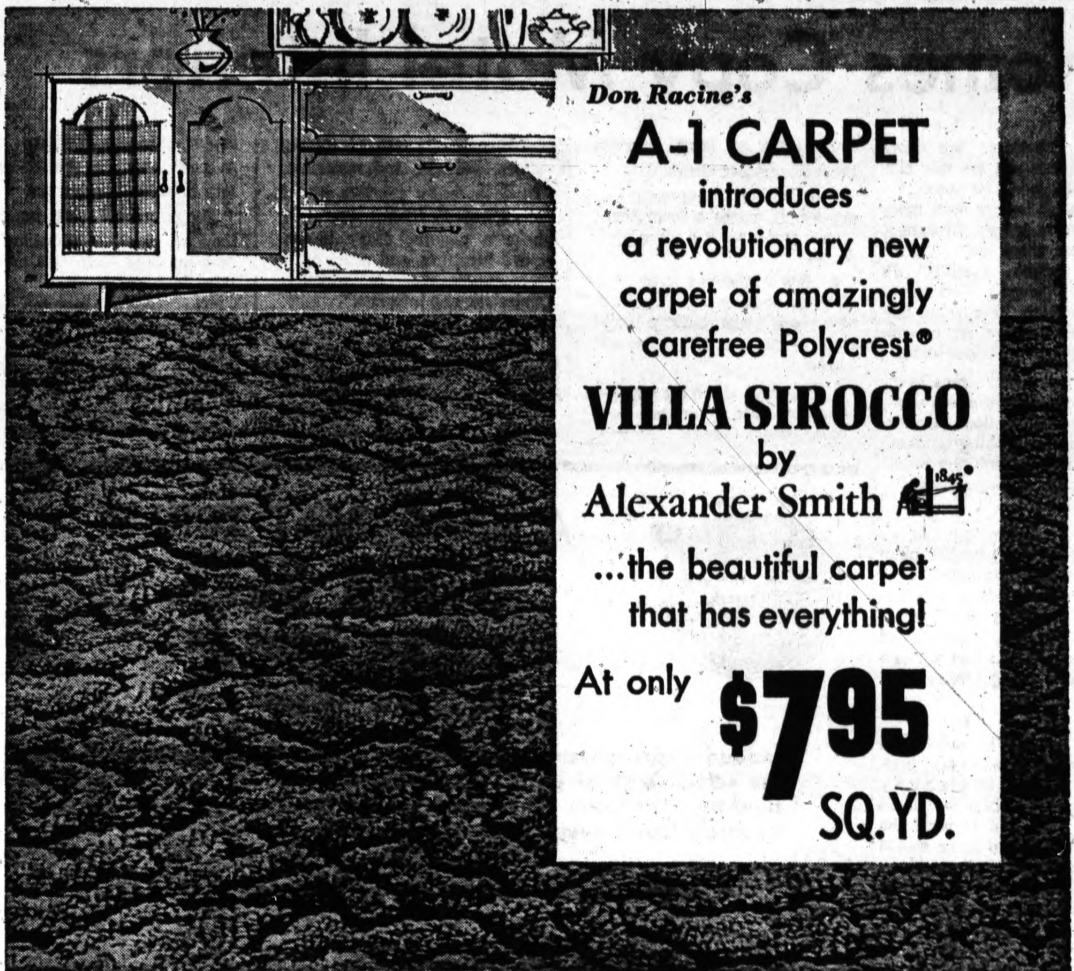

The hose can be made in bright colors which will resist fading better than many other types of hose and because of a high-abrasion resistance it will withstand rough treatment.

For commercial and industrial usage the hose is available in inside widths of five-eighths and three-fourths of an inch.

Sure Sign of Spring

Water Rushes for Threshold

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

In the Northeast, a festival known as "rally round the rushing water" heralds the arrival of spring better than the first robin.

The ingredients for this ritual: A rain accompanied by a fast thaw, a mortgaged cottage on a lot that slopes.

The cottage also must have a crawl space instead of a basement.

Said crawl space must have a concrete pit. This houses a furnace.

And to protect the furnace when the rain and thaw water join in creeping forces, there is a sump pump.

RUSHING WATER

The rushing water festival begins when the sump pump works continuously. Background music: Rushing water.

It reaches a peak when you find water rising rapidly.

At this point, you can let the home become a houseboat—or call a plumber.

To guarantee a frenetic episode, this threat to the home front usually occurs on a Saturday night at 10 or 11.

AWAY SATURDAY

Frantic dialing of the "day and night" plumber numbers listed shows that most of the pipe jockeys take Saturday night off.

Your regular plumber's answering service announces that he's left town. No dunce he.

This exercise reveals that "24-hour service" in a plumber's ad apparently means it takes 24 hours to reach him.

Care Urged on Cookware

The use of nonstick cookware may not be quite as carefree as the manufacturers claim, says Texas A&M home management specialist Elsie P. Short.

Mrs. Short said the coated utensils should be treated with a thin coat of cooking oil or shortening before their first use.

She said frying at high heat may result in stains, which can be removed by boiling one cup of water, a half-cup of liquid laundry bleach and two tablespoons of baking soda in the pan.

Florists' Hyacinths, Crocuses Budding

Professionally started hyacinths and crocuses in red clay pots are already budding in florists' windows.

Plants selected during the early budding stage will give you full flowering beauty just ahead of Easter.

dialing, the water continues to rise.

One plumber we reached when the water surplus threatened Saturday night was willing to come, but he couldn't remember where his truck was.

It had broken down Friday, he said. He left it where it collapsed.

Before midnight, a willing plumber was located. He arrived at the house in distress at 1:20 a.m., saying that he lost his way.

He pulled up in a truck in a plain wrapper. No identification on it. "Why advertise," he asked.

Try Accents on Secondary Rooms, Too

How is oomph added to a lackluster room? By accentuating—positively!

Though often equated with "tastefulness," underplayed and bland decors lack visual spice, the accents that turn the common into the custom.

Main living areas of the home have traditionally depended on colorful accessories like lamp shades, paintings, sofa pillows and knickknacks for the touches that make a color scheme a complete decor.

The latest in accents, however, is geared to the formerly colorless and dull secondary rooms (kitchens, baths, foyers, laundry rooms) where until only recently use of the word "decor" was out of place.

Small, decorative accessories here are impractical but the touches that decorate without dominating are still possible.

Their new status of being rooms of beauty as well as utility is revolutionizing the materials commonly used in them.

DRAMATIC EXAMPLE

A dramatic example is domestic ceramic tile. Still the hardy material it ever was in its 7,000 years of use, ceramic tile has taken on a 20th century look and a new purpose—decoration.

Sunbursts, snowflakes, flowers, fish, birds and butterflies are only a few of the designs that grace the faces of tiles intended as random inserts and accents in walls.

Sculptured, striped and special-shaped domestic tiles give the homemaker the opportunity of being her own designer.

Fancy hardware for doors and drawers is another item that is being used as an accent in the secondary rooms. And faucets in bathrooms have never been as gilded or fancifully shaped since the days of ancient Rome's elaborate water spouts.

He was sans helper. But if husband helped, he propositioned, he's knock $15 off the $50 bill to save our home from floating down the street.

It seemed reasonable. Husband hasn't had such a chance to make a fast $15 in a long time.

