School Expansion Up for Vote Today

Officials Expect Large Turnout on Tax Issues

Polls Stay Open Until 8; Six Candidates Seeking 2 Openings on Board

Officials of Pontiac Public Schools expected one of the heaviest Pontiac school election votes in recent years today as 600 voters cast ballots by noon.

"That's definitely a heavier-than-usual early-morning vote for school elections," Vern L. Schiller, school treasurer, commented. "And the voting usually takes a sharp upswing in the late afternoon and evening."

Last year's school election (which did not envolve a tax increase) drew a total of 468 voters. The 1951 school election, which did involve a tax increase, drew 1,700.

Schiller said everyone in line when the polls close at 8 p.m. tonight will be allowed to vote "even if we run overtime."

All 42,500 Pontiac school district voters who are registered for general elections can vote in today's school election. Anyone uncertain about where to vote may call the school offices, FE 2-9231, for directions.

Voters today will choose two Pontiac Board of Education members. They also will decide whether the county should set up a county-wide special education program for handicapped children, and whether the Pontiac Public Schools' proposed 10-year tax program should pass.

The Pontiac tax program is probably the top issue on today's school ballot. It is a general tax increase, not a bond issue.

The school system is asking voters to let it levy taxes 6.25 mills over the 15 mill limit from 1955 until 1957 and 8.75 mills over the limit from 1958-1964.

Actually, the net tax increase would only be about 4.25 mills ($4.25 per $1,000 worth of assessed property) because two school taxes now being spread will end—one this year and another in 1957. The proposal would hold the total Pontiac school tax rate at about 18.45 mills from now through 1964. This would mean a tax bill about $13 higher for the owner of a home valued by the county at $3,000.

Soo Bush Pilot Adds Pigeons to His Airways

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A Michigan bush pilot has found a way to combat emergencies that arise among the hunters and fishermen he flies to remote spots in the Canadian back country.

When he sets a party down in isolated areas far from normal means of communication, Messenger leaves a cage of three homing pigeons. If an emergency turns up, a note is slipped into the leg band of a bird and it heads for its roost at the airport.

Last week, Messenger saw his communications service put to good use. A party he had flown to Patter Lake, 65 miles north of the Soo, ran low on food. A pigeon carried the message to the airport. And only three hours after it had been released, Messenger landed on the lake with the provisions.

White Will Quit, Young Goes In

Central's New Leader 1,067,273 Votes Ahead in Bitter Proxy Fight

ALBANY, N. Y. (INS) — Robert R. Young today won control of the New York Central Railroad.

The formal announcement of the end of his bitter proxy battle for control of the multi-billion dollar road — second largest in the country—gave these totals:

Young group	3,407,512
Management group	2,340,329

Young's margin of victory was 1,067,273 votes — enough to give him control even if the Central management group contested 800,000 shares held by two Young supporters.

William White, president of the Central who led the long fight against Young, announced he will quit as head of the company.

The outgoing president in a statement promised to cooperate in turning over the affairs of the Central to Young. He said:

"New York Central's shareholders have registered their choice. We of course abide by the decision. We believe in democracy in industry as well as in government. That is the American way; the way all of us want to preserve at all costs.

"We fought a good fight for what we sincerely believed — and still believe — to be the best interests of the stockholders, of the public and of the New York Central. I have no regrets."

County Lakes Claim 4 Lives Over Weekend

Two Drown; Motorboat Mishap Kills Detroiter; 4th Body Still Missing

Two persons drowned in Oakland County over the weekend, one man was killed in a motorboat mishap, and a fourth person is believed drowned in Stoney Lake, one mile north of Oxford.

The dead are:

Herman Baum, 28, of 2960 Lycaste, Detroit.

Joseph Woodhall, 8, of 8553 Clarridge, Clarkston.

Norman Erb, 23, of 19195 Berwood, Detroit.

Presumed drowned is Ernest Lacasse, 16, of 20666 Hollywood, Harper Hills, missing since 7 p.m. last night at Stoney Lake. Lacasse went to the lake yesterday with his brother, Cyril, of 4422 Wayburn, Detroit, and was last seen by an unidentified witness as he was entering the water in a swim suit.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies Bill Hargraves and Homer Kelly today said a search of the lake by air failed to reveal any body. Oxford police, and township firemen as well as deputies, are continuing the search today.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Woodhall was swimming at Square Lake about 4 p.m. yesterday when his parents discovered that he was missing. A search of the water was conducted by those in swimming, and Robert Brown of 188 Harrison Ave. located the body in nine feet of water about 40 feet from shore.

Norman Erb died from injuries suffered when he was run over by a motorboat while he was swimming with a diving mask at Walled Lake.

Albert Schultz, 41, of 1711 E. Lake Dr., Walled Lake, operator of the motor boat, told deputies Jack Fritch and Steve Hawlik that he was heading to shore, towing three water skiers with Fredrick Gordon in the front of the boat as a lookout for swimmers, when he struck Erb.

Home Where Mother and Two Sons Perished

Pontiac Press Photo

GUTTED BY FLAMES — This is the house at 1189 Brookwood, Birmingham, in which a mother and two sons died early this morning when they were unable to reach fresh air as heavy smoke from a fire starting on the first floor engulfed them as they slept.

Flames Sweep Couper Home About Midnight

Businessman Husband on St. Lawrence Trip; Gets Word Hours Later

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem has called a meeting of Michigan State Police arson squad detectives and Birmingham police this afternoon to investigate the possibility of arson in the fire that killed a Birmingham housewife and her two sons.

The wife and two sons of a Detroit business executive were killed early today when flames swept their colonial-style home at 1189 Brookwood in the northwest part of Birmingham.

Although Birmingham police placed an immediate shore-to-ship call to the cruise ship on which the executive, Thomas Couper, was sailing, he was not notified of the tragedy until about eight hours later.

Dead of suffocation are:
Mrs. Maureen Couper, 40.
Larry Couper, 14.
Danny Couper, 12.

Mrs. Couper's father, Lawrence Cross, 62, of Phoenix, Ariz., a visitor in the house was rescued by firemen. He is reported in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, after suffering from shock and smoke inhalation.

Fire Chief Vernon W. Griffith said the blaze started in the den, located on the first floor, at the front of the two-story home, which was valued at $60,000.

An electric clock in the den was stopped at 11:35 p.m. Another clock upstairs was stopped at 12:45 a.m., leading Griffith to believe the fire had smoldered for some time before bursting into flames.

The bodies of Mrs. Couper and her older son were found on the second floor bathroom floor. Authorities said they evidently had tried to go out a window which opened a few feet above the roof of the rear porch.

So intense was the heat that aluminum storm windows and doors in the northeast corner of the house were melted.

A neighbor, Jack Laula of 1220 Brookwood, discovered the fire at 12:50 a.m.

Mendes-France Replaces Laniel

Political Figures Doubt That He Can Achieve Majority in Assembly

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France, who wants to negotiate with Ho Chi Minh to end the war in Indochina, agreed today to try to form France's 20th postwar Cabinet.

Many political figures doubted whether the 47-year-old economic and financial expert could get a majority in the divided National Assembly to go along with his policy, which calls for cutting down expenditures in Indochina and slowing down France's military buildup in Europe.

Mendes-France was nominated last night by President Rene Coty to succeed retiring Premier Joseph Laniel, defeated Saturday in a National Assembly confidence vote. The President also accepted Laniel's resignation.

Mendes-France is a leader of the Assembly's Radical Socialist (moderate) bloc, which was credited with bringing down the Laniel government. Following normal procedure, he was the first person called on to try to form a replacement.

Coty delayed accepting Laniel's resignation for a day. It was believed he did not want France to be without a government over the weekend in case important decisions were needed concerning Indochina.

Mendes-France's acceptance was announced a few minutes after he called on the President today at the Elysee Palace (France's White House). He had conferred with Coty at length last night on the political situation.

The new Premier-designate now must consult various party leaders in an attempt to rally sufficient support to ensure his confirmation by the Assembly. He failed by 13 votes to gain confirmation as premier during last summer's 37-day government crisis. That crisis was finally resolved by the selection of Laniel, who served just two weeks short of a year.

Residents Ignore Storm, Flock to Beaches, Parks

Saturday's severe thunderstorm failed to daunt residents bent on seeking relief after a week of sweltering heat. They hit local beaches and parks in invasion-like waves, rolling up new season attendance records for the year.

An estimated 75,000 were in area state parks yesterday, clogging all highways far into the evening in the homeward rush, according to State Police and Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Park officials said Sunday's figures were tops so far this year.

The storm, which swept in at 4:40 p.m. Saturday with gusts of wind up to 65 miles per hour, brought welcome cooler air. The temperature dropped from 88 degrees to 69 in 10 minutes.

Arson Suspected in White Lake Fire

Arson is suspected in connection with a house fire at 9720 Elizabeth Lake Rd., White Lake Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Vernon Shepard, whose husband owns the home, said she was awakened early today by a car with short pipes making a noise, heard an explosion a short time later, followed by fire, she told Deputies Melvin Glover and Albert DeConinck.

Mark Ilton, Township fire chief, said there was a strong odor of kerosene on the door mat and from a nearby gallon jug. Firemen brought the flames under control after it had caused about $500 damage, deputies said.

Carr on Stand, Refutes Charge Against McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Francis P. Carr testified today Army officials repeatedly linked talk of special Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine with efforts to stop Sen. McCarthy's investigation of Reds in the Army, then turned to speaking of Schine as a "hostage."

The chubby chief of staff for McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee named Secretary of the Army Stevens as having engaged in talk of preferential treatment for Schine.

But he said only Army Counselor John G. Adams, to his knowledge, spoke of Schine as a "hostage."

Carr disputed much testimony given earlier in the McCarthy-Army hearings by Adams and by Stevens.

He said it was not true, as Adams charged, that Roy M. Cohn once threatened to "wreck the Army" and to see to it that Secretary Stevens was "through" if Schine were sent overseas.

Adams had testified that when he told Cohn Jan. 14 that Schine, a former subcommittee consultant, might face overseas duty, Cohn exploded with the threats.

Carr, who said he was in the room at the time, swore that "Mr. Cohn did not make these statements."

"I don't recall him saying anything like that," Carr said.

He did recall, Carr said, that Cohn told Adams it seemed premature to be talking of Schine's (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4) what it was and saw the house in flames," he said.

He called the fire department and ran across to the Couper home. He broke the kitchen door, but was immediately repelled by smoke and flames. Then he went to the rear of the house to the covered porch. He picked up a lawn chair and smashed a window, but was again stopped by the heat and smoke.

Meantime, he said, he kept shouting to wake up the people in the house.

His shouts attracted neighbors, who also tried to enter the house.

Seconds later, Patrolmen Joseph Buckles and Robert Rowe arrived. They broke a second floor storm window in Cross' room, but were unable to break through a screen.

Firemen who soon arrived, put a ladder up to the window and a fireman slashed the screen to reach Cross.

Griffith quoted Cross as saying he woke up and realized the house was on fire. He opened his bedroom door, he said, but then slammed it shut when he saw the smoke and flames.

Efforts to reach Couper, a vice president of the L. A. Young Spring & Wire Co., Detroit, were hampered when crew members of the SS Tadoussac reportedly refused to awaken the ship's captain.

Couper was finally notified about 8:30 a. m. The ship was scheduled to dock in Montreal at 1 p. m.

The entire Birmingham fire department complement of 35 men fought the blaze. It was brought under control after two hours. Standby assistance was given by Bloomfield Hills volunteers.

Birmingham volunteers manned the city's single station and were called to extinguish an automobile fire nine minutes after the Couper alarm was turned in.

The entire first floor of the nine-room house was gutted and the second floor was damaged by smoke.

Griffith estimated the house and furnishings at $60,000 and said damage would probably total about $50,000.

The Couper's cocker spaniel, Chris, also died of suffocation.

Two firemen were treated for mior injuries. Fire Inspector Milford Fuller, 35 suffered a superficial burn on the arm, and mechanic George Wallace, 28 received a gash on the arm.

The storm, despite its tornado-like approach, had its lighter side to some residents. A full grown maple, neatly split by lightning, came to the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flicker, of 37 N. Merrimac.

They had just painted their front porch, and were looking for a suitable barricade. The tree obliged, dropping directly across the path leading to the porch.

Joseph P. McCarthy is glad his wife didn't have time to pull the family car all the way into the garage as the dark clouds raced in. A large elm crashed through the back of the garage, doing minor damage to the car which was only partially inside.

Indicating the heat which drove people to seek relief is the amount of water pumped this past week. It totaled 103,931,832 gallons, 600,000 more than the same week last year.

High point in pumping this year was the consumption last Thursday of 18,596,653 gallons.

Temperature this morning at 8 was 75, which rose to 88 at 2 p.m. The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts partly cloudy, warm and rather humid weather tonight and tomorrow. Scattered thundershowers are expected Tuesday.

Saturday's 92-degree high was the warmest in the Pontiac area this year and came within two degrees of the all-time high for June 12 established in 1894.

Although cooler weather was forecast for Sunday, the mercury rose to 88 degrees.

The temperature has climbed past the 85-degree mark on each of the past six days. This year's first 90-degree day was last Thursday.

Ervin Brothers' Hearing Halted

Death Plots Disclosed During Course of Trial in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UP) — A hearing for two Pontiac brothers accused of taking part in a $4,500 supermarket holdup here in February, in which plots and counterplots to kill various members of a bandit gang have been unfolded, has been recessed until Wednesday.

The hearing is being held for Charles and Gordon Ervin, 37 and 27, of Pontiac.

They are accused of the burglary along with James J. Minder Jr., 23, a former University of Michigan student, and Hugh T. Cox.

Minder and Cox also are being held by federal authorities in connection with a $53,000 Dearborn bank robbery.

Minder, testifying at the hearing last week, said he and Cox had arranged a meeting on a golf course at night with the Ervins in April. He said he and Cox planned to kill the brothers, but the two didn't show up at the rendezvous.

Minder said he learned that the Ervins at one time had planned to kill him because he became unmasked during the supermarket holdup and they feared he could have been identified.

He said they also had approached him earlier with a proposal that Cox be killed because they feared Cox would be picked up by Pontiac Police and would talk about the Ann Arbor holdup.

Women On Probation

Three Pontiac women were placed on three years probation and each assessed $100 costs today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for the nighttime breaking and entering of a S. Sanford street restaurant last April.

Mrs. Charlotte M. Guinther, 27, of 77 Douglas St.; Mrs. Martha Holsworth, 21, and Miss Claudine Carter, 18, were found guilty by a jury June 2.

Adenauer Faces Friendship Bid

Moscow Puts Out Hint Reds Would Like to Be Approached in Berlin

BONN, Germany (AP) — A Soviet friendship bid posed new problems today for West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his pro-Western policy.

The Soviet Communist party organ, Moscow's Pravda, in a story published yesterday said Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov had told East German Premier Otto Grotewohl the Kremlin would "treat favorably" any West German approach for establishment of "economic and cultural" relations between Bonn and Moscow.

* * *

Malenkov's statement was aimed particularly at the Free Democratic party, second strongest in Adenauer's coalition government. The Free Democrats have been urging resumption of diplomatic relations with Moscow as a step toward German reunification.

* * *

Adenauer's chief opposition, the Socialists, in a statement yesterday viewed Malenkov's expression as "confirmation of the 'new look' in Soviet policy" and said the Socialist party would "welcome normal relations with the Soviet Union."

Saboteurs at Work Fighting China Reds

HONG KONG (AP)—A fresh wave of sabotage in South China, coinciding with a tightening of Communist control, was reported today by independent Chinese newspapers in Hong Kong.

One account said that North Kwantung guerrillas blew up a generator May 12 and put the power plant at Kukong out of action two days. Four days later time bombs damaged two locomotives in the Kukong rail yard. On May 25 a textile mill on the outskirts of the city was set on fire.

The Kung Sheung Daily news said the Reds had executed 13 Communist officials, including a political tutor, in Schumchun for attempting to desert their posts and escape to Hong Kong.

California Sees 5 Million '54 Visitors; Many to Stay

WASHINGTON — Only 113 years ago the first organized immigrant party crossed the Sierra Nevada into California. This year an estimated 5,000,000 visitors will stream into the Golden State — and many will stay for good.

California, already more populous than any state except New York, ranks today as the fastest growing of all 48, the National Geographic Society reports.

The Society now is distributing to its 2,150,000 member-families a new large-scale descriptive map of California. With it goes the first issue of the magazine ever devoted entirely to a single state. Both magazine and map give ample reason for California to call itself the superlative state.

Natural landmarks shown on the map include the highest point in the United States, 14,495-foot Mount Whitney, and the lowest sink, 282 feet below sea level in Death Valley.

Yosemite National Park frames the country's highest free-leaping waterfall, the 1,430-foot first drop of Yosemite Falls.

The world's oldest living things form a tree cathedral in Sequoia National Park, and the highest tree on earth, 364-foot Founders Tree, stands near Dyerville in the coast redwood belt. Lassen Peak remains the only United States volcano not yet extinct.

California's farmers reap more cash income than any in the nation. Though they cultivate only a little more that two per cent of the country's cropland, they supply more than a third of all U.S.-grown fruits, nearly a fourth of all vegetables, nearly half its tree nuts.

Fabulous as the state's farm cornucopia is, its industrial output is worth three times as much. Leading aircraft producer and third-ranking shipbuilding state, California on the one hand ranks first in commercial fishing and the other excels in its variety of mineral wealth.

More than a quarter of California's entire area lies within 19 national forests, four national parks, eight national monuments, and 127 State parks.

With snow-capped mountain resort areas and sea-swept coast, modern metropolises and gold-rush ghost towns, California today is a true vacationer's paradise. For Californians, native or adopted, it is a land of boundless promise.

Velde Calls Hearing 'Most Important'

SEATTLE (AP) — Chairman Velde (R-Ill) said he expects a four-day hearing starting here today to be "one of the most important and revealing" ever held by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

He attached particular significance to the hearing because it will be the first congressional investigation of Communist activities in the Pacific Northwest — a key industrial, maritime and agricultural area.

For the first time, a Communist convicted of conspiracy under the Smith Act will have appeared as a "friendly" witness.

First of an expected 40 or more witnesses will be slight, bespectacled Mrs. Barbara Hartle, who renounced communism after she and four other Northwest Communist leaders were convicted last October.

Van Fleet on 2nd Tour

SEOUL (AP) — Presidential envoy James A. Van Fleet, on his second tour of South Korea in two months, met today with Prime Minister Paik Too Chin and Commerce and Industry Minister Ahn Tong Hyuk.

In the heart of the corn belt, Iowa in 1953 produced 1,170,000 tons of bituminous coal.

France Losing Grip on Colony in India

Press reports from the small French colony of Yanaon, on India's west coast, said about 200 pro-Indian demonstrators in the town of 5,800 persons had seized all public offices, hoisted the Indian flag and proclaimed French control at an end.

The report said a six-man administration council was nominated and four ministers named.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru has been demanding determinedly that France withdraw from Yanaon and her three small colonies on the Indian coast, Pondichery, Karikal and Mahe. Indian-French talks on the subject broke up earlier this month without agreement.

Danny Kaye Gets to India to Make Charity Movie

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Movie comedian Danny Kaye arrived in New Delhi today with a bad cold and complaining that the plane flight from Bombay had affected his ears.

Local Storms Breed Winds

Revolutionary Theory Offers Explanation of Currents' Origin

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) — Several hundred billion horsepower generate the prevailing winds of the earth, and scientists think they've discovered the orgin of the energy.

A revolutionary new theory regarding the orgin of these winds has been announced by a group of meterologists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The prevailing winds include the trade winds, on which oldtime sailing vessels depended, as well as the newly discovered jet stream that aids high-flying planes.

The MIT researchers claim the great winds draw their strength from a myriad of local storms. They liken the small disturbances to many small "heat engines" whose energy comes from the conflict of warm and cold air masses.

Rotation of the earth forces the energy from these local storms into the zones of prevailing east and west winds. There are enough of these local disturbances fed into the great winds at regular intervals to keep them constantly in action.

If this weren's so, the scientists say, the prevailing winds would die out as t result of friction.

This concept of friction is one of the important factors in shattering the traditional theroy of the orgin of the pravailing winds. Previously, scientists thought the prevailing winds resulted from a movement of cold air from the polar zones to replace warm air that fas rising over the equotor. In this theory, the earth's rotation forced the north-south movement of air into a latitudinal direction as it neared the equator, where the earth is spinning fastest.

Relatives of Alcoholics Likely Need Help Also

(Editors note: The following is the second of two stories describing how relatives can help alcoholics. This tells of the Al-Anon Family Groups, an unusual organization started three years ago to help the families of alcoholics.)

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The women who meet in the pine-paneled club room one night each week might be any town's garden club, but they are there because they are married to alcoholics.

As the 8:30 p.m. meeting hour arrives they drift in—the well-dressed woman with a mink scarf; a gray-haired woman whose husband brings her to the door; the timid, young wife there for the first time and the mother who is accompanied by her pretty daughter, just home from college.

They are members of one of the 600 chapters of the Al-Anon Family Groups, a unique, world-wide organization which was organized formally only three years ago to help families of alcoholics.

"What we tell here is our story, not the alcoholic's story," the chairman said as she opened the meeting. One or two men whose wives are alcoholics usually come to the meetings, but on this night only women were present.

There were 87 similar groups in existence in the United States and Canada three years ago when the wife of one of the founders of Alcoholics Anonymous banded them into a single organization. Now there are chapters in places like Helsinki and in South Africa.

Theirs is a "hands off" policy toward alcoholic relatives. Don't nag, don't argue and don't put the alcoholic on a spot, they advise.

Instead, they help each other to understand the disease, have faith that the alcoholics will be cured, and by their own serenity try to make it easier for the alcoholic to stop drinking.

"I am the wife of an alcoholic, and, when Fred used to go on a drinking binge, I would pull down the shades and disconnect the doorbell," the first speaker stated. "I withdrew into a world of my own, because I didn't want anyone, even my mother, to know about Fred's drinking."

When she told how she showed up at the police station regularly to report him missing after he disappeared on a drinking bout, "because I had a funny feeling that if anything happened to him the police would ask me why I hadn't reported him missing," the speaker laughed, and so did the audience.

The timid young woman there for her first meeting relaxed and smiled with relief.

Each of the speakers described her mistakes in dealing with the drinking problem, and the gradual acceptance of alcoholism as a disease instead of a disgrace.

One speaker began by saying, "I have been married to an alcoholic for 23 years."

"I started out as a well-ingregated person," she said. "I didn't know what alcoholism was. I became frantic trying to cover up."

When she started attending family group meetings and found others with similar stories, "It gave me the most terrific mental relief," the speaker said.

"Even my husband noticed that I was much more relaxed. Now I know that in order to live and have peace and tranquility I have to change myself. I needed to be told to keep my hands off . . . not to try to run Bill's drinking."

The chairman said later, "We try to help them look at their problem honestly, and then have faith. If we sincerely believe an alcoholic can overcome the disease, he still may get drunk, but he is less likely to."

New York Central

Robert R. Young has whipped Wall Street, the Vanderbilts and the Morgans and they're going to have to like it. Hardly in the memory of modern man runs so extensive a turnover in management of a gigantic institution. Two score years ago General Motors underwent some cataclysmic upheavals that revolved around William C. Durant. Once control was wrested from him summarily with only one dissenting vote—that of the late William L. Day of Pontiac. Later Mr. Durant returned to power with the famous Chevrolet triumph.

★ ★ ★

Also, du Pont took control of GM but the personnel of the boards in all cases remained substantially the same. There were additions and modifications, but the whole group was never given the pitch.

Mr. Young will have a clean slate.

Early in the battle he asked President White to remain in case he (Young) won but the Vanderbilt and Morgan man gave this proposal the Bronx cheer. Had there been any inclination to conciliate, the upheaval would not have been so gigantic, but the old line financiers would give no quarter and Young therefore drafted an entirely new slate of his own.

A tremendous legal squabble revolved around the huge blocks of stock owned by the two Texans, but Young won every round. He had the nod of both judges and the referee in every instance.

Whether he's as good a railroad man, a better or merely their equal, remains to be seen. It has been an interesting and exciting battle over an extended period. So far as surface indications are concerned, it was "good, clean fun," but we don't know what went on underneath.

Neither side welcomed defeat.

Control was the objective. But prestige was at stake, also. The Morgan and Vanderbilt clans don't relish public trouncings. It isn't an accepted part of their ancient traditions. But Mr. Young is no novice or amateur scrapper, either. He's an old pro. The New Yorkers didn't lose to children.

★ ★ ★

An interesting era lies ahead.

Ike Gets Tax Backing

While President Eisenhower's program has faced some rough going in Congress, it now looks as though he will get about everything he wants in tax legislation from the Senate.

That at least was the indication after the Finance Committee of the upper House had completed six weeks of secret work on the 875 page tax revision bill.

At the same time the committee majority's favorable attitude seems to have discouraged Democratic plans to force the issue of higher income tax exemptions.

In finishing its long job, the committee accepted almost all of the benefits sought by the Administration for individuals and corporations. The revenue loss resulting from these reductions in the first year is estimated at $1.4 billion.

★ ★ ★

A Democratic spokesman insists that his party will carry its fight for deeper tax cuts to the floor. On past performance, however, hopes there are slim, for the Senate seldom upsets the Finance Committee on tax legislation.

Moreover, the unfavorable budget and international situations strongly support the Administration's position against any deeper cuts in Federal revenue at this time.

St. Lawrence Power OK'd

A U. S. Supreme Court decision has swept aside the last legal obstacle to development of St. Lawrence River electric power.

This ruling ended legal action launched by a group of property owners who feared that the necessary dams and the waters they'd impound, would damage their holdings.

The way now is cleared for the start of construction of facilities to provide power sorely needed by the rapidly expanding industries of New York State and the Province of Ontario.

Within five years the electrical installations and the channels that will make every major city on the Great Lakes an ocean port, should be completed. Recognizing the urgent need, New York's Power Authority and the Ontario Hydro - Electric Commission have agreed to start work this summer.

★ ★ ★

It is not expected, however, that the new facilities will meet all New York's needs, estimated at between three and four million kilowatts by 1960. Niagara Falls and the St. Lawrence development together will supply about two million kilowatts, the rest will have to come from steam plants.

Sportsman Suggests New State Law for Licensing of Boats to Aid Police

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I see where another boat has been stolen. Quite a few have been stolen that have not been reported to police. Why doesn't the legislature do something about it?

Under present conditions the police can't do anything. I would suggest a law setting up a nominal fee for a license. Each owner would get a tag to put on his boat, also a receipt bearing his signature.

Signatures of the rest of the family could be put on the receipt after the owner got his license.

The State Police then could check all boats going out of the State. The game wardens could check the boats on all lakes, for ownership, and as to where the boat had been purchased if there semed room for suspicion.

I am sure the owners would be willing to pay a nominal fee so they would gain some protection against these thieves.

Different marks could be put in front of the license number to show the type of boat the license was issued for.

Favors Backing People Trying to Rout Out Reds

Apparently the high school girl who wrote to this column recently has not been listening to the Senate hearings too closely. (Which would seem impossible if she attends school.)

I had the impression that McCarthy was a heel but I have been listening to and watching the hearings every morning and afternoon since they began. Now I realize he is a man who will fight for what he thinks is right, regardless of party affiliations. That is an admirable quality.

There has been no evidence that he is powerful or holds a large number of people under his thumb. He is chairman of the committee investigating suspected Communists and gained that position by appointment. It is the privilege of all the senators to sit in and have a voice in all the hearings.

McCarthy is trying to rout out Communists, not dominate people. Let's get behind him and anyone who is working in that capacity.

Bring Your Prayers Up-to-Date, Don't Recite Them Mechanically, Thoughtlessly

Do you regard God as an imperious European type of dictator? That's wrong. In modern America we should converse with God as if he were an extension of the personality we find in an understanding Dad.

By DR. GEORGE W CRANE

Case L-330: Leon S, aged 35, is a talented clergyman.

"And I agree with your indictment some months ago when you said that religion is cluttered up with out-of-date ritual.

"We are modernizing our church buildings and urging erection of gymnasiums for youth, but I think we should also modernize our ritual, too.

If God is our Heavenly Father, as the Bible affirms, then let's get away from the European attitude of calling him a monarch or king.

"Come Thou Almighty King" is one of our great hymns but that word "king" is un-American and obsolete.

When the early Christians began their church organization, they very logically patterned it after the court of Caesar, and developed a literal parallelism that was phenomenally exact.

But times have changed since those tyrannical days of absolute dictatorship. So let's streamline our church ritual in accordance with modern American progress.

This will involve a housecleaning in many of our hymns. And it also will include a new analysis of our prayers.

"Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray the Lord my soul to keep," is a good prayer that makes as much sense today as 1,000 years ago.

But if our other secret and silent prayers were put into type or if they were uttered aloud, how do you think they'd sound?

Wouldn't we be embarrassed to have our neighbors learn how selfish we are in our prayers? "Dear God, please give me an 'A' on my examination tomorrow," a student may earnestly ask.

But if he has meanwhile gone out on several dates this past week while other more diligent students have stayed in their rooms and studied till the wee hours, would it be fair for God to give an 'A' to the student who shunned his textbooks?

Prayer is a time for talking with God, who is to be regarded as our Heavenly Father. How many times do you thank God in your prayers?

Jesus healed 10 lepers from sure death and only one ever returned to say "Thank you."

How about you and me? Are we equally ungrateful?

Bring your prayers up-to-date. Don't recite them mechanically and thoughtlessly. Converse with God. Make new prayers each night.

It is proper to mix thanks with your requests. But don't implore God to give you an "A" or do all your work for you. Just ask Him to help show you the way to get your "A" or how to drive your car safely, etc.

Talk to God in a conversational manner as to an understanding Dad. It will be a revelation to you!

Counter Publicity Needed to Expose Reds' Tactics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye in the philosophic discourse by President Eisenhower the other day at his press conference about the global nature of the Communist problem.

The President stressed that the dilemma is not to be solved by military strength alone but by proper strategy in the field of the economic, the intellectual and the spiritual.

Coincidentally, Secretary of State Dulles was telling a Seattle audience that the Communists are the biggest fakers in the world—even as they cry out about "colonialism," they themselves have added 600 million people to their system of bondage since 1945.

Perhaps the most perplexing aspect of it is the fact that there are in the world many areas where desirable reforms or social changes should take place.

Thus "colonialism," as it is known in Africa or in Asia, constituted a serious problem long before the Communists overthrew the Czar's government in 1917. Likewise, conditions of exploitation which are deplorable have existed in Guatemala and other Latin-American countries. The Communist agitators are taking advantage of those weaknesses now.

The Moscow government itself, however, isn't sincerely interested in any humanitarian or social reforms anywhere in the world. Nor is it interested in Latin America or in North Africa or in the Near East merely to promote discord, as so many observers mistakenly believe.

The real aim is to get possession, by revolution or otherwise, of the mind of the man who occupies the post of minister of foreign affairs or the man who directs him.

To line up votes in the United Nations or to get enough influence to block collective action of any kind against Soviet Russia is the sole purpose of the work of all Communist agents throughout the world today.

The Latin-American field has been invaded by the Communist agents because this means a break-up of the influence of a Latin-American bloc of votes in the United Nations which usually goes along with this country's policies.

* * *

The Communist purpose in stirring up trouble in the French possessions in North Africa is to gain political strength in Paris inside the French parliament so as to enable the Soviet strategists to exercise a veto on what the French foreign minister may do in conferences with the United States. It's a "fifth column" worse than the one that ruined France in 1940.

* * *

The paramount question then is what can the free governments do, faced as they are by the knowledge that many of the conditions under which natives and underprivileged citizens have been exploited ought to be removed because, as in Indochina, rebellion can be stimulated if something is not done to give the natives their independence.

The strategy of the major powers in the world must inevitably be concentrated on exposure of the Communist tactics. This would reveal the dangers and would warn the smaller nations and the colonial groups that they face a greater tyranny if they lose the sympathetic protection of the free governments.

Reforms are vital, but they can never be completely established in wartime. As long as the "cold war" goes on, it is risky to set up weak independent governments that can be used as puppets by Soviet Russia.

That's why the first job is to expose and eradicate Communist influence in every Near Eastern capital and in every country in Asia. Then the program for independence and reform will have some chance of permanency when it is achieved.

A worldwide inquiry into Communist tactics ought to be undertaken, but unfortunately the United Nations doesn't have the machinery or the determination to do it. Also the Communist political influence can block it there.

If the governments of Great Britain, France and America, however, could persuade every one of the smaller governments in the world to join in an exposure of Communist agents in the various countries, it would do much to hasten the day when real protection and help can be given those countries.

The Communist conspiracy, using funds transmitted through agents in free countries, is an active operation which needs to be fully brought to public attention everywhere if the Kremlin is to be defeated in the "cold war."

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

International News Service

Congress figures to pack in by July if it can get storage space for its reforms. It has busted open so many investigations it is overlapping like the cat with the anteater's tongue.

The Republican rebuttal committee longs for the hoss-and-buggy days when no backseat driver ever cracked a whip.

After twenty years the GOP finds there is no such thing as a beautiful view ahead through a keyhole.

Senator Johnson of Texas says they could top off by August if some of the Republicans were not so tele-genic and mike-roscopic. He doesn't want to heave the book at them. All he wants 'em to do is plead innocent in the third degree.

If the paper-work and secret documents pile up every U. S. senator will run terrific mileage on librarians' ladders.

Senator Johnson says he has no axe to hoe. He concedes this administration is as honest as could be suspected.

One important innovation was plugged up by Senator Knowland of waits and delays. The billion-smacker agricultural bill will be limited to farmers. There will be no more acreage laid out in window-boxes.

Housing, taxation, health, education and other unavoidable foibles may be held over. There are three branches of government and you cannot be out on all of them at once.

You can see the Democrats have no intention of starting a second honeymoon with the White House. That would be political bigamy.

So far Congress has clipped the bicycle repair bill, discovered eleven more rivers for PWA bridges, bought the air force down to earth, patted the wet backs of the Rio Grande, approved habit-forming mucilage for postage stamps and imported Venetian gondoliers for the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Babies Should Not Be Subjected to Diets Sugared and Computed, Says Dr. Brady

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Grandma J. F. says her grandson, 2½ years old, weighs 23½ pounds.

That, it says in the Brady Baby Book (for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) is less than a baby should weigh at the age of 1 year.

Grandma does not say what the poor little tot gets to eat, if anything.

Nor does she say how many teeth the baby has cut. A baby nearly 32 months old should have cut all twenty temporary teeth, about in this order:

(1) Two lower central incisors at 6 to 9 months

(2) Four upper incisors at 8 to 12 months

(3) Two more lower incisors and four front molars at 12 to 15 months

(4) Four canine ("eye") teeth at 18 to 24 months

(5) Four back molars at 14 to 25 months.

Some healthy babies vary a month or two early or late in cutting the primary, temporary, baby teeth.

The baby book describes the bad after-effects of castor oil and other laxatives.

Perhaps the most familiar bad after-effect of such mischievous physic, especially the first doses of castor oil inflicted on the newborn infant, is derangement of the internal automatic mechanism that if not interfered with, regulates the bowel function just as it does the heart beat and the breathing.

Grandma J. F. gives no information concerning the malnourished child's diet, but she does say:

"He has been given laxatives of some kind ever since he came into this world."

The time has come (I hope it isn't too late) to rescue the unhappy child from his incapable parents or to teach those parents what every young American should be taught in school, namely, the care and feeding of infants.

Aside from the bad after-effects of the physic these parents feed their baby, such, for example, as the inhibiting influence of magnesia upon assimilation of calcium, it is very likely that the pap such parents deem "digestible" is inadequate nutritionally to maintain normal growth.

A normal baby a year to 1½ years old should have plain whole milk, eggs, home cooked oatmeal gruel, crackers, toast or bread, buttered, mashed potato, ripe banana, raw fresh fruit juice or stewed fruit, scraped beef, hamburger, gravy, macaroni and cheese and plain wheat cracked and cooked as breakfast cereal.