The two, novice and plumber, crawled into the crawl space. Or did they swim?

Whatever they did, it was accompanied by grunts and occasional unprintable outbursts.

'VERY UNUSUAL'

"It's very unusual, very unusual—the way the pipes are put in this house," the plumber said after rendering first aid.

"I've been in business 30 years and maybe once I've seen an arrangement like this."

He wouldn't be amazed if he knew of all the other unusual properties of Trembling Timbers, official name of our soggy manor.

The staircase is so narrow that the biggest piece of furniture you can tug up is a two-drawer filing cabinet.

That's bedroom space up there. How we made our beds and slept in them, however, is another story.

GOOD MORNING — A twist of ribbon and flowers frames a sunny morning room as if stenciled to order, conjures a corner nook for a porcelain stove, swiftly sticks panels on plain walls. Classic garland wraps

It's Up to Individual

Wide Variety of Bathtubs

Like Gertrude Stein's repetitious rose, a tub is a tub is a tub — right?

Wrong! Bathtubs come in shapes, sizes and colors, with varied built-in conveniences. Here are some examples.

Take height. If you like to lie in the tub to read and soak, you need a deep tub — one that's 16 inches high. As a soaker, you probably want a long tub too, in which you can stretch out. You can get one up to 5½ or 6 feet long.

But suppose you have a troublesome back and are timid about stepping into and out of a deep tub. Then the 12 inch high model is the one for you.

Bathtubs also come with built-in seats, corner seats (handy to the water controls) and wide ledges that can serve as seats or for placement of articles. Many of the newer models have special built-in ridges on the bottom to reduce slipperiness. The curved inner surfaces are being eliminated too, to lessen the danger of falling.

Also available are small receptor tubs for use with showers. These showers and receptor tubs, enclosed in stalls, can be installed in spaces too small for a conventional bathroom. Many come with seats so that the person taking a shower can sit and luxuriate beneath the downpour.

Hold Brush Correct Way

Professional painters say the correct way to hold a brush is to grasp it comfortable near the handle base.

Don't bear down on the brush.

Just exert enough pressure to make the bristles flex slightly toward the tip.

Clothespins Need Baths

Give your clothespins a good sudsy bath, allow them to lie in water a moment or so to which a little liquid bleach has been added.

Now rinse well and allow to dry on a large turkish towel.

Saves leaving marks on your fresh laundry from soiled clothespins.

Popularity of Kitchen Is Reviving

The kitchen, once the social center of the home, is again coming into its own despite the growing popularity of the family or TV room.

The kitchen is enjoying a revival as the place for the daily neighborhood confab or coffee break of stay-at-home housewives, while the family or TV room remains the favorite for evening gatherings.

Because of its social uses, homemakers are demanding larger kitchens. Many want enough space for a dinette set, although the combination kitchen-dining room shows no signs of coming back.

Women are upgrading their kitchens in other ways. Instant hot water and ice water dispensers for serving hot and cold drinks are enjoying a vogue.

Women are insisting on double-bowl sinks, automatic dishwashers and food waste disposers.

They're insisting on floor-to-ceiling cabinets and generous counter space. The sink remains the focal center of the work area, with everything else built around it.

ROOM'S DECOR

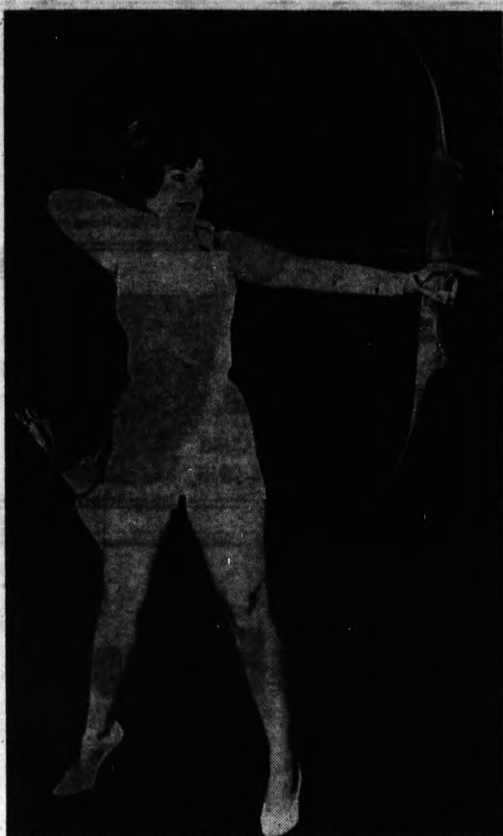

The sink is also the piece of equipment around which the room's decor is planned. Thus the homemaker's choice of stainless steel or enamel that comes in gray, green, sunny yellow, sand tan or even pink or blue often sets the tone for the entire room.

Wood cabinets are more popular than metal, with natural grains far ahead of solid colors.

Beamed Ceiling Look Can Be Achieved

The look of a beamed ceiling can be created with 4x6-inch Douglas fir timbers nailed to the ceiling joists.

Use an X pattern, with beams running diagonally across the ceiling, when a center chandelier is to be installed, as in a dining room.

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM — Mrs. Beverly Mangold, Indiana women's archery champion, is shown with a professional quality bow fabricated with rare woods and fiberglass laminates. Bows such as this range in price up to $150.

Homestead Exemption to Assist Senior Citizens

Last year the Michigan Legislature enacted a Senior Citizens Homestead Tax Exemption law which exempts from taxation up to $2,500 of the state equalized value of a home. A home would be subject to this exemption if:

• It is owned and used as a home by a person over the age of 65 years;

• The owner has been a Michigan resident for the last 7 years;

• The owner has an income which, together with that of other owners of the homestead and his co-occupying spouse, is not more than $5,000; and

• Does not own in excess of $10,000 of state equalized value of real property located within the state of Michigan.

An affidavit setting forth the necessary facts to determine eligibility, obtainable from local assessors, must be filed by the senior citizen during the months of January and February, or during the first half of March.

NEGLECT TO FILE

Citizen owners who neglect to file the affidavit cannot get the benefit of the homestead tax exemption law.

State equalized values are set on the fourth Monday of May for each year. Before that time, no one can know the exact amount of state equalized value attributable to this property for the current year.

A citizen who qualifies under the age, residency and income tests and who owns real property which, for the past year, had a state equalized value of $10,000, or less, certainly should file the affidavit claiming the exemption during January and February, or the first part of March.

It is suggested that otherwise qualified persons whose real property had a state equalized value somewhat in excess of $10,000 also file the affidavit. Any reduction brought about by state equalization, which occurs in May, might reduce a homestead's valuation sufficiently to entitle such citizen to a tax exemption.

A New Idea in Wallpaper

Wallpaper that comes off the wall when it's time to redecorate now is available.

The paper is applied with regular wheat paste but when a change is wanted, it will strip off without going through the process of wetting it down and scraping.

What's more, the paper can be washed with a mild solution of soap and water to keep it fresh looking.

Flower Shows Greet Spring Across U.S.

Flower shows are heralding spring, this month and next, all across the country.

If you're looking for new interior or exterior color schemes, linger awhile in the pot plant areas of the major flower shows. You'll find them intriguing sources for new color ideas.