The less sugar, candy, cake and sweetened cheat-food the better, and it doesn't make any difference whether it is sweetened with cane sugar, beet sugar, milk sugar, glucose, dextrose, corn sugar, maltose or some trick-sugar.

Food itself is laxative. Food, any and every kind of natural, unrefined food helps to maintain good digestion, the physiological motor activity, the peristaltic wave movements of the alimentary tract.

So a diet that is not restricted to liquid, easily digestible pap keeps the baby happy.

A diet diluted, doctored, sugared, homogenized, sterilized, fortified, modified, certified and algebraically computed, at $25 per month, by a trick specialist, would hamper the growth and development of the sturdiest baby.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Milford Dentist Reports to Navy

Residents Unsuccessful in Attempts to Prevent Call to Duty

MILFORD — Dr. Robert J. Lawrence reported for dental duty to the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill., today, culminating an unsuccessful attempt by residents of the Milford area to prevent his tour of duty.

Described as essential to the community in numerous affidavits by civic groups and veterans organizations, and the subject of petitions which brought more than 250 signatures, Dr. Lawrence is the father of five children.

He has also been called unfit for duty several times by examining doctors, due to a chronic bone infection he has had since he was two years old. The disease has shortened one leg by two inches, and caused the 36-year-old dentist to undergo nine operations.

Sen. Homer Ferguson's office Saturday advised Dr. Lawrence to apply for his release from the Navy, on the basis of the undue hardship of his wife, as soon as he arrives at Great Lakes. Dr. Lawrence stated this was his intention.

Dr. Lawrence is one of three dentists in the Milford area, one of whom has a limited practice.

Divorce Battle to End Today

Argue Custody of Sons, Property in Hayward-Barker Case

Big issues in the divorce trial, expected to last from two days to a week, are the division of property and custody of their twin boys, Gregory and Timothy, 9.

• • •

Slappings, a spanking and a near nude dunking of the red-haired Miss Hayward have been related in previous court appearances.

• • •

The shapely actress, who charges mental cruelty, returned from a movie location at St. George, Utah, yesterday. Married on July 23, 1944, the couple separated once before, in 1947, but later resumed their married life. They separated again last year.

Miss Hayward, 33, who testified earlier that her income is $17,000 a month with $240,000 in assets, told the court Feb. 25 that Barker, 39, refused to work. She said he once termed her "a good meal ticket."

• • •

She wants the court to rule her two-million-dollar movie contract and other assets belong to her and are not community property. Her attorney, Martin Gang, has introduced a document he said both signed before their marriage and which stipulates that Barker shall not share in her earnings.

Sun Shines in London

LONDON (AP) — The sun broke through today after nine straight days of rain in London. So far this month 3.47 inches of rain have fallen here, the most in any June since 1917.

The earth is about 197,000,000 square miles. Approximately 70 per cent is water; 30 per cent land.

Despite the fact that they are icebound four months of the year, the Soo Canals of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, carry more cargo than the Panama and Suez canals combined. Eighty-five per cent of American iron ore passes through the Soo locks en route from mines in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Ontario to steel plants of eastern Canada and the Great Lakes states.

Ike Participates in CD 'Bombing'

President Takes Refuge in White House Shelter With Staff, Mamie

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower hurried into the White House air raid shelter today to take refuge from a fleet of imaginary atomic bombers attacking the United States in the biggest Civil Defnse drill since World War II.

The eerie wail of sirens sounded the red alert in the capital promptly at 9:01 a.m. EST. By pre-arranged plan, traffic was halted on all downtown streets and police guided pedestrians into shelters.

Mr. Eisenhower, who was working at his White House desk when the alert sounded, got up immediately and walked quickly with members of his staff and hundreds of White House workers to the underground shelter. He was joined there by Mrs. Eisenhower.

The chief executive and ranking members of his staff have working quarters in the shelter. During the drill, they worked at their desks and tested telephone, teletype and short wave radio facilities linking the shelter with the outside world.

Simultaneously, Civil Defense workers in New York set a record by clearing Times Square within 70 seconds after the sirens sounded. The operation, in which some 3,000 persons were directed into shelters, was carried out in 30 seconds less time than was required at the last Civil Defense test.

The "attack" by more than 400 hypothetical enemy bombers was presumed to have struck 41 major cities in the United States, including Detroit and Flint in Michigan, and eight in Canada. In many of the "target cities," however, the drill was confined to a staff exercise for Civil Defense workers.

The most ambitious program of public participation was in Mobile, Ala., where some 26,000 persons were to be evacuated from the downtown area to the outskirts.

In Pittsburgh, police halted traffic and streets were fairly well cleared despite the fact that the siren system did not work ideally and some sections of the city did not get the alert.

Convict Mendez in Bar Robbery

Gets 2½ to 15 Years in Jackson; Implicates Three Others

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty today sentenced Francisco M. Mendez, 26, of 2½ to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson for the $75 armed robbery of the Walton Dairy Bar April 20.

A companion, Lee D. Bates, 20, of 80 Omar St., was turned over to parole officials after pleading guilty to the same charge June 1.

Mendez, of 61 Pine St., testified last week at the trial of three other youths charged with the robbery and implicated them.

The three, Richard Parks, 17, of 22 McNeil St.; Arthur C. Hewitt Jr., 19, of 1654 Giddings Rd., and Robert K. Smith, 19, of 1024 Hospital Rd. were found guilty by a jury June 7 and will be sentenced next Monday.

Kidnap Ransom Believed Buried

Baffled for Two Days, Police Continue Search in Mountains

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — Daniel J. Marsin, 41, charged with kidnaping the wife of a wealthy industrialist for $75,000, sat silently in jail while officers resumed a search today for the missing ransom money.

Somewhere in the Superstition Mountains, police believed, were hidden the marked bills paid for Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith's release by her husband Herbert.

The rocky, cactus-strewn foothills were combed by a small force of officers. They worked doggedly, moving small boulders, brush and dirt in the belief the loot had been buried.

• • •

Two days of hunting failed to turn up any clue. The search today was extended into abandoned mine shafts.

Police also were hunting a rifle, a pistol and a pair of binoculars which the Smiths said they had seen the kidnaper use.

There were other unanswered questions. Mrs. Smith said she had overheard a second man after being locked in the trunk of her car. She said he discussed killing her. When she arrived at the Superstitions late Wednesday, she said, only one masked kidnaper was with her.

• • •

Investigating officers, who had hidden along the road to the payoff spot to which Smith had been ordered, asked openly why Smith drove his wife back to Phoenix without stopping to report that she was safe.

That delayed the search for the abductor by more than two hours, one officer said.

Marsin, seized near a ranch house four hours after Mrs. Smith was released Thursday night, was not taken to her for identification until the next afternoon.

At that time, it was learned, he was taken to her home to be identified several hours before she picked him from a lineup of masked persons. He was charged Saturday with kidnaping and placed under $50,000 bond.

Your life insurance funds have helped finance thousands of miles of pipe line . . . bringing a useful service to you

America's thrift sparks America's record growth

THROUGH your thrift and foresight, you, as a life insurance policyholder, have helped bring about the most amazing period of material growth in American history!

Life insurance funds—in addition to providing family protection—are playing an important part in our great expansion.

Here's how life insurance money—the individual accumulations of thrifty people—is helping America grow.

It is helping finance the factories, research facilities, machinery and equipment which produce most of the things you use.

Among these are the natural gas lines which bring the gas into your kitchen . . . the power plant which supplies your electricity . . . the mile upon mile of superhighways on which you drive . . . the planes in which you fly . . . the railroad trains on which you ride.

This life insurance money also provides funds for new homes . . . housing developments . . . new schools . . . new stores . . . and other new buildings.

All told, America's 90 million policyholders are adding $5,000,000,000 to the funds behind their life insurance each year. Until these funds are returned to them, or to their families, as benefits, this money is put to work in almost every phase of our economy.

• • •

So you see, your life insurance dollars benefit you in two ways: (1) they provide for the financial security of you and your family, (2) they help provide the capital needed to make America a better place to live in.

Don't Force Food

One of the worst things you can do to a child is force him to eat. The displeasure experienced by the unwilling eater, doctors tell us, stops the flow of juices that are necessary to digestion. So don't force baby to eat. Consult your doctor on the best way to educate his taste in food.

Self-Reproach for Parental Failure Reflects Fear of Others' Opinion

Houseguest Hopes to Go to Church

She Wonders How to Broach Subject to Hosts

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband and I have been invited to spend the coming weekend at his employer's country house. I have met Mr. and Mrs. Employer several times but have never stayed with them.

"My problem is this: I go to church every Sunday and would not like to miss the Sunday we are away. My husband's employer is a different faith than we are, and I do not know whether they are in the habit of going to church.

"However, if nothing is said about it, would it be proper for me to ask the host, or hostess, to drive me to church as we do not have a car of our own and the church is not within walking distance.

"Isn't it up to the hosts to ask their guests whether they would like to go to church and to provide transportation."

Answer: In all probability the hostess will ask you if you would like to go to church. If nothing is said, it would be quite proper for you to ask your hostess if there is a public conveyance to take you to the church of your denomination.

She will then not only tell you how far it is and how to get there, but will, if possible, provide you with a car.

Dear Mrs. Post: In the event that our expected child is a boy, I would like to name him for his father, but am not quite sure whether he will be Jr. or III.

My father-in-law's name is Henry Brown, with no middle name. My husband's name is Henry Allen Brown. Now will our child be Jr., or is my husband Jr. and our son III?

Answer: Your son will be Jr.—unless your husband should drop the Allen and become Jr. In which case your son, also without Allen, would be III.

Dear Mrs. Post: "I'd like to have a special cake decorated for my daughter's engagement party. Is there any marking customary for such a cake, and if not, will you suggest one?

Answer: Although there is no prescribed marking, the long favorite one is their two first names enclosed in a heart.

Buttermilk Cake Fine for Picnics

Mrs. M. L. Lamb Tops Treat With Broiled Frosting

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

With picnic days at hand, we all are interested in good cake recipes. Mrs. M. L. Lamb shares with us her excellent recipe for buttermilk cake. She says it keeps very well and is such a good sized cake that it cuts into 16 pieces easily.

Mrs. Lamb is an enthusiastic clubwoman. She belongs to the Maple Leaf Club, to the June Group of her church and to the Round Table Club. The YWCA also claims her interest.

BUTTERMILK CAKE
By Mrs. M. L. Lamb

1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon each orange and lemon extract (optional)
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Cream shortening and sugar, add eggs and beat well. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk. Add flavorings. Bake in a greased 13x9 pan at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes.

Southern Broiled Frosting

6 tablespoons melted butter
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
4 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup finely cut coconut and chopped nuts (grapenuts may be substituted for the coconut)

Mix and spread on cake after it has cooled five minutes. Brown under the broiler.

Anger Toward Child Conceals Anxiety

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Modern institutions for delinquent children maintain them in what they call "cottage homes." Over these homes preside married couples—the "cottage parents," one of whose jobs it is to check on children's comings and goings.

Mrs. B. was the "cottage mother" of a freckled-faced 10-year-old named Harry. I knew her. She possessed the poise required by her work.

But one morning I saw this poise quite shattered. Harry had stolen a sum of money and some time during the previous night had run away.

Quietly, Harry's social worker listened to her reproaches of the boy. Then to Mrs. B., who was terrified of criticism for laxity on her job, he said gently: "Take better care of yourself. You're too valuable to us to have you upset like this."

By the tired look around his eyes, I knew his own distress. So after we left Mrs. B. restored and comforted, I sought for words to comfort the comforter. For Harry's social worker was a friend of mine.

I knew that he had seen Harry cry for his dead mother and had heard him curse his drunken father.

I knew that the name of the social worker had been one Harry called when he emerged from anesthetic after an appendectomy six months before. I knew what patience, hope and intelligence had been invested in the failure that had so agitated Mrs. B.

But this comforter of others did not need others' comfort. As I started to give it to him he interrupted me. He said, "I'm fine. It's all right. I have worked out self-reproach."

At the end of three days, Harry returned to the man who had "worked out" self-reproach. He returned because he knew that he would not receive reproach.

I recount this memory for a mother who has not worked out self-reproach. For the letter she has sent me is filled with the most bitter reproaches of a 17-year-old daughter who has just left home to find a job.

Perhaps, like Mrs. B., she is afraid of charges of laxity. Maybe she too is so worried about what others will think of her failure that her self-reproach comes out crooked in the form of reproaches of that daughter.

If so, let's face it, so that we can take better care of ourselves. And so that there will be value in us for our child to see and return to.

Available in Water-White

New Varnish Suggested for Table Top Refinishing

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

What finish for a table top? Since the first piece of furniture to need refinishing is so often a handsome living room table, the answer must be a good one, sturdy finish that makes no compromise with good looks.

Varnishes are easier to work with than lacquer, and this comparatively new kind is especially hard-drying and mar-resistant.

And it can be water-white, which means that it is really colorless and not tinged with yellow as most so-called clear varnishes are, to make it easier to produce a preferred color.

Of course it is best to refinish the whole table, and success at the finish line depends on perfect preparation of the wood. Varnish remover first and sanding, and sometimes lost filler must be replaced.

Stain follows if there is to be a change of color, and the water-white varnish goes over it to keep the exact shade.

* * *

Mrs. P. G. "We are building a modern ranch house with a large living room and dining ell. The fireplace mantel extends the length of one wall.

"Is my selection of turquoise for the walls, beige wall-to-wall carpet, cocoa brown circular sofa with orange, turquoise and yellow pillows correct?

"Would draperies the same color as the walls be correct or should I use a print? Would the walls be better in a brown tone?"

Matching draperies to walls creates a simple, unified background which makes a room look more spacious and is particularly pleasing in this type of house, but in this room the result would perhaps be too much domination by the brightest major color in the scheme.

You might like the brown tone for the walls better if draperies match, and turquoise for furniture and accessories.

However, the room would be successful with turquoise walls and draperies in beige or a quiet print with a beige background.

Mrs. J. J. B. "I plan to order a new coffee table in a finish that's different from the one on the table in the store.

"The salesman tells me I can have it in light mahogany, dark mahogany or in dark mahogany with a distressed finish. Please tell me what is meant by a distressed finish."

A distressed finish is one that has been purposely scarred to give the appearance of long use, so the piece of furniture resembles an antique.

Boy Promises to Change to Suit Girl

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm almost 16 and very much in love with a boy 18 who loves me. We went steady for nearly six months and broke up because he wouldn't take me to my high school and church affairs.

"Even though I still love him, I feel we are too young to be too serious. But he has promised now he will take me to church, etc., if I will go steady with him again. He won't have it any other way—either steady or not at all.

"Please help me decide what to do—date other boys and try to forget him, or start going steady again and see how things turn out?

"If I go only with him, the other boys I date would get pretty sick of it. What shall I do?"

You say you're in love—and that's a serious matter. If you really are, it should be serious enough to make you want to skip dates with other boys.

The big trouble, as I see it, is that you've fallen in love with a boy who has finished school. He doesn't get much of a bang out of your school affairs. And maybe his church is a different one. Your break came because, though your hearts were in tune, you couldn't merge your social lives.

Now, let's be practical about this. School's almost over. For several monthes there won't be any school parties and doings. Your social life will be differently organized.

A steady beau may be just what you need the most—because you love him. And there would be no necessity for dates with other boys.

Why not give it another try—at least for the summer? Things may be different for both of you, come fall.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My heart throb lives 44 miles from here. We met last summer, he promised to write during the school months, and we agreed to date others.

"Up to Christmas everything was neat. He sent me candy and a letter for Christmas. Then he stopped writing completely.

"Three months later he wrote to say he was coming here, but he never showed up. A few days ago he wrote me a real love letter—he was sorry, etcetera, and wanted to continue writing.

"Well, I'd give anything to go with him, only I don't want him changing his mind every month or so! Please help me."

To some boys, 44 miles seem just about as far as 4,400 when they can't conveniently see a girl and do any normal dating. And some of those boys, no matter how much they like a girl, just don't know how to keep saying so on paper. Letters start out bravely, then dwindle to nothing.

Your friend is suffering the off-and-on twinges of a boy who likes his girl but finds that life can go on without her. There are 44 miles between you, after all.

How can you hope to "go with him" when all there can be is a letter now and then? If you see him this summer, of course, there may be more to it.

In a few hours, whip up a halter to team with separates all summer!

Try It

Make Chart for Chores

Now that you are out of school you will have some free time on your hands, but how about Mother? I know that she enjoys having you home but you can cause her extra work unless you pitch in to help. How about using this chart?

Here is a suggestion sent in by Vicki Woods of Oakland, Calif. I hope you like your Try It picture, Vicki. Remember, if you send in an idea used by Try It, you receive an original drawing.

Vicki suggests that you make a work chart to use in the summer, and this will divide the work to be done by the family to help Mother. Make your chart up by the month, making four spaces under each day of the week.

Check the chores as you do them. Vicki says that she gets a little money for each point to serve as spending money during the summer. Ask Mother and Dad for suggestions on your chart-making.

You can make this on colored paper with contrasting ink to look nice in your room. Make the lines in one color and the letters in another, but be sure to keep a pencil handy for checking.

Past Suffering May Offer Clue to Future Success

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Not every young mother wants a project which will enable her to make money at home.

But judging from my mail, more and more of these young women are laying the groundwork and making plans for some kind of activity they can get into after the children are grown.

One charming woman from Maryland wrote recently:

"We have three pre-school youngsters and I have hardly any time for my own interests. But I have been watching the women in the community, and the happiest, most attractive ones are the ones who do get into something when the kids go to school.

"Therefore I would like to start thinking and working on it now, so I'll know what I'm doing when the day arrives that the house is relatively empty.

"What do you suggest?"

First of all, I suggested that she send for my Housewives' Career Guide, which is an interest test designed to help women decide which of their many skills and activities is the one they should make a specialty.

The Career Guide is free to any reader who sends me six cents in postage.

Second, it is a good idea to review your past life and dig up any things that have troubled you in the past, any tragedies or near-tragedies. Many times they offer a clue to something you might do.

For example, one woman who had been too tall as an adolescent, and who had felt gawky and unattractive, turned in her later life to designing dresses for the too-tall teenager.

Her intense interest and sympathy, her own years of suffering, were turned to a productive—lucrative—end.

Another woman whose first baby had died of a rare heart disease eventually went to work for the Heart Association, doing volunteer work to help other cardiac children and their parents.

Lydia O'Leary, who suffered throughout her early girlhood from a bad facial birthmark, invented a preparation to cover such birthmarks so that other people would not have to suffer as she did.

There is, in short, a period in most lives when we suffered badly. Many times we have learned much from the suffering and will find in it a clue to our talents,

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Pity for Harried Hostess Prompts Her Guest Rules

The way people drop in just at mealtime here at Stella Karn's farm in the Catskills reminds me of when we lived on the old home place and whole families were always coming unexpectedly to spend the day.

Some moist summer morning when I was sweeping the front porch I'd spy the Johnsons' surrey driving up the dusty road. Mr. Johnson and his wife would be in the front seat and squashed in between them the baby, sucking on a sugar tit.

MISS McBRIDE

In the back seat would be Sue, my age, and her older sister, Lucile, and trailing along behind Harry on horseback.

"Get out, get out," my father would shout hospitably as the surrey drew up in front of the hitching block. I would run to tell Mama and she, drying her hands on her apron, would rush to the smokehouse for a few slices of ham or to the backyard to catch a couple of pullets for company dinner.

Glad as we all were to see the Johnsons, we knew that the visit was not entirely social. Menfolks on a farm were too busy to take much time out for visiting unless business was afoot.

Maybe Mr. Johnson wanted to borrow our plow or cultivator for a few days. Or perhaps he had a horse or cow to trade. My father was known to the whole county as a great trader.

Papa, I thought, enjoyed the visitors more than Mama did. She had plenty to do for her own family and an unexpected load of guests was almost too much. Perhaps that's why in these days of telephones, automobiles and casual weekends, I pity the hostess, even when she appears to be having a good time as Stella does.

Because I feel this way, I have drawn up a set of rules for myself to make life a little easier for my poor hostess. First of all, I vow to avoid uncertainty by making arrangements in advance about how and when I'm going to arrive and how and when I'm going to leave. I depart on schedule, too, so my hostess can feel free to urge me hospitably to stay longer, knowing I won't.

If I'm dieting strenuously, I simply refuse the invitation. There's nothing so disturbing as having a guest pick over the food you've knocked yourself out preparing. I always bring a big package of books as reassurance that I don't expect to be entertained every second.

Furthermore, I never go barging into the kitchen, insisting loudly that I want to help—though I try to indicate that I'm available and glad to do an odd chore or lend a hand if wanted.

I try to avoid borrowing. I take more pains to be neat about my room than I do at home, and I triple check to make sure I haven't left anything behind that Mary will have to wrap and mail or Joe will have to lug to the city later.

Hospitality will never be easy for me but if I ever did have guests, these are the rules I'd like them to observe.

Dad and son are equally pleased with their matching cabana sets for swim or play. The gay sport shirt has a five-button front and patch pockets, the shorts are semi-brief boxer-styled.

Quacking Ducks Save the Life of Drowning Tot

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Ducks' quacks saved the life of a 19-month-old Little Rock baby.

Tiny red-haired Beth Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeton Cook, fell into a private lake Saturday and was discovered moments later by her mother.

The mother's attention was called to the spot when several ducks sounded a "quacking" alarm.

Artificial respiration and the use of a rususcitator by the Little Rock fire department revived the girl.

Gambler Subpoenaed to Tax Evasion Trial

NEW YORK (INS) — Gambler Frank Erickson was subpoenaed for questioning today in the income tax evasion trial of former Internal Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan Jr.

Erickson, according to federal officials, was to be questioned "privately." It was indicated he may be placed on the witness stand if his questioning warrants the move.

Nunan is accused of dodging payment of $91,086 on his own income tax for the years 1946 through 1950. Nunan is being tried in Brooklyn Federal Court.

Love for Others Was Key to Ernie Pyle's Greatness

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

"Sometimes a person says the silliest things without being able to account for them," wrote war correspondent Ernie Pyle 10 years ago, and then in the simple, unpretentious way that made him beloved by millions of Americans, he went on to tell of a move at night in the Italian campaign.

He was in a jeep, perched atop a lot of bedrolls, and the going was as precarious as the night was black. The jeep crept along in low gear, but it kept going off the road, hitting trees, diving into ditches.

"It was one of those sudden nose dives," Ernie wrote, "that undid me. Suddenly the front end of the jeep dropped about three feet and everything stopped right there. That is, everything but me.

"I went sailing right over the driver's shoulder, hit the steering wheel, and slid out onto the hood. And as I flew past the driver, I said, 'excuse me'."

Since last week's ceremonies for the 10th anniversary of D Day, I've been re-reading his book, "Brave Men," his last, I think, which came out a few months before enemy gunfire killed him at Ie Shima, west of Okinawa.

And though Ernie told the story as an example of silly things, it didn't hit my funny bone at all, but caught at my throat instead.

For I think it revealed not just automatic "manners" but an instinct in him too few gifted people have—or too few any kind of people.

It's hard to put a single name to it. Courtesy, kindness, gentleness are all in it, a lack of "side" and a lack of self-love.

How many people do you know who would have said that "excuse me" at such a time? They also may have been startled into some unexpected, uncalled-for phrase, but only someone as deeply aware of the other fellow as Ernie Pyle always was, would have said exactly that.

Somebody with hidden rages and angers running close to the surface would have cursed; anybody vain would have felt ridiculous; many of us would have blamed somebody, and most of us would have been too terrified to speak at all. Ernie said "excuse me," and couldn't account for it.

During the war, over 12,500,000 Americans read his dispatches six days a week, and I think the big reason they did was because they could feel his love for their sons in the foxholes and in the boats, in the briefing rooms and on the beaches.

Even the distance of 10 years doesn't dull these pages of his dispatches, nor cool down that love. And in this time of reliving and remembering D Day, it seems like a different kind of monument.

If you have one of his books at home, take it out and open it at random. If you're too young to have read him during the war, stop in at the library and get one out on your card.

It won't be just a "war book" you're reading, though it will also remind you, or teach you, of the decency and courage that was—and is—so widespread among millions and millions of Americans.

And which we tend to forget is there in ordinary times with all their small nagging pressures and chivvyings.

It will also be a timeless essay, told in small anecdotes and incidents, about a changeless truth which runs through time of peace and time of war.

It was a truth as instinctive with Ernie Pyle as his "silly" phrase—that great men are never those who hate and destroy. But only those who understand and love.

Michigan's 2,242 miles of shoreline, excluding islands, equals the length of the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Florida and is the longest of any of the 47 other states.

Actor Sticks to His Original Guns Despite Being Proved in the Wrong

By BILLY ROSE

Martin Johnson, the explorer, once said that the ring-tailed baboon is the craziest critter on God's green footstool. Could be. I've never had any dealings with a ring-tailed baboon.

It's my hunch, however, that Brother Johnson never had any dealings with a Broadway actor.

Recently Alex Gottlieb, my sister's husband, sent me his new play, "Melinda," which is going to be produced this fall by I. B. Joselow, and asked me to take a look at a leading man who was being considered.

BILLY ROSE

The following afternoon I found myself chatting with an actor I'll call Vernon Trent—a personable young fellow with an African daisy in his buttonhole.

"I'm not doing the hiring," I explained, "but in case my brother-in-law and Mr. Joselow think you're right for the part, what kind of money would you want?"

"Two thousand a week," said Trent.

"What makes you think you're worth that much?"

"My name on a marquee will sell a lot of tickets," said the actor.

"I get it," I said. "You're asking two thousand because you believe you're well known to the public."

"It isn't a belief," said Trent. "It's a fact."

"Come on," I said, reaching for my hat. "We're going to take a little walk . . ."

From the Ziegfeld theater we strolled up Sixth avenue to 59th street, then over to Broadway and on up as far as the Hotel Alamac. As we walked along, I stopped everybody who looked as if he could afford the price of a theater ticket.

"Pardon me," I kept saying, "but to settle a bet, do you know who this gentleman is?"

"Never saw him before," said one person.

"I got my own troubles," said another.

"He's too tall to be Roy Cohn," said a third.

By the time we got to 71st street, I had buttonholed about 50 people, and not one of them had recognized Vernon Trent.

The actor's face had dropped down to his gaiters, and even his African daisy looked a little peaked.

When we got back to my office, I fixed him a highball.

"That was a dirty trick I played on you," I said. "Actually, the same thing would have happened with a hundred other guys who think they're known to the public. The fact is that actors, like ax-murderers, are forgotten as soon as their names drop out of the papers."

"You mean people wouldn't recognize Jimmy Durante?" said Trent.

"They'd recognize Jimmy, all right," I said, "but it's only because they've been looking at him for 30 years—in night clubs, theaters, movies, and now on television. For the same reason they'd recognize a couple of dozen others like Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Jack Benny and Fred Allen."

"Are you trying to say," said the actor, "that the public doesn't know the people in the legitimate theater?"

"Precisely that," I said. "With the exception, of course, of certain long-time stars like Helen Hayes, Katharine Cornell and the Lunts."

"You're a great little builder-upper," said Vernon Trent.

A magazine—"The Listener"—was on my desk. I picked it up and opened it.

"Fasten your seat-belt," I said. "A British research outfit called 'Mass Observation' recently picked a thousand Englishmen at random and asked them to identify several names which had been on the front pages for weeks.

"Better than half of them though Dr. Kinsey was a member of Parliament, a BBC gardening expert, or the author of "The Water Babies."

"About the same percentage had never heard of Sen. McCarthy and only a third knew he was anti-Communist. Joe was tabbed as all sorts of things—a boxer, an airplane designer, a cello player."

"Proving what?" said the actor.

"Proving that if the British, who are supposed to be better informed than we are, can't identify Kinsey and McCarthy, an actor shouldn't be depressed if he isn't recognized on Broadway."

"Glad you see it that way," I said. "Now, let's get back to my brother-in-law's play. How much will you work for?"

The actor looked surprised. "I told you before," he said. "Two thousand dollars a week."

Construction Output to Hit All-Time High

WASHINGTON, (UP)—A government report, based upon a new look at the thriving construction industry, predicted today that spending for new construction would set an all-time record of 36¼ billion dollars, the peak year so far.

The new prediction, after five months of record-setting construction activity in this year, reversed the earlier forecast made by the Commerce and Labor departments.

Last November the two government units estimated construction this year would fall about 2 per cent under the 1953 record level. The dollar total predicted last November for 1954 was 34 billion dollars. 2 billion under the new forecast.

The more optimistic outlook, the report said, was based mainly on the high level of new home building so far this year. However, most other major categories of construction, with the exception of federally financed building, also showed predicted gains over 1953.

Grocers Warned of Need to Curb 'Big Government'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The president of the National Assn. of Retail Grocers today pictured the federal government as "a big brother whom you love and respect but who sometimes gets too big for his britches."

Vincent L. Browner of Des Moines, Iowa, said that, for example, the government runs 162 ice cream plants.

In reporting to the group's 55th convention, Browner said he views "big government" as a greater threat than the hydrogen bomb. But he added:

". . . Now is not the time to go all out in our efforts to cut government down to its proper size." He said consideration of "measures, including premature tax cuts, that will interfere with the efficiency and effectiveness of our common defense" should be deferred.

"But we must seek prudently," he said, "for other reasonable economies and opportunities to start cutting off some of these grasping, socialistic tentacles of federal government."

Ike's Assistant Hits 'Limelight Seekers'

LEWISTON, Maine (UP)—President Eisenhower's chief assistant spoke out yesterday against "limelight seekers" who use their own means "however fair or foul" to gain their ends.

Without saying to whom he referred, Sherman Adams told the Bates graduating class at the college's 88th commencement:

"You will be aware of those who claim to have a monopoly upon wisdom of whatever political vintage. In all our history there has been no greater combination of insolence and iniquity than the sanctimony of that group who assumed the role of sole judge of how to right a wrong or assumed the holy right to use its own means, however fair or foul, to gain its ends."

Solon Says Russia Can Imagine H-Blast

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy, says he doesn't think Russian leaders have to witness an American hydrogen blast to appreciate the force of the H-bomb.

"All you need is imagination," he said yesterday in a CBS television interview.

Thomas E. Murray, one of the five members of the Atomic Energy Commission, suggested last week that an H-bomb demonstration for representatives of all nations, including Russia, would lead to rejection of war and nuclear weapons.

Cole said he couldn't see that Murray's proposal "has any great value."

James Doolittle was the first man to fly across the American continent in one day.

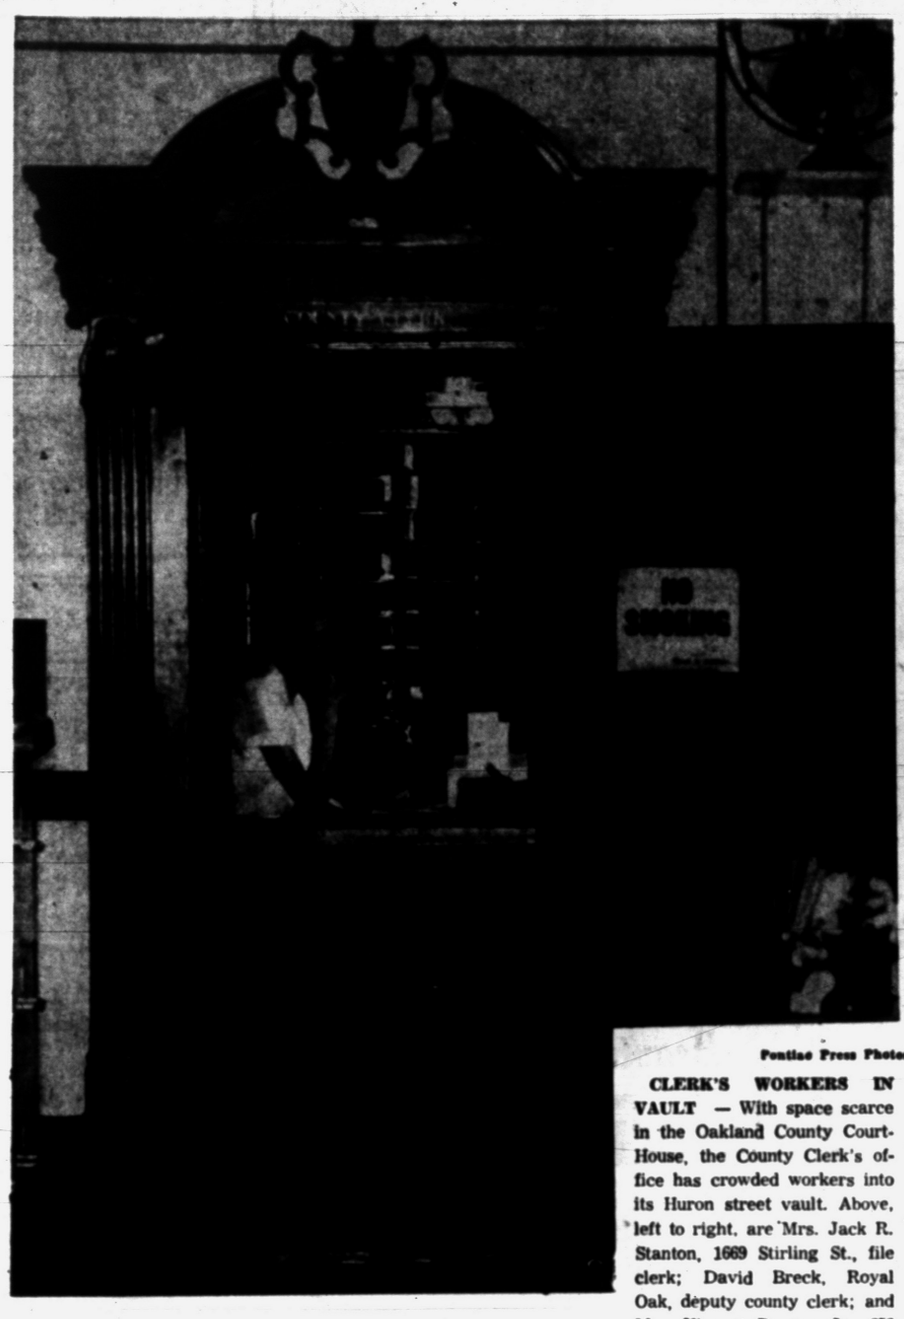
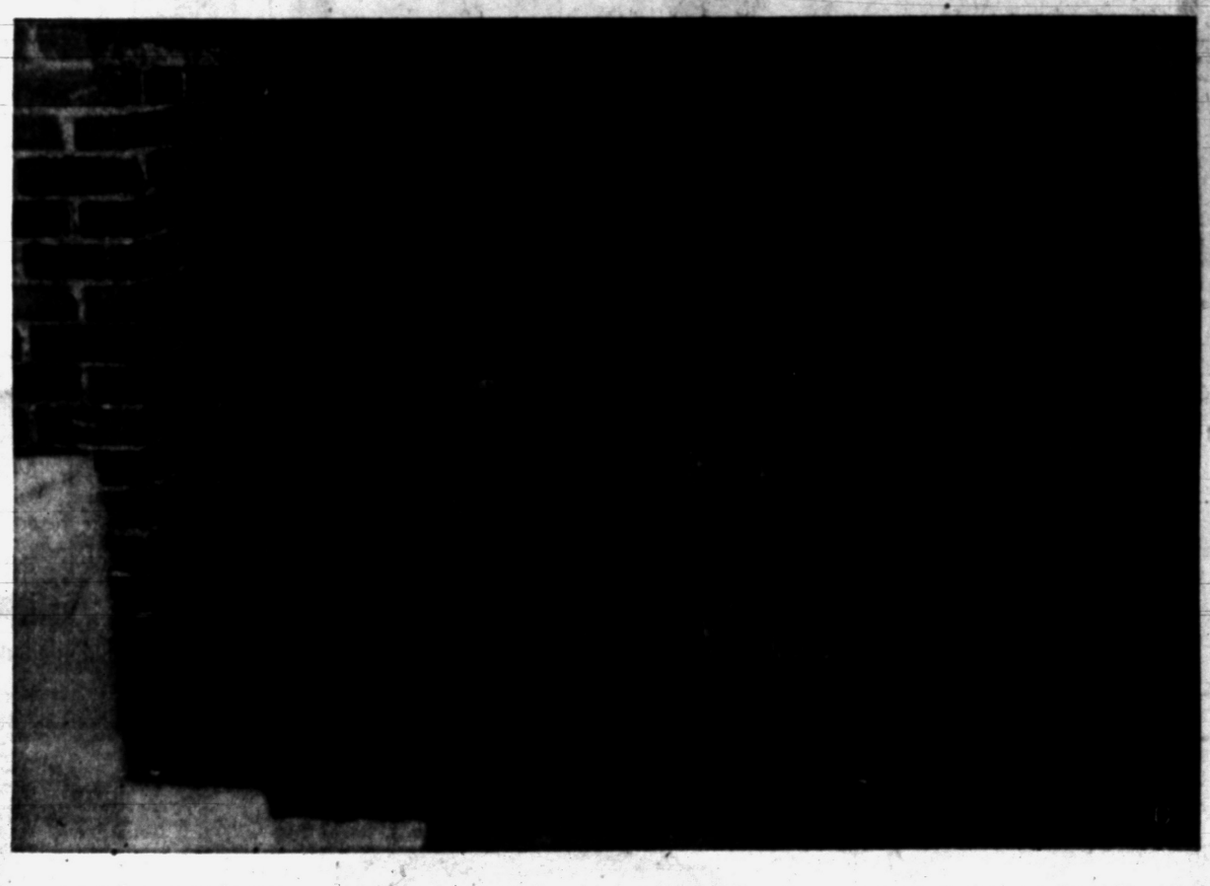
Crowded Conditions Prevail at County Court House



Pontiac Press Photos

CLERK'S WORKERS IN VAULT — With space scarce in the Oakland County Court-House, the County Clerk's office has crowded workers into its Huron street vault. Above, left to right, are Mrs. Jack R. Stanton, 1669 Stirling St., file clerk; David Breck, Royal Oak, deputy county clerk; and Mrs. Vincent Dennen Jr., 252 Voorheis Rd., file clerk. Breck does not regularly work in the vault, but another employe does. The office, headed by Lynn D. Allen, county clerk, now occupies space on both sides of the courthouse's main floor. Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore said last week that mushrooming stacks of files, records and documents will "crowd us right out of the courthouse within a year."