Both professional growers and expert amateurs in container gardening put their best plants and newest colors forward at flower shows.

One fact you'll notice is that all prize-winning plants are in unglazed red clay flower pots, time-tested standby of container gardeners for centuries. Decorators recommend the earth tones of clay pots for any color plant.

New color additions to the large and lovely Easter lily family this spring include new orange, lemon, red and even bronze tones. You'll find the broadest range of elegant colors in those traditional clay-potted spring favorites — tulips, fragrant hyacinths, daffodils and crocuses.

MOST VARIED

Tulips put on the most varied color show, ranging from pure whites through pastels to rich reds, deep purples and even lilac shades.

You'll also find gloxinias at their best in all shades of red, pink, purple and blue, together with white and purple hyacinths and the spectacular trumpet-flower amaryllis.

Colors abound too, in clay-potted foliage plants, such as the multicolored caladiums and ivies.

With this broad rainbow of colors to choose from, no wonder decorators and smart homemakers are specifying more and more living plants as keynotes of attractive interior and exterior settings.

So visit your flower show and enjoy learning how to use all of nature's colors the easy way — with container gardening.

Time to Plan on Bathroom

If you're building a new home this year, it isn't too soon to give careful thought to the bathrooms.

By planning your decorating scheme now, you'll have ample time to choose fixtures that will give your bathrooms a quality look.

For a free folder on planning bathrooms and selecting fixtures, write to the Plumbing Fixture Mfrs. Assn., 1145 19th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Floor Paint Fast-Drying

For the home owner with a basement, there's a new concrete floor paint that practically flows on by itself.

The vinyl epoxy latex floor finish dries quickly, leaving a low luster.

PRE-EASTER SPECIAL SELLING OF 2-PANT DACRON-WOOL TROPICALS

Friday and Saturday only at every HHS store. Suits in the most favored spring-and-summer fabric, in a wonderful selection — and with two pair of trousers — very specially priced.

We must admit, we pulled some strings to get this highly unusual value just before Easter. For it's probably just about the suit you've been planning to buy: a crisp, cool, wrinkle-resistant blend of 55% Dacron and 45% wool — in a handsome tropical weave. A fabric you'll wear comfortably from now through summer. And it's tailored in both 2- and 3-button styles — with two pair of trousers (pleated or plain front). The selection's excellent, too: solid shades, neat patterns, lustrous iridescents — in a big range of shades, a big range of sizes. It's such an unusual value, however, that we're offering it for two days only: Friday and Saturday. But don't let a little thing like that prevent you from getting one of the best buys of the season.

AND THERE'S NO CHARGE FOR ALTERATIONS

REVEREND VS. GLAMOUR GIRLS—The Rev. Bob Harrington, known as the "Chaplain of Bourbon Street," has stirred up a controversy by claiming that visits of Hollywood glamour girls to Viet Nam has a detrimental effect on U.S. troops. Recent visitors to the fighting area were Carol Baker (center) and Joey Heatherton.

'Sexpots' Stir Up Question: Do They Hurt Viet Morale?

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — GIs came to the defense of Hollywood's visiting glamour girls today, but some agreed with the "chaplain of Bourbon Street" that they do stir the boys up.

"The visit of starlets is a morale booster for the troops, but it makes them homesick. It's a guy up," said a paratrooper. Sgt. Dominador Manio, 21, of San Francisco. "You have to go into town and relieve tensions."

Manio said most of his men come back from Saigon broke and disgusted, swearing they will never return. "But a few days later they're around asking me for a pass again."

Although other Americans expressed similar sentiments, none thought much of the Rev. Bob Harrington's suggestion to curtail visits of pretty entertainers to Viet Nam.

TWOURED FRONT
"Brother Bob," a Southern Baptist Evangelist, said in New Orleans Wednesday after a 10-day tour of the fighting front: "One sexpot can undo the work of 100 chaplains. After the visit of one of these voluptuous entertainers and her return to the U.S., the boys are so stirred up that things begin to happen."

"Consultations with the chaplain, chapel attendance and letters home to mother fall apart alarmingly. The incidence of venereal disease skyrockets. And, believe me, there is ample opportunity to sate one's lust in Viet Nam."

The executive officer in the surgeon general's office of the U.S. command said any parallel between such visits and the venereal disease rate "sounds pretty ridiculous to me."

Li Col. Clyde Edginger of Springfield, Va., said: "It sounds like an attention getter. When a man is off fighting the Viet Cong, he has no opportunity to be exposed. Obviously, when they are in rest areas and they get time off, there is more of an occasion. Trying to pin it down as the result of someone's visit is almost impossible."

Another soldier said naturally as the GIs "go wild" at the appearance of a glamor girl. "But this is the normal reaction I'd have whether here or back home," he said.

In New York, film star Carroll Baker, who recently visited Viet Nam with Bob Hope's troupe, said the Rev. Mr. Harrington "would have a point except that our Army doesn't take men who don't like girls."

Another curvaceous member of the Hope troupe, Dianna Lynn Batts, Miss U.S.A., said: "We made them think about the mothers, sisters, wives and girlfriends. It strengthened their love for their country."

Singer Anita Bryant, who has been in Viet Nam twice with Hope, said in Mobile, Ala.: "I've always tried to maintain a Christian standard in all my performances and I don't part from that. If you portray an image that shows you are a lady, usually their thoughts won't wander to anything else."

HOPE DISAGREES
The Rev. Mr. Harrington praised the performances of Hope, Martha Raye, Roy Rogers and Tennessee Ernie Ford

Earl's Maid as Cinderella Is Treated Royally by Prince

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I had a great idea . . . that we turn our maid, Mavis, into Cinderella . . . and take her to meet Prince Philip and the other $150-a-plate lords and ladies at the Americana ball.

When Mavis, who's just over 30, and from the working folk of Plymouth, heard our sneaky plan, she gasped:

"I hope it's not too cheeky!"

In a long white gown and the first long dress she's ever worn—and a mink wrap, Mavis looked almost as regal as Carroll Baker and Rita Gam when we floated to Mrs. Frederic E. Gore's table.

Barely 50 feet away sat Darryl Zanuck, in dark glasses on the dais, ready to toast the Queen. "Our house guest from England, Mavis Best," I told the several millionaires at our table.

Mavis smiled shyly. "Your guest is very pretty," Mrs. Gore said.

Our problem: for Mavis to get through dinner unexposed. Then to a reception where Philip would shake hands with m.c. Alan King's troupe of actors—and, hopefully, with Mavis!

After the dinner—during which we were all addressed as "mildreds"—came the Big Test . . . the wild rush to the Princess Room where Philip was shaking hands with Edhel Merman, Lea Remick, Lauren Bacall, Robert Merrill and ????

"Take my arm. Walk just like you belong here!" I told Mavis.

Now . . . throbs, throb, gulp, gulp . . . we were inside. And there was Philip walking toward me with shaking hands with me . . . I presented Mavis . . . and PHILIP TOOK THE WHITE-GLOVED HAND OF MAVIS BEST, DAUGHTER OF A PLYMOUTH WORKING LADY, AND BOWED.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Xavier Cugat & Charo Baiza were at Danny's Hidesway across the room from Abbe Lane & husband Perry Leff. "I want to say hello to Abbe but Cugat don't presentation site," Charo told me. I relayed this to Abbe who said, "She speaks better English than Cugat."

NEAR TEARS — Actress Patricia Neal in near tears as she received her British Film Academy award and a kiss on the cheek from French actress Leslie Caron in awards ceremonies in London last night. The Kentucky-born star, who recently had a child after suffering a near-fatal stroke, received the award for her work in the film "In Harm's Way."

Lynda Bird's Actor Escort Is a Charmer With Money

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — What kind of a fellow is Lynda Bird Johnson's boyfriend, George Hamilton?

He is a 26-year-old charmer who can regale a dinner table with story after story with the finesse of a sophisticated Bob Newhart.

He has been called, by friends, "The Finest Actor in the World."

He is a practicing Christian Scientist.

He is a better actor than most critics give him credit for being.

He has appeared in some of the worst pictures in recent times ("All the Fine Young Cannibals," "By Love Possessed," "Act One"), but even in a lemon like "The Victors" he can shine through with a certain earnestness.

He has never had an acting lesson: "For me, the best tools are my own emotions."

He once had a mad, gay engagement with actress Susan Kogner but they called it off.

He is a son of wealth, but he claims he arrived in Hollywood with $90 and created a career all by himself.

He was born Aug. 12, 1939, in Memphis, Tenn., and attended 26 different schools.

He likes to drive his Rolls-Royce into a gas station and tell the attendant, "Fill'er up; the tank holds 50 gallons."

His mother is a latter-day Aunt Mame who has been married four times and presides over the 38-room house she shares with George.

He idolizes Cary Grant; "Grant, with Katharine Hepburn, typified life in the rich; today, I'd get that part."

He is a DUDE. He is a dude, not to mention a dandy, and dresses in Edwardian style, usually with vests and lightly tied ties.

His straight black hair is combed meticulously, with a "Gumpoint."

Just Like the Movie
DALLAS (UPI) — The manager and staff of a drive-in theater were robbed of a day's receipts by two gunmen. The name of the current attraction is "Gunpoint."

Desmond Wilcox, editor of the documentary series, said, "This was in no way an anti-royal or a knocking-piece."

"We wanted to show the backstage atmosphere of the American four."

Philip returns to London tomorrow night from his tour of the United States and Canada.

Contributions by individuals, corporations and foundations to religion, education, health and welfare agencies and other causes amounted to more than $10.6 billion last year, the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel estimates.

"Here comes that bloody machine again . . ." Philip said. "It gets on your nerves."

"Take the bloody thing right away" of his aides snapped. "You wouldn't like it if you were in his place. If you do that, he will dry up."

The word "bloody" is considered very strong language in England.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said, "The BBC have not consulted us about this program."

Desmond Wilcox, editor of the documentary series, said, "This was in no way an anti-royal or a knocking-piece."

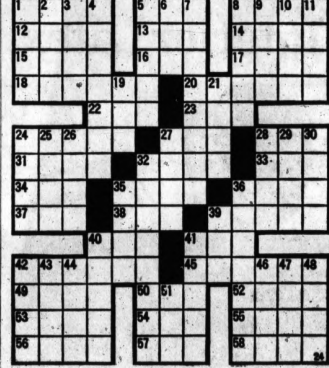

"We wanted to show the backstage atmosphere of the American four."

In Report on Prince

BBC Surprises Viewers

LONDON (UPI)—The British Broadcasting Corp. startled televisioners last night with an unexpurgated report on Prince Philip's recent U. S. tour which included some strong language from the prince and his aides.

The report included a behind-the-scenes incident when a television reporter approached Philip with a microphone as he arrived at a charity dinner in Houston.

"Here comes that bloody machine again . . ." Philip said. "It gets on your nerves."

"Take the bloody thing right away" of his aides snapped. "You wouldn't like it if you were in his place. If you do that, he will dry up."

The word "bloody" is considered very strong language in England.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said, "The BBC have not consulted us about this program."

Desmond Wilcox, editor of the documentary series, said, "This was in no way an anti-royal or a knocking-piece."

"We wanted to show the backstage atmosphere of the American four."

Philip returns to London tomorrow night from his tour of the United States and Canada.

Contributions by individuals, corporations and foundations to religion, education, health and welfare agencies and other causes amounted to more than $10.6 billion last year, the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel estimates.

"Here comes that bloody machine again . . ." Philip said. "It gets on your nerves."

Area Man Wins in Sweepstakes

What would you do with $140,000?

"Buy a sailboat," says Mrs. James Campion. "Pay off the mortgage," says her husband.

Of course the Campions, of 2609 Warner, West Bloomfield Township, will have to give $70,380 of their Irish Sweepstakes winnings to Uncle Sam, but they'll still have enough sailboat and pay off their 1½-year-old house.

Fortune smiled on the Campions yesterday when a horse named Riot Act won the annual race at Doncaster, England.

Seven Detroit area residents held winning tickets on the race, but only three will share first-place money of $150,000 each.

"I really feel no different than I did before I won," Campion said.

Last week he got word by telegram that his horse had been drawn, netting him $3,677.

LISTENED TO RACE
Yesterday he listened to the race on the radio with fellow workers at Dickson Tool and Gauge Co., Detroit.

"Everyone was congratulating me," he said, "but I told them I haven't seen the money yet."

His wife had a different reaction. She said she has "never been so thrilled in my life."

Her dream is to buy a sailboat to use on the lake in front of their home.

"We have a rowboat," she said, "but everyone has a sailboat and I want one too."

Mrs. Campion first heard the news from her father who called her after the race was over.

Campion says he'll probably pay off the mortgage on his home but beyond that he "just wants to hold on to the money long enough to make some plans."

Flu Is Taking High Toll at Area Schools

Avondale Reporting Tremendous Boost in Absentee Rate

Avondale school officials today reported a high incidence of flu absenteeism while Bloomfield Hills and Rochester school systems noted a higher-than-normal rate of pupil illness.

Absence of 128 of 697 Avondale pupils was called a "tremendous increase" over the normal rate by school officials.

Rochester and Bloomfield Hills school officials called their absenteeism above normal but not alarming.

Some other area school districts reported significant increases in absenteeism due mainly to flu but most said the number of pupils off sick was normal and a few reported above-average attendance.

Classes resumed today at St. Frederick's School. The school was closed when 62 of the 281 pupils were ill last Tuesday.

ILL WITH FLU
Some of the nuns who teach at the school were ill with the flu this week.

Both Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern high schools reported increased absenteeism, with Central the hardest hit of the two.

West Bloomfield Township schools have a different problem — measles. Flu absenteeism is minor.

Among school systems reporting normal absenteeism now but a high incidence a few weeks ago were the Oxford, Walled Lake and Milford school systems and North Farmington High School.

MUCH LOWER
Our Lady of the Lakes School in Waterford Township reported that flu absenteeism has been much lower this year than last and present absenteeism is minimal.

Also reporting lower than normal sickness for this time of year were Waterford-Kettering and Waterford Township high schools.

Brandon High School reports normal absenteeism for pupils but a high rate of days off for illness among teachers.

The measure, which would establish a 10-member authority to construct, operate and maintain an osteopathic college, was passed by the Senate last year.

DeLorean Chairman of Scout Fund Drive

The Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, has named John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, general chairman of its $550,000 Lost Lake Reservation Development Fund drive.