FILES IN ATTIC — Some of Oakland County's oldest files have been piled in the county courthouse attic to make room for newer records in downstairs vaults. The papers, boxes, and 50-year-old electric wires in the wooden attic caused the Oakland County Supervisors' Buildings and Grounds Committee some worry as to the danger of fire. Worker after worker told of crowded conditions during the committee's inspection of the courthouse at Huron and Saginaw Sts. last week.



ONLY ROUTE TO ATTIC — Archie Meyers of Metamora, member of the Oakland County Courthouse maintenance staff, shows the only stairway to the courthouse attic—a set of narrow, winding wooden steps opening out of a storage closet. The only other attic openings are two round windows about 1½ feet in diameter.

Conformity Is Threat of Present Day Adlai Stevenson Tells Vassar Graduates

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson said in a commencement address today that the "corruption of conformity" is one of the "hazards of growing up in this turbulent century."

He said in an address prepared for the 269 members of the Vassar College graduating class that this hazard "is a more certain threat to the validity of your education and to your immortal soul than the blandishments of the flesh and the devil."

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate spoke of "the strange things that have been going on in our country," and said:

* * *

"The Oppenheimer case even suggests a weird new science of 'security' which would deny us the security of science."

* * *

Stevenson's reference was to the barring of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, famed atomic physicist, from the nation's secret atomic files. A three-member special Atomic Energy Commission security board recently unanimously found Oppenheimer to be a loyal citizen but decided, 2-to-1, that he is not a good security risk and recommended that he continue to be barred from using secret government files for nuclear research.

Stevenson told the members of the girls school that women frequently exhibit a moral toughness and resistance to conformity which embarrasses the so-called stronger sex.

* * *

Urging the graduates to do their own thinking and to reach their own conclusions, and then stand by them, Stevenson called fear "the miasma of the soul." He added that "corruption is complete when expediency and fear, rather than conscience and courage, dictate our course."

Stevenson told the graduates to "align yourselves with the forces of courage—of nonconformity—on the side of the Hebrew prophets and the Christian martyrs who gave us our spiritual heritage, the side of Roger Williams who defended our rights to the freedom of conscience, the side of Jeffersons and Franklins who wrote into the declaration of Independence and the Constitution our cherished guarantees of individual liberty."

Dr. Savage Warns Grads of Need for Spiritual Fiber

By GOLDIE STAMAS

"Observe the symptoms and treat the cause." Dr. H. H. Savage warned graduating seniors at Pontiac High School's Baccalaureate services Sunday night.

Dr. Savage, pastor of the First Baptist Church and main speaker at the services, addressed about 1,000 graduates, relatives and their friends.

His topic, "Is There an Answer," dealt with problems of juvenile delinquency. He stated that although education is of the utmost importance to the individual, he must also possess a spiritual fiber to help him combat life's problems.

Youth of today, he continued, may be offered the most modern up-to-date schooling system and a comprehensive plan for recreation, but if the religious element in his existence is lacking, the roads of evil may easily prove tempting.

The ceremony opened with an organ recital played by Robert Stasiuk, consisting of "Risoluto," by Horatio Parker and the "Andante Cantibile," by Tschaikowsky

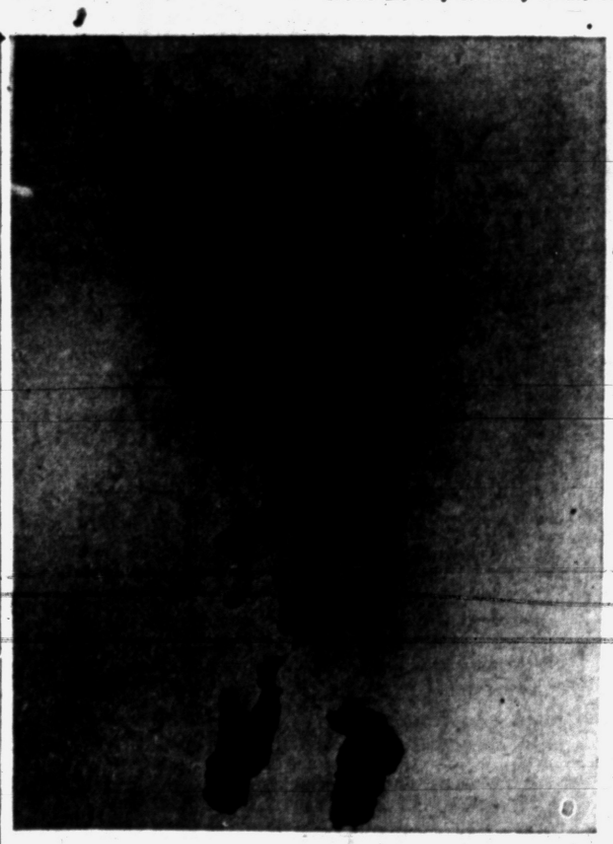
The invocation was offered by Dr. Savage and the audience sang the hymn "Faith of Our Fathers."

Dr. Marbach offered a prayer followed by the anthem "Lord to Thee Our Hearts are Raised."

Dr. Savage then delivered the main address.

"My Faith Looks Up To Thee," as sung by the audience was followed by the benediction given by Dr. Savage.

The Recessional "March in F" by Steane and the Postlude "Grand Triumphal Chorus in A Major," by Guilmont closed the services.



COURTHOUSE WALL — Peeling paint and plaster on a corridor wall greet visitors entering the Oakland County Courthouse from Huron street. Courthouse officials say moisture from water pipes caused the cracks and the only remedy would be to tear out the wall and insulate the pipes.

TIGHT SQUEEZE — Mrs. Darline Lucas of Rochester, deputy Oakland County clerk, finds filing a bit awkward in a crowded vault shared by the County Clerk's Office and Probate Court. Vaults in the courthouse are jammed almost solid with records.

Hippo's Name Changed to Reginald After Birth

WHIPSNADE, England (AP)—Zoo officials say they have decided to call a recently born hippopotamus Reginald instead of, as originally planned Regina. The change became necessary when the hippo's keeper discovered his charge was male. Selection of a name produced a spirited controversy in the letters column of the London Times.

McCarthy Eyes Hearing Report

Disputes Mundt Hope That Findings Can Be Compiled Just Once

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) says he doesn't see how only a single report can come from the subcommittee conducting the hearing into his hassle with the Army.

"Every vote on every important question that has arisen so far has been along party lines and I expect that formula will hold when the final report is made," he told a newsman after his talk here to some 1,700 veterans yesterday.

His comment came after he was shown newspaper stories quoting Sen. Mundt (R-SD), subcommittee chairman, that he hoped findings could be embraced in one report.

* * *

McCarthy told the annual convention of the South Dakota American Legion to ask every candidate running this fall, either Republican or Democrat, "if he's going to Washington and work to stop the indecent blood trade between American allies and the enemy."

"The head of the foreign aid division came home recently and said we have won a great victory," McCarthy said. "We were told that we are going to continue to give U. S. dollars to allies, and in return allow these allies to ship industrial goods to the enemy. . . .

"In other words, they are going to take your dollars and ship the sinews of strength to the enemy, dollars that are directly fashioning bullets which may well cause death for some of the young men in this audience."

Although he did not mention him by name, it was an obvious reference to Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration, the subject of other recent criticism by McCarthy.

McCarthy's off-the-cuff speech here came after he told the Wisconsin Republican convention in Milwaukee Saturday that President Eisenhower would have his support if the general were running for office today.

British Documents Stolen; Recovered

LONDON (INS) — A foreign office spokesman said today that four sealed bags containing British diplomatic documents were stolen yesterday and later recovered from the Regent Canal in North London.

He said no secret or confidential matter was involved in the theft for which three men were arrested.

A truck driver who picked up the bags at the airport for delivery at the foreign office stopped at his home for a cup of tea, and his truck was stolen.

The foreign office spokesman explained that secret and confidential documents were carried by Queen's messengers in diplomatic bags while other documents such as those stolen were sent by air to London in sealed bags.

Psychiatric Tests Set for Youth of 11

CHICAGO (AP) — Psychiatric tests were scheduled today for a whisky-drinking, cigarette-smoking 11-year-old boy after an inquest into deaths of seven persons in a tenement fire started by a discarded match.

Nine other persons were injured in the fire Friday night.

Marion Gregory, who first told police two men wearing baseball caps set the fire with gasoline in a stairwell rubbish heap, demonstrated Saturday to police how a match he flipped into the stairwell after lighting the cigarette started the blaze.

The boy's father Lewis was locked up after telling his son, "Tell them nothing." Police investigators quoted the father as saying he allowed Marion to drink whisky and bought the child cigarettes.

Won't Pay Off Counterfeit Chips for 3 Gamblers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The idea was a gamble, and when the chips were down it failed — because the chips were phony.

Police arrested three men on grand theft charges and confiscated bogus Las Vegas, Nev., poker chips, along with the equipment which made them.

Detectives said $2,500 of the spurious chips already have been cashed at Las Vegas in a trial run, and added that another batch worth $160,000 was in the making in a Burbank garage.

Bona fide chips issued by Las Vegas gambling houses are negotiable throughout that city.

Arrested Saturday night were James F. (Jimmy) Woods, 30; Cleo (Tex) Cantrell, 37, and Douglas R. Anderson, 24.

State High Court Has Indian Case

California Body Weighs Matter of Jurisdiction Over Aboriginals

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A legal maneuver that conceivably could result in re-examination of the cases of thousands of Indians serving time in state prisons throughout the country is being considered by California's supreme court.

The test case arose from an appeal by Rayna Tom Carmen, 44, a Mono Indian under death sentence at San Quentin for the 1950 slaying of Wilbur Dan McSwain, 16, in Madera County.

Carmen claimed his sentence was illegal because he was convicted in state courts for a crime committed on territory allotted by the federal government. He said the case should have been tried in a federal court.

Another Indian, Edison James of the Pit River Tribe in Modoc County who is in San Quentin for the fatal shooting of Roy McClelland in May, 1951, followed Carmen's lead by asking the state district court of appeal to reverse his conviction on the same grounds.

The Fedral Bureau of Indian Affairs agreed with Carmen and James, and the state supreme court ruled in their favor. But the attorney general's office opposed the court's ruling and insisted California should have jurisdiction over all crimes in the state.

Attorney General Edmund G. Brown asked tte state court for a re-hearing. Arguments have been completed and the court is expected to make its final ruling within the next two months.

If the supreme court reaffirms its original ruling, the 105 Indians currently serving time in California prisons automatically would be entitled to apply for their release and new trials in federal courts. Presumably, Indians convicted under similar circumstances in other states would become eligible for the same privilege.

The attorney general said that if the state court overrules his office, he will "fight it all the way to the U. S. supreme court and back to the federal district court."

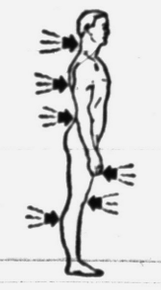
ALFALFA FOR ARTHRITIS!

ALPHA TABLETS

. . . A remarkable compound of non-habit-forming pain-relieving agents with vitamins, proteins, and mineral rich alfalfa. Alfalfa, recognized for 200 years as a vital source of Amino acids, has never before been used extensively for humans.

WHY ALFALFA

. . . Its Amino acids provide an essential source of proteins and vitamins. Much research has been directed to the uses and values of Amino acids, and recent publications have referred to the possible life extension and healing powers they contain. Proteins are found in Amino acids; nitrogen is also present. Alfalfa takes nitrogen from the air and stores it—a chemical process scientists have tried to imitate for years. Nitrogen in Amino acids is the essence of vitamins. Alfalfa is used in ALPHA TABLETS for its proteins and vitamins.



BENEFITS to HUMANS

. . . Until recently, alfalfa was not palatable to humans. Now it is concentrated by squeezing out pure water only; all the vitamins, minerals, proteins, and Amino acids remain 100% intact. Ground up, the alfalfa is weighed accurately in just the right amounts to be compounded into palatable ALPHA TABLETS, so easy to take into the system.

NO STOMACH UPSET OR GASTRIC ACIDITY

. . . ALPHA TABLETS combine alfalfa with acetylsalicylic acid, long recognized as a pain-relieving agent. To these is added a catalytic agent, calcium malate, which prevents stomach upset or gastric acidity. These three ingredients provide a workable formula for relief from the pains associated with arthritis and rheumatism.

RHEUMATISM

. . . Pains give way to ALPHA TABLETS because of the presence of non-habit-forming drugs with mineral-rich vitamins and alfalfa.

NEURITIS

. . . Pains are alleviated by ALPHA TABLETS. Use ALPHA TABLETS as directed for thirty days, and their cumulative effects will make you feel better than you have felt in years.

HERE'S PROOF---

Read One of Many

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS

Dear Sir—

During the month of November, 1953, I read your advertisement and became acquainted with Alpha Tablets. I am giving all the praise to the Wolverine Laboratories and Alpha Tablets for the relief of my aching limbs.

I was so miserable while taking other medicines for years to get relief from Chronic Arthritis. None gave me the relief which I received from Alpha Tablets. In one week I felt so much better that, today, I would not be without them. Now I tell my friends about it. My boss who had had a bad fall and injured her back and was unable to straighten up because of the pain found instant relief also through Alpha Tablets. I am a firm booster of Alpha Tablets.

Sincerely,

(Signed)

Guatemala-Bound Shells Held Up at U. S. Request

BONN, Germany (AP)—Six tons of Swiss antiaircraft ammunition being shipped to Guatemala has been held up in Hamburg, the U. S. High Commission announced here today.

The 20 mm antiaircraft shells were to have been sent to Guatemala in a German ship, but the West German government intervened at the request of the U. S. High Commission and the shipment was detained in Hamburg, an American official said.

Crowds in Jordan Shout Against U. S.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Street crowds demonstrated in Amman yesterday against the United States, Britain and the Jordan government.

The demonstrations broke out shortly after the arrival of Saudi Arabia's King Saud, who came here by plane for military talks with King Hussein and other Jordan leaders.

The crowds shouted: "Down with Zionist America, down with Britain, down with colonialization and down with corrupt government."

The crowd denounced Premier Tewfik Pasha Abul Huda and his Cabinet as well as the British advisers of Jordan's Arab Legion.

Chicago Stable Burns, 59 Horses Die in Fire

CHICAGO (INS) — A flash fire destroyed 59 riding horses and caused an estimated $100,000 in damage to the New Park Way riding stables in Chicago Sunday night.

Another 46 horses, among them valuable animals boarded at the stable by socially-prominent families on Chicago's nearby Gold Coast, were led to safety.

Allied Artists Will Do Story of Annapolis

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Recently I told you that John Huston, William Wyler and Billy Wilder were all going to make pictures for Allied Artists. This week I can tell you about another big coup for this studio.

"The Annapolis Story," with background shots of the summer cruise of the Naval Academy and the picturesque commencement exercises, will be made with Walter Mirisch as executive producer. But, let me tell you something else—Debra Paget has been borrowed from 20th Century-Fox and John Derek has been borrowed from Paramount for the top leads.

The location shots were made last year and held for just such a picture as this. Producer Mirisch says this is one of Allied's most important pictures.

If Marilyn Monroe can persuade Joe DiMaggio to appear in one scene with her in "Woman's World," it will make 20th very happy.

Director Jean Negulesco wants Marilyn in just one shot — a movie star emerging from a night club. There's no dialogue and perhaps Joe will do it, but he's usually pretty shy.

There will be very little rest for Marilyn, who goes into "Seven Year Itch" almost as soon as she finishes "No Business Like Show Business." Tom Ewell, who created the top male role, will be signed by Charles Feldman to co-star with her.

* * *

The best gift her studio could possibly give Suzan Ball before she starts work on "Chief Crazy Horse" is this:

Her former nurse, Kay Biddle, who was with Suzie before the amputation of her leg, has been signed by Universal - International to be with Suzan on the picture.

On Wednesday, the company takes off for North Dakota for the location shots and it will give Suzan such a feeling of confidence to know that the woman who has been through so much with her and was the matron of honor at her wedding, will be by her side.