Arthur J. Brooks, president of the council, made the announcement today. In accepting the top post in the campaign, DeLorean pointed out that support must come from "everyone who is interested in the future of our community."

For the first time in the 57-year history of the Clinton Valley Council, the public is being asked to support a major fund drive.

The $550,000 goal is to purchase and develop 2,284 acres of land 15 miles west of Clare.

"Scouting prepares the boy of today for the responsibilities he must accept as a man," said DeLorean.

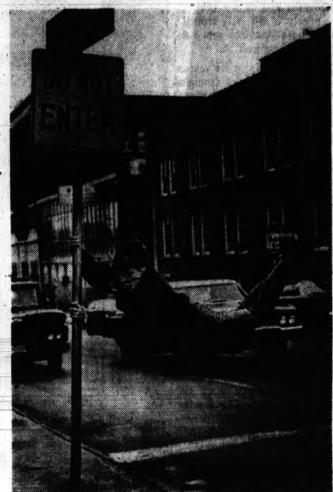

"Wholehearted community efforts throughout this area will enable our scout leaders to be ready to give every boy who is now a Scout, and those who wish to join, the chance to belong to the gang which believes in 'juvenile decency' rather than juvenile delinquency," DeLorean concluded.

Snowstorm Hits U.P.

Blizzard Blamed for 21 Deaths in Plains, North Central States

By the Associated Press
Winter roared back into the western Upper Peninsula yesterday, piling up four-foot snowdrifts and closing schools.

The storm, part of the blizzard that whipped through the upper Midwest the past two days, deposited 11 inches of snow at Houghton and closed schools and businesses in Marquette, Alger, Baraga and Iron counties.

Drifts 5 feet deep blocked travel in Ishpeming on the Keweenaw Peninsula. Scores of autos were reported abandoned on U.P. roads.

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base was closed to all nonessential aircraft. Marquette airport reported 22 inches of snow on the ground.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said that although the brunt of the storm has passed, snow flurries would continue throughout most of Michigan today.

PLAINS STATES
The north central and Plains states were buried today under massive snows. Schools and roads were closed and at least 21 persons were dead.

Nebraska counted 11 dead from the early spring storm. Minnesota and Iowa each had three dead. South Dakota and Wyoming had two deaths each.

The storm hurled a one-two punch of sleet and snow at most of the area. The ice ripped down power lines and powerful winds.

April Vote Due on College Unit

Osteopathic Bill Faces Delay

LANSING (AP)—Supporters of a bill to establish a state osteopathic college authority learned today they'll have to wait until April before the measure is passed by the House State Affairs Committee.

The bill failed by one vote yesterday to clear the committee — and although backers claim to have that vote lined up — acting committee Chairman Vincent Pettigren says they'll have to wait until after the April 1 deadline for reporting out bills in the house of origin.

It was held up in the House committee to allow time for study.

Despite objections that the bill would commit the state to appropriate as yet undetermined amounts of money in future years, and that it left many questions unanswered, the bill received six committee votes.

7 VOTES NEEDED
Three committee members voted against it, two abstained and two were absent—including

Chairman John Fitzpatrick, D-Detroit. It needs seven votes to get out of the 13-member committee.

Opposing the bill were Reps. Thomas White, D-Detroit; Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, and Thomas Sharpe, R-Howell.

White said he was concerned as to whether the legislature would be approving "a quality school, and quality schools cost money, or one that is underfinanced."

Osteopaths have pledged $3 million toward its construction and say they could get federal funds if the school is backed by the state.

POLL OF DOCTORS BOOSTS HOPES
Prospects for eventual state support of Pontiac's projected osteopathic college appear as fresh as recent spring breezes.

An air of doubt this winter clouded hopes of state support, but results of a statewide poll of medical doctors and osteopaths indicate possible favorable action on pending legislation.

The osteopathic poll would appear to preclude any immediate chance of a merger of the two professions.

Amalgamation was the key question raised by the House State Affairs Committee in considering a bill to create a 10-member osteopathic college authority.

The college is slated for a 164-acre site at Auburn and Opdyke.

EVENTUAL SUPPORT
An appropriation to provide operating funds for the projected college was deleted from the bill. However, backers anticipated creation of the authority would eventually lead to state support.

Dr. Benjamin F. Dickinson, Pontiac surgeon and president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and a Surgeons, was pleased with results of the poll.

"I'm immensely pleased with the results," he said. "It proves officially that the House of Delegates does speak for grassroots physicians as we've said."

A farmer and his son told police they approached to within 500 feet of the object (they happened to have a very long tape

The Big Show Starts Friday

3-Day Event Features Home, Sport Displays

The North Oakland County Home and Sport Show starts 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Community Activities, Inc., building, 3940 Williams Lake, Waterford Township.

Full details on the three-day show can be found in a special tab section in today's Pontiac Press.

The Waterford Township Jaycees, sponsors of the event, anticipate 15,000 persons will attend what they call the biggest show in Northern Oakland County.

Saturday and Sunday opening time is noon. It closes 11 p.m. all three days.

Proceeds will be used to finance two $300 scholarships given to high school seniors, special community projects and youth sports projects, including Junior Olympics, golf, tennis and bowling.

Crash Ignites Fire in Italy; Six Are Dead

VERONA, Italy (AP) — Six persons burned to death and 11 were injured today when flames from a gasoline tank truck spread through the wreckage of a 10-car highway smashup.

Two of the dead were believed to be the Yugoslav crew of the tank truck.

There are an impressive amount of arguments all packed up in columns of The Pontiac Press — but the biggest bargain of all is the paper itself.

A thin dime buys an impressive array of information and entertainment, all packaged to please our area readers. Tomorrow don't miss:

'Seeing Saucers Just Sign of Spring'

By BOB CONSIDINE

CHICAGO — Didn't have to be told that spring is here. The flying saucers have appeared. In today's age they are as much a harbinger of the vernal equinox as the crocus and shafts of new love.

The latest visitor from outer space "landed" in a swampy area near Ann Arbor Sunday night and successfully eluded the efforts of at least 40 persons, including a dozen police, to get to know it better.

It appears that it was conveyed to earth by four sister UFOs (Unidentified Flying Objects) which skidded back to the cosmos once it had settled down on what one witness declared was a "bed of fog."

A farmer and his son told police they approached to within 500 feet of the object (they happened to have a very long tape measure with them), observed its blinking lights, noted it was "pitted like coral rock," about the length of a car and shaped like a football.

"Look at that horrible thing!" the son said rudely. Whereupon the visitor from outer space promptly disappeared.

One can't blame it after such a reception.

UFOs seem to have that one great thing in common, complete sensitivity. They disappear just before earthlings can say "welcome," or "where you from, Mac?," take a picture, grab a sample, or snatch one of the crew—generally described as small and green-colored.

Watch for other sightings.

HALLUCINATIONS

UFO addicts, while they can never present anything except a romantic account of their hallucinations, fall back solidly on the fact that the U.S. Air Force does indeed maintain a small but active division dedicated to the study of the phenomenon.

Osteopaths' Hopes Up After Poll

pathic physicians voted 1,338 to 195 against, while MDs voted 5,320 to 1,234 in favor of amalgamation.

MADE CLAIM

Dr. Dickinson pointed out that spokesmen for the Michigan State Medical Society had claimed 80 per cent of the DOs wanted amalgamation.

An estimated 89 per cent of the state's nearly 1,800 osteopaths and 68 per cent of the nearly 10,000 MDs replied to the questionnaires sent out by the state committee.

Dr. Dickinson saw no reason why the State Affairs Committee should not now go ahead and report out the authority bill.

However, a move to do so lost by one vote yesterday. A second more-favorable vote was expected, although Dr. Dickinson said he had been informed it may take two weeks to have the bill clear the House committee.

SENATE PASSAGE

The Senate has already passed the bill.

Two other questions were asked in the unusual statewide poll.

On the question, "Should both DOs and MDs, on the basis of individual qualifications, be considered eligible for staff appointment by the governing boards of public-supported hospitals," MDs voted 5,010 to 1,705 in favor.

A spokesman for this osteopathic association said this question had not been pressed by osteopaths in all cases. Osteopaths voted 1,424 to 102 in favor of state support for an osteopathic school of medicine, while MDs voted 6,491 to 230 against it.

MD spokesmen have opposed the college and state support for it on the grounds that there would be a merger of the two medical professions.

Viet War Will Bring Inflation--Socialist

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Norman Thomas, six-time Socialist party candidate for president, says the war in Viet Nam will lead to a severe inflation. He said at Providence College that a great struggle already exists between the military and civilian industry for supplies of certain metals.

Surviving are his wife, Elsie; one son, Frederick J., and a daughter, Mrs. Donald L. Stone, both of Orchard Lake, six grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. H. H. Smith of Pontiac; and one brother.

TRAVEL HALTED

Travel was virtually halted over the area.

Four men were found dead in a car stalled just east of Howells in northeastern Nebraska yesterday. Police said they had survived.

A man driving a snowplow found two brothers dead in a stalled truck near Greeley, Neb.

Minneapolis-St. Paul, part of the area which escaped the Dakotas-Montana blizzard three weeks ago, was in the eye of this week's storm.

The area lay under 14 inches of snow, with winds whipping drifts to 4 feet.

Much of the Twin Cities business was paralyzed yesterday.

was bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment after a younger inmate testified he had been "drugged with goofballs" and sexually assaulted by Sykes.

A fight stemming from the Feb. 3 incident led to an investigation ordered by Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

The probe revealed smuggling of dope, including marijuana and barbiturates, to inmates of the jail.

McCallum said results of the investigation, testimony of two jail inmates at the examination of Sykes, and an interview with a former prisoner figured in his decision to restrict sentencing.

MAIN CONCERN

"My main concern is the lack of means to segregate youthful offenders from hardened criminals at the jail," said McCallum.

The jail, scored last month by State Jail Inspector Robert J. Russell as not meeting state requirements, was toured yesterday by McCallum and Irons.

The sheriff told McCallum facilities were not available at the jail for separation of all youthful and first-time offenders from repeaters and other criminals awaiting prison sentences.

McCallum said fines and stricter probation requirements would be instituted in cases where convicted offenders might otherwise receive jail terms.

"The heck of it is, some of these men should be confined as a disciplinary measure," McCallum said.

"But as it stands, I'm not going to send them over there (to the county jail) until we've got the facilities and means to take care of them."

HILLSDALE (AP)—Additional reports of mysterious flying objects over Hillsdale were being investigated today—a continuation of week-long stories of strange objects in the night skies.

Wednesday's reports came from two local residents who said the objects, one red and orange, the other blue and green, moved across the sky at high speeds.

Mrs. Larry Wolff, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo LoPresto and 12-year-old Susan Merrill said the objects appeared between 9 and 9:30 hovered momentarily before the lights went out.

Elsewhere, Shelby Township police have received three reports giving varying descriptions of unidentified flying objects in the Ryan and Auburn roads area.

THREE REPORTS

The three reports described the objects as "the size of a compact car with a light on top," "fairly large with a blue light in front, a white light in back and a spotlight shining on the ground," and one simply "all lit up."

Meanwhile, William Van Horn, Hillsdale County civil defense director, reported the discovery of the remains of several flares near Hillsdale College.

The use of flares to perpetrate a hoax was discovered in Westport, Conn., Wednesday by police Captain Louis Rosenau. He said his department believes five persons purchased weather balloons, inflated them with gas and attached railroad flares.

"This sort of thing will not be tolerated," Van Horn said, adding there would be arrests if the prank was repeated.

The U.S. Air Force is investigating the reports, together with reports from the Ann Arbor area.

State Provides Outline on Telegraph Widening

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Plans to widen Telegraph Road from four to eight lanes were revealed this week by the State Highway Department.

The question of when the project will begin was left unanswered, however.

Included in the plans, which agree with a study conducted by Vilcan-Leman and Associates with three exceptions, are a 60-foot median separating the north and south bound lanes, crossovers in the median, a maximum right-of-way of 394 feet and a "New Jersey" turn at the Maple intersection.

Township Supervisor Homer Case said he was able to obtain the report after warning highway officials that he could not block issuance of building permits along the highway without a clear expression by the state.

Vilcan-Leman had earlier suggested that an equal strip of right-of-way be taken from both sides of Telegraph at 14 Mile. The state suggests that 54 feet be taken from the east side.

DIFFERENCE

The second area of difference centers around the Long Lake intersection where the state will take 54 feet from the east side for right-of-way. Township officials suggested taking it all from the west side.

Disagreement on the highway department's plans to reduce the right-of-way acquisition several hundred feet south of the Maple intersection was also expressed by township officials.

"This is bound to cause a curve near our most dangerous intersection," said Case.

The right-of-way plans of the state would necessitate a loop, or "New Jersey" turn, for left turn movements, cutting behind commercial establishments.

FATAL MISHAPS

The Maple-Telegraph intersection has been the scene of several fatal accidents in the past few years.

Highway officials have repeatedly said that actual widening of Telegraph would not be programmed for at least five years, but Case said it appears right-of-way acquisition at the Maple and Long Lake intersections will begin this summer.

Life Restored 152 Times, but Death Is Victor

DALLAS (UPI)—Mrs. Lorene Hawks, who "died" 152 times since last Saturday, only to be shocked back to life, finally succumbed today.

The 51-year-old widow, who suffered a heart attack last weekend, had been repeatedly "shocked back to life" by impulses from a battery of machines known collectively to doctors as "The Monster."

When the machine failed to bring response yesterday afternoon, Dr. Colonel Brashier of the Dallas Osteopathic Hospital opened the woman's chest and applied direct massage to the heart-restoring her heartbeat.

The heart finally stopped beating for good early today.

Queens, N.Y., Dist. Atty. Nat H. Hentel put his hot line into operation last night to receive tips on narcotics peddling. The first five calls on the line, taken by Hentel, were:

A man who had the wrong number.

A member of Hentel's staff who complained he couldn't get through.

Another staff member with the same complaint.

A man who said that on four tries he got a busy signal, two no-answers and a disconnect.

A third staff member who told Hentel: "Your wife wants you to come home and bring some bagels."

Finally, the sixth call was what the hot line is all about. It came in at 5:32 p.m. and was a tip about some teen-agers selling pills and marijuana.