Paris chatter: Grace Kelly is entertaining Oleg Cassini in Paris. He arrived there last Saturday, according to a letter I received, and has been spending all his time with the glamorous and popular Miss Kelly, who always has some male devoted to her while she is making a picture.

A few nights ago, Grace and Oleg were at a supper dance given by Jacques Fath, famous couturier, and his wife at their villa, in honor of Earl Blackwell. Other guests were Cary Grant and Betsy Drake, Gloria and Jimmy Stewart, Rock Hudson, Maurice Chevalier, Alfred Hitchcock and Ernest Hemingway. Rock left the party to catch a plane for Dublin to start "Captain Lightfoot."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The Ray Millands have returned home after a six weeks vacation in Europe.

Jean Peters will be back after a month's leave of absence. She is honeymooning with her bridegroom, Stuart Cramer, at his parent's home in North Carolina.

A manuscript of Aga Khan's biography is going the rounds of the studios as a possible screenplay. Somerset Maugham has written the foreword.

Margaret O'Brien's mother says that O'Sullivan, O'Brien and O'Brien are filming "That Daughter of Mine" for the Ford TV theater. Said Mrs. O'Brien, "That's my Maggie, Pat O'Brien and Maureen O'Sullivan — a real Irish cast."

METALLIC — This evening hairdo called "aluminum tulips," features coiffure and flower piece treated with phosphorescent substance for glistening metallic effect.

Film Stunt Man Swims 10 Miles to Summon Help

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A Hollywood stunt man swam 10 gruelling miles through the choppy Catalina Channel to get help for two friends after their boat sank, but an air and sea search failed to find them.

Paul Stader, 43, a former lifeguard now working in the movies, said the 18-foot power boat, Tinker Toy IV, went down Saturday afternoon. Aboard with him were Hugo Walters, 31, also a stunt man, and Don McGuire, both of the Los Angeles area.

Stader said the first hint of trouble came when the boat's engine wouldn't accelerate.

* * *

Since there were no lifebelts aboard, Stader said, "I tied five of the floating cushions together for Walters. He was a good swimmer but he had a sprained ankle. We fixed up another cushion and seatback for McGuire and I took a seatback."

The three first tried to remain together but they finally decided that Stader, the best swimmer, should strike out alone.

The point where he touched was a rocky cliff about eight miles from the Emerald Bay settlement on Santa Catalina Island.

Search by a Coast Guard plane and two cutters found only a pair of water skis and a cushion from the boat.

Police Report to Police

MENDON, Mass. (AP)—Police reported a break-in during the weekend.

The scene was police headquarters. Missing are a revolver, handcuffs and two holsters.

Prophetic Policeman

MACON, GA. (UP)—A policeman figured that a lumber truck parked on a downtown street here was creating a hazard—so he left a ticket on the windshield. About 20 minutes later another truck sideswiped the lumber truck.

Golf Course Architect Picks Snead, Hogan

EVERYONE GETS INTO ACT — Irv. Noren, Yankees' right fielder, can't quite reach home run (arrow) from bat of Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox in the 2nd inning of the 2nd game in Sunday's double header at Yankee Stadium, but he has plenty of help from would-be outfielders in the bleachers. Chisox won the nightcap, 8-0, after the Yanks took the opener, 4-2.

Steady-Going Cooper Victor in 'Beach' Test

Pete's 1st 1954 Win Pattern of Consistent Playing

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—The golf stars along the big-time tournament trail were calling Pete Cooper "Mr Consistency" today as they turned their attention to this week's National Open at Baltusrol in Springfield, N.J.

* * *

Cooper, a likable 39-year-old mild-mannered veteran of golf, scored his first victory of the year in a Professional Golfers Assn. tournament here yesterday when he won the $15,000 Virginia Beach Open.

* * *

He picked up top money of $2,400 with his consistency. He was the only player in the 72-hole scramble over the par-69, 6,065-yard Cavalier Yacht and Country Club layout who fired four sub-par rounds. He shot 67-64-64-68 for a 13-under par 263.

Cooper, who left immediately for Baltusrol to see if his consistency would continue, figures he was "a little lucky" in beating out Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., and Doug Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

Bolt, who had the championship in the palm of his hand until the pressure got the best of him on the final hole, took second and $1,800 with a 264. Ford, defending champion, was third with 265 and pocketed $1,400.

* * *

Bolt entered the final round tied with Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., and lost out when he lifted his tee shot from the 200-yard 18th hole into the waters of Linkhorn Bay, which flanks the 18th green.

* * *

Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Freddie Haas Jr. of New Orleans posted four-round totals of 266 for a fourth-place tie. Mayfield, George Fazio of Clementon, N. J., and Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kan., all finished with 269 for a sixth-place deadlock.

Movie Proceeds May Enrich Rocky, Ezzard

NEW YORK (AP)—If Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles stage a sensational fight at Yankee Stadium Thursday night in their heavyweight title match, the movies alone could be worth an extra $300,000.

Because there will be no home television, the movies increase in value. The fact that some 200,000 will see the show on theater TV in 61 theaters in 45 cities wouldn't make too much difference.

* * *

More people will see the ordinary routine bouts on the week's television boxing calendar than will watch the heavyweight title match.

The TV schedule includes the usual double Monday show, the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night matches.

Twenty-four hours after the big fight at Yankee Stadium, the International Boxing Club will show Orlando Zulueta of Havana and Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., in a lightweight 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden to fulfill the TV (NBC) contract.

* * *

* * *

* * *

Del Flanagan of St.Paul takes on Allie Gronik of Detroit Wednesday in the Detroit Olympia (CBS-TV) in a match that could endanger Flanagan's lofty No. 2 ranking among the welter contenders.

* * *

Joe Miceli, held to a draw by Al Andrews in his last out, May 29, is back on the Saturday night series (ABC-TV) again with Pat Lowry of Toledo at the Toledo Sports Arena.

Jones Rates 2 Top Stars 'Dead Heat' in Open

Mangrum, Locke Called Threats, Middlecoff's Temperament Wrong

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Robert T. Jones, the golf course maker and not the onetime course wrecker, today called the 54th National Open championship at Baltusrol this week a "dead heat between Ben Hogan and Sam Snead."

* * *

"Snead can win it by four strokes if he can maintain his present attitude and put a bridle on his putter," added the energetic little fairway architect who has made a career of putting fangs in modern courses.

"Bobby Locke will be very tough if he's not so fat he can't pivot.

"You have to consider Lloyd Mangrum a threat. I don't think Cary Middlecoff will have a chance—his temperament is not good for this course.

* * *

"One of the younger fellows, Al Mengert, Bob Toski or Gardner Dickinson, may get in the first four or five, but I don't consider it a dark horse tournament."

This analysis was made by Robert Trent Jones, the internationally famous links architect whose hand has been seen in such courses as the Augusta National at Augusta, Ga., Oakland Hills in Detroit and numerous others. He's no kin to Robert Tyre Jones Jr., the grand slammer.

Trent Jones likes to fit golf courses to the men who play it and just before the 1951 Open at Oakland Hills, where he had the players crying openly, he predicted this finish: Hogan, Locke, Mangrum. The finish was: Hogan, Clayton Heafner, Locke, Mangrum.

"I disagree with both Hogan, who says this course is very easy, and Snead, who calls it hard and forecasts a winning score of 290." Jones said. "If Baltusrol is kept at its full strength—7,027 yards—I look for a winning score of 283 to 285."

* * *

He said Snead, with his tremendous power, should revel in the course's length while Hogan, with his "slide rule mind," should profit from his ability to place his drives.

Shoots Blazing 64

Hogan Sees 20 Entries Left for Open Finals

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. June 14 (AP)—Ben Hogan tuned up again on Baltusrol's lower course Sunday after shooting a blazing 69 Saturday and once more predicted at least 20 contenders still will be in the running at the start of the final round of the U. S. Open golf championship.

Hogan opens defense of his title Thursday.

* * *

The little Texan practiced various shots without keeping any score and afterward said he still thinks the course will be easy for a lot of players.

* * *

A number of other top players were out on the course today but not many kept score. They are content just to try out different shots on the narrow fairways and out of the tough rough.

On the course were amateur Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., who threw a scare into the pros at the Masters tournament; Gene Littler, 1953 Amateur champion, since turned pro; Sam Urzetta, ex-Amateur titleholder from Rochester, N. Y., and Jimmy Demaret. Sammy Snead, generally picked as the No. 1 man to beat Hogan, didn't appear and neither, did a number of pros who defeated the Canadians for the Hopkins Trophy at Toronto yesterday.

* * *

Hogan came up with his sub-par score Saturday while shooting his round in the National Golf Day competition. He played part of the holes from the regular tees and others from the longer tees which will be used in the Open. Par for the regular layout is 72. For the Open it'll be 70.

Ben was under par on six of the first seven holes as he went out in 30 and he had three more birdies coming home.

Disasterous Road Trip

Twin Loss to A's Leaves Tigers Only 4½ Games Up on Cellar-Dwelling Bosox

DETROIT (AP) — The slumping Detroit Tigers, once riding the crest of the American League, are now much, much closer to the bottom of the pile.

A disastrous road trip on which they dropped 16 of 22 games, including Sunday's doubleheader loss to Philadelphia, saw the slipping Tigers still clinging grimly to 4th place. But they are now 12 games off the pace of front-running Cleveland and only 4½ games ahead of last-place Boston.

The Tigers had a day off today before meeting the Red Sox in a night game Tuesday. And they could well use the rest after the thumping handed out by the eastern teams.

The Athletics completed their whipping of the Bengals by winning both ends of a Sunday twin bill, 4-3 and 6-3. The pair of losses sent the Tigers home with a record of 4 straight defeats and their 10th setback in the last 12 games.

The Tigers were leading 3-2 in the 9th inning of the 1st game when a piece of strategy went awry. Billy Hoeft was ordered to intentionally pass pinch-hitter Gus Zernial. Zernial was replaced by Bobby Shantz. Hoeft then walked Spook Jacobs.

Pinch-hitter Vic Power slammed a single into centerfield. Shantz raced across with the tying run and when Bill Tuttle bobbled the ball trying for a shoe string catch, Jacobs came and scored the winning run.

A two-run homer in the 6th by Walt Dropo, his 3rd of the year, and Ray Boone's bloop double in the 8th followed later by Harvey Kuenn's single had put the Tigers ahead going into the finale.

Boone's 12th home run of the year got George Zuverink off to a two-run lead in the nightcap. But the A's promptly got those two runs and one extra back in their half of the first when Elmer Valo triped with the bases loaded.

Valo also singled Don Bollweg home in the 3rd. Detroit got one of those runs back in the 4th when Tuttle hit his second home run of the year.

Athletics scored one more in the 5th, and Bollweg put them safely in front with a bases-empty homer in the 7th.

Injuries Are Dogging Tribe 2nd-Basemen

BOSTON (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians are having trouble keeping a second baseman in playing condition.

First it was Bobby Avila, leading the league with a .381 batting mark, who was sidelined by a broken thumb.

Then, yesterday, replacement Sam Dente collided with teammate Dave Philley as they chased Jackie Jensen's pop fly in short right field in the first game of a Boston-Cleveland doubeheader.

Dente suffered a two-inch cut on his left ankle from Philley's spikes and nine stitches were required to close the gash. Dente is expected to be out of action 10 days.

Braves' Hurler Fires No-Hit, No-Run Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Wilson did it the hard way in earning an assignment as a starting pitcher for the Milwaukee Braves.

A forgotten man here who nobody wanted two weeks ago at the waiver price of $10,000, Wilson became Milwaukee's newest idol by tossing a no-hit-no-run 2-0 triumph Saturday over Philadelphia. His feat capped a career dotted with bad breaks.

"If I didn't give him a starting spot they'd have me up in the front office as vice president instead of letting me run the ball club," manager Charlie Grimm said during the clubhouse celebration.

H. Roy Hamey, general manager of the Phillies, wailed, "and to think we or any of the other 14 big league clubs could have had him for a song a few weeks ago."

Berkley, Reds Share 1st Spot

Both Win 2nd in Row Sunday in Three-Tilt Junior Legion Card

Birmingham's Reds and Berkley shared 1st place in the 18th District American Legion baseball league today after winning their 2nd straight victories Sunday.

Reds defeated the Blues, 2-0, in an all-Birmingham contest, while Berkley downed Waterford, 7-1. Huron Valley Boys Club leveled its record at 1-1 by tripping Clawson, 7-5.

Larry Milford, knocked out of the box in his 1st start Wednesday, came back Sunday to hurl a 3-hit shutout for the Reds. He struck out 13 and walked only 1. Only run needed was scored in the 1st when Bennett Wright walked, stole 2nd, and came in on Bill Wilkinson's double.

Bob Blackwell scattered 6 hits and fanned 11 in posting Berkley's win. Tom Bryce collected half of Waterford's hits on a pair of double and a single.

Huron Valley won a see-saw game from Clawson with three runs each in the 7th and 8th innings. Dan Lancaster homered with two aboard in the 7th and pinch-hitter Frank Shepherd doubled in two markers in the 8th.

3 From MSC Named to All-Big 10 Team

CHICAGO (UP) — Champion Michigan State placed three men on the 1954 all-Big Ten baseball team while Michigan won only one position.

Catcher Tom Yewcic, 1st baseman Charlie Mathews and outfielder Jack Risch represented the Spartans on the all-conference squad. Third baseman Don Eddy, a holdover from the 1953 team, represented the Wolverines.

Rounding out the first team were shortstop Don Waldron and outfielder Ed Lindsay, both of Iowa; outfielder Bobby Robertson, Indiana; 2nd baseman Melvin Gaestel, and pitchers Paul Giel of Minnesota and Paul Ebert of Ohio State.

Schaad, Noble Winners of WLYA's Sunday Tests

This thriller was in the Thistle Class. Among the Lightnings, John Noble was the winner in his Yellow Dragon. He held the lead most of the way. Brown Williams was 2nd in Red Devil.

Pesky Traded to Washington

Tigers Get Hoderlein and Cash for Utility Infielder

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers' front office disclosed yesterday that Johnny Pesky, 34-year-old utility infielder, has been traded to the Washington Senators in exchange for Mel Hoderlein, a 31-year-old utility infielder, and an estimated $20,000.

PESKY

Hoderlein was assigned immediately after the swap to Detroit's Buffalo farm club in the International League.

The trade made room on the Tiger squad for Steve Souchock, who had been sidelined all year with a broken wrist. The wrist is healed and Souchock can give the Tigers some help in bench power.

Ten boats participated in the Pontiac Yacht Club Sunday races at Cass Lake with breezes very light for the competition. First place went to PYC Commodore Al Oberson in Gizmo.

High Gun Wins Belmont Event

King Ranch Colt Shows He Needs Distance to Run Best

NEW YORK (AP)—If it is going to take races in the Chicago area to settle the three-year-old turf championship then High Gun might as well be counted out for the distances of the Arlington Classic and American Derby don't seem great enough for the King Ranch's Belmont Stakes winner.

* * *

High Gun, a son of Heliopolis, entered the title picture Saturday with his neck victory over the front-running Fisherman in the mile and a half of the $125,100 Belmont Stakes. And the Texas-owned colt of Robert J. Kleberg needed all of the Belmont's distance to get up in time for the victory.

* * *

The Belmont's time of 2:30 4-5 was more than two seconds off the record and the slowest since Assault won it in the same time eight years ago.

The King Ranch colt is eligible for the $100,000 added Arlington Classic and the equally endowed American Derby at Washington Park.

How Well Do You Remember Sports Figures?

• New Series of Memory Tests for Fans Will Start June 16

Through the medium of newspaper sports page pictures, the movies, and other publicity material, there is little that hasn't been done to publicize top figures in the sports world, now, and in the past. Many an avid fan will declare that he can remember who was what, and when, in baseball, football, golf, track or other sports.

Just to stir those memories the Pontiac Press sports pages will this summer present a series of little "quizzers," entitled "Remember?"

A photograph, made in the heyday of the athlete selected for fans to identify, will be published on the first sports page, along with a brief clue. In the same issue, the proper identity will be found on the final sports page.

First of the series will be offered Wednesday, June 16.

The series will be entitled "Do You Remember?" It should bring back some interesting memories for Pontiac area sports fans.

Except Hogan, Snead, National Open Is Scramble Among Golfers Who Have Shots to Win Tourney

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—What winning order in the Open should take place at Baltusrol by sundown Saturday? How shoud they finish, if you take a guess this far in advance? It is much simpler to pick a daily double at Belmont or Aqueduct. Toss out Ben Hogan and Sammy Snead in the Open and you have one of the greatest scrambles in sport.

Outside of Hogan and Snead, who have been well in front through the years, (although Snead has never won an Open), the rest of the field reminds you of trying to pick the leading quail from a covey in flight.

Years ago, back in the reign of Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen, three golf immortals, we used to try and pick the 1st ten. We had fair success for we always headed the list with Jones, Hagen and Sarazen with a nod to Long Jim Barnes, Tommy Armour and possibly Bobby Cruickshank.

* * *

While we have no greater golfers today, we have many more of them, many more capable of breaking 70 than we had 20 or 30 years ago.

I think the order of selection would be about as follows — No. 1. Ben Hogan, seeking his 5th crown. No. 2. Sammy Snead, overcoming the 20-year jinx. No. 3. Lloyd Mangrum, who after a heavy slump, came back to win the tough Western Open. No. 4. Pete Thomson, Australian champion. No. 5. Gene Littler, amateur champion and a very fine rookie professional.

* * *

No. 6. Jimmy Demaret, has won three Masters. No. 7. Jack Burke, Jr., who is capable enough to win. No. 8. Fred Haas, a veteran long overdue. No. 9. Ted Kroll, a consistent performer, tournament tough. No. 10. Al Besselink, if he will settle down to hitting a golf ball. More concentration needed for the big job.

Outside of these ten, none of whom may win the U. S. Open, the highest prize in golf, there are a few more who may come to life as Julius Boros did at Dallas in 1952.

Body Blows Decisive in Escobar's Victory

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A barrage of body blows gave Andy Escobar, Hollywood, the opening he needed to beat George Berry, Chicago, in their 10-round main event Saturday at Legion Stadium.

* * *

Escobar, 139, won a unanimous decision. His attack caused Berry to drop his guard, whereupon Escobar paid off with straight lefts and rights to the head. Berry weighed 135.

Ralph H. Young, Michigan State's Director of Athletics, led the East in football scoring in 1912. He played fullback for Washington and Jefferson.

Michigan State gymnast Carl Rintz placed in five events in the 1954 NCAA meet to lead his team to a fifth place finish.

Tribe Wins Twin Bill, Stretches Lead

Zernial-Joost Feud Simmers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Big Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics hints he hasn't spoken his last word in the bitter personal battle with his manager, Eddie Joost.

* * *

The home run slugger was quoted yesterday by a sports telecaster as saying "The fact that Joost isn't playing me every day is only half the story. What the other half is I won't say now, but I'll speak my piece before this is over."

* * *

Meanwhile, the reaction of the club to the Friday night dugout clash of Joost and Zernial and the slugger's subsequent $250 fine, has people wondering if more fights shouldn't be sponsored. The A's have won four straight and bounced out of the American League cellar.

Earle Mack, vice president and general manager, said he hopes the two men will shake hands and forget the whole thing.

"Making a choice between them imposes a terrible responsibility. Both men are too valuable to lose," the club general manager said.

Mack has begun a canvass of the players and hinted he has received other complaints.

"But of course," he said, "we have to stand behind our manager."

The big question here is just how far in back of skipper Joost the general manager plans to stand.

From his conversation with reporters on Saturday, one got the impression Mack wasn't anxious to dispose of Zernial. He said then that "I think we have a pretty good ball club out there but it doesn't look too good without Zernial." He left the impression that he felt the team should be winning.

He hedged on the possibility of trading Zernial. The trading deadline is midnight tomorrow. After that it would be necessary to place a player on the waiver list in order to make any deals.

* * *

"I'm not worried about that," Earle said. "I can always get money for the big guy, any time we decide to dispose of him."

* * *

He admitted some clubs were after Zernial, but added:

We'd want players, and for the life of me, going over the rosters of these teams, I can't see any players of equal caliber that they'd be willing to give us."

PROPHETIC? — Ezzard Charles examines damage to tree struck by lightning early yesterday about 10 feet from where he was sleeping in his training quarters at Kuthser's Country Club at Monticello, N. Rain Hits Raceway Finish; Downs Starts on Thursday

Hazel Park Harness Raceway reported today that both attendance and pari-mutuel betting was down from last year during its 38-day meeting that ended Saturday.

Total attendance this year was 216,597, with one night lost because of a rainout. Last season, attendance totaled 199,088 but the track had one week less of racing.

Betting averaged $276,014 a night compared with $313,000 a night last year. Again, this year's total was higher — $10,488,540 compared with $10,336,867 last year—because of the extra week.

Saturday night's closing program was typical of most of the meet as rain helped to keep the crowd down to 6,146 fans, only slightly better than the nightly average of 5,700 this season.

A high wind accompanied the rain and ripped awnings off the paddock and caused other minor damage. The track was mired in mud and very slow. It held times down as Hazel Park closed out one week of grand circuit racing.

Red Sails squished to a 2:30.2 win in the $10,000 Detroit Pacing Derby with Gene Sears in the sulky.

Harness racing in Michigan now shifts to Northville Downs near Detroit which opens Thursday.

Latin, Frenchman Win in Grand Prix

LE MANS, France (AP)—A powerful red Ferrari which held the lead most of the way carried Jose Froilan Gonzalez of Argentina and Maurice Trintignant of France to victory in the 24-hour Grand Prix endurance race for sports cars on the Le Mans asphalt track.

The final miles of the race, which started Saturday, developed into a dramatic duel between the Ferrari of Gonzalez and Trintignant and a Jaguar driven by Tony Rolt and Duncan Hamilton of Britain, winners of last year's race.

First one, then the other, jumped ahead by a few seconds as a driving rainstorm beat down on the drivers during the closing hours. Gonzalez finally pulled ahead to win by a minute and 44 seconds.

Veteran Stays in Race

Louis Says Charles Is Training Wrong for Bout

By JACK HAND

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP) — Joe Louis thinks Ezzard Charles is training for the wrong kind of fight in his bid to win back the heavyweight title in his bout with Rocky Marciano Thursday night at Yankee Stadium.

* * *

The Bomber watched Ezzy go five rounds yesterday, pressing the attack as though he meant to carry the fight to Rocky.

"You don't go in there and mix with Marciano", said the former champ who Saturday called Marciano "stale". In answer to a question, Louis admitted it would be suicide for Charles to mix with the champ.

"The way to beat Marciano should be to stick with your left and then throw the right when he misses. If Charles fights Rocky like he fought against me, he could beat Marciano. But he doesn't seem to be training for that kind of fight".

Tom Tannas, one of Charles' co-managers, said the 32-year-old Cincinnati Negro was perfectly tuned for his best fight. "Mentally he was never better," he said. "And he's just as good physically as when he fought Louis".

Charles planned one more workout, and possibly two, before he breaks camp Wednesday afternoon. His five-round drill Sunday boosted his training total to 143 rounds.

N. Y. Yanks Have Played in 20 Series, Won 16

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankees have played in 20 World Series and have won 16. Only two of the classics, however, were lost while the New Yorkers were using the Yankee Stadium as their home park.

In 1921 and 1922 the Bronx Bombers lost to the Giants but all the contests were held in the Polo Grounds. The Yankees started playing in the Stadium in 1923.

Since that time they have lost only twice to the St. Louis Cardinals — 1926 and 1942.

Musial, 'Kitten' Spark Cardinals to 2 Victories

Stan Hits 21st Homer to Snap Tie Contest With Pittsburgh

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sportswriter

Imagine where the St. Louis Cardinals would be today without The Man and The Kitten? Redbird Skipper Eddie Stanky must shudder whenever this thought occurs to him.

* * *

The Man, of course, is Stan Musial, the greatest hitter in the National League. The Kitten is Harvey Haddix, the winningest pitcher in the senior circuit.

* * *

The Man and The Kitten, combined their talents yesterday to give the Cardinals their first doubleheader victory of the season. Haddix hurled his second straight shutout and his 10th victory as the Cards defeated Pittsburgh 5-0 in the first game. Musial, who drove in two runs in the opener with a pair of singles, snapped a 3-3 tie in the second game with his 21st home run. The cards went on to win 5-3.

The double victory moved the Cardinals into fifth place.

* * *

Cleveland used the lowly Boston Red Sox to boost its American League lead to 1½ games over the Chicago White Sox and 3½ over the New York Yankees. The Indians' 4-1 and 9-1 triumphs ran their latest victory string to four in a row and slipped Boston into last place.

After dropping their sixth straight decision to the Yankees 4-2 in the opener of a doubleheader, the White Sox showed a crowd of 60,070 they can bounce back by thrashing the world champions 8-0 in the second game. Virgil Trucks turned in his ninth triumph in the nightcap.

Bob Porterfield shut out Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had clubbed five Washington pitchers for 14 hits to take the opener 6-4.

Haddix, the 28-year-old Cardinal "stopper," struck out 10 Pirates and permitted only three singles as he rolled up his eighth straight victory. The majors' biggest winner now owns seven complete games, half the total of the entire Cardinals' staff.

Musial, with four hits in nine times at bat, boosted his batting mark to .370, second only to Duke Snider's .378. Stan leads the majors with 21 homers and 69 runs batted in.

Early Wynn won his seventh and Mike Garcia his eighth in Cleveland's sweep. Outfielder Wally Westlake homered in each game for the victors.

A three-run homer by Gene Woodling in the sixth enabled the Yankees' Ed Lopat to register his seventh triumph of the year and his sixth in a row over the White Sox since July, 1952. The White Sox pounced on starter Harry Byrd for four runs in the first inning of the nightcap to hand Trucks more runs than he needed for his sixth straight.

Elmer Valo, who replaced Gus Zernial in the Philadelphia outfield, drove in four runs with a bases-loaded triple and a single to provide the A's winning margin in the second game. Manager Eddie Joost's benching of the erratic fielding Zernial had led to a verbal battle between the manager and the left fielder last Friday.

Gonzales Tops Segura for Pro Tennis Title

* * *

The former U.S. Amateur champion outlasted Francisco (Little Pancho) Segura in the two-hour finals yesterday to win 6-4, 4-6, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The winner collected $1,500 and the loser $1,000.

The two Panchos, both pretty well spent, then went down to defeat in the doubles finals before big Jack Kramer and Australia's Frank Sedgman 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Blind Fan Goes to NY to 'See' White Sox Play

NEW YORK (INS) — The most ardent baseball fan at yesterday's New York-Chicago doubleheader at Yankee Stadium probably was Anna Jane Kolar, and the most disinterested fan was her seeing-eye dog, Diane.

Miss Kolar, 20, of Cicero, Ill., is blind but in the company of her dog, a spotted brown Boxer, she "sees" her heroes, the White Sox, play several games a year. The Cicero girl follows the plays with the aid of a small portable radio.

She missed Friday night's game at the stadium because the train carrying 250 White Sox rooters arrived too late from Chicago. She was part of the unhappy Chicago delegation at the stadium when the Sox dropped a Saturday game and the 1st of yesterday's twin bill—their 3rd straight loss to the Bombers.

But when Miss Kolar's heroes raced into a 7-0 2nd-game lead in the 1st three innings, she said:

"This is wonderful. I like this kind of game."

Speaking like a bona fide expert, she predicted that the White Sox would win the pennant "barring injuries."

Schwope Wins Publinx Test

Tours Highland Course in 69-4—65 to Beat Out Field of 181

Bill Schwope won the Michigan Publinx Golf Association's 2nd handicap tournament of the season Saturday at Highland Golf Club with a fine 69. His 4 handicap strokes made his winning total 65.

John Kowalski, Carl Daniels and Joe Kocsis all tied for runnerup honors two strokes back at 67. Kowalski had 72-5—67; Daniels and Kocsis each 70-3—67. Three more players carded 68s.

Tied in that bracket were Don Visscher (73-5), George Allen (75-7) and Ronnie Rothbarth (71-3).

Second flight honors went to Ray Mead with 73-10—63, and Don Shriner won in the 3rd flight with 78-14—64.

A total of 181 players competed in the tourney, which was interrupted twice by the rain.

A highlight of the tourney was a rare double-eagle by Al Pazdan of River Bank on the par 5, 6th hole at Highland. He followed his tee shot with a brilliant 4-wood which rolled into the hole.

Trojans Win 8th Title; Shelton Misses 7 Feet

By JOE FALLS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The "impossible" seven-foot high jump may be realized at the AAU championships this weekend, even though Ernie Shelton of Southern California says he'll never make it.

* * *

Shelton missed the magic seven-foot mark three times in the NCAA track finals at the University of Michigan Saturday. He'll get another chance at the AAU games in St. Louis while he's still hot.

With a tense, silent crowd circling the high jump area at historic Ferry Field, the fidgety Shelton apparently cleared the bar three times at seven feet—but each time the bar came tumbling down, knocked loose by an elbow or leg.

* * *

But Shelton's big desire—it's almost a religion—is to reach the seven-foot standard and take his place next to Roger Bannister and Parry O'Brien as trackdom's great record breakers in 1954.

The tip-off to this came when Shelton cleared 6 feet, 10¼ inches to nail his first NCAA title. But then instead of going for the world record of 6-11, which he probably could have made, he asked that the bar be raised to seven feet.

* * *

Despite his failure, if you can call it that, Shelton piled up 10 points by winning the high jump and helped Southern California sweep to its sixth straight NCAA title and 15th in 20 years.

* * *

As usual, it was no contest for the team championship, with the powerful Trojans running up 66 17-20 points to 31 17-20 for runnerup Illinois. California had 27 retained his 440-title—but the Tropoints, Texas 19, Michigan 17 3-5, Purdue 17, Marquette 16 and Stanford 15.

In addition to Shelton, Southern California had only one other individual champion—Jim Lea, who retained his 440-title—but the Trojans' team strength wore down all opposition in the searing 90-degree heat.

Lea, an exciting runner, overpowered the 440-field and won in 46.7 seconds over Purdue's Ben Youtsey, who had placed ahead of Lea in the preliminaries.

Illinois, the second place team with 31, 17-20 points, had three winners, each good for 10 points. But they had little else. The Illini victors were Willie Williams, defending champion in the 100-yard dash, who won in 9.5; Willard Thomison who took the high hurdles in 14.2 and Joe Corley, low hurdles winner in 22.6.

Long discussed assault on Mal Whitfield's world half-mile record of 1:48.6 failed to materialize, and little Arnold Sowell of Pitt won the race in 1:50.5, outdistancing Fordham's Tom Courtney.

* * *

Pacific Coast conference king, Bill Dellinger of Oregon, won the mile in 4:13.8 and Kikou of Wheaton, Ill., by way of Japan, took the two-mile in 9:22.7 after defending champion Rich Ferguson of Iowa dropped out.

MSC, Missouri Meet Tonight in NCAA 'Series'

Winner Will Tangle With Little Rollins Nine for Title

By RANDALL W. BLAKE

OMAHA (AP)—Michigan State and Missouri, two of the "bigs" in the NCAA College World Series, tangle tonight to determine who plays Rollins College, one of the smallest school clubs ever to get to the tourney, for the championship.

* * *

Tonight's game will be at 8 p.m. (CST) and the championship game will be played Tuesday night at the same time. All three teams now have tourney records of 3-1. The meet is a double-elimination affair.

* * *

They were bunched up when Michigan State edged Rollins 3-2 in 10 innings last night and Missouri ousted Oklahoma A&M 7-3. Saturday night Rollins had clipped Michigan State 5-4 with a two-run rally in the bottom of the ninth.

In beating the tough Tars of Rollins, referred to jokingly by Coach Joe Justice as his "little boys (most of them are shorties) in tattered togs," Michigan State's Big Ten champions got a double helping of revenge.

They not only evened the score in games at 1-1 with Rollins, but they beat pitcher Don Tauscher who had trimmed them Saturday night.

Mules Wrestle Now

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian army has come up with an attraction to outdraw the American-style wrestlers now popular in this country. It's a pair of wrestling mules.

Sponsors say the well-trained mules will enter a standard ring, exchange hoof shakes and then engage in a wrestling bout.

Fair Toughest With Top Cash, Points on Line

Joy Fair ran 2nd in the trophy dash, 3rd in his heat race and 3rd in the Australian pursuit, but when the big points and money were on the line in the 25-lap feature, the Pontiac speedster showed 2,000 fans at Pontiac M-59 Speedway Sunday night that he still is the hottest driver at the track.

Fair won his 2nd straight feature and 3rd of the season and boosted his Land O'Lakes Racing Association point total to 165. Tuning up for next Sunday's state championship race, Fair also established a new 1-lap qualifying record by touring the quarter-mile oval in 19.63 seconds.

Heat winners included Carm Ragatz among the faster qualifiers, Walt Littlejohn, Jim Curl, Cliff Herring and Bill Periard. A total of 45 cars participated in the modified stock program.

CHICAGO (AP) — Clarence (Bevo) Francis, record-breaking basketball star from Rio Grande College of Ohio, will start playing for owner-coach Abe Saperstein of the Harlem Globetrotters June 24.

That's when Francis and the Boston Whirlwinds, coached by Bevo's Rio Grande coach, Newt Oliver, begin an outdoor tour of baseball parks featuring two units of the Globetrotters.

Francis and Oliver recently were signed by Saperstein to a collective $30,000 contract for next season.

Louise Suggs Seeking 5th Western Open Win

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (INS) — Defending champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta leads a field of nearly 100 of the leading pro and amateur feminine stars into the qualifying round today of the 25th annual Women's Western Open Golf championship at Waukegan.

Miss Suggs, who also is the leading women's money winner of 1954, is a four-time winner of the western Open.

Only 8 State Athletes in NCAA Top List

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Only eight Michigan collegians managed to place better than 7th in Saturday's NCAA track and field finals here.

Roland Nillson, Michigan, was the state's only representative to place in two events. He was 4th in the shotput and 5th in discus. Michigan's Roger Maugh wound up in a five-way tie for 5th place in the pole vault.

Other state athletes who placed better than 7th:

Pete Gray, Michigan, 3rd in the 880-yard run; Edgar Brabham, MSC, fourth in the 220-yard dash; Duane Root, MSN, 5th in the 120-yard high hurdles; Joe Corbelli, MSC, 5th in the 200-yard low hurdles; Mark Booth, Michigan, 2nd in the high jump and Mark Smith, Wayne, 6th in the high jump.

Sanford Quits Game

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Fred Sanford, purchased by the Yankees from the St. Louis Browns for $100,000 and players at the end of the 1948 season, is finished with baseball. He received his unconditional release from Portland because of a bad arm.

The Sanford deal is one the Yankees front office would rather not discuss. In three years of pitching for the New York club he won a total of 12 games.

2,500 Linksmen 'Beat' Hogan in Golf Day Test

Big Handicaps Enable Golfers to Win Despite Ben's 64 Card

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 2,500 golfers were entitled to wear a medal inscribed "I Beat Ben Hogan" today despite the U. S. Open champion's blazing 64 over Baltusrol's lower course at Springfield, N.J., on Saturday.

* * *

Some 165,000 golfers, paying $1 each, attempted to beat Hogan by using their handicaps in the National Golf Day competition sponsored by the Professional Golfers Assn. and Life magazine. Most of them played their rounds June 5 but Hogan didn't get around to posting his round until Saturday because of illness.

* * *

Then he ripped apart the course, where he'll begin defense of his Open title Thursday. Hogan shot six of the first seven holes under par, carding three more birdies on the home nine.

The lowest net score compiled by the sponsors was turned in by Mrs. Gaylord Burke of St. Louis. She had a gross score of 89 and with a 33 handicap to beat the champion by eight strokes with a 56. Dr. George Johnson, playing the Exeter Country Club in New Hampshire carded an 81-22—59 with the help of a hole-in-one.

Bob Considine Says:

Gold Coast Prince Visits Ike, Impressed With U.S.