An investigation order was issued, then Hentel turned the telephone over to detectives who will answer it regularly 24 hours a day.

Dropout Danny Kaye Entertains Educators

Before 4,000 elementary school principals in Portland, Ore., comedian Danny Kaye confessed that "I was terrible in school."

Even so, Kaye, a high school dropout, was honored by the principals for his work for UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. Kaye has devoted 12 years to raising money for the group, which recently won the Nobel Peace Prize, and to entertaining children around the world.

He got messages from President Johnson and his childhood music teacher in Brooklyn's Public School 149, Miss Peggy Cress. She told him: "You have come a long way."

"I was terrible in that class," Kaye said. "I was terrible in school."

With the ceremonies at the National Education Association sponsored meeting out of the way, Kaye clowning, danced, mugged, conducted a chorus and led a group of costumed schoolchildren in entertainment for the principals.

Friends of actor Wendell Corey say petitions have been circulated to nominate the 50-year-old actor to run in the 28th Congressional District in California.

Corey, who won election to the Santa Monica City Council last April, would face incumbent Congressman Alphonzo Bell for the Republican nomination in the June primary election.

Corey's friends said he would announce his political plans at a news conference tomorrow.

Fear Is a Big Barrier for Alabama Negro Candidates

(EDITOR'S NOTE—For the first time this century, Negroes are running for public office in a dozen rural counties of Alabama. What are their views? What of the new Negro voters? The reaction of white residents? The following report is based of a 1,000-mile trip through the counties involved.)

By DON MCKEE
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Negro candidates are discovering they must convince not only white voters but some Negroes as well that it is time for political changes in rural Alabama. Fear still is a reality in some areas. "Some Negroes think it is not time yet to elect Negroes," said Rev. Frank Smith, a civil rights leader in rural Wilcox County. "They are afraid the Negroes won't know what he is doing. They seem to have that inferiority complex."

There are 46 Negroes running for public office and another 20 seeking Democratic party committee posts in the Black Belt, that portfolio of rolling cattle farms, timberlands and Negro shanties across Alabama.

Some will be elected. How many is uncertain because of splits among the Negro voters and the narrow margin of white or Negro voting majorities in some areas. Until recent months, there were few Negro voters in the Black Belt counties. The Voting Rights Act changed that.

NEGRO ATTITUDE

The Negro attitude ranges from outright opposition to Negro candidates to hopes of biracial politics and the militancy of the Black Panther partisans.

Medicare Drive Is in Last Stage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Social Security Administration is staging an intensive stretch drive to get a yes or no answer from the 2 million elders who still have not said whether they want Medicare insurance against doctors' bills.

With one week to go before the deadline, about 85 per cent of the nation's 19 million eligible elderly have signed up.

As of today, Social Security has received enrollment cards from about 16 million men and women over 65.

Another 1 million have indicated they do not want the coverage. That leaves 2 million still to be heard from.

The insurance coverage is available at the bargain rate of $3 a month. Benefits begin July 1, but the deadline for enrollment is March 31, next Thursday.

FINAL EFFORT

In an effort to reach as many of the remaining 2 million during the coming week, Social Security district offices will be open on Saturday this weekend, and will remain open evenings until 9 next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

In addition, simplified application forms will be available at all of the nation's 34,000 post offices.

A special task force of 1,800 temporary employees, hired just for the month of March, will be making telephone calls from Social Security district offices as a reminder to persons who have not yet returned the application cards mailed to them weeks ago.

Social Security officials anticipate that this activity may result in doubling during the final week the flow of applications which has been averaging about 500,000 a week.

BY DEADLINE

Thus, by deadline time, all but about 1 million of the eligible old folks will have had the chance to say yes or no.

Those who fail to sign up by March 31 may have to wait two years before they get another opportunity to come into the program.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress to provide a grace period for late enrollees. But no one knows when or whether it will be enacted.

Police Had Motive

DENVER (UPI) — Policemen Charles Roden and Nick Sussara captured two thieves who stole the flashlights and night sticks from their patrol cars.

White reaction often is that of weary company representative, worried head-shaking, sometimes alarm and occasionally resignation.

The Black Belt seems quiet. Perhaps the racial struggle, long fought in the streets, is moving into the political arena. "Sometimes I think it is too quiet," said Henry McCaskill of Greensboro, about 50 miles northwest of Selma. "Like waiting for a time bomb to go off."

PROFICIENT AT JUDO

McCaskill, 5-10, weighs 247 and is proficient at judo and karate as a result of 13 years in the old Army Air Force.

He is running for sheriff of Hale County against three white men. McCaskill is the only Negro running for any office in his county. Why?

"The Negro," he said, "is still overcome with the shadow of fear. If we ever overcome fear, we have it made."

Negroes have a slight voting edge in the county. But McCaskill, a Baptist preacher and Jew-

There is a split among the Negroes, apparently. Two Negroes are running for the same office against a white candidate. Rev. Peter J. Kirksey, who is on the slate that includes Gilmore, is running for the Board of Education against Martin L. Goodson, a farmer and ex-steelworker.

SURE OF WINNING

In adjoining Green County, Sheriff William Lee is confident of winning reelection even though he must get about 1,000 Negro votes to do so. Lee, in fact, laughed about his opposition. And one Negro candidate said Lee would get many Negro votes.

The challenger is Rev. Thomas E. Gilmore, 24, a Baptist preacher and project director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Gilmore, who wears a tall black hat with fur-like fringes, said he was running in order to combat the fears that Negroes have for white persons and law enforcement officers.

"I feel this is one of the first steps in getting rid of fears," he said. "The sheriff will get about as many Negro votes as I will white votes — very few."

There is a split among the Negroes, apparently. Two Negroes are running for the same office against a white candidate. Rev. Peter J. Kirksey, who is on the slate that includes Gilmore, is running for the Board of Education against Martin L. Goodson, a farmer and ex-steelworker.

"There's a great big doubt that Gilmore will be elected sheriff," Goodson said. "From what people say they don't think at this time that he could handle that position adequately. They don't feel the time is ripe enough for law enforcement to be entrusted entirely, in Negro hands."

In Perry County, Negroes are divided.

"Some didn't like the slate of candidates and got disgruntled over it," said Lawrence Johnson, 73, a retired farm agent who runs the cooperative store said. "The sheriff will get about as many Negro votes as I will white votes — very few."

"Some will vote for white candidates," he said.

One of the Negro candidates in Perry County, Rev. Obie L. Scott, is a brother of Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. King is the SCLC president.

Scott, a slender man of 35, is a candidate for tax collector. He has two white opponents.

In Wilcox, Negro candidate Lonnie Lee Brown Sr., seeking a State Senate seat, shook hands and gave out leaflets at Boykin, Yellow Bluff and Beatrice.

IMPROVE SITUATION

"We hope to improve the whole economic situation," he told a frail Negro woman at a ramshackle store in the all-Negro community of Boykin. The candidate talked with W. D. Brown, a schoolteacher.

"I think we, as Negroes," said the teacher, "are going to play it smooth. We are not going to make the mistakes we made before."

He would not commit himself. But he said: "We have been on the outside. Now we are on the inside. About a hundred years ago we lost our influence, maybe by acting too fast."

At Euclid, on the eastern boundary of Alabama, there are 13 Negro candidates running in Barbour County — home of Gov. George C. Wallace. Nine of the Negroes seek seats on the Democratic Executive Committee.