NEW YORK (INS)—Some people . . . some places . . . some things —

Among President Eisenhower's more startling visitors last week was Prince E. Yao Boateng, of the African Gold Coast ex-Servicemen's Union. The prince is the son of the head chief of Juaban State of the Gold Coast. He served with the British Army in East Africa and Ethiopia.

We had a little talk with the Prince while he waited to see the President. He is a man of infinite courtesy and dignity who is making his first trip to this country.

"The buildings, of course, are most impressive," he said in his earnest voice. "But more impressive is your culture. I confess it surprised me."

"There is so much democracy here . . . so much," he said. "And you appear to take such an indifferent attitude toward the people—Communists—who wish to destroy it. In my country . . ." but the President was waiting.

The Prince disappeared into the sanctum sanctorum. We may never know how things are handled in Juaba.

After watching Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles on Ed Murrow's person to person show the other night, one almost tended to ask "Which guy will lead?" —and I do mean dancing.

Of course, they won't be as polite Thursday night, with all that dough at stake. Yet a lot of bristly pugs of bygone ages must have found the pleasant, gentlemanly give and take of Murrow's "visit" to their respective training camps an eye-popping spectacle.

Rocky and Ez strode through their TV paces like accomplished, articulate actors. Leaving a room which contained such pillars of etiquette as Al Weill and Sammy Goldman in an aloha shirt, Rocky said politely, "Excuse me, fellows."

Ez seemed momentarily pained by the exuberance of his co-manager, Jake Mintz, who said from under his cap that Charles would become the first man ever to regain the heavyweight title . . . and said it boisterously.

For a climax they chatted, electronically, in Italian. Ez picked his up during his two years of service with the Army in Italy. Once, ever so deftly, he corrected Marciano's pronunciation.

I don't see how they can bear to clout each other Thursday night. But they will.

Indian Confesses to Shooting Sheriff

SILWELL, Okla. (AP)—An angry, muttering crowd milled about the Adair County Courthouse yesterday after officers said a 21-year-old Indian signed a statement confessing he shot Sheriff Henry Buckner to death Saturday night while in a drunken rage.

But Chester Lee Gonzalis, full-blooded Cherokee, wasn't there. He was whisked away to an undisclosed jail for his own protection.

Gonzalis was quoted as saying he was so drunk "it's all like a dream."

Police said the statement told this story:

• • •

Gonzalis returned home to the Fogg Hollow community, an Indian settlement, drunk and disorderly. His sister phoned Sheriff Buckner for help.

Gonzalis grabbed a shotgun and ran from the house before Buckner arrived, the statement went on. He lay in wait in the bushes nearby.

Claude Seymour, assistant crime bureau chief, said Gonzalis told him he fired one blast from his .16-gauge shotgun after he yelled at Buckner, then ducked back into the heavy underbrush.

"I didn't even know I hit him," his statement said.

Fire Truck Chasers Given a Big Surprise

OSHKOSH, Neb. (AP) — That crowd that always follows a fire truck got a big surprise when firemen set fire to a pool of oil on a dead end street and sounded the alarm. When the usual crowd gathered the firemen blocked off the open end.

They warned people in cars that the next time they followed the truck they would get traffic tickets. Then they sold tickets to the firemen's benefit feed.

A record sale was reported.

Michigan's last coal mine, operated near Swan Creek in Allegan County, closed down early in 1952.

Mart Uncertain About Direction

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly today with prices showing small changes in the early afternoon.

The quietness today was in sharp contrast with the unusually heavy decline early last week followed by a partial recovery at the end of the week.

Price changes either way usually were well within a point limit. Trading was relatively slow.

New York Central opened on a block of 25,000 shares up ⅜ at 23⅞ shortly before the start of the second hour following an announcement that gave official victory to the forces of Robert R. Young in a proxy fight for control of the railroad.

Lapeer Farmer Refused Bail

Court Denies Request, Tells Schriber to Start Term in Prison

LAPEER (AP)— Floyd Schriber, 60, Lapeer County farmer convicted of obstructing justice in a 1952 eviction battle, was turned down today in a request for continuance of bail.

As a result, he must go to prison to start serving his term of 1½ to 2 years.

Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn rejected Schriber's motion for bail continuance and said he would sign a commitment order.

For nine months Schriber has fought in the courts against his conviction and sentence for obstructing the eviction of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens from her Lapeer County farm. He was sentenced last Sept. 11.

Last week the State Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal from Schriber and he asked bail continuance while preparing another motion to the high court.

The state opposing the motion, argued that Judge Quinn lacked jurisdiction since there was now no actual proceeding before the high court.

Prosecuting Attorney George Lutz and Special Prosecutor Carl Williams also contended that Schriber was deliberately delaying the operation of justice.

Eight others are yet to stand trial.

The eviction of Mrs. Stevens stemmed from her refusal to pay a judgment in the collapse of a farmers insurance group. Her farm was sold at auction to pay the judgment.

United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — The first jet-powered stock model passenger car will be displayed next week.

However the most authoritative word from automotive scientific research is that the piston-type engine isn't going to be replaced on streets and highways any time soon.

Jet power can be used for passenger cars and trucks, but so far research engineers have been unable to give it decided practical advantages over piston power. But remarkable progress has been made in adapting it for automotive use.

Chrysler has put an experimental gas turbine engine into a stock model Plymouth and will show it off when it dedicates its new proving grounds at Chelsea, Mich., June 16.

Meanwhile, General Motors engineesr made "a progress report" on their jet research.

They have experimental gas turbine engines installed in a stock model bus and in a cigar-shaped specially designed car which carries little more than the driver and the engine. Reporting to a technical meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, they disclosed:

(1) With aluminum radiation shields, they've licked the heat problem. Although the gas turbines operate at 1,500 degrees (Fahrenheit) the temperature in the engine compartment compares with those in the compartment housing a diesel truck or bus engine.

With a silencer on the "intake" but not on the exhaust, the noise is about the same as that of a diesel bus engine. Add an exhaust silencer, and it will be quieter.

(3) Although the engine operates between the very high speeds of 8,000 to 25,000 revolutions per minute, there is no "syroscopic effect" because the gasifier and powder turbines alloys will withstand high temperatures, its forgings are such the engine won't "blow up," it is easy to maintain, and it is controlled by the conventional accelerator pedal of the piston engine.

(5) The exhaust gases diffuse rapidly, because they're hot. When the engine is at idle speed, you can stand close to the exhaust without being uncomfortable. Because the proportion of air to fuel is so high, the gases contain no carbon monoxide.

(6) The gas turbine engine in the bus weighs over 1,500 pounds less than the diesel it replaced but supplies twice the power. The ratio of weight to power is one-third that of the piston engine.

But fuel consumption still is very high, although the engineers suggested ways of reducing it. And there is no way to brake the jet engine car with the engine.

Ralph A. Richardson, of the GM Research Laboratories, concede that all this might add up to "the beginning of the gas turbine age for automotive applications."

However, he pointed out the every "type of power plant" had been tried out for automobiles and "the spark igintion, four-cycle engine has never been seriously challenged."

3 Injured in Crash on Telegraph Road

Three persons were injured yesterday when one auto drove in front of another at Franklin and Telegraph Rd., according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Arzola H. Randolph, 31, of 442 Harvey Ave. was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for scalp cuts. Mrs. Jean Colborne, 30, of 8144 Northlawn, Detroit, was treated for a fractured arm, and her daughter, Susan, 9, was treated for face and arm bruises.

Mrs. Colborne and daughter were passengers with Willford J. Moore 23, of 8144 Northlawn, Detroit, driving south on Telegraph. Moore told police that Randolph, driving west on Franklin, pulled in front of his car.

Discuss Closing Geneva Talks

May Wind Up Korea, Indochina Negotiations This Week

GENEVA (AP) — Top diplomats at the Geneva conference began a new round of private talks today on how and when to break off the deadlocked negotiations on Korea and Indochina.

The non-Communist delegations were expected to decide to break off the Korean talks this week and refer the Korean unification problem to the United Nations.

The outlook on the Indochina conference was not so definite, but some diplomatic quarters believed this also might be wound up this week.

The 16 conference nations which fought under the U.N. flag in Korea arranged a meeting today to take a final decision strategy. The Big Three Western Powers were reported to be agreed that the Korean discussions should be ended as soon as possible.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov planned to discuss Indochina procedure at another private meeting today. They met Saturday for an hour, but their discussions were described as indecisive.

A meeting of the nine-party Indochina conference was scheduled tentatively later in the day. Unless the Communists indicated some readiness to change their position drastically, the Western Powers were understood to be ready to call for an end of the talks.

* * *

The Western Powers were moving more cautiously on the Indochina problem because of several factors.

One was the uncertain political situation in France. The United States and Britain were reported hesitant to break off the talks unless there was a government which could speak with authority for France. For this reason, the decision here awaited what might happen in Paris during the day.

Another factor was the military talks in progress here between representatives of the two high commands in the Indochina fighting. Informed sources said they now had reached the stage of exchanging concrete proposals on cease-fire lines. These proposals could have an important bearing on whether the Indochina conference goes on.

The Western Powers agreed in talks over the weekend, however, that the chances of a settlement on either Korea or Indochina were virtually nonexistent.

Says Rival Plan Is Impractical

'Poor School Districts Will Be Poorer, Rich Richer,' Conlin States

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), author of the Conlin Plan to revise the sales tax diversion amendment, declared today a rival plan offered by the "Michigan Committee for Better Schools" will cause poor school districts "to become poorer while the rich district becomes richer."

Conlin addressed the Rotary Club here, attacking what he said was the impracticability of the committee proposal. The legislature placed the Conlin Plan on the November ballot. The committee now is seeking signatures to place its proposal on the ballot, too.

Declaring the committee appears to have no recognized school authorities in its membership, Conlin said:

"It is of further significance that this proposal is practically identical with a previous proposal advanced by the Michigan State Aid Survey and the Detroit Board of Commerce. The whole tone of their initiatory proposal follows to a remarkable degree that contained in the Michigan State Aid Survey's committee report prepared by Drs. Sly and Miller, two Princeton professors retained by this group."

He charged the committee and the state aid survey group with a one-sided approach to state and local finances, saying their demand for a "redefinition" of state aid to local government "amounts to a suggestion that state aid be reduced and that the reduction be replaced by increased property tax collections at the local level."

Conlin said the committee was overlooking the modern realization that property should not bear the brunt of government revenues and that the state was legally and morally required to provide certain services for all the people of the state regardless of their local property values. He cited education, highways and welfare, especially.

Drivers Under 25 Are Twice as Dangerous

BOSTON (UP) — Automobile drivers under 25 are twice as dangerous as those above that age, according to an insurance industry survey.

Companies that write compulsory automobile liability insurance in Massachusetts said that in some areas the under-25 drivers were three times as dangerous as the over-25 group.

Wife-Killer Gets 15 to 30 Years

Donald G. Warner, 30, Sentenced for Shooting Last Jan. 14

Donald G. Warner, 30, was sentenced to 15 to 30 years in prison today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for slaying his wife, Barbara, 21, in their home last Jan. 14.

Warner, of 2645 Emmons St., Avon Township, interrupted the third day of his first-degree murder trial May 26 to plead guilty to the lesser charge of second-degree murder.

Barbara was shot to death while sleeping. Warner told authorities the next day he was upset when his wife filed for divorce.

A self-inflicted bullet wound in the head failed to kill Warner and doctors termed his recovery "miraculous."

Police arrested Warner after he was brought to Pontiac General Hospital Jan. 15 by his father for treatment of the bullet wound. He will serve his term in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Robbery Suspect Quizzed by Police

Albert Moye, 29, of 4385 Dixie Hwy., who is being held on a concealed weapons charge, was arrested in a Bagley street bar after an unidentified man reported he was carrying a 38-caliber revolver.

Det. John Williams said Moye was identified in a lineup by Ernest Freeman, 22, of 546 Montana Ave., attendant at a 435 S. Saginaw St. filling station, who reported he was held up early Saturday morning by a pistol-brandishing bandit.

Freeman said a man walked into the gas station at about 6 a.m. and requested a light for his cigarette. He entered later and demanded the money from the cash register, Freeman said.

"After I gave him the $84 he ordered me to go with him," the victim stated. The bandit fled after he forced Freeman to walk five blocks at gunpoint to the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks.

Police received the tip from the Bagley street bar at about 11 a.m.

Plumbing Fixtures Stolen From Project

About $774 worth of plumbing fixtures were stolen from a housing project on Strathmore avenue over the weekend, Pontiac Police report.

Al Larcinese, foreman for the Midwest Plumbing Co., a Detroit firm, listed three authomatic hot-water heaters, bathroom fixtures, valves and chrome mouldings among the missing articles.

Police said the equipment was stored in yards of the housing project near Baldwin avenue.

Feature Lively Music, Gay Square Dancing, Comedy Routines

NEW YORK — Midwestern Hayride, popular country-styled variety show which scored a hit as a TV summer series in 1951 and 1952, will return to the air starting tomorrow.

The weekly Hayrides will fill the first half-hour time period of the vacationing Buick-Berle Show, which returns Sept. 21.

There will be Western ballads, novelty and popular songs plus the phenomenal toe-tapping of the Midwesterners.

Thall will be accompanied by such Hayride stars as Bonnie Lou, Paul Arnold, Mary Jane Johnson, the Kentucky Boys, Lee Jones, the Pine Mountain Boys, Zeke and Red Turner, the Kentucky Briarhoppers and others.

Midwestern Hayride, which will originate from Cincinnati, has been a local favorite since it started in 1948. It is a well known variety program and was a popular radio show before its TV debut.

French General Facing Prison for War Crime

PARIS (AP)—Former Gen. Auguste Nogues, who led a five-day French resistance against the Allied landings in North Africa, returned to Paris today from exile. He faces a 20-year sentence imposed by a postwar court.

Nogues went into exile in 1943 in Portugal and remained there until yesterday. Now 78, he presented himself to the court today, heard the order for his arrest, and was taken off to Sante Prison.

It was expected that efforts would be made to have him freed pending an appeal against the sentence, imposed in 1947.

* * *

He was in command of French troops in North Africa under the Vichy regime when American and British forces commanded by Gen. Eisenhower landed there Nov. 8, 1942. He kept up resistance until Nov. 12, then called a cease-fire and put himself at the disposal of the American authorities.

Eight months later he resigned his military post and went to Portugal. A French high court convicted him in absentia of enforcing anti-Jewish laws of the Vichy regime and of arresting Free French leaders.

Pittsburgh Buses Running Again as Strike Ends city's mass transit system returned to normal today following settlement of a 35-day-old trolley and bus strike — must to the relief of downtown merchants and thousands of commuters.

Streetcars and buses of Pittsburgh Railways Co. began rolling again yesterday after operating employes voted to accept whatin effect is a 3-cent hourly wage increase. But full service was delayed due to the need for maintenance work on some trolley routes.

he new one-year contract, retroactive to May 1, establishes a basic pay rate of $2.01 an hour for some 2,700 trolley and bus drivers. Old basic rate was $1.92 an hour.

However, operators actually had been earning $1.98an hourwith a 6-cent hourly cost-of-living raise. This increment is frozen within the basic wage structure under the agreement and workers will receive an additional cent an hour for each full point rise in the consumers' index of Pittsburgh.

C. D. Palmer, president of Pittsburgh Railways, said there willbe no boost in fares.

Latin Banana Workers Ready to Stop Strike

GUATEMALA (AP) — The end of a three-week-old strike by 3,000 Communist-led banana workers appeared a possibility today after the signing of a government-negotiated wage contract by representatives of workers and the United Fruit Co.

Company officials said the new contract meets 80 per cent of the wage and benefit boost demands made by the strikers. The rank and file of the workers still must approve the agreement before it becomes effective.

Baby Bird Asks for Old Age Social Security

CHICAGO (AP)—Five weeks ago, a baby sparrow fell into the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Babich in suburban Riverdale.

A week ago, fully feathered, Birdie was put out to begin his normal life. But Birdie disagreed with the idea.

Each evening when he is put out he flies to a tree perch nearby. Each morning he waits patiently until the Babich bedroom blinds are opened, then flies to the window sill to be invited inside to breakfast.

Reds Make Regular Habit of Kidnaping to Get Wives

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE
(For Hal Boyle)

MOSCOW (AP)—See a gal that strikes your fancy?

Well, don't go wastin' time a-courtin' and asking her consent. Just gallop out and carry her off.

If you need help, because she isn't alone, just whistle up a pack of your buddies.

* * *

That's the way the hillbillies of the Soviet Union (down thar in the Caucasus Mountains) have been doin' it for generations.

But the Communist press in Moscow says it's got to stop — the gal should be courted right and given a chance to say yes or no.

Now take the case of Tamara, reports Komsomol Pravda, which often criticizes what it calls primitive practices and conditions in the United States. Tamara was a teacher in the mountain village of Malka, in the Kabardinski autonomous republic. And a fine lookin' school marm she was, too.

* * *

So fine looking, in fact, one of three "brave and bold" brothers of the village fancied her for a wife. So he called a family council at which it was decided his was a wise choice.

All this information came to Komsomol Pravda from Tamara's sister, who was left on the trail. Indignantly she wrote the paper, which prodded the local prosecutor's office until he sent a representative to find what was up.

* * *

According to this investigator, says Komsomol Pravda, Tamara's reply to his inquiries was: "Well, after I was kidnaped I agreed to marry him." The prosecutor decided to take her at her word.

But here's what really happened, the paper quotes the un-kidnaped sister: "Tamara was kidnaped she became afraid for the future and agreed to marry him."

The paper cites the case of two other recently kidnaped brides, and says "the girls in the mountain areas live in constant fear of being kidnaped. And once they are thus forced to marry the man their life is ruined."

* * *

Of the brothers who kidnaped Tamara, it says they committed "a hooligan deed typical of the feudal mode of life of pre-revolutionary Kabardinski...

"Why is the work of the public prosecutor's office not so organized as to defend the honor of Kabardinski and its women? Why does it not punish those who violate the law—who kidnap people. And why does it not protect those those who need protection?"

But the most unkind blow of all is delivered by that sister left on the path. She writes; "If my sister Tamara agreed to marry this man, I will say to everybody that she is unworthy of the principles a Komsomol member. She victimizes herself for the sake of her feudal survival."

Poor Tamara.