But in this county, the Negro voters number about 2,000 less than the white voters. John Kelly Jr., a Negro leader and candidate for the Board of Education, said a renewed registration drive was under way and possibly could add 2,000 voters.

The candidate for sheriff is Wesley McNear, 32, a bachelor and apprentice mortician. "Even if I lose," he said, "the sheriff will be almost forced to hire a Negro deputy. One way or the other we win."

In Lowndes County — between Selma and Montgomery — the third party move of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee seems to have succeeded. Negroes are not concerned about party but rather about persons.

GOOD START

"I think it will be a good start," said Gardenia White, a Negro. "The main purpose is to get some Negroes in office and straighten out some of this."

The committee's Stokely Carmichael said candidates for the Lowndes County Freedom party, under the Black Panther emblem, will be chosen May 3 at a mass meeting.

In Selma, Rev. J. D. Hunter, 49, is running for the Dallas County Board of Revenue — the governing authority — and he opposes the white incumbent.

"Negroes are restless," he said. "And one reason is they feel there has been taxation without representation. I would like to help create a better atmosphere."

"I believe there is a possibility we can work together. Things are not going to be right until we can."

Drives Car for Exercise

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Retired banker Richard S. Burnett thought a good way to get exercise would be to raise dogs. But Heidi, his 22-month-old Doberman Pinscher, has a more vigorous gait than Burnett had in mind.

So every morning Heidi trots alongside Burnett's car and the only exercise he gets is holding her on a leash out the window.

'Mine Safety Changes Won't Cut Coal Profits'

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Robert Holcomb, president of the National Independent Coal Operators Association, says amendments to a federal coal mine safety law passed last week would not affect the profits of small mines.

Holcomb said small-mine operators were exempted from provisions of the safety code by the amendments.

Hunters Foiled Again

Tally 'Ho... Yoicks!

LONDON (UPI)—The master of the fox hounds drained the stirrup cup and proudly led his bulging dogs into the fields.

Tally ho!

There was a fox scampering along in plain view to the left. Yoicks!

So why were the hounds baying "the opposite direction?" The answer was that the hunt saboteurs had struck again. The dogs were following a false trail they had put down.

Fox hunting, which Oscar Wilde once described in his aristocratic days as the pursuit of the unstable by the unspeakable, is not exactly fighting for its life here.

It is believed to be more popular than ever with even working class city folk renting horses to join the less expensive, more democratic hunts.

But it now has powerful opponents. A growing number of Britons are not convinced the pursuit of a fox to exhaustion by a small army of cavalry and its eventual tearing to pieces by dogs represents the best way to keep down vermin.

They think a shotgun is cleaner and quicker.

The well-financed League Against Cruel Sports leads this campaign with newspaper advertising, television talks and school lectures. Recently it awarded a silver medal to Miss Gendolen Barter who saved a fox at Bleau in Kent.

Miss Barter came upon members of the Thunet and Herne Hunt digging out a fox which had gone to earth in a hole. She jumped into the hole herself and wouldn't leave until the police were called.

A spokesman for the league said they were proud of Miss Barter and hoped her example would be followed nationally. Otherwise the league does not take direct action.

But the hunt saboteurs do. They are mostly young and impassioned and sometimes try to block the hunters with placards and banners. On more than one occasion this has led to a brisk exchange of fistfuls during which the fox sauntered safely home.

The hunt saboteurs use many methods, most of which blue-blooded fox hunters regard as distinctly unethical. For example a romantic female dog, produced at the psychological moment, is apt to disrupt a hunt.

But the false trail gambit is the favorite.

Plant Array Can Be Easy

Succulents will give you an easy, interesting way to start a spring house plant collection. Most are green plants but some will surprise you with colorful blossoms.

Give them fairly sunny locations and moderate water.

Some succulents you'll find in porous red clay pots include the attractive jade plant, Sedums in many attractive shapes and sizes, and kalanchoes, which are year-around favorites.

Various types of retaining walls, from railroad ties to Ohio bluestone, will be shown at the Flower & Garden Show of Michigan, March 26 through April 3 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

Vacation May Lead to Prizes

An exciting vacation in the beautiful Alps could pay off with a valuable prize for any American entered in the third Alpine motoring contest as announced by the Alpine Tourist Commission.

All Americans who travel through the Alps in their own or rented cars are eligible to enter the contest which runs from now through October, 1967.

Top contestants will receive valuable prizes such as were awarded in the two previous competitions. First prize in the 1964-65 contest was a BMW 1900 sports sedan, won by a Chatham, N.J. couple.

All the contestant has to do to enter is to write the Alpine Tourist Commission, P.O. Box 81, New York, N.Y. 10010, and request a free, attractive, control booklet.

The booklet is your entry form and will be stamped at any of the 46 control and information posts located along the network of fine roads which criss-cross the Alpine countries of Austria, France, Germany, Italy, Monaco, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

MANY ROUTES

Participants have the free choice of many routes through the most beautiful regions of the Alps.

Golden metal plaque bearing the flags of the seven Alpine countries will be given to contestants who have had their control booklet stamped in each of three countries visited during a two-year period.

A silver plaque will be awarded contestants whose control book has been stamped at one control booth in each of two Alpine countries visited during a two-year period.

All plaque winners are eligible to enter a commentary competition at the end of the contest and of winning valuable prizes.

Motivation Study Is Sought on Home Buyers' Whims

Why do people buy or not buy new homes? Who in the family is most influential in this decision? What are the factors in the home-buying decision?

To get the answers to these and other questions relating to home buying, the National Housing Center Council — a group of 40 major manufacturers of products and materials for the housing industry — called together their marketing experts here last week to discuss a major buyer motivation study for the housing industry.

The 50 specialists and staff of the National Housing Center Council, parent body of the council, heard four research firms present proposals for carrying out the buyer motivation study.

The house means a different things to husband and wife, one research expert noted. "It's no longer a question of shelter for most families; home represents a psychological purchase."

"The nesting instinct makes a woman want her own home, but to a man the home may only represent the final act of married responsibility."

CONCERNS CONCERNED
Concern for the attitudes about home ownership is not new in America's housing industry. Most concerned are the builders and the manufacturers who supply them.

The National Housing Center Council members, affiliated with the National Association of Home Builders, sponsored the meeting as a first step toward directing future industry growth.

Buyer attitudes alone are not enough, conference participants agreed. "Other factors — high land cost, labor shortages, tight money — may completely offset whatever you are able to do to influence the purchase of new housing," one specialist pointed out.

Long-range market prospects — those within the next 10 years — are not necessarily the same as those today, the conferees were told. The trend toward teenage marriages and the housing needs they create, along with housing for the elderly, housing for returning servicemen and encouragement of more home ownership by low income groups all will take on added importance in future years.

SECOND HOME
The "second home" or vacation home market is also looked to as a possible area of expansion. As one program participant pointed out — "like the airline industry 20 years ago, the home building industry is looking for future ways to expand."

"The jets of today are a far cry from the planes of the '40's. Housing concepts may be just as revolutionary in the next 20 years. We need to be ready for the jet age in housing."

Empty outdoor electric light sockets can be kept clean and dry by inserting a burned out fuse.
